 (< MedG ἀντζιον < ἡ ἀντζιά < Frank. ancia; see D'ARBOIS DE JUBAINVILLE, Lex. s.v. ancio-) ἡ ἄνωθεν κερα-Ἐργίνα καὶ τὰ παιδιὰ τση (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 131, 145.25) κ' ἦρθαν κακὰ σκυλιὰ Vosk. 327 μάνα, τὰ τόσα σου φιλιὰ σ' ἔγνοια πολλὴ μὲ βάνου Thysia Avr. 527 (< inf. φιλεῖν) μαυρογένης, κατζαρά τὰ μαλλιὰ του PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.15 ἀν καὶ περάσουν τα Τουρκιά IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2224 εὐκαιρά 'ν' τὰ καυκιά μου KONDAR., Paidēs 355

Accusative

ἄνθρωπός τις ἔδωκεν πρὸς τινα φλουριὰ β' (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 12, 22.1–2) μὲ τὰ μαλλιὰ σὰν πρόβατον ἦτονε φορεμένος CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 800 χώρισε ἵππους δώδεκα, φαριὰ δοκιμασμένα Achil. O 112; ἐπάνου ἐκ τὰ κορμιά τους ibid. 296 πανδρεῦουν μὲ τοὺς ἀσεβεῖς πολλοὶ καὶ τὰ παιδιὰ των BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 49 παρὲς τὰ κεριά (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 18, 158.6); (νὰ ... πληρώσει ...)
 φλωρία ε' χρυσᾶ καὶ καρφιὰ τ' (ibid. 78, 187.8–9); ἔβαλαν τὰ κρασιὰ αὐτῶν (ibid. 37, 167.3–4) μέσα εἰς τὰ Χανιά (1497, Crete, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 6, 143.29) (< Arab. Al Chanea) (νὰ δώση ...) ἐπεσαῦτα καρτζιά Assizes A 181.3 (< καρτσίν, see also the form καρτσά below) σὰν εἶδεν τ' ἄνομα σκυλιὰ Anak. Konst. 21 ἔχω τὰ χαρτιά τως (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 93.23) ὀρθῶνασι τ' ἀφτιά τους Alex. Rim. 1654 πρόβατα ἔξ μὲ τὰ ἀρνιά τως (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 361, 338.6) κι' ἄλλοι μὸπιάναν τὰ βυζιά CHORTATIS, Katz. IV.6; μ' ὀλόχρουσα πανιά id., Erof. Dedic. 35 ἔλυσε τὰ βρακιά του Bertoldos 48.30–1 αὐτὰνα τὰ σακκιά ἠθέλησες νὰ κλέψεις BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 427.19 ἀφ' τὰ φαγιά που τρῶς ἐσὺ κι ἀφ' τὰ πιστά πού πίνεις KONDAR., Paidēs 318 τ' ἀκονισμένα μας σπαθιά εὐθύς ἄς τοὺς θερίσου Zinon IV 359 ἀπὸ τὰ πιδηγιά (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 6, f.43r.16) (= παιδιὰ, see I, 2.5.4) γιὰ τὰ κηργιά (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.9) (= κεριά, see I, 2.5.4)

Vocative

σκυλιά, λουρικωθήτε Arm. 72 ἐσεῖς, παιδιά μου Anak. Konst. 34 ὦ ... βουνιά, θεριά FALIEROS, Thrinos 223 τσ' ὀχθρούς, παιδιά μου, ἄς βγάλομε Zinon Prol. 52

From verse texts it can be gathered that forms that are accented on the penultimate often represent oxytone forms (see the introduction (2.20) for discussion), as in the following examples:

κ' ἐκεῖνοι ὡς εἶδαν τὰ σπαθία γυμνά ἐξελαμπρισμένα Chron. Mor. H 4821 τὰ μαλλία της ἐκαίγασιν ἀπὸ ὑψηλῆς θεωρίας Achil. L 556 ms; ἐδᾶ ἄς ἰδῶ παιδιά μου ibid.
 1196 ms
 ἡμεῖς καὶ τὰ παιδιά μας Achil. N 562 (2nd hemistich) μὲ ᾠδὴν καὶ ραβδία SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 238 (1st hemistich) εἶχαν γερᾶκια καὶ σκυλία Theseid VI.8,5 (Olsen) (1st hemistich)

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ά

In a large geographical area, /j/ may be deleted in the oxytone forms with synizesis when it is preceded by a sibilant or an affricate, resulting in -ά. Examples have been found in texts from Crete, Mani, the Aegean and the Heptanese, but see I, 2.4.7.3 for full details:

Nominative

ἐγεμον τὰ βυζά της Hist. Imp. I 2207–8 κβ' βουτσά (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 8, 293.32–3) καθὼς πωληθῶσιν καὶ τὰ ἄλλα κρασά (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 3, 8.8) εἶναι καὶ τὰ πετσά βουβάλικα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 309, 307.11) καὶ πάντα νά 'ναι τὰ βουτσά, νά πίνωμε, γεμάτα Stathis III.545 εἰ δὲ καὶ φράξουν τὰ βυζά της LANDOS, Geopon. 266.22 νησά καὶ περιγιάλια MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 31 τρέμουσι τ' ἀτζά μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.316 (< MedG ἀντζιον < ἡ ἀντζά < Frank. ancia < Old Germ. anchâ, see D'ARBOIS DE JUBAINVILLE, Lex. s.v. ancio-)

Accusative

ὁ Τόρκος ἐζήτην τὰ καρτσά του (15th c., Cyprus, BAGLIONI 2006: 202.37) (καρτσίν < χαλκίον;¹³⁹ see I, 3.8.2.3 for details; Τόρκος = Τοῦρκος) ἀπὸ τὰ εἴκοσι βουτσά τὰ κρασά (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 218.28) τὴν Μάλτα καὶ ὅλα τὰ νησά ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 130 διὰ τὰ πετσά (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 264, 154.3)

¹³⁹The etymology of καρτσίν given in KRIARAS, Lex. (< Ven. carzi) is based on a misinterpretation of LIA-TA 1996: 148, who claims that carzi derives from Greek χαλκίον (probably χαλκίν > χαρκίν > χαρτσίν > καρτσίν?): this Cypriot coin was introduced when Cyprus was under French rule, acquired the name χαλκίον or καρτσίν in the 14th/15th c., and continued to be in use during the Venetian occupation of the island. The Venetian noun carzi, used only for the Cypriot coin, and not in BOERIO, Lex., is therefore a Cypriot loanword in Venetian.

εἰς τὰ Δεξά (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 53, 68.23) (place name < adj. δεξιός); εἰς τὰ νησὰ
(ibid. 82, 87.8)
εἰς τὰ βουτσά τους LANDOS, Geopon. 169.2–3; γνάφουσι τὰ πετσά ibid. 272.25–6 μαζί με δύο μαγαζά ξυλή (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 106.50); ἔχω ... δύο βουτσά κρασί
(ibid. 110.139)
πολλά βουτσά γεμίζουν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 186 κι ἀνοίξανε τὰ μαγατζά καὶ τὰ κρασὰ εὐρῆκα ΒΟΥΝΙΑΛΙΣ Μ., Diig. Pol. 409.11 ὡς τὰ βυζά τως P&N Diath. 717 κατὰ τὰ κρασὰ ποὺ θέλει ἔχει μέσα ὁ μαγατζές (1677, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 24, 92.13)

Vocative

No examples found.

Genitive

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-ίων ἢ -ίω ἢ -ίουν

Paroxytone forms in -ίων can be found throughout the period under investigation. However, only in verse texts and in higher-register prose texts and documents can there be some certainty that the accent position reflects the intended stress position (see the introduction (2.20) for a caveat regarding the actual stress position in such forms):

ἄφέντες τῶν νησίων Chron. Mor. H 93 περὶ τῶν χαρτίων Assizes B 354.16 μήτε πιασμὸν παιδίων (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.21)
ἡ μήτηρ ἐκείνων των παιδίων Martyr. Vlas. 248.3–5 καὶ τῶν μπαιδίων του (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 52.5) ἡ ἄθεσμη προσθήκη τῶν φλωρίων (1547, Jerusalem, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1891: X, 217.26) τὰ ψωμιά, τῶν ψωμίων SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.4–5 τὰ μαθήματα τῶν παιδίων (1563, Corfu, TZIVARA 2003: 31, 491.6) ὄλονῶ τῶν παιδίων μου (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 222, 187.52) των μιαρότατων αὐτῶν παγκάκιστων Τουρκίων ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 6248

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete, the Peloponnese and the Aegean (see I, 3.7.2.2 for details):

τοῦ υἱοῦ μου τῶν παιδίω (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 31, 69.58–9) τῶν παιδίω της (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.17–18) ἕνα χωράφι καυσίω πέντε (1599, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 94, 126.3) (< καυκίον, see I, 3.8.2.2) μὲ σπῖτι τῶ παιδίω τῇ ἄνωθεν κερα–Καλίτσας (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 388, 360.9)

In the following example /o/ has become /u/ through raising (see I, 2.8.3 for details): τῶν παιδίουں τως (1687, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 709, 962.35).

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-ιῶν ἢ -ιῶ ἢ -ιῶνε

A shift of the stress to the ultimate by analogy with the innovative oxytone singular forms has not been found before the 15th c., though the following example from the Chronicle of Morea (14th c.): καὶ τὰ φουσσᾶτα τῶν νησίων κ' ἐκεῖνα τοῦ Εὐρίπου Chron. Mor. H 4877, indicates that the change will have occurred earlier, given that the form νησίων clearly needs to be read as νησιῶν (see the introduction (2.20) for discussion):

ἀπὸ τὸ κλάιμα τῶν παιδιῶν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 868 καὶ τῶν παιδιῶν τοὺς MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 24.1–6 ἡ παραμάνα των παιδιῶν Diig. Apoll. 445 τὸ ρέστος τῶν τομαριῶν καὶ ἄσκιῶν (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 388.22) ὡς κυβερνήτρα τῶν παιδιῶν τῆς (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 46, 46.3) τῶν δύνου μου παιδιῶν (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 36.4) νὰ εἶναι τῷ παιδιῶν τοῦ (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 140, 152.10) τῶν σκουτιῶν (1676, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 44, 257.18)
καὶ μόνο τῷ σπαθιῶν τῶς KORNAROS, Erot. I.621

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete, the Aegean, the Peloponnese and the Heptanese (see I, 3.7.2.2 for details):

τῶν παιδιῶ τοῦ ποτὲ κυρ-Νικόλα (1591, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 35, 179.11–12) νὰ ἔνε τῷ παιδιῶ τοῦ (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 14, 35.12) οἱ ασπριλάδες τῶ μαλλιώ CHORTATSIS, Panor. I.261; μέρος τῶ βυζιώ ibid. I.425 τῷ γερατειῶ μου Stathis III.486 τῶν παιδιῶ τοῦ Nov. II 162.33–4 τῶν παιδιῶ τοῦ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 55.9 δὲ θέλει πλιὸ θυσίες ἄρνιῶ Thysia Avr. 9 τοῦ Χάντακος καὶ τῶν Χανιῶ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 134.17
μηδὲ παιδιῶ ἐθυμᾶτο Leilasias Par. 282

Addition of -(v)ε occurs in texts from south-western areas (see I, 2.6.3.1):

τοῦ μανδριῶνε (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 15, 93.23) (for the article τοῦ see 5.2.1) τοῦ παιδιῶνε μου (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 41.45; and 1637, ibid. 89, 94.57) τῶν μπαδιῶνε (1604 [late 17th-/early 18th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 509.18) τῶν θυλικῶν παιδιῶνε (1672, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 4, 119.89) τῶν σολδιῶνε (1687, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 279, 259.31–2)

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν ἢ -ῶ

Regionally /j/ may be deleted in the oxytone forms with synizesis when it is preceded by a sibilant or affricate, resulting in -ῶν. Examples have been found in texts from Crete and the Peloponnese, but see I, 2.4.7.3 for full details. The ending also occurs without final /n/, in texts from south-western areas and possibly elsewhere (see I, 3.7.2.2):

τριῶν βουτσῶν κρασῶν (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 28, 33.4) τῷ βυζῶν KORNAROS, Erot. III.1228 ἐννιακόσω βουτζῶ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 108.16 τῷ βυζῶ μου Thysia Avr. 377

2.20.2 Proparoxytone Nouns in /io(n)/

2.20.2.1 Proparoxytone Nouns in -(ε)ιο(ν)

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	βασίλειο(ν)	-ι(ν)
Gen.	βασιλείου	βασίλειου
Acc.	βασίλειο(ν)	-ι(ν)	-ίο -ιό
Voc.	βασίλειο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	βασίλεια
Gen.	βασιλείων	βασίλειων
Acc.	βασίλεια
Voc.	βασίλεια

Singular

Nominative, Accusative and Vocative

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-(ε)ιο(ν)

This inherited ending can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar. Deletion of final /n/, as in SMG, does not appear to be very common and has not been found before the 15th c.:

Nominative

ἕτερον εὐαγγέλιον κυριακοδρόμιν (1258, Philadelphia?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 15, 157.150) εἰς τὸ βιβλίον ὅπου ἔνι γραμμένον τὸ Εὐαγγέλιόν τους Assizes B 485.20–1 ἐναι θεμέλιον εἰς ὅλες τέες χάριτες Anthos Ch. G 5.11; το ἔλαιον και ο ιχθύς ibid. 15.7
καὶ ἄς ἔλθῃ τὸ συμπάθειον σου LIMEN., Than. Rod. 88 (< συμπάθεια) τὸ ποῖον βίτσιον ἔνι ἀρχή, ἀφορμή καὶ ρίζα πᾶσα κακοῦ Fior 73.17–18 ἦλθεν συμπάθιον ἐκ τὸν μέγαν θεὸν Diig. Alex. V 65.15 (< συμπάθεια) ὥσαν ἐβγήκε τὸ δαιμόνιον KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 9.33 αὐτὸ εἶνε ἀλλουνοῦ παπᾶ εὐαγγέλιον Paroim. (Warner) 96.10 εἰς ἐσένα θέλει ἔλθῃ τὸ βασίλειον Alex. Fyll. 12.15

τὸ συμπάθιο μοναχὰς στὸν κόσμo γεννημένο | βρίσκεται ἀπὸ τοῦ φταίσιμο CHORTATSIIS, Erof.
V.626–7
ἐχάθη τὸ μεγαλώτατο βασίλειο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 57.26 θεμέλιο τῆς ζωῆς του Zinon I.105; πὼς ὅλο τὸ βασίλειο στέκεται νὰ χαλάσει ibid. II.132 τοῦ Ἑρωτα ἐγενήκασι παιγνίδι του καὶ γέλιο KORNAROS, Erot. I.280

Accusative

τὸ εὐαγγέλιον σὺν καὶ τοῦ ἀποστόλου (11th c.?, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1982: 1, 11.27) ἐκάψασιν τὸ ἐμπόριον Chron. Mor. H 4666 καὶ ἐπάρη το συνήθειον Dig. E 1341 νὰ μὲν πάρεις δεσδένιον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 220.32 (< OFr. desdeign) ἐγύρεψέν του συμπάθειον Vios Aisop. D 237.11 (< συμπάθεια) χωρὶς κουντράστιον κανέναν (1574, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 15, 141.20) εἰς κιβώτιον ἀργυρὸν [VLASTOS], Dig. P IX 403.30 εἰς τὸ μερίδιόν του (1687, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 5, 4.11) εἰς τὸ ἵπποδρόμιον Alex. Fyll. 13.24 με το θεμέλιόν της Don Kis. 183.17

εἰς τὸ μπόριο Chron. Toc. 2540 (= ἐμπόριο) τοῦτο το σαλιμίτριο ... τὸ βγάνουν ὄξω (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.39–40) καὶ τὸ σφυρὶ γιὰ παίγνιο Alex. Rim. 685 καὶ ἔλεγαν του διὰ μπαίγνιο KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 375.40 (= παίγνιο, see I, 3.8.3.2) εἶχες το θαράπειο σου μεγάλο Stathis I.242 ἐζήτησε συμπάθειο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.1
 τὸ δάνειο τῶν πέννητων τὸ δίδει ἡ δεξιὰ σου MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 222 ὁπού 'χε ξεριζώσει | τῆς Τρόγιας τὸ βασίλειο Prol. Epain. Kef. 15–16 συμπάθιο εἰς τοὺς ἀμαρτωλοὺς, Πνεῦμα χαριτωμένο P&N Diath. 5223 ἀπὸ τὸ ρένιο τῆς Κρήτης (1709, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1938: 3, 298.1) (< Ital. regno)

Vocative

καὶ τῶν ἀνθρώπων παίγνιον SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. G5r.12

Synizesis is visible in verse texts or when the noun is followed by the enclitic possessive pronoun and no second accent is present: καὶ γίνου πρὸς τὸ δίκαιον σου ὑπομονῆς λιθάριν SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 6; ἡ τῶρα μέλλει νὰ γενῇ τὸ φοβερὸν κριτήριον Defi. Par. 46; νὰ μὴ χαθῇ τὸ δίκιο μου Stathis II 327; βάρει καὶ δίκιο ἔχεις P&N Diath. 3079; ἐπερίλαβε τὸ βασίλειον μου ὅλον Alex. Fyll. 56.7.

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ι(ν)

Lexically, the noun συνήθ(ε)ιο(ν) (< ἡ συνήθεια) may lose the /o/ in its ending, thus conforming to sub-paradigm 2.20.2.2. Examples have been found in texts from southern areas (Crete, Cyprus, Mykonos), with and without final /n/:

συνήθιν εἶχες καὶ ἔχεις DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1146 κατὰ τὸ συνήθιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 126.8; εἶχαν συνήθιν ibid. 628.11 ἐποίκαν ὅρον κατὰ τὸ συνήθιν VOUSTR., Chron. A 44.18; πράμαν ἀπού δεν ἦτον συνήθιν ibid. 242.13 εἶχεν συνήθιν ἡ Ταρσία Diig. Apoll. 504 καθὼς ἦτον συνήθι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 347 κατὰ τὸ συνήθι τση CHORTATSIS, Erof. IV.171 ἔναι συνήθι (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 49.53) σὰν ἦτονε συνήθι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 148.21

ἐπειδὴ καὶ νὰ μὴν εἶναι ἐτοῦτο τὸ συνήθη εἰς τὸ τόπο μας (1703, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 46, 60.27–8)

The Chronicle of Tocco shows variation in the stress position on the word (ἐ)μπόριο (< AG ἐμπορεῖον): μέσα εἰς τὸ μπορίο Chron. Toc. 363 (verse end); νὰ διαφεντέψουν τὸ μπορίο ibid. 3792 (before caesura).

Genitive

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-(ε)ίου ἢ -(ε)ίου

The genitive may preserve the historical shift of the stress to the penultimate, as in SMG, though forms without such a shift have also been found:

μετὰ τοῦ ἁγίου εὐαγγελίου (1313, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 8, 52.27) καὶ κατέσκαψεν ἀπὸ θεμελίου τὴν πατρίδα τοῦ SOFIANOS, Paidag. 105.15 εἶχε πνεῦμα δαιμονίου ἀκαθάρτου KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 4.33 νὰ τὸ χαλάσωμεν ἐκ θεμελίου PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.39 οὕτως φησὶν ὁ Κύριος διὰ εὐαγγελίου IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3805 ὅτι δι' ἀρχὴν θεμελίου Chron. Mor. T 1344 τοῦ θεμελίου (1554, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 217, 192.5)

Plural

Nominative, Accusative and Vocative

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-(ε)ια

There is no variation in the formation of the nominative, accusative and vocative plural:

Nominative

ἐκίνησαν τὰ σάλια μου Ptoch. IV 219 τὰ δαιμόνια ἔφευγαν φωνάζοντας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.27–8 ὅλα τὰ βασιλεια τοῦ κόσμου αὐτὸν ἐπλήρωναν λιζάτον Diig. Alex. F 86.16 (Lolos) τὰ σάλια των–ε ἐτρέχασι P&N Diath. 3333 ὁ,τι ορίσουν τα θεμέλια Don Kis. 176.17

Accusative

δῶχνει τὰ δαιμόνια MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 36.3
τὰ αὐτὰ σαλμίτρια (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.19) ξηγᾶται διὰ ὅλα τὰ βίτσια τὰ ἀνθρώπινα Fior 73.6
νὰ τῆς δώσει τὰ ἐγκώμια MOREZINOS, Klini 4.33 ἂν εἶναι γυνὴ νὰ μὴν ἔχη τὰ συνήθεια LANDOS, Geopon. 251.34–5; εἰς τὰ ἐντόσθια ibid. 260.4
σώπα τὰ σάλια, φτοῦ σου Stathis III.564 εἰς τὰ μερίδια (1687, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 5, 4.13) ἀπὸ νεγότης τῆς Βενετίας (1697, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 30, 22.11–12)

Vocative

ὦ σπήλια δροσερότατα CHORTATSI, Panor. II.482 (< σπήλαιο)

GenitiveNeut.

Pl.	Gen.	-(ε)ίων ! -(ε)ίων

The genitive plural may or may not present the historical shift of the stress to the penultimate. As is often the case with the genitive plural, not many examples have been found:

τὸν ἄρχοντα τῶν δαιμονίων KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 11.15
ἀπὸ θεμελίων Diig. Sant. 57.35 τῶν ὀροθέσιων τοῦ ρηγάτου Assizes A 173.10–11 εἰς τὴν Ὀμάδα τῶν βίτσιων Fior 147.35

2.20.2.2 Proparoxytone/Paroxytone Nouns in -ιο(ν)/-ι(ν)

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	χωράφι(ν)	χωράφιον
Gen.	χωραφιοῦ	χωραφίου	-εοῦ
Acc.	χωράφι(ν)	χωράφιον	χωράφιο -εον
Voc.	χωράφι(ν)	χωράφιον
Plural
Nom.	χωράφια	-α
Gen.	χωραφιῶν	χωραφίων	χωράφρων
Acc.	χωράφια	-α
Voc.	χωράφια	-α

Singular*Nominative, Accusative and VocativeNeut.*

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ιο(ν)

The old ending -ιο(ν), even though it had lost its /o/ (see below) before the period covered by this Grammar, can still routinely be found, especially in mixed- and higher-register texts. Deletion of final /n/ in words of Greek origin is not very common. In the Romance loanwords in -ιο that follow this paradigm (e.g. ὁμάτζιο, πρεβελέγιο), forms with addition of final /n/ are less common than those without:

Nominative

πῶς δὲν ἐμαράνθη τὸ χέριον ἐκείνου [VLASTOS], Dig. P II 322.22 ἐτραβήχθη εἰς τὸ παλάτιόν του Bertoldos 16.8–9; τὸ ἀδράχτιον ibid. 33.16 ἐδιαμοιράσθηκεν τὸ ὀφίτζιον του Bertoldin. 107.24–5 (= ὀφίτζιον του, with omission of the primary accent) δὲν ἔλειπεν τὸ δάκρυον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.88 τὸ κοράσιον δὲν ἀπέθανεν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 9.24 εἶναι κανενοῦ ἄλλου πνεύματος κατοικητήριον (1653–5, Venice, FONKİÇ 2000: 240, f.2r.1–2) προσκέφαλο τῇ κλίνῃ μου εἶν' το κατώφλιό σου CHORTATSI, Panor. III.580 (= κατώφλιο, see I, 2.6.2)

Accusative

εἰς τὸ μοναστήριόν μου (11th c.?, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1982: 1, 11.26) δεδώκατέ μοι ... τὸ χωραφίσιον (1085, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 43, 148.35) εἰς τοῦ Κολεκροῦ τὸ μανδράκιον (1284, Athos?/Lemnos?, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 74, 24.18) διὰ τινὰ χωράφιον (1295, Athos, ŽIVOJINOVİĆ et al. 1998: 15, 161.4) ἵνα ἐκβάλῃς τὸ ρηθὲν ἀμπέλιον ἔρημον (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.34–5) καὶ ἀφόντις ἐπλησίασαν μίλιον ἕναν τόπον Achil. O 252; ἀκούσετε μυστήριον ibid. 393 ἔδωσαν ... τὸ παλαιοκκλήσιον (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 27, 163.4) καὶ ξέτρεχε τ' ὀφίτζιον σου SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 288 εἶχεν δε ο Ἀρχίστρατος κοράσιον ωραῖον Diig. Apoll. 184 νὰ τοὺς βάλλῃ εἰς τὸ σακέλλιόν τους Assizes A 105.28–9 ἔδωκεν ὁ βασιλεὺς τοῦ Αἰσώπου τὸ χαράτζιον Vios Aisop. D 240.35 (< Turk. haraç) νὰ δώσῃ τὸ φαρμάκιον Alex. Rim. 2706 ρεφουδάροντα ... πᾶσαν πρεβελέγιον (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 25, 25.21–2) (< Ven. privilegio) ἔπαρε ἐπιδέξια τὸ σεντούκιον DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 25, B2r.34 (1561) (< Turk./Arab. sanduk) ἔπαρε ἕνα πιάσμα ἀψίνθιον LANDOS, Geopon. 229.19 ἀφιερῶ τὸ ἡμέτερον χωράφιο (1170, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 21, 167. 6–7); ἀνατολὴ τὸ χωράφιο τοῦ Ραβέτου (ibid. 167.9) ἔδωκεν εἰς τὴν ἁγίαν μονὴν ... σκροφάδιο (1333, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 2.2–3) νὰ ποιήσωμεν τὸ ὁμάτζιο Chron. Mor. H 8642 (< Occit. homagi, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.)
 νὰ πεθυμᾷ κοράσιο Theseid VI.31,2 (1529) εἰς τὸ αρμελίνιο Anthos Ch. G 247.17 (< Ital. armellino) νὰ μὲ γράψουσιν φράγκικον πρεβελέτζιο Chron. Mor. P 7689 νὰν τὸ παῖρνει τὸ σπιτάλιο (1617, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970b: 3, 232.24)

Vocative

καλὰ λέγεις, κοράσιον Dig. E 957 καταραμένον ἀνθρωπάριον Vios Aisop. D 210.2 (υἱέ μου, ...) παραμύθιον ψυχῆς Dig. A 1028 κοράσιον (ἔσένα λέγω), σήκω ἀπάνου KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 5.41

The following single singular example, rather than representing a case of depalatalization of /ion/ > /jon/ > /on/, is probably a morphological reanalysis based on the more common depalatalized plural (γρόσα < γρόσιν): διὰ γρόσο μισὸ (1706, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 59, 71.13); cf. τὰ τρία γρόσα (ibid. 72.36).

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ι(ν)

Nominative

- τὸ ἐν τῇ νήσῳ Σκύρῳ κτηματίσιν οἰκία μὲν ἦν γονικὴ (1012, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 16, 143.9–10)
- τραπεζόφορον σκαραμάγγιν ὀξύν (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.130); καὶ Θεοτοκίσιν μικρόν (ibid. 24.134)
- κοσμηταρίσιν χυτὸν (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 55.101–2)
- τὸ δὲ ὀσπίτιν τὸ ἔχω ἄνω εἰς τὸ καστέλλιν (11th c.?, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1982: 1, 10.18)
- τὸ φαβάτιν, ... καὶ τὸ ριβίνθιν, ὅταν ἦν ἐκζεστά, ἓνα γομάτον κρασοβόλιν εἰς κατὰ ἓνα ἀδελφόν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 82.11–12 (for ἦν read εἶν, see III, 4.8.1); τὸ δὲ ὀρύζιν ἓνα ρίγλον ibid. 82.12–13
- τὸ μόδιον νὰ γεμίση GLYKAS, Stichoi 183; ἄν ἔχη τὸ κοντάριν του φθάσειν ibid. 348 (εἰσι ... βοῖδια ...) καὶ ἀγελάδιν σύμμουσκον (1216, Macedonia/region of Serres?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 12, 123.11); ἕτερον εὐαγγέλιον κυριακοδρόμιν (1258, ibid. 15, 157.150)
- ὀσπίτιον ... λιθοκτίστον, μακρωναρίσιν (1104 [14th-c. copy], Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 52, 238.347)
- κῦρι δεῖνα σακελλάριε – ἡ ὡς ἀκούει τὸ ὀφφίκιν του (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 51.25)
- ἔδωκεν εἰς τὴν ἀγίαν μονὴν βούδιν (1333, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 2.2)
- ντὲ Ἀντουλο τὸ ἐπίκλιν του Chron. Mor. H 336 (ed. ἐπίκλην, as < AG adv. ἐπίκλην)
- ψαλτήριν, ὠρολόγιν (1363, Cyprus, COUROPOU/GÉHIN 2001: 3, 157.10–11)
- ὡς πολεμᾷ τὸ λάφιν BERGADIS, Apok. A 464
- το αρμελίνιν ἀρχισεν νὰ φεύγειν Anthos Ch. G 249.5 (< Ital. armellino)
- καὶ το αρκούδιν ἀφήνει το μέλιν Anthos Ch. A 55.16
- εἶναι ὥσπερ τὸ πιπέριν Diig. Alex. V 42.9
- τὸ ἀμπέλι κρατεῖ τὸν βάσταγα (1010, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 15, 140.13)
- καταβαίνει ξηρορουάκι (1034, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 29, 34.25) (for /u/ < /i/ see I, 2.4.6.2)
- ὑπάρχει κελλίτζι σμικρότατον (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 58.166)
- καὶ ὅλον τὸ γενεολόγι σου καλοὺς στρατιώτας εἶχεν Spaneas V 107
- ὡς τὸ κλουβὶ τὸ ἀηδόνη Chron. Mor. H 2910; ντὲ Νουιλὴ τὸ ἐπίκλι του ibid. 3162 (ed. ἐπίκλη, as < AG adv. ἐπίκλην)
- ὅπου τὸ δεῖχνην τὸ αὐτὸν προβελίτζι Assizes B 478.5 (< Occit. privilegi, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.)
- τὸ καράβι τοῦτο εἶναι τοῦ ἀγίου Γεωργίου (1415, Skyros, LEMERLE et al. 1979: App. XVII, 216.10–11)
- εἰς τὸ λάδι (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 10, 47.12)
- ὅς ἔλθει ἐγλήγορας τὸ οὐλάκι (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 84.14) (Turk. ulak)
- καὶ το αρκούδι ἀφήνει το μέλι Anthos Ch. G 55.16
- νὰ ἔχη ἓναν βολίκιν καρφωμένον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 572.25–6 (< Fr. volige)
- ἀνθεὶ ὥσάν τὸ λουλούδι τοῦ κρίνου Diig. Alex. F 164.5 (Konstantinopulos); δακῶνει τὸ ὀφίδι ibid. 191.5
- τῆς Αρχιστράτας ἔδωκε τὸ νὰ μερίδι νὰ ᾗχει Apoll. Rim. A 1791
- πάσα ἄλλο κυνήγι (1601, Crete, SIAKOTOS 2006: 1, 190.9)
- ἀσπρίζει γληγορότερα τὸ κεφάλι Bertoldos 33.11; τὸ σίδερον ἡ τὸ δρεπάνι ibid. 33.36
- ἔβαλε χάψι τὸν ποστατζίπαση (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 401, f.2r.78–9) (< Turk. habs)
- καθὼς φαίνεται τὸ λευτεροχάρτι μου τὸ Τούρκικο (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 506.20–1)
- ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ βρεθῇ ὀλίγο χρεὶ (1685, Skyros, ANDONIADES 1980/81: 8, 331.5) (< τὸ χρέος)
- ἦλθεν ἓνα μικρόν σου γραμματάκι (1698, Sinai, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 7, 60.10–11)
- ἡ ασπράδα τῆς χιόνι Don Kis. 85.4–5; εἶμαι βέβαιος ὅτι το μπόι του νὰ ἦτον μεσιακόν ibid. 150.9 (< Turk. boy)

Accusative

- τὸ ἐπὶ κλινὶ ὁ Ψελλάκης (1016, Skyros, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 20, 160.81) εἰς τὸ αὐχενίτισιν (1047, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 29, 256.13) ἕτερον δισκοποτήριν ξύλινον (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.124–5) εἰς τὸ μικρὸν ρυάκιν (1062, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 35, 103.30); περνᾶ τὸ ποταμίτισιν (1085, ibid. 43, 147.30) περνᾶ τὸ ἀκρωτήριν τοῦ Κόρακος (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 54.61) καὶ κουσκούνιν γ' δηνάρια (1108–9, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 29, 135.32) καὶ σιτάριν (1112, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: App. I, 1, 511.19); εἰς τὸ συνόριν (1113, ibid. 75, 98.9) Χριστέ μου, δὸς ὑπνίτισιν GLYKAS, Stichoi 161; κρύον οἰνάριν ρόφησε ibid. 268; εἰς τὸ Δυρράχιν ibid. 348 ἕτερον ἀμπέλιν (1216, Macedonia/region of Serres?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 12, 122.8) καὶ ἔχει παιδὶν ἀγόριν Ptoch. III 109; νὰ τρίβετε πεπερίν ibid. 192 μέ τὸ κοράσιν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 13.16) οἱ μὲν ζατρίκιν ἔπαιζαν, ἄλλοι δὲ τὸ ταβλίον Pol. Tr. 259 ὥσάν γυρίσει τὸ καράβιν (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.13) ἐγὼ ἀπ' τ' Ἀνάπλιν ἤμουνα Anon. Naupl. 6 (< Ναύπλιον) (ὑπόσχεται νὰ ὀφείλει δίδειν ...) νοίκιν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 33, 67.34–5) (< ἐνοίκιον) μέσα εἰς τὸ κοφινίδιν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1446 καὶ ἔχουν δισπλαζέριν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 204.1 (< Occit. desplazir) θωρώντα τον ο ρήγας με το ζιπούνιν VOUSTR., Chron. A 40.18 (< Occit. jupoun, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.)
 ἡ ποιά δὲν εἶναι εἰς τὸ πογέριν τοὺς λάς Fior 82.14–15 (< Occit. poer) τὸ παρασπώριν τοῦ ζευγαῖ νὰ ἐβγάνου ὁπὸ τὴν μέση (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 31, 69.39) (ὁπό = ἀπό) σύρε εἰς τὸ παρακλήσιν μας DAM. STOD., This., Logos 25, B2v.33–4 (1561) (= παρεκκλήσιν) (ἔχω ...) τὸ κηπουρίτσι (1060–1, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 4, 58.23) κρατεῖ τὸ κάτω μονοπάτι (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 54.76) εἰς τὸ πόδι τοῦ χωραφίου (1112, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 32, 148.11) ἔδωκεν ... καματερόν βοῖδι (1333, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 29, f.26v.2–3) μέινετε εἰς τὸ καλύβι μου Liv. V 2713 ἤθελαν κτίσει τὸ σπῆτι (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 76, 58.3) ἔχοντας ὁ ρηθεῖς κυρ-Ματθαῖος τὸ ἐμπασοεβγασίδι του (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 33, 67.21) εἰς τὸ σαράϊ (15th–16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.III, 254.59.4) (< Turk. saray) σύρει τὸ ἀπελατίκι Velth. 207 καὶ ἴψικι μέγα, θαυμαστὸν ἐποίκασιν ἐτότες Velth. 1318 (< ὀψίκιν < Lat. obsequium, see LBG s.v.)
 ἔβαλε μέσα σαλμίτριον καὶ τειάφι (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.14–15) (= θειάφι) μέ βελουδένιο φηκάρι (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.31) (= θηκάρι; see I, 3.8.5.1) τὸ λιβάδι μέ τὸ δάσο (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 31, 50.4); τὴν σήμερον κάμνου τὸ παρὸν προουκοχάρτι (1611, ibid. 701, 605.3) ἄλλη κράτηση νὰ μὴν ἔχου μόνον τὸ μουκάτι τῆς βασιλείας (1616, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 144, 267.1) (< Turk. mukâta'a; see REDHOUSE/WELLS, Lex. p. 805) (αφήνω ...) ἔνα τσικίνι (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 1, 29.14) (< Ven. zechin) δὲν εὐρίσκειν τις πωρικό, οὔτε λεμόνι οὔτε νεράτζι (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III–V, 512.42.2–3) μία κολάινα μαργαριτάρι μέ τὸ γκόλφι της (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 114.43) (< ἐγκόλπιον) ἀν εἶναι πολγάρης, νὰ τὸν βγάζουν ἀπὸ τὸ πολγαρίκι του (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 25, f.96v.22–3) (< Hungarian polgár/Rom. pîlgar + -(λ)ίαι) σὲ ἓνα σκοτεινὸ μπουντρούμι ΕΦΤΗΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 51.28 (< Turk. bodrum) δὲν τρώγουν το ψωμί χαράμι Don Kis. 173.26–7 (< Turk. haram); εἶδεν ἓνα μικρὸν καῖκι ... δεμένον εἰς ἓνα κιουτούκι ibid. 336.12–13 (< Turk. kayık and küttük)

Vocative

τοῦ σπιταλιοῦ σημάδι Katal. 450; λαγήνιν, τί λιμπίζομαι τὰ πάντερπινά σου κάλλη ibid. 454; πουλάκιν φυλακίζόμενον ibid. 699 κοπέλι, τίνα φοβέισαι; (1496, Pesaro, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 3, 132.43) καὶ φέρε με, παιδίτσι μου, τυρὶν σταμεναρέαν Ptoch. III 118 app. crit. (M) ἔσύ, παιδίτζι μου Spaneas B 42 στάσου, καράβι, νὰ χαρῆς Anak. Konst. 16 ὦ σπίτι τοῦ Θεοῦ μου FALIEROS, Thrinos 73 χαῖρε ὁλονῶν τῶν κεφαλίων κεφάλι! Diig. Alex. F 40.17 (Konstantinopolus) ἔμην τὰ λέγεις, ἄτυχε, σκοτίδι μαυρισμένον Poulol. AZ 10 πέ μου, παλληκάρι μου Zinon I.75; ἀδέλφι μου ibid. V.311 παιδάκι μου, μὴν πικραίνεσαι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §27.24–5 μουλάρι, ποιὸς εἶνε ὁ κύριος σου; Paroim. (Warner) 90.4

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ΕΟΝ

The following form is likely to be graphematic, a form of hypercorrection by analogy with other paradigms (feminine nouns in -ία and -έα, both of which develop alternative forms in -ία (/ʼja/) and masculine nouns in -έας > -ιάς; adjectives in -αῖος, e.g. the substantivized δίκαιον > δίκιο(ν)): τριμοδιαῖον χωράφειον (1290–1300, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 88, 68.9).

Genitive

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ίου

The inherited genitive ending with a shift of the stress to the penultimate occurs throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

εἰς τὸ πόδι τοῦ χωραφίου (1112, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 32, 148.11)
 τοῦ καστελλακίου (1141, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 5, 300.20) χάριν ἐλαδίου (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.51); χάριν κουρτσουβακίου (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.52) μετὰ βηματισίου (1104 [14th-c. copy], Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 52, 235.263) περὶ τοῦ δηλωθησομένου ἐρημαπελίου (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.7) πλησίον ὀσπιτίου Ἰωάννου Σεπάτρου (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 53, 86.12) εἰς ἀνταλλαγὴν τοῦ ἀμπελίου (1507, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1958: 114.11) εἰς τοῦ πιπερίου τὴν καύχα Diig. Alex. F 156.12 (Lolos) πόσα σιναπίου θέλουν σεβῆ εἰς ἓνα σπυρὶ πιπέρι Diig. Alex. V 42.9–10 τὸ μέλι, τοῦ μελίου SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.6–7 εἰς ὑπόσχεσιν τοῦ προικίου της (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 28, 36.3–4) ἡ ἡγουμένη καὶ οἰκοκυρά τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.3) πρὸς τὴ μερὰ τοῦ ργιακίου (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 853, 745.35) τοῦ Θιακίου (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 40.1) (< ἡ ἴθακη) τοῦ Φικκέτου, κοπελίου τῆς Αὐλῆς Bertoldos 82.33 ἀπὸ σπαθίου καὶ κονταρίου EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 15.4

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-(ε)ιοῦ

Synizesis and a shift of the stress to the ultimate are likely to pre-date the period covered by this Grammar (see I, 2.9.4). It is in line with a general tendency to oxytonize genitives in the /ion/ paradigms:

τοῦ κασσιδιοῦ Florios 573 (Ortolá Salas); τοῦ λιθαριοῦ ibid. 1201 τοῦ κονταριοῦ Imber. 88; τοῦ παγωνιοῦ ibid. 393 ἦτον καὶ λόγγος ἐκ πλαγιοῦ Chron. Toc. 2325 τοῦ ἀγοριοῦ (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 45, 38.10) εἰς τὸ πανηγύριν τοῦ Ναυπλιοῦ Anon. Naupl. 8 τὲς γυναῖκες τοῦ σπιτιοῦ FALIEROS, Log. did. 183 τὰ ἀνθη τοῦ μελιοῦ Anthos Ch. G 125.2 (< AG μέλι, gen. μέλιτος) τὸ κόμμαν τοῦ χεργιοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 88.5 κανενοῦ διλιτιοῦ Fior 88.15 (< διλίτιν < OFr. delit, see GODEFROY, Lex. s.v.)
 τοῦ κομματιοῦ (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.3) εἶπεν ἐκείνου τοῦ κουπελλιοῦ Fior 128.17 μουζούρια τοῦ σιταριοῦ δύο (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 95.83) ὥσάν τοῦ πιπεριοῦ τὰ σπιυρία Diig. Alex. F 216.7–8 (Lolos) τοῦ ἀλατσοῦ (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 363, 339.2) (< ἀλάτι(v); see I, 3.2.6.1 for details) τοῦ χρουσαφιοῦ CHORTATSI, Erof. III.374 ὁ τόπον ριφιοῦ Thysia Avr. 11; κοπελιοῦ γλώσσα ibid. 358
 τοῦ Θιακίου (1634, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 348, 262.1) (< ἡ ἴθακη) τ' ἀμαξιοῦ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 488; τοῦ παλατιοῦ ibid. 533; τοῦ ταξιοῦ ibid. 718 τοῦ χωραφιοῦ (1695, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 33, 81.17) (= χωραφιοῦ, see I, 2.9.4.2) τοῦ ἄλλου σπιτακιοῦ (1697 [18th-c. copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 119, 272.16)
 τοῦ κονακιοῦ τοῦ (1705 [later copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B I/4, f.166v.27)

It is not uncommon for the accent to be written on <ι>, even though the stress in fact falls on the ultimate, e.g. τοῦ λουρικίου τὸ αἶμα Pol. Tr. 9300; ὁ ἄνωθεν τόπος τοῦ σταργίου (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 23.16). See 1.5 for discussion and more examples.

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-εοῦ

The following form with /e/ for /i/ is likely to be graphematic, a form of hypercorrection (see nom., acc. & voc., above). As the stress falls on /u/, it should probably be read with synizesis, as [xoraf'ju] (cf. also the form τειχέα in the Chronicle of Morea, above): τριμοδιαίου χωραφιοῦ (1290–1300, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 88, 68.18–19)

Plural*Nominative, Accusative and VocativeNeut.*

Pl	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ια

The normal ending for the nominative, accusative and vocative plural is inherited -ια (also spelled -εια or -υα, according to the relevant AG derivation). Often synizesis occurs, through which the unstressed /i/ becomes /j/ (see I, 2.9.4). This is most visible in verse texts or when the noun is followed by a weak possessive pronoun and the second accent is absent, e.g.: τὰ δάκρυα της ἐτρέχασι Theseid XII.2,7 (1529); τὰ γένεια μου μαδίω SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 108; τοὺς ἔκαψαν τὰ σιτάρια τοὺς KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.30–1 (more examples below). Sometimes synizesis becomes visible through the spelling, e.g. by addition of <γ>: τὰ καράβγια τὰ κρουσάρικα (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.6); τομάργια (1697, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 51, 235.9), or when the text is written in a foreign script, as in the following examples. The first is transcribed from the Arabic script: ke-rōdjā καὶ ρόδια (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 175.4d); the next example is rendered in Cyrillic script: πιποηῖα, πιπόνιγ (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 49.933) (= πεπόνια); and the following in the Latin script: peristergia / περιστέρια CHORTATIS, Erof. III.67 transcr. X (Legrand). Synizesis is absent when a second accent is present: δακρύζουν τὰ ῥμάτιά του DAM. STOD., This., Logos 22, χ6v.4–5 (1561); τα χέριά της Don Kis. 85.4.

Nominative

εἶχεν ἡ τραχηλέα του καὶ τὰ μανίκια γῦρον | λιθάρια πανυπέρλαμπρα Achil. N 369–70 ἔθελέν μου φανῆν γλυκύν σὰν μέλια Cypr. Canz. 152.14 (< AG μέλι, nom. pl. μέλιτα) τὰ δίκτυα σου νὰ σύρνουσιν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 117; καὶ νὰ θεωροῦν τὰ ὀμμάτια σου ibid.
 118

ἄν ἔνι γῆ, χωράφια, περιβόλια Assizes A 35.11–12 τ' ἀδέρφια σου πολλὰ σὲ καταφιλοῦ (1502, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 6, 29.7) τὰ δόσια μάτια παίρνουνε Paroim. (Warner) 58.11 (< ἡ δόση) ἄν ἦσα ἑκατὸ χρονῶ γῆ ἵνους μηνοῦ παιδάκια P&N Diath. 4812 νησὰ καὶ περιγιάλια MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 31 ἀπέθαναν τρία κορίτζια καὶ τρία ἀγόρια PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.109 ἔδῶ καράβια πνίγονται Paroim. (Warner) 67.5
 τὰ μάτια του κόκκινα ... τὰ φρύδια του μακρὰ Bertoldos 6.4–5; τὰ γένεια του συχνὰ καὶ πολλὰ ibid. 6.7
 τὰ δύο χοιρίδια πόσα ποδάρια ἔχουσι; Vios Aisop. D 222.5
 διὰ νὰ εὐρίσκονταν καὶ βερεσέδια (1688, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 10, 6.5) (< Turk. veresiye) νὰ ἵνι βελόνια καὶ ξουράφια κυπαρισσένια (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 53.13) (= ξυράφια, see I, 2.8.4) κάμποσα σπίτια γαλαξειδιώτικα ... ἐπέσασι EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 58.16–18 ἐβγήκαν τέσσαρα ιτσιογλάνια Don Kis. 447.19–20 (< Turk. iç oğlani)

Accusative

καταβαίνει ἔως τὰ β' πατητήρια (1062, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 35, 103.33) τὴν ἔχω ὀμμάτια καὶ ψυχὴν Eisit. f.8r.9

ἔδωκεν ... βοῖδια δύο (1333, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.19v.1–2) μέ τὰ ὁμάτζια ποῦ ἔχει Chron. Mor. H 7678 (< Occit. homagi, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.)
 λέγουν τὰ συχαρίκια Achil. L 325 (χρεωστοῦν ...) σιτάρι μόδια δύο (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 56, 87.4) ἐφόρεν δ' δακτυλίδια MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 84.22–3 νὰ κερδέσουν οἱ ἄνθρωποι ... τὰ κουστούμια τὰ ἡθικά Fior 73.9 (< OFr. custume/coustume) ἐχειροτονοῦσαν τὰ ὀφίκια SOFIANOS, Paidag. 121.19 δίδουσι σας καὶ τορνέσια (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.8) μέ ὅλα τως τὰ πριβιλέγια (1594, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 152, 276.22) (< Ven. privilegio) ἀπὸ τὰ χρέγια (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 61.35–6) (< το χρέος) διδαι καὶ τὰ χωράφια του ὅλα (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 132, 146.8–9) μελίσσια εἴκοσι ὅπου τὰ ἔδωσα τοῦ συμπεθέρου (1634, Peloponnese, LAMBROS 1908b: 339.6) νὰ βράση εἰς τὰ ἀνθράκια LANDOS, Geopon. 229.23–4 ἐβάλαμε οἱ πτωχοὶ τὰ βούδιά μας (1659, Hydra, KARATHANASIS 1972/73: 240.5) μέ τὰ δάκρυα εἰς τὰ μάτια (1671, Cythera, PSARAS 1989: 150.2) ἀπὸ τὰ τελπιζίκια μου NEOFYTOS, Achouri 64 (< Turk. telbizlik); ὅς τὰ αὐθεντικά τὰ χάνια
 ibid. 82
 εἰς μουσικά κανάκια Zinon V.29; εἰς χίλια παιγνιδάκια ibid. V.30 δίχως τα μασκαράλκια του δούλου Don Kis. 153.7–8 (< Turk. maskaralik); εἰς τα κατσίκια της γῆς ibid. 420.4

Vocative

Βέλθανδρε φῶς μου μάτια μου Velth. 1158 καὶ σεῖς, κοράσια, ξεύρετε Rim. kor. A 180 ὦ χορταράκια δροσερά CHORTATISIS, Panor. II.199 ἀδέλφια μου κοσμόφιλα P&N Diath. 558 ἐσεῖς ... | τραγοῦδια ... | κ' ἐσεῖς, στεφάνια Zinon I.1–3 ἀκούετε, παλληκάρια μου STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 953 (Pidonia) ἐσεῖς ... λιθάρια, ποτάμια PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.135–6 ὦ χέρια μου ... | κ' ἐσεῖς, ποδάρια δυνατά PETRITSIS, Dig. O 3030–1

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-α

Forms in -α are the result of /j/ deletion in the forms with synizesis when it is preceded by a sibilant or affricate (see I, 2.4.7.3 for details). They occur in a large geographical area, in texts from Crete, Mani, the Aegean, the Heptanese and northern areas from the very beginning of the LMedG period:¹⁴⁰

Nominative

τίποτες τὰ βιβλίτζα οὐκ ἔχουν περὶ δόγματος NIKON, Logos 9 312.17 τὸ ἐν ἀγόρι καὶ τὰ τρία κορίτσα (1449–55, Silymnvia, SCHREINER 1975/79: 98B, 647.4.9) τὰ ὅποια δέκα γρόσα εἶναι στο σπίτι τῆς Καλίτσας (1687, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1972: 16, 285.9)

¹⁴⁰ A form βουνίτζα occurs in a (probably late-10th-c.) military treatise; λιβαδίτζα occurs in an 11th-c. ms (J) of the Patria: ἡ δὲ μονὴ τῆς Εὐφροσύνης τὰ Λιβαδίτζα Patria III, §77, 243.13–14 (ed. Preger, vol. 2); also: εἶχον νομισματίτζα in TZETZES, Epist. 70.1 (12th c.; ed. Leone); see LBG.

Accusative

ἀπελάβαμεν τὰ πιττακίτζα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.5; εἰς τὰ βιβλίτζα id., Logos 9 310.8
καὶ ἕτερα δύο ἀμπελίτσα (1271, Pilion, ΜΙΚΛΟΣΙΧ/ΜÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 27, 395.7) πολλὰ ἐσυνελυπηθήκα ἐκεῖνα τὰ πουλίτσα Liv. V 149; μικρὰ μονοπατίτσα ibid. 2357 (χαιρετῶ ...) τὰ ἀνίψα σου τ' ἄρφανά (1498, Crete, ΜΑΝΟΥΣΣΑΚΑΣ 1976: 2, 18.3) λίθους, μαργαριτάρια, χρυσάφι καὶ μπαλάσα Velis ρ 487 (< Ital. balascio) παπούτσα ἀγοράζεις DEFAR., Sos. 311 (Holton) ὅταν ἔχουν μελίτσα μέσα στὰ μελισουρία (1541, Thasos?, ΚΡΑΒΑΡΙ 1987: App. II, 341.40) τὰ τορνέσα τοῦ τὰ ἔδωσα ἐγώ (1564, Cythera, ΔΡΑΚΑΚΙΣ 1999: 132, 214.25) σφογγίξε τὰ παπούτσα μου CHORTATSI, Katz. I.247 ἔδωκεν τὰ τορνέσα (1600, Crete, ΒΑΚΚΕΡ/VAN GEMERT 1987: 92, 108.7) ἔριπεν ὁ ἅγιος τὰ δόσα MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 172 κάμανε καὶ ἀμάξα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 79.27 μὲ τὰ κρασοβούτσα (1622, Crete, ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑΤΙΣ 1986: 3, 55.247) νὰ χάσει ὁκτῶ γρόσα (ante 1662, Sifnos, ΤΣΕΛΙΚΑΣ 1986c: 2, 31.28) διὰ τὰ χαράτσα (1662, Sifnos, ΜΕΡΤΖΙΟΣ 1958a: 1, 107.66) (= χαράτσια < Turk. haraç) καὶ τὴν ἐπούλησεν δυὸ γρόσα τὸν κάδο (1670, Lefkada, ΤΣΙΛΙΜΙΝΓΡΑ 1955: I.1, 72.7) ἔλαβε πλερωμὴ δύο γρόσα (1674, Ikaria, ΤΣΕΛΙΚΑΣ 2000: 52, 48.5) (δίνει της ...) κρεββατοστρώσα (1692, Naxos, ΠΑΝΔΕΛΙΑ-ΓΡΙΤΣΟΠΟΥΛΟΥ 1995/97: 2, 213.31) τυριὰ καὶ ρύζα Leilasias Par. 144

Vocative

ὀρνέα μου πουλίτσα, μικρά τε καὶ μεγάλα Poulol. 654 app. crit. (E)

Genitive

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-ίων

Genitives with a historical shift of the stress to the penultimate can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

τῶν ποταμιτσίων (1062, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 35, 192.17) ἀγορᾶς μουλαρίων (1079, Constantinople, ΒΡΑΝΟΥΣΙ 1980: 2, 17.4); βουβαλίων καὶ λοιπῶν τετραπόδων (ibid. 17.6) γομαρίων ὁκτῶ (1182, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 22, 424.22) (= γομαρίων; see I, 2.5.4) ὑπὸ σανιδίων σκευασμένον (1196, S. Italy, ΓΥΙΛΛΟΥ 2009: 13, 69.11) λόγους γραϊδίων GLYKAS, Stichoi 4 μεγάλων μαχαίριων Diig. tetr. 923 τῶν ἐγγονίων μου τῶν ἀλλῶν (1518, Crete, ΚΑΚΛΑΜΑΝΙΣ/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 99.199) χαῖρε ὅλονῶν τῶν κεφαλίων κεφάλι! Diig. Alex. F 40.17 (Konstantinopulos) τῶν χωραφίων του (1612, Crete, ΒΑΚΚΕΡ/VAN GEMERT 1987: 795, 690.13–14) ἔχει στράτα τῶν καραβίων VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.22–3 τῶν πουλακίων Bertoldos 45.27–8 των δουλαπίων Don Kis. 159.33 (< Turk. dulap); διηγούμενοι τες ιστορίες των αμορίων τους ibid. 228.14 (< Ital. amore); των τουφεκίων και κανονίων ibid. 560.22–3

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in documents from Crete, the Heptanese and the Aegean: τῶν δύο κοπελίω (1538, Crete, ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑΤΙΣ 1994a: 177, 178.32); τεσσάρω πινακίω (1609, Ikaria, ΤΣΕΛΙΚΑΣ 2000: 6, 21.5); ταγαρίω τριωνῶ (1643, Ithaca, ΖΑΠΑΝΔΙ 2002b: 270, 216.12).

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-(ε)ιῶν

Forms with a shift of the stress to the ultimate occur from the very beginning of the LMedG period:

μοδιῶν πεντήκοντα (956 [12th?-c. copy], Constantinople?, BOMPAIRE 1964: 1, 39.11) τῶν ἄλωνιῶν (1124, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 94, 122.8) εἰς τὴν λακκάδα τῶν Βαμβακιῶν (14th c., Athos, PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1986: App. II, 238.111) τῶν δύο της φρυδιῶν Pol. Tr. 2072 app. crit. (V) ἡ χωραφιῶν Assizes A 108.14; περὶ τῶν γερακιῶν καὶ τῶν ξυπτεριῶν ibid. 200.8
 πλήθος μελισσιῶν Anthos Ch. G 125.7
 τῶν λεγομένων χωραφιῶν (1516 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 2, 51.10–11) αὐτουῶν τῶν λεγομένων σπιτιῶν (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 26, 31.21)
 τὸ ρέστος τῶν τομαριῶν καὶ ἄσκιῶν (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 388.22) τῶν γελαδιῶν (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 20, 32.5) τὸ φῶς τῶν ὀμματιῶν μου PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 101–2 τῶν χειρῶν της MONTSEL., Evgena 1246 τῶν παιδικιῶν της (1698, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 27, 38.18) τῶν δυσονῶν ἀδελφιῶν (1710, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 32, 94.4)

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete and the Heptanese:

να μη δουλεύγεις κορασιῶ CHORTATIS, Panor. Dedic. 5; παιγνίδι τῶ χειρῶ σου ibid. II.214; τῶν ὀμματιῶ id., Erofi II.315; τῶ λιονταριῶ του τό ὄωκε ibid. V.196 τῶν παλικάριῶ Stathis I.128 τὸ φῶς τῶν ὀμματιῶ μου Thysia Avr. 314; τὸν τόπο τῶν ποδιῶ του ibid. 856 δύο πόλους τῶν φελονιῶ χρυσούς (1674, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 3, 124.1)

Addition of -(ν)ε has been found in texts from the Heptanese and Roumeli (see I, 2.6.3.1 for details):

τοὺν ἐγγονιῶνε της (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 51, 132.8) (for τοὺν see 5.2.1) δαχτυλίδι ἕνα ριαλιῶνε τριῶ (1654, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2008: 2, 53.17) (< ρέαλι(ν)); ἄμπέλια βατζελιῶνε ξῆι (ibid. 53.18) (< Ital. vascèllo) τῶν ἀδελφιῶνε μου (1688, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 110, 64.7); τῶν τσεκινιῶνε (1696, ibid. 198, 118.5) (< Ven. zechin) τῶν κανονιῶνε-ε EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 58.18–19 τῶν αὐτῶν δύο σπιτιῶνε (1721, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 10, 172.27)

Sometimes the accent is placed on <ι>, even though the stress clearly falls on the ultimate (see 1.5). This is most clearly seen in verse texts: μέσα τῶν δύο της ὀφρυδιῶν Pol. Tr. 2072 app. crit. (V); τῶν κουδουνιῶν τοὺς κτύπους Achil. N 1210; οὕτως εἶχε τὸ δάσωμα τῶν ὀμαλλιῶν ἡ κόρη Velth. 690 transcr. (Lendari) (Kriaras: ὀμαλλιῶν).

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-(ε)ιῶν

Absence of stress shift occurs in a document from Sicily. It must, however, be borne in mind that the edition is unreliable. Similar forms may occur in versified texts for metrical reasons. Erofilis offers an example with deletion of final /n/:

τῶν μικρῶν ρυάκιων, καὶ φθάζει ἕως τῆς <σ>μίξεως τῶν δύο ρυάκιων (1141, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 5, 18.19–20) κ' οἱ κόρες τῶν ὀμμάτιων σου Diig. tetr. 149 app. crit. (L) βρύση τῷ δάκρυω καὶ σκολειὸ τῇ πρίκας καὶ τοῦ πόνου CHORTATSI, Eraf. V.4

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶ(ν)

Regionally in the forms with synizesis /j/ may be deleted when preceded by a sibilant or affricate (see I, 2.4.7.3 for details): τῷ τορνεσῶ (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 9, 31.15; and 1600, ibid. 82, 99.12); τῷ τριάντα γροσῶ (1703, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 47, 61.23).

2.20.3 Proparoxytone Nouns in -ι(ν)

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	κιννάβαρι(ν)
Gen.
Acc.	κιννάβαρι(ν)
Voc.

As mentioned in the introduction (2.20), this proparoxytone paradigm is defective in that it lacks a plural formation, and no examples have been found of the genitive or the vocative. It also comprises just a handful of nouns.

Singular

Nominative

που ἦτον ἀσπρον ὡς τὸ φίλτισι MAKOLAS, Ioust. 427.17–18 (< Turk. fildişi) τὰ χεῖριά της φίλδισι, ἡ ασπράδα της χιόνι Don Kis. 85.4–5

Genitive

No examples found.¹⁴¹

Accusative

διὰ νάγοράσει πέπερι καὶ κανέλλα (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 64, 50.1) τὰ χεῖλῃ του ἦσαν κόκκινα, κιννάβαρι βαμμένα Imber: 83 βάλε του μέσα εἰς τὸ κόκκαλον κιννάβαριν LANDOS, Geopon. 151.35

Vocative

No examples found.

¹⁴¹ In higher-register texts the nouns κιννάβαρι and πέπερι have the old genitive in -εως; see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. κιννάβαρι and πιπέρι for examples.

2.20.4 Transfers to Other Paradigms

A few lexical transfers occur, mainly in texts from Cyprus. The noun παιδίον has a masculine variant παίδιος, derived from LA παίδιον (see LSJ s.v.), which is preserved in the modern Cypriot dialect as παίδικιος. It occurs in LMedG texts such as the writings of Nikon of the Black Mountain (11th c.) and in LMedG and EMG Cypriot texts: ἐὰν δέ τις παίδιος ὦν, ... φθαρή δὲ ὑπὸ τινος ἀνδρός ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 3 188.21–2; ο ποίος παίδιος VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.6; εφουρκίσαν και τον παίδιον ibid. 166.5–6; ὦ παίδιοι, βάρτε τὸ σκοπὸν Cypr. Canz. 2.7; ὁ παίδιος ἀπολογήθηκέν του Fior 150.29. The chronicles of Machairas and Voustronios offer a paroxytone alternative παίδιος, which in fact represents παίδιος with synizesis (see 1.5).¹⁴² In Cypriot the noun θεμέλιο(ν) (< adj. θεμέλιος) has a masculine variant with a shift of the stress to the ultimate: ἐνι ρίζα, θεμελιός Fior 74.37–8; μὴ ἔχοντα ... θεμελιὸν κανένα ἀληθινόν ibid. 86.6.

In documents from S. Italy, feminine alternatives in -η occur for χωράφι(ν) and ἀμπέλι(ν): τὴν χωράφη (1122, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 91, 119.10–11); (πουλῶ ...) τὴν ἀμπέλη καὶ μὲ τὴν χωράφην ἀργῶ (1130, ibid. 108, 143.5). How seriously we need to take these forms is debatable, as errors such as the use of the accusative instead of the nominative in κεῖται τὴν ἀμπέλην ταύτην (ibid. 143.10), and a seemingly undeclined genitive in ἐπάνω τοῦ γεφυρίτσι (ibid. 143.10–11) indicate that the scribe's command of Greek was limited.

2.21 Neuter Nouns in -μα(ν)

The -μα(ν) paradigm is a fairly stable one with relatively little variation. It is a productive paradigm that comprises a large group of inherited paroxytone and proparoxytone nouns as well as a fair number of new ones, formed from verb stems, e.g.:

πάπλωμα χρυσόν Dig. E 180 (< ἐπαπλώνω) εἰς τὸ τζιληπούρδισμα Diig. tetr. 729a (< τσιληπουρδίζω) τοῦ καλλιοτερισμάτου Assizes B 369.11 (< καλλιοτερίζω) ἀπὸ τὸ δόσμαν Synax. gadar. 237 (< δίδω) τινάς μηδὲν ποίση μάλλωμαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 362.18–19 (< μαλλώνω) ἐξημέρωμα (1522, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 65, 123.45) (< ἐξημερώνω)

New nouns in -μα are also formed from verbs of foreign origin:

τὸ δεσδένιασμα Fior 94.13–14 (< δεσδενιάζω < Occit. desdegnar; see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.)
τοῦτα εἶνε τὰ προμουτιάσματά σας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 526.3 (< προμουτιάζω < Occit. proumettre) βιζιτάρισμα Bertoldin. 117.21 (< βιζιτάρω < Ven. visitàr) τεπελέτισμα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.27 (< τεπελετίζω < Turk. tepelemek)

¹⁴² A single similar example in Dig. A, interpreted as a masculine form in Kriaras, Lex. s.v. παίδιος based on the accompanying adjectival form: δράκων, μορφώσας ἑαυτὸν εἰς εὐειδῆ παιδίον Dig. A 1926, is in fact a neuter (see 3.3.3).

When no verb is available, the noun may be derived from a fictitious verb stem: σὲ φαγοπότια καὶ σὲ ἄτσαλα μπεκριλεύματα (1705 [later copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B I/4, f.166r.27–8) (< *μπεκριλευ- < μπεκρής < Turk. bekri). New forms in -μα(ν) are only very rarely derived directly from other nouns; the following example appears to be a one-off: τοῦ παιγνίματος Byz. II. 675 (< παίγνιον).

An added final /n/ to the nominative, accusative and vocative singular forms, on the analogy of nouns in -ον, appears in texts from the very beginning of the LMedG period, including mixed-register texts, which indicates that it had become established in the spoken language well before that, though earlier written evidence is scarce: ψηλαφήσας εὔρεν δέμαν ἐν Miracles of St Nicholas of Myra, no. 9, l. 11 (7th c.; 13th-c. ms; ed. Anrich); καταλαβὼν εἰς τὸ Ἄρμαν Chronikon Paschale 730.18 (7th c.; oldest ms 10th-c.; ed. Dindorf).

Already in AG the -μα paradigm exercised strong influence on other paradigms, such as certain proparoxytone nouns in -ο(ν), which had developed alternative plural forms in -ατα (e.g. πρόσωπο(ν), προσώπατα); see 2.19. These forms continue to be in use in the period covered by this Grammar, and the -ατα ending spreads to other paradigms as well, such as paroxytone nouns in -ο(ν) (e.g. ξύλο(ν), ξύλατα); nouns in -ιμο(ν), for which imparisyllabic gen. sg. and pl. forms are the most common in the period covered by this Grammar (γράψιμο(ν), γραψίματος/γραψιμάτου, γραψίματα, γραψιμάτων; see 2.22); and even new substantivized imperatives such as τὸ ἔμπα and τὸ διάβα (τὰ ἔμπατα, τὰ διάβατα; see 2.24.4). However, neuter nouns belonging to other paradigms do not easily transfer to the -μα(ν) paradigm in the singular as well, though a few exceptions have of course been found: in a document from Pontos a singular in -μαν has been found of the word πρόστιμο(ν), which, incidentally, does not belong to the -ιμο(ν) paradigm, but to the -ο(ν) paradigm (see 2.19.2):¹⁴³ νὰ δώση καὶ πρόστιμαν (13th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 20, 9.7); cf. λόγου προστίματος (1264, ibid. 39, 20.62) and χάριν προστίματος (1283, ibid. 71, 43.9). In the following examples the geographical name τὰ Ἱεροσόλυμα has been reinterpreted as a singular noun in -μα: ὃ Γεροσόλυμα πτωχόν FALIEROS, Thrinus 73; τοῦ Ἱεροσολυμάτου (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 210.8.13); the same genitive occurs in Assizes A 42.11–12, MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 78.17, VOUSTR., Chron. A 280.14 (and 16th c., Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: 120.20 and 22); εἰς Ἱεροσόλυμαν Pist. kekoim. 75. The following examples from Katzourbos are a rare case of reinterpretation of an adverb (ἀνάλαιμα) as a neuter noun in -μα: οἱ γάμοι αὐτῆνοι ἀνάλαιμα νὰ τσ' ἔβγουσι μεγάλο CHORTATSI, Katz. III.410; πρικὺ νὰ σῶβγη ἀνάλαιμα ibid. V.15.

¹⁴³ A pl. πρόστιματα appears in the 10th-c. Suda Lexicon, s.v. “τῶν τριῶν κακῶν ἓν”: ταῦτα δὲ εἶναι λέγουσιν, ἃ Θηραμένης ὥρισε πρόστιματα. Comparable forms are (see also PSALTES 1913: 176): συσσημάτων (< σύσσημον) in Malalas, Chronogr. 8, 3.22 (6th c., ed. Thurn); ἐθίματα (< ἔθιμον) in De Ceremoniis 606.12 (10th c., ed. Reiske); and ἀντίτιματα (< ἀντίτιμον) in Nicetas of Herakleia (11th c.; see the online TLG).

2.21.1 Paroxytone and Proparoxytone Neuter Nouns in -μα(ν)

	General		Restricted		Rare
Singular
Nom.	γράμμα γράμμαν	ὄνομα ὄνομαν	-μας
Gen.	γράμματος γραμμάτου	ὀνόματος ὀνομάτου			γράμματος -μάτουν -ματιοῦ	-μάτου -ματιοῦ
Acc.	γράμμα γράμμαν	ὄνομα ὄνομαν	-μας
Voc.	γράμμα γράμμαν	ὄνομα ὄνομαν
Plural
Nom.	γράμματα	ὀνόματα			(γράμματα)
Gen.	γραμμάτων	ὀνομάτων	γραμμάτω γραμμάτωνε	ὀνομάτω ὀνομάτωνε	-ματίων
Acc.	γράμματα	ὀνόματα			γράμματα
Voc.	γράμματα	ὀνόματα			(γράμματα)

Singular*Nominative, Accusative and VocativeNeut.*

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-μα

The inherited ending -μα is used for the nominative, the accusative and the vocative throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

Nominative

τί ἐστιν σχίσμα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 30.18 προφητικόν τὸ ρῆμα GLYKAS, Stichoi 315 σφάλμα γὰρ μέγαν ἦτον Chron. Mor. H 3882 ἂν ἔν' τὸ γιόμα του κακόν Arm. 106 (= γεῦμα) ἰδοῦ τὸ σῶμα φαίνεται Dig. E 108 εὐτύχησεν τὸ πρῶτο του τὸ κροῦσμα Chron. Toc. 169 ἐβεβαιώθη τὸ πράγμα (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 302.57) ἦτον τὸ κτίσμα θαυμαστὸν Velth. 446 (Cupane) κ' ἔτρεχε τὸ αἶμα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 525 τὸ καῦμα γὰρ οὐκ ἴσχυεν Achil. O 191 νὰ σὰς δώσει χάριν καὶ γνώσιν τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 232.3–4 ἦτονε πλάσμα του KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 336.41

τὸ στρώμα SOFIANOS, Grammar 44.1

ἔτσι ἔγινε τὸ παρὸ γράμμα (1586, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 64, 54.17–18) λεφτόκαρον τὸ στόμα Diig. Alex. Sem. B 8

τὸ κρίμα GERMANO, Grammar 62.22

τὸ τῆς ἀγίωσύνης ιδίωμα ἔστιν ἡ ταπεινοφροσύνη NIKON, Prol. 22.20–1 ὅλα ἦσαν λόγια εὐκαιρα, καύχημα τῶν Ρωμαίων Chron. Mor. H 3836 πορπάτημα τριῶν ἡμερῶν Jonas 216.68

ὥσάν σκιά καὶ φάντασμα διαβαίνει Achil. L 1289 ο οἶκος τοῦ ἐγίνετον ἀρπαγμα δημοσίου Diig. Apoll. 797 τὸ ἔντυμά τοῦ κόκκινον Assizes A 213.4

μὲ σώζει πρόγεμα Krasop. V 65 θέλει γένηται ἀνακάτωμα Ekth. Chron. 17.14 καθὼς μολογάει χερόγραμμά τοῦ (1549, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 51, 93.1) ἦτονε χάλασμα (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 139, 109.12)

νά τουτονὲ τὸ χάρισμα! CHORTATSIS, Katz III.467

να σας ευφραίνει πάντοτε ... | το ευτελές μου πόνημα IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4391–2

στράτευμα ἐμαζώκτηκεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2338

ἔπαψε τὸ φούσκωμα τῆς θάλασσας EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 62.15–16

Accusative

κατὰ τὸ δόγμα τῶν λεγομένων Εὐσταθιανῶν NIKON, Logos 1 94.19

μὲ ἀκάνθινον τὸ στέμμα Chron. Mor. H 110 ἤρκεψασιν τὸ πράγμα Liv. V 632 ὁμολογῶ τὸ κρίμα μου SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 339

κ' ἐποῖκα[ν] σχῆμα σιωπῆς BERGADIS, Apok. V 153

μὲ διῶμα καὶ κανάκι LIMEN., Than. Rod. 162

ὡς πράμα ἐδικόν τοῦ (1539, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 5, 19.5–6) τὸ ψέμα ἐσυντύχασιν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 494

νὰ ξεστοματίσει ἔτοιον ψόμα (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 83.10)

στρώμα ἓνα (1662, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 31, 20.3)

διὰ πείσμα ἔσφαξε τὴν ἀνεψιὰ τοῦ δεσπότη EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 39.5–6

εἰς τὸ οἰκεῖον ... δικαίωμα NIKON, Logos 4 206.27–8

νὰ ἔχη τὸ ἀνάθεμα (1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 5, 619. 6) εἰς τὸ σκῆνωμα SULT. WALAD, Poem I 8

εἰς φουσσάτεμα ν' ἀπέλθωμεν Chron. Mor. H 2704 εἰς τοῦτο τὸ ἔγκρυμμα ἀπέθανεν (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 208.2.4) τὸ βάδισμα, τὸ κίνημα καὶ τὴν πορπατησιάν τῆς Velth. 614 (Cupane) τῶν ἵππων τὸ χλιμίτρισμα Achil. N 231 ἐποῖκεν τοῦ κάλεσμα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 198.29

τότες δουπιτιάζει διὰ τὸ περικοῦλιασμα Fior 103.30; τοῦτον κράζουν το κούρτσεμα ibid. 117.36 ἀπήδησε ἓνα ἀπήδημα μέγα NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 14.3

τὸ πάπλωμα ὅπου εἶχεν τάξει (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 37, 117.1–2)

τὸ κόνισμα ἔδωσα (1569, Crete?, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 4, 473.5)

στὸ φύτεμα (1619, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 1, 169.19)

πολὺ κρύωμα μὲ χιόνι ἔκαμεν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.10–11

φίλημα δὲ μοῦ ἔδωσεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 443

διὰ παράδειγμα ἀλλουνῶν γυναικῶν (1696, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 2 [B'], 253.23)

νὰ τοῦ συνάζει τὸ ὁδόημα (1697, Chios, TSELIKAS 2000: 99, 77.10)

Vocative

οὐαί, αἶμα βασιλικόν, εἰς τὴν ντροπὴν γὰρ εἶσαι Theseid IV.24,3 (1529) στόμα μου μυρισμένο CHORTATIS, Panor. II.195 ὦ κρίμα PORTIUS, Grammar 18.35 ὦ πρᾶγμα κακογέννητον Bertoldos 60.33 ἀγλάισμα τοῦ στέφους | καὶ τῆς πορφύρας καύχημα Ptoch. (Maiuri) 3–4
 χαῖρε, τράγε ... | καὶ βοθρακοῦ ἀποσκελλωμά | γραΐας μὲν αἶγας | ἀνακακάρωμα Spanos D 31–2; ἔλθε ὧδε, κακότυχε, κακῆς μὲν ὥρας γέννημα ibid. 624 ὦ Γεροσόλυμα πτωχόν FALIEROS, Thrinis 73 (< τὰ Ἱεροσόλυμα) κι ἐσύ, Χρυσή μου, ζήση μου, μάκρεμα τῶ χρονῶ μου Stathis III.469 σιώπα, μαγάρισμα! Vios Aisop. D 218.38 χαῖρε ἄκουσμα τῆς Ἀνατολῆς καὶ ὄνομα τῆς Δύσης Diig. Alex. Sem. S 779 σίγχαμα, μηδὲν ἔμπης μέσα Vios Aisop. D 218.18 κάθαρμα Vios Aisop. K 152.6; ναί, βδέλυγμα ibid. 185.12 μέγα καύχημα τῶν εὐσεβῶν καὶ ὀρθοδόξων χριστιανῶν (1652, Crete, TCHENTSOVA 2002: 1, 355.7)

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-μαν

The inherited ending -μα with an added final /n/ appears regularly in texts from the very beginning of the LMedG period, including mixed-register documents and texts such as the writings of Nikon of the Black Mountain, Kallimachos and Ermoniakos. Examples have been found in texts from all regions, usually alongside forms in -μα, though texts from south-eastern areas (Cyprus, Rhodes) show a marked preference for forms in -μαν. In verse texts the added /n/ may be editorial (avoidance of hiatus when the following word starts with a vowel):

Nominative

ἐγεγόνει τὸ παρὸν ... γράμμαν (1288, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 228.31) οὐδ' ἔν' τὸ γιόμαν μου κακὸν Arm. 111 ἔφυγεν τὸ αἶμαν ἀπ' ἐκεῖνον Liv. V 3542 ἐὰν ἦτον πρᾶμαν ἑτεσαῦτον Assizes B 299.3
 τὸ παρὸν γράμμαν ἐπεδώθη (1422, Meteora, VEIS 1911/12: 15, 54.19) τὸ πρᾶγμαν ἔναι μὲ τοιοῦτην στράταν (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 65.3) εὐρέθη στρώμαν κείμενον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 798 ὡς γοιὸν ἔναν μικρὸν πρᾶμαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 32.25 καὶ ἐδιάβην τὸ πρᾶμαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 44.8 ἀλλὶ κρίμαν ὅπου ἔναι! BERGADIS, Apok. V and A 510 τὸ κύμαν τὸν ἐπέρασεν τῆς Τρίπολης τὰ μέρη Diig. Apoll. 139 εἶμαι χῶμαν τοῦ Diig. Alex. F 274.15 (Lolos) κρίμαν εἰν' νὰ χάσει CHORTATIS, Panor. III.450 νὰ ἔναι τὸ πρᾶμαν τοῦ ὅλον ἐκείνῳ (1645, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 10, 367.2) κεῖται ... βάσταγμαν λαρνακίου (1098–1103, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 48, 187.8) ὡς δὲ τὸ τίτιον μήνυμαν | ἦλθεν εἰς τὸν κρατοῦντα Eisit. f.7v.1–2 εἰ ἔστιν θέλημαν τοῦ κράτους σου (1231–2, Cyprus, BEIHAMMER 2007: 29, 181.49) ἀνάθεμαν τὰ γράμματα Ptoch. III 85

καὶ ἂν σ' ἔλθῃ ξενοδόχημαν Flor. L 1126 (Cupane) ἦρτεν τὸ ἀρμάτωμαν τοὺς Σαρακηνοὺς (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 208.1.2) χέρωμαν ἦτον δυνατὸν Chron. Toc. 2049
 ὅσον χάλκωμαν πωληθῇ (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 43, 75.8) ἰδοὺ καὶ σὲ τὸ τρόχωμαν τῆς τύχης περιφέρει [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 252 τὸ διάστημα τῆς Ἀμοχούστου εἶνε κοντὰ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 438.24 Ὀτμάνης τὸ ὄνομάν του (16th c. [ms], northern Aegean?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 70.II, 543.4.1–2) τὸ παλάτι του ἦτον ὅλο ἀγνὸ μάλαμαν μέσα Diig. Alex. K 359.33–4 καὶ τ' ὄνομάν του νὰ κραστῇ ἡησοῦς εὐλογημένος P&N Diath. 1892 τὸ ὄνομάν της Γαρδῖνα (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 436, 659.14)

Accusative

εἰς τὸ θέμαν (1027, Sparta, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 43, 301.19) ἐκ τὸ ὕδωρ ἢ ἐκ τὸ νάμαν NIKON, Logos 1 100.29 app. crit. (S) εἰς αὐτὸ τὸ κλεῖσμαν (1154–5, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 5, 79.6) καὶ ἔλαβαν γράμμαν (1288, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 227.17) φοβοῦμαι γὰρ τὸ στόμαν τῆς Ptoch. I 33 καὶ μὴ δώσης ... αἶμαν ἀθῶο Jonas 214.37–8 ἔ[χ]ει θέλημαν ἢ βασιλεία μου (14th c., Trebizond, GRÉGOIRE 1909: 2, 492.5) εἶδαμεν κάστρου κτίσμαν Liv. α 1000 νὰ κάηκα ἐκ τὸ κάμαν Katal. 487 οὐ παρεῖδεν τὸ πλάσμαν του (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 21.21) ὥς εἶδα τὸ γράμμαν σας (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.2) νὰ φαν γιόμαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 46.12
 τὸ κλάμαν ἀρχινίζει MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 198 ὅπου τὼς ἐπῆρεν τὸ πράμαν τως (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 180.50) νὰ φέρῃ τὸ γράμμαν (1613, Naxos, CHASIOTIS 1966: 15, 206.6) εἰς τὸ Χτήμαν (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3.10–11); εἰς τὸ χῶμαν (1646, ibid. 5, 15.4) τάμαν νὰ τοῦ ποίσουν Thrinis Kypr. 176; ἔβαλά το εἰς γράμμαν ibid. 345 ἴνα ἔχεις τ' ἀνάθεμαν (1027, Sparta, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 43, 301.36–7) εἰς τὸ οἰκεῖον θέλημάν τε καὶ δικαίωμα NIKON, Logos 4 206.27–8 καὶ ἐζητήσαμεν δικαίωμαν (1271, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 70, 201.27) ἔλαβον τὸ τίμημαν (1280, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 82, 48.6) καὶ δράμε ἐπὶ τὸ Πέραμαν Ptoch. IV 120 πέτρα χάραμαν τετράγωνον ἔχουσα (1333, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 15, 75.12) μὲ ὅλον καὶ καλόν τως θέλημαν (1453, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1967: 1, 47.11) ἔκτισεν τὴν Ἀγίαν Σοφιά, τὸ θέαμαν τὸ μέγα Anak. Konst. 99 χωρὶς τὸ θέλημάν τως (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 57.59) λογοκολάκευμαν ἤρξατο νὰ τὴν λέγῃ Imber. 276 σφακέλωμαν ἐποῖκεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1165; μὲ τὸ κηποπότισμαν ibid. 1695 δίχως τζαλούντζιασμαν Assizes A 6.1; νὰ πλερώσῃ τὸ πλέρωμαν ibid. 44.13 εἰς τὸ ὄρωμαν του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 36.26 (= ὄραμα) εἰς Ἱεροσόλυμαν Pist. kekoim. 75; καὶ κάμνει ὀλοκαύτωμαν ibid. 409 νὰ ἔχουν κανέναν δικαίωμαν (1578/83, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 2, 1.16) νὰ σηκώσῃ τὸ πιά ἀλαφρὸν φόρτωμαν Vios Aisop. I 251.26 (ἀφήνει ...) τὸ πάπλωμάν τῆς τὸ γερανιὸ (1628, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 2, 130.40) νὰ ἵνα εἰς τὸ θέλημάν ντου (1639, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 11, 113.45) θέλουν ἀπογράψου ἑκατὸ τὸ ὄνομάν τως (1647, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 16, 88.17)

Vocative

ὦ στόμαν ὁποῦ ᾿διάτασσε FALIEROS, Thrinós 367 σκόρπισε, χῶμαν ἄλαλον! BERGADIS, Apok. V and A 110 ἔτσι τὸν χαίρετῃσε· βαθρακοῦ ἀποσκελλῶμαν Spanos A 10

Neut.

Sg.	Nom. & Acc.	-μας

Addition of /s/ to the -μα ending occurs with certain paroxytone words (αἷμα, κρῖμα, χῶμα) in both the nominative and the accusative. CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: B 462) considers them to be formed on the analogy of κρέας, presumably on the basis of their similar plural and genitive formations (κρέατα, αἷματα, κρέατος, αἵματος). Examples have been found in texts from south-western regions from the 15th c. onwards (ms date of Armouris 1461):

τὸ αἷμας του νὰ πίνω Arm. 180 app. crit. (C) (Eideneier) (Athenian scribe living in Euboeia) νὰ χύσομε τὸ αἷμας (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 5, 261.5)

κρίμας στο ψοῦνι CHORTATIS, Panor. II.73; κρίμας στο νιο ibid. III.539

καὶ τίς ἐγεμίσανε χῶμας Chron. Tourk. Soult. 79.23; ἔδραμε τὸ αἷμας ἕως εἰς τὴν θάλασσα ibid.

133.13–14; εἰς τὸ αἷμας τοῦ γένους τοῦ Ὀτωμάνου ibid. 137.37–8

Genitive

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ματος ὁ -ματος

The most common ending for the genitive singular is the inherited ending -ματος. It appears in texts from all areas, though it is perhaps interesting to note that the genitive singular of nouns in -μα is not very frequent in texts from the northern mainland: Papasynadinos has only nine instances, five in the stock phrase ὦ τοῦ θαύματος and the other four in biblical contexts. Kallioupolitis, too, has only 20 examples in his translation of the New Testament. Romanos Nikiforou in his grammar overlooked the paradigm altogether, although he does have a few examples of -ματος in other contexts:

ἀπὸ στόματος εἶπες με NIKON, Logos 31 810.8

ἀσθενείων τοῦ σώματος (1105, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 8, 397.29)

ὦ τοῦ μεγάλου πτώματος Ptoch. IV 346; καὶ θήσῃ τὰ τοῦ κλάηματος ibid. 487 ἀπὸ τοῦ στόματός του Dig. E 1743 τοῦ αὐτοῦ τάγματος (1432, Corfu, ASONITIS 1996/97: 3, 29.32) κανενοῦ πράγματος Assizes A 102.12 τοῦ δόσματος [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 568

τοῦ στέμματος Achil. N 351

τὸ κρίμαν τοῦ αἵματος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 208.31

ὦ του θαύματος! DIONYS., Istor. 253.23

τοῦ παρὸν γράμματος (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 54.31)

τὸ πρᾶγμα, τοῦ πράγματος SOFIANOS, Grammar 43.21

διὰ τοῦ θείου καὶ ἀγγελικοῦ σχήματος (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 23.139) διὰ τοῦ παρόντος νοταριακοῦ γράμματος (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 26, 84.5–6)

εἵχε κίνησιν αἵματος KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 9.20 τοῦ γράμματος SPANOS, Grammar 31.26 μέχρι τοῦ βαστάματος (1073, Miletos, VRANOUSI 1980: 50, 18.286) τοῦ λακκοστάματος (1090–4, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 45, 162.25) παντὸς χριστιανικοῦ συστήματος NIKON, Logos 1 68.12 παῦσε τοῦ ἀνασθενάγματος Liv. E 3679 ἀπὸ χρυσοῦ μαλάγματος Liv. V 292; ἀπὸ συβάματος ibid. 2644 ἐκείνου τοῦ παραπτώματος Assizes B 280.30 μετὰ ὀρισμὸν προστάγματος Diig. tetr. 697 μετὰ ἀγιάσματος STAFIDAS, Iatrosaf. 9.243 τοῦ συμβάματος Chron. Toc. 30; τέχνη ἐπιτηδεύματος ibid. 393 διὰ θελήματος θεοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 66.2

 τοῦ κακοῦ συναντήματος Spanos D 624–5 μετὰ θυμιάματος Pist. kekoim. 408–9 τοῦ μαγερέματος ROMANOS, Grammar 116.26 τοῦ κεντρίσματος LANDOS, Geopon. 150.2
 νὰ ᾔναι τοῦ ἀναθέματος (1667, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1960: II.A 6, 123.12) τοῦ ὀνόματος EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 42.8

A form with raising of (unstressed) /o/ to /u/ in the last syllable (see I, 2.5.4) has been found in a method for learning Arabic. This form shows that no second stress was present, or /o/ would not have become /u/:¹⁴⁴ τοῦ πνεύματος μου (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 148.4d).

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-μάτου ἢ -ματος

This alternative ending, which borrows /u/ from the 2nd declension, had come into being long before the LMedG period (GIGNAC 1981: 44 records a form γεννημάτου in a 2nd/3rd-c. papyrus). It is almost as frequent as the inherited ending -ματος (see above). Texts from Crete show a marked preference for this ending over inherited -ματος (see above), and it is noteworthy that it is the only ending in Germano's Grammar (Chios). The shift of the stress to the penultimate is nearly always observed:

διὰ γραμμάτου NIKON, Logos 31 810.17 τερμάτου (1165, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 168, 221.14) τοῦ κλημάτου Katal. 347 τοῦ πραγμάτου Assizes A 51.8 χαίμοῦ σωμαίου Deft. Par. 263 τοῦ πραγμάτου Fior 74.15 ἐξ ὕδωρ καὶ χωμάτου SKLAVOS, Symf. 5 τοῦ στρωμάτου (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 50, 87.30) τὸ στρώμα, τοῦ στρωμάτου SOFIANOS, Grammar 44.1–2 χωράφιν τοῦ αἱμάτου SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 17.48 τοῦ λεγόμενου πραγμάτου (1602, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 8, 163.29) μετὴν ἐκκλησά τοῦ Ἀγίου Πνευμάτου (1603, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 174, 185–6.6)

¹⁴⁴ It seems very unlikely that this rare instance would constitute an intermediate form between πνεύματος and πνευμάτου (as proposed by HENRICH 1990: 370).

τοῦ κριμάτου GERMANO, Grammar 62.22 and PORTIUS, Grammar 18.33 τῇ τιμῇ τοῦ πραμάτου (1656, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 21, 30.15)

τοῦ χωμάτου BOUNIALIS M., Kat. ofel. 1

ῶρα ἀνατελμάτου Chron. Mor. H 5053

τοῦ εἰκονισμάτου Pol. Tr. 515; τοῦ θελημάτου ibid. 1660

τοῦ θελημάτου Liv. E 452

πλερωμάτου Assizes B 250.22; τοῦ χαρισμάτου ibid. 265.6; ἄνευ κανενοῦ κωλυμάτου ibid. 468.30–1 ῶρα τοῦ προγεμάτου Achil. L 100

εἰς το Βιβλίον του Ελαττωμάτου Anthos Ch. G 181.1

ἐκ τοῦ θυμιαμάτου Diig. tetr. 333 λάδι του μυρωμάτου Laikos Akath. 9; του αγιασμάτου ibid. 10 συνεβασμάτου Assizes A 48.21; τοῦ ἀναγιωμάτου ibid. 200.5–6 εἶμαι μερτικάρης τοῦ μάλλωμάτου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 322.3; τοῦ ἄρματωμάτου σας ibid. 354.15

με τον κοντοστάβλην του ἱεροσολυμάτου VOUSTR., Chron. A 280.14 (< τὰ ἱεροσόλυμα)

κανενοῦ διλιτιασμάτου Fior 82.31 (< διλιτιάζω < Occit. delectar) περὶ ἄρραβωνητικοῦ συναλλαγμάτου (1514, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 46, 55.3)

τοῦ ῥονισμάτου (1569, Crete?, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 4, 473.3–4)

τοῦ χαλασμάτου CHORTATIS, Katz. I.328; τοῦ κατουρημάτου ibid. III.70

ἦτονε ὄνειροφαντασμάτου Thysia Avr. 699

τοῦ καλεσμάτου KORNAROS, Erot. II.1445

Forms without a shift of the stress are very rare. In the following example it clearly serves to accommodate the metre (verse end) and rhyme: πὸκάμναν δόξα τοῦ ὀνόματός μας KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.600 (rhymes with ἐδικούς μας).

Addition of final /n/ is very rare, but may sporadically be found in texts from Naxos, where the addition of non-etymological final /n/ is rather common (see I, 3.7.2.1.3): ὀλονοῦ τοῦ πραμάτου (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 76, 231.6).

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ματιοῦ

Although it cannot be excluded that the following forms are derived from the diminutive forms στρωμάτι(ο)ν and γεννημάτι(ο)ν rather than στρῶμα and γέννημα, these may be early examples of the ending -ματιοῦ, which is now characteristic of Peloponnesian and other dialects (see GEORGACAS 1951 for details; and cf. KARATSAREAS 2011: 123–4 for similar developments in Cappadocian): τοῦ στρωματιοῦ (1662, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 31, 21.6); γεννηματιοῦ (1662, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 30, 20.4). Cf. gen. pl. φορτωματίων below and see 2.24.1 for similar forms of κρέας, κέρας and φῶς (derived from their dental stems).

Plural*Nominative, Accusative and VocativeNeut.*

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ματα -ματαν

There is no real variation in the nom., acc. and voc. pl. endings: the inherited ending -ματα is the only one used. Paroxytone nouns show no shift of the stress (πρᾶγμα > πράγματα); with proparoxytone nouns the stress shifts to the antepenultimate (ὄνομα > ὀνόματα). Predictably, not many examples have been found of the vocative outside of grammars:

Nominative

- ὡς πρὸς αὐτῶν τὰ σχήματα ἦτασιν Liv. V 886 νὰ δοθοῦν ὀπισθεν καὶ τὰ πράγματα (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 273.15) ψέματα ἦτον ὁ λόγος (1487, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 16, 87.10–11); τὰ πράματα νὰ πᾶσιν καλὰ (1487, Rhodes, ibid. 18, 96.6–7) μάθετε πῶς παρέρχονται τὰ πράγματα τοῦ κόσμου Achil. N 1915 ἐσχίστησα τὰ σώματα [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1984 ψέματα τῶν ψεμάτων, ὅλα εἶνε ψέματα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.12
 τὰ ὁποῖα ρήματα γράφονται διὰ στίχου Alosis tit.
 ἐχάλασεν τὰ ἔξω κτίσματα (16th c., northern Aegean?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 70.II, 544.8.3) ἂν ἦθελαν μπεῖ κτήματα (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 150, 239.5–6) ἀπουκάτω ρέμα, ἀποπάνω μνήματα (17th c., Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 33, 185.4) ὅσα πράματα εὔρεθηκάν (1697, Chios, TSELIKAS 2000: 99, 77.12) θαύματα ξεθαύματα, ἐγὼ δεν ηξεύρω Don Kis. 162.25 λέγονται τὰ ἀναγνώσματα NIKON, Logos 1 48.17 πετσώματα, πετσία Ptoch. II 36 ἡ ἀρχὴ καὶ ὀνόματα τῶν Τουρκῶν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 4.10 app. crit. (N) ἐνὶ παλαιοῦ οὐρανοῦ ἀποκλάσματα Paroim. E 59 εἶναι καλὰ καμώματα, Χάρο μου, τὰ ἐποῖκες; LIMEN., Than. Rod. 202 πολλὰ χαιρετίσματα (1501, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 5, 26.2) ὅλα τὰ εἰσοδίσματα Diath. Nikon Metan. 131 περάσοντας τα συναπαντήματα τοῦ χρόνου (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 55.224–5) νὰ μνημονεύονται ὀνόματα (1648, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (8), 153.17) τὰ ὀνόματά μου εἶναι πολλά FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 17 ἂν εἶναι ... τῆς ψυχρᾶς γεννήματα (1665, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 58, 172.12)
 ἦρταν τὰ φορτώματα (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 52.8–9)

Accusative

- ἐὰν δὲ ἐκλεψεν κεφαλαίωδη κλέμματα NIKON, Logos 3 190.11–12 ἄρματα ἐβαστοῦσαν Chron. Mor. H 1471 καὶ ἐνέγνωθεν τὰ γράμματα Dig. E 303 κακὸς εἰς τὰ ἄρματά του Pol. Tr. 1452 εἰς τὰ ἄνωθεν πράματα (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.27–8) νὰ ἔχουν τὰ πράματά των (1453, Constantinople, DALLEGIO D'ALESSIO 1939: 117.21) ἐσύχναζε εἰς γιόματα Velth. 1053 (< γεῦμα) ἀπὸ τὰ στόματά των FALIEROS, Thrinos 7

ἐχάλασεν τὰ ἔξω κτίσματα (16th c., northern Aegean?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 70.II, 544.8.3) κόπτει τὰ δέματα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.35–6 ἀπὸ τὰ κλήματα (1572, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 1, 17.11) ρουφιὰνα δίχως ψόματα CHORTATIS, Katz. I.220 ἐφέραν τα με κλάματα MONTSEL., Evgena 892 κ' ἔκαμνεν θαύματα πολλὰ KONDAR., Paidēs 42 (εἶχε δώσει ...) γῆς καὶ κλήματα (1680, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 255, 231.7) με ... ἄρματα λαμπερὰ EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 19.2–3 μην ηξεύροντας τί ψεύματα να ειπεῖ πλέον Don Kis. 112.17

καὶ τώρα τὰ νομίσματα γέμει τὰ μανοηλάτα Ptoch. III 65 προστάγματα τοῦ ἐποίκασιν Chron. Mor. H 316 με τὰ δικαιώματα (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 277.7) ἀπὲ τ' ἀναστενάσματα Liv. E 16 φοβοῦμαι τὰ συμβάματα Liv. V 1092 νὰ εἶδες, σκατοποντικέ, γυρίσματα τοῦ κάτου Diig. tetr. 144 εἰς πόσα πηδήματα νὰ φθάση ὁ σκύλος τὸν λαγῶν (15th c., Unknown, SEARBY 2003: 11, 698.3) πολλὰ προσκυνήματα ἀπὸ ἑμέναν τὸν υἱόν σας (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.2) με πολλὰ περισσέματα Assizes A 30.28 νὰ πῶ τὰ ποιήματα ἐκείνους Fior 83.35 νὰ σύρνωμεν βαρέματα [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 973; ὁκάτι ψιθυρίσματα λαλεῖ ibid. 1164 πόσα βρουχίσματα ἔποικε Byz. Il. 118 τοὺς δεσμούς καὶ τὰ κρατήματά σου Plani kosmou 58 ὅ,τι καλυτερίσματα ἠθέλασι κάμει (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 5, 28.9–10); νὰ ῥχουν κτισμένα τὰ λεγόμενα καταλύματα (1601, ibid. 122, 135.8–9) με γλυκεῖα φιλήματα PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1202 σκανδαλανακατώματα κάμνουσι ... | ἐχθοροδιαβολοπείσματα NEOFYOTOS, Achouri 237–8 εἰς τα χαρίσματα Don Kis. 112.19

Addition of final /n/ has been found in a document from Naxos, an area where the addition of a non-etymological final /n/ across parts of speech is quite common (see I, 3.7.2.1.3): εἰς τὰ πράματάν της (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 743, 1013.10).

Vocative

εὐχομαι, τέκνα μου καλὰ, θρέμματα τῆς ψυχῆς μου Achil. N 1530 ὦ πνεύματα πονηρά, ἐξέλθατε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 391.4 ὦ πράγματα SOFIANOS, Grammar 43.22 ὦ κρίματα PORTIUS, Grammar 18.35 ὦ γράμματα SPANOS, Grammar 31.26

κ' ἐσεῖς, ἀναστενάματά μου, δέτε Cypr. Canz. 40.3

Genitive

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-μάτων ἰ -μάτω ἰ -μάτωνε

The inherited ending -μάτων is the only ending for the genitive plural. Both paroxytone and proparoxytone nouns undergo a shift of the stress to the penultimate:

- τὴν τῶν ἱερῶν γραμμάτων μάθησιν (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 27.220–1) τὴν ποιότητα μὲν τῶν βρωμάτων NIKON, Logos 1 124.16 τὰς φύσεις τῶν πραγμάτων GLYKAS, Stichoi 319 τὴν ταφήν ... εὐαγῶν σωμάτων Dig. G VIII.300 διὰ λατινικῶν γραμμάτων (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.4–5) οἱ κόρες τῶν ὀμμάτων σου Diig. tetr. 149 κι οἱ στάξες τῶν αἱμάτων σου FALIEROS, Thrinis 47 καμπόσους λᾶς τῶν ἄρμάτων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 106.27 με το ἔμπα και το ἔβγα των κυμάτων Kaloandros 406.10 ἐγὼ εἶμαι θεραπευτὴς τῶν ρημάτων VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 40.4–5 ἄνδρες αἱμάτων DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 1095 τῶν ἄλλωνῶ πραγμάτων (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 311, 510.8) στῶν σφαλμάτων τοὺς γκρεμνοὺς KATSAITIS, Thyest. Prol. 74
- τῶν τριῶν καθισμάτων NIKON, Logos 1 64.12–13 γῆν νομισμάτων πεντήκοντα (1387, Athens?, BUCHON 1843: XL, 221.2–3) τῶν λαβωμάτων SFRANTZIS, Chron. 46.19 πασῶν τῶν δικαιωμάτων (1440, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 22, 225.13) εἰς ἀπολογία τῶν ζητημάτων (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 302.69) τῶν μετανωμάτων Assizes A 117.4
 τῶν ἀκροπυργωμάτων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 181 τῶν ἀπογεννημάτων (1539, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 964, 755.5) ἡ δῖφα τῶν ἱερῶν μαθημάτων Pist. kekoim. 12 τῶν πλημμελημάτων MOREZINOS, Klini 77.23 ἐρώτησες περὶ ἁμαρτημάτων ἀνδρῶν (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 401.25) των ηρωικῶν μου κατορθωμάτων Don Kis. 4.16

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete and the Cyclades (Naxos). In Cretan literary texts the omission of final /n/ is sometimes the result of intervention by modern editors, who seek to correct what they consider to be scribal conservatism. Such instances have not been included here. The single example from Machairas has a phonological rather than a morphological explanation, namely absence of gemination, as the following word starts in /n/ (see I, 3.4). It cannot be excluded that the sole example in the Paris ms of the Chronicle of Morea is a writing mistake:

- εἰς ἄρμάτω συμμαχίαν Chron. Mor. P 2007 βάλει καὶ ἄλλους ἀνθρώπους τῶν ἄρμάτω νὰ τὸν βλέπουσιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 106.36 ἄλλονῶ πραγμάτω (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 59, 72.2) πλιὰ παρὰ τῷ γραμμάτω Stathis III.185 τὸ στούντιο τῷ γραμμάτω P&N Diath. 39 τῶν μπραμάτω (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 482.13) τῶν ἄρμάτω οἱ ταραχές KORNAROS Erot. I. 5; ἡ φύση τῶν πραγμάτω ibid. III.1278 etc.
 τω γλυκοφιλημάτω CHORTATISIS, Panor. IV.313

Addition of $-(\nu)\epsilon$ occurs in a document from the Heptanese (see I, 2.6.3.1): τοῦ μπραμάτῳνε (1644, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 296, 233.5) (for the article τοῦ see 5.2.1).

Neut.

Pl.	gen.	-ματίων

The following example may be an instance of the alternative ending $-\muατίων$, which is now characteristic of Pontic (OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 149–50; and cf. KARATSAREAS 2011: 123–4 for similar developments in Cappadocian) and in its extended form $-\muατιῶνε$ of the Peloponnesian dialects (PANDELIDIS, forthcoming); however, it cannot be excluded entirely that this is an instance of an otherwise unattested word $*\phiορτωμάτι(ο)ν$ (in this context the word does not mean “load”, but denotes some kind of measure): κάδη μια φορτωματίων η’ (1682, Patras, TSELIKAS 1986a: 3, 671.9).

2.21.2 Transfers to Other Paradigms

Neuter nouns in $-\muα$ do not usually transfer to other paradigms, with the exception of a regional variant in $-\muατον$, formed from the plural in $-\muατα$, which has been found only of the word ἄρμα (< Lat. arma) in texts from Cyprus: ἐβγάλλει τὸ μαχαῖρίν του, ἢ ἕτερον ἄρματον Assizes A 226.33; πᾶσα ἄρματον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 238.21; ἐφέρον πᾶσα λογὴν ἄρματον ibid. 426.30–1; μηδὲν τορμήσει τινὰς να βαστάξει ἄρματον VOUSTR., Chron. A 186.16; να μεν βαστάξει ἄρματον ibid. 258.18 and 308.1, id., Chron. B 247.14 and M 247.14.

2.22 Neuter Nouns in $-\muο(ν)$

The singular of this paradigm is originally derived from the substantivized use of the neuter of AG adjectives in $-\muος$ (CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: A 164–72), e.g. φύξιμος > τὸ φύξιμον (in Homer); δράσιμος > τὸ δράσιμον (in Aeschylus); θύσιμος > τὸ θύσιμον (in Plutarch). The ending $-\muο(ν)$ becomes productive as an ending in its own right in the medieval period (CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: A 178), creating new words such as κρίσιμον, στέψιμον, δέξιμον and others, all derived from perfective verb stems: ἀνατρέψει τὰ ἴδια κρίσιμα καὶ τοὺς λόγους AHMET, Oneirocriticon 137.3 (9th c.; oldest ms 11th/12th c.; see LBG s.v.); καὶ ποιοῦσι δέξιμον De Ceremoniis 482.21 (10th c.; ed. Reiske); τοῦ στεψίμου καὶ στεφανώματος αὐτῶν ibid. 632.7; εἰς τὸ σάξιμον τῆς τραπέζης ibid. 778.3–4; εἰς αὐτὸ τὸ δέξιμον ἐπιτελοῦνται πάντα τὰ δέξιμα ibid. 93.10 (ed. Vogt, vol. 2). In the same period these words start to form new alternative endings, modelled on the $-\muα$ paradigm (SOPHOCLES, Lex. 35; JANNARIS 1897: 126; CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: A 179; HORROCKS ²2010: 283), for the genitive singular and for the plural: gen. sg. $-\muάτου/-ιματος$; nom. and acc. pl. $-\ιματα$; gen. pl. $-\ιμάτων$: τὰ δεξιματα τῶν βασιλέων Parastaseis syntomoi 67.3 (8th/9th c.; 11th-c. ms; ed. Preger); ὅλα τὰ πλείονα αὐτοῦ μετασασίματα De Ceremoniis 51.14; εἰς τὰ μεταστασίματα Theoph. Cont., Chronogr. 430.2 (10th c.; 11th-c. ms; ed. Bekker); πολλά δικάσιματα καὶ συνζητήσεις ἐσχηκότες (1080, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 40, 225.8). For more examples see MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 436; PSALTES 1913: 176. In the period covered by this Grammar these endings become even more productive, generating various new words. SMG retains some of those formed from verbs with a sigmatic aorist stem that express a verbal action (e.g. γράψιμο “writing”, κλάψιμο “crying”, τρέξιμο “running”), but not the non-sigmatic ἔλθιμο(ν)/ἔρτιμο(ν) “arrival”, nor those medieval nouns that denote objects or abstract notions (e.g. πλεύσιμο(ν) “ship”, δόσιμο(ν) “gift”, κρίσιμο(ν) “court case”).

Unlike most nouns, neuter nouns in -ιμο(ν) do not tend to transfer to other paradigms, not even to the /ma(n)/ paradigm, from which, as noted, they only borrow certain endings. A likely reason for this is the fact that nouns in -ιμο(ν) mostly express a verbal action, whereas those in -μα(ν) express a result (cf. κτίσιμο(ν) “(the act of) building” versus κτίσμα “edifice”).¹⁴⁵

	General	Rare
Singular
Nom.	γράφιμο(ν)
Gen.	γραφίματος γραφιμάτου	γραφίμου ἢ γράψιμου
Acc.	γράφιμο(ν)
Voc.	(γράφιμο(ν))
Plural
Nom.	γραφίματα	γράψιμα
Gen.	γραφιμάτων	γραφίμων
Acc.	γραφίματα	γράψιμα
Voc.	(γραφίματα)	(γράψιμα)

Singular

Nominative, Accusative and Vocative

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ιμο(ν)

¹⁴⁵ The single ostensible exception, τάπισα τοῦ ππέσιμάν του attested in Fior Suppl. 273.9–10, appears to be a textual corruption, as a genitive in -μα(ν) would be unique. We should probably read: τοῦ ππεσιμάτου. The lemma πέσιμαν in ΚΡΙΑΡΑΣ, Lex. confuses forms of πέσμα(ν) and πέσιμο (pl. πεσίματα). With the exception of the problematic genitive in Fior Suppl., πέσιμα(ν) is otherwise unattested.

This ending is used for the nominative, the accusative and potentially the vocative, of which, predictably, no examples have been found. In our written sources it is more common with the final /n/ than without:

Nominative

ἐάν οὐδὲν γένεται κράξιμον (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 61.192) ἐάν γὰρ οὐκ ἐγυρεύετο ράψιμον Ptoch. III 161 τὸ μέψιμον ἔρχετον εἰς ἐμέναν Chron. Mor. H 7656 τοιοῦτον κρίσιμον μέλλει νὰ κριθῇ Assizes B 376.11 πέσιμον τοῦ Γιοσοῦμπεκη Chron. Toc. 440cap τὸ φταίσιμο θέλει εἶσται ἀποῦ τὴν μεγάλην σου αὐθεντίαν (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 61.9–10) τίνος ἐν' τὸ πέσιμον Liv. α 865 τὸ κράξιμον ψυχὴν ἐξανεσπᾶτο [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1625; ὁ κόπος καὶ τὸ σκάψιμον ibid. 2344 πολλὰ δυσνόητον τὸ κρίσιμον ὑπάρχει DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1061 τὸ κάτζιμόν σου εἰς τὴν Λευκωσίαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 372.11 εἶναι τὸ κλάψιμόν τους Theseid II.16,2 (1529) τὸ ρίξιμον τῶν κακῶν ἔργων DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 6, ζ6v.25 (1561) τὸ παύσιμον τοῦ κακοῦ MOREZINOS, Klini 259.15 βλάψιμο τσ' ἴδιας φύσης CHORTATSI, Erof. II.484; τὸ φταίσιμό μου ibid. IV.365 ὥσπερ σκιάξιμον νὰ τὰ φοβερίζω Vios Aisop. K 152.13–14 ὅλον το παταίσιμον εἶναι ἐδικόν του Martyr. Nikif. 251.31 τὸ κλαύσιμον καὶ τὸ τρίξιμον τῶν ὁδόντων KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 25.30 καὶ διὰ τοῦτο ἦταν βαρὺ το σφάλσιμό τους IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5047 ἀποφασίζουν ὅτι εἶναι βγάλσιμον GAVRILOP., Diig. panouklas 97.27 τόσον κόψιμον καὶ αἵματοχυσία ἐγινεν Alex. Fyll. 54.15

Accusative

καὶ πλύσιμον οὐ δέχεται Ptoch. IV 116 τὸ ἔλθιμον του μπάιλου Chron. Mor. H 6562 καὶ τὸ ἔρτιμον τὸ δικό σας ἐχάραμεν το (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 168.4) εἰς τὸ στέψιμον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 214.3; εἰς τὸ κάτζιμον τῆς πρώτης πέτρας ibid. 592.12 εἶνα καλὸν καὶ ἀγαπητικὸν σμίξιμον Fior 78.22–3; εἰς τὸ φωνάξιμον τοῦ φτωχοῦ ibid. 139.34 νὰ μηδὲν δώσουν κανένα δόσιμον (1523–36, Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 36.II, 295.29.7–8) νὰ καταλάβετε καὶ τὸ λείψιμον τοῦ λόγου DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 8, θ1v.38 (1561) καὶ κρίσιμο δὲν ἔδιδε Stathis III.59 παρακινούμενοι ἀπὸ τὸ κοιτάξιμον Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 36 περισσότερον μοῦ ἔξίζει νὰ τὸ μάθω ἐτοῦτο παρὰ τὸ βρέσιμον Vios Aisop. I 270.32 στὸ κτίσιμο (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 84, 87.26) ἀπὸ λίθον ... ἢ ἄλλο κρούσιμον LANDOS, Geopon. 264.14 τὸ φεύξιμο νὰ μάθουσιν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 874 τέτοιον φταίσιμον (1684, Naxos, SIFONIU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 475, 699.4) ὅποιος ταράξη τὸ δέσιμο (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 8, f.43v.3) δὲν ἤφηνα τὸ ράψιμο KORNAROS, Erot. I.986; τὸ τρέξιμον ἀναζητοῦν ibid. IV.1654 ἀπὸ ... τὸ σείσιμο τῶν κανονίων EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 58.18–19 τρελὸς διὰ δέσιμον Don Kis. 208.31–2; ἀπὸ το ξηροβήξιμον καὶ πτύσιμον ibid. 255.31–2

GenitiveNeut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ίματος

This ending is modelled, as noted in the introduction to this section, on the -μα(ν) paradigm (for which see 2.21):

ἀνευ φταισίματος μας Chron. Mor. H 5130 λόγους ὡς δικασίματος Liv. α 365, Liv. V 333 and Velis. χ 411 φοβοῦμαι ἐκ πεσίματος (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 109.2d) τοῦ στασίματος σου (17th c. [ms], Unknown, DELATTE 1924: 10, 79.16) τιμωρίαν του πταισίματος του Don Kis. 116.4–5

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ίματος

Forms in -ίματος, with a shift of the stress to the penultimate, are no less common than those in -ίματος. This ending, too, is modelled on the alternative ending -μάτου of the -μα(ν) paradigm (2.21):

περὶ κανενοῦ δικασίματος Assizes B 438.28 τοῦ ριψίματος Assizes A 47.30 εἰς τὸν καιρὸν τοῦ στεψίματος του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 320.22–3; μετὰ τὰ καρτὰ τοῦ ραψίματος ibid. 540.30 ὀκαζὶν γκαλεσίματος (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 130, 143.15–16) μετὰ μαστορίαν πολλήν τοῦ κτισίματος KORNAROS, Erot. III.394

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ίμου ἢ -ιμου

The old ending -ίμου, with a shift of the stress to the penultimate, is used sporadically. In verse texts it sometimes occurs without a shift of the stress:¹⁴⁶ δι' ἄλλου πλευσίμου SFRANTZIS, Chron. 94.17; τάσσιμου αἰτία FALIEROS, Ist. On. 163 app. crit. (N); τοῦ κλάψιμου καὶ θρήνου Theseid III 41,4 (1529).

Plural*Nominative, Accusative and VocativeNeut.*

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ίματα

¹⁴⁶In the following examples from the Pentateuch, written in Hebrew script, the position of the stress is uncertain as its notation is editorial: τοῦ κλάψιμου του Pent. Gen. 50.4; τοῦ φταισίμου ibid. Lev. 5.9.

This ending, borrowed, as noted in the introduction to this section, from the -μα(ν) paradigm (for which see 2.21), is the most common ending for the nominative, the accusative and potentially the vocative, of which, unsurprisingly, no examples have been found:

Nominative

πλευσίματά ῥχονται πολλὰ ZINOS, Alex. Rim. Epil. 17 ἐρχονται τα κάτεργα και όλα τα πλευσίματα Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1631) 232.21–2 αὐτὰ εἶναι τὰ ταξίματα τῶν φιλοσόφων Vios Aisop. D 232.35 πλυσίματα ποτηρίων KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 7.4
 πλευσίματα οκτακόσια IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2087

Accusative

γράφει ὁ νοτάριος καὶ τὰ ταξίματα (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 63.9) βαψίματα, ραψίματα Ptoch. II 36 ἐκάτσαν εἰς κρίσιματα Chron. Mor. H 7519 εἰς τὰ ἄλλα κρίσιματα Assizes A 66.16 ὁμοίως καὶ ... τὰ κοψίματα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 506.31 ἐπῆραν και τα γραψίματα VOUSTR., Chron. A 178.13 εἰς τὰ κρυφοκλεψίματα Fyll. gadar. 146 τὰ ἀπομονάρια εὐτιασίματά του (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 703, 546.12) πῶς νὰ πληρώσει τὰ βασιλικά δοσίματα DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 4, γ8r.26–7 (1561) (νὰ δίδωμεν ...) τα πολλὰ δοσίματα MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2576 εἰς τὰ στασίματα Bertoldin. 109.33 εἰς τὰ ψαλσίματά σου PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §1.15; μερικά βλαψίματα ibid. III §4.6
 ἔκοπτε τὰ δεσίματα KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 8.29 ἀπό τα συδοσίματα αὐτά IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4231 θυμήσου τὰ ταξίματα VEST., Prol. Theot. 14 διὰ ἄλλα πολλὰ πταισίματα (1689?, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 868, 1161.30) εἰς ὅλα τὰ κρίσιματα (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 303.52) τὰ κτισίματα φυσὰ τα KORNAROS, Erot. III.126 διὰ τὲς κακὲς τοὺς πράξεις καὶ φερσίματα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 43.15–16; με χίλιες παρακάλεσες, ταξίματα καὶ δοσίματα ibid. 46.2–3 με τέτοια δεσίματα Don Kis. 108.2–3

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ιμα

The old ending -ιμα is used sporadically: εἰς παραστάσιμα καὶ λειτουργίας SFRANTZIS, Chron. 32.8; ἦσανε τὰ εὐρέσιμά του θαυμαστά MOREZINOS, Klini 19.37.

Genitive

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-ιμάτων

Although not many examples have been found, -ιμάτων, with a shift of the stress to the penultimate, is the most common ending for the genitive plural:

περὶ τῶν δικασιμάτων Assizes B 349.9

τῶν ἄλλων κρισιμάτων Assizes A 112.12 ἔξοδες ἐγκαλεισμάτων (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 2, 25.5) τῶν γραφισμάτων MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 239.47

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-ίμων

The old ending -ίμων is used sporadically in mixed-register texts: τετρακοσίων πλευσίμων ὄντων SFRANTZIS, Chron. 132.7; ἐρχόμενοι μετὰ των πλευσίμων Chron. Ps.-Doroth. 232.43.

2.23 Neuter Nouns in -ος

The paradigms in this section include a large group of inherited nouns such as paroxytone βάθος, βάρος, ἦθος, θράσος, κράτος, λάθος, etc. as well as innovative paroxytone nouns derived directly from verbs (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 62–4) such as γράφος (Cypri.), δέϊλος, ἔλθος, σκέπος, στέργος, φοῦμος (< φουμίζω < φημίζω), and a plural θώρη (< θωρῶ);¹⁴⁷ nouns formed by analogy with nouns in the same semantic field, e.g. ψῆλος (cf. ὕψος, βάθος, πλάτος, μάκρος); and nouns formed from foreign loanwords: ἰνκάντος (< Ven. in-canto), κάρος (< Ven. caro); κόστος (< Ven. costo), ρέστος (< Ven. resto), φοῦντος (< Ven. fondo); πάττος (< Ital. patto); φόρος (< Ital. foro). The paradigms also include proparoxytone inherited nouns such as μέγεθος, ὄφελος, πέλαγος, etc., which are, however, few in number, rarer in use, and display less variation in endings.

Already in AG there was a certain degree of interaction between this paradigm and others, which continues to manifest itself throughout the Postclassical, Medieval and Early Modern Greek periods (REINHOLD 1898: 53–7; GIGNAC 1981: 43–4; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 36–46). Thus 2nd-declension masculine nouns in /os/ may change gender and develop alternative neuter forms in /os/. Some had done so long ago, e.g.:

τὸ σκότος (< ὁ σκότος), which can already be found in the 5th c. BC (see LSJ s.v.) and continues to exist until well into the modern period: ἦρθεν τὸ σκότος KORNAROS, Erot. III.655; τὸ βύθος (< ὁ βυθός), in Demosthenes (4th c. BC) (see the online TLG) and is still in use today, e.g. στο βύθος κατεπόντισαν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 3052; τὰ βράχη (τὸ βράχος < ὁ βράχος) in Strabo and Diodorus Siculus (1st c. BC) (see the online TLG) and well into the EMG period, e.g. πορπατώντας τὰ βράχη (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 146.9); ¹⁴⁷ This type of word formation is older than CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: B 63) realized. For example, τὸ βλέπος can be found in Aristophanes, τὸ γέμος in Aeschylus (see the online TLG); τὸ νίκος appears in the Septuagint and a 1st-c. BC papyrus (see LSJ s.v.) and continues to be in use: νά 'χης ἐσὺ τὸ νίκος Liv. V 2057. A neuter form τὸ καῦχος can be found in Romanos the Melode (6th c.; see LBG s.v.), and also e.g. in the Chronicle of Morea and the War of Troy: μόνι τὸ καῦχος ἔχουν Chron. Mor. H 800; διὰ καῦχος Pol. Tr. 4358.

τὸ ἔλεος (for AG ὁ ἔλεος) in the Septuagint (see LSJ s.v.), throughout the period covered by this Grammar and in SMG; τὸ πάγος and τὸ πλοῦτος again in the Septuagint (see LSJ s.v.) and e.g. in Phys. 323; τὸ ἀναθεματισμένον πλοῦτος Bertoldos 61.5 (note that SMG still uses the plural τὰ πλούτη); τὸ ζῆλος in Clement of Rome (1st c.) and Ignatius of Antioch (1st c.) (see LAMPE, Lex. s.v.) and e.g. in Falieros: τὸ ζῆλος γεννᾶται FALIEROS, Ist. On. 585; τὸ κρότος in a Catena on the Epistle to the Hebrews (11th-c. ms Par. Coisl. 204; see the online TLG) and e.g. in ἀπήρασι τὸ κρότος Chron. Mor. H 4034; τὸ γάρος (for AG ὁ γάρος) in a papyrus (POxy.937.27 (3rd c. AD); see LSJ, s.v.) and in LMedG: e.g. τὸ γάρος Ptoch. IV 186.

Others appeared more recently:

τὸ θρήνος (for ὁ θρήνος) in Theodore of Stoudios (8th/9th c.) (see LBG s.v.) as well as in the period covered by this Grammar, e.g. μέγαν θρήνος ἐποίησαν Achil. N 1831; με πόνους καὶ με θρήνη FALIEROS, Thrin. 83;
 τὸ ἔπαινος (for ὁ ἔπαινος) in a letter of Photios (9th c.) (see LBG s.v.) and well into the EMG period: διὰ τὴν τιμὴν καὶ ἔπαινος Chron. Mor. H 1889; ἔπαινος ... τόσα μεγάλο FOSKOLOS, Fort. Dedic. 25.

In the period covered by this Grammar other masculine words in /os/ also develop neuter variants, mainly in the singular, among which, to mention just a few:¹⁴⁸ δίχως κανέναν δόλος Assizes A 27.29 ὁ ἵπισκοπος τῶν Λευκάρων ἐπῆγεν με τὸ κλῆρος του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 64.26–7 ὅ,τι μίσσος καὶ ἄνε φᾶς FALIEROS, Log. did. 100 (spelling according to KRIARAS, Lex.) με μαυρισμένο λίθος ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 262 τὸ Κούρκος (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 133.7) (< ὁ Κόρυκος) ἐμάζωνε βίος πολὺ VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 115 (< ὁ βίος) τὸ φτόνος δὲν φοβοῦνται Cypr. Canz. 43.3

 στὸ μόλος πᾶσινε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 225.9

The case of τὸ βύθος (< ὁ βυθός) is an interesting one, as it not only changed gender but also underwent a shift of the stress because the neuter /os/ paradigm cannot normally be oxytone. As both masculine and neuter forms continued to exist side by side, this sometimes led to confusion, resulting in oxytone neuter forms: κ' ἔδερνεν τάχα τὸ βυθός Liv. V 2288; νὰ κύπτῃ 'ς τὸ βυθός ibid. 2289; ρῖξε το εἰς τὸ βυθός STAFIDAS, Iatrosoph. 22.140. Nouns of which the stem ends in /e/ or /i/ may become oxytone due to synizesis (see I, 2.9.4 for details):¹⁴⁹

¹⁴⁸ Even though there is nowadays a Cretan village called το Θρόνος (see CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 42, 52), note that no examples of a neuter variant have been found in the texts examined. The following example does not actually exist. The whole verse is editorial, an adaptation of a verse from Defaranas, in which, among other things, θρόνου is changed to θρόνη for the sake of the rhyme: στοῦ οὐρανοῦ τὰ θρόνη FALIEROS, Log. did. 154.

¹⁴⁹ Note that oxytone forms of χρέος can be found in the Etymologicum Gudianum (11th c.): ὀφείλημα χρεοῦς διαφέρει· ὀφείλημα ἔστι δημόσιον χρεὸς θεῶ· ὀφειλόμενον ἢ βασιλεῖ· χρεὸς δὲ τὸ ὀφειλόμενον ἰδιωτικῶ· Etym. Gud. s.v. ὀφείλημα (ed. Sturtz).

διὰ τὸ χριός του Assizes B 251.28 (spelled χρεῖός in the edition) (< τὸ χρέος) τὸ βιός σου Cypr. Canz. 15.6 (< ὁ βίος)¹⁵⁰ ἐγὼ τὸ χριός μου μέλλει νὰ πλερώσω ibid. 86.31 μὲ πολὺ ἴκ τὸ βιός του KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VI.328 ἀφοῦ ἴκάμε τὸ χριός του ibid. VIII.92 γιὰτ' ἔτσι ν' ὀριζάμενο τὸ χριός σου νὰ πλερώσης Alfav. 10 8 τὸ χριός μου Vosk. 58; ἀπόκτησεν βιός (1709, Chios, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 34, 135.53)

The Cypriot Fior de Vertù offers the following interesting oxytone form, which retains the stress of the Occitan loanword: φερμισσένος εἰς τὸ πρεπός του Fior 20–1 (< Occit. prepaus). These oxytone variants do not appear to form genitives singular or any plural forms. Lexically, the noun χρέος has a regional variant χρέ for the plural (Cyprus, Rhodes; note that the ms of Bertos was copied in Rhodes): ὑπερπληθαίνουσιν τὰ χρέ ἄνω τῆς κεφαλῆς του BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 1141; νὰ πλερώσει ὁ ρήγας τὰ χρέ του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 430.6–7.

Sporadically feminine nouns in /os/ may develop neuter alternatives. Examples are:

τὸ κόπρος (< ἡ κόπρος), which can be found in Ahmet's Dream Book (9th c.; oldest ms 11th/12th c.; see LBG s.v.) and e.g. in Kartanos: τὸ κόπρος, ἦγουν ἡ κοπρία KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 415.40;
 τὸ δρόσος (< ἡ δρόσος, perhaps via ὁ δρόσος),¹⁵¹ which is more recent: νὰ βάλεις καὶ ὀλίγο δρόσος (15th c., Cyprus?, TSANGALAS 1983: 131.7); τὸ δρόσος τῆς ψυχῆς μου Liv. α 3993 app. crit. (N); τὸ ψῆφος (meaning “counting, account”, rather than “pebble, vote”), e.g. ψῆφος νὰ μὴ ἔχη BERGADIS, Apok. V 466; τὸ ἄβυσσος: τ' ἄβυσσος ἐχοχλάκιζε P&N Diath. 1447; τὸ Σκιάθος (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 142.11).

Neuter nouns in /on/ may also develop alternative forms in /os/. Some existed since Antiquity, e.g. τὸ δένδρος (< δένδρον) is found in Herodotus and elsewhere (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: II 37; see also LSJ). Others are more recent developments:

τὸ κοῦρσος (< τὸ κοῦρσον or perhaps ὁ κοῦρσος, both attested since the 6th/7th c., see LBG s.v.): τὰ κούρση τὰ πολλὰ Dig. G IV.212; καὶ ἐποίησεν κοῦρσος (post 1402, Ankara?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 95, 634.4.2–3); σύνορος (< σύνορον): τὸ σύνορος (1184, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 218, 286.21); ἄκρος (< ἄκρον): τὸ ἄκρος (1123, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 4, 60.8), εἰς ἄκρος Alex. Rim. 2022; βάνδος (< βάνδον): πριμικήριος βάνδους Ματζουκάων (1278, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 63, 37.18); ἄστρος (< ἄστρον): ὅσα ἄστροι Arm. 77; τῶν ἄστρον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 107.39; δεῖπνος (< δεῖπνον): εἰς τὸ δεῖπνος Diig. Alex. F 278.4 (Lolos); ἔλα ᾽ς τὸ δεῖπνος PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1703;

¹⁵⁰The form is derived from ὁ βίος, “life” > τὸ βίος, with a change of meaning to “livelihood, wealth”. The form is clearly unrelated to the Homeric form ὁ βίός meaning “bow”.

¹⁵¹Some but not all of these nouns also have masculine alternatives in /os/, e.g. ὁ δρόσος Theseid V.99,3 (1529); τί ψῆφος ἐν δικός σας; Diig. tetr. 410.

ἔργος (ἔργον): τὸ ἔργος PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §18.4; κάστρος (< κάστρον): εἰς τὸ Κάστρος (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 219.15), παρέλαβε τὴν Ἄρταν καὶ ἄλλα κάστροι (post 1425, Athos, SCHREINER 1975/79: 8.II, 80.30.2–3), τῶν καστρῶν Chron. Mor. H 8655; Κάερος (< Κάερο): τοῦ αὐθεντὸς ὁποῦ κρατεῖ τὸ Κάερος Diig. Alex. Sem. B 47; ἐπῆρεν ... τὸ Κάερος (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.IV, 258.78.1); μέσος (< μέσον): τινὰς δὲν ἐσέβην εἰς τὸ μέσος PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §27.63; στὸ μέσος Leilasias Par. 257;
 μέτρος (< μέτρον): παρὰ μέτρος Achil. L 358; δὲν εἶχεν μέτρος BERGADIS, Apok. A 466; στὰ μέτρη KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XIII.37; πάκτος (< πάκτον): τὸ πάκτος (14th c., Trebizond, GRÉGOIRE 1909: 2, 492.2); τοῦ πάκτους (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 38, 32.4); τὰ πάκτη (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 280, 261.15);
 σπλάχνος (< σπλάγχνον): τῶν συγγενῶν τὸ σπλάχνος Chron. Mor. H 8883; ἀδελφικοῦ σου σπλάγχνους Velth. 49; δῶρος (< δῶρον): τὸ δῶρος τὸ λιγάκι FOSKOLOS, Fort. Dedic. 47; ἐκεῖνο τὸ δῶρος (1706, Siatista, MERTZIOS 1947b: 269.14 transcr. (Korre)); μέλλος (< μέλλον): προλέγουσιν το μέλλος Krasop. V 76; πρέπος (< πρέπον < pres. part. πρέπων): διπλὴν τιμὴν τῆς ἑκάμεν, πλεον παρὰ τὸ πρέπος Chron. Toc. 2616; Ρέθεμνος (< Ρέθυμνον < Ριθύμνα): στὸ Ρέθεμνος (1607, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 448, 410.6–7); Ρέθεμνος, ποῦ κρατοῦσουνε ἄξιο καὶ τιμημένο BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 196.11 (nom./acc./voc./ only).

In Cypriot texts one finds a regional variant τὸ διάφορος (< διάφορον) (nom. and acc. sg. only): διὰ τὸ διάφορος ἐκείνου Assizes B 294.5; εἰς τὸ διάφορός του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 24.33; διάφορος δὲν εἶχαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 128.19; διάφορος ὀλπίζει Cypr. Canz. 20.7; τὸ διάφορός τους Fior 83.15; οὐκ ἔχει ο κόσμος διάφορος Diig. Apoll. 681; εἰς τοὺς ἐχθρούς των διάφορος IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 7740. An example of a neuter noun in -(ο)ν transferring to this paradigm is the following: ψοῦνος, τὸ. ψώνι, τὸ GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. vitto; ἐφάγασιν τα ψούνη τως IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1951 (< ψώνιν).¹⁵²

Another innovative form is τὸ σύνηθος, which, given the position of the stress, was clearly derived from the neuter form of the adjective συνήθης, σύνηθες, possibly via the plural συνήθη (cf. τὸ πέλαγος, τὰ πελάγη), e.g.: ὡς τὸ ἔχουν γὰρ τὸ σύνηθος Chron. Mor. H 2393; καὶ πάντα στέκει σύνηθος Pol. Tr. 11980 app. crit. (CV); ὑπόγραφα κατὰ τὸ σύνηθος (1458, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 3 [Γ'], 26.22).

Former 3rd-declension masculine nouns in -ως may also transfer to the neuter paradigm in -ος, e.g. τὸ γέλος (< ὁ γέλως), found in the poetry of Christopher Mitylenaios (11th c.) (see LBG s.v. γέλος), also appears in EMG texts: τὸ γέλος του γνωρίσας Ptochol. α 342; τὸ γέλος LIMEN., Than. Rod. 355 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: γέλως); and τὸ ἴδρος (< ὁ ἴδρος < ὁ ἴδρως): σηκώνεται το ἴδρος φορτωμένος Diig. Iosif 237 (example from KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.). However, very few plural examples have been found: τὰ ἴδρη καὶ οἱ κόποι ΝΕΟΦ. ENKLEISTOS, Logoi peri tou Christou VII 42.10 (12th c.; ed. Stefanis/Sotiroudis; see the online TLG).

¹⁵² A noun ψοῦνος (masc. or neut.?) occurs with a different meaning and different etymology (< Serb. psunji) in the Acts of Lavra: ἡ ψοῦνος τοῦ ποταμοῦ (1350–1?, Athos?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 130, 45.25).

Alternative forms in -ο(ν) (nom., acc.) and -ου (gen.) had begun to appear long before the LMedG period; e.g. GIGNAC 1981: 44 mentions among others μέρον and ξτου in 1st-c. papyri; a genitive singular ἐδάφου can be found in the fragmentary work of Memnon of Heraclea (1st c.?) (see the online TLG). See also DIETERICH 1898: 163–4. These forms are treated as alternative forms within the /os/ paradigm rather than transfers to the /on/ paradigm, as corresponding plural forms in -α do not occur across the board, but appear only lexically (e.g. πέλαγος > πέλαγο(ν) > πέλαγα). Regionally, namely in Crete and the Heptanese, certain nouns in /os/ develop alternative plural forms in -ητα, in which -τα is added to the plural ending -η, on the model of the -μα(ν) paradigm (see 2.21) (cf. a similar development with neuter nouns in -ο(ν), e.g. πρόσωπο(ν), προσώπατα; see 2.19.2).

2.23.1 Paroxytone Nouns

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	μέρος μέρο(ν)	μέρους
Gen.	μέρους μέρου	μέρος	μερός μέρο
Acc.	μέρος μέρο(ν)	μέρους
Voc.	μέρος μέρο(ν)	μέρους
Plural
Nom.	μέρη	-ητα	(-ετα)
Gen.	μερῶν	μέρων	-έων
Acc.	μέρη	-ητα	-ετα
Voc.	μέρη	(-ητα)

Singular

Nominative, Accusative and Vocative

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ος

The inherited ending -ος is in general use throughout the LMedG and EMG periods for the nominative, the accusative and the vocative:

Nominative

καὶ ὑποπτεύεται βλάβος NIKON, Logos 2 150.16 καὶ νέφος ἀπροσδόκητον ἦλθεν GLYKAS, Stichoi 201 τὸ βάθος τοῦ γιалоῦ Chron. Mor. H 535; τὸ φοῦμος τῶν στρατιώτων ibid. 4058 μέρος ἡμισον (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.19) ἡ πίττα εἶν' τὸ νίκος Vulgärorakel I.124; ἦλθεν νέφος ibid. I.216; τὸ ξανθὸν τὸ γένος ibid. I.253 πᾶν πρᾶγμα ὅπου δηλοῖ τὸ γράφος Assizes A 104.15 τὸ φρόνος τῶν Ἑλλήνων Achil. N 1348 τὸ ζῆλος τοῦτο FALIEROS, Ist. On. 585 (< ὁ ζῆλος) ἔνε ἄλλον γένος (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 66, f.IV) καθὼς πῆσσει τὸ πάγος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 34.4–5 (< ὁ πάγος); τὸ ψῆλος τοῦ νεροῦ ibid. 60.23 τὸ ξερόν δέντρος Cypr. Canz. 150.15 (< τὸ δέντρον) ἐγένετο μέγα θρῆνος (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 58.II, 430.45.13) (< ὁ θρῆνος) τῆς εὐμορφίᾳς τὸ ξάθος DEFAR., Log. did. 685 τὸ δρόσος με ξεραίνει CHORTATSI, Erof. III.216 (< ἡ δρόσος) ἦτονε τέντα καὶ σκέπος τῆς πατρίδας Chron. Tourk. Soult. 89.16–17 ἔγινεν σκότος μέγα (1624, Skopje?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 72A, 564.24.1) μήτε κρύος τοῦ νεροῦ AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 242 καὶ ρούφηξε το φούντος IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3484 καὶ ἐξεσκλαβώθηκε τὸ γένος EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 22.16–17

Accusative

διὰ τὸ ἔθος Spaneas Z 28; κέρδος ἔχει ἀδιάδοχον ibid. 154 με τὸ γάρος Ptoch. IV 186 (< ὁ γάρος) τὸ ἰδεῖ τὸ πληθὸς τῶν Φραγκῶν Chron. Mor. H 555; κὶ ἀφότου ἐχορτάσασιν κοῦρσος ibid. 649 κέρδος ἐκέρδισαν Pol. Tr. 2464; μέγαν φόβον καὶ δέϊλος ibid. 4404 εἰ δὲ καὶ ἔχει δόλος τίποτε Flor. L 1334 ms (< ὁ δόλος) νὰ μηδὲν ἔχουν κανένα στέργος (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 44, 75.9–10) μέγαν θρῆνος ἐποίησαν Achil. N 1831 (< ὁ θρῆνος) εἰς τῆς Βλάσαινας τὸ κάρος SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 673 (< Ven. caro) τὸ βάθος τῆς θαλάσσου Fior Suppl. 271.1; κρατοῦν το εἰς μεγάλον φοῦμος ibid. 273.15 εἰς τὸ φόνος ἐτοῦτο (1539, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 47, 44.7) (< ὁ φόνος) με τὸ μύρος Pist. kekoim. 393 (< μύρον); διὰ τὸ βρέφος ibid. 412 ἐμάζωνε βίος πολὺ VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 115 (< ὁ βίος) διὰ τὸ ἔλθος ἐκείνου τοῦ σκλάβου (1575, Corfu, DOIKAS 1982: [5]b, 142.17) στοῦ ψῆλος τοῦ τροχοῦ CHORTATSI, Erof. III.221 ἐπουπλικαρίστη εἰς τὸ φόρος τῆς Σητείας (1601, Crete, SIAKOTOS 2006: 1, 190.11–12) (< Ital. foro) γὴ νὰ τὰ βάλου στοῖ ἰκάντος (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 344, 323.15) (< Ven. incanto) τὸ ἔχομε καὶ γράφος ὑπὸ χειρὸς τοῦ παπα-Γιώργη Γιαννιώτη (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 40.15) νὰ τῆς κάμει ὡς ἄνωθεν τὸ ρέστος τῆς ψυχῆς τῆς (1700, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 4, 128.23–4) τὸ δρόσος ἐγροικοῦσα KORNAROS, Erot. III.10; στοῦ πόνου τῆς τὸ βύθος ibid. V.966 (< ὁ βυθός) εκράτησε το γέλος του Don Kis. 7.22 (< ὁ γέλως)

Vocative

μέλος τῆς σαρκός μου Spaneas V 2 εὐγενικέ, φοῦμος τῶν ἀνδρειωμένων Pol. Tr. 3154; τεῖχος καὶ κάστρον φοβερὸν ibid. 7177 φέγγος μου Liv. α 1862, Liv. E 1750 and Liv. V 1612 άνθος μου, άπαντέχει σε θέλει Achil. O 451 ὦ γένος άνεγνώριστο FALIEROS, Thrinos 143 ὦ δρόσος τῆς άγάπης μου Rim. kor. A 60 (< ἡ δρόσος) οἰμένα, θυγατέρα μου, θάρρος μου και ψυχή μου Apoll. Rim. V 1551 σπλάχνος μου, παμφίλτατε υἱέ μου Diig. Alex. F 168.12 (Konstantinopolus) (< τὸ σπλάχνο(ν)) Ρέθεμνος, ποὺ κρατούσουνε ἄξιο BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 196.11 (< τὸ Ρέθυμνο(ν))

Sometimes the articular nominative is used as a vocative (see IV, 5.1.2 for details): ὦ παωικό μου άχόρταγο και τῆς καρδιάς μου τ' ἄθος FALIEROS, Ist. On. 509; Χριστιανῶν τὸ φοῦμος LIMEN., Velis. Λ 161; ω ψυχή μου, σινιόρα Δουλτσινέα, το άνθος της ευμορφίας Don Kis. 52.21.

Regionally forms in /o/ may be the result of omission of final /s/, which occurs in a specific environment, namely before the clitic pronoun μας (dissimilation of /s/; see I, 3.7.1.1 for details): τὸ γένο μας TROILOS, Rodol. II.258 (Aposkiti) (cf. στο βράχος ibid. II.10; εἰς πάσα βάρος ibid. II.362).

Forms in -ους are phonetic rather than morphological variants (see I, 2.5.4 for details): μὲ τοῦ δεῖπνους τοῦ μυστικού (1628–9, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 1, 42.11).

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ο(ν)

This alternative ending had come into being long before the LMedG period (see the introduction to this section, 2.23). Although it is less common than the inherited -ος ending, it continues to be in use throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

Nominative

και τὸ ἕτερον μέρος (1127–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 11, 90.23) τὸ κοῦρσον ὅπου ἐποίκετε Chron. Mor. H 691 ἄσπριζε τὸ στῆθο της Pol. Tr. 2255 app. crit. (V) τὸ βάθο τοῦ γιαλοῦ ἔνε βαθὺ Chron. Mor. T 535 τὸ δόλον ψεματάρικον εὐρίσκετον ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1378 (< τὸ δόλος < ὁ δόλος) τὸ χτῆνο εἰς τῇ λογή του Pent. Gen. 1.25 (< κτῆνος) εἶναι ὁ γεῖς τὸ κέρδο τῆς κερᾶς μου Stathis II.329 τὸ κόρσο τοῦ Τοῦρκωνε (1644, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 288, 227.23–4) (= κοῦρσο; for τοῦ see 5.2.1)

Accusative

ἐκ τὸ μέρος (1154, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 4, 77.14) στο σὸν τὸ χεῖλο SULT. WALAD, Poem V 5 χρεωστεῖ δουλεύει διὰ τὸ χρέο του Chron. Mor. H 1987; εἶχεν τὸ θάρρον του ὅλον ibid. 3225 μὴ ὀργιστῆς τὸ βρέφο CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2075 μὲ ... θράσον θηριῶδες PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 397 κέρδον ἐκέρδισαν Pol. Tr. 2464 app. crit. (V) στο στῆθο της Rim. kor. A 146 app. crit. ἐχ τοῦ πυρὸς τὸ σκότον Cypr. Canz. 144.4 διὰ τ' ὁμορφὸ του κάλλο SKLAVOS, Symf. 88 μάκρο, πλάτο και ψήλο (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 198, 121.13) τὸ αὐτὸν ἔτον ἔστησε μιναρὲ (1597, Ioannina, LAMBROS 1910: 234, 183.2–3) τὸ λιβάδι μὲ τὸ δόσο (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 31, 50.4) τὸ σκότο γεμισμένος P&N Diath. 114 ἄφης' ἐμὲ τὸ βάρο MONTSEL., Evgena 832 πλεότιρο χρέο ἱπῆρις (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.45v.31–2) ἐπῆρε θάρρο EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 33.9–10

Vocative

No examples found.

Genitive

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ους

The inherited ending -ους is employed throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

ἀπὸ βάρους καρδίας ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 30.25; τοῦ Μαύρου Ὅρους id., Logos 1 58.26 τοῦ ἀντιδίκου μέρους (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 15.34) πλησίον τοῦ τείχους Eisit. f.6r.1 τοῦ πλήθους Chron. Mor. H 854; ἐκ μέρους ἐδικοῦ του ibid. 7852 ἐκ γένους Liv. V 3188 ἐνοῦ βάρους, καὶ ἐνοῦ μάκρους καὶ ἐνοῦ πάχους Assizes B 467.9–10 ὁ ἄρχοντας τοῦ σκότους Phys. 287 ἄν ἀπὸ ξίφους ἔλαβες [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1390 τοῦ βρέφους (1531, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 22, 69.17) ἐλεύθεροι ἀπὸ παντὸς βάρους (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 167.6) ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἄργους τὲς μεριὲς SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. D2v.27 τοῦ χρέους (1674, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 94, 226.15) του ἀνθρωπίνου γένους Don Kis. 11.4; τα τείχη του χάους ibid. 513.24

When the noun is followed by a clitic pronoun starting in /s/ the final /s/ is sometimes omitted in writing (haplography): τοῦ κράτου σου Ptoch. (Maiuri) 22 app. crit.

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ου ἢ -ο

This alternative ending, the genitive counterpart to the nominative in -ο(ν), had come into being long before the LMedG period (see the introduction to this section, 2.23) and continues to be in use throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

τοῦ ἔθνου (1041, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 2, 142.64) τοῦ ἡμετέρου μέρους (1134, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 43, 192.18) τοῦ ὕφους γραφεύς (1153, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 11, 33.18) πληθὸς κέρδου Chron. Mor. H 649; τοῦ Ἄργου ibid. 1585; τοῦ μέρους τῆς Μονοβασίας ibid. 2982 ἔμαθε ἐκ στήθου διδασχὰς Imber. 76 τοῦ βάρθου Assizes B 284.21; ἄνω μέρου ibid. 298.5; τοῦ μάκρου ibid. 430.5; τοῦ πλάτου ibid. 430.6

τοῦ μάκρου καὶ τοῦ πλάτου CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 739

ἐκ βάρθου τῆς καρδίας Velth. 835

εἰς ὁμοίωμα γνέφου λαμπροῦ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 267.3 (= νέφου, see I, 3.5.2.3) τοῦ φάρδου της Pent. Gen. 13.17

ἐνοῦ τέλου Fior Suppl. 270.12–13

τοῦ ἐνὸς μέρου (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 9, 26.16); τοῦ ὕψου (1582, ibid. 155, 89.6) τοῦ χείλου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 96.8

τοῦ δάσου Vosk. 120

τοῦ μάκρου (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1955: 513.9)

τοῦ ὕψου καὶ τοῦ βάρθου KORNAROS, Erot. V.164

In the following example the ending -ο instead of -ου is the result of hypercorrection of back vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4.3), which is quite common in this collection of documents from Sibiu, Transylvania (see τοῦ for τό in the same example): τοῦ μέρος τοῦ χρέο (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.46r.7)

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ος ὁ -ός

Genitives in -ος can occasionally be found in papyri pre-dating the period covered by this Grammar (see DIETERICH 1898: 155 and GIGNAC 1981: 66 for examples from the 1st c. onwards). In the period under review they are very rare: genitives in -ος have been found in the London version of the Achilleid and in documents from Zakynthos and Kefalonia, though it cannot be excluded that these are just writing mistakes. The oxytone example found in Diakrousis clearly serves to accommodate the metre: τινὸς ἔθνος Achil. L 169; εἶδαμεν τὲς ἀναζήτησεις τοῦ ἐνὸς μέρου καὶ τὲς ἀπόκρισεις τοῦ ἑτέρου μέρος (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 10, 63.4–5); ἐξ ἐνὸς μέρος (1659, Zakynthos, AVOURIS 1973: 219.3); σαράντα πέντε τοῦ ἐτός, λέγω, ἑξακοσίους DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 185.

Plural

Nominative, Accusative and Vocative

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-η

This inherited ending is the most common for the nominative, accusative and vocative plural throughout the period under review:

Nominative

καὶ λοιπὰ δένδρη (1018, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 24, 172.16) (< τὸ δένδρο(ν)) τοῦτον τὸ ἀμπέλιον γίνεται μέρη δ' (1127–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 11, 90.22) καὶ τὰ ἄστρον παρασκύπτουσιν Dig. E 1062 (< τὸ ἄστρο(ν)) νά ᾗσιν τὰ χεῖλη μου Ptoch. III 197.14 app. crit. (P) πολλά τὰ ἔτη Liv. V 2167

νὰ παύσουν τὰ κούρη (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 210.8.16)

καὶ θρύβουνται τὰ ξίφη Flor. L 1182 οὐδὲ σοῦ λείπουν θρήνη FALIEROS, Log. did. 236 (< ὁ θρήνος); τ' ἄκρη μου μνοιάζει νὰ 'ναι κρυὰ id., Ist. On. 73 (< τὸ ἄκρο(ν)) καὶ ἐκόπησαν τὰ μέλη μου Katal. 174; τὰ χεῖλη μου τὸ λέγουν ibid. 649 τα νέφη ἔσκοτεινιάσαν Diig. Apoll. 629 τα δρόση του στομάτου του VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 132 (< ἡ δρόσος) τὰ χρυσὰ ἔπη τοῦ Πυθαγόρα (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.19) τὰ πάθη μου κ' οἱ πόνοι μου CHORTATIS, Erof. Dedic. 11

ἐτέλειωσαν τὰ ἔτη μου Thysia Avr. 194; τὰ χεῖλη μου ἴντα λέσι ibid. 628

ἡ σελήνη καὶ τὰ ἄστρο (1624, Skorje?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 72A, 564.24.2)

νεκρώνουνται τὰ μέλη μου KORNAROS, Erot. I.926; εἰς ἐσὲν εἶν' ὅλα μας τὰ θάρρη ibid. IV.296

Addition of /n/ occurs in texts from Naxos, in which the addition of a non-etymological /n/ is quite common (see I, 3.7.2.1.3): θέλου καὶ ποιοῦσι τὰ παρόντα μέρην (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 257, 448.7).

Accusative

ἐλαιὰς δένδρη κε' (1000, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 12, 11.32) (< τὸ δένδρο(ν)) διὰ μούρτη εἰς τὰ φουσσάτα Dig. E 140 (< ὁ μούλτος); νὰ ἐπιχαρῆς τὰ κάλλη μου ibid. 1141

τὰ ἄστρο ἐσυντύχαινα Liv. V 2741 (< τὸ ἄστρο(ν)) ἀπὸ τὰ κούρη τοὺς Σαρακηνοὺς (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 210.8.18) ποταμούς καὶ βράχη [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1477 (< ὁ βράχος) καὶ τρώγουσιν οἱ ἄρχοντες τὰ ἄκρη μου κρασάτα; Poulol. 85 (< τὸ ἄκρο(ν)) εἰς τὰ κάστρο μου Alex. Rim. 1420 (< τὸ κάστρο(ν)) παιδὶν ἀπὸ τὰ σπλάχνη μου Diig. Alex. E 99.24–5 (Lolos) (< τὸ σπλάχνο(ν)) τα βάθη της θαλάσσου CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.279

ὥσάν καλὴ καρδιά κι ὠραία στὰ θώρη Vask. 10; τὰ πάθη μου στὰ ὄρη νὰ δηγοῦμαι ibid. 442 πορπατώντας τὰ βράχη (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 146.9)

μὲ τὰ δικά σου θάρρη MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1578 ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ εἶχεν ἰδεῖ τὰ πλούτη μου Bertoldos 58.16 (< ὁ πλοῦτος) διὰ τὰ χρέη (1638, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 13, 86.4)

που δείχνουσιν τα κάστρο μου IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 382

σπαθὶ εἰς τα ζερβά του μέρη PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2638

μὲ ὅλα τως τὰ δένδρη (1685, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1918a: 129.4–5)

Vocative

ὦ ... στήθη μαρμαρεῖνα Chron. Toc. 3392 δέντρη μου πανώραια Analos. Ath. 51

ὦ βουνὰ καὶ κάμποι καὶ ὄρη Diig. Alex. F 120.20 (Lolos) ὦ δάση μου πυκνότεα CHORTATIS, Panor. I.1; χεῖλη γλυκιά καὶ ονόστιμα ibid. II.195 δένδρη μου, συγχωρᾶτε MONTSEL., Evgena 625

θάρρη μου, ... χαθῆτε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 208.17; δέντρη μου ἀνθισμένα ibid. 552.4

βουνὰ καὶ ὄρη κλαύσατε DIKR., Diig. Pol. 652; κλαύσατε, δάση, κλαύσατε ibid. 1195

Neut.

Pl.	Nom. & Acc.	-ητα ! -ετα

In texts from Crete and the Heptanese certain nouns in /os/, such as βάθος, βάρος, δάσος, κέρδος and others quite regularly have alternative nominative and accusative plural forms in -ητα, in which -τα is added to the plural ending -η on the model of the -μα paradigm (for which see 2.21). Isolated instances have also been found in Diig. tetr. (Constantinople?, Thessaloniki?), in a document written in Naxos¹⁵³ and in an early-18th-c. forged chrysobull from Athos:

Nominative

ποῦ τὰ κέρδητα CHORTATSI, Erof. Prol. 28 ἄν οἱ πολλές σου χάριτες ἦτα τὰ βάρητά σου P&N Diath. 445 οἱ κάμποι καὶ τὰ δάσητα MONTSEL., Evgena 1266 τοῦτα τὰ δάσητά σου SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. A1v.19 ποιά 'ν' τῆς τιμῆς τὰ κέρδητα KORNAOS, Erot. I.710; τὰ βάρητα τοῦ νοῦ τὸ πνέμα δὲν παιδεύγου ibid. III.112

Accusative

νὰ εἶδες καὶ τὰ δάσητα Diig. tetr. 104 (hapax) ὅλα μὲ δίχως πάθητα FALIEROS, Thrinis 366 καὶ δάσητα καὶ πετρωτά Imb. Rim. 588 μὲ δώρητα καὶ μὲ μεγάλη κανίσκια Diig. Alex. E 141.22–3 (Konstantinopulos) (< δῶρο(ν)) εἰς βάθητα βουλῶ CHORTATSI, Katz. III.35; εἰς τὰ δάσητα id., Panor. II.84; σὰν κάμου κέρδητα id., Erof. Prol. 38
 νὰ πουλεῖ ὁ ἄνδρας τῆς γυναικὸς του τὰ εἶδητα (17th c., Unknown, GINIS 1966: 100, 94.26) μὲ ὅλα τως τὰ βάρητα (1620, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 368, 341.8) εἰς τὰ δάσητα TROILOS, Rodol. I.485 δάσητα ... θὰ ξετρέχει Pist. voskos II 5.189 διὰ νὰ σηκῶση βάρητα BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 38 εἰς χρέητα (1689?, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 868, 1161.36) στὰ βάθητα τῆς γῆς KORNAOS, Erot. I.367; μὴ δῆς μεγάλη βάρητα ibid. I.1187
 δὲν πληρώνει βάρητα καὶ ἀγγαρίαν (18th c. [ms], Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: App. III, 152.31)

A form in -ετα appears once in the Chronicle of the Turkish Sultans. This may be viewed as a phonetic variant of -ητα, due to lowering of /i/ to /e/ in the vicinity of a liquid (see I, 2.8.1), but there is probably also influence of the adjective θαρρετός: εἶχε τὰ θάρρετα τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ του Chron. Tourk. Soult. 110.5.

Genitive

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν -ῶ -ῶνε

The inherited oxytone ending is the most common for the genitive plural throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

¹⁵³ This example has been found in the archive of the notary Ioannis Miniatis. The document, however, was not written by Miniatis himself, but by the complainant, whose provenance is unknown.

τῶν λοιπῶν εἰδῶν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 100.7
 τῶν καστρῶν Chron. Mor. H 7937 (< τὸ κάστρος < τὸ κάστρο(ν)) ἐτῶν γὰρ δέκα Pol. Tr. 11766 τῶν ἄλλων καστρῶν (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.20) εἰς τοὺς κλώνους τῶν δενδρῶν Liv. α 320 (< τὸ δένδρος < τὸ δένδρο(ν)) ἐκ τῶν χειλῶν Velth. 312 ἕως ὅπου νὰ γενοῦν ζ' ἐτῶν Assizes A 124.12 τῶν δενδρῶν Achil. N 1031 τῶν δύο εἰρημένων μερῶν (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 138, 119.6) μετρῶν γ' (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 2, 22.9–10) (< τὸ μέτρος < τὸ μέτρο(ν)) τῶν ἀστρῶν ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 107.39 (< τὸ ἄστρος < τὸ ἄστρο(ν)) ὁλονῶν τῶν ἔθνων ΔΑΜ. ΣΤΟΥΔ., This., Logos 2, α8r.9 (1561) τῶν δύο μερῶν (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 37, 29.6) τὴν τυραννίδα τῶν παθῶν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.1
 ὅς τὸ στένωμα τῶν δενδρῶν IER. ΑΥΒΑΤΙΟΣ, Diig. Seismou 331.9–10 τῶν παθῶν μου ρῦστα ΠΡΟΣΟΠΑΣ, Peri tyflou 84

Deletion of final /n/ may occur in Cretan texts, though it is often the result of editorial intervention:

ἀγγεῖα μετρῶ τεσσάρω (1573, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17 [later copy], 72.37–8) (τὸ μέτρος < τὸ μέτρο(ν)) ἐκ τῶ δεντρῶ τσι κλώνους CHORTATSI, Panor. Prol. theas 56 (< τὸ δέντρος < τὸ δέντρο(ν)) ἡ δροσεράδα τῶ δεντρῶ Stathis II.204 (δετρον in the ms) καὶ κλωναράκια τῶ δεντρῶ Thysia Avr. 534 τὰ κορμιὰ ὀζῶ, δεντρῶ καὶ ἀθρόπῳ ΦΟΣΚΟΛΟΣ, Fort. IV.369 ἀνθούς δεντρῶ ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. II.266 (δεντρῶν in A; δεντρὰ in X)

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-ων ἰ -ω ἰ -ωνε

Genitives plural that do not display a shift of the stress to the ultimate pre-date the period covered by this Grammar, as they can already be found in Eusebius (4th c.) (κτῆνων), Cyril of Alexandria (4th/5th c.) (ἔθνων), Ps-Justin (5th c.?) (μέρων), Dorotheos of Gaza (6th/7th c.) (πάθων) and other Late Antique and Byzantine authors (see the online TLG). Such forms are not very common in the LMedG and EMG periods:

μεταξὺ τῶν μέρων ἐκατέρων (1081, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 6, 61.5) ἕως μέρων τριῶν (1153, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 11, 32.8) τῶν τοῦ Θεοῦ ἡθων (1162, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 31, 172.33) ἐκ βάθων Diig. sevast. Thom. 142 τὴν ἀπιστίαν τῶν ἔθνων Chron. Mor. H 783 ἐκ βάθων Phys. 83

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-έων

This archaic poetic ending is sometimes used with the word ὄρος in mixed- and higher-register texts:

καὶ κορυφὰς ὀρέων GLYKAS, Stichoí 374 ὀρέων ἀντηχούντων Dig. G VI.113, Dig. A 2965 and Dig. T 2001 καὶ κορυφὰς ὀρέων Dig. E 1366
 τῶν ὀρέων Flor. L 1357 εἰς χάσματα ὀρέων Diig. tetr. 242
 εἰς σχισμὰς ὀρέων Spanos D 470

2.23.2 Proparoxytone Nouns

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	πέλαγος	πέλαγο(ν)
Gen.	πελάγου	πελάγους	πέλαγου
Acc.	πέλαγος	πέλαγο(ν)
Voc.	(πέλαγος)	πέλαγο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	(πελάγη)
Gen.	(πελαγῶν)	(πελάγων)
Acc.	πελάγη
Voc.	(πελάγη)

Singular

Nominative, Accusative and Vocative

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ος

This inherited ending is the most common in texts of the LMedG and EMG periods. However, as there is just a handful of proparoxytone nouns in -ος, a fairly modest number of examples has been found:

Nominative

τοῦ κράτου σου τὸ ἔλεος Chron. Mor. H 3570; μέλλει στήκει τὸ ἔπαινος ibid. 4745
 τὸ ἔπαινός του Assizes B 274.27 τὸ ἔπαινος καὶ ἡ φήμη PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 369 τὸ ἔπαινος μεγάλου Ἀχιλλέως Achil. N 189 καὶ ρίχνει τον τὸ πέλαγος Fyll. gadar. 449

τοῦ θεοῦ τὸ ἔλεος Diig. Alex. F 62.14 (Konstantinopulos) τὸ ἔδαφος μὲ τ' ἀνθία ἦτον δὲ στολισμένον Dig. A 2836 τὰ ποδάρια μου ἤθελε κατακαύσει τὸ ἔδαφος τῆς γῆς Vios Aisop. K 160.12–13

Accusative

εἰς τὸ πέλαγος GLYKAS, Stichoí 123 ἔλεος ... εἶχον Dig. G VI.641; τὸ ἔδαφος ἐφαίδρυνεν ibid. VII.48 ἤϋραν τὸ πέλαγος κακόν Chron. Mor. H 1680; ὡς τὸ ἔχουν γὰρ τὸ σύννηθος ibid. 2393 (< N. sg. adj. σύννηθες) εἰς τὸ ἔδαφος ἀπάνωθεν Pol. Tr. 10097 πῶς τὸ θαλασσοπέλαγος τὸ τόσον παρατρέχει Liv. E 154 στὸ πέλαος μὲ ἐξοριάζει Imber. 801 διὰ τὸ ἔλεος τοῦ θεοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 306.17–18 τοὺς εἶχα φοῦμος καὶ ἔπαινος Analos. Ath. 46 εἰς τὸ Ἀρκιπέλαγος (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.25) ἀπὸ τὸ Καστέλι Τέμενος (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 299, 297.2) ἃ μοῦ τύχει θάνατος εἰς τὸ πέλαγος (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 36.3) ὄφελος ὁ κόσμος εἶχε πάρει Soummakis, Past. Fid. a2r.8 τὸ ἔλεός σου δῶσε μας ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2493 εἰς τὸ πέλαγος εὐρισκόμενος (1656, Amorgos, TSELIKAS 1988/92: 3, 49.30) στὸ Τέμενος ἐπῆγαν BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 239.5; στ' Ἀρτσιπέλαγος ibid. 364.14 διὰ νὰ ξανοίγουν ὅλον τὸ πέλαγος Soumakis, Rebelio 34.22

Vocative

No examples found.

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-o(v)

This alternative ending is less used than -ος and is often found alongside forms in -ος in the same text. It is more common for the accusative than for the nominative:

Nominative

τὸ μέγεθον Etym. Gud. s.v. ὀγκάνος (ed. Sturz) <καὶ> πάλιν διὰ τὸ σύννηθον Chron. Mor. P 8952 (< σύννηθος < N. sg. adj. σύννηθες) εἶχεν ἡ κόρη σύννηθον Byz. Il. 654 ἴντα θὰ πῆ πέλαγο Stathis II.295 ξανοίγεται ὅλο τὸ πέλαγο Soumakis, Rebelio 35.2

Accusative

στὸ πέλαγο τῆς θάλασσας Chron. Mor. P 603 διὰ ὄφελόν της Theseid I.86,3 (Follieri) διὰ ὄφελον τῆς συντροφίας αὐτῶν (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 57, 48.13) μὴν εὐρης πέλαγο βαθὺ Stathis II.279 ἐγύρισε ὀπίσω εἰς τὸ πέλαγο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 80.36 μὲς στὸ ἀγριόδασον MONTSEL., Evgena 642 σ' ἕνα πέλαγο ἄμετρο FOSKOLOS, Fort. Dedic. 12 σ' ὅλο τ' Ἀρτσιπέλαγο BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 261.3 εμπαίνει με τα ποδάρια της στο πέλαγο Kaloandros 406.16 δὲν τὸν ἐχαιρετήσασι στὸ πέλαγο μὲ σινιάλο EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 55.15

Vocative

No examples found.

Genitive

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ους

Inherited forms in -ους, always with a shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate, are not very common in texts of the LMedG and EMG periods:

μέχρι τρίτου ἐδάφους Dig. G I.98 σὺ γὰρ ἐλέους εἶ πηγή Ptoch. III 14 ἐρρύσατο τὸν Πέτρον ἐκ πελάγους Ptoch. IV 658 τοῦ μεγέθους Assizes B 284.20 ἕως ἐδάφους Syndipas 110.29
 τοῦ πελάγους Synax. gadar. 313
 τὸ κάλλος τοῦ ἐδάφους Dig. T 2781
 γενεράλης του πελάγους Ist. Enet. 419.29

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ου

Forms in -ου, the genitive counterpart to nominatives in -ο(ν), are rather more common than those in -ους. They normally undergo a shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate:

ἕως ἐδάφου (11th c., Constantinople, SCHREINER 1975/79: 1, 41.6.3) τοῦ Αἰγαίου πελάγου (1087, Unknown, EVANGELATOU-NOTARA 1982: 261, 174.3) ἕως ἐδάφου γῆς (1195, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 17, 140.6) ἀνάμεσα πελάγου Dig. E 1057 κατὰ πρόσωπον τοῦ πελάγου (1442, Lemnos, KRAVARI 1991: 25, 169.233) ἐμεῖς Ἰάκωβος Κρίσπος, δούξ Αἰγαίου Πελάγου (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 467.1–2) τοῦ σοῦ μεγέθου [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 2565 τοῦ πελάγου (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.5) τὰ νησιά ὅλα τοῦ Ἀρχιπελάγου (16th c., northern Aegean?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 70.IV, 550.52.1–2) ἕως ἐδάφου τῆς γῆς Vios Aisop. K 194.8
 τοῦ πελάου MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 266 τοῦ πελάγου FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 113 τοῦ Αἰγαίου πελάου (1655, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: 122.2) ἐκεῖθεν του πελάου IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2216 τῆς γῆς καὶ τοῦ πελάου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 248.8

Absence of shift of stress is very rare:

τὸ χωριὸ τοῦ Τέμενου ἐπίασα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 240.9

Plural*Nominative, Accusative and VocativeNeut.*

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-η

Inherited forms in -η, with a shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate, are not very common in the period covered by this Grammar. No nominatives or vocatives have been found, and even accusatives are quite rare:

Nominative

No examples found.

Accusative

καὶ τὰ ἐλέη σου ἡμῖν θαυμάστωσον Dig. E 1842 τὰ φοβερὰ μεγέθη Pol. Tr. 12148 app. crit. (AVX) ἐλέη σου τὰ πλούσια MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2569 να φέρει τα ἐλέη Του IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4727

Vocative

No examples found.

Genitive

No examples of the genitive plural have been found in the texts examined, though one would expect to find the oxytone inherited ending -ῶν (ἐδαφῶν, μεγεθῶν, πελαγῶν, etc.), or forms without a shift of the stress (ἐδάφων, πελάγων), which can be found in texts as early as Hellenistic times (e.g. ἐδάφων in Polybius (3rd/2nd c. BC; see the online TLG)).

2.23.3 Transfers to Other Paradigms

Though most words belonging to the above paradigms have alternative singular forms in -ο(ν) (see above), only a few of them can occasionally transfer completely to the neuter paradigm in -ο(ν) (2.19) forming a plural in -α:

τὰ ὡς εἴρηται χρεωστούμενά μοι χρέα (1284, Thessaloniki, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 75, 32.46) εἰς πλείονα χρέα τῶν χιλίων διακοσίων οὐγγιῶν (1370, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 29, 114, 38) στὰ πέλαγα τῆς θάλασσης Chron. Mor. H 603 ἤπλησεν καὶ κτῆνα πολλά (14th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 27, 206.1.5) με χεῖλα πικραμένα Thysia Avr. 153 app. crit. (M) (see BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1996: 149) εἰς κτῆνα ἔστιν συμφέρων (17th c. [ms], Unknown, ŠANGIN 1936: 4, 158.5)

Some neuter nouns in -ος belonging to the paroxytone paradigm may transfer to the -ι(ο)(ν) paradigm (for which see 2.20.2.2). This development postdates the loss of /o/ in the endings of these nouns (see the introduction to 2.20), as no forms in -ιο(ν) have been found. This development started with the addition of the neuter plural ending -α to the opaque plural ending -η (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 44): /'stiθi/ > /'stiθi-a/ (cf. the similar procedure in /'ðasi/ > /'ðasi-ta/, above), after which a new singular emerged, in line with the existing neuter paradigm in -ι(ν) (< -ιον), pl. -ια. Examples come from texts from southern areas, the Heptanese and the Aegean from the 15th c. onwards:

τὸ στῆθι Phys. 273
 τὰ μάγουλα καὶ στήθια τως BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 530.8 καὶ μὲ τὸ στῆθι VEST., Prol. Theot. 80 (< στῆθος) τριαντάφυλλα καὶ ἄνθια ποικιλάτα Achil. N 773 μὲ τ' ἄνθια Dig. A 2836 (< ἄνθος) τὸ πάχτι ὅπου πληρώνει (1591, Kefalonia, CHRYSOCHOIDIS 1977: 1, 207.52) (< πάχτος < πάκτος) οὐδένα μέλι ἐσάλευγε CHORTATSI, Erof. V.129 (< μέλος) τοῦ βρεφιοῦ Fior 149.20 (< βρέφος) τὸ Σινᾶιον ὄρι CHOUNMNOS, Kosmog. 2641 εἰς τὸ ὄρι Apok. Theot. 489.1 (< ὄρος) τ' ἀχέλι ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 42 (< χεῖλος) Φυσίγναθος μὲ τ' ὁμορφόν του ἦθι ZINOS, Vatr. 105 (< ἦθος) διχῶς κανένα βάρι MONTSEL., Evgena 810 (< βάρος); μέσα εἰς τὸ δάσι ibid. 1063 (< δάσος) διὰ νὰ σολδάρει τὸ ἄνωθεν χρεὶ (1669, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999a: 2, 280.16) ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ βρεθῇ ὀλίγο χρεὶ (1685, Skyros, ANDONIADES 1980/81: 8, 331.5) νὰ χρεωστοῦσαν χρέγια (1696, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 244, 154.2) οἱ ὅμοιοι ἐπλέρωσαν τὸ ὅμοιο χρεὶ (1703, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 46, 59.13) τοῦ αὐτοῦ χρεγιοῦ (1705, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 7, 168.6) τὸ ἄνωθεν χρεὶ (1716, Smyrna, SFYROERAS 1963b: 3, 179.11) (the subject of the debt settlement is from Mykonos) (< χρέος) εἶχε πολλὰ πλοῦτια EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 37.11 (< τὸ πλοῦτος < ὁ πλοῦτος)

Some paroxytone neuter nouns in -ος may develop masculine alternatives in -ος:

ἐβγαίνω ἀπὸ τὸν δάσον Liv. α 2336 app. crit. (N) κρύβονται εἰς τοὺς δάσους PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 273 μάζωξε ἀπὸ τὸν δάσον ἄγρια μουσκέλα LANDOS, Geopon. 163.33 εἰς τὸν μέρος ἐκεῖνον Byz. Il. 895 τὸν θάρρον τὸν πολὺν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 349.18 γιὰ τοῦτο εἶν' ὁ θάρρος μου MONTSEL., Evgena 193 ὦ πάθος πῶναι ἀγιάτρευθος VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 61 ὁ ρῖγος P&N Diath. 349 ἀπὸ τὸν βάρον Diig. Ag. Sof. ω 536.6 app. crit. (Ω¹) ὁ μάκρος (1665, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1974b: 2, 44.9); ὁ πλάτος (ibid. 44.10)

In texts from southern areas and certain Aegean islands (Chios) the word ἄνθος developed a masculine alternative with a shift of the stress to the ultimate:

ὅταν τὰ δέντρα κάμνουσιν ἀνθούς Achil. L 503 μερτιές καὶ δάφνες με ανθούς DEFAR., Sos. 46 (Holton) ἀπὸ ἄλλους ἀνθούς Assizes A 199.3
 με τσ' αθούς τσ' ὁμορφους CHORTATSI, Panor. I.414; οἱ ανθοί σας ibid. II.203 με τους ανθούς του RODINOS, Martyr. Neof. 321.36 ἡ ἀγάπη εἰς τὸν ἀνθόν SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. C4v.14 στολίζει δένδρα μὲ ἀνθούς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2399 με τὸν ἀνθὸ τὸν καμωμένο Pist. voskos I 4.53 οἱ ἀνθοὶ τῆς ἀρχοντιᾶς KORNAROS, Erot. II.294

Transfers from the neuter to feminine paradigms are the result of reanalysis of the plural in -η as a feminine singular, but they are very rare: καὶ Ἄραβοι ἐξήρσαν ἄφνω ἀπὸ τῆς ἔλης Dig. G V.178 (< ἡ ἔλη < τὰ ἔλη); ἔχει μεγίστην κάλλην Dig. E 1333 (< ἡ κάλλη < τὰ κάλλη); πῶς ἦνοιξας τὰς χεῖλας σου Diig. tetr. 584 app. crit. (C) (ἡ χεῖλη < τὰ χεῖλη).

2.24 Irregular and Indeclinable Neuter Nouns

Of the irregular neuter nouns certain common ones remain in use (e.g. γάλα, φῶς), whereas other are brought in line with regular paradigms for instance by using the diminutive ending -(ο)(ν). Indeclinable neuter nouns are loanwords. This overview includes the more common irregular and indeclinable neuter nouns. For nouns not included here the reader is referred to the Kriaras dictionary.

2.24.1 Nouns with Dental Stem

A small group of 3rd-declension nouns survives, some of them until the present day. These are nouns that, like the -μα paradigm, have a dental stem in /t/ that is used for gen. sg. and all cases of the plural. This group includes neuter nouns in -ας such as ἄλας, κέρας, πέρας and τέρας. The nouns γῆρας and κρέας also belong to this group, but show various developments that are unique to them, which is why they are discussed separately. Other nouns with a dental stem are γάλα, γόνυ, μέλι, φάβα and φῶς, which are also discussed separately.

2.24.1.1 ἄλας, κέρας, πέρας and τέρας

The inherited nom. and acc. sg. ending -ας remains in use throughout the period covered by this Grammar, though more commonly with some nouns (ἄλας) than with others (πέρας):

καὶ τοῦ πολέμου πέρας τε ὁ παῖς ἀποπληρώσας Dig. G IV.647 τέρας ἰδεῖν δυσάντητον GLYKAS, Stichoi 56 μέ τὸ ἄλας νὰ τὸν φάγη Chron. Mor. H 4481
 τὸ κέρας μου Diig. tetr. 348 βάνει ὀλιγοστὸν ἄλας Imber: 640 ἄπαστον ἄλας καὶ θαλάσσιον βούτυρον Spanos A 183 βάλε ἄλας τριμμένον ΣΤΑΦΙΔΑΣ, Iatrosoph. 1.5
 ἐκ τὸ ἄλας (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 93, 78.3) ὥσπερ φαγὶν χωρὶς ἄλας DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 16, ο1ν.32 (1561) ψωμί καὶ ἄλας ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. III §29.32 ἂν τὸ ἄλας γένει ἀνόλατον ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΡ., Kaini Diath. Matth. 5.13 το κραταῖον του κέρας ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 9128
 τρίψε ἀπάνω αὐτῆς κριθάρην καὶ ἄλας (1684–5, Moscow, ŠANGIN 1936: 3, 118.3–4)

For κέρας new nom. and acc. sg. forms in -ο(ν) develop based on the dental stem κερατ- (CHATZIDAKIS 1910: 221):

καὶ ὄλον του τὸ κέρατον Diig. tetr. 1021 σκρόφας κέρατον Spanos A 450 τὸ κέρατο αποπίσω τως CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.22

The inherited genitive in -ος has an alternative in -ου with a shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate (cf. neuter nouns in -μα, 2.21):

ἡ τιμὴ τοῦ ἄλατος (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VÖGEL 1963: 36, 32.7) τοῦ κέρατος Diig. tetr. 349 τοῦ ἄλατος (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 93, 78.4) ἀπὸ ὕδατος ἔως ἄλατος (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 24, 42.17) τοῦ ἀλάτου (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 86.14 and 86.21–2) τοῦ ἀλάτου Pent. Gen. 14.3
 τοῦ κεράτου Stathis III.273

In the following example the gen. sg. receives an innovative ending -ιοῦ: τὸ κέρατον, τοῦ κερατchioῦ KRITOPoulos, Grammar 109.30 (for <χ> representing consonantization of /j/ see I, 2.4.7.2). This ending occurs with other dental stems as well (see κρέας and φῶς in this section and cf. nouns in -μα, 2.21.1).

As for the plural, these nouns generally retain their inherited forms, though for ἄλας no plural forms have been found, and genitives are generally rare:

εἰς πάντα τὰ πέρατα τῆς γῆς Diig. tetr. 499
 τὰ κέρατά του Fior 113.29 μὲ κέρατα μεγάλα Alex. Rim. 86 τέρατα καὶ σημεία MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 15 τέρατα καὶ φαντάσματα τοῦ ᾿Αδῆ, ἔλατε Zinon V.323 στὰ πέρατα τῆς γῆς BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 554.10 εἰς τὰ πέρατα τῆς οἰκουμένης KASIMATIS, Varl. & Ioas. 499.3 ἐκ τῶν κεράτων ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 2.6–7

2.24.1.2 γάλα

The inherited noun γάλα remains in use throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

ποιμὴν διὰ τὸ γάλα Liv. V 900 ἀπὸ γάλα βουβαλίνας Ptochol. α 464 ἀπὸ εἶτι γάλα ἢ τυρὶ κάμει (1522, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 69, 99.9) θέλει ζητάειν γάλα τῆς μητρός του Diig. Alex. F 148.15–16 (Lolos) καμπόσον γάλα ζέστανε LANDOS, Geopon. 260.9
 Εἰς τὴν Πόλιν καὶ γάλα πουλιοῦ εὐρίσκεις Paroim. (Warner) 102.2
 τῶ βυζῶν τὸ γάλα KORNAROS, Erot. III.1228

It may occur with addition of final /s/ or /n/. Final /s/ is added by analogy with the other nouns with a dental stem such as κρέας (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 462):

τὸ γάλας (1270, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 321, 472.29) ἀκόμη καὶ τὸ γάλας μου Diig. tetr. 597 app. crit. (PV) ἔτρωγεν τὸ γάλας ὅλον Ptochol. α 486 ἐκεῖ τὸ γάλας εἶχαν BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 654 μαστοὺς γεμάτους γάλας VEST., Prol. Theot. 172 ἔριπεν τὸ γάλας (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 401, f.2r.72) καὶ ἐβύζανεν τὸ γάλαν του Dig. E 788 ἐχενώθη τὸ γάλαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 32.18; ἔναν λαγήνιν γάλαν ibid. 492.19 κ' ἔκαμαν πάλιν γάλαν BERGADIS, Apok. A 180

The inherited gen sg. γάλακτος, though quite infrequent, is still in use, as is its alternative γάλατος, which pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar by many centuries (see JANNARIS 1897: 136):

περὶ δὲ καὶ τοῦ γάλατος Diig. tetr. 537 τοῦ γάλακτος SOFIANOS, Paidag. 99.23 τοῦ γάλακτος Bertoldos 34.17
 ἡ κορφή τοῦ γάλακτος LANDOS, Geopon. 189.3

The genitive has an alternative form γαλά(κ)του, which shows the same development as neuter nouns in -μα (see 2.21): ἀπὸ γαλάκτου Diig. Alex. M 1578; ὁ τόπος τοῦ γαλάτου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 32.19; τοῦ γαλάκτου (1628–9, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 1, 42.21).

In the texts examined plural forms are quite rare: τὰ τυρία, τὰ γάλατα (15th c. [ms], Athos, MEYER 1894: VI, 163.25); καὶ γάλατα καὶ ρύζα CHORTATSI, Katz. III.547.

2.24.1.3 γῆρας

The noun γῆρας can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar. It has an alternative stem γερ- influenced by the semantically related noun γέρων/γέροντας:

καὶ τὸ κακό μου γῆρας Dig. E 535 ἕως το γήρας σου Anthos Ch. G 109.8
 ὁ χρόνος γάρ, παιδίτζιν μου, τὸ γέρας ἢ τὰ ροῦχα [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1089 βοήθειαν εἰς τὸ γῆρας μου Byz. Il. 264 στὸ γῆρας μου (1545, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 164, 107.14) τὸ γῆρας, τοῦ γήρατος SOFIANOS, Grammar 43.27 γῆρας πεπλουτισμένος (1526, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 115, 209.5) εἰς τὸ γῆράς σου τὸ βαθύ PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.21 εἰς γῆρας βαθύ (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 399, f.2r.9) το γήρας τον εφθάσε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 9580

Sporadically final /s/ is deleted: εἰς γῆρα Pol. Tr. 14058.

One example has been found in which the ending of neuter nouns in -ι(ν) is employed (see 2.20): εἰς γέρι βαθύ (1673, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 69, 41.1).

There is variation to be noted in gen. sg., borrowing -ους from the neuter paradigm in -ος (2.23), a tendency that pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar, with occurrences in Hippocrates and the Septuagint (see LSJ s.v.); or even -ου from the -ο(ν) paradigm (2.19):

ἀνάπαισις τοῦ γήρους μου Achil. L 225 λευκόθριξ ἐκ τοῦ γήρους Pol. Tr. 2437 app. crit. (A) μέχρι μακρὰ τοῦ γήρους Achil. O 635
 μέχρι μακροῦ τοῦ γήρους Achil. N 352 τοῦ γήρους μου (1685, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1940: 302.6) τοῦ γήρου (1579, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 5, 23.6)

The noun develops a plural γέρατα in the LMedG period, with first attestations in the 15th c., formed by analogy with other nouns with dental stems (CHATZIDAKIS 1910: 220–2):¹⁵⁴

᾽ς τὰ γέρατά σου Dim. poiim. 1.86 κι ἂν ἔχουν χρειὰ ᾽ς τὰ γέρατα DEFAR., Log. did. 169 διὰ τὰ γέρατά του PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §28.13; εἰς τὰ γέρατά μου ibid. II §9.61 ἀπὸ πολλὰ γέρατα (1671, Cythera, PAPADAKI 2001: 3, 41.1) ἐκοιμήθη ... ἀπὸ γέρατα (1698, Cythera, KALLIGEROS 2001: 101, 59.2)

In texts from south-western areas a plural γέρα is found:

ἀπ' τὰ γέρα τὰ πολλὰ Dig. E 1520 ἀπὸ τὰ γέρα τὰ πολλὰ CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1350 μηδέ θωρεῖς τὰ γέρα μου CHORTATIS, Panor. III.319 στὰ γέρα μου τὰ ὀπίσω Thysia Avr. 384 ἂν ἔρθουσι γέρα τοῦ ἀνωθεν κυρ-Μανόλη (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 753, 654.10) διατὶ ἡῦραν με τὰ γέρα Montsel., Evgena 25 ὁμάδι με τὰ γέρα TROILOS, Rodol. III.389 (Aposkiti) στὰ γέρα KORNAPOS, Erot. III.832

Sometimes γήρας is reinterpreted as a formal feminine accusative plural: εἰς τὰς γήρας μου (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 90, 94.13).

2.24.1.4 γόνυ

This noun retains its inherited plural forms γόνατα (nom. and acc.) and γονάτων (gen.), as well as its inherited gen. sg. γόνατος. New nom. and acc. sg. forms develop, namely τὸ γόνα by analogy with the -μα paradigm and τὸ γόνατο(ν), based on the extended stem γονατ- (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 14–15). Just like the -μα paradigm and the neuter nouns in -ας discussed in this section, gen. sg. has an alternative in -άτου:

τὰ γόνατα PLOUSIAD., Thrinor 173 (Vasileiou) στὸ γόνα Imb. Rim. 600 ἐφιλῆσεν τὸ γονατὸν του VOUSTR., Chron. A 102.2–3 τὸ γόνα, τοῦ γονάτου, τὸ γόνα, ὃ γόνα SOFIANOS, Grammar 43.23; τὰ γόνατα, τῶν γονάτων, τὰ γόνατα, ὧ γόνατα ibid. 43.23–4 κ' ἐτρέμασι τὰ γόνατα KORNAPOS, Erot. III.938 γόνυ καὶ γόνατο καὶ γόνα SPANOS, Grammar 32.3–4

¹⁵⁴ This plural would eventually be superseded by other nouns derived from the stem γερ-, namely τὰ γερατεῖα and τὰ γεράματα.

The form γόννα may sporadically be interpreted as masculine: ὡς τὸν γόννα (1665–76, Ioannina, VAKATSAS 1992: 3, 153.7).

2.24.1.5 κρέας

This noun retains its inherited forms κρέας (nom., acc., voc. sg.) κρέατος (gen. sg.) κρέατα (nom., acc., voc. pl.) and κρεάτων (gen. pl.) throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

διὰ τὰ κρέατά σας Diig. tetr. 361 κρέας ἀπὸ τὴν σάρκα σου FALIEROS, Log. did. 230 ορίζει δίδουν τους ὡμὴν και κρασὶν και κρέας Diig. Apoll. 368 ὅταν ἔχω χρεῖα κρέας (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 122, 120.14) περὶ κρέατος τῶν τετραπόδων (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 14, 28.29) ἀμὴ τὸ κρέας τουτονέ; CHORTATSI, Katz. IV.378 τρώγοντας ἄψητα κρέατα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 20.10

Like other neuter nouns in -ας, κρέας has an alternative κρεάτου for gen. sg.: κρεάτου Pent. Levit. XVII 11.

Stressed glide formation (see I, 2.9.4) may occur in this noun:

ἀπὲ τὰ κριάτά τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 92.12 ἔναι σάπια τὰ κριάτα του Alex. V 81.20–1 σ' τόσον κρίας (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 252, 149.6) φαγία, κριάτα και ποτά IOAKEIM KYPR, Pali 4074
 τὸ κρέας-ηᾶς, τοῦ κρέατος-τηοῦ, τὸ κρέας-ηᾶς, ὃ κρέας-ηᾶς, | τὰ κρέατα-ηᾶτα, τῶν κρεάτων-ηῶν, τὰ κρέατα, ὃ κρέατα-ηᾶτα SPANOS, Grammar 31.28–9

Sometimes a conservative spelling is maintained, as in the following examples, where κρέας should be read as one syllable in order for the verse to scan: ἐκέϊ ἦῦρα κρέας καὶ ψήνασιν Ptoch. III 273.32 app. crit. (P); καὶ φαίνεται τὸ κρέας του BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 62; καὶ πῶς στὸ κρέας ἐπλήγωσε KORNAROS, Erot. II.712.

In these forms /j/ may subsequently be deleted. Examples have been found in texts from Crete (see I, 2.4.7.4 for details):

τὲς λιπαριὲς τοῦ κράτου FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 53 τὰ κράτα μου DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2022 καὶ ὡρικὰ καὶ κράτα CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2541 ὁ τσουδισμὸς τοῦ κράτου P&N Diath. 4650 τὸ κράς ἀπὸ χει ἀπάνω του FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.98 θρέφονται μὲ κράς KORNAROS, Erot. IV.503; τὸ κράς ὁποῦ ἔλε νεκρὸ ibid. IV.1582

In the same area /e/ and /a/ may coalesce into /e/ (see I, 2.9.4.3): τὰ κρέτα του ἑδακάνασι P&N Diath. 3523; νὰ σύρνουσι τὰ κρέτα μας FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.474; κρασιὰ καὶ κρέτα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 277.17.

In the following examples the gen. sg. is formed with an innovative ending -ιοῦ: τὸ κριάς, τοῦ κριατχιοῦ KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 109.30 (for <χ> representing consonantization of /j/ see I, 2.4.7.2); τὸ κρηᾶς, τοῦ κρηατιοῦ SPANOS, Grammar 30.24–5.

This ending occurs with other dental stems as well: see κέρας and φῶς in this section and cf. nouns in -μα, 2.21.1.

Loss of final /s/ in nom. and acc. sg. may occur. This development pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar with attestations in Egyptian papyri (DIETERICH 1898: 165) and e.g. in Leontius, Life of Symeon the Holy Fool.¹⁵⁵ Examples in the texts examined include:

τυρόν καὶ ὠδὸν καὶ κρέα οὐχί ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 3 158.23–4; τὸ κρέα ibid. 160.11 κρέα, (δ)ψάριν καὶ ἄγνὰ Diig. tetr. 133 app. crit. (CA) τὸ κρέα φαγεῖν (1439–45, Florence, GILL 1953: I.7, 32.12) (perhaps read: κρεοφαγεῖν) ἔτρεχαν ὥς οἱ κόρακες εἰς βρωμισμένον κρέα Chron. Toc. 2447 νηστεύοντες τὸ κρέα [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1513

For the plural the inherited alternatives κρή (nom. and acc.) (for AG κρέα) and κρεῶν (gen.) (AG) still exist. The nom. and acc. ending occurs on the analogy of neuter nouns in -ος (see REINHOLD 1898: 53 for examples in apocryphal texts):

τῶν κρεῶν Ptoch. III 202 κρή κυνῶν καὶ ὄνων Diig. sevast. Thom. 323 νὰ ρίξουσιν τὰ κρή σου Diig. tetr. 294 τὰ κρή σου οὐ τρώγουν Poulol. 48 μηδὲ παστὰ κρή ΣΤΑΦΙΔΑΣ, Iatrosoph. 4.96 διὰ νὰ σαπίσουν τὰ κρή τους Anthos Ch. G 33.16 καὶ ἴπωρικά καὶ κρή ΧΟΥΜΝΟΣ, Kosmog. 2541 app. crit. (V) τὰ κρή ὅλα Diig. Alex. F 58.10 (Konstantinopulos) τὰ κρή ὀλωνῶν ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 131.7 τὰ ἡμέρα κρή LANDOS, Geopon. 194.8

2.24.1.6 μέλι

This noun makes a full transfer to the neuter paradigm in -ι(ν), for which see 2.20.2.2. Inherited forms based on the dental stem μελιτ- continue to be in use in mixed-register texts:

ὥς γὰρ μέλιτος γλύκασμα Dig. G VII. 171 διὰ τὰ ἀνθη τοῦ μέλιτος Anthos Ch. E 269.10 ἔδωκε τὰ ἀγγεῖα τοῦ μέλιτος καὶ βουτύρου ΖΥΓΟΜ., Stef. Ichn. 253.16–17 περὶ μέλιτος καὶ μούστου LANDOS, Geopon. 190.1
ἦσαν ψωμία, τυρία, σῦκα, μέλιτα Vios Aisop. E 295.12 ἐλές, μέλιτα (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 86, 163.98)

2.24.1.7 φάβα

The Latin loanword φάβα (see LSJ s.v.), feminine in Latin and in SMG, continues to be neuter in the period covered by this Grammar. It also occurs with an added final /n/:

¹⁵⁵ Examples are: τὸ κρέα τρώγει Leontius, Life of Symeon 148.10; τὸ δὲ κρέα ἔμπροσθεν πάντων ἦσθιεν ibid. 148.11 (7th c.; ed. Rydén).

ὅταν τὸ φάβα σπέρνη Poulol. 447 νὰ τὰ βρόσης ὥσάν φάβαν LANDOS, Geopon. 198.12; κουκκία τσακισμένα ὥσάν φάβα ibid. 242.20

φάβαν μόδιοι πέντε (1073, Patmos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 50, 10.119)

κ' εἶχαν φάβαν BERGADIS, Apok. A 554

The plural is formed from the dental stem φάβατ-:

φάβατα μόδια ιε' (1192, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 105, 202.20)

σὺ δὲ ψηφίζεις φάβατα Ptoch. IV 86

τὰ ὄσπρια, τὰ φάβατα Diig. tetr. 668

καὶ ἐσὺ σωρεύεις φάβατα Poulol. 449

φακὴν μὴ τρώγει, μηδὲ φάβατα STAFIDAS, Iatrosoph. 4.93

2.24.1.8 φῶς

The inherited forms φῶς (nom., acc., voc. sg.), φωτός (gen. sg.), φῶτα (nom., acc., voc. pl.) and φώτων (gen. pl.) remain in use throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

δρόσος τῶν Φώτων (15th c., Cyprus?, TSANGALAS 1983: 131.7)

τῶν φώτων Cypr. Canz. 144.3

Βέλθανδρε φῶς μου μάτια μου Velth. 1158

καὶ δίδει φῶς τοῦ καθενός KORONAIOS, Pittakin 111 καὶ ὑστέρου ἦλθε τὸ φῶς του Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.28 ὅσον ὅπου ἐβγῆκεν τὸ ἅγιον φῶς (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 335.11) μουρμουρίζει σὰν ὁ διάβολος στὰ φῶτα Paroim. (Warner) 57.5

ποιὸς ἦτον ποὺ σοῦ ἔδωκεν φωτός σου τὴν λακτάρη; PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 436

τὴν ἑορτὴν τῶν Φώτων (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1955: 519.9) σήκω, γλυκύτατό μου φῶς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1757 ἦψασιν φῶς (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 518, 744.13)

ὦ λαμπρότατον φως Don Kis. 190.14

τοῦ φωτός SPANOS, Grammar 31.30

There is remarkably little variation with this noun. The variants for gen. sg. and stress shift in gen. pl. given by Kanellos Spanos in his grammar have not been found in the other texts examined: τὸ φῶς τοῦ φωτίοῦ SPANOS, Grammar 30.24 (the stress notation represents both φωτίου and φωτιοῦ); τῶν φωτῶν-ώτων SPANOS, Grammar 31.31. The innovative gen. sg. ending -ιοῦ occurs with other dental stems as well: see κέρας and κρέας in this section and cf. nouns in -μα, 2.21.1.

2.24.2 The Invariable Noun σέβας

The noun σέβας has only been found in the nominative and accusative singular. In his grammar Sofianos lists it among indeclinable nouns:

ἔσμιξα τὸ αἶμα μου καὶ σέβας Pol. Tr. 7886 διὰ σέβας τοῦ πατρός του ERMON., Ilias 22.243

ἄκλιτα δὲ εἶναι τοῦτα· τὸ σέβας SOFIANOS, Grammar 46.16 νὰ ἀρνηθῇ τὸ σέβας του MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 74 ἔχασαν τὸ σέβας τους PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §22.24
 τὸ σέβας σου θυμήσου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 586

2.24.3 Indeclinable Nouns

Indeclinable neuter nouns are limited to loanwords from French, Italian and Turkish, mainly ending in /e/ or a consonant, which are less easily adapted to Greek morphology than for instance those in /o/. Sometimes these nouns make a full transfer to other paradigms (e.g. τὸ λεβάντε > ὁ λεβάντες), or an ending is added in an attempt to adjust a form to Greek morphology, as in the case of κ(ο)λόμε and παλαφρέ. Other nouns remain invariable. Etymologies are mainly taken from KRIARAS, Lex. Some representative examples of nouns in -ε are:

εἰκοσιτέσσερα καβαλλαρίων τὰ φῖε Chron. Mor. H 1914 (< Occit. fieu, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v. fief) καλὸν φαρίν ἢ παλαφρέ Pol. Tr. 2190; παλαφρέ τὴν ἡφέρασιν ibid. 5750 (< Old. Fr. palefroil/palefreid) τὰ παλαφρέ τους Achil. N 493 ὅλα τὰ παλαφρέ τους Velis. χ 450 εἰς τέρμε (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 7, 7.8) (< Occit. terme, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.)
 ἔως τὸ τάρμε Fior 150.13 εἰς τὸ κανάλε (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 37.II, 300.13.3) (< Ital. canale) ἔναι εἰς τὸ κλόμε τῆς βιόλας Lapid. 186.9 (< Ital. colore) τοῦ λεβάντε (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 55.2) (< Ital. levante) τὸ κολόμεν της (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 28, 34.11) σπῖτι ... μὲ ἄερε (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 110, 124.12) (< Ital. aere); στρομάτζο μὲ καβατζάλε (1602, ibid. 145, 158.15) (< Ven. cavazzal); τὸ μόντε ὄλο (1613, ibid. 846, 738.24) (< Ital. monte) ρίχτουν τὰ ἀλτάρε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 177.18 (< Lat. altare) βάλε δραγάντε εἰς τὸ ροδόσταμα LANDOS, Geopon. 268.12 (< Ital. dragante) ποὺ ἴκάνναν τὰ μουσαβετέ KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 298 (< Turk. müs(e)vedde) τὰ ὀρδενε της χώρας τως (Βενετσάς, Δαμασκηνοῦ Βαρλαάμ 66.28 (< Ven. ordene))

The following examples show isolated attempts at morphological adaptation, with substitution with the genitive ending -ου in κλόμεν; an inversion of φῖε to φέη/φότη, as if the noun belonged to the neuter -ος paradigm (see 2.23.1); and addition of the plural ending -α to παλαφρέ:

εἰς παλαφρέα πανέμνοστα Pol. Tr. 2543 ὅλα τὰ παλαφρέα τους Velis. χ 450 app. crit. (V) καὶ ἔναι λαμπρὰ κλόμεν Lapid. 185.17 εἴκοσι τέσσαρα καβαλλαρίων φέη Chron. Mor. P 1914 εἰκοσιτέσσερις καβαλλαρίων τὰ φότη Chron. Mor. T 1914

The combination <έα> in παλαφρέα may be replaced with <ία>. This may point to synize-sis (see 1.5) or height dissimilation (see I, 2.9.4.3): εἰς παλαφρία ἐκάτσαν Pol. Tr. 1392 app. crit. (V); φαρία εκαβαλικεύασιν και πότε παλαφρία Theseid VI.9,2 (Olsen).

It has an indeclinable masculine variant in the London version of the Achilleid: τοὺς παλαφρέ τους Achil. L 286 and 339, and perhaps a singular in -ές, though it cannot be excluded that the following accusatives are neuter, with addition of /n/: εἰς παλεφρὲν ὀρωτικὸν Theseid I.129,1 (Follieri); ἦτον ἀπάνω σ' πελεφρὲν ibid. V.79,1.

Finally, this noun also developed a masculine alternative in -άς: καλὸν φαριν ἢ παλαφρά Pol. Tr. 2190 app. crit. (B); ἀπὲ τοὺς παλαφράδες Imber. 209.

Foreign nouns that end in a consonant may remain invariable:

εἰς τὸ Παρίς Chron. Mor. H 2139 (< Fr. Paris)

τὸ δικαίωμαν τοῦ ἁρμονιάκ Assizes A 240.3 (< Occit. armoniac); τὸ τέλος τοῦ χαλῆζ ibid.

240.11 (< Turk. hâlis)

μεγάλο δισπλαζίρ VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.3 (< Fr. displaisir); μέγαλον απλαζίρ ibid. 14.5

(< Fr. plaisir)

They are sometimes adapted through addition of -ι(ν) (cf. 2.20.2.2):

καὶ κανέναν δισπλαζίρι νὰ μὲν ἔχουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 516.1–2 αν ἔχεις απλαζίριν VOUSTR., Chron. A 8.12; ἐποίκεν και ἄλλους πολλοὺς πολλὰ απλαζίρια ibid. 42.6

ἀπλαζίριν ἀποὺ τὸ βρομισμένον βίτσιον Fior 73.15

2.24.4 Substantivized Verbal Forms

Certain imperatives of verbs of motion such as prefixed forms of βαίνω (ἀνάβα, διάβα, ἔβγα/ἔξέβα, ἔμπα, κατάβα/κατέβα), as well as ἄμε, ὕπα and ἔλα and sporadically others such as ἀνάστα and δός, can be substantivized and turned into neuter nouns. Some of them even show a certain degree of inflection, to the extent that they can form plural nom. and acc. in -ατα, modelled on the -μα paradigm (for which see 2.21). Addition of final /n/ to nom. and acc. sg., again influenced by the -μα paradigm, may also occur. Genitive forms have not been found in the texts examined:

τὸ ἔβγα τοῦ Ἡρακλῆ ἐκ Περσίδος NIKON, Logos 31 818.11

ἔδω τὸ δός, ἐκεῖ τὸ δός GLYKAS, Stichoï 281; τοῦτο τὸ ἀνάβα τὸ γοργὸν ἔχει καὶ ὀξὺν κατὰβαν ibid. 363 εἰς τὸ ὕπα του Pol. Tr. 715 app. crit. (A) εἰς τὸ ἔμπα τῆς κλεισούρας Chron. Toc. 2392 διὰ τὸ ἔλα τοῦ ἀδλεφοῦ σου (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.4) (for ἀδλεφοῦ see I, 3.9.1) τὸ ἔλα σου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 77; τὸ ἔβγα μας ibid. 392

εἰς τὸ διάβαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 50.12–13

εἰς τὸ ἄμε τῆς ἐγίνην μέγαν κλάμαν Voustr., Chron. B 319.2

ἀπὸ δὼ ἔως τὸ Τάραντον ὕπα καὶ τὸ ἔλα εἰσὶν μίλια υ' (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 82, 67.20)

εἰς τὸ ἔβγα τοῦ Ἡλίου (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 84.11)

εἰς τὸ ἐξέβα του Diig. Alex. F 102.15 (Lolos); ἔως τὸ ἔβγα τοῦ ἡλίου ibid. 284.19–20 τὸ ἔβγαν του Diig. Alex. E 103.15 (Lolos) εἰς τὸ ὕπα ὡσάν καὶ εἰς τὸ ἔλα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 448, 456.10) τὸ ἄμε καὶ ἔλα ἀπὸ τόπον εἰς τόπον RODINOS, Vios Ign. 81.6

ἔκαμε τὸ ἀνάστα ὁ Θεός Paroim. (Warner) 36.19 ἀπὸ τὸ ἔμπα ὦς τοῦ Λουκᾶ τὴν βρύση (1659, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 17A, 129.6) διατὶ εἶναι τὰ ἔμπατα στενὰ Chron. Mor. H 5045; καὶ νὰ κρατοῦν τὰ διάβατα ibid. 6699

ἐκ τὰ διάβατα Spaneas Z 478

ὁμοίως καὶ τὰ διάβατα Chron. Toc. 3616

The “contracted” infinitive φᾶν (< φαγεῖν) may be substantivized, but is used only in nom. and acc. sg.:

νὰ τοῦ δίδη τὸ φᾶν του Assizes B 405.22

κ’ ἔδωκε ὁ νοῦς του πρὸς τὸ φάν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 495 εἰς τὸ φᾶν καὶ τὸ π<ι>εῖν Spanos A 284–5 το φαν ἀπού ὀρδινίασεν VOUSTR., Chron. A 46.15–18

For inflected substantivized infinitives in /i(n)/, see 2.20.

3 Adjectives

3.1 Introduction

Developments in the morphology of adjectives must be viewed in the context of developments in the noun system, since many changes are common to the two systems. For example, the endings of feminine forms of adjectives in -ος coincide with those of feminine nouns in -α or -η and follow the same historical evolution. In other respects the paradigms of adjectives in -ος, with feminine in -η or -α (3.2) are remarkably stable. Two new subtypes with the suffixes -άριος/-άρις and -ένιος (3.2.6–7) come into existence in the medieval period and both are quite productive. We treat them separately from other adjectives in -ος, because some declensional forms undergo synizesis and other phonological developments. The other phenomenon affecting adjectives in -ος is the tendency to keep the stress on the same syllable as the masculine nominative singular (“columnar” stress), i.e. in the case of proparoxytone words, the stress does not move to the penultimate syllable in certain case-forms, as AG accentuation rules would require. The tendency had certainly begun several centuries before the period covered by this Grammar, but forms with stress movement continue to occur in LMedG and to a lesser extent EMG, particularly in texts in a higher or mixed register.

Adjectives that have what were originally 3rd-declension endings, i.e. those in -ύς, -ης and -ων, present a more varied picture; indeed, such adjectives already showed signs of instability in Late Antiquity. While we can observe a tendency to adopt 1st- and 2nd-declension endings for the plural of adjectives in -ύς (which remained in wide use throughout the period; see 3.3.1), those in -ης (oxytone or paroxytone) only rarely exhibit such plural forms, except for masc. acc. pl. -ους. On the other hand analogical changes are more prevalent in singular forms of -ης adjectives (3.3.3). In effect it has become a mixed paradigm, a tendency already apparent in the early Christian centuries. Adjectives in -ων, including “learned” comparative forms such as μείζων, are low-frequency items in LMedG and EMG, except for texts that aim at a more elevated register (3.3.4). Some lexical items, e.g. ἐλεήμων, remain in use in certain contexts, and in these cases various kinds of analogical reformation can be observed (e.g. masc. nom. sg. -ονας from the 14th c.), but no consistent pattern can be determined. In EMG the paradigm has essentially become marginal.

Two new adjectival paradigms appear in the period covered by this Grammar, or slightly earlier: compounds such as μακρυγένης are well attested from the 11th c. onwards, particularly as proper names. The feminine is usually in -α, while two different sets of neuter forms are found (3.4.1). The second new type is oxytone adjectives in -ής, mainly referring to colour or material, which are first recorded in the 13th c. and remain in use in SMG (3.4.3).

Declined participle forms, with the exception of those in -μένος or -μενος, are merely a vestigial feature in LMedG and EMG, more or less confined to documents and some other texts in mixed or higher registers (3.7). Certain morphological innovations can be observed, as well as ad hoc adaptations, and even indeclinable forms. With few exceptions, such declined participles are absent from vernacular literary texts after the 13th c.

The picture offered by the comparative forms of adjectives in the period that concerns us is extremely varied. New ways of forming analytical comparatives and superlatives come into existence, exhibiting a significant degree of regional variation (3.8). The absolute superlative in -τατος also remains in quite widespread use in LMedG and EMG and, since new lexical items can acquire such forms, it is clearly still productive (3.8.7).

In addition to the paradigms discussed above, a number of “irregular” adjectives inherited from AG preserve many of their forms but may also acquire “regularized” forms as a result of analogical processes: ἥμισυς (3.3.2.1), θήλυς (3.3.2.2), μέγας (3.6.1), πολλός (3.6.2), and comparatives in -ων such as πλείων and καλλίων (3.8.6).

For an overview of the main developments in the morphology of adjectives see HORROCKS ²2010: 289–92.

3.2 Adjectives in -ος

3.2.1 Adjectives in -ος with Feminine -η

This category of adjectives is very large, productive, and remarkably stable in terms of its morphology throughout the period of the Grammar, and indeed to the present day. We include here all types of adjective that have masculine -ος and feminine -η (with the exception of those with the suffix -ένιος, for which see 3.2.7), irrespective of whether they are oxytone, paroxytone or proparoxytone.¹ Consequently, the following are also covered in this section:

- a) adjectives formed with a variety of suffixes such as -ινος, -ινός, -άτος, -ούτσικος, -ικος, -ικός (but see below for κρητικός, which can have a feminine in -ιά);
- b) adjectives transferred from other categories (by metaplasm), such as ἀκριβός, εὐπρεπός, εὐτυχός, καλόθελος, πανεύγενος, πανεύτυχός, παμμέγεθος, ψευδός, all from adjectives in -ης (see PAPANASTASIOU 1992); γλυκός from γλυκύς (see 3.3.1); παράφρονος, ἀλάζονος etc. from adjectives in -ων (see 3.3.4); and a few other words, such as ἄρπαγος from AG ἄρπαξ, or μελανός from μέλας (see ΚΡΙΑΡΑΣ, Lex. s.vv.);
- c) participles in -μένος (perfect passive), -όμενος, -ούμενος, and -άμενος (present passive; for the connecting vowels /u/ and /a/ with stems of barytone verbs, see III, 2.3);
- d) absolute superlatives in -ότατος, -ύτατος and -έστατος.

We also include here adjectives that were “two-termination” in AG, i.e. there was no separate set of endings for feminine gender (e.g. ταλαίπωρος). A tendency for such adjectives to acquire separate feminine forms is observed from the Koine onwards (JANNARIS 1897: 115; GIGNAC 1981: 105–13; HORROCKS 2010: 289–90). By the period covered by this Grammar, two-termination adjectives had normally been brought into line with the dominant paradigm, having three terminations -ος, -η, -ο(ν). (For those that have fem. -α, or fluctuate between -α and -η, see 3.2.2 and 3.2.3.) However, in certain contexts or registers the use of masculine endings for feminine referents can still be found throughout the period. For examples, see 3.2.4.

¹ We exclude originally three-termination adjectives in -ος (including comparative forms) where the preceding phoneme is /r/. For these see 3.2.3.

A few adjectives in -ος move over to the -ύς paradigm: μακρός > μακρύς and πικρός > πικρύς/πικρύς.² Both older forms from masculine singular -ός and newer forms from -ύς exist for these two words in the period covered by this Grammar. The latter forms are dealt with in 3.3.1, while examples of the former will be given below.

One other adjective requires discussion at this point, since it presents some peculiarities, but does not conform fully to two different paradigms: ζερβός, “left”. Although its etymology has not been satisfactorily explained (KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.), it exists as a personal name already in the 11th c.: Ἰωάννης ὁ τοῦ Ζερβοῦ (1071, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 40, 127.35). In the following examples it follows the -ος, -η, -ο(ν) paradigm quite regularly:

τῆς ζερβῆς μεριᾶς (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 49, 40.6) τὸ ζερβόν Ag. Nik. Strat. 44.48 τὴν ζερβὴν Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 95.20 τὴν ζερβὴν χεῖραν (1539, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 1158, 895.8) τὸ ζερβόν SOFIANOS, Paidag. 103.11 εἰς τὴν ζερβὴ μερὰ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 341, 334–335.1) στή ζερβή σας χέρα Pist. voskos I.5.107 τὴ ζερβή μου χέρα Stathis III.224; τὸν πόδα τὸ ζερβόν ibid. III.204 ἀπὸ τὴν ζερβὴν του μεράν Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1631) 231.6 εἰς τὴν ζερβὴ μερέα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 49.28 εἰς τὸ ζερβὸ μέρος τῆς ἐκκλησίας (17th c., Kefalonia, TZANNETATOS 1965: 2, 102.10); τοῦ Ζερβοῦ (ibid. 118.16) εἰς τὸ ζερβὸ μου πόδαν (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 183.49)

There is also a form ζαρβός, found in texts from Cyprus and Rhodes:

εἰς τὸν ζαρβὸν ρέτινον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 310.10 εἰς τὴν χέραν τὴν ζαρβὴν Alosis 1023

Forms of the feminine singular with -έα or -ία/-ιά begin to appear in the 16th c. The first examples are in a ms of the Theseid (ca. 1500), another is from a ms of the Alexander Romance, and two are from the 1547 Constantinopolitan Pentateuch:³

εἰς τὴν ζερβία του τὴν μερίαν Theseid VI.38,1 and VI.48,1 (Olsen) ἀπὸ τὴν ζερβίαν Diig. Alex. E 147.20 (Lolos) ἔχων μὲν εἰς τὴν ζερβίαν ἰστίαν FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 508 εἰς τὴ ζερβιά Pent. Gen. 13.9; τὴ ζερβιά του τοῦ φάρδου της ibid. Gen. 48.14

² In SMG ἑλαφρός and ἑλαφρύς are both in use. In the LMedG and EMG texts we have examined, almost invariably the form is ἑλαφρός (or ἀλαφρός); a single 17th-c. mention of (ἐ)λαφρύς (written -ής), fem. (ἐ)λαφριά has been found: agile, leggiere, λαφρή, ἑλαφρός, ὁ. Fem. λαφριά, ἑλαφρή, ἡ GERMANO, Vocab. s.v.

³ For a form ζερβέα in a verse text by Arsenios of Elasson (16th–17th c.), see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.

In three of the above instances the antonym δεξιά(ν) occurs in balancing phrases in the immediate context, and it is surely that parallelism that gives rise to the change of ending. Compare also: ὑπάγει ὡς τὴν ζερβιὰν μεριὰν (17th c., Kefalonia, TZANNETATOS 1965: 2, 102.23) and ἀπὸ τὴν ζερβιὰν μεριὰν (RODINOS, Vios Ign. 96.22). Masculine and neuter forms in -ύς, -ύ(ν) (often spelled with <ι>) emerge later:

τὸ ζερβί του μέρι MONTSEL., Evgena 850

μὲ τὸ ζερβί τὸ χέρι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §35.4; τὸν ζερβὺν ὥμον ibid. III §18.11

Finally, we may note an odd feminine form with -αν, again parallel with δεξιάν, occurring in a 16th-c. text: εἰς τὴν δεξιάν του τὴν μεριὰν καὶ εἰς τὴν ζερβάν του KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 181.7; εἰς τὴν ζερβάν ibid. 217.20.

Some other oxytone adjectives in -ός occur with alternative feminine singular forms that are normally associated with adjectives in -ύς (see 3.3.1); examples will be given below. In the case of στριγγός, “shrill”, the texts present alternative forms (of the accusative): στριγγή(ν) and στριγγιά(ν) (or στριγγέαν).

στριγγέαν φωνίτσαν ἔσυρεν Arm. 46; στριγγίαν φωνὴν ἐλάλησεν ibid. 71 στριγγιάν φωνὴν ἐφώναξεν Achil. L 145 στριγγὴν φωνὴν ἐλάλησαν Chron. Mor. H 1014 (στρηγγκοιά T); ibid. H 1784 (στρην γκία T); στριγγὴν φωνίτσαν ἔσυρεν ibid. H 4061 (στριγγέαν P, στρὴνγκιά T), H 4817⁴

The forms στριγγέαν and στριγγίαν (which are, in metrical terms, disyllabic) occur in Armouris, preserved in two 15th-c. mss (one of which is dated 1461); στριγγιά(ν) is found in ms L of the Achilleid (second half of the 15th c.), and a few times in the 16th-c. mss (P and T) of the Chronicle of Morea. However, the oldest ms of the Chronicle (H, 14th c.) always has στριγγήν. The word always occurs in a formulaic phrase with φωνή or φωνίτσα. It seems that στριγγή and στριγγιά function as alternative feminine forms of (presumably) στριγγός, an adjective that has not otherwise been found in our texts.

Other adjectives in -ός that have been found with feminine -ιά, in the texts examined, are ἀντρικός, κακός, κρητικός, ξενικός and (perhaps) σπλαχνικός:

σπλαχνικιά, σὰ θέλει ἡ τέχνη, νὰ ᾿σαι CHORTATIS, Katz. II.322 (ex corr. ms σπλαχνικά)

τῆς κυρα-Σοφίας τῆς Κρητικιάς (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: I, 114.56) τῆς Κρητικιάς (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 110.8)

τῆς κρητικιάς τῆς Ἀννεζίνας (1670, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1981: 2, 286.28–9)

τὴν ξενικιά γαδάρα (1680, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 1665, 976.31)

ἡ κερά Μαρκέτα ἡ κρητικιά (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 16, 162.7); τῆς

κρητικιάς γυνῆς τοῦ Κάπου Κωνσταντῆν (1682, ibid. 241, 427.3); εἰς τὴν ἀντρικιά μεριά (1684, ibid. 437, 661.16)

Φραντζοῦ Πενταβοπούλλα Κρητικιά (1681, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 28, 59.3)

μὴ ἔχεις τίποτας καρδιά κακιά ἀπάνου μου (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 54.7) στέκει ἐκεῖ εἰκόνα ... κρητικιά (17–18th c., Sinai, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 35, 140.11)

ἦτανε καὶ πρωτύτερα ἀμαρτωλή, καὶ Κρητικιά SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 42.14

⁴ Further examples of στριγγὴν occur at Chron. Mor. H 4379, 5117 and 5439. Cf. στριγγή φωνὴν ἐλέγασιν Moirol. Konst. 110.

There is also a proparoxytone adjective that occurs with fem. -ια: ρωμέ(ι)κος. One example has been found: ἄφησα ἕνα σεντούκι στὴν ἐκκλησίᾳ τῇ ρωμέκῃ (1699?, Λνόν?, ΠΑΠΑΣΤΡΑΤΟΥ 1981: 9, 66.10–11) (author from Smyrna).

These examples are from 17th- or 18th-c. texts (the ms of Soumakis is actually from the 19th c.), but they cover a wide geographical span: the Heptanese, Cyclades, Smyrna, Thessaloniki. They seem to be the first examples of a phenomenon familiar in SMG affecting a small group of adjectives most of which have a stem ending in a velar consonant, e.g. βρόμικος, κακός, μαλακός, φτωχός, and the emphatic possessive δικός (μου): they have an alternative feminine form in -ια/-ιά.⁵ It would be difficult to regard the alternative feminine forms of στριγγός as early examples of the same phenomenon, in view of their isolated occurrence and formulaic context (always with the noun φωνή or its diminutive φωνίτσα). All other adjectives with stems ending in velars have only feminine -η in the texts examined. Examples are incorporated in the discussion below.

Returning to the “normal” -ος, -η, -ο(ν) paradigm, we can observe that allomorphic variation, excluding the usual fluctuation of final /n/, is limited to the following:

- 1) The feminine plural forms in the nominative and accusative appear with the inherited endings -αι and -ας as well as the newer ending -ες (nom. and acc.), frequently spelled -αις in our sources and in older editions. The change is exactly parallel to that which occurred with feminine nouns in -η and -α. This levelling of originally 1st- and 3rd-declension endings seems to have begun in the period of the Koine, but substantial evidence from written texts only becomes available from the LMedG period onwards (HORROCKS ²2010: 286–7).
- 2) In the case of proparoxytone adjectives there is a possibility of stress movement to the penultimate syllable. The quantity rules of AG did not allow the accent to fall earlier than the penultimate when the last vowel was long. Consequently, for the -ος, -η, -ο(ν) adjective paradigm, the accent of proparoxytone words moved obligatorily to the penultimate syllable with the endings -η(ν), -ου, -ης, -ους, -ας and -ων, as well as in all datives. The tendency to keep the stress on the same syllable for all forms may perhaps be observed in forms such as ἀναμάρτητου, τυραννούμενων, ἄγιων, ἄδικοις, found in 6th-c. hymnographic texts by Romanos (MAAS/TRYPANIS 1963: 514–15). Because accents were rarely marked in texts such as documentary papyri (GIGNAC 1976: 326–7), and since copyists may have “corrected” accentuation “errors” in lower-register texts, it is impossible to conclude a more precise dating for this tendency towards fixed, or “columnar”, stress (which is the norm in MG).⁶ Early examples of fixed stress include:

ἔγγραφην (984, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 9, 7.8)

πλησίον τοῦ Ὀλιγούτζικου (1100–10, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 53, 260.126)

⁵ See HOLTON et al. ²2012: 91. For alternative explanations of this development as either analogical or phonological, see CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 69–70 and B 520, TSOPANAKIS 1994: 256 and THOMADAKI 2001.

⁶ The 17th-c. grammarian Germano cites the absolute superlative forms ἀγιώτατος, ἀγιώτατη (sic) (GERMANO, Grammar 56.5) and adds the following comment: “ma la Greca volgare lascia l’Accento, doue era, & non lo muta; per ciò dice, ἀγιώτατος, ἀγιώτατη, santissimo, santissima, ἄδικος, ἄδικη, ingiusto, ingiusta. & nell’ Accusativo plurale ἄδικους, ingiusti, douendosi dire, ἄδίκους. Quelli però che vogliono parlar politamente, s’accomodano alla regola, & dicono ἡ ἀγιωτάτη, καὶ μακαριωτάτη παρθένος.”

κόκκινη Ptoch. IV 177 app. crit. (H)

ἄρετὴν γλυκύτατην Diig. sevast. Thom. 73; ἡδονὴν τερπνότατην ibid. 321 γενναῖκα ὕπανδρη Assizes B 282.18 ἦτον ἡ κόρη φρόνιμη Pol. Tr. 273 app. crit. (X) ἀμέριμνη Assizes A 167.14

However, stress movement, in accordance with AG rules, is frequently found in texts in higher or mixed registers.

- 3) The addition of final /e/ to the masculine accusative singular and genitive plural is a geographically restricted phenomenon, which occurs in the Heptanese and certain other areas. (See I, 2.6.3.) It affects only oxytone and paroxytone adjectives.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	καλός	καλή	καλό(ν)
Gen.	καλοῦ	καλῆς ἢ -ος	καλοῦ
Acc.	καλό(ν) ἢ καλόνε	καλή(ν)	καλό(ν)
Voc.	καλέ	καλή ἢ (καλέ?)	καλό(ν)

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	καλοί	καλές ἢ καλαί	καλά
Gen.	καλῶ(ν) ἢ καλῶνε ἢ καλούς	καλῶ(ν) ἢ (καλῶνε)	καλῶ(ν)
Acc.	καλούς	καλές ἢ καλάς	καλά
Voc.	καλοί	καλές	(καλά)

The tables below present both unaccented endings and accented (oxytone) ones, although the actual endings do not otherwise differ.

Singular

Masculine

M	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	-ος ἢ -ός
Gen.	-ου ἢ -οῦ		-ο
Acc.	-ο(ν) ἢ -ό(ν)	-ονε ἢ -όνε
Voc.	-ε ἢ -έ

The masculine singular forms exhibit little allomorphy: in the accusative singular the final /n/ is frequently omitted, except in higher-register texts; and a geographically restricted form with added /e/ also occurs.

Nominative

The form is unchanged throughout the period:

ἦν γὰρ ὁ τόπος ἔρημος, ἄβατος Dig. G V.40 πτωχοῦλλικός MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 86.26 ζωντανὸς κι ἀποθαμμένος Cypr. Canz. 69.16 ἄνδρας σκανδαλοποιὸς, μανιώδης, μνησικάκος, ἄρπαγος Chron. Ps.-Dorothe. (1572) 79 ἦτον δὲ καὶ κατὰ πολλὰ ἄσχημος Vios Aisop. K 147.7 ὁποῦ ἦτονε πρωτύτερα τυφλωμένος Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.27 νὰ τὸ φθιάνη ἐκεῖνος μοναχὸς τοῦ (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 853, 744.9)

Genitive

Forms with fixed stress are rare before the 15th/16th c. (but see above for a 12th.-c. example); despite the scarcity of examples in the texts examined, they must have existed in informal use.

τ' ἀνήμερου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 225 πᾶσα ἐνός μου νόμιμου συγγενοῦ (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 148, 267.34) τοῦ ἀτυχώτατου ποδότα ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 563 τοῦ ποτὲ εὐγενέστατου μας Πιέρου (1612, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 7, 361.3–4) τοῦ εὐμορφου τοῦ νέου Diig. Alex. Sem. S 91
 τοῦ πανοσιότατου ἱερομόναχου (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 3, 176.14)

Stress movement seems to be particularly favoured in absolute superlative forms and in titles:

παρὰ τοῦ εὐγενεστάτου ἄρχοντος FALIEROS, Thrinios tit.
 τοῦ γενναιοτάτου καὶ ἀνδρικοτάτου μεγάλου βελισσαρίου (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 10, 19.22) τοῦ γλυκυτάτου μου Χριστοῦ VEST., Pathi 112
 τοῦ γαληνοτάτου πριγκίπου IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 337.32

There is a rare instance of a genitive in -ο, which may be a simple scribal error: τοῦ Σταυρομένο (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 18, 61.31). Alternatively, it may be an extension of the -ο genitive of masc. nouns in -ος (unusually) to a word of Greek origin (see the editors' note, ibid. 64, and this volume, 2.1.2).

Accusative

The form occurs with and without final /n/ throughout the period:

ἔναν σας καλὸν χρήσιμον καβαλάρην (1490, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 22, 109.13–14) τὸν εὐγενέστατον Chron. Mor. P 2422 ἐχάσετε τὸ δάσκαλο τὸν πολυαγαπημένο FALIEROS, Thrinios 90 μὲ ἀφέντην ξευράμενον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 374.25 ἀέραν χρυσοκόκκινον (1557, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 11, κς'.52) ἔχομε κουρσεμένον τὸν μισὸν Μορέαν (1571, Mani, CHASIOITIS 1970: 6.1, 241.18) φοβιζάμενη τὸν πικρύτατον θάνατον (1646, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 22, 163.6)

In texts from the Heptanese and Peloponnese, forms with addition of final /e/ can be found (see I, 2.6.3):

ζουρλόνε τονέ λέσι CHORTATIS, Katz. I.158 (ms from the Heptanese) τὸν ἐγνωρίσαμε οὐλοῖ ἐμπιστεμένονε, ἀληθινόνε καὶ ἄξιο (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 307.20) ἐκεῖνος ὅπου εἶχε παχτωμένονε (1678, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 246, 222.35) νὰ μὴν τονε ἀφήση χέρισονε (1708, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 47, 83.8) (= χέρσον) καλύτερὰ ἔχει τοὺς πολλοὺς παρὴ ἓνα μοναχόνε KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.676

Vocative

The ending is invariably -ε:

ἀήττητε μονάρχα Eisit. f.1v.2
 φίλτατε Dig. G II.275 ἀμὴ ἂν θέλῃς, υἱὲ καλέ, Arm. 9 μακρόρουρε, μακρόμυτε, μεγαλομουστακάτε Diig. tetr. 127 ὦ βασιλεῦ παγκάκιστε, ἀνόσιε διώκτη Flor. L 732 (Cupane) πᾶσα χάριν γεμάτε ἀφέντη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 640.24 ἐγνώρισε, σερενίσιμε ἀφέντη (1571, Mani, CHASIOITIS 1970: 6.1, 241.13–14) ἔπτωχέ MOREZINOS, Klini 29.22 ὕστερινέ μου λογισμέ καὶ νὰ σέ εἶχα πρώτα Paroim. (Warner) 80.18 ἐκλεχτὲ ἄρχο χαριτωμένε FOSKOLOS, Fort. Dedic. 34 εσύ τρελέ δασκαλάκη Don Kis. 145.11–12

Special mention should be made of the word μωρέ, originally the masculine singular vocative of the adjective μωρός.⁷ Examples with masculine referents (or explicit masculine nouns) abound throughout the period:

μωρέ, φέρε τὸ ἵππάρι μου, μωρέ, τὸν τουρκομάνον Chron. Mor. H 4819 μωρὲ Σαρακηνέ Arm. 58 μωρέ, πάντες σὲ ξεύρουσιν Poulol. 241 μωρὲ σπανέ Spanos A 244
 γρικά, μωρὲ βαρόμοιρε FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.226; καὶ ἄμε, μωρέ, ρουφιάνευγε ibid. III.520

In LMedG the word has taken on the function of an exclamation or form of address (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.); by the end of our period it can be found with all genders and numbers, e.g. χτυπᾶτε, μωρὲ παιδιὰ, τοὺς παλιομουρτάτηδες! EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 59.14–15.

Feminine

F	General	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-η ἰ -ή
Gen.	-ης ἰ -ῆς	-ος
Acc.	-η(ν) ἰ -ή(ν)

⁷ This adjective has been classified here, rather than with other adjectives in -πος (for which see 3.2.3), because it does not occur with fem. -α in the LMedG and EMG texts we have examined.

The paradigm is stable throughout the period, apart from the usual fluctuation of final /n/ in the accusative. Forms of the genitive in -ος occur in verse romances and may be seen as a literary cliché or analogical formations.

Nominative

There is no variation in the ending, and forms without stress movement, e.g. κόκκινη, occur already in verse texts dating from the 12th c. (though the mss are of later date):

- καθέζομαι γυμνή και παραπτονεμένη Ptoch. I 54; κόκκινη μεγάλη φιλομήλα ibid. IV 177 app. crit. (H) διότι θέλω γενῶ ἐγνώριμη με ἐσέναν Pol. Tr. 334 app. crit. (A) ἡ γλώσσα ἡ γλυκύτατη PLOUSIAD., Thrinos 10 (Vasileiou) αὐλή και ἀφθαρτή DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 153 ἡ φλόγινη ρομφαία Diig. Alex. K 368.29–30 ἡ θηλυκὴ δαγκάνει τὴν ἀρσενικὴν ὀχία KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 149.8 Στραβὴ πόρτα (16th c., Constantinople, PREGER 1912: 470.11) πᾶσα παρακάλεσι ἀπρακτὴ και ἀνωφέλετη Pist. kekoim. 160 φοβούμενη (1561, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 64, 53.5) ἡ στερινὴ ἡ γραφή (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.15) καὶ τούτῃ θέλω νὰ στέκει και νὰ ἔνε φέρμη (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 79.2)⁸ χοντρή, γεμάτη, γερὴ PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.174

Movement of stress from the antepenultimate syllable to the penultimate may be due to a variety of factors, such as a more formal register or metrical convenience, as in the following two examples:

- ἦτον ἐτούτῃ ἐξαίρετῃ, ὁμορφοτάτῃ DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1802
 ἡ μεγαλειοτάτῃ ἀρχόντισσα (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 74.5)

Genitive

As in the other cases, stress movement may or may not occur:

- τῆς Ἄρκτου τῆς μικροῦτζικης τὰ ὀπισθεν τὰ μέρη KAMAT., Astron. 527 τῆς ἀγιοτάτης και θεοφρουρήτης ἀγίας μονῆς (1142, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 133, 176.4–5) τῆς δίγνωνης DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1519 μετὰ και πρασίνης τζόχας SFRANTZIS, Chron. 56.21 θυγατρὸς νόθης τοῦ ποτὲ κύρ Λέω (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 17, 31.22)⁹ τῆς ἀναθρεφθῆς μου τῆς Νικολοῦς (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 2, 22.8) τῆς φρόνιμης και δόκιμης Diig. Alex. F 202.15 (Lolos) ἔμορφης θεωρίας Chron. Toc. 350; σύντομης καρδίας ibid. 379 τῆς προειπωμένης κερα-Λένας (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 396, 369.4) ἀχαμνῆς φύσεως ἀνθρωπος ἦτον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §21.6
 αὐτηνῆς τῆς ευγενικῆς αὐθέντρας Bertoldin. 164.15–16

⁸ For a further example of the loanword φέρμος (< Ital. fermo) with fem. -η, see below under Accusative. The word is frequent in Cretan documents.

⁹ In the documents of the same notary, we find a single example of a fem. form of νόθος with /a/: τῆς θυγατρὸς μου τῆς νόθας (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 217.14). It may perhaps be the result of influence from the higher-register nom. and acc. pl. forms νόθαι, νόθας.

A few instances of feminine genitive singular in -ος are found in texts belonging to the genre of romance.¹⁰ In all cases the adjective is preceded by the definite article; all the adjectives are compounds and all refer to a woman's exceptional beauty. As compounds, these words are often used with two terminations (i.e. masculine endings are also used for the feminine), especially in higher or mixed-register texts (see 3.2.4). The genitive ending -ος may be modelled on either AG 3rd-declension nouns or the new 2nd-declension feminine nouns in -ο (ή Ἑγριπο, gen. τῆς Ἑγριπος, see 2.1 and especially 2.1.3). Four examples have been found:

- τῆς βεργόλικος Dig. E 1579 τῆς παράξενος κουρτέσας τῆς ροδάμνης Liv. V post 4015 app. crit.
 τῆς παράξενος Liv. E 825
 τῆς ἐξαίρετος Σεμιράμης Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1308

Accusative

The forms are essentially the same as the nominative, except that final /n/ may be added.

- τὴν μεγάλην κουτουλὴν καρέα (1090–4, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 45, 164.50) μὴν με ἀφήσης μοναχὴ Dig. A 2624 πετρίνην γνώμην [ANDR. PALAIOI.], Kallim. 746 τὴν ἀναθρεφθὴ μου τὴν Νικολοῦ (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 2, 22.12) εἶναι ὀπλεγάδος νὰ δίδῃ φέρμην ἰντάδα (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 330, 312.4) μιὰ γαϊδάρα μαύρη (1611, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 126, 122.9) me fonin athropinin / με φωνὴν ἀθροπινὴν BAROZZI, Letter 358.11 θαυματουργὴ εἰκόνα Pist. voskos I 2.233; με καρδιὰν τρεμάμενην περίσσια ibid. V 7.40 μετετέθη ... εἰς ρομαίικην ὁμιλίᾳ (1630, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 111, 222.18) τὴ στραβὴ εἰς τ' ἀκρωτήρι, γαῖτανόφρυδὴ τὴ λέσι Paroim. (Warner) 110.22 στήν πελελὴν ὀλπίδα KORNAROS, Erot. III.12 εἰς δυνατὴν καὶ σκοτεινὴν φυλακὴν SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 55.19

Proparoxytone forms (without movement of stress) are common in all kinds of text:

- χαρὰν ἐξαίρετην Dig. E 592
 εἰς λέξιν ἀκριβέστατην Velis. χ 561 τὴν βασιλίσσαν ὠραιότατη Diig. Alex. F 22.19 (Konstantinopulos) κοκκινόξανθην φορεσίαν Vios Aisop. K 196.29 τὴν γλυκιὰν καὶ χαϊράμενην ὄψιν MOREZINOS, Klini 68.36 συνταρχίαν ἄπειρην Chron. Toc. 337 με χαρούμενην ψυχὴν Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 39 κ' ἔρημη τὴν ἀφῆσαν DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 318 με μεγαλώτατη φωνὴ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1056 τὴν μαρότατη τοῦ Σατανᾶ φιλενάδα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 26.9–10

¹⁰ A similar example occurs in a document from Naxos, unless the epithet of the Virgin Mary is here indeclinable: τῆς Κεῤῥᾶς μας τῆς Ἀγγελολαίρετιστος (1576, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 79, 98.20).

Vocative

The forms are identical to the nominative:

ἔδ᾽ συνάξου, λογισμέ καὶ λεπτινή μου γνώση Diig. Ven. 1 ὀρωτική, ἐξαίρετη κουρτέσσα Achil. N 935 ταλαίπωρη κόρη Ag. Nik. Strat. 43.25–6 τί κλαίεις, κακότυχη; ΠΑΡΑ-ΛΑΥΡ., Diigisis (Meteoron) 126.29 μοίρα κακή κι ἀντίδικη CHORTATIS, Erof. III.9 πατρίδα κακοτύχιστη καὶ χώρα τοῦ Ρεθύμνου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 195.10 γλυκυτάτη | γυνή μου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 933–4 εὐμορφή μου σινιόρα Don Kis. 51.8

The form of address μωρή, often combined with another feminine adjective, or participle or noun, is particularly common:

μωρή καμήλα μυσερή Diig. tetr. 796 σύρε, φέρε μου, μωρή Kakop. 103 μωρή, κάνεις ἐκεῖνο ποῦ σοῦ ἴπα ἢ νὰ σὲ σκοτώσω (1579, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 7, 97.34–5) μωρή, μωρή, τ' ἀντροῦ σου | μὴν κάνης τέτοιαν ἐντροπή CHORTATIS, Katz. V.54 γειά σου, στήν πίστη μου, μωρή FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.361 νένα μωρή καημένη KORNAROS, Erot. III.1246 app. crit. (A)

Neuter

N	General
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ο(ν) ἰ -ό(ν)
Gen.	-ου ἰ -οῦ

Apart from the fact that final /n/ may be deleted, the endings are unchanged from AG.

Nominative

ὡς δένδρον ἔμνοστούτζικον Flor. L 643 (Cupane) ἦτον κι ἐτοῦτο πρὸς ἐμᾶς χρειαζόμενο μαντάτο! FALIEROS, Thrinos 238 ἔναι τὸ ὄνειρόν μου ψευδὸν Diig. Alex. F 66.8 (Konstantinopulos) τὸ μεγαλώτατο βασίλειο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 57.26 νὰ γένη ξύδι καλότατον LANDOS, Geopon. 244.19–20 βολετόν δὲν ἦτονε KONST. ΔΙΑΚ., Ist. Makaritou Marko 76 ἔνα καράβι Τούρκικο (1681, Genoa, ΒΑΥΑΚΑΚΟΣ 1988b: 506.15)

Genitive

ἐκ γένους χαμηλότατου Velis. χ 29
 μέχρι μακροῦ τοῦ γήρους Achil. N 352
 τοῦ νοθογέννητου παιδίου DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 791 ἐνὸς καραβίου χοντροῦ (16th c., DELATTE 1946: 493.12)

The following examples (from the 16th and early 18th c. respectively) have shift of stress, which is often associated with a higher register:

τὸ ἐμπαντίκιον τοῦ λεγομένου χωραφίου (1557, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 11 [later copy], 64.23) του ἀνθρωπίνου γένους Don Kis. 11.4

Accusative

τὸ ἐν ἀργυρὸν καὶ τὸ ἕτερον κασσιτέρινον (1189, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: App. II, 210.51) καρυδάτον ὀλιγὸν Ptoch. IV 329 ἀλλάζονον ἀλλάγιν Pol. Tr. 8955 < ἀλαζών τί καλὸν ἐμπόρουν νὰ σοῦ ποίσω; FALIEROS, Thrinis 196 μεγαλώτατον προικιὸν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 330.30 πᾶσα φύλλον | τρεμούμενον Pist. voskos IV 2.26–7 δὸς μου τὸ ψωμί τὸ ἀγορασμένον GERMANO, Grammar 54.3
 νὰ παίρνῃ τόσο ὑποστατικὸ ἀρεσούμενὸ τῆς (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: I, 114.70) ἔχω μερικὸ κηρὶ ἔτοιμο (1697, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 42, 228.5) καὶ λὲν πῶς τὸ ἔχει φυσικὸ KORNAROS, Erot. III.36

Vocative

τέκνον μου ποθεινότατον Dig. E 228 and 561 ὦ Γεροσόλυμα πτωχόν, ὦ σπῖτι τοῦ Θεοῦ μου FALIEROS, Thrinis 73 ὦ ἀπίστο καὶ ατὶμητο ριζικὸ ἐδικὸ μου! Diig. Alex. K 363.14 τέκνο σπλαχνικὸ Thysia Avr. 767 ὦ πελελὸ κοπέλι Pist. voskos I 1.79 τέκνο κακὸ καὶ πῖβουλο, τοῖ πονηριῆς γεμάτο KORNAROS, Erot. IV.431

Plural

Masculine

M	General	Restricted
Nom./Voc.	-οι -οί
Gen.	-ων -ῶν	-ω -ῶ -ωνε -ῶνε -ους -ούς
Acc.	-ους -ούς

The basic endings are completely stable: -οι, -ων, -ους. Proparoxytone adjectives may exhibit stress movement to the penultimate syllable in the accusative and genitive (see above). This can also occur in the nominative, by analogy with the other cases, or on the model of proparoxytone masculine nouns in -ος, or possibly (in verse texts) for metrical reasons. In the genitive a number of regionally restricted phenomena come into play: deletion of final /n/ (mainly in Cretan texts; see I, 3.7.2.2); addition of /e/ (Heptanesian, Peloponnesian, Cretan); and substitution of the ending -ους, for animate referents (Cypriot; see 1.2).

Nominative

εἰ μὲν ἀνάξιοι εἴμεθα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 140.21 τὸ χαρτὴν τὸ ἐπεύσασιν οἱ εὔπρεπτοι ἄνθρωποι (1456, Unknown, TSIRPANLIS 1986: 1, 221.1)
 (the adjective has no accentuation in the ms) γαῖδάροι πουλιέζικοι Spanos D 1196; οἱ πονηρευόμενοι σπανοί ibid. D 1330 κρᾶζονται φεγγαριασμένοι Fior 113.5–6 οἱ καστρινοί Diig. Alex. K 354.24 οἱ ξένοι καὶ οἱ πτωχοῦλλικοί Pist. kekoim. 545 ἐσηκώθησαν ὅλοι οἱ αὐθένται ὀρθοί Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 17–18 ἐπομείνα κοντέντοι καὶ ἀνεπαμένοι καὶ οἱ δύο μερίδες (1573, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17 [later copy], 72.39)
 αὐτὸ τὸ κάμουσι οἱ μωροὶ καὶ λωλοὶ PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.1

In the following examples, which come from texts of different genres and provenances, from the 15th c. onwards, the stress moves from the antepenultimate to the penultimate; where this occurs at the end of a line of political verse, metrical convenience is a possible factor, but there are also instances from prose texts such as Machairas and Kartanos (cf. proparoxytone masc. nouns in -ος, 2.1.3):

- φρονίμοι Pol. Tr. 488 app. crit. (A) (end of verse); ὁ γὰρ λαὸς ὁ ἡμέτερος σοῦ εἶναι ἀντιδικοί ibid. 2575 app. crit. (AX) (end of verse); οἱ περιφανεστάτοι ibid. 3194 app. crit. (BV) (end of verse) καὶ φίλοι καὶ γνωρίμοι Achil. N 742; cf. οἱ ἀγοῦροι ibid. 1007 οἱ φρονίμοι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 30 οἱ καταδικοί του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 44.4 οἱ ἄρρωστοι KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 211.25 οἱ φρονίμοι Diig. Alex. Sem. B 601 (end of verse)

Genitive

The usual form has the ending -ων, with stress movement to the penultimate in the case of proparoxytone adjectives:

- ἀπὸ τῶν αὐτόθι ἐρχομένων (1361, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 262, 552.28–9) ἑτέρων ἀληθεστάτων πλησιαστάδων (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 4, 151.11) τῶν ἀθέων Τούρκων CHEILAS, Chron. 347.8–9 τῶν ἀδυνάτων (1545, Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 2, 99.15) τῶν κατωγεγραμμένων καὶ παρακαλεμένων μαρτύρων (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 9, 31.3) τῶν τρελῶν καλογέρων (1692, Bucharest, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 4, 50.13) τὸν χαῖμὸ τῶν ὁμοφύλων EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.21

Forms without stress movement are not uncommon:

- χρήσιμων ἀνθρώπων Chron. Mor. H 2416 παρὰ σαλῶν καὶ ἄτακτων ἀνθρώπων ἐδιδάχθη Dig. E 1565 τῶν νόμιμων καὶ ἀξιόπιστων μαρτύρων (1690, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 9, 23.23)

Deletion of final /n/ occurs mainly in texts from southern areas, particularly Crete, e.g.

- φτωχῶ καὶ ἀνήμπορῳ FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 36 ἀμαρτωλῶ σωτηρία (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 483.34) κατέμπροστε ἐμοῦ νοταρίου καὶ τῶν ὑποκάτωθε ὑπογεγραμμένῳ τιμίων μαρτύρῳ (1685, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 362.2–3) τῷ φρόνιμῳ καὶ τῷ γραμματισμένῳ KORNAROS, Erot. III.166

The contrary phenomenon, addition of /e/ to the genitive plural, is found in texts from the Heptanese and certain other areas (see I, 2.6.3):

- τῶν πτωχῶνε (1509, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1950: 1, 144.11)
 ἐμπιστῶνε ἀθρώπωνε (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 73, 81.5–6)

In Cypriot texts we find the ending -ους (see 1.2), e.g. εἰς χεῖρας τοὺς καλοπίχερους Assizes A 122.12.

Accusative

The ending -ους is invariable:

ἐκ τούς ἐπιλεγμένους Ptoch. (Maiuri) 46 τοὺς δύο ἀκρινούς (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 60, 48.2) ἄρχοντας πλούσιους καὶ πτωχοὺς μικροὺς τε καὶ μεγάλους Byz. Il. 1086 καλοὺς, φρονίμους, γέροντες Diig. Alex. Sem. S 228

Forms without movement of stress are common in texts from at least the 14th c. onwards:

λουλοὺς τοὺς ἔχω κι ἄτυχους Chron. Mor. H 3889; ἀνθρώπους ἐλαφρότατους, φρόνιμους, παιδευμένους ibid. P 6972 εὐτολμούς, ἀνδρειωμένους Velis. χ 91 app. crit. (N) εἰς τοὺς τόπους τοὺς πρεπάμενους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 364.4–5 εἰς τόπους περικουλούζικους Fior 108.10 ἀνθρώπους, λέγω, λοῖδορους, γαστρίμαργους DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 315 τοὺς τιμιώτατους κληρικούς Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 233 ἀπὸ γονεῖς εὐγενεῖς καὶ φιλάρετους MOREZINOS, Klini 42.3 τοὺς ἄρπαγους BOUNIALIS M., Kat. ofel. 357 τοὺς χριστιανούλλικους Thrinios Kypr. 504

Vocative

The vocative is identical with the form of the nominative:

φύγετ' ἀπ' ἐδῶ, μωροὶ ἀγριότραγοι Spanos D 1529–30 ἐλᾶτε, μωροὶ σπανοὶ Spanos A 177 ὦ φρόνιμοι κι ἀξότατοι και πλούσα γεροντάκια CHORTATSI, Panor. V.405 ὦ Ρωμαῖοι φιλάργυροι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 83.32 νέοι ὁμορφοὶ καὶ πλοῦσοι, Fallidos 1 μὴ φεύγετε, δειλοὶ και ουτιδανοί! Don Kis. 45.24

Feminine

F	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-ες -ές		-αι -αί
Gen.	-ων -ῶν	(-ωνε) (-ῶνε)
Acc.	-ας -άς -ες -ές

The feminine plural endings have followed the same development as the corresponding nouns in -α and -η (for which see 2.11–12). The nominative ending -αι is rather rare in LMedG texts, and must be seen as belonging to a higher register, i.e. it is an archaism. This is not true to the same extent for the accusative ending -ας, which continues to occur in both literary and non-literary texts of mixed register. The newer ending for both nominative and accusative, -ες, is attested from at least the 11th c. It is often spelled with <αι> in mss, early printed editions, and by (mainly) 19th-c. editors. For the position of stress see below.

Nominative

The nominative in -αι is, as mentioned above, rare in LMedG texts, but some examples occur in documents or mixed-register texts such as the Grottaferrata Digenis:

αἱ δὲ ρίζαι του χυμευταὶ Dig. G IV.222; αἱ δὲ λοιπαὶ ... κεκτημέναι ibid. VI.27 ὅλαι αἱ πτωχαὶ τοῦ μοναστηρίου ζιοῦσι ἀπὸ δικόν του (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.37–8)

Forms in -ες are well attested from the 11th c. onwards:

εἰκόνες διάχρυσες ἔγκαυστες (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.132) καὶ ἄλλες γυναῖκες περισσὲς εἰστέκασιν Log. parig. L 453 οἱ κλάτσες κόκκινες Assizes B 465.13 ἀνέγλυτες πανεύφημες, ὕπανδρες καὶ χηράδες Anak. Konst. 73 ὅλες καλές, εὐγενικές, ἀρχόντων θυγατέρες Achil. N 1033 οἱ ἄπιστες, οἱ δολερές καὶ πονηρές γυναῖκες DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2074 οἱ μάννες οἱ ταλαίπωρες Alosis 208 οἱ σάρκες οἱ λευκές LIMEN., Than. Rod. 56 καὶ εἶναι τὰ χαρτὰ κόλλες μεταξωτές (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.35–6) αἱ πολλότατες του δυνάμεις KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 11.20

The following example shows shift of stress to the penultimate, perhaps an attempt to elevate the linguistic level: ἐμπόλιες δ, οἱ τρεῖς σκουλίνες (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 2, 4.5).

Genitive

In the case of proparoxytone adjectives the stress normally shifts to the penultimate; an exception can be seen in the last example below, from Epirus. No example of addition of final /e/, as for the masculine forms (see above), has been found in the texts examined.

μερίμων, | ἀνυποφόρων, φοβερῶν, | μεγάλων, ἀβαστάγων Eisit. f.8r.4–6 τῶν φονικῶν κρίσεων Chron. Mor. H 2015
 εἶπαμε τῶν κορασίδων, | εἶπαμεν καὶ τῶν ὑπάνδρων Epain. gyn. 665–6 φέρνει νὰ μοιράση τῶν πτωχῶν, νὰ τὰς πασχάση (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.39) τῶν ἐπίλοιπων (1680, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 8, 302, f.1v.4)

Accusative

The older ending -ας continued to be used in mixed-register texts long after the appearance of forms in -ες. It is remarkable, however, that the old ending often co-exists with fixed stress. (Since the <α> of the ending was long in AG, the accent could not fall earlier than the penultimate.) The ending -ας seems to be selected, often along with the definite article τὰς, as a conscious choice of a higher register, whether by an author or a copyist, but without regard to the AG rules of accentuation.¹¹ μετὰ τὰς ἀφωρισμένας καὶ σημαδευμένας ἑορτὰς ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 214.17–18 ἀπαλαρίας κύπρινας γ' (1189, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: App. II, 210.52) τὰς ἔμορφας βισκίνας, τὰς ἱστορίας τὰς αἰσθητὰς Liv. V 283–4; τὰς λύπας τὰς ἀμέτρητας ibid. 1094

¹¹ The opposite phenomenon – the ending -ες combined with shift of stress to the penultimate – can be seen in the following example, where metrical convenience is the likely explanation: πίκρες βαρυτάτες Dig. A 1854.

τὰς φρόνιμας βουλὰς Pol. Tr. 4671 app. crit. (A) (τὲς φρόνιμες βουλῆς mss BV) χάριτας παράξενας [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 832 εἶχαν μακρὰς τὰς μύτας Alex. Rim. 2618

The ending -ες, the same as that of the nominative, with fixed stress, rapidly becomes the norm (as in MG). Examples:

νὰ ἔχωμεν ἡμεῖς αὐτὲς ἐλεύθερες (1170, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 231, 231.21) πέτρες πολλές ἄσπρες (1333, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 15, 75.9) εἰκόνες ὀλοχυμευτὲς Dig. E 1078 μὲ κόρες ἔμνοστούτσικες Flor. L 769 (Cupane) μὲ ἀξιόπιστες μαρτυρίες (1491, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1991: 1, 233.6)
 ἀποὺ πονιζάμενες ἐννοῖες Fior, Suppl. 269.3
 μὲ τέσσερεις τόρτσες ἄσπρες (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 38.31) μερικὲς ἐλιὲς μοναστηριακὲς (1639, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 9, 363.1) εἰς τὲς γκρεμισμένες ἐκκλησίες IER. AVNATIOS, Diig. Seismou 337.5
 εἰς ἐ διάφορες χῶρες καὶ τόπους τοῦ γαληνοτάτου πρέντζιπε (post 1669, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1938: 2, 295.3) καλουγερκὲς προθέσες (1691, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 89, 214.11) εἰς κάτι παράμερες σπηλιὲς EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 22.5

Rarely, a shift of stress to the penultimate is found with proparoxytone adjectives (cf. nominative above): εἶχεν γυναικὲς νομίμες ἑπτακοσίες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 300.29.

Vocative

The forms coincide with those of the nominative, though no example of the older -αι ending has been found in the texts examined:

ἀκούσετε γειτόνισσες καὶ συνανατροφές μου Rim. kor. A 179 μιὰρὲς ... ἐπὶβούλες, σκύλες ἀφορισμένες Synax. gyn. 80 κί' ἐσεῖς μου μυζηθρόπιτες πολλὰ μου ἡγαπημένες CHORTATIS, Katz. I.62 τί πράγμα λέγετε ἐσεῖς, ζουρλές; Bertoldos 18.22 σωπαῖτε, σκληρὲς σάλπιγγες Zinon I.1; σκοτεινιασμένες θύμησες ibid. I.5

Neuter

N	General	Restricted
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-α ἰ -ά
Gen.	-ω(ν) ἰ -ῶ(ν)	(-ωνε) ἰ (-ῶνε)

The forms of the nominative and accusative are unchanged from AG to the present. The genitive exhibits the same range of variation as the masculine genitive plural.

Nominative

δένδρα δρύινα (1071, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 40, 127.47) ἄς ἔναι ἡτοιμασμένα Eisit. f.1v.16 τὰ γινόμενα (1243, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 293, 408.8) νὰ ἔλθουν τὰ ὠμόβορα καὶ τὰ ἀνδρειωμένα Diig. tetr. 856 κάτεργα καὶ καράβια ... πραγματευτάδικα (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 274.24) τὰ φορέματά μας εἶναι τρίχινα Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 115.31

Genitive

Some of the examples below, from documents from the Cyclades and Heptanese and from a Cretan literary work, show deletion of final /n/.

- βουβαλίων καὶ λοιπ(ών) τετραπόδ(ων) (1079, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 2, 17.6) ἡ εὐθεΐα τῶν ἐνικῶν SOFIANOS, Grammar 40.2; τῶν πληθυντικῶν ibid. 40.7
 τῶν ἄνωθι ὀρφανῶ, τῶν μπουδιῶν του (1617, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 16, 320.24) εἰς ἐὶ ὀμπλιγατσίων πασῶν τῶν καλῶν τῶς (1630, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 111, 222.5) τοῦν ἐπίλοιπῶ ἀδελφίωνε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 14, 39.9) περβολιῶ ὁμορφότατῶ καὶ μοσκομυρισμένῶ ΤΡΟΙΛΟΣ, Rodol. I.148 τῶν ἀνιψιῶν του τῶν ἄρφανῶ (1680, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 25, 102.16–17)

Accusative

- τὰ μαύρα εφορούσασιν Diig. Apoll. 623 τὰ λεγόμενα χωράφια καλὰ καὶ οἰκοκυράτα καὶ ἀρεσκόμενα (1557, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 11 [later copy], 63.14) τὰ καημένα ψόματα CHORTATIS, Katz. III.298 τὰ οὐγγρικά φουσάτα ΜΑΤΤΗΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1110 λόγια πολλὰ ἡγαπητὰ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2646 ἐμιλούσαμεν ... φραντζόζικα καὶ ἰταλιάνικα (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 56.14) ἄψητα κρέατα ΕΦΤΗΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 20.10; αὐτὰ τὰ θεοτικὰ λόγια ibid. 26.14 μὲ λόγια ἄπρεπα καὶ σκανδαλοποιὰ ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 42.37

Vocative

- καλὰ παλληκαράκια LIMEN., Than. Rod. 38 χόρτα μου δροσοφύτευτα Cypr. Canz. 112.10; δέντρη τρυφερά ibid. 125.3 ἀδελφία μου κοσμοφίλα καὶ κοσμοαγαπημένα P&N Diath. 558

3.2.2 Adjectives in -ος with Feminine -α

This is another large group of adjectives, originally inherited from a category existing in AG. The only difference between this group and those in 3.2.1 is in the endings of the feminine singular, which have the vowel <α> instead of <η>, because in Classical Attic the change of long <α> to <η> was blocked when preceded by a vowel or <ρ> (for the latter case see 3.2.3). This historical distinction is preserved in MedG and subsequent stages of the language. Thus, the great majority of these adjectives have a vowel preceding the personal endings. They may be proparoxytone (e.g. ἄξιος), paroxytone (ἀνδρεῖος), or oxytone (παλαιός).

Some adjectives do not fit easily into a single category. Certain oxytone adjectives occur with feminine in <η>, where <α> would be expected, e.g. τὴν στράταν τὴν ἀγαθοποιή DEFAR., Log. did. 269; νὰ μένη στερεή καὶ ἀπαρασάλευτη (1695, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1960: III.3, 134.12). A similar tendency appears in the case of βέβαιος, but not of other adjectives that have a vowel other than /i/ before the endings, e.g. ἀκέραιος, βίαιος, δίκαιος, μάταιος, etc., which in SMG would normally have fem. -η. This development has not been found before the mid-17th c.¹² Otherwise, adjectives ending in -αῖος or -εος have feminine singular forms with <α> (unless they are used with only two terminations).

A few other adjectives of Greek origin (e.g. παρθένος, στεῖρος and certain compounds such as κακοῦργος) may also follow this pattern, i.e. with feminine singular in -α. However, in the course of the period covered by this Grammar, a large number of loanwords, mainly from Italian or Venetian,¹³ were assimilated to this paradigm; examples include: κομποῦνος, κοντέντος, ὀμπλεγᾶδος (and numerous other words, originally past participles, ending in -ᾶδος or -ῖδος),¹⁴ ὀνέστος, σκέτος, σοτοσκριτός, φίνος. These words are found particularly in legal documents from areas under western rule. (See BAKKER 1988/89: 316 for a list of such adjectives occurring in the acts of the Cretan notary Manolis Varouchas.)

The adjectives that end in vowel + <ος> may, in certain circumstances, undergo phonological developments. Firstly, the first vowel may be subject to glide formation and synizesis (see I, 2.9.4), initially becoming consonantal /j/. However, this change cannot usually be detected in the spelling of mss and early printed editions; even in verse texts, we cannot be sure whether it is a pre-metrical phenomenon or merely a metrical device. This development may be carried a stage further: when the preceding consonant is /s/, depalatalization can occur (see I, 2.4.7.3). This is particularly common in texts from Crete (but also occurs in some texts from the Heptanese and Peloponnese), from the 16th c. onwards, resulting in adjectival forms such as ᾶξος (fem. ᾶξα), πλῆσος, πλοῦσος.

A further factor affecting proparoxytone adjectives is movement of stress. Like the <η> in the adjectives in 3.2.1, the <α> of the feminine endings was a long vowel in AG and therefore caused the accent of proparoxytone words to move to the penultimate. The resulting forms in LMedG and EMG are found particularly in mixed- and higher-register texts, e.g. ἄγῖα.

Adjectives in this group may also be affected by glide formation and shift of stress, when they contain two adjacent vowels of which the first is stressed, e.g. νέος > νιός, ρωμαῖος > ρωμιός. We also occasionally find forms like ἀρχιῶν from ἀρχαίῳν, which may simply be deployed as metrical expedients in the case of words that are not in everyday use.

Because it is only the feminine singular that differs from the adjectives in 3.2.1, we shall focus mainly on these forms in the notes and examples that follow, with the addition of a small number of examples of masculine and feminine forms.

¹² Two instances have been located, the first in a text (1st ed. 1646) written by someone of Heptanesian origin, the second in a document from Mykonos: εἶμαι πλέον παρὰ βέβαιη Bertoldin. 158.1; βέβαιη καὶ ἄκοπη (1701, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 14, 31.23). Otherwise, βέβαιος has fem. forms with <α> (examples below).

¹³ There is also an earlier stratum of adjectives borrowed from Latin, e.g. βάδεος or βάδιος < badius.

¹⁴ Such loanwords normally have fem. -α, and consequently are fully assimilated to the inherited paradigm of adjectives in -ος with fem. -α. Occasional exceptions may be noted, e.g. ἐπειδὴ εἶσαι τόσα ὀσπενάδη MOREZ-INOS, Klini 53.3; διὰ τοῦτο θέλω νὰ 'νε κομμένη καὶ ἀνουλάδη ἐκείνη ἢ προμοσιόν (1622, Crete, ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑ-TIS 1986: 2, 44.22–3). In such cases the fem. ending -η is the same as for adjectives with the suffix -άτος, for which see 3.2.1. For other adjectives borrowed from Romance languages, which are unassimilated or only partly assimilated to Greek paradigms, see 3.5.1–2.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	τέλειος	τέλεια	τέλειο(ν)
Gen.	τέλειου ἢ τελείου	τέλειας ἢ τελείας	τέλειου ἢ τελείου
Acc.	τέλειο(ν)	τέλεια(ν)	τέλειο(ν)
Voc.	τέλειε	τέλεια	τέλειο(ν)

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	τέλειοι	τέλειες ἢ τέλεια	τέλεια
Gen.	τέλειων ἢ τελείων	τέλειων ἢ τελείων	τέλειων ἢ τελείων
Acc.	τέλειους ἢ τελείους	τέλειες ἢ τέλειας	τέλεια
Voc.	τέλειοι	τέλειες ἢ (τέλεια)	(τέλεια)

The tables below present both unaccented endings and accented (oxytone) ones, although the actual endings do not otherwise differ.

Singular

Masculine

M	General
Nom.	-ος ἢ -ός
Gen.	-ου ἢ -οῦ
Acc.	-ο(ν) ἢ -ό(ν)
Voc.	-ε ἢ -έ

The masculine singular forms exhibit very little variation: in the acc. sg. the final /n/ is frequently omitted, except in higher-register texts.

Nominative

The form is unchanged throughout the period:

ἀκέραιος μὲ τὸ γάρος Ptoch. IV 186 κι ἀκόμ' ἀπὸ τὰ χέρια σου εἶν' ἄξιος νὰ μᾶς βγάλη KONDAR., Paidēs 705 ἦβγενε εἰς τὸ κυνήγι φῖνος PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1356

Genitive

As with the adjectives in 3.2.1, forms occur both with and without stress movement:

τοῦ μακαρίου ἐκκεινοῦ Chron. Mor. P 7 τ' ἄθλιου τοῦ Ψιχαρπάγου ZINOS, Vatr. 188 τοῦ ἁγίου Ἀντώνη Paroim. (Warner) 29.21

The following example should not be taken as a genitive form in -ο, but rather as a truncated form of the adjective in close combination with the name it precedes: ἅγιο-Φωτίνου (1143–5, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 1, 55.24) (see 2.18).

Accusative

The form occurs with and without final /n/ throughout the period:

πρὸς τὸν κοσμοσωτήριον ... λιμένα Ptoch. III 9 νὰ μετρήσουν τὸν πρῶτον καὶ μεσαῖον (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 60, 48.1–2) αὐτὸν τὸν ἅγιο θάνατον ὁποῦ ἔκλινε νὰ πάρη FALIEROS, Thrinos 72 εἶδα τόπον ἄγριον Alex. Rim. 2557 τὸν ἄξιο νεανία PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1918 ἦρτα τὸν ὅμοιο χρόνο (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 506.7)

Vocative

The ending is always -ε:

πνευματικέ μου τίμιε πάτερ NIKON, Logos 9 310.6
 γίνωσκε, θεῖτε βασιλεῦ Ptoch. (Maiuri) 14 ὅμοιε μουλαρίων Spanos D 1017 μαριόλε CHORTATIS, Katz. IV.202¹⁵ δὲν αἰσχύνεσαι, ἄθλιε AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deká 198 ἀχρεῖε καὶ ουτιδανέ Don Kis. 152.13–14

Feminine

F	General
Nom./Voc.	-α ἰ -ά
Gen.	-ας ἰ -ᾶς
Acc.	-α(ν) ἰ -ά(ν)

The paradigm is stable throughout the period, apart from the usual fluctuation of final /n/ in the accusative.

¹⁵ In the same text we also find a vocative in -ο: ποῦ πᾶς, μωρὲ μαριόλο; CHORTATIS, Katz. IV.196. According to KRIARAS, Lex. the word μαριόλος (< Ven. mariol) is an adjective; but, as the vocative in -ο indicates (cf. 2.1.2), it can also be regarded as a noun.

Nominative

There is no variation in the ending.¹⁶ In the case of proparoxytone adjectives, movement of stress to the penultimate tends to be associated with the use of a more formal register, or words of learned origin. Such forms occur throughout the period:

ἀγάπη σου ἡ βεβαία Dig. G IV.567

ἡ τελευταία διαθήκη ἔσται ἰσχυρά καὶ βεβαία (1513, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 36, 62.22)

ἡ φύσις ἡ ἀνθρωπίνη δὲν ἔναι ἀξία νὰ τὰ ἰδεῖ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 125.28–9; αὐτὴν τὴν ἡμέραν τὴν ἔκραζαν ἀγία ibid. 363.19–20

ἡ γραφὴ νὰ ᾖ βεβαία καὶ ἀχάλαστη (1603, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968 : 1, 27.22)

οὐ αἰωνία ἡ μνήμη EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 13.6–7

Forms with fixed stress are, however, very common in both literary and non-literary texts. In the case of paroxytone adjectives (the second group of examples below), stress movement is not of course a factor:

τόσα ἦτον πλούσια καὶ εὐμορφῇ Pol. Tr. 477 (the metre requires πλούσια to be disyllabic) ποδέα ὅμοια (1442, Belgrade region/Serbia, ALEXOULIS 1892: 2, 280.13)

περιστερὰ ἀκέραια Phys. 637

ἡ πόλις αὕτη | ἄξια ἔναι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 995

ἡ διαθήκη ἔσται ἰσχυρά καὶ βέβαια (1513, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 35, 61.36–7)

ἡ Ἐλισαβέτ ἡ δίκαια P&N Diath. 2013

πανώρια λυγερή, πανώρια κόρη Vosk. 9

μία φορεσιά γαλάζια (1681, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 140, 307.2)

νὰ πουληθῶ ὡς κακούργα! Flor. L 1035 (Cupane) γὰ νὰ βρεθῇς μητέρα καὶ παρθένα FALIEROS, Thrinis 62¹⁷

καὶ λέγει του Μακάριου πῶς ἦτονε παρθένα Apoll. Rim. V 1366 νὰ ᾖ πριβάδα (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 151, 271.12) ἡ μία κεντημένη καὶ ἡ ἄλλη σκέτα (1536, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 116, 229.18) στεῖρα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 224.9

εἶμαι πληρωμένη καὶ σατισφάδα (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 79, 82.15)¹⁸

νὰ ποθάνω ντεσπεράδα (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 79.15–16)

ἔνα κομμάτι ἐντριτία, ὅπου νὰ ᾖ ὄνιστα (1638, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 24, 79.14)

νὰ κάμης τὴν κερα-Μηλιά κοντέντα ν' ἀπομείνη FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.460

Examples of forms with depalatalization of a sibilant (see I, 2.4.7.3):

σοφία τῶν Αἰγύπτιων ἦτον πολλὰ περίσσα Alex. Rim. 1

᾽ς τὸ παρακάλιο πληῖσα, | κι εἰς τὴν ἐλεημοσύνη τση, ᾽ς τὴν ἐσπλαχνιά, περίσσα P&N Diath. 4336–7

χώρα πλούσα κατὰ πολλὰ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 62.19

¹⁶ A single example of a fem. in -η has been found, in a 17th-c. Heptanesian text: εἰς ποιά γῆς τόσα ὄγρη Zinon V.212.

¹⁷ Note that παρθένος is very often used as a noun, especially with the definite article to refer to the Virgin Mary: ἡ Παρθένος. (Indeed, the categories of noun and adjective are often difficult to distinguish.) Some feminine plural forms of the adjective are given below.

¹⁸ The same phrase, but with fem. ending -η, occurs in a document from Naxos: εἶναι πληρωμένη καὶ σατζιφάδη (1587, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 147, 271.8).

κ' ἡ ἄξα πράξη, ὄντε χωστεῖ, πᾶσα τση δόξα χάνει TROILOS, Rodol. I.472 ἄξα καὶ παινεμένη KORNAPOS, Erot. I.915

Genitive

There is no variation in the ending. A few examples are given below, in order to illustrate fixed or movable stress, an assimilated loanword, and depalatalization of a sibilant:

σοῦ τῆς ἀθλίας ἔνεκεν Dig. E 1797 τῆς Στράτας τῆς Κομμούνας (1598, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 158, 284.2) τῆς παλιᾶς πούτανας CHORTATIS, Katz. V.40 ἀγάπης πλήσας TROILOS, Rodol. I.677

Accusative

The forms are essentially the same as the nominative, except that final /n/ may be added. Forms with movement of stress to the penultimate often occur in the context of more formal expressions:

ἐποιήσαμέν σου τελεία πράση (1134, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 43, 192.16) νὰ τὴν ἔχωμεν φέρμαν καὶ παραφέρμαν (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.17–18) τὴν ἀγίαν πίστιν τοῦ Θεοῦ Fior 150.16 βεβαίαν τὴν φιλίαν τοὺς ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. Epim. (a) 4 μὲ βεβαίαν πίστιν Thavm. Nikon Metan. IV 6 τὴν μακαρίαν καὶ ἀγιωτάτη ὁσίαν Θεοδώραν EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 25.7–8

In verse texts, variation of stress may be occasioned by metrical necessity (and possibly editorial practice); for example, in a 15th-c. text, within the space of a few lines, we read: διὰ τὴν ἀγίαν τὴν πόλιν Alosis 32, τὴν Πόλιν ἄγίαν τὴν εἰπεῖ πάλιν ὑπεραγίαν ibid. 34, and ἀγιάν, ἀγίαν τὴν εἰπεῖ ibid. 37.

However, fixed stress (i.e. on the same syllable as in the masc. nom. sg.) can be regarded as the default option, in texts of all kinds, throughout our period:

δίκαιαν προτίμησιν (1190, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 16, 48.2) τὴν βάδεαν Dig. G II.95; μούλαν ἐκαβαλλίκευσε βάδεαν, ἀστεράτην ibid. III.261 βέβαιαν νὰ τὴν ἔχουν Pol. Tr. 5505 app. crit. (A) αἰσθησὶν ἀκέραιαν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 29 εἶδες γυναικίαν κτίσιν Synax. gyn. 206¹⁹ ἀπὸ τὴν δεξιάν του μερίαν Diig. Alex. F 146.19 (Lolos) τὴν ἄθλιαν καρδίαν Diig. Alex. E 99–101.26–1 (Lolos); κάλλιαν ἀνδραγαθίαν ibid. 247.6
 τὴν πρεπάμενην καὶ ἄξιαν βοήθειαν Pist. kekoim. 140 ἐκάμαν ἀλλαξίαν τέλειαν (1557, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 199, 247.4) εἰς τὴν ἄνωθεν γραφή, δομένη καὶ ... σοτοσκρίτα (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 846, 737.19–20) < Ital. sottoscritto κρίση τὴν αἰώνια Vosk. 24 καὶ μίαν δράχμα φίνα κανέλλα LANDOS, Geopon. 237.9–10 μὲ πλήσιαν ἀναγάλλιασιν SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. a2v.16 ἀγάπη στέρεια (1672, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 13, 10.2) θέλω τη, μὰ ποστίτσα μου Stathis III.543 < Ital. posticcio

¹⁹ Note the proparoxytone form of the adjective, γυναικίος. For further examples see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. γυναικίος.

Some examples of forms with depalatalization of sibilants:

δῶσ' του τήν μοίρα πλήσα DEFAR., Log. did. 278

εἰς τή δεξιά πλευρέα P&N Diath. 3795

τήν ἄξα χώρα ἐκείνη KORNAOS, Erot. I.27

The following is a rather rare example of glide formation and shift of stress to the final syllable: πλησίον τήν δημοσιάν ὁδόν (1543, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 42, 246.14–15).

Vocative

The forms are identical to the nominative:

ώραία μου Velth. 620

δήμια τύχη DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 92

ἅγια Παρασκευή CHORTATIS, Katz. III.286

Ἄγια Μαρίνα, μάραϊνε ὅλους τοὺς κερατάδες Paroim. (Warner) 29.12 παρθένα τῶν παρθένων Rim. Sant. 39

Neuter

N	General
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ο(ν) ἰ -ό(ν)
Gen.	-ου ἰ -οῦ

Apart from the fact that final /n/ may be deleted, the endings are unchanged from AG, and in fact the same as for the adjectives in 3.2.1. Movement of stress may occur in the genitive of proparoxytone words.

Nominative

τὸ ἀνάξιον παιδὶν σου NIKON, Logos 9 312.9

καὶ ἔναι τὸ χαρτὶ σταμπάδο (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 25.31)

τὸ περίσσο χαλνᾶ τὸ ἴσιο Paroim. (Warner) 99.20 τὸ μῆλο τὸ δικασμιῶ FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. II 74

Genitive

τὸν νέον ἄμπελον ἀποῦ εἶναι σιμὰ τοῦ παλαιοῦ ἀμπελίου (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 15, 26.28) τοῦ διὰ τοῦ θεοῦ καὶ ἀγγελικοῦ σχήματος μετονομασθεῖς (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 23.139) ἐκάστου οἰκείου γράμματος (1644, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 1, 120.7) τοῦ θεριοῦ τ' ἄγριου KORNAOS, Erot. II.1082

Accusative

τὸ στέργον πάντα καὶ τὸ βέβαιον (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 473.28–9) ὀξύν φίνον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 224.32

νὰ τὸ ἔχουσι στέρεο (1610, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 6, 360.19)

μὲ τὸ δεξιό μου χέρι VEST., Prol. Theot. 251²⁰

²⁰ For the adjective δεξιός, no instances of SMG forms like δεξής or δεξι have been found in the texts examined (see ILNE s.v. δεξιός for early attestations of variant forms).

κρύο νεράκι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2464; εἰς τὸ δεξιὸ πλευρό μου ibid. 2506 ἐτοῦτο το σπαθὶ στᾶ χέρια μου τὸ φῖνο Stathis I.91

Plural

Masculine

M	General	Restricted
Nom./Voc.	-οι ῑ -οί
Gen.	-ων ῑ -ῶν	-ω ῑ -ῶ
Acc.	-ους ῑ -ούς

As for the adjectives in 3.2.1, the basic endings are completely stable: -οι, -ων, -ους. Proparoxytone adjectives may have movement of stress to the penultimate syllable in the accusative and genitive. In the genitive, deletion of final /n/ can occur (mainly in Cretan texts; see I, 3.7.2.2).

Nominative

καβοῦροι ποτάμιοι STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 3.60 καὶ οὕτως ἤμασταν κοτέντοι (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 6, 7.22); ἤμασταν σατισφάδοι (ibid. 72, 70.7) ἄξιοι τῶν ἱερῶν εὐχῶν Pist. kekoim. 100 νὰ εἶναι ὀμπλεγάδοι (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 5, 27.5–6)

With depalatalization of sibilants:

καρaboκῦροι ἔντιμοι, πλοῦσοι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1275 τόποι πλοῦσοι (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 151.5) οἱ πλῆσοι τοῦ χοτζάδες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 563.14

Genitive

Shift of stress frequently occurs, but genitives of proparoxytone adjectives without stress movement are not uncommon:

τῶν Παλαίων Λάκκων (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 45.227) τῶν παλαίων Chron. Mor. H 1353 (for the form παλαῖος see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. παλαιός) ἀπελάτων ... εὐγενικῶν καὶ ἀνδρείων Dig. E 624 καὶ τῶν νέων κάμνουν μάτια Epain. gyn. 144 νὰ ξετάξη τὰς χειροτονίας τῶν ἀναξίων DAM. STOUD., Dial. 104.13 τέτοιων πλουσιῶν γονέων VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 73.16 κατέμπροστε ἐμοῦ νοταρίου καὶ τῶν ὑποκάτωθε ὑπογεγραμμένω τιμίῶν μαρτύρῳ (1685, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 362.2–3) τῶν δίκαιων ἡ ἀγέλη Deft. Par. 185 τῶν ἄξιων ἀφεντῶν KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.850

Synizesis, with shift of stress, may occur, e.g. ὁ νόμος τῶν ἀρχιῶν FALIEROS, Log. did. 23. Depalatalization of sibilants and deletion of final /n/ may be found in texts from Crete (and perhaps elsewhere): χιλίων διακοσῶν σπαχήδων ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 202; πλουσῶ FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 36; ὁ βασιλιὸς ἐσύ 'σαι τῷ μαριόλῳ Stathis I.125.

Accusative

δυνατούς καὶ ἀνδρείους Dig. G I.15

τρεῖς μῆνας ἀκεραίους Dig. E 1083

ἔπειτα γιὰ τοὺς νίους τοὺς δύο Theseid Prol. E 161 (the metre requires νιούς, with synizesis) γιανιτζαρέους παλαιούς ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 1192 τοὺς νέους καὶ τοὺς γέροντας ΠΡΟΣΟΨΑΣ, Peri tyflou 15

Forms without movement of stress are very common:

ἄρχοντας πλούσιους καὶ πτωχοὺς Byz. Il. 1086 τοὺς ἐνάντιους Deft. Par. 190 τοὺς δίκιους FALIEROS, Log. did. 40 ἄγριους Diig. Alex. F 30.8 (Konstantinopulos) κλέφτει τὸ λᾶδι καὶ ἄφτει στοὺς ἄγιους Paroim. (Warner) 29.15

Depalatalization can also occur (the second text was possibly written by a Cretan): ἔμορφους, πλούσους, εὐγενεῖς Theseid Prol. E 154; πτωχοὺς καὶ πλούσους Leilasia Par. 410.

Vocative

The vocative is identical with the form of the nominative. The second and third examples show depalatalization:

δίκαιοι φίλοι καὶ συντρόφοι ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 380.32

νέοι ὄμορφοι καὶ πλοῦσοι, Fallidos 1

ὦ Βενετζιάνοι φρόνιμοι, πρακταῖοι καὶ ᾗτιδέξοι Alosis 875

Feminine

F	General	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-ες -ές	-αι -αί
Gen.	-ων -ῶν
Acc.	-ας -άς -ες -ές

For the development of the feminine plural endings, see the corresponding section of 3.2.1. The nominative ending -αι should be seen as an archaism in the period covered by this Grammar. The ending -ες is already in existence well before this period: an 11th-c. manuscript of the Life of St Philaretos has the form ὠραίαίς Vios Philaret. 19 app. crit. (G) (= ὠραῖες). The accusative ending -ας, however, is less rare than the corresponding nominative, though mainly found in mixed- and higher-register texts.

Nominative

The residual form in -αι is rare: αἱ ἱστορίαι αἱ παλαιαί (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.2–3). Forms in -ες are well attested throughout our period:

οἱ ἄγιες ἐκκλησίαις Assizes B 280.2

νές BERGADIS, Apok. A 171 (from νέες, with simplification of the sequence of two identical vowels; see I, 2.9.2.1) νά 'νι καὶ αἱ δύο περιβάδες (1521, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 60, 113.18) ριζιμαῖες πέτρες (1528, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 53, 172.20) ἦτανε παλὲς καὶ κομμένες (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 219.36) (from παλαιές, with simplification of two identical vowels; cf. νές above) στερεές βέβαιες καὶ ἀμετάτρεπτες (1588 [copy of 1695], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 465.3)

Forms like the following, with shift of stress to the penultimate, are occasionally found, particularly in documents where an “elevated” style is aimed at (see 3.2.1 for a similar nom. form and below for some acc. examples): ἄν στέκουν οἱ παραγγελίες μου καθαρώτατες καὶ βεβαῖες (1639, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 3, 113.35).

The plural of παρθένα is normally παρθένες, but a learned form may also be found:

καὶ καλογριές εὐγενικές, παρθένες, ἡγουμένες Anak. Konst. 74 παρθένες κόρες εἰμεθεν, ἄγαμες, δίχα δόλου Flor. L 835 (Cupane) αυτοὶ εἶναι παρθένοι καὶ παρθένες οὐποῦ ἐφύλαξαν τὴν παρθενίαν τους Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 139.33–141.1

αἱ λοιπαὶ παρθέναι KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 25.11

Genitive

πλησίον των ὁδῶν τῶν δημοσιῶν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 53, 86.14) (with shift of stress and synizesis, for which see I, 2.9.4) ὠραίων γυναικῶν Velth. 549 τῶν κουμμούνων στρατῶν (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968 : 3, 32.25) μοναστήριον παρθένων γυναικῶν IER. AVVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 334.6 τῶν ἄξιων γυναικῶν KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.419

Accusative

As noted in 3.2.1, the older ending -ας continues to be used in mixed- or higher-register texts of the period covered by this Grammar. It is often accompanied by the definite article form τὰς, as in: τὰς φρένας στέρεας (1197–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 42, 217.4). However, mss of the same literary work frequently diverge, as in the following example: ἀπὸ τὰς ἄλλας τὰς πολλὰς ἀρχόντισσας, παρθένας Pol. Tr. 12262 (mss AX); ἀπὸ τῆς ἄλλης τῆς πολλῆς ἀρχόντισσας παρθένες ibid. (mss BV) (παρθένες could be either adjective or noun). The ending -ες, the same as that of the nominative, is the normal one (as in SMG):

παρθένες κορασίες Flor. L 789 (Cupane) διάλεξε τες φίνες Apoll. Rim. V 693 μὲ ἐλίες ἄγριες καὶ ἡμερες (1632 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968 : 70, 174.27) τῆς χῆρες σκανδαλοποιῆς Bertoldin. 112.19 στερεές καὶ βέβαιες καὶ ἀμετάτρεπτες (1708, Peloponnese, PAPADOPOULOS 1976: 6, 124.28) ἔβαλε προκλαματζιόνες ριγορόζες PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 110.20

As mentioned above with respect to the nom. pl., forms with movement of stress to the penultimate syllable sometimes occur:

μαρτυρίες ὁμοῖες τοῦ γένους του Assizes A 58.9
 τῆς δικαῖης κρίσης Diig. Alex. F 274. (Lolos) τῆς τελεῖης καθάρισες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.123

Depalatalized forms also occur: τόσες πλήσες ομορφιές CHORTATSIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 36.

Vocative

The vocative is presumed to be the same as the nominative, but so far no forms have been found.

Neuter

N	General
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-α -ά
Gen.	-ων -ῶ(ν)

The forms exhibit no significant variation (cf. the corresponding forms for the adjectives in 3.2.1). The examples below include some depalatalized forms: πλοῦσα, ἀδέξα (see I, 2.4.7.3). In the gen. pl., as for other genders, forms with and without shift of stress are found.

Nominative

πέμματα ἐκάπνιζον παντοῖα Dig. G VI.38 ἐκεῖνα ἅπερ θέλουν εἶσταιν αἰώνια KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 112.4 τὰ τέσσαρα εὐαγγέλια τὰ καθημερούσια· καὶ εἶναι φιγουράδα (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.17); πάντα τὰ ἀναγκαῖα (ibid. 14, 28.42) καὶ ποῖα παλάτια βρίσκονται σὰν τὰ δικά σας πλοῦσα KORNAROS, Erot. I.680

Genitive

τίποτε τῶν ἀγρίων Dig. E 427 ἐξομπλισμένην ἐκ πασῶν πραγμάτων ἀναγκαῖων DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1263 ἐτουτωνῶν τῶν οὐρανίων μυστηρίων MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 326.7 ψόφιων ζώων Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 113.3 τῶν δόλιων ἀδελφιῶ μου KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.647

Accusative

εἰς τὰ παλαιὰ παλάτια Chron. Mor. H 1299 (ms παλαῖα) εἰς πράματα ὀνέστα καὶ βερτιούζικα Fior 75.24 ἔχομεν καὶ ἄλλα δύο νησία τεσμπιτάδα (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.32–3) < Ital. disabitato? ἀδέξα τὰ ἐπεράσαμεν πολλὰς φορές (1553, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 177, 167.14) ἔτσι ἀπὸ τὰ παλιὰ ὥσάν καὶ τὰ νιά (1596, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 154, 279.11) μέσα ’ς τὰ ἄγρια δάση PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1338 να του τα πληρώσω ὅλα σώα καὶ ἀνελλιπή Don Kis. 20.20

Vocative

ὦ ἄγια ποδάρια του διδασκάλου μου VAROUCHAS, Logoi 469.30 ἄγρια θεριά τῆς βασιλειᾶς, σκληρά, καταραμένα Zinon I.4

3.2.3 Adjectives in -ος with Feminine -α or -η

We treat here, as a separate category, those adjectives that had feminine singular in -α in Classical (Attic) Greek but have tended to follow the paradigm with feminine in -η (see 3.2.1) in MedG and MG. All of these adjectives end in <ρος>/<ρός>, e.g. ἐλεύθερος, λαμπρός, μικρός, πικρός,²¹ φοβερός.²² We also include comparative forms in -ότερος, -ώτερος, -ύτερος and -έστερος, and the ordinal numeral δεύτερος.

The Attic forms with -α in the feminine singular were adopted into the Koine. In time, adjectives with stems ending in /r/ came to employ the same feminine forms as those with stems ending in other consonants. The earliest examples are from Egypt in the 5th and 6th c., e.g. μικρήν, φανερῆς (GIGNAC 1981: 113–15; see also HATZIDAKIS 1892: 84). The forms with older -α are also usually distinguished by stress movement to the penultimate syllable, in the case of proparoxytone adjectives, e.g. δευτέρα, ἐμμορφότερα, μικρότερα (but see below for exceptions). By contrast, the forms with -η normally have fixed stress, e.g. δεύτερη, καθαρώτερη. Although the forms with -α occur throughout the period covered by the Grammar, in general they are found in higher- or mixed-register texts, in more formal contexts, and in formalized expressions. For the contrastive pronoun and determiner ἕτερος, which behaves in the same way, see 5.10.2.

Since it is only the feminine singular that differs from the adjectives in 3.2.1, we shall limit ourselves to these forms in the discussion and examples that follow. The table below gives examples of oxytone and proparoxytone adjectives (the few paroxytone examples, such as ἄσπρος, have fixed stress).

F	General	Restricted
Nom./Voc.	μικρή / δεύτερη	μικρά / δευτέρα
Gen.	μικρῆς / δεύτερης	μικρᾶς / δευτέρας
Acc.	μικρή(ν) / δεύτερη(ν)	μικρά(ν) / δευτέρα(ν)

3.2.3.1 Nominative in -η νὰ μένη ἡ ρηθεῖσα ἐκκλησία ἐλεύθερη (1414, Corfu, MALTEZOU 1991a: (1), 316.18) καλύτερη οὐκ ἦτον Pol. Tr. 291 app. crit. (V) κ' ἡ ξέλαμπρη Φιαμέτα Theseid Prol. E 33 ἡ ἀγάπη ἡ καθαρὴ Fior 83.21

εἶμαι καὶ εὐμορφότερη Diig. Alex. Sem. B 939 γιατὶ πολλὰ ἴαφρ' ἔσου CHORTATIS, Katz. II.380

ἦτονε πλέο ἐλεύθερη καὶ ὀγλήγορη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.14

πλιὰ λαμπρὴ κι ἄσπρύτερη TROILOS, Rodol. V.274

ὡς χήρα ἐλεύτερη (1661, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 225, 199.4)

²¹ The adjective πικρός also exists in a newer form πικρύς (by analogy with γλυκύς) and, with metathesis, πικρύς. For these forms see 3.3.1.

²² It does not follow that all adjectives in -ρος can have a fem. in -α. Those that have only -η include newer formations such as ἀνέγνωρος and μαῦρος.

εἶνε ἀκόμη τρυφερή PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1279 ἡ σέλα ἐπόμεινε ὄφκαιρη KORNAOS, Erot. II.1516 φοβερὴ ἀμάχη EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.12

3.2.3.2 Nominative in -α ἡ μικρότερα (unknown, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1994: 1, 286.39) καλλιωτέρα οὐκ ἦτον Pol. Tr. 1122 (καλλιωτέρη ms B supra lineam; see below for similar forms) καμμία οὐκ ἐφάνηκεν ἐμμορφώτερα Flor. L 922 (Cupane) ἡ λυγερὰ Achil. O 611 (but λυγερή is by far the commoner form in such texts)

 ἡ τελευταία διαθήκη ἔσται ἰσχυρά καὶ βεβαία (1513, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 36, 62.22) ἡ δ' ἄλουπου ἡ πονηρά, ἡ δολιοπανοῦργος Fyll. gadar. 44 ἡ λαμπρά της θεωρίας MOREZINOS, Klini 54.4; ἡ φθονερά καὶ ἄπρονος γυναῖκα ibid. 135.20 ἡ ὑγρά μερά LANDOS, Geopon. 142–143.1

Sometimes the two forms can be found side by side: πολλὰ λαμπρὴ καὶ ὀχυρά Pol. Tr. 240 app. crit. (AVX). In the same text we find, unusually, a feminine form in -α with stress on the antepenultimate: πλουσιώτερα οὐχ εὐρίσκετον πόλις ibid. 1112.

3.2.3.3 Genitive in -ης

This form, without stress movement in proparoxytone words, is found in literary and non-literary texts throughout the period.

τῆς πλέον μεγαλιώτερης Pol. Tr. 11511 τῆς τρίτης τῆς ἀσβολερῆς Alosis 195 τῆς σκληρῆς καὶ τρομερῆς βεντέττας Fior 73.24 τῆς Μικρῆς Βρύσης (1500, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 3, 4.3) ταῖς (sic) καλύτερης κονσιέντζιας (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 132.14) τοῦ μεγαλύτερης μαλίας CHORTATIS, Erof. Interm. IV.40 τῆς ἄσπρης καὶ κόκκινης παπαρούνας LANDOS, Geopon. 263.20–21

3.2.3.4 Genitive in -ας

The older ending is found particularly in mixed-register texts or in religious or other formal contexts, but there are texts that use both types.

τῆς φυλακῆς τῆς μιανῶς GLYKAS, Stichoi 445 τῆς πανευμόρφου καὶ λαμπρῶς Velth. 388 μετὰ πικρῶς, ὀδυνηρῶς καρδίας [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 1379 ἐκ τῆν μεγάλην συμφορὰν πικρῶς αἰχμαλωσίας Alosis 224 τῆς δευτέρας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 356.25 τῆς δευτέρας ποιότητος LANDOS, Geopon. 139.35–140.1; ψυχρῶς ποιότητος ibid. 174.27–8 τῆς φθονερῶς ψυχῆς τίποτες δὲν ἀρέσει Diig. Vefa 1435

3.2.3.5 Accusative in -η(ν)

There are abundant examples of this form in LMedG and EMG texts.

ἄχρι εἰς τὴν σιλλίδην τὴν μικρὴν (1144?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 9, 314.6) συνβουλὴν τὴν ὑπερκαλλιώτερην Assizes B 278.24; μίαν ἐλεύτερην γυναῖκα ibid. 399.2
 μίαν μικρὴν ἀλεποῦν Achil. L 1165 βουλὴν ἐπῆρε δολερή Chron. Mor. P 63 εἰς τιμωρίαν | εἰς πικρὴν καὶ δουλοτάτην Ptochol. α 349–50 εἰς ἀπώλειαν ... φοβερή Theseid Prol. P 5–6 τὴν κακὴν καὶ πονηρὴν ἀγάπην DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 833 μακρύτερην ζωὴν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 278; γιὰ μικρὴν ἀπόλαυσιν ibid. 577 παντὶ ἐλεύθερην (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 452.22) γυναῖκα πλιὰ καλύτερη CHORTATIS, Katz. III.277; καλύτερή τζη κοπελιὰ ibid. III.405–6 τὴν γλῶσσαν του καθαρὴν (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 9, 311.7) γυναῖκα νέαν καὶ τρυφερὴν PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.23

There are also examples of proparoxytone words that undergo stress movement. Most of the examples below are in Cypriot texts (with one Cretan instance). However, alternative forms occur in different mss of the Chronicle of Voustronios. It is probably not a regional feature, but simply an attempt at a more formal morphology.

τὴν δευτέρην ὥραν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 384.36 τὴν καλλυττέρην στράταν VOUSTR., Chron. B 13.7 (but τὴν καλλιόττερην στράτα ibid. A 12.8); τὴν καλλιόττερην στράταν ibid. A 14.10 (but τὴν καλλιόττερην στράταν B 15.9–10); μεγαλλυττέρην χαράν ibid. A 144.4 (but μεγαλύττερην χαράν B 145.4) εἰς τὴν δευτέρην ἐρχομένην βεντέμα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 140, 140.10–11)

3.2.3.6 Accusative in -α(ν)

The older ending, as being more formal or learned, usually occurs with final /n/ and, in the case of proparoxytone words, with shift of stress:

καθαρὰν ἀγάπην Spaneas P 40 ἀνδρείαν περισσοτέραν Dig. E 1334 πόρταν ἐποίησαν μικράν Dig. A 95 τόπου μικράν αναπτυχὴν ευρών υψηλότεραν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 272 τὴν λαμπράν ἱππόλυταν Theseid Prol. E 169 μακράν εἶχεν τὴν ἡλικίαν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 280 τὴν πικράν παρακοὴν Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 105.23 φοβερὰν ἡμέραν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 438 τὴν πικράν τυραννίδα Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 283 διὰ μικράν αἰτίαν MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1415 ὅτι νὰ φυλάξουν τὴν παρθενίαν τοὺς καθαρὰν καὶ ἀμόλυντον Chron. 1619 466 εἶδασιν τὴν ζημίαν τὴν πρῶτην καὶ δευτέραν (1625, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 393.7)

Aberrant forms without shift of stress occur sporadically. These examples are from an 11th c. document and a 17th-c. verse text: καὶ ταύτην μὲν τὴν μονὴν ἔστερξα καὶ ἐβράβευσα ἐλεύθεραν (1097, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 2, 5.3); χερότεραν ὕτροπὴ νὰ λάβωσιν ἐμέλλαν Markada 606.

3.2.3.7 Vocative

Although few examples have been found, the forms are identical with the nominative. The following have the ending -α and shift of stress: καὶ ἀλληθώρα καὶ στραβὴ καὶ χαμηλοβλεποῦσα Diig. tetr. 845; ὑπερενδοξότερα, | τῶν ἀρχαγγέλων καὶ οὐρανῶν καὶ πάντων πλατυτέρα VEST., Prol. Theot. 239–40.

The commonest adjective occurring in the vocative with feminine -η is μωρός. For examples see 3.2.1.

3.2.4 Two-Termination Adjectives in -ος, -ο(ν)

The AG class of adjectives in -ος that had a single form for masculine and feminine genders had disappeared from active use in the vernacular by the LMedG period, although it probably survived in certain locutions, particularly in religious contexts. Numerous examples are, however, found in written texts, especially those in mixed or higher linguistic registers. Recourse to such forms can be viewed as a stylistic trait – a conscious choice for purposes of formality, solemnity, erudition or humour – or it may be occasioned by specific lexical collocations.

By and large, the adjectives in -ος that are used with two terminations in LMedG and EMG texts are adjectives inherited from Classical Greek, where they never – or only rarely – occur with separate feminine forms. They are, typically, compounds of various kinds, or negative adjectives with the prefix ἀ-, but certain other words (e.g. ἥσυχος, φρόνιμος) follow the same pattern. In MedG, and more rarely in EMG, we find some other adjectival words that occur sporadically with masculine forms for feminine referents, particularly ordinal numbers and absolute superlatives, but also some other words. (For examples from Byzantine chronicles, see PSALTES 1913: 188–9.) Examples of this rather rare usage will be given separately below.

As such forms are essentially archaizing, proparoxytone words normally undergo shift of stress to the penultimate (gen. sg. and gen. and acc. pl.), in accordance with AG rules of accentuation.

In this section, we give a range of examples of such usages, i.e. ostensibly masculine forms used for feminine referents, in all grammatical cases, singular and plural. When the same lexical items are used as three-termination adjectives, they follow one of three paradigms: -ος, -η, -ο(ν) (see 3.2.1), -ος, -α, -ο(ν) (3.2.2), or with alternative feminine forms -α/-η (3.2.3). Examples are given in the relevant sections above.

Singular

F	General
Nom./Voc.	φρόνιμος
Gen.	φρονίμου
Acc.	φρόνιμο(ν)

Singular forms are not uncommon in documents from S. Italy and Macedonia (11th–14th c.) and in literary texts, especially – but not only – verse texts (12th–15th c.). Thereafter they become rarer, found most often in religious contexts or in legal documents, where they have a formulaic quality.

Nominative

- ἡ παροῦσα μου ὑπαρχει ἐκούσιος καὶ βέβαιος (1032, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 25, 29.10) ἀπαλαρέα μουχροῦτινος Ptoch. IV 215 ἡ πανέμορφος Dig. E 184 ἡ κόρη ἔναι ἔμορφος καὶ ἀσύγκλιτος εἰς πόθον Liv. V 1227; ἡ κακόμοιρος ἡ μάγισσα ibid. 2583;
 ἡ ἀσύστατος ἡ τύχη ibid. 3984 θλῖψις ἀπαραμύθητος Anak. Konst. 2 ἂν εἶσαι ἔγκυος, κυρά Flor. L 104 (Cupane) ἡ πάναγνος Θεοτόκος Chron. Mor. P 4792 ἡ πάντερπνος Αἰμίλια Theseid Prol. E 200 ἡ Πόλις ἡ κακότυχος Alosis 135 εὐγενική καὶ φρόνιμος καὶ ὁμορφος ... νοικοκυρά καλή καὶ ὀγλήγορος (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.21–4) ἡ δ' ἄλουπτου ἡ πονηρά, ἡ δολιοπανοῦργος Fyll. gadar. 44 ἐπιθυμία θεοχαρίτως Pist. kekoim. 15 ἡ φθονερά καὶ ἄπονος γυναῖκα MOREZINOS, Klini 135.20 (ἡ ἄρρωστία ...) ἦτον ἀγιάτρευτος Thavm. Nikon Metan. IV 4 ὅλη ἔγινεν ἀκατάδεκτος Bertoldos 23.15

Adjectival words which were not two-termination in AG:

- ἐθήκη ξύλινος τζαπωμένη ἄνωθεν διάχρυσος (1142, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 7, 75.46) ἀπέσω κείται κόκκινος μεγάλη φιλομήλα Ptoch. IV 177 (κόκκινη ms H) ἦτον ἡ χώρα πλούσιος Pol. Tr. 2733 app. crit. (R) τρίτος ἡ ἡμέρα [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 918 ἡ πύρινος ἡ κόλασις Defi. Par. 64 ἡ γενεὰ ἡ κάκιστος ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 108

Genitive

- γυναίκας κακομάγου Liv. V 2462; τῆς ἀσυστάτου τύχης ibid. 3454; ἐκ τύχης ἀσυστάτου ibid. 3622 βασιλικοῦ μου τύχης [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1773 μετὰ ἐξ οἰκείας βουλῆς καὶ διακρίτου γνώμης τως νὰ γένῃ (1573 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17, 71.6–7) τῆς ασυγκρίτου καὶ εὐμορφῆς Δουλιτσινέας Don Kis. 51.14–15

Accusative

With only two exceptions, the forms given below have final /n/:

- τὴν παρούσαν ἐκούσιον κατάρθεσιν (1032, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 25, 27.7) τὴν ἀνέκπλοκον, τὴν ἀνεκλύτωτόν μου Eisit. f.8r. 7–8 τὴν ἐκρατοῦμεν ἄγαμον Paroim. D 119 τὴν ἔμνοστον ἡλικίαν Dig. G IV. 193 τὴν βεργόλικον Dig. E 1587 τὴν ἄθλιο μου καρδίαν Liv. V 3641; ἀπὸ ὀλόθλιβον ἐρωτικὴν καρδίαν ibid. 3704 τὴν ἀμέτρητον πικρίαν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1337 τὴν ἄπρονόν τους φταῖση FALIEROS, Thrinis 226; ὦ βάλαει ἔμέν, τὴν ἄτυχον ibid. 247²³ πύρινον ... γλώσσαν BERGADIS, Apok. A 440 τὴν Πόλιν τὴν θεόκτιστον Alosis 128 κουρτῖναν μπλαβόχρυσον (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 94.58) εἰς τὴν Παμμακάριστον τὴν Παναγίαν (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.1) τοῦ ἤδωκεν ὁ Θεὸς μίαν λέπραν κακὴν καὶ ἀνίατον MOREZINOS, Klini 56.20–1 ὅτι νὰ φυλάξουν τὴν παρθενίαν τους καθάραν καὶ ἀμόλυντον Chron. 1619 466 αὐτεῖνη τὴν περιφήμον καὶ ἀκουσμένη πόλην ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 1184 τὴν νόμιμο γυναικὰ του PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2948

The following examples involve absolute superlatives or ordinal numerals, which had separate feminine forms in AG. These, and the corresponding nominative examples given above, could perhaps be regarded as cases of hypercorrection or “pseudo-archaism”.

ζημίαν νὰ ποίση μέγιστον Pol. Tr. 1605 app. crit. (A) πρὸς δεῦτερον ἡμέραν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 884; ὅλην αὐτὴν τὴν δεῦτερον, τὴν τρίτον ὅπως ἴδουν ibid. 1153
 τὴν τέταρτον ἡμέραν SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 106 τὴν δεῦτερο ἡμέρα (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 404, f.4r.13)

Vocative

ψυχὴ μου κακορρίζικε GLYKAS, Stichoi 198 βεργόλικε Dig. E 889
 κυρὰ οἰκοδέσποινα ... ἀκρόκωλε Poulol. 35; πολιτικὴ ἀδιάντροπε ibid. 221 τύχη μου, λέγω, ἀντίδικε DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 92 ζωοπάροχε Δέσποινα! MOREZINOS, Klini 29.26 ὦ γενεὰ ἄπιστε καὶ διεστραμμένη KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 17.17

As with the nominative and accusative, the vocative of the absolute superlative may also be attracted to the “two-termination” pattern. One example has been found: φίλτατε Dig. G II.275.

Plural

F	General
Nom./Voc.	φρόνιμοι
Gen.	φρονίμων
Acc.	φρονίμους

Plural examples are very much rarer. In any case the genitive plural of the feminine would be identical with the masculine, so the question does not arise there. It is possible that the mismatch of endings in the nominative (noun -αι, -ες, or -εις; adjective -οι) was generally avoided for euphonic or other reasons. A few examples of nominative and accusative forms are given below. They include one absolute superlative (Bertoldinos).

²³ See further BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 2002: 102 and n. 6.

Nominative

μύριοι μυριάδες ἀγγέλων KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 366.25
αἱ χαριέστατοι καὶ ἄξιοι γέλωτος ἀπλότητες τοῦ Μπερτολδίνου Bertoldin. tit.

Accusative

θλίψεις ἀμετρήτους Log. parag. L 7 τὰς ἀβαστάκτους λύπας μου Liv. V 768; τὰς ἀμετρήτους συμφορὰς ibid. 3832 τὰς ἀμυθῆτους χάριτας [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1430 ὁδύνας ἀμετρήτους Liv. α 752 σφαγὰς ἀδίκους Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 58 εἰς ἐκ διαφόρους χώρας καὶ κάστρον LANDOS, Geopon. 131.36–7 τὰς ἀχορτάγους ἐπιθυμίας των Bertoldos 15.8
ἀπὸ τὰς πολυτίμους πέτρας Alex. Fyll. 39.19

3.2.5 Contracted Adjectives in -οῦς with Alternative -ός

This category of adjectives in -οῦς is a residual one, in the sense that (a) the contracted forms rarely occur in texts that do not have some learned or higher-register features, (b) very few new lexical items are formed in the same way,²⁴ and (c) its assimilation to the predominant category of adjectives in -ος (see 3.2.1) was already well under way in the EMedG period (PSALTES 1913: 53, 187–8). In the papyri and other texts of the period of the Koine these words are mostly contracted, but uncontracted (“open”) forms of these adjectives, e.g. χρυσέα, are sometimes found, possibly a legacy from Ionic (GIGNAC 1981: 120). Many of the contracted forms shared the same endings as oxytone adjectives in -ος, and this is one of the factors that led to their eventual assimilation. The adjectives that belong in this category are:

- 1) adjectives denoting material or colour, e.g. χρυσοῦς, πορφυροῦς (contracted from -εος);
- 2) multiplicative numerals, e.g. ἀπλοῦς, διπλοῦς (contracted from -όος).²⁵

The endings are the same, irrespective of the original vowels involved in the contraction. However, those words that have a stem ending in <ρ> had, in Classical Greek, feminine singular forms with /a/, e.g. ἀργυρᾶ, ἀργυρᾶς, ἀργυρᾶν. As with adjectives in -ρος (see 3.2.3), that distinction was gradually lost (see examples below).

In the period covered by this Grammar, the “regularized” forms are the most common. The contracted forms are, by and large, restricted to higher- and mixed-register texts. Uncontracted forms are even rarer.

²⁴ The only exceptions found are compounds based on existing words, e.g. κοκκίνοχρυσοῦς. Among productive suffixes that replace -οῦς are: -ινος and -ένιος (for material; see 3.2.1 and 3.2.7 respectively for the paradigms) and -ής (for colour; see 3.4.3).

²⁵ A few other isolated lexical items, mostly compounds, have forms that result from contraction, e.g. ἄπνους, acc. ἄπνουν (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.). They are not included here as it is not possible to construct a complete paradigm for them. The difficulty that writers had in handling such words can be seen in the following example: κείτουνται ἄπνουν καὶ νεκρά Phys. 655 (neuter plural, or indeclinable).

The table below shows the inherited contracted forms, variants where they exist, and (when they differ) the “regularized” forms that follow the -ος paradigm. Some of the differences relate only to accentuation, which may (sometimes) be simply a matter of editorial preference.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	χρυσοῦς ἢ χρυσός	χρυσῆ/χρυσή -ᾶ/-ᾷ	χρυσοῦν ἢ χρυσό(ν)
Gen.	(χρυσοῦ)	χρυσῆς ἢ χρυσέας -ᾶς	(χρυσοῦ)
Acc.	χρυσοῦν ἢ χρυσό(ν)	χρυσῆν ἢ χρυσήν -ᾶ(ν)/-ᾷ(ν)	χρυσοῦν ἢ χρυσό(ν)
Voc.	χρυσέ	(χρυσῆ/χρυσή) (-ᾶ/-ᾷ)	-

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	χρυσοῖ ἢ χρυσοί	(χρυσᾶι) ἢ χρυσές	χρυσᾶ ἢ χρυσά
Gen.	χρυσῶν	χρυσῶν	χρυσῶν
Acc.	χρυσοῦς ἢ χρυσούς ἢ χρυσέους	χρυσᾶς ἢ χρυσάς ἢ χρυσές ἢ χρυσέας	χρυσᾶ ἢ χρυσά -έα
Voc.	χρυσοῖ ἢ χρυσοί	-	-

Singular

Masculine

M	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	-ός	-οῦς	-ύς/-ής
Gen.	-οῦ
Acc.	-ό(ν)	-οῦν	-ύν/-ήν
Voc.	-έ

The forms in -ος and -ο(ν) are found from the 11th c. onwards. Contracted forms of the nominative and accusative occur sporadically in texts that employ higher-register features.

The genitive would be identical in both open and contracted forms, but no examples have been located in the texts examined.

The multiplicative numeral ἀπλοῦς/ἀπλός is found in two texts of the 14th and 15th c. with masculine forms proper to the -ύς or -ής paradigm:

ἀπλῆς ὁ τόπος Chron. Mor. H 6603; εἶδαν τὸν τόπον ἔμνοστον, ἀπλῆν ibid. H 1740 ἀπλὺς καὶ μεταδοτικός, ἐλεύθερος ὅς τὸν χέριν Chron. Toc. 1948 (ms ἀπλῆς)

These rare by-forms may perhaps be symptomatic of anxieties about the “proper” masculine forms of this group of adjectives.

Nominative

ὁ Ἄργυρος (1032, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 25, 28.15) ὁ δὲ χρυσὸς Καλλίμαχος [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2379 χρυσὸς αἰτὸς KORNAROS, Erot. II.1347 διπλοῦς [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2405 ἀπλοῦς PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §18.3

Accusative

κόμπους ἄργυρους στ' καὶ ἐν χαλκὸν (1200, Patmos, ASTRUC 1981: 23.67) διπλὸν μισθὸν λαμβάνωσιν KAMAT., Astron. 3998 τὸν τριπλὸν ὄφιν Ag. Nik. Strat. 45.65 σταυρὸν χαρκὸν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 12.4 χρυσὸν στέφανον Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 161.2 τὸν Λέων Χρυσοῦν (1157?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 10, 316.2) (if the text is secure) διπλοῦν τὸν στεναγμόν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2500

Vocative

χρυσέ μου [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1275

Feminine

F	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-ή/-ῆ	-ά/-ᾶ
Gen.	-ῆς	-ᾶς	-έας
Acc.	-ή(ν)/-ῆν	-ά(ν)/-ᾶ(ν)

In the above table, “restricted” forms apply only to adjectives with a stem ending in /r/, e.g. σιδηροῦς, which can have a feminine σιδηρᾶ. Differences of accentuation are not materially significant. Nominative and accusative forms differ only in the variable addition of /n/ in the accusative. Consequently, only a limited number of examples is given below. One instance of an uncontracted form of the genitive has been found, in a toponym (Χρυσεία or Χρυσεία Πόρτα/Πύλη).

Nominative

μιά στοκοκόπα ἀργυρή (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 80.64) μία κούπα ἀργυρή (1681?, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 129, 293.14) ἄσπρη ἀργυρή μετὰ τὰ χρουσὰ ἢ φορεσὰ του ἐγίνη KORNAPOS, Erot. II.91

Genitive

ἁγίας Θεοτόκου Πανόρμου τῆς λεγομένης χρυσῆς (1140, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IV: 2, 117.5) τῆς διπλῆς τῆς γνώμης BERGADIS, Apok. 302 μετὰ θήκης ἀργυρῆς (1596, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 27, 141.6) τῆς πόρτας τῆς Σιδηρᾶς (ca. 1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 178.236) ἐκ τῆς Χρυσέας Πόρτας (1448, Constantinople?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 9.I, 12.2)

Accusative

λαβίδα ἀργυρὴν (1189, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: App. II, 210.51) διὰ διπλῆν δεκατίαν (1400, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 10, 194.5) μίαν κούπαν ἀργυρὴν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 33, 166.8) ὑπὲρ χρυσὴν ἀκτῖναν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 813; διπλῆν τὴν ζάλην ibid. 2500 σιδηρὴν καρδίαν Alf. Xen. A 3 μετὰ σιδηρὴν καδηνέλαν (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: Inv. 1, 282.28) ἀργυρῇ (1557, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 11, κστ'.48) τὴν χρυσὴν φιάλην Vios Aisop. K 201.23 σιδηρὴ καρδιά Thysia Avr. 444 μία τση καντήλα ἀργυρὴ (1639, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 6, 274.87) μίαν λόγχη σιδηρὴ (1644, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1990: 486.399) γνώμην σιδηρᾶν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 505; πρὸς σιδηρᾶν καρδίαν ibid. 745 λεκάνην σιδηράν LANDOS, Geopon. 271.30

Vocative

ὦ Κρήτης, χώρα μου χρυσή DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 1185

Neuter

N	General	Restricted
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ό(ν)	-οῦν
Gen.	(-οῦ)

The neuter singular endings are similar to the masculine: nominative and accusative forms in -ό(ν) are found throughout the period covered by this Grammar. Forms in -οῦν are restricted to texts with higher-register features. The genitive (-οῦ) can be assumed to be stable, although no forms have been found in the texts examined.

Nominative

δισκοπότηρον ἕνα, τὸ καυκὶ ἀργυρὸ (1557, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 11, κς'.49) ἕνα θυμιατὸ ἀργυρὸ (1644, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1990: 476.62); ἕνα σημαντήρι σιδηρὸ (ibid. 486.412) τὸ σιδηρὸ κασίδι KORNAPOS, Erot. II.2140 ἦν γὰρ χρυσοῦν τὸ στρώμα [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 375 θυμιατήριον χρυσοῦν VEST., Prol. Theot. 376

Accusative

πορφυρόν (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.127) τὸ ἐν ἀργυρόν (1189, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: App. II, 210.51) λουρίκιν ἀργυρόν Dig. E 1491

τὸ δακτυλίδιν τὸ χρυσόν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 260; μῆλον ... τὸ χρυσόν ibid. 1308 ἀνεπετάριν χρυσόν βαρὺ (1682, Cyclades, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 231, 409.6) κρεμαστάλιν σιδηροῦν (1196, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 240, 325.6)

ποκάμισον λινοῦν (1255, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 23, 74.13) ἀπῆρε δισκοποτήριον ἀργυροῦν καὶ χουλιάριον (1316, Constantinople, HUNGER/KRESTEN 1981: 42, 298.10) χαλκοῦν Ptoch. (Maiuri) 65

τὸ μῆλον τὸ χρυσοῦν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1213 χρυσοῦν κιβούριν Byz. Il. 1083 νὰ τὸ κάμουν διπλοῦν MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 315.23

Plural

Masculine

M	General	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-οί/-οῖ
Gen.	-ῶν
Acc.	-οὺς/-οῦς	-έους

Contracted and “regularized” forms are effectively the same (except for the conventions of accentuation), and identical with the forms of the adjectives in 3.2.1. An uncontracted form of the accusative occurs in an 11th-c. document.

Nominative

ἀργυροὶ δὲ οἱ πάλαι Dig. G IV.910

κ' ἐπέφτασι διπλοί, τριπλοί οἱ Τοῦρκοι καὶ τοὺς ἑνίκα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 272.29

Genitive

ἐκ τῶν χρυσῶν δακτύλων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1785

Accusative

διπλοὺς ἔχοντας λόγους KAMAT., Astron. 4005

βραχίονας χαλκοὺς καὶ σιδηροὺς Dig. A 4679 περὶ τοὺς πόδας τοὺς χρυσοὺς [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 518 σκλάβους δύο σιδηροὺς (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: Inv. 2, 284.35)

δυὸ χρυσοὺς αἰτούς KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1669

σταυροὺς ἀργυρέους (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 27.237)

Vocative

Vocative forms, which are identical with the nominative, are understandably rare: ὦ βραχιόνιοι σιδηροὶ Chron. Tōc. 3392.

Feminine

F	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-ές	(-αί ! -αῖ)
Gen.	(-ῶν)
Acc.	-ές	-άς ! -ᾶς	-έας

The forms are identical with those of adjectives in -ος (3.2.1). Here the -άς/-ᾶς forms are classified as “restricted”; very few examples have been found in LMedG texts and even fewer in EMG. An uncontracted form of the accusative plural occurs in a 15th-c. text in mixed register.

Nominative

ὕλογραφίης χρουσές διάφορες (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.136)

Genitive

No examples have been found in the texts examined.

Accusative

βέργες χρυσές (1496, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1, 48.25) πλάνιες σιδηρές (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: Inv. 2, 284.34) εἰς τὲς λεκάνες τὲς χρυσές Alex. Rim. 1290 ἐπαράλαβα χρυσές βέργες (1546, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 11, 48.3) δύο κατίνες σιδερές (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 118, 131.13) μὲ ἀργυρὲς μαγέτες (1632 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 70, 175.37) μὲ τὰς χρυσᾶς νεράδας Dig. E 1685 μπούκλας χρουσᾶς Assizes B 295.26 νὰ ἔχουν καὶ διπλᾶς τὰς βρύσεις τοῦ γάλακτος SOFIANOS, Paidag. 99.23 ἀγγύρας σιδηρέας ΚΑΝΑΝΟΣ, Diig. 65.314–315

Neuter

N	General	Rare
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ά ! -ᾶ	-έα
Gen.	-ῶ(ν)

The forms exhibit no significant variation (cf. the corresponding forms for the adjectives in 3.2.1). Deletion of final /n/ in the genitive occurs in a Cretan text. A single example of an uncontracted form has been found: κοκκινοχρυσέα. As it comes at the end of a 15-syllable verse, metrical pressure may be suspected.

Nominative

ἕτερα σκεύη ἀργυρά χρουσά ἔγκαυστα (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.131); μανουάλια χαλκὰ δύο καὶ σιδερά πέντε (ibid. 24.138) διπλᾶ (1591, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1949: 162.10) λόγια εἶναι πολλὰ ἀπλὰ PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §13.15 τὰ ἡθη οἱποῦ εἶναι ἐπίβουλα καὶ ὄχι απλὰ Theophr. Char. 120.6

Genitive

τῷ χρουσῷ μαλλιῷ KORNAOS, Erot. IV.470 (for deletion of final /n/ see I, 3.7.2.2.)

Accusative

μὲ τὰ χρυσὰ λιλούδια Dig. E 1489 διπλᾶ βυζία SOFIANOS, Paidag. 99.22; ἐνδύματα πορφυρᾶ ibid. 117.8
 νὰ πληρώνη διπλὰ ZYGOM., Synopsis 157.Γ.23 μία τραχηλέα τοτίνια ἀργυρὰ (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 24, 44.12) μὲ δαμάσκα πορφυρὰ (1663, Venice, MALTEZOU 2000: 17.16); τὰ ξῆ μανουάλια τὰ ἀργυρὰ
 (ibid. 17.25)
 χρυσά, βαριά (1682, Cyclades, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 231, 407.23) ἄρματα διπλὰ KORNAOS, Erot. IV.1643 γομάτες νὰ ἵναι τὰ φλουριά, τὰ κοκκινοχρυσέα LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 672

3.2.6 Adjectives in -άριος/-άρης

Adjectives in this category are formed with the suffix -(ι)άριος, originally derived from the Latin -arius and -iarius. They must be seen in close association with masculine nouns in -άριος/-άρης, for which see 2.7. The earliest items in this category must have been loanwords from Latin, but the suffix was then used to form new nouns and adjectives, based on Greek roots. This process began in Late Antiquity, and continued in EMedG. (For the suffix -άριος/-άρις see FILOS 2009 and for older views CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 421–2 and B 581–2; see further ibid. B 527, where the MG suffix -άρης, denoting some infirmity or defect, is claimed to derive from Latin -aris. See also PSALTES 1913: 258–60; and for nouns in -άριος and -αρία in S. Italy, MINAS 2003: 134 and 140. For the change of unstressed /io/ to /i/ that pre-dates the period of this Grammar, see I, 2.9.2.1.)

The early history of these formations, comprising both Latin loanwords adapted to Greek morphology and new words consisting of a Greek (usually nominal) stem + suffix -άριος, need not be discussed here. What is clear is that the suffix was productive in the EMedG period, as the following examples show: δαμονιάρης Leontius of Neapolis, Life of Symeon the Holy Fool 82.8 (see also LBG s.v. δαμονιάρης), and (in proper names) ὁ Μυξιάρης Symeon Magister, Chron. 699.13; τὸν Στραβοτριχάρην Μιχαήλ Cedrenus, Chron. II.515.5. Such adjectives initially followed the regular paradigm of other adjectives in -ιος (see above, 3.2.2), i.e. -άριος, -αρία, -άριον (with paroxytone feminine, though no example has been located); the masculine singular forms (nom. and acc.) subsequently underwent the change of /io/ to /i/ (perhaps by analogy with the corresponding nouns; see I, 2.9.2.1), resulting in nominative -άρης (the spelling -άρις is frequent in manuscripts and older editions). The development of feminine forms is more difficult to chart. By the beginning of the LMedG period a feminine in -αρέα is well established. This is usually explained (CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: B 227–9) as comparable to, and on the analogy of, the feminine of adjectives in -ύς, e.g. βαρέα < βαρεῖα, for which see 3.3.1. However, more research is needed on the dating and origins of these forms. In the course of the LMedG period, the feminine forms undergo synzesis, although it may not always be apparent in the writing system (see I, 2.9.4). An alternative development, however, is regression of stress to -άρια. This form occurs in a Cypriot text of the late 15th c., but there is too little evidence to determine whether it had a broader geographical distribution.

In Cretan texts, from the early 16th c. onwards, feminine forms in -αρά occur. This development, resulting from deletion of the first vowel of the sequence /ea/ after the liquid /r/, is exactly parallel to what happens to the feminine of the adjective βαρύς (see I, 2.4.7.4 and II, 3.3.1). In the feminine plural, the forms ending in -αρές result from the simplification of two identical vowels. Texts with West Cretan connections, however, may show a phonological change of /ea/ to /e/ after the liquid /r/, e.g. κοψαρέ, a change which also occurs in feminine nouns (see I, 2.4.7.4 and II, 2.11.4). The only evidence for the existence of a feminine in -άρα (the SMG form) is a plural ἀπομονάρες in a 17th-c. Cretan literary text. This form, for adjectives with masculine in -άρης, seems to be a rather late development.²⁶

The masculine plural forms exhibit considerable variation, not dissimilar to that found for nouns of related paradigms. See below for the details. Finally, neuter forms present one of two distinct patterns: either sg. -άρι(ν) pl. -άρια, or sg. -άρικο(ν) pl. -άρικα. The evidence so far gathered does not permit any firm conclusion as to whether the variation is word-specific or subject to other variables.

This category includes numerous adjectives referring to personal appearance, physical states, qualities, age and a mixed bag of other lexical items. It cannot be overemphasized that adjectives are often indistinguishable from nouns in terms of their morphology and syntax.

In the synoptic table below, some forms which are plausible (but unattested in the period covered by this Grammar) are given in brackets. In other cases we have not attempted to reconstruct hypothetical forms for which no evidence is available.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	ἀπομονάριος † ἀπομονάρης	ἀπομοναρία † ἀπομοναρέα † ἀπομονάρια † ἀπομοναριά † ἀπομοναρά † (ἀπομοναρέ)	ἀπομονάρι(ν) † ἀπομονάρικο(ν) † (ἀπομονάριο)
Gen.	ἀπομονάρη † ἀπομονάρου	ἀπομοναριᾶς † ἀπομοναρέας † (ἀπομοναράς)	ἀπομοναριοῦ
Acc.	(ἀπομονάριο(ν)) † ἀπομονάρη(ν)	(ἀπομοναρία(ν)) † ἀπομοναρέα(ν) † ἀπομονάρια(ν) † (ἀπομοναριά(ν)) † ἀπομοναρά(ν) † ἀπομοναρέ	ἀπομονάρι(ν) † ἀπομονάρικο(ν) † ἀπομονάριο
Voc.	ἀπομονάρη	(ἀπομοναρία) † ἀπομοναρέα † ἀπομοναρά † (ἀπομοναρέ)	(ἀπομονάρι(ν)) † ἀπομονάρικο(ν)

²⁶ There is one further piece of problematic evidence: ἡ γυναῖκα μου εἶναι σιγχασιάρα Vios Aisop. I 66.29 (Paphomopoulos), but the reading is uncertain.

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	ἀπομονάροι ἢ ἀπομονάρηδες ἢ ἀπομοναραῖοι ἢ ἀπομοναροί	(ἀπομοναρές) ἢ ἀπομοναρές	ἀπομονάρια ἢ ἀπομονάρικα
Gen.	ἀπομοναρίων ἢ ἀπομοναριῶν ἢ ἀπομονάρων(ν) ἢ ἀπομοναῶν(ν)	—	ἀπομοναρίων ἢ ἀπομοναῶν(ν)
Acc.	ἀπομονάρους ἢ ἀπομοναραίους ἢ ἀπομονάρηδες	ἀπομοναρέας ἢ ἀπομοναρές ἢ ἀπομονάρες	ἀπομονάρια ἢ ἀπομονάρικα
Voc.	(ἀπομονάροι) ἢ ἀπομονάρηδες	—	—

Singular

Masculine

M	General	Rare
Nom.	-άρης	-άριος
Gen.	-άρη	-άρου
Acc.	-άρη(ν)	(-άριο(ν))
Voc.	-άρη

There is little variation in the masculine singular forms. The nominative in -άριος is rare in adjectives of this type, the normal form being -άρης, sometimes written as -άρις in older editions. For the genitive the normal form is -άρη. It might be expected that -αρίου would appear in higher-register texts, but no clearly adjectival example has been found. A few instances of -άρου have been recorded; this form must derive directly from the nom. in -άρης, rather than from -αρίου with deletion of /j/ after /t/ (cf. the masc. acc. pl.). The accusative appears with and without final /n/, but otherwise exhibits no allomorphy. The vocative is quite common, normally with the ending -άρη (see below for a dubious case).

Nominative

Only two examples of -άριος have been found, the second being an imitation of Italian. The form -άρης is common throughout the period, particularly in literary texts:

δαιμονιάριος (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 239.414) ἕνας ἄνθρωπος ὀρδινάριος Bertoldos 10.7–8 πτωχὸς ... καὶ καυχησάρις ΚΑΜΑΤ., Astron. 435

ὑπνιάρης Ptoch. IV 628

ψεματάρης Chron. Mor. H 5799 κοιλιάρης ΕΡΜΟΝ., Ilias 4.236

ἦτον τριακοντάρης PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 408

ὑπνιάρης γοῦν καὶ μεθυστής, μᾶλλον καὶ καυχουλάρης Spaneas Z 384 δαιμονιάρης DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2931 ό ζηλιάρης Fior 88.1

 εύτυχιάρης Diig. Alex. F 106.6 (Lolos) τούς χρόνους δωδεκάρης Alex. Rim. 247 ο saliaris / ό σαλιάρης BAROZZI, Letter 359.27–8 άναμαλλιάρης Diig. Alex. Sem. S 46 κλινάρης Ekth. Chron. 49.22 άρχάρης MOREZINOS, Klini 172.18 γελασιάρης Vosk. 385
 ώσάν άφορμάρης (1628, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 2, 332.10) διατὶ ἔναι σκιαζάρης MONTSEL., Evgena 443 άνθρωπος πεισματάρης Chron. Tourk. Soult. 41.24–5 ἦτον άνθρωπος ξευλογιάρης PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §35.5; ψειργιάρης ibid. III §29.13 δέν είμαι ζουλιάρης όσον είμαι παραπτονιάρης Paroim. (Warner) 61.10 νά μήν είνι θεληματάρης (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 25, f.51r.9)

Genitive

The form -άρου (see above) has been found only in texts from S. Italy and Cyprus, and in a 16th-c. prose version of the Alexander Romance. A single example of oxytone -αροῦ has been found. The latter form derives from -αρίου, which underwent synizesis and subsequent deletion of /j/ following the liquid /r/. Otherwise, -άρη is the normal form.

Ἰωάννου τοῦ Σαραντάρου (1054, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 41, 51.2) τοῦ Λυσσάρου (1154, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 149, 197.7) οἱ τοῦ δαιμονιάρου παῖδες (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 241.509–10) τοῦ ριζικάρου Diig. Alex. F 112.6 (Lolos) τοῦ ριζικαροῦ ἔκεινοῦ βασιλέως [VLASTOS], Dig. P 342.25 Βασιλείου Λυσσάρη (1155, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 24, 146.2) τοῦ ριζικάρη Diig. Alex. E 113.6 (Lolos) τοῦ καυχισάρη CHORTATSI, Katz. I.165 ἴνους σαλιάρη ... ἴνους κατσιποδιάρη FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.367–8 τοῦ άρρωστάρη KORNAROS, Erot. V.900 ζηλιάρη Diig. Vefa 1433 του ζηλιάρη ανδρός της Don Kis. 4.25

Accusative

άδηφάγον γουλάρην Ptoch. IV 297 τσαγγάρην άχρηστον όμοιάζεις καί βρωμιάρην Poulol. 27 σάν τόν λυσσάρη σκύλον CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 210 νά σκοτώσω τό σκύλλον τόν ψωριάρην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 232.15–16; τόν κιτρινιάρην ibid. V 594.17–18 τόν λυσσιάρην Alosis 471 φοβητσιάρην Fior 129.6
 ἴτι δέν εύρίσκω πούπετε όμοιο σου ριζικάρη KORONAIOS, Pittakin 64 ζουλιάρη Epain. gyn. 626 εύτυχιάρην Diig. Alex. E 107.5 (Lolos) τόν άζιγανιάρη P&N Diath. 607; ἦκαμε ... τόν Ἰησοῦν χρονιάρη ibid. 4312 άναμαλλιάρη Vosk. 419; δαιμονιάρη ibid. 420 ἔναν περηφανιάρη Pist. voskos I 3.47 τό φοβιτσάρην άφοβο, πρόθυμο τόν όκνιάρη KORNAROS, Erot. I.549

Vocative

ὦ λύκε, λυσσιάρη Pol. Tr. 3432b app. crit. (V) ὦ ὀκνιάρη Fior 109.34

ὦ παραφρασιάρη Diig. Alex. F 154.8 (Lolos) κανακάρη μου P&N Diath. 2816

ξύπνησε, κανακάρη μου Thysia Avr. 483

ποῦ τς ἔχω ἐγὼ τς ἀγαφτικές καὶ λές το, ψοματάρη FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.545 λωλὲ καὶ δαιμονιάρη KONDAR., Paides 978

δειλιάρη PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2978

ποῦ σὲ πρέπει, κασσιδιάρη, μαργαριταρένια σκούφια; Paroim. (Warner) 68.6

One instance of vocative in -άρη has been found: σιγχασάρε Vios Aisop. I 68.24 (Papathomopoulos), but the text is dubious. The Eideneier edition offers σιγχασερέ; it may result from confusion with the adjective σιχαμερός.

Feminine

F	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-αρέα † -αριά	-άριαί -αρά † (-αρέ)	-αρία
Gen.	-αρέας † -αριᾶς	(-αράς)
Acc.	-αρέα(ν) † -αριά(ν) †	-άρια(ν) † -αρά(ν) † -αρέ	(-αρία(ν))

Texts which are presumed to date from the 12th–14th c. generally have -αρέα. The late-15th-c. Cypriot adaptation of the Fior di virtù has nominative and accusative forms in -άρια, which are otherwise uncommon; they do, however, occur in loanwords from Italian used as legal terms in Cretan documents.²⁷ In grammars and dictionaries (17th and 18th c.), forms with synizesis (e.g. φεμματριά) are presented as standard, while in Cretan texts, both literary and non-literary, from the early 16th c. onwards we encounter forms with synizesis and vowel deletion, as mentioned above: -αρά is characteristically Cretan but also occurs in some Heptanesian texts (e.g. Montselese). Mention must also be made of feminine forms with the nominal derivational suffix -ισσα, e.g. ἀλλ' εἶσαι φεμματάρισσα Diig. tetr. 285, although these might better be regarded as nouns. Conversely, these adjectives may borrow the adjectival suffix -ικος, as in, for example: διὰ τὴν φονιάρικην γνώ<μην> RODINOS, Vios Ign. 105.17. Only three genitive forms have been located in the texts examined.

Nominative

The usual form in LMedG texts is -αρέα. New forms begin to appear from the late 15th c., as discussed above. Accusative forms follow the same pattern.

ἡ θύννα ἡ βρομιαρέα Ptoch. IV 109

μαγγαναρέα, μιαρή Diig. tetr. 286; ἡ βρωμομυξαρέα ... ἡ προβατίνα ibid. 413–14

²⁷ Adjectives such as ἀρμπιτράριος, λιβεράριος and ὀρδενάριος (BAKKER 1988/89: 316) should rather be seen as belonging to the category of adjectives in -ος with fem. -α.

ὥσπε (sic) δαιμονιαρέα Pol. Tr. 6667 app. crit. (A) ἐγίνη λυσσαρέα Pol. Tr. 12483 app. crit. (ACX); λυσσαρία ibid. app. crit. (V) ἡ γυναῖκα ἡ λυσσαρία Fior 84.32; λυσσαριά ibid. app. crit. (I) ἡ γυναῖκα μου εἶναι σιγχασαρία Vios Aisop. I 253.31 ψοματάρης, ψοματαριά GERMANO, Grammar 64.28–9 bugiardo. ψεματάρης ... Fem. ψεματαριά, ψεύτρια GERMANO, Vocab. s.v.; geloso. ζηλιάρης ...
 Fem. ζηλιαριά ibid. s.v. διακονάρης ..., διακοναριά PORTIUS, Grammar 24.27 νὰ μὴ βρεθῶ ψεματαριά VEST., Prol. Theot. 204 κανακαριά ... τζαμπουνιαριά ... τζαμπουναριά ... χαδιαριά ... ψεματαριά ... ψωματαριά SOMAVERA, Lex. s.vv.

Examples of forms with -αρά in Cretan and Heptanesian texts:

ἀρχαρά MOREZINOS, Klini 220.13 αἶγα μια σκουληκιαρά CHORTATSI, Panor. IV.52; ντροπιαρά ibid. IV.165 ζηλιαρά MONTSEL., Evgena 1525 κι ἐκείνη εἶναι κατεχαρά FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.279 ἀπού τῇ σπορά ἀπού θελε τοῦ τοκάρει ἀπομοναρά (1660, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 15, 378.27)
 ἀφορμαρά KORNAROS, Erot. I.1014 and V.977

Genitive

τῆς δαιμονιαραίας ὁ γάμος μένει στερεός (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 234.259); τῆς γυναικὸς τῆς δαιμονιαραίας (ibid. 234.267) τοῦ ἡγούμενου Κανακαριάς (1704, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 2, 54.5)

Accusative

ἡ θύνναν βρωμιαρέαν Ptoch. IV 237 τὴν σκύλα ... τὴν λυσσαρέαν Synax. gyn. 240 (ms λιγαρέαν; for the correction see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. λιγαρέα)
 μία σκρόφαν χαλιζάρια Assizes A 251.17 γυναῖκα θυμωτάρια Fior 84.21–2 ὀγιά λιβελάρια πλερωμή (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 652, 569.6) τὴν ἀπομοναράν (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 11, 19.16) ὡς κανακαρά Apoll. Rim. A 513 ζηλιαρά Stathis III.379
 τὴν κανακαρά FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.396

While the West Cretan feminine ending -έ is common for nouns (see 2.11.4), only one adjectival form has been found, in a text which otherwise uses -αρά: σα μιαν αἶγα κοψαρέ CHORTATSI, Panor. II.82.

Vocative

κοντοποδαρέα Diig. tetr. 844; προβατομουξαρέα ibid. 431 ψοματαρά Pist. voskos II 3.37 κανακαρά FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.483

Neuter

N	General	Rare
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-άρι(ν) -άρικο(ν)	-αριό
Gen.	-αριοῦ

There are two alternative neuter forms in use, essentially throughout the period covered by this Grammar; for both forms the earliest examples located are in the Ptochoprodromic Poems (presumed 12th c., but earliest mss 14th c.). In some cases the choice appears to be word-specific: ἀπομονάρης does not seem to have -άρικο forms in either the singular or the plural. Other adjectives, however, e.g. ροζ(ι)άρης, χρον(ι)άρης, exhibit both types of neuter form. A third form, in -αριό, has been found only in a 17th/18th-c. religious drama from Syros. Only one genitive form has been located in the texts examined.

Nominative

ὀρνίθιν κορυζιάριν Ptoch. IV 471 γελατσάρι CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2033 κοιλιάριν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2968 ἀνεψητάρι πανίν (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: Inv. 5, 289.13) τὸ φουσσᾶτον | τὰπομονάριν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 2510–11 τὸ ἐν ἧτον σκαρλάτον ἐξηγτάρι (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 179.16) φθειριάρικον, κοντριάρικον Ptoch. IV 470; ψειριάρικον, κοντριάρικο, ibid. app. crit. (P) ζηλλιάρικον Fior 87.11; τὸ περίτου ξιππαστάρικον ζόν ibid. 129.1; ἓνα πουλλὴν τόσον γουλλιάρικον ibid. 144.36 τὸ κανακάρικό μου SKLAVOS, Symf. 73 σκουληκιάρικο (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 400, 396.12) ὥσαν πῶς ἓνα χρονιάρικον παιδὶν DAM. STOD., This., Logos 24, ω7r.9 (1561) τὸ δόλον ψεματάρικον εὐρίσκετον ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1378 τὸ κανακάρικό μου Thysia Avr. 313 ψοματάρης ... ψοματάρικον GERMANO, Grammar 64.28–9 ροζάρικον LANDOS, Geopon. 158.18 εἶναι πολλὰ καλὸ δουλευτάρικο (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 303, f.1r.16) κανακάρικον παιδί SOMAVERA, Lex. s.v. ζουλιάρικο πράγμα εἶναι ἡ βασιλεία Irodis II. 183; τὸν ἔφαγεν τὸ δαγκανιάρικο σκουλήκι τῆς συνειδήσεως ibid. 325–6

Genitive

τοῦ ἀπομοναριοῦ λιβαδιοῦ (1609, Crete, PENDOGALOS 1972: 2, 189.9) (no accent in the ms)

Accusative

τ' ἄδυναμάρι CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1111 δένδρον ροζιάριν SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 20 ἓνα ταυρὶ χρονάρι (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 118, 131.16) τὸ ἀπομονάρι ξάμπελο (1607, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 463, 421.3–4) μικρὸν παιδί ἀνήλικο βυζανάρι (1615, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2011: 4, 215.1) ἄλογο φοβιτσάρι KORNAPOS, Erot. II.2332

τὸ ὄνικόν, ἐκεῖνο τὸ ψωριάρικον Poulol. 440 app. crit. (E) δέντρο ροζάρικον DEFAR., Log. did. 117 βλαστάρι χρονιάρικον LANDOS, Geopon. 149.29

τὸ ψωριάρικον πρόβατον PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §5.14 μεταμορφώνεται εἰς βυζαναριὸ παιδί Irodis I.191; εἰς ἓνα γυμνὸ καὶ βυζαναριὸ παιδί ibid. II. 11 (for pl. βυζανάρικα in the same text, see below)

Vocative

ἄσκιν βρωμιάρικον Poulol. 56

ξύπνησε, κανακάρικο Thysia Avr. 433 ὑπερηφανιάρικο κοπέλι Pist. voskos I 2.365

Plural

Masculine

M	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-ἄροι -ἄρηδες		-αροί -αράϊοι
Gen.	-αρίων -αριῶν -ἄρω(ν)	-αρῶ(ν)
Acc.	-ἄρους -ἄρηδες		-αράϊους

The two most common endings for the nominative plural are -ἄροι and -ἄρηδες, and for the accusative -ἄρους and -ἄρηδες (cf. the corresponding noun paradigm, 2.7). Neither type has been found before the late 15th c. The -ἄροι and -ἄρους forms occur mainly in texts from Crete, the Peloponnese and the Heptanese. An original -ἀριοί became -ἄροι by simplification of the consecutive identical vowels (see I, 2.9.2.1); the accusative is then formed on the analogy of the nominative. The other forms, regarded as “rare”, require some explanation: the oxytone -αροί found only in two texts of the 17th c., one written by a Heptanesian, the other from Macedonia, may be compared with the oxytone feminine forms, though they are not necessarily analogical. The forms with -αράϊοι, occurring in two 16th-c. manuscripts of the Alexander Romance and a late-17th-c. document from Transylvania, are modelled on the corresponding noun paradigm (see 2.7). A corresponding accusative with -αράϊους has also been found in a 16th-c. Heptanesian document.

For the genitive plural – as usual, occurrences are rare – both oxytone and paroxytone forms are found in the texts examined. The form in -ἄρω(ν) follows the pattern of nominative -ἄροι and accusative -ἄρους. The form -αριῶν would result from synizesis of -αρίων. The Cretan -αρῶ should probably be regarded as analogical. However, examples are too few to permit firm conclusions.

Nominative

The form in -ἄροι is the best represented, with examples from southern and south-western regions; texts from Cyprus, in particular, appear to have a preference for -ἄρηδες.

πολλὰ εἶν' θεληματάροι Chron. Mor. H 604; ὅλοι θεληματάροι ibid. 6935 ἀφορμάροι CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1869 πολλοὶ γὰρ εἶναι κι ἄνανδροι καὶ φοβητσάρ' ὡς λάφια KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VI.241 τριαντάροι Deft. Par. 14 γοὶ ἀπομονάροι ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1946 ὀκνιάροι P&N Diath. 52; ζηλιάροι ibid. 381; οἱ ἀπομονάροι ibid. 787 ἐμεῖς οἱ ἀπομονάροι (1604–5, Cythera, ΜΑΥΡΟΕΙΔΙ 1978: 150.92–3) καὶ φοβητσάροι οὔλοι FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 71; οἱ ἀγογιάροι ibid. I.236 ψωριάροι KORNAROS, Erot. I.1473 ὡς ἀφορμάροι Leilasia Par. 417 λυσσαροὶ PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §1.9 ὥσπερ κύνες λυσσαροὶ DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 334 σκιασταραῖοι Diig. Alex. F 74.23 and Diig. Alex. E 147.24 (Konstantinopulos) νὰ μὴ εἶνι θιλιματαραῖοι (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 25, f.51r.4–5) ἐνι ψεματάρηδες Fior 131.35 ὅτ' εἶναι φοβητσάρηδες ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 56.2 εἴστε φοβητσάρηδες KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 8.26 ἄς μὴν γενόμεσθεν ὀκνιάρηδες RODINOS, Vios Ign. 112.9

Genitive

ὅτι ἔνε παῖδες μωρῶν ἢ δαιμονιαρίων (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 242.516) τῶν σκύλων τὲ τῶν λυσσαρίων KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua IX.160 ὁμπρὸς τῶν ἀπομοναρῶ P&N Diath. 3091 τῶν ἀπομοναρῶ ἀθρόπῳ (1668, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 20, 425.14) τῶν πεισματάρῳ CHORTATIS, Panor. V.190 (in rhyme)

Accusative

ὡσὰν λυσσάρους σκύλους SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 279 ἀπομονάρους MOREZINOS, Klini 25.8 ζηλιάρους Pist. voskos I.3.108 τσὶ ἀπομονάρους σπάρους (1620, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 363, 337.12) τσὶ παραθεσμιάρους ... τς ἀνεπαψάρους FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 23–4 τοὺς μανισάρους BOUNIALIS M., Kat. ofel. 423 ἀφορμάρους KORNAROS, Erot. I.214 ἀπὸ τοὺς σκιαχταραῖους τοὺς ἄνδρες Diig. Alex. K 369.14 τοὺς ζηλιάρηδες Fior 122.31 χαλαζιάρηδες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 238 ὅσους λωβοὺς καὶ κασσιδιάρηδες ἐκαθάρισεν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 121.14–15

Vocative

κατεχάροι τη καρδιάς CHORTATIS, Panor. II.486 (though the adjective here functions more like a noun: it is paralleled with γνώστες) ζουλιάρηδες VEST., Pathi 274 ἰδέτε οἱ ζηλιάρηδες, ὅσοι κι' ἂν μ' ἀγροικᾶτε KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.705

Feminine

F	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	(-αρέες)	-αρές
Gen.	–
Acc.	-αρέας	-αρές	-άρες

The picture offered by the very limited number of occurrences is incomplete: almost all the examples are from Cretan texts. The nominative -αρές can be assumed to derive from *-αρέες, with simplification of the repeated vowel (see I, 2.9.2.1); cf. the accusative βρομιαρέας, with the older ending -ας, in a 15th-c. text. The alternative form in -άρες, of which a single example has been located, may be formed on the analogy of the masculine plural. Examples of the genitive are lacking.

Nominative

οἱ ἀπομοναρές μέλισσες (1541, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 222, 213.21) οἱ ἀπομοναρές μας P&N Diath. 1795

Accusative

καὶ ἀπὸ βρομιαρέας μὴ ἐγλύσης Opsarol. 83 τὲς ἀπομοναρές (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 56, 54.10) βυζασταρές FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.537, V.66 μὲ τσι ἀπομοναρές ἑλές (1660, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 15, 378.21) παρὰ τς ἀπομονάρες Pist. voskos I.3.138

Neuter

N	General	Restricted
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-άρια ἰ -άρικα
Gen.	-αρίων	-αρῶ(ν)

For the two types of neuter plural form, see under neuter singular (above). There are too few examples to determine regional differences. Two genitive plural forms have been found: one (from S. Italy) in -αρίων, which we would expect to be the “normal” form, with possible synizesis; the other (-αρῶ(ν), in Cretan texts) is identical with one of the masculine forms discussed above.

Nominative

τὰ ἀπομονάρια στάμενα (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 97.136) ἀλησμονιάρικα SOFIANOS, Paidag. 114.6 χροινιάρικα (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 832, 727.5) νὰ μὴ γένουνται τὰ ἀπίδια σκουληκιάρικα LANDOS, Geopon. 153.6–7; νερουλιάρικα ibid. 219.12 μικρὰ παιδιὰ βυζανιάρικα Diig. Sant. 56.79

Genitive

τῶν δύο βινιαλίων πεντηνταρίων (1033, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 26, 30.21) τῶν ἀπομοναρῶν παιδιῶν (1543, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 239, 225.17) τῶν ἀπομοναρῶ ἀδελφιῶ (1598, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 1, 213.27)

Accusative

δύο ἀμπελότοπα πεντηκοντάρια (1116, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 79, 103.10) εἰς τὰ ἀδέλφια του τὰ ἀπομονάρια (1394, Crete, SANTSCHI 1976: 1597, 344.9) μὲ τὰ ἀπομονάρια μου μέλη (1446, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 17, 98.2) τὰ ἀπομονάρια εὐτιασίματά του (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 703, 546.12) στὰ ἵπομονάργια μερδικὰ (1598, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 1, 213.28) τ' ἀπομονάρια Pist. voskos I.5.80 διὰ τὰ ἀπομονάρια μου παιδιὰ (1628, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 504, 480.8) τ' ἀπομονάρια KORNAROS, Erot. IV.830 διὰ τὰ πράγματα τὰ ριζικάρικα Assizes A 46.4
 νὰ δώκη τὰ αὐτὰ χωράφια ... διὰ μερτικάρικα (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 31, 71.11) ὡσάν καλά τση καὶ θεληματάρικα παιδιὰ (1598, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 1, 213–214.30) κλήματα ... χρονιάρικα (1607, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 463, 421.3) πηχιάρικα μαντήλια ὀκτώ (1636, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 3, 216.12) ζῶα ψωριάρικα LANDOS, Geopon. 242.33
 τὰ βυζανάρικα σήμερον παιδιὰ ἔπνιξεν Irodis II.406–7

3.2.7 Adjectives in -ένιος

This category of adjectives originates from AG adjectives in -έϊνος, formed by the addition of the suffix -ινος to nouns ending in -έα or -έως (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 117–18). These adjectives also appear in MedG and MG with the suffix -ένιος, as a result of metathesis, although the forms in -έϊνος continue to be used for certain lexical items and in higher-register texts. The derivational suffix -ένιος becomes very productive in the period covered by this Grammar. Such adjectives usually denote the material from which something is made, e.g. ἀσημένιος, δρυένιος, μαρμαρένιος, but note also οὐδετιποτένιος and μηδετιποτένιος (“of no account”).

An alternative development of the suffix -έϊνος is to -ένος, as a result of deletion of the second vowel (see I, 2.9.2.1). Forms in -ένος are found mainly in Cyprus, the Dodecanese and the Cyclades. When /n/ is followed by /i/ in the ending, it is likely to have been pronounced with some degree of palatalization (i.e. approaching [ɲ]), which the writing system does not indicate. On this issue see I, 3.2.3 and I, 3.8.2.3. While the forms in -ένιος give rise to feminine -ένια (like adjectives in 3.2.2), those in -ένος have feminine singular forms in -ένη etc. (like adjectives in 3.2.1). The allomorphy depicted in the tables below should therefore be regarded as derivational rather than inflectional.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	μαρμαρένιος ἰ μαρμαρένος ἰ μαρμαρέινος	μαρμαρένια ἰ μαρμαρένη ἰ (μαρμαρέινη)	μαρμαρένιο(ν) ἰ μαρμαρένο(ν) ἰ (μαρμαρέινο(ν))
Gen.	μαρμαρένιου ἰ (μαρμαρένου)	μαρμαρένιας ἰ μαρμαρένης	—
Acc.	μαρμαρένιο(ν) ἰ μαρμαρένο(ν)	μαρμαρένια(ν) ἰ μαρμαρένη(ν) ἰ μαρμαρέινη(ν)	μαρμαρένιο(ν) ἰ μαρμαρένο(ν) ἰ μαρμαρέινο(ν)
Voc.	μαρμαρένιε	μαρμαρένια ἰ μαρμαρένη ἰ (μαρμαρέινη)	(μαρμαρένιο(ν)) ἰ μαρμαρένο(ν)

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	(μαρμαρένιοι) ἰ μαρμαρένοι ἰ (μαρμαρέινοι)	μαρμαρένιες ἰ μαρμαρένες	μαρμαρένια ἰ μαρμαρένα
Gen.	μαρμαρένιων	—	-
Acc.	μαρμαρένιους ἰ μαρμαρένους ἰ μαρμαρέινους	μαρμαρένιες ἰ μαρμαρένες ἰ μαρμαρένας ἰ μαρμαρέινες	μαρμαρένια ἰ μαρμαρένα
Voc.	(μαρμαρένιοι) ἰ μαρμαρένοι	—	(μαρμαρένια) ἰ μαρμαρένα ἰ μαρμαρέινα

Singular

Masculine

M	General	Restricted
Nom.	-ένιος	-ένος
Gen.	-ένιου
Acc.	-ένιο(ν)	-ένο(ν)
Voc.	-ένιε

The endings of the masculine singular forms correspond to those of adjectives in -ος. Forms with -ένος, which occur regularly in texts from Cyprus, are also found sporadically in texts from Sicily, the Dodecanese, Naxos and Santorini.

Nominative

- τζέντανος βελουδένιος (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.46) γείς κρουσταλλένιος τράχηλας CHORTATSI, Panor. I.81 (misprint τράχηλος in ed.)
 ένας μαρμαρένιος σταυρός RODINOS, Vios Ign. 83.2 ὡσάν οὐδετιποτένιος KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 9.12 ένας συρματένιος (1693, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 10, 407.25–6) ὡς πύργος σιδερένιος Katal. 52 (Panayotopoulou) εἶσαι ένας οὐδετιποτένιος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 480.11–12 μαργαριταρένιος LIMEN., Than. Rod. 133 μαργαριταρένιος φουρνίδος (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 141.57)

Genitive

- μύθος ξυλένιου θεοῦ AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 127 tit.

Accusative

- έναν ἵππον χαλκένιον Pol. Tr. 12023 app. crit. (B) νὰ σοῦ τότε ξανακτίσω ἀσβεστένιον (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 84, 83.4) ὦ τὸν Πῶρον τὸν οὐδετιποτένιον, τὸν γάδαρον Diig. Alex. V 80.8 ἄθον δρυένιον LANDOS, Geopon. 212.20 τὸν κρουστελλένιον οὐρανὸ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 190.8 τὸ σκοπὸ, τὸ γλυκοζαχαρένιο KORNAPOS, Erot. I.521 κρατήραν ἀσημένιον (1334, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 43, 131.24) ένας πάγκο ταλπεδένο (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 78.8)

Vocative

- οὐδετιποτένιε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 5.22 marg.

Feminine

F	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-ένια	-ένη
Gen.	-ένιας	-ένης
Acc.	-ένια(ν)	-ένη(ν)	-έινη(ν)

Forms with -ένια have a wide geographical spread throughout the period. Those with -ένη are restricted to texts from Cyprus, Crete, Mykonos, Naxos, Santorini, Chios, the Heptanese and Thrace (although other areas cannot be excluded); only in Cyprus does -ένη seem to be the sole form. Different manuscripts of the same literary text can also exhibit this variation (see examples below). A single example of -έινη, from Crete, has been found.

Nominative

- ἡ μαρμαρένια πλάτη GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 66
 ποῦ σὲ πρέπει, κασιδιάρη, μαργαριταρένια σκούφια; Paroim. (Warner) 68.6
 ἡ μαρμαρένια χέρα KORNAPOS, Erot. II.70

γίνεται ἀλατσένη | καὶ κατεστάθη ἡ ὄψη της ὥσάν καναβατσένη CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1141–2 μία γούρνα μαρμαρένη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 254.34–5 μηδὲν εἶναι ἡ καρδιά σου διαμαντένη Cypr. Canz. 92.13 ἡ πλάκα ἡ μαρμαρένη CHORTATSI, Panor. I.135 μιά κόττα ὀρμιζένη κίτρινη (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 813, 709.7) καμουχένη (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 142.63) ἡ κερα-παπαδιά Μαλαματένη (1668, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 939, 562.5) (adjective used as a proper name) ψεματένη εἶναι ἡ δόξα Charon II 45 καρένη (1687, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 714, 967.23) καμουχένη (1693, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 10, 407.18)

Genitive

μετὰ θήκης ξυλένιας (1598, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 27 Suppl., 145.36) ἄνευ μιᾶς οὐδὲ τιποτένης δικαιοσύνης καὶ ἀσχημοσύνης Assizes B 415.1 πετρένης καρδίας συντυχάνομεν Pist. kekoim. 589
 τῆς θύρας, | τῆς κρυσταλλένης VATATSI, Periig. I 781–2

Accusative

κούπα σταγονένια (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.14) τὴν σέλαν ... τὴν μαργαριταρένιαν Dig. E 1059 μὲ μπάλλα βολιμένια, καὶ μὲ μπάλλα σιδερένια (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.4) μία σίγλα νερική, χαρκωματένια (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 97, 98.30) κούπα ἀσημένια (1560, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 24, 103.11) μία κασέλα ταλπεδένια (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 80.83) τὴν πετρένια τὴν γούρνα (1652, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 69, 179.10) μία καργιόγλα σιδερένια (1656, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 9, 405.45) εἰς τὴν κρυσταλλένια κασέλλα Alex. Fyll. 103.17 μίαν καλαμένιαν σφυρίστραν Don Kis. 10.17 εἰς τάβλαν κερένη Assizes B 395.2; ἀποῦ πᾶσα ἐργασίαν γαστρένη ibid. B 494.19 σέλλαν εἶχεν ... μαλαμματένην Achil. L 803 ἔξακανθὲνην ζόγιαν PLOUSIAD., Thrinis 70 (Vasileiou) μίαν σέλλαν ὁμορφὴν μαργ(αρ)ιταρένην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 576.11–12 κασέλαν ἄλλην ταλπεδένην (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 93.41); κασσελοπούλαν κυπαρισένην μίαν (ibid. 52, 93.43) στὴν κερένη Alex. Rim. 96 κουβέρταν χρυσοπέταλην καὶ μαργαριταρένη Imb. Rim. 418 τὴν μαρμαρένην στράταν Pist. kekoim. 367–8 μίαν κοῦπαν ἀσιμένη (1561, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 64, 54.28) μία κασελοπούλα ταλπεδένη (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 80.70) μὲ ἀσημένη λάμα (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 331, 534.12); μία κυπαρισένη καὶ μία κοκκαλένη (1684, ibid. 485, 711.16–17) καμιζόραν τσοχένην (1692, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 30, 111.25) καλαμαρθήκη ... μαργαριταρένη KORNAROS, Erot. I.1424; μὲ λαλιά γλυκειά καὶ ζαχαρένη ibid. II.1658
 μία καργιόλα καρένη (1609, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 626, 547.20)

Vocative

μαλαματένια μου Rim. kor. V 93, but μαλαματένη μου ibid. A 95

Neuter

N	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ένιο(ν)	-ένο(ν)	-έινο(ν)
Gen.	—

The common form in -ένιο(ν) is attested in vernacular texts from the 15th c. onwards, but must have existed long before that. The variant -ένο(ν) is found in Cypriot texts from the Assizes (13th c., but ms of the 15th c.) onwards, and occasionally in texts from Pontos, Crete, Rhodes, Santorini and Naxos. There is also a form with -έινο(ν), attested in 16th- and 17th-c. documents from Crete and Skyros. No genitive forms have been found in the texts examined.

Nominative

κοπέλλιν ἄτυχον καὶ οὐδετιποτένιον Pol. Tr. 8790 app. crit. (AB) τὸ ἄλλον εἶναι μαρμαρένιον (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 93.46) τὸ πόδι χαλκωματένιο (1597, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969k: 17, 109.10) μεταξένιο (1598, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 27 Suppl., 145.39) τὸ σκληρὸν καὶ μηδετιποτένιον φαητόν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 157.1
 ἕνα φακίολι μαργαριταρένιον (1693, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 10, 407.32) νερό ἄσπρο κρουσταλλένιο KORNAROS, Erot. II.207; τὸ ζαχαρένιο στόμα ibid. II.1348 εφορούσεν ... σπαθὶ μαλαγματένιον Don Kis. 551.16–17 νῆμαν καναβένον (ca. 1260, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 22, 9.2) ὕδιν μαρμαρένον (1476, Cyprus, SAKKELION 1887b: 261.6–7) ἀπλίκιν πλιθθαρένον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 78.11

Accusative

κιβούριον ... μαρμαρένιον Pol. Tr. 11625 φουστανόπανον μπερετένιον (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 93.41) ἕνα φουστάνι μπουκασένιο (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 9, 41.20) ἕνα κρεββάτι πουπουλένιο (1582, Patras, ZOIS 1936/37: 17–18, λδ'.13) εἰς σακούλι καμουχένιον (1596, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 27, 142.11) ἕνα κτένι κοκαλένιο (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 80.53) ἕνα βουλωτήρι μαλαματένιο (1616, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968 : 2, 29.23) ἕνα χαρτί βαμπαγκένιο (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 84, 89.2) χαρκουματένιο σαχάνι (1687, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 10, 224.27) ἐμπρός στο σεντούκι τὸ μαρμαρένιο (17th–18th c., Sinai, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 35, 140.5) (ms unaccented) ἕνα καντήλι εὐμορφο, μαλαματένιο EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 18.20–1 παλοῦκιν ξυλένον Assizes B 415.5
 ἕνα ζιπούνιν βίλουσένον VOUSTR., Chron. A 114–116.20–1; τὸ κιβούριν το πορφυρένον ibid. A 156.7
 ξυλένο δεκανίκιν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 689 στρωμάτζον ἕνα καναβατσένον (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: Inv. 1, 282.21) ἕνα πάγκο ταλπεδένο (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 78.8) ἕνα σεπετάκι μικρόν ἀσημένον (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 143.94) ὀρμιζένο δξὺ (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 484.1–2) καμουχένο (1684, Naxos, ΣΙΦΟΝΙΟΥ-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 485, 711.10) ἕνα καμιζότο φοιρετέινο (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 24, 44.11); ἕνα σκαμνὶ κυτταρισσέινο (1609, ibid. 626, 547.20) τὸ κυτταρισσείνόν μου σεντούκιον (1656, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: VI, 162.9)

Vocative

χοιρίδιν δετιποτένον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 206.33 χέριν ἄσπρον καφουρένον Cypr. Canz. 127.1

Plural

Masculine

M	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-ένοι † (-ένιοι)
Gen.	-ένιων
Acc.	-ένιους	-ένους	-έινους

The expected nominative form -ένιοι has not yet been found in texts of the period, although the corresponding vocative occurs, editorially, in Bounialis. In any case, the simplification of two identical vowels (see I, 2.9.2.1) would normally lead to -ένοι. However, genitive and accusative forms in -ένιων and -ένιους occur in texts from various regions. A few examples of -ένοι and -ένους (from Santorini, Crete, Epirus/Heptanese, and a text – the War of Troy – that has been linked with the Peloponnese) are given below. The single instance of -έινους occurs in a 16th-c. text with northern features in its phonology and vocabulary.

Nominative

οἱ δύο σερασερένοι καὶ δύο βελουδένοι (1693, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 10, 407.26)

Genitive

διαμέσου τῶν σιδερένιων κούσπων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 121.9

Accusative

μὲ σιδερένιους πάλους P&N Diath. 136 ἄερες ἀτλαζένιους (1628–9, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 1, 41.6) εἰς δύο σιδερένιους κούσπους RODINOS, Vios Ign. 79.4–5 καὶ τοίχους χωματένιους ... οὔτε καὶ μὲ ταβλένιους BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 253.7–8 (χωματένιους ... ταβλένους Xirouchakis) τοὺς φρικτοὺς τοίχους τοὺς μαρμαρένους Pol. Tr. 12060 app. crit. (CV) μὲ λόγους ψεματένους Chron. Toc. 1626 τροχοὺς χρυσομαλαματένους ... λίθους ἁδαματένους βαρὰ TROILOS, Rodol. III.89–90 (Walton)

(the editor changes to χρυσομαλαματένιους ... ἁδαματένιους TROILOS, Rodol. III.89–90) τοὺς ουδετιποτένιους ενδειότες Diig. Alex. K 369.14–15

Vocative

ὦ κρουσταλλένοι μ' οὐρανοί BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 208.13 (Xirouchakis) (but κρουστελλένιοι in the edition of Alexiou/Aposkiti)

Feminine

F	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-ένιες	-ένες
Gen.	—
Acc.	-ένιες	-ένες	-ένας † -έινες

The data are very limited, but the commonest ending for both the nominative and the accusative is -ένιες. The form in -ένες has only been found in texts from Cyprus, Crete, Patmos, Naxos and Macedonia; in the Chronicle of Machairas one ms has an accusative form in -ένας, which matches (and may be influenced by) the preceding noun. The form -έινες occurs once in a Cretan text. No genitive forms have been found in the texts examined.

Nominative

- οἱ πόρτες οἱ μαρμαρένιες Diig. Alex. F 172.12 (Lolos) ἔτερες κολαῖνες δύο ποστάδες μαργαριταρένιες (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.44) σκούφες δικτένες δύο, αἱ δύο κλωστένες (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: Inv. 5, 289.18) ἀκόμη τρεῖς καμουχένες (1656, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 9, 405.70)

Accusative

- μὲ δίκτοις (sic) κλωστένιες (1521, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 59, 112.33) τὲς θύρες ἐκείνες τὲς σιδηρένιες τὲς κλεισμένες PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 110.34–5 γαμπέτες κλωστένιες (1597, Crete, VISVIZIS 1965: 17, 104.17) μὲ ἀσημένιες ρουμανέτες (1630, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1951: [3], 171.29) κασέλες καρένιες (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 485, 711.16) με κόψες μαλαγματένιες Don Kis. 551.15 τσὶ κασέλλες τὼς τσὶ καρυδένιες Leilasia Par. 535 ἐποῖκεν πολλὰς λαμπάδας κερένας χοντρὲς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 102.5 ἐποῖκεν πολλὰς λαμπάδας καφουρένες MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 102.5 σίγλες χαλκωματένες (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 93.44) βέργες μαργαριταρένες (1587, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 4, 2.8) μία ζυγή βέργες ἀσημένες (1606, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 26, 102.9) δυὸ κασέλες καρένες (1646 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968 : 58, 148.36) πενήντα τάβλες ντελαριζέινες πλατέες (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 3, 169–170.14)

Neuter

N	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ένια	-ένα	-έινα
Gen.	-

Forms with -ένια have the widest distribution, including Asia Minor, the Heptanese, Macedonia and certain Aegean islands. Cypriot texts have a clear preference for -ένα, with numerous examples from legal and literary texts ranging from the Assizes (13th c., but 15th-c. manuscript) to the late 17th-c. Thrinis. Texts from Crete and Naxos show examples of both types, with no clear preference. The form in -είνα is rare: one example has been recorded, in a text of West Greek provenance (Epirus/Heptanese). No genitive forms have been located in the texts examined.

Nominative

ἐγχείρια βλατενία (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.125) τὰ ζῶα τὰ μικρούτζικα, τὰ οὐδετιποτένια Diig. tetr. 551 δυο μάτια ζαφειρένια CHORTATIS, Panor. I.79 προσκέφαλα ἀτλαζένια (ca. 1650, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 6, 219.12) ξουράφια κυπαρισσένια (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 53.13) τὰ χέρια μαρμαρένια KORNAROS, Erot. V.1087 σκουτέλλια μαρμαρένια Assizes B 495.22 τὰ δετιποτένα κορμιά Fior 92.24 λόγια ζαχαρένια Cypr. Canz. 116.25; χείλη κουρελλένα ibid. 116.27 ὅλα τὰ τειχιά φαίνονται μολυβένα Thrinis Kypr. 900

Accusative

τὰ φρικτὰ τείχη τὰ μαρμαρένια Pol. Tr. 12060 app. crit. (X) μὲ σιδερένια δόντια Chron. Toc. 3674 μανίκια δαμασκένια (1540, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 80, 60.12) καρμιζένια (1561, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 12, κη'.34) σιδερένια μάτια P&N Diath. 3968 στήθη τ' ἀσημένια, | στὰ κοραλένια χείλη CHORTATIS, Erot. I.619–20 προσκέφαλα ... καμπουχένια (1636, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 3, 216.14) φελόνια καμουχένια PAPASYNAD., Chron. I 29.49 μπαμπακένια ρούχα Bertoldin. 108.37 ένα βρακί και ένα τζεπούνι διπλαρένια (1674, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 4, 176.6) εἰς ἑπτὰ δουκατόνια ἀσημένια (1692, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 168, 101.10) μὲ τὰ μαλαματένια μπουτόνια (1693, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 10, 407.35) μὲ λόγια ζαχαρένια KORNAROS, Erot. II.423; σκουτάρια σιδερένια ibid. IV. 1643 τὰ φανάρια ἐκεῖνα τὰ γυαλένια Leilasias Par. 489 ἀναματούρια ἀσημένα (1334, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 43, 131.25) τὰ φρικτὰ τείχη τὰ μαρμαρένια Pol. Tr. 12060 app. crit. (A) τὰ δερματένα ρούχα CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 154 app. crit. (M) καρτζὰ ἀσημένα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 76.18; γ' στέμματα μαργαριταρένα ibid. V 606.28–9 οὐδετιποτένα ἐννοιόσματα Fior 120.37–8 φλασκία κολοκυθένια (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 95.79) βλαττία ... μαργαριταρένα Imb. Rim. 502 καβαδόπανα καμουχένα (1576, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 1, 1.3) τὰ ξανθὰ μαλλιά τὰ χρουσαφένα Cypr. Canz. 7.2 πιρούνια ἀσημένα (1629, Milos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 14, 10.15) τὰ μπρατζόλια του μαργαριταρένα (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 141.57) τὰ τειχιά φαίνονται μολυβένα Thrinis Kypr. 900 πουστομάνικα μπουκασένα (1692, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 30, 111.32)

Vocative

νερά μου χρυσταλλένα Cypr. Canz. 112.6
 ὦ βραχιόνιοι σιδηροὶ καὶ στήθη μαρμαρένια Chron. Toc. 3392

3.3 Adjectives with Originally 3rd-Declension Endings

3.3.1 Oxytone Adjectives in -ύς

The AG paradigm βαρύς, βαρεῖα, βαρύ incorporates endings of the 1st declension (fem. sg. and pl.) and the 3rd declension. This relatively complex paradigm already shows signs of analogical change early in the first millennium AD. In particular, the replacement of the masculine (and neuter) genitive singular ending -έος²⁸ by -έου, -ούου or -ήου is attested in papyri from the 3rd c. AD onwards, e.g. παχῆου POxy. 1535, V.9–10 (AD 249); τοῦ ὀξέου δρόμου POxy. 2115.6–7 (AD 346); κλυκύου (= γλυκύου) PSI 831.26 (4th c.) (GIGNAC 1981: 127). In later centuries the distinct stem endings of the feminine (-ει-) and neuter (-ε-) are often interchanged, in forms like βαρέας, ἡδέα (fem.) and τραχεῖα (neut. pl.) (PSALTES 1913: 188; for fem. -έα see CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: B 227–9). With the merger of the vowels /y/ and /i/ (see I, 2.4.6.1) a homophony develops between the masculine singular and nouns in -ής, and between the neuter singular and nouns in -ί(ν), giving rise to further analogical developments (HORROCKS ²2010: 290–1).

In most regions (but with certain exceptions) the stem vowel /e/ or /i/, when followed by another vowel, undergoes synizesis with the stress moving to the following vowel; e.g. βαρεῖα or βαρέα > βαριά (see I, 2.9.4). However, this change may be concealed by conservative orthography. In Cretan texts the sequence <ρέα> can give rise to <ρά> (broadly speaking, in the east of the island) or <ρέ> (west) (see I, 2.4.7.4). The earliest example of this development that has been located is in a late 15th-c. text: neut. pl. βαρά CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1688. Forms such as βαρούς (< βαριούς) may be regarded as analogical spreading of forms without /j/, although the alternative explanation of /j/ deletion after /r/ cannot be excluded. After /s/ depalatalization takes place in Crete and certain Aegean islands: no Cretan examples have been found, but ὀξά for ὀξιά occurs in texts from Skyros and Naxos (see I, 2.4.7.3 and examples below). These geographically restricted and phonetically conditioned forms are excluded from the synoptic table below, but will be examined in the discussion of allomorphs which follows.

There is a rather stable set of adjectives belonging to the -ύς paradigm in LMedG and EMG texts, including βαθύς, βαρύς, γλυκύς, δασύς, δριμύς, θρασύς, ὀξύς, παχύς, πλατύς, ταχύς, τραχύς, φαρδύς. In parallel to γλυκύς (though less common), the alternative formation γλυκός, -ή, -ό(ν) is found from the 14th c. onwards: τοῦ Γλυκοῦ Νεροῦ (1321, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 108, 203.518). Similarly, a form ἀψός from ἀψύς occurs sporadically, e.g. ἀψός, γοργός ἐπήδησεν ὁ ταπεινός ὁ κάτης Diig. tetr. 125; ἀψὴν ἀγάπην Fior 73.14; ἴτσου ἀψόν ibid. 130.13; νὰ μηδὲν οὐζιάσης σκληρὰ καὶ ἀψὰ λόγια Fior, Suppl. 277.25 (the last three in texts from Cyprus).

By contrast, two adjectives originally in -ός acquire forms in -ύς: μακρύς and πικρύς/πικρύς (< πικρός; the form with metathesis occurs in texts from Crete and the Heptanese).²⁹

²⁸ Strictly speaking, the <ε> is here a stem vowel, which underwent contraction with the endings. For the sake of simplicity, we treat them together as “endings”.

²⁹ Sporadic examples of other adjectives in -ός acquiring -ύς forms can be found in literary texts: ἀρύς < ἀραιός, μισύς < μιστός (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.vv.). For the rare form ἀπλύς < ἀπλούς, see 3.2.5.

The reason for the shift of paradigm is probably frequent semantic oppositions in both cases: respectively, with βραχύς (“short” vs. “long”) and γλυκύς (“sweet” vs. “bitter”). The earliest occurrences of forms of μακρύς, both as personal name and as simple adjective, are in 11th- and 12th-c. texts from Athos and S. Italy. They appear in a document from Kefalonia in the 13th c. and are common in literary texts of the LMedG period (the earliest datable ms is from the 14th c.). In the case of πικρός, the change to -ύς seems to occur somewhat later. No forms have been found before the 16th c. Forms of μακρύς and πικρύς/πικύς are included in the examples below.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	βαθύς	βαθεία ἰ βαθέα ἰ βαθ(ε)ιά	βαθύ(ν)
Gen.	βαθέου ἰ βαθιοῦ ἰ βαθύ/-ή	(βαθείας) ἰ βαθέας ἰ βαθ(ε)ιάς	βαθέου ἰ βαθίου ἰ βαθιοῦ ἰ βαθύ
Acc.	βαθύ(ν)	βαθεία(ν) ἰ βαθέα(ν) ἰ βαθ(ε)ιά(ν)	βαθύ(ν) ἰ βαθέον
Voc.	βαθύ	(βαθεία) ἰ βαθέα ἰ βαθ(ε)ιά	βαθύ(ν)

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	βαθέοι ἰ βαθιοί	βαθέαι ἰ βαθεῖες ἰ βαθ(ε)ιές	βαθέα ἰ βαθεά ἰ βαθία ἰ βαθιά
Gen.	βαθέων ἰ βαθίων ἰ (βαθίων)	βαθέων ἰ (βαθ(ε)ίων)	βαθέων ἰ βαθίων ἰ (βαθίων)
Acc.	βαθέους ἰ βαθίους ἰ βαθιούς	βαθέας ἰ βαθείας ἰ βαθεῖες ἰ βαθ(ε)ιές	βαθέα ἰ (βαθεά) ἰ βαθία ἰ βαθιά
Voc.	βαθέοι ἰ (βαθιοί)	(βαθεῖες ἰ βαθειές)	(βαθέα ἰ βαθεά ἰ βαθία ἰ βαθιά)

Residual forms, e.g. βαθέος, βαθεῖς, are not included in the above table, but will be discussed below where relevant.

Singular*Masculine*

M	General	Restricted
Nom.	-ύς
Gen.	-έου -ιοῦ	-έος -ύ
Acc.	-ύ(ν)
Voc.	-ύ

The nominative form presents no variation (other than of spelling) and the accusative is also stable: loss of final /n/ occurs, particularly in the latter part of the period, but scribal practice and the preferences of modern editors also come into play. The genitive is remodelled on the analogy of adjectives in -ος, but the /e/ vowel is retained, e.g. βαρέου (see under neuter). This change, from inherited -έος to -έου, appears to have begun well before the period covered by this Grammar (see above). A further expected phonological development involving synizesis and shift of stress gives rise to forms in -ιοῦ (the earliest examples are found in 17th-c. grammars; cf. the corresponding neuter form, below). However, an alternative form ending in /i/ (variously spelled) is attested from S. Italy, Sicily, Kos, Macedonia, Crete and the Heptanese, from the 11th c. onwards, the earliest examples occurring in personal names. These forms generalize the /i/ of the nom. and acc. masculine and neuter to the corresponding genitives. It is interesting to contrast the forms given by two grammars of the 16th and 17th c. respectively: τοῦ γλυκῆ (Sofianos), τοῦ γλυκέος (Romanos). The latter belongs (only) to higher, archaizing registers throughout our period.

Nominative

Although the spelling may vary, the ending /is/ remains constant throughout the period:

- Ἰωάννης Μακρῆς (= Μακρύς) (1097, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 60, 77.5) κάμπος πλατύς Chron. Mor. H 6969 μακρύς ἦτον ὡσάν κυπάρισσος Achil. L 32 παχύς ἀτμός νεφώδης [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 307 ἄγριος καὶ θαρσύς Defi. Par. 90 (metathesis from θρασύς; see I, 3.9.1) γλυκὺς ἀέρας BERGADIS, Apok. V 91 ὁ βαρύς SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.16 γλυκὺς Cypr. Canz. 17.3
 κι ὥρες γλυκὺς μοῦ φαίνεται κι ὥρες πρικὺς περισσά CHORTATSI, Erof. III.29
 γεῖς πόνος μ' ἔσφαξε δριμύς Thysia Avr. 113 ἦτον ἀνθρωπος μακρύς, λιγνός PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §8.7

Genitive

The forms in -έου have been found in texts from south-western areas, but are likely to have been more widespread (cf. the corresponding neuter form). Forms in -ύ or -ῆ have a wide distribution throughout the period, especially as personal names:

- τοῦ Πλατέου Πόρου (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 30.22) τοῦ θαρσέου πολέμου Chron. Mor. H 1414 ὄρθρου βαθέου DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 563
- Λέοντος Μακρῆ (1099, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 68, 85.22) τοῦ Παχῆ (1109, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 11, 404.18) σίγνον Νικήτα τοῦ Βαρυ (1288, Cos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 226.5) τῶν ἀμπελώνων μέχρι τελευτῆς μου τῶν τοῦ Πλατύ (1325, Veroia?/Macedonia, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 64, 357.104) (it is unclear whether the adjective is masc. or neut.)
 τοῦ Γερασίου τοῦ Παχὺ (1400, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 9, 79.1) κύρ Ἀντωνίου τοῦ Βαρυ (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 57, 48.4) τοῦ βαρυ ἤχου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 104.11 τοῦ ποτὲ κύρ Νικολ(ὸ) Βαρούχα, λεγομένου Παχῆ (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 280, 219.3) τοῦ βαρῆ SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.16; τοῦ γλυκῆ ibid. 39.17 τοῦ βαθὺ τοῦ Μύλου (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 451.22) Γιαννάκη Μακρῆ (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969k: 18, 111.19) τοῦ δασκάλου τοῦ γλυκῆ P&N Diath. 3145 τοῦ Πλατὺ Γιαλοῦ (1664, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 322, 202.14)

The residual form in -έος occurs mainly in texts that aim at a higher register:

- τοῦ Ὁξέος βουνοῦ (1081, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 6, 62.42) πρὸ βραχέος χρόνου Ptoch. I 5 τοῦ γλυκέος ROMANOS, Grammar 5.15–16

The form in -ιοῦ, resulting from synzesis of -έου, has not been found before the 17th c. (cf. the corresponding neuter form):

- μακριοῦ GERMANO, Grammar 64.18
 τοῦ βαρυοῦ PORTIUS, Grammar 21.17

Accusative

No allomorphy occurs, other than the variable realization of final /n/.

- τὸν πλατὺν λίθον (1144?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 9, 314.7) μὰ τὸν κυρ Ἥλιον τὸν γλυκὺν Arm. 76 μακρὺν εἶχε τὸν τράχηλον Pol. Tr. 2242 ὕπνον βαθὺν καὶ μέγαν PLOUSIAD., Thrinos 7 (Vasileiou) θρήνον ἐκόπτετον δριμὺν Flor. L 399 (Cupane) τέτοιον γλυκὺν ἀέρα FALIEROS, Ist. On. 370 εἰς τὸν Μακρὺ Γιαλὸν (1588 [copy of 1695], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 464.31) μὲ τὸν πρὶκύ μου θάνατο CHORTATIS, Erof. I.80 and id., Katz. I.110 καμουχὰ ὀξὺ (1682, Cyclades, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 231, 411.31); καμουχὰ ὀξὺν ξνα (1686, ibid. 639, 877.13) εἰς μακρὺν δρόμον Theophr. Char. 126.32 μὲ βαρὺ αναστεναμὸ KORNAROS, Erot. I.163; εἰς ἔτοιο κίντυνο βαρὺ ibid. IV.1756; πρὶκύ αναστεναμὸ ibid. III.1572; μὲ λογισμό πολλὰ βαρὺν ibid. IV.1228; ὕπνο γλυκὺ ibid. II.664 and 1238

Vocative

The form is invariable.

ὦ βαρύ SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.16

ἀφεντάκη μου γλυκύ Thysia Avr. 493 κύρη μου γλυκύ TROILOS, Rodol. IV.196

Feminine

F	General	Restricted
Nom./Voc.	-εία -έα -(ε)ιά	(-έ)
Gen.	-είας -έας -(ε)ιάς
Acc.	(-εία) -έα(ν) -(ε)ιά(ν)	-έ

The vowel to which the feminine endings are added is either the inherited /i/ (as in AG) or /e/, the latter on the analogy of the neuter plural or genitive singular (masc. and neut.) of the same paradigm. The two types alternate from the beginning of our period, and both continue in written usage. Synizesis and shift of stress must have occurred early in the period but are often not detectable except in certain metrical contexts (e.g. the examples below from Armouris and Digenis E). For the phenomenon see I, 2.9.4. Except in areas where synizesis does not take place, the difference between -εία, -έα and -(ε)ιά may well be purely graphematic rather than phonological. A feminine form in -έ (a phonological development from -έα; see I, 2.9.4.3) may occur in texts from West Crete. One example of such an accusative has been located.

Nominative

Both -εία (variously written) and -έα are commonly found in texts of all kinds:

ἡ βαθεία (1188, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 225, 298.36) καὶ ἡ οὐρά του εἶν' μακρεῖα, πλατεῖα καὶ μεγάλη Phys. 161 πλατεῖα καὶ εὐρύχωρος ἡ ὁδὸς τῆς ἀπωλείας GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 579 τούτῃ ἡ θάλασσα ἀπὸ τὴν ἀρχὴν ἦτονε γλυκία KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 135.12

ἡ γλυκεῖα ROMANOS, Grammar 5.15–16

τὴν βέσταν, ὅπου ἦτον μακρία Bertoldos 70.6

ἡ βαθέα (1108, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 17, 215.42) (ἡ βαθεία also occurs in the same document, ll. 52, 53) μακρέα, λιγνή Pol. Tr. 2250 app. crit. (AX) (μακρία, λιγνή BV) ἐκείνη νὰ ἐνὶ παχέα καὶ λιπαρὰ STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 17.1

ἐκείνη <ἡ> ὦρα ἡ βαρέα Alosis 122 transcr. (Lendari) (Legrand: βαρεά) εὐθέα AXAGIOLIS, Diig. Karolou 520 (in rhyme with βιαία) λίμνη ... μακρέα σαράντα, καὶ πλατία ἑξακόσιες ὀργιές P&N Diath. 211.18 μία τζάταρα ἡ σκάλα-ταράτζα ξύλινη ... πλατέα πεντακόσες ὀργυῖες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 81.15–17

μία λίμνη πολλὰ βαθέα LANDOS, Amart. sot. 331.3

ἡ β' εἶναι παχέα LANDOS, Geopon. 188.12

ἡ ζωὴ μας εἶν' βραχέα Charon II 24 app. crit.

In the following examples synizesis is indicated (although editorial intervention cannot be excluded). The last example, in a Cretan text, shows vowel deletion after /r/.

- ή μούρη της είναι μακριά Phys. 428 ή μία μακριά (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 46, 79.47–8) ή ἀγάπη τοῦ ἀνθρώπου εἶναι πολλά βαθιά MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 402.3 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) ή τρίτη δξιά τζαντουινά (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 141.54) θύμηση πρικιά TROILOS, Rodol. III.239 ή κονταρά 'τονε βαρά KORNAPOS, Erot. II.1401

Genitive

Genitive forms are infrequent, but forms with -είας and -έας and -ειᾶς occur in the texts examined.

- τῆς βαθείας (1195, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: XLVI-9, 143.41–2) τῆς Παχέας Ἀπιδέας (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 43.200) μετὰ βαθέας | ὀργῆς ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 43 (rhyming with βασιλέας) μελαχρινὸς βαθειᾶς βαφῆς ἐγίνη KORNAPOS, Erot. IV.898

Accusative

The ending -εία(ν) occurs mainly in texts which aim at a higher register, both at the beginning and at the end of our period; otherwise -έα(ν) is the commonest form:

- ἀναβαίνει τὴν βαθειάν (1142, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 6, 304.12) με τὴν γλυκειάν ενθύμησην Don Kis. 48.17 ἔως εἰς τὴν βαθέαν (1141, Coll. V: 5, 300.17) δασέαν βάλτον Dig. G V.30 προφώνεσιν γλυκέα Chron. Mor. H 2453 μά τὴν γλυκεάν του μάναν Arm. 61 (but γλυκίαν app. crit. (P)) βαθέαν αὐγὴν SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 138; με δριμέαν φωνήν ibid. 109 εἰς τὴν βαρέαν μου ἀνάγκην DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 806; ὡς διὰ τὴν μάχην τὴν βαρέαν ibid. 1299 τὴν οὐρὰ μακρέα Fyll. gadar. 170 ἔκαμαν μίαν γέφυραν πλατέαν καὶ μεγάλην ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 612 με ἀνάγκαση βαρέα P&N Diath. 3794 εἰς τὴ Βαθέα Λαγκάδα (1631, Cythera, SEREMETIS 1962: 2 (ii), 132.9) βαρέαν ὑπηρεσίαν LANDOS, Geopon. 182.17 (but βαρείαν ἀσθένειαν ibid. 264.31); ἔχουσι τὴν φλούδαν παχέαν ibid. 147.7

Forms with apparent synizesis:

- βαθιάν αὐγὴν Love poems V 565 ὀρνιθα παχιά Fyll. gadar. 162 με γλυκιάν καὶ ταπεινὴν καὶ γαληνὴν φωνήν Fior, Suppl. 279.26 με γλυκιά φωνή Diig. Alex. Sem. S 296 εἰς τὴν γλυκιά θεότη Alfav. 10 94 (ms γλυκία) καὶ με τὴ σφάκα τὴν πρικιά γλυκειά μηλιά ταιριάζει CHORTATIS, Panor. III.110 τὴν γλυκιάν καὶ χαϊράμενην ὄψιν MOREZINOS, Klini 68.36 στὴν Μακριὰ Ἄρμακα (17th c., Kefalonia, TZANNETATOS 1965: 2, 118.16) εἰς τὴν Παχιά Κερατιά (1611, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 126, 122.3) μιὰ μπόλια κεντητὴ βαριά (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 16, 163.20) στὴν Παλιά Γλυκιά (1696, Nauplion region, DOKOS 1971/74: 92, 109.17)

Forms showing vowel deletion after /r/ or depalatalization of /s/ have been found in 16th- and 17th-c. texts from Crete and Naxos:

μακράν καδένα ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1673 Μακρὰ Πεζούλα (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 104, 119.6) μέ βαρὰν καρδιὰν Pist. voskos III 7.6
 σ' ἔγνοια μεγάλη καὶ βαρὰ KORNAROS, Erot. I.42; στὴν πρικεῖά της μοῖρα ibid. IV.734 καμιζόλα μία ὀξά, μπουχαγερένη (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968 : 3, 33.58)

By contrast, West Cretan texts may have -έ: στὴ Πλατὲ Στράτα (1603, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 177, 188.6) (for the phenomenon see I, 2.9.4.3).

Vocative

Examples have been found with -έα and with synizesis:

γλυκέα μου συνοδεῖα Dig. E 957 γλυκειά μου μητέρα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 648.17 ἦσοῦ Χριστέ, γλυκιά ἀγάπη Fior 89.12 πρικιά καρδιά μου MONTSEL., Evgena 1130

Neuter

N	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ύ(ν)		-έον
Gen.	-έου ὀ -ιοῦ	-έος	-ύ

The presence or absence of final /n/ in the nominative and accusative may be occasioned by metrical requirements, in the case of verse texts, but otherwise presents no discernible pattern of variation (and may even be editorial). (For the preservation or addition of final /n/ in certain areas, see I, 3.7.2.) A form in -έον (ὀξέον) has been found only once. It is clearly an analogical development (based on AG gen. ὀξέος or neut. pl. ὀξέα), but one which did not catch on. The genitive follows the same development as the corresponding masculine form: either -έου > -ιοῦ or levelling of /i/, though few examples have been found. The different accentuations of the genitive of the place name Βαθύ are likely to be purely orthographic. The form παχεοῦ occurs only in a single text known for its morphological idiosyncrasies.

Nominative

σκαρμάγγιν ὀξύν (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.130) Μακρύν Ἀμπέλιν (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 45.222) τόσα βαρύν Pol. Tr. 394 app. crit. (ABEV); μακρύν τὸ πρόσωπόν του ibid. 2232 τὸ ποῖον εἶνε πολλὰ μακρύν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.18–19 μέγα, θρασύν καὶ ἀφυρόν τὸ κάστρον Ἐγγλιτέρας Velis. ρ 317 πικρὺ Corona Preciosa A 7v.25–6 πρικὺ γλυκὺ (1543, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 131, 88.8) τὸ στόμα του πλατὺ ὡσὰν βατράχου Vios Aisop. K 147.11–12 ένα φελόνι ὀξύ (1598, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 27 Suppl., 145.39) μακρὺ ἦτονε πλήσα P&N Diath. 2726 ένα μίστατο ξύδι δριμύ LANDOS, Geopon. 163.6 ἐποδιάβη τὸ γλυκὺ κι ἦρθε τώρα τὸ πρικό Fallidos 239 ὀρμίζιν ὀξύν (1687, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 714, 971.18)

Genitive

Forms in -έου (and once -εοῦ) occur in texts up to the 15th c.:

μετὰ βλαττίου παλαιοῦ ὀξέου (12th c., Macedonia, PETIT 1900: 3, 120.26) παχεοῦ ERMON., Ilias 11.55 μετὰ βαρέου καταράχου SFRANTZIS, Chron. 58.2

The forms in -ίου and (with synizesis) -ιοῦ cannot, in practice, be distinguished as the orthography of mss and modern editions is not a reliable guide:

περὶ τοῦ γλυκείου STAFIDAS, Iatrosoph. 14.382 εἰς τοῦ Τραχιοῦ τὸ μέρος (1626, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 2, 215.15) τοῦ Βαθίου (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 6, 32.1); τοῦ Βαθιοῦ (1637, ibid. 54, 68.5; 1640, ibid. 160, 138) (place name) τοῦ βαροῦ Pist. voskos I 1.315 (with deletion of /j/ after /r/; see I, 2.4.7.4) πρικοῦ μαντάτου TROILLOS, Rodol. IV.358
 εἰς τοῦ Τραχιοῦ τὸ μέρος (1672, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1982/83: 6, 96.5)

Rarely, a form in -ύ is found, as for the masculine. It may have been more widespread than the surviving evidence indicates: τοῦ μακρὺ λιθαρίου (1091?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 2, 386.11); τοῦ Παχὺ Δάσου (1620, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 363, 337.16).

Accusative

Like the nominative, the accusative form does not exhibit any variation, apart from the fluctuation of final /n/. A single exception has been found, in -έον (see discussion above): ἐπιλούρικον ... ὀξέον Dig. G III.259.

ὀξύν βουνὶν (1015, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 15, 15.32) τὸ δασὺν ρυάκιν (1047, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 29, 260.83) εἰς τὸ νερόν τὸ γλυκύν (1102, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 2, 550.9) εἰς τὸ βαθύν τὸ ρυάκιν Dig. E 1585 γλυκύν ἀδέλφιν Peri xen. 343 ὀξύν ἐσωκουρτσούβακον Achil. N 367 ὀξὺ μεταξωτόν (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 10, 23.35) κράζω γλυκύν πάσα μου πράμαν Cypr. Canz. 51.6 ποτάμιν φαρδὺν Diig. Alex. F 16.9 (Konstantinopulos) τὸ γλυκὺ πρικόν καὶ τὸ πρικό γλυκόν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 154.17 κριάς παχὺ CHORTATIS, Katz. I.56 βαρὺ μαντάτο καὶ πρικό Thysia Avr. 121 ρούχο ὀξὺ (ca. 1650, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 6, 219.12) καὶ τὸ γλυκὺ τοῦ ταίρι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 931 τὸ μακρὺ λάκκωμα (1671, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 69, 319.3)

Vocative

παιδὶν μου γλυκύν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.13 πρικό μου ριζικό CHORTATIS, Erof. V.485

Plural*Masculine*

M	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-έοι -ιοί	-εῖς
Gen.	-έων		-ίων
Acc.	-έους -ίους -ιούς	-εῖς

The paradigm has been remodelled since Antiquity: the original masculine plural ending -εῖς (nom. and acc.) occurs only infrequently in vernacular texts of the period covered by this Grammar. Instead, the plural endings of adjectives in -ος are added to the vowel /e/, and these forms may undergo synizesis and shift of stress. The forms with -έοι etc. tend to be found in earlier texts, or those that aspire to a higher register. In verse texts the accusative ending -έους often needs to be read as a single syllable, i.e. synizesis may be assumed. This is also the case with forms in -ίους (γλυκίους, δριμίους), which perhaps simply reflect an orthographic convention. (See I, 2.9.4 and this volume, 1.5 on synizesis and spelling conventions.) By the end of the period covered by the Grammar, family names derived from adjectives in -ύς may have a plural in -ύδες (often written -ῆδες), like imparisyllabic masculine nouns (see 2.3.3), e.g. οἱ γλυκεῖς-ύδες-κοὶ τῶν γλυκύδων-κῶν τοὺς γλυκύδες-κοὺς ὦ γλυκύδες-κοὶ SPANOS, Grammar 29.4.

Nominative

βαρέοι Liv. V 1951

βαρέοι Liv. S 1039

οἱ βαρέοι SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.16–17

δριμέοι (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 183.49) (author from Sifnos)

The following two examples (from Cretan texts) have vowel simplification and deletion of /j/ after /r/ respectively (see I, 2.9.2.1 and 2.4.7.4):

οἱ παχοὶ καὶ χοντροὶ LANDOS, Geopon. 181.3

χερότεροι καὶ πλιὰ βαροὶ ἀπομεῖνα KORNAROS, Erot. I.1212

The residual form in -εῖς is quite rare: ὅσοι εἶναι παχεῖς εἰς τὴν σάρκα LANDOS, Geopon. 177.1.

Genitive

τῶν βαρέων SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.16–17

ἀπὸ μακρέων τόπων Diig. Alex. Sem. S 601

μετὰ λόγων γλυκίων KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua IX.69 (rhyming with ὁμνύων)

Accusative

The examples include some instances of deletion of /j/ after /r/ in Cretan texts:

εἰς τοὺς πλατέους τοὺς κάμπους Chron. Mor. H 3603 εἰς τοὺς βαρέους πολέμους Dig. E 1785 λόγους δριμέους, βρυχιστοὺς Velis. χ 376 (δριμίους βρυχητικούς in ms V) εἰσὲ τόπους πλατέους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 111.6

μίσσους πολλούς καὶ ἀρίφνητους, γλυκίους DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1851 γλυκιούς νιώθω τούς πόνους Cypr. Canz. 51.3 τρεῖς κριούς παχιούς (1644, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1990: 487.434) τόσους λογισμούς βαρούς TROILOS, Rodol. II.47; τσι χρόνους τσι βαρούς ibid. IV.78; χαλασμούς πρικιούς ibid. Chor. II.4 λάκκους ... βαθιούς BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 215.20 με στύλους μακριούς (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 444, 669.9) λογισμούς πολλά βαρούς KORNAROS, Erot. I.807 μέσα εἰς βράχους βαθειούς EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 22.5–6

Some examples with the residual ending -εῖς:

νὰ ἔχη τούς πόνους ὡς γλυκεῖς Liv. α 2190 app. crit. (P) λόγους γλυκεῖς ανωφελεῖς Diig. Apoll. 23 τα δένδρη εκείνα με τους γλυκεῖς καρπούς CANTEMIR, Krit. 449.16

Vocative

Few examples have been found: a single example of -έοι (from a grammar) and some instances of residual -εῖς:

ὦ βαρέοι SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.16–17 ἄγρυπνοι φύλακες, ὄξεῖς τοῦ τηλικούτου κάστρου [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 191 ὦ ἄγνωστοι καὶ βραδεῖς KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 24.25 ὦ ἄγνωστοι καὶ ἀνόητοι, βραδεῖς εἰς τὲς καρδίες VEST., Pathi 399

Feminine

F	General	Restricted
Nom./Voc.	-εῖς -(ε)ιές	-έαι
Gen.	-έων
Acc.	-εῖς -(ε)ιές	-έας -είας

The feminine plural follows the same development as feminine nouns in -α (see 2.11): the older endings -αι (nom.) and -ας (acc.) are replaced by -ες, a process which probably began in the Koine period. These “new” endings are preceded by the vowel, which is either /i/ (as in the fem. sg.) or /e/ (as in other masc. and neuter forms); synizesis can then occur, though the orthographic system may ignore it. Only a limited number of examples of relevant forms has been found in the texts examined. The accusative plural form πλατέες can be explained as a simplification of the two adjacent identical vowels (< πλατέες; see I, 2.9.2.1).

Nominative

σταταρέαι λεπταὶ μακρέαι δύο (12th c., Macedonia, PETIT 1900: 3, 124.1) μακριαῖς Phys. 469 μπορίνες θέλουν νὰ εἶναι μακρίες (16th c., ?, DELATTE 1946: 493.1); μακρὲς (ibid. 493.16) (with deletion of /j/ after /r/) γλυκιῖς οἱ παραπόνησες Cypr. Canz. 51.2 ἐκουγούντανε αἱ γλυκίες φωνές MOREZINOS, Klini 79.13 app. crit. (K) οἱ μακρὲς θερμασίες LANDOS, Geopon. 209.26 οἱ μέρες οἱ πρικέες σου Zinon V.160 (better: πρικιές)

Genitive

τῶν δώδεκα τραχέων λιτρῶν (1090, Unknown, LEFORT et al. 1990: 44, 155.15)
ἀπὸ μακρέων τόπων Diig. Alex. Sem. S 601

Accusative

μὲ τὰς μακρέας τὰς μύτας Ptoch. IV 56 εἰς τὰς βαρέας ἀνάγκας Dig. E 1736 ἄλλας βαρείας ὑπηρεσίας ZYGOM., Synopsis 143.B.13 πλατὲς ἀμπάδες BERGADIS, Apok. V 187 μακριές (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 62.17) μὲ πλατὲς μανίκες (1632, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 610, 584.16) στὶς Μακριές Φυτεῖς (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 11, 36.17) εἰς τὰς Πλατυές IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 336.33 μὲ δύο ρωμανέττες ραζάδες πλατεῖες (1659, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 2, 29.11) μπόλιες βαριές καὶ ἀλαφρές (1682, Cyclades, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 231, 409.7) μακριές σκάλες Don Kis. 7.19

Cretan, and occasionally Heptanesian, texts may have vowel deletion after /r/. This should be probably seen as simplification of two adjacent /e/ vowels rather than deletion of /j/:

τὲς βαρὲς μου ἀνάγκες DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 3138 σ' τόσες βαρὲς ἀντάρες TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 176 ἀπὸ βαρὲς ὑπηρεσίας LANDOS, Geopon. 266.7
γενειάδες ... | καὶ καθ' ἄργά τοι ἐβάνασι μακρές, ξεχουρδισμένες KORNAROS, Erot. I.578

Vocative

ὦ ἀδελφάδες μου γλυκές FALIEROS, Thrinos 37

Neuter

N	General
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-έα -έα -ία -ιά
Gen.	-έων -ίων (-ιῶν)

For the nominative and accusative the original AG form in -έα continues to predominate in our texts until the 15th c. As a result of synizesis and shift of stress, this ending develops into -ία, in most regions, with the earliest examples appearing in texts written in the 15th c. Thereafter, the continued appearance of the ending -έα may reflect stylistic choice and/or a shift to a higher register, or simply conservative orthography. Forms in -ία (sometimes written -εῖα) admit of a number of possible explanations: (i) analogical spread of the /i/ vowel of feminine forms; (ii) a conservative way of writing -ία (i.e. synizesis may have occurred but the scribe, consciously or unconsciously, avoids indicating it in his orthographic practice); or (iii) that synizesis does not occur in the geographical area from which the text originates. The last possibility is the case in texts from the Heptanese, particularly Zakynthos (Kartanos). Occasionally -έα is found in texts from Crete and elsewhere. For the genitive plural we might expect -ιῶν, from -έων as a result of synizesis, but no instance has been found. The form in -ίων occurs in a text by the Zakynthian Kartanos. (For height dissimilation and lack of synizesis in such forms see I, 2.9.4.3.)

Nominative

We give, first, examples with the inherited ending -έα, then with -έα, finally with -ια, whether or not synizesis is indicated.

- εἴτε ἔν' [mss εἶναι] βαρέα τὰ σίδερα Arm. 109 γλυκέα σου ἀδέλφια Peri xen. 288 μέ τὰ γλυκέα της λόγια PLOUSIAD., Thrinos 10 (Vasileiou) τὰ σπυρία ... ἀψέα Diig. Alex. F 216.8 (Lolos) τὰ βουνά της ἔναι πλατέα (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 107.3) μακρὰ καὶ πλατέα Bertoldos 6.13 τὰ δύο πλατέα (1510, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 23, 41.31) τὰ γλυκιά Dig. E 314
 ὦτα γὰρ οὔτε βραχία ERMON., Ilias 2.204 πικρία FALIEROS, Ist. On. 624 (end of verse, no synizesis) τὰ γλυκιά τὰ λόγια Fyll. gadar. 294a τὰ γλυκία σου λόγια Diig. Alex. E 161.11 (Lolos) τὰ ἑπτὰ βόδια τὰ παχία KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 243.30 ἦταν παχιά (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 387.8) τὰ γλυκιά μμάτια Cypr. Canz. 7.1; γλυκιά ἔν τὰ πάθη ibid. 51.1 τὰ πρικιά του χεῖλη CHORTATIS, Erof. V.161 δάκρυα πρικιά, φαρμακερὰ P&N Diath. 3915

Deletion of /j/ after /r/ is common in Cretan texts:

- βαρὰ τῶν ἐφανήκασι CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1688 βαρὰ βαρὰ ἔν' τα ζάλα σου Thysia Avr. 567 εἶντα πολλὰ βαρὰ <ν> τὰ ὄνειρά τζη Vosk. 374 βαρὰ ἦσανε τὰ μάτια σου KORNAROS, Erot. III.816

Genitive

Examples are few, but both -έων and -ίων have been found:

- κονταρίων μακρέων KANANOS, Diig. 65.311 τῶν βοδίων τῶν παχίων KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 243.32

Accusative

Examples below are listed as for the nominative:

- εἰς σίδηρα βαρέα GLYKAS, Stichoí 248 βλαττία πολύτιμα ἄπειρα καὶ ὀξέα Dig. G IV.919 βαθέα καλίγια Ptoch. IV 55; ἀφῆκα καὶ τὰ μαλακὰ στρώματα καὶ πλατέα ibid. 622 εἰς τὰ λιβάδια τὰ πλατέα Chron. Mor. H 5023 δασέα πολλὰ τὰ φρύδη Pol. Tr. 2071 app. crit. (A) ἄς θέτουν σκυλόπουλα λιπαρὰ καὶ παχέα STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 16.466 ἤφεραν τὸν πατέρα του μηνύματα βαρέα Achil. O 119 ὀξέα ροῦχα KANANOS, Diig. 74.548 δακτύλια εἶχεν μακρέα DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 288 μακρὰ μίαν πιθαμήν καὶ πλατέα μίαν παλάμην LANDOS, Geopon. 141.29 τὰ πλατέα ροῦχα Bertoldin. 110.11

τουβία ὀξεῖα Achil. N 1199 πολλά κακὰ βαρία FALIEROS, Ist. On. 111 (rhyming with χρεῖα) παχιά γουρούνια FALIEROS, Log. did. 187 (cf. παχεὰ γουρούνια DEFAR., Log. did. 315) ἔκαμαν τρία κλωνάρια μακρία KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 186.18; δύο κατσίκια παχία ibid. 231.1
 σ' αὐτὰ τὰ λόγια τὰ γλυκιά VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 162 τὰ πρική σου λόγια Thysia Avr. 443 τὰ γλυκιά του τὰ νερά TROILOS, Rodol. III.334; κλάηματα πρική ibid. I.554 μακρία αὐτία Bertoldin. 107.34
 χρυσά, βαριά (1682, Cyclades, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 231, 407.23) κανίσκια ... πρική KORNAROS, Erot. I.620

Examples with depalatalization after /s/ or deletion of /j/ after /r/:

μανίκια ὀξά (1687, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 10, 224.25) πιάνου κοντάρια δυνατά, βρά KORNAROS, Erot. II.1985

Vocative

No examples of a vocative have been found.

3.3.2 The Irregular Adjectives ἥμισυς and θῆλυς

There are two adjectives which, in AG, followed the declension of adjectives in -ύς but differed from them in accentuation, i.e. they were not oxytone. They are: ἥμισυς (proparoxytone) and θῆλυς (properispomenon), with feminine, respectively, ἡμίσεια and θήλεια (although some poets also used θῆλυς as fem.). Both words continued in use in MedG and, to some extent, followed the same developments as the oxytone adjectives in -ύς (see 3.3.1), but with significant differences. The two words will be discussed separately in the following two subsections.

3.3.2.1 ἥμισυς

The AG fractional adjective ἥμισυς, “half”, can be found, in papyri from the 1st c. AD onwards, with certain endings of the -ος declension: neuter singular ἥμισον (with orthographic variations) and a possible genitive in -ου (see GIGNAC 1981: 128–9 for details). There are also a few instances of indeclinable ἥμισυ in papyri, the New Testament and the Septuagint (BLASS et al. 1961: 28, §48), and many more in Byzantine chronicles (PSALTES 1913: 159).

These innovative forms, together with further developments comparable to those for oxytone adjectives in -ύς (e.g. neut. sg. ἡμίσειον, cf. βαθέον etc., 3.3.1), are also found in LMedG texts; however, inherited forms of the -υς declension continue to be used, particularly the neuter ἥμισυ, which is frequently substantivized and also functions as an indeclinable form. At the same time, the metaplastic form ἥμισος³⁰ is fully employed, and is even found with pseudo-learned feminine forms, on the analogy of AG two-termination adjectives (see 3.2.4).

³⁰ There is some evidence that the transfer to the -ος declension was already underway in the Koine; see DIETERICH 1898: 177.

By the EMG period, forms based on ἡμισός (like adjectives in -ος, -η, -ο(ν), for which see 3.2.1), with shift of stress to the final syllable, have become very common. A variant which occurs in texts of Cretan provenance from the 15th c. onwards is ἐμισός. (The initial /e/ may be analogical, or a prothetic vowel, following deletion of /i/.) Deletion of the unstressed initial vowel (aphaeresis; see I, 2.7.1) results in the SMG form μισός, which has been found in one 15th-c. non-literary text of unknown provenance, and becomes more widespread from the 16th c.

Examples are listed below under the appropriate form of the nominative masculine singular: (i) ἡμισυς (both with inherited forms and with morphological developments similar to those of adjectives in -ύς); (ii) ἡμισος; (iii) ἡμισός; (iv) ἐμισός; and (v) μισός. Additional variants are noted where relevant.

i) ἡμισυς

τὸ ἡμισ(υ) τοῦ κάστρου (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 52.17–18) (substantivized)

σὺν πάντων τῶν ἡμισέων τῶν ἐν αὐτῷ (1190, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 16, 48.6) ἕως ἡμισυ ἡμέρας Pol. Tr. 2551 app. crit. (AX) ἔχω δὲ χρόνον καὶ ἡμισυ Liv. V 2669 ἕως ἡμισυ ἡμέρας περπάτημαν Diig. Alex. E 17.7 (Konstantinopulos) φυλάζοντας πάντα τὰ ἡμίση τῆς μερίδος (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 75.23)³¹ καὶ ἦτονε πρᾶτσα δέκα ἡμισυ (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.4) ἐβασίλευσεν ἐννέα ἡμισυ χρόνους RODINOS, Vios Ign. 62.12

Examples of morphological developments comparable to those for oxytone adjectives in -ύς (3.3.1):

οἱ μὲν ἡμισεῖς τοῦ κυρ Νικολ(άου) (καὶ) ἡμισεῖς τῆς ἐκκλησίας (1138?, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 14, 102.25) τὸ ἡμίσειον τοῦ ὄλου βουνοῦ (1190, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 16, 48.3);³² μετὰ τοῦ καταληφθέντος ἡμισέου (ibid. 48.16)

In the following examples ἡμισυ (variously spelled) may be regarded as indeclinable:

τοῦ ἡμισυ κάστρου (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 53.44) σὺν τοῦ ἡμισυ τοῦ νεροῦ (1099, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VII: 1, 357.13)

τὰ ἡμιση (1397, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 6, 184.8)

τὴν μὲν ἡμισυ τῆς ρηθείσης ποινῆς ζημιούσθω (1447, Corfu, EFSTRATIADIS 1925: 50.8–9) τῶν κουρσεμάτων τὰ ἡμισυ Alex. Rim. 1318 τὰ ἡμιση (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 15, 54.16) τὰ ἡμιση (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 253, 349.14)

τὰ ἡμιση στάμενα (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 293, 208.10)

τὰ ἡμισυ τῆς μερίδος (1560 [copy of 1691], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 128, 246.36–7)

³¹ The neut. pl. ἡμίση (rather than -εα, perhaps on the analogy of the pl. of neuter nouns in -ος) is very common from the Hellenistic period onwards, though stigmatized by the Atticists.

³² On the range of forms that occur in S. Italian documents, see further MINAS ²2003: 92–3, 96.

ii) ἥμισος

τὴν ἄλλην ἐτέραν ἥμισιν χώραν (1198, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 246, 333.27) τὸ ἥμισον τοῦ κόσμου Chron. Mor. H 3248 μόνον τὰ εἰρημένα ἥμισα πρ(ά)γμ(ατα) (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.17); φοράδαν ἥμισιν (ibid. 19.20) παρὰ ζ' σολδία καὶ ἥμισον Assizes B 337.28; τὸ ἥμισον τοῦ τείχους ibid. 361.3; παρὰ τὸ ἥμισο ibid. 421.21 (ποινήν ...) τὴν ἥμισιν ταύτην (1414, Corfu, MALTEZOU 1991a: (1), 317.19) ἕως ἥμισον ἡμέρας Pol. Tr. 2551 app. crit. (V) (ἥμισο B) τὴν ἀφεντιὰν τὴν ἥμισιν Chron. Toc. 1370; τοὺς ἥμισους καὶ πλέον ibid. 2556 οἱ ἥμισοι Achil. O 540 τὸ ἥμισον τοῦ νησιῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 60.26–27; ὅλα τὰ ἥμισα ibid. V 24.14 ἀφ' τὰ μισὰ τῶν ἥμισων LIMEN., Than. Rod. 151 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: αὐτὰ) τὸ ποτήριον τὸ ἥμισον Diig. Alex. E 235.12 (Lolos) σχεδὸν ἡ ἥμιση γῆς τοῦ κόσμου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 198.5 τὰ ἥμισα (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 341.36) ἀπὸ μία ἐλαία τὸ ἥμισον (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 16, 227.7); τὰ ἥμισα χωράφια (1545, ibid. 101, 284.2) τὰ ἥμισα ἐργαστήρια (1550, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 16, 123.13) τὸ ἥμισον προυκίον (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 672, 584.4) τὴν ἥμιση γῆς ... ἡ ἄλλη ἥμιση (1671, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 232, 206.5–6)
 τὴν ἥμισή σου ἐπαρχία KATSAÏTIS Thy. III.62

Occasionally, in documents from S. Italy and Corfu, the adjective is treated as being of two terminations, i.e. masculine forms are used with feminine nouns: ὑπάρχει ἡ ἥμισος [χώρα] θεώρετρον τῆς ἐμῆς γυνῆς (1198, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 246, 333.26); τὴν ἐτέραν ἥμισον ἐσοδεῖαν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 30, 164.7); τὴν ἥμισον ρηθεῖσαν ἐκκλησίαν (ibid. 189.5).

iii) ἡμισός

This form is the necessary intermediary between ἥμισος and μισός, but rather few examples have been found in the texts examined. The earliest occurs in Ptochoprodromos (12th c. but 14th-c. ms), the latest in a 16th-c. text of unknown origin.

βίτσαν συνάγει καὶ ἡμισὴ Ptoch. IV 256 τὸ ἡμισὸν (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1946: 492.18); ἡμισὸν ποδάριν ibid. 496.4; ἡμισὸν πανίν ibid. 497.8
 τὰ ἡμισὰ ἐκ τὰ εἰρήθη ποστατικά (1524, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 4, κ'.33) νὰ ἔχη καὶ ἀπ' αὐτὰ ὁ ἀδελφός μου τὰ ἡμισὰ (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 36, 37.20) τὸ ἡμισὸ ἀπ' αὐτο (1545, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 164, 106.9) φυλάσσοντα τὰ ἡμισὰν (1572, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 135, 255.22–3) τὰ ἡμισὰ τὰ ἄσπρα (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 237.156) ἕως ἡμισὴ ἡμέραν περπάτημαν Diig. Alex. F 16. (Konstantinopoulos)

iv) ἐμισός

This form has been found only in texts originating from Crete and Naxos (15th–17th c.):

τὰ ἔτερα ἐμισὰ (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 46.22); τὸ ἐμισὸ ἀπὸ τὰ ἄνωθε μουζούρια (ibid. 48.35) νὰ λογοῦνται τὰ ἥμισα ... καὶ τὰ ἄλλα ἐμισὰ (1517, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 3 [later copy], 51.15–16)

τῆς ἑμισῆς βάρκας (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 11, 14.3) τοὺς ἑμισοὺς σπαθιστάδες (1568, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 133, 254.4) οἱ ἑμισοὶ P&N Diath. 3036, 4440, 4475
 μὲ τὸ ἑμισὸ Stathis III.453 ὄλα τα ἑμισά (1607, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 448, 410.9) νὰ βάνει ὄλη τὴν ἑμισὴ προύκα (1608, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 559, 496.18) ἐβγάνοντας τὸ ἑμισὸ λιόφυτο (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 50.90)

ν) μισός

The SMG form, with loss of initial vowel as a result of aphaeresis, has been found first in the 15th c. and is widely attested from the 16th c. onwards.

νὰ πάρη τὰ μισά (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 42, 36.1–3) νὰ ἔχη πάσα εἰς τὸ μισό (1562, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 9, 23.16–17) τὸν μισὸν Μορέαν (1571, Mani, CHASIOTIS 1970: 6.1, 241.18) τὰ μισὰ τοῦ ἀφέντ(ος) τοῦ Καδῆ (1594, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 153, 278.31) τὸ μισὸν μοναστήρι (1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 703, 606.2) καὶ ἔδωσε τοῦ υἱοῦ του τὸ μισὸ καὶ τὸ ἄλλο μισὸ ἐπῆρε ἀτός του Chron. Tourk. Soult. 39.14–15; μισῆς μερὸς δρόμος ibid. 136.20 νὰ κάμω τὸ μισὸν ὄφτὸ Stathis III.213 (ms μισο) τὸ σκουτάρην ἤκοψε κι ὡς τὰ μισὰ τ' ἀνοίγει KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1699; στὸν κάμπο πέφτει τὸ μισό, τ' ἄλλο μισὸ ἀπομένει ibid. IV.1764 ὁποῦ φυλάγει τὰ ροῦχα του ἔχει τὰ μισά Paroim. (Warner) 106.15 μισοὶ ἀπὸ δαύτους ἤρθασι EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 15.7

3.3.2.2 θῆλυς

This adjective is quite rare in MedG and EMG, mainly because it has been replaced by the alternative form θηλυκός (which has the meaning “female” already in the 3rd c. BC); θηλυκός follows the regular paradigm of adjectives in -ος (see 3.2.1). Some examples from the period covered by this Grammar:

τῶν θηλυκῶν Phys. 130; ἡ θηλυκὴ ibid. 415 ἡ θηλυκὴ (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 3, 6.10) ἡ θηλυκὴ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 149.8; τῆς θηλυκῆς ibid. 149.7
 ἐνὸς σομαρικοῦ, θηλικοῦ, μαῦρου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 417, 415.5) τῶν θηλυκῶν τῆς παιδιῶν (1625, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 99, 239.22) τὰ θηλυκὰ παιδιὰ τους (1659, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 2, 28.9) ἡ ἄλλη θηλυκὴ SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 45.8

Forms of θῆλυς occur mainly in texts that strive for a higher register, or a more formal style, such as romances, certain non-literary texts, and, most notably, the Physiologos (mss of the 15th and 16th c.). Forms which are undeniably masculine, i.e. agreeing with a masculine referent, are (not surprisingly) very rare for this word. Examples of feminine and neuter forms are given below.

Feminine θήλεια and, with shift of stress, θηλεία are quite common in Late Antiquity, in Byzantine texts and more generally in higher-register texts until LMedG. Θηλεία often functions virtually as a noun (gen. pl. θηλειῶν and θηλείων are both found). These examples are from texts in a mixed register:

πάντας τοὺς κατίοντας καὶ ἀνδρας καὶ θηλείας (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 245.622) τὴν θηλεῖαν Phys. 412

There exist some innovative forms for the feminine singular, based on a nominative θήλη, replacing the inherited form θήλεια. They have been found in the Physiologos (probably 15th c.) and the romance Velthandros (16th-c. ms of a work of the 13th/14th c.):

τὴν θήλην Phys. 11; ἡ θήλη ibid. 12; τῆς θήλης ibid. 55 and 229 κ' ἐκόπτετο τὴν συμφορὰν τῆς θήλης οἷα θήλη Velth. 1142

Another development of the AG paradigm may be observed in the feminine form θήλεα, comparable to new feminine forms of oxytone adjectives in -ύς (3.3.1), but with the stress remaining on the first syllable: θήλεα παῖδα θαυμαστὴν Dig. A 37.

The neuter singular θῆλυ (gen. sg. θήλεος) and plural θήλη are sporadically attested in both literary and non-literary texts, throughout the period:

τὴν τοῦ θήλεος γένους ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 120.4; μετὰ τοῦ θήλεος ibid. 120.18 ἄρσεν καὶ θῆλυ ὑπήρχασιν ἄρκοπούλια δύο Dig. G IV.108 τὰ δὲ τὰ τρία θήλη Pol. Tr. 1158; τὰ δὲ θήλη ibid. 10633 (ACX; τὰ θηλυκὰ B) τὸ θῆλυ Phys. 10
ἡ στέρησις τοῦ θήλεος ὡς ξιφερῆς περόνη Dig. A 34 παῖδιν ἐν αὐτῶν θῆλυ SFRANTZIS, Chron. 12.6 νά 'νι τοῦ παιδίου ἀποῦ εἶμαι ἐγκάστριος εἶτε θῆλυν εἶτε ἄρσεν ἂν εἶναι (1522, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 63, 118.11–12) ἄρσεν καὶ θῆλυ τοὺς ἔκαμεν ὁ Θεός KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 10.6
θῆλυ θὲ γεννήση PETRITSIS, Dig. O 43

One instance has been found of a neuter plural θήλεια: ὀνικά ἄρρενα (καὶ) θήλ(εια) δεκαπέντε (1258, Philadelphia?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 15, 161.23–4). This variant (if the transcription is reliable) can be compared to the forms in -ία found for oxytone adjectives in -ύς (see 3.3.1).

3.3.3 Adjectives in -ης (Oxytone or Paroxytone)

In AG, adjectives in this category were of two terminations, i.e. they had one set of forms for both masculine and feminine gender and another set for the neuter. We include here four types of word, which differ only in their patterns of stress: (i) oxytone adjectives like ἄσθενής; (ii) paroxytone adjectives (often, though not always, with a prepositional or other prefix), where the stress is regressive in the nominative and accusative of the neuter singular and moves to the penultimate syllable in the gen. pl., e.g. συνήθης; (iii) adjectives in -ώδης, e.g. δασώδης, which keep the stress on the penultimate except for the gen. pl. (-ωδῶν); and (iv) those in -ήρης, e.g. φρενήρης, which are paroxytone in all forms. By the period covered by this Grammar, all of these have acquired 1st- and 2nd-declension endings in some of their forms, in addition to the original 3rd-declension ones. We do not include here adjectives that have acquired a full paradigm in -ος, -η, -ο, like ἀκριβός < ἀκριβής, or metaplasms of the type παμμέγεθος (< παμμεγέθης) or δύστυχος (< δυστυχής).³³ Forms of the older type will be dealt with here, but for the new adjective formations in -ος, see 3.2.1 above.³⁴ Other variant forms will be referred to in notes, but not included in the main paradigm.

Two adjectives can have an imparisyllabic plural in -ῆδες (cf. masc. nouns in -ῆς, 2.3.3, and certain fem. nouns in -ή, 2.12.1), in addition to the inherited forms, when used as nouns: εὐγενής (which is often used as a noun) and συγγενής (which is almost always substantivized).³⁵ The form συγγενάδες (which disambiguates masc. and pl. forms that both end in /is/) is common in Cypriot texts and occasionally found elsewhere (cf. fem. nouns in -ή, 2.12.1):

τοὺς συγγενάδες Assizes A 39.1; οἱ συγγενάδες του ibid. 118.16 οἱ συγγενάδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 238.12; με τοὺς συγγενάδες του ibid. V 550.13 τὴν ἀγάπην τοὺς συγγενάδες Fior 76.7 τοὺς συγγενάδες μου καὶ φίλους Pist. kekoim. 477 με τοὺς συγγενάδες του (1515, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 70, 75.7) οἱ εὐγενίδες Pol. Tr. 10619 (but note that this text also has sg. forms, e.g. ἡ εὐγενίδα ibid. 10753) οἱ εὐγενῆδες ERMON., Ilias 21.32 (ms C οἱ εὐγενεῖς γαρ) (it is unclear whether εὐγενῆδες is masc. or fem.)

οἱ εὐγενίδες ὅλες Poulol. 52 οἱ εὐγενάδες Pol. Tr. 10619 app. crit. (BC) ἡ μεγιστάνου ἡ ἀμιρᾶ ἡ τινῶν εὐγενάδων Pol. Tr. 7403

Adjectives in -ης/-ῆς already exhibit instability in the 1st c. AD: forms with 2nd-declension endings can be found in the papyri, e.g. ὑγιοῦ PMich. 122 I 27 (AD 49), τοὺς ἐνγενοῦς MChr. 159.16 (AD 51/53), and the addition of final /n/ to the masc. and fem. acc. sg. is not uncommon (GIGNAC 1981: 135–8). As with other two-termination adjectives, there is a tendency for new forms to be created for the feminine, by analogy with other classes of adjective. (On the remodelling of such adjectives, see further HATZIDAKIS 1892: 381–2; JANNARIS 1897: 139.) As a consequence, the paradigm presented below is necessarily a “mixed” one; unless there is a shift of stress (e.g. εὐπρεπος < εὐπρεπής) it is impossible to determine when full metaplasm has occurred. However, when a masculine nominative singular in -ος is found, together with other related forms, we assume that the adjective has moved over to that category (for which see 3.2.1 and 3.2.2); but the inherited forms of the -ης paradigm will continue to be found in higher registers.

³³ The adjective ὑγιής illustrates the difficulty of assigning forms to a particular lemma: alongside inherited forms (e.g. τὸ δέρμα εὖρον ὑγιές Dig. A 2937), we find innovative oxytone forms like neut. pl. ὑγιά MONTSEL., Evgena after 1158, but also forms with regressive stress that imply a metaplasm ὕγιος, e.g. δὲν ἀπόμεινε ὕγιο κανένα ράμμα ZINOS, Vatr. 310; ὕγιους καὶ ἄβλαβους ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 51.14.

³⁴ Very occasionally, the change is in the opposite direction. An example is εὐσπλαχνής (ms εὐσπλαγχνεῖς) from εὐσπλαχνος: ὁ Θεὸς γάρ, ὡς εὐσπλαχνῆς Chron. Mor. P 624. (The older, 15th-c., ms H reads εὐσπλαχνος at this point.)

³⁵ These forms should not be confused with the plurals of the fem. nouns συγγενεῖς and εὐγενεῖς, the first of which is found in Koine and EMedG texts, but also occurs in LMedG; εὐγενεῖς is probably an analogical formation. Examples: πάσας του συγγενίδας Eisit. f.3r.2, καὶ τῶν συγγενιδῶν σου ibid. f.5r.4 (with shift of stress on the analogy of 1st-declension nouns, or perhaps metri gratia); οἱ εὐγενίδες Poulol. 52.

In general, those adjectives that constitute frequently used lexical items, in all registers, tend to be adapted to the paradigm of adjectives in -ος, with three terminations. Conversely, those adjectives that continue in written use occur mainly in texts that aim at a more formal, stylized or mixed register, for example legal documents and certain literary texts, such as verse romances. However, it must be stressed that innovative (i.e. “non-classical”) forms also occur in such texts, as well as apparently undeclined forms, as in: μετὰ πάντων τῶν χρειώδη ἐργαλείων αὐτοῦ (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 293, 208.7). The word πλήρης is also found as an indeclinable adjective, and as an adverb (see 4.2.5 and KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.).

Finally, it is noteworthy that many new adjectives formed with the suffix -ώδης, e.g. δυσβατώδης, δυσκολώδης, come into existence in LMedG. One text that is particularly rich in such formations is the romance Kallimachos and Chrysorroï; for details see APOSTOLOPOULOS 1984: 184.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	εὐγενής	εὐγενής ἢ εὐγενή	εὐγενές ἢ εὐγενή(ν) ἢ εὐγενό(ν) ἢ -ος
Gen.	εὐγενοῦς ἢ εὐγενοῦ ἢ εὐγενῆ	εὐγενοῦς ἢ εὐγενῆς	εὐγενοῦς
Acc.	εὐγενή(ν) ἢ εὐγενό(ν)	εὐγενή(ν)	εὐγενές ἢ εὐγενή(ν) ἢ εὐγενό(ν) ἢ -ος
Voc.	εὐγενή	(εὐγενή?)	(εὐγενές ἢ εὐγενή(ν))

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	εὐγενεῖς ἢ εὐγενοί	εὐγενεῖς ἢ εὐγενές	εὐγενῆ ἢ εὐγενά εὐγενέα
Gen.	εὐγενῶν	εὐγενῶν	εὐγενῶν
Acc.	εὐγενεῖς ἢ εὐγενοῦς	εὐγενεῖς ἢ εὐγενές	εὐγενῆ ἢ εὐγενά
Voc.	(εὐγενεῖς ἢ εὐγενοί)	(εὐγενεῖς ἢ εὐγενές)	(εὐγενῆ ἢ εὐγενά)

In the tables of allomorphs below, differences of accentuation are not shown.

Singular*Masculine*

M	General	Rare
Nom.	-ης
Gen.	-ους -ου -η
Acc.	-η(ν)	-ο(ν)
Voc.	-η

Nominative

The nominative is entirely stable throughout our period (the ending -ος would imply metaplasma to a different paradigm).³⁶

ὁ λόγος ὁ δημώδης GLYKAS, Stichoi 19; ζοφώδης Ἄδης ibid. 487 καὶ ἦσαι καὶ αὐθάδης Spaneas P 97 δασώδης τόπος Chron. Mor. H 6688; κλαστώδης τόπος ibid. H 6968 μὴ φαίνεσαι ὡς κατηφής Flor. L 316 (Cupane) πῶς συριγμός ἐξήρχετο φρικτώδης, ἀγριώδης Velth. 251 πραῆς FALIEROS, Log. did. 63 ὁ τόπος ἦτον πετρώδης MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 546.5; ἀστενής ibid. V 371.26 ἀληθῆς κληρονόμος (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 3, 23.13) ἔναι συνήθης καὶ πρακτικὸς SOFIANOS, Paidag. 111.21 μανιώδης ἄνθρωπος Chron. Tourk. Soult. 28.1; θυμώδης εἰς τὸν πόλεμον ibid. 45.4 τὸν Μιχαήλ παρακαλεῖ νὰ μὴ γενεῖ προπέτης STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 534 (Pidonia) τόπος ρευματώδης Vios Aisop. D 244.4 ἥβρισκόμενος ἀστενῆς ἐν τῷ οἴκῳ του (1692, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 162, 162.1)

Genitive

The inherited genitive in -ους/-οῦς continues to be found, particularly in texts that aspire to a higher register. Two alternative innovations must be dated to the MedG period: (i) assimilation to the -ος declension by deletion of final /s/; and (ii) adoption of the ending /i/ (<η>) on the analogy of 1st-declension nouns. Although it is extremely difficult to date these changes, the evidence so far collected suggests that the -ου/-οῦ ending (first attested in a 10th-c. document from S. Italy) is established before the -η/-ῆ form appears in written texts.

τοῦ ταπεινοῦ καὶ εὐτελοῦς Dig. G IV.991 τοῦ πολυπαθοῦς Liv. V 28 τοῦ εὐγενοῦς ἄρχον (1530, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 98, 118.5) τοῦ εὐτελοῦς καὶ ἀμαθοῦς MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 9 τὰ λόγια τοῦ ἀσεβοῦς MOREZINOS, Klini 25.16–17

³⁶ Unusually, the masc. nom. sg. of πλήρης is found in the form πλήρος (i.e. metaplasma to the -ος declension) in a 15th-c. text: πλήρος οὐρανός (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 2864). Cf. plural πλήροι below.

τοῦ οἰκογενεοῦ (975, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 7, 5.14); συγγενοῦ (1141, ibid. 129, 171.19) τοῦ χριστοῦ ἀληθοῦ θεοῦ ἡμῶν (1141, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 5, 16.6) εὐτελοῦ (1202, S. Italy, NADAL CAÑELLAS 1983: III, 165.23–4) συγγενοῦ (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.592) τοῦ εὐγενοῦ ἀνδρός (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 4, 151.10; 1473, ibid. 21, 160.5) σύγαμπρον τοῦ πανευτυχοῦ Λιβίστρου Κλιτοβόντος Liv. E 4357 πᾶσα εὐσεβοῦ καὶ ὀρθοδόξου ἀνθρώπου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 453.13 τοῦ ἀσθενοῦ Pist. kekoim. 395 τοῦ ἑτέρου ρύακος πετρώδου (1613, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 61, 183.11) (perhaps a scribal error) τοῦ εὐτελοῦ δούλου σου (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 399, f.2r.13) τοῦ Ἀψευδῆ (1395, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 154, 129.41) (proper name) τοῦ πολυπαθῆ Liv. V 1 τοῦ ἀσθενῆ Assizes B 437.25 ὥς πρέπει πᾶσα εὐγενῆ ἀνθρώπου νὰ τὸ ποίση Chron. Mor. P 7458 τοῦ ἀσεβῆ (1497?, Rome, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 4, 136.27) τοῦ εὐγενῆ ἄρχων (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 29, 29.4) τοῦ εὐγενῆ (1555, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 177, 228.23) τοῦ υἱοῦ μου τοῦ μονογενῆ Diig. Alex. E 164.21 and 165.18 (Konstantinopulos) τοῦ ἀσεβῆ MOREZINOS, Klini 48.12 τοῦ ἀπειθῆ καὶ χοντροῦ λαοῦ (1622, Karpathos?, ZERLENDIS 1918d: B, 300.26–7) τοῦ εὐγενῆ ἄρχο (1628, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 2, 332.18) τοῦ σοφωτάτου κ' εὐγενῆ τοῦ Καβαλιέρ Γουαρίνη SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. a2v.7

Accusative

The usual fluctuation of final /n/ is observed, even in texts that aim at a higher register (e.g. the romance Kallimachos), where the original AG ending -η might be expected.

πετροκρημνῶδη τόπον Log. parig. L 242 εὐγενῆν νέον (1387, Athens?, BUCHON 1843: XL, 220.10) εἶχα πατέρα εὐγενῆν Liv. V 3189 σκλάβον ἀστενῆν Assizes B 436.25 κρυσταλλῶδην ποταμόν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 151; κρημνῶδην τόπον ibid. 170; πρὸς τὸν καιρὸν ἐκεῖνον τὸν συνήθη ibid. 2232 ὅς τὸν ἀσεβῆν, Alosis 745; τὸν εὐγενῆν τὸν δοῦκαν ibid. 398 εὐγενῆν ἄνδρα (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 1, 149.3) τὸν λογγῶδη τόπον (1528, Corfu, ZARIDI 1992: 4, 75.15) τὸν νουνεχῆ ZINOS, Penth. Than. Prol. 3 εἰς τὸν τόπον τὸν σκοτώδην KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 119.40; εἰς ἕναν θεοσεβῆν ἄνδραν ibid. 226.36; τὸν ἀπειθῆν ibid. 484.6
 διὰ τὸν ἀπειθῆ λαόν (1622, Karpathos?, ZERLENDIS 1918d: B, 300.15) ἕναν χωριάτην ... τερατώδη, ἀλλὰ ἐπιμελῆ Bertoldos 4.13

An accusative in -ο(ν), in the case of words that have not generally gone over to the -ος paradigm, is rather rarely found. Examples have been found in Heptanesian texts:

ἐδιώρθωσε ἀληθὸν καὶ νόμιμόν του κομμέσσο (1519, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1950: 4, 158.5–6) εἰςὲ κάθε εὐσεβὸ καὶ ὀρθόδοξο χριστιανό (1644, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 297, 234.46)

Vocative

Only forms in -η occur.³⁷

ἔπλασεν ὁ Ἔρως, συγγενῆ, πλάσμα φρικτὸν ὀνείρου Liv. α 655 δικαιοκρίτα ἀληθῆ Flor. L 701 (Cupane) στράφου, αὐθέντη εὐγενῆ, Achil. O 472 ὦ Ἥησοῦ μονογενῆ, μονογενῆ P&N Diath. 3902 εὐγενὴ καὶ ἡγαπημένε μου κουμπάρε (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 1, 359.1)

Feminine

F	General
Nom.	-ης ἰ -η
Gen.	-ους ἰ -ης
Acc.	-η(ν)
Voc.	(-η?)

Nominative

Alongside the inherited form (which is identical to the masculine nominative), a distinct feminine in -η, on the analogy of adjectives in -ος, appears from the 12th c. onwards.

πάσα ψυχὴ καλοθελῆς Liv. V 10 ἐγὼ, Εἰρήνη ἢ Βίβα ἀστενῆς οὔσα (1497, Corfu, KARYDIS 1999b: 1, 305.3) ξιφερῆς περόνη Dig. A 34 δαιμονώδης φύσις [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1066; δαιμονώδης γραῖα ibid. 1431 ἦν δε ἡ κόρη ευγενῆς Diig. Apoll. 185 ἡ τρίτη εἶναι φλεγματώδης LANDOS, Geopon. 188.13 ἡ εὐαγὴ μονὴ (1156, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 7, 87.11) ἡ καλοθελὴ παρ εμοῦ γεναμένη (1198, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 246, 334.31) ἡ διηνεκὴ προσευχὴ (1334, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 43, 131.16) κυρὰ χαρίτων εὐγενή, βασίλισσα Ροδάμνη Liv. E 2467 ἡ ευγενὴ ἀρχόντισσα Diig. Apoll. 218 διήγησις ... πονετικὴ καὶ πλήρη Alosis 1 ἀσθενοῦσα καὶ κλινήρη (1516, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 102, 101.13) ἀσθενὴ εἰς τὸ κορμὶν της (1614, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 14, 317.4) ευγενὴ καὶ αὐτὴ Vios Filaret. 237.11 εἶμαι ἀληθὴ Θεοτόκος MOREZINOS, Klini 14.15 τί κτηνώδη ὑπερηφάνεια Bertoldin. 108.5–6

³⁷ There is a single exception, hard to explain unless it is simply a lapsus calami: καὶ γνήσιε συγγενό της Liv. α 402 app. crit. (N).

Forms like the following, with the feminine nominal suffix -ισσα, accusative -ισσα(ν), are sometimes found, but are marginal to the adjective paradigm:³⁸

ώσαν τὴν εἶδε προπέτισσαν Chron. 1619 937 ἡ ταλαίπωρη κλινήρισσα (1682, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: VIII, 184.12)

Genitive

The inherited form -ους is found mainly in texts that aspire to a higher register. The innovative ending -ης (the same as that of adjectives in -ος, with fem. -η) has been found from the 13th c. onwards, though it was probably in use some centuries earlier.

τῆς εὐγενοῦς κόρης Dig. G VI.29 τῆς εὐγενοῦς ἐκείνης τῆς κουτέσας Achil. N 793 τῆς θηλείας τῆς αἰσχροῦδους Ptochol. α 683 τερατώδους φύσεως LANDOS, Amart. sot. 334.40 τῆς εἰλικρινοῦς ἀγάπης (1693, Corfu, TSITSAS 1978/79: [2], 209.135) τῆς εὐαγῆς μονῆς (1232, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 287, 397.19) τῆς δυστυχῆς τῆς γραΐας Log. parig. L 328 κυρᾶς Χαρίτων εὐγενῆς Liv. V 2273 τῆς εὐγενῆς μου θυγατρὸς Velth. 952 διὰ πάσης πλήρης ἐξουσίας (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 7, 13.7);³⁹ τῆς συγγενῆς (app. crit.) (1531, ibid. 148, 268.26) καὶ εὐγενῆς κυράτσας Διατζέντας (1665, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: III, 117.19)

Accusative

With or without final /n/, the form occurs throughout the period covered by the Grammar.

τελείαν καὶ ἀνελλιπὴν (1137, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Col. XI: 8, 522.3) χάριν πλήρην Spaneas P 183 μὲ εἰλικρινὴν τὴν γνώμην Chron. Mor. H 5645 εἶχεν ὁ ρῆγας εὐγενήν, ὁμορφὴν θυγατέραν Liv. E 3502 ὁδὸν ... κρημνώδην Velth. 1096 σθεναρὰν καὶ εἰλικρινὴν (1497, Crete, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 6, 143.27) τὴν χρυσαυγὴν κόρην [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2011; εἰς ἀσπλαχνώδη φύσιν ibid. 753 θυγατέραν μονογενὴν Diig. Alex. F 174.3 (Konstantinopulos) σὰν ἀσεβὴν τὴν ἔχομε Alex. Rim. 2546 ἀπὸ καζάδα παλιὰ εὐγενῇ (1605, Koroni, MERTZIOS 1960: 21.16) γιατί 'ς τὰ πάντα δίκαια καὶ ἀληθῇ σε εὔρε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 942

Vocative

No examples have been found.

³⁸ Fem. συγγένισσα can certainly be regarded as a noun: τῆς ἐμῆς συγγένισσας (1202, S. Italy, NADAL CAÑEL-LAS 1983: III, 164.7). Another rare form borrows the fem. ending of the present participle: τὴν εὐγενοῦσαν, τὴν καλήν Poulol. AZ 61.

³⁹ Here πλήρης could be a gen. sg. form, but, as mentioned above, the adjective is sometimes used indeclinably, a usage already found in papyri from the 1st c. AD onwards; see GIGNAC 1981: 138–9.

Neuter

N	General	Rare
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ες ἢ -η(ν)	-ο(ν) ἢ -ος
Gen.	-ους

The inherited ending -ες for nominative and accusative continues to be used in a wide range of (mainly literary) texts. However, forms in -η(ν), perhaps by analogy with the neuter of adjectives in -ύς (see 3.3.1), as well as neuter nouns in -ι(ν), are found in texts dating from the 12th c. onwards. (Note that the pronunciation of <υ> merges with /i/ from ca. 10th/11th c.; see I, 2.4.6.1.) More rarely, neuter forms in -ον can be found. Since some adjectives of this type do move completely to the -ος, -η, -ο(ν) paradigm, e.g. ψευδός from ψευδής, this sort of fluidity is to be expected. An odd hybrid in -ος, only for the word σύννηθος, occurs in the Chronicle of Morea, War of Troy and a Corfiot document. For the genitive, only forms in -ους have been found.

Nominative

αἶμα πολὺ φρικῶδες Pol. Tr 7530 τὸ νερόν ἢ {το}ν δροσερόν, ὥσει χιῶν ψυχρῶδες Dig. A 1611 αἵματῶδες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 108.23 ἔναι ἑλλιπές SOFIANOS, Paidag. 97.5 διότι ἔτζι ὀρίζει τὸ ἀψευδές στόμα τοῦ Χριστοῦ PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §22.29–30 εὐῶδες καὶ καλοχώνευτον LANDOS, Geopon. 203.1
 ὡς σύννηθες PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2107 τὸ χειμαρροειδῆ ξηρορσικήτην (1297, Athos, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 27, 193.23) ἐτοῦτο εἶναι κινδυνώδη MOREZINOS, Klini 130.31 κρασὶν ... κίτρινο καὶ εὐώδη LANDOS, Geopon. 184.17 καὶ πάντα στέκει σύννηθος Pol. Tr. 11980 app. crit. (CV)

Genitive

τοῦ κάστρου τοῦ περιφανοῦς Eisit. f.6r.3 τοῦ δρακοντώδους κάστρου [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 1225

Accusative

δέρμα ... ὑγιές Dig. A 2937 βουνὶν ... δυσκολῶδες [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 2515; λεπτὸν λυγῶδες ξύλον ibid. 507 εὐῶδες καὶ δυσῶδες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 111.20 εἶχε Σωσάννα σύννηθες DEFAR., Sos. 95 (Holton) τὸ διηνεκές αὐτοῦ παρρησιῶδες μνημόσυνον (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 238.221) θέρος πολλὰ καυσῶδες AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 27 ἀραγές (1685, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1940: 303.1) τὸ περατῶδες πρόσωπον Bertoldos 23.14–15 τόπιον ἄχρηστον καὶ πετρώδη (1101, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 70, 83.17) περικαλλῆν καὶ ὠραῖον Pol. Tr. 303 ὠραῖον, παμμεγέθη Velth. 326 δράκων, μορφώσας ἑαυτὸν εἰς εὐειδῆ παιδίον Dig. T. 1926 χαρτὶ μεμβρανώδη LANDOS, Geopon. 169.36

πρᾶγμα ἀγιασμένον, οὐδὲ εὐσεβόν Assizes B 406.25

<καί> πάλιν διὰ τὸ σύννηθον Chron. Mor. P 8952

εἶχεν ἡ κόρη σύννηθον Byz. Il. 65

ὡς τὸ ἔχουν [ms ἔχη] γὰρ τὸ σύννηθος Chron. Mor. H 2393 ὑπόγραφα κατὰ τὸ σύννηθος (1458, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 3 [Γ'], 26.22)

Vocative

No examples have been found.

Plural

Masculine

M	General	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-εις	-οι
Gen.	-ων
Acc.	-εις ἢ -ους

Nominative

The inherited ending -εις continues in use. Very occasionally, forms in -οι are found, for adjectives that do not appear to have undergone metaplasm to the -ος paradigm. They may simply be ad hoc formations, indicating the general tendency to adopt 2nd-declension endings.

ὡς θρασύτεροι νεώτεροι καὶ αὐθάδεις Spaneas P 220 ὕγιεις Chron. Mor. H 1535, but ὕγειοι στὰ κορμιά Chron. Mor. P 1535 (app. crit. οἶγιοι τὰ) ἄσυντελεῖς ὑπάρχουσιν οἱ λόγοι Diig. tetr. 70 ψευδῶδεις Dig. A 1328

μάρτυρες ἀψευδεῖς (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 16, 30.51) καὶ οἱ ἄλλοι κατηφεῖς Spanos A 191–2 ὅσοι δυστυχεῖς (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 167.12) εἶναι ἀμαθεῖς Vios Aisop. I 270.9

διδάσκαλοι φιλαλήθεις PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §3.15–16 οἱ χολερικοὶ καὶ θυμῶδεις LANDOS, Geopon. 179.26

ὡς εὐσεβεῖς οἱ ποῦ ἔναι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6849; οἱ ἀσελγεῖς καὶ ἀσεβεῖς ibid. 8694

καὶ τῆς ἀνδρείας πληροὶ Pol. Tr. 808 app. crit. (V) οἱ εὐγενοὶ ἄρχοντες (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 182, 145.8)

θὲν συγχυσθοῦσιν οἱ ἀσεβοὶ καὶ οἱ ἐχθροὶ τῷ ἐκκλησίᾳς Trag. Ag. Dim. II.87

Genitive

The genitive plural, though not very common, always has the ending -ων. Only forms from oxytone adjectives have been found.

τῶν εὐγενῶν ἀνθρώπων Chron. Mor. H 4185 κοκκίνων λίθων τηλαυγῶν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 373 ἀσθενῶν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 602 τῶν πιστῶν καὶ εὐσεβῶν ZYGOM., Synopsis 122.A.6

ἐτούτων τῶν δυσσεβῶν AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 509 εὐλαβῶν χριστιανῶν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §1.22 τὴν οφρύν των ασεβῶν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 8341 των επιμελῶν εραστών Don Kis. 100.19 ἐνάντιος τῶν ἀπειθῶν ... ἀνθρώπων SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 53.33

Accusative

The inherited ending -εις remains in widespread use. However, the innovative ending -ους, on the analogy of adjectives in -ος, is attested from the 11th c. and becomes common from the 14th c. onwards. It is noteworthy that this transfer to the 2nd declension is much more common for the accusative than for the nominative.

κλαυσώδεις ὀλοφυρμούς Dig. G. V.35 ψευδεῖς λόγους Dig. E 1365 τόπους ... δυσβατώδεις [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 76 ναοὺς πολυτελεῖς Alex. Rim. 2323 τοὺς εὐγενεῖς αὐθέντες κριτάδες (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 286.2) κάποιους ἱεροπρεπεῖς ἄνδρας MOREZINOS, Klini 16.8–9 διαυγεῖς μαργαρίτας AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deká 51; πετρώδεις τόπους ibid. 275 εἰς ἀστενεῖς PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.91 τοὺς φρενήρεις LANDOS, Geopon. 192.34 διηνεκοὺς χρόνους (11th c., S. Italy, NITTI DI VITO 1900: 46, 94.48) ἁλσώδους κρημνῶδους τόπους (1054, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 1, 41.37) εἰς εὐαγούς οἴκους ἀφιερεῖν (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 473.17) συγγενούς Chron. Mor. H 2042, 2345, 3306 (but συγγενεῖς ibid. 737 etc.)

 τοὺς ἀληθοὺς οὐκ ἀστοχεῖς Liv. E 960 φρικώδους ὄρκους ERMON., Ilias 3.192 νὰ ἀρμισθῆς καὶ συγγενούς Achil. L 207 ἀνθρώπους ὅλους εὐσεβοὺς Flor. L 37 (Cupane); τοὺς ἀληθοὺς Χριστιανοὺς ibid. 54 λόγους ψευματώδους Dig. A 3212 ἀληθοὺς καὶ νόμιμους αὐτοῦ κουμέσιους (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 39, 33.5) ὅλους θωρῶ κακοθελοὺς κι ὅλους χολικεμένους FALIEROS, Thrinós 23 app. crit. λόγους τοὺς ξεύρεις ἀληθοὺς εἰπὲ Did. Solom. 140 τοὺς ἀληθοὺς μάρτυράς μου (1530, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 138, 249.21)

Vocative

ἄρχοντες, φίλοι κι ἀδελφοί, συντρόφοι, συγγενεῖς μου Chron. Mor. H 345 ἀκούσατε, τοπάρχες μου καὶ ὅλοι συγγενεῖς μου Liv. V 3962 <ῶ> ἄρχοντες πανευγενεῖς Pol. Tr. 2314 ἀλήθεια μὰ τοὺς Ἑρωτας, ῶ συγγενεῖς καὶ φίλοι Achil. O 29 and N 69

Feminine

F	General	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-εις	-ες
Gen.	-ων
Acc.	(-εις)	-ες

Forms that have feminine plural referents occur very rarely in texts of the period covered by this Grammar. The reason is perhaps partly the lack of a distinct feminine form in the inherited paradigm. Rare examples of an innovative form in -ες have been found in the Cypriot Assizes and in an 18th-c. text (and perhaps, as vocative, in the Synaxarion gynaikon, but see note below). Otherwise the inherited forms continue to be used, though examples are few.

Nominative

οἱ παρόντες εὐγενεῖς<ς> συμβίεις τῶν μακαριτῶν (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 262, 153.2–3)

λέγονται οἱ ἀγανάκτησες θυμῶδες Assizes B 455.15–16

Genitive

τῶν εὐγενῶν Χαρίτων Liv. V 7

Accusative

γυναίκας εἶχες εὐγενεῖς Liv. V 3074

τὰς πλευράς ... στρογγυλοειδεῖς οὐκάτι ERMON., Ilias 2.262 χιονώδεις σάρκας Dig. A 4678

ἔχων ἀκτῖνας τηλαυγεῖς [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 433; τὰς πολυτελεῖς λαμπρότητας ἐκείνας ibid. 1424 γραφὰς δημοσίας χρειώδεις (1548, Corfu, PANGRATIS 1999/2000: 1, 42.3) τὲς θυσίες ἐκείνες τὲς σκιώδεις MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 325.24 ἀπὸ τας συνεχεῖς βροντάς IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1306

μ' αἰσθησες πανυγιές VATATSI, Periig. II 444

Vocative

μιαρὲς, γλωσσῶδες, ἐπίβουλες, σκύλες ἀφορισμένες Synax. gyn. 79 app. crit.⁴⁰

Neuter

N	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-η	-α	-έα
Gen.	-ων

The form of the nominative and accusative is normally inherited -η (-ῃ when stressed), and that of the genitive is -ων (-ῶν). There is, however, limited evidence of innovative forms: nom./acc. -α is found in some documents from Sicily (12th–13th c.); interestingly, a form ὕγιᾶ occurs in two texts of Zakynthian provenance (a document of 1591 and a dramatic work by Montselese).⁴¹ An uncontracted form ψευδέα is found in the Grottaferrata Digenis, at the line-end.

The difficulty of using adjectives of this type is illustrated by the fortunes of the word ἀνελλιπής (“not deficient”), which occurs quite often in legal texts. In addition to ἀνελλιπῇ and ἀνελλιπᾶ (see examples below), we also find neuter plural forms in -ές and -εῖς:

⁴⁰ Some doubt has been cast on this form. KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. γλωσσού, amends to γλωσσούδες.

⁴¹ Cf. the fem. acc. pl. in -άς, in a document from the same island: ἔχοντας τὸ νοῦν καὶ τὰς φρένας ὕγιᾶς (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 113.7) (the adjective is unaccented in the original, so it could be ὕγιας; cf. the examples in footnote 33 in the introduction to this section).

σῶα καὶ ἀνελλιπές (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.24) σῶα καὶ ἀνελλιπές (1543, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 119, 81.7)
 σῶα καὶ ἀνελλιπές (1570, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 4, 22.10) σῶα καὶ ἀνελλιπείς (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 138.28–9)

Nominative

τὰ συνήθη Chron. Mor. P 7334 πνευματώδη LANDOS, Geopon. 197.33 ὅσον κινδυνώδη καὶ ἀν ἦτον Don Kis. 47.32 ἅπερ εἰςὶ ψευδέα Dig. G IV.28 τέλεια καὶ ἀνελλιπὰ (1164, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IV: 3, 119.1) νὰ εἶναι καλοῦ κορμιοῦ, διπλαῖ, ὕγιᾶ (1591, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1949: 162.10)

Genitive

τῶν εὐγενῶν καὶ εὐαγῶν σωμάτων Dig. G VIII.300 ἀντὶ δὲ τῶν πολυτελῶν ὀρθομαρμαρωμάτων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 304 τῶν χρειδῶν τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 235.80)

Accusative

σῶα καὶ ἀνελλιπῇ (1221, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 7, 379.17) τὰ ζωαρκῇ τοῦ βίου Ptoch. (Maiuri) 23 χρειώδη πρὸς τὴν τέχνην Diig. tetr. 487 ὁ πόλεμος οὐδὲν παραδέχεται σώματα γυναικῶδη SOFIANOS, Paidag. 111.18 ρόδα εὐώδη LANDOS, Geopon. 269.17 λόγια ψευματώδη Dig. A 3367; μετὰ [better: μετὰ] ψευδῇ φορέματα ibid. 4736 σῶα καὶ ἀνελλιπῇ Don Kis. 20.20 τέλεια καὶ ἀνελλιπᾶ (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 131, 173.23) ἔβαλε τὰ χέρια τῆς κομμένα εἰς τὸ νερόν καὶ ὕγιᾶ τὰ ἔβγαλε MONTSEL., Evgena after 1158

3.3.4 Adjectives in -ων, -ων, -ον

In AG these adjectives were of two terminations (i.e. the same set of forms was used for masculine and feminine referents). Essentially the same paradigm was followed by two categories of lexical item:

- 1) adjectives with nasal stems <ον>, including words such as the following (many of which are also found in LMedG and EMG texts): ἀνελεήμων, αὐτόχθων, ἄφρων, δοκόφρων, ἐλεήμων, εὐγνώμων, εὐδαίμων, κακοδαίμων, οἰκτίρμων, ὁμόφρων, παράφρων, σῶφρων, ὑψηλόφρων, φιλοικτίρμων, etc. Very few new items are generated, other than compounds of existing words, e.g. κακογνώμων.
- 2) inherited comparative adjectives in -ων: βελτίων, καλλίων, μείζων, πλείων/πλέων, χείρων. (See also 3.8.6.)

As happened with other adjectives that had endings of the AG 3rd declension, these adjectives were easily attracted to more common paradigms. Consequently, alongside the inherited forms we find new forms, or reanalyses of existing forms. As with masculine nouns in -ων (2.2.5), a new nominative emerges, ending in -ονας, e.g. ἐλεήμονας. Alternatively, more rarely and at a somewhat later date, the inherited genitive ἐλεήμονος was reanalysed as a nominative. It could then be fully utilized as an adjective in -ος, -η, -ο(ν) (see 3.2.1). Usually the syllable <ον> of the oblique cases was retained. A rare exception is the following, from a text of the 14th c.:⁴² Κύριος οἰχτιρμος, ἐλέημος, μακρύθυμος καὶ πολυέλεος Jonas 216.26–7.

Comparative adjectives in -ων, which are in any case rare in non-learned texts, seldom exhibit a transfer to the -ος, -η, -ο(ν) declension: nom. forms like *μείζονος have not been found. However, an important exception must be made for καλλίων, which is the most common word of this group, particularly in its neuter singular form κάλλιο(ν). Two new adjective formations emerge in the LMG period: καλλίος and κάλλιος, following the regular declension of adjectives in -ος. For further information and examples see 3.8.6.

Adjectives in -ων, including the inherited comparative forms (with the exception of καλλίων), are low-frequency items in non-learned texts. These adjectives were difficult for those not versed in AG grammar to handle. Various solutions were adopted when the need arose to use particular lexical items. The paradigm is consequently a mixed one, but some forms (e.g. feminine plural) are extremely rare.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	ἐλεήμων ἢ ἐλεήμονας ἢ ἐλεήμονος	ἐλεήμων	ἐλέημον ἢ ἐλεήμονο(ν)
Gen.	ἐλεήμονος	ἐλεήμονος ἢ ἐλεημόνης	(ἐλεήμονος)
Acc.	ἐλεήμονα(ν) ἢ ἐλεήμονο(ν)	ἐλεήμονα(ν) ἢ ἐλεήμονο(ν) ἢ ἐλεήμονην	ἐλέημον ἢ ἐλεήμονο(ν)
Voc.	ἐλεήμωνι ἐλεήμονα ἢ ἐλεήμονε	—	—

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	ἐλεήμονες ἢ ἐλεήμονοι	(ἐλεήμονες)	ἐλεήμονα
Gen.	(ἐλεημόνων)	(ἐλεημόνων)	(ἐλεημόνων)
Acc.	ἐλεήμονας ἢ ἐλεήμονες ἢ ἐλεημόνους	(ἐλεήμονας)	ἐλεήμονα
Voc.	ἐλεήμονες ἢ ἐλεήμονοι	(ἐλεήμονες)	—

⁴² For metaplasms of the type ἀγνώμων > ἄγνωμος, see PAPANASTASIOU 1992. Occasionally the nom. ending functions as an acc.: τον εωσφόρον αλαζών IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4016.

Singular

Masculine

M	General	Restricted
Nom.	-ων ἢ -οντας	-ονος
Gen.	-ονος
Acc.	-ονα(ν)	(-ονο(ν))
Voc.	-ων ἢ (-ον) ἢ -ονα	-ονε

Nominative

The inherited form in -ων continues to be used, particularly in texts that aim at a more formal register and in religious contexts:

ὁ πανοικτίρμων Θεὸς ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31 810.12 κι ὡς ἦτον πάντα ὁ πρίγκηπας φρόνιμος, ἐλεήμων Chron. Mor. H 5893; ὅτι ἐν' καλλίων σου ἄνθρωπος ibid. 4121 πᾶς ἄνθρωπος εὐγνώμων Liv. α 1122 ὁ πάντα ἐλεήμων Peri xen. 148 (καὶ ὁ παντελεήμων app. crit. (A)) ἀνελεήμων ἄνθρωπος Florios 1340 (Hesseling) χείρων ὑπὲρ τὸν ἄλλον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2359 να εἶναι ἐλεήμων ... και να εἶναι σώφρων Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 79.20–1 δοκίφρων, ἀλλ' οὐδὲ καλόφρων CHEILAS, Chron. 355.26 εἶναι τόσον ἐλεήμων (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.36–7)

The emergence of a nominative in -οντας, comparable to what happens with masculine nouns in -ων/-οντας (see 2.2.5), has been noted only from the 14th c. onwards:

πολλὰ ἐνι ἐλεήμονας καὶ χριστιανὸς εἰς πάντας Chron. Mor. H 5538 ὁ Ἀχιλλεὺς ὑπερήφανος ἦτον καὶ ἀλαζόνας Pol. Tr. 6111; οὐδέποτε ἀλάζοντας ibid. 11533 app. crit. (A) (with shift of stress) ὁ πανοικτίρμονας θεὸς Phys. 315 ὁ ἐλεήμονάς σου Υἱὸς MOREZINOS, Klini 75.34 οὐδὲν εἶμαι ἀνελεήμονας Diig. Alex. K 360.23 ἐλεήμονας ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Valach. 90 and 1891

A new nominative in -ονος, identical with the inherited genitive form, has a rather limited occurrence. It has been found in some 16th-c. prose versions of the Alexander Romance and in a 17th-c. ms of The Tale of Alexander and Semiramis:

οὐδὲν εἶμαι ἀνελεήμονος Diig. Alex. F 276.5 (Lolos) ὑψηλόφρονος Diig. Alex. E 259.2 (Lolos) ἐγὼ ο ταλαίπωρος Δάρειος και υψηλόφρονος Diig. Alex. K 355.29–30 παράφρονος ... ἐγέννη Diig. Alex. Sem. B 96; γίνεται παράφρονος ibid. S 122

Genitive

The inherited form in -ονος is the only form that has been found:

τοῦ λατινόφρονος (1390/1, Constantinople?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 7.I, 5.3) τοῦ κακοδαίμονος ZINOS, Vatr. 188

ἐκείνου τοῦ ἄφρονος MOREZINOS, Klini 80.10; τοῦ κακογνώμονος ἀνθρώπου ibid. 276.34–5⁴³

Accusative

No variation has been noted in the texts examined, except for the variable addition of final /n/:

ἐλεήμοναν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2610 κ' εἰς βασιλιά ἀλάζονα Alex. Rim. 1816 (with shift of stress metri gratia) τὸν παντοδύναμον καὶ πανοικτίρμονα Χριστόν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 463.25–6 παρακαλῶ τὸν ἐλεήμονα θεὸν Diig. Sant. 55.35 τὸν οἰκτίρμονα Θεὸ ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 1205

Vocative

Vocatives do not occur often, and their rarity in middle- and low-register texts may explain the observed variation: AG -ον with proparoxytone stress has not been found; instead we find the nominative in -ων used as vocative, in addition to both -ονα and -ονε, corresponding to the alternative nominatives -ονας and -ονος:

Θεὲ πανοικτίρμων Dig. E 781; οἰκτίρμων ibid. 1842

ὦ Ἀλέξανδρε, ἐλεήμονα Diig. Alex. E 117.10 (Konstantinopulos) ὦ παραφρασίαρη καὶ ὑψηλόφρονα Τάρειε Diig. Alex. F 154.8–9 (Lolos) περίλαμπρε καὶ πάμφρονα ΒΟΥΝΙΑΛΙΣ Μ., Diig. Pol. 142.16 (Xirouchakis) ἐλεήμονε αφέντη Αλέξανδρε Diig. Alex. K 355.6

ἐλεήμονε βασιλέα Diig. Alex. F 102.1 (Konstantinopulos) παραφρασίαρη καὶ ὑψηλόφρονε Diig. Alex. E 155.8 (Lolos)

Feminine

F	General	Rare
Nom./ Voc.	-ων
Gen.	(-ονος)	-όνης † -ου
Acc.	-ονα(ν) † -ονο(ν)	-ονην

Nominative

No variation has been found in the texts examined:

λευκοβραχίων Velth. 706

αὐτήνη ἡ σώφρων MOREZINOS, Klini 52.22

ἡ σώφρων καὶ τιμημένη γυναῖκα Don Kis. 106.10

Genitive

Of the expected (and inherited) -ονος no instances have been found with feminine referents. Two odd forms occur: σωφρόνης, formed as if from *σώφρονος, -ης, -ο(ν), with shift of stress to the penultimate (cf. 3.2.1); and κακοδαίμου, which implies an unattested masc. nom. sg. *κακόδαιμος:

⁴³ There is also an adjective κακόγνωμος. See KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.

τῆς ώραίας καὶ σωφρόνης ERMON., Ilias 4.204 τῆς κακοδαίμου μοίρας Velth. 36; τῆς κακοδαίμου τύχης ibid. 48

Accusative

The inherited form -ονα is found sporadically, including for the older comparative adjectives:⁴⁴ διότι θέλουσιν ἔχει τὰ παιδία πλείονα συντροφίαν (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.2) μείζονα ... χάριν [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 285 εἶχεν γυναικα σώφρονα VEST., Prol. Theot. 163

Innovative forms in -ονον (as if two-termination; see 3.2.4) and -ονην also occur:

καὶ μὲ ἀνελεήμενον ψ[υχ]ήν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 26 τὴν ὑψηλόφρονην Diig. Alex. F 264.15 (Lolos)

Vocative

Again, forms are rare and when they occur they tend to be idiosyncratic. The following is formed with the feminine ending -οῦσα, like a present participle: τύχη ἀνελεμονούσα Theseid IV.11,4 (1529).⁴⁵

Neuter

N	General	Rare
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ον	-ονο(ν)
Gen.	(-ονος)

The nominative and accusative generally keep the inherited form in -ον. Most of the examples that have been located are “irregular” comparatives (e.g. κάλλιον, κρεῖττον, μείζον, χειρόν), and tend to occur in texts that aim at a higher register. In Livistros ms E, innovative forms in -ονο(ν) are found. No genitive forms have been located.

Nominative

χειρόν τῶν χειροτέρων Chron. Mor. H 5010; κάλλιον ἦτον νὰ ἀπόθανεν ἐκεῖνος ibid. 4485⁴⁶ τὸ μείζον τούτων [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 439 ἐπεὶ ἔνι κάστρον φοβερό, τὸ κάλλιον τοῦ Μορέως Chron. Mor. P 1445 κάλλιον νὰ ἀποθάνω MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 22.38

Accusative

κάλλιον τὸ ἔχω Chron. Mor. H 1134 εἰς κρεῖττον Pol. Tr. 829 app. crit. (A); ὅπου οὐκ εἶχαν κάλλιον ibid. 767 app. crit. (A); εἰς κάλλιον ibid. 829 app. crit. (X) νὰ μάθετε τί κρεῖττον [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 890; ἀλλὰ καὶ τίποτε κακὸν ἄλλον πανθάνω χειρόν ibid. 1859; εἶχα το, τύχη, κάλλιον, κάλλιον ἔκρινά το ibid. 2373 ἐκ τὸ ἀνελεήμενό σου Liv. E 1989; ἀπὸ τὸ ἀνελεήμεμόν σου ibid. 1991

⁴⁴ The form μείζων in the following instance from Kallimachos is perhaps best regarded as indeclinable or adverbial: τρανὴν καὶ μείζων τῆς προτέρας [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 1271.

⁴⁵ Cf. the accusative form τὴν ἀνελεημονούσαν Pol. Tr. 13813.

⁴⁶ Ms H of the Chronicle of Morea (14th c.) also has neuter forms καλ(λ)ίον (2522, 3235, 4723), which need to be scanned as disyllabic. They are early evidence for a new oxytone form καλλιός. See also 3.8.6.

Plural*Masculine*

M	General	Rare
Nom./Voc.	-ονες	-ονοι
Gen.	(-όνων)
Acc.	-ονας † -ονες	-όνους

The inherited forms, nominative -ονες and accusative -ονας (or, as for other acc. pl. forms, -ονες), are found mainly in texts that aim at a higher register. The innovative forms -ονοι (nom. and voc.) and -όνους (acc.) have been found in texts dating from the 14th c. onwards (ms date of Ptochoprodromos IV), but are rather rare. These forms are comparable to the -ος forms that occur for the singular (see above), though the latter have not been found before the 16th c.

Nominative

ὅσον εἶναι πλείονες καὶ ἐλαφρότεροι (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.1–2) ἐλεήμονες DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2595 σώφρονες καβαλλάρει ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 918 οἱ φθονεροὶ καὶ ἀγνώμονες MOREZINOS, Klini 79.23 ἐλεήμονες VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 59.16 σώφρονες καβαλλάρει DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 1029 οἱ ἄφρονες καὶ παράνομοι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 8693 εἶναι τινὲς δοκόφρονοι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1149 αὐτόχθονοι LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 136

Genitive

No examples have been found in the texts examined.

Accusative

οὐδὲ ἀλαζόνες τίποτε Pol. Tr. 11533 τοὺς ἄφρονας νέους MOREZINOS, Klini 43.33 τοὺς ἄφρονας VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 48.8 ἀπὸ τοὺς λωλοὺς καὶ ἀνελεήμονες τοὺς Μακιδόνους Diig. Alex. K 364.6 τοὺς ὁμοφρόνους πάντας Ptoch. IV 265 τοὺς ὁμοφρόνους PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §3.21

Vocative

ὦ ἀνελεήμονοι θεοὶ Theseid XI.42,4 (1529) (with synizesis)

Feminine

F	General
Nom./Voc.	-ονες
Gen.	—
Acc.	(-ονας) † (-ονες)

Forms with a feminine referent are extremely rare, almost as if they were deliberately avoided. Only nominative -ονες has been found: ξνι χῶρες μείζονες εἰς ὅλον τὸν Μορέαν Chron. Mor. P 1753.

Neuter

N	General
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ονα
Gen.	—

The forms are very rare and there is no allomorphy. Only a few accusative examples have been found.

Accusative

χείλη ρόδου κρείττονα φιλήσας [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 1916 μὲ μάτια ἐλεήμονα ἐθώρειε ἡ Ἑμίλια Theseid IX.73,1 (1529) λέγουσι ... τὰ ὅμοια καὶ χείρονα CHEILAS, Chron. 357.5

3.4 New Adjectives in /is/

In the same period as the inherited (3rd-declension) adjective paradigm in -ης is in retreat (see 3.3.3), several new types of adjective with masculine ending in /is/ (paroxytone or oxytone) come into existence. All have separate forms for the feminine gender, but in all genders they present a good deal of allomorphy. They are distinguished here into three basic groups: (1) the largest consists of paroxytone words with feminine -α or -ισσα (3.4.1); (2) diminutives with the suffix -ούλης are a rather limited set of lexical items (3.4.2); (3) new oxytone formations in -ής are mainly adjectives referring to colour or material, a high proportion of which are loanwords (3.4.3). All three types continue to be productive in SMG (see HOLTON et al. ²2012: 93–4, 97–8).

3.4.1 New Paroxytone Adjectives in -ης (Feminine -α/-ισσα)

Many adjectives that appear for the first time in LMedG texts have the masculine nominal ending -ης, but their corresponding feminines are formed in a number of different ways. It might be argued that they are not really adjectives but nouns, since they are often substantivized with the definite article and almost always refer to human beings. For the neuter forms, where they are attested, either (i) the neuter form of an adjective formed with the suffix -ικος, or (ii) the ending -ι(ν) is used. This paradigm encompasses three types of new lexical items:

- 1) compounds formed of two elements, of which the second is typically a part of the body, e.g. μαυρομάτης, κουτσοχέρης, or some other noun e.g. κακομοίρης (from μοίρα);

- 2) loanwords that have been adapted to Greek morphology, e.g. ἀζάπης, κουρτέσης,⁴⁷ φουδούλης;
- 3) negative adjectives formed from nominal stems, e.g. ἀδούλης, ἀκαμάτης.⁴⁸

The origins of such adjectives have not been adequately researched. Compounds of type 1 are well attested from the 11th c. onwards, often as personal names (Ραφομάτης is an obvious example).⁴⁹ The selection of the {is} -ης ending may perhaps have been facilitated by the fact that the second element of the compound is often a neuter noun ending in -ιν (ὀμμάτιν, χέριν, πόδιν); the masculine forms could then readily conform to the paradigm of paroxytone masculine nouns like πολίτης (see 2.3). The only adjective of type 3 for which there is evidence in the EMedG period is ἀκαμάτης (see below under masc. voc. sg.). Certain loanwords from Arabic, Turkish and Romance were also accommodated to this paradigm. The feminine forms are usually based on a nominative -α, although a suffix -ισσα is also found (but only for loanwords in the texts examined; details below), and sporadically -ρ(ι)α for stems ending in /t/ (not included in the table). The neuter singular has two alternative forms, in -ι(ν) and -ικο(ν), of which the first appears to be the older. For the neuter plural only -ικα has been found, but neuter forms are in any case not very common.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	μαυρομάτης	μαυρομάτα ἢ μαυρομάτισσα	μαυρομάτι(ν) ἢ (μαυρομάτικο(ν))
Gen.	μαυρομάτη	(μαυρομάτας ἢ μαυρομάτισσας)	μαυρομάτη
Acc.	μαυρομάτη(ν)	μαυρομάτα(ν) ἢ μαυρομάτισσα(ν)	μαυρομάτι(ν) ἢ μαυρομάτικο(ν)
Voc.	μαυρομάτη ἢ μαυρομάτα	μαυρομάτα	(μαυρομάτικο(ν) ἢ μαυρομάτι(ν))

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	μαυρομάτηδες ἢ μαυρομάτοι	(μαυρομάτες) ἢ μαυρομάτισσες	μαυρομάτικα
Gen.	μαυρομάτηδω(ν) ἢ μαυρομάτω(ν)	—
Acc.	μαυρομάτηδες ἢ μαυρομάτους	μαυρομάτες ἢ μαυρομάτισσες	μαυρομάτικα
Voc.	μαυρομάτηδες	—	—

⁴⁷ The word often functions as a noun, masc. ὁ κουρτέσης, fem. ἡ κουρτέσα, especially in the late-medieval romances.

⁴⁸ The diminutives in -ούλης strongly resemble this category. However, in view of the rather limited data available for many of the forms, especially for the plural, it was decided to treat them separately (3.4.2).

⁴⁹ For several examples in S. Italian texts see MINAS ²2003: 154.

Singular*Masculine*

M	General	Restricted
Nom.	μαυρομάτης
Gen.	μαυρομάτη
Acc.	μαυρομάτη(ν)
Voc.	μαυρομάτη	μαυρομάτα

The masculine singular forms are well represented in texts of all kinds throughout our period. As might be expected, the descriptive compounds (e.g. πλατυπόδης), which probably began as nicknames, often become proper names. This is a very stable paradigm with no variation other than the presence or absence of final /n/ in the accusative and the (rare) alternative vocative form.

Nominative

- ὁ Ματζουκλοπόδης (ca. 1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 178.238) κατήλθεν ὁ Κονδομύτης (11th c., Sicily/S. Italy, SCHREINER 1975/79: 45, 14.1) Κωνσταντῖνος ἱερεὺς ὁ Ραφομάτης ὑπέγραψα (1288, Cos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 226.31) ὁ Μαυροζούμης (1375, Ioannina, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 146, 104.36) διπλοπόδης Dig. E 674
ὁ κουτσοχέρης Arm. 125 γερακομύτης ... ἦτον Pol. Tr. 2131 app. crit. (AX) ὁ κουτρούλης Ἀλαμάνος Vulgärorakel I.287 ἔδε κουρτέσης ἄγουρος Achil. N 1515 ὁ μέγας μακρυμύτης ... σπανός Spanos D 1482; ἀναχесоμύτης ibid. D 590 θέλεις εἶσταιν κουρτέσης MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 472.10 ὁ μαῖστρο-Μιχελῆς Πλατυπόδης (1530, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 145, 262.7) ἀκαμάτης καὶ ὀκηρός SOFIANOS, Paidag. 120.12 γαῖδουράφτης γαρδουμομύτης BAROZZI, Letter 358.32 νέος καὶ μαυρομάτης Vosk. 386 κιτρινογένης, πολυγένης, μακρυγένης PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §3.2; γουρλομάτης ibid. I §28.10; ἀκαμάτης ἢ ἀδούλης ibid. I §29.34 (both words also occur at I §35.11) ἦτον καμπούρης ... στραβομύτης ... πρησκοκοίλης Vios Aisop. D 209.19 ἀσπρογένης (1654, Athos, MOŠIN/SOVRE 1948: 17, 51.8) ἔδῶ στέκω ἀκαμάτης (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 181.17) ὁ Ρώκριτος ὁ ἀζάπης KORNAROS, Erot. III.643 στρογγυλοπρόσωπος, στραβομύτης καὶ μεγάλόστομος Don Kis. 158.18

Genitive

- τοῦ Μακρυγένη (1048, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 4, 50.46)
Γεωργίου Στραβοσκέλη (ca. 1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 173.169) τοῦ Παχυπόδη (1103, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 51, 208.65) τοῦ Στραβομύτη (1112, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 3, 72.72) Βασίλειος τοῦ Ὀμορφογένη (1154, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 4, 77.22) τοῦ Λαγοδόνη (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 43.200–1) τοῦ Μακρογένη (ca. 1322, Athos, PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1986: 18, 155.54) Θεοδώρου τοῦ Σπινομάτη (1400, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 10, 195.9) τοῦ Σγουρομάλλη Παλαιολόγου SFRANTZIS, Chron. 164.8 Ἰωάννου Ζουλομύτη (1506, Patmos, MALTEZOU 1970: 2, 365.121) Ἀντωνίου Μαυροπόδη (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 328, 232.1) να μου ἴδιδες τ' ἀζάπη CHORTATIS, Panor. III.382 τοῦ διπλοκακομοίρη FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.349 τοῦ ἀζάπη KORNAOS, Erot. II.1289; τοῦ ἀζάπη τοῦ ἐρωτάρη ibid. II.1295

Accusative

Θεόδωρον τὸν Σγουρομάλλην (1316, Constantinople, HUNGER/KRESTEN 1981: 35, 276.35) τὸν κουτσοχέρην Arm. 126 ms C (τὸν κουτσοχέρην) λαγὸν τὸν μεγἀλάπτην Diig. tetr. 44 τὸν θεῖον σου τὸν ἀγριεμπηξομύτην Spanos A 246–7 τὸν μισκὴν Synax. gyn. 390 τὸν ταπεινὸν ἀζάπτην Cypr. Canz. 147.11 3 εὐμορφον παῖδα, εὐμορμομάτην Vios Aisop. K 163.2–3 Φασούλιον τὸν κοιλοπρήστην καὶ μαυρομάτην Porikol. III 60–1; Ροβίθιον τὸν κουκουβαγιομύτην ibid. III 59 καὶ σκυλοκάρδη καὶ τυφλὸ κι ἄπονο μὲ λαλοῦσι CHORTATIS, Erof. Prol. 10; τὸ βασιλιὸ ... τὸ σκυλοκάρδη ibid. V.223 τὸν κουτσάφτην P&N Diath. 3045 κουτσοχέρην καὶ κουτσοπόδη (1657, Kefalonia, ANDONAKATOU 1989: 63.6) στὸν ἀζάπη KORNAOS, Erot. I.1251; τὸν κακομοίρη ibid. III.981

Vocative

ὦ σπαταλοκρομμύδη Ptoch. IV 294 Σαρακηνέ, κουτρούλη Poulol. 70
 ὦ Ἀργυρομύτη φίλε Ptochol. α 18 Σαχλίκη κακομοίρη SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 150 ὦ κλανομουστάκη Spanos D 411 ἀζάπη CHORTATIS, Panor. I.86, II.479 ὦ κακομοίρη Νικολό CHORTATIS, Katz. V.111 ὦ ἀκαμάτη PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §10.13 ἄνοστε, ἀδούλη καὶ φαγά FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.112 ὦ μακρογένη SPANOS, Grammar 29.1

A vocative in -α has also been found, first in the 9th-c. Life of St Philaretos (11th-c. ms):
 σύ, ἀκαμάτα Vios Philaret. 153.⁵⁰ The form occurs occasionally in later texts, mainly those in a mixed register:

παλὶν δρεπανομύτα Poulol. 24 (δρεπανομύτη app. crit. (C)) μελισσοφάγα μυσαρέ, κοντοποδαρομύτα Diig. tetr. 844 app. crit. (V), κονδοποδαρομύτα (CL)

Feminine

F	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	μαυρομάτα	-ισσα	-ρ(ι)α
Gen.	(μαυρομάτας)
Acc.	μαυρομάτα(ν)	-ισσα(ν)	-ρ(ι)α(ν)

⁵⁰ This archaizing form is modelled on the vocative of AG masculine 1st-declension nouns like πολίτης.

The usual nominative form is -α, both for compound adjectives (e.g. μαυρομάτα) and for loanwords (e.g. φουδούλα). However, an alternative form in -ισσα is also found in loanwords (άζάπισσα in a 17th-c. document from Naxos, and καμπούρισσα in an early 18th-c. literary text), and also in the plural (see below). This ending has not been found with compound or ἀ- privative adjectives, but only for loanwords. It is arguable that these forms are closer to nouns in terms of their morphology. We may also note the sporadic occurrence of feminine forms in -ρ(ι)α, from masculine adjectives in -της, on the analogy of agent nouns. Examples are: μελανομήτρια Poulol. 327 (< μελανομήτης); ἀκαμάτριαν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1664 (< ἀκαμάτης).⁵¹

Another type of feminine form, which relates to these compound adjectives but has not been included in the paradigm above, employs the suffix -ούσα. Examples: ἀσχημοποδαρούσα Poulol. 327; καμαροφρυδοῦσα κόρη Love poems V 121; χρυσομαλλοῦσα μου κερὰ CHORTATIS, Panor. II.219. (For this nominal suffix, see ANDRIOTIS, Lex. s.v. -ούσα.)

No occurrences of the feminine genitive singular have been found in the texts studied. The vocative is normally identical with the nominative (examples below). However, a feminine ἀζάπη is found in the early editions (though not the manuscript) of the Cretan romance Erotokritos: ἀζάπη νένα KORNAROS, Erot. III.423.

Nominative

ἔμεινεν κουτσομούτα Poulol. 496 app. crit. (P) (ἔμεινες κουτζομούτρα VL) ἡ στραβοκαμποῦρα Vulgärorakel VI.14 ἔδὲ φουδοῦλα καὶ ἄγουρος Achil. O 619 νὰ γένη κακομοῖρα ΡΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 546 ἄσπρη καὶ μαυρομάτα Imber. 267 app. crit. (O) κουτσοχέρα MONTSEL., Evgena 1062 and 1195 μεγάλη καλομοῖρα | θὲ νὰ 'ναι ἀπού μέ πάρη ἐμέ FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.548–9 ἂν ἦτονε κι ὁλότυφλη, κουτσή καὶ ζουγλοχέρα KORNAROS, Erot. V.261; ἡ κακομοῖρα μάνα ibid. III.1752; εἶσαι καλομοῖρα ibid. IV.278 καμπούρισσα Don Kis. 24.15; στραβολαίμισσα ibid. 454.29–30

Accusative

μαυροπλουμιστομάταν Flor. L 192 (Panayotopoulou/Lendari); ροῖδοκοκκινοχεῖλαν ibid. L 193 σκρόφαν κουτζάπταν μίαν (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 95.79) αὐτὴν τὴν κακομοῖρα Fyll. gadar. 191a ὅπου δὲν ἔχει μαυρομάτα φιλᾷ καὶ τὴν τσιμπλομάτα Paroim. (Warner) 86.8 εἰς τὴν κακομοῖρα πόλιν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 94.1 ψειρομασκάλα Stathis III.381 μία φοράδα κόκκινη ἀσπρομούτα (1689, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 871, 1163.5) κουτρούλα KORNAROS, Erot. IV.476 app. crit. (X) ἀζάπισσαν (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 379, 592.4)

Vocative

γαῖτανοφρύδα καὶ ... μαρμαροτραχήλα Love poems V 235; μαυρομάτα μου ἔμορφη ibid. 544 ὦ κακομοῖρα μας κερὰ CHORTATIS, Erof. V.537 κακομοῖρα νένα TROILOS, Rodol. IV.347

⁵¹ This form is also given in a 17th-c. grammar: ἀκαμάτης, ἀκαμάτρια GERMANO, Grammar 64.25. With vowel deletion after /t/ it also appears in an 18th-c. dramatic text: χαλάστρα | καὶ ἀκαμάτρα ... καὶ σγουροφτειάστρα KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.393–4.

Neuter

N	General
Nom./Acc./Voc.	μαυρομάτι(ν) ἢ μαυρομάτικο(ν)
Gen.	μαυρομάτη

Two types are found: in -ι(ν) and in -ικο(ν). The first appears to be the older of the two, although the evidence is very limited. The first appearance of the -ικο(ν) type is in the Chronicle of Machairas (15th c., but 16th-c. manuscript). Only two instances of a genitive have been found, with the ending -η, which is identical to the masculine form.

Nominative

πιλωτόν, ὁξύν πρασινοβούλιν Dig. E 1684 χοντρομούριν, χοντροκότσιν Ptochol. α 440

Genitive

ένος μουλαρίου θηλυκού ... τρουλαύτη (1538, Crete, ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑΤΙΣ 2009: 528, 412.6) ένος σομαρικού ἄσπρου κοτσάφη (1549, Crete, ΔΡΑΚΑΚΙΣ 2004: 149, 144.5)

Accusative

καί ἄλογον τοῦ ἔστρωσαν μαῦρον, ἀλλὰ φουδούλην Achil. O 413 (scr. φουδούλιν) εἶτι κάμη μακούλι τὸ στέργομε ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. I §29.102–3; δὲν ἔχει οὔτε μπαϊάτι ψωμί νὰ φάγη ibid. II §7.16 ἔπεψεν ἕναν χαρτὶν πολλὰ κουρτέσικον ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 300.20–1 ἕναν ἄκρωτήρι ... κουτζομύτικον Portul. compl. 35.34–5 τὸ πιθαρόπουλο τὸ κουτσάφτικο ΒΑΡΟΖΖΙ, Letter 359.32

Vocative

No examples have been found.

Plural*Masculine*

M	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	μαυρομάτηδες ἢ μαυρομάτοι		-αι
Gen.	μαυρομάτηδων ἢ μαυρομάτων	μαυρομάτηδω ἢ μαυρομάτω
Acc.	μαυρομάτηδες ἢ μαυρομάτους

The masculine plural is most commonly formed in the same way as the plural of imparisyllabic masculine nouns (see 2.3.4): -ηδες etc. We have examples of both compounds and loanwords that follow this pattern, for all cases. However, there are also instances of nom. pl. -οι (acc. -ους). In Cretan documents this type of plural is frequently used for family names, e.g. τοῖ Μακρυμάλλους (1611, Crete, ΒΑΚΚΕΡ/VAN GEMERT 1987: 721, 625.22); οἱ ἄρχοντοι οἱ Βαροῦχοι οἱ Μακρυμάλλοι (1612, ibid. 702, 804.9). The plural κουρτέσοι (examples below) should perhaps be viewed as a noun form (cf. 2.3.2).⁵²

Nominative

εἶστε κουρτέσηδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 342.41 and R 342.39 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) οὔλοι οἱ γέροντες ἐνι καθολικά σουσπετούζηδες Fior 121.9–10

εἶναι κάποσες ἡμέρες ζαπούνηδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §7.75

οἱ μακρογένειοι-ειδες SPANOS, Grammar 29.2⁵³ κουρτέσοι ERMON., Ilias 7.68

κουρτέσοι ἀνασταλμένοι Poulol. 261 app. crit. (E) οἱ σκληροκάργοι CHORTATSI, Erof. V.12; οἱ ἄπνοιοι καὶ σκληροκάργοι δοῦλοι ibid. V.105

A “learned” form in -αι has been found in a 13th-c. document from S. Italy: καὶ εἰ μὲν ἀκαματήσωμεν, ἴνα ὥς ἀκαμάται διωκώμεθα (1232, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 286, 396.10).

Genitive

αὐτὰ ὅλα εἶναι πλάσματα τῶν ἀβάνηδων καλογήρων (1692, Bucharest, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 4, 54.174–5)⁵⁴

τῶν μακρογένειδων SPANOS, Grammar 29.2

Forms with deletion of final /n/ (Crete and Naxos) are found for both types:

τῷ σκληροκάρδῳ CHORTATSI, Panor. V.189

τῶν ἀζάπηδῶ (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 611, 844.4)

Accusative

τοὺς μακρογένειδες SPANOS, Grammar 29.2

Vocative

ὦ μακρογένειδες SPANOS, Grammar 29.2

Feminine

F	General
Nom./Voc.	μαυρομάτες ἢ μαυρομάτισσες
Gen.	—
Acc.	μαυρομάτες ἢ μαυρομάτισσες

Examples are extremely few, but it is likely that the earlier form, for both nominative and accusative, is -ες, with -ισσες appearing later, along with the singular -ισσα. No instances of the genitive have been found in the texts examined.

⁵² Also problematic is σκύλοι ματοπίνιοι Anak. Konst. 85. The adjective may be from ματοπίνης (see glossary of the edition). Alternatively, it may be a normal plural of αἵματοπίνος (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.).

⁵³ Spanos, in his early 18th-c. grammar, offers two alternatives here: the first would be from a higher-register (and AG) adjective μακρογένειος, while the second, with the ending -ηδες, is the vernacular one.

⁵⁴ In KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ἀβάνης is categorized as a noun.

Nominative

ἀζάπισσες (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 331, 533.28)

Accusative

τὲς λαμπρομάτες Dig. A 71

τὶς ἀζάπισσες (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 223, 397.6)

Neuter

N	General
Nom./Acc./Voc.	μαυρομάτικα
Gen.	—

Although a plural form in -ια might have been expected, only -ικα has been found in the texts examined. It occurs with compound adjectives as well as loanwords. No genitive forms have been located.

Nominative

καὶ γένονται μπατάλικά (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 10, 308, f.2r.32) ὥσποτε εἶναι τὰ παιδία ἀζάπικα (1689, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 881, 1175.8–9)

Accusative

φορεῖ τὰ μακρομύτικά του Ptoch. III 61 βαστοῦσαν γεράκια μεγαλομύτικά [VLASTOS] Dig. P IV 344.3

εἰς ἀβάνικα χέρια PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §5.23 διὰ τὰ παιδία ὅπου ἔχομε ἀζάπικα (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 77, 231.8)

3.4.2 Diminutives in -ούλης

Forms of these adjectives are found for all three genders. Like all adjectives they can also function as nouns, and indeed some scholars have regarded them as nouns. Jannaris, for example, alludes to possible influence of the Italian suffix -ullo on the emergence of a “class of diminutive nouns in -ούλης, fem. -οὔλα” (JANNARIS 1897: 298). We treat them as adjectives, as do most grammars of MG. All the examples located in our texts derive from adjectives: μικρούλης < μικρός, ταπεινούλης < ταπεινός etc. However, this group of adjectives is limited in number, and they were apparently not widely used in written texts; we lack evidence for genitive forms, and for the masculine and feminine plural. These diminutives are in many respects similar to other new paroxytone adjectives in -ης (3.4.1), but they do not appear to have feminine forms in -ισσα or neuter in -ικο(ν) that those adjectives can have.

As to when these diminutives in -ούλης first appear, the earliest examples are in a Cretan text believed to have been written in the first half of the 15th c. (Falieros). Most of the examples collected are from southern areas (Crete, Heptanese, Peloponnese), though we cannot exclude the possibility that such formations were more widely distributed in the period covered by the Grammar. Very few examples have been found in non-literary texts.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	μικρούλης	μικρούλα	μικρούλι(ν)
Gen.	(μικρούλη)	(μικρούλας)	-
Acc.	(μικρούλη(ν))	μικρούλα(ν)	μικρούλι(ν)
Voc.	μικρούλη	μικρούλα	-

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	-	-	μικρούλια
Gen.	-	-	-
Acc.	-	-	-
Voc.	-	-	-

Singular

Masculine

M	General
Nom.	-ης
Gen.	(-η)
Acc.	(-η(ν))
Voc.	-η

There are no allomorphs. The endings are the same as those of the new adjectives in -ης in the previous section (3.4.1). No accusative or genitive forms have been found.

Nominative

ὁ Μικρούλης (1611, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: IV, 72.6) (used as surname) μικρούλης ἐπαντρεύτηκε KORNAROS, Erot. I.33

Vocative

διατί, πτωχούλη, ἐβάλθηκες σὲ τοῦτο τὸ σακκίον Bertoldos 57.3–4

Feminine

F	General
Nom./Voc.	-α
Gen.	(-ας)
Acc.	-α(ν)

There are no allomorphs. A genitive form has not been found. In the examples so far located, nominative, accusative and vocative have the same form.

Nominative

μοναχοῦλα DEFAR., Log. did. 474; ἡ ταπεινοῦλα ibid. 559 πασίχαρη καὶ σπλαχνικοῦλα KORNAOS, Erot. III.1016⁵⁵

Accusative

μὲ βάρκα ... μικρούλα Theseid XII.85,2 (1529)
 σ' ἔκαμε μικρούλα, | κοιλιὰ μου CHORTATSIS, Katz. III.197–8 τάβλινη μικρούλα PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 122.11 (referring to a church)

Vocative

μικρὴ μου ταπεινοῦλα DEFAR., Log. did. 473

Neuter

N	General
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ι(ν)
Gen.	—

Only two examples have been found, both from the same text and without final /n/.

Nominative

ἦτον πολλὰ ῥμορούλι FALIEROS, Erot. En. 14

Accusative

ἓνα παιδὶ μικρούλι FALIEROS, Erot. En. 13

Plural*Neuter*

N	General
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ια
Gen.	—

⁵⁵ A further example of a fem. sg. form is cited in KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. μοναχούλης: μοναχούλα SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. Δ' [83].

A single example of the neuter plural has been found, from the 16th c. The alternative ending -ικα, available for some innovative adjectives in -ης (3.4.1), has not been discovered.

Nominative

καὶ ταῦτα που σ' ἀνήφερα εἶνε πολλὰ λιγούλια KORONAIOS, Pittakin 53

3.4.3 New Oxytone Adjectives in -ής

This innovative paradigm consists exclusively of adjectives referring to colour or material. The model may be δξύς, in the sense of “deep red”, for which see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. and examples given there, or the /i/ may be of Turkish provenance, cf. LKN s.v. -ί 4, ANDRIOTIS, Lex. s.v. -ί, BABINIOTIS, Lex. s.v. χρώμα. There is a single example of the new formation from the 13th c. (Asia Minor) and two examples from the 14th/15th c. By the 17th c. the paradigm is well established, although very few masculine forms and no genitive or vocative forms (for any gender, singular or plural) have been found. There is no significant allomorphic variation in this paradigm, but see below for a few puzzling instances.

The paradigm closely resembles that of δξύς (following synizesis), except that the /i/ is usually spelled – by modern editors and linguists – with <η> rather than <υ>. The following lexical items have been located in LMedG and EMG texts: γερανής, γκιουλγκιουλής, δαμασκής, καρτσής, κιρμιζής/κιρμιζής/χριμιζής/χρεμεζής, λαχανής, λεμονής, μαβής, μελιτζανής, μενεβισής, ροζής, σαρκεσής, σε(ν)τεφκιαρής, τζαντουνης, φιστικής.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	(κιρμιζής)	κιρμιζιά † κιρμιζή ?	κιρμιζί(ν)
Gen.	-	-	-
Acc.	κιρμιζή(ν)	κιρμιζιά(ν)	κιρμιζί(ν)
Voc.	-	-	-

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	-	κιρμιζιές	κιρμιζιά
Gen.	-	-	-
Acc.	-	κιρμιζιές	κιρμιζιά
Voc.	-	-	-

Singular*Masculine*

Nominative

M	General
Nom.	(-ής)
Gen.	–
Acc.	-ή(ν)

It can be assumed that the nominative would end in -ής (as in MG), though no examples have been found. The accusative occurs with and without final /n/.

Accusative

καβάδιν χρεμεζήν χαμουχάν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 58.1 φερετζέ ἄσπρο καὶ μαβή (1613, Athens, VISVIZIS 1965: 22, 111.15) καμουχά κριμιζήν (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 12, 82.27) μέ ἔναν κιτζέν μαβήν τυλιγμένο (1708 [later copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B 15, f.179r.6)

Feminine

F	General	Rare
Nom.	-ιά	-ή
Gen.	–
Acc.	-ιά(ν)

The feminine forms have the endings -ιά, -ιά(ν), like adjectives in -ύς (3.3.1). A further development may occur when the stem consonant is one that can, in certain areas, undergo depalatalization (see I, 2.4.7.3). Thus, ροζιά may become ροζά, as in the example from Santorini below; in the example from Skyros, καρτζά is also depalatalized (from καρτσιά).

There are two apparent examples of feminine in -ή, μαβή and σετεφκιαρή (see below), which must be treated with caution. In the first case, the form may be influenced by other adjectives ending in -η in the immediate context. Another possibility is that these should be interpreted as neuter forms, i.e. μαβί = the colour blue.

Nominative

ή τρίτη ὀξιά τζαντουσιά (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 141.54); ροζιά (ibid. 141.55) ή ἄλλη τζαντουσιά (1656, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 9, 405.69) κόκκινη ροζιά (1687, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 714, 968.16) μία βελουδένη κ[α]ὶ ἄλλη τζαντουσιά (1693, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 10, 407.27) ή ἄλλη ροζά (1693, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 10, 407.29) καὶ ἑτέρα κεντητὴ καὶ ἄλλη πράσινη καὶ ἑτέρα μαβὴ (1596, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 27, 144.29), τραπέζα σετεφκιαρη / τράπεζα σετεφκιαρή (17–18th c., Sinai, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 35, 140.88–9)

Accusative

τὴν καρτζὰ τὴ φοράδα (1602, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 1, 300.7)⁵⁶ μία σάγια γκιουλγιουλιά (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 10, 307, f.1r.20) πατοβὰν λαχανιά (1688, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 6, 4.2–3)

Neuter

N	General
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-i(v)
Gen.	—

There is no variation, other than the presence or absence of final /n/.⁵⁷ No examples of the genitive have been found.

Nominative

ἕτερον σαρκεσίν (1258, Philadelphia?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 15, 157.173) φεστεκὶ πράσινον (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 179.17); φεστεκὶ ἕνα (ibid. 1, 190.11–12) κόκκινο κριμεζίν⁵⁸ (1687, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 714, 968.2) τὸ ἄλλο τζαντουνὶ (1693, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 10, 407.30) τὸ σετουκι τὸ σετεφκιαρη / τὸ σεντούκι τὸ σετεφκιαρί (17th–18th c., Sinai, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 35, 140.10)

Accusative

βαμμένα μὲ τὸ χριμιζίν, ὅλα μὲ τὸ μετάξιν Diig. tetr. 762 ἕτερον λεμονὶ (1503, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 266, 226.11) ἕνα πάπλωμα γερανὶ βαθὺ (1524, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 4, κ'.39)⁵⁹ κόκκινον κριμιζὶ μεταξωτόν (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 10, 23.35) φελόνι ἕνα δαμασκὶ ἄσπρο (1557, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 11, κζ'.62) κριμιζὶ (1626, Venice, MERTZIOS 1936b: 8, 47.4); ἀτλάζι κριμιζὶ (1628, Venice, ibid. 1, 42.9) κ' ἕνα μελιτζανὶν γιλέκιν (1681, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 140, 307.1); ροζίν (ibid. 140, 307.2) μενεβισὶ καβάδι (1687, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 10, 223.23)

Plural

In the plural, the available examples are limited to the nominative and accusative of feminine and neuter genders.

⁵⁶ For the meaning of the adjective, “γκρίζα με βούλες”, see ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 301 and footnote.

⁵⁷ For the neuter adjective δαμασκί/διμισκί, pl. δαμασκιά/διμισκιά, referring to knives, see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. δαμασκί. No other forms have been found in our texts.

⁵⁸ The neuter of κριμεζή/χριμιζή is also used as a noun; see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. κριμιζής.

⁵⁹ For other forms of this adjective see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. γεράνιος. A neuter γερανιό is also found: τὸ πάπλωμάν της τὸ γερανιό (1628, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 2, 130.40).

Feminine

F	General
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ιές

There is no difference between nominative and accusative. Loss of palatalization may occur, in certain regions, when the stem ends in a sibilant (cf. the feminine singular of this paradigm): ροζές for ροζιές in the example below.

Nominative

ὀκτώ κமிழόλες, οἱ δύο τζαντουιές (1656, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 9, 405.67–8)

Accusative

ζευγάρι ἓνα κάρτζες ροζιές (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 257, 449.2) ροζές [κάρτζες] (1693, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 10, 407.31)

Neuter

N	General
Nom./Acc./Voc.	-ιά † -ία

Examples are very few, and mainly from the 17th c. The forms with -ία, apparently without synzesis, should probably be viewed as reflecting conservative orthographic practice.

Nominative

τὰ ἀνθιά της εἶναι μαβία (1684–5, ŠANGIN 1936: 3, 131.10 app. crit.)⁶⁰

ἀναλοηα σετεφκαρία / ἀναλόγια σετεφκριαιά (17th–18th c., Sinai, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 35, 140.20–1)

(τα χείλη της ...) εἶναι μαβιά Don Kis. 454.18

Accusative

μανίκια δαμασκία (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 187, 159.18)

τὰ λοιπὰ κρεμιζία (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 190.9) βελοῦτα κριμιζιά (1631, Venice, MERTZIOS 1936b: 18, 54.8); ράζα κριμιζιά (ibid. 18, 54.9)

μὲ δαμάσκα κρεμεζιά (1663, Venice, MALTEZOU 2000: 17.13)

3.5 Adjectives Borrowed from Romance Languages

As a result of close cultural contacts, a considerable number of adjectives were borrowed from Romance languages, particularly French, Occitan, Italian and Venetian, in both the LMedG and EMG periods. (There is, of course, also an earlier stratum of loanwords from Latin.) Such words are found in written texts mainly from areas where there was a long-standing French or Italian presence (Cyprus, Crete, Peloponnese, Heptanese, Cyclades, etc.); they occur particularly in texts of a legal, administrative or historiographical kind, but also in some literary texts, especially comedy.

⁶⁰ The ms reads μαβύα, which the editor “corrects” to μαβέα. It should rather be seen as a conservative spelling of the form with synzesis: μαβιά.

Many such adjectives could be easily, and fully, adapted to Greek declensional patterns, particularly those that ended in -o (-ato, -ito, -ado, -ido etc.), which could become adjectives in -ος. Such fully assimilated borrowings are included in 3.2.1 and 3.2.2. Below, we first discuss adjectives that were partly assimilated to Greek paradigms (3.5.1), and then those that remained unassimilated, indeclinable for number, gender and case (3.5.2). However, the distinction between these two groups is not absolute. The second type may, in some cases, be viewed as intra-sentential code-switching, that is to say: a word or phrase from another language is incorporated in the discourse in order to convey a specific meaning, when corresponding terms in the first language may not be regarded as adequate. Whether the first type, with partial assimilation to Greek morphology, may also be regarded as code-switching is impossible to say, since it will depend on the linguistic competences and perceptions of those involved.

3.5.1 Adjectives Partly Assimilated to Greek Morphology

Many foreign adjectives are minimally adapted to Greek morphology, where it is felt necessary to indicate case, gender or number. It is not possible to construct a complete paradigm in such instances, because the relevant words tend to occur in a few, formulaic contexts. Whether or not such adjustment occurs, and in what particular form, seems to result from ad hoc choices rather than a consistent policy. We can merely offer some examples of how writers resolved the problem of using adjectives of foreign origin:

Masculine Nominative Singular with Addition of /s/

Καπιτάν Γενεράλες (1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 35.20)

ὁ ποῖος ἀφέντης Τζώρτζης εἶναι ἀψέντες, μὰ ὁ ἄνωθεν ἀφέντης Τζανής ... εἶναι πρεζέντες (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 311, 295.3) < Ital. absente, presente μάρτυρας παρακαλεμένος πρεζέντες εἰς τὰ ἄνωθε (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 58.325); ὁ νατουράλες τοῦ λιγόχρονου τοῦ γιοῦ μου (ibid. 4, 68.79) (in the last example the adjective is substantivized) < Ital. naturale ἤμουνε πρεζέντες καὶ μαρτυρῶ (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 84.40)

A nominative in -ος has also been found (perhaps formed analogically from a plural in -οι, for which see below): ὁποῖος κύρ Μανόλης εἶναι ἀψέντες, μὰ πρεζέντος ὁ ἄνωθεν παπὰ κύρ Μανόλης (1608, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 3, 351.18–19)

Feminine Nominative Singular in /a/ἔτις ἐγὼ πρεζέντα ὡσὰν ἀψέντα (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 414, 326.5) πρεζέντα καὶ κοτέντα (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 253, 349.28)⁶¹

Feminine Genitive Singular with Addition of /s/τσῆ ἀληθινῆς, ρεάλες καὶ ἱρεβοκάμπιλες ντονατσιός (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 662, 576.19–20) < Ital. reale, irrevocabile

τσῆ θυγατέρας μου τσῆ νατουράλες (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 54.191)

Masculine Nominative Plural in -οι πρεζέντοι διὰ μαρτύροι (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 40.110)

καὶ ἐπομένασινε σοσπέζοι (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 183.133) < Ital. sospeso

⁶¹ For further examples of κο(ν)τέντος < Ital. contento see 3.3.2 and KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.

Masculine Nominative or Accusative Plural in -ες

- ἀψέντες ὥσπερ καὶ πρεζέντες (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 27, 106.7) ἀνθρώπους ἀψέντες (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 210, 176.7) νὰ εἶναι πρεζέντες τρεῖς ἀδελφοὶ (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 4, 127.35–6)

Masculine Accusative Plural in -ους

- νὰ πηγαίνου εἰς τοὺς πλέα πρόξιμους (1528, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 113, 225.1–2)

Feminine Nominative or Accusative Plural in -ες

- καὶ πᾶσα μία ἀπὸ τὲς δουλειές μου, γενεράλες, ινσπετζιάλες καὶ οὐνιβερσάλες (1539, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 1066, 829.5) ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ εἶναι ὅλες οἱ ἄνωθε μερίδες πρεζέντες (1630, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 3, 335.16)

3.5.2 Unassimilated Adjectives

Adjectives that are simply transliterated, without any morphological adjustment, are also common in historiographical texts and legal documents. The source language may be Old French (e.g. crudel), Italian (presente, naturale etc.), Venetian (desùtele), or even Medieval Latin; in fact, it is often impossible to determine the specific branch of Romance involved. The phenomenon, as discussed above, may sometimes be a type of code-switching, involving the use of lexical items from a different language for specific purposes. The following examples are not grouped by case or gender, since they are invariable. Examples with a singular referent are given first, in chronological order, followed by plural.

Singular

- εἰς μίαν βουλὴ πρεζέντ καὶ ὁ λεγόμενος κύρ Γεώργης Πλαταράς ἀψέντ (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 44.14) βικάριος τζενεράλ ὅλου τοῦ πριγκιπάτου Chron. Mor. P 7992 ἦτον τόσον κρουδέλ VOUSTR., Chron. A 18.7
 διότι ἦτον μάστρος καὶ βαλέντε ἄνθρωπος VOUSTR., Chron. B 147.5–6 περίτου κρουδέλ πράγμα Fior 129.9; δὲν εἶναι ποσίμπλε ibid. 146.19; ἐνι βίτσιον νατουράλ ibid. 146.34 ἐγὼ Ἀννέζα ... ἀψέντε ὡσὰν καὶ πρεζέντε (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 59, 57.3)⁶² νὰ κάμη ἓνα σπίτι σοφιτζιέντε (ed. σοφίτζι ενται) (1573, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 4, 14.21–2) πρεζέντε καὶ κοτέντα καὶ ἡ ἄνωθεν κερα-Μαριέτα (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 103, 118.20–1); ὅλον τὸ ἡμισον πράμα, ἔτις στάμπιλε ὡσὰν καὶ μόμπιλε (ibid. 103, 118.9–10) τοῦ φραρόπουλου τοῦ νατουράλε (1623, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 5, 75.132); τσῆ ἀδερχῆς μου τσῆ νατουράλε (1640, Crete, ibid. 9, 99.179–80) ἀδιάντροπε, ντεζούτελε, θρεμμένε με γουρούνια! FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.240

Plural

- ὡ' ἀνθρώπους τῶν ἄρμάτων, βαλέντε τοῦ πολέμου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 554.5–6 εἰς τσέρτε καιροὺς τὸν ἀγέραν Fior 113.3; διὰ νὰ πιάσω τσέρτε πράματα τὸν ἀγέραν ibid. 147.22–3

⁶² It would also be possible to regard such forms as having feminine morphology: derived from a masc. in -ες with deletion of final /s/.

τῶν ἐγγονιῶ μου τῷ νατουράλε (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 81.95–6) ἔτσι τὰ ἄνωθεν μέρη εἶναι πρεζέντε καὶ κοτέντα (1641, Crete, KONSTANDOUDAKI 1975: 9, 120.47–8)

The adjective κίτες, from Provençal quite, is a special case, since it appears to be partly assimilated (addition of /s/ to create a masc. sg.), although the form is in fact used for both singular and plural referents. It occurs only in the Cypriot Assizes, in the technical sense of “acquitted of blame or obligation”.⁶³

Singular

ἐν τούτῳ μένει ἀμέριμνος, τοὔτέστιν κίτες Assizes B 289.5
 νὰ ἔνη κήτες Assizes A 40.8; ὁ ἐγγυτῆς ἐνι κίτες ibid. 62.3; διὰ τὸ θέλω νὰ ἦμαι κίτες ibid.
 92.16–17; νὰ μείνη ἀμέριμνος, ἦγουν κίτες ibid. 205.16

Plural

ὅτε οἱ ἐνκυτάδες ἐνι κίτες Assizes B 311.6
 νὰ παῖσιν κήτες Assizes A 54.2; σὺν τούτῳ μένουν ἀμέριμνοι, ὃ λέγεται κίταις ibid. 140.18–19

3.6 Irregular Adjectives

In a system which is continually undergoing change, with analogical processes playing a major part, it is difficult, if not impossible, to say what is “regular”. In this section we group together for convenience two particular, high-frequency, lexical items, and a small set of adjectives that display various kinds of irregularity and cannot be accommodated in the foregoing paradigms. They are: (1) μέγας, which has become fully regular in SMG as μέγας but preserves some forms inherited from AG in the period covered by this Grammar (3.6.1); (2) πολὺς, which has elements of irregularity in both AG and MG, and certain other variations in MedG and EMG (3.6.2); and (3) diminutives in -άκι(ν), which have both indeclinable and (to a limited extent) declined forms (3.6.3).⁶⁴

3.6.1 μέγας

The inherited forms of this very common adjective are based on two different stems: the masculine and neuter nominative, accusative and vocative singular have a stem μέγα-, while the remaining forms are based on a stem μεγάλ-. The latter have exactly the same endings as adjectives in -ος, -η, -ο(ν) (see 3.2.1), and consequently only a few examples need to be given here. For the forms which originally have the stem μέγα-, in the course of our period new analogical forms emerge based on the stem μεγάλ-, which is eventually generalized to the whole paradigm (as in SMG).

⁶³ For further examples see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.

⁶⁴ It has not been thought necessary to deal specifically with certain other “irregular” adjectives inherited from AG, which appear sporadically in texts of the period. Examples are: βαρύπους, βριαρόχειρ, μάκαρ, μέλας, μεσήλιξ, μονόχειρ, σύννους. These are sometimes adapted morphologically to regular patterns, e.g. masc. nom. sg. μονόχειρος DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2932. In some cases, new words have replaced the AG lexeme, e.g. μαῦρος for μέλας. However, residual forms can also be found (see KRIARAS, Lex. for specific lexical items). A particularly striking example involving a mixture of AG and MG elements is the following: ἐνὸς σομαρικοῦ ποντικόχρου (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 777, 605.6).

In the later papyri a few variant usages are found, notably the accusative masculine singular μέγα in place of the dative (GIGNAC 1981: 143), but there is no evidence that the forms with stem μέγα- are falling out of use. In fact they continue to be used in both literary and non-literary texts throughout the period covered by this Grammar; the masculine forms are very common in official titles (examples below).

Forms for the masculine and neuter nominative and accusative singular based on the stem μέγαλ- have not been found before the 14th c. From the 14th to the 17th c. both types occur in texts of all kinds. In the case of verse texts the choice may be, at least partly, a matter of metrical convenience. Other factors which may favour the selection of the older variants μέγας and μέγα(ν) include: a formal context requiring a higher register, religious subject matter, honorific titles, or a comic purpose. However, by the end of the period covered by this Grammar, masculine μέγας and neuter μέγαλο(ν) are undoubtedly the commoner forms.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	μέγας ἢ μέγας	μεγάλη	μέγα(ν) ἢ μέγαλο(ν)
Gen.	μεγάλου ἢ μέγα	μεγάλης	μέγαλου
Acc.	μέγα(ν) ἢ μέγαλο(ν)	μεγάλη(ν)	μέγα(ν) ἢ μέγαλο(ν)
Voc.	μεγάλε ἢ μέγα	(μεγάλη)	-

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	μεγάλοι	μεγάλες ἢ (μεγάλαι)	μεγάλα ἢ μέγα?
Gen.	μεγάλω(ν)	μεγάλω(ν)	μεγάλω(ν)
Acc.	μεγάλους	μεγάλες ἢ μέγας	μεγάλα ἢ μέγα?
Voc.	(μεγάλοι)	(μεγάλες)	-

Singular

Masculine

M	General	Restricted
Nom.	μέγας ἢ μέγας
Gen.	μεγάλου	μέγα
Acc.	μέγα(ν) ἢ μέγαλο(ν)	μεγάλωνε
Voc.	μεγάλε	μέγα

The nominative μέγας continues to be available and in some texts co-exists with μέγαλος, with no apparent distinction. This also holds good for the accusative forms. As noted above, the forms with stem μεγάλ- have not been found before the 14th c. The innovative genitive μέγα is used particularly with titles or official positions; it may be explained either as analogical (in accordance with masculine nouns in -ας) or as a kind of indeclinable prefix (cf. 2.18). The vocative is not often used, but both the inherited form μέγα and the “regularized” μεγάλε are found.

Nominative

- ἀφέντης μέγας Chron. Mor. H 4168 μέγας περδικοπιάστης Fyll. gadar. 30 c καὶ ψιθυρισμός μέγας γίνεται (1576, Macedonia, CHASIOTIS 1964/65: 3, 253.20) κουρσάρις μέγας, δυνατός PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2317 εἰς τὴν ἀνδρείαν μεγάλος Chron. Mor. H 3555 μεγάλος τὴν καρδίαν Chron. Toc. 1061 μεγάλος εἰς κορμὶν Pol. Tr. 2078 ἄερας ... μεγάλος Byz. Il. 124 θέλ' ἀκουστὴ μεγάλος Alex. Rim. 749; ναὸς μεγάλος ibid. 2100

Genitive

- τοῦ μέγα Μαχουμέτη Dig. E 247 τοῦ Μέγα Δεμεστικού Chron. Mor. P 4816; τοῦ μέγα πρωτοστράτῳρος ibid. P 8099 μέγα Διὸς ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 731; Μέγα Μαστόρου ibid. 2132 τοῦ Μέγα Θεολόγου (1608, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 18, 177.7) τοῦ μέγα Ἀρχιστρατήγου (1619, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 2, 260.6) τοῦ μέγα Ζεὺς παιδί'μαι TROILOS, Rodol. Prol. Mell. 57 μέγα διερμηνευτὴ (1679, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 18, 32.5) μεγάλου ρηγὸς καὶ μεγάλου πριγκίπου (1257, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 33, 458.1) ἀπὸ θυμοῦ μεγάλου Achil. L 1170 τοῦ μεγάλου μαστόρου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 280.2 μεγάλου ἀνθρώπου ἐκγόνοι Om. Nekl. Vas. 51

Accusative

- τὸν μέγαν ποταμόν (1017, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 21, 164.12) τὸν μέγαν Μαχουμέτην Dig. E 165 μέγαν πόλεμον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 110.23
 ὕπνον βαθὺν καὶ μέγαν PLOUSIAD., Thrinos 7 (Vasileiou) μέγαν καιρόν Fior 116.16 τὸν μέγαν βασιλέαν Achil. O 397 τον μέγαν βασιλέα τον Πώρον Diig. Alex. K 368.32–3; μέγαν αφέντην ἔχω ibid. 374.1 εἰς τὸν Μέγαν Γεώργιον Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 2 κόπτο μέγα βάνεις Stathis II.133 μεγάλον θρῆνον DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1723 ὄρκον μεγάλον Byz. Il. 209 φόβον μεγάλον εἴχασιν Pol. Tr. 1384 μεγάλον ἀνθρωπον Alex. Rim. 78 τὸν μέγalon τόπον Imb. Rim. 916 πόθο μεγάλο βάνει KORNAROS, Erot. II.93

One extended form with addition of /e/ has been found, in the Heptanesian ms of a Cretan comedy: καὶ οἱ ρουφιάνες φίλο τους μεγάλονε μὲ κράζου CHORTATSI, Katz. Prol. 34 (for the phenomenon see I, 2.6.3.1).

Vocative

μέγα βασιλέα Φίλιππε Diig. Alex. F 106.18 (Lolos)

ὦ μέγα δοῦκα KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua V.21 θεοφρούρητε μέγα αὐθέντα, βασιλὲ (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 399, f.2r.2)

μέγα κνέζη Ἀλέξιε Μιχαήλ (1652, Crete, TCHENTSOVA 2002: 1, 355, f.1r.4)

Μεγάλε Δεμεστίκε Chron. Mor. H 4982

μεγάλε ρήγα KORNAROS, Erot. V.172; μεγάλε βασιλιέ ibid. V.1335

Feminine

F	General
Nom./Voc.	μεγάλη
Gen.	μεγάλης
Acc.	μεγάλη(ν)

There is no significant variation in the feminine singular forms;⁶⁵ as usual, the accusative may appear with or without final /n/.

Nominative

μεγάλη τσίκνα GLYKAS, Stichoi 124

ἐγίνην πείνα μεγάλη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 1.24 μιά κερά μεγάλη KORNAROS, Erot. I.923

ἡ κάμαρη ἡ μεγάλη Leilasia Par. 555

Genitive

τῆς πόλεως τῆς μεγάλης Eisit. f.6r.2

τῆς μεγάλης πέτρας (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 43.189) μετὰ χαρᾶς μεγάλης Pol. Tr. 423 τισ μεγαλίσου βασιλλίαις / τῆς μεγάλης σου βασιλείας (1469, Paphos, RICHARD/ΠΑΠΑΔΟΠΟΥΛΛΟΣ 1983: 117, 56.2) μεγάλης χάρης KORNAROS, Erot. I.608, II.108 etc.

Accusative

ἐποίησεν ζημίαν μεγάλην (1387, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 37, f.162r.2) εἰσέ μεγάλην χρεία DEFAR., Sos. 348 (Holton) ψυχὴν μεγάλην Chron. Toc. 160 εἶχα χαρὰ μεγάλη Thysia Avr. 422

δίψα μεγάλη KORNAROS, Erot. V.893

⁶⁵ A single aberrant example of μέγαν as fem. acc. has been found: κ' ἡῦρε πίτταν μέγαν μόνην Vulgärorakel VII.5.

Neuter

N	General
Nom./Acc./Voc.	μέγα(ν) ἢ μεγάλο(ν)
Gen.	μεγάλου

Forms of the nominative and accusative with final /n/ appear from the beginning of the period, but its presence or absence has no particular significance. The “regularized” form μέγαλο(ν) occurs in texts composed from the 14th c. onwards, though the first surviving ms occurrence is from the 15th c. (Chronicle of the Tocchi). The last of the nominative examples given below shows northern vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4): μέγαλου for μέγαλο. There is no variation in the genitive form.

Nominative

- τὸ μέγαν ρυάκιν (1124, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 94, 122.10) βαθὺ καὶ μέγα Chron. Mor. H 535; πλατὺ καὶ μέγα ibid. 2802 πληθὸς μέγαν PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 112 γεράκιν | μέγαν, μούτατον, ἔμορφον Achil. N 1063–4 μέγαν ὑστέρημαν Pist. kekoim. 483 ἀλυσίδην ἀργυρὸν μέγα ἓνα (1528, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 125, 229.38–9) ἀκουσμα μέγα εβγάνει DEFAR., Sos. 279 (Holton) ἂν εἶναι μέγα καὶ βαρὺ τὸ ἔγκλημα ZYGOM., Synopsis 161.Γ.42 ἦτον μέγα καὶ πανθαύμαστον μοναστήριν (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 336.36) θαύμασμα μεγάλο Chron. Toc. 2435 μεγάλον θαῦμα ἱασοῦς Pol. Tr. 1265 ἱατροσόφιον μεγάλο (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.10) ποτήρι μεγάλου τοῦ γαλάκτου (1628–9, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 1, 42.21)

Genitive

- ἐνὸς βουττίου μεγάλου (1101–2, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 5, 67.44) ἀπολάκτισμαν μεγάλου λαβρακίου Ptoch. IV 188 μετὰ ὀψικίου μεγάλου Dig. E 1063 μετὰ μεγάλου θράσους Byz. Il. 92 ἐνοῦ σπιτίτιου μεγάλου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 345.14

Accusative

- εἰς ὄρεινὸν λιβάδιν τέτοιον μέγα Log. parig. L 133 νὰ ᾿χα μέγαν κέρδος Ptoch. III 197.18 app. crit. (P) μέγαν δυναμάριν Chron. Mor. P 8092 εἶχεν μέγαν διλίτιν Fior 109.4; ἓνα μέγαν λαμπρόν ibid. 129.22 πάθος ... ἔρωτικὸν μεγάλον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1079 προσκεφαλάδιον ἀτίμητον μεγάλον Byz. Il. 147 θράσος μεγάλον ἔποικεν Achil. O 270 ἓνα πάπλωμαν λινοδύμητον παλαιὸν μεγάλον (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 50, 88.54) ἔν' ἄλογο μεγάλο Alex. Rim. 241 ἐκ μεγάλον γένος Imb. Rim. 277; μετὰ τὸν μεγάλον κράτος ibid. 524 μετὰ τὸ ἀμπέλι μου τὸ μεγάλο (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 179, 176.5)

Plural*Masculine*

M	General	Restricted
Nom./Voc.	μεγάλοι
Gen.	μεγάλω(ν)	μεγάλωνε
Acc.	μεγάλους

As with the adjectives in 3.2.1, the basic endings are completely stable: -οι, -ων, -ους. Final /n/ of the genitive plural may be deleted in texts from Crete and certain other areas (see I, 3.7.2.2). There is also a gen. pl. with the addition of final /e/ in a Heptanesian text (see I, 2.6.3.1).

Nominative

οἱ μεγάλοι κριταὶ ἐπρόσταξαν (1173, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 15, 329.1) οἱ μεγάλοι ἄνθρωποι Chron Mor. H 5697 μικροὶ τε καὶ μεγάλοι DEFAR., Sos. 280 (Holton) (the phrase is formulaic and very common, especially in verse texts, throughout the period) σὰν ὅταν ξεχωρίζουνται πολλὰ μεγάλοι φίλοι ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 993

Genitive

μικρῶν γὰρ καὶ μεγάλων Chron Mor. H 1907 μεγάλων διδασκάλων Achil. N 1903 μεγάλω ἀφεντῶ P&N Diath. 1740 τῶν μεγάλων αὐθεντῶν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 18 κάδων δύο μεγάλωνε (1708, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 32, 68.6)

Accusative

τοὺς δύο μεγάλους δρύας (1090–4, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 45, 161–162.17) εἰς ναοὺς μεγάλους Dig. E 102 τόσους μεγάλους φόβους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 498.13 ἀπὸ μεγάλους καὶ μικροὺς DEFAR., Sos. 40 (Holton) βρουχισμοὺς μεγάλους KORNAROS, Erot. II.955

Vocative

πέτε, μεγάλοι ἄρχοντες, PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 334 μικροὶ μεγάλοι κλαύσατε εἰς τὸ κακὸν τοῦ ἐγίνη DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 648

Feminine

F	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	μεγάλες		μεγάλαι
Gen.	μεγάλω(ν)
Acc.	μεγάλες	μεγάλας

For the development of the feminine plural endings, see the relevant section of 3.2.1. A single example of a residual nominative in -αι has been found in the texts studied, but accusative forms in -ας occur more frequently in higher-register contexts. Final /n/ of the genitive may be deleted in texts from Crete (and certain other regions; see I, 3.7.2).

Nominative

ἂν ἦτονε τόπος νὰ περιπατοῦσαν ὄλαι, μικραὶ καὶ μεγάλαι (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.28–9) εἰκόνες μεγάλες (1192, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 21, 340.13) ἀρχόντισσες μεγάλες Velth. 1323 ἐγκρεμνίζονταν πέτρες μεγάλες IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 331.11 εὐκὲς μεγάλες KORNAOS, Erot. III.1636

Genitive

μερίμων, | ... μεγάλων Eisit. f.8r.6

τῶν δέκα κολόνω τῷ μεγάλῳ (1639, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 6, 273.38)

Accusative

ραβδέας ἀποπατητὰς μεγάλας Diig. tetr. 222 ἀνδραγαθίας μεγάλας Dig. E 154; φιλοτιμίας μεγάλας ibid. 604 μεγάλας δουλοσύνας Velis. p 645 θάλασσες μεγάλες (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 85.5) μεγάλες εὐεργεσίας (1483, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 2, 41.14) μέριμνες μεγάλες Peri xen. 220 χρυσογραμμίες μεγάλες Achil. N 140 μικρὲς καὶ μεγάλες (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 214, 152.4) τὲς μεγάλες προβεζιόνες (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 146.11)

Neuter

N	General	Rare
Nom./Acc./Voc.	μεγάλα	μέγα
Gen.	μεγάλω(ν)

The forms exhibit no variation (cf. the corresponding forms for the adjectives in 3.2.1), except for a solitary example of μέγα instead of μεγάλα; this may be an indeclinable form (cf. the masculine genitive singular), or simply a lapsus calami.

Nominative

βιβλία στιχεράρια μεγάλα δύο (12th c., Macedonia, PETIT 1900: 3, 121.23) καύματα μεγάλα Dig. E 1710 τὰ παραπονέματά μου εἰσὶν μεγάλα (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 4, 303.20–1)

Genitive

τὰ δὲ τυπικὰ τῶν μεγάλων μοναστηρίων ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 214.14

μεγάλων δωρημάτων Ptoch. IV 646

ποιοῦν μαχαιρομάνικα μεγάλων μαχαίριων Diig. tetr. 923

Accusative

εἰς τὰ ὄρη τὰ μεγάλα Dig. E 755

τοῦτα τὰ δένδρα ἔκαναν μῆλα μεγάλα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.36 εἶχεν εἰς τὴν ράχην της τέσσαρα πτερὰ μεγάλα πουλίου DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 23, ψ3r.30–1 (1561) καμώματα μεγάλα KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1165; σ' ἔτοια μεγάλα σφάλματα ibid. I.1934 μέγα χαρίσματα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 38.3

3.6.2 πολὺς

In Classical Greek, as well as in MG, the adjective quantifier πολὺς follows the regular adjectival declension -ος, -η, -ο(ν) with stem πολλ- for most of its forms, except for the nominative and accusative singular of the masculine and neuter, which have stem πολ- and endings corresponding to those of adjectives in -ύς (see 3.3.1). In MedG and EMG we can observe the following deviations from this pattern:

- 1) masculine and neuter singular forms πολλός and πολλό(ν) occur occasionally, by analogy with the majority of forms of the word. In fact, πολλός already appears in AG, particularly in Ionic and Epic. In LMedG and EMG such forms occur quite frequently in Cypriot texts.⁶⁶ We should not, however, assume that they are inherited from an earlier stage of the language; they could easily have developed analogically.
- 2) the form πολὺ, belonging to the -ύς paradigm, may be extended to the genitive singular of the masculine (cf. 3.3.1).

In other respects πολὺς follows the usual developments in the nominal system: the feminine plural endings -αί and -άς give way to the spread of the ending -ές, and the final /n/ of the masculine and feminine accusative singular may be deleted; conversely, the neuter singular πολὺ may acquire final /n/. As vocative forms occur extremely rarely for this word, they are not discussed.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	πολύς ῑ πολλύς ῑ πολλός	πολλή	πολύ(ν) ῑ πολλύν
Gen.	πολλοῦ ῑ πολὺ	πολλῆς	πολλοῦ
Acc.	πολύ(ν) ῑ πολλύν	πολλή(ν)	πολύ(ν) ῑ πολλύν
Voc.	-	-	-

⁶⁶ When forms with double <λ> are found in texts from regions where gemination is known to occur, such as Cyprus, it is likely that consonant doubling is present (see I, 3.4). However, forms of πολλύς and πολλύ(ν) are also found in papyri of the 6th–7th c., where they are probably just an orthographic variant (GIGNAC 1981: 144).

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	πολλοί	πολλές ἢ πολλαί	πολλά
Gen.	πολλῶ(ν) ἢ πολλῶνε	πολλῶ(ν)	πολλῶ(ν)
Acc.	πολλούς	πολλές ἢ πολλάς	πολλά
Voc.	-	-	-

Singular

Masculine

M	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	πολύς	πολλύς ἢ πολλός
Gen.	πολλοῦ		πολύ
Acc.	πολύ(ν)	πολλύν

Forms of the nominative and accusative with double <λ> occur in certain Cypriot (and sporadically Dodecanesian) texts from the 14th c. onwards; although the texts are not consistent (see below for neuter singular forms), there is good evidence for assuming a geminate pronunciation (see I, 3.4). The other development found in Cypriot texts, i.e. the spread of endings of adjectives in -ος to the masculine and neuter singular (πολλός, πολλόν), is attested only sporadically. For the genitive form πολύ (by analogy with other adjectives in -ύς), a single example has so far been located, in a 16th-c. text. Otherwise no variation is found.

Nominative

πολύς χειμὸς (1336, Trebizond, LAMBROS 1916a: 45.17) κορνιακτὸς πολὺς Dig. E 1177 οὗτος ὁ δοῦκας ὁ πολὺς Chron. Toc. 3 ὁ πόθος ὁ πολὺς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 967 καιρὸς πολὺς νὰ διάβη KORNAROS, Erot. I.2117

Examples of πολλύς and πολλός from Cypriot texts:

ἐγίνετον ὁ φόβος τοιούτως πολὺς (ms πολλοίς) (1326, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 41, 93.10–11) καὶ ἐσκοτώθησαν λαὸς πολλός (14th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 27, 1.4); πολλός λαός (ibid. 27, 3.6) λαὸς πολλὺς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 238.6 καὶ ἐσκοτώθη πολλὺς λαός MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 70.13–14 ἐσκοτώθη καὶ πολλὸς λαγὸ (1570, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 3.3)

Genitive

μετά πολλοῦ του πόθου Achil. L 623 μετά τοῦ πλούτου τοῦ πολλοῦ Byz. Il. 762 γυναίκα, πολλοῦ καιροῦ κακοπατισμένη Spanos A 232

Although the genitive is relatively uncommon, the above is the normal form. The rare form πολὺ occurs in a 16th-c. text by a native of Zakynthos: τοῦ πολὺ πλούτου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 447.14.

Accusative

ἀπὸ τὸν κτύπον τὸν πολὺν Dig. E 37 πολὺν καιρὸν θέλεις διαβάσειν ἐδῶ; (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1881–2) ἀπὸ τὸν πόνον τὸν πολὺν Achil. O 13 διὰ τὸν πόθον τὸν πολὺν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1422 λαὸν ἐμάζωσε πολὺ KORNAROS, Erot. IV.860

Examples with double <λ> from Cypriot texts (16th-c. mss and later) and one earlier instance from the Dodecanese:

πολλὺν καιρὸν (15th c., Rhodes, MINAS 2012: 18, 413.10) ἔπνιξεν πολλὺν λαὸν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 60.23 πολλὺν καιρὸν Fior 136.23 πολλὺν καιρὸν Cypr. Canz. 109.3 and 112.16 ἀπὸ τὸν φόβον τὸν πολλὺν Thrinis Kypr. 76

Feminine

F	General
Nom.	πολλή
Gen.	πολλῆς
Acc.	πολλή(ν)

There is no significant variation in the feminine singular forms; as usual, the accusative may appear with or without final /n/.

Nominative

δουλειά ἔναι πολλή (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 97) φλόγα πολλή ἀπὸ φωτιᾶς ἦτονε προβαλμένη CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1106 ἀμὴ ἦτον πολὺς κόπος καὶ πολλή ἐμπιστοσύνη PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §32.23–4 πολλή βαβούρα ἐγίνη KORNAROS, Erot. II.841, II.1195

Genitive

μετά πολλῆς χαρᾶς, (1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 16, 208.13) ἀπὸ τῆς θλίψης τῆς πολλῆς Achil. N 47 μετά πολλῆς παράταξης [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 94 μετά πολλῆς πληροφορίας (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 149, 269.19) μετά πολλῆς μανίας PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1248

Accusative

πολλὴν μανίαν Arm. 41
 ἔχει πολλὴν κρυότην Assizes B 435.4–5 δολιότητα πολλήν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 924 τὴν πολλήν τη<ς> σκληροσύνην Cypr. Canz. 77.10 σ' ἔγνοια πολλή Thysia Avr. 527

Neuter

N	General	Restricted
Nom./Acc.	πολύ(ν)	πολλύν
Gen.	πολλοῦ

Again, forms with double <λ> occur in some Cypriot texts, but they are not found, for instance, in the edition of the Assizes (the earlier ms is dated to the 15th c.). Otherwise, no significant variation occurs.

Nominative

πολὺν κακὸν Assizes B 446.28
 καὶ τὸ φουσσάτον τὸ πολὺν Achil. L 358 ἔγινεν θανατικὸν πολὺν Chron. 1619 548 τὸ λίγο ἐγίνηκε πολὺ KORNAROS, Erot. I.101 πολλὺν ἔναι τὸ γένος σου Achil. L 109a transcr. (Panayotopoulou/Lendari) εἶναι να τραβενιάσει εἰς τὴν χώραν πολλὺν κακὸν VOUSTR., Chron. A 276.11–12

Genitive

μετὰ πολλοῦ τοῦ τάχους Ptoch. I 255 μετὰ πολλοῦ τοῦ θάρσους Velis. χ 37 πυρὸς πολλοῦ KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.213

Accusative

καὶ ἀπὸ τὸ σείσμαν τὸ πολὺν καὶ τὸ πολὺ τὸ διῶμαν Ptoch. III 273.71 app. crit. (P) μετὰ πολὺν θράσος DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1889 τὸ πολὺν (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1946: 493.25) εἰσὲ πολὺ φουστάτο Thysia Avr. 688 ἔχει πολλὺν βάθος νερόν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 34.3 οἱποῦ θέλαν πολλὺν κακὸν τοῦ αποστολέ VOUSTR., Chron. A 22.1 μετὰ τὸ κλάμαν τὸ πολλὺν Cypr. Canz. 132.12 διὰ τὸ πολλὺν πλῆθος Pist. kekoim. 38–9 ποῦ ἔπγεν πολλὺν φαρμάκιν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 131

Plural

Masculine

M	General	Restricted
Nom.	πολλοί
Gen.	πολλῶ(ν)	πολλῶνε
Acc.	πολλοὺς

As for the adjectives in 3.2.1, the basic endings are completely stable: -οί, -ῶν, -ούς. In texts from the Heptanese (and perhaps other southern regions) a genitive form with addition of /e/ can be found (see I, 2.6.3).

Nominative

πολλοὶ ἐδοκίμασαν Dig. E 862 πολλοὶ ἄνθρωποι ἐνι Assizes B 282.8 πολλοὶ θέλουν θανατωθῆ Pol. Tr. 3162 καὶ πολλοὶ Γενουβίσοι ἐλαβώθησαν πικρά MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 342.8–9 καὶ ἄλλοι πολλοὶ τὴν ἐπεριπατήσασιν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.8 ἐγένηκαν πολλοὶ νταουτζήδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §22.5

Genitive

καὶ ἄλλων πολλῶν ρηγάδων Pol. Tr. 3202 τῶν πολλῶν χρονῶν FALIEROS, Thrinos 203 πολλῶν ἀνθρώπων ἀνθρῶπος ἤμουν ὀνομασμένος Om. Nokr. Vas. 55 πολλῶν μαρτύρων Pist. kekoim. 377 τῶν πολλῶνε SOU MAKIS, Rebelio 42.36

Accusative

πολλοὺς ἀνθρώπους ἔσφαξε δίχως νὰ ἔχουν πταῖσμα Pol. Tr. 1454 καὶ τελείως ἠφάνισε πολλοὺς (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.6) κι εἶδα πολλοὺς ἀγαφτικούς γιὰ μένα κι ἐκαγήκα CHORTATIS, Panor. 1.249 ἐκατάσφαξε πολλοὺς Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.13 τσι πολλοὺς μόδους (1617, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1988: B, 161.53) πολλοὺς κύκλους PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2418

Feminine

F	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	πολλές		πολλαί
Gen.	πολλῶ(ν)
Acc.	πολλές	πολλάς

For the development of the feminine plural endings, see the relevant section of 3.2.1.

Nominative

γιατὶ πολλές εἶν' οἱ πικρίες κι ὀλίγα τὰ καλὰ σου Theseid IV.69,5 (1529) θλιψες πολλές DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 12 οἱ βρύσες οἱ πολλές Diig. Alex. F 120.17 (Lolos) πολλές χῆρες ἦταν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 4.25 πολλές γυναῖκες KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1821

The higher-register form πολλαί is rare: πολλαί λογιές πουλιὰ Achil. L 500.

Genitive

ὕπὸ τῶν πολλῶν σου δωρεῶν (1182, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 212, 277.15) διὰ πλείστων καὶ πολλῶν φορῶν Chron. Mor. H 6081 πολλῶν μητέρων Assizes B 421.19 τῶν προαναειρηθέντων πολλῶν αὐθεντιῶν (1652, Crete, TCHENTSOVA 2002: 1, 355, f.1r.6–7)

Accusative

πέτρες πολλές ἄσπρες (1333, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 15, 75.9) πολλές σπαθές τὸν ἔδωκεν Pol. Tr. 672; πολλές ρύμνες ibid. 2710 app. crit. (BRV) πολλές φορές Cypr. Canz. 104.57 πολλές τῶν φορῶν Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 114 διὰ τές πολλές μας ἁμαρτίες (1574, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES 1996: 61.5) γιὰ τσι πολλές τση χάριτες CHORTATIS, Panor. Dedic. 13 πολλές βολές PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2209

The form πολλές is found in mixed- and higher-register texts, often matching the ending of the noun it modifies:

βίγλας ἔστησεν πολλές Dig. E 1029 μετὰ πολλές ἡμέρας Liv. V 1061; πολλές πικρίας ibid. 1365 πολλές φορές Assizes B 455.4 (but πολλές φορές ibid. 455.15) ἐπὶ πολλές ἡμέρας Achil. N 963 διὰ τὰς πολλές τὰς ἁμαρτίας DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 971 περάσοντας πολλές ἡμέρας AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 227

Neuter

N	General
Nom./Acc.	πολλά
Gen.	πολλῶ(ν)

The forms exhibit no significant variation (cf. the corresponding forms for the adjectives in 3.2.1). In Cretan texts the final /n/ of the genitive is sometimes deleted (see I, 3.7.2.2). The adverbial form πολλά is widely used in LMedG and EMG as the normal intensifier, meaning “very (much)” (see 4.2.2).

Nominative

πολλά πουλάκια Achil. L 383 πολλά τὰ ἔτη σου DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 715 τὰ πάθη σου θεὸς νὰ ᾽νὰ πολλά KORNAOS, Erot. III.1165

Genitive

μετὰ πολλῶν δακρύων Dig. E 90, 476 and 1861 περὶ πολλῶν βιβλίων Assizes B 279.24 πολλῶ λογιῶ Thysia Avr. 1024 πολλῶ λογιῶ CHORTATIS, Erof. III.267 κι’ ἄλλα πολλῶν λογιῶνε KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.155

Accusative

ἐξηρίζωσεν πολλά δέ(ν)τρα (1433, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 29, f.35r.2) ἐμεῖς πολλά ἔχομε, ἐσύ οὐδὲν ἔχεις οὐδετίποτε (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 286–8) ἐστοντα να γεννούσιν αυγά πολλά NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 5.8
 με ὄργανα, με τούμπανα καὶ με πολλά παιγνίδια PETRITSIS, Dig. O 139 πολλά μαντριά Thysia Avr. 57

3.6.3 Diminutive Adjectives in -άκι(ν)

Two very common adjectives have a neuter diminutive form in -άκι(ν) which may function as an indeclinable adjective. They are (ὀ)λιγάκι(ν) < (ὀ)λίγος and μικράκι(ν) < μικρός, the former generally referring to quantity, the latter to size (but they are often interchangeable). We can also include here δαμάκι(ν), diminutive of the adverb (originally noun) δαμί(ν), “a bit”.⁶⁷ For all these words we need to distinguish adjectival from adverbial uses. The adverbial forms are the starting point: (ὀ)λίγο(ν), μικρό(ν) (acc. neut. sg. of the adjective), δαμί(ν) and δαμάκι(ν) are all used adverbially in the sense of “a little”, usually with reference to time or quantity (“for a short while”, “to a small degree/extent”). For the first two words such usages go back to AG; δαμίν does not seem to be attested before the LMedG period.

The diminutive forms in -άκι(ν), initially as adverbs, are first found in the LMedG period (see KRIARAS, Lex. for information on each word). The adjectival use of these words, uninflected but sometimes substantivized, seems to begin in the 15th c., although it is sometimes difficult to determine whether the form is to be construed as an adverb or an adjective. Examples of indeclinable (ὀ)λιγάκι(ν), μικράκι(ν) and δαμάκι(ν) are given below. However, they sometimes acquire declensional endings, as if from the following paradigm: masc. sg. -ης, pl. -(ι)οι; fem. sg. -η, pl. -(ι)ες; neut. sg. -ι(ν), pl. -ια. Some forms are susceptible of various spellings (it is impossible to determine whether {i} occurring with a feminine noun is a declined feminine form or uninflected form in -ι). Examples are given below for each of these words, indeclinable forms first, then declined ones, although such a distinction is not always possible. These forms are found particularly in 16th- and 17th-c. texts of Cretan provenance, but it cannot be excluded that they had a wider geographical distribution.

(ὀ)λιγάκι(ν)

μὰ θεὸ νὰ πῆ ἕνα μερτικό, λιγάκι, γῆ μοιράδι CHORTATSI, Katz. IV.227; πάγω κι' ἐγὼ καὶ θέλουνσι λιγάκι σκιάς μοῦ δώσει ibid. V.342

θέλει συγκλίνει νὰ δεχτῇ τὸ δῶρος τὸ λιγάκι FOSKOLOS, Fort. Dedic. 47; κι' ἐξε λιγάκι ἀπομονή ibid. I.181, IV.452; ὅς λιγάκι | ὥρα ibid. IV.566–7 ὁπού 'τονε λιγάκι γῆς BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 326.6

λιγάκια (καράβια) ἐφυλαχτήκασι TROILOS, Rodol. I.269; ἀπ' ἀχαμνά ἔχει τὰ σκοινιά τσ' ἄγκουρας κ' ἐλιγάκια ibid. III.159 (for the prothetic vowel /e/ see I, 2.6.1); φτερά λιγάκια ibid. Dedic. 67 λιγάκοι ὅπ' ἐφύγασι σμίγουσιν ὅλοι ἀντάμι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 240.19; λιγάκοι ἐγλυτώσανε, στὰ κόπανα ἐγυρίσα ibid. 327.13; λιγάκια ρούχα ibid. 196.3

λιγάκις ἦτονε (ὁ πόνος) KORNAROS, Erot. I.1563; εἰς ἐλιγάκιν ὥρα ibid. II.163, IV.1946; ὥρα λιγάκι ἀνὲ διαβῆ ibid. IV.315; κι' ἄλλη λιγάκι πείραξη βούλεται νὰ τῆς δώση ibid. V.872 μικράκι(ν)

καὶ θέλεις εὐρεῖν ἕνα νησὶν μικράκιν Portul. compl. 23.26–7

ἕνα ἀρνὶ μικράκι P&N Diath. 2154

⁶⁷ For the adverbial usage of δαμί(ν), see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. Some examples: λοιπόν, βαστάξετε δαμίν Diig. tetr. 732; δαμίν ἐπιστοπόδησα Dig. E 1254.

από μικράκι τόπο CHORTATSI, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 40 σ' πάσα μικράκι σου όρισμό CHORTATSI, Erof. I.370 κι ένα περιτερόπουλο, άμ' ήτονε μικράκι FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.56 ένα μικρό άφήκασι καράβι ... άμ' ήτονε μικράκι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 207.1–2 καί δυό μικράκια μου παιδιά CHORTATSI, Erof. III.297 transcr. X (Legrand)⁶⁸ τών κοπελιώ, όνταν είναι | μικράκια δίχως νόησην TROILOS, Rodol. II.17–18; (όρυάκια) ώς και τά πλιά μικράκια ibid. Dedic. 48 άποϋ τά όρυακάκια ... κι άς είναι και μικράκια FOSKOLOS, Fort. Dedic. 61–2 θυμήσου πώς μικράκια | όμάδι άναθραφήκαμε Stathis Interm. II.71–2

δαμάκι

The word is also found with the vowel /u/ or /i/ in the first syllable (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.vv. δαμάκι(ν), δαμάκιοι).

έκεϊνο τó δαμάκι (= ψωμάκι?) CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2134 και άν νικήσης σύ έμέν, όλίγον έν δαμάκι Alex. Rim. 751 μέ λϋπηση δαμάκι P&N Diath. 3379 (it is uncertain whether δαμάκι is adjectival here) ώσαν και δαμάκι παραχώραφο (1609, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 577, 511.10) ήκαμεν δαμάκιν καιρόν (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 179.6) ώσα δαμάκι άλάφρωση Thysia Avr. 1085 ξειδωτό κρασί δαμάκι Vosk. 197 दें είμαι τόσο άφορμαρά, μά 'χω δαμάκι γνώση KORNAROS, Erot. I.1014 δαμάκιους χρόνους (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 4, 68.70) διμάκες ήμέρες (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 17, 63.13–14); θέλω βρίσκει σκιάς διμάκια χόρτα (ibid. 23, 70.9)⁶⁹

 δαμάκια [κάτεργα] έξεχώρισανε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 322.13; σταματίζου | δουμάκια για να 'ρδιαστοϋ ibid. 412.6–7; δουμάκιους έλαβώσα ibid. 460.16

3.7 Participles in Restricted Use

The range of participle formations in AG was unusually wide; it was embodied in a complex set of morphological paradigms that related to present, future, aorist and perfect tenses, and active, middle and passive voices. Not surprisingly, the system was already beginning to unravel in the period of the Koine. The morphological complexity of 3rd-declension participles in particular created problems for users (HORROCKS ²2010: 178–83). GIGNAC (1981: 130–1) gives examples from the papyri of lack of agreement between participles and their referents, in gender and case; the use of masculine participle forms instead of feminine is frequent. For further discussions of post-classical and EMG developments in the morphology of participles, and of the emergence of the gerund, see MANOLESSOU 2005.

By the period covered by this Grammar, the gerund had developed as a separate grammatical category: an indeclinable adverbial form of the verb. Such gerundial forms are examined separately as part of verb morphology (III, 4.7). In this section we restrict ourselves to the morphology of participles used as adjectives (whether attributive or predicative).

⁶⁸ The only declined form that has been found for this word is the neuter plural μικράκια.

⁶⁹ To judge from facsimiles included in this edition, the transcription may not be completely reliable.

It is clear that by the LMedG period the 3rd-declension participles had fallen out of everyday use and had to be learned. They occur particularly in documents and in some other written texts, from all areas. While they never completely disappeared from written texts in non-learned registers, they underwent various analogical developments, as they were adapted or adjusted to more familiar paradigms (3.7.2–3). As a result there can be considerable divergence from the inherited AG forms; some participles may even become indeclinable (3.7.4), while others give rise to new adjectives that follow a “regular” paradigm (3.7.5).

The inherited declensional patterns for the participle types that are encountered in LMedG and EMG texts are the following:

- ων, -ουσα, -ον (present active of barytone verbs)
- ῶν, -οῦσα, -οῦν (present active of oxytone verbs with E- or O-stem)
- ῶν, -ῶσα, -ῶν (present active of oxytone verbs with A-stem)
- ών, -οῦσα, -όν (strong aorist active; εἶμι/εἶμαι and derived verbs with prepositional prefixes)
- ας, -ασα, -αν (aorist active)
- ώς, -υῖα, -ός (or, in the case of certain verbs, -ώς, -ῶσα, -ός) (perfect active)
- εῖς, -εῖσα, -έν (aorist passive)

Participles in -μένος and -μενος do not present morphological problems as far as their endings are concerned: they are declined exactly like adjectives in -ος, -η, -ο (see 3.2.1, where examples will be found). For the formation of the perfect passive participle see III, 2.3.2; for present passive participles and variations in the connecting vowel see III, 2.3.1.

3.7.1 Participles that Conform to AG Morphology

Below we give a few examples of (adjectival) participles that follow AG morphological paradigms with respect to their endings. Note that the stem may sometimes be a “new” one, replacing the original AG stem, e.g. σύρν-οντα (< σύρ-), βάν-οντος (< βάλλ-) (for stem formation see III, 2). The examples are listed by type, following the order given above:

-ων, -ουσα, -ον

τοῦ χειμάρρου τοῦ ἐξέρχοντος (1005, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 13, 13.12) (N.B. active ending on a deponent verb) ἡ δὲ κόρη στενάζουσα τὸν ἀμιρᾶν ἐλάλει Dig. G II.271; εἰς ἑλὴν τὸν ἐσκέψαντο σύρνοντα τὰ θηρία ibid. IV.164 ἐγίνετο ὁ ἐνάγων ἐναγόμενος Paroim. F 72

περὶ τοῦ βάνοντος πῦρ εἰς χώραν Assizes A 222.24

τὸν θέλοντα καὶ ἀγοράζοντα (1515, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 76, 80.4) πολλὰ μέλλοντα πράγματα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.18 ἐρμηνεῖαι πρέπουσαις ZYGOM., Synopsis 133.A.63

ὁμπροστὰ εἰς ἐμένα τὸν ὑπογράφοντα νοτάριον (1596, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 20, 75.3–4) τῆς μελλούσης ζωῆς VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 32.14–15

τούτ' εἶν' ἡ στάμνος ἡ χρυσή, ἡ ἔχουσα τὸ μάννα VEST., Prol. Theot. 299 τοῦ ὑπογράφοντος νοτάριου (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 743, 1013.2) τοὺς κατακαίοντας κεραυνούς Don Kis. 145.13

-ῶν, -οῦσα, -οῦν

ἦλθον ἐγὼ ἐνοχλοῦσα καὶ ζητοῦσα (1196, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 13, 87.7) στεφηφορούντων δεσποτῶν Eisit. f.3r.7

ὄλων τῶν εὐτυχοῦντων Log. parig. L 658

οἱ ἀγαποῦντες Dig. E 590 (with /u/ in place of /o/, for which see III, 2.3.1.2)

Θεοῦ κατευδοῦντος (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.9) (genitive absolute) εἰ δὲ ἡ γυνὴ ἀστενοῦσα ἀπαὶ τὸ κελῆφιον Assizes A 124.15 γελοῦντες Spanos D 457

εἶδον γυναικὰν ὀξέα ροῦχα φοροῦσαν καὶ περιπατοῦσαν ΚΑΝΑΝΟΣ, Diig. 74.548

-ῶν, -ῶσα, -ῶν

ἡμεῖς οἱ προγεγραμμένοι πωλῶντες (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 124, 165.7) ἄνθρωπον φορῶντα ἄρμα Pol. Tr. 607 app. crit. (V) (A-stem ending on an E-stem verb) εμένα εἰς τὰ ζῶντα του μέγα ἐποίησεν βασιλέαν Diig. Alex. K 360.13–14 (the phrase means “when he was alive”)

-ῶν, -οῦσα, -όν

τὰ αὐτοῦ ὄντα βιβλίτζα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 310.9

στεφηφορούντων δεσποτῶν Eisit. f.3r.7

τὴν οὔσαν στάσιν (1243, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 293, 409.21)

τοὺς λοιποὺς τοὺς ὄντας ἐν τῇ Τροίᾳ Pol. Tr. 11758

Θεοῦ κατευδοῦντος (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.9) ἡ παροῦσα μου οὔτῃ γραφῇ (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 45, 55.22) ἔκραξαν τὸν παρόντα πατᾶ Ἰωάννην Μακρὴ (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 36.7) διὰ τοὺς ἀπλουσθέρους, τοὺς ὄντας ὡς ἐμέ VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 29.7

εἰς τὸ σπιτάλε τῆς παρούσης χώρας (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: I, 113.8–9) ἐπούλησε τῶν παρόντων ... ἓνα σκλάβον (1669, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999a: 2, 281.24) ἀποθανόντος ἐμοῦ τοῦ ἁμαρτηλοῦ Βελισαρίου (1683, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 95, 322.14) (genitive absolute)

For new participle formations from the verb εἰμί/εἶμαι, see III, 4.8.5.

-ας, -ασα, -αν

καθισάντων οὖν τοῦ βοδὸς ἅμα μὲ τὸ βουβάλιν Diig. tetr. 50

ὁ ἀλληλογόησας νὰ τὰ ζημιώνεται (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 75.22)

-ῶς, -υῖα, -ός (-ῶς, -ῶσα, -ός)

The perfect participle is purely residual, since the perfect tense has long disappeared from the spoken language. Its use is restricted to certain lexical items:

τὸ γεγονὸς χωματοβούνιον (1090–4, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 45, 161.5)

τὸν τεθνεῶτα Assizes B 346.17; τοῦ τεθνηκότος ibid. 369.25⁷⁰

⁷⁰ The perfect participles τεθνεῶς and τεθνηκώς undergo various morphological transformations in the Cypriot Assizes. In addition to forms that correspond to AG morphology, we find new “regularized” paradigms based on masc. nominatives in -ος or -ης. E.g. (1) ὁ τεθνεῶτος B 382.30; τοῦ τεθνεώτου A 142.12; τὸν τεθνεῶτον B 302.21; τῆς τεθνεώτης A 131.14; (2) ὁ τεθνεώτης B 382.6; τὸν τεθνεώτη B 459.25; τῆς τεθνεώτας (for τεθνεώτης?) B 370.1; (3) τοῦ τεθνηκοῦ B 387.8, A 107.17; τὸν τεθνηκόν B 346.17; ἡ τεθνηκὴ A 140.7; τῆς τεθνηκῆς A 139.31; τὴν τεθνηκὴν B 346.22. In the following example, from Naxos, the masc. gen. sg. ending of the present participle is employed: τοῦ τεθνηκόντος (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 336, 541.8–9). In 17th-c. documents from Cyprus and Cythera we find a gen. in -ός: τοῦ τεθνηκός (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: B, 457.423); νὰ γράφονται οἱ θανῆς μὲ τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ τεθνηκός (1671, Cythera, PAPADAKI 2001: [a], 41.1).

τοὺς ἐγγυτάδες τοὺς τεθνεώτας Assizes A 65.12; τοῦ τεθνεώτος ibid. 139.31 τῶν παρεστῶτων μαρτύρων (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 270.2–3) το νόστιμον συμβεβηκός Don Kis. 44.23; και άλλα συμβεβηκότα ibid. 44.25

-εῖς, -εῖσα, -έν⁷¹

τὰ χωράφια τῆς τῆς ρηθείσας μονῆς (1143, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 6, 560.1) τὲς δηλωθεῖσες ἐλαῖες καὶ ἀππιδιές (1213, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 263, 36.5) (with acc. pl. ending -ες instead of AG -ας) τὸ ἐάθη πρὸς τὴν ρηθείσαν μονὴν (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.15); τὸ δηλωθὲν ἀμπέλιον (ibid. 472.28–30) τοῦ διὰ τοῦ θεοῦ καὶ ἀγγελικοῦ σχήματος μετονομασθεῖς (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 23.139) (note the lack of agreement between article and participle) ἡ ἀρπαγεῖσα κόρη ZYGOM., Synopsis 132.A.61
 οἱ μὲν μὲ πολλὰ μαρτύρια βασανισθέντες VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 29.18–19

3.7.2 Innovations in the Morphology of Participles

Two particular developments may be noted in the morphology of participles: (1) in EMedG the masculine accusative singular termination -ντα begins to be used also for the neuter singular (nom./acc.), and this usage continues to be found in texts until the 14th c. and sporadically until the 16th (for early examples see JANNARIS 1897: 206–7, and for discussion MANOLESSOU 2005: 246–8; further examples will be given below);⁷² (2) in the EMG period, a new masculine nominative singular form appears in place of the inherited -ων: -οντας, with genitive -οντα (and correspondingly for other stems), a development that exactly parallels that of masculine nouns like γέρων (see 2.2.5).

Neuter Singular -ντα

τὸ χωράφιον τὸ ὄντα καὶ διακείμενον ... τὸ ρυάκιν τὸν καταβαίνοντα ἕως τοῦ προειρημένου χειμάρρου (1005, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 13, 13.9–16) χωράφιον ... τὸ γειτνιάζοντα (1050–1, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 5, 87.7–8) τὸ κτημά μου ... πληρὲς τυγχάνοντα (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 22.56) τὸ καράβι ... τὸ ἐλθόντα ἀπὸ Ἀλεξανδρείας (1131, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 111, 146.10); τὸ προρηθέντα χανδάκιον (1175, ibid. 185, 243.17–18) χωράφιον ... ἔχοντα εἰς τὸν φραγμὸν (1217, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 15, 90.14) τὸ ὄντα ... τὸ συμπλησιάζοντα (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 91.967) κυνήγι ... διὰ σοῦ θηρευθέντα Dig. G IV.1076 χαρτὶν ἀπέσω ἀπὸ Συρίας | θρήνους γέμοντα Dig. E 227 τῷ χρόνῳ ἤδη διαφθαρέν καὶ εἰς ἀπορίαν ἀποκλίναντα (1404, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 11, 196.3–4)
 ὄλον τὸ μένοντα τῶν πραγμάτων τοῦ ρηθέντος κλέπτῃ Assizes B 443.8
 τὸ παράξενον λουτρὸν ... τὸ γέμοντα τὰς ἡδονὰς [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1721 τὸ μέλλοντα κριτήριον VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 80

⁷¹ The aorist passive participle is particularly problematic. In documents, the word εἰρηθεῖς is sometimes declined as a masc. noun in -ής: acc. sg. τὸν προειρηθῆ (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 25, 35.6) and gen. sg. τοῦ εἰρηθῆ μ(ισέ)ρ Νικολοῦ (1630, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 4, 133.12).

⁷² The extension of the -οντα/-ῶντα ending to other persons and numbers must be related to the emergence of the indeclinable adverbial form (gerund). For the whole issue see MANOLESSOU 2005, and III, 4.7.

Masculine Nominative Singular -ντας

- ὁ παρόντας μας ὀρισμός (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 168.21) ὁ εἰρηθέντας Λιανός (1640, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 17, 156.8); ἐγὼ ὁ ὑπογράφοντας νομικός (1660, ibid. 29, 175.3) ὁ ὑπογράφοντας νοτάριος (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 284, 480.8); ὁ ὑπογράφοντας νοτάριος (1684, ibid. 463, 687.16)

A genitive singular also occurs: τοῦ ὑπογράφοντα (1623, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 1, 127.2). In a Cypriot text we also find an accusative with final /n/: ἐὰν πιάσῃ ἕνα κλέπτην κλέφτονταν τὰ πράγματά του Assizes B 441.20–1.

Forms in -οντας also occur as proper names: ὁ ἅγιος Σώζοντας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 36.4.

3.7.3 Participles with Irregular Morphology

The use of masculine endings for feminine referents (see above, introduction to 3.7) continues in LMedG texts. Unlike the use of -ντα for neuter nom. sg. (above), this is a rather sporadic phenomenon and might perhaps be regarded as lack of gender agreement, rather than morphological levelling. The following examples are limited to attributive and predicative uses:

- τὴν ὁδὸν τὴν διαχωρίζοντα (1126, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 98, 129.1–2); τὴν ἐμὴν πρόπτιαν κουλούραν ... τὴν ὄντα ἐν τῇ διακρατήσει (1131, ibid. 111, 146.38) ὑμῶν τῶν ρηθέντων καλογραίων (1140, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IV: 2, 117.10) τὴν ρηθέντα μονὴν (1213–14, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 44, 227.9) τὲς ρηθέντες ἐλαῖες (1272, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 326, 484.12); τὰς ρηθέντας ἐλαίας (ibid.
 485.5–6)
 ἡ παρὼν ἀπόφασις (1491, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1991: 1, 234.28–29)⁷³
 τὴν παρόντα ζήτηση (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 51.67–8)

Some further examples of participle use, where the inherited morphological system seems to have broken down:

- ἡ ... στερχθέντα διάταξις (1198, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 246, 334.32) εἰς τόπον ἀπελθῆναι λεγόμενον Ἀερινόν, ἔχον μεγίστους κάμπους Diig. sevast. Thom. 49 παρελθουσῶν γὰρ τῶν χρονῶν ἑκατὸν πληρωμένων Chron. Mor. H 122 οἱ ἐγκαλῶντα Assizes B 337.13
 ὁ εἰς οὐρανούς οἰκοῦντα ERMON., Ilias 7.80 πύργον μέγαν πολὺ, καὶ ἰσχυρὸν καὶ ἀφίρον ὑπάρχων Byz. Il. 103 συναχθεῖσα καὶ ἐκλεχθεῖσα πάντα τὰ ἀναγκαῖα (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 14, 28.42)
 ἐπωλήσαμεν αὐτοῦ τὸ ρηθέντι κελλίον (1569/70, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 19, 128.6) ὅπου ἔτανε παρόντος στο γάμο (1648, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 1, 33.12) νὰ γράφονται οἱ θανῆς μὲ τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ τεθνηκὸς (1671, Cythera, PAPADAKI 2001: [a], 41.1)

⁷³ Alternatively, παρὼν could be seen as an indeclinable form, as in 3.8.4.

3.7.4 Indeclinable Forms

Some participles in frequent use, especially in legal texts and other documents, become in effect indeclinable. The form adopted is normally the neuter singular (ending in /on/ or /en/), although masculine participles used as accusative or genitive may also occur with the spelling <ων> (homophonic with the neuter <ον>). The most common participle that becomes indeclinable is παρόν, widely used in notarial documents.

- εἰς τὸν λίθον τὸν σχισθὲν (1144?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 9, 314.15) Θωμᾶν ἱερομονάζων (1177, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 39, 199.6–7) ὁ προγραφὲν Ἰωάννης (1191, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 228, 305.12) τὸν ρηθὲν ἡγούμενον (1206, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 6, 377.16) διδομένων τῶν παρὸν προβαλμάτων (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 21.136) ἐβλέποντας τὸν παρὸν μας ὀρισμόν (1428, Lefkada, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 12, 254.14) τοῦ ἀγκαλῶν Assizes B 343.9
 εἰς τὸν δεσπότην Velis. χ 577 ἐκ τοῦ νηπίου τοῦ τεχθὲν Byz. II. 81 τοῦ παρὸν γράμματος (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 54.31)
 τὰ ὑπολειφθὲν (1542, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 115, 79.17) μεσ' τὸ παρὸ πρᾶμα (1561, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 129, 247.11–12) (with deletion of final /n/) τὰ δὲ ἐναπολειφθὲν ὄζα (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 276, 380.13) τὴν παρὸν συνίβασιν (1589, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 31, 173.12) τὰ ἀνωθεν ἐναπολειφθέν μου καλὰ νὰ διαμένουν (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 37.4–5) μετὰ τούτῃ τὴ παρὸν σύβαση (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 122, 135.5–6) τὴν παρὸν ντονατζιό (1647, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 16, 89.57) τὰ δὲ ἐναπολειφθέν πράγματα (1680, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 41, 68.11) κάνομε τὴν παρὸν σύβασιν (1719, Patmos, TSIRPANLIS 1982: 16.3) ὅλοι ἐκεῖνοι οὐποῦ ἦτον παρών Don Kis. 145.21

3.7.5 New Adjectives Formed from Participles

Finally, participles that presented morphological difficulties could be adjusted to more familiar declensional patterns (similar to the variants for τεθνεώς and τεθνηκώς mentioned above). New adjective formations emerged, such as δευτερεῦος or δευτερέος (< δευτερεῦων), προεστός (< προεστώς), σιγός (< σιγῶν), ἀλγός (< ἀλγῶν), and ξεεστηκός (< ξεεστηκώς), as in the examples below (on declined forms of προεστός and similar words, see HENRICH 1976: 36–8). The accusative παρὴν and genitive παροῦ in the Naxian and Cretan examples below further illustrate the tendency to replace 3rd-declension endings with 2nd-declension ones, though a nominative *παρός has not been found:

- τοῦ πρεσβυτέρου Ἀνδρέου τοῦ δευτερεύου (1155, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 25, 148.9) ἱερέως Παπακυριαζῇ καὶ δευτερέου Κασ[τορίας] (1654, Kastoria, DRAKOPOULOU 2005: 5, 16.10) ο παρὸν εὐλαβέστατος καὶ δευτερέος παπα Ατονέλος Παγιάτης (1658, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 5, 652.19) οἱ προεστοί Chron. Mor. H 2011; αὐθέντην προεστόν ibid. H 2557 ms; χῶρες προεστές ibid. H 1753 τῶν προεστῶνε (1666, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 4, 198.299) (with addition of final /e/) ἀποὺ τσὶ προεστούς (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 4, 127.36); τοῦ προεστοῦ (ibid. 4, 128.5) οἱ προεστοί καὶ ὁ ἐπιλοιπος ραγιάς (1677, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 24, 92.7) νὰ ἀρωτήσουνε καὶ πάρτε προεστοί (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 19, 34.18–19) (acc. in -οι) καρτερεῖ ... σιγὸς ὁ κριτής (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 33.101) ἐκάθεντον σιγὸς ὑπάρχων Achil. N 1285 εἰμὶ ἀλγὸς (1566, S. Italy?, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 6, 478.3) ἐξεστηκὴ ἐγίνην Liv. V 2698

ἐξεστηκὸν μὲ ἔποικε Theseid Prol. P 62 ἐγένονται ἐξεστηκοὶ ὀλότελα Diig. Alex. F 124.15 (Konstantinopulos) εξεστηκὸς ἐγίνη IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 245; ἐξεστηκές ... ἐπόμειναν ibid. 830 μὲ τοὺς παρούς των υἱοῦς (1518, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 12, 55.9) ἔγραψα τὴν παρὴν (1596, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 154, 279.25) ἐτουνοῦ τοῦ παροῦ ἰνστρουμέντου (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 31, 50.3)

3.8 Comparative Forms

3.8.1 Historical Overview

In AG there were two types of monolectic comparative adjective formation: in -τερος and, more rarely, in -(i)ων. The second type is usually seen as irregular: it is limited to a small group of lexical items, and is sometimes based on a different root from the positive form; examples are: μείζων (the comparative of μέγας), χείρων (κακός), ἐλάσσων or μείων (ὀλίγος). Some of these words continued to be used in MedG, particularly in texts that aspired to a more formal register (for the paradigm and morphological developments see 3.3.4).

Corresponding to these two types of comparative, AG had superlative forms in -τατος (e.g. σοφώτατος) and -ιστος (e.g. μέγιστος, ἐλάχιστος) respectively. In the Koine the -ίων and -ιστος forms were often replaced with new formations in -τερος and -τατος (GIGNAC 1981: 146–7).

Comparison by means of periphrasis has existed as an alternative since classical times (CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1991). In AG the adverb which modified the positive form of the adjective was usually μᾶλλον. In MG it is πῖο or, more formally, πλέον. The historical development of the periphrastic, or “analytic”, construction of comparative adjectives will be discussed in detail below.

The superlative forms of AG (-τατος and -ιστος) became restricted to functioning as absolute superlatives; apart from learned, “residual” uses, this is the situation we find in LMedG texts. Their function as relative superlatives was assumed by the comparative preceded by the definite article, as in MG: positive λαμπρός, comparative λαμπρότερος, relative superlative ὁ λαμπρότερος. This is also the case for the analytic forms with πλέον

(and its alternatives, which will be discussed below), which become increasingly common in the LMedG period, without, however, supplanting the monolectic forms.⁷⁴

3.8.2 General Observations

Comparatives (and relative superlatives) in -τερος and absolute superlatives in -τατος are declined like the relevant type of adjective in -ος (see 3.2.3 for the former and 3.2.1 for the latter, where examples are given). The following sections therefore concentrate on stem formation rather than endings. For the older type of comparative in -(i)ων see 3.3.4. Irregular comparatives, including the resilient and adaptable πλείων and its derivatives, are discussed in 3.8.6. Because comparative and relative superlative forms are identical (except that the latter are preceded by the definite article), they are discussed together in these sections. Synthetic (i.e. monolectic) and analytic comparison are treated separately; in addition, we give examples of intensified or double comparatives, where the comparative marker (πλέον etc.) is combined with a comparative form (cf. “more bigger”) (3.8.5).

The normal MG adverb used in analytic comparison, πίο, is usually assumed to derive from πλέον, the neuter of πλείων (KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. πλέον (I)), via πλιό(ν), with synizesis and shift of stress (see I, 2.9.4). However, the picture offered by LMedG and EMG texts is complex and confused.⁷⁵ The commonest words used to form periphrastic comparatives are indeed πλέο(ν) and πλιό(ν), but there are also forms with /a/: πλέα and πλιά. It is necessary to assume a phonological change involving deletion of /l/ – a change not otherwise attested in MedG or EMG.⁷⁶ By a similar process, the MG adverb πιά is usually derived from the plural form πλέα (ANDRIOTIS, Lex. s.v.). Evidence for the forms πίο(ν) (or πιον) and πιά is rather scarce in the period covered by the Grammar. The following instances have been found in the texts examined:

a) πίο(ν)/πιον or πιά with adjectives or adverbs (i.e. analytic comparison)

- τὸν πιον μακρὺν τόπον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 14.25–26; τοὺς πιον χαμηλοὺς id., Chron. O 24.12 μὰ ᾧ πρεπε πιδ πρωτύτερα αὐτῆγο νὰ ᾔθεν κάμης Alfan. 11 86 πιά ᾧκολον Cypr. Canz. 35.7; πᾶ ᾧσπρην παρὰ χιόνιν ibid. 108.2
 νὰ σηκώση τὸ πιά ἀλαφρὸν φόρτωμαν Vios Aisop. I 251.26; τὸ πιά βαρὺ φόρτωμα ibid. 251.27; ἐπεριπάτειεν πιά πρόθυμα παρὰ τοὺς ἄλλους ibid. 251.36; πῶς εἶναι ἔτοιμος νὰ τοὺς βοηθήσῃ καλλεότερα καὶ πιά γλήγορα παρὰ τοῦ βασιλέως ibid. 275.17; ἡῦρα σας χειρότερους καὶ πιά ἀναξιότερους παρὰ ὅλους τοὺς ἀνθρώπους ibid. 280.21–2; πιά εὐχαριστημένη ἦθελα εἶσται ibid. 282.36; ἦθελεν φαίνεσθαι καὶ πιά δίκαιον ibid. 282.40

b) adverbial πιά, πίο(ν) or πιον

- δὲν πρέπει πιδ νὰ φέγγῃς Anak. Konst. 60 οὐδὲν ἐχρῶστέν πεῖον τίποτες Assizes A 166.29–30

⁷⁴ One reason for the increasing use of analytic formations is that they were the only possibility for words that functioned as adjectives but lacked monolectic comparative forms, e.g. the participles.

⁷⁵ MARKOPOULOS 2012 and 2015 argues that the analytic comparative is a contact-induced phenomenon.

⁷⁶ More precisely, the change is from [ʎ] to [j]. On πλιό/πίο see ΜΟΥΣΙΑΔΗΣ 2005: 91. For this sound change in Cretan see ΚΟΝΔΟΣΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ 1969: 63–5.

δὲν ἔχουν πῖον καμία ζωήν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 184.7–8; καὶ ποῖκαν ὄρκον πῖον ibid. 134.11; πῶς ν' ἀποθαρῃσώμεν πῖον νὰ μείνωμεν ibid. 352.8–9 καὶ ἐδώκαν ὀρδινον μέσον τοὺς ὅτι πῖον νὰ μεν ἀφήσουν τον ἀποστολὲν VOUSTR., Chron. B 51.15; ὅτι πῖον ζωήν δὲν εἶχαν ibid. B 134.7; νὰ μεν ἀφήσουν πῖον τινάν ibid. A 210.10 δὲν σώννω πῖον νὰ ζήσω Cypr. Canz. 5.4; τόπον δὲν ἔχω πῖον νὰ μὲ πληγώσης ibid. 10.3 etc.
 (frequent in this text)
 νὰ μὴν ἔχου πιά (1688, Andros, POLEMIS 2001: 8, 107.10)

What conclusions can we draw from this evidence? Deletion of /l/ in the words that would become MG πῖο and πιά is found in mss dating from the (late) 15th c. onwards. The earliest is the Paris ms of the Anakalima; the poem is of unknown origin, but Cyprus (or the Dodecanese) has been proposed.⁷⁷ The other texts containing these forms are predominantly Cypriot (Assizes, Machairas, Voustronios, the Canzoniere) and preserved in 16th-c. mss. However, they also occur in 17th-c. texts from Crete (Alfavitos) and Andros, while version I of the Vita Aesopi has possible indications of a south-eastern provenance (see EIDENEIER 2011: 417–18). The forms πιά and πῖο(ν) do not appear to be differentiated according to meaning or function. The absence of evidence from other areas may suggest (though it does not prove) that the phonological change begins in south-eastern regions and spreads to Crete and the Aegean by the 17th c.

Forms with /l/, such as πλέο(ν) or πλεῖο(ν), continue to be widely used throughout our period. They may undergo synizesis and shift of stress (see I, 2.9.4), as the following example from a 16th-c. verse text indicates: καὶ πλεὸν ἐμπιστεμένος DEFAR., Log. did. 315 (the accent is probably editorial but the word certainly has to be scanned as a monosyllable).⁷⁸ In Cretan literary texts from the late 16th c. onwards a functional distinction can be observed between the monosyllabic forms πλιά (analytic comparison) and πλιό or μπλιό (temporal adverb).

Certain other words for “more” are sometimes used in analytic comparison: πλιότερα, πλιότερον, πιότερο(ν) and, in Cypriot texts, περίτου are all found in association with the positive form of an adjective. However, these periphrases do not appear to have the same degree of grammaticalization as those with πλέον, πῖον etc. Some examples will be included below; for further examples see the entries for the relevant words in KRIARAS, Lex.

In the following sections we deal in turn with: the regular formation of synthetic comparative and superlative forms (3.8.3), analytic (or periphrastic) comparatives and superlatives (3.8.4), “double” comparatives (3.8.5), irregular formations (3.8.6) and the absolute superlative (3.8.7).

3.8.3 Synthetic Comparative and Superlative

Comparative and superlative forms are distinguished only by the fact that the latter are normally preceded by the definite article and are therefore considered together here, although examples will be listed separately. As in AG, the regular comparative form of adjectives in ⁷⁷ KRIARAS 1965: 7–13. Kriaras argues for Cyprus, rather than the Dodecanese, on linguistic grounds, and rejects earlier notions of a Cretan provenance.

⁷⁸ See further CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1991.

-ος ends in {oteros}. Following the loss of vowel length, there is no significant distinction between the historical spellings -ότερος and -ώτερος (which depended on the quantity of the previous syllable, <ω> being used when the preceding vowel was short). Oxytone adjectives in -ύς form their comparative in -ύτερος; two-termination adjectives in -ης become -έστερος; those in -ων become -ονέστερος; and contracted adjectives in -οῦς become -ούστερος. All of these follow the declension of those adjectives that can have a feminine in either -α or -η (see 3.2.3, where examples are given). A synthetic comparative form is not normally available for the newer types of adjective discussed in 3.4 or 3.5, or for participles.⁷⁹

Instead of the normal connecting vowel /o/, comparative forms of adjectives in -ος frequently have /i/, which may be spelled as <η>, <ι>, <υ> or even <ει>. Some of these forms, apparently first attested in LMedG, are standard in MG, e.g. καλύτερος, μεγαλύτερος, πρωτύτερος. Other common forms in LMedG and EMG, which may co-exist with “regular” -ότερος forms are: άσπρύτερος, εύμορφύτερος, κοντύτερος, μαυρύτερος, τρανύτερος. Such forms with connecting vowel /i/, from adjectives in -ος, are included in the examples below.⁸⁰

In Cypriot texts, the comparative and superlative forms often have gemination of intervocalic /t/ (see I, 3.4.2.5), e.g. ό Δημήτρης ήτον άσχημόττερος του βοσκαριδίου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 492.29–30; δια νά του δώσης μεγαλύτετερην δόξαν Pist. kekoim. 135.

Comparative

- ώς θρασύτεροι νεώτεροι καί αυθάδεις Spaneas P 220 ποιεί κράξιμον εις μεγαλύτερον κριτήν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 19.106–7) ήσαν έλαφρότεροι Chron. Mor. H 3704 άν εισαι άναισθητότερος Liv. E 3593 καλύτερη ούκ ήτον Pol. Tr. 291 app. crit. (V); εύμορφύτερον ibid. 981 app. crit. (A) όπου καμμία ούκ έφάνηκεν έμμορφωτέρα εις κόσμον Flor. L 922 (Cupane) ένι δια καλύτερον Chron. Mor. P 507 (ms H gives καλλιώτερον) μεγαλλυττέρην χαράν VOUSTR., Chron. A 144.4 (with shift of stress) εις γλυκωτέρους καί καλούς ώσαν μαλθακωτέρους [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 755 μακρύτερην ζωήν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 278; με ποίαν καθαρώτερην άλλην βεβαιουσύνην ibid. 387 ποία έναι βαρύτερη καί ποία έναι άλαφρότερη KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 464.23 όμορφύτερο BAROZZI, Letter 358.26 εις είναι δυνατότερός μου KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 3.11 μά πλιά λαμπρή κι άσπρύτερη παρά τώ χιόνι έφάνη TROILOS, Rodol. V.274 εις εις έτούτο λειψότεροι LANDOS, Geopon. 131.22; κάμνει τά μήλα γλυκότερα ibid. 152.11; κάμνει τόν καρπόν γλυκύτερον ibid. 153.6; δυνατή καί βασταγερότερην ibid. 272.24–5 εις έ κοντύτερο τόπο (1674, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1940: 154.24); εις έ μακρύτερο τόπον (ibid. 154.26–7)

⁷⁹ Very rarely, comparatives formed from participles may be found, e.g. εις είναι ό ένδιάθετος λόγος βασταμενώτερος καί πολυχρονιώτερος DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 5, ε1r.19–20 (1561).

⁸⁰ The reverse process is much rarer, but a form δριμνιώτερη (from δριμύς with a palatalized dental nasal, for which see I, 3.8.2.3) is found in a Cretan text: δέν εις είναι ... μεγαλύτερη κόλασις ούδ έ φοβερότερη ούδ έ δριμνιώτερη Apok. Theot. 497.101.

ή ἐκκλησία εἶναι μεγάλη, πλατύτερη ἀπὸ τὸν Ἅγιον Γεώργιον (1693, Nauplion, TSELENDI 1978: 5, 242.18) ὁ ἄλλος τρανύτιρος (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 55.15) (for the mid-vowel raising see I, 2.5.4) χολήν μαυρύτερην ἀπὸ αὐτό το ζωμί Theophr. Char. 130.26

Superlative

ὅλες τὲς εὐμορφότερες Pol. Tr. 1120 app. crit. (A); ὁ τρανύτερος ibid. 6567 app. crit. (BCVX) τὸ μεγαλλίτερον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 48.11; νὰ ἐγκλέσωμεν τὸ καλλίτερον τὸ νὰ θελήσῃ ὁ θεός ibid. V 234.3–4 οἶον ἂν ἔνι τὸ μεγαλότερον καὶ πολυεισοδότερον SFRANTZIS, Chron. 50.4 (cf. comparative μεγαλότερον ibid. 124.19–20) καὶ γίνεται ἐπιστημονικώτερος τῶν ἀνθρώπων (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 151.1d) (acc. to HENRICH 1990: 360 the omission of the article is a Pontic feature) θέλεις κάμει ἐκεῖνο ἀποῦ νὰ σὲ φανῇ τὸ καλύτερον (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 97.22) καὶ εἰς ἀπ’ αὐτοὺς, ὁ γεροντότερος, εἶπεν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 146.6
 τῶν παιδίων τῶν μικρότερον ὁλοννῶν (1555, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 172, 222.11) ὅς τὲς δελοιπότερες κρίσεις ΜΑΤΤΗΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 1417 ὅτι διὰ τοὺς ἀπλουσθέρους, τοὺς ὄντας ὡς ἐμέ, ἔγραψα οὕτως VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 29.7 (for the hypercorrection of /st/ see I, 3.8.1.4) δυὸ ποκάμισα ἀπὸ τὰ καινουργιότερα (1639, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 11, 114.130–1) τὸν τρανύτερόν του υἱὸν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §9.17 τὶς ὁμορφύτερες (1656, Amorgos, TSELIKAS 1988/92: 3, 49.21) τὸ ὀγληγορότερον πράγμα Bertoldos 8.20; ποῖον εἶναι τὸ ἀσπρίτερον πράγμα ὅπου νὰ εἶναι; ibid. 34.4
 ἡ ὁμορφύτερη FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 51 τὸ καλύτιρου (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 12, 82.18) (for the mid-vowel raising see I, 2.5.4) ἐγὼ ὁ τρανίτερος εἶχα πρεσβυτέρα (1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 34, 134.11)

3.8.4 Analytic Comparative and Superlative

The analytic (or periphrastic) comparative and superlative consist of the positive form of the adjective preceded by an adverb meaning “more”. For the development of πλέον to πλιό(ν) and πιό, and πλέα to πλιά and πιά, see 3.8.2. Other words that have the same function are πλεώτερο(ν), πλιότερα, πλιάτερα, πλιότερον and πιότερο(ν), and in Cypriot texts περίτου (for which see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.).

Various factors may influence the choice of a periphrastic rather than a synthetic comparative formation; they include euphony, a preference for shorter words, emphasis, and, in verse texts, metrical considerations. The form with πλεό(ν) is attested right up to the end of the period covered by the Grammar, particularly in texts that aim at a more formal register. As far as other forms are concerned, regional variation is not marked, except that πλιά appears to have become the normal form in Cretan texts from the 16th c. onwards, but has not been found elsewhere; as already mentioned, περίτου occurs only in texts from Cyprus.

Comparative

πλεώτερον ἤτον ἄγριος λέοντος ἢ παρδάλου Pol. Tr. 6712 ἐγένετον παντάπασιν ὥσπερ ὁ Ἰούδας ... καὶ πλέα θερμός καὶ ἀδιάκριτος (1496, Pesaro, ΜΑΥΡΟΕΙΔΙ-ΠΛΟΥΜΙΔΙ 1971: 3, 132.25) καὶ τούτῃ ἡ παραπρόνεση μὲ κάμνει πλιά πρικούσα FALIEROS, Thrinis 170; μὲ πλιά σωσμένο τρόπο ibid. 198 ἦτον περίτου κακὴ παρὰ τὸ φαρμάκιν ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. O 386.20–1 περίτου ἄξιες Fior 73.4
 πολομὰ τὸν ἄνθρωπον περίτου ἐγλήγορον καὶ περίτου ὀδηγημένον καὶ περίτου θαρρούμενον Fior, Suppl. 273.32–4; περίτου πελλὸν παρὰ ποῦ ἐνι ibid. 277.16 πλιὸ ἡγαπημένον ΤΡΙΒΟΛΙΣ, Re Skotsias 244 ἔκαμε ἄλλην πινιάττα πλέο χοντρή (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.13); κατὰ ποῦ νὰ ᾿ναι τὰ κομμάτια πιγλιὸ δυνατὰ (ibid. 62.10)⁸¹ πλιά φτηνὸ (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 150.26) ἦτονε πλέο ἐλεύθερη καὶ ὀγλήγορη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.14 πλιά δροσερὴ ἀπὸ ρόδο | ταχυτερνὸ Pist. voskos I 1.95–6 γιατί κορμί πλιά τέλειο δὲν ἔχω γνωρισμένα ΤΡΟΙΛΟΣ, Rodol. III.408; πλιάτερα τιμημένα ibid. V.112 κι ἐλπίζομεν εἰς τὸν Θεὸν πλιὸ ἴμορφοι νὰ γενοῦμεν ΚΟΝΔΑΡ., Paidēs 335 τέχνη ... κιαιμὰ πλιότερα κοπιασμένη ΦΟΣΚΟΛΟΣ, Fort. III.240 αὐτὸς εἶνε πλειὸ ἀνδρειωμένος ΡΕΤΡΙΤΣΙΣ, Dig. O 3031 καὶ μία καργιόλα σιδερίτικη τὴν πλιά μεγάλη ἀπὸ τὴν ἄλλην (1685, Naxos, ΣΙΦΟΝΙΟΥ-ΚΑΡΑΡΑ et al. 1982/83: 610, 842.14–15) πλέον ἀπόκοτος Don Kis. 147.21 θεμελιωμένοι πλιά βαθιά καὶ πλιότερα μεγάλοι ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. I.1534

Superlative

ὁ πλέον πτωχὸς ἀπ' αὐτεινούς Pol. Tr. 2895 app. crit. (X) ἦτον ὁ πλέον καταφρονημένος καὶ ἀστοχημένος καὶ πτωχὸς ἄνθρωπος ΔΑΜ. ΣΤΟΥΔ., Dial. 93.30–1 τὰ πλι' ἀκριβὰ μου πράματα ΒΕΝΔΡΑΜΟΣ, Istor. Filarg. 172 γαλιότες ... τὲς πλέτερά του θαρρετὲς ΑΧΕΛΙΣ, Malt. Pol. 1499 (for the form πλέτερα see 3.8.6.1) τὰ πλιά ἀληθινὰ κομφίνια (1598, Crete, ΒΑΚΚΕΡ/VAN GEMERT 1987: 32, 51.14) ποιὸς εἶναι ὁ περίτου γλήγορος ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. R 391.34–5 τὸ παιδί, τὸ πλιά ἀκριβὸ ποῦ νὰ ᾿χει Thysia Avr. 649 νὰ σηκῶση τὸ πιά ὀλαφρὸν φόρτωμαν Vios Aisop. I 251.26; τὸ πιά βαρὺ φόρτωμα ibid. 251.27 φυλαζόμενοι οἱ πλέο βέβαιοι πλησιασμοὶ (1685, Zakynthos, ΜΑΥΡΟΣ 1984: 362.11–12) οἱ πλιά ἄσκημοι θανάτοι νὰ μ' εὐροῦσι ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. V.343

3.8.5 Double Forms

The two types of comparative, synthetic and analytic, are sometimes combined for added emphasis. This usage may be regarded as a stylistic device, or a predilection of certain authors, but in fact it occurs quite widely, in all kinds of texts. The following examples include some irregular comparative forms, which will be discussed in 3.8.6.

⁸¹ For the use of <γλ> to represent a palatalized /l/ see I, 3.8.2.3 and for the anaptyxis of /i/ see I, 2.6.2.

Comparative

πλέον ἀποκοτώτερος καβαλλάρης οὐκ ἦτον Pol. Tr. 3103 app. crit. (AVX) γιὰ πλίο ἡδονικότερον Theseid Prol. E 115 περίτου δυνατότερος Fior 84.19 πλέον δυνατότερος KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 108.3; πλέο ἀχαμνότεροι καὶ ὀλιγότεροι ibid. 194.2
 ὁπού εἴχασι πλέον χειρότερα ὀζά (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 387.16) πλέον πραχτικότερος (1567, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 6, 308.41–2) γυναίκα πλιά καλύτερη CHORTATIS, Katz. III.277 τὰ πλέα τελειότερα RODINOS, Vios Ign. 63.20–1 δὲν εὐρίσκεται τὸ πλέον χειρότερον κτήνος ἀπὸ τὸν χωριάτην Bertoldin. 106.21 (comparative in meaning but with def. art.) ἄλλον τελώνιο πλιά ἀδυνατώτερο καὶ ἀγριώτερο Apok. Theot. 495.37 ὁπού ἔμαι πλιὸ μικρότερος ἀπ’ ὅλους κοπελλάκι KONDAK., Paidēs 124 διὰ πλέον καλύτερη φύλαξη SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 34.33–34.1
 πιλιο ἡγγυτότερος (1695, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 189, 113.2) γιὰ πιλιο καλύτερό μου KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.798

Superlative

τές πλέον εὐμορφότερες Pol. Tr. 1120 app. crit. (B) (τὰς πλέον εὐμορφότερας X) οἱ πλέα καλύτεροι KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 202.18; εἰς τὸν πλέον δυναμότερον τόπον ibid. 477.27 εἴμεστεν οἱ πλέα δυστυχέστεροι καὶ ταλαίπωροι ἄνθρωποι DAM. STOUD., Dial. 98.3
 τὴ μπλέα εὐχολότερη στράτα (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 236, 224.17) με τές πλέον ευμορφύτερες Don Kis. 454.14

3.8.6 Irregular Formations

Already in papyri of the first centuries AD new comparative forms can be found with the suffix -τερος attached to the stem of comparatives in -ων. Examples: καλλιότεροι (1st. c.), μειζοτέρᾱ (2nd c.), πλεωτέραν (6th c.) (see GIGNAC 1981: 157–8, there called “double comparison”; see also PSALTES 1913: 190). For certain lexical items such formations have become the norm in SMG, e.g. χειρότερος < AG χείρων.

Analogical developments such as these led, by and large, to greater regularity in the system. However, certain of the old AG comparative forms continue in use but undergo a variety of morphological developments, which, since they are word-specific, must be regarded as “irregular” in terms of the system of comparatives as a whole. Two particular lexical items are examined in the following sections: (1) πλείων, with its derivatives πλέος and πλεότερος (and their phonological variants), as well as indeclinable forms (3.8.6.1); (2) καλλίων and its derivatives καλλίος, κάλλιος, καλλιότερος, καλύτερος (3.8.6.2). Some other irregular forms are noted in 3.8.6.3.

One other word should be mentioned here: μέγας (see 3.6.1 for the positive forms) and its various comparatives. The residual AG form μείζων can be found mainly in texts that aim at a higher register (see 3.3.4 for the paradigm and examples). It is replaced by various forms in -ότερος and -ύτερος. The first form to appear is μεγαλώτερος (or -ότερος, the difference being merely a matter of spelling), in a 9th-c. legal text (preserved in a 12th-c. ms): ὁ φόβος ὁ ὑπάρχων περὶ αἰσχροτήτος ἀσελγείας μεγαλώτερός ἐστι Prochiron Leg. XL.21.1. This form is widespread, until at least the 16th c.:

εἰς μεγαλύτερον κριτ(ήν) (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 19.107) ἡ μεγαλύτερη (14th c.?, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1994: 1, 286.38) μεγαλύτερον δίκαιον Assizes B 416.1 ὄλον τὸ μεγαλώτερον γομάριν Pol. Tr. 867 app. crit. (AB) μεγαλωτέρα Chron. Toc. 358; ἐγίνη μεγαλώτερος ἐξ ὅλους τοὺς ἀφέντες ibid. 3727 μεγαλύτερον Chron. Mor. P 602 τῶν μεγαλωτέρων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1080 μεγαλύτερον (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 101.12) μεγαλύτερόν ἐστι Krasop. V 17 ἐστοντας ὅτι το ἐδίωχναν ἄλλα ψάρια μεγαλύτερα ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 16.3

An alternative form μεγαλιώτερος (or -ότερος) has been found from the 14th c. onwards. It results from confusion with the comparative of AG μεγαλειός (and, consequently, is sometimes written with <ει>), perhaps also influenced by an analogy with καλλιότερος (for which see below). In literary texts preserved in more than one ms, the two forms sometimes alternate. However, this variation does not follow any obvious geographical distribution.

μεγαλιώτερον Chron. Mor. H 602 ὄλον τὸ μεγαλιώτερον ἀλλάγι Pol. Tr. 867 app. crit. (X); οἱ πλέον μεγαλιώτεροι θεοὶ ibid. 6584 app. crit. (C) μεγαλειότερες Theseid I.56,3 (Follieri); τοὺς μεγαλειότερους Ἑλληνες ibid. I.98,5 μεγαλιότερος (1513, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: (a), 222.4) μεγαλιώτερα ἤθελεν μοῦ δώσειν Diig. Alex. F 232.17 (Lolos) χώραν μεγαλιώτερην ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua X.272 μεγαλιώτερα ZYGOM., Synopsis 271.Π.71 ο μύθος λέγει πως τινὲς οἱ τοῦ φιλονικοῦσι με τοὺς μεγαλιότερους τοῦ λόγου τοὺς λυπούσι ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 106.9–10

Finally, the form which will become standard in MG, μεγαλύτερος (variously spelled in the texts), also emerges in the LMedG period. The earliest examples found are in Cypriot texts, often with gemination of /t/ (see I, 3.4.2.5). By the 16th c. it is quite widespread; it occurs frequently in Cretan literary texts of the 16th and 17th c.

τὸ μεγαλλίτερον ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 48.11; μεγαλλήττερον ἀδελφὸν ibid. 258.3; διὰ μεγαλλήττερην στερέωσιν ibid. 506.13 μεγαλλυττέρην ΒΟΥΣΤΡ., Chron. A 144.4 μεγαλύτερος πόνος Fior 102.30 σ' ἔναν μεγαλείτερον ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua 18.15 τὴν μεγαλύτερην ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 239.21 διὰ νὰ τοῦ δώσης μεγαλύττερην δόξαν Pist. kekoim. 135–6 εἰς ἄλλην μεγαλύτερην ΔΑΜ. ΣΤΟΥΔ., Dial. 99.16–17 λόχη μεγαλύτερη ΧΟΡΤΑΤΣΙΣ, Panor. I.334; ἅπ' ὅλους μεγαλύτερος id., Erof. I.44 πλιά μεγαλύτερες (1644, Crete, ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑΤΙΣ 1990: 483.287) στοὺς μεγαλύτερος ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. I.660; μεγαλύτερα σημάδια ibid. V.726

3.8.6.1 πλείων etc.

Residual forms of AG πλέων or πλείων are occasionally found in texts of the period covered by this Grammar (for these see 3.3.4). The shorter forms in -ω may also be found, though very rarely; in the following example this form (properly masc. and fem. acc. sg.

or neuter pl. in AG) is used for fem. acc. pl.: ἐγὼ τὰς πλέω καὶ τὰς καλὰς τὰς χάριτας τὰς ἔχω Diig. tetr. 468 app. crit. (C).

New forms based on a masc. nom. sg. πλέος (or πλεῖος) occur from the 15th c. onwards, declined regularly like adjectives in -ος with fem. -α (3.2.2):

πλέα καὶ καλύτερα (1422, Meteora, VEIS 1911/12: 15, 54.14) ὁ πόνος ἔναι πλέος Liv. V 3658; σιγοπατῶ τὰ πλέα ibid. 3939 οἱ πλέοι ἀπὲ τὰ Ἰωάννινα τὸν δούκαν ἡγαποῦσαν Chron. Toc. 1412; ὁ τόπος τοῦ ἀπίστησεν ὁ πλέος ibid. 3519 αὐτὰ καὶ ἄλλα πλέα Chron. Mor. P 2459 διὰ πλέαν ἀσφάλειαν (1453, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1967: 1, 48.17) διὰ πλέα φερμασιόν (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.51) ὁ λαὸς δὲ ὁ πλεῖος τῶν χωρῶν καὶ καστρῶν ἔφυγον Ekth. Chron. 74.22 κ' ἔχουν πιλέο μέταλλο (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 64.16–17) (for the anaptyxis of /i/ see I, 2.6.2)⁸² τὸ πλέο κίνδυνο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 84.13; cf. the oddly formed double superlative ὁ πλέος ὁμορφύτερος ibid. 142.10–11

Forms of πλιός, deriving from πλέος or πλεῖος, after synizesis, are found from the 15th c. onwards:⁸³ πλιά τρομάρα FALIEROS, Ist. On. 235; μὲ πλιά καρδιά ibid. 608; σ' ὅσο ζοῦμε πλιὸν καιρὸν id., Rim. Par. 148 σε πλιά φωτιὰν CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.245; μὲ πλιὰν ἀγάπη id., Erof. III.123 πλιά βιά'χω καὶ πλιά πεθυμιά Stathis II.263 πλιά 'ναι ἡ φωτιά τοῦ νέκταρος, τοῦτο πλιά δύναμη ἔχει Zinon Prol. 183 σ' πλιά πάθη KORNAROS, Erot. I.132; πλιά δύναμη καὶ πλιά καρδιά ibid. I.1166; πλιάς τέχνης καὶ πλιάς μαστοριάς ibid. II.1068; σ' πλιά μάνηταν ibid. II.2375; ὅλα τὰ πλιά ibid. IV.111 ὀγιά πλιά βεβαίωσι Leilasia Par. Dedic. 21

The forms πλέο, πλιά and πλιό (see I, 2.6.2) are also used indeclinably:

μὲ πλέο τέχνη καὶ ὑψηλότητα (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.20); μὲ τοὺς πλέο ἀνθρώπους (ibid. 60.22–3); δίνει πλιό δύναμη (ibid. 62.4) νὰ δώσει πλιά κριτήριο Thysia Avr. 302 οἱ πλιά κλαῖσι TROILOS, Rodol. Prol. Mell.104 οἱ ὁποῖες ἔρχονται τὲς πλέα φορές LANDOS, Geopon. 129.24–5 διὰ πλιό σεγουριτὰ τῆς αὐτῆς ἀγάπης (1655, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 2, 188.14–15) εἰς τὲς πλιά χαρὲς Zinon Prol. 188 πλιά λαὸν KORNAROS, Erot. IV.971; σ' πλιά φόβο ibid. IV.1121

Like other AG comparative forms in -ων, πλέων/πλείων acquires new forms through the addition of {oteros} to the stem πλε- or πλει-. These forms are first attested in the EMedG period (see above) and are well established by the beginning of the LMedG period. The form πλεώτερος (or πλεότερος) seems to be preferred in texts that aim at a more formal register. Forms from πλ(ε)ίτερος are likely to have undergone synzesis, as indicated by the evidence of verse texts. A form πλιάτερος (perhaps influenced by the adverb πλιά) is found in certain texts of the 17th c. from West Crete, while πλέτερος occurs in the 16th-c. poem of the Rethymniot Achelis.

⁸² Forms with anaptyxis of /i/ – πλιά, πλιό, πλειότερα, πλειότερος – are also found in the works of the 18th-c. playwright and poet Katsaitis, who was a native of Kefalonia. With a different anaptyctic vowel, the form πουλιό, which occurs in modern Heptanesian idioms, is found in a 17th-c. document from Zakynthos: παρόντας καὶ πουλιό μέρος ἀπὸ τοὺς ἀνορίτες (app. crit.) (1659, Zakynthos, AVOURIS 1973: 219.10–11).

⁸³ Cf. the prefixed form περίπλεος or περιπλέος (KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.), also found with synizesis, e.g. τοὺς περιπλιὸς ἀνθρώπους (1509, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [1], 5.9–10); μὲ τὴν περιπλιὰν τῶνε συντροφία (1544, ibid. [2], 7.4–5).

τὸ πλεότερον Poulol. 39 δύναμιν πλεωτέραν Pol. Tr. 220 app. crit. (AEV); δύναμιν πλειοτέραν ibid. 220 app. crit. (X) γράψειν εἶχα καὶ πλεότερα LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 45 ἢ γῆς εἶναι πλεότερη Diig. Alex. K 376.13 λίζατον πλεώτερον Diig. Alex. E 171.10 (Konstantinopulos); οἱ πλεώτεροι ibid. 161.7 πλείοτερα καὶ καλλιότερα (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.7) ἄν ἤθελε ἡύρηθεῖ πλεώτερον (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 32, 44.13) ἐκάη τὸ πλεότερον μέρος τοῦ κάστρου (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 34.II, 47B'B².10) παρὰ πάντας ἄνθρωπος πλεώτερος λογαῖσαι Alex. Rim. 1777 αὐτοῦ τοῦ πλιότερου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 238, 225.18) ἢ πλιότερα ἢ λιγότερα (1574, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 15, 141.6) οἱ πλειότεροι ZYGOM., Synopsis 174.E.7 χίλιες φορές καὶ πλιότερες CHORTATSIS, Panor. IV.84 (Bancroft-Marcus);⁸⁴ ἐκεῖνο ἀπ' ἔχω πλιότερο id., Erof. III.299; ἔβγα, νὰ ζήσης, μετ' αὐτὴ ἵς πλιότερα μὴν ἐρθῆτε id., Katz.
 III.338; γρίκησ' ἐδὰ τὸ πλιότερο· δὲ θεὸ νὰ τοῦ τὴ δώση ibid. III.376 ὅτινος ξάζη πλιότερα (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 396, 369.16) εἰς τὶ ὀλιγότερον νὰ βάλῃ τὸ πλιότερον RODINOS, Vios Ign. 80.5 τοὺς πλειότερους PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1474 πλεότιρο χρέο ἱπῆρις (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.45v.31–2) (with mid-vowel raising; see I, 2.5.4) πλέτερην προθυμίαν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 710; μὲ πλέτερὴν τοὺς δύναμιν ibid. 2024 σὲ πλιάτερην ἀγάπη TROILOS, Rodol. I.132; πλιάτερος ἐγένηκε ... ὁ θυμός του ibid. I.175; πλιάτερου ξασμοῦ ibid. III.166; πλιάτερην ὥρα ibid. IV.552a; τοῖ πλιάτερες φορές ibid.
 IV.164
 μὲ πλιάτερη χαρὰ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 300.15

3.8.6.2 καλλίων, καλλιώτερος etc.

Residual forms of AG καλλίων, the comparative of καλός, are sometimes found in texts of the period covered by this Grammar (for these see 3.3.4). Two new developments can be observed in LMedG:

- 1) Masculine καλλίων is adapted to the -ος declension, but with paroxytone stress retained and, potentially, a full paradigm.

νύμφην ὥραϊαν, πανεύγενον, | τῆς δύσεως τὴν καλλίαν Eisit. f.1v.9–10; ἀλλὰ τὰ εὐγενικώτερα
 | καὶ τὰ καλλία τοῦ κόσμου ibid. f.4r.9–10
 καὶ ποῦ καλλίον εἰς κόσμον; Spaneas Va 515

⁸⁴ The edition of Panoria by Kriaras and Pidonia here reads πιότερες, but this form is not found in any of the mss, as R. Bancroft-Marcus has kindly confirmed.

Forms with synizesis (i.e. καλλιός) also occur:

καλλιόν μας ἔνι Chron. Mor. H 4723 (ms καλίων; metre requires a disyllable) καλλιός ἔναι ὁ θάνατος Love poems V 782 καλλιόν ἔνι Fior 103.32 (cf. ibid. 130.36–131.1) πάντα λογιάζει νά 'ν' καλλιὰ παρά κιαμιὰ κοπέλα CHORTATSI, Panor. III.292 ἄλλη δὲν ἔν' καλλιὰ σου FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.104; γιὰ τὰ καλλιὰ σου ibid. IV.240

- 2) From the neuter κάλλιο(ν) a new paradigm emerges: κάλλιος, fem. κάλλια, neut. κάλλιο(ν) (declined like the adjectives in 3.2.2).

ὁ κάλλιος φίλος ὅπου εἶχεν Chron. Mor. H 3218 κάλλια κόρη οὐκ ἦτον Pol. Tr. 291 app. crit. (A); ὅπου οὐκ εἶχαν κάλλιον ibid. 767 app. crit. (A) τοὺς κάλλιους ἄνδρας τῶν Ἑβριῶν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2602 ἦν δὲ καὶ νέος καὶ εὐγενικός καὶ κάλλιος ἐκ τοὺς δέκα Achil. N 309; τὴν κόρην τὴν ἀσύγκριτον, τοῦ κόσμου τὴν καλλιάν ibid. 1684 κόρην τὴν κάλλιαν Liv. α 1302 κάλλιοι ἔν οἱ κυνοκεφάλοι SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 334 (Wagner) τὸ μερτικόν τὸ κάλλιον BERGADIS, Apok. A 296 τὰ κάλλια παλληκάρια Alex. Rim. 497 καὶ κάλλιον καιρὸ μὴν ἀκαρτερῇ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 144.5 τὸ κάλλιο μερτικόν TROILOS, Rodol. V.250 κιαμιὰ κάλλια μου δὲ λογιάζω FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 62 τὸ κάλλιο παλληκάρι KORNAROS, Erot. II.1990; ἀπὸ τοὺς δυὸ τὸν κάλλιο νὰ διαλέγῃ ibid.
 IV.1733

In Cretan texts, and in the Rhodian Limenitis, we find the neuter plural or adverbial forms κάλλια and καλλιὰ used as indeclinable adjectives:⁸⁵

μὰ θεὲ κουτάλες δυνατὲς παρὰ τὲς πρώτες κάλλια LIMEN., Than. Rod. 435 παρὰ ζωὴ ὁ θάνατος βλέπω πῶς εἶν' καλλιὰ μου CHORTATSI, Panor. II.542; γιὰτὶ καλλιὰ δὲν εἶν' ὁ γέϊς τίβοτσι ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄλλο id., Erof. II.22; ποῖός ἐκ τοὺς βασιλιάδες | γιὰ νὰ τσῆ πείς εἶναι καλλιὰ ibid. II.283–4 ὁ παλιὸς φίλος κι ὁ πλιὰ καλλιὰ σου TROILOS, Rodol. II.104 ὡσὰν καλλιὰ τεχνίτης KORNAROS, Erot. II.869; ὅχι νὰ 'ν' ὁ Κυπρίδημος κάλλια του παλληκάρι ibid. II.1830; κι ὀπίσω του δὲν ἤφηκε καλλιὰ του ibid. IV.1952

A new comparative of καλός, with the suffix -τερος, came into existence in Late Antiquity (see LSJ s.v. καλός). This form, καλλιώτερος (or -ότερος), scorned by the Atticists, occurs in all kinds of texts and remains in use throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

τὴν ὑπερκαλλιώτερον Assizes B 278.24 τοὺς καλλιώτερους Pol. Tr. 777 app. crit. (EVX); καλλιώτεροι ibid. 823 app. crit. (BV) καλλιότερος (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 7, 311.13) πλειότερα καὶ καλλιότερα (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.7) τοὺς πρώτους καὶ καλλιώτερους Chron. Mor. P 6362 τὴν καλλιόττερην στράταν VOUSTR., Chron. A 12.8 (for the gemination of /t/ see I, 3.4.2.5) καλλιότερον ἔνι Fior 102.27 τοῦ κόσμου καλλιότέρα Diig. Alex. Sem. B 694 (vocative)

⁸⁵ KAFKALAS (1995: 102) mentions the use of καλλιὰ in place of an adjective in Crete.

ωσάν να ἦτον και καλλιότερον Vios Filaret. 241.5 ἄλλονῶν καλλιότερων μου συγγραφέων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 74.30 θέλεις γενεῖς καὶ καλιώτερος Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.6 τὰ σημαδικὰ τὰ καλιώτερα [VLASTOS], Dig. P VI 369.36 τὸ καλλιότερον κρασί νὰ τοὺς κεράση PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.83–4 εἰς τὸ καλλιώτερο (1696, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 11, 215.2) τὸ καλλιότερον καὶ συμφερότερον (1698, Sinai, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 7, 61.70)

Towards the end of the LMedG period, the MG form καλύτερος (variously spelled) begins to appear in written texts; the first attested occurrence is from Corfu, in a Greek version of a Hebrew biblical text: καλλίτερος ὁ θάνατός μου Jonas 216.97 (14th-c. ms). The second datable occurrence is from the first half of the 15th c.: νερὰ ἐκ τὰ καλύτερα Chron. Toc. 2114. The form becomes more frequent from the late 15th c. onwards:⁸⁶

τὸ καλύτερον (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 97.22) καλύτερον (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 57, 48.13) καλύτερη οὐκ ἦτον Pol. Tr. 291 app. crit. (V); τὲς καλύτερες ... βουλὲς ibid. 4341 app. crit. (ABX) διὰ καλίτερον Chron. Mor. P 507; τοὺς πρώτους καὶ καλλίτερους (ms καλήτερους) ibid. P 6885 νὰ ἐγκλέσωμεν τὸ καλλιίτερον τὸ νὰ θελήσῃ ὁ θεὸς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 234.3–4 τὴν καλύτερην (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 10, 23.42) τὴν καλλυπτέρην στράταν VOUSTR., Chron. B 13.7 καλύτερό 'ναι εἰς ἐσέν Alex. Rim. 2443 καλός, καλλίτερος SOFIANOS, Grammar 44.21 ποτάμια καλλιίτερα DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 3, γ3v.25 (1561); καλλίτερος εἶναι ἐκεῖνος ibid. Logos 13, v3r.10 καλύτερο μοῦ φαίνεται τοῦτο CHORTATIS, Erof. IV.635; καλύτερή τζή κοπελιά στὴ χώρα δὲν κατέχω ibid., Katz. III.405–6 θέλει διαλέξωμεν τὸ καλύτερον (1654, Chios, ZERLENDIS 1917: 3, 244.25–6)
 τ' ἄρματα τὰ καλύτερα KORNAROS, Erot. I.1285; τὴν πλιά καλύτερη βουλὴν ibid. IV.32

3.8.6.3 Other Irregular Forms

Monolectic comparative forms that deviate from the usual patterns tend to be word-specific and consequently belong more to the domain of lexicography. We note a few examples of irregular comparative/superlative forms to illustrate their diverse nature.

-ότερος added to AG comparatives in -ων ἐλαττώτερος Achil. N 1082 τῶν θεῶν ἡ κρειττοτέρα ERMON., Ilias 1.227; ὁ κρειττότερος τῶν ὄλων ibid. 7.298 πασῶν τὴν κρειττοτέραν Velth. 533 κρειττότερον Ptochol. α 135 οἱ κρειττότεροι ἄνθρωποι (16th c., Constantinople, PREGES 1912: 468.28–9)

⁸⁶ Although some of the literary texts cited here are assumed to have been written in the 14th or 15th c., most of the mss containing the form καλύτερος date from the 16th c. The only exceptions (found so far) are mss A and X for the Pol. Tr. (15th c.).

μειζότερας (1134, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 4, 14.22) ἀκόμη τὸ μειζότερον τὸ κάμνει τὸ μαλλὶν μου Diig. tetr. 497 τῆς μειτζότερας ἐκκλησίας Βοῶς (1572, S. Italy, VIOLI 2006: 311.23)

-έστερος instead of -ότερος γνησιεστέρου SFRANTZIS, Chron. 60.17

-έστερος instead of -ύτερος ὁ παχέστερος λέγω ΚΑΜΑΤ., Astron. 3906

Comparative formed from a noun νὰ εἶναι ἐγγυτότεροι (1541, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 5, 219.13) (presumably from ἐγγυητής)

Superlative from words that are already comparative or absolute in meaning οἱ πρωτότεροι Pol. Tr. 1318 ἦτον ὁ ὑστερώτερος καλὸς καὶ πιδέξιος Chron. Mor. P 1375 ἀπὸ κανένα ἀπὸ τοὺς πρωτύτερούς του RODINOS, Vios Ign. 62.22⁸⁷ οἱ πρωτύτεροι VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.10

3.8.7 Absolute Superlative

The AG relative superlative in -τατος became restricted to use as an absolute superlative. These absolute superlatives tend to have a more formal ring and are therefore less common in lower-register texts (except perhaps in honorific forms of address). Since they are declined like adjectives in -ος with feminine -η, examples to illustrate variation in morphology (endings) and stress are given in the relevant section (3.2.1). Here we are concerned with the way absolute superlatives are derived from the positive form of the adjective. We first discuss regular formations (-ότατος, -ύτατος, -έστατος etc.), then the so-called irregular forms (-στος) from AG comparatives in -ων.

3.8.7.1 Regular Forms

We include forms that, although differing from both their AG and MG equivalents, are nonetheless formed by the application of a regular morphological process, e.g. καλότατος (< καλός), λιγότατος (< (ὀ)λίγος), μεγάλότατος (<μεγάλος). Further indications that the process is still productive are: (1) new lexical items can acquire the form, e.g. ἀπαρθινός -ότατος, κουζουλός -ότατος; (2) phonological change in the positive form also applies to the absolute superlative, e.g. ἄξότατος (< ἄξιος, with depalatalization; see I, 2.4.7), ὁμορφότατος (< εὐμορφος), φρενιμότατος (< φρόνιμος; see I, 2.8.1 for the sound change). In other words, the absolute superlative forms are not merely inherited as lexical items from AG, but remain a productive part of the morphological system, at least for certain registers. As in the comparative, the difference in spelling of the linking vowel (<ο> vs. <ω>) relates to AG quantities and is not significant in MedG. Movement of stress to the penultimate (where AG accentuation rules would have required it; see 3.2.1) is quite common, but forms without stress movement are also found, e.g. ἀνθρώπους ἐλαφρότατους Chron. Mor. P 6972.

⁸⁷ For further examples of πρωτύτερος see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.

From adjectives in -ος τοῦ εὐγενικοτάτου ἄρχοντος (1182, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 212, 277.13)

 ἐκ γένους χαμηλότατου Velis. χ 29 ὡς μάνα του γλυκότατη FALIEROS, Thrinus 21 μεγαλώτατον προικιόν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 330.30; τρισεντιμότητε ibid. 640.24 φρενιμότητος ἐνι Fior, Suppl. 276.16 ἓνα περιστέρι ἀσπρότατον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 334–5.43, 1
 τοῦ ἀτυχώτατου ποδότα ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 563 ἡ μεγαλειοτάτη ἀρχόντισσα (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 74.5) δυο γάμοι ἀξότατοι CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 86; σοφώτατος νὰ κράζωμαι id., Katz. III.493; ρουφιάνε ἀπαρθινότατε ibid. III.537–8 ἡ ἀγιότατη Γῆς MOREZINOS, Klini 40.34–5 κουζουλότατοι ἄνθρωποι AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 305 ἀτοπώτατον καὶ παρανομώτατον RODINOS, Vios Ign. 127.19–20 ἓνα παιδί, πολλὰ εὐμορφότατον VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 37.32 περβολιῶ ὁμορφότατω καὶ μοσκομυρισμένῳ TROILOS, Rodol. I.148 ρεάλια περισσότατα MONTSEL., Evgena 452; κί' εἰσὲ λιγότατον καιρὸν ibid. 1207 νὰ γένῃ ξύδι καλότατον LANDOS, Geopon. 244.19–20 τῶν ἀγιότατων πάπηδων (17th c., Syros, ZERLENDIS 1924b: [3], 14.4) γιὰ σέν, ποθεινοτάτη PETRITSIS, Dig. O 456; με̐ μεγαλώτατη φωνή ibid. 1056 ἀπομένω ἑτοιμότητος στὶς ὀρισμού[ς] σας (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 507.33) καὶ εὗρηκα μεγαλότατες κίνησες (1699, Salona, DOKOS 1975: 12, 173.1–2) ἄλλογο ἀγριώτατο KORNAROS, Erot. II.335; μιὰ λαμπυρότατη φωτιά ibid. IV.66 εἰς ἐκείνην τὴν φοβερότατη στιγμή EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.4–5

From adjectives in -ης

εἰς λέξιν ἀκριβέστατην Velis. χ 561
 τρεῖς χρόνοι πληρεστάτοι Pol. Tr. 203 app. crit. (EVX)⁸⁸ ἐτέρων ἀληθεστάτων πλησιαστάδων (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 71, 184.10) ἔμπροσθεν τῶν εὐγενεστάτω καὶ παρακαλετῶ μαρτύρων (1528, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 113, 223.3) ἀσεβέστατε Fyll. gadar. 264 m αὐτὸς ὁ Ἡρώδης ὁ ἀσεβέστατος KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 337.4–5 κρίνον εὐωδέστατον MOREZINOS, Klini 41.12–13 ὁ εὐλαβέστατος παπᾶς (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 396, 369.2) τοῦ ποτὲ εὐγενέστατου μας Πιέρου (1612, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 7, 361.3–4) κάπιοιο χοτροειδέστατον Γκουρτζῆ Μεχεμέτ πασᾶ (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 403, f.3r.65–6) χριστιανοὶ μου εὐσεβέστατοι AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 41 ὦ ευγενέστατη πατρίς, Κύπρος ευλογημένη IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 9623

⁸⁸ Such forms, with movement of stress to the penultimate where it is not justified by AG accentuation rules, occasionally occur for the absolute superlative, particularly in verse texts. Cf. δριμοτάτες and βαρυτάτες in the next group of examples, and see 3.2.1.

From adjectives in -ύς ἀρετὴν γλυκύτατην Diig. sebast. Thom. 73 μάχες δριμοτάτες Pol. Tr. 58 app. crit. (AX)⁸⁹ ἡ γλυκύτατη PLOUSIAD., Thrinios 10 (Vasileiou) πίκρες βαρυτάτες Dig. A 1854 εἰς ποῖον γλυκύτατον καὶ φωτεινότατον τόπον ΠΑΡΑ-ΛΑΥΡ., Diigisis (Meteoron) 107.8–9 τὲς ἀνάπαυσεσ καὶ ἀπόλαυσεσ τοῦ γλυκυτάτου κόσμου VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.35–6 τὸν πρικύτατον θάνατον (1646, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 22, 163.6) ὦ γλυκυτάτῃ μου πατρίς ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 9621 γλυκυτάτῃ γυνὴ μου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 933–4; σήκω, γλυκύτατό μου φῶς ibid. 1757

3.8.7.2 Irregular Forms from Comparatives in -ων

The most common lexical items that appear with forms in -στος are: κάκιστος, κάλλιστος, μέγιστος and πλείστος.⁹⁰ Some examples:

βουλὴν ἔβαλα κάλλιστην Pol. Tr. 531 app. crit. (BEVX) μέγιστος βασιλεὺς βασιλέων (1489, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 19, 100.1) ὦ συμφορῶν μεγίστων Dig. A 2642 αὐτὸν τὸν κάκιστον Ἀρχέλαον ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 337.6–7 με πλείστην ἀφοβία PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2296

Occasionally such words are treated as “two-termination”, i.e. masculine forms are used with feminine referents (see 3.2.4):

ζημίαν νὰ ποίση μέγιστον Pol. Tr. 1605 app. crit. (A) ἡ κάκιστος ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 108

3.8.7.3 Other Irregular Forms

One new form which is common in EMG (but does not occur in SMG) is πολλότατος, from πολὺς.⁹¹

αἱ πολλότατές του δυνάμεις KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 11.20 πολλότατον πλοῦτον VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 73.31–2 με ἄρχοντες πολλότατους MONTSEL., Evgena 101 σκουληκοὶ πολλότατοι Apok. Theot. 491.96 κλάηματα πολλότατα (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 1, 25.2) με λουμπαρδιές πολλότατες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 213.14 ἡ θλίψη μου ἡ πολλότατη Zinon II.16; πολλότατες βολές ibid. III.77 διὰ τὶς πολλότατές των πείραξες καὶ δούλεψες (1667, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [6], 24.19)

⁸⁹ This form implies a positive form δριμός, instead of δριμύς, but the mss of this text present a number of linguistic oddities.

⁹⁰ The inherited superlative form πρῶτιστος (for which there is no comparative in -ων) can also be found, mainly in mid- and higher-register texts, e.g. πρὸς τὸν πρῶτιστον γάμον ΚΑΜΑΤ., Astron. 249; τὸ πρῶτιστον ἁμάρτημα ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 1601 (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. for further examples).

⁹¹ The 17th-c. grammar of Romanos gives for the superlative of πολὺς only the forms: πολλότατος, πολλοτάτη, πολλότατον ROMANOS, Grammar 13.12.

πολλότατα ἀργύρια Alex. Fyll. 14.21 ἔβαλαν ἀφορεσμούς πολλοτάτους PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 109.10 (with shift of stress to the penultimate)

Finally, the texts occasionally have peculiar forms like the following, where there is an apparent mismatch of stem and suffix:

ἡ καὶ κανεῖς τῶν πλανητῶν τῶν κακεστάτων φύσει ΚΑΜΑΤ., Astron. 1527 πλουσιέστατον Ekth. Chron. 83.27 (instead of πλουσιότατον) ἐλεημονότατοι (1583, Athens?, MERTZIOS 1954: 1, 123.2) (instead of ἐλεημονέστατοι) ἐλεημονωτάτη ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 59.8

θυγατέραν ἀχρειεστάτων γονέων Don Kis. 175.3

4 Adverbs

4.1 Historical Overview

Adverbs form a large and varied lexical group, subject to continuous phonological, morphological and analogical developments over the centuries. New formations and semantic shifts further complicate the historical study of Greek adverbs, which in large measure belongs to the domain of lexicography. In this chapter the main focus is on adverbs formed from adjectives and from certain pronouns or determiners (τόσος, καμπόσος etc.), either by suffixation (-ως) or by the specialized use of a neuter form (-α, -ον etc.), or by a combination of these processes (e.g. -α + /s/). Attention will, however, be given to some other productive adverbial suffixes, of which the most important are -ις/-ις and -ου.

Adverbs in both -ως and -α, formed from adjectives in -ος, are found throughout the period covered by this Grammar, and indeed both types already existed in AG (JANNARIS 1897: 149–50; PAPADOPOULOS 1940: 15–56). The use of the neuter plural (accusative) form in -α increased over time, and by the LMedG period it appears to predominate in lower-register texts. (For a rather general survey see PAPADOPOULOS 1940.) It has been proposed that the form with -α came to be preferred because the ending -ως had become phonetically identical with masc. nom. sg. -ος (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 307; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 208; PSALTES 1913: 341), although this would only apply to certain classes of adjective.

The adverbial use of the neuter accusative singular of the adjective (or determiner) is also found in AG for certain words, e.g. μικρόν, μόνον, πολύ, πρώτον, τόσον, and similar usages can also be found in the Byzantine chronicles (see PSALTES 1913: 340). (For the comparative degree of adverbs this was in fact the normal formation in AG; see below.) In MedG it is limited to adverbs of quantity or degree, adverbs from ordinal numerals, and certain words relating to time and speed. The intensive adverb “very” is found in both singular (πολύ) and plural (πολλά) forms in LMedG and EMG, with the latter being the more common in lower-register texts.

A final /s/ is often added to various words with adverbial function, as well as certain prepositions and conjunctions (I, 3.7.1.2) and the present participle of the verb (functioning as a gerund; see III, 4.7).¹ Examples of the spread of this “adverbial” suffix include: πρότες, (ἐ)τότες, άλλοτες, πάντοτες, τάχατες, τίποτες, ὁψές, ἀλλήλως etc. (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 53).

This tendency is normally dated to the 14th c. Since by this time the inherited adverbial forms in -ως had usually been replaced by forms in -α in the vernacular, the spread of final ¹ The argument that the -οντες ending is adverbial in origin has been advanced most recently in GORTON 2013. For a different explanation see III, 4.7.

/s/ to other categories of adverb (and other parts of speech)² could either be viewed as an archaism or explained as analogy with adverbs and conjunctions in -ως that continued in use, e.g. ἀλλέως/ἀλλιώς, ἴσως, καθώς, ὅμως, ὅπως, πάντως, ποσώς, πώς, τοιούτως. The new forms with final /s/, e.g. ἀργάς, μοναχάς, πρώτας, occur from the 15th c. onwards, and are particularly common in Cretan texts.³

The only example encountered of an adverb in -ε formed from an adjective (or, rather, as a variant of an adverb in -ο(ν)) is μόνε. It is found in texts from various geographical areas, from the 15th c. to the end of the 17th.

ὁ πύργος μένει μοναχός, μόνε με κάτι Φράγκους Chron. Toc. 2703 μόνε ἡ νεκρανάστασις BERGADIS, Apok. A 82 μόνε νά 'ναι προτιμητίος (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 43, 53.6) οὗτος ὁ συβασμός νά ἔναι μόνε εἰςέ μίαν ἔσοδιά (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 31, 61.44) κ' ἡ Φαιδροκάζα μετ' αὐτούς, οἱ τέσσαρες καὶ μόνε Velth. 1059 (μόναι transcr. Lendari, μόνοι Kriaras) μόνε φαρμάκια καὶ πικριεῖς TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 175 καὶ ἀπόμεινεν μόνε ὁ Νοαχ Pent. Gen. 7.23; μόνε κρεάς με τῇ ψυχῇ του, τὸ αἷμα του, νά μὴ φᾶτε ibid. 9.4
 ὄχι, ἀφέντη, μόνε μοναχός μου ἔπεσα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 344.17 μόνε ὀλίγο ἄφησε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 37.7; μόνε ἔβαλε τὴν ὀλιπίδα του ibid. 86.32 καὶ Τοῦρκοι δὲν εἶναι παροῦ μόνε ὀκτὼ χιλιάδες (1609, Cyprus, CHASIOTIS 1972: 35, 59.11–12) μόνε θέλουσι νά μαριολεύουσι (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.28) μόνε τὰ χέρια τῆς τὰ δυὸ ἔχουσι νά τῆς πάρου MONTSEL., Evgena 111 μόνε νά μοῦ ἀκούσης MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2106

An alternative form μόνι occurs in the Chronicle of Morea:

μόνι τὸ ὕδωρ τὸ πολὺ τῶν βρύσων καὶ πηγάδων Chron. Mor. H 2813; μόνι καὶ θηλυκὰ παιδιά ἔχει διὰ κληρονόμους ibid. 6284 (and 17 further instances in this text – ms H only)

A comparison may perhaps be made with πάλι/πάλε. The AG πάλιν is found without final <ν> from the Hellenistic period onwards. The variant πάλε (perhaps due to confusion with πάλαι) is common from around the 13th c.⁴ An analogy between these two adverbs (πάλι/πάλε and μόνε/μόνι) may be suspected.

ὁποῦ τὸν φοῦρνον ἔκτισε, πάλε ἄς τὸν χαλάση GLYKAS, Stichoi 282 κ' ἐκεῖνη πάλε ἐγέννησεν Chron. Mor. H 8467 οἱ δὲ ἐμέναν ἤθελαν πάλε νά δοῦν τὸ νίκος Liv. V 2120 καὶ τότε πάλε ὁ Διγενῆς οὕτως ἀπιλογᾶται Dig. E 808 ἀρκέσαν πάλε τὰ σκάνταλα VOUSTR., Chron. A 50.1–2 καὶ πάλε στὴν πατρίδα σου πῶς νά στραφῇς ἐκεῖθες BERGADIS, Apok. V 80 καὶ ὅποια πάλε ἐξ ἐμᾶς, ὁποῦ ν' ἀνδραγαθήσῃ Alex. Rim. 2503 ἀποθανόντας τῶς νά εἶναι πάλε ἐδική τῶς (1604, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 10, 166.53–4)

² The adverbs ἀντικρύ and ἄντικρυς both already exist in AG. For variations of stress and ending in LMedG and EMG see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ἀντίκρυ.

³ For an extensive survey of adverbs in Cretan dialect, including EMG literary texts, see KAFKALAS 1995.

⁴ For other extremely rare forms ἐπάλι, πάλεν and πάλες see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. πάλιν.

Finally, we may note that adverbs may also be combined lexically with the verb: adjective stems (functioning adverbially) are often prefixed to verbs to form compounds, particularly in lower-register texts, e.g. ἀργοθωρῶ, βαρ(ι)αναστενάζω, γλυκοφιλῶ, γοργογυρίζω, κακοπικραίνομαι, καλοβλέπω, καλογορκοῖω, καλοξημερώνει, πολυπικραίνω, σιγοτρομάσσω, συχναναντρανίζω, συχνοέρχομαι, συχνοσυντηρῶ (see relevant lemmata in KRIARAS, Lex., where available).

4.2 Endings

4.2.1 Adverbs in -ως

Adverbs in -ως (-ῶς) continue to be used throughout the period covered by this Grammar. By the end of the LMedG period, such adverbs are mainly to be found in mid- or higher-register texts, with certain lexical exceptions, e.g. καλῶς (in greetings), εὐτυχῶς. They derive from adjectives in -ος (with movement of stress to the penultimate in the case of proparoxytone adjectives) or adjectives of the AG 3rd declension (ending in -ης, -ής, -ύς, -ων). They may also be formed from present and perfect passive participles (with obligatory stress on the penultimate). Note also the adverb ὄντως (“really, truly”), from the present participle of the verb “to be”, which exists already in AG. Below we give some examples of each kind.

From adjectives in -ος⁵

- ἃ καὶ ἡμεῖς ἐπεδείξαμεν ἀρτίως (1142, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 6, 303.30) συνετῶς Krasop. AO 82
 καὶ φέρνει ἐγγράφως (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 15.49) ὅσα κἂν λέγει βάσταζε καὶ φέρε τα γενναίως Ptoch. I 159 ὅτι πολλοὶ ἐδοκίμασαν ἀγνώστως νὰ μὲ πάρουν Dig. E 862 (but also ἄγνωστα ibid. 1355); καὶ ἐπούλησαν καὶ ἐσφάξαν τας ἀνόμως καὶ ἀδίκως ibid. 171; μεγάλως τὸ ἐχάρη ibid. 1041 λεπτῶς τοὺς ἐφηγήσετον Chron. Mor. H 2572 ἀραδικῶς (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 60, 48.4) (probably derived directly from the noun ἀράδα + -ικῶς, since no corresponding adjective is attested) νὰ ἐνδύνωνται λατινικῶς (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.15) φαμλικῶς SFRANTZIS, Chron. 12.2 καὶ καθαρῶς τὸν λάλησε Om. Nekt. Vas. 120 καθημερνῶς TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 79 μεγάλως τὸ θυμώθη Alex. Rim. 419 ξενοπροσώπως τὸ διγοῦ Spaneas D 333 συμβαστικῶς (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 853, 744.3)⁶ καλῶς τὴ θυγατέρα μου CHORTATIS, Katz. III.333 ἐξόχως (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 179.19)
 νὰ τῆς δώκω εἴδηση ξεστοματικῶς πᾶσα των ὑπόθεση (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 507.29) μὴν ἔλθῃ αἰφνιδίως καὶ ἀλπάσῃ με (1684, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1956: [2], 348.15) ἥπειρες θεληματικῶς εἰς μίαν ἀπώλειαν φανερὴν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 35.25 σπουδαίως καὶ τρεχάτα KONDAR., Paidēs 407 τρέχοντας, ἔλεγεν μεγαλοφώνως Don Kis. 45.23

⁵ Included here for convenience is the very common μεγάλως from μέγας/μεγάλος.

⁶ This seems to be a new formation. For the adj. συμβαστικός see CHORTATIS, Erof. II.401: συμβαστικοί.

From adjectives in -ης/-ής παντελῶς ἐγλυθέντες (1179, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 194, 255.19) καὶ θέλω δεῖξαι προφανῶς τὴν ταύτης μοχθηρίαν Ptoch. I 26 ἀληθῶς ἡμουν εἰς τὴν διαθήκην του Assizes B 418.22 ἀκριβῶς Chron. Mor. P 2081 λεπτομερῶς τοῦ ἐμήνυσεν κ' ἐπληροφόρεσέ τον Chron. Mor. H 7825 ἐχαίρουντα συνήθως Achil. N 1060 ἐξέταξαν ἀκριβῶς Porikol. I 122 λοξοειδῶς τὸν στόχαξε KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.83 κρῖνε πάντα ὑγιῶς Spaneas Z 206 μία γυναῖκα χριστιανὴ ἐπῆρε τα ἅγια λείψανα καὶ τιμίως καὶ ευλαβῶς τα ἔθαψε Martyr. Vlas. 248.38–9 ἀληθῶς ἐτοῦτα εἶναι λόγια (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 216.22)

From adjectives in -ύς

ταχέως νὰ τὸν νικήσης Dig. E 31, 47 ταχέως νὰ ὑπάτε εἰς τὸν -όδεῖνα- ἄνθρωπον (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 30.17) καὶ ὅσους ἀνθρώπους πιάσουσιν εὐθέως νὰ ἀποθάνουν Chron. Mor. H 5664 σύρνει εὐθέως τὸ σπαθὶν Pol. Tr. 671 app. crit. (X); Ἄνδρομαθὰ ἐθρήνησε, βαρέως ἀνασπενάζει
ibid. 6611
 ἔπρεσεν εἰς ἀσθένειαν, ἀπόθανεν εὐθέως Chron. Toc. 3173 εὐθέως ἐνεπήδησαν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 318 καὶ ταῦτα εἰπὼν ἐθρήνησεν καὶ ἔκλαυσεν θαρσέως Achil. N 921

From adjectives in -ων

As discussed in 3.3.4, adjectives in -ων are rather uncommon in non-learned texts and, additionally, they are often subject to analogical adaptation to other paradigms. The corresponding adverbial forms are extremely rare in LMedG and EMG texts. One example has been located: καὶ κατασφάζω ἑμαυτὴν ὡς πράξασαν ἀφρόνως Dig. G IV.145. Adverbs formed from comparative adjectives in -ων are equally rare, but for an example of the form κρειττόνως see below, 4.3.1.

From participles

κεκρυμμένως [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2222 ἐμένα γοῦν προηγουμένως φαίνεται μοι (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.5) πεπαρησιασμένως Dig. G IV.1026 βεβαιωμένως NEOFYTOS, Achouri 348 ἐκείνοι ὅπου ἐπεράσασιν ὄντως οἱ ἐδικοί σου Rim. than. 50 ms καὶ ναῦτες ὄντως νὰ εἰπῇς φάλκονες καὶ πετρίτες LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 126 πόθος ὄντως χαριτωμένος Pist. kekoim. 15 τὸ ὄνομά τ' Ἄνδρόνικος καὶ ὄντως ἀνδρειωμένος PETRITSIS, Dig. O 7 ὄντως, κυρὰ συντέκνισσα Synax. gadar. 219

4.2.2 Adverbs in -α

Adverbs in -α and -έα (i.e. the neuter acc. pl. of adjectives in -ος or -ύς respectively) become increasingly common in the LMedG period and indeed in lower-register texts they have largely superseded the forms in -ως. Special mention should be made of πολλά: this is by far the most common adverbial form of πολὺς in MedG, rather than the neuter singular πολὺ (which is the normal form in SMG). It is used both alone (“very much”) and to modify an adjective or adverb. Examples of both uses of πολλά are included in the following list of examples of adverbs in -α.

ὅτι πολλά ἡγάπουν συνδιαλέγεσθαι ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31 810.10 καὶ μετὰ πάντων θαρρὶκὰ δύνασαι συντυχαί[νεῖν] Spaneas V 168 ἀναρθρα καὶ παρακεκομμένα GLYKAS, Stichoi 48; ἐδειλαινόμεν ἄμετρα, πολλά συνεστελλόμεν ibid. 55; οἱ πόνοι ἄψά σέ εἰσέβησαν κ' ἐκατεσκούρωσάν σε ibid. 190 καὶ στερεὰ τὴν σύρῳ Ptoch. I 187; σκοτεινὰ καὶ παραπονεμένα ibid. 224 καλὰ ἔφαγαν, καλὰ ἔπιαν Dig. E 680; εἰ δὲ ἀγαπᾷς τὴν περισσὰ ibid. 282; βαρέα ἀναστενάζει ibid. 382; τὸ δακτυλίδιν ἤβγαλεν, γλήγορα τοῦ τὸ δίδει ibid. 475 εἰ δὲ καὶ σταθῇτε πεισματικά (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.26–7) ἔξελθε σύντομα, γοργὰ σκοτώσης τὸ θηρίον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 557; λέγει τους φοβισμένα ibid. 907 τόσοσιν σκληρὰ καὶ ἀντροπιασμένα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 144.2; δῆγα το νὰ τὸ βλέπη πρεπάμενα ibid. 502.13–14 πολλά ἠθέλαν βαρεθῇ Chron. Mor. H 2818 (πολλά occurs frequently in this text) γλυκέα καταφιλοῦνταν Pol. Tr. 524 app. crit. (A) καὶ ἀποστρέφεται τὸν φανερά (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.17–18); νὰ τοὺς ποιήσῃ νὰ ζοῦν φράγκικα (ibid. 287.13) (but νὰ ἐνδύνωνται λατινικῶς, ibid. 287.15) ὅταν κινήσῃ μεθ' ἡμῶν δριμέα νὰ συντυχαίνει; Defl. Par. 58 συχνέα ν' ἀλλάσσοι τὴν θωρίαν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 285 (/ea/ instead of /ja/ may be regarded as hypercorrection; see I, 2.9.4.2) μετὰ τὸ κορμί του σωματικά (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 75, 72.4) πολλά βαρὶα λυπήθηκε KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.187 ὡσάν πράματα ἐδικὰ του καὶ λεγίτιμα ἀγορασμένα (1594, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 152, 276.23–4) δυσικά καὶ βορινὰ μετὰ ποταμὸ καὶ νοτικά μετὰ ἀμπέλι (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 92, 108.12)
 συχνιὰ ἐψυγομαραίνονται KORONAROS, Erot. III.17; ν' ἀδυναμίση τόσα ibid. III.35

4.2.3 Addition of Final Consonant (/n/ or /s/)

Forms with added final /n/ are very occasionally found. They are probably simply graphematic.

καὶ τόσαν τὸν ἡγάπησεν αὐτὸν Pol. Tr. 311 app. crit. (E) καὶ ἂν οὐκ ἴδω σε σύντομαν Achil. N 1105

More common is the addition of /s/ to adverbs in -α, presumably on the analogy of other adverbs and similar words (see introduction above). However, it is limited to a relatively small group of words, of mainly temporal or spatial meaning: ἐγλήγορας, πρῶτας, ἄργας, μοναχάς/μονάχας. The form μακράς (μακρᾶς) is probably not derived from μακρά(ν) (as implied by KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. μακράν), but either from μακρέα or from a prepositional phrase. Although it occurs most commonly preceded by the preposition ἀπό, there appears to be no evidence for the existence of an established expression, such as ἀπὸ μακρᾶς ἀποστάσεως, that might explain a genitive ending. The most likely derivation is therefore from the adverb μακρέα/μακριά (neuter plural of the adjective μακρύς, for which see 3.3.1), with the addition of /s/. Editors and lexicographers nowadays normally write ἀπομακρέας or ἀπομακρ(ι)άς as one word (KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ἀπομακριά). For the synizesis and deletion of /j/ see I, 2.4.7.4.

ἀπὸ μακρέας φωνάζουσιν Dig. E 1153 ἐχύθηκεν κ' ἐπῆρεν το ἀπάνω ἔπὸ μακρέας Imb. Rim. 918 κι ἀπομακριάς ἐφώνασε ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 98 ἀπὸ μακρέας ἀνεντράνισα Liv. E 188; ἀπὸ μακρέας μὲ εἶδε ibid. 2066 καὶ ἀπὸ μακρᾶς τοῦ ῥμῆνευσεν CHOUMNOS Kosmog. 1559 καὶ τὸ μελίσσιν μὲ θυμὸν ἀπομακρὰς μ' ἐδέχθη BERGADIS, Apok. A 36 καὶ νὰ φωνιάξει ἀπομακρὰς Thysia Avr. 1015 καὶ ἀπομακρὰς ἐτήρηξε P&N Diath. 3162 ἀπομακρὰς μ' ἐχαιρετοῦσα Fallidos 26 κ' οἱ Βλάχοι νὰ τόνε θωροῦν ἀπομακρὰς ἐτρέμα KORNAROS, Erot. IV.938; κι ἀπομακρὰς ἐδείχνασι τὸν πόνο τὸ μεγάλο ibid. IV.1966 ἐγλήγορας (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 84.13) πρῶτας ἐντύσου κι ὕστερα θέλομε συντυχαίνει FALIEROS, Ist. On. 70 λέγω πρῶτας (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 286.8) εἶχεν πρῶτας ταμένα (1603, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 193, 202.4) μὰ πρῶτας μὲ τὸ θάνατο τέλειωσε τὴ ζωὴ μου CHORTATIS, Erof. II.362; μὰ κατὰ τὸ συνήθι τση πρέπει σὰν πρῶτας πάλι ibid. IV.171 με λόγια θέλω ταχτικά πρῶτας νὰ τση μιλήσω CHORTATIS, Panor. I.369 ἐμεῖς ἄς πᾶμε, Λύνκο, στοὺς θεοὺς μας | πρῶτας νὰ προσκυνήσωμεν Pist. voskos I 1.28–9 πρῶτας γιὰ πόθο κορασᾶς δὲ θὰ σ' ἀναθιβάνω TROILOS, Rodol. I.351 νὰ μάθη ἂν ἔναι ἀληθινὰ πρῶτας FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.51 πρῶτας τοῦ ἡλίου θέλει ἰδεῖς τσ' ἀκτίνες ματωμένες Zinon III.115 ὥσὰν καὶ πρῶτας σμίγει KORNAROS, Erot. I.820; πού πρῶτας τὴν ἐκλαίγασι ibid. V.1216 ὀψὲς ἀργὰς Thysia Avr. 419 ὀφαργὰς FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.88 ὀψὲς ἀργὰς KORNAROS, Erot. III.1036 ἀποταχιάς⁷ στο σπίτι μας CHORTATIS, Panor. V.85; Αλέξης ἦρθε ἀποταχιάς ibid. V.117 ἀποταχιάς εἰς τὴ λοτζέτα ἐβγήκα Stathis II.323 ὄχι τὴν Μάλτα μοναχὰς νὰ πᾶσιν νὰ νικήσουν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 157 καὶ νὰ πλερώνου μοναχὰς τοῦ ἄνωθεν κυρ-Τζανῆ (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 669, 581.6) γιὰτί λογιᾶζω μοναχὰς νὰ ῥθε ξετρέχοντάς με CHORTATIS, Panor. I.242; καὶ τίνος ἦμουνε παιδὶ μονάχας μετὰ σένα id., Erof. I.139; καὶ μοναχὰς μὲ τὶς θωριὲς σώνουνται καὶ πλανοῦντα id., Katz. Prol. 7; θάμασμα τό ἔχε μοναχὰς πῶς καίγομαι ὁ καημένος ibid. II.183 μοναχας οτι εγλυτωσα τα κορμια τως (1667, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 19, 90.18) (the document has no accents) καὶ ὄχι μονάχας ἀπαντονάρισες τὴν ἐδικὴν μου φιλίαν καὶ δόξαν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas.

 33.28–9; ὄχι μονάχας τοῦ εἴπασιν πῶς ἀθετᾷ τοὺς θεοὺς ibid. 40.13–14 καὶ εἰς ἓνα δέντρος μοναχὰς, σ' αὐτὸ νὰ μὴν ὑπᾶτε P&N Diath. 1061

⁷ Strictly speaking, it is the adverb ταχιά which is derived from an adjective (ταχύς), then combined with the preposition ἀπό. See further KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ἀποταχιά.

καὶ τοῦτο φτάνει μοναχὰς τῇ νίκῃ νὰ χάριση | στοῦ λόγου μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 64; ξόμπλι τῶν ἄλλωνῶ φραρῶ μονάχας γιὰ νὰ δώσω id., Fort. III.78 καὶ μοναχὰς καλόγερο τὸν κάνει ZINON Prol. 96

4.2.4 Neuter Singular Forms

The neuter singular, rather than plural, form of the adjective (or determiner) is used adverbially for a restricted range of lexical items, that can be broadly divided into four categories: (1) adverbs of degree or quantity; (2) adverbs from ordinal numerals (“firstly”, etc.); (3) adverbs referring to time or speed; and (4) a few other miscellaneous instances.

4.2.4.1 Degree or Quantity

Included here are words such as τόσο(ν) “so much”, καμπόσο(ν) “quite a lot”, ἄλλο(ν) “any more, any longer”, (ὀ)λίγο(ν) or μικρό(ν) “a little”, μερικόν “partly”, πολὺ “much”, πλέον “more, any longer” (for other comparative forms see 4.3). These forms are extremely common before, during and after the period covered by this Grammar. We therefore give only a few examples:

τὸ ποιὸν εἶναι τόσο ζηλιάρικον Fior 87.11 τόσον εὐτράπιλον παιδί Chron. Tōc. 3490 καὶ ὅσον ἐπέρναν ὁ καιρός, τόσον ἐκαταλυέτον CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 215 τόσο γιὰ ὄνομά μου | δὲν τό 'χω CHORTATSI, Katz. III.471–2 κάμποσον κάτω στὴ γῇ ἐπιάστηκεν SULT. WALAD, Poem I 15 ἄλιμονο, συγκλάψετε καμπόσο μετὰ μένα FALIEROS, Thrinos 17 σῦρε καμπόσον, μάκρυνε, καὶ λείψ' ἀπὸ κοντὰ μας GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 224 ἀφ' οὗ καμπόσω στάθησαν / ἀφοῦ καμπόσο 'στάθησαν Theseid X.6,1 (1529) ὁ ναύτης ἐν καμπόσον ναπαμένος Cypr. Canz. 20.5 ἀμὴ ἦτον καὶ καμπόσο ἀκριβούζικος PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §12.18

οἱ πόνοι ἀψὰ σὲ εἰσέβησαν κ' ἐκατεσκούρωσάν σε | καὶ οὐκ ἔχουν ἄλλο ἐνθύμησιν, ὡς βλέπω, νὰ σὲ ἀφήσουν GLYKAS, Stichoi 190–1 ἄλλον, αὐθέντη, οὐ βλέπεις με, ὁ θάνατος μὲ δράσσει Achil. N 1711 πολλὰ ἐλιγοθύμησεν, ὀλίγον νὰ ἐξεψύχει Pol. Tr. 676 ἀπόλιγον ἀπόλιγον ὅλους μας θανατώνει Alex. Rim. 998 ἤξευρεν λίϊον Τούρκικα KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 120 ἀμέτε ἰδέτε ὀλλίγον Pist. kekoim. 71 μικρὸν μὴ ἀναπαγοῦμεν Dig. E 884 ἀποκριθεὶς ‘καρτέρησε μικρὸν ὅτι οὐδὲν ἔχω’ Ptoch. IV 526 στήκει μικρὸν παρέξω [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1098 τὴν Κωνσταντινούπολιν μικρὸν ἐθρήνησάμεν MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2766 καὶ νῦν, ἂν ζήσης μερικόν, ἂν ἀνασάνης μόνον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2028; νὰ συμπαθήση μερικόν τὰ θλιβερά τὰ τόσα ibid. 2053 νὰ σὲ διδάξω μερικόν ἐκ τὰ κακὰ τὰ ἐποίκε DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 302 ἐνα τράφον πολὺ βαθὺν Diig. Alex. E 51.7 (Konstantinopulos) πολὺ ἐθαυμαχτήκα VEST., Prol. Theot. 400 γιατί ἔμαι πολὺ θλιμμένη (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 81.104) εἶναι πολὺ καλὸ διὰ λόγου σου (1637, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 3, 94.2) πολὺ ἐχάρηκε καὶ ἐπῆρε θάρρο EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 33.9–10 μίαν ἀπὸ τὰς πρόκριτας | εἰς ἣν ἐθάρρει πλεόν Eisit. f.3r.9–10 εἰς τὰς λ', πρόσεχε πλέο παρὰ πάντων STAFIDAS, Iatrosf. 15.424 ἔλεον θέλει ὁ κύριος πλέον παρὰ θυσία Alfan. II 9 φελοῦκες πλέον παρὰ ἐξήντα (17th c., Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.2, 72.3–4) δὲν θέλω νὰ μ' ἰδῇ πηλιό Soummakis, Past. Fid. D4r.5 (for this form of πλέον/πλιό see 3.8.6.1)

4.2.4.2 Ordinal Numerals

The neuter singular is the normal adverbial form, but plural forms are also found occasionally, e.g. πρῶτα τὸ θεὸ καὶ δεύτερα τῇ πανιερότῃ σου (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.8–9). (See also πρῶτι(ς), 4.2.5 below, which often means “formerly, originally”).

καὶ πρῶτον μὲν ἐλάλησέν με διὰ χειροτονίαν NIKON, Logos 31 810.27 ἀφῆνναι πρῶτον τοῦ αὐθ[έντου] μας τοῦ ρηγός (1476, Cyprus, SAKKELION 1887b: 260.7) πρῶτον μὲν ὅτι εἶχα τὴν, δεύτερον ὅτι ἐντράπη, | τρίτον καὶ περισσότερον ἐχάσε τὴν ἀνδρείαν τῆς Dig. E 1597–8 πρῶτα τοῦ ἔδωκε ὁ βασιλεὺς ... δεύτερον ... τρίτον ... καὶ τέταρτον Chron. Mor. H 2603–7; ἐνταῦτα πρῶτο ἐλάλησεν ὁ ἀφέντης τῆς Καρυταίνου | καὶ δεύτερον ἀπὸ αὐτοῦ ὁ ἀφέντης τῆς Ἀκόβου ibid. 6637–8 εἰ μὴ καὶ πάλιν τέταρτον, εἰ μὴ καὶ πάλιν πέπτον Achil. N 1780 πρῶτον διὰ τὴν φιλαργυρίαν θέλω νὰ σὲ διδάξω DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2465; δεύτερον νὰ σοῦ δηγηθῶ ὡς διὰ τὴν ἀσπλαγχνίαν ibid. 2481
 καὶ δεύτερο ὁ βασιλιός ἀπού 'τονε στὴ Ρώμη | ἕνα σημάδι φοβερό εἶδε P&N Diath. 2126–7

4.2.4.3 Expressions of Time and Speed ἔχω ... καθημερινὸ περιβάρεσες (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 97.18–19) μάλιστα ποὺ παράγγειλεν καθημερινὸν νὰ φέρνω KONDAR., Paidēs 330 νὰ γυρεύγουν καθημερινὸν τὲς ἀφορμὲς Pist. kekoim. 8 τὰ ὁποῖα θαύματα καθημεροῦσιον ἐγινόντησαν Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 11 ἔποικεν ἐγρήγορον, συντόμως Pol. Tr. 657 app. crit. (V) γοργὸν ἂν σὲ οὐκ ἐκβάλουσιν, ἐκεῖ νὰ ἐξεψυχῇς GLYKAS, Stichoi 229 γοργὸν ἄς ἀγοράσουν Ptoch. II 58 ὥσπερ ἐκράτει τὸ χαρτίν, γοργὸν τὸ ἀποτυλίσσει Log. parig. L 94 πολλὰ ἀγαπᾷ καὶ βιάζεται γοργὸν νὰ καταλάβῃς Chron. Mor. H 1805 δράμε γοργὸν εἰς αὐτοὺς Pol. Tr. 564; πολλὰ γοργὸν ἐσπούδαξαν ibid. 2031 καὶ τὸ ἐπεθύμα ἡ Μαξιμού γοργὸν τῆς τὸ ἐποίκα Dig. E 1576 (and 24 other occurrences of γοργόν in this text) αὐτὲς τὲς πρίκες λίγανε, ὅτι γοργὸν θὲς ἔχει FALIEROS, Thrinos 123 γοργὸ γοργὸ ἀπὸ λόγου μου θες δεις τὴν πεθυμιὰ σου CHORTATISIS, Panor. I.400 ἐπήγασι τρέχοντας γοργὸν ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 16.19; γοργὸν νὰ παγαίνης ibid. 26.11 ὕστερον ἐσιάστηκαν Chron. Mor. P 1197 ὅλο ἐγύρευε ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 30.18 καὶ γὰρ βραδύ, παρακαλῶ, πέμψον μικρὰν ἀκτῖναν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1683 ἐχθὲς βραδὺ τοῦ ἔδωκα μιὰν συμβουλὴν μεγάλη KONDAR., Paides 93

μὰ λέγω εἰς τὴν χώρα σου θέλ' εἶσαι αὐριον βράδου MONTSEL., Evgena 1048 τότες ἐσубαστήκασι νὰ τοῦ τὴ δώση βράδου CHORTATIS, Katz. III.100 νὰ ταχίζου ἀργὰ κ(α)ὶ ταχύ ὅσους χριστιανοὺς θέλουν πάγει (1608, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 18, 179.70)

ἔως ταχύ ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 1021; ἀπὸ ταχύ ἔως βραδὺ ibid. 4366

The words ταχύ and βραδύ/βράδου are often substantivized:

τὸ βραδὺ Ptoch. III 183

ἀπὸ τὸ ταχύ ἕως τὸ δειλινόν Diig. Alex. F 250.5–252.1 (Lolos) καὶ τὸ ταχύ καλύτερα τῇ τάσσῃ νὰ χορτάσου CHORTATIS, Katz. III.525 τὸ ταχύ PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §11.11; ὅταν ἐσηκώθησαν ἀπὸ τὸν τράπεζον τὸ βράδου ibid. I §24.23

καὶ τὸ ταχύ νὰ κάμομε τὸ ἄνστασης τὴ σκόλη Thysia Avr. 1134

4.2.4.4 Other Neuter Singular Forms

Occasionally other neuter singular forms may be found functioning as adverbs:

ἔβλεπεν μόνον ἀτενές [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 460; καὶ σύντομον νὰ γυρισθῇ ibid. 1847 καλῶς καὶ λεπτομερές (1490, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 22, 108.8) ὅλα τὰ ξύλα ἐσπούσασιν κ' ἐτζάκιζαν φρικτῶδες Theseid I.53,5 (Follieri)

4.2.5 Adverbs in -ι(ς), -ί(ς)

A number of adverbs are formed with the suffix /is/, which may be stressed or unstressed, according to the derivation: typically, those formed from the stem of an adjective are proparoxytone or paroxytone (e.g. γλήγορις, πρῶτις), while oxytone words derive from nouns or prepositional phrases (e.g. ἀποσπερίς). Forms without final /s/ are also found.⁸ It is difficult to establish which of the two forms is the earlier (see below). For the addition of /s/ to adverbial and other words ending in a vowel, see I, 3.7.1.2.

Here we are primarily concerned with adverbs formed from adjectives, but since the two categories are interconnected, a few comments should be made about adverbs deriving from prepositional phrases. According to CHATZIDAKIS (1934/77: A 255), the phrase κατὰ γῆς undergoes univerbation to become καταγῆς and then serves as the model for new adverbial formations such as καταμεσῆς, μεσουρανῆς. These spatial adverbs are usually spelled -ῆς to indicate this derivation. By contrast, temporal adverbs in /is/ allegedly arise by analogy with ἐνωρίς, which derives from AG ἐν ὥρᾳ, becoming ἐνωρί on the analogy of ἄωρί (“at an untimely hour”), which then acquires final /s/ (see ANDRIOTIS, Lex. s.v. ἐνωρίς for further details and references). Unfortunately ἐνωρίς and νωρίς (with aphaeresis, for which see I, 2.7.1) are poorly attested in MedG, though in the phrase ἀπὸ νωρίς, usually written as one word, the adverb is quite common in EMG, particularly in Cretan literary texts. A form ἄνωρίς also occurs in a Cypriot text.

⁸ Several other adverbs have alternative forms in -ι or -ις, but they will not be discussed specifically here. Examples include αὐρι < αὐριο(ν), σήμερις < σήμερο(ν), τῶρι < τῶρα.

περίτου ἄνωρίς παρὰ ποῦ ἔθελεν Fior, Suppl. 278.3
 κινήσετε νὰ πάμε | ἀπονωρίς νὰ σφάξομε δυο βούγια νὰ τα φάμε CHORTATIS, Panor. V.375–6 στὸ σπῆτι δὲ γυρίζομεν ἀπονωρίς νὰ φάμε; Thysia Avr. 518 σ’ ἔβγαλεν ἔτσι ἀπὸ νωρίς παρὰ φορὰ κιὰμι’ ἄλλη TROILOS, Rodol. II.501 ἀπονωρίς στὴν κλίνη του ἦθετε KORNAROS, Erot. I.775; κι ἀπὸ νωρίς τ’ ἀπόγεμα συντροφιαστὲς κινουῦσι ibid. I.1383; κι ὅπου σπουδάζει τὴ δουλειὰν ἀπονωρίς σκολάζει
ibid. II.1872

However, some other temporal adverbs in -ίς or -ί are quite widely found, e.g. ἀποσπερί(ς), ὀλομερί(ς), ὀλονυκτί(ς). Dating is difficult, but in general the forms in -ί are earlier than those in -ίς. The -ίς ending occurs more frequently from the 15th c. onwards. Of this group, the only one that appears to be formed from an adjective is ὀλημερνίς, which could, in theory, derive from ὀλημερ(ι)νός. However, given the existence of the parallel formations ὀλημερίς and ὀληνυκτίς, the form ὀλημερνίς may be a later development influenced by the alternative adverb ὀλημερ(ι)νῶς. For bibliography and details of the variants found in LMedG and EMG texts, see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ὀλημερίς. We give a few examples:

ὀλημερί τὰ μάρμαρα τοῦ τέμπλου νὰ πριονίζη DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2088 καὶ ὀλημερίς μ’ ἐκράτει Om. Nekt. Vas. 10 ἄν μ’ ἔβανε νὰ μέτρουνα ὀλημερίς τὴν ἄμμο MONTSEL., Evgena 406 ὀλομερίς Diig. Sant. 57.68 ὀλημερνίς ἐδίδασκε P&N Diath. 2802 ὀλημερνίς ἐμάζωνε χόρτ’ ἀπού το λιβάδι CHORTATIS, Panor. II.93; ἐλπίδα κάνει τοῖ γιωργοὺς κι ὀλημερνίς δουλεύγου id., Erof. I.283 ὅσοι καθεύδονται ἄργοι ὀλημερνῆς LANDOS, Geopon. 175.29 ὀλημερνίς ἐσκάφτασι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 211.15 μὰ ὀλημερνίς κι ὀληνυκτίς ἀναπασημὸ δὲν ἔχει KORNAROS, Erot. II.621; ὀλημερνίς νὰ πολεμᾷ
ibid. IV.885

Adverbs in /is/ that derive from adjectives constitute a rather small group of words, of which the most common is πλήρης, also spelled πλήρις. This adjective is often used indeclinably in Koine texts, including papyri (see GIGNAC 1981: 138–9 and n. 6). An adverbial usage (“completely”, “extremely”) is said to be attested in Byzantine chronicles, though it is quite rare (see PSALTES 1913: 160). It is found mainly in LMedG literary texts (see also KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.) μὲ τὸ ραβδῖν τὸν ἔδωκε πλήρης εἰς τὴν μεσίαν Dig. G III.99; κρούει τὸν κατὰ κεφαλῆς πλήρης εἰς τὴν μεσίαν ibid. IV.185 καὶ ἀφότου τὸ ἐκατέβηκεν πλήρης κάτ’ εἰς τὴν ρίζαν Log. parig. L 391 πλήρης κατησχυμένος Dig. E 1600 καὶ βρύσες ὠραιόποτιστες, πλήρης ὠραιωμένες Liv. V 563 ἀπὸ φουσκίνας πάντρεπνου καὶ πλήρης πανευμόρφου Achil. N 777 ἐκεῖ λουτρόν πανεύμορφον, πλήρης χαριτωμένον Velth. 457 πλήρης φαρμακωμένα LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 439

As an alternative to γλήγορα (or γρήγορα) a form in -ι or -ις is found in texts of the 16th and 17th c.

καὶ οἱ γερανοὶ ἀπέταξαν, γλήγορι διαβήκαν AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 59.4
 πού νά ποθάνης γλήγορι καὶ Χάρος νά σὲ πάρῃ AITOLOS, Voev. 313 ἀμμή οἱ πασάδες γλήγορι ἐσηκώσανε τὸν υἱόν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 124.21 γλήγορις σῶσε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1677; γλήγορις καταπάνω τους ἄμε καὶ μὴν ἀργήσης ibid. 2128
 καὶ μποροῦνε νά μπαρκαριστοῦνε γλήγορις (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 508.62–3)

In place of πρῶτα, we find πρῶτι(ς) in (mainly) Cretan texts of the 15th to 17th c.

τὲς μπουμπαρδὲς καὶ ἀρκομπουζὲς σὰν πρῶτι δὲν ἀπόλει ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1852 ὡσὰν τὰ εἶχε καὶ πρῶτι (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 295, 282.11); ὅπου εἶχεν καὶ πρῶτι (ibid. 311, 296–7.29) ὁ ἀβουκάτος τὸν θωρεῖ καὶ πρῶτις λογαριάζει SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 364 νά σέβῃ ἐκεῖνος πρῶτης Defi. Par. 200 εἶπέ μου, τίμιε σταυρέ, ὅπου ἦσουν πρῶτις ξύλον DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 515 φίλε, γιὰ νά ᾗχης τὸ λοιπὸν πρῶτις τὸν Θιὸν γιατρὸ σου FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 287 καὶ εἶχεν καὶ πρῶτις (1603, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 181, 193.21); τὰ πρῶτα ὅπου εἶχεν πρῶτις ἐπαρμένα (1604, ibid. 213, 207.17) ἐξύστερις καὶ πρῶτις P&N Diath. 2497

Finally, the adverb ὀλοτελῶς (from ὀλοτελής) has an alternative form ὀλοτελῖς, again found mainly in texts originating from Crete. (For other alternative adverbial forms see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ολοτελῖς.)

καὶ εἰς τὸ παντὸς ὀλοτελῖς νά τὸν ἐλευθερώσῃ DELLAP. Epit. Thrinos 236 ὀλοτελῖς ἢ Μοῖρα μου μοῦ τὸ ἤθελε ξεφλήσει FALIEROS, Erot. En. 124 νά ξοριστῇ ὀλοτελῖς ἀπὲ τὸν φόβον ποὺ ᾗχε Theseid V.2,6 (1529)

4.2.6 Adverbs in -ου

A number of adverbs in -ου derive from adjectives, as well as from other parts of speech, such as nouns (e.g. ἐγγράφου, κολύμβου). In some cases the origin as a prepositional phrase is clear, e.g. κελεύει ἐπαίρνουν ἀπομπρὸς τὰ ἄνθη διασυντόμου Flor. L 1583; νὰ τοὺς δώσετε διασυντόμου ὄρδινον (1490, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 22, 109.25–6). Note that there is also an adverb διασυντόμως (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.) but the corresponding adjective is not attested. Adverbs deriving from such prepositional phrases will not be discussed here, as they are purely lexical developments.

The two most common adverbs in -ου formed from adjectives have a temporal meaning, e.g. ταχ(υ)τέρου (“in the morning”, “the next day”), ύστέρου (and έξυστέρου; “afterwards”, “later”).⁹ Although both of these are, strictly speaking, comparative forms, they are included here for convenience.

σηκώνου ταχύτερου (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 98) ἀμ’ ἦτον ταχύτερου CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 522; σὰν αὐριον ταχύτερου ibid. 2707 ἐγὼ ἀνθρώπους ἔπεψα ποὺ πᾶνε ταχύτερου Alex. Rim. 913 ταχτέρου πάντα γέρνουντο ὡγιά τὴν προσευκὴ τῆς P&N Diath. 1711; ὅχι πολλὰ ταχτέρου ibid. 4142 (for syncope see I, 2.7.2) ταχύτερου CHORTATIS, Katz. III.19; τὸν εἶδα ταχύτερου ibid. IV.153 καὶ ταχύτερου, ὄντε ξημερώνει, ἅμε ὀμπροστὰς τοῦ βασιλέως VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 42.5–6 νὰ σηκώνομαι νὰ πορπατῶ ταχτέρου TROILOS, Rodol. I.560 ταχτέρου FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.92, V.11 ταχτέρου τὴν Παρασκευὴ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 148.5; Τρίτῃ ταχτέρου ibid. 191.15; κάθε ταχτέρου ibid. 303.1; νὰ πᾶσινε ταῦτέρου ibid. 423.5 (for fricative deletion between vowels see I, 3.6.1.1) συχνιάζουσιν ἀργὰ καὶ ταχύτερου KORNAOS, Erot. I.1124; καὶ τοῦ ρηγὸς ἀπόφασῃ νὰ δώσω ταχύτερου ibid. IV.294 καθὼς ἐφάνη ύστέρου Chron. Toc. 563 νὰ μὴ μετανοήσετε κ’ ύστέρου νὰ θλιβῇτε Alosis 396 καὶ χαίρετᾶτε καὶ ἐμὲν κ’ ύστέρου ἐρωτᾶτε Alex. Rim. 2292 καὶ ύστέρου ἦλθε τὸ φῶς του Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.28; ἀμμή ύστέρου ἐπέσανε ibid. 54.3
 ὡς ἔμαθα έξυστέρου Liv. α 1353 καὶ ἐξ ύστέρου πέφτουσι ’ς μεγάλη γὰρ πενία Alex. Rim. 1796 ξυστέρου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 138.12 (for the aphaeresis see I, 2.7.1); μήτε προτοῦ μήτε ξυστέρου ibid. 327.37; καὶ έξυστέρου τὸ ἔβαλαν ibid. 408.8

4.3 Comparative Forms

The degrees of comparison of adverbs follow a similar pattern to those of adjectives, with both synthetic and analytic formations being in use. The comparative synthetic forms possess the same alternatives as the positive forms, i.e. both singular (-τερο(ν)) and plural (-τερα) neuter forms can be found, as well as forms ending in -ας in one particular case. The analytic forms are essentially the positive degree preceded by one of the adverbs meaning “more”, e.g. πλέον, πλεῖον, πλιά, πλιότερα, πλιότερο(ν) or (in Cypriot texts) περίτου.¹⁰ The relative superlative forms are usually in the singular with the ending -τερο(ν) and preceded by the definite article. They are mainly used in expressions of time or degree, e.g. τὸ γρηγορώτερον “most quickly, as quickly as possible”.

⁹ A less secure example of such a form is ἀμερέμνου (from ἀμέριμνος with vowel assimilation), which has been found only once: ἐτρῶγαν κ’ ἐκοιμούντανε κ’ ἐπίνασι ἀμερέμνου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 182.11. The fact that it rhymes here with Ρεθέμνου makes it suspect.

¹⁰ PIDONIA (1977: 215–16) states that in Cretan dialect texts the comparative and superlative degrees are formed periphrastically, apart from a few common words which used the synthetic types.

4.3.1 Synthetic Comparative and Superlative

The forms in -ως should be regarded as residual; they are limited to formal locutions and mixed- or higher-register texts. Plural forms in -α have a broad geographical and chronological distribution, while singular forms in -ο(ν) are less common and mainly restricted to certain lexical items. The only form with addition of final /s/ that has been located is πρωτύτερας, exclusively in texts of Cretan provenance. For the superlative, only forms in -ο(ν), preceded by the definite article, have been found.

Comparative

- οἱ ἀνωτέρως ρηθέντες πράκτωρες (1223, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 29, 444.11) ταῦτα καλῶς ἐπίστασαι καὶ παρ' ἐμὲ κρείττονως [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2544 καθὼς πλατυτέρως φαίνεται παρὰ ἰνστρουμέντου (1500, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 3, 4.9)
- ἡ κοντώτερα ἢ μακρύτερα Assizes A 49.6 προτήττερα ἐπαρακαλοῦσαν τοὺς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 590.6 ἀγαποῦσιν πρωτύτερα τὸ διάφορός τοὺς παρὰ τὸ ξένον Fior 83.15 γουργότερα FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 504 (for the vowel raising /o/ > /u/ see I, 2.8.3) εἰ δὲν καὶ τὰ ἤθελεν δώσει ἐπρωτύτερα (1541, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 5, 219.11) (for the prothetic vowel see I, 2.6.1) νὰ τὰ κοπιάζουν καλλιότερα (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.25) καὶ ἔτσι εὐκολότερα ἐκυβερνήθησαν (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 451.34) χειρότερα ἀπὸ λαϊκοὺς γυρίζου οἱ παππᾶδες P&N Diath. 48 τί στέκομέστα πλιότερα ...; CHORTATIS, Erof. Interm. II.90 καὶ ἐκεῖ οὐποῦ ἦτονε τεντωμένος ὁ Μπαγιαζίτης πρωτύτερα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 39.3 περιπατοῦσι σπουδαιότερα LANDOS, Geopon. 131.10; δεκαπέντε ἡμέρας πρωτύτερα καὶ ὑστερώτερα ibid. 142.24 μίλησε ξαστερότερα Bertoldos 66.15
- καὶ συντομώτερον ἡμεῖς ἀπομελανωθοῦμεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2035 κάλλιο νὰ ᾔμαι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.17 λοιπὸν προγενέστερον ἂν εἶχε ποιήσῃν τοῦτο SFRANTZIS, Chron. 60.18 ἤξευρε καλύτερον ἀπὸ τοὺς τέσσαρους Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 77.10 πῶς καλοῦνται τουρκικότερον (16th c., Constantinople?, BENEŠEVIĆ 1919: 408.2) πλεότερον δὲν ἤθελεν κάθεται KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 340.4
 ἀξίζει τὸ ἕνα πλειότερον ἀπὸ τὸ ἄλλον (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 2, 81.11) πρωτύτερον γῆ ὑστερότερον (1629, Milos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 14, 11.41) περισσότερον δὲ πόλεμον καὶ θυμὸν ἐσήκωσεν εἰς τὸ σχῆμα τῶν μοναχῶν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 32.28 κάλλιο διορθῶνου τῶρα Charon II 19
- πρωτύτερας P&N Diath. 1032, 1168 τούτ' ἔπρεπε νὰ τα θωρεῖς πρωτύτερας λιγάκι CHORTATIS, Panor. V.201; μαγάρι καὶ πρωτύτερας νὰ ἔθελς μοῦ γρικήσει id., Katz. II.319 ἡ ὁποία πρωτύτερας εὐρίσκετον μαυρισμένη VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.24–5; καθὼς καὶ πρωτύτερας ibid. 38.26
 ἡ Ἀρετὴ κάνει πῶς δὲν κατέχει | πρωτύτερας KORNAROS, Erot. V.1438; ἦρθαν παραπρωτύτερας ρηγόπουλοι μεγάλοι ibid. II.113

Superlative

- καὶ ὁμοιάζουν, τὸ χειρότερον, ὅτι εἶναι μεθυσμένοι, Ptoch. II 93 εἰς ἀγορὰν καὶ τροφὴν ἀλόγων τεσσάρων τὸ ὀλιγώτερον (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 285.1–2) γράψε μου τὸ συντομότερον (1496, Pesaro, MAVROEIDI-POUMIDI 1971: 3, 133.64) τὸ γληγορότερον (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.52) νὰ τοῦ στείλῃς τὸ λιγότερο (ms πολλογότερο) μιὰ εἰκοσαριά σκοῦδα (1584, Italy, ΠΑΠΑΔΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ 1978: 1, 318.11) στὸν Ἄδη τὸ γοργότερο γιὰ νὰ μπορᾶ περάσω CHORTATIS, Erof. I.280 τὸ γληγορότερον (1613, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 3, 310.28) τὸ γληγορώτερον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §30.17 φύγε τὸ γληγορότερο KORNAROS, Erot. III.923

4.3.2 Analytic Comparative and Superlative

Comparative expressions with the plural form of the adverb are quite common, while singular forms occur more rarely. The analytic superlative seems to be very rare: only one occurrence has been found, in the Chronicle of Morea, where adverbs in -ως (κρυφῶς) and -α (σιγαλά) are linked.

ἀλλιῶς καὶ πλιὰ εὐκόλα (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 97.17) γιὰ νὰ κατέχω πλιὰ σωστὰ FALIEROS, Ist. On. 146; καὶ τὰ δικά σου πλιὰ γοργὸ σ' ἐμένα ν' ἀληθέψου ibid. 548 ἐθέλησεν ὁ πάπας νὰ μάθῃ περίτου καθαρὰ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 14.8–9 ὡς γοιὸν ὁ προφήτης ὁ Ἰεζεκιήλ γράφει περίτου πλατιά Fior 73.26–7 δὲν ξεύρω πλεῖο τιμητικά τέτοιαν αἰτία νὰ χύσω DEFAR., Log. did. 494 πλιὰ δυνατὰ τὴν κρούει KORNAROS, Erot. II.2462 τὸ πλεῖον κρυφῶς καὶ σιγαλά ὅπου νὰ ἡμπορέσουν Chron. Mor. H 3851

4.3.3 Double Forms

As with the comparative adjectives, we sometimes find a synthetic comparative form of the adverb preceded, for emphasis, by a word meaning “more”. A reinforced superlative periphrasis can also occur, as in the example below from Rhodes.

ἄς πάγω πλιὸ σιμότερα VEST., Prol. Theot. 284 τὴ Μάλτα πλιὰ εὐκολότερα μποροῦ νὰ πολεμήσου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 182.2; κι ἂπ' ὅλους πλιὰ χειρότερα ibid. 405.19 νὰ τήνε παίζῃ πλιὰ καλλιὰ ποτέ μου ἄλλο δὲν εἶδα Stathis I.124; πλιὰ γληγορότερα ἦφην νὰ βάλου στὸ λαιμό μου | σκοινὶ ibid. III.369–70 πλιὰ γληγορότερα πονῶ KORNAROS, Erot. V.88 διὰ νὰ πᾶσιν τὸ πλιὰ ἐγληγορότερον (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 84.14)

4.3.4 Absolute Superlative

The form is often regarded as a higher-register feature in EMG texts, but in fact it is quite common in the case of certain specific words, e.g. καλότατα, πολλότατα.

ὀλόγυμνοι ἐκοιμούντησαν, γλυκύτατα φιλοῦνται Pol. Tr. 524 app. crit. (BX) νὰ ξουριστῶ, μακρύτατα τοῦ κόσμου Love poems V 340 φανερῶτατα ἀγιτιάζονται καὶ εὐεργετοῦνται Pist. kekoim. 220 συχνότατα CHORTATSI, Panor. III.102; γιατί κ' ἐσὺ πιστότατα πῶς μ' ἀγαπᾷς γνωρίζω id., Erof. III.124; τούτη τὴν ὥρα καθεεῖς γλυκότατα κοιμᾶται id., Katz. I.23; καλότατα ibid.

III.262; κλιτότατα ibid. IV.264 σὲ περνᾷ εὐκολώτατα LANDOS, Geopon. 175.2

καλότατα κατέχω FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.468 ξεύρεις πολλά καλώτατα PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1043

πολλότατα Bertoldin. 147.14

5 Articles, Pronouns and Determiners

5.1 Introduction

In contrast to the definite article, which shows remarkable stability, diachronic developments in the pronominal domain involve a large number of radical changes; these include not simply inflectional changes or changes in the stems of pronouns, but the general restructuring of most pronominal subsystems. As such, they lie between the levels of morphology and syntax. Therefore, the obsolescence of certain pronouns, and the change in function of others, although not strictly morphological issues, are taken into account in the description of the innovative MedG pronominal forms provided in this section. The lack of a vernacular “standard” for such innovative forms imposes no restrictions on the operation of analogy, which produces considerable variation, especially in the Early Modern period.

These developments may be summarized as follows:

- a) Simple changes in inflectional suffixes, in the case of pronouns and determiners that follow adjectival paradigms (mostly the adjectives in -ος, -η, -ο(ν)). Such changes are the addition/deletion of final /n/, the addition of a final vowel /e/, stress movement or lack of it, etc.
- b) Inflectional changes specific to or characteristic of pronouns and determiners: this involves mostly the appearance of extended forms with a final syllable (-νου, -νων etc.), the addition of a final /a/, and the appearance of uninflected pronouns (e.g. όπου, ίντα, τίποτε).
- c) Analogical changes affecting the stem form of pronouns: within the nominal domain, the role of analogy is inevitably stronger in the closed and contrastive classes of the various pronominal subsystems, which, furthermore, display very high frequency. Examples include σύ–έσεϊς, αὐτός–αὐτεῖνος/ἐκεῖνος–ἐκειός, οἶος/ὄγοιος.
- d) Changes in the function of pronouns and the development of new pronouns: the development of new pronouns is comprehensible only within the structure of the overall pronominal subsystem of which they form part. New pronouns derive from other pronouns (e.g. τέτοιος, ποταποῖος), from the grammaticalization of words or phrases (e.g. δικός μου, εἶς), or from univerbations of frequent collocations (e.g. δαῦτος, καθεῖς, κανεῖς, ίντα).

Some developments had already begun during the EMedG period (e.g. πού, ἐμένα), while others first appear in the LMedG period (e.g. κάποιος/όκάποιος, τίντα/ίντα, καθεῖς/καθένας). In other cases, specific pronouns or pronominal variants are innovations datable to the EMG period (e.g. αὐτόνος, ἐδαῦτος, ταδεποῖός). Further particulars concerning diachronic developments in each pronominal system and in the definite and indefinite articles are provided in the introduction to the relevant subsection.

5.2 Articles

5.2.1 The Definite Article

The definite article is diachronically one of the most stable elements of Greek nominal morphology. Most of its forms are identical to those of AG (for which see ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1922, SIHLER 1995: 388–9), allowing for phonological change, and in particular the loss of final /n/ in certain environments (see I, 3.7.2.2). In general, the definite article follows the inflection of adjectives in -ος (see 3.2.1). The principal areas of change are in the plural; some new forms are purely regional, while others have a more widespread distribution. With the possible exception of the fem. nom. pl., these innovations have taken place within the period covered by this Grammar.

The combination of the preposition εἰς/σέ with the definite article to produce forms such as στόν, στήν etc., as in MG, is partly a matter of orthography. These forms are often written as ὃ στόν, etc., both in manuscripts and in older modern editions.

For the relative pronoun τόν, τήν, τό see 5.9.1.2.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	ὁ ἢ οὐ	ἡ	τό ἢ τοῦ
Gen.	τοῦ	τῆς ἢ τοῦ ἢ τοῦ	τοῦ
Acc.	τόν(ν) ἢ τοῦ(ν)	τήν(ν)	τό ἢ τοῦ

Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	οἱ	αἱ ἢ οἱ	τά
Gen.	τῶ(ν) ἢ τοῦ(ν)
Acc.	τούς ἢ τῖς ἢ τσί ἢ τσοῦ	τάς ἢ τές ἢ τῖς ἢ τσί	τά

Singular

Masculine

Nominative

General	Restricted
ὁ	οὐ

Practically no forms other than ὁ occur in the texts examined. However, there is a single 17th-c. attestation of the form οὐ with “raising vocalism” in a document from Skiathos. The example of οὐ cited by KRIARAS, Lex. (ὁ Χάρης καὶ οὐ ἄνθρωπος στέκου καὶ ρεσπουτάρου Charon III 6; the form is not listed in the revised Epitome) is probably a copying/editing error, since this text does not otherwise exhibit features of northern-type “raising vocalism”. The masculine dialectal form ή /i/, which is characteristic of several MG northern dialects (see e.g. SYMEONIDIS 1983), is not attested. For the deletion of the definite article ό in hiatus, e.g. δὲν εἶναι ἐπὰ μετανιωμός κι Ἀφέντης μου τὸ θέλει, Thysia Avr. 653, see I, 2.9.2.2.

- ὁ λόγος ὁ δημῶδης GLYKAS, Stichoi 19 νὰ ἔχη ὁ Δημήτριος (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.58) ὁ θαυμαστός ὁ Κίναμος Dig. E 1602 ὁ Παντουήν ὁ κελεφός MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 18.17 ὁ μακαρίτης ὁ κύρης μου Νικόλας Μαθὰς (1686, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 38, 30.90) οὐγιανακίς οὐ Καζάζης / οὐ Γιαννάκης οὐ Καζάζης (1653, Skiathos, EVANGELIDIS 1913: 66.20)

Genitive

General
τοῦ

The inherited form τοῦ remains stable through the MedG and EMG period. No other forms are attested, apart from occasional post-lexical deletion of the final vowel within phonological phrases (see I, 2.9.2.2).

- τοῦ κυρ Ἀρμούρη ὁ υἱός Arm. 3 τοῦ ἀντρός FALIEROS, Ist. On. 654 τ' ἀγοραστῇ (1598, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 158, 284.23) μέρος τω βυζιώ και κάτω τ' αστραγάλου CHORTATIS, Panor. I.425 ἐνοῦς τ' ἄλλου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 221.24

Accusative

General	Restricted
τό(ν)	τού(ν)

For the variation in the realization of final /n/ see I, 3.7.2.2. The form τούν with northern “raising vocalism” is attested very rarely, only since the 17th c. in texts of Macedonian origin. Rare instances of apparent addition of final /e/, e.g. οὐδεκὰν τόνε λάκκον εὐρήκασι MOREZINOS, Klini 83.36, should rather be interpreted as instances of vowel prothesis on the noun (see I, 2.6.1).

- φύλαττε τὸ γράφοντα (10th/11th c.?, Tinos, FEISSEL 1980: 5, 485.1) εἰς τὸν βεστιάρην μου (1140, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IV: 2, 117.12) τὸν φονέαν Chron. Toc. 250 τὸν Ἑρωταν Achil. N 2 τὸ μύλον του (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 5, 27.4) ἐδῶσαμε τοῦ φόρνο (1644–5, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 4, 47.1) γὰ τοῦ κουπάρου μου τοὺν ὕγιόν (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 10, 78.8) ἡγόρασιν ἓνα καματιρὸ ἀποὺ τοὺν Γιώργη (1711, Skiathos, KARAVIDAS 2004: 1, 248.3)

Feminine

Nominative

General
ἡ

The form ἡ is the the main variant throughout the MedG and EMG period. As a hiatus resolution phenomenon, an epenthetic [j] may appear after the definite article ἡ mostly in texts from Crete and the Cyclades, e.g. ἡ γιάρχοντισσά μου (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 49.43) (see I, 3.5.2.1). The epenthetic [j] may appear, more rarely, before the definite article, e.g. γιAιμίλια γιάμαζόνα Theseid Prol. E 158; μιλεῖ γή γραφή τως (1575, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 134, 254.3).

In a text of Pontic provenance, a form ἐ is found once: ε δοῦληα / ἐ δουλεία (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.3), corroborated by the acc. sg. τὲν βούλαν a few lines below (ibid. 169.12). Considering that in the modern Pontic dialect the feminine form of the article is ἡ as in standard Greek, despite the fact that Pontic in general displays retention of the AG pronunciation of <η> as [e] (see I, 2.5.2), this isolated instance can be interpreted in two ways. A plausible analysis would be that Pontic displayed archaic retention in this morphological environment in the MedG period, only to lose it in later times under the influence of “standard” Greek (MANOLESSOU/PANDELIDIS 2011: 266–7, cf. also PAPADOPOULOS 1941a: 175); an argument in favour of this interpretation is the existence of EMedG inscriptional evidence from Pontos showing ἐ as the feminine article form, e.g. ἐ δούλε τοῦ Θεοῦ Γεγορία (MITFORD 1991: 35, 228). Alternatively, the Crimean forms ἐ/τὲν could be dissociated from the phenomenon of the archaic pronunciation of <η> and interpreted as the result of hypercorrection of northern “raising vocalism” which characterizes the Pontic dialect of the Crimea (HENRICH 1996b: 182). Examples of ἡ:

ἡ Συναγρίδα καὶ ἡ Λαβρακότουρνα Opsarol. 11–12

ἡ ἐξαίρετος ἡ κόρη Achil. N 1037

ἡ διαθήκη ἡ πρώτη (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.25)

ἡ Ἀντρεοῦ ἡ Φουκοῦ (1547, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: I, 70.2–3) κ' ἐγὼ ἡ νουνά της (1683, Leros, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 37, 29.18)

Genitive

General	Restricted	Rare
τῆς	τσῆ	τσῆς

The normal form remains τῆς throughout the LMedG and EMG periods. The form τσῆ, which may be reduced to τσ' before vowels (alternatively written as τς, while older texts normally have τζῆ/τζ'), appears in Cretan texts from the late 15th c. onwards, and rapidly

The form τσῆς, characteristic of the modern Heptanesian dialects (ALEXAKIS 2005: 24), appears very rarely in texts from the Heptanese and Crete. It is absent from the notarial corpus of Corfu (cf. KARANTZOLA/LAVIDAS 2016: 141).

Μάρκο τῆς Ἐφέσου (1644, Crete, ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑΤΙΣ 1990: 478.119)

 $\tau_h(v)$

τὴν ἀγλάδα (1152, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1994: 56, 80.188) εἰς τὴ Λακκοδαίμονίαν Chron. Mor. H 6688 τὴ βιβλὸν ταύτην (15th c., Unknown, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 2080, f.264v.1)

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General	Restricted
τό	τού

The regular form is τό throughout the LMedG and EMG periods. The form τού with northern “raising vocalism” appears in texts from Macedonia and the North Aegean from the 15th c. onwards. A few instances of τού have also been located in 12th-c. documents from S. Italy and Sicily, where raising phenomena of a different nature are attested (see I, 2.5.4). As a hypercorrection, an intrusive final /n/ may appear in non-literary documents, e.g. εἰστον χειριτουλουκ(α) / εἰς τὸν χέρι τοῦ Λουκᾶ (1468, Nicosia, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 48, 26.5).

- τὸ ἀνάβα GLYKAS, Stichoi 363 τὸ μερίδιν της (14th c.?, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1994: 1, 286.24–5) τὸ κριάς Assizes A 204.7
τὸ γένι σου Spanos A 66

τ’ ἀνάθεμαν (1027, Sparta, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 43, 301.37) Ὅλυμπιάδος τ’ ὄνομα Alex. Rim. 96 τ’ ἄλλον CHORTATSI, Erof. II.155 τ’ ἄρνι Thysia Avr. 600 τ’ ἄλῶνι (1622, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: VI, 73.6) τοῦ ρουάκι (1034, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 29, 34.24); τοῦ πλήρουμα (1101, ibid. 69, 87.7) τοῦ ἀνάθεμα (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 9, 523.14) εἰς τοῦ Πρωτάτου (1493–4, Athos, OIKONOMIDÈS 1968: 36, 179.12) κατὰ τοῦ ἔτους ζριςῶ (1607–8, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 17, 78.1); με τοῦ δεῖπνους τοῦ μυστικοῦ (1628–9, ibid. 1, 42.11); τοῦ Κοσμᾶ τοῦ ἀμπάρ(ι) (ibid. 1, 43.29); τοῦ σπῖτι (ibid.

1, 43.32);
μι του ἴδιον μο θέλιμα / μι τοῦ ἴδιον μο θέλημα (1653, Skiathos, EVANGELIDIS 1913: 67.2) τοῦ ροῦχου νὰ μι ἀπλώνει (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 6, f.43r.14) πάγου εἰς τοῦ Τουρράτζου (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 51.25); τὸ θικό μας τοῦ βιλαέτι (1697, ibid. 2, 52.23) εἰς τοῦ κάστρου τῆς Μυτιλήνης (1713, Lesvos?, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1884: 7, 27.2)

Genitive

General
τοῦ

The inherited form τοῦ remains stable throughout the MedG and EMG period. Prevocalic deletion of /u/ occurs mainly in verse texts.

τοῦ καστελλακίου (1141, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 5, 300.20) τοῦ γραμμάτου (1513, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 37, 64.39) τοῦ πλήθους Defi. Par. 11

τ' αλαφιού μοιάζω CHORTATIS, Panor. II.147 τ' ἀλόγου KORNAROS, Erot. III.66; μέ τ' ὄνειρου τῇ ζάλη ibid. IV.76

Plural

Masculine

Nominative

General
οἱ

The form οἱ is the main variant throughout the MedG and EMG period. As a hiatus resolution phenomenon, an epenthetic [j] may appear before or after the definite article οἱ in texts from Crete, the Cyclades and Cyprus, e.g. καὶ γ-οἱ ἰδ' ἐπισκόποι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 52.19; γοῖ φταῖφτις (1514, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 115, 227.31); ἰ γιᾶδεφρί τζι / οἱ γιᾶδεφροί τση (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 849, 740.11).

οἱ κλέπτες (1133, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 113, 151.7) οἱ ἀγοῦροι Dig. E 515 οἱ καλογέροι (1586, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 30, 171.5) οἱ γειτόνοι (1696, Nauplion, DOKOS 1971/74: 22, 56.2)

Genitive

General	Restricted
τῶ(ν)	τοῦ(ν)

The regular form of the gen. pl. is τῶν throughout the LMedG and EMG period. Deletion of final /n/ in this form is geographically restricted, as it is prevalent only in the following areas: Crete, Cyclades, Cythera, Mani. Nevertheless, it may appear in all areas, even those where retention of final /n/ is the norm, such as Cyprus, e.g. το τριακοσίον θεοφόρο πατέρω / τῶ τριακοσίων θεοφόρῳ πατέρω (1534, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 18, 232.10). In many cases the final /n/, although deleted, is understood through the voicing of the following voiceless stop, e.g. τῶ παπάδω is probably pronounced [tobapaðo] (see I, 3.8.3.2 and 3.6.2.1).

The variant τοῦ (and probably also τοῦν, though no masc. example has yet been found) occurs in texts from the Peloponnese and Cythera as well as from Ithaca. It is probably to be explained not as the result of vowel raising, but rather as analogical influence from the masc. and neut. sg. form τοῦ and the acc. pl. τούς (KOUKOULES 1908: 175; PERNOT 1907/46: II 55). However, it must be noted that, at least in Mani, vowel raising cannot be excluded, in view of the fact that the change /o/ > /u/ is widespread in the modern dialect (BASEA-BEZANDAKOU 2005: 284). In Cyprus, the gen. pl. form τῶν is often replaced by the acc. pl. form τούς, as a regular feature of the Cypriot dialect affecting masc.

noun classes in general, as well as the agreeing modifiers. For the phenomenon see 1.2. The same replacement is attested once in an inscription from the Crimea: τὰ σημάδια τῖς Γενουβέσους (15th c., Crimea, LATYSHEV 1896: 42, 46.1), in which, for the article form, one may assume a phonetic evolution τοὺς > τ'ς (with high vowel deletion) > τῖς (with epenthetic vowel).

- ἐκ τῶν ἐμῶν δουλευτάδων (1099, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: App. 1, 644.1)
 τῶν Δουκάδων Dig. G IV.43 τῶν καδῆδων (15th c., Rhodes, MINAS 2012: 18, 414.52) περὶ τῶν κακῶν χριστιανῶν Assizes B 252.16 τὰ κομπώματα τῶν ἀνθρώπων Fior 86.2 τῶν ἄλλων μακελλαρῶν (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 17, 16.7) τῶν σκλάβωνε (1617, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970b: 3, 232.15)
- τῷ σκυλῶν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2023 τῷ γονέω μας (1501, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 5, 27.29) τῷ γεννητόρῳ μας γονέων (1556, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 146, 116.15) τῷ Κρητικῷ (1580, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 139, 260.11) εἰς τὸ μετόχι τῷ Σαχλίκῳ (1618, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 4, 354.3) τῷ τιμίῳ μαρτύρῳ (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 6, 32.2) πλουσιῶ, φτωχῷ καὶ ἀνήμπορῳ, τῷ δούλῳ καὶ ἀφεντάδῳ, FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 36 τῷ Ματριτέῳ (1666, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: IX, 75.5); τῷ κουνάδῳ μου (1680, ibid. XIV, 77.6) τῷ μαθητάδωνε (1667, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 3, 146.21) ποτὲ τῷ καιρῶνε (1670, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1981: 1, 285.17) τῷ μαστόρῳ (1672, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 48, 46.9–10) τῷ μικρῶν ἀνθρώπῳ KORNAROS, Erot. IV.530
- τοῦ δύο, Λέο καὶ Λέο (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 15, 13.10) τοῦ ἀγοραστάδωνε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 27, 47.17); τοῦ Καταποδαίωνε (1640, ibid. 179, 153.10); τὸ κόρσο τοῦ Τούρκωνε (1644, ibid. 288, 227.23–4) τοῦ Γιαννικακαίωνε (1653, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 215, 187.61) τοῦ Τζουτιμαίων (1683, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 95, 322.5) γραφὴ τοῦ Πιλαρδαίωνε (1695, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 362.2)
- τὰ παιδιὰ ἐκείνους τοὺς ἀνθρώπους (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 228.74) ἐκείνου καὶ τοῦ<ς> κληρονόμους του (1484, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 20, 232.7) εἰς τὴν γῆν τοὺς Σαρακηνοὺς Assizes B 424.9
 τὸ ἰγλαμπρότατον γένος τοὺς Καντακοζηνοὺς (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 70, f.Iv.11–12) τοὺς ἄλλους β' σταυροὺς τοὺς ληστές MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.15–16 εἰς τες αὐλάδες τοὺς ἀφέντες VOUSTR., Chron. A 14.14 τὸ φυσικὸν τοὺς θεοὺς Fior 78.31–2 τὰ ἀμάχια τοὺς ἐγγυτάδες Assizes A 8.26 τὸ μερτικὸν τοὺς πτωχοὺς Pist. kekoim. 496–7 τὸ μαναστήρι τοὺς Ἀγίους Ἀποστόλους (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 2, 7.3–4)

Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
τούς	τίς ἰ τοί	τσού

Two new forms are found in addition to τοὺς, which remains the standard variant: τίς and τοί, which both may be reduced to τσ' (τς) before a vowel.

The origin of τίς as a masculine accusative plural form is discussed by PSICHARI (1886: 138) and PERNOT (1907/46: I 315–16 and II 52), who claim that it does not represent an extension of the feminine form (otherwise one should also find τὰς ἄντρες and τὲς ἄντρες, and not only τίς ἄντρες as is always the case), but is rather due to an analogy with the /i/ vowel of the nom. pl. An alternative, phonological, explanation is proposed by MÉNDEZ DOSUNA (1995: 80), according to whom the evolution /tus/ > /tis/ is due to deletion of unstressed /u/ and epenthesis of /i/. In some cases, such as the few instances from Northern Greece, this is most certainly the case (see also I, 2.6.2). From a chronological viewpoint, however, the τίς form appears rather earlier than the τς/τοί forms (see below), unless one were to consider it, in some cases at least, as a simple graphematic expression of τς. Furthermore, the appearance of masc. τίς as a definite article should be connected to the appearance of masc. τίς as a pronominal clitic form, which also appears in the 15th c., i.e. before the corresponding clitic forms τς/τοί. It must also be noted that the forms τοὺς and τίς may co-occur in the same text, and the same is true of the forms τοί/τσ' and τοὺς (e.g. τοί παπαινοὺς δὲ λεημονῶ, τοὺς ἄγριους δὲ φοβοῦμαι CHORTATIS, Erof. Prol. 80). However, this is very rarely, if ever, true of the forms τίς and τοί, which may be an indication that they could be alternative graphematic realizations of the same phonetic form.

The masculine form τίς was a regional feature of the Cyclades and some parts of mainland Greece in the EMG period. The same is true for Chios, since the form appears in documents and literary works from the area, and is also mentioned by the Grammar of Germano, with the observation that it is a regional form not in general use. Examples of τίς are found in 15th- to 17th-c. texts from Crete, Cythera, the Cyclades (Andros, Santorini, Mykonos, Sifnos, Syros, Kimolos, Sikinos, Naxos), Mani, Ikaria, Leros, Patmos, Chios.¹ The form τίς (written τοῖς) is listed in the Grammar of Romanos, as well as that of Germano: οἱ παπάδες, τῶν παπάδων, τοῖς παπάδες, ὧ παπάδες ROMANOS, Grammar 1.18–19; τοῖς ἀνθρώπους GERMANO, Grammar 57.16.

The form τοί derives from deletion (syncope) of a weak vowel between /t/ and /s/ in proclitic words, followed by secondary anaptyxis of a euphonic /i/ (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 575–6 and 1915: 460; MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 1995: 80–1). It is attested mostly in Crete, from the 15th c. onwards; a few later examples from Syros, Naxos and Cythera have also been found. The form is prevalent in Cretan texts from the 16th c. onwards, but is absent from early authors of Cretan literature such as Sachlikis, Dellaportas and Bergadis. The variant τσ' occurs only before a vowel. The choice between τοὺς and τοί/τσ' in Cretan texts is mostly an issue of register or conscious preference for, or avoidance of, dialectal features.² In verse texts, metrical factors may also be involved.

¹ The modern distribution of this form includes areas such as Eastern Thrace, Imbros, Bithynia, Rhodes, Samos, Paros, Serifos (LENDARI/MANOLESSOU 2003: 396), but no EMG attestations from these areas have yet been located.

² Some texts present variation, biased in favour of τοί/τσ' (e.g. Erotokritos, Erofili, Panoria, Fortounatos, Thysia, notarial documents by Manolis Varouchas), others display a preference for τοὺς (Bounialis's Kritikos Polemos, Stathis), while in a number of texts τοί/τσ' is completely absent (e.g. notarial documents by Olokalos, Grigoropoulos, and texts such as those of Morezinos, Pikatoros, Landos, and the Thrinis Theotokou); see also the statistics in KARANTZOLA/CHALVATZIDAKI 2014: 697.

The form τσοῦ is a feature of modern Heptanesian dialects (KONDOSOPOULOS ³2001: 68). The sole example so far encountered in our texts is τζουφελοῦς / τσοῦ φελούς CHORTATIS, Katz. I.249 app. crit. (the scribe of the ms is from Kefalonia). The form is to be interpreted similarly to τσί, i.e. as deletion of unstressed /u/ followed by anaptyxis of /u/ (MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 1995: 86).

τοὺς δύο μεγάλους δρύας (1090–4, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 45, 161–162.17)

τοὺς ἄρχοντας ἐλάλει Arm. 21 τοὺς γονίους μας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.7

μὲ τοὺς δουλευτάδες μου (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 84.11) ἀπὸ τοὺς γονέους του (1582, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 27, 167.5) στοὺς ὀχθροὺς Zinon Prol. 47

tis dhillicus / τὶς θηλικούς (15th c., Crete?, KAKOULIDI 1958/59: 120.4–5) διὰ τὶς κληρονόμους του (1514, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 115, 227.1) φανερὰ στὶς πάντας Byz. Il. 117 app. crit.

στὶς Καλογέρους (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 17, 59.3) νὰ μαντινιέρου τὶς λεγόμενους ἀγοραστάδες (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 53.25)

τὶς ἄνω εἰρημένους κρουσεμένους (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 177, 177.11)

στὶς ἀξιόπιστους καὶ παρακαλετοὺς μαρτύρους (1544, Santorini, FOSKOLOS 2012: Δ', 139.)

ποῖος νὰ τύχει ἀπὸ τὶς δύο διαλεκτεῖ Apoll. Rim. E 614 τὶς Φράγκους (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 218.18); διὰ τὶς τρεῖς κριούς (1565, ibid. 277, 381.5)

τὶς πρώτους (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 5, 261.22)

μὲ τὶς καλογέρους (1576, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 19, 150.2–3)

τὶς παλαιούς VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 245 τὶς γονέους του (1617, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 16, 320.24) τούτους τὶς τρεῖς λόγους σοῦ πέπω (1637, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 3, 95.11)

τὶς τόπους (1647, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 16, 88.11)

τὶς γερόντοι (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 19.13)

πάγει μὲ τὶς Τούρκους (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32.48–9) εἰς τὶς μύλους (1664, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1991: 1, 82.23)

ἀπὸ τὶς μαγατζέδες (1665, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 10, 419.5)

τοὺς τόπους τὶς τούρκικους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 67.5

τοῦ οὐρανοῦ τὶς πλανήτας Diig. Alex. F 108.20 (Lolos) τὶς Νιῶτες (1673, Sikinos, ZERLENDIS 1913a: 140.20)

ἔ<μ>προστε τὶς κάτωθεν μαρτύρους (1678, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 63, 53.2–3) τὶς κόπους (1680, Naxos, SIFONIU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 38, 188.17)

τὶς συγγενεῖς μας (1683, Leros, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 37, 29.26)

μὲ τὶς Γιαννιώτις (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 66.28)

τὶς θόλους (1700, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 35, 28.34)

τὶς πρόσιμους (1731, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 18, 38.83–84) μὰ χαρίζουσιν του τσί δύο (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 46–48.29) ποῖος νὰ τύχει, ἀπὸ τσι δύο νὰ διαλεκτεῖ Apoll. Rim. N 614 μὲ τσί μόδους (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 50.27) τσὶ δέκα χρόνους (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 23.16)

τσὶ καημούς μου Vosk. 95

τσὶ κόπους CHORTATIS, Katz. I.140

τσὶ πτωχοὺς (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 147.39) τσὶ ἐδικούς (1615, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 15, 319.30)

- τσί παπάδες (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 49.63) τσί μαρτύρους (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 183.120) πρὸς τσί φίλους τοὺς γκαρδιακοὺς Trag. Ag. Dim. I.71 τς' ἀσπάλαθους Rim. kor. A 23 μέ τσ' ἀγρουλίδους (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 34, 53.9) τς ἀπόκοτους καὶ τοὺς ἀνεργισμένους FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 19 εἰς τσ' ὀρανοὺς Thysia Avr. 28 τσ' ὀχθροὺς τως Zinon Prol. 87 τς ἄνδρε μας Pist. voskos II 1.169 στοσ' ὀρισμούς Trag. Ag. Dim. I.38 τσοὺ φελούς CHORTATISIS, Katz. I.249 app. crit.

Feminine

Nominative

General	Restricted
οἱ	αἱ

The AG fem. nom. pl. αἱ began to be replaced by οἱ in Late Antiquity or the EMedG period. There are sporadic examples of such a usage in papyri (DIETERICH 1898: 152–3; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 10, 310; MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 1995: 79, 84; curiously the phenomenon is not mentioned in GIGNAC 1981: 173). Feminine οἱ is absent from EMedG texts such as chronicles (PSALTES 1913: 139), and from the earliest LMedG literary texts such as Glykas and Ptochoprodromos. Psycharis went so far as to reject the few papyrological examples and to consider MedG οἱ as an independent evolution which must be dated to the 13th c. (PSICHARI 1886: 64). However, the very wide distribution of the form, throughout all Greek-speaking areas, speaks against a late evolution. Furthermore, a relatively early instance is to be found in a 10th-c. inscription from Cappadocia: ἰ πυλῆς / οἱ πυλῆς (DE JERPHANION 1925/42: I 376).

Feminine οἱ is mostly viewed as the effect of morphological change: either as the analogical spread of the masc. nom. pl. to the feminine (PSICHARI 1886: 34–85; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 10–11; BROWNING ²1983: 60–1) or as an analogical influence of the /i/ vowel of the singular ἡ-τῆς-τὴν spreading to the plural (JANNARIS 1897: 159; PERNOT 1907/46: II 48). It has also been suggested that the phenomenon is phonetic in origin, caused by the tendency for synizesis of unstressed αἱ /e/ before a vowel (MEYER 1889: 114–15; MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 1995, adopted in HORROCKS ²2010: 289), although such drastic influence of synizesis on MedG morphology is unlikely at such an early date (see I, 2.9.4).

For the LMedG period, the earliest examples located date from the 11th to 13th c.:

- οἱ Σκάφες (ca. 1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 185.330) οἱ νηστεῖες ταῦτες NIKON, Logos 4 214.1
 οἱ μὲν ἡμισίες (1138?, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 14, 102.25) ὅπου ὑπάρχει [sic] οἱ ἀγριοσυκίες (1139, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1968: App. I, 52.16) οἱ προειρημέναι (1265–6, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 22, 168.15)

There are numerous examples in early vernacular literary texts, preserved in mss from the late 14th c. onwards:

οἱ συμφωνίες Chron. Mor. H
 ὅλες οἱ συγγενίδες Liv. V 3059
 οἱ ἄγιες ἐκκλησίαις Assizes B 280.2
 οἱ ἀρχόντισσες καὶ οἱ ξαθῆς κουρτέσες Diig. tetr. 927 c app. crit. (C) ὤρμησαν οἱ τρεῖς εὐθύς γὰρ ERMON., Ilias 1.253 οἱ τραχηλές Velis. χ 243.
 οἱ ρύμνες Pol. Tr. 1246 app. crit. (BV) οἱ δουλεῖγες (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.6) οἱ φοῦστες (1481, Rhodes?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 2, 205.30) οἱ τέντες τους Achil. N 424 οἱ τέντες, οἱ παραταγές, οἱ παρρησιές, οἱ δόξες Byz. Il. 488 οἱ ἄλλες (1506, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: 1, 224.19) οἱ καθέδρες του Def. Par. 242 οἱ ἄπιστες, οἱ δολερές DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2074 οἱ σάρκες οἱ λευκές καὶ οἱ εὐμορφοσύνες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 56 οἱ τέσσαρες ζωτικαῖς δυνάμεις DAM. STOD., This., Logos 2, α6ν.30–1 οἱ μέρες / ἡμέρες οἱ δεκαπέντε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 1, 80.2) οἱ γραφές (16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.29) οἱ ὁμολογίες (1672, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 70, 319.5) οἱ στράτες (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 4, 5.1) οἱ Ἀπόκριες (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 303, f.1r.8)

The earlier form αἱ remains available either as a marker of higher register or simply as a formal writing convention. The Grammar of Sofianos admits only οἱ (SOFIANOS, Grammar 37.21), but as late as Germano and Portius both variants are given as available options: αἱ, & ἡ, le. GERMANO, Grammar 57.7; αἱ vel ἡ PORTIUS, Grammar 14.23.

αἱ πράξεις σου αἱ θαυμαστές SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 6 ἔναι αἱ ἐσοδεῖς (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 172.28) αἱ ἡμέρες του θέλουν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 393.37 αἱ ἔξοδες οἱ ἐδικές σου (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 26, 31.21) αἱ ἱστορίαι αἱ παλαιαί (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.2–3) οἱ δουλεύτριαι αἱ δικαί σου Vios Aisop. K 160.26–7

Genitive

General	Restricted
τῶ(ν)	τοῦ(ν)

The regular form of the gen. pl. is τῶν throughout the LMedG and EMG period. Deletion of final /n/ in this slot of the paradigm is geographically restricted; for its distribution see masculine above. The variant τοῦ(ν) for the feminine has so far been located only in Ithaca. Examples:

τῶν καλογραίων (1140, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IV: 2, 117.3)
 τῶν φονικῶν κρίσεων Chron. Mor. H 2015
 ἀπὲ τὰς πάπιας ... τῶν παπίων Assizes B 492.23

τῶν κοπελούδων (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 102.19) τῶν βρύσων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.25 τῶν θυγατερῶν (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 136.112) τῶν τριῶν του νυφάδω (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 257, 355.12) τῶν ἑορτάδων καὶ σαρακοστάδων (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 59.32) καμιά τῶν γυναικῶν MONTESEL., Evgena 1512 τῶ μερίδω (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 9 [Θ'], 241.6) τῶ βοσκοπούλῳ CHORTATIS, Panor. III.481 ὁλωνῶ τῶ γυναικῶ (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 39.66) τῶν δέκα κολόνῳ τῶ μεγάλῳ (1639, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 6, 273.38) τῶ [Με]γάλῳ Πιτρῶ (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 26, 173.7)

τοῦ θυατερῶνε μου (1639, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 139, 125.19) (for deletion of intervocalic /y/ see I, 3.6.1.1)

Accusative

General	Restricted
τάς ἰ τές	τίς ἰ τοί

The inherited AG form is τάς, which was replaced by τές and later τίς. The form is retained throughout LMedG and EMG as a marker of high register; it cannot be excluded, however, that in some areas it remained the only available vernacular form, as is e.g. the case in some local sub-varieties of the modern dialects of Chios and Ikaria (as reported by CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 381 and PERNOT 1907/46: II 49–50).

μίαν ἀπὸ τὰς πρόκριτας Eisit. f.3r.9–10 τὰς σὰς λαμπράς εὐεργεσίας Ptoch. I 1–3 τὰς ἐκκλησίας των νὰ τὰς ἔχουν (1453, Constantinople, DALLEGIO D'ALESSIO 1939: 118.37) στὰς δεκάξι τοῦ αὐτοῦ μηνός (1479, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 6, 89.3) τας δούληγες/ τὰς δουλεῖγες (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.4) ἄπτει τὰς εἰκόνας Pist. kekoim. 410 ἐχάνουνταν εἰς τὰς ἐρήμους VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 32.34 οἵτινες κροῦσιν τὰς σπαθές PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 361 app. crit. (C) εἰς τὰς Ἀπιδές (1681, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 70, 58.13) στὰς ιγ', Αὐγουστος μήνας EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 17.2
 τας υποσχέσεις του αγά του Don Kis. 47.30–1

The form τές exists throughout the LMedG and EMG periods. It is explained as a generalization of the nominal ending -ες, which had begun to serve for both nominative and accusative feminine nouns since the Koine period (JANNARIS 1897: 159, CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 571–3, TONNET 2003: 172–3, MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 1995: 78–9). Of course, it is also phonologically identical to the dative form τᾱῖς; confusion between the functions of the dative and the accusative may be a contributory factor (it is normally spelled τᾱῖς in mss, early printed editions, and 19th-c. editions).

The form τές is first recorded at the end of the 11th c. in documents from S. Italy, which provide frequent attestations of this form throughout the LMedG period. In other areas it surfaces sporadically in the 14th c., but it seems to have become prevalent in vernacular texts from the 15th c. onwards, without geographical restriction. It appears frequently in the Chronicle of Morea (160 times in ms H and 139 in ms P, according to AERTS/HOKWERDA 2002) and must thus have been quite well established in the 14th c. Most 15th-c. texts, however, show τὰς and τές in co-occurrence. The form τές is retained up to the late EMG period, competing at a later stage with τῖς, frequently within the same text. The presence of τές in many MG dialects (e.g. S. Italy, Cyprus, Silli) shows that it was never completely abandoned. For Sofianos, τές (written ταῖς) is the only available variant (SOFIANOS, Grammar 37.22), while Germano comments that although in Chios τῖς is prevalent, there are many areas which still use τές preferentially: “Et si come nel Nominatiuo plur. è più frequente ἡ, che αἱ, nel Feminino, così più si dice nell’Accusatiuo plurale dell’ istesso genere τῆς, che ταῖς, τῆς χαραῖς, le allegrezze: altri Greci dicono meglio ταῖς” (GERMANO, Grammar 57.17–20).

- τὲς ἀρίες (1094, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 4, 390.5); εἰς τὲς τρεῖς ἀππιδίες (1096, ibid. Coll. V: 1, 290.14) τὲς συκίες (1108–9, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 29, 135.27) τὲς ἐλές (1197–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 42, 217.8) ἀπὸ τὲς ἀμυγδαλές (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 42.186) τὲς ἡμέτερες ἐλαῖες (1272, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 326, 484.1) τὲς ἐλές (1327–8, Peloponnese, VRANOUSI 1981: B, 26.9) τὲς τέσσαρες γωνίες Ptoch. III 99 app. crit. (P); ἐδίωχες τὲς κουροῦνες Ptoch. IV 78 app. crit. (P) ἐχαλάσαμεν τὲς ἐκκλησίες (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.28) μὲ τὲς πόρτες (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 148.39) τὲς καλές καὶ εὐκαριστημένες (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 467.2) τὲς παροῦσες (1447, Corfu, EFSTRATIADIS 1925: 50.6–7) πρῶτα νὰ κροῦν τὲς σφονδυλές Arm. 60 ἀπὸ τὲς βίγλες (1468, Nicosia, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 48, 26.6–7) τὲς ὄρνιθες Assizes B 488.8
 τὲς περιοχὲς τῆς θαλάσσου (1481, Rhodes?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 2, 204.24) τὲς δύο κάμαρες (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 9, 154.4–5) τὲς πραγματεῖες τοὺς (1482, Adrianople, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 22, 317.6) τὲς τρεῖς τοὺς ἀδελφάδες (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 70, f.Iv.16) εἰς τὲς ἀρχές τοῦ πόνου FALIEROS, Thrinis 37 εἰς ὅλες τὲς ὁμορφες (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.22) ἔκρουγεν τὲς ὥρες (1513, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: (a), 222.5) εἰς τὲς κουμαριές (1518, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 389.7) τὲς δύο Φώκιες (16th c., Lesbos?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 70.III, 27.1) τὲς ζάλες (1601, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 31, 111.7) εἰς τὲς Μουριγγιές (1615, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 1, 310.2) μὲ τὲς μурές (1634, Laconia, Simopoulos 1966: 149.3) τὲς βρισές PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §4.13 τὲς δὲ συκίες (1656, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 6, 164.28) εἰς τὲς γκρεμισμένες ἐκκλησίες IER. AVVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 337.5 εἰς τὲς ἄλλες δύο ἐκκλησίες (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 71.4) ὁποῦ ἔκλεψε τὲς γαδάρες<ς> τοῦ Γεώργη (1691, Ikaria/Chios?, TSELIKAS 2000: 81, 64.7) τὲς καμπάνες (1693, Nauplion, TSELENDI 1978: 5, 241.11)

The variant τῖς derives from an analogy with the nominative plural, i.e. sg. ὁ-τόν, ἡ-τήν, pl. οἱ-τίς (MEYER 1889: 116; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 575; TONNET 22003: 174). This implies that the change $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma > \tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma$ post-dates the change of the feminine nom. pl. $\acute{\alpha}\acute{\iota} > \acute{\omicron}\acute{\iota}$, as indeed the evidence indicates, but $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma$ and $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma$ co-exist (and are found side by side in the same texts) for several centuries. PSICHARI (1886: 147–8) and PERNOT (1907/46: II 51), on the other hand, believe that the /i/ could also be the result of some sort of vowel weakening, i.e. a phonological and not an analogical change, due to the proclitic nature of the article. The form $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma$ is not attested in EMedG. In the LMedG sources, apart from a single, dubious 12th-c. attestation from S. Italy: $\tau\eta\varsigma \beta\rho\acute{\iota}\kappa\epsilon\varsigma$ / $\ddot{\tau}\acute{\iota}\varsigma \beta\rho\acute{\iota}\kappa\epsilon\varsigma\ddot{\tau}$ (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 9, 523.9), $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma$ first appears in the early 15th c., without geographical restrictions.

- $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \epsilon\upsilon\chi\acute{\alpha}\varsigma$ (1417, Crete, LAMBROS 1895: 1, 586.32)
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \acute{\epsilon}\nu\theta\upsilon\mu\acute{\eta}\sigma\epsilon\iota\varsigma$ Chron. Toc. 1129
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \acute{\epsilon}\sigma\omicron\delta\epsilon\acute{\iota}\epsilon\varsigma$ (1432, Corfu, ASONITIS 1996/97: 3, 30.89)
 $\sigma\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \mu\epsilon\rho\acute{\iota}\epsilon\varsigma \acute{\epsilon}\tau\omicron\upsilon\tau\epsilon\varsigma$ (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 92.18–19)
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \pi\rho\omicron\nu\acute{\omicron}\epsilon\iota\varsigma$ Chron. Mor. P 1973
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \sigma\acute{\kappa}\acute{\alpha}\lambda\epsilon\varsigma$ Theseid I.48,3 (Follieri)
 $\sigma\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \acute{\alpha}\gamma\kappa\acute{\alpha}\lambda\epsilon\varsigma \tau\eta\varsigma$ Rim. kor. A 159
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \acute{\alpha}\rho\chi\acute{\omicron}\nu\tau\iota\sigma\sigma\epsilon\varsigma$ DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2095
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \mu\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\iota\sigma\sigma\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma \mu\omicron\upsilon$ (1518, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 14, 57.14)
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \acute{\Lambda}\nu\epsilon\rho\acute{\alpha}\delta\epsilon\varsigma$ (1543, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 118, 81.4)
 $\acute{\alpha}\pi\omicron \tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \delta\upsilon\omicron$ (1560, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 24, 103.21)
 $\mu\acute{\epsilon} \tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \varphi\alpha\mu\epsilon\lambda\acute{\iota}\epsilon\varsigma \mu\alpha\varsigma$ (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 5, 261.26)
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \acute{\epsilon}\lambda\iota\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma \tau\omicron\upsilon \kappa\iota\upsilon\rho\omicron\upsilon \tau\eta\varsigma$ (1573, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 2, 18.15)
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \pi\omicron\eta\eta\rho\acute{\iota}\epsilon\varsigma$ CHORTATSI, Katz. I.113 $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\varsigma \tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \pi\rho\epsilon\sigma\beta\epsilon\acute{\iota}\epsilon\varsigma$ (1625, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 66, 192.1)
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \delta\upsilon\omicron \acute{\epsilon}\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma$ (1634, Peloponnese, LAMBROS 1908b: 339.5)
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \acute{\epsilon}\lambda\iota\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma$ (1638, Andros, POLEMIS 1999b: 9, 32.22)
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \pi\omicron\lambda\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma \kappa\alpha\acute{\iota} \tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \acute{\omicron}\lambda\acute{\iota}\gamma\epsilon\varsigma$ (1638, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 13, 86.3) $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\varsigma \tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \Lambda\epsilon\upsilon\kappa\epsilon\varsigma$ (1639, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 3, 113.29)
 $\mu\acute{\epsilon} \tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \acute{\iota}\delta\iota\epsilon\varsigma \acute{\upsilon}\pi\omicron\sigma\kappa\epsilon\sigma\epsilon\varsigma$ (1658, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 5, 654.78)
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \pi\omicron\lambda\lambda\acute{\omicron}\tau\alpha\tau\epsilon\varsigma$ (1667, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [6], 24.19)
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \sigma\upsilon\kappa\acute{\iota}\epsilon\varsigma$ (1671, Syros, VISVIZIS 1965: 11, 95.10)
 $\tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \acute{\alpha}\pi\omicron\varphi\alpha\sigma\epsilon\varsigma$ (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 310.8)
 $\kappa\alpha\acute{\iota} \tau\acute{\iota}\varsigma \pi\alpha\rho\alpha\nu\omicron\mu\acute{\iota}\epsilon\varsigma \mu\omicron\upsilon$ PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 9

The form $\tau\omicron\acute{\iota}$ (normally reduced to $\tau\omicron\sigma'$ before a vowel) first appears in late 15th-c. texts from Crete, and is attested, in the texts examined, apart from Crete, also in Cythera, Naxos and Ithaca. It constitutes a standard feature of Cretan literature. For its etymology and distributional patterns see masc. acc. pl. $\tau\omicron\acute{\iota}$; see also the statistics in KARANTZOLA/CHALVATZIDAKI 2014: 698, which indicate avoidance of this form in Cretan notarial texts.

- $\tau\omicron\acute{\iota} \delta\upsilon\omicron \kappa\alpha\acute{\iota} \tau\omicron\acute{\iota} \delta\iota\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma \mu\omicron\upsilon$ (1497, Crete, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 6, 142.21)
 $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma \pi\acute{\epsilon}\nu\epsilon\varsigma \kappa\alpha\acute{\iota} \tau\omicron\acute{\iota} \kappa\alpha\nu\tau\sigma\alpha\delta\omicron\upsilon\eta\varsigma$ (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 33, 33.21)
 $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\varsigma \tau\omicron\acute{\iota} \text{Καρέ}\varsigma$ (1554, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 216, 190.15)
 $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\varsigma \tau\omicron\acute{\iota} \text{Φρίκ}\epsilon\varsigma$ (1585 [later copy], Ithaca, KALLINIKOS 1980: 56.16)
 $\tau\omicron\acute{\iota} \sigma\pi\acute{\acute{\epsilon}}\zeta\epsilon\varsigma$ (1587, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 1, 343.21)
 $\mu\acute{\epsilon} \tau\omicron\acute{\iota} \gamma\rho\alpha\varphi\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma \delta\omicron\upsilon\lambda\epsilon\upsilon\acute{\epsilon}\tau\alpha\iota \kappa\alpha\acute{\iota} \mu\epsilon \tau\omicron\acute{\iota} \kappa\omicron\upsilon\tau\rho\omicron\upsilon\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma \tau\eta$ CHORTATSI, Katz. III.319
 $\acute{\alpha}\pi\omicron \tau\omicron\acute{\iota} \pi\omicron\lambda\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma \sigma\pi\acute{\acute{\epsilon}}\zeta\epsilon\varsigma$ (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 146.24)
 $\tau\omicron\acute{\iota} \pi\rho\omega\tau\acute{\upsilon}\tau\epsilon\rho\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma \mu\omicron\upsilon \tau\iota\mu\omega\rho\acute{\iota}\epsilon\varsigma$ AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 347 ὅλες τζῖ φροντίδες τοῦ κόσμου VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 32.20 τοῖ βίζιτες ἐρνήθηκα FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.75 με τοῖ ἰντράδες τως (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 74.24) στζῖ Ροδινές / ὅς τοῖ Ροδινές (1692, Naxos, PANDELIA-GRITSOPOULOU 1995/97: 2, 212.26) με τοῖ τέχνες σου Trag. Ag. Dim. III.245 νὰ σοῦ τονέ σφαλίσω ὅς τς ἀγκάλες σου CHORTATIS, Katz. III.401–2 ἐστιμάρισεν τσ' ἐλές (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 209, 214.2) τσ' ἐλιές (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 86, 241.21) τσ' ὀχθρητες τους Zinon Prol. 14 τοῖ κινήσεις καὶ τς ἀστραπές Prol. Epain. Kef. 7 ἐγδῦσαν τσ' ἐκκλησιές KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.397

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General
τὰ

The nom./acc. pl. form τὰ is entirely stable, without evolution or variation, from AG up to MG. It is the only form attested in the corpus examined.

τὰ β' πατητήρια (1062, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 35, 103.33) τὰ δένδρια (1123, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 93, 122.6) τὰ ζ' κορεσσά καὶ μουσάφια (1346/7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 255.25–6) τὰ κάστροι SFRANTZIS, Chron. 36. τὰ κοπέλια Poulol. 97 τὰ ὀνείρατα KORNAROS, Erot. III.111
 ἀπὲ τ' ἀναστενάσματα Liv. E 16
 τ' ἄστροι BERGADIS, Apok. V 92 τ' ἀποδιαφωτίσματα P&N Diath. 501 τ' ἀνεπλόμιστα βάσανα (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.9–10) με ὅλαν του τ' ἀδέλφια (1703, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 46, 59.4)

Genitive

General	Restricted
τῶ(ν)	τοῦ(ν)

The regular form of the gen. pl. is τῶν throughout the LMedG and EMG period. Deletion of final /n/ in this form is geographically restricted; for its distribution see masculine above. The variant τοῦ(ν) has been located only in Cythera, Ithaca and Zakynthos.

καὶ τῶν χωρίων (11th c., Sicily/S. Italy, SCHREINER 1975/79: 45, 38.2–3) τον pediomou / τῶν παιδίω μου (1394, Crete, SANTSCHI 1976: 1597, 344.1)
 τῶν ἀκροπυργωμάτων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 181 τῶν κορμιῶν Fior, Suppl. 274.3
 τῶν ὀρνιθίων Fyll. gadar. 158b τῶν περιβολιῶν (1547, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 32, 63.7) μασαρίαν τῶν κελλιῶ (1655, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 2001: 96.4)

 τῶν σκουτιῶν (1676, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 44, 257.18)

τῷ χωραφίῳ τοῦ Ἀργυροῦ (1528, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 113, 224.38); τῷ παιδίῳ μου καὶ τῶν κληρονόμῳ μου (1582, ibid. 143, 266.8) ὁλωνῶν τῷ σκρίτῳ (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 4, 364.2) οἱ ασπριλάδες τῷ μαλλιώ CHORTATSI, Panor. I.261 τῷ βυζῶν τὸ γάλα KORNAROS, Erot. III.1228 τῷ σπιτιῷ (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32.45) ὁλονῶν τῷ χωριῶν (1666, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 4, 198.299) τῷ τριάντῳ γροσσῷ (1703, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 47, 61.23) τοῦ μανδριῶν (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 15, 93.23); τοῦν ἐγγονιῶν (ibid. 51, 132.8)

 τοῦ Χανίων (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 18, 15.9) τοῦν ἀδελφιῶν μου (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 6, 33.30); τοῦ παιδιῶν μου (ibid. 16, 41.45)
 ὁμοίῳ καὶ τοῦ καραβιῶν Reb. Evr. 105.7

5.2.2 The Indefinite Article

The indefinite article in LMedG and EMG is an evolution of the indefinite pronoun εἴς/ἐνας, which in turn derives from the numeral εἴς/ἐνας. For details of inflection and evolution see 5.8.5. For its function see IV, 5.3.2.2.

5.3 Personal Pronouns

The AG system of personal pronouns underwent far-reaching developments during the first millennium AD. According to the most recent studies, the new system began to appear ca. 500 and was largely established by the beginning of the period covered by this Grammar (HESSELING 1892a; FLORISTÁN IMÍZCOZ 1990; see also DRESSLER 1966a; MERTYRIS 2011). These developments resulted in a full set of unstressed (clitic) forms, alongside the stressed (strong) forms, which also underwent various analogical processes. Initial ἐ- was generalized to all forms of the 1st and 2nd person: ἐσύ, ἐσέ(ν), ἐμεῖς, ἐσεῖς etc. For the 3rd person, both singular and plural, the demonstrative αὐτός came to be used as a personal pronoun (see 5.3.1.5 and for the forms see 5.5.1.2). This was reduced by the loss of the first syllable to serve as the corresponding weak (clitic) form for the oblique cases τον, την, το etc. (nominative forms are very rare).³ Further details in relation to each pronoun and their allomorphs will be given below. Dative forms continue to appear in texts aspiring to a higher register and in certain contexts (e.g. religious subject matter). However, as forms such as μοι, ἐμοί, σοί, ἡμῖν, ὑμῖν do not belong to the spoken language in the period covered by this Grammar, they are not included in the paradigms.

³ In the modern Pontic dialect there is a disyllabic clitic pronoun ἄτος (see PAPADOPOULOS 1955, OIKONOMIDIS 1958). Possible indications of such forms survive in a text of the 15th/16th c. but it is difficult to classify them with certainty as clitics. For a 3 sg. form see 5.3.2.3.4 and for a 3 pl. possessive 5.4.1.4. See also LAMPIDIS 1952: 231.

The strong forms, used for emphasis and after prepositions, are discussed in detail in 5.3.1. (For strong third-person forms see 5.5.1.2.) The weak forms, for all persons, are presented in 5.3.2. Conventional accentuation rules distinguish between forms that precede the verb (μέ, σέ etc.) and those that follow a verb, noun, determiner or adverb (for the position of clitic pronouns in the verb complex see IV, 8.2–3). The latter are enclitic and therefore written without an accent (unless they are followed by another clitic pronoun). In the period covered by this Grammar this distinction is purely orthographic, but both accented and unaccented forms are given in the paradigm tables.

In 5.3.3 we present the periphrastic pronoun (τοῦ) λόγου μου etc., which can replace strong personal pronouns and may also function as an intensive or reflexive pronoun.

5.3.1 Strong Forms

It will be noted that there are close parallels between the range of forms for the 1st and 2nd persons singular. The forms ἐμένα and ἐσένα are already established at the beginning of the period covered by this Grammar, but they do not completely replace the shorter forms ἐμέ(ν) and ἐσέ(ν). All the forms beginning with ἐ- can undergo aphaeresis when preceded by a vowel in the same phrase. The forms resulting from this phonological process (e.g. μένα, μᾶς) are not strictly allomorphs, but examples will be given below in order to illustrate the contexts in which they may occur.

5.3.1.1 1st Person Singular

	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	ἐγὼ ἢ ᾿γώ	ἐώ ἢ ἐβώ	ἱγώ
Gen.	ἐμέ(ν) ἢ ἐμένα ἢ ἐμέναν	ἐμοῦ ἢ ἐμένανε	ἔμου ἢ ἐμενός
Acc.	ἐμέ(ν) ἢ ἐμένα ἢ ἐμέναν	ἐμένανε(ν)	ἐμένε

Nominative

The basic form of the nominative is the same before, throughout, and after the period covered by this Grammar.

δέδουκα ἐγὼ κόμης Ρουκέριος (1094, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 59, 76.2) ἐγὼ ἑλκεινὸς εἶμαι ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 314.3

ἐβραῖος ἐγὼ καὶ τὸν Κύριο τῶν οὐρανῶ ἐγὼ φοβοῦμαι Jonas 214.9

ἐγὼ πονῶ Ptoch. (Maiuri) 11 ἐπλήρωσα ἐγὼ ὁ Λιτζελῆς (1327, Crete, LAIOU 1982: 1, 123.1)

ἐγὼ, τὸμ ποιὸν ἀκούσετε | λυπητικά τὰ διάβασα Cypr. Canz. 125.5–6 νὰ πάρω ἐγὼ (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 50.22) κείτου ἐδευτοῦ, μεθύστακα, κι' ἐγὼ πηγαίνω ἀπάνω CHORTATIS, Katz. III.540

γιατί ἐγὼ τοὺς ἐτίμησα κι αὐτοὶ μ' ἀναγελοῦσι KONDAR., Paidēs 749

When the pronoun is preceded by a word ending in a vowel, particularly /a/, the initial vowel may be deleted (aphaeresis; see I, 2.7.1). When the previous word is καί, modern editorial practice is to divide as κ' ἐγώ or κι ἐγώ; in older editions forms like the following may be found: καί γ' ὡς πολλὰ βαριοῦμαι Chron. Mor. T 845. Examples of aphaeresis after /a/, /o/ or /u/:

δὲν θέλω γ' ὡς νὰ φάγω Achil. L 901 θωρώντα γ' ὡς τῶν ζωντανῶν τὴν ἀνθρωπινὰν καὶ πράξιν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 600 transcr.
 (Lendari) (Wagner: τ' ἀνθρώπινα) μὰ γ' ὡς σὲ συμβουλεύομαι Alex. Rim. 1101 ν' ἀφήσω γ' ὡς Cypr. Canz. 101.36 κόρη μου γ' ὡς τὸν θάνατον ποσῶς δὲν τὸν φοβοῦμαι Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1057 μὰ γ' ὡς τὸ πρᾶμα ἀλλιᾶς λογῆς ... κρίνω CHORTATSIS, Erof. V.244 γιατί δὲν ἦρτα τώρα γ' ὡς ἐδῶ συναφορμά σας PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 65 μὰ γ' ὡς καλλιὰ τὸ ξεδιλυῶ Stathis I.246 μὰ γ' ὡς θωρῶ KORNAROS, Erot. I.1212

Occasionally the shortened form γ' ὡς (γῶ) may be found even after a consonant, perhaps for metrical reasons: γρικῶντας γ' ὡς τὴν δύναμιν Alex. Rim. 1515, but cf. γρικῶντα γ' ὡς ibid. 1545. Deletion of the intervocalic fricative is found sporadically (see I, 3.6.1.1 for the phenomenon): νὰ δῶ καὶ ἐὼ φτωχὸς (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.25). In some texts from Rhodes (18th c.) a change of /ɣ/ to /v/ can be found: κι ἐβῶ Χαλῖλης (1737, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1972: 5, 35.8–9); καὶ ἐβῶ ὁ παπα-Κωσταντῆς (ibid. 5, 35.13). A purely euphonic addition of final /n/ can be found in texts from Naxos: ἐγῶν Ἀντώνης Ταπουσὸς γράφω (1575, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 134, 255.3); ἐγῶν τοῦ ἐπούλησαν (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 761, 1032.10). A form ἰγῶ, with “raising vocalism” (see I, 2.5.4), has been found in a 17th-c. text from Skiathos: γραφοῦγοοῦγιανakis / γράφω ἰγῶ οὐ Γιαννάκης (1653, Skiathos, EVANGELIDIS 1913: 66.20).

The form κὰγῶ, exhibiting AG crasis of καὶ ἐγώ (see I, 2.9.5), sometimes occurs as a lexical archaism: θέλω κὰγῶ ἐζήτημα Byz. Il. 207.

Genitive

The forms used for the genitive are of two main types: those derived from AG gen. ἐμοῦ and those derived from AG acc. ἐμέ. By the beginning of the period covered by this Grammar, ἐμοῦ had largely fallen out of use. We continue to find it, but mainly in texts in a mixed or more formal register; in verse texts, in the phrase μετ' ἐμοῦ, there is sometimes a shift of stress to the first syllable (possibly for metrical reasons):

διὰ ἐμοῦ τὴν ἀφορμὴν Chron. Mor. H 284; λέγουσιν λόγους περὶ ἐμοῦ ibid. H 942 ἐμοῦ τῆς ἀναξίας Dig. E 1837 μετ' ἐμοῦ ἐσυνεκτίσθης DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 146 ὁ κύρης ἐμοῦ τοῦ Μανόλη (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIIOU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 51.34) ἀφίει καὶ ἐμοῦ τοῦ νοταρίου διὰ τὸν κόπον μου ὑπέρπυρα εικοσιπέντε (1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 165.42) εἰς τὸ ἀμπέλι ἐμοῦ, τοῦ νοταρίου (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 649, 566.1) ἔτσι κ' ἐμοῦ ἢ δούλεψις ὅπου ἔχω ἐβαλμένη MONTSEL., Evgena 7

μετ' ἔμου Chron. Mor. H 2402, 5397, 8199

μετ' ἔμου FALIEROS, Thrinos 118, 256, 350

The accusative ἐμέ takes the place of ἐμοῦ as a genitive, and appears with a range of extended forms (discussed below, under accusative). However, the basic form ἐμέ continues to function as a genitive, particularly in Crete but also elsewhere:

σίμωσε, πέ μου το κι ἐμέ Thysia Avr. 99; κι ἐμέ τὰ γηρατειά μου ibid. 1107 κακή γυναικα, | ἐμέ τὰ λές αὐτήνα; | Ἐσὲ τὰ λέγω, ἐσένα. | Ἐμένα, σκρόφα; Ἐσένα, κάππο, ἐσένα Pist. voskos II 8.159

τόσον ἐμέ, ὅσον καὶ τῆς μητέρας μου (1643, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 4, 99.17) δὲν ἔναι ἐμέ δικό μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 15 μὰ ἐμέ ποτὲ δὲ μοῦ ῥεσε KORNAROS, Erot. II.1551

καὶ ἐμέ τῆς ἀμαρτωλῆς (1683, Leros, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 37, 29.6)

The form often appears with addition of final /n/, ἐμέν. The extended forms ἐμένα and ἐμέναν(ε) are found as genitives in texts from the 15th c., but as accusatives they occur much earlier (see below). The choice of form may be influenced by phonological considerations (whether a vowel or consonant follows), the number of syllables (especially in verse texts) or euphony. There appears to be no significant geographical differentiation, except that ἐμένανε has only been found in texts from the Peloponnese and Heptanese.

μέ τὴν εὐχὴν ἐμέν καὶ τῶν γονέω μας Chron. Mor. P 1388 καὶ ἐμέν τὴν ἐδικὴν μου τὴν ἄθλιαν καρδίαν γυρίσεις εἰς χαράν Diig. Alex. F 98.24 (Lolos) ἐνέμπροστας ἐμέν, τοῦ νοταρίου (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 9, 31.3) εἰς τὸν οἶκον ἐμέν νοταρίου (1603, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 1, 26.3) τῆς ταπεινῆς ἐμένα Flor. L 1020 ἔμπροσθεν τοῦ ρηγὸς καὶ ἐμέναν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 474.27 φαίνεται μοι κ' ἐμέναν VOUSTR., Chron. A 52.14

ἀπὸ ἐμένα (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 3, 23.7) ἐμένα τῆς ἀμαρτωλῆς (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.18–19)

διὰ τὴν ψυχὴν ἐμένα καὶ τοῦ ποτὲ κύρ Γεωργίου (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 8, 14.11) διὰ ψυχικὴ σωτηρίαν ἐμένα καὶ τῶν γονέων μου (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 36, 37.25) καὶ εἶπεν ἐμένα τοῦ κατωγεγραμμένου νοδάρ(ο) (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 344, 323.8) ὅπου μοῦ ῥωκες ἐμένα καὶ τῇ Σάρρας Thysia Avr. 41; τὰ σφάλματά μου ἐμένα ibid. 66 εἰς τὸ σπῖτι ἐμένα τοῦ Ἀντώνη Ντακορόνια (1625, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 99, 238.2) ἐμένα τοῦ Ἀθανασίου (1634, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 2, 111.23)

τούτους τοὺς λόγους ἐμένα τοῦ ἀμαρτωλοῦ Diath. Nikon Metan. 151–2 τῶν ἐκκλησιαστικῶν ἀνθρώπων ἐμένα καὶ τοῦ ἰδίου του (1653–5, Venice, FONKIC 2000: 239, f.1v.2) ἐμένα τοῦ ἀρχιεπισκόπου (1673, Sikinos, ZERLENDIS 1913a: 138.2)

ἡ ψυχὴ μου ἐμένα τοῦ ἰδίου (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 181.18) ἐμέναν τοῦ ἀμαρτωλοῦ τὸν νοῦν μου νὰ φωτίσῃ KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 33 ταύτην τὴν ἐντολὴν ἐμένανε τοῦ ἀμαρτωλοῦ Diath. Nikon Metan. 114–15 ἤθελεν μοῦ εἶσεν ἐμένανε Bertoldin. 146.22

σ' ἐμένανε KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.552

δῶσε μοῦ το ἐμένανε (1712, Nauplion, LIATA 1998b: 232.12)

Finally, there is an odd form ἐμενός, perhaps on the analogy of ένός, which has been found in a single text: μή μου στείλῃ ἐμενός Chron. Tourk. Soult. 38.2; βοηθοῦσι τοῦ Μουράτη καὶ ὄχι ἐμενός ibid. 59.18; θέλει μου τὸ κάμει καὶ ἐμενός αὐτὸς ἢ ἄλλος ibid. 140.12.

Accusative

AG ἐμέ is found with the addition of /n/ already in papyri from the 2nd c. AD, and ἐμένα and ἐμέναν are attested from the 4th c. (GIGNAC 1976: 162–3). The first stage is in line with the tendency to add final /n/ to all accusative forms (see I, 3.7.2.1). The subsequent addition of /a/ is perhaps on the analogy of ἐνα or τίνα/τινα (JANNARIS 1897: 154; GIGNAC 1976: 162–3; HORROCKS 2010: 296), and a further /n/ can be added to that. All these forms are in existence before the period covered by this Grammar. The only innovation in our period is the form ἐμένανε (mainly in texts from the Heptanese and Peloponnese), first found in the 17th c. (An example from a 15th-c. Cretan text must be regarded with suspicion.) It parallels other nominal forms with the addition of final /e/ (see I, 2.6.3). After prepositions ending in a vowel, the initial ἐ- is normally deleted. This essentially phonological process affecting vowels in contact (see I, 2.7.1) gives rise to forms written as μέ(ν), μένα, μέναν and μένανε. After the prepositions σέ and μέ, the alternative orthographies are purely a matter of editorial preference: σ' ἐμένα or σέ μένα, μ' ἐμένανε or μέ μένανε etc.

On the analogy of common phrases like μετ' ἐμένα (as an alternative to μ' ἐμένα), other prepositions may also acquire a /t/ when they appear before a personal pronoun. Thus we find, rather frequently, διατ' and γιατ' (giving rise to the assumption of a prepositional form γιατά), but also ἀπὸ τ' and εἰς τ', often written as separate words. Since there is no difference in the morphology of the pronoun itself, examples with these prepositional forms are included in the lists below.⁴

εἰς ἐμέ Spaneas Va 39

ἄς εἶχες θυμηθῇ κι ἐμέ κι ἄς μέ 'θέλεις τελειώσῃ FALIEROS, Thrinos 138 δὲν κάμνει τοῦτο γιὰ τ' ἐμέ ZINOS, Vatr. Prol. 7

*μέ παλληκάρι σὰν ἐμέ νά 'σαι συντροφιασμένῃ; CHORTATIS, Katz. III.*460

*τὸ ἴδιο ἐγίνῃ κ' εἰς ἐμέ KORNAOS, Erot. I.*313 εἰς ἐμέν (1054, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 30, 131.15) ὦνείδισες δὲ καὶ ἐμέν Diig. tetr. 814 ἀπὸ μέν FALIEROS, Ist. On. 282

καὶ ἐλάλειν μετὰ ἐμέν Diig. Alex. K 347.15 ἀπὸ ἐμέν (1546, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 180, 116.6)

ἐμένα Ptoch. (Maiuri) 41

διατ' ἐμένα Liv. V 1399

ἐμένα ὀρέσῃ με πολλὰ Chron. Mor. P 281 αὐτὸς ἐμένα ἐμπροσύτερα εἶχε με βασιλέα καμωμένον Diig. Alex. V 73–74.30, 1 ἔστειλες διὰ τ' ἐμένα νὰ ἔλθω Diig. Alex. F 148.14 (Lolos); εἰς τ' ἐμέναν ibid. 152.11–12 γιατ' ἐμένα Alex. Rim. 2863

νὰ κοιμηθῇ μέ ἐμένα TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 311

⁴ For the analogical derivation of ἀποτ' etc. see KORAIS 1828/35: I 69–70. Further: AMANDOS 1918: 134–5, BORTONE 2010: 206.

εἰς ἑμένα (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 50.19) διαβασμένα καὶ δωμένα ἀπὸ μένα (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 795, 690.4) ἔλα μ' ἑμένα τὸ λοιπὸν MONTSEL., Evgena 1171 γιὰτ' ἑμένα KATSAITIS, Thyest. III.155 ἑμέναν καίει μόνον GLYKAS, Stichoi 131 ἔρχεσαι μετ' ἑμέναν Dig. G II.129 καὶ ἄς ἤφηνες ἑμέναν Ptoch. I 105 ἀπὸ μέναν Spaneas Va 41 ἑμέναν (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.2) ὥσπερ ἑμέναν Krasop. AO 88 κατὰ μέναν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.10 ἑμέναν καὶ ἄλλους πολλοὺς κριτᾶδες (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 10.2) διὰ ἑμέναν (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 63.24) ἀπὸ τ' ἑμέναν τὸν ἀμαρτωλὸν Diath. Nikon Metan. 139 εἰς ἑμένανε FALIEROS, Ist. On. 328 (but the text is problematic) μ' ἑμένανε MONTSEL., Evgena 437 ἀπὸ μένανε ἄν τὸ ἀπογενώση (17th c.?, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1986: 43, 122, f.161v.3) ἔπεσαν ὀμπροσθὰ εἰς τὸν πρωτοπαπᾶν, καὶ εἰς ἑμένανε Diath. Nikon Metan. 54 ἑμένανε νὰ παρακινήσεις Bertoldos 21.4 ἑμένανε χαρίζου Zinon I.161 κ' ἑμένανε ἀκόμη KATSAITIS, Ifig. Prol. 176

ἐπάρτην ἐσὺ διὰ τ' ἑμένανεν Bertoldin. 149.19–20

Finally, there is a rare form ἑμένε that occurs in certain LMedG literary texts (cf. 2 sg. ἔσένε):

τί ἔχετε μετ' ἑμένε Spaneas Z 510 app. crit.
 δίχως ἑμένε, λέγω σας Pol. Tr. app. crit. (B)

5.3.1.2 2nd Person Singular

	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	σύ ἐσύ	ἐσοῦ σοῦ ἱσύ
Gen.	σοῦ ἐσοῦ ἐσέ(ν) ἐσένα(ν)	ἐσένανε	ἔσου ἐσενοῦ
Acc.	ἐσέ(ν) ἐσένα(ν)	ἐσένανε	ἔσε ἔσένε

Nominative/Vocative

Alongside AG σύ, which continues in use, a form ἐσύ, with prothetic vowel on the analogy of ἐγώ, appears in Late Antiquity (first attested in a 4th-c. papyrus; see GIGNAC 1976: 164), is well established in LMedG and will become the normal form in MG. When the pronoun follows καὶ (or certain other words ending in /e/), it is often impossible to determine whether it is a disyllable or a monosyllable (κ' ἐσύ or καὶ σύ). Generally speaking, σύ is restricted to texts that aim at a more formal register, although rhythm and (in verse texts) metre may also play a part.

ἐκεῖνος τηγανίζεται καὶ σὺ κἂν ψίχα οὐ γνώθεις GLYKAS, Stichoi 122
 σὺ δὲ ψηφίζεις φάβατα Ptoch. IV 86
 σὺ, κόρη, ἀπεμερίμνησες Dig. E 847 καὶ σὺ στὸ πανηγύριν Spanos D 267 ἴνα με εὕξεσαι ἐσὺ ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 314.30–1 ἐσὺ ἂν ἰσθήκης εἰς βουνὸν GLYKAS, Stichoi 119 ἐσὺ δὲ βλέπε Log. parig. L 149 ἔλα ἐσὺ ἐκ τὴν μίαν μερέαν Chron. Mor. H 7001 ἐσὺ μικρόν καὶ ἀνέλικον, καβάλα δὲν σὲ πρέπει Arm. 8 ἐσὺ νὰ ἀπέλθης (1428, Lefkada, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 12, 254.15) νὰ τὸ γράψης καὶ ἐσὺ (1431, Ragusa, LAMBROS 1930: 29.3) καὶ ἐσὺ νὰ τὸν ἐγνωρίσης Achil. N 1086 γλῆγορα σὺ, διαλάλησε, κῆρυξ, καὶ φώναξέ το ΚΟΝΔΑΡ., Paides 451 ἐσὺ εἶσαι μέσα στὴ φλακὴ ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. IV.1541

Cypriot texts commonly, and S. Italian documents occasionally, have a different form, ἐσοῦ (or σοῦ), which may preserve the AG pronunciation:⁵

τὸ ἔχεις ἀγορὰν ἐσοῦ ὁ ἀγοραστὴς (1134, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 43, 192.12) ἐσοῦ ὁμνύεις (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 21.2) ἐσοῦ νὰ τοὺς πέμπης (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.7) πότε ἔχασες ἐσοῦ αὐτὰ τὰ πράγματα Assizes B 427.4; ἐσοῦ ὁμνὲς ibid. B 466.29 καὶ σοῦ ἀναπαμμένος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.29; ἐσοῦ μὲ τὴν ὀρεξίν σου ibid. V 212.2
 οὐδὲ ἐσοῦ, οὐδὲ ἐκεῖνοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 77.29–30 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) οὐδέ ἐσου οὐδέ οἱ δουλευτάδες σου VOUSTR., Chron. A 54.15 (mss B and M have οὐδ' ἐσοῦ) ἐσοῦ ὅπου πάγεις γυρεύγοντα Fior 77.12 ἐσοῦ, Πλάστη, Cypr. Canz. 26.13; ἀνίσως κ' ἐσοῦ στέκεσαι χωσμένη ibid. 45.4 θωρεῖς ἐσοῦ, Pist. kekoim. 116 ἔδωκάν σου πράγμα εἰς φύλαξιν ... καὶ ἐσοῦ ἐκράτησές το; (17th c.?, Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 403.74)

Towards the end of the period we can also find examples of ἐσύ with northern vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4): ἰσὺ εἶχες λάχει PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.36.

Genitive

AG σοῦ (gen.) and σέ (acc.) acquire an initial ἐ- on the analogy of the first-person forms. For the genitive, the new form ἐσοῦ is found from the 1st c. AD onwards, particularly after a preposition (GIGNAC 1976: 163–4). In LMedG σοῦ and ἐσοῦ are residual forms, found mainly in more formal registers. After a preposition, we occasionally find forms with stress on the first syllable: ἔσου (cf. ἔμου above).

Just as for the 1st person singular, the accusative form also serves as genitive, and a similar range of extended forms is found: ἐσέν, ἐσένα, ἐσέναν. The form ἐσένανε has been located only in texts associated with the Heptanese. A single occurrence of ἐσενοῦ has been found, in a text connected with Constantinople. The additional syllable -voũ is probably by analogy with forms such as αὐτουνοũ (see 5.5.1.6), although here the referent is feminine.

⁵ MINAS (2003: 98) notes a single occurrence of ἐσοῦ in a S. Italian text.

ἀπὸ σοῦ κύρ Παχχουμ(ίου) ἡγουμένου (1124, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 9, 80.12) παρὰ σοῦ (1169, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 8, 76.11); ἐξ ἐσοῦ (1171, ibid. Coll. VII: 4, 363.27) διὰ σοῦ θηρευθέντα Dig. G IV.1076

περὶ σοῦ Assizes B 475.11

ἄς μάθω ἀπὸ σοῦ (1360, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 236, 362.16) κατὰ σοῦ SFRANTZIS, Chron. 58.7

ἔλαβα ὑπὸ σοῦ (1547, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 32, 63.8) μετ' ἔσου Chron. Mor. H 4232 (and 5 more occurrences in this text) μεδ' ἔσου Dig. E 870 and 1292 ὅταν ἔδωκεν ὁ Θεὸς ἐσὲν καὶ τῶν γονέων σου Chron. Mor. H 4110 ἐσὲν τῆς συμβίας (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 172.7); πουλοῦμεν ἐσὲν τοῦ καλογέρου (1538, ibid. 175, 176.4) αν πρώτα δεν το δείξω ἐσὲν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 27.5

ἐσὲ τὰ λέγω, ἐσένα Pist. voskos II 8.160 κακὰ ἀποδόματα θωρῶ ἐσὲ καὶ τοῦ κυροῦ σου ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. I.194 καὶ ἔδωκά σου ἐσένα (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 1, 3.12) ἐσένα τοῦ Μανόλη Γεωργᾶ (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 50.7) ἐσέναν ὀρκίζω (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 63.13) τίνος ἔστειλα τὲς μερίδες; Οὐχὶ ἐσένα; Vios Aisop. K 170.4

ἐσένα τοῦ εὐλαβεστάτου παπᾶ (1607, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 13, 15.6) ἐσένα τοῦ ἀφέντη (1665, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 10, 418.2)

γὰ πλῖο ἡδονικότερον ἐσένανε, κυρά μου Theseid Prol. E 115 πάντα στὸ φαγητὸν εἶναι ἐσένανε ὁ νοῦς σου Bertoldin. 155.26 ὄχι ἐσενοῦ, ἀλλὰ τῆς ἀγαπητικῆς του Vios Aisop. I 261.9

Accusative

The form ἐσέ, or ἐσέν with addition of final /n/, remains in use throughout the period and beyond. The extended forms ἐσένα and ἐσέναν are attested from at least the 13th c. (probable date of Spaneas V and the Eisitirioi). All these forms may lose their initial vowel (aphaeresis, for which see I, 2.7.1) when they follow a preposition (or other word with which they are syntactically connected, e.g. a verb) ending in a vowel.

εἰς ἐσέ (1015, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 15, 16.38)

ἀπ' ἐσέν Spaneas V 24; ἐσέν δὲ τί σέ ἑντρέπονται ibid. 99 ὡς ἐκεῖ παίζει μετ' ἐσέν GLYKAS, Stichoí 242 ἐπώλησα ἐσέν παπᾶ Θεόδωρον τὸν ἐξάδελφόν μου τὸ ὁσπίτιν (1260, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 17, 8.1–2)

εἰς νομὴν ἔθεσα ἐσέν τὸν προρηθέντα (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 183.22) ὅλα εἰς ἐσέν τὰ ἀφῆκα (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 100.3) οὕτως τὰ ἔχω καὶ ἐγὼ ὥσπερ καὶ σέν τὸν πάρδον Diig. tetr. 887

καὶ γὰρ ποῦ κρέμομαι ἀπὸ σέν Love poems V 222 κι ἔπαρ' κι ἐμένα μετὰ σέ FALIEROS, Thrinos 259 πάντα μ' ἐσέν θέλ' εἴσταιν ἡ καρδιά μου Cypr. Canz. 59.8

πάντα στὰ πατερμά μου | θέλω παρακαλεῖ για σέ CHORTATSIS, Katz. III.404–5 για σέν, ποθεινοτάτη PETRITSIS, Dig. O 456 νὰ συμπαθήση ἐσέ κ' ἐμέ KORNAPOS, Erot. V.1141 ποὺ τ' ἄφησαν οἱ παλαιοὶ διὰ τὰ 'σέν, καλέ μου Thrinus Kypr. 662
θέλω γνωρίσω | τούτῃ τὴν χάριν ἀπὸ ἐσέ KATSAITIS, Ifig. I.5–6; πόνο ὁπῶχω γιατὰ σέ ibid. I.120

[χωρίζετ' ἀπ'] ἐσέναν Spaneas V 35; πρὸς ἐσένα ibid. 79
τὸν μέγαν αὐτοκράτορα | καὶ πενθερὸν ἐσέναν Eisit. f.8v.17–20 δι' ἐσέναν ANAGN., Stich. pol. 6 ὥσάν ἐσέναν ἔχει, Ptoch. III 57 καὶ ὥσάν ἐσένα, ἀδελφὲ Log. parig. L 405 στὸν ρῆγαν κ' εἰς ἐσέναν Chron. Mor. H 7925 μετ' ἐσέναν (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 46, 38.3) διὰ σέναν Liv. E 2234; ἐσέναν ibid. 2237
καὶ ἐσέναν σὲ κατέχουν Poulol. 124 κοιμοῦμαι μετὰ σένα Achil. N 1257 διατ' ἐσένα Love poems V 92 διατ' ἐσένα (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.10) σ' αὐτόν σου σέναν Cypr. Canz. 47.5 διὰ τέσένα DAM. SToud., This., Logos 17, ο7v.26 διὰ τ' ἐσένα Diig. Alex. Sem. B 205 εἰς τ' ἐσέναν (17th c., Pontos, VEIS 1939: 28, 216.)
ἐσένα για νὰ πιάσει PETRITSIS, Dig. O 622 ἐγὼ δὲν ἤξευρα αὐτὸ ἀπὸ τ' ἐσένα (1696, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 13, 215.5) μῆδὲν σὲ μέλη σένανε καὶ μέριμναν μὴ ἔχης Theseid V.53,2 (1529) εἰς ἐσένανε Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 244 (of unknown origin) ἔχε τα μετὰ σένανε MONTSEL., Evgena 304 εἰς ἐσένανε φέρνει τὴν λευθερία SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. A2v.28 κ' Ἐσένανε ἀφήκασι, τὸν ποιητὴ καὶ κτίστη ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 1059 κ' ἐσένανε, ἀξάδεφε Zinon III.188 δοῦλο ὥσάν ἐσένανε KATSAITIS, Ifig. I.2

Finally, there are two rare forms ἐσένε (cf. ἐμένε) and ἔσε, for each of which a single example has been located: εἰς ἐσένε Pol. Tr. 8646 app. crit. (A); νὰ δικαστῇ μετέσε i.e. μετ' ἔσε Spaneas Z 216 app. crit. The latter is in a manuscript claimed to be of Epirot provenance.

5.3.1.3 1st Person Plural

	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	ἡμεῖς ἐμεῖς
Gen.	ἐμᾶς	ἡμᾶς
Acc.	ἡμᾶς ἐμᾶς		ἔμας

Nominative

The inherited form ἡμεῖς is often found in LMedG and EMG texts, both literary and non-literary, that employ a mixed register. It cannot be excluded that it is sometimes the result of scribal intervention. By the end of the period covered by this Grammar, ἡμεῖς is certainly a residual form, with learned, religious and formal associations. The question is: when (and where) does the new form ἐμεῖς first appear in written texts? An 11th-c. example from S. Italy has been regarded with suspicion (HESSELING 1892a: 387) because of its early date: ἵνα διεκδικοῦμεν ἐμεῖς καὶ ποιοῦμεν (1015, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 15, 16.28). The next instance we have located is in a 12th-c. document from S. Italy, but that should perhaps also be viewed with some caution.⁶ Ms H of the Chronicle of Morea (dated 1375) has mainly ἡμεῖς, with a single instance of ἐμεῖς. The 16th-c. ms P of the same text has 12 examples of ἐμεῖς, almost as many as ἡμεῖς. The new form also occurs in a variety of texts dated to the 15th c., including the Chronicle of the Tocchi, which has the new form exclusively. Since a reduced form μεῖς is also found, mainly after a vowel, it is possible that the change of initial vowel from /i/ to /e/ is, at least partly, the result of collocations like καὶ ἡμεῖς, pronounced as καὶ ῥεῖς. The reanalysis with initial /e/ is also supported by analogy with singular forms like ἐμέ and ἐμένα. We can conclude that the period of transition is roughly the 14th and 15th centuries. We give, first, examples of the inherited form and then of the innovative form ἐμεῖς.

ἡμεῖς δὲ πάλιν τρώγομεν Ptoch. IV 412 καὶ ἡμεῖς ἄς ἀπομείνωμεν ἐδῶ στὰ ἱγονικά μας Chron. Mor. H 607 καὶ ὅς θαροπποῦμεν καὶ ἡμεῖς Dig. E 1382 ἡμεῖς δὲ καὶ τὸ μέρος ἡμῶν νὰ ἤμεθεν ξένοι καὶ ἀλλότρι(οι) (1457, Arcadia, MANOUSSACAS 1981: 319.14)

ἡμεῖς καὶ τὰ παιδιά μας Achil. N 562 ἡμεῖς εἴμεσταν ἔτοιμοι τοῦ ρηγὸς καὶ κείνος ἐμᾶς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 248.36–7 εἴμεσταν καὶ ἡμεῖς μοναχῆς (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.48) ἡμεῖς εἴμεσταν ὥσάν τὸ λιθάριν τὸ ἀδαμάντινον Diig. Alex. E 217.15 (Lolos) επειδὴ ἡμεῖς τόσον ἐχάρημαν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 146.8

καὶ ἡῦραμεν καὶ ἡμεῖς LANDOS, Geopon. 245.4

ἡμεῖς τοὺς ἀκούομεν καὶ φοβούμεσταν (17th c., Athos, MEYER 1894: XVI, 220.10) ἐμῖς ὑ πράτες / ἐμεῖς οἱ πράτες (1134, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 43, 192.13) ἐμεῖς οἱ Φράγκοι Chron. Mor. H 6964 (sole example in this ms) ἐμεῖς ἐσέναν ἔχομεν ζωὴν καὶ ἀναπνοήν μας Dig. E 408

ἐμεῖς οἱ δύο Liv. V 2312

καὶ μεῖς νάβγοῦμεν τώρα Achil. L 377 ἐμεῖς οἱ Γιαννινιώται Chron. Toc. 1409; ἐμεῖς φοβούμεθα πολλὰ ibid. 2985 (and another 6 instances, but none of ἡμεῖς) ἐμεῖς ... θέλουμε τοὺς πέψειν (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 83.5) καὶ μεῖς νὰ καθοῦμεθσαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 338.14–15; ἐμεῖς ὅλοι ἀντάμα θέλομέν σε ibid. 380.24–5 γὰρ σένα μεῖς νὰ γένωμεν ἀφέντες γεναμένοι Alex. Rim. 1338; νικώντας μεῖς τὸν Δάρειον ibid. 2029; ἐμεῖς γυναῖκες εἵμασθαι ibid. 2507 ἐμεῖς οἱ δουλεπτάδες (1547, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: I, 70.8)

⁶ Note, however, that the 2 pl. forms ἐσεῖς and ἐσᾶς are attested in the same period (see below).

ἀλλὰ ἡμεῖς λέγομεν(εν) Pist. kekoim. 65 ἐμεῖς οἱ Μανιάτες (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 5, 261.1) ἐμεῖς οἱ ἀπομονάροι (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 150.92–3) ἐμεῖς φτωχοὶ καὶ σκλάβοι (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), 27.2) τότες κ' ἐμεῖς ἀξίζαμε κ' ἡμαστέ γυρεμένες CHORTATSIS, Katz. III.310 τὸ πῶς ἐμεῖς νὰ εἴμεσταν γλυκοὶ Bertoldin. 116.1

An instance of northern vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4) has been found in a 17th-c. text: γλέποτας ἡμεῖς τὲς ἀπόδειξες (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 4, f.40r.7).

Genitive

In LMedG and EMG the inherited genitive ἡμῶν survives only as a residual form, in higher- or mixed-register texts, in religious expressions or formulae, and especially as a possessive pronoun, less often after a preposition. A handful of examples will suffice: ἐλθὲ εἰς τὴν βοήθειαν ἡμῶν τῶν δεομένων Dig. E 1841; μεθ' ἡμῶν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2517; διὰ τὴν παράβασιν ἣν ἐποίησεν ὁ πρῶτος ἡμῶν ἄνθρωπος KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 453.23–4. It belongs to formal and ecclesiastical language, not to the vernacular.

It is difficult to locate clear examples of the genitive of the strong form of the pronoun (unlike the weak, clitic form), which has become ἐμᾶς at some stage in the development of the MedG pronoun system. Not only is it identical with the accusative form, but it is often impossible to determine whether a given example should be viewed as accusative or genitive.⁷ The following are clearly genitive:

καὶ ἐμᾶς τῶν ταπεινῶν ἱερέων (1327–8, Peloponnese, VRANOUSI 1981: B, 27.13) ὅποιοις ἐνὶ ἡ βοῦλλα του καὶ ἐμᾶς ὁλῶν μετ' αὐτοῦ Chron. Mor. H 81 (ms P has ἡμᾶς ὁλῶν μετ' αὐτον); ἀφέντη, ἐμᾶς ἀρέσει μας ibid. 2516 ὁγιά νὰ δώσωμε κι ἐσὲν κι ἐμᾶς παραμυθία FALIEROS, Thrinis 85 ἐμᾶς εἶν' ἡ πατρίδα μας BERGADIS, Apok. A 291 ἡμεῖς εἴμεσταν ἑτοιμοὶ τοῦ ρηγὸς καὶ κείνος ἐμᾶς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 248.36–7 καὶ διὰ τοῦτον ἐμᾶς φαίνεται μας VOUSTR., Chron. A 22.4
 ἡ γυναικα σου καὶ ἐμᾶς ἀνεψιά (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 240, 234.41–2) τὸ τέκνο μας δὲν εἶναι ἐμᾶς Thysia Avr. 169 καὶ τῶν προπατόρων μας καὶ ἐμᾶς ἀκόμη (1685, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1918a: 131.19–20) κ' ἐμᾶς ἡ χέρα μας KORNAROS, Erot. III.1330; κὶ ἂν εἶν' κ' ἐμᾶς τόσο ἄρεσε ibid. IV.29

Accusative

The inherited form ἡμᾶς continues to occur in texts until the EMG period, but by this time it is an archaism found mainly in formal registers:

ἡμᾶς αὐθέντης πέφυκεν Achil. N 164 (probably acc., as this text often uses acc. for indirect object) ὁμῶς στείλαν ἡμᾶς καὶ ὅλη τὴ σύναξη (1528, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 53, 173.46) καὶ διὰ τοῦτο διώκετε ἡμᾶς CHEILAS, Chron. 356.29 ἔθεντο ἡμᾶς διὰ αἰρετοῦς κριτᾶς (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 174.5)

The change of ἡμᾶς to ἐμᾶς parallels the development in the nominative and must be closely related. Again, the dating of the new form is not without problems. A small number of ⁷ See MERTYRIS 2011 for an examination of the syncretism of genitive and accusative in the personal pronoun system.

examples are found in documents of the 11th and 12th c. from S. Italy (see MINAS ²2003: 98), and in a letter of Nikon of the Black Mountain (12th c.):

παρ' ἑμᾶς (1034, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 29, 34.28) ὅπερ καὶ εἰς ἑμᾶς ἐποίησες (ms αἰμάς) (1196, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 241, 325.11) τούτους ἐχώρισαν ἀπ' ἑμᾶς NIKON, Logos 9 316.14

From the late 14th c. it is found frequently in all kinds of texts, but not to the complete exclusion of ἡμᾶς. Manuscripts of the same literary work often differ in their preferred form and the same ms may vacillate.

ἀπὸ ἑμᾶς τοὺς ἀγαπᾶς Chron. Mor. H 276; εἰς ἑμᾶς ibid. 697; ἑμᾶς τοὺς Φράγκους ibid. 760 ἀπὸ ἑμᾶς (1414, Corfu, MALTEZOU 1991a: (1), 316.12) ἔρχου εἰς ἑμᾶς συχνά (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 283) ἔρχονται πρὸς ἑμᾶς (1440, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1995: 126, 401.4) ἑμᾶς ἂς μᾶς ὁμόση Dig. E 412; πῶς ἐσυνέβην εἰς ἑμᾶς ibid. 1319 πρὸς ἑμᾶς ἐλάλει Liv. V 2729
 ἀπὸ ἑμᾶς Pol. Tr. 2502, 2512 app. crit. (V), 2650 νὰ ἀφεντέψη ὡσὰν ἑμᾶς Chron. Toc. 1347 ἕνας ἀπ' ἑμᾶς τοὺς δύο Theseid V.11,7–8 (1529) νὰ γένεται εἰς ἑμᾶς Deft. Par. 23 καὶ ποίησε εἰς ἑμᾶς ἐλεημοσύνη καὶ συμπάθιον Diig. Alex. V 43.5 (frequent in this text) μετ' ἑμᾶς BERGADIS, Apok. A 315 ἃ θέλῃς νὰ ᾔθῃς εἰς ἑμᾶς Alex. Rim. 1918 (and frequently) ὡς μᾶς φανῇ ἑμᾶς (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 703, 546.22); διὰ μᾶς (ibid. 703, 546.25) καὶ στέψε εἰς ἑμᾶς βασιλέα Diig. Alex. F 132.15–16 (Lolos) (frequent in this text) διὰ τ' ἑμᾶς RODINOS, Vios Ign. 73.4 κάμε νὰ ᾔλθῃς καὶ ἀτός σου μετ' ἑμᾶς Diath. Nikon Metan. 8 ἀπὸ ἑμᾶς τοῖ ραγιαδες σου (1664, Cyprus, MERTZIOS 1958b: 253.1)

A form with stress on the first syllable (cf. the genitives 1 sg. ἔμου and 2 sg. ἔσου) is found in two verse texts, always after the preposition μετ' or μεδ':

μετ' ἔμας Chron. Mor. H 5283, 5661, 5918, 6034 etc. φιλίαν μεδ' ἔμας Pol. Tr. 1510 app. crit. (B); μεδ' ἔμας ibid. 1801 app. crit. (BV)

In the following example, which exhibits vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4), it is impossible to say whether the pronoun is acc. or gen., or whether a preposition should be understood (σ' ἱμᾶς):

ἰρωτήθηκαν ὁμπρὸς ἱμᾶς (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 2, f.38v.13)

5.3.1.4 2nd Person Plural

	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	ἔσεῖς	ύμεῖς
Gen.	ἔσᾶς
Acc.	ἔσᾶς	σᾶς	ἔσας

The change from AG ὑμεῖς to LMedG and MG ἐσεῖς is a big one, which must have had several intermediate stages, but has not been satisfactorily explained. It is probable that the need to distinguish between the 1st and 2nd persons plural, as the pronunciation of <υ> was converging with that of <η> around the 9th–10th c. (see I, 2.4.6.1), was a significant factor. However, it is also necessary to explain the change from /m/, which was common to both 1st and 2nd person plural pronouns of AG (ἡμεῖς and ὑμεῖς), to /s/. The pattern of the accusative forms of the 1st and 2nd persons singular, ἐμέ and (ἐ)σέ, served as the analogy for a new 2nd person plural with /s/. The earliest evidence for the new forms is in the clitic pronoun σας, found both as the object of a verb and as possessive in the De ceremoniis (10th c.; see HESSELING 1892a: 379–80; PSALTES 1913: 194).⁸ Presumably the clitic was “reinforced” by a prefixed /e/, on the analogy of ἐσύ etc., to function as a strong personal pronoun.⁹ As no textual evidence is available for this series of changes, the order of events must remain hypothetical.

Nominative/Vocative

The residual form ὑμεῖς can occasionally occur in higher- and mixed-register texts: ὑμεῖς μὲν ἐποιήσατε τὸ φονικὸν ἐτοῦτο Velth. 210.

The new form ἐσεῖς is already established at the beginning of the LMedG period, as indicated by the first examples below, from a text of the late 11th/early 12th c.

ἐρωτᾶτε με καὶ ἐσεῖς καὶ ἕτεροι ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 140.32; ἀκούετε τὰ ἐσεῖς καὶ πάντες ibid. 150.31–2 προσπίπτειν εἶχετε καὶ ἐσεῖς Diig. sevast. Thom. 282 ἐσεῖς ἐξεύρετε καλὰ τὸν φτόνον τοῦ διαβόλου Chron. Mor. H 710 εἶστέν ἐσεῖς Pol. Tr. 824 app. crit. (AB) ἐσεῖς καλὰ τὸ ἐξεύρετε (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.4)

μ' ἂν ἔν' κι ἐσεῖς συνθλίβετε, οἱ ξένες, καὶ συγκλαῖτε FALIEROS, Thrinos 40 ἐσεῖς ὅπου θέλετε τὸ διαβάσειν Fior 74.3

Genitive

The genitive is invariable: ἐσᾶς.

ἄνευ βουλῆς, θελήματος ἐσᾶς ὅπου ἔχω ἀφέντες Chron. Mor. H 269; ἀφέντης σας, ἐσᾶς τῶν Μωραΐτων ibid. 2252

ὅλων ἐσᾶς τὸ φαίνεται Pol. Tr. 1661 καὶ κάμνω τὴν ἔγγυσιν ἐσᾶς τῶν ἄνωθεν Ζαχαριάδων (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 257, 255.19)

ἐσᾶς τῶν ἄνωθεν ἀμπασαδῶρ (1571, Mani, CHASIOTIS 1970: 5, 239.15) ἐσᾶς τῶν δύο ζευγάδων (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 240, 227.6)

Accusative

The accusative has the same form as the genitive. After prepositions, the pronoun often appears without the initial vowel /e/. In later texts this is probably to be regarded as the result of aphaeresis (see I, 2.7.1), but it is possible that the monosyllabic form pre-dates

⁸ See further MERTYRIS 2011: 482, where possible evidence from the 9th c. is adduced, in the prepositional phrase ἀπ' ἐσᾶς. The date of the mss should be checked before the evidence can be accepted at face value.

⁹ A further factor could be co-articulation with καὶ.

the form ἑσᾶς (see the discussion above). In two verse texts, the Chronicle of Morea and the War of Troy, a form stressed on the first syllable is found, after the preposition μετ(ά); we may compare similar forms for the 1st and 2nd persons singular and 1st person plural.

ὁ Θεὸς νὰ τὸν διαφυλάξη καὶ ἑσᾶς πάντας NIKON, Logos 2 136.19; εἰς ἑσᾶς ibid. 140.36 εἰς ἑσᾶς (ms ἦσε σας) (1097, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 60, 78.12) πρὸς σᾶς (1141, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 5, 557.7) μετ' ἑσᾶς (1346–7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 256.30) ἦλθα νὰ ἰδῶ ἑσᾶς Chron. Mor. H 270; πρὸς ἑσᾶς ibid. 423 (and frequently after a preposition) εἰς ἑσᾶς Dig. E 153; μετὰ σᾶς ibid. 177 τίς ἀπὸ σᾶς Pol. Tr. 1037 app. crit. (A); καὶ λέγω το καὶ πρὸς ἑσᾶς ibid. 1417 app. crit. (A) νὰ χαιρετήση καὶ ἑσᾶς (1447, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1952: 273.4) μὴ σᾶς φᾶν καὶ ἑσᾶς Spanos D 1531 κ' ἑσᾶς Pist. kekoim. 9; μηδένas ... ἀποῦ σᾶς ibid. 389 ὅστις ἀπὸ σᾶς (1548, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 41, 71.11) διὰ τοῦτο ὀρίζομεν ἑσᾶς πάντας (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 167.15) τοῦτος ὁ ἡσοῦς ὁποῦ ἀνελήφθη ἀποτ' ἑσᾶς SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 16.25 εσᾶς οποῦ εἰστέν ἀμαθοὶ θέλω νὰ τ' ἀναφέρω Kakop. 8 ἀπὸ τ' ἑσᾶς KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 11.11 εἰς ἑσᾶς δέ, ὁποῦ εἶσθε ὅλον σάρκες VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34.9
 δὲν ἐδέχθηκεν ἑσᾶς (1653–5, Venice, FONKIC 2000: 240, f.1v.10) ἐμένα δὲν με τυχαίνει νὰ λογοφέρνω με εσᾶς Don Kis. 50.11 μὰ ἔχω φόβον γιὰτὰ σᾶς KATSAITIS, Thyest. III.156 μετ' ἑσας Chron. Mor. H 695, 8444 μετ' ἑσας Pol. Tr. 5451 app. crit. (A), 7473 (μεδ' ἑσας BV)

5.3.1.5 3rd Person

There is no inherited 3rd person personal pronoun in MedG; this function is covered by the demonstrative pronoun αὐτός, αὐτή, αὐτό (deriving from the AG intensive pronoun αὐτός). The use of αὐτός as a 3rd person personal pronoun first appears in the Koine (Ptolemaic period) (see MAYSER 1926: 64; BLASS et al. 1961: 145, §277; GIGNAC 1976: 166; HORROCKS 2010: 107), continues during the EMedG period (PSALTES 1913: 194) and is well established in early texts of LMedG, e.g.:

νέμεσθαι αὐτὰ (908 [12th c. copy], PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1975: 2, 185.53) ἐρμηνέψαντες αὐτό (1000, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 12, 12.4); δίδωμε σοὶ αὐτὲς (1097, ibid. 64, 81.11) ἐρωτήσαμεν αὐτοὺς τὸ τί γινώσκουσι (1095, S. Italy/Sicily?, GUILLOU 1963: 2, 50.2) καὶ αὐτὴ νὰ προσκυνήσῃ Eisit. f.6v.18 ἔλεγον καὶ αὐτοὶ (12th c. [post 1139], Athos, LEFORT et al. 1994: 54, 63.18) οὐκ ἔχει ἐξουσίαν εἰς αὐτήν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 234.275) αὐτοὶ οὐδὲν τὸ ἠθέλησαν (14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 148.8)

Αὐτός inflects as a regular adjective in -ος, -η, -ο(ν) (see 3.2.1), with a wide variety of later variant forms, due to analogical levelling, for which see 5.5.1.2. Most of these forms are also used as personal pronouns. This function is present in the earliest attestations of each form, e.g.: νὰ παίξῃ καὶ μετ' αὐτόν GLYKAS, Stichoi 369 εἰς αὐτεινούς σύντυχε Chron. Toc. 1352 ἦσαν συνανάθροφοι αὐτοῦνοι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1354 παραδαρμός αὐτόναν παραδέρνει Liv. V 2276 μήτε αὐτεῖνοι μήτε τὰ παιδιά τους (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 341.27)

In the nominative case, αὐτός has an emphatic function, while the corresponding weak (clitic) form τος is extremely rare (see 5.3.2.3.2). In the oblique cases the use of the strong form gradually recedes in frequency, replaced by the corresponding weak form, and acquires a learned nuance after the 14th c., unless used for special emphasis, e.g.: ἀνάθεμά τονε κι αὐτόν CHORTATIS, Katz. III.291; κ' ἔτο' ἠπίασεν κ' ἔφαν αὐτὴ κ' ἐπάτησεν καὶ μένα VEST., Prol. Theot. 57.

The strong form is the regular option throughout the LMedG and EMG periods (as well as in MG) as a complement of the simple prepositions (ἀπό, διά/γιά, δίχως/δίχα, ἐκ, εἰς/σέ, ἕως, κατά, μέ, μετά, παρά, περί, πρό, πρὸς, σύν, ὑπέρ, ὑπό, χωρίς); on prepositions and prepositional phrases see IV, 6.

ζῆλος ἐνέπεσε εἰς αὐτοὺς Dig. E 1152 ἤφερεν μὲ αὐτόν τὴν θυγατὴρ του Chron. Mor. P 6464 τρόμος εἰσῆλθεν εἰς αὐτοὺς καὶ φόβος καὶ δειλία Achil. N 1392 οὐδεὶς ἡμῶν χωρὶς αὐτὴν ἀποστραφῆναι θέλει Dig. A 480 ἀφέντης δὲν ἠύρισκετον μ' αὐτόν νὰ πολεμήσῃ Velis. ρ 10 χαρα νὰ πάρεις απ' αὐτὰ CHORTATIS, Panor. III.618; πάντα ἄς μισεύγουν ἀπ' αὐτὴ id., Katz. II.349

The other demonstratives, ἐκεῖνος and οὗτος/τοῦτος (see 5.5.1.8, 5.5.1.11) may also serve as emphatic personal pronouns, e.g.:

ἐκεῖνος τηγανίζεται καὶ σὺ κἂν ψίχα οὐ γνώθεις GLYKAS, Stichoi 122 ἐκεῖνοι τρώγουν βατραχοὺς, ἡμεῖς δὲ τὸ ἀγιοζοῦμιν Ptoch. IV 394 καὶ ἐκεῖνος ἦτο ἐγλήγορος Dig. E 767 τὴν ρήγαιναν ἀσπαστήκεν καὶ λέγει πρὸς ἐκείνην Chron. Mor. H 296 ἀλλὰ συνεπαράκυπτεν ἐκεῖνος μετ' ἐκείνης [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 924 τοῦτην ἀναλαβότες παρὰ σοῦ (982, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 5, 133.24) τοῦτη οὖν ὡς εἴρηται ἡ σκιογραφηθεῖσα ἡμῶν γῆς (1034, Athos, LEFORT 1973: 1, 41.15) τὴν ταύτης μοχθηρίαν Ptoch. I 26 ἐτοῦτοι δὲ ἄρματώθησαν Pol. Tr. 8486 app. crit. (AV) οὗτος ὡσὰν ἀπίστησεν Chron. Toc. 3125 ἔχει καὶ τοῦτος τόσῃν ἐλευθερίαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 260.13

In legal documents (and more rarely in literary texts), the role of an emphatic personal pronoun may also be assumed by the demonstrative pronoun τοιοῦτος, preceded by the definite article:

ὁ τοιοῦτος δὲ μὴ θελήσας (1065, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 34, 202.20) ἐμμένειν τὴν τοιαύτην ἀπαρασάλευτον (1152, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 8, 89.44) ἔχειν σε τὸ τοιοῦτον (1172, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 179, 235.13) ἀπῆλθε γοῦν ὁ τοιοῦτος (1274, Athos, ŽIVONINOVIČ et al. 1998: 9, 133.20) ὥστε πολλοὶ ἐθαύμασαν ἰδόντες τὸ τοιοῦτον Velis. N² 32
 καὶ μὲ μανίαν καὶ θυμὸν λέγει πρὸς τὴν τοιαύτην Diig. tetr. 269a app. crit. (CA)

Furthermore, the definite article ὁ may serve as a nominative personal pronoun when accompanied by the particles μέν, δέ (not to be confused with the contrastive function of ὁ μέν ~ ὁ δέ), a use which should be considered an archaism.¹⁰ Examples:

- ὁ δὲ ἐφ' ἵππου ἐπιβάς Dig. G I.146
 ἡ δὲ τὰς ἀποκρίσεις μου μὴ καταδεχομένη Ptoch. I 123 οἱ δὲ «τί λέγεις;» λέγουσιν [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 1416 ὁ δὲ δεξάμενος αὐτὸ μετὰ περιχαρίας Achil. N 959 ἡ δὲ τὰῦτα ὡς ἤκουσε Vios Aisop. D 219.12; ὁ δὲ ἀπεκρίθη καὶ εἶπεν τοὺς ibid. 241.8
 ὁ δέ, λαβὼν αὐτό, ἐπήγε χαρούμενος Vios Filaret. 242.21 ὁ δε ἀπεκρίνατο LANDOS, Amart. sot. 333.37
- οἱ μὲν συγκατετίθεντο [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 654
 ὁ μὲν ἐντράπη τὸ φυγεῖον Chron. Mor. H 3859

The use of ὁ δέ in oblique cases is very rare but attested, e.g. τὸν δὲ φόβος ἐλάβανε Dig. G VI.263.

5.3.2 Weak Forms

The weak forms of the personal pronoun form part of a stress group with another word, typically a verb or noun, but they may also be dependent on an adjective, adverb or preposition. After a noun they function as possessives; for these possessive uses of the genitive forms see 5.4.1.

While AG had weak (clitic) forms for the 1st and 2nd persons singular, which were inherited by MedG, there were no clitic forms for the 3rd person, or at least none that survived into the Koine. A new set of 3rd-person clitic pronouns emerged during the 1st millennium, derived from the intensive pronoun/demonstrative αὐτός, with loss of the first syllable by aphaeresis (see I, 2.7.1).

It is often difficult to determine whether the 1st and 2nd person plural forms μας and σας are accusative or genitive in a given context, because many texts fluctuate between use of genitive and accusative for the indirect object. An attempt has been made to assign a case on the basis of the prevailing practice in the relevant text, but such “labelling” should not be regarded as authoritative.

Residual dative forms (μοι, σοι) can be found in higher- and mixed-register texts, but are excluded from the paradigm tables below.

Regarding accentuation, these clitic forms have no stress of their own, but traditional orthography distinguishes between pre-verbal forms (μοῦ, μάς etc.), which bear a written accent, and post-verbal, enclitic forms, which are unaccented. (For the position of clitic pronouns in the verb complex see IV, 8.2–3.) In the tables we give both accented and unaccented forms, separated by an oblique slash. Third-person extended forms, such as τονε, τηνε, are treated variously by editors (the same editors may even apply different principles in different texts). While enclitic disyllabic forms such as τονε, μασε and τουσε are usually unaccented, proclitic occurrences may be accented on either syllable, according to the editor's preference. The examples given below illustrate this editorial variety.

¹⁰ In rare cases, γάρ also appears in this function, e.g. ὁ γάρ κρατῶν τὸν λογισμὸν [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 1101.

5.3.2.1 1st Person Singular

	General
Gen.	μοῦ / μου
Acc.	μέ / με

Since there is no allomorphic variation, we give only a few examples.

Genitive

τὸ ὅπερ μοῦ ἀφῆκε (1200, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 249, 338.14) νὰ ἰσθήσουν δὲ καὶ σταυρὸν ἐπάνω μου (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.54) καὶ μνήσκου μου διὰ παντός Dig. G IV.448 νὰ ἐβλέπω ... ἐμπρός μου τοὺς ἐχτροὺς μου Chron. Mor. H 1131 ἐχάρισάν μοῦ (sic) τὴν Assizes B 422.7
 πλὴν θέλω νὰ μοῦ θυμοῦνται (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 14, 24.32) τὰ ὁποῖα μοῦ τὰ χρεωστεῖ (1560, Ancona, MARKOS 1977: III, 29.3) ὁποῦ μ' ἄφησε ὁ μπάρμπας μου (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 36.11–12) (for the apocope of μοῦ see I, 2.7.3) ἀφῆτε μοῦ τὴνε (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 181.54) μοῦ τὰ αἰχμαλώτισε (1696, Ioannina, MICHAELARIS 1976: 2 [B¹], 253.22)

Accusative

καθὼς βλέπετέ με, εἴ τις καὶ ἐρωτήσῃ με ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 140.33 με μέλλουν ἐνταφισαῖ (1197–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 42, 217.12) καὶ ἔμψυχον ἔχει με νεκρὸν Spaneas V 10 ἐσὺ μόνος με κέρδισε καὶ ἄλλος μὴ με κερδίση Dig. E 1566 νὰ με τὴν πάρῃ Byz. Il. 565 ἐβαλὸν με εἰς τὸν κουλᾶν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 46.15 δός με το (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 189.4d) ὅς με τὸ μὴνύση (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 102.25) ὅς με ἔθελες τελειώσῃ FALIEROS, Thrinios 138 με διδάσκουν (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.IV, 84.4) καὶ λέσι με Πετρίτη KORNAROS, Erot. II.227

5.3.2.2 2nd Person Singular

	General	Rare
Gen.	σοῦ / σου
Acc.	σέ / σε	σεν

As with the 1st person, there is no allomorphic variation, except for the rare accusative form σεν.

Genitive

νὰ τὸ εὗρης ἔμπροστέν σου Spaneas V 42 νὰ σοῦ βοηθήσει (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 21.119) ποτὲ Ρωμαίου μὴ ἐμπιστευτῆς διὰ ὅσα καὶ σοῦ ὁμνύει Chron. Mor. H 3932–4 οὐδὲν σοῦ θέλω δώσει ἀπολογίαν Assizes A 64.18 ποτὲ μου δὲ σοῦ εἶπα τίποτας Nov. I 156.15 εἶπα σου πὼς ταμένη | εἶχε τὴν κακορίζικη ἐτούτη CHORTATIS, Katz. III.364–5 διῶξε καὶ πάσα σαρκική λύπη ἀπὸ κοντὰ σου Thysia Av. 162 ὅτι ἐμεῖς σοῦ στέλνομεν πράγμα (1697, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 34, 224.8)

Accusative

λέγω σε τὴν αἰτίαν μου NIKON, Logos 9 312.10 οὐκ ἡμπορῶ καταλεπτὸν γράφειν σε Spaneas V 26; ἐσὲν δὲ τί σε ἔντρέπονται ibid. 99 πρὶν σὲ καταδεσμώσωσι καὶ χάσης τὰ νερά σου GLYKAS, Stichoi 537 ἀπὲ τὸ σὲ θέλομεν ἐρωτήσιν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 21.144) πλὴν νὰ σὲ εἶπω καὶ ποῖσέ το τὸ σ' ἔχω παραγγείλει Log. parig. L 165 παρακαλῶ σε νὰ μὲ εἰπῆς Alfan. I 15 μεθ' ὅρκου σὲ τὸ λέγω Achil. N 216 νὰ σὲ ἀπολαύσωμεν (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 2, 48.5) μωρή, κάνεις ἐκεῖνο ποῦ σοῦ ἔπα ἡ νὰ σὲ σκοτώσω (1579, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 7, 97.34–5) νὰ σὲ ἔχα συντροφιά μου Vosk. 240

The addition of /n/ is rather rare: παρακαλῶ σε νὰ μοῦ εὗρεις κάμποσα ρεάλια (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 53, 205.11).

5.3.2.3 3rd Person Singular

For the 3rd person it is necessary to consider the three genders separately. The forms are very similar to those of the definite article (see 5.2.1), but the range of variation is somewhat greater. Nominative forms can occasionally be found in EMG texts (cf. SMG νὰ τος, πούν' τος). However, we shall first consider the invariable form τῖς/τις.

5.3.2.3.1 Invariable /tis/

This form functions as the indirect object of the verb, when the 3rd person singular pronoun is followed immediately by another 3rd-person pronoun form. The existence of this invariable form was not recognized until recently (see LENDARI/MANOLESSOU 2003 for details), and in consequence it has often been “corrected” and/or relegated to the apparatus criticus of editions. Examples have been found from the 14th c. onwards and they have a wide geographical distribution.¹¹ In mss and editions the form is frequently spelled τῆς. While it most often has a masculine referent, instances with feminine referent, written as τῆς, should perhaps also be interpreted as invariable τῖς when they occur in texts that otherwise have only accusative clitics for the indirect object (for the case of the indirect object see IV, 5.1.3–4).

¹¹ For further information, including the modern dialect distribution of the form, see LENDARI 2007: 119–21.

Masculine Singular

νά τις τὰ χαρίζει (1355, Palatia (Miletos), MANOUSAKAS 1962b: 1, 234.11) εἰς τὸν Λίβιστρον σύρε καὶ δεῖξε τις τα Liv. V 1233; νά τις τὴν δώσω σύζυγον, σύγαμπρον νά τὸν ποίσω ibid. 3974 ζητεῖ νά τις τὴν δώσετε Pol. Tr. 1371 app. crit. (A) νά τις τὰ μολογήσω Peri xen. 251 app. crit. (V) νά τις τὴν δώσω Velth. 969 transcr. (Lendari) (τῆς τὸν Kriaras) ἐζήτησέ τις το SFRANTZIS, Chron. 54.11 app. crit. (NOT); νά τις τὸ ἐπάρωμεν ibid. 120.15 app.
 crit. (OT)
 σύντομα τῆς τὴν ἔδωκεν Synax. gyn. 398 app. crit.
 τις τὸ ἔλυσεν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 226 app. crit. νά τις τὰ χρεωστεῖ (1624, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 393.2) ὁ Θεὸς τις τὰ ἐσυγχώρησεν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §22.29; τις τὸ ἔκαμεν ibid. I §31.213; ὡσὰν τις τὰ γυρεύσης καὶ αὐτὸς δὲν ἔχη ibid. III §31.10 ἀφῆνω τις τα (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 109.118) τις τὴν ἐπῆραν (ed. τοῦ τὴν) PETRITSIS, Dig. O 119 app. crit.; νά τις τὸ πάρει (ed. νά τῆς το ᾽πάρη ibid. 2500; νά τις τὸ ᾽ποῦσι (ed. νά τῆς το ᾽ποῦσι) ibid. 3020

Feminine Singular

νά τῆς τὰ φανερώσω Liv. V 3203; εἴτι ἐὰν μὲ εἴπε ὁ Λίβιστρος ὅλα νά τῆς τὰ δείξω ibid. 3316

5.3.2.3.2 Masculine

	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.			τος
Gen.	τοῦ / του	ντου
Acc.	τό(ν) / το(ν)	τόνε / τονέ / τονε	τονα

Nominative

This form has been found only towards the end of the period covered by this Grammar. It is therefore most probably a new form, derived from the accusative, not part of a complete paradigm inherited from αὐτός. As in SMG it has a restricted range of functions; in the two instances located so far it occurs after the verb εἶναι:

καὶ τώρα πού ᾽ναι τος αὐτός IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6701 πὼς εἶναι τος ἀπὸ τὴν σποράν του Alex. Fyll. 12.30

Genitive

The only variation is the variable voicing of the initial consonant, which can occur in texts from Crete and the Cyclades, from the late 16th c. onwards. Compare the corresponding possessive, where voicing is much more common because there is often an underlying nasal at the end of the preceding word (see 5.4.1.2).

ὁπίσω ἀκολουθῶν του Liv. E 5; κατόπισθεν του ibid. 14 κανείς ἄνθρωπος ἐχρῶστέν του κανένα βίον Assizes B 357.18 θέλει νὰ τοῦ τὴν δώσετε Pol. Tr. 1371 app. crit. (BV) τοῦ ἔδωσαν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 27, 163.9) τοῦ τὴν ἡπῆρεν Chron. Toc. 859 τοῦ τὸ ἐπούλησεν Assizes A 41.21 καὶ ἐφαίνεται του Spanos D 403 καὶ ἐδῶκαν του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 280.24 διατὶ ἤξευρε ὅτι ὅλοι τοῦ ἤθελαν κακὸν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 337.9
 καὶ ὅ,τι ἄλλον τοῦ θέλει τοκάρει (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 34, 53.13) εἶπα σου πὼς ταμένη | εἶχε τὴν κακορίζικη ἐτούτη νὰ τοῦ δώση CHORTATSI, Katz. III.364–5 κὶ ἴσια ντου κακορίζικος λέγει πῶς δεν εφάνη CHORTATSI, Panor. I.37 λέγει ντου (1694, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 10, 24.6)

Accusative

The basic form τόν/τον, already established at the beginning of our period, may lose final /n/ in certain environments. It may also undergo addition of final /e/ (see I, 2.6.3). Such extended forms are particularly common in southern areas from the 15th c. onwards, but can also occur sporadically in more northern regions (e.g. Macedonia, Thrace). A rare extended form with /a/ (probably by analogy with αὐτόνα etc.) has been found only in a 17th-c. translated romance: καλῶς τονα τὸν ἥλιον Diig. Vefa 995.

μόνον νὰ τὸν προσέχης Spanos V 109 λέγουν τον GLYKAS, Stichoi 264, 267; ἄφες μὴ τὸν ζηλεύης ibid. 368 ραβδέας καλὰς τὸν δὸς ἂν μὲ ἀγαπᾷς καὶ διῶξε τον ἀπ' ὧδε Ptoch. IV 518 app. crit. (H) νὰ τὸν δώσουν καρτζίνα νὰ ἐβγῇ (1355, Palatia (Miletos), MANOUSAKIS 1962b: 1, 234.12) τὴν θύραν ἀκροχτύπησεν διὰ νὰ τὸν ἀγκραστούσιν Chron. Mor. H 937 καὶ ἐκεῖνος ἀρνᾷται τον Assizes B 357.20 εἶς αὐθέντης ὅπου τὸ λέγουν (1487, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 16, 87.2–3) τὸν κύρην τῆς Τύρου ἐσφάξεν τον εἰς τὴν ἀναπάν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 58.26–7 ἐτοῦτόν μου τὸν λόγον ἐπαρομοίασα το Pist. kekoim. 35 δὲν τὸν ἐπῆρα τίποτες, οὐδὲ φόλα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.47
 ὅποιος δὲ λαλεῖ τὸ θάφτουν Paroim. (Warner) 79.2
 θέλοντας νὰ τόνε εὐκαριστήσωμεν (ms νατονέ) (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 467.5) νὰ τόνε κοπανίσωμεν Dig. E 1408 νὰ τόνε μαθητεύσης Alex. Rim. 258; νὰ τόνε φᾶνε ibid. 962; ρωτᾷ τονε ibid. 1172 καὶ δίνοντάς τονε καλὰ TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 275 γνωρίζοντά τονε (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 286.12) καὶ ἐπλήρωσέν τονε (1572, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 136, 256.8) ἀρχισε νὰ τόνε κατατρέχει AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 65.8 ἔξω τόνε λαλοῦσιν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 805 νὰ τονε σάση καὶ νὰ τονε λιπεράρη (1601, Crete, ΣΙΑΚΟΤΟΣ 2006: 1, 190.5–6) καὶ νὰν τόνε πάρης σιμά σου (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 307.15) (the ed. reads ν' αὐτόνε) καὶ ἐφίλησέ τονε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.4 παρακαλεῖ τονε (1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 7, 20.18) Θεὸς χωρὲς τονε (1696, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 6, 213.10) καὶ πλιά τόνε πειράζει KORNAROS, Erot. III.4

πριχοῦ νά τόνε χάσης Trag. Ag. Dim. II.46 ἀνάθεμά τονε κι' αὐτόν KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.351; νά τονε π' ἀσηκώθηκε id., Thyest. V.79

5.3.2.3.3 Feminine

	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	?
Gen.	τῆς / της	τσῆ / τση	τσῆς
Acc.	τή(ν) / τη(ν)	τήνε /τηνέ / τηνε / ντηνε	τηνα

The basic range of forms for the feminine singular corresponds to that for the masculine, but with additional variants for the genitive. No instance of a nominative form has been found.

Genitive

The basic form τῆς/της must have been widely in use at the beginning of our period (cf. possessive της, 5.4.1.2), but it is difficult to find early examples. This form occurs throughout the period. Cretan texts often (and Heptanesian texts sometimes) have the spelling τζῆ/τζη, as for the corresponding case of the definite article (see 5.2.1). In modern editions this is usually written τσῆ/τση, but editorial practice varies. In Latin-script mss it appears as <ci>. Before another vowel the final vowel may be elided. Rarely, an alternative form τσῆς can be found in texts from Crete, and perhaps elsewhere (cf. the corresponding definite article, 5.2.1).

ἴσως νά ἀπλώση ἐπάνω σου καί νά σέ σύρη ἐμπρός της Ptoch. I 162 εἰπέν της λόγους εἰς τ' ἀπτὶν Log. parig. L 632 προστυπήνησάν της Dig. E 1413; γοργὸν τῆς τὸ ἐποῖκα ibid. 1576 τῆς κύρα Ἰππόλυτας, πίστευε, ἐβάρυνέ της Theseid I.86,6 (Follieri) ὅλα τῆς φαίνονται πικρὰ FALIEROS, Thrinos 43 θρηνήσετε καὶ ᾗτῃ τῆς ὁκάτι καταλόγι LIMEN., Than. Rod. 36

δῶστε της Cypr. Canz. 4.7

χάρι προυκὸς δίδει της τοῦ Πολιχνίου τὸ χωράφι (1573 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17, 71.8–9) νά τῆς δώση μία μακριὰ καὶ καλορίζικη ζωή (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 59.51) εἶδε αγνάντια της μακρὺ καὶ υψηλὸ νησί Kaloandros 405.21 καὶ τῆς ἐδώσαμε τῆς αὐτῆς Μαρίας (1680, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 41, 68.6–7) νά τσῆ δώση (1510, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 5, 50.20) διὰ τὰ πράμματα ὅπου τσῆ ἔδωκα (1533, Naxos, MILIARAKIS 1888: 58.45) (but normally της in these documents)

νά τσῆ δίδη (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 24.26) λέσι τση P&N Diath. 1975; οὐδ' ἔπλυνε οὐδ' ἔρραφε οὐδ' ἔλλασσε ποτέ τση ibid. 4328

πρέπει τση τσῆ Κασσάντρας σου νά τσ' ἔχης πλήσια χάρη CHORTATSIS, Katz. I.39 νά τσῆ φανεῖ Thysia Avr. 116

τσῆ ᾗπα Vosk. 205

egho ci chi alla peninda dhosmena / ἔχω τση κι ἄλλα πενήντα δοσμένα (1639, Crete, ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑΤΙΣ 1986: 11, 113.82–3) τση ξαναφανήκανε ΜΟΝΤΣΕΛ., Evgena 1246 πέ τση ΦΟΣΚΟΛΟΣ, Fort. I.307 οί λογισμοί κ' οί πόνοι της τση κάναν καλοσύνη ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. III.20 νά τση δώσου Leilasia Par. 3 νά μήν τσης μοιάση ΧΟΡΤΑΤΣΙΣ, Panor. II.103 app. crit. (NA)

Accusative

The basic form τήν/την is established before the start of our period (PSALTES 1913: 194 cites an example from the 6th-c. Chronicle of Malalas, but does not specify the ms date). Final /n/ is often deleted when it is not followed by a vowel or unvoiced stop in the same phrase. The extended form with /e/ (cf. the masc. τόνε/τονε), variously accented, appears in texts from the 15th c. onwards, and is particularly common in Crete, the Heptanese and the Aegean islands, but can also be found in texts from the Peloponnese and further north. A single example of an extended form with /a/ (cf. masc. τονα) has been found: εθλίβηκέν τηνα πολλά Apoll. Rim. E 1183.

τήν ἐπιστολή ... νά τήν πέμψεις τόν ἄββᾶν Γεράσιμον, ἀνάγνωσέ την ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 314.15–16

καί κατακόπτουσίν την Spaneas V 18 πρίν τήν εὐρῆς, ἐχάσες την, πρίν τήν ἰδῆς, ὑπάγει GLYKAS, Stichoi 206 πάλιν κατὰτρεχέ την Ptoch. I 169 ὁ Θεός νά τήν ἀναπαύσῃ (1391, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 2, 88.3) τήν τένταν τοῦ Δεμέστικου θεωρῶ την ἀπ' ἐδῶθεν Chron. Mor. H 4753 τοῦ τήν ἠπῆρεν Chron. Toc. 859 γλυκεῖα τήν ἐπερίλαβεν, συγχοκαταφιλεῖ την Achil. N 1349 επιάσαν την οἱ πόνοι Diig. Apoll. 390 καί ἐγὼ τήν ἤκτισα καί ἐσκέπασά τη (1549, Crete, ΜΑΡΜΑΡΕΛΙ/ΔΡΑΚΑΚΙΣ 2006: 349, 333.12–13) παίρνει την νιάν ο γέροντας και τρω την σαν απίδι Kakop. 32 πειράζω τη να τση ζητώ βοήθεια να μου δώσει ΧΟΡΤΑΤΣΙΣ, Panor. I.235 ἀλησμόνησέ τη Vosk. 395

ἐκεῖνός την ἐδέκτηκεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1855

καί ἐντασάρασίν τηνε (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 46.19)

νά τήνε ντεφεντέρομεν (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.18–19)

ἐν τηνε FALIEROS, Ist. On. 248 νά σέ τηνε σηκώση LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 453 app. crit. (L) καί κονφερμάρει των τηνε (1544, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [2], 7.9–10) ἀναστῆσαν τηνε (1564, Cythera, ΔΡΑΚΑΚΙΣ 1999: 22, 100.17) εσιάστη, να τηνε γιάνει NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 19.2

πόρνη νά τήνε ποίση VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 50

καί τήν ἔτερην ἀποληφθέν ἀπὸ τήν αὐτήν νά τήνε μοιράζουν ἐφ' ἡμισείας (1579, Kefalonia, ΖΑΡΑΝΔΙ 2001a: 5, 23.14–16) ἀφῆτε μού τηνε (17th c., Crete, ΣΠΑΝΑΚΙΣ 1971: [1], 181.54)

κι ὅλοι τήνε λυποῦνται Dimotika Ivir. VII.3

νά τοῦ τήνε δώσουν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.12 ἤξεύρω τηνε GERMANO, Grammar 50.3

νὰ τήνε χαιρετήσει Bertoldin. 111.30 ἐδεαλέασέν τηνε (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 31.22) ἐδιαβάσαμε τηνε (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.4) καὶ εὐρήκασίν τηνε (1689, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 852, 1138.7) ἔχω τηνε τὴν ὄρεξιν Trag. Ag. Dim. III.403 νὰ ντηνε κλεῖ μὲ τοῖχο (1721, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 10, 172.29–30)

5.3.2.3.4 Neuter

	General	Restricted
Nom.	?
Gen.	τοῦ / του
Acc.	τό / το	τού / του

For the neuter singular the only variation is the possible mid-vowel raising of /o/ to /u/ in regions where this phenomenon occurs (see I, 2.5.4). Otherwise, the forms are identical with the definite article. No instance of a nominative has been found. There is a possible example of a Pontic disyllabic clitic ἀτο in a text of the 15th or 16th c. However, it is impossible to determine from the writing system whether the form has true clitic status: ἐνοχλεῖ α<ὺ>τό / ἐνοχλεῖ ἀτο (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 147, 109.8).

Genitive

There is no uncertainty about the form, but examples of the neuter genitive (for example, as indirect object) are difficult to locate.

καὶ ἐκεῖνος ἦτο ἐγλήγορος καὶ ἀπάνω του ἐκατέβην· | καὶ οὐκ ἐσυνέφθασεν γοργόν, ἵνα ραβδέα τοῦ δώση Dig. E 767–8 (referring to a female bear, τὸ θηλυκόν) μὲ ταίρι ὅπου ποτὲ κιανεῖς δὲν τοῦ ἔβρισκε ψεγάδι KORNAROS, Erot. I.34

Accusative

ἐκεῖ νὰ τὸ εὐρίσκης NIKON, Logos 9 310.21; ὁ χρήζων το ἄς τὸ ἐπάρη καὶ ὁ μὴ χρήζων το ἄς τὸ ἀφήση ibid. 312.14–15 νὰ τὸ εὖρης ἔμπροστέν σου Spaneas V 42
 ἔχεις, ἡλιέ μου! παιδὶν, ἀγούριν, παλληκάριν; | βάλε σχοινὶν καὶ πνίξε το καὶ μὴ τὸ γραμματίσης GLYKAS, Stichoí 210–11 ἄς τὸ φορῶ Dig. G II.270 ἡ ἦκουσες το; (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 59.148) κινῶ πρὸς τὸ κουβούκλιν, | καὶ σφαισμένον τὸ εὔρηκα Ptoch. I 249–50 τοῦ δράκοντος τὸ σῶμα | εἰς ὤμους του τὸ ἔθηκεν, ἐξήβαλὲν το ἔξω [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 639
 ἡπῆρεν τὸ στέμμα ἀπὸ τὸ κεφάλιν του καὶ ἔρριπέν το εἰς τὴν γῆν Diig. Alex. V 84.20–1 ἀρχιερεὺς ἐπιάσεν το, τοῦ Θεοῦ τὸ θυσιάζει P&N Diath. 1641 φανέρωσέ μου το MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 176 μὲ ἄλλο θέ[λει] σοῦ τὸ στείλω (1637, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 3, 95.13) τὸ παρὸν βιβλίον ... καὶ ἐφιέρωσά το εἰς τὸν ναὸν (17th c.?, Amorgos?, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 2167, f.12r.1–2)

ἐν το τὸ βρακολούρι σου ἐδεπᾶ Stathis II.309

With mid-vowel raising:

τὸ γράμμα σου εἶδαμεν του (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 168.3) νὰ τοῦ ἔχον (1644–5, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 4, 47.3)

τί τοῦ θέλου; (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 49.18)

5.3.2.4 1st Person Plural

	General	Restricted
Gen.	μᾶς / μας	μᾶσε
Acc.	μᾶς / μας	μᾶσε

The form μᾶς derives from the accusative of the strong personal pronoun ἡμᾶς. We can assume that it was already in existence at the beginning of our period, because the corresponding form for the 2nd person plural is found in a 10th-c. text; the earliest example of μᾶς/μας which has been located is from the 11th c. Conservative tendencies may account for the relative paucity of examples until the 15th c.: when the form ἡμᾶς is closely linked to a verb, it may be an orthographic archaism for μᾶς/μας. As the same form serves for both accusative and genitive cases, it is not always possible to assign case.

An extended form with /e/ is found, in preverbal position, from the late 15th c. onwards, and is common in Cretan literary and non-literary texts of the 16th and 17th c., and in documents from the Aegean islands. It may well have had a wider geographical distribution.

Genitive

καὶ μηδὲν ἔχοντός μας κατασκήνωσιν εἰς τοὺς ἰδίους μας (1059, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 9, 109.8) καθὼς μας ἔγραψες ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.6; καὶ ἐπαρέδωκάν μας id., Logos 9 316.11 ἐκεῖνον τὸ ἀναλιβάδον τὸ εἶναι ἀντίκρυτά μας Liv. E 3068 καθὼς μᾶς τὴν ἐποίησαν Pol. Tr. 1329 νὰ μᾶς γράφουν (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 22.14)

εἶτι μᾶς ἦθες εἰπεῖν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 144

καὶ ὄμοσαν καὶ εἵπανέ μας (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 45, 87.9) μᾶς τὶς ἀπάριασε Prol. Epain. Kef. 13

δὲ μᾶσε μιλεῖ Thysia Avr. 294; θὲ νὰ μᾶσε δώσει id. 515 παιγνίδι μᾶσε φαίνεται KORNAROS, Erot. I.1629; καλὸ νὰ μᾶσε δώση id. IV.18 τὸν νοῦν μᾶσε γιομώνεις KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.337

Accusative

ἀπήγαμεν ὅπου μᾶς ἐχρεώστειν καὶ ἐχρεωστοῦμάν τον GLYKAS, Eis tas aporias 4.62 t (from TLG) εἰ δ' οὐ, θανάτωσόν μας Dig. G I.259; μὴ μας ἀποχωρίσουν id. IV.626 ἀντέγραφάν μας SFRANTZIS, Chron. 42.11 (indirect object in acc.); θέλεις μᾶς εὐεργετήσῃν id. 106.1

ὅς μᾶς τὸ γράψῃ (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 102.25) λυπηθῆτε μας, ψυχοπονέσετέ μας Rim. than. 129 μᾶς ἐπρόσταξε (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.9) ο μύθος λέγει μας ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 70.16 ἐλευθερώνοντάς μας ἀπὸ τὴν ἀμαρτίαν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.33–4 νὰ μᾶσε φέρῃ CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 676 θέλει μᾶσε πατάξῃ SKLAVOS, Symf. 144 νὰ μᾶσε φάγῃ Katis 108 καὶ θέλῃ μᾶσε κόψῃ Imb. Rim. 543 κὶ ὅλους μᾶσε κομπώνου CHORTATSIS, Erof. I.462; νὰ μᾶσε ξεχωρίσει ibid. II.297; δὲ μασὲ χώνου id., Erof. Interm. II.56 (the accentuation of μασὲ is editorial); νὰ μὴ μασὲ γροικῆσῃ ibid. II.133; ἀνάθεμά τονε κὶ αὐτὸν κὶ ὅσοι μᾶσε κρατίζου id., Katz. III.291 μᾶσε ρίχνου TROILOS, Rodol. Chor. II.4 μᾶσε φοβερίζου (1659, Hydra, KARATHANASIS 1972/73: 241.2) πῶς εἴμεστα πρόντοι ὅ,τι ὥρα μᾶσε κράξῃ (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 5, 34.3) μᾶσε κουμαντάρουν (1696, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 47, 141.31) στὸν πόθο μᾶσε κρᾶξῃ Stathis II.219 κὶ ἡ ὥρα μᾶσε βιάξῃ KORNAROS, Erot. II.1871 νὰ μᾶσε βοηθήσῃ Trag. Ag. Dim. III.435

5.3.2.5 2nd Person Plural

	General	Restricted
Gen.	σᾶς / σας	σᾶσε
Acc.	σᾶς / σας	σᾶσε

The form σας is attested as a weak (clitic) pronoun already in the 10th c., after verbs and as a possessive, e.g. Τριὰς κατευοδῶσῃ σας, εὐλογῶν τὸν γάμον σας De ceremoniis II.181.17; τὴν ἀγίαν βασιλείαν σας ibid. II.185.9. The only variation, apart from the vagaries of scribal and editorial accentuation, is the extended form σᾶσε, parallel to the first-person form μᾶσε. It is common in Cretan texts of the 16th and 17th c., but has also been found in a text from the Mani, and in a lament (dubiously) attributed to the Rhodian Limenitis. Editors are often unsure whether the /e/ belongs to the pronoun or the following verb. The assignment of a given example to genitive or accusative encounters the same problems as for μᾶς.

Genitive

ἔδουκά σας (1101, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 69, 87.3) τοῦ δοῦναι σας τὴν τιμὴν τετραπλὴν (1221, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 7, 380.12) καὶ λέγω σᾶς τὸ ῥάρα Pol. Tr. 1794 ὅπου σᾶς παρακεῖται Achil. N 451 σᾶς ἔδειξα καὶ ἐρμήνευσά σας Assizes A 36.1 παραγγέλνω σας, καὶ τοῦτο λέγω σᾶς τὸ Achil. O 164 ἐδείξα σας τὰς ἰδ' ἐπισκοπές· νὰ σᾶς δείξω καὶ πόσα σώματα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 28.35–6 νὰ σᾶς εἰπῶ τὸ τί ἴδα Om. Nekt. Vas. 1 κ' ἴτσου μεσόν σας νά παρηγοῶστε Cypr. Canz. 155.8

 θέλω σᾶς δώσει ἄλλην χώραν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 58.24–5 ζητᾶτε, καὶ θέλει σας δοθεῖ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 11.9 σᾶς γράφομεν (1650, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: (2), 28.16) ἂν ἔχετε ὑποκάτω σας τετοίους ἀρχιεπισκόπους (1653–5, Venice, ΦΟΝΚΙΟ 2000: 240, f.1v.13) να σᾶσε φανερώσω CHORTATSIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 9 θέλει σᾶσε φανῇ (1668, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 15, 421.5) ἐγὼ δὲ θέλω καὶ δειλιῶ νά σᾶσε πῶ μὲ γράμμα KORNAROS, Erot. V.1497

Accusative

λαλῶ σας καὶ οὐ λυπεῖσθε GLYKAS, Stichoi 115 διὰ τοῦτο σᾶς παρακαλῶ νά τὸ ἔχετε στὸν νοῦν σας Chron. Mor. H 5363 ἀπέλθω ἔχω καὶ ἐγὼ καὶ νά σᾶς θαραπεύσω Dig. E 1420 τώρα ἤλθαν καὶ ἐπῆραν σας οἱ Ἑλληνες ὡς σκλάβες Pol. Tr. 1180 app. crit. (A) ἔχει σας κερδεμένους LIMEN., Than. Rod. 61 τιμῶ σας ὡς γονέους μου Diig. Alex. Sem. S 792 ἐγέλασέ σας ὁ Θεός VEST., Prol. Theot. 48 νά σᾶσε φωτίση Alosis 473 transcr. (Lendari) (Legrand: σᾶς ἐφ.)
 σᾶσε στέλνομε (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 6, 262.7) μὴ σᾶσε κάψου σήμερο CHORTATSIS, Panor. I.2; πόσες φορές σᾶσε ζητῶ id., Katz. I.63 τὰ σᾶσε θέλω ὀρίσει Thysia Avr. 249 πῶς να σας πιστέψω; STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 602 (Pidonia) καὶ γιὰ ἀφεντάδες ἀκριβοὺς ὅλους σᾶσε κρατοῦμε FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.410 ἄρχοντες καὶ ἄρχόντισσες, σᾶσε εὐχαριστοῦμε KATSAITIS, Thyest. Epil. 37

5.3.2.6 3rd Person Plural

Masc.	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	–
Gen.	τῶν / των	τῶνε / τωνε ἢ τῶς / τως ἢ τῶσε ἢ τοῦν ἢ τοὺς / τους	τοῦνε / τουνε ἢ τούσε
Acc.	τούς / τους	τούσε / τουσε ἢ τίς / τισ ἢ τσί / τσι	τίσε ἢ τῶς / τως

Fem.	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	–
Gen.	τῶν / των	τῶνε / τωνε ἢ τῶς / τως ἢ τῶσε ἢ τοῦν ἢ τοὺς / τους	τοῦνε ἢ τούσε
Acc.	τές / τες	τάς / τας ἢ τίς / τισ ἢ τσί / τσι	τσίς ἢ τέσε

Neut.	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	—
Gen.	τῶν / των	τῶνε / τωνε τῶς / τως τῶσε τοῦν τοῦς / τους	τοῦνε τοῦσε
Acc.	τά / τα

No evidence has been found for the existence of nominative forms in the texts examined.

5.3.2.6.1 Genitive Plural (All Genders)

All three genders will be treated together, since the forms of the genitive are the same, as is often the case for pronouns, determiners and adjectives. First we shall consider the forms based on τῶν, then those based on τῶς, next the form τοῦν, and finally the forms based on τοῦς. The same forms also function as possessive pronouns (see 5.4.1).

The basic form τῶν/των, which derives from αὐτῶν, must have been established before the beginning of the period covered by this Grammar, although examples are few before the 15th c. (For some earlier examples of των as possessive, see 5.4.1.) It continues to be used in texts of various kinds until the end of the period; it may be seen, at least in some areas, as a more formal alternative to τοῦς and other regional variants.

An extended form τῶνε/τωνε is found from the 16th c. (date of the Falieros ms), mainly in Cretan texts. From the 17th c. it is also found in texts from the Peloponnese and Cyclades.

τῶν/των

- καὶ τῶν δύο τῶν εὐχήθηκεν Dig. E 1065; τὰ τέτοια τῶν ἐλάλει ibid. 499 πολλὰ τῶν εὐκαρίστησεν Chron. Toc. 109 ὅλα τῶν ἐδηγήθηκεν, CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 383 λέγει των Velth. 113
οἱ δύο των Byz. Il. 666; ἀλλήλως των ibid. 695 λέγει των [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 875 (ex corr.; mss λέγουν τον) ὅ,τι τῶν φανῇ (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 217.27) τῶν ἀποκρίνομαι καὶ λέγω τως (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 218.10) νὰ τῶν τὰ ἀφήσει (1574, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 15, 141.13); τὸ χαρτὶ τοῦ τῶν ἔχει καμωμένον (1586, Andros, ibid. 30, 171.6) νὰ τῶν τὰ κονφερμάρης (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.45) καλὰ καὶ ἀθυμᾶσαι των Alfan. 10 44 ἐπῆρες των τὸν νοῦν των Diig. Alex. Sem. B 561 καὶ ἔδωσέ των τον Chron. Tourk. Soult. 32.33 νὰ τῶν δοθεῖ πάλι Bertoldin. 113.8 ἐπῆρεν των 5 ὁκάδες καφέ καὶ εἶπεν των (1670, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 4, 15.5) νὰ μὴν τῶν δώκω θάνατο τὴν ὥρα τοῦτ' ἀτός μου KONDAR., Paides 755 ὁπού 'τουνε κοντά των Thrinis Kypr. 429 νὰ τῶν τὴν κάμουν καλὴν (1705, Chios, KAVVADAS 1950: 39.9) πέτε των νὰ πᾶνε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 56.26

τῶνε/τωνε

- ἀποθανόντας τωνε (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 6, 16.44) εἰς τὸν καιρόν τως γύρευσε ἄντρες νὰ τῶνε δώσης FALIEROS, Log. did. 285 τὸ τί τῶνε φωνάζει Imb. Rim. 818 νὰ μὴ μπορῇ νὰ τῶνε πάρη περισσότερο (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 5, 28.10–11) μὲ σπέζες ἀνάμεσά τωνε (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 853, 744.7–8) πλὴν φαίνεται τῶνε πὼς εἶναι μίαν σκλαβίαν (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174.12) μοναχὰ τωνε CHORTATIS, Erof. Prol. 5 δῶς τῶνε τὸ φῶς CHORTATIS, Katz. I.15 ταῦτα τῶνε δίδει μπάρμπας τῆς (1653, Skiathos, EVANGELIDIS 1913: 66.16) τὴν πληρωμὴ τους τῶνε ἀνέβασε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 51.5–6 δῶς τῶνε σωτηρία Rim. Sant. 127 οἱ δυό τωνε (1672, Milos, CHATZIDAKIS I. 1927: A, 295.14) ἀπὸ τὰ ὁποῖα 150 ριάλια τῶν ἐδίδου ὀμπρὸς ριάλια 50 (1676, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 6, 18.11) (read: τῶνε δίδου) τὰ σπαθιά τῶν ξῆ τῶνε παίρνω Stathis III.42 θέλει τῶνε δώσω νοτίσια (1707, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 16, 34.22) νὰ τῶνε τραγουδήση Leilasia Par. 436

τῶς/τως

The innovative form τῶς/τως, presumably with /s/ on the analogy of the other plural personal pronouns (μᾶς, σᾶς), is also found first in Cretan texts. With respect to the modern Cretan dialect, (ν)τως or (ν)τωσε is usually said to be the East Cretan form, while (ν)τωνε is used in the west (KONDOSOPOULOS 1969: 69). In the texts examined the distinction is not so clear-cut, as τῶς/τως can also be found in texts from western Crete; however, it does appear that τῶς/τως is the predominant form in East Cretan texts.¹² The forms with /s/ are also found in 17th-c. texts from other southern areas (Cyclades, Dodecanese, Cythera) and from Chios, and in texts from the Danubian Principalities (including the play Achouri, possibly written there). The extended form τῶσε has been found almost exclusively in Cretan texts.

- καὶ ἐφάνην τως (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 48.30) τὸ πνεῦμα τοῦ Θεοῦ ἦτον ἀπὸ κοντά τως CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 12 καὶ ἐχρεωστοῦμαν τως Paroim. H 8 ὁποῦ νὰ ἀπὸ κάτω τως (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 34, 40.5) καὶ οἱ δυό τως (1597, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 5, 77.22) νὰ τῶς δώσωμεν (1607, Kalymnos, KOUTELAKIS 1981: 3, 31.5) ἐστιμάρισέν τως το (1624, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2000: 2, 516.18) καὶ σαν οἱ λύκοι ἐκίνησαν ἀπάνω τως, καλέ μου STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 924 (Pidonia) ἐσυμβιβάστησαν ἀναμεταξύ τως (1630, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1993: 1, 289.8) ἀπ' ἐλεφάντες ἑκάτον ἀπάνω τως βαστοῦσι TROILOS, Rodol. III.106 ἐπῆγα νὰ τῶς μιλήσω καὶ νὰ τοῖ κονσολάρω (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 1, 25.4); νὰ τῶς ἀκολουθᾷ (ibid. 2, 27.6) εἶπαν τως ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ KYPRI., Pali 2840

¹² In the documents of the Rethymniot notary Manolis Varouchas, the usual forms are τῶ, τῶν and τῶνε; τῶσε occurs only very rarely (BAKKER 1988/89: 289). See also the statistics in KARANTZOLA/CHALVATZIDAKI 2014: 699.

τῶς ἐπομείναν ἐτουνῶ πηρέτες τως καὶ δοῦλοι FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 72 δὲν θέλετε τῶς πάρει (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 110.143) ὑγίειαν τῶς ἀφίνει PETRITSIS, Dig. O 958 διδόντας τως (1684, Patmos, HOFMANN 1928: 9b, 72.13) συνανάμεσάν τως (1694, Naxos, PANDELIA-GRITSOPOULOU 1998/2000: 1, 229.11) εἶπα τως τὴν ἀλήθεια NEOFYTOS, Achouri 375 κι ἀλλήλως τως KORNAROS, Erot. III.26 ὅσοι τῶς ἀπαντήσα Leilasia Par. 415

τῶσε

τῶσε δίδουν (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 13.51) ἀποὺ τὸ ἀμέλι ὅπου κρατεῖ ὅ,τι τῶσε τοκάρει (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 41, 61.27) πᾶσα ἄλλον ἀποὺ τῶσε τοκάρει (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 50.95) ὡς καθὼς τῶσε φαίνεται (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 198.138–9) νὰ τῶσε δώσει Thysia Avr. 503 κι ἀφτιά νὰ μὴν τῶσε γροικοῦ KORNAROS, Erot. III.26; νὰ τῶσε συμπαθήση ibid. V.878

τοῦν

This form, accented editorially as either τοῦν or τοῦν, is probably formed on the analogy of the singular τοῦ rather than as a result of vowel raising. It occurs mainly in texts from Cythera, where the gen. pl. of the definite article takes the same form (see 5.2.1). An extended form τοῦνε/τουνε also occurs. One example has also been found in a 17th-c. document from Skyros:

καὶ δίδει τουνε (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 15, 93.4); ὅπου τοῦν ἔκαμεν (1565, Cythera, ibid. 257, 356.18); ὅ,τι τοῦν ἐφαινέτονε (ibid. 277, 381.10) νὰ τοῦνε δώσει (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 15, 13.12) ξωφλησμένα ἀπ' ὅ,τι τοῦν ἔδωσα (1664, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 8, 221.6)

τούς/τους

It is easier to trace the evolution of the corresponding possessive form (see 5.4.1.4), which is attested quite early in the period covered by this Grammar. In non-possessive uses, it is often difficult to determine whether the form τούς should be interpreted as accusative or genitive. In many literary texts of the LMedG period, we encounter both cases used for the indirect objective, and it is impossible to establish whether this variation is due to the author or a later copyist (see LENDARI/MANOLESSOU 2003). The use of what is originally an accusative form (< αὐτούς) for the genitive is parallel to what happens with the other plural personal pronouns, where μᾶς and σᾶς serve for both cases (see above; cf. MERTYRIS 2011: 489). The earliest text to show clear uses of τους as genitive is the Chronicle of Morea (ms H, dated 1375).¹³ The form occurs mainly in texts from the Peloponnese, Heptanese, Cyclades and Cyprus; by the late 17th c. its use has become more widespread.

¹³ There are no indisputable examples of gen. personal pronoun τους in the Grottaferrata and Escorial versions of Digenis Akritis. In the first, we find an instance of “ethic dative” which is probably accusative: ἐγὼ δὲ οὐκ ἡγέρθην τους, ἀλλ’ ἐκαθούμην μᾶλλον Dig. G VI.181. In the second, both gen. and acc. are used for the indirect object. It would therefore be unsafe to assume that τους is a genitive in phrases such as: κ’ ἐδῶκεν τους τὰ γράμματα Dig. E 292. (We do, however, find τους as possessive in this text; see 5.4.1.4.)

ένας από τους δώδεκα, ό φρονιμώτερός τους Chron. Mor. H 975; έσέβην έξοπίσω τους ibid. 4681; και γράφει τους πιττάκια ibid. 8319 αρχεί κυρά και λέγει τους Theseid I.23,8 (Follieri) να τους δώσουν βοήθειαν Assizes A 31.21 όταν τους είπεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 12.14; και έπηραν τους οί χριστιανοί πολλά πολεμικά ibid. 176.17–18; και έδωκαν τους τά χαρτία ibid. 280.21–2 καλά τους φαίνεται Άλωνών Alex. Rim. 1106; και είπε τους Άλέξανδρος ibid. 1199 ανάμεσόν τους (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 16, 95.2); τά όσα τους αφήνει (1565, ibid. 257, 356.19) εγώ έχω δύο βοΐδια οπού, χωρίς να τους ειπώ τίποτις ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 46.3–4 έδώσαμέν τους άφορεσμών (1581, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 11, 114.1) να τους έμαντινιέρουν εισέ κάθα κρίσι και εισέ κάθα ένα που να τώσ δώσουν πείραξι (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 75.21–2) έδωσά τους (1631, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 12, 175.9) και ώμιλήσανε μαζί τους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 25–26.31, 1 λέγοντας τους πώς ... Diath. Nikon Metan. 39 να τους ήθελαν μαδήσει τó κεφάλι Bertoldin. 112.33 (neuter, referring to τά πουλιά) έδώσαμέν τους τόπον (1684, Patmos, HOFMANN 1928: 9a, 70.12) την Κόλασην τους δείχνεις CANTEMIR, Krit. 448.12 έχύθηκε καταπάνου τους ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 17.28 τους δίδουν ένα θέλημα τών άνωθεν έπιτρόπωνε (1708, Peloponnese, PAPADOPOULOS 1976: 6, 124.25)

In the following example τούς loses its vowel (syncope; see I, 2.7.2), perhaps as a result of metrical pressure: και τότε τών βαριόμοιρων τς έρθε μεγάλη πρίκα MONTSEL., Evgena 892.

An extended form with /e/ is occasionally found (cf. acc. below):

να τούσε δώση έλευθεριά FALIEROS, Thrinis 198 νατούς έδόσει LIMEN., Than. Rod. 75 transcr. (Lendari) (scr. τούσε δώση) θα τούσε δίδω CHORTATIS, Katz. II.221.

5.3.2.6.2 Masculine Accusative Plural

The basic form of the accusative is τούς/τους from the beginning of the period covered by this Grammar, and remains so in SMG. However, there is a good deal of regional variation, from the 15th c. onwards. The extended form τούσε/τουσε, which occurs mainly in pre-verbal position, is found in texts from various regions, including Crete and other southern areas as well as further north.

τούς/τους

εάν τους παρέχετε τίποτες ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 138.17 τίμα τους ώς άφέντους σου Spaneas V 103 μη ούν άποχωρίσης τους μηδ' άποπέμψης μάλλον, | ώς κοδιμένα δέξου τους Ptoch. I 12–13 ποιώ τους δε και γράμμαν δια άσφάλειαν (1375, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 15, 117.12) όταν τους ζητούν εις την αύλήν Assizes B 278.19 όρίσαμέν τους (1453, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1967: 1, 47.8) ένίκαν τους Achil. N 287 άν τους φανή δριμύ ή πικρόν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 128.15 ὡς καθὼς τοὺς πρέπει (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.7) φαγοποτίζει τοὺς καλά, ἀπ' ἄλογον τοὺς χαρίζει Diig. Alex. Sem. B 806 νὰ τοὺς εὔρωμε Thysia Avr. 1019 τὸ ἄλλο μεράδι τοὺς ἔκαμε σπαχογλανήδες καὶ τὸ ἄλλο μέρος τὶς ἔκαμε γιανιτζάρους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 109.26 (this text has mainly τοὺς, but also sporadic instances of τὶς, perhaps due to scribal intervention) τοὺς εἶπα τὴν πᾶσαν ἀλήθειαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.36 καὶ εὐεργέτησές τοὺς ΝΕΟΦΥΤΟΣ, Achouri 181 ὁποῦ τοὺς ἔπιασαν πρὶ μὲν ἀπὸξω ἀπὲ τὴν Κόρσικα (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 506.17) νὰ τοὺς διασείση (1697, Proikonnisos?/Marmaras, KAMBOURIS 1976: A.5, 197.10) μοῦ τοὺς ἔδειξε (1707, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 13, 311, f.1r.29)

τούσε/τούσε

τὸν κύριν καὶ τὴν μάναν του, εἰς κρίσιν τούσε σταίνου Byz. Il. 243 (ed. τοὺς ἑσταίνου) σὲ κοῦρτες τούσε βάνεις ΡΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 127; μὴδὲν τούσε δοξεύης ibid. 304 νὰ τούσε φέρης εἰς καλὸν Alosis 607 transcr. (Lendari) (Legrand: τοὺς ἐφ.) νὰ μὴν τούσε λυπούμεν ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 64.12 νὰ τούσε δεηθοῦμεν MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 46 οπίσω τουσε πεύει ΣΤΑΥΡΙΝΟΣ, Diig. Mich. Voen. 562 (Pidonia) πῶς εἶχανέ τουσε κόψει ὅλους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 33.2; τοὺς Τούρκους νὰ μὴν τούσε σκοτώνουσι ibid. 39.34–5 αὐτοὺς στὴ σβίγα μου ζερβὰ πάλι τούσε γυρίζω FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 25 γιὰ νὰ τούσε ρωτήσῃ ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 397 δὲ θέλουν τούσε σώσει Prol. Epain. Kef. 64 νὰ τοῦσε βοηθοῦμε Trag. Ag. Dim. II.24

The masculine plural form τὶς/τις (cf. the corresponding form of the definite article, 5.2.1) occurs from the 15th c. onwards in certain regions, particularly the Peloponnese and Cyclades, but examples have also been found in texts written by natives of Thessaloniki and Smyrna. An extended form τίσε also occurs, but is not common; examples have been found in texts from Cythera, Mykonos and the Peloponnese, always in preverbal position.

τίς/τις

ὁποῦ τὶς ἐφώτισεν ὁ Θεὸς (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 44.13) (perhaps for Cretan τσί) ἐρώτηξέν τις (1509, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [1], 6.10) δεμένους τὶς ἤφεραν Diig. Alex. F 196.5 (Lolos) ἀπὸ σπαθίου τὶς κόψασι, ὅλους τοὺς τελειῶσα VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 318 ἔπιασε πολλοὺς σκλάβους καὶ τὶς ἔστειλε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 102.9
 τὶς ἄνωθεν καλογέρους ... ποὺ τὶς θέλει εὔρει (1577, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 21, 156.25) νὰ τὶς ἐβγάνωμε (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 19.11–12) βγαίνομεν καὶ θωροῦμεν τὶς Rim. Sant. 624 σ' ὅ,τι ἤθελε τὶς φωτίση (1669, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 1, 577.2) χρεοφειλετάδες ... ὁποῦ θέλω τὶς παραγγεῖλη (1677, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 2, 125.25–6) τὶς εἶχαν μέσα στὴ γαλιότα (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 26.35) καὶ τὶς ἔδωκα κινί (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 56.18) ὅπου τὶς ἔδωκίς (1698, Albania, KATSANIS 2012: 11, 79.28) (author from Thessaloniki) νὰ τὶς χαιρετήσω (17th–18th c., Sinai, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 35, 140.36) (author from Smyrna) εὐχόμουν καὶ βλογῶ τὶς Trag. Ag. Dim. III.319 app. crit.

τίσε

κριούς ... καὶ αὐτὸς δὲν τίσε βάνει (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 388.25–6)

νὰ τίσε πουλήση Chron. Tourk. Soult. 34.3–4 νὰ τίσε δαίρει (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 26.22)

τσί/τσι (τσ')

In Crete and some other southern areas a form τσί emerges in the late 15th c., comparable to forms of the definite article. Before vowels it can appear as τσ'. It is possible that the form derives from a syncopated [ts] with the subsequent development of the vowel [i]. In mss and older editions it is written with <τζ> (see I, 3.2.6). It is particularly common in Cretan texts, both literary and non-literary, of the 17th c.

καὶ ὁ Κύριος τσ' ἐβαρέθηκεν, μ' ὄφιδες τοὺς παιδεύει CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2623 (τσ' is the editor's correction; mss have τοὺς); κοπιάζει, δέρνει τσ' ἄνομα ibid. 2224 (τζ' app. crit. (M)) νὰ τσ' εὕρη θάμα P&N Diath. 3493 νὰ χαλάση τις τράφους νὰ τσί παστρέψη (1593, Andros?, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 151, 275.11)

γιά νὰ τσ' εὕρω Thysia Avr. 1048 νὰ μποροῦν οἱ ἄνωθεν καβαλάροι νὰ τσί βγάνουν (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 122, 135.9) τσὶ τυραννοῦσι CHORTATSIS, Katz. I.140; βάνε τσι νὰ ζηλεύουσι ὁ ἕνας μὲ τὸν ἄλλο ibid. II.345 νὰ τσί ἔχω βλαμμένους (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 48.21) καὶ σύρνει τζι ὅλους μὲ τοῦ λόγου του VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 40.15–16

θωρώντας τσι τέτοιαις λοῆς κι ἐγὼ εἰδάρισά τσι FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 129 καὶ αὐτοὶ τοὺς παίρνου καὶ πουλοῦ τσι τῶν Πονεντίνω (1660, Crete, KARATHANANIS 1973: 2, 27.15–16)

νὰ τσί κάμωμε (1664, Cyprus, MERTZIOS 1958b: 255.14) (the author is probably from Crete)

νὰ τσί ἐμολογήσουσι (1665, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 9, 418.16) νὰ καταφρονᾷς τσ' ὅλους καὶ νὰ τσί ψέγης KORNAROS, Erot. II.884

καὶ ὅσοι τῶς ἀπαντήσα ὅλους τσί πιάσα Leilasia Par. 415¹⁴

Finally, the form τῶς/τως has also been found as an accusative. Since it is extremely rare, it should be treated with some caution:

καὶ πάλιν ἀφηγοῦμαι τως τοῦ ὀνείρατος τὴν πλάσιν Liv. V 730 νὰ μὴν ἡμπορῇ κανεῖς νὰ τῶς πειράξη (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 85, 117.12–13)

5.3.2.6.3 Feminine Accusative Plural

The inherited form τὰς/τας occurs sporadically, mainly in texts written in mixed or higher registers. It is something of an oddity, since clitic forms of the 3rd person are associated with lower registers, whereas the {ας} ending is learned. It may perhaps be seen as a scribal affectation, influenced by the corresponding residual form of the definite article.

νὰ τὰς ἐξωπροίκισης Ptoch. I 65 καὶ πάντες ἡγαποῦσαν τας κ' ἐμαγείρευάν τας Ptoch. IV 248.5 app. crit. (K)

ἐσφάξαν τας Dig. E 171

¹⁴ Some scholars, including the editor Kriaras, regard this text as the work of a Cretan, but a Parian origin cannot be excluded.

τὰς ἀβαστάκτους λύπας μου συνελυπήθητέ τας Liv. V 768 νὰ τὰς ἀριθμῆσῃ Achil. N 41; τὰς ἐπῆραν ibid. N 690 εὐτὺς τὰς θέλει ἔχει Chron. Mor. P 1754 τὰς ἐκκλησίας των νὰ τὰς ἔχουν (1453, Constantinople, DALLEGIO D'ALESSIO 1939: 118.37) οὐκ ἔμπορεῖ τὰς φύγειν Plani kosmou 59 καὶ ἂν τὰς ἐκράτει ὁ Χαλκέας καὶ ἂν τὰς ἐπελέκα Synax. gyn. 191 (cf. ibid. 472–3) καὶ νὰ τὰς ἐσφεντουρίσῃς FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 346 νὰ τας χαλάσουν ἐκ βάρων γῆς MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 218.3–4 ὅποιοι τὰς ἰδῇ κλαίει τὴν λύπην τωνε (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.31)

The “standard” form in use in LMedG and EMG is τές/τες; it is often written ταῖς in mss and older editions, because it coincides phonetically with the residual feminine dative plural. It is found in literary texts presumed to have been composed in the 12th c., and thereafter across the whole Greek-speaking area up to (and beyond) the end of the period covered by this Grammar. From the 15th c. it is in competition, in certain areas, with innovative forms which will be discussed below. An extended form τέσε has also been found, in a 16th-c. text by Georgios Aitolos and in the Cretan play Panoria, but it is rare: τες ξένες δεν τέσε θωρεῖς ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 121.7; ωσάν τέσε δοξέψεις CHORTATSIS, Panor. IV.383 (mss DN; τίσε A).

ταῖς ἐλαλοῦμεν Dig. G I.225 (scr. τές; λαλῶ has indirect object in acc. in this text) καὶ πάντες ἀγαπήσαν τες κ' ἐμαγειρεύσασιν τες Ptoch. IV 248.5 app. crit. (P) τές χώρες ἐκούρσεύασιν κ' αἰχμαλωτίζανέ τες Chron. Mor. H 3304 νὰ τές ποιήσῃ Assizes B 479.15 ἔδε ποῦ ξεύρει τές βουλές νὰ τές διδασκαλεύῃ Pol. Tr. 2695a app. crit. (R) [Rhodes?]
 νὰ τές φέρουν Chron. Toc. 611 νὰ τές πάρουν Anak. Konst. 78; νὰ τές διασκορπίσουσιν ibid. 79 τές μετρά Krasop. AO 3; φυσᾷ τες καὶ *χασμᾷ*ται Krasop. V 4 καὶ τες ἐπίασαν αὖ στρατιώται καὶ τες ἐπήγασιν εἰς τὸν Ἀγρικόλαον Martyr. Vlas. 246.42–4 ἂν τσὶ πλερώσῃς, νὰ σοῦ τές κάμνω καλὰ (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 33, 33.21) τές ἐπούλησε (1553, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 116, 164.46) νὰ μοῦ τές συγχωρήσετε (1574, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES 1996: 61.17) ἂν τές ἤθελα ἐφθάσει (1615, Lefkada, PENDOGALOS 1977b: 2, 148.21) τές πέντε νὰ τές δώσῃ (1625, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 66, 192.13) ἤφερά τες CHORTATSIS, Katz. Prol. 14; φέρει μοῦ τες ibid. I.331 εἰδαμένταις, idaméndes / εἷδαμέν τες GERMANO, Grammar 51.10 νὰ ὑπᾶμε νὰ τές μαζώξομε; KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 13.28 νὰ τές συμπαθήσῃ (1672, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 13, 10.3) δὲν τές ἡῦρα (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 10, 306, f.1r.12) νὰ μοῦ τές φέρῃς τές γαζέτες (1683, Glarentsa, KONOMOS 1969e: 63.15)

Examples of the new form τίς/τις appear sporadically from the 15th c. onwards, as is the case for the corresponding form of the definite article (see 5.2.1). There is insufficient evidence to suggest where the form first appears. In the 16th c. its distribution includes Crete, the Heptanese, and certain Aegean islands, but nowhere is it the sole variant. Even in the 17th c. examples are not numerous. Thus, the predominance that it came to have in MG is a relatively recent development.

ὅλες τις κακεύουν Pol. Tr. 9314 app. crit. (C) (Peloponnese?); νὰ τις στήσουν ibid. 10431 app. crit. (V) πήχας ζ' ἐπούλησέν τις (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 1, 16.2) τίτοιες δουλειές πρέπει νὰ τις κάμη κανείς (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.8) ὅλες διώξει τις ἤθελαν Theseid I.73,7 (Follieri) νὰ σὲ τις μάθω Achil. O 572 νὰ τις πάρη (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 173.29) τις ἔβγαλε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.37)

νὰ τις ἔχη (1573, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 2, 19.39) μὴν τις κάμης CHORTATIS, Katz. I.30 τις εἶχε παρμένες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 102.1

τις ἔκαμαν (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 4, 5.1) τις μουριές τις ἔδωσα (1666, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 15, 128.14) νὰ τις πάρει Bertoldos 47.3–4 (sole occurrence in this text) ἠφάνισέν τις PETRITSIS, Dig. O 147 ἐμαζώνασίν τις (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 86, 241.13) τις πῆρα καὶ λάβι τις (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 52.16)

μᾶς τις ἀπάριασε Prol. Epain. Kef. 13 νὰ τις κρατοῦνε (1708, Peloponnese, PAPADOPOULOS 1976: 6, 124.27)

κοὶ Τοῦρκοι τις εὐρίσκαν καὶ τὸ ἐκόβαν KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.383

The form τσί/τσι, which can appear before vowels as τσ' (sometimes written τς), is first attested as a fem. acc. pl. clitic pronoun in Cretan texts in the 16th c. However, similar forms with the dental affricate /ts/ (written <τζ> in mss and older editions) also exist for the fem. gen. sg. and masc. acc. pl. of the weak pronoun (see above), as well as for the definite article (see 5.2.1, where the evolution of these forms is also discussed). The fem. acc. pl. form is found particularly in Cretan texts, both literary and non-literary, and occasionally in Heptanesian texts (cf. the last example below from an 18th-c. text by Katsaitis).

ἂν τσί πλερώσης, νὰ σοῦ τές κάμνω καλὰ (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 33, 33.21)

τὲς ὁποῖες ἔλès τοῦ ἔδωκεν καὶ ἀσενιάρισέν του τσι (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 149, 162.11–12)

νὰ μοῦ τσί στείλης τσί τάβλες (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.25) ci elavame / τσί ἐλάβαμε (1633, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1998: 9A, 315.4) ὅλοι ποὺ τσί θωρούσινε CHORTATIS, Erof. Dedic. 4; διώξε τσί πρίκες, διώξε τσι ibid. I.497; ὅλες τς ἀναμερίζω id., Katz. I.94; νὰ τῆς τσί πάρω ibid. I.329; ἔπαρ' τσι ibid. I.337 τσὶ πρωτύτερές μου τιμωρίες δὲν τσί ἐλογιάσετε AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 347

ἀποὺ δὲν τσί γεμίζουνσι μηδὲ εἴκοσι ἀγαστέρες FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.290

όλοι νὰ τσί θωροῦσι Stathis Int. I.36 καὶ πελελές τσί κράζουσιν KORNAROS, Erot. I.690; ἤλεγε πὼς τές δυσκολιές ἡ ἀπομονὴ τσ' ἐνίκα ibid. II.478; ἀφῆτε τσι τές διαφορὲς ibid. II.937

κ' οἱ Τοῦρκοι τις εὐρίσκαν καὶ τὸ ἐκόβαν KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.383

An isolated example of τσίς, which appears to combine τσί with τίς, may be simply a lapsus calami: μὰ λογιάζω νὰ μὴν τσίς ἔλαβες (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.9–10).

5.3.2.6.4 Neuter Accusative Plural

The neuter accusative form (no nominative has been found) is constant throughout the period covered by this Grammar and in all regions:

καὶ ρίκτηι τὰ ἴσα εἰς τὸ φράξον (1124, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 94, 122.10) διὰ τοῦτο τὰ ἔβαλα εἰς τὰ βιβλίτζα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 310.29 (12th-c. ms) ἂν τὰ εἶδες Spaneas V 20; καὶ θες τὸ νοῦν σου καὶ ἄκο τὰ καλὰ ibid. 46 ἀκούετε τὰ καὶ οὐ θλίβεσθε GLYKAS, Stichoi 115; ὅσα κ[αί] ἂν εἶδες ἄφες τὰ ibid. 519 καὶ πίνει τὰ καὶ ἐρεύγεται Ptoch. III 122 ἐπροσκομίσανέ τὰ Chron. Mor. H 1840 ἄπαξ τὰ ἔρισαν καὶ ἐμέτρησάν τὰ οἱ φιλόσοφοι Assizes B 284.15 ὅλα τοὺς τὰ ἠπῆραν Chron. Toc. 76 δεχτήτε τὰ (1468, Nicosia, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 50, 27.5) θέλω σοῦ τὰ πέψει (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 21.16–17) εἴ τις ἔρχοτον νὰ τὰ ἐρωτήσῃ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.35 καὶ βάλῃ τὰ στὸ στήθος σου καὶ φά τὰ, ὅντε διψάσεις Thysia Avr. 539 ἤδωκέν τως τὰ (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 518, 745.17) καὶ θὰ τὰ παίρνῃ (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 2, f.38v.25)

5.3.3 The Periphrastic Personal Pronoun (τοῦ) λόγου μου

This pronominal phrase consists of the genitive singular of the noun λόγος followed by the possessive (clitic) pronoun appropriate to the person it refers to. In EMG it may be preceded by the definite article τοῦ. It can sometimes function as a personal pronoun, which may be the subject or object of a verb, but most often it is governed by a preposition. Examples of these uses:

δὲν ἔχει τί νὰ κάμῃ τοῦ λόγου του (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.7) (subject) τὸν πάτερ Σωφρόνιο, καὶ ἐλόγου μου EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 65.10–11 (object) νὰ μάθῃς ἀπὸ λόγου μου τίς καὶ τίνος ὑπάρχω Velth. 1244 (after a preposition)

It sometimes refers back to the subject (i.e. it is used reflexively) or it can resemble an intensive pronoun (“I myself” etc.), e.g.:

λέγοντας τοῦ λόγου του μακαριώτατον (1692, Bucharest, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 4, 51.43–4) (reflexive) τοῦ λόγου σας νὰ το φτιάσετε Diig. Alex. K 359.14 (intensive)

In addition, it may function, in the 2nd and 3rd persons, as a politeness strategy, in place of the simple personal pronoun.¹⁵ For some further information on usage, see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. λόγος.

The origins and development of the periphrasis have been discussed at some length in PERNOT 1923 and SPYRIDAKIS 1939, but a number of problems remain. Spyridakis follows Meyer in tracing the periphrasis back to the phrase εἰς λόγον, “for the sake of, on account of”, via διὰ λόγου + gen. He further notes that λόγος frequently has a financial sense (= λογαριασμός) in post-classical Greek, in expressions of the type εἰς λόγον τοῦ δεῖνος (e.g., in the New Testament, εἰς λόγον ὑμῶν, “to your account”, Philippians IV.17).

¹⁵ There are various other periphrases used as polite forms of address in LMedG and EMG: ἡ ἀφεντιά σου, ἡ βασιλεία σου, ἡ ἐξοχότητά σου, ἡ εὐγενειά σου etc. In addition we can find metonymic periphrases such as ἡ ψυχὴ μου, τὸ κορμί μου etc. However, unlike λόγου μου, none of these has fully grammaticalized pronominal status.

He argues that since such expressions had the same sense as prepositional phrases involving personal pronouns, there arose new constructions of the type ἀπὸ λόγου μου etc., and later with μετὰ and διὰ. Pernot claims that τοῦ λόγου σου presupposes a nominative ὁ λόγος σου, but recognizes that the genitive case indicates that it was originally preceded by a preposition, specifically ἀπὸ, as Korais had suggested.

There is a dearth of evidence, in both the EMedG and LMedG periods, which would support these arguments. On the basis of the data collected so far, the following conclusions may be drawn:

- 1) Examples with the definite article are not found in LMedG. In the following excerpt, the phrase does not appear to be used as a pronoun equivalent, but locutions such as this may explain how the article came to be incorporated: κὶ ἂν ἔνι ἀπὸ τοῦ λόγου σου κὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ ὀρίσμοῦ σου Chron. Mor. H 3460 (ms dated 1375). Otherwise, indisputable examples of the pronominal phrase with the article have not been located before the 16th c.
- 2) The most common use, in the texts examined, is after the preposition διὰ/γιά. Indeed, in Cypriot texts it has been found only in that combination.

We might therefore postulate the following stages of development: the phrase διὰ λόγου + gen., in the sense of “on the orders of, with the agreement of, or in favour of someone” is reanalysed as preposition + pronominal phrase consisting of λόγου + clitic pronoun.¹⁶ Other prepositions (εἰς/σέ, μετὰ, μέ, ἀπὸ) can then be substituted, so that, for example, ἀπὸ λόγου σου is equivalent to ἀπὸ σένα. On its own, the phrase can also function as subject or object. The later addition of the article τοῦ may be to convey definiteness or on the analogy of the reflexive pronoun phrase τοῦ ἑαυτοῦ μου. (In verse texts it may also serve metrical needs.) However, even in the latter part of the EMG period, the pronoun phrase is less widely attested with the definite article than without it.¹⁷

However, an alternative line of development is suggested by the occurrence of dative λόγῳ in corresponding expressions. Earlier studies (PERNOT 1923: 66–7; SPYRIDAKIS 1939: 47) proposed a passage in the Prodromic Poems as the first identified occurrence of the pronominal phrase: καὶ λόγου μου νὰ λέγουσι “ρωμάνισε τὴν πόρταν” Ptoch. IV 308. The pronoun phrase serves as an indirect object (“to me”); however, other mss actually have λόγῳ μου (H, 14th c.) or λόγου μας (V, 14th–15th c.). Pernot suggested that λόγῳ was simply a “correction savante” by the copyist of H. But it is not the only example. We may compare: νὰ σ’ ἐνθυμίση λόγῳ μου νὰ μὲ χειραγωγήσης Ptoch. (Maiuri) 6 (15th-c. ms) (the meaning is perhaps “on my account, in regard to me”). A dative also occurs twice in a late 13th-c. monastic document from Asia Minor: ἔξωθεν γοῦν τοῦτων ἐκράτησα λόγῳ μου ὥσπερ μερίδιόν τι (1294, Smyrna region, ΜΙΚΛΟΣΙΧ/ΜÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 180, 286.17–18); καὶ τὰ ἄπερ ἐκράτησα λόγῳ μου εἰς μικράν μου περιποίησιν (1294, ibid. 286.32–3). Here the sense is reflexive: “for my own use or benefit, for myself”.¹⁸

¹⁶ Two interesting examples of somewhat different uses of λόγου can be found in early vernacular texts: ἐκράτησεν ὁ ρῆγας | διὰ λόγου κ’ ἰμοιράδι του, τίποτε ἄλλον οὐ χρειάστη Chron. Mor. H 7101–2 (“on his own account and as his portion”); τὴν κόρην τὴν ἐφύλαγα λόγου τοῦ Γιαννακίου Dig. E 1373 (“on behalf of/for Giannakis”).

¹⁷ In the Cretan romance Erotokritos, for example, of the 60 occurrences of λόγου μου etc. only 5 are with τοῦ (and only after μέ, which may suggest that it is inserted for euphonic reasons). In this text (τοῦ) λόγου is only used after prepositions, never as subject or object.

It is conceivable, therefore, that in these texts of the 13th to 15th centuries (the verse texts were composed in the 12th c., but the mss are later) λόγῳ represents the original form of the expression. We would then be dealing with an extension of the common use of λόγῳ (and later λόγου) + genitive noun in Byzantine texts, in the sense of “for, with respect to, as” (LBG s.v. λόγος and see also CARACAUSI, Lex. for S. Italian examples of both λόγῳ and λόγου + noun, e.g. λόγου τιμίματος, λόγῳ τῆς μονῆς), but now followed by a clitic pronoun. It is noteworthy that the examples with λόγῳ appear to be from areas under Constantinopolitan influence. The λόγου μου etc. forms could be a separate, parallel development, from prepositional phrases such as διὰ λόγου μου. But we cannot rule out the possibility that λόγου μου/σου/του developed from λόγῳ by assimilation to the vowel of the singular clitic forms.

Once the λόγου μου form is grammaticalized as a periphrastic pronoun, there is very limited variation. In the Chronicle of Morea we find several instances where the syllable o precedes λόγου + clitic pronoun. It is debatable whether this should be regarded as the masculine nominative of the definite article or as a prothetic vowel, i.e. *o*λόγου (PERNOT 1923: 66 n. 1; see also SPYRIDAKIS 1939: 50). In the last of these examples it is clearly not a nominative:

εἶχεν καὶ ἐπὶ κλην ὁ λόγου του, τὸν ἐλέγαν ντὲ Σαλοῦθε Chron. Mor. H 1380; κάστρον ἐποίησε ὁ λόγου του καὶ Πασσαβᾶν τὸ ἐκράξε ibid. 3164; ἔποικειν κάστρο ὁ λόγου του κ' ἐκράξέ το Γεράκιν ibid. 3166; διὰ εὐεργεσίαν κι ὁ λόγου του μερίδιν τοῦ πολέμου ibid. 7106; νὰ τὸ κρατῇ διὰ ὁ λόγου του ἢ ἄλλου νὰ τὸ δώση ibid. 8394

We can also find, much later, a form with prothetic vowel /e/ (but never with the definite article), e.g. ἐβουλήθηκα νὰ ἔλθω καὶ εἰς ἐλόγου σας Alex. Fyll. 88.30. A further phonological variant is gemination of /l/ (see I, 3.4.2.5): in Cypriot texts, from at least the 16th c., the usual form is διὰ λλόγου (or γιὰ λλόγου), which some editors write as one word: διαλλόγου.

The periphrastic pronoun (τοῦ) λόγου μου has a wide distribution throughout the Greek-speaking world, including Cyprus, where it co-exists with alternative expressions such as (ἐ)ξαυτὸν μου (see the following section), and it is found both in literary texts and in documents. In the examples below, listed by person, instances without the definite article are given first:

1st Person Singular

προσκύνησε τὸν ... κύρι Γερόντιον ἀπὸ λόγου μου (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 101.9) καὶ ἄς στέκουσιν διὰ λόγου μου, νὰ ἔν' εἰς τὸ θέλημά μου Achil. L 86 εξεύρε πως ἔμαθα και λαλεις πολλὰ λόγια διὰ λλόγου μου! VOUSTR., Chron. A 270.13

¹⁸ The phrase is occasionally found with an acc., perhaps from a desire for grammatical “correctness”, as in this 16th-c. text: μακρὰ ἀπὸ λόγον σου Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 236 app. crit.

ή δική μου πιντώννεται διὰ λόγου μου καὶ ἡ δική σου παρκατεβαίνει διὰ λόγου σου Fior 136.15–16 γιὰ λόγου μου Cypr. Canz. 104.17 νὰ σπουδάζουν διὰ λόγου μου Pist. kekoim. 479 διὰ λόγου μου (1583, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 15, 29.6) γοργό γοργό από λόγου μου θες δεις την πεθυμιά σου CHORTATZIS, Panor. I.400

ὀδιά λόγου μου (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 4, 364.4) καὶ καμίαν ἔννοιαν μὴ ἔχοντος τινὰς διὰ λόγου μου (1653, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 3, 144.10)

ἂν ἐρωτᾷτε διὰ λόγου μου (1680, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 8, 301, f.1r.5) ὑποσχόμεθα διὰ λόγου μας (1685, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1918a: 130.32–3) ἀπό λόγου μου (1699?, Lvov?, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 9, 69.158)

θέλεις τίποτε από λόγου μου Don Kis. 144.15

εἰς ἐλόγου μου (1697, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 55, 237.21)

τὸν πάτερ Σωφρόνιο, καὶ ἐλόγου μου ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 65.10–11

καὶ θέλω μὲ τοῦ λόγου μου τὴ συντροφιά τοῦ γιοῦ μου Thysia Avr. 254 ἐγὼ δὲν ἄφηνα τοῦ λόγου μου νὰ κλεισθῶ Bertoldos 63.29 νὰ γένης πατέρας εἰς τοῦ λόγου μου (1696, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 4 [Δ'], 256.6) αλίμονον εἰς του λόγου μου Don Kis. 185.12 προσεύχου διὰ τοῦ λόγου μου Trag. Ag. Dim. II.55

2nd Person Singular

κι ὀρέγεσαι ἀπὸ λόγου σου νὰ τὸ ἔχης καταπιάσει Chron. Mor. H 6107 καὶ ἄλλος καμῆλιν διὰ λόγου σου Liv. E 2835 πολλὰ ἴπαθα γιὰ λόγου σου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 85 νὰ λάβω γραφὴ ἀπὸ λόγου σου (1554, Bologna, CATALDI PALAU 2000: 1, 386.9) (author from Corfu) ποῦ γίνεται γιὰ λόγου σου, κυρά μου Cypr. Canz. 37.7

ἀπὸ λόγου σου Thysia Avr. 608 ἔχω μεγάλο παράπνο ἀπὸ λόγου σου (1638, Andros, POLEMIS 1999b: 9, 32.24) χαρτιά ἀπὸ λόγου σου (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 24.4) ἐγὼ δὲν ἤμου μὲ λόγου σου σύντροφος (1699?, Lvov?, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 9, 69.161) (author from Smyrna) ρίξε τοῦ λόγου σου κάτω KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 4.4

ἂν εἶναι ἐκεῖνοι ἀμάδι μὲ τοῦ λόγου σου VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34.1

εσύ θέλεις κρατήσῃ του λόγου σου καλορίζικον Don Kis. 47.3

3rd Person Singular

ὁ κατὰ εἷς διὰ λόγου του τοῦ νὰ ἔχη κουγκεστήσῃ Chron. Mor. H 1395 (but with the article in the later ms P: ὁ κάθε εἷς τοῦ λόγου του) τὸ λαβάνει διὰ λόγου του Assizes B 265.11 ἔναν παλάτιν χωριστὸν διὰ λόγου του ἐποῖκε Pol. Tr. 1268 app. crit. (A) ἐπάσχισεν διὰ λόγου του καὶ οὐδὲν τὸ ἐδυνήθη Chron. Toc. 2035 εποίκεν μάτζε της ρήγαινας διὰ λόγου του καὶ οὐλους αντάμα VOUSTR., Chron. A 160.12; κ' ἐκεῖνος εἶπεν πολλὴν κακὸν διὰ λόγου της ibid. 284.8–9 νὰ ποῦν διὰ λόγου του Fior 137.17

νὰ δώσῃ ὅλον τὸ πλοῦτος τοῦ παιδιοῦ χάρισμαν διαλλόγου του Pist. kekoim. 123 ὀδιά λόγου του (1550, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1970: 5 [E'], 295.11)

μηδὲν πάψης | γὰρ λόγου της νὰ γράψης Cypr. Canz. 94.74–5 διὰ λόγου του καὶ ὁδὶα τοὺς ἀδελφούς του (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 51.52)

τὰ ροῦχα του γὰρ λόγου τση νὰ βάψη Vosk. 392 (γὰρ amended from διὰ) οὐτεὶς διὰ λόγου του οὐτε διὰ τὴν χώραν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §30.97 (with final /n/ added) γῆ ὅποιος ἄλλος ἤθελε εἶσται διὰ λόγου του (1674, Milos, IMELLOS 1985/90: 330.13) ἀπὸ λόγου τῆς (1686, Naxos, SIFONΙΟΥ-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 647, 889.10) ὁμπλιγάρεται διὰ λόγου της καὶ διὰ τοὺς ἐρχομένους (1693, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969e: 65.10)
 διὰ ἐλόγου του (1681, Andros, PASCHALIS 1924: 170.4) ὄσους ἄλλους χριστιανούς εὐρουσι με του λόγου του Martyr. Vlas. 245.14 καὶ πόσον φουσάτον ἔχει με τοῦ λόγου του; Diig. Alex. F 218.12–13 (Lolos) δὲν ἔχει τί νὰ κάμη τοῦ λόγου του (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.7) ἐγὼ ἔχω παράπονον εἰς τοῦ λόγου του (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 1, 289.6) ὅστις σκοτώση τοῦ λόγου του, αὐτοφόντης λέγεται ZYGOM., Synopsis 133.A.64 διὰ τοῦ λόγου του MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 314.24 νὰ μνέσκη τὸ σπῖτι λίμπερο στοῦ λόγου του (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 13, 39.9) δὲν ἔχει τοῦ λόγου του γερόν PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.49 ὁ ὅποιος ἐρχοτον πρὸς τοῦ λόγου της Thavm. Nikon Metan. III 14 ἔγραψε τὸν μπεθερό του καὶ τοῦ λόγου του ἐν τῇ Ἁγίᾳ Προθέσει (1673, Gortynia, YANNAROPOYΛΟΥ 1972: 78, 320.2) λέγοντας τοῦ λόγου του μακαριώτατον (1692, Bucharest, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 4, 51.43–4); ἄφησα καὶ τὸ κλειδὶ στοῦ λόγου του (1699?, Lvov?, ibid. 9, 66.12–13)

1st Person Plural

διὰ λόγου μας (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.29) ἀπὸ λόγου μας RODINOS, Vios Ign. 112.16 ὅπου ἤκουσε διὰ λόγου μας (1654, Karpenisi, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 7, 82.5)
 ὀνομάζομεν τοῦ λόγου μας φιλοχρίστους DAM. STOUD., Dial. 96.30 παστρεύοντας τοῦ λόγου μας RODINOS, Vios Ign. 112.13 νὰ κλαύσωμεν τοῦ λόγου μας νὰ κλαύσωμεν τὴν Πόλι MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2391 νὰ δοθῇ καὶ εἰς τοῦ λόγου μας ὁλονῶν, καὶ ἀνδρῶν καὶ γυναικῶν MAXIMOS, Synax. Ag. Nik.
 145.343
 ἐκατεδέχθη καὶ ἔλαβε σταυρὸν καὶ θάνατον διὰ τοῦ λόγου μας VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.36 ἦλθε πρὸς τοῦ λόγου μας (1645, Jassy, LEGRAND 1903: 5, 10.1) καὶ τίποτες στοῦ λόγου μας κακὸν δὲν θὲ μᾶς βλάψει KONDAR., Paidēs 741 ἤρχουνταν πρὸς του λόγου μας Don Kis. 473.18

2nd Person Plural

διὰ λόγου σας VOUSTR., Chron. A 276.11 μὴν κλαίγετε δι' ἐμέ, ἀμὴ κλαίγετε διὰ λόγου σας καὶ διὰ τὰ παιδία σας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 437.14–15
 τὴν βασιλείαν ... ὅπου ἔναι ὁδηγημένη διαλλόγου σας Pist. kekoim. 700 γιὰτὶ οἱ χαρὲς γὰρ λόγου σας δὲν ἔναι Cypr. Canz. 94.81 χίλιες γὰρ λόγου σας φωτιές στο στήθος γνώθω ὁμπρός μου CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 52 καθέννας ἀπὸ λόγου σας εἶστε ἐδεπὰ ἐρθωμένοι FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 134 αὐθέντης μου γὰρ λόγου σας θὲ με φιλοδωρήση KONDAR., Paidēs 292 σὲ λόγου σας Diig. Vefa 846 του λόγου σας να το φτιάσετε Diig. Alex. K 359.14 ὄχι μόνον τοῦ λόγου σας βλάβετε, ἀλλὰ καὶ τοὺς ἀδελφούς (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 236.141)

ἡ ἐπιθυμία, ἐνεργῶντας εἰς τοῦ λόγου σας VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34.11

3rd Person Plural

τὴν ζημίαν τὴν ἐξωδίασεν ὁ караβοκύρης διὰ λόγου τους Assizes A 48.29 ὅσοι δὲν ἔχουν, ἔχεις Ἑσοῦ διαλλόγου τους Pist. kekoim. 481–2 διὰ λόγου τους (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 8, 129.6)

ἀπὸ λόγου τους ἐγινεν (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 237.34) ἐκόπη ἡ γραφή διὰ λόγου τῶνε (1622, Crete, MALTEZOU 1989: 358.16) οἱ Τοῦρκοι εἶναι μακρεῖα ἀπὸ λόγου των ἀνάμису μέρα (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 508.62–3) λάβε ἀπὸ λόγου τους ἓνα βιβλίον (1692, Bucharest, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 4, 54.184) ο μῦθος λέγει πῶς τινές οποῦ φιλονικούσι | με τοὺς μεγαλιότερους τοῦ λόγου τοὺς λυπούσι AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 106.9–10 ἐπούλησαν τοῦ λόγου τῶς RODINOS, Vios Ign. 73.28

ποιά δένδρη ἡμερὰ δέχονται ἄλλα φυτὰ εἰς τοῦ λόγου τους LANDOS, Geopon. 148.31–2 5.3.4 The Periphrastic Personal Pronoun αὐτόν μου etc.

The periphrastic personal pronoun αὐτόν μου or (ἐ)ξαυτόν μου (and their variants) occurs almost exclusively in Cypriot texts, with a range of functions: it may be an intensive or reflexive pronoun, or the equivalent of a strong pronoun functioning as the object of a verb or preposition. The origins and development of these forms have never been satisfactorily explained (for examples see KRIARAS, Lex. s.vv. αὐτός (3), ἐξαυτής, ἐξαυτόν, ἐξαυτού).

The phrase essentially consists of the demonstrative αὐτός, in the accusative or genitive singular, masculine or feminine, followed by a genitive clitic pronoun in any person or number. It is normally preceded by a preposition.¹⁹ For the incorporation of a clitic in periphrastic pronouns we may compare λόγου μου, the intensive αὐτός μου, the reflexive τὸν ἑαυτό(ν) μου, and the reciprocal ἀλλήλως μας (see 5.6.1, 5.11.1, 5.12.2). Given the similarity of function, the phrase αὐτόν μου may have been formed principally on the analogy of λόγου μου. However, the stages of development remain obscure, and no explanation has been offered for the fact that forms that appear to be feminine (αὐτήν, αὐτῆς) co-exist with “masculine” ones, without any gender differentiation.²⁰ One possibility is that the expression is elliptical, and a feminine noun such as ψυχή or καρδιά has been lost, or rather replaced by a demonstrative pronoun. A further hypothesis is that the phrase may originate in a reflexive expression, where the gender would relate to the referent, e.g.

¹⁹ Rarely, the phrase is found without a preposition; this example is from a Cretan rather than a Cypriot text: πῶς δὲν τήνε θωρῶ θὰ κάμω αὐτῆς μου Pist. voskos II 4.76 (probably an intensive pronoun, “I myself”, or “as for me”).

²⁰ SIAPKARAS-PITSILLIDÈS (1975: 348) asserts that in these periphrases the accusative αὐτήν refers only to feminine nouns, whereas the genitive αὐτῆς is an invariable form used for all genders. Given that accents are editorial, as is the gemination in αὐτήσου, and given that there is at least one example of αὐτήν σου with masculine referent (listed below), that argument cannot be sustained. The texts examined do not systematically distinguish between masc. and fem. forms of αὐτός in this periphrasis, though a distinction for gender may have existed at an earlier stage of its development.

εις ἑαυτήν, ἐξ ἑαυτοῦ, ἐξ ἑαυτῆς. Note, for example, the reflexive pronoun with accompanying clitic in the 13th-c. (15th-c. manuscript) Cypriot Assizes: ἐκεῖνος ἀφ' ἑαυτοῦ του ἀδικᾷ τοὺς ὄρκους του Assizes B 286.3, where the meaning is “of himself”, “of his own volition”, which is very similar to the intensive pronominal phrase αὐτός του (see 5.6.1).²¹ Since the latter form occurs only rarely in Cypriot, it could be argued that Cypriot “found” a different way of expressing the sense, by means of prepositional phrases consisting of εἰς or ἐξ and the reflexive/demonstrative pronoun (ἐ)αυτόν/(ἐ)αυτοῦ (cf. the alternative intensive pronoun phrase ἀπατός μου). While αὐτός/ἀπατός μου only occurs in the nominative (declined for gender and number), the Cypriot periphrases only occur with oblique cases of αὐτός in the singular.²²

Examples are numerous in Cypriot texts from the 13th to the 17th centuries.²³ Since many variants co-exist in the same text, it is difficult to plot the stages of development. What is clear is that at some point the forms preceded by ἐξ become grammaticalized as periphrastic personal pronouns (ἐ)ξαυτόν μου etc. Consequently they can themselves follow another preposition, typically ἀπό: e.g. ἀπό ξαυτῆς μου, ἀπό ξαύτου του (for the shift of stress cf. αὐτός; see 5.5.1.4).

Further research is needed on the origins and development of these forms, as well as on their semantics and grammatical functions. Below we set out some examples of the different forms.²⁴ Sometimes we give notes on meaning, where this might be helpful, but it is often difficult to determine the precise function of the periphrasis.

εἰς/σ' αὐτόν + clitic ἐντέχεται νὰ γένη εἰς αὐτόν του Assizes B 253.7; ἔρχεται εἰς αὐτόν του ibid. 310.23 πολλή ἀντροπή εἰς αὐτόν μας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 234.10; ἂν δὲν ἔρτης εἰς αὐτόν μας, θέλομεν ἔρτειν ἐμεῖς εἰς αὐτόν σου ibid. 654.38–656.1

σ' αὐτόν μου Cypr. Canz. 2.21; σ' αὐτόν σου σέναν ibid. 47.5; σ' αὐτόν σας ibid. 106.25 καὶ ἔχουν τὰ θαρ<ρ>ικὰ τοὺς εἰς αὐτόν Σου Pist. kekoim. 484 εἰς αὐτόν σας MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 271.48 νὰ ᾿χη ᾿ς αὐτόν του πίστιν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 448

εἰς/σ' αὐτῆς + clitic ὅπου μοῦ ἐποίκετε εἰς αὐτῆς μου MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 94.10 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) πὼς ἐπήγεν εἰς αὐτῆς του VOUSTR., Chron. A 144.16 εἰς αὐτῆς του Fior 123.1 (“to him”) σ' αὐτῆς μου Cypr. Canz. 51.8; σ' αὐτῆς μας ibid. 153.4

εἰς/σ' αὐτήν + clitic ἀμμέ καρδιά μου πάντα ᾿ναι σ' αὐτῆς σου²⁵ Cypr. Canz. 43.8; νὰ δοθῶ σ' αὐτήν σου ibid. 58.2; σ' αὐτῆς σου ibid. 69.5, 124.6

γλυκιὰ ἦλθα σ' αὐτήν σου Alfav. 10 11 (text, which has some Cypriot features, published 1586)

²¹ For further examples of the reflexive pronoun with a clitic but with the definite article, see 5.11.1. Not all instances are in texts from Cyprus.

²² According to KOUNDOURIS (2009: 26) there are 10 instances of gen. pl. αὐτῶν (e.g. ἐξ αὐτῶν του) in the Assizes, but he attributes this to scribal (or editorial?) correction of αὐτόν, due to the homophony.

²³ Much of the data is presented in KOUNDOURIS 2009: 26–30, but with little discussion of the origins or the semantics of the phrase.

²⁴ Further examples can be found in the glossaries of the relevant editions.

²⁵ For the assimilation of the final /n/ see I, 3.4.2.4.

ἐξ αὐτόν + clitic²⁶

ἐντέχεται νὰ γένη ἐξ αὐτόν του Assizes B 267.2–3; ἄς ἔρτη νὰ ἀνκαλέσῃ ἐξ αὐτόν του ibid. 301.21–2 (perhaps “in person”, or “on his own authority”); νὰ περιλάβῃ ἐξ αὐτόν του ibid. 305.22–3 (“from him”); θελήσουν νὰ ἔχουν ἐλεημοσύνην ἐξ αὐτόν του ὅπου τὴν ἐξηπαρθένευσεν ibid. 347.4–5 (the sense seems to be “to have mercy on him”) θελήσουν νὰ ἔχουν ἐλεημοσύνην ἐξ αὐτόν του ὅπου τὴν ἔφθειρεν Assizes A 97.6–7 ἔμαθεν ἐξαυτόν του ὅλα τὰ τοὺς ἀποθα<μ>μένους βάσανα Pist. kekoim. 196–7

ἀξ αὐτόν + clitic²⁷

ἀξ αὐτόν τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 322.12–13 δὲν ἦπορῶ, ὁδελφάκι μου, νὰ βαστακτῶ ᾧ αὐτό σου Charon III 25

ἀξ αὐτοῦ + clitic

δῶξέ την ἀξαυτοῦ σου Fior 90.7 (“from yourself”)

ἀξ αὐτῆς + clitic

νὰ ἔχη ἀξαυτῆς της Fior 119.24 (either object “her” or partitive “some of her”); πασαμιά ἀξαυτῆς τους ἀγγαστρώθην ibid. 123.31–2 (“of them”); ἀξαυτῆς του ibid. 132.9 (perhaps “on account of him”); ἐμίσευσεν ὁ Θεὸς ἀξαυτῆς τους ibid. 145.29 (“from them”) ἰντραβενιάζει ἀξαυτῆς τους, ὡς γοιὸν λαλοῦσιν διὰ τὸ κρασίν Fior, Suppl. 271.20

ἀξ αὐτή(ν) + clitic κ’ ἔρκεται ἀξ αὐτήσ σου Cypr. Canz. 99.3; ἔξ αὐτήσ σου ibid. 59.1, 134.1

ἀπὸ ξαυτόν + clitic

ἀποῦ ᾧ αὐτόν σου / ἀποῦ ᾧ ξαυτόν σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.2 ἀπὸ ξαυτόσ σου Cypr. Canz. 22.2 λαμβάνουν ἀπὸ ξαυτόν τους κληρονομικά Pist. kekoim. 626–7 αποξαυτόντους / ἀπὸ ξαυτόν τους (app. crit.) (17th c., Unknown, ŠANGIN 1936: 4, 149.25)

ἀπὸ ξαύτου + clitic

ὁ ἀσκητῆς ἐθέλησε νὰ τ’ ἀφήσῃ νὰ φύγῃ ἀπὸ ξαύτου του Fior 116.22 (“from him”); ἐβγαίνουσιν ἀπὸ ξαύτου της ibid. 145.7–8 (“from out of her soul”) ἀπὸ ξαυτῆς + clitic

καὶ θέλεις ἐβγάλῃν τὸν θυμὸν ἀποῦ ᾧ αὐτῆς τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 254.23–4 ἀπὸ ᾧ ξαυτῆς σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 77.26–7 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) ἀνίσως καὶ ὁ Θεὸς ποίσει τὸ θέλημάν του ἀπὸ ᾧ ξαυτῆς μου VOUSTR., Chron. A 150.15–16 (B ἐξ αὐτῆς μου) (the meaning is adversative: “against me”); ἰντα θέλετε νὰ μάθετε ἀπὸ ᾧ ξαυτῆς μου; ibid. 278.1–2 πολλοὶ ἀπὸ ξαυτῆς τους Fior 144.23 ἀποῦ ξαυτῆς μου MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 76.47; ἀποῦ ξαυτῆ σου ibid. 77.28; ἀπὸ ξαυτῆς μας ibid. 77.29–30; θέλομεν πληρωθῇν ἀπὸ ξαυτῆ σας ibid. 375.41

5.4 Possessive Pronouns and Determiners

The possessives “my, your, her” etc. assume various grammatical forms in LMedG and EMG. The weak (i.e. non-emphatic) forms are clitic pronouns, specifically the genitive case of the relevant weak personal pronoun; they are discussed below in 5.4.1. Emphatic ²⁶ Whether ἐξ αὐτόν is written as two words or as one is largely an editorial decision. Sometimes the form is written as a single word when the preposition clearly retains its prepositional function.

²⁷ For the change of vowel from /e/ to /a/, probably due to assimilation to the following vowel in this instance, see I, 2.8.5.

forms (“my own, mine” etc.) employ an adjective meaning “one’s own, personal”, such as ἰδικός, (ἐ)δικός, ἴδιος, together with a clitic personal pronoun; for these see 5.4.2. Finally, in 5.4.3, we give some examples of the residual adjectival forms inherited from AG, which exist only for the 1st and 2nd persons and are in very restricted use in the period covered by this Grammar.

5.4.1 Weak (Clitic) Forms

The weak possessive pronouns are identical with the genitive forms of the weak personal pronouns. For the evolution of these forms see 5.3.2. The possessive pronouns occur in the noun phrase and are enclitic: they immediately follow the noun or an adjective that agrees with it. While the forms for the 1st and 2nd person, singular and plural, do not exhibit any variation, those for the 3rd person have a similar allomorphic range to the genitive forms of the corresponding weak personal pronoun.

There is a general phenomenon which may affect the 3rd-person possessive pronouns: voicing of /t/ to /d/, when the previous word ends with a nasal /n/, as, for example, an accusative or a neuter singular. (For details see I, 3.8.3.2; CHATZIDAKIS 1915: 461; DRESSLER 1966b.) Since the noun and possessive were normally written as one word in LMedG and EMG (τὸ στόμαντου), word division can be a problem for modern editors in such cases. We find both τὸ στόμαν του and τὸ στόμα ντου, largely according to editorial preference: the second version implies loss of the nasal. (In other words this is essentially a matter of phonology rather than morphology.) In some areas the forms with voiced consonant are generalized, irrespective of the preceding phoneme. This phenomenon is found mainly in texts from Crete and the Cyclades. It gives rise to forms such as ντου, ντης, ντζη, ντους, ντως, etc. Many editions of literary texts do not exhibit such forms, largely because their editors have systematically avoided them. Conversely, other editors introduce them in an attempt to restore “genuine” dialect features. For example, whereas the Xanthoudidis edition of Erotokritos (1915) gives τὰ πάθη ντως (III.590), perhaps influenced by modern dialect usage, the edition of S. Alexiou (1980) has τὰ πάθη τως. (In the first edition of 1713 we find τὰ πάθη τως, while the London ms has ταπαθιτους.) Examples will be given from texts and editions which contain such forms, but it should be borne in mind that editorial decisions are almost always involved.

5.4.1.1 1st and 2nd Persons Singular

	General
1 sg.	μου
2 sg.	σου

The first- and second-person forms μου and σου are invariable throughout the period:

μέ τήν ἀδελφή μου (1060–1, S. Italy, GUILLLOU 1967: 4, 58.12) τοῦ μύλου τοῦ κληρικοῦ μου (1085, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 43, 146.7) παιδί μου Spaneas V 24
 ἔδωκα ὑπὲρ ψυχικῆς μου σωτηρίας (ca. 1245, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 16, 7.1) τοῦ ἀφέντου μου τοῦ ρῆγα Chron. Mor. H 244 σουλτάνε μου (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.1) κατὰ τὸν ἀχαμνόν μου σκοπόν Fior 73.14 ὀγι' ἀγάπη μου ἐμέ FALIEROS, Ist. On. 364 ἡ παλαιογουνέλα μου καὶ τὰ δύο μου φουστάνια (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 14, 24.18) sisimu chie pnoimu / ζήση μου καὶ πνοή μου Thysia Avr. 995 transcr. M ἐγὼ δὲ τὸ ἀνάξιον παιδὶν σου ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 312.9
 τίμα τους ὡς ἀφέντους σου Spaneas V 103 ἐδὰ, Μιχάλη ταπεινέ, φέρε τὸν λογισμόν σου GLYKAS, Stichoi 518 ὁ πατέρας σου Chron. Mor. P 6310 τὸ κορίτζιν σου SFRANTZIS, Chron. 160.6
 τὸ χρυσό σου τὸ κεφάλι (1487, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 16, 87.1) ὡσὰν ἐχθρός σου νά 'μουνα 'ς ὅλες τὲς ὀρεξές σου Theseid I.102,2 (Follieri) καὶ πρὸς τὸν ἄντρα σου ἡ ὀριξή σου Pent. Gen. 3.16 λέγω σηκώσου, πάγαινε, διάβα στὰ γονικά σου Diig. Alex. Sem. B 276 ἐδίωξες τὴν ἀγγελικὴν σου γυναῖκα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 26.6

5.4.1.2 3rd Person Singular

	General	Restricted
M	του	ντου
F	της	ντης ὶ τση
N	του	(ντου)

Masculine

The basic form is του. (In texts that aim at a higher register, we may also find the residual form αὐτοῦ, which may follow the noun but is not enclitic.²⁸) The only variation concerns the initial consonant, which in some circumstances is voiced to /d/: ντου (see discussion above). The form ντου occurs quite frequently in texts from Crete and the Cyclades, from the 17th c. onwards.

πλησίον τοῦ ἁλωνίου του (1100–10, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 53, 254.10) καθ' ὕπνου του GLYKAS, Stichoi 266 ἀπόθαναν οἱ γονεῖς του Dig. E 1095 app. crit. ἐκ τὰ δάκρυα του Liv. E 7 εἰς τὸν καιρὸν τοῦ στεψιμάτου του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 320.22–3

²⁸ We can even find the reflexive ἑαυτοῦ used in this way: ὁ βασιλεὺς ἐσπάσατο τὴν ἑαυτοῦ θυγάτηρ Achil. O 624.

ο Μίμαντος ηπήρεν το φουσάτο του Diig. Alex. K 351.25 ἦρτε ἡ ἀρμάδα του (1570, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 3.1) ὅσον ὁ νοικάτορης πληρώνει τὸ ἐνοίκιον του ZYGOM., Synopsis 194.E.114 καὶ ἀπόθανε εἰς τὴν Βενετίαν ἀπὸ τὸ φαρμάκιν του SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 41.4

In these examples of ντου we sometimes give a Latin-script original which indicates the voicing:

ἡ θυγατέρα ντου (1617, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 4, 35.6) ἰ γιορεξιν του / ἡ γιόρεξή ντου (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 38.6) ton cleronomitadhon du / τῶν κληρονομητάδων ντου (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 199.189–90) οἱ κληρονόμοι ντου (1631, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 6, 136.22) το θάνατό ντου κράζει CHORTATIS, Panor. I.44 na ne is to theliman du / νά 'ναι εἰς τὸ θέλημάν ντου (1639, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 11, 113.45) γυναίκα ντου καὶ ταίρι του FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.329 με τὸν ἀγέρα ντου (1672, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 4, 166.15) τοῦ συντρόφου ντου (1676, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 6, 18.10) τὴν ὀλπίδα ντου Stathis I.6; εἰς τὸ σπίτι ντου ibid. I.22 τοῦ θειοῦ ντου Trag. Ag. Dim. I.200

Feminine

Although we may assume that της (like the masculine του) was in use at the beginning of the period covered by this Grammar, the earliest example we have located dates from about 1300; the mss of Ptochoprodromos are later. (Similarly, there are few early examples of the corresponding genitive of the weak personal pronoun; see 5.3.2.3.) This της continues to be the normal form until the end of our period (and beyond, including SMG). The main variant is τση, which occurs in texts from Crete and the Cyclades, found from the late 16th c. onwards. In Latin-script mss it is rendered as <ci>. The spelling <τζη> is used in mss and printed editions of the period, as well as in some modern critical editions. It may – but does not necessarily – indicate a voiced pronunciation as /dz/. The other variant which can be found in some editions is ντης, comparable to the masculine ντου and plural ντως etc. (see 5.4.1).

κάλλιον ἔναι τὸ θέλημάν της, παροῦ τὸ θέλημαν τοὺς γονεῖς της (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 239.421–3) τὸ στόμαν της Ptoch. I 33; ἐμβαίνει εἰς τὸ κουβούκλιν της ibid. 126 ἀνὴρ καὶ σύμβιον της Chron. Mor. H 2519 οἱ μὲν φιλοῦν τὰ χεῖλη της, οἱ ἄλλοι τοὺς ὀφθαλμούς της Dig. E 195 μίαν της μαστόρισσαν Pol. Tr. 468 ἂν ἔρτη νὰ ἔχη τὸ μερτικό της (1553, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 116, 164.45) γροικῶντας ὅτι ὁ λεγόμενος Μιχάλης καὶ ἡ συβία του ἡ Καλὴ ἔχουν ἀπὸ γονικόν της ... σπίτια (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 74.6) ἔως νὰ βγῇ ἡ ψυχὴ της (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 13, 316.8) εἰς τὸ τέλος της VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.8–9 με τοὺς ἐρχομένους της (1693, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969e: 65.14) οἱ λογισμοὶ κ' οἱ πόνοι της τσῇ ἐκάναν καλοσύνη KORNAROS, Erot. III.20 ms A τὴν ἐ<γ>κόνᾳ τῆς (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 172, 141.25) τοῦ προκίου τῆς (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 24.24) ἡ ὀρεξηντῆς / ἡ ὀρεξή τῆς (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 181.73–4); τὰ ροῦχα τῆς ἡγουν τὸ φουστάνιν τῆς καὶ τὸ ποκάμισόν τῆς (ibid. 182.92–3) ὁδὶ ἄνδρα τῆς (1614, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1988: A, 159.8) tu adhe[r]fu ci / τοῦ ἀδε[ρ]φοῦ τῆς (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 199.189–90) τοὶ δόξες τῆς τοὶ πρωτινές τῆς CHORTATIS, Erof. Dedic. 205; με τοὶ γραφές δουλεύεται καὶ με τοὶ κουτρουλές τῆς id., Katz. III.31 στὰ γέρα τῆς Thysia Avr. 45 τὰ ὄνειρά τῆς Vosk. 374 τὴ σπλαχνικὴ τῆς ἀγκάλῃ Stathis Int.I.11; τὸν ἄντρα τῆς ibid. II.47; ὁ κύρης τῆς ibid. I.157 τοὶ ἄνθρώπους τῆς Leilasia Par. 4 με τὸ λαμπρό ντῆς πρόσωπο Stathis I.14; τ' ὄνειρό ντῆς ibid. I.235; τὴ γνώμη ντῆς ibid. Int.

 II.84

Neuter

The neuter form is identical to the masculine.

τὸ ζουμί του βγάνει Alex. Rim. 93 καὶ με πᾶσα ἄλλον του δικαίωμα (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 34, 53.10) ἀνθὸς του εἶναι θανατερός, τὸ πωρικὸ του βλάφτει KORNAROS, Erot. I. 179

5.4.1.3 1st and 2nd Persons Plural

	General
1 pl.	μας
2 pl.	σας

Since the forms of the 1st and 2nd person are already established as the normal ones before the beginning of the period, we merely give a few early examples (11th–14th c.). There are no variants.

ὑπὲρ λύτρου καὶ ἀφέσεως ἁμαρτιῶν τῶν γονέων μας (1034, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 29, 34.20); εἶτε ἴδιος μας εἶτε υἱός μας (1034, ibid. 29, 34.29) περὶ ψυχικῆς μας σωτηρίας (1127–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 11, 89.4) ἐπὶ τῶν ἡμερῶν μας GLYKAS, Stichoi 215 ὁ πατήρ μας Dig. G I.267 εἰς τὰς δουλείας τὰς αὐθεντικὰς μας (1348?, Macedonia, LEFORT et al. 2006: 101, 229.5) ἐπαρεκλάσθη ἡ θύρα μας Proch. II 57 βασιλεύοντας ἡ ἐκλαμπροτάτη κυρία μας Ἰωάννα (1371, Corfu, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 3, 67.1–2) ἃς ἀπομεινῶμεν ἔδω στὰ ἰγονικά μας Chron. Mor. H 607 [ὁ] ἀφέντης μας (1394, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 15, 90.1) τὴν ἀγάπην σας NIKON, Logos 31 810.10 νὰ ὑποδέχεσθε ἡμᾶς ὡς ἀδελφούς σας (1170, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 176, 231.32) εἰ οὐκ ἀπαξιῶνετε τοῦ ἔχειν με γαμβρόν σας Dig. G I.304 ὅτι οἱ γείτονές σας εἶπον (14th c., Cyprus, KODER et al. 2001: 245, 438.170) εἰς νοῦν σας Log. parig. L 747 νὰ τὸ ἔχετε στὸν νοῦν σας Chron. Mor. H 5363; ἀπῆρα τὲς προνοῖες σας ibid. 2690

5.4.1.4 3rd Person Plural

	General	Restricted	Rare
3 pl.	των ἰ τους	τωνε ἰ τως ἰ τουνε	ντως

Here matters are much more complicated. Unlike the 3rd person singular, the plural has no distinctions of gender, so forms are given below without regard to the gender of their referent. The range of forms is similar to that for the corresponding weak personal pronoun (see 5.3.2.6) and our discussion will follow the same order. The basic form των, derived like other 3rd-person clitic pronouns from the demonstrative αὐτός, is very common throughout the period. It is the usual form in literary texts up to the 15th c. and thereafter it may perhaps be regarded, in areas where alternative forms exist, as more formal (though not, of course, as formal as the full form αὐτῶν). Consequently it appears sporadically in documents and other texts from a wide area, up to the end of the 17th c. (and beyond). From the early 16th c. we also find an extended form τωνε in texts from (mainly West) Crete, Nauplion, Cythera, and throughout the Cyclades. One example of what appears to be a disyllabic clitic has been located in a text from the Pontos: τὸ μερτικὸ νὰ τον / τὸ μερτικὸν ἄτων (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 145, 108.4). For this form see LAMPSIDIS 1952: 231. First we give examples of των and τωνε:

των

τοὺς ἵππους των Dig. G I.226; τὰ ἄρματά των ibid. VI.708

ἡ μάσσα των Ptoch. I 256

καὶ νὰ ἔπια τὸ ζωμίν των, Ptoch. IV 180 ἀπὲ τοὺς οἴκους των (1326, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 41, 93.13)

τῶν κοπελούδων των (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 102.19)

τὸ μασιγίδιν των Dig. E 247

τὰ πράματά των (1453, Constantinople, DALLEGIO D'ALESSIO 1939: 117.21) ἀποκάτω τῶν ποδῶν των Vulgärorakel I.191 τοῦ πατροῦ των Chron. Toc. 18 τὰ λιθάρια των καὶ τὴν εὐκόσμησίν των Anak. Konst. 69 ἐπεμερίμνησαν καὶ τὴν ζωὴν των (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 229–30) οἱ ἄνδρες των LIMEN., Than. Rod. 161 ὡς ἤκουσεν τοὺς λόγους των Diig. Alex. F 40.4–6 (Konstantinopulos) τῆς ἐξουσίας των (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 53.15) ἐκουσίας των βουλῆς (1604, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 10, 165.10) ἀνοίξαντες τοὺς θησαυροὺς των KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 2.11

στὸν νοῦν των δὲν σὲ βάνουν; KONDAR., Paides 517

νὰ τῆς δώκω εἴδηση ξεστοματικῶς πᾶσα των ὑπόθεση (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 507.29)

τωνε

- για την χωρισιά τωνε Apoll. Rim. A 882 οί αλοφατζίδες με τὰς τέντες τωνε (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 13.59) αὐτοί καὶ τ' ἄλογά τωνε KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VII.162 τῆς κοπελός τωνε (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.24) εἰς τὴν θυγατέραν τωνε (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 6, 15.10); με τὸ χαράστιν τωνε (ibid. 6, 16.46) οἱ δύο τωνε Imb. Rim. 133 με τὴν περιπλιάν τωνε συντροφία (1544, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [2], 7.4–5) ὡς πρᾶγμα τωνε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 22, 100.18) τὰ ἐπιλοιπά τωνε καλὰ (1591, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 35, 179.22) τ' ἄλλα τωνε ἀδέρφια (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 2, 25.12); νὰ πιάνη τὰ ὀζὰ τωνε (ibid. 5, 28.16) διὰ πολλὰ τωνε ἀμποδίσματα (1622, Crete, MALTEZOU 1989: 358.20) (West Crete: Apokoronas) σ' τοῖ καρδιές τωνε CHORTATIS, Erof. II.205; τ' ἀφεντός τωνε ibid. IV.151 οἱ φωτιές τωνε πληθαίνου Pist. voskos II 1.68 τῶν δύον ἀδελφῶν με τὴν μάνα τωνε (1655, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 20, 30.12–13) με τὴν φελούκα τωνε (1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 7, 20.7) (but also διὰ τὸ σπῖτιν τους in l. 15) τὰ πράγματά τωνε (1686, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1999: 6, 51.5) καὶ τίς βανοῦσι εἰς τὴν μέσην τωνε (1694, Paros, ZERLENDIS 1888: A', 248.4) τῆς θυγατέρας τωνε (1696, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 47, 141.8) στὰ δικά ντωνε σπῖτια Trag. Ag. Dim. II.25 τὴν εὐχὴν τωνε (1731, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 18, 38.79)

τως

This innovative form (presumably on the analogy of the 1st and 2nd person plural possessives, which also end in /s/) is found in texts from Crete (mainly East) and the Dodecanese from the mid-15th c. onwards. Its distribution extends, however, to the Cyclades, Cythera and even (late-17th c.) Moldavia. It will be noted that των and τως can sometimes be found alongside one another in the same areas.²⁹

- διὰ χειρός τως (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 52.56–7) καλόν τως θέλημαν (1453, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1967: 1, 47.11) ὅλα τως τὰ καλὰ (1481, Rhodes?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 2, 206.42) (this document also has τους and των) καὶ ὥσπερ τὰς γυναῖκας τως Diig. tetr. 767 app. crit. (P); καὶ βλέπουσιν τὸ σκίον τως ibid. 929 app. crit. (P) (this ms may have been written in Crete) ἀπὸ τὰ πεζικά τως Chron. Mor. P 1686 (sole occurrence in this text) ἡ ὄρεξι τως DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1244 τὰ χαρτιά τως (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 93.23) τῶν κληρονόμων τως (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 53.12) οὐδὲ τὴ μυρωδιά τως Alex. Rim. 1618 (in rhyme) ἐγνώρισε τὴν φύσιν τως FALIEROS, Log. did. 269 ὅλα τως τὰ ψέματα θέλουσι πάει εἰς τὸ βυθὸ (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.38)

²⁹ In the documents of the Rethymniot notary Manolis Varouchas, τως and τῶνε (sic) are the most common forms (in that order), while των and τους are rare. See BAKKER 1988/89: 290. On the distribution of τῶν(ε) and τῶς in Cretan notarial documents see also KARANTZOLA 2005a.

τὸ ἴδιο τως χέρι (1631, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 17, 321.12) καὶ τὰ γένειά τως νὰ ξερνοῦσι Porikol. III 130 κι οἱ γράδες εἰς τὰ νιότα τως πάλι ξαναγυρίζου CHORTATIS, Panor. I.276; τσι βράκες τως id., Katz. II.10
στὰ γερατειά τως Thysia Avr. 871
τοῦ ἄλλουνοῦ τως ἀδελφοῦ (1647, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 16, 88.15–16) ἡ αρμάδα τως IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2087 ἡ γνώμη τως καὶ ἡ ὀρεξί τως (1684, Patmos, HOFMANN 1928: 9b, 72.14) διὰ πληρωμὴν τοῦ κόπου τως CANTEMIR, Krit. 448.11–12 δούκας τως νὰ ᾿σαι Zinon Prol. 68; τσ' ὀχθροὺς τως ibid. 87 ἀπὲ τὸν πατέρα τως (1697, Chios, TSELIKAS 2000: 99, 77.12) τσί παλάμες τως KORNAROS, Erot. II.2157 (very frequent in this text)

A form with initial voicing is occasionally found in texts written in the Cyclades: τὰ ροῦχά ντως Leilasia Par. 248; ἀνοιξε τὰ μάτια ντως Trag. Ag. Dim. I.66.

ΤΟΥΝ/ΤΟΥΝΕ

Although τουν (τοῦν) occurs as a genitive plural form of the weak personal pronoun (see 5.3.2.6) and of the definite article (see 5.2.1), no example has been found for the possessive pronoun. However, an extended form τουνε does occur, mainly in texts from Cythera, the Peloponnese and (rarely) Crete:

εἰς τὰς χεῖρας τουνε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 22, 100.17); τὰ δικαιώματά τουνε (ibid. 37, 117.21); ἐμπασία τουνε (1565, ibid. 257, 356.15); εἰς τὶς ὑπόθεσές τουνε (ibid. 274, 379.2) μὲ τοὺς καπεταναίους τουνε (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 5, 261.8) ἡ μάνα τουνε (1589, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 338, 283.12) κληρονόμους τουνε (1622, Crete, MALTEZOU 1989: 359.32) στὴν ἴδια τουνε λαῦρα Pist. voskos II 1.69

ΤΟΥΣ

For much of the period covered by this Grammar, τοὺς and τῶν are in competition as alternative forms of the 3 pl. possessive pronoun. While τῶν is the expected form (< αὐτῶν), τοὺς is found as early as the beginning of the 13th c. (date of ms V of Spaneas). In literary texts the two forms often alternate in different mss or versions of the same work, or even in the same manuscript. To take the Chronicle of Morea as an example, the oldest ms (H, dated 1375) has exclusively τοὺς in the possessive function. The 16th-c. ms P, however, has five examples of τῶν, against 187 τοὺς.

It is difficult to establish a geographical pattern, since many early literary texts cannot be precisely located. The form τοὺς, which completes the plural series μας, σας, τοὺς, all originating from accusative forms, is widespread by the 15th c., including the Peloponnese and south-eastern areas. By the 16th c. it can also be found in texts from Crete and the Heptanese. However, alternative forms continue to be used: besides the more formal τῶν, there are the geographically restricted forms such as τως, τουνε etc. (discussed above).

ὅς ᾿ῃσαι εἰς τὴν βουλὴν τοὺς Spaneas V 93 τὸ ζουμίν τοὺς Ptoch. IV 180 app. crit. (C) (but τῶν ms H) τὴν ἀδελφὴν τοὺς Dig. E 83 τάςπραματεῖς τοὺς Assizes B 295.19 κτενίζουσι τὰ μάλ' αἷα τοὺς Diig. tetr. 927a app. crit. (C)³⁰ τὸ στόμαν τοὺς Poulol. 161 οἱ συντρόφοι τοὺς Pol. Tr. 257 app. crit. (EVX); ἀπὸ τοῦ στόματός τοὺς ibid. 358 app. crit. (EX) κ' ἀποπάνω κεφαλῆς τοὺς Vulgärorakel I.193 τὰ ἀσῆμια τοὺς Anak. Konst. 66 μέ τὰ καλὰ τοὺς καὶ τὲς πραγματίες των (1481, Rhodes?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 2, 206.43) οἱ τέντες τοὺς Achil. N 424 ἡ φύση τοὺς FALIEROS, Ist. On. 705 τὴν κληρονομίαν τοὺς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.7–8; τὸ φᾶν τοὺς, τὸ πγεῖν τοὺς, τὴν ἐντυμασιάν τοὺς ibid. 12.32–3 διὰ τὴν ζωὴν τοὺς (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.15) τὴν ὑπόθεσίν τοὺς (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 45, 87.5) φαίνεται ἡ ἀτυχία τοὺς Synax. gyn. 119 αἱ μητέρες τοὺς SOFIANOS, Paidag. 99.13 μάρτυρές τοὺς (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 2, 81.24) ἡ τιμή τοὺς GERMANO, Grammar 53.24, with the following comment: “ἡ τιμή τοὺς, l'honor di quelli, sendo il Genitiuo Plurale, τῶν, douerebbono dire, ἡ τιμή των. ma mettono, τοὺς, Accusatiuo” εἰς τὸ ὄνειρόν τοὺς KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 2.12 ἦτον ὁ λόγος τοὺς (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III, 25.5) εἰς τὴν συνείδησίν τοὺς (1693, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969e: 65.4)

5.4.2 Emphatic Forms

The emphatic possessive consists of an adjectival form ἰδικός/ἐδικός/δικός (declined like adjectives in -ος, fem. -η; see 3.2.1) followed directly by a possessive clitic pronoun (μου, σου, του etc.). It may be preceded by the definite article when the noun it modifies is definite. There is a less common alternative employing ἴδιος, which will be discussed below. The usual meaning is “mine” etc. or “my own”. It is often found substantivized; e.g. the masculine plural οἱ ἰδικοί μου may mean “my own people/kinsfolk” and the neuter singular or plural τὸ ἰδικό μου / τὰ ἰδικά μου “my possessions/property”. (For further information on meaning and usage, see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ἰδικός.)

The adjective ἰδικός is already in existence in post-classical Greek, in the sense of “proper, one's own” (LSJ, LAMPE, Lex. s.v.). The grammaticalization with the clitic pronoun as an emphatic possessive has not been located before the 12th c.: a ms of Nikon of the Black Mountain has the phrase ἐδικά του (see below). We also find οἱ ἰδικοί μου in the work of a learned author of the 12th c., Eustathios of Thessaloniki (On the improvement of monastic life 115.3). We can therefore be confident that the phrase is established in popular usage by the 12th c. Although it occurs only rarely in documents from S. Italy, there is one telling instance: ἀμπέλον ὅπερ ἔχομεν μεμειγμένον μετὰ τὸ ἐδικόν σου (1154, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 152, 201.8–9).

³⁰ The normal form in this text is των; τοὺς appears only four times, in a group of verses (927a–g) found only in ms C, very possibly an addition of the scribe Nikolaos Agiomnitis (1461), who came from Euboea.

It appears, therefore, that the form with initial /e/ was already in existence in the 12th c. It is presumably an analogical development, influenced by the personal pronoun forms ἐμέ, ἐμᾶς etc. and the demonstrative ἐκεῖνος (cf. CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 341). The two forms ἰδικός and ἐδικός co-exist as alternatives for several centuries, often in the same texts. For example, in the romance Kallimachos and Chrysorroï forms of ἐδικός occur six times and of ἰδικός three times. There seems to be a tendency for texts of northern provenance to use ἰδικός. However, this form also occurs sporadically in non-northern areas, such as Rhodes, Crete and Gortynia (see examples below).

By the 17th c. ἰδικός has become rather rare, but may be associated with more formal registers, as in, for example, the printer's address to the readers of the 1676 edition of Erofilī: με ἐπιμέλειαν καὶ ἔξοδον ἰδικήν μου (CHORTATSI, Erof. Eis anag. 8). By contrast, ἐδικός is in wide use across most of the Greek-speaking world until the end of the EMG period and beyond. However, the form with aphaeresis (see I, 2.7.1), δικός, which may also arise from reanalysis when preceded by prepositions such as μέ or σέ or the verb "to be", steadily gains ground from the 15th c., and will eventually become the normal form in SMG. Germano, in his 1622 Grammar, testifies to fluctuation in usage: "Communemente dicono, ἐδικόστους, ἐδικήτους, ἐδικόντους, mettendo τους, in vece di των, cioè l'Accusativo per il Genitivo, ... Levano anco l'ε, & in luogo di dire, ἐδικόσμου, ἐδικόσσου, ἐδικόστου, dicono δικόσμου, δικόσσου, δικόστου, & dicono bene" (GERMANO, Grammar 67.8–12).

ἰδικός μου etc.

ὁ δὲ ἰδικός μου ὁ στόμαχος Ptoch. IV 299 νὰ τὸ διαφενδεύητε ὡς ἰδικόν σας (1415, Skyros, LEMERLE et al. 1979: App. XVII, 216.14) γράμματα ἰδικά μου (1417, Crete, LAMBROS 1895: 1, 585.4) but γράμματα ἐδικά μου (ibid. 1, 585.6) ἀκόμη καὶ τὸ γάλα μου μεῖζον τοῦ ἰδικοῦ σου Diig. tetr. 597 app. crit. (C) ἰδικόν των ἔναι (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 736); ἐπροσέθεκα καὶ ἰδικό μου (ibid. 1134–5) γυναῖκες ἰδικές σας Velth. 202; κ' ἐπεὶ ὡς οἰκείαν τῆς θυγατρὸς αὐτὸς τῆς ἰδικῆς μου ibid. 968 τῆς ψυχῆς ... τῆς ἰδικῆς σου [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1689; σφάκτην ἰδικόν μου ibid. 2304

ἀλλὰ καὶ συγενήτορες πάντες οἱ ἰδικοί της Achil. O 17 τοῦ πόθου τοῦ ἰδικοῦ σου Liv. S 505; τὸν ἰδικόν σου πόθον ibid. 2929 τὸν ἰδικόν σου θάνατον LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 460 γένου ἰδικός μου Diig. Alex. E 93.15 (Konstantinopulos); με τοὺς ἀτιμωμένους τοὺς ἰδικούς σου τοὺς ρυμπαραίους ibid. E 213.8 (Lolos); ἔπεσα ἐκ τοὺς ἰδικούς μου παρεκάτω ibid. E 269.6 (passim) εἴ τις χριστιανὸς ἰδικός μου ἢ ξένος (1671, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 69, 319.14)

ἐδικός μου etc.

καὶ λέγει τίποτ' ὡς ἀπ' ἐμοῦ ἐδικά του NIKON, Logos 9 316.2–3 οἱ παῖδες ὑπάρχουν ἐδικοί του (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 67.V 72–3) κανεῖν ἀπὸ τοὺς ἐδικούς του Chron. Mor. H 2154; νὰ στείλω ἐκεῖ φουσσαῖα ἐδικά μου ibid. 4233; ἐκ μέρους ἐδικοῦ του ibid. 7852 ἐδικόν σου ἔναι τὸ νίκος Dig. E 55 βλέπε το εἰς ἐνθύμησιν καὶ πόθον ἐδικό μου Liv. V 3774 αὐτὸ τὸ ἄλογον ἐνι ἐδικόν μου Assizes B 445.17 εἴμεθεν ἐδικοί σου Chron. Toc. 1652; ἐφάνηκε τὸ νίκος ἐδικόν του ibid. 1794 μετὰ βουλῆς ἐδικῆς μας (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.3–4) μὲ ἐδικά μου ἐδουλεύονμου (15th c., Meteora, VEIS et al. 1998: 225, 246, f.163v.2) καὶ τὸ σπαθὶν μου γένηται θάνατος ἐδικός του [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 888 ἐσυντύχαμεν ἀλλήλως τὰ ἐδικά μας DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1329 ὡς ροῦχα ἐδικά τους (1524, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 1, 15.9) ὦ ἀπίστο καὶ ἀτίμητο ριζικό ἐδικό μου! Diig. Alex. K 363.14 αἱ ἔξοδες οἱ ἐδικές σου (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 26, 31.21) ὡς κτητορικόν ἐδικόν τους (1594, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 1, 109.3) νὰ εἶναι ἐδικό τῶνε (1600, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 98, 130–131.11) ἐδικόν μας αὐθέντη (1609, Cyprus, CHASIOIS 1972: 33, 55.33) σὰ μάνας ἐδικῆς σου CHORTATIS, Katz. III.400 τὸ ἐδικόν σου γράμμα ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 1585 τὶς ἐδικούς μας (1625, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 99, 240.39) εἶναι ἐδικός μας ὁ τόπος (1654, Athos, MOŠIN/SOVRE 1948: 17, 51.4) τὰ γράμματα τὰ ἐδικά μας (1669, Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 84, 216.22–3) στὴν ἐδική τῶς χώρα ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. I.1768 μὲ σπέζα ἐδικά τους (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 108.9) εἰς τὴν ἐδικήν μου γλυκιάν κυράν Don Kis. 2.26

δικός μου etc.

ἂν ἔν' τὸ γιόμα του κακόν, νὰ φάγη ἐκ τὸ δικόν μου Arm. 106 νὰ φυλάξῃ τὸ δικόν μου Assizes B 263.19 καὶ τὸ ἔρτιμον τὸ δικό σας (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 168.3–4) διδοντά του ὅ,τι μοῦ ᾔδωκε νὰ ᾖ δικός του (1496, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1, 47.11) ἀνὲν βρεθοῦν πεντήκοντα δικοὶ σου δουλευτάδες CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1068; κάμε τῆς γυναικός σου | τὸ θέλημάν της, ὅ,τι θέ, ἀμ' ὅχι τὸ δικό σου ibid. 1218 τὰ πάντα ἐγίνοντα καὶ πάλιν εἶν' δικά σου Achil. N 685 μὰ τὸ δικό μου κίνδυνο FALIEROS, Ist. On. 711 (and 7 more times) νὰ ᾖ δικός τῶνε ὁ καρπός (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 173.11) ὡς γοῖον νὰ ᾔχεν εἰσταν δικόν του VOUSTR., Chron. A 12.17–18 ἦτανε δικά μου (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.3) ἦθελαν κλαῖν διὰ μένα τὰ δικά σου | μμάτια Cypr. Canz. 55.5–6 μὲ δικές του σπέζες (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 31, 50.6) γιὰ τοὶ δικές της κότες CHORTATIS, Katz. III.427 ἐκ τῆ δικῆς σου χέρα Thysia Avr. 8 ἔβλεπε κάποια πρόβατα δικά τζή Vosk. 11; ἐτοῦτονέ τὸ σπῆγλιο εἶναι δικό μας ibid. 192 τὸν ὄρκον τὸν δικόν σου ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 1000; μὲ τὰ δικά σου θάρρη ibid. 1578 ἀτός μου, ἀτός μου ἔβγαλα τὰ μάτια τὰ δικά μου ΚΟΝΔΑΡ., Paidēs 356; νὰ τιμηθῇ μ' εὐλάβεια εἰκόνα ἢ δική μου ibid. 392 ὥσαν καὶ τὸ δικόν τῶνε προυκί (1700, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 24, 12) τ' ὄνομα τὸ δικό του ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. II.2270 τῆς Κύπρου ἐνθυμήθηκεν κι εἶπεν πῶς ἔν δική του Thrinos Kypr. 4 στὰ δικά ντῶνε σπῆτλια Trag. Ag. Dim. II.25

There is an alternative, but much less common, form of the emphatic possessive, consisting of the adjective ἴδιος, declined like adjectives in -ος with fem. -α (see 3.3.2), normally preceded by the definite article (when referring to a specific entity) and followed by the appropriate clitic possessive pronoun. The adjective has the meaning “one’s own” already in AG and is sometimes linked with a possessive adjective (LSJ s.v.). In the Byzantine chronicles this usage is sometimes accompanied by a personal pronoun in the genitive: προσεφώνησε διὰ φωνῆς αὐτοῦ ἰδίας “with his own voice” (Theodosius Melitenus 43 (ed. Tafel),³¹ quoted in PSALTES 1913: 197). In the 12th c., in a S. Italian document, we encounter (for the first time) ἴδιος with a clitic pronoun, which, however, follows the noun: ὁ ἄδε(λφός) ἀλοκόπησεν καὶ ἐφύτευσεν τοῦτο καὶ ἴδιον κτῆμαν μας ὑπάρχ(ει) (1127, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 10, 83.15). The fully grammaticalized form with the clitic immediately following ἴδιος (cf. ἰδικός μου) is also found from the 12th c. onwards.

The phrase functions as an equivalent to ἰδικός μου etc. (They sometimes even appear together: νὰ ἐνι ἴδιον ἐδικόν του (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 20, 35.9).) The masculine plural without an accompanying noun can mean “my own people” or “my men”, and the neuter is also substantivized to mean “my own property”, “my native place” (examples in the list below).

It occurs, frequently in stereotyped expressions, in texts that aim at a higher or more formal register, and perhaps for this reason it often appears with a second, enclitic accent, implying that synizesis does not take place (although conservative writing practices may also be a factor). However, its use is not confined to documents and other non-literary texts, since we also find it in works of vernacular literature from at least the 14th c., including Cretan texts of the 16th–17th c. The phrase is still in use at the end of the period covered by this Grammar, although, as already stated, it occurs less frequently than (ἐ)δικός μου.

- τοὺς ἰδίους μου τοὺς ἐξαδέλφους μου (1192, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 229, 308.32–3) τὸ ἴδιον του σαλπίγγι Chron. Mor. H 5450 φεύγει ... εἰς τὸν ἴδιον του τόπον Achil. O 290 δὲν ἔχεις ἴδιο σου πράμα FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 250 προστάττω διὰ τοὺς ἰδίους μου, ὅπου με λατρεύουσιν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 32.17 μὲ τὸ ἴδιο σου τὸ χερράκι Synax. gyn. 389 (Krumbacher) καὶ δίδου το μὲ τὸ ἴδιο μου θέλημα (1539, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 3, 17.3) με το γίδιον του θέλημα (1542, Cyprus, MALTEZOU 1987: 3, 13.4) (with /ɣ/ epenthesis: see I, 3.5.2.1; the text is unaccented) ὑπογράφωμεν μὲ τὸ ἴδιόν μας χέρι (1585, Constantinople, PATRINELIS 1967/68: 28, 109.24) ὑπόσχονται τὰ ἰδιά τους καλὰ (1591, Kefalonia, CHRYSOCHOIDIS 1977: 1, 206.18) ἀποὺ τὴν ἴδια του ψυχὴ CHORTATIS, Erof. I.488 ὡς πράμα ἴδιόν του (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 211, 216.18) στὴν ἴδια τουνε λαῦρα Pist. voskos II 1.69; τὸν ἴδιον του ἑμαυτὸ εἶχε θανατώσει ibid. V 5.342 τὰ ἴδια του λόγια, le stesse sue parole GERMANO, Grammar 54.9
 μὲ τὸ ἴδιο τως χέρι (1631, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 17, 321.12) τὸ ἴδιον τως τὸ φταίσιμον FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 34 ὡς ἂν νὰ ἦσουν ἰδιός του πατέρας (1695, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 1 [A'], 251.17) ὑπογράφοντας κάτωθεν μὲ τὸ ἴδιόν του χέρι (1698, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1968/69: 3, 335.10–11) μὲ τὸ ἴδιο σου τὸ φύσισμα KORNAROS, Erot. I.235 βάνουν διὰ ἴδιό τους ἐπίτροπον (1708, Peloponnese, PAPADOPOULOS 1976: 6, 124.15)

³¹ This text, sometimes attributed to Symeon the Logothete, is now known as the Chronicle of the Logothete. It exists in several versions.

5.4.3 Residual Forms

Classical Greek had possessive adjectives for the 1st and 2nd persons singular and plural: ἐμός, σός, ἡμέτερος (which may appear in MedG, in texts from S. Italy, as ἐμέτερος), and ὑμέτερος. These declined forms disappeared from spoken use in the first millennium,³² with the exception of some survivals in Asia Minor dialects, leaving only the “weak” clitic forms and the emphatic forms discussed in the preceding sections.

When these residual possessive adjectives appear in texts of the period covered by this Grammar, they may either be features of a more formal or elevated style, or quotation from (or imitation of) older texts, especially biblical and religious ones. We give a few examples:

1st Person Singular

ἐκδίδωμι ἕνα ἐμὸν ἄν(θρω)πον (ca. 1109, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 28, 214.5) εἰς τὴν ἐμὴν καρδίαν Dig. G IV.445 ἐκ τοὺς ἐμούς τοὺς συγγενεῖς Chron. Mor. H 1880; με τὸν ἐμὸν ἀφέντην ibid. H 4433 ὁ ἐμός πατήρ Pol. Tr. 1780 τὴν πατρίδα τὴν ἐμὴν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 637 ἐμός αὐθέντης πέφυκεν, ἐσὸς υἱὸς τυγχάνει Achil. O 99 τὰ ἐμὰ ρούχα ... τῆς ἐμῆς θυγατρὸς (1506, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: 1 [A⁷], 224.14–15) τὴν ἐμὴν θυγάτηρ (1549, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 60, 86.4) περὶ τῶν ἐμῶν (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 1, 289.11)

2nd Person Singular

περὶ τοῦ σοῦ Προδρόμου Ptoch. (Maiuri) 14 σὸς δὲ υἱὸς τυγχάνει Achil. N 164 (cf. the reading of Achil. O above) ἡ σὴ δύναμις Alex. Rim. 1842 ὑπὲρ τῶν σῶν προβάτων MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 243

1st Person Plural

τῶν ἐμετέρων γονέω (1131, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 42, 188.12); τὸ ἐμέτερον ὀσπίτιν (1134, ibid. 43, 192.10) τὲς ἡμέτερες βοῦλλες τῶν κερίων (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 309.12)
 τὲς ἡμέτερες ἐλαῖες (1272, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 326, 484.1) ἀδελφὴν ἡμετέραν Dig. G I.220 τὸ παρὸν ἡμέτερον γράμμα (1331, Athos?, LEFORT et al. 2006: 72, 74.8) εἰς τὴν ἡμετέραν ἰδιωτικὴν τὴν τῶν Κυπραίων γλῶττα Pist. kekoim. tit.
 τῆς ἡμετέρας νήσου (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 167.3) τιμιώτατοι καὶ εὐγενέστατοι ἄρχοντες πρέσβεις τῆς ἡμετέρας πολιτείας (1693, Nauplion, TSELENDI 1978: 5, 241.1)

2nd Person Plural

τὰ ὑμέτερα κτηνὰ (1080, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 11, 187.39) εἰς τὴν ὑμετέραν ἀγιότητα (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 17.81–2)

³² For information on their use in the papyri and a new form ἐσός for 2 sg., see GIGNAC 1981: 172.

5.5 Demonstrative Pronouns and Determiners

5.5.1 Spatio-temporal Demonstratives

5.5.1.1 Introduction and Historical Overview

The main demonstrative system in MedG and EMedG functions on the basis of the binary distinction proximal–distal: the first subcategory is represented by two pronouns and their variants, αὐτός and οὗτος/τούτος, while the second is represented by the pronoun ἐκεῖνος. The MedG system is an evolution of the AG tripartite system ὅδε – οὗτος – ἐκεῖνος: in the Koine and EMedG, ὅδε fell out of vernacular use and was replaced in its functions by οὗτος, while the role of the latter was taken over by a new demonstrative pronoun evolving out of the AG intensive pronoun αὐτός (for details see MANOLESSOU 2001; LENDARI/MANOLESSOU 2013 with relevant literature).

The demonstrative pronouns inflect as regular adjectives in -ος, -η, -ο (see 3.2.1), but have no vocative forms. All demonstrative paradigms are subject to extensive levelling and mutual analogical influence, leading to a wide variety of forms, of which some are widespread and some geographically restricted. Furthermore, demonstrative pronouns in deictic function may be reinforced with affixes deriving from locative or deictic adverbs such as ἐδῶ, ἔδε, ἔδᾶ, νᾶ.

The demonstrative pronouns may function both as nominal modifiers and as pro-forms, although some variant forms may be exclusive to the pronominal use.

5.5.1.2 αὐτός

Αὐτός as a demonstrative pronoun is an EMedG evolution from the AG intensive pronoun αὐτός, first appearing in the Koine period (GIGNAC 1981: 176; MANOLESSOU 2001; HORROCKS ²2010: 128–9). Its earlier history is reflected in the retention of the word order definite article + pronoun + noun, still quite widespread in LMedG, instead of pronoun + definite article + noun, which is regular for the other demonstratives (see IV, 5.3.2.3). From an inflectional point of view, the paradigm of αὐτός has remained unchanged from AG to MG (excluding, of course, the expected inflectional innovations of the A- and O-stem adjectives).

However, several innovative variant forms have developed as a result of phonetic, analogical or levelling processes (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 439–40; JANNARIS 1897: 154–5, 159–62; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 504, 155–6; PERNOT 1907/46: II 169–78; POLITIS 1964: 4; KRIARAS, Lex. s.vv.; ILNE s.v. αὐτός; MINAS 2004 [1990]: 435–8; HORROCKS ²2010: 295–6). These are the following:

- 1) addition of final vowel (see also I, 2.6.3). The acc. sg. may be extended through the addition of the vowel /e/ (αὐτόνε) or /a/ (αὐτόνα);
- 2) analogical influence of οὗτος through the feminine form αὐτή, leading to the creation of the form αὐτός. For LMedG αὐτή should be considered as belonging to the paradigm of αὐτός rather than οὗτος (see below). The influence of οὗτος/τούτος also creates the rare “mixed” pronominal form εὐτοῦτος (see 5.5.1.7);

3) analogical influence of ἐκεῖνος, leading to “mixed” forms or blends such as αὐτεῖνος, αὐτοῦνος, αὐτόνος, εὐτός, ἐτοῦνος (see below 5.5.1.6–7).

The pronoun αὐτός is in general rare in Cypriot texts, and its frequency decreases over time. The highest frequency appears in the Assizes, while the pronoun is less common in Machairas (DAWKINS 1932: II 245) and even less so in Voustronios and the Cypriot Canzoniere. Attestations become very scarce in Fior de Vertu, Sanktamavras and Damaskinos (ΚΟΥΝΔΟΥΡΙΣ 2009: table 11), although instances do occur in these and other late texts, e.g. με αὐτὸν τὸν κομιστήν (1609, Cyprus, CHASIOTIS 1972: 33, 55.28). The gradual loss of the pronoun is corroborated by the fact that it is no longer a feature of the modern Cypriot dialect (MENARDOS 1969: 63; ΣΙΑΠΚΑΡΑΣ-PITSILLIDÈS 1975: 348; ΣΥΜΕΟΝΙΔΙΣ 2006: 215). However, the archaic article + αὐτός + noun order appears in legal documents from Cyprus until the end of the 17th c., while the innovative forms αὐτεῖνος, αὐτόνος, αὐτοῦνος are totally absent from Cypriot texts.³³

Extension of the inflectional suffix through the syllable -νε is attested marginally from Naxos: ζητοῦν καὶ αὐτοῖνε τὰ ὅμοια (1684, Naxos, ΣΙΦΟΝΙΟΥ-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 432, 653.11) and Crete: apu ta nichia aftane / ἀποὺ τὰ νοίκια αὐτανέ (1626, Crete, ΜΑΛΤΕΖΟΥ 1995: [1], 199.199–200).

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	αὐτός	αὐτή	αὐτό(ν)
Gen.	αὐτοῦ ἢ αὐτουνοῦ	αὐτῆς ἢ (αὐτηνηῆς)	αὐτοῦ ἢ αὐτουνοῦ
Acc.	αὐτό(ν) ἢ αὐτόνε ἢ αὐτόνα(ν)	αὐτή(ν) ἢ αὐτήνα(ν)	αὐτό(ν)
Plural
Nom.	αὐτοί	αὐτές ἢ αὐταί	αὐτά
Gen.	αὐτῶν ἢ αὐτονῶν ἢ αὐτουνῶν ἢ αὐτῶ ἢ αὐτῶνε	αὐτῶν ἢ αὐτῶ	αὐτῶν ἢ αὐτῶ ἢ αὐτονῶν ἢ αὐτουνῶν
Acc.	αὐτούς ἢ αὐτουνούς	αὐτάς ἢ αὐτές	αὐτά

Singular

Masculine

Nominative

General
αὐτός

³³ On the other hand, later authors of Cypriot origin whose texts also contain non-Cypriot features, such as Neofytos Rodinos and Ioakeim Kyprios, do have several instances of the pronoun in their texts.

The variants αὐτός, αὐτεῖνος, αὐτοῦνος and αὐτόνος, as they involve levelling of the whole paradigm and not just the nominative case, are discussed in a separate section below (5.5.1.6).

- αὐτός ὁ Δημήτριος (1095, S. Italy/Sicily?, GUILLOU 1963: 2, 49.10) ὥσπερ αὐτός ὁ λυγίρος Ptoch. IV 551 αὐτός ὁ Εὐάλιος καὶ ἂν ἔλθῃ καὶ ὁ Χήναρος ἐκεῖνος Ptoch. (Maiuri) 45 αὐτός ὑπάρχει, γίνωσκε, ὁ τὴν κόρην κατέχων Dig. G 482 αὐτός ὁ ρῆγας τῆς Φραγκίας Chron. Mor. H 1804 αὐτός ὁ Σολομών τοῦ Ἀβραχᾶ κρατεῖ καὶ τι τόπον (1486, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 19, 218.16) αὐτός ὁ πενθερός σου ἐστὶν καὶ δι' ἐμᾶς ἐξῆλθε Dig. E 1040 αὐτός ὁ Βελισάριος, ὃν ἔποικες μέγαν Velis. L 85 μέσα σ' αὐτεῖνους ἦτονε κι αὐτός ὁ κύρ Νικόλας Alex. Rim. 334 τί ἔκαμε αὐτός ὁ Ἡρώδης ὁ ἀσεβέστατος; KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 337.4–5 πέφτει αὐτός ὁ γέρος πρόμυτα PAPASYNAD. Chron. I.§29.66 αὐτεῖνος ὁ τραγουδιστὴς κι αὐτός ὁ λαγουτάρης KORNAROS, Erot. I.607

Genitive

General	Restricted
αὐτοῦ	αὐτουνοῦ

The genitive αὐτουνοῦ, due to its great frequency and wide distribution, should be considered also a case-form of αὐτός, on the pattern of ἐκείνου-ἐκεινοῦ, rather than merely as a case-form of the variant αὐτοῦνος, where a more comprehensive list of examples is provided. As described below (5.5.1.6), it is also the stepping stone, the initial stage of the whole levelling change leading to the innovative stems of αὐτοῦνος, αὐτόνος etc. Αὐτοῦ is the inherited form and has no geographical, chronological or register restrictions, while αὐτουνοῦ appears from the 15th c. onwards, and is more frequent in lower-register texts.

- ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ τράφου (1110, Thessaloniki?, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 59, 308.11) αὐτοῦ τοῦ μεγάλου ποταμοῦ (1265, Athos/Thessaloniki?, ŽIVOJINović et al. 1998: 7, 125.10) μέσον αὐτοῦ τοῦ θαυμαστοῦ καὶ τερπνοῦ παραδείσου Dig. G VII. 42 αὐτοῦ τοῦ βασιλέως Chron. Mor. H 969 ἐξ αὐτοῦ τοῦ ὁδεῖνος Assizes B 404.10 καὶ μετὰ δόλου καὶ ἀπάτης αὐτοῦ τοῦ πρωτοβεστιάριου Ekth. Chron. 51.12 αὐτοῦ λοιπὸν τὴν ζωὴν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 58.14 ἀποθανόντος αὐτοῦ τοῦ κύρ Γεωργάκη (1612, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 12, 66.7) τοῦ πατριαρχικοῦ αὐτοῦ θρόνου (1645, Jassy, LEGRAND 1903: 5, 10.3–4) καὶ τοῦ Μωάμεθ ἔγγονος, αὐτοῦ τοῦ θεωργίστου IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3296 ὅλοι αὐτουνοῦ ἀκούετε P&N Diath. 2430 αὐτουνοῦ GERMANO, Grammar 70.1
 αὐτοὶ ὅλοι ἦτον ἐξάδελφοι αὐτουνοῦ (1691, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 18, 12.5)

Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
αὐτό(ν)	αὐτόνε	αὐτόνα(ν)

The form αὐτόν, with variable realization of final /n/, is the standard form for all periods and areas. Addition of final /e/ may occur in areas where the phenomenon is a regular feature of nominal inflection, such as the Heptanese, Crete, Chios. The rarely encountered addition of final /a/ appearing with αὐτός, as well as οὗτος/τούτος and ἐκεῖνος, has been attributed to the analogy of the 1 sg. and 2 sg. strong personal pronouns, i.e. ἐμέ > ἐμέν > ἐμένα (see JANNARIS 1897: 154; MINAS 2004 [1990]: 436–7; and above, 5.3.1.1). Therefore, the evolution is αὐτόν > αὐτόνα, (ἐ)τούτονα, ἐκείονα, with subsequent reanalysis and identification of the final /n/ + suffixal /a/ with the emphatic deictic particle νά, which causes shift of stress to the final syllable and the creation of a new suffix /na/. This suffix may subsequently be independently added to case-forms other than the accusative, e.g. ἡ τέτοιανα δουλεία SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 167; ἀποθαίνουν τούτοينا (τούτοι νά ms) LIMEN., Than. Rod. 258 transcr. (Lendari) (see 5.5.2.3, τέτοιος).

εἰς τὸν αὐτὸν τόπον (1053, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 22, 101.10) ἀφείλατο αὐτὸν τὸν μύλον (1123, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. X: 1, 471.4) διεχωρίσαμεν δὲ αὐτὸν τὸν τόπον οὕτως (1294, Athos, ŽIVOJINOVIC et al. 1998: 14, 156.41) αὐτὸν τὸν ρύακαν (1333, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 15, 75.12) αὐτὸν τὸν ναὸν (1365, Serres, LEFORT 1973: 27, 162.9) θεωρεῖς αὐτὸν τὸν ἄγουρον Dig. E 1507 εἶδεν αὐτὸν τὸν μισθαργόν, τοῦ κήπου τὸν δραγάτην [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2433 καὶ πρὸς αὐτὸν τὸν νιότερον Rim. kor. A 16 αὐτὸν τὸν μέγα βασιλιά FALIEROS, Thrinos 27 γὰρ τ' αὐτὸν τὸν Ταγιαπιέρα TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 272 αὐτὸν τὸν Ἄλυ ποταμόν VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 32 αὐτὸν τὸν ἀρχιερέαν Chron. Ps.-Dorothe. (1572) 35 εἰς αὐτὸν τὸν ἀγῶνα RODINOS, Vios Ign. 57.30 τὸν αὐτὸν πασᾶ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 25.23–4 εἰς αὐτόνε Rim. kor. A 156 ἐξ αὐτόνε (1564, Corfu, TZIVARA 2003: 32, 491.11) ἀπὸ αὐτόνε (1669, Zakynthos, MOSCHOPOULOS 1986: 1, 232.34) ἔλειπε ἀπ' αὐτόνε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 56.8 τὸν σευδᾶ αὐτόνε Diig. Vefa 282 ἐβγάν(ει) ἀπ' αὐτόναν κρασὶ (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 82, 64.3) παραδαρμὸς αὐτόναν παραδέρνει Liv. V 2276 ἐνίκησαν αὐτόνα Diig. Alex. Sem. S 43 σέρνω τὸν πελιάν αὐτόναν (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 6, 64.22); αὐτόναν τὸν Γιάννη (1698, ibid. 9, 74.33)

Feminine

Nominative

General
αὐτή

The form αὐτή functionally competes with αὐτή, the fem. nom. sg. of the other proximal demonstrative, οὗτος/τοῦτος, due to their formal similarity (see 5.5.1.11). The paradigm with accent retraction αὐτός (see 5.5.1.4) also includes a fem. sg. αὐτή, formally indistinguishable from the feminine of οὗτος (apart from the breathing). The same observations are valid for the full fem. sg. paradigm of this pronoun.

αὐτή ἡ συμπεθερία Chron. Mor. H 2584 ἡ σκατοβορβορόκοιλη αὐτή ἡ προβατίνα Diig. tetr. 414 αὐτή ἡ πρόρηρμ(έ)ν(η) κυρα Ζαμπετ(α) (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 12, 48.10) αὐτή ἡ συγκλυογάλαζα CHOUNMNOS, Kosmog. 2356 αὐτή ἡ φαντασία ἐνεργεῖ καὶ εἰς τὰ ὄνειρατα DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 2, α7r.7–8 αὐτή ἡ διαίρεσις (1645, Jassy, LEGRAND 1903: 5, 10.2) αὐτή ἡ ἀτιμία RODINOS, Vios Ign. 52.28 αὐτή ἔναι ἕνα χόρτον ὅπου ἔχει ἀγκίδας LANDOS Geopon. ρπς' (ρπη')

Genitive

General
αὐτῆς τῆς ζωῆς αὐτῆς τῆς ἐπικήρου Spaneas P 106 μετ' αὐτῆς τῆς μηχανῆς [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1728 αὐτῆς τῆς θάλασσης Chron. Mor. P 536 ἐξ αὐτῆς τῆς Τροίας ERMON., Ilias 16.55 τῆς αὐτῆς ἐχρονίας (1468, Alyki, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 15, 10.4)

 'κ τῆς λαμπρᾶς αὐτῆς τῆς Ὀλυμπίας Alex. Rim. 1411 τῆς αὐτῆς μονῆς (1697, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 12, 665.131)

Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
αὐτή(ν)	αὐτήνε	αὐτήνα(ν)

For the addition of final /e/ and /a/ see masculine above.

τὴν κουδούπαν σου αὐτὴν τὴν μαδισμένην Ptoch. I 154 ἐτέλεπεν αὐτὴν τὴν σύνοδον τοῦ ἄνωθεν Βαρλαάμ (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 71, f.Iv.6) αὐτὴν τὴν ἀθερίναν Poulol. 345 συνέπαιζεν ὅλην αὐτὴν τὴν νύκταν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2097 ἀπ' αὐτὴν τὴν ὁρμασίαν Assizes A 114.10 αὐτὴν τὴν κοπροπιγούναν σου Spanos D 625 γι' αὐτήν ἐδὰ τὴν συμβουλὴ FALIEROS, Ist. On. 443 κατέχεις τὴν Πανώρια αὐτὴ CHORTATSIS, Panor. I.95 κι αὐτὴ τὴν ὥρα ἐκείνη Thysia Avr. 306 εἰς αὐτὴν τὴν γενεὰν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 73.14 τὴν γλώσσα αὐτὴ τῶν Ἰταλῶν SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. a2v.14 αὐτὴνε νὰ ἀμπατάρωμεν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 391, 387.31) κάγηκεν γι' αὐτὴνε VEST., Paid. Makkav. 981 τὰς ἔπαθα δι' αὐτήναν Liv. V 1094; ἀπ' αὐτήναν ἔστεκεν ἡ Ἑλπίδα ibid. V 869 χωρὶς αὐτήνα Diig. Vefa 782

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General
αὐτό(ν)

Although the ancient form of the neut. sg. is αὐτό without final /n/, in LMedG texts forms with final /n/ do occur, as part of the general tendency for fluctuation between the presence or absence of final /n/ (see I, 3.7.2).

αὐτὸ τὸ ρηθὲν τοπίον (1030, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 28, 184.11) αὐτὸ τὸ χωράφιον (1095, S. Italy/Sicily?, GUILLOU 1963: 2, 49.9) εἰς αὐτὸ τὸ κελλίον (1108?, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 57, 298.6) αὐτὸ τὸ πῶς τὸ λέγουν Ptoch. IV 412 αὐτὸ τὸ ἄλογον Assizes B 445.17 τὸ αὐτὸ μοναστήρι (1469, Paphos, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 117, 56.9) αὐτὸ θέλει εἶσταιν εἰς ἐτοῦτον τὸν κερὸν (1611, Cyprus, CHASIOITIS 1972: 49, 82.32) ἂν εἶν' καὶ κάμης το αὐτὸ ποὺ λές νὰ κατορθώσης KONDAK., Paidēs 131 αὐτὸν τὸ χωράφιον (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 130, 172.12) καὶ αὐτὸν τὸ θέλημά [σου] Spaneas V 32 ἵνα ἐκβάλῃς τὸ ρηθὲν ἀμπέλιον ἔρημον, καὶ εὐτειάνῃς αὐτόν (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.34–5) καὶ αὐτὸν ἐνὶ δίκαιον Assizes B 369.2 ἡγόρασαν αὐτόν ἀπὸ τὸν παπὰν (1493–4, Athos, OIKONOMIDÈS 1968: 36, 179.5) αὐτὸν τὸ καλομύρωδον εἶδος Spanos A 277 μέσα εἰς τὸ αὐτὸν κάτεργον MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 350.19–20 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari)

Genitive

General	Restricted
αὐτοῦ	αὐτουνοῦ

τοῦ αὐτοῦ κάστρου Λυσένων (1000, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 12, 11.10–11) ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ βουνοῦ (1010, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 15, 140.8) δι' αὐτοῦ τοῦ τείχους (1134, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 4, 14.12) αὐτοῦ τοῦ χωραφίου (1263, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 69, 194.22) διὰ ἐνοίκιον αὐτοῦ τοῦ λεγομένου σπιτιοῦ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 80, 78.6); αὐτοῦ τοῦ πλιότερου (ibid. 238, 225.18) καὶ μετ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ κρούσματος ἀπῆρε τὸ ραβδὶν μου Diig. T 2079 τοῦ μετοχίου αὐτουνοῦ τὸ εἰσόδημα (1706, Constantinople, LEGRAND 1903: 21, 58.10)

Plural

Masculine

Nominative

General
αὐτοί

αὐτοὶ ποὺ χάironται ἔχουν ἐδῶ μοιράδιν BERGADIS, Apok. A 138 καὶ πάλι αὐτοὶ μὲ τοὺς καλοὺς ἐσμίγουνται LIMEN., Than. Rod. 239 αὐτοὶ οἱ χρεωφελέτες οἱ δύο (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 50, 88.35) εσεῖς εἴστε λύκοι κι αὐτοὶ εἶναι πρόβατα Diig. Alex. K 352.17 διαγινώσκω π' εἶν' αὐτοὶ ποῦ στέκουν στὸν λιμένα ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 2377 καὶ αὐτοὶ οἱ κεχαϊάδες ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Rim. Andron. 18 αὐτοὶ οἱ ἄγιοι RODINOS, Vios Ign. 57.16 καὶ λέγονται αὐτοὶ οἱ διδάσκαλοι φιλαλήθεις PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §3.15–16 κι αὐτοὶ οἱ ἀποστολάτοροι κι αὐτοὶ οἱ μαντατοφόροι KORNAROS, Erot. IV. 209

Genitive

General	Restricted
αὐτῶ(ν) ἢ αὐτονῶν	αὐτῶνε

The gen. pl. αὐτῶν, although relatively frequent in texts from a morphological point of view, is mostly, almost exclusively, used as a personal or possessive pronoun. The extended form αὐτονῶν, appearing since the 15th c., is more frequently attested in the masculine as a demonstrative than the simple form αὐτῶν, although the reverse can be said for the neuter (see below). The addition of final /e/ is very rare, and attested up to now only in the Heptanese, while deletion of final /n/ is equally rare, and attested so far only in Crete.

κανεῖς ἐξ αὐτῶν τῶν μαρτύρων (1244, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 294, 413.2) αὐτονῶν (1451, Constantinople, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 1, 197.16)

αὐτονῶν (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 86.15) αὐτονῶν Diig. Alex. E 95.15 (Lolos) αὐτονῶν τῶν ἐπισκόπων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 80.22 αὐτονῶν GERMANO, Grammar 70.1

τῶν αὐτῶνε συντροφῶνε (1689, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 40, 74.11)

αὐτῶ ἀποῦ ἐγκρεμνιστήκασι ἀπάνω ἐξουρανόθε P&N Diath. 998

Accusative

General
αὐτούς

αὐτοὺς τοὺς ἐρημίτας (1165, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 167, 220.39) καὶ αὐτοὺς τοὺς τέσσαρας ἀνθρώπους (1319, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 106, 176.26) καὶ μετ' αὐτοὺς τοὺς λογισμοὺς Liv. E 4200 αὐτοὺς τοὺς βουλατόρους Chron. Toc. 1200 καὶ μετ' αὐτοὺς τοὺς ἑκατόν, οὓς ἤθελεν ἐκείνη [ANDR. PALAIOI.], Kallim. 1223 αὐτοὺς τοὺς λεγομένους δ' χοιρόπουλους (1539, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 964, 756.10) αὐτοὺς τοὺς λογισμοὺς Thysia Avr. 681 (app. crit. B)

Feminine

Nominative

General	Rare
αὐτές	αὐταί

Αὐταί is a rare hypercorrection, as the high-register form would be αὐταί, belonging to the paradigm of οὔτος; αὐτές is the most frequent form.

αὐτὲς ἦσαν οἱ τρεῖς γενεὲς Chron. Mor. H 2948 aftes i tris despoteses / αὐτὲς οἱ τρεῖς δεσπότεσσες (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 72, f.Ir.3) καὶ αὐτὲς ὠραιωμένες Achil. N 889 αὐταῖς [= αὐτὲς] εἶναι πάλαι οἱ τέσσαρες ζωτικαῖς δυνάμεις DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 2, α6ν.30–1 αὐταί με τὴν βοήθειαν τότε τοῦ Φιλεμένη Pol. Tr. 10769 app. crit. (X) καὶ αὐταὶ λέγουν θένα ὑποκλιθοῦν εἰς τὸ κοινῶβιον (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.56)

Genitive

General
αὐτῶ(ν)

The fem. gen. pl. case-form of the demonstrative pronoun is very rare, for general morpho-syntactic reasons. Deletion of final /n/ is attested from Crete.

τὴ τέλεια ἀποπλερωμὴ τῶν αὐτῶ χιλιάδω πέντε (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 795a, 692.9–10)

Accusative

General	Rare
αὐτές	αὐτάς

As in the nominative, the form αὐτάς is a rare learned hypercorrection.

δίδωμαί σοι αὐτὲς (1097, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 63, 81.11); νὰ ἔχωμεν ἡμεῖς αὐτὲς ἐλεύθερες (1170, ibid. 176, 231.20); περιορίζονται δὲ αὐτὲς οὕτως (1272, ibid. 326, 484.5) καὶ πουλῶντας αὐτὲς, νὰ κάμουν λογαριασμὸν (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 112, 92.10) καὶ αὐτὲς παράσημες Spanos D 241 πόσοι δι' αὐτὲς τὲς δυὸ ἁμαρτιῆς μεγάλοι ἐκομπωθῆκαν, FALIEROS, Log. did. 117 νὰ τὲς πάρῃ καὶ αὐτὲς (1584, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1976: 151.141) μία ἀπ' αὐτὲς τὲς ὁμορφες σὲ θέλει νικήσῃ Diig. Alex. F 106.2 (Konstantinopulos) εἰς αὐτὲς τὲς γραφαῖς RODINOS, Vios Ign. 128.19 ποῖα ἀπ' αὐτὲς νὰ τὸν πάρῃ ἄνδρα Vios Aisop. D 218.7 δῆς θὲς αὐτὲς οἱ προξενιὲς πῶς ἔχουσι νὰ πᾶσι KORNAROS, Erot. V 852 διὰ καμμίαν ἀπ' αὐτὰς τὰς αἰτίας Assizes B 376.17 τὰς ποδέας σου | αὐτὰς τὰς κακοεντύλικτας Poulol. 37–8 καὶ λέγει τας ὁ Βέλθανδρος αὐτὰς τὰς τρεῖς ὥραιας Velth. 602

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General
αὐτά

εἰς αὐτά (1042, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 3, 44.10) αὐτά εἰσι πλοῦτος ἀληθής Spaneas P 76 αὐτά σοῦ ἀπομένουν Spaneas Z 51 αὐτά τὰ τρία κάστη Chron. Mor. H 4443 καλὰ 'ν' αὐτά τὰ συντυχαίνεις; Dig. E 543 αὐτά τὰ ἐνκλήματα Assizes B 380.6
 ἦσαν δὲ ἀπ' αὐτά (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 37.II, 13.2) κι ἴτις λοιπὸν ἐδόθηκε νὰ πάθῃ αὐτά τὰ πάθη FALIEROS, Thrinios 69 αὐτά τὰ λεγόμενα περιβόλαια (1537, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 117, 231.17) ἀπ' αὐτά τὰ παιδία (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 37.1) καὶ αὐτά τῆς τάξου (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 3, 32.27) αὐτά τὰ λόγια γραμματικά ὑπάρχουν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 500 ὅσ' τα αὐτά τὰ φαγητά CHORTATSI, Katz. III.111 αὐτά εἶναι, δὲν τ' ἄρνοῦμι, δικά μου εἶναι (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.45v.20)

Genitive

General
αὐτῶ(ν) ἰ αὐτονῶν

The variant αὐτονῶν is attested more rarely, and is perhaps restricted mainly to human entities. Deletion of final /n/, in the texts examined, is limited to the Heptanese and Crete.

ἀπ' αὐτῶν τῶν συνόρων (13th–14th c.? copy, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 3, 49.40) αὐτῶν τῶν πλευτικῶν Chron. Mor. H 430 τῶν αὐτῶν περπύρων Assizes A 80.20 αὐτῶν τῶν βοδίων KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 243.32 αὐτῶν τῶν παιδίων PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 110.2
 δι' αὐτῶν τῶν γραμμάτων Vios Aisop. D 231.39

ἡ πακτωσιὰ τῶν αὐτῶ χωραφίων (1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 729, 632.14–15) τῶν αὐτῶ χωριῶνε (1655, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 2, 188.8–9) διὰ πάκτος αὐτονῶν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 148, 147.8)

Meaning and Usage

Αὐτός as a demonstrative determiner/modifier (always accompanied by the definite article) is attested in literary texts assumed to date from the 12th c., e.g.:

τῆς ζωῆς αὐτῆς τῆς ἐπικήρου Spaneas P 106
καὶ αὐτόν τὸ θέλημα [σου] Spaneas V 32 αὐτὸς ὑπάρχει, γίνωσκε, ὁ τὴν κόρην κατέχων Dig. G 482
τὴν κουδούπαν σου αὐτὴν τὴν μαδισμένην Ptoch. I 154

Purely deictic exophoric uses appear comparatively late:

θωρεῖς αὐτόν τὸν ἄγουρον ποῦ στέκει εἰς τὸ λιθάριν Dig. E 1507 βλέπεις ἔτοῦτο τὸ δενδρόν, θωρεῖς αὐτὴν τὴν βρύσιν; Liv. V 3781 αὐτοὶ οἱ Φράγκοι, ὅπου θωρεῖς, πολλὰ εἶν' θεληματάροι Chron. Mor. P 604 αὐτὸ τὸ ἄλογον τὸ καβαλλικεύει ἦτον ἐδικόν μου Assizes B 445.10

In the earlier non-literary texts (legal documents) the meaning of αὐτός is, in the majority of attestations, close to the original (= “the very same”), despite the innovative word order. The pronoun anaphorically refers to an entity already present in the discourse, with the meaning “the aforementioned”; purely deictic uses do not seem to occur:

ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ κανάλου (996, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 10, 171.49) ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ βουνοῦ (1010, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 15, 140.8); αὐτὸ τὸ ρηθὲν τοπίον (1030, ibid. 28, 184.11); εἰς αὐτὸ τὸ κελλίον (1108?, ibid. 57, 298.6) αὐτὸν τὸν ρύακαν (1333, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 15, 75.12)
ἀπ' αὐτῶν τῶν συνόρων (13th–14th c.? copy, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 3, 49.40)
αὐτὸν τὸν ναόν (1365, Serres, LEFORT 1973: 27, 162.9)

In the S. Italian documents αὐτός as a demonstrative is very rare, and occurs almost exclusively with the archaic post-articular order (MINAS ²2003: 99; CARACAUSSI, Lex. s.v. αὐτός; see also 5.6), e.g. ἡ αὐτὴ μοναχὴ Δομνέλλα (984, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 9, 8.6); τοῦ αὐτοῦ κάστρου Λυσένων (1000, ibid. 12, 11.10–11). However, the innovative order is also attested, e.g. αὐτὸ τὸ χωράφιον (1095, S. Italy/Sicily?, GUILLOU 1963: 2, 49.9); αὐτοὺς τοὺς ἐρημίτας (1165, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 167, 220.39); αὐτὸς ὁ Δημήτριος (ibid. 2, 49.10); αὐτὸν τὸ χωράφιον (1141, ibid. 130, 172.12).

The archaic post-articular order occurs in prose texts as late as the 19th c. (for its history see MANOLESSOU 2001) and is probably a feature of official language, comparable to ὁ τοιοῦτος (5.5.2.2), ὁ ρηθεῖς etc.:

ἐξηρίζωσε καὶ μίαν καρίαν εἰς τὸ αὐτὸν περιβόλι (1433, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 29, f.35r.4) νὰ εἶναι κρατημένος ὁ αὐτὸς Ἀνδρέας (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.9) καὶ ἀπέθανεν ὁ αὐτὸς Παντουήν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 18.21 καὶ ἠβλέποντας ἔτοῦτο ὁ αὐτὸς μάστορας (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.13) ἡ αὐτὴ συβίο μου (1597, Kefalonia, CHRYSOCHOIDIS 1977: 2, 211.29) νὰ πολεμήσουν μετὸν αὐτὸν πασσᾶ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 25.25 ἐπῆρεν ἡ αὐτὴ θάλασσα χιλιάδων μουζουριῶν χωράφια Diig. Sant. 57.34–5 εἰς τὴν αὐτὴν ὑπόθεσι (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.16) ἡ αὐτὴ λαμπάδα νὰ βάνεται εἰς τὸ αὐτὸ μνημα (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1955: 519.8) ὁ αὐτὸς μισερ Μικὲς (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 428, 649.2)

This order is regular in all the Cypriot texts (KOUNDOURIS 2009: 68–70), while the order αὐτός + article + N is very rare. Of the few examples attested in the Assizes, most appear in prepositional phrases: αὐτὸ τὸ ἄλογον Assizes B 445.17; κανέναν ἀπ’ αὐτὰ τὰ πράγματα Assizes A 106.8; ἀπ’ αὐτὴν τὴν ὁρμασίαν ibid. 114.10; αὐτὴν τὴν γυναῖκα ibid. 116.12.

5.5.1.3 ἄτός

The form ἄτός, normally used as an intensive pronoun (see 5.6.1 for details and etymology), is also attested as a demonstrative, although the available examples are isolated and rather dubious: there is a single instance in literary texts, several attestations in the documents of a 17th-c. notary from Chios and a small number of occurrences from Santorini and Corfu. There is also an attestation of ἄτός as a personal pronoun from literary texts (if not a scribal error), as well as a few examples of this usage from Pontos, in the Vazelon codices (LAMPSIDIS 1952: 231). Indeed, ἄτός as a personal pronoun, both as a strong and a weak (clitic) form, is still a feature of the Pontic dialect (PAPADOPOULOS 1955: 58).

ἀν εἶναι δι’ ἄτόν Liv. E 4026 τὸ μερτικὸ νὰ τον / τὸ μερτικόν ἄτων (15th–16th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 145, 108.4); ἐνοχλεῖ α<ὐ>τό / ἐνοχλεῖ ἄτο (15th c., ibid. 147, 109.8) πρὸς τὸν γαπρὸν ἀτοῦ (1601, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 1, 79.11); σύζεξον ἀτὴν μετὰ τὸν {ν}υῖον ἀτοῦ Νιαμονίτη (1602, ibid. 2, 80.4) νὰ τοὺς μαντινιέρομε καὶ ἀτούς (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.19); ὁποῦ ἄτός Γιαννάκης (1676, ibid. 23, 91.4–5); ἡ ἀτὴ κερά Μαργαρίτα (ibid. 23, 92.6); ποὺ ἀτοὶ θέλου (1677, ibid. 24, 92.14) ὅλα δὲ τὰ ἀτὰ ἱερὰ σκεύη (1697, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 12, 665.133); νὰ τὰ δώση καὶ ἀτὰ (ibid. 12, 666.166)

The form is not listed as a demonstrative by Germano or Portius, while in the modern dialect of Chios, as well as in the dialect of Corfu, it occurs exclusively as an intensive pronoun. On the other hand, the form occurs in the modern dialect of Santorini as a locative adverb ἀτοῦ (PETALAS 1876: 35).

Alongside the processes which create innovative inflectional forms within the paradigm of αὐτός by the addition of a syllable, analogy and levelling create entire inflectional paradigms. The new pronominal variants are examined in the following sections.

5.5.1.4 αὔτος

The stress shift leading to the creation of the variant αὔτος is due to the analogy of οὔτος/τοῦτος reinforced through the formal similarity of the feminine form αὐτή ~ αὔτη (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 155; HORROCKS 2010: 295). It has also been suggested that the stress retraction is a type of anastrophe, due to the frequent use of the pronoun αὐτός governed by a preposition, i.e. ἀπ’ αὐτόν > ἀπ’ αὔτον stressed as a monolectic compound just like ἀπ' ἐκεῖ > ἀπ' ἔκει, ἀπ' ὁψέ > ἀπόψε (PERNOT 1907/46: II 173–4). The earliest examples appear in literary texts from the 12th c. onwards. Initially αὐτός is equivalent to a personal pronoun and used exclusively in conjunction with prepositional phrases; this remains its predominant function throughout the LMedG and EMG period. Among the rare cases of nominative pronominal and demonstrative adjectival uses, the prevalent form is the feminine αὐτή, where the influence of the AG αὐτή is still strong. The form appears mostly in verse texts, where the choice between αὐτός and αὐτός must be, to some degree, determined by metrical considerations. For example, the 15-syllable verse has obligatory stress on the penultimate syllable, which makes the use of αὐτός instead of αὐτός inevitable in this position, e.g. οἱ μὲν τὴν ρόγαν ἔπαιρναν κ' ἐρχόντησαν μετ' αὐτον Chron. Mor. H 1392. The possibility that these pronominal forms with stress retraction are purely literary devices initially created for metrical reasons should be rejected, in view of (a) their presence in some modern dialects and (b) their syntactic behaviour in such dialects, which is similar to their medieval usage, i.e. overwhelmingly in conjunction with prepositional phrases (cf. PERNOT 1907/46: II 174, KARANASTASIS, Lex. s.v. αὐτο, ILNE s.v. αὐτός). Their presence in prose texts, albeit rather restricted, also argues against a purely literary origin, e.g. νὰ δοξεύουν μετ' αὐτον Diig. Alex. V 32.2; ἀπ' αὐτο ibid. 29.6. In non-literary documents, the only attestations so far come from the Heptanese.

The masc. nom. sg. αὐτός and the gen. pl. αὐτῶν are extremely rare and therefore possibly artificial, and the neut. nom. sg. αὐτο has yet to be located.

Personal Pronoun in Prepositional Phrases

- νὰ παίξη καὶ μετ' αὐτον GLYKAS, Stichoi 369 εἰς αὐτον ὑπαγαίνει Dig. E 9; εἰς αὐτον κατεβαίνει ibid. 938 καὶ συγχαρῶ μετ' αὐτον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1804 λέγει ὁ Χριστὸς πρὸς αὐτον DELLAP., Epit. Thrinis 107 τίποτες δὲν ἐκέρδισες ἀπ' αὐτον Diig. Alex. F 154.18 (Konstantinopulos) ἀπ' αὐτῶν Theseid I.31,2 (Follieri)
- ἀπ' αὐτοὺς ὁποῦ κάμνουσιν τὰ κλαπωτὰ Ptoch. III 90 μ' ἐχώρισεν ἀπ' αὐτοὺς Peri xen. 268 γίνεται μέγας πόλεμος, καταλυμὸς εἰς αὐτοὺς Byz. Il. 520 οἱ πρῶτοι ἀπ' αὐτοὺς Deft. Par. 317 ἔνας ἀπαύτους SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 18.55–6 δέομαι συχώρεση ἀπ' αὐτοὺς (1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 189, 159.10) χιλιάδες δέκα Ἀγαρηνοὶ ἐξ αὐτοὺς ἐχαθῆκαν DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 875
- καὶ διέκρινα εἰς αὐτὴν Ptochol. α 677 εἰς αὐτὴν BERGADIS, Apok. A 307
- ἐπολέμησε μετ' αὐτὲς Theseid Prol. P 167 ἀπ' αὐτὲς Theseid I.31,8 (Follieri) ἦσαν καὶ ἄλλες περισσὲς ἀρχόντισσες μετ' αὐτὲς DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2151 δὲν ἤξευρεν ὁ ἔρρημος εἰς αὐτὲς τὶ νὰ ποίση, MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 154 νὰ ζωγραφῆσιν εἰς αὐτὲς (1664, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1974b: 1, 42.19)
- ὦ, τι θέλω ἐξ αὐτο Pol. Tr. 396 ἀπ' αὐτο ν' ἀπολυτρωθῶ ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 19 ἐπλάσε μ' αὐτο τὴ γυνή P&N Diath. 1046

Personal Pronoun used as Subject/Object

ὁ Κοντοστέφανος συνών καὶ αὐτός μετ' ἐκείνους LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 449 ἀποχωρίζουντ' αὐτον Pol. Tr. 12782 εἶχον δὲ τὴν στίλβαν αὐτοὶ ERMON., Ilias 2.231

ῥ' ἄν αὐτοὺς Theseid I.30,6 (Follieri) καὶ αὐτοὶ ἐλυτρώθησαν MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 127 καὶ αὐτοὶ τότε ἐπήγασι DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 657 ἔπαρε καὶ αὐτὴν Dig. E 283 αὐτὴ καὶ τὸν πατέρα τῆς τὸν βασιλέα λέγει Pol. Tr. 1693 αὐτὴ νὰ πίπτῃ ἀναίσθητα Liv. S 2705

Demonstrative Use with Article + Noun

εἰς αὐτὸν τὸν σκοπὸν Liv. S 1525 τὴν τόσῃ καταφρόνησιν ἐξ αὐτῶν τῶν υπούλων IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 9504 ἀπ' αὐτὴν τὴν ἐνθύμησιν Chron. Toc. 3172 ἕως τῆς ὥρας αὐτῆς Achil. N 1409

δι' αὐτὴν τὴν αἰτίαν Velth. 521

ἡ ἀρετὴ σου αὐτὴ Synax. gadar. 219 αὐτὴ γὰρ Ὀλυμπιάδα Alex. Rim. 103 ἀπ' αὐτῆς τῆς δύο KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 113.26

ἀπ' αὐτὰ τὰ ὑποδήματα τὰ φόρειες ἀπὸ πρῶτα Poulol. 310 app. crit. (A); μετ' αὐτὸν τὸ κουκουδωτόν, ἐμπαλωτόν σου ροῦχον ibid. 602

In non-literary texts, forms of αὐτός are very rare and always in prepositional phrases, excepting of course the ancient form αὐτὴ. In some cases one may be dealing simply with an erroneous, purely graphematic displacement of the accent, common in non-literary vernacular manuscripts:

ἀπ' αὐτοὺς (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 27, 62.26)

νὰ ἱεουργῶ εἰς αὐτὸν (1492, Venice, MAVROEIDI-POLOUMIDI 1971: 1, 127.5) μετ' αὐτὰ (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 81, 152.10)

εἰς αὐτὴν τὴν ἀγάπην (1540, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 79, 59.5) ὁποῖος ἤθελεν καλεσθῇ ἀπ' αὐτοὺς (1546, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 173, 112.18)

ἡ γραφὴ αὐτὴ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 160, 161.20) διὰ νὰ λείψουν ἀπ' αὐτοὺς κρίσεις (1573, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 12, 65.5) με ταύτους / μετ' αὐτοὺς (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 3, 362.11)

μετ' αὐτὴ τὴ κυρὰ κουμπάρα μου (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 5, 32.8)

εἰς αὐτὸ (1647, Patras, TSELIKAS 1986a: 1, 668.9)

Final /n/ in the neut. sg. is rarely attested, e.g. ἐξ αὐτὸν τὸ λιβάδι Dig. E 1627; μετ' αὐτὸν τὸ κουκουδωτόν, ἐμπαλωτόν σου ροῦχον Poulol. 602.

Addition of final /e/ in the masc. acc. sg. is rare, and appears only in areas which regularly present the phenomenon in nominal and verbal morphology (see I, 2.6.3):

εὐτὺς λαλεῖ πρὸς αὐτὸνε τὸν μισὲρ Γαλεράνον Chron. Mor. P 6747 (hapax) νᾶνε πρὸς αὐτὸνε πιστός KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua 57.233 ἔκαμε γλήγορα γραφὴ, εἰς αὐτὸνε τὴν πέβει Alex. Rim. 1004 ἐπήγασι μετ' αὐτὸνε VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 308 καὶ ἔμεινε ἀπ' αὐτὸνε καὶ δὲν τὴνε γάμησεν (1579, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 7, 97.39)

γιά ταύτονε / γιατ' αὔτονε (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.44)

μετ' αὔτονε (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 311, 260.32)

ἀπό ταύτονε / ἀποτ' αὔτονε (1698, Peloponnese, GRITSΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ 1968/69: 3, 335.5)

The analogical influence of μετά/μέ leads to prepositional forms ἀποτά, διατά, εἰστά appearing before personal and demonstrative pronouns. In some editions, erroneous word division leads to apparent forms ταῦτος, -η, -ο after prepositions; cf. a similar phenomenon with ἐκεῖνος (5.5.1.8).

δια ταῦτο Theseid VI.7,2 (Olsen); ὅλοι ἔλεγον δια ταῦτους ibid. VI.7,7 ταῦτο ἃ γένη τέλος, Defl. Par. 81 διά ταῦτον Diig. Alex. F 284.14 (Lolos) εἰς ταῦτους σκλαβωμένοι PAPASYNAD., Chron. Proem.80

ζουή διά ταῦτο σοῦ ζητώ Alfan. 11 23

On the homophonous form ταῦτος in S. Italian documents see 5.5.1.11.

5.5.1.5 ἔδαῦτος/δαῦτος

This pronoun results from the prefixation of αὔτος with the deictic adverb ἔδε (< AG ἰδέ, see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.). Deletion of initial ἐ- was caused through the frequent collocation with the prepositions μέ, σέ. The earliest examples are dated to the 16th c., from both literary and non-literary texts. The overwhelming majority of instances come from the Peloponnese and the Heptanese.³⁴ The only case-forms attested are the acc. sg. and pl. The pronoun seems to be used similarly to αὔτος: as a personal pronoun complement of prepositions.³⁵

Masculine Accusative Singular

μέ δαῦτον θέ νά μείνω Alex. Rim. 110 ἐσυναναθράφηκα μέ δαῦτον (1575, Zakynthos, ΠΑΝΑΥΟΤΟΠΟΥΛΟΥ 1975: 6, 352.69) ἐπαρπονέθησαν εἰς δαῦτον Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.9; ὠμίλησε μέ δαῦτον ibid. 30.1

ἦλθε μέ δαῦτον Nov. II 162.32 νά ὑπάγῃ εἰς τήν πόλιν μέ δαῦτον (1621, Kefalonia, ΠΑΠΑΔΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ 1998/2000: 1, 66.34) τό θαῦμα ὅπου ἐγένηκε σέ δαῦτον Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 39–40 (ed. σέ δ' αὔτον)

Feminine Accusative Singular

νά σταθῇ μέ δαύτην (1553, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 254, 153.20)

μέ δαύτην (1599, Zakynthos, ΖΟΙΣ 1957: 56.5)

ἀπό δαύτη (1617, Zakynthos, ΚΟΝΟΜΟΣ 1970b: 3, 232.12)

³⁴ The only example from a Cretan text comes from a stage direction in the second Interlude of Stathis (Inter. II post v. 32), and could therefore be of Heptanesian origin. A single instance has been found in a document from Andros. However, a locative adverb ἐδαύτου also occurs in a Cretan document: νά εὔρω ξύλο ὅπου νά ἔρχεται ἐδαύτου (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 36.24).

³⁵ Ioakeim Kyprios's text is the only one to offer the forms δαυτόν, δαυτήν with final accentuation, and the analogical forms δαυτεῖνον, δαυτούνους, δαυτουνούς, which should be considered artificial, pending corroboration from other sources. Examples: νά πάγῃ με δαυτεῖνον ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 7913; καί ο ἀδελφός του με δαυτόν ibid. 7399. Influence of the preposition μεδέ (itself a result of false segmentation from μέ + δαῦτον, see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. μετά) is possible, in which case the analogical forms at least should be considered the result of blurred word division.

ἐπαναχώρα ἀπὸ δαύτην (1621, Kefalonia, PAPADOPOULOS 1998/2000: 1, 66.17)
 δὲν ἦτανε μὲ δαύτην (1678, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 24, 55.9) παίρνοντες ἀπὸ δαύτην Diath. Nikon Metan. 102–5

Neuter Accusative Singular

μὲ δαῦτο περπατοῦμε Alex. Rim. 1668 γιὰ δαῦτο δὲ γράφω εἰς τὴν Ἀνάπολη (1584, Italy, PAPADOPOULOS 1978: 1, 318.22) εἰς ἐδαῦτο (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 8, 34.8) ἀπ' ἐδαῦτο (1644, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 4, 122.16) εἶναι σὲ δαῦτο (17th c., Kefalonia, TZANNETATOS 1965: 2, 123.4) πὸ δαῦτο δὲν ἐγλύσαν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 8637 ἀπάνω σὲ δαῦτο Zinon I.68 (did.)

Masculine Accusative Plural

διὰ δαύτους (1546, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 172, 111.8) ἀπὸ δαύτους (1617, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970b: 3, 232.25) δὲν πρετεντέρει τίβοτις ἄλλο ἀπὸ δαύτους (1673, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 18, 51.6) διὰ δαύτους (1694, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1940: 3, 184.4) καὶ ὁ θεὸς μεδ' αὐτοὺς / καὶ ὁ θεὸς μὲ δαύτους Diath. Nikon Metan. 150; σιμὰ εἰς ἐδ' αὐτοὺς / σιμὰ εἰς ἐδαύτους ibid. 155–6 ξνας ἀπὸ δαύτους Bertoldos 46.15

Feminine Accusative Plural

εἰσὲ δαῦτες (1678, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 246, 222.23); πᾶσα μία ἀπὸ δαῦτες
 (1661, ibid. 225, 200.35)
 τὸν θυμόν μου διὰ δαῦτες Bertoldos 21.30; σὲ δαῦτες ibid. 117.28

Neuter Accusative Plural

νὰ ζῇ μ' ἐδαῦτα (1542, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 115, 79.16) τίποτε ἀπὸ δαῦτα (1626, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 47, 199.10) ἀπὸ δαῦτα (1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 189, 160.58) ἀπὸ δαῦτα (1694, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1940: 3, 183.19) σὲ δαῦτα (1645, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 5, 123.12) ἦτανε ἀπάνου σὲ δαῦτα κομαντάντες ὁ Γριμάνης ΜΑΤΗΣΙΣ, Chron. 67
 μὲ δαῦτα (1708, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 11, 44.16)

Masc. and fem. acc. forms with addition of final /e/ appear predominantly in the Heptanese, again from the 16th c. onwards:

μὲ δαύτονε (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 252, 347.20) ἔπεσε εἰσὲ πᾶτους μὲ δαύτονε Nov. II 162.52 μὲ δαύτονε (1575, Zakynthos, PANAYOTOPOULOU 1975: 6, 352.73) ὅχι νὰ γυρίση εἰσὲ δαύτονε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 65.16 ἐθυμώθη πρὸς ἐδαύτονε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 41.37 νὰ σταθῇ μὲ δαύτονε (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 3, 175.3–4) ἀπὸ δαύτονε (1670, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1981: 2, 287.49) γιὰ δαύτονε (1670, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 11, 43.4) λαβαίνει ἀπὸ ἐδαύτονε (1678, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 243, 218.11) δὲν πρετεντέρει ἄλλο ἀπὸ δαύτονε (1709, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 10, 43.4) παῖον ξεσκισμὸν σὲ δαύτηνε νὰ κάμω SOUMAKIS, Past. Fid. D4r.18 μὲ δαύτηνε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 42.9
 ἀπὸ δαύτηνε (1670, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1981: 1, 285.16)

5.5.1.6 αὐτεῖνος/αὐτοῦνος/αὐτόνος

As described above, the pronoun αὐτός gives rise to a variety of entire sub-paradigms exhibiting innovative stem allomorphs, without functional/semantic differentiation. These sub-paradigms result from a multiplicity of analogical processes, the prevalent interpretation for which was proposed by MEYER 1889: 169–71, HATZIDAKIS 1892: 439–40 (reproduced in CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 155–6) and THUMB 1912: 92. A detailed description of these complex evolutions is provided in LENDARI/MANOLESSOU 2013.

The first stage must have been the analogical influence of oxytone αὐτός on paroxytone ἐκεῖνος, which led to new forms: αὐτοῦ → ἐκεῖνοῦ, αὐτῶν → ἐκεῖνων, αὐτούς → ἐκεῖνούς. Especially for the genitive plural, the stress shift may have been partly motivated by the necessity of disambiguation between the homophonous accusative singular and genitive plural of paroxytone O-stem nominal forms, e.g. τὸν χρόνον ~ τῶν χρόνων → τῶν χρόνων (MEYER 1889: 170; KRETSCHMER 1905: 260–2 and HENRICH 1996a: 14–16; for the phenomenon see 2.1.2).

The next stage was the shift of the morpheme boundary between stem and suffix in the oblique forms of the pronoun ἐκεῖνος and consequently the creation of the new suffixes -νοῦ, -νῶν, -νούς, which, at a third stage, were attached to the simple forms of many pronouns, i.e. αὐτοῦ → αὐτουνοῦ, αὐτῶν → αὐτωνῶν, αὐτούς → αὐτουνοῦς, and similarly τουτουνοῦ, ποιουνοῦ, κανενοῦ, όλωνῶν, άλλωνῶν etc. Finally, in the case of αὐτός, levelling of all forms took place, i.e. the same stem-form spread throughout the paradigm, leading to the full paradigms αὐτοῦνος (from the gen. sg. and acc. pl.) and αὐτόνος (from the gen. pl.). The form αὐτεῖνος, according to Chatzidakis, derives from the generalization of the fem. gen. sg. αὐτηνῆς; however, a derivation on the analogy of ἐκεῖνος is more likely (ILNE s.v. αὐτός, KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. αὐτεῖνος).

The alternative interpretations by JANNARIS (1897: 161) and PERNOT (1907/46: II 170–2), which attribute the new forms to “emphatic” repetition of the final syllable of αὐτός in all case-forms and infixation of /n/, must be dismissed as they involve a reduplicative mechanism non-existent in Greek morphology. However, the phonetic identity between the final stem vowel and the suffix vowel in some forms (αὐτεῖνη, αὐτουνοῦ) may have produced further changes: a schema similar to that proposed by Jannaris and Pernot would have come into play in the last stage of morphological levelling, i.e. the analogical principle may have been copying of the vowel of the final syllable into the stem, e.g. αὐτεῖνη, αὐτουνοῦ → αὐτένες, αὐτάνα, αὐτόνος.

The new analogically reformed paradigms appear from the 14th–15th c. onwards.³⁶ Their first (but still extremely rare) attestations come from the Chronicle of Morea, the War of Troy and Livistros. They become more frequent in the 16th c. and they are quite common in Cretan literature, as well as in documents from Crete and the Cyclades, but they are absent from Cypriot texts.³⁷ Some case-forms, particularly the fem. gen. pl., are not attested in the texts examined. The case-forms for each sub-paradigm are set out in the tables below.

³⁶ Taking into account the dating of the manuscripts in which these works are transmitted.

³⁷ Authors such as Neofytos Rodinos and Ioakeim Kyprios, whose language has a less strong regional colouring, do use such forms.

The later history of these pronominal forms, i.e. the fact that in SMG the gen. sg. and pl. (αὐτουνοῦ, αὐτηνῆς, αὐτωνῶν) and the acc. pl. (αὐτουνοῦς) are acceptable (though colloquial) morphological variants of αὐτός (MACKRIDGE 1985: 144, HOLTON et al. 2012: 114) in a way that nominative forms like αὐτεῖνος, αὐτοῦνος, αὐτόνος etc. are not, could be an indication that the process of analogy started from the gen. sg. and pl., as described above. Similarly, the grammatical descriptions of the 16th and 17th c. give only genitive sg. and pl. forms.³⁸ Another indication for the chronological precedence of the genitive is the existence of similar morphological variants in other pronominal paradigms, e.g. ποιουνοῦ, ἀλλουνοῦ/ἀλλουνῶν, όλουνοῦ/όλουνῶν (for these see 5.7.1.1, 5.10.1, 5.13.1.1), without the concomitant presence of nominative forms (*ἀλλοῦνος, *ποιοῦνος etc.). Although probable, this hypothesis cannot be confirmed on the basis of the textual data, because the nom. and acc. forms are attested simultaneously with the gen., and only occasionally later. Neither is it possible to determine which of the three stem variants (αὐτειν-, αὐτουν-, αὐτον-) appeared first. An indirect indication is perhaps furnished by the relative frequency of the variants, since αὐτόνος is much less frequent in texts than the other two. The relatively late (15th c.) spread of the innovative variant paradigms is supported by their absence from Cypriot.

The variation between final and paroxytone stress in the gen. sg. and pl. cannot be described more precisely or be attributed to specific factors other than metrical considerations; in general, the first alternative appears more frequently. The choice between the analogical variants αὐτειν-, αὐτουν-, αὐτον- is also hard to explain, as often two or three variant forms occur within the same text (for the co-occurrence of the variants in the Chronicle of Morea cf. EGEA 1988: 61).

Evolution of αὐτός and its Variants

Stage 1

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	αὐτός	αὐτή	αὐτό(ν)
Gen.	αὐτοῦ ἢ αὐτουνοῦ	αὐτῆς ἢ αὐτηνῆς	αὐτοῦ ἢ αὐτουνοῦ
Acc.	αὐτό(ν) ἢ αὐτόνε ἢ αὐτόνα(ν)	αὐτή(ν) ἢ αὐτήνα(ν)	αὐτό(ν)
Plural
Nom.	αὐτοί	αὐτές	αὐτά
Gen.	αὐτῶν ἢ αὐτονῶν ἢ αὐτουνῶν	αὐτῶν	αὐτῶν ἢ αὐτονῶν ἢ αὐτουνῶν
Acc.	αὐτούς ἢ αὐτουνοῦς	αὐτάς ἢ αὐτές	αὐτά

³⁸ ἐκείνου, αὐτουνοῦ (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 739); τουτουνοῦ, τουτηνῆς, τουτουῶν, αὐτουῶν, ἐκειῶν (SOFIANOS, Grammar 78–9); τουτουνοῦ, τουτονῆς, τουτονῶν, αὐτουνοῦ, αὐτονῶν, ἀλλουνοῦ, ἀλλονῆς, ἀλωνῶν, όλουνοῦ, όλονῆς (GERMANO, Grammar 69–70); ἐνοῦ, τουτουνοῦ, τουτηνῆς, τουτονῶν, ἐκεινοῦ, ἐκεινῆς, ἐκειῶν (PORTIUS, Grammar 22, 23, 29); ἐνοῦ, δυονῶν, τουτουνοῦ, τουτηνῆς, τουτονῶν (TRIBBECHOVIUS, Grammar B4).

Stage 2i: Generalization of /u/

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	αὐτοῦνος	αὐτοῦνη	αὐτοῦνο(ν)
Gen.	αὐτουνοῦ ἢ αὐτόνου	αὐτουνῆς	αὐτουνοῦ ἢ αὐτόνου
Acc.	αὐτοῦνο(ν)	αὐτοῦνη(ν)	αὐτοῦνο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	αὐτοῦνοι	αὐτοῦνες	αὐτοῦνα
Gen.	αὐτουνῶν(ε)	(αὐτουνῶν)	αὐτουνῶν
Acc.	αὐτουνούς ἢ αὐτόνους	αὐτοῦνες	αὐτοῦνα

Stage 2ii: Generalization of /i/

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	αὐτεῖνος	αὐτεῖνη	αὐτεῖνο(ν)
Gen.	αὐτεινοῦ ἢ αὐτείνου	αὐτεινῆς	αὐτεινοῦ ἢ (αὐτείνου)
Acc.	αὐτεῖνο(ν)(ε)	αὐτεῖνη(ν)(ε)	αὐτεῖνο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	αὐτεῖνοι	αὐτεῖνες	αὐτεῖνα
Gen.	αὐτεινῶν(ν)	(αὐτεινῶν)	αὐτεινῶν
Acc.	αὐτεινούς ἢ αὐτείνους	αὐτεῖνες	αὐτεῖνα

Stage 3: Generalization of final vowel

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	αὐτόνος	αὐτεῖνη	αὐτόνο(ν)
Gen.	αὐτονοῦ	αὐτεινῆς	(αὐτονοῦ)
Acc.	αὐτόνο(ν)	αὐτεῖνη(ν)	αὐτοῦνο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	αὐτόνοι	αὐτένες	αὐτάνα
Gen.	αὐτονῶν ἢ αὐτόνων(ν)	αὐτονῶν	αὐτονῶν
Acc.	αὐτονούς	αὐτένες	αὐτάνα

The evolution and distribution of the innovative variants of αὐτός will now be examined in more detail. The form αὐτεῖνος is a blend of αὐτός and ἐκεῖνος (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 155; KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.).³⁹ All case-forms, except the fem. gen. pl., are attested in the texts examined, the earliest ones stemming from the 14th–15th c. It is documented from a wide variety of texts, both literary and non-literary, and displays a broad geographical distribution (Heptanese, Cyclades, Peloponnese, Crete, Macedonia) but is absent from Cyprus⁴⁰ and Pontos. The most frequent forms in the gen. sg., gen. pl. and acc. pl. are those stressed on the final syllable. The stress variation in the genitive follows the corresponding variation of the pronoun ἐκεῖνος (5.5.1.8). Forms with addition of final /e/ are quite rare, attested from the 16th c. onwards.

The form αὐτοῦνος originates from the generalization of the masc. gen. sg. vowel [u] (see above). It first appears in the 14th–15th c., and is attested both in literary and non-literary texts, without specific geographical restrictions, although it is not attested in Cyprus and Pontos. The fem. gen. pl. is unattested so far. The stress pattern of the gen. sg., gen. pl. and acc. pl. forms presents variation, with final stress being more common (see table above).

In grammatical treatises the genitive αὐτουνοῦ, αὐτουνων is included as a legitimate form of αὐτός. Sofianos (Grammar 79.13–15) lists the gen. pl. αὐτουνων for all genders, while Germano mentions the forms αὐτουνοῦ and αὐτωνων as special variants in Chios (“in Scio il genitivo singolare αὐτουνοῦ. Genit. pl. αὐτωνων”, GERMANO, Grammar 70).

The form αὐτόνος arises from the generalization of the vowel of the inflectional suffix /o/ (see general remarks and evolutionary tables above). It first appears in the 14th–15th c., like the other two variants, αὐτεῖνος and αὐτοῦνος, but its frequency is much lower. Some case-forms are extremely rare: the masc. gen. sg., nom. pl. (which so far is dubious, the only attestation coming from the app. crit. of a Heptanesian text) and acc. pl., and the gen. pl. of all genders. The fem. sg. coincides with the fem. of αὐτεῖνος and is therefore indistinguishable.

Masculine Nominative Singular

- αὐτεῖνος ἦτον ὁ εὐγενής Liv. E 1 αὐτεῖνος νὰ κερδέση Pol. Tr. 10266 app. crit. (A) αὐτεῖνος ὁ μαρκέζης Chron. Mor. P 1009 ὁ νέος αὐτεῖνος ἔσωσε Rim. kor. A 36 καὶ αὐτεῖνος ὁ Πορτάρης Velis. p 510 αὐτεῖνος θέλει σ' ἀγαπᾶ DEFAR., Log. did. 459 αὐτεῖνος εἶναι ὁ θάνατος, αὐτεῖνη καὶ ἡ λακτάρᾳ P&N Diath. 1306 αὐτεῖνος ὁ Θεός Tzabl. 106 νέος κι αὐτεῖνος TROILOS, Rodol. I.117 ἀνηψιός της αὐτεῖνος (1662, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 214, 184.20) αγίασεν και αυτεινος ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 8704
- αὐτοῦνος ὁ μαρκέσης Chron. Mor. H 1009 ὁ νέος αὐτοῦνος Rim. kor. V 36 αυτουνος ἔλεγεν Apoll. Rim. 96 αὐτοῦνος ἔναι ὁ θάνατος CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 225

³⁹ Modern editors adopt a variety of spellings (αὐτειν-, αὐτην-, αὐτοιν-), depending on the assumed derivation.

⁴⁰ Again, with the exception of authors whose language has a less strong regional colouring.

ἐσέβη(ν) αὐτοῦνος μετ' ἐμαῖς BERGADIS, Apok. V 315 αὐτοῦνος δὲν προσέχει DEFAR., Log. did. 394

αυτόνος, Απολλώνιος, Apoll. Rim. V 161 αὐτόνος ἐγὼ πιστεύω (1567, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 5, 306.22) αὐτόνος ὁ Γόρας (1568, Crete?, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 3, 471.7) δὲν θέλω νὰ κάμει μήτε αὐτόνος (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.22) αὐτόνος ὁ θεόρημος MOREZINOS, Klini 73.20

μ' αὐτόνος Pist. voskos V.6.205 αὐτόνος ἔναι ἀδεξωπὸς FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.68

τὴν ζωὴν αὐτόνος τήν δώνει KONДАР., Paidēs 687–8 αὐτόνος ἐνικήθηκεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1557 εἶχε κι αὐτόνος γράμματα KORNAROS, Erot. II.177

κι αὐτόνος τὸν παρακινᾷ Trag. Ag. Dim. II.5

Masculine Genitive Singular

εἶπτε τοῦ αὐθέντη σας αὐτεῖνου τοῦ Θησέου Theseid II.41,1 (1529) νὰ τοῦ γλυτώσης τὸ λοιπὸν αὐτεῖνου τῇ γυνὴ του Alex. Rim. 2235 διατὶ αὐτίνου πρέπει ἡ δόξα Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 41 έδωκέν την αυτηνού Diig. Alex. K 367.4–5 αὐτηνου ὅπου ἐγεννήθη KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.20 τὴν ἐχάρισα αὐτεινοῦ (1584, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1976: 152.176)

τοῦ νιοῦ αὐτεινοῦ CHORTATISIS, Erof. III.319 αὐτεινοῦ καὶ τῶν κληρονόμων του (1603, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 174, 186.7) αὐτηνου καὶ τῶν διαδόχων του (1636, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 43, 119.20) αὐτεινοῦ καὶ τῶν ἀποθαμένων του (1645, Crete, VOUDOUMBAKIS 1915: 10, 367.10) ξοπίσω του αὐτεινοῦ ἐπρόβαλε κοντάρι KORNAROS, Erot. II.185

ἡ αὐτεινοῦ ἡ τῶν κληρονόμων του (1708, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 40, 76.23)

μετ' αὐτουνοῦ τὴν πελελίαν Pol. Tr. 2661 app. crit. (AX) ἐκείνου, αὐτουνοῦ (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 739) τὴν βούλλαν ἔκράτει αὐτουνοῦ Dig. A 4078 δὲν εἶναι τὸ πταίσιμον ἐδικὸν μου ἀλλὰ αὐτουνοῦ ὅπου τὰ ἔφερεν Spanos D αὐτουνοῦ καὶ τῶν κληρονόμων του (1539, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 26, 46.52) διὰ πάκτος αὐτουνοῦ τοῦ μύλου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 62, 60.9) νὰ ἔχω καὶ αὐτουνοῦ ταμένα (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 22, 186.34)

τοῦ αὐτουνοῦ πουλητῇ (1593, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 55, 77.8) αὐτουνοῦ ποῦ κρατεῖ τὰ ὁμόλογα Vios Aisop. K 180.33 app. crit. (AST) ἔφθασεν καὶ αὐτουνοῦ τὸ τέλος Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1326 καὶ εἶπα αὐτουνοῦ (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 40.85) καὶ αὐτουνοῦ θάνατος (1629, Milos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 14, 10.29) καὶ αὐτουνοῦ τὴν κεφαλὴ (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 403, f.3r.43) απ' αὐτουνοῦ το χέρι STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. (Pidonia) ἦτον ἐξάδελφοι αὐτουνοῦ (1691, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 18, 12.5) αὐτοῦνου ποῦ ἀγαπάει DEFAR., Log. did. 375 τοῦ ἐδώσανε αὐτοῦνου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 28.9

αὐτοῦνου τοῦ πατρός του MONTSEL., Evgena 136 θάνατο αὐτοῦνου μεριμνᾷ Zinon III.230 αὐτοῦνου θέλει ἀκούσετεν VEST., Prol. Theot. 121; αὐτοῦνου τοῦ Μεσσίου id., Pathi 503 αὐτονοῦ ποῦ κρατεῖ τὰ ὁμόλογα Vios Aisop. K 180.33 app. crit. (M) μόνο αὐτονοῦ ἀνοιξα Vios Aisop. I 270.9

Masculine Accusative Singular

καὶ εἰς αὐτεῖνον ἤλπιζεν Spaneas Z 57 διὰ τὸν λαὸν αὐτεῖνον Chron. Mor. P 6741 κι αὐτεῖνο τὸν Πιλάτο FALIEROS, Thrinos 19 δίχως αὐτεῖνον ΡΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 368 ἐπῆρεν καὶ αὐτεῖνον Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1324 ποῦ ἡ Πέρσια δὲν ἀξιώθηκε ὥσαν αὐτεῖνον ἄλλο TROILOS, Rodol. II.240 ἀπ' αὐτεῖνον ἠθικὲς ἀπόφασες μανθαίνου SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. a2v.17 αυτεῖνον τὸν Σινάν πασιὰ STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 239 (Pidonia) πρὸς αὐτεῖνον ἦκαμε KORNAROS, Erot. II.1536 app. crit. (X) αυτεῖνονε νὰ εὐρῆς DEFAR., Sos. 376 (Holton)

'ς αὐτεῖνονε μὴ θαρρευτῆς DEFAR., Log. did. 464 αὐτεῖνονε τὸν γάμο MONTSEL., Evgena 224 (Spadaro) διὰ τὸν λαὸν αὐτοῦνον Chron. Mor. H 6741 μετ' αὐτοῦνον Dig. E 1401 app. crit. αὐτοῦνον Pol. Tr. 10497 app. crit. (CV) οὐκ ἤθελε αὐτοῦνον συγχωρῆσαι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2269 αυτοῦνον θέλω γι' ἄντρα μου Apoll. Rim. E 577 ἀπ' αὐτοῦνον (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 3, 302.10) αὐτοῦνο τὸν καλὸν χριστιανὸ (1568, Crete?, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 3, 471.10) ἀπ' αὐτοῦνον (1576, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 79, 99.26) αὐτόνον γὰρ τὸν ροῖ Μαφρὲ Chron. Mor. H 6183 αὐτόνο τὸν στρατιώτην Achil. O 660 αὐτόνο τὸ Μεσσία FALIEROS, Thrinos 147 αυτόνον εχαιρέτησε Apoll. Rim. V 141 αὐτόνον εἶδαν Alex. Rim. 1112 δι' αὐτόνον ν' ἀποθάνουν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.225 δι' αὐτόνο τὸ ψεύτη (1568, Crete?, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 3, 471.19) σ' αὐτόνον τὸν καιρὸν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 165 ἔρχεται εἰς αὐτόνον MOREZINOS, Klini 15.34 τὸ λογισμὸν αὐτόνο FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.243 εἰς αὐτόνο ρέπει PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2304 θανατώνει αὐτόνο KORNAROS, Erot. III.1168

Feminine Nominative Singular

αὐτεῖνη ἐνὶ ἀνασασμός Pol. Tr. 1912 app. crit. (X) ἡ ἀρχόντισσα αὐτεῖνη Chron. Mor. P 7474 αὐτεῖνη γὰρ ἐξέβαλεν Spaneas Z 287 αὐτεῖνη ἔναι ἡ κυρά μου Theseid Prol. P 32 αὐτεῖνη ἐπαρὰβγῆκε ΡΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 503 αὐτήνη ἡ Μηδεῖα Synax. gyn. 363 καὶ αὐτεῖνη νὰ μὲ ὀρδινιάσει (1532, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 24, 74.21) νὰ τὰ ἔχει αὐτεῖνη (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 36, 38.51) αὐτεῖνη μοναχοῦλα DEFAR., Log. did. 559 ὕπάγει καὶ αὐτήνη (1590, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 32, 174.9) νὰ εἶναι καὶ αὐτεῖνη ὅλη ἐδικήν του (1597, Syros, MILIARAKIS 1900: 697.21) ὥσαν αὐτήνη χώρα Prol. Epain. Kef. 49 αυτείνη εἶν' ἡ λύτρωσις VEST., Prol. Theot. 227 καὶ αυτείνη ἡ μοῖρα τῆς MONTSEL., Evgena 99 (Spadaro) ἡ ἄνωθεν καλουγιά αυτείνη (1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 8, 21.9) αυτούνη ἡ ἐλεημοσύνη DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2345 αυτούνη ἡ στράτα FALIEROS, Log. did. 153 αυτούνη <ή> Μαργαρώνα Imb. Rim. 392 αυτούνη θέλησε VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 231

Feminine Genitive Singular αυτεινῆς τῆς ἐγγυήτρας (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 314, 303.8) αυτηνῆς Diig. Alex. E 251.24 (Lolos) τῆς ἡμέρας αυτηνῆς τῆς ἀγίας DAM. SToud., This., Logos 2, α8v.4–5 αυτεινῆς τῆς κερ' Ἀγγελίνας (1576, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 81, 101.34) καὶ αυτεινῆς (1619, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 20, 66.28) αυτηνῆς δὲ τὸ ὄνομα [VLASTOS], Diig. P I 313.6 αυτηνῆς καὶ τῶν διαδόχων τῆς (1663, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 1, 11.15) ποὺ βοηθοῦσιν αυτεινῆς DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 166 ἀπ' αυτεινῆς τὴν πρεσβείαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §14.23 εἶναι καὶ αυτηνῆς μὲ τὸ θέλημάν τῆς (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 57, 57.16) κι αυτεινῆς τὸ Μελλούμενο TROILOS, Rodol. Chor. III.3 αυτήνῆς τῆς κιθάρας Bertoldos 21.32 κάμε αυτουνῆς τὸ θέλημα CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 942 καὶ τὴν ἀγάπην αυτουνῆς οὐδὲν τήνε κατέχει Apoll. Rim. E 536 τοῦ προικιοῦ αυτουνῆς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 48, 46.3)

Feminine Accusative Singular

αυτείνην τὴν ντάμα Ζαμπέαν Chron. Mor. H 8564 ὅλην αυτείνην τὴν ψυχὴν Liv. E 2628 εἰς τὴν δουλείαν αυτείνη (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 46.35–6) μετ' αυτείνην Theseid I.129,4 (Follieri) κι ἔπαρ' κι ἐσύ, Ἰωάννη, | αυτείνην ὀγιά μάνα σου FALIEROS, Thrinis 95–6 γι' αυτείνην τὴν αἰτία SKLAVOS, Symf. 159 ἄς τὴν ἔχη καὶ αυτείνη (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 36, 38.50) πρὸς αυτήνη τὴν μάντρα (1544, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [2], 7.12–13) αυτείνην τὴν κουρτέσαν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 211 αυτήνη τὴν κακὴ μαριόλα Stathis II.295 νὰ ἔχη καὶ αυτήνη (1640, Andros, POLEMIS 1999b: 10, 34.14) σ' αυτείνη τὴν κακοστρατιά Rim. Sant. 236 αυτείνη ἐγὼ τὴν γραφὴν (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 57.35) αυτείναν τὴν καλότυχη τὴν ταρτάνα (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 5, 61.6) αυτεινῆνε ν' ἀφήσουν DEFAR., Sos. 266 (Holton) αυτούνην τὴν ντάμα Ζαμπέαν Chron. Mor. H 8521 μ' αυτούνη διὰ νὰ μείνη CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 684 αυτούνην τὴν ἐπόταξες DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1631 αυτούνην τὴν γουμένην Imb. Rim. 652 αυτούνην τὴν καρποφορίαν Apoll. Rim. E 16

Neuter Nominative/Accusative Singular

- μέ αὐτεῖνο τὸ καμάρι σου Spaneas Z 559 αὐτεῖνο τὸ βοτάνι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 655 αὐτῆνο νά 'θεν κάμης Alfav. 11 86 αὐτεῖνο λέγω τὸ παιδί Alex. Rim. 224 νά ἔναι καὶ αὐτεῖνο χάρισμα της (1584, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1976: 151.112) κάωμα σάν αὐτεῖνο CHORTATIS, Erof. I.441 τὸ παιδὶν αὐτεῖνο FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.561 αὐτεῖνον τὸ ἐξεσκισμένον καὶ παλαιὸν ποκάμισον VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 82.26 ὀδιὰ τὸ μοναστήριν αὐτεῖνον (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 36.9) νά ἔτρωγες αὐτοῦνον τὸ μελάνιν Ptoch. III 273.62 app. crit. (P) αὐτοῦνο εἴχασι πολὺ Chron. Mor. T 2815 σ' αὐτοῦνο 'δεν μετέχει Apoll. Rim. V 535 αὐτοῦνο τὸ προειρημένον σπῖτι (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 15, 54.21) μ' αὐτοῦνο νὰ χαρούμεν Katis 22 αὐτοῦνο τὸ θέλει πλερώσει (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 3, 32.40) αὐτόνο ἔχει Poulol. 122 app. crit. (V) αὐτόνον τὸ βουλήθηκε Imb. Rim. 351 τὸ νησὶν αὐτόνο ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 74 αὐτόνο τὸ ἔδωκα τῆς θυγατέρας μου (1585, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 18, 73.17) αὐτόνο εἶναι τὸ τέκνο σου P&N Diath. 3933 σ' αὐτόνο τὸ λειβάδι Vosk. 128 αὐτόνο τὸ λεγόμενο στάρι (1614, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 13, 49.29) αὐτόνο τὸ σώχωρο (1622, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 385, 358.8) στὸ πρόσωπό σου αὐτόνο TROILOS, Rodol. I.503 αὐτόνο τὸ τραγούδι σου Zinon II.56 ἀπ' αὐτόνο τὸ κακὸ Rim. Sant. 608

Neuter Genitive Singular

- αὐτηνοῦ τοῦ βουνοῦ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 159.27 αὐτουνοῦ τοῦ κάστρου Diig. Alex. V 32.28 αὐτουνοῦ τοῦ ἀμπελιοῦ (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 750, 581.9) πλησίον αὐτουνοῦ (1543, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 239, 225.23) ἡ πόρτα αὐτουνοῦ (1607, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 1, 3.14) αὐτουνοῦ τοῦ ἄντρογυνου (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968 : 3, 32.31) τοῦ μετοχίου αὐτουνοῦ (1706, Constantinople, LEGRAND 1903: 21, 58.10) αὐτούνου τοῦ παιδιοῦ μου MONTSEL., Evgena 172

Masculine Nominative Plural

- αὐτεῖνοι οἱ Ρωμαῖοι Chron. Mor. H 794 αὐτεῖνοι με ἀξίωσαν Pol. Tr. 7415; αὐτεῖνοι τοὺς ἐσκότωσαν ibid. 11207 αὐφθινί / αὐτεῖνοι (1487, Chios?, LEFORT 1981: 13, 77.21)⁴¹ αὐτεῖνοι εἶχαν τὴν ἀξιάν Theseid I.31,1 (Follieri) νά ἔχουν αὐτεῖνοι ὑποταγούς BERGADIS, Apok. V 470 δύνανιν δὲν εἴχασι ποτὲ αὐτεῖνοι AITOLOS, Voev. 187
 μήτε αὐτεῖνοι μήτε τὰ παιδιά τους (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 341.27) αὐτεῖνοι οἱ ἄρχοντες (1541, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 92, 66.4)

⁴¹ For the hypercorrection see I, 3.8.1.4.

αυτεῖνοι ἦρθαν (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.4) τοῦ ᾧσαν οἱ μάρτυρες αυτεῖνοι; SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 450.710 αυτοῖνοι, ὅπου εἶναι ζηλωταὶ τοῦ Νόμου MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 339.1 νὰ τὰ τελειώσω αυτεῖνα Rim. Sant. 30 αυτεῖνοι τήνε παίρνουνε MONTSEL., Evgena 109 (Spadaro) αυτοῖνοι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2252 αυτεῖνοι οἱ πριντζιπάδες STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 315 (Pidonia) αυτεῖνοι οἱ Ὁβραῖγοι (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 11, 79.31–2) αυτοῦνοι γὰρ οὐ πολεμοῦν Chron. Mor. H 1121 ἦσαν συνανάθροφοι αυτοῦνοι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1354 αυτοῦνοι φανερώουσιν Imb. Rim. 981 διότι αυτοῦνοι ὁμοιάζουσιν (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 218.5) αυτοῦνοι ἀπ' ἀνεβάζουν (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 149.26) αὐτόνοι οἱ ἐχθροὶ σας DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 388 app. crit.

Masculine Genitive Plural

ἔδωσέν την αυτηνῶν Diig. Alex. E 301.22 (Lolos) εἰς τοὺς κληρονόμους καὶ διαδόχους αυτεινῶν (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 59.10) αυτεινῶ καὶ τσῆς ἐρεντιτᾶς τωνε (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 107, 122.11) τῶν πτωχῶν αυτεινῶν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 71.13 κάνει τως αυτεινῶν χρεῖα (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 13, 158.24) νὰ τοὺς δώσει αυτουνῶν Chron. Toc. 3507 γιὰ νὰ μὲ δώσουν αυτουνῶν Theseid VIII.96,6 (1529) τὰ σπαθία αυτουνῶν Diig. Alex. F 94.15 (Lolos) δίδοντα αυτουνῶν πληρεστάτην δύναμιν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 163, 163.4) αυτουνῶν τῶν ἰδίων κατεργάρων (1554, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 216, 191.28) εἰς τὸ πρᾶμαν αυτουνῶν (1562, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 130, 249.33) καὶ ἀπάνω τους αυτουνῶν MOREZINOS, Klini 32.18 νὰ συμπαθήσει καὶ αυτουνῶ (1630, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 4, 336.23) καὶ τοῦ κύρ Νικηφόρου καὶ αυτουνῶν (1645, Jassy, LEGRAND 1903: 5, 10.14) τ' ἄσπρα αυτουνῶν ὅπου ἦλθαςι (1656, Amorgos, TSELIKAS 1988/92: 3, 49.10) καὶ διὰ ὄνομ' αυτουνῶν MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2128 δὲν τοὺς πρέπει αυτουνῶνε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 47.18 αὐτόνων τῶν Ρωμαίων Chron. Mor. H 6582 τὰ ὀνόματα ὅς ἐκραξεν αυτωνῶν ὁ πατέρας του Pent. Gen. 25.18 ἡ τῆς θαλάσσου ἡ τῆς γῆς αὐτόνων νὰ μαχήση ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 497 αυτώνω ἐδηγοῦντα P&N Diath. 2111; αυτώνω ἀποῦ σὲ ζητοῦ ibid. 3455 αυτονῶν καὶ τῶν παιδιῶν ὅπου θέλουν κάμει (1613, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 23, 185.56) νὰ δώση καὶ αυτονῶν (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 180.26) ἀναμέσον δὲ αυτωνῶν ὄλων [VLASTOS], Dig. P 400.24 αυτονῶν τῶν ἐπισκόπων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 80.22 διὰ μαρτυρίαν αυτωνῶν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 5.14

Masculine Accusative Plural

κι αυτεινους ὑποτάσσει Alex. Rim. 890 ᾧ αυτεινους τοὺς ἀμπόρετους DEFAR., Log. did. 136 αυτέινους συντυχαίνει Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1077 τούτος μ' αυτέινους ἦτονε P&N Diath. 3164 ὁ πλέον πτωχὸς ἀπ' αυτεινούς Pol. Tr. 2895 app. crit. (X) μετ' αυτεινούς Spaneas Z 124 εἰς αυτεινούς σύντυχε Chron. Toc. 1352 ἀπ' αυτεινούς Alex. Rim. 2182

μὲ ταυτεινούς / μετ' αυτεινούς Diig. Alex. E 65.12 (Konstantinopulos) κι' ἀπ' αυτηνούς νὰ κυβερνοῦν ἐπέψα Prol. Epain. Kef. 70 ἀπ' αυτουनों Pol. Tr. 2895 app. crit. (BV) απ' αυτουनों Theseid VI.8,4 (Olsen) τούς λόγους σου αυτουनों Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1058 ἀπ' αυτουनों κρατεῖτε Vios Aisop. K 201.4

ἀπὸ αυτουनों ὅλους (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 251.74)

εἰς αυτουनों (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIDI 1996: 82, 273.38) ἀπ' αυτουनों (1550, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 16, 122.3) καὶ μετ' αυτουनों τούς Ἑβραίους DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 23, B1v.8

ἀπ' αυτουनों VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 342 αυτουनों τούς συγκεφίληδές σου PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §30.14

τὸ εἶπαν αυτουनों KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 8.36 μετ' αυτουनों (1648, Athos, PETIT/KORABLEV 1911/1915: 167, 353.7)

σ' αυτουनों STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 968 (Pidonia) εἰς αυτουनों MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 185 αυτούνους νὰ διδόξη CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 439 τούς ἀσεβεῖς αυτούνους τούς Ἑβραίους PLOUSIAD., Thrinos 88 (Vasileiou) μ' αυτούνους ἐκ τὰ βάσανα ἐσὺ νὰ τούς ἐβγάνης DEFAR., Log. did. 166 τούς βασιλεῖς αυτούνους SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 437.317; 446.591 ἐντήρηση πρέπει σ' αυτούνους νὰ ᾔχη Stathis Int. II.106 απο αυτούνους (1640, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2011: 8, 219.12) θωρώντας τους αυτούνους (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 1, 25.7) μὴ τσι λυπᾶσαι, Παναγία μου, αυτούνους Apok. Theot. 492.141 γι' αυτούνους PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2037 αυτούνους τους Φραντσέζους IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2591 αυτονούς εἶναι πρέπειν καὶ δίκαιον νὰ κλαύσωμε PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §35.79; δύσκολα εἶναι εἰς αυτονούς ibid. II §9.82

Feminine Nominative/Accusative Plural ἀπ' αυτεῖνες Pol. Tr. 5778 app. crit. (V) μ' αυτεῖνες τὲς ομάδες Alex. Rim. 490 και αυτεῖνες οι αρματωσές είχαν μεγάλη χάρη Apoll. Rim. E 702 αυτεῖνες αφωνάζει DEFAR., Sos. 144 (Holton) δὲ μὲ φελοῦσι αυτεῖνες οἱ λουμπάρδες μου DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 468 τες εκκλησίες του Χριστού να πάρουσιν αυτεῖνες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2078

μ' αυτεῖνες οἱ λαβωματιές δὲν ἔχουνε τὴ χάρη KORNAOS, Erot. II 1084 ἀπ' αυτοῦνες Pol. Tr. 5778 app. crit. (C) αυτοῦνες οἱ λογάδες FALIEROS, Log. did. 300 αυτοῦνες τὲς πολιτικές, νὰ σοῦ τὰς διαλαλήσω Synax. gyn. 473 αυτοῦνες ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ μισεύσουν Bertoldos 45.24 αυτένες οι αρματωσίες Apoll. Rim. V 702 αυτένες οί ταλαίπωρες P&N Diath. 249 αυτένες αἱ πληγές VEST., Pathi 579 αυτένες αι δουλειές IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5416 νὰ ἐγροικᾶται γιὰτ' αὐτόνες (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 8, 25.23) κι αυτένες τές ἀτίμαξες P&N Diath. 244 τὴν ἐλπίδα του εἰς αυτένες (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 4, 364.12) μ' αυτένες τες ἀντάρες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 441

Feminine Genitive PLural

αὐτονῶν τῶν γραφῶν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 128.14; αὐτονῶν ibid. 113.30

Neuter Nominative/Accusative Plural

κι αὐτεῖνα ἔκλαψάν τον Chron. Mor. P 7222 αὐτεῖνα ποὺ μὲ τρῶσι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 649 ἀπ' αὐτεῖνα τα καλὰ Apoll. Rim. A 1302 αὐτεῖνα ὅλα δείχνασι VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 21 αὐτεῖνα μὲ ἔκαψαν πολλὰ (1567, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 5, 305.11) αὐτεῖνα ὅλα (1584, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1976: 149.37) ἐμὲ τὰ λὲς αὐτῆνα; Pist. voskos II 8.159 ἐδιάβησαν αὐτεῖνα FOSKOLOS, Fort. III. 415 αὐτεῖνα τὰ παιδιὰ σου MONTSEL., Evgena 303 (Spadaro) τὰ ρεφουδάρει καὶ αὐτεῖνα (1678, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 246, 222.28)

δι' αὐτοῦνα Liv. E 877 αὐτοῦνα οὐδὲν τὰ λέγεις DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1627 γι' αὐτοῦνα τὰ καλὰ FALIEROS, Thrinos 208 αὐτοῦνα τὰ σημάδια Diig. Alex. F 218.22 (Lolos) αὐτοῦνα τὰ προειρημένα (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 5, 25.19) αὐτοῦνα τὰ χωράφια (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 10, 133.13) γι' αὐτοῦνα MONTSEL., Evgena 1228, ἥ κἀνε αὐτοῦνα τὰ μακριὰ τὰ τράγινα τ' αὐτιά σου; Soummakis, Past. Fid. G5r. 18 ὁποῖος αὐτάνα ὀρέγεται DEFAR., Log. did. 239 ὅλα αὐτάνα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 4, 5.12) αὐτάνα τὰ λεγόμενα [χωράφια] (1614, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 13, 49.23) τὰ σάλια αὐτάνα FOSKOLOS, Fort. I. 139 γιὰτὶ νὰ βάζης, ἄνθρωπε, αὐτάνα εἰς τὸν νοῦν σου Alfan. 11 9 ἀπ' αὐτάνα τὰ βάσανα Apok. Theot. 490.54–5 αὐτάνα τὰ προυκιά KONDAR., Paidēs 1082 καὶ αὐτάνα εμαυρίζαν Rim. Sant. 686 αὐτάνα τὰ σακκιά ἠθέλησες νὰ κλέψεις BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 427.19

Neuter Genitive Plural

τῶν αὐτεινῶν δύο πρᾶμάτων (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 64, 218.6); τῶν αὐτεινῶν παιδίων (1684, ibid. 485, 711.34); τῶν αὐτεινῶν δύο παιδίων (1685, ibid. 610, 842.29) αὐτουινῶν τῶν λεγομένων σπιτιῶν (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 26, 31.21) αὐτουινῶν τῶν λεγομένων δύο τρίτων (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 154, 153.26)

διὰ πᾶκτος αὐτονῶν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 148, 147.8)

5.5.1.7 εὐτός/εὐτοῦνος/εὐτεῖνος/εὐτόνος

The form εὐτός owes its initial /e/ to the analogy of ἐγώ, ἐσύ, ἐκεῖνος (JANNARIS 1897: 155–6, 161; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 504; PERNOT 1907/46: II 175 and n. 2; PROMBONAS 1968: 375–6; HORROCKS 2010: 295). The first attestations of these forms, as a personal pronoun, come from papyri of the 3rd c. AD (GIGNAC 1976: 234),⁴² but these are probably unconnected to the later phenomenon and should be attributed to special phonetic factors involving the pronunciation of the diphthongs /au/ and /eu/ in general (SCHWYZER 1939: 198). Although well attested in MG dialects (ILNE s.v. αὐτός; THUMB 1912: 85), εὐτός is rare in LMedG and EMG texts. In the corpus examined, forms with initial ἐ- seem to be limited to the Cyclades and the Heptanese (including the Heptanesian manuscripts of certain Cretan texts),⁴³ a distribution which is corroborated by modern dialectal data.

οὕτως εὐτός ἐπέρνα Byz. Il. 590 ἄν ἔναι εὐτός ὁ λόγος Diig. Alex. F 280.6 (Lolos) τί ἵναι εὐτά τὰ πῆρες FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 247 app. crit. (L) τὸ ἔχει καὶ εὐτὸ μισάρικο (1635, Naxos, KORRES 1931: 3, 274.13) ἀπὸ ῥπῆ (1666, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 11, 23.22) εὐτοὶ καὶ τὰ καλά τους (1666, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 578, 351.19); εὐτός καὶ τὰ καλά του (1670, ibid. 1188, 705.14) ευτείνη, ὄντεν ἀρχισε, Apoll. Rim. N 1341 ευτεῖνος ὁ Στραγγίλιος Apoll. Rim. A 1076 εὐτεῖνος ἔν Ἀλέξανδρος Alex. Rim. 1178; κ' εὐτεῖν' ἀκολουθοῦσαμε ibid. 1720 (n. pl.)

 εὐτεῖνοι οἱ καλοὶ χριστιανοί (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 237, 144.5) καλομοιριά δὲν ἦτονε στὸν κόσμο σὰν εὐτείνη CHORTATIS, Katz. I.42 app. crit.; οἱ γάμοι εὐτεῖνοι ibid. III.410 app. crit.
 ἡ ἄνωθεν Πάουλα εὐτήνη (1663, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 14, 21.17); τῆς ἄνωθεν Ἑλένης εὐτηνῆς (ibid. 153, 104.6) εὐτοῦνο τ' ἄχαρο καὶ τ' ἄσφαλο ταξίδι FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 41 app. crit. (L) τοῦ ἄνωθεν Γεώργη εὐτουνοῦ καὶ τῶν διαδόχων (1663, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 8, 16.10); τῶν ἄνωθεν τριῶν εὐτουνῶν (ibid. 13, 20.14) εὐτουνοῦ καὶ τῶν διαδόχων καὶ κληρονόμων του (1686, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 33, 116.26) ὅλα εὐτάνα FALIEROS, Ist. On. 662 app. crit. (A)

5.5.1.8 ἐκεῖνος

Ἐκεῖνος is the distal demonstrative throughout the period under investigation. It is the direct descendant of the AG distal demonstrative pronoun ἐκεῖνος, retaining the same meaning, ⁴² The information in JANNARIS (1897: 155–6) and DIETERICH (1898: 10) that the form appears in an inscription from mainland Greece dated to the Roman period (Cauer 224 εὑτους) is incorrect, as in later editions this reading is not adopted (IG IX I.42 <α>υτους).

⁴³ A mixed form εὐτοῦτος has also been located in non-literary sources from the early 18th c. All the attestations occur in documents compiled in Nauplion by (or on behalf of) speakers from Athens, published by the same editor. This form does not seem to be regular in the Old Athenian dialect (which prefers τοῦνος, cf. THUMB 1891: 111; ALEXANDRIS 1958: 149; PANDELIDIS 2016b: 128); καὶ εὐτοῦτος εἶναι ἀσθενὴς ἄνθρωπος (1712, Nauplion, LIATA 1975: 2, 121.3); εὐτούτη τὴν ὥρα (1715, ibid. 6, 123.12); εὐτουτηνῆς (1713, Nauplion, LIATA 1998a: [1], 263.44); εὐτοῦτο ὁποῦ ἔκαμα (1712, Nauplion, LIATA 1998b: 233.12).

syntactic behaviour and function; that is, it occurs as a pronoun or as a determiner, followed or preceded by the group definite article + noun (ἐκεῖνος ὁ X / ὁ X ἐκεῖνος; for further details see IV, 5.3.2.3). Since the use of ἐκεῖνος is uninterrupted since Antiquity, evidence for this pronoun appears already in the earliest sources of the LMedG period.

Ἐκεῖνος inflects like adjectives in -ος (see 3.2.1), with the standard inflectional variants of this paradigm. The presence of final /n/ in the neut. sg. (an innovation) is variable, and so is the choice between fem. pl. -αι, -ας and -ες. Variant forms with shift of stress to the final syllable are attested from many areas from the 14th c. on, and variants with final vowel addition appear from the 15th c. (see below for interpretation and distribution). A single form presenting fronting (“tsitakismos”) of the velar /k/ of the stem is attested in a 16th-c. document from S. Italy: να εχούσυν ετζοῖνοι που έδωκα / νά ἔχουσιν έτσείνοι που έδωκα (1572, S. Italy, VIOLI 2006: 311.20).

Ἐκεῖνος underwent analogical influence from αὐτός, leading to final stress in the gen. sg. and pl. (MEYER 1889: 170; JANNARIS 1897: 160–1, CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 155; HENRICH 1996a; LENDARI/MANOLESSOU 2013; see also αὐτός). The form ἐκείνων is recorded by Sofianos (SOFIANOS, Grammar 78.21, 79.3, 79.10), while Germano and Portius list ἐκεινοῦ, ἐκεινῆς and ἐκείνων (GERMANO, Grammar 70 and PORTIUS, Grammar 29). Meyer attributes the stress shift to the identity of the gen. pl. and the masc. acc. sg., which requires differentiation through the stress accent, an interpretation also endorsed by Henrich. Pernot on the other hand (PERNOT 1907/46: I 220) considers the stress of ἐκεινοῦ analogical, on the basis of the extended pronoun forms αὐτουνοῦ, τουτουνοῦ. The presence of ἐκεινοῦ in Cyprus, where the αὐτουνοῦ, τουτουνοῦ forms are absent, disproves this hypothesis, according to Pernot’s own admission. The earliest secure attestations of the stress shift in the gen. sg. come from the Peloponnese in the 14th c., while final stress spreads to the masc. acc. pl. in the 15th c.⁴⁴ The forms with stress shift are quite frequent both in literary and non-literary texts, and they seem to co-occur with the paroxytone forms; in verse texts their variation may also be attributable to metrical needs. Such forms are to be found in texts from the Peloponnese, Crete, Cyprus, Naxos, Andros, Milos, Cythera and the Heptanese.⁴⁵ There are isolated attestations of final accentuation in the fem. acc. sg. and the masc. nom. pl. from the Chronicle of Morea and Voustronios’s Chronicle, which should not be considered as true forms of spoken language.

Addition of final /e/ (in the masc. and fem. acc. sg. and the gen. pl.) is a restricted phenomenon in the texts examined, appearing from the 15th c. onwards (see also I, 3.7.2.1). Addition of final /a/ (only in the acc. sg.) is also restricted, but with a wider geographical distribution. Extended forms with final stress appear from the 17th c. in Crete and Chios; their provenance has not been satisfactorily accounted for, but they become regular in these dialects at a later period (JANNARIS 1897: 161; MINAS 2004 [1990]: 435–8; ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1926: 169–70). These forms have been reanalysed as combinations of a demonstrative + the deictic suffix -νά. The new demonstrative reinforcer -νά can be added to a fully inflected pronoun form. The first testimony of this evolution is the neut. pl. form ἐκείνανά recorded by Germano (Grammar, 49.30; repeated in PORTIUS, Grammar, 68.5).

⁴⁴ The presence of forms with final accentuation in MG dialectal varieties that were separated from the main body of Greek during the medieval period, such as Pontic and Cappadocian, also testifies to a relatively early dating of this phenomenon (see DAWKINS 1916: 124; PAPADOPOULOS 1955: 62–3).

⁴⁵ The data are insufficient for other areas, although the modern dialectal distribution shows that forms with final accentuation are also widespread in northern dialects (KRETSCHMER 1905: 267–70; PERNOT 1907/46: II 224–5).

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	ἐκεῖνος	ἐκεῖνη	ἐκεῖνο(ν)
Gen.	ἐκεῖνου ἢ ἐκεινοῦ	ἐκεῖνης ἢ ἐκεινῆς	ἐκεῖνου ἢ ἐκεινοῦ
Acc.	ἐκεῖνο(ν) ἢ ἐκείνονε ἢ ἐκείνονα(ν)	ἐκεῖνη(ν)(ε) ἢ ἐκεινήν	ἐκεῖνο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	ἐκεῖνοι ἢ ἐκεινοί	ἐκεῖναι ἢ ἐκεῖνες	ἐκεῖνα
Gen.	ἐκείνων(ε) ἢ ἐκεινῶ(ν)(ε)	ἐκείνων ἢ ἐκεινῶ(ν)	ἐκείνων ἢ ἐκεινῶ(ν)
Acc.	ἐκείνους ἢ ἐκεινοὺς	ἐκεῖνας ἢ ἐκεῖνες	ἐκεῖνα

Singular
Masculine
Nominative

General
ἐκεῖνος

καὶ ἐκεῖνος ἐξέθετο (1059, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 9, 110.14) καὶ ἐνέμετον αὐτὸν ἐκεῖνος (1095, S. Italy/Sicily?, GUILLOU 1963: 2, 49.6) ὁ δέ γε λίζιος καβαλλάριος ἐκεῖνος ὁ Συργαρῆς (1251, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 28, 81.20) ἐκεῖνος ὁ τσαγγάρης Ptoch. III 140 ὁ αὐθέντης μου ὁ πατήρ μου ἐκεῖνος ὁ Ἀσάνης (1349, Thessaloniki, BOMPAIRE 1964: 26, 195) κ' ἐκεῖνος ἀπομένει Anak. Konst. 32 ἐκεῖνος ἀρνᾶται Assizes A 52.29 ἐκεῖνος ὁ Δανιήλ ὁ Βούλγαρις (1501, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 7, 105.3) ὡσάν ἐκεῖνος ὁποῦ ἱτραβενίρει (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 24, 19.5) ὁποῖος ἐκεῖνος ἤθελε εὔρεθῃ (1655, Gortynia, YANNAROPOΥΛΟΥ 1972: 39, 315.8)

Genitive

General
ἐκεῖνου ἢ ἐκεινοῦ

τοῦ Δημητρίου ἐκεῖνου τοῦ λεγομένου Λάμαρη (1024, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 25, 175.5) ἅπ' ἐκεῖνου τοῦ ρύακος (1141, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 5, 18.26) παρά ἐκείνου ἀποικομένου Βασιλείου Καρδοπάτου (1229, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 283, 389.19) ἀπὸ τοῦ μοναχοῦ ἐκείνου τοῦ Κοστομύρη (1258, Philadelphia?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 15, 160.248) ἐκείνου τοῦ ἐρώτου Achil. N 659 ἐκείνου τοῦ ἀνθρώπου Chron. Toc. 2732 ἐκείνου τοῦ πατέρα μας Theseid IV.14,2 (1529) τοῦ τόπου ἐκείνου (1503, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 244, 203.8) τοῦ καιροῦ ἐκείνου RODINOS, Vios Ign. 55.5

μὲ τῇ στράτεψι ἐκείνου (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: 9, 310.20) τοῦ τόπου ἐκείνου (1327–8, Peloponnese, VRANOUSI 1981: B, 26.10) ἐκείνου τῆς Ἀλαμάνιας Chron. Mor. H 452 ἐκείνου Pol. Tr. 1404 app. crit. (X); ἐκείνου Pol. Tr. 3041 ἐκείνου τοῦ ἀποθανόντος (1446, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 17, 99.17) τὸν ἀδελφόν του ἐκείνου εἶχε τὸν ὁ σουλτᾶνος Chron. Toc. 1971 ἐκείνου ὅπου ἔνι ὁ τοῖχος Assizes A 111.11; ἐκείνου τοῦ συγγενοῦ του ibid. 138.10 τοῦ μακαρίου ἐκείνου Chron. Mor. P 7 ἐκείνου τὰ γένια ἀνάπτει Ptochol. α 96

κατ' ἐκείνου ὅπου ἐμίσσευσεν Theseid I.35,7 (Follieri)

μὲ τὸν λόγον τοῦ ἐκείνου Synax. gyn. 249

τοῦ καιροῦ ἐκείνου (1553, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 192, 176.10) ἐκείνου τοῦ λόγου (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 218.6) εἶπεν ἐκείνου MOREZINOS, Klini 65.11–12

υἱὸς ἐκείνου τοῦ Γεώργη Λούπεση (1591, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 47, 69.2) τοῦ τόπου ἐκείνου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 143.37 ἐκείνου καὶ ὅτινος ἄλλοινοῦ (1623, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 1, 128.9) κάνοντάς του καὶ ἐκείνου προκοσύμφωνον (1662, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 6, 55.13)

τοῦ ριζικαροῦ ἐκείνου βασιλέως [VLASTOS], Dig. P 342.25

νὰ τοῦ κάμουν καὶ ἐκείνου κακὸ SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 56.8

Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
ἐκεῖνον	ἐκεῖνονε	ἐκεῖνονα(ν) κατὰ τὸν καιρὸν ἐκεῖνον (1194, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 239, 323.6) ἐγεύθη μετ' ἐκεῖνον Arm. 192 θέλομεν ἰδεῖν ἐκεῖνον (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 22.10) εἰς τὸν τόπον ἐκεῖνον (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 5, 309.13) φόνεψέ τονε ἐκεῖνον VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 72 ἐκεῖνον νὰ ὑβρίζωμεν DAM. SToud., This., Logos 2, ἀ6ν.23 ἐκεῖνον τὸν γραφέα (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 2, 296.74) εἰς τὸν τόπον ἐκεῖνο μέσα εἰς τὸ ψυχικὸν ἐκεῖνο (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 7, 127.13)

καὶ ἐκεῖνο τὸν ἐπάνδρεψα (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 53.164–5) τὸν Θανάση, ἐκεῖνον ὅπου ἦτον σκλαβωμένος (1695, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 1, 250.11) ἐκεῖνονε ἐκλέξασι Chron. Mor. P 7867

κ' ἐκεῖνονε παρακαλῶ Theseid Prol. E 257 τὸν καιρὸ ἐκεῖνονε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 54.27; μὴν ἔχης ἔννοια εἰσὲ κείνονε ibid. 138.33 ἐκεῖνονε ὅπου ἔχει (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1955: 517.16) καὶ γὰρ πολλὰ καλότυχον ἐκείνονε πιστεύγω KATSAITIS, Ifig. I.14; ἐκείνονε τὸν ταπεινὸ κ' ἐπίβουλο ὁδελφὸ σου id., Thyest. II.395

ἐκείνοναν ὅπου δειλιάζει αἶμα Liv. V 813 στὸν χοτζερὲ ἐκείνονα Diig. Vefa 344 ἐκεῖνονά GERMANO, Grammar 86.22 echinonà olonobros na sossi / ἐκεινονά ὀλονομπρὸς νὰ σώση FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.287

Feminine

Nominative

General
ἐκείνη

ἐκείνη, μὴ ἡξεύροντας τὴν πονηρίαν Chron. Toc. 890 ἐκείνη ἡ πράτα (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 92.22) ἡ γαιδάρα ἐκείνη (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 5, 58.13) ἐκείνη ἡ δύναμις DAM. STOUDE., This., Logos 2, α6ν.18–19

Genitive

General
ἐκείνης ἢ ἐκεινῆς

τὴν οὐσίαν ἐκείνης (1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 6, 72.8) ὁ βασιλεὺς τῆς πόλεως ἐκείνης τῆς ὥραιας Pol. Tr. 243 ἐκεινῆς τῆς Κωνσταντίνου Chron. Mor. H 447 ἐκεινῆς Pol. Tr. 11881 app. crit. (AV) ἐκεινῆς τῆς νιάς FALIEROS, Ist. On. 704 ἡ θυγατέρα ἐκεινῆς Apoll. Rim. V 1993 νὰ 'ναι τὸ μισὸν ἐκεινῆς (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 17, 54.26) καὶ τῶν διαδόχων ἐκεινῆς (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 148, 268.54) καὶ τὴν ἀγάπην ἐκεινῆς δὲν δύνομαι ν' ἀφήσω Dig. A 299 μὲ δίχως τσῆ ἐκεινῆς δὲ μοῦ 'ναι μπορεμένο | πράμα κιανένα CHORTATIS, Erof. I.317 τῆς γυναικὸς ἐκεινῆς MOREZINOS, Klini 230.28 ἐκεινῆς GERMANO, Grammar 70.6
οὐδ' ἐκεινῆς κάνει τὸ θέλημά τζη FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.334

Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
ἐκείνην	ἐκείνηνε	ἐκεινήν ἀπ' ἐκείνην τὴν ἡμέραν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 234.274) νὰ ἔξουν ἀπ' ἐκείνην Ptoch. III 91 κ' ἐκείνην ἀφεντεύγει KORNAROS, Erot. II.489 διὰ ἐκεινήν τὴν πουμπάρδαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 84.16

ἤθελα βλέπει κείνηνε Theseid III.75,6 (1529)

σ' ἐκείνηνε Alex. Rim. 2848

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General
ἐκεῖνο(ν)

τὸ δένδρον ἐκεῖνον (1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 5, 618.30) ἐποίησεν ἐκεῖνο τὴν ζημίαν Ptoch. III 265 ἐκεῖνον τὸ ὄρνιον Assizes B 451.23 εκείνον, το εφάνην της βουλῆς μου VOUSTR., Chron. A 52.14 ἐκ τὸ νησὶν ἐκεῖνον Velis. ρ 313 ἐκεῖνον ὅπου ἔχουν κτισμένον (1535, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 4, 120.13) ὄλον ἐκεῖνον ποὺ ἐμίλει ἡ πρώτη γραφή (1622, Crete, MALTEZOU 1989: 358.16) ἐκεῖνο μὴδ' ἐννοιάσης το Spaneas V 42 ἐκ τὸ νερόν ἐκεῖνο Chron. Mor. H 8205 ἐμφανισθὲν ἐκεῖνο τὸ πρόσταγμα (1414, Thessaloniki, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 54, 285.37) ἐκεῖνο ὅπου σὲ γράψαμε (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 91.5) ἀντάμα μ' ἐκεῖνο ὅπου ἀγόρασα (1553, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 254, 152.11) ἐκεῖνο τὸ βαμπάκι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.5

ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ εἶναι καὶ ἐκεῖνο γονικόν της (1663, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 2, 19.13)

Genitive

General	Restricted
ἐκείνου	ἐκεινοῦ

μεταξὺ τοῦ τοπίου ἐκείνου καὶ τοῦ ἀγροῦ (1012, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 17, 198.44) ἀπ' ἐκείνου τοῦ ἀμπελίου (1134, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 4, 14.12) ἐκείνου τοῦ φουσσάτου Chron. Mor. H 4706

ἐκείνου τοῦ παραπτώματος Assizes B 280.30

ἐκείνου τοῦ θηρίου Dig. A 2938 κατασκοπῶν τὰς χάριτας τοῦ Ἑρωτοκάστρου ἐκείνου Velth. 547

εἶπεν ἐκείνου τοῦ κουπελλιοῦ Fior 128.17

ἐκείνου τοῦ δένδρου LANDOS, Geopon. 153.24

τοῦ τέρμενου ἐκεινοῦ Chron. Mor. H 2118 ἐκεινοῦ τοῦ θηλυκοῦ (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 69, 128.16) τοῦ λεγομένου πραγμάτου ἐκεινοῦ (1608, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 3, 352.6–7) τοῦ σημαδίου ἐκεινοῦ Vios Aisop. I 271.9

Plural

Masculine

Nominative

General	Rare
ἐκεῖνοι	ἐκεινοί

ἐκεῖνοι νά λαμιώνουσιν Ptoch. IV 291 ἐκεῖνοι ἐπέπεσάν με Liv. V 214 ἐκεῖνοι τὸν ἐδέχθησαν Chron.Toc. 251 ἐσέβησαν εἰς τὸ λουτρόν, ἐλούθησαν ἐκεῖνοι [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 770 ἐκεῖνοι οἱ γονεῖς μου Synax. gadar. 143 καὶ ἐκεῖνοι νά εἶναι κρατημένοι (1555, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 114, 89.12) καὶ ἐκεῖνοι ὅπου δὲν μποροῦνε (1612, Monemvasia region, BROUSKARI 1981: 315.33) τὸ πῶς τὴν μάχην ἄρχισαν ἐκεῖνοι οἱ Ρωμαῖοι Chron. Mor. P 7180 κ' ἐκεῖνοί VOUSTR., Chron. A 42.9

Genitive

General	Restricted	Rare
ἐκείνων ἢ ἐκεινῶν	ἐκεινῶ	ἐκείνωνε ἢ ἐκεινῶνε ὑπνιάρης δὲ καλούμενος καὶ πάλιν παρ' ἐκείνων Ptoch. IV 628 καὶ ἄλλους νά στήσω δυστυχεῖς εἰς τὸ σκαλὶν ἐκείνων Log. parig. L 113 τῶν ἐλεφάντων τὰς φωνὰς καὶ τὰς κραυγὰς ἐκείνων Phys. 51 νά πάγω κατ' ἐκείνων PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 353 ἐκείνων καὶ ἀνοίγεται ἡ ἄνω βασιλεία BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 768 τὰς ἀμοιβὰς τῶν πράξεων καὶ τῶν κόπων | ἐκείνων νῦν λαμβάνετε GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 606 ἐπήγαμε σ' ἐκείνων τὰ κρεβάτια Alex. Rim. 1577 ἔγινεν ὁδηγὸς ἐκείνων ὅπου ἔπιασαν τὸν Ἰησοῦν SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 17.40 συμπαθεῖ ὁλωνῶν ἐκείνων, ὅπου τοῦ ἑφταίξας (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 9, 311.11–12) ὁλων δὲ ἐκείνων Diath. Nikon Metan. 98 ἐκείνων τῶν ὑψηλότατων κριτάδων (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 475, 698.14) ἐκείνων τῶν πελεγρίνων Chron. Mor. H 443 ἀπὸ τὸ γένος ἐκεινῶν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.129 τῶν τριῶν Μάγων ἐκεινῶν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 334.20 εἰς τὸν τόπον ἐκεινῶν (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 676, 522.21) ἐκεινῶν ὅπου ἔχουσι τὰ τορνέσα (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 2, 295.19) ἐκεινῶν ποὺ κατοικοῦν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1719 τὰ κεφάλια [...] | ἐκεινῶν [...] τῶν νέων Diig. Alex. Sem. S 169 νά δώσουν ἐκεινῶν (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 92, 108.18) ἐκεινῶν GERMANO, Grammar 70.6

 τὰ σκαμνία ἐκεινῶν ὅπου ἐπουλοῦσαν τὰ περιστέρια KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 11.15 ἐκεινῶν τῶν ξένων Vios Aisop. I 249.20 μὲ βίους καὶ ἱστορίας ἐκεινῶν ὅπου ἐπροπεριπατήσας VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.3 ἐκεινῶν τῶν ἀφεντάδων Chron. Tourk. Soult. 38.24 μαθαίνοντες καὶ ἐκεινῶν τὴν ἰδίαν συμφορὰν IER. AVVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 334.15 ἐτοῦτον εἶναι φυσικὸ κεινῶν ὅπ' ἀγαποῦσι KORNAOS, Erot. III. 577 πόσες ἐχάλαστῆκα | χῶρες ἐμένα κ' ἐκεινῶ CHORTATZIS, Erof. II.387 ἐκεινῶ (1645, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 10, 367.2) ἐκεινῶ ὅπου δώσουν (1672, Milos, CHATZIDAKIS I. 1927: A, 299.21) καὶ ἀληθῶς τῆς φαίνεται ὅτι ἄρεσε <ἐ>κεινῶνε Theseid III.19,5 (1529); τὸ ὄνομα ἄκεινῶνε ibid. X.8,7 ἐκείνωνε τῶν περισσότερων (1716, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969d: 1, 42.18–19)

Accusative

General	Rare
ἐκείνους	ἐκεινούς

ἐκείνους τοὺς ἀγρίους GLYKAS, Stichoi 173 εἰς τοὺς τόπους ἐκείνους (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.19) ἀπὸ τοὺς ἄρχοντας ἐκείνους τοὺς Μονεμβασιώτας CHEILAS, Chron. 346.5
 ἀπ' ἐκείνους ἐγεννηθήκετε Vios Aisop. K 201.4 ἐκείνους τοὺς τόπους (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 8, 129.9) νὰ δοθοῦν τὰ στάμενα πρὸς ἐκείνους (1579, Corfu, KARYDIS 1994: 6, 107.21) θε' νὰ ἐκδέχονται ἀπ' ἐκείνους (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.50) ἐκείνους τοὺς Χριστιανούς VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.23 ἐκείνους τοὺς κακόγλωσσους KORNAROS, Erot. V.1537 τοὺς χρόνους ἐκεινοὺς Chron. Mor. H 781 ἔνι καὶ τέτοιοι ἀπὸ ἐκεινοὺς Arm. 64 ἐκεινοὺς Pol. Tr. 1871 app. crit. (X); ἐκεινοὺς ibid. 1871 app. crit. (BV) δι' ἐκεινοὺς τοὺς δύο ἀγαπημένους Theseid Prol. E 111 ἐκεινοὺς οποῦ θέλεν VOUSTR., Chron. A 16.13 ἐκεινοὺς ὅπου ἀπέθαναν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 401.19 ἐκεινοὺς τοὺς ἀφεντάδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.9; ἐκεινοὺς ibid. 28.5 σ' ἐκεινοὺς Diig. Vefa 1398

Feminine

Nominative

General	Restricted
ἐκεῖνες	ἐκεῖναι

καὶ ἐκεῖναι, ὡς τὸ χρῆζουσιν, σύντομον νὰ ξεπεύλουν Ptoch. III 180 ὅλαι ἐκεῖναι ἔπαινον φλόγας μεγάλας τότε Dig. A 2903 κ' ἐκεῖνες Ptoch. III 180 app. crit. (PK) οἱ καλόφρονες ἐκεῖνες οἱ βαῖτσες Liv. V 1942 ἐκεῖνες οἱ γυναῖκες Chron. Mor. P 4400 ἐκεῖνες ποῦ 'νι ὀλόφκαρες FALIEROS, Log. did. 85 ἐκεῖνες οἱ γλώσσες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 402.38 ἐκεῖνες οἱ αρμάδες ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 2778 νὰ εἶναι καὶ ἐκεῖνες ἐδικές της (1676, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 1, 123.27) οἱ σγουραφιές ἐκεῖνες KORNAROS, Erot. II.171

Genitive

General
ἐκείνων ἢ ἐκεινῶν

τῶν γυναικῶν ἐκείνων Pol. Tr. 10611 ἐκείνων τῶν ἐκκλησιῶν (post 1669, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1938: 2, 295.7) νά 'ναι ἐκεινῶν (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 136.113) ἐκεινῶν τῶν καλογράδ(ων) (1550, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 68, 93.21)

Accusative

General	Rare
ἐκεῖνες	ἐκείνας

νά δώσουν ἐκείνας τὰς κλήρας Assizes B 381.14

τὲς συμφωνίες ἐκεῖνες Chron. Mor. H 371 καὶ ἀποκρίθη μία ἀπ' ἐκεῖνες (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 46, 38.2) εἰς στὶς μεριὲς ἐκεῖνες (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.10) ὁδὶὰ ἐκεῖνες τὲς πακτωσίεις (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 33, 26.6) μὲ τὲς δύναμες ἐκεῖνες (1618, Mani, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 24, 270.9–10) ἐκεῖνες τὲς ἡμέρες PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §8.43 πρὸς ἐκεῖνες τὶς μύγες Bertoldin. 145.33 ἐκεῖνες τὲς πενήντα χιλιάδες (1657, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 75, 192.13) εἰς ἐκεῖνες τὶς παίδευσεις (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 475, 699.3) εἰς τὲς ἡμέρες ἐκεῖνες (1684, Patmos, HOFMANN 1928: 9a, 70.16) ἐκεῖνες τὲς λέξεις MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 316.33 ἀπὸ ἐκεῖνες τὲς καμπάνες (1693, Nauplion, TSELENDI 1978: 5, 241.11)

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General
ἐκεῖνα

ἀμὴ καὶ ἐκεῖνα ὀλιγοστὰ Ptoch. IV 392 τί 'ναι ἐκεῖνα, ὁ θεῖος μου, ὅπου ἀπηδοῦν καὶ φεύγουν; Dig. E 739 ἐκεῖνα τὰ ἐνθυμοῦνται Chron. Toc. 732 ἐμὲ λῦσον καὶ ἐκεῖνα δέσε STAFIDAS, Iatrosoph. 12.331 μὲ τὰ χέρια τὰ ἔμορφα, τὰ ὀρωτικὰ ἐκεῖνα Theseid I.97,6 (Follieri) ἐκεῖνα τὰ ὑπέρπυρα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 377, 371.8) δίχως ἐκεῖνα ὅπου ἔλαβε (1555, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 177, 228.21) καὶ ἐκεῖνα εἰσὶν μιζουριῶν ἔξε (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 156, 245.23) ἐκεῖνα ὅλα ὅπου ἐπαράδωσεν (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 8, 129.12) ἐκεῖνα ὅπου ἔδωκεν τοῦ υἱοῦ του (1603, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 193, 203.7) ὅλα ἐκεῖνα τὰ χωράφια (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 240, 227.8) σ' ἐκεῖνα τὰ νερά P&N Diath. 381 ἐκεῖνα ὅπου ἔχει (1658, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 5, 652.8) ἐκεῖνα ποὺ εὐρίσκονται (1668, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 39, 40.13) εἰς τὰ ἐκεῖνα σπῆττια (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 590, 817.7)

Genitive

General
ἐκεῖνων ἢ ἐκεινῶ(ν)

ἐκείνων τῶν φουσσάτων Chron. Mor. H 2904 τῶν παλατίων ἐκείνων Velth. 321 ἐκείνων τῶν ρημάτων Achil. O 742 τὸ κάλλος τῶν παιδίων ἐκείνων PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 100.33
 ἡ μήτηρ ἐκείνων των παιδίων Martyr. Vlas. 248.3–5 ἀντικρὺς ἐκείνων εἰς τὸ ἀκρωτήριον RODINOS, Vios Ign. 64.20 ἐκείνων λέγεται μάννα Vios Aisop. D 220.14 ἔδωσαν τὴν τιμὴν ἐκείνων εἰς τοὺς δανειστάς (1657, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 75, 192.8) ἐκείνων τῶν παιδόπουλων Chron. Mor. H 4818 ἀπανωθεὸς των ἐκείνων Diig. Ven. 21 ἐκείνων τῶν παιδιῶν Vios Aisop. I 258.26 ἐκείνων τῶν πραγμάτων KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 21.26 γιὰ χάρη τῶνε κι ἐκείνῳ σήμερο νὰ θελήση CHORTATSI, Erof. IV 591

Variant Forms and Usages

Variant forms of ἐκείνος are created through phonological processes affecting vowels at word boundaries. When the pronoun is preceded by a word ending in a vowel within the same syntactic phrase, the resulting hiatus is resolved through vowel deletion according to the vowel hierarchy (aphaeresis; see I, 2.7.1). When the previous word is καί, modern editorial practice usually divides as κ' ἐκείνος or κι ἐκείνος; older editions may adopt the word division καὶ ἑκείνος. Similarly, after μέ and σέ the form with aphaeresis may be found in mss and older editions. Examples of aphaeresis after /a/, /o/ or /u/: αὐτάδελφος ἦτον μπασιᾶ, κείνου τοῦ Παγιαζίτου Chron. Toc. 3186 μετὰ κείνους Byz. Il. 315 μεγαλύτερη παρὰ κείνους (1440, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1995: 126, 401.2) περὶ τοῦ παιδίου παρὰ κείνον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 258.2 τὸ κτίσμα κείνον LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 57 νὰ ᾿χει ἀπὸ κείνον ἢ ἀπὸ κείνους (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 88, 167.24) γιὰ κείνους ποὺ ἐμάζωξες Alex. Rim. 687; εἰς τὸ καράβι κείνο ibid. 1671; τοῦ τόπου κείνου ibid. 2056 ἀπὸ κείνον τὸν τόπον (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 150.14) ἀπὸ κείνα (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 171, 139.24) διὰ ἑκείνον Diig. Alex. Sem. B 71 καὶ σὺ ἀπὸ κείνους εἶσαι P&N Diath. 3154 γὴ κείνοι ἀποὺ σκορπούσανε τὰ πλούτη CHORTATSI, Erof. Prol. 44 ἀπὸ ἑκείνο (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 37, 55.29) διὰ κείνους (1655, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 2, 188.26)

Occasionally the shortened form κείνος (ἑκείνος) may be found even after a consonant, or at the beginning of a sentence, which entails lexicalization of aphaeresis in some areas or speakers. Metrical considerations are also a factor:

κείνα τὰ ψευδοκάτιργα μήνα τὰ ἀνησπίαση Chron. Toc. 1132; ὁ δούκας, καθοῦ ἐστράφηκεν κείνος ὁ φαμιλίτης ibid. 1325 τὸ νησὶν κείνο τῆς Ἑγγλιτέρας LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 363 κ' ἔκλαιεν κείνη στὴν μίαν μερίαν BERGADIS, Apok. V 387 ὄνομαν λέσιν κεινῆς τῆς χώρας Imb. Rim. 549 ὁ μάγος κείνος Alex. Rim. 128 εἰς κείνον ὁποῦ ἔχει ἀγοραστὸ (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 256, 353.15) ποῦ ἔκείνοι ἀπὸ τὰ χεῖλη τως τὰ μέλη ἐκυματοῦσα; CHORTATSI, Erof. Prol. 65 ὁ κόσμος κείνος FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.33 καὶ ποῖος εἶν' κείνος KORNAOS, Erot. II 968 κείνος τοὺς ἐπρουμύταρεν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 115

In some cases, deletion takes place according to the rules of AG, i.e. the final vowel of the preceding word is deleted irrespective of the vowel hierarchy, or the hiatus is resolved through crasis following the AG rules (see I, 2.9.5):

καὶ μετ' ἐκείνους ἕτεροι Dig. G IV 878 ὅπου ἤφερν μετ' αὐτον ἀπ' ἐκείνον Chron. Mor. H 2325 νὰ ὑπάγω μετ' ἐκείνους Dig. E 309 ὅτι ἀπ' ἐκείνον ἐνι Liv. α 1451 δι' ἐκεῖνα τὰ μαντᾶτα Chron. Mor. P 5849 ἀπεκίνον / ἀπ' ἐκείνον (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 3, 302.10) καὶ ἀπ' ἐκείνου τοῦ καιροῦ κἀκείνης τῆς ἡμέρας Diig. tetr. 724 app. crit. (PVCA) κἀκείνη, ὡς ἐγροίκησε τὴν κρίσιν τοῦ Βελθάνδρου Velth. 635 κἀκείνος ὡς τὰ γροίκησε τὰ λόγια τοῦ ποπούλου LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 531 κακεῖνα ἠγόρασαν ἐκ τὸν Ἑμῖνη (1568–9, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.27)

In rare cases, the pronoun ἐκείνος appears preceded by the definite article, probably under the influence of ὁ αὐτός. Occasionally, the article is pre-posed or repeated for metrical reasons:

εὐρίσκεται πρὸς μεσημβρίαν τοῦ ἐκείνου τοῦ κάστρου Chron. Mor. H 2803 καὶ εἷς ἀπὸ τοὺς ἐκείνους τοῦτον τὸν λόγον λέγει Anon. Naupl. 62 διὰ τὴν θανὴν τοῦ ἐκείνου ἀφέντη καὶ ἀδελφοῦ μου Chron. Mor. P 1816
 μὲ τὸν λόγον τοῦ ἐκείνου Synax. gyn. 249
 τοῦ ἐκείνου παιδίου (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 485, 709.12); εἰς τὰ ἐκεῖνα σπίτια (1685, ibid. 590, 817.7)

Apparent instances of ἐκείνος preceded by the definite article in prepositional phrases should rather be interpreted as false word division involving the prepositional forms ἀποτά, διατά/γιατά. Such prepositional forms are created on the analogy of μέ/μετά before personal and demonstrative pronouns (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 99, 444; AMANDOS 1918: 134–5; ILNE s.v. ἀπό; BORTONE 2010: 206 n. 13; see also 5.3.1.1 and 5.5.1.4).⁴⁶

διὰτ' ἐκείνην [VLASTOS], Dig. P 313.18 ἀπὸ τ' ἐκείνην τὴν ἀσθένειαν Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 17 (= ἀποτ' ἐκείνην) ἕνας ἀπὸ τ' ἐκείνους Bertoldos 71.32 (= ἀποτ' ἐκείνους) διὰ τ' ἐκείνους ὅπου τὸν ἀγαποῦν PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §17.22 (= διατ' ἐκείνους) διατ' ἐκεῖνες τες φωνές IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 846

A syncopated form ἐκεῖν before the definite article is sporadically attested in Cypriot texts. This form, present in Modern Cypriot and other dialects (cf. PERNOT 1907/46: II 224), can be interpreted as a haplology resulting from the collocation of the demonstrative ἐκείνος ⁴⁶ In very rare cases the final /t/ of these prepositional forms is reinterpreted as a definite article and appears independently, e.g. τοῦτο το σαλμίτριο τ' ἐκείνης τῆς βράσης (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.39–40).

+ a form of the definite article starting with /t/: ἐκεῖνον τόν > (ἐ)κεῖν τόν, ἐκεῖνην τήν > (ἐ)κεῖν τήν (PERNOT 1907/46: II 221; MENARDOS 1969: 63; ΣΙΑΡΚΑΡΑΣ-PITSILLIDÈS 1975: 361; SYMEONIDIS 2006: 215).

νά τοῦ στρέψη ἐκεῖν τήν τιμήν Assizes B 402.18; ἐκεῖν τήν κακοεργίαν ibid. 407.31; ἐκεῖν τήν κλεψίαν ibid. 424.20 κεῖν' τόν ἥλιον Cypr. Canz. 106.17; κεῖν' τῆς ἀρετῆς ibid. 150.12; κεῖν' τήν ἐφροσύνην ibid. 16.11; κεῖν' τὸ σπλάχνος τῆς φιλιᾶς ὀφῆκα ibid. 137.2; κεῖν' τ' ἄρματα ποῦ σὲ φουμίζουν ibid. 153.13; μετὰστρεψε κεῖν' τ' ἄρματα ibid. 156.10

5.5.1.9 ἐκειός

An innovative form ἐκειός is attested from the 16th c. onwards, mainly from the Heptanese, with isolated instances from Crete, Syros and Naxos. PERNOT (1907/46: I 488–9) attributes it to dissimilatory deletion of /n/ in ἐκεῖνον, but the interpretation offered by KRETSCHMER (1905: 267) and CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: B 155), that it is built on the analogy of αὐτός, is more likely.⁴⁷ ἐκειὸ ποῦ ζητοῦσι τινὰν δὲ βλάπτει (1509, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [1], 6.8) εἰς τὸν τόπον ἐκεῖον (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 52.3) νὰ βλέπη ἐκειὸ τὸ σέβεσαι, νᾶχη πληροφορίαν DEFAR., Log. did. 304; νὰ θαρρευτῆς 'ς ἐκειὸν ποῦ σὲ κοιτάζει ibid. 461 ἐκειὰ ποῦ λέγω (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 149.26) echió / ἐκειό Thysia Avr. 272 transcr. M κ' ἐκειός, σὰν πιάση τὴν γραφήν MONTSEL., Evgena 137 χωρὶς νὰ εἶναι κ' ἐκειός Reb. Evr. 103.33 καὶ ἐκειὰ τὰ δόλια τὰ παιδιὰ KATSAITIS, Thyest. IV.54

5.5.1.10 ἔδεκεῖνος

An emphatic demonstrative ἔδεκεῖνος is created through prefixation of ἐκεῖνος with the deictic adverb ἔδε (< AG ἰδέ) (JANNARIS 1897: 161), cf. ἔδαῦτος (5.5.1.5). The form is extremely rare in the corpus examined.

εἰς ἔδεκεῖνον τὸν καιρόν Pol. Tr. 10642 στὴν ὥραν ἔδεκεῖνην PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 186

5.5.1.11 οὔτος/τοῦτος

The pronoun οὔτος/τοῦτος is a proximal demonstrative and derives from the AG proximal demonstrative pronoun οὗτος. It is used both as a pronoun and as a nominal modifier, occurring before or after the combination article + noun (οὔτος ὁ X or ὁ X οὔτος). It has the same range of meaning as αὐτός; however, its use as a deictic demonstrative is more pronounced, while αὐτός is more frequently used in an anaphoric context (for the later history of this pronoun and its usage see MANOLESSOU 2001; LENDARI/MANOLESSOU 2013). Similarly to αὐτός and ἐκεῖνος, the pronoun οὗτος/τοῦτος functions both as a personal and as a demonstrative pronoun.

⁴⁷ The form appears very rarely in the texts examined, but its presence in Crete and the Heptanese is confirmed by modern dialectal data (ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1926: 170; LIOUDAKI 1938: 422; PERNOT 1907/46: II 224; PANGALOS 1955: 298–9; ZOIS 1963: s.v. ἐκειά, ἐκειό; KONOMOS 1960: s.v. ἐκειός). The case of Naxos remains dubious.

Because of its complex morphological paradigm, a long process of levelling had already begun before the LMedG period, leading to the generalization of the stem allomorph {τουτ} to all case-forms (see GIGNAC 1981: 174). Also, the analogy of ἐκεῖνος brought about prothesis of an initial /e/. Finally, the analogy of αὐτός and ἐκεῖνος produced the extended genitive forms τουτουνοῦ, τουτηνῆς etc., which may (in Crete only) take the form τουνοῦ, τουνηῆς etc. through haplology.

Οὔτος/τοῦτος inflects like a regular O-stem adjective (see 3.2.1), with the expected addition of final /n/ to the neut. nom. and acc. sg. (see GIGNAC 1981: 174). The levelled stem {τουτ} normally does not combine with archaic inflectional suffixes (such as -αι, -ας).

The generalization of the stem {τουτ} is already attested in the ancient Doric dialect (JANNARIS 1897: 160; PAPADOPOULOS 1941b: 32; BUCK 1955: 100; cf. Hesychius, Lex. s.v. οὔτος) but it is doubtful whether this feature is connected with the EMedG development. The earliest non-Doric instances of the spread of {τουτ} are to be found in 4th-c. AD papyri and inscriptions (DIETERICH 1898: 197; GIGNAC 1981: 174; cf. also the early attestations in ID 2583; IGBulg I2 12, 361 AD and IK Estremo Oriente 30).⁴⁸ It seems to be an acceptable variant by the 9th c., e.g. ἀνεκινήθη ὁ πύργος τοῦτος ἐπὶ Βασηλήου καὶ Κωνσταντίνου (879, Eastern Thrace, SAYAR 1998, inscr. 299). Despite the morphological evolution, the original forms of the pronoun are retained and are, as expected, more common in higher-register texts. Also, rare hypercorrect forms without τ- are attested.

Prothesis of /e/ results from the influence of ἐκεῖνος and possibly also of the 1st and 2nd person pronouns ἐγώ, ἐμένα, ἐσύ etc. (JANNARIS 1897: 161; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 504; PERNOT 1907/46: II 187). False segmentation in cases of collocation with words ending in /e/, such as a preceding conjunction καί, δέ etc. (a very common environment) and 3 sg. verb forms (e.g. ἔλεγε, εἶπε, ἔγραψε, λέγε etc.), should also be considered as a contributing factor. Prothetic forms first appear in written sources around the 12th c.: πρὸς σωτηρίαν ἑστέραν καὶ ἐτούτων ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 138.19; καὶ ἐτούτῳ ὑπὲρ τοῦ χριστιανικωτάτου φίλου ἀναπεμπόμενοι (1186, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 40, 205.7); ἂν γὰρ ἐτοῦτος ὁ πλανήσας αὐτήν Nomocanon (ed. Cotelarius) (12th/14th? c.) §477.⁴⁹ In the EMG grammatical treatises the first to mention this form are Romanos Nikiforou (BOYENS 1908: 9) and Portius (MEYER 1889: 28–9), followed by Tribbechovius (B4). There do not seem to be any geographical restrictions in the distribution of this variant (which is in any case used alongside the variant τοῦτος), but it appears to belong to a lower register.

⁴⁸ Note that the information provided by Jannaris concerning the attestation of the form τοῦτην in a non-Doric text of the 2nd c. BC is no longer valid as the reading has been corrected in later editions.

⁴⁹ In fact, the distinction between forms with and without prothetic /e/ is a matter of orthography or word division when a word ending in /e/ precedes it (e.g. καὶ τοῦτος ~ κ' ἐτούτος ~ κι ἐτούτος).

The extended forms τουτουνοῦ, τουτουνών etc. derive from the analogy of αὐτός and ἐκεῖνος: the final stress of αὐτοῦ, αὐτῶν spread to ἐκεῖνος, and created the forms ἐκεῖνοῦ, ἐκεῖνών, subsequently producing, due to a shift of morpheme boundary, the new suffixes -νοῦ, -νών. These suffixes, attached to the levelled pronominal stem τουτ- followed by (part of) the inflectional suffix, led to the creation of the new forms τουτ-ου-νοῦ, τουτ-η-νῆς etc. For details on the historical process and relevant literature, see 5.5.1.6. Such variant forms occur only in the gen. sg. and pl. for all three genders and in the masc. acc. pl. The variant gen. pl. form τουτουνών, instead of τουτονῶν, is probably due to assimilation. The form ἐτουτηνῆν, located so far only in Ioakeim Kyprios, is perhaps artificial.

The earliest available examples of extended forms date to the 14th–15th c., though with very low frequency. They become more common from the 16th c. onwards, mainly in the Heptanese and Chios (cf. the direct testimonies of SOFIANOS, Grammar 78–9 and GERMANO, Grammar 69), with occasional attestations from the Cyclades, the Peloponnese and northern areas, including Constantinople.⁵⁰ It must be noted that the extended variants of (ἐ)τοῦτος appear with much lower frequency than those of αὐτός throughout the LMedG and EMG period (possibly due to the higher deictic force of οὗτος/(ἐ)τοῦτος, the expression of which would be less expedient in written texts).

While the extended forms have a wide geographic distribution, the oxytone genitive variants (ἐ)τουνοῦ, (ἐ)τουνῆς and (ἐ)τουνῶ(ν) appear only in Crete, from the 16th c. onwards, and in isolated instances from Naxos and Santorini.⁵¹ The origin of these variants has been attributed to haplology from the extended forms τουτουνοῦ etc. (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 156), although this intermediate stage is not attested in Cretan texts.

The nominative form ἄτοῦνος preserved by Michael Choniates (see 5.5.2.3) should be seen as unrelated to the Cretan and Naxiot oblique forms, because the nominative form in these areas (both in the MedG and the modern period) is τοῦτος. The Athenian form given by Choniates (and corroborated through modern dialectal evidence)⁵² does not appear in LMedG and EMG texts.

Addition of final /e/ in the masc. and fem. acc. sg. of the pronoun (ἐ)τοῦτος is attested mostly from areas where the phenomenon constitutes a regular feature of nominal inflection, such as the Heptanese, Crete, the Cyclades and the Peloponnese. This phenomenon appears around the 15th c. although the available textual evidence is limited. Distinction must be made between addition of unstressed /e/, which is a recurrent morphological ⁵⁰ In view of the substantial textual material, the absence of these forms in Crete is notable. So far, only one instance has been located in Dellaportas and a few more in the late work of Marinos Tzane Bounialis. It is also absent from the modern Cretan dialect (ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1926: 169–70; LIOUDAKI 1938: 424; PAN-GALOS 1955: 299–300). In Cretan texts (as well as in the modern Cretan dialect) the oxytone acc. forms with addition of final /e/ or /a/ are preferred; see below.

⁵¹ Such genitive forms occur in the modern dialect of Crete (LIOUDAKI 1938: 424) and Naxos (OIKONOMIDIS 1952: 236), as well as in Amorgos (THUMB 1897: 12). For the distribution see LENDARI/MANOLESSOU 2013.

⁵² The form is characteristic of the so-called Old Athenian dialect group: see KAMBOUROGLOU 1910: 48 and PANDELIDIS 2016b: 128 for Athens; BENARDIS (2006 s.v. τοῦνος) and SYRKOU (2006: s.v. τοῦνος) for Megara; THUMB (1891: 111) for Aegina and FAVIS (1911: 42) for Euboea. It also occurs in areas of the Peloponnese (PANDELIDIS forthcoming) and in S. Italian Greek (ROHLFS 1977: 92–3; KARANASTASIS 1997: 69–70).

change in nominal and verbal morphology, attributable to phonological reasons (see I, 2.6.3), and addition of stressed /e/, which is strongly deictic and restricted to Cretan texts from the late 16th c. onwards. Characteristically, in Crete it applies even to the neuter nom./acc. sg., a feature which is completely absent from other areas and nominal paradigms.⁵³

Addition of unstressed /a/ is due to the analogy of pronouns such as ἐμένα (see 5.5.1.2), whereas addition of stressed /a/ involves reanalysis of final /n/+a/ as the deictic particle νά (see 5.5.1.8; cf. also PERNOT 1907/46: II 204). Both types appear from the 15th c. but the textual evidence is very scarce. Only in Cretan texts can one find stressed final /a/ spreading to other cases without /n/ (e.g. ἐτουτεσά τς ἀθιβολῆς FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.88).⁵⁴

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	οὔτος ἰ (ἐ)τοῦτος	(ἐ)τούτη ἰ ταύτη	(ἐ)τοῦτο(ν) ἰ (ἐ)τουτονέ ἰ (ἐ)τουτονά
Gen.	(ἐ)τούτου ἰ (ἐ)τουτουνοῦ ἰ (ἐ)τουτονοῦ ἰ (ἐ)τουνοῦ	ταύτης ἰ (ἐ)τούτης ἰ (ἐ)τουτηνῆς ἰ (ἐ)τουτουνῆς ἰ (ἐ)τουτονῆς ἰ (ἐ)τουνῆς	(ἐ)τούτου ἰ (ἐ)τουτουνοῦ ἰ (ἐ)τουνοῦ
Acc.	(ἐ)τοῦτο(ν)(ε) ἰ (ἐ)τούτον(α)(ν) ἰ (ἐ)τουτονέ ἰ (ἐ)τουτονά ἰ ἐτούτονά(ν)	ταύτην ἰ (ἐ)τούτη(ν)(ε) ἰ (ἐ)τουτηνέ ἰ (ἐ)τούτηνα ἰ (ἐ)τουτηνά(ν)	(ἐ)τοῦτο(ν) ἰ (ἐ)τουτονέ ἰ (ἐ)τουτονά
Plural
Nom.	οὔτοι ἰ (ἐ)τούτοι ἰ τουτοινά	ταῦτες ἰ (ἐ)τούτες	ταῦτα ἰ (ἐ)τούτα
Gen.	(ἐ)τούτων(ε) ἰ (ἐ)τουτουνώ(ν)(ε) ἰ (ἐ)τουτονῶ(ν)(ε) ἰ (ἐ)τουνώ(ν)	(ἐ)τούτων(ε) ἰ (ἐ)τουτουνώ(ν)(ε) ἰ (ἐ)τουτονῶ(ν)(ε) ἰ (ἐ)τουνώ(ν)	(ἐ)τούτων(ε) ἰ ((ἐ)τουτουνώ(ν)(ε)) ἰ (ἐ)τουτονῶ(ν)(ε) ἰ (ἐ)τουνώ(ν)
Acc.	(ἐ)τούτους ἰ (ἐ)τουτουνοῦς ἰ (ἐ)τουτονοῦς	ταύτας ἰ ταῦτες ἰ (ἐ)τούτες ἰ τούτας ἰ	ταῦτα ἰ (ἐ)τούτα

⁵³ As in the case of fluctuation between the oxytone and paroxytone extended forms of αὐτός (see 5.5.1.2), such a distinction is inhibited by the fact that many Cretan texts may have been transmitted in Latin script, which only occasionally stress notation. The position of the accent is often the choice of the modern editor.

⁵⁴ This must be the earliest attestation of the inflectional paradigm which is normal in the modern Cretan dialect (see LIOUDAKI 1938: 424; PANGALOS 1955: 299–300).

Singular*Masculine*

Nominative

General	Restricted
τούτος	ούτος ἢ ἐτούτος

- ούτος επικατάρατος μάλλον καὶ ἀπηλπισμένος Spaneas V 57 μὴ οὗτος ἔνι ὃν λέγουσι Βασίλειος Ἀκρίτης; Dig. G VI.190 οὗτος ὁ Σκουριπέκης (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.3) οὗτος τὸν ἀπεκρίθηκεν Pol. Tr. 106 οὗτος ὁ δούκας Chron. Toc. 3; οὗτος ὥσάν ἀπίστησεν ibid. 3125 ὁ κόσμος οὗτος Om. Nekt. Vas. 76 ἠρώτησέ με ὁ νοτάριος οὗτος (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 76, 144.20) οὗτος ὁ συβασμός (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 31, 61.44) ὁ γλυκὺς οὗτος ἥλιος Krasop. V 16 οὗτος ἦλθε καὶ ἐκάθισε Spanos D 385 οὗτος ὁ Αἴσωπος Vios Aisop. D 209.13 κίνησεν οὗτος, ποῦ ἦν Σπανιόλος ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1182 οὗτος ὁ Αδόλιος LANDOS, Kalok. 340.33
- τούτος ὁ Παλαιολόγος (1256, Palatia (Miletos), NYSTAZOPOULOU 1966: 1, 289.13) τούτος [ὁ τοπ]ος / τούτος ὁ τόπος (1306, Trebizond, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1886: 1, 114.1) μὴ τοῦτος εἶν' τὸν λέγουσιν ὁ Διγενὴς Ἀκρίτης; Dig. E 1216 τοῦτος ὁ γάμος Assizes A 116.31 τοῦτος ὁ σταυρωμένος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 12.8 ὁ κόσμος τοῦτος Spaneas Z 149 τοῦτος ὁ φαιλίτης Chron. Toc. 1464 τοῦτος ὁ νέος Byz. Il. 625 ἂν ἦτον δάσκαλος τοῦτος SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 36 ποῖος ἔνι τοῦτος Diig. Alex. V 33.4 τοῦτος μ' αὐτείνους ἤτονε KARTANOS, P&N Diath 3164 τοῦτος μὲ θάρρος κράζει Cypr. Canz. 100.22 τοῦτος τὰ ἐκατέγραφεν ZYGOM., Synopsis 125.A.24 τοῦτος μεθεῖ, κί' ἄς πηαίνω CHORTATIS, Katz. III.513 θλίβει με τοῦτος ὁ καιρός, λυπεῖ με ὁ χρόνος τοῦτος Dimotika Ivir. I.1–2 τούτος φυλάγει το σπίτι Theophr. Char. 121.30
- ὁ λαίλαπας ἐτούτος Jonas 214.33 ἐτούτος γὰρ ἐκόμπωσε τοῦ Πέτρου τὴν γυναῖκα Chron. Toc. 882 ἐτούτος ὁ δραγάτης [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2477 ἐτούτος ὁ ἀνθρώπος (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 86.18) ἐτούτος μ' ἀποκράτηξε Apoll. Rim. V 1825 ὅτι ἐτούτος νὰ βασιλεύσει KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 336.25 ἐτούτος ὁ ποντικός (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 58.22) ὁ ὄστος ἐτούτος Nov. II 161.8–9 ὁ γάμος ἐτούτος Pist. voskos I 2.373 app. crit.
 ὁ ἰοβόλος ἐτούτος δράκων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 51.20 ὁ λαὸς ἐτούτος (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: 8, 305.22) ἐτούτος μὴ ἔχοντας τί κάμη (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 518, 745.12) τέτοιος ἦτον ὁ ἄγιος ἐτούτος MAXIMOS, Synax. Ag. Nik. 139.72

Genitive

General	Restricted
(ἐ)τούτου ἢ (ἐ)τουτουνοῦ	(ἐ)τουνοῦ ἢ (ἐ)τουτονοῦ

- ἡ τούτου γυναικαδελφή Dig. G IV.942 τῆς τούτου μυωξίας Ptoch. IV 15 διὰ ὁδοῦ τοῦ νοτάρου τούτου (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 48.54) τούτου τοῦ ρέ Πιέρ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 98.34 ἐκ τούτου τοῦ τόπου CHEILAS, Chron. 350.18 ἐρωτήθηκα ἀπὸ τούτου τοῦ νοτάρου (1530, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 142, 257.28) τούτου τοῦ τύραννου VEST., Paid. Makkav. 902 τὴν τούτου ἐνόχληση (1661, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 31, 54.7) ἐκ τοῦ Αἴαντος ἐτούτου ERMON., Ilias 22.55 τοῦ τόπου ἐτούτου (1503, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 244, 203.8) ὡς ἤκουσεν τὸν ἐρχομὸν ἐτούτου Dig. A 2185 ἐτούτου τοῦ λαοῦ τοῦ χριστιανικοῦ (1609, Cyprus, CHASIOIS 1972: 33, 55.29) τοῦ τόπου ἐτούτου (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3.8) τὴν σκόνην ἐτούτου LANDOS, Geopon. 250.22 ἐτούτου τοῦ πρώτου SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 36.11 ἐκ τουτουνοῦ τοῦ κόσμου Alex. Rim. 2368 ἕως τὲς ἰβ' τουτουνοῦ τοῦ Ἀπριλίου (1551, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 47, 89.3) in Scio il Genitiuo fa τουτουνοῦ, τουτονῆς, τουτουνοῦ GERMANO, Grammar 69.27 ἀπὸ τουτουνοῦ τοῦ κόσμου [VLASTOS], Dig. P 345.21 ἀνδραγαθίαν τουτουνοῦ παναξίαν θυμοῦ Irodis I.10–11 τοῦ ἀνὴρ ἐτουτουνοῦ Jonas 214.37 ποῖος ληστής χειρότερος ἐτουτουνοῦ εἰς τὸν κόσμον DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1130 τοῦ κόσμου ἐτουτουνοῦ τοῦ φθαρτοῦ DAM. STOUΔ., This., Logos 4, γ8r.22 ἐτουτουνοῦ τοῦ ἐμπιστεμένου λαοῦ (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.18) τοῦ ἦλθαν ἐτοῦτα ἐτουτουνοῦ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 6.3
 εἰς τὴν μεγάλην ἀπλότητα ἐτουτουνοῦ Bertoldin. 149.7 ἐτουτουνοῦ τοῦ κόσμου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1884 τοῦ τόπου ἐτουτουνοῦ (1688, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 39, 73.3) ἐτουτουνοῦ τοῦ ἀναθεματισμένου ἀνθρώπου SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 45.5 ἐτουτουνοῦ τοῦ τόπου (1723, Lefkada, KONDOMICHIS 1957: 307.24) ἐτουτονοῦ τοῦ καιροῦ Vios Aisop. I 273.1 ἀρχίζοντα ἀπὸ τὴν α" τουνοῦ τοῦ Μάρτη (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 105, 86.5) τουνοῦ τοῦ μηνός (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 257, 254.9) ὅς τουνοῦ τοῦ πύργου CHORTATISIS, Erof. V.42; τουνοῦ τοῦ καυχισάρη id., Katz. I.165 τουνοῦ τοῦ γάμου Pist. voskos I 4.153 τουνοῦ τοῦ παναγίου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 411.6

έτουνου τοῦ νοταρίου (1607, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 16, 18.10) κ' έτουνου καί όλονῶ μου τῶν έγγονιῶ (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 80.65) έτουνου τοῦ γάμου Pist. voskos I 2.150 έτουνου τοῦ θαυμαστοῦ κρήνου MOREZINOS, Klini 40.13; τοῦ κόσμου έτουνου ibid. 73.19–20 έτουνου τοῦ αἰῶνος VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 35.16 όλωνῶν τῶν χρόνων καί έτουνου ποῦ τρέχει (1681, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 163, 335.8)

Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
τοῦτον ἢ έτοῦτο(ν)	(έ)τούτονε ἢ (έ)τουτονέ ἢ (έ)τουτονά	(έ)τούτονα(ν) ἢ έτούτονά(ν) ὁ δέ τοῦτον δεξάμενος Dig. G I.175 διδάσκων τοῦτον Spaneas Va 4 τόν ὄρκον μου τοῦτον (1346–7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 257.69) ὡς εἶδεν τοῦτον ὁ ἀμειράς Dig. E 517 τοῦτον τόν λόγον ἤλεγαν Peri xen. 301 τόν τόπον τοῦτον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1246 ἀπό τόν κόσμον τοῦτον Theseid X.19,4 (1529) ὕδωρ τοῦτον ἤτησαν Krasop. AO 36 τοῦτον τόν λίθον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 10.11 γυμνός ἦρτα εἰς τοῦτον τόν κόσμον Fior 77.9 εἰς τοῦτον γάρ τόν κόσμον Diig. Alex. Sem. B 410 στόν κορμό τοῦτον Thysia Avr. 866 μέ τοῦτον τόν ταιριασμόν (1615, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 46, 197.14) τόν έξορκισμόν έτοῦτον STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 14.384 ὅλον τόν μήναν έτοῦτον (1546, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 175, 113.8) έτοῦτόν μου τόν λόγον Pist. kekoim. 35 έτοῦτο τόν καιρόν (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 51.31) ἔχω έτοῦτον τόν σκλάβον Vios Aisop. D 258.15 έτοῦτον τόν λογισμόν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 39.28 έτοῦτον εκλέγομεν, έτοῦτον ζητοῦμεν (1679, Sovana, Tuscany, PAPADOPOULOS 1979: 1, 472.10–11) (author from Mani) ἀπό τόν κόσμον έτοῦτον (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 345, 553.17) ἦλθα στόν κόσμον τούτονε ποῦ γέμει τὰ φαρμάκια Theseid IV.81,2 (1529); κ' εἰς τόν δρυμῶνα τούτονε ibid. V.37,8; ἀπέ τούτονε ibid. VI.53,6 (Olsen) τούτονε, όπου Poulol. 408 app. crit. (V) στόν πόλεμον έτοῦτονε KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua III.113 ἴς τόν κόσμον τούτονε VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 181 γιά τόν τόπον έτούτονε (1571, Mani, CHASIoTIS 1970: 5, 239.13) στόν φόβο τούτονε MONTSEL., Evgena 424 εἰς καιρόν έτούτονε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 36.8. εἰς τοῦτονέ τὸ φόνον Zinon II.97; έτοῦτονέ νά καρφωθεῖ ibid. V.262 γιατί εἶδα τοῦτονέ νεκρό BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 186.8 έτούτονα Peri xen. 130 app. crit. (V) ἀπ' τόν σευδα έτούτονα Diig. Vefa 426; μέ τόν τρόπον τούτονα ibid. 1020 τούτονά GERMANO, Grammar 86.22

τὸν ψαλμὸν ἐτούτονάν / τὸν ψαλμὸν ἐτούτοναν (app. crit.) (1684–5, Moscow, ŠANGIN 1936: 3, 123.3–4)

Feminine

Nominative

General	Restricted
τούτη ἡ ἐτούτη	ταύτη

ἡ παρούσα μου ταύτη χαριστική (1065, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 34, 202.26) ταύτη ἐστὶν ἡ διακράτησις (1143?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 15, 537.13) ταύτη ἡ πρᾶσις (1176, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 2, 369.28) ταύτη ἡ ἀγία μονή (1199, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 247, 336.11)

ἡ βασίλισσα ταύτη Pol. Tr. 12224 ἡ ποινὴ ταύτη (1420, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 2 [B'], 22.22) ἡ γὰρ σιγὴ μου ταύτη [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2006 ταύτη δὴ ἡ κενὴ καὶ ματαία ἐλπὶς ΚΑΝΑΝΟΣ, Diig. 63.259

ἡ ἀδελφὴ μου ταύτη Chron. Mor. P 7430

ἡ γραφὴ ταύτη (1513, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1978: App. III (b), 104.22) τούτη οὖν ὥς εἴρηται ἡ σκιογραφηθεῖσα ἡμῶν γῆς (1034, Athos, LEFORT 1973: 1, 41.15)

ἡ ζάλη τούτη νὰ διαβῇ GLYKAS, Stichoi 314 τούτη ἡ πεθυμία μου Theseid Prol. E 116 τούτη εἶνε εἰκόνα τοῦ Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 12.10 τούτη ἡ ὕστερὴ μου ὀρδουνία (1530, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 142, 257.29) τούτη ἡ ἀγάπη (1540, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 78, 59.6)

ἡ κομεσιὸς τούτη νὰ στέκη παντοτινὰ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 127, 126.21) τούτη σκληρὴ Cypr. Canz. 14.13 τούτη εἶναι ἡ μοιρασία (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 451.20) τούτη ἡ κρίσις ἡ φοβερὴ P&N Diath. 4690

ἡ παρρησία τούτη Tzabl. 96

τούτη ἡ δουλειὰ ἃς γένει Thysia Avr. 283 διότι τούτη ἐπάλιωσε (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.11)

τούτη εἶναι ὅπου σὲ ἀγαπᾷ Vios Aisop. D 224.2

τούτη μου ἡ παραγγελία (1677, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 2, 125.36)

τούτη εἶναι ἡ αἰώνιος Κόλασις PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 112.13

ἐτούτη <ή> ὑστερινή (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.25) ἐτούτη ἔναι ἡ ἀληθινὴ ρέγουλα (15th/16th c., Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.1) ἐτούτη εἶναι πολλὰ φρόνιμη Diig. Alex. V 33.24 ἐτούτη ἡ διαθήκη (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 237, 144.15) ἐτούτη ἡ συμφορὰ Vios Aisop. I 281.16 ἐτούτη ἡ μέρα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 89.32 ἡ ἀφορμὴ ἦτον ἐτούτη (1663, Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 39, 136.16)

ἡ πρώτη καὶ ὕστερη παραγγελία εἶναι ἐτούτη (1673, Sikinos, ZERLENDIS 1913a: 138.2) ετοτε η φηλαδα / ἐτότη ἡ φυλλάδα (1690, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1986: 48, f.54v.1)

Genitive

General	Restricted
τούτης ἰ ἐτούτης	ταύτης ἰ (ἐ)τουτηνῆς ἰ (ἐ)τουτονῆς ἰ (ἐ)τουτουνῆς ἰ (ἐ)τουνηῆς

τὴν ταύτης μοχθηρίαν Ptoch. I 26 τῆς ταύτης χώρας ὄνομα Liv. E 2618 τῆς Τύχης ταύτης νὰ ἔλειπα Velth. 436 ἀπὸ τῆς μήτρας γυναικὸς ταύτης Byz. II. 26 τῆς γυναικὸς μου ταύτης Achil. O 30 τὰ ταύτης πανουργεύματα Synax. gadar. 140 ἔνεκα ταύτης (1559, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 1, 225.3) οἱ ἀποδράσαντες ἀπὸ τῆς ταύτης χώρας (1264 [17th c. copy], Kefalonia, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 99.1102) ταύτης τῆς κοινότης (1663, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 28, 31.14) τούτης τῆς δημηγερείας Pol. Tr. 10076 τῆς γαστέρας τούτης ERMON., Ilias 2.265 τούτης τῆς μάχης MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 292.33 τῆς γεννήσεως τούτης KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 331.12 τούτης τῆς ζωῆς Cypr. Canz. 107.6

 τούτης τῆς ἀληθινῆς καὶ καλῆς ἀγάπης Fior 78.37 τούτης τῆς δούλεψης SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 17.42 ἔλα νὰ πὰ χτυπήσωμε τούτης τῆς Πουλισένας CHORTATSI, Katz. IV.215 τούτης τῆς ἱερᾶς μονῆς (1603, Kefalonia, ANDONAKATOU 1980: 398.3) τούτης τῆς μεγαλειότητος κοινότης (1650, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: (2), 29.7) τούτης τῆς πολιτείας μας Zinon I.292 τούτης τῆς τετραετίας (1696, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 112, 308.21) ἀπὸ ἐτούτης τῆς ἀφορμῆς Chron. Mor. H 3748; ἐτούτης μου τῆς ἀδελφῆς ibid. 7433 πρὸς τὴν ἔξουσιν ἐτούτης Theseid VI.5,2 (Olsen) ἐτούτης τῆς τέχνης (15th/16th c., Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.7) τῆς γενᾶς ἐτούτης KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 7.31

ἐτουτεινῆς Theseid I.47,5 (Follieri) τουτηνῆς τῆς ζωῆς KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 171.33 ἐτουτηνῆς Pent. Gen. 7.13; ἐτουτηνῆς ibid. 29.27 ἐτουτηνῆς τῆς χώρας (1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 33.6) ἐτουτηνῆς τῆς γραφῆς (1576, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 79, 99.40) ἐτουτηνῆς τῆς πτωχῆς τῆς μητρόπολης (1613, Naxos, CHASIOITIS 1966: 15, 206.15–16) ὁ ἀπάνθρωπος τουτηνῆς ἄνδρας Irodis III.248 τουτηνῆς τοῦ ἀσβολωμένης μάχης BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 432.24 ἐτουτουνῆς τῆς ὥρας Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1290 τουνηῆς τὼς τῆς κομεσιὸς (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 115, 94.9) τουνηῆς τῆς σετέντζιας (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 316, 311.194) τοῦ ἔγνοιᾶς μόνον ἐτουνηῆς CHORTATSI, Erof. II.370; τουνηῆς τοῦ νίκης id., Erof. Interm. III.124 ἐτουνηῆς τῆς γυναικὸς MOREZINOS, Klini 67.33 ἐτουνηῆς τοῦ πάρτες (1609, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 569, 506.21) τουνηῆς τῆς χώρας (1609, Crete, PENDOGALOS 1972: 2, 189.3); ἐτουνηῆς τῆς χώρας ibid. 189.9

 κε τουνυς / καὶ τουνηῆς (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 80.60) έτουνῆς τσῆ γραφῆς (1633, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 62, 164.9) τουνηῆς τσῆ χώρας FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.3; έτουνῆς id., Fort. Interm. II 113; τουνηῆς τσῆ λευτεριᾶς μας id. Fort. Interm. IV 126

Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
τούτη(ν) ἰ έτούτη(ν)	ταύτην ἰ (έ)τούτηνε ἰ (έ)τουτηνέ	(έ)τούτηνα ἰ (έ)τουτηνά(ν) ἰ (έ)τουτηνήν στέργω ταύτην (1400, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 10, 194.17)

τὴν ἡμισιν ταύτην (1414, Corfu, MALTEZOU 1991a: (1), 317.19)

τὴν δουλείαν ταύτην (1453, Thrace/Black Sea?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 4, 87.5) τὴν παρούσαν μου ταύτην διαθήκην (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 44, 75.6) διὰ ταύτην τὴν πρόβλεψιν (1482, Unknown, LEFORT 1981: 1, 34.21) ταύτην τὴν βίβλον Achil. N 1881

ἀπῆρε ταύτην μοναξιάν, ἐρώτησεν κάκεινην Velth. 957 ταύτην τὴν πονηρίαν Assizes A 101.6

πόθεν ἠπῆρες τὴν βουλήν, ταύτην τὴν ἐξουσίαν Byz. II. 251 καὶ καλῶς δέσετε ταύτην Ptochol. α 140

τὴν ὥραν ταύτην DELLAP., Peri antapod. 95

ταύτην τὴν ἀξίαν (1524, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 2, 1η.24) ἐκ ταύτην τὴν χώρα τῶν Χανίων (1548, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1992: 15.5) πολλὰ ἐπειράχτηκες διὰ ταύτην Diig. Alex. Sem. S 900 ταύτην τὴν γραφήν (1607, Kalymnos, KOUTELAKIS 1981: 3, 29.7) λαουντάροντας ταύτην τὴν μπερλατσιόν (1608, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 36, 37.23) ἔγραφα ταύτην τὴν φυλλάδα PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §34.9

ἀπὲ ταύτην τὴν ἀνάγκην (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), 28.13) ταύτην τὴν γυνή μου, τὴν Καλή (1673, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 7, 175.9) βλέπεις τὴν πύλην ταύτην VEST., Prol. Theot. 346 τούτην ἀναλαβότες (982, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 5, 133.24) τούτην τὴν ὑπόστασιν (1059, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 9, 110.12) τούτην δὲ τὴν καθαρὰν καὶ τέλειαν ἀφιέρωσιν (1083, S. Italy, HOLTZMANN 1926: 1, 340.24) ἡσυχολήθη τούτην Spaneas Va 466 διὰ τούτην τὴν αἰτίαν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 234.247)

μέσα εἰς τούτην τὴν φιλίαν Chron. Mor. H 8511 τούτην τὴν στράταν ὅλην Dig. E 887 τούτην τὴν νύκταν Liv. S 1800 τὴν ὥραν τούτην PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 303

εἰς τούτην τὴν ἡμέραν Assizes A 116.14

τούτην τὴν γῆν Alfan. II 18

τούτην τὴν κοντετζιόν (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 50, 89.62)

εἰς τὴν ζωὴν μας τούτην Pist. kekoim. 126 καμωμένη πρώτη ἀπὸ τούτῃ (1562, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 9, 23.22) διὰ τούτην τὴν μίαν ὑπόθεσιν (1584, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1976: 150.97) τούτην τὴν σκληρὴν του ὀργὴν (1617, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970b: 3, 230.14) τὴν παρὸ τούτῃ πρώτη καὶ ἐστάτῃ διαθήκῃ (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 40.9) τούτην τὴν παραπόνεσιν (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 24.6) έτούτην τήν βουλήν μου Spaneas Z 89 τήν συνήθειαν έτούτην (16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.1) βεβαιώνου έτούτη (1562, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 9, 23.22) τήν φορά έτούτη (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 392.1) τήν φοράν έτούτην (1590, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 2, 347.18) έτούτη τήν όμοιαν κάμαρα (1594, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 152, 276.6–7) ταμένη | είχε τήν κακορίζικη έτούτη νά τοϋ δώση CHORTATSI, Katz. III.364–5 άπό τήν γραφήν έτούτην (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 2, 361.30) έτούτην τήν ύστερινήν και τελευταίαν μου διαθήκη (1672, Milos, CHATZIDAKIS I. 1927: A, 299.1) κάνει τήν παραγγελίαν έτούτη (1676, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 1, 123.14) εις έτούτην μου τήν ανάγκην (1696, Ioannina, MICHAELARIS 1976: 3 [Γ], 254.11) έτούτην τήν ώραν (1699, Salona, DOKOS 1975: 12, 173.1) έτούτηνε Peri xen. 237 app. crit. (A) τήν νύκτα τούτηνε KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VI.216 έδω στήν πόλιν τούτηνε Theseid III.71,5 (1529); στήν μάχην τούτηνε ibid. V.44,3 νά τούτηνε, και τούτηνε άλλην, | και τούτηνε άκομή, και ύστερα τούτην Pist. voskos III.3.19–20 τούτηνε τήν αύτή ντονατζιό (1646, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 77, 194.10–11) σε τούτηνε MONTSEL., Evgena 83 στή βάρδια τουτηνέ CHORTATSI, Katz. II.79; θές κι άλλες; Νά και τουτηνέ! ibid. III.539–40 τήν καλωσύνην τούτηνα Dig. Vefa 848 έτουτηνάν Peri xen. 237 (ms V) ετουτηνήν την ώραν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1871; ibid. 458, 1142

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General	Restricted
τουτο(ν) έτοϋτο(ν)	(έ)τουτονέ (έ)τουτονά και τουτον οϋκ άρεστον τω Θεω (1137, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 8, 627.4) τουτον το άμπέλιον (1186, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 221, 289.11) και δια τουτο σώζονται οι κληρονομίαι (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.595) τουτον θέλω το γράμμα (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.24) εις τουτο μας, ω δέσποτα, το τωρινόν ταξίδιν Achil. N 292 έτοϋτον πούλησέ το (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1119) το τροπάριν έτοϋτο STAFIDAS, Iatrosoph. 24.196 εις έτοϋτο το έγράψαμεν (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 276.17) εις έτοϋτο (1493–4, Athos, OIKONOMIDÈS 1968: 36, 179.20) έτοϋτο το βοτάνι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 45 πρός έτοϋτον και αι μαρτυρίαι (1500, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 102, 179.18) και έτοϋτο όπου τους έπειράσαμεν (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 237.34) και έτοϋτο έτοϋτον το καλόν όπου ήκαμες (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 171.16) καὶ ἐτοῦτον ἐμπουμπλικαρίστη (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 289, 407.23) εἰς ἐτοῦτον ἰδίνω (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 2, 11.6) ἐτοῦτο ποτέ μου δὲν τὸ ἔβαλα εἰς τὸ νοῦν μου (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.34) ἐτοῦτο πού σέ λέγω Diig. Alex. Sem. S 358 ἐτοῦτον τὸ σκάνδαλον ὅπου μέλλει νὰ ξάψη (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 7, 177.33) εἰς ἐτοῦτο ἔδωσα τὴν ὁμολογία μου (1661, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 11, 125.7) ἐτοῦτο τὸ συνοικέσιον (1695, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 110, 306.20) νὰ τουτονὲ τὸ χάρισμα! CHORTATSI, Katz. III.467; τὸ κρέας τουτονὲ ibid. IV.378 ἐτοῦτονὲ τὸ σπήλιο εἶναι δικό μας Vosk. 192⁵⁵ εἰς τουτονὰ νὰ πῶ καὶ νὰ ριμάρω LIMEN., Than. Rod. 184 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: τοῦτο ὄδα)

Genitive

General	Restricted
τούτου ἢ ἐτούτου ἢ (ἐ)τουτουνοῦ	(ἐ)τουνοῦ τούτου τοῦ χωραφίου (1227–50, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 20, 157.10) τοῦ κάστρου τούτου Pol. Tr. 2460 τούτου του καστελλίου Achil. N 481 τοῦ ἐντροπιασμένου τούτου προσώπου Vios Aisop. D ἐτούτου τοῦ πλήθους (1609, Cyprus, CHASIoTIS 1972: 33, 55.2) τουτουνοῦ τοῦ караβίου (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1946: 500.13) ἕτερον συνεγγὺς τουτουνοῦ (17th c., Kefalonia, TZANNETATOS 1965: 2, 112.16); ἕτερο χώραφι πλησίον ἐτουτουνοῦ (ibid. 116.4) τουτουνοῦ τοῦ νησίου (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 139.6–7) ἐτούτου του χορίου / ἐτουτουνοῦ τοῦ χωρίου (1516, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 8, 38.16)

 τουνοῦ τοῦ ἱστρουμένου (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 579, 450.23) ἐτουνοῦ τοῦ χωριοῦ (1583, Crete, MERTZIOS 1965: 61, 129.4) ἐτουνοῦ τοῦ παροῦ ἱστρουμένου (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 31, 50.3) του νεροῦ ετουνοῦ CHORTATSI, Panor. II.145 ἐτουνοῦ τοῦ δεινοῦ πάθους MOREZINOS, Klini 60.5
 μὲ δύναμην ἐτουνοῦ τοῦ φανεροῦ ἱστρουμένου (1603, Crete, VIOLIDAKIS 2006: 2, 265.12–13) ἐτουνοῦ τοῦ φανεροῦ ἱστρουμένου (1608, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 36, 37.10) ἐτουνοῦ τοῦ ἱστρουμένου (1614, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 1, 331.11) ἐτουνοῦ τοῦ χωριοῦ (1616, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 2, 221.82) ἐτουνοῦ μου τοῦ τεσταμένου (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 57.300) τοῦ παιδιοῦ ἐτουνοῦ Zinon II.420 ἐτουνοῦ τοῦ νησοῦ (1716–29, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 38, 96.6)

⁵⁵ τούτονὲ τὸ θεμέλιο Pist. voskos I 2.369 should be considered a dubious reading. The neuter form τούτονὲ is otherwise unattested.

Plural
Masculine
Nominative

General	Restricted
τούτοι έτοῦτοι	οὔτοι τουτοινά ήνικά δέ καί [οί] πέντε οὔτοι τελειωθοῦν (1430, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 24, 134.30) ἐκάθισαν γοῦν οὔτοι οἱ ἄρχοντες Porikol. I 112 καί ὁ σελάς καί σαμαράς χρῶνται καί οὔτοι ταῦτα Diig. tetr. 626 ἦσαν οἱ στίχοι οὔτοι PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 115 ἦσαν οἱ λόγοι οὔτοι Achil. N 925 οὔτοι εἶναι, ποῦ θέλουσιν νά κρούουν Dig. A 3170 λοιπὸν ὡς εἶδασι καλῶς ὡς οὔτοι οὐ γλυτώνουν Velis. N² 228 οὔτοι ... οἱ παρόντες δ' κουμέσοι (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 77, 74.6) οὔτοι λέγονται Μακάριοι Diig. Alex. K 267.2 τίνος εἶναι οὔτοι οἱ παῖδες ΠΑΡΑ-ΛΑΥΡ., Diigisis (Meteoron) 100.39 καί οὔτοι ἠθέλησαν (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 24, 44.18) οὔτοι εἰσὶ οἱ ἀνακαινιστάδες (1611, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1977a: 48.23) πῶς οὔτοι | έμελλαν νά πληρώσουν Ist. Enet. 418.39–40 τούτοι δέ ἀρματώθησαν Pol. Tr. 8486 app. crit. (X) καί τοῦτοι εἶναι δυνατοὶ Chron. Toc. 410 μαντατοφόρους εἶδασιν τοῦτοι ἀπὸ μακρόθεν Achil. O 196 κι ἀπὸ τὸ στόμα τοῦ Χριστοῦ ἐβγαῖνα οἱ λόγοι τοῦτοι FALIEROS, Thrinos 94 τοῦτοι ἐσκοτώσαν τὸν ρέ Πιέρ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 404.1 τούτοι ἦσαν οπού εμοβίαζαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 50.13 καί τοῦτοι οἱ βασιλιοὶ CHORTATZIS, Erof. Prol. 127 τούτοι θέλουν πᾶσα δυὸ χρόνους (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174.14) καί τοῦτοι ὅπου γυρίζουσι καί νυκτοπαρωροῦσι KORNAROS, Erot. I.685 έτοῦτοι δέ ἀρματώθησαν Pol. Tr. 8486 app. crit. (AV) ἀποθνήσκοντας έτοῦτοι (1558, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 226, 275.8) έτοῦτοι μοῦ τ' ἀκούσασι καί τοῦτοι ἄς σοῦ τὸ ποῦσι P&N Diath. 3073 έτοῦτοι εἶναι γογγυστάδες KALLIOUP., Ioud. 16 ποῖοι εἶναι έτοῦτοι Apok. Theot. 490.65 έτοῦτοι οἱ έχθροὶ VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34.5 έτοῦτοι οἱ ὀγδονταπέντε γιαντισάροι (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 28, 78.3) έτοῦτοι ... τοὺς ἐναντιονόντανε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 38.37 πῶς ἀποθαίνουν τουτοινά LIMEN., Than. Rod. 258 (Wagner and ms: τοῦτοι νά)

Genitive

General	Restricted	Rare
τούτων έτούτων (έ)τουτουνῶν	τουνῶ(ν)	τουτονῶν(ε) έτουτουνῶνε τὸν πόνον τούτων Spaneas Va 433 πολλοὺς τούτων ἀνέϊλον Dig. G V.184 οἱ τούτων κατώτεροι (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.587) ἐγγύς τῶν οἰκῶν τούτων Dig. A 598 τὴν ἀτυχίαν τούτων LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 247 τὰς ἀποφάσεις τούτων Synax. gadar. 86 τούτων τῶν χρόνων SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 438.340 δια τούτων τῶν πολλῶν ἐπαίνων Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1631) 232.41 καὶ μετὰ τούτων ὁ Μουσούρ τοῦ Ταρσίτου ὁ υἱός [VLASTOS], Dig. P 405.10 ὁ Ἀδάμ καὶ ὁ Σῆθ καὶ οἱ τούτων ἀπόγονοι LANDOS, Geopon. 129.31

καὶ ἐτούτων NIKON, Logos 2 138.19 ἐτούτων τῶν Ἑλλήνων Theseid I.78,6 (Follieri) ἐτούτων τῶν δυσσεβῶν AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 509

ἐτουτουνῶν τῶν πονηρῶν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 242; τὰ μάγια τουτουνῶν ibid. 2703 τουτουνῶν τῶν Ἑβραίων KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 376.32–3; ἡ μάνα τουτουνῶν ibid. 355.27 ἐτουτουνῶν τῶν λόγων MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 316.29 πῆς το λοιπὸν τουτουνῶν Bertoldos 25.18 ἐτουτουνῶν χαρίζει Prol. Epain. Kef. 76 ὥσάν τὸ στόμα ἐτουτουνῶν KORNAROS, Erot. V.150 app. crit. (X) τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἐτουτωνῶν Pent. Gen. 19.8

τουτονῶν GERMANO, Grammar 69.27

συμπάθησε τουνῶν P&N Diath. 3604 τουνῶ τῶ δυον ἀγαφτικῶ CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.300; τουνῶ τῶν νιῶν id., Erof. IV.113 τουνῶ τῶ συμπεθέρω Stathis III.437 τουτωνῶνε PORTIUS, Grammar 68.12

Accusative

General	Restricted
τούτους ἢ ἐτούτους	(ἐ)τουτουνοῦς ἢ (ἐ)τουτονοῦς μὴ περικόπτης τούτους Spaneas Va 484 μὴ περικόπτης τούτους Spaneas P 242 τούτους ἰδὼν ὁ δοῦλος σου Ptoch. III 243 μετὰ τούτους τοὺς πέντε χρόνους (1355, Palatia (Miletos), MANOUSAKAS 1962b: 1, 234.10) τούτους τοὺς λόγους εἶπεν Chron. Mor. H 5894 ὅλους τοὺς λόγους τούτους Diig. tetr. 179 πότισον τούτους STAFIDAS, Iatrosoph. 2.3 τούτους τοὺς ζαγάνους (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.7) τούτους τοὺς παίρνεις ἐκ τὴν γῆν PIKAT., Rima thrin. 352 τσὶ γάμους τούτους CHORTATIS, Panor. V.5.374 βάστα τούτους τσὶ δαυλοῦς Thysia Avr. 740 τούτους τὶς τρεῖς λόγους (1637, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 3, 95.11) νὰ στέκουνται μὲ τούτους τοὺς πάτους (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 19.13) διὰ ἐτούτους τοὺς καλοὺς τοὺς εὐγενεῖς στρατιῶτες Chron. Mor. P 8937 ἐτούτους τοὺς λόγους Diig. Alex. F 140.14 (Konstantinopulos) ἐτούτους τοὺς δυὸ μῆνες CHORTATIS, Katz. I.294 ἀπὸ τοὺς πονηροῦς δούλους ἐτούτους MOREZINOS, Klini 48.34 ἐτούτους τσ' ὁμορφους καρπούς KORNAROS, Erot. 2168 ἀπὸ τουτουνοὺς Pol. Tr. 8059 app. crit. (BX) εἰς ἐτουτουνοὺς τοὺς κακοποιοὺς ἀνθρώπους Diig. Alex. E 171.3 (Lolos) τοὺς ἀνθρώπους ἐτουτουνοὺς Pent. Ar. 1.17 ἕνας ἀπὸ τουτουνοὺς τοὺς βασιλεῖς Vios Aisop. K 189.24 app. crit. (SMT) ἐτουτονοὺς τοὺς χρόνους PAPASYNAD., Chron. Proem.86 ἐτουτουνοὺς τοὺς χρόνους ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2466 ἐτουτουνοὺς τοὺς ἀνθρώπους Bertoldin. 94.12; ἕνας ἀπὸ τουτουνοὺς τοὺς καβαλιέρους ibid.

137.29–30
εἰς τουτουνοὺς τοὺς χρόνους ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 77

Feminine

Nominative

General	Restricted
τοὔτες ἰ ἐτοὔτες	ταὔτες τοὔτες αἱ δύο σύνταξεις Pol. Tr. 3889 app. crit. (X); ἐκεῖ ὅπου τοὔτες τραγουδοῦν ibid. 13775 app. crit. (V) καὶ τί δουλεῖες εἶν' τοὔτες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 590 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: δουλειαῖς εἶν) τοὔτες οἱ πῆχες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 188.23 τοὔτες οὔλες οἱ πέντε μανιέρες Fior 127.27 τοὔτες οἱ τέσσαρες βουλές Diig. Alex. E 141.20 (Lolos) καὶ τοὔτες οἱ διδασκαλίες DEFAR., Log. did. 16 οἱ σαῖτες μου τοὔτες οἱ χρυσωμένες Stathis Prol. 5–6 ποιές τοῦ καιροῦ μεταβολές εἶν' τοὔτες; Zinon II.363 τοὔτες οἱ τέχνης KORNAROS, Erot. I.2196 ἐκεῖ ὅπου ἐτοὔτες τραγωδοῦν Pol. Tr. 13775 app. crit. (AC) ἐτοὔτες εἶναι γυναῖκες ὅπου ἐσκοτώσασι Apok. Theot. 490.71 οἱ νηστεῖες ταὔτες ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 214.1

ταὔτες ὅπου ἐξορίσθησαν Spaneas Z 411 ταὔτες οἱ δύο σύνταξεις Pol. Tr. 3889 app. crit. (BV)

Genitive

General	Restricted
τούτων	τουτουνῶν ἰ ἐτουτωνῶν

καὶ μέσον τούτων ἴστατο ἡ ἐξαίρετος ἐκείνη Achil. N 656 τῶν ἡμερῶν τούτων (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 177, 175.11) τουτουνῶν ὁλωνῶν τῶν θυσιῶν MAX. PELOPON., Kata loud. 327.19 ἐτουτωνῶν τῶν κεφαλῶν CHIKAS, Monod. Sev. 37.114

Accusative

General	Restricted
τοὔτες ἰ ἐτοὔτες	τούτας ἰ ταὔτες ἰ αὔτας τούτες τοίνυν τές ρηθέντες ἑλᾱῖες (1272, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 326, 484.11) εἰς τοῦτα τὰ βουνά, εἰς τοῦτες τές κλεισοῦρες Chron. Mor. P 5361 ἀπ' ὅλες τοῦτες Deft. Par. 92 εἰς τοῦτες τες ανακάτωχιες VOUSTR., Chron. A 208.19 εἰς τοῦτες τῖς παρτίδες (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 387.23) ὅς τούτες τσι μερές CHORTATIS, Panor. I.297 μὲ τοῦτες τῖς δύναμες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 43.20 τοῦτες τές δύο ἑορτές (1615, Santorini, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 9, 5.41) εἰς τοῦτες τές δύο ὑπόθεσεις (1680, Naxos, SIFONIU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 34, 184.16) στὶς μεριές ἐτοῦτες (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 92.18–19) ἐτοῦτες τές ἡμέρες (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 3, 302.5) ἐτοῦτες τῖς ντεφερέτσιες (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 51.36) ἐτοῦτες τές δόξες VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 32.8 μὲ τῖς σταφίδες ἐτοῦτες (1653, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 215, 186.37) ἐτοῦτες μας τές δικαιολοημένες ζήτηξες (1716–29, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 38, 96.13) εἰς τούτας τὰς ἡμέρας GLYKAS, Stichoi 186 τούτας τὰς συντυχίας Liv. V 3961 εἰς πάντας τούτας τὰς ὀπλάς Assizes B 333.24 εἰς τας ἡμέρας τούτας IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5951 ταύτας ἐγὼ τὰς φυλακάς GLYKAS, Stichoi 470 ταύτας τὰς ἱστορίας Log. parig. L 436 ταύτας δὲ τὰς μονάδας (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 22, 26.5) διὰ ταύτας τὰς αἰτίας (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 57.78) εἰς τὰς ἡμέρας ταύτας (1497?, Rome, MAVROEIDI-POUMIDI 1971: 4, 136.2) ἔξαπορῶ μὲ ταύτας τὰς τσερδέλας Ptoch. IV 248-21 app. crit. (P) καὶ ταύτας ὀλογυρίζουσι δύο γυναῖκες Vios Aisop. E 290.29 ἰδὼν ταύτας ὁ Βέλθανδρος Velth. 551 εἰς ταύτας τὰς ὑποθέσεις (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 452.12) ταύτας τὰς χάριτας LANDOS, Geopon. 187.34 εἰς ταύτας τας αἰτίας IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5340 πρὸς τές ἁγίες τοῦ Θεοῦ ταῦτες μονές (1102, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 2, 550.17); ἔλαβε ταῦτες τές δύο ὀγγίες (1171, ibid. Coll. VII: 4, 364.14) ἠφάνισε τές χώρες ταῦτες (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III, 27.4)

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General	Restricted
τοῦτα ἢ ἐτοῦτα	ταῦτα ταῦτα τὰ σύνορα (1142, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 6, 303.25–7) ἀφήμι ταῦτα τῶν ἀνηψιῶν μου (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 44, 76.44) γρικῶντα ταῦτα (1483, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 2, 41.7) ἀκούσας δὲ ταῦτα Porikol. I 39 ταῦτα τὰ εἰρημένα προικία (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 3, 7.14) ταῦτα καλὰ τὰ γνώθουν Om. Nekt. Vas. 33 ταῦτὰ ἔλεγεν ὁ γάδαρος Synax. gadar. 42 καὶ ταῦτα μόνον ἐφόρτωσε (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 175.14) τὰ δύο μέρη ταῦτα (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 3, 31.6)

των οἱσίων τα ονόματα εἶναι τὰύτα LANDOS, Kalok. 338.8

τοῦτα εἰσὶν τὰ χοιρίδια τὰ ἐκλέψαν (1133, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 113, 151.25) τὰ τοῦτα καὶ τὰ ἐκεῖνα; GLYKAS, Stichoi 280

τοῦτα εἶνε τὰ προυμουτιάσματα σας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 526.3

τοῦτα τὰ δένδρα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.36 τοῦτα τὰ ἔκαμα (1553, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 116, 165.56)

τοῦ ἀποκρίνομαι καὶ εἰς τοῦτα (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.22)

τούτα ὅλα τα λυπητερὰ VAROUCHAS, Logoi 467.29–30 τοῦτα τὰ λόγια VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 41.27

ἐτοῦτα γοῦν ἐκατηράθη ὁ βασιλεὺς Κυδωνίος Porikol. I 174 ἐσεῖς καλὰ τὸ ἐξεύρετε ἐτοῦτα (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.4) ἀπὸ τὰ μέρη ἐτοῦτα (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 103.9) ἐτοῦτα νὰ τὰ κρίνη LIMEN., Than. Rod. 262 τὰ Ρεβέντα ἐτοῦτα (1509, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [1], 6.21) τὰ σύννορα εἶναι ἐτοῦτα (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 341.30) τὰ κελλία ἐτοῦτα (16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.19)

μὴ δείχνοντας ἐτοῦτα (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 392.1) ἐτοῦτα ἀκούγοντας ἡ τιμία ἐκείνη MOREZINOS, Klini 43.1

ἐτοῦτα τὰ ὕστερα (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 135: 149.13–14) ἐτοῦτα τὰ τρία εἶναι χωριστὰ (1674, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 9, 222.10) ἐτοῦτα εἶναι τὰ βιβλία ὅπου χρειάζονται (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 10, 308, f.1r.28)

τὰ ὁποῖα ὀνόματα εἶναι ἐτοῦτα (1696, Andros, POLEMIS 2001: 10, 110.14)

Genitive

General	Restricted
τούτων ἢ ἐτούτων	ἐτουτωνῶν ἢ ἐτουτωνῶν ἢ τουνῶν τούτων τῶν τυπωμάτων Ptoch. II 29 τούτων τῶν πριγκηπάτων Pol. Tr. 10600 εἰς ἀναπλήρωσιν τούτων (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 270.6) ἀπὸ τῶν ἔργων τούτων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 118 σκόρδον ἢ κρομμύδι ἢ ἄλλο φαγὶ τούτων ὅμοιον LANDOS, Geopon. 183.33

τῶν κακῶν ἐτούτων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 74.5

ἐτούτων τῶν ζώων Bertoldin. 112.9

τῶν σκανδάλων ἐτούτων SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 45.13

ἐτουτωνῶν τῶν οὐρανίων μυστηρίων MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 326.7

ἐτουτωνῶν τῶν θηλυκῶν Bertoldos 35.27

τω κορασὼ τουνῶ CHORTATSI, Panor. V.294 ἐτουτωνῶν τῶν προσκαίρων πραγμάτων VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 32.13–14; ἡ γλυκότης ἐτουτωνῶν ibid. 41.19

Other Forms

In several cases, literary and non-literary texts contain forms of the pronoun οὗτος/τούτος which present levelling of the stem form in the “wrong” direction. These should not be considered as regular variants of the pronoun, but as hypercorrections due to imperfect command of the higher registers of the language:

- προκατεῖχε καὶ πτωχοὺς οὐτους (1284, Athos?/Lemnos?, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 74, 25.34) οὔται δοραὶ τίνες εἰσὶν Diig. Alex. M 4941 οὔτη ἡ ὀρμασία Assizes B 368.6 οὔτες αἱ δύο σύνταξες Pol. Tr. 3889 app. crit. (A) τὸν καιρὸν οὔτον Spanos B 35 ἡ παροῦσα μου οὔτη γραφή (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 45, 55.22) οὔτα εἰσὶν τὰ ὀφειλούμενα πράβματα (1533, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 39, 80.5) εἰσὲν οὔτον μόδον (1659, Zakynthos, AVOURIS 1973: 219.12) ταῦτος ὁ ρύαξ (1126, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 98, 129.7) ἐγράφη ταῦτον τὸ ἔγγραφον (1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 5, 618.22) τὸ χωράφιν ταῦτο (1194, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 237, 320.6) ταῦτο ἃ γένη τέλος Defi. Par. 81 εἰς ταύτους σκλαβωμένοι PAPASYNAD., Chron. Proem.80

Early Modern texts from Cyprus offer rare instances of a syncopated form of the pronoun τοῦτος, resulting from haplology in coarticulation with a following definite article, i.e. τοῦτον τον > τοῦν τον (SIAPKARAS-PITSILLIDÈS 1975: 411). The form appearing hapax in the Cypr. Canz. is an editorial correction: τούν τήν λλίγην τήν ζωήν Cypr. Canz. 136.5 (τούν ed. τουτιν ms), but it can be found in later texts, e.g. τοῦν τὸ χάρισμα KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 163. The form is regular in the modern Cypriot dialect, as well as in S. Italy (MENARDOS 1969: 63; ROHLFS 1977: 95; SYMEONIDIS 2006: 215), and parallels the evolution ἐκεῖνον τον > ἐκείν τον attested since the Assizes (see 5.5.1.8).

An emphatic demonstrative ἐδετοῦτος is created through prefixation of τοῦτος with the deictic adverb ἔδε (< AG ἰδέ) (JANNARIS 1897: 161; KRIARAS, Epit. s.v.). The form is extremely rare in the corpus examined, e.g. καὶ γιὰ ᾽δετοῦτο μοῦ χρωστεῖς FALIEROS, Ist. On. 641 app. crit. (N).

5.5.2 Qualitative Demonstratives

5.5.2.1 Introduction and Historical Overview

The qualitative demonstrative function is fulfilled by the AG demonstrative τοιοῦτος, appearing in the oldest LMedG texts such as the Athos and S. Italian archives and continuing throughout the period in higher-register texts, and the innovative demonstrative τίτοιος/τέτοιος/ἔτοιος. All are inflected like adjectives in -ος (see 3.2.1–2) and function both as pronouns and as determiners, optionally preceded by the article, depending on the meaning and type of text.

The provenance of the new forms τίτοιος/τέτοιος/ἔτοιος has not up to now been satisfactorily explained. One set of proposals considers them evolutions of the AG demonstrative τοῖος, whether through reduplication (MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 606) or through blending with the interrogative or indefinite τί (MEYER 1889: 177; PERNOT 1907/46: II 227) or through an intermediate step ἔτοιος (with prothesis of /e/) followed by analogical reduplication based on τοῦτος (CHATZIDAKIS 1934; KRIARAS 1976). The alternative theories derive τίτοιος/τέτοιος from τοιοῦτος (JANNARIS 1897: 162, §584; BOUTOURAS 1911: 50–1) through a dissimilatory or weakening process which remains unclear. Chatzidakis's analysis is the one commonly accepted in standard MG dictionaries (ANDRIOTIS, Lex. s.v., BABINIOTIS, Lex. s.v., LKN, s.v.); however, it faces the serious difficulty that its requisite intermediate step, ἔτοιος, is first attested much later than τίτοιος and, apart from an isolated instance in the medical formulary of Stafidas (see below), is found only in Cretan texts and in the modern Cretan dialect. Additionally, ἔτοιος cannot be used with the same range of meanings and functions as τίτοιος and τέτοιος (see below). If ἔτοιος is not considered as an intermediate step of the derivation of τέτοιος, then it must be seen as a later evolution of τέτοιος resulting from haplography (JANNARIS 1897: 162, §584).

Furthermore, the form τοῖος, supposedly the first step in the derivation (either a direct descendant of AG poetic τοῖος according to Mavrofydis, or an analogical medieval creation based on ποῖος and οῖος according to Chatzidakis), has only very few and dubious attestations in the medieval period. The forms in question are the following:

- τατηατονε λαλη / τὰ τοῖα τὸν ἐλάλει (11th c., Mani, DRANDAKIS 1972/73: 2, 666.1–2, and plate 13) ἡ τίας οὖν περιστάσεως / ἡ τοῖας οὖν περιστάσεως (1266, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 302, 431.17) ὅτι τοῖοι ἐπῆγαν εἰς τὴν Κερυνίαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 422.12–13; μὲ τοῖαν τάξιν ibid. 620.1 app. crit.
 καὶ ἔχει τοῖαν βερτοῦδεν / καὶ ἔχει τοῖαν βερτοῦδεν Lapid. 187.13 πάλιν τὰτῖα λέγει / τὰ τοῖα (?) λέγει Dig. E 1329 app. crit.

The early testimony from Mani is part of an inscription which is open to alternative interpretations (see DRANDAKIS 1972/73: 667–8, corrected by KRIARAS 1976: 167–9); the two isolated examples from Machairas, as well as the Lapidary and Digenis E, could easily be viewed as haplographies from τίτοιος and τέτοιος respectively.⁵⁶ The example from S. Italy is one of ten identical passages in an equal number of documents (dated 1266 to 1272, all drawn up by the same compiler), and in every case is used as a variant – most probably erroneous – of the learned indefinite pronoun οἴοσοῦν (= whoever). Therefore, there is no conclusive evidence for the existence of a MedG demonstrative pronoun τοῖος, as postulated in older literature.

⁵⁶ It is worth noting that the interpretation τὰ τοῖα in Digenis E was suggested by Kriaras, while KARAGIANNI (1976: 116, 239) and subsequently the editor, Alexiou, corrected to τὰ τέτοια on the basis of several parallels in the text (the phrase τὰ τέτοια is also frequent in the version of Livistros transmitted in the same manuscript). Also, in Machairas's Chronicle the hypothesis of haplography is further strengthened by the fact that the previous word is ὅτι (τίτοιος is the standard form in the text). Crucially also, in the Lapidary the exact same phrase ἔχει τίτοian βερτοῦδε occurs in the paragraph just above the one in question (ibid. 187.13).

The demonstratives τοιοῦτος, τίτιος, τέτιος may have other meanings beyond that of a qualitative demonstrative; they may also function as indefinite or personal pronouns or determiners (see also 5.3.1.5). The relative chronology of appearance of the various innovative forms is partly reflected by their meaning and use in texts since not all functions are covered by all forms. In more detail, the demonstratives τοιοῦτος, τίτιος, τέτιος, ἔτιος are used in the following ways in MedG:

- 1) As qualitative demonstratives with the meaning “such”, “such a”, “of such a kind”, “this sort of”, used both as pronouns and as determiners. Actually this is the most common use and is covered by all forms:

τοιοῦτος ἄς ἦσαι πρὸς αὐτόν καὶ οὐ μὴ σὲ λείψῃ φίλος Spaneas P 28 τοιοῦτου μεγάλου ἀνθρώπου Pol. Tr. 12701 app. crit. (A) εἰς τίτιον φόρον τίτια πρέπει (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1137–8) τίτια τέχνη ποττὲ δὲν χάννεται Fior 102.35 τέτια στράτα καλή (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.11) δὲν ἐφάνη ποτὲ τέτιος εἰς τὸν κόσμον [VLASTOS], Dig. P V 363.38

Special mention must be made of the phrase τοιούτης/τέτιος/ἔτιος λογῆς (“of such kind”), which is very common throughout the MedG and EMG periods, and gradually becomes fossilized as a demonstrative adverb (“in such a way”, “thus”), e.g.:

τοιούτης λογῆς ἤμασταν τότε IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 333.9

τέτιος λογῆς παιδάκι P&N Diath. 1670 τέτιος λογῆς ἀγάπησεν ὁ Θεὸς τὸν κόσμον KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioan. 3.16

ἔτιος λογῆς μανίζει KORNAROS, Erot. II.111

The co-occurrence of the qualitative pronoun with the indefinite article is very rare but seems to increase in frequency towards the end of the period under examination. The chronology of this construction is connected with the development of εἷς/ἕνας as an indefinite article (see 5.2.2): καὶ μὲν ἕνα τέτιον σχῆμα FALIEROS, Ist. On. 251; βλέποντας ἕνα τέτιο μεγάλο θάμα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 62.18. In late texts the same construction appears with τοιοῦτος, most probably as an attempt to elevate the style, e.g.: νὰ σταυρώσετε ἕναν τοιοῦτον ἄνθρωπον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 431.33; διὰ τὸν θάνατον ἐνοῦ τοιοῦτου θαυμαστοῦ βασιλέως Alex. Fyll. 110.31; ἕνα τοιοῦτον παράδειγμα ibid. 117.6; ἕνας τοιοῦτος βασιλεὺς Diig. Vefa 125.

- 2) The co-occurrence of the definite article with τοιοῦτος, τίτιος, ἔτιος is quite frequent throughout the MedG and EMG periods, both in pronominal and in determiner function. However, in this case they are used quite often (but not always) as intensive or personal pronouns with the meaning “the aforementioned”, “the same” (see also PSALTES 1913: 195).⁵⁷

⁵⁷ The articular usage appears with the pronoun ἔτιος only once in a very problematic passage in Dellaportas: ὁ ἔτιος γυμνὸς ὡς ἔπεσεν ὁ κόκκος DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2921.

καὶ σύ, ὁ τοιοῦτος ἄνθρωπος, ὁ ἐξαίρετος ὁ νέος Liv. V 240 ἐκομπῶσαν τὸν τοιοῦτον καὶ τηλικοῦτον σὶρ Τζουὰν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 388.11 τῶν τοιούτων ἀγίων AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 70 ἐζήτουν τὰ τίτεια τὸ κατὰ δύναιν μου ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 19 566.14–15 app. crit. (S) τὰς τίτειας μυριοχάριτας Liv. V 324 τὴν ἀφήγησιν τὴν τίτειαν καὶ τοσαύτην Liv. S 2288 ἐμὲν τὰ τέτεια ἐλάλησεν Dig. E 1130 τὰ τέτεια ξεφαντώματα καὶ τέτεις γλυκασίες FALIEROS, Ist. On. 371

This is particularly characteristic of the pronoun τοιοῦτος, which appears in an articular construction as a standard formula in legal texts:

ἐγράφη ἡ τοιάπη ἀφιέρωσις (1053?, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 26, 117.16)⁵⁸ ὁ τοιοῦτος τόπος ἐδόθη (1162, Thessaloniki, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 64, 333.87) εἰς ἀναζήτησιν τοῦ τοιούτου τόπου (13th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 20, 9.6) ἐκ τῶν τοιούτων τεσσάρων ἀνθρώπων (1319, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 106, 176.37)
 ἡ τοιαύτη πώλησις (1400, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 10, 194.17) διαίρει ὁ τοιοῦτος ποταμὸς (1407, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 17, 124.37)

- 3) A special and limited use of τίτεις and τέτεις appears in texts under Romance influence, specifically the War of Troy and Cypriot texts such as the Chronicle of Machairas and Fior de Vertu.⁵⁹ In these texts the meaning is that of a contrastive pronoun, i.e. “some” ... “others” (see also KOUNDOURIS 2009: 81). This is possibly a calque from the corresponding function of Romance tel, tale (see e.g. DMF, s.v. tel; ROHLFS 1968: 226 §509).

τέτεις χαρὰν ἐχαίρονταν, τέτεις καὶ πάλιν θλίψιν Pol. Tr. 4207 (only in ms B)⁶⁰ τίτεις ἐσκοτώθησαν, καὶ ἄλλοι ἐλαβώθησαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 314.20; καὶ τίτεις ἐκρεμίσαν καὶ ἐσκοτώσαν καὶ ἄλλους ἐκατακόψαν ibid. 322.9 τίτεις μέλισσες ἐνὶ ὀρδινιασμένες ... τίτεις ἄλλες Fior 114.28; καὶ τίτεις ἀπὸ τοὺς ρηγάδες ἐνὶ μαῦροι καὶ τίτεις κόκκινοι ibid. 115.2

5.5.2.2 τοιοῦτος

The AG demonstrative τοιοῦτος remains in use throughout the MedG and EMG periods, even in texts of low register. It is the preferred pronoun in legal texts of all registers and the exclusive option in higher-register texts. Note that ὁ τοιοῦτος in legal texts is mostly a simple locative demonstrative with the meaning “this/the afore-mentioned”; see 5.3.1.5. The replacement of τοιοῦτος by τίτεις/τέτεις is gradual and both alternatives may be used in the same text.

⁵⁸ For the hypercorrection see I, 3.8.1.4.

⁵⁹ There is also one instance of such a use of τοιοῦτος in Machairas: καὶ πολλοὶ Γενουβίσοι ἐλαβώθησαν πικρά, καὶ τοιοῦτοι ἐπεθάνασιν, καὶ πισταρίου ἐκατέβησαν καὶ ἐθάψαν τοὺς εἰς τὸ νησί MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 342.9.

⁶⁰ Cf. the Old French original (Roman de Troie, 10192): Li un joiant, li autre irié.

Concerning the inflection of τοιοῦτος, one may observe a gradual paradigm levelling with the generalization of the stem form τοιουτ- instead of τοιαυτ-. This evolution appears already in the earliest texts of the period under investigation and has most probably started in Late Antiquity (see, e.g., τοιούτη ἄώρῳ περιπέσοιτο συνφορᾷ MAMA 10: App. 1, 182.21, 2nd c. AD).

Again, hypercorrect forms generalizing the stem τοιαυτ- instead of τοιουτ- appear, though not very commonly, from the 12th c. onwards as a reaction to this levelling change.

So far, only a single instance of an extended form with /e/ has been located (με τιουτινε συμφωνία / με τοιούτηνε συμφωνία (1550, Athos, ΠΑΥΛΙΚΙΑΝΟΝ 2006: 16, 102.3).

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	τοιοῦτος	τοιαύτη ἢ τοιούτη	τοιοῦτο(ν)
Gen.	τοιούτου ἢ τοιουτουνοῦ	τοιαύτης ἢ τοιούτης	τοιούτου
Acc.	τοιοῦτον	τοιαύτην ἢ τοιούτη(ν)	τοιοῦτο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	τοιοῦτοι	τοιοῦτες ἢ τοιαῦται	τοιαῦτα ἢ τοιοῦτα
Gen.	τοιούτων	τοιούτων	τοιούτων
Acc.	τοιούτους	τοιαῦτες ἢ τοιοῦτες ἢ τοιαύτας ἢ τοιούτας	τοιαῦτα ἢ τοιοῦτα

Singular

Masculine

Nominative

General
τοιοῦτος

ὁ τοιοῦτος σεισμὸς (11th c., Constantinople, SCHREINER 1975/79: 1, 2.9) τοιοῦτος ὃς ἦσαι πρὸς αὐτὸν καὶ οὐ μὴ σὲ λείψῃ φίλος Spaneas P 28

ὁ τοιοῦτος ἀνὴρ (1258, Philadelphia?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 15, 154.43) ὁ τοιοῦτος ἀρχοντόπουλος (1319, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 106, 176.12)

εἰς τὰς γενέας ἅπασας τοιοῦτος οὐκ ἐφάνη Dig. E 1702 λοιπὸν ὁ τοιοῦτος ἔχοντα ἀλήθειαν καὶ κρίσι Assizes B 273.19 ἂν εἶναι τοιοῦτος ὁ Χριστὸς MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 320.6

ποῖος νὰ εἶναι ὁ τοιοῦτος ἄξιος ἀνὴρ (1696, Corfu, ΚΑΡΑΔΟΧΟΣ 1990: 112, 307.9)

Genitive

General	Restricted
τοιούτου	τοιουτουνοῦ

ἔνεκεν τοῦ τοιούτου τόπου (ca. 1260, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/ΒΕΝΕΧΕΒΙΤΣ 1927: 21, 9.10) διὰ τιμὴν τοιούτου μεγάλου ἀφέντου Chron. Mor. P 3432 περὶ τοῦ τοιούτου ἵππου Ptochol. α 446 διὰ τοῦ τοιούτου ἀποκρισιαρίου SFRANTZIS, Chron. 16.23 τὰ καμώματα του τοιούτου ἀνδρός Vios Iosif 269.15 τοῦ τοιούτου περιορισμοῦ (1264 [17th c. copy], Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 38.122) ο θάνατος τοιουτουνοῦ φίλου (1503, Rhodes, MINAS 2012: 14, 409.26)

Accusative

General
τοιούτον

τὸν τοιούτον οἶκον (1169, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 8, 76.12) τοιούτον οὐκ ἐξορθώνουσι Ptoch. (Maiuri) 45 ἐπαρεκάλεσεν τὸν τοιούτον (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.8) τὸν τοιούτον ἄνθρωπον Liv. α 3686 τοιούτον λόγον εἶπαν Dig. E 188 τοιούτον ἄγουρον Achil. N 277 εἶχεν υἱὸν τοιούτον Byz. Il. 1031 μέ τοιούτον τρόπον (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 193, 117.8) εἰς τοιούτον λογισμόν (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 145, 115.6) εἰς τοιούτον τρόπον (1590, Corfu, KARYDIS 2004/06: 3, 49.5) τοιούτον δεσπότην Vios Aisop. K 160.1
 μέ τοιούτον τρόπον (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999b: 17.11) νὰ εὐτρεπίσῃ τὸν τοιούτον νάον (1692, Santorini, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 49, 38.19) μέ τοιούτον τρόπον (1695, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 192, 115.3)

Feminine

Nominative

General	Rare
τοιαύτη	τοιούτη

ἐγράφη ἡ τοιάπτη μαρτυρία (1051, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 3, 49.7) (for the hypercorrection of the consonant cluster see I, 3.8.1.4) ἔνι κληρονόμος ἡ τοιαύτη μονή (1361, Thessaloniki?, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔÈS 1984: 34, 207.23) νὰ ἔνι τοιαύτη φιλία (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 6, 310.15–16) τούτη ἡ τοιαύτη φιλιά Fior 78.27 τοιαύτη πλάνη σκοτεινὴ ἐκατάλαβε τὴν χώραν Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 59.168 ἐπροξενήθη ἡ τοιαύτη ζημία (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 175.29)

ἡ τοιαύτη ἀνάγκη Vios Aisop. D 217.30 τοιοῦτη βουλὴ νὰ γένῃ Pol. Tr. 833 ἡ τοιοῦτη ἀγάπη τῆς πορνείας Fior 81.35

Genitive

General
τοιαύτης ἰ τοιοῦτης

τῆς τοιαύτης μονῆς (975, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 7, 5.5) τῆς τοιαύτης πράσιως (1176, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 2, 369.14) μετὰ τοιαύτης συμφωνίας (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 18, 158.16)

τῆς τοιαύτης ὑπηρεσίας Vios Aisop. D 213.6

τῆς τοιοῦτης νήσου (1117, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 1, 384.13) τῆς τοιοῦτης προσηκούσης προνοίας (1369, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 28, 109.6) τοιοῦτης καλοσύνης καὶ τοιοῦτης τιμῆς Assizes B 301.5

τοιοῦτης ὀπλῆς Assizes A 48.27 τοιοῦτης ἀπαλλαγῆς KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 423.31

τοιοῦτης γενεάς Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 59.188 μορφὴν τοιοῦτης σόρτας Cypr. Canz. 137.11 νὰ ᾖ τοιοῦτης χάρης MONTSEL., Evgena 444, τοιοῦτης λογῆς σεισμὸς IER. AVVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 335.28 διὰ τῆς τοιοῦτης διαθήκης (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 610, 841.11–12)

Accusative

General
τοιαύτην ἰ τοιοῦτη(ν)

τὴν τοιαύτην ἀφιέρωσιν (981, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 8, 6.31) εἰς τὴν τοιαύτην ὑπόθεσιν (1337–8, Constantinople, HUNGER et al. 1995: 109, 92.51–2) ἐλάλησα παραγγελίαν τοιαύτην Dig. E 1473 τοιαύτην δίδω τὴν τιμὴν PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 25 ἐρώτησιν τοιαύτην Diig. sevast. Thom. 202

καὶ μὲ μανίαν καὶ θυμὸν λέγει πρὸς τὴν τοιαύτην Diig. tetr. 269a app. crit. (CA) ποίησον θεραπείαν τοιαύτην STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 4.105 μὲ τοιαύτην συμφωνίαν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 27, 62.24) τοιαύτην εὐχὴν τὸν δίδει Achil. N 348 τοιαύτην πομπὴν Spanos D 610; τοιαύτην καὶ τοσαύτην ὑπομονὴν Spanos D 640 εἰς τοιαύτην τάξιν Fior 75.7

ὁποῦ ἔπλασεν τοιαύτην Diig. Alex. Sem. B 15 τοιοῦτην θλίψιν Pol. Tr. 13737 ἀπόκρισιν τοιοῦτην Chron. Mor. P 273; τοιοῦτην γὰρ ἀπόκρισιν ibid. 7338 εἰς τοιοῦτην ὥραν Assizes B 297.9

εἰς τοιοῦτη συμφωνίαν (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 18.10) εἰς τοιοῦτη μανιέρα (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.16 app. crit.)

μὲ τοιοῦτην στράταν (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 65.3) μέ την τοιούτην γυναῖκαν Assizes A 116.13 μέ τοιούτην συμφωνίαν (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 5, 25.9) μέ τοιούτην διπροσωπιάν Fior 123.31 τοιούτην δοξολογίαν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 332.22 εἰς τοιούτην συνίβαση (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 189, 156.7) εἰς τοιούτην λογήν Pist. kekoim. 6 τοιούτην δούλεψιν κάμνει Vios Aisop. I 253.28 ἦλθας εἰς τοιούτη συμβίβαση (1625, Crete, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 11, 7.6) τοιούτην ἀρέσκεϊαν Bertoldos 44.34

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General
τοιούτο(ν)

τὸ τοιούτον μοναστήριον (1015, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 15, 16.3) τὸ τοιούτον μυλοστάσιον (1123, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll.X: 1, 471.13) τὸ τοιούτο οὖν ἄμπελον (1169–70, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 19, 126.10) εἶχεν καὶ κείνη τὸ δενδρόν τοιούτον Log. parig. L 539 τοιούτον πρᾶγμα Pol. Tr. 369 app. crit. (A) τοιούτον κρίσιμον μέλλει νὰ κριθῇ Assizes B 376.11 τοιούτον μὴ συνέβη Anon. Naupl. 4 τοιούτον πλέρωμαν Assizes A 30.9 ὥστε πολλοὶ ἐθαύμασαν ἰδόντες τὸ τοιούτον Velis. N² 32 μέ τοιούτο νὰ πλερώνουνται MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.24–5 τοιούτο πρεμετέρει καὶ ἡ ἄνωθεν (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 205, 172.8) τοῦτο μὲν τὸ θαῦμα εἶναι τοιούτον Thavm. Nikon Metan. I 11–12 τοιούτον καθὼς εὐρίσκεται (1630, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 111, 221.18–19) ἕνα τοιούτον παράδειγμα Alex. Fyll. 117.6

Genitive

General
τοιούτου

μέχρι τοῦ τοιούτου ρυακισίου (1324, Thessaloniki, LEFORT et al. 1994: 80, 285.29) τοιούτου πραγμάτου Assizes B 448.30

Plural

Masculine

Nominative

General
τοιούτοι

εἶχον μετ' ἔμου φίλους ἑκατὸν τοιοῦτοι ὅλοι Liv. α 803 app. crit. (P) τοιοῦτοι ἄνθρωποι Assizes B 282.31 οἱ κριτάδες πρέπει νὰ ἔνη τοιοῦτοι Assizes A 28.22; τοιοῦτοι λαὸς ibid. 74.25 οἱ τοιοῦτοι ἄς κοιμῶνται LANDOS, Geopon. 177.17–18

Genitive

General
τοιοῦτων

τις τῶν τοιοῦτων (1172, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 179, 235.19) παρὰ τῶν τοιοῦτων ἀποκρισιarίων (1361, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 262, 554.55) τοιοῦτων μεγάλων ἀνθρώπων Chron. Mor. P 1003 τῶν τοιοῦτων μετασημένων εἶναι ἡ βασιλεία τῶν ουρανῶν ANDONIOS, Vios Sym. Styl. 244.43 τῶν τοιοῦτων εἶναι ἡ βασιλεία τοῦ Θεοῦ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 10.14 τῶν τοιοῦτων ἁγίων AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 70

Accusative

General
τοιοῦτους

τοὺς τοιοῦτους τόπους (1017, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 21, 165.15) ἐκ τοὺς τοιοῦτους ἀνθρώπους (1165, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 167, 220.20) τοιοῦτους συντρόφους Pol. Tr. 793; τοιοῦτους χιλίους ἐρρίψασι ibid. 6018 app. crit. (X) τοιοῦτους λόγους PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 106 τοιοῦτους μάρτυρας Assizes B 395.23 τοιοῦτους ἄρχοντας καλοὺς Synax. gadar. 245 τοιοῦτους λόγους λέγει Diig. Alex. Sem. B 125

Feminine

Nominative

General	Rare
τοιοῦτες	τοιαῦται

καὶ σύντομον ἄς γένωνται τοιαῦται ἱατρεῖαι Ptoch. IV 569 τοιοῦτες ἐνὶ οἱ μαρτυρίες Assizes B 485.1 ἄλλες ποτὲ τοιοῦτες δὲν ἔγιναν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 418.28 τοιοῦτες ὀκαζιόνες Bertoldos 62.8

Genitive

General
τοιοῦτων

τὰς ὁμοίας τῶν τοιούτων Assizes B 413.20

τῶν τοιούτων χαρίτων (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 12, 48.10)

Accusative

General	Rare
τοιάυτας ἰ τοιοῦτες	τοιαῦτες ἰ τοιούτας ἀφορμὰς προβάλλεσαι τοιάυτας Dig. G IV.476 χολὰς πολλὰς ἀπλήρωτας, τοιάυτας καὶ τοσαύτας Velth. 509 τοιάυτας διηγῆσεις Synax. gadar. 259 διότις ἐφατρίασαν τοιάυτας ἀνομίας ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡΡ., Pali 2674 τοιαῦτες ὑποθέσεις Pol. Tr. 6596 app. crit. (A) τὲς τοιαῦτες ὑπόθεσες (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 249.33)

οὐκ ἔχει τοιοῦτες μαρτυρίες Assizes B 485.12 ἔδωκε τοιοῦτες τὸν Ἀχιλλέα Pol. Tr. 4450 app. crit. (X); τοιούτας νὰ μὲ εἶχε δώσει ibid. 8661

διὰ τοιοῦτες ἀφορμὲς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 592.11

τὲς τοιούτες γνώμες Theophr. Char. 120.6

τοιούτας ὑποθέσεις Pol. Tr. 4987 app. crit. (A) ἐφειδὴ οὐκ ἔχει τοιούτας μαρτυρίας Assizes A 235.9

τοιούτας διαλέξεις Bertoldos 10.13–14

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General	Rare
τοιαῦτα	τοιοῦτα

τὰ τοιαῦτα δύο λαχίδια (1036, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 2, 30.11) τοιαῦτα πέπονθα δεινὰ Ptoch. I 268 τὰ τοιαῦτα πράγματα Assizes B 292.1

ὁ λύκος ἔφησε τοιαῦτα πρὸς τὴν ἄρκον Diig. tetr. 843 τοιαῦτα τοὺς ἐλάλει Achil. N 518 ὡς ἤκουσεν ἡ κόρη τὰ τοιαῦτα Ag. Nik. Strat. 44.35–6 τοιαῦτα ἀναφέρει Synax. gadar. 261 τοιαῦτα εἶπεν MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 225 τὰ τοιαῦτα ὑπέρπυρα (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 26, 105.12) τοιαῦτα λόγια ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1190 θαυμάζοντας τοιαῦτα πράγματα PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 110.20

τὰ τοιαῦτα ἔλεγεν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.70 ἀσασιναιμένα καὶ ὅσα τοιαῦτα (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III, 26.3) λέγε τα τοιαῦτα Theophr. Char. 120.5

τὰ τοιοῦτα χωράφια (1053?, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 26, 117.10) τὰ τοιοῦτα χωράφια (1092, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 54, 71.19) ἀποστρέφεται τὰ τοιοῦτα μνηστρα (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 13.)

τοιοῦτα κορμιά Assizes B 282.24; μὲ τοιοῦτα βοτάνια καὶ μὲ τοιοῦτα δροσάτα ibid. 437.16 ἀπογλύτωσαν τὰ τοιοῦτα κς' βιβλία (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.9) τοιοῦτα λόγια λέγει Imb. Rim. 1011 τοιοῦτα πράγματα ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 15.6–7

Genitive

General
τοιοῦτων

τῶν τοιοῦτων χωραφίων (1183, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 24, 433.20) τῶν τοιοῦτων ἐλαϊκῶν δένδρων (1251, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 28, 81.10) τῶν τοιοῦτων χωραφίων (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 38.123) τῶν τοιοῦτων νησιῶν (1346–7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 256.50) τῶν κακῶν ποιημάτων τῶν νὰ ποιήσῃ εἰς καλλικᾶς τοῦ κτηνοῦ μου, τοιοῦτων ὡς γιόν νὰ ἔνη διὰ τὴν κακοπραξίαν του Assizes B 434.3
 νὰ ποιῇ πολλὴν φροντίδα περὶ τῶν τοιοῦτων (1481, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 12, 317.25) τοιοῦτων χαρισμάτων Dig. A 3515 τῶν τοιοῦτων ζώων Assizes A 198.9

Hypercorrect Forms

ὁ τοιαυτὸς ὁ ἀδελφός μου (1135, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 34, 17.14) ὁ τοιαῦτος περιορισμός (1264 [17th c. copy], Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 33.64) τοῦ τοιαύτου οἴκου (1200, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 249, 339.15) τὸν τοιαῦτον κῆπον (1162, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1963: 9, 98.28) καθὰ τοιαῦτοι λέγουν (1137, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 8, 628.9); οἱ τοιαῦτοι μάρτυρες (1183, ibid. Coll. IX: 24, 433.22) οἱ τοιαῦτοι μοναχοὶ (1358?, Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. II C, 231.8) τὸ τοιαῦτον χωραφίτισιν (1196, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 241, 325.14); τοῦ τοιαύτου τιμήματος (1200, ibid. 249, 339.6) ἀφήγημα τοιαῦτον Liv. E 2372 (Lambert)

5.5.2.3 τίτοιος/τέτοιος/ἐτέτοιος/ἔτοιος

The pronoun τέτοιος is the main qualitative demonstrative of the LMedG and EMG period. It inflects as a regular O-stem adjective, and has several stem allomorphs due to its complex etymological history.

Τίτοιος is the oldest of the innovative qualitative demonstrative forms; the earliest attestations are found in 11th/12th-c. texts (Nikon, Spaneas), and it also appears in other comparatively early vernacular sources (Eisitirioi, Assizes, Livistros, Logos parigoritikos, Velthandros), often in variation with τέτοιος (see below). Its frequency diminishes gradually from the 15th c. onwards (the last attestations being the vocabularies of Germano and Portius s.vv. tale, talis), and it seems to remain the regular form only in Cyprus, where it is attested in literary texts of the 15th and 16th c. (Machairas, Voustronios, the Cypriot Canzoniere, Fior),⁶¹ and is maintained in the modern dialect under the form τίθιος, τίθκοιος (SAKELLARIOS 1891: ξθ'; MENARDOS 1969: 15). Τίτοιος does not seem to occur in legal documents, as the standard form there is τοιοῦτος. Due to its gradual obsolescence, some case-forms are very scantily attested, or even totally unattested. Furthermore, because of its comparatively early disappearance from areas other than Cyprus, it has not developed extended forms, except for very rare examples: τιτοιουνουῦ ἀνθρώπου Diig. Alex. F 162.21 (Lolos).

The paroxytone forms τιτοῖος, τιτοία, τιτοῖον appear only in Cypriot texts (Machairas and Voustronios) and could be interpreted either as relics of an original derivation from τοῖος (if one accepts this etymology) or, more likely, as a hypercorrect stress shift on the archaizing model of adjectives in -ος, e.g. ἄξιος ~ ἄξία → τίτοιος ~ τιτοία → τιτοῖος. Another possible origin for the analogy is provided by the interrogative pronoun ποῖος, ποία.

The form τέτοιος first appears in the War of Troy, the Chronicle of Morea, Armouris and Digenis E, and continues in use in the LMedG and EMG periods, with increasing frequency. The only sources from which the form seems to be absent are Cypriot texts, where the prevalent form is τίτοιος; however, τέτοιος appears in texts of Cypriot origin that have less pronounced regional characteristics, such as Ioakeim Kyprios's Pali. Τέτοιος is also the form proposed by the EMG grammars (e.g. SOFIANOS, Grammar 45.22–3; PORTIUS, Grammar 30.27; ROMANOS, Grammar 11.8–10).

The phenomenon of /e/ prothesis is attested only in the Chronicle of Morea (H). The restriction to a single text suggests that we are dealing with an idiosyncratic feature that does not correspond to actual usage, but is dictated by metrical needs. This is supported by the fact that such prothetic forms are also absent from MG dialects.⁶² The development of the prothetic /e/ in this case can be attributed to the analogy of other demonstrative pronouns, such as ἐκεῖνος and ἐτοῦτος (see EGEA 1988: 62–3) or to the more general phenomenon of morphophonetic prothesis due to re-segmentation at word boundaries (see I, 2.6.1.3).

Addition of final /e/ is attested in the EMG period by Germano (τέτιονε / τέτοιονε GERMANO, Grammar 50.2) but does not seem to be widespread. On the other hand, there are a few isolated instances of final /a/ addition from the medieval and later periods, which should perhaps be better interpreted as suffixation with the demonstrative particle -νά, as the manuscript tradition leaves room for either interpretation, given the uncertain placement of the accent. Spread of the extended forms in the inflectional paradigms of τέτοιος appears from the end of the 17th c. onwards. The extended oblique form τετοιανῆς should probably be seen as an analogy on the basis of the main demonstrative pronouns ἐκεινῆς, αὐτεινῆς.

The variant ἔτοιος is almost exclusively Cretan, and functions only as a determiner in a strictly qualitative sense, while some case-forms are unattested. It is not normally ⁶¹ The pronoun survives in modern Cappadocian, in the form τῖτος, not as a demonstrative but as an indefinite pronoun, equivalent to τᾶδε, δεῖνα (ARCHELAOS 1899: 270–1; MAVROCHALYVIDIS/KESISOGLOU 1960: 27).

⁶² Some MG dialects do exhibit forms with an accented prothetic /e/ which, however, has a strongly deictic function (KRETSCHMER 1905: col. 260), e.g. ἔτιτοιους in Lesbos (KRETSCHMER 1905: cols. 270–1), ἔτιτοιους in Samothrace (TSOLAKI 2009: 285).

accompanied by the definite or indefinite article.⁶³ It appears in the early 15th c., continues throughout the EMG period, and is maintained in the Cretan dialect (XANTHOUDIDIS 1915: 549; ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1926: 170). In Cretan texts ἔτοιος alternates with τέτοιος, but in the modern dialect only ἔτοιος remains. So far, only two exceptions to the exclusively Cretan attestations of the pronoun have been found: one is the genitive form ἐτοίου in the medical formulary (ἱατροσόφιον) of Stafidas, whose provenance may be Constantinople and which does not have any other Cretan features, and the other is the neuter form ἐτοιον in the 16th-c. ms of the Cypriot Assizes (A). For the etymology of the form see 5.5.2.1.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	τίτοιος τέτοιος ἔτοιος	τίτοια τέτοια ἔτοια	τίτοιο(ν) τέτοιο(ν) ἔτοιο(ν) τιτοῖον
Gen.	τίτοιου τέτοιου ἐτοίου	τίτοιας τέτοιας ἔτοιας	(τίτοιου) τέτοιου (ἐτοίου)
Acc.	τίτοιον τέτοιο(ν) ἔτοιον τιτοῖον ἐτέτοιον	τίτοια(ν) τέτοια(ν) ἔτοια(ν) τιτοῖαν ἐτέτοιαν	τίτοιο(ν) τέτοιο(ν) ἔτοιο(ν) τιτοῖον
Plural
Nom.	τίτοιαι τέτοιαι ἐτέτ(οι)οι	(τίτοιαι) τέτοιαι (ἔτοιαι) τέτοιανα	τίτοια τέτοια ἔτοια ἐτοῖα ἐτέτοια
Gen.	(τίτοιων) τέτοιων (ἔτοιων)	(τίτοιων) (τέτοιων) (ἔτοιων)	(τίτοιων) (τέτοιων) (ἔτοιων)
Acc.	τίτοιους τέτοιους ἔτοιους ἐτέτοιους	τίτοιας τίτοιαι τέτοιας τέτοιαι ἔτοιαι	τίτοια τέτοια ἔτοια

Singular

Masculine

Nominative

General	Restricted	Rare
τέτοιος	τίτοιος	ἔτοιος

τίτοιος [ἄς ἦσαι] Spaneas V 80 τίτοιος μέγας, δυνατός Chron. Toc. 1533 τίτοιος ὡς γοιὸν παραμπρὸς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 642.6

⁶³ An exception occurs in a problematic passage from Dellaportas quoted in 5.5.2.1.

τίτοιος ἐνι Fior, Suppl. 272.1

τίτοιος δοξιώτης ἐναι Diig. Alex. F 172.11 (Konstantinopulos) tale. τέτοιος, τήτοιος, ἐδεποιός, ὀδεῖνα GERMANO, Vocab., s.v.

τέτοιος ἦτον Chron. Mor. H 5475 ἤμπορεῖ τέτοιος νὰ πιασθῇ Pol. Tr. 4938

ἐκαταστάθη τέτοιος Spaneas Z 650 τέτοιος ἄνθρωπος Byz. Il. 249 τέτοιος ἐγίνης ὕδιος FALIEROS, Ist. On. 312 τέτοιος καιρὸς Diig. Alex. F 128.18 (Lolos) ὁ ἀσύκινθος τέτοιος ἐνι Diig. Alex. E 107.23 (Konstantinopulos) τέτοιος ἄνθρωπος (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.42) τέτοιος καλὸς ἄνθρωπος PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.73 μηδὲ εἶναι τέτοιος MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 317.9

ἔτοιος λοιμὸς CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1749

έτοιος αφέντης ακριβός Apoll. Rim. A 1504 ἔτοιος ὑγιὸς KORNAROS, Erot. I.1292; ἔτοιος λαιμὸς ibid. III.82

Genitive

General	Restricted	Rare
τέτοιου	τίτοιου	ἔτοιου τίτοιου φρονίμου Diig. Alex. F 122.4 (Konstantinopulos) τέτοιου μεγάλου ἀνθρώπου Chron. Mor. H 6420 τέτοιου φονιᾶ CHORTATSI, Erof. Interm. III.40 τέτοιου ἀφεντὸς KORNAROS, Erot. II.2200

ἀπὸ ἐτοίου τινὸς φόβου STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 24.184

ἔτοιου κηπουροῦ KORNAROS, Erot. III.76

Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
τέτοιον(ν)	τίτοιον	ἔτοιον(ν) † τιτοῖον † ἐτέτοιον τίτοιον ἔλεγεν σκοπὸν Log. parig. L 205

εἰς τίτοιον τόπον ἔρημον Liv. V 3276

τίτοιον οἶον ἠθέλαν Chron. Toc. 2697 τίτοιον ἀπιλογήθηκεν ἡ Φαιδροκάζα λόγον Velth. 986 καὶ τότε τίτοιον ἔρωτα καὶ ἀγάπην τοιούτης κόρης Liv. S 2208

εἰς τίτοιον ἄνδραν θαυμαστὸν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 37

᾽ς τίτοιον λιμῶναν Cypri. Canz. 107.16 εἰς τιτοῖον μόδον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 29.30 τέτοιον σκοπὸν Log. parig. L 216 εἰς τέτοιον τόπον ἔπεσεν Pol. Tr. 5240 (V) τέτοιον γλυκὺν ἄερα FALIEROS, Ist. On. 370 μὲ τέτοιο τρόπο CHORTATSI, Erof. IV.501 εἰς τέτοιον μόδον (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 148.45) τέτοιον ἔξοχον ἥρωα BOUNIALIS EM., Epain. Korn. 138 εἰς τέτοιον τρόπον (1691, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 95, 296.16)

εἰς τὸν ἐτέτοιον τρόπον Chron. Mor. H 3589 σ' ἔτοιον μέγαν κίνδυνον ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1833 εἰς ἔτοιο τόπο P&N Diath. 5173 ἔτοιον θησαυρόν MOREZINOS, Klini 8.2

 μ' ἔτοιο θάνατο Thysia Avr. 176; μ' ἔτοιο βαρὺ κανόνα ibid. 639 ἔτοιο θυμὸ FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.128 μὲ ἔτοιον μόδον (1625, Crete, VLACHAKI 1986: 22, 447.30) μ' ἔτοιον μόδο (1634, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 704, 685.5) ἔτοιον ἄγουρο KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1940

Feminine

Nominative

General	Restricted	Rare
τέτοια	τίτοια	ἔτοια ἢ τέτοιανα ἐγίνην τίτοια παρανομία MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 218.32 τίτοια φιλιὰ Fior 78.22

τέτοια μάχη ἐγένετον ἐκεῖ τὴν ὥραν ταύτην Pol. Tr. 10941 τέτοια εἶναι ἡ πίστη τῶς ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 196 τέτοιανα δουλεῖα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 432 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: τετοιανὰ) ἢ τέτοιανα δουλεῖα SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 167 έτοια δουλειὰ CHORTATSI, Panor. III.318 ἔτοια δὰ ἡ γνώμη μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.450 ἐχάθην ἔτοια νιότη KORNAROS, Erot. V.16

Genitive

General	Restricted	Rare
τέτοιας	(τίτοιας) ἢ τετοιανῆς	ἔτοιας τέτοιας κόρης Liv. E 3390 (Lambert) τέτοιας πράξης LIMEN., Than. Rod. 566 τέτοιας γλυκιᾶς αἰτίας FALIEROS, Ist. On. 2 τέτοιας λογῆς ἀνθρώπων (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 287.11) τέτοιας λοῆς (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 148.53) τέτοιας λογῆς καλὰ VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 31.26–7 ἔπεσε εἰς τέτοιας λογῆς ἐλαττώματα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 45.5 τετοιανῆς λογῆς (1697, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 51, 235.33) τετοιανῆς λογῆς πιστό KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.36

ἔτοιαις λογιῇς P&N Diath. 2925

ἔτοιαις λογιῇς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 6, 7.6) ἔτοιαις λογιῇς ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 66 ἔτοιαις κορασῶς FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.369

Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
τέτοια(ν)	τίτοια(ν)	ἔτοια(ν) † τιτοῖαν † ἐτέτοϊαν πῶς τίτιαν ἀνυπόφορον ὁδύνην νὰ βαστάξω; Eisit. f.8v.1–2 τίτοϊαν ὡς τὴν λέγω Log. parig. L 132 τίτοϊαν ποθοανάμνησιν Liv. V 126 τίτοϊαν ὥραν Assizes A 52.1

νὰ ποίση τίτοια κρίση LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 98 τίτοϊαν παραβουλίαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 62.1

τίτοϊαν οὐδὲν εἶδαν Diig. Alex. F 176.1 (Lolos) τιτοῖαν μωρίαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 294.3

τέτοϊαν στράταν Log. parig. L 238; εἶχεν σφραγίδα τέτοϊαν ibid. 707 φιλίαν ... τέτοϊαν οἶαν Pol. Tr. 4266

εἰς τέτοϊαν τάξιν Theseid VI.26,5 (Olsen) τέτοϊαν ἄν ἔχης DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1649

σὲ τέτοϊαν ἐπαρχίαν MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 95 τέτοϊαν καλοσύνη (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.7) μηδὲ ἔχω τέτοια διάκριση (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.35) τέτοϊαν ὥραν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 848 τέτοϊαν χάρη MONTSEL., Evgena 858, τέτοϊαν ὑπηρεσίαν Vios Aisop. D 215.25

εἰσὲ τέτοια παϊνεμένη προσκύνησην (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 475, 699.1) ἔχοντας τέτοϊαν ἐποψίαν (1691, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 95, 296.18) εἰς ἀξίαν ἐτέτοϊαν Chron. Mor. H 6063 ἔτοϊαν ἀσωτίαν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1771 μὲ ἔτοϊαν κοντισιόν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 375, 369.14)

σ' ἔτοια τιμή Apoll. Rim. A 1325 σ' ἔτοια σκληρότατη καρδιά CHORTATSI, Erof. IV.432 ὁδὶά ἔτοϊαν ὑπόθεσιν (1634, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 5, 270.26)

ἔτοια μπιστοσύνη Zinon IV.31

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
τέτοιο(ν)	τίτοιον	ἔτοιο(ν) † τιτοῖον τὸ τίτιον μήνυμαν Eisit. f.7v.1

τίτοιον ἀπ' τὴν γλυκύτητα Log. parig. L εἰς κάλλον τίτοιον Liv. P 2577 transcr. (Lendari)

- τίτοιον οἶον ἡθέλαν Chron. Toc. 2697 τίτοιον πολλά παράξενον Velth. 326 μέτωπον ἄσπερο τίτοιον ὡς τοῦ χιονίου κομμάτων Liv. S 1281 τίτοιον κακὸν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 22.39 να γίνει τίτοιον κακὸν VOUSTR., Chron. A 34.2 τίτοιον φυσικὸν Fior 75.12 να ποίσω τίτοιον πράμαν και τιτοίαν παραβουλίαν VOUSTR., Chron. M 61.18 να γινεῖ τιτοίον κακὸν VOUSTR., Chron. M 35.2 τέτοιον πρᾶγμα Pol. Tr. 369 app. crit. (BEV) τέτιον πρᾶγμα Anon. Naupl. 52 τέτοιο λίγο χάρισμα CHORTATIS, Erof. Dedic. 37 τέτοιο κορμὶ ἀκριμάτιστο Thysia Avr. 342 εἰς τέτοιον φταίσμιον (1675, Corfu, KARADOCHOS 1990: 43, 256.47) ὄντας ψεῦδος τέτοιον πράμα (1689, Corfu, KARADOCHOS 1990: 84, 288.35–36) καὶ ποτὲ νὰ μὴν ἔγινε τέτοιο ἔργον (1690, Naxos, TOURTOGLOU 1985/1990: 1, 251.13) καὶ τέτοιο παλληκάρι KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1940 ἔτοιον θέλημα Assizes A 197.7
 δὲν τοῦ ἐζήτηξεν ἔτοιον πράγμα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 316, 307.69) ἔτοιον ψῶμα (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 83.10) ἔτοιο βουβάλι FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.173 εἰς ἔτοιο πράμα (1665, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 12, 420.10) κ' ἔτοιο μαντάτο ξαφνικὸ KORNAROS, Erot. III.1062

Genitive

General
τέτοιου

- τέτοιου κορμιοῦ CHORTATIS, Erof. V.120 τέτοιου γένους ποίημα SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. a2v.8

Plural

Masculine

Nominative

General	Restricted	Rare
τέττοιοι	τίττοιοι	ἐτέτ(οι)οι

- τίττοιοι ἐσκοτώθησαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 314.20 τοῦτοι οἱ τίττοιοι ἀμουρούζηδες Fior 81.32 ἐνὶ καὶ τέττοιοι ἀπὸ ἐκεινούς Arm. 64 τέττοιοι στρατιῶται Pol. Tr. 1590 τέττοιοι καὶ πάλε ἀλλέως Theseid VI.26,6 (Olsen) τέττοιοι μαστόροι ἦσαν Diig. Alex. F 108.2 (Konstantinopulos) ἐτέτο μεγάλοι ἀνθρώποι Chron. Mor. H 279 app. crit. (H)

Genitive

General
τέτοιων

τέτοιων μεγάλων ἀνθρώπων Chron. Mor. H 1003 τέτοιων πλουσίων γονέων VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 73.16

ἀμμ' ἐπειδὴ καὶ εἶμαι γυμνὴ κάλλους τέτοιων φωστήρων BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 77

Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
τέτοιους	τίτοιους	ἔτοιους ἢ ἐτέτοιους τίτοιους λόγους Liv. V 3493 καὶ τίτοιους ἐκρεμίσαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 322.9

εἰς τίτοιους λᾶς Fior 136.28

πόσους τέτοιους ὥσαν ἐσὲν Chron. Mor. H 3763 τέτοιους συντρόφους Pol. Tr. 793; τέτοιους χιλίους ἐρρίψασι ibid. 6018 (BCV) εἰς τέτοιους φρονίμους Chron. Toc. 1371 τέτοιους ζητᾶ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioan. 4.23 τέτοιους βαρετοὺς συλλογισμοὺς Kaloandros 405.42

εἰς τέτοιους ἀνευλαβεῖς καὶ διεστραμμένους GAVRILOP., Diig. panouklas 94.9

ἐτέτοιους τρόπους κι ἀφορμές Chron. Mor. H 7345 ἔτοιους κόπους (1635, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 66, 176.1) ἔτοιους γονέους KORNAROS, Erot. IV.318

Feminine

Nominative

General
τέτοιες

τέτοιες χιλιάδες εἴκοσι τὸν διώχνουν ἐξοπίσω Pol. Tr. 5242 διὰτ' ὅσαν τέτοιες φοβερές Theseid I.57,7 (Follieri) καὶ στοὺς δικοὺς μας χρόνους ἢ βρίσκονται τέτοιες γριές Diig. Vefa 478

Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
τέτοιες	τίτοιες ἢ τέτοιαις	ἔτοιες ἢ τίτοιαις μὲ τὰς ποθομέριμνας τὰς τίτοιαις Liv. α 1669 τὰς τίτοιαις μυριοχάριτας Liv. V 324 τίτοιες δουλειές (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.8) τίτοιες ἀντροπὲς νὰ ζηγᾶται MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 222.2

τίτοιες τές δὲν θέλουν νὰ δοῦν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 200 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: τίτοιαις δὲν θέλουν νὰ ἰδοῦν) νὰ γράψω τίτοιες λέξεις Alosis 572

μὲ τίτοιες ἔννοιες Cypr. Canz. 108.32

εἰς τέτοιες συμφωνίες Chron. Mor. H 2779 εἰς τέτοιες πραγματεῖες ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 240

οὐ θέλομεν τέτοιες μυθολογίες Fyll. gadar. 259 εἰς τέτοιες μεγάλες ὑπόθεσες (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: 8, 306.8) ἀπὸ τέτοιες ἀμαρτίες (1689, Corfu, ΚΑΡΑΔΟΧΟΣ 1990: 81, 286.10) τέτοιας συμφορὰς Liv. E 184 τέτοιας χάριτας Liv. α 214 διὰ τέτοιας ὑποθέσεις Pol. Tr. 4987 εἰς ἔτοιες γυνῶμες MOREZINOS, Klini 30.13

εἰς ἔτοιες χρεῖες Thysia Avr. 610

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
τέτοια	τίτοια	ἔτοια ἰ ἔτοῖα ἰ ἐτέτοια ἐζήτουν τὰ τίτοια τὸ κατὰ δύνανμίν μου ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 19 566.14–15 app. crit. (S) τίτοια λόγια ἠῤῥηκεν Log. parig. L 642; τὰ τίτοια νὰ τὸν λέγη ibid. 457 τίτοια τὴν ἐσύντυχεν Liv. V 1370; καὶ τίτοια μὲ ἠλέγασιν ibid. 3065 καὶ τίτοια τὴν λέγει Liv. S 2955

εἰς τίτοιον φόρον τίτοια πρέπει (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1137–8) τίτοια λόγια LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 87

εἰς τίτοια ἀρωτήματα Fior 136.29

τίτοια λόγια νὰ μιλήση Cypr. Canz. 116.45 καὶ τέτοια λόγια μὲ λαλεῖ Dig. E 1103 ἀκούσας τέτοια λόγια Byz. Il. 273 τέτοια μικρὰ ἀνθρωπάρια DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2700 τέτοια λόγια (1652, Milos, SYMEONIDIS 1989: 2, 118.7) ἐτέτοια τὸν ἐλάλει Chron. Mor. H 273 μ' ἔτοῖα μαντάτα FALIEROS, Ist. On. 375 app. crit. (N)⁶⁴ εἰς ἔτοια πράγματα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 47, 47.9)

The Spurious Variant τεῦτος

Standard reference works on the language of MedG documents from S. Italy cite a small number of forms as belonging to a variant of the qualitative demonstrative τέτοιος or τοιοῦτος, which in the modern dialect of S. Italy takes the form τεῦτος/τεύτοιος (GUILLOU 1963: 159; CARACAUSI, Lex., s.v. τεῦτος; ΜΙΝΑΣ ²2003: 100; TZITZILIS 2004: 471). The forms in question are εἰς τέπτιν στοίχημα (1129, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 105, 137.27); τοὺς παρ(όντας) μάρ(τυρας) τευτάδ(ου)ς (1264, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 21, 163.9); ἡ ⁶⁴ The accentuation is probably due to the metrical irregularity of the line, as transmitted in ms N of the poem.

παρ(όντες) μά(ρτυρες) τευτὲ ibid. 163.13. Unfortunately, the relevant evidence is spurious, as two out of the three cited instances are in fact non-existent: they are merely erroneous readings by A. Guillou, for the forms πράμμάτευτάδες (= πραγματευτάδες) and πράμμάτευτὲ (= πραγματευταί). KAMBYLIS (1967) had already pointed out the error, but his article escaped the attention of more recent scholarship. This leaves only the single attestation from Trinchera (which is in any case syntactically problematic) as evidence of a form τεῦτος in the MedG of S. Italy; as a result, it cannot be considered sufficient without verification or further corroboration.

The form τεῦτος is also recorded by Michael Choniates in a comment on the dialect of Athens in the late 12th c.: καὶ τοῦ ὑποκορύζειν δενδρύφια, προβατύλλια, παιδύλλια καὶ τὰ γε λοιπά, ὅτεῦτος καὶ ἀτοῦνος καὶ τὰ τούτοις σύστοιχα (Epist. 28. 21–2, ed. Kolovou; see also MINAS 2003: 100 and n. 6). Choniates's testimony finds no support in the Athenian dialect of the modern era in the case of τεῦτος, unlike ἀτοῦνος/τοῦνος (for which see 5.5.1.11).

5.5.2.4 τοιόσδε

The pronoun τοιόσδε, τοιάδε, τοιόνδε is a learned survival from AG. It appears in higher-register texts, especially legal documents from Athos; in vernacular texts its presence is rare, predominantly in the accusative case, with the meaning “the following”. It inflects internally (before the suffix -δε) following the pattern of adjectives in -ος. In vernacular texts the final /n/ of the masc. and fem. acc. sg. is often deleted.

λόγον εἶπε τοιόνδε Dig. G IV.315 τοιούσδε λέγουσιν αὐτῇ λόγους παραμυθίας Dig. T 410 μέ τοιόδε τρόπον (1566, Corfu, ZARIDI/MICHAELAS 2008/13: 13, 131.4) ἀπόκρισιν τοιάδε Chron. Mor. P 5514 τοιάδ' ἐτοιμασίαν AXAGIOLIS, Diig. Karolou 531 κύριος καὶ ἀγοραστής τοῦ τοιοῦδε ἀμπελίου (1400, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 10, 194.27) εἶπον εἰς νοῦν τοιάδε Ptoch. I 157

ἄλλα τινὰ τοιάδε Ptoch. II 60 φθεγγόμενοι μετὰ θυμοῦ τοιάδε Ptoch. IV 263 τοιάδε τὸν διατάσσει Pol. Tr. 600 ἔφασκον δὲ τοιάδε Velth. 383 τοιάδε τοῦ μηνούσιν Chron. Mor. P 5986 λέγει τοιάδε πρὸς αὐτὸν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 50; γράφοντα καὶ τοιάδε ibid. 775

5.5.3 Quantitative Demonstratives

5.5.3.1 Introduction and Historical Overview

The main quantitative demonstrative in MedG and EMG is τόσος, which appears in texts of all registers and areas; its morphology and inflection remain stable throughout the period examined. The other quantitative demonstratives, τοσοῦτος and τηλικούτος, are archaic survivals with limited distribution. Both have developed innovative analogical forms.

5.5.3.2 τόσος

The MedG pronoun and determiner τόσος, τόση, τόσον is a direct continuation of AG τόσος. It is used throughout the period as the main quantitative demonstrative and retains this role in MG. It inflects as a regular adjective in -ος (see 3.2.1).⁶⁵ No extended forms have been located in the texts examined.

Prothesis of /e/ occurs sporadically with the pronoun τόσος; it is more frequent in Cretan texts.⁶⁶ The phenomenon can be interpreted as an analogy from other demonstrative pronouns with initial /e/, such as ἐκεῖνος, ἐτοῦτος, or as a result of the more general phenomenon of morphophonetic prothesis due to re-segmentation at word boundaries (see I, 2.6.1.3). A fuller picture of the distribution of prothetic /e/ can be acquired if the adverbial ἐτόσο(ν), ἐτόσα is also considered. The dating of the phenomenon is uncertain; the earliest (ca. 1300) appearance of the prothetic form seems to come from Cyprus, but it involves a stressed /e/ (in contrast to all subsequent attestations) and does not occur in other Cypriot texts. If, instead, it is connected with the exclusively Cypriot forms ὀτοσος/ὀτόσος, the earliest attestations of /e/ prothesis come from the Chronicle of Morea (compare also ἐτέτοιος, 5.5.2.3).

Prothetic /o/ seems to be an exclusively Cypriot feature; it has been interpreted as an analogy from other pronouns with initial o- (MENARDOS 1969: 63; KOUNDOURIS 2009: 82), such as ὄγιος, and compared to other pronominal forms with prothetic /o/ such as ὀδεῖνα, ὀκάπιοις (see 5.8.13, 5.8.15). The form appears more frequently as proparoxytone, rather than paroxytone (in some cases the manuscripts offer unaccented readings).

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	τόσος	τόση ἢ ὀτόση	τόσο(ν) ἢ ἐτόσο(ν) ἢ ὀτόσον
Gen.	τόσου	τόσης	τόσου
Acc.	τόσο(ν)	τόση(ν) ἢ ἐτόση	τόσο(ν) ἢ ἐτόσο(ν) ἢ ὀτόσον
Plural
Nom.	τόσοι	τόσαι ἢ τόσες	τόσα ἢ ὀτόσα
Gen.	τόσων	τόσων	τόσων
Acc.	τόσους	τόσας ἢ τόσες ἢ ἔτοσας ἢ ἐτόσες ἢ ὀτόσες	τόσα ἢ ὀτόσα

⁶⁵ For the S. Italian forms with geminate /s/ see I, 3.4.2.

⁶⁶ Cf. the modern Cretan ἐτόσος (XANTHOUDIDIS 1915, Glossary, s.v. ἐτόσα; XANTHAKIS 2009 s.v. ἐτόσος).

Singular*Masculine*

Nominative

οὐκ ἦτον τόσος ὁ λαός Chron. Mor. H 407 τόσος λαός ὀλίγος Pol. Tr. 1792; ἐσκοτώθηκε τόσος λαός μεγάλος ibid. 9366 ὁ τόσος πόνος τὸν πονεῖς Liv. S 2149 γιὰ νὰ μηδὲν περνᾷ ὁ καιρὸς ὁ τόσος μ' εὐκαιρία! FALIEROS, Ist. On. 374 ἔλαχε χειμῶνας τόσος ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 43.5

Genitive

εἰς τόσου πόνου πέλαγος Liv. V 1837 μετὰ τόσου στεναγμοῦ καὶ μετὰ τόσου θρήνου [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 724 μετὰ κινδύνου τόσου Deft. Par. 75

Accusative

εἰς τόσον κίντυνον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 194.4 τόσον φόβον τῆς εβάλαν εἰς τὴν καρδιάν της VOUSTR., Chron. B 33.15 τὸν τόσον κορνιακτὸν Alex. Rim. 876 τοῦ δίδῃ τόσον τόπον (1591, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 36, 181.10) μὲ τόσο φόβο CHORTATIS, Erof. IV.1 τόσον καιρὸν (1602, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 8, 163.30) ἔχασα τόσον κόπον, τόσες νηστεῖες PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §3.14 τόσον καιρὸν (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 138.26–7)

Feminine

Nominative

καὶ τόση ἐστὶν ἡ τιμὴ τοῦ μεταξιοῦ (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 29, 30.3) ἡ τόση κατεφρόνες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 376.10 στὴ Βενετία δὲν εἶναι τόση μποντάντζια στὸ στάρι MATESIS, Chron. 82.4
 ἡ χάρη του εἶναι τόση KORNAROS, Erot. V.1423 ὅτοσ' εἶν' κ' ἡ πεθυμιά μου Cypr. Canz. 27.13

Genitive

ἀπὸ τῆς τόσης ταραχῆς Chron. Mor. H 933 μετὰ τῆς ὥρας τόσης Pol. Tr. 10720 ἀπὸ τῆς χαρᾶς τῆς τόσης Achil. O 106 τῆς δούλης σου τῆς τόσης CHORTATIS, Katz. II.171 τῇ τόσῃ δούλεψής μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. Dedic. 32

Accusative

εἰς τόσῃν ἀμαρτία VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 192 ἡβλέποντες οἱ Ναυπακτίτες τόσῃν ἀρμάτα (1523–36, Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 36.II, 29.6) τόσῃν ζημίαν καὶ κακὸν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 646 τόση σταφίδα (1584, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1976: 150.92) τόση πέτρα (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 182, 150.24) νὰ 'χει τόσῃν χάρη Thrinops patr. O 10 (Luciani) εἰς τόσῃν στίμα (1631, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 591, 565.11) νὰ πάρουν τόση γῆς (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 11, 36.27) μὲ τόσῃν ἀγνωσιὰ TROILOS, Rodol. Prol. Mell. 38 κόψε τόσῃν φλούδα, ὅση εἶναι ἡ ἡμερὴ ὅπου θέλεις νὰ βάλῃς LANDOS, Geopon. 149.31

σὲ λησμονιὰ ἐτόση P&N Diath. 785 χαρὰν ἐτόση Stathis II.322 ἀντιμοιβὴν ἐτόση FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. IV 104 μὲ προπετεῖαν ἐτόση KATSAITIS, Thyestis. Dedic. 21; μ' ἀποκοτιὰν ἐτόση ibid. Dedic. 31

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

ὡς εἶδεν τόσον πλήθος Dig. E 1035 θωρώντα τόσον κλάμα VOUSTR., Chron. B 149.4 ἐκ τὸ κακὸν τὸ τόσο Velis. [ρ] 750 ἄλλον τόσον τυρί, ὅσον φανῇ καὶ κάμω (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 749, 580.11) τόσον αἶμα τρέχει KORNAPOS, Erot. II.1493 τόσον πλήθος ἀσπρῶν ἔχω Theophr. Char. 132.7
 τόσου πράμα καὶ κάν τὸ μισὸ νὰ μὴν ἔρτη (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 67.20) (for the mid-vowel raising see I, 2.5.4) ἐτόσο κρῖμα κι ἐντροπὴ P&N Diath. 1919 θε νὰ δώσει βάσανο ἐτόσο CHORTATIS, Panor. V.216 σφάλμα ἐτόσο Stathis II.298 τῷκαμε ἐτόσο μεγάλο ἀφρόντε EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 59.22 ἂν ἦτον ὅτσον πρᾶγμα Assizes B 358.20–1 (οτοσον ms) καὶ ὅτσον ἀσήμιν ἔχουν τὰ καρτζὰ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 76.17; ἡῦραν ὅτσον λογάριν ibid. 434.34 (ὄτοσον ms)

Adverbial use

μιάς ἡμεροῦ τὸ διάστημα, ἐτόσον τοὺς ἀπεῖχαν Chron. Mor. H 3671 μ' ἔβλαψεν ἐτόσο CHORTATIS, Erof. Interm. III.23 ἐτόσο πλιὰ τὰ λογικὰ μοῦ βάνεις ἄνω κάτω Thysia Avr. 150 κεράν ἐτόσα μπιστεμένη KORNAPOS, Erot. V.508 ἐκεῖ δὲν ἀνέβη ἐτόσον ὕψηλὰ ἢ θάλασσα Diig. Sant. 57.31 το θέλημάν του εἶναι ὅτοσα πολλὰ κακὸν VOUSTR., Chron. A 22.15 ἀντάν ἔρτη εἰς ὅτοσον Fior 92.20

Genitive

τοῦ τόσου κακοῦ RODINOS, Vios Ign. 54.2
 τὴν πλημύραν τοῦ τόσου νεροῦ IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 332.30

Plural

Masculine

Nominative

τόσοι γὰρ ἐσκοτώθησαν, ἠθέλαν οὐκ ἠθέλαν Pol. Tr. 6836 τόσοι πρᾶματευτάδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 182.30 τόσοι εἶναι οἱ κολασμοὶ τοῦ κόσμου Fior, Suppl. 270.13 ἐγὼ δὲν ἤθελα λοιπὸν τόσοι νὰ σκοτωθοῦσι Alex. Rim. 1415 νὰ φαῖνε τόσοι ἄνθρωποι KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 360.27 τόσοι βασιλιοὶ CHORTATIS, Erof. I.534

Genitive

τῶν τόσων ἡγουμένων (1288, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 228.27) τόσων καλῶν ἀνθρώπων Pol. Tr. 5631 ἡ τοσαύτη ταραχὴ τῶν τόσων τῶν ἀνθρώπων Liv. α 862 (= P 522) τῶν πόνων μου τῶν τόσων Liv. V 52 τῶν τόσων βασιλέων Theseid VI.68,6 (Olsen) τόσων ρηγάδων Diig. Alex. Sem. B 588 γιατί τὸ αἷμα σὰ χυθεῖ τόσῳ σκληρῶν ἀνθρώπῳ Zinon Prol. 21 τόσων ἀθλιῶν χριστιανῶν MINIATIS, Didachai 477.14

Accusative

τοὺς τόσους χρόνους Poulol. 146 ἐκείνους καὶ ἄλλους τόσους Chron. Toc. 3259 τοὺς τόσους δρόμους Spanos A 78 καὶ εἶχεν τόσους μέσα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 586.25 ἄλλους τόσους μουνούχους (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 1999: 219, 218.9) τόσους ἀνθρώπους Vios Aisop. I 266.19 λείποντας τόσους χρόνους (1643, Naxos, KORRES 1931: 4, 275.18)
 Ὀβραίου 300 καὶ Μόρους ἄλλους τόσους MATESIS, Chron. 75.35

Feminine

Nominative

αἱ τόσαι βασιλεῖαι Pol. Tr. 7954 ἐπαρέδραμαν ... ἡμέραι τόσαι Liv. S 55 οἱ πρόβλεψες οἱ τόσες Theseid I.121,5 (Follieri) οἱ τόσες πλοῦσες καὶ μπορεζάμενες χώρες CHORTATSIS, Erof. Prol. 23

Genitive

τὴν συμπλήρωσιν τῶν ἡμερῶν τῶν τόσων Liv. α 2869 τῶν ἁμαρτιῶν τῶν τόσων SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 29 μετὰ χαρίτων τόσων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1880

Accusative

εἰς τὰς τόσας (1291, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 13, 639.4) εἰς τόσας ἡμέρας (15th c., Unknown, SEARBY 2003: 2, 692.6) τόσας γαλιότας Velis. N² 268 τόσας λύπας ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 102.4 ὀγκίας τόσες (1291, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 13, 640.2) τόσες χιλιάδες ἔλμα Pol. Tr. 3905 τόσες ὀργυιᾶς ἔκαμνε ὁ ποντικός (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 89, 76.24–5) τόσες ευεργεσίαις Theseid VI.7,5 (Olsen) σ' τόσες βαρὺς ἀντάρεις TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 176 εἰς τόσες ταῦλες ταλπεδένιες (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 92, 92.5) εἰς τὰς τόσες τοῦ μηνὸς Apok. Theot. 495.20 ἄλλες τόσες πέτρες (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.39) τόσες πεντίτζες ἔστησεν Thrinios Konst. (Zoras) 83 εἰς τόσες χιλιάδες λαὸν ΓΑΒΡΙΗΛΟΠ., Diig. panouklas 97.16 τόσις λοτρίνις καὶ τόσα μαχοῦτια (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 57.24) εἰς τὰς ἔτοσας (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 15.39) (5 identical attestations in the text) ἄμαν ἔτοσες χάριτες σὲ χάρισεν ἡ τυχὴ σου Achil. L 1030 ἡῦραν ὁτόσες ψυχὰς καὶ τόσον λογάριν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 670.32 (ὁτοσας ms) τίς εἶχεν χάρες ὁτοσες Cypr. Canz. 114.13 (οτοσε ms)

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

εἰς τόσα κάστρη καὶ νησιά Chron. Mor. H 8039 ἦσαν τόσα πεζικά Chron. Toc. 2508

τόσα χαρίσματα έδιδαν Theseid VI.7,5 (Olsen) δέν έσωναν τὰ τόσα πού σ' έποϊκαν FALIEROS, Thrinós 279 μέ τόσα πλήθη ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 623 διὰ τόσα όπού έκαμεν καλά (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 37, 29.20) έπαρε τόσα νεράντζα γλυκά LANDOS, Geopon. 167.17 νὰ τοῦ δώση τόσα κάρβουνα (1666, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005b: 4, 93.5) έβαστοῦσαν τόσα πράματα (1699, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 13, 29.7) νὰ ζητήσουν άπέ τόν ρήγαν κάθα καιρόν ότόσα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 546.10 (ότοσα ms) ότόσα κάλλη είδεν; Cypr. Canz. 71.7 (οτοσον ms)

Genitive

περπυράτων τόσων (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 71.V 120)

Τόσος is mostly used as a determiner but can also function as pronoun (especially in the plural),⁶⁷ e.g. τόσοι μ' έκαταπέσασι πιττάκια νὰ μέ δώσουν BERGADIS, Apok. A 481; δέν έσωναν τὰ τόσα πού σ' έποϊκαν FALIEROS, Thrinós 279; κι όσοι άπ' αὐτό χαθούσινε, τόσοι άπό μέ γεννοῦνται Stathis Prol. 19.

It is optionally preceded by the definite article, e.g. τήν τόσην ζέση Theseid Prol. P 60; νὰ σοῦ τὰ πλερώση τὰ τόσα καλά (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 146.21), including determiner spreading constructions, e.g. τόν δαρμόν τόν τόσον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2129; τῆς πίκρας μου τῆς τόσης Rim. kor. A 61. The neut. acc. sg. and pl. may also function adverbially with the meaning “so”, “so much”, continuing ancient usage, e.g. καί τόσον τόν έπλάνεσεν ή έπαρσις Chron. Toc. 2211; καλέ, δεν είσαι τόσα γρε Panor. III.297. Τόσος may also modify an adjective, e.g. καί τόσος ήτον φιλόξενος ότι τὸ τραπέζιν του δέν τὸ έσήκωνεν άπό μία έβδομάδα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §30.61 (see also MENARDOS 1969: 63).

5.5.3.3 τοσοῦτος

The pronoun τοσοῦτος is a direct continuation of AG τοσοῦτος and constitutes a rather rare and learned feature in MedG and EMG texts. It shares the inflectional endings of a regular adjective in -ος (see 3.2.1), but its stem form presents two allomorphs: τοσοῦτ- and τοσαῦτ-, in accordance with the inflection of οὔτος, αὐτή, τοῦτο (see 5.5.1.11), of which it is a compound form. There is a tendency for analogical levelling of the stem in favour of either allomorph.

Forms of the pronoun τοσοῦτος with prothetic /e/ or /o/ appear only in early Cypriot texts and more specifically in the Assizes and in the Chronicle of Machairas (in the latter only in adverbial function). For this phenomenon, see τόσος above (5.5.3.2). In the Assizes (both recensions) the pronoun τοσοῦτος has acquired a number of analogical variants based on the allomorph τοσαῦτ-, namely έτεσαῦτος, ότεσαῦτος, alongside ότοσαῦτος and έτοσαῦτος. The confusion is probably due to the co-existence of the /e/ and /o/ prothesis in the language, and to progressive assimilation.

⁶⁷ In the neut. sg. the pronominal use verges on the adverbial, e.g. εις τόσο αὐτοί έπεζεύσασιν εις τὸ Σιναιὸν ὄρι CHOUNNOS, Kosmog. 2641; τόσον ήξευραν να ποίσουν, και καταστήνου έναν βαχλίωτην VOUSTR., Chron. A 28.3; γιά τόσο δέν τὰ πιάνει KORNAROS, Erot. V.373.

Furthermore, the Assizes also contain variant forms based on a stem ποσαυτ-, with the same (demonstrative) meaning as τοσαῦτος, namely ἐπεσαῦτος, ἐποσαῦτος and even ὀπεσαῦτος, πεσαῦτος, probably due to conflation with ὁποῖος, ὁπόσος, triggered by the prothetic /o/.⁶⁸ (These Cypriot forms are excluded from the synoptic table.)

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	τοσοῦτος	τοσαύτη ἢ τοσοῦτη	τοσοῦτο(ν)
Gen.	τοσοῦτου	τοσαύτης ἢ (τοσοῦτης)	τοσοῦτου
Acc.	τοσοῦτον	τοσαύτην ἢ τοσοῦτην	τοσοῦτον(ν)
Plural
Nom.	τοσοῦτοι	(τοσαῦται) ἢ τοσαῦτες	τοσαῦτα ἢ τοσοῦτα
Gen.	τοσοῦτων ἢ τοσαύτων	(τοσοῦτων)	τοσοῦτων
Acc.	τοσοῦτους	τοσαύτας ἢ τοσοῦτας ἢ τοσαῦτες	τοσαῦτα ἢ τοσοῦτα

Singular

Masculine

Nominative

εἰς τὴν ἀνδρείαν τοσοῦτος Liv. α 112; καὶ σύ, ὁ τοσοῦτος ἄνθρωπος, ὁ ἐξαίρετος καὶ νέος ibid. 254 ἐτελεῦτησεν ὁ τοσοῦτος καὶ τηλικοῦτος Ekth. Chron. 68.31

Genitive

ἐντὸς καιροῦ τοσοῦτου Pol. Tr. 12546 ἐξ ἔτασμοῦ τοσοῦτου [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 609 τοσοῦτου χαλασμοῦ Bertoldin. 112.28

Accusative

πικρασμὸν τοσοῦτον νὰ ὑπομείνω Eisit. f.8r.19–20 τὸν τοσοῦτον τὸν βουνὸν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1267 τὸν τοσοῦτον καιρὸν CHEILAS, Chron. 353.14

νὰ ἀφήση ἐτεσαῦτον καρπὸν Assizes B 327.18; νὰ ἔχη ἐτεσαῦτον νοῦν ibid. 344.12

Fem

Nominative

ἡ ὄργη τοσαύτη Diig. sevast. Thom. 203

τίς ἡ τοσαύτη θορυβή Liv. α 862 app. crit. (P) ἡ τοσαύτη πλάνη Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 244 ἡ τοσοῦτη εὐτυχία Ekth. Chron. 39.4; νόσος λοιμικὴ τοσοῦτη ibid. 81.4

⁶⁸ KRIARAS, Lex. lists these forms under an unattested lemma ?ποσαῦτος.

Genitive

εἰς πέλαγος γλυκύτητος τοσαύτης Liv. α 3526 τοσαύτης μεγάλης οικοδομῆς Ist. Enet. 418.31

Accusative

ἀσχόλησιν τοσαύτην Spaneas V 101 τὴν ἀφήγησιν τὴν τίτοιαν καὶ τοσαύτην Liv. α 3587 μή με τοσαύτην κατιδεῖν παραχωρήσης θλίψιν Dig. E 1858 τοσαύτην κάκωσιν Liv. V 3170 τοσαύτην τόλμην Byz. Il. 249 τὴν τοσαύτην βίαν [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 2281 τοιαύτην καὶ τοσαύτην ὑπομονὴν Spanos D 640 τὴν ἀρετὴν τοσαύτην Synax. gadar. 136 μὲ τὴν τοσαύτην πληροφορίαν CHEILAS, Chron. 353.9 τοσαύτην μελωδίαν LANDOS, Amart. sot. 333.21 ἐπῆσαν τοσαύτην τὴν νοβέλλαν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2287 ἔχει τοσοῦτην δύναμιν Log. parig. L 35 τοσοῦτην ἀδιάκρισιν Chron. Mor. H 949 χαρὰν τοσοῦτην Pol. Tr. 13892 ἀπ' ἀφεντίας τοσοῦτην BERGADIS, Apok. A 314 ἐτεσαύτην ἀναθεώρησιν Assizes B 447.22 ἂν θέλουν ἔχουν ὅτεσαύτην ἐξουσίαν Assizes A 29.10 ἐπεσαύτην ἀνομίαν Assizes A 86.18; ἐπεσαύτην ζημίαν ibid. 127.18 ὀπεσαύτην σκαμωνίαν Assizes B 436.2

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

τοσοῦτον κράτος ἔχων Diig. sebast. Thom. 136 τοσοῦτον πλοῦτος Achil. N 323; καὶ θράσος τὸ τοσοῦτον ibid. 384 διὰ τοσοῦτον κάλλος Byz. Il. 924 τὸ τοσοῦτον πλοῦτος [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 141 τοσοῦτον πλοῦτος PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 43 νὰ σᾶς εἰπῶ τὸ τέτοιον καὶ τοσοῦτον BERGADIS, Apok. A 166 εἰς τοσοῦτον ἀκροατήριον Vios Aisop. K 164.24 εἰς τὸ τοσοῦτο δίκαιο SOU MAKIS, Rebelio 41.31 εἰς τοσοῦτον στράτευμα MAKOLAS, Ioust. 424.22 τὸ ἐπῆρεν ἐτοσαῦτον Assizes A 83.21 ἐὰν ᾗτον πρᾶμαν ἐτεσαῦτον Assizes B 299.3
 νὰ ἔχη ἐτεσαῦτον δίκαιον Assizes 173.18; μὲ ἐτεσαῦτον εἰς ὅσον μπορεῖ ibid. 173.19 νὰ ἔχη ἐπεσαῦτον δίκαιον Assizes A 173.18

Genitive

τοῦ ὕψους τοῦ τοσοῦτου Liv. E 115 τοῦ τοσοῦτου κάλλους, οὐπὲρ οἶδας Ptochol. α 706

Plural*Masculine*

Nominative

ὄσαι γενέσεις εἰσί, τοσοῦτοι βαθμοί (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.603) βασιλεῖς τοσοῦτοι Pol. Tr. 8828

Genitive

τοσοῦτων πολεμίων Dig. G VI.694 τοσοῦτων ἀνθρώπων KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 360.5 τοσοῦτων γενεραλαίων (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 168.20) μετὰ τοσαύτων λογισμῶν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1817

Accusative

τοσοῦτους χρόνους Log. parig. L 597 τοὺς τοσοῦτους πειρασμούς [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2105 τοσοῦτους χρόνους DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2304 ἔμπροσθεν ἑτεσαύτους μάρτυρας Assizes A 139.23 ἑπεσαύτους ἀνθρώπους Assizes B 268.23

Feminine

Nominative

ἡμέρες οἱ τοσαῦτες Liv P 1144 (transcr. Lendari)

Accusative

ὁδύνas τὰς τοσαύτας Spaneas Va 15 τοσαύτας χάριτας Achil. N 1433 τοιαύτας καὶ τοσαύτας Velth. 509 τὰς τοσαύτας χιλιάδας Ptochol. α 344 ἡμέρες τοσαῦτες, ὅσες τὰ ἔπραττε (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 26, 28.8) τοσαύτας βλέπων χάριτας [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 465 εἰς τὰς τοσοῦτας συμφορὰς Liv. α 4532 τὰς τοσοῦτας χιλιάδας Ptochol. α 344 app. crit. (N) ἑπεσαύταις φοραῖς Assizes B 415.6

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

ἐνὶ κρατούμενος νὰ δώση τοσαῦτα Assizes B 376.19 τοσαῦτα ἤξευρεν νὰ εἰπῇ Chron. Mor. H 997 καὶ κάλλη τὰ τοσαῦτα Diig. Alex. Sem. B 697 εἰς τοσοῦτα φουσσᾶτα Chron. Mor. H 3779 πιττάκια τοσοῦτα Liv. S 533 ἔλεγε τοσοῦτα λόγια Vios Aisop. E 292.8
 ἀποῦ ἑτοσαῦτα ὁποῦ ἔξαζεν τὸ ἀμάχιν Assizes A 61.6
 ἐὰν οὐδὲν πουληθῇ ὀτοσαῦτα ὀγιὸν ἐνὶ τὸ χρέος Assizes A 40.31; ἄργησες ὀτοσαῦτα νὰ μὲ πλερώσης ibid. 161.27 θεωρῶντα τὸν ρῆγαν ὀτοσαῦτα θυμωμένον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 264.7; καὶ ὀτοσαῦτα ἐποῖκαν ὅτι ἐψηλῶσαν τα ibid. V 358.14 νὰ πούληση ἔτεσαῦτα Assizes B 387.28; νὰ νομευτῇ ἔτεσαῦτα πράγματα ibid. 393.19; ἔτεσαῦτα ὅσα ἐκούστεψε ibid. 430.10 καὶ ἂν οὐδὲν ἔχη ἔτεσαῦτα Assizes A 33.5; νὰ πούληση ἐξ αὐτῶν τοὺς ἔτεσαῦτα ὥστε νὰ πληρωθῇ ibid. 65.13; διὰ ἔτεσαῦτα ὅσα τοῦ ἔδωκεν ibid. 39.9 ἄμμε ὅτεσαῦτα ὀρίζει τὸ δίκαιον Assizes B 426.5; θέλει νὰ τοῦ δώση ὅτεσαῦτα ibid. 287.26 ἐπουλήθη διὰ ἐπεσαῦτα Assizes B 289.28; νὰ τοῦ δώση ἐπεσαῦτα ibid. 313.25 νὰ τοῦ δώση ἐπεσαῦτα Assizes A 39.2; νὰ πάρουν ἐπεσαῦτα πράγματα ibid. 66.27 διὰ πεσαῦτα Assizes A 124.2

 ἔβαλεν ἐποσαῦτα πράγματα Assizes A 178.17

Genitive

τοσούτων γὰρ τῶν ἀγαθῶν Dig. G VII.216

5.5.3.4 τηλικούτος

The pronoun and determiner τηλικούτος, “so great”, appears only as a learned relic from AG, mainly in literary texts and high-register documents. It inflects as an O-stem adjective and has two stem allomorphs, τηλικούτ- and τηλικαύτ-:⁶⁹

ὁ τηλικούτος νέος Pol. Tr. 10115 app. crit. (AX) ὁ τηλικούτος κῆπος [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 286 ἐτελεύτησεν ὁ τοσοῦτος καὶ τηλικούτος Ekth. Chron. 68.32 κινδύνου τηλικούτου Pol. Tr. 13789 τοῦ τηλικούτου τόπου [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 96 τηλικούτον νέον Pol. Tr. 9671 (ACVX) τὸν τοιοῦτον καὶ τηλικούτον σὶρ Τζουὰν τε Μόρφου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 388.11 τοὺς τηλικούτους λίθους [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 380 τὴν τηλικαύτην τόλμαν Ptoch. IV 14 τὰς τηλικαύτας μου πληγὰς [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 701 εἰς τὰς τοσαύτας καὶ τοιαύτας καὶ τηλικαύτας ἀνάγκας ΚΑΝΑΝΟΣ, Diig. 67.35 τηλικούτον ὄρος [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 95 τοῦ τηλικούτου κάστρου [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 191

5.6 Intensive Pronouns

Intensive pronouns, or, more accurately, intensive pronominal phrases, add emphasis to a noun or pronoun; in the latter case the pronoun may be either explicit, or else the implicit subject of the verb (Eng. “myself”, “herself”, “themselves” etc.). Intensive pronouns must be distinguished from reflexive pronouns (see 5.11), which function as the direct or indirect object of a verb, or are governed by a preposition, and refer back to the subject of the verb.

⁶⁹ The presence of modern dialectal forms such as τελεκούτος, τελεκός (Cyclades), as well as the S. Italian teddeko (see ANDRIOTIS, Lex. Arch. s.vv. τηλίκος, τηλικούτος; ROHLFS 1977: 96) testifies to the survival of the AG pronoun τηλίκος, τηλικούτος in the spoken language during the medieval period, but there is no evidence for this in written sources.

In the period covered by this Grammar, the function of intensive pronouns is performed by various phrases: αὐτός μου or ἑαυτός μου etc., which normally occur only in the nominative case (see 5.6.1–2); ὁ ἴδιος, which is available in all cases (5.6.3); and μόνος/μοναχός μου (5.6.4), which behaves in a similar way to αὐτός μου.⁷⁰ See also the periphrases (τοῦ λόγου μου, αὐτόν μου, (ἐ)ξαυτόν μου etc., which can also function as intensive pronouns (5.3.3, 5.3.4).

The pronominal phrase αὐτός μου consists of a form derived from the AG pronoun and determiner αὐτός followed by the weak (clitic) genitive form of a personal pronoun (see 6.6.1). The AG personal and intensive pronoun αὐτός appears in papyri of the 1st c. AD onwards with <α> instead of <αυ>, probably indicating the loss of the second element of the original diphthong (GIGNAC 1976: 226–9).⁷¹

Residual uses of αὐτός as an intensive pronoun can be found in the period covered by this Grammar, e.g. ἡμεῖς αὐτοὶ οὐχ ἔξωμεν ἄδειαν (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 473.23) (“we ourselves”). A related use of αὐτός, preceded by the definite article, is to refer back to something or someone already mentioned: “the very same”, “the aforementioned”.⁷² This usage is particularly common in legal texts, but also more generally:

μακρινήσκονται τὰ αὐτὰ πράγματα Assizes A 46.17
 τοῦ αὐτοῦ δουκός (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 65–6.5) εἰς τὸν αὐτὸν τόπον λεγόμενον Τόγνην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 8.4
 μέσα εἰς τὸ αὐτὸν κάτεργον MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 350.19–20 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) ὁ ἐφημέριος τῆς αὐτῆς ἐκκλησίας (1531, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 22, 69.13) ὁ αὐτός δὲ πρωτοστράτωρ (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.6) ὁ αὐτός Μαμουῆς (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 175.23) ἀπὸ τῶν αὐτῶν ἀδελφῆδες (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 798, 696.24) τῶν αὐτῶν χωριῶν (1655, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 2, 188.8–9) ὁ αὐτός Ἀργυρός (1695, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 33, 81.7)

For the forms of αὐτός as a personal pronoun and demonstrative, see 5.5.1.

5.6.1 αὐτός μου

The word αὐτός is declined like adjectives in -ος (3.2.1) with feminine αὐτή, and with masculine and feminine plural forms. Since the intensive pronoun usually implies an act of will, it is used mainly of persons. Consequently, neuter forms (sg. αὐτό, pl. αὐτά) are quite rare. The second element of the pronominal phrase is a clitic possessive pronoun, which may be 1st, 2nd or 3rd person, singular or plural (see 5.4.1 for the forms). The forms of the 3 sg. pronoun (τοῦ, τῆς etc.) agree in gender with their referent. The pronominal phrase refers to the grammatical subject of the clause and therefore normally only occurs in the nominative.⁷³

⁷⁰ Another way of expressing the idea of “of one’s own accord”, “for oneself” is the phrase ἀπὸ δικοῦ followed by a clitic pronoun in the gen. These two examples are both from Cretan texts: ἔπρεπε, κυρά μου, ἀπὸ δικοῦ σου | νὰ μ’ ἐσπλαχνίστης FALIEROS, Ist. On. 611–12 (ms A; app. crit. δικὸς N, δικὰ V); ἀπὸ δικοῦ τοῦ ἄς κρίνη KORNAROS, Erot. III.1501.

⁷¹ CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: A 173) derives αὐτός from the reflexive pronoun ἑαυτόν. See also JANNARIS 1897: 155–7. The fact that αὐτός remains unchanged in MedG and MG when used as a personal pronoun or demonstrative (but note Pontic αὐτός) has not been satisfactorily explained.

⁷² For examples of αὐτός used in this way, see 5.5.1.3.

Instead of αὐτός, a form with αὐτός occurs in documents from S. Italy and Athos, and occasionally in later texts; it should probably be considered as an archaism or an attempt at a more elevated style:

αὐτός μου ἐπερίορισα (1122, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 16, 413.8); αὐτή μου (1182, ibid.

Coll. IX: 22, 424.6–7)

αὐτός μου ὑπάγω (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1321)

τὸ ὑπογράφουν καὶ αὐτοὶ τῶς (1713, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992a: 2, 75.17) αὐτὸ θέλεις το διακριθεὶ αὐτός σου Don Kis. 104.28–9 θρόνος νὰ ἦτον ἔκπαλαι λὲν οἱ Πέρσαι αὐτοὶ τοὺς VATATSI, Periig. I 505 ms L

The phrase αὐτός μου etc. occurs frequently in texts of all kinds from at least the 14th c. until the end of the period covered by this Grammar.⁷⁴ It has a wide geographical distribution; however, it seems to occur only rarely in texts from Cyprus and other south-eastern areas.

1st Person Singular

ἐγὼ αὐτός μου Chron. Mor. H 1878 ἐγὼ κρίνω αὐτός μου νὰ σφάξω τὸ κορμί μου Achil. L 66 αὐτός μου τὴν παρηγορίαν ἀπάνου μου νὰ βάνω Theseid Prol. P 46 ἂν δὲν ἴδῳ ἀτή μου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 331.5–6

ἐγὼ τὸ εἶδα αὐτός μου μὲ τὰ μάτια μου PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 107.7

ἐπήγα ἀτή μου (1596, Crete, VLACHAKI 1994: 297.7) καὶ θὰ ὑπογράψῃ καὶ αὐτός του (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 82, 111.24) κι αὐτός μου μὲ τὴ χέρα μου νὰ πάρω τὴ ζωὴ μου CHORTATSI, Erof. I.278

αὐτός μου, αὐτός μου ἔβγαλα τὰ μάτια τὰ δικά μου KONDAR., Paidēs 356 καθὼς αὐτός μου λέγω PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 133 αὐτός μου ὁ ἴδιος SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. A1v.6

ἠθέλησα αὐτός μου (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 69.6)

2nd Person Singular

κ' ἐβλέπεις το αὐτός σου Chron. Mor. H 4222

ἀτή σου SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 182 νὰ πᾶς αὐτός σου PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 347

μὲ τὰς χεῖρας σου αὐτός σου Ptochol. α 727 αὐτός σου FALIEROS, Log. did. 321

ἄμε εἰς τὸν χορὸν ἀτή σου Epain. gyn. 117 ἐσύ νὰ πᾶς αὐτός σου Alex. Rim. 1101 αὐτός σου (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 49.35) κάμε νὰ ἔλθῃς καὶ αὐτός σου μετ' ἐμᾶς Diath. Nikon Metan. 8

⁷³ For non-nominative forms of ἀπατός (μου) see the following section.

⁷⁴ One instance of a form ἐτός του has been found, in a document from Naxos: ὡσὰν νὰ ἦτον ἐτός του σωματικὰ (1635, Naxos, KORRES 1931: 3, 274.22). It can be compared with εὐτός instead of αὐτός, which is probably influenced by ἐκείνος (see 5.5.1.7).

3rd Person Singular

ἄτός του γίνεται ἱατρός Ptoch. IV 589 app. crit. (P) ἐσέβη ἄτός του εἰς τὸν γουλαῖν κ' ἐκατεστόχασέ το Chron. Mor. H 8223 ἄτός του μὲ τὸ χέριν του Chron. Toc. 1782 ἄτός του ἐξυπολύθη Rim. kor. A 149 ἄτός του ἐφουρκίστη VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 126 ἐλόγιασεν ἄτός του ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1196 εἰς τοὺς ὁποίους ἐφάνη ἄτός του SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 15.4–5 ἂν τὸ ὁμολογήσῃ ἄτός του ZYGOM., Synopsis 132.A.59 ὀμπλιγάρεται ἀτὴ της (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 83B, 113.4) ἄτός του ὁ ἱερεύς (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 60.39) καθὼς τὸ σημειώνει καὶ ἄτός του MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 314.12 μόνον ἂ θέλῃ ἀτὴ της MONTSEL., Evgena 639 (τοῦτο τὸ παιδί ...) ἀτό του ἀνοίγωντας τὴν θύραν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 118.22 ἀτὴ της πάγει μὲ τὶς Τούρκους (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32.48–9) ἐκείνη ἀτὴ της (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 428, 649.8) ἦτονε ἄτός του μέσα σ' αὐτὸ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.25 ἄτός του Irodis III.253

1st Person Plural

ἀτοί μας νὰ ποθάνωμε Theseid V.55,8 (1529) ἦ νὰ σφαγοῦμεν ἀτοί μας [VLASTOS], Dig. P 322.25

2nd Person Plural

ὡς τὸ εἶδετε ἀτοί σας Chron. Mor. H 5510 ἐσεῖς φταίγετε ἀτοί σας Epain. gyn. 485 ἐσεῖς ἀτοί σας ἠβλέπετε Diig. Alex. F 286.3–4 (Lolos) ἀτοί σας ἀφιερῶσατε τὰ μερτικά σας (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 450.15) ὦ, τι θέλετε ἀτοί σας (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 147.9) ἐλᾶτε ἐσεῖς ἀτοί σας KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 6.31 ἐλᾶτε ἀτοί σας Zinon. V.323 ποῦ εἴστενε ἀτοί σας SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 56.37

3rd Person Plural

ἀτοί τους ἐπαινοῦνται Chron. Mor. H 761 καθὼς τὸ εἶπον ἀτοί τους (1506, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 475, 338.11) ἀτοί τους (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 249.44) (τὰ ζῶα ...) ἦλθαν ἀτά τους KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 189.4
 πρέπει οἱ πατέρες ἀτοί τους συχνὰ νὰ δοκιμάζουν τὰ παιδιά SOFIANOS, Paidag. 113.21–2 κατὰ πῶς τὸ ἐσυνορέψασιν ἀτοί τους (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 89, 121.3–4) ἀτοί τως (1617, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 4, 35.10) αὐτὰ ὅλα, ἀγκαλὰ καὶ ἀτά των νὰ εἶναι ἀρκετὰ RODINOS, Mart. Ag. Mam. 218.6–7 τὸν Διγενὴ λογάριαζαν ἀτοί τως νὰ σκοτώσουν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2612 ἀτοί τους KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.303

5.6.2 ἄπατός μου

As a stronger form of the pronominal phrase, ἄπατός μου (< ἀπό + ἄτός μου) is also found from the 15th c. onwards. It is usually in the nominative, with the sense of “by or for myself”, “on my own” or “of my own volition”, and consequently, like ἄτός μου, it normally refers to a human subject; neuter forms are rare. Oblique cases can be found occasionally (perhaps only in Cretan texts), with the function of a periphrastic personal pronoun or even a reflexive pronoun, e.g. παιδί 'ναι τ' άπατοῦ σου Stathis III.303; ἐγώ, ἃ μ' ὀργίζεσαι, μπορῶ νά ὀργίζομαι άπατῆς μου TROILOS, Rodol. III.243.⁷⁵

An early 17th-c. grammar gives both άτός and άπατός, implying that the latter is the more usual (at least in Chios): “Dicono anco, άτόσμου, άτόσσου, άτόστου, &c. in luogo di άπατόσμου, &c.” (GERMANO, Grammar 68.14–15). Some editors write it as two words: άπ' άτός. Note also the adverb άπατά, “exactly, certainly, also” (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. άπαῦτα).

1st Person Singular⁷⁶

ἐπεὶ άπ' άτός μου γνώθω το Chron. Mor. H 5834 καὶ μὲ τὰ συλλογίσματα ξενίζομαι άπατός μου Theseid Prol. P 2; κ' ἐγώ άπατή μου ibid. I.27,3 (Follieri) νά τὸ λαβοράρω άπατός μου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 425, 422.7) ἤθελα ἔρθει άπατός μου μὲ τὸ κορμί μου (1573, Ancona, CATALDI PALAU 2000: 2, 388.5) κι εἰς άπατή σου ξεύρεις τα CHORTATSI, Panor. II.287; πρίχου τὸ πῶ άπατός μου id., Erof. IV.213 γνωρίζω το άπατή μου KORNAROS, Erot. I.1613, III.199; παίρνω το άπατός μου ibid. II.954

2nd Person Singular

κυνήγα άπατός σου FALIEROS, Log. did. 218

καθώς θέλεις το ειπεί και άπατός σου Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 307

'πειδὴ άπατή σου ἐθέλησες P&N Diath. 1150 γιατί δὲν εἶσαι κατὰ πῶς τὸ θάρρεις άπατή σου CHORTATSI, Erof. II.46 σὰ θέλεις άπατή σου Stathis II.227

3rd Person Singular

ὁ ρήγας άπατός του Chron. Mor. H 7841 ὁμολόγησε άπατός του (1506, Trebizond, PRINZING 2000: 2, 304.8)

άπατός του | δὲ δύνεται νά βουθηθῇ FALIEROS, Thrinos 189–90 φουσάτο μέσα ἄφησε, ὅσ' άπατός του χρῆζει Alex. Rim. 671 νά τὰ κάμη άπατή της (1551, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 47, 89.8) νά εἶναι άπατός του ἢ ἄλλος διὰ λόγου του (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 130, 101.11)

τὸ πρᾶμα, άπού 'ναι φανερό στὸν κόσμον άπατό του CHORTATSI, Erof. IV.37

ἃ θέλη νά τὸ γυρέψη άπατή τη (1598, Rethymno region / Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 38, 58.8) ἢ γῆ άπατή της κάμει καρπὸν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 4.28

ἢ Ρήγισσα άπατή της MONTSEL., Evgena 549

ὡς λέγει άπατός του (1668, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 356.8–9) ἐπῆγεν άπατός του BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 430.18

άπατός του ξεύρει τὴν ζημίαν του (1705 [later copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B I/4, f.167r.1)

⁷⁵ In the verse history of Bounialis we find several instances of accusative uses, mainly equivalent to τὸν ἴδιο “him himself” (and not someone else): κ' ἐκεῖνο ἐφέρανε νεκρὸ τότες τὸν άπατό του BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 347.9; καὶ τὸ βεζίρη ... κράζει τον, άπατό του ibid. 404.12; σὰν καὶ τὸν άπατό του ibid. 536.22. It can also refer back to the subject, i.e. it has a reflexive function: γιατί πολλὰ ἐφοβᾶτο, | μὴ νά 'χου μίνα κι ἄψουν τη καὶ κάψουν τὸ λαό του | ... κι ὅλο τὸν άπατό του ibid. 559.24–6. In all these cases the phrase is in rhyme.

⁷⁶ A marginal use is found in a 16th-c. Cypriot poem: τί λέγω, ποῦ 'μαι καὶ τίς μὲ ζενιάζει | ἄλλος παρὰ 'παυτός κ' ἢ πεθυμιά μου; Cypr. Canz. 90.31–2. If the clitic pronoun is assumed to belong to 'παυτός as well as the following noun, in this elliptical construction, (ἃ)παυτός μου must mean “I myself”.

1st Person Plural

ἐμεῖς τὸ δίκαιον ἄς πάρωμεν ἀπατές μας Theseid I.35,6 (Follieri) κ' εμπαίναν και εβγαίνανε σαν ἡθελαν ἴπατοί τους DEFAR., Sos. 77 (Holton) (with aphaeresis: see I, 2.7.1) μόνο νά μὴ θελήσουμε νά λείψουμε ἀπατοί μας CHORTATIS, Erof. Interm. IV.19 ἐμεῖς ἀπατοί μας (1628, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 504, 480.9)

2nd Person Plural

None found.

3rd Person Plural

καὶ τοῦτα τὰ λόγια ἐλέγασιν ὅλοι μέσα τους ἀπατοί των Achil. L 174 οἱ ἀνεψιὲς τοῦ Μπέλου ἀπατές τους Theseid I.8,1 (Follieri) ἀφήκασιν οἱ Φράγγοι τὴν Κορώνην ἀπατοί τους (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 63D, 3.1)
 νὰ τὸν ἐξετιμήσουν ἀπατοί τους (1551, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 106, 153.23) τὰ ἀπόκοψαν ἀπατοί τους (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 112, 195.12) μὴδὲ αὐτοὶ ἀπατοί τους DAM. STOUD., Dial. 101.7 τὰ ὅποια δένδρα ... ἀπρεζιάρασιν ἀπατοί τως (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 672, 584.6)
 μόνον ὅτι εσφράγισε τας θύρας, ἀνοίγονται ἀπατές τους Thavmata Ag. Nik. 263.28–9 συμμαζώνουνται ἀπατοί τωνε (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 28, 78.11)

5.6.3 ὁ ἴδιος

This phrase, the normal intensive pronoun in SMG, has not been found with this specific function in MedG texts. It is necessary to distinguish this pronominal use from the adjective ἴδιος “same, similar, familiar, own”, which may also be preceded by the definite article. As an intensive pronominal phrase, ὁ ἴδιος (declined like adjectives in -ος with fem. -α; see 3.3.2) functions in the same way as ἀτός μου, giving emphasis to a noun or (explicit or implicit) pronoun, but it can also appear in the oblique cases, “himself” etc. (and not someone else), and – rarely – may be followed by a clitic pronoun in the genitive. This usage of ὁ ἴδιος has not been found before the 16th c. and the earliest occurrences are in Cretan texts. Some influence of Ital. stesso cannot be ruled out. However, it is not always possible to make a clear distinction between adjectival uses of ἴδιος and its use as an intensive pronoun or emphatic possessive (for which see 5.4.2).⁷⁷ For further information on the various meanings of the word see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.

τούτην τὴν ἱστορίαν, | κρασμένην ἐκ τὸν ἴδιον Μάλτας πολιορκίαν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 16 κὶ ἐδίδασκε ὁμπρός των–ε τῶν ἴδιω ἀρχιερέω P&N Diath. 2385 με τὴν ἀσπριά τζη εθάμπωνε τὸν ἴδιο ἥλιο CHORTATIS, Panor. I.314; κὶ ἐσέ τὴν ἴδια ... μὴ θανατώσεις ibid. II.284; μάρτυρα τὸν οὐρανὸ κ' ἐσέ τὸν ἴδιο βάνω id., Erof. Interm. III.37 εἶναι ἀρκετοὶ οἱ ἴδιοι Χριστιανοὶ (1609, Cyprus, CHASIOTIS 1972: 35, 59.8)

⁷⁷ In late texts the adjective ὅμοιος sometimes appears to function like ἴδιος: ποσσεδέροντας ἐτούτη τὴν ὅμοιαν κάμαρα (1594, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 152, 276.6–7); ἤρτα τὸν ὅμοιο χρόνο (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 506.7); ἡ ὁμοία παπαδιά (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 20, 34.12); μεσ' τὸ ὅμοιο σπῆτι (ibid. 24, 38.15); οἱ ὅμοιοι ἐπλέρωσαν τὸ ὅμοιο χρεῖ (1703, ibid. 46, 59.13).

ἐμεῖς οἱ ἴδιοι ἀκούσαμεν καὶ εἶδαμεν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 4.42 οἱ ἴδιες τὸ στολίσσα TROILOS, Rodol. Dedic. 18; μᾶλλιος ἐσὺ ᾿σαι τσῆ τιμῆς τσ’ ἴδιας καθάρια εἰκόνα ibid. 21
νὰ μὴν εἶναι ὁ ἴδιος Βασιλεύς, ὅπου ἔρχεται Bertoldin. 119.6–7; μάλιστα ἐγὼ ἡ ἴδια δὲν ἡξεύρω νὰ σοῦ εἰπῶ ibid. 139.18 τῶν ἐκκλησιαστικῶν ἀνθρώπων ἐμένα καὶ τοῦ ἰδίου του (1653–5, Venice, FONKIC 2000: 239, f.1v.2) (with addition of clitic pronoun, as in other pronominal phrases) αὐτὸς αὐθέντης ἴδιος IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2746 (definite article omitted, perhaps for metrical reasons) τῖς ἴδιους ὅπου τὸ ἀφιέρωσαν (1683, Andros, POLEMIS 1999b: 29, 52.20) (= “the actual people”)
ἡ ψυχὴ μου ἐμένα τοῦ ἰδίου (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 181.18)
ἡ ἴδια τὸ μεσημέρι | θέλω ῥθει μὲ τὸ Χρῦσιππο Stathis II.231–2 το να την ηξεύρεις ἐσὺ ο ἴδιος Don Kis. 104.26 ἐπῆγε ὁ ἴδιος EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 26.14–15

5.6.4 μόνος μου and μοναχός μου

These pronominal phrases, which are also common in SMG, function in the same way as ἀτός μου and ἀπατός μου, “myself”. They resemble Eng. “by myself, on my own”, i.e. without assistance. The adjectives μόνος (also μόνιος, with palatalization, in Cretan texts; see I, 3.8.2.3) and μοναχός, declined like adjectives in -ος (see 3.2.1 and for μόνιος 3.2.2), are followed by a clitic pronoun in the genitive, which agrees in number (and, for the 3rd person, gender) with its referent. In its function as an intensive pronominal phrase, it can occur only in the nominative.⁷⁸ The phrase μόνος μου etc. can exist in other cases, as well as in the nominative, with a simple adjectival sense (“alone”, though a clear distinction is not always possible in nominative phrases), e.g. τὴν ὁδὸν, ὥσπερ εἴωθα, μόνος μου διοδεύων Dig. G V.26; ἀδέρφι, ἀπτόμεινε κι ἄφισ με μοναχό μου KORNAROS, Erot. III.1657. From such a usage, the intensive pronominal phrase had developed by at least the 15th c., and by the 16th c. had spread across a wide geographical area, as the following examples illustrate. Instances of μόνος, μόνιος and μοναχός are listed together, in view of the fact that two of them are often linked.

μόνη μου ἐποῖκα τὸ κακόν, μόνη μου ᾄς ἀπολάβω Dig. E 954 μέσον εἰς δάσος κρύφθησε, μόνος καὶ μοναχός σου Liv. V 1927; ἐγὼ τὰ ἡξεύρω μόνος μου ibid.
3897
κρύβησε μοναχός σου Liv. S 1013 μοναχός μόνος του ἐρματώθην Achil. O 240; μόνος σου γὰρ νὰ φονευτῆς, μόνος σου ν’ ἀποθάνης ibid. 365 νὰ ἀντιτείνομεν τὸν ρήγα μοναχοί μας KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua V.25 ἄν ἐσοῦ μόνος σου δὲ κρατέσαι κρυφός Fior, Suppl. 277.1–2 διὰ τοῦτο ἐθέλησεν ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ Θεοῦ μόνος του νὰ ἔλθῃ νὰ σαρκωθῇ DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 1, ¶ 7v.7–8

⁷⁸ There may be an early example in the 14th-c. romance Kallimachos and Chrysorroë (16th-c. ms). The ms, as edited, reads: τὰς πόρτας λέγει μόνας των, ἀνοίγουν παραυτικά [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 1280. KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. μόνος tacitly amends to λέγει, μόναι των, i.e. the doors open “of their own accord”.

τις ἐλιές όπου ἔχει εἰς τὰ Κελία νὰ τις ἔχη μοναχή της (1573, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 2, 19.39) μόνιος του θε νὰ διάβη P&N Diath. 1565 μάτια σου ἔχουσι μόνια τως τόση χάρη CHORTATIS, Panor. I.342; εσύ τα ορίζεις μόνια σου

ibid. IV.280

καὶ πεθυμήσει τό 'θελα μόνος καὶ μοναχός μου Thysia Avr. 725 μόνια σου μολογᾷς πῶς μιὰ ἀγγελιά 'σαι Pist. voskos II 7.54 ἀνίσως καὶ εἶχε πάει κανένας μοναχός του (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 78, 84.15–17) καὶ τὸ ἐμαρτύρησαν μοναχοὶ τους (1654, Athos, MOŠIN/ŠOVRE 1948: 17, 51.10) σφαμένον εἶχεν ὡς ἐδὰ μόνιος του τὸ κορμὶν του FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.41

νὰ κάνει καὶ σώνει τις 'κόνες μοναχός του (1666, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 1, 144.8) ἐγὼ τὸν Ζῆνον σήμερο μόνιος μου θὰ νικήσω Zinon Prol. 181 ἔμπαινε μέσα στὴ φωτιά κ' ἐκέντα μοναχός του KORNAROS, Erot. I.104; νὰ κάμη τζόγια ωρίοπλουμη, σὰ θέλει, μοναχή τη ibid. I.1348; ν' ἀντρευτῆς ὅσο μπορεῖς, μόνια σου νὰ βουηθήθης ibid. III.157

ἐφαρμακέσθη μοναχή της SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 44.38

5.7 Interrogative Pronouns

The LMedG and EMG interrogative pronouns can be divided into two categories: (a) simple interrogatives, with the meaning “who”, “what”, “which”, and (b) qualitative/quantitative interrogatives, with the meaning “how much” and “of what kind”, forming correlative pairs with the corresponding quantitative/qualitative demonstrative pronouns (see 5.5.2–3). In each category, some pronouns are continuations from AG, while others constitute morphosyntactic innovations. Both types may be used either as pronouns or as determiners, and may introduce either main or dependent interrogative clauses. The pronouns in question are the following:

- Simple interrogatives: ποῖος/ποιός, τίς-τί, τίνα/ἴντα
- Quantitative/qualitative interrogatives: πόσος, ὅπόσος, ποταπός, ποταποῖος

5.7.1 Simple Interrogatives

5.7.1.1 ποῖος/ποιός

Ποῖος is a continuation of the AG interrogative pronoun ποῖος “of what kind”. The semantic merger between τίς and ποῖος, and the gradual replacement of the former by the latter, caused by the irregular paradigm of τίς and by the preference for interrogative forms starting with π- (πότε, ποῦ, πόσος etc.), had already started long before the period under investigation (MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 615–17; HATZIDAKIS 1892: 207–8; JANNARIS 1897: 163; PSALTES 1913: 200; HORROCKS 2010: 293). In LMedG and EMG ποῖος means simply “who, which”, and is fully synonymous with τίς, but is employed much more frequently.

Ποῖος inflects as a regular adjective in -ος (see 3.2.2). The major phonetic change affecting it is the process of synizesis, creating monosyllabic forms. The onset of the change is difficult to establish, due to the conservative nature of the written evidence, as well as possible scribal and editorial interventions and conventions adopted (for synizesis see 1.5 above and I, 2.9.4); nevertheless, it may be placed around the 15th c. on the basis of forms involving spelling of a consonantized <γ>, e.g. πγῆσαν / ποιοί'σαν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 56 app. crit. (MB). Since the graphematic evidence is often uncertain, monosyllabic and disyllabic variants are not distinguished in the list of examples below.

Two innovative phenomena affect the pronoun, with rare instances from the 17th c. onwards: addition of a final vowel in the acc. sg. (ποιόνε, ποιόνα) and stem extension with a final syllable starting with /n/ (ποιουνού, ποιανού, ποιονών). The latter phenomenon is connected with the development affecting demonstrative pronouns (αὐτοῦ > αὐτουνοῦ, αὐτουνών), and is probably due to analogy with the pronoun ἐκεῖνος (see CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 156, KRETSCHMER 1905: 273–4; and 5.5.1.6 above). The preference for the feminine stem in the extended forms (ποιανού instead of ποιουνού), retained in MG, is difficult to explain, but there is no doubt that the /a/ is an analogy on the basis of the feminine, given the existence of indefinite forms such as μιανού, καμιανού (CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: 539; see also 5.8.5, 5.8.9 below). The addition of final /a/ (ποιόνα) also follows the pattern of the demonstratives αὐτός and ἐκεῖνος, which display acc. sg. forms αὐτόνα and ἐκεῖνονα (see 5.5.1.2, 5.5.1.8), on the analogy of the personal pronouns ἐμένα, ἐσένα.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	ποῖος ἢ ποῖός	ποῖα ἢ ποιά	ποῖο(ν) ἢ ποιό(ν)
Gen.	ποίου ἢ ποιοῦ ἢ ποιουνού ἢ ποιανού	ποίας ἢ ποιάς	ποίου ἢ (ποιοῦ) ἢ (ποιουνού)
Acc.	ποῖο(ν) ἢ ποιό(ν) ἢ ποῖονε ἢ ποιόνε ἢ ποιόνα	ποῖα(ν) ἢ ποιά(ν)	ποῖο(ν) ἢ ποιό
Plural
Nom.	ποῖοι ἢ ποιοί	ποῖες ἢ ποιές	ποῖα ἢ ποιά
Gen.	ποίων ἢ ποίων ἢ ποιονών	ποίων ἢ ποίων ἢ ποιονών	ποίων ἢ ποίων ἢ ποιονών
Acc.	ποίους ἢ ποιούς	ποίας ἢ ποῖες ἢ ποιές ἢ	ποῖα ἢ ποιά

Singular

Masculine Nominative

- ποῖος ἱερεὺς ἦτον; (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 23.159) καὶ τότε θέλομεν ἰδεῖ ποῖος ἀγαπᾷ τὸν δούκα Chron. Toc. 1353 ποῖος ἄνθρωπος ἀγγελικὸς SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 1 ποῖος ἔναι ὁ ἐχθρὸς; Phys. 1020 τὸ ποῖος νὰ ἔναι ἀπὲ τοὺς δύο οὐδὲν τὸ φανερώνω Theseid Prol. P 127 ποῖος τοῦ καλοῦ ληστοῦ καὶ ποῖος τοῦ πονηροῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.23 δεῖξε μου ποῖος εἶναι ὁ καλογιὸς μου DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 302 δὲν μὲ ἐγνωρίζετε ποῖος εἶμαι ἐγώ; KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 246.18

ποιὸς δρόμος σ' ἔφερεν ἐδῶ, ποιά στράτα, παλικάρι ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 106 ποῖος ἀνθρῶπος μὲ στίχους του μπορεῖ νὰ ξεδιαλύσῃ ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1552 τὰ χέρια ποῖος σοῦ τὰ ἔκοψε μὲ ἄπονη καρδιά; MONTSEL., Evgena 802 ποιὸς ἄθρῶπος μοῦ τό ἔθελε παινέσει | καὶ ποιὸς θεὸς μοῦ τό ἔχε συχωρέσει; VOSK. 65–6 (ποῖος both times in 1627 ed.)
 ποιὸς νὰ ἔδωκε τοῦ ἀφέντη μου τόσα κακὰ μαντάτα FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.350 ποῖος νὰ ἐναὶ ὁ δοτὴρ καὶ ποῖος ἡ αἰτία MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 179 ποιὸς ἦτον ποῦ σοῦ ἔδωκεν φωτὸς σου τὴν λακτάρη; PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 436 ποῖος νὰ μὴ θαυμάσει; DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 130 νὰ ἰδῇ, ποῖος ἔφαγε τὰ σῦκα VIOS AISOP. D 210.10

Masculine Genitive

καὶ μετὰ δόλου ποίου Liv. V 2297 καὶ μετὰ φόβου ποίου Liv. E 3616 νὰ ἡγνωρίζονται ποίου βασιλέως εἶναι Diig. Alex. V 37.18; δεῖξε μου ποίου θεοῦ εἴστεν ἐσεῖς
 ibid. 67.3
 ποιοῦ ἡ λαλιὰ ποῦ βγαίνει; Thysia Avr. 98 ποίου ἀπὸ τοὺς ἐπτὰ θέλει εἴσται ἡ γυναῖκα; KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 22.28 τίνος νὰ κάμω θέλημα καὶ πάλι ποιοῦ ν' ἀφήσω KORNAPOS, Erot. I.1656 ποιουνοῦ θεοῦ εἴστε ἐσεῖς; Diig. Alex. F 226.11 (Lolos) ἐτοῦτο τὸ ποκάμισο ποιανοῦ ναι Diig. Vefa 442

Masculine Accusative

ποῖον νὰ ποίσουν ρῆγαν Chron. Mor. P 100 εἰς ποῖον τόπον Assizes B 294.11 καὶ ποῖον θέλει ἀπαντᾷ καὶ ποῖον θέλει διώχνει Chron. Toc. 662 με ποῖον ἀφέντη τὸ λοιπόν, με ποῖον βασιλέα Alex. Rim. 807 εἰς ποῖον γλυκύτατον καὶ φωτεινότατον τόπον PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 107.8–9 ποῖον ἄλλο καρτεροῦμε; CHORTATIS, Erof. Interm. II.90 λέγει τως: «Ποιὸ γυρεῦγετε;» P&N Diath. 3019 ἀπὸ ποῖον τόπο εἶσαι; FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.286 πότε νὰ σ' ἀνιμένωμε, ποιὸ μήνα, ποῖαν ἡμέρα KORNAPOS, Erot. III.1707 εἰς ποῖον γρέμνο νὰ πάγω PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.132 ἀπὸ ποῖον τόπον εἶσαι; VIOS AISOP. D 215.2 με ποῖονε τὴν ἔστειλες MONTSEL., Evgena 869, ποῖονα φιλοῦν καὶ δὲν καμαρώνει; Paroim. (Warner) 118.19

Feminine Nominative

ποιά ἐκ τὴν ἔρημον ἐτούτην ἀναβαίνει SKLENTZAS, Ain. Zood. Pig. 43 ποιά κι ἄλλη μάννα ἀλλάσσει υἱὸν DELLAP., Epit. Thrinis 334 ποιὸς δρόμος σ' ἔφερεν ἐδῶ, ποιά στράτα, παλικάρι ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 106 ποιά ψυχὴ καὶ ποιά καρδιά δὲν ἤθελεν βουρκώσει Imb. Rim. 969 ποιά δράκαινα VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 149 ποια ν' ἡ αἰτιά που σε κινά CHORTATIS, Panor. I.57 «ποιά ἴσαι;» τῇ λέγω, «Πῶς ἀκούς; Πῶς λέσι τ' ὄνομά σου; P&N Diath. 420 ποιά ἀκοὴ νὰ τὴν ἀκούσῃ; (1650, Santorini, LAMBROS 1885: 110.29) καὶ ποιά ἀφορμὴ τὴν ἔκανε περισσα καὶ λυπᾶται BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 178.24 καὶ ἂν ἐρωτᾷτε ποιά εἶμαι ἐγὼ BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 9

Feminine Genitive

μετὰ δὲ ποίας λαμπρότητος Eisit. f.6v.20 καὶ μιτὰ ποίας προθυμίας (1303, Thessaloniki, CONSTANTINIDI-BIBICOU 1956: 2, 126.3) ποιᾶς γενεᾶς ὑπάρχετε Dig. E 134 καὶ μετὰ ποῖας μηχανῆς, ἄκουσε νὰ θαυμάσῃς Liv. V 298 περὶ ποῖας ὑποθέσεως Assizes A 13.16; περὶ ποῖας αἰτίας ibid. 113.9 χώρας ποῖας ποταπῆς Byz. Il. 628 νὰ ιδεῖτε ποῖας τύχης εἶναι το παιδί μου Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 135.25 ποῖας Πουλισένας μοῦ μιλεῖς; CHORTATSI, Katz. V.45 ποῖας γυναικας KORNAROS, Erot. III.1214

Feminine Accusative

τὸ ποῖαν ὁδὸν νὰ πιάσουσιν κ' εἰς ποῖον μέρος νὰ ἀπέλθουν Chron. Mor. H 6594 καὶ ποῖαν ἔκατεδίκασεν καὶ ποῖαν τὸ μῆλον δίδει Liv. V 303 καὶ ποῖαν πατρίδαν, ἐρωτᾷς BERGADIS, Apok. A 290 δὲν ξεύρω ποῖαν νὰ ῥέγεσαι καὶ βούλεσαι νὰ πιάσῃς FALIEROS, Log. did. 149 διὰ ποῖαν αφορμὴν Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 83.21 ποῖα ἐμιλιά ... μπόρεῖς νὰ μου χαρίσῃς CHORTATSI, Panor. II.555 εἰς ποῖαν ἐκκλησίαν ἐχειροτονήθης; (1637, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969e: 61.20–1) ὅς μᾶς γράψῃ αὐτὴ τὴν ἡμέραν, ποῖαν θέλει νὰ γίνεταί (1654, Chios, ZERLENDIS 1917: 3, 215.2) ποῖαν ὁματιά, ποῖον ἄντερο, ποῖα φούσκα νὰ γεμώσῃ! FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.288 διὰ ποῖα ἀφορμὴν (1683, Naxos, SIFONIU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 323, 524.3) πότε νὰ σ' ἀνιμένωμε, ποῖο μῆνα, ποῖαν ἡμέρα KORNAROS, Erot. III.1707 σὰν ποῖαν περιέργειαν νὰ κάμῃ δοκιμάζει NEOFYTOS, Achouri 364

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

ἐρώτησα αὐτοὺς διὰ ποῖον πρᾶγμαν ἐπικρατοῦσι οἱ μοναχοὶ (1125?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 18, 416.12) ποῖον θέμα οἰκεῖτε; Dig. G I.264 ποῖον ἱμάτιον μὲ ἔρραψας; Ποῖον δίμιτον μὲ ἐποῖκες; Ptoch. I 46 καὶ ποῖον ἔνι τὸ κάστρον σου καὶ τίνες οἱ γονεῖς σου; Log. parig. L 90 μετὰ ποῖον πρόσωπον τὴν Μαξιμοῦ νὰ ἰδοῦμεν; Dig. E 1438 καὶ ποῖον γράψιμον χρήζει καὶ ποῖον δὲν χρήζει Assizes B 354.16–17 ποῖο ζὸ πονηρὲμένο ἀπάνω σ' ὅλα τὸ λοιπὸν νὰ 'ν διδασκαλεμένο; Alex. Rim. 1945 ποῖον μέρος τοῦ καραβίου μέλλει νὰ πνιγεί πρῶτον ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 25.4 ποῖον τοῦ ἀρεσεν καλλιότερον Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 135.37 ποῖον θηρίον θηλυκὸν VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 147 ποῖον ἄντερο, ποῖα φούσκα νὰ γεμώσῃ! FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.288 εἰς ποῖον μοναστήριον (1689, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 81, 286.26)

Neuter Genitive

γένους ποίου τυγχάνετε; Dig. G I.264 περὶ ποίου πραγμάτου Assizes B 356.2
 ποίου γένους ὑπάρχεις Dig. T 1176

Plural

Masculine Nominative

νὰ ἴδω τίνες εὐτυχοῦν καὶ ποῖοι ἀτυχοῦσιν Log. parig. L 111 νὰ καθαρίσουν ποῖγοι εἶνε Γενουβίσοι καὶ ποῖγοι εἶνε ὅπου κράζονται Γενουβίσοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 135.15–16; ποῖγοι εἶνε τοῦτοι ibid. 264.34 ποῖοι εἶναι; GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 117 ποῖοι ἔναι ἐτοῦτοι; ΠΑΡΑ-ΛΑΥΡ., Diigisis (Meteoron) 111.26 ποῖοι εἶναι οὖν οἱ ἐχθροὶ οἱ δύο γὰρ ἐκεῖνοι Diig. Alex. Sem. B 411 ποῖοι 'ναι ὅπου κατοικοῦ ἐδῶ P&N Diath. 195 ποῖοι εἶναι ἐτοῦτοι Apok. Theot. 490.65 ἔρωτήθη ποῖοι ἦτανε ὁποῦ ἐσυλλειτούργησαν (1637, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969e: 61.10–11) ποιοὶ διώχουσι τὸν ὀχουθρὸ καὶ ποιοὶ τὸν οἱ μαχίτες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 280.11 καὶ ποῖοι τὸν ἐφόνευσαν, καὶ τίνες ἦσαν κεῖνοι BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 368

Masculine Accusative

περὶ ποίους καὶ ποταποὺς κριτὲς ἐντέχεται νὰ ἔχη Assizes B 483.17 καὶ ποίους ἔσφαξαν ἐδῶ ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 258 ποιοὺς ν' ἀγαπῶ εἶναι τὸ πρεπὸ καὶ ποιοὺς ν' ἀναμερίζω CHORTATSI, Katz. III.450 γυρεῦει ποίους νὰ φονεύσῃ, ποίους νὰ νικήσῃ RODINOS, Vios Ign. 51.7
 σ' ποιοὺς ἐγκρεμνοὺς ὁδεύγω; *Zinon V.*212

Feminine Nominative

καὶ οἱ ποῖες νὰ μὴδὲν πουληθοῦν Assizes A 136.14 ποῖες εἶναι αὐτές; Apok. Theot. 494.195 ἀποὺ νὰ μὴν ἐγνώριζε ποῖες εἴμεστα καὶ οἱ τρεῖς μας FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 31 ποιές τοῦ καιροῦ μεταβολὲς εἶν' τοῦτες; *Zinon II.*363 ποιές δύναμες μποροῦσι KORNAROS, Erot. III.1213

Feminine Accusative

ποιὰς τρικυμίας ὑπέμεινα εἰς τὰς βαρέας ἀνάγκας Dig. E 1736 (ms καὶ πόσας) ποιές μοῦδες μοῦ δηγᾶσαι; CHORTATSI, Katz. V.45 ὅς ποιές στράτες ταξιδεύγου P&N Diath. 176
 εἰς ποιές ἐμπαίνεις | στράτες κακὲς *Zinon I.*17

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

ποῖα εἶναι τὰ δύο ἐκεῖνα Diig. Alex. Sem. S 421 ποῖα δένδρα εἶναι ἐκεῖνα ὅπου ἀμελήθησαν SOFIANOS, Paidag. 98.11 νὰ ἐγγνωρίζουν ποῖα καμώματα εἶναι καλὰ DAM. STOUD., Dial. 100.12 σε ποῖα γκρεμνὰ γυρίζεις; CHORTATSI, Panor. II.77 ποῖα μάτια δὲν ἐκλάψασιν DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 750 καὶ ποῖα καράβια κρᾶζονται BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 440.18
 καὶ ποῖα παλάτια βρίσκονται σὰν τὰ δικά σας πλοῦσα; KORNAROS, Erot. I.680

Masculine/Feminine/Neuter Genitive

περὶ ποίων πραγμάτων Assizes B 337.5
 καὶ ποίων γραφῶν οὐδὲν ἀξιάζει Assizes A 13.10 ποίων φρονίμων λογισμὸς BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 231.8

διὰ ποιωνῶν μέσων (1697 [18th-c. copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B I/13, f.190r.4)

Meanings and Usage

Ποῖος functions both as a pronoun and a determiner, in direct and indirect questions:

καὶ ποῖος νὰ τὸ ἐγκωμιάσῃ; Chron. Mor. H 1460 δὲν ἤξέρομε ποῖος ἔχει νὰ γλυτώσῃ (1617, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970b: 3, 230.8) ποιὸς πελλὸς ἤθελεν εἶστον Cypr. Canz. 130.15 εἰς ποῖα μεράν, σ' ποιοὶ χῶμα KORNAROS, Erot. III.1662 app. crit.

In indirect questions it may be preceded by the definite article:

ἡμπορεῖς νὰ ἀκούσεις ἀπὸ ποῖα πράγματα ἐμποροῦν νὰ ἀγκαλεστοῦν εἰς τὴν αὐλὴν καὶ τὰ ποῖα οὐδὲν ἡμποροῦν Assizes A 35.6
 οἱ ἀθρῶποι νὰ τεχνεύονται ὁ ποιὸς νὰ βγάλῃ ρίσσα P&N Diath. 4728

The pronoun ποῖος/ποιὸς can be found with an indefinite distributive meaning (“one ... one”, “some ... some”):

διότι ποία λέγει ἔτσι καὶ ποία λέγει ἀλλέως KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 200.28–9 ποιὸς τοῦ ἔδνε τὰ πόδια του, ποιὸς τὸ λαιμὸ του ἐπάτειε, | ποιὸς τοῦ ἔερνε κ' ἐκόρδιζε τὴ χέραν ἀπὸ κράτειε, | ποιὸς τοῦ ἔερνε τοὶ πλάτες του, ποιὸς τὶς πατοῦχες κάτω, | ποιὸς τοῦ ἔφρασε μὲ τὸ πανὶ τὸ στόμα ἀπὸ μουγκᾶτο CHORTATIS, Erof. V.111–14 τότες ποιὸς ἔμπωθε βουτσί, ποιὸς ἔριχνε βαρέλα, | ποιὸς ἤδειαζε τὰ ροῦχα του κι ἐπέτα τὴν κασέλα Stathis III.395–6 μὰ τοῦτοι ποιὸς ποκάμισο μὰς δίδει, ποιὸς φιστάνι, ποιὸς μπόλια, ποιὸς ἄλλος ποδιά, ποιὸς τὰ παπούτσια κάνει FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.33–4

5.7.1.2 ὅποῖος

As an archaic survival, it is possible to find in vernacular texts the use of the pronoun ὅποιος to introduce indirect interrogative clauses, with the meaning “who” (MINAS ²2003: 101). This usage may also, in some cases, be interpreted as a collocation of the definite article ὁ + the interrogative pronoun ποῖος, since the syntax whereby an indirect interrogative clause is preceded by the definite article is common with all MedG interrogative pronouns. Furthermore, the same pronoun occasionally introduces indirect interrogative clauses with the meaning “what kind”.

ἐρωτηθέντες παρ' ὑμῶν οἱ γέροντες Τραϊνῶν ὅποιος γινώσκει εἰ ἐγένοντο σύνορα (1142, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 6, 303.11) ἡρώτα μαθεῖν ὅποιον κέκτηται δίκαιον ὡς ἐπίσκοπος (1250, Nymphaion/Macedonia, LEFORT et al. 1995: 57, 86.19) λοιπὸν ὅποιος σὲ ἔσφαξεν στὸν ἄδην ἔστειλέ σε<ε>. Dig. A 467 εθώρουν τὴν μάχην οἷος θέλει πέσει ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 132.2
 νὰ ὧ ὅποιος τό ἔποιεν MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 192 προσγραφομένη ὅποιόν τε τὸ χαρτίον ἐστὶ καὶ τίς ὁ τοῦτο ἀναλαβόμενος (1110–16, Constantinople, GAUTIER 1985: 65.841) μὲ τὸν καιρὸν ἐκεῖνος θέλει φανῇ ὅποιος εἶναι SKOUFOS, Grammat. 56.21

5.7.1.3 τίς, τί

Τίς (masc. and fem.), τί (neuter) is a continuation of the AG interrogative and indefinite pronoun τίς “who, what”. There is no distinction between masculine and feminine, while the neuter form τί may be used for all three genders.

The inflection of τίς shows no significant changes since AG. One development is the variable addition of final /n/ in the masc./fem. acc. sg., attested since the Koine (see GIGNAC 1981: 181), which is more frequent than the older variant in vernacular texts. A nom. sg. τίνας, re-formed according to the paradigm of masc. nouns in /as/ on the basis of the acc. sg., is attested only twice in a poetic anthology from Cyprus, although the corresponding indefinite τινάς is relatively frequent in many areas (see 5.8.1): τίνας ὅτ' ὅσα κάλλη εἶδεν πλασμένος; Cypr. Canz. 71.7; τίνας εἰς τὴν ζωὴν του, | ἔχ' τὸν Πόθον ἐπληγώθη | κ' ἔζησεν γοιὸν ἐμὲν μαρτυρημένος; ibid. 93.43. Isolated instances of τίνους as gen. sg.⁷⁹ and as acc. pl. have also been located: – τίνους; – μοναχοῦ (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1996); νὰ δείξω τὸν πατέρα σου τίνους ἀγούρους ἔχει Achil. N 1575. The latter form, an analogy based on the acc. pl. of nouns in -ος, is corroborated by a similar instance in the homophonous indefinite pronoun τις: εἰς τὰ ἀμπέλια καὶ τόπους τινούς ὅπου ἔχομεν (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 9, 28.3). An acc. sg. τίνανε with addition of final /e/ is attested from the 17th c.

⁷⁹ Probably an instance of “raising vocalism” /o/ > /u/ (VASMER 1922: 129, TZITZILIS 1999: 84).

The pronoun appears in texts from all areas and periods, in both literary and non-literary sources, although legal texts normally contain very few instances of interrogative clauses. Forms with a feminine referent are much less frequent than masculine and neuter ones. In general, τί is the only form displaying high frequency, whereas all other case-forms are much less common than the synonymous pronoun ποῖος (see 5.7.1.1).

	Masculine and Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	τίς ἢ τίνας (masc. only)	τί
Gen.	τίνος	(τίνος)
Acc.	τίνα(ν) ἢ τίνανε	τί
Plural
Nom.	τίνες	τίνα
Gen.	τίνων	τίνων
Acc.	τίνας	τίνα

Singular

Masculine/Feminine Nominative

- τίς εἶσαι οὐδὲν γνωρίζω GLYKAS, Stichoī 538 τίς ἡ ἀδημονία; Dig. G VIII.45 τὸ «τί θαρρεῖς;» τὸ «τίς εἶσαι;» τὸ «βλέπε τίνα δέρεις» Ptoch. I 142 τίς νὰ ἀπομείνη καὶ τί νὰ ἔχη ὁ καθ' εἷς (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.23) τίς τὸ ἔπεν; Τίς τὸ μῆνυσε; Anak. Konst. 5 τίς νὰ ραβδίση τὸν καρπὸν Analos. Ath. 52 τίς ἀπεδιάβην ἄτρομος τὸ στενογιόφυρόν σου Planī kosmou 12 τίς εἶσαι; Τί γυρεύεις; BERGADIS, Apok. A 77 τίς ἡ αἰτία ἦτονε PIKAT., Rima thrin. 390 τίς ἡ ὠφέλειά μου; Krasop. AO 63 τίς νὰ μὲν μείνη πιασμένος; Cypr. Canz. 123.6 καὶ τίς νὰ μὴ λυπᾶται; MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 562 καὶ τίς μπορεῖ νὰ δηγηθεῖ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 268.26 καὶ τίς νὰ μὴ τὰ λυπηθεῖ καὶ τίς νὰ μὴ τὰ κλάψει DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 298 ἐσὺ ὅπου ἤξεύρεις τίς ἡ αἰτία PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §24.10 τίς ἡ μερίς Χριστοῦ μετὰ τοῦ διαβόλου IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 9149 τίς νὰ γιαιτρέψη τὴν πληγὴ; *KORNAROS, Erot. III.*312

Masculine/Feminine Genitive

- τίνος ἐντέχεται νὰ ἐνι Assizes B 289.8 ἐγύρευσαν τὸ τίνος γάρ ἐστιν τὸ δίκαιον Porikol. I 119 πουλάκιν, πόθεν ἔρχεσαι, τίνος χαρτί βαστάζεις; Peri xen. 393 τὸ τίνος ἦσαν τὰ παιδιὰ καὶ ποιὸν εἶχαν πατέρα Chron. Toc. 3703 τίνος ψυχὴ νὰ εὐρεθῇ νὰ μὴν χαρῇ καὶ θάλλῃ Velis. N² 294 ποσῶς οὐκ ἐφανερώσε τίνος καὶ πόθεν ἔναι Byz. Il. 589 τίνος ἀπ' αὐτοὺς δεν ἐκλεψες το κρέας; ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 113.4 γιὰ δέτε τίνος ἤθελα νὰ στέκω ν' ἀφουκροῦμαι! CHORTATIS, Katz. III.93 καὶ τίνος ἀντιστένεσαι, κλαίγεις καὶ δὲν ἀρνεύγεις; Thysia Avr. 367 τίνος εἶναι ἡ εἰκόνα αὐτὴ καὶ ἡ ἀπανωγραφὴ; ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΡ., Kaini Diath. Matth. 22.20 λόγιασε τίνος πρέπει | νὰ δώσεις τὸ βασίλειο Zinon I.365 τίνος νὰ κάμω θέλημα καὶ πάλι τοιοῦ ν' ἀφήσω KORNAROS, Erot. I.1656

Masculine/Feminine Accusative

τίνα ζητεῖτε, ἄγουροι Dig. G I.218; κοπέλι, τίνα φοβεῖσαι; (1496, Pesaro, ΜΑΥΡΟΕΙΔΙ-ΠΛΟΥΜΙΔΙ 1971: 3, 132.43) τίνα δὲ κόρην κράζεις; [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1416; τίνα λοιπὸν ἠδίκησεν, νὰ φά τὸν κάματόν του; ibid. 2483 ἰδέ με, τίνα ἄνθρωπον μοιάζω; Spanos B 72 καὶ λύκος πρόβατον ἂν φᾶ, ποῦ, τίνα τὸ γυρεύει LIMEN., Than. Rod. 261 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: τίνα (νὰ) γυρεύῃ) νὰ ἰδῇς εἰς τίνα σύρνεις σπαθὶν ἐσὺ Diig. Alex. E 147.8 (Konstantinopulos) ἐσεῖς τίνα μὲ λέγετε νὰ εἶμαι; ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΡ., Kaini Diath. Matth. 16.15 καὶ ἐκ τὴν ραβδέαν, Μαξιμού, νόησε μὲ τίναν ἔχεις Dig. E 1545 λέγει, ἐγόρασά το! καὶ ὀρωτοῦν τον, ἀπαί τίναν; Assizes B 444.2 τίναν γυρεύει; (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 194) τίναν τὰ συντυχαίνεις Poulol. 42 τίναν νὰ μὴδὲν νικήσῃ; Cypr. Canz. 123.5
 ποιὸς εἶναι τὸν γυρεύετε; Γιὰ τίνα πορπατεῖτε; P&N Diath. 3011 εἰς τίναν ἀφήνω τὰ γίδια μου; Bertoldin. 102.23 τίνανε GERMANO, Grammar 50.2

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

καὶ τί ὠφελοῦν τὰ περισσά, τὰ τοῦτα καὶ τὰ ἐκεῖνα; GLYKAS, Stichoi 280 τί μαγειρεύουν σήμερον; Ptoch. IV 379 ἐσεῖς γὰρ ἐπλουτύνετε κι ὁ βασιλέας τί ἔχει; Chron. Mor. H 5114 τὸ τί πρᾶγμα καὶ συμφορὰ ἐσυνέβην εἰς ἐμένα Anon. Naupl. 3 ὁ Γεώργιος ὅπου τὸ ἤξεύρει τὸ τί ἔχομεν (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.41) τὸ τί ἐμέναν ἔποικες εἰς τὸν καιρὸν τὸν ὀπίσω Theseid Prol. P 120 καὶ τί κακὸν καὶ ὀδυνηρὸν ἐπράθη εἰς ἐτοῦτο Byz. Il. 162 ἐποίησαν βουλὴν, τὸ τί νὰ κάμουν Diig. Alex. V 46.25 ὄρισε ὁ καθεὶς τί νὰ πληρώνῃ Diig. Alex. K 289.19 τί εἶναι τὰ φανταζόμεσταν καὶ τί νὰ ταῖς θάρροῦμεν; GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 254 τί λαλεῖτε; ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 78.3 τώρα τί νὰ γένῃ σ' ἐμένα (1579, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 7, 96.18) τί εἶν' τὸ ζητᾶς, τί εἶναι τὸ γυρεύεις; Diig. Alex. Sem. B 124 τί ἄλλον καλὸν θὲ νὰ ἐκδέχονται ἀπ' ἐκείνους (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.50) τί θὲς ἐδῶ, κύρ Κύριλλε, μαῦρε, σκοτεινιασμένε; NEOFYTOS, Achouri 51

Neuter Nominative/Accusative (with masculine or feminine referent) τί πόλεμος εἶναι ἀπὸ ὅδω καὶ ὀμπρός; Diig. Alex. F 30.22 (Konstantinopulos) εἶπε του ὁ Ἀλέξανδρος. «Τί τόλμη γὰρ ἐποῖκες Alex. Rim. 963 διὰ τι αἰτίαν δεν ἔρχεσαι μέσα; ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 118.7

 διὰ τί αἰτίαν ἀλλάξες τὴν τιμὴν με ἐντροπὴν Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 194 αν ήξερες δια τι υποθεσην τον θέλω, ήθελε μου ανοίξει Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 91.33 τί συμφορά με ήλθεν τόν ἄθλιον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.40 ἀπό τί τόπον ἔρχεσαι και ποῦ τώρα πηγαίνεις; MONTSEL., Evgena 1050

Plural

Masculine/Feminine Nominative

νά ἴδω τίνες εὐτυχοῦν και ποῖοι ἀτυχοῦσιν Log. parig. L 111 ὁ βασιλεὺς ἠρώτησε τίνες και πόθεν εἶναι Pol. Tr. 264 (EVX) και νά με ἀναδιδάξετε τίνες και πόθεν εἶστε Liv. α 3031 και τίνες κατετόλμησαν τὰς χώρας μου κουρσεύουν; Achil. N 201 τίνες ὑπῆρχον οἱ σκληροί, παράφρονες τε νέοι Dig. A 3009 γοργὸν ὀρίζω νά μοῦ εἰπῆς τίνες σέ συμβουλέψαν Chron. Mor. P 668 τίνες και ὅποιοι κατέλαχον τότες (1513, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔÈS 1978: App. III (b), 104.24) και τίνες εἶναι οἱ ἐχθροὶ οἱ τοῦ μοῦ λέγεις Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 114 νά μὰς εἰποῦν τίνες εἶναι τοῦτοι KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 351.10 ἐρωτῶμενος τίνες ἦσαν οἱ γονεῖς του, ἔλεγε τα ονόματά τους LANDOS, Kalok. 341.39

Masculine/Feminine/Neuter Genitive

εἶχε τὸν τοιοῦτον ὑδρομύλωνα και γινώσκει τίνων ἐστὶ (1370, Constantinople, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔÈS 1984: 39, 223.10) ἐπάνω ᾽ς τίνων νά πέση ἡ ζημία; Assizes B 325.26 τίνων γονέων πέφυκεν ἄς τὸ γροικῆσούν ὅλοι Dig. A 10 με φωναῖς πολλαῖς και ἰσχυραῖς, τίνων; κάτωθεν μὲν τῶν ἀποστόλων DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 9, 13v.29–30

Masculine/Feminine Accusative

τί σχῆμα χαρετίσματος, τίνας λόγους νά τήν εἴπω Liv. α 2338 app. crit. (P) τίνας λόγους τήν ἐρώτησες και τί ἀφήγημα τήν εἶπες; Liv. P 2735 (f.78v) transcr. (Lendari) αν δεν ηξεύραμεν ποῖοι εἶσταν και τίνας πολεμεῖτε ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 88.3–4

Neuter Accusative

και τίνα τὸν ἐσύνταχα και τί με ἀπεκρίθην Liv. α 2231 τίνα δὲ ἦτον και αὐτηνῆς τὰ λόγια; DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 7, 12v.24–5

Meanings and Usage

The interrogative τίς is employed both as a pronoun and as a determiner. It introduces direct and indirect interrogative clauses, which may also be preceded by the neuter definite article, e.g. ἐρωτήσαμεν αὐτοὺς τὸ τί γινώσκουσι (1095, S. Italy/Sicily?, GUILLOU 1963: 2, 50.2); τὸ τί ἀξῶνει τῶν ᾽σοδίων (1227–50, Sicily, ibid. 20, 157.10); πρὶν ἴδωμεν τὸ τί δηλοῦν τὰ σιγίλλια (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 307.21).

και τίς νά τοὺς τὸ ἔλεγεν; και τίς νά τὸ ἐνθυμεῖτον; Chron. Toc. 3025 τίνος σοῦ φαίνεται ὅτι ὁμοιάζω; Spanos D 664 τίς ἄνθρωπος νά ᾽χεν ἰδεῖ τὸν θρηνησμὸν τὸν τόσον SKLAVOS, Symf. 63 τίς λόγος νά τήν διηγηθῇ, ποῖα ἀκοή νά τήν ἀκούσῃ; (1650, Santorini, LAMBROS 1885: 110.29)

The neuter form τί may also have the meaning “of what kind”, and, in fixed uninflected form, may be used in exclamations (already since the Koine, see JANNARIS 1897: 164).

τί κρίμα ὁποῦ ἐγίνετο και τί ζημία μεγάλη! Pol. Tr. 3155 app. crit. (B) ω τι εὐμορφη κεφαλή ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 8.3

τί κακὸν τὸν ἔσυναπάντησε τὸν αὐθέντη μας! Vios Aisop. K 153.1 ἀπέθαναν περισσοί, καὶ τί Τοῦρκοι, τί Χριστιανοί, τί Ἑβραῖοι, τί Ὀγύφτοι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.8–9

5.7.1.4 τίντα/ῖντα

Τίντα/ῖντα is an uninflected pronoun with the meaning “what”. It constitutes a LMedG innovation, deriving from the grammaticalization and univerbation of the interrogative cleft sentence τί ἔν’/εῖν’ τὰ (λέγεις, κάμνεις etc.) “what is it that [rel.] you (say, do, etc.)”. This etymology was already proposed by Korais (KORAI 1828/35: I 299, II 149–50) and repeated in MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 614, MEYER 1889: 174–5, HATZIDAKIS 1892: 287, CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 326 and JANNARIS 1897: 164. More recently it was discussed and elaborated by NICHOLAS 2004; cf. also HORROCKS ²2010: 293.⁸⁰ According to this analysis, the cleft sentence τί εἶναι τὰ is first univerbated to τεῖντα, the chronologically earlier form to appear, and the new pronoun then loses its initial /t/ through dissimilation or haplology. The etymological attribution affects the orthography of the word, which is variously spelled, both in sources and by modern editors and scholars, as εῖντα (< τί + εἶναι), ῖντα (< τί + ἔναι) or ῆντα (< τί + ῆν). Three issues require discussion concerning this etymology:

- a) The MedG form of the 3rd person sg. and pl. of the copula is by far more frequently ἔνι/ἔναι than εἶναι. Therefore, the resulting form might have been expected to be *τέντα, *ἔντα, considering that, according to the vowel hierarchy (I, 2.9.2), /i/ is the weakest vowel and is normally deleted in adjacency with /e/. As already pointed out by JANNARIS (1897: 164), in this case it should be assumed that the strong stress accent of the interrogative τί contributed to its preservation, combined with the fact that the copula in MedG may sometimes be unstressed/enclitic (see I, 4.2.2). It is occasionally the case that a stressed weaker vowel prevails over the one immediately preceding in the hierarchy if the latter is unstressed (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 313; see also I, 2.9.2). Therefore, the origin of the univerbation must actually have been the cleft τί ἔνι τὸ/τὰ, with enclitic ἔνι liable to delete either or both of its vowels depending on context. In fact, ἔν is already frequently attested since the EMedG period, mostly in collocation with τί (see III, 4.8.1). From this viewpoint, the etymologically “correct” spelling of the pronoun is ῖντα and not εῖντα, since the initial /i/ belongs to the interrogative τί and not to the copula (JANNARIS 1897: 164).
- b) The cleft sentence appears in LMedG and EMG texts as both τί ἔναι τὸ and τί ἔναι τὰ, but the new uninflected pronoun never ends in /o/ (*τίντο/*ῖντο), although this variant is mentioned by Pachomios Roussanos (see above note) and is attested in MG dialects, mainly in Pontic (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 326; PERNOT 1907/46: II 239). It should perhaps be assumed that ἵντα underwent the analogical influence of the acc. sg. τίνα or the adverbial suffix -α. The adverbial analysis is corroborated by rare forms with addition of final /s/, a phenomenon common in adverbs (see 4.2.3), e.g. ἵντας λογιῆς ἢ γνώμη του εἶναι MONTSEL., Evgena 436.

⁸⁰ In fact, the first to propose this etymology was Pachomios Roussanos in the 16th c.: καὶ Κρητες ῖντα θές ἀντὶ τοῦ τί θέλεις, καὶ τί λές ἕτεροι ἀντὶ τοῦ τί λέγεις, ἅπερ κατὰ ἀφαίρεσιν, ἢ ἀποκοπὴν τε καὶ συγκοπὴν τῶν συλλαβῶν οὕτω φέρεται, ἥτοι ἀπὸ τοῦ οὐδὲν ἀττικοῦ δὲν, ἀντὶ τοῦ οὐ καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ τί ἔνι τὸ καὶ τί ἔνι τὰ, τίντο καὶ τίντα, ὥς παρὰ Λεσβίοις, ἐξ οὗ παρὰ Κρησὶ καὶ ἄλλοις ραθύμοις, τὸ ῖντα (PACH. ROUS., Peri ofel. 70.24–30).

- c) The deletion of the initial /t/ in τίντα cannot be explained phonetically, as there is no process in MedG regularly deleting initial consonants. This has led some scholars to propose alternative etymologies for ἵντα: according to THUMB (1891: 112) it should be derived from the AG interjection ἦν (=“ἰδοῦ”) and the interrogative τί; this analysis lacks both credibility and MedG attestations. According to TARABOUT (1978) it derives from the EMG form γιάιντα (<γιά εἶναι τά) through loss of γιά.⁸¹ This analysis, as pointed out by NICHOLAS (2004), goes both against the historical record, as τίντα/ἵντα appears much earlier than γιάιντα, and against the normal syntactic rules of MedG and MG, which do not provide for a syntagm “γιά εἶναι τά”. Therefore, the “standard” etymology is still the best one available, and a non-phonetic motivation for the loss of initial /t/ must be sought. It is usually proposed that it is due to dissimilatory haplology occurring either when the interrogative clause is introduced by a definite article (τὸ τίντα λέγεις > τὸ ἵντα λέγεις, MEYER 1889: 174), or when the pronoun is preceded by a word ending in /n/ (τὸν τίντα εἶχε > τὸν ἵντα εἶχε, NICHOLAS 2004).

As for the chronology and the distribution of the pronoun, the first instances of the new construction are to be dated to the EMedG period, when the cleft sentence τί + copula + relative τόν, τήν, τὸ first appears, e.g. τί ἔν τὸ ἔχεις, κύριε Μόσχε; Moschos, Leimon 3064.23. The cleft construction, both in the singular and in the plural, is attested in several LMedG literary texts, without geographical restriction:

καὶ τί ἔν τὸ συντυχαίνεις Ptoch. IV 465 τί ἔν τὸ τζυγαρίζεσαι Log. parig. L 563 ἀφέντη, τί ἔν' τὸ κάμνεις; Chron. Mor. H 3907 τί ἔν τὸ τζαμπουνίζεις; Diig. tetr. 199 νὰ μάθης τί ἔν' τὸ λέγω Achil. N 327; οὐκ οἶδα τί ἔν' τὸ πάσχεις ibid. 950 καὶ τί ἔν' τὸ ἐμποδίζονται Achil. O 203; ἄκου τ' ἔν' τήν λέγειν ibid. 661 τί ἔναι τὸ ζήτημά σου; DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 458 τί ἔν' τὸ λές; FALIEROS, Ist. On. 55

The unverbated form τίντα first appears in the 15th c. The earliest attestations are to be found in the older of the two manuscripts of the Assizes (dated 1469), where it occurs several times, in contrast to ἵντα, which is unattested in this witness of the text. It also appears in Digenis E (τίντα only) and Livistros E (τίντα and ἵντα), two texts transmitted in the same Escorial manuscript (late 15th c.). The attestations in other works, which may have been composed in the 14th c. or earlier (e.g. the poems of Sachlikis), cannot be securely dated, as none of the manuscripts in which they are preserved is dated before the end of the 15th c., and therefore the instances of τίντα/ἵντα could be later features/interpolations. An indication for the chronological precedence of τίντα over ἵντα is the fact that in Cypriot sources it appears with higher frequency in earlier than in later texts (HADJIOANNOU 1988: 203–4; KOUNDOURIS 2009: 121–2), and that in general the use of τίντα recedes in all areas, to be replaced by ἵντα.

⁸¹ The form γιάιντα/γιάιντα (= “why”) is common in Cretan texts, and also appears in texts from Cyprus with the meaning “for which”, see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.

Concerning the distribution of the pronoun, it occurs mostly in literary texts, as direct and indirect questions are rare in legal sources. The areas in which the pronoun has been located are: Cyprus, Crete, Cythera, Naxos, Santorini, Sifnos and Chios, a distribution which is corroborated by modern dialectal evidence (CONTOSSOPOULOS 1983/84). The only exceptions are a few instances to be found in literary works from the Heptanese (Zinon, Evgena and the early 18th-c. Ifigeneia and Klathmos Peloponnissou), but these should rather be attributed to the strong influence of Cretan drama.

τίντα

- ἄκο τὸ τίντα λέγει Dig. E 517
καὶ πόσα τὴν ἐσύντυχᾶ καὶ τίντα μὲ ἀπιλογήθη Liv. E 2074 τίντα δύναται γενέσται Assizes B 251.24; τίντα μέλλει νὰ γένη ibid. 403.18 ἄκο τὸ τεῖντα κάμνει CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 347 κυρά, διὰ τίντα διάφορον, κυρά, διὰ τίντα κέρδος Katal. 81 (Panayotopoulou) γνώθει τὸ τεῖντα πᾶσχει Flor. L 1543 τίντα ἐμπαίνει νὰ δώσῃ Assizes A 5.2
τί χολιάζεις, τίντα πλήσσεις; Ptochol. P 177 μὲ τεῖντα πρόσωπον DELLAP., Peri antapod. 15 τίντα μέλλει νὰ γινῇ; MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 66.32 ἔγω ξεύρω τίντα χάνει LIMEN., Than. Rod. 243 (τ' ἵντα ed.) ἐθαυμάζουμου τὸ τίντα νὰ γυρεύῃ FALIEROS, Ist. On. 194 πε μου τίντα πράμαν θέλεις νὰ ποίσεις! VOUSTR., Chron. A 142.3
διὰ τεῖντα ἀφορμὴν Fior 147.16; τεῖντα ἔνι ἡ παράδεισος καὶ ἡ κόλασις ibid. 150.17 τίντ' ἀφορμὴ σ' ἐβιάσεν, ριζικόν μου Cypr. Canz. 9.1
ἰδέτε ὀλλίγον τεῖντα λέγει ἡ θεία Γραφή Pist. kekoim. 71 ἀκούσατε τίντά 'τον Thrinios Kypr. 39

ἵντα

- τὸ ἵντα θέλεις πάθειν Liv. E 492 περὶ τοῦ Ρωμαίου καὶ τοῦ Φράγκου καὶ ἵντα μάρτυραν χρῆζονται Assizes A 8.4 τεῖντα καλὸν θωρεῖς λοιπόν, εἵντα παρηγορία SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 240 ἵντα δύναμιν ἔχουν οἱ ἀσίζες σας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 94.30 εἵντα κακὸ θές νὰ γροικῶ Rim. kor. A 77 κυρά, καὶ ἵντα σὲ φελεῖ νὰ κάθῃ στὸ σπῆτι BERGADIS, Apok. V 209 ἂν τύχη νὰ γνωρίσωμεν ἵντα νὰ φέρῃ φέλος FALIEROS, Thrinios 336 καὶ ἵντα πρόφασιν νὰ βρῶ PIKAT., Rima thrin. 77 ἵντα ὀρδινον νὰ ποίσουν VOUSTR., Chron. A 86.19 ἵντα βουλή νὰ κάμωμε, τί στράτα νὰ κρατοῦμε Fyll. gadar. 10a μὲ εἵντα μόνον SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 445.568 δια ἦντα ὑπόθεσι εἶναι / διὰ ἵντα ὑπόθεση εἶναι (1546, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 11, 48.4) μὲ ἵντα μόνον εἶναι καμωμένος (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 216.11) οὐδὲ νιώθει ἵντά 'ν ἡ βράστη Cypr. Canz. 109.11 σ' ἵντα σκουνοτύφλα βρίσκεσαι, ἀνεμικὴ κι ἀντάρα; Thysia Avr. 68 νὰ ζαμιναριστῇ ἵντά 'χει καμωμένα (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 180.66) διὰ νὰ φαίνεται ἴντα εὐρίσκεται τὴν σήμερον (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 141.52) γιὰ νὰ γενῆς ἴντα; VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.33 δὲν ἤξερω ἢ ἀφορμὴ ἴντὰ 'τονε (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 24.7) ἴντὰ 'ναι τοῦτα ποὺ μοῦ λὲς MONTSEL., Evgena 543, φαίνεται ἴντα 'χει βαλμένα ἀφέντης ὁ Μιχελέτος (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 109.111) ἄς κρᾶξω τὸν Εὐφημιανό, ἴντα θὰ πεῖ νὰ δοῦμε ZINON I.66 ἴντα καρδία λογιᾶζετε πὼς νὰ εἴχαμεν οἱ καημένοι Rim. Sant. 437 μωρὲ σκύλοι, ἴντὰ 'ναι τοῦτα (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 769, 1045.13) εἴντα εἶναι αὐτὲς οἱ ἀποκοτιές AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 189 καὶ δὲν ἤξεύρω τί νὰ 'πῶ μὴδ' ἴντα λογαριάζω VEST., Pathi 186 καὶ δὲν ἐγνώριζεν ποτὲ ἴντὰ 'ναι ἢ ἐσπέρα PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 156

Τίντα/ἴντα may be used both as a pronoun and as a determiner, and both in direct and indirect questions, as well as in exclamatory clauses. Its use exactly parallels that of the neuter interrogative τί (see 5.7.1.3).

τίντα μέλλει νὰ γένη Assizes B 403.18 πε μας! ἴντα ζητάτε; VOUSTR., Chron. A 302.2 τεῖντα ἔνι ἢ παράδεισος καὶ ἢ κόλασις Fior 150.17 ἐγὼ τὸ κατέχω ἴντα θέλει (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 5, 173.34) εἴντα τὸν θέλομεν τὸν πλοῦτον, δὲν βλέποντας νὰ τὸν θωροῦμεν! Diig. Sant. 58.2.3
 πε μου τίντα πράμαν θέλεις νὰ ποίσεις! VOUSTR., Chron. A 142.3
 τίντ' ἀδικιὰ | νὰ λέπω 'ποὺ τὰ πλάγη της! Cyp. Canz. 125.39 ἴντα σφάλμα ἔναι ἐτοῦτο MOREZINOS, Klini 154.16 εἴντα τέλος νᾶχουε ἐτοῦτα τὰ σημάδια (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.IV, 43.2–3) σ' ἴντα γκρεμό, σ' ἴντα βυθὸ σὲ πάει τὸ ριζικό σου KORNAROS, Erot. III.152

In indirect questions, it may be preceded by the substantivizing neuter definite article, e.g.:

ἀπλῶνω, πιάνω τὴν γραφὴν, θιωρῶ τὸ τεῖντα γράφει Liv. E 1941 ἐζήτησέν τοὺς βουλὴν τὸ τίντα νὰ ποίση MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 160.33 νὰ σοῦ ἐρμηνεύσουσιν τὸ τεῖντα θέλεις ποίσει DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 86 ἐγνωρίσαμεν τὸ ἴντα μᾶς ἐβγατίζει (1554, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 216, 191.23) νὰ μάθω τὸ ἴντα ἐγίνη KORNAROS, Erot. V.588

5.7.2 Quantitative/qualitative Interrogatives

5.7.2.1 πόσος

The MedG pronoun and determiner πόσος, πόση, πόσον is a direct continuation of AG πόσος. It is used throughout the period as the main quantitative interrogative pronoun and retains this role in MG. It inflects as a regular adjective in -ος (see 3.2.1). No extended forms have been located in the corpus examined. Very rarely, as an archaic survival, the pronoun ὀπόσος may be found, introducing direct exclamatory clauses, e.g.: ὀπόσους ἐκ τὸν κίνδυνον τοὺς ἔχεις λυτρωμένους | κι εἰσὲ καλὸν καὶ ἀνάπαυσιν τοὺς ἔχεις ἀφερμένους DEFAR., Log. did. 763–4.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	πόσος	πόση	πόσο(ν)
Gen.	πόσου	πόσης	(πόσου)
Acc.	πόσο(ν)	πόση(ν)	πόσο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	πόσοι	πόσαι ἢ πόσες	πόσα
Gen.	πόσων	πόσων	πόσων
Acc.	πόσους	πόσας ἢ πόσες	πόσα

Singular

Masculine Nominative

καὶ πόσος ἐπαρέλαβεν κλόνος τὸν λογισμόν μου Liv. α 2091 ὦ πόσος ἦτονε βαθὺς ὁ τόπος ὁ θλιμμένος, P&N Diath. 113 πόσος καιρὸς ἀπέρασεν ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 75 πόσος ἀσβέστης Diath. Nikon Metan. 92 πόσος λαὸς ἐχάθηκεν ἐκεῖ τὴν ὥρα κείνη! ΒΟΥΝΙΑΛΙΣ Μ., Diig. Pol. 451.20 πόσος λαὸς πρεμαζωμένος τρέχει ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. II.1464

Masculine Genitive

ἔμαθα τὰ γραμματικά πλην μετὰ κόπου πόσου Ptoch. III 80 τὸ πόσου χρόνου διάστημα παρέδραμα διὰ σένα Liv. V 1143 καὶ μετὰ πόσου στεναγμοῦ καὶ μετὰ πόσου πόνου [ΑΝΔΡ. ΠΑΛΑΙΟΛ.], Kallim. 1382 καὶ τὸ παιδί πόσου καιροῦ νὰ 'τονε ὄντε τὸ 'τιάσα; ΦΟΣΚΟΛΟΣ, Fort. IV.535

Masculine Accusative

πόσον πόθον εἶχες Spaneas V 30 εἰς πόσον φόβον Liv. E 2946 πόσον καιρὸν ἐκράτουναι καὶ οὐδὲν σὲ ἐγροΐκουν Liv. E 1670 βλέπετε εἰς πόσον τρομασμόν στέκει ἡ Χριστιανότης Alosis 990 ὦ πόσον ἀναγαλλιασμὸ εἶχαν οἱ γαμουλιῶτες P&N Diath. 2414 νὰ λογιᾷσαι πόσον πόνον καὶ λύπην ἐπήρασιν ΜΟΡΕΖΙΝΟΣ, Klini 25.13 κ' ἐδὰ σὲ πόσο κίντυνο στέκομαι CHORTATSI, Erof. II.331 πόσον καημὸν ὅπου βαστᾷ διὰ σένα ἡ καρδιά μου! ΜΟΝΤΣΕΛ., Evgena 968 πόσον φόβον καὶ τρόμον ΓΑΒΡΙΗΛΟΠ., Diig. panouklas 95.22

Feminine Nominative

ἔ, πόση παραπρόνεσις εἰς τὴν ψυχὴν μου κεῖται Ptoch. IV 634 γίνεται πόση ταραχὴ καὶ ἀπάντησις μεγάλη Liv. V 3953 πόση χαρὰ καὶ αγαλλίασις μου ἦλθεν ἐξαίφνης! ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 110.4
 νὰ μετρήσῃ πόσον εἶναι τὸ κρίμα καὶ πόση εἶναι ἡ ἐντροπὴ τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ του ΜΟΡΕΖΙΝΟΣ, Klini 44.3
 πόση μεγάλη καὶ πολλή εἰν' ἡ γεμπόρεσή σου CHORTATSI, Panor. IV.378 πόση μεγάλη ἀμαρτία εἶναι ἡ παρακοὴ PAPSYNAD., Chron. III §27.14 πόση χαρὰ ἐγένηκεν ἐκείνην τὴν ἡμέραν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 8403 καὶ πόση περιδιάβαση σ' ὅλη τὴ χώρα ἐγένη KORNAPOS, Erot. V.1458

Feminine Genitive

καὶ μετὰ πόσης ἡδονῆς [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1957 πόσης λίγης εἶσαι καρδιάς Pist. voskos II.5.290

Feminine Accusative

τὸ πόσῃ δ' εἶχες προσοχὴν Spaneas Va 39 γὰρ δέτε πόσῃ ἀδικία ὁ ἀσεβὴς ἐποίκειν Apoll. Rim. N 105 πόσῃ τιμῇ νὰ δώσω; ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 90.23 πόσῃ ζημίαν ἀριθμεῖς τότε σ' αὐτοὺς νὰ κάμα; ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1749 πόσῃ καλῇ καρδίᾳ, πόσῃ γλυκότη ... εἶχα οἱ ἀθρῶποι γνωρισμένη! CHORTATISIS, Erof. Chor. II.486 πόσῃ ἐπιθυμίᾳ καὶ εὐλάβειαν εἶχες MOREZINOS, Klini 29.22 πόση χαρὰ τ' ἀντρώγων ἐπήραμεν ἀντάμι Thysia Avr. 385 πόσῃ ὁμορφίᾳ θωρῶ MONTSEL., Evgena 771 εἶδες μὲ πόσῃν εὐκολίᾳ, μὲ ἴντα πιδεξοσύνη FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.257

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

καὶ πόσο σπλάχνος ἀπειρον, οὐκ ἡμπορῶ νὰ λέγω Liv. V 3948 μὲ πόσον παρηγόρημα ἐδιέβηκα ἐκ τὴν Τροίαν Pol. Tr. 1176 (X) τότε θέλετε ἰδεῖ τὸ ὑπόλοιπον πόσον εἶναι καὶ πόσον ἀπομένει (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.21) ἀθυμίζω σε πόσον κακὸν θέλειν γινεῖν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 480.15 πόσον κανίσκιν ἔφερον αὐτοὶ τὸν βασιλέαν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 668 πόσο χάρισμα βλέπω τὴν ὥρα ὁμπρὸς μου; Apoll. Rim. A 1786 πόσον κακὸν λογιάζεται νὰ πάρει MOREZINOS, Klini 13.29 πόσο εἶναι τὸ χρέος τῆς (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32.31) πόσον πράγμα τοῦ ἐπήρασιν (1678, Rome, DOKOS 1963: I, 45.8) ὦ πόσον κρίμα θαυμαστὸν ἐγένετον εἰς ἐκείνους Diig. Alex. Sem. S 176

Plural

Masculine Nominative

κι ὅσον τοὺς περιεσώρψεν, ἐγνώμιασεν πόσοι ἦσαν Chron. Mor. H 4699 καὶ πόσοι ἐβουλήθησαν νὰ μὲ τὴν ἀφαρπάξουν Dig. E 1737 τὸ πόσοι θέλουν χωριστῇ νὰ σέβουν εἰς τὸ κάστρο Chron. Toc. 2784 οὐκ οἶδα πόσοι νᾶταν Achil. O 563 πόσοι δι' αὐτὲς τὲς δυὸ ἀμαρτιῆς μεγάλοι ἐκομπωθῆκαν FALIEROS, Log. did. 117 πόσοι νὰ καταλύθησαν καὶ νὰ σᾶς τ' ἀναφέρω SKLAVOS, Symf. 25 δὲν βλέπεις ἐδῶ πόσοι ἀνθρώποι σὲ ταυρίζουν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 359.13 δὲν ἤξεύρει καλᾶ πόσοι χρόνοι εἶναι (1581, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 9, 105.22) δὲν κατέχω ποὺ καὶ πόσοι νὰ εἶναι ἐκεῖνοι ἀποὺ νὰ κρατοῦσι τὴν στράταν MOREZINOS, Klini 130.9
 γὰρ ἰδὲς πόσοι εἰς τὸν κόσμον ἀπέθαναν PAPSYNAD., Chron. IV §1.12 πόσοι δόλιοι Χριστιανοὶ μέλλουσι ν' ἀποθάνου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 216.13 νὰ εἰπῶ τόσοι καὶ πόσοι DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 277 πόσοι ποντικοὶ νὰ θέλασινε σμίξουν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1795 πόσοι χρόνοι ὁποῦ τὸν ἐστεφανώθη (1683, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 56, 266.10)

Masculine Accusative

- πόσους ἔφερε δούλους; Dig. G II.61 πόσους νὰ πλέξω στίχους Ptoch. III 142 πόσους τέτοιους ὥσάν ἐσὲν ἔχει στὴν ἐξουσίαν του; Chron. Mor. H 3763 σὺ δέ, καλὲ νεώτερε, πόσους δύνασαι κρούειν; Dig. A 1633 μὲ πόσους τρόπους FALIEROS, Thrinos 301 πόσους στρατιώτες ἔπιασα CHORTATSI, Erof. Intern. III.15 πόσους νέους ἐσκότωσεν ἀδίκως, χωρὶς πταίνειν! Diig. Alex. Sem. B 869

Feminine Nominative

- πόσαι εἰσὶν αἱ κακαὶ σου ἡμέραι Spanos D 1262 οὐ γινώσκει πόσες εἰσὶν (1334, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 43, 134.17) καὶ ἐπηρώτησα μαθεῖν, Πόσαι εἰσὶν ἡμέραι Dig. G V.155 κουροῦνες πόσες ἤμποροῦν ἀετοῦ βρῶμα νὰ πάρουν; Dig. E 880 πόσες ἐμείναν χῆρες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 392.9 πόσες φωτιεὶς τὰ μέλη μου καΐσινε τὰ καημένα CHORTATSI, Panor. II.360

Feminine Accusative

- πόσας χορταίνουν ἡδονὰς Log. parig. L 730 πόσας ἡμέρας ἤθελεν γένει (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 59, 48.5) διὰ πόσας αἰτίας Assizes B 439.28 εἰς πόσας γνώμας καὶ μορφὰς Plani kosmou 126 περὶ τοῦ πόσας πόρτας ἔχει ... ἡ Κωνσταντινούπολις (16th c., Constantinople?, BENEŠEVIĆ 1919: 408.1 app. crit.)
 διὰ πόσες ἡμέρες (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 43, 36.2) πῶς νὰ βιγλίζουν καὶ πόσες βίγλες νὰ πολομοῦν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 384.14 οὐδὲ κατέχουσι πόσες χιλιάδες χρῆζω Ptochol. P 124 πόσες πικρίες, πόσες χολές καὶ συμφορές του βίου; Diig. Apoll. 687 καὶ πόσες τέχνες πολεμεῖ Theseid V.7,7 (1529) πόσες φορές Cypr. Canz. 104.21 εἰς τὲς πόσες τοῦ μηνὸς (ca. 1560, Ancona, MARKOS 1977: Ia, 27.7) πόσες γλῶσσες ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1551 πόσες ξυλὲς καὶ πόσα στρεβλώματα παθαίνουν PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §1.15 πόσες ἐσκοτωθῆκασιν, πόσες ἐζουγλαθῆκα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 295.11 αὔριο πόσες ἔχομε; Paroim. (Warner) 40.9

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

- καὶ πόσα μυξοκλάματα καὶ παρακαλεσίαις Ptoch. IV 315 νὰ εὕρης, πόσα ἐμοίρασε πασάντας (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 9, 20.6) νὰ πῇ ὀμπρός του πόσα τοῦ χρεωστεῖ Assizes B 309.2
 πόσα κακὰ παθάνουσιν οἱ δυστυχοτυχοῦντες Log. parig. L 725 πόσα κοράσια ἐποίκειν τότες ν' αναστενάξουν Theseid VI.18,5 (Olsen) το πόσα παύει ο θάνατος, πόσα κατασχολάζει Diig. Apoll. 686 πόσα χίλια βάσανα CHORTATSI, Katz. III.293
 τὰ δύο χοιρίδια πόσα ποδάρια ἔχουσι; Vios Aisop. D 222.5
 καὶ πόσα κύματά ρχονται, ὅταν μανίαν ἔχουν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1560 δεν ξέρει πόσα εἶναι (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 3235.)
 ἀποφασίζει χωρὶς λογαριασμόν τὰ πόσα κάνουσι (1665, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 4, 21.25) ὦ πόσα δάκρυα ἐχύθησα, πόσες φωνὲς ἐβγαῖνα P&N Diath. 4046 ὦ πόσα δάκρυα ἤθελε χύση MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2386

Masculine/Feminine/Neuter Genitive

πόσων υπόθεσων Assizes B 438.10

καὶ πῶς μὲ πόσον πειρασμὸν καὶ μετὰ πόσων πόνων Liv. V 3850 πόσων χρόνων πρέπει νὰ εἶναι ὁ ἄνθρωπος καὶ πόσων ἡ γυναῖκα πρὶν ὀρμαστοῦν Assizes A 14.13

μετὰ χαρίτων πόσων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1915 παρὰ πόσων ὑποθέσεων Pist. kekoim. 53.525 πόσων κακῶν καὶ πόσων σκανδάλων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 107.4–5 πόσων χρόνων εἶσαι; (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 401.29)

Meaning and Usage

Πόσος is used both as a pronoun and as a determiner, and introduces direct and indirect interrogative clauses, as well as exclamatory clauses. The neut. acc. sg. and pl. may also function adverbially with the meaning “how much”, continuing ancient usage, e.g.:

πόσον μακριὰ εὐρίσκεται τῆς κορυφῆς, ν' αθροίσεις IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 9368

ὦ, πόσον καλὰ ὁπού ἔκαμεν ὁ πατέρας σου Bertold. 129.1

πόσο ἡ καρδιά μου ἀναγαλλιᾷ, πόσο τὰ σωθικά μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.325 εἰπέ με πόσα μὲ ἀγαπᾷς, τόσα νὰ σὲ ἀγαπήσω Katal. 34 (Panayotopoulou) πόσα στενάζει δι' ἐμὲ ἡ πάντερπνος ἀηδόνα Dig. A 946 τ' ἀμάρτια δὲ μποροῦσι πόσα πιστὰ καὶ σπλαχνικὰ τὸν ἀγαπῶ CHORTATIS, Erof. III.164

5.7.2.2 ποταπός

The pronoun ποταπός “of what kind” derives from the AG interrogative pronoun ποδαπός, with the original meaning “from what country” (cf. ἄλλοδαπός). The meaning of the pronoun was generalized to “of what kind” already since the late Koine (ΜΑΥΡΟΦΡΥΔΙΣ 1871: 619; JANNARIS 1897: 164; DIETERICH 1904a: 13; PSALTES 1913: 73–4), and the variant ποταπός is first attested in the same period. In LMedG and EMG vernacular texts, the form ποδαπός appears very rarely, and the normal form is ποταπός, with the meanings “from what country”, “of what kind” and “how big/how great” (KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.).

The pronoun inflects as a regular adjective in -ος (see 3.2.1). There are also variants with stress shift to the penultimate (ποτάπος) and to the antepenultimate (πόταπος). CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: B 438) suggests an analogy to other interrogative pronouns with penultimate stress, such as πότε, πόσος or τίνος, but the oxytone ποιός is a counter-argument to this analysis. It is more likely that the stress shift is connected to the innovative exclamatory meaning “how big/great” which brings this pronoun closer to quantitative/qualitative demonstrative pronouns such as τόσος, τοιοῦτος and τέτοιος. The pronoun ποταπός does not have a specific geographical distribution and appears mostly in literary texts; its use declines from the 17th c. onwards, although it is retained in some MG dialects (ANDRIOTIS, Lex. Arch. s.v. ποταπός).⁸²

⁸² There is a dubious attestation of a form πεταπός from Chios, τὴν ὁποίαν κούπαν τὴν ἡξεύρουν οἱ ἐπιτρόποι τοῦ πεταπῆ εἶναι (1612, Chios, ΦΟΤΕΙΝΟΣ 1865: 213.24), which, if valid, is probably influenced by the form ἅπτε for ἅπό.

The older form ποδαπός appears in isolated cases, e.g.: ἄμα «ποδαπὴν», τώρ' εἶπες, «νὰ γένη ὡς ἐγίνη», | καὶ ἡ κρίση σου, ὡς τὴν ἔκρινες, παντοτινὴ νὰ μείνη Def. Par. 297.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	ποταπός ποτάπος (πόταπος)	ποταπή ποτάπη	ποταπό(ν) ποτάπο(ν)
Gen.	ποταποῦ	ποταπῆς	ποταποῦ ποτάπου
Acc.	ποταπό(ν) ποτάπο(ν)	ποταπή(ν) ποτάπη(ν)	ποταπό(ν) ποτάπο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	ποταποί ποτάποι	ποταπές	ποταπά
Gen.	(ποταπῶν)	(ποταπῶν)	(ποταπῶν)
Acc.	(ποταπούς)	ποταπάς (ποταπές)	ποταπά

Singular

Masculine Nominative

πόθεν ἦν καὶ ποταπὸς Log. parig. L 92 ποταπὸς ἄνθρωπος ἐντέχεται νὰ ἔνι ὁ δεσπότης Assizes B 273.13 ποταπὸς ἔνε; (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1331) νὰ τῆς δεῖξη διὰ τὸ παιδί, ποταπὸς θέλει γένη Diig. Alex. V 27.6 ἔρώτα τὸν Φιλόνην· «Ποταπὸς ἄνδρας ἔνι ὁ Πῶρος; Diig. Alex. E 93.27 (Konstantinopulos) ἰδέτε, ἀδελφοί, ποταπὸς ἔναι ὁ φθόνος KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 471.13 ποταπός, ποταπή, ποταπόν SOFIANOS, Grammar 45.19 νὰ σὰς εἶπουν ποτάπος ἀντρειωμένος ἦτον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 238.20

Masculine Genitive

ποταποῦ ἀνθρώπου δίδει τὸ ἐσπίτιν του Assizes A 160.1

Masculine Accusative

ποταπόν ἄνθρωπον ἐντέχεται νὰ ποίσουν βισκούντην Assizes B 274.30 ὕπνον ποτάπον, φίλε μου, μυριομεριμνημένον Liv. V 1965 καὶ εἰς τὴν καρδιά μου ἐσέβασα πόθον, ἀλλὰ ποτάπον! Katal. 507 (Panayotopoulou)

Feminine Nominative

ἡ κουμέρκι εἰς τὸν φόρον, ὅπου ἂν τύχη, ἡ ποταπή δουλεία αὐθεντική (1350–1?, Athos?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 130, 45.26) νὰ τὴν ἰδῇ ποταπή ἔναι καὶ ποία Log. parig. L 34 ποταπή ὑπόθεσι; (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1884) ποταπή γλῶσσα τὴν χάριν εἶπη; [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 790 ἡβλέπετε, ἀδελφοί, ποταπή ἔναι ἡ παρακοή KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 305.22; διὰ νὰ ἐνθυμούμεσθην τὴν αὐτοῦ πολιτείαν ποταπή ἦτονε ibid. 460.22 ὦ, τίνα κλάμαν, καὶ ποτάπη λύπη ἐγίνετον! MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 522.23

Feminine Genitive

μετὰ δὲ ποίας λαμπρότητος καὶ ποταπῆς Eisit. f.6v.20
 καὶ χώρας ποίας καὶ | ποταπῆς, καὶ τί γενέας ὑπάρχεις Flor. L 1381; καὶ πόθεν ἐγεννήθησαν, καὶ ποταπῆς θρησκείας ibid. 1747 χώρας ποίας ποταπῆς Byz. Il. 628 καὶ μετὰ πόσης ἡδονῆς καὶ ποταπῆς καρδίας [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1957 χώρας ποίας, ποταπῆς εἶν' τὰ συγγενικά σου Imb. Rim. 868 νὰ ἔχομεν ἐπιμέλειαν ποταπῆς λογῆς καὶ καταστάσεως ἔναι ὁ διδάσκαλος SOFIANOS, Paidag.
 101.5

Feminine Accusative

καὶ ποταπὴν ἀντίληψιν ἔδειξεν Spaneas V 85 ποταπὴν ὑπόληψιν ἔδειξεν Spaneas P 33 στράταν ποταπὴν Log. parig. L 127 μὲ ποταπὴν ὑπόθεσιν Chron. Mor. H 2115 πῶς ποταπὴν παρὰξενον ἐκράτειεν ἐκ τὸ χέριν Liv. V 3338 ποταπὴν τιμωρίαν ἐντέχεται νὰ ἔχη Assizes B 281.21 ποταπὴν νὰ εἶχεν φύσιν Plani kosmou 125 χαρὰν ἐχάρην ποταπὴν, χαρὰν, ἀλλὰ μεγάλην Flor. L 906 μὲ ποταπὴν φροντίδαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1014 ἠρώτησεν αὐτὸν ὁ Γοργίας ποταπὴν γνώμην ἔχει περὶ τοῦ μεγάλου βασιλέως SOFIANOS, Paidag. 105.20–1
 ἠρώτησεν ο θυρωρός τί ἐζήτει καὶ ποταπὴν ἐπιστήμην ἤξευρεν LANDOS, Amart. sot. 333.6; καὶ ποταπὴν φύσιν ἔχουσι, θερμὴ ἢ ψυχρὴ id., Geopon. 173.22 ποταπὴ ἀγάπη καὶ ὄρεξι ἔχει ὁ λαὸς (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.22) ποτάπην νὰ εὖρω ἀντίχαριν, φίλε, εἰς τὴν σὴν φιλίαν; Liv. S 2592 (= α 3891 Agapitos) ποτάπην τιμωρίαν καὶ ζημίαν ἐντέχεται νὰ πλερώσουν Assizes A 116.2
 με συντροφία ποτάπη Theseid II.3,8 (1529)

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

ποταπὸν δίκαιον χρὴ γενέσται Assizes B 266.27; νὰ δοῦμεν ποταπὸν πρᾶγμα ἐνὶ τὸ δανεικὸν
ibid. 294.4
 πάθος ὑπέστη ποταπὸν Velth. 390 ἐν ἑκαστον πόσον καὶ ποταπὸν ἔναι, ὅς σκοπήσωμεν SOFIANOS, Paidag. 115.7
 ἴδε ποταπὸν ἀνθρωπάριον μὲ ἐμπόδισε Vios Aisop. D 235.26 φαρίν ποτάπον σύντομον νὰ διώκη τοὺς ἀέρας Flor. L 526; μάθε λοιπὸν τὸ πύργωμαν ποτάπον ἐν' τοῦ πύργου ibid. 1316 ποτάπον δίκαιον νὰ γένηται Assizes A 211.30 νὰ ἰδοῦμεν τὸ θέλημάν σου πόταπον εἶνε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 280.4

Neuter Genitive

γένους ἐγένου ποταποῦ καὶ χώρας ἀπὸ ποίας Liv. S 1966 (= α 3262); μετὰ καὶ μηχανήματος ποτάπου οὐκ ἐξεύρω ibid. 2074 (= α 3371)

Plural

Masculine Nominative

ποταποὶ ἀνθρωποὶ ἐντέχεται νὰ ἐνὶ οἱ ὀρκισμένοι Assizes B 276.15 ποταποὶ ἀνθρωποὶ πρέπει νὰ ἐνὶ οἱ κριτάδες Assizes A 4.4
 νὰ ὅῃς τὸν λόγον μας καὶ τοὺς ὅρκους μας ποτάποὶ ν'ἂνε βεβαιωμένοι καὶ στερεωμένοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 534.24

Feminine Nominative

ἦσαν οἱ ρύμνες ποταπὲς ὅλες μὲ τὸ μαντοῦνιν Pol. Tr. 1246 (XV) ποταπὲς κρίσεις ἐθεσπίστηκαν Assizes A 203.28

Feminine Accusative

τὰς ποταπὰς τὰς ἡδονὰς τὰς ἐρωτοενηδόνους Liv. S 2689 (= α 3988)

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

εἶδες τεχνίτην πανάριστον ποταπὰ κατεσκεύασε φάρμακα; Neophytos Engleistos, Pentikontakefalon 29.23

Ποταπός is used both as a pronoun and as a determiner (the latter use being much more frequent), and introduces direct and indirect interrogative clauses, e.g. ποταπὴν ἀντίληψιν ἔδειξεν Spaneas Va 95; ποτάπην νὰ εὕρω ἀνταμοιβὴν νὰ ποίσω πρὸς ἐσέναν Liv. V 3804; ποταπὸς εἶσαι; Vios Aisop. K 157.34. It may also introduce exclamatory clauses, e.g. καὶ κατὰ σοῦ κινᾷ θυμὸν καὶ ὀργὴν ἀλλὰ ποτάπην Flor. L 620; χαρὰν γὰρ εἶχε ποταπὴν, χαρὰν πολλήν, μεγάλην LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 430.

5.7.2.3 ποταποῖος

The pronoun ποταποῖος is a blend of ποταπός and ποῖος (KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.), first appearing in the 15th c. It has the meaning “of what kind” and is attested in a small number of texts (mainly literary), from Crete and other areas. It inflects as an adjective in -ος (see 3.2.2), and presents variant forms with stress shift to the ante-penultimate (ποτάποιος), probably on the analogy of κάποιος.

ὕπνον ποτάποιον, φίλε μου, μυριομεριμνισμένον Liv. E 2128; φίλον μου σὲ ἀπέδειξεν – καὶ ποταποῖον φίλον! ibid. 3756 φίλε, ποτάποιαν χάριν νὰ εὕρω εἰς τὴν φιλίαν τὴν καλὴν πολλὴν τὴν ἐδικὴν σου Liv. E 3758; ποτάποιαν νὰ εὕρω ἀνταμοιβὴν νὰ ποίσω εἰς τὴν φιλίαν σου ibid. 4148 ποταποῖαν ἔχει ἀγάπη πρὸς αὐτὸν Diig. Alex. F 124.4 (Konstantinopoulos) ἰδὲ ποτάποια πίστη! (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 1, 295.21)

καὶ τὸ ὄνομα ἐλάλησα καὶ χώρας ποταποῖας Liv. E 3637 ποτάποιο νὰ ’ν’ τὸ ἔλα σου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 77; καὶ ὁ νοῦς μου ἐδιαλογίζετο τὸ τέλος νὰ ’ν’ ποτάποιο ibid. 175

νὰ ἀνασταθοῦν, εἰπέ μου ποταποῖοι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2822

ὁ νοῦς μου στὰ φερνάμενα ποτάποια νὰ ’ν φοβώντα FALIEROS, Ist. On. 12

5.8 Indefinite Pronouns

LMedG and EMG present a great variety of indefinite pronouns. Some are inherited from earlier phases of the language (τις, δεῖνα, οὐδεῖς, μηδεῖς) and may or may not present innovative forms and functions or be restricted to specific registers, while others are MedG innovations, deriving from re-formation of various AG pronominal forms, e.g. ποιός > κάποιος, εἷς > κανεῖς, τι > κάτι, οὐδέ τι ποτέ > οὐδετίποτε. One may distinguish three main indefinite pronominal functions: (i) indefinite specific, appearing in positive clauses, and corresponding to English “someone, some, something”; (ii) indefinite non-specific, appearing in conditional and interrogative clauses, and corresponding to English “anyone, any, anything”; and (iii) indefinite non-specific appearing in negative clauses, and corresponding to English “no one, none, nothing”. Some pronouns serve only one function, while others may fulfil different functions depending on the syntactic context. The distribution of the MedG and EMG indefinite pronouns with respect to these function is the following:

Indefinite specific positive “someone/some/ something”	Indefinite non-specific interrogative “anyone/any/anything”	Indefinite negative “no one/no/nothing”
τις	τις	τις
τίποτε	τίποτε	τίποτε
		οὐδετινάς οὐδετίποτε
εἷς
κανείς (?)	κανείς	κανείς οὐδεκανείς μηδεκανείς οὐδείς
		μηδείς
κάποιος (ὁ)κάτις/κάτι
καμπόσος

One may also observe a certain diachronic progression within this schema (see also HORROCKS 2014a): the pronoun τις originally fulfilled, in AG, only functions (i) and (ii), but spread to (iii) in MedG. The resulting over-extension of usage may have led to the necessity of creating new pronouns to serve specific functions only, and therefore the new pronouns κάποιος and κάτις were created to serve function (i) exclusively, while a similar role was also assumed by the numeral εἷς “one”, which developed into an indefinite pronoun serving function (i). The new pronoun κανείς was created to serve function (iii), largely supplanting the AG negative pronouns οὐδείς and μηδείς, but spread almost immediately to function (ii) as well.

Outside this main tripartite distinction, there is also a small set of pronouns which lie somewhere between indefinite and demonstrative pronouns, and which have the meaning “so-and-so”: δεῖνα, ὅτωποῖος, ἐδεποῖος, ταδεποῖος.

5.8.1 τις

Τις is a direct continuation of the corresponding AG indefinite pronoun. However, it presents differences from its AG counterpart both formally, as it has developed innovative inflectional suffixes (see below), and functionally, as it has acquired new meanings and appears in a more extensive set of syntactic environments. In more detail, τις is used on the one hand in negative and affective environments, with the meaning “no one” (e.g. δέκα μῆνας τὸ κάμνασιν, τινὰς οὐκ ἤξευρέν το Velth. 1057; κόπτει τῶν νέων τὰς κεφαλὰς, τινὰν οὐδὲν λυπᾶται Diig. Alex. Sem. B 98), or “any (one)” (e.g. δύνεται τινὰς ἄνθρωπος νὰ πῇ τὴν θάλασσαν; Vios Aisop. D 229.4; νὰ δεῖ τινὰς νὰ φοβηθεῖ τόσα κορμιὰ καημένα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 223.6), and on the other in positive environments with the meaning “one” or “some” (e.g. ἔναι τινὲς καὶ ἡξεύρουσιν τὴν τέχνην τῆς μαγείας DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2673; ἦτονε τινὰς ἀφέντης MOREZINOS, Klini 42.1–2).

Τις has no separate feminine gender in the singular or plural. Because of its irregular inflectional pattern, it presents innovative forms in several inflectional slots, similarly to the homophonous interrogative pronoun (see 5.7.1.3). It is difficult to establish, on the basis of the written sources, whether τις retains its enclitic status in MedG, especially in the innovative disyllabic forms, i.e. whether these were indeed unstressed, with stress retraction to the previous word. Insofar as the pronoun may appear in first position in negative clauses (e.g. τινὰς οὐκ ἐμαζώνετον, μόνον ὁ κουτσοχέρης Arm. 125), and in indefinite clauses (e.g. τινὲς δὲ τῶν χιρεκάκων ἠνέφεραν τὸν αὐθέντην μου (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.31)), its status as a clitic is doubtful (on the topic see also IV, 5.3.2.2 and HORROCKS 2014a: 55–7). Therefore, the accentuation of this pronoun remains largely a matter of editorial choice.

The morphological re-formations in the masc./fem. tend towards conformity with the A-stem inflection (see 2.2), probably starting from the simple addition of final /n/ to the masc. acc. sg., which is attested already in the Koine (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 13, 18; GIGNAC 1981: 181): τινά > τινάν → τις > τινάς, τινές > τινάδες. Hypercorrect forms not reflecting true usage may appear as isolated instances, e.g. fem. nom. sg. τινά, fem. gen. sg. τινῆς and masc. acc. pl. τινούς; τινὰς ἄνθρωπος, τινὰ γυναῖκα, τινὰ πρᾶγμα, aliquis homo, aliqua mulier, aliquod negotium ROMANOS, Grammar 12.4–5; οὔτε καρποφορίας τινῆς (1269, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 318, 465.31); τόπους τινούς ὅπου ἔχομεν (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 9, 28.3).

	Masculine and Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	τις ἢ τινάς (masc. only)	τι
Gen.	τινὸς
Acc.	τινά(ν)	τι ἢ τινά(ν)

	Masculine and Feminine	Neuter
Plural
Nom.	τινές ἢ τινάδες	τινά
Gen.	τινῶν ἢ τινάδων (masc. only)	τινῶν
Acc.	τινάς ἢ τινές ἢ τινάδες (masc. only)	τινά

Singular

Masculine/Feminine

Nominative

The inherited form is τις, which continues to be used throughout the period under investigation and cannot be considered an exclusively learned element, despite being the older, conservative variant preferred in higher register texts. However, after the 15th c. its frequency decreases markedly in vernacular texts, due to competition both from the innovative form τινάς and from the new indefinite pronoun κάποιος.

The masc. nom. sg. τινάς seems to be well established already in the 15th c., and its great frequency and wide distribution in 15th c. texts would suggest that it is an earlier development.

General
τις ἢ τινάς

ἐὰν δέ τις παίδιος ὦν ... φθαρή δὲ ὑπὸ τινος ἀνδρὸς NIKON, Logos 3 188.21–2 εἰ μὲν ποτὲ καιροῦ ἀναφύη τις ἐκ τοῦς υἱοῦς (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 308.28) καὶ οἷος ἀπὸ τὸ γένος μου ἢ ἄλλος τις ἕτερος ξένος (13th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 95, 55.5) ὦ τις Ἀκρίτης ἕτερος ἐκεῖ νὰ εὐρέθην τότε Ptoch. IV 189; καὶ νὰ ἔνι τις κὰν δόκιμος, νὰ ἔχη ψυχὴν θρασείαν ibid. 486 ἐὰν τύχη τις τῶν εὐγενῶν κερδίσει τοιαύτην κόρην Liv. V 1961 ἂν ἔλθῃ ὁ κόντος ἢ ἄλλος τις ἀπὸ τοῦς συγγενούς του Chron. Mor. H 2345 ἂν τις Βενέτικος ποίση χρέος (1478–9, Constantinople, GILLILAND WRIGHT/MACKAY 2007: 270.19)

ὥσπερ τις πύργος ἀσφαλῆς καὶ κατωχυρωμένος Diig. tetr. 906 μὴ μὲ προλάβῃ ἄλλος τις καὶ λάβῃ το ἐκεῖνος Dig. A 1205 σκλάβος Σαρακηνὸς ἢ ἕτερός τις Assizes A 32.28; ἐὰν τις εἷς ἀνθρώπος ἐγγυέται ἕτερον ἀνθρώπον ibid. 68.29

ὥσπερ τις μέγας βασιλεὺς, δυνάστης ἐπηρμένος [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 430 εἰδέ τις πρόθυμος φανῇ καὶ πράξῃ ἀνδρειωμένα Velis. p 293 ὥσπερ τις τρώει τὸ φαρμάκι καὶ σύντομα ἀποθνήσκει Diig. Alex. V 23.12 ἂν ἴσως καὶ τις ἐκ τῶν οἰκείων μου ἐνοχλήσῃ (1521, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 61, 115.18) καὶ μὴ ἔχῃ τις παρ' ἡμῶν ἀντιλέγει (1615, Skyros, ANDONIAKIS 1980/81: 2, 303.16) ἀνθρώπος τις μαζώνοντας ἀκρίδας ἐπίασε καὶ ἕναν τζιτζικὰ Vios Aisop. D 235.21 ἐὰν γένηται τις ζημία (1346–7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 256.40) γυνή τις ἔθαψε τὸν ἄνδρα αὐτῆς Vios Aisop. E 294.10 γυνή γάρ τις πολῦπειρος καὶ δαιμονώδης φύσις [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 430 1066 ὑπῆρχε τις γυνὴ πρεσβυτέρισσα Ekth. Chron. 36.19 μήτε βουργισαῖος μήτε τινὰς ἕτερος (1414, Corfu, MALTEZOU 1991a: (1), 317.1) ἂν ἔναι τινὰς ὅπου δὲν σὲ ἀκούει (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 100.5) ὁπότεν ἔρχεται τινὰς ἐνταῦθα (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 22.14) τινὰς ἢ τουρκοπουλλιέρης ἦν σινεσκάρκος (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 56.29) οὕτως ἐμὰς ἂν γυριστῇ, τινὰς νὰ μὴν τὸν δώση Dig. E 1514 τινὰς νὰ μὴν ἀπελπιστῇ ἁμαρτωλὸς μεγάλος SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 225 κι οὐδὲν ἔλθῃ ἐδῶ τινὰς τὸν τόπον νὰ ἐπάρῃ Chron. Mor. P 1884 καὶ τινὰς ὅπου ἀγάπαν τὸν ρήγαν ἔμαθέν το MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 56.35 νὰ μὲν ἀπεξεύσει τινὰς VOUSTR., Chron. A 16.7–8 ἔναι δύσκολον τινὰς νὰ τὸ πιστεύσῃ DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1685 δὲν ἐνι τινὰς ἴσου κακότυχος ἄνθρωπος Fior, Suppl. 273.16 ὅταν ἀπὸ τοὺς ἐπιτρόπους ... φανῇ τινὰς κλέπτης (1518, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 391.9) ἢ εἶναι τινὰς ράπτῃς καὶ παίρνει ραπτικά (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 251.70) νὰ μὴν ἡμπορῇ νὰ κοντραδίσῃ τινὰς (1537, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 117, 231.14) νὰ μὴν ἔμπορῇ τινὰς νὰν τοῦ ἀντιτείνῃ (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 257, 355.22) κ' εἶναι βαρὺ τινὰς νὰ τὸ πιστέψῃ Vosk. 103 τινὰς δὲν το ἡξεύρει πότε ἀποθαίνει Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 91.3

 καὶ τινὰς νὰ μὴν ἔχῃ νὰ τοὺς ἐνοχλήσῃ εἰς αὐτὰ τίποτε (1634, Laconia, SIMOPOULOS 1966: 149.7) δὲν τὸ ἔπινεν τινὰς PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §16.4–5 δὲ τοῦ ἀβοήθησε τινὰς ἀπὸ τὰ παιδιά μου (1642, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 246, 197.31) νὰ μὴν τὸν διασείσῃ τινὰς (1664, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 32, 37.7) εἰς κάθε καιρὸν ποὺ ἤθελε τὸν ἐναντιωθῇ τινὰς (1670, Paros, ALIPRANDIS/SYMEONIDIS 1985: 1, 129.)
 καὶ ἄλλος τινὰς μὴν ἔχῃ ἐξουσίαν (1675, Amorgos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 32, 25.8) τινὰς δὲν βεβαιώνει ὅτι εἶναι πανούκλα GAVRIILOP., Diig. panouklas 97.28

Genitive

General
τινός

Τινός is the only available variant throughout the LMedG and EMG period.

ἐὰν δέ τις παίδιος ὦν ... φθαρῇ δὲ ὑπὸ τινος ἀνδρὸς NIKON, Logos 3 188.21–2 μὴ ἐμποδιζόμενος παρὰ τινος (1141, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 125, 166.22) περὶ τοῦ σκλάβου ὅπου ἐποίησεν κανένα κακὸν τινός Assizes B 264.29 ὅλα νὰ τὰ ἔχουν χωρὶς τινός λόγου (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.26) νὰ τὸ ἀφήσῃ τινός (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 147.12) κανεὶς νὰ μὴ τολμήσῃ | εἰς σπῆτιν πούπετε τινός ἀδέξιον νὰ ποιήσῃ Chron. Toc. 647 μηδὲν τὸ πῆς τινός Fior, Suppl. 277.1 τινός δὲν εἶπαν τίποτες DELLAP., Epit. Thrinis 599 τίποτες μὴ μιλήσεις | τινός γι' αὐτὴν τὴν ἀφορμὴ Apoll. Rim. A 820 νά δώση τὰ εἰρημένα χωράφια τινός (1541, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 5, 219.13)

νά ἡμπορῇ δίχως τινός ἀμπόδισμα (1550, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1970: 5, 295.6) ἀντὰν τὸ πρόσωπον τινός βιγλίζη Cypr. Canz. 49.2

μηδὲ ἐγὼ νά ἡμπορῶ πλέον νά τὸ διατάξω ἄλλου τινός (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 2, 11.11) ἐκολούθησα τινός ἄρχοντος MOREZINOS, Klini 224.30

ἐὰν ἔτυχε καὶ εἰσῆλθεν ὀφίδι ἀπὸ τὸ στόμα τινός εἰς τὰ ἐντόσθια LANDOS, Geopon. 260.4

παρακινώντας την νά σιωπήσῃ καὶ νά μὴν τὸ εἰπῇ τινός (1679, Corfu, PLOUMIDIS 2008: 4, 177.15) διὰ νά ἀποξενώσῃ ἀπὸ τὸ ἄνωθεν μερτικὸ τινός τίποτις (1694, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 184, 110.6) ὡς δ' οὐ φωνῆς ἀκήκοα οὐδέ τινος λαλίας Ptoch. I 230 ἄλλης τινός ἐπηρείας εἰσερχαμένης (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 182.8) παρέδραμεν τὸ δίχρονον δίχα τινός ὁδύνης Liv. V 3002 ἐκτός ἀμαρτίας τινός KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 423.36

χωρὶς τινος ξανέγκασης (1578, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 9, 21.3) δίχως τινός κρίσεως καὶ ἐναντιότητος (1666, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 1, 145.25)

Accusative

The variation in the presence or absence of the innovative final /n/ appears even before the period under investigation. In the LMedG period, τινάν is attested in the earliest available texts (already in the 10th c.) apparently without geographical restrictions; it is quite common, and follows the general variability of the language with respect to the addition of final /n/ (see I, 3.7.2.1).

General

τινά(ν)

φίλον τινὰ οὐκ ἔχει GLYKAS, Stichoi 240

τινά τίποτε οὐ χρεωστῶ (1291, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 78, 46.20)

οὐδὲ ἀπὸ τῶν γνησίων μου χρεωστῶ τινὰ ἢ τὸν γαμβρόν μου Ἀριανίτην (1325, Veroia?/Macedonia, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 64, 359.172)

ἔδωσεν ... τινὰ τόπον λόγγον (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 20, 55.5) ἄνθρωπός τις ἔδωκεν πρὸς τινὰ φλουριά β' (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 12, 22.1–2)

ἄρχον τινὰ οὐδὲν θεωρεῖς SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 158

μὲ μέρος τινὰ τοῖχον (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 148, 127.6) πλέον παρ' ἄλλωνε τινὰ KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XVIII.476 διὰ τινὰ τόπον (1560, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 32, 29.4) διὰ τινὰ τόπον καὶ ὁροθέσιον (1581, Athos, PETIT/KORABLEV 1911/15: 164, 350.5) ἀλλὰ ὅχι εἰς τινὰ ὡσὰν εἰς τὴν ἁγίαν Ἄννην MOREZINOS, Klini 6.20 ὅτι ἄλλο τινὰ δὲν ἔχω στὸ κόσμον κανένα (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.7–8) ὅταν τον καλέσουν εἰς τινὰ γάμον Theophr. Char. 126.31 ἄλλον τινάν ... ὀχλησιν τινάν (982, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 5, 134.38); ἕτερον δὲ τινάν οὐκ οἶδα δεσπύζοντά το (1008, ibid. 15, 189.39)

- καὶ μὴ ἐξεῖναι δέ τιναν τοῦ λοιποῦ καὶ πρὸς ἀνατροπὴν χωρήσεις μήτ' ἡμᾶς μήτε τιναν τῶν ἐμῶν κληρονόμων (1173, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 180, 236.23–4)
- ἐσᾶς ἢ τινὰν ἀπὸ ἐσᾶς (1446, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 17, 99.9)
- παιδιά ποτὲ εἰς γενιτσάρους νὰ μηδὲν πάρω, μήτε τινὰν ἰστανέον (1453, Constantinople, DALLEGIO D'ALESSIO 1939: 124.43–4)
- ὁποῦ οὐκ ἔχει ἀφέντην τινὰν Assizes B 450.15
- ποτὲ τινὰν ἢ εὐγενικὴ οὐκ εἶχεν ἀγαπήσει Pol. Tr. 310 app. crit. (EV)
- εἰς τὸ κοντάριν του τινὰν οὐδὲν ἐντράπη Chron. Toc. 2345
- καὶ μηδὲν τορμῆση τινὰς νὰ ζημιώση τινὰν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 316.2
- ἂν ἐν' καὶ ἰδῆς πτωχὸν τινὰν καὶ στάμενα νὰ μὴ ἔχη DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2353
- τινὰν δὲ βλάφτει (1509, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [1], 6.8)
- ὄχι νὰ ὀργίζεσαι τινὰν χωρὶς ἀφορμὴν DAM. STOD., This., Logos 2, ἀ6ν.28
- ἐποθυμῶ νὰ ἔβανες τινὰν νὰ μᾶς ἔγραφε τὸν Πτωχοπρόδρομον (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 1, 289.8)
- μὴν ἀφήσης τινὰν ἰδιώτην Vios Aisop. K 185.9
- νὰ μὴν ἀφήσουσι τινὰν νὰ ἐμπαίνει εἰς τὸ ... μοναστήρι (1622, Crete, DETORAKIS 1992: 2, 289.13)
- ἐκηρύττασιν, ὄχι μὲ φόβον τινὰν τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ Χριστοῦ VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 32.10–11
- καὶ ἄνθρωπον τινὰν δὲν ἐβλέπανε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 111.22–3
- μὴν βρίσκοντας τινὰν (1688, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 110, 64.3)
- ἢ ἐνοχλῆσαι ἔκ τινὰ δουλείαν (1099, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: App. 1, 643.16)
- νομεύει τινὰ ποσότητα χωραφίων (1269, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 318, 464.22)
- ἀπὸ δέ τινὰ τρύπα (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 55, 46.15)
- ἢ δὲ τινὰ ἐν τῇ ψυχῇ ζηλοτυπίαν εἶχεν Dig. A 3829
- ἄλλην τινὰ πόδεση (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 251.69)
- νὰ δοθοῦν αὐτὰ τὰ λεγόμενα δουκάτα ... εἰς ἀνάστασιν τινὰ τοῦ εἰρημένου μοναστηρίου (1532, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 152, 275.codicil 5)
- νὰ κάμνης ὑπηρεσίαν τινὰ LANDOS, Geopon. 175.26
- δι' αἰτίαν τινὰν (1382, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 2, 89.7)
- τίποτας τινὰν διενόχλησι (1428, Lefkada, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 12, 254.12)
- ἀπὸ ὅχλησιν τινὰν Anon. Naupl. 6
- πρὸς τινὰν ὀρφανὴν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 16, 52.32)
- ἔχουνε τινὰν διαφορὰν (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 279, 163.6)
- δίχως τινὰν ὑστερινὴν μου δυστροπίαν (1655, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 5, 156.14)

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

Τι is the inherited form, and the most common variant throughout the LMedG and EMG period. The form τινὰ, appearing already since the 10th c., should be compared to the corresponding EMedG evolution of the active neut. sg. participle, e.g. τὸ ὄν > τὸ ὄντα (see 3.7.2) and should be attributed to the formal identity of masc. acc. sg. and neut. nom./acc. sg. in many inflectional paradigms (see also MINAS ²2003: 101). It is attested mostly in non-literary texts from S. Italy, Athos and the Heptanese.

General	Restricted
τι	τινὰ(ν)

καὶ μὴ ἔχοντα ἡμεῖς τι ἀντιχάριτα ἀντιστρέψαι σοι (1182, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 212, 277.16) μὴ πάθῃς τι μικρόψυχον καὶ νὰ χαροῦν οἱ ἐχθροί σου GLYKAS, Stichoi 301

ἢ κὰν σκουμπρὶν ἢ ἄλλο τι ἢ θύνην βρωμιαρέαν Ptoch. IV 237 φοβούμεστε μὴ μᾶς γένη τι (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 79.16) κρατεῖ καὶ τὸ τόπον, ὄνπερ καὶ ἀνάστησε παραδείσιον (1486, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 19, 218.16)

οὐδὲ ἄλλον διόδημα, μήτε ἄλλον τι πρέπον Flor. L 340 μὴ ἔπαθές τι, Χρυσάντζα μου; Velth. 934 transcr. (Lendari) (ἔπαθες τί Kriaras) μὴ τὶ δεινὸν συνέβηκεν ἐκ τῶν ἀπροσδοκῆτων; Achil. N 1456 ἢ ἕτερόν τι νὰ ἔνε εἰς ἀσήμιν, ἢ εἰς χρυσάφιν Assizes A 55.8

λαβὼν τι κείμενον ἐκέῖ λεπτὸν λυγῶδες ξύλον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 507 ἔτρεμεν ἡ καρδοῦλα του, μὴ τὶ δεινὸν συμφέρῃ LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 572

ἢ τορνέσια ἢ ἄλλον τι τίποτε πράμαν (1529, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 80, 105.12) ἐχάρισα μέρος τι ἐκ τῶν ὑπαρχόντων μου (1634, Peloponnese, LAMBROS 1908b: 339.2) δεν εἶχαμεν τι φάμεν Rim. Sant. 248 κὰν σπέρνει, κὰν θερίζει ἢ ἄλλο τι ἐργάζεται LANDOS, Geopon. 274.27

μήτε κουκκίον μήτε ἄλλο τι λεγούμι (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III, 36.3) ἢ εἰς ἕτερον σέκρετον ἢ τινὰ πρόσωπον (985, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 7, 150.42) καὶ εἴ τινα χρυσόβουλλον εἴτε καὶ ὑπόμνημα ... τοῖς τοιοῦτοις μετοχίοις κέκτῃνται οἱ μοναχοὶ (1062, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 34, 97.25) ἐλάβαμεν ἀφ' ὑμῶν ... τινὰ χωράφιον (1242, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 292, 406.17)

διὰ τινὰ χωράφιον (1295, Athos, ŽIVOJINOVIĆ et al. 1998: 15, 161.4)

δῶσομέν σοι τινὰ χωράφιον ἐρημάμπελον (1304, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 23, 173.10) μαρτυρῆσαι ἔγγραφον τινὰ εἰς τὴν αὐτὴν ὑπόθεσιν (1329, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 14, 57.20)

μὲ δίχως φταίσιμον τινὰ FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 282 ἠύρίσκεται νὰ ἔχῃ ἡ μονὴ τινὰ ἐξάμπελον (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 59, 49.4); ἀπολειπᾶδι ἀπὸ τινὰ κρασί (ibid. 108, 89.3) ἔδωσεν [...] τινὰ κομμάτιον χωράφιον (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 348, 247.4) ἀνίσως καὶ τινὰ ἀπὸ τὰ αὐτὰ χωράφια (1666, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005b: 1, 91.18)

Genitive

General
τινός

ἄλλου τινός προσώπου (1223, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 29, 445.6) δίχα τινός προσκόματος, δίχα τινός ἀνάγκης Liv. V 2251

χωρὶς καμίαν ἐγγαρείαν ἢ ἄλλου βάρου τινός MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 222.20 καρπούς τινός ὑποστατικοῦ ZYGOM., Synopsis 135.A.84

Plural

Masculine/Feminine

Nominative

Τινές is the regular form throughout the LMedG and EMG period. The pl. forms τινάδες -ων, on the analogy of the paradigm of masc. nouns in -ας, are exclusively Cretan, and appear only in poetic texts dating from the 15th c. onwards (transmitted in later manuscripts). Their position exclusively at the end of the line, and always in rhyme, casts doubt on their status as features of spoken language. Their meaning, furthermore, is closer to that of a noun (“people”) than a pronoun.⁸³

General	Rare
τινές	τινάδες

- καθώς τινές ἐπαρέδωκαν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 312.35–6 ἐάν εἰσιν τινές οἱ γινώσκοντες τὰ τοιαῦτα σύνορα (1224, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 30, 447.19) τὸ ὅποῖον χωράφιον ἐπροεκάτεχάν τινες κρυφίως (1431, Athens, BUCHON 1843: LXIX, 290.9) εὐρέθησαν τινές καὶ ἐκάμασινε σύγχυσιν (1481–96, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 61, 313.6) οὐδὲν ἐγλύτωσαν τινές, μόνη ἡ φτωχολογία Chron. Mor. H 4087 τινές ὅπου τὸν ἔβλεπαν Byz. Il. 609 εἶναι τινές δοκόφρονι, ὑπόκριτοι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1149 ὅτι τινές ἀλλογενεῖς τὲς χώρες τοῦ κρουσεύουν Achil. O 120 τινές ἄνθρωποι (1503, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 244, 203.4) τινές καλοὶ ἄνθρωποι Synax. gadar. 391 πολλοὶ τινες ἄνθρωποι (1513, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: (a), 217.6) τινές ἰδιῶτες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.21 τινές ποτὲ δὲ μ’ ἄθθυμοῦνται Cypr. Canz. 23.6 τινές οἱ φιλονικούσι με τοὺς μεγαλιότερους τοῦ λόγου τοὺς λυπούσι ΑἰΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 106.9
 τινές δὲ τοῦ βάνουσι καὶ κομμάτι κἀντίον LANDOS, Geopon. 261.25 τινές γοῦν τῶν Καρπενησιωτῶν (1648, Karpenisi, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 4, 79.24) ἦσαν τινές ἀρχόντισσες ἀπὸ μακρέα καὶ ἐβλέπαν DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 440 οἱ ἄθλιβοι τινάδες P&N Diath. 740; φίλοι τοὺς φίλους τῷ φιλῶ, τινάδες τοὶ ἐδικούς τως ibid. 762; οἱ φίλοι τως καὶ οἱ συγγενοί, οἱ ξένοι καὶ τινάδες ibid. 1619; ἐμαζωκτῆκασι πολλοὶ καὶ φίλοι καὶ τινάδες ibid. 1726

Genitive

The only regular variant in the period under investigation is τινῶν/τινων. The variant τινάδων, as the nominative τινάς above, is exclusively Cretan and exclusively poetic, appearing mainly at the end of a line.

General	Rare
τινῶν/τινων	τινάδων

⁸³ BAKKER et al. 2008: 68 n. 19, and 269; cf. the gen. and acc. pl. examples below. The semantic shift is corroborated by modern dialectal evidence, as the meaning “people” is recorded for the form τινάδες in the dialect of Karpathos (MINAS 1977: 292). Dialectal evidence also constitutes an argument in favour of viewing τινάδες as a feature of spoken language in the EMG period.

ἀπὸ ὀχλήσεώς τινων ἀνθρώπων χαιρεκάκων Ptoch. II 71 διὰ παρακλήσεώς τινων φίλων (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 284.9) ὑπάρχει καὶ τινῶν ἐτέρων τόπος (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 14, 50.51) παρὰ τινων Τουρκῶν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 136.13 πῶς ἀποχωριζόμεθεν ἀπὸ τινῶν ἀνθρώπων! Katal. 341 (Panayotopoulou) ἂν τινων γὰρ ἀφήσετε αὐτῶν τὰς ἀμαρτίας DELLAP., Epit. Thrin. 634 κατὰ τὴν ὀπινιούν τινῶν φιλοσόφων Fior 79.20 καὶ θέλετε δώσει καὶ ἄλλων τινῶν (1554, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 211, 187.9) ὅσοι πέρνουσι τινῶν ὀσπήτια ΖΥΓΟΜ., Synopsis 239.M.80 ἐγράψαμεν περὶ ἄλλων τινῶν ὑποθέσεων (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 5, 309.6) κάπιοι ἐφημέριοι τινῶν ἐκκλησιῶν λειτουργοῦσι νύκτα (1693, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 104, 301.8) νὰ τοὺς ἀρπάξης μὲ σφαγὴ 'κ τὰ χέρια τῶν τινάδων ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 295 παλάτια τῶν κριτάδων | ἐκκλησιῶν καμπαναρία καὶ ἄλλων πτωχῶν τινάδων SKLAVOS, Symf. 22

Accusative

General	Rare
τινάς ἢ τινές	τινάδες

For the innovative form τινάδες see the comments above on the nom. pl.

ἐθεώρουν τινὰς, ὅτι ἐκρατοῦσαν τὸ ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 314.6 διὰ τινὰς ὑποθέσεις Diat. Kypr. 504.2 εἶπασιν τινὰς λόγους (1360, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 236, 362.15) μερικός τινὰς λιθοσωρέας (1407, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 17, 124.35) οὐκ ἔχει τινὰς μάρτυρας Assizes B 391.3–4 καὶ τινὰς δουλείας (1447, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1952: 293.)
 πατέρας μας {ἐ}ξωρίσθηκεν διὰ τινὰς μωρίας Dig. A 495; καὶ τινὰς ἄλλους συγγενεῖς, τοὺς ἀδελφούς του λέγω ibid. 1184 ἔχεις μάρτυράς τινας; Porikol. I 42 ἔχετε μάρτυρας τινὰς νὰ δείξετε εἰς τοῦτο Velis. χ 50 εἶχεν δώσει πρὸς τὸν παρόντα κυρ Λάζον τὸν Στρατηγὸν τινὰς τόπους (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 328, 232.4) μετὰ ἡμέρας τινὰς Vios Aisop. D 231.31 ἐποίησε τινὰς ἡμέρας PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 106.19 σὰς γράφω ἐδῶ παρεμπρὸς τινὰς νουθεσίας LANDOS, Geopon. 173.17 ὅσα θέλουν τύχει πράγματα καὶ ἀφιερωθοῦν ὑπὸ τινὰς χριστιανούς (1692, Santorini, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 49, 38.27) κὶ οὐκ εἶχασιν ἄλλους τινὲς ἄντρες ἐκεῖ μετ' αὐτῶν Chron. Mor. H 4403 ἄλλους τινὲς (1414, Corfu, MALTEZOU 1991a: (1), 317.10) ὡς ἔμαθα παρὰ τινες Chron. Toc. 726 ἀπὸ τινες κρίσεις καὶ διαφορὲς ὅπερ εἶχαν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 45, 171.3) ἀπὸ τινὲς σαρδέλες ὅπερ ἀκαρτερεῖ νὰ ἡμοιράσῃ (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 112, 92.14) τινὲς βολὲς τὰ ἦθ σου μὲ κάμνουν καὶ φοβοῦμαι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 574 ἀπὸ τινὲς καρτέλες ὅπου ἔκαμε (1537, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 22, 31.3) ἔχουνε τινές διαφορές (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 347, 198.5) διὰ τινές Ἀγαρηνές όπου εὐρέθησαν εἰς τὴν μονήν (1583, Athens?, MERTZIOS 1954: 1, 123.11) τινές ἄρχοντες Theophr. Char. 126.20–1 κ' ἐπῆρε καὶ τὸν Ἰσαὰκ καὶ ὄχι ἄλλον ἢ τοὺς τινάδες CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1250 ταῖς ἰδία ἐδῶ δὲν γίνονται νὰ δέχονται τινάδες PIKAT., Rima thrin. 154 ὁδὲν εἶχετε τινάδες Apoll. Rim. A 1434 ποὺ τὸ Χριστὸ ἐφῆκας ξένο δίχως τινάδες P&N Diath. 3193

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General
τινὰ

οὗ ἕτερα τινὰ στοιχήματα τὰ ἔχουν μέσον τους Assizes B 356.8
 ἔχει δὲ συναξάρια τοῦ Ξανθοπούλου καὶ ἄλλα τινὰ (1417, Crete, LAMBROS 1895: 1, 587.5) τινὰ ἦθη καὶ συνήθεια (1436, Corfu, ASONITIS 2000: 1, 408.27) περὶ τινὰ κάστρον (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 9, 313.8) ἀπολειπάδι ἀπὸ τινὰ χοιρίδια ἅπερ τοῦ εἶχεν πωλήσει (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 101, 84.4) καὶ ἄλλα τινὰ πράγματα (1503, Constantinople, YANNOPOULOS 1974: 132.3) ἐξεγυμνωμένον ἀπὸ τινὰ ἴδια αὐτοῦ ὑποστατικά (1511, Chios, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 17, 261.)
 διὰ τινὰ ἄλογα ὅπερ ἔχασε ὁ κυρ Ἀντρέας (1543, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 120, 82.2) ἐπέδωσαν πρὸς τὸν αὐτὸν ἱερομόναχον τινὰ γίδια (1561, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 75, 65.2) εἶχαν αὐτοὶ παρμένα | ζῶα τινὰ ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1571 ὀλίγα τινὰ φαίνονται πῶς νάναι τὰ δικά μου BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 69 διὰ τινὰ ἀγελάδια όπου εἶχαν (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 52, 115.4)

Genitive

General
τινῶν

ἐστερημένην τινῶν καματικῶν χωραφίων (1134, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 4, 13.9) θηρίων τινῶν (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 68.15) οὐχὶ δὲ πλοῦτου ἔνεκα, οὔτε τινῶν χρημάτων Dig. A 2138 τινῶν πραγμάτων καὶ ὑποστατικῶν (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 246, 177.5)

The pronoun τις functions both as a pronoun and as a determiner. Examples:

Pronoun

ἐὰν δώση τις καὶ ψυχικὸν ἀπὸ τοὺς φιλοχρίστους Ptoch. IV 142 στανεὸ μου οὐδὲν μοῦ ἐμίλησαν, τινὰς μὴ τὸ καυχᾶται Dig. E 361 καὶ μηδὲν τορμῆση τινὰς νὰ ζημιώσῃ τινὰν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 316.2 κόπτει τῶν νέων τὰς κεφαλὰς, τινὰν οὐδὲν λυπᾶται Diig. Alex. Sem. B 98 νὰ στερηθῇ τινὰς τὴν βασιλείαν τοῦ Χριστοῦ DAM. STOUΔ., Dial. 94.36

Determiner

εἰ δ' οὕτως κατακρίνεις με δίχα τινὸς αἰτίας Ptoch. II 70 γυνή τις γραῦς ὑπόσχεται νὰ δώση θεραπείαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1108 ἀπὸ δέ τινα τρύπα (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 55, 46.15) δὲν ἀμποδίζοντα τινὰς νόμος (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 281, 219.11) ἂν ὑπάγη τινὰς ἀποκρισάρης Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.34–5 δίχως τινὸς δόλου (1667, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005b: 2, 92.8)

Also, occasionally τις may have a distributive meaning (= “one ... another ...”):

ὁ ἡγούμενος ἔδωκεν ἡμῖν τινὸς βοΐδιον, τινὸς ἄλογον (1125?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 18, 417.2) τις εἶχεν πόθον ἀγούρου καὶ τις κοράσιων πάλι Theseid VI.70,8 (Olsen) ὑπῆρε τις πολὺ τις ὀλίγο ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 267.18; τις τὸν-ε πιάνει ἐκ τὰ μαλλιά καὶ τις τὰ γένεια ἐβγάνει ibid. 3035 τινὲς γιὰ κέρδη κ' ἔπαινος, τινὲς γιὰ τὴν τιμὴν τοὺς ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 639 τις πιλαλεῖ στή μιὰ μερὰ καὶ τις γλακᾶ στήν ἄλλη ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. II.2174; τις γιὰ 'ναὶ πράμαν ἔρχεται, τις ἄλλο νὰ ζητήξῃ ibid. IV.225; τις τό 'λεγε μ' εὐλάβεια καὶ τις μὲ γέλιο πάλι ibid. IV.2171

5.8.2 τίποτε

The indefinite pronoun τίποτε derives from the univerbation of the AG neuter indefinite pronoun τι (see above 5.8.1) and the enclitic indefinite adverb ποτέ, due to their very frequent collocation. The univerbation was already in place in the late Koine (see examples in MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 621–2; JANNARIS 1897: 165; DIETERICH 1898: 202) and is also attested in EMedG texts (PSALTES 1913: 198). In the LMedG period, τίποτε is a common vernacular pronoun and develops a series of innovative variants.

Τίποτα, on the analogy of adverbs in -α (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 55, 189, B 100; LKN s.v. τίποτε) or on the analogy of ἓνα, κανένα (GEORGACAS 1938: 145), is attested since the 11th c. Τίποτι, attested after the 15th c., is formed on the analogy of τι and κάτι (CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77 A 225–6; GEORGACAS 1938: 145). All three variants may appear with addition of final /s/, a common development in adverbs and words of similar function (see 4.2.3): τίποτες, τίποτας, τίποτις (cf. also πάντα > πάντις, σήμερα > σήμερις). The analogical ending -α first appears in the mid-11th c. in S. Italian documents, while the earliest attestation of final /s/ addition comes from the late 11th-/early 12th-c. mss of Nikon of the Black Mountain (τίποτες). Τίποτις is attested since the 14th c., although the variant without final /s/ (τίποτι) is recorded only later.

The stem of the pronoun may display various sporadic phonetic phenomena such as lenition of intervocalic /p/ > /v/ (τίβοτες, τίβοτας, τίβοτα, τίβοτσι, τίβετις, τίβετσι) and change of /o/ > /e/ possibly on the analogy of ἔτις/ἔτσι (τίπέτις, τίβετις, τίβετσι). A single attestation of τίοτα (νὰ μὴν ἡμπορῇ πλέον μήτε ἐτοῦτος μήτε ἄλλος νὰ διασεισῇ τίοτα (1573, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 5, 17.7)) derives from deletion of lenited intervocalic /v/. The forms in -τσι arose through syncope and anaptyxis of a following euphonic /i/ (JANNARIS 1897: §562, cf. also PERNOT 1934: 356–7). These new stem forms are geographically restricted to Crete, the Heptanese and the Cyclades (apart from a late Dodecanesian attestation) and begin to appear from the 15th c. onwards.

General	Restricted	Rare
τίποτε ἰ τίποτες ἰ τίποτις ἰ τίποτι ἰ τίποτα ἰ τίποτας ἰ τίπετις	τίβοτες ἰ τίβετις ἰ τίβετσι ἰ τίβοτα ἰ τίβοτας	τίβοτε ἰ τίβοτι ἰ τίοτα

τίποτε

οὔτε διὰ χρέος, οὔτε διὰ τίποτε ἀνάγκη (1034, S. Italy, Trinchera 1865: 29, 34.19) ἵνα μὴ ἐπιδώσω αὐτοῦ τίποτε (1146, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 142, 189.15) τινὰ τίποτε οὐ χρεωστῶ (1291, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 78, 46.20) κουτσοπαρδάλαν τίποτε, γυμνήν, ἡπορημένην Ptoch. I 108 νὰ κάμη τρόπον τίποτε ᾗ ἐκεῖνον τὸν Γιαγούπηνη Chron. Toc. 2653 ἐὰν χρειασθῇ τὸ ὀσπίτιον τίποτε ἔξοδον (1445, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 170, 191.13) καὶ μηδὲν τοῦ ζητήσης κανεῖς τίποτε (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 46, 25.5) ὥς διὰ νὰ κυνηγήσωμεν τίποτε τῶν ἀγρίων Dig. E 427 χρεωστῇ τίποτε χρεῖος κανενοῦ ἀνθρώπου Assizes B 385.12 νὰ ἀφήσῃ τίποτε μέρος (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 16, 52.31) τίποτε πληροφορήμαν, τίποτε πρᾶγμα ἄλλον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1154 ἢ τορνέσια ἢ ἄλλον τι τίποτε πράμαν (1529, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 80, 105.12) καὶ νὰ φκιάνῃ καὶ τὸ νερό, ἐὰν χαλάσῃ τίποτε, καὶ μηδεῖς τὸν διασείσῃ τίποτε (1582, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 58, 179.6) νὰ μὴν ἔχῃ νὰ πληρωθῇ διὰ ἱκάμπιον τίποτε (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 175.20) καὶ ἂν εἶναι ὅτι οἱ ἄγιοι ἔχουν τίποτε δύναμιν MAXIMOS, Synax. Ag. Nik. 139.102 μὰ ἔχοντας τίποτε φόβο ἀπὲ τὸν αὐτὸ Ἀντώνη (1674, Milos, IMELLOS 1985/90: 329.5) ἐχάρισε τὸ τίποτέ του διὰ τὴν ψυχὴν του (1680, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 41, 68.4) τίποτες

ἐὰν δὲ καὶ πολλὰκίς πέμψῃ ὁ Χριστὸς καὶ ἄλλο τίποτες ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 76.6–7; ὅταν καὶ εὗρῃ τίποτες βαρὺ εἰς τὸν παλαιὸν νόμον id., Logos 3 174.4
 ἕτερον τίποτες γομάριν Assizes B 361.31 τίποτες νὰ μὴ λείπῃ Pol. Tr. 134 app. crit. (X) οὐδὲν ἔγινεν τίποτες ζημία (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 85.11) νὰ μηδὲν τοὺς ζητήσης τίποτες (1468, Nicosia, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 49, 26.2) εἰ δὲ καὶ δὲν ἰδῇ τὸ παιδίον τίποτες (15th c., Cyprus?, TSANGALAS 1983: 132.13) τινὸς δὲν εἶπαν τίποτες DELLAP., Epit. Thrinis 599 τίποτες βιβλίον νέον ΖΙΝΟΣ, Vatr. Prol. 2 καρπὸς δένδρου ἢ ἄλλο τίποτες ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 143.5
 νὰ μηδὲν χρεωστῇ ... νὰ τοῦ δίνη τίποτες (1571, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 1, 53.11) κανέναν νὰ μὴν ἔχῃ τίποτες νὰ τὸ λέγῃ ἐδικό του (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 235.92–3) νὰ μὴν χρεωστοῦσιν ... νὰ ἀποκρένουνται τίποτες (1599, Zakynthos, PLOUMIDIS 1995/98: 87.18) καὶ γὼ ποῦ κρέμομαι ἀπὸ σὲν τίποτες οὐ κερδίζω Love poems V 222 καὶ ἃ γυρέψουν νὰ ἀνοχλήσου τὰ ἀγόρια μου τίποτες (1627, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 403.3) θέλει νὰ καὶ τὸ σπῆτιν ὅλον καὶ τὸ τίποτές του ὅλο PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §7.61–2 δὲν τὸν χρεωστοῦμεν τίποτες (1652, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 71, 184.15) δὲν ἔχει νὰ κάμη πλέον τίποτες (1682, Patras, TSELIKAS 1986a: 3, 672.13) διὰ νὰ μὴν πέση εἰς τίποτες σατανικὲς παγίδες (1696, Ioannina, MICHAELARIS 1976: 2 [B⁷], 253.13)

ὥσαν νὰ ἦτον τίποτες πρᾶγμα ἄχρηστον GAVRIILOP., Diig. panouklas 96.1

τίποτις

νὰ μηδὲν ἀπαιτῇ τίποτις (1355, Palatia (Miletos), MANOUSAKAS 1962b: 1, 234.14) τίποτις οὐδὲν ἔλειψεν (1446, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 17, 99.8) καὶ μὴ ἄργεῖτε τίποτις τοῦ χρόνου ἢ τῶν χρόνων Alosis 262 τίποτις δὲν ἐτρόμου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 10 δίχως νὰ τοῦ πάρουν τίποτις (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 62.27) δὲν σᾶς γυρεύω τίποτις ἀδικία (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 1, 360.13) ἔχεις τίποτις νὰ μοῦ δόκεις; GERMANO, Grammar 71.25

ποτὲ δὲν μοῦ ἔστειλες τίποτις (1638, Andros, POLEMIS 1999b: 9, 32.25) ὄχι τίποτις ὀλιγότερο (1646, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1970: 1, 251.28) τίποτις δὲν φεῖται SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. D4r.24 τίπουτις πιὸ ἀπὸ τὰ σπίτια (1653, Skiathos, EVANGELIDIS 1913: 67.3) ἂν ἠχρεωστοῦσαν τίποτις ροῦχα (1664, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 3, 20.14–15) τίποτις βάρος (1666, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005b: 1, 91.19)

ἂ σοῦ ᾔφταισα καὶ τίποτις PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1979

καὶ λάχει τοὺς τίποτις (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.13) δὲν μπροτεντέρει πλέον τίποτις (1674, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 83, 48.3) τίποτις ἀπ' ὅ, τι τῆς ἠθελε εὐρεθῆν (1675, Amorgos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 32, 25.9) μήτε ἄλλο τίποτις (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 138.30) δὲν μοῦ ἔδωκες τίποτις (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.45v.30) εἰς χαράτσιν ἢ εἰς ἄλλον τίποτις (1692, Samos, IOANNOU 1992: 1, 457.10)

τίποτι

διὰ νὰ τρώγουν τίποτι Pol. Tr. 2727 app. crit. (R) τίποτι οὐχ εὐρίσκει Velth. 1138 για νὰ τοῦ πάρη τίποτι KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.82 νὰ μηδὲν ἠθελεν ἔχει τίποτι ἀπὸ τὰ ἀγαθὰ μου (1524, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 135, 168.29) τότε ζητῶντα διάβηκε τίποτι βοηθείαν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 580 νὰ πουλήσουν τίποτι (1615, Santorini, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 9, 5.48) βλέπε νὰ μὴν σοῦ κάμουνε τίποτι (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 25.8)

τίποτα

ὁ πατήρ μου εἰς αὐτὰ τίποτα οὐκ εἶχεν (1042, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 3, 44.10) νὰ μηδὲν ἔχη ἄδειαν νὰ σᾶς ἀνοχλήση τίποτα (1440, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1995: 126, 401.11)

καὶ μόνην κόρην ἔλαβα καὶ τίποτα οὐ χρήζω Dig. E 1300

ἔλα νὰ τὸν ἰδοῦμεν | καὶ αὐτὸς μὴ ξεύρη τίποτα διὰ νὰ μᾶς ὀρμηνεύση Liv. V 2525

καὶ κλέψης τίποτα νὰ φᾶς ἢ τίποτα νὰ ἐγγίσης Diig. tetr. 221 app. crit. (C) τίποτα δὲν τὸν ἔβλαβεν Chron. Toc. 3260

ἔως νὰ μάθῃ τίποτα δι' ἐκεῖνον τὸν Ρουμπέρτον Chron. Mor. P 2234 οὐδὲ πιστεύω τίποτα εἰς τὸν ἅπαντα κόσμον Theseid VI.69,4 (Olsen) εἰς ἑσᾶς δὲ θέλω τίποτα Nov. II 161.6

καὶ τινὰς νὰ μὴν διασεῖση τίποτα (1543, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 239, 225.26) χωρὶς νὰ πλερώνουν τίποτα (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 5, 261.23)

νὰ μὴν ἀποκρίνεται τίποτα (1579, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 21, μγ'.131) δὲν ἐπῆρα τίποτα ἀπὸ τοὺς γονέους μου (1584, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1976: 151.128) τίποτα μὴ βαραίνει Thysia Avr. 165 ὄγοιον μου παιδί τὸν ἀνοχλήση τίποτα (1607, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 8, 86.32–3) ἐπαρεκάλει τους νὰ τοῦ δώσουν τίποτα ἐλαφρὸν πρᾶγμα Vios Aisop. D 213.5

 νὰ μὴν ἀξίζη τίποτα (1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 189, 159.13) νὰ δώσω ἐγὼ τὰ τίποτά μου τὰ καλούτζικα ἕναν μπεκρῆ PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §9.63 νὰ μὴν ἀπιλογᾶται τίποτα (1660, Paros, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 25, 21.9) καὶ δὲν ἔχω πλέον νὰ κάμω τίποτα εἰς ἐδαῦτο (1661, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 11, 125.7)

τίποτας

τίποτας ὁσπίτιον (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 18, 158.22) εἰς πολὺν ἀκριβὸν καὶ πρεπούμενον τίποτας μεγαλεῖον (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 66.12) δὲν τοῦ τὰ ἐβάλασι ὁδοδὸν τίποτας διὰ τὰ ἀλωναυτικά (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 48.31) καὶ σὺ οὐκ ἤξεύρεις τίποτας καὶ χάνεις με ἀπὲ τώρα Flor. L 1013 τίποτας οὐκ ἔλειπεν ἀπέκει BERGADIS, Apok. A 132 ἡ καταναλωθῆ τίποτας ἀπὸ τὸ Μοναστήριον (1518, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 390.28) καὶ πάρη σου τίποτας στάμενα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 52, 51.11) νὰ οἰκοδομήσουν τίποτας πόλιν ἢ μεγάλον παλάτιον MOREZINOS, Klini 5.36 ἐγὼ δὲν λέγω τίποτας MONTSEL., Evgena 476 καὶ ἃ μοῦ βρεθῆ καὶ τῶρι κάποιον τίποτας (1650, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 76, 193.32–3) δὲν τῆς ἤδωσεν τίποτας (1673, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 15, 30.9) νὰ κάμετε δίχως ἐμὲ τίποτας δὲν μπορεῖτε Zinon Prol. 150 ὅταν χάσης τίποτας (1684–5, Moscow, ŠANGIN 1936: 3, 122.23) ἐγὼ τίποτας δὲν κάμνω KONDAR., Paides 354 δὲν μοῦ ἔδωσες τίποτας (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.45v.29)

τίπετις

ὁ αὐτὸς Γεωργάκης δὲ χρεωστεῖν πλέα τίπετις (1672, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 8, 170.18)

τίβοτε

ὄχι ἄλλον τίβοτε (1512, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 32, 56.15)

τίβοτες

καὶ ὅπου τοῦ λείπει τίβοτες κλωνάρι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 602 (ms A) τίβοτες δὲν ἐφῆκες Rim. kor. A 116 ἐστάθηκεν πολὺν καιρόν, τίβοτες γιὰ νὰ μάθει Apoll. Rim. E 1017 ἐρωτηθεῖς παρὰ τοῦ νοταρίου εἰ θέλω ποιήσῃν ἄλλο τίβοτες (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 43, 75.18) ὁ Ἀλέξανδρος τίβοτες θὲ νὰ ποίση Alex. Rim. 2240 κι ὅταν κερδέση τίβοτες DEFAR., Log. did. 99 εἶδὲ καὶ ἠθέλεν παντρευτῆ ἢ καὶ ξεπέση τίβοτες (1555, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 114, 89.8) νὰ μὴδὲν χρεωστεῖ νὰ δίδῃ τίβοτες (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 62, 126.14) νὰ μὴν τοῦ δώσῃ πλέον τίβοτες (1593, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 18, 136.20) τίβοτες Pist. voskos IV.8.55 μὲ φωτίες ἢ μὲ πέτρες ἢ μὲ ἄλλα τίβοτες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 81.11

τίβοτα

δὲν μοῦ ἔδωκεν τίβοτα (1513, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 37, 64.44–5) μὰ τοῦτο δὲν εἶν' τίβοτα CHORTATSI, Katz. I.83 νὰ μὴν τοὺς κάμῃ τίβοτα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 118.11

τίβοτας

- ἄ μοῦ ἔρθη τίβοτας (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.21) ἀπό τὰ χρειασίδια τίβοτας (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 21.30); κανεῖς οὐδὲν τοῦ λέγει τίβοτας (1501, ibid. 5, 26.11) ἄς ποῦμεν ἄλλον τίβοτας νὰ πάρω σὰν ἀέρα FALIEROS, Log. did. 257 ὅστις γυρεύσει τίβοτας ἀπὸ μένα (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 151, 274.29) νὰ μὴν ἡμπορῇ τινὰς ... νὰ γυρέψῃ τίβοτας (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 212, 305.3) νὰ βροῦμε τίβοτας καλὸ ὀλονομπρὸς νὰ φάμε CHORTATSI, Katz. I.116
 σὲ κιανένα τίβοτας (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 759, 660.8) καὶ δὲν εἶχε ... ἀπὸ τοῖ γονέους τοῦ τίβοτας πράμα (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: 179.12) ὄβερ καὶ τίβοτας ἐνάντιον δὲν τοῦ ἤθελεν τύχει (1633, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 640, 616.14) na min xasi tivotas / νὰ μὴν ξάζῃ τίβοτας (1646, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994b: 2, 168.15) γῆ κριθάρι γῆ πούρι ἄλλο τίβοτας (1665, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 11, 419.8) νὰ μὴν ἀξίξῃ τίβοτας (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 27, 41.24) μήτε ἄλλον τίβοτας (1733, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 28, 49.11)

τίβοτις

- ἦ νὰ τοὺς γυρέψωμεν πλέα εἰςὲ τίβοτις (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 19, 61.21) ἀνὲν καὶ τίβοτις ἐγὼ ἐλησμόνησα (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 5, 25.30) φοβοῦμαι νὰ μὴν πάθῃ τίβοτις (1584, Genoa/Italy, PAPADOPOULOS 1978: 1, 318.10) τοῦτῃ τὴν ὥρα τίβοτις τορνέσα θὰ τοῦ φάγῃ CHORTATSI, Katz. I.352 μαντάτο τίβοτις καὶ θὲ νὰ 'ναὶ τοῦ σὲ βιάζει Thysia Avr. 246 δὲν εὐρίσκομαι νὰ ἔχω τίβοτις (1643, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1960: 3, 3.11) δὲν πρετεντέρεϊ τίβοτις ἄλλο ἀπὸ αὐτοὺς (1673, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 18, 51.6); ἂ λάχῃ τίβοτις ζημία (1678, ibid. 24, 55.14) ἂν εἶναι κανένas ὅπου νὰ ἔχῃ τίβοτις ἐνάντιο δικαίωμα (1685, Tinos, PASCHALIS 1935: 136.12)

τίβετις

- νὰ μὴν ἡπαίρην ἀπὸ τὰ εἰρημένα πράγματα καὶ κόπον ὅπῳ τίβετις (1546, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 15, 51.13); ἔδωκά σου ... πράγματα κάποια τίβετις (1547, ibid. 24, 58.6) ὅποιος ἤθελεν ἀποθάνει μέσα στὰ λεγόμενα μοναστηράκι καὶ ἀφήσει τίβετις (1655, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 2001: 96.30) δὲν ἤδωκε ἄλλο τίβετις (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32.44) μήπως καὶ εἶχε περισσεύσει ἀπὸ ἰντράδα κάποιο τίβετις (1674, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 94, 227.36) νὰ μὴ ἔχῃ κανεῖς νὰ κάμῃ τίβετις ἀπὸ τοὺς κληρονόμους μου (1705, Kos, KAMMAS 1974: 3, 136.9)

τίβοτσι

- γιατὶ καλλιὰ δὲν εἶν' ὁ γεῖς τίβοτσι ἀπὸ τὸν ἄλλο CHORTATSI, Erof. II.22; πούρι νὰ ψήνου τίβοτσι id., Katz. I.46 καὶ οὐχὶ ἄλλο τίβοτσι (1615, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 257, 243.15) ἀπὸ μέρος μου γῆ ἀπὸ ἄλλον τίβοτσι (1615, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 14, 52.27) νὰ δοῦνε ἂν τσῆ ρεστάρει ἐλίγο τίβοτσι (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 39.62) τίβοτσι πρᾶμα δροσερὸ ἐζήτα ἢ ψυχὴ μου P&N Diath. 5005 δύο ἀλλαγωγὲς ρούχα γυναίκεια καὶ ἄλλα τίβοτσι (1633, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 652, 630.11) δὲν ἐβγάνοντας ὁ ἄνωθε πανοσιώτατος ἀφέντης Παντόγαλος τίβοτσι ἀπὸ αὐτὸ (1644, Crete, VINCENT 1967: 3, 64.18) νὰ μὴν τοὺς πειράζῃ τινὰς τίβοτσι (1646 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 58, 148.35) γιὰ νὰ 'βρῃ κι ἄλλο τίβοτσι το' ἀγάπης, νὰ τὸ πάρῃ KORNAROS, Erot. I.1488

τίβετας

τίβετας η μπόρεση να κάμου δε τζι φέρνει CHORTATSI, Panor. III.322 και νά μήν λογιαίσει και ή βασίλισσα τίβετας MOREZINOS, Klini 140.33 δέν ἔχομε νά κάμωμε πλέο ἀναμεσῶς μας τίβετας (1644, Crete, VINCENT 1968: 4A, 143.7) μέ τίβετας ἄλλην αἰτιά νά τὸ κατασκεπάσει TROILOS, Rodol. III.182 ἄν τήνε θέλω τίβετας, νά ῥθῶ νά τήν ξεδράμω FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.3

τίβετι

νά μήν ἐπάθαν τίβετι καὶ εἶναι πικραμένοι; MONTSEL., Evgena 864 δέν λείπει τίβετι (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 107.16)

τίβετσι

νά ῥρω τίβετσι τρόπο νά σοῦ βοηθήσω CHORTATSI, Erof. I.114 ἐγὼ δέν ἔχω νά κάμω τίβετσι μετ' αὐτὸ (1607, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 10, 12.13) εἰς τοῦ Πιλᾶτο ἐδράμασι, τίβετσι ἐθυμηθῆκα P&N Diath. 4104 νά κάμουσι τίβετσι ἀνάστεμα στήν ἐκκλησά (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 81.94); δέν ἔχω ἄλλο τίβετσι (ibid. 6, 82.122) οχι ἄλον τίβετσι / ὄχι ἄλλον τίβετσι (1631, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 4, 267.11) τίβετσι μὴ σᾶς πέση FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.95 ἄν ἦτο τίβετσι ἡμερον εἰς τὴν καρδιά τοῦ ρήγα KORNAOS, Erot. IV.457

Meanings and Usage

Τίποτε is uninflected, and functions normally as a pronoun, with the meaning “anything” or “nothing”:

ὅτι ἐσοῦ δέν ἡξεύρεις τίποτες Fior, Suppl. 270.33 καὶ ἄβουλα τοῦ ἀφεντὸς τίποτας δέν κινᾶται ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 360 χωρὶς να τους εἰπῶ τίποτις NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 46.5
 καὶ νά φκιάνη καὶ τὸ νερό, ἐὰν χαλάση τίποτε, καὶ μηδεὶς τὸν διασείση τίποτε (1582, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 58, 179.6)

It may also function as a determiner, with the meaning “some”, “any” or “no”:

δὸς με τίποτε καλὴν φιλοτιμίαν Ptoch. (Maiuri) 63
 ἕτερον τίποτες γομάριν Assizes B 361.31 νά πουλήσου τίβοτας πράμα τως (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 26, 45.7) διχῶς τινὸς ἀπεντιμέντο καὶ βάρος τίβοτσι (1627, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 488, 461.23) ἄν ἡχρωστοῦσαν τίποτις ροῦχα (1664, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 3, 20.14–15)

Τίποτε may be preceded by the neuter definite article, in which case it functions as a noun with the meaning “possessions, property”:

νά κληρονομοῦν τὰ ἀδέρφια μου τὰ ἀσερνικά τὸ τίποτές μου (1558, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 212, 261.14) εἰς τὸ τίποτές μας (1641, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 239, 193) τοῦ καθενὸς τὸ τίποτες ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2150 ἀφῆνοντες ὅλα τως τὰ τίποτες VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 31.24–5 μοιράσαμε μοναχοὶ μας τὰ τίποτα τοῦ πατρός μας PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §30.1
 νά δίνη ἀποῦ τοῦ μακαρίτη τὸ τίποτας ἀσλάνια 800 (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 4, f.40r.21)

It may also function as an adverb of quantity, with the meaning “somewhat, a little, in some way”: τίποτα ἡμερότερον νά γένῃ ἡ καρδιά μου Liv. V 2396; κάποιον τίποτις λιγότερο (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 64.23).

5.8.3 οὐδετινᾶς

The pronoun οὐδετινᾶς, “no one, not a single one”, results from the univerbation of the negative adverb οὐδὲ and the indefinite pronoun τις. The univerbation is difficult to detect in written sources, as the pronoun may also be interpreted as a simple collocation of οὐδὲ + τινᾶς. A univerbated reading is obvious only in the case of aphaeresis of the initial unstressed vowel /u/, οὐδέτινας > ὀδέτινας. The pronoun is attested since the 15th c., but collocations of οὐδέ + τις with the meaning “not one” in earlier and more learned texts may also be considered as precursors, e.g. ἀλλ’ οὐδέτις τῶν διαδόχων ἡμῶν (ca. 1200, Athos?, BOMPAIRE 1964: 8, 70.21). In any case, the collocation οὐδέ + τις with the meaning “and not any” is already in existence in the AG period; the difference in MedG is the optional presence of verbal negation, e.g. οὐδέ τινας σὲ φθάνει Dig. A 674 vs. δὲν τὸ θυμοῦντο οὐδέτινας Diig. Sant. 59.28.

Concerning its form and inflection, it appears mostly in the nominative case (οὐδέτινας), but rare instances of an accusative οὐδέτινα(ν) and even rarer instances of a genitive οὐδέτινος can be found. The accentuation of the pronoun (οὐδέτινας vs. οὐδετινᾶς) is also doubtful in view of the uncertainty of manuscript tradition, as well as metrical considerations and the varying orthographic and editorial practices of modern editors.

Οὐδέτινας does not seem to be geographically restricted. It functions exclusively as a pronoun.

οὐδὲ τινὰς γὰρ θέλει ἄνθρωπον, ὅπου τὸν ὀνομάζει ἄπιστον (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.16)

οὐδὲ τινὰς ἐγλύτωσεν PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 417

τὰ ἄστρον οὐδέτινας δύνεται ν’ ἀριθμῆση CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 979 οὐδέ τινας σὲ φθάνει Dig. A 674 οὐδετινᾶς ἡμπόρεσε νὰ τήνε μάθη ἀπ’ αὐτόν Theseid IV.29,7 (1529) καὶ ὥσπερ σέν’ οὐδετινᾶς ὄνομα θέλει ἀφήσει KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua X.184 οὐδέτινας εἰς τὴν Σουριὰν ὥσάν αὐτὸν στήν χάριν Imb. Rim. 712 μουζοῦρι ὅδεν εὐρίσκεται ουδετινᾶς νὰ πάρει Apoll. Rim. N 248 περίτου κακορίζικες ἡμέρες | δὲν ἔχει ὀδέτινας Cypr. Canz. 110.2

οὐδετινᾶς δὲν τοῦ ἔδιδεν ζωὴν, οὐδὲ ἤτονε ὀδία νὰ ζήσει MOREZINOS, Klini 273.9–10 οὐδετινᾶς δύνεται νὰ τὴν κλείση CHIKAS, Monod. Sev. 37.134 οὐδὲ τινὰς ἐκατάλαβε τὸν λογον Vios Aisop. K 185.17 οὐδετινᾶς ἐξώθηκε ὀπίσω νὰ γιγαίρη P&N Diath. 296 ἀλλὰ οὐδὲ τινὰς ἐνύσταξεν νὰ κοιμηθῇ [VLASTOS], Dig. P 335.5

κι οὐδὲ τινὰς τοὺς ἔθαψε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 236.8

καὶ οὐδέ τινος ἐφάνη καλὴν καρδιά, ὅπου τὴν ἤφεραν Diig. Alex. F 198.8 (Lolos) διὰ ταύτην δὴ τὴν αἰτίαν, οὐδέ τινα τῶν υἱῶν αὐτοῦ ἔστειλεν εἰς συνάντησιν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 16.1

κι οὐδετινᾶν ἐκεινοὺς ἐξάφηκε νὰ δράμη KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VI.278

5.8.4 οὐδετίποτε

The uninflected pronoun οὐδετίποτε derives from the univerbation of the negative adverb οὐδὲ and the indefinite pronoun τίποτε. It presents several variants, due to the considerable allomorphy of the pronoun τίποτε (see 5.8.2). The earliest attestation is found in a version of Spaneas, transmitted in a 14th-c. ms. Its meaning is mostly negative, “nothing, not a single one”, but very occasionally it may also carry an indefinite meaning “anything, a little bit”. It functions both as a pronoun and as a determiner.

ἐποίησας οὐδετίποτε Spaneas P 263 εἰς οὐδετίποτε Pol. Tr. 4980 app. crit. (BX); ἄχρηστον καὶ οὐδετίποτε λαχαίνει νὰ σὲ κρᾶζουν

ibid. 8351

εἶσαι οὐδετίποτε, ἀπὸ ἐμὲν πληροφορήθησέ το Liv. α 272 ἐσὺ οὐδὲν ἔχεις οὐδετίποτε (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 287–8); οὐδὲν ἤκουσα οὐδετίποτε

ibid. 408–9

ὁμπρός εἰς τὴν γνῶσιν οὕλα εἶνε οὐδετίποτε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 572.2

τὸν κόσμον οὐδετίποτε καὶ πλάνον ἄς τὸν κρᾶζει Om. Nekt. Vas. 78 καὶ εἰς τὸν ἅγιον Τάφον νὰ δίδουν οὐδὲ τίποτε (1706, Constantinople, LEGRAND 1903: 21, 58.9)

ἐλπίζουν διὰ οὐδετίποτες νὰ μᾶς ἀντισταθοῦσιν Pol. Tr. 2490; ὅταν διὰ οὐδετίποτες ὑπομένεις το οὕτως ibid. 8353 (AX) οἱ καβαλλάριδες ὁμπρός του εἶνε οὐδετίποτες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 572.3

ἔχει ἕναν μῶλο, ὁ ὅποιος ἔναι οὐδὲ τίποτες (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 158.3–4)

ἀγωνίζω πῶς εἶμαι οὐδετίποτες Fior 77.11

δεν τα ἐμέτρησεν ὡς οὐδετίποτες Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 91.29 δὲν τοὺς ὠφελοῦν οὐδετίποτες Pist. kekoim. 29.58 οπού ἔναι οὐδετίποτες, μικρὸν ζῶον στο μήκος AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 2.44 οὐδετίποτες δὲν τοῦ λείπει Vios Aisop. K 176.17

ὁ κλέπτης διὰ οὐδὲ τίποτες χαλνᾷ τὸ κεφάλιν του PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §1.29 δὲν λογιζομαι ὁμπρός σου οὐδετίποτες (1643, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 4, 98.14) έχοντας δια οὐδετίποτες ὅλα τα γήινα MARGOUNIOS, Vioi 273.5

διὰ ὀλίγην ἢ οὐδετίποτις ἀτοπίαν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 94.13 οὐδετίποτα ἔδωσα οὐδετίποτα ἀγόρασα Vios Aisop. D 212.20 ἀπὸ οὐδετίποτας ἄλλον δὲν ἐτρέφετονε MOREZINOS, Klini 53.37

καὶ λίγος κι οὐδὲ τίποτας πόνος νὰ σ’ ἀπομείνει Thysia Avr. 576 app. crit. (B) μὲ ὀλίγην δύναμιν καὶ μὲ οὐδετίβοτας φουσάτο MOREZINOS, Klini 26.35

μὰ τοῦτο εἶν’ οὐδὲ τίβοτας TROILOS, Rodol. II.57

καὶ λίγο κι οὐδὲ τίβοτις πράμα νὰ σ’ ἀπομείνει Thysia Avr. 576 δὲν ξάζουσι οὐδὲ τίβοτσι KORNAROS, Erot. II.1590; γιὰ λίγη κι οὐδὲ τίβοτσι χάρη πού μοῦ γνωρίζεις ibid. V.278

5.8.5 εἶς

Following a common cross-linguistic evolutionary path, the numeral εἶς “one” gradually develops into an indefinite pronoun, and subsequently, into an indefinite article (on the phenomenon see GIVÓN 1981; HEINE/KUTEVA 2002: 220–1 and references therein). As an indefinite pronoun, εἶς appears only in positive contexts, as a positive polarity item with the meaning “someone”.

From a morphological point of view, the results of this development are threefold: firstly, the inflectional forms of the numeral εἶς and the indefinite pronoun/article are identical, and are therefore examined together in the current section; secondly, it is difficult to distinguish, in many textual instances, the syntactic status of εἷς, which again dictates a unified morphological treatment; thirdly, the increased pronominal status of the numeral “one” leads to analogical influence from pronominal paradigms on its inflection.

Rare instances of the use of εἷς as an indefinite pronoun appear already in AG (MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 576–9; KUHLMANN 1997), but the indefinite pronominal function seems established in Koine Greek (JANNARIS 1897: §623; BLASS et al. 1961: §247; TURNER 1963: 195–6; CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 2000), as well as in EMedG chronicles (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 207; PSALTES 1913: 191). Εἷς further develops in the direction of an indefinite article, although the chronology and the details of the evolution, as well as the criteria for distinguishing between the functions of indefinite pronoun and indefinite article in MedG, remain unclear. For a first approximation see CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 2000, GUILPIN 2002a, 2002b.

The clearest instances of pronominal function are constructions where εἷς stands alone, not as a determiner to a noun, e.g. καὶ μιὰ ἀπ’ αὐτέσ ἐλάλησε CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1303, and especially where it is itself preceded by the definite article, e.g. ὁ εἷς ἀπ’ αὐτοὺς θυμῶνεται SOFIANOS, Paidag. 115.1.

The most likely candidates for articular status are constructions where εἷς functions as an indefinite specific determiner, which appear since at least the 15th c., e.g. ἐζωγραφῆσαν ἕνα εἰκόνισμα τὸν ἅγιον Χριστόφορον μάρτυρα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 40.3. This development is mostly attested in vernacular texts; in texts of a higher register εἷς usually functions as a numeral only, although innovative functions do occur, e.g. τὰς δὲ ἱερὰς καὶ θείας εἰκόνας ... ἱστορημένας εἷς ἐν σανίδιον (1093, Euboea, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 6: 20.I, 84.1); βυθισθέντος ἐνὸς φρέατος τῶν κήπων προσεκλήθη παρὰ τῶν Ἀργυροπούλων ὡς τεχνίτης ἀνακτίσαι καὶ κατασκευᾶσαι αὐτό (1421, Thessaloniki?, LEFORT et al. 1995: 97, 160.45).

Another environment where εἷς may be interpreted as an indefinite article involves constructions where it has a generalizing function., e.g. νὰ τριγυρίξης νὰ ζητᾷς σὰν ἕνας διακονιάρης LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 722; ἔαν ἕνας Ἀντώνιος Ρεστάς ἤμπόρεσεν πολλοὺς χρόνους ... πόσον δύνονται οἱ προρρηθέντες μοναχοί; (1511, Chios, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 17, 262.16); ὅ,τι ἄλλο χρειάζεται ἐνοῦ ζευγᾶ (1698, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1991: 3, 86.37). In any case, it should be assumed that the indefinite article status has been established by the late 15th c., judging from the appearance of εἷς/ἕνας as a determiner preceding uncountable or abstract nouns, e.g. ἄνευ μιᾶς οὐδετιποτένης δικαιοσύνης καὶ ἀσχημοσύνης Assizes B 415.1 (ms dated 1469); καὶ ἦτον μίας μεγάλης ψυχῆς VOUSTR., Chron. A 6.18; εἷς μιὰ μεγάλη συμφορὰ, εἷς μιὰ περίσσια θλίψι BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 1.

Turning now to morphological evolutions, the masc. is reformed according to the inflection of the nouns in -ας, following the pattern of the handful of AG 3rd-declension monosyllabic masculine nouns such as μῆν, πούς, γύψ, βῆξ etc. (see 2.2.2). The change begins from the acc. sg., with the addition of final /n/ from the 1st c. AD. The neuter follows the pattern of the masculine, acquiring a nom./acc. ending -α(ν), while the feminine μίᾱ retains in general the AG inflectional pattern, as a regular feminine in -α.

All morphological variants of εἷς will be discussed here regardless of syntactic function, with special note of allomorphs attested only in a specific function. Examples are mostly taken from contexts with an indefinite pronominal or adjectival function, supplemented by numerals when necessary for the full illustration of the paradigm. Furthermore, the earliest attestations of some allomorphs of εἷς are to be found in the paradigm of complex derived pronouns, such as καθείς (5.13.2.3), κανείς (5.8.9), οὐδείς (5.8.6), πᾶσαις (5.13.1.5); they are included here in order to provide a comprehensive diachronic and diatopic illustration of evolutions.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	εἷς ἢ ἕνας ἢ ἐνεῖς ἢ νεῖς ἢ γεῖς	μία ἢ μιᾶ	ἓν ἢ ἕνα(ν)
Gen.	ἐνός ἢ ἐνοῦ ἢ (ἐ)νοῦς ἢ ὀνοῦς	μίας ἢ μιᾶς ἢ μιανῆς	ἐνός ἢ ἐνοῦ ἢ (ἐ)νοῦς ἢ ὀνοῦς ἢ μιανοῦ
Acc.	ἕνα(ν)(ε)	μία(ν) ἢ μιᾶ(ν)	ἓ(ν) ἢ ἕνα(ν)

Masculine

Nominative

The inherited nom. sg. εἷς is in constant variation with the innovative form ἕνας throughout the LMedG and EMG period, and is preferred in more formal or legal texts. The innovative form ἕνας is first attested only through the composite form καθ' ἕνας, from the 12th c. onwards (e.g. καὶ οὕτως ὁ καθ' ἕνας ἐκείνοις ἀρκεῖται (1142 [13th. c. copy], Serres?, LEFORT et al. 1994: 55b, 69.20), although, judging from the inflectional pattern of the paroxytone nouns in -ας (2.2.2), the change must have already taken place sometime during the EMedG period.

The forms νεῖς and ἐνεῖς, attested only in texts from Cyprus, from the 15th c. onwards, and also appearing in complex pronouns formed on the basis of εἷς (cf. κανεῖς 5.8.9, πᾶσανεῖς 5.13.1.5), may be accounted for in two different ways: on the one hand, they may be viewed as the result of analogical levelling, i.e. of the spread of the stem form ἐν- of the genitive and accusative to the nominative (PERNOT 1907/46: II 243), with subsequent aphaeresis in the case of νεῖς. Alternatively, they may be considered as the result of two consecutive processes of false segmentation causing first consonant and then vowel prothesis: (a) εἷς > νεῖς (deriving from frequent collocation with words ending in /n/; see I, 3.5.1 and cf. also BEAUDOIN 1884: 56–7; the orthography ν-εῖς is adopted by Dawkins in his edition of Machairas's Chronicle), and (b) νεῖς > ἐνεῖς (deriving from frequent collocation with words ending in -ε, e.g. ἥρθε-ν-εῖς > ἥρθ' ἐνεῖς).

Another phonetic phenomenon affecting the masc. nom. is the anaptyxis of a palatal glide [j] between consecutive vowels at word boundaries (see I, 3.5.2.1), which leads to the form γεῖς. This form may subsequently be detached from its original phonetic environment and appear also after a consonant or clause-initially. Attestations come from literary texts of Cretan and Cypriot provenance.

General	Restricted	Rare
εἷς ἢ ἕνας	γεῖς	(ἐ)νεῖς

- ὁ εἷς ἦτον νεώτερος, ἀγένειον παλληκάρην Dig. E 1200 ὁ εἷς νὰ ἔναι χύτης λεπτός (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 7, 311.11) καὶ ἔπιασέν τον εἷς μου φέρρης (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 65.3) ἂν λάχει ὅτι εἷς ἀνθρώπος δανεῖζει τὸ ἐδικόν του ἐνοῦ ἀνθρώπου Assizes A 53.10 ἦλθεν εἷς πραγματευτής, Συριάνος τὸ γένος Ptochol. P 141 ἦλθεν εἷς ψύλλος ἄπρονος κι ἐκαρδιοδάκασέ με FALIEROS, Ist. On. 751 ἦτον εἷς κόρακας ὁ ποίος ἐκράτεν ἕναν τυρὶν στὸ στόμαν του Fior 108.39 ἦστον εἷς ἱατρός ἐνοῦ αὐθεντός Anthos Ch. A f.64r.11 εἷς βοσκὸς ἐβαλε τὰ πρόβατα καὶ ἐβόσκασιν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 104.1 ὁ εἷς ἀπ' αὐτοὺς θυμῶνεται SOFIANOS, Paidag. 115.1 εἷς γούμενος ἦτον ἐκεῖ καὶ κατετάνος μπαίνει BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 250.13 ἐπρόβαλεν ἀπὸ μακρὰ εἷς νιὸς καμαρωμένος KORNAROS, Erot. II. 284
- στρατιώτης ἦτον ὁ Κηδάρ, ἕνας ἐκ τὴν Τρωάδαν Pol. Tr. 958; ἕνας μεγάλος ἀετός ibid. 11802 διαβόντα γὰρ ἕνας καιρός, ἐγύρισεν ὁ ἄλλος Chron. Mor. H 1048 ἀν ἕνας ἐκ τὴν φυλακὴν ἐφυγεν Theseid VI. 67,3 (Olsen) ἕνας εἶχε μητριὰ κ' ἐκράτειε τὴν Nov. I 156.1 ὥσπερ ἕνας ὁποῦ ἀλείφει Pist. kekoim. 393 ἕνας ψαριάρης ἔρριξε τὴν νύκτα παραγάδι VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 159 ἔδραμεν ἕνας βαστόντα σπαθὶ μικρόν Chron. Ps.-Dorothe. (1572) 412 ἦτον ἕνας ὀνόματι Μιχαήλ Δούκας Γλαβᾶς (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.3–4) ἀπέθανεν ἕνας καὶ ἀφηνεν κληρονόμον ZYGOM., Synopsis 125.A.24 ἕνας ἠσθένησεν ποτὲ κι ἠθέλησε ν' ἀφήσει | παραγγελίαν ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 21.1
 ἕνας δὲ ἀπὸ τοὺς πρῶτους τοῦ βασιλέως, γενεράλες εἰς τὴν ἁσίαν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.2
 ἕνας γιὰ τὸ πείσμα τῆς γυναικας τοῦ ἔκοψε τὰ ὀρχίδια τοῦ Paroim. (Warner) 99.9 ἕνας λέοντας στὴν κόρ' ἀπάνω πάγει PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2423 ὡς γίνεται πολυξευρος ἕνας ποῦ θέλει πράξη BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 121 ἕνας καπετάνιος Μηλιώτης (1691, Cythera, KALLIGEROS 2001: 9, 41.2) ἕνας γιατρός Ὁβραῖος εἶνι ἐδῶ (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 4, 59.26)
- ἔμοσεν ὁ γ-εῖς τοῦ ἄλλου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 546.19 εἶπεν γεῖς φρένιμος Fior, Suppl. 272.1; τίτοιος ἔνι γεῖς ἀνθρώπος χωρὶς φίλους ibid.
 ὁ γεῖς ἐβάστα τὸ χαρτί κι ἄλλος τὸ καλαμάρι P&N Diath. 757 βρίσκεται γεῖς παλιὸς βοσκὸς τσι χρόνους φορτωμένους CHORTATSIS, Panor. I.265
 γεῖς πόνος μ' ἔσφαξε δριμύς Thysia Avr. 113
 γεῖς φρόνιμος βοσκὸς Vosk. 81 γεῖς κοπελιάρης ἀγαπᾷ FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.346 γεῖς μόρος τὸν φτάνει BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 353.23 γεῖς τ' ἄλλοῦ τως λέγει Fallidos 136 μέσα σὲ κύματα σκληρὰ ... γεῖς ναύτης ὄντα λάχνη Stathis I. 2
- ἦρτεν εἰς τὴν Ἀμόχουστον ἐνεῖς Κατελάνος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 84.9
 οἱ ἄρχοντες ν-εῖς ὀπίσω τοῦ ἄλλου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.27; καὶ ν-εῖς ἀπότομος παιδίος ibid. 464.7–8 αποσκεπάστην ο νεις του άλλου VOUSTR., Chron. A 40.16–17 ο νεις επαρπονάτον διατί εσήκωσεν τα χωριά του VOUSTR., Chron. B 143.10

Genitive

The most frequent genitive variant is the inherited form ένός, which should not be considered as an archaism or learned form. It appears in variation with the innovative formations ένοϋ, by analogy with the gen. sg. -οϋ of oxytone masculines in -ος, and ένοϋς, which is a blend of the 2nd-declension -οϋ with the 3rd-declension -ος (MEYER 1889: 151; HATZIDAKIS 1892: 55; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 16–17 and 93). The first variant does not seem to be geographically restricted, while the second is attested mostly in texts from Crete, the Cyclades, Chios and Ikaria. The encroachment of the 2nd-declension ending -οϋ on the indefinite pronoun ένας may also be due to the analogy (and frequent collocation) with the demonstrative and contrastive pronoun forms έκεινοϋ, αϋτεινοϋ, άλλουνοϋ. The form ένοϋ appears already in the 12th c. for neuter gender. It may also occur with initial vowel deletion (’νοϋ, ’νοϋς/’νούς), which leads to the appearance, very rarely, of a non-etymological initial vowel ὀ- (ὀνούς). The hapax form ένους (Chron. Mor. P 1022), if not a scribal error, should be attributed to stress retraction on the analogy of the nom. ένας.

The rare genitive μιανοϋ has not been located so far, but its existence in EMG can be postulated from the corresponding neuter form, as well as from the composite form καμιανοϋ (see 5.8.9).

General	Restricted	Rare
ένός † (έ) νοϋ	(έ) νοϋς /(έ) νούς	ὀνούς † (μιανοϋ) έκροτίσθητε δια λόγον ένός πρεσβύτου Pol. Tr. 1629 app. crit. (A); ένός άρπάσσει τὸ σπαθίν καί κατ’ έκείνους τρέχει Pol. Tr. 13957 κ’ ένός τὰ παραδώσουσιν Def. Par. 222 έδωκες ένός στρατιώτη (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 46, 44.16) μὰ κάποιος άν ένός δέν έχει άμάνταν Cypr. Canz. 138.13 έκάλεσέν τον εις δεῖπνο εις σπίτιν ένός πλουσίου Vios Aisop. I 281.20–1 ένεφανίστηκεν ένός άρχοντος νά πάγει MOREZINOS, Klini 220.18

δια χειρός ένός διάκο (1615, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 247, 234.27)

ενός αφεντός ανομοτάτου Vios Filaret. 239.33 έχρεωστοϋσαν ένός κάποιου δανειστοϋ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 7.41

ένός vel ένοϋ PORTIUS, Grammar 22.41 θυμήσου ένός όπου γιά σέ έβάλθη ν’ άποθάνη KORNAROS, Erot. III.1380

ένοϋ έτέρου άνθρώπου Assizes B 304.23

ένας δοϋλος λεγόμενος Μπαξής ’νοϋ σακκουμάνου τόν έκράζαν Κοσμᾶ Μαχαιρά MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 440.18 έμπλασεν ’νοϋ μοναχοϋ MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 36.35 εμπλάσαν ενοϋ παιδίου VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.5

ώς ένοϋ τσαγκάρη Velis. ρ 730 app. crit. (E) ήστον εις ιατρός ενοϋ αυθεντός Anthos Ch. A f.64r.11 τοϋ ένοϋ καί τοϋ άλλουνοϋ (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 36, 77.13)

εις χείρας ένοϋ παπαῖ ή ψάλτη (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 2, 295.44)

ύπό χειρός ’νοϋ Μάρκου (1574, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES 1996: 61.10)

- σ' ενού οπού τα έφτιανε ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 90.6
 ενού λέντος βρυχισμόν Diig. Alex. K 353.21 ένού άρχου βενέτικου (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 37.II, 20.9–10) ένός vel ένού PORTIUS, Grammar 22.41 είχεν ένού έμیره γυναίκα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §1.8 δέν ξεύρει τί είναι ή δούλεψη ένού πτωχού MONTSEL., Evgena 2 νά είναι και ένού και άλλου συμβάσματα (1665, Vraniana/Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 58, 172.18) ένού πριντζίπου τόσον γλυκότατου (1671, Cythera, PSARAS 1989: 150.16) ένού ζευγά (1698, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1991: 3, 86.37) και δέ θωρεί πώς ήτανε 'νου ρήγα θεγατέρα KORNAPOS, Erot. I.462 ms X ένού και άλλου του ποπολάρου SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 42.18
- ένους καιρού και ένους καιρού όσα έθανατώσα P&N Diath. 4186 μιλιά και γέλιο αγγελικό και μια καρδιά 'νους δράκο CHORTATIS, Panor. I.83; 'νους γέρου κακοπόδαρου id., Katz. I.230 ένους τ' άλλου μας Vosk. 135 ένους γέρου Pist. voskos I 1.153
 'νους Σατανα 'νους βούβαλου και 'νους κακού σου χρόνου FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.60 γενέα 'νους άνδρειωμένου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 35.25 ζηλειάν 'χουσι ένους χωριάτη TROILOS, Rodol. II.55 έδωσε ένους Άξιώτη ριάλια (1678, Andros, POLEMIS 1977: 1, 30.30) όταν προτρέχουν βάσανα 'νους όπου τυραννάται, BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 534.21 ένους τυράννου τό μαθημένον χέρι Irodis I.13 ένους βασιλιού KORNAPOS, Erot. III.1160
- όνους άργάτη (1632, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 621, 595.6) όνους παπα (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 377, 589.22)

Accusative

The earliest recorded change in the development of εις is the addition of final /n/ to the masc. acc. sg., which is quite common already from the 1st c. AD onwards, following general trends (see I, 3.7.2.1). Addition of final /e/ is attested since the 16th c. and appears mostly in texts from the Heptanese, Crete and Chios. The masc. acc. forms εν and ειν are rare hypercorrections, although the composite κανειν is quite frequent (see 5.8.9).

General	Restricted	Rare
ενα(ν)	ένανε	έν † ειν

- εις ένα των αύτου λόγων λέγει ούτως ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 98.2–3 εις ένα τόπον δύσβατον Log. parig. L 49 ένα μου ένπιστεμένο άνθρωπον (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.14) κ' εις ένα τόπον ύψηλόν, εις ένα βουνοτόπιν Velth. 769 έπήγεν και έγκρέμισε εις ένα σκυλόκουμο (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 87, 170.12) εις ένα μεγάλον και θαυμαστόν κάμπον ΡΑΡΑ-ΛΑΥΡ., Diigisis (Meteoron) 108.26 ένα άράπη Diig. Alex. Sem. S 62 ένα σαν έκείνο πεισματάρη, έναν περηφανιάρη Pist. voskos I 3.47 ώσαν ένα σταυρόν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 86.10 ένα καιρόν έπίστευα SOUMAKIS, Past. Fid. D3v.1

ἐπροσέταξέν με τοῦ δοῦναι ἕναν ἄνθρωπον (1127–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 12, 93.3) διὰ ἕναν βελλάνον (1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 534.29) ἐκεῖ σιμὰ στὸν πρίγκιπα ἀπέσω εἰς ἕναν βάτον Chron. Mor. H 5075 εἰς πύργον ἕναν παλαιόν, ἔνδοθεν μίας τσάμπρας Pol. Tr. 12391 ἕναν σας καλὸν χρήσιμον καβαλάρην (1490, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 22, 109.14) καὶ τό 'μπεὶ μέσα καὶ σταθῇ, εἶδα ἕναν μαυροφόρο ΡΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 58 καὶ ἕναν καιρὸν ἦλθεν εἰς τὴν Γάζαν ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 278.19 ἐπαντρεύτη καὶ ἐπῆρε ἕναν παπᾶ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.35 νᾶχω 'νανε κοντά μου ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua V.51 ἕνανε ἄλλονε (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 3, 362.4) εἰσὲ πάσα ἕνανε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 11, 36.24) ἕναν vel ἕνανε PORTIUS, Grammar 22.42 ἕνανε ποῦ 'χε κλέπτει ΚΑΤΣΑΙΤΙΣ, Klathmos I.735 ἐν λόγον Diig. Alex. Sem. B 228 app. crit. (B) καὶ πάλιν ἄλλος εἷς πρὸς εἷν διὰ τὴν εὐταξίαν Diig. tetr. 117 app. crit. (προσὶν C)

Feminine

Nominative

It is difficult to gauge the position of the accent in manuscript sources, but it seems that both the inherited paroxytone μία and the innovative μιά with synizesis are attested. The forms with synizesis are ascertained either through the metre (in verse texts) or through the spelling μνιά (see also I, 3.8.2.3).

General

μία ἰ μιά ἰ μνιά

καὶ ἀποκρίθ(η) μία ἀπ' ἐκεῖνες (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 46, 38.2) εὐρίσκεται μία γούρνα μαρμαρένη ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 254.34–5 καὶ μιά ἀπ' αὐτὲς ἐλάλησε ΧΟΥΜΝΟΣ, Kosmog. 1303 ἐχωρίσθη μιά ἐξ αὐτῶν Velth. 554 ἔκαμε μία τροῦπα μεγάλην (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.16) μία χήρα ἄπορος Synax. gadar. 161 μνιά νύκτα / μιά νύκτα Rim. kor. A 2 app. crit. σᾶς θέλει φέρει μιά γενιά κακή καὶ ξένη ἄλλη! FALIEROS, Thrinios 76 εἶναι μιά δοκιμαχιά Fior 126.35 ἦρθε μία γραφή εἰς τὰς χεῖρας μας (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 2, 49.8) ἔν μιά φρόνιμη βουλή γραμμένη Cypr. Canz. 45.6 μία ἄρρωστία πολλὰ βαρά ΜΟΡΕΖΙΝΟΣ, Klini 15.34 ἡ μία πάρτη καὶ ἡ ἄλλη (1619, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 1, 187.6) ἔτσι ἡ μία ὥσάν καὶ ἡ ἄλλη (1622, Crete, DETORAKIS 1992: 2, 289.13) ἡ μνιά ΚΡΙΤΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ, Grammar 110.3
 μία σουλτάνα ἠθέλησε νὰ πᾶ νὰ προσκυνήσει ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 17 μιά βολὰ (1688, Naxos, ΣΙΦΟΝΙΟΥ-ΚΑΡΑΠΑ et al. 1982/83: 824, 1108.7)

Genitive

Again, the position of the accent is doubtful in manuscript sources; the oxytone genitive μιᾶς is the inherited form, but a new paroxytone genitive μίας develops on the analogy of the nominative. An innovative genitive μιανῆς appears from the 16th c., on the analogy of ἄλλης – ἄλληνῆς, which in turn was influenced by the demonstrative inflectional pattern αὐτεινῆς, ἐκτεινῆς etc. It is attested mainly in texts from the Heptanese.

General	Restricted
μίας ἢ μιᾶς	μιανῆς

ἄνευ μιᾶς οὐδετιποτένης δικαιοσύνης καὶ ἀσχημοσύνης Assizes B 415.1
περὶ μίας κούπας (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 22, 57.6) εἰς πύργον ἕναν παλαιόν, ἔνδοθεν μίας τσάμπρας Pol. Tr. 12391 (μιᾶς ACV : μίας BX) διὰ μίας γυναικὸς τὴν ὠραιότητα, τὸ ὄνομα αὐτῆς Ἑλένη Diig. Alex. V 57.4 ἀμουρεύτηκεν μιᾶς καλογριάς Fior 147.9
τὴν ἄρκλαν ἀποῦ τ'ονε ποτὲ μιᾶς Σβηρούδαινας (1530, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 139, 250.20) θέλοντας μιᾶς πού φεύγει ν' ἀκλουθήσει Cypr. Canz. 13.2 ἐπαρομοίασα το μιᾶς γλυκόμνοστης τροφῆς Pist. kekoim. 35 ἠῦρεν καὶ ἐκατήνησεν εἰς μίας γραίας σπίτι Diig. Alex. Sem. B 62 ἡ μνιά, τῆς μνιάς KRITROPOULOS, Grammar 110.3 ἐπίστευσα μιᾶς λωλῆς γυναικας λόγια PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §15.41 οὗτος ἦτον υἱὸς μιας ευγενούς πατρικίας LANDOS, Neos Parad. 345.6
τίς νὰ γιατρέψη τὴν πληγὴ μιᾶς ὁποῦ ξεψυχήσῃ; KORNAROS, Erot. III.312 ἐμπῆκε εἰσὲ μιᾶς φτωχῆς σπίτι SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 42.8
διὰ μερτικὸν μιανῆς ἀγελάδος (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 329, 191.6) μιανῆς γειτόνισσας Bertoldos 33.2; ἄλλης μιανῆς ibid. 70.16 τῆς κάθε μιανῆς (1673, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 73, 43.4) τῆς κάθε μιανῆς (reading from facsimile) (1693, Venice, MERTZIOS 1935: 1, 22.23) (author from Epirus) στὴν γνῶμη μιανῆς γυναικὸς KATSAITIS, Ifig. Prol. 9

Accusative

As in the nom. sg., both paroxytone (inherited) and oxytone (innovative) variants are attested, and it is often difficult to make a distinction on the basis of the manuscript sources. Apart from this, the only variation in the acc. is the variable deletion of final /n/, which dates back to the Koine.

General
μιά(ν) ἢ μιά(ν)

ἡ μιὰ δουλεία, οἷα καὶ ἂν ἔνι (1350–1?, Athos?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 130, 45.25) καὶ μίαν ἡμέραν κυριακὴν, εἶχον χαρὲς μεγάλες Chron. Mor. H 6023 εἰς κάμπτον μέγαν, ὁμαλόν, εἰς μίαν πεδιάδα Diig. tetr. 107 καὶ μίαν μικρὴν ἀλεποῦν εἶδες καὶ ἐφοβήθης Achil. L 1166 εἰς τέντα μιὰ παρέξωθεν εἰς ἄκραν τοῦ φουσσάτου Byz. Il. 853 ἔχοντα πάντα εἰς λογισμὸν μίαν ἀπ' ἄλλην χώρα FALIEROS, Erot. En. 11 καὶ ἔφερον μιτὰ του μίαν πέτραν πρετζιούσαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 84.10 μίαν ἀπὸ τούτες τες ἡμέρες Varl. & Ioas. (Lavrás) 85.13 διὰ μίαν μαγαρισμένη γυναῖκαν Diig. Alex. E 205.10 (Lolos) ο Απολλώνιος μια νύκταν ονειρεύτη Apoll. Rim. A 1625 παρεκαλῶ σε, Χάρο, κάμε μου μία χάρη Nov. II 162.29 ἐκρυφθήκανε εἰς μιὰ μεριά τοῦ δάσου Alex. Rim. 954 πιάνει μίαν κεφάλη γαδάρου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.36 μία γραφή VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 145 εἶδα καὶ μία γυναῖκα πόρνην PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 109.14 ἐλάβωσεν μίαν γυναῖκα (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 11, 10.5) σ' ἔνα περβόλι εὐρίσκομου, ὅς μιὰ τάβλα μαρμαρένια CHORTATSI, Katz. III.545–6 μία μακριὰ καὶ καλορίζικη ζωὴ (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 59.51) πηγαίνει μίαν τῶν νυκτῶν MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 161 νὰ πὰ γυρεύγεις μίαν πορδού, μιὰ γρά ξεκωλωμένη FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.323 ἐπρόσταξα νὰ κάμουν μίαν ὑψηλὴν εἰκόνα χρυσήν KONDAR., Paidēs 210 ἐρεστάραν καὶ ἔτζι μοῦ ἔδωκαν μία γραφή (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 507.27–8) διὰ νὰ κουμουδάρω μία μου ὑπόθεση (1696, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 4, 256.14)

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

The neut. acc. is reformed on the pattern of the masc. through the addition of final /a/ (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 13). The first attestations of the neut. acc. sg. ἔνα come from the first centuries AD (GIGNAC 1981: 183), and are also to be found in EMedG texts, e.g. τὸ ἔνα Malalas, Chronogr. 346.11, καθ' ἔνα ἑκαστον βῆμα De ceremoniis 121.1 (DIETERICH 1898: 185; PSALTES 1913: 191). Addition of final /n/ to the innovative neut. acc. sg. ἔνα is recorded already in the 4th c. AD (GIGNAC 1981: 184–5). The inherited AG form ἔν is also retained; it tends to be preferred in more formal registers and, when appearing in vernacular texts, it is more often used as a numeral (see 6.1.1). Deletion of final /n/ in this form, most likely a casual scribal error, is extremely rare and unrelated to spoken language, e.g. ἀπὸ ἑ μέρος (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 88, 92.5).

General	Restricted
ἔνα(ν)	ἐν

ἤφεραν τὰ εἰκονίσματα ... εἰς ἐν ἁλώνι Pol. Tr. 11984 (ἐν ἁλώνι A : ἔναν ἁλώνιν CV) εἰς ἐν κοφίνιν ἔσωθεν τὸν Φλώριον ὀσεβάζει Flor. L 1566 καὶ πᾶσα ἐν ἀλάγιον καὶ πᾶσα ἔνα σκηπτρον Achil. N 402 πρόβλημα ἐν Vios Aisop. E 290.42 παρευθὺς ἐτήρησεν εἰς ἐν μέρος Velth. 548 ἐν μικρὸν πορδόπουλον Spanos D 1789 βάλ' τα εἰς ἐν κακάβι FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 356 ἔχω κι ἐγὼ ἐν ἐρώτημα Diig. Alex. Sem. B 713 ἐνα τὸ ἄλλο οὐ<κ ἐ>συμφωνοῦσαν NIKON, Prol. 46.3 ἐποίησεν ἔνα κάστρον Chron. Mor. H 3006 θέλω νὰ βρῶ ἔνα πουλὶν, πονετικὸν πουλάκιον Peri xen. 359 ἐφάνιστή μου νὰ περνῶ σ' ἔνα λεφτὸ λαγκάδι PIKAT., Rima thrin. 5 ἡ γούλα δὲ καὶ ἡ πορνεὶὰ τὸ ἔνα σύρνει τὸ ἄλλο FALIEROS, Log. did. 109 εσέβηκεν εἰς ἔνα καράβι DIONYS., Istor. 255.17

σ' ἓνα περβόλι εύρίσκομου CHORTATSI, Katz. III.545 εἰς ἓνα νησί σάν τοῦτο (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 59.26) ἔκαμαν ἓνα εἰδῶλον χρυσόν, ὅμοιον τοῦ Αἰσώπου Vios Aisop. D 240.39 ἐβάσταν καὶ ἓνα παιδάκιν μικρόν PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §15.30 μὴν μὲ θωρήτην, ἄρχοντες, ἓνα μικρὸ παιδάκι KONDAK., Paidēs 1 ἓνα καστέλι σάν αὐτὸ νὰ στέκει ἐνάντιά του DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 393 ἐκεῖ ἓναν κάστρον ἡύρασιν, τὸ λέγουσιν τὰ Σέρβια Chron. Mor. H 3676 ἓναν σκυλὶν, Σαρακηνός, σκυλὶν μαγαρισμένον Arm. 92 app. crit. (C) ἓναν καλὸν καράβι Pol. Tr. 107 app. crit. (V) καὶ κάτω ἐκατέβηκαν εἰς ἓναν κατατόπι Chron. Toc. 1722 ὥσαν ἓναν πουλὶν εἰς τὸν κάμπον (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 11, 68.3) ὀφείλου νὰ ποίσουν ἓναν καμπαναρίον (1498, Corfu, KARYDIS 1999b: 2, 306.12) ἔκαμεν ἓναν παιδὶν (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 73, f.IIr.7) εἶδεν ἓναν ὄρωμαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 6.24 ἀρχεύγει ἓναν ἔργον Fior 73.5

μπήξον ἓναν καρφὶν (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 67.15) ἔκαμεν ἓναν νερόν (1713, Chios, LAMBROS 1910: 351, 209.1)

Genitive

For the gen. sg. ἑνοῦ, attested since the 12th c., see masc. above. The form μιανοῦ is formed on the basis of the feminine and is attested since the late 17th c., in documents from the Heptanese. It occurs only in the sense of the numeral “one”.

General	Restricted	Rare
ἑνός (ἐ)νοῦ	(ἐ)νοῦς/(ἐ)νοῦς	ὀνοῦς μιανοῦ χελιδόνια τρία πιάσε ... καὶ δέσε καὶ εἰς τὸ ποδάριν τοῦ πάσα ἑνός STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 11.295 εβόσκασιν υποκάτωθεν ἑνός δένδρου ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 104.2 ἑνός караβίου χοντροῦ (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1946: 493.12) εἰς ἑνός δένδρου σκιὰν Vios Aisop. K 149.18 ἑνός του ἀρσενικοῦ παιδίου MOREZINOS, Klini 50.2

ἐγὼ ἦμον ἐνδεδυμένην ἀπὸ ἑνοῦ ἀμπελίου (1175, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 184, 241.16) ἑνοῦ ἐσπιτίου Assizes B 343.17 ὄνομα τοῦ ἑνοῦ Πισον Pent. Gen. 1.11 (sc. ποταμοῦ) ἑνοῦ γλυκομυρωδάτου ποτοῦ Pist. kekoim. 35–6 G. ἑνοῦ PORTIUS, Grammar 22.41 ἑνοῦ πτωχοῦ παιδίου (1680, Skýros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 41, 68.4) ἐπάντησε ἑνοῦ караβίου σαρακήνικου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 272.26 εμπλάσαν ἑνοῦ κατέργου φλourounτινίκου VOUSTR., Chron. A 12.14–15 νοῦς καστελλιοῦ ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 775 στρατιώτη ἑνοῦ κοράσου CHORTATSI, Erof. Interm. II.112 ἓνα δερμάτι | ἑνοῦς λιονταριοῦ KORNAROS, Erot. II.349–50 πληρωμῆς ὀνοῦς κονισμάτου (1623, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 47, 126.7) πινακίου μιανοῦ (1691, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 142, 82.1); μιανοῦ κανταρελιοῦ (1713, ibid. 322, 211.2)

5.8.6 οὐδείς

The negative indefinite pronoun οὐδείς is a direct inheritance from AG. It is quite common in LMedG and EMG texts, and has no connotations of archaism, although some inflectional forms which remain close to AG inflectional patterns are preferred in texts of a more formal register. Οὐδείς competes with κανείς and τις/τινάς in vernacular texts, but is less common than either of these. In some instances it is difficult to distinguish (as in the case of οὐδεκανείς) the complex pronoun οὐδείς, οὐδένας, οὐδεγείς from the collocation of negative conjunction οὐδέ + indefinite pronoun εἷς, ἕνας, γ-εἷς, and editorial practice in this respect may vary.

Οὐδείς develops a series of innovative inflectional forms, following the pattern of εἷς/ἕνας (for which see 5.8.5), but does not exhibit the full range of variants. The innovative forms of the pronoun οὐδείς first appear, as in the case of εἷς/ἕνας, in the 15th c. The forms with anaptyxis of intervocalic /γ/ are restricted to Crete and appear from the 16th c. onwards.

The neuter paradigm of the pronoun is very rarely attested in vernacular texts. The only form that appears with any regularity is the innovative variant οὐδένα(ν). The genitive οὐδενός/οὐδενοῦ has not been located so far, and the inherited form of the nom./acc. sg. οὐδέν lacks attestations because it evolves, during the MedG period, into a negative particle. Οὐδέν functioned already in AG as a reinforcer of the main sentential negator οὐ, and came finally, in the MedG period, to replace it, following a frequent cross-linguistic path of evolution; for detailed textual, chronological and syntactic analysis see LANDSMAN 1988/89, KIPARSKY/CONDORAVDI 2006, CHATZOPOULOU 2012, WILLMOTT 2013. As a result, although the form οὐδέν is abundant in vernacular texts, its meaning is that of a simple sentential negator, e.g. τις εἶσαι οὐδέν γνωρίζω GLYKAS, Stichoi 538; οὐδέν ἐγλύτωσαν τινές, μόνη ἡ φτωχολογία Chron. Mor. H 4087. It is only in higher-register or more formal texts/contexts that the original pronominal meaning of the form οὐδέν is to be found.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	οὐδείς ἰ οὐδένας ἰ οὐδεγείς	οὐδεμία ἰ οὐδεμιά	οὐδέν ἰ οὐδένα(ν)
Gen.	οὐδενός ἰ οὐδενοῦ ἰ οὐδενενοῦ	οὐδεμίας ἰ οὐδεμιᾶς	(οὐδενός)
Acc.	οὐδένα(ν)	οὐδεμία(ν) ἰ οὐδεμιά(ν)	οὐδέν ἰ οὐδένα(ν)

Masculine*Nominative*

General	Restricted
οὐδείς ἰ οὐδένας	οὐδεγείς

ἡ δαγάλ' ἄς ἀκολουθῇ, καὶ οὐδείς οὐ μὴ σὲ φθάσῃ Dig. G II.96 οὐδείς ἄνθρωπος ἔμεινεν μέσα τοῦ κάστρου Liv. E 2340 οὐδείς ἄνθρωπος τῆς αὐθεντίας μου νὰ μὴδέν τολμήσῃ νὰ ποίση ζημίαν (1478–9, Constantinople, GILLILAND WRIGHT/MACKAY 2007: 269.25) οὐδεις ἄνθρωπος πέθανε χωρίς πικρίαν τοῦ κόσμου Peri xen. 191 καὶ οὐδεις ἀπὸ τοὺς δώδεκα ἴσχυσε νὰ τὸν ρίψη Achil. N 1557 πλὴν οὐκ ἐγίνωσκεν οὐδεις τὸν πρῶτον τῆς ἀρμάδας Velis. N² 100 οὐδεις ἄλλος τὸ ἔποιεν εἰ μὴ οἱ ἁμαρτίες μας LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 814 οὐδεις ἐκ τὰς παραταγὰς Imb. Rim. 27 οὐδεις τοὺς δὲν ἐδύνετον ποσῶς νὰ ὑπομένη ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1691 οὐδεις γὰρ ἀναμάρτητος εἰς τὸν τροχὸν ἐτοῦτον Tzabl. 105 ἐχαίρονταν, εὐφραίνονταν ὥς οὐδεις ἄλλος ᾗς κόσμον Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1306 πλέον οὐδεις δὲν τολμᾷ νὰ ἐπιχειριστεῖ (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 403, f.3r.55) οὐδεις εὐρέθη νὰ τοὺς κηδεύση (post 1666, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 23, 313.11) οὐδεις ἄλλος κανεὶς νὰ μὴν ἔχη νὰ κάμη (1685, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 245, 154.16) οὐδεις ἦτον ἀξιότερος ΜΑΚΟΛΑΣ, Ioust. 424.13 οὐδένας δὲν ἀπόμεινεν εἰ μὴ αὐτὴ καὶ μόνη Diig. tetr. 932 οὐδένας εἰς τὴν χώραν τοῦ στρέφεται Pol. Tr. 8915 οὐδένας ἔρχεται ἐδῶ, οὐδένας ἀναβαίνει Dig. A 3342 καὶ οὐδένας καβαλλάρης δὲν ἐθέλησεν νὰ μπῇ ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 394.18 νὰ μὴν γυρίσει οὐδένας ἀπὸ σᾶς ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 245.31 οὐδένας ἀπ' ὅσους ἦλθαν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 139.7 οὐδένας στὸν κόσμον ἐμπορεῖ νὰ τ' ἀγνωρίζῃ Cyp: Canz. 49.7 οὐδένας ἀπὸ τοὺς στρατιώτας ἐδυνήθη νὰ τὸν σταυρώσῃ ΑΝΔΟΝΙΟΣ, Vios Sym. Styl. 244.24 νὰ μὴ γυρίσει ἀπὸ σᾶς οὐδένας εἰς τὴν Πόλιν ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 452 οὐδένας ἀπ' αὐτοῦς SKORD. ΜΑΡΑΦ. G., Evang. 437.288 καὶ οὐδένας τὸ ἐσήκωσε Vios Aisop. K 178.21 καὶ οὐδένας νὰ μπορῇ (1607, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 448, 410.2) οὐδένας, μηδένας GERMANO, Grammar 71.9

νὰ μὴν ἡμπορῇ οὐδένας ἄνθρωπος νὰ βάλῃ οὐδεμία ντεφικουλτά (1645, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 10, 367.16) κι οὐδένας τὴ σκληρότη τῇ δὲ ζεῖ νὰ μὴ γνωρίζῃ TROILOS, Rodol. I.432 οὐδ' ἕνας δὲν ἀποκοτᾷ τὸ ἐνάντιο νὰ μιλήσῃ ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. II.1204 οὐδεγεὶς ἐσώσθηκε P&N Diath. 5084 κι οὐδὲ γεῖς ρίζα μπορεῖ νὰ κάμῃ CHORTATSIS, Erof. III.199 καὶ οὐδεγεὶς μπορὰ τὴ μεταστρέψῃ ΦΟΣΚΟΛΟΣ, Fort. III.398 κι οὐδεγεὶς μπορεῖ νὰ σᾶς τὴ σβήσῃ Stathis Interm. II.94

Genitive

General	Rare
οὐδενός	οὐδενοῦ ἢ οὐδενενοῦ οὐδενὸς πρόσωπον βλέπεις Pol. Tr. 6118 app. crit. (X) μὴδὲ μὲ δώσης οὐδενός Imb. Rim. 333 οὐδενὸς ἐκλεψα χρυσάφι ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 49.2 οὐδενὸς δὲν ἐδύνετον νὰ δείξῃ καλὸν πρόσωπον MOREZINOS, Klini 47.32 οὐδενοῦ βασιλέως Diig. Alex. V 65.9 οὐδενενοῦ βασιλέως Diig. Alex. K 346.24–5

Accusative

General
οὐδένα(ν)

οὐδέναν εἶχε πλέον Pol. Tr. 271 app. crit. (X) οὐδέναν κράτει δειλόν, οὐδ' ἄτυχον κανένα Theseid VIII.93,3 (1529) ὄλους τοὺς ἑκατέσφαξαν, οὐδέναν ἔλεῃσαν Chron. Mor. P 1538 διατὶ δὲν εἶχε ζωντανόν οὐδέναν Cypr. Canz. 31.3
εἶ τινα πιάσουν εἰς τὸν πόλεμον, οὐδέναν ζωντανόν δὲν ἀφήνουν Diig. Alex. K 268.25 ἐγύρευσαν τοὺς θεοὺς μας. Καὶ οὐδένα ἤρρηκα Diig. Alex. F 70.9 (Konstantinopulos) εἰς οὐδένα καιρὸν (1530, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 141, 254.32) οὐδὲν ἔχει οὐδέναν τόπον σιγοῦρον (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 158.8) δὲν ἤρρε οὐδέναν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 240.30 δεν εὐρίσκουσι οὐδένα φίλον NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 113.7 δὲν εἶναι δίκαιον εἰς οὐδένα MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 333.9 οὐδένα δὲ γνωρίζω P&N Diath. 713 κι οὐδέναν εἰσὲ ψέγωση λόγῳ ποτὲ νὰ ποῦσι CHORTATSI, Erof. Dedic. 20 εἰς οὐδένα τόπο (1639, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 6, 274.80) κι οὐδένα δὲν κακολογῶ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 197.18

Feminine*Nominative*

General
οὐδεμία ἢ οὐδεμιά

ἀλλὰ ὅδεμιά ὅδε ἦτονε νὰ ἔχει την ομορφιά τῆς Apoll. Rim. N 476 οὐδεμία δὲ βρίσκεται καλομοιριά μεγάλη CHORTATSI, Erof. Intern. I.173 δὲν μοῦ ἔμεινε οὐδεμία Vios Aisop. D 216.20

Genitive

General
οὐδεμίας ἢ οὐδεμιᾶς

ἄνευ οὐδεμίας προφάσεως (1332, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 35, 111.17) καὶ οὐδεμιᾶς εἶναι τὸ ἴδιον SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 443.509

Accusative

General
οὐδεμία(ν) ἢ οὐδεμιά(ν) οὐδεμίαν ἀπόκρισιν δύνασαι ὑποδείξει (1171, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VII: 4, 363.26) οὐδεμίαν δικαιοσύνην ἔσχεν (1241, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 18, 87.16) χωρὶς ἐμοῦ οὐδεμίαν ἔχουσι μυρωδιὰν Diig. tetr. 383 οὐκ ἔχουσιν ἀγάπην οὐδεμίαν Pol. Tr. 9476 (οὐδεμίαν ms C : οὐδεμία ms V) οὐκ ἀπεστάθην ἀπὸ σοῦ εἰς οὐδὲ μίαν ὥραν Dig. A 1963 ὅτι ἀπ' ἔμην οὐκ ἔχρηζεν χάριταν οὐδεμίαν Chron. Mor. P 7667 τῶν δὲ ἄλλων ἔχει μέριμναν, ἂν εἴποις, οὐδεμίαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 17 λύπην σ' αὐτόν της οὐδεμιά | εἶδα ποτὲ Cypr. Canz. 125.25 οὐδεμίαν ἐντροπὴ τὸ ἔχομεν, ὅτι εἴμεσθε γυναῖκες Diig. Alex. F 100.22 (Konstantinopulos) καὶ οὐδεμιά 'κ τῆς χώρες των οὐδόλως νὰ ἀφήσουν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XI.12 οὐδεμίαν ἀπαθιβολὴ ἐκίνα νὰ εἴπῃ MOREZINOS, Klini 39.15 νὰ μὴν ἡμπορῇ ... νὰ βάλλῃ οὐδεμία ντεφικουλιτά (1645, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 10, 367.16) ἀπ' οὐδεμίαν ἀνάπαψην εὐρίσκαμε κ' οἱ δυό μας TROILOS, Rodol. I.234

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General	Rare
οὐδένα(ν)	οὐδέν

καννάτιν ἐλάδιν καὶ πλέον οὐδέν (1139, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 121, 161.19) οὐ κληρονομοῦσιν ἐκ τῶν πατρικῶν οὐδέν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 243.580) οὐδέν τὸν ἡφελοῦν εἰς οὐδέν Assizes B 306.19 δεν ἐπόμεινεν κάτεργον ουδέν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3492 tit. λύουσιν γλήγορα πολλά, οὐδένα ἀπομένει Dig. A 4687 ουδένα 'δέν γυρίζει Apoll. Rim. V 1514 οὐδένα θερὸν τὸ λοιπὸν τῆς γυναικὸς ὁμοιάζει VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 7 ὅ,τι λέγει ἐκεῖ οὐδένα εἶναι τοῦ Σολομώντος MOREZINOS, Klini 10.5
νὰ μὴ μπορῇ νὰ 'χῃ οὐδένα δικαίωμα (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 759, 660.10) νὰ μὴν μπορῇ ... νὰ λείψῃ ἀπὸ αὐτὰ εἰς οὐδένα (1634, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 65, 173.11) κακό, Πετρίτη, οὐδένα δὲν ἔχεις, φαίνεται μου, παθημένα Pist. voskos II 3.1–2 πάντοτε ἔχουν σκάνδαλα καὶ ὄφελος οὐδένα MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1332 οὐδένα πράγμα γίνεται χωρὶς τὸ θέλημά του DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 871 μὴ ἔχοντας οὐδένα γοβέρνον (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 183.50) κι οὐδένα σ' κείνα π' ἀρχισεν ὄφελος δὲν ἐδόθη KORNAROS, Erot. I.478 εἰς οὐδέναν κράτημαν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 231.161) οὐδέναν ἤθελεν εὐρεθῇ (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.18) λουτρόν οὐδέναν βλέπεις Ptoch. IV 91 app. crit. (P) οὐδέναν πρᾶμαν Cypr. Canz. 104.52 ἀπ' ὅσα πρᾶματα δανείζονται τοῦ Θεοῦ, οὐδέναν ἀφανίζεται Pist. kekoim. 37.222 οὐδέναν γνώθῃ ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1391 ρισπέτο οὐδέναν ἄτσαλα νὰ σ' ἀτιμολογήσω FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.79

5.8.7 μηδεῖς

The negative indefinite pronoun μηδεῖς is a direct inheritance from AG. The syntactic restriction of μηδεῖς to subjunctive and interrogative clauses that was operative in AG applies only in the earlier and higher-register MedG texts. The frequency of this pronoun is much lower than that of οὐδεῖς and its main competitors, i.e. κανεῖς and τις/τινάς.

Μηδείς inflects like εἷς (see 5.8.5) but presents fewer inflectional variants. It develops innovative forms from the 15th c. onwards. The stem variants μουδ- instead of μηδ- are exclusively Cretan and appear in the late 16th c. only in a few literary texts. They may be due to backing of /i/ > /u/ caused by the adjacent labial /m/ (see I, 2.8.4), or to the analogical influence of οὐδέ. The forms with anaptyxis of intervocalic /γ/ are also restricted to Crete and appear since the 16th c. Editorial practice with respect to word division varies, and therefore some potential instances of the pronoun may appear as μηδ' ἕνας etc.

As in the case of οὐδείς–οὐδέν, the neut. sg. form of μηδείς, namely μηδέν, develops from the late Koine into a negative particle, but one that is used predominantly in subjunctive and imperative contexts (JANNARIS 1897: 425–7; KAPSOMENAKIS 1938: 71–2; CHATZOPOULOU 2012: 222–33), e.g. σεαυτῇ πρόσεχε, μηδέν δίσταζε περὶ ἑμοῦ P.Mich. 8 491 (2nd c. AD); μηδέν οὖν μεριμνᾷς περὶ ἡμῶν P.Oxy. 56.3865.25 (5th c. AD). In LMedG, attestations of μηδέν functioning as a negative are to be found among the earliest texts available, e.g. καὶ μηδέν ἔχοντός μας κατασκήνωσιν εἰς τοὺς ἰδίους μας (1059, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 9, 109.8); ἵνα μηδέν ἔχουν ἐξουσίαν οὐδὲ πουλεῖν οὐδὲ βάλλειν εἰς ἀμάχιν (1178, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 191, 251.22). As a result, it only rarely occurs as neuter indefinite pronoun.

Μηδείς functions mostly as a pronoun, but determiner usage is also found.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	μηδείς ἰ μηδένας ἰ μηδεγείς ἰ μουδένας ἰ μουδεγείς	μηδεμία ἰ μηδεμιά ἰ μουδεμιά	μηδέν ἰ μηδένα(ν)
Gen.	μηδενός	(μηδεμίας) ἰ (μηδεμιᾶς)	(μηδενός)
Acc.	μηδένα(ν)(ε) ἰ μουδένα	(μηδεμιά(ν)) ἰ (μηδεμιά(ν))	μηδέν ἰ μηδένα(ν)

Masculine

Nominative

General	Restricted	Rare
μηδείς ἰ μηδένας	μηδεγείς	μουδένας ἰ μουδεγείς ὃς ἀπεθάνομεν εὐθύς καὶ μηδεις ὑπελείφθη Dig. G VIII.293 οὔτε μηδεις τῶν μοναχῶν μαρτυρῆσαι ἔγγραφον τινὰ (1329, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 14, 57.20) μηδεις ἔστω ἀπότολμος διανοχλῆσαι (1428, Lefkada, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 12, 254.7)

ἀλλ' ἄληθεύουν ἐκ παντός, μηδεις οὖν ἀπιστήση Dig. E 721 μηδεις ποτὲ νὰ μὴ μπορῇ Rim. than. 79

ἵνα μηδεις ἀπολειφθῇ ἐκ τῆς ὑποταγῆς σου Velis. ρ 85 μηδεις ἐξ αὐτῶν ἰσχύσαι κρατῆσαι (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 6, 12.16)

καὶ μηδεις τὸν διασείση τίποτε (1582, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 58, 179.6) καὶ μηδεις ἐδικός μου τολμήση ποτὲ (1615, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 1, 310.7) μηδεις οὖν τῶν σοφῶν καταφρονήση τῆς ἀμαθείας μου VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 29.6 μηδεις οὐδεις κανεις ἀπὸ τοὺς ἀδελφοὺς νὰ τὸν ἐνοχλῇ (1687, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 88, 212.7)

καὶ πάντες ν' ἀποθάνωμεν, μηδένας ν' ἀπομείνη Dig. A 4667 μηδένας τὸ λοιπὸν ἀποῦ σᾶς Pist. kekoim. 389 δὲν εἶναι μπορετὸ μηδένας νὰ περάσει CHORTATSI, Erof. II.195 μηδένας εἶναι νὰ ἀμφιβάλλη MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 317.31 οὐδένας, μηδένας GERMANO, Grammar 71.9
μὰ αὐτοὶ ὅπου σοῦ λένε πῶς εἶναι Ἀλλάτσηδες ἐδικοὶ σου, δὲν εἶναι μηδένας (1644, Chios, PARADOPOULOS 1987: 25.7) μηδένας ἄλλος караβοκύρης μοῦ τὸ πιστεύγει (1648, Corfu, MANOUSAKAS 1965: 268.9) μηδὲ γεῖς ποτὲ στὸ νοῦ του βάνει CHORTATSI, Erof. Prol. 69; μηδεγεῖς λογιάζω δὲ γνωρίζει id., Katz. III.276
μηδεγεῖς δὲν ἤμπορὰ μιλῆση P&N Diath. 5190 μουδένας διχωστὰς Θεὸς νὰ 'ναι δεν του τυχαίνει CHORTATSI, Panor. IV.220; μουδεγεῖς μπορὰ μοῦ κοντραστάρη id., Katz. IV.330 (ms μίδε)

Genitive

General
μηδενός

κατέχω πῶς μηδενός ... νὰ μὴν ἔχω καὶ νὰ μὴν ἦκαμα ποτὲ κακὸ FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.335 παρὰ μηδενός ἐνοχλούμενος (1675, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 39, 65.12)

Accusative

General	Rare
μηδένα(ν)	μηδένανε ἢ μουδένα μηδένα δὲν ἐφῆκα P&N Diath. 1497 μηδένα δὲ θέλει κάμει ἢ φύση πλιὸ φίλον ἐμπιστεμένον FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.114 εἰς τ' ἄλογό του κάθισε, μηδέναν ἐφοβήθη BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 269.14 ἔκ τῶν νέων δὲ μηδένανε ἐκεῖ τοτ' ἐκαλέσαν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.96 λόγο μουδένα σὲ κακὸ γιὰ σένα νὰ μιλῆση CHORTATSI, Erof. I.470 app. crit. (Xanthoudidis)

Feminine

Nominative

General	Rare
μηδεμία ἢ μηδεμιά	μουδεμιά γλώσσα, λογιάζω, μηδεμιά μπορεῖ νὰ τὴ μιλῆσει CHORTATSI, Erof. III.81; δὲν εἶναι μηδεμιά σὰν τούτη ibid. III.337 τόσον ὅπου μηδεμιά ξμεινεν ἑλπίς (1693, Bucharest, LEGRAND 1903: 11, 30.2–3) ἀγάπη μουδεμιά δὲν εἶν' σὰν τῇ δικῇ μου CHORTATSI, Katz. IV.188; ὁσταρία δὲν εἶν' στὴ στράτα μουδεμιά ibid. IV.278

Accusative

General
μηδεμιά

δὲν ἔχω μηδεμιά γαζέτα CHORTATSI, Katz. II.194

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General	Rare
μηδένα(ν)	μηδέν

μηδὲν ἢ ὀλίγον σχεδὸν ὠφελεῖται ZYGOM., Synopsis 150.B.47

μηδὲ κρατίζοντας μηδένα πρᾶμα (1644, Crete, VINCENT 1967: 3, 64.18) δὲν λείπει μηδένα (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 107.12–13) τινὰς ἐκ τὰ φουσάτα του, μηδέναν παλικάριν, μ' αὐτόνον δὲν ἠμπόρεσεν νὰ παίζη τὸ κοντάριν Imb. Rim. 377

δὲν θέλει νὰ γίνεταί μηδέναν ἄδικον εἰς τὴν ραγιάδες (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 36.18)

5.8.8 μηδετίποτε

The uninflected pronoun μηδετίποτε derives from the univerbation of the negative adverb μηδὲ and the indefinite pronoun τίποτε. It presents several variants, due to the considerable allomorphy of the pronoun τίποτε (see 5.8.2). The earliest attestations come from the 16th–17th c. Its meaning is mostly negative, “nothing, not a single one”, but very occasionally it may also carry an indefinite meaning “anything, a little bit”. It functions both as a pronoun and as a determiner.

λόγιαζε τὸ μηδετίποτες τῆς φύσεώς σου VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 149.9–10 μηδετίποτες VLACHOS, This. s.v.

τί συντριμὸν καὶ κατατσακισμὸν ἔκαμαν ... διὰ μηδὲ τίποτες! Bertoldos 19.23 ἀπὸ τοὺς μηδετίποτες δαρμένος NEOFYOTOS, Achouri 148

δὲν ἦταν μηδετίβοτας τ' ἀμπόδιτρον αὐτόνο CHORTATSI, Katz. V 9

There is a single (so far) attestation of an indefinite pronoun πασατίποτε, in the form πασατίβοτις “something”: καὶ κρίνω καμωμένα | νὰ 'χουνε πασατίβοτις CHORTATSI, Katz. II.140–1.

5.8.9 κανείς

The indefinite pronoun κανείς is a MedG innovation. It derives from the univerbation of the AG emphatic particle κᾶν (< καὶ ἄν) and the AG numeral εἷς, with a semantic evolution from “not even one” to “no one”. The univerbation must have taken place already before the LMedG period (see MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 623–4; JANNARIS 1897: 163–4; DIETERICH 1898: 202; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 513; PERNOT 1934: 241; and especially HORROCKS 2014a: 67–71, for analysis and early examples). The meaning of κανείς/κανένας in the LMedG period can be “no one” (e.g. καὶ οὐκ ἐμπόρεσεν κανείς ἵνα τὸν ἐγνωρίσῃ Achil. N 150), “anyone” (e.g. μήνα κανένα δέντρον παράκαιρα καρπὸν ἐποίησεν; Vios Aisop. K 150.33), or “one” (e.g. καὶ τσιγαρίζεται κανείς ὥσεί νὰ τὸ ἐπιτύχῃ Ptoch. IV 419).

The morphology of κανείς is directly related to that of εἷς (see 5.8.5). Apart from inflectional variants, the pronoun κανείς also displays a number of stem allomorphs. The allomorph κιαν- instead of καν- is due to a more transparent rendering of the intensive prefix κᾶν, closer to its etymological origin, namely καὶ ἄν > κι ἄν (CHATZIDAKIS 1915: 463; PERNOT 1934: 242–3). This variant is exclusively Cretan, and is first attested in the late 14th c. through a document in Latin script: chianenamu pedhin / κιανένα μου παιδὶν (1394, Crete, SANTSCHI 1976: 1597, 344.7).

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	κανείς κανένας κιανείς κιανένας κανενείς	καμία καμιά κιαμιά	κανέ(ν) κανένα(ν) κιανένα(ν)
Gen.	κανενός κανενοῦ κανενοῦς καμianoῦ κανοῦ κιανενός	καμίας καμιᾶς καμιανῆς κιαμιᾶς κανενῆς	κανενός κανενοῦ κανοῦ κανενοῦς κιανενός καμianoῦ
Acc.	κανένα(ν)(ε)(ν) κανεί(ν)(ε) κανενεῖ κιανένα(ν)	καμιά(ν) καμιά(ν) κιαμιά(ν)	κανέ(ν) κανένα(ν) κιανένα(ν)

Masculine*Nominative*

The nom. sg. κανείς is used in variation with the innovative form κανένας throughout the LMedG and EMG period, without specific textual, regional or chronological restrictions. The analogical reformation εἷς > ένας is discussed in 5.8.5. The earliest examples of κανείς occur in 12th-c. documents from S. Italy, while κανένας first appears in the 15th c. The form κιανείς, on the other hand, is much more frequent than κιανένας. Both are exclusively Cretan⁸⁴ and appear from the 16th c. onwards.

The form κανενείς derives from the analogical spread of the gen./acc. stem κανεν- to the nom. (PERNOT 1907/46: II 243). It appears in texts from Cyprus from the 15th c. onwards and in texts from the Heptanese from the 16th.

⁸⁴ There is a single, dubious attestation from Tzane Koronaios: κ{ει}ανῆς μὴ ἀμφιβάλλη / κιανεῖς μὴ ἀμφιβάλλη KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XVIII.316.

General	Restricted	Rare
κανείς κανένας	κιανείς κανενείς	κιανένας εάν δε ποτέ φανή κανείς τῶν ἡμετέρων (1173, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: App. 3, 653.28) κανείς ἐξ αὐτῶν τῶν μαρτύρων (1244, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 294, 413.2) νὰ μὴ τὸν ἐβγάλη κανείς ἀπὸ τὸ μοναστήριον (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.57) ὁ γέρων νέος οὐ γίνεται, κανείς μὴ σὲ κομπῶνῃ GLYKAS, Stichoi 222 κανείς οὐ βλέπει στάμενον ἀπὸ τοὺς καλογήρους Ptoch. IV 143; εἰ δὲ στραφῇ κανείς ποσῶς καὶ ἰδῇ τὸ μοναστήριον ibid. 257 εἰ δὲ καὶ ἔλθῃ ἀπὸ τὸν τόπον του κανείς ἄνθρωπος (1355, Palatia [Miletos], MANOUSAKAS 1962b: 1, 234.12)

 ὄρη τὰ οὐκ ἦτον δυνατὸς κανείς νὰ περπατήσῃ Log. parig. L 42 κανείς μείζων ἢ ἐλάττων (1428, Lefkada, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 12, 254.11) οὐκ ἔχει ἄδειαν κανείς ἐκ τοῦ μέρους μου (1434, Pontos, ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015: 2, 6.10) νὰ μὴδὲν τοὺς δώσῃ κανείς νὰ φᾶν (1449, Chios, LAIOU 1982: 4, 124.8) καὶ μὴδὲν τοῦ ζητήσῃ κανείς τίποτε (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 46, 25.5)
 ἀλλὰ ἂς τὸν δοκιμάσωμεν κανείς ἀπὸ τοὺς τρεῖς μας Dig. E 1217 app. crit.
 εάν γίνεταί ὅτι εἷς ἄνθρωπος ἀπεθαμένος, οὐ μία γυναῖκα, καὶ κανείς ἄνθρωπος ἐχρῶστέν του κανένα βίον Assizes B 357.18 καὶ κανείς μὴ σᾶς γνώσῃ (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.1) πρέπει νὰ τὶς κάμῃ κανείς (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.8) καὶ δὲν εὐρέθηκεν κανείς, τινὰς ἀπὸ τοὺς ξένους Peri xen. 165 χεῖρα κανείς νὰ μὴν ἀπλῶσῃ εἰς ἄλλον (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 250.58) κανείς δὲν τὸν ἤθελεν (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 286.12) μὴ ἔχοντας κανείς ἄλλος νὰ κάμῃ (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 451.19) κανείς δὲν ἐκοντραδέρισεν (1602, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 8, 163.30) νὰ μὴν τότε πειράξῃ κανείς (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 6, 6.4) χωρὶς νὰ τοῦ τὸ πουλήσῃ κανείς (1663, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 2, 19.5) νὰ μὴν ἀνοχλήσῃ κανείς (1664, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 31, 36.21) κανείς νὰ μὴν ἡμπορῇ (1676, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 1, 123.18) οὐδὲν ἐδιάβησαν ποσῶς κανέναν μῆνα, δύο Chron. Mor. H 150 ὅτι κανέναν ἄνθρωπος ἐνὶ ἔνοχος Assizes B 446.14 οὐκ ἔγλυσε κανέναν Pol. Tr. 6536 app. crit. (BVX) οὐκ ἦτονε κανέναν τοὺς νὰ μὴ τον ἐπαινέσῃ Theseid VI.18,4 (Olsen) δὲν ἐγλύτῳσεν κανέναν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 16.14 νὰ μὲν τορμήσῃ νὰ μπεῖ εἰς τὸ καστέλλιν κανέναν τοῦ δουλευτῆς VOUSTR., Chron. A 52.2
 ἂν φανῇ κανέναν κλέπτῃς (1518, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 391.5) νὰ μὴν ἡμπορῇ κανέναν νὰ ἔχῃ δικαιώματα (1544, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [2], 7.12) κανέναν ἄλλος ἄνθρωπος (1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 34.23) κανέναν νὰ μὴν ἔχῃ τίποτες νὰ τὸ λέγῃ ἐδικό του (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 235.92–3) δὲν εἶναι τώρα κανέναν νὰ κατοικῇ PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 111.2 λείποντας κανέναν ZYGOM., Synopsis 131.A.54 καὶ ἀνίσως καὶ εἶχε πᾶει κανέναν (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 78, 84.16) ὅταν σὲ ἐπαινᾷ κανέναν PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §10.14 ἀνίσως καὶ εἶχε γεννηθεῖ κανέναν φόνος (1666, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 4, 192.56) ἂν εἶναι κανέναν ὅπου νὰ ἔχῃ τίβοτις ἐνάντιο δικαίωμα (1685, Tinos, PASCHALIS 1935: 136.12) νὰ μὴν ἔχου πιά κανέναν ἀπὸ τοὺς κληρονόμους των νὰ κάμου (1688, Andros, POLEMIS 2001: 8, 107.10)

κιανείς βοσκός στα βρόχια του μη λάχει και σε πιάσει CHORTATISIS, Panor. II.114; γιατί του πόθου τή φωτιά κιανείς κακά τή χώνει id., Erof. I.223; ό νοῦς μου σ' ἔγνοια μπαίνει | μὴν εἶν' κιανείς στο σπίτι της id., Katz. II.95 ἄν τούς διατάξη καὶ κιανείς P&N Diath. 40 νὰ μὴν ἔναι κιανείς τρομερὸς νὰ τήνε σφίξη (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 80.52) κιανείς ἀπ' αὐτοὺς Apok. Theot. 490.40 μηδὲ μπορεῖ ποτὲ καλὰ ν' ἀρχίσῃ κιανείς Pist. voskos I.1.37 μά μπορετὸ νὰ 'ν' κιανείς ὅπου δὲ μὲ γνωρίζει FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 9 καὶ [νὰ μὴ] <μ>πορῇ κιανείς νὰ τήνε βγάλῃ (1660, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 15, 378.7) νὰ μὴν εἶναι κιανείς ἱερέας (1662, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 3, 414.17) δὲν μπορεῖ δόξα κιανείς νὰ πάρει Zinon I.238 κιανείς δὲν τὸ γνωρίζει KORNAROS, Erot. III.34

εἶδες ἂν ἔχῃ ἀνάπαψη 'ς τὸι κόπους μας κιανένας; P&N Diath. 899 ἀνίσως καὶ κανενεῖς ... ἐβάλτηκε (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 7, 7.7) καὶ γίνεται ὅτι κανενεῖς διαβαίνει τὴν γῆν Assizes B 312.29; κανενεῖς γιατρὸς ibid. 437.26 κανενεῖς μηδὲν ἦν ἀπότορμος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 374.13 ὅταν σὲ φουμίζει κανενεῖς ἀθθυμήθου νὰ γενῆς κριτῆς του Fior 108.20 κανενεῖς δὲν κριματίζεται μουλλώννοντα Fior, Suppl. 276.5

 κανενεῖς ποτὲ δὲν τὸ θυμάτον Alex. Rim. 848 πλανήτης κανενεῖς δὲν συνεργάζει Cypr. Canz. 90.34 ἀνίσως καὶ εἶχε πεῖ κανενεῖς σου<μ>πλιαστής (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 52, 67.25–6) δὲν συγχωρεῖται κανενεῖς IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 8983

Genitive

As in the case of εἶς, the gen. sg. normally takes the form κανενός, attested since the 15th c. Less frequently, it displays two morphological variants, κανενοῦ and κανενοῦς (also written κανενοῦς), influenced by the inflection of the masc. nouns in -ος. The first variant does not seem to be geographically restricted, while the second is attested so far only in Crete and the Cyclades. The form κανενοῦ first appears in the 15th c. and the form κανενοῦς since the 17th. The rare genitive form κανοῦ derives either from κανενοῦ with dissimilatory haplogy (see I, 3.9.3.3) or from the compounding of κᾶν + 'νοῦ with initial vowel deletion. It appears since the 15th c., in texts from Cyprus and Cythera. The variant κιανενός is exclusively Cretan.

The rare genitive καμιανοῦ derives from the analogy of the feminine καμία/καμιά, and is so far attested only in 17th-c. texts from the Heptanese.

General	Restricted	Rare
κανενός κανενοῦ	κανενοῦς κιανενός	κανοῦ καμιανοῦ ἄνευ κανενὸς δόλου Chron. Mor. H 690 μὴ νὰ 'βρῃ πτώμα κανενὸς ἀπὸ τοὺς ἰδικούς του Velth. 1124 καὶ δὲν ἀφῆκα κανενὸς BERGADIS, Apok. A 526 ὄχι κανενὸς ἐδικοῦ μου (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 219.58) νὰ ἱγκανάρω κανενὸς λογαριασμούς (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 599, 466.14) μηδὲ εἶχεν τὸ κανενὸς ὀμπλιγάδο (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 7, 18.24)

- ζώντα μου θέλω κανενὸς νὰ τοῦ τ' ἀποκαλύψω Fyll. gadar. 276B διὰ κανενὸς τρόπου (1541, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 8, 221.9) κανενὸς νὰ μὴ χρεωστοῦ νὰ δίνου λογαριασμὸ (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 7, 127.10) οὔτε ἔδωκε κανενός, οὔτε ἔταξε νὰ στέλλῃ ZYGOM., Synopsis 129.A.45 μὲ κανενὸς ἀνθρώπου βλάψιμον (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 84.35) συμβαίνοντας κανενὸς νὰ αποθάνει CANTEMIR, Krit. 449.1
- κανενοῦ καλικά Assizes B 433.3–4 κανενοῦ ἀπὲ τοὺς ἄνωθεν λαλημένους Assizes A 30.1
 νὰ ποίση ἀγανάκτησιν κανενοῦ πουρζέζῃ οὐ ἄλλου πτωχοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 88.7; νὰ μὲν δώσῃ κανενοῦ τοπικοῦ κρασὶν id., Chron. O 448.10–11 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) κανενοῦ κακοῦ τρόπου (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 13, 30.3) κανενοῦ φρονίμου ἀνθρώπου Fior, Suppl. 269.9
 καὶ κανενοῦ οὐδὲν ἐφάνηκεν καλόν Diig. Alex. E 199.6 (Lolos) δὲν ἀκούσθηκεν ὅτι κανέννας νὰ ἄνοιξε μάτια κανενοῦ ὅπου νὰ ἐγεννήθηκε τυφλός KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioan. 9.32 ἐπῆρες κανενοῦ τὸ ἐδικόν του (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 404.221) μὴ φάγῃ κανενοῦ δίκαιον PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §5.24 νὰ μὴν ἔχῃ νὰ δώκῃ λογαριασμὸ κανενοῦ (1666, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 2, 146.27–8) νὰ μὴν τότε δώσουν κανενοῦ (1679, Corfu, TSITSAS 1994: 2, 550.1)
- κανενοῦς φτωχοῦ (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 53.186) κανενοῦς συμβουλήν δὲν ἔπαιρνα [VLASTOS], Dig. P 388.12 χωρὶς κανενοῦς βία (1664, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 370, 230.9) κανενοῦς ἄλλου (1675, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: 62.9) καὶ ὄχι ἄλλοι κανενοῦς (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 784, 1063.20) νὰ τὸ δώσῃ κανενοῦς ἄλλοι (1706, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 57, 69.17) δὲν τὸ ἀφήνω κανενοῦς Trag. Ag. Dim. I.217
- ἐὰν γένηται ὅτι κανέναν πρᾶγμα ἢ ἔναν κτηνὸν ἐσυλῶσαν το κανοῦ ἀνθρώπου Assizes A 173.2
 ἐγὼ δὲ θυμοῦμαι νὰ δώσω τίποτες κανοῦ (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 220.17)
- κιανενὸς τὰ πάθη μου δὲν ἔδειχνα ποτέ μου CHORTATIS, Erof. III.18 χάρις ὅπου νὰ ἔκαμεν κάθα κιανενὸς (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 651, 568.6–7) μὲ κιανενὸς ἀνθρώπου βλάψιμο (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 84.42) κιανενὸς δὲν τό ἔδωκα KORNAROS, Erot. I.1856
- διὰ καμιανοῦ λόγου πρᾶμα (1670, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1981: 1, 285.17)

Accusative

The expected variation in the presence vs. absence of final /n/ in the form κανένα(ν) appears in texts from all periods and areas. The variant κανεῖν is an analogical formation on the basis of the nominative κανεῖς, and is attested, without geographical restrictions, since the 15th c. It is mostly used as a pronoun, and may also display deletion of final /n/, though only in Crete and the Cyclades. Addition of final /e/ is attested since the 15th c. for the form κανένανε, and since the 17th c. for the form κανεῖνε; both of these appear mainly in texts from the Peloponnese and the Heptanese. The form κιανένα(ν) is exclusively Cretan. The rare form κανενεῖ corresponds to nom. κανενεῖς, and is attested in a single 16th-c. text.

General	Restricted	Rare
κανένα(ν)	κανεί(ν) † κιανένα(ν)	κανένανε(ν) † κανείνε † κανενεί

- καὶ νὰ τσακώσω πίνακαν κανένα εἰς τὰς χεῖρας Ptoch. IV 195 νὰ μὴδὲν ἔχη κανέναν φόβον (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.11) εἶτε νησὶν εἶτε κανέναν ἄλλον τόμπον (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 273.14) ἐὰν ὀνοματίσῃ κανέναν Assizes B 446.18–19 μὴ ἔχοντες κανένα, ὅπου τὰ ὀρίζει Spaneas Z 45 πόλεμο οὐκ ἐφοβούντησαν κανέναν ἀπ’ ἐκείνους Theseid I.79,6 (Follieri) ἄς τοὺς ἀφήσουμε ὀλιγόν, κανέναν μῆνα πλέον Chron. Mor. P 611 μήτε αὐτοὶ νὰ ἤθελον ἀναζητήσῃ κανένα ναῦλον (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 82, 68.42) κανέναν γείτονα δὲν ἐλύπησεν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 338.29 κανένα καιρὸν (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 143, 113.19) κανένα καιρὸν (1596, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOΥΛΟΥ et al. 2009: 7, 7.6) διατὶ δὲν ἔβαλε κανέναν δοῦλον τοῦ νὰ μὲ τὰ πλύνῃ; Vios Aisop. K 175.29 νὰ πειράζῃ τίποτες καμιά φορὰ κανέναν καλόγερο (1602, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1959: 1, 28.6) διὰ κανένα καιρὸν ἐρχοῦμενον (1606, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 84a, 115.7–8) νὰ μὴν ἀφήσωμεν κανένα νὰ κάμῃ ἐλαιοτριβεῖον (1607, Kalymnos, KOUTELAKIS 1981: 3, 32.11) ἄλλο τινα δὲν ἔχω στὸ κόσμον κανένα (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.7–8) μὴδὲ εἰς κανένα πόλεμον ἐφήφα τὸ κορμί τοῦ STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 1148 (Pidonia) δὲν ἄφηγεν κανέναν νὰ εἶναι πόρνος PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.40 ἀπὸ κανέναν ἄτυχον ἄνθρωπον (1652, Milos, SYMEONIDIS 1989: 2, 118.5) ἦ νὰ κεράσουσι ποτὲ ἄσπρου ρακὶ κανένα μας (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 481.26) δεσπότην δὲ κανένανε νὰ μὲ διαφεντεύῃ Pol. Tr. 7394 app. crit. (C) νὰ μὴν ἀξίζῃ ποτὲ τῷ καιρῷ κανένανε (1589, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1976: 153.7) μὴ μοῦ βάλεις κανένανε σύνδροφο (1612, Monemvasia region, BROUSKARI 1981: 316.72) ἐγὼ δὲν ζητῶ κανένανε Bertoldos 23.19 φόβον κανένανε δὲν ἔχω KATSAITIS, Thyest. III.155 κανεῖν ἀπὸ τοὺς ἐδικούς τοῦ Chron. Mor. H 2154 ποτὲ κανεῖν ἢ εὐγενικὴ οὐκ εἶχεν ἀγαπήσει Pol. Tr. 310 app. crit. (X) κανεῖν ἀφέντην χριστιανόν, εἰ μὴ νὰ τὸν κομπώνουν Chron. Toc. 499 νὰ τὰ διαφεντεύω ἀπὸ πάσα κανεῖν (1539, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 54, 96.17) κι ἀπὸ τὴν στράταν τὴν καλὴν κανεῖν νὰ μὴν ἐβγάλλῃς DEFAR., Log. did. 150 ἀποῦ κανεῖν ἀποῦ ᾗχεν πρῶτα φίλον Cypr. Canz. 154.2 κανεῖν δὲν ἔχεις Diig. Alex. Sem. B 94 νὰ εἶχα κανεῖν νὰ μ’ ἐκλαιγε, MONTSEL., Evgena 612 νὰ μὴν ἔχη κανεῖν νὰ τοῦ βάλλῃ διαφορὰν (1646, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 5, 15.18–19) διὰ νὰ μὴν ἐνοχληθοῦν μὲ καιρὸν ἀπὸ κανεῖν τίποτες (1695, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 34, 85.17) δικό της ἦ καὶ γείτονα κανεῖν νὰ χαιρετήσῃ KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.398 καὶ μὲ ἄλλον κανεῖ νὰ μὴν σπεῖρῃ (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 75, 159.1) καὶ ἔμποδο νὰ μὴν ἔχη ἀπὸ κανεῖ (1591, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 149, 273.17) [κανένας] questo nome nel nominatiuo fa anco κανεῖς, & nell’ Accusativo singolare κανεῖ GERMANO, Grammar 71.4
 δὲν ἔχω κανεῖ διὰ νὰ μὲ μνημονέψῃ (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 90, 94.24) δὲν ἔχω πλέο νὰ ταγίζω κανεῖ (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32.49) ἄν ἔρθη καῖκι ἀπ' αὐτοῦ καὶ δὲ στείλετε κανεῖ (1670, Naxos, SFYROERAS 1963a: 1, 492.27) κανεῖ δὲ θανατῶνου Stathis Prol. 15 πεῖραξη νὰ μὴν ἔχη ἀπὸ κανεῖνε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 6, 33.34) ὅποτε τῷ καιρῷ εἶχε ἔχει ἀπὸ κανεῖνε καμία πεῖραξη τὸ ἄνω μοναστήρι (1695, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 359.6–7)

δὲν ἀποδέχεστε λόγο ἀπὸ κιανένα P&N Diath. 5018 καὶ ἀπὸ κάθα ἄλλο κιανένα (1644, Crete, VINCENT 1967: 3, 64.24) σὲ κιανέναν καιρὸ (1650, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 12, 371.22) ἀπὸ τοὺς ἀγίους κιανένα Apok. Theot. 499.173 κιανένα δὲν ἐσώσανε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 309.15 καὶ δὲν ἀναντρανίζουσι κιανένα πλιὸ νὰ δοῦσι KORNAPOS, Erot. II.436 δεν εθώρειε κανενεῖ DEFAR., Sos. 98 (Holton)

Feminine

Nominative

The manuscript sources provide two variants, καμία and καμιά with synizesis, but in most cases it is difficult to distinguish between the two due to the conservatism of the scribes and the orthographic conventions of modern editors. In verse texts, the form with synizesis may be indicated by the metre. Cretan texts give also the form κιαμιά.

General	Restricted
καμία ὀ καμιά	κιαμιά

καμμία ἐκκλησία οὐκ ἐψάλλετον Chron. Mor. H 5965 καμμία οὐκ ἔλαθέ σε Liv. V 1327 καμμία οὐκ ἐφάνηκεν ἔμμορφωτέρα εἰς κόσμον Flor. L 922 καμία να μεν ευρεθεῖ εἰς γειτονίαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 178.6
 καμία ασθένεια δεν τον κυριεύει Varl. & Ioas. (Lavrás) 121.3
 εἰ ... ἤθελεν φανῇ καμία γραφή (1568, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 132, 252.23–4) καμία κόρη ἔμορφη ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 234 ἄν ... ἤθελεν ἔλθει καμία ἀργητα (1582, Kefalonia, KARYDIS 2011: 1, 102.15) μὴ κορμαίνεται καμιά τῶν γυναικῶνε MONTSEL., Evgena 1512 αν του υπαντήσῃ καμία γάτα να περάσει ἀπὸ ομπρὸς του Theophr. Char. 128.24 καμιά τετρακοσαριά πῆχες (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 10, 307, f.1r.19) ἀνίσως ἤθελε βρεθῇ καμιά καρέλα (1688, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 202, 121.6) ἄν ἴσως καμιά βολὰ καὶ ἤθελε φανερωθῇ καμία ὁμολογία (1698, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1968/69: 3, 335.12) δὲν ἦτονε καλύτερη κιαμιά ὥσάν τῇ Μαρία P&N Diath. 1787 κ' ἐλπίδα πλιὸ δὲν ἦτονε κιαμιά τῇ λευτεριά μας CHORTATSIS, Erof. IV.570 παῖδα δὲν εἶν' κιαμμιὰ χειρότερη τῇ Pist. voskos I 1.153 ἄλλη κιαμιά τὸ λοιπονὶς αὐτὸ δὲν πρέπει νὰ ᾔχη FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 5 ἄλλη κιαμιά ὁμορφύτερη δὲν ἦτο σὰν ἐκείνη KORNAPOS, Erot. II.92

Genitive

The most widely attested variants are καμίας and καμιᾶς. As with the nominative, it is difficult to determine the position of stress. In Cretan texts the form κιαμιᾶς is also found. The extended genitive form καμιανῆς follows the pattern of μιανῆς (see above 5.8.5) and is attested since the 16th c., mainly in Heptanesian texts.⁸⁵ A rare form κανενῆς, found in documents from Paxoi (Heptanese), is formed on the analogy of the masc. gen. κανενός.

General	Restricted	Rare
καμίας ! καμιᾶς	κιαμιᾶς ! καμιανῆς	κανενῆς

- ἄνευ καμμίας ἐλπίδος Chron. Mor. H 509; ἄνευ καμμίας προφάσης ibid. 3211 δίχως καμίας ἀνάγκης Dig. E 1193 δίχως φωνῆς καμμίας Pol. Tr. 4618 καμίας ἄλλης ρέντας (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 7, 7.3) (no stress notation in original) χωρίς καμίας κρίσεως (1480, Methoni, GERLAND 1903: 27, 237.5) δίχως καμίας ψέξης Theseid VI.19,8 (Olsen) χωρίς καμίας ἀνάγκης Velth. 777 ἄνευ γραφῆς καμίας (1560, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 37, 33.4) καμιᾶς λογῆς πείραξη (1578, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 9, 21.8) καμιᾶς λογῆς νιτράδα (1598, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 1, 214.42) χωρίς καμίας λογῆς λόγον (1632, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 16, 177.7) ἦτον σὰν καμμιάς λογῆς μυρωδία Diig. Sant. 57.75 διὰ καμιᾶς λογῆς ἀφορμή (1672, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 4, 118.38) δὲν ἔχει καμίας λογῆς περικουλο (1673, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 1586, 929.13) καμιανῆς συνόδου κανόνα (1567, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 6, 308.33) καμιανῆς λογῆς ἐλάττωμα (1658, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 5, 653.55) καμιανῆς λογῆς πρετενσιό (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999b: 17.15) εἰσὲ κανένα ρεγκιμέντο καμιανῆς λογῆς πρετσέσο (1695, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 192, 115.3) δίχως καμιανῆς λογῆς ρεμέντζα (1698, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 249, 157.2) κιαμιάς αλλῆς τον πόθο ντου ποτέ δε θέλει δώσει CHORTATIS, Panor. III.39 κιαμιᾶς λογῆς ἀβετάριο (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 81.80–1) κιαμιᾶς λογῆς χρέος (1638, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 5, 358.23) κιαμιᾶς λογῆς ἀνάπαψη δὲν ἤυρισκεν KORNAROS, Erot. III.14 δίχως κανενῆς λογῆς στραπάτσο (1699, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 280, 186.3); εἰσὲ κανενῆς λογῆς χρέος (1701, ibid. 289, 191.5)

Accusative

The acc. sg. is identical to the nominative, except for the normal variation between presence and absence of final /n/. The form κιαμιᾶ(ν) occurs only in texts from Crete.

⁸⁵ The only attestation from Northern Greece so far is from an 18th-c. document: καμιανῆς λογῆς εἶδος (1719, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 79, 103.15).

General	Restricted
καμία(ν) † καμιά(ν)	κιαμιά(ν) δι' ἀγάπην γὰρ ἢ διὰ φιλίαν ἢ διὰ καμμίαν συγγένειον Chron. Mor. H 3933 νὰ μὴν ἔχη καμίαν πείραξιν (1415, Skyros, LEMERLE et al. 1979: App. XVII, 216.14) καμίαν ἐξουσίαν (1437, Athens, BUCHON 1843: LXXI, 297.21) νὰ μὴδὲν ἔχετε καμίαν ἐντήρησιν περιερχομένου διὰ ἐγγαρείαν καμίαν (1440, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1995: 126, 401.9) νὰ μάθῃ καμμία σοφίαν Assizes B 412.6 νὰ μὴδὲν ὀφείλουσιν καμίαν δουλοσύνην (1478–9, Constantinople, GILLILAND WRIGHT/MACKEY 2007: 270.13)

 νὰ μὴδὲν ἔχη καμίαν ἀπελατισίον (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 48.47) δίχως καμίαν ἔμποδον Theseid I.128,5 (Follieri) δὲν πηγαίνεις πούπετε νὰ εὔρης καμίαν μούρσιαν Poulol. AZ 12 καμίαν ἄργηταν LIMEN., Velis. (A) 232 ἢ ρηθείσα μονὴ καμίαν ἀπόλαυσιν οὐδὲν ἔλαβε (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 59, 49.6) καμίαν παρεπτόνεσιν (1509, Nauplion, LAMBROS 1909a: 274.15) δὲν ἔχει κανεῖς ἄνθρωπος καμία νομή (1535, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 58, 100.28) διὰ καμίαν ὑπόθεσιν (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 13, 27.14) καμίαν φορὰν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1460 οὕτε ἀτός του νὰ δείξῃ καμίαν ξικαθάρισην (1578, Cyprus, TSELIKAS 1977: 1, 254.23) δίχως ταραχὴν καμίαν (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 61.16) κοντὰ καμιά σπορεὰ (1632, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 16, 177.12) μήτε εἰς ἄλλην καμίαν ἔσοδον (1660, Paros, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 25, 21.10) δίχως καμία δυστροπίαν (1672, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 6, 323.5) καμία γραφὴ (1674, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 83, 48.3) νὰ μὴν ἔχη ἡ γυναῖκα του καμίαν ἀμφιβολία (1676, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 1, 123.39) ὅποιος ἄνδρας ἤθελε πάγει νὰ φορτσάρῃ καμίαν γυναῖκα (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 302.26)
 δίχως κιαμιά ἐλευθερία P&N Diath. 4947 κι' ὕστερα θέλομε εὐρεῖ κιαμιά μαλιά CHORTATSIS, Katz. II.90 ἃ σοῦ ῥταιζα κιαμιά φορὰ Thysia Avr. 815 κιαμιά νὰ μὴν ἀφήσω FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.326 φαρμάκι, ὀιμέ, πολλὰ σκληρὸ παρὰ φορὰ κιαμιά ἄλλῃ Zinon IV.27 δίχως κιαμιὰν ἐντήρηση γῆ φόβο νὰ τσι κρίνῃ KORNAOS, Erot. IV.727

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

The regular variant is κανένα, following the pattern of ἕνα (see above 5.8.5), attested since the 15th c. Addition of final /n/ is to be found occasionally, also since the 15th c. The more conservative variant κανέν is quite rare, perhaps because it is an innovative grammatical form combined with archaic inflection. There is also a Cretan variant κιανένα.

General	Restricted	Rare
κανένα(ν)	κianένα	κανέν

- εἰς κανένα πάχτος (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 47, 25.2) ὅλα σέ τ' ἀφηγήθηκα, κανένα οὐκ ἔκρυψά σε Liv. V 3241 δὲν ἔχεις κανένα δίκαιον (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.5) χωρὶς δίκαιον κανένα Theseid I.35,7 (Follieri) ἔαν ἔνι ὅτι ἔνι εἰς ὀρφανός, ἡ ὀρφανή, ἡ κανέναν παιδὶν Assizes A 29.26 καὶ κὰν νὰ μ' ἐναμάτιζαν κανένα πιθαράκι Krasop. AO 45 κανένα πράμα δὲν ἔναι μοιαστόν του Fior 79.9
 χωρὶς κανένα ἐνοίκιο (1529, Corfu, ZARIDI 1993: 5, 173.24) νὰ μηδὲν ἀντειπῇ κανένα μου παιδί (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 36, 38.58) μήπως καὶ νὰ περάσῃ | κανένα ἄρμενον Imb. Rim. 807–8 νὰ πιάσωμεν καὶ νὰ πάρωμε κανένα κάστρο εἰς τὸ Μορέα (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 5, 261.2) χωρὶς κανένα δόλος (1586, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 26, 44.3) δίχως κανένα νοίκι (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 172, 141.24) καὶ ἂν ἴσως ἀπ' αὐτὰ τὰ παιδία ἀποθάνῃ κανένα (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 37.1) μὴνα ἔχεις κανένα κτήνος νὰ μὲ τὸ πουλήσῃς Vios Aisop. K 151.23 ὅπου πηδᾷ πολλὰ παλούκια, κανένα μπαίνει στὸν κῶλον του Paroim. (Warner) 100.16 εἰσὲ κανένα καράβι πατινιώτικο (1612, Monemvasia region, BROUSKARI 1981: 316.67) καὶ ἂν ἔναι καὶ εὐρεθῇ κανένα παιδί καὶ πάγῃ σὲ κρίση (1656, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 6, 164.37) ἂ δῶ ἂν ἔχω κανένα σφάλμα (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 484.34) ἔσσοντας καὶ νὰ μὴν εἶναι κανένα δίκαιον (1678, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 6, 655.13) καὶ ὅποιος ... ἤθελεν κόψειν κανένα φύλλον (1678, Laconia, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 1917, f.1v.5) νὰ μοῦ στείλῃ κανένα γράμμα (1695, Ioannina, MICHAELARIS 1976: 1 [A¹], 251.24) ἀπέτις ἐξέβηκαν κανέναν μίλι, δύο Dig. E 1411 νὰ μηδὲν δύνεται ἡ αὐθεντία μου ζητεῖν χρέος κανέναν περασμένον (1478–9, Constantinople, GILLILAND WRIGHT/MACKAY 2007: 271.9) ἂν ἐβγῇ κανέναν βαρὺ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 36.16 χωρὶς δόλωμα κανέναν (1533, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 3, 116.18) δίχως κανέναν ἀνάστημαν (1537, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 117, 231.5–6) νὰ ἔχουν κανέναν δικαίωμαν (1578–83, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 2, 1.16) πᾶσα φορὰ ὅπου ἤθελεν γεννήσῃ κανέναν πράμα (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 321, 187.11) δίχως κανέναν διάφορον καὶ δίχως κανέναν ἀμάχι (1586, Crete, VLACHAKI 1986: 4, 378.11–12) νὰ ἐξορίστησαν εἰς κανέναν νησί Diig. Sant. 58.97 ὅποιος θέλει νὰ πουλήσῃ κανέναν πράγμα ἀκίνητον (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 302.12) chianenamu pedhin / κιανένα μου παιδὶν (1394, Crete, SANTSCHI 1976: 1597, 344.7) κιανένα κρίμα ἀπάνω σας μηδεποσῶς ν' ἀφήσῃ P&N Diath. 5025
 σὲ κιανένα τίβοτας (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 759, 660.8) ἐκεῖνο κάμνω, ὅπῳχῃς βαρετόν σου νὰ κάμῃ ἄλλον κιανένα Pist. voskos III.3.59 γιὰ πέτε μου κιανένα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 576.6 δὲν ἤβαλα στὸ νοῦ πράμα κιανένα KORNAROS, Erot. IV.397 νὰ μηδὲν ἔχῃ κανὲν στέργος (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 45, 171.7) ἐκείνη γοῦν οὐ δέχεται κανὲν ἀπὸ τὰ γράφω Liv. S 364 (= α 1579)

Genitive

The neut. gen. sg. is identical to the masc., but fewer variants are attested, which of course is also due to the overall rarity of the neut. gen. as a case-form. The form κανενός occurs infrequently. The normal variant, attested mainly from Cypriot texts, is κανενοῦ. The rare gen. form κανοῦ derives either from κανενοῦ with dissimilatory haplology (see I, 3.9.3.3) or from the compounding of κᾶν + ’νοῦ with initial vowel deletion.

General	Restricted	Rare
κανενός ἢ κανενοῦ	(κανενοῦς) ἢ (κιανενός)	κανοῦ ἢ (καμιανοῦ) κανενός πράγματος Assizes A 131.7

κανενοῦ πραγμάτου Assizes B 334.25; κανενοῦ ὀρνέου ibid. 451.23 κανενοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἢ κανενοῦ πράγματος Assizes A 102.12 φανταχίαν κανενοῦ διλιτισμάτων Fior 82.31 κανενοῦ κορμιοῦ Fior, Suppl. 279.15

τὸ κλάμαν κανενοῦ θουπιοῦ ποῦ κλαίγει Cypr. Canz. 101.23 δὲν ἐγένην ἀφορμὴ κανενοῦ κακοῦ Pist. kekoim. 376 μοῦ φαίνεται νὰ εἶναι κανενοῦ ἄλλου πνεύματος (1653–5, Venice, ΦΟΝΚΙΟ 2000: 240, f.2r.1–2)

εἰς μάρτυραν κᾶνοῦ πράγματος Assizes A 84.27

5.8.10 οὐδεκανεῖς

The innovative negative indefinite pronoun οὐδεκανεῖς derives from the univerbation of the negative particle οὐδέ + the indefinite pronoun κανεῖς (see above). Attestations of this pronoun are difficult to identify, as in many cases one may simply be dealing with the syntactic collocation of οὐδέ and κανεῖς without univerbation. Editorial practice with respect to word division is variable, even ambiguous; furthermore, the univerbation οὐδεκανεῖς is occasionally confused with the simple negative coordination “neither X nor Y”, e.g. οὐδετινὰς δὲν τοῦ ἔδιδε ζωὴν οὐδὲ ἦτονε ὀδιὰ νὰ ζήσει οὐδεκανένα (= οὐδὲ κανένα) βοτάνιν τοῦ ἐβάλασιν MOREZINOS, Klini 273.9–10. A univerbated form is best recognized through the meaning, i.e. when it can be given the sense of unemphatic “no one” rather than emphatic “not even one”. The earliest attestations of the pronoun, if indeed they are to be read as univerbations with unemphatic meaning, come from the 15th c.

As expected, οὐδεκανεῖς follows the inflection of κανεῖς (for which see 5.8.9), the only difference being that fewer case-forms and variants are attested.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	οὐδεκανεῖς ἢ οὐδεκανένας ἢ οὐδεκιανεῖς ἢ οὐδεκανενεῖς	οὐδεκαμία ἢ οὐδεκαμιά ἢ οὐδεκιαμία	οὐδεκανένα(ν) ἢ οὐδεκιανένα(ν) ἢ οὐδεκανεῖν
Gen.	οὐδεκανενός ἢ οὐδεκανοῦ
Acc.	οὐδεκανένα(ν) ἢ οὐδεκιανένα ἢ οὐδεκανεῖν	οὐδεκαμία(ν) ἢ οὐδεκαμιά(ν) ἢ (οὐδεκιαμιά(ν))	οὐδεκανένα(ν) ἢ οὐδεκιανένα(ν) ἢ οὐδεκανεῖν

Masculine*Nominative*

- οὐδὲ κανεῖς εὐρίσκεται διὰ νὰ μὲ πολεμήσῃ Achil. O 685 καὶ οὐδὲ κανεῖς ἐτόλμα εἰς τὴν τάξιν τῶν Μακεδόνων Diig. Alex. V 60.18 οὐκ ἔμπορεῖ οὐδεκανεῖς Diig. Alex. Sem. S 511 ἐκείνην γὰρ οὐδεκανεῖς ἤμπορεῖ ἀνατρανίσει Diig. Alex. Sem. B 95
- οὐδὲ κανέναν προφήτης εἶναι δεκτός εἰς τὴν πατρίδα τοῦ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 4.24
- οὐδεκιανεῖς ἐξώθηκε νὰ μάθῃ τὴν ἡμέρα P&N Diath. 4716 δὲ σὲ ζυγώνει οὐδὲ κιανεῖς TROILOS, Rodol. IV.223 θὲ νὰ μαυρίσῃ τὸ πρόσωπο, κι οὐδὲ κιανεῖς νὰ μὴν τόνε γνωρίσῃ KORNAROS, Erot. IV.890
- οὐδεκανενεῖς ἤθελεν ἀγαπήσῃν τὸν Θεόν Fior 76.12; οὐδεκανενεῖς ἀνθρωπος ibid. 83.16

Genitive

- τὰ λόγια οὐδεκανενὸς CHORTATSI, Katz. III.282 οὐδεκανοῦ μηδὲν τοῦ ἐμπιστευτῆς Fior 123.1

Accusative

- Ἄρην, Ὀρφέον δὲν ψηφῶ, Μοῦσες, οὐδὲ κανένα ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1723 οὐδὲ κανέναν εἰς τὸν κόσμον ἐμποδίζει νὰ μὴν κάμῃ ἐλεημοσύνη, οὔτε ὁ πλοῦτος, οὔτε ἡ ἐπτῶχεια PAPSYNAD., Chron. II §7.36; ἡ ταπείνωσις οὐδὲ κανέναν ἀνθρωπον ἔβλαψεν
ibid. II §10.12
- καὶ οὐδὲν κιανένα λόγον | δὲ συντυχαίνω πλιά μου Pist. voskos V.3.122
 καὶ δε μπορούμε | σ' ουδεκιανένα σήμερο τόπο νὰ τες ευρούμε; CHORTATSI, Panor. V.306
- ο Θεός ουδεκανεῖν δεν ἔχει στὴν βουλὴν Τοῦ IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6635

Feminine*Nominative*

- οὐδεκαμία φεντία / οὐδεκαμία ἀφεντία Theseid V.13,7 (1529) τὸ πῶς οὐδὲ καμμία ἀπ' αὐτὲς δὲ ἔναι τοῦ νὰ ᾽χῃ χρῆση Synax. gyn. 417 (Krumbacher) (Vuturo 422: οὐδεκαμιά) οὐδεκαμιά ἀρετὴ ἔμπορεῖ νὰ ᾽ναι χωρὶς ἀγάπην Fior 74.41 οὐδεκαμία ἄλλη κτίσις ... τῆς ὁμοιάζει MOREZINOS, Klini 4.23
- οὐδεκιαμιά ... το κορμάκι τζῆ μπορεῖ νὰ μου το χῶσει CHORTATSI, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 37; οὐδὲ κιαμιά ἄλλη ἐλπίδα ἀπόμενέ μας id., Erof. Chor. IV.742; οὐδεκιαμιά ἀπὸ λόγου μας τιμὴ μὴδὲ τσῆ λείπει ibid. V.662

Accusative

- οὐ χωρισθῆναι θέλω σοῦ οὐδὲ καμμίαν ὥραν Dig. A 718 ἀπὸ χίλιες γυναῖκες δὲν ἤῤα οὐδεκαμιά καλή Fior 84.25 καὶ εἰς οὐδὲ καμίαν ἀπ' αὐτὲς ἐστάλθῃ ὁ Ἥλιος KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 4.26 οὐδεκαμίαν | σαν τώρα τούτην τὴν φορὰν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 7540

Neuter*Nominative/Accusative*

- οὐδὲ κανέν' ἀπέμεινεν ποσῶς νὰ μὴν τὸ κάψῃ Velis. χ 179 οὐδεκανέναν κορμὴν ἔμπορεῖ Fior 74.16; οὐδεκανέναν πράμαν ἐμπόρε ν' ἀπαντήσῃ ποτὲ κατὰδικα τοῦ Ἀλεξάνδρου ibid. 91.33 πρᾶγμα ποτὲ νὰ κάμη οὐδὲ κιανένα ἄνθρωπος μὴν ἀρχίσῃ Pist. voskos III.7.1

γκιουνάχιν δεν ἔχουν αυτοί ουδεκακείν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 988

5.8.11 μηδεκανείς

The innovative negative indefinite pronoun μηδεκανείς is identical in formation with ουδεκανείς, and derives from the univerbation of the negative particle μηδέ + the indefinite pronoun κανείς (see above). It does not seem to be restricted to subjunctive and imperative contexts. The pronoun is exclusive to Cretan literary texts, and most of its forms are based on the allomorph κιανείς rather than κανείς. Attestations of this pronoun are difficult to identify, as in many cases one may simply be dealing with the syntactic collocation of μηδέ and κανείς without univerbation. Editorial practice with respect to word division is variable. The earliest attestations of the pronoun, if indeed they are to be read as univerbations with unemphatic meaning, come from the 16th c.

As might be expected, μηδεκανείς follows exactly the inflection of κανείς (for which see 5.8.9), but far fewer case-forms and variants are attested. It may function both as a pronoun and as a determiner.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	μηδεκανείς ἢ μηδεκιανείς	μηδεκαμιὰ ἢ (μουδεκιαμιὰ)	μηδεκανένα(ν) ἢ μηδεκιανένα(ν)
Gen.		μηδεκαμιᾶς
Acc.		μηδεκαμιὰ(ν) ἢ μουδεκιαμιὰ	μηδεκανένα(ν) ἢ μηδεκιανένα(ν)

Masculine

Nominative

στὰ γενωμένα πράγματα μηδὲ κιανείς τυχαίνει CHORTATISIS, Erof. II.91 μηδεκιανείς δὲ μέ 'δε ἐκεῖ, οὐδὲ κιανείς στὴ στράτα Stathis II.98 (editor's correction: μίδεκανείς ms); μηδεκιανείς, Δάσκαλε, δὲ σοῦ φταίγει ibid. II.122 (editor's correction: μίδεκανείς ms)

Feminine

Nominative

δὲ φελεύεται μηδεκαμιὰ ἀπ' τοῖ τρεῖς μας FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 84

Genitive

ἡ ἀγκαλιὰ τοῦ γέροντα μηδεκαμιᾶς ἀρέσει FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.403

Accusative

δὲ βλέπω χρειὰ μηδὲ κιαμιὰ νὰ σφίγγει CHORTATISIS, Erof. II.419 ἀνάπαψη μηδὲ κιαμιὰ TROILOS, Rodol. I.303 μηδεκιαμιὰν ἐντήρηση στοῦ λόγου μας μὴν ἔχη FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. IV 73; ἀνάπαψη μηδεκαμιὰ νὰ πάρω δὲν ἐμπόρου id., Fort. I.250 δὲν ἔχει ἄδεια μουδεκαμιὰ νὰ βγῇ νὰ περπατήσῃ CHORTATISIS, Katz. IV.1

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

γιατί, θαρρώ, δε βρίσκεται θεριό μηδεκιανένα, CHORTATIS, Panor. I.63

κι ἐγὼ ποτὲ δὲ σοῦ 'καμα κακὸ μηδεκιανένα Stathis III.486 (editor's correction: μηδεκανένα ms)

There is also a single attestation of an indefinite μηδετινάς: νὰ μὴ φανεῖ μηδὲ τινὰς ἀπ' αὐτοῦς ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 98.

5.8.12 κᾱτίς/ὀκᾱτίς

The pronoun κᾱτίς/ὀκᾱτίς, “someone, somebody, some”, is a MedG innovation first attested in the 12th c. Its etymology is problematic. The standard analysis involves univerbation of the particle κᾱν with the indefinite pronoun τῖς, on a par with the development of κανεῖς from κᾱν + εἶς (see 5.8.9); the initial /o/ is interpreted as a prothesis on the analogy of other pronouns such as ὅποιος, ὅ,τι, ὀδεῖνα, ὀτόσος, or as a univerbation with the masc. definite article ὁ (MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 625–6; JANNARIS 1897: 165, CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 405; PERNOT 1907/46: II 233, 244). The potential syntactic environments which may have led to the univerbation of the particle κᾱν + τῖς, ποιός or πῶς with a generic indefinite meaning are discussed in MOYSIADIS 2012.

Alternatively, ὀκᾱτίς, κᾱτίς can be interpreted as deriving from the univerbation of the syntactic phrase οὐκ + ᾱν + τῖς, in which case the initial /o/ is not prothetic, but is the result of a change /u/ > /o/, either for phonetic reasons or on the analogy of other indefinite pronouns (HORROCKS 2014a). The second proposal has the advantage that the variants with a prothetic vowel seem to be attested earlier than those without it, and provides a natural explanation for the variant with initial /u/ instead of /o/. On the other hand, it presupposes a development which is rather improbable from a semantic viewpoint and constitutes an evolutionary path which is cross-linguistically scarce, that of a negative indefinite (“no one”) evolving into a positive indefinite (“someone”); in MedG the pronouns ὀκᾱτίς, κᾱτίς and ὀκᾱποιος, κᾱποιος always have a positive meaning. Additionally, this analysis requires the positing of two different etymologies for two morphologically parallel pronouns which developed in the same period, namely κανεῖς (from κᾱν + εἶς, secured through the Cretan variant κιανεῖς) and κᾱτίς/κᾱποιος (from οὐκ ᾱν + τῖς/ποιος). It also requires a different etymological analysis from that assumed for the prothetic /o/ of the pronouns δεῖνα/ὀδεῖνα, καθεῖς/ὀκαθεῖς, where there can be no question of negation (see 5.8.15, 5.13.2.2–3).

All available analyses fall short of addressing a further problem, that of accounting for the loss of /n/ in the first member (either κᾱν or οὐκ ᾱν) of the complex pronouns κᾱτίς, κᾱποιος, κᾱπῶς etc. Phonetically, the outcome should have been voicing of [nt] > [nd] and [np] > [mb] and preservation of the nasal before a stop, i.e. *κᾱντίς, *κᾱμπποιος, *κᾱμπῶς, a development which, in fact, is seen only in the quantitative indefinite κάμποσος. Actually the prenasalized form κᾱντίς is attested once, in the text of the Assizes (κᾱντίς ἄνθρωπος Assizes A 139.3). The standard interpretation is based on the analogy of κανένas/καμίᾱ, which must have been re-segmented not as καν-ένas but as κα-νένas (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 405, 463; MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 2000: 292), cf. the modern dialectal form καένas.

Alternatively, it has been proposed that the loss of the nasal is a means of preserving the phonetic integrity of the second element of the complex word, by avoiding the voicing of the initial consonant, on the analogy of the morphologically similar series of complex indefinite relatives with prothetic /o/, i.e. ὅ,τι-κάτι, ὅποιος-κάποιος, ὅπως-κάπως etc; the nasal was preserved in κάμποσος because of the marginal status of the corresponding ὅποσος (ΜΟΥΣΙΑΔΗΣ 2012).

All analyses except that of Horrocks (HORROCKS 2014a, esp. 72–4) also need to account for the variation between initial /o/ and /u/, which may appear even within the same text and is attested as early as ca. 1200 (in the form οὐκάποτε Spaneas V 42). A phonetic interpretation based on vowel hiatus at word-boundaries is excluded, as /o/ is higher in the vowel hierarchy and cannot be expected to be replaced by /u/ (see I, 2.9.2). “Raising vocalism” phenomena connected with “northern” dialects (see I, 2.5.4) are also out of the question, since the attested forms do not come only from areas where the phenomenon applies. Raising of /o/ to /u/ under the influence of an adjacent velar consonant is possible (and is in fact very common in Cypriot texts), but so far the phenomenon is not attested in word-initial position, with the exception of the quantifier ὅλος > οὔλος, which constitutes an isolated case (see I, 2.8.3). The most probable interpretation of this initial /u/ is some kind of analogical process, possibly through folk etymology under the secondary influence of the negative particle οὐκ. The orthography of the form partly depends on the etymology adopted, and thus editorial practice varies between a smooth and a rough breathing on the initial vowel <ὀ>/<ὄ>.

The pronoun ὀκάτις/κάτις as a masculine or feminine is relatively uncommon, except in the text of the Assizes, and is mostly attested in literary texts. After the 16th c. it seems to fall out of use. In this respect, it follows τις, whose frequency decreases in the EMG period, as the innovative form τινάς increases; however, a corresponding form *κάτινας does not seem to have developed. On the contrary, again in parallel to τί, the neuter ὀκάτι/κάτι “something” is quite frequent in all types of texts, gradually becoming uninflected for gender and number, i.e. able to refer to masculine, feminine and neuter entities, both singular and plural, e.g. ὀκάτι ψιθυρίσματα [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1164; κάτι παράμερες σπηλιές ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 22.5. The pronoun κάτι, in this uninflected form, survives in SMG as an integral part of the indefinite pronominal system, with the same properties; some MG dialects have preserved additional forms of the pronoun.⁸⁶

The inflection of κάτις follows that of τις (see 5.8.1). It has no separate feminine gender, and is very rarely used with a feminine referent in the singular. The genitive case, and especially the gen. pl., for which only one instance has been located, is rather scantily attested.

The stem variant ὀκατ- is attested since the 12th c. (Glykas, Ptochoprodromika), and the stem κατ- since at least the 14th (ms date of Spaneas P). The variant οὐκατ- first appears in the Assizes (ms B), although an earlier appearance can be postulated on the basis of the adverbial form οὐκάποτε in Spaneas V. Both ὀκατ- and οὐκατ- recede in the 15th c. and seem to disappear in the 16th; nevertheless, rare modern dialectal attestations are still to be found (PERNOT 1907/46: II 244). Οὐκάτ- is the least common of the three variants, and appears preferentially in the Assizes, the Ilias of Ermoniakos and some vernacular versions of the Alexander romance.

⁸⁶ The full paradigm of κάτις is preserved in Pontic (see ΠΑΠΑΔΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ 1955: 65), while the genitive κάτινος survives in the Peloponnese, including Mani, and possibly in other dialects.

	Masculine and Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	όκάτις οὐκάτις κάτις	όκάτι(ν) οὐκάτι κάτι
Gen.	όκάτινος οὐκάτινος κάτινος
Acc.	όκάτινα(ν) κάτινα(ν)	όκάτι(ν) οὐκάτι κάτι(ν)
Plural
Nom.	όκάτινες κάτινες οὐκάτινες	(όκάτινα) (κάτινα)
Gen.	(όκάτινων) (κάτινων) κατινῶν
Acc.	(όκάτινες) (όκάτινας) κάτινες (κάτινας)	(κάτινα)

Singular

Masculine and Feminine

Nominative

General	Rare
όκάτις κάτις	οὐκάτις κάντις ἐχασμήσεται όκάτις GLYKAS, Stichoi 261; όκάτις πάλιν ἔτρωγε καθ' ὕπνου του πεπόνιν ibid. 266 όκάτις κράζει με νά γράψω πιττακίτσιν Ptoch. IV 458 όκάτις δυστυχής Log. parig. L 22

ό κάτις άπαί τούς κριτάδες Assizes B 278.25

περί τήν δόσιν τήν νά ποίση όκάτις τής γυναικός του Assizes A 15.14; ἐάν γένηται ότι ό κάτις σκλάβος ή σκλάβά ποιεῖ καμμίαν άταξίαν ibid. 153.8; άγκαλεῖ εἰς τήν αὐλήν ότι ό κάτις τόν ἔδερεν ibid. 217.27; ότι ό κάτις χρυσοχός ἐνταλιαστής γίνεταί ἐπεσαῦτα άπότορμος ibid. 229.16

ἦτον όκάτις θαυμαστός Velis. χ 10 όκάτις τόν ἐλάβωσεν Pol. Tr. 6075; όκάτις ρήγας ibid. 2765 app. crit. (A) όκάτις βασιλεὺς Chron. Mor. P 882; όκάτις άπεκρίθηκεν ότι εἰς τήν τσάμπραν ἔνι ibid. 6043 ἦλθεν όκάτις λογισμός Liv. V 3729 ἦκουσα καί πρόλογον τόν ἔλεγεν όκάτις Chron. Toc. 1702 όκάτις εὐγενής Achil. N 299 άνθρωπος ληστής ... όκάτις Liv. S 224 (= α 1437) ἦρθε όκάτις άδελφός (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 180) ἐάν ἦναι όκάτις όπού σέ ἔχθρεύεται STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 20.84–7 ὅταν ὁκάτις ἀνεβῇ εἰς τὸν τροχὸν ἀπάνου Theseid IX.1,6 (1529) δυνάστης ἦταν βασιλεὺς Ροδόφιλος ὁκάτις Velth. 25 ἐκεῖ ἑκατοῖκαν ἄνθρωπος, ὑπόκριτος ὁκάτις DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 975 λέγεται γὰρ ὅτι ὁκάτις πονηρὸς καὶ ὀκνηρὸς εἶχαν φιλίαν Peri pon. 433.1

ἐὰν οὐ κάτις τάσσεται οὐκάτι Assizes A 155.2

κᾶντις ἄνθρωπος Assizes A 139.3

βούλεται κάτις εὐγενής, ζητεῖ νὰ τὸ τρυγήσῃ Achil. N 1050 γιὰ τὴν ἔχθρα ποὺ βαστᾷ καὶ πεθυμᾷ κάτις Theseid II.45,5 (1529) καὶ ἂν ἦτον ὅτι κάτις ἀπὲ τοὺς κριτάδες Assizes A 29.31; ἐὰν γένηται ὅτι κάτις ἄνθρωπος ἔχαρτώθην γυναῖκα ibid. 117.20 κάτις τὸν κωλεῖ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 564.14 ἂν ἔχῃ κάτις καὶ πουγκὶν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 568 ἂν ἔναι κάτις εὐγενικὸς Achil. L 192

Genitive

General	Restricted	Rare
κάτινος	ὁκάτινος	οὐκάτινος ἐπαφῇναι κανέναν πράγμαν ὁκάτινος Assizes B 393.12–13 ὁκάτινος ψυχάρην Poulol. 627 ὁκάτινος καθαλλαρίου γυναῖκα ἐρωτεύτῃ Chron. Mor. P 5576 ἀφῇναι οὐκάτινος ἀπὲ τὸν βίον Assizes B 388.6

τὸ μνηνὸν κάτινος Assizes B 255.11; ἀγοράζει παρὰ κάτινος ἀνθρώπου Assizes B 291.24 κρίνατε πρὸς ἑαυτοὺς ... τὸ κάτινος ψευδῇ Porikol. I 86 ὅπου ἔνι χρεοφελέτης κάτινος Assizes A 44.30 καὶ γιὰ ν' ἀρέσουν κάτινος γέγονται στολισμένες Theseid III.30,7 (1529); γιὰ τὴν ἀγάπην κάτινος ibid. IV.55,4 ψύλλος ποτὲ ἐπήδησεν εἰς κάτινος ποδᾶρι AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 61.1
 ἀπὸ τὰ χέρια κάτινος ποὺ λέγασι Περᾶκη Tzabl. 6

Accusative

General
ὁκάτινα(ν) ἢ κάτιναν ἠρώτησεν ὁ Πύρρος ὁκάτιναν Pol. Tr. 14192; ἠρώτησεν ὁ Πύρρος ὁκάτινα ibid. app. crit. (X) νὰ κάμνουσιν ὁκάτιναν νὰ ποίση ἀταξίαν Theseid VII.61,5 (1529) ὁκάτιναν τὸ ἔδωκεν Chron. Mor. P 4071 μὲ κᾶτιναν ἄνθρωπον Assizes B 275.23 ἀγάπαν ἢ ἐμίσαν κάτιναν Assizes A 152.25 πρῶτα δαγκάνει κάτιναν μικρὴ δαγκωματῖα Theseid III.33,2 (1529) διὰ κάτιναν σοφὸν Ἀπολλοφάνην KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 385.31

Neuter

	General	Rare
Nom./Acc.	όκάτι κάτι	οὐκάτι
Gen.	όκάτινος

Nominative/Accusative

The neuter gender may also behave as an uninflected determiner, i.e. it may modify masculine or feminine nouns.

- όκάτι νά σᾶς εἴπω Spaneas P 208 ἔχει γὰρ ὄνομα σαλὸν παράξενον όκάτι Ptoch. IV 418 μέλος όκάτι ξένον Log. parig. L 164 όκάτι ἔνα βουνόπουλον Chron. Mor. H 2804; εἰς όκάτι [μικρὴν] κλεισοῦραν ibid. 4708 όκάτι ὀπίσω σὲ ἔλαθεν Liv. V 733 καὶ όκάτι ἂν τύχη Liv. E 1237 όκάτι βίον Assizes B 331.22 μικρὸν όκάτι ψέγος Diig. tetr. 275 σημάδιον τίποτε θαρρῶ όκάτι νά μὲ ἀφήκη Pol. Tr. 6884; όκάτι παρηγόρημα νά ἐπῆρα ibid. 7767 ἔκαμαν όκάτι ψευδογάπη Chron. Toc. 1979; όκάτι Φράγκος ἄνθρωπος ibid. 3548 καπνὸν όκάτι ξένον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 326; ἄλλος όκάτι βασιλεὺς ibid. 846 όκάτι ἔργον νά γένη Spanos B 23 όκάτι ζήτημα θέλω νά σὲ ζητήσω DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 456; ἀφκράσου όκάτι λόγον id., Erot. apokr. 2671; όκάτιν μέγαν εὐγενῆ ibid. 560 όκάτι καταλόγι LIMEN., Than. Rod. 36 όκάτι λόγος μοῦ ἐσέβη εἰς τὰ ᾧτα Diig. Alex. F 210.19 (Lolos) όκάτι λόγος Diig. Alex. E 211.15 (Lolos) στρογγυλοειδεῖς οὐκάτι ERMON., Ilias 2.262; καὶ μεσόπαχος οὐκάτι ibid. 6.41; καὶ πανεύμορφον οὐκάτι ibid. 22.58 οὐκάτι λόγος μου ἦλθεν Diig. Alex. K 344.15 οὐκάτι φρικτὰ καὶ θαυμαστὰ τραγούδια Diig. Alex. F 54.12 (Konstantinopulos) καὶ οὐκάτι μὲ δόλον ἐποίησαν τέχνη Diig. Alex. F 200.2 (Lolos) καὶ τότε δεῦτε πρὸς ἐμὲ καὶ κάτι νά σᾶς εἴπω Spaneas P 208 καὶ ἂν τύχη κάτι μερικόν, νά σὲ παρηγορήσω Liv. V 3291 μὲ κάτι Φράγκους Chron. Toc. 2703 κάτι δεσπότης ἀσκητῇ ἐνέβλεψεν τὸ μάτι SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 197 μὴ κάτι συκοφάντης ἄνθρωπος ἦλθεν κατ' ἐμοῦ, λέγει, μὴ κάτι ἐσφάλλῃ; Flor. L 401–2 εἰς ἄδειο τόπο κάτι FALIEROS, Thrinos 2 νά ζηγηθῶ κάτι ποιήματα Fior 83.33 ὁ νοικοκύρης, ὅπου ἔχει κάτι μαλλὶ (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 230, 164.26) σὲ κάτι χρέος (1573, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 1, 20.9); στὴν διαφορὰν ὄνπερ ἔχουν διὰ κάτι πρόβατα (1582, ibid. 142, 92.4) μὲ κάτι πόρνηδες CHORTATIS, Katz. V.354 κάτι πράματα στεκόμενα πουλημένα (1609, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 601, 528.2) ἔγραφεν μὲ τὸ ζερβὶ τὸ χέρι κάτι μπακλαβάδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §35.3–4 αὐτὸς κάτι θέλει νὰ ξεύρη ποὺ συντυχαίνει ἔτσι (1653–5, Venice, FONKIC 2000: 240, f.1v.8–9) ἐχρώστουνα τοῦ καπετὰν Δουλιφῇ κάτι λάδι (1694, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 204, 124.17) ἐγὼ πηγαίνω νὰ κοιτάξω κάτι ὑπηρεσίαν ἔξω PAMBERIS, Stef. Ichn. 136.28 εἰς κάτι Φραγγοπαπάδες EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 40.18–19

Genitive

ποιεῖ το διὰ χάριτος ὁκάτινος πράγματος Assizes A 154.24

Plural

Masculine and Feminine

	General	Rare
Nom.	κάτινες	ὁκάτινες ὀυκάτινες
Gen.	κατινῶν	(ὁκάτινων) ὀ (κάτινων)
Acc.	κάτινες	(ὁκάτινες) ὀ (ὁκάτινας) ὀ (κάτινας)

Nominative

ὁκάτινες λαμβάνουν Assizes B 440.26; ὁκάτινες ἄνθρωποι, οὗ ὁκάτινες γυναῖκες ibid. 450.23 οὐκάτινες ἐκ τῶν συγγενῶν Assizes B 470.29; οὐκάτινες ἀπαὶ τοὺς συνκενοῦς του ibid. 469.17 οὐκάτινες ἀπ' αὐτοὺς τοὺς λᾶς Assizes A 243.3 κάτινες τὰ εὐρίσκου εἰς τὸν βυθὸν Assizes B 299.12; ἐὰν κάτινες δώσου τὰ ρούχα τους ἐνοῦ ράφτη διὰ νὰ τὰ ράψῃ ibid. 322.14 κάτινες μ' ἐλάλησαν BERGADIS, Apok. A 427 κάτινες καβαλλάριδες πιστοὶ τοῦ ρηγὸς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 42.33; οἱ κάτινες οἱ ἄπιστοι Γενουβίσοι ibid. 404.9
 ἐγροικίσαν το κάτινες καβαλλάρηδες ἀποὺ ἀγαποῦσαν τὸν ρήγαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 90.31–2 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) εὐρεθήσαν κατίνες VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.9; καὶ ἤρταν καὶ κάτινες ibid. 4.17; καὶ ἐξεβήσαν κάτινες ibid. 46.13 κάτινες ἀποὺ τοὺς μπαρούνηδές του Fior 112.14 περὶ τοὺς ποιοὺς κάτινες λέγουν πῶς ἦσαν τοῦτοι Pist. kekoim. 233

Genitive

κατινῶν παρανόμων Pist. kekoim. 55

Accusative

διὰ κάτινες ἀποὺ με μισοῦν VOUSTR., Chron. A 24.5

Κάτις and κάτι function both as pronouns and as determiners, e.g. καὶ τῶρα ὁκάτις θέλει νὰ ποίση Assizes A 14.6; ἐὰν γένηται ὅτι ὁ κάτις ἄνθρωπος ἢ κάποια γυναῖκα πολομᾷ δόσιν ἐνοῦ ἀνθρώπου ibid. 155.10; κακὸν ἀβάστακτον ὁκάτι μὲ προσμένει [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1874. The neuter ὁκάτι/κάτι can also function as a quantitative adverb, with the meaning “somewhat, a little bit”, e.g. ἔδε κεφάλιν σκορδαλλοῦ, ὁκάτι ἐμαγεύθην Ptoch. IV 414; ὁκάτι ὀλίγον πρὸς ἐκεῖ Chron. Mor. H 1664.

5.8.13 ὀκάποιος/κάποιος

The pronoun ὀκάποιος/κάποιος “someone, somebody, some” is a LMedG innovation. Its etymology is problematic: the standard analysis involves univerbation of the particle κᾶν with the interrogative pronoun ποῖος/ποιός, similar to the development of κανείς from κᾶν + εἷς, while the initial /o/ is interpreted as an analogy with other pronouns such as ὅποιος, ὅ,τι, ὁδεῖν. Alternatively, it has been interpreted as deriving from the univerbation of the syntactic phrase οὐκ + ᾶν + ποῖος (HORROCKS 2014a). The alternative etymologies are discussed in detail in 5.8.12.

The stem variant ὀκάποιο- is the earliest, attested first in texts composed in the 12th c., and its frequency recedes after the 15th c.; it has disappeared from MG. Its distribution does not seem to be geographically restricted.

The pronoun κάποιος is in functional competition with the synonymous pronouns τις/τινᾶς and κάτις. It appears chiefly in lower-register texts and contexts, as opposed to τις, which appears in all registers. Κάποιος prevails over κάτις towards the end of the EMG period, and is in fact the only available option in SMG (except for κάτι; see 5.8.12); the Grammars of Sofianos, Germano and Portius for instance mention κάποιος but not κάτις.

Κάποιος inflects as a regular adjective in -ος, -α, -ο(ν), without any extended oblique forms or shift of stress; some case-forms are inadequately attested.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	ὀκάποιος ῑ κάποιος	ὀκάποια ῑ κάποια	(ὀκάποιο(ν)) ῑ οὐκάποιο(ν) ῑ κάποιο(ν)
Gen.	ὀκάποιου ῑ κάποιου	ὀκάποιας ῑ κάποιας	(ὀκάποιου) ῑ (κάποιου)
Acc.	ὀκάποιον ῑ οὐκάποιον ῑ κάποιο(ν)	ὀκάποια(ν) ῑ κάποια(ν)	ὀκάποιο(ν) ῑ οὐκάποιο(ν) ῑ κάποιο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	ὀκάποιοι ῑ κάποιοι ῑ ὀκάποι	(ὀκάποιες) ῑ κάποιες	(ὀκάποια) ῑ οὐκάποια ῑ κάποια
Gen.	(ὀκάποιων) ῑ κάποιων
Acc.	(ὀκάποιους) ῑ κάποιους	(ὀκάποιας) ῑ (ὀκάποιες) ῑ κάποιας ῑ κάποιες	ὀκάποια ῑ οὐκάποια ῑ κάποια

Singular*Masculine*

Nominative

General
ὀκάποιος ῑ κάποιος

όκάποιος δυστυχής Log. parig. L 344; εκείτετον όκάποιος ibid. 430 όκάποιος βασιλέας Chron. Mor. H 882 Λατίνος ήτον εύγενής όκάποιος από χώραν Liv. P 13 όκάποιος άλλος βασιλεύς Liv. α 2933, Liv. V 2571 όκάποιος άλλος εύγενής Liv. E 3161 ήτον όκάποιος θαυμαστός Velis. χ 10 app. crit. (V) όκάποιος ρήγας Pol. Tr. 2765 app. crit. (VX) περί του όρκου τόν μέλλει νά ποίση ό κάποιος Assizes A 214.7 όκάποιος Φράγκος εύγενής Chron. Mor. P 8113 ήλθεν όκάποιος Ίωσηή από Άριμαθείας DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 451; όκάποιος βασιλεύς id., Erot. apokr. 2247 όκάποιος Άθηναίος Diig. Alex. F 172.10 (Lolos) εύρέθη κάποιος Chron. Mor. P 2268 κάποιος σκλάβος Assizes B 447.15 κάποιος άνθρωπος Assizes A 116.5
 ήρπασε κάποιος πράγμα ZYGOM., Synopsis 141.B.10 κάποιος μάντης ήτονε ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 39.1 κάποιος ξένος μοναχός, ξένος από άλλον κόσμον Diig. Alex. Sem. B 185 κάποιος Μπατοργάμπορος αναθεματισμένος ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 237 κάποιος γεωργός MOREZINOS, Klini 17.16 κάποιος Σαμαρείτης KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 10.33 ήτον δέ κάποιος Σαρακηνός [VLASTOS], Dig. P 358.11 κάποιος άνθρωπος Thavm. Nikon Metan. I 1 ήλθε κάποιος, τó όνομάν του Ζηνάς Vios Aisop. D 211.1 κάποιός τις βασιλεύς KASIMATIS, Varl. & Ioas. 499.13

Genitive

General
όκάποιου κάποιου

όκάποιου του καβελλαρίου γυναίκα έρωτεύτη Chron. Mor. H 5752 έδωκέν τα κάποιου του δούλου Vios Aisop. I 247.39 έχρεωστούσαν ένός κάποιου δανειστού KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 7.41 περί κάποιου Τεκκελή πασιά ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 4890 tit.
 ένα παιδί κάποιου Νικολάου Ροπάνου GAVRILOP., Diig. panouklas 98.3

Accusative

General	Rare
όκάποιον κάποιον	ούκάποιον όκάποιον άνθρωπον Log. parig. L 392 όκάποιον είχε εξαδελφον, τόν έλεγαν Ρομπέρτον Chron. Mor. H 2158; όπου ήτον έρωτήσουντα όκάποιον συγγενήν του ibid. 5770 ήγάπα εύγενήν όκάποιον πρώτον άλλον Liv. S 1657 (= α 2944) όκάποιον άλλον άνθρωπον DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 3124 τόν Λαμεδόνον, όκάποιον έδικόν του Diig. Alex. F 188.13 (Lolos) μέ ὀπτωχόν οὐκάποιον Spaneas Z 238 app. crit. εἰς κάποιον Κατακουζηνόν Chron. Mor. P 4535 πρὸς κάποιον Νικόλαον Παπαδάτον (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 148, 127.6) εἰς κάποιον τόπον ζοφερὸν ΡΑΡΑ-ΛΑΥΡ., Diigisis (Meteoron) 111.30 λέγει κάποιον δοῦλον Vios Aisop. K 147.23 μά ᾽χει σὰν κάποιο λογισμό, ὅπου τότε πειράζει Thysia Avr. 320 εἰςὲ κάποιον βασιλέα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 37.25 κάποιον τοῖχον (1633, Crete, ΧΑΝΘΟΥΔΙΔΙΣ 1912: 62, 163.8–9) κάποιον μπουφοῦνον RODINOS, Vios Ign. 90.26 εἰς κάποιον τόπον δὲν ἔβρεξεν ΡΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. II §8.2

ὅποτα εἶχε εὖρει κάποιο ἄθρωπο (1644, Ithaca, ΖΑΡΑΝΔΙ 2002b: 299, 235.16) κάποιο χοτροειδέστατον Γκουρτζή Μεχεμέτ πασά (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 403, f.3r.65–6) περί πῶς ἔστειλαν κάποιον Μοράτ αγάν εἰς τὴν Κρήτην IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5260 tit. διὰ κάποιον λογαριασμόν (1688, Siatista, ΠΑΝΔΑΖΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ/TSOURLKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 6, 4.5) διὰ κάποιον μύλον (1689, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 30, 135.4) εἰς κάποιο τρόπο KORNAROS, Erot. I.2121

Feminine

Nominative

General	Rare
κάποια	ὀκάποια

ἦλθεν ὀκάποια ἀρχόντισσα DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 29 ἐὰν γένηται ὅτι κἀντις ἄνθρωπος ἡ κάποια γυναῖκα ζητοῦν Assizes A 139.3 προσωδία εἶναι κάποια ἐξάπλωσις τῆς φωνῆς SOFIANOS, Grammar 37.2 βγαίνει μιὰ κάποια ἄσκιὰ CHORTATIS, Erof. II.131 ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ εἶναι κάποια διαφορὰ (1609, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 622, 543.2) κάποια γυναῖκα, τὸ ὄνομάν της Μάρθα KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 10.38 κάποια γυναῖκα ἐντόπια Thavm. Nikon Metan. IV 1 κάποια γυναῖκα ἔθαψε τὸν ἄνδραν της Vios Aisop. D 241.27 ἦταν κάποια στράτα (1686, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1999: 6, 50.4) κάποια φωνή KORNAROS, Erot. II.2318; μιὰ κάποια ἀγάπη ἐκίνησε ibid. V.113

Genitive

General
ὀκάποιας ἢ κάποιας

καπήλισσας ὀκάποιας Poulol. 284 ὀκάποιας κὰν γειτόνισσας ροῦχον νὰ ἐπαρελύθην Ptoch. III 162 ἐχάλασες τὸν ἑαυτὸν σου διὰ κάποιας μάγισσας ἀγάπην [VLASTOS], Dig. P III 327.29–30

Accusative

General	Rare
κάποια(ν)	όκάποιαν

όκάποιαν ἄλλην ἔπεψεν Log. parig. L 574 καὶ όκάποιαν ἐκ τὰς τόσας μου γραφὰς νὰ παραλάβῃ Liv. S 124; ἐπεσώσαμεν εἰς θάλασσαν όκάποιαν ibid. 2107
όκάποιαν πονηρίαν Diig. Alex. V 80.22 γιατὶ δὲν εἶναι ἀμαρτωλὸς χωρὶς κάποιαν αἰτίαν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 369 κάποιαν πρόφασιν Pist. kekoim. 55 εἰς κάποιαν ντεφερέντσια (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 22, 100.3) διὰ κάποια ἡδονὴν VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 191 εἴχαμε νὰ κάμωμεν κάποια διαφωνία (1588, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 30, 48.4) νὰ τοὺς σιάσουν εἰς κάποια διαφορὰ ὅπου εἴχαν (1597, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 5, 77.5) εἰς κάποιαν ὑπηρεσίαν Vios Aisop. K 167.4 κάποιαν ὀπτασίαν MOREZINOS, Klini 17.17 ἐπειδὴ καὶ νὰ εἴχασιν κάποιαν διαφορὰ (1616, Naxos, KATSOURO 1968 : 2, 28.6) κάποιαν δουλείαν (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 4, 364.9) δεῖχνει πρὸς ἐσένα κάποιαν ἀγάπη PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.112 κάποιαν ἀκοήν (1654, Karpenisi, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 7, 82.4) νὰ ᾄδουσιν ἀφ' τ' ἄσπρη κάποιαν κλίσιν KONDAR., Paidēs 275 κάποιαν βοήθειαν Kaloandros 406.27 εἰςὲ κάποια κλεψιά (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 475, 698.15) διὰ κάποια ἀνάγκη τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1691, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 89, 214.14) βρεσκόμενοι εἰςὲ κάποια διαφορὰ (1699, Mykonos, KATSOURO 1948: 13, 29.5) ἐφόρειε κάποια φορεσὰ KORNAROS, Erot. II.415

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General	Rare
κάποιο(ν)	οὐκάποιον ἐὰν γένηται παρὰ κάποιον ριζικόν Assizes A 213.18 καὶ πιλέο κάποιον τίποτις (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 64.16) διὰ κάποιον κομμάτιν (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 7, 127.13) κάποιον νησὶν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 70 διὰ νὰ ρεκοπεράρη κάποιον στάμπιλε τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1588, Crete, VLACHAKI 1986: 5, 382.39) καὶ γένη κάποιον ἐμπόδιον ZYGOM., Synopsis 133.A.67 κάποιον κρασί (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 62.3) κάποιον χρῆος (1628, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 510, 485.11) κᾶπγιω στάρι / κάποιο στάρι (1630, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 51, 137.11) καὶ ἃ μοῦ βρεθῇ καὶ τῶρι κάποιον τίποτας (1650, Naxos, KATSOURO 1968: 76, 193.32) κάποιον χωράφι RODINOS, Vios Ign. 128.20 νὰ γράψῃ κάποιο προικὶ ὅπου χρεωστεῖ (1673, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 73, 43.1) εύρισκούντονε κάποιο χρέος (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 393, 608.6) μέ κάποιον τίποτες βιάτικον (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 182.27) εις κάποιον μέρος Kaloandros 407.19 ουκάποιον αρχοντόπουλο Diig. Alex. K 356.11

Plural
Masculine
Nominative

General	Rare
κάπιοι	όκάπιοι ἰ όκάπο

όκάπιοι από έσας Chron. Mor. H 940; όκάπιοι δύο καβαλλάριοι ibid. 8494 όκάπιοι άρχοντες πρωτοκαβαλλαραιόι Άθηνιώτες είπαν Diig. Alex. V 47.27 έσώσασιν εκεί όκάποι άποκρισάροι Chron. Mor. H 1793; όκάποι άπ’ την Άνάπολιν ibid. 7077 κάπγοι σκλάβοι Σαρακηνοί έξεύραν την MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 634.37 χρεωστούν του κάπιοι χρεοφειλέτες (1539, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 957, 751.30) καί κάπιοι άλλοι του λαού Pist. kekoim. 236 κάπιοι λαοούσιν βλάφτει τους ό ήλιος Cypr. Canz. 105.13 είς τό αύλάκιν τό παλαιόν όπου τό ένθυμήθησαν κάπιοι (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 451.40) κάπιοι εβουλήθησαν να τήνε καταδώσουν ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 80.3 κάπιοι άλλοι άφεντάδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.15 κάπιοι παλιότοιχοι (1630, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 576, 549.7) είτονε όμπληγάδοι κάπγοι λιβελατόροι / ήτονε όμπλιγάδοι κάπιοι λιβελατόροι (1643, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 102, 263.8) κάπιοι ίερείς τής Άρτέμιδος Vios Aisop. D 210.22 κάπιοι καβαλάριοί μου να πλερώνουσι (1646, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994b: 2, 169.82) άρχισαν κάπιοι να τον πτύουσι KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 14.65 κάπιοι άρχοντες έπήγασι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 193.2 κάπιοι παπάδες (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 607, 838.16) κάπιοι άσεβέστατοι MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 119 κάπιοι κακότροποι καί άπάνθρωποι χριστιανοί GAVRIILOP., Diig. panouklas 94.39 κάπιοι έφημέριοι (1693, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 104, 301.7-8)

Accusative

General
κάπιοις

κάπιοις ίεροπρεπεΐς άνδρας MOREZINOS, Klini 16.8
εγκρίκσα απο καπγίους / εγκρίκησα από κάπγοιους (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3.1) κάπιοις λόγους Vios Aisop. I 261.25-6 διά κάπιοις έχθρούς [VLASTOS], Dig. P 363.13 κάπγιοις άνθρώπους / κάπιοις άνθρώπους (1635, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 68, 179.8) έκάμνασι κάπιοις πύργους ξύλινους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 79.22 κάπιοις προεστούς Φραντσέζους εκρέμασαν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 1986 tit. κάπιοις τόπους ραγισμένους IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 333.30 κάποιους τόπους ἀνήμερους (1691, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 145, 84.2) με κάποιους γέροντες KORNAROS, Erot. I.829

Feminine

Nominative

General
κάποιες

ὥσάν κάποιες αἱ ὅποῖαι εἶναι γραῖες SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 440.408 νὰ γενοῦ κάποιες γραφεῖς (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.10) κάποιες ἐβγαῖνα πάλι Stathis II.57

Accusative

General	Rare
κάποιες	κάποιας

ἀπὸ κάποιες ἐνθύμησες (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 452.15) με κάποιες προφάσεις ZYGOM., Synopsis 130.A.49 ὁδὶά κάποιες πούλησες (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 156, 167.3) κάποιες καρέλες (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 148.48) εἶχε κάποιες ἐπαγγελίες MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 335.34 νὰ ἔκαμε κάποιες ἀνακαίνισες (17th c., Palestine?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 24, 2.5) διὰ κάποιες διαφορὲς (1643, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 265, 211.12) ἀκουιστάρισα κάποιες ἄλλες (1679, Corfu, TSITSAS 1994: 2, 549.18) εἶχε ἀγοράσει κάποιες ἐλιές (1692, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 151, 87.1) ἐδιάλεξεν κάποιας μερίδας Vios Aisop. D 222.20

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General	Rare
κάποια	οὐκάποια

ἔδωκά σου ... πράγματα κάποια τίβητις (1547, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 24, 58.6) γιὰ κάποια δικαιώματα (1562, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 130, 249.19) εἰς κάποια δύο βόδια (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 87, 170.6) γιὰ κάποια σπίτια ὅπου κρατεῖ (1609, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 622, 543.3) ἐβλεπε κάποια πρόβατα Vosk. 11 εἶπε κάποια λόγια τῆς Θείας Γραφῆς Chron. 1619 936 ἐφόρειεν κάποια ποδήματα λασπωμένα Vios Aisop. I 264.35 εἶχε κάποια παιδιά μπαστάρδικα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 54.5 κάποια ὑποστατικά (1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 194, 164.10) ἀπὸ κάποια σκάνδαλα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §28.8 διὰ κάποια σφάλματα RODINOS, Vios Ign. 76.34 νὰ ἐγόρασεν κάποια χωραφούδια (1646, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 5, 15.4) εἰσὲ κάποια πράγματα μᾶσε παρηγοροῦσι TROILOS, Rodol. II.411 κάποια λόγια ἐνάντια (1652, Milos, SYMEONIDIS 1989: 2, 118.4) εἶχαν κάποια ἰχωράφια (1667, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 37, 39.4–5) διὰ κάποια γρόσα (1672, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 16, 83.5) εἰς κάποια σπίτια (1688, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 22, 327.8) διὰ κάποια σημαδιακά (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 6, f.43r.10) ἔχω μὲς στ' ἄρμαρί μου κάποια χαρτιά KORNAOS, Erot. I.1301 οὐκάποια τραγούδια ἐτραγουδοῦσαν Diig. Alex. F 38.9 (Konstantinopulos)

Genitive

General
κάποιων

κάποιων ζώων SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 434.196

Usage

The pronoun κάποιος functions mainly as a determiner, but pronominal use is also possible. However, the neuter κάποιον(ν) is never used pronominally, as this function is fulfilled by κάτι. Examples:

οκάποιοι ἀπὸ ἐσᾶς Chron. Mor. H 940 κάποιος τον ἐδόξεψε ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 159.2 μὲ κάποιον πράγμα (1613, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 188, 178.8) διὰ κάποιαν κληρονομίαν (1664, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 9, 65.7) γιατί 'ναι κάποια σφάλματα KORNAOS, Erot. III.187

5.8.14 καμπόσος/κάμποσος

The quantitative indefinite pronoun κάμποσος/καμπόσος is a MedG innovation first attested around the 12th c., e.g. ἔχει δὲ κάποσα λεπτὰ κᾶν εἴκοσι καὶ πλέον KAMAT., Astron. 3781. It is attested both as paroxytone and as proparoxytone, and, considering the variability of scribal and editorial practice with respect to MedG texts, a decision on its original or more frequent form is difficult.

The etymology of καμπόσος is similar to that of the indefinite pronouns κάτις and κάποιος (see 5.8.12–13): the standard analysis assumes univerbation of the AG particle κᾶν and the AG enclitic indefinite quantitative pronoun ποσός or the interrogative pronoun πόσος, an analysis which in fact poses fewer phonetic problems in the case of κάμποσος than in the case of κάτις/κάποιος, since the final nasal of the first element is normally not deleted (see MOYSIADIS 2012). It is also possible to assume, following HORROCKS 2014a, that the first element is οὐκ ἄν rather than καὶ ἄν/κᾶν, although this analysis cannot easily account for some variant forms such as κιαμπόσος (found only in Crete; cf. κιανεῖς), e.g. εὔρε κιαμπόση συντροφιά Katis 13, and κᾶν πόσος, e.g. ποῦ μὲ ὠφελοῦν ὅτι ἔμαθα κᾶν πόσα γραμματίτσια Ptoch. IV 553. Note also that the earliest attestation of the pronoun, in Kamateros quoted above, contains κᾶν in the second half-verse, in a construction which shows the original context from which the univerbation of κᾶν + πόσος could have taken place.

A stem variant κα- without the final nasal is also attested sporadically. If it is not a purely graphematic variation denoting loss of prenasalization of the voiced stop, i.e. /mb/ > /b/ (see I, 3.8.3.2), it should be interpreted as an analogy on the basis of κάποιος, κάτι.

The prothetic /o/ in the stem variant ὀκα- has the same etymological and orthographic problems, and requires the same analysis as in the case of ὀκάτις, ὀκάποιος (see 5.8.12–13).

The inflection of καμπόσος is that of a regular adjective in -ος with fem. -η (see 3.2.1), but some case-forms, especially the genitive, are very scantily attested. The isolated acc. pl. form καμποσίου (περιπατεῖ λίγον καιρόν, μήνες τε καμποσίου Imb. Rim. 281) cannot be considered as a regular part of the paradigm.

Καμπόσος is mostly used as a determiner, and only rarely as a pronoun.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	καμπόσος † (κάμποσος) † ὀκάποσος	(κάμποση) † (καμπόση) † (κιαμπόση)	κάμποσο(ν) † καμπόσο(ν)
Gen.	(καμπόσου)	καμπόσης	καμπόσου
Acc.	καμπόσο(ν) † κάμποσο(ν) † ὀκάποσο(ν)	κάμποση(ν) † καμπόση(ν) † κιαμπόση	κάμποσο(ν) † καμπόσο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	κάμποσοι † καμπόσοι † ὀκάμποσοι † κάποσοι	ὀκάποσαι † ὀκάποσες † (κάμποσες) † (καμπόσες)	κάμποσα † καμπόσα † καπόσα
Gen.
Acc.	κάμποσους † καμπόσους	καμπόσας † κάμποσες † καμπόσες † καπόσες † κάποσες	κάμποσα † καμπόσα

Singular

Masculine

Nominative

General	Rare
καμπόσος † κάμποσος	ὀκάποσος καιρὸς ἔναι ὀκάποσος (1447, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1952: 293.1–2) ἀπέρασε καιρὸς καμπόσος Chron. Mor. P περνᾷ καμπόσος ὁ καιρὸς Alex. Rim. 145 ἐπέρασεν καμπόσος καιρὸς Vios Aisop. K 200.22 ἀπέρασε καμπόσος καιρὸς Chron. Tourk. Soult. 61.16

Accusative

General	Rare
καμπόσο(ν) ἰ κάμποσο(ν)	όκάποσο(ν) μετὰ καμπόσον δὲ καιρὸν Spaneas Va 225 θέλουν κάμει καπόσον κόπον (1572, Warsaw, PATRINELIS 2000: [1], 15.2) ἔκαμαν καμπόσο τζιφά PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §3.9 κάμποσον καιρὸν Diig. Sant. 60.77 μετ' όκάποσον καιρὸν Log. parig. L 327

Feminine

Genitive

General
καμπόσης

μέ τρεμεντίνας καμπόσης FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 359 τέλος δὲ ὡς ἐκάθετον, μετὰ καμπόσης ὥρας Diig. Alex. Sem. S 883

Accusative

General	Rare
καμπόση(ν) ἰ κάμποση(ν)	κιαμπόση ἔχει καὶ ἄρμάταν καμπόση (1487, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 16, 87.3) τοῦ βάνεις κάμποση στάχτη (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.21) ογιά καμπόσην υπόθεση Apoll. Rim. A 1491 καμπόση μεσαρία (1525, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 102, 192.22) εἰσε συντρομήν κάμποσην (1553, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 177, 167.16) ἔσκουδάρισε καμπόση σταφίδα (1584, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1976: 153.198) κατέβημαν καμπόση ἀναβολάδα P&N Diath. 682 πὼς θεὸς νὰ πάγω γιὰ δουλειὰ καμπόση στὸ μετόχι CHORTATIS, Katz. III.497 νὰ ἀφίσσης καμπόση ἀπὸ τὴν ἀκολουθίαν (app. crit.) (17th c., Athos, MEYER 1894: XVII, 225.21–2) ἄφες τριγύρου τοῦ κοκκάλου καμπόση σάρκα LANDOS, Geopon. 151.26 νὰ εὔρω ἄνεσην καμπόση Rim. Sant. 47 νὰ πέψωμεν καμπόσην βοήθειαν (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 36.24–5) κάμποσην ὥρα KORNAROS, Erot. V.449 εὐρε κιαμπόση συντροφιά Katis 13

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General
καμπόσο(ν) κάμποσο(ν)

έχει καμπόσον βάρος PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 98 τὸ ἔργο μου καμπόσο εἰς μάκρος ἔναι Theseid Prol. P 147 καμπόσο μονοπάτι P&N Diath. 692 γιατί θὰ πάγω ν' ἀλειφτῶ καμπόσο ροδολάδι FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.236 θέλω τοῦ κονσενιάρει καμπόσο στάρι (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 36.27) καὶ πὰ διαβῶ κ' ἔχετεν ἡγεῖα κι ἔρχομαι σε καμπόσο KONDAR., Paides 15 θέσωμεν καμπόσον βρόμαν Spanos A 84 μὲ κάμποσο νερὸ κρύο (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.25) μὲ καμπόσο φουσσᾶτο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 94.30 καμπόσον γάλα ζέστανε LANDOS, Geopon. 260.9

 κάμποσον λάδιν (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 849, 1135.16)

Genitive

General
καμπόσου

βράσον σπάγον λιναρίου | μὲ καμπόσου σαλμητρίου FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 526

Plural*Masculine*

Nominative

General
καμπόσοι κάμποσοι δικάμποσοι κάποσοι δικάμποσ' ὅπου ἐδηγοῦσαν τὸ καράβιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 554.32 καὶ ἄρχισαν καμπόσοι νέοι ὁμπρὸς νὰ προκαρίζουν Chron. Toc. 240; καμπόσοι ἐκ τὴν στρατεῖαν του ἐσμίξασιν εἰς αὐτόν ibid. 2828 κάμποσοι ἀνθρώποι Assizes A 33.12 ἐτρέξαν κάποσοι ὀπίσω του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 34.22; ἐκοιμήθησαν καμπόσοι ibid. 384.34 ἐδῶ εἶναι κάμποσοι (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 3, 302.14) καβαλλάροι κάποσοι ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 460 καμπόσοι τὸ πῆραν (1670, Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.1, 72.3) ἔπεισαν ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄρχοντες τότες ἐκεῖ καμπόσοι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 169.3 καμπόσοι χριοφιλέτες (1685, Tinos, PASCHALIS 1935: 136.4) καμπόσοι γέροι EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 17.15

Accusative

General
καμπόσους ἰ κάμποσους

νὰ φέρη καμπόσους λᾶς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 106.27; ἔσκοτῶσαν καπόσους Γενουβίους ibid. 126.32 ἀπέδειραν καμπόσους LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 115 καμπόσους μήνες Apoll. Rim. A 160 παίρνω καμπόσους ἐξ ἡμᾶς Alex. Rim. 1997 εἶχανε καμπόσους Τούρκους πιασμένους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 83.7

βάλε καμπόσους εἰς τὰ κάρβουνα LANDOS, Geopon. 249.33

ἀπὸ χρόνους καμπόσους (1652, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 66, 165.22)

μὲ καμπόσους μαστόρους (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 311.33)

ἀπὸ καμπόσους χρόνους (1687, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 279, 259.17)

ἤφερε καὶ καμπόσους σκλάβους MATESIS, Chron. 67.4

ἔσφαξε κάμποσους ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 18.1–2

Feminine

Nominative

Rare
ὀκάποσαι ἰ ὀκάποσες

ὀκάποσαι κεράδες Ptoch. III 193

ὀκάποσες γυναῖκες Ptoch. III 193 app. crit. (G)

Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
καμπόσες ἰ κάμποσες	καπόσες ἰ κάποσες	καμπόσας ὅτι μὲ βιάς τὸ ἐπίστευαν καμπόσες ἀπ' ἐκεῖνες Theseid I.134.8 (Follieri) ἐστένησα κάμποσες ἡμέρες (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 78.4) μᾶς δουλεύσουσι καμπόσες ἡμέρες (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 7, 311.15) ἐπέρασαν καμπόσες ἡμέρες Vios Aisop. K 171.11 περάσοντας καμπόσες μέρες (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 31.17) καμπόσες μακαροῦνες FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.88 ἐπολέμησέ την καμπόσες ἡμέρες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.3

καμπόσες ἄγγουρίδες LANDOS, Geopon. 244.26

διὰ καμπόσες ἡμέρες (1680, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 8, 301.12) ἐμάζωσε καμπόσες ἐλῖες (1681, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 51, 263.8) καὶ καπόσα καπότα καὶ τώρα μὴ καπόσις μέρῃς (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.15) εὐρίσκοντας καμπόσες γοῦνες Bertoldin. 114.9–10 κάποσες φορές Assizes B 291.17 ἔποικεν καπόσες ἡμέρες VOUSTR., Chron. A 80.1

εἶναι κάποσες ἡμέρες ζαπούνηδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §7.75

βάλε εἰς ἓνα μανδῆλιον λεπτὸν καμπόσες νέσπολες LANDOS, Geopon. 171.9

ἄφες τα καμπόσας ἡμέρας LANDOS, Geopon. 171.7

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General	Rare
κάμποσα ἰ κάμπόσα	καπόσα

ποῦ με ὠφελοῦν ὅτι ἔμαθα κὰν πόσα γραμματίτσια Ptoch. IV 553 διὰ κὰνποσα κορμία / διὰ κάμποσα κορμία Assizes B 282.25 παραδιδωμέν σου καὶ καμπόσα βιβλία (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 145, 119.8) σοῦ εἶχα βουλωμένα κάμποσα κρασὰ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 163, 163.7) με κάμπόσα λόγια λέγει Pist. kekoim. 124 ἀσκιά κάμποσα (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 289, 404.30) κάμπόσα κάτεργα ἐπῆγαν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 263 ἔχουν χρέος καμπόσα στάμενα (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 28, 86.5) κάμπόσα πανιά (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 3, 363.14) μεράζου ξεκαθαριστὰ κάμποσα ὑποστατικά (1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 163, 142.5) κάμπόσα τορνέσα (1641, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 7, 278.10) ἀπέρασαν καμπόσες ἡμέρες Vios Aisop. D 224.15 νὰ ἀφήσης καμπόσα ἀπὸ τὴν ἀκολουθίαν σου (17th c., Athos, MEYER 1894: XVII, 225.21) ἐφουντάρανε καμπόσα ξύλα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 83.3 νὰ μοῦ εὐρης κάμποσα ρεάλια (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 53, 205.11) με τὸ πῶς εὔρε κάμποσα μπάνια ἐδικὰ μου NEOFYTOS, Achouri 195 ἐβάλασιν κάποσα σκάνταλα VOUSTR., Chron. A 28.1; ἐποίκεν καπόσα καρτσά ibid. 140.5
 καὶ καπόσα καπότα καὶ τῶρα μὴ καπόσις μέρις (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.15)

5.8.15 δεῖνα/ὀδεῖνα

The indefinite pronoun δεῖνα is a direct continuation of AG δεῖνα “so and so”, which already possessed a genitive case δεινός and a dative δεινί, as well as a plural. The major innovation in the morphology of this pronoun is the addition of a prothetic /o/. This innovation is already noted by Hellenistic grammarians and in EMedG philological and derivative lexicographical sources, e.g. Herodian, Choireboskos, Etymologicum Magnum (see LBG s.v. ὀδεῖνα). It is also quite well attested in EMedG authors (JANNARIS 1897: 166, §600). Examples:

ὁψώμεθα Βασίλειον τὸν ἀείζων, Ἀέτιον τὸν θαυμάσιον, τὸν ὀδεῖνα καὶ τὸν ὀδεῖνα Theodorus Studites, Megale Catechesis 23, p. 165 (Papadopoulos-Keramefs 1904) αἰτήσατε τὸν ὀ δεῖνα εἰς φακτιονάριν De ceremoniis II, 132.1 (Reiske); μετὰ τῆς συζύγου σου τῆς ὀ δεῖνα ibid. II, 8.10 ταχέως ἀπολύσατε τὸν ὀδεῖνα παῖδα Life of St Elias the Younger 12.135 (Rossi Taibbi)

The meaning of the pronoun in EMedG sources seems to be either positive indefinite “so and so” or even demonstrative “that”. It could be assumed that the prothetic /o/ is due to the analogy of other indefinite pronouns beginning with /o/ (cf. ὁποιος → ὄγοιος, see CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 595–6), although it seems to have appeared earlier than the spread of this analogical process. Alternatively, the prothetic /o/ could be interpreted as a univerbation with the definite article ὁ, an analysis which is both chronologically and semantically more plausible, as the meaning of the pronoun is always that of a positive indefinite and masculine uses predominate (see MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 607; MEYER 1889: 176; JANNARIS 1897: 80, §130; PSALTES 1913: 48–9; CARACAUSI, Lex. s.v. ὁδεῖνα).⁸⁷ There are also isolated instances of stress retraction to the antepenultimate syllable formed through the prothetic /o/, namely five cases in Papasynadinós's Chronicle and a single instance in Chronicle of Morea P (see examples below). However, it is difficult to draw conclusions concerning the stress of the pronoun in the LMedG period, in view of the unsystematic manuscript accentuation, and the probability of editorial intervention. There is also a single instance of a final-stressed masc. gen. sg., τοῦ ὁδεῖνός FALIEROS, Erot. En. 88, probably for metrical reasons.

A purely LMedG innovation in the inflection of this pronoun is the addition of a final /s/ in the masc. nom. sg., which brings it in line with the regular inflection of masc. nouns in -ας (see 2.2). The earliest attestations come from the 14th–15th c. Correspondingly, a variable final /n/ appears in the acc. sg. of all three genders in the same period. In rare cases, an alternative inflection following the pattern of nouns in -ος is indicated through an innovative genitive in -ου. The re-formation process ὁ δεῖνας, τοῦ δεῖνα/τοῦ δεῖνος → ὁ δεῖνας, τοῦ δεῖνου could be a hypercorrection based on the AG 1st-declension pattern ὁ ταμίας, τοῦ ταμίου (see 2.2.1), or an analogy from former 3rd-declension nouns such as ὁ κόρακας, τοῦ κόρακα/τοῦ κόρακος/τοῦ κοράκου (see 2.2.5), which present all three gen. sg. suffixes. The feminine form is much rarer. The MedG pronoun δεῖνα, in contrast to AG, has no plural.⁸⁸

The meaning of the pronoun in LMedG is again “so and so”, “such and such”, replacing the name of a person or object which is unknown or interchangeable with any other name. It is especially frequent in legal and magical texts (in formulas where a name needs to be filled in). It can appear both as a pronoun and as a determiner.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	δεῖνα δεῖνας ὁδεῖνα ὁδεῖνας ὁδεῖνας δεῖνος	(δεῖνα) (ὁδεῖνα)	δεῖνα ὁδεῖνα(ν)
Gen.	δεῖνα δεῖνος ὁδεῖνος ὁδεῖνα ὁδεῖνος δεῖνου	δεῖνα ὁδεῖνας δεῖνου	(δεῖνα) (ὁδεῖνα)
Acc.	δεῖνα(ν) ὁδεῖνα(ν) ὁδεῖνα(ν) δεῖνον	δεῖνα ὁδεῖνα(ν) ὁδεῖνα(ν)	δεῖνα ὁδεῖνα(ν)

Masculine

Nominative

ἡμεῖς ὁδεῖνα οἰκόνομος ... καὶ κατὰ τὴν ἡμέραν ὁδεῖνα ... ἅμα δὲ καὶ κριτοῦ ὁδεῖνα τοῦ ρηθέντος χωρίου ὁδεῖνα καὶ ἀδελφοῦ ὁδεῖνα (1291, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 13, 639.5–7)

⁸⁷ Note that Hellenistic and Byzantine grammarians attribute the prothetic /o/ to analogy with the pronoun ὅδε, cf. οἱ γὰρ λέγοντες, ὅτι μία λέξις ἐστί, λέγουσιν, ὅτι παρὰ τὴν ὅδε ἀντωνυμίαν γέγονεν ὁδεῖνα καὶ ὁδεῖνα Herodian 2.558; τὸ «ὁδεῖνα» ἐλάμβανον ἐπὶ τῶν παρόντων οἱ παλαιοὶ ἀντὶ τοῦ ὅδε ἐπιδεικτικῶς, οἱ δὲ νεώτεροι ἐπὶ τῶν ἀπόντων ἀντὶ ἀντωνυμίας Schol. Tzetzae in Aristoph. Ran. 918a (Koster).

⁸⁸ There is a single, and rather problematic, instance of a plural form: οἱ †ὁδεῖνες συμπτέθεροι ὅπου εἶχαν ἐλθεῖν / οἱ ὁδεῖνες συμπτέθεροι ὅπου εἶχαν ἐλθεῖν Diig. Alex. F 126.18–19 (Lolos).

ἐὰν ἔλθῃ ὁ δεῖνα πώποτε εἰς τὴν πόρταν νὰ καθίσῃ Ptoch. IV 517 ὁ δεῖνα οὐ δώσει τον, ὁ δεῖνα νὰ τὸν δώσει Ptoch. (Maiuri) 18; ὁ δεῖνα ibid. 19 ὁ δεῖνα γέρον ἄνθρωπος καὶ μὴ ἀσχολῆται πόθον Liv. α 927 app. crit. (P) ἐγὼ ὁ δεῖνα ZYGOM., Synopsis 159.Γ.32 ἐγὼ ὁ δεῖνα (1684–5, Moscow, ŠANGIN 1936: 3, 121.8)

ἐὰν ἔλθῃ ὁ δεῖνας Ptoch. IV 517 app. crit. (K) ὁ δεῖνας ἄνθρωπος Assizes B 367.29–20 εὐπόρηκεν ὁ δεῖνας (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 107.3d); ἐχάρισέ με το ὁ δεῖνας ibid. 111.2d–3d) ο δεῖνας Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 109.37 πῶς ἔκαμεν ο δεῖνας Apoll. Rim. E 1523 ἐξουσίαν νὰ μὴν ἔχῃ νὰ λέγῃ ὅτι ὁ δεῖνας ἀπέθανεν (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App.
 IV C, 236.18)
 ο δεῖνας ἐρχεται Theophr. Char. 120.29 ὁδεῖνας ὁ ἱερεὺς KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 351.8; ἀπέθανεν ὁδεῖνας ἱερεὺς ibid. 351.36 ἐὰν ὁ δεῖνας τυχὸν ἔκαμε φόνον ZYGOM., Synopsis 146.B.23 ὁ ὁδεῖνας ἄνθρωπος PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §8.10; ὁ ὁδεῖνας ὁ φίλος μου ibid. III §29.26 πῶς ἔκαμεν ο δεῖνος Apoll. Rim. N 1523

Genitive

οὐδ' εἰς αὐλὰς ἐσέβηκα τοῦ δεῖνος Ptoch. (Maiuri) 17
 ὁ μὲν τοῦ δεῖνος τοῦ ρηγός, ἔγραφε, θυγατέρα, | ὁ δέ, καὶ πάλιν ἔγραφε, τοῦ βασιλέως τοῦ δεῖνος Velth. 355–6 ἐγὼ ἔδωκα τὸ ἐπῆρα ἀπαὶ σέναν τοῦ δεῖνος Assizes A 132.27; μετὰ τὴν ἀποβίωσιν τῆς γυναικὸς μου ἢ τοῦ δεῖνός μου συγγενῇ ibid. 157.11 τοῦ δεῖνος καβαλλάρη Theseid IX.50,4 (1529) τοῦ δεῖνος ἀγίου (1679, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 46, 259.50) νησίᾳ τοῦ ὁδεῖνος (1346/47, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 256.47–8) ἐξ αὐτοῦ τοῦ ὁδεῖνος Assizes B 404.10
 ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ ὁδεῖνος καὶ τῆς ὁδεῖνας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 351.8
 εἰς τ' ὄνομα τοῦ ὁδεῖνός FALIEROS, Erot. En. 88 τοῦ καβαλλαρίου ὁδεῖνος Chron. Mor. P 5815 app. crit.
 ἢ (δεῖνα) θυγατέρα τοῦ (δεῖνος) (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 49.11)
 ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ ὁδεῖνος καὶ τῆς ὁδεῖνας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 351.36
 κῦρι δεῖνα σακελλάριε –ἢ ὡς ἀκούει τὸ ὀφθίκιν του– (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 51.25)

Accusative

βλέπεις τὸν δεῖνα, τέκνον μου, πεζὸς περιεπάτει Ptoch. III 58 μὴ συντυχαίνης, πρόσεχε, κὰν ὅλως τὸν ὁδεῖνα Ptoch. IV 51; πάντα τὸν δεῖνα μερτικὸν μικρότερον τὸν δίδε ibid. 512; κρᾶζουν γοργὸν τοὺς ἱατροὺς, τὸν δεῖνα καὶ τὸν δεῖνα ibid.
 564 σὲ τὸν εὐγενέστατον κεφαλὴν κἀνστρου ὁδεῖνα (1346–7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 255.8)
 τὸν δοῦλον τοῦ θεοῦ δεῖνα STAFIDAS, Iatrosoph. 18.20 τὸν ὁδ(εῖνα)ν καὶ τὸν ὁδ(εῖνα)ν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 260.26

εἰς τὸν ὀδεῖνα— ἄνθρωπον (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 30.17)

εἰς τὸν ὀδεῖνα καιρόν ZYGOM., Synopsis 159.Γ.32 ἰάτρευσε τὸν ὀδεῖνα παράλυτον MOREZINOS, Klini 59.10 ἐμένα τὸν ὀδεῖνα (1684–5, Moscow, ŠANGIN 1936: 3, 119.23); διὰ τὸν ὀδεῖνα (17th c., Unknown, ibid. 4, 152.29) διὰ τὸν ὀδεῖνα Theophr. Char. 124.21 ἀπὸ τὸν δεῖνον τόπον ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 2118 τὸν ὀδεῖναν τὸν χρωστήν PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §31.14; εἰς τὸν ὀδεῖναν τὸν τόπον ibid. IV §15.10

Feminine

Genitive

ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ ὀδεῖνος καὶ τῆς ὀδεῖνας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 351.36⁸⁹

ἐκ τῆς γειτονίας δεῖνου καὶ χώρας δεῖνου (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 100.3d–4d)

τῆς ὀδεῖνας (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 90.19)

Accusative

κατὰ τὴν ἡμέραν ὀδεῖνα (1291, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 13, 639.6) τὴν ὀδεῖναν γυναικα Assizes B 367.30; δίδω σου τὴν ὀδεῖνα οἰκίαν ibid. 408.20 δότε τοῦ τότε βότανον καὶ τὴν ὀδεῖνα ρίζαν BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 1290 τὴν ὀδεῖναν ἡμέραν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 350.3

τὴν ὀδεῖνα ἡμέρα Apok. Theot. 495.20 τὴν ὀδεῖναν ἀπὸ τὸν ὀδεῖνα (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 90.21) τὴν ὀδεῖνα μερέα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 117.20 εἰς τὴν ὀδεῖναν πόρτα PAPASYNAD., Chron. II 8.13 τὴν δεῖνα ἡμέραν (1679, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 46, 259.49)

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

τὸ ὀδεῖνα περιβόλι Assizes B 408.20; τὸ ὀδεῖναν ἄλογον ibid. 413.17

εἰς τὸ ὀδεῖνα κάστρον Syndipas 117.22

νὰ τοῦ δώσω τὸ δεῖνα χωράφι ZYGOM., Synopsis 139.A.108

5.8.16 ἔδεποιός

The indefinite pronoun ἔδεποιός, “so and so, such and such”, derives from the univerbation of the demonstrative adverb/exclamation ἔδε and the interrogative pronoun ποῖός (PERNOT 1907/46: II 228). It is extremely rare.

ὅ,τι λέγει ἡ ἔδεποιά γραφή πρὸς τοῦτο NIKON, Logos 9 313.34⁹⁰ ἐσὺ ὑπάρχεις ὁ ἔδεποιός; (15th c., Cyprus?, TSANGALAS 1983: 132.5–6) tale. τέτοιος, τῆτοιος, ἔδεποιός, ὀδεῖνα GERMANO, Vocab., s.v.

⁸⁹ The same text also contains a dative: τῇ ὀδεῖνᾳ ἡμέρᾳ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 351.35.

⁹⁰ The same passage offers the single attestation so far of an indefinite pronoun ἔδετίς: καὶ <ἐ>ποιούν ἔδετίνας τόδε τι NIKON, Logos 9 312.34–5.

ἐδεποιός. Τοιοῦτος, τοῖος. Talis PORTIUS, Vocab. 63 ἐδεποιός. Talis. Tale. Τοιοῦτος VLACHOS, This. s.v.

5.8.17 ὅτωποῖος

The indefinite pronoun ὅτωποῖος, “so and so, such and such”, is attested exclusively in the Cypriot Assizes, although in the modern period it survives only in Pontic (PAPADOPOULOS 1958 s.v.). Two alternative etymologies are available: the older, by PERNOT (1907/46: II 234, n. 2), according to whom it derives from the univerbation of ὅτι + ποῖος, and that by PAPADOPOULOS (1958), who proposed a derivation from the adverb ὅτωπως (< οὔτω πως) through contamination with ὅποιος (see also KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.). The use of this pronoun is very rare. Examples: ἐπαφήνω τῆς συμβίας μου τὸ ὅτωποῖον μου σπῖτιν Assizes B 394.16; τὸ ὅτωποῖον χωράφιον ibid. 408.21; ἐπαφήνω τῆς γυναικός μου τὸ ὅτωποῖον μου σπῖτιν Assizes A 143.5.

5.8.18 ταδεποιός

The indefinite pronoun ταδεποιός “so and so, such and such” first appears in the EMG period, and derives from the univerbation of the pronoun τάδε and the interrogative pronoun ποῖος. Its use is extremely rare.⁹¹

ἐγὼ εἶμαι ὁ ποῖος, ὁ ταδεποιός, P&N Diath. 7; τὴν ταδεποιὰ ἡμέρα ibid. 3097 ταδεποιός, ταδεποιὰ, ταδεποιὸ talis PORTIUS, Grammar 30.27

5.9 Relative Pronouns

The LMedG and EMG relative pronouns may be subdivided into two categories: (a) definite relatives and (b) indefinite relatives. In each category, some pronouns are inherited from AG, while others constitute morphosyntactic innovations, deriving either from inflected pronouns or from uninflected adverbs. The pronouns in question are the following:

a) Definite relatives

- ὅπου/πού
- τόν, τήν, τό
- ὁ ποῖος, ὁ ποῖος, ὁ ὅποιος
- ὅς
- ὅσπερ

b) Indefinite relatives

- ὁποῖος/ὅποιος
- οἷος/ὄγοιος
- οἷοσδήποτε, ὁποῖοσδήποτε

⁹¹ Nevertheless, it survives in several MG dialects as a euphemism for the devil (ILNE Archive), as well as in modern Cretan under the form τάποιος < τάδεποιος (PANGALOS 1955: 307).

- ὅστις
- εἴτις
- Quantitative relative: ὅσος

5.9.1 Definite Relatives

5.9.1.1 ὅπου/πού

Ὅπου/πού is an indeclinable relative complementizer introducing both definite and indefinite relative clauses. It derives from the AG relative adverb ὅπου, “where”. The stress shift to the final syllable, which led to the eventual deletion of the initial unstressed vowel, i.e. ὅπου > ὅπου > πού, is impossible to date, as the notation of stress in MedG and EMG written sources is unsystematic.⁹² In fact, the phenomenon should rather be described not as stress shift, but as stress loss, i.e. demotion of ὅπου to proclitic status, caused by the increased functional load of the word and its semantic bleaching (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 152–3; NICHOLAS 1998a: 12–13); cf. the similar case of ἵνα > ἰνά > νά. The existence of forms exhibiting deletion of the initial vowel (πού, see below) suggests that the phenomenon has already taken place by the 12th c.

The first traces of its use as a relative pronoun come from the EMedG period. In this period, it appears (albeit rarely) in lower-register texts, having as its main function the relativization of the subject (BAKKER 1974: 87–94; NICHOLAS 1998a: 200–11; MANOLESSOU 2004; HORROCKS ²2010: 294; LBG s.v. ὅπου), e.g., ἐκεῖνος ὅπου ἐμαγείρευεν ἐξῆλθεν τρέχων Leontius of Neapolis, Life of John the Almsgiver 87.11 (ed. Festugière–Rydén); ἡ μεθύστρια ὅπου εἰς τὸ μεσίαιλον ἔκειτο Daniel of Sketis, De virgine ebria 78; ὁ Θεὸς δι’ ἐμοῦ τοῦ δούλου αὐτοῦ, ὅπου αὐτὸν παρακάλεσα Barsanuphius, Corresp. 202.17 (ed. Neyt–de Angelis-Noah).

The origin of the relative use probably lies in the ancient function of ὅπου as a general (not specifically local) clause connective with the meaning “inasmuch as, since” (for this use see SCHWYZER/DEBRUNNER 1950: 647; LSJ s.v. ὅπου, II.2; NICHOLAS 1998a: 193–4). This function is frequent in Byzantine texts, and could easily have been reanalysed as referring to a noun or pronoun in the previous clause. Examples:

οὐδέν ἐστι, φησίν, ἡ δύναμις ὑμῶν· ὅπου γὰρ οὐδὲ καθεύδοντος αὐτοῦ ἰσχύσατε προσεγγίσει αὐτῷ καὶ ἐνεργῆσαι, πῶς λοιπὸν ἔχετε εἰς πρόσωπον αὐτοῦ σταθῆναι; Life of St Theodore of Sykeon 37.26

τίς γὰρ ἤλπιζε φυγεῖν τὸν Χοσρόην ... καὶ εἰς Κτησιφῶντα ἀπελθεῖν, ὅπου ἀπὸ κδ’ ἐτῶν οὐκ ἠνέσχετο ἰδεῖν Κτησιφῶντα; Theophanes, Chronogr. 321.28 καὶ οἱ ἄρχοντες οἱ μὲν τινες ἔλεγον περὶ τοῦ Κύρου τοιάδε «ἤπου αὐτός γε πολλὰ ἔχει, ὅπου γε καὶ ἡμῶν ἐκάστῳ τοσαῦτα δέδωκεν» [Const. Porphyg.], De sententiis 6.26

νά ποιήσῃ ὁ Θεὸς πολυχρόνιον τὴν βασιλείαν σου, ὅπου πᾶσι τρόποις εὐεργετεῖς ἡμῖν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 106.1

⁹² Accentuation on the first syllable, i.e. ὅπου, appears even in very late manuscripts as well as in modern editions, even when the relative meaning is clear, as a result of conservative orthography, i.e. because there is a corresponding AG form (etymological spelling).

The spread of όπου/πού to the relativization of other syntactic roles cannot be easily mapped out, due to the lack of primary sources for the EMedG period. In the S. Italian documents it seems to be used almost exclusively for the relativization of the subject (MINAS 2003: 102–3; CARACASI, Lex. s.v. όπου), although rare examples of relativized direct objects do occur. The same can be said of the earliest literary texts (late 11th–12th c.) of the period under examination. Relativization of other syntactic positions (indirect object, possessive genitive, prepositional phrases) seems to appear from the 13th–14th. c. onwards (cf. the examples in BAKKER 1974: 48–51).

Relativization of the Subject

- όπου* τὸ κεφάλαιον εἶπεν καὶ ἔγραψεν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 310.30–1 ἄνθρωπος όπου ἔχει ποιήσῃν ἐμπόδιον (1108–9, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 29, 136.53); τὸ χωράριον τοῦ Λαυρεντίου ... όπου ἐνὶ στοῦ βουνὶν (ibid. 29, 135.29); εἰς τὴν μεγάλην δρῦ όπου ὑπάρχει ἔσω εἰς τὴν βαθείαν (1112, ibid. 32, 148.10) τὴν δρῦν όπου στέκει σιμὰ τῆς τοιαύτης ὁδοῦ (1113, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 75, 98.7); τοῦ εὐλαβεστάτου πρεσβυτέρου κυρ Φάλκου όπου διάγει εἰς τὸ κυρ Ζώσιμον (1118, ibid. 85, 111.8); ἡ βινέλλα ποῦ ὑπάρχει εἰς τὸ ὀπισθεν μέρος (1200, ibid. 249, 338.24) τῶν σπιτίων όπου ὑπάρχουσι (1141, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 5, 557.9); τὸ βουνακάριν όπου ἐνὶ ἐνώπιον τοῦ καστελλατοῦ (1143, ibid. Coll. XII: 6, 561.1); εἰς τὸν λάκκον όπου ὑπάρχει στοῦ ποδὶ (1144?, ibid. Coll. V: 9, 313.29) ὥσπερ όπου συνομιλεῖ πατέραν του πολλὰκις Spaneas P 62; ἔχεις δὲ καὶ συνείδῃσιν όπου σὲ θέλει ἐλέγχῃν ibid. 101 όπου ἔχει ἀμέριμον ψυχὴν, όπου ἐνὶ χορτασμένος GLYKAS, Stichoi 117 ὁ παπᾶς όπου θέλει εἰσταῖν εἰς τὴν μονὴν (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.56) ἡ κόρη ἢ τὸ παιδὶν όπου μέλλουν νὰ λάβουν τὰ μνηστρα (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 226.24) τὴν λιθοσουρέαν όπου ἐνὶ εἰς τὴν κουμαρέαν (1350–1?, Athos?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 130, 45.13) παῖς γὰρ ἄνθρωπος, όπου ὑπάρχει ποῦ εἰς τόπον τινά (14th c., Cyprus, KODER et al. 2001: 245, 426.19) ἀπὸ ἐκείνους όπου ἤθελαν ἐξουσιάζουν (1371, Corfu, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 5: 3, 68.13–14)

Relativization of the Direct Object

- ψυχὴ μου, όπου σὲ βλέπουσιν κᾶν ψίχα ὅτι ἀναπνέεις GLYKAS, Stichoi 202 διὰ πᾶσα χρέος όπου τοῦ ἐχρεώσται (1327, Crete, LAIOU 1982: 1, 123.5) τὸ πουλάριν τὸ ἀρσενικὸν όπου ἔχει τὴν σήμερον (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1, 19.21) εἰς τὸ σπαθὶν όπου ζώνομαι (1482, Adrianople, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 22, 313.14)
 ἐκεῖνο όπου σὲ γράψαμε (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 91.5) ἐκ τῆς ξυλῆς όπου ᾠπαρνε Fyll. gadar: 4j ἐκεῖνο τὸ ξεράμπελον όπου κρατεῖς (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 9, 12.3) ἐκεῖνα όπου ἔχει (1658, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 5, 652.8) διὰ κάποιον μύλον ποῦ τὸν εἶχε πουλημένον (1689, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 30, 135.5)

Relativization of the Indirect Object

- ἐκεῖνος όπου τοῦ ἐδόθη ἡ χάρις ἐτελεύτησεν Assizes A 157.13–14 ἡ ἀφεντιά σου όπου σοῦ ἐχάρισεν ὁ θεὸς τὸν νοῦν καθαρὸν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 254.6–7 τὴν κόρη | όπου ἄνεμος δὲν τῇ ᾠωκε KORNAROS, Erot. I 152; ὁ Δρακόκαρδος, ποῦ τοῦ ᾠωκεν ἡ φύση | τὸ ἄνθρώπους ὅλους νὰ μισᾷ ibid. II. 1473–4

Relativization of Adnominal Genitive

πιττάκιν όπου ἐδύναντο οἱ λόγοι του τοὺς εἶχεν | νὰ ἐξεριζώσουν ἀπ' ἐμὲ τὴν ὄλην μου καρδίαν Liv. α 881–2

τὸν βασιλέα ... όπου ἐσκοτώσαμεν τὰ φουσάτα του Achil. N 1119

ἔνι αὐτὸς ἐκεῖνος | όπου ἀπῆρε τὸ βεργὶν ἀπὸ τὰς χεῖρας τούτου Velth. 810–11 ἐκεῖνου, όπου ἔκοψεν ὁ Πάρις τὸ ὄφθιν του Byz. Il. 226 στὸν ἄνθρωπον όπου στὸ σπῖτι τοῦ ἴσαν ΡΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 234

νὰ μπῆς εἰς τὸ κρίμαν τοὺς λᾶς σου, ὅπου μέλλει νὰ χενωθεῖ τὸ αἷμαν τοὺς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 642.4–5

κ' ἐσύ, Ἀφροδίτη μου θεά, όπου μικρὸ παιδάκι | μ' ἐπότισεν ἡ χάρη σου CHORTATSIS, Erof.

III.231

ἔναν όπου Πεζόστρατον ἔκραζαν τ' ὄνομάν του KORNAROS, Erot. I 74

Relativization of Prepositional and Adverbial Phrases καὶ ἄφον διαβοῦν οἱ ἰ' ἡμέρες, ἔξω τῆς ἡμέρας όπου ἐδόθη ἡ ἀπόφασις (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 19.108–12)

φοβᾷσθε καὶ τὰ κλώσματα τοῦ Χρόνου όπου εὐτυχεῖτε Log. parig. L 740

καὶ ταχινὴ ἐγίνετο νόστιμη ὑπὲρ μέτρου, | όπου νὰ γένουν κονταρές Pol. Tr. 5024

κοράσιον ὠραιωμένον, | όπου καμμία οὐκ ἐφάνηκεν ἑμορφωτέρα εἰς κόσμον Flor. L 922

ὁ καπετάνος ἐποῖκεν μου περίτου παρὰ ποῦ πρέπει MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 446.14

ἡ ἀφορμὴ όπου ἔκλεψα τὰ καρτσὰ Fior 116.31

ὄλες τὲς ὠραιότητες, όπου ἔμουν στολισμένη Thrinios patr. O 19 (Luciani)

The morphological variants of όπου are the following:

όπου/πού

Όπου is the earliest and most common form, appearing throughout the period under investigation, without restrictions. Πού exhibits regular deletion of initial unstressed vowel. It appears from the early 12th c. onwards,⁹³ and co-exists in variation with the full form όπου, again without geographical restrictions. Nevertheless, deletion of initial /o/ is very rare in Cypriot texts.⁹⁴ The presence vs. absence of the initial /o/ does not seem to be conditioned by the phonetic environment, i.e. by the final sound of the preceding word.

εἰς τὴν δρύαν όπου ὑπάρχει εἰς τὴν κρίστα (1112, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 32, 148.12) τὲς ἐλὲς όπου ἔχω (1197–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 42, 217.9) ἐκεῖνος όπου ἔκαμεν τὸ μυλοστάσι (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 273.275)

περὶ ἐκεῖνου όπου πουλεῖ Assizes B 251.11 τὸν ὄρκον, όπου ἐπάτησεν Chron. Mor. P 4797 ἐκεῖνοι όπου εὐρίσκονται MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.19 ἐκεῖνος όπου τὸν θάψη (1501, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 7, 105.11) διὰ τοὺς ἰδίους μου, όπου με λατρεύουσιν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 32.17 καὶ αὐτὴ όπου δείχνει δύσκολος, στενὴ καὶ τεθλιμμένη GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 581

τὸ μοναστήρι όπου ἐκαλοῦνταν Σωτήρας (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 233.36–7)

τὰ δικαιώματα όπου εἶχεν (1589, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 31, 172.4)

⁹³ NICHOLAS (1998a: 13 and n. 7) places the loss of the initial vowel in the 11th c., but the earliest example he adduces (Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 307.24; see below), to which he attributes the date 1042, dates in fact from 1142 (with a possible margin of error, according to the editor).

⁹⁴ The figures given in KOUNDOURIS 2009: 101–2 are exaggerated, as the examples cited mostly concern non-relative uses.

- τὰ ἄσπρα ὅπου ἔδωσεν (1652, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 71, 184.8) τὴ ρόμπολα ὅπου ἐπούλησε ὁ ἀδελφός του (1668, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 355.12) ὁ λογισμὸς ὅπου ἔβαλε δίκια τὸν ἐ παιδεύγει KORNAROS, Erot. I 848
- τὰ χωράφια ποὺ ἔναι ἀμπέλι (1121, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 90, 118.19); ὁ οἶκος ποὺ ὑπῆρχε τοῦ Γιαννουτοῦ (1200, ibid. 249, 338.26); ὁ οἶκος ὁ χαλασμός τοῦ κραταιοῦ ρηγὸς ποὺ ὑπῆρχε (ibid. 249, 338.23); κῆπον ποὺ ὑπάρχει (1268, ibid. 310, 447.25) εἰς τὸν ρύακαν ποὺ κατεβαίνει ἐκ τὸν Φαρχούνην (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 307.24)
 θωρεῖς αὐτὸν τὸν ἄγουρον ποὺ στέκει Dig. E 1507 περὶ τῶν μαρτυριῶν ποὺ πρέπει νὰ ὁμόσου Assizes B 272.6
 τὴν φύλαξιν ποὺ ἐθέκαν νὰ φυλάσση Pol. Tr. 355 app. crit. (X) ἐμένα οὐ καταδέχεσαι ποὺ σ' ἀγαπῶ τοσαῦτα Diig. Alex. Sem. B 934 ἀπὸ τὸ πρᾶγμα ποὺ εἶχαμεν (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 10, 18.10) τὴ στράτα ποὺ πάγει στὸ μύλο (1514, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 115, 227.7) τοῦ Γερμανοῦ ποὺ ἐκράτει ἄσπρα χιλιάδες β' (1576, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 1, 1.6)
 τὰ καρύδια ποὺ ἔχω διαταμένα (1583, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 15, 29.16) εἰς τὴν ἐκκλησίαν ποὺ ἐκατοῖκει ZYGOM., Synopsis 122.A.7
 τῆς δεσποτείας ποὺ εἴπαμεν (1625, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 66, 192.20) εἰς τοῦτο ποὺ τοῦ δίδομεν (1625, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 2000: 1, 14.6) τοῦ ἱερέως ποὺ μέλλει νὰ με θάψη (1644, Lefkada, RONDOYANNIS 2005: 2, 441.19) τὰ ὀκτῶ ποὺ ἔδωσεν (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 31.23) ἐκεῖνα ποὺ εὐρίσκουνται (1668, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 39, 40.13) εἰς ἐκεῖνον τὸν φίλον σου ποὺ ἔχεις εἰς τὴν Σμύρνην (1695, Ioannina, MICHAELARIS 1976: 1, 250.14)

ἀπού

In this form, the initial /o/ was deleted, according to the vowel hierarchy, when preceded by a word ending in /a/; this final /a/ was reanalysed as the initial vowel of the following word (for the phenomenon see I, 2.6.1.2), and the form ἀπού (sometimes written as ἀπού by editors) was subsequently lexicalized. The form is attested from the 14th c. onwards. It is frequent in Crete, Cythera, Cyprus and Rhodes (areas which retain this form into the modern period, cf. KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ὀπου), though always in variation with ὀπού and πού. It is occasionally found in texts from central and northern areas, or of unknown geographical provenance.

- ἀπού δὲν εἶναι (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.5) διὰ τὰ δουκάτα ἀπού ἀπομένου (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.16) ἅπασα χάριταν ἀπού ἔλαβεν (1491, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1991: 1, 233.13) τοῦτον ἀπού σοῦ λέγω Anak. Konst. 92 τοῦ σκλάβου, ... ἀπού κροῦ οὐ δέρνει Assizes A 154.1 τοὺς ἀνθρώπους ἀπού ἐσκοτώθησαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 10 πιστεύουν τα λόγια ἐκείνους ἀπού τον μισοῦν VOUSTR., Chron. A 30.14 ἀπού ῥισε LIMEN., Than. Rod. 308 ἐσοῦ Πλάστη, ἀπού ἔχεις ἐξουσίαν Cypr. Canz. 26.13 εἰς τὸ ἀνωθεν μοναστήριον ἀπού θε νὰ κτίσης (1590, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 6, 30.17) τὰ σκρίτα ἀπού τοῦ ἔχει κατωμένα (1597, Crete, EVANGELATOS 2000: 23, 57.4) τὲς μεγάλες προβεζιόνες ἀπού ἔκαμε ἡ ἀφεντία σου (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 146.11)

ὁ βασιλῖος ἀπού ᾿τονε στὴ Πώμη P&N Diath. 2126 ἀπού ᾿ρχουμου στοῦ Ἀβραάμ νά πῶ Thysia Avr. 1071 τὴ φχαριστιά, βοσκέ, τὴν τόση, | ἀπού μιλεῖς Vosk. 86 καὶ τ᾽ ἄλλον, ἀπού πόμεινε CHORTATISIS, Erot. II.155 τὴ στέρνας, ἀπού ἦτονε (1664, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 7, 416.9) τὸ δέσιμο ἀπού ἔχον (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 8, f.43v.3) ἀπού ᾿ταν σελ᾿νιασμένος (17th c.?, Meteora, VEIS 1984: 110, f.62v.7)

ὀπό/ἀπό/πό

These are not authentic forms; they originate from cases where crasis has taken place, i.e. where a word with final /u/ (in this case ὀπού) came into contact with a word beginning with /e/ (for the phenomenon see I, 2.9.5).

ὀπᾷχει πόθον καὶ φιλίαν ἄς τρέχη εἰς τὸν μάντην Liv. V 488 ὀπᾷχει κόκκινον ὀμπρός Poulol. 336 ὁ Ἑρωτας ὀπᾷχει τόση χάρη FALIEROS, Erot. En. 42 ἐμέναν τί μὲ θέλουσιν, ἀνθρωπον τυφλωμένον, | ὀπᾷ τὸ φῶς μου σκοτεινὸν καὶ καταδικασμένον; Velis. p 685–6 σὰν τράγον μεγαλόκερον ὀπᾷ με τὲς γίδες Alex. Rim. 112 τὸν ἱμπέριον ὀπᾷγινε γαμπρός του Imb. Rim. 506 ἐλευθέρωσε τὸ αὐτὸ πάττο ὀπό ᾿παρνε (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 41, 83.)
 τοῦ ὀμπλεγάρω τ᾽ ἀμπέλι ὀπᾷ στὴν Ἄπη (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 683, 593.4) διὰ νὰ μὴ ξεπέσουσιν ἀπὸ τὸν βίον ἀπᾷχουν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 169 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: ἀπῶ ᾿χουν)

τὸν Καίσαρη, ἀπᾷναι βασιλῖος μας P&N Diath. 3437 δεῖ θέλετε τὴ μπόρεσην ἀπᾷχου τ᾽ ἄρματά μου CHORTATISIS, Erot. Interm. III.85 ἀπὸ ἐκεῖνα ἀπᾷχω ὀρδινιασμένα (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 57.297) στὴν ἄλλη ἀπᾷρθη νὰ τὸ πῇ Stathis II. 191; ἐτούτῃ ἀπᾷρχεται ἔδεπα ibid. II. 223 τὴν βασιλείαν πᾷχεις Ptochol. A 251 ἀπὸ τὸν τόσον τὸν καιρὸν πᾷχει στὴν ξενιτεία Imb. Rim. 287 μὰ τὰ τραγούδια πᾷλεγε κι ὀπού χαρὰ μοῦ φέρνα KORNAROS, Erot. I 1019

In a handful of instances, an independent form ὀπό was created by the scribe or editor, e.g. μία γυναῖκα ὀπῶ ἔχει ἄνδραν Assizes A 140.31–2.⁹⁵

Usage

As a relative complementizer, ὀπού/πού/ἀπού introduces both definite and indefinite (headless) clauses:

εἰς τὸν μέγαν λίθον ὀπού εἶναι εἰς τὴν ὁδὸν ὀπού ὑπάγει εἰς τὸ Ἀδριανὸν (1143, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 6, 559.23) τὸν μισθαργὸν τοῦ κηπουροῦ, τοῦτον ὀπού σκαλίζει [ANDR. PALAIOI.], Kallim. 2213 ὁ ἄντρας τῆς ὀπού ἔναι σκλάβος (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.19) οἱ σκύλοι ἀπού τοῦ κρούγασι P&N Diath. 3366 τὸ μισὸν ἀδεροφοίρι ἀπού τοῦ τοκάρει (1607, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 468, 425.6)

⁹⁵ The same explanation has been given for the few cases of ὀπό attested in MG dialects (NICHOLAS 1998a: 527–9).

ἀνάθεμαν τὰ γράμματα, Χριστέ, καὶ ὅπου τὰ θέλει Ptoch. III 85 ὅπου ποθεῖ ἄς μὲ θωρή καὶ ὅπου πάσχει ἄς βλέπη | καὶ πάλιν ὅπου θλίβεται ἄς κλίνη πρὸς ἑμένα Liv. V 396–7
 ὅπου φυλάγει τὰ ροῦχα του ἔχει τὰ ῥμισά Paroim. (Warner) 106.15

The pronoun ὅπου is occasionally complemented by a resumptive clitic, especially when its syntactic role within the relative clause is not immediately obvious, i.e. when ὅπου relativizes not the subject or direct object, but syntactic roles such as that of possessive genitive, indirect object etc., as well as in non-restrictive relative clauses (BAKKER 1974: 60):

τοὺς τόπους ὅπου ἐπρονοιάστησαν νὰ τους ἔχουν κερδίσει Chron. Mor. H 2020 ἐκείνου, ὅπου ἔκοπεν ὁ Πάρις τὸ ὄφθιν του Byz. Il. 226 ἡ ἀφεντιά σου ὅπου σοῦ ἐχάρισεν ὁ θεὸς τὸν νοῦν καθαρὸν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 254.6
 Δάρειος ἔναι ἐδῶ θαμμένος, | ὅπου τὸν ἐσκοτώσασι Alex. Rim. 1464 εἰς ἓνα τόπον ὅπου τὸν ὀνομάζαν Φωκίδα Vios Aisop. D 241.19

5.9.1.2 τόν, τήν, τό

MedG and EMG possess an inflected relative pronoun which is morphologically identical with the definite article. Its inflection is defective, in that it encompasses only the forms of the article beginning with a consonant (i.e. /t/), and therefore the masculine and feminine nominative singular and plural do not exist.⁹⁶

The article as relative pronoun appears already in AG, in Homer, Herodotus and in the Aeolic, Doric and Arcado-Cypriot dialects, as well as in Attic poetry (termed “post-positive article” in older literature). It is etymologically unrelated to the relative pronoun ὅς, ἥ, ὅ, and owes its existence to analogy, originating from the homophony of definite article and relative pronoun in the masc. and fem. nom. sg. and pl. (DIETERICH 1898: 198; SCHWYZER/DEBRUNNER 1950: 642.7; SIHLER 1995: 400). In the (non-poetic) Attic dialect, it appears in the 4th c. BC, albeit extremely rarely, in low-register inscriptions, and only in the case-forms beginning with /t/ (BAKKER 1974: 95; THREATTE 1996: 331–2). In the Koine, especially in Roman times, its use increases sharply, though again only in low-register papyri; it is absent from the New Testament and middle-register prose. A probable cause for this preference is the weakening and loss of the initial /h/ (the rough breathing) of the relative pronoun ὅς, ἥ, ὅ, and the consequent necessity for “reinforced” forms (GIGNAC 1981: 179; MANOLESSOU 2004: 6; HORROCKS 2010: 186, 295).

⁹⁶ Although the relative τόν, τήν, τό does not normally have masc. and fem. nom. forms, at least one example has been located: ὥσπου μὲ βλέπ’ ἡ ἀγαπῶ, | τὰ πάθη μου πιντώννουνται Cypr. Canz. 139.1–2. This is supported by data from Modern Cypriot, in which nom. forms appear very occasionally in folk poetry (MENARDOS 1969: 64–5; ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1922: 192–3, n. 1). This construction has, unnecessarily, been analysed as a definite article ἡ modifying a fem. noun «αγαπῶ» in KRIARAS, Lex. s.v., probably due to the fact that in MG dialects a noun ὁ ἀγαπῶς, bearing an inflectional suffix -ς, later developed on the basis of such relative clauses (ILNE s.v.). A further, dubious example of a masc. nom. pl. can be found in the Chronicle of Morea: οἱ δὲ πιαστοῦν εἰς πόλεμον ἐλεημοσύνη οὐ μὴ εὔρουν Chron. Mor. H 1495 (similarly in ms P), where, however, the form can be interpreted as οἱ, the nom. pl. of the relative pronoun ὅς, if not as a scribal error for εἰ δέ.

In EMedG the relative pronoun τόν, τήν, τό is consistently attested in chronicles and hagiographical texts, but with low frequency (JANNARIS 1897: §1438; DIETERICH 1898: 198–9; PSALTES 1913: 197–8; BAKKER 1974: 96, all with ample documentation). Characteristic examples: μή δείρης τὰ παιδία τὰ φιλῶ Leontius of Neapolis, Life of Symeon the Holy Fool 85.6 (ed. Festugière–Rydén); καί τὰ ἕξ νομίσματα τὰ ἔπεμψες POxy 1862.26 (7th c.).

During the LMedG period, on the contrary, the pronoun is very frequent in lower-register texts, and has been claimed to be “the commonest form of the relative pronoun” (BROWNING ²1983: 62; CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1990/91: 32; cf. also MINAS ²2003: 102). Within this period the earliest attestations come from late 11th-c. S. Italian documents.

After the 16th c., its frequency declines, although it continues to be attested throughout EMG (BAKKER 1974: 68–9, with statistics for Cretan literature), notably in headless clauses. The reasons behind this decline are to be found in its restricted range of uses (see below), as well as in its homonymy with the 3rd-person clitic personal pronoun, which must have resulted in ambiguity in many syntactic environments (CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1990/91: 37–8; MANOLESSOU 2004: 6–7).⁹⁷

The inflection of the relative pronoun τόν, τήν, τό is identical to that of the oblique cases of the definite article (see 5.2.1). It presents much less variation because some case-forms are rarely attested (gen. sg. and pl.), but also because it is much less common after the 16th c., which leaves little opportunity for the adoption of forms with regional/dialectal features. As can be expected for such short forms, morphological variation is very limited, and is attested in EMG only in the acc. sg. masc. and fem. More specifically:

- a) Deletion of final /n/ is possible, although rarely recorded, e.g. καί τῇ θυσίᾳ τῇ μελετῶ ἀκάμωτῇ ν' ἀφήσω Thysia Avr. 728.
- b) Addition of final /e/ is recorded for the masc. and fem. acc. sg., e.g. νὰ ἔλθῃ ὁ μητροπολίτης, | ἐκεῖνος, τόνε λέγουσιν ὁ τῆς Παλαιᾶς Πάτρας Chron. Mor. H 2684; αὐτήν, τήνε θωρεῖς ἐδῶ μοῦ 'δῶκασι CHOUNNOS, Kosmog. 710; τῇ στράτῃ τήνε πᾶμε Thysia Avr. 755. At least some of such constructions could be interpreted as involving an extension of the verbal augment to the present stem of the verb, rather than an addition of final /e/ to a pronominal form (see I, 2.6.3).

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	—	—	τό
Gen.	(τοῦ)	τῆς	τοῦ
Acc.	τόν(ε)	τήν(ν) (τήνε)	τό

⁹⁷ It is worth noting that it has disappeared from SMG, but is retained in some MG dialects, either as a marginal relic (Cretan, Cypriot, Dodecanesian) or as a main relativizer (Pontic, Cappadocian, Mariupolitan), in some dialects having become uninflected (cf. CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1990/91: 32; NICHOLAS 1998a: 346; LIOSIS/KRIKI 2013: 247–50; LIOSIS/KRIKI 2014: 897).

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Plural
Nom.	—	—	τά
Gen.	(τῶν)	τῶν	τῶν
Acc.	τούς ἢ τσί	τάς ἢ τές ἢ τσί	τά

Singular

Masculine Accusative

General
τόν

οὐκ εἶμαι ἐγὼ τὸν λέγεις GLYKAS, Stichoi 541 ἐγὼ εἶμαι ὁ Χρόνος, ἀδελφέ, τὸν ὑποτάσσει ἡ Τύχη Log. parag. L 106 φίλε τὸν οὐκ ἐγνώρισα, δοῦλε μου τὸν οὐκ οἶδα Liv. α 1701; τὸν ἐγκάρδιον φίλον, | τὸν εἶχα εἰς τάς ὁδύνας μου συμποθοπονετὴν μου ibid. 4486–7 τὸν ὄρκον τὸν μ' ἐποίκες Katal. 24 (Panayotopoulou) ἐτοῦτον τὸν νικήσαμεν, λέγω τὸν βασιλέα Achil. N 1118 τὸν τόπον, τὸν ἐκράτειε Chron. Mor. P 2558; διὰ τὸν φόβον τὸν εἶχασιν ibid. 8085 τὸν γὰρ ἐνίκησατε προχτές τὸν μέγαν βασιλέαν Achil. O 397 οὐαὶ τὸν βάλουν εἰς τὴν γῆν καὶ τὸν σκεπάσῃ χῶμα! BERGADIS, Apok. A 164 ἐμέν, τὸν βλέπεις, λέγει μου, τὸν μαυροαραχνιασμένον Om. Nekt. Vas. 29 τὸν γράφη ἡ τύχη μελανόν ὁ χρόνος οὐ λευκαίνει Diig. Alex. Sem. S 197 εἰς σπιτότοπο τὸν ἔχει (1664, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 31, 36.2)

Feminine Genitive

General
τῆς

περὶ τῆς ζημίας τῆς λαμβάνει κανεὶς ἄνθρωπος Assizes B 260.6; περὶ τῆς ἐτέρας τιμωρίας τῆς ἐτοιμάζεται τῆς χήρας ibid. 261.4

Feminine Accusative

General
τή(ν)

τὴν ἀγίαν αὐτὴν ἀφιέρωσιν τὴν ἐγὼ ἡφιέρωσαν (1108, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 17, 218.86) τὴν θάλασσαν τὴν με ἔφερες, γνωρίζεις, ἔπαρέ τὴν Ptoch. I 57 τὴν ἀνδρειὰν τὴν περισσὴν τὴν ὁ Θεὸς μοῦ ἐδῶκεν Dig. E 1396 τὴν κάκιστον βουλὴν τὴν εἶχε πρὸς ἐκείνον Pol. Tr. 87 app. crit. (A) τὴν δύναμιν τὴν ἔχει Achil. N 3 τὴν ἐξουσίαν τὴν ἔχουν Assizes A 29.8

τὴν παιδείουσιν, τὴν φρόνεσιν τὴν ἔχετε εἰς τὸν κόσμον Synax. gadar. 28 αὐτοῦνην, τὴν ἐπότηαξες με τοῦ Θεοῦ τὴν χάριν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1631 περὶ τῆς ἀναλώσεως καὶ τῆς αἰχμαλωσίας | τὴν ἐποίησαν εἰς αὐτὴν Analos. Ath. 15 πᾶσαν μου ἄλλην διαθήκην, τὴν ἐποίησα (1523, Cyprus, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1894: III, 259.8)
 τὴν ἀγορὰν τὴν ἔχει ὁ Στέφανος εἰς τὸν Καμιναρὰν (1608, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 12, 90.13)
 τὴ ζωὴ τὴ χάνεις Thysia Avr. 849

Neuter Nominative

General
τό

τὸ συνόριον ... τὸ ἐστὶν ἀναμεταξὺ (1118, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 85, 112.22) τὸ ἀνάμοιρόν μου χωράφιον, τὸ ἐπῆλθεν μοι ἐκ τοῦ κοινοῦ ἡμῶν πατρός (1183, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 10, 58.8) τὸ κομμάτιν, τὸ ἀποσυνοριάζει τὸ Σανογιανίτικον (ca. 1260, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/ΒΕΝΕΧΕΝΙΤΣΧ 1927: 21, 9.2) βλέπουν οἱ Τοῦρκοι θέαμαν τὸ γίνεται εἰς αὐτοὺς PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 204 τὸ θαῦμαν τὸ ἐγένετο εἰς ὅλον τὸν λαόν του Achil. N 635 τὸ δακτυλίδιν | τὸ ἐνέκρωσεν τὸν Λίβιστρον Liv. S 1757–8 τὸ κότεργον τὸ ἐστράφη ἀπὸ τὴν Γένουβαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 148.35

Neuter Genitive

General
τοῦ

τὸν καιρὸν τοῦ τερμένου τοῦ συνεβάσθησαν Assizes A 63.13

Neuter Accusative

General
τό

ἐκ τὸ χωράφιον τὸ λέγει ἡ ἡγουμένη (1095, S. Italy/Sicily?, GUILLOU 1963: 2, 50.19) τοῦ πράγματος τὸ οἰκοδόμησα (1138?, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 14, 102.10) τί λέγετε πρὸς τοῦτο τὸ μᾶς εἶπον Spaneas P 212 καὶ νὰ χορταίνης τὸ ψωμίν, τὸ ἐπιθυμεῖς, ὡς λέγεις Ptoch. III 213 στὸ μοναστήρι ἐκέينو, | τὸ ἐκάψαν τότε οἱ Ρωμᾶιοι Chron. Mor. H 4795 δηλόθυρον μεταξὺ τὸν τὸ ἔδωκεν (1442, Belgrade region/Serbia, ALEXOULIS 1892: 2, 280.14) τὸ γονικὸν τὸ ἔχω εἰς τὴν Γεμουράν, τὸ ἔχω με τὸν Καζόννη (1482, Pontos, ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015: 7, 16.8)
 κοντάριν τοῦ πατρός σου, | τὸ ἄρπαξεν ὁ κύρης σου ἐκ τὴν Βαβυλωνίαν Arm. 11 καὶ τὸ πεθύμαν εἰς καιροὺς εἰς μίαν ὥραν τὸ ποῖκε Rim. kor. A 152 τό μάθει ἀπὸ μικρὸς κιανεῖς ποτέ δεν το ξεχάνει CHORTATIS, Panor. I.258 ἴντά 'ναι τοῦτο τ' ὅρισε ἐδὰ στὰ γερατεῖά μου; Thysia Avr. 34 τὸ βούδι τὸ φαρὸ τὸ ἀγόρασε ὁ Πέτρος (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 68, 33) καὶ πρόσταζε τὸ πεθυμᾶς KONDAR., Paides 100 μπορεῖς νὰ κάμῃς εἰς ἐμὲ τὸ βούλεται ἡ καρδιά σου KORNAPOS, Erot. IV.417

Plural

Masculine Accusative

General	Restricted
τούς	τσί

διὰ ὅλους ἐκείνους τοὺς μισᾷ Assizes B 446.25 νὰ συμπονῇς τοὺς ἔφλεξεν ἡ φλόγα τῆς ἀγάπης Liv. S 335 τοὺς φύλακας τοὺς εἶδεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 908 τοὺς δώδεκα νεώτερους τοὺς θέλω ἐξεχωρίσει Achil. O 131 ζώντα σας ἐλογίζονται ἄλλους τοὺς ἡγαποῦσαν BERGADIS, Apok. A 177 ποιοὶ ἔναι τσι βλέπω σκοτεινά, με διχωστὰς φωτῖα P&N Diath. 197

Feminine Genitive

General
τῶν

τῶν δωρεῶν τῶν δίδει Assizes A 15.12

Feminine Accusative

General	Rare
τές	τάς ἢ τσί

In the fem. acc. pl. the standard form is τές with occasional attestations of hypercorrective τάς, e.g. περὶ τῶν χηνῶν ... τὰς κλέπτουν Assizes A 20.25; τὰς ἡμέρας τὰς διδοῖ ἡ αὐλή ibid. 87.10; ἀνδραγαθίς τὰς ἔποικεν Velis. χ 121; τὰς τρίχας ... τὰς κεκαρμένας ἔχω [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1506. In addition, very limited instances of the dialectal τσί can be found in works of Cretan literature.

τὰς τοῦ Κουρτζάνου ἐλαίας, ὁμοίως καὶ τές ἔχω πλησίον (1138?, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 14, 102.26) τὰς ἰδικάς μου συμφορὰς τὰς ἀνυπομονήτους, | τὰς ἔπαθα, τὰς ἤκουσα, τὰς εἶδα, τὰς αἰστάνθην Liv. α 3259–60 ἀνδραγαθίς τὰς ἔποικεν Velis. χ 121 (ms N) ἀνδραγαθίς τές ἔποικεν Velis. χ 121 app. crit. (V) τές κάλτσες τές φορῶ Poulol. 188 app. crit. (A) τές χώρες τές ἐκράτει Achil. O 195 τές θλίψες τές εἰς ἐμέναν ἔφερον DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 372 οἱ δουλείες τές ἐποίκεν εἰσές VOUSTR., Chron. A 60.5–6 καὶ ἄλλες χρεῖες τές χρειάζουνταν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 323 τές δύνάμες τές ἔχει ὁ παμπόνηρος (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 401.4) τσὶ ἁμαρτίες τσι κάμαμε P&N Diath. 731

Neuter Nominative

General
τά

καί λέγω τά οὐκ ἐνδέχονται καί τά με οὐδέν ἀρμόζουν; GLYKAS, Stichoi 294 τά δύο καρδία, τά στήκουν εἰς τὸ χωράφιον, τὰ ἐπώλησα τὴν Φώτα, νὰ ἔχη καί αὐτά (ca.
 1275 [later copy], Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 75, 44.9) τά βιβλία τά εὐρίσκονται εἰς τὸν ναόν (1363, Cyprus, COUROPOU/GÉHIN 2001: 3, 157.1) τά ἐνι τῆς ρηγικῆς αὐλῆς νὰ δοθοῦν εἰς τὴν ρηγικὴν αὐλὴν Assizes A 32.8
 τά κάστρο, τὰ ἐνι στὰ Σκορτά, Chron. Mor. P 8191 τὰ μέλλουν θέλουν γένη Byz. Il. 773 λείψανα τὰ εὐρίσκονται MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 24.6–7 τὰ κρύβονται ἐφανήκανε, τὰ γύρευα εὐρεθῆκα KORNAOS, Erot. I.1513

Neuter Genitive

General
τῶν

τῶν χωραφίων τῶν ἔχεις (1159, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 30, 168.5) δείχνουν καλὴ μούστρα ἐκείνων τῶν θέλου νὰ πουλήσουν Assizes B 251.30

Neuter Accusative

General
τά

τὰ χοιρίδια τὰ ἐκλέψασιν ἐκ τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1133, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 113, 151.25) ἀλλάξεις δὲ καί τὰ φορεῖς Dig. G IV.206 τὰ λουτρικά τὰ μ' ἔποικες Ptoch. I 62
 νὰ ποδοπεριτρέχη, | ὅρη τὰ οὐκ ἦτον δυνατὸς κανεῖς νὰ περπατήση Log. parig. L 42 τὰ βιβλία τὰ ἔχω εἰς ταῦτα (1417, Crete, LAMBROS 1895: 1, 585.3) τὰ ὀρίζες ἐγίνονται, τὰ ἤθελες ἐποιοῦν Dig. E 358 σαλὰ ρωτήματα τὰ ἔχουν οἱ ἀνδρειωμένοι Arm. 59 τὰ ρ' δοκάτα ... τὰ θέλει νὰ πλερώση (1468, Nicosia, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 50, 27.2) τὰ ἐπτὰ μουσάφια τὰ κρατοῦμεν (1478–9, Constantinople, GILLILAND WRIGHT/MACKAY 2007: 269.4) αὐτὰ ἦσαν τὰ με ἔταζες Achil. N 1696 καί τὰ φέρεῖ ὁ καιρὸς καὶ ὁ χρόνος εἰς τὸν ἄνθρωπον, πρέπει νὰ τὰ ὑπομένῃ ἀνδρείως Vios Aisop. E 287.27 καί τὰ ὀηγάτον πασαεῖς ἦσαν με λόγια ἑβραϊκά FALIEROS, Thrinios 6 καί τὰ ἐπῆραν ἀπ' ἐδῶ ὁ καθεὶς βασταίνει GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 485 καί εἰς τὰ περιλάβη σιγουριτὰ καὶ ἀναύπασι νὰ κάνη (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 285, 400.6) τὴ βιά μου καὶ τὴ σπούδα μου καὶ τὰ ἔχω στὴν καρδιά μου Thysia Avr. 249 τί νὰι τὰ λόγια τὰ λαλεῖς VEST., Prol. Theot. 21 εἶπασι τοῦ Ρωτόκριτου τὰ πέν ἡ φλακισμένη KORNAOS, Erot. V.380

Uninflected Form τό

There is limited LMedG evidence that the relative τόν, τήν, τό tends to become uninflected and to appear as a non-agreeing form τό, irrespective of gender, number and case. This involves attestations both from literary texts (LIOSIS/KRIKI 2014: 897)⁹⁸ and from the body of Pontic documents of the Vazelon monastery (whose precise dating is doubtful, as they are mostly preserved in later copies). This evolution is confirmed by modern data from the Pontic and Cappadocian dialects (DAWKINS 1916: 127; ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΙΣ 1958: 243–4; NICHOLAS 1998a: 506, 513–21; LIOSIS/KRIKI 2013: 248; LIOSIS/KRIKI 2014: 897). Obviously this parallels the uninflected relative use of όπου/πού (5.9.1.1), ο (5.9.1.4), οπερ (5.9.1.5) and ογοιον (5.9.2.3).

κι ἀπό τῆς τόσης παραχῆς, τὸ ἔκαμναν οἱ Ρωμαῖοι Chron. Mor. H 5385 καὶ νὰ κρατεῖ τὸν τόπον του, τὸ ἦτον γονικόν του Chron. Toc. 3580

τὴν ἀνθρωπίαν καὶ τὴν στρατείαν τόσην τὸ νὰ τοῦ μένη Chron. Mor. P 1646; ἔδε ἀμαρτία, τὸ ἔγινεν, τὸ πρέπει νὰ λυποῦνται ibid. 7807 ὁ κῆπος, τὸ ἔλαχέ με (1260, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 79, 47.35–6); τὸν τόπον, τὸ ἔχω (ibid. 79, 47.32); μὰ τὸν θάνατον, τὸ μέλλω δώσειν (1291, ibid. 78, 46.19);

τὸν τόπον, τὸ εἶχαμεν (1344, ibid. 99, 57.3)

Use of the Genitive

The appearance of this pronoun in the genitive case is extremely rare. In most instances the genitive case is due to the phenomenon of relative attraction, i.e. the relative pronoun appears in the case-form required by the syntax of the main clause, instead of the case-form required by the relative clause, as if it were attracted by the case of the word to which it refers.

Indirect Object or Adnominal Genitive ἐὰν οὖν βουλευθῶ κινηθῆναι εἰς ἐναντίωσιν τοῦ ἠθελὲς κάμειν (1359, Crete, MERTZIOS 1967: [1], 267.24–5) τοιοῦτον πρᾶγμαν ἐνὶ τὸ ἡμπορεῖ ὁ ἀνθρωπος νὰ δώσῃ ἐκείνου τοῦ ἄλλου τοῦ χρεωστεῖ Assizes A 157.1

Relative Attraction

ἡμεροδενδρίων τῶν ἔχομεν (1053, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 22, 101.10) τῶν πραγμάτων τῶν ρίπτουσιν Assizes B 252.11

τῶν πραγμάτων τῶν παραδίδει Assizes A 79.26

Usage

The pronoun τόν, τήν, τό has a restricted function (BAKKER 1974: 63–8; MANOLESSOU 2004: 6–7): it cannot relativize the nominative case except in the neuter gender (due to the gap in its paradigm), while its presence in non-restrictive relative clauses is very rare. The overwhelming majority of its attestations concern the relativization of the direct object, and, less commonly, of the indirect object or the possessive genitive and of prepositional phrases.

⁹⁸ One of the examples adduced in LIOSIS/KRIKI 2014, namely 3c πράγματα κ' ὑπόθεσες τὸ οὐδὲν σ' ἐμὲ τυχαῖνον Chron. Mor. H 4176, is a misreading, as both the manuscript and the standard edition by J. Schmitt read τὰ οὐδέν.

Subject

τοῦ χωραφίου τὸ κέϊται ἐπικάτω τὴν φόσσαν (1123, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 93, 122.5) ἐρημάμπελον ... τὸ ἐάθη πρὸς τὴν ρηθείσαν μονὴν (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.15) εἰσὶν τὰ βιβλίβλια τὰ εὗρισκουνται εἰς τὸν ναὸν (1363, Cyprus, COUROPOU/GÉHIN 2001: 3, 158.1)
 μανθάνουσι τὰ πράγματα τὰ ἐδιάβησαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.15–16

Direct Object

τὸ δὲ ὀσπίτιν τὸ ἔχω (11th c.?, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1982: 1, 10.18) τὸ δακτυλίδιν τὸ φορεῖς Dig. E 473; τὰ φουσάτα του τὰ θέλω πολεμήσει ibid. 1503 τὸ μανδί μου τὸ φορῶ Poulol. 191 καὶ ἀπὸ τὸ μαντεύομαι ἄλλο δὲ θέλει γένει Pol. Tr. 1613 app. crit. (A) ἔν πριβελέγγιον φραγγιτάδες, τὸ ἐποίησεν ὁ μακαρίτης (1437, Athens, BUCHON 1843: 71, 297.2)
 υἱὸν τὸν οὐκ ἐγέννησεν ἄλλη Achil. N 79 τὸ σεντουκόπουλο τὸ ρίξαν ἐν θαλάσση Byz. Il. 123 κατὰ τὸ λαλεῖ ὁ Ἀριστοτέλης Fior 74.28 σ' ἐκεῖνα τὰ ἐλόγιαζεν MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 160 τὰ χωράφια τὰ ἔχει (1649, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 15, 27.7)

Prepositional Phrases

τὸ μερτικόν μου ἀπαὶ τὸ σοῦ εἶμαι ἐνκυτῆς Assizes B 311.24–5 τὸ κερὶ ἔκανε λαλιά στὰ θέλει νὰ ῥδινιάζη Alex. Rim. 16
 εἰς τὰ τοῦ ἡφταισα (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 48.24)

The relative τόν, τήν, τό usually introduces restrictive relative clauses; nevertheless examples of non-restrictive use are also to be found, at least until the 16th c., e.g.:

τὸ ἔπαινος τοῦ κόσμου, | τὸ ἀγαποῦσιν οἱ ἅπαντες ὁποῦ ἄρματα βαστοῦσιν Chron. Mor. H 3985
 ἔχω καὶ δάον ἔμορφον καὶ πρέπει εἰς τὴν κερά μου, | τὸ ἀκόμη οὐκ ἐφάνηκεν ἄλλον ὥσαν ἐτοῦτον Liv. V 2327
 καὶ τὸν υἱό μου στὸ σταυρὸ τὸν ἔχουν λυπηθῆτε FALIEROS, Thrinos 13
 Μερκούρης δὲ ὁ θαυμαστὸς ἐστέκετον στὴν μέσην, | τὸν δὲν ἐμπόρεσε τινὰς ὡς πρέπει νὰ παινέσει KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua IX.162 ἔναν κοντάριν ἦτονε ... τὸ οὐκ ἐφάνηκεν ποσῶς ἄλλον ὥσαν ἐκείνον Imb. Rim. 372

The relative τόν, τήν, τό introduces both headed and headless relative clauses. The first use seems to decrease after the 16th c., whereas the second remains in more regular use.

τὸ φέγγος τὸ ἐπάντεχε Pol. Tr. 429 app. crit. (A) τὰ ἀνομήματα, τὰ κάμνουν SKLAVOS, Symf. 18 τὸ φαγὶ τὸ τρώσι οἱ προκομμένοι KONDAR., Paidēs 293–4 γράφειν σε τὰ παθάνω Spaneas V 26 τὸ δοκεῖς καὶ βούλεσαι μὴ γένοιτο ψυχὴ μου Dig. G II.126 καὶ τὰ ὀριζες ἐγίνονται, τὰ ἠθελὲς ἐποίουν Dig. E 358 νὰ γράψω τὰ παθάνουσι Peri xen. 7 ἐγὼ εἶμαι τὸν κενοδοξεῖς Achil. N 1069 ἄκο τοῖνυν δέσποτά μου τὸ σὲ θέλω ἀναφέρει Ptochol. α 629 ποῖσε τὸ θέλεις, ποῖσε το [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1064 γράφω σε στίχους ἐκλεκτοῦς, στίχους ἐκ τοῦς ἡγάπας Spaneas D 55 ποίησον τὸ θέλεις SFRANTZIS, Chron. 84.23; ἤκουσας τὸ σᾶς προστάττω ibid. 32.16 τὸ ἔσπειρεν θέλει θερίσειν Pist. kekoim. 65

Since the relative pronoun τόν, τήν, τό inflects, and since its most frequent function is the restrictive relativization of the direct object, the presence of a resumptive clitic is not necessary for disambiguation. As a result very few such examples have been located (BAKKER 1974: 67–8); see characteristically: τὸν οὐκ ἐφθάσαν τον ποτὲ τὰ βέλη τῶν Ἑρώτων, | μυριοχιλιοκατάδαρτον εὐθύς νὰ τὸν ποιήσουν Velth. 259.

5.9.1.3 ὁποῖος, ὁ ποῖος, ὁ ὁποῖος, ὁ ὅποιος

The relative pronoun ὁποῖος/ὁ ποῖος/ὁ ὁποῖος/ὁ ὅποιος has a very complex history and textual tradition. The AG relative pronoun ὁποῖος (“of such a kind as”) continues to be used as an archaic linguistic feature and becomes partially merged with the innovative definite relative pronoun ὁ ποῖος/ὁ ὁποῖος in form and function. The provenance of the latter is a highly disputed issue (see NICHOLAS 1998b: 308–11 and MANOLESSOU 2008b, with an overview of the literature). Ὁ ποῖος/ὁ ὁποῖος has been interpreted as a calque from the Romance languages (Ital. il quale, Fr. lequel), either directly (JANNARIS 1897, §612, 167–8) or as a result of partial conflation with the AG pronoun ὁποῖος (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 593–7; HORROCKS 2010: 294–5, and endorsed by standard MG dictionaries); alternatively, it has been viewed as a native evolution (MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 611–12; MEYER 1889: 171; PERNOT 1907/46: II 232–5).

The picture emerging from the examination of a much broader corpus of primary sources than hitherto available to previous scholars is set out below.

There is evidence, mainly from higher-register sources, for the gradual transition of the AG relative ὁποῖος from a qualitative relative function (“of such a kind as”) to that of a simple definite relative (“who”, “which”), probably through syntactic environments where its meaning was ambiguous:⁹⁹ εἰ μὲν γὰρ ἡ μνηστεία τοιαύτην σῶζει τὴν κατάστασιν ὁποῖαν ἐξ ἀρχῆς ἡ νυμφοστόλος παρέσχευεν Leo, Novellae 111.37 (ed. Dain–Noialles 1944) τοὺς τιμίους σταυρούς, ὁποίους ἡ τῆς ἑορτῆς τάξις ἀπαιτεῖ De ceremoniis I, 160.13 τὰ προπεφιλοτιμημένα τῷ προέδρῳ τῷ Κεφαλᾷ ἀπολαύσουσιν, ὁποῖα ἄρα διὰ τῶν προγεγονότων χρυσοβούλλων τοῦ κράτους ἡμῶν τοῖς τοιούτοις κεχάρισται (1089, Constantinople, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 49, 263.68) κατασκευάσας τοίνυν ἀκάτια ὁποῖα τὸ ὕδωρ ἐκείνης ἀνέχειν ἡδύνατο Anna Comnena, Alexiad 11.2.3

ὦ βορβωρώδης καὶ δυσοσμίας λόγος, ὁποῖος ἐκπέφευγε τῶν σῶν χειλέων. ὦ κόπρος, οἷα σῶν ὀδόντων ἐξέβη Theod. Prodromos, Hist. poems 59.205 καί τινα μικρὰ ἐλαττώματα ὁποῖα ἐπέφυκε γεννᾶν ἡ μακροχρονία, ἥτοι ἀργολογίας, εὐτραπείας Mamas Typikon 43.15 τοιοῦτον πρόσταγμα, ὁποῖον εἶπον (1196, Constantinople, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 68, 356.23) τὸν τοιοῦτον ὑδρομύλωνα καὶ ἐνεργῇ καὶ συνιστάμενον ἀποκαταστήσῃ καὶ ὁποῖος ἦν δυσόφθαλμος πρότερον (1317, Thessaloniki, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 49, 89.14)

⁹⁹ Cf. also the limited evidence for such a development provided by Hellenistic papyri (LIOSIS/KRIKI 2014: 899).

In several instances the transition seems almost complete, crucially in texts outside the sphere of Romance influence, e.g.:

καὶ τὸ φανοστεγὲς ἐκεῖνο σχεδίασμα, ὅποῖον ἦν ὑπογραφὲν τῷ τριγέροντι ἀδίκως Syropoulos, Oration to Emperor Isaac l. 70; ὁ φλογοτρόφος ἄγγελος, ὅποῖος τοῖς τῶν ἀνθρώπων πιστοῖς ἀνοίγει τῆς Ἑδῆς τὸ ὑπέρθυρον τὸ τοῦ παραδείσου, ibid. l. 102 τὰς πατρικὰς ἡμῶν ἐγγράφους τε καὶ ἀγράφους παραδόσεις, ὁποίας παρελάβομεν παρὰ τε τῶν οἰκουμενικῶν ἐπτά ἀγίων συνόδων (13th c., Constantinople, DARROUZÈS/LAURENT 1976: 1, 191.4–5)
 ἐπῆδεν ἡ κόρη | μέλος, ὅποῖον Σειρηνῶν ἢ πάντων ἀηδόνων | ὑπερέβαινεν ἡδονὴν Dig. G
 VII.162

Chatzidakis suggested that the construction ὁ ποῖος is a direct calque from Romance, formed by the definite article + the interrogative pronoun ποῖος; however, Pernot correctly observes that one need not resort to a hypothesis involving such strong Romance influence, since the change from interrogative to relative use is improbable. In this regard it is also worth pointing out that (a) in the history of the Greek language, there are few other traces of grammatical or syntactic influence of Romance on Greek, (b) almost all demonstrable loans from Romance into Greek belong to the domain of the lexicon or derivational morphology and (c) the linguistic contact between Romance and Greek was not sufficiently intense to cause adoption of a morphosyntactic pattern (on this issue see MANOLESSOU 2008b). Pernot's suggestion is that the Romance influence was limited to the segmentation of the AG relative ὁποῖος (which by this time must have acquired a definite relative function) into ὁ + ποῖος. In this respect, it is interesting that the first instances of the innovative form ὁ ποῖος come from S. Italy, where arguably Romance influence was the strongest.

Pernot's proposal is corroborated by new data. A strong indication in this direction is the parallel existence of ὁποῖος (as a simple relative) and ὁ ποῖος in S. Italy, e.g. ἡμέτερον ἀμπέλιον σὺν τὰ ἡμερόδενδρα, ὅποῖον συνορεῖται οὕτως (1204–5, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 55, 239.12); ἡ αὐτὴ ἄμπελος, ὁποία ἄμπελος [ἐστὶν] ἐλευθέρᾳ ἐκ πάσης δουλεύσεως (1401, S. Italy, MÜLLER 1868: 3, 21.27). Note that the first instance pre-dates the earliest attestation (1239) of ὁ ποῖος in S. Italy by some 30 years (for examples see below). A further argument in favour of native development is the fact that texts from certain areas (e.g. Heptanese, Peloponnese) exhibit only ὁποῖος and ὁ ὁποῖος, sometimes in the same text, without an intermediate stage ὁ ποῖος.¹⁰⁰

As far as the etymology of ὁ ὁποῖος is concerned, both Chatzidakis and Pernot agree that the second element is the AG pronoun ὁποῖος, which acquired definite relative function – a very plausible suggestion in view of the data presented above. The interpretation of the article forming a syntagm with ὁποῖος is less clear-cut: Chatzidakis considered it a feature of Romance influence, resulting from the replacement of the interrogative ποῖος by ὁποῖος in the construction ὁ ποῖος. Pernot, on the other hand, considered it a native development, resembling other relative constructions which showed innovative addition of the article such as ὁ ὅς, τὸ ὅπερ, τὰ ὅσα etc. (for these constructions see 5.9.1.5 and 5.9.2.2). The simultaneous existence of ὁ ποῖος and ὁ ὁποῖος in the same period and areas (notably Crete and Cyprus) precludes the possibility of their being independent developments, as Pernot seems to suggest. Furthermore, the probability that the same morphosyntactic construction should evolve independently in two related language families, approximately at the same period and area, and be used in almost the same syntactic environments and registers (on this issue, see below) is rather small. Therefore, ὁ ὁποῖος should also be interpreted as partially, at least, influenced by Romance in areas where the contact was more intense, probably through false segmentation of ὁποῖος as ὁ ᾿ποῖος, i.e. exhibiting the common phenomenon of initial vowel deletion, and subsequent hypercorrect “restitution” (cf. also HORROCKS 2010: 294).

¹⁰⁰ In the case of the masc. nom. sg. and neut. nom. and acc. sg. it is impossible to distinguish clearly between the variants (e.g. ὁ ὁποῖος, ὁ ποῖος, ὁποῖος), due to possible graphematic simplification and/or editorial practice regarding word division.

In terms of distribution, the use of ὁ ποῖος in S. Italy remains stable throughout the LMG period and, judging from its retention in the modern S. Italian dialects, even beyond (ROHLFS 1977: 98; NICHOLAS 1998b: 312). Outside S. Italy no evidence has been located for the 13th c., while isolated examples have been found from 14th-c. Crete and Cyprus: ἰδ' μιζούρια τὸ κριθάριν τὰ ποῖα τοῦ θέλει ὁ Μαυρομάτης (1327, Crete, LAIOU 1982: 1, 123.6); ἡ ποῖα βίβλος ἐγράφη εἰς τὸ χωρίον τὸ λεγόμενον Ἄλσος (1348, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 49, 208.4). The first known attestation of ὁ ὁποῖος comes from the 14th-c. Peloponnese: τ(ῶν) ἀνασταμ(ῶν) μου τὸν οπιον εχ(ω) / τὸν ἀνασταμόν μου τὸν ὁποῖον ἔχω (1327–8, Peloponnese, VRANOUSI 1981: B, 26.3–4).¹⁰¹ If the language of the Chronicle of Morea, as recorded in the earliest manuscript witness (ms H), can be taken as reflecting the reality of the 14th-c. Peloponnese, the variant ὁ ὅποιος also appears in the same period.

Attestations of ὁ ποῖος become more abundant in the 15th c. (primarily from Cyprus, but also from Crete and Rhodes, and in some literary texts of unknown provenance), while the use of ὁ ὁποῖος is on the rise. At the same time, the simple form ὁποῖος also persists. After the 15th c. the distribution of ὁ ποῖος and ὁ ὁποῖος seems to diverge: ὁ ποῖος recedes, while ὁ ὁποῖος becomes increasingly frequent and geographically widespread, appearing throughout the Greek-speaking areas for which there are available sources. Contrary to what is usually assumed in previous literature (BAKKER 1974: 79; NICHOLAS 1998a: 345), the use of ὁ ὁποῖος does not diminish in later periods; in fact, it becomes quite common. The development of morphological variants presenting synizesis, e.g. (ὁ) ὁποιός, suggests that to some extent the pronoun penetrated less learned registers. Nevertheless, throughout its history this pronoun remained primarily a prose element; its presence in verse texts is limited.

Sofianos makes no mention of any of the variants in the section on relative pronouns in his Grammar, but employs ὁποῖος in his metalanguage and in his literary works, e.g. τὸ ὅπου, ὁποῖον ἔναι ἢ ἄρθρον ὑποτακτικόν, ἢ ὄνομα ἀναφορικόν ἄκλιτον SOFIANOS, ¹⁰¹ Since there is no accentuation in the ms, this form could also be interpreted as ὁποιος.

Grammar 76.14, without a preceding article.¹⁰² On the other hand, the grammatical descriptions of the 17th c. include ὁποῖος/ὁ ὁποῖος in the system of vernacular relative pronouns: ὁ ὁποῖος, il quale. M. ὁ ὁποῖος, F. ἡ ὁποῖα, N. τὸ ὁποῖο GERMANO, Grammar 72.7; ὁποῖος, ὁποῖα, ὁποῖον qui, quae, quod, et correspondet articulo literali ὁς, ἡ, ὃ PORTIUS, Grammar 29.9; ὁ ὁποῖος PORTIUS, Lex. 411, s. v. qui; ὁ ὁποῖος, ἡ ὁποῖα, τὸ ὁποῖον qui, quae, quod ROMANOS, Grammar 11.24.

The diachronic overview of data offered above suggests that ὁ ὁποῖος cannot be disconnected from the native evolution of ὁποῖος, whereas ὁ ποῖος represents an alternative evolution, also descended from ὁποῖος, prevalent in certain areas only.¹⁰³

The detailed information on each variant form is given below, but it must be noted it is often difficult to assign a textual attestation to a specific variant due either to the irregularity of word division (ὁποῖος vs. ὁ ποῖος) or to the inconsistency (or absence) of accentuation in the sources, some of which may be in Latin script. It is often the case that word division or accentuation are matters of editorial choice.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	ὁποῖος ἰ ὁ ποῖος ἰ ὁ ποῖός ἰ ὁ ὁποῖος/ὁ ὁποῖός ἰ ὁ ὁποῖος	ὁποῖα ἰ ἡ ποῖα ἰ ἡ ποῖά ἰ ἡ ὁποῖα/ἡ ὁποῖά ἰ ἡ ὁποῖα	ὁποῖον ἰ τὸ ποῖο(ν) ἰ τὸ ποῖον ἰ τὸ ὁποῖο(ν)/τὸ ὁποῖό ἰ τὸ ὁποῖο(ν)
Gen.	(ὁποῖου) ἰ τοῦ ποῖου ἰ τοῦ ποῖοῦ ἰ τοῦ ὁποῖου/(τοῦ ὁποῖοῦ) ἰ τοῦ ὁποῖου	(ὁποῖας) ἰ τῆς ποῖας ἰ τῆς ὁποῖας/(τῆς ὁποῖας) ἰ (τῆς ὁποῖας)	ὁποῖου ἰ (τοῦ ποῖου) ἰ (τοῦ ποῖοῦ) ἰ τοῦ ὁποῖου/(τοῦ ὁποῖοῦ) ἰ (τοῦ ὁποῖου)
Acc.	ὁποῖον ἰ τὸν ποῖον ἰ τὸν ποῖον ἰ τὸν ὁποῖο(ν) ἰ (τὸν ὁποῖόν) ἰ τὸν ὁποῖον ἰ τὸν ὁποῖον	ὁποῖαν ἰ τὴν ποῖαν ἰ τὴν ποῖά(ν) ἰ τὴν ὁποῖα(ν)/τὴν ὁποῖά(ν) ἰ τὴν ὁποῖα(ν)	ὁποῖο(ν) ἰ τὸ ποῖο(ν) ἰ τὸ ποῖον ἰ τὸ ὁποῖο(ν)/τὸ ὁποῖό ἰ τὸ ὁποῖο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	ὁποῖοι ἰ οἱ ποῖοι ἰ οἱ ποῖοί ἰ οἱ ὁποῖοι/(οἱ ὁποῖοί) ἰ οἱ ὁποῖοι	ὁποῖες ἰ (οἱ ποῖες) ἰ οἱ ποῖές ἰ αἱ/οἱ ὁποῖες ἰ (οἱ ὁποῖές) ἰ (οἱ ὁποῖες)	ὁποῖα ἰ τὰ ποῖα ἰ τὰ ποῖά ἰ τὰ ὁποῖα/τὰ ὁποῖά ἰ τὰ ὁποῖα

¹⁰² The articular form appears only once in Sofianos: ὄνομα ἀναφορικὸν ἄκλιτον, τόποισιν λαμβάνεται εἰς κάθε γένος SOFIANOS, Grammar 76.14–15.

¹⁰³ KRIARAS, Lex. treats ὁ ποῖος under the lemma ποῖος, following the etymology of Chatzidakis.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Gen.	(ὁποίων) ἰ τῶν ποιῶν ἰ (τῶν ποιῶν) ἰ τῶν ὁποίω(ν)/(τῶν ὁποιῶν) ἰ (τῶν ὅποιων)	(ὁποίων) ἰ (τῶν ποιῶν) ἰ (τῶν ποιῶν) ἰ τῶν ὁποίω(ν)/(τῶν ὁποιῶν) ἰ (τῶν ὅποιων)	(ὁποίων) ἰ τῶν ποιῶν ἰ (τῶν ποιῶν) ἰ τῶν ὁποίω(ν)/(τῶν ὁποιῶν) ἰ (τῶν ὅποιων)
Acc.	ὁποίους ἰ τοὺς ποιούς ἰ τοὺς ποιούς ἰ τοὺς ὁποίους/(τοὺς ὁποιούς) ἰ τοὺς ὅποιους	ὁποῖες ἰ τὲς/τὰς ποίας/ ποῖες ἰ τὲς ποιές ἰ τὰς/ τὲς/τὶς ὁποίας/ὁποῖες/ (τὶς/τὲς ὁποιές) ἰ τὶς/ τὲς ὅποιες	ὁποῖα ἰ τὰ ποῖα ἰ τὰ ποιά ἰ τὰ ὁποῖα/τὰ ὁποῖά ἰ τὰ ὅποια

5.9.1.3.1 ὁποῖος

As already mentioned, the pronoun ὁποῖος in the function of a simple relative (= “who”) first appears in ambiguous contexts in the 9th c., and seems to be more stabilized by the 12th, especially in higher-register texts. In vernacular texts it is attested since the 14th c.: ἀμπέλια ἔχοντες τρία ... ὁποῖα ἀμπέλια καὶ τὸ περίβολον καὶ πᾶν ... πωλοῦμεν (1395, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 5, 181.13); τὰ πράγματα ὁποῖα θέλομεν παραλάβει (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1, 19.14). It continues to be used up to the 17th c., but with gradually diminishing frequency. It often co-exists in the same texts with ὁ ὁποῖος, especially in Crete and the Heptanese. In Cyprus, only the masc. nom. sg. form is attested¹⁰⁴ and in view of the prevalence of the variant ὁ ποῖος in this area, these attestations should also be interpreted as belonging to the latter. In general, if an author exhibits the variant ὁποῖος only in the masc. nom. sg. while the other case-forms are articular (e.g. τὸν ποῖον, τὸν ὁποῖον, ἡ ποῖα, ἡ ὁποῖα), these instances of ὁποῖος should be discounted.

Singular

Masculine Nominative

ἐναν εὐγενῇ, ὄνομα Ἰπικέρηνη, ὁποῖος ἐκατοίκησεν Chron. Toc. 835 ἦλθεν ὁ μπάιλος τῆς ὑψηλότητός σου, ὁποῖος εὐρίσκεται εἰς τὸν τόπον τῆς αὐθεντίας μου (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 6, 310.7) τὸν Βλαστόν, τὸν φατόρε μου, ὁποῖος πολλακὶς ἐκοπίασεν (1493, Venice, MALTEZOU 2004: 84.17) opios ihen pandrepsyn ii fores tin riguenan / ὁποῖος εἶχεν παντρέψειν β' φορές τὴν ρήγαιναν (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 67, f.IV.2) τὸν ροῖ Μαφρὲ ρῆγαν τῆς Σικελίας ὁποῖος ἀφέντευεν κι αὐτός Chron. Mor. P 5976 ὁ πρῶτος μάστορας ἐτούτης τῆς τέχνης τὸν ἐλέγανε Νεγρομπαττόλντο, ὁποῖος ἦτονε ἀρκιμίστας (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.8–9) ποῦ ἔχει σταυρόν, ὁποῖος ἔχει μεγάλην σφάκαν (1506, Patmos, MALTEZOU 1970: 2, 363.13) ἦτον δὲ πρεβεδόρος τὸν καιρὸν ἐκείνον ὀνόματι μισὲρ Γερόλεμο Μπερνάρδος, ὁποῖος τὸν εἶχα ἐβγάλει οἱ σύντιχοι (1513, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: (a), 217.8)

¹⁰⁴ There is a single exception from the Assizes: ν' ἀκουμπήσω τὰς καμάρας μου εἰς τὸν τοῖχον, ὁποῖας ἀκομή δείχνει φανερά Assizes A 110.22 (σπίας ms).

όποιος τόπος υπάρχει πλησίον τὸ ἕτερόν του σπίτι (1522, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 70, 99.8)

ὁ ποταμὸς ὁ πύρινος ὁ κατακεκαυμένος, ὁποῖος κατεβαίνει Spanos D 1779

ἕναν κύκλον εἰς τὸν οὐρανόν, ὁποῖος ἔδειχνε ὥσπερ μίαν κορόνα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 334.18–19

ὁ ποιητὴς ἐκεῖνος ὁποῖος εἶπεν SOFIANOS, Paidag. 95.23 καρτέρειεν τὸν σοφὸν Κουρκούτην ὥστε νᾶλθη, | ὁποῖος ἦτον γέροντας ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 293

ἐγὼ ᾿μαι ὁποῖος φανερά τὸν κόσμον διαγουμίζω P&N Diath. 9 ὁποῖος ἐπόκτησεν ἕνα χωράφιν SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 17.18 ὁποῖος Γεῶργος ὀμπλιγάρεται νὰ τὸν ἀφήσῃ νὰ σπείρῃ (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 14, 11.3) ἕνας Τοῦρκος ἀμηνᾶς ... ὁποῖος εἰς τὸ ὕστερο χριστιανὸς θὲ γένῃ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 53

ὁ παπα κύρ Δημήτρης Γρυπάρης ὁποῖος λέγει (1671, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 1313, 775.3)

Masculine Accusative

ὁποῖον τὸν ἐθέλασιν ἔχει ἀπὸ παιδίον | κλεμμένον ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1194 νὰ μαθητεύσῃ τὸν αὐτὸν Θεοδωρὴ ... ὁποῖον νὰ τὸν ἔχη μαθημένον εἰς χρόνους πέντε (1666, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 1, 144.9–10)

Feminine Nominative

ὁποῖα γραφὴ ἦτον εἰς τοὺς ,αφίγ', φλεβαρίου ιε' (1514, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1963b: 164.10)

ἡ φύσις, ὁποῖα ἔδωκε διπλᾶ βυζία τῶν γυναικῶν SOFIANOS, Paidag. 99.22

Feminine Accusative

ἡ ὥρα, ὁποῖαν ἐγὼ γινώσκω KANANOS, Diig. 246

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

ὁποῖον ἀμπέλιον καὶ πᾶν, εἴτι δίκαιον ἔχω ἐν αὐτῷ (1397, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 6, 183.5) ἐκ τοῦ ψυχικοῦ ὁποῖον τοῖς ᾤφηνεν (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1, 19.16) ἔδωσεν τὸ ἥμισυ ὀσπίτιον ἀνῶγιν καὶ κατώγιν, ὁποῖον τὸ ἔχει ἀγορά, τὸ ὁποῖον ἦτο τοῦ πατρὸς Ἀλεξίου (1447, Corfu, EFSTRATIADIS 1925: 50.3–4) πρακτικὸν τῶν ἀπογραφῶν, ὁποῖον θέλετε ἰδεῖν (1448?, Lemnos, VRANOUSI 1980: 45, 321.9) νὰ μανθάνωμεν τῶν ὑγειῶν σας, ὁποῖον ἔχωμεν ἀναγκαῖον (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 22.15)

τὸ ἀμπέλιον αὐτοῦ ὁποῖον ἔχει τὴν σήμερον (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 3, 150.3–4) τὸ ἀμπέλιον σὺν τοῦ χέρσου τόπου τοῦ εὕρισκομένου ἐκείσε, ... ὁποῖον ἐκράτει Βασίλειος ὁ Μανιταράς (1480, Methoni, GERLAND 1903: 27, 236.9) ὁποῖον ἔργον ὑπόσχονται οἱ ρηθέντες μαστόροι νὰ τὸ ἀποδώσωσιν (1498, Corfu, KARYDIS 1999b: 2, 306.15) τὸ σπίτι ὁποῖον νὰ εἶναι τῶν ἐτέρων ἀδελφῶν (1582, Kefalonia, KARYDIS 2011: 1, 102.7)

Neuter Genitive

ὁποίου βιβαρίου εἶναι τὸ ἥμισυ ἰδικόν μας (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 5, 309.10)

Plural

Masculine Nominative

τόποι ὁποῖοι σηκώνουν τὸ φλάμουλον τοῦ Ἀγίου Μάρκου (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 271.8)

τὸν παρακείμενον καὶ τὸν ὑπερσυντέλικον τῶν παθητικῶν, ὅποιοι θέλουν τὸ εἶμαι ἢ τὸ ἤμουν SOFIANOS, Grammar 54.21–2; τῶν Λακεδαιμονίων, ὅποιοι ἐζημίωσαν πολλὰ στάμενα id., Paidag. 96.10

χιλιάδες τρεῖς καὶ δέκα, | ὅποιοι στήν καρδίαν τοὺς τὸν θάνατον ἐθέκα ACHELIS, Malt. Pol.
 200; μὲ τοὺς βασιλίσκους τρεῖς ἀρχίσασιν νὰ κροῦσιν, | ὅποιοι βόλια βάνασιν λιτρῶν διακοσίων ibid. 2024; τὸ φύγι τῶν Τουρκῶν πρωτῆτερα θωροῦμεν, | ὅποιοι, σὰν ἀκούσατε, εἰς ὀρδινιὰν ἐβάναν | πόλεμον ibid. 2460

Masculine Accusative

ὁποίους αὐτὸς ἡγήσατο KANANOS, Diig. 191

Feminine Nominative

τὰς δύο σεβασμίας μονάς, τὴν Ἁγίαν Παρασκευὴν καὶ τὸν Ἅγιον Στέφανον, ὁποῖες εἰσὶν εἰς τὸ χωρίον τῶν Βαρυπατάδων (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 27, 61.13)

Feminine Accusative

καὶ τινὰς δουλείας ὁποίας θέλει δείξει πρὸς ἐσᾶς (1447, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1952: 293.4)

τὰς δὲ σκευὰς τὰς μεγίστους ἐκείνας, ὁποίας εἶχον τὰς ἐλπίδας KANANOS, Diig. 93 ἐξ ὁποίας γίνετ' ὁ λόγος SOFIANOS, Grammar 36.3

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

ἀπὸ τὰ πράγματα ὅλα, ὁποῖα ἦσαν τοῦ ποτὲ Θεοδώρου (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1, 18.9)

φλωρία χρυσὰ ὁποῖα ἔδωσα (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 57, 177.8–9) ζ, ξ, ψ, λ, μ, ν, ρ, σ, ἐξ ὁποῖα εἶναι διπλᾶ τρία, ζ, ξ, ψ SOFIANOS, Grammar 35.16–17

The variant ὅποιος with stress retraction, probably due to the analogy with ὅστις, ὅ,τι, is rare and so far attested only in the Peloponnese and Lefkada. In view of its rarity, most attestations of this variant are dubious and may be due to scribal misplacement of the accent:

ψυχικοῦ ὅποιον τοῖς ἄφηνεν (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1, 19.16) ἐπιδίδομεν ὅσπιτότοπον ἓν ... ὅποιον ὅσπιτιον ἦτον προλαβὸν τοῦ ποτὲ Μαρμάνθου (1428, Lefkada, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 12, 253.18); ὅποιον ὅσπιτοτόπιον ἡμεῖς τοὺς ἐζητήσαμεν (ibid. 12, 253.24) ὅποιον οὐ πρέπει Chron. Mor. P 2016

5.9.1.3.2 ὁ ποῖος/ὁ ποιός

The variant ὁ ποῖος is first attested in 13th-c. documents from S. Italy. For its derivation see above. In the 14th c. there are a few attestations from Cyprus and Crete, while in the 15th c. the documentation becomes richer: the form is attested in Cyprus, Rhodes, Crete; and so far a single instance has been located in a document drawn up in Constantinople. There are two instances in Digenis Akritis E, which could be attributed to the (possibly Cretan) scribe of the 15th-c. manuscript. In the 16th c. the distribution remains the same, with the addition of an isolated example from Kalymnos, although the overall frequency is receding, as the variant seems to be losing ground to ὁ ὁποῖος (especially in Crete). In view of this pattern of geographical distribution, the sporadic attestations from authors of different origin should be considered problematic. Cyprus is the only area where ὁ ποῖος is the dominant variant, and which provides sufficient documentation for all case-forms. In general, if the variant ὁ ποῖος appears only in the masc. nom. sg. in texts produced by a certain author, whereas the oblique cases all present forms such as ὁποίου, τοῦ ὁποίου, ὁποία, ἡ ὁποία etc., such masc. nom. sg. attestations should be discounted as evidence for ὁ ποῖος.¹⁰⁵

Ὁ ποῖος with synizesis is attested with certainty from the 15th c. through spellings which use <γ> to note the consonantization of the semi-vowel (see I, 2.9.4). Otherwise detection of the variant is difficult due to absence of accentuation in the manuscripts or the scribes' conservative spelling practices. For example, the manuscript of Assizes B has no accents. The only attestation so far, outside Cyprus and Crete, for forms with synizesis is a single neuter plural example from Alex. Rim.

Singular

Masculine Nominative

- το Τζουανι οπιος ιτο μετα τους / τὸ Τζουάνη ὁ ποῖος ἦτο μετά τους (1450?, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1959: 50, 42.2)
- ο πιομας εδανισε / ὁ ποῖο<ς> μᾶς ἐδάνεισε (1468, Nicosia, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 48, 26.3)
- ὁ ποῖος ἀνέστησεν (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 57.75)
- ὁ ποῖος ἄνω εἰρημένος Γεώργιος (1496, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1, 47.4)
- ἔπεπεν δούκαν ὀνόματι Ἰσάκιον, ὁ ποῖος ἦτον πόρνος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 8.40
- ο ποῖος κούντης VOUSTR., Chron. A 2.16
- ὁ ποῖος (1523, Cyprus, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1894: III, 260.8)
- ενού παιδιού, ὀνόματι Τσαρρά, ο ποῖος ἦτον καλὸς ἄνθρωπος VOUSTR., Chron. B 5.6
- ο ποῖος πάσχει ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 5.11
- ὁ ποῖος μύλος (1546, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 2, 42.10)
- ton afendi mas, ο pios me ti megalitu gnossin / τὸν ἀφέντη μας, ὁ ποῖος με τὴ μεγάλη του γνώσην BAROZZI, Letter 359.40–360.1
- ὁ ποῖος ἀγοραστής νὰ εἶναι ὀπλεγάδος (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 780, 678.13)
- ο ποῖος εἰς τὴν Καλλιπόλιν ἐξόρθωσεν τα πάντα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 2773
- ὁ πγοῖος ἦτον σοφός, δυνατός, καὶ ἔμορφος MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 678.18
- ὁ ποῖος θέλω γράψειν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 82.30–1 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari)
- ο ποῖος Καρτσεράς ἦτον βαχλιώτης VOUSTR., Chron. A 140.12
- ἦτον εἷς ἀσκητῆς ὁ ποῖος ἤθελεν ποίσειν ἐντολήν Fior 116.15
- ὁ χάρος, ὁ ποῖος ἔν κοντά μου Cyp. Canz. 14.7
- ὁποῖος πόθος σύρνει σας Pist. kekoim. 16; ἔναν μαθητὴν ἀναμελῆν, ὁποῖος ἔζησεν με τὴν ἀναμέλειαν ibid. 206
- τοῦ ὁράτου πατρός, ὁ ποῖος ἐξετάζει καρδίας (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 401.15)

Masculine Genitive

- περὶ ἐκείνου τοῦ ποῖου ἀνκάλεσεν Assizes B 456.9
- τοῦ ποῖου ἐχρωστοῦσαν SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 46 app. crit.

¹⁰⁵ For example, several documents from Mykonos exhibit ὁ ποῖος but never other case-forms: τὸν θεῖον Ἀπόστολον Παῦλον ὁποῖος βοᾷ καὶ λέγει (1666, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 7, 22.18); τοῦ Ἀνδριᾶ τοῦ Φραγκούλη, ὁ ποῖος μαρτυρᾷ εἰς τὸν ὄρκον του (1670, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 4, 15.2); ὁ ποῖος ἐρχόμενος εἰς τὴν ἀκρόασιν (1672, ibid. 5, 16.3); ὁποῖος ἀνωθεν Μάρκος λέγει (1663, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 133, 207.2); ὁ παπᾶ κύρ Δημήτρης Γρυπάρης ὁποῖος λέγει (1671, ibid. 1313, 775.3); the same applies to documents from other areas τοῦ ἀφέντη μας τοῦ ρηγός, τοῦ ποίου εἴμεσταν κρατούμενοι μὲ ὄρκον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 44.34; τοῦ ποίου ἐνέβη του μεγάλη ἀγάπη ibid. 648.6

 του ποίου ἐδώκαν του το χωριόν VOUSTR., Chron. A 198.16 ἐκεῖνος ἢ ἐκείνη τοῦ ποιοῦ ἐνὶ ἐγγυητῆς Assizes A 70.10; ἐκεῖνος, ἢ ἐκείνη, τοῦ ποιοῦ ἐνὶ ἡ γῆ, ibid. 202.20 ἐκείνου τοῦ ποιοῦ ἦτον τὰ καρτσά Fior 116. 31

Masculine Accusative

τον πιον θελομεν / τὸν ποῖον θέλομεν (1468, Nicosia, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 48, 26.2) τὸν ποῖον ἐπαράλαβμεν (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.33–4) νὰ τύχω εἰς θάνατον πικρόν, τὸν ποῖον οὐδὲν ἐλπίζω Dig. E 387 ἀπὲ τὸν ποῖον ἐλαβώθη Assizes B 341.4; εἰς τὸν τοῖχον εἰς τὸν ποῖον φαίνεται ibid. 360.31 τὸν σκλάβον σου ... τὸν ποῖον ἤκουσεν ἡ αὐθεντία σου (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 65.3) τὸν ποῖον αἰχμαλωτεύσαν οἱ κουρσάριδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 62.28 τον ποῖον ονομάζασι ὅλοι τῶς Ἵτιναγόρα Apoll. Rim. N 1334 ἔναν καρβοκυρὴν γενουβήσον, τον ποῖον εἶχεν τον πιάσειν ο ρήγας VOUSTR., Chron. A 104.8
 τὴν σιντέντσιαν ἐκείνου τοῦ μεγάλου μαστόρου τὸν ποῖον κρᾶζουν Ἄρχιτα Fior 79.26 ἐγώ, τὸμ ποῖον ἀκούσετε Cypr. Canz. 125.5 (το ms)

Feminine Nominative

τὴν ποσότην ἢ ποῖα ὑπάρχει (1257, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 33, 457.17) ἢ ποῖα ἐτάφη εἰς τὴν Σίλικον (1405, Cyprus, Darrouzès 1956: 32, 47.6) ἢ ποῖα ποτὲ οὐδὲν ἐγίνην (1440, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1995: 126, 401.11) ἢ ποῖα συμφωνία (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 55.20) ἢ ποῖα ἀγία δέσποινα Ἑλένη θωρῶντα, ἐθαυμάστην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.23; ἢ πγοῖα κυρὰ Τζουάνα εἶπεν της ibid. 18.10–11; ἢ ποῖα κλεψία τὴν ἐποῖκεν ὁ παπαῆς ibid. 62.23 ἢ ποῖα ετιμάσθηκεν δουκάτα πεντακόσια Apoll. Rim. N 724 ἢ ποῖα εὐρίσκεται αγγαστρωμένη VOUSTR., Chron. A 150.17 ἢ ποῖα γραφή (1502, Kalymnos, KOUTELAKIS 1981: 1, 29.6) ἢ πγοῖα κυρὰ Τζουάνα εἶπεν της MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 18.10–11; ἢ ποῖγια ἔφερεν πολλὸν πλοῦτον ibid. 576.26¹⁰⁶ ἢ ποῖα φούστα ἦτον του Περρέτου VOUSTR., Chron. A 120.14 ἢ δεδοξασμένη παρθένος Μαρία, ἢ ποῖα ἦτον ἀφορμὴ τῆς σωτηρίας μας Fior 85.7
 ἢ ληριχιά, ἢ ποῖα δὲν μπορεῖ νὰ κρατηθῇ Fior, Suppl. 270.17

Feminine Genitive

περὶ τῆς ποῖας Assizes B 328.25 τῆς ποῖας θέλεις τῆς τὸ παραδώσειν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 406.16

Feminine Accusative

τὴν ποῖαν ἐμφόρσιν (1239, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 291, 406.6); πάσαν ἀγωγὴν τὴν ποῖαν ποτὲ ἐδιάφερνε (1243, ibid. 293, 409.1) τὴν ὑποταγὴν παιδικὴν εἰς τὴν ποῖαν ἕως τώρα ἐμὲν ὑποτάσσεσθε (1446, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 17, 89.4)

¹⁰⁶ In view of forms like φοριχία in Machairas, this is probably a monosyllabic form [pja], although a hypercorrect disyllabic reading [pija] with anaptyxis of [j] for the avoidance of hiatus is also possible.

tin pian epiren o megas torcos stanyo tis / την ποίαν ἐπῆρεν ὁ μέγας Τόρκος στανιό της (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 71, f.Ir.3) διὰ τὴν ποίαν Assizes B 338.20

τὴν ποίαν ἐβούλευσέν την ὁ αὐτὸς Περὸτ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 594.33 τὴν ποίαν ἐφέντευγεν αὐτὸς Apoll. Rim. V 1682 τὴν ποίαν ἐτιμήσασι δουκάτα πεντακόσα Apoll. Rim. A 724 τὴν ποίαν ἀφέντευγεν αὐτός, κ' ἦτον οκ του κυρού του Apoll. Rim. N 1682 εἰς τὴν ἐπιστολὴν του τὴν ποίαν γράφει πρὸς τοὺς Κορινθίους Fior 75.2

ἡ ὁμορφιά σου | στὴν ποίαν ἐδόθη τέλεια ἡ ὄρεξή μου Cypr. Canz. 91.24

τὴν ποίαν παράδοσιν κρατεῖ τὴν σήμερον Pist. kekoim. 86

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

τὸ ποῖον ἀλλαγὴν ἐσχέκαμεν ἐκ τοὺς παῖδας τοῦ πρεσβυτέρου (1243, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 293, 409.22) διὰ τὸ ποῖον (1446, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 17, 99.9) ἀπὲ τὸ ποῖο Assizes B 439.24; ἀπὲ τὸ ποῖον πολὺν κακὸν ἤθελε ἀπηδῆσει ibid. 446.28

τὸ ποῖον ἐμεταβάλην Assizes A 3.6

τὸ ποῖον ἔκαμε πολλὰ χαλάσματα (1481, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 55, 221.3) ἔναν κομμάτι χωράφι τὸ λεγόμενον τῆς Θεοτόκου, τὸ ποῖον ἔναι σύπλιον τὸ αὐλάκι (1484, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 20, 232.4) τὸ ποῖον χωράφι ἐτανσάρασι (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 46.16)

τὸ ποῖον CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 958 app. crit. (B) ἔναν ἄτζαλλον χαρτὶν τὸ ποῖον ἐλάλεν οὕτως MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 220.19

τὸ ποῖον οὐδὲν ἔχει ὁ Χριστιανὸς ἄδειαν τὴν ἁγίαν Κυριακὴν BERTOS, Omil. IX (Περὶ τῆς ἁγίας Κυριακῆς) 44.5 app. crit.

τὸ ποῖον δὲν θυμοῦμαι τί ἦτονε (1501–3, Padua, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 7, 33.9) το ποῖον σπῆτιν ἦτον ἐνοὺ καβαλλάρη VOUSTR., Chron. A 6.12

εἶπασι Μέγα Μαστόρου πρᾶμαν, | τὸ ποῖον δὲν τοῦ ἄρεσεν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 2133

ἡύρασι ψάρι ένα, | τὸ ποῖον στο σαντάλι τους ἐσέβη να γλιτώσει AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 17.7

το πιο συνορεύη / τὸ ποῖο συνορεύει (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 32, 51.7) τὸ ποῖον εἶχεν ὁ ἅγιος αὐτὸ ἀρραβωνιασμένον MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 144 τον πιὸ φρανγκοματίασμα (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 143, 68.3) τὸ ποῖο ποτάμι οὐδὲ εἰς ἀξιώθη νὰ κατέχη ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 193

το ποιον ἐπεψέν το η ρήγαινα VOUSTR., Chron. A 156.13 ἔναν ἔργον πολλὰ διαφορικόν, τὸ ποῖον κρᾶζουν Φιὸρ δὲ Βερτού, τὸ ποῖον ἐξηγᾶται διὰ ὅλα τὰ βίτσια Fior 73.5–6 τὸ κρασίν, τὸ ποῖον ... Fior, Suppl. 271.20

το ποῖον θαρρῶ τὴν ὄρεξην να κάμεις τη ὀδική μου Apoll. Rim. A 571

Plural

Masculine Nominative

οἱ ποῖοι Χαρκίται ἐπερίλαβαν πύργον (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 57.82)

οἱ ποῖοι πραγματευτάδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 300.22

οἱ ποῖοι ἠνδραγάθησαν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 337 οἱ ποῖοι λιγώνουνται πολλὰ Apoll. Rim. A 584 οἱ ποῖοι λιγώνουνται πολλὰ να ὀδούσιν τα γραμμένα Apoll. Rim. N 584 οἱ ποῖγοι νὰ ποίσουν ὡς μάρτυρες Assizes B 334.8

οἱ ποῖγοι θέλουν ἀλεγριάζεσθαι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 3.20; οἱ ποῖγοι εἶνε ibid. 32.11

οἱ πγοὶ καβαλλάριδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 90.31

οἱ ποιοὶ FALIEROS, Log. did. 216 ὡς γοιὸν τὴν πελλάραν τοὺς χωριάτες, οἱ ποιοὶ φαίνεται τοὺς οἱ φωνές τοὺς ἔνι διάφορόν τοὺς Fior, Suppl. 273.14

Masculine Genitive

ὁ κύρης ἡ ἡ κυρά ἀπὲ τῶν ποίων σεργέντην ἡ ἡ τσαμπερλάνα ἐποῖκεν ἐκείνην τὴν δουλείαν Assizes A 72.11

Masculine Accusative

νὰ τοῦ ἀποκριθῇ τοὺς ποίους ἐκάμασι τὴν αὐτὴν κλήραν Assizes B 383.30; ἐκεῖνοι οἱ δύο εἰς τοὺς ποίους ἐδόθην τὸ ἔνκλημαν ibid. 428.28 τοὺς ποίους νὰ ὀνομάσῃ καὶ νὰ ὀρίσῃ (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 56.32) μέσον τοὺς ποίους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 30.11; τοὺς ποίους ἐπροσδέκτην τοὺς ibid. 326.13; δύο μαντατοφόρους Φλουρουντίνους, τοὺς ποίους ἐκράζαν τοὺς ibid. 338.10 τοὺς ποίους δεν εἶναι νὰ τοὺς ἀνοματίσω VOUSTR., Chron. B 51.14

τοὺς ποιοὺς CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1016 (ms B) οἱ τίτιοι ... πάντα ἀγαποῦνται καὶ παίρουν ἀπλαζίριν μεσὸν τοὺς ἀντάμα περίτου παρὰ με ἐκείνους τοὺς ποιοὺς εἶναι ἀπὸ διάφορα ἀστρικά Fior 83.3

Feminine Nominative

καὶ οἱ ποῖες νὰ μὴδὲν πουληθοῦν Assizes A 136.14

οἱ ποῖες ἦτον Κατακουζηνές VOUSTR., Chron. A 132.18 ἡπτες ἐλιές ἐβρίσκοντε / οἱ ποῖες ἐλιές εὐρίσκονται (1534, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 18, 231.5)

Feminine Accusative

τὲς ἀφορμές τοῦ αὐτοῦ ρηγός, διὰ τὰς ποῖας ἐκαβαλλικέψαν καὶ ἦρταν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 46.33

οἱ ἀγίες ἐκκλησίες ἀπὲ τὰς ποῖας περιλαμβάνομεν τὰ μυστήρια Assizes A 30.26 τῶν ἀσίζων, τὲς ποῖες ἔμοσε νὰ τὲς βλεπίσῃ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 260.4

τὲς ποῖες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 499 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: ταῖς ποιαῖς) τῆς <ο>πίες κερατὲς / τῆς <ό>ποῖες κερατὲς (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 28, 66.12) τὲς ποῖες ἀνεκαίνισαν MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 29

ταῖς πιές / τὲς ποῖες CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 574 app. crit. (S) ἀπὸ τὲς πέντε αἰσθησες τὲς καθολικὲς τοῦ κορμιού, διὰ τὲς ποῖες εἴπουν ἄνωθεν Fior 80.19 τὲς ποῖες Cypr. Canz. 2.3

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

τὰ ποῖα ἀναμνήσκουν τὰ παρεληλυθότα (1243, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 293, 408.11); τὰ ποῖα λαγχάνονται (ibid. 293, 410.1) τὰ ποῖα οὐδὲν ἐλπίζαν Dig. E 88 εἰς τὰ ποῖα (1446, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 17, 99.11)

τὰ ποῖα εἶχασι τὸ θανατικόν (1451, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1959: 55, 46.2) πράγματα θερμὰ διὰ τὰ ποῖα τὸ συκώτιν του σέπεται Assizes B 434.16 τοὺς πειρασμοὺς καὶ τὰ κακὰ τὰ ποῖα θέλεις πανθάνειν SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 49 transcr. P (Lendari)

καὶ ἕτερα κακὰ, τὰ ποῖα βλέπομεν σήμερον BERTOS, Omil. VII (Περὶ βλασφ.) (Schartau) 38.63
app. crit.

τὰ συμβάντα, | τὰ ποῖα ἐσυνέβησαν Alosis 715–16

τα ποῖα εἶναι καταπροσώπα του λουτροῦ VOUSTR., Chron. A 6.13; τα κάτωθεν πράματα, τα ποῖα εἶχεν εἰς το χέριν του ο Στέφανος ibid. 104.17

στά ποῖα ἀναθιβάσεται CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 6 app. crit. (M) μέ κατέργων | τεσσάρων τὴν συντροφιά, διὰ νὰ δώσῃ ἔργον, | ἀπὸ τὰ ποῖα ἤσανε δύο τῆς Εὐσεβείας ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 844–6 τατιά / τὰ ποῖα CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1581 app. crit. (B) λοιπὸν καὶ τοῦτα γράφω σου, τὰ ποῖα δὲ σὲ λαθάνουν Alex. Rim. 1057 ἐξηγᾶται διὰ ὅλα τὰ βίτσια τὰ ἀνθρώπινα, τὰ ποῖα οἱ ἄνθρωποι ... πρέπει νὰ τὰ φεύγουν Fior 73.6

 τὰ ποῖα πράματα Pist. kekoim. 425

Neuter Genitive

διὰ ρ' πέρπυρα τῶν ποίων σοῦ ἤμουν ἐνκυτῆς Assizes B 314.12; πράματα θερμὰ ἀπὲ τῶν ποίων ibid. 431.1
 ἀπὲ τῶν ποίων Assizes A 72.11

5.9.1.3.3 ὁ ὁποῖος/ὁ ὁποιός

The variant ὁ ὁποῖος is first attested in the 14th-c. Peloponnese, albeit very sparingly: (τὰ χωράφια) τὰ ὁποῖα εἰσὶν ἐν τῇ τοποθεσίᾳ τῆς Πεενᾶς (1375, Peloponnese, VEIS 1907: 247.6); τὰ ὁποῖα ν' ὑπέρπερα ἐλάβαμεν ἀπ' αὐτοῦ (1395, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 5, 181.16). An even earlier attestation from the Peloponnese has no accent in the original: τὸν ἀνασταμὸν μου τὸν ὁποῖον ἔχω (1327–8, Peloponnese, VRANOUSI 1981: B, 26.3–4). In the 15th c. the variant has spread to many areas (Crete, Corfu, Athens, Rhodes, Thrace, Constantinople, Skyros and Euboea). In the following centuries it becomes even more frequent and geographically widespread, and gradually it seems to cover the totality of Greek-speaking areas for which there are sources available. It also appears in grammatical works (Germano, Portius and Romanos Nikiforou). As is the case with all the other variants, it is predominantly a prose feature.

All the attestations of the variant ὁ ὁποιός with synizesis come from late 16th- and 17th-c. Crete. Of course, provision must be made for cases where there is no accentuation in the original (either in Greek or in Latin script), or where the orthographic practice of the author/scribe is uncertain. Editors of literary texts may also introduce such forms.

Singular

Masculine Nominative

ὁ ὁποῖος, ὡς λέγω ἐγώ, μέ ἡδίκησεν (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 44.27) ὁ ὁποῖος μοῦ τὸν ἤκαμεν (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 101, 83.6) ὁ ὁποῖος μου ἄνδρας, ἔφαεν τὰ λεγόμενα δουκάτα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 345, 328.9) ὁ ὁποῖος κατέζεται (ca. 1560, Venice, MARKOS 1977: IIα, 27.6) ὁ ὁποῖος κυρ Νικόλας πρεμετέρει (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 128, 100.19) ὁ ὁποῖος τοῖχος MOREZINOS, Klini 32.9; ὁ ἅγιος Ρωμανός, ὁ λεγόμενος Μελωδός, ὁ ὁποῖος ἦτονε ἐκ τῆς πόλεως Ἑμεσηνῶν ibid. 178.2
 ὦ ποῖος / ὁ ὁποῖος (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: 179.2) ὁ ὁποῖος ἦτονε ἐτοῦτος Bertoldin. 114.30 ὁ ὁποῖος Μουσταφά-πασάς εἶναι τοῦ ἄνωθεν μαστρο-Νικολοῦ (1663, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: I, 11.11)

ὁ ἄνωθεν εὐγενὴς Μάρκος, ὁ ὁποῖός ἦτον ἀναθρεμμένος (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 83.7) μ' αὐτὸ τὸ νιὸν ὁμάδι, ὁ ὁποῖός μὲ τὸ δοξάρι του ἐγύρευγε κυνήγι KORNAROS, Erot. I.643

Masculine Genitive

τοῦ ὁποῖου ἔδωκα ἐγὼ εἰς ἀλλαξίαν (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 750, 581.9) τοῦ ὁποῖου κάμνω πολλὰ παρτίδα (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 147.19) (no accent in the original) τοῦ ὁποῖου δίδει ἀπλή ἀδείαν (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 8, 8.6) τῇ ρεκοντισιὸ τοῦ ὁποῖου μισὲρ Τζώρτζη (1597, Crete, EVANGELATOS 2000: 23, 57.8) τοῦ ὁποῖου δίδει παντοῖαν δύναμιν (1607, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 3, 5.5) τοῦ ὁποῖου ἀφήνω καὶ τὸ κάργος (1616, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 2, 223.220) (ms του οπιου) τοῦ ὁποῖου τὸ γένος ἦτον ἀπὸ τὴν λεγομένην Μεγάλην Φρυγίαν Vios Aisop. I 247.17 τοῦ ὁποῖου δίδει ἀουτοριτάν (1628, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2000: 3, 516.4) εἰς τοῦ ὁποῖου τὸ χέρι KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 3.12 τοῦ ὁποῖου κάνανε τὸ παρὸν προτέστο (1674, Milos, IMELLOS 1985/90: 329.6) τοῦ ὁποῖου τοῦ ἔδωσα καὶ ἓνα βρακοπουκάμισο (1680, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 8, 301.16) τοῦ ὁποῖου ἔχει νὰν τὰ ἐπιστρέφῃ (1693, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 3, 163.8)

Masculine Accusative

ὁ ἀνεψιός μου, τὸν ὁποῖον θέλω νά 'ναι κύριος ὁλονῶν μου τῶν πραγμάτων καὶ κουμεσάριεῖός μου (1525, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 104, 194.9) ο cattismas (ton opion categhis) / ὁ κάτης μας (τὸν ὁποῖον κατέχεις) BAROZZI, Letter 359.14 τὸν ὁποῖο νοδάρο ἐπαρεκάλεσα (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 38.12) τὸν ὁποῖονε θέλομε παρακαλέσει (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 307.25)

Feminine Nominative

ἡ τεταγμένη τιμή, ἡ ὁποία ἦταν παρὰ τὰς ἀρχὰς (1451, Constantinople, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 1, 198.23)
 ἡ ὁποία υἱὸν ἐγέννησεν περιφανῆ, ὥραϊον Dig. A 1356 ἡ ὁποία ἦτον ἡ κυρὰ ἡ Μαργαρίτα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 326.18 ἔχει θυγάτηρ, ἡ ὁποία ἐπονομάζεται Ἰαννη (1514, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 2, 48.3) τὴν Νινευτὴν τὴν μεγάλην, ἡ ὁποία ἦτονε ὁ γύρος τῆς ἐνενηντα χιλιάδες ὀργιές KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 203.1; μίαν χώραν ἡ ὁποία ἦτονε εἰς ἓνα νησί ibid. 249.18 ἡ ὁποία γραφὴ ἔναι ἀπὸ χέρια ἐδικά μου (1546–51, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 26, 64.3) ἡ ὁποία τάζει τοῦ υἱοῦ τῆς (1579, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 3, 21.11) ἡ ὁποία χώρα PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 104.13 εἶχε συκιάν, ἡ ὁποία ἔκαμεν πρωτοφαντίστικα σῦκα Vios Aisop. I 247.35 ἡ ὁποία ἀρρώστια τοῦ ἐρχίνισε ἡμέρα Τρίτη (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 84.19) ἡ ὁποία κυράτσα Διατζίεντα (1665, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 3, 117.26) ἡ ὁποία ἄνωθεν δικαιοσύνη (1665, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 2, 13.20) ἡ ὁποία Εὐγενοῦ (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 22, 36.9) ἡ ὁπγιά ἔτζι κοντινούarei / ἡ ὁποία ἔτσι κοντινούarei (1614, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 13, 49.14) μὴν κάνουσιν ἀναλαμπήν, ἡ ὁποία τὴ λάμψη δίδει KORNAROS, Erot. I.259

Feminine Genitive

τῆς ὁποίας τοῦ θυγατέρας (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 23.9–10) τὴν γυναῖκα, τῆς ὁποίας τὲς ἀρετὲς ἐδιηγούντανε MOREZINOS, Klini 58.7
 μία γυναῖκα, τῆς ὁποίας ἡ θυγατέρα εἶχε πνεῦμα ἀκάθαρτον KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 7.25

τῆς ὁποίας τὸ κάλλος εἶναι θαυμαστόν [VLASTOS], Dig. P 384.30 ἀκόντο τῆς ὁποίας ἐκονσενιάρισα ἀπὸ ἐτότες ὅλα τὰ ὑποστατικά (1659, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 2, 29.7)

Feminine Accusative

τὴν ὁποίαν γραφὴν εἶδα (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 100.1) τὴν ὁποίαν ἐστέλλαμεν (1503, Constantinople, YANNOPOULOS 1974: 132.4) τὴν ὁποίαν κολώναν τὴν ἐπῆρεν ἓνα καράβι (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 448.4) τὴν ὁποία τὴν εἶχε χαρίσειν (1582, Kefalonia, KARYDIS 2011: 1, 101.9) τὴν ὁποία καὶ οἱ τέσσερις ἐδουλέψασι (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 13, 316.7) με τὴν οπηαν γραφῇ / με τὴν ὁποίαν γραφῇ (1622, Crete, MALTEZOU 1989: 358.8) γιὰ τὴν ὁποίαν ὑπόθεση (1632, Crete, DETORAKIS 1994: 2, 129.5) τὴν ὁποίαν θέλει τῶς δώσει (1639, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 6, 274.89) εἰς τὴν ὁποίαν ἦτονε ἀφέντης εἰσὲ δαύτην Chron. Tourk. Soult. 35.36 μία κασέλλα, μέσα στὴν ὁποία εἶχε τὰ ροῦχα του (1663, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 5, 415.8) με τὴν ὁποίαν ἐκέρδισε KORNAROS, Erot. II.2408

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

τὸ καράβι τοῦτο εἶναι τοῦ ἁγίου Γεωργίου ὅλον, τὸ ὁποῖον ἡμεῖς οἱ καλόγηροι με ἐλεημοσύνην τῶν χριστιανῶν ἐφθειάσαμεν (1415, Skyros, LEMERLE et al. 1979: App. XVII, 216.11–12) τὸ ὁποῖον χωράφιον ἐπροεκάτεχάν τινες (1431, Athens, BUCHON 1843: LXIX, 290.9) εἰς τὸ ὁποῖον σπίτιν ἐγὼ κατοικῶ (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 146.8) τὸ ὁποῖο περιβόλι εὐρίσκεται τὴν σήμερον εἰς τὰ χέριαν τοῦ Καλούτζη (1472 [copy of 1604], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 107, 215.10) ἓνα μερικὸν περιβόλιν, τὸ ὁποῖον δίδει (1496, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1, 48.37) τὸ ὁποῖον ἀγόρασα (1496, Euboea, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 174, 199.6) τὸ ὁποῖον μαντροκάθισμα ζητοῦσι (1509, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [1], 5.10) (no accent in the original) τὸ ὁποῖον χωράφιον ἐδιαλαλήθη (1539, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 5, 19.4) τὸ ὁποῖον εἶναι προικὶν (1572, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 135, 255.8) τὸ προυκίο τση, τὸ ὁποῖον, ὡς λέγει, εἶναι ὑπέρπυρα φ' (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 2, 25.4) ἀμπέλι τὸ ὁποῖον ὁπού 'ναι εἰς τὰ περβολούδια (1602, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1959: 1, 28.6) τ' ὁποῖο γιο ἀντρογυνο (1617, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 16, 320.31) τὸ ὁποῖον ἔναι ἡ ντεφερέντσια διὰ τὰ χρέη (1638, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 13, 86.4) τὸ ὁποῖον χωράφιο ἦτον χιλανταρηνὸ (1648, Athos, PETIT/KORABLEV 1911/1915: 167, 353.7) τὸ ὁποῖο κρασί τὸ εἶδε πολλὰς φορές (1659, Zakynthos, AVOURIS 1973: 220.6) τὸ ὁποῖο σ' αὐτὸ ἐπροτεσταλόγησεν (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 7, f.43r.24–5)
 τὸ ὁποῖον χωράφιν / τὸ ὁποῖον χωράφιν (1692, Cyprus, MITROPOULLOS 1923: A, 325.9) τὸ ὁποῖον βιβλίον (1695, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 106, 358.2) τ' ἀναθρεφτὸ παιδί, τὸ Φορτουνάτο μου, τὸ ὁποῖο ἔχω ἀναθρεμμένο FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.585

Neuter Genitive

ἐχάρισέν του ἐκεῖνο τοῦ ὁποίου ἡ ἐπεθυμία τὸν ἐχάλασεν MOREZINOS, Klini 3.22 τοῦ ὁποίου σιταριοῦ τὸ ποσέσον (1634, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1998: 9, 314.16) τοῦ ὁποίου μοναστηρίου ἄφησα ... ὅλα μου τὰ βιβλία IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 338

Plural

Masculine Nominative

- οἱ ὅποιοι κριτάδες θέλουσι ἀπογράψει διὰ χειρός τως (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 52.56–7) οἱ ὅποιοι ποτὲ δὲν ἐθελήσασιν τὰ προρηθέντα πράγματα (1511, Chios, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 17, 262.10) οἱ ὅποιοι σύντιχοι ἦσαν (1513, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: (a), 217.11) οἱ ὅποιοι χρόνοι πέντε (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 149, 122.6) ὥσάν τοὺς Μεγαρεῖς δὲν εἴμεσταν, οἱ ὅποιοι ἦταν καταφρονημένοι DAM. STOUD., Dial. 93.28 οἱ ὅποιοι μάρτυρες γράφουν (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 75.25–6) οἱ ὅποιοι μαρτυροῦσι ἀντάμα καὶ οἱ τέσσερις (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 13, 316.5) οἱ ὅποιοι ὄσαν καὶ καβαλλάροι (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: 179.17) οἱ ἄγιοι, οἱ ὅποιοι ἐπροσεύχονταν AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 412 οἱ ὅποιοι ὑπογράφου κάτωθεν (1630, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 4, 133.21) οἱ ὅποιοι θέλουν ὑπογράψει (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 3, 31.35) τῶν ἀξιοπίστων μαρτύρων οἱ ὅποιοι ὅσοι ξέρου ὑπογράφου (1661, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1974/78: 4, 423.16) οἱ ὅποιοι λέγου (1671, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 230, 204.4) οἱ ὅποιοι μὴ κάνοντας καλὰ ἀνάμεσόν των, ἐνεφανιστήκασιν (1676, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 22, 96.9) οἱ ὅποιοι μερικοὶ ἐθέλαν νὰ ἔρτουν ἐδῶ στὴν Γένοβα (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 507.25–6) οἱ ὅποιοι ἦσαν συντρόφοι (1691, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 19, 13.7)

Masculine Genitive

- τῶν ὁποίων κρατῶ τὰ ἰνστρουμένα τως (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 134.58) τῶν ὁποίων δίδει παντοῖαν ἄδειαν (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 20, 16.4) τῶν ὁποίων δίνουσι τελείαν ἐξουσίαν (1610, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 6, 360.11) τῶν ὁποίων τοὺς πολέμους VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 29.23 διὰ τοὺς Γαλιλαίους, τῶν ὁποίων Γαλιλαίων τὸ αἷμα ὁ Πιλάτος τὸ ἀνακάτωσε μὲ τὲς θυσίες τοὺς KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 13.1
των ὁποίων τα ὀνόματα εἶναι ταῦτα LANDOS, Kalok. 338.8
τῶν ὁποίων ἀλμπίτρων (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 536, 762.17); τῶν ὁποίων δίνουν (1686, ibid. 642, 881.11) τῶν ὁποίων τὰ ὀνόματά τους ἦταν MAXIMOS, Synax. Ag. Nik. 138.30

Masculine Accusative

- ἀπὸ τοὺς ὁποίους πορεύεται πάσα ἀγαθόν (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 808, 628.5) τοὺς ὁποίους τοὺς ἔστειλεν ὁ μεγαλειότατος ἀφέντης (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 26, 164.5–6) τοὺς ὁποίους σπιτότοπους σοῦ εἶχα δοσμένους (1607, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 1, 3.15) εἴκοσι χιλιάδες καβαλλάρους, τοὺς ὁποίους ὅλους τοὺς ἐνίκησε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 33.27 τοὺς ὁποίους ἡ κενοδοξία ταράζει PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.1
κάποιους τόπους ..., τοὺς ὁποίους τόπους κτυπῶντες μὲ τὰ ποδάρια μας IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 333.30 διὰ τοὺς ὁποίους θέλουσι κολοβωθῇ (1672, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 96, 238.26) ἀπὸ τὶς ὁποίους (1688, Andros, PASCHALIS 1948: 44.13)

Feminine Nominative

- αὶ ὅποῖες ὄλες γραφεῖς (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 93.34); ὁδὶὰ τῖς ποστίλες, οἱ ὅποῖες (1527, ibid. 120, 221.117)
- οἱ ὅποῖες στήκονται εἰς τὸ ἐσώχωρον (1524, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 153, 189.16)
- οἱ ὅποῖες πρεμετάρουν (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 30, 89.5)
- σκευὰς τρεῖς, οἱ ὅποῖες οὐκ ἐστὶ δυνατὸν εὐρεθῆναι Ekth. Chron. 84.6
- οἱ ὅποῖες ἔρχονται τὲς πλέα φορές LANDOS, Geopon. 129.24–5
- τῖς σταφίδες ἐτοῦτες οἱ ὅποῖες ἦταν τοῦ ἄνωθεν Σιορ Δημήτρη (1653, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 215, 186.37)
- οἱ ὅποῖες δύο ἀδελφεῖς (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 53, 205.2)
- οἱ ὅποῖες ἐπαραινόντανε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 53.11–12
- ἐλῖες ρίζες τρεῖς ἡ ὠπγῖες εἰνὲ εἰς τόπο ὀνομαζόμενο εἰς τὸ μετόχη δῖλακο / ἐλῖες ρίζες τρεῖς οἱ ὅποῖες εἶναι εἰς τόπο ὀνομαζόμενο εἰς τὸ μετόχι Δῖλακκο (1623, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 47, 126.10)

Feminine Genitive

- τῶν ὁποίων τῶν χρεωστῶ νὰ δώσω αὐτῶν (1512, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 32, 57.31)
- εἰς τὸν χορὸν τῶν ὁποίων SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 442.456

Feminine Accusative

- τῖς ὅποῖες ἐστιμάραν (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 22, 63.6)
- τὲς ὅποῖες πένες καὶ καντζαδοῦρες, ἂν τσὶ πλερώσης (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 33, 33.21)
- τὲς ὅποῖες ἐλῖες τὲς ἐστιμάρανε (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 51, 46.25)
- εἰς τὲς ὅποῖες ζήτησες (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 37, 29.11)
- τσὶ ὅποῖες CHORTATISIS, Erof. II. tit. chor.
- τὲς ὅποῖες τὲς γνωρίζουσι MOREZINOS, Klini 27.18
- τὲς ὅποῖες ἀγελάδες σοῦ δίδω (1611, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 136, 131.6)
- τὲς ὅποῖες λίτρες (1624, Cythera, SEREMETIS 1962: 1, 131.16)
- οἱ ὀπίες / τσὶ ὅποῖες (1633, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1998: 9A, 315.3)
- ἀπὸ τὲς ὅποῖες (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III, 36.4)
- τὲς ὅποῖες χρεῖα εἶναι νὰ ἡξεύρη κάθε Χριστιανὸς (1679, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 46, 41.41)
- ἦσανε δύο κολῶνες, ἀπὸ τὲς ὅποῖες ἐπῆρεν τὴν μίαν Diath. Nikon Metan. 253.71
- τὲς οὔπιες / τὲς ὅποῖες (1708, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 7, 41.6)
- οἱ ἄγιες ἐκκλησίες ἀπὸ τὰς ὁποίας λαβάνομεν Assizes B 280.2–3

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

- (τὰ χωράφια) τὰ ὁποῖα εἰσὶν ἐν τῇ τοποθεσίᾳ τῆς Πεονῆς (1375, Peloponnese, VEIS 1907: 247.6)
- τὰ ὁποῖα νὺπέρπερα ἐλάβαμεν ἀπ' αὐτοῦ (1395, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 5, 181.16)
- ὁδὶὰ τὰ ὁποῖα ἔδιδαν τὸν πατέρα μου (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 275.27)
- περὶ τινὰ κάστηρ καὶ τόπους τὰ ὁποῖα ἐπῆρε (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 9, 313.8)
- φλουρία βενέτικα ροε, τὰ ὁποῖα εἰσὶ διὰ τὰ ἄσπρα καὶ ἄλλα ροῦχα ὁποῦ μοῦ ἐπῆραν (1480, Constantinople, LAMBROS 1908c: 1, 480.4)
- τὰ ὁποῖα ρήματα γράφονται διὰ στίχου Alosis tit.
- ἐκ τὰ ὁποῖα (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 10, 11.9)
- τὰ τόσα κοντάκια, τὰ ὁποῖα τὰ ἐποδέκτηκεν ἡ ἁγία Ἐκκλησία MOREZINOS, Klini 179.1
- τὰ ὁποῖα πράματα ὅλα τ' ἄνωθε (1603, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 1, 26.9–10)
- τὰ ὁποῖα δένδρα καὶ κληματερά ἀπρεζιάρσιν (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 672, 584.6)

- τὰ ὅποια ὀσπίτια (1629, Thessaloniki, PAVLIKIANOV 2005: 11, 133.5) τὰ ὅποια τσικίνια (1636, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1993: 2, 291.6) τὰ ὅποια κάμνουν χιλιάδες ἄσπρα ιη' (1655, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 74, 188.11) τὰ ὅποια δουκάτα τὰ ἔλαβεν ὁ ἄνωθεν κυρ Χριστόδουλος (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 20, 14.2) τὰ ὅποια δέκα ρεάλια ὁμολογοῦμε πῶς τὰ ἔλάβαμε (1666, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 18, 89.8) (no accents in the original) τὰ ὅποια χωράφια ἐπούλησέν τα (1684, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 19, 51.16) τὰ ὅποια εἶναι ἀσημένια (1691, Milos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 48, 49.14) τὰ μελίσσια μου τὰ ὅποια εἶναι -22 (1692, Samos, IOANNOU 1992: 1, 457.5) ἔχει κελία 2 τὰ ὅποια τὰ εἶχεν ἔκπαλαι (1696, Nauplion, DOKOS 1971/74: 22, 56.2) τὰ ὅποια ἐμετρήθησα ἔμπροστέ μας (1699, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 13, 29.10) τὰ ὅποια ἔχει χάρη τὸ ραβδί τοῦτο τὸ χρουσωμένο νὰ κάμει ἀνήμπορα CHORTATIS, Erof. Interm. II.15 τὰ ὅποια νὰ ἴναι καὶ νὰ γροικοῦνται λίμπερα (1598, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 1, 215.59) τὰ ὅπγιά μοῦ ἤρθασιν / τὰ ὅποια μοῦ ἤρθασιν (1614, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 13, 49.22); εἰς τα ὀπγιά τοῦ διδι ο ἄνωθεν ἱερέας ἀμάχι / εἰς τὰ ὅποια τοῦ διδι ο ἄνωθεν ἱερέας ἀμάχι (1623, ibid. 47, 126.8)

Neuter Genitive

- τῶν ὀποίων τῶσε ρίχνω νὰ πληρώνουν ἀράδεγα (1513, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 38, 67.32); τῶν ὀποίων στάμπελε ἔχω τὰ χαρτιά τως (1518, ibid. 52, 93.22)
 τῶν ὀποίων δένδρων PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Lavras) 258.30 ἀπὸ τῶν ὀποίων ἔλαβεν εἰς προῖκαν [VLASTOS], Dig. P 402.11–12 ἀπὸ τὸ πέσιμον τῶν ὀποίων ἔγινε τόσον μέγαλον φῶς Diath. Nikon Metan. 253.167

5.9.1.3.4 ὁ ὀποιος

The variant ὁ ὀποιος with stress retraction, probably on the analogy of ὅστις, ὅ,τι (which may also function as a definite relative; see 5.9.2.5), appears mostly in the Chronicle of Morea, the Theseid and sporadically in manuscripts of the War of Troy. Apart from these poetic sources, the form appears in a few documents from Tinos. It is probably an artificial form that found no continuation in later centuries, except in isolated and dubious instances (see also ὀποιος, 5.9.2.1).

Singular

Masculine Nominative

- ὁ ὀποιος, μὲ τὴν ἀρετὴν καὶ μὲ τὴν φρόνησιν του PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 237, 445

Masculine Genitive

- τοῦ ὀποιου ἄφηνεν στὴν Βλαχίαν ἓνα καλὸ ἡμερίδι Chron. Mor. H 3088 ὁ βασιλεὺς Εὐάνδρος· | τοῦ ὀποιου οὐκ ἐβάσταξαν τὸν ὄρκον οἱ δικοὶ του Theseid VII.17,5 (1529)

Masculine Accusative

- τὸν ὀποιον τόπο ἐκέρδισαν Chron. Mor. H 8265 τὸν ὀποιον Pol. Tr. 7377 (mss ABCVX) ἀπὲ τον ὀποιον ἔλαβεν Theseid VI.44,3 (Olsen)

Feminine Nominative

ἡ ὅποια φλόγα Theseid Prol. P 61

ἡ ὅποια μέ τὸν ἔρωτα, τὸ φῶς τῶν ὀμματίων της, | ἄναψε καὶ πυρφλόγησε δύναμιν τῆς νεότης
Theseid Prol. E 35

Feminine Accusative

ἀπὸ τὴν ὅποιαν ἔλαβεν πλοῦτος Chron. Mor. H 8075; τὴν Καρύταιναν τὴν ὅποια ἐχτίσαν ibid. 8264 τὴν ὅποιαν Pol. Tr. 7844 (mss BC) τὴν ὅποιαν οὐκ ἤξευρα Theseid Prol. P 85

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

τὸ ὅποιον πρᾶγμα οὐ πολεμοῦν Chron. Mor. H 4930; εἰς τὸ ὅποιον ibid. 7441; τὸ ὅποιον ἐχάλασασιν ibid. 8086; κἂν δίκαιον κἂν τε χάριταν, τὸ ὅποιον θέλει ἐκ τὰ δύο ibid. 7711 σκουτάρι | στο ὅποιον τὰ βασίλεια του Νερέου εφαινέτον Theseid VI.48,2 (Olsen) τὸ ὅποιον εἴσται ἤθελεν κόλαση Chron. Mor. P 6258 τὸ ὅποιο (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.10); τὸ ὅποιον (ibid. 1, 59.33)

Plural

Masculine Nominative

οἱ ὅππει / οἱ ὅποιοι Chron. Mor. T 1650

Masculine Accusative

τοὺς ὅποιους οὐκ ὀνομάζω Chron. Mor. H 1332 ms; τοὺς ὅποιους γὰρ ἐκράτησεν μισίρ Ἀνσελῆς ἐκεῖνος ibid. 5256

Feminine Accusative

στὲς ὅποιες ἐνὶ ἡ βοῦλλα του Chron. Mor. H 2381; τὲς ὅποιες γὰρ ἀκούσετε ibid. 7307 στὲς ὅποιες Chron. Mor. P 2381

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

τὰ ὅποια κάστροι Chron. Mor. H 2767 τα ὅποια Theseid VI.30,6 (Olsen); τα ὅποια οὐδέν τα λέγομεν ibid. VI.39,3; τα ἄρματα τα ἐκκλαμπραν καὶ ωραία, τα ὅποια ἐπερέλαβεν ibid. VI.44,5; τὰ φαριά τὰ δυνατὰ καὶ ωραία, τὰ ὅποια ἐτρέχαν ibid. I.71,2 (Follieri)

καὶ ἄλλα πλέα εἶδα, | τὰ ὅποια ἐλησμόνησα ἀπὸ τὴν ζάλισίν μου Synax. gadar. 344

Function and Distribution

In general, the pronoun ὅποιος/ὁ ποῖος/ὁ ὅποιος is used in complementary distribution with the other two vernacular relative pronouns, i.e. ὅπου/πού and τόν, τήν, τό, since it covers the domains where these are inappropriate. It fills the nominative gap in the paradigm of τόν, τήν, τό and allows, through its full inflection, the necessary precision in the relativization of less easily accessible syntactic positions, such as prepositional phrases, indirect object and distant referents.¹⁰⁷

The use of the pronoun ὅποιος/ὁ ποῖος/ὁ ὅποιος in restrictive relative clauses is very rare. It is standardly employed in non-restrictive relative clauses, frequently with the repetition of the referent within the clause, e.g. μίαν κούπαν, τὴν ὁποῖαν κούπαν ὁμολογῶ καὶ ἔλαβα (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 75, 62.7); χωράφιν ... ὑποτεκάδο τοῦ ἄνωθεν κυρ Τζανῆ Ζαχαράνη γιὰ ὑπέρπυρα ρ', γιὰ τὰ ὁποῖα ὑπέρπυρα ρ', ἑκατόν, τοῦ ἐπλήρωνεν τὸ καθὲν χρόνο στάρι (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 143, 155.4). The cases most frequently used are the nominative and the accusative, although attestations in the genitive case do also occur, especially with the variant ὁ ὁποῖος. The genitive occasionally appears as a result of relative attraction, e.g. τῶν καλῶν κουστουμίων τοῦ ρηγάτου τῶν ἱεροσολύμων, τῶν ποίων ἐθέσπισαν Assizes B 366.25. The pronoun ὁποῖος/ὁ ποῖος/ὁ ὁποῖος is also frequently used in prepositional constructions, e.g. ἐκ τοῦς ὁποῖους ἔτυχεν κάποιος ἀνδρειωμένος ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 664; διὰ τὴν ὁποῖα ἐπήρασι ποσέσιο εἰς ἓνα κομμάτι περιβόλι (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 24, 19.9). A resumptive clitic may appear in non-restrictive relative clauses, when the pronoun is in the genitive or accusative, e.g.:

¹⁰⁷ The syntactic distribution of ὅποιος/ὁ ποῖος/ὁ ὅποιος has strong similarities with that of Romance lequel, il quale (see MANOLESSOU 2008b; details for Romance syntax as provided by KUNSTMANN 1991, SESTITO 1999).

τὸ ὁποῖον σπιτόπουλον τοῦ τὸ παραδίδει (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 51, 46.20) μίαν κασέλλα ὁποῦ ἔχει, τὴν ὁποῖαν τῆς τὴν ἀφήκε ὁ ἄντρας της (1614, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 14, 317.8) τοῦ ὁποῖου τοῦ ἔδωσα χίλια δουκάτα (1695, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 1, 250.11) τὰ ὁποῖα πράματα, τὰ γονικά του, τὰ γυρεύγει (1696, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 47, 141.10)

Occasionally the older qualitative function of ὁποῖος is retained by ὁποιος, e.g. ὁποια εἶναι ἡ ζωὴ, τοιοῦτος εἶναι καὶ ὁ θάνατος SKOUFOS, Grammat. 17.44.

5.9.1.4 ὅς, ἥ, ὅ

The AG pronoun ὅς, ἥ, ὅ continues to be used in the LMedG period in higher-register texts as an archaism. It is quite common in legal documents, but may also be found in vernacular literary texts, both prose and poetic, as a learned feature, especially in earlier periods. Some inflectional forms are extremely rare in vernacular texts, especially the fem. pl.

“Ὅς, ἥ, ὅ inflects like an adjective in -ος (see 3.2.1); innovative forms are occasionally created through hypercorrection or through scribal error, e.g.:

ἐς εἶχαν οἱ Ροδίτισσες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 95 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: αῖς) τὲς ἀλυκίες ἐς ἔχουν (1560, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 3, 6.23); οἱ ἀλικίαις αῖς εὐρίσκονται (ibid. 19, 19.32) αἱ ἀμαρτίες σου, ἐς ἔπραξας (17th c.?, Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 401.19)

Again, as a hypercorrection the neut. nom. and acc. sg. acquire a non-etymological final /n/, e.g. πᾶν πράβμα ὃν ἀφιέρωσεν ὁ πατήρ ἡμῶν (1116, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 80, 105.27); τὸ ἡμέτερον χωράφιον ὃν κτῶμαι (1266, ibid. 302, 431.22); πλησίον τοῦ ἐτέρου μου ἀμπελίου, ὃν ἔδωκα ... πρὸς Νικόλαον (1400, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 10, 194.6).

Additionally, the pronoun may appear uninflected, again as a hypercorrection of ὁπού, πού, e.g. καταβαίνει ὁ δρόμος ὃ ἀπέρχεται (1188, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 225, 300.43); τὸν συκεάν ὃ ἐστὶν εἰς τὴν τοποθεσίαν ὅπὸ λέγονται τοῦ Ἀλώνη (1210, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 5, 34.11); ἔβαλεν τὸ νερὸν ἐπὶ τὰ αὐλάκια, ὃ εἶχεν σκαμμένα Diig. Alex. F 254.14 (Lolos). Hypercorrection of the relative ὁπού back to the archaic ὅς, ἥ, ὅ can sometimes lead to the replacement even of the locative adverb ὅπου, e.g. ὁμοιάζεις ὁξύν ἀνήφορον, ὁ κλάνουν οἱ γαδάροι Spanos B 73; ὁμοιάζεις σκοτεινὴν γωνίαν, ὁ χέζουν οἱ ἄρρωστοι ibid. 74.

The pronoun ὅς, ἥ, ὅ may be fossilized in innovative conjunctions formed by prepositions + oblique cases of the pronoun, e.g. ἀφοῦ, ἀφῆς, διό, διοῦ, ἐνῶ, ἐξοῦ, ἕως οὔ, παρού, ὥσοῦ (see KRIARAS, Lex. svv.).

The Chronicle of Morea presents a (so far) unique usage of ἐνῶ as an uninflected relative pronoun (“who”).¹⁰⁸ This is obviously an analogical influence from the double usage of ὅπου as locative and relative:

<κι ᾧ>λλοι μεγάλοι ἄνθρωποι ἐνῶ ἦσαν ἐκ τῆ<ν Δύσιν> Chron. Mor. H 128; κ' εἰς τί ποσὸν ἠφέραν | τὸ πρᾶγμα, τὴν ὑπόθεσιν ἐνῶ ἦσασιν σταλμένοι ibid. 6452; τὸν ὠνομάζαν Κουραδὴν, ἐνῶ ἦτον ἀνεπίος | τοῦ Φρεδερίγου βασιλέως ibid. 6782; ἐκείνη ἡ γυνὴ του | (ἐνῶ ἦτον αὐταδέλφισσα ἐκείνου τοῦ Δεσπτοῦ) ibid. 8067

Judaeo-Greek texts present a special case: the nominative ὅς is used as an uninflected relativizer translating Hebrew asher (HESSELING 1897: xlvii, vii; DRETTAS 2007: 132; KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ος).

τὸ διαλαλημὸς ὅς ἐγὼ λαλῶ πρὸς ἐσὲ Jonas 215. III.2; ἀπὲ τὴν κολοκυθέα ὅς οὐκ ἐκοπίασες εἰς αὐτὴν ibid. 217.10; τὴμ πόλῃ τῇ μεγάλῃ, ὅς ἔνεστιν εἰν αὐτὴν πολλοὶ ibid. 217.11 κῆβαλεν ἐκεῖ τὸν ἄνθρωπο ὅς ἔπλασεν Pent. Gen. 2.8; ἀπ' τὸ δέντρο, ὅς ἐπαράγγελιά σε νὰ μὴ φᾶς ἀπ' ἐκεῖνο ibid. 3.11

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	ὅς	ἥ	ὅ
Gen.	οῦ	ῆς	οῦ
Acc.	ὄν	ῆν	ὄ
Plural
Nom.	οἱ	(αἱ)	ᾶ
Gen.	ῶν	ῶν	ῶν
Acc.	οὓς	ᾶς	ᾶ

Singular

Masculine Nominative

ἀμῖρᾱν τὸν πανεύγενον καὶ πρῶτον τῆς Συρίας, ὅς εἶχε κάλλη πάντερπνα Dig. G IV.22 ὁ μοναχὸς Ἰωαννιτζόπουλος, ὅς ἔχει εἰς τὸ χωρίον τὴν Βουνεάδα γονικὴν γῆν (1355, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 136, 62.45)

¹⁰⁸ The meaning is not listed in KRIARAS, Lex. (s.v. ἐνώ) but cf. EGEA (1988: 61).

Ἐρκούλιος, ὁ πάνσοφος στρατιώτης, ὃς συγγενῆς ἐτύγχανε Pol. Tr. 137; τὸν ἀδελφόν του λέγει, | ὃς ἦτον Ἀγαμέμνονας ibid. 1982
 νέος καὶ εὐγενικὸς καὶ κάλλιος ἐκ τούς δέκα, | ὃς κατὰ τὴν συγγένειαν θαρρῶν ἀπηλογήθη Achil. N 310 διήγησις ἐξαίρετος Βελθάνδρου τοῦ Ρωμαίου· ὃς διὰ θλίψιν, ἣν εἶχεν Velth. tit.
 ὅς τὸν ἅγιον τὸν πάπαν, | ὃς εἶναι ὅλους κεφαλὴ Alosis 800–1 ὃς ἦν κεφαλὴ τῶν κεφαλᾶδων (1449–55, Silymnia, SCHREINER 1975/79: 98B.II, 4.19) ἐπίασεν τὸν σουλτάνον καὶ ἐθανάτωσέ τον πικρῶ θανάτῳ. Ὅς ὠνομάζετο σουλτάν Μπαράκ (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.IV, 78.2–3) ἐκεῖνος ὃς ἔχει ἀδεια (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 181, 153.3) ὃς οὐδέποτε ἐκλείπει Spanos D 1798 τὸν Πρωτοπατᾶν, ὃς καὶ Νοταρᾶς ἐνομάζετο CHEILAS, Chron. 348.28

Masculine Genitive

οὗ τὸ ὄνομα ἔφριξαν Dig. G V.201; οὗ καὶ ἐλθόντος τῇ ἐξῆς καὶ σφυγμοῦ ἀφαμένου ibid. VIII.55
 ὁ Μυρμιδόνων βασιλεὺς καὶ τῆς Ἐφθίας δεσπότης, | οὗ καὶ συνεγραψάμεθα ταύτην τὴν βίβλον Achil. N 1881 ἐξ οὗ τόπου οὐκ εἶχε ἀλλ' οὕτε ἔχει ἡ ρηθείσα κοινότης τῶν ἀδυνάτων κὰν μίαν ἀπόλαυσιν (1539, Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 1, 97.19) ὕψωσαν τὸν ρηθέντα μπασιᾶν καὶ ἐποίησαν αὐτὸν σουλτάνον. οὗ ὁ ἀδελφὸς ἦν φλαμπουριάρης (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.IV, 87.6–7)

Masculine Accusative

τοῦ λιβέλλου ὃν ἐπερίλαβα (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 15.45) τὸν λαὸν ὃν ἔχει ἀπουκάτου του (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 241.485) τὸν ὄρκον μου τοῦτον, ὃν ὁμνῶ (1346–7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 257.69) ναὸν ... εἰς ὃν ἀμπέλιον μοδίων ζ' (1355, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 136, 61.26) μὴ οὗτος ἔν τοῦ στρατηγοῦ τοῦ ἀκουστοῦ ὃν λέγουν; Dig. G IV.289 σκότος δὲ πάλιν ἀφεγγές τὸν σκοτασμόν μου κρίνω | ὃν ἔχω τότε, βασιλεῦ, ὅταν ψωμῖν οὐκ ἔχω Ptoch. III 234; οὐκ εἶμαι αὐτός, ὃν ἔλεγον ibid. 257 φίλος ἐμός ὁ Κλιτοβῶν, ὃν ἔδωκεν ἡ τύχη Liv. α 4531 τὸν ἄνθρωπον ὃν ἠῦραμεν ἐκεῖσε Liv. V 2842 Ἐρκούλιος, ὃν ἀκούεις, | ἐκεῖ τοὺς ἔφθασε Chron. Toc. 2391 κόσμον μέγαν τὸν ἄνθρωπον Θεὸς ἐπονομάζει, | ὃν ἔθετο εἰς τὸν μικρὸν κόσμον Anak. Konst. 94
 εἰς κρυφὸν τὸν τόπον πάγει, | τὸν μακρότατον ὃν εἶχεν Ptochol. α 713 ὃν ἂν φιλήσω, αὐτὸς ἐστίν DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 136 τὸν Λάζαρν, τὸν πτωχόν, ὃν ἐμίσουν BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 831 τὸν Παράδεισον ... | ὃν ὁ Θεὸς ἐποίησεν Om. Nokr. Vas. 110 εἰς τὸν τόπον ὃν εἶχουν οἱ Τοῦρκοι (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 34.I, 24.6)

Feminine Nominative

τί ἐστιν ἡ χρεια, ἡ ἐσυνέβησέ σοι; (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 179.1d) εὖοσμον μυρωδιᾶν ἡ ἀνάστησέ με ἐκ τῆς λιποθυμίας Spanos D 116 περὶ τῆς ἀναλώσεως καὶ τῆς αἰχμαλωσίας ἡ γέγονεν ὑπὸ τῶν Περσῶν Analos. Ath. tit. τὴν κυράν Μάρων, ἡ ὑπῆρχε γυνὴ τοῦ σουλτάν Μουράτη Ekth. Chron. 22.22

Feminine Genitive

ἡ ἀκουστὴ ἐκείνη, | ἥς τὸ κάλλος ἀμήχανον Dig. G IV.264
 τὴν μάμμη | ἐξ ἥς καὶ ποριζόμενος τὰ ζωαρκῆ τοῦ βίου Ptoch. (Maiuri) 23 ἄφ' ἥς ἡμέρας με ἔδειξες τὸ γράμμα τῆς μητρός σου Dig. E 384 ἀντὶ τιμῆς ἧς ἔμελλεν ἐκεῖνος καὶ ὁ λαὸς του Pol. Tr. 183 ἐκ τῆς ἀγάπης τῆς πολλῆς ἧς εἶχεν εἰς ἐκεῖνον Velis. N² 65

 ἐκ μεγάλης τῆς θλίψεως, | ἧς αὐτὸς ἐνεδείξατο | πρὸς αὐτὸν τὸν πανάγριον Spanos D 990 ἡ καλογραία μεθ' ἧς συνοικῶ (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 146, 263.10)

Feminine Accusative

ἦν ἡμεῖς καὶ οἱ ἡμῶν ἐκ σοῦ τοῦ εὐγενικοτάτου ἄρχοντος κυροῦ Γουλιέλμου ... ἀγαθοεργήθημεν (1182, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 212, 277.11) πρᾶσις, ἦν σοὶ ἐποιήσαμεν (1203, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 15, 76.24) μίαν ἀπὸ τὰς πρόκριτας | εἰς ἦν ἐθάρρει πλέον Eisit. f.3r. 9–10 καὶ μάνθανε τὴν ὄρεξιν, ἦν ἔχει, καὶ σπατάλην Ptoch. IV 360 διὰ πᾶσαν τὴν ἀπακοὴν ἦν εἰργάσω (1402, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 9, 93.2) τὴν γραφὴν ἦν μοι ἐπαρέδωκεν ὁ τῆς Γένουβας φίλος μου (1487, Chios, LEFORT 1981: 12, 71.2–3) τὴν κάκιστον βουλήν, ἦν εἶχε πρὸς ἐκεῖνον Pol. Tr. 87 app. crit. (VX) κατὰ λόγον καὶ συμφωνιάν, ἦν ἔστησαν ἀλλήλως Chron. Toc. 1147 μὲ εἶτι ἄρα ἐσοδεῖαν ἦν μέλλει ἔρχεσθαι (1492, Venice, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 1, 127.5) εἰς τὴν ἀρχὴν τῆς στρατάς | εἰς ἦν μὲ ἀπεχαιρέτησαν Liv. S 1426–7 καὶ τὴν συμφορὰν ἦν εἶχεν Ptochol. α 68
 τὴν φοβερὰν ἡμέραν, | ἦν μέλλει γὰρ παρίστασθαι Alfan. 14 69
 πᾶσα ἀμαρτία, | ἦν ἂν ποιήσῃ ἄνθρωπος DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2540 εἰς τὴν διαφορὰν, ἦν ἔχουν (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIDI et al. 1997: 12, 29.6) πᾶσαν προτίμησιν ἦν ἔχει (1523, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 90, 121.5) περὶ τὴν ἐπιστολὴν ἦν ἀπέστειλαν οἱ στρατιῶτες Alex. Rim. 786a tit.
 ἡ δὲ προῖξ, ἦν ἀττῆι (1628, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 17, 94.10) τὴν ἄμμον ἦν ἔχω εἰς τὸν Κάμπον (1650, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 2, 138.5)

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

χωράφιον ... ὁ κτώμεθα (1145–6, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 2, 65.13) τὸ κράτος τῆς ἐκκλησίας ὁ ἔχει εἰς τὴν Λαρδαρίαν (1173, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 15, 328.11) ἔχασεν πᾶσα δίκαιον ὁ ἥλπιζεν ἔχειν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 65.38) διὰ τὸ μέρος ὁ ἀκαρτέρειεν τὴν εἰρημένην Ἀναστασίαν (1496, Corfu, PENDOGALOS 1980a: 2, 301.7) εἰς ὁ ἐσυχνοεστέναζεν εἶχεν τὸν λογισμόν του Liv. V 3278; δι' ὁ πονεῖς ibid. 3708 τὸ ἑαυτοῦ ἐργαστήριον, τὸ εἰς τοὺς Σαματάδες, ὁ ἠγόρασεν (1498, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 8, 54.7) αὐτό, ὁ λέγομεν, τὸ φυσικὸ μας στέμμα Velth. 59
 τὸ δακτυλίδιν | τὸ ἐνέκρωσεν τὸν Λίβιστρον, ὁ εἶχεν ὁ Βερδερίχος Liv. S 1757–8 τὸ κάστρον τὸ λαμπρόν ὁ βλέπομεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 911 σὺ δέ, ὁ ἐνδέχεται, μαθεῖν εἰ θέλεις, | Εὐρὲ τὸ ποθοῦμενον ἐν τῇ ἀκροστιχίδι Spanos D 1807 πουλὶν ἔναι, ὁ λέγουσιν κουρκουνιστὴν BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 1321 τὸ ὀσπίτιον ὁ ἔχει (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 9, 10.14) ὁστις μόνον τὸ ἰδῇ, τὸ πέταλον, ὁ ἔχω Synax. gadar. 281 τοῦ παιδίου μου τοῦ θηλυκοῦ, ὁ ἐγέννησα (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 93, 174.10) ὁ μέρος ἤθελε συρθῆν, νὰ τὰ ζημιώνεται (1548, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 119, 234.11) τὸ χρυσάφιν τοῦ Ταρείου, ὁ ἦτον δύο βολὲς χίλιες χιλιάδες τάλαντα Diig. Alex. F 256.3 (Lolos) τί ἐστὶν ὁ οὔτε εἶδαμεν οὔτε ἠκούσαμεν; Vios Aisop. E 291.5
 χωράφιον ὁ κέκτημαι εἰς τοῦ Τραχιοῦ τὸ μέρος (1641, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 3, 308.5)

Neuter Genitive

τὸ μέγα νησίον, οὗ πλησίον καὶ λούστρα τῆς αὐτῆς μονῆς (1300, Athos/Thessaloniki?, PARACHRYSSANTHOU 1986: 4, 87.18) ἕτερον σπίτιν, ἐξ οὗ λαμβάνω ἐνοίκιον (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 127, 234.64)

Plural

Masculine Nominative

οἱ καὶ ἐμονομάχησαν Dig. G IV.61 ἐκείνους οἱ εἰσὶ (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 264.13) ἕτεροι οἱ οὐκ ἔστιν συγγενεῖς κατὰ σάρκα (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 246.662) τὸ δόλιον τὸ ζευγος, | οἱ καὶ μαχαίραις τὸν στερρὸν δολίως ἀναιροῦσιν Achil. N 1895
 Δαῦκε καὶ Σέλινε, οἱ καὶ τὰς βίβλους κρατεῖτε Porikol. I 83 πάντες οἱ πολεμοῦν οὕτως ἐνὶ φίλοι θεοῦ Assizes A 28.26 μακάριοι οἱ ἐβγάζουν τὰ μάτια του Spanos A 373

Masculine Genitive

οὐ χρεῖα τῶν μαρτύρων. | Ἀφ' ὧν ἡμεῖς ἐπάθομεν, ἐμάθομεν ἀρκούντως GLYKAS, Stichoí 44–5 ἀμράδες, ὧν μὲν εἰς ὁ βασιλεὺς Θέσεος ἐλεγέτον Pol. Tr. 3358 ἐπίασαν ἐξ αὐτοὺς, | ἐξ ὧν τοὺς ἐντιμότερους καὶ κάλλιους ὅπου ἦσαν Chron. Toc. 105 ὧν τὰ ὀνόματα αὐτῶν ἰδίῳ χειρὶ ἔγραψαν (1526, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 110, 203.28)
 μνήσθητι τῶν κακῶν σου λόγων, ὧν ἐψεύσω καθ' ἡμῶν Spanos D 1175 οἱ δύο ἀδελφοὶ μοναχοὶ ... ὧν καὶ τὰ ὀνόματα Βαρλαάμ καὶ Θεόδουλος CHEILAS, Chron.
 350.18
 νέοι εὐγενέστατοι ἐντὸς τοῦ σαραγίου ἔκ τε Πόλεως καὶ Τραπεζοῦντας, ἐξ ὧν ἦν καὶ ὁ τοῦ Ἀμηροῦτζη ὁ υἱὸς Ekth. Chron. 36.2

Masculine Accusative

ἡλευθέρωνεν ἅπαντας οὓς εἶχεν αἰχμαλώτους Dig. G II.5 οὓς δὲ ἀνάνδρους ἤρρισκεν Diig. sevast. Thom. 65 τοὺς φούρνους αὐτοῦ οὓς ἔχει (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 9, 153.3) οἱ λόγοι οὓς μέλλει εἰπεῖν (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 4, 308.10) καβαλικεύουν οἱ ἑκατὸν οὓς εἶχα μετὰ μένα Liv. V 2113 ἐδικοὺς οὓς εἶχε μετ' ἐκείνον Pol. Tr. 8575 ἐκ τούς τόπους οὓς ἔχει (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 54, 44.6) τὰ δὲ ζῶα νὰ βόσκουν εἰς τοὺς τόπους τους, οὓς εἶχαν ἐκπαλαί (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 237.2) εἴλκυσεν ἅπειρον λαὸν στὸν φόβον τοῦ Κυρίου, | οὓς ἤρπασεν ὡς ἰσχυρὸς MOSCH. THEOL.,
Vios Ag. Nik. 110

Feminine Genitive

ὑπὸ τῶν πολλῶν σου δωρεῶν ὧν εἰς ἡμᾶς ἐποίησας (1182, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 212, 277.15)
 ὧν μὲν αἱ χεῖρες ἔλειπον, κρανία τε καὶ πόδες, | ὧν δὲ τὰ μέλη ἅπαντα Dig. G I.228
 μετὰ τὴν συμπλήρωσιν τῶν ἡμερῶν ὧν εἶπον Liv. V 2510 κασέλας δύο, ὧν ἡ μία μεγάλη (1314, Athos, ŽIVOJINOVIC et al. 1998: 30, 216.41) μόλις ποτὲ παρελθουσῶν τῶν ἡμερῶν, ὧν εἶπον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2353

Feminine Accusative

ποδέαι β' μεταξωταί ἃς ἔστειλα μὲ τὸν παπὰν Σάββαν (1375, Ioannina?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 147, 107.15)

χαρίτων καὶ δουλειῶν, ὅς πολλάκις ... ἀπειλήφα (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 182.4) τὰς κακώσεις μου ὅς ἔπαθα εἰς τὸν κόσμον Liv. V 1327 οἱ τζάγρες τοὺς ἐζάλισαν ὅς εἴχασιν ἐκεῖνοι Achil. N 570 βίγλας οὐκ ἐδειλίασα. ὅς εἶχεν ὁ πατήρ σου Dig. A 351 καὶ ἄλλας, ὅς οὐκ ἐπίστασαι, τὰς χώρας νὰ γυρεύης Velth. 142 τὰς ἐρωτοχάριτας ὅς φέρεις [ANDR. PALAIOI.], Kallim. 697 τὰς τρεῖς σου τρίχας, ταπεινέ, ὅς ἔχης εἰς τὸ πιγούνιν Spanos D 206 παραβολάς, ὅς οὔτε ἤκούσαμεν οὔτε ἤξεύρομεν Vios Aisop. D 240.17

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

τὰ χωράφια ἡμῶν ἃ ἔχομεν ἀγορὰν (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 131, 173.11) τὰ μοναστήρια τῆς κοινότητος, ἃ καὶ εἰσὶ ἐκεῖθεν τῆς σκάλας τοῦ Στρουμπούλου (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 268.124) πράγματα πολλά, ἃ γίνονται Ptoch. IV 497 εἰς ἃ ἔθηκα ἐπάνω τὴν χεῖρά μου (1346–7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 256.27) ἀφκράσου, καταγνώρισε, Βέλθανδρε, ἃ σὲ λέγω Velth. 913 ἀμαρτήματα, ἃ ἡμαρτεν ἐκεῖνος DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2268 καὶ διὰ τοῦτο ἔποικα καὶ ἔγραψα ἃ εἶπεν Alosis 575 ὅλα τὰ δικαιώματα καὶ μέρος ἃ ἔχει (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 181, 153.15) διὰ τὲς 18' χιλιάδες τὰ φλουρία, ἃ ἔδωσαν εἰς μούλκια (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.10) τὰ πράγματα ἃ μοι ἐπῆρεν κουρφά (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 1, 3.10) νὰ βάλουν καὶ ἐξοδιάσουν εἰς ἃ χρειάζεται καὶ ἐλλείπονται εἰς τὴν αὐτὴν μονὴν (1548, Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 5, 104.10) γρόσια τὸν ἀριθμὸν ὀγδοήκοντα ... ἃ καὶ ἔλαβον (1660, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 4, 31.7) καὶ ἄλλα πουλία, ἃ οὐ δύναμαι γράφειν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1098

Neuter Genitive

πάντων ἐπιλαθόμενος, ὧν εἶχεν ἐν τῷ βίῳ GLYKAS, Stichoi 108 ἐπελάθου τῶν ἀγαθῶν ὧν σοι ἐνεδειξάμην Dig. G V.128 μετὰ γοῦν τὴν παράθεσιν ὧν εἴρηκα βρωμάτων Ptoch. IV 201 ἐξ ὧν ἐπαραγγέλθην Pol. Tr. 215 app. crit. (AEV) ἐξ ὧν ἀπάντων ἔτρεχεν ὕδωρ Achil. N 783 εἰς τοὺς καθῆδες τῶν κατικικῶν ὧν προεῖπομεν (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.2) μνήσθητι τῶν κακῶν σου λόγων ... καὶ ὧν ἐποίησας πονηρῶν ἔργων Spanos D 1175 αἰωνίων ἀγαθῶν Θεοῦ τοῦ ὁράτου. | Ὡν γένοιτο ἐπιτυχεῖν ἡμᾶς GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 609 τὸ καθὲν ἐξ ὧν ἔλαβε παρ' αὐτῆς (1573, Corfu, KARYDIS 1994: 4, 104.13)

5.9.1.4.1 Aspects of Usage

From the 12th c. onwards, a new construction involving the relative ὅς, ἣ, ὅ appears, i.e. the collocation τὸν ὄν, τὴν ἣν, τὸ ὅ, τὰ ἃ, which should be considered as an idiolectal solecism rather than as a valid syntactic variant of the relative pronoun. In view of the fact that the first constituent in this collocation is always an accusative form beginning with /t/, this syntagm could be interpreted not as a combination of definite article + relative pronoun, but as a duplicated construction consisting of the relative pronoun τόν, τήν, τό + the archaic relative pronoun ὅς, ἣ, ὅ (see also NICHOLAS 1998b: 306–7).

τὸ ὄν ἐστὶ πλησίον Θεοδώρου τοῦ Κριάτου (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 129, 170.11); τὸ ὄν ἐστὶν εἰς τοὺς Κριάτους (ibid. 129, 170.12–13) τὴν ... βασιλικὴν μονὴν ... ἦν καὶ ἀφιερεῖ πρὸς ἡμᾶς ... τὴν ἦν εἶχομεν καὶ πρώην πλησίον τοῦ κάστρου Σερρών (1350–75, Athos, ΠΑΥΛΙΚΙΑΝΟΝ 2005: 2, 125.5) καὶ θεὸν ἕνα μὴ σέβοντες, τὸν ὄν ὁ προφήτης ἐκήρυξεν ΔΟΥΚΑΣ, Istor. 23.17.17; καιρὸν γὰρ ἐπιτυχῶν, τὸν ὄν οὐκ ἠλπίζε ibid. 25.8.22; ὁ δὲ τύραννος τῷ χειμῶνι ἐκείνῳ ἤρξατο οἰκοδομεῖν πρὸς τὸ ἄκρον τῆς Πόλεως τὸ καλούμενον Χρυσεία Πύλη πολίχνην, τὸ ὁ Ἰωάννης ὁ Γέρων ὁ βασιλεὺς ἠβουλήθη τοῦ ibid. 45.11.2
 τὸ ἐπιφώνημα τὸ ὁ ἔχει ἡ πόρτα Velth. 265; σημάδια τοῦ προσώπου του, τὰ ἃ εἶχεν εἰς νοῦν τῆς ibid. 819 τὸν ὄν ἡ τύχη ἐκάθισεν εἰς θρόνον ἐπηρμένον LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 1; φίλε Βελισσαρίου, τὸν ὄν ἡγάπας ἐκ πολλοῦ, ὄν ὕψωσας ἐκ πόθου ibid. 765 κάμε αὐτὴν τὴν ἐντολὴν ὅπου σὲ παραγγέλλω καὶ ποτέ σου δὲν θέλεις πταίσει· τό, ὁ ἐσὺ μισεῖς, ἐτέρῳ μὴ ποιῇς PARASYNAD., Chron. III §5.8

This usage may also be influenced by the correct, if archaic and convoluted syntax whereby the relative clause is embedded between the definite article and the referent, e.g. διὰ τε τὴν ἦν προεξένησε ζημίαν τοῖς μοναχοῖς (1295, Thessaloniki, LEFORT et al. 1994: 67, 135.54).

In some cases a resumptive pronoun appears within the relative clause, e.g.:

οὓς χάνασαν ἡ γῆ κατέπιεν αὐτούς (1093, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 58, 76.2) ταρία ἐπτά, ἃ καὶ ὁμολογοῦμεν ὅτι ἀνελαβόμεθα αὐτὰ (1156, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 7, 87.9) ὧν τὰ ὀνόματα αὐτῶν (1173, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 15, 327.10); εἰς ταρία τὸν ἀριθμὸν ε φ' ... ἃ ἔλαβον ταῦτα διὰ χειρῶν τῶν ρηθέντων μαϊστέρων (1190, ibid. Coll. I: 16, 48.13) ὧν τὰ ὀνόματα αὐτῶν ἰδίῳ χειρὶ ἔγραψαν (1526, Crete, ΚΑΚΛΑΜΑΝΙΣ/LAMBAKIS 2003: 110, 203.28)

Relative attraction is not uncommon:

πλησίον τοῦ χωραφίου, οὗ ἐκράτει Λέων Κονδοσάββατος (1126, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 2, 26.15–16) τοὺς βελλάνους ἀπὸ τοῦ Φωκαιροῦ οὓς ἐκατοίκουν εἰς τὴν χώραν (1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 534.18)
 ὑπὸ τῶν πολλῶν σου δωρεῶν ὧν εἰς ἡμᾶς ἐποίησας (1182, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 212, 277.15) μετὰ δὲ τὴν συμπλήρωσιν τῶν ἡμερῶν ὧν εἶπον Ptoch. IV 593
 μετὰ τὴν συμπλήρωσιν τῶν ἡμερῶν ὧν εἶπον Liv. V 2510 τιμῆς ἧς ἔμελλεν ἐκεῖνος καὶ ὁ λαὸς του Pol. Tr. 183
 ἐκ τῆς ἀγάπης τῆς πολλῆς ἧς εἶχεν εἰς ἐκεῖνον Velis. N² 65 κύριοι τοῦ τόπου οὗ ἔλαβον (1573, Athos, ΠΑΥΛΙΚΙΑΝΟΝ 2005: 9, 131.6)

This phenomenon should be distinguished from pure errors of agreement due to imperfect command of the learned morphology, e.g.:

εἰς τοὺς τρεῖς δρυῖς οὓς εἰσὶν ἐγκεχαραμμένοι σταυροὶ (1019, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 18, 19.23) σὼν ἀρχόντων οὓς ἐπικράτουςαν (1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 534.14) αἱ δὲ καρυδαὶ ἅς ὑπάρχουσι (1170, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 176, 231.20)

The pronoun ὅς, ἥ, ὅ may occasionally be used not as a relative but as an indefinite pronoun:

ὦν μὲν αἱ χεῖρες ἔλειπον, κρανία τε καὶ πόδες, | ὦν δὲ τὰ μέλη ἅπαντα, καὶ τὰ ἔγκατα ἔξω Dig.

G I.228

καὶ οὓς μὲν ἀνεῖλον, οὓς δὲ ἡχμαλώτισαν (15th–16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.III, 50.7–8)

5.9.1.5 ὅσπερ, ἥπερ, ὅπερ

The AG relative pronoun ὅσπερ survives in LMG as an archaism in vernacular texts and as a regular feature in high-register texts. It inflects internally (following ὅς), as in AG, the only differentiation being the hypercorrect addition of a final /n/ in the neut. sg. The most common case-forms are the masc. and neut. acc. sg. and the neut. acc. pl. The genitive (of all genders) is extremely rare and most instances involve relative attraction. The frequency of ὅσπερ, ἥπερ, ὅπερ in vernacular texts decreases in later centuries and it is totally absent from dialectal literary texts such as Cretan literature of the late 16th and 17th centuries.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	ὅσπερ	ἥπερ	ὅπερ ὄνπερ
Gen.	οὔπερ	ἥσπερ	οὔπερ
Acc.	ὄνπερ	ἥνπερ	ὅπερ ὄνπερ
Plural
Nom.	οἷπερ	(αἷπερ)	ἄπερ
Gen.	ῶνπερ	ῶνπερ	ῶνπερ
Acc.	οὔσπερ	ᾶσπερ	ἄπερ

Singular

Masculine Nominative

ἀφέντι ὀνόματι Ἑρτέλην, ὅσπερ ἦτον ἀπεκεῖ (16th. c., Sozopolis, SCHREINER 1975/79: 57, 1.2)

Masculine Genitive

τοῦ χειμερινοῦ μύλωνος οὔπερ ἔχει μετὰ τοῦ Μαρουλιάνου (1284, Athos? Lemnos?, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 74, 26.68)

Masculine Accusative

ὄνπερ εὐηργέτησας πολλὰς εὐεργεσίας GLYKAS, Stichoi 382

ὁ Φιλοπαπποῦς εἰμὶ ὄνπερ ἀκούεις Dig. G VI.210 ἔτσι ὁ πόνος αὖξησης περίσσια ὄνπερ εἶχε Theseid V.67,3 (1529) τὸν ὀρισμὸν μὴ πράξωσιν ὄνπερ ἐγὼ ὀρίζω Velis. N² 173 λόγος τῶν ἀρχόντων τῆς Τροίας ὄνπερ εἶπον | τὸν βασιλέα Πριάμον Byz. II. 94

τὸν ὕμνον τοῦτον, ὄνπερ ἐκοπίασα διὰ σέ Spanos D 1379 τὸν τόπον ὄνπερ εἶχασιν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1239

τὸν νερόμυλον, ὄνπερ ἔχει εἰς τὸν Ποταμόν (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 1, 79.5)

ᾠρισεν οὖν ἴνα | τραγωδήσῃ τις Πέρσης ὄνπερ εἶχεν αὐτὸν ἐκλεκτὸν ἐπιστήμονα Ekth. Chron. 38.15

εἰς τὸν οἶκον, ὄνπερ κατοικεῖ ὁ κύρ Λίας Νίκλος (1687, Zakynthos, ΒΑΥΑΚΑΚΟΣ 1954: 37, 65.2)

Feminine Nominative

περὶ τὴν τοποθεσίαν ἥπερ οὕτω πως τοῦ Διαβολοκάμπου ἐπνομάζεται (1324, Thessaloniki, LEFORT et al. 1994: 80, 284.3) τοῦ κομματιοῦ τῆς Μονοβασιάς, ἥπερ εἶναι ἐκεῖ πλησίον τοῦ αὐτοῦ ἀμπελίου (1548, Crete, ΜΑΝΟΥΣΑΚΑΣ 1992: 15.9)

Feminine Genitive

ἐπιστολὴν τῷ ἀμηνῶ ἐκπέμπει, | ἥσπερ ἐκεῖνος ἀκουσθεῖς Dig. A 625 περὶ δὲ τῆς ὑποθέσεως τοῦ μοναχοῦ ἥσπερ μοι γράφεις (17th c., Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 30, 109.2) τῆς αγάπης, ἥσπερ διὰ τὴν τῶν εὐσεβῶν ευφροσύνην καὶ παραμυθίαν, ἐνεκεν ταύτης ἐπὶ ἡμῶν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali Prol. 53–4

Feminine Accusative

ἀφιέρωσιν ἥνπερ ποιῶ (1082–3, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 1, 23.20) διὰ τὴν παράδοσιν ἥνπερ εἶχεν παραδομένην (1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 16, 209.33) τὴν ἀδελφότητα ἥνπερ ἔχω πρὸς σᾶς (1141, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 5, 557.7) τὴν θλίψιν ἥνπερ ἔχω Achil. N 971

οὐ γὰρ οἶδατε τὴν γνώμην | τὴν ἀληθινὴν Ἀτρώως, ἥνπερ ἔχει εἰς τὸν νοῦν τοῦ ΛΟΥΚΑΝΙΣ, Ilias 17.12

εἰς τὴν ἔτερην φυτείαν, ἥνπερ ἐποίηκεν (1528, Corfu, ZARIDI 1992: 4, 75.13) τὴν δεύτερην στίμαν ἥνπερ εἶχαν κάμει (1560, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 19, 19.25)

εἰς τὴν οἰκίαν ἥνπερ κατοικεῖ (1597, Zakynthos, ΚΟΝΟΜΟΣ 1969k: 17, 109.1)

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

ἔτερον χωράφιον ... ὅπερ ἀμφιέρωσεν ... ὁ Ἰωάννης Καλβίσης, ὅπερ ἦτον καταρπάσσοντα αὐτὸ ὁ τοῦ χωρίου ραχαλκαστής, ὅπερ χωρίον μένει (1141, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 5, 18.7) χωράφιον, ὅπερ κτώμεθα (1143–4, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 14, 135.10) χωράφιον ὅπερ ἔχομεν εἰς τόπον ἐπιλεγόμενον Ὑλικὴν, τὸ ὅπερ κληρονομοῦμεν (1152–3, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 20, 128.7); αὐτὸς Θεόδωρος Καρβούνης, ὅπερ ἦλθον μαρτυροῦντες ἐνώπιον ἡμῶν χρήσιμοι ἄνθρωποι (1156, ibid. 28, 160.18–19) τὸ ἡμέτερον χωράφιον ὅπερ προλαβὼν ἡγόρακε ὁ πατήρ ἡμῶν (1157, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 9, 92.5) βηλόθυρον ὅπερ ἀπέστειλα ἀπὸ τὰ Ἰωάννινα (1375, Ioannina?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 147, 107.11) ἀμπέλιον ὅπερ ἐνὶ ἐν τῇ τοποθεσίᾳ τοῦ Στύλου (14th c.?, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1994: 1, 286.17) ἐπιδιδώμεν τὸ ἀμπέλιον ὅπερ ἔχωμεν (1457, Arcadia, ΜΑΝΟΥΣΑΚΑΣ 1981: 319.8) ὅπερ καὶ ἐγένετο Pol. Tr. 108 app. crit. (X) ἔφθασα τὸ θηρίον, ὅπερ ἀπέκτεινα ἐγὼ Dig. A 4451

ποσὸν ὅπερ ἀξιάζει Ptochol. α 337 ἀλλ' ὅπερ φέρεται τὸ γλυκὺν φέρεται καὶ τὴν πικρίαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 806 τὸ Ἐξαμίλιον, ὅπερ ἐνὶ τὸ μῆκος οὐργιᾶς γὰρ ΣΦΡΑΝΤΖΙΣ, Chron. 10.3

τὸ ραβδί ὅπερ ἔριξε ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 251.13

τὸ ἐμὸν χωράφι, ὅπερ ἔχομεν εἰς τὴ Γιάννιτσα (1609, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: III, 71.8) τὸ χοντζέτιον τοῦ αὐθεντὸς τοῦ μοῦλᾶ ὅπερ ἔδωσαν (1629, Thessaloniki, ΠΑΥΛΙΚΙΑΝΟΥ 2005: 11, 133.8) ἐνα ἀμπέλι ὅπερ καὶ λέγεται τοῦ πατῆ Γρηγόρη (1652, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 69, 179.11) τὸ χωράφι ὅπερ εἶχε ἀγορασμένο (1661, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 42, 315.2) τοῦ αἰσχίστου αὐτῶν προσκυνήματος, ὅπερ καλοῦσιν αὐτοὶ Μεκκέ ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali Prol. 22

τὸ ἡμέτερον οἰκότοπον ὄνπερ κτῶμεν (1221, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 7, 379.7) τὸ ἀμπέλιον ὄνπερ ἠγόρασεν (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 18, 34.8) ἕνα σπῆτι ὄνπερ ἔχει (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 26, 105.4) τὸ ὅποιο περιβόλι εὐρίσκεται τὴν σήμερον εἰς τὰ χέρι(αν) τοῦ Καλούτζη, ὄνπερ ἔναι πλησίον τοῦ Γιαννέτου (1472 [copy of 1604], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 107, 215.11)
 τὸ ἀμπέλι ὄνπερ ἔχου (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 819, 715.4) τὸ χωράφι ὄνπερ ἔχω (1618, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: V, 72.7) ἕνα κομμάτι χωράφι ὄνπερ ἔχει εἰς τὸν Κάλαμον (1624, Cythera, SEREMETIS 1962: 1, 131.6) τὸ πατρικὸ τοῦ τὸ ἀμπέλι ὄνπερ τὸ ἔχει εἰς τὴν ἐξουσίαν τοῦ (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 1, 3.4); ἐπὶ τὸ παρὸν συνοικέσιον ὄνπερ βούλομαι ποιῆσαι (ibid. 2, 3.2) τῶν ἱερῶν δέκα βίβλων μετὰ τοῦ ἁγίου εὐαγγελίου οὗπερ ἀργυρίῳ ἐκόσμησα (1313, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 8, 52.27)

Neuter Genitive

 περὶ τὴν ὑπόθεσιν τοῦ ὀσπιτίου οὗπερ ἔχει διαφορὰν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 11, 47.7) τοῦ τοσοῦτου κάλλους, οὗπερ οἶδας Ptochol. α 706 (ms V)

Plural

Masculine Nominative

μύθους τοῦ Ἀχιλλέως, | ὁμοίως καὶ τοῦ Ἑκτορος, οἵπερ εἰσὶ ψευδῶδεις Dig. A 1328 ὁμοῦ μὲ ὄλους τοὺς ἱερεῖς, οἱ περ θέλουν ὑπογράψαι (1525, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 5, κα'.12)

Masculine Genitive

μέσον πάλιν τῶν ἀδελφῶν ὥνπερ λέγονται ἐκ πλαγίου συγγενεῖς (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 245.635)
 λίθων πολυτίμων τε ὥνπερ οὐκ ἔχει ὁ κόσμος Velth. 445 ἐκ τῶν ὥνπερ ἔφερον χριστιανῶν σεργούνιδων Ekth. Chron. 19.21

Masculine Accusative

ἐκείνους γὰρ οὗσπερ ὄρῳ πρὸς ἡμᾶς ἐρχομένους Dig. G IV.655 τοὺς ὄρκους οὗσπερ ὤμοσα Pol. Tr. 9172 app. crit. (C); τοὺς πολλοὺς κόλπους οὗσπερ ἐκροῦαν ibid. 10306
 λόγους δέ γε νὰ τοὺς κρύψω | οὗσπερ εἶπα σοι ἀρτίως Ptochol. α 903 τοὺς μεγίστους δὲ τοὺς ὄρκους, τὰς πολλὰς τε ὑποσχέσεις, οὗσπερ ἔδωκαν LOUKANIS, Ilias 17.24
 τῶν μαρτύρων οὗσπερ ἐπαρεκάλεσα (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 149, 269.19)

Feminine Genitive

χαρίτων καὶ δουλειῶν ὥνπερ εἴληφεν ἀπὸ τὴν παρούσαν κυρά Πετροῦν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 12, 47.7)
 περὶ των δεήσεων και προσευχῶν ὥνπερ ἐδέετον ἡ σουλτάνα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 530a

Feminine Accusative

δι' ἅσπερ εἶπον ἄνωθεν πολλὰς παρανομίας Ptoch. IV 641 διὰ τὰς αἰτίας ἅσπερ οἶδατε ὑμεῖς (14th c., Cyprus, KODER et al. 2001: 245, 438) συντυχίας, | ἅσπερ ὠμίλει μετ' αὐτὴν καὶ μὲ τὰς ἄλλας κόρας Velth. 821–2

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

νομίματα ἑκατὸν τριακονταδύο, ἅπερ νομίματα ... παρὰ διαφόρων προσώπων ἐδανεισάμην (1024, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 25, 175.14) τὰ δὲ χωράφια ἅπερ ἠγόρασα (11th c., S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 7, 43.9); ταρία χρυσοῦ πεντήκοντα, ἅπερ ταρία χρυσοῦ λαβόντες ἡμεῖς (1254, ibid. 61, 266.13) καὶ τὰ χροάδια, ἅπερ καὶ ταῦτα ἠγόρασα εἰς τὸ χωρίον τῆς αὐτῆς ἐκκλησίας μου (1216, Macedonia/Serres region?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 12, 123.18) ζητημάτων ἅπερ δέονται οἱ Ρωμαῖοι (1303, Thessaloniki, CONSTANTINIDI-BIBICOU 1956: 2, 126.12)
 τὰ καλὰ ἅπερ ἔχεις (1382, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 2, 89.4) ἄκουσον ἅπερ ὁ τάλας γράφω Ptoch. I 14 διὰ τὴν τιμὴν καὶ ἔπαινος, ἅπερ τοῦ ἐμαρτύρα Chron. Mor. H 1889 εἰσὶ καὶ τὰ βιβλία ἅπερ ἀφῆκα ἐγὼ (1375, Ioannina?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 147, 107.15) ἐκ τῶν μεριδίων τοῦ ἀμπελώνος ἅπερ ἔχει (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 182.)
 ἀπὸ πάντα μου τὰ καλὰ ἅπερ ἔχω ποιήσῃν (1403, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 10, 93.4) ταῦτα τὰ πολλὰ, ἅπερ σὲ λέγω Liv. V 287 ἅπερ μέλλουσιν συμβαίνει Ptochol. α 703 τὰ κόκκαλα ἅπερ ἔχομεν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 159.9
 τὰ δύο ἐργαστήρια ἅπερ εἶχεν (1560, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 3, 5.15) πολλὰ ἀμπέλια, ἅπερ ἦσαν ἔτοιμα τοῦ τρύγου (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III, 40.5–6)

Neuter Genitive

τῶν δυσχερῶν ἀπάλλαξον σοφῶν μηχανημάτων, | ὧνπερ κατεῖπον ἄνωθεν Ptoch. IV 661 ἀπὸ παντοίων φαύλων ὧνπερ ἤθελον ἔλθεῖν πρὸς με (1403, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 10, 93.5)
 τῶν τριῶν ἐτῶν, ὧνπερ ὑπῆρχεν ἔγκυος ἡ ὑμῶν μήτηρ Spanos D 561

5.9.1.5.2 Usage

Most instances of the genitive case appear as a result of relative attraction, e.g.:

τοῦ σπηλαίου οὗπερ ... ἀφιέρωσεν (1089, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 51, 67.)
 ἀπὸ παντοίων φαύλων ὧνπερ ἤθελον ἔλθεῖν πρὸς με ὀφλημάτων (1382, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 2, 89.4)
 ἀπὸ τοῦ ὑπερβάλλοντος τῆς θαλάσσης κακοῦ, οὗπερ καθ' ὁδὸν ἡμᾶς συνήντησεν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 146.15
 περὶ τῆς αναιδούς αὐτῶν των Αγαρηνῶν προσευχῆς καὶ δεήσεως ἥσπερ προσφέρουσιν εἰς τοὺς μιαροὺς αὐτῶν αγρίους IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4336a

In rare instances ὅσπερ seems to be used as the equivalent of ὅποιος, i.e. with the meaning “whoever, whatever”. This use is unattested in Classical and Koine Greek:

ἵνα τηρήσω καὶ ἐξιόσω τὰ ἅπερ ὑφίσταται ἄδικά τως, ἀποκαταστήσαι δὲ ἕνα ἕκαστον εἰς τὸ οἶκεῖον αὐτοῦ πράγμα (1271, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 70, 200.9) καὶ τὰ, ἅπερ ἐκράτησα λόγῳ μου εἰς μικράν μου περιποίησιν (1294, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 180, 286.32) προσάγω ταύτη ... τῇ διειλημμένη σεβασμῇ μονῇ τὰ ἅπερ ἐξ οἰκείων μου κόπων καὶ ἀναλωμάτων ... ἐπεκτησάμην (1313, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 8, 52.9) εἰς ἐξουσίαν σου πᾶσαν, τοῦ ποιεῖν ἐπ' αὐτῶν, καὶ τοῖς δικαίοις αὐτῶν, ὅπερ ἄρα θελήσης καὶ βούλεσαι (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 473.17)

- ἐπιδίδωμι πρὸς τὴν μονὴν ... ὅπερ εὐρίσκονται εἰς τὰς χεῖρας μου (1471, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 173, 197.3) ὅλα τὰ δικαίωματα καὶ μέρος ᾧ ἔχει καὶ ἅπερ ἀκαρτερεῖ να ἔχει (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 181, 153.15) ἴνα ἐνδύση ἡ κουμσαρία μου τόσα πτωχὰ ἅπερ αὐτῆς φανῇ (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 148, 267.28)

The fact that the pronoun ὅσπερ is no longer a feature of spoken language is betrayed by its frequent use in medieval texts as a hypercorrection of ὁπού, i.e. as an uninflected general relativizer (see also EGEA 1988: 62; MINAS ²2003: 172; KRIARAS, Lex. includes the lemmata ἅπερ, ὅπερ, though with scant documentation). The usual form of the uninflected pronoun is ὅπερ but in rare cases an uninflected ἅπερ also appears (mainly in S. Italy). Uninflected ὅπερ (or ὄνπερ, or ὅμπερ with assimilation) is particularly common in legal documents from a wide variety of areas, especially S. Italy and the Heptanese. Examples of uninflected usage:

ὄπερ, ὄνπερ

- καρυδίς ὄπερ καὶ εἰσὶν εἰς Πλαζτινίτες (1039–40, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 2, 69.10) τὸν ἐμὸν ἀμπελῶνα, ὄπερ ἐστὶν εἰς τὸν Καταρράκτην (1135, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 5, 65.3) τὸν ναὸν τῆς ἁγίας Θεοτόκου ὄπερ οἰκοδόμησα (1145, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 4, 615.4) τὴν ἐκκλησίαν ὄπερ ἔχομεν εἰς τὴν Ἀρσαφίαν (1159, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 30, 168.4–5) τὰ χωράφια σοῦ τοῦ ἀγοραστοῦ, ὄπερ ἔχεις ἀγορὰν (1201, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 256, 348.18) τῆς γῆς ὄπερ ἐπροσήλωσεν (1358?, Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. II C, 231.1) ἐβάλασιν καὶ ἄλλους ἔξι Φράγκους, | ὄπερ ἐμοιράσασιν τοὺς τόπους Chron. Mor. H 1650 κατὰ τὴν ἐνθύμησιν ὄπερ ἔδωσαν πρὸς αὐτοὺς (1436, Corfu, ASONITIS 2000: 1, 408.28) τὴν τρίτην μοῖραν ὄπερ κατὰκειται πλησίον τοῦ Ἀγίου Ἰωάννου (1437, Pontos, ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015: 9, 20.6) γραφὴ ὄπερ ἀπέστειλεν Achil. N 441 οὐδέ τὴν τολμηρὴν καρδίαν, τὴν τόλμην ὄπερ εἶχεν Theseid VI.31,5 (Olsen) τοὺς λόγους ὄπερ εἶχεν Liv. S 482b οἱ κόντοι ἐκεῖνοι ἐνώθησαν, ὄπερ ἐγὼ ὀνομάζω Chron. Mor. P 127 μὲ τὴν γνώσιν ὄπερ εἶχεν Ptochol. α 48 περὶ τῶν κελλίων ὄπερ εἶχεν ἡ μονὴ (1501, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 6, 102.3) αὐτὴ ἐστὶν ἡ προῖκα καὶ τὰ ρούχα, ὄπερ δίδει (1509, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1950: 1, 153.2) τὸν κριὸν τὸν θαυμαστόν, ὄπερ ἔχει κέρατα μακρὰ Diig. Alex. F 186.7 (Lolos); τὰ σεντούκια, ὄπερ μᾶς ἀπόστειλες ibid. 154.22–156.1
 οἱ κριταὶ ὄπερ εἶχαν βάλεῖ (1560, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 3, 5.12) διὰ τὰ βουτσία ὄπερ ἔκαμε (1573, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 9, 62.5) διὰ τὴν πολλὴν εὐλάβειαν καὶ ἀγάπην ὄπερ εἶχεν (1595, Crete, STEFANIDOU 2004: 4, 161.19) σκεύη καὶ ἱερά, ὄπερ καὶ τὴν σήμερον εὐρίσκονται (1610–20, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 23, 95.21) ἔσαν καλόγερον ὄπερ ἔχουν (1657, Kefalonia, ANDONAKATOU 1989: 63.5) μίαν ἑλιά ὄπερ εἶχε εἰς τὴν ἐξουσίαν του (1699, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 282, 187.4) τὰ χωράφια ὄνπερ ἔχει (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 12, 91.5) τὴν σταφίδα ὄνπερ ἔχει χωρισμένην (1579, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 5, 23.5) τὰ χωράφια ὄνπερ ἔχει εἰς τὴν> Παλιόπολη (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 19, 15.5)

ἄπερ

τὸ ξενοδοχεῖον ἄπερ ὑπάρχει ἐν τῷ ἄστει (1112, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 31, 143.9) τὸ φῖον ἄπερ ὑπῆρχε ποτὲ Ροπέρτου (1198, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 246, 333.33); τοῦ Περρέτου τοῦ ξμοῦ καμπριλίγκου, ἄπερ πιστὰ μοῦ ἐδούλευσεν (ibid. 246, 334.2) ὁ χάρτος ὁ παλαιὸς ἄπερ σοὶ ἔδωσαν (1204, S. Italy?, TRINCHERA 1865: 259, 352.15) καὶ μοῦλον ἐν ἄπερ καβαλλικεύει ὁ ἡγούμενος (1334, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 43, 134.3) τοῦ ἀμπελώνος, ἄπερ ἔχει (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 182.6) καὶ ἤρασιν πάντας τοὺς χριστιανούς, ἄπερ εἶδασιν εἰς τὴν ρηθεῖσαν κώμην (1404, S. Italy, GIUNTA 1968: 129.6)
 τοὺς πολέμους ἄπερ ERMON., Ilias 5.155 τὰς γραφάς, ἄπερ ἐστίλεις (1567, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 5, 305.3) τὸ χωράφι ἄπερ εἶχαμεν (1624, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 10, 311.3); τὶς τοποθεσίεις ἄπερ εἶχα (1671, ibid. 69, 318.3); τὸν ἀμπελότοπον ἄπερ εἶναι πατρικὸν μου (1684, ibid.
 91, 321.3)

In some cases the hypercorrection goes a step further and an uninflected form of the pronoun is used instead of the locative adverb ὅπου. The form οὐπερ was used as locative already in Classical Greek (see LSJ, s.v. ὅς); it should therefore be viewed as an archaism rather than as a new tendency towards loss of inflection:

ταβέρνα ὅπερ πράσκειται οἶνος (1334, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 43, 134.5) ἐκέϊσε εἰς τὸν Ἀλμυρόν, ὅπερ τοὺς εἶχεν φέρει | ὁ δοῦκας γὰρ τῶν Ἀθηνῶν Chron. Mor. H 7274;
 ἦτον εἰς τὴν Πόλιν, | ἄπερ τὸν ἐκράτει ὁ βασιλέας εἰς φυλακὴν τοῦ ἀπέσω ibid. 7969
 εἰς αὐτὸ δὴ τὸ χωρίον τὰ Μολιβωτινά, ὅπερ εὐρίσκόμεν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 168.26 εἰς τὸν τόπον τοῦ Σκαμανδρηνοῦ, οὗ ἔρχεται ἡ ὁδὸς τῆς μεγάλης Μέσης τοῦ ἁγιωνύμου ὄρους, ὅπερ ἐστὶ λίθοι ριζιμαῖοι μεγάλοι καὶ σταυρός (16th c., Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1978: App. I, 91.23)
 εἰς τὸν ναὸν ὅπερ μέλλω θαφεῖ (1524, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 153, 189.14) ἐγγὺς τοῦ κελίου εἴτε ἐργαστηρίου ὅπερ ἡ παρούσα κυρὰ Καταφυγὴ μοναχὴ οἰκεῖ (1539, Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 1, 97.14) διαπερᾶ τὸν προειρημένον ποταμὸν τὸν ὀνομαζόμενον Ἀκλινόν, εἴτα τὸν ἕτερον ποταμόν, οὐπερ καὶ λινοβορροεῖον εὐρίσκεται τῆς αὐτῆς (1301, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1994: 70, 172.360)
 ἐνδοθεν οἰκίας οὐπερ οἰκεῖ (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 44, 75.1) τοῦ σεβομένου αὐτῶν θεηλάτου Μωάμεθ, ομοῦ καὶ τοῦ αθέσμου αὐτοῦ τάφου, οὐπερ κατέθεντο το δυνειδέστατον καὶ μιάρὸν αὐτοῦ πτώμα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali Prol. 20

In a few isolated instances an uninflected ὅπερ erroneously takes the place of the conjunction ὥσπερ, e.g. ἀποκρένεσθαι διὰ μέρους αὐτῶν ... ὅπερ νὰ ἦσαν καὶ σωματικῶς οἱ ἀναγεγραμμένοι (1436, Corfu, ASONITIS 2000: 1, 408.32); ἐν τῇ τοποθεσίᾳ καὶ τοὺς πλησιασμούς ὅπερ δηλοποιεῖ τὸ περιβιλέγιον (1482 [copy of 1688], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 108, 216.14).

5.9.1.5.3 τόν, τήν, τό + ὅσπερ

An innovative use of the relative pronoun ὅσπερ, ἥπερ, ὅπερ is its collocation with the definite article, or more probably with the homophonous relative pronoun τόν, τήν, τό. This construction first appears in a S. Italian document of the 10th c.: τοῦ βιβαρίου τὸ ἄπερ ἦν προαφιερώσασα ἡ μοναχὴ Δομνέλλα (984, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 9, 8.4) and is a common feature in legal documents from S. Italy throughout the MedG period, especially in certain types of contract, where it is used in a quasi-formulaic manner. The phenomenon has been extensively discussed by NICHOLAS (1997, 1998b) on the basis of three collections of documents (TRINCHERA 1865, CUSA 1868/82 and GUILLOU 1963). The exhaustive examination of the full corpus of S. Italian archival material has provided additional documentation and verification of his conclusions. The investigation of an extensive body of texts has also revealed several attestations of the construction in a variety of texts outside S. Italy (including literary works).

The construction τόν, τήν, τό + ὅσπερ takes two forms: one with uninflected ὅπερ (i.e. τὸν ὅπερ, τήν ὅπερ, τὸ ὅπερ) and one with uninflected ἄπερ, the latter being exclusive to S. Italy (i.e. τὸν ἄπερ, τήν ἄπερ, τὸ ἄπερ). The agreement in the construction τὰ ἄπερ may be coincidental; nevertheless, the absence of τὰ ὅπερ could be indicative of number agreement. In general, this construction appears in the accusative form, in restrictive relative clauses, always with inanimate referents. Therefore, its distribution is almost identical with that of the relative pronoun τόν, τήν, τό. In the rare instances where the syntax of the relative clause demands a masc. or fem. nom. sg., the neuter form is used instead, e.g. ἡ ὁδὸς τὸ ὅπερ ἀπέρχεται (1180, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 201, 264.11); ὁ οἶκος κυροῦ Νικολάου Καβαλλαρίου, τὸ ὅπερ ὑπῆρχε Γιόφφου Σαντανέλλου (1200, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 249, 338.21).

The limited syntactic distribution, as well as the very early appearance of this construction, preclude an etymological connection with the formally similar relative pronoun ὁ ὅποιος, τὸν ὅποιο etc. (see 5.9.1.3). Instead, it could be interpreted as a hypercorrect extension of the complex relative constructions in which the relative clause appears embedded between the definite article and its governing noun, e.g. καὶ τὸ ὅπερ εὐρίσκεται κατέχουσα νῦν περὶ τήν πόλιν τὰς Σέρρας μετόχιον (1329, Constantinople?/Athos?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 118, 7.242) (see also NICHOLAS 1998b: 294–7). A similar interpretation was adduced in the case of the collocations τὸν ὄν, τὰ ᾗ etc. (see 5.9.1.4). The morphosyntactic features of this construction clearly indicate that it does not belong to the normal evolution of the spoken language but is instead an element restricted to certain registers, especially legal.

τὸν ὅπερ

τὸν ὅπερ ἀμπελώ[να] (1234, Sicily, CARUSO 1976: 1, 322.6)

ὁ μάντις εἶπε μοι, τὸν ὅπερ ἔβλεπον ἐν ὀνείρῳ Liv. α 2809 app. crit. (P) τὸν Δηίφοβον ... τὸν ὅπερ πάντα θλίβονται Pol. Tr. 8601 εἶδες, ψυχὴ, τὸν ἄγουρον τὸν ὅπερ ἐφοβήθης; Achil. N 1594 app. crit.

τὸν ἄπερ

τὸν ἡμέτερον ἀμπελῶνα, τὸν ὄντα εἰς τόπον λεγόμενον Κοδέμα, τὸν ἄπερ εἶχε ἀγοραστὸν ἐκ τὸν Ὀσβέρνον (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 9, 523.5) τὸν κῆπον, τὸν ἄπερ ἐδέσποσεν ἡ μονὴ (1162, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1963: 9, 98.19) τὸ ἡμέτερον οἰκοτόπον, τὸ ἄπερ ἔχω ἀπέσω τοῦ θεοσώστου ἄστεως ... τὸν ἄπερ καὶ ἔχω ἐκ πατρικῆς ἡμῶν κληρονομίας (1204, S. Italy?, TRINCHERA 1865: 259, 352.13)

τὴν ὄπερ

χάριτα νὰ σὲ ποίσω, | τὴν ὄπερ πολεμῶ στανέο μου Pol. Tr. 9176 app. crit. (B) ἐκκλησίαν τὴν ὄπερ εἶχαμε γονικὴν (1360, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 49, f.236r.6) τὴν Μονεμβασίαν τὴν ὄπερ ἐβάστα κῦρ Μανουήλ ὁ Παλαιολόγος (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 34.I, 25.5–6) τὴν διαφορὰν τὴν ὄπερ ἔχουν (1569, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 1999: 28, 394.5)

τὴν ἄπερ

τὴν ἀλλαγὴν τὴν ἄπερ ἔχω (1060–1, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 4, 58.18) τὴν μονὴν τοῦ ἁγίου Ὀνουφρίου ... τὴν ἄπερ κεῖται (1093, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 58, 75.11); εἰς τὴν ὁδὸν τὴν ἄπερ ἔρχετον (1118, ibid. 85, 112.9); ἡ μοιρασία τὴν ἄπερ καὶ ἐποίησαν οἱ ἐρεμίτες (1125, ibid. 96, 125.1) ἄπασαν τὴν ἐμὴν ὑπόστασιν τὴν ἄπερ κτῶμαι (1155, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 25, 148.5); τὴν ἀρὰν τὴν ἄπερ ἔδωσαν (1168–9, ibid. 36, 191.13); τὴν φυτίαν τὴν ἄπερ ἔχω (1197–8, ibid. 42, 217.13)

τῶν ἄπερ ἀπὸ τῶν ἡμετέρων ἐλαίων τῶν ἄπερ ἐγκέντρισα (1213, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 263, 359.13)

τὲς ἄπερ

ἔχω καὶ ἐλαῖες ... τὲς ἄπερ μεράζω μὲ τὸν Σκυλλάκην (1222–3, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 48, 248.19)

τὸ ὄπερ

τὸ ὄπερ ἀμπέλιον ἐστὶν ἐκ τὸ δυσικὸν μέρος (1134, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 4, 14.11) τὸ χωράφιον τὸ ὄπερ ἔχω (1145, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 16, 144.4); τὸ ἀμπέλιον τὸ ὄπερ ἔχω (1155–6, ibid. 18, 154.7) τὸ χωράφιον τὸ ὄπερ ὑπῆρχε τοῦ Ἀλαῖμου (1216, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 23, 108.13) τὸ ἡμέτερον ἀμπέλιον τὸ ὄπερ κτῶμαι (1235–6, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 49, 251.6) ἐπλήρωσα καὶ τὸ ζήτημα τὸ ὄπερ ἐζήτησεν ὁ σιρ Δόβρος (1237, Arta, BARIŠIĆ 1966: [1], 2.7) τὸ λωρίν, τὸ ὄπερ ἔχω εἰς τὸ Πυργίν (ca. 1245, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 16, 7.7) ἔδωκα χωράφιον ... τὸ ὄπερ ἔχω ἐξ ἀγορασίας (14th c., Athos, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 43.XIX, 253.105)
πεπράκαμεν τὸν τόπον, τὸ εἶχαμεν εἰς τὸ Κουνάκαλιν τὸ Ἀχιαντώνιν, τὸ ὄπερ κεῖται τοῦ Ἁγίου Ἰωάννου πλησίον (1344, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 99, 57.3); τὸ ἀλώνιν τῆς Λαζογιανίνας τὸ ὄπερ ἔχει ὁ Πρόδρομος (1435, ibid. 13, 6.6) τοῦ ἀμπελῶνος, ἄπερ ἔχει ... τὸ ὄπερ ἔναι εἰς τὴν περιοχὴν (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 182.6)
μηδὲ χαρίσης πρᾶγμα, τὸ ὄπερ οὐκ ἔχεις ἐξουσιάν, οὐδὲ εἰς τὸ θέλημάν σου Spaneas Z 185 ποῖον ἐστί; Τὸ ὄπερ οὔτε εἶδαμεν οὔτε ἠκούσαμεν Vios Aisop. E 291.2
τὸ μοιρογράφημά του, | τὸ ὄπερ ἐθεάσατο ἐν τῷ Ἐρωτοκάστρῳ Velth. 1116–17 τοῦ κελλίου τὸ ὄπερ ἦν εἰς τὸ Πρωτάτο (1519, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 11, 113.4) ἐπούλησα τὸ χωράφι τὸ ὄπερ εἶχα (1552, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 179.3)

τὸ ἄπερ

τὸ ἄπερ καὶ ἔχω ἀγορασμένον (1005, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 13, 13.13) εἰς τὸ χωρίον τὸ ἄπερ ἔχω μὲ τὸν θεῖον μου (1060–1, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 4, 58.22) εἰς τὸ κλεῖσμαν τοῦ Δαμαλίνου, τὸ ἄπερ ἔχω ἀγορὰν (1064–5, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 42, 170.4)
τὸ ἀμπέλιον, τὸ ἄπερ ἔχω ἀπάνω τοῦ ποταμοῦ (1100–15, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 28, 129.12) τὸ ἡμέτερον χωράφιον τὸ ἅπερ κτώμεθα (1136–7, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 1, 61.6) τὸ χωράφιον τοῦ Μουτάρη, τὸ ἅπερ ἔχω (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 130, 172.11) τὸ χωράφιον τὸ ἅπερ ἔχω ἀγορὰν (1145, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 15, 140.3) τὸ χωράφιον ἡμῶν τὸ ἅπερ ἔχομεν (post 1155, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 11, 100.4) χωράφιον τὸ ἅπερ ἔχομεν εἰς τόπον λεγόμενον Λαγκούσαν, τὸ ἅπερ κρατῶ ἐκ πατρικῆς μου κληρονομίας (1156, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 26, 152.10) τὸ ἐμὸν χωράφιον τὸ ἅπερ ἔχω (1163, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 8, 52.6); τὸ ἡμέτερον ὀσπίτιον τὸ ἅπερ ἔχω πενθερικόν μου (1187, ibid. 11, 61.8) τὸ ἀπόριον Κώνστα Κουπάνη, τὸ ἅπερ κρατοῦν οἱ μοναχοὶ (1181, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 36, 183.14) σύνορον σοῦ τῆς σεβασμίας μονῆς· τῆς ἀγοραζούσης· τὸ ἅπερ ἐπικράτουν (1213, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 263, 359.20)

 τὸ χωράφιον τὸ ἅπερ ἔχω (1222–3, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 48, 248.14) τὸ ἅπερ ἦμισυ ὀσπίτιον ... εἶχες ... γεγραμμένον (1233, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 289, 401.16); χωράφιον εἰς τόπον τοῦ λεγόμενου Φράγκου, τὸ ἅπερ εἶχαμεν ἀλλαγὴν (1243, ibid. 293, 409.29)

τὰ ἅπερ

τὰ χωράφια τὰ ἅπερ καὶ ἔχομεν (1034, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 29, 34.12) τὰ ἅπερ καὶ ἐμετρήθησαν (1042, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 3, 49.42) νομοκάνονα ἔχετε, τὰ ἅπερ ἔχουν γεγραμμένας τὰς ἀγίας συνόδους ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 310.19– 20 ἀμπέλια τὰ ἅπερ καὶ ἔχομεν (1123, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 4, 60.10) χωράφιόν μας τὸ διακείμενον εἰς τόπον λεγόμενον Ἡλίκιν, τὰ ἅπερ ἔχομεν ἐκ πατρικῆς κληρονομίας (1177, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 39, 199.8) τὰ χωράφια τῆς δηλουμένης ἀγίας μονῆς ἀγίου Στεφάνου, τὰ ἅπερ κρατεῖ (1184, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 218, 286.15)
 τὰ ἅπερ σὺ οὐ γινώσκεις Spaneas Va 122 τὰ ἅπερ ταρία (1206, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 6, 377.9) τὰ ἅπερ νομίσματα ἡμεῖς λαβόντες ἀπὸ τῶν χειρῶν σου (1216, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 23, 108.17); τὰ χωράφια τὰ ἅπερ ἔχει ἡ ἀγία μονὴ (1220–1, ibid. 16, 78.7) ἐκ τὰ χωράφια τοῦ Ἀγραρίου, τὰ ὄντα χωράφια εἰς τὴν τοποθεσίαν Στάλακτης, τὰ ἅπερ συνοροῦνται (1243, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 293, 409.11) σὺν τῶν ἐκεῖσε ἡμεροδένδρων καὶ ἀγρίου ὄρους, τὰ ἅπερ εἰσὶν ἐν τῇ περιχώρᾳ Στύλου ... τὰ ἅπερ περιορίζονται οὕτως (1245, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 50, 255.10–11) δένδρα ἐλαϊκὰ ... τὰ ἅπερ εἶχεν ὁ Πετρίτσης (1251, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 4, 24.34)

5.9.1.6 τίς

There is limited evidence from S. Italian documents for a pronominal form τίς functioning as a definite relative. This function should be compared to the modern Greek dialects of S. Italy, where indeed τίς/τί is a regular inflected relativizer (ROHLFS 1977: 97–8; KARANASTASIS 1997: 73; NICHOLAS 1998a: 521–7). Previous scholarship disagrees as to whether the medieval and modern dialectal form should be considered as deriving from the indefinite relative ὅστις/ὃ,τι (PERNOT 1907/46: II 231–2; ROHLFS 1977: 97–8; NICHOLAS 1998a: 524–7, with extensive discussion of the etymological issues) or as a direct continuation of interrogative τίς, following a cross-linguistically common evolutionary path (KAPSOMENOS 1953b: 334; KARANASTASIS, Lex. s.v. τίς–τί ἀντων. ἀναφορ.; LIOSIS/KRIKI 2013: 251–5). The relative use of interrogative τίς has been located in papyri from the time of the Koine (DIETERICH 1898: 200; KRIKI 2013: 157–65) and is also to be found, outside S. Italy, in the modern Pontic dialect. Nevertheless, in the case of S. Italian dialects (both medieval and modern), the influence of Italian and its local dialects, where the interrogative and the relative pronoun are homophonous in the form chi, cannot be discounted (a proposal already put forward by PERNOT 1907/46: II 232 n. 2; NICHOLAS 1998a: 524). It should also be noted that the S. Italian documents in which this innovative function of τίς appears display, without exception, a rather low level of competence in Greek, and are full of agreement errors and transfer phenomena. Another problematic fact involving the postulation of relative τίς as an archaic (Hellenistic) survival in modern S. Italian, as opposed to the “innovative” development of relative όπού/πού, is the extreme dearth and dubious quality of the MedG attestations of the former, in contrast to the rich textual tradition of the latter (see 5.9.1.1). Therefore, a scenario of “revival” of a dying archaism would have to be admitted in any case, in order to explain the retreat of όπού/πού (a vernacular and not a learned form) from modern Calabrian Greek; the likeliest cause of such a revival is external influence, i.e. contact with Italian. Finally, outside S. Italy, there is no trace of a relative function of τίς in the texts examined.

εἰς τὴν ἐξουσίαν τῆς μεγάλης ἐκκλησίαν τοῦ Σωτῆρος τῆς ἀνοικοδομήθη (1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 5, 618.17) ἀπὸ τῆς δημοσίας οδοῦ τὴ ὑπάει εἰς τὸν Κουκκιάτον ... τὸ χωράφιον τῆς ἀγίας Θεοτόκου τοῦ Ἑρεμίτου τὴ κρατεῖ κυροῦ Πέτρος ἱατρός ... τὸν σύνορον τοῦ χωραφίου τοῦ κυροῦ Ρωγερίου ... τὴ κρατεῖ Ρωγέριος τοῦ Ἀσσέλμου ... δίδει εἰς τὸν χωράφιον τὴ κρατεῖ Γιουφρίδας Τορνάτωρ (1179, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 50, 217.9, 9–10, 13, 15); τοῦ ἡμετέρου οἰκοτόπου τὴ ἔχομεν ἀπὸ πατρικῆς καὶ μητρικῆς κληρονομίας (1194, ibid. 51, 220.7) τὴν ἄμπελον μετὰ τὸ χωράφιον ἀργὸν τὴ ἐστὶν ἐπάνω τὴν ἄμπελον (1227, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 276, 377.12)

DIETERICH (1898: 286) draws attention to three instances of a MedG use of the interrogative pronoun τίς as an indefinite relative (= ὅστις). The first two involve attestations in the 1547 Pentateuch, which, however, are considered Hebraisms by the editor (HESSELING 1897: XLVII): καὶ εἶπεν· τίς ἰὰ τὸν κύριο πρὸς ἐμέν· καὶ ἐμαζώχτηκαν πρὸς αὐτὸν ὅλα τὰ παιδιὰ Pent. Ex. 32.26; καὶ εἶπεν ὁ κύριος πρὸς τὸν Μοσε· τίς ὃς ἔφταιξεν ἐμέν νὰ τὸν γλυώσω ἀπὸ τὸ χαρτί μου ibid. 32.33. The third case is a rather dubious attestation from the poems of Sultan Walad arguably reflecting an early form of Asia Minor Greek: Τῖς ἔδωκεν τὴν ψυχὴν του, ἔζησεν. | Τῖς ἔδω τσακώθην, ὅλους νίκησεν SULT. WALAD, Poem I 22a–b.

5.9.2 Indefinite Relatives

5.9.2.1 ὅποῖος/ὅποιος

The pronoun ὅποῖος, ὅποιά, ὅποῖον/ὅποιος, ὅποια, ὅποιο(ν) is an indefinite relative with the meaning “whoever, whichever, whatever”, frequent both in literary and non-literary texts. It inflects like an adjective in -ος (see 3.2.2); variation exists only in the presence or absence of final /n/ and in the extremely rare attestations of extended forms. The pronoun appears in all types of texts, both literary and non-literary, irrespective of geographical provenance.

The etymology of the pronoun is disputed: standard dictionaries interpret it as the interrogative ποῖος + an indefinite prefix ὁ- appearing also in ὄγοις, ὅπου, ὅποτε etc. (ANDRIOTIS, Lex., KRIARAS, Lex., as well as BABINIOTIS, Lex. and LKN; see also the comments by CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1990/91: 31–2). According to this analysis, the analogy is founded on pairs of interrogative–relative adverbs such as ποῦ–ὅπου, πότε–ὅποτε etc. This proposal seems to derive, through back-referencing, from a misinterpretation of CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: B 595–7), who discusses the definite relative ὁ ποῖος/ὁ ὁποῖος, but it is also independently defended by PERNOT (1907/46: II 235). However, the alternative analysis that ὅποιος derives from the AG qualitative relative ὁποῖος through stress retraction due to the analogy of ὅστις and other relative pronouns with the prefix ὁ- (proposed by MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 611; JANNARIS 1897: 167, and DIETERICH 1898: 200–1) better fits the picture emerging from the textual data. As a matter of fact, the attestations of an indefinite relative function of ὁποῖος go back to the EMedG period:

ὥστε τιμωρηθῆναι τοὺς ἀταξίας ἢ φόνους ποιοῦντας, ὁποίου δ' ἂν ὑπάρχωσι μέρους, ὥστε μὴ τολμᾶν τινα τοῦ λοιποῦ τὴν οἰανδήποτε ἀταξίαν ποιῇ Malalas, Chronogr. 351.44 ὅθεν καλῶς νενομοθέτηται ἀπὸ τῆς ἑαρινῆς ἰσημερίας, εἰς ὁποίαν δ' ἂν ἐβδομάδα ἐμπέσῃ ἡ τεσσαρισκαδεκαταία τοῦ πρώτου μηνός Chron. Paschale 5.3
δίδου ἀπόφασιν κατ' ἐμοῦ, ὁποίαν ἐθέλεις καὶ οἶαν ὁ σατανᾶς ὁ κατοικῶν ἐν τῇ ψυχῇ σου ἐμβάλῃ σοι John of Damascus, Mart. Art. 63.17 ὁποῖω τρόπῳ δυνηθῆς ἀπόκτεινόν μοι τὸν Ἀρσένιον, μηδενὸς γινώσκοντος Georgios Monachos, Chron. col. 704.6

The same use appears in texts of the LMedG period belonging to a higher register, which display an indefinite function of ὁποῖος, frequently, but not always, in collocation with ἂν or ἄρα, e.g.:

ὀφείλει ἀποκαθιστᾶν ἀκωλύτως καὶ ἀπαρεμποδίστως εἰς τὴν αὐτοῦ τελευτὴν πρόσωπον εὐάγων, ὁποῖον βούλεται (1240, Thessaloniki/Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 70, 3.21); ὁ τοιοῦτος, ὁποῖος ἄρα καὶ εἶη, οὐκ ὀφείλει εἰσακούεσθαι (ibid. 70, 4.40); οὗτος, ὁποῖος ἂν καὶ εἶη, μὴ τύχοι ἐλέους (1284, Thessaloniki, ibid. 75, 32.52) εἰ δέ τις πρὸς τοῦτο χωρήσῃ τολμήσειε, βάσκανος ὢν καὶ πλεονέκτης τῷ ὄντι καὶ ἄδικος ἄνθρωπος, καί γε τὰς ἐμὰς ἀκυρῶσαι ταύτας καὶ ἀνατρέψαι διατάξεις θελήσειεν, ἴστω ἀκριβῶς ὁ τοιοῦτος, ὁποῖος ἄρα καὶ εἶη, ὡς μέγιστον κρίμα βαστάσει Typikon Mon. Vevaias Elpidos (1327–52) 29.17 κἂν ὁποῖος ἔνι, εἴτε θυγάτηρ μου εἴτε ἐγγονία μου ἢ κανεῖς ὁ τυχὼν ἄνθρωπος (1445, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 170, 191.6)

The semantic transition from qualitative to indefinite is quite natural, especially in the context of conditional relative clauses. The morphological and the semantic evolution of ὁποῖος to an indefinite relative was facilitated by the replacement of interrogative τίς by ποῖος/ποιός, bringing about a corresponding replacement of ὅστις by ὁποῖος. A parallel evolution was the tendency of the qualitative ὁποῖος and the indefinite ὅστις to coincide semantically as simple definite relatives (see 5.9.1.3, 5.9.2.5).

Stress retraction in the form ὅποιος, apart from the analogy to ὅστις and other indefinites, may have been promoted by the regular inflectional stress shift in the O-stem adjectives, which could easily have led to an interpretation of gen. τοῦ ὁποίου, τῶν ὁποίων, acc. τοὺς ὁποίους etc. as arising from movement of the stress and not as original forms. The dating of the stress retraction is extremely difficult to determine due to the irregular/unsystematic nature of orthographic and accentuation practices in medieval mss, as well as the normalizing preferences of many editors. It is probable that it had already taken place by the 12th c., as evidenced, for instance, by the Typikon of the Kecharitomeni monastery: ἀνοικοδομεῖν οἰκήματα ἐν τοῖς τόποις τῶν καυθέντων ὅποια δύνανται (1110–16, Constantinople, GAUTIER 1985: 139.2201). Nevertheless, Sofianos (Grammar 45.22) gives only ὁποῖος as an indefinite relative pronoun. It is Germano (Grammar 72–3) and Portius (Grammar 29) who introduce the form ὅποιος with retracted stress into the grammatical tradition.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	ὅποιος ῑ ὁποῖος	ὅποια ῑ ὁποῖα	ὅποιο(ν) ῑ ὁποῖον
Gen.	ὁποίου ῑ ὁποίου ῑ ὁποιονοῦ ῑ ὁποιονοῦ	ὁποίας ῑ ὁποῖας	(ὁποίου) ῑ (ὁποίου)
Acc.	ὁποιο(ν) ῑ ὁποῖο(ν)	ὁποια(ν) ῑ ὁποῖα(ν)	ὁποιο(ν) ῑ ὁποῖο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	ὅποιοι ῑ ὁποῖοι	ὅποιες	ὅποια ῑ ὁποῖα
Gen.	ὁποίων ῑ ὁποίων	(ὁποίων ῑ ὁποίων)	ὁποίων ῑ ὁποίων
Acc.	ὁποίους ῑ ὁποίους	ὅποιες	ὅποια ῑ ὁποῖα

Examples of ὁποῖος/ὅποιος (note that in many cases it is not possible to distinguish between the paroxytone and proparoxytone variants):

Singular

Masculine Nominative

- ὁποῖος λάβη ἀρραβῶνας (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 229.110) καὶ ὅποιος τὰ πιάση, Διγενή, ἔναι πολλὰ ἀνδρειωμένος Dig. E 762 ὅποιος νὰ τὰ ζητήση Assizes B 332.1
καὶ ὁποῖος νὰ θέλῃ νὰ τὸ τσακίσῃ (1408, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 4, 228.5) ὅποιος καὶ ἄν ἔνῃ Assizes A 116.5
ὅποιος ἐτοῦτον τὸ βιβλίον ἀνοίξῃ καὶ ἀναγνώσῃ DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1 (Ὅποίως ms) οποῖος ἦτον ἡ αφορμὴ, νὰ παιδευτεῖ VOUSTR., Chron. A 302.17 οποῖος υπάει με κείνον Theseid VI.22,8 (Olsen); ὅποιος καὶ ἀν ἦτον ἐδεκεῖ ibid. VI.65,1 ὅποιος αὐτὰ ὀρέγεται δουλῶνεται καθόλου FALIEROS, Log. did. 111 ὅποιος τον ἀπατήχνει Apoll. Rim. A 739 ὁποῖος κάμνει ζαβία εἰς τὸ μοναστήρι (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 251.74)

- ὅποιος ἀπὸ τοῦς συντροφούς οὐδὲν ἤθελεν ὑπάγει (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 61, 259.10)
- ὅποιος ἤθελεν καλεσθῆ ἅπ' αὐτοὺς (1546, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 173, 112.18)
- ὅποιος κάμνει τὸν λογαριασμόν του χωρὶς τὸν ταβερνάρη (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 218.6)
- ὅποιος δὲν τὲς φυλάξη DAM. STOUD., Dial. 95.8
- ὅποιος τὸν εἶπη Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 121
- ὅς δ' ἂν βουλευθῆται ἀνατρέψαι τὰ συμφωνηθέντα, ἡ ἐν τοῖς Διονισιάταις ἡ ἐκ τοῦ κελίου ὅποιος λάχη ἡ ἐκ τῆς μονῆς, ἐχέτω τὰς ἀράς τῶν ἀγίων (1582, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 58, 179.14)
- καὶ ὁποῖος ἤθελεν ἀλληλοῦσιν ἀποῦ τσι δύο (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 8, 30.11)
- ὅποιος μιμᾶται τοὺς ἀγίους, κάμνει πολιτείαν ὅπου ἀρέσει τοῦ Θεοῦ MAXIMOS, Synax. Ag. Nik. 242
- ὅποιος παπὰς λειτουργήσῃ (1608, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 18, 180.72)
- ὅποιος ἐναντιεῖται ἀπὸ τοὺς νοικιάτορας (1610–20, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 23, 95.32)
- ὅποιος ἤθελεν ἔβγει (1616, Naxos, KATSOURO 1968: 2, 29.30)
- ὅποιος λοιπὸν θέλει χωρὶς πάθος, χωρὶς μῖσος, χωρὶς φθόνον νὰ ἰδῇ RODINOS, Vios Ign. 53.31
- ὁποιος του εἰζήτα τίποτα, μετὰ χαράς αὐτὸν ἐδίδεν Vios Filaret. 238.20
- ὅποιος εἶχεν φανῇ ἐναντίον (1634, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 2, 111.26)
- ὅποιος βάλῃ σκάνδαλο (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 20.30)
- ὅποιος ἤθελεν ἀποθάνει (1655, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 2001: 96.29)
- ὅποιος δώσῃ τὴν καρπέτα (1673, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 73, 43.2)
- γῆ ὅποιος ἄλλος ἤθελε εἶσται διὰ λόγου του (1674, Milos, IMELLOS 1985/90: 330.13)
- ὅποιος ἔθελε σηκωθῇ (1674, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 31, 32.10)
- ὅποιος γυρεύει ξέν' αὐγὰ χάνει καὶ τὰ δικά του KONDA., Paides 358
- καὶ ὁποῖος ἐν τῇ χειρὶ αὐτὴν βάλλῃ, συγχώρησῃ ἐστὶν τὸ χρέος αὐτοῦ (1680, Epirus, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 2174, f.122v.4)
- ωποιως τὰρὰ{κ}ξοι τω δεσημό / ὁποιος τὰρὰξῃ τὸ δέσιμο (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 8, f.43v.3)
- τὸ ὁποῖον βιβλίον, ὁποιος μοῦ τὸ ἔδωκεν, αἰωνία ἡ μνήμη αὐτοῦ (1695, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 106, 358.2)
- ὁποιος κάθεται εἰς τὴν κατοικίαν του (1699, Andros, POLEMIS 2001: 14, 118.8)
- κι ὁποιος χρεωστοῦσε | ἐπλήρωνε τὸ χρέος του Diig. Vefa 175
- ὁποιος ἔχασε τὸ γουρουνάκι του Paroim. (Warner) 51.21

Masculine Genitive

- τοῦ ἄνωθεν εὐγενεστάτου ἀφέντη Καλλονᾶ γῆ ὁποιοῦ θέλει ἰντραβενίρει (1634, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 5, 270.26)
- κι ὁποιοῦ βρεθῇ σοφώτερον καὶ ἄξιο τὸ πρόβλημά του PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 319
- νὰ τήνε δίδῃ ἡ Ἀρετὴ τῇ τζόγια ὁποιοῦ κερδέσῃ KORNAOS, Erot. II.2430
- ὁποιοῦ ἔὰν θέλει KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 11.23; (ὁποιοῦ αὐτὸς ἐχάρισε τὸ περισσότερον ibid. Louk. 7.43)

Masculine Accusative

- ὁποῖον προσπαύσῃ τὸ σπαθίν του, ὑγίαν ποτὲ οὐκ ἔχει Pol. Tr. 3475 app. crit. (B)
- καὶ ὁποῖον εὗρουσαν νὰ τὸν βάλουν φυλακὴν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 362.14 (ὁποῖον ms V ὁπῖον ms R)
- ὁποῖον βαστά ἡ ὀρέξις, νὰ ῥθῃ γοργό σε μένα Apoll. Rim. A 94
- εἰς ὁποῖον τόπον Imb. Rim. 662
- μὲ ὁποῖον σύντροφοι θέλω εἶσται (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 48, 42.4) ἐκεῖνον ὅποιον μοῦ εἰπεῖς Nov. II 162.59 ὅποιον ἀνθρώπον ἀγαπάει ὁ θεὸς Diig. Alex. E 265.12 (Lolos) εἰς ὅποιον ἱερομόναχον θέλει (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 26, 165.20)

ὅποιον ἐξορίσουν ZYGOM., Synopsis 186.E.64

ἀπὸ ὅποιον ἀπὸ τοὺς ἀνωθε γεγραμμένους (1619, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 1, 187.16) νὰ τοῦ ἀκολουθῶ εἰσὲ ὅποιον πόλεμον πάγη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 61.8

μόνον ἐπάρετέ το ἐσεῖς καὶ ὅποιον ἀγαπᾶτε δώσετέ το PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §27.15

εἰς ὅποιον τόπον ἐσεῖς θέλετε ὑπάγει Diath. Nikon Metan. 11–12 σε οἴπην τοῖον λαχῇ / σὲ ὅποιον τόπο λάχῃ (1666, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 2, 145.27)

νὰ τὸν ἐκβάνη καὶ νὰ βάνη ἄλλον ὅποιον θέλει (1668, Crete, TOMADAKIS 1979: 13.102)

Feminine Nominative

ὅποια ἀπ' ἐσᾶς βάλη ἀρχὴν νὰ μὲ δείρη, ἔναι ἡ μεγαλύτερη πολιτικὴ Vios Aisop. E 292.34

ὅποια ἐκ τὰς καυχίτζας μου καὶ ἀπὸ τὰς ἰδικάς μου | εὐρῶ ὅτι δέχεται γραφὴν Liv. S 319–20

ὅποια φοβεῖται θάνατον Theseid I.35,5 (Follieri) οἷα εὐρεθεῖ, νὰ τὴν ξορίζουν VOUSTR., Chron. A 178.6

ὅποια ποθάνη 'ς πόλεμον Alex. Rim. 2501 καὶ ὅποια ἀπ' αὐτὲς προσδράμη καὶ τὸν φιλήσῃ, αὐτὴ τὸν ἔπαιρνε ἄνδρα Vios Aisop. K 161.7

ὅποια τάξη μὴ βολὰ τοῦ Θεοῦ νὰ τοῦ δουλέψῃ P&N Diath. 1818 ὅποια χώρα ἔχει πολλὰ χαράτζια PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §35.36 ὅποια ἤθελε ξεπέσει (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 302.23)

ὅποια ἐπληγώθη στὴν τιμὴ KORNAPOS, Erot. I.1574

Feminine Genitive

ὅποιας ἐμπαίνει ἀπ' τῶν τριῶ τὸ μῆλο νὰ χάριση FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 174 μὲ ὅποιας λογῆς τρόπον (1691, Venice, MERTZIOS 1936e: [1], 112.13)

Feminine Accusative

εἰς ὅποιαν σταυροφόρον πλώρην σας ἡ παντιέραν ἤθελε τύχη (1415, Skyros, LEMERLE et al. 1979: App. XVII, 216.13) ὅποιαν ὥραν πουλεῖ ὁ ἄρχος τὸ μερδικόν του (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 54.40–1) καὶ ὅποιαν βλέπη νὰ δειλιᾷ, δίδει παρηγορίαν Theseid I.90,8 (Follieri) νὰ μὴ συμμίσουν μὲ ὅποιαν τύχη γυναῖκα SOFIANOS, Paidag. 95.10–11

ἀμὴ ὅποιαν πιάσης ἤξευρε τέλεια νὰ τὴ φυλάσσης DEFAR., Log. did. 278 καὶ εἰς ὅποιαν πάγα δὲν σοῦ ἀτεντέρω (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 243, 241.9) ὅποια φορὰ ἤθελεν τὸ κάμει (1567, Crete, KOLYVA-KARALEKA 1977: 5, 257.10)

εἰσὲ ὅποια μερία τοῦ ἤθελε φανῇ (1568, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 1999: 20, 387.23)

καὶ ὅποιαν ὥρα ἤθελαν γυρέψῃ οἱ καλογέροι τοῦ μοναστηρίου νὰ κάμουν χοντζέτι (1583, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 17, 33.18) φίλαινα καὶ μαστόρισσα χαρὰ στὴν ὅποια σ' ἔχει CHORTATSIS, Katz. II.342

ἰσε οἷα ἐκλίσαι θελὶ / εἰσὲ ὅποια ἐκκλησὰ θέλει (1616, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 2, 220.22)

ἡ οἷα πένα νὰ ἀγροικᾶται τόσο διὰ τὴ μία πάρτη ὥσάν καὶ διὰ τὴν ἄλλη, ἦγουν ἀπὸ ὅποια ἤθελε ἔρθει τὸ κοντράριο (1619, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 1, 187.20–1) ἀπὸ τσί δύο κατοικίες ὅποια θέλει ὁ γαμβρός (1631, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 598, 572.13)

εἰς ὅποιαν πόλιν ἐμπαίνετε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 10.8

νὰ παῖρνη ὅποια πάρτην θέλει (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 257, 449.23)

καὶ νὰ σοῦ πάρω ὅποια κι ἂ θές KORNAPOS, Erot. III.736

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

κᾶν δίκαιον κᾶν τε χάριταν, τὸ ὅποιον θέλει ἐκ τὰ δύο Chron. Mor. H 7711 κανένα ἕτερον ὄρνιον, ὅποιον καὶ ἂν ἐνι Assizes B 451.18 ὅποιον κάστρο καὶ χώρα (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.10) ἀπάνω εἰς ὅποιον καράβιν θέλουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 136.34 ὅποιο θελήσῃ, ἄς πάρῃ TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 94 ροῦχον μου ἔνα, ὅποιον φανῇ νὰ δώσῃ (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 148, 267.29) νὰ μὴδὲν λέγῃ ὅποια τύχῃ παραμύθια SOFIANOS, Paidag. 100.17 ὅποιο τοῦ ἀρέσει (1560, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 24, 102.16) ὅποιο παιδὶ (1585, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 23, 41.20) ἄς πάρῃ ὅποιο θέλῃ (1590, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 8, 310.44)

 καὶ ὅποιο καταλύσου | κρασὶ καλὸ P&N Diath. 3558 εἰς ὅποιον μνῆμα τοῦ τοῦ θέλῃ φανῇ (1628, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 2, 129.10) καὶ ὅποιον μας παιδὶν ἤθελε σηκωθῇν (1635, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1982: 1, 13.5) ὅποιον καστέλλι ἤθελεν ἐβγῇ ἀπὸ τὴν ἀπόφασιν (1638, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 13, 87.14) εἰς ὅποιον σπιτί ἐμπεῖτε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 10.5
 ὅποιο παιδὶ φανῇ ἀπειθής (1646, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1993: 4, 194.11) εἰς ὅποιον πρόσωπον (1678, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1999: 4, 49.11) ὅποιο ἤθελε θελήσῃ (1687, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 277, 257.35) ὅποιο μέρος χηρέψῃ (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 303.29)

Plural

Masculine Nominative

ἔκλεξε δὲ εὐγενικούς, καλοὺς καβαλλάριους, ὅποιοι τὸν ἀρέσασιν Pol. Tr. 7645; ὅποιοι τοῦ ἀρέσασιν ibid. app. crit. (B) ὅποιοι ἀπὸ αὐτοὺς φανοῦσιν ἀμελεῖς (1518, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 390.5) ὅποιοι οὐδὲν θέλουν ποιήσῃ (1524, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 2, 1η.39) κι ὁγὸι τοὺς ὅποιοι σῶσα P&N Diath. 4767; χαρὰ ᾽ς τσι ὅποιοι δάκρυα χύσου γιὰ τὴ Μαρία ibid. 3966 ὅποιοι περάσουσι απεδὼ CHORTATIS, Panor. III.116; ὅποιοι ἀγαποῦ καὶ θέλουσι νὰ ᾽χουσι βασιλεία id., Erof. Interm. III.7
 ὅπγῃ ἐκ[ρατοῦσαν αὐτὰ τὰ] χωράφια / ὅπγῃ ἐκρατοῦσαν αὐτὰ τὰ χωράφια (1614, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 13, 49.28) ὅποιοι ὑταν ἀξιοὶ / ὅποιοι ἦταν ἄξιοι Rim. Sant. 408 τὶς δροσὲς ἄς ἔχου | ὅποιοι τὶς ἀγαποῦν Pist. voskos I 1.136 ὅποιοι τὰ ἀγαποῦν ἐκεῖνα εὐρίσκονται εἰς τὴν κόλασιν [VLASTOS], Dig. P III 337.15 ὅπῃ καὶ ἀνὲ κατέχουσι / ὅποιοι καὶ ἀνὲ κατέχουσι (1663, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 6, 416.10) ὅποιοι ἀγαποῦσι καρδιακὰ KORNAOS, Erot. I.2187

Masculine Genitive

καὶ ὅποιων ἀμαρτίες συγχωρήσετε, εἶναι συγχωρημένες· καὶ ὅποιων κρατεῖτε, εἶναι κρατημένες KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioan. 20.23

Masculine Accusative

νὰ ἐπαίρῃ ὅποιους θέλῃ Chron. Mor. H 2004 καὶ παίρνεις ὅποιους βούλεσαι LIMEN., Than. Rod. 226 νὰ παίρνωσιν ὅποιους θέλουσιν ἀνθρώπους (1518, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 390.3) νὰ κάμῃς κομέσσον ἢ καὶ κομέσσους ὅποιον καὶ ὁποῖους ἐσὺ θέλεις (1547, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 39, 69.7) ἔτσι καὶ ὁ Υἱὸς, ὁποῖους θέλῃ ζωοποιεῖ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioan. 5.21 ὁποῖους χριστιανούς ἐκαταράθηκα (1643, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1960: [3], 3.1)

Feminine Nominative/Accusative

οποιαις ἡμέραις / ὅποιες ἡμέρες δὲν ἔλθῃ (1560, Corfu, TZIVARA 2003: 29, 490.5) ζωγραφίση εἰς αὐτὲς ἱστορίες, ὅποιες ἤθελε εἰποῦ (1664, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1974b: 1, 42.19) ὅποιες στὴν τιμὴν ἔτοιο ἀσκημάδι βάνου KORNAROS, Erot. III.1197; ὅποιες πιστεύγου σ' ὄνειρα γιὰ πελελὲς τσι κρίνω ibid. IV.100

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

νὰ κόπτουσιν ξύλα ὅποια ἐθέλουσιν (1507, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 9, 110.9) ἔνα ζευγάρι σεντόνια, ἀπὸ κεῖνα ὅπου ἔχομεν, ὅποια θέλει ὁ Βασίλης (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 171, 139.37) νὰν τῆς δίνουνε ἀπὸ τὰ ἄλογα τὰ δύο, ὅποια θέλει (1604 [copy of 1695], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 509.37) τῶς δίδου κονίσματα πέντε, ὅποια θέλου νὰ πάρου (1649, Santorini, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 23, 19.16)

Usage

Ὅποῖος/ὅποιος normally introduces free relative clauses, e.g.

κι ὅποιον σου δείξω σκότωσε ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 383 καὶ ὅποιος θέλει, ἀρματώνεται (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 14.95) νὰ ντεφεντέρη τὴν αὐτὴν πουύληση ἀπὸ ὅποιον ἤθελεν πειράξει τὸν ἄνω κυρ Μιχαλάκη (1681, Andros, PASCHALIS 1924: 171.9)

In rare cases it introduces a headed clause functioning as an apposition, e.g.: νὰ διαλέξῃ ἕναν ἀπὸ τοὺς γ' ὅποιον θέλει νὰ πάρῃ ν' ἀρμαστῇ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 260.29 ἐσκότωσε μὲ τὸ χέρι του πολλοὺς πασάδες καὶ μπέτηδες, ὅποιος τοῦ ἔφταιγε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 28.5

When the relative clause precedes the main clause, a resumptive clitic may appear in the main clause, e.g.:

ὅποιος δὲν ἤθελεν ποιήσῃν τὸν ὀρισμὸν σου, διῶξε τον (1514, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1963b: 167.78) κι ὅποιοι ἐκάμαν τὸ κακό, πιάνει καὶ τοὺς φουρκίζει Alex. Rim. 670 ὅποιος τὸν ἀναγνώση, ζητῶ του τὸ συμπάθιον Imb. Rim. 11

As well as a pronoun, ὅποιος/ὅποῖος may function as a determiner, e.g.: νὰ βγαίνουν ἀπὸ ὅποιον τόπο νὰ θέλουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 138.4

 καὶ ὅποιος ἄξιος καὶ καλὸς πιάνῃ νὰ τὰ διαβάσῃ VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 291 καὶ ὅποιος χριστιανὸς κὰν ἱερὴς κὰν λαϊκὸς (17th c., Athos, KADAS 1988: 120, 352.13) νὰ βάνῃ ὅποιο παπὰ θέλει (1685, Andros, POLEMIS 1995b: 5, 39.17) ὁπιος ἱερέας / ὅποιος ἱερέας (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 69.21)

The notion of indefinite condition is rendered by ὅποιος + subjunctive or conditional, occasionally accompanied by ἄν, καὶ ἄν, or νὰ. Examples:

ὅποιος ἔλθῃ Diig. Alex. F 236.18 (Lolos) καὶ ὅποιος τὴν πειράξῃ, νὰ ἔχῃ τὴν κατάραν μου (1601, Ikaria, MELAS 1958: 66.8) ὁποιονοῦ ἔὰν θέλει KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 11.23 καὶ ὅλοι τὸ θαυμάζονταν, ὅποῖος κι ἂν τὸ ἐβλέπη Theseid I.74,7 (Follieri) ὅποιαν καὶ ἂν τοῦ ἀρέση TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 17 ὅποιο κι' ἂν ἀπαντήξω, γῆ ὀχθρὸ γῆ φίλο CHORTATSI, Katz. II.123 ὅποιους καὶ ἂν εὕρουσιν Diath. Nikon Metan. 255.127 οποία να ευρεθεί, να την ξορίζει VOUSTR., Chron. B 179.5

νὰ τὰ τρώγη ὅποιος ἱερεὺς ἤθελεν λειτουργᾷ (1537, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 117, 232.5) ὅποιος τόπος νά 'ναι (1598, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 1, 214.48)

ὅποιος νέος νὰ ἐλθῇ Diig. Alex. Sem. B 18 καὶ ὅποιος ἀπὸ ἀπροσεξίας του ἤθελεν κόψει κανένα φύλλον (1678, Laconia, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 1917, f.1v.5)

5.9.2.2 ὅσος

The MedG and MG pronoun ὅσος, ὅση, ὅσο(ν) is a direct continuation of AG ὅσος, ὅση, ὅσον. It is used throughout the period as an indefinite quantitative relative, correlative with τόσος. It inflects as a regular adjective in -ος (see 3.2.1). No extended forms have been located in the corpus examined.¹⁰⁹ The pl. forms ὁσόσοι (masc.) and ὁσόσα (neut.) are attested only in two Cypriot texts, the Chronicles of Machairas and Voustronios. They should perhaps be interpreted as analogical formations based on ὁτόσος (see 5.5.3.2): ὁσόσοι μᾶς γροικοῦσιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 54.23–5 (ὁσοσί ms); ἐσκοτῶσαν ὁσόσοι τοὺς ἐκαταπροσωπίσαν ibid. 556.9 app. crit. (ὁσόσί ms); οσοσί id., Chron. R 391.14 (no accent); ἐλησμόνησεν ὁσόσα του ἐπολομούσαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 42.7; ἐλησμόνησεν ὁσόσα του ἐπολολούσαν id., Chron. B 43.6 (ὁσοσα ms).

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	ὅσος	ὅση	ὅσο(ν)
Gen.	ὅσου	ὅσης	ὅσου
Acc.	ὅσο(ν)	ὅση(ν)	ὅσο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	ὅσοι	ὅσαι ὁσες	ὅσα
Gen.	ὅσων	ὅσων	(ὅσων)
Acc.	ὅσους	ὅσας ὁσες	ὅσα

¹⁰⁹ For the S. Italian forms with geminate /s/, e.g. ὅσους δ' ἂν ἔχης νοθείους φέρειν ἐκ τὰς περιεξῆς χώρας ἀνθρώπους (1097, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 64, 81.26), see I, 3.4.2. Cf. also the quantitative demonstrative τόσος (τόσος), 5.5.3.2.

Singular

Masculine Nominative

- ὁ τόπος ὅλος τοῦ Μορέως, ὅσος καὶ περιέχει Chron. Mor. H 1404 ὅσος ἀριθμὸς γένῃ (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 44, 38.2) καὶ ἐξόπισθὲν τοὺς ὁ λαός, ὅσος ἐκεῖ καὶ ἂν ἦτον Pol. Tr. 4624 τὸν τόπον τὸν ἄδειον, ὅσος ἡύρσκεται (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 48, 39.4) ὅσος λαὸς αἰχμαλωτίσθη (post 1640, Monemvasia, SCHREINER 1975/79: 79, 37.4) ὅσος ἔναι ὁ τόπος τῆς καϊμάδας LANDOS, Geopon. 238.27 ὅσος καιρὸς ἦθελεν ἀπεράσει (1696, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 3, 254.12)

Masculine Accusative

- καὶ ἀντ' αὐτῆς σοὶ δώσομεν πλοῦτον ὅσον κελεύεις Dig. G I.107 εἰς ὅσον καιρὸν θέλουν (1422, Athens?, BUCHON 1843: LXVIII, 289.26) ὅσον καιρὸν ἔλειπεν ὁ ἀντρας τῆς Assizes B 385.31 ὅσο καιρὸ τῶς ἔλεγε P&N Diath. 2758 ὅσον τόπον ἐπάτησε τὸ φουσσᾶτο μου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 100.12 φέρε ὅσον ἀσβέστην καὶ ἂν ἔχης Diath. Nikon Metan. 254.87

Feminine Nominative

- τὴν ἐτέραν ὄλην μεσαρίαν, ὅση ἦτονε εἰς τὸ ἐδικόν μου μερτικόν (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 14, 24.16) ὅση ἔν' ἡ δύναμή σου KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.197 κόψε τόσην φλοῦδα, ὅση εἶναι ἡ ἡμερη ὅπου θέλεις νὰ βάλης LANDOS, Geopon. 149.31

Feminine Genitive

- ζῶντες μεθ' ὅσης ἡδονῆς, μετὰ χαρίτων τόσων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 806

Feminine Accusative

- τὴν ρόγαν καὶ φιλοτιμίαν ὅση χρωστοῦν νὰ ἔχουν Chron. Mor. P 5166 τοιοῦτην θλίψιν ἔποικειν ὅσην τινὰς οὐκ εἶδεν Pol. Tr. 13737 κ' ἐγλύτωσα τὴν συμφορὰν ἐκείνην ὅση εἶδα Synax. gadar. 331 ὅσην γὰρ τιμὴν ἐζήτηι Ptochol. α 308 στριγγὴ φωνὴν ἐλέγασιν, ὅσην καὶ ἂν ἐδυνόνταν Moirol. Konst. 110 μεσαρίαν, ὅσην φανῇ καὶ ἔχω (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 11, 19.16) ἀπὸ ὅσην λειψοπροικία τοῦ χρεωστοῦν (1516, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 41, 73.8) ὅση ῥα ἐτελεῖτο ἡ θεία λειτουργία Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 44 μὲ ὅσην τυχὸν καλλιέργειαν ZYGOM., Synopsis 142.B.11 κι ὅση τυράννηση μπορεῖ νὰ πεῖ κιανεὶς τοῦ δῶσα CHORTATIS, Erof. V.110 τῆς ἐκάνασιν ὅσην τιμὴν ἐδύνουνταν MOREZINOS, Klini 55.16

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

- ἀμπέλιον ... ὅσων καὶ οἶον ἐστὶν (1135, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 116, 155.5) ὅσο φουσσᾶτο ἠμπόρεσεν καὶ ὅσον ἡδυνήθη Chron. Mor. H 4698 εἰς πᾶν, ὅσον ἔχει κινήτον καὶ ἀκίνητον (1431, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 18, 217.8)
 ὅσον χάλκωμαν πωληθῇ (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 43, 75.8) καὶ ὅσο πλήθος καὶ ἂν ἔρχεται καταπανοῦ σου, ἐσὺ τοὺς θέλεις τροπῶσει Diig. Alex. V 70.27
 ἄλλον τόσον τυρί, ὅσον φανῇ καὶ κάμω (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 749, 580.11) ἀφήνω ... τὸ ὅσο πράμα ποὺ νὰ μοῦ εὔρεθῇ (1634, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 2, 110.11) ἐπῆρε τ' ἀμπέλι ... ὅσο καὶ οἶον ἐστὶ (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 53, 67.12) καὶ ὅσο ἔβγαλαν καὶ τὸ ἐπαρამέρισαν, ἐγλύτωσεν PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §7.65–6 σύρμα ὅσου ὀρίζεις (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 69.7)

Plural

Masculine Nominative

- ὅσοι κατοικοῦν ἐκεῖσε (1101, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 69, 87.5) ὅσοι γὰρ οἶδαν πείραν μου, ὑμῖν οὐ συνεργήσουν Dig. G VI.295 ὅσοι καλὰ της εἶδατε, ἔχετε γλυκασμούς της Log. parig. L 19 ὅσοι θέλουν ἄς ἔρθουν Dig. E 893 οἱ ἄρχοντες ὅσοι ἔχουσιν τιμάρια (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.24) ὅσοι κατεχωρίσθησαν στὴν πόρταν τοῦ Ἀμουράτη PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 416 ὅσοι τ' ἀκούγετε μηδὲν τὸ ἀπιστῆτε Peri xen. 171 ὅσοι τόποι εἶναι εἰς τὴν ὑποταγὴν καὶ ἐπιστάσιαν αὐτῶν (1478–9, Constantinople, GILLILAND WRIGHT/MACKEY 2007: 269.22) ὅσοι ἦσαν εἰς τὴν Κερύνεια VOUSTR., Chron. A 92.10 ὅσοι δὲ εὐρέθησαν (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 248.25) ὅσοι δυστυχεῖς δὲν ἔχουν νὰ ἐξοδιάζουν (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 167.12) ὅσοι ἦσαν δοῦλοι ZYGOM., Synopsis 121.A.1
 ὅσοι ἦρθασιν (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 148.2) καὶ ὅσοι ἄλλοι τουμπανάδες (1647, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 2, 174.19)

Masculine Genitive

- καὶ εἶπεν τῆς περιγίπισσας κι ὅσων ἐκεῖ ἦσαν Chron. Mor. P 4430 ὅσων αὐθεντῶν παιδιὰ τὴν ἀκούουν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 102 καὶ ὅλους τοὺς ἐφιλοτίμησε μὲ χαρίσματα, ὅσων ἦσαν τῆς βουλῆς VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.10

Masculine Accusative

- ὅσους δὲ ξένους δυνηθῆς συναθροίσειν (1093, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 57, 74.23) κι ὅσους ἀνθρώπους πιάσουσιν εὐθέως νὰ ἀποθάνουν Chron. Mor. H 5664 ὅσους κόρπους ἔχει Assizes B 268.23 ὅσους μῆνας ἐλλείπουν (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 10, 20.5) οὐδένας ἀπ' ὅσους ἦλθαν NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 139.7 ὅσους καὶ ἂν εἶχεν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1157 νὰ ταγίζουν ἀργὰ καὶ ταχὺ ὅσους χριστιανούς (1608, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 18, 179.70) νὰ τοὺς τοὺς διαλέξῃ ἀπὲ ὅσους ἔχουν στὸ ὀσπίτιν των (1628, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 17, 94.19) ἀπ' ὅσους κι ἂν εὐρίσκουντεν VEST., Prol. Theot. 41 μὲ τοὺς δρυάδες ὅσους ἠύρέθουνται (1684, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 19, 51.20) ὅσους ἐφιλοδώρησες καὶ εὐεργέτησές τους NEOFYTOS, Achouri 181 τοὺς ὅσους χρόνους (1698, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1968/69: 3, 335.6)

Feminine Nominative

- καὶ πρὸ αὐτῆς καὶ μετ' αὐτὴν καὶ τότε ὅσαι ἦσαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 825 ποῖαι δὲ ἑορταί; ὅσαι εἶναι δεσποτικάι, καὶ εἰς ὅσας τιμᾶται ὁ Θεὸς DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 10, i8v.15 ὅσες δύνάμες εἰσὶ Pol. Tr. 663 app. crit. (E) ὅσες ζημίες ἐγίνονταν (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 302.55) ὅσες ἔχουν λογισμὸν ἀντρός FALIEROS, Ist. On. 346 ὅσες πονοῦν ἀπὸ καρδιᾶς BERGADIS, Apok. A 197 καὶ ὅσες ἐκοιμούντησαν τὴν Κυριακὴ ὡς σκρόφες BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 151 ὅσες ἡμέρες ἐθέλασιν περάσει (1631, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 17, 321.8) ὄσες ἀνύπανδρες ἤθελαν νὰ λειτουργοῦνται (1693, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 104, 302.27)

Feminine Genitive

ὄσων γὰρ σκέπτει ὁ οὐρανὸς καλλιώτερη οὐκ ἦτον Pol. Tr. 1711

Feminine Accusative

εἰ δὲ καὶ δώσης τον ραβδιαῖς τὸν κύων ὄσας θέλεις Phys. 332 καὶ ὄσας ὥρας <ἀν> ἀργῶ, ὄσας καὶ ἂν ποιήσω Velth. 277 ἀπέστειλε {δὲ} καὶ μετ' αὐτῆς τὰς βίας, ὄσας εἶχεν Dig. A 297 ὄσας ἀνάγκας ἔπαθα διὰ πόθον εἶπα σέ τας Liv. S 2262 ἀφήνουσιν τὰς χάριτας ὄσας ὁ τόπος εἶχεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 168 κερατάας ὄσας ἔχω εἰς τὸν λεγόμενον μύλον (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 92, 173.14) δεν ἔχει τινὰ στερρότητα γης, ὄσας οργίας σχοινὶ καὶ ἀν βάλλουσιν LANDOS, Amart. sot. 332.1
τὲς ἔλὲς ὅπου ἔχω εἰς τὸ Ἀριοῦσον, ὄσες καὶ οἶες ἐστὶν (1197–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 42, 217.9) τὲς ρηθέντες ἐλαῖες, ὄσες καὶ οἶες ἐστὶν (1272, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 326, 484.44) ἡμέρες τοσαῦτες, ὄσες τὰ ἔπραττε (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 26, 28.8) ὄσες διαθήκης ἐπροεποίησα (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 44, 75.8) ὄλες τὲς οἰκονομίες, ὄσες κι ἂν ἐβασταῖναν Chron. Mor. P 6128 ὄσες νεκρὲς ἐκεῖ νὰ εὐροῦν Theseid I.80,4 (Follieri) εἰς ὄσες χάριτες Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 59.172 ἄλλες τόσες κεφαλὲς καὶ κοιλιές, ὄσες φανῇ καὶ σφάξω (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 48, 42.7) ἀν εἶχες τόσα μυαλὰ ὄσες τρίχες ἔχεις εἰς το πηγούνι NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 2.8
εἰς ὄσαις καταδικαίς ἔχουσι θάνατον ZYGOM., Synopsis 199.Θ.6
ὄσες γραφὲς ἔχω κατωμένες (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 237, 144.15) ὄσες φάλιες καὶ ἂν εὕρετε (1574, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES 1996: 61.17) ὄσες ἡμέρες ἤλειπε P&N Diath. 1482 ὄσες φορὲς ὁ οὐρανὸς σ' τοῦτο τὸν κόσμον βρέχει Zinon I.355

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

ὄσα κ[αί] ἂν εἶδες ἄφες τα GLYKAS, Stichoi 519 εἰπέ τον ὄσα θέλεις Spaneas P 127 ὄσα γὰρ θέλεις δύνασαι Dig. G II. 16 ὄσα μοῦ ἔδωκεν (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 146.7) ἀνέφερε μάς ὄσα ἔχει νὰ ποιήσει (1448?, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 45, 321.5) ὄσα ἕτερα χωράφια εἶναι ἡ μερὶς (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 15, 51.8) καὶ ὄσα πουλίτσια πίνουσιν εἰς τὴν Ἰκέαν τὴν λίμνην Dig. E 924 εἰς ὄσα εἶχε τὸ νησὶν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 363 ὄσα καὶ ἂν εὐρίσκονταί (1524, Skyros, ANDONIADES 1990: 1, 15.4) καματερά χωράφια καὶ ἄγρια ὄσα εὐρίσκονται (1533, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 3, 116.12) ταῦτα πάντα ὄσα μὲ ἄφηκεν ὁ πατέρας μου (1606, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 26, 102.17) ὄσα ὀσπίτια ἐγγιζουσιν εἰς τὰ τεῖχη (1609, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 8, 3.8) τὰ ὄσα ποὺ νὰ ἤθελαν μοῦ εὐρεθοῦν (1634, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 2, 111.16) τὰ θαύματα τὰ ῥαῖσια ὄσα ἔγιναν σιμά μου VEST., Prol. Theot. 264 τὰ ὄσα ὀρίζομεν (1659, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 17A, 129.5) ὄσα βάσανα με εὐρήκασιν ἔδω (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 105.19) ἐπούλησα τὰ ροῦχα, ὄσα ἐπῆρα (1680, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: 14, 77.4) τὰ ὄσα ἔκτιζα (1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 7, 20.31) ὄσα πουλιὰ πέτονται δὲν τρώγονται Paroim. (Warner) 104.23

Usage

“Όσος can be used both as a pronoun (especially in the plural), e.g. τὸν σταυρὸν νὰ ἐπάρουσιν ὅσοι εἰς Χριστὸν πιστεύουν Chron. Mor. H 5994; ὅσοι προσκυνούσανε, τοὺς ἐκάμνανε σκλάβους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 92.13, and as a determiner, e.g. ὅσοι παπὰδες εὐρεθοῦν (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 3, 23.23); ὅσην τρομάραν ὁ βορρᾶς φέρ’ εἰς δενδρῶν τὰ φύλλα ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 817; εἶδε τὰ ὅσα ἐχρειάζετον IER. ANAVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 337.30.

“Όσος can be preceded by the definite article, e.g.: νὰ τοὺς ἡμοιράσουν τὰ ὅσα ἐκεῖνα ἡύρισκονται πατρικά ἀνταμικά τους (1549–50, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 34, 74.13)

τὴν ὅση ἐντυμασία ὁποῦ θέλει γένει τοῦ ἄνωθεν παιδίου (1564, Corfu, TZIVARA 2003: 32, 492.17) εἰς ἐργαστήρια, εἰς ἐξεχειμαδία, εἰς ἐξεκαλοκαιριάσματα, εἰς τὰ ὅσα εὐρέθησαν νῦν εἰς τὰς χεῖρας αὐτῶν (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 237.72) τὰ ὅσα μούλκια ἔχομεν (1610–20, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 23, 95.20) εἰς τὰ ὅσα ἔχει νὰ λάβῃ (1630, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1993: 1, 289.9)

τὰ ὅσα μᾶς ἐδῶσανε οἱ γέροντες (1685, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 8, 331.3)

When ὅσος introduces relative clauses expressing indefinite conditions, it may be accompanied by ἂν or καὶ ἂν, e.g.:

ὅσα ξύλα ἂν βρεθοῦν ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 91 στριγγέαν φωνίτσαν ἔσυρεν, ὅσην καὶ ἂν ἐδυνέτον Arm. 46 πουλοῦμε τίς ἐλὲς στὴ Γιάννιτσα, ὅσες καὶ ἂν ἔχωμε, ἐλὲς καὶ χωράφι, ὅσες καὶ ἂν εἶναι (1600, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: II, 70.5)

ὅσες καὶ ἂν εἶναι ζωντανές κ’ ἡ πλάκα ὅσες σκεπάζει KORNAROS, Erot. I.917

The neut. acc. sg. and pl. may also function adverbially with the meaning “as”, “as much as”, e.g.:

κ’ ἐκίνησεν καὶ ἔρχετον σπουδαίως ὅσα ἡμπόρει Chron. Mor. H 8327 ὅσον καὶ ἂν εἶσαι ἐξαίρετος εἰς σύνθεσιν καὶ πλάσιν Liv. α 269 καὶ ὅσα κἂν κοιμᾷσαι Diig. tetr. 247 ὅσο θεὸς νὰ χώνεσαι, κάτεχε κι ἐξανοίκτης FALIEROS, Ist. On. 576

5.9.2.3 οἷος/ὄγοιός

The indefinite relative pronoun οἷος, οἷα, οἷον/ὄγοιός, ὄγοια, ὄγοιο(ν) is the reflex of AG οἷος, and inflects like an adjective in -ος (3.2.2); the only morphological variation in the MedG and EMG period is the presence or absence of final /n/. Its usual meaning is “whoever, whatever, whichever”, but it may also retain its original qualitative meaning “of whatever kind”. In some cases it is used as a simple definite relative, like ὁποῖος, e.g.:

ἐπράσαμεν ... χωράφιον οἷον ἐκτώμεθα (1245, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 295, 415.26); οἷον ὁσπίτιον ὑπάρχει ἔσω ἐν τῇ πόλει Καταντζαρίου (1267, ibid. 304, 436.4) ἔπρασεν τὸ αὐτοῦ ἀμπέλιον οἷον καὶ ἐκέκηνται (1291, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 13, 639.15)

οἷος τόπος ὑπῆρχεν ἀργός, σκληρός καὶ ἀδιάφορος (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 1, 39.18)

The variant ὄγοιος derives from the AG qualitative indefinite relative οἷος through synizesis and prothesis of ὀ- on the analogy of other relative pronouns, such as ὅποιος, ὅστις, ὅπου, ὅποτε etc., accompanied by stress retraction: οἷος > γοιός > ὄγοιός > ὄγοιος. This etymology was proposed by CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: A 232, B 327) and PERNOT (1907/46: II 235; see also ANDRIOTIS, Lex.; KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. οἷος; ILNE s.v. γοῖον). This proposal is more convincing than the earlier one by JANNARIS (1897: 87, 167–8), according to whom ὄγοιος derives from οἷος preceded by the definite article as a calque based on Romance le-quel, il quale, with anaptyxis of an intervocalic glide. The intermediate step, with synizesis but without the prothesis of /o/, is attested through the adverb γοιόν, ὠσγοιόν, “as, like”, which appears in the 15th c. (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. γιόν), e.g.:

ΤΙΟΥΤΟΣ ΚΟΝΤΕΣΙΟΥΣ ΟΣΓΙΟ ΝΑ ΕΝΕ / ΤΟΙΟΥΤΟΣ ΚΟΝΤΕΣΙΟΥΣ ὡς γοῖον νὰ ἔναι (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 7, 7.2) ἐκατέβαινεν ἡ στράτα τοῦ Μερσυνακίου ὡς γοιόν ποταμός (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.II, 18.2–3) δυὸ μῆλα εἰς τὸ πρόσωπον κόκκινα γοιόν τὸ ρόδον DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 282; πικρὸν γοιόν τὸ φαρμάκιν id., Epit. Thrinos 411 ὡς γοιόν λαλεῖ ὁ Δαβὶθ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.5; ἐβγήκε ἡ μυρωδιά ὡς γοιόν τὸν μοῦσκον ibid. 64.17

The earliest attestations of the variant ὄγοιος come from the Assizes and the Chronicle of Morea (ms P). It is found in both literary and non-literary texts from Cyprus, the Heptanese, the Cyclades, Skyros, Ikaria, Chios and Mani, where it is confirmed by modern dialectal evidence (PERNOT 1907/46: II 235; ILNE archive, s.v. ὄγοιος).

The earlier variant οἷος is preferred in higher-register texts but is to be found even in low-register legal documents well into the 17th c., mostly in legal formulas (such as οἷον καὶ ὅσον ἐστίν) relating to property transactions. Οἷος is the form proposed by Sofianos (ἀναφορικόν. οἷος, οἷα, οἷον SOFIANOS, Grammar 45.24) while Germano and Portius list ὄγοιος (in luogo di ὅποιος, si dice anco ὄγοιος GERMANO, Grammar 72.4; s.v. “chi si voglia” ὅποιος, ὄγοιος, ὅτις, ὅστις καὶ ἂν εἶναι ibid. 139; ὅποιος vel ὄγοιος, quisquis PORTIUS, Grammar 30).

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	οἷος ἢ ὄγοιος	οἷα ἢ ὄγοια	οἷον ἢ ὄγοιο(ν)
Gen.	(οἷου) ἢ (ὄγοιου)	οἷας ἢ (ὄγοιας)	(οἷου) ἢ (ὄγοιου)
Acc.	οἷον ἢ ὄγοιον	οἷα(ν) ἢ ὄγοια(ν)	οἷον ἢ ὄγοιο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	(οἷοι)	(οἷαι) ἢ οἷες ἢ (ὄγοιες)	οἷα ἢ ὄγοια
Gen.	(οἷων)	(οἷων)	(οἷων)
Acc.	οἷους	οἷας ἢ οἷες ἢ (ὄγοιες)	οἷα ἢ ὄγοια

Singular

Masculine Nominative

- καὶ οἶος δ' ἂν τερρέρης φανῇ (1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 533.1) οἶος μοῦ ἐδοῦλευσεν (1198, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 246, 334.10) οἶος θέλεις νὰ ἔνι ὁ φίλος σου, παιδί μου, πρὸς ἐσένα Spaneas V 79 οἶος ἔαν ἔνι ὁ πειρασμός GLYKAS, Stichoi 303 καὶ οἶος ἀπὸ τὸ γένος μου ἢ ἄλλος τις ἕτερος ξένος σηκώνει το (13th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/ΒΕΝΕΧΕΝΙΤΣΗ 1927: 95, 55.5–6) οἶος δ' ἂν καὶ ἂν ἔνι (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 15.36) οἶδα γὰρ οἶος καὶ αὐτὸς ὑπάρχει ἐν ἀνδρείᾳ Dig. G VI.487 καὶ ἂν ἔνι αὐθέντης οἶος σὺ καὶ ὁ λέγων οἶος ἐγὼ τε Ptoch. II 2 καὶ οἶος ἀπὸ τοὺς φίλους μου καὶ ἀπὸ συγγενούς μου | θέλει νὰ ἔρτη μετ' ἐμὲν Liv. V 641 οἶος καὶ ἂν εὐρίσκετον μαντατοφόρος νὰ ἦτον Pol. Tr. 1395 καὶ οἶος νικήση εἰς τὰ ἄρματα νὰ τὸν ἐπάρῳ ἐκέϊνον Liv. S 1131 οἶος ἰδῇ τοῦ νὰ τραπῶ Chron. Mor. P 4755 οἶος δὲ τολμηρὸς καὶ αὐθάδης φανήσεται (1548, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 47, 77.37) εἶς πραγματευτής, ὄγοιος καὶ ἂν ἔνι Assizes B 297.27 ἡμποροῦν νὰ μεταγνώσουν ὄγοιος θέλει, ἢ ὁ ἄνθρωπος ἢ ἡ γυναῖκα Assizes A 117.10 καὶ ὄγιος πρᾶττει πονηρὰ καὶ μετὰ μηχανίαν Chron. Mor. P 4905 ὄγοιος διασεῖσθι τὴν σύμβιον μου (1516, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 97, 97.23)
 ὄγοιος τύχη εἰς τὸ αὐτὸ μοναστήρι (1564, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1999: [2], 94.26) ὄγοιος ἤθελε τὸν ἀντιτείνει (1670, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: 10, 75.11) καὶ ὄγοιος δώση ἐνόχληση (1678, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 64, 54.15) ἡ λεγομένη ἐκκλησία ἢ ὄγοιος ἐκείνην ἐφημερεύει (1685, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1918a: 130.29–30) καὶ νὰ εἶναι καὶ ἐξουσιαστὴς ὄγοιος ἐλείφτη τὸ νερὸ (1694, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 47, 76.8–9)
 ὄγοιος θέλει νὰ ἔλθῃ νὰ μπιτάρῃ εἰς ἐτοῦτο τὸ Νησί τῆς Ζακύνθου Chron. Theod. 20.7

Masculine Accusative

- γαμβρόν οἶον ἄλλος οὐκ ἔχει Dig. G IV.285 καὶ οἶον νικήση εἰς τ' ἄρματα, ἄνδρα νὰ τὸν ἐπάρῳ Liv. V 2104 οἶον προσψάσθῃ τὸ σπαθίν, ποτὲ ὑγείαν οὐκ ἔχει Pol. Tr. 3475; τόσα κακός, ὀδυνηρός, οἶον τινὰς οὐκ εἶδε ibid. 9386 καὶ οὕτως τὸν εὐρήκασι τίτοιον οἶον ἠθέλαν Chron. Tōc. 2697 οἶον εὕρη πλέον τῶν ἄλλων | πλησιέστερον τῶν πάντων | ἐκείνου τὰ γένια ἀνάπτει Ptochol. α 94 οἶον ἂν ἔνι τὸ μεγαλότερον SFRANTZIS, Chron. 50.4
 νὰ κράξῃ ὄγοιον θέλει ἀπ' ὅλους Assizes A 207.26 γιὰ νὰ τῆς δώσῃ ἄνδρα τῆς τότε βλογητικὸς τῆς, | ὄγοιον τῆς δώσ' ἡ μοῖρα τῆς Alex. Rim.
 363–4

Feminine Nominative

- ἡ μιὰ δουλία, ἴα καὶ ἀν ἐνεῖ / ἡ μιὰ δουλεία, οἷα καὶ ἂν ἔνι (1350–1?, Athos?, LEMERLE et al.
 1979: 130, 45.25)
 οὐδὲν ψηφῆ τοῦ βασιλέως τὴν μάχην οἷα κι ἂν ἔνι Chron. Mor. H 3119 καὶ ὄγοια πάρτε ἤθελε μαγκάρεῖ, νὰ πλερώνῃ (1698, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1991: 3, 86.39)

Feminine Genitive

ἐκτήσατο κληρονομίας οἷας ἔκαμεν Assizes A 131.3

Feminine Accusative

τὴν δὲ ἐτέραν νὰ ἡπορεῖς ἐπάρεινε οἷαν θελήσης (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 267.88) ἐποιήσασιν ἀγάπην οἷαν ἡθέλῃαν Chron. Mor. H 8727 φιλίαν ... τέτοιαν οἷαν Pol. Tr. 4266; οἷαν ὥραν σιγήσουσιν ibid. 12126 καὶ οἷαν κρίνεις ἐξ αὐτὰς κάλλιαν παρὰ τὰς ἄλλας Velth. 540 (τὰς ὅλας transcr. Lendari) τιμωρίαν ... οἷαν οὐκ ἔπαθες ποτὲ σου Ptochol. α 352 ἀπὸ οἷαν μερίαν ἡθελεν θέλει ὁ γαμπρός του ὁ Δημήτριος νὰ εἶναι (1536, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 116, 229.6) καὶ οἷαν ὥραν φάγεις ἀπ' αὐτοῦ θέλεις ἀποθάνει KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 323.31 νὰ πάρουν οἷαν μερίαν θέλου, ἢ τὴν κάτω ἢ τὴν ἀπάνω (1551, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 78, 97.21) οἷα ὦρα τότε διασεῖσει κανεῖς (1605, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 10, 314.6) ἀπὸ ὄγοια μερία τοῦ φανῇ (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 14, 13.12) ὄγοιαν ὥραν δὲν ἡθελεν κάμει τὸ λεγόμενον πράγμα (1538, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 5, 55.54) ἀπὸ ὄγοιαν μερεὰν θέλει ὁ γαμπρός (1606, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 4, 4.13)

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

καμελαύκιν δὲ χρὴ ἔχειν ὁ καθεῖς, ἓνα πανὶν ἔχων σκέπασμα οἷον τοῦ ἐνδύματος ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos I 106.20–I καὶ τέλος οἷον ἔφερεν GLYKAS, Stichoi 61

ἐὰν εἴπη πράγμα κατ' αὐτοὺς οἷον οὐδὲν πρέπει (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 71.136) ἂν θέλῃς νὰ γενῇ ἐτέτοιον οἷον τὸ ὀρίζεις Chron. Mor. H 8749 ἀπὸ οἷον μέρος θέλει (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 21, 57.29) οἷον ἂν ἔνι τὸ μεγαλότερον καὶ πολυεισοδότερον SFRANTZIS, Chron. 50.4

νὰ ἐπαίρνει ἄλλον ... οἷον θέλει (1503, Athos, PAVLIKIANOS 2006: 8, 107.19) εἰς οἷον τοῦ παιδὶ ἡθελεν ἀφήσει ὁ κύρ Γεώργιος τὸ λεγόμενον ἀμπέλι (1536, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 116, 229.3) γιον καὶ ὅσον ἐστὶ / γιοῖν καὶ ὅσον ἐστὶ (1537, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 34, 239.3) ἐπῆρε τ' ἀμπέλι εἰς τὸ Στραβοκόλι, τὴ κάτου καρίνα, ὅσο καὶ οἷον ἐστὶ (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 53, 67.12)

εἰς ὄγοιον τετραμηνιαῖον (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 18, 158.19)

νὰ τοῦ παίρνῃ ἓνα ἀπὸ τὰ βοῖδια του, ὄγοιο θέλει (1523, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 106, 137.9) ἀπὸ τὰ δύο ζευγάρια ὄγοιον θέλει (1606, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 3, 81.46); ὄγοιον πράμα θελήσῃ (1607, ibid. 8, 87.37) νὰ τὸ παίρνῃ ὄγοιο παιδὶ θέλει (1687, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1972: 16, 286.21)

νὰ πάρῃ τὸ ἴνα, ὄγοιο θέλει (1692, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1991: 2, 84.24)

Plural

Masculine Accusative

μὴ στρατιώτας, ἀδελφέ, οἷους ἐνταῦθα εἶδες; Dig. G VI.182 ἐγίνησαν πολέμοι | μεγάλοι τε καὶ φοβεροί, οἷους τινὰς οὐκ εἶδε Pol. Tr. 10295 οἷους ἐξεχωρίσω ἐκλεκτοὺς δώδεκα νεωτέρους Achil. N 217 νὰ παίρνῃ οἷους θέλει Chron. Mor. P 2004 πρὸς ἐκείνους οἷους ἡθελεν γράφει (1579, Corfu, KARYDIS 1994: 6, 107.21) δόντες αὐτοὺς οἰκούς οἷους ἂν ἡθελον Ekth. Chron. 17.24

Feminine Nominative

τὴς ἐλῆς ὅπου ἔχω εἰς τὸ Ἀριοῦσον, ὅσες καὶ οἷες ἐστὶν (1197–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 42, 217.9) τὴς ρηθέντες ἐλαῖες, ὅσες καὶ οἷες εἰσὶν (1272, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 326, 484.44)

Feminine Accusative

νὰ ἐπάρης οἷας δὴ καὶ θελήσης (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 266.67)

ὅλα μου τὰ ἐλαϊκὰ δένδρη, οἷες καὶ ὅσες ἔχω (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 57, 177.10)

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

κατὰ ἓνα τῶν ἀδελφῶν ἀπὸ δύο ἱματίων ἔχειν χρή, ἓνα ἐμπαλλομένον παλαιὸν καὶ ἕτερον ὑγιὲς πρὸς ἀλλαξίμιν, οἷα κατὰ τὸν τόπον κάμνονται ράσα, καὶ ἐν τῇ χώρᾳ οἷα ἦν εὐθηνότερα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 105.28–106.2

θαρρεῖ καὶ λέγει πρὸς αὐτὸν ὅσα καὶ οἷα θέλει Spaneas P 62

μὴ θαύματα παρὰδοξα γίνονται εἰς Ρωμανίαν | οἷα τελοῦνται, τέκνον μου, εἰς τὸ μνημα τοῦ Προφήτου Dig. G III.138–9 οἷα ποιεῖ ὁ Φθόνος Pol. Tr. 13276 ἐκεῖνος ἄλλα οἰκονομεῖ, οἷα καὶ μόνος οἶδεν Chron. Tòc. 733 οἷα χωράφια ὑπάρχουν εἰς τόπους ἀσύμφερους (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 14, 49.26)

ἕτερα ὑφάσματα, ὀγοῖα καὶ ἂν ἔνι Assizes A 148.24

Usage

From a syntactic point of view, οἷος/ὀγοῖος functions mostly as a pronoun, but may also be used as a determiner:

οἷος δὲ φανῇ εἰς ἀναζήτησιν τοῦ τοιούτου τόπου (13th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 20, 9.6–7)

οἷος οὐδὲν ἔλαβεν πικρίαν τῆς ξενιτείας Alf. Xen. A 2 οἷος εἰς τὴν ἐκκλησιὰν ἡμερονυκτοβαίνει Om. Nokr. Vas. 123 οἷος ἄνθρωπος θελήσει νὰ μονάσῃ (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 228.25) ἐσέβαινε ὁ Βέλθανδρος ... στὸν ρήγαν, | οἷαν ὥραν, οὐ δέετον ἄλλου θέλημα νὰ ᾗ Velth. 804–5

εἰς οἷον τόπον εἶμαι Ptochol. α 860 (ms V)

οἷαν ὥραν θέλετε φάγει, νὰ αποθάνετε Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 95.33

The relative clauses it introduces may be either headed or headless:

κανεῖς ἄνθρωπος, ὀγοῖος καὶ ἂν ἔνι, οὐ καβαλλάρης, οὐ βουργέσης Assizes B 433.2

ἢ ζῶον ἢ ἄλλον κτηνόν, οἷον λάχῃ καὶ ἔναι Phys. 358 τὸν νεοφώτιστον Ἀνδρέαν ... οἷον νῦν ἐβάπτισεν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 21, 56.17)

δότε τὴν οἷον σᾶς φαίνῃ Pol. Tr. 7437 οἷον μέρος ἀλληλογόησει, νὰ τὰ ζημιώνεται (1536, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 116, 230.3) ἄς πάρῃ ἡ θυγάτηρ μου ὀγοῖο θέλει (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 82, 273.30)

Very rarely, the neut. sg. functions as an uninflected definite relative (= ὅπου): μιὰ περνιέρα γεμάτη λείψανα, ὀγοῖον λέγονται Ἁγιοὶ Φανέντες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 36.14.

5.9.2.4 οίοσδήποτε, όποιοσδήποτε

The indefinite relative pronouns όποιος and οίος may – very rarely – be combined with the suffix -δήποτε, which derives from the grammaticalization of the AG adverbs δή and ποτέ. These forms occur mostly in higher-register texts:

οίουσδήποτε κάλλους Dig. G V.545

κᾶν οίονδήτηποτε ἁμάρτημα καὶ ἂν ἔκαμες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 386.37

εἰς οἶονδήτηποτε πράγμα (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.41) όποιοσδήποτε εἴδους ζῶον STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 20.67

5.9.2.5 όστις

The indefinite relative pronoun όστις, ήτις, ό,τι, “whoever, whatever”, is a direct continuation of AG όστις. Not all case-forms are equally common, and some only appear in higher-register texts. The most frequent case-forms in vernacular texts are the masc. nom. sg. όστις and the neuter nom. and acc. sg. ό,τι.

The pronoun has double inflection as in AG (see table below); however, it has developed variants in which the first constituent has become uninflected, obviously under the influence of the relativizing prefix /o/ appearing in relative pronouns and adverbs such as όπου, όποιος, όποτε etc. Some scholars interpret these partially uninflected forms as resulting from the direct prefixation of /o/ to the interrogative τίς (PERNOT 1907/46: II 235); such an analysis, however, is inconsistent both with the widespread use of όστις in the MedG period and with the paucity of attestations of interrogative τίς used as a relative pronoun (see 5.9.1.6). Forms with uninflected ό- are attested already in AG (see GIGNAC 1981: 179–80 and n. 7; CHANTRAINE ²1984: 131–2; LSJ s.v. όστις) but are probably unconnected with developments taking place in the medieval period (JANNARIS 1897: 167; SCHWYZER 1939: 617).

The variant masc. nom. sg. ότις occurs mainly in texts from Cyprus, but the masc. gen. sg. ότινος is widespread, and attested in Crete, Cyprus and the Heptanese. The masc. acc. sg. sometimes appears with final /n/ (for both όντινα and ότινα). Both Germano and Portius mention these forms, while Portius notes that no other forms of όστις are used: όποιος, όγοιος, ότις, όστις καὶ ἂν εἶναι GERMANO, Grammar 139; Vsano anco dire, ότις καὶ ἂν εἶναι, qualunque si sia, nel Mascolino, & nel neutro, ότη καὶ ἂν εἶναι, qualsiuoglia cosa si sia GERMANO, Grammar 72.5; όστις quisquis, cujus genitivus ότινος, accusat. ότινα et non plus ultra PORTIUS, Grammar 29.10–11.

A major innovation in the use of the pronoun, appearing from the 15th c. onwards, is the function of the neuter form ό,τι as general relativizer, irrespective of gender, case and number, e.g.:

ό, τι ηῦραν πράγματα ἐκεῖ ἐδιαγούμισάν τα Chron. Toc. 1306 κάμε της μέσα τοῦ σπιτιοῦ ό, τι μπορεῖς στολίδια FALIEROS, Log. did. 238 καὶ ό,τι καρπὸς ήθελεν ἐβγή (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 31, 69.55)

μ’ ό,τι ἐγδοχή στα σίδερα ἔχου οἱ φλακιασμένοι Thysia Avr. 500

In some legal documents from S. Italy, a number of hypercorrect or downright erroneous forms of the pronoun are to be found, a testament to the writers' lack of familiarity with such residual forms, e.g.:

διὰ ταρία ἰς ἄντινα λαβὼν ἀπὸ τὰς χεῖρας σου (1179, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 193, 294.16); τὴν ὁδὸν ἄτινα ἀναβαίνει (1191, ibid. 228, 305.8); ἀρεμάμπελον ἄτινα ἔχω (1191, ibid. 228, 304.8); ἀρχόντων καὶ καλῶν ἀνθρώπων οἵτινες παρακατιῶν δηλώσω (1206, ibid. 260, 353.10); αἵτινες ἐνώπιον τῶν δύο μερῶν ὀρκῶ ὁμόσασσι (1244, ibid. 294, 412.44); ἦτινα καὶ βουληθῇ πουλεῖν, χαρίζειν (1245, ibid. 295, 416.5)

The pronoun ὅστις, ἦτις, ὅ,τι may be fossilized in innovative conjunctions formed by prepositions + oblique cases of the pronoun, e.g. ἀφότου, ἕως ὅτου, ἀφότη etc.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	ὅστις ἢ ὅτις	ἦτις	ὅ,τι
Gen.	οὗτινος ἢ ὅτινος	(ἦστινος) ἢ ἦτινος	οὗτινος
Acc.	ὄντινα(ν) ἢ ὅτινα(ν)	ἦτινα ἢ ἦντινα	ὅ,τι
Plural
Nom.	οἵτινες	αἵτινες	ἄτινα
Gen.	(ὧντινων)	ὧντινων	(ὧντινων)
Acc.	οὗστινας	ἄστινας	ἄτινα

Singular

Masculine Nominative

ὅστις δ' ἂν ... φανῇ μετατρέποντα ἢ ἐπερεάζοντα τὴν τοιαύτην μονὴν (1122, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 16, 414.4) ὅστις ἀμπελῶν διαχωρίζει (1318, Athos/Thessaloniki?, LEFORT et al. 1994: 75, 230.450) καὶ πᾶς ὅστις ἐτύγχανεν εἰς τὴν χαρὰν ἐκείνην Dig. G IV.836 ἐκεῖνος ὁ Νικηφόρος, ὅστις οὐκ ἦτον φρόνιμος Chron. Mor. H 3095 ὅστις ἔδειξεν καὶ ἐφανέρωσεν (1422, Athens?, BUCHON 1843: LXVIII, 289.7) καὶ ὅστις μόνον τὸ ἰδῆ, τὸ πέταλον, ὃ ἔχω Synax. gadar. 281 καὶ ὅστις τὲς ἔχει DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 870 ὅστις τὸ ἀποξενώση ἢ κλέψῃ το τοῦτο τὸ χαρτί (1500, Athos, PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1975: 14, 263.33) ὅστις ἀπὸ σᾶς δὲν ἠθέλην ἀτσετάρει εἰς τ' ἄνωθεν (1548, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 41, 71.11) ὅστις θέλει τὸ ἐβγάλει διὰ νὰ μὴν μνημονεύεται, ἔστω ἀφορισμένος (1601, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 31, 112.11) ὅστις γυρίσει να τες δει AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 7.6
ὅστις κάμη καλόν, εὐπρόσδεκτον ἔναι εἰς τὸν θεὸν Vios Aisop. K 150.6
ασκητὴς δέ τις, ὅστις εκατοῖκα ἐκεῖ LANDOS, Amart. sot. 333.21 καὶ ὅστις τὴν ᾠρίκα ἐπόνει MONTSEL., Evgena 1236

- ὅστις ἀνοχλήση το ψυχικό μου νά ἔχει τήν κατάρρα μου (1668, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 39, 40.11)
- ὁ ποτέ Λεόντιος Ἀλλάτιος, ὅστις ἐγέννησε τρεῖς υἱούς (1678, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 12, 118.5)
- ὅστις φανῇ ἀπό τήν σήμερον ἡμέραν ὀνοκλώντα τὸ παρὸν ἔγγραφο (1145, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 4, 616.15)
- καὶ ὅτις ἡξεύρει κάλλιον, πάλε ἄς συμβουλευῇ Pol. Tr. 858 app. crit. (B)
- ὅτις θέλει ἡμπορεῖ καλὰ νά πάρη τὰ δένδρα Assizes B 450.19
- ὅτις τὸ ἔγραψεν ψέματα λαλεῖ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 236.18
- ὅτις ἀντι/λη/λογήσει νά ζημιώνεται πέρπουρα σ' (1482 [later copy], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 109, 219.29)
- καὶ ἐστήσεν πάγκον, ὅτις θέλει, νά πάρει μηνίον VOUSTR., Chron. A 48.13–14
- ὅτις ποθεῖ τωρὰ νὰ ἀναπαμένος Cypr. Canz. 19.12
- ὅτις τοῦτον ἐπίστευσεν, οὐδένας δὲν ἐχάθην Pist. kekoim. 39.243 app. crit.
- ὅτις δώκη γροθιὲς νά πλερώνη ἐνάμισυ γρόσι (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 20.13)
- ὅτις δὲν ἔρθει εἰς τὸ σαντζάκι (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: f.3r.17)
- τον διάβολον ὅτις τον κάνει φίλον IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 67

Masculine Genitive

- διὰ τὸν Ἀχιλλέα, | οὔτινος εἶσαι σὺ υἱός Pol. Tr. 10990
- διὰ τήν ἔλευσιν οὔτινος ἐδεξάμεθα γράμματα τῆς προειρημένης ἐκλαμπροτάτης σου αὐθεντίας (1482, Unknown, LEFORT 1981: 1, 34.5–6)
- τὸν Μερκούριον ... | οὔτινος τὰς ἀνδραγαθίης KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.205–6
- νά τὸ δίδῃ οὔτινος θελήσῃ (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 69, 128.12)
- οὔτινος ἀφήνω τὸ σπίτι μου (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 9, 41.14)
- οὔτινος πληρώνω τρίτο καὶ ρεγάγιες (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 247, 247.27)
- καὶ οὔτινος ἐγὼ δώσω (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 32.1).
- καὶ νά δίδουν τοῦ οὔτινος θέλουσι (1668, Crete, TOMADAKIS 1979: 13.86)
- ἄλλου ὅτινος καὶ ἂν ἔνι Assizes B 289.2
- ἄς εἶναι ὅτινος λάχῃ DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 273
- ὅτινος πάρει ἄλογον, νά το πλερώσει, VOUSTR., Chron. A 280.5
- σ' ὅτινος χέρια μέλλουν Apoll. Rim. A 938
- ἐνοικιάζειν αὐτὸ ὅτινος θέλεις (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 33, 33.16)
- νὰν τὸ δώσουν τὰ παιδιὰ της ὅτινος θέλουν (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 8, 86.16)
- ἢ ἀνδρὸς ἢ γυναικὸς ὅτινος σε δώσω (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 62.17)
- κι ὅτινος βέργα ἀπ' ὅλωνω ἀθήσῃ P&N Diath. 1832
- κι' ὅτινος ξανεμίσουσι, ἂν ἐμπορῇ ἄς τοὺς χέσῃ! CHORTATIS, Katz. III.421
- νά τὸ δώσῃ καὶ ἀφήσῃ ὅτινος θέλει (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 55.25)
- νά τὰ δώσῃ ὁ ἄνωθε οἰκονόμος ὅτινος θέλει (1622, Crete, MALTEZOU 1989: 359.45)
- νά ἡμπορῶ νά τὸ δίνω ὅτινος θέλω (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 1, 29.38)
- ὅτινος ἤθελε τοῦ φανιστῇ (1660, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 2, 116.29)
- νά τὸ ἀφήνῃ διὰ τῇ ψυχῇ μας ὅτινος θέλει (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 483.15)
- τοῦ ἄνωθε ἱερέως ἢ ὅτινος ἀλλουνοῦ (1671, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2008: 3, 54.13)
- νά τὸ δίνῃ ὁ ἐπίσκοπος ὅτινος παπᾶ θελήσῃ νά κάμῃ (1689, Santorini, DRAKAKIS 1971: 133.17)
- μὰ τὸ κονταροκτύπημα τοῦτο, ὅτινος κι ἂ λάχῃ KORNAROS, Erot. II.1667

Masculine Accusative

- τοῦ ἡμετέρου ἡμῶν ἀνὴρ, ὄντινα κατεστήσαμεν ἡμέτερον προκουράτορα (1245, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 295, 415.13) ὄντινα εἶχε δέσμιον Dig. G V.70 ὄντιναν εἶχαν στήσει Pol. Tr. 2076 app. crit. (A) ὄντινα καὶ ἡμεῖς ἐδεξάμεθα τίμια τε καὶ φιλικὰ (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 300.8) τὸν τόπον ἀντίπερα τῆς Μπογιάννας ἕως τὴν θάλασσαν, ὄντινα τόπον ἐπαρελάβαμεν (1479, Constantinople, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 11, 294.7) μὲ μέρος τινὰ τοῖχον, καθὼς ὁρᾶται τὴν σήμερα, ὄντινα εἶχεν δώσει προλαβὼν ὑπὸ σολδιατικῷ ὁ ρηθεὶς ποτὲ Ἀντώνιος (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 148, 127.6) ὄντινα εἰρημένον μύλον θέλω ἔχειν ἢ ρηθεῖσα Ἀννέζα (1510, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 22, 38.17)

κρημονύς δεινότατους θεωρῶ δύο πρὸ ὀφθαλμῶν μου· εἰς ὄντινα ἐμπέσοιμι, φεῦ τῶν ἀνομιῶν μου! Velis. ρ 552

πύργον ὅτινα τὸν βλέπω (1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 533.1) ὅτιναν φθάσῃ τὸ σπαθίν, θάνατον ἀποδίδει Pol. Tr. 4418 app. crit. (B) να κάμει ψῆφος με ὅτιναν ἔκαμεν πραγματεῖες (1504, Rhodes, MINAS 2012: 19, 417.78) ο θεός, ὅτιναν αγαπά, φυλάγει τον Diig. Alex. K 357.32 ὅτινα πιάσουν Fyll. gadar. 160

μὲ ὅτιναν ἀγαπᾷς (1567, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 5, 305.2) καὶ ὅτιναν θέλω τὴν δίδω KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 4.6

ἀπ' ὅτινα (1696, Andros, POLEMIS 2001: 10, 111.4)

Feminine Nominative

ὦ γλώσσης ψευδηγόρου, | ἥτις ἐλάλησε κακῶς σήμερον ἀδικίαν GLYKAS, Stichoī 71–2

γῆ ... ἥτις ὀνομάζεται Βουλκαρέα (1321, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 108, 209.608) σκώληκα τὸν ἀκοίμητον κέκτημαι τὴν πενίαν, ἥτις μὲ τρώγει πάντοτε Ptoch. III 229 διὰ τὴν καθαρὰν ἀγάπην ἥτις γέγονεν εἰς ἡμᾶς (1481, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 12, 317.25)

τὴν φυλακὴν ... ἥτις ἦτον εἰς τὸν ναὸν τῆς θεᾶς Μινερούας Pol. Tr. 11133 τὴν κόρην ... ἥτις διὰ πόθον ἔραστοῦ ἔφυγε τῆς πατρίδος Dig. A 2431

τὴν προικοδοσίαν τοῦ κακοῦ Σπανοῦ, ἥτις λέγεται ὑπὸ ἰδιώτου Spanos D 1676

τὴν βασιλείαν λάβετε, ἥτις ἡτοιμασμένη ὑμῖν πρὸ κόσμου κτίσεως ἐστίν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 598

ἐγὼ Μακαρία, μοναχὴ μικρόσχημος, ἥτις ἤμουν γυνὴ δευτέρα τοῦ ποτὲ κυρ Τομάδο

Νταλμέδεγο (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 146, 263.3) ἥτις ἕκτη γενεὰ εἵμεσθεν ἡμεῖς οἱ παρόντες τώρα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 323.17 τὴν ἀποθήκην τὴν εὕρισκομένην κάτωθεν τοῦ αἰγιαλοῦ ἥτις ἐστὶν ἄρσανάς (1547, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 56, 176.12)

νὰ βάλης τὴν κοπρίαν, ἥτις κάμνει δύο ἐνεργείας LANDOS, Geopon. 156.27

τὴν πάλαι λεγομένην Σούσαν, ἥτις ἦτον βασιλεία του Δαρείου NEKT. IEROSOL., Ierokosm. Ist. 399.25

Feminine Genitive

ἥτινος ἀρχόντισσας ἀφήνω τὸ ἀμπελάκι μου (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 9, 16.9); ἥτινος κερα-Εὐγενίας ἀφήμι τὴν οἰκίαν (1518, ibid. 54, 102.14)

Feminine Accusative

πρὸς τὴν ἐκλαμπροτάτην σου αὐθεντίαν ἦντινα καθάπερ καὶ ἄλλοτε ἐγράψαμεν (1482, Unknown, LEFORT 1981: 1, 35.28) δι' ἣν τινὰ διαφορὰν / δι' ἣντινα διαφορὰν (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 32, 27.6) ἐγὼ Ἀνυσία, μοναχὴ μικρόσχημος ... ἦτινα ἐμὲ ἐμικροσχήμεσεν ... ὁ πατὴρ (1521, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 59, 110.4); εἰς τὸν Ἅγιον Γεώργιον Δωριανόν, ἦντινα ἐκκλησίαν ψάλλει ὁ παπᾶς κυρ Πόλος (1530, ibid. 145, 262.8)

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

- ὁ τι τοῦ εἰπῆ ἔκ στόματος Chron. Mor. H 3736
 νὰ τὸν εἶπω | ὁ,τι κακὸν καὶ ἂν ἔπαθα Liv. V 2398 καὶ ὁ,τι πρᾶγμα βούλομαι Diig. tetr. 903 ὁ,τι ἄρα ἐγράφετε καὶ ἐπαρεγγείλατε (1489, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 19, 100.8) ὁ τι ἐπάθετε ἀπὸ ἐδικό σας ἦτον Achil. O 589 καὶ σ' ὁ,τι θέλεις, μ' ὄρισε Rim. kor. A 71 ὁ,τι κοπιᾶζω, χάνω Apoll. Rim. A 1516 καὶ μὲ καιρὸν ὁ τι ἄρκευτῇ τελειώνει Cypr. Canz. 44.8
 νὰ πάρῃ μία γαϊδάραν ἢ ἓνα γάιδαρον, ὁ,τι τοῦ ἄρῃσει (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 266, 370.24) εἰς ὁ,τι δέντρῃ ἔχει (1575, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 1, 3.11) νὰ τὸ κάμνουσι ὁ,τι τῶνε φαίνεται (1576, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 6, 18.14) εἰς ὁ,τι ἔχει καὶ εἰς ὁ,τι θέλει κάμει (1594, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 1, 110.12) ὁ,τι θέλω νὰ γένη Diig. Alex. Sem. S 804 καὶ ὁ,τι σπόρους ὅπου θέλου βάλει (1603, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 1, 27.12) ὁ,τι ροῦχα θέλει ἔχει στ' ἄρχοντικό τη (1607, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 448, 410.8–9) εἰς ὁ,τι μόνον καὶ μπορῇ θάνατον νὰ τῆς δώσῃ MONTSEL., Evgena 1224 τὸ σπῖτι μὲ ὁ,τι κλεῖ μέσα (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 6, 6.2) ὁ,τι ἄρα μοῦ ἀπομείνανε (1664, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 8, 221.7) καὶ νὰ δώσει τ' ὁ,τι θέλει πᾶσα ἡνιόχη (1664, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 3, 20.10–11) κι ὁ,τι εἰς σκοτάδι γίνονται τὸ φῶς ξεφανερώνει Zinon I.296 ὁ,τι νερὸ μὲ πνίξῃ, θάλασσα τὸ λέγω Paroim. (Warner) 91.6

Neuter Genitive

- τοῦ σιγιλλίου τῆς ἐλευθέρης χρυσοβούλλης οὔτινος ἐποιῆσεν αὐτοῖς ὁ μακαριώτατος κόμης Ρογέριος (1171, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 21, 422.14) χωράφιον, τὸ ὄντα καὶ διακείμενον εἰς τὸν Ἅγιον Φίλιππον, οὔτινος τὸ ἥμισυ εἶχομεν κληρονομίαν (1172–3, Sicily, ROGNONI 2011: 22, 135.6) οὔτινος ἀμπελίον ἀπὸ τοῦ ἐνὸς μέρους ἐστὶν ὁ ποταμὸς (1249, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 60, 261.18) τοῦ περιβολίου οὔτινος ἐνὶ πλησίον τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1294, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 180, 287.11) τὸ τοιοῦτον χειμαδεῖον, οὔτινος ὁ περιορισμὸς καὶ ἔχει οὕτως (1333, Athos, PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1986: 22, 172.9) παιδίον, οὔτινος ἐπὶ γέννησιν χαρὰν ἔξεις μεγάλην Dig. A 49

Plural

Masculine Nominative

- οἵτινες εὐνούχισαν ἑαυτοὺς NIKON, Logos 3 196.12 οἵτινες οὐκ ἐποίησαν (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 270.186) οἵτινες ἔρχονται (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 246.663) εἰς συγγενεῖς Ἀράβους, οἵτινες με ἀνέθρεψαν εἰς Μωάμετ τὸν πόθον Dig. G I.288 οἵτινες ὥσι δόκιμοι στιχίζειν τε καὶ γράφειν Ptoch. IV 21 οἵτινες ἀφεντεύασιν τότε τὴν Ἀλαμάνιαν Chron. Mor. H 6796 οἵτινες ὅταν ἡ χολὴ τοὺς ἔλθῃ εἰς τὸ κεφάλιν Pol. Tr. 357 οἵτινες οὐκ ἠμποροῦν ἐκλητεύσειν Assizes B 282.15 οἵτινες κροῦσιν PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 361 ἐσυναθροίστησαν οἱ τρεῖς εἰς ἓνα τόπον, οἵτινες γὰρ ἐθαύμαζον Dig. A 3249 οἵτινες ἐδούλευσάν μοι καλῶς SFRANTZIS, Chron. 32.18 μετὰ τοὺς ἐξετιμωτάδες αὐτοῦ, οἵτινες ἦσαν Spanos D 1719 οἵτινες ποταμοὶ γεμίζουν ὅλην τὴν γῆν νερόν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 185.23 οἱ τινες εὐρίσκονται ὅπου τὰ ἔφθασαν CHEILAS, Chron. 350.26 οἵτινες ἐπήγασιν ἐκεῖσε σωματικῶς (1625, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 393.7) εἰς τοὺς φυλακωμένους, οἵτινες εἶναι ἀσθενεῖς καὶ βλαμμένοι LANDOS, Geopon. 176.18

Masculine Accusative

ὕδρομύλωνας οὐστinas ἔχομεν (1471, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 173, 197.4–5)

Feminine Nominative

τάς παρούσας γραφάς αἵτινες ἀνάγονται εἰς τὴν ἀντίληψίν σου (1487, Chios, LEFORT 1981: 12, 71.3) τάξεις καὶ συμφωνίες καὶ ὀρδινίες αἵτινες εἰσιν γεγραμμένοι (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 57.80) αἵτινες μέλιττες εἰσιν εἰς τὰς χεῖρας τοῦ κυρ Κωνστάντιου (1512, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 34, 59.13) τάς ἐξαρωμένης σου παρειάς, αἵτινες εἰσιν ὥσπερ γραὸς πολυτέκνου ὑποκοῖλιον Spanos D 626

Feminine Genitive

ὧντινών μου θυγατέρων ἀφήμι τὸ προικίον μου ὅλον (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 149, 269.8)

Feminine Accusative

τάς ἀνδραγαθίας τε τοῦ Διγενοῦς Ἀκρίτου, | ἄσtimas διηγῆσατο Dig. A 3886

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

ἄτινα καὶ ἀπὸ στόματος εἶπές με NIKON, Logos 31 810.8
ἄτινα καὶ ὁμολογοῦμεν ὅτι ἀναλάβαμεν (1156, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 8, 90.29) νόμισμαν ἐν καὶ ταρία τέσσερα, ἄτινα ἔλαβαν (1187, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 11, 61.17) ἄτινα εἰσιν πλησίον ἀμπελίων τοῦ Σταματελίου καὶ Πέτρου τοῦ Σπετζιαλίου (1395, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 5, 181.10) ἄτινα ἐμολόγησαν (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1, 19.23) καὶ πάντα τὰ βασίλεια, ἄτινα τοῦτοι βρέχουν Pol. Tr. 10598 ἄτινα ὀσπίτια εἶχεν χάριν δωρεᾶς (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 21, 56.23) καὶ ἄλλα χαρίσματα, ἄτινα εἰσιν ταῦτα Spanos B 131 ἄλογα καὶ παιδία δύο, ἄτινα ὁ βασιλεὺς Ἰβηρίας ... ἐκρούσευσεν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 108.16 ἄτινα λαβόντες ἡμεῖς τὰ εἰρημένα ἄσπρα (1501, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 7, 105.5) ἄτινα ὑπόσχηται νὰ τοῦ τὰ ἐπιστρέψῃ (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 188, 160.23) καθὼς φαίνεται εἰς τὰ προικοχάρτια μας, ἄτινα οὐ θυμοῦμαι τίς αὐτὰ ἔκαμεν (1532, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 153, 276.10) αἱ ζωγραφίαι, αἱ μαρμαρώσεις, τὰ ταβάνια, ἄτινα οἱ παλαιοὶ εἰς τοὺς νόμους λέγουσι λωρικατίονες ZYGOM., Synopsis 277.P.22

Meanings and Usage

“Ὅστις, ἥτις, ὅ,τι is used both as a pronoun and, especially in the neuter, as a determiner:

καὶ ὅστις μὲ βλέπει γέροντα, μηδὲ μὲ κατακρίνη Liv. V 960 ὅτις τοῦ πόθου δὲν εἶν’ πειρασμένος, τὰ δολερά του πάθη δὲν γνωρίζει Cypr. Canz. 3.1
ὅ,τι ἔχω καὶ ὅ,τι ἀσπετάρω (1619, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 329, 308.12) ὅστις ἂν ἔλθῃ κίνδυνος νὰ μὴ ἀποχωρισθῶμεν Liv. α 100 app. crit. (PEV) ὅτιςπραματευτῆς νά θελήσῃ νά ἔλθῃ ... νά μὲν πλερώσῃ κουμέρκιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 584.31.

νά τοῦ δίδωσι ὅ,τι δίκαιον τοῦ πρέπει (1518, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 391.6) ἀπ' ὅ,τι ζημία ἤθελεν γένει (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 8, 25.21)

The function of ὅστις is mainly that of an indefinite relative introducing headless relative clauses but it is also used as a simple definite relative, e.g. τοῦ μακαρίου ἐκείνου φρὲ Πιέρου ἐρημίτου, | ὅστις ἀπῆλθε στὴ Συρίαν Chron. Mor. P 7–8; πέντε δὲ ἦσαν ἐξαίρετοι, ἄνθος τῶν ἀνδρειωμένων, | οἵτινες δὲ ὑπῆρχοντο υἱοὶ τοῦ βασιλέως Achil. N 491; τὸν υἱόν μου τὸν Σταμάτη, ὅστις ἔναι πρεζέντε (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 90, 88.10). This usage begins in the Koine (PSALTES 1913: 198; GIGNAC 1981: 180–1).

In indefinite relative clauses ὅστις, ἥτις, ὅ,τι may be followed by καὶ ἄν or by νά:

καὶ οἱ ἐδικοί σου, ὅσοι κι ἄν ἔν', πολλὴν πικρίαν ἔχουν Spaneas Z 463 ὅ,τι διαφορὰν καὶ ἄν εἶχαμε ἀνάμεσά μας (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 19, 60.9) κι ὅτινος κι ἄν ἐδώκασι πάντα τῶσε θυμοῦνται KORNAROS, Erot. II.1924

μυριοχιλιοκατάδαρτον εὐθύς νά τὸν ποιήσουν, | ὅστις τὸ Ἐρωτόκαστρον ἀπέξω νά τὸ ἴδῃ Velth. 260–1

Relative clauses introduced by the neut. pl. ἅτινα may occasionally contain a resumptive personal pronoun, e.g. ἅτινα καὶ παρέδωκαν ἀπτὰ τῇ ἐμῇ χειρὶ (1064–5, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 42, 171.6); διὰ ταρία ἐξήκοντα, ἅτινα καὶ ἐλάβομεν αὐτὰ εἰς ἡμετέρας χεῖρας (1160–1200, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 19, 98.11).

In rare cases, the neut. sg. ὅ,τι is preceded by the definite article, e.g. διαμένουν εὐχαριστημένοι ὁ καθένας τους στὸ ὅ,τι ὡς ἄνωθεν ἔχει νά λάβῃ (1663, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 5, 35.16); καὶ τόσον ἡξέρω εἰς τὸ ὅ,τι ἐρωτήθηκα (1682, Corfu, DOIKAS 1982: [8], 145.11–12).

5.9.2.6 εἴτις, εἴτι

The indefinite relative εἴτις, εἴτι derives from the univerbation of the AG conditional conjunction εἰ and the indefinite pronoun τις (KRIARAS, Lex. svv. εἴτις, εἴτι), due to their frequent collocation in clauses expressing indefinite conditions. It is difficult to date the univerbation, which is evident only when it is followed by καὶ ἄν, e.g. εἴ τι καὶ ἄν τὴν εἴπη | μὴ ἐβγῇ ἀπὸ τὸ στόμαν της Velth. 890–1. Actually, many editors of MedG and EMG texts choose to write εἰ τις/εἴ τις as two words (as in this case). Nevertheless, in some cases the semantic transition from “if someone” to “whoever”, seems to have taken place already by the 11th c., e.g. ὁμοίως καὶ τὸ δεύτερον πρόσωπον ἵνα καταλιμπάνῃ τρίτον πρόσωπον εἴ τιναν βούλεται (1037, Athos, LEFORT 1973: 2, 45.27); εἴτινος θέλουν ἄς εἴν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 310.28.

Εἴτις, εἴτι inflects like the indefinite pronoun τις (see 5.8.1), but some case-forms are quite rare (see examples below). There are very few examples of addition of final /n/ to the neut. sg., e.g. καὶ ἄλλον εἴ τιν ἀγαθόν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 231.

	Masculine/Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	εἷτις	εἷτι
Gen.	εἷτινος	εἷτινος
Acc.	εἷτινα(ν)	εἷτι
Plural
Nom.	(εἷτινες)	(εἷτινα)
Gen.	εἷτινων	(εἷτινων)
Acc.	(εἷτινας)	(εἷτινα)

Singular

Masculine/Feminine Nominative

- εἷτις φανῆ ταῦτα παρασαλεύων (1170, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 176, 231.33)
- εἷτις ἐν μοιρατάρῃς νὰ ἐν μοιρατάρῃς καὶ εἷτις ἐν ἄρχοντας νὰ ἐν ἄρχοντας καὶ εἷτις ἐν ἄρχοντόπουλον νὰ ἐν ἄρχοντόπουλον καὶ εἷτις ἐν βασμοῦλος νὰ ἐν βασμοῦλος καὶ εἷτις ἐν Λατίνος νὰ ἐν καὶ ἔχεται Λατίνος (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 271.215–16)
- καὶ εἷ τις τὸν Τελαμώνιον θελήσῃ νὰ συντύχῃ Pol. Tr. 1389
- εἷτις εἰς κόσμον περ[ι]πατεῖ, παρέχει νὰ φροντίζῃ Alfav. I 25
- καὶ εἷ τις μου πταίει, ἄρχοντες, ὁ Θεὸς νὰ τότε σώσῃ Anon. Naupl. 75
- καὶ εἷτις θέλει ἐνθυμηθῇ (1442, Belgrade region/Serbia, ALEXOULIS 1892: 2, 280.21)
- εἷτις τολμήσῃ εἰπεῖν τὸ τυχόν (1445, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 170, 191.5)
- εἷτις δὲ πέσῃ εἰς ἔρωταν Achil. N 303
- εἷτις οὐκ εἶδεν ξενιτείαν Peri xen. 65
- εἷ τις ἐν' τοῦ ριζικοῦ, ἐκείνος νὰ τὴν πάρῃ Byz. Il. 531
- καὶ εἷτις ἀντιτεῖν εἰς τοῦτο (1501, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 6, 104.31)
- εἰς τοῦτα τὰ δένδρα ἑκατοικοῦσαν οἱ διάβολοι καὶ τὰ ἐναέρια πνεύματα, τὰ ὅποια εἷ τις τοὺς ἐρώτα τίποτες τοὺς τὸ ἔλεγον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.23–4
- εἷτις ἤθελε ἀντιτεῖν τίποτε (1547, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: I, 70.16)
- καὶ εἷ τις ἤθελε φανῆ ἐνάντιος (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 2, 11.10)
- καὶ εἷτις ἀνοχλήσῃ τὸν ἄνωθεν ἀγοραστή (1586, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 4, 20.9)
- εἷτις ἐπιβουλεύεται νὰ κάμῃ ἄλλον κακόν, τὸ παθαίνει ἀτός του Vios Aisop. I 248.35
- εἷ τις οὖν ἐναντίος φανοῖ (1644, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 1, 130.11)
- νὰ πάρῃ κόπια εἷτις χρειάζεται (1708, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 46, 81.3)
- καὶ γι τις γιρέφι νὰ τζακίσι τὸ αὐτὸ ψυχικὸ μου / καὶ γ-εἷτις γυρέψῃ νὰ τσακίση τὸ αὐτὸ ψυχικὸ μου (1529, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 32, 239.9–10) (for the anaptyxis of [j] see I, 3.5.2.1)

Masculine/Feminine Genitive

- εἷτινος θέλουν ἄς εἶν NIKON, Logos 9 310.28
- ἵνα ἡπορεῖς αὐτὴν δοῦναι εἷτινος θελήσῃς ἐκ τῶν μурτεμένων (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 267.84)
- ἀρέσει καὶ οὐκ ἀρέσει τους, εἷ τινος καὶ ἂν ἐν Pol. Tr. 11174
- εἷτινος ἔβλεπεν λαμπράν τὴν ὄψιν καὶ τὴν θέαν Achil. N 237 εἴτινος κόλπον ἔδιδε Ἄρκιτας ἀνδρειωμένος Theseid VIII.17,7 (1529) εἴτινος ἡ πίστις εἶναι καλή, ἐκείνη νὰ κρατούμεν Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 131.4

 καὶ εἴ τινος παιδί γενηθῇ, ἂν ἔναι ἀρσενικὸν τὸ παιδί, τρεῖς χρόνους ἔναι ἐκεῖ μὲ τὴν μάνα του Diig. Alex. F 44.16 (Konstantinopulos) καὶ εἴτινος δείξουν ὅτι τὸ ἡμέρωσε (1549–50, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 34, 74.26) εἴ τινος τάξεις τίποτες ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 1559

Masculine/Feminine Accusative

διὰ τρόπον εἴτιναν (1399, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 8, 92.3) ἔαν χρειασθῇ τὸ ὁσπῆτιον τίποτε ἔξοδον, νὰ δίδεται ἀπὸ τὸ αὐτὸ ἐνοίκιον, εἴ τιναν ἐπαφήσει εἰς αὐτό (1445, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 170, 191.13) ἐντέχεται νὰ ἔχῃ δίκαιον ἀπὲ εἴτινα ἀγκαλέση Assizes B 285.2 εἴτιναν φθάσῃ τὸ σπαθί, ζωὴν πλέον οὐκ ἔχει Pol. Tr. 4418 app. crit. (V) εἴ τιναν εὖρω πρόθυμον PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 296 ραβδέας, σπαθέας ἐχάρισα εἴτιναν ἡῦρα ἔμπροσθέν μου Achil. N 1463 εἴτιναν κι ἂν δοξάσης Theseid IV.69,6 (1529) καὶ εἴ τιναν εὖρη στὸ καλόν Alfav. 14 59 εἴ τιναν πιάσουν εἰς τὸν πόλεμον, οὐδένα ζωντανὸν δὲν ἀφήνουν Diig. Alex. K 268.25 καὶ ὁ θεὸς εἴ τινα ἀγαπᾷ, φυλάγει τον Diig. Alex. F 266.6 (Lolos)

Neuter Nominative/Accusative

εἴ τι τοῦ ἔλθῃ λυπηρόν Spaneas Va 425 καὶ εἴτι εἰποῦν οἱ μάρτυρες (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 59.153) εἴ τι κελεύεις, ποιήσον Diig. sebast. Thom. 305 εἴτι ἐκοπιάσαμεν καὶ εἴτι ἐδώκαμεν καὶ εἴτι ἠθέλαμεν δώσει (1414, Corfu, MALTEZOU 1991a:
 (1), 316.16–17)
 εἴ τι εὐρίσκεται εἰς τὸν τόπον ἐκεῖνον (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 5, 309.13) εἴτι εἴπαν ἔδωκέν τα Ptochol. α 252 καὶ εἴ τι εἴχασιν ἐδόθησαν εἰς τὸ Σπιτάλλιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 16.22 κἄν εἴτι μὲ συμβῇ κἄν εἴτι πρόκειται μοι [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 240 ἀπὲ εἴτι κι ἂν ἐποίκαμεν Theseid I.31,6 (Follieri) καὶ εἴτι σᾶς εἴπα πρότερον BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 778 εἴτι εἶχεν ἐπῆραν τα VOUSTR., Chron. A 64.18 εἴτι ἐξαποστείλῃ ὁ Θεός (1509, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: 2 [B'], 226.11) ὅποιος ἐβγῇ ἀπὸ εἴτι ἐκρίναμεν (1555, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 177, 228.31) νὰ δίδουν τὸ δέκατον εἰς τὸ ἀλώνι ἀπάνου ἀπὸ εἴτι γέννημα (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 237.66) νὰ τὰ φιάσῃ εἴτι θέλει (1612, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 12, 66.5) νὰ κάμῃς εἴ τι ὀρίσης (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174.11) καὶ εἴτι ἄλλον κάμνει χρεῖα (1615, Santorini, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 9, 6.70) εἰς εἴτι σύμβαμα γένη (1629, Thessaloniki, PAVLIKIANOV 2005: 11, 133.16) τίποτες ἀπὸ εἴτι ἔγραψα εἰς τὴν διαθήκη (1634, Peloponnese, LAMBROS 1908b: 340.3) εἴτι εἴπη ὁ παπὰς καὶ εἴτι κάμη PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.102 εἴτι χρεὸς χρεωστεῖ (1648, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 1, 34.23) καὶ εἴ τι ἄλλο ὅπου νὰ μᾶς ὀρίσῃ (1654, Chios, ZERLENDIS 1917: 3, 215.)
 εἴτι ἄρα καὶ ἂν ἔχουσι κινητὰ καὶ ἀκίνητα (1655, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 2001: 96.23) δίδων εἴ τι μοῦ ἔδοξεν ὅπου ἦθελον (1655, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 5, 155.4) εἴτι ἦθελε τοῦ εὐρεθῇ, ἄσπρα, ροῦχα, καὶ εἴτι ἄλλο πρᾶγμα (1660, Paros, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 25, 21.11) καὶ εἴτι ἄλλο εὐρίσκεται στὸ χέρι τοῦ ἄνωθεν ἀφέντη (1673, Sikinos, ZERLENDIS 1913a: 139.22)

καὶ εἴτι καὶ ἄν εὐρέθησαν, πρᾶγμα καὶ μετρητά (1690, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 21, 14.5) ἀπὸ εἴτι ἐξαποστείλῃ ὁ Κύριος (1691, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 145, 84.3)

Plural

Masculine Genitive

αὐτὸ τὸ χάρισμα τοὺς ἐχάρισεν, ὅτι εἴτινων ἀμαρτίαις συγχερέσουν (sic), νὰ εἶναι συγχερεμέναις. καὶ εἴτινων κρατοῦν, νὰ εἶναι κρατημέναις DAM. SToud., This., Logos 28, Δ5r.31

Meanings and Usage

The pronoun εἴτι may also be used in a manner similar to ὅ,τι, i.e. as an uninflected indefinite determiner:

εἴτι κόπους καὶ ἐξόδους ἐπιδείξει (1230, S. Italy, NADAL CAÑELLAS 1983: 4, 168.16) καὶ εἴτι ἐτέραν δουλείαν πρέπει σοι τοῦ ποιεῖν (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 473.1) εἴτι ἂν μᾶς ἔλθῃ κίνδυνος νὰ μὴ ἀποχωριστοῦμεν Liv. α 3720 ἀπὸ εἴ τι πράγματα εὗρουν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 18, 159.25) εἰς εἴτι χρεῖαν ἔχομεν (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 7, 311.15) μέ εἴτι ἄρα ἐσοδεῖαν ἦν μέλλει ἔρχεσται (1492, Venice, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 1, 127.5) καὶ εἴτι χρεῖα τοὺς ἔκαμεν Theseid X.10,4 (1529) ἀπὸ εἴτι ρουχικά τῆς ὑρίσκονται (1571, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 7, 60.9) καὶ εἴ τι ἄσπρα καὶ ἂν εὐρεθῇ ἀπὸ μικροῦ ἕως μεγάλου σχεδὸν εἰς ὀβολοῦ ποσότητα (1655, Skyros, ANDONIAIDIS 1983: 4, 149.14) εἰς εἴτι πραγματεία θέλει αὐτός (1665, Proikonnisos/Marmaras, KAMBOURIS 1976: A.2, 195.9)

Occasionally, the neuter form εἴτι may be preceded by the definite article:

τὸ εἴ τι καὶ ἂν ὀρέγεσαι νὰ ἔνι εἰς τὸν ὀρισμὸ σου Pol. Tr. 1935 app. crit. (A) καὶ ἄλλα τὰ εἴ τι ἔχρηζεν εἰς δύναμιν τοῦ κάστρου Chron. Toc. 1865 τὸ εἴτι τὸν ἐμήνυσαν νὰ ποιήσῃ μετ' ἐκεῖνον Chron. Mor. P 6364 καὶ τὸ εἴτι ποιήσουν οἱ ἄνωθεν τιμιότατοι (1575, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 5, 91.17) γιατὶ τοὺς δίδω καὶ τῶν τριῶν τὸ εἴ τ' ἐπιθυμοῦσι KONDAR., Paidēs 569 γράφομεν τὰ εἴτι ὑποστατικά τῶν εὐρίσκονται (1696, Nauplion, DOKOS 1971/74: 17, 52.3)

Εἴτις is mostly used as a pronoun, e.g. εἴτις κερδίση ἐκ τοὺς δυό, στὴν τζόστρα νὰ νικήσῃ Imb. Rim. 470, but instances of determiner usage occur quite frequently, especially in the neuter, e.g. εἴτις κονόμος ἤθελε λάχει (1675, Amorgos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 33, 26.22); ἀπὸ εἴτι γάλα ἢ τυρὶ κάμη (1522, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 69, 99.9); εἴ τι παιδὶ ἤθελε βάλεϊ σκάνταλο (1583, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 15, 29.4).

Εἴτις may be followed by ἄν, by καὶ ἄν or by νά:

εἴτι ἄν ἀκούσετε φωνήν, μὴ ἐβγήτε νὰ ἰδῇτε Liv. S 1773 εἴτι καὶ ἄν λέγω, αὐθέντρα μου, ἀληθινὸν νὰ μὲ εὕρῃς Theseid Prol. P 122 ἐποίησε ψυχοπαίδι καὶ κληρονόμον τὸν κυρ Τζουάννην ... εἰσὲ εἴτι καὶ ἄν ἔχη, κινητὰ καὶ ἀκίνητα (1557, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 201, 250.5)

εἴ τις νὰ μπῇ ἀπὸ τὲς σκάλες εἰς τὸ κάστρον νὰ βάλλῃ φλάμπουρον, ὁ πρῶτος νὰ ἔχη ὀνομίσματα ,α MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 458.3
καί, εἴτις νὰ νικήσῃ, | τὴν θυγατέραν τοῦ ρηγὸς θέλουσιν τοῦ βλογῇσι Imb. Rim. 359–60

5.10 Contrastive Pronouns and Determiners

There are two basic contrastive pronouns in AG: ἕτερος “other of two”, corresponding to Lat. alter, and ἄλλος “other of several, another”, Lat. alius. Both are found in texts of the MedG and EMG periods, although increasingly ἕτερος is limited to higher registers and the original semantic distinction is often not preserved. In SMG ἄλλος is the normal contrastive pronoun and determiner, while ἕτερος survives only in certain expressions or as a learned or archaizing feature. For the forms of ἕτερος found in texts of the period covered by this Grammar see 5.10.2. The forms of ἄλλος are discussed in 5.10.1.

There is also a by-form ἀλλέος (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.), with which the adverb ἀλλέως/ἀλλιῶς may be linked. Some confusion with ἀλλοῖος may also be suspected. As a determiner, ἀλλέος occurs occasionally in mixed- and higher-register texts in LMedG, e.g. an apparent dative form in λόγοις ἀλλέοις Liv. P 1086 transcr. (Lendari).¹¹⁰ It is quite common in Cretan (and Heptanesian) literary and non-literary texts in the phrase ἀλλέας λογῆς “of another kind”, “in another way”, where it may undergo synizesis, becoming ἀλλιᾶς λο(γ)ῆς:

ἀλλιᾶς λογῆς καὶ χάρης FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 62 (ex corr. from ἀλλέας ms A) ἀλλέας λογῆς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 246, 240.14) μὰ γ'ὼ τὸ πρᾶμα ἀλλιᾶς λογῆς στὸ λογισμό μου κρίνω CHORTATIS, Erof. V.244 ἀλλιᾶς λογῆς (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 55.222) ἀλλοῖας λογῆς μ' ἐδέχτη τὸ καημένο Vosk. 339 ἀλλιᾶς λογῆς δὲ μπαίνει FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. IV 146 κἀνοντας ἀλλοῖας λογῆς KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.362

Certain other words have a function which resembles that of a contrastive pronoun/determiner, e.g. ἀποδέλοιπος, δελοιπός. They are adjectives, declined regularly with feminine in -η (see 3.2.1), and with the meaning of “remaining, rest”. The first is found quite widely in texts of Southern Greek provenance, while the second has been found only in texts from Cyprus. Examples:

ἄλλοι οἱ ἀποδέλοιποι εἶχαν βουλή σταμένη Alex. Rim. 2749 τὰ ἀποδέλοιπα (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 156, 245.24); τὰ ἀποδέλοιπα πράγματα
 (ibid. 156, 245.28)
 ἡ ἀποδέλοιπη σπορὰ (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 280, 237.9) οἱ γι-ἀποδέλοιποι εἰς τὰ χωργιά (1664, Cyprus, MERTZIOS 1958b: 255.14) μὲ τ' ἀποδέλοιπα Leilasia Par. 68 μαζὶ μὲ τὰ ἀποδέλοιπα παιδία (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 331, 535.9) οἱ ἀποδέλοιπες πέντε EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 59.1
 παρὰ νὰ δώσης ὀλλίγα καὶ νὰ χάσης τὸ δελοιπὸν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.35; καθὼς ἐποῖκαν οἱ δελοιποὶ ἀφέντες ibid. 56.27; τὰ δελοιπὰ φίκκια ibid. 78.28 οἱ δελοιποὶ σπαχῆδες (1674, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 10, 25.4); τὰ δελοιπά, ὅ,τι δέντρα καὶ ἂν ἔχει, νὰ εἶναι δικά του (ibid. 10, 25.14–15) τοὺς δελοιποὺς KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 266

¹¹⁰ Ms N has λόγοις ἄλέας; the editor obelizes the passage in which it occurs (see Liv. α 1201 app. crit.). We may suspect that the readings of Liv. P and N conceal the phrase λογῆς ἀλλέας/ἀλλέας λογῆς, discussed in this paragraph.

5.10.1 ἄλλος

The inherited pronoun/determiner ἄλλος, declined like adjectives in -ος with feminine in -η (see 3.2.1), acquires a number of new variant forms in the period covered by this Grammar, created on the analogy of demonstrative pronouns such as αὐτός, ἐκεῖνος and τοῦτος (see 5.5.1.2, 5.5.1.8, 5.5.1.11). These will be discussed in detail below. In addition to its use as a contrastive pronoun/determiner, “other”, two further functions should be noted:

- 1) a distributive use, ἄλλος ... ἄλλος ..., meaning “one ... another ...”, pl. ἄλλοι ... ἄλλοι ..., “some ... others ...”, e.g.:

ἄλλοι ἐκεῖ ἐκοιμόντησαν, καὶ ἄλλοι βίγλα ἐκάμναν Theseid I.20,5 (Follieri) ἄλλος τοῦ φτεῖ ᾽ς τὸ πρόσωπο κι ἄλλος συρομαδεῖ τον P&N Diath. 3597

ἄλλον ὑψώνει ὁ καιρὸς καὶ ἄλλον κατεβάζει | καὶ ἄλλον κάμνει πένητα, πολλὰ νὰ τὸν τρομάζει ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Voev. 374–5

καὶ ἄλλος μὲ ἐφτοῦσεν, ἄλλος ἔλεγεν ὅτι “θαρρεῖς νὰ σὲ ἀφήσωμε ζωντανόν;” ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. I §31.28–9

εἰς τὸ νερό ἄλλα νὰ βουτοῦ, στὰ ὕψη ἄλλα νὰ πᾶσι ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. IV.1173

- 2) in reciprocal expressions meaning “one another”, where the first element is (ὁ) εἷς/ένας and the second is an oblique case of ὁ ἄλλος, functioning as direct or indirect object of a verb or preceded by a preposition. Such expressions are already in use at the beginning of our period:

ἕνα τὸ ἄλλο οὐ<κ ἐ>συμφωνοῦσαν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 46.3

καὶ τόσα ἐσύντυχαν ὁμοῦ, ὠρέχτη ὁ εἷς τὸν ἄλλον Chron. Mor. H 8026 καὶ εἷς τὸν ἄλλον ἔλεγεν: “Εγὼ εἶμαι ὁ καλλίων” Diig. tetr. 861 ὁ εἷς τὸν ἄλλον ἤθελεν νὰ ἰδῇ ἀποθαμένον Chron. Toc. 1613

οἱ ἄρχοντες μὲ λύπησιν ἕνας τ’ ἄλλου νὰ λέγη ΣΚΛΑΥΟΣ, Symf. 69

καὶ ἐμεῖς ἕνας πρὸς τὸν ἄλλον ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 248.38; ἔμοσεν ὁ γ-εἷς τοῦ ἄλλου ibid. 546.19 αποσκεπᾶσθην ο νεις του ἄλλου ΒΟΥΣΤΡ., Chron. A 40.16–17;

νὰ διηγηθῇ ἕνας τᾶλλουνοῦ Love poems V 431 ἔρώτα ἕνας τὸν ἄλλον ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 340.21–2 εἷς ἀπὸ τὸν ἄλλο μας ... νὰ γυρεύσειν δικαίωμαντα (1548, Naxos, ΚΑΡΑΒΟΥΛΑ/ΡΟΔΟΛΑΚΗΣ 2012/13: 119, 233.16) νὰ ρεφάρη ἕνας τὸν ἄλλο μας (1558, Crete, ΠΑΝΟΠΟΥΛΟΥ 2015: 2, 78.13)

καὶ ἀκούει ἕνας τοῦ ἄλλουνοῦ τοὺς λόγους ΔΑΜ. ΣΤΟΥΔ., This., Logos 5, ε1r.11–12 νὰ μὴν ἔχῃ εἷς μὲ τὸν ἄλλο μας λόγον (1599, Andros, ΠΟΛΕΜΙΣ 1999a: 91, 122.8) τα βάσανά μας ᾽νούς τ’ αλλοῦ καλύτερα νὰ πούμε CHORTATIS, Panor. I.244 ἕνας τοῦ ἄλλου τως (1630, Crete, ΒΑΡΖΕΛΙΟΤΙ 2000: 4, 336.23)

νὰ μὴν μπορεῖ πλέον ἕνα τὸ ἄλλον καστέλλι νὰ γυρεύσει δικαίωματα (1638, Santorini, ΤΣΕΛΙΚΑΣ 1985: 13, 86.13) ἄν ἡχρεωστοῦσαν τίποτις ρούχα μιᾶς τῆς ἄλλης (1664, Mykonos, ΤΟΥΡΤΟΓΛΟΥ 1980/81: 3, 20.14–15) νὰ κληρονομᾷ μία τὴν ἄλλην τως (1680, Naxos, ΣΙΦΟΝΙΟΥ-ΚΑΡΑΠΑ et al. 1982/83: 31, 181.3–6) στρέχτηκαν ἕνας μὲ τὸν ἄλλο (1691, Sibiu, ΤΣΟΥΡΚΑ-ΠΑΠΑΣΤΑΘΙ 2011: A 15, f.44v.6)

καὶ ἐλεύθεροι καὶ χωρισμένοι ἕνας ἀπὸ τὸν ἄλλον (1693, Siatista, ΠΑΝΔΑΖΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ/ ΤΣΟΥΡΚΑ-ΠΑΠΑΣΤΑΘΙ 1974: 27, 20.11)

For other reciprocal pronouns see 5.12; the forms of ἄλλος used in reciprocal expressions will be included in the present section.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	ἄλλος	ἄλλη	ἄλλο(ν)
Gen.	ἄλλου ἢ ἄλλοῦ ἢ ἄλλουνοῦ ἢ ἄλλονοῦ ἢ ἄλληνοῦ	ἄλλης ἢ ἄλλῃς ἢ ἄλληνης ἢ ἄλλονῃς	ἄλλου ἢ ἄλλοῦ ἢ ἄλλουνοῦ ἢ ἄλλονοῦ
Acc.	ἄλλο(ν) ἢ ἄλλονε ἢ ἄλλονα	ἄλλη(ν)	ἄλλο(ν)
Plural
Nom.	ἄλλοι	ἄλλες ἢ (ἄλλαι)	ἄλλα
Gen.	ἄλλων ἢ ἄλλων ἢ ἄλλωνῶ(ν) ἢ ἄλλωνῶνε ἢ ἄλλουνῶν ἢ ἄλλουνῶνε	ἄλλων ἢ (ἄλλων) ἢ ἄλλωνῶν ἢ ἄλλουνῶν	ἄλλων ἢ ἄλλων(ν) ἢ ἄλλωνῶν ἢ ἄλλουνῶν
Acc.	ἄλλους ἢ ἄλλοπούς ἢ ἄλλουπούς	ἄλλες ἢ ἄλλας	ἄλλα

5.10.1.1 Singular Forms

Masculine

M	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	ἄλλος
Gen.	ἄλλου	ἄλλοῦ ἢ ἄλλονοῦ ἢ ἄλλουνοῦ	ἄλληνοῦ
Acc.	ἄλλο(ν)	ἄλλονε	ἄλλονα

Nominative

The masculine nominative form is invariable before, throughout and after the period covered by this Grammar:

νὰ εἶχε, πίστευσον, γαμβρόν οἶον ἄλλος οὐκ ἔχει Dig. G IV.285 ἄλλος παῖδας ἔφθασε Anak. Konst. 117 ἄλλος ἐπήγαινε ομπρός, ἄλλος ἀπίσω πάλε Theseid VI.26,4 (Olsen) νὰ πολεμήσῃ ἄλλος Alex. Rim. 750 ἡ ἄλλος ὁδία λόγου του ἤθελεν θελήσει (1550, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1970: 5 [E'], 295.11) ἄλλος τουφέκι βάστανε καὶ ἄλλος το κοντάρι STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 918 (Pidonia) μήτε ὁ πρ<ωτ>ονοτάριος ἡ ὁ Διοικητὴς ἡ ἄλλος κανένας Diath. Nikon Metan. 107–8

Genitive

The inherited form ἄλλου remains in use throughout the period. Shift of stress to the final syllable, i.e. ἄλλου, is evidenced from the early 16th c. onwards. The addition of a syllable, on the analogy of demonstratives like αὐτουνοῦ, τουτουνοῦ, is found from the 15th c. and becomes common throughout the Greek-speaking world. The middle vowel is either /o/, like the nom. and acc., or /u/, doubling the vowel of the case-ending, with no clear geographical distinction between the two alternatives. A single example of ἄλληνοῦ, from the early 18th c., has been found.

ἀπὸ ἄλλου τινός ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 214.25 νὰ ποιήσουν ἄλλου γὰρ τινὸς ὁμάτιαν καὶ λιζίαν Chron. Mor. H 7900 ὅπου ἀπλικεύγει εἰς ἄλλου οἰκίαν Assizes B 482.18 ἕνας τοῦ ἄλλου Pol. Tr. 6374; τοῦ ἐνὸς καὶ τοῦ ἄλλου ibid. 6859 εἷς τ' ἄλλου των ἐθῶρει CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 79 οἱ ρηγάδες ὁ ἕνας ὀπίσω τοῦ ἄλλου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.3 ἀποσκεπάστην ο νεις του ἄλλου VOUSTR., Chron. A 40.16–17 ὁ ζηλιάρης εἶναι κουτέντος νὰ χάση διὰ νὰ ποίση ἄλλου ζημιάν Fior 88.1–2 πὼς ἐμπορεῖς νὰ πῆς ἄλλου νὰ σὲ κρατήση; Fior, Suppl. 277.2 μήτε τοῦ ἐνοῦ μήτε τοῦ ἄλλου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 58.3–4 νὰ εἶναι καὶ ἐνοῦ καὶ ἄλλου συμβάσματα (1665, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 58, 172.18)

τοῦ ἄλλου (1513, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 37, 63.13); τὸ ἕνα μικρότερον τοῦ ἄλλου (1518, ibid. 52, 93.46–7) ἕνας τ' ἄλλου κτυποῦσι Alex. Rim. 1875 τὸ δὲ θὲς ἐσύ, νὰ μηδὲ ἄλλου τὸ ποίσης FALIEROS, Log. did. 24 τὸ μερτικόν τοῦ ἄλλου (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 8, 30.10); τοῦ ἄλλου (1613,
ibid. 853, 744.9)
 ἕνας τοῦ ἄλλου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 88.19 μὰ νουὺς ἄλλου τὴν ἔταξε, κί' ἐκείνον νὰ κομπῶση CHORTATIS, Katz. III.376 ἐνοὺς τ' ἄλλου μας Vosk. 135 ἄλλοτε ἐπαίρνει ἄλλονοῦ Pol. Tr. 6505 app. crit. (A) ἄλλονοῦ ἀνθρώπου Diig. Alex. F 202.7 (Lolos) ἄλλονοῦ τινός (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 7, 18.24) ἄλλονοῦ δουλείαν DEFAR., Log. did. 134 ἄλλονοῦ (1543, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 47, 249.8) τοῦ αὐτοῦ ἱερομονάχου ἢ ἄλλονοῦ (1594, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 1, 109.7) νὰ μὴ μπορᾷ τήνε δώσει ἄλλονοῦ (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 57, 77.10–11) σπαθὶ ἄλλονοῦ CHORTATIS, Erof. Interm. III.49 μὴ δώσης ἄλλονοῦ MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 346.5 νὰ κάμη ἄλλονοῦ κακόν Vios Aisop. I 248.35 εἰς ἄλλονοῦ χέρια PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §9.65 τοῦ ἄλλονοῦ (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 393, 609.34) τ' ἄλλονοῦ ρηγός KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1616 δίδε καὶ ἄλλονοῦ πτωχοῦ Charon II 41 νὰ τὸ πωλήσουν ἄλλουνοῦ (1493–4, Athos, OIKONOMIDÈS 1968: 36, 179.15) ἄλλουνοῦ ἀνδρός Diig. Alex. V 87.6

 μηδ' ἄλλουνοῦ τὸ ποίσης DEFAR., Log. did. 24 νά ἔναι ὀπλιγᾶδος ἕνας τοῦ ἄλλουνοῦ (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 257.45)

τοῦ ἑνοῦ καὶ τοῦ ἄλλουνοῦ (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 36, 77.13) ἄλλουνοῦ κανενοῦ (1594, Ioannina, MERTZIOS 1936b: 5, 45.18)

εἰς ἄλλουνοῦ κρεββάτι MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1964 ἄλλουνοῦ GERMANO, Grammar 70.17

εἰς ἄλλουνοῦ παιδί Thysia Avr. 352 ἑνοῦ καὶ ἄλλουνοῦ Bertoldin. 112.31

τοῦ ἄλλουνοῦ τως ἀδελφοῦ (1647, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 16, 88.15)

αὐτὸ εἶνε ἄλλουνοῦ παπᾶ εὐαγγέλιον Paroim. (Warner) 96.10 νά τὴν δώσωμεν ἄλλουνοῦ (1686, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 36, 65.11) το σκήπτρον ἐκείνου ἄλλουνοῦ το ἔδωσα CANTEMIR, Krit. 449.5

πολλὴ τιμὴ παρ' ἄλλουνοῦ KORNAROS, Erot. II.426; ἐσένα, ὅχι ἄλλουνοῦ ibid. V.228 εἰς χέρι ἄλλουνοῦ Diig. Vefa 1432 ἄλλουνοῦ τόπου (1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 34, 136.108) ἄλλουνοῦ κακομοιριά KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.434 νά μὴν τὸ ἀποξενώνουν ἄλληνοῦ τινὸς (1713, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 322, 211.4)

Accusative

The accusative is quite stable, with or without final /n/. Forms with the addition of /e/ occur in texts from the Heptanese and Crete. Forms with added final /a/ have been located in three versions of the Rimada of Apollonios and in a document from Ithaca (for the phenomenon see I, 2.6.3.2).

ποῦ νὰ εὕρης ἄλλον Πρόδρομον τοιοῦτον Ptoch. (Maiuri) 39 καὶ δὲν χρεωστεῖ ἕνας τὸν ἄλλον (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 73, 56.5) ἄλλον παπᾶν (1446, Jerusalem, TSIRPANLIS 1964: 19.11)

ἄλλον ἕνα χρόνον (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 45.8) νά μὴν ἔχη εἷς μὲ τὸν ἄλλο μας λόγον (1599, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 91, 122.8)

ποῦ ἡ Πέρσια δὲν ἀξιώθηκε ὥσάν αὐτεῖνον ἄλλο TROILOS, Rodol. II.240 στρέχτηκαν ἕνας μὲ τὸν ἄλλο (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 15, f.44v.6) (μὲ = μέ: see I, 2.5.4)

ὁ εἷς ἀπὲ τὸν ἄλλονε πολλὰ ἐπροσεχέτον Theseid II.57,5 (1529) πλέον παρ' ἄλλονε τινά KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XVIII.476 ἄλλονε δὲν ἔχω μπιστεμένον TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 243 ἔνανε ἄλλονε (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 3, 362.4); νὰ βάλης ἄλλονε κουμέσιο (ibid. 3, 362.11)

ποῦ καρτερεῖτε ἄλλονε γιὰ νὰ σᾶς βοηθήσει DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 841 μὴν ἔχοντας ἄλλονε (1708, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 8, 32.13) ἐγγυώντας ἕνας τὸν ἄλλονε (1716, Corfu, LIATA 1975: 30, 142.9) ἕνας τον ἄλλονα θωρεῖ Apoll. Rim. A 297 (same in N and V)

νά ρεφάρη ἕνας τὸν ἄλλονα (1644, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 301, 236.12)

The form ἄλλόνας, which has been found only in Machairas (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.), is a combination of ἄλλος and the numeral ἕνας: οἱ ποῖγοι ἦσαν ὁ σὶρ Φρατζικῆς Φρατζεφίνγκο, σὶρ Τζουλιμ τα Μιλά, καὶ ἄλλῶνας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 320.14. An accusative ἄλλόναν also occurs in the same text: καὶ πλέρωμαν ἄλλῶναν μῆναν καὶ περίτου ibid. 384.11–12 (ms O ἄλλόναν, ms R ἄλλονα).

Feminine

F	General	Restricted
Nom.	ἄλλη
Gen.	ἄλλης	ἄλλῃς ἢ ἄλλονῃς ἢ ἄλληνῃς
Acc.	ἄλλη(ν)

Nominative

There is no variation to the inherited form ἄλλη, which occurs throughout our period and across all geographical regions.

- ἄλλη τὸν ἄνδρα ἔκλαιεν, ἄλλη πατέρα, θεῖον Pol. Tr. 1886 ἐδόθη εἰς αὐτὸν καὶ ἄλλη γῆ (late 14th–early 15th c., Athos? Lemnos?, KRAVARI 1991: App., 196.68) τὸν οὐκ ἐγέννησεν ἄλλη γυνή εἰς τὸν κόσμον Achil. N 79 σᾶς θέλει φέρει μιὰ γενιὰ κακὴ καὶ ξένη ἄλλη! FALIEROS, Thrinos 76 καὶ ἡ ἄλλη τῆς ἀρχοντιᾶς Fior, Suppl. 273.25–6 ἡ ἄλλη ἡ ταβέρνα (1628–9, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 1, 43.26)

Genitive

The inherited form ἄλλης exists throughout the period, while an innovative form with shift of stress (ἄλλῃς, cf. the masc. and neut.) is found from the 16th c. onwards. Forms with an added syllable (cf. masc. ἄλλουνοῦ etc.) are relatively uncommon in the texts examined. A few instances of both ἄλληνῃς and ἄλλονῃς have been found, the latter from Chios and Naxos.

- ἄλλης γενεᾶς (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 226.10) λιβάδιν ἄλλης χάριτος [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 150 ἄλλης φυλῆς SKLAVOS, Symf. 64 τοῦτο ποὺ θέλω νὰ σοῦ πῶ ἄλλης μὴν τὸ μιλήσης CHORTATIS, Katz. III.378 ἂν ἡχρεωστοῦσαν τίποτις ροῦχα μιᾶς τῆς ἄλλης (1664, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 3, 20.14–15) καὶ τῆς μιᾶς μερᾶς καὶ τῆς ἄλλῃς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 60, 58.19) κιαμιὰς ἀλλῆς CHORTATIS, Panor. III.39 ὅλες ἐβλέπασιν καὶ τοῦ ἐνὸς καὶ τῆς ἄλλῃς τέ<ς> ἀρετές MOREZINOS, Klini 233.7
 κάθα ἄλλῃς λογιῆς δενδρο (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 85, 102.5); τσ' ἄλλῃς μουρνέας (1613, ibid. 841, 734.28–9) τσῆς ἄλλῃς εἰς τὰ ματόκλαδα Stathis Prol. 26 ἀπελπισμένον εἰς ἀγάπην ἀλληνῆς Kaloandros 408.4 τῆς μιᾶς μεριᾶς καὶ τῆς ἄλληνῃς (1689, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1999: 8, 53.19) ἄλλονῃς GERMANO, Grammar 70.17 τῆς ἄλλονῃς (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 7, 150.19); τῆς ἄλλονῃς (1683, ibid. 393, 609.36)

Accusative

There is no variation, other than the presence or absence of final /n/.

- ὀκάποιαν ἄλλην ἔπεψεν Log. parag. L 574 ἔλα ἐσύ ἐκ τὴν μίαν μερέαν κ' ἐγὼ πάλε ἀπ' τὴν ἄλλην Chron. Mor. H 7001 τὴν ἄλλην ἔφθασά τον Liv. E 13 γιατί δὲν ἤρρηκα δροσιὰ, μηδὲ γλυκότη ἄλλη CHORTATSI, Katz. III.177 ἄλλη κράτηση νὰ μὴν ἔχου (1616, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 144, 267.1) πᾶει στὴν ἄλλη Paroim. (Warner) 28.12 χωρὶς νὰ απαντέξει καμίαν ἄλλην ἀπόκρισιν Don Kis. 50.13

Neuter

N	General	Restricted
Nom.	ἄλλο(ν)
Gen.	ἄλλου	ἄλλοῦ ἢ ἄλλονοῦ ἢ ἄλλουνοῦ
Acc.	ἄλλο(ν)

Nominative

The inherited form, with or without addition of final /n/, is unchanged throughout the period.

- καὶ εἴτι ἄλλον εἶναι ἔσω (1327–8, Peloponnese, VRANOUSI 1981: B, 26.9) καὶ ἄλλο νὰ κύπτῃ 'ς τὸ βυθὸς καὶ ἀχόρταγα νὰ πίνη Liv. V 2289 ἄλλον δὲν θέλει γένει Pol. Tr. 1613 app. crit. (A) τὸ ἄλλον εἶναι μαρμαρένιον (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 93.46) ἄλλον χαμπάρι ἐφθασεν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2921 ἄν εἶν' κ' ἐμίλησες, κερὰ, ποῦρι ἄλλο δὲν ἐγίνη KORNAROS, Erot. III.1095

Genitive

The range of forms is the same as for the masculine, and the variants appear at approximately the same time.

- τ' ἀνθρώπου ὁ νοῦς καὶ ὄχι ἄλλου ζοῦ βαστὰ τὸ φυσικὸ του FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 21 μυρωδιὰ ψητοῦ γῆ ἄλλου πρᾶμάτου CHORTATSI, Katz. III.69 τοῦ ἄλλου σπιτακιοῦ (1697 [18th-c. copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 119, 272.16) νὰ πᾶσι τὸ μέρος τοῦ ἄλλοῦ [παιδίου] εἰς τοῦ ἄλλοῦ (1513, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 37, 64.25); τὸ ἕνα μικρότερον τοῦ ἄλλοῦ (1518, ibid. 52, 93.46–7); τοῦ ἄλλοῦ μου σπιτίου (1531, ibid. 148, 266.10) (and often in these documents) τοῦ ἄλλονοῦ τῶνε σπιτίου (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 1, 9.11) ἄλλονοῦ πρᾶμάτου (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 93, 109.2) τοῦ ἄλλονοῦ ἔμισοῦ (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 7, 138.21) τοῦ ἄλλονοῦ ταγαρίου (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 79, 85.19) τοῦ ἄλλονοῦ σπιτιοῦ (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 461, 684.7) τοῦ ἄλλουνοῦ χωραφιοῦ (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 51, 42.4) ἀπ' ἄλλουνοῦ πρᾶγμάτου Theseid III.21,3 (1529) τοῦ ἄλλουνοῦ χωραφίου (1546–51, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 26, 64.18) ἀλλουνοῦ βατσελίου (1586, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 261, 153.5–6) με πλήθος αλλουνού νερού CHORTATSI, Panor. I.229 τοῦ ἀλλουνοῦ σπιτιοῦ (1604 [copy of 1695], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 510.1–2) τοῦ ἐνοῦ καὶ ἀλλουνοῦ μέρους SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 40.2

Accusative

The form is identical to the nominative.

᾽ς τὸ ἕνα σου προτέρημα πρόσθες καὶ ἄλλον ἕναν Spaneas Z 5 ἄλλο τι θαῦμα μέγα [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 324; ἐποίκεν ἄλλον πρᾶγμα ibid. 440 ἄκο ἄλλον σύβαμα Chron. Toc. 41 νὰ σοῦ στείλω ἄλλο Theseid Prol. E 242 καὶ εἴτι ἄλλο (1673, Sikinos, ZERLENDIS 1913a: 139.22) ταίρι ἄλλο δὲν ἔχει KORNAROS, Erot. I.469

5.10.1.2 Plural Forms

Masculine

M	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	ἄλλοι
Gen.	ἄλλων ἢ ἀλλῶν	ἄλλωνῶ(ν) ἢ ἀλλουνῶ(ν) ἢ ἄλλωνῶνε ἢ ἀλλουνῶνε
Acc.	ἄλλους	ἄλλονούς ἢ ἀλλουνούς	ἄλλοι

Nominative

There is no variation in the inherited form.

ἄλλοι λᾶς Assizes B 290.8
ἄλλοι ἐκεῖ ἐκοιμόντησαν, καὶ ἄλλοι βίγλα ἐκάμναν Theseid I.20,5 (Follieri) κι αὐτοὶ κι οἱ ἄλλοι θέλουν δεῖ τὲς κρίσεις πῶς ἐμπαινουν FALIEROS, Thrinis 204 ἄλλοι ἐγυρίζαν ἀπὸ τὴν μίαν μερίαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 422.13–14 κάπιοι ἄλλοι ἀφεντάδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.15 καὶ ἄλλοι πολλοὶ τὴν ἐπεριπατήσασιν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.8

Genitive

The normal form ἄλλων is in use throughout the period. Forms with shift of stress to the final syllable occur from the 14th c. and forms with an added syllable have been found from the early 16th c. onwards. It is noteworthy that ἀλλουνῶν is present in 17th-c. documents from northern regions, where mid-vowel raising occurs (see I, 2.5.4), although no consistent pattern emerges for the paradigm as a whole. Forms with added final /e/ have been found only in 17th- and 18th-c. texts from the Peloponnese and Heptanese.

τῶν μὲν αἱ χεῖρες ἔλειπον, ἄλλων οἱ κεφαλές των Dig. E 80 ὁ γραμματικὸς τὸν εἶπες πρὸ τῶν ἄλλων Ptoch. (Maiuri) 5 τῶν ἄλλων κριτάδων Assizes B 278.31
καὶ ἄλλων πολλῶν ρηγάδων Pol. Tr. 3202

- καὶ ἄλλων μυρίων ποιητῶν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 143.33 καὶ ἄλλων πολλῶν βασιλέων (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 20.48)
- νὰ γράψωμεν καὶ τῶν ἄλλων Chron. Mor. H 196 κ' οἱ ἁμαρτίες τῶν ἄλλων CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1086 τῶν ἄλλων ἀνεμομύλων (1546, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 2, 42.11) πραγματευστάδων καὶ ἄλλων ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 109 ἀποῦ τῶν ἄλλων (1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 716, 618.3) τῶν ἄλλων (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 50.71)
- καὶ εἴπασι τῶν ἄλλων Alex. Rim. 347 τῶν ἄλλων μιλωνάδων (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 297, 289.10) εἰς ἄλλον ἔχρια (1571, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 120, 235.2) ἄλλων Χριστιανῶν (1576, Macedonia, CHASIoTIS 1964/65: 3, 252.18) σύμπλιν Νικολό Φακοφάου καὶ ἄλλον (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 50.12) πόδια ἄλλων ἀθρώπων CHORTATIS, Erof. Interm. I.60 λέγει τῶν ἄλλων MOREZINOS, Klini 52.15 θέλει εἶσται ἀρχὴ τῶν ἄλλων AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 481 ἄλλον καλλιτέρων μου συγγραφῶν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 74.30 ἄλλων Χριστιανῶν (1633, Serres, ODORICO 1998: 55, 152.) ἄλλον παιδιὰ MONTSEL., Evgena 936 (Spadaro) τῶν ἄλλων ἁγίων Apok. Theot. 499.168 τῶν ἄλλον Diig. Sant. 58.94 τῶν ἄλλον Diig. Vefa 1449 καὶ ἄλλον γίνονται ὁδηγοὶ ἀπωλείας (1697, Cythera, PATRAMANI 2010: 1, 210.26) τῶν ἄλλον SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 45.4
- γι' ἀγάπην αλλωνῶν CHORTATIS, Panor. I.250; των αλλωνῶ βοσκῶ ibid. I.294; τῶν ἄλλον ὧ τῶνε id., Erof. Interm. III.125 τῶν ἄλλον Thysia Avr. 958 ta opia mu edhoche emena che allono / τὰ ὅποια μοῦ ἔδωκε ἐμένα καὶ ἄλλον (app. crit.) (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 795a, 692.5) ξόμπλι τῶν ἄλλον φραρῶ μονάχας γιὰ νὰ δώσω FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.78 ἄλλον καρδιῆς Zinon II.124
- ἄλλουν βασιλέων Diig. Alex. V 38.20 αλλουνών την τροφήν Diig. Alex. K 376.14–15 δίχως ἄλλουν οὖν τινῶν ἀνθρώπων (app. crit.) (1554, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 144, 193.5) (the ms reading αλουνοῦν is probably a mistake for -ῶν) καὶ τῶν ἄλλουν βοσκῶν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 331.40 ἄλλουν (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 8, 25.18) τῶν ἄλλουν τῶν πραγματευστάδων (1629, Bucharest, MERTZIOS 1936b: 11, 49.9) καὶ ἄλλουν Χριστιανῶν (1652, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 69, 179.8) ἄλλουν διεστραμμένων (1693, Ioannina, MERTZIOS 1936f: 21, 306.2) ἄλλα τόσα ἄλλουν (1696, Dyrhachion, MERTZIOS 1947a: 7, 214.10)
- ἄλλουν (1683, Glarentsa, KONOMOS 1969e: 63.13) ὡς τοῦν ἄλλουν (1699, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 5, 165.28) τῶν ἄλλον (1716, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969d: 1, 42.10–11)

Accusative

As in other oblique cases, the forms with an added syllable appear, alongside the inherited form, from the 15th c. onwards, though relatively few examples have been located. In a document from Mykonos we find an acc. in -οι, i.e. the nom. and acc. forms are identical. (For this phenomenon, which occurs in certain Cycladic islands, see 1.3.)

καὶ τοὺς ἄλλους ὅπου ἔρχονται ἐξ αὐτοῦς (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.586) ὅλους τοὺς ἄλλους MOREZINOS, Klini 52.19–20

εἰς ἄλλους πολλοὺς πειρασμούς (1560 [copy of 1691], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 128, 246.3)

Λουκάριδες καὶ ἄλλους ὁμοίους τῶν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 54.17–18

ἐμίσεισα μὲ ἄλλους ἀντάμα πᾶσα λογῆς σκλαβολεύτερου (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 506–7.21–2)

μὲ τοὺς ἀλλουνοὺς Theseid VI.51,2 ms ἀλλουνοὺς ἐπατοῦσαν τὰ ἄλογα, ἀλλουνοὺς ἔσφαζαν Diig. Alex. V 48.17–18 τὰ ἔμαθις καὶ ἀπὸ ἀλλουνοὺς (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 56.14) βλέπουν καὶ αλλονοὺς πεζοὺς STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voen. 1077 (Pidonia) καὶ τὶς ἄλλοι σύντροφοι (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 26.34)

Feminine

F	General	Restricted
Nom.	ἄλλες	ἄλλαι
Gen.	ἄλλων	ἄλλωνῶ(ν) † ἄλλουνῶ(ν)
Acc.	ἄλλες	ἄλλας

Nominative

The residual form ἄλλαι can be found in high- or mixed-register texts. Otherwise the standard form is ἄλλες, usually spelled ἄλλαις in older mss and editions.

ἄλλαι μὲν ἄλλαι τυγχάνουν ERMON., Ilias 11.293

ἄλλαι δύο χιλιάδες Dig. A and T 1196 ἡ Σουσάννα καὶ ἄλλαι πολλαί KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 8.3

καὶ ἄλλαις γυναιῖκες περισσαῖς εἰστέκασιν Log. parig. L 453 ἴσαντο τρεῖς καὶ τέσσαρες καὶ πάλιν ἄλλες πέντε Velth. 598 καὶ οἱ ἄλλες (1506, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: 1 [A'], 224.19) ἦλθαν καὶ ἀνατολικοὶ κἂν ἄλλες δύο χιλιάδες Chron. Mor. P 4555 καὶ ἄλλαις μερικαῖς DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 29, E4v.32 κι ἀγάπησα ὥσάν τὸ κάμαν κι ἄλλες KORNAROS, Erot. III.1209

Genitive

As in the case of the masculine paradigm, forms with an additional syllable are found, but so far no example has been located earlier than the 17th c.

τῶν ἄλλων ἐκκλησιῶν (1316, Constantinople, HUNGER/KRESTEN 1981: 39, 292.7)

ἐγράψαμεν περὶ ἄλλων τινῶν ὑποθέσεων (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 5, 309.6) τὰ ἔδιδε ἄλλονῶν νὰ τὰ βυζάνουν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 119.15 ξόμπλι τῶν ἄλωνῶ ἐπαρχιῶ νὰ δείξει TROILOS, Rodol. Prol. Mell. 12 in Scio Genit. Singol. ἄλλουνοῦ, ἄλλονῆς, &c. Genit. Plur. ἄλλονῶν GERMANO, Grammar 70.17 ἄλλουῶν γυναικῶν (1696, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 2 [B'], 253.23)

Accusative

The only variation is between the older form ἄλλας, found in archaizing or mixed-register texts, and the innovative ἄλλες. Forms with an additional syllable have not been found for the fem. acc. pl.

διδεῖ του ὁ κριτῆς ἄλλας δ' ἡμέρας (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 29.47) ἄλλας πολλάς ἐπιάσασιν Dig. E 170 με τὰς ἄλλας Liv. V 1859 πολλάκις δὲ οἱ ἄνθρωποι ποιοῦν καὶ ἄλλας πράξεις Diig. tetr. 960 ἄλλας βαρέας ὑπηρεσίας ZYGOM., Synopsis 143.B.13 μιλοῦν καὶ ἄλλες τρεῖς φορές Alex. Rim. 2107 νὰ ἀγοράζης ἄλλες τόσες κεφαλές καὶ κοιλιές (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 48, 42.7) ἄλλες τόσες πέτρες (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.38) καὶ ἄλλες δύο (1676, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 1, 123.26) κι οὐδ' ἄλλες ἔγνοιες ἔχει KORNAROS, Erot. I.1260

Neuter

N	General	Restricted
Nom.	ἄλλα
Gen.	ἄλλων ἢ ἄλλῶν	ἄλλωνῶ(ν) ἢ ?ἄλλουῶν(ν)
Acc.	ἄλλα

Nominative

The form is invariable.

καὶ πάλιν ὀπισθεν ἐξ αὐτῶν τὰ ἄλλα ὅσα ἦταν Pol. Tr. 2973 app. crit. (A) τ' ἄλλα πάντα (1420, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 2 [B'], 22.17) ἐκεῖνος ἄλλα οἰκονομεῖ, οἷα καὶ μόνος οἶδεν Chron. Toc. 733 ηὔρισκονται κι ἄλλα θηριὰ Alex. Rim. 1543 ἐστοντας ὅτι το εδίωχναν ἄλλα ψάρια μεγαλύτερα ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 16.3 μὴν τσ' εὔρουν κι ἄλλα πάθη KORNAROS, Erot. I.586

Genitive

As for the masc. gen. pl., a form with shift of stress (ἄλλῶν) emerges quite early, though no instances have been found until the 16th c. Again, there are alternative forms with an additional syllable, evidence for which appears in the mid-16th c.

τὸ δίκαιον τῶν ἄλλων κρισιμάτων Assizes A 112.12 τῶν ἄλλων καστῶν (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.20)
 ἡ γεροντοσύνη ἐνὶ ἀπανωθιὸν ὄλων τῶν ἄλλων κακῶν Fior, Suppl. 270.18 τῶν βοδίων καὶ τράγων καὶ ἄλλων ζώων LANDOS, Geopon. 272.25

τῶν ἐγγονίων μου τῶν ἀλλῶν (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 99.199) τῶν ἀλλῶν μου σπιτιῶν (1547, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 24, 58.10)

κ' ἤρχισες ἄλλα τῶν ἀλλῶν KONAR., Paides 995

τῶν ἀλλῶν παιδίων Chron. Tourk. Soult. 43.8

τὸ ρόδο τῶν ἀλλῶν ἀνθῶν Stathis I.34 ἄλλονῶ πραμάτω (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 59, 72.2) τῶν ἀλλωνῶν σπιτιῶν (1640, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 17, 156.6) τῶν ἀλλονῶν μοναστηρίων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 65.19 ἀλλουσὼν ἀμπελίων (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 18, 56.19)

Accusative

The form is identical to the nominative.

ἄλλα ἐμέτρα ὁ ἀγωγιάτης, καὶ ἄλλα ἐψήφα ὁ νοικοκύρης Paroim. (Warner) 33.18 ἄλλα παίρνουν καὶ ἄλλα τρώσιν Ptochol. P 39 ἄλλα πράματα (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 344, 323.2) γαλόνια ἕως πενήντα καὶ κάτεργα ἄλλα τόσα (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 399, f.2r.18)

ἄλλα ριάλια δέκα (1672, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 4, 118.14) ἔχει συνθεμένα καὶ ἄλλα ηρωικότερα καὶ εξαισιότερα βιβλία Don Kis. 37.27–8

5.10.2 ἕτερος

The contrastive pronoun and determiner ἕτερος is declined like adjectives in -ος with feminine in -α or -η (see 3.2.3), but without regional variation such as the addition of /e/ after final /n/. Like ἄλλος, ἕτερος may be involved in reciprocal expressions of the type ὁ εἷς τὸν ἕτερο(ν). The masculine and neuter forms of ἕτερος follow the relevant paradigm and are unproblematic. The word is often a higher-register alternative to ἄλλος and occurs mainly in mixed- or higher-register texts. Note that, in accordance with AG rules, the stress usually shifts to the penultimate in the gen. sg. and pl. In the masc. acc. pl. forms both with and without shift of stress are found.

5.10.2.1 Masculine and Neuter Forms

Masculine Singular

ἕτερος λίθος στρόγγυλος (1144?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 9, 314.2) ὦ τις Ἀκρίτης ἕτερος ἐκεῖ νὰ εὐρέθην τότε Ptoch. IV 189 τινὰς ἕτερος (1414, Corfu, MALTEZOU 1991a: (1), 317.1–2) ὁποῦ δὲν εὐρίσκέτονε ἕτερός του Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.27 ἑτέρου ἀδελφοῦ αὐτῶν (1193–4, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1963: 16, 130.4) νὰ τὸ δώση ἑτέρου Assizes B 265.11; ἐνοῦ ἑτέρου ἀνθρώπου ibid. 304.23 ὁ εἷς τοῦ ἑτέρου (1557, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 199, 248.26)

μέχρι τοῦ ἑτέρου ρύακος (1613, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 61, 183.11)

καὶ ἔμειναν διορθωμένοι ὁ εἷς ὑπὸ τοῦ ἑτέρου (1693, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 27, 20.10–11)

ὁ εἷς τοῦ ἑτέρου (1713, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 322, 211.4) μήτε ὁ ἕτερος τὸν ἕτερον (1554, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 143, 192.10) ὁμπλιγάροντας ὁ εἷς τοῦ ἐτέρου, καὶ ὁ ἕτερος<ς> πρὸς τὸν ἕτερον (1643, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 361.19)

Neuter Singular

ὑπὸ τὸ ἕτερον μέρος (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 18, 38.8) νὰ σκοδέρνη ἕτερο στάρι (1635, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 68, 180.21) τὸ ἕτερο ἄλλο στοὺς Ἁγίους Σαράντες (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 113.29) ἕτερον πρόσωπο (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 7, 149.10) ἐτέρου ἀμπελίου (1395, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 5, 181.13) ἀφήνει τοῦ ἐτέρου τῆς παιδιοῦ (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 156, 245.28)

Masculine Plural

οἱ ἕτεροι ἄρχοντες (1136? 1151?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 19, 419.5) οἱ ἕτεροι Chron. Mor. H 1671 οἱ ἕτεροι (1446, Jerusalem, TSIRPANLIS 1964: 19.11) καὶ ἅπαντες οἱ ἕτεροι κοντόσταυλοι (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 167.3) ἕτεροι ἀπεζοὶ λεγόμενοι κουριέρηδες SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 34.30 καβαλλαρίων καὶ ἐτέρων λιζίων ἀνθρώπων (post 1306, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 31, 163.[23]8–9) ἐτέρων ἀλθροστάτων πλησιαστάδων (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 4, 151.11) διὰ καταδοχῆς τῶν ἐτέρων ἐκτητόρων (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 3, 23.3–4) μετὰ καὶ ἐτέρων ἀρχόντων τοῦ αὐτοῦ τόπου (1610, Mani, FLORISTÁN 2008: 1, 280.3–4) τῶν ἐτέρων πριόρηδων (1691, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 145, 84.1) Φραγκῶν καὶ ἐτέρων αἰρετικῶν (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 422.1057) τῶν ἐτέρων μας θεῶν AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 419 πάσας ἐτέρους ἀδελφούς (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 124, 165.8) ἐτέρους ἄρχοντας (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 307.8) τὴν ζημία ἐκείνη τοὺς ἐτέρους συντρόφους Assizes B 333.13–14 εἰς τὴν ἐξουσίαν ἐτέρους ἀνθρώπους Assizes A 176.30 καὶ ἐτέρους σαβογιάνους VOUSTR., Chron. A 84.6 καὶ τοὺς ἐτέρους βασιλεῖς DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 589 ἐτέρους ἱερεῖς (1667, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 9, 24.8) μὲ τὸν λαόν του κ' ἔτερους ἀπὸ τὰ μέρη ἐκεῖνα Chron. Mor. H 406; μετὰ ἔτερους ibid. 995 νὰ φέρη καὶ ἔτερους μάρτυρας (1572, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 3, 84.43) μὲ ἄλλους ἔτερους συνδρόφους (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 5, 58.8) ἔστειλαν ἀ<ν>τ' αὐτοὺς ἔτερους ἐννιακοσίους γιαντισάρους με ἔ<ν>τεκα καράβια (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 404, f.4r.7)

Neuter Plural

τὰ ἔτερα χανούτια σοῦ τοῦ ἀγοραστοῦ (1178, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 12, 111.20) ἔτερα ἐλαϊκὰ δένδρη (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 57, 177.11) ἔτερα κάστρα CHEILAS, Chron. 347.12 γιά νὰ ἐβλέπουσι καὶ τὰ ἔτερα χωρία (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.22) εἰς ἔτερα βάρη (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 167.8) βγάζοντας ὁ μπασὰ Θανάσης ἔτερα γράμματα (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 4, f.40r.10–11)
καὶ τῶν ἐτέρων τῶν τριῶν τῶν σῶν τε παιδοπούλων Velth. 1215 πάντων ἐτέρων ρηγάτων καὶ τοὺς καλοπίχρους ἀνθρώπους Assizes A 149.22–3 ἀπὸ πούλησες ἐτέρων πραγμάτων (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 179.21) ἐτέρων ὑφασμάτων (1607, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 8, 86.13) πρὸς φύλαξιν τῶν ἐτέρων δύοσι παιδίων (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 235, 416.4)

5.10.2.2 Feminine Forms

The feminine has a variety of forms, similar to that for inherited adjectives that have a stem ending in /r/ (see the table in 3.2.3). The older forms, found mainly in more formal or archaizing contexts, are sg. ἐτέρα, ἐτέρας, ἐτέρα(ν), with shift of stress to the penultimate; pl. ἕτεραι, (ἐτέρων),¹¹¹ ἐτέρας. Forms with the newer endings -η etc. (pl. -ες) usually retain the stress on the antepenultimate, though there are some exceptions where stress movement is combined with the new endings (e.g. ἐτέρης).

Singular

Nominative

ἐν τῇ χαρᾷ πάλιν χαρὰ ἐπέρχεται ἐτέρα Dig. G III.314 πᾶσα ἐτέρα γλῶσσα Assizes A 23.14 κ' ἡ φαμελία του ἡ ἕτερη νὰ εἶναι εἰς τὸν μποῦρκον Chron. Mor. H 8236 ἕτερη Diig. Alex. F 198.17 (Konstantinopulos) ἕτερη ἐξήγησις Chron. Toc. 517a ἡ ἕτερη ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 34.29

Genitive

περὶ ἐτέρας προίκας (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 22, 57.11) καὶ μὲ ἐτέρας γυναικὸς ἵνα τεκνοποιήσῃ Achil. O 15 melli na laveis etera osu omiotita / μέλλει νὰ λάβῃς ἐτέρα ὁζοῦ ὁμοιότητα BAROZZI, Letter 359.17

τῆς ἐτέρης τιμωρίας Assizes A 120.11 ἀφῆνω τῆς ἑτέρας μου θυγατέρος (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 114.39)

Accusative

καὶ ὑπέδειξαν ἡμῶν ἐτέραν διαχώρισιν (1154, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 11, 318.14) εἶτε βαφὴν ἐτέραν Diig. tetr. 517 τράπεζαν εὖρεν ἐγγὺς ἐτέραν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 391 τὴν ἐτέραν ὄλλην μεσαρίαν (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 14, 24.16) εἰς ἕτερην δουλείαν Assizes B 343.30 ἔχεις καὶ δόξαν ἕτερην PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 93 τὴν ἕτερην μερίαν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 774 πυροστία μία καὶ ἕτερη μικρὴ (1627, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 240.24) ἕτερην κολαῖνα (1682, Cyclades, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 231, 409.20) ἕτερη κατοῦνα (1682, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 8, 185.22) ἑληγὲς κεντρομάδες δύο καὶ ἕτερη μίαν μικρὴ (1699, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 279, 185.4) εἰς πόλιν ἕτερα Pol. Tr. 848 app. crit. (V) (εἰς πόλιν ἕτεραν ibid. 848 app. crit. (X))¹¹²

¹¹¹ No example of a fem. gen. pl. has been found in the texts examined.

¹¹² In ms A of this text the feminine has a masculine ending: εἰς πόλιν ἑτερον Pol. Tr. 848 app. crit. (A).

Plural

Nominative

ἑτεροι εἰκονίτσαι μικραὶ (1142, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 7, 74.22) ἑτεροι ποδέαι β' μεταξωταὶ (1375, Ioannina?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 147, 107.15)

ἑτερες εἰκόνες (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.135)

ἑτερες κολαῖνες δύο ποστάδες μαργαριταρένιες (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.44) σούγλα ἄξια, ἑτεραις δύο μικραῖς (1627, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 240.24)

Accusative

ἐτέρας παράκλησας τὰς ποιεῖ ἡ ἐκκλησία Assizes B 378.13 τὰς ἐτέρας αἰσθήσεις (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 16, 227.2); τὰς ἐτέρας αἰσθήσεις (1544, ibid. 82, 272.2) τὰς ἑτερας γυναῖκας Pol. Tr. 1885 app. crit. (A) τὲς ἑτερες Diig. Alex. F 24.21–2 (Konstantinopulos) καὶ ἑτερες 6 (1613, Athens, VISVIZIS 1965: 22, 111.14)

τοῦ ἔδωσε ἄλλες ἑτερες λίτρες πέντε (1672, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 42, 26.2)

5.11 Reflexive Pronominal Phrases

The forms used for the reflexive pronoun in Classical Greek are composed of the personal pronoun and the determiner αὐτός. In the singular they are merged into a single word: accusative 1st person ἐμαυτόν, 2nd σεαυτόν, 3rd ἐαυτόν, inflected for gender and case. The 1st and 2nd persons plural consist of two separate words: ἡμᾶς/ύμᾶς (or σφᾶς) αὐτούς etc., while the 3rd person is ἐαυτούς, also inflected for gender and case. The use of ἐαυτόν for the 1st person, and sometimes also for the 2nd person, is already attested in the papyri (GIGNAC 1981: 166–71) and in EMedG texts (PSALTES 1913: 196–7). The reflexive pronominal phrase consisting of the definite article + ἐαυτό(ν) + a clitic pronoun in the genitive emerges at the end of the EMedG period, the earliest instance located so far being in the late 11th-c. work of Kekaumenos (if that evidence can be relied upon; see LBG s.v. ἐαυτός). It is then found in mixed-register 12th-c. texts: the verses of Michael Glykas (13th-c. ms) and the anonymous Spaneas (ms dated ca. 1200). The pronominal phrase τον εαυτό (μου, σου etc.) continues to be used in SMG.

Through most of the period covered by this Grammar there is also an alternative phrase employing what was in AG the 1 sg. reflexive pronoun, ἐμαυτόν. The earliest examples are with the clitic pronoun μου, but from the 15th c. onwards it is extended to all persons: τὸν ἐμαυτόν μου/σου/του etc.¹¹³ It occurs in literary and occasionally non-literary texts and there is no observable geographical restriction in its distribution.

Both of these phrases can also appear in the genitive and they can be preceded by a preposition; indeed, they behave to all intents and purposes like a masculine noun in -ος. Plural forms and feminine forms (cf. AG ἐμαυτήν etc.) also occur; see below for details.

¹¹³ Unlike the 1 sg. and 3 sg. reflexive pronouns, the 2 sg. form does not survive in the vernacular. It occurs only as a vestigial feature or learnedism in the texts of the period covered by this Grammar, e.g. εἰς σεαυτοῦ πατρίδα Velth. 762.

The variant τὸν ἐνιαυτὸν μου is found in a limited number of texts from mainly southern areas. See below for further discussion and a possible etymology. See also ΚΡΙΑΡΑΣ, Lex. s.v. ἐαυτός.

Mention should also be made of certain alternative periphrases which can function as reflexive pronouns. There is a strong possibility that all these formations have influenced one another, since all involve a clitic personal pronoun in the genitive. For the periphrastic personal pronoun (τοῦ) λόγου μου see 5.3.3 and for the (mainly) Cypriot periphrases αὐτόν μου, (ἐξ)αυτόν μου etc. see 5.3.4. We give a few examples of the reflexive use of these periphrases:

κλαίγετε διὰ λόγου σας ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 437.14–15 ὀνομάζομεν τοῦ λόγου μας φιλοχρίστους ΔΑΜ. ΣΤΟΥΔ., Dial. 96.30 ρίξε τοῦ λόγου σου κάτω ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΡ., Kaini Diath. Matth. 4.4
 δῶξέ την ἄξιαυτοῦ σου Fior 90.7 (“from yourself”)

In addition, the intensive pronominal phrase ἄπατός μου can sometimes have a reflexive function (see 5.6.2).

5.11.1 τὸν ἐαυτό(ν) μου

The phrase is quite common in literary texts, though infrequent in documents, from the 12th to the 17th c. and beyond. It occurs mainly in the accusative, as object of the verb or in prepositional phrases, but genitive uses are also found.

εἰς λογικὰ μαθήματα γύμναζε τὸν ἐαυτόν σου Spaneas V 166; καὶ τίτιον πληροφορήσε, παιδί μου, τὸν ἐαυτόν σου ibid. 177 ἀπὸ στενοχωρίας μου νὰ πνίξω τὸν ἐαυτόν μου GLYKAS, Stichoi 288 τρέφε τὸν ἐαυτόν σου Ptoch. III 247 app. crit. (P) καὶ σφάξω τὸν ἐαυτόν μου Dig. E 367; σῶσε τὸν ἐαυτόν σου ibid. 955 λογισμοὺς τοὺς εἶχα εἰς ἐαυτό μου Liv. V 1103; σφάζει τὸν ἐαυτόν του ibid. 1404 διὰ τὸν ἐαυτόν τους Assizes B 282.24 ὁ κάθε εἰς ἐσπούδαζεν νὰ σώσῃ τὸν ἐαυτόν του Chron. Mor. P 4824 τὸν ἐαυτόν σου τὸ λοιπὸν κηρύττεις βασιλέα Alex. Rim. 823 (hapax) τὸν ἐαυτόν μου δίδω σε, ποῖσε ὡσὰν ὀρίζεις Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1214 κι ἐχάσετε καὶ τὸ καλὸ τὸ ἔχα γιὰ τὸν ἐαυτό σας P&N Diath. 1177 ἀτζάλλεψες τὸν ἐαυτό σου RODINOS, Vios Ign. 95.5 δὲν ἐγυρίσασι ποτὲ τὸν ἐαυτόν τως ἐπὶ τὸν Κύριον VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 29.28; ἐκατέστησες τὸν ἐαυτόν σου παιγνίδι τῶν κοπελίων ibid. 33.28 μέρωσε τὸν ἐαυτό σου Zinon II.424; δὲν μπορεῖς νὰ ὀρίζεις τὸν ἐαυτό σου ibid. IV.54 ἐξέτασα τὸν ἐαυτόν μου (1692, Palermo region, ΠΑΠΑΔΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ 1994: 2, 182.18–19) ὅχι μόνον τοὺς ἐαυτοὺς τως σύρουσιν εἰς τὸν βάραθρον (1697, Cythera, ΠΑΤΡΑΜΑΝΙ 2010: 1, 210.26) τὸν ἐαυτό μου ἀρνήθηκα KORNAROS, Erot. V.991 (hapax) πολεμῶ με τον εαυτόν μου Don Kis. 123.14–15

Genitive forms are almost always learned features, especially without the clitic pronoun (no example has been found preceded by the article τοῦ). They may be either emphatic possessives (“[my] own”) or governed by a preposition, particularly in the stock phrase ἀφ’ ἑαυτοῦ (του), “of one’s own accord”.

εἰς τ(ήν) ἑαυτ(οῦ) τζάμπρ(αν) (1310, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 31, 163.[24]6–7) σὺ δὲ τύχης τῆς ἑαυτοῦ ἐμποδιστῆς ἐγένου Dig. G II.156 ἀφ’ ἑαυτοῦ του Assizes B 286.3 τὴν εαυτῆς βυζάστριαν Diig. Apoll. 19 τὴν ἀγάπην αὐτοῦ ἔχει μεθ’ ἑαυτοῦ πάντοτε Assizes A 25.16 ὁκάτι ψιθυρίσματα λαλεῖ καθ’ ἑαυτοῦ τῆς [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1164 ὁ βασιλεὺς ἐσπάσατο τὴν ἑαυτοῦ θυγάτηρ Achil. O 624 ἀφιέρωσε τὸ ἑαυτοῦ ἐργαστήριον, τὸ εἰς τοὺς Σαματάδες (1498, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 8, 54.7) καὶ ἦτον δένδρον ἀφ’ ἑαυτοῦ του φυτευμένον [VLASTOS], Dig. P VII 389.19 να ετοιμασθεῖτε ἀφ’ ἑαυτοῦ σας Don Kis. 49.37–50.1

In the following case, however, the sense is reciprocal, “by one another” (for other reciprocal pronouns see 5.12): ἐθανατωθήκασιν ἀφ’ εαυτῶν τῶς ἀδίκως KONDARIS, Istor. palaiiai 411.15.¹¹⁴

Forms of ἑαυτὸν alone (singular or plural) are to be seen as a learned or archaizing feature: οἵτινες εὐνούχισαν ἑαυτοὺς NIKON, Logos 3 196.12; λέγω, λαλῶ πρὸς ἑαυτὸν τοῦτο τὸ καταλόγιν Liv. V 665; ἐξέδωκεν ἑαυτὸν (1360, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 236, 362.20–1).

A variant of the normal τὸν ἑαυτὸν μου is the phrase τὸν ἐνιαυτὸν μου, which has been explained as a reanalysis of τὸν ἑαυτὸν μου with synizesis > τὸν νιαυτὸν μου, and then addition of prothetic /e/ (AERTS/HOKWERDA 2002 s.v.).¹¹⁵ Whatever its origin, it often alternates with the usual form in different mss of the same text, and tends to be rejected by editors. It has been found in texts from southern areas (Cyprus, Crete, Peloponnese, Heptanese) and in a romance (Livistros) of unknown provenance.

τί ἔχασες τὸν ἐνιαυτὸν σου Dig. E 229 app. crit.; καὶ ἀπὸ μικρόθεν ἤρξατο τὸν ἐνιαυτὸν του δοξάζει ibid. 741 app. crit.
 λέγω στὸν ἐνιαυτὸν μου Chron. Mor. H 948; ὁ κατὰ εἷς ἐσπούδαζεν νὰ σώσῃ τὸν ἐνιαυτὸν του ibid. 4824 (two further instances in this text) πνίγει τὸν ἐνιαυτὸν του Liv. α 172; ἔθηκα διὰ τὸ ὄνειρον τοῦ πόθου τὸν ἐνιαυτὸν μου ibid. 1573 app. crit. (N); πρὸς τὸν ἐνιαυτὸν σου ibid. 2281 app. crit. (N) κύριος τοῦ ἐνιαυτοῦ του Assizes A 196.7 φονέπτρια τοῦ ἐνιαυτοῦ <μου> DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 93 (ex corr.)
 ὁ καθεεῖς ὅς θυμηθῇ λοιπὸν τοῦ ἐνιαυτοῦ του Theseid VII.148,1 (1529)

5.11.2 τὸν ἐμαυτό(ν) μου

This alternative form, utilizing what was the 1st-person form of the reflexive pronoun in AG, occurs in texts of various kinds, including Cretan literary texts from the late 16th c. onwards. Note that the earliest examples are accompanied by the 1st-person clitic μου. Third-person forms occur from the 15th c., while usages with the 2nd-person clitic are less common.

¹¹⁴ Mention may be made of an unusual nominative form, which seems to function here as an intensive pronoun: οὐδὲν πουλήσω· χρήζω τὸ ἑαυτός μου (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1112–13).

¹¹⁵ The possibility that it was confused with the learned noun ἐνιαυτός, “year”, cannot be ruled out (see EGEEA 1988: 58).

πάντως νὰ σύρω τὸ σπαθὶν καὶ σφάξω ἑμαυτὸν μου Dig. G II.196 (for omission of the article see below) τὸν ἑμαυτὸ μου ἡμέλησα Liv. V 1331 τὸν ἄνδραν τῆς ἐτίμησεν, μᾶλλον τὸν ἑμαυτὸν τῆς Chron. Toc. 12; ἀπὸ τὸν ἑμαυτὸν του ibid. 2633 καὶ ἐπαίρνω μὲ τὸν ἑμαυτὸν μου ἀρχαῖον εὐαγγέλιον (1442, Belgrade region/Serbia, ALEXOULIS 1892: 2, 279.3) τὸν ἑμαυτὸν μου δίδω τον μεθ' ὅλης τῆς καρδίας Achil. N 914 λέγω στὸν ἑμαυτὸν μου Chron. Mor. P 948; καὶ θέλει χάσει ὁ πρίγκιπας πρῶτον τὸν ἑμαυτὸν του ibid. 5091 (ms H has ἐνιαυτὸν instead; see above) τὸν ἑμαυτὸν του γρίκησε Theseid X.36,3 (1529) ἐλάλεν εἰς τὸν ἑμαυτὸν του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.9–10

νὰ ἀγαπήσῃ τὸν ἑμαυτὸν του Fior 75.37

ὅπου τὸν ἑμαυτὸν του ὀνομάζει ἰσότητα μὲ τὸν θεόν Diig. Alex. E 91.7 (Lolos) τούτης ν' ἀφήσω γὰ τὸν ἑμαυτὸν μου Cypr. Canz. 101.36 τὸν ἑμαυτὸ του σὲ τιμές καὶ δόξες ἀνεβάζει CHORTATIS, Erof. I.52 καὶ γνῶρισε, πτωχέ, τὸν ἑμαυτὸν σου Pist. voskos III 6.150; τὸν ἴδιον του ἑμαυτὸ εἶχε θανατώσει ibid. V 5.342 παρηγοριὰ κι ἀλάφρωση γροικᾷ στὸν ἑμαυτὸ του TROILOS, Rodol. I.54 στὸν ἑμαυτὸν μου KONDAR., Paidēs 207

τὸν ἑμαυτὸ μου βάνω BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 193.21

τὸν ἑμαυτὸν τους (1683, Andros, POLEMIS 1999b: 29, 52.15)

τ' ἄργομένο σου βάλε στὸν ἑμαυτὸ σου Stathis III.233

στὸ ἴδιον ἑμαυτὸ σου KATSAITIS, Ifig. I.123; τὸν ἑμαυτὸν μου ibid. II.106

When ἑμαυτὸν occurs without the article or clitic pronoun, it should be considered a learned element, e.g. οὕτως εἰς πλάτος ἑμαυτὸν ἀφήκα τὸ τοῦ λόγου GLYKAS, Stichoī 12. The omission of the clitic pronoun may also be due to metrical pressures: ἐγκράτειαν ἐξακουστήν στὸν ἑμαυτὸν ἐποίκες SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 183.

Feminine forms such as τὴν ἑμαυτή(ν), with female referent, are found in texts of different periods. When they occur in Cretan literary texts of the 16th–17th c. they should not be seen as archaisms. However, as in the examples below, they often function not as reflexive pronouns referring back to the subject of the clause, but as periphrastic (or intensive) personal pronouns.¹¹⁶ καὶ ἐγὼ ἑμαυτὴν εἰς νοῦν ἔθεσα καὶ οἶδα ὅτι ἄδικον ἐποίησαν οἱ προῦ ἐμοῦ αὐθέντες μου καὶ ἐγὼ ἔστρεψα ἑμαυτὴν μου εἰς τὴν ἁγίαν ἐκκλησίαν (1182, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 22, 424.15) γιατὶ ἀνισῶς κι ὀρίζουσιν ἄλλοι τὴν ἑμαυτὴ μου CHORTATIS, Erof. II.59; τα λόγια τ' αποταχινὰ θυμούμαι το' ἑμαυτῆς σου id., Panor. V.194; σαν και την ἑμαυτῆ σου ibid. III.65 σὲ 'σὲ τὴν ἑμαυτῆ σου Pist. voskos III 5.25 καὶ νὰ μᾶς φέρνει ... χαρὰ στὴν ἑμαυτὴ μας TROILOS, Rodol. II.410

The genitive τοῦ ἑμαυτοῦ μου etc. is not very common, but it appears occasionally in texts from different areas and in a grammar of the period:

¹¹⁶ Compare the masc. form ἑμαυτὸν (= “you yourself”) in this example: διὰ νὰ θρέψω τὰ παιδιὰ μου | καὶ τὸν ἑμαυτὸν σου πάντως Prochol. α 124–5.

ὅς μετρήσῃ ἀπὸ τοῦ ἑμαυτοῦ του (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 38, 34.3) ὁ φθονερός ἀν(θρωπ)ὸς καίεται ὑπὸ τοῦ ἑμαυτοῦ του (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 410.575)

τοῦ ἑμαυτοῦμου, di me stesso, τὸν ἑμαυτόνμου, me stesso, τοῦ ἑμαυτοῦμας, di noi stesso, τὸν ἑμαυτόνμας, noi stesso GERMANO, Grammar 68.24 σὰν νοικοκύρης τοῦ ἑμαυτοῦ του (1666, Rome, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 11, 116.7) μὲ δίχως νὰ ᾿χῃ ἐντῆρηση καμιά τοῦ ἑμαυτοῦ του KATSAITIS, Thyest. II.99

Plural forms are also rare. The following example, with omission of the clitic pronoun, comes from a verse text: τοὺς ἑμαυτοὺς κι ὁφέντας τῶν ὅπως διὰ νὰ τιμήσουν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XIII.216.

A single instance of a nominative singular, with loss of initial /e/ (for aphaeresis see I, 2.7.1), has been found in a 17th-c. Cretan text: μ' ἄν ἔσφαλε ὁ μαυτός μου Pist. voskos V 5.389.

5.12 Reciprocal Pronouns

The AG reciprocal pronoun (“one another”) had dual (gen. ἀλλήλοιν) and plural (gen. ἀλλήλων) numbers, and was declined for gender and case (genitive, accusative and dative). The plural paradigm survives as a residual feature in MedG, but in LMedG and EMG it is increasingly restricted to mixed- and higher-register texts. In view of the sparsity of examples it must be regarded as marginal to the grammatical system of LMedG and EMG.

The indeclinable form ἀλλήλως, in which the gen. pl. ending -ων has been replaced by -ως, on the analogy of adverbs (see I, 3.7.1.2), seems to have come into existence in Late Antiquity and can be found in EMedG texts, such as George the Monk and Anna Comnena (see TLG for examples). However, it remains relatively rare until the 14th c. From the early 16th c. (and possibly earlier, since we find it in literary texts supposedly composed in the 14th or 15th c.) it frequently occurs with a clitic pronoun in the gen. pl., especially in southern areas. In texts from south-eastern areas, such as Cyprus, both ἀλλήλων and ἀλλήλως seem to be rare.

Alongside the inherited pronoun a pronominal phrase ὁ εἷς/ἕνας τὸν ἄλλο(ν) is found from the end of the EMedG period: its first appearance in the texts examined dates from the 11th c. For the forms of εἷς/ἕνας see 5.8.5; for the morphology of ἄλλος and examples of this reciprocal pronoun phrase see 5.10.1.

5.12.1 ἀλλήλων

The inherited form ἀλλήλων is found mainly in the gen. and acc. cases, functioning as direct or indirect object or in a prepositional phrase. The dative is rather rare in texts of the period covered by this Grammar, occurring only sporadically in mixed-register texts. Feminine forms are rare, neuter forms even rarer. There are indications that the gen. and acc. forms ἀλλήλων and ἀλλήλους are sometimes used in a quasi-adverbial way, i.e. they do not function syntactically as genitive or accusative cases. In effect they have become interchangeable with ἀλλήλως. See, for instance, the gen. and acc. forms cited below from Diig. Alex. Sem. (second example) and Deft. Par.

	Masculine		Feminine		Neuter
	General	Rare	General	Rare	General
Nom.		ἀλλήλοι?
Gen.	ἀλλήλω(ν)		ἀλλήλων		ἀλλήλων
Acc.	ἀλλήλους			ἀλλήλες
Dat.		ἀλλήλοις

Nominative

Examples are very few and generally suspect. In a notarial document from Mykonos, there appears to be a masc. pl. ἀλλήλοι: καθὼς ἐσυβαστήκασιν ἀλλήλοι της (1663, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 1, 11.14). However, the subjects are two women, and the gender is registered in the singular clitic pronoun της. The phrase ἀλλήλοι της appears more than once in these documents and seems to be a quirk of the particular notary.

Genitive

νὰ μοιάζει πόλεμος σωστός καὶ φόνος πρὸς ἀλλήλων Liv. V 678; νὰ ἔχωμεν πρὸς ἀλλήλω μας καὶ μέριμνας καὶ λόγους ibid. 2834;¹¹⁷ αὐτά ᾿σαν τὰ πιττάκια τὰ ἐγράφαμεν ἀλλήλων ibid. 3776 οὐκ ἤμποροῦν νὰ χωρισθοῦν καθόλου ἀπ’ ἀλλήλων Diig. Alex. Sem. B 412; ὁποῦ μισοῦνται ἀλλήλων ibid. 426 ἐχωρίσθησαν ὑπ’ ἀλλήλων τους ἀπὸ τὴν παρανομίαν (1693, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 27, 20.5–6) ἀπάντων τούτων τῶν ὀρνέων ἀλλήλων μαχομένων Poulol. 652 (mss PV)

Accusative

ἐμέλλομεν διανείμασθαι πρὸς ἀλλήλους τὴν οὐσίαν ἐκείνης ἅπασαν (1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 6, 72.8) ῶμον πρὸς ῶμον ἔθηκαν καὶ πρὸς ἀλλήλους λέγουν Dig. E 780; ἀλλήλως ἐβλεμμάτισαν καὶ πρὸς ἀλλήλους λέγουν ibid. 1215; στέκουν καὶ διαλογίζονται καὶ πρὸς ἀλλήλους λέγουν ibid. 1318 ἐκτύπησαν ἀλλήλους Chron. Toc. 760 ἤλεγαν πρὸς ἀλλήλους Achil. N 1517 ἔλεγον πρὸς ἀλλήλους Dig. A 3249 ν’ ἀκούσωμεν ἀλλήλους Synax. gadar. 106 πρὸς ἀλλήλους ἔλεγαν Achil. O 618 ἀλλήλους νὰ δικάζονται Defi. Par. 19; ἀλλήλους νὰ συμπέτουνται ibid. 192 ἂν εὔρουν βρῶμα, παρευθὺς ὅλες ἀλλήλους κρᾶζουν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2625 ὅλες ἀλλήλες ἐλέγασιν Achil. N 1224 (acc. for indirect object)

¹¹⁷ The form ἀλλήλω here probably results from deletion of final /n/ rather than dissimilation of a final /s/. For a discussion of this passage and the question whether ἀλλήλων is properly a gen. pronoun or an adverb interchangeable with ἀλλήλως, see LENDARI 2007: 108.

Dative

ἀφότου ἐσυμβουλευέτησαν, ἰστιάστησαν ἀλλήλοις Chron. Mor. H 309 (the sole example in H; ms P here has ἀλλήλως) νὰ σμίξουσιν νὰ δώσουσιν ἀλλήλοις κονταρέας Achil. N 1543 καὶ ὄρκον μέγαν δυνατὸν ἐποίησαν ἀλλήλοις Byz. Il. 529 σὺν ἀλλήλοις Diig. Alex. F 250.2 (Lolos) οἱ ὅποιοι ἔκαμαν ἀλλήλοις πίστιν (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III, 22.7) ἐσυγχωρούμεσταν ἀλλήλοις Diig. Sant. 57.5

5.12.2 ἀλλήλως

As mentioned above, the form ἀλλήλως appears well before the period covered by this Grammar, although it is not very common. However, in literary texts from at least the 14th c., particularly those that employ a mixed register, many examples can be found. Sometimes the meaning is simply “together”, rather than a true expression of reciprocal action. Furthermore, the verb is often in the medio-passive voice; in these cases ἀλλήλως is virtually redundant.

πολλὰ ἐταραχεύτησαν ἀλλήλως μὲ τὰ λόγια Chron. Mor. H 928; ἀπὸ τῆς τόσης ταραχῆς ὅπου εἶχαν σιν ἀλλήλως ibid. 933; ἰστιάστησαν ἀλλήλως ibid. 8286; ἀφότου γὰρ ἐκάθισαν ἀλλήλως, ὥς τὸ ἀκῶτε ibid. 8911 ἀλλήλως νὰ σφαγοῦσι Pol. Tr. 579 app. crit. (A); ἀλλήλως ἐσφαζόντησαν ibid. 917 app. crit. (A); ἀλλήλως ἐσκοτώνοντο ibid. 1864 app. crit. (A); ἀλλήλως ἐσκοτώνοντα ibid. 1864 app. crit. (B) ἀλλήλως νὰ χειροκρατοῦν, καὶ νὰ κρυφομιλοῦσιν Liv. α 428 ἀπὲ τὰ χέρια ἐπιάστησαν, ἀλλήλως συντυχαίνουσιν Chron. Toc. 463; κατὰ λόγον καὶ συμφωνιάν, ἣν ἔστησαν ἀλλήλως ibid. 1147 ἀλλήλως κατακόπτουνται καὶ ἀλλήλως κατελοῦνται Achil. N 613 ταῦτα ἀλλήλως λέγουσιν οἱ ἄρχοντας τῆς χώρας Byz. Il. 932 ἀλλήλως βάνουσιν βουλὴν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 424; εἴπαμεν, ἐσυντύχαμεν ἀλλήλως τὰ ἐδικὰ μας ibid. 1329; φιλονικοῦν ἀλλήλως ibid. 2102 ἀλλήλως νὰ φιλοῦνται PIKAT., Rima thrin. 147 καὶ ἀλλήλως ἐσυντύχασιν BERGADIS, Apok. V 223 (also A) καὶ παίζοντες εἰς εὐθυμίαν ἀλλήλως ἐγελοῦμαν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 476 νὰ χαίρουνται ἀλλήλως Pist. kekoim. 673–4; γνωριζόμεθαν ὅλοι ἀλλήλως, ἕνας μὲ τὸν ἄλλον ibid. 691–2

At a later stage the adverb ἀλλήλως occurs accompanied by a clitic pronoun in the genitive plural: the first example so far located is in the Byzantine Iliad (14th-c. text, but preserved in a 16th-c. ms). This usage is common in literary texts and documents, especially from Crete and the Heptanese, up to the end of our period and beyond.¹¹⁸ In most cases the sense is indeed that of a reciprocal expression: the clitic pronoun refers back to the subject of the verb and agrees in person and number. For other adverbial phrases that can sometimes have a similar function see 5.12.3.

¹¹⁸ For the use of ἀλλήλως and συναλλήλως in the Cretan dialect see ΚΑΦΚΑΛΑΣ 1995: 103.

καταθαρροῦν ἀλλήλως των, καὶ μυστηρολογοῦσιν Byz. II. 695 κι ὅς ἔχομεν τὴν νεότη μας ἀλλήλως μας ὁμάδι Rim. kor. V 103 κι ἀλλήλως των οἱ ταπεινοὶ δείχνουν καὶ δὲν λυποῦνται ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 143 ἐδιηγοῦνταν ἀλλήλως τους ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 431.7¹¹⁹ μαλῶνουσιν και μάχονται ἀλλήλως τους ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 10.8
 τὰ ὅποια ἀλλήλως μας ἐστιμάραμεν (1549, Crete, ΔΡΑΚΑΚΙΣ 2004: 1, 3.18) πᾶσα καιρὸ ἀλλήλως τως σ' ἀμετρη αγάπην ἦσα CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. theas 26; μὰ σὰν ἀνέμοι ἀλλήλως τως μάχονται πάντα ἀντάμι id., Erof. III.200 τὸ ὅποῖον ἐσυβαστήκασι ἀλλήλως τως, πουλήτρια καὶ ἀγοραστής (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 271, 263.4) σμίγουσι ἀλλήλως τως ΦΟΣΚΟΛΟΣ, Fort. Interm. II 108 καὶ πὼς ἀλλήλω μας κι ἐμεῖς ἀθιβολὴ μιλοῦμε Stathis II.124 (for the deletion of final /s/, as a result of dissimilation, see I, 3.7.1.1) κι ἀλλήλως τως ἐλέγασιν ἱντὰ ῥχει ἡ Ἀρετούσα ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. III.26 νὰ φονευτοῦν ἀλλήλως τους ΚΑΤΣΑΙΤΙΣ, Thyest. I.156

5.12.3 Other Reciprocal Expressions

Although not belonging to the morphological category of reciprocal pronoun, there are some other adverbial phrases, comparable to ἀλλήλως (μας), used in expressions of reciprocity. In EMG the adverbs which may occur in reciprocal expressions are: ἀνάμεσα, ἀνάμεσο(ν), μεταξύ and ἀναμεταξύ (see ΚΡΙΑΡΑΣ, Lex. s.v. ἀναμέσον, and for this use of the adverb μεταξύ in SMG see HOLTON et al. 2012: 585–6). Such adverbial phrases are not, of course, always reciprocal. Below, we give a few representative examples of reciprocal uses.

ἀνάμεσα

εἰς ὃ,τι διαφορὰν καὶ ἂν εἶχαμε ἀνάμεσά μας (1524, Crete, ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑΤΙΣ 1994a: 19, 60.9) πρέπει ... ἀνάμεσά μας σήμερον νὰ παρηγορηθοῦμεν ΑἰΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 56.16 τί ἐδιαλέγουσθαι εἰς τὴν στράταν ἀνάμεσά σας; ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΠ., Kaini Diath. Mark. 9.33 δύο ἀδελφία ἀνάμεσά τῶνε ποτὲ νὰ παντρευτοῦσι Stathis III.298

ἀνάμεσο(ν) ἐμαλῶνασι ἀνάμεσόν τους ἕνας τὸν ἄλλον Chron. Tourk. Soult. 135.12–13 κι ἐκεῖ καλὰ τὸ θέλωμε λογιᾶσαι ἀνάμεσό μας Stathis I.332

μεταξύ διὰ τὴν αγάπην καὶ καλὴν φιλίαν, ἣν ἔχομεν(εν) μεταξύ ἡμῶν (1479, Constantinople, ΒΟΜΒΑΚΙ 1954: 3, 307)

ἀναμεταξύ

ἐσυμβιβάστησαν ἀναμεταξύ τως (1630, Paros, ΑΛΙΠΡΑΝΔΙΣ 1993: 1, 289.8) μεγάλην πίκραν εἶχασιν οἱ δυὸ ἀναμεταξύ τους VEST., Prol. Theot. 165 ἀπὸ διαφορὰς λογαριασμοὺς ὅπου εἶχον ἀναμεταξύ τους (1692, Siatista, ΠΑΝΔΑΖΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ/ΤΣΟΥΡΚΑ-ΠΑΠΑΣΤΑΘΗ 1974: 22, 14.4) ὡς καθὼς ἐταιριάσασι ἀναμεταξύν τους (1699, Andros, ΠΟΛΕΜΙΣ 2001: 12, 114.12)

¹¹⁹ Kartanos also has ἐναλλήλως, with a similar function: οἱ πολέμοι ὅπου εἶχαν ἐναλλήλως τους ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 320.19. A further related form is συναλλήλως, e.g. λέγων συναλλήλως των Vios Filaret. 241.11–12.

5.13 Universal and Other Quantifiers

This section examines the morphology of, first, the various universal quantifiers (ὅλος, πᾶς, ἅπας, indeclinable πᾶσα, πασαεῖς, παντοῖος and ἀμφοτέρω) and, secondly, distributive pronouns and determiners (καθεῖς, κάθε εἷς, κάθε, κάθα, ἕκαστος). For the irregular paradigm of the quantifier πολλός (“much, many”) see 3.6.2. Other quantifiers follow regular adjectival declensions and require only brief discussion here.

The quantifier ὀλίγος (“little”, “few”) or λίγος (with aphaeresis; see I, 2.7.1) is declined like adjectives in -ος with feminine -η (see 3.2.1). From the 16th c. the form with aphaeresis predominates. (For other variants see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ολίγος.)

- τὸ τοιοῦτον ὀλίγον ἀμπέλι (1176, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 2, 369.20) οὐδὲν ἐπέρασεν ποσῶς καιρὸς μικρὸς κι ὀλίγος Chron. Mor. H 7944; ὀλίγοι ἄνθρωποι ἤμπορουν νὰ τὸ ἔχουσι φυλάττει ibid. 8273 ὀλίγους καλλιώτερους ἡύρισκες τοῦ Νεστόρου Pol. Tr. 1453; τόσος λαὸς ὀλίγος ibid. 1792 ὀλίγο δρόσος (15th c., Cyprus?, TSANGALAS 1983: 131.7) πρὸ αὐτοῦ χρονῶν ὀλίγων SFRANTZIS, Chron. 190.7 τα φάρια εὔρον πολλὰ ολίγα ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 146.2 ἐσκόπησαν τὴν πούλβερην τὸ πῶς ὀλίγη ἐνι Thrinos Kypr. 859 καὶ λίγο φῶς ἐβλέπαμε, μὲ δαῦτο περπατοῦμε Alex. Rim. 1668 περιπατεῖ λίγον καιρόν Imb. Rim. 281 λίγος καιρὸς περνᾷ πού βρίσκεις τὸ παιδί σου CHORTATIS, Katz. V.196 κ' ἐζήταν ἀπὲ τοὺς Ἑβριούς λίγην ἐλεμοσύνη PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 139 σὲ λίγες ἡμέρες θέλω σὲ στείλει πατριαρχικά γράμματα (1695, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 1, 211.9–10) γὰρ λίγη κι οὐδὲ τίβοτσι χάρη πού μοῦ γνωρίζεις KORNAROS, Erot. V.278 λίγους σολδάδους εἶχασιν ἀφήσουν KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.17

Forms with stress on the final syllable are found occasionally:

- ἀπῆρες ὕπνον ὀλιγόν GLYKAS, Stichoi 166 εἰς ὀλιγὰς ἡμέρας Eisit. f.1v.14 καρυδάτον ὀλιγόν Ptoch. IV 329 κούρση ἐκάμαν ὀλιγά Chron. Toc. 442 ἀμὲ τὸ δίδει ὀλιγὸν καὶ τὸ ἐπαίρνει πλέον DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 546

The quantifier μερικοί (“some”) declines like the plural of adjectives in -ος and has no variant forms. (For the adjective μερικός, which has a range of meanings, see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.)

- μερικά χωράφια (1392, Athos, KRAVARI 1991: 13, 115.26) μερικοί ἐνορίζται (1446, Jerusalem, TSIRPANLIS 1964: 19.11) μερικοί ἐκ τοὺς μάντας Byz. II. 375 διήγησις μερικῶν θαυμάτων DAM. STOUT., This., Logos 18, π2r.16; καὶ μερικοὺς σκλάβους ibid., Logos 19, σ1v.34 καθὼς μερικά νησία ἔπαθον (1609, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 8, 3.6) μερικὲς ἐλιὲς μοναστηριακὲς (1639, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 9, 363.1) μερκοὶ μπορῶ νὰ πῶ ζαβοὶ πὼς εἶναι FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.151 (for the syncope see I, 2.7.2) μερικοί χριστιανοὶ ἐσηκώθηκαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §8.1 μερικὲς διαθήκες (1697, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 48, 143.7–8) ἔδωσαν τοῦ καθενὸς ἓνα ἀρκομποῦζο καὶ μερικῶν πίκκα ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 48.12

For the indefinite quantifier καμπόσος/κάμποσος see 5.8.14.

5.13.1 Universal Quantifiers

In AG there were two universal quantifiers with distinct meanings: $\pi\alpha\varsigma$ (“every”, “all”) and $\delta\lambda\omicron\varsigma$ (“whole”, “entire”) (cf. Lat. omnis and totus; see BROWNING ²1983: 78). The semantic distinction was already becoming blurred in Late Antiquity, with $\delta\lambda\omicron\varsigma$ frequently used where $\pi\alpha\varsigma$ might be expected (GIGNAC 1981: 134 fn.). The complex morphology of $\pi\alpha\varsigma$ created problems for less educated writers, which probably accounts for the fact that $\delta\lambda\omicron\varsigma$ is generally more frequent in lower-register MedG texts, though some forms of $\pi\alpha\varsigma$ remain in wide use (see 5.13.1.2). Indeed, $\pi\alpha\varsigma$ gains an extended lease of life in the form of the indeclinable determiner $\pi\acute{\alpha}\sigma\alpha$ and the pronoun and determiner $\pi\acute{\alpha}\sigma\alpha \epsilon\acute{\iota}\varsigma/\pi\alpha\sigma\alpha\epsilon\acute{\iota}\varsigma$, both of which emerge in written texts of the LMedG period and are common in EMG (see 5.13.1.4–5). Two other quantifiers are discussed here (5.13.1.7–8), both used almost exclusively in higher- or mixed-register texts: $\pi\alpha\nu\tau\omicron\iota\varsigma$ (“of every kind”) and $\alpha\mu\phi\acute{o}\tau\epsilon\rho\omicron\iota$ (“both”).

The distributive function of $\pi\alpha\varsigma$ (“each”) was taken over by a new pronoun and determiner $\kappa\alpha\theta\epsilon\acute{\iota}\varsigma$ and the indeclinable determiners $\kappa\acute{\alpha}\theta\alpha$ and $\kappa\acute{\alpha}\theta\epsilon$, which have certain similarities with $\pi\acute{\alpha}\sigma\alpha$ and $\pi\alpha\sigma\alpha\epsilon\acute{\iota}\varsigma$ in their evolution. They are examined in 5.13.2.

5.13.1.1 $\delta\lambda\omicron\varsigma$

The inherited universal determiner and pronoun $\delta\lambda\omicron\varsigma$ (“whole”, “all”) is in widespread use throughout the period covered by this Grammar. Two possible phonological variants are found in the texts: (1) apparent gemination of /l/; and (2) replacement of /o/ by /u/. As far as gemination is concerned, the modern Cypriot dialect possesses both $\omicron\lambda\omicron\varsigma$ and $\omicron\lambda\lambda\omicron\varsigma$. Geminate forms also occur in some other south-eastern areas. For the period under examination the evidence is inconclusive. When spellings with <λλ> occur in texts from areas which have geminate forms today, they may possibly reflect a true geminate phonetic realization, e.g. $\delta\lambda\lambda\alpha \tau\omicron\upsilon\varsigma \tau\acute{\alpha} \kappa\alpha\lambda\lambda\acute{\alpha}$, $\tau\acute{\alpha} \acute{\epsilon}\chi\omicron\upsilon\nu$ / $\delta\lambda\alpha \tau\omicron\upsilon\varsigma \tau\acute{\alpha} \kappa\alpha\lambda\acute{\alpha} \tau\acute{\alpha} \acute{\epsilon}\chi\omicron\upsilon\nu$ (1440, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1995: 126, 401.6). Equally, they may be a quirk of spelling, with possible influence of $\delta\lambda\lambda\omicron\varsigma$.

The form $\omicron\lambda\lambda\omicron\varsigma/\omicron\lambda\lambda\omicron\varsigma$, widespread in our texts, is generally interpreted as a survival from ancient Ionic, rather than as the product of a phonological change from /o/ to /u/ (see I, 2.8.3 for details and bibliography). Most editors write it with spiritus asper, although if it is indeed Ionic it should not be aspirated. In the period covered by this Grammar it is common in texts from Cyprus and Crete (though often interchangeable with $\delta\lambda\omicron\varsigma$), but it also occurs in the Heptanese, Peloponnese and elsewhere. In rhymed texts its use may serve to facilitate rhyme.

The basic paradigm is the same as that of adjectives in - $\omicron\varsigma$ with fem. - η (see 3.2.1), but there are also genitive forms with shift of stress or with the addition of a syllable, very similar to the pattern of variation found for the contrastive pronoun and determiner $\delta\lambda\lambda\omicron\varsigma$ (see 5.10.1). There is clear analogical influence between these two words, as well as with the demonstrative pronouns.

Shift of stress to the final syllable can occur in the masc. and neut. gen. sg. and in the gen. pl. (all genders). Interestingly, the singular form ὅλοϋ appears from the 14th c., earlier than the corresponding form of ἄλλος. The extended forms ὅλονοϋ, ὅλωνῶν etc. are also first encountered in the 14th c. and become widespread by the 16th. Further details of the variant forms and their distribution will be given below.

The determiner ὅλος usually occurs in noun phrases with the definite article preceding the noun (ὅλος may precede or follow the noun), e.g. ὅλης τῆς Ρωμανίας Chron. Mor. H 2606; οὕλα τὰ νερά τῶν βρύσων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.24–5; αφέντης των αφεντάδων ὅλων Diig. Alex. K 344.1. In the sense of “whole, entire”, the article may precede the determiner, e.g. ἡ ὅλη πληρωμή (1529, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 114, 225.14–15); τὸ ὅλον κηρί (1695, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 1, 211.4). No example of the extended forms has been found in such instances.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	ὅλος οὗλος	ὅλη οὐλη	ὅλο(ν) (οὐλο(ν))
Gen.	ὅλου ὅλοϋ ὅλονοϋ ὅλουνοϋ	ὅλης οὐλης ὅλωνῆς ὅληνῆς	ὅλου ὅλοϋ ὅλονοϋ ὅλουνοϋ οὐλου
Acc.	ὅλο(ν) οὐλο(ν) ὅλονε οὐλονε ὅλονα	ὅλη(ν) οὐλη(ν)	ὅλο(ν) (οὐλο(ν))
Plural
Nom./Voc.	ὅλοι οὐλοι	ὅλες ὅλαι οὐλες	ὅλα οὐλα
Gen.	ὅλων ὅλῶν ὅλονῶ(ν)/ὅλωνῶ(ν) ὅλουνῶν ὅλουνῶνε οὐλουνῶνε	ὅλων ὅλῶν ὅλονῶ(ν)/ὅλωνῶ(ν)	ὅλων ὅλῶν ὅλονῶ(ν)/ὅλωνῶ(ν) ὅλουνῶν
Acc.	ὅλους οὐλους ὅλουνούς	ὅλες ὅλας οὐλες	ὅλα οὐλα

Singular

Masculine

	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	ὅλος	οὗλος
Gen.	ὅλου	ὅλοϋ ὅλονοϋ ὅλουνοϋ
Acc.	ὅλο(ν)	οὐλο(ν) ὅλονε	οὐλονε ὅλονα

Nominative

Both ὄλος and οὔλος occur, the latter particularly in texts from Crete and Cyprus, as discussed above.

- ὁ τόπος ὄλος τοῦ Μορέως, ὅσος καὶ περιέχει Chron. Mor. H 1404 ἐγδέρνονται οἱ κουτάλες σου, ὄλος ὁ σφόνδυλός σου Diig. tetr. 787 καὶ ὁ νοῦς μου ὄλος ἐχάθην Om. Nekt. Vas. 22 ὄλος ὁ κόσμος ἔνναε ὁμοιό σου οὐδὲν ἔχει KORONAIOS, Pittakin 78 ὄλος λοιπὸν ὁ πόλεμος RODINOS, Vios Ign. 79.7
 ὄλος τέρπω καὶ χαίρομαι, ἀνοιξεν ἡ καρδιά μου KONDAR., Paidēs 387 ποῦ ὄλος ὁ κόσμος τρέμει με DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 52
- ὁ λαὸς οὔλος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 191.22 οὔλος ὁ λαὸς VOUSTR., Chron. M 57.6
 στοὺς ὀρισμούς σου πάντα μου θέλω 'σται, κόρη μου, οὔλος CHORTATIS, Erot. Interm. I.104 κὶ ἀναγαλλιάσεν οὔλος KORNAROS, Erot. IV.806

Genitive

The basic form ὄλου can be found throughout the period. Extended forms with an additional syllable have not been found before the 16th c. There is no obvious geographical split between the two forms ὄλονοῦ and ὄλουνοῦ.

- τοῦ ὄλου τοῦ χρόνου τῆς ζωῆς Spaneas Z 655 ὄλου τοῦ τόπου τούτου [ANDR. PALAIOI.], Kallim. 1835
- ὄλοῦ τοῦ κόσμου Pol. Tr. 1589 app. crit. (X) ὄλοῦ τοῦ κόσμου Theseid Prol. E 136
- ὄλονοῦ τοῦ τόπου KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.32 τοῦ κόσμου ὄλονοῦ Diig. Alex. F 86.11 (Lolos) τοῦ τόπου μου ὄλονοῦ (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 757, 757.4) ὄλονοῦ τοῦ χρόνου (1568, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 259, 350.1) ὄλονοῦ τοῦ λαοῦ (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.5)
- τοῦ κόσμου ὄλουνοῦ Diig. Alex. V 62.5 ὄλουνοῦ τοῦ κόσμου Diig. Alex. E 103.19 (Lolos) ὄλουνοῦ τοῦ κόσμου AITOLOS, Voev. 43 ὄλουνοῦ, ὄλονῃς GERMANO, Grammar 70.21 ὄλουνοῦ τοῦ λαοῦ (1679, Sovana, Tuscany, PAPADOPOULOS 1979: 1, 473.36) ἑκακοφάνη ὄλουνοῦ τοῦ λαοῦ SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 38.13 ὄλουνοῦ τοῦ χρόνου (1711, Milos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 64, 46.21)

Accusative

As for the nominative, forms with /o/ and /u/ occur. There are also forms with addition of final /e/, mainly in texts from the Heptanese and Cyclades; one instance of ὄλονα has also been found (cf. ἄλλονα, αὐτόνα, ἐκείνονα etc.).

- καὶ ἐκεῖ νὰ εὔρης ὄλον μου τὸν σκοπὸν καὶ τὸ φρόνημα περὶ τούτου NIKON, Logos 9 314.16–17 τὸν τόπον ὄλον τοῦ Μορέως νὰ τὸν ἔχη κερδίσει Chron. Mor. H 4895 καίουσιν τὸν στόλον ὄλον Velis. χ 178 διὰ ὄλον τὸν Αὐγούστον τὸν ἐρχάμενον (1549, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 51, 93.6) καί, κοντολογιά, ὄλον τὸν λαὸν ἐφιλοτίμησε VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.11 καὶ αὐτὸς ἐχάλασεν τοὺς καφενέδες εἰς ὄλον τὸν κόσμον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §16.3–4 κι ὄλο τὸ νοῦ τση ἐχάσε KORNAPOS, Erot. I.1432; ἐκόμπωσε ὄλο τὸ λαὸ ibid. V.1443 σ' οὔλον τὸν κόσμον Anak. Konst. 57 διὰ οὔλον Φεβρουάριν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 130.13 οὔλον τὸν κόσμον Cyp. Canz. 109.19 ὄχ τὸν κόσμον ὄлоне SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. A1v.23 ἔναν κάμπο ὅπου ἔχουν εἰς τόπον λεγόμενον στ' Ἀχλα, ὄлоне ὡς καθὼς εὐρίσκεται (1688, Andros, POLEMIS 2001: 8, 107.5–6) τὸν κόπον του ὄлоне (1704, Corfu, TZIVARA 2003: 38, 495.32) ὁ βεζιρης ἔρθε ἀτός του καὶ ἐπῆρε τὸν Μορέαν ὄлоне (1715, Stefani, LAMBROS 1910: 362, 213.2)

καὶ ἐπατρονάρισε τὸ Μορέα οὔлоне (1687, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970a: [7], 91.3) στὸν δρόμον ὄλονα Diig. Vefa 252

Feminine

	General	Restricted
Nom.	ὄλη	οὔλη
Gen.	ὄλης	οὔλης ὄλονῃς ὄληνῃς
Acc.	ὄλη(ν)	οὔλη(ν)

Nominative

The form ὄλη is stable. One instance of οὔλη, in a Cypriot text, has been located.

εἶναι τὰ ροῦχα τὰ φοροῦν ὄλη ἡ ἀνθρωπότης Diig. tetr. 498
 'ς τὸν Ἄδην νὰ ἐκατέβηκεν ὄλη κατεκομμένη Theseid I.59,8 (Follieri) κερδαίνω, χάνω, μοναχὰ ἐν ὄλη του ἡ ὁμιλία SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 166 ἡ ὄλη πληρωμὴ (1529, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 114, 225.14–15) ἔφριξε μέσα στὴν καρδιά καὶ ὄλη μεταστάθη Imb. Rim. 688 ὄλη ἐξαναμαλάσσετο κι ὄλη ἐξαναγεννᾶτο KORNAPOS, Erot. III.22

οὔλη ἡ σπορὰ ἐχάθηκεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.23–4

Genitive

Alongside the basic form ὄλης and its variant οὔλης, we find the extended forms ὄλονῃς and ὄληνῃς from the late 15th c. onwards and from various regions.

ὄλης τῆς Ρωμανίας Chron. Mor. H 2606 ἐξ ὄλης τῆς ψυχῆς μου Dig. E 550 τῆς ὄλης μου καρδίας [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 564 ἐξ ὄλης μου τῆς καρδίας (1667, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1960: II.A 6, 123.11) οὔλης τῆς δύσις MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 79.28 τῆς ὄλονῃς τῆς κτίσης CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 5 τῆς Δύσης ὄλονῃς Diig. Alex. F 186.2 (Lolos) ὄλονῃς μου τῆς δούλευσης (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 770, 601.12)
 & in Scio ὄλουνοῦ, ὄλονῃς GERMANO, Grammar 70.21 όλονης τῆς αὐτῆς σάϊκας (1671, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 1395, 821.23) διὰ μέρος όληνης τῆς ἀδελφουσύνης (1506, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 458, 329.19) της Εντίας οληνής Diig. Alex. K 373.16 όληνης τῆς Περσίας Diig. Alex. E 273.6 (Lolos) ἰπὶ πρόσωπα όληνης τῆς ἡγῆς Pent. Gen. 1.29 τῆς ἀδελφουσύνης μου όληνης (1641, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 239, 193.34)

Accusative

Again forms with both /o/ and /u/ occur, the only other variation being the presence or absence of final /n/.

ἤθελες δοξασθῆν παρ' όλην τὴν Συρίαν Dig. G II.81 ἐκούρσευσαν τὴν χώραν όλη καὶ ἐτζακίσασαν τὰ σπίτια (15th. c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 8, 3.4) όλην τὴν ἀπομοναράν (1510, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 23, 40.14) εἰσὲ όλην τὴν διαφοράν (1514, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 59, 65.6) εἰπέ μου όλην τὴν ἀλήθειαν! Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 77.19 όλην τὴν πλερωμὴν τῶν ἄνωθεν ὀζῶν καὶ προβατῶν ὄλων (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 184, 153.16) νὰ βάνει όλη τὴν ἔμισή προύκα (1608, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 559, 496.18) ἔζησαν παρθένες όλην τῶν τὴν ζωὴν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 60.1–2 κι οὐλη νύχτα μιτά μου δὲν κοιμᾶται Cypr. Canz. 24.16 τὴν ἀκολουθίαν του οὐλην (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: B, 469.839) οὐλη τὴν Ἑλλάδα ΕΦΤΗΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 20.11–12; περιφημισμένος δέσποτας σ' οὐλη τῇ Ρούμελη ibid. 25.1–2

Neuter

	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	όλο(ν)	(οὔλο(ν))
Gen.	όλου	όλοῦ ἢ όλονοῦ ἢ όλουνοῦ	οὔλου
Acc.	όλο(ν)	οὔλο(ν)

Nominative

Only όλο(ν) has been found in the texts examined, although οὔλο(ν) is found as accusative (see below).

τὸ φέγγος φέγγει όλον Dig. E 297 καὶ τότε νὰ δωθῇ αὐτοῦ όλο μου τὸ προικίον (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 88, 166.11) τότ' ἔκλαψαν οἱ ἄρχοντες, όλο τὸ στρατορίκι Alex. Rim. 2908 οδιατι τους ἐμεινε όλο της το λογάρι Apoll. Rim. A 1268 καὶ τόσον μὲ ἐπόνεσε τὸ κορμὶ όλον PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 113.13–14 όπου στέκει όλον τὸ πλῆθος ἀκαρτερῶντας (1609, Cyprus, CHASIOΤIS 1972: 33, 55.9) νὰ κάμω τοῦτο τὸ στενὸ όλο νὰ κοκκινίσῃ CHORTATIS, Katz. III.441 ἐκεῖ στέκει καὶ τὸ σεντούκι τὸ σετεφκιὰρὶ διὰ τὰ λείψανα, ὅλο σερτάρια (17th–18th c., Sinai, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 35, 140.10) τὸ ὅλον κηρὶ (1695, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 1, 211.4)

Genitive

The variation is mainly the same as for the corresponding masc., with extended forms occurring from the 16th c. onwards. A single example of οὔλου, in the prepositional phrase καθ' οὔλου, has been found in a text from S. Italy.

ὅλου του τοῦ φουσσάτου Chron. Mor. H 5152, 5586; κι ὅλου γὰρ τοῦ ρηγάτου ibid. 5760 τοῦ Δεσποτάτου ὅλου Chron. Toc. 281; τοῦ Ἀγγελοκάστρου ὅλου ibid. 2287; ὅλου τοῦ Πριγκιπάτου ibid. 3544

ὄλου τοῦ Δεσποτάτου Chron. Mor. H 1032; ὄλου τοῦ πριγκιπάτου ibid. 6758, 7439, 8628 ὄλονοῦ τοῦ τυριοῦ (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 820, 638.4) τοῦ ἀμπελιοῦ σου ὄλονοῦ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 226, 215.16) ὄλονοῦ τοῦ πραγμάτων (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 76, 231.6) ὄλουνοῦ τοῦ γένους τῶν ἀνθρώπων Bertoldos 19.20 τουτέστι καθ' οὔλου πᾶν ἀμάρτημα λέγεται ὕβρις (12th c., Calabria, BRANDILEONE/PUNTONI 1895: 281.3–4)

Accusative

In addition to the basic form ὅλο(ν), instances of οὔλον have been found in texts from S. Italy and Cyprus.

ὄλον τὸ χωράφιν τὸ ἔχομεν γράπτων (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 128, 169.7) ᾿ς ὄλον τὸ βασιλῆιον Chron. Mor. H 2612 νὰ ἐπάρη καὶ τὸ ἀδέλφι του καὶ ὄλον μας τὸ κοῦρσος Dig. E 26 εἰς ὄλον τὸ περίγυρον τῶν γυναικῶν ἐκείνων Pol. Tr. 10611 ἔτρωγεν τὸ γάλας ὄλον Ptochol. α 486 τὸν Ἄννα καὶ τὸν Κάιαφα μ' ὄλον τους τὸ φουσσάτο FALIEROS, Thrinios 20 ἄμε ὅπου θέλεις εἰς ὄλον μου τὸ νησὶν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 68.24 νὰ παίρνων τὸ τρίτο ὅλο ἀπὸ 'κεῖ καὶ κεῖθες (1575, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 1, 17.16) καὶ χάνει τὸ σπιτάκι του μὲ ὄλον του τὸ πρᾶμμα ΜΑΤΤΗΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 1586 τὸ βᾶθος οὔλον (1199, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 336, 336.4) οὔλον τὸ ἀσημοχρύσαφον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 346.24

Plural

Masculine

	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Voc.	ὅλοι	οὔλοι
Gen.	ὄλων ἢ ὀλῶν	ὄλωνῶ(ν) ἢ ὀλουνῶν	ὄλουνῶνε ἢ οὔλωνῶν ἢ οὔλουνῶνε
Acc.	ὄλους	οὔλους ἢ ὀλουνοῦς

Nominative

These is no variation in the ending, only in the initial vowel, /o/ or /u/.

εἰς τὴν ἡμέραν, ὅτι τελειωθοῦν οἱ μάρτυρες ὅλοι (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 59.154) καὶ πόλεμον ὃς δώσωμεν ὅλοι μὲ τ' ἄρματά μας Chron. Mor. H 837–9; κὶ ὅλοι ἀμφοτέρως εἶπασιν κ' ἐσυμβουλέψανέ τον ibid. 2515; οἱ καβαλλάροι ὅλοι ibid. 8901 ἔδωκαν οἱ ὅλοι τὸν λόγον τως (1453, Nisyrus, TSIRPANLIS 1967: 1, 47.11) καὶ μὲ τὸ θάρρος τοῦ Χριστοῦ ὅλοι ἀναπεύομέστε FALIEROS, Thrinios 298 ἀμμ' ὅλοι τ' ἀκλουθοῦν ὅσους κορπώννει; Cypr. Canz. 17.11 εἶχαν ὅλοι ἐτοῦτοι τὴν δοξολογίαν τοῦ θεοῦ RODINOS, Vios Ign. 64.11–12 ὅλοι οἱ μεγιστάνηδες καὶ ὅλοι οἱ αυθεντάδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6965 θέλου<ν> ἀνακατωθοῦ<ν> οὔλοι οἱ Χριστιανοὶ (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 61.7) οὔλοι οἱ ἀκιντζίδες PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 323 διὰ τοῦτον οὔλοι μας παραδιδόμεθαν εἰς τὴν ἀφεντίαν σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 380.27 καὶ ὅσον ἐγρίκησαν τες φωνές εἰς του σαμπερλάνου, οὔλοι ἔτρεξαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 10.1–2; να συπιαστούν οὔλοι οἱ κλησιαστικοὶ ibid. 52.6 οὔλοι οἱ γέροντες Fior 121.9 ἀνὲ γλυτώσουν οὔλοι CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1078 οὔλοι πολλὰ χαρήκαν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.205 καὶ πάλι ἐθαυμάσθησαν μ' ἐκεῖνο τοῦ ὅλοι Alex. Rim. 196 (rhyming with δοῦλοι) στῆς ἀφεντιᾶς σου τὸ ταχύ μαζωνομέστανε οὔλοι CHORTATSI, Erof. I.556 νὰ τὰ χαροῦμε οὔλοι Stathis III.356 καὶ οἱ ἄνεργοι καὶ ἀνάρετοι καὶ φοβιτσάροι οὔλοι FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 71 τὸν ἐθρηνοῦσαν οὔλοι BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 474 οὔλοι εὐρίσκονται εἰς μεγαλότατη ἀποθυμία (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.23) οὔλοι | σκλάβοι εἶναι τοῦ ἀφεντάκη σου KORNAROS, Erot. I.683–4

Genitive

The inherited form ὄλων is used throughout the period. Forms with shift of stress to the final syllable have been found in verse texts from the 14th c. onwards. Extended forms also occur from the 14th c., with ὄλωνων (also spelled ὄλονων) being the more common and widespread variant. Final /n/ may be omitted in certain geographical areas (see I, 3.7.2.2), as for other gen. pl. forms, and one instance of addition of final /e/ has been found in a Heptanesian text.

ἀσύγκριτε τῶν ὄλων Eisit. f.1v.4 ὄλων τῶν εὐτυχούντων Log. parig. L 658 περὶ ὄλων τῶν ἄλλων νόμων Assizes B 485.3 αφέντης των αφεντάδων ὄλων Diig. Alex. K 344.1 ὄλων τῶν μαχαλάων τοῦ Διακοπτοῦ (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 446.2) ὄλων δὲ ἐκεῖνων ὅπου ἐσυνδράμανε Diath. Nikon Metan. 98 ὡσαύτως γὰρ ἐζήτησεν ὄλων τῶν κεφαλᾶδων Chron. Mor. H 2415 τὰς ὅψεις ἐβλεπεν ὄλων Pol. Tr. 2056 app. crit. (BX) βουλὴν ἐζήτησεν ὄλων Chron. Mor. P 2514 κὶ ὄλων σας χαίρετίσματα μὲ τὴ γραφὴ σᾶς πέβω Alex. Rim. 660 βουλὴν ἐζήτησε ὄλονων Chron. Mor. H 2514, 6635 ἀλλὰ ἐπέσσασιν ὄλονων τὰ ραβδία τῶν ἀπελάτων Dig. E 698 app. crit.

ὄλονων των πρικιπάδων Theseid VI.13, tit. (Olsen); ὄλονων ἐφάνηκεν ibid. VI.66, 7

- κ' ἐπαραγγείλαν όλωνών Alex. Rim. 839; καλὸ τοὺς φαίνεται ὡνων ibid. 1106 όλωνών ἀντάμα (1533, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 3, 116.7) όλωνών μου τῶν γονικάρων (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 798, 622.14) με θέλημα τῶν Μανιατῶν όλωνών (1571, Mani, CHASIOTIS 1970: 5, 240.33) τα κρέη όλωνών ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 131.7
 τὰ δὲ ἐπιλοῖπα εἶναι τῶν αἰρετικῶν όλωνών (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 336.25) συμπαθεῖ όλωνών ἐκείνων ὅπου τοῦ ἐφταίξασι (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 9, 311.11) όλωνών τῶν ἁγίων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 57.5 τῶν αἰώνων όλωνών MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 327.15 πολλὰ όλωνών ἀρέσει KORNAROS, Erot. II.299, 412 ο τέλειος αφανισμός όλωνών Don Kis. 123.3 καὶ τὴν ζωὴ τως όλωνών KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.376
- θάνατος όλουνών τῶν ἐκτητόρων καὶ τῶν παιδίων μας (1414, Corfu, MALTEZOU 1991a: (1), 316.17–18)
 διὰ μέρος όλουνών τῶν κτητόρων (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 77, 74.7) τῶν βασιλέων όλουνών βασιλεὺς Diig. Alex. V 80.5 καὶ ἄρεσε ὁ λόγος όλουνών KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 351.2
 όλουνών τῶν χρονῶν (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 349, 248.12) τὰ σκριτά όλουνών (1584, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1976: 149.47) καρδιογνώστης όλουνών SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 17.59 όλουνών τῶν πατέρων (1595, Kefalonia, GARBIS 1999: 412.3)
- διὰ χαρίσματα ούλωνών τῶν μεγαλουσάνω (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 151.12)
- τῶν καβαλάρω όλωνῶ (1603, Crete, VIOLIDAKIS 2006: 2, 266.13–14) τάσσω όλωνῶ σας Stathis III.540 ἀφῆνω όλωνῶ τῶν χριστιανῶ (1661, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 10, 103.10) όλωνῶ τῶν ἀπεθαμένω (1696, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 47, 141.23) στὸ πρόσωπό τους όλωνῶ KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1311
- ούλουνῶνε (1716, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969d: 1, 42.1)

Accusative

Both ὅλους and οὔλους occur, and an extended form όλουνούς is found from the 16th c. onwards.

- παρήγγειλεν ὁ βασιλεὺς | τοὺς ὅλους νὰ προλάβει Eisit. f.3r.9–10 ὅλους τοὺς ἐλευτέρωσες καὶ ἤλθες εἰς ἐμέναν Chron. Mor. H 1861 νὰ σάση ὅλους ἐκείνους καὶ ὅλαις ἐκείναις Assizes B 273.11 ὅλους μας ἔχεις δούλους σου κι ὀριζε τί ἔν' τὸ θέλεις FALIEROS, Thrinos 82 με ὅλους τοὺς πρωτογέρους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 540.7
 καὶ ἐβγήκεν ἔξω καὶ ἐδίδαχνε μεγαλοφώνως εἰς ὅλους KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 331.25 με ὅλους τοὺς γειτόνους (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 451.16) ἀπ' ὅλους ὅσοι τοὺς ἰδοῦν νὰ εἶναι τιμημένοι KONDAR., Paidēs 185 ὅλους τοὺς ἀνθρώπους DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 2, a7v.29 ἐτούτους ὅλους ἤθελε τοὺς βγάλει KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.161
- οὔλους τοὺς ἀγάπουν (ms ἀγάπα) Anak. Konst. 41 με οὔλους του τοὺς τοίχους Assizes A 104.25 κ' ἐκεῖνος οὔλους εἶχεν τοὺς ακριβοὺς VOUSTR., Chron. A 38.16–17 οὔλους τοὺς κάμουν κουρφοὺς ἐχθροὺς (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 149.13) δοξεύω τσι οὔλους Stathis Prol. 34 μικρότερος ἀπὸ ὀλουνοὺς Diig. Alex. V 60.29 ποὺ ἔβγαιναν ἀπ’ ὀλουνοὺς Theseid X.5,8 (1529) (ed. ἀπὸ λουνοὺς) ὀλουνοὺς ἀπεκεφάλισεν Diig. Alex. K 344.5 ἡβλέπετε ὀλουνοὺς αὐτουνοὺς Diig. Alex. F 160.7 (Konstantinopulos) εἰς ὀλουνοὺς ΜΑΤΤΗΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 1911 νὰ τοὺς πιάσουν ὀλουνοὺς Bertoldin. 125.20 σὰν ὀλουνοὺς (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 66.15)

Vocative

κ’ ἐσεῖς ὅλοι ποὺ βρίσκεσθην εἰς τέτοιαν φλόγ’ ἀπέσω Theseid I.4,1 (Follieri) ὅλοι ψυχοπονέσετε, κλαύσατε λυπημένα Alosis 34

Feminine

	General	Restricted
Nom.	ὅλες	ὅλαι ἰ οὔλες
Gen.	ὀλων	ὀλῶν ἰ ὀλωνῶ(ν)/ὀλονῶ(ν)
Acc.	ὅλες	ὅλας ἰ οὔλες

Nominative

The usual form is ὅλες, though οὔλες is also found, in texts from Cyprus, Rhodes and Crete. The older form ὅλαι occurs sporadically in texts that aim for a higher register.

νὰ εἶπες ὅτι Χάριτες εἰσὶν ὅλαι τοῦ κόσμου Velth. 691 transcr. Lendari (edd. have οἱ σύνολαι) ἂν ἦτονε τόπος νὰ περιπατοῦσαν ὅλαι, μικραὶ καὶ μεγάλαι, ἤρχουντα (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.28–31); ὁδὶα νὰ φωνιάξουν ὅλαι (ibid. 175.60–1)

ὅλες οἱ συγγενίδες Liv. V 3059
οἱ εὐγενίδες ὅλες Poulol. 52 αἱ βαῖτρες τῆς ὅλες Achil. N 1032; ὅλες καλές, εὐγενικές, ἀρχόντων θυγατέρες ibid. 1033 εμοιράσθησαν οἱ γλώσσες ὅλες Diig. Alex. K 346.7 ὅλες εἶναι νοικοκυράδες (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.4) ὅλες οἱ καλογρές, αἱ διαλεκταὶ τοῦ τόπου μας (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174–175.17) οὔλες οἱ αὐθεντίες (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 83.10) οὔλες οἱ πολιτικές νὰ παν εἰς το καμηλαργίον καὶ εἰς το αμαξαργίον VOUSTR., Chron. A 178.5

τοὔτες οὔλες οἱ πέντε μανιέρες Fior 127.27
ὅλες κι οὔλες ἰ γιὰ κρίμα τὸ κρατοῦσι Pist. voskos I.3,128–9 app. crit.

Genitive

The range of forms is similar to that for the masculine, though fewer variants have been found.

ὀλων τῶν ἐκκλησίων Chron. Mor. H 2011 γυναικῶν ὀλων Pol. Tr. 2068 ὀλῶν τῶν ἐκκλησίων Chron. Mor. H 2651, 2655, 2670 τὰ φυσικὰ τῶν ὁλωνῶν Synax. gyn. 464 τουτουινῶν ὁλωνῶν τῶν θυσιῶν MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 327.19 γὰ ὄνομα τῶν καλογριάδων ὁλωνῶν (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 60.88) ὁλωνῶν τῶν ἐκκλησιῶν (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 482.10)

ἀπ' ὁλωνῶ των ἀρετῶ τσι χάρες CHORTATSIS, Panor. IV.78 ἀποῦ ὁλωνῶ τῶν ἀρετῶ παιδί πῶς εἶσαι δείχτεις FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.620

Accusative

The usual form is ὄλες, less commonly οὔλες, while ὅλες may occur in formal contexts and in texts that aim at a higher register.

ὄλες τὰς μεγιστάνας Pol. Tr. 1840 app. crit. (A) καὶ τὰς τέντας εὐρήκαμεν σχοινοκομμένας ὄλες Dig. E 510 ὄλες του τὰς ἡμέρας Assizes B 279.1

καὶ οἶαν κρίνεις ἐξ αὐτὰς κάλλιαν παρὰ τὰς ὄλες Velth. 540 transcr. Lendari (τὰς ἄλλας Kriaras) ὄλες τὰς κουτράδας Synax. gyn. 438 app. crit. (KRIARAS, Lex. amends to κουτράδας; Vuturo to κουντράδας) ἤξευρε ὅτι εἰς ἡμέρας πέντε ὄλες σας τας ἐκκλησίας καὶ το πατριαρχεῖον χαλοῦν ἀπὸ τα θεμέλια MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 218.16 ὄλες τὲς ἐξουσίες Chron. Mor. H 8657 κοινὸν τάφον ἐποίησαν καὶ ὄλες ἀπέσω ἐθάψαν Dig. E 125

ὄλους ἐκείνους καὶ ὄλες ἐκείνες Assizes B 273.11

μὲ τὲς βαῖτσες ὄλες Achil. N 1222 ὄλες τὲς Λαμπρὲς (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 172.26) βλεπήθου μὲ ὄλες τὲς βλέπησες Fior, Suppl. 273.18 νὰ φασολογοῖ μὲ ὄλες του τὲς ἐξοδες (1545, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 118, 232.12) ὄλες τὲς πράξεις (1551, Venice, COUROPOU/GÉHIN 2001: 3, 161.2) τὲς ἐξοδες ὄλες (1575, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 5, 91.18)

νὰ τοῦ δώσουν ὄλες λίτρες 50 (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 222, 187.51) τσί βίζιτες ἐρνήθηκα καὶ ὄλες τσί κοῦρες τς ἄλλες FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.75

μὲ ὄλες ἐκείνες τὶς ὑπόσχεσες, κοντετσιόνες καὶ περίληψες (1686, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 9, 659.14)

με οὔλες τες ρέντες VOUSTR., Chron. A 6.17; οὔλες τες πρᾶματεῖς ibid. 174.1–2 κι ἀνέγνωσά τες οὔλες KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.38

No instance of the feminine vocative plural has been located, but it can be assumed to be the same as the nominative.

Neuter

	General	Restricted
Nom./Voc.	ὄλα	οὔλα
Gen.	ὄλων † ὁλῶν	ὄλωνῶ(ν)/ὁλονῶ(ν) † ὄλουνῶ(ν)
Acc.	ὄλα	οὔλα

Nominative

Both ὄλα and οὔλα occur throughout the period.

- αὐτὰ ὄλα τὰ λέγετε παρηγορίες μας εἶναι Dig. E 1330 νὰ μένου ὄλα εἰς τὴν κληρονομίαν (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 12, 30.24–5) ποὺ σταῖνου ὄλα ἄσπρα τέσσερεις χιλιάδες (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 43, 191.12) ἐρχονται τα κάτεργα καὶ ὄλα τα πλευσίματα Chron. Ps.-Dorothe. (1631) 232.22 ὄλα τὰ πουλιά παγαίνουν Paroim. (Warner) 104.19 ὄλα τὰ ὁμοιώματα τοῦ Δαβὶδ ἐφυλάκτησαν εἰς τοῦτον τὸν Δεσπότην MOREZINOS, Klini 10.32 καίονται τὰ ἀπατζίδικα ὄλα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.7 τὰ ἐπίλοιπα νὰ εἶναι τῶν ἀρσενικ(ῶν) παιδίων ὄλα σῶα καὶ ἀνελλιπεῖς (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 138.28–9) τὰ ὁποῖα αὐτὰ ὄλα νὰ γίνονται εἰς μερδικὰ δύο (1697, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 30, 22.12–13) καὶ οὔλα τὰ νερά τῶν βρύσων ξεράναν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.24–5; οὔλα ἐγινήκασιν ibid. V 50.31 οὔλα ᾗ τὸν μάστρον βγιενικὰ γινῆκα Cypr. Canz. 90.42 χαμοπετοῦ κι ἀναγαλλιοῦσιν οὔλα KORNAROS, Erot. II.1251

Genitive

The forms are essentially the same as those for other genders.

- τὰ ὀνύχια ὄλων τῶν ποδαρίων Dig. E 524 ἀπὸ ὄλων τῶ<ν> ψεματινῶν ἐγκλημάτων Assizes B 482.27 ὄλων τῶν φυτῶν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2077
 ἡ γεροντοσύνη ἐνὶ ἀπανωθιὸν ὄλων τῶν ἄλλων κακῶν Fior, Suppl. 270.18 τῶν ἄνωθεν ὀζῶν καὶ προβατῶν ὄλων (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 184, 153.16) ὄλων τῶν πλευτικῶν του Chron. Mor. H 1742 ὄλων τῶν κορασίων Pol. Tr. 2067 (reading of BX; πάντων in AV) ὄλων μου τῶν πραγμάτων (1525, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 104, 194.10) τῶν ἀνωγεγραμμένων πραγμάτων ὄλων (1539, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 17, 31.29) χαῖρε ὄλων τῶν κεφαλίων κεφάλι! Diig. Alex. F 40.17 (Konstantinopoulos) αἰτία ὄλων τῶν βασάνων MOREZINOS, Klini 60.32 τῶν παιδιῶν μου ὄλων VEST., Prol. Theot. 20 ὄλων τῶν ἐθνῶν MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 322.28 τῶν ὀρφανῶν ὄλων (1662, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 74, 186.17) (probably neut. rather than masc.)
 ἔχει τὴ φροντίδα ὄλων (1672, Milos, CHATZIDAKIS I. 1927: A, 299.19) μετοχίων ὄλων (ca. 1700, Achaia, TSIOURAKI 1971: B', 170.18) ὄλων τῶν παιδιῶν μου (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 22, 187.52) κ' ἐτουνού καὶ ὄλων μου τῶν ἐγγονιῶν (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 80.65) τῶν ἀδελφίων μου ὄλων (1643, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 257, 205.22) τῶν ἀδε<ρ>φίω του ὄλων (1670, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 46, 45.11–12) ἐδόσε ἐλευθερίαν ὄλων τῶν ζώων KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 191.31–2 τῶν παιδιῶν τῶν μικρότερων ὄλων (1555, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 172, 222.11)

Accusative

The accusative forms are identical to the nominative.

- ἀπὸ τὰ πράγματα ὅλα, ὅποῖα ἦσαν τοῦ ποτὲ Θεοδώρου (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 18.9) ὅλα τοῦ τὰ ἀφηγήθηκε Pol. Tr. 1880 δὲ τα ὅλα νὰ κάμης οὐλα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.23; εἰς ὅλα τὰ κάστην ibid. V 520.31 τότε νὰ βάλουσι φωτιά καὶ ὅλα νὰ τὰ καύσουν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 254
 ὅλα τοὺς τὰ ἠπῆραν Chron. Toc. 76 καὶ ἤξευρε μὲ τὴ μαγειὰ ὅλα νὰ τὰ γρικήση Alex. Rim. 9 μοῦ ἔχαρίσασιν τὰ δικαιώματά τῶνε ὅλα (1537, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 117, 231.13–14) καὶ νὰ ἔχω ὅλα θηλυκὰ παιδιὰ (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 222, 186.48) τὰ ἀφῆνω ὅλα τῶν δύν μου παιδιῶν (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 36.12) τοῦ δίδει καὶ τὰ χωράφια του ὅλα (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 132, 146.8–9) τοῦ ὁποίου μοναστηρίου ἄφησα, ἄν ἀποθάνω, ὅλα μου τὰ βιβλία καὶ ἱερὰ IER. AVVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 338.7
 μὲ ὅλαν του τ' ἀδέλφια (1703, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 46, 59.4) (for addition of final consonant see I, 3.7.2.1) καὶ οὐλα ἐκάμαμε τα (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 60.5); εἰς οὐλα τὰ σαντζιάκια (1487, ibid. 15, 84.21) καὶ οὐλα εἴπαμέν σου τα ἐν συνόψει MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 328.16 ἀπὸ οὐλα τὰ πράματα Fior 82.22 νὰ τὰ μαζώξουνε οὐλα τὰ χρέη (1573, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 4, 14.36) καὶ μὲ τ' ἀδέρφια τς οὐλα CHORTATIS, Katz. I.234 οὐλα του τὰ καλὰ πρεζέντε καὶ ἐρχόμενα (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 795, 691.21–2) ποῦ τέτοιου γένους ποίημα ὀπίσω οὐλα τ' ἀφήνει SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. a2v.7

Vocative

- (ἐλᾶτε ...) τετράποδα τῆς γῆς ὅλα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.69 σύρετε ὅλα εἰς τὴν κακὴν ὥραν Bertoldos 19.20

5.13.1.2 πᾶς, πᾶσα, πᾶν

The AG declined universal quantifier πᾶς, “all”, with its complex paradigm based on the stem παντ- for masculine and neuter forms (other than the masc. nom. sg., neuter nom. and acc. sg., and masc. and neuter dat. pl.) and the stem πασ- for feminine forms, was already subject to confusion of forms and analogical modification in Late Antiquity (GIGNAC 1981: 133–5) and this process continued in the EMedG period. The strengthened form ἅπας, ἅπασα, ἅπαν follows a similar course (see 5.13.1.3). In LMedG the forms which remain in common use are masc. nom. pl. πάντες and neut. pl. πάντα. Other inherited forms tend to occur mainly in documents and other texts that aim for a more formal register. By the mid-16th c. declined forms of πᾶς have become rare in vernacular literary texts, with the exception of neuter pl. πάντα, since their function as universal quantifier has been assumed (as in SMG) mainly by ὅλος, for which see 5.13.1.1. For the fem. sg.

πᾶσα, which becomes indeclinable for all genders and cases (mainly with singular nouns but occasionally also plural), see 5.13.1.4. More rarely, an indeclinable form πᾶν can also be found in LMedG and EMG texts:

πᾶν κάστρον καὶ πᾶν χώρα Alosis 629 εἰς πᾶν φρόνιμον ἄνθρωπον Diig. Alex. F 164.22 (Lolos) πᾶν ἕτερα πράγματα (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 16, 227.13–14)

πᾶν ἕτερα πράγματα (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 45, 87.20) (for πράγματα see I, 3.6.1.3)

Examples of declined forms that follow AG morphology and agreement can be found in many texts, particularly (but not only) those that aim at a higher register. However, we also encounter innovative forms, such as πάσου or πασοῦ for masc. gen. sg., and changes (or confusions) of grammatical gender, e.g. the masc. forms πάντες and πάντας used with feminine nouns. The existence of the indeclinable form πᾶσα may have played a part in the extension of forms based on the fem. stem πασ- (mainly the gen. πασῶν) for use with masculine and neuter referents. Examples of both inherited and new forms, as well as extensions of inherited forms to different morphological functions, will be given below, arranged by gender and number. Some examples of ἄπας will be given in the relevant subsection (5.13.1.3).

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Singular
Nom.	πᾶς	πᾶσα	πᾶν ἢ πάντα
Gen.	παντός ἢ πασοῦ ἢ πάσου	πάσης ἢ πάσας ἢ παντός	παντός ἢ πασέου
Acc.	(πάντα)	πάσα(ν) ἢ πάσην	πᾶν ἢ πάντα
Plural
Nom./Voc.	πάντες	πᾶσαι	πάντα
Gen.	πάντων ἢ παντῶν ἢ πασῶν	пасῶν	πάντων ἢ παντῶν ἢ πασῶν
Acc.	πάντας ἢ πάντες	πάσας ἢ πάντας	πάντα

Singular

Masculine

The inherited nominative πᾶς is not common. Sporadic examples can be found in texts that aim for a higher register: ἀδυνατεῖ πᾶς ἄνθρωπος νᾶ καταπολεμήση [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1041. No alternative nominative form has been found (see also ἄπας below).

The inherited genitive παντός is likewise not very common:

ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀπὸ παντὸς συλλόγου καὶ κριτηρίου ἐκδιωκώμεθεν (1397, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 6, 184.6) νὰ ποίση δίκαιον παντὸς ἀνθρώπου καὶ παντὸς γυναικὸς Assizes B 281.17–18 ἐπίτροπος καθολικὸς τοῦ αὐθεντὸς τοῦ παντὸς Μορέου (1540, Monemvasia, MALTEZOU 1968: 41.2) ἐξέστη γὰρ ἡ ψυχὴ παντὸς τοῦ λαοῦ Chron. Ps.-Dorothe. (1631) 233.13–14

New genitive forms based on the fem. stem πασ- occur in legal documents of the 12th and 13th c. from S. Italy and Sicily (cf. neut. sg., below),¹²⁰ but also from Corfu several hundred years later. It is unlikely that these developments are unconnected; we may suspect that these forms had a wider distribution, though perhaps only in the written Greek of lawyers and notaries. Examples:

σὺν πασοῦ τοῦ κλήρου τῶν Γρεκῶν (1234, Sicily, CARUSO 1976: 1, 322.4) ὑπόσχομαι ὅτι μετὰ πάσου αὐτῶν κόπου, τέχνης καὶ ἐξόδου (1498, Corfu, KARYDIS 1999b: 2, 306.5)
 ἐκ πασοῦ κόπου (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 54, 44.10); ἀπὸ πασοῦ αὐτῆς κόπου (ibid. 86, 71.9)

The inherited accusative πάντα is extremely rare in both literary and non-literary texts that employ a register close to the vernacular. It is clear that the less common forms of πᾶς have been replaced by other universal pronouns/determiners, such as ὅλος and the indeclinable πάσα.

Feminine

The nominative and accusative forms πᾶσα and πᾶσα(ν) can be found quite frequently, but only in higher- or mixed-register texts can it be assumed that these are indeed declined forms of the inherited pronoun, rather than the invariable form πάσα. One instance of a hypercorrect form of the accusative, πάσην, on the analogy of the genitive, has also been found.

τὸν τρέμει πᾶσα ἢ κτίσις Dig. E 378 πᾶσα γενεά Diig. tetr. 495 πᾶσα ἀμαρτία, ἣν ἂν ποιήσῃ ἄνθρωπος DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2540 παρὰ πᾶσαν θεῖαν γραφὴν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 314.9
 ὅταν μέλλῃ ζῶ[ντας] καὶ νεκροὺς καὶ πᾶσαν φύσιν κρῖναι Diig. sevast. Thom. 195 πᾶσαν αἰχμαλωσίαν Dig. E 568; εἰς πᾶσαν τὴν Συρίαν ibid. 729 εἰς πᾶσαν ἀληθείαν Pol. Tr. 1692 εμετήρχετον πᾶσαν ἀρετὴν MARG., Vioi 273.8
 διὰ νὰ μολογήσουν τὴν πᾶσαν ἀλήθεια (1680, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 25, 102.12) ἐν ὑγείαν καὶ πάσην χαράν (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 12, 82.32–3)

¹²⁰ MINAS (?2003: 102 and 168) notes other instances of “innovative” forms in S. Italian or Sicilian texts, such as masc. pl. πάνται, dat. pl. πάσις (read πάσοις), fem. gen. sg. πάσεας, as well as “incorrect” agreement, e.g. fem. pl. πασῶν with a masc. or neut. noun, παντὸς with fem. gen. sg., πάντα with a neut. sg. noun, etc. See below for examples.

The genitive presents a more complex picture: alongside the “normal” form πάσης, inherited from AG, we find πάσας (by analogy with developments in the morphology of feminine nouns), but also the masc./neut. παντός used for feminine referents:

πάσης τιμῆς, ἀξίας Chron. Mor. H 336 μετὰ πάσης ταραχῆς Dig. E 1063

πάσης τῆς γῆς Αἰγύπτου Liv. V 3044 πάσης τῆς Ἀρμενίας Alex. Rim. 1034 τῆς Σταματινῆς καὶ τῆς Πόθας, ἦγουν πάσας μίας (1394, Crete, SANTSCHI 1976: 1597, 344.3)

πάσας μου θυγατέρας (1551, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 89, 110.10)

παντός γυναικὸς Assizes B 281.18

Neuter

For the nominative and accusative the residual form πᾶν can be found sporadically in LMedG and EMG texts:

πᾶν πρᾶγμαν Assizes A 96.19

τὸ πᾶν ἀποσυναγωγεῖν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1227 τὸ πᾶν πρᾶγμα Diig. Alex. F 40.3 (Konstantinopulos) ἐπῆρε πᾶν τὸ θέλημα Alex. Rim. 143 ὑπάγε καὶ ἀγόρασε πᾶν κακὸν καὶ ἄχρηστον Vios Aisop. K 173.30

το παν ὅλον εἶναι Don Kis. 188.20

Rarely, the form πάντα (either acc. masc. sg. or neut. pl.) is found in place of πᾶν: εἰς πάντα πρόσωπον (1199, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 247, 336.1).

The genitive is normally παντός, but it is not very common except in adverbial phrases such as ἐκ παντός or διὰ παντός:

νὰ διώκεται ἀπὸ παντός κριτηρίου (1445, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 170, 191.5)

ἀπὸ παντός ἀνθρωπίνου σώματος (1501, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 66, 101.39)

ἀπὸ παντός ἀνθρωπινού σώματος (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 19, 57.14–15) ἐλεύθεροι ἀπὸ παντός βάρους (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 167.6) κ' ἔδιδεν λάμπιν τοῦ παντός καὶ φώτισεν τὸν κόσμον VEST., Prol. Theot. 373 (τὸ πᾶν, “the universe”) ἦτον παντός εἴδους ἀσχημότερος Vios Aisop. D 209.20

εἰς τὸ ἐκ παντός ἐλθεῖν θέλει GLYKAS, Stichoi 299 μνήσκου μου διὰ παντός Dig. G IV.448

ἀλλ' ἀληθεύουν ἐκ παντός, μηδεὶς οὖν ἀπιστήση Dig. E 721 ἐνθύμησιν εἶχε ἐκ παντός ἐκεῖ νὰ κατοικήσῃ Chron. Toc. 673 ἐχθροὺς μᾶς ἔχεις ἐκ παντός Achil. N 64; νὰ εἶπεν τινὰς εἰς τὸ ἐκ παντός οὐκ ἔναι ἀνθρώπου ἔργα ibid. 849

An innovative genitive πασέου (cf. the masc. forms given above) occurs rarely in texts from S. Italy: ἀπὸ πασέου (sic) μέρος (1113, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 75, 98.16); ἀπὸ πασέου μέρος (1118, ibid.: 85, 112.27).

Plural

Masculine

The inherited nominative and vocative form πάντες is fairly common in mixed- and higher-register texts:

πάντες γυμνοὶ ἐγεννήθημεν Spaneas V 136 ἦλθαν, ἐκατελάβασιν πάντες οἱ καβαλλάροι Pol. Tr. 135 app. crit. (V) οἱ πάντες τὸ θωροῦσιν Poulol. 145 πάντες λοιπὸν ἐμίσσεσαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2034
 καὶ πάντες ν' ἀποθάνωμεν, μηδένας ν' ἀπομείνη Dig. A 4667 ἀλλὰ καὶ συγενήτορες πάντες οἱ ἐδικοί της Achil. O 17 ὦ πάντες, ὅλοι χαίρεστε κι ἁμαρτωλοὶ θαρρεῖτε FALIEROS, Thrinos 181 σταθῆτε πάντες ἄρχοντες Om. Nekt. Vas. 1 οἱ πάντες Γραικοὶ τῆς νήσου Χίου (1511, Chios, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 17, 261.1) μὲ τὸ κεχρὶ ἔζησαν πάντες οἱ πένητες (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III, 36.2) βλέπετε, πάντες, ἀδελφοὶ DIKR., Diig. Pol. 1243

The inherited genitive πάντων continues to be used, mainly in mixed- or higher-register texts. A form παντῶν with shift of stress is occasionally found:

τῶν εὐγενῶν τῆς χώρας σου, | πάντων τῶν μεγιστάνων Eisit. f.5r.7
 ἐκεῖνος τὸ ἡμοίρασεν ὥς ἔπρεπε τῶν πάντων Pol. Tr. 2468 app. crit. (V) πάντων ρηγάδων, βασιλέων, αὐθέντων καὶ ἀρχόντων Byz. Il. 839 δέξαι ραβδία, Φιλοπαπποῦ, πάντων {δὲ} τῶν ἀπελάτων Dig. A 1650 να δείξει θέλησεν πάντων Theseid VI.35,6 (Olsen) ἀσχημότερος πάντων τῶν ἀνθρώπων Vios Aisop. D 209.18 δίνω της τὰς εὐχὰς τῶν Ἁγίων Πάντω (1683, Leros, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 37, 29.5) (for deletion of final /n/ see I, 3.7.2.2) παντῶν συνφωνησάντων (1008–9, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 13, 134.8) καὶ προσκυνεῖσαι ὑπὸ παντῶν Velth. 144

In isolated texts from S. Italy, Corfu and Crete we find the fem. form πασῶν functioning as masculine:

μετὰ πασῶν τῶν ἀνθρώπων (1101, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 69, 87.1) μετὰ πασῶν τῶν ἀδυνάτων τῶν ἐκεῖσε εὕρισκομένων (1548, Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 5, 103.13) πρῶτον μὲν ἀφίει πασῶν τῶν ὀρθοδόξων Χριστιανῶν τελείαν συγχώρησιν (1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.10)

The accusative is either πάντας (as in AG) or, with the levelling of the nom. and acc. endings that occurred (well before our period) in nouns originally of the 3rd declension, πάντες, though the latter is quite rare:

τοὺς πάντας προχαίρειζε Spaneas V 171 γράφομεν ἄλλο πιττάκι κοινὸν πρὸς πάντας τοὺς ἄρχοντας (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: [α'], 292.19–293.2) ὁποῦ τοὺς πάντας βλέπει Dig. E 453 στοὺς πάντας / στὶς πάντας Byz. Il. 117 app. crit. (for τὶς see 5.2.1) εἰς τοὺς Ἁγίους Πάντας (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 16, 30.53) παρά πάντας ἄνθρωπος πλεώτερος λογαῖσαι Alex. Rim. 1777 ὑπερέβη πάντας τοὺς σοφοὺς Vios Aisop. K 147.4–5 ἐκάθισεν ὁ βασιλὲς πάντες νὰ δοκιμάσῃν Achil. O 76; κατεσκόπαν πάντες ibid. 149

Feminine

As might be expected, the AG nominative πᾶσαι is found only in texts that cultivate a higher register, as in this 14th-c. example: ὃν πᾶσαι αὐτὸν παρίστανται οὐρανῶν αἱ δυνάμεις Diig. sevast. Thom. 272. No innovative form has been located in the texts examined.

The residual genitive πασῶν can be expected to occur in higher- and mixed-register texts but very few examples have been located: πασῶν τὴν καλλιωτέραν Velth. 529; Κερά πασῶν τῶν ἀρετῶν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1590 (but note that this text also uses πασῶν with neuter nouns); σὺν μπασῶν νομῶν (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 13, 30.9).

The residual accusative plural πάσας can be found sporadically in mixed-register literary texts or documents:

πάσας του συγγενίδας Eisit. f.3r.2

καὶ πάσας τὰς ἐξόδας (1266, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 303, 434.19) καὶ ὁ Ἑρως ἐξεπλήρωσε πάσας τῶν ἐλπίδας Dig. E 1066 τὰς δ' αἰσθήσεις πάσας καὶ τῷ νοῦ ὑγίης (1528, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 124, 226.5–6)

πάσας μου θυγατέρας (1551, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 89, 110.10)

The AG masculine form πάντας is also sometimes found with feminine nouns:

πάντας τὰς ὑποθέσεις (1143?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 15, 537.1) εἰς πάντας τούτας τὰς ὀπλὰς Assizes B 333.24; εἰς πάντας τὰς ἡμέρας τοῦ ἐνιαυτοῦ ibid. 378.25

πάντας του τὶς πέτρες καὶ σίδερα (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 1, 79.24)

Neuter

The inherited nominative, accusative and vocative form of the neuter plural πάντα remains unchanged and occurs quite frequently as a universal pronoun (often substantivized with the definite article) or determiner:¹²¹ οἱ κουρσάροι στερεύγου τον πάντα ὅσα ἐβάσαν Assizes B 298.12

εἰς πάντα τὰ πέρατα τῆς γῆς Diig. tetr. 499

τὰ κάτεργά του πάντα, ἅτινα ἐκ τὸν κλύδωνα ἦσαν σκανδαλισμένα Pol. Tr. 13412

τ' ἄλλα πάντα (1420, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 2 [B'], 22.17)

τὰ πάντα ἐποντίσθησαν, πράγματα καὶ ἀνθρώποι Chron. Toc. 32 ἰδοὺ, τὰ πάντα ἐγίνονται Achil. N 685 καὶ πάντα τὰ θελήματα, ὅπου ἔχον ἀπὸ χρόνου Dig. A 2249

ὁ Θεὸς γάρ, ὡς εὐσπλαχνὴς, ὡς δίκαιος στὰ πάντα Chron. Mor. P 624 εἶχα διορθώσει καὶ ἀφήσει πάντα μου τὰ ἀγαθὰ (1497, Corfu, KARYDIS 1999b: 1, 305.13)

καὶ ταῦτα πάντα ἐγίνησαν ὁγιά νὰ μάς διδάξῃ SKLAVOS, Symf. 143

ὅπου τὰ πάντα ὀρίζει Thysia Avr. 163

¹²¹ It also functions as an adverb, “in all respects, wholly”, from AG onwards. The temporal adverb πάντα “always”, in use from at least the 4th c. AD, is believed to derive from the phrase τὸν πάντα χρόνον (GEORGACAS 1951; see also KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.).

γιατί ᾽ς τὰ πάντα δίκαια καὶ ἀληθῆ σε εὔρε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 942
κ' ἑσείς σωπαῖτε ὁμάδι, | τραγοῦδια πάντα τῆς πικριᾶς ZINON I.1–2

The genitive is normally the inherited form πάντων:

σὺν πάντων τῶν δένδρων (1190, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 16, 48.24) περὶ πάντων πραγμάτων τὰ ἐγίνονταν Assizes B 352.29 εἶναι ἀνάγκη πρὸ πάντων νὰ φροντίζετε τὴν paίδευσίν των (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.7–8) πλάστη μου καὶ δημιουργὲ τῶν πάντων τῶν πραγμάτων SKLAVOS, Symf. 3 μετὰ πάντων τῶν χρειώδη ἐργαλείων (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 293, 208.7)

It occasionally occurs with shift of stress to the final syllable, probably by analogy with the gen. sg. παντός: ἡ γῆς, ἡ μάνα τῶν παντῶν, αἰτία τῆς θανάς σου Synax. gyn. 92; ἐκ παντῶν Flor. L 1101.

The AG feminine form πασῶν is also used to qualify neuter nouns (cf. the masc. gen. pl. above). It is found mainly in notarial documents:

σὺν πασῶν τῶν δικαιωμάτων (1234, Sicily, CARUSO 1976: 1, 323.12) μπασον τον μπραγματον / πασῶν τῶν πραγμάτων (1432, Corfu, ASONITIS 1996/97: 3, 30.81) μετὰ καὶ πασῶν τῶν δικαιωμάτων (1440, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 22, 225.13) πασῶν πραγμάτων DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1263 μετὰ πασῶν τῶν δικαιωμάτων (1595, Crete, STEFANIDOU 2004: 4, 160.14) εἰσὲ ὁμπλιγασιὸν πασῶν τῶν καλῶν τως (1630, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 111, 222.5) μετὰ πασῶν τῶν δικαιωμάτων (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 481.13)

5.13.1.3 ἄπας, ἄπασα, ἄπαν

As mentioned above, the strengthened form ἄπας, ἄπασα, ἄπαν is also found in LMedG, and occasionally EMG, texts and has morphological variation similar to that of πᾶς.¹²² The use of ἄπας rather than πᾶς may be occasioned by metrical factors, or by an attempt at a more elevated style. We give just a few examples of the various forms found in the texts.

Singular

Masculine

ἄπαν τὸν ἐμὸν ἀμπελῶνα (1135, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 5, 65.3) εἰς ἄπαντα τὸν κόσμον Dig. E 1611 εἰς τὸν ἄπαντα κόσμον Pol. Tr. 543 app. crit. (ABX) καὶ τὰς ἐρωτοχάριτας ἄπας ἐξεθαμβήθη [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 789 εἰς τὸν ἄπαν αἰῶνα (1652, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 69, 179.7) ἀπὸ τοῦ νῦν εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα τὸν ἄπαντα (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 1, 3.4) ἄπαντα λογαριασμόν (1691, Venice, MERTZIOS 1936e: [1], 119.11)

Feminine

ἵνα ἔχουσιν ἐπίσης καὶ τὴν ἄπασάν μου ὑπόστασιν, κινήτην καὶ αὐτοκίνητον (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 23.112)

¹²² A masc. acc. form in -ο(ν) occurs in documents from certain areas: εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα τὸν ἄμπατον (1609, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: III, 71.17), instead of ἄπαντα, with apparent voicing of /p/. Cf. εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα τὸν ἄπα[ν]το (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 41.31).

εἰς τὴν ἄπασαν χώραν μου (1237, Arta, BARIŠIĆ 1966: [1], 2.8) ὡς σηκωτῆς νὰ ἐδούλευα τὴν ἄπασαν ἡμέραν Ptoch. III 182 ἄπασης τῆς Συρίας Dig. E 726 app. crit. (ἀπάσης ed.) τεχνίτες ὅλοι θαυμαστοὶ ἀπάσης τέχνης φύσης Alosis 649 ἄπασα χάριταν ἀποῦ ἔλαβεν (1491, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1991: 1, 233.13) εἰς τὴν ἄπασαν διαφορὰν ἦν ἔχωσιν (1563, Corfu, TZIVARA 2003: 31, 490.5)

Plural

Masculine

ἤλευθέρωνεν ἅπαντας οὓς εἶχεν αἰχμαλώτους Dig. G II.5
 νὰ τὸν γινώσκουν ἅπαντες Poulol. 323 ἅπαντες τοὺς ἐχθροὺς μας Pol. Tr. 846 app. crit. (V); πιάνουν καὶ δένουν ἅπαντας ibid. 1837 ἐπαίνεσαν δὲ ἅπαντες τὴν φρόνησιν τοῦ νέου Achil. N 269 ἀπάντων τούτων ἐνὶ ἄρχων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 220 ὡς τὸ ἦκουσαν οἱ ἅμπαντες οἱ ἀρχηγοὶ τῆς Δύσης Chron. Mor. P 40 app. crit. (P) οἱ ἅμπαντες Ἀχαιοὶ Alex. Rim. 27 καὶ ἅμπαντες οἱ ἕτεροι κοντόσταυλοι τῆς ἡμετέρας νήσου (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 167.3)

Feminine

εἰς τὰς γενέας ἁπάσας τοιοῦτος οὐκ ἐφάνη Dig. E 1702; τὰς ἐλπίδας ἀπάσας ibid. 1831 καὶ εἶδα τὰς ἱστορίας ἁπάσας Liv. V 1017 ποῦ τὶς παρθένες ἅπαντες κάμνεις νὰ σὲ δουλεύουν Theseid VII.85,3 (1529) ἅπαντὰς σου τὰς φρένας Diig. sevast. Thom. 291

Neuter

ἴνα ἔχουν ἅπαντα χωράφια (1125?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 18, 417.5) ἅπαντα ταῦτα πρὸς αὐτοὺς, ἅπαντα κεκρυμμένως [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2222 ἐκβάλλουσί με ἅπαντα τὰ σίδηρα SFRANTZIS, Chron. 56.2

5.13.1.4 Indeclinable πάσα(ν) and ἅπασα(ν)

Although it has been suggested that indications of an indeclinable use of the feminine of πᾶς can be detected in the New Testament (see GIGNAC 1981: 134 fn.), it is not until the beginning of the LMedG period that the first incontrovertible examples are found, in texts from Sicily and S. Italy. It is possible that the fossilization of the feminine form originates in phrases such as πᾶσα(ν) ὥραν (see ANDRIOTIS, Lex.), but a thorough investigation is lacking. It is, of course, only when πᾶσα occurs with a masculine or neuter noun that we can be sure that the form has been generalized. In phrases incorporating a feminine noun it is necessary to ascertain whether the indeclinable form occurs with other genders in the same text.

By the 14th–15th c. it has become quite common in texts from southern areas and by the end of the EMG period it seems to have spread to all regions and is mentioned in grammars, e.g. “Queste due voci, πᾶσα, κάθε, & altri dicono, κάθε, sono indeclinabili, & si mettono auanti ogni nome di qualunque genere, & numero, & caso” (GERMANO, Grammar 73.8–10). Most modern editors accentuate the word as πάσα, in accordance with the simplifications proposed by TRIANDAFYLIDIS (1941: 43). (Instances of both πᾶσα and πάσα will be found in the examples below, according to the edition from which they derive.)

A form with final /n/ is sometimes found. Although it usually accompanies a noun in the accusative, this is not really a declined form: the -ν is simply a graphematic feature, as found in many parts of speech (see I, 3.7.2.1), or inserted before a vowel for the avoidance of hiatus. Some examples of πάσαν, occurring in texts where πάσα is clearly indeclinable, are included below.

- τὸν πάσα χρόνον (1176, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 2, 369.11) ἔχασεν πάσα δίκαιον ὃ ἤλπιζεν ἔχειν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 65.38) διὰ πάσα χρέος (1327, Crete, ΛΑΙΟΥ 1982: 1, 123.3) μὲ πᾶσα θέλημά του Pol. Tr. 1092 app. crit. (X); μὲ πᾶσαν θέλημάν του ibid. 1092 app. crit. (B) πᾶσα πρᾶγμα Assizes B 320.29 πᾶσα λογῆς καρπὸν (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 49.31) πάσα ἕκαστον (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 55.3) ἐτάξαν πάσα ἄνθρωπον VOUSTR., Chron. A 10.13 ἡ πρώτη κίνησις πᾶσα ἀγάπης Fior 74.14; πᾶσα πράμαν ἔχει τὸ κουντράριόν του ibid. 77.21 πᾶσα βαρελίου τὴν πώλησιν (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 112, 92.9) σοῦ θέλει εἰπεῖν πάσα πράγμα (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.42) σὰν τό ᾗ πᾶσα ξένος ZINOS, Vatr. 190 πᾶσα λέντζε καὶ πᾶσα πρεβελέγιον (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 25, 25.15) πάσα λοῆς ἄνθρωπον (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 17, 95.10) πρέπει πᾶσα μητρός νὰ πονῇ διὰ τὸ παιδί της Diig. Alex. F 66.17 (Konstantinopulos) πᾶσα θαῦμα τρεῖς ἡμέρες, τὸ δικό μας τέσσαρες Paroim. (Warner) 62.11 σὰν πάσα καλὸν ἀνδρόγυνον (1604, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 10, 165.20) πάσα κλωνάρι Diig. Alex. Sem. B 339 ἀπού ᾗ πᾶσα βράδου Vosk. 359 πάσα μῆναν Σεπτέβριον (1624, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2000: 2, 516.18) ἐδώσαμε εἰς πᾶσα μοναστήρι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §21.27 εἶσε πᾶσα καιρὸ καὶ εἶσε πᾶσα τόπο (1674, Milos, IMELLOS 1985/90: 329.7–8) ἄξος σὲ πάσα τρόπο KORNAROS, Erot. I.31; πᾶς ἄργά ἡπαιζε τὸ λαγοῦτο ibid. IV.28 ἀπὸ πᾶσαν τόπο Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 59.169 ἀγάπα πᾶσαν ἄνθρωπον FALIEROS, Log. did. 57 πᾶσαν νερόμυλον (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 1, 79.10) εἰς πᾶσαν χρόνον Diig. Alex. E 161.15 (Lolos) πᾶσαν ἄνθρωπον (1572, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 135, 255.19–20) μετὰ πᾶσαν προικίον (1625, Crete, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 11, 7.24) μὲ πᾶσαν του δικαίωμα (1626, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 8, 45.24)

Occasionally πάσα(ν) accompanies a noun in the plural:

- πᾶσα πράγματα Assizes A 102.24 εἰς πᾶσαν λέφαντας Diig. Alex. E 79.23 (Konstantinopulos) τοῦτοι θέλουν πᾶσα δυὸ χρόνους (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174.14) μὲ πᾶσαν τὼς ἀγέρηδες (1681, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 158, 330.13) εἰς σὲ πᾶσα ἔκλαμπρα καὶ τίμια προσώπατα (1724, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1973: 3, 307.4)

It can also be found with indefinite pronouns such as τι and τίποτα:

- ἔτοιμος εἶνι σὶ πάσα τί (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 6, f.43r.7) πάσα τίποτες (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 78.3) πᾶσα τίποτας (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 66.12) πᾶσαν τίποτες (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 101.10) πασατίβοτις CHORTATISIS, Katz. II.141

On the analogy of πάσα, there is also an uninflected form ἄπασα(ν), found occasionally in literary texts, but mainly in documents from the Heptanese and Cyclades:

- ὅτι ἄπασα ξύλον πλευτικόν (1422, Athens, BUCHON 1843: LXVIII, 289.19) ἄπασα γένος PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 449 ἄπασα θεός Theseid XI.25,2 (1529) ἄπασα λογῆς ζωντόβολον (1533, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 3, 116.19) εἰς ἄπασαν κομμάτι τῆς ἀλτεραρίας (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.3); ἄπασα λουμπαρδάρης (16th c.?, Heptanese, ibid. 60.28) μέ ἄπασάν του δικαίωμα (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 150, 238.6) συχωρεῖ καὶ ἄπασα Χριστιανόν (1570, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 1, 9.4) διὰ ἄπασα ἔξοδο καὶ γεραμέντα (1643, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 361.20) σὲ ἄπασα καιρὸ (1666, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 18, 89.20)

5.13.1.5 πασαεῖς

The universal pronoun πασαεῖς is formed from the univerbation of the indeclinable form πάσα and the numeral/indefinite pronoun εἷς (for the historical development and new forms of εἷς see 5.8.5). Both manuscripts and modern editions vary in whether the resultant pronoun is written as one word or two, so it is impossible to determine when (or to what extent) univerbation occurs. However, combined forms such as πασάνας (with deletion of /e/ in accordance with vowel hierarchy; see I, 2.9.2) and πασένας (the /e/ vowel by analogy with ἕνας, κανένας, καθένας) indicate that univerbation has taken place. It is less clear in the case of feminine forms, where the situation of vowels in contact does not arise. However, the entries in the 17th-c. Grammar of Germano suggest that, for some speakers at least, the process was complete: “πασαεῖς, & πασανεῖς. Genit. dell’vno, & l’altro πασενός ... πασαμία, καθεμία, ogn’vna. Genit. πασαμιᾶς, καθεμιᾶς” (GERMANO, Grammar 73.20–1).

As for the geographical distribution of the different forms of this pronoun, it is difficult to discern a clear picture. The manuscripts of literary texts indicate a rather fluid situation. For example, in the manuscripts of the Cretan pastoral comedy Panoria we find three different forms for the same phrase: πᾶσένα ντως (D), πᾶσάνα τως (A), πᾶσα ένα τους (N) CHORTATIS, Panor. I.160 app. crit.

Masculine

M	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	πάσα εἷς/πασαεῖς ἰ πάσα ἕνας/πασαένας	πασαγεῖς ἰ πασανεῖς ἰ πασάνας ἰ πασένας	πᾶσανεις ἰ παένας
Gen.	πάσα ἐνός/πασαενός ἰ πάσα ἐνοῦ/ πασαενοῦ ἰ πασανοῦ	πασανός	πᾶσ’ ἐνοῦς ἰ πᾶσα ἔνοῦς
Acc.	πάσα ἕνα(ν)/ πασαένα(ν)	πασάνα(ν) ἰ πασένα(ν)	πᾶσαναν ἰ πᾶσαν ἕνα(ν) ἰ πᾶσα ἕνανε

Nominative

Throughout the period covered by this Grammar, the nominative form πάσα εἷς (as one word or two) appears to be more common than the innovative form with ἕνας. The form πασαγεῖς (or πασαγεῖς), with anaptyxis of palatal glide (see I, 3.5.2.1), has only been found in texts from Cyprus and Crete. A new form πασανεῖς, which may be compared with νεῖς (see 5.8.5) and κανενεῖς (5.8.9), probably results from analogical spread of <ν> in forms such as genitive πασανός or πασανοῦ. Examples have been found in texts from Cyprus, Crete and Chios. A shift of stress to the first syllable, πάσανεις, has also been found in one Cypriot text (Voustronios). Univerbation has manifestly occurred in the form πασάνας, which occurs sporadically in literary texts from Cyprus, the Heptanese and Crete, but also in the history of Matthaïos of Myra (born in Epirus). Finally, παένας, with deletion of intervocalic /s/, is found only in documents from Ithaca (cf. neuter παένα below).

καὶ τὰ ὄρη γὰρ πασαεῖς ἦσαν μετὰ λόγια ἑβραϊκά FALIEROS, Thrinis 6 πασαεῖς ἤνουν ἀνάπαυσιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.3 τότε νὰ κάμη πασαεῖς ἐκεῖνο ποῦ μπορέση Alex. Rim. 840 νὰ ἔχη πάσα εἷς τὸ μισό (1562, Skytos, ANDONIADIS 1990: 9, 23.16–17) ὁ πάσα εἷς (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 150, 238.9) δὲν εἶναι θυγατέρα μου, σὰν πασαεῖς κρατεῖ τὴν CHORTATSI, Katz. I.231 πασαεῖς ὑπερήφανος εἶναι καὶ τυφλός Irodis I.3 ἐδιάβη πασαεῖς εἰς τὸν τόπον τοῦ χαρούμενοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 94.3 καὶ πάσα εἷς ἐγύρευε ὅπου μπορεῖ νὰ φύγει BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 389.4 τὴν τύχη τοῦ ὁ πάσα εἷς ὡς θέλει τὴν κάνει Zinon III.270 κὶ ὅτι κατέχει πάσα εἷς KORNAROS, Erot. II.1023; καὶ πάσα εἷς νὰ φυλαχτῇ ibid. II.2356; γὰρ νὰ κατέχει πασαεῖς ibid. II.1270 πάσα ἐμοίρασε πασανένας (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 9, 20.6) ποῦ πασανένας ἐξ αὐτὸν δὲν ἡμπορεῖ νὰ γλύσῃ Alex. Rim. 2822 νὰ διηγεῖται πᾶσα ἕνας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 403.7

 τὰ θελήματά τοῦ πᾶσα ἕνας ἔκαμνεν DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 2, α7ν.26 πάσα ἕνας τὴν πάρτεν τοῦ (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 102, 78.43) ὡς καθὼς ἰσούνησαν πάσα ἕνας στὸν τόπο (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 15, f.44v.8–9)

οπασαγισ / ὁ πᾶσα γεῖς (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.12) πρέπει πασαγεῖς νὰ φορτισιᾶται Fior, Suppl. 279.34–280.1 δοσμένον εἶναι πασαγεῖς τὸ θάνατο νὰ φεύγῃ CHORTATSI, Panor. III.443 πασένας σας CHORTATSI, Panor. Prol. theas 4 πᾶσ' ἕνας σας TROILLOS, Rodol. III.56 ὅπου ἔζησε πᾶς ἕνας χρόνους ἐνακοσίους τόσους LANDOS, Geopon. 129.28–9 πᾶσ' ἕνας τὸ κατέχει Zinon II.190 ὁ πασανεῖς Cyp. Canz. 19.2; ὅτι στὸ τέλος πασανεῖς γυμνὸς μεινίσκει ibid. 154.16 κὶ ἀπὸ τὰ δάκρυα πασανεῖς ἐγροῖκα | τὸ βάρος Vosk. 279 διὰ νὰ μάθῃ πασανεῖς πὼς ἔχει τιμωρία KONDAR., Paidēs 665 καθαεῖς, πασαεῖς, πασανεῖς, ὁγν'νο GERMANO, Grammar 73.15 πάσανεις ἦτον χρῆση νὰ συντύχει VOUSTR., Chron. A 20.19; πάσανεις ἐγύρευεν νὰ τοῦ ποίσει συντροφίαν ibid. 38.9

πασάνας ἐπικράθη Alex. Rim. 1789 πασάνας νὰ βιγλίση Cypr. Canz. 94.36 τὸ πῶς ἐπολιτεύθηκε πασάνας ᾽ς τὸ σκαμνὶ τοῦ MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 83 πασάνας εἰς τὰ χέρια τοῦ ἕνα ἀπὸ δαῦτα ἐκράτει MONTSEL., Evgena 894

πᾶσα ᾽νας | νὰ σὲ δὴ λακταρᾶ, πεθυμᾶ σε KONDAR., Paides 158

πασάνας ὅπου ἦτον ᾽κεῖ πικρῶς μοιρολογᾶται DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 311 πασάνας εἰς τὰ σπῖδια τοὺς Thrinus Kypr. 348 (for σπῖδια see I, 3.8.4.2) νὰ πάρη παένας τ᾽ ἄδελφομοίρι τοῦ (1638, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 128, 119.9–10)

Genitive

For the various forms of εἷς/ἕνας which combine with πάσα see 5.8.5.

τοῦ πᾶσα ἐνὸς STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 11.295 πάσα ἐνὸς ἀπὸ ἐσᾶς (1446, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 17, 98.4–5) καὶ ἴδωμεν πᾶσα ἐνὸς τὸν ἔπαινον καὶ φόγον Diig. tetr. 66 app. crit. (CA) καὶ πάσα ἐνὸς μου νόμιμου συγγενοῦ (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 148, 267.34) τῶς ἐγύρεψεν πάσα ἐνὸς τὰ ἄσπραν (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 820, 1103.12)

τοῦ πασανὸς SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 66

μα πασανὸς τα χεῖλη μου “μετὰ χαράς” θα λέσι CHORTATIS, Panor. I.288; οἱ γὰρ ν’ ἀρέσου πασανὸς ibid. II.309 νὰ διδουσιν πασανὸς (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 49.69) τούτ’ εἶναι γνῶσις πασανὸς ἀξίου στρατιώτη PALAMIDIS, Ist. Mich. Voev. 1073 ἡδιάταξε ἐξουσιαστικῶς τὸ ὅ,τι ἤθελε πασανὸς (1664, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 9, 65.11–12)

ὅ,τί ᾽βγαίνει τοῦ πᾶσα ᾽νὸς BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 546.20 πᾶσα ᾽νὸς λυπημένου εἶχα λέγει KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.39 πόσα πασαενοῦ μετέστη τὸ κέρδος (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 8, 18.2) πρόσωπα εὐμορφα ἀνθρώπινα πᾶσα ἐνοῦ τρεχομένου μὲ χρυσάφιν Diig. Alex. E 99.9 (Konstantinopulos) νὰ μανθάνης πᾶσα ἐνοῦ τὴν πολιτείαν τοῦ (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 238.202–3) πᾶσα ἐνοῦ (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 4, 5.1)

πᾶσα ἐνοῦ ἐργαστήρι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.14 τοῦ πασανοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.8

τοῦ πᾶσα ᾽νοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 81.9–10 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) τὸ θέλημα πασανοῦ Fior 82.16 πασανοῦ ἀνθρώπου (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 396.4) θέλει ἀνταποδώσει ὁ Θ(εὸς) τοῦ πασανοῦ κατὰ τὰ ἔργα τοῦ Pist. kekoim. 64 ἡκούσαμε τὸ πασανοῦ δίκαιον (1673, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 79, 47.2)

ὅ,τι πάγει πᾶς ἐνοῦς (1616, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968 : 2, 30.38)

καὶ νὰ δώσει τ᾽ ὅ,τι θέλει πᾶσα ᾽νοῦς (1664, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 3, 20.10–11) ἦδωκεν διὰ τὴν ψυχὴν τῆς τ᾽ ὅ,τι ἤθελε πᾶσα ᾽νοῦς (1664, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 9, 65.10)

A single instance of a one-word genitive plural form has been found: εἰς εἴδησιν πασανῶν ἀδελφῶν (1555–1567, Venice, LIATA 1976: 2, 106.53).

Accusative

The basic form is πάσα ἕνα(ν) or πασαένα(ν), but vowels in contact can be reduced, especially in verse texts, to become πασάνα(ν) or πασένα(ν), for which see the introduction to this section. More rarely, the stress falls on the first syllable, πάσαναν (cf. nom. πάσανεις). A form with addition of final /e/ can occur in texts from the Heptanese and possibly elsewhere (cf. εἶς and see I, 2.6.3 for details).¹²³ διὰ πασαένα SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 215 ἐπαρακάλεν τὸν πᾶσαν ἕναν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 95.3 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) ἀφήνω πᾶσα ἕνα νὰ λογιᾶση VASK. 93 ἀπρεπον ἓνα νὰ ἀγρικούμεν | πασανάν ὅ,τι ὁμιλεῖ ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 128.19–20 ἄδύνατο θέλει φανῇ ᾽ς πᾶσά ᾽να ποῦ γρικῆση KONDA., Paides 23 πασένα κακορίζικο ἀποῦ στραφεῖ καὶ δεῖ τα; CHORTATSI, Panor. I.344 (mss DL; πασανά ms A); νὰ προσκαλοῦ πάσ᾽ ἕνα id., Erof. Dedic. 17

καὶ προσκυνοῦ πάσ᾽ ἕνα ZINON Prol. 80; ἡ πολλὴ ταπεινώση ψηλώνει | πάσ᾽ ἕνα ibid. II.117–18

εἰς πάσαναν αὐθέντην ALOSIS 436 μάχομαι καὶ τὸν πάσαναν πειράζω CYPR. CANZ. 98.18 εἰς ἐ πᾶσα ἕνανε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 11, 36.24)

Feminine

F	General
Nom.	πάσα μιὰ/πασαμιά
Gen.	πάσα μιᾶς/πασαμιᾶς
Acc.	πάσα μιὰ(ν)/πασαμιὰ(ν)

Rather few examples of feminine forms have been found in the texts examined. They do not present any peculiarities.

Nominative

μπορεῖ ... πασαμιά CHORTATSI, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 4 νὰ μὴ γυρεύγει πάσα μιὰ γυναῖκα νὰ τὴ φύγει ΤΡΟΙΛΟΣ, Rodol. III.580 πάσα μία ἀπὸ δαῦτες (1661, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 225, 200.35)

ὅ,τι λογιᾶσει πάσα μιὰ ZINON Prol. 139

Genitive

καὶ δύο ποκάμισα πάσα μιᾶς (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 44.45) ἔδωσαν πάσα μιᾶς τὴν πάρτην τῆς (1674, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 20, 92.13)

Accusative

εἰς πᾶσα μίαν ἐπισκοπὴν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.24

¹²³ There is a rare acc. form πάσαν ἕνα(ν) (or πασανέναν) attested in one of the mss of Machairas's Chronicle and one of the witnesses of Erotokritos: καὶ ἔπαρακάλεν τὸν πᾶσαν ἕναν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 50.18–19 [τὸν [πα]σαν /ε/αν/ V 95.3 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari)], but τὸν πᾶσαν ἕναν O and τὸν πασαναν R; γλυκὺς μὲ πάσαν ἕνα KORNAROS, Erot. I.227 (the reading of the 1713 edition, whereas the London ms has καλὸς σε πασα ἕνα).

Neuter

N	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom./Acc.	πάσα ξνα/πασαένα	πάσα ξν ἰ πασένα	παένα
Gen.	πάσα ενός ἰ πασανοῦ

A form with residual ξν may be found in mixed-register texts, but the normal form is πάσα ξνα (which may be written as one word). Univerbation is clearer in the form πασένα, and in the genitive πασανοῦ. For the form παένα in a text from Ithaca cf. masculine nominative παένας above. In general, neuter forms of this pronoun are much less common than masculine ones.

Nominative/Accusative

πᾶσα ξν ἀλάγιον καὶ πᾶσα ξνα σκῆπτρον Achil. N 402 (better: ξν') πᾶσα ξνα πράμα (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 2, 18.17–18) πάσα ξνα φόρεμα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 137

καὶ τὰ ἐκοπάνισε πᾶσα ξνα (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.14) χίλιες πασένα ντωὺς χαρές δύνεται νὰ σου δοῦδει CHORTATZIS, Panor. I.160; σαν ορφανὸ δεν ἤθελεν εἶσται ἀπ' αὐτὰ πασένα; ibid. III.120

σὰ βλέπομε εἰς πᾶσ' ξνα TROILOS, Rodol. Dedic. 16

τ' ἀφήνουν καὶ γυρίζουνε πᾶσ' ξνα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 524.10

(στὰ τρία μου παιδιὰ ...) νὰ παίρνη παένα τὸ μερτικό του τ' ἀμπέλι (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 89, 93.33–4)

Genitive

νὰ δώση τὴν πρόβα πασανοῦ κομματίου τῆς ἀλτεραρίας (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.33)

πάσα ενός μου παιδίου (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 2, 5.14)

5.13.1.6 πασακ(ι)ανεῖς

The combination of πάσα and κανεῖς (“anyone”, “everyone”) has only been found in texts from the Heptanese (16th–18th c.) and, in the form πάσα κιανεῖς or πασακιανεῖς, in Cretan literary texts from the late 16th c. onwards. For the paradigm of κ(ι)ανεῖς see 5.8.9.

νὰ εἶμαι ἐγὼ ὀμπλιγάδος νὰ τὰ διαφεντεύω ἀπὸ πάσα κανεῖν (1539, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 54, 96.17)

τὸ δίκιο πᾶσα κανενὸς KATSAITIS, Thyest. Prol. 24

πάσα κιανεῖς γιὰ λόγου του ξεχωριστὰ κοπιώντας CHORTATZIS, Panor. Prol. theas 37; πάσα κιανεῖς ἀπ' ἀγαπᾷ id., Erof. III.111; κι' ὅσο μπορεῖ πᾶσα κιανεῖς στὸν πόλεμο νὰ ράσση id., Katz. II.30 καὶ ὅσο μπορεῖ ἀπὸ λόγου σου πασακιανεῖς νὰ λείπη FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.112 τὸ χαλασμὸ τῶν ἐκκλησιῶ πάσα κιανεῖς ἐγροῖκα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 547.2

5.13.1.7 παντοῖος

The quantifier παντοῖος, “of every kind”, declines like adjectives in -ος with feminine -α (3.2.2). It occurs frequently in notarial and other documents of the 15th to 17th c., from a variety of areas: Crete, Athens, the Peloponnese, the Cyclades, and especially the Heptanese. It is found only rarely in literary texts, mainly ones that employ a mixed register. Since it belongs mainly in formal contexts, it often has the older declensional endings, e.g. fem. acc. pl. -ας. Innovative forms are rare, but note the gen. pl. with shift of stress and deletion of final /n/ in a document from Kefalonia: τὸν παντιό του ἀγαθῶν / τῶν παντοιῶ του ἀγαθῶν (1664, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1974b: 1, 42.37). The following examples illustrate the word’s usage and distribution:

- ἀπὸ παντοίων φαύλων ὧν περ ἤθελον ἔλθεῖν πρὸς με ὀφλημάτων (1382, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 2, 89.4)
- ἀμὴ εἶχεν γνῶμην ἀγαθὴν καὶ παιδείουσιν παντοίαν Chron. Toc. 1127
- σὺν τῶν παντοίων ψυχικῶν καὶ δικαίων αὐτῆς (1437, Athens, BUCHON 1843: LXXI, 297.12)
- ἔχωσι παντοίαν ἄδειαν καὶ ἐλευθερίαν (1440, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 22, 226.6)
- μὲ τὰ παντοῖα αὐτῶν πράγματα (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 27, 62.21)
- ἄρματα παντοῖα LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 251
- ἦτον ἡ χώρα πλούσιος, γομάτη ἀγαθῶν παντοίων Pol. Tr. 2733 app. crit. (R)
- τὸ γέμοντα τὰς ἡδονὰς καὶ χάριτας παντοίας [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1721
- ἔχέτω ἄδειαν καὶ παντοίαν ἐξουσίαν (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 9, 16.26)
- εἰς τὰ παντοῖα του ὅλα (1534, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 6, κβ'.6)
- νὰ ἔχη παντοίαν ἐξουσία ὁ Ρωμανὸς καὶ οἱ κληρονόμοι του (1554, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 124, 240.7)
- εἰς ὑπόσχεσιν τῶν παντοίων τοὺς ἀγαθῶν (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 278, 162.20)
- τῶν ὁποίων δίδει παντοίαν ἄδειαν (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 20, 16.4)
- παντοίαν δύναμιν (1607, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 3, 5.6)
- ἔνα ἀμπέλι ... μὲ τὰ παντοῖα του δικαιώματα (1639, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 55, 142.10)
- εἰς τὰ παντοῖα του ἀγαθὰ (1643, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 361.4–5)
- εἰς παντοίαν αὐτοῦ ἐξουσίαν καὶ κυριότητα (1688, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 114, 66.11)

5.13.1.8 ἀμφότεροι

The pronoun ἀμφότεροι, “both (of two)” and by extension “all”, is a residual lexeme which is found in LMedG and EMG documents and more rarely in mixed-register literary texts. (For its rather frequent occurrence in The Chronicle of Morea see AERTS/HOKWERDA 2002, s.v.) It has only plural forms, which decline for gender and case like adjectives in -ος; occasional singular forms, e.g. ἀμφοτέρου τοὺς, should probably be seen as adverbial. (For the adverb ἀμφοτέρως see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.) A phonological development sometimes manifested in texts is the loss of the nasal /m/ before the fricative (see I, 3.6.2.2). Deletion of final /n/ in the gen. pl. occurs very rarely (see I, 3.7.2.2).

- τὰ ἀμφοτέρα ἀργυρὰ διάχρυσα (1142, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 7, 75.45)
- ἀν μὴ ἐγένονται οἱ ὑποσχέσεις ἀμφοτέρων εἰς οὐδένα κράτημαν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 231.161); ἀμφότεροι ἐλύσασιν τὸν γάμον ὡς δῆθε νὰ γένονται καὶ οἱ δύο μοναχοὶ (ibid. 232.206) ἀμφοτέροι εἰσῆλθουσιν Dig. G II.143 εἵπασι τινὰς λόγους ἀμφοτέροι (1360, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 236, 362.15) βουλὴ ἃς ἔχωμε ἀμφοτέροι Chron. Mor. H 2838; ἀμφοτέροι οἱ δύο ibid. 7117; κ' ἐνι τὸ πρᾶγμα ἐπὶκρίνον ἀμφοτέρων τῶν δύο ibid. 7892 ἔχετε ἀγάπην ἅπειρον ἀμφοτέροι εἰς τὸν κόσμον Dig. E 1752 οὕτως ἰσάσθησαν ἀμφοτέροι (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.15) ὅσαι ζημίαι ἐγένοντο καὶ εἰς τοὺς ἀμφοτέρους (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 2, 305.18) αὐτοκράτωρ ἀμφοτέρω<ν> τῶν ἡπείρ(ων) / αὐτοκράτωρ ἀμφοτέρω τῶν ἡπείρων (1489, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 19, 100.2) μετὰ δὲ τὴν ἀναθορήν τῶν ἀμφοτέρων παίδων Flor. L 156 τὰ ρηθέντα μέρη παρόντα σωματικῶς ὁμολόγησαν ὅτι ἐσυμφώνησαν ἀμφοτέρα (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 32, 27.3) ἐχαίρουντα ἀφοτέροι Achil. O 602 ἐκτίσθημαν ἀμφοτέρα, ὡς φαίνεται εἰς τὸ Γράμμα DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 149 καθομολογοῦν ὅλοι ἀμφοτέροι (1590, Crete, VOUDOUMBAKIS 1915: 2, 347.32) τὰ δύο μέρη ἐσυνηβάστηκαν ἀφοτέρους τοὺς (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 10, 35.4–5); ἐσυνηβάστηκαν ἀμφοτέρου τοὺς (ibid. 26, 47.18) (see above for this adverbial usage) ὁποῦ καὶ τὰ ἀμφοτέρα θεὸς διορθώσει μόνος VEST., Prolog. Theot. 368 γροικῶντας τὰ δικαιώματα τῶν ἀμφοτέρων (1665, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 2, 13.21) τῶν ἀμφοτέρων (1668, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 12, 27.16–17) ἰσιάζονται ἀμφοτέροι (1687, Chios, KAVVADAS 1976: B, f.15r.3)

5.13.2 Distributive Pronouns and Determiners

MedG and EMG distributive pronouns and determiners either continue earlier forms, mostly in higher style, or constitute morphological innovations. Inherited pronominal forms inflect as adjectives in -ος (ἐκαστος, καθέκαστος), while innovative forms follow the pattern of indefinite pronouns (καθεῖς, based on εἷς), or are uninflected (κάθε).

5.13.2.1 ἐκαστος

The distributive pronoun and determiner ἐκαστος “each” is inherited from AG. It is a feature of higher style, and appears in literary and non-literary texts without geographical restrictions, albeit infrequently. It inflects as a regular adjective in -ος (see 3.2.1), and has no plural. Because of its retreat from vernacular language and its subsequent semantic opacity, it commonly appears in conjunction with the indefinite pronouns or quantifiers εἷς, κάθε/καθεῖς and πᾶς. In the texts examined, such collocations appear as early as the 11th c., e.g. εἷς ἐκαστους ... ἂν θέλῃ καὶ βούληται (1061, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 8, 171.7) (with vowel raising, for which see I, 2.8.3); some are already attested since AG (LSJ, s.v. ἐκαστος, III). The frequent collocation of the preposition κατὰ with ἐκαστος, especially in the fem. acc. where the most common construction in vernacular texts is καθ' ἐκάστην (ἡμέραν), has led to lexicalization and substantivization, i.e. to the new pronoun καθέκαστος (see 5.13.2.2).

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	έκαστος	έκάστη	έκαστο(ν)
Gen.	έκάστου	έκάστης	έκάστου
Acc.	έκαστο(ν)	έκάστη(ν) † έκαστο(ν)	έκαστο(ν)

Masculine

Nominative

έκαστος ήμων ἄς ἀγωνιστοῦμεν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 316.18–19 νὰ μὲ ποιήσουν ἀπὸ μ' λειτουργιῶν ὁ καθένας έκαστος (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.56) καὶ έκαστος τῶν συγγενῶν τῶν ἐκεῖ εὐρεθέντων Dig. G IV.824 κατὰ τὸ μέτρον έκαστος καὶ τὴν ἰδίαν τέχνην Ptoch. II 76 ἐκεῖ ποῦ ἐχρεώσται ν' ἀπελθῇ έκαστος ἀπ' ἐκείνους Chron. Mor. H 7619 καὶ έκαστος λάβη ἀνταμοιβὴν ἐκ τοῦ ἰδίου ἔργου Dig. E 757 καὶ έκαστος, ὡς εἶχεν δύναμιν, ἐπορεύετο (1499, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 7, 51.5) οἰκεῖον πένθος έκαστος τὴν συμφορὰν ἡγοῦντον Achil. N 1833 πᾶσα εἷς καὶ έκαστος (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.1) καὶ ἔδιδον εἷς έκαστος τὸν ἕτερον ραβδέας Dig. A 1643 εἷς έκαστος ἐκδέχετο νὰ λάβωσι τὴν δόξαν Velis. N² 116 νὰ παραλάβῃ έκαστος τὸ μισταγώγημάν του DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2777 ἐπῆρεν εἷς έκαστος τὸ σακκούλι του ZYGOM., Stef. Ichn. 182.19 φοβώντας μὴπως ... ἀποτύχωμεν εἷς έκαστος (1585, Constantinople, PATRINELIS 1967/68: 28, 108.6) ξενεύγουν τὸ αὐτὸν πράγμα ὁ κάθε έκαστος (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 255, 217.16) ἵνα ἔχει έκαστος (1641, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 3, 308.12) θέλει ὑπογράψει καὶ έκαστος (1666, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 18, 89.22) καθὼς έκαστος ἐδύνοτου ΚΑΣΙΜΑΤΙΣ, Varl. & Ioas. 501.17

Genitive

τοῦ καθενὸς καὶ ἐκάστου Chron. Mor. H 1022 τοῦ καθενὸς ἐκάστου Pol. Tr. 852 ἐκάστου τὴν ἀπόκρισιν Liv. S 1262 (= α 2525) λεπτογραφεῖν λόγους ἐνὸς ἐκάστου Byz. Il. 127 ἐνὸς ἐκάστου τὸ ἐδικόν του (1520, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 58, 109.31) δίδει ἐνὸς ἐκάστου ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 403.21

Accusative

εἷς πᾶσα έκαστον (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 55.3) καὶ κρίνουν ἕναν έκαστον ποῖαν ἁμαρτίαν κάμνει BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 549 μὲ τὸν καθὲν καὶ έκαστον ἄνθρωπον (1503, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 277, 237.5–6) ἐκ τὸν καθὲν καὶ έκαστον ἄνθρωπον (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 38, 79.12) ἀπὸ πᾶσα καὶ έκαστον ἄνθρωπον (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 17, 30.8) ἀπὸ κάθε έκαστο ἄνθρωπο (1639, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 140, 125.9)

FeminineNominative

περὶ τῶν ἑπτὰ ἀγίων καὶ Οἰκουμενικῶν Συνόδων εἰς τίνος βασιλέως ἔγινε μιὰ ἐκάστη KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 406.18

Genitive

τῶν ἀδελφάδων μου, μιᾶς ἐκάστης (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 54, 102.31)

Accusative

ἐκεῖνοι νὰ χορταίνουσιν τὸν ὕπνον καθ' ἐκάστην Ptoch. IV 304 καὶ καθ' ἐκάστη ἐκδέχεται τὴν βασιλείαν σου, ἀφέντη Chron. Mor. H 4649 τόσα δὲ νομίσματα ἀφ' ἐκάστην γενεὰ λαβεῖν θέλεις (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 12, 22.8) καὶ καθ' ἐκάστην λέγουσιν ὀμπρὸς στὸν βασιλέα Velis. χ 32 καθ' ἐκάστην Pol. Tr. 1900 app. crit. (A) ἔχαιρον καθ' ἐκάστην Dig. A 1567; καθ' ἑκαστον ἡμέραν ibid. 2424 καθ' ἐκάστην τὴν ἡμέραν Ptochol. α 424 καθ' ἐκάστην ἡμέραν MACHARAS, Chron. V 302.21

NeuterNominative/Accusative

κατὰ ἓν ἑκαστον κεφάλαιον ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 310.14 εἰς ἓνα ἑκαστον ὁροθέσιον τῶν περιόρων τούτων (1300, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1994: 69, 146.20) καὶ εἰς ἓνα ἑκαστον κλαδὶν νὰ τρέχῃ Liv. S 1362 καὶ πάσαν ἑκαστον ἔτος (1505, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 214, 159.13) ἑκαστον τότ' ἐβόα ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua V.110 ἓν ἑκαστον πόσον καὶ ποταπὸν ἓναι ΣΟΦΙΑΝΟΣ, Paidag. 115.7 διὰ ποῖαν αἰτίαν ἑκαστον διηγεῖται ΖΥΓΟΜ., Stef. Ichn. 182.8
ποῖον ζῶδιον ἔχει τὴν χάριν, ἑκαστον ἐν τῷ καιρῷ αὐτοῦ (16th–17th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1924: 9, 66.5)

Genitive

ἀφ' ἐκάστου εἵδους (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 14, 22.5) ἐνὸς ἐκάστου ἔπαινον καὶ καθενὸς τὸν ψόγον Diig. tetr. 101 ἔδιδε μοῖραν ἐνὸς ἐκάστου ἀπ' αὐτῶν CHEILAS, Chron. 348.10 εἰς τὴν ἐφημερευομένην ἐκκλησίαν ἐκάστου χωρίου (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 168.5)

5.13.2.2 καθέκαστος

The distributive pronoun and determiner καθέκαστος “each” is a MedG innovation, which derives from the univerbation of the preposition κατὰ and the distributive pronoun ἑκαστος (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.). It is attested since the EMedG period (LAMPE, Lex. s.v.; LBG s.v.), e.g. ἵνα τὸ καθ' ἑκαστον τάγμα εὐκόλως ἐπιγινώσκη τὸ ἴδιον βάνδον Leo, Tactica 6.16.3. In the texts investigated, the earliest examples come from the 13th c. For the forms with prothetic /o/ see the discussion in 5.8.12. Καθέκαστος inflects, like ἑκαστος, as a regular adjective in -ος (see 3.2.1), with shift of stress to the penultimate in the gen. sg. and in the fem. in accordance with AG rules; it has no plural. Due to its etymology, it is usually difficult to distinguish it from the simple pronoun ἑκαστος preceded by the preposition κατά; sometimes the matter is purely an editorial choice of word division. It frequently appears substantivized or, in the feminine accusative, as an adverb, e.g. συχνά και καθεκάστην Chron. Toc. 2007.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	καθέκαστος	καθεκάστη	καθέκαστο(ν)
Gen.	(καθεκάστου)	καθεκάστης	(καθεκάστου)
Acc.	καθέκαστο(ν)	καθεκάστη(ν) † καθεκάστη(ν)	καθέκαστο(ν) διά να μάθει καθέκαστος KONDARIS, Istor. palaiai 409.4

τὸν καθέκαστον χρόνον (app. crit.) (1440, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 22, 226.2) να δουλεύω εἰς τὸν Τίμιον Πρόδρομον καθέκαστον χρόνον κριθάριν ἕνα ψωμιὰρὶ (15th c., Pontos, ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015: 3, 8.4) ἵνα πέμψωμεν εἰς καθέκαστον χρόνον (1489, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 19, 100.13) και διδει τον καθέκαστον ὅσον του χορτασθῆναι Diig. Apoll. 127 πληρώνοντα καθέκαστον χρόνον πάκτος (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 17, 59.12) νὰ διδης τὸν καθέκαστον χρόνον ἕνα νεράτζι (1591, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 8, 37.4) τὸν καθέκαστον χρόνον (1611, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 125, 121.7)

οἱ ψυχές, καθεκάστη ἀπ' ἐκεῖνες DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2961 καθεκάστης ὀργίας (1546, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 17, 53.10) τὴν καθεκάστην Τρίτην (1328, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 2, 14.2) τὴν καθέκαστην ἑβδομάδα (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 10, 47.10) καθεκάστην ὥραν Theseid VI.32,7 (Olsen) καθεκάστην ἐπήγαιεν εἰς τὸν τάφον του Vios Aisop. E 294.10 γρικώντας και διαβάζοντας οκαθεκάστην ὥραν Theseid VI.5,7 (Olsen) στέκεται καὶ καθ' ἕκαστον ζῶδιον (1684–85, Moscow, ŠANGIN 1936: 3, 127.19)

5.13.2.3 καθεῖς

The distributive pronoun καθεῖς “each, each one, everyone” is an innovation, deriving from the univerbation of the AG prepositional phrase κατά + ἕνα, a common syntagm with distributive meaning, formed by the preposition κατά and the accusative of the numeral εἷς. The form καθ' instead of κατά is due to the original aspiration of the following vowel (see I, 3.8.4.5). The collocation καθ' εἷς/καθ' ἕνα is attested already in the Koine, e.g. ὁ καθεῖς δὲ τῶν φίλων Macch. III.5.34 and ἐξήρχοντο εἷς καθ' εἷς Ev. Jo. 8.9 (KORAI 1828/35: IV 193; MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 568; PERNOT 1907/46: II 244; PSALTES 1913: 192; CHATZIDAKIS 1915: 463). Another indication of the early dating of the univerbated pronoun is the fact that the construction κατά + numeral “one” also gave rise to the Vulgar Latin loan pronoun cata unum* > cadunum, which lies behind the modern Romance distributive pronouns Fr. chacun, Ital. caduno, Sp. cada uno (MEYER 1889: 151; FEW II 482^b).

The pronoun καθεῖς exhibits a multiplicity of variant forms. The variant καθένας follows the regular evolution of the pronoun εἷς > ἐνας and inflects accordingly (see 5.8.5). The variant καθενεῖς results from stem levelling on the basis of the accusative καθένα, or can be seen as a reanalysis from κάθε and the innovative form ἐνεῖς of the indefinite pronoun/numeral εἷς (5.8.5; cf. also the corresponding form κανενεῖς of the pronoun κανεῖς/κανένας). The variant καθές, which appears exclusively in the Cypriot Assizes, is probably an artificial form on the analogy of the learned neuter variant καθέν.¹²⁴ For the prothesis of the vowel /o/ in ὁκαθεῖς/ὁκαθένας see the discussion in 5.8.12. The variants κάθε εἷς, κάθα εἷς are secondary de-univerbations or reanalyses on the basis of the pronoun κάθε/κάθα. The variants κάτα εἷς, κάτε εἷς owe their /t/ to the etymological influence of the preposition κατά. The feminine καθεμία, instead of the expected καταμία* results from stem levelling on the basis of the masc. acc. and the neut. καθένα (JANNARIS 1897: §665; PERNOT 1907/46: II 245). The variant καθημία, which is attested only twice, in the Assizes (ms B), is a dubious form, which could be attributed to the analogy of the frequent adverb καθημέραν and adjective καθημερινός (cf. CHATZIOANNOU 2000, s.v. κάθη). The variant καθακαμία is a conflation of καθεμία and καμιά. For the inflection of καθεῖς/καθένας see 5.8.9 (κανεῖς).

The apparently neuter uninflected forms τὸν καθέν, τὴν καθέν e.g. τὸν καθέν χρόνον; τὴν καθέν ἡμέραν Pol. Tr. 6359 app. crit. (B), are best viewed as variants of the pronoun κάθε with retention of final /n/ and original stress. However, it must be noted that these forms are understood as accusative, as they very rarely, if ever, modify nouns in another case.

Kriaras (KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.) adds another complex form to the paradigm of καθεῖς: the Cretan variant καθακιανεῖς, which first appears in the 17th c., and derives from the conflation of the uninflected pronoun κάθε and the indefinite pronoun κιανεῖς (see 5.8.9). The only attested forms involve the typically Cretan variants κάθα for κάθε and κιανεῖς for κανεῖς, e.g. ἀπὸ κάθα κιανένα ὅπου ἤθελεν εὐρεθεῖ (1609, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 567, 503.15); χάρη ὅπου νὰ ἔκαμεν κάθα κιανενός (1610, ibid. 651, 568.6–7); εὐκαριστῶ καθακιαμιᾶς σ' ἐκεῖνα ἀποῦ μοῦ τάσσει FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. II 135. O. However, since one may find constructions where a word intervenes between the two members of the combination, it is doubtful whether it achieved fully lexicalized status: καὶ ἀπὸ κάθα ἄλλο κιανένα (1644, Crete, VINCENT 1967: 3, 64.24).

Καθεῖς is used both as a pronoun and as a determiner:

νὰ ἔναι καὶ διαμένῃ ὁ καθεῖς εἰς τὸ μερίδιον αὐτοῦ (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 230, 164.29) ἐκεῖνοι ἐθάρρουν πῶς νικοῦν καθέννας χιλιάδας Dig. A 3132

ἡ καθεμία βρύσις Liv. V 3723

τοῦ καθενὸς χριστιανοῦ MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 106

¹²⁴ Pernot's suggestion (1907/46: II 249) that καθές is a result of contraction is phonetically impossible.

Singular
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	καθεῖς ἰ καθενεῖς ἰ καθανεῖς ἰ καθένας ἰ καθές ἰ (όκαθεῖς) ἰ κάθε εἷς ἰ κάθα εἷς ἰ κάτα εἷς ἰ κάτε εἷς ἰ κάθε ἕνας ἰ κάθα ἕνας	καθεμία ἰ καθεμιά ἰ καθαμία ἰ κάθα μία ἰ καθαμιά ἰ καθημία	καθέν ἰ καθένα(ν) ἰ καθάνα ἰ κάθε ἕνα ἰ κάθα ἕνα ἰ κάθα ἕν
Gen.	καθενός ἰ καθένος ἰ καθενοῦ ἰ καθένα ἰ όκαθενός ἰ καθενοῦς ? ἰ κάθε ἑνός ἰ καθανοῦς ἰ καθανοῦ	καθεμίας ἰ καθεμιᾶς ἰ καθαμιᾶς ἰ όκαθεμιᾶς ἰ καθημιᾶς ἰ καθεμιανῆς ἰ καθακιαμιᾶς	καθενός ἰ καθενοῦ ἰ κάθα ἑνός ἰ καθανός ἰ καθέν
Acc.	καθένα(ν) ἰ καθεῖ ἰ κάθαναν/καθάναν ἰ κάθε ἕνα(ν) ἰ κάθα ἕνα(ν) ἰ (καθέν)	καθεμία(ν) ἰ καθεμιά(ν) ἰ (καθέν)	καθέν ἰ καθένα(ν) ἰ καθάνα ἰ κάθε ἕνα ἰ κάθα ἕνα ἰ κάθα ἕν

Masculine

Nominative

General	Restricted	Rare
καθεῖς ἰ καθένας ἰ κάθε εἷς ἰ κάθα εἷς ἰ κάθε ἕνας ἰ κάθα ἕνας	καθενεῖς ἰ καθανεῖς	καθές ἰ κάτε εἷς ἰ κάτα εἷς

Καθεῖς is the oldest and etymologically original form; it appears without chronological or geographical restrictions, but can also be considered as a higher-register variant. Καθένας appears from the 13th c. onwards, again without geographical restrictions. The form καθές is exclusive to the Assizes. The reanalysed de-univerbated forms κάθε εἷς/κάθα εἷς obviously appear only after the development of κάθε, i.e. from the 15th c. onwards. Κάτε εἷς/κάτα εἷς appears very rarely. The form καθενεῖς/καθανεῖς is attested since the 17th c., mostly in texts from Crete.

- καμελαύκιν δὲ χρὴ ἔχειν ὁ καθεῖς, ἕνα πανὶν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 106.20 ἵνα μοῦ δουλεύῃ ὁ καθεῖς κατὰ τὴν ἰδίαν αὐτοῦ δύναμιν (1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 534.10); οἵτινες κατωτέρω ὁ καθεῖς ἐγράφησαν (1185, ibid. App. 6, 660.23) ὅπερ ὁ καθεῖς ... γινώσκει (1188, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 225, 299.36) ὁ καθεῖς ἀδελφός (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.604–5) ὁ καθεῖς τὸν ἴδιον Παῦλον κλαίγει Paroim. H 25 ὅπου μέλλουν νὰ ὀρκεσθοῦν μὲ ὀλίγον ὁ καθ' εἷς (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.2) ὁ καθεῖς Pol. Tr. 1546 app. crit. (X) νὰ γυρεύῃ ὁ καθεῖς τὰ ἑαυτοῦ δικαίωματα (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 7, 45.18) τὸ ὅσον ἔβαλεν ὁ καθεῖς (1503, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 275, 235.8) ὁ καθεῖς ὡς ἔπραξεν νὰ πάθῃ Def. Par. 92 εἶχεν καθεῖς τὸ ταίριν BERGADIS, Apok. A 368

- ἴτις ὁκ' ἔδειχνε καθεὶς ἐκεῖνα τὰ ὀδηγᾶτον FALIEROS, Thrinós 8 ὅρισε ὁ καθεὶς τί νὰ πληρώνη Diig. Alex. K 289.19 καθεὶς ἔβαλε νὰ παίζει KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VII.190 διὰ μερτικό του καθεὶς τοῦ νὰ τὰ ἔχη (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 113.19–20) ἔλαβεν ὁ καθεὶς τὸν σερμεγέ του (1690, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-Papastathi 1974: 13, 8.4)
- ὁ καθέννας ἐκείνοις ἀρκῆται, οἷς δεδικαίωται (1142 [13th. c. copy], Serres?, LEFORT et al. 1994: 55b, 69) νὰ μὲ ποιήσουν ἀπὸ μ' λειτουργιῶν ὁ καθέννας ἕκαστος (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.56) οἱ καβαλλάροι ὅπου κρατοῦν πρὸς ἕνα φῖε ὁ καθέννας Chron. Mor. H 1986 ἐκοιμόνταν καθέννας εἰς τὸν τόπον ὅπου ἔλαχεν PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 106.8 θέλουν ὑπογράψει ... καθέννας τὸ ὄνομά του (1609, Cyprus, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 20, 267.4–5) ἤμπορεῖ νὰ βεβαιωθῇ καθέννας (1621, Kefalonia, PAPADOPOULOS 1998/2000: 1, 66.25) [καθαεῖς, πασαεῖς, πασανεῖς] si dice anco nel nominatiuo, καθέννας GERMANO, Grammar 73.23 νὰ εἶναι καθέννας ποδάρια τρία βαθύς LANDOS, Geopon. 156.6 καθέννας ἀπὸ λόγου σας FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 134 διαμένουν εὐχαριστημένοι ὁ καθέννας τους (1663, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 5, 35.16) καθέννας βλέποντας KONDAR., Paides 805 ἄς ἔχη καθέννας τὸ μερτικό του (1687, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 92, 53.8) νὰ λαμβάνη καὶ ὁ καθέννας (1687, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-Papastathi 1974: 4, 3.15) νὰ μὴ σηκώνεται καθέννας νὰ χαλᾷ τὲς συνήθειες (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 302.8) ἔσερνε περισσοὺς ἀνθρώπους ὁ καθέννας εἰς τὴν συντροφίαν SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 35.21
- ἐντέχεται ὁ καθὲς νὰ ἔχη τὸ μερτικόν του Assizes B 296.26; ὁ καθὲς ibid. 373.18; ὁ καθὲς τὸ μερτικόν του ibid. 381.14 νὰ ποῦν ὁ καθὲς τὸ δίκαιόν του Assizes A 109.17; ὁ καθὲς ἠμπορεῖ νὰ δώσῃ ibid. 154.28; ἄς βλέπεται ὁ καθὲς ibid. 159.31–160.1
- κάθε εἷς ἀπὲ (ἀπὸ V) σᾶς κεφαλαικεύει θέλει Pol. Tr. 1546 app. crit. (BV) εἰμὴ τὰ ἔργα τὰ ἔπραξεν ὁ καθεὶς ἀπὸς του Peri xen. 508 ὁ καθεὶς νὰ πολεμᾷ Chron. Toc. 604 ὁ κάθε εἷς μὲ τὸν λαὸν ὅπου εἶχε Theseid I.18,5 (Follieri) ὁ κάθε εἷς ἐσπούδαζεν νὰ σώσῃ τὸν ἑαυτὸν του Chron. Mor. P 4824 ὁ κάθε εἷς ἐκάθισεν Byz. Il. 49 ὁ κάθε εἷς ἐκ τούτων σπανοὺς νὰ φεύγῃ Spanos D 1812 κοντύλιν ἐκράτει ὁ καθεὶς BERGADIS, Apok. V 474 ὁ καθεὶς ἀνθρώπος Lapid. 186.1
 ὁ κάθε εἷς ἀπ' αὐτοὺς (1547, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 190, 121.5) ἐπῆρεν ὁ κάθε εἷς θρονία δύο (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 230, 164.25) σκοτώθην κάθε εἷς ὅπουτον παλληκάρι ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1947 καθεὶς ἐπιθυμῇ λόγον νὰ τοῦ ἀρπάξῃ ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Rim. Mich. 32 ὁ κάθε εἷς εἰς τὸ ἐδικόν του (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 314, 264.14) ἀνάδεδυσαν ὁ κάθε εἷς τὸ πινάκι του Vios Aisop. K 166.21 τούτῃ τὴν ὥρα κάθε εἷς γλυκώτατα κοιμᾶται CHORTATZIS, Katz. I.23 ἐπῆρε ὁ κάθε εἷς τὸ μερτικό του (1615, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 2, 303.14) διὰ νὰ εἶναι κάθε εἷς συνδεμένος MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 314.30

- δουλεύοντες καὶ κοινομώντες ὁ κάθε εἷς τὴν πάρτη του (1673, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 72, 43.7)
- δύο γρόσια γιὰ ψοῦνος του ὁ κάθε εἷς τως (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 236, 421.10)
- ὁ,τι εἶχε κάθε εἷς (1690, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 13, 8.3)
- ὡς πράττει ὁ ὁ κάθε εἷς οὕτως θέλει ἀπολάβει Chron. Mor. H 1262
- εἰσοδιάζονται κάτα εἷς εἷς τὴν μονὴν καρπὸν (1334, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 43, 133.14)
- ὁ κατὰ εἷς διὰ λόγου του Chron. Mor. H 1395
- ὁ κατὰ εἷς ἐσπουδάξεν νὰ σώσῃ τὸν ἐνιαυτὸν του Chron. Mor. H 4824
- νὰ εὖρης καθὰ εἷς τὸ τί ἐπῆρεν (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 39, 34.2)
- ᾧς πάρη καθαιεῖς STAFIDAS, Iatrosaf. 10.268
- ὁ καθαιεῖς LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 671
- νὰ δοκιμάσῃ τὸ ἄλογό του καθαιεῖς Alex. Rim. 332
- ἐπῆρεν ὁ κάθα εἷς τῶνε κραστοπίθαρα (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 853, 744.10)
- νὰ τὰ πλερώνουσι οἱ ἄνωθέ μου κομισάριοι κάθα εἷς τὰ μισὰ (1616, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 2, 223.206)
- καθαίς, πασαις, πασανεῖς, ogn'uno GERMANO, Grammar 73.15
- ὁ καθαιεῖς FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 39
- νὰ παίρνῃ κάθα εἷς (1666, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 14, 79.24)
- ὁ κάθα εἷς (1667, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [7], 25.17)
- κάθα εἷς Fallidos 5
- νὰ εἶναι κάθα εἷς χώρια τῶν (1685, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 412.20–1)
- καὶ ξέρετε, ὁ κάθα εἷς, τὴν κάνει ὡσὰν μπορέσῃ Prol. Epain. Kef. 94
- νὰ σηκώνεται κάθε ἕνας (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 51.64–5);
- ὁ κάθε ἕνας τῶνε (1589, ibid. 341, 285.9)
- νὰ πουλήσῃ ὅσα θέλει κάθε ἕνας Chron. Tourk. Soult. 106.37
- βάνει ὁ κάθε ἕνας τως ρεάλια διακόσα (1669, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 1, 576.6)
- νὰ πλερωθοῦν τὰ χρέη τοῦ χρεωστῆ κάθε ἕνας (1696, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [42], 58.18)
- τυχαίνει κάθα ἕνας νὰ τὸ λογιάζῃ (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 37.4–5)
- κάθα ἕνας ᾧς μ' ἀκούσῃ Fallidos 2
- καὶ τ' ὄνομά του καθενεῖς ᾧς ξεῦρ', ὄντας σᾶς πάγω KONDAR., Paidēs 300
- καὶ καθενεῖς τοῦ Κρητικοῦ νίκος ἐπαρεκάλει KORNAROS, Erot. II.1188 app. crit. (X)
- καὶ ὁ καθενεῖς τοῦ πορπατεῖ γνωρίζει Diig. Vefa 991
- καὶ καθανεῖς τοῦ Κρητικοῦ νίκος ἐπαρεκάλει KORNAROS, Erot. II.1188
- νὰ ὑπομένῃ καθανεῖς ἐκεῖν' ὅπου τὸν μέλλει Diig. Vefa 553
- καὶ νὰ τρομάξῃ καθανεῖς δῖχως ἡματοχυσία Trag. Ag. Dim. IV.45

Genitive

General	Restricted	Rare
καθενός καθενοῦ	καθενοῦς καθανός καθανοῦς κάθε ενός	ὁκαθενός καθένα καθένος

The form καθενός is the oldest form, and appears throughout the LMedG and EMG period without geographical restrictions. It should not be considered a higher-register variant, as it continues to be the regular genitive singular in SMG and many MG dialects. Καθινός is the same form, with “northern” vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4). For the form καθενοῦ, which appears first in the 15th c., again without geographical restrictions, cf. the gen. sg. ἐνοῦ of the pronoun/numeral εἷς/ένας (5.8.5). The variant καθένα follows the inflectional pattern of the nouns in -ας (e.g. μήνας; see 2.2.2), and is attested in certain 16th- and 17th-c. verse texts, albeit very rarely. The forms καθανός, καθανοῦ are either the result of progressive assimilation from καθενός–καθενοῦ (TRIANDAPHYLIDIS 1909: 14), or, more likely, are influenced by the variant κάθα of the pronoun κάθε, itself a result of analogy (see 5.13.2.4). They are attested since the 16th c., mostly in texts from Crete. The variant κάθανους, if not a scribal misplacement of the accent, probably testifies to a de-univerbated form κάθα ’νοῦς. For the form καθενοῦς/καθενούς see 5.8.5. The variant καθένος displays stress retraction probably artificially for metrical needs; if not, it could be viewed as an analogical tendency for columnar stress, on the basis of the nom. καθένας and the acc. καθένα. The variant κάθε ἐνός may be a purely orthographic choice, which appears relatively rarely.

- τοῦ καθενός (1198, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 146, 334.13) τοῦ καθενός ἀψαμένου τῆς ἀγίας βίβλου (1328, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 2, 11.13) τοῦ καθενός τὴν πρᾶξιν Chron. Mor. H 1425 τοῦ καθενός τὰς ἀπειλὰς Liv. V 228 πῶς πορεύεται τοῦ καθενός τὸ ἐταίριν BERGADIS, Apok. A 170 ὅ,τι ἤθελεν τοκάρειν τοῦ καθενός (1528, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 72, 99.11) κατὰ τὴν τάξιν καθενός δίδε δουλειάν FALIEROS, Log. did. 199 τοῦ καθενός τὴν πληρωμὴν δίδει του σὰν τοῦ πρέπει GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 372 τὸ δίκαιον καθενός Velis. ρ 428 τοῦ καθενός τὴν γνώμη Alex. Rim. 2664 σὰν πρέπει γὰρ τῶν ἀφεντῶν καὶ καθενός μεγάλου Imb. Rim. 274 διὰ τὰ δώση τοῦ καθενός VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 206 τοῦ καθενός μαχαλᾶ (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 447.21) τοῦ καθενός παρήκοου (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 167.16) καθενός τὴν πίστιν PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 112.8 τοῦ καθενός χριστιανοῦ MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 106 ἔδωσεν τοῦ καθενός (1690, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 11, 7.8) παίρνει καὶ δίδει οκαθενός Theseid VI.1.4 (Olsen) ἐπαρέθηκεν οκαθενός γλῶσσαν ὀπτὴν Vios Aisop. K 172.18 app. crit. (A) ἀποῦ διακόσια δέκα καθινός (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 56.9)
 ’ς τοῦ καθενοῦ τὴν θύραν Spaneas Z 467 πόσα ἔρχεται τοῦ καθενοῦ τὸ κέρδος (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 7, 18.2) τοῦ καθενοῦ ἀνθρώπου Assizes B 273.3 του καθενοῦ μηνός Diig. Alex. K 375.23 μπαρμποῦτες ὅμοιες τοῦ καθενοῦ Diig. Alex. E 207.27 (Lolos) τὸ μερτικό καθενοῦ (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 277, 381.4) του καθενοῦ το μερτικόν ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 37.8
 ὡς ἔπρεπε τοῦ καθενοῦ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 74.3

- στοὺς πάντες ἐδιαμοίρασε, ὥς πρέπει τοῦ καθένα Theseid II.83,6 (1529) αὐτὸς ὁ στρατηγὸς ἔδειξε τοῦ καθένα Alex. Rim. 1631 πῶς ἔπεςες, πῶς ἔκλινες εἰς χεῖρας τοῦ καθένα ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 2400
- πῶς ἐπερίσψασιν ἀπὸ τὸ ἀρκετόν τους τοῦ καθανοῦ (1667, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [7], 25.8)
- ὁ,τι παρτινίρει κάθε ἐνὸς (1482 [later copy], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 109, 219.26) τοῦ κάθε ἐνὸς τὸ μήναν του (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 72, 56.11)
- νὰ ἔναι καθανὸς τὸ μισὸ (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 31, 31.50) τοῦ καθανὸς ἀνθρώπου Velis. ρ 424 app. crit. (P) νὰ σᾶς σώνου καθανὸς σας (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 147.7) νὰ μοῦ ἀρέση ἐμένα [καὶ] κάθανὸς (1575, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 1, 17.10) τοῦ καθανὸς ἐδίδασι κομμάτι μὲ τὸ ψάρι P&N Diath. 2604 τόση βοήθεια καθανὸς νὰ δώσει CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.253 κατέχει καθανὸς καρδιά Thysia Avr. 960 τοκάρει καθανὸς τῶνε ἀγαστέρες ἰβ' (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 794, 689.5) ἀφήνω καὶ τῶν ἄνωθε μαρτύρω τοῦ καθανὸς ἔξι δουκάτα (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 40.98)
- δοσμένον ἔναι καθανὸς ἀθρώπου ἀπ᾽χει γνώση FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.1
 νὰ γροικοῦ τοῦ καθανὸς μαντάτο BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 469.6
 νὰ κρίνη ζῶντας καὶ νεκροὺς καὶ κάθάνος νὰ δώση PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1083
- τὰ μουζούρια δέκα τοῦ κάθανους (1590, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 2, 347.23) καθανους τος περπυρα χιλιάδες τρης / καθανοὺς τως πέρπυρα χιλιάδες τρεῖς (1616, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 2, 222.160)
- ποὺ δίδει τοῦ καθένος Theseid V.98,7 (1529) τὰ ἄλογα ἐκεῖνα τοῦ καθένος Alex. Rim. 349 νὰ καταλάβης τὰς ὥρας τοῦ καθένος πλανήτου (16th–17th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1924: 9, 68.15)

Accusative

General	Restricted	Rare
καθένα(ν) † καθέν	κάθε ἔνα(ν) † κάθα ἔνα(ν)	καθεῖ(ν) † κάθαναν/καθάναν

The regular form is καθένα(ν), throughout the period under investigation, without geographical restriction. The forms κάθε ἔνα(ν) and κάθα ἔνα(ν) are infrequent de-univerbations. The form καθεῖ(ν) is analogically formed on the basis of the nom. sg. καθεῖς and corresponds with κανεῖν (see 5.8.9). For the variant κάθαναν/καθάναν, based on the form κάθα, a single occurrence has been found: τὸν κάθαναν Cypr. Canz. 17.9, but τὸν καθάναν (Legrand). The position of the accent is a matter of editorial choice, as there are no accents in the manuscript.

- τὸν καθένα χρόνον (1227–50, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 20, 157.14) τὸν ἄνδρα τὸν καθένα Spaneas B 480 καὶ τὸν καθ' ἕνα ἄνθρωπον εἶχε μηχανογραμμένον Log. parig. L 515 ὥς πρέπει τὸν καθένα Chron. Toc. 1587 καθένα πρὸς τὴν τάξιν του ὥς πρέπει να τιμήσω GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 114 καὶ ἄλογα ηὐρίσκομεν σὲ τόπον τὸν καθένα Alex. Rim. 907 ἔδωκεν καὶ τὸν καθένα ἔξοδον [VLASTOS], Dig. P 325.13

κ' ἐκόμπωνε καθένα KORNAROS, Erot. V.410

καὶ τὸν καθέναν ἔστειλα εἰς ἓνα μονοπάτιν Liv. V 2359 ἐκεῖ διαμοιράζει τους, καθέναν εἰς τὴν τάξιν Peri xen. 488 καὶ τὸν καθέναν ἥρπαξεν μὲ πόθον BERGADIS, Apok. A 381

καὶ τὸν καθέναν ἔζωσε χρυσὸν σπαθὶν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 343 ὁμολόγησεν τὸ πῶς ἐγίνη ἀπὸ τῆς ἀρχῆς ὅλον καθέναν λόγον Diig. Alex. V 30.22 καθέναν ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1394 τὸν καθεὶ χρόνον (1548, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1992: 15.13) ἄκουε κάθε ἓνα κανόνα DAM. STOUD., Dial. 97.35 ἀφήνω κάθε ἓνα νὰ τὸ ἰδῇ ἄτός του RODINOS, Vios Ign. 64.26

εἰς κάθε ἓναν (1630, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 14, 58.19) ἀνεμπόδιστοι ἀπὸ κάθε ἓνα Diath. Nikon Metan. 125–6 κάθε ἓνα ἐνάντιο (1658, Andros, POLEMIS 2001: 60, 180.17) ἤτρεχεν εἰς κάθε ἓνα ὁποῦ εἶχε χρεῖα (1697, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 48, 143.11) καθαέναν λόγον της Liv. V 2878

τὸν κάθα ἓνα χρόνον (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 12, 47.11)

νὰ τοὺς ἐμαντινιέρουν εἰσὲ κάθα κρίση καὶ εἰσὲ κάθα ἓνα ποὺ νὰ τῶς δώσουν πείραξη (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 75.21–2) σε καθαένα πλερωμὴ δίδω CHORTASIS, Panor. V.63 κάθα ἓναν πτωχὸν (1608, Venice, MANOUSAKAS 1969: 10, 28.12) κ' ἐγέλα κάθα ἓνα KORNAROS, Erot. V.410 app. crit. (A)

Feminine

Nominative

General	Restricted	Rare
καθεμία ἰ καθεμιά	καθαμία ἰ κάθα μία	καθημία

The normal form throughout the period is καθεμία/καθεμιά. The variation in stress position, i.e. the realization or not of synizesis, is hard to investigate, due to the conservatism of scribes and the orthographic conventions of modern editors. The form καθαμία, as in the case of καθανός above, can either be viewed as resulting from progressive assimilation or from influence of the pronoun κάθε > κάθα. The distinction between κάθα μία and καθαμία is purely graphematic. The form καθημία, appearing only in the Assizes, may derive from the analogy of καθ' ἡμέρα (cf. CHATZIOIOANNOU 2000 s.v. κάθη). The nominative form κάθεν μία, e.g. ἔβγαινεν κάθεν μία καλὴ γυναῖκα (1687, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 674, 921.7), is simply an instance of irrational addition of final /n/, which is very common in the specific textual source (see I, 3.7.2.1).

χώρια τους καθεμία φυλὴ Chron. Mor. H 7029 εἶχεν ἡ πόρτα καθεμιά φύλαξιν Pol. Tr. 1298 (X); εἶχεν ἡ πόρτα ἡ καθεμία φύλαξιν ibid. 1298

(A)

ή καθεμία ἀπατή της Theseid I.30,3 (Follieri) τρεῖς ἀδελφάδες ... κ' ἡ καθεμία παιδία | νὰ ἔχη LIMEN., Than. Rod. 190 (Lendari) (Wagner: νὰ ἔχη) νὰ ἔβανε ἡ καθεμία ὡς μέτρα γὰρ πενήντα Alex. Rim. 2035 ἡ Fem. N. πασαμία, καθεμία, οὐκ ἔχοντα GERMANO, Grammar 73.21 ὑπῆγεν ἡ κάθε μία εἰς τὸν τόπον της [VLASTOS], Dig. P 317.4 νὰ πάρουν καὶ ἡ Εὐγένα καὶ ἡ Βενετίτσα στὸ μερικὸ τοὺς κάθε μία (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 138.20–1) ὅτε ἐφαίνετο καθεμία νὰ εἶναι ἐπιτηδεῖα PORFYROP., Prokop. paraphr. 491.23 ἡ καθαμία τάξις συγγενείας (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.600) ἡ κάθε μία (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 149, 269.15) κάθε μὴ μὲ τ' ὄνομα P&N Diath. 704 καὶ καθαμία τοῦ χάρισε τὴν ἐδική τζη χάρη CHORTATSI, Panor. Dedic. 21 ἤλαβεν κάθε μία τὸ μερίδιόν της (1679, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 20, 99: 11)

Genitive

General	Restricted	Rare
καθεμίας ἰ καθεμιᾶς	καθαμιᾶς ἰ καθακιαμιᾶς	ὀκαθεμιᾶς ἰ καθημιᾶς ἰ κάθε μιανῆς/καθεμιανῆς

The regular form throughout the LMedG and EMG period is καθεμίας/καθεμιᾶς. The variation in accent position, as mentioned above, is not a reliable indication of whether or not synizesis has taken place. Word division (κάθε μίας/καθεμίας, κάθε μίας/καθαμίας) is simply a matter of editorial choice. For the form μιανῆς, appearing since the 17th c. on the analogy of ἀλλήνῃς, see 5.8.5.

νὰ πέψη τὲς φουδοῦλες, | καταλεπτῶς τῆς καθεμίας Flor. L 1561 τῆς καθεμίας γυναικὸς Assizes A 25.22 ἀφῆνω τῆς καθεμίας (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 56.24) τῆς καθεμιᾶς (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1955: 519.13) τῆς κάθε μιᾶς εἰκόνης SKOUFOS, Grammat. 46.12 καθεμιᾶς λογῆς Thrinis Kypr. 290 πέρπυρα χιλιάδες δύο καθαμιᾶς τως (1616, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 2, 222.158) καθαμιᾶς πέρπυρα εἴκοσι (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 39.66); νὰ κόβγουσι καθαμιᾶς μιὰ σάρτζα (1633, ibid. 7, 87.107) νὰ εἶναι πάλι καθαμιᾶς ἐκεῖνη ὅπου τῆς ἤδωκε (1679, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 20, 99: 11) ὀκαθεμιᾶς ἐγὼ θυμῶ, ἂν θέλῃ ἐλευθερίαν Theseid I.36,3 (Follieri) τῆς καθημιᾶς γυναικὸς Assizes B 273.11–12; τῆς καθημιᾶς γεναίκας ibid. 274.2; τοῦ καθενοῦ καὶ τῆς καθημιᾶς ibid. 274.5 τῆς κάθε μιανῆς θυγατέρός μου (1673, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 73, 43.4); νὰ τῆς δίδουν τῆς κάθε μιανῆς (1694, ibid. 204, 124.15) τῆς κάθε μιανῆς (ms) (1693, Venice, MERTZIOS 1935: 1, 22.23)

Accusative

General
καθεμία(ν) ἰ καθεμιά(ν)

The regular form throughout the LMedG and EMG periods is καθεμία(ν)/καθεμιά(ν)). The variation in accent position, i.e. the realization or not of synizesis, is again obscured by the written tradition. The form καθήν, used exclusively in the fem. in expressions of time, derives from the fixed high-register syntagm καθ' ἥν ἡμέραν.

τὴν καθεμιάν ὥς πρέπει Velth. 612 εἰς καθεμιάν πολλές σακκούλες δίδει ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 4265 κ' εἰς κάθε μιὰ ἀπὸ τὰ θελὲς καρδιά σαῖτεμένη KORNAPOS, Erot. II.302 τὴν καθὴν Τρίτην (1328, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 4, 24.10)

καθὴν ἡμέραν πολεμοῦν καὶ ὀργανώνουσιν τον Velis. χ 325 τὴν καθὴν ἡμέραν Chron. Toc. 215; τὸ καθεκάστην καὶ συχνά, καὶ τὴν καθὴν ἡμέραν ibid. 3464

καθὴν ἡμέρα (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.8) τὴν καθ' ἥν ἡμέραν / τὴν καθὴν ἡμέραν (15th c., Unknown, SEARBY 2003: 4, 694.2) καθὴν ἡμέραν πολεμοῦν εἰς τοῦ καστελλίου τὴν πόρταν Achil. N 435 καθὴν ἡμέραν τὰ αὐτὰ καὶ πλείονα λαλοῦσιν Velis. N² 349 ὁ Ἀλέξανδρος καθὴν ὥρα ὑπὴγαιεν Diig. Alex. V 31.5

καθὴν ἡμέραν τὸ κορμὶ γροικοῦμεν ᾗ ἀχαμνίζει GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 555

Neuter*Nominative/Accusative*

General	Restricted	Rare
καθὲν ἰ καθέν(α)(ν)	κάθε ξνα ἰ κάθα ξνα	καθάνα ἰ κάθα ξν

Καθέν is the earlier and etymologically original form. It is used throughout the period under investigation, and should be considered as the higher-register variant. Καθέν(α)(ν) is the result of regular morphological evolution, following the pattern of ξν/ξνα (see 5.8.5). The form καθάνα is very rare, and is probably due to the analogy of the uninflected form κάθε > κάθα. The variants κάθε ξνα/κάθα ξνα appear in the 15th c. as the result of reanalysis/de-univerbation of καθέν. Such reanalysed forms are very frequent in texts of Cretan origin.

τὸ καθὲν σχοινίον (1193–4, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1963: 16, 131.23); τὸ καθὲν βοΐδιον (1264, Sicily, ibid. 21, 163.11) ὅπως ἀπέλθωμεν εἰς τοὺς τόπους καὶ ἐπιστατήσαντες δώσωμεν τὸ καθὲν μέρος τὰ ὅρια αὐτῶν (1018–19 [14th–15th c. copy], Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 23, 169.2) τὸ καθὲν σακὶ τὸ μαλλί (15th c., Unknown, SEARBY 2003: 8, 696.3) τὸ καθὲν ἀπὸ ἑκατὸν εἶχεν βαβαλάρους Achil. N 484 ἤφερεν τὸ καθὲν Diig. Alex. V 29.17; τὸ ἐν καθὲν κέρατον ἕως τὸν Νότον ἀκουμπᾷ ibid. 52.24 πῶς νὰ προσκυνήσῃ τὸ καθὲν ἐξ αὐτὰ καὶ τί χαιρετισμὸ νὰ εἰπῇ τὸ καθὲν παιδί (1514, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1963b: 164.8–9) νὰ δίδεται τὸ καθὲν (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 179.22) καὶ παίρνει τὸ καθέν νοίκι ἄσπρα 5' (1610–20, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 23, 96.53) ἀπὸ λίτρες 5 τὸ καθέν (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 11, 9.5) καθέν μοναστήριον (1661, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 71, 200.7) διὰ τὸ καθένα φῖε Chron. Mor. H 1984

τὸ καθένα τὸ δενδρὸν Liv. V 3723 κατὰ τὴν φύσιν καὶ σκοπὸν ἐλάλειν τὸ καθένα BERGADIS, Apok. A 28 ἀπὸ χίλια φλωρία ἔγμεν τὸ καθένα σκουτέλι Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1137 ἐρμηνεύω ἓνα καθένα τὰ βρώσιμα LANDOS, Geopon. 129.20–1 τὸ σπαθὶ κρατεῖ καθένα DIAKR., Stichoi 80 καὶ τὰ ἄλλα προσώπατα τὸ καθένα ἀπὸ ἄσπρα 3054 (1691, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PARASTATHI 1974: 16, 10.13) σὰν ἄνθρωπος συντύχαιναν, λαλοῦσε τὸ καθ' ἓνα Diig. Vefa 356 νὰ δίνη στὸ καθένα τὸ προυκί του (1703, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 25, 330.10) τὸ καθέναν κεφάλιν Assizes A 112.22 καὶ ἐκ τὸ καθέναν ἄνθημα, καὶ ἐκ τὸ καθέναν ρόδα Flor. L 1558 ἐκιλαδοῦσαν ἓναν καθέναν τὸ αὐτὸ μέλος τὸ οἰκεῖον Achil. N 798 καὶ πὰ καθάνα νὰ ἔβρη τὴ ζωὴν του Cypr. Canz. 78.27 γράμματα εἶχε τὸ λοιπὸν μνημα τὸ κάθε ἓνα Alex. Rim. 1404 θέλει νὰ αὐξάνη εἰς κάθε ἓνα MAXIMOS, Synax. Ag. Nik. 139.91 κάθε ἓνα ὀρίζει ἓνα ἐκ τοῦ μέλους τοῦ ἀνθρώπου (1684–5, Moscow, ŠANGIN 1936: 3, 124.5) στὸ κάθε ἓνα (1693, Venice, MERTZIOS 1935: 1, 22.14)

τὰ ἄχομι τὸ κάθε ἓνα (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 12, 82.12) διὰ κάθα ἓν (1446, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 17, 99.7) νὰ παίρνῃ τὸ κάθα ἓνα μου παιδίον τὸ μισόν μου ἔχει (1522, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003, 65, 121.12)

πὼς λέγουσι κάθα ἓνα ἀπὸ αὐτάνα VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 118 apo iperpira dhodheca to catha ena / ἀπὸ ὑπέρπυρα δώδεκα τὸ κάθα ἓνα (1631, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1998: 8, 313.5)

ἀπὸ κάθα ἓνα ὀκτὼ οὐγγίας LANDOS, Geopon. 226.8

Genitive

General	Restricted	Rare
καθενός	κάθα ἐνός	καθανός καθενοῦ καθέν

Καθενός is the earlier and etymologically original form, and by far the most frequent one. It should not be considered as belonging to a higher register, as it still remains the main variant in many Greek dialects, as well as in SMG. The form καθανός can be attributed either to assimilation or to influence of the form κάθα. The variant καθενοῦ follows the inflectional pattern of ἓν/ἓνα (see 5.8.5). The variant κάθα ἐνός is a de-univerbation appearing from the 15th c. The form καθέν is best viewed as a variant of uninflected κάθε.

ἐξάπλωσαν τὰ φλάμπουρα τοῦ καθενός φουσσάτου Chron. Mor. H 1431 καὶ τὸν καθένα τὸν ἡχὸν τοῦ καθενός τοῦ ξύλου Liv. V 796 ἐνός ἐκάστου ἔπαινον καὶ καθενός τὸν ψόγον Diig. tetr. 101

καὶ ὀνόματα τῶν ἵκάλεσε τοῦ καθενὸς νὰ κράζουσιν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 61 ἐγνώρισεν τὴν φύσιν τως καὶ καθενὸς τως δῶσε FALIEROS, Log. did. 269 ἀφήνω τῶν κοπελλίων μου τοῦ καθενὸς ὑπέρπυρα ν' (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 15, 54.23)
 ἐμέριζεν αὐτὰ τοῦ καθ' ἑνὸς CHEILAS, Chron. 348.9
 τέσσερα μοναστήρια ἀνάστησε καὶ τὰ οἶκισε δίδοντας καθενὸς τὰ πρεπάμενα κτίσματα RODINOS, Vios Ign. 64.7

καὶ καθανὸς ἡ κρίση του, ὡς βλέπεις, εἶναι ἀκέρια P&N Diath. 515 τοῦ καθέν δουκάτου (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1, 18.12) τοῦ καθενοῦ παιδίου Diig. Alex. F 110.20 (Lolos) τοῦ κάθα ἑνός μου παιδίου (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 68, 126.11) κάθα ἑνὸς τὸ ὄνομάν του VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 118.26

5.13.2.4 κάθε/κάθα

The distributive determiner κάθε is a LMedG innovation first appearing in the 15th c., if one discounts a single attestation from the late copy of the Vazelon documents from Pontos. It derives from the neuter form of the pronoun καθεῖς/καθένας (see 5.13.2.3), with deletion of final /n/ and stress retraction (JANNARIS 1897: §665; DIETERICH 1904a: 17; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 152).

The variant κάθα, also appearing since the 15th c., is due to the analogy of the uninflected quantifier πάσα (JANNARIS 1897: §665; KAHANE/KAHANE 1973: 28) rather than to conflation with κατά (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 236). The uninflected variant καθέν retains the original stress as well as the final /n/. The forms κάθαν and κάθεν are used only used as masc. and fem. accusatives.

There is limited evidence in EMG for the complex pronoun κάθα τις, mostly in texts from Crete: λυτρώνεται καὶ κάθα τινὰς ἀποὺ νὰ ἀγαπᾷ τὴν Παρθένον Μαρίαν MOREZINOS, Klini 61.25; κόντρα κάθα τινὸς ὁποῦ τὸ ἤθελεν δώσει καμίας λογιῆς πείραξη (1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 706, 610.24); ἀπὸ κάθα τινὰν ὁποῦ ἤθελεν εὔρεθεῖ ποτὲ νὰ τοῦ δώσει πείραξη (ibid. 738, 640.7). The existence of constructions where another word intervenes between the two members of the syntagm shows that univerbation, as in the MG pronoun καθετί, is not yet complete: κόντρα τοῦ μισέρ Μανολίτση Σκορδᾶ καὶ κάθα ἀλλοῦ τινὸς (1608, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 497, 447.6).

εἰς τὴν Ὑπεραγίαν Θεοτόκον κάθε χωράφι (1344 [later copy], Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 100, 242.30) νὰ λαμβάνη κάθε χρόνον εἰς κυβέρνησίν του τὰ δέκατα (1444, Peloponnese, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 16, 259.11) τοὺς καρποὺς ὅτι ἤκαμνε κάθε χρόνο (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 48.31) νὰ δίδῃ κάθε μῆνα (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 284.10) κάθε ὥρα ἐρχόντησαν Theseid I.54,8 (Follieri) νὰ ἐξετάζουν κάθε ὑπόθεσιν τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1518, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 391.4) εἰς κάθε γένος καὶ χρόνον καὶ πρόσωπον SOFIANOS, Grammar 76.15 κάθε δύο χρόνους (1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 34.8)

- τῆς κάθε νυκτός (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 451.19) τὸν κάθε Νοέβρη (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 15, 69.6) κάθε χρόνον ἀπὸ μίαν λίτρα κηρίον (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 238.222) κάθε λογῆς νιντράδα καὶ κάθε ἄλλο χρέος (1583, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 3, 76.10) ἀπὸ λίτρες δέκα τὸ κάθε δουκάτο (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 19, 15.4) ἄς διώξωμεν ... κάθε πάθος RODINOS, Vios Ign. 112.17 τὸν κάθε ἀγοραστή (1591, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 149, 273.19–20) σπίτια δύο, τὸ κάθε σπίτι ἀπὸ ἓν μάτι (1610–20, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 23, 96.40) νὰ μοῦ γράψης κάθε πράμα (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 2, 361.5) νὰ δώση κάθε καστελλίου τὴν ράταν του (1638, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 13, 86.12) εἰς κάθε λογῆς ὑπόθεσιν Diath. Nikon Metan. 108 με κάθε λοῖς μόδον καὶ φόρμα (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 113.14) εἰς κάθε καιρὸν (1670, Paros, ALIPRANDIS/SYMEONIDIS 1985: 1, 129.4) τὴν κάθε Κυριακὴν (1674, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 3, 521.7) νὰ τοῦ δίνη κάθε ξεῖ μῆνες τὸ διάφορο (1675, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 89, 52.3) διὰ κάθε καιροῦ ἀπόδειξη (1696, Andros, POLEMIS 2001: 10, 111.7) νὰ δίδη κάθε χρόνον ὁδὶα τὴν ψυχὴν μου (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 147.11) κάθα χριστιανὸς Assizes B 292.3 καθαχρο(νο) / κάθε χρόνο (1469, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 115, 54.3) κάθα χρόνον (1483, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 2, 41.5) ἔπαιρνεν κάθε πωρὸν ἕναν λαγὴν γάλαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 492.19 app. crit. καθά πωρὸν VOUSTR., Chron. A 50.2 (καθά in AB, κάθα in KM) εἶχαν χοροὺς καὶ σκιρτισμοὺς ἅπαντες κάθα μέραν Imb. Rim. 50 κάθα μοναχοῦ (1590, Crete, VOUDOUMBAKIS 1915: 2, 348.5) νὰ τοὺς ἐμαντινιέρου ἐῖςέ κάθα κρίσι καὶ εἰςέ κάθα ἕνα ποὺ νὰ τῶς δώσουν πείραξι (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 75.21–2) γυρεύγει με κάθε μόδο καὶ στράτα (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 38, 58.8) κάθα λογῆς (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 38.14) κάθα πείραξη (1624, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2000: 2, 516.23) κάθα ἀνθρώπου (1625, Crete, VLACHAKI 1986: 22, 447.29) ἀπὸ κάθα λογῆς LANDOS, Geopon. 141.7
 catha allon / κάθε ἄλλον (1653, Crete, PANOPOULOU 1991: 2, 429.13) ὅς κάθα τόπο FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 42 τὸν καθὲν ἐνιαυτὸν (1330, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 24, 79.21) ποῦ νὰ βάλῃ τὸν καθὲν Chron. Mor. H 5580 τὸν καθὲν χρόνον / τὸν καθὲν χρόνον (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.25) με καθὲν τρόπον καὶ στράταν με τὸν καθὲν καὶ ἕκαστον ἄνθρωπον (1503, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 277, 237.5) εἰς καθὲν χρόνον μετρητὰ ὑπέρπυρα ἡ' (1506, Patmos, MALTEZOU 1970: 2, 367.202) ἔρχετον καθὲν χρόνον Diig. Alex. E 213.5 (Lolos) ἄσπρα ιβ' τὸν καθὲν χρόνον (1523, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 87, 118.13) καθὲν χρόνον ν' ἀλλάσσωνται Alex. Rim. 2529 τὸν καθὲν χρόνον (1533, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 3, 116.28) τὸν καθὲν χρόνον (1549, Chandax, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 6, 7.12) ἐκ τὸν καθὲν καὶ ἕκαστον ἄνθρωπον (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 38, 79.12) τὸν καθὲν μῆνα Σεπτέβρη (1552, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 119, 120.7) ἑνδεκα χιλιάδες φλωρία τὸν καθὲν χρόνον [VLASTOS], Dig. P 402.12 τὸν καθὲν χρόνο (1666, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 1, 145.32)

- σολδία ιβ' εις την κάθεν ούργιαν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 4, 42.22) δώνοντας κάθεν χρόνον (1568, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 132, 253.1) εις κάθεν εναντιότητα και ζημία (1626, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 7, 43.55) από κάθεν λογής μαλίτσιαν, ντάνος και ιντερέσε (1634, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1998: 9, 315.31) τόν κάθεν χρόνον (1660, Paros, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 25, 21.5) εις κάθεν βαρέλα (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 21, 169.3); σε κάθεν χρόνους δύο (1682, ibid. 236, 421.7) να λογιάζουν την κάθεν ζημίαν (1687, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 35, 119.26) με καθεν κοπον και εξοδον / με κάθεν κόπον και έξοδον (1687, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005a: 1, 368.7)
 πόσα θέλει να αγοράση από την καθεν λογήν (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 53, 53.4)
 προς άσπρα είκοσι πέντε την καθεν μίαν (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 221, 158.4) την καθεν τάβλα (1599, Crete, MALTEZOU 1985: 12.2) εις κάθαν λαμπάδαν (1663, Venice, MALTEZOU 2000: 18.5) εις κάθαν καιρόν (1674, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 3, 122.24)

6 Numerals

Many cardinal numerals (πέντε, ἕξ/ἑξί, ἑπτὰ, ὀκτώ, ἑννέα, δέκα) are used indeclinably and are therefore rather stable throughout their diachronic development, although phonological changes occur across the board, resulting in a great number of phonological variants. The chronological and areal distribution of such variants is discussed in the relevant sections, when reliable data are available. Several changes began in the Hellenistic and EMedG periods and spread widely in the period covered by this Grammar (most notably the emergence of syncopated forms for the numerals “thirty” to “ninety”; see 6.1.6.3).

Morphological changes affect a smaller subset of numerals, mainly εἶς/ἕνας and τέσσαρες/τέσσεροι; both are fully remodelled in accordance with other major changes in nominal morphology. This is a tendency that started already in EMedG and is in full development in LMedG and EMG texts. Some changes (in the accusative and genitive) have spread analogically to δύο and τρεῖς, τρία.

As far as ordinal suffixes are concerned, we can observe an innovation (the suffix -ατος spreading from ἕνατος and δέκατος to πέντατος, ἑξατος, ἑπτατος and ὀκτατος), which nevertheless has not found its way into SMG (see 6.2.5–6.2.9).

Most of the linguistic evidence presented here comes from non-literary documents; numerals occur rather more sparsely in literary texts and tend to be found in specific contexts (dates, ranks etc.). This fact, together with the widespread use of Greek alphabetic numerals (α', β', γ' etc.) and later Arabic numerals (1, 2, 3), reduces the amount of linguistic data provided by the source texts.

6.1 Cardinals

6.1.1 εἶς/ἕνας

The morphology of the cardinal numeral εἶς is discussed in detail under pronouns (5.8.5), because of the development of an innovative homophonous indefinite pronoun εἶς/ἕνας on the basis of the numeral. In many cases it is difficult to distinguish the syntactic status of εἶς, a fact which dictates a unified morphological treatment.

The examples in the current section are taken from contexts with a clear numeric function, supplemented by indefinite instances when necessary for the illustration of the complete paradigm.

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	εἷς ἢ ἕνας ἢ (ἐ)νεῖς ἢ γεῖς	μία ἢ μιά	ἕν ἢ ἕνα(ν)
Gen.	ἑνός ἢ ἐνοῦ ἢ (ἐ)νοῦς ἢ ὀνοῦς ἢ (μιανοῦ)	μίας ἢ μιᾶς ἢ μιανῆς	ἑνός ἢ ἐνοῦ ἢ ἐνοῦς ἢ ὀνός ἢ ὀνοῦς ἢ μιανοῦ
Acc.	ἕνα(ν) ἢ ἕν ἢ ἕνανε ἢ εἶν	μία(ν) ἢ μιά(ν)	ἕν ἢ ἕνα(ν)

Masculine

Nominative

General	Restricted	Rare
εἷς ἢ ἕνας	γεῖς	(ἐ)νεῖς

εἷς σκιρτισμός καὶ κρεμασμός Eisit. f.7v.15 καὶ ἐγένετο εἷς μετ’ αὐτοῦς (1316, Constantinople, HUNGER/KRESTEN 1981: 42, 298.9) ὁ εἷς τῆς κόρης ἀδελφὸς ἦτον ὁ Κωνσταντῖνος Dig. E 736 εἷς ἡ δύο παπᾶδες Λατῖνοι εἶναι ἀναγκαιότατοι (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.8–9) καὶ εἷς ἀπὸ τοὺς ἄρχοντας, ἐκ τοὺς Παλαιολόγους, τὸν βασιλέα δικάζεται Velis. χ 36 ὁ εἷς τοὺς δέκα ἐσύνθλασεν Achil. N 552 ἀπὸ ὅλους εἷς ἀπέμεινεν, τὸ ἦτον κληρονόμος, Chron. Mor. P 8468 εἷς μαγατζῆς καὶ ὀσπίτιον (1510, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 23, 40.9) ὁ ἀγᾶς τῶν γιανιτζάρων, ὁποῖος ἔναι εἷς μόνος (16th c., Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 13.45) νὰ μηδὲν μπορῇ ὁ εἷς ὁποῦ τίς δύο νὰ διαχωρίσῃ (1541, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 215, 208.7) ἕνας μῆνας σωζᾷτος Chron. Mor. H 592 ἕνας, τοῦ ἑνός, τὸν ἕναν SOFIANOS, Grammar 44.6 ἀστερίσκος ἕνας σταγονένιος (1557, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 11, κζ’.54) ἕνας δὲν εὐρέθη νὰν σὲ θαραπάπη (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.26) ἕνας μαργαριταρένος φουρνίδος (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 141.57) δέκα μπουστους, πέντε χρυσοὶ ... ἕνας συρματένιος (1693, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 10, 407.25) γείς κρουσταλλένιος τράχηλας, βυζάκια δυο καὶ στήθη CHORTATSIS, Panor. I.81 (misprint τράχηλος in ed.)

τὸ ἀσερνικὸ ἐπῆρε ὁ γεῖς στὸ ξύλο ντου Stathis I.257 ὁ ν-εῖς μέγας ἐχάθην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 6.33 (ὁ νῆς ms) καὶ ο νεῖς ἐφύγεν VOUSTR., Chron. B 167.13

Genitive

General	Restricted	Rare
ἑνός ἢ (ἐ)νοῦ	(ἐ)νοῦς	ὀνοῦς διὰ ἑνὸς ἀνθρώπου θάνατον νὰ μείνῃ τὸ πασσάτζο Chron. Mor. H 170 νουμὴν τοῦ ἑνὸς κριοῦ κατ’ ἔτος (1404, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 11, 196.24) πλήρωσιν ἑνὸς μηνοῦ Pol. Tr. 13719 app. crit. (C) μετὰ δὲ τὴν συμπλήρωσιν ἑνὸς καὶ μόνου χρόνου Achil. N 1861 νὰ δείξουν ὅλοι ἐνὸς καιροῦ, μιᾶς ἡλικίας Deft. Par. 12 εἰς χρόνου ἐνὸς τέρμενον ἵνα ἐνι καμωμένον LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 56 πάκτος ἐνὸς χρόνου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 163, 163.7) ὅταν εἶναι ἐνὸς χρόνου εἶναι ὑγιέστατον LANDOS, Geopon. 194.3

τόπος ἕως ἐνοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἄπλωμα Ag. Nik. Strat. 44.58 εἴσταν ἐνοῦ πατρός παιδία Diig. Alex. F 206.1 (Lolos) ὅταν ἦτον τριάντα ἐνοῦ χρόνου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 202.10 μήνα εἶναι ἐνοῦ καὶ ἀλλουνοῦ ποταποῦ ἀνθρώπου λόγια; DAM. SToud., This., Logos 33, K2r.2

νὰ τὸν πλερώση ἐνοῦ μηνὸς ναῦλον (1566, Corfu, ZARIDI/MICHALEAS 2008/13: 15, 132.7) ταξίδι ἐνοῦ χρόνου (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 2, 294.18) ἦτον ἕως ἐνοῦ γαδάρου φόρτωμα Vios Aisop. K 153.24 ἦτον στράτα κοντὰ ἵνοῦ χρόνου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 14.27

ἐνοῦς καιροῦ καὶ ἐνοῦς καιροῦ ὅσα ἐθανατῶσα P&N Diath. 4186 πού 'μεστ' ἐνοῦς πατέρος VEST., Paid. Makkav. 1303 τὸ κρέας τῶν νέων ζώων ἕως ἐνοῦς χρόνου LANDOS, Geopon. 191.14 ἐθρηγούντανε τὰ βάσανα ἵνοῦς χρόνου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 295.2 ἐνοῦς καλοῦ Χριστιανοῦ (1669, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 112, 261.6) ὑπὸ χειρὸς ἐνοῦς διάκου (1686, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 32, 114.9) ἦτον εἰκοσιενοῦς χρόνου KORNAROS, Erot. II.217; ἐνοῦς κορμιοῦ κ' ἐνοῦς καιροῦ, μιὰ φορεσὰ ντυμένοι ibid. II.377

ὄνοῦς ἀργάτη καὶ κάρτο ἀμπέλι (1632, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 621, 595.6)

Accusative

General	Rare
ἕνα(ν)	ἕν ἢ ἕνανε ἢ εἶν καὶ εἰς τὸν ἕνα λέγετε τὸν λαὸν περιμένειν; Dig. G VI.493 μίαν αὐλὴν ἐγνώρισα καὶ ἕνα αὐθέντην ἔσχον Ptoch. (Maiuri) 21 σμίγει τα καὶ τὰ δύο, ἢ ἕνα δεσμόν τὰ ἐδέσμων Liv. S 380–1 (= α 1595–6) εθλίβηκε τινε πολλὰ, πλια παρὰ ἕνα χρόνο Apoll. Rim. A 1183 ἔκαμε ἕνα μῆναν εἰς τὴν ἀπιδέα Nov. II 162.51 μία γαδάρη μὲ τὸ πουλάρη καὶ ἕνα χοῖρο (1667, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 743, 449.9) τέτζερη ἕνα καὶ χάρκωμα ἕνα (1682, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 8, 185.25) καμπουχὰν ἕνα καὶ φερντζὲν ἕναν (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 137.13–14) ευχαριστῶντο νὰ κυριεύουν ἕνα μόνον τόπον μικρόν Ist. Enet. 418.19 ἐπροσέταξέν με τοῦ δοῦναι ἕναν ἀνθρωπον (1127–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 12, 93.3) ἔσωσεν ἀπέσω εἰς ἕναν μῆναν Chron. Mor. H 6124 τὸν ἕναν μῆναν STAFIDAS, Iatrosaf. 14.394 ἕναν χωρίζει ἐξ αὐτῶν καὶ ἐδῶκεν του ραβδέαν Dig. E 975 ὅταν ἤμεθαν τὰ δύο εἰς ἕναν αὐθέντη Poulol. 535 app. crit. (E) ἕως μῆναν ἕναν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 33, 166.7) μίαν ἡμέραν στάθησε, μῆναν καὶ ἕναν χρόνον Peri xen. 319 αὐτὸς ἐπαίρνει σύντροφον τὸν ἕναν ἀπ' ἐκείνους [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 899 νὰ ἴμολογήσης ἕναν μόνον θεὸν καὶ τὸν Μαχομέτην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.9 μετὰ ἕναν μῆνα (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 2, 294.15) ἕναν καιρὸν γελᾷ καὶ κλαί καρδιά μου Cypz. Canz. 50.3

ὅλος ὁ κόσμος ἔνανε ὁμοιό σου οὐδὲν ἔχει KORONAIOS, Pittakin 78

τον ἔνανε κριτὴν DEFAR., Sos. 247 (Holton) ἔναν vel ἔνανε PORTIUS, Grammar 22.42 ἐν βοῦν κόκκινον (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 26, 163.3) καὶ ἀνθρωπον ἐν διὰ βοήθειαν (1498, Corfu, KARYDIS 1999b: 2, 306.12) πάτον ἐν ἀπὸ βαμπάκι FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 578

καὶ πάλιν ἄλλος εἷς πρὸς εἷν διὰ τὴν εὐταξίαν Diig. tetr. 117 app. crit. (προσὶν C)

Feminine

Nominative

General
μία ἢ μιά

σुकέα δύο καὶ ἀπεδέα μία (1073, Miletos, VRANOUSI 1980: 50, 9.116) ροῖδέα μία, ἐλαῖα δύο (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 54.68) κασέλας δύο, ὦν ἡ μία μεγάλη (1314, Athos, ŽIVOJINOVIC et al. 1998: 30, 216.41)

ἡ μία ἡ μικρότερη νὰ βαρῇ μία λίτρα (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 57, 46.3) διὰ νὰ δροσίξει μία σταγὼν τῆς χάρης σου τὸ κάημα SKLENTZAS, Ain. Zood. Pig. 50 δὲν ἔναι ἄλλη μία εἰς τὸ Ἀркиπέλαγος (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.25)

ἡ μιά καλὴ κι εὐγενικὴ κι ἡ δεύτερη τοσοῦτον FALIEROS, Log. did. 146

δύο μανιέρες ἐνὶ τῆς δούλεψης, ἡ μιά τοῦ θελημάτου Fior, Suppl. 273.25

ἡ μία κερατέα (1529, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 92, 114.6)

οἱ τρεῖς των γραφές ... ἡ μία εἰς τὲς ἔντεκα, ἡ ἄλλη εἰς τὲς δώδεκα καὶ ἡ ἄλλη εἰς τὲς τριάντα τοῦ περασμένου μηνὸς (1572, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 136, 256.17) αἶγα μία σκουληκιὰ χαλὰ ὅλο το κουράδι CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.52 καμιζόλα μία (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 3, 33.58) ἐξημερωθήκασι τρίγια κάτεργα καὶ μιά γαλιότα (1667, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 19, 90.14)

Genitive

General	Rare
μίας ἢ μιᾶς	μιανῆς

κι ἀπέσω εἰς τὸ τέρμενον χρόνου καὶ μίας ἡμέρας Chron. Mor. H 2344 νὰ ράψη δύναται ποσῶς ἄχρι κεντέας μίας Diig. tetr. 390 app. crit. (C) τὸ τῆς ὁδοῦ διάστημα μίας ἡμέρας ἦτον Achil. N 456 θέλουν γενῆν μίας ὀψεως καὶ οὐδὲ γυναίκειον σῶμα γενῆ οὐδὲ ἀντρίκειον Diig. Alex. F 156.16

(Konstantinopulos)

νὰ εἶναι ὅλοι μίας πίστες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.12 ὅλα εἶναι σχεδὸν μίας φύσεως LANDOS, Geopon. 220.15

τρεῖς κεφαλὰς ἀντὶ μιᾶς εἶχεν Dig. A 2902 μιᾶς ἡλικίας καὶ χρόας Defi. Par. 12 δὲν ἦσαν οὗλοι μιᾶς βουλῆς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 370.12 ἐνοικίου μιᾶς χρονέας (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 778, 606.8) τῆς μιᾶς μερᾶς καὶ τῆς ἄλλης (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 60, 58.19)

μιᾶς κομπλετισοῦς καὶ μιᾶς ὁρεξης Fior 83.1

διὰ κάποια ἡδονήν, μιᾶς ὥρας πεθυμία VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 191 μιάς ἡμεροῦ δρόμον SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 17.2–3 ὅλοι οἱ ἀθρῶποι μιᾶς λοῆς FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 57 τῆς μιᾶς μεριᾶς καὶ τῆς ἀλληνηῆς (1689, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1999: 8, 53.19)

 διὰ μερτικὸν μιανῆς ἀγελάδος (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 329, 191.6) τῆς κάθε μιανῆς (1673, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 73, 43.4)

Accusative

General
μία(ν) ἢ μιὰ(ν) ἐκράτησεν ὁ σεισμὸς ἐπὶ ὥραν μίαν (11th c., Constantinople, SCHREINER 1975/79: 1, 6.3) καὶ σκρούσαν μίαν (1062, Sicily, ROGNONI 2004: 11, 117.7) μίαν ἀπὸ τὰς πρόκριτας ἢ εἰς ἣν ἐθάρρει πλέον Eisit. f.3r.9–10 ἀγελάδαν μίαν γεννημένην καὶ ἀγελάδαν ἀ' στέρφον (1254, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 19, 91.22) ἔχω καὶ δύο γούνας, καὶ τὴν μὲν μίαν ἐπαφίημι τὴν μητέρα μου (1255, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 23, 74.10) τὴν μίαν κασέλαν τὴν μικρὴν ἀφίω τὴν τὸν ἱατρὸν (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.37) ψυχὴ μου κακοτύχερε, μίαν ἐχάρης ὥραν GLYKAS, Stichoi 196 ἐξηρίζωσε καὶ μίαν καρύαν (1433, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 29, f.35r.3) γριπαρέαν μίαν (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 85.4) μίαν τρίχαν (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 302.49) μίαν <καὶ> μόνην σὲ εἶχαμεν Dig. E 120 μίαν ζυγὴν βέργες χρυσές (1496, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1, 48.25)

 μίαν ἡμέραν στάθησε, μῆναν καὶ ἕναν χρόνον Peri xen. 319 ὅλοι τοὺς μὲ μίαν φωνὴν Theseid I.14,3 (Follieri) μίαν φοράδα ἀγγαστρωμένη (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 12, 91.14–15) ἔκτιζα μίαν πτήχην, καὶ τὴν ἐρχόμενην ἡμέραν ἡύρισκα δύο Diath. Nikon Metan. 253.78 κοῦτσινας ρίζας δύο καὶ μαύρη μιὰ (1417, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 53, f.260.3) δὲν ἦσαν εἰς μία ὀπινιὸν (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 44.11) μία κόρδα ... ἀργυρὴ (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.42) κερί λίτραν ἦγουν ὁκά μιὰ (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 341.40) μὲ μία στρώση ἀργυρὴ (1557, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 11, κστ'.48) δύο πέτρες, μία ὀρθή, καὶ μία δίπλα ... χωσμένην εἰς τὴν γῆν (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 448.8) ἕνα χάρκωμα καὶ μανάρα μία (1596, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 64, 89.14) καὶ ἔσυρε μία λουμπαρδέα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 82.21 ἔδωσά του ... μία μουργιὰ διὰ ἄσπρα ἑκατόν (1631, Kea, VISVIZIS 1949: 7, 65.4–5) ποταμίδα ... μὲ μία καρύα καὶ μὲ μία ἐλιά (1671, Naxos, TOURTOGLOU 1995: 1, 509.6) ἔχει μόνου μιὰ ἀδελφὴ (1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 30, 119.21–2)

Neuter

Nominative/Accusative

General
ἕν ἢ ἕνα(ν)

ἕν σκαλεστήριν καὶ πελέκια δ' καὶ ἀρίδες γ' (1062, Sicily, ROGNONI 2004: 11, 117.3) βλέπε εἰς τὸ ἕν μὴ πάθης δέκα Paroim. A 120

- ἐν καὶ γὰρ ἐκ τῶν παίδων μου ἔπρυσεν ἐκ τοῦ ὕψους Ptoch. I 207 καὶ κὰν ἄς μὲ ἐγεμίζουσιν τὸ ἐν τὸ ποτόπουλον μου Ptoch. IV 300 app. crit. (SA) πελέκια δύο, νὰ ἔχῃ ἡ μία τὸ ἐν καὶ ἡ ἄλλη τὸ ἕτερον (14th c.?, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1994: 1, 286.36) σक्रόφες δύο, κυβέρτια τέσσερα, ματαράτσιν ἐν (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1, 19.21) κόπτε τὸ ἐν ψηφί (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 31, 30.4) <ἐ>να καράβι μετὰ ἐν ἄρμενον ὑπάγει εἰς τὴν Κρήτη (15th c., Unknown, SEARBY 2003: 2, 692.1) νὰ ἔχῃ τὸ ἐν ἀδελφάτον (1501, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 7, 105.12) ἐνα σαρακονταήμερον καὶ ἐν σαββατιάτικον (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 17, 30.8) ἐγὼ μὲν ὄνομα ἐν οὐκ ἔχω, εἰ μὴ δώδεκα ἡμισυ Spanos D 1729 ἀφήνω της καὶ ἐν φουστάνι καὶ ἐν ποκάμισο (1562, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 9, 23.6) στρώμα ἐν γεμάτο μαλλί (1566, Corfu, ZARIDI/MICHALEAS 2008/13: 6, 127.9) ἀποὺ τὸ ἐν μέρος ... ὑπὸ τὸ ἕτερον μέρος (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 18, 38.7–8) ἐλάβαμεν φλουρί ἐν, ἦγουν ἐνα (1600, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 99, 132.14) τὸ μὲν ἐν μερίδιον ἔλαβεν ὁ πατήρ τοῦ θανόντος (1686, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 2, 2.7) τῶν ἐξήκοντα ἐνα τοῦ χρυσοῦ νομισμάτων (897 [12th/13th c. copy], Thessaloniki, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 1, 90.24) ἐδόθη αὐτῇ ἄδεια ἐνα νυχθήμερον μετοχετεύειν τὸ ὕδωρ (995, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 9, 162.45) ἐνα γομάτον κρασοβόλιν εἰς κατὰ ἐνα ἀδελφόν, τὸ δὲ ὀρύζιν ἐνα ρίγλον εἰς κατὰ ἐνα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 82.12–13 βοῖδιον ἐνα (1133, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 113, 151.15) λαβὼν ταρία σ' καὶ ἱππάριν ἐνα (1141?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 7, 22.14) δύο καταβλάττια, ὦν τὸ ἐνα νερθηκωτὸν ἐνζουδον (1142, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 7, 74.19–20) καὶ πιθὴν ἐνα γονικόν μου (1255, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 23, 75.13) εἰς ἐνα ἕκαστον ὁροθέσιον τῶν περιόρων τούτων (1300, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1994: 69, 146.20) τὸν μὲν ἀνεψιόν μου τὸν μέγα ἐταιρειάρχην ἄλογον ἐνα ἐῶ (1325, Veroia?/Macedonia, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 64, 358.147) καὶ πίνει τα καὶ ἐρεύγεται, κίρνοῦν τον ἄλλον ἐνα Ptoch. III 122 κ' οἱ καβαλλάροι ὅπου κρατοῦν πρὸς ἐνα φῖε ὁ καθένας Chron. Mor. H 1986 ἐνα δοξόβολον τόπον Diig. Alex. K 366.5 νὰ ἔχῃ ἐνα σενδόνη ἀπὲ τὰ σενδόνη της (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.36) δὲν ἦτονε μόνον ἐνα κορμὶ τοῦ ἡλίου καὶ ἐνα τοῦ φεγγαρίου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 334.14 ἐντραβενίρησε τὸ ἐνα ἐκ τὰ αὐτὰ βόδια (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 87, 170.10) χόρτο μὴ φάτε οὐδ' ἐνα CHORTATSI, Panor. I 10 τὸ ἐνα κάρτον (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 175.24) νὰ τὰ εἰπῇ ἐνα πρὸς ἐνα RODINOS, Vios Ign. 81.6 ἐρμηνεύω ἐνα καθένα τὰ βρώσιμα LANDOS, Geopon. 129.20–1 τὸ ἐνα ἐγροικιέται ὅπου τὸ εἶχεν πατρικόν της (1682, Patras, TSELIKAS 1986a: 3, 671.4) τὸ μὲν ἐναν πέτσιν τοῦ χωραφίου (1157–8, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 20, 162.4) ᾽ς τὸ ἐνα σου προτέρημα πρόσθες καὶ ἄλλον ἐναν Spaneas Z 5 ἵνα τέλλης ταῖν ἐναν ἀλάδιν (1227–50, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 20, 157.14) ἔχω δὲ συμφωνίαν μετ' αὐτὸν εἰς τὰ δένδρα νὰ ἐπαίρῃ τὸ μοναστήριν δύο καὶ αὐτὸς ἕναν (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.35) χωραφίου πετσὶν ἕναν (1271, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 324, 478.34) ἔδωκεν ... χαρκὶν ἕναν (1346, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 32, f.79r.1) σχηματολόγιν ἕναν (1417, Crete, LAMBROS 1895: 1, 586.32) ἕναν κομμάτιν χωράφιν (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 467.17) ἕναν σετόνιν (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 5, 25.7) ἄν ἀποθάνῃ τὸ ἕναν παιδίον ἀπὸ τὰ τρία (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 3, 6.12) ἤλθαν δύο κάτεργα ρηάτικα καὶ ἕναν ροδίτικον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 676.34 ἤρυν ἕναν ρούχον χρυσὸν χαρμίζε καὶ ἕναν χρουσὸν βένετον VOUSTR., Chron. A 230.10–11 ἕναν κρεβατοστρώσι (1536, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 116, 229.35) τὸ ἕναν κάρτον (1543, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 239, 225.17) καὶ ἕναν ἐρίφι (1662, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 27, 33.15)

Genitive

General	Restricted	Rare
ένος ἰ ἐνοῦ	(ἐ)νοῦς	ὀνός ἰ ὀνοῦς ἰ μιανοῦ ένος βουττίου μεγάλου (1101–2, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 5, 67.44) ένος φαρίου μας ἡ φορὰ νὰ ρίξῃ δεκαπέντε Chron. Mor. H 4730 τοὺς τριακοσίους ἀφήνω σας ἀπὸ ένος φαρίου Dig. E 1759 καὶ ὅταν ἐκοντέψασιν ένος μιλίου τόπον Achil. N 373 ας δίδουσιν ἀπὸ ένος δηναρίου Diig. Apoll. 558 πρέζιον ένος σομαρικοῦ (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 777, 605.6) ένος πινακίου (1640, Ikaria, STAMATIADIS 1893: 3, 155.7) ἡ χάρις τῆς Παναγίας ... ἐβοήθησεν τοῦ ένος ξύλου Diig. Sant. 58.41 ἐγὼ ἤμον ἐνδεδυμένην ἀπὸ ἐνοῦ ἀμπελίου (1175, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 184, 241.16) ἐνοῦ βάρους, καὶ ἐνοῦ μάκρους καὶ ἐνοῦ πάχους Assizes B 467.9–10 δεκαλίτρου ἐνοῦ (1500, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 3, 4.8)

 ἐνοῦ τέλου Fior, Suppl. 270.12–13 μιλλίου Diig. Alex. E 107.25 (Konstantinopulos) οἱ τρεῖς ἐξ ἐνοῦ στόματος (1551, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 65, 100.18) παριππίου ἐνοῦ (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 396.1) ἐνοῦ βατζελίου (1579, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 5, 23.7) ἐνοῦ γομαρίου φορτίον ἐβάσταζε Vios Aisop. K 153.35 ἐνοῦ ταγαρίου (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 40.23) ἐνοῦ μιζουριοῦ χωράφι (1673, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 64, 39.4) εἶναι ἐνοῦ καφιζίου (1684, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 19, 49.11) οἱ καβαλλάριδες οὔλοι δὲν εἶνε ἔνοῦ θελημάτου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 370.19 ἐνοῦς μουζουρίου (1514, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 115, 227.4) χωράφι μουζου<ρ>ίου ἐνοῦς (1625, Crete, VLACHAKI 1986: 22, 445.6) ἐνοῦς κορμιοῦ κ' ἐνοῦς καιροῦ, μιὰ φορεσὰ ντυμένοι KORNAROS, Erot. II.377 ὀνὸς ἀσιλιανοῦ (1603, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 5, 20.2); ὀνὸς ριαλιοῦ (1672, ibid. 48, 46.30) χωράφια ὀνοῦς πινακίου (1612, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 8, 22.7–8) πληρωμῆς ὄνοϋς κονισμάτου (1623, Crete, ΧΑΝΤΗΟΥΔΙΔΙΣ 1912: 47, 126.7) πινακίου μιανοῦ (1691, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 142, 82.1); μιανοῦ κανταρελιοῦ (1713, ibid. 322, 211.2)

6.1.2 Two

The form δύο is stable; variants occur due to synizesis (see I, 2.9.4), other phonological phenomena with a specific geographical distribution, and an analogical addition of genitive plural endings. Forms of δύο are the same for all genders, except for δυοῦς and δυονοῦς, which are masculine only.

	General	Restricted	Rare
Nom.	δύο ἢ δυό		δύον
Gen.	δύο ἢ δυό ἢ δύνων ἢ δυῶν	δυῶνε ἢ δυονῶ(ν)(ε) ἢ ἐδυονῶ(ν) ἢ ἰδυό
Acc.	δύο ἢ δυό	δυοῦς ἢ δυονοῦς (M) δύου (N)	δύον (F)

Nominative

δύο or, with synizesis, δυό (see I, 2.9.4) is the form used throughout the period:

οἱ δύο κοντᾶδες Chron. Mor. H 213 τὰ δύο της χέρια Liv. V 856 οἱ δύο ἀδελφεῖς Chron. Mor. P 6024 βυζάκια δυο και στηθη CHORTATSIS, Panor. I.81 ἐπολεμοῦσαν οἱ δύο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.20 τώρα ὁπού ’μεστέν τὰ δυό MONTSEL., Evgena 1299

The form δύνον (with “irrational nasal”, for which see I, 3.7.2.1, or a possible analogical spread from the genitive δύνων) has been found in documents from Naxos:

οἱ δύνον μερίδες (1557 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 11, 64.29) εἶναι δύνον κομμάτια (1671, Naxos, TOURTOGLOU 1995: 1, 410.4) λέσιν καὶ οἱ δύνον τος (1688, Naxos, ΣΙΦΟΝΙΟΥ-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 849, 1135.20)

Genitive

The form δύνων, which can be explained as analogical spread of other genitive forms ending in /n/, seems to be present already in EMedG (Moschos, Leimon, 180.35). The earliest attestation of δύνων in the texts examined is found in a 12th-c. document from Sicily: δύνων σιγγιλίων (1182, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 22, 424.14). The form can be found in both LMedG and EMG texts:

τῶν χρόνων μου τῶν δύνων Liv. E 2518
τῶν δύνων τὰ μέρη Velis. χ 219 τῶν δύνων βασιλέων Achil. N 1825 τῶν δύνων ἀνθρώπων Assizes A 87.24

ὑπὲρ φορῶν γὰρ δύων Chron. Mor. P 5660 τῶν δύων ἀρχιερέων Spanos B 175 μετὰ τῶν δύων του τῶν υἱῶν τῶν ἐναπολειφθέντων Achil. O 291 τῶν δύων του ἀδελφάδων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 54.6 δύων τε τινῶν Alosis 931 τῶν δύων του ἀδερφάδων (1554, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 157, 206.11) στιμαριζόμενα ὑπὸ δύων καλῶν ἀρχόντων (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969k: 18, 111.13–14) δύων χρόνων Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.30

Oxytone forms occur in verse texts, perhaps editorially, as a result of metrical synzesis (I, 2.9.4): τῶν δυῶν ἀνθρώπων, FALIEROS, Ist. On. 672; τουνῶ τω δυον ἀγαφτικῶ CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.300.

An extended genitive form δυσονῶν (with several phonological variants) has been found in EMG texts from the Heptanese, Cyclades, Crete and Cyprus. The form can be explained as an analogy to genitive forms of pronouns such as αὐτονῶν and ἄλλωνῶν (see 5.5.1.2 and 5.10.1 for details); the same development can be observed in τρεῖς (gen. τριωνῶν) with a similar geographical distribution (see 6.1.3).

τῶν δυσονῶν CHORTATIS, Katz. 2.84 των δυσονῶν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 50 τῶν δυσονῶν μας KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.70 τω δυσονῶ σας CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.75 (for deletion of final /n/ see I, 3.7.2.2) τῶν ἐδυσονῶν κοπιαστάδων (1597, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 156, 281.18) (phonetic prothesis; see I, 2.6.1) τῶν ἐδυσονῶ (1669, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 1, 577.5) (phonetic prothesis, and deletion of final /n/) τῶν ἐδυσονῶ (1682, Cyclades, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 231, 410.21) τῶν ἐδυσονῶ ἀδελφιῶ (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 24, 38.17) τῶν δυσονῶνε (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1955: 520.12) (for addition of /e/ see I, 2.6.3) δυῶνε (1708, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 7, 41.5)

The form ἰδυό (morphophonetic /i/ prothesis; see I, 2.6.1.2), always preceded by the definite article, has been found in EMG texts from Crete and the Heptanese:

τῶν ἰδυό μου ἐγγονιῶ (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 197.97) τῇ ζωῇ τους τῶν ἰδυό Zinon III.244.
 τῶν ἰδυό KORNAROS, Erot. II.1617

Accusative

ὁ δεύτερος ἀπὸ τοὺς δύο Chron. Mor. H 1379 ἐχωρίστησαν τὰ δύο τὰ φουσσᾶτα Chron. Toc. 376 φανέρωσε ἕνα ἀπὸ τούτους τοὺς δύο SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 18.59–60 ἔχει δυό ἀγαπητικιές Paroim. (Warner) 28.11

In a 17th-c. document from Thessaloniki we find the form δύου: δύου ὁκάδης καφέν (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 57.2), with northern/raising vocalism, for which see I, 2.5.4.

A masculine accusative form δύους or δυούς (no accent in the original document), on the analogy of masculine nouns in /os/, has been found in a document from Zakynthos: τούς δυούς μου ύγιούς (1660, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 2, 115.12). A masculine form δυονούς (cf. gen. δυονῶν above) occurs in an early 18th-c. document from Macedonia: κανέναν ἀπὸ τούς δυονούς (1706, Siatista, MERTZIOS 1947b: 269.2, transcr. Korre).

6.1.3 Three

Masculine/feminine τρεῖς and neuter τρία, inherited from AG, are stable forms for the nominative and accusative; there is some variation in the genitive.

	General		Restricted
	M/F	N
Nom.	τρεῖς	τρία
Gen.	τριῶν ἢ τρίων		τριῶ ἢ τριῶνε ἢ τριωνῶ(ν)
Acc.	τρεῖς	τρία	τρίους

Nominative

- μαστραπάδες τρεῖς (1258, Philadelphia?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 15, 158.189) τρεῖς ἀνέφανον ὠραῖοι καβαλλάροι Dig. G VI.176 τρεῖς καβελάροι Dig. E 1199 ὥρμησαν οἱ τρεῖς εὐθύς γὰρ ERMON., Ilias 1.253 ἐπῆραν γέροντες τρεῖς (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 23, 37.2) ἐφάνησαν ἄπάνω εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν τρεῖς ἥλιοι KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 334.13 οἱ λεγόμενοι τρεῖς κοπιαστάδες (1587, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 146, 269.8) οἱ τρεῖς μας FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 31 οἱ Τρεῖς Ἱεράρχηδες (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1955: 513.7) οἱ τρεῖς δεσπότησες (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 72, f.Ir.3) αἱ τρεῖς (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 133.50) οἱ τρεῖς πάρτες (1549/50, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 34, 74.16) τρεῖς τούρκισσες (1583, Athens?, MERTZIOS 1954: 1, 124.14) τρεῖς εὐμορφάδες PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 108.28–9 τὰ δὲ τὰ τρία θήλη Pol. Tr. 1158 app. crit. (X) τρία κορίτζα (1449–55, Silymvria, SCHREINER 1975/79: 98B.II, 4.9) ἔτοῦτα τὰ τρία (1674, Skyros, ANDONIAKIS 1995: 9, 222.10)

Genitive

In addition to the inherited genitive τριῶν we also find the alternative accentuation τριῶν in both verse and prose texts of all periods (literary and non-literary). This form might be simply a graphematic convention (hypercorrection), without consequences for actual pronunciation, or it might indicate shift of stress to the penultimate:

- τῶν τριῶν ἀδελφῶν (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 45.219–20) τριῶν λογίων γυναιῖκες ἔχει Epain. gyn. 8

- τρίων βουτσῶν κρασῶν (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 28, 33.4) τρίων κλονῶ (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 284, 479.28) τῶν τριῶν ἐκκλησιῶν (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 307.27–8) τῶν ἡμερῶν τῶν τριῶν Pol. Tr. 51 app. crit. (AX) τριῶν Thrinós Tam. 61
 τῶν φοραδῶν τριῶν (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 395.35); τῶν τριῶν του παιδίων
 (1568, ibid. 261, 363.17) τριῶν χρονῶν Diig. Alex. F 152.16–17 (Lolos) τριῶν δουκατῶν (1599, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 95, 127.9) τῶν τριῶν MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 122 τριῶν χρονῶν χαράτζι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 98.5

Variant forms exist also as a result of deletion of final /n/ (see I, 3.7.2.2) and related phonological phenomena. The form τριῶ has been found in texts from the Cyclades and Crete: καυκιῶ τριῶ (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 85, 117.5); τῶν ἀλλῶ τριῶ ἀδελφίδων (1643, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 683, 664.19–20); τῶν τριῶ μας FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 2.

The form τριῶνε (see I, 2.6.3 for addition of the final /e/) has been found in texts from Ithaca: τριῶνε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 34, 52.13–14); ταγαρίω τριῶνε (1637, ibid. 36, 54.17).

An apparent analogy to pronoun forms like αὐτονῶν and ἄλλωνῶν (see 5.5.1.2 and 5.10.1) is represented by the genitive τριωνῶν, found in EMG non-literary texts from the Heptanese and Cyclades (Naxos). Compare δυνῶν, with a similar geographical distribution (see 6.1.2).

- τῶν τριωνῶν (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 49, 112.8) τῶν ἄνωθεν τριωνῶν κοπιαστάδων (1587, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 146, 269.33–4) ταγαρίω τριωνῶ (1643, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 270, 216.12) (with deletion of final /n/; see I, 3.7.2.2) τῶν τριωνῶν (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 423, 643.21; ibid. 881, 1174.21)

Accusative

- ἐποίησεν χρόνους τρεῖς (1059, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 9, 110.13)
 τρεῖς μῆνας ἀκεραίους Dig. E 1083 κράζει τους τρεῖς Diig. Apoll. 320 τρεῖς παπάδας Spanos B 222 ἐσκότωσεν τρεῖς ἐξ αὐτουνούς Diig. Alex. V 34.3 καὶ μὲ τοὺς βασιλίσκους τρεῖς ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 2024 τρεῖς κριούς παχιούς (1644, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1990: 487.434) τρεῖς ἡ τέσσαρους τόπους (1680, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 8, 301, f.1r.7) τρεῖς μήνους ΕΓΤΗΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 42.9 app. crit. (B) εἰς τὲς τρεῖς ἀπιδίεις (1096, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 1, 290.14) καρέας τρεῖς (1330, Athos, LEFORT et al. 2006: 70, 65.34) κι ἂν τὸ λυγίσης τρεῖς φορές Arm. 14 τὲς τρεῖς λειτουργίεις (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 148.41) τὲς τρεῖς τους ἀδελφάδες (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 70, f.Iv.16)
 τρεῖς κεφαλὰς ἀντὶ μιᾶς εἶχεν Dig. A 2902

τρεις ἑλὲς ὅπερ στήκονται (1541, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 11, 223.8) ἀπού τις τρεῖς (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 257, 356.20) ἐστάκαμεν τρεῖς ἡμέρες (1570, S. Italy?, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 7, 479.7) εἰσὲ τρεῖς ἡμέρες BAROZZI, Letter 358.10 εἶχε τρεῖς εὐμορφάδες PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 108.28–9 τρεις κορασὲς ἐνέθρεφεν MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 151 τρεις βαθμούς ἤγουν τρία προσώπατα SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 431.113

σ' τρία κονταροκυπήματα KORNAROS, Erot. II.2092

The form τρίους occurs in Alex. Rim. 2943, possibly to facilitate rhyme (with ἰδίους), but cf. δύους/δυοὺς above, also in a text from Zakynthos.

6.1.4 Four

A number of changes involving the numeral “four” happened before the period examined here. The change of /a/ > /e/ (centralization due to liquids/nasals; see I, 2.8.1) in the stem is already found in the Koine (DIETERICH 1898: 4, GIGNAC 1981: 191). Both stems, τέσσαρ- and τέσσερ-, are in use in the texts examined in this Grammar.

As far as the endings are concerned, the use of -ες for the accusative is also observed in the Koine (see GIGNAC 1981: 191–2); this change occurs in numerals and other words expressing quantity earlier and more frequently than in nouns with consonant stems.

The morphological variants in -οι, -ους are formed on the analogy of the plural of adjectives in -ος (see 3.2.1–2); the nominative τεσσάρεις (on the analogy of τρεῖς) also dates to the EMedG period (DIETERICH 1898: 186).

A great amount of variation can be observed in LMedG and EMG texts; details concerning the distribution of individual forms are given, when possible, in the discussion of allomorphs below. We observe less variation in the genitive, perhaps because the form is not used as frequently as other cases. Few of the existing variants have a specific geographical distribution.

	General			Restricted			Rare
	M	F	N	M	F	N	M and F
Nom.	τέσσαροι ἰ τέσσαρες	τέσσαρες ἰ τέσσερες	τέσσαρα ἰ τέσσερα τέσσερεις ἰ τέσσαρεις
Gen.	τεσσάρω(ν)					τεσσάρου ἰ τεσσάρουνε
Acc.	τέσσερους ἰ τέσσαρους ἰ τεσσάρους	τέσσαρες ἰ τέσσερες	τέσσαρα ἰ τέσσερα	τέσσαρες ἰ τέσσαρας			τέσσερας (F) τέσσερεις

Masculine

Nominative

The earliest attestation of masculine nominative τέσσαροι in the examined texts dates to the 11th century: χρόνοι τέσσαροι (1041, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 2, 143.73). The form is found in LMedG and EMG texts and has a wide distribution:

- τέσσαροι Chron. Mor. H 1329 (exclusive form for the masculine in this text) τέσσαροι ἦλθαν βασιλεῖς Pol. Tr. 2819 app. crit. (ABV) οἱ τέσσαροί μας εἴμεσθεν Anon. Naupl. 55 (15th. c.) οἱ τέσσαροί μου υἱοὶ (1516, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 97, 96.8) τελειώνοντας οἱ τέσσαροι χρόνοι (1541, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 5, 219.9) ογδοῖντα τέσσαροι εἶναι ἕως τῆς σήμερον MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 221.25 καὶ ἄλλοι τέσσαροι Diath. Nikon Metan. 146

Τέσσερις (alternative spelling τέσσερεις) is a development that can be safely dated in the period examined by this Grammar. The form becomes more frequent in the EMG period:

- ἐτοῦτοι γὰρ οἱ τέσσερεις Chron. Toc. 1939 οἱ τέσσερις Krasop. V 64 βγαίνουσι τέσσερεις Τοῦρκοι CHORTATSI, Interm. Erof. 4.48 τέσσερεις βλέπω κι ἔρχονται Stathis 3.23 τέσσερεις ἀντρειωμένοι KORNAROS, Erot. II.1528

The form τέσσαρεις is a parallel development to τέσσερεις (it is attested as τεσσάρεις in EMedG texts) and can be found in LMedG and EMG texts:

- οἱ τέσσαρεις οὔτοι (1427, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 23, 131.28) τέσσαρεις χρόνοι Achil. L 18 οἱ τέσσαρεις (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 39, 169.5) ἀετοὶ ὁλόχρυσοι τέσσαρεις Achil. N 827

The form τέσσαρες is also used quite frequently in the texts examined:

- τέσσαρες εὐαγγελισταὶ Alosis 3 οἱ τέσσαρες καὶ μεγάλοι ποταμοὶ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 185.22–3; τοῦτοι οἱ τέσσαρες ἀδελφοὶ ibid. 354.33

Genitive

- ἐκ τῶν τοιούτων τεσσάρων ἀνθρώπων (1319, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 106, 176.37) καβαλλαρίων τεσσάρων Chron. Mor. H 1931 τεσσάρων πτωχῶν καλῶν ἀνθρώπων (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 146.10) ἡ ὁποία ἦτονε τεσσάρων χρονῶν SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 442.449

Accusative

The earliest attestations of accusative τέσσερ(ε)ῖς can be dated to the mid-11th c.:

- τοὺς τέσσερις εὐαγγελιστὰς (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.143) πέμπει ... τέσσερεις ἄρχοντάς του Liv. V 2163 ἀπὸ τέσσερις Chron. Toc. 1749 τοὺς τέσσερεις τοὺς μῆνας Chron. Mor. P 2000

The form τέσσαρους has a similar distribution to the nominative τέσσαροι, with the earliest attestation dating to the beginning of the 12th c.: παροίκους τέσσαρους (1101, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 7, 395) τέσσαρους στύλους Chron. Mor. H 4037 (exclusive form) τέσσαρους δουκάδες Pol. Tr. 2830 app. crit. (V); τέσσαρους δοῦκας ibid. 2830 app. crit. (B) τέσσαρους ποταμούς Krasop. V 63 ἤξευρε καλύτερον ἀπὸ τους τέσσαρους Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 77.10 τέσσαρους Diig. Alex. F 238.6 (Lolos) ἀφήνω ἀφέντες τέσσαρους Alex. Rim. 2865 ἀπὸ τους τέσσαρους (1590, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 2, 348.22) τέσσαρους φλαμπουριαρέους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 119.8 μῆνες τέσσαρους (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2008: 2, 252.22) τρεῖς ἢ τέσσαρους τόπους (1680, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 8, 301, f.1r.7)

Examples with shift of stress to the penultimate have also been found:

τούς τεσσάρους αἰδάρους (1530, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 141, 253.17) χρόνους τεσσάρους Liv. E 3410 τεσσάρους ἔχει ποταμούς Krasop. L 38 χρόνους εἴκοσι τεσσάρους Chron. 1619 500

The parallel form τέσσερους can also be found in LMedG and EMG texts:

χρόνους τέσσερους Liv. E 2956 τέσσερους χρόνους (1487, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 16, 87.5) ἡγοῦν τέσσερους ἐρχαμένους τελείους (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 6, 26.18) τέσσερους στύλους Chron. Mor. P 4094; μητροπολίτας τέσσερους ibid. 6151

The archaizing form τέσσαρας occurs in mixed-register texts: τοὺς τέσσαρας ἀνθρώπους (1319, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 106, 176.26), εἰς μῆνας τέσσαρας LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 366. More rarely the stem τεσσαρ- is combined with the ending -ες: τοὺς δέκα τέσσαρες ... χρόνους Achil. O 47; με τέσσαρες πέντε καβαλάρηδες Don Kis. 49.8.

Feminine

Nominative

Feminine τέσσερεις (alternative spelling τέσσερις; for formation see masc. above) is also attested in EMG texts: οἱ ὅποῖες ἐστιμαρίστησαν οἱ τέσσερεις (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 174, 175.23); οἱ κάτζες τους θέλει νά 'ναι μακριές μπάλλες τέσσερεις (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 62.5).

The form τέσσαρες can also be found:

πυρωστίαι τέσσαρες (1325, Athos, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 64, 357.110) κραμβίν καρδία τέσσαρες Ptoch. IV 205 (S)

Both τέσσερες and τέσσαρες are widely used in LMedG and EMG texts:

οἱ τέσσερες καροῦχαι Ptoch. III 200 app. crit. τέσσαρες (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 31.51) οἱ τέσσαρες ζωτικαῖς δυνάμεις DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 2, ἀβν.31–2 οἱ δυὸ ἢ τέσσαρες πολλὰ ἡγαπημένες CHORTATIS, Katz. III.323

Genitive

- τῶν τεσσάρων μεταξωτῶν ποδέων (1313, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 8, 52.27) τῶν τεσσάρων μου θυγατέρων (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 30, 54.14) τῶν τεσσάρων σκροφῶν σου (1539, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 964, 755.6)

The form appears without final /n/ in the areas where deletion of final /n/ is common (see I, 3.7.2.2): τῷ τεσσάρῳ τῇ θυγατερῷ (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 61, 81.10), τεσσάρῳ πινακίῳ (1609, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 6, 21.5).

Accusative

The form τέσσερ(ε)ῖς is used throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

- εἰς τὰς τέσσερεις γωνίες Liv. V 306 τέσσερεις χιλιάδες ἄνδρες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 364.31 τέσσερεις ὀργυῖες κῆπον (1573, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 2, 19.33)
 μὲ τέσσερεις τόρτσες ἄσπρες (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 38.31) ἔμαζωκτῆκα τέσσερεις χιλιάδες P&N Diath. 1840 ἐλειτουργοῦσαν τέσσερεις καὶ πέντε δέησες ὀλονύκτιον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.77 τέσσερις DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 3035 τέσσερεις φορές KORNAROS, Erot. IV.2019

Both τέσσαρες and τέσσερες are also widely in use:

- τὲς τέσσαρες γωνίες Ptoch. III 99 app. crit. (P) τέσσαρες χιλιάδες KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua X.231 τὸ μάκρος πῆχες τέσσαρες Alex. Rim. 1579 μπόλιες τέσσερες (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 238, 334.19) εἰς τὲς τέσσερες τοῦ Μαρτίου (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.1) ἐντεμέλες τέσσερες (1630, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1951: [3], 171.19) τέσσερες χιλιάδες χρόνους Bertoldos 10.20

The residual τέσσαρας can also be found: τὰς τέσσαρας ταύτας τὰς ἱστορίας Log. parag. L 436. Very occasionally the τέσσερ- stem is combined with the residual ending -ας: τὰς τέσσερας γωνίας τοῦ ὀσπιτίου Diig. Alex. E 275.6; τὰς τέσσερας γωνίας Vios Aisop. D 238.34.

Neuter*Nominative/Accusative*

The distribution of the neuter acc. and nom. form τέσσερα is similar to other forms with the stem τέσσερ-:

- ταρία τέσσερα, ἅτινα ἔλαβαν (1187, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 11, 61.17) τέσσερα μουχρούτια Ptoch. IV 181 κρεββάτια τέσσερα (1476, Cyprus, SAKKELION 1887b: 261.1) τὰ τέσσερά του ὀνύχια ἀργυροτσάπωτα ἦσαν Dig. E 12 τὰ τέσσερα Liv. E 1870 τέσσερα γκομπία (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.51) τέσσερα χωριδάκια μιλημένα (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 1, 25.10) τέσσερα ζευγάρια (1693, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 10, 407.30–1) τέσσερα μῆλα KORNAROS, Erot. I.1674 τέσσαρα is still in use throughout the period:

- τὰ τέσσαρα ἀδελφία (1123, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 4, 60.8) πηλωτοπροσκέφαλα βαμβακόγομα τέσσαρα (1258, Philadelphia?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 15, 158.192) αὐτὰ τὰ κάστρη τέσσαρα Chron. Mor. H 1665 (exclusive form) τὰ τέσσαρα εὐαγγέλια τὰ καθημερούσια (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.17) εἶναι δουκάτα χρυσὰ βενέτικα 4, ἦγουν τέσσερα (1592, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 150, 274.15–16) τέσσαρα εἰκονίσματα (1655, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 74, 188.7–8)

Genitive

- ὑπερπύρων τεσσάρων (1308–12, Athos, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 43, 250.79) τῶν φῖε τεσσάρων Chron. Mor. H 1983 χρέος τῶν εἴκοσι τεσσάρων τζικινίων (1581, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 142, 264.12–13) μὲ κατέργων τεσσάρων ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 843–4

The form appears without final /n/ in the areas where deletion of final /n/ is common (see I, 3.7.2.2): ἀγγεῖα μετρῶ τεσσάρω (1573 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17, 72.37–8); καυκιῶ τεσσάρω (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 85, 117.6). In EMG texts from Ithaca we find the forms τεσσάρουνε and τεσσάρου: βατσελίω τεσσάρουνε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 12, 37.12); ταγαρίω τεσσάρου (1637, ibid. 49, 64.11–12). For parallel forms in nouns see 2.2.5.

6.1.5 Five to Nine

Only phonological variants exist for the numerals for 5–9, which are used indeclinably. We present here representative examples with the relevant references to Phonology.

6.1.5.1 Five

πέντε is very stable with little phonological variation. Some examples:

- δρῦς πέντε (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 54.69)
 μετὰ τούτους τοὺς πέντε χρόνους (1355, Palatia (Miletos), MANOUSAKAS 1962b: 1, 234.10) κάθουνται οἱ πέντε ἀδελφοὶ Dig. E 196 χρόνους πέντε ἐρχαμένους τελείους (1501, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 66, 101.15–16) τοῦτες οὐλές οἱ πέντε μανιέρες Fior 127.27 τῶν πέντε χιλιάδων KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 16.9

A variant πέντι exists (with “raising vocalism”, for which see I, 2.5.4): εἴκοσι πέντι (1652–3, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 82, 204.9).

6.1.5.2 Six

Two variants ἕξι and ἕξε are used widely in the texts examined. The residual form ἕξ is still used, but less often and mainly in mixed- or higher-register texts.

The earliest located attestation of ξξι, which has been explained either as a reanalysis of ἐξ-ἡμισυ (ANDRIOTIS, Lex.) or as addition of final vowel for phonetic reasons (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 150), is first attested in the 14th c. The form becomes very common in EMG.

βάλασιν καὶ ἄλλους ξξι Φράγκους Chron. Mor. H 1650 ξξι συρτὰ ἐπαρέσυρναν Dig. E 1050 ξξι ἀρεσκοῦμενα (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 257.37) ἄν εἶχα πετ' ξξι ἄσπρᾱ (1637, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 3, 95.16–17) τῶν ξξι εἰκόνω (1639, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 6, 273.37) ξξι μηνῶνε (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2008: 2, 252.10) ρίζες ξξι (1671, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 69, 318.5) ξξι γροσσῶ (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 27, 41.11) ξξε, which has been explained as an analogy to πέντε (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 150), is attested already in EMedG documents from Athos: νομίσματα ξξε (1007, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 13, 181.11). Several examples have been found in LMedG documents from Southern Italy; in EMG literary texts and documents from Cythera, the Cyclades and Crete the form is quite common.

ξξε (1140, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 122, 163.20); τριάκοντα ξξε (1180, ibid. 201, 265.13) ξξε (1193–4, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1963: 16, 131.34); ξξε (1264, Sicily, ibid. 21, 163.15) ξξε μόνον χρόνους Achil. L 1224 (sole occurrence of ξξε in this text; otherwise ξξι) κ' ξξε μήνες τότε ἔζησε KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VI.17 ὑπέρπυρα ἀργυρῶν ξξε (1548, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 119, 234.7) τὰ ξξε ἡμισυ (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 398.6) ἄσπρᾱ ξξε (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 84, 115.18) μουζούρια κστ', ἦκοσι ξξε (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 311, 296.9–10) κουτάλια ξύλινα ξξε (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 78.16) ξξε γρόσα (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32.40) ξξε ριάλια (1672, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 48, 46.12) ξξε μίστατα (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 331, 533.28)

The residual form ξξ can be found mainly in texts written in higher or formal registers:

εἰς πέντε καὶ εἰς ξξ Liv. P 1206 transcr. (Lendari) μῆνας ξξ Liv. E 2893
 ὑπέρπυρα ξξ (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52.99)

6.1.5.3 Seven

The inherited form ἐπτὰ has a phonological variant ἐφτὰ, resulting from manner dissimilation (see I, 3.8.1). Both forms are used throughout the period. Examples:

ταρία ἐπτὰ (1156, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 7, 87.9) ἐκ τὰς ἐπτὰ τῶν τέχνων Pol. Tr. 2361 ὅρνιας ἐπτὰ (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 4, 151.17) χρόνων ἐπτὰ (1489, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 19, 100.21) ἐπτὰ φορὲς προτῆτερα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 262.19 ἦγουν ἐπτὰ (1562, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 130, 248.12) οἱ ἐπτὰ σύνοδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §20.7

μηνὶ Δεκεβρίῳ ἑφτακαίδεκάτῃ (13th c., Asia Minor?, DARROUZÈS 1964a: [13], 35.1) ἑφτὰ ἑκατοντάδες Chron. Mor. H 125 (exclusive form) κλίσεις ἑφτά SOFIANOS, Grammar 38.14–15 ἑφτὰ χρονῶ P&N Diath. 1724 δουκάτῳνε εἴκοσι ἑφτὰ (1649, Kefalonia, PETROPOULOS 1962: B.3, 311.8) τοῖ ἑφτάμισυ λίτρες ἀποῦ τοῦ ᾠηκε (1661, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 10, 105.108) με ἑφτὰ ἱερῆδες (1665, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 11, 419.3) ρούβλια διακόσια, ριάλια ἑφτά (1670, Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.1, 72.3)

6.1.5.4 Eight ὀκτώ has a phonological variant ὀχτώ, resulting from manner dissimilation (see I, 3.8.1). Both forms are used throughout the period:

ὀκτώ τέντας Dig. E 929 ὀκτώ χρονῶν Rim. kor. A 91 ὀκτώ μηνῶν BERGADIS, Apok. V 426 ὀκτώ ἡμέρες Alex. Rim. 2024 χιλιάδες πενήντα ὀκτώ καὶ τετρακόσια (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 175.17) ὀκτώ ἡμέρες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 100.7 ὀκτώ γρόσα (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 31.28) ὀχτώ σιργέντες Chron. Mor. H 8128 (exclusive form) λίτρες ὀχτώ (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.37) τιμίνια ὀχτώ (1625, Ikaria, SKAVDI 2008: 20, 33.7) σαάνια κομμάτια ὀχτώ (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 137.14)

A genitive form with addition of final /n/ occurs quite rarely (cf. δύων above, 6.1.2): τῶν ὀκτῶν ἡμερῶ (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 53, 73.11).

6.1.5.5 Nine

Alternative spellings of AG ἐννέα are found already in the 4th c. AD (ἐνήα/ἐννήα/ἐννηια, GIGNAC 1981: 193); such spellings are considered evidence of a first stage in the process of synizesis (for details see I, 2.9.4), which results in the SMG form ἐννιά. While the existence of forms with synizesis must be considered certain, actual spellings reflecting the change are rare and “conservative” spellings prevail:

καντάρια ἑκατὸν ἐνενήντα ἐννέα ἡμισυ Spanos A 186 πῆχες διακόσες ἐννέα (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 50, 88.46–7) τὶς ἐννέα (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 31, 68.22) παιδιὰ ἐννέα Alex. Rim. 335 κάποιον παιδί ὀκτώ ἢ ἐννέα χρόνων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 118.14 παροσκέφαλα ἐννέα (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: [4], 137.15–16)

Spelling variations such as the following indicate tension between the writing system and actual pronunciation:

ὀργίης ἐννία (16th c., DELATTE 1946: 493.11) τάπισα μὲ ἐννία μέρες γεννᾶται Fior 132.35 ἐννεὰ μέρες Paroim. (Warner) 121.13

The form ἐννία, with synzesis, can be found in EMG verse texts (perhaps sometimes due to editorial practice). See also the numeral for 19 below.

στὶς ἐννιά μῆνες CHORTATIS, Katz. V.369 ἐννιά μῆνες Thysia Avr. 375

6.1.6 The Tens (10–90)

The formation of the numerals from 10 to 99 is generally the same as in MG (the larger number preceding, with the exception of ἑντεκα and δώδεκα). We provide here some examples of use and a short discussion of interesting or variant forms, where they exist.

6.1.6.1 Ten to Nineteen

No variation has been observed for δέκα.

τὰ μὴν δέκα ἐχέτω αὐτή(ν) (11th c., S. Italy, NITTI DI VITO 1900: 46, 93.35) γουμάρια δέκα (1141, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 5, 300.13) τοὺς δέκα ἐσύνθλασεν Achil. N 552 εἰς τὲς δέκα τοῦ μηνός τουτουνοῦ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 259.23 οἱ δέκα χρόνοι (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 31, 50.9) δέκα κρεντήρια (1664, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 12, 126.19)

Two alternative spellings for the numeral for “eleven” are used throughout the period examined here: ἑνδεκα and ἑντεκα, with the “conservative” spelling ἑνδεκα being actually more frequent. As discussed in Phonology (I, 3.2.1.2), in all probability both spellings (<νδ> and <ντ>) represent the same pronunciation [nd], or regionally [d].

ταρία ἑνδεκα (1264, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 21, 163.15) τῶν ἑνδεκα πηχῶν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 188.26 ἑνδεκα χιλιάδες φλωρία [VLASTOS], Dig. P 402.11–12 εἰς τὲς ἑντεκα (1572, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 136, 256.17) μίστατα ἑντεκα (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 352, 329.38) οἱ ἑντεκα συντρόφισσες P&N Diath. 1798

The numeral “twelve” presents very little variation. In a 13th-c. document from Sicily we find the form δεκαδύο (1236, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 16, 93.9) (the form also occurs in the 14th-c. author Manuel Vryennios; cf. also the Hellenistic form δέκαδυο). However, the form generally used is δώδεκα, as in MG:

χρόνους δώδεκα ψυχροὺς καὶ ἀσβολωμένους Ptoch. I 47–8 τοὺς δώδεκα μοδίους Ptoch. II 26.9 app. crit. (H) ἕνας ἀπὸ τοὺς δώδεκα Chron. Mor. H 975 ἀτσουπάδας δώδεκα Dig. E 1076 κιλά δώδεκα (15th c., Meteora, VEIS et al. 1998: 225, 246, f.163v.10) δώδεκα νεωτέρους Achil. N 217 από τούς δώδεκ' ἀδελφούς CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2021

The numeral “thirteen” is declined in the same manner as τρεῖς/τρία (see 6.1.3 above):

[προσκαθημένων] δεκατριῶν (Athos, 1275, BOMPAIRE 1964: 10, 92.20) οἱ δεκατρεῖς Ptoch. II 26.9 app. crit. (H) δεκατρεῖς ἡμέρες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 340.4 μίστατα δεκατρία (1603, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 198, 206.3) τορνέσα λίτρες δεκατρεῖς (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 180.34)

The numeral “fourteen” exhibits a similar pattern of variation to that of “four” (see 6.1.4):

μοδίων δεκατεσσάρων (1482 [copy of 1688], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 108, 216) ἕως δεκατέσσερους χρόνους Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 79.13; εθανάτωσε δεκατέσσαρες χιλιάδες παιδία ibid. 99.36–7 μόνον δεκατέσσαροι KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua IV.100 χρόνων δεκατεσσάρων CHEILAS, Chron. 351.19 εἰς τὲ δεκατέσιρες (1601, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1993: 60, f.1v.2) (northern/“raising vocalism”, for which see I, 2.5.4) δεκατέσσερους μαγείρους καὶ μαγκίπους [VLASTOS], Dig. P 360.15

No variation has been observed for δεκαπέντε “fifteen”:

δεκαπέντε χρόνους Ptoch. IV 74 στὰς δεκαπέντε τοῦ μηνὸς Chron. Mor. H 7297 κρυτήρια δεκαπέντε Krasop. L 74 ἡμέρες οἱ δεκαπέντε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 1, 80.2) τῶν δεκαπέντε χρόνων Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1301 δεκαπέντε ἡμέρας LANDOS, Geopon. 142.24

The AG and Hellenistic form δεκαῆξ “sixteen” (also with alternative accentuation δέκαεξ) can be found sporadically in LMedG texts:

τὰ δέκαεξ ταρία (1235–6, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 49, 252.17) δένδρα ἐλαϊκὰ δεκαῆξ (1251, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 4, 24.33) τὰ δεκαῆξ (1355, Palatia (Miletos), MANOUSAKAS 1962b: 1, 234.11)

The innovative forms δεκαῆξι and δεκαῆξε can also be found with the same distribution as ἕξι/ἕξε (see above, 6.1.5.2):

τσίρους δεκαῆξι Ptoch. IV 214 (S) δεκαῆξι μοναχούς Chron. Mor. H 126 ἄσπρα χίλια δεκαῆξε (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 80, 108.4) ριάλια δεκαῆξε (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 70.6)

In a 15th-c. document from Cyprus and in EMG texts we also find the form δεκάξι (deletion of /e/ in accordance with vowel hierarchy, for which see I, 2.9.2):

στὰς δεκάξι τοῦ αὐτοῦ μηνὸς (1479, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 6, 89.3) λίτρες δεκάξι (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 64.6) δοκᾶτα κουρέντε δεκάξι, ἡγου δεκάξι (1561, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 129, 248.4–5) δεκάξι σολδία (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 148.25) τὰ δεκάξι τοῦ τὰ ἀφήνω (1670, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1981: 2, 287.50) γρόσια ... δεκάξι (1672, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 6, 323.4) ἕως τὲς δεκάξι ὀργυιές (1677, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 19, 98.34)

A similar development may also occur for δεκαεπτὰ/δεκαεφτά “seventeen”:

δεκαφτά SKLAVOS, Symf. 14 τὰ δὲ λοιπὰ δεκαφτά λέγονται σύμφωνα SOFIANOS, Grammar 35.14 ἀσιλάνια δεκαφτά (1603, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 5, 21.15) δεκαφτά χιλιάδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 64.16 τζικίνια ἑκατὸν δεκαφτά (1630, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 4, 133.9) dici sette. δεκαφτά, δεκαεφτά GERMANO, Vocab., s.v.

The forms without vowel deletion, δεκαεπτὰ and δεκαεφτά, are also widely used: καὶ σὺν αὐτοῖς δεκαεφτά Chron. Mor. H 7300; δεκαεπτὰ φυλές Alex. Fyll. 91.9.

For “eighteen”, δεκαοκτώ and δεκαοχτώ are both used in the texts examined (for details on these forms of the numeral “eight” see 6.1.5.4):

ἀλλάγια ἐποίησαν δεκαοχτώ Chron. Mor. H 4659 δεκαοκτώ κουρτίνες Dig. E 929 νὰ τοὺς δώση δουκάτα δεκαοκτώ καὶ τινὰ κρασι (1529, Corfu, ZARIDI 1993: 5, 172.8) βαρέλια δεκαοκτώ (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 255, 253.5)

The variants δεκοκτώ and δεκοχτώ (cf. Hellenistic δεχοκτώ, GIGNAC 1981: 196) have also been found in the texts examined, quite rarely in LMedG and more frequently in EMG, in texts from the Heptanese, Crete and the Peloponnese. On these forms, which contravene the normal vowel hierarchy (see I, 2.9.2), presumably in the interests of morphological transparency, see KAPSOMENOS 1953b: 325; cf. HATZIDAKIS 1892: 314.

ἡμέρας γὰρ κἂν δεκοχτώ Chron. Mor. H 7128 τῆς δίνουε λίτρες δεκοχτώ πόλβερη (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 64.14–15) ὀχτακοσίες δεκοχτώ Chron. Mor. P 45 δουκάτα δεκοχτώ (1604 [copy of 1695], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 510.11) μπάγκωνε δεκοχτώ (1665, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 9, 39.6) ὑπέρπυρα δεκοκτώ (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 5, 82.5) τὰ δουκάτα δεκοκτώ (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.6) ἐργατῶν δεκοκτῶν (1624, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2000: 2, 515.4) (final/n/ added on the analogy of ἐργατῶν) τὰ δεκοκτώ γρόσια (1687, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 103, 323.5) diciotto. δεκοκτώ, δεκαοκτώ GERMANO, Vocab., s.v. ἦτονε δεκοκτώ χρονῶ KORNAROS, Erot. I.79

The normal form for “nineteen” is δεκαεννέα: δουκάτων δεκαεννέα κρασά (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 90, 170.18). A phonological variant δεκαννιά (with vowel deletion, in accordance with vowel hierarchy, and synizesis; see I, 2.9.2 and I, 2.9.4 respectively) has been found in a document from Mykonos: νὰ τοῦ δῶνου ριάλια δεκαννιά (1696, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 47, 141.22–3). A further variant without synizesis (δεκαν<ν>έα) occurs in a document from Cythera: δουκάτα τὰ δεκαννέα (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 241, 337.2). In a 17th-c. document from Thessaloniki we find the form δικαγινιά (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 55.20) (with northern/“raising vocalism” and glide anaptyxis; see I, 2.5.4 and I, 3.5.2.1 respectively).

6.1.6.2 Twenty and its Compounds

The numeral εἴκοσι “twenty” is stable before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar.

καὶ πανὶν πῆχας εἴκοσι (1112, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: App. I, 1, 511.23) κοχλιάρια ἀργυρὰ εἴκοσι (1325, Veroia/Macedonia, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 64, 355.55) καὶ ἄλλα εἰκοσιτέσσερα Dig. E 381 εἰς τὲς εἴκοσι πέντε Δεκεβρίου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.21 εἰς τσὶ εἴκοσι (1691, Cythera, PAPADAKI 2001: 131, 62.4) ἦτονε εἰκοσενοῦς χρονοῦ KORNAOS, Erot. II.217

Compounds of εἴκοσι have a phonological variant with deletion of the initial /i/ (aphaeresis, for which see I, 2.7.1):

εἰς ᾽κοσιπέντε Velis. N² 288 τοὺς ᾽κοσιεννέα Spanos B 214 ᾽ς τσὶ χίλιους ἑξακόσους ᾽κοσι πέντε (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 79.1) Ἀπριλίου εἰς τὶς ᾽κοσιοκτῶ (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 29, 49.10–11) εἰς τσὶ ᾽κοσιπέντε (1687, Cythera, KALLIGEROS 2001: 3, 39.1) κὶ ὀπίσω τοῦ ἄλλοι κοσιδυὸ KORNAOS, Erot. IV.1137

Post-consonantal /j/ deletion (see I, 2.4.7.3) can also be found in such compounds: ᾽κοσοκτῶ ᾽γκιὲς (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 80.64).

Phonological or morphological variants of the numerals 1–9 mentioned above (6.1.2–6.1.5) can also be found for compounds of twenty: εἰκοσιέξε (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 151, 239.8); χρόνους εἴκοσι τεσσάρους Chron. 1619 500.

6.1.6.3 Thirty to Ninety

All forms ending in -κοντα in AG (τριάκοντα, τεσσαράκοντα, πενήκοντα, ἑξήκοντα, ὀγδοήκοντα, ἑνενήκοντα) lose a whole syllable (-κο-) and have syncopated forms ending in -ντα (for syncope see I, 2.7.2). This development probably started with τριάντα, for which the earliest examples, from the Koine and the EMedG period, are extant (GIGNAC 1981: 196, 6th [and 4th] c.) and has spread to all other numerals ending in -κοντα. We present here an overview of forms found in the texts examined.

For “thirty”, τριάντα is the common form:

ἑδιέβη τριάντα μίλια Arm. 29 χρόνους τριάντα τρίους Alex. Rim. 2943 πῆχεις τριάντα δύο (1531, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 20, 66.12) ἄνδρες ... τριανταπέντε χιλιάδες (1609, Cyprus, CHASIOIS 1972: 35, 59.10–11) πόσα εἶναι τὰ τριάντα (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32.35–6) τριάντα πέμπει πᾶσα ἀργὰ KORNAOS, Erot. I.769 τριάκοντα is also widely used, especially in mixed- and higher-register texts: στους τριάκοντα Achil. L 423; τῶν τριάκοντα (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 167.2).

Phonological or morphological variants of the numerals for 1–9 mentioned above in 6.1.2–5 can also be found for compounds of thirty: τριάνταἔξε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 26, 105.11).

Vowel deletion after /r/ (see I, 2.4.7.4) occurs in τριάντα and its compounds:

τράντα SKLAVOS, Symf. 11

τραντάξι P&N Diath. 805

τραντάξι CHORTATIS, Katz. III.13

ἦτονε τραντάξι KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 699

AG τεσσαράκοντα “forty” has an EMedG variant σαράκοντα, which is also in use in LMedG and EMG texts:

εἰς τὰς σαράκοντα ἡμέρας Chron. Mor. H 7440 ἕνα σαρακονταήμερον (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 2, 5.18) (compound) σαράκοντα ἐγένετο AXAGIOLIS, Diig. Karolou 190

Τεσσαράκοντα is still used throughout the period examined here:

φαρία τεσσαράκοντα Dig. E 930 πανὶ πῆχες τεσσαράκοντα (1581, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 10, 25.5) μετὰ τεσσαράκοντα ἡμέρας (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 412.672)

The syncopated form σαράντα is already present in EMedG (σαράντα ἡμέρας ἐβράχησαν, Leontius of Neapolis, Life of Symeon the Holy Fool 87.11) and is common in LMedG and EMG texts:

σαράντα ἡμέρες Chron. Mor. H 768 σαράντα χιλιάδες (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 89, 76.28) σαράντα χιλιάδες Velis. χ 454 γυναῖκες βγενικὲς τὸν ἀριθμὸν σαράντα Velth. 526; τὲς σαράντα ibid. 600 σαράντα ἡμέρες Velis. ρ 811 σαράντα ἡμέρες SKLAVOS, Symf. 133 μακρέα σαράντα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 211.18

μάσκουλα ... σαράντα (1641, Crete, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 19, 14.13) χιλιάδες σαράντα (post 1640, Monemvasia, SCHREINER 1975/79: 79, 37.5)

A syncopated form πεντήντα for AG πεντήκοντα “fifty” is attested in EMedG (6th c., see LBG s.v.) and is also found sporadically in LMedG and EMG texts:

ἀλλάγια ... τριακόσια πεντήντα Achil. L 329 να ἔχει πεντήντα χρύσινα Diig. Apoll. 85 πεντήντα ᾠήντα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 425

ἀπὸ χρόνων πεντήντα (1694–1704, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 3, 78.8–9)

A further development is πενήντα, the commonest form in the period covered by this Grammar (a case of dissimilation according to HATZIDAKIS 1892: 150), securely attested from the 14th c. onwards:

ἀπὸ πενήντα τρύπας Ptoch. IV 101 app. crit. (P) πενήντα δύο κουπίων Chron. Mor. H 745 καλὰ πενήντα Chron. Toc. 1455 πενήντα δύο Chron. Mor. P 745 τὰ πενήντα DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2267 ὑπέρπυρα πενήντα (1561, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 129, 247.21) ἑφτακόσα πενήντα (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 23.16) ἑπτακοσίων πενήντα (16th c., DELATTE 1946: 493.25) χιλιάδες πενήντα ὀκτώ (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 175.17) εἶναι πενήντα πατημασίαι (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 335.13) στάρι μουζούρια πενήντα (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 795α, 692.8) ἐκεῖνες τὲς πενήντα χιλιάδες ἄσπρα (1657, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 75, 192.13)

For “sixty”, ἐξήντα is used regularly in LMedG and EMG texts:

χιλιάδες ἐξήντα ὑπέρπυρα Chron. Mor. H 3127 ἐξήντα χιλιάδες ἦτασιν Achil. N 572 εἰς διάφορος ὀνομίσματα ἐξήντα τὰ ἑκατὸν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 336.12 ποῦ ἦτασιν τριάντα κ' ἐξήντα χρόνους KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VI.22 τριῶν χιλιαδῶν καὶ τριακοσῶν ἐξήντα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 60, 57.5) φελοῦκες πλεόν παρὰ ἐξήντα (17th c., Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.2, 72.3–4) ἐξήντα φύλλα Diig. Alex. Sem. S 366

However, ἐξήκοντα also remains in use, particularly in earlier texts and more formal registers: διὰ ταρία ἐξήκοντα (1160–1200, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 19, 98.11), δουκάτα ἑκατὸν ἐξηκοντατέσσερα (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.6).

ἐβδομήντα “seventy” is found widely in LMedG and EMG texts:

ἐβδομήντα γέροντες Dig. E 531 κάτεργα ἐβδομήντα Velis. χ 82 ἐβδομήντα δύο ἡμισυ φλέβας Spanos D 1781 τοὺς ἐβδομήντα χρόνους Bertoldos 81.31 ἐβδομήντα δύο IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 71

A phonological variant with deletion of initial /e/ (aphaeresis, for which see I, 2.7.1) can be found in EMG texts:

ἴβδομήντα (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 93.32) γυναῖκες ... ἄλλες βδομήντα Alex. Rim. 2486 πόσα εἶναι τὰ βδομήντα (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32.36) ἐβδομήκοντα is broadly in use, though mostly in formal registers: ἀπὸ τὰ ἐβδομήκοντα ἕξ δουκάτα ἢ τὰ ἐβδομήκοντα ἑπτὰ (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 16, 24.9).

For the numeral 80 an intermediate stage in the development of ὀγδόντα < AG ὀγδοήκοντα is the form ὀγδοήντα, which is common in LMedG and EMG texts:

στράτορας ὀγδοήντα Dig. E 717 ὀγδοήντα (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1976) καὶ τετρακόσια ὀγδοήντα τέσσερις χιλιάδες (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 89, 76.24) ὀγδοῇντα ὀχτῶ Chron. Mor. P 44 θέλει πόλβερη λίτρες ὀγδοῇντα (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 64.11) τάβλες ὀγδοήντα πέντε (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 84, 101.15–16) ὀγδοήντα (1609, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 59, 58.11)

ὀγδοήντα (1657, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 224, 198.29)

The earliest example of ὀγδόντα occurs in a text written in the 12th c.; however, the ms may not be earlier than the 15th c. (though the editor dates it to the 13th): ὀγδόντα ΚΑΜΑΤ., Astron. 3380a. The form ὀγδόντα is better attested from the 16th c. onwards, but it still appears to be less frequent than ὀγδοήντα:

πεντακόσιες ὀγδόντα Diig. Alex. K 365.4

ἐτοῦτοι οἱ ὀγδονταπέντε γιανιτσάροι (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 28, 78.3) χρόνους ογδόντα Apoll. Rim. A E V 1866 ογδόντα παλτατζήδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1229 ὀγδόντα δυὸ ὀκκάδες KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 83

The AG form ὀγδοήκοντα is also in use:

ὀγδοήκοντα χιλιάδες Chron. Mor. H 334 ἡμέρες ὀγδοήκοντα Alex. Rim. 2559 ὀγδοήκοντα ἦγουν 80 (1660, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 4, 311.7)

In a 17th-c. document from Thessaloniki we find the form οὐγουδουήντα (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 55.21), with “raising vocalism” (see I, 2.5.4).

For “ninety”, ἐνενήντα can be found from the 15th c. onwards:

ἐνενήντα νῆας ERMON., Ilias 3.264

καντάρια ἑκατὸν ἐνενήντα ἑννέα ἥμισυ Spanos A 186 ἐνενήντα χιλιάδες ὀργίες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 203.1

πρόβατα ἐνενήντα (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 15, 13.14–15) ὑπέρπυρα ἐνενήντα (1594, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 153, 278.2–3) ἐνενήντα πέντε φορτία PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.199–200

μὰ τοὺς ἐνενήντα πειραγμοὺς Ekatol. (Meteoron) 69 ἑκατὸν ἐνενήντα πέντε (1696, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 13, 215.2) ἐνενήκοντα also continues to be used, mainly in more formal contexts: σὺν ἄλλοις ἐνενήκοντα καὶ ὀκτῶ LIMEN., Than. Rod. 2.

6.1.7 The Hundreds ἑκατό(ν) is indeclinable and has a phonological variant with loss of initial /e/ (see I, 2.7.1): μέ τὰ ἑκατὸ στη φυλακή Paroim. (Warner) 121.14. Other examples:

τῶν χρονῶν ἑκατὸν πληρωμένων Chron. Mor. H 122; οἱ ἑκατὸν τζαγράφτοροι ibid. 6542 εἰς ἑκατὸ νὰ ράγηκεν Liv. E 44

εἰς ἑκατὸν μικρὰ μονοπατίτσα Liv. V 2357

ἑκατὸν μίλια Fior 144.37

ἑκατὸ πληγές Thysia Avr. 174

ἑκατὸ θανάτοι KORNAROS, Erot. IV.491

Numerals for 200–900 end in -κόσιοι, -αι/ες, -α (διακόσιοι, τριακόσιοι, τετρακόσιοι etc.) and are declined like the plural of adjectives in -ος (see 3.2.2); movement of stress to the penultimate may also occur in some cases.

Phonological variants arise due to synizesis and vowel deletion (e.g. τριακόσιοι > τρακόσιοι, for which see I, 2.4.7.4). Note, however, that resistance to synizesis is a common phenomenon in written texts throughout the period covered by this Grammar (see I, 2.9.4) and conservative spellings are very common.

We present here a small selection of examples, grouped by case, and we discuss phonological variants with information on distribution, where available.

Nominative

μόνοι τριακόσιοι μοναχοὶ Chron. Mor. H 4897 ἑφτακόσια (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1984) ἑπτακοσίοι ἥρωες ἀκολουθοῦν Pol. Tr. 1015 (stress on the 4th syllable for metrical reasons) διακοσίες χιλιάδες Diig. Alex. E 157.18 (Lolos) ἐσυμμαζωνόντανε τριακόσιοι SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 52.1

Depalatalized forms (see I, 2.4.7.3):

τρακόσιοι ἀπελάτες Dig. E 1158 (with deletion of /i/; see I, 2.4.7.4) ἑφτακόσα πενήντα (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 23.16) διακόσιοι βασιλήδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3025 πλέον παρὰ διακόσιοι DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 278 ἦταν πεντακόσιοι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2666

Genitive

Stress on the ultimate as a result of synizesis with subsequent depalatalization is common in texts from Crete (see I, 2.4.7.3):

ὑπερπύρων διακοσῶν (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 1, 4.20) τριῶν χιλιάδων καὶ τριακοσῶν ἐξήντα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 60, 57.5) διακοσῶν σπαχήδων ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 202 τῶν ὑπερπύρων τρακοσῶν (1607, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 418, 387.6) (also with vowel deletion; see I, 2.4.7.4)

For similar examples in adjectives see 3.2.2. An example with stress on the ultimate without evidence of palatalization has been found in a text possibly dating to the 12th c.: μοδίων διακοσιῶν (956 [12th? c. copy], Constantinople?, BOMPAIRE 1964: 1, 39.12). Depalatalized forms without movement of stress have been found in texts from Andros: ριαλιῶ πεντακόσω (1678, Andros, POLEMIS 1977: 1, 30.43).

Forms not exhibiting synizesis are also widely in use:

δύο ἑξακοσίων μέτρων (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.12) λιτρῶν διακοσίων ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 2024. διὰ τῶν τρακοσίων δουκάτων τὴν γῆς (1597, Kefalonia, CHRYSOCHOIDIS 1977: 2, 212.55–6) (with vowel deletion)

Rarely, forms with a second stress on the ultimate may be employed for metrical convenience: ἑξάκις χιλιάδων δὲ καὶ ὀχτακόσιων τε Chron. Mor. P 7299 (end of verse).

Accusative

Masculine and feminine forms (but not of course neuter ones) may have shift of stress to the penultimate:

- καὶ διακοσίους τζαγράτορους Chron. Mor. H 7153 πεντακοσίους ἄρχοντας Dig. E 277 διακοσίες Pol. Tr. 3225 app. crit. (BV) ὀχτακοσίες δεκαοχτῶ χιλιάδες Chron. Mor. P 45 σπαογλάνους ... ἑξακοσίους (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 11.8) πεντακοσίους καβούρους Spanos D 1698 εἶχεν γυναῖκες νομίμες ἐπτακοσίες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 300.29 ὑπέρπυρα διακόσια (1606, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 1, 258.10) γίνονται ὄλα διακόσια πενήντα τὸ ρέστος (1626, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 8, 46.39)

Masculine and feminine forms without movement of stress are also in use:

- τριακοσίες χιλιάδες δουκάτα (1487, Chios?, LEFORT 1981: 13, 77.18–19) λίτρες ἐγνιακόσιες (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 62.14) (with dental palatalization evident in the spelling <γν>; see I, 3.8.2.3) τριακοσίους ὅλους ἐκλεκτοὺς KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua IV.28 διακόσιες ὀργυῖες χοντρή Diig. Alex. F 36.7–9 (Konstantinopulos)

Examples with depalatalization:

- διακόσες χιλιάδες Pol. Tr. 3225 app. crit. (A) πῆχες διακόσες ἑννέα ἀπάνω κάτω (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 50, 88.46–7) δουκάτα πεντακόσα Apoll. Rim. A 724 διακόσες χιλιάδες Diig. Alex. F 156.19 (Lolos) ἥγου πεντακόσα (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 23.19) ἕως τετρακόσες χιλιάδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 34.1; πεντακόσες ὀργυῖες ibid. 81.16–17 γρόσα τριακόσα (1656, Amorgos, TSELIKAS 1988/1992: 3, 49.13) ρεάλια διακόσα (1669, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 1, 576.6)

6.1.8 Large Numbers

Numbers from 1,000 up to 1,999 consist of two or more words, as in MG:

- στοὺς χίλιους πεντακόσιους Apoll. Rim. E 1898 στοὺς χίλιους πεντακόσιους δώδεκα Apoll. Rim. V 1898 χίλια πεντακόσια SKLAVOS, Symf. 10 χίλια διακόσα ἐξήντα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol., 378.24

6.2 Ordinals

Ordinal numerals are not used much in the texts examined for this Grammar; they are of course necessary for fixed or relative dates, e.g. χίλιοστό ἑξακοσιοστό πεντηκοστό καὶ ἓνα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡΡ., Pali 7651 οὐ τὸν πρῶτον ... δεῦτερον ... τρίτον χρόνον (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 48.33), and other expressions of rank or order, which are found mostly in narrative texts: ranks of rulers and leaders, e.g. ἕξτος βασιλεὺς Chron. Tourk.

Soult. 43.4; ἕνας δὲ ἀπὸ τῶν πρώτων τοῦ βασιλέως VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.2–3. However, they are often expressed by alphabetic numerals, rather than written in full.

Two main groups can be identified: a stable group of ordinals where little or no variation or change occurs (πρῶτος, δεύτερος, τρίτος, τέταρτος, ἕνατος, δέκατος and the numerals for the tens and large numbers); and on the other hand the ordinals for five, six, seven, eight, where new forms ending in -ατος are used quite commonly (πέντατος, ἕξατος, ἑφτατος/ἑπτατος, ὀκτατος). The latter are formations produced by analogy to τέταρτος, ἕνατος and δέκατος. Interestingly, these innovative forms have not found their way into SMG and are attested only in Modern Greek dialects (for Tsakonian, see KOSTAKIS 1986/87, s.v. πέντατος).

Ordinals are declined like adjectives in -ος with feminine in -η (see 3.2.1) except for δεύτερος, which follows the pattern of adjectives in -ος with alternative feminine forms in -α or -η (see 3.2.3).

6.2.1 πρῶτος, -η, -ο(ν) νὰ πάρη ὁ πρῶτος του υἱὸς ... ὁ δεύτερος νὰ πάρη τὰ τρίτα, ὁ τρίτος νὰ πάρη τὰ τέταρτα (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 42, 36.1–3) ἦτον ὁ πρῶτος ὁ Ἀδάμ (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 270.8) πρώτη ἀπὸ τούτη (1562, Skyros, ANDONIADES 1990: 9, 23.22)

πρωτο- is very common as a prefix: Βλάση πρωτοπαπᾶ (1071, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 40, 126.33); ἐκεῖνος ἐναι πρωτοπαπᾶς Ptoch. IV 64 app. crit. (V).

6.2.2 δεύτερος, δευτέρα/δεύτερη, δεύτερο(ν)

The masculine and neuter decline regularly, except that shift of stress may occur, in accordance with AG rules, as in the third example:

ὁ δεύτερος ἐλάλησεν [ANDR. PALAIOLOG., Kallim. 228 δεύτερον ρώτημα Diig. Alex. Sem. B 333 ἐκ δευτέρου ἔριψεν ὁ ἄγιος MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 172

There is variation in the formation of the feminine. δεύτερη is attested from the 14th c. onwards, while δευτέρα is used widely throughout the period covered by this Grammar, and exclusively with the meaning “Monday” as a substantivized adjective.

ἡ δεύτερη (ἀδελφή) Chron. Mor. H 6025; τὴν δευτέραν ἡμέραν ibid. 7165 (exclusive form, but compare ὁ πόλεμος ἐγένετο ἡμέρα γὰρ δευτέρα ibid. 7296, where δευτέρα is used with the meaning “Monday”) τὴν δευτέραν εὐχὴν (15th c., Cyprus?, TSANGALAS 1983: 132.12) δεύτερη πάλιν σύνταξις Pol. Tr. 3244 app. crit. (BV, 16th c.), δευτέρα πάλιν σύνταξις ibid. app. crit. (AX, 15th c.)

δεύτερη νύκτα Rim. kor. A 33 τὴν δευτέραν στίμαν ἦν περ εἶχαν κάμει (1560, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 19, 19.25) δευτέρα ὥρα (1521, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: (b), 221.2) ἐναι ... ἡ Παρουσία Δευτέρα Def. Par. 52 εἰς δευτέρα παρουσία VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 204 δευτέραν φοράν Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 67

Quite rarely we also find feminine forms ending in -ο(ν): τὴν δεύτερον ἡμέραν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 909 (acc. δευτέραν also used in the text); τὴν δεύτερο ἡμέρα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 77.30 (for parallels see 3.2.4).

6.2.3 τρίτος, -η, -ο(ν) τὴν τρίτην φοράν (1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 534.17) τὸ τρίτον τοῦ μύλου (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.32–3) τρίτος μπαροῦς Chron. Mor. H 1925 ὁ δεύτερος νὰ πάρη τὰ τρίτα, ὁ τρίτος νὰ πάρη τὰ τέταρτα (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 42, 36.1–3) αὐτουμένων τῶν λεγομένων δύο τρίτων (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 154, 153.26) τὰ τρίτα Diig. Alex. F 38.5 (Konstantinopoulos)

Occasionally fem. sg. accusative forms ending in -ον can be found:

τὴν τρίτον φαντασία Byz. Il. 45 τὴν τρίτον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1104, ibid. 1153 (and nom. τρίτος ἡ ἡμέρα ibid. 918, cf. τὴν δεύτερον above) τὴν τρίτον βολάν Diig. Alex. F 288.17 τὴν τρίτον ἰντράδα (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 809, 705.7)

In texts from Crete and the Heptanese we occasionally find feminine forms ending in -α (possibly influenced by Ital. terza): νὰ γρικᾶται πρώτη, δεύτερη καὶ τρίτα στίμα (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 211, 216.9); Πράξις Τρίτα Zinon III.tit.

6.2.4 τέταρτος, -η, -ο(ν) τὸ τέταρτον μέρος (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 183.21) τὸ τέταρτον ἡμερίδι Chron. Mor. H 1025 ἡ τετάρτη φθάνοντα Velth. 572

A fem. sg. accusative form ending in -ον can also occasionally be found: τὴν τέταρτον ἡμέραν SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 106.

6.2.5 πέμπτος, -η, -ο(ν)/πέντατος, -η, -ο(ν)

The earliest attestations of πέντατος can be dated to the 15th c.:

τὸ πέντατο (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 28, 63.22) ἐβγάνοντας τὸ πέντατο (1523, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 85, 117.9) τὸ πέντατο Alosis 624
 ἡ πέντατος P&N Diath. 707

The form does not appear to supplant AG πέμπτος, πέμπτη, πέμπτο(ν), which is still widely in use:

τὸν πέμπτον φιλόσοφον Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 77.9–12 τὸ πέμπτον βιβλίον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 323.16 ἄττο πέμπτο CHORTATSI, Katz. IV.1

There also exists a phonological variant of πέμπτος with nasal deletion (see I, 3.6.2.2): πέπτον Achil. N 1780; ὁ πέπτος πάλε Τρώϊλος Pol. Tr. 1200 app. crit. (B). The form is also attested in 13th-c. S. Italian documents (CARACAUSI, Lex. s.v. πέμπτος).

The form πέφτος, -η, -ο(ν) (with manner dissimilation; see I, 3.8.1) and in its substantivized form Πέφτη (the fifth day of the week) has been found in texts from Cyprus and Crete and in a text possibly written in northern Greece.

ἡ πέφτη αἰτία Assizes B 438.25 πέφτη (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 62) τῆς ἀγίας Πέφτης MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 70.31 τὸ πέφτον ἐνι νὰ βλεπηθῇ Fior 146.36
 Πέφτη (1518, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 12, 56.16)

6.2.6 ἕκτος, -η, -ο(ν)/ἕξατος, -η, -ο(ν)

Not many examples of the ordinal numeral for “six” have been found in the texts examined. The innovative form ἕξατος, on the analogy of ἕνατος and δέκατος (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. and compare ἕπτατος), is used in texts from the 15th c. onwards:

τὸ ἕξατον τῶν ρ' ὀργυιῶν (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 89, 76.21) τὸ ἕξατον κεφάλαιον Synax. gyn. 326 ἕξατος βασιλεύ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 43.4 ἡ ἕξατος P&N Diath. 708

ἕκτος still occurs but rather few examples have been found:

ὁ ἕκτος λόγος Dig. G VI.1
 πόλεμος ἕκτος Pol. Tr. post 5532 app. crit. (V, tit.); πόλεμος δέκατος ἕκτος ibid. post 9133 app. crit. (V, tit.), ἕκτον, ἕβδομον οὕτως ibid. 10587 ἕκτος Μανδακλαβόητος ibid. 3301 app. crit. (B) (ms V ὅκτος; for the unusual change of stressed /e/ > /o/ before a non-labial consonant see I, 2.8.2)

6.2.7 ἕβδομος, -η, -ο(ν)/ἕπτατος/ἕφτατος, -η, -ο(ν)

Both ἕπτατος and ἕφτατος (the latter with manner dissimilation; see I, 3.8.1) are used in LMedG and EMG texts:

ἕνα ἕπτατο (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 89, 76.2) ὁ ἕφτατος Chron. Tourk. Soult. 47.2
 ἡ ἕφτατος P&N Diath. 708

The inherited form ἕβδομος continues to be widely used: στὸ ἕβδομον κεφάλαιον Fyll. gadar. 264o; ἕβδομον, τὰ Σφακιά ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali post 10241.

6.2.8 ὄγδοος, -η, -ο(ν)/ὄκτατος/ὄχτατος, -η, -ο(ν)

Both ὄκτατος and ὄχτατος (with manner dissimilation; see I, 3.8.1) can be found in LMedG and EMG texts, though neither is very common: ἕνα ὄκτατον (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 77, 58.1); ἦτον υἱὸς ὄχτατος τοῦ Ἰακώβ DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 4, 86r.36. The usual form is still ὄγδοος:

ὄγδον τὸ λέγουν Chron. Mor. H 1026 (simplification of two identical vowels; see I, 2.9.2.1) ,αυξ' ὀγδόγης Χριστοῦ (ms ογδογισ) (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 143, 68.3–4) (glide anaptyxis; see I, 3.5.2.1) τὸν ὄγδοον Achil. N 98 σένα ὄγδοη CHORTATISIS, Katz. 2.8.40

6.2.9 ἕνατος, -η, -ο(ν)

In addition to the normal ἕνατος (e.g. ὁ ἕνατος Pol. Tr. 3304) we have found one instance of the form ἐννέατος Chron. Tourk. Soult. 55.17.

6.2.10 The Tens

Only τεσσαρακοστός, -η, -ο(ν) has a vernacular counterpart σαρακοστός, -η, -ο(ν) (cf. also substantivized Σαρακοστή, “Lent”). All other ordinals for the tens present little or no variation. We present here some representative examples:

ἐκλεφετε τὸ δέκατο P&N Diath. 2830 ὁ ἐνδέκατος Μαντάνης Pol. Tr. 3305 σένα ἐντεκάτη CHORTATISIS, Katz. I.it. post 342 (for the voiced stop preceded by a nasal see I, 3.2.1.2) δωδέκατος Ἀλιδωμῶν Pol. Tr. 3306 app. crit. (B) (ms V has δισδέκατος, which seems to be an ad hoc construction) πόλεμος δέκατος τρίτος Pol. Tr. post 8526 app. crit. (B) δέκατος τέταρτος Pol. Tr. post 8927 app. crit. (V) εἰς τὸν δέκατον ἕκτον χρόνον Alex. Fyll. 5.18 τὸ εἰκοστὸν τὸ ἔτος Byz. Il. 357 εἰς τὸ εἰκοστὸ αὐτοῦ πρώτο κεφάλαιον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 353.4–5; τὸ εἰκοστὸν τρίτο κεφάλαιο ibid. 386.29 τὸν τριακοστὸν Pol. Tr. 3404 app. crit. (AX) καὶ ἔτος γὰρ τριακοστὸν καὶ τρίτον Dig. A 1299 τὸν τεσσαρακοστὸν ἀριθμὸν Dig. G VI.129 app. crit.
 ὁ σαρακοστός ψαλμὸς KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 364.39¹ πεντηκοστὸν <ἐγώ> δεύτερον ἔτος ἄγω Dig. G VI.355 τὸν ἑβδομηκοστὸν πρώτον αὐτοῦ ψαλμὸν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 339.24; τὸ ὀγδοηκοστὸν πρώτον κεφάλαιον ibid. 365.32

¹ σαρακοστός, -η, -ο(ν) also occurs in Kamateros (12th c.) (σαρακοστὸν τὸ ἕκτον KAMAT., Astron. 702).

6.2.11 Large Numbers

Ordinals for large numbers are used very rarely; they occur mainly in dates, where higher-register forms tend to be used. No innovative forms were found in the texts examined. Some examples:

ἐκατοστὸν μερίδι Pol. Tr. app. crit. (A) χιλιοστῷ εξακοσιοστῷ τεσσαρακοστῷ ογδῶ, τούτῳ ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 4946; χιλιοστό εξακοσιοστό πεντηκοστό και ένα ibid. 7651

6.2.12 Ordinals in Fractions

In an arithmetic book of unknown provenance dating to the 15th c. (HUNGER/VOGEL 1963) we find several examples of ordinals in substantivized neuter forms used for fractions. The ending -άτο(ν), plural -ατα, is used exclusively here, including also for δύο (δύοτα) and for large numbers (τετρακόσατα, ὀκτακόσατα).

καὶ δύο ἑφτατα (app. crit.) (89, 76.18) καὶ τριάντα ἕξι χιλιάδες σαράντα χιλιάδες ὀκτακόσατα (89, 76.28) καὶ τετρακόσια ὀγδοήντα τέσσερις χιλιάδες τριάντα δύοτα (89, 76.24) ἕνα ἑπτατο (89, 76.2) ἕνα ὀκτατον τοῦ πύργου (77, 58.1) ἐνενήτα ἕξι ἑξάτα (76.4–5) ὀκτακόσια πενήντα ὀκτῶ χίλια ὀκτακόσατα (100.18)

6.3 Collective Numerals

Collective numerals, as in MG, take the form of feminine nouns ending in -άδα (e.g. εἰκοσάδα, inclusive collectives, for a definitive number or an approximation) or -αριά (e.g. τετρακοσαριά, approximative collectives, preceded often by καμμιά, as in MG).

The ending -άδα has its origins in AG collective numerals like δυάς, τριάς, εἰκοσάς, which were subsequently remodelled (for details see 2.11.2.2).

τρία εἶχε ἡ χιλιάδα Chron. Mor. H 4659; μία χιλιάδα ibid. 5099 μονόκοιλα εἰκοσάδα Poulol. 197 εἰς τὴν καθὲν χιλιάδα (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 188, 160.16) ἡ πεντηκοντάδα CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1073; στους χρόνους ογδοντάδα ibid. 2253 app. crit.
 στήν χιλιάδα (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 148.31) οκτῶ εκατοστάδες ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 1232 (from ἐκατοστός or ἐκατοστή)

The suffix -αριά has been found in EMG texts only:

εἶναι καμιά διακοσαριά ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 2243 πενηνταριά (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 2, 27.6) καμμιά τετρακοσαριά πῆχες (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 10, 307, f.1r.19) καμιά χιλιαδαριά (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.13) τὴ σαρανταρὰ FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.365 (for deletion of /j/ after /r/ see I, 2.4.7.4) μονάχας μιὰ τριανταρὰ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 414

Collective numerals in -αριά are declined like oxytone feminine nouns in -ά (see 2.11.5 for the paradigm).

6.4 Multiplicative Numerals

This is a category which is used very rarely in LMedG and EMG texts; the endings found are -πλός, -πλή, -πλό, as in MG (from AG ἀπλοῦς, διπλοῦς, τριπλοῦς, remodelled like adjectives in -ος, see 3.2.5).

διπλή η εορτή Diig. Apoll. 789 πάσσα σου πόνος διπλοτριπλός στρέφεται πρὸς ἑμένα FALIEROS, Thrinos 49 διπλὰ διπλὰ τὰ κάμασι KORNAROS, Erot. III.396

6.5 Relative Numerals

Relative numerals are used only sporadically in the texts examined. The AG suffix -πλάσιος, -α, -ον is still in use:

τοσοῦτον πολλαπλάσιος ἀπόκειται μισθός σοι GLYKAS, Stichoí 440 πυρὸς ἑπταπλασίου Ptoch. IV 659–1 app. crit. (PK) καὶ ἡ διωρία διπλασία καὶ οὕτως νὰ ἔναι τετραπλάσιον τὸ κέρδος (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 34, 32.5–6)

ἀπὸ τὸ ποτὸν διπλάσιον LANDOS, Geopon. 181.37; τὸν μισθὸν πολυπλάσιον ibid. 277.12

Older collective numeral forms ending in -πλασίων, declined like two-termination adjectives in -ων (see 3.3.4), can also be found sporadically in EMG texts:

νὰ τὸ ἀπολάβῃ ἑκατονταπλασίονα Vios Aisop. D 210.40–1 νὰ μὴν δὲν τὰ πάρει ἑκατονταπλασίονα KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 10.30; καρπὸν ἑκατονταπλασίονα ibid. Louk. 8.8

Residual adverbs with the ending -πλασίως can also be found in LMedG and EMG texts:

ξένα ἑπταπλασίως Achil. O 477 μάχονται πάλιν ἑπταπλασίως Byz. II. 991 δεκαπλασίως ὁ ἄνθρωπος FALIEROS, Logoi Did. 94

Part III

Verb Morphology

1 Introduction

Part III deals with the morphology of the verb. It is divided into four sections: Verb Morphology (Chapters 2–4) and Morphosyntax (5). The verb morphology sections discuss how synthetic verb forms are made up, from the formation of the imperfective and perfective stems to conjugation (i.e. endings) and the addition of the augment in past-tense forms. Morphosyntax deals with periphrastic, or auxiliary verb, constructions.

1.1 Overview of Developments in the Verbal System

1.1.1 Stems

Due to the demise of the perfect and the synthetic future in the post-classical period the verbal system of LMedG and EMG, as SMG, relied on two stems to form all its moods and tenses: the imperfective or present stem and the perfective or aorist stem.

From Antiquity onwards, the Greek verbal system had been subject to various processes of simplification, regularization and analogical levelling, especially in the imperfective stem. Verbs in -μι had gradually lost their athematic formation and acquired thematic imperfective stems, while the copula εἰμί was remodelled into a passive paradigm. Verbs in -σσω (Attic -ττω) had long before started to form new imperfective stems modelled on verbs in -ζω, based on the fact that both verb classes had perfective stems in [ks] (see 2.2.1.3); as a consequence, verbs in -ζω sometimes acquired alternatives in -σσω (e.g. τρομάζω > τρομάσσω). Interaction between barytone verbs, i.e. verbs that bear the stress on the verb stem such as γράφω, and oxytone verbs, i.e. verbs that bear the stress on their endings such as the A-stem verb ἄγαπῶ and the E-stem verb κρατῶ, continues into the period covered by this Grammar, with the spread of the verbal affixes -ίζω, -άζω and -άνω/-αίνω at the expense of oxytone -ῶ, a development that, again, predates the period covered by this Grammar.

Verbs with nasal stems in -αν and -υν, which had identical imperfective and perfective stems, underwent an extensive levelling process before the period covered by this Grammar, acquiring new imperfective verb stems in -αίν.

Long before the LMedG period oxytone O-stem verbs such as δηλῶ and πληρῶ had acquired new barytone stems in -ων (HORROCKS ²2010: 305). The earliest example of this found so far occurs in a 4th-c. papyrus: ἐπεὶ ἐρημώνουσιν οὔτοι ὄλην τὴν κώμην P.Nepheros 19 (see www.papyri.info). Addition of /n/ is a trend that can also be observed in other verb classes such as barytone vowel stems (e.g. λύω > λύνω), stems ending in /r/ (e.g. φέρω > φέρνω), spreading to /l/ (στέλλω > στέλνω) and certain velar stems (διώκω > διώχνω) in the period covered by this Grammar. Moreover, barytone vowel-stem verbs may become consonant stems through the addition of <γ> (ἀκούω > ἀκούγω) or make a partial or full transfer to the oxytone paradigm (e.g. λύω > λυῶ). As a result, certain consonant stems in -γ may lose their consonant and acquire vowel-stem alternatives, after which one of the two consecutive vowels may be deleted in all persons but 1 sg., e.g. λέγω > λέω, λές.

The perfective stem generally remained more stable. The majority of verbs, both barytone and oxytone, continue to have a sigmatic perfective stem, which may show phonological developments such as the dissimilation of /fs/ to /ps/ in the active voice of verbs in -εύω and -ύω and of /fθ/ to /ft/, /sθ/ to /st/ and /xθ/ to /xt/ in the passive voice (see I, 3.8.1). Regionally /ft/ and /xt/ can subsequently “re-assimilate” and become /pt/ and /kt/ respectively (see 2.2.1.2.2, 2.2.1.3.2). Other, non-phonological, developments include the appearance of a velar in certain nasal stems, e.g. μαζώνω, μαζώξω (2.2.1.5.1); and the appearance of /ks/ in certain oxytone verbs by analogy with barytone verbs in -άζω and -ίζω with an underlying velar: e.g. ἔρωτῶ, ἐρώτηξα; πλαντῶ, ἐπλάνταξα (2.2.1.9.2, 2.2.1.9.4). Certain verbs, both barytone and oxytone, have an alternative aorist indicative in -κα. This is not restricted to inherited ἔδωκα, ἄφηκα, ἔθηκα and εὗρηκα (originally a perfect), but also extends to βαίνω and its prefixed derivatives, to certain verbs in -ώνω (e.g. ἐγλύτωκα, ἐπλήρωκα), certain oxytone verbs (e.g. ἔποικα, ἐβάρηκα), and to a few other isolated verbs (ἔπεκε for ἔπεσε) (see 2.2.1.10.1). These /k/-stems, especially of δίδω and ἀφίηνω, but sporadically also of other verbs, are sometimes also employed in non-past forms, such as the subjunctive, the gerund, the infinitive and the imperative (see 2.2.1.10.2).

Verbs that do not have a sigmatic perfective stem can be divided into two categories: those with a liquid/nasal perfective stem (2.2.2.1) and those with a thematic perfective stem (2.2.2.2). The first group includes certain inherited verbs with an imperfective stem ending in a nasal (e.g. λαμβάνω, κρίνω) or liquid (e.g. ἀγγέλλω, σφάλλω). The second group includes verbs that had a thematic (second) aorist in AG (e.g. βάλλω, ἔρχομαι), which usually retain their inherited perfective stem, though some transfer to the sigmatic formation (e.g. prefixed forms of ἄγω, λείπω, τρέχω). The verbs τρώγω and ὑπάγω may lose their intervocalic /y/ in their perfective stems φαγ- and ὑπαγ-, after which, similarly to imperfective vowel stems, the second of the two consecutive vowels may be deleted in all persons but 1 sg., e.g. subjunctive φάω, φᾶς; πᾶω, πᾶς; aorist indicative ἔφας (see 2.2.2.3).

1.1.2 Participles

Throughout the LMedG and EMG periods two participles remain in use: the present passive participle and the perfect passive participle.

The present participle had a wider use in the period covered by this Grammar than in SMG, and is not restricted to passivizable and deponent verbs, even appearing with active meaning with verbs that lack passive morphology (e.g. πηγαίνόμενος, τρεμούμενος). Its use is mainly adverbial, comparable to the gerund, or adjectival. There is variation in the thematic vowels: for barytone verbs it may be inherited /o/, /u/ (originally that of oxytone E- and O-stem verbs) or /a/ (originally that of the middle aorist); for oxytone verbs /u/ is by far the most common for both E-stem and A-stem verbs (see 2.3.1.2).

Inherited perfect participles, mainly in unreduplicated form, remained in use after the demise of the perfect, functioning as verbal adjectives and used in periphrastic tenses such as the perfect and the pluperfect. The participle remained a very productive verbal category. New “perfect” participles were formed by adding -μένος to the aorist stem (see 2.3.2). For the declension of these participles see II, 3.2.1.

1.1.3 The Augment

The augment remains widely in use in the period covered by this Grammar to mark a verb form for past tense (aorist or imperfect). The syllabic augment, employed with verbs that start in a consonant, is generally /e/, though /i/ occurs widely with a few specific verbs and regionally with all verbs (see 3.1.2). The temporal (or quantitative) augment, employed with verbs starting in a vowel, has ceased to be a productive category in the period covered by this Grammar, limiting itself mainly to inherited verbs (3.1.4). In consonant-initial compound verbs, external /e/ augment only is by far the most common (e.g. ἐνεφροκοποῦνταν, ἐπερνοδιάβαινε; see 3.2.1). In vowel-initial verbs, sometimes the temporal augment is used (e.g. ἡκροεσσύπαζε, ηὔχαριστεί; see 3.2.2.1), but more often the forms remain un-augmented (ἄκροστάθηκα, οἰκονομήθη, ὁμολόγησαν; 3.2.2.5) or the /e/ augment replaces the initial vowel of the verb (e.g. ἐκροβάσταξεν, ἐκονόμησεν, ἐμολόγησε; 3.2.2.2). Verbs that are prefixed with a preposition, on the other hand, may have internal augment, external augment, both or neither, syllabic or temporal, leading to great variation (see the introduction to 3.3).

1.1.4 Conjugation

In the period covered by this Grammar the verbal system has two voices: the active and the passive (sometimes called mediopassive), the middle voice having fallen into disuse long before the LMedG period (see 4.9.1 and 4.9.2). Three of the four moods remain: the indicative, the subjunctive and the imperative. There are three synthetic tenses: the present, the aorist and the imperfect; the future, the perfect, the pluperfect and the future perfect are expressed periphrastically (see Chapter 5). Alternative periphrastic constructions also exist for the aorist indicative and the imperfect (5.6), as well as for the subjunctive (5.7). Invariable verbal categories include the infinitive (4.6) and the innovative gerund (4.7).

There is tremendous innovation and variation in the conjugation of verbs, especially in the passive voice. For some persons and tenses it is easier to establish which form has the more general use than for others. Some show great chronological and/or regional variation, others, notably 2 pl., surprisingly little.

In the LMedG and EMG periods oxytone E-stem verbs are under pressure from A-stems, and A-stem endings are widely employed with E-stem verbs. Furthermore, towards the end of the LMedG period E-stems also become influenced by the barytone paradigm, adding active past-tense endings for 2 sg. and 3 sg. and the sg. ending of the imperative to modify less transparent forms, e.g. imperf. ἐκάλει > ἐκάλειε, ἐκάλεις > ἐκάλειες (4.3.2); imp. κάλει > κάλειε (4.5.1.2). In the imperfective passive voice, too, the endings of the barytone paradigm are employed, starting with 3 sg. and 2 sg. Strikingly, the /i/ of the earlier ending is retained (often simplified from <ει> to <ι>): βαρεῖσαι > βαρειέσαι, βαρεῖται > βαρειέται; ἐβαρεῖτον > ἐβαρειέτον. Contrary to the active voice, where the phenomenon is limited to forms with /i/ in their ending, in the passive voice the resulting semivowel /j/ spread to other forms as well: e.g. βαροῦμαι > βαρειόμαι; κρατοῦνται > κρατειόνται. A little later /u/ was reintroduced in these forms: βαρειοῦμαι, κρατιοῦνται (see 2.1.2.2.4).

The endings of the present and aorist subjunctives had been replaced with those of the present indicative, as due to sound change they had become largely homophonous. This development predates the LMedG period by many centuries (see 4.2).

A small group of verbs, namely μπορῶ, μέλλω, θέλω and πᾶω, present the following peculiarity: when used impersonally followed by the conjunction νά, univerbation of the verb and the conjunction into a single lexeme may occur, resulting in μπορά (see 4.1.2.1), μελλά (see 5.1.2), θελά (see 5.1.4.5) and πᾶ (see 2.4 s.v. ὑπάγω) followed by a bare subjunctive (see BAKKER 1988/89: 304 on μπορά and πᾶ in Varouchas).

In past-tense morphology (aorist indicative and imperfect) a common set of past-tense endings, combining elements from the aorist, the imperfect and the perfect, had been introduced for the active voice of barytone verbs: -α, -ες, -ε(ν), -αμε(ν), -ετε, -αν/-ασι(ν) (BABINIOTIS 1972: 203–31; HORROCKS ²2010: 318–19). For the passive imperfect various innovations on the old middle forms came into being, the most common of which end in -μουν for 1 sg., -σουν for 2 sg., -μεστε/-μεσθε for 1 pl. and -νταν for 3 pl. (see 4.3). In texts of northern provenance the imperfect and aorist indicative show columnar stress, e.g. ἔπαιζα, ἔπαιζάμεν; ἔγραφα, ἔγραφάμεν, ἐστάθηκα, ἐστάθηκάμεν (see 4.3.1 and 4.4 and cf. NEWTON 1973: 220–1 for the same phenomenon in modern northern dialects).

The aorist indicative shows less variation than the imperfect. The AG thematic aorist in -ον occurs residually, with minor regional variation (see 4.4.1.2). Other than that, all verbs make use of the common set of past-tense endings for the active voice and select from two alternative sets of endings for the passive, inherited -ην and innovative -ηκα (see 4.4.2). In texts with Pontic features evidence has been found for the modern Pontic passive aorist indicative, which is formed by adding the active past-tense endings to the passive verb stem (see 4.4.2).

The active present imperative of barytone verbs makes use of the inherited endings -ε (2 sg.) and -ετε (2 pl.), whereas oxytone verbs have inherited -α, -ᾶτε for both A- and E-stem verbs, and -ει, -εῖτε for E-stem verbs. The passive present imperative is inherited -ου and -εσθε/-εστε for barytone verbs, and for oxytone verbs -οῦ (originally that of E-stem verbs) and -ᾶσθε/-ᾶστε (originally that of A-stem verbs), or -εῖσθε/-εῖστε (E-stem verbs only). There is some regional variation to be noted (see 4.5). The active aorist imperative of barytone and oxytone verbs ends in -ε and -ετε. Certain verbs have active imperatives in -α, -ᾶτε (4.5.1.1.1).

The passive aorist imperative has two main alternatives for the singular: -ου and -ησε, the first borrowed from the present, and the second a reanalysis of the old form in -ητι. For the plural the most common ending is -εῖτε/-ῆτε, which is in fact the ending of the subjunctive replacing that of the imperative (-ητε) (see 4.5.2.2). Certain verbs have passive imperatives in -α, -ᾶτε (4.5.2.3).

The active and passive present and aorist infinitives are the only ones that survived into the period covered by this Grammar. The active present infinitive of barytone verbs ends in $-\epsilon\iota(\nu)$ (see 4.6.1.1.1), as does the active aorist infinitive of both barytone and oxytone verbs (4.6.2.1). The passive present infinitive ends in $-\epsilon\sigma\theta\alpha\iota/-\epsilon\sigma\tau\alpha\iota$ for barytone verbs (see 4.6.1.2.1), in $-\tilde{\alpha}\sigma\theta\alpha\iota/-\tilde{\alpha}\sigma\tau\alpha\iota$ for oxytone A- and E-stems, whereas $-\epsilon\tilde{\iota}\sigma\theta\alpha\iota/-\epsilon\tilde{\iota}\sigma\tau\alpha\iota$ is only employed with E-stem verbs (4.6.1.2.2). The passive aorist infinitive adopted $-\epsilon\tilde{\iota}(\nu)$ for $-\tilde{\eta}\nu\alpha\iota$ long before the LMedG period (see 4.6). Verbs with a thematic active aorist develop alternative paroxytone variants in $-\epsilon\iota(\nu)$ instead of oxytone $-\epsilon\tilde{\iota}(\nu)$ from the 11th/12th c. onwards (see 4.6.2.3).

The innovative category of the invariable gerund developed from the active present participle in $-\omega\nu$, during a long process that took place before the LMedG period (see 4.7). It originally ended in $-\omicron\nu\tau\alpha$ for barytone verbs, and for oxytone A- and E-stem verbs in $-\tilde{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha$ (originally A-stem) or $-\omicron\tilde{\upsilon}\nu\tau\alpha$ (originally E-stem). In the LMedG period, the present-day SMG variants in $-\nu\tau\alpha\varsigma$ emerge (4.7.1). Contrary to SMG, LMedG and EMG also have aorist gerunds in $-\nu\tau\alpha(\varsigma)$ (4.7.2). There is some regional variation in the formation of the gerund.

The chapter on conjugation concludes with a section on the rich morphology of the verb $\epsilon\tilde{\iota}\mu\alpha\iota$, which had started gradually to move over from the $-\mu\iota$ paradigm to a passive one, with variation comparable to the passive voice of other verbs (see 4.8).

1.1.5 Morphosyntax

By the beginning of the LMedG period the synthetic future, perfect, pluperfect and future perfect had disappeared from the spoken language and had been replaced by various analytic constructions.

The future tense can be formed with $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ + subjunctive, or with an auxiliary verb such as $\mu\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\lambda\omega$, $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\omega$ or $\xi\chi\omega$ (see 5.1) with various complementations among which the infinitive, the subjunctive, and $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ + subjunctive. Alternative formations of the future include $\theta\acute{\epsilon}(\nu)$ $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ + subjunctive, $\theta\acute{\alpha}$ + subjunctive and $\epsilon\tilde{\iota}\mu\alpha\iota$ $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ + subjunctive.

The future periphrases with an auxiliary verb have past-tense counterparts, which are used to express future in the past, conditionality and/or counterfactuality (see 5.2). The complementation of these auxiliary verbs shows the same variation as that of the future. Regionally, there is even a past-tense equivalent $\tilde{\eta}\theta\epsilon(\nu)$ for invariable $\theta\acute{\epsilon}(\nu)$ (see 5.2.3.6). Cypriot Greek is unique in using $\tilde{\eta}\rho\tau\alpha$, the aorist indicative of $\tilde{\epsilon}\rho\chi\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$, as an auxiliary to form the conditional (see 5.2.5).

Periphrastic constructions for the pluperfect emerge in the LMedG period. The first, $\epsilon\tilde{\iota}\chi\alpha$ + active or passive infinitive, evolved from the conditional. The second, $\epsilon\tilde{\iota}\chi\alpha$ + perfect passive participle, evolved from the use of $\epsilon\tilde{\iota}\chi\alpha$ + (adjectival) participle in apposition, denoting a stative past equivalent to an imperfect. The passive of this construction is formed by substituting $\tilde{\eta}\mu\omicron\upsilon\nu$ for $\epsilon\tilde{\iota}\chi\alpha$. In the EMG period $\tilde{\eta}\theta\epsilon\lambda\alpha$ + infinitive, common for the conditional, starts to be used for the pluperfect as well, though this is regionally restricted to texts from southern areas. Furthermore, various regionally differentiated complementations can be found for $\epsilon\tilde{\iota}\chi\alpha$, $\tilde{\eta}\mu\omicron\upsilon\nu$ and $\tilde{\eta}\theta\epsilon\lambda\alpha$ including the subjunctive, the gerund, verbal adjectives and even nouns (see 5.3).

The most common periphrasis for the perfect indicative is ἔχω + perfect passive participle for the active voice and εἶμαι + perfect passive participle for the passive (see 5.4.1). Sporadically the present passive participle is substituted for the perfect. The same construction can be found in Venetian-ruled areas with a past participle in -δος. Regionally a verbal adjective in -τός may replace the participle (see 5.4.1.3), whereas in texts from Crete the gerund may take its place (5.4.1.5). A construction consisting of ἔχω + noun occurs quite regularly with certain nouns (5.4.1.4). Finally, the SMG perfect ἔχω + aorist infinitive appears towards the very end of the period covered by this Grammar and is geographically restricted to texts of northern provenance (5.4.1.6).

Although in theory all ways in which a future can be formed could be used to form the future perfect as well, this is not the case. Because the future perfect is much rarer than the future, variation is more limited: very few examples have for instance been found with νά and μέλλω νά. The most common way of expressing past in the future is the perfect infinitive (ἔχει(ν) + perfect passive participle; regionally ἔχει(ν) + gerund or ἔχει(ν) + loanword in -δος) preceded by θέλω, which marks it for future (see 5.5).

It is not uncommon for the ἦθελα and εἶχα constructions to be equivalent to an aorist indicative or an imperfect rather than a conditional or pluperfect (see 5.6).

Before and in LMedG and EMG even the subjunctive can be expressed periphrastically, most commonly by the future periphrases ἔχω or θέλω + infinitive (see 5.7.1, 5.7.2), and regionally by other future constructions such as θέ νά and θά + subjunctive (5.7.2.4 and 5.7.2.5).

1.2 Paradigms and Tables

For each paradigm, several tables are provided. Each section starts off with a synoptic table of all forms found in the texts examined, in the form of a paradigm. Where applicable, the variant forms of the paradigm are divided into three categories: General for endings – either inherited or innovative – that are widely in use in the period under investigation; Restricted for endings with a more limited geographical or chronological distribution; Rare for endings that have been found in one or very few texts. The endings are then discussed and documented for each person separately under the heading Distribution of allomorphs. Whenever there is variation in the ending for the same person, the different endings are grouped together based on morphological correspondence, and treated – where possible – in chronological order of appearance, and/or according to geographical spread.

Phenomena that occur across parts of speech and are often of a phonetic nature will be mentioned briefly in order to draw the reader's attention to their existence, but for details the reader is referred to the relevant sections in Phonology (Part I). Such phenomena include, for instance, deletion of final /n/ and addition of -(ν)ε. Idiosyncratic and clearly graphematic forms found in a collection of documents from Ikaria, in which the vowel of the ending is repeated after the final consonant, e.g. πουλούνου, παραδίδουνου, πᾶνα for πουλοῦν, παραδίδουν, πᾶν (but also υἱόσο for υἱός, Νικόλασα for Νικόλας, μάρατυρεσε for μάρτυρες, πέραμανα for πέραμαν, τὸ ἀληθέσε for τὸ ἀληθές, ἐδικόσο for ἐδικός) have not been included in the paradigm descriptions, but are discussed in I, 2.6.3.

2 Stem Formation

As mentioned in Chapter 1, by the beginning of the LMedG period most major developments in verb stem formation had already taken place. Moreover, from the classical period onwards, a process of extensive analogical levelling had been at work throughout the verb system, adapting anomalous, or at least less transparent, classes of verbs to more regular paradigms (for overviews of developments in verbal stems see CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 266–306; BABINIOTIS 1972; KATSOUDA 2007 and HORROCKS ²2010: 303–16).

The synthetic future had started to disappear from the spoken language in Late Antiquity (JANNARIS 1897: 553); nevertheless certain residual monolectic futures are still used occasionally, especially those which display formal similarity with the aorist subjunctive (see 4.9.2.4). The same holds true for the perfect, which had started to merge semantically with the aorist in the Koine, and contributed to the development of a common set of past-tense endings by supplying the ending -ασι as an alternative for 3 pl. -αν. There is not enough convincing textual evidence to corroborate the commonly held view that many perfects began a new life as aorists by substituting an augment for their reduplication (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 74–5; JANNARIS 1897: 190–1 and 440; HORROCKS ²2010: 176–8): the only perfects that survived as aorists are those which originally had an augment, or an initial [e] that could be reinterpreted as an augment, such as εὔρηκα. Other aorists in -κα appeared long after the demise of the perfect and are the result of an analogy with aorists such as ἔδωκα, ἔθηκα (see 2.2.1.10). Apart from the occasional residual form, such as γέγονα or οἶδα, the only form of the perfect that remained in use, as an adjective and in periphrastic constructions, was the (mostly unreduplicated) perfect passive participle in -μένος; because the perfect stem had fallen into disuse, new “perfect” passive participles were formed from the aorist stem, e.g. περασμένος from περνῶ, περασ- (where AG had only an active participle: πεπερασκώς); for details, see 2.3.2. Thus, in the LMedG and EMG periods, as in MG, the verbal system relies on two stems to form all its tenses: the imperfective or present stem and the perfective or aorist stem.

Long before the period covered by this Grammar -μι verbs had gradually lost their athematic formation and acquired thematic imperfective verb stems, starting with verbs in -(ν)υμι, which already in AG sometimes had alternatives in -ύω (e.g. ὀμνύω < ὀμνυμι, GIGNAC 1981: 375), and spreading subsequently to other -μι verbs. AG ἴστημι and ἵσταμαι were replaced by (ι)στένω/σταίνω/στήνω (< aor. ἔστησα) and στήκω/στήκομαι/στέκω/στέκομαι (< perf. ἔστηκα) respectively, the deponent verbs δύναμαι and κάθημαι developed thematic variants in -ομαι, while εἰμί was remodelled into a passive paradigm (see 4.8). This process was completed by the EMedG period (HORROCKS ²2010: 304). Sporadically, residual forms of -μι verbs are used in the period covered by this Grammar, especially in early texts, often alongside forms of the newer variants.

Verbs in -σσω (Attic -ττω) started to form new imperfective stems modelled on verbs in -ζω (e.g. συντάζω < συντάσσω, τινάζω < τινάσσω), with which they had their perfective stems in [ks] in common, starting already in AG, and becoming more frequent from the Koine onwards (DIETERICH 1898: 233, GIGNAC 1981: 271–2). The reverse development is also attested (σφάττω < σφάζω, ἀρμόττω < ἀρμόζω). In the LMedG and EMG periods forms with -ζ are used alongside forms with -σσ and -ττ, and some verbs develop an alternative stem in -γ (see 2.1.1.1.3).

The spread of the verbal affixes -ίζω, -άζω and -άνω/-αίνω at the expense of oxytone -άω and -έω can already be observed in Ptolemaic papyri (MAYSER 1923: 466). This trend continues before and into the period under review (see 2.1.3.2). The reverse phenomenon also occurs, e.g. βαστῶ for βαστάζω is first attested in the 10th-c. Life of St Andrew the Fool (see LBG, s.v. βαστάω).

In the Hellenistic period confusion arose regarding the contracted forms of oxytone A- and E-stems, so that we can observe a tendency to use the ου-forms of the E-stems instead of the ω-forms of the A-stems, and the α-forms of the A-stems instead of the ει-forms of the E-stems (BLASS et al. 1961: 45–6). This trend continues to manifest itself throughout the period covered by this Grammar (see Chapter 4, passim).

From about the 7th c. onwards contract verbs in -όω started to acquire new imperfective stems in -ών (DIETERICH 1898: 230–1), following a clear trend of substituting imperfective -ν- for perfective -σ- (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 408, PSALTES 1913: 235–6). This trend had already manifested itself in other verb classes such as barytone vowel stems, e.g. χύν(ν)ω < χέω on the basis of the aorist ἐχύθην, which can already be found in compound verbs in the New Testament (BLASS et al. 1961: 39) (see also 2.1.1.2). In the MedG period this nasal subsequently spread to liquid stems in -ρ: not only to those with identical imperfective and perfective stems, e.g. φέρνω < φέρω, σύρνω < σύρω, but also to those with distinct imperfective and perfective stems, both barytone, e.g. (ἐ)παίρνω < ἐπαίρω and oxytone, e.g. περνῶ < περῶ (HORROCKS ²2010: 305–6). The earliest example found so far, quoted in JANNARIS 1897: 229, is the form ἔπαιρνευ in Theophanes, Chronogr. 224.21 (8th–9th c.; ed. De Boor), which also has περνοῦσι ibid. 234.9. Textual evidence for the same phenomenon with liquid stems in -λ has not been found before the 14th c.; see 2.1.2.2.1. In, or shortly before, the period covered by this Grammar, this nasal started to affect certain velar stems as well, producing forms such as διώχνω < διώκω – resulting in a morpheme -χν- that could be used to form new imperfective stems for various other verbs that did not originally have a velar stem, such as ψάχνω (< ψάύω), σπρώχνω (< εἰσπρώθω), φτιάχνω (< φτιάζω < εὐθειάζω) (see 2.1.1.1.4).

The desire to distinguish imperfective from perfective stems led to verbs with nasal stems in -αν and -υν being subjected to an extensive levelling process already in Hellenistic times, acquiring new imperfective verb stems in -αίν (JANNARIS 1897: 228), modelled on a large class of verbs in -αίνω that had perfective stems in -αν (HORROCKS ²2010: 306–7). Before the 12th c. this group came to include new formations for the AG verbs λαγχάνω, λανθάνω, μανθάνω, τυγχάνω, λαμβάνω and πάσχω (the last through an intermediate analogical form πανθάνω attested from the 2nd c. AD (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 407 and 411)), which had already lost the nasal in their stems: λαβαίνω < λαβάνω, λαχαίνω < λαχάνω, μαθαίνω < μαθάνω, παθαίνω < παθάνω and τυχαίνω < τυχάνω; λαθαίνω < λαθάνω was to follow this development in the LMedG period. The affix -αίνω remains productive well into the period covered by this Grammar, producing alternative forms which in the texts examined are usually used alongside older variants (see 2.1.1.1.6).

Before and throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, verbs in -εύω and -αύω appear with an intrusive /y/, a phenomenon that can be traced back to at least the 8th c. (JANNARIS 1897: 220) and that manifests itself frequently after /v/. It is very frequent in southern areas such as Crete, Cyprus, the Cyclades, the Heptanese, the Dodecanese and S. Italy, but it can also be found in texts from Athos and Constantinople (provenance of authors unknown), and in texts of uncertain provenance. For details on chronological and geographical spread, see I, 3.5.2.2. See also 2.1.1.1.1.

2.1 Imperfective Stem

The imperfective stem of verbs is used with active and passive endings to form the present indicative and subjunctive (4.1), the imperfect (4.3), the present imperative (4.5.1), the present infinitive (4.6.1), the gerund (4.7.1) and the present passive participle (see 2.3.1 and II, 3.2.1).

2.1.1 Barytone Verbs

Barytone verbs are verbs in which the stress in the present indicative/subjunctive falls on the stem, not on the ending of the verb. These verbs can be divided into verbs with consonant stems and verbs with vowel stems.

2.1.1.1 Consonant Stems

Consonant-stem verbs can be divided into six groups: labial stems, of which the stem ends in /v/, /p/, /f/ or /pt/; dental stems, ending in /ð/, /θ/ or /t/; sibilant stems, in /s/ or /z/; velar stems, in /ɣ/, /g/, /k/ or /x/; liquid stems, in /l/ or /r/; and nasal stems, in /m/ or /n/.

2.1.1.1.1 Labial Stems

Labial-stem verbs are verbs with an imperfective stem ending in /v/ (= -β and -ευ/-αυ), /p/, /f/ or /pt/, e.g. κρύβω, τρίβω, παύω, δουλεύω, επιτρέπω, λείπω, αλείφω, στρέφω, καλύπτω, κόπτω. Most imperfective labial stems remain stable, but verbs with stems in -πτ can follow two paths: -φτ- and -β-, the first being a regular phonological development, e.g. κόφτω, κλέφτω, σκάφτω, βλάφτω, ἄφτω, ἀστράφτω, ράφτω, θάφτω, σκύφτω, πέφτω (< πίπτω),¹ the second a morphological innovation. In the texts examined forms with -πτ- are generally the most common. Forms with -φτ- appear in documents and manuscripts from the 12th c. onwards, and throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods:

¹ πέφτω < πίπτω follows the phonological development -πτ- > -φτ-, after adopting the vowel [e] of the perfective stem πεσ-.

κλέφτουσιν (1154, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 23, 142.9) ὑπέσκαφταν (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.20) σκύπτω Ptoch. IV 134 app. crit. (P) κόφτει τὸν δρόμον (late 14th–early 15th c., Athos? Limnos?, KRAVARI 1991: App., 195.27) κλέφτει Assizes A 72.3; ράφτει ibid. 73.13 ἥστραφτεν Spanos B 2
 τίς κόφτει το καί τίς ράφτει το; (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 83.1d) ἄπου ἄφτει στέκεται εἰς τὸ λαμπρόν Fior Suppl. 269.29 ἐκόφτουνταν τα δύο φουσάτα Diig. Alex. K 354.14 μύγα νὰ χάφτη ὁ νηστικός Stathis II.252 κλέφτω GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. rubbare; θάφτω ibid. s.v. sepolire ἄναφταν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.88; κόφτονται ibid. III §29.18; τὸν θάφτουν ibid. III §29.66
 ὅποιος δὲ λαλεῖ τὸ θάφτουν Paroim. (Warner) 79.2 ἔκλεφτε (1675, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 45, 256.10) ἐκεῖνο τόνε βλάφτει KORNAROS, Erot. III.6

Sometimes <φτ> becomes <φθ> through hypercorrection (for which see I, 3.8.1.4):

κλέφθοντάς με (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 13, 50.6) σκάφθουν Alex. Rim. 1732 καὶ ἔσκυφθαν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.34 ἔσκαφθε τὴν γῆν Diig. Alex. F 200.4

Imperfective stems in -β (-φ in the case of βάφω < βάπτω) are formed from the perfective stem in [ps], by analogy with verbs in -βω such as τριβω, θλιβω, ἀμείβω and κρύβω.² The last, from AG κρύπτω, can be found since the Hellenistic period, in the Septuagint, Diodorus Siculus, Flavius Josephus, Babrius and Phrynichus.³ It first appears in present and imperfect passive forms, and is the result of a reanalysis from 2nd aor. pass. ἐκρύβην (GIGNAC 1981: 284); active forms can be found from at least the early 4th c. AD.⁴ Other forms with -β- are absent from 12th-c. texts:

βλάβει Chron. Toc. 3446 ὅχι μόνον τοῦ λόγου σας βλάβετε (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 236.141) καὶ ἐκλέβανε τὰ φλωρία Chron. Tourk. Soult. 86.26 νὰ μοῦ πέβης γραφή (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.6–7) κόβου κρίσεις καὶ ἔξοδες (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 4, 32.6) οπίσω τουσε πέβει STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 562 (Pidonia) (spelled πεύει in the edition) ὁ κακὸς τινὰν δὲν βλάβει PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §32.38 ἔβαφε τὰ γένια τοῦ Alex. Fyll. 107.25 κανεῖς σκοντάβει ἐκεῖ ποῦ φέγγει ὁ Θεός Irodis I.115 πέβει KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.511

² Verbs in -εύω and -αύω are generally seen as another source for the change from -πτω to -βω (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 403–4; JANNARIS 1897: 223; HORROCKS 2010: 312), but it is debatable whether the development of their perfective stem from -ευσ to -εψ occurred early enough to justify this supposition (see 2.2.1.2).

³ Phrynichus (2nd c. AD) advises his readers not to use forms with -β-: κρύβεται φεύγε διὰ τοῦ β λέγειν καὶ κρύβεσθαι, ἀλλὰ διὰ τοῦ πτ κρύπτεται καὶ κρύπτεσθαι φαθί Eclogae 290.1. For κρύβω see also DIETERICH 1898: 233.

⁴ E.g. ἔκρυβεν in the Gospel of James 26.8 (2nd-c. text, transmitted in a 4th-c. papyrus; see the online TLG).

An added <γ> to verb stems in -β, probably by analogy with verbs in -εύω and -αύω, for which forms with an epenthetic <γ> can be found as early as the 8th c. (JANNARIS 1897: 220), is not uncommon (for details see also I, 3.5.2.2):

ἀνάβγασιν Chron. Mor. H 3718
 περὶ τοῦ ράφτη ὁποῦ ράβγει Assizes B 322.11 σκαταλείβομεν, τράγε, τὴν μορφὴν σου Spanos D 1544–5 τὸ πέβγω Theseid Prol. E 240 νίβγεται FALIEROS, Log. did. 266 ὦδ' ἔνε, ἀμμέ κρύβγεις τον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 428.12; ἐκόβγαν τὴν κεφαλὴν σου ibid. 480.13 κόβγει καὶ ρίβγει τα χαμαὶ Fior 92.22; ὁ Θεὸς ξιλείβγει ὅλους τοὺς διππροσώπους ibid. 121.40 κόβγε δύο φέρσες (16th c., DELATTE 1946: 495.22) νὰ τοὺς κόβγει MOREZINOS, Klini 25.9 κλέβγου (1603, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 1, 27.17) ράβγω GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. cusciare; σκύβγω ibid. s.v. inchinarsi in terra; τρίβγω ibid. s.v. macerare; κλέβγω ibid. s.v. rubbare; σκάβγω ibid. s.v. scavare; θάβγω ibid. s.v. sepolire ἐνίβγαν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1381 ἐσκό<ν>ταβγαν Vios Aisop. I 266.20 ἔριβγεν Thrinis Kypr. 166; ἐθάβγαν τοὺς ibid. 309 δὲν κρύβγομαι Irodis V.368 ἐκοβγέ μου KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.176; ἤξευρε νὰ ἀρπάζη καὶ νὰ κλέβγη ibid. II.243

Sporadically a nasal is added to the labial stem, resulting in forms with -φν-, which have been found in Cretan texts and in the 17th-c. grammar of Romanos Nikiforou, who was from Thessaloniki:

πεζέφνει KORNAOS, Erot. IV.1768 and 1770; στρέφνου ibid. V.506 σκοντάφνουσι TROILOS, Rodol. Interm. III.14 ξεπέφνω ROMANOS, Grammar 126.7

Alternative forms with -φ- instead of -β- have been found in Cypriot and Cretan texts:

ἐσγάφαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 590.34 (σκάπτω) ἄπου σγάφει τὸν γοῦππον πέφτει μέσα Fior 118.33 τὰ ὁποῖα γνάφονται (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 309, 308.58) (γνάπτω) ὁποῦ γνάφουσι τὰ πετσά LANDOS, Geopon. 272.25–6 νὰ μὲν κρύφουσιν ὄνομαν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 264 (κρύπτω)

After verbs in -εύω had developed perfective stems in -εψ (for which see 2.2.1.2), confusion could occur between verbs in -εύω and other labial stems with [e], as in the following 15th-c. example, in which μεταστρέφω has become μεταστρεύ(γ)ω: στὸν Ἀθην, θὲς γὴ στανικῶς, ὁποῦ ἄλθες μεταστρεύγεις.⁵

The verb παύω has a regional variant imperfective stem παυτ-, for which see 2.4. A similar formation is στρέφτω (<στρέφω), found in Pistikos voskos: πάλι ἐσὺ στρέφτεις Pist. voskos III 1.6; καὶ στρέφτω καὶ κτυπῶ ibid. III 2.82.

⁵ This verse is part of a tetrastich jotted down by the Cretan notary Cirillo Gradenigo in a book of acts dated 1491; quoted in KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: ὁδ', fn. 143.

The verb ρίπτω develops alternative imperfective stems in -χν and -κτ modelled on velar stems such as διώχνω (< διώκω), for which see 2.1.1.1.4.

2.1.1.1.2 Dental Stems

Dental-stem verbs are a small group of verbs that have an imperfective stem ending in /δ/, /θ/ or /t/, e.g. the rare σπεύδω, which was largely replaced by σπουδάζω, and verbs such as γνώθω (< γινώσκω), κλώθω, νιώθω, πείθω, θέτω (< τίθημι), πλάττω and φρίττω.

Verbs in -ττω (the Attic variant of Ionic and Koine -σσω) that have a perfective stem in -σ (πλάττω/πλάσσω, ἔπλασα) can have alternative stems in -θ (πλάθω). Verbs in -ττω/-σσω that have a perfective stem in [ks] (e.g. φυλάττω/φυλάσσω, φυλάξω) show more variation, for which see 2.2.1.6.

The verbs γνώθω and νιώθω, irrespective of the question whether they both derive from γινώσκω or whether the first derives from γινώσκω and the second from νοῶ (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. for an overview of proposed etymologies) are semantically so close that they are virtually synonymous. They also behave in the same way where innovation in their imperfective stems is concerned. Γνώθω and its prefixed derivatives and νιώθω have alternative imperfective stems γνων- and νιων-:

δὲν καταγνώννω ἄλλον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 230.23

᾿ς Πέρσας τὴν ἀναγνώνει Alex. Rim. 1409 πὼς tandem μεταγνώνεις το CHORTATISIS, Katz. II.239

καὶ ἀνέγνωνέν τα ὁ Ξάνθος Vios Aisop. I 270.17 καλὰ νιωνεν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 161; δὲν ἤνιωνα κόπον ibid. 248 ἐσὺ ὅλα τὰ γνώνει Rim. Sant. 20 κιανεῖς δὲν τόνε νιώνει KORNAROS, Erot. V.451

For θέτω and πλάθω see also 2.4.

2.1.1.1.3 Sibilant Stems

Sibilant-stem verbs are verbs with an imperfective stem ending in -ζ or -σσ. Sibilant stems can be divided into two groups: (1) verbs in -ζω that form their perfective stem in -σ (see 2.2.1.6); these show no structural variation in their imperfective stem formation, e.g. διαβάζω, κουράζω, γνωρίζω, νομίζω; (2) verbs in -ζω or -σσω with a perfective (velar) stem in [ks], which do show certain patterns of variation (for which see 2.2.1.3).

As mentioned in the introduction to Chapter 2, many verbs in -σσω (Attic -ττω) had started to form alternative imperfective stems modelled on verbs in -ζω (and vice versa) before the LMedG period (e.g. AG σταλάζω < σταλάσσω; EMedG σπαράζω < σπαράσσω); in the period covered by this Grammar this development continued, producing alternative forms such as ἀράζω < ἀράσσω or ταράζω < ταράσσω. For some verbs an alternative stem in -γ can be found (φυλάγω, τυλίγω, and, in texts from Chios, ἀλλάγω) from the 14th–15th c. onwards. In the texts examined both forms with -σσ/-ττ and alternative forms with -ζ and/or -γ are used. The use of Attic -ττ- instead of Koine -σσ- should be viewed as influence from higher registers. Verbs that are semantically associated with higher registers, such as κηρύσσω/κηρύττω and πλήσσω/πλήττω, do not appear to have formed alternative stems in -ζ or -γ, with the exception of κατανύγω for κατανύσσω. The same holds true for the verbs μαλάσσω and πατάσσω, and πράσσω/πράττω, the last of which, of course, semantically had strong competition from ποιῶ and κάμνω. For the more common verbs, texts from insular areas, and especially Crete, display a clear preference for forms with -σσ- throughout the period under investigation (e.g. ἀλλάσσω in Cretan, Cypriot and Heptanesian texts, πράσσω, (ἀ)ράσσω mainly in Cretan texts, πλήσσω in Cypriot texts; cf. ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1926: 171 for the modern dialectal situation).

- διεχάραττον ὄπλον Dig. G V.39; ἐξεπλήττετο ibid. IV.977 πράττουν Ptoch. IV 530; πληττόμενον ibid. 624 πράττουν Chron. Mor. H 1257; νὰ τὸ ἔχουσι φυλάττει ibid. 8273 ἐπαραφύλαττα Dig. E 173 κακοπράττει Liv. V 833 τί τὴν ψυχὸσπαράττει; Liv. α 2716 app. crit. (P) διὰ νὰ πράττη Chron. Toc. 3572 καθὼς τάττει (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.11) τὰ θέλλω κρατεῖν καὶ φυλάττειν (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.5) σπαράττουσι [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1161; τὸ πῶς ὑποχαράττει ibid. 2114 κηρύτταν Byz. Il. 378; πλήττει ibid. 1079 ἐκπλήττομαι Alosis 707 ἐκηρύττασιν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 32.10–11 ἐξεπλήττουσαν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 6.2
 ἡ θάλασσα ἑταράττετο Thrinis Kypri. 41 συνετάρασσε με GLYKAS, Stichoi 51; ἀλλάσσεται ibid. 376; τὰς ψυχὰς σπαράσσοντες ibid. 459 ἐξεπλήρουντο Dig. G I.331; τοῦτον ἐγὼ πατάσσω ibid. VI.224 ἠπλησεν (14th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 27, 206.1.5) ν' ἀλλάσσει τοὺς ὀφθαλμοὺς Chron. Mor. H 7935 ἤρξατο νὰ χαράσσει Liv. E 830; τὸ ἀπετυλίσσει ibid. 1663 τί τὴν ψυχὸσπαράσσει; Liv. α 2716 ἐμάλασσαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 775; δράσσει τὴν ibid. 1113 πράσσετε καταπάνω τοῦ FALIEROS, Thrinis 132 ἀλλάσσαν τοὺς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 78.29; ἐπλησεν ibid. 498.26 τὲς φορεσὲς τ' ἀλλάσσει Alex. Rim. 955; τὰράσσει ibid. 1951 ἔχει λιμένα καὶ ῥάσσομεν (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 61.3) πλήσσει Fior 89.20 φυλασσόμενα (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 34, 53.8–9) δὲν ἤλλασσε γνώμην MOREZINOS, Klini 44.16 κι' ἄλλα κακὰ ποὺ πράσσει CHORTATSI, Katz. V.320; νὰ τὰράσσω ibid. III.202 τάσσουνε (1604, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 10, 165.22) ὑποτάσσόντησαν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.16; ἐδιάλλασσε ibid. 44.25 τύλισσε τὰ κλαρία τοὺς LANDOS, Geopon. 151.6; ἄλλασσε τὸ νερόν ibid. 212.27; ὅταν τὰ μαλάσσει ibid. 251.26 σὰν ψάρι νὰ σφαράσσει Thysia Avr. 40; τάσσω σου ibid. 357 κλεφτάτα ἐπάτασσε KORNAROS, Erot. I.444; τὸ ξετυλίσσει ibid. I.1505; ὅλη ἐξαναμαλάσσειτο ibid. III.22 τυλίγω το εἰς τὸ χέριν Dig. E 1267 τυλίγομαι τὴν κάπαν Ptoch. III 273.74 app. crit. (PK) ἄς φυλάγωντ' οἱ Ἕλληνες Pol. Tr. 3809 app. crit. (X) θέλει φυλάγειν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 88.31–2 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) νὰ τὸ φυλάγει (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 92, 84.7) τίς δὲν ἐκατενύγετον Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 50 κατανύγεται MOREZINOS, Klini 73.38; κατανύγει ibid. 107.10 ἀλλάγω GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. variare ἐφυλάγουνταν LANDOS, Geopon. 130.8

 τοὺς λογισμοὺς ἀλλάγω PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 21; ν' ἀλλάγουσιν ibid. 55 αλλοῦ νὰ μην σπαράγει ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 580 (rhymes with Εσκή Σαράγι) φόρεμά τον ἀλλάγουν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1383 ὅταν περιχαράζει Liv. E 808 τάζοντα Chron. Toc. 494; ἄλλαζεν ibid. 1960; καὶ ἐσπάραζε ἡ καρδιά του ibid. 2683 δράζω, κρατῶ, σηκώνω τον Liv. S 2669 (Lambert-van der Kolf) τὴν φορεσά τ' ἀλλάζει Alex. Rim. 39 μὲς τὸ πόρτο ῥάζουν Al. Kypr. 1289; μὲς τὸ πόρτο ῥάζει ibid. 1541 ἐταράζοτον ἡ γῆς KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 411.2 φυλαζόμενα ἄλλα ὅπου σοῦ χρεωστῶ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 141, 141.8) φυλαζόμενα (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 39, 40.8) τάζει (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 3, 31.12) ἐκείνους ὅπου ἄλλαζαν τὰ ἄσπρα KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 2.14; ταράζεται ibid. 14.27 μα ο καιρός ἀλλάζει ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 954; σπαράζει ibid. 5353; δὲν ταράζουν ibid. 6853 καὶ πρόσταζε τὸ πεθυμῶς KONDAR., Paides 100 νὰ ἐπουρκόταζε (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 743, 1013.4–5) (< προικοτάζω)

 σύρνοντας καὶ τυλίζοντας VATATIS, Periig. II 484

The reverse mechanism, by which verbs in -ζω develop an alternative stem in -σσ, can also be observed: e.g. ἄρπασσω < ἄρπάζω,⁶ τρομάσσω < τρομάζω,⁷ ρημάσσω < ἐρημάζω, στάσσω < στάζω, μύσσω < μύζω. Whereas τρομάσσω and στάσσω have a broad geographical distribution, ἄρπασσω has a more limited spread (texts of southern provenance), and μύσσω and ρημάσσω have only been found in south-western areas (Crete, Heptanese):

τρομάσσεις GLYKAS, Stichoi 151 τρομάσσουν τὴν ψυχὴν του Pol. Tr. 13931 καὶ ἀνατρομάσσεις ὅλος Liv. α 3871 app. crit. (N) καὶ συντρομάσσει ὁ βασιλεὺς Byz. II. 273 ὁ λογισμὸς τρομάσσει το Achil. N 517 τὴν γῆν ἀνατρομάσσει ZINOS, Vatr. 442 καὶ δίκια ἀνατρομάσσω CHORTATIS, Katz. V.306 κι ὅλη σιγοτρομάσσω KORNAROS, Erot. I.926 ἐτρόμασεν το πλῆθος KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 7.28 ἐτρομάσσα MONTSEL., Evgena 21

 ἐνὸς ἄρπασσει τὸ σπαθὶν Pol. Tr. 13957 καὶ ἡ ἄλλη τὸ ἄρπασσει Liv. E 1256

⁶ Cf. ὁ πατὴρ ἤρπασσεν ἑαυτὸν in the Chaldaean Oracles (Oracle 3, l. 1) (2nd c. AD) (see the online TLG).

⁷ Forms of τρομάσσω can already be found in the 9th c., in Theodore of Stoudios and Photios (TLG).

τότε σπαθὶν ἀρπάσσει Alex. Rim. 432 ἀρπάσσαν Pist. kekoim. 600

εἶσαι ἄρπαγος καὶ ἀρπάσσεις Chron. Tourk. Soult. 40.24–5 ὡς στάσων τρὶς ὁ μάγειρος Ptoch. IV 373 (mss SAC; στάσσει in PK; στάζει in H) διατὶ ρέει, διατὶ στάσσει STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 14.388

κι οἱ στάξεις τῶν αἱμάτων σου στάσσουν τὸ πρόσωπό μου FALIEROS, Thrinos 47 τὸ αἶμα διὰ νὰ στάσση LIMEN., Than. Rod. 89 κι ἐμέ του δόλιου στάσσουσι δάκρυα φαρμακωμένα CHORTATZIS, Panor. II.184 νὰ στάσση τὸ κερὶν LANDOS, Geopon. 228.4

ὅπ' ἄρρωστῶ καὶ μύσσω Imb. Rim. 957 εκείνον οπου μύσσει KORNAROS, Erot. V.904 καὶ ἐκεῖνος ἐρημάσσει SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 126 transcr. M (Lendari) τῇ χώρᾳ νὰ ρημάσσουσι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 249.5; τὰ σπῖτία νὰ ρημάσσουνε ibid.

347.20

νὰ μὲ ἐρημάσσουν ἔτσι KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.728

On a lexical level, the verb δράσσω can form alternative imperfective stems in -χν or -κτ modelled on velar stems such as διώχνω (< διώκω), for which see 2.1.1.4. The verb φυλάγω can transfer to the class of vowel stems (φυλάω), producing “uncontracted” as well as “contracted” forms, for which see 2.1.1.2. For verbs in -άζω and -ίζω and their interaction with oxytone verbs, see 2.1.3.1.

2.1.1.1.4 Velar Stems

Velar-stem verbs are verbs with an imperfective stem ending in -γ, -γγ, -γγχ, -κ or -χ, e.g. ἀνοίγω, βήχω, διδάσκω (which consists of a velar stem with affix -σκω), διώκω, ἐλέγχω and σφίγγω. Though most velar stems show no variation in their imperfective stem formation, a small group, namely διώκω, δεικνύω, διδάσκω and μπήγω (< Koine ἐμπήσσω) can acquire variant imperfective stems in -χν, based on their perfective stems in [ks], through the process of substituting -ν- for perfective -σ- (διώκ-σ- > διώκ-ν- > διώχν- (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 291)). Velar stems in -χν are found throughout the period under review, in texts from all regions:

ἴνα δείχνης τὸ χαρτίον (1181, S. Italy, Trinchera 1865: 206, 271.12) ἐπίδειχνε NIKON, Logos 6 272.18–19

ἴνα ὑποδείχνη τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 33.80) νὰ διώχνουσιν Chron. Mor. H 6989; but also: ἀρχίσαν νὰ τοὺς διώκουσιν ibid. 1143 δείχνη Dig. E 53; but also: τὸ τί λαὸς μᾶς διώκει ibid. 950 ὁποῦ δείχνου Assizes B 251.29 κλωτσοκοπᾷ καὶ διώχνει τες FALIEROS, Log. did. 86 διώχνεις μας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 658.22; ἐδῶχναν τοὺς ibid. 426.3

τοὺς διώχνει ἐξόπισθεν Diig. Alex. K 364.18 ἐδίδαχνε μεγαλοφώνως KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 331.25

πᾶσα μέρα μᾶς διδάχνουν (16th c., Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 233.10) νὰ τὸν διδάχνουν (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 30.27) διδάσκομαι ... et διδάχνομαι ROMANOS, Grammar 80.12–13

καὶ νὰ τῶς τήνε μπήχνης FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.224 διώχνεις με, μάνα, διώχνεις με Dimotika Ivir. XI.1 σὲ τὸ ἀποδείχνει PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §18.10 δείχνοντας τὸ σπλάγχχνος τῆς φιλίας σου (1643, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 4, 99.24) ὁ δὲ θάνατος ὅπου ἀπὸ ὅλους διώχνηται Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 6 καὶ μπηχνει του ὅλο τὸ σπαθὶ KORNAROS, Erot. II.1159 ἤθελα νὰ με ἐδίδαχνες Don Kis. 198.21–2

In texts from southern areas, some verbs with velar stems have variant imperfective stems in -κτ-. Some modern editors “correct” -κτ- to -χτ-, assuming that dissimilation must have taken place, but there is no textual evidence to corroborate this assumption:⁸

ἕνας σκύλος διώκτει ἕναν λαγὸν (app. crit.) (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 81, 64.1) νὰ σὲ δακτυλοσφίκτω Liv. α 2029 app. crit. (N) δακτυλοδείκτου Pol. Tr. 4395 and 7505 app. crit. (V) (δακτυλοδεικτοῦν in the other mss) δείκτει τως καλοσύνη Katis 27 εὐκολα μοῦ τὸ δείκτει KORNAROS, Erot. I.1871 (Stevanoni) ἀποῦ ὀλωνῶ τῶν ἀρετῶ παιδὶ πῶς εἶσαι δείκτεις FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.620 (δείχτεις in the edition) νὰ δείκτη τὴν ἀντρεϊάν τση BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 327.1 (Xirouchakis); καὶ νὰ μὴ δείκτης ibid. 405.5 δείκτετεν τὰ προστάγματα KONDAR., Paidēs 252 τοῦ δείκτει BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 216; ἐδείκτασιν ibid. 262 ὡς καθῶς δείκτουε τὰ σύνορα (1685, Andros, POLEMIS 1995b: 5, 39.29)

The verb ρίχνω, first attestations of which can be found in 16th-c. manuscripts, appears to be the result of the exact reverse development: AG ρίπτω, ἔρριψα had developed a new aorist ἔρ(ρ)ιξα (probably influenced by ρήγνυμι, ἔρρηξα, and therefore sometimes spelled ἔρ(ρ)ηξα).⁹ This aorist in its turn gave rise to a new imperfective stem ρικτ-,¹⁰ which can be found in documents from S. Italy as early as the 11th c., and in other texts, mainly of southern provenance, from at least the 14th c. onwards. In modern editions forms with -χτ- instead of -κτ- can often be found, but they are usually the result of editorial intervention.¹¹ Only one example of a form with -χτ- has thus far been found, in an 18th-c. document from Chios: καὶ τὸ ἔρριχτεν ψηλά (1709, Chios, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 34, 136.106).

⁸ The 1713 edition of Erotokritos (A) has only forms with -κτ-, which were tacitly corrected to -χτ- by the modern editor, St. Alexiou, who only mentions the readings with -χν- of the Heptanesian ms (X) in his critical apparatus. The same holds true for Alexiou's and Aposkiti's edition of Bounialis' Cretan War, in which all forms of δείκτω were corrected to δειχτ- (cf. Xirouchakis's edition of the same text). The reading δειχτεις in FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.620 is due to the editor's misinterpretation of the cluster “ct” in the manuscript, which is written in the Latin script, as pointed out by BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1996: 80, fn. 5.

⁹ ῥήξατέ με is to be found in the Apocalypse of the Virgin 124.15 (11th-c. ms?), published in M. R. JAMES, Apocrypha Anecdota, vol. 2, Cambridge 1893, quoted in JANNARIS 1897: 275. Like Jannaris, Romanos Nikiforou in his grammar (17th c.) also sees a link with ῥήγνυμι: “ῥήχνω, jacio ... Hoc verbum in literali significat rum-po, et vulgus cum velit dicere ρίπτω, quod est in literali jacio, accipit hoc propter affinitatem pronunciationis” (ROMANOS, Grammar 97.1–7).

¹⁰ Cf. also the form ρικτάρια for ριπτάρια in De obsidione toleranda sections 26, 1.4 and 66, 1.2 (10th c.); see the online TLG.

¹¹ All forms with -χτ- in Chron. Mor. H and P (Schmitt) are (mostly tacit) corrections by the editor, e.g. instead of κ' ἔρριχτασιν Chron. Mor. H 2921, the ms reads καὶ ἐρίκτασιν.

ρίκτειν (1098, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 65, 82.13); ρίκτει κάτω εις τήν ὁδόν (1118, ibid. 85, 112.8) ἐρήκτασιν Chron. Mor. H 15 app. crit.; ἐρήκταν ibid. 9092 app. crit.

ἐμὲν τὰ παραρίκτουσιν Dig. E 241 βλέπω τήν κόρην, ρίκτει μεν μαντίλιν ἐδικόν της Liv. E 2291 ἐρρίκταν Pol. Tr. 4632 app. crit. (V); ἔρρικτεν ibid. 6351 app. crit. (BC) ὅπου ἐρρίκταν οἱ πεζοὶ Chron. Toc. 267 ὥσάν ρίκτει ὁ κηπουρὸς τὸ κίτρινον ἀγγούριον Katal. 527 σ' ἐμὲν τὰ παραρρίκτεις FALIEROS, Ist. On. 575 νὰ ρίκτης εις τὸ δοχεῖον (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 14, 19.12) ρίκτει του κλωνάρι δένδρου ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 37.4

σπαθιὲς νὰ ρίκτω Stathis I.92

μὲ ξαναρρήκτει χάμαι ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. I.340 (Stevanoni); κ' εἰς ἀφορμὴ τήν ἤρρηκτεν ibid.

II.657

ἔρρικτεν Diig. Sant. 57.16; ἔρρικταν ibid. 59.64 στην θάλασσαν τοὺς ρίκταν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 2424 καὶ τοὺς ρίκτουν ΒΑΤΑΤΣΙΣ, Periig. I 815

καὶ τήν καρδιά μου σύριζην ἐξανασπᾶς καὶ ρίχνεις Achil. O 334 καὶ τὸ φαρμάκι ἔριχναν Alex. Rim. 2066 καὶ ἔριχναν τοῦ ἀλόγου τήν θροφήν του ἀπέσω Diig. Alex. F 118.15–16 (Lolos) καὶ ρίχνει τον τὸ πέλαγος Fyll. gadar. 313

ἄλλοι ἐρίχναν τα ρούχα τοὺς ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 367.41–2 ρίχνει (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 148.12)

καὶ τοῦ ἔρριχναν τὰ κόκκαλα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 41.1–2 ρίχνω ... ρίκτω GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. buttare

μὲ ξαναρίχνει χάμαι ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. I.340 app. crit. (V); κ' εἰς ἀφορμὴ τήν ἔριχνε ibid. II.657 app. crit. (V) ἀλλὰ τὸ ρίχνουσιν ἔξω ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΡ., Kaini Diath. Louk. 14.35 ἐρίχναν τήν ἀφορμὴν Vios Aisop. D 225.25 ἐρίχνασι τοὺς νεκροὺς ἀψάλτους (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III–V, 509.37.9)

Similarly, the verb δράσσω can form alternative imperfective stems in -χν and more rarely -κτ, based on its perfective (velar) stem in [ks]:

ἐκεῖνος ἀποδράχνει Jonas 214.13

καὶ ἡ ἄλλη νὰ τὸ δράχνη Liv. V 1110 καὶ ἄρχισεν νὰ μάχεται, νὰ δράχνη, νὰ κουρσεύη Chron. Toc. 3564

δράχνει ἰσχυρὸν σκουτάριον Achil. N 620 καὶ ἔδραχναν ἄλογα Diig. Alex. F 24.22 (Konstantinopulos) (same in E) δράχνω, δράχνομαι, ἔδραχνα, ἔδραχνούμουν ROMANOS, Grammar 120.18–19

καὶ ἄρχισαν ρυμπαρικὰ νὰ δράκτουν, νὰ ἐπαίρνουν Chron. Toc. 3814

The verbs διώχνω and δράχνω sometimes lose the nasal, producing imperfective forms with -χ-:

ὅτι διώχει ὀπίσω Achil. L 449; καὶ ὁ Ἀχιλλεὺς τὸν ἔδιωχεν ibid. 461 ἐδιώχασιν Pol. Tr. 3178 app. crit. (A); διώχει τοὺς ibid. 3186 app. crit. (AX) ἐδιώχες τὲς κουρούνες Ptoch. IV 78 app. crit. (P); νὰ διώχης ibid. 496 app. crit. (P) νὰ διώχη τοὺς ἄερες Florios 526 app. crit. (Hesseling) νὰ διώχουν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 168 ἔδωχέν τον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 538.13; but also: διώχνεις μας ibid. 658.22 σφικτὰ νὰ δράχουν Liv. S 790 (Lambert-van der Kolf)

Certain velar stems in -γ, such as λέγω, τρώγω, ὑπάγω and φυλάγω, can transfer to the class of vowel stems, no doubt due to the fact that many vowel stems can become consonant stems through the addition of /χ/ (e.g. ἀκούω > ἀκούχω); for more information see 2.1.1.2.

2.1.1.1.5 Liquid Stems

Liquid-stem verbs are verbs whose imperfective stem ends in -λ or -ρ, e.g. βάλλω, σφάλλω, ψάλλω, παραγγέλλω, στέλλω, ἐγείρω, σπείρω, σύρω, φέρω. Addition of -ν- to imperfective liquid stems in -ρ is a process that set in before the LMedG period, with verbs that had identical imperfective and perfective stems (e.g. σύρνω < σύρω), as well as with verbs that already had distinct imperfective and perfective stems (e.g. (ἐ)παίρνω < ἐπαίρω) (see also 1.1.1). Since the predominant vowel in these imperfective stems was /e/, certain other verbs adopted the /e/ for their imperfective stem as well (HORROCKS ²2010: 306; see also CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 129–32), e.g. σπείρω and ἐγείρω became σπέρνω and (ἐ)γέρνω in most areas, with the notable exception of Cyprus; σέρνω for σύρνω (< σύρω), nowadays the SMG form, was found mainly in texts from the south-west, starting with Cretan texts from the 15th/16th c. onwards, though it is likely to have obtained a wider geographical distribution from at least the 17th c. onwards, given the fact that it is found in Matthaïos of Myra's History of Valachia, and that Romanos Nikiforou, who was from Thessaloniki, mentions σέρνω in his grammar as “the more commonly used” form:

εἰς τὸ σπέρνειν (1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 533.12) ὁποῦ σπέρνει ὁ Κουκούναρας (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.54) σπόρον διὰ νὰ σπέρνη Liv. V 944 σπέρνω τὰ SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 6 σπέρνει Poulol. 447 διὰ νὰ σπέρνωσιν (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 56.34) νὰ τὸ σπέρνωμεν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 317, 316.6) παρὰ νὰ τὸ ἔσπερνες LANDOS, Geopon. 142.23 ἐγέρνεται ὁ ἡγούμενος καὶ τάδε παραγγέλλει Ptoch. IV 582 (ms H) ἐγέρνεται Velth. 974

γοργὸν οὐκ ἐγερνέτον Pol. Tr. 10053 ὅταν διαγέρνης SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 157 ἐγέρνεται Achil. N 1065 νὰ ἐγέρνεσαι Spanos B 108 ἐγερνόμην Alosis 717

ὅσον τὸ σέρνει τρίχα Om. Nekt. Vas. 66 σέρνομεν (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 94.48) νὰ το σέρνω Apoll. Rim. A 1103 νὰ τὴν κωλοσέρνουε CHORTATSI, Katz. IV.3 σύρω ... vel communius et usitatus σέρνω ROMANOS, Grammar 104.23 σέρνει MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2091 and 2842 κι' ἔσερναν τὲς λουμπάρδες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 264.25; νὰ τοὺς σέρνουν id., Kat. ofel. 350 ἔσερναν SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 55.14

φέρνειν (1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 533.4) φέρνει τὰ δίκαιά του (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 41.48) ὅσον διαφέρνει εἰς κρίσιν Chron. Mor. H 7525 καὶ ὁ Λίβιστρος συφέρνει Liv. V 3560

νὰ φέρνης Achil. N 354

τὸ δεκοχτῶχρονον φέρνων τῆς ἡλικίας Achil. O 50 φέρνου τζικούριν Byz. Il. 142 φέρνει τὸ ξυστὶν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1312 δὲν ἀναφέρνω τὸ λοιπὸν τὲς Μοῦσες τῶν Ἑλλήνων FALIEROS, Log. did. 3 σώνουν καὶ συνεφέρνουν την Imb. Rim. 977 ἐπιφέρνουνται Diig. Alex. F 114.16 (Lolos) διαφέρνω GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. differire μεγάλα καυκώντας λόγια προφέρνεις Irodis I.9 ὑποφέρνω (1684, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 64, 272.27) προσφέρνω (1696, Ioannina, MICHAELARIS 1976: 2 [B'], 253.16)

να μην αναφέρνει τινάς Don Kis. 545.28

τὰ ἄρματά του κάθαιρνε Theseid VII.35,2 (1529)¹² νὰ τοὺς ξεκαθαίρνουν (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 8, 127.16); ξεκαθαίρνοντας καὶ τοῦτο (1598, ibid. 43, 191.15) (ἐκκαθαίρω)

νὰ ξεκαθαίρνει (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 31, 45.14) φθέρνεται τὸ φουσάτο Alex. Rim. 1865

καὶ φθέρνουν τὲς καντῆλες ZINOS, Vatr. 301

This addition of -ν- to the imperfective stem can also be found with liquid stems in /l/, appearing in texts from various areas, from the 14th c. onwards. In the same period, though with a more restricted geographical distribution, a similar development can be observed in certain oxytone verbs in -λῶ (for which see 2.1.2.2.1):

ἀπόστέλνεν Chron. Mor. H 1049 ἐκεῖ τὸν ἀποστέλνει Ptoch. IV 535 app. crit. (C) (hapax; ἀποστέλλει in all other mss) καὶ στέλνω σε πιττάκιν Liv. E 1818 τοῦτο τὸ φαρὶν στέλνει ὡς ἐδικόν σου Pol. Tr. 6170 (mss ABX) στέλνει τα εἰς τὸ κάστρον Achil. N 438

στέλνε Ptochol. α 923

πλὴν τοῦτο σᾶς παραγγέλνω Liv. E 1438

καὶ ὄλο ἐσυχνοπαρήγγελνε Liv. α 1364 app. crit. (P) καὶ πᾶσιν παραγγέλνω Achil. N 260 παραγγέλνει (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 51, 131.19)

εἰς τοῦτο σὲ παραγγέλνω PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.75 ὅταν ἀνάτελνε ὁ ἥλιος KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.32 ἐκεῖ ὅπου ἀνατέλνει ὁ ἥλιος PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §19.4–5

¹² See also 2.1.3.1 for oxytone forms of this verb.

ὅτι τὸν διαβάλλουν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 344.16

ἔβωλνεν Diig. Alex. E 209.22–3 (Lolos)

In these verb stems -λν- can become -ρν- through the process of liquid interchange (see I, 3.8.6.2 for details; note that generally the affix -ερν- is especially popular with the Cretans: see also 2.2.4.1.1):

καὶ πάλι παραγγέρνει Liv. V 1124 (παραγγέλνω); συχνοεπαρέγγερνεν ibid. 1128; ἀποστερνάμενοί του ibid. 2691 (ἀποστέλνω) παραγγέρνοντάς του MOREZINOS, Klini 43.11 app. crit. (K) μὰ ἐτοῦτο, κορασίδα μου, ξεῦρε, σοῦ παραγγέρνω FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.491 παραγγέρνοντάς τω VENEZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.36 στέλνω στέρνω PORTIUS, Grammar 10.19

ἑστέρνανε ἓνα μέρος παρόξω SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 34.31–2

Some verbs with imperfective stems in /l/ form an alternative imperfective stem in -ν, e.g. βάνω < βάλλω, σφάνω < σφάλλω, for which see 2.1.1.1.6; or in -ζ: βάζω (< βάλλω), ἐβγάζω (< ἐκβάλλω), for which see 2.4, s.v. βάλλω.

In varieties of Pontic, the perfective stem of verbs with a liquid stem may serve as the imperfective stem (see OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 343 for modern Pontic): καὶ τώρα στείλω σας λόγον (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.10); στείλωμεν γράμμαν μὲ τὴν βούλλα τοῦ βασιλέως (ibid. 293.10); παραγγείλω σοι, μὴ καταλαλῆς τινὰν (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 190.2d) (this text has some Pontic features).

2.1.1.1.6 Nasal Stems

Nasal-stem verbs have imperfective stems ending in -ν or -μ (those in -ν often spelled <νν> in Cypriot texts, reflecting gemination, for which see I, 3.4.2.5). This group of verbs includes verbs in -ώνω, -ύνω, -ίνω, -αίνω, -άνω, e.g. κομπώνω, σιμώνω, σκοτώνω, σώνω, κλίνω, κρίνω, αὔξάνω, φθάνω, χάνω (< χαώνω), μαραίνω, πικραίνω, ὑγιαίνω, ἀπομακρύνω, λαμπρύνω, μολύνω, κά(μ)νω; and verbs in -μω, e.g. γέμω, νέμω, τρέμω. This group also includes former vowel stems, such as λούνω (< λούω), λύνω (< λύω), κλείνω (< κλείω), but not consonant stems that have an added nasal, such as διώχνω (< διώκω), στέλνω (< στέλλω) or παίρνω (< ἐπαίρω). The majority of the verbs belonging to this category show no variation in their imperfective stem formation, with the exception of verbs in -άνω, -ύνω and -αίνω.

Some verbs with imperfective stems in -λ form an alternative stem in -ν, e.g. βάνω < βάλλω, σφάνω < σφάλλω (forms with -λν- have been found only for βάλλω, not for σφάλλω, and they are too rare to have served as an intermediate form; see 2.4). Forms of βάνω and its compounds, such as (ἐ)βγάνω (< ἐκβάλλω), ἄθιβάνω (ἄθιβάλλω), and even ἀμφιβάνω, can be found in texts from various areas, whereas σφάνω appears to be exclusively Cretan:

καὶ ἐβγάνει τὸ σπαθίτσι του Arm. 98

περὶ τοῦ βάνοντος πῦρ εἰς χώραν Assizes A 222.24

καὶ ἐκεῖνοι ἐβγάνουν τὰ κρασιά SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 181 ὅταν τὸ ἔβανεν εἰς τὸ κεφάλι του, τότε ἄφαντος ἐγίνετον Diig. Alex. V 58.23 και εβγάνει το ρύζι Syndipas 115.23–4 και αὐτὸς ἐβγάνει τὴν ψωλὴν του ἐκ τοῦ βρακί του Vios Aisop. E 292.18 ἐβγάνοντα τὰ λεγόμενα λάσα (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 96.112) ἦβανε ὁ σέρ Νικολὸς τοὺς ἔμισοὺς σπόρους (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 53.8) μίαν βρύση ἡ ὁποῖα ἔβγανεν καθάριον λάδι KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.9

 δὲν τὰ βάνετε εἰς τὸν νοῦν σας DAM. SToud., This., Logos 7, η1v.32–3 (1561) βάνοντας (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 150, 238.8) διὰ πλεό φέρμο βάνου καὶ μάρτυρες (1611, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 11, 315.13) ἐβγάνει τὰ δαιμόνια KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 9.34; ἐκείνα ὅπου ἐβάνασι ibid. Ioann.
 12.6
 καὶ βάνει της (1647, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 16, 88.9) ἀμφιβάνοντας (1696, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 112, 308.34–5) εβγάνοντας ἀπὸ τα δισάκια ὅ,τι εἶχε βάλει Don Kis. 47.28–9; βάνοντας το σίδηρον ibid. 47.35 κι ἀπόκει ἃ σφάνει εἰς ἄλλα FALIEROS, Log. did. 311 τοῦτον ὁ νοῦς σου σφάνει Rim. kor. A 95 καὶ σφάναν, οἱ καημένοι Apoll. Rim. V 135 (forms of σφάνω in A, N and V) ἃ δὲ σφάνω CHORTATSI, Katz. I.289; μὰ σφάνει id., Erof. II.245 μαγάρι καὶ νὰ σφάνω Thysia Avr. 596 σφάνουσι τὰ λογιάζεις KORNAROS, Erot. III.171 σὲ τοῦτο νὰ μὴ σφάνω FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.150

2.1.1.2 Vowel Stems

The class of barytone vowel stems comprises a small group of verbs whose stems end in /a/, /e/, /i/ or /u/. The most common of these are: ἀκούω, δεικνύω, δέομαι, δέω, δύω, ἰσχύω, καίω, κλαίω, κλάω, κλείω, κρούω, κυλίω, κωλύω, λούω, λύω, μεθύω, μειγνύω, μηνύω, ξέω, ὀμνύω, πλέω, πνέω, πταίω, πτύω, ρέω, σείω, σκάω (< σχάζω), σπάω, χέω, χρίω. These verbs appear in their “uncontracted” form throughout the period covered by this Grammar, e.g. ὡς ἀκούομεν GLYKAS, Stichoi 89; νὰ λούωνται οἱ ξένοι Liv. α 3100; ὅσα τὸ φάγουν, μεθύουσιν LANDOS, Geopon. 245.22. However, a general tendency to avoid consecutive vowels (see I, 2.9.2) leads many of these verbs to produce ostensibly “contracted” forms with certain endings, for all persons singular and plural. Of course, these are not true cases of contraction, but rather the result of deletion of one of the two adjacent vowels. When the vowels are identical, the unstressed one is deleted, e.g. φταῖτε < φταίετε, κροῦσιν < κρούουσιν, ὀμνεῖ < ὀμνύει (the form is traditionally written ὀμνεῖ rather than ὀμνῦ for the sake of morphological transparency). When the two vowels are not identical, the avoidance of morphological or semantic ambiguity takes priority over vowel hierarchy (a > o > u > e > i, or according to others a > o > u > i > e; see I, 2.9.2 for details), and stress ceases to be a determining factor: we therefore find 1 sg. σπῶ and σκῶ rather than *σπᾶ and *σκᾶ, forms in which the (unstressed) characteristic [o] of the 1 sg. ending takes precedence over the phonetically “stronger”, stressed /a/ of the stem. On the other hand, for instance for the verb κλαίω we find 3 sg. κλαῖ rather than κλεῖ for semantic reasons: the [e] of the stem identifies the verb the form is derived from (κλαίω, not κλείω). When there is no issue regarding the morphological ending or the meaning of a verb form, the vowel hierarchy is usually observed, regardless of stress: ἀκοῦς < ἀκούεις, καταλοῦν < καταλύουν, λοῦται < λούεται, σπᾶ < σπάει:

1st Person Singular

κρῶ Dig. E 1287

ἐκσυσπῶ Diig. tetr. 258 (ed. ἐξυσπῶ) τὸ πῶς καμμῶ τὰ ῥμάτια μου Katal. 581 (καμμύω) ὥσαν ἄκῶ καὶ λέγουν SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 151 transcr. N (Lendari) σπῶ τσι τολέλες, κάτεχε CHORTATIS, Katz. II.276 ῥτὶ σκῶ τῶρα ἄφ' τὸν θυμὸν KONDAR., Paidēs 758

2nd Person Singular

ἀκοῦς Ptoch. III 172 app. crit. (GP) ποσῶς οὐκ ἀπολεῖς το Poulol. 151; νὰ σῆς ibid. 302

τί μοῦ σεῖς τὸ μουστάκιν σου Diig. tetr. 128; νὰ ἀναπνῆς ibid. 290 τῆς χήρας καὶ τῆς ὀρφανῆς ὅσον τῆς κροῦς φουσκῶνει Paroim. H 27

κροῦς Cypr. Canz. 30.6

μὴ ἀποκροῦς PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §5.16

3rd Person Singular

συγκλεῖ (ca. 1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 190.394)

ὁ γύψος πτώσεις ἀπολεῖ Ptoch. II 54.2 app. crit. (H) τοὺς ἀνδρειωμένους καταλεῖ Chron. Mor. H 4906 app. crit.

κλαῖ τον LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 474

νὰ λοῦται Achil. N 833

ὁμνεῖ SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 328

κάτις τὸν κωλεῖ! MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 564.14

ῆ ποιά ποττὲ δὲν πτιέ Fior 146.5 (read πτιᾶ < πταίω) ποτὲ οὐκ καταλεῖται Diig. Alex. Sem. B 233 νὰ πτει εἰς τον κόρφον του Theophr. Char. 129.6 (< πτύω) φωνὴν ἀκού', λαλιά<ν> ἀκού', φωνὴν καὶ δράκου στόμα Dimotika Ivir. XII.3

βρύσις νεροῦ ὅπου νὰ ἀναβρεῖ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 4.14 (< ἀναβρύω) νὰ σπᾶ τὰ σπῆτσια BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 285.16

1st Person Plural

στὰ λόγια ὅπου ῥκοῦμε Alex. Rim. 1676 καταλοῦμεν (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 906, 708.20) ἀπολοῦμεν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1181 νὰ γδέρνομεν καὶ σπούμεν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5361 νὰ κλαῖ' τὸ ριζικό του PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2872 φαρμάκι φτεῖ μὲ τοὺς ἀφρούς KORNAROS, Erot. II.1162

2nd Person Plural

ἐσεῖς τὸ φταῖτε πλέον Chron. Mor. H 2691;

ὅπου τὰ σπλάγγνα κλεῖτε DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2497

3rd Person Plural

νὰ κροῦν Dig. E 1405

κροῦσιν Velis. χ 171

νὰ μὴν τὸ καταλοῦσιν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2461 κροῦν μεγάλον πόλεμον (1572, Warsaw, PATRINELIS 2000: [1], 15.105) μας κροῦν PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §6.7; ξεγλοῦν ibid. III §7.79 (< ἐκλύω) νὰ σπούσιν BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 177.8; νὰ σκοῦσι ibid. 382.12 ἔσκα ἀπὸ τῆ χολῆ DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 469 φουσκῶνονται, ἐσκοῦνε Irodis I.17

When the vowel stem ends in /u/ (typically the verb ἀκούω), vowel deletion may occur, resulting in /o/ or /u/. When the vowel of the ending is /e/, the result of the “contraction” of /u/ and /e/ can be either /u/ (vowel deletion), or /o/ (crasis) (for details on chronology and geographical spread see I, 2.9.5):

- ἄκου τὸ τί μοῦ λέγει Dig. E 1581 ἄκου τί μ' ἐποκρίθην LIMEN., Than. Rod. 452 καὶ ἄκου τὸ τί μοῦ ἐσύντυχεν Om. Nekt. Vas. 28 ἄκου τὸ τί διηγᾶται Rim. kor. A 178 ἄκου τώρα ἀπού ἐμπήκεν ὁ νιὸς ἀνθέντης (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 148.20) ἄκου τὸ τί τὸν εἶπαν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 129 ἄκου τον ποῦ ἐμπάινει KONDAR., Paides 829 ν' ἀκοῦνται οἱ κτύποι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 266.23
- ἄκο τὰ καλὰ Spaneas V 46 ὡς τὸ ἀκῶτε Chron. Mor. H 8911 καὶ ἄκο τί με ἐφάνην Liv. V 198 καὶ ἄκω τί ἐλαλοῦσαν Liv. α 291
 ἄκο τὸ τίντα λέγει Dig. E 517 ἄκω τὸ τεῖντα κάμνει CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 347
 ἄκο ἄλλον σύβαμα Chron. Toc. 41 ἄκω τῶν ἀμαρτωλῶν Deft. Par. 169 καὶ ἄκο λοιπόν FALIEROS, Ist. On. 137; ἀκόντα τέτοιο ρώτημα ibid. 468 καὶ ἀκόντα τὰ γινόμενα BERGADIS, Apok. V 403 ἄκο τοίνυν, δέσποτά μου Ptochol. α 628 ἀκῶντας Theseid I.5.2 (Follieri)

Sometimes a conservative spelling is maintained. This becomes particularly evident in verse texts; in order to make the verses scan, one should clearly read the following forms with synizesis, or as “contracted” forms (for synizesis, see I, 2.9.4; for accent notation indicating synizesis, see II, 1.5):

- ἀκούετε τὰ καὶ οὐ θλίβεσθε GLYKAS, Stichoi 115 καὶ κρούω σουβλέαν τὸ χέριν μου Ptoch. III 153; καὶ νὰ τὴν ἔκρουα κοπετόν ibid. 187; τὸ πῶς ἀκούεις οὐκ οἶδα ibid. 172 (ἀκοῦς in GP); καὶ κρούουσιν το κλοτσάτα Ptoch. IV 368 app. crit. (V) (κροῦσιν in K) κι ἂν ἔχης ὄρεξιν νὰ ἀκούης Chron. Mor. H 1349; τί ἔνι τὸ κλαίεις, κουντέσσα; ibid. 6050 κλαίοντας τὴν σκάλα ἀνέβαινε Arm. 16 νὰ πλὴ ἔλαφρά εἰς τὴν θάλασσαν Pol. Tr. 104 νὰ σπαθοκαταλύουνται Poulol. 224 app. crit. (V) (-λυοῦνται in A, -λοῦνται in CPL) νὰ πλὴ καὶ αὐτὸς τὴν θάλασσαν SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 303

From the 13th c. onwards in S. Italy and from at least the 14th c. in texts from other areas, forms of vowel stems in /e/ and /i/ appear, in which the stress has shifted to the ending and the /e/ or /i/ of the stem has become /j/ through synizesis (see also I, 2.9.4):

- καὶ συγκλειοῦν (1251, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 197, 419.23) οἱ συμφωνίης τές κλειοῦσιν Chron. Mor. H 2387 καταλυεῖς τὰ ροῦχά μου Spaneas Z 626; σειέσαι ἀγριωμένος ibid. 628 πλιόντα Assizes B 299.21 (< πλέω) κióμαι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 106 and 334 (καίομαι) καταλυοῦμεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.6; ἡθέλαν καταλυέσθαι ibid. 76.19 τὰ μέλη μου σωκιοῦντα Cypr. Canz. 23.7 (ἔσωκαίω); δὲν φτιῶ ibid. 87.18 (φταίω); κωλυοῦσιν

ibid. 94.61
 ἀρχεύσασιν ὅλοι οἱ λάς νὰ κλιοῦσιν Fior 92.8–9 σὰ σειέται τὸ καλάμι Alex. Rim. 1384 πέφτει, κυλιέται, γέρνεται Fyll. gadar. 316 παραλυοῦσιν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 53 τί σειεῖ ὁ σκύλος; Vios Aisop. I 269.13 λυοῦμαι, λυέσαι GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. andare vagabando; φτυῶ ibid. s.v. sputare; ξυῶ ibid.
 s.v. stregliare σειοῦνται καὶ τὰ σίδερα Paroim. (Warner) 107.5; ὅπου φτεῖ στὸν οὐρανὸ ibid. 120.10 ὡς καθὼς κλεῖ με τὰ φυτέματα ὡς καθὼς κλειοῦνε (1692, Ραχοί, PETROPOULOS 1958: 162, 162.8)

In many areas, after synzesis deletion of /j/ may occur after /s/, thus causing the vowel stems in /i/ to lose their stem vowel. Examples have been found in a Heptanesian, a Peloponnesian and in Cretan texts (for details see I, 2.4.7.3):

οὐδὲ ἡ θάλασσα λοιπὸν αὐτεῖνη οὐδὲν σέται Alex. Rim. 1983 (= σειέται) τὰ φύλλα που εσοῦσαν AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 64.7 (= ἐσειοῦσαν; for the ending see also 2.1.3.1) κ' ἔσεν την κεφαλὴν του Katis 95 (= ἔσειεν) καὶ ᾿σουντανε (1629, Crete, LAMBROS 1910: 254, 187.4–5) (= ἐσειοῦντανε) οἱ ψεῖρες, που τ'ς εξοῦσαμε μ' ἓνα κομμάτι ξύλο Epist. Nax. 471.32–3 (= ἐξοῦσαμε)

Some verbs in this category undergo a complete or partial transfer to the class of oxytone verbs (e.g. μηνύω > μηνῶ), for which see 2.1.3.1.

The verb ὁμνύω is the only one of the vowel-stem verbs that can change stem vowel, producing barytone variants in -έω and -όω. For details see 2.4.

Vowel stems can transfer to the class of consonant stems, forming new imperfective stems by substituting -ν- or -ζ- for the -σ- of the perfective stem. This use of -ν- is a trend that had already started in AG with variant forms such as δύνω for δύω and δέννω for δέω (see LSJ s.vv.), and it spread to other verbs in the period covered by this Grammar. The use of -ζ- had also started long before the LMedG period (e.g. διαχρίζομεν in Galen, ἀνασπάζουσιν in Hesychius), but is less common than -ν- (-ν-: ἀφίω, ἀφισ-/ἀφησ- > ἀφίνω/ἀφήνω; δέω, δεσ- > δένω (AG); δύω, δυσ- > δύνω (AG); ἰσχύω, ἰσχυσ- > ἰσχύνω; κλάω, κλασ- > κλάνω; κλείω, κλεισ- > κλείνω; λούω, λουσ- > λούνω;¹³ λύω, λυσ- > λύνω; σκάω, σκασ- > σκάνω; χέω, χυσ- > χύνω; -ζ-: ἀναβρύω, ἀναβρυσ- > ἀναβρύζω; κλείω, κλεισ- > κλείζω; πταίω, πταισ- > φταίζω; σπάω, σπασ- > σπάζω; χρίω, χρισ- > χρίζω):

ἀφήνειν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos I 110.12 διατὶ γοργὸν οὐκ ἔκλεινε Pol. Tr. 425 καὶ λούνετον ἡ κόρη Achil. L 529 ἀλλὰ καὶ ὁ ἥλιος ἔδυνεν Achil. N 1127 τὸ καῦμα γὰρ οὐκ ἴσχυεν διὰ νὰ περπατοῦσιν Achil. O 191 κλάνω σε καὶ φυσᾶς με Spanos B 208

¹³ SMG λούζω has not been found in the texts examined.

οὐδὲ ἡ πρίκα μ' ἄφηνε FALIEROS, Erot. En. 6 χύνουν τὰ φύλλα δάκρυα Peri xen. 298 δένει εἰς μίον τὰ χέρια τῆς Apoll. Rim. V 240 τὸ πληθὸς τοῦ λαοῦ ὅπου ἐλούνουνταν Vios Aisop. D 228.8–9 ἀποκρούω σε ROMANOS, Grammar 53.1 λέγει καὶ ξεδιαλύνει KORNAROS, Erot. II.760 αὐτὸ δα εἶναι οὔπου με κάμνει καὶ σκάνω Don Kis. 169.21 τὰ μαλλία τοῦ ἀνέσπαζε Pol. Tr. 5110 διὰ νὰ τοὺς ἀποκλείζουν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 293 φταιζόμενοι Pent. Gen. 42.21 γλήγορα διαλύζει τὸν λόγον Diig. Alex. Sem. S 549 διαλύζω GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. dichiarare εἰδεμὴ σπάζουσι τὰ δερμάτια KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 9.17

Vowel stems may also transfer to the class of consonant stems through addition of /ɣ/ at the end of the imperfective vowel stem: ἀκούω > ἀκούγω; δέομαι > δεγοῦμαι; κρούω > κρούγω; κωλύω > κωλύγω; λούω > λούγω; καίω > καίγω; κλαίω > κλαίγω; ὀμνύω > ὀμνύγω; πλέω > πλέγω; πνέω > πνέγω; πταίω > φταίγω; ρέω > ρέγω; ρύω > ρύγω (for anaptyxis of /ɣ/ as a general phenomenon, see I, 3.5.2):

ἐκρούγασιν Dig. E 1174 νὰ λούγεται Liv. V 45; νὰ τὸν ἀκούγουσιν ibid. 635; νὰ λούγουνται ibid. 3112 οὐκ ὀρέγομαι ἀκούγειν αὐτὸ (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 79.1d–2d)
 πλέγοντα SKLENTZAS, Ain. Zood. Pig. 38 αἶμαν ἔρρεγε ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 92 ἐδεγοῦνταν τοῦ θεοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 82.24 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari)¹⁴ καὶ ἔπλεγα ἴσάν τὰ ἰψάρια Apoll. Rim. A 307 φθαίγει VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 72 ἀκούγουν αὐτωνῶν MOREZINOS, Klini 64.30 ὥστε νὰ ἀναπνέγω MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 218 λούγω, λούγομαι GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. lavare la testa πλέγουν ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 190 διατὶ πλέγουσι τὰ φαγητά LANDOS, Geopon. 181.34 πάντα φταίγεις PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §6.30–1; νὰ μᾶς κρούγουν ibid. I §22.7
 οὐ κωλύγω (17th c.?, Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 408.456); ρύγει ibid. 409.568

The verb δεικνύω can transfer to the class of consonant stems by forming an alternative stem δειχν- (see 2.1.1.1.4).

Certain consonant stems that end in -ɣ, such as λέγω, τρώγω, ὑπάγω and φυλάγω, can transfer to the class of vowel stems, no doubt influenced by the fact that many vowel stems can become consonant stems through the addition of /ɣ/ (e.g. ἀκούω > ἀκούγω). After the deletion of the /ɣ/ of the stem the weaker vowels /e/ or /i/ of the ending are omitted after the stronger vowels /a/ and /o/ of the verb stems, thus giving precedence to semantic over morphological disambiguation: e.g. τρῶ (not *τρῆ), which is used for 3 sg. pres. ind./subj. and ¹⁴ This form not only shows addition of /ɣ/, but also a transfer to the oxytone paradigm, which is not uncommon in Cypriot Greek; see 2.1.3.1.

for the imperative, but not for 1 sg. Forms in which the second vowel is deleted occur for 2 sg., 3 sg. and all persons of the plural of the present indicative/subjunctive: πάγω, πᾶς, πᾶ. πᾶμεν, πᾶτε, πᾶνε, vel πᾶσι GERMANO, Grammar 95.15–16; λέγω, λές, λέ. λέμεν, λέτε, λένε, vel λέσι ibid. 95.22–3; τρώγω, τρώς, τῶ. τῶμεν, τῶτε, τῶνε, vel τῶσι ibid. 25–6. Such forms are also found for the imperfect, as well as for the imperative:¹⁵

2nd Person Singular

ἔτρως γαδάρου ράχην Poulol. 558 ἄμμὲ νὰ τρώς Achil. L 92 μήνυμαν ὑπᾶς στὸν βασιλέαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1072 δεν λες ἀλήθεια ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 24.7

3rd Person Singular

λέ τον Flor. L 717
 καὶ πᾶ, καθίζει καὶ αὐτὸς Phys. 234 νὰ τῶ Assizes A 122.7
 καὶ πᾶ χώρια κ' ἐστάθην Velth. 559 καὶ μετ' ἐκείνους ἔτρων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1231 τουρούς τῶ καὶ παστέλλια LIMEN., Than. Rod. 570 νὰ τῶ σάρκες Χριστιανῶν Alosis 904 καὶ ἔτρων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 624.5
 λέ του ὁ Ἐάνθος Vios Aisop. I 73.12 (Papathomopoulos) (λέ<γει> in Eideneier) “νὰ γράψω”, λέ, “ς τὸν πάιλον” Thrinis Kypr. 17; εὐθύς ὑπᾶ' μαντᾶτον ibid. 19

1st Person Plural

λέμε (1623, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 1, 128.10) τὰ λέμεν παραμύθια VEST., Pathi 174 καὶ πάμενε καὶ βλέπομε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 223.5 (for -(ν)ε see I, 2.6.3.3) σοῦ λέμεν χωρίς ψῶμα PETRITSIS, Dig. O 387; δίχως αὐτὴν δὲν πάμενε ibid. 391 ἀλλὰ τί λέμεν Irodos I.85 πιάτζα ποῦ λὲν οἱ Ἰταλοί, ἡμεῖς ποῦ λέμεν φόρον VATATSIS, Periig. I 733

2nd Person Plural

ὁποῦ μοῦ λέτε ἔτσι Spaneas Z 503 φυλᾶτε Pol. Tr. 1550 app. crit. (X) and ibid. 9613 app. crit. (B) τῶτε καὶ πίνετε καλὰ SACHLIKIS, Vouli pol. 34 πᾶτε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 46.9
 καὶ ἀκούτε τι τοὺς λέγει DEFAR., Sos. 357 (Holton)

3rd Person Plural

καὶ ὑπᾶν εἰς τὴν Συρίαν Dig. E 201 ὅπου ὑπᾶν (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 275.29) διὰ νὰ πᾶν καὶ ἔρχωνται (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 3, 307.15) καὶ πρὸς ἐκεῖνον λέσι Achil. O 20; ὑπᾶν ibid. 610; πᾶσι τὴν ὁδὸν τοὺς ibid. 698 τῶν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1859 τῶν τον Fyll. gadar. 160 τῶσιν το Diig. Alex. Sem. B 462; νὰ τῶν ibid. 669 ἄφ' τὴν τράπεζαν ᾧς τῶν' τὴν ἐδική μου KONDAR., Paides 176

¹⁵ The availability of both λέγουν and λέσι(ν) may be responsible for the following example, for which no parallel has been found: καὶ λέσουν το ἕνα Ὅχεντρες (1530–40, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: Z, 168.24).

λέσι καὶ ὁμολογοῦσι (1664, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 322, 202.12) αὐτεῖνοι πᾶνε (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 180.52) καὶ τρῶν τον τ' ἄγρια πρόβατα Dimotika Ivir. VIII.2
 φυλᾶν ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 1074

Imperative

καὶ τ' ἄλλα ὅλα τρῶ' τα CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 536 καὶ τρῶτε, ξεφαντώνετε Imb. Rim. 496

By analogy with the original vowel stems, “uncontracted” forms without the /y/ of the stem can also be found, often, though not exclusively, in verse texts:

καὶ ὑπάει τὸ μονοπάτιον κατὰ ἀνατολὰς (1093, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 57, 74.10) καὶ λέγει ὅπου μ' ἐφύλαε Liv. E 437; δοῦλε μου, ποῦ ὑπάεις; ibid. 2178 ἐκβάνουν καὶ ὑπάουν σε Diig. tetr. 791 app. crit. (C); καὶ τρώεις καὶ κοιμᾶσαι ibid. 949 εἰς γεῦμαν τους μὲ τρῶουν Poulol. 206 κι ὁλόγυρα ὑπάει Alex. Rim. 211 καὶ φυλάουν τας, διὰ γέλια Epain. gyn. 66 τρώει καὶ τὰ παπούτσα μου CHORTATIS, Katz. II.52 νὰ τόνε φυλάη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 51.25; νὰ τόνε φυλάουσι ibid. 51.25–6 ποῦ τὰ ἄβρες; ποῦ τὰ πάεις Stathis II.89 ψόματα λείεις, γάιδαρε! FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.224 καὶ νὰ τὸν ἐφυλάουσιν SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. A2r.11 που πρέπει νὰ διαλέεις IOAKEIM KYPR. Pali 5900 τότες καῖκι πάει ἐκεῖ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 443.25 λέουνε (1675, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: 61.34) παό, pais, paí, paomé, pête, paouné SPON, Voyage 319¹⁶

As with the true vowel stems (see introduction to this subsection), forms of these verbs often appear to be “uncontracted”, while in reality they are not. Verse texts are the best witnesses to this practice. The following examples should clearly be read with synizesis, as “contracted” forms (for synizesis, see I, 2.9.4):

κ' ὑπάει γυρεύοντά τον Chron. Mor. H 3264; ἄρχισε νὰ λήη πρὸς αὐτοῦς ibid. 3560 καὶ τρώει τὸ καρφοπέταλον Arm. 26 νὰ λήη τὰ πατερμά του Fyll. gadar. 309a πιστόλες, λείει, θὰ δώση FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.91

Occasionally (ὑ)πάω and τρώω may transfer back to the class of consonant stems by the addition of -ν-, especially in texts of northern provenance:

κατέτρωναν Eisit. f.8r.2
 ὑπάνει Pol. Tr. 996 app. crit. (B) καὶ πάνεις εἰς τὸ ὄρος Poulol. 117 app. crit. (Z) νὰ πάνω στὴν Πόλη (1572, Warsaw, PATRINELIS 2000: [1], 16.138) (provenance of author unknown)

¹⁶ The Frenchman Jacob Spon made a glossary of Greek during his travels to Greece and the Levant in 1675–6. The Greek is generally correct (not counting the odd mistake and “French” stress notation), but it is impossible to establish in which part of the area he came across these forms (anywhere from the Heptanese and the Peloponnese to Leivadia, Athens, various islands in the Aegean, Constantinople and parts of Asia Minor, though we can be fairly certain they are not from the northern mainland, Crete or Cyprus).

καβαλλικεύω μάβρον μου, πάνω νά τόν ποτίσω Ekatol. (Meteoron) 6 νά πάνει νά πάρει (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 53.1)

2.1.1.3 Affixation and Modification of the Imperfective Stem

2.1.1.3.1 Affix -αιν-

Long before the period covered by this Grammar, the verbal affix /en/, usually spelled <αιν>, sometimes <εν>, began to provide alternative imperfective stems for verbs in -άνω and -ύνω (see also 1.1.1). In the texts examined, older forms with -αν- and/or -υν- are generally used alongside newer ones with -αιν-, and there is also a certain degree of interaction between forms with -αν- and -υν- (e.g. αὔξάνω for αὔξάνω):

μή συντυχαίνης, πρόσσεχε Ptoch. IV 51; but also λαγχάνει ibid. 81 (λαχαίνει in ms P, 15th c.) αὔξαινασι Chron. Mor. H 3729; κ' ἔσεν οὐδὲν λανθαίνει ibid. 6933 οἱ Ἕλληνες βαραίνονται Pol. Tr. 6434 app. crit. (A); but also χοντρύνει ibid. 660 app. crit. (A) (χοντραίνει in BEVX) πάντα αὔξυνει ἡ δύναμις Chron. Toc. 700 αὔξανε τότες ὁ Ἰωσήφ, ἔπιανεν ἡλικίαν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 488 τὰ ποιά δὲ σὲ λαθαίνουν Alex. Rim. 1057 εἰς ὅσον απομάκρυνει Apoll. Rim. E 947 (ἀπομάκρυνε in N and V) «Θεός δε λαθαίνει» Diig. Alex. K 376.17 βαραίνει τὸ σῶμα LANDOS, Geopon. 174.19, but also: βαρύνουσι τὸν στόμαχον ibid. 210.36 αὔξένουσιν οἱ χρόνοι VEST., Paid. Makkav. 1527

In certain Cretan texts of the later period, σφάνω (a Cretan variant of σφάλω, see above) also has an alternative imperfective stem in -αιν, e.g. ὅλοι οἱ ἀθρῶποι σφαίνουσι CHORTATIS, Erof. II.37; σφαίνω καὶ φταίγω σου πολλά Thysia Avr. 85; μὰ τοῦτο σφαίνει ὁποῦ τὸ πῆ KORNAOS, Erot. I.2105.

Geographically, -αιν- is found regularly everywhere, though not in texts with a consistent Cypriot colouring, most notably the Chronicles of Machairas and Voustronios, Pist. kekoim. and Fior.¹⁷ These texts either retain the imperfective stem in -αν (often spelled -ανν, reflecting gemination, for which see I, 3.4.2.5) or form alternative imperfective stems by adding -ισκ- to the perfective stem (for which see 2.1.1.3.2):

δὲν ἡξεύρου ἵντα συντυχάννομεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 142.12–13; μανθάννοντα ὁ ρήγας ibid. 186.23; μανθάννοντα τὰ μαντάτα ibid. 178.1; τοῦτα παθάννον οἱ ἀκριβοί 436.3–4 μανθάννοντά το ο ἀποστολές VOUSTR. Chron. A 30.3; καὶ συντυχάννω μετὰ τοὺς ibid. 202.8 νά τὰ βαστάννω Cypr. Canz. 29.1; ὅσα παθθάννω ibid. 29.3; but also: ποθαίνεις ibid. 46.7
πάντα συντυχάννει Fior 81.11; δὲν χορτάννει ποττέ ibid. 104.21; βαστάννει δυνατὰ τὸν πόλεμον ibid. 127.6–7; μανθάννουσιν ibid. 149.2 συντυχάννοντα Pist. kekoim. 653 ὁ Βαλέριος συντυχάννει Fior Suppl. 277.15–16; ὁ ἄνθρωπος βαστάννει ibid. 270.16
πῶς ἐβάσταννες KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 284

¹⁷ However, these same texts do retain -αίνω (usually spelled -αίννω) with verbs that originally ended in -αίνω, like κερδαίνω and compounds with -βαίνω; they also have πηγαίνω.

Other verbs in /ino/ can develop an alternative imperfective stem in /en/ by analogy with the above-mentioned verbs, e.g. κρένω for κρίνω, and ψένω for ψήνω. According to the grammarian Romanos Nikiforou, this is typical of the spoken language:¹⁸ ἡ ἀνακρένειν (1101, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 7, 395.14) καὶ κρένει εἰς τὸ δίκαιον Chron. Mor. H 3268; τὸ τί σὲ ἀποκρένεται ibid. 3408 πρόσωπον οὐ διακρένει Liv. E 846 δειλὸν τὸν κρένω Liv. α 1035 νὰ κρένης Pol. Tr. 2679 app. crit. (V); ἀτός του κρένει ibid. 13205 app. crit. (A) καὶ νὰ τὸν κατακρένουν Poulol. 323 νὰ κρένηται (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 85, 190.3) γὰ ψεύτρα ... φαίνεται ᾗ με κρένεις TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 310 πλούσους πτωχοὺς νὰ κρένουν Alex. Rim. 1478 νὰ προκρένει τὸ καλὸν ἀπὸ τὸ κακόν DAM. STOD., This., Logos 2, α7r.32 (1561) στα λόγια που κρέναμεν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 9206 να κρένονται εἰς τὸν κατὴ μας (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 25, f.51r.6) ἐκρεναν καὶ ἐκυβερνοῦσαν τοὺς Ἑλληνας Alex. Fyll. 27.12 καὶ τὰ ὀψάρια ... τὰ ἐψένα Alex. Rim. 1632 ἐψένοτον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 437.28

ψήνω ... communius ψένω, ψένομαι ROMANOS, Grammar 115.12

The affix -αιν- remained very productive well into the period covered by this Grammar, occasionally popping up with verbs whose stems do not end in a nasal, such as, notably, ἀπαντέχω, μετέχω and ὑπάγω, as well as with oxytone verbs, e.g. φορῶ > φοραίνω, for which see 2.1.3.2:

καὶ πάλι ἐπροσεγγιζαίνομεν Chron. Mor. H 6105 κι ἐσὲν ἀπαντεχαίνει Diig. Alex. Sem B 1030 ἀπαντέχαινα νὰ ἰδοῦσι τὸ ἄστρον DAM. STOD., This., Logos 2, β4r.20 (1561) νὰ μετεχαίνουσιν (1574, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 15, 141.15) δεν το ἀπαντέχαινα STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 212 (Pidonia) να ἀπαντυχαίνομεν Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 115.36 ἀπαντεχαίνω σε ROMANOS, Grammar 14.4 δὲν ἀπαντεχαίνει KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 12.46 ἡ μάννα μου μὲ θέλει ἀπαντεχαίνει MONTSEL., Evgena 603 ὅπου μ' ἀπαντεχαίνει VEST., Paid. Makkav. 819 ἀπαντεχαίνουσι DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 455 νὰ μετεχαίνου τὸ ἕνα τετάρτιν (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 82, 237.5–6); ἐμετέχαινε μέσα εἰς τὸ αὐτὸν πρᾶμα (ibid. 118, 279.5–6) ἀπαντήχαινε Don Kis. 14.1–2

2.1.1.3.2 Affix -σκ-

In certain areas a verbal affix -ισκ- is used to form new imperfective stems of nasal-stem verbs based on their non-sigmatic perfective stem (BEAUDOIN 1884: 94–5 and SYMEONIDIS 2006: 235 on Cypriot). Evidence to support MENARDOS'S (1969: 6) and SYMEONIDIS'S

¹⁸ Cf. δέρματα τὰ ἐν ταῖς κοπρίαις κείμενα συλλέγοντες ἔψεναν αὐτὰ καὶ ἔτρωγαν, παραμυθῆσασθαι βουλόμενοι τὸν λιμόν Kekaumenos, Strategikon 252.6–7 (ed. Litavrin).

(2006: 235–6) hypothesis that this affix derives directly from the identical AG verbal affix -(ι)σκω is not very strong. The AG affix can be found in verbs such as γιγνώσκω, εύρίσκω and ἀλίσκομαι, and is also used to form barytone imperfective stems from oxytone verbs (e.g. τελῶ > τελίσκω, γελῶ > γελίσκω) (for an overview of the semantics and morphology of the AG affix see ZERDIN 1999). The MedG affix, on the other hand, is used to form a distinctive imperfective stem for barytone, not oxytone,¹⁹ verbs that have imperfective and perfective stems ending in a nasal. The affix -ισκ- is initially used with verbs that have identical imperfective and perfective stems (κρίνω, μεγαλύνω), but by analogy it spread to other nasal stems as well (μένω, σημαίνω, πεθαίνω, γίνομαι). These verbs are well-documented for Cyprus, but much less so for other areas. However, a few instances have been found in texts from Macedonia and Epirus, and it is likely to have had a wider distribution in the spoken language, given Romanos Nikiforou's testimony below, that γιανίσκει is “more what peasants say” (villanius), and given the fact that it was recorded in the early 20th c. among other regions in Cyprus, Macedonia, Thrace and Thessaly (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 300; PAPADOPOULOS 1926: 89; TSOPANAKIS 1953: 287–8); for this affix in modern Cappadocian see PANDELIDIS 2016a.

το δίκαιον κρινίσκει Assizes B 420.25; εμείνισκεν ibid. 431.3 μακρυνίσκουνται Assizes A 46.17; ανακρινίσκει ibid. 189.29; κατακρινίσκει ibid. 206.16 ἐγίνισκετον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 46.30; νά τὸν βαρυνίσκου ibid. 72.36; ἐσημάνισκε ibid. 86.22; νά μεγαλυνίσκουν ibid. 294.21; ὀλλιγανίσκουν ibid. 422.23; ὅτις ἐνεφάνισκε νά ψαρέψει ibid. 586.29 (< ἀναφαίνω); ἀρχοντυνίσκασιν ibid. 622.5
μεινίσκοντα μοναχοί VOUSTR. Chron. A 8.17; πεθανίσκοντα ibid. 34.10; σημανίσκει ibid. 188.9 ἀλαφρυνίσκω Cypr. Canz. 75.28; θέλει νά πεθανίσκω ibid. 100.38; γιανίσκει ibid. 115.6; μεινίσκει ibid. 154.16 ἀντὰ πληθυνίσκουσιν οἱ ὀξόδοι Fior 102.25; ὅσον περίτου ἀρχοντυνίσκει ibid. 105.17; κρίνισκετε ἄλλους ibid. 115.7; ὁ γέρος πελλανίσκει ibid. 149.29–30 λιγανίσκει τὴν θωριάν Fior Suppl. 270.21–2; ἀντὰν πεθανίσκει ibid. 271.8; ὁ γλυκὺς λόγος πληθυνίσκει τοὺς φίλους ibid. 277.27 ἐλαφρυνίσκει Pist. kekoim. 122; κλινίσκεις ibid. 380; ἐπεθανίσκαν ibid. 618; γινίσκεται ibid. 693 γιανίσκει PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §3.4 ἀπομνίσκουν (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 10, 308., f.2r.31) (= ἀπομεινίσκουν, with deletion of unstressed [i]) μνίσκουν νέτα φλορία 580 (1697, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 30, 24.63) (= μεινίσκουν) ὕγιαίνω σε, sano te ..., vel communius et usitatius γιαίνω σε ... vel tertium villanius γιανίσκω σε, sano te, ἐγιάνισκα σε, sanabam te ROMANOS, Grammar 104.8–10

A few unusual ones are the following:

χάρου τὸν καιρόν σου, γιατί αὔριον γερανίσκεις Cypr. Canz. 92.61 ἐθέλαν γερανίσκει οἱ ἄνθρωποι Fior 84.11 καὶ καθαρνίσκει τοὺς ἐχθροὺς Fior Suppl. 277.27–8 ἐμαθήνισκεν τὰ πάντα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §16.11

¹⁹ The form παρακαλίσκει MACHAIRAS Chron. V 516.19 is a misreading by the editor; the diplomatic edition of Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari reads παρακαλήσαι: παρακαλεῖ σε, or perhaps παρακαλεῖσαι.

The verb γερανίσκω (also recorded by MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v. γερανίσκειν) presupposed the existence of a verb γεραίω (Cypriot γεράν(ν)ω?), evidence for which is very scarce: σκόπησε τι για σέν ό καιρός τά κάλλη σου γεραίνει Rim. kor. V 98 (rhymes with έρωτοπλουμισμένη). The verb καθαρινίσκω is probably the result of an analogy with verbs in -υνίσκω. The form έμαθήνισκεν can perhaps be explained along the same lines, because it cannot have been derived from the aorist έμαθα.

By the 12th c.²⁰ the AG verb αποθνήσκω had developed an alternative imperfective stem αποθαιν-/πεθαιν-, though imperfective forms of the first remain in use in MedG texts, not only as residual forms, but also with relatively “new” endings (αποθνήσκουν, αποθνήσκοντας):

αύτικά μέ αποθνήσκουν Ptoch. IV 305 app. crit (H) λοιπόν, ώς ένι φυσικόν οί πάντες ν' αποθνήσκουν Chron. Mor. H 2441 ότι έγώ αποθνήσκω Diig. E 1793 αποθνήσκασιν Pol. Tr. 4288 app. crit (B) μέλλω αποθνήσκειν Diig. sebast. Thom. 185 απέθνησκεν Pol. Tr. 679 νά αποθνήσκη SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 337 νά συναποθνήσκονται Achil. N 1785 τί θάνατον αποθνήσκω Diig. Alex. F 298.6 and E 299.6; ό Βουκέφαλος είδε τόν Άλέξανδρον, όπου απέθνησκει ibid. 200.1 (απόθνησκεν in E 201.1) εις ατιμίαν και έντροπήν απέθνησκω Diig. Alex. K 264.20 ιδού τώρα οπου αποθνήσκω Alex. Fyll. 114.33–4 αποθνήσκοντας έλεγεν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 59.3–4 από έσένα αποθνήσκω Vios. Ais. D 119.32 άν δέν έτρωγα, απόθνησκα Bertoldin. 155.28

This led to the formation of a new imperfective stem (α)πεθηνισκ-, with anaptyxis of /i/ in the consonant cluster /θn/ for easier pronunciation (see I, 2.6.2). Forms of (α)πεθηνίσκω occur in texts from southern areas, and especially the Heptanese, from about the 15th c. onwards:

ότι απέθηνισκαν (1487, Chios?, LEFORT 1981: 13, 77.6) και δέν αποθενήσκω FALIEROS, Ist. On. 622 (reading of ms A; απέθηνήσκω in V, απέθνήσκω in N)²¹ απέθηνισκαν Pol. Tr. 4288 app. crit. (V) κι άν πεθηνίσκω Cypr. Canz. 104.37 πεθηνίσκει Fior 89.15 και είδε ότι απέθηνίσκει KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 337.5; έτύχαινε και απέθηνίσκει ibid. 349.43; απέθηνισκαν από την πείναν ibid. 437.17 πεθηνίσκοντάς μου (1587, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970b: 1, 227.4) (πεθηνήσκοντάς μου in the edition) όπου απέθηνισκεν Bertoldos 33.2
 ανίσως και εκείνος απέθηνισκεν Bertoldin. 146.22–3

²⁰ LBG's first example s.v. απεθαίνω, is απεθαμένους (12th c.), but this participle is derived directly from the aorist stem αποθαν-, and does not prove that there is a present in -αίνω.

²¹ The reading αποθενήσκω appears to be a conflation of απεθηνίσκω and αποθαίνω, or of αποθνήσκω and αποθαίνω. Ms V, which has απεθηνίσκω, was copied by the Corfiot Andronikos Noukios and has many Heptanesian features (VAN GEMERT 1980: 36–8 and 550–2 and 56).

In south-western areas such as the Peloponnese and the Heptanese, though not in Crete, the verb μένω has an alternative imperfective stem μεινεσκ-. This stem is formed from the perfective stem μειν-, and is sometimes shortened to μνεσκ- through the deletion of the unstressed /i/ (see I, 2.7.2): ἀπομείνεσκει Pol. Tr. 3009 app. crit. (A) ἔμνεσκε GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 281; μνέσκουν ibid. 582 μινέσκει (1572, Peloponnese, VEIS 1956: 449.5) νά μνέσκουν (1588 [17th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 465.4); μεινέσκει (1598 [copy of 1695], ibid. 500.2) νά μνέσκει (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 13, 39.9 and 68, 78.16); νά μνέσκου (ibid. 17, 42.26) μνέσκει (1646, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1970: 1, 251.19) μνέσχοντας ὑποσχόμενος (1649, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2008: 1, 51.14–15) νά μνέσκουε (1669, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999a: 2, 280.19) νά ἐμνέσχουε (1678, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 243, 218.34) νά μεινέσκη (1713, Nauplion, LIATA 1998a: [1], 263.23); νά μεινέσκουν (ibid. 263.42) μεινέσκω (1715, Corfu, LIATA 1975: 19, 134.17–18); μεινέσκοντας (1716, ibid. 30, 142.13)

A 14th-c. manuscript containing a Judaeo-Greek glossary of unconfirmed provenance (probably from Asia Minor)²² preserves the following forms derived from verbs other than μένω. These forms, however, appear to have been derived from the imperfective stem rather than the perfective stem: ἐβραδύνεσκαν Samuel II gloss. f.1v, l. 14 supralinear; εἰς ψηνέσκουσας ibid. f.2r, l. 14 (pres. part. fem. acc. pl. of ψηνέσκω < ψήνω).

Finally, a rare form in -ασκ- occurs in a document from Thessaloniki: δὲν ξέρου τι ἀγοράσκει (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 66.1) (ξέρου = ξέρω, see I, 2.5.4).

2.1.2 Oxytone Verbs

Oxytone verbs are verbs in which the stress in the present indicative/subjunctive falls on the ending, not on the stem of the verb.

2.1.2.1 A-stems and E-stems

The confusion between oxytone A-stems and E-stems that had set in in Hellenistic times (see the introduction to this Chapter) continues to manifest itself throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, in which adoption of A-stem endings by E-stem verbs is more common than the reverse (see also Chapter 4). Some representative examples are:

πολλάκις εἶδον ἄνθρωπον φορῶντα ἱμάτια καλὰ Vios Philaret. 630–1 app. crit. (G); κρατῶντες λαμπάδας ibid. 857 app. crit. (G) (9th-c. original, 11th-c. ms) ἐξηγάται NIKON, Logos 4, 212.1 and id., Logos 9 316.4 διεδικᾶν (1140, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 122, 163.27) προσδοκᾷς Ptoch. I 101 νά τοὺς λυπᾶται Chron. Mor. H 1160; νά σκοπᾷς ibid. 1654 ἀπιλογᾶται Dig. E 135; κonomᾶται ibid. 466 ἐπεθύμα ibid. 1576

²² Ms Evr. IIA 1980, National Library of Russia, St Petersburg; to be published in KRIVORUCHKO (forthcoming).

οὐδὲν μολογᾷ Assizes B 254.30; ἀρνᾶται ibid. 285.26; συχωρᾶται ibid. 455.15 ἀμηχανῶμεν (1453, Gallipoli, DARROUZÈS 1963: 2, 83.19) προσκυνᾷ σε (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 79.20) τί σε φελᾷ, κυράτσα μου Katal. 17 (ὠφελῶ) βεργέτα BERGADIS, Apok. V 214 (εὐεργετῶ) ὁμολογῶμεν (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 57.81) ἐπαπειλᾶται μοι [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 671; βοθάτε τὸν Καλλιμαχον ibid. 1346 πῶς μᾶς παραπονᾷ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.11; δήγα το ibid. 502.13–14 (δδηγῶ) ξηγάται ὁ Αἰσωπος Fior 108.39

The borrowing of E-stem endings by A-stem verbs is much rarer:

μαδεῖν τὴν σὴν μουστάκαν Spanos D 303 ἐμάσεις BAROZZI, Letter 358.9
 δὲν θέλω σιωπεῖ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 349.6 καὶ νὰ μασεῖ τὰ σίδερα KORNAROS, Erot. II.1006 καὶ μασεῖ καὶ βάνει LANDOS, Geopon. 130.28

2.1.2.2 Affixation and Modification of the Imperfective Stem

2.1.2.2.1 Addition of /n/

Addition of a nasal after the imperfective stem of certain oxytone verbs with a liquid is a development that set in before the LMedG period with certain oxytone verbs in -ρῶ, producing forms like περνῶ (< περῶ) (see also 1.1.1), and later spreading to other verbs, e.g. ἐξέρνουν καὶ τὰ ἔφαγα καὶ τ' ἄντερὰ μου ἀκόμη SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 196 transcr. P (Lendari) (< ἐξερῶ), especially in northern areas: ἀφορνᾷ PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §21.4 (< ἀφορῶ); λίγο κέρδα καὶ μὴν φύρνα Paroim. (Warner) 69.19 (< φυρῶ); ἐγὼ τὴν συγχωρνῶ Don Kis. 139.26 (< συγχωρῶ).²³ However, the addition of /n/ does not appear to have spread to include liquid stems in /l/ before the 14th c. Forms with -λν- appear primarily in texts from northern regions, though examples of the verb χαλνῶ have also been found in texts from the Heptanese, the Peloponnese and Cyprus:²⁴ χαλνῶνται Pol. Tr. 8307 app. crit. (C); ἐχάλναν ibid. 13728 app. crit. (C) εὐχολὰ νὰ τὸν χάλνα Chron. Toc. 674 καὶ μας χαλνά Diig. Alex. K 346.30; ἐχάλναν ibid. 363.9 χαλνοῦσι ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 22.10 and 86.15; χαλνοῦνται ibid. 89.9 and 132.10

²³ Germano (copied by Portius) has καθαιρνῶ (< καθαίρω); see also 2.1.3.1. Cf. ξεκαθαρινῶντας (1633, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 9, 144.13).

²⁴ The 15th-c. manuscript C of Pol. Tr. is possibly of Constantinopolitan provenance (see PAPATHOMOPOULOS/JEFFREYS 1996: xcix); place of composition of the original of Poulol. is probably Constantinople (TSAVARI 1987: 99–101); northern features can be found in both Velis. χ (e.g. accusative for genitive, see BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1988: 48, 98) and Diig. Alex. K (e.g. in vocabulary and phonology, see MITSAKIS 1983: 320–1); NE-OFYTOS, Achouri was written in Bucharest, though the provenance of its author is unknown; Aitolos was born in Corinth but lived in Constantinople most of his life. The only surely non-northern examples are the instances of χαλνῶ in one of the Miracles of Nikon Metanoieite, Spanos's grammar, all of Peloponnesian provenance, Bertoldos (Heptanese) and Rodinos (Cyprus).

σὲ χαλνᾷ ROMANOS, Grammar 133.11

χαλνᾷει Bertoldos 18.17

χαλνᾷτε τὴν παραγγελίαν τοῦ Θεοῦ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 7.9

ἀσθένεια ὅπου χαλνᾷ τὰ φαγητὰ Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 25 τὸν ἐκαταχαλνοῦσαν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 85.21; ἐκαταχάλνα ibid. 93.2

γλήγορα χαλνοῦν (1572, Warsaw, PATRINELIS 2000: [1], 14.78–9) χαλνοῦσι ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1412

τὸ περίσσο χαλνᾷ τὸ ἴσιο Paroim. (Warner) 99.20 δὲν χαλνᾷται ΝΕΟΦΥΤΟΣ, Achouri 310 νὰ μὴν χαλνέτι (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 25, f.52r.4) (= χαλνέται, see I, 2.5.4) καὶ το εχαλνούσε Don Kis. 1.16; χαλνώ ibid. 21.13–14

κολνᾷ ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2091 ἐκάλναν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §21.28; κολνᾷ ibid. III §7.89; σκολνᾷ ibid. III §10.10 ὡς καὶ τὰ ποντίκια κολνοῦν ἀπάνου τους (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 304, f.1v.13–14)

καὶ τὸ κολνᾷ Diig. Vefa 1307

In the same period, though with a broader geographical distribution, a similar development can be observed in certain barytone verbs (for which see 2.1.1.1.5).

In the verb κουβαλῶ, the liquid /l/ of the stem is sometimes replaced with a nasal /n/ (cf. the same phenomenon in certain barytone verbs such as βάνω < βάλλω, see 2.1.1.1.6): καὶ τὸν πηλὸν κουβάνει Ptoch. III 211 app. crit. (P); εἰς τὸν Μορέα πήγαιναν, ἐκεῖ ἐκουβανιώντον IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1726; ὅλα σ' αὐτοὺς τὰ κουβανοῦν ibid. 9290.

2.1.2.2.2 Anaptyxis of /ɣ/

Anaptyxis of /ɣ/ in 3 sg., 2 sg. (and possibly 2 pl.) present of A-stem endings can be found especially, though certainly not exclusively, in Heptanesian texts (see also I, 3.5.2.1). For the same development in the imperfect, see below (2.1.2.2.3).

ν' ἀπαντάγη (13th?/15th c., Cyprus, Assizes B 455.3) ἡ πείνα τὸν κεντάγει Theseid I.43,1 (Follieri) χώρια του πολεμάγει Alex. Rim. 2336; οὐδὲν τὸν ἐρωτάγει ibid. 2452 (both rhyme with πάγει) νὰ κυνηγάγει KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 177.35; τὴν ἐρωτάγει τὴν Παναγίαν ibid. 344.223 γηροκομάγει (1579, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 5, 23.10); προστυχάγει (1581, ibid. 8, 25.19) πάλιν μετανοάγει Diig. Alex. Sem. S 960 (< μετανοῶ) ὁμολογάγει (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 33, 52.12–13) καὶ ἀγαπάγει καὶ ἐμέ MONTSEL., Evgena 187 app. crit.

αὐτοῦνους κυνηγάγει IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5739; ὡς θέλει καὶ ἀγαπάγει ibid. 5740 ὁμπρὸς τὰ προβοδάγει DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 124

νὰ ἀπερνάγη (1694, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 184, 110.3) πρέπει κανεῖς νὰ εὐχαριστάγει τὸν θεόν (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 67.18) ὁμολογάγει (1700, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2008: 6, 58.37) τραβάγει ὅλην τὴν ὑγρότητα (1709, Chios, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 34, 136.107–8) (author from Smyrna) πάλιν κεῖ καταντάγεις VATATSIS, Periig. I 276 (author from the Constantinople area)

Only rarely does this /ɣ/ spread to endings with /u/: ἐμολογάγουν (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 205, 124.13) (< ὁμολογῶ); καὶ νὰ τηράγουνε τὴ δουλειά τους ΕΦΤΗΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 44.17.

2.1.2.2.3 Developments in the Imperfect: Affixes -ουσ-, -αγ-, -ειγ-/ηγ- and -ουν-

In the Koine an alternative ending -σαν had emerged for the 3 pl. strong aorist (e.g. ἦλθοσαν for ἦλθον) to distinguish it from 1 sg.; regionally (mainly in Boeotia and Egypt, and especially in the Septuagint), this ending spread to 3 pl. imperfect of both barytone and oxytone verbs (e.g. ἐλαμβάνουσιν for ἐλάμβανον, ἐποιοῦσαν for ἐποίουν, ἐνικῶσαν for ἐνίκων) (BURESCH 1891: 195–200; DIETERICH 1898: 242–3), possibly by analogy with 3 pl. imperfect forms in -σαν of μι-verbs (e.g. ἐτίθεσαν) (HORROCKS 2010: 143–4). Apparently, with the imperfect this ending disappeared fairly soon.²⁵ Some centuries later, the ending -οῦσαν reappears with E-stem verbs (see e.g. MITSAKIS 1967: 62 for examples in the works of Romanos the Melode, 6th c.), probably modelled on present 3 pl. ending -οῦσι + past-tense -αν (KOURMOULIS 1956: 4). Subsequently the morpheme /us/ began to be viewed as a marker for the imperfect, first allowing for alternation of -αν and -ασιν in 3 pl., and then gradually spreading to the rest of the paradigm and to A-stem verbs. The first grammar to give a full alternative paradigm with /us/ is that of Romanos Nikiforou (ca. 1627) (for more examples see also 4.3.2.1):

ὅτι ἐκρατοῦσαν το ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 314.6
 κ' ἐκρατούσασιν Chron. Mor. H 2668 ἀδικούσαμεν Ptoch. III 273 app. crit. (P) ἐκρατοῦσεν Chron. Toc. 3664 ἐθαρρούσαμε (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 97.17) ποῦ 'νε τὸ πρᾶμαν τὸ ἐβαστούσετε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 442.8 ἐμισούσετε Cypr. Canz. 133.13 τινάς δεν αποκοτούσεν να περάσει ANDONIOS, Vios Sym. Styl. 243.12 πού τοὺς ἀκαρτερούσαμε Theseid 2.81,3 (1529) ἐγελοῦσαμεν ... ἐγελοῦσαν SOFIANOS, Grammar 63.16; ἐκρατοῦσαν ibid. 60.20–1 ἐτιμούσαμεν ... ἐτιμοῦσαν GERMANO, Grammar 91.18; ἐπουλούσαμεν ... ἐπουλοῦσαν ibid. 92.22 ἀγαποῦσα ... ἀγαποῦσες, ἀγαποῦσε, ἀγαπούσαμε, ἀγαπούσετε, ἀγαπούσασι vel ἀγαπούσαν ROMANOS, Grammar 38.8–9; ἐκρατοῦσα, ἐκρατοῦσες, ἐκρατοῦσε ... ἐκρατούσαμε, ἐκρατούσετε, ἐκρατούσασι vel ἐκρατοῦσαν ibid. 47.21–2 ἐλειτουργοῦσες με τὸν καρδινάλην (1701, Transylvania, Legrand 1903: 14, 38.17) ἐγὼ ἀγαποῦσα να παραπονιέσαι Don Kis. 47.16 [ἐφι]λοῦσα ... [ἐφι]λοῦσες ... [ἐφι]λοῦσε SPANOS, Grammar 39.21; [ἐγε]λοῦσα ... [ἐγε]λοῦσες
ibid. 41.14

Imperfects in -αγα, -αγες, -αγε etc., common for A-stems in the southern varieties of MG including Athenian, are rare in the period under investigation, and start to appear quite late. In the texts examined, examples have not been found before the 17th c.: πῶς καὶ νὰ ἐξύπναγεν ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 2381; χρώσταγα (17th c., Gortynia, ²⁵ There is no compelling evidence that this ending spread from Egypt to the rest of the Hellenistic world, as BURESCH (1891: 203) supposes, at least not as regards the imperfect. Unless we are to suppose that the ending did spread to mainstream Hellenistic Greek (without, however, turning up in written texts), and remained in use in the spoken language only, not once showing up in even the most low-brow of Byzantine texts, the re-emergence of 3 pl. -οῦσαν should be viewed as the result of an independent development, as history repeating itself. GIGNAC (1981: 331) gives no examples beyond the 4th c. AD.

GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 33, 185.7); ἐκράταγέ το (1670, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 2, 164.10); ἐγέλαγα SPANOS, Grammar 41.14 (18th c.).²⁶ It is reasonable to assume that this epenthetic /y/ first appeared in 2 sg., 3 sg. and 2 pl. forms (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 48), after which the morpheme /aγ/ came to be regarded as a marker for the imperfect, allowing it to spread to the other persons as well.

Kanellos Spanos's grammar (1749; author from the Peloponnese) is the only witness to E-stem forms that consist of the verb root + stem extension /iy/ + active or passive imperfect ending:²⁷ εὐρίσκεται καί: ἐφίλειγα, [ἐφίλει]γες, [ἐφίλει]γε· ἐφιλείγαμεν, [ἐφίλει]γετε, [ἐφί]λειγαν SPANOS, Grammar 39.23; εὐρίσκεται καί: ἐφιλήγομουν, [ἐφιλή]γесουν, [ἐφιλή]γετο· [ἐφιλή]γόμασθε, [ἐφιλή]γесθε, [ἐφιλή]γόσασθε, ἐφιλήγουνταν καί ἐφιληγόντησαν ibid. 40.17–18.

The morpheme -ουν-, originally the 1 sg. imperfect ending for E-stems, and later for A-stems as well, also displays a tendency to become a marker for the imperfect, but this one is restricted to the forms of the singular, starting with an added past-tense marker /a/ to 1 sg., and spreading to 2 sg. and 3 sg. in the 17th c. Forms with -ουν- have been found in texts of south-western provenance (Heptanese, Crete, Peloponnese) and in texts from Chios:

ἐκράτουνα Liv. E 1670

πού κράτουνα FALIEROS, Erot. En. 122 ἐπεθύμουνα Theseid I.103,7 (Follieri); ἡμπόρουνα ibid. III.54,5 (1529) εγώ τραγούδουνα ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 129.13

νά τὸν ἐτίμουνα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 86.19 ἐπούλουνα (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 218.20)

νά σοῦ ᾔητουνα Thysia Avr. 897 ἐγάπουνε GERMANO, Grammar 87.4

ἐπούλουνα (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 2, 361.10); ἀπεθύμουνα (ibid., 361.24) ὁπότεν ἐμίλουνε Bertoldos 6.11; δὲν ἀποκότουνε ibid. 70.1

δὲν ἐπερβότουνε Bertoldin. 105.23; ἐκατοίκουνε ibid. 109.30; ὁπότεν ἔζουνε ibid. 116.27 τὴν γνώμην ὅπου κράτουνε πολλὰ τὴν ἐτιμοῦσαν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1822 δὲν ἡμπόρουνα MONTSEL., Evgena 165; νά μέτρουνα ibid. 406; τὴν ἀγάπουνα ibid. 934 ἐφίλουνα ... ἐφίλουνες ... ἐφίλουνε SPANOS, Grammar 39.21

2.1.2.2.4 Analogical Levelling in the E-stem Paradigm and the Appearance of /j/ after Stem Consonants

After the demise of verbs in -μι and the O-stem paradigm (see 1.1), the next class of verbs to come under threat was that of oxytone E-stem verbs. Though its extinction was never fully completed, partly thanks to the reintroduction of many a form during the process of standardization that took place in the MG period, there are clear tendencies throughout the period covered by this Grammar and across the board to adapt E-stem forms to the A-stem paradigm (see Chapter 4). But not only to the A-stem paradigm: from the 14th/15th c. onwards the E-stem paradigm also started to be influenced by the most dominant paradigm of all, that of barytone verbs. The trend that can be observed is that in the active voice distinctive barytone endings (past-tense endings, endings of the imperative) are tagged onto the less transparent endings of the oxytone E-stem paradigm, so for instance 3 sg. imperfect ἐκάλει becomes ἐκάλειε and 2 sg. imperative κάλει becomes κάλειε (see also 4.3.2 and 4.5.1.2). In the passive voice, too, a similar, though altogether more intricate, mechanism can be observed (see below). This adding of endings belonging to the barytone paradigm onto forms belonging to the oxytone E-stem paradigm was directly responsible for the appearance of the semivowel /j/ in the E-stem paradigm.

²⁶ In his grammar (ibid.), Spanos states: τὸ δὲ ἐγέλαγα οὐκ ἀπὸ τοῦ γελῶ περισπωμένου, ἀλλ' ἀπὸ τοῦ γελάγω βαρυτόνου; however, there is no textual evidence to suggest that in the present of A-stem verbs this /y/ ever spread to all persons.

²⁷ This morpheme can for instance also be found in Kolokotronis's Memoirs, recorded in 1836 (PANTELIDIS 2003: 6–7) and is still found in modern Peloponnesian dialects (NEWTON 1972a: 54–5; PANDELIDIS 2001: 556).

Active Voice

The 3 sg. imperfect and sg. present imperative ending -ειε consist of the E-stem ending -ει with an added ending -ε by analogy with barytone verbs (JANNARIS 1897: 219; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 45): ἐβάρει > ἐβάρειε, cf. ἔγραφε; βάρει > βάρειε, cf. γράφε. 2 sg. imperfect -ειες for -εις was soon after formed by analogy with this new 3 sg. ending. When pronounced with synizesis the unstressed /i/ before /e/ of the new ending becomes a semivowel /j/, which may lead to palatalization of the preceding stem consonant (see I, 3.8.2 for details). This is evident from the position of these forms in the political verse (e.g. at the verse end, or by simply counting the number of syllables in the half-verse), and from the fact that they are often found without a second stress when followed by a clitic pronoun, in verse as well as prose texts:

καὶ φόρειε τὸ προσώμῳ σου καὶ τὸν πηλὸν κουβάλειε Ptoch. III 211 (mss SA) ἐβάρειε τῆς ἡμέρας Pol. Tr. 224 (mss AEX) ἐκράτειεν τὸ εἰς τὸ χεῖρῖν τῆς Liv. E 1272; ὄνταν μ' ἐψυχοπόνειες ibid. E 3975 πέμπω το' κράτειε, φόρειε το Liv. V 1715 Σιγὰ περπάτειε ταπεινά Flor. L 1125 καὶ ἐπούλειε τοὺς Chron. Toc. 3589 ἀλλ' ὁ καιρὸς ἐκάλειεν τοὺς Achil. N 1341 κατεφίλειεν τὸν Achil. L 1109 καὶ τότε ἐμπροσκάλειεν τοὺς SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 177 transcr. P (Lendari) καὶ ἐκουβάλειεν τοὺς ψουμῖν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 428.3 ἐγνώριζε κ' ἐθώρειε τὰ KORNAROS, Erot. I.1190; ἐφίλειε τὸνε σπλαχνικά ibid. V.23 καὶ φόρειε το Bertoldin. 116.32 κράτειε τὴν τώρῖν δυνατὰ KONDAR., Paides 552

On the other hand, absence of synizesis in these forms becomes evident from the notation of a second stress when the form is followed by a clitic pronoun, or from their position in the political verse (e.g. before the caesura, or again by counting the number of syllables). Although in prose texts one can never be certain whether the second accent was there in the original or whether it has been (tacitly) added by the modern editor (unless facsimiles are provided, as is the case with the Chronicle of the Turkish Sultans), the fact that these forms are also attested with intervocalic /x/ is proof of their validity outside verse texts:

μῆλον χρυσὸν ἐκράτειεν Liv. V 426 καὶ ὁ βασιλεὺς ἐφίλειεν τὴν ἐδικήν του κόρην Achil. L 1120 στὴν βάρκα δὲν ἐχώρειε ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1730 καὶ ἐκράτειεν τὴν Dig. Alex. F 36.10 (Konstantinopulos); ἐφίλειέ τον γλυκέα ibid. 140.17 ἐπαρακάλειεν τον Vios Aisop. I 248.31 ἀκαρτέριέ με ἐδῶ Bertoldin. 125.18 ἐπάτειέ τον εἰς τὴν ράχι του Chron. Tourk. Soult. 41.20 ἐπαρακάλειέ τους Diig. Ag. Sof. ω 518.5–6 καὶ πῶς τους εκατοῦρειε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 169; αὐτὰνα παρακάλειεν ibid. 573; ἡμπόρειες ν' ακούσεις ibid. 1305 (no forms with synizesis in this text) καὶ ἐπαρακάλειέ τον RODINOS, Martyr. Neof. 322.36 ἐφίλειγε SPANOS, Grammar 39.23

Eventually the morpheme /iɣ/ would come to be viewed as a marker for the imperfect, as part of the verb ending, and spread to the other persons as well, but this does not appear to have happened before the 18th c.; see 2.1.2.2.3.²⁸

Regionally, mainly in texts from insular areas, an intrusive /j/ may appear after the stem consonant of the active present indicative and subjunctive when the ending contains /u/ or /o/. This development is due to an analogy with barytone vowel stems, which may become oxytone (e.g. λῦω > λυῶ, σείω > σειῶ; see 2.1.3.1 for details) and which also have homophonous perfective stems in /is/, as discussed by CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: A 274–5) for the phenomenon in modern Peloponnesian:

ὁ ἀντλιῶν (10th c., Cappadocia, DE JERPHANION 1925/42, vol. 1: 277) τοὺς καλιούν εἰς πόλεμον Assizes B 464.23 τὰ φύλλα ὄντε μαδιούσι CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.46 ὥστε νὰ ζιῶ CHORTATIS, Erof. Interm. I.152 ν' ἀθιοῦσι Stathis III.511; νὰ ἀθιοῦ ibid. III.513 νὰ ζιοῦμε (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.14) ζιῶ (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 8, 7.5) ἐπατιοῦσα KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.365; ἀμπωθιοῦσα ibid. II.366

Passive Voice

The appearance of /j/ in the passive present and imperfect of the oxytone E-stem paradigm is traditionally explained as a case of analogical levelling, by which oxytone verb forms with /i/ in their ending (e.g. 3 sg. act. impf. ἐβάρει, 3 sg. pass. pres. βαρεῖται) started to adopt endings from the barytone paradigm (e.g. 3 sg. act. impf. -ει: ἐβάρει > ἐβάρειε, 3 sg. pass. pres. -εται: βαρεῖται > βαρεῖεται) (JANNARIS 1897: 219; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 45–7), after which the /i/ of the ending, having developed into a palatal semivowel /j/, spread to the whole paradigm, leading to forms such as κρατειοῦμαι and ἀγαπειοῦμαι. BABINIOTIS (1972: 185) adds to this that, though the starting point is a matter of analogical levelling with barytone verbs, the evolution is phonological in principle, starting with verbs ending in a velar consonant (e.g. νικῶ), which present a palatal allophone in verb forms with affixes with front vowels /e/, /i/ (see I, 3.8.2.1). Though Jannaris and Chatzidakis are clearly correct in assuming that the new endings involve the borrowing of endings from barytone verbs both in the case of active 2 sg. -εξ/3 sg. -ε and in the case of passive 2 sg. -έσαι/3 sg. -έται, the weak point in their theory is that it leaves unexplained why the general spread of this semivowel to forms with /o/ and /u/ endings limited itself to the passive voice, as active forms such as μαδιοῦσι or ζιῶ are attested only regionally (see above, Active Voice).

²⁸ A 1 sg. form ἡμπόρεια appears for instance in a late 18th-c. Zakynthian comedy: D. Gouzelis, O Chasis III.59 (ed. Z. Synadinos, Athens 1997) and a full paradigm with -ει- can be found in certain MG dialects (NEWTON 1973: 210).

A flaw in the second theory is that the textual evidence does not support the supposition that the development started from velar stems; it is clearly first attested and most frequent with liquid stems (/l/ and /r/, only the first of which has a palatal allophone [ɭ]), followed by nasal, labial and dental stems. The development is therefore unlikely to be phonological in principle. Moreover, neither theory takes into account the fact that there are clear differences in development between oxytone A- and E-stem verbs.

For reasons that are not yet well understood, by the LMedG period the E-stem paradigm was already experiencing serious competition from the A-stem paradigm, with increasing numbers of original E-stem verbs adopting A-stem endings (see Chapter 4). Later on it also started to receive serious pressure from the dominant barytone paradigm (dominant because there are far more barytone than oxytone verbs), which included several vowel-stem verbs that in many ways behaved similarly to oxytone verbs, as forms with both stress patterns occur: κυλιέται and κυλιέται, ἀποκλείεται and ἀποκλείται, while some verbs in this category even undergo a complete or partial transfer to the class of oxytone verbs (e.g. μηνύω > μηνῶ) (see 2.1.3.1). The appearance of /j/ in the passive imperfective stem of oxytone E-stem verbs coincides with the adoption of barytone endings in the oxytone E-stem paradigm, not only for endings with /i/, but from early on also for those with /u/ (see below). The levelling process will logically have started from forms that had /i/ in their endings, such as 2 sg. pres. βαρεῖσαι, 3 sg. pres. βαρεῖται, 2 pl. pres. βαρεῖσθε/βαρεῖστε, 3 sg. impf. ἐβαρεῖτον and 2 pl. impf. ἐβαρεῖσθε/ἐβαρεῖσθε. Evidence for this development can be traced from the 14th c. onwards and it is likely to have set in not too long before the 14th c.²⁹ Adopting the endings -εσαι /ese/ (2 sg. pres.), -εται /ete/ (3 sg. pres.), -ετον /eton/ (3 sg. impf.) and -εσθε/-εστε /esθe/este/ (2 pl. pres. and impf.) of the barytone paradigm, the /i/ of the oxytone endings was for some reason retained and a shift of the stress to the antepenultimate occurred to keep the forms in line with the rest of the oxytone paradigm. Due to the shift of the stress and subsequent synizesis, /i/ evolved into a semivowel /j/ and came to be viewed as a marker for the passive imperfective stem (/va'ri-te/ > /vari-'ete/ > /var'jete/),³⁰ occasionally popping up even in the infinitive: θέλει πουλιέσθαι (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 200, 200.14); ἤθελε κρατιέσται KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 5.4 (for more examples see Chapter 4).

²⁹ 12th- and 13th-c. mss such as those of Nikon of the Black Mountain, Michail Glykas and The Book of Jonas do not have such forms.

³⁰ Proparoxytone 3 sg. forms in -ίεται are too few and far between (see 4.1.2.2) to seriously consider them to represent an intermediate form. For 2 sg. -ιέσαι, which developed simultaneously to the 3 sg. form, no proparoxytone variants have been found, nor for 2 pl. -ιέσθε/ιέστε.

πωλιέται τὸ τυρὶν Ptoch. IV 122 (reading of oldest ms S) νὰ βαρειέσαι Chron. Mor. H 203, 482, 584, 1092 and 2524; καὶ τί τὰ ἀγωνιέσαι ibid. 2505 (< ἀγωνοῦμαι, see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.); ὅπου ἀγωνιέτον ibid. 3478; πρέπει νὰ τὸ βαρειέται ibid. 5801; πουλιέται τὸ κρασί ibid. 8290; ἐκρατιέτον ibid. 7491 νὰ κρατιέται Pol. Tr. 8992 ἐκρατιέτον Assizes B 366.5; διαλαλιέται ibid. 481.15 καὶ ἔμορφα νὰ ὀρχιέται Achil. L 274 τὸ ψωμί ὅπου πουλιέται (1487, Chios?, LEFORT 1981: 13, 77.34) ἐπικαλιέτον RODINOS, Vios Ign. 81.24; νὰ καταχαλιέται ibid. 82.3

Very soon /j/ also started to appear in verb forms with /u/ in their endings, such as 1 sg. pres. pass. βαροῦμαι, 1 sg. imperf. pass. ἀρνούμουν or 3 pl. imperf. pass. ἐκρατούντησαν, but it is not just a matter of the semivowel spreading from endings with /e/ to endings with /u/. The forms with /u/ actually adopted the corresponding barytone endings with /o/ (e.g. -ομε, -όντησαν), at the same time adopting the semivowel /j/ of the new 2 sg., 3 sg. and 2 pl. forms with /je/. Evidence for this can already be found in the 14th c.: the Chronicle of Morea and the War of Troy have several instances. The etymologizing spelling with <ω> for <o> of manuscripts and modern editions, as if this were in fact an A-stem ending, is, of course, entirely graphematic:

βαρειόμαι Chron. Mor. H 845, 1093, 5807, 7034 and 7803; οἱ πάντες τὸ βαρειῶνται ibid. 7559 ἐκρατιόντησαν Pol. Tr. 747 and 9259; κρατιῶνται ibid. 4374 ἀρνιόμουν Love poems V 225; τυραγιῶμαι ibid. 481 νὰ προσκαλιῶνται (1518, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 390.13)
 ἄμποτε νὰ κρατειόμουν, νὰ κρατειόσουν, νὰ κρατιότον· νὰ κρατειόμεσθα, νὰ κρατειόνταν SOFIANOS, Grammar 67.16–17 ἀγκαλιόνταν (1554, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 157, 206.6–7) (< ἐγκαλῶ>); εἴτι χρέη χρωστιόνταν (1555, ibid. 172, 222.17) ἐβαρειόμουν Poulol. 20 app. crit. (A) ἐκρατιῶνταν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 79.15; ἐχαλιῶνταν ibid. 91.15 ἐκεῖ ἐκουβανιῶντον IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1726 εὐχαριστιῶνται (1687, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 91, 52.2)

It must be stressed that until the 16th c. the endings with /j/ are only very rarely used with A-stem verbs (for more examples see 4.1.2.2):

ἐγγυέστε Assizes B 309.24 and Assizes A 59.27 ἀγαπιῶνται Chron. Toc. 1612 γὰ ν' ἀπαντιέται Alex. Rim. 1070; ἀρχίζει καὶ βρουχιέται ibid. 1984 and Diig. Alex. K 376.31 μαδιέται Epain. gyn. 697; πολλὰ πηδιέται ibid. 698 ἐγγυέσαι GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. pieggiare ἐμιλιέτονε TROILOS, Rodol. I.328 γελιῶνται RODINOS, Vios Ign. 61.15; ἀγωνιέτον ibid. 66.18; καυχιῶνται ibid. 102.5; νὰ ἀγαπιέται ibid. 128.4
 γελιῶμαι Don Kis. 49.16 γελειῶμαι ... γελιέσαι SPANOS, Grammar 41.20

From about the 15th c. /u/ was as it were “reintroduced” into these forms, first in 3 pl. /'onde/ > /'unde/, and from the late 16th c. in other persons as well. A parallel development can be observed in barytone verbs, also starting from 3 pl., where it is particularly common (see 4.1.1.2). The appearance of /u/ for /o/ in the barytone paradigm is usually explained as the result of back vowel raising, of unstressed /o/ to /u/, in the environment of a nasal, but since in the oxytone paradigm /o/ is stressed, there is no valid phonetic explanation for its change to /u/. Therefore the change is likely to be analogical to the barytone paradigm, in which the variant /unde/ for /onde/ was very common, and must be seen in the light of a general /u/-dynamic that is at play in parts of the morphology of the verb (BABINIOTIS 1972: 189–92); for more examples see 4.1.2.2.

τὰ δὲ αὐγά πουλιοῦνται (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 43, 36.1) ἐνοχλιοῦνται (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 86.17–18) κρατιοῦνται Apoll. Rim. V 257 θέλω νὰ πουλιοῦνται (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 77, 145.19); νὰ ἀποκρατειοῦνται (1525, ibid. 100, 187.28) ἀν ἐξαναγεννιούμου CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.88; ἐκρατιούμου id., Erof. III.41 transcr. X (Legrand) ἐπουλειοῦμουν, ἐπουλειούσου GERMANO, Grammar 93.26; παρατιοῦμαι id., Vocab. s.v. abbandonare
 τὸν ἐπικαλιοῦνταν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 120.14 ἐκαυχιοῦνταν PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §22.34 νὰ κρατειούμεσθα RICHARD, Targa pisteos I 251.5 γροικιούμασθε (1697, Mani, PETRIDIS 1870: 431.5) ἐβαριούσουν το KORNAROS, Erot. I.996; κι ὥρες σοῦ τὰ βαριούμου ibid. I.1000; ἐκεῖνοι ὅπ’ ἀγαπιούνταν ibid. I.1112 ο δὸν Κισότης ... ἐβαστιούνταν Don Kis. 48.15–16

In certain regions there appears to have been a tendency to introduce the /e/ of 2 sg., 3 sg. and 2 pl. into 3 pl. in the same way as it was eventually extended to 1 sg. in the MG period. Evidence for this is very scarce, as only two examples have been found, in documents from Arcadia and Achaia, dating after the period under review. Its spelling ἀγροικένται for ἀγροικιένται is graphematic, as /k/ before /e/ will have had a palatalized pronunciation (see I, 3.8.2.1): νὰ ἀγροικένται (1724, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 43, 143.12); νὰ ἐγροικένται (1754, Sopoto, PAPADOPOULOS 1977: 5, 68.7).

2.1.3 Transfers between Verb Classes

Conflation of oxytone verbs with verbs in -άζω and -ίζω continues to occur in the period covered by this Grammar. This is due to the fact that their perfective stems are either identical, as in the case of -ασ- and -αξ-, or homophonous, as in the case of -ησ- and -ισ-, -ηξ- and -ιξ- (see also 2.2.1). Quite a few verbs had forms of both types before the LMedG period (e.g. ἀρπάζω/ἀρπῶ). The availability of both oxytone and barytone forms of verbs is of course very convenient for poets, who may use both forms depending on the verb’s place in the political verse, e.g. oxytone or proparoxytone forms before the caesura, paroxytone forms at the end of the verse, or to accommodate the rhyme. Compare for instance the following examples from the Chronicle of Morea and the Sacrifice of Abraham: τιμητικὰ τοὺς χαιρετᾷ ὁ πρίγκιπας ἀτός του Chron. Mor. H 5258; τὸν καστελλᾶνον ἠύρηκεν, γλυκέα τὸν χαιρετίζει ibid. 8219; κι ὄντα μ’ ἀποχαιρέτιζε κι ὄντα μ’ ἐγλυκοφίλει Thysia

Avr. 830; μόνο πώς αποχαιρετῶ πάσα ἐδικὸ καὶ φίλο ibid. 932. Other representative examples are given in the next two subsections.

2.1.3.1 Barytone to Oxytone πῶς οὐ πλαντᾶς, παράδοξον; GLYKAS, Stichoi 256 (< πλαντάζω) πρόθυμα νὰ ὑπόσχιέται Chron. Mor. H 478; ὑποσχιόμεθεν ibid. 8966 (< ὑπόσχομαι) τρέμει καὶ ἀπελπίεται Spaneas Z 562 (< ἀπελπίζομαι) τὸν ἀρπᾶ Byz. Il. 944 (< ἀρπάζω) σκορπιᾶς καὶ καταχύνεις Diig. tetr. 137 (hapax) (< σκορπίζω) ἐτράβα τὸν Ἀλέξανδρον Alex. Rim. 1142 (< τραβίζω < ταυρίζω) ὅταν μᾶς ἐτράβαν ὁ Τζαούσης (1550, Athos, PAVLIKIANON 2006: XVI, 123.6–7) ποσῶς δὲν ἔλυγοῦσαν Chron. Toc. 3353 (< λυγίζω) γογγᾶ Peri xen. 74 (< γογγύζω) συχνὰ τὸν ὀνειδοῦσαν STAVRINOS, Mich. Vöev. 58 (< ὀνειδίζω) σβιῶ GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. smorzare (< σβήνω) φωτῖα ὅπου δὲν σβεῖ ποτέ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 3.12; οἱ λαμπάδες μας σβοῦσιν

ibid. 25.8
 συνηθᾶ RODINOS, Vios Ign. 124.10 (< συνηθίζω) ὡς καθὼς συνηθοῦνε οἱ ἀνατολικοὶ ἀρχιερεῖς (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 307.7) (< συνηθίζω) ταιριῶντας (1714, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 28, 333.9) (< ταιριάζω)

Some barytone vowel-stem verbs may undergo a complete (most notably μηνύω > μηνῶ and μεθύω > μεθῶ) or partial transfer to the class of oxytone verbs, based on their homophonous perfective stems in [is] (μηνύω, μηνυσ-, cf. ἀγαπάω, ἀγαπησ-),³¹ adopting regular oxytone A- and E-endings for their imperfective forms as well:³²

μηνᾶ Pol. Tr. 1317 (< μηνύω) ἔσβειουν τοὺς ἀστέρας Liv. V 2565 (< σβείω, 1 sg.)
 οὐκ ἰσχοῦσαν ERMON., Ilias 12.203 (< ἰσχύω); ἀποσπούσασιν ibid. 22.260 (< ἀποσπάζω) κ' ἐγὼ ἐθεώρουν κ' ἔσχουν SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 293 transcr. (Lendari) (< σκάω) τὸν ἄνδρα ἀπολούσασιν Synax. gyn. 104 app. crit. (< ἀπολύω) τὸ κρασὶν μεθυᾶ τὰ κορμιὰ Fior Suppl. 274.15 (< μεθύω) τὰ φύλλα που εσοῦσαν AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 64.7 (< σείω); καὶ ὅλοι τον εφτούσαν ibid. 96.5 (< φτύω) (for post-consonantal deletion of /j/ see I, 2.4.7.3) νὰ πίνει καὶ νὰ μεθᾶ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 12.45 ἐφτυοῦσαν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 187.35 and 419.20 (< πτύω) ἦσπουν CHORTATIS, Katz. III.174 (< σπάω); μεθεῖ ibid. III.528; κυλούσι id., Panor. I.254 (< κυλίω) πάλιν μανιέται περισσῶς Diig. Alex. Sem. S 419 (< aor. ind. ἐμάνησα of μαίνομαι) περεχῶ, -ᾶς, ἐπερέχουν GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. buttare; ξυοῦμαι, -ῆσαι ibid. s.v. rasparsi (< ξύω) ἡ ἐκκλησία ἀπολνᾶ MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1644 (< ἀπολύω)

³¹ Given the fact that this development affected vowel stems in -ύω, it cannot have taken place before around the year 1000, by which time  had undergone the sound change [y] > [i]; see I, 2.4.6.1.

³² The reverse phenomenon can sporadically be found, e.g. οὐκ ὀκνύομεν γράψαι Ekth. Chron. 1.4 app. crit. (DL) (< ὀκνῶ; this is the reading of both extant manuscripts, corrected to ὀκνοῦμεν in modern editions).

σάν βρύσες ἀναβροῦσαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. Proem. §3.69 (< ἀναβρύω); με ἐφτοῦσεν ibid. I §31.28 τὸν ἀποκλειοῦσαν SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 52.1–2 (< ἀποκλείω)

Some new verbs show this variation from the beginning:

ὁ ἵππος δὲ χιλιμιντρᾷ Diig. tetr. 1070 app. crit. (P) ἐσκορπιζεν αὐτὸς ἐκείνους Dig. A 2074; διατὶ σκορπᾷ τὸν λογισμὸν ibid. 2540 τὰ ἐν Βαβυλῶνι ἄλογα χιλιμιντρίζουσι Vios Aisop. E 290.14 τὸ ἄλογον ἀγαληνὰ ἐχλιμίτρα Diig. Alex. F 118.19 (Lolos) τα φύτρ' ἀναγαλλιιάζασι CHORTATISIS, Panor. I.318; ν' ἀναγαλλιὰ ἡ καρδιά σου ibid. III.160 μὰ δὲ χιλιμιντρίζει KORNAROS, Erot. II.343; φαριὰ χιλιμιντροῦσι ibid. II.496

A few barytone verbs obtain oxytone variants through a simple shift of the stress to the ending of the verb, after which oxytone endings are adopted. The verb καθαίρ(ν)ω has an oxytone variant καθαιρνῶ. In texts from Cyprus and Crete, oxytone variants of the verb θλίβω are found; Cypriot texts also have oxytone forms of δίδω (see also 2.4):

ὅτι δίδω του (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 15.37 and 15.47); διδεῖ του (ibid. 29.46) ὅτι ἐγὼ θλιβοῦμαι Florios 283 app. crit. (V) καὶ διδοῦσαν του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 86.22–3; τίντα μοῦ διδεῖτε ibid. 432.24 διδεῖς Cypr. Canz. 54.7 (but δίδεις ibid. 26.14); θλιβᾷται ibid. 24.1 (but θλίβεται ibid. 102.8) πολλὰ θλιβεῖς, Μαρία DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 322 νὰ μὴν θλιβεῖ καμπόσον! SKLAVOS, Symf. 64 τὸ στόμα διδεῖ του χνώτον Fior Suppl. 270.20–1 δὲν διδοῦμεν ἀφορμὴν Pist. kekoim. 499–500; διδοῦνται ibid. 392 διδῶσιν ἡμέρας μετρητάς Diig. Apoll. 67 εὐχοῦμαι, -ᾶσαι GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. dare la sua benedittione; καθαιρνῶ ibid. 251 s.v. purgare ξεκαθερνῶντας (1633, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 9, 144.13) ἀμ' ἄς θλιβεῖ γιὰ λόγου μου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 556.4
 μόνον νὰ μᾶς διεῖ ἐξακόσια ἄσπρα τὸ χρόνον (1674, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 10, 25.11–12) (= διδεῖ with fricative deletion; see I, 3.6.1.1) πράγματα ξένα δὲν δίδω Thrinos Kypr. 14; χαράτзин νὰ διδοῦσιν ibid. 394

Some barytone verbs have oxytone alternatives only for the passive voice:

πῶς ἡ κτίσις ἐγκρυβᾷται Vulgärorakel I.47 ἀναπέται Pol. Tr. 8684 app. crit. (A) (< ἀναπεύω < ἀναπαύω) μυστήριον οὐ κρυβᾷται Paroim. F 46 ἐσὺ ἀναπέσαι σταῖ ζεστά FALIEROS, Ist. On. 104; ν' ἀναπιέσαι ibid. 316; ἀναπέται id., Thrinos 40 θωρῶ ὅτι βασανῶμαι Love poems V 482 (< βασανίζω) (rhymes with τυραγνιῶμαι) ἴτις νὰ βασανιέσαι Apoll. Rim. V 401 (rhymes with νὰ διακονιέσαι)

For alternative forms of the verbs βλέπω and ὑπάγω, see 2.4.

2.1.3.2 Oxytone to Barytone καὶ ὁκάτι δειλιάζω σε GLYKAS, Stichoi 195 (< δειλιῶ) ἐπαρηγόριξέ τον Chron. Mor. H 4902 ἐχάλαττέ τα ἐκεῖνος Pol. Tr. 13728 (< χαλῶ) καὶ ἀπὲ τοῦ θρήνου ἐσώπαζεν Liv. E 3464 (< σιωπῶ) πολεμίζουν τὸ κάστρο μας (1440, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1995: 126, 401.4) (< πολεμῶ) γροικίζω οὐκ εἶσαι ἀναίσθητος Liv. S 734 (Lambert-van der Kolf) (< γροικῶ) νὰ ἐθρήνιζεν μεγάλως Achil. N 1682 (< θρηνῶ) καὶ ἀποκρατεῖ καὶ ἐξαρρωστίζει με (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 43, 74.8–9) (< ἄρρωστῶ) συμπαθίζοντα τοὺς ὀχθροὺς Fior 97.35–6 (< συμπαθῶ); ὁ λιόντας δὲν πολεμίζει ποττὲ μὲ τὰ μουρμούκια ibid. 130.7–8 (< πολεμῶ) ποσῶς οὐ σταματίζει Theseid XI.11,5 (1529) (< σταματῶ) νὰ ᾽ποκτιζομεν SOFIANOS, Paidag. 110.25–6 (< ἀποκτῶ) τῆς νίκης ἀκολουθίζεν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 2523 (< ἀκολουθῶ) ἦγουν σταματίζοντας SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 17.33 app.cr. (< σταματῶ) κι ἐδῶ σιμὰ βρυχίζονται IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6316 (< βρυχωμαι) ἐρωτιζόμενον SouMMAKIS, Past. Fid. a3v.8 τηράζοντας ολόγυρα Kaloandros 405.20; τηράσσοντας ibid. 408.32 (< τηρῶ)³³ πολεμίζοντας Irodis I.6

Sporadically, new active present stems can be found for deponent verbs: ὡς λέοντες ἐβρύ-χιζαν [VLASTOS], Dig. P II 319.30 (< βρυχωμαι); ὡσάν λέοντας βρύχει VATATSI, Periig.
I 878.

New barytone verbs can be derived from oxytone verbs through the addition of the verbal affix -αιν- (sometimes spelled -εν-) to the imperfective verb stems from at least the 12th
c. onwards in texts from various areas:³⁴ βασιλικά φοραίνουσιν Pol. Tr. 10621 (< φορῶ) ἐπαίρνει το, φοραίνει το, φοραίνει κλόνον μέγαν [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 1761 ἄλλων φορένεις πρόσωπον Plani kosmou 121 σίδηρα μὲ φοραίνει Liv. α 2791 τὸ φοραίνεις Poulol. 122 ἐφόραινεν καὶ στέφανον Achil. L 545 τότες τοῦ τὸ φοραίνει Alex. Rim. 2220 ἄλλα ροῦχα φορένει PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2465 ἀπάνταιναν Pol. Tr. 1097 app. crit. (AX) (ἀπανταίνου in B) (< ἀπαντῶ) συναπανταίνου Alex. Rim. 2288 ἀπανταίνει τὴν Μαρίαν τὴν Μαγδαληνὴ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 379.14 (ἡ στράτα ...) ἀπανταίνει τὸ μονοπάτι (1572, Peloponnese, VEIS 1956: 449.26); ἀπανταίνομεν τὸ μονοπάτι (ibid. 450.1) εὐκαιραῖναν Pol. Tr. 3087 (mss BX) (< εὐκαιρῶ)

³³ These variants of τηρῶ have a perfective stem in -αξ. Examples have been found in texts from the Hepta-nese and the Peloponnese: ἐτήραξε τὸ χαϊμένον πρόσωπον Kaloandros 408.19; τήραξε MONTSEL., Evgena 1412; καὶ τὴν ἐτηράσανε PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 117.23; καὶ τηράξετε, διὰ τὸν Θεόν, νὰ μὴ χάσετε (1712, Nauplion, LIATA 1975: 2, 121.9).

³⁴ Eustathios of Thessaloniki mentions φοραίνω several times in his commentaries on Homer, e.g. ἀπὸ τοῦ γοῶ γοαίνω γίνεται, ὡς ἀπὸ τοῦ φορῶ τὸ φοραίνω (see the online TLG). Influenced by φοραίνω, we may even find ἀφορένω for ἀφορίζω: ἀφορένοντας καὶ διὰ ὀλίγης τιμῆς πράγματα (1679, Corfu, KARADOCHOS 1990: 46, 258.6)

νὰ σοῦ τὸ εὐκαιρένω (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 19, 19.6) τὸ ευκαιραίνουσιν LANDOS, Amart. sot. 335.5

στέκου αὐτοῦ καὶ σώπαινε Fyll. gadar. 49B (< σιωπῶ) σώπαινε νὰ γρικήσω Thysia Avr. 1089 ὄλα τὰ ἐσιώπαινε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 376.4 σιώπαινε μόνε ἐσὺ ζῶον Bertoldin. 130.25 καὶ ὁ Ἰησοῦς ἐσιώπαινε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 26.63 κ' ἐπληροφόρενά σε PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 282 (< πληροφορῶ) ἄρχισε τὸ νερόν καὶ ἐφύραινε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 191.6–7 (< φυρῶ) ἀποχτάνει PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §9.20 (< ἀποκτῶ)

In texts from south-western areas (Crete, Heptanese), italianized alternatives in -άρω can sometimes be found:

νὰ ἐλετζέρουν ἕναν ἐφημέριο διὰ νὰ ἱεπουργάρεῖ (1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 34.18–19) πῶς τόνε βαστάρισεν (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 83.10) πῶς σὲ βαστάρει ἡ ψή σου FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.250 δὲ με βαστάρει ὁ νοῦς μου Zinon I.269

For oxytone verbs that use a barytone alternative stem in -ζ to form the present passive participle, see 2.3.1.2.

2.2 Perfective Stem

The perfective stem of verbs shows much less variation and development than the imperfective stem. With some exceptions, perfective stems remain morphologically stable before, throughout and beyond our period. The perfective stem is used with active and passive endings to form the aorist indicative, subjunctive, imperative, infinitive and participle/gerund as well as new “perfect” passive participles (see also 2.3.2).

2.2.1 Sigmatic

For the majority of barytone verbs, the perfective active stem is formed by adding -σ- to the imperfective active stem. The perfective passive stem is formed by adding -θ- to the perfective active stem in -σ-, or by substituting -θ- for -σ-. From about the 3rd c. onward,³⁵ the verbs δίδω (< δίδωμι) and θέτω (< τίθημι), which originally had /k/ forms in the singular (see also 2.2.1.10), had begun to develop a full sigmatic alternative aorist (singular and plural), due to the fact that their rather opaque aorist subjunctive (δῶ, δῶς, etc. and θῶ, θῆς, etc.) has been replaced by the (sigmatic) future indicative (δώσω, δώσεις, θήσω, θήσεις, etc.). First attestations of sigmatic singular forms date to as early as the 3rd c. AD (MANDILARAS 1973: 145–6), e.g. ἔδωσεν (1128, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 13, ³⁵ A form ἔδωσεν in Aelius Herodian (2nd c. AD; ed. Nauck; see the online TLG) appears in two of the four mss (Par. gr. 2551 and Par. gr. 2929), which date to the 15th/16th and 16th c. respectively.

98.13); ἔθεσα (1138?, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 14, 102.14); and ἀφήνω (< ἀφήμι) followed suit a little later.³⁶

For details on δίδω and θέτω, see also 2.4.

2.2.1.1 Vowel Stems

2.2.1.1.1 Active Voice

The perfective active stem of barytone vowel-stem verbs is formed by adding -σ- to the imperfective stem:

νὰ τὰ συγκρούσω βούλομαι Liv. V 1360 καὶ τὰ παιγνίδια ἔκρουσαν Achil. N 358 ἄκουσε τὴν ὑπόθεσιν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 845 μ' ἐλοῦσαν Krasop. AO 99

ἄς χρίσουσι τὰς παραστάς τῶν θυρῶν Hist. Imp. I 1381 τὴν μὴνυσεν Pol. Tr. 279 app. crit. (A) εμηνύσετε ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 7869 δὲν ἤμπορεῖ τὰ κλείσει Peri xen. 26 ἀποκλείσανε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.20

εἰς τὰ τοῦ ἡφταισα (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 48.24)

The verbs πλέω, πνέω, ρέω retain their inherited perfective stems in πλευσ-, πνευσ- and ρευσ- respectively:

ἡμέρας δύο ἔπλευσα Pol. Tr. 13622 ἐὰν γοῦν ρεύσουν καὶ οἱ τρεῖς ἄγωγοὶ (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 27, 28.2–3) ὅπως νὰ περιπλεύσουσιν Chron. Toc. 389 εἰς τὸ νησί ἐπλεύσαμε Alex. Rim. 2620 ἐκ το κεφάλιν ἔρευσε χρυσάφι ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 109.5.

Of the verb πλέω, perfective forms with -εψ- can sporadically be found (for manner dissimilation see I, 3.8.1): τὴν θάλασσαν ἐπλέψαν Chron. Mor. H 1305; κ' ἐδιόρθωσε νὰ πλέψουσιν ibid. 8787; ἐπλέψασιν Florios 1050 app. crit. (Hesseling).

The verbs καίω and κλαίω retain their inherited perfective stems in -αυσ before and throughout the period under review:

τοὺς καύση ἢ φλόγα τοῦ λουτροῦ Liv. V 924 ἐθρήνησαν, ἐκλαῦσαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 266 καὶ μέγαν θρήνον ἔκλαυσαν Achil. L 1294 κλαύσατε Dig. E 1698
καὶ κλαύσατε μεγάλως Achil. N 1658

³⁶ As root aorists with κ-forms in the singular, such as δίδω, ἀφήνω and θέτω, developed alternative sigmatic forms, and as other verbs, too, could form both sigmatic and κ-forms (see 2.2.1.10), it is not surprising that there was some experimenting with alternative sigmatic forms of verbs such as βαίνω and γίνομαι, although these forms never made it into the mainstream: τί ἐστιν ἡ χρεία, ἡ ἐσυνέβησέ σοι; (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 179.1d); μέρη τε καὶ βασιλεία γενήσαμε αὐτόπτης VATATSI, Periig. II 34.

καὶ ἔκαῦσαν τὰ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 192.15 καὶ δυνατὰ τὸν ἔκλαυσε Alex. Rim. 280 ἦκαυσεν τὸ Ρέθεμνος (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III–V, 505.22.2) νὰ μὲ κάμει νὰ κλαύσω Bertoldin. 129.33 θέλει τοὺς κατακαύσει IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5867 ἦ φόνευσέ τοὺς ἦ καῦσε τοὺς LANDOS, Geopon. 159.32–3 νὰ καύσεις τοὺς ἰουδαίους VAROUCHAS, Logoi 465.22–3 καὶ θέλει νὰ τὴν κατακαύσῃ Vios Aisop. I 265.40

From about the 14th c. onwards, forms in -αψ- (see I, 3.8.1) can be found, usually alongside forms in -αυσ-:

ἐκάψασιν τὸ ἐμπόριον Chron. Mor. H 4666; κι αὐτὰ ἐκλάψανέ τον ibid. 7222 νὰ κλάψουν εἰς τὸ μῆμαν του Dig. E 247 τὰ ἔκαψεν ὁ πόθος Liv. E 4097 καὶ νὰ τὸ κάψω Liv. V 1788 κατάκαψον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 635 ἔκλαψεν καὶ ἐστέναξεν Achil. L 716; ἐκατέκαψεν ibid. 1322 νὰ κλάψῃ, νὰ θρηνήσῃ; Achil. N 1822 καὶ τὴν καρδιά τῆς ἔκαψεν Achil. O 376 κάψε τὰ Spanos A 100 κλάψετε τὸν διδάσκαλον DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 343 συγκλάψετε FALIEROS, Thrinos 17 νὰ κλάψουσι (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 82.111)

Verbs that transfer to the class of consonant stems for the imperfective stem through anaptyxis of /y/ (see 2.1.1.2) can form a new perfective stem in [ks] (see 2.2.1.3).

2.2.1.1.2 Passive Voice

The perfective passive stem of vowel stems in -υ substitute -θ- for -σ-, while those in -α, -ει and -ου are formed by adding -θ- to the perfective active stem in -σ-. The combination -σθ- may become -στ- through the process of manner dissimilation (for details on the chronology of the phenomenon, and the issues of contemporary writing practice and modern editing, see 3.8.1):

νὰ ἐπαρελύθην Ptoch. III 162 τὸ πῶς ἐκαταλύθησαν Chron. Mor. H 1113 ὀνομαστὰ ἐμηνύθησαν Pol. Tr. 12830 ἄξαπολύθησαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 190.24 ἐπελυθήκασιν Achil. N 583 (ἐπιλύω) ἡ κυρὰ ἐκωλύθην το ἔλα τῆς εἰς τὴν χώραν VOUSTR. Chron. A 154.12–13 ἐκλάσθησαν τῶν δύο Dig. G I.176 ἐπαρεκλάσθη ἡ θύρα μας Ptoch. II 56.2 app. crit. (G); ἐκλάσθη τὸ ποτήριον ibid. 57.1 app. crit. (H) νὰ ἐξανασπάσθην ἀπεκεῖ Liv. V 1512 (3 sg.); ἐξανασπάσθην in Liv. E 1643 καὶ πῶς ἐξανησπάσθηκες Chron. Toc. 3395 ν' ανασπαστούσι CHORTATIS, Panor. I.74 καὶ ξεσπασθῇ ἀπὸ τὴν ἀσχημίαν του Vios Aisop. I 256.3

εἰς φυλακὴν ἀποκλεισθῆς GLYKAS, Stichoi 248 ἐσείστη Arm. 18
 τόπους ἀποκλεισθέντας Dig. E 1637 κλαδὶν ἢ χόρτον νὰ σείστη Diig. tetr. 332 ἀλλὰ ποσῶς οὐκ ἐσείστηκεν Achil. O 283 ἀποκλείστησαν εἰς τὰ σπιτῖα τοὺς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 420.35–6 διὰ νὰ λουστῇ Arm. 187 ἡκούστηκεν (14th c., Asia Minor, DARROUZÈS 1964a: [33], 37.1) καλὰ ἀκούστη ὁ λόγος τοῦ Pol. Tr. 2933 app. crit. (V) εἶχεν ἡκουσθεῖ Diig. Alex. E 135.12 (Konstantinopulos)

The passive perfective stem of πλέω (and conceivably πνέω and ρέω), which for semantic reasons is not very common, ends in -ευσθ-/-ευστ-: νὰ πλευτοῦν Velis. χ 249 app. crit. (N). For καίω, which has an irregular perfective passive stem formation, see 2.4.

2.2.1.2 Labial Stems

2.2.1.2.1 Active Voice

When the imperfective stem ends in a labial (-β, -π, -πτ, -φ, -φτ), the perfectivity marker {s} interacts with the labial and manner dissimilation takes place (for which see I, 3.8.1); thus the perfective active stem ends in /ps/:

καθὼς μας ἔγραψες ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.6 ἐκόψαν καὶ τὰ μάρμαρα Pol. Tr. 1227 app. crit. (A) νὰ τοὺς ἔχωμε ξαλείψει Chron. Mor. P 613 ἐμετέστρεψέν το Ptochol. α 687 ἐγὼ ἔμαι ὅπου σὲ ἐνέθρεψα Achil. N 1070 ὀγιά νὰ μὴ σκοντάψη FALIEROS, Log. did. 141 ἔπεψεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.14–15 νὰ λείψω Om. Nehr. Vas. 15 ἄναψεν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.27 ἄψα CHORTATIS, Katz. III.116 (aor. 3 pl.) πλιὰ ξάψε στὴν ἀγάπη τοῦ KORNAROS, Erot. III.15 ἤσκαψέν το (1624, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2000: 2, 515.11) καὶ ράψαμεν φύλλα συκῆς VEST., Prol. Theot. 61 ἤλθετε καὶ κλέψετε ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 6106 ἦψασιν (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 518, 744.13) καὶ ἀνάψασι φωτὶὰ ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 18.10

In the case of verbs in -εύω and -αύω, the perfective stem ends in -ευσ and -αυσ before and throughout our period in texts from all regions:

καθεὶς ὡς ἐμαγεύρευσεν εὐρίσκει το ἔμπροσθέν τοῦ GLYKAS, Stichoi 366 νὰ κινδυνεύσης Ptoch. IV 608; κ' ἐμαγειρεύσασίν τες ibid. 248.5 app. crit. (P) ἐχόρευσαν Pol. Tr. 14140 γυρεύσετε Dig. E 63; αἰχμαλώτευσαν ibid. 99 ἐδοῦλευσαν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 32.18; ἐθριάμβευσαν ibid. 140.4 ὅπου σὲ ἐκούρευσεν Poulol. 255 ἐρρουκανοετούρνευσεν Velth. 290; ἐγύρευσα ibid. 514 ἐφέντευσεν Deft. Par. 250 app. crit. (V) καὶ ἐπρόφήτευσεν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.17–18 ἐκαβαλλικεύσεν VOUSTR., Chron. A 8.7; ἐδουλεύετε ibid. 298.15 ὥσαν τὸν ἐκῆδευσαν (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 16.7) ἀνὲρ μισέυση (1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.26) δὲν θέλω φοματεύσει VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.24–5 ἀρμένισεν καὶ γύρευσεν Thrinios Kypr. 69 (ms); καὶ παρευθὺς ἀπέξευσαν ibid. 80 να σε δουλεύσει Don Kis. 48.30; να ξεκαβαλλικεύσει ibid. 52.3

να παύσουν αἱ ὀδύναι μου GLYKAS, Stichoi 163 ἐπαύσασι τὰ σκάνδαλα Chron. Mor. H 1017 (ms and Buchon)³⁷ οὐ παῦσεν (1387, Athens, BUCHON 1843: XL, 220.7–8) ἔπαυσεν ὁ θυμός του Achil. O 586 τὸ τρέχειν ἔπαυσα BERGADIS, Apok. A 15 ὥστε να παύση ἡ γνώση μας FALIEROS, Thrinios 44 app. crit. (T) να καταπαύσης τὸν θυμόν τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 254.22 καὶ ὅλα θέλει παύσιν Diig. Apoll. 29 να σὲ ἀπολαύσωμεν (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 2, 48.5) να σὲ θαραπαύσω MOREZINOS, Klini 44.34 να τὸ ἀπολαύσουν Bertoldos 35.19 δὲν θέλω παύσει ποτέ Bertoldin. 169.8
δεν θέλει ἀπολαύσει IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 213; να παύσουσιν τα σκάνδαλα ibid. 8598 θέλω σᾶς ἀναπαύσει KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 11.28 καὶ ἀπόλαυσε ἐκείνο οἱ τοῦ ἐπιθυμοῦσε Don Kis. 96.22–3

Probably not long before the 12th c. /fs/ started to change to /ps/ through the process of manner dissimilation (for details see I, 3.8.1). In literature forms with -εψ- start to appear sporadically from the 14th c. onwards. The earliest example found appears in a 13th-c. inscription in the Crimea. Forms with -αψ- (of the verb παύω and its prefixed derivatives; the verb ἀπολαύω only has forms with -αυσ-) have not been found before the 15th c.:

ἐφόνεψαν (1282–3, Crimea, LATYSHEV 1896: 47, 57.3) ἐμίσσεψεν Chron. Mor. H 322; ἀππλίκεψεν ibid. 2062 να τοῦ τὴν ἀντιμέψουν Pol. Tr. 752 ὅταν ἐκούρσεψαν οἱ Σέρβοι τὰ Βελάγραδα (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.6) μηδὲν μᾶς τὸ στερέψης Dig. E 130 ἡρκέψασιν τὸ πράγμα Liv. V 632 να συνβουλέψη Assizes B 279.6; διὰ να ταξειδέψη ibid. 297.15 φύτρεψα Katal. 3
εἶχε διὰ σὲ ἱατρέψει SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 69 ἐμίσσεψαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2034; ὀλίγεψεν ἡ παραχή ibid. 2417 κι εἰρήνεψε δαμάκι FALIEROS, Thrinios 33 ἐκουρσέψετε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 354.14–15 ἐχῆρεψαν BERGADIS, Apok. V 143
να γερέψου (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 10, 133.9)

³⁷ The later editor of Chron. Mor., Schmitt, corrects all spellings with <αυσ> and <ευσ> to <αψ> and <εψ>, only occasionally giving the actual reading of the ms in his critical apparatus.

ἀν ἔναι καὶ μισέψη (1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.28) ὅσα ἡμάρτεψεν Pist. kekoim. 110 ἀνάπαψε κι ἔσῃ κι ἔμᾶς FALIEROS, Thrinios 59 ἔσυμπάψαμεν μὲ τὸ θέλημάν μας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 54.26 ἔθελεν πάψει Cypr. Canz. 23.4

ἔπαψέν τους τὸν πόνον Imb. Rim. 44 ὅλοι τους γιὰ νὰ πάψου Alex. Rim. 34 διὰ νὰ καταπάψη τοὺς αἰρετικούς Chron. Tourk. Soult. 96.20 καὶ ἔπαψε νὰ κλαίγῃ Fyll. gadar. 295A καὶ νὰ μὴδὲν το πάψω Kakop. 136 τούτα τα λόγι' ας πάψομε CHORTATSI, Panor. III.327 ἦπαψε τὴν ξεφάντωση KORNAROS, Erot. I.870

κι ἐπάψασινε οἱ ἔγνοιες μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.108 θάν τὴν ἀναπάψη MONTSEL., Evgena 119

καὶ θεὸ νὰ πάψουν οἱ χαρὲς BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 8745

In texts from south-eastern areas (Cyprus, Rhodes), forms with -εσ(σ)- are found alongside forms with -ευσ- and -εψ-:

νὰ τὸ στερέσῃ ἀπ' ἐκεῖνον Assizes B 288.6

μὴ τὸ περηφάνεσῃς Achil. L 595³⁸ νὰ τὸν λιτανέσσουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 72.8; νὰ διαφεντέσουν ibid. 150.28; καὶ ἐγύρεσέν τὴν ibid. 248.2

μοναύτα ἐκαβαλλίκεσεν VOUSTR., Chron. M 49.1 and 125.18 and Chron. B 113.13; δια νὰ προξενέσει τὴν παστάρδαν τοῦ με τὸν παστάρδον τοῦ ρε Φάραντου id., Chron. A 180.14 (same in B) οἱ Τοῦρκοι ν' αὐθεντέσουν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 812 app. crit.

It appears that these forms, though rare, had a wider geographical spread, given several isolated instances that are far apart, both chronologically and geographically: ἐπίστεσαν in a Protobulgarian inscription (BEŠEVLEV 1963: 97, 8th c.); ἐπερηφάνεσάν το Pol. Tr. 1656 app. crit. (V); ἐδούλεσέ τους Alex. Rim. 502; τὸν ὅποῖον πολλὰκις ἡ ἐκκλησία ἐπαίδεσε (1692, Bucharest, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 4, 50.34) (author: Chrysanthos Notaras); and a passive ἐφαρμακέσθη in SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 44.38 (17th-c. text, 19th-c. ms).

2.2.1.2.2 Passive Voice

As in previous stages of the language, in the period covered by this Grammar the perfective passive stem of labial-stem verbs is formed in principle by substituting -θ- for the -σ- of the perfective active stem. Before -θ-, the labial becomes -φ-: καλύπτω, καλυ-π-σ- > καλυπ-θ- > καλυφθ-. The combination -φθ-, and in the case of verbs in -εύω and -αύω, -ευθ-/αυθ-, may become -φτ-/ευτ-/αυτ- through manner dissimilation (for details on the chronology of the phenomenon, and the issues of contemporary writing practice and modern editing, see I, 3.8.1):

³⁸ The appearance of this form in conjunction with other elements in the text (e.g. τοὺς ξυλαλάδες ibid. 523) points to a south-eastern provenance for the London version of the Achilleid.

ἐγκατελείφτην (1193, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 15, 124.16) πόνος ἀνήφθη εἰς αὐτήν Dig. G IV.275; κατελείφθη ibid. IV.611 ἀφότου γὰρ ἐστέφθη Chron. Toc. 2179; οἱ πάντες ἐξαλείφθησαν ibid. 3215 ροδόσταμμαν ἐνίφτηκεν Achil. L 713; νὰ συνθαφτῶ μετὰ σου ibid. 1337 νὰ μὲν ξηλειφθῇ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 6.28; ἐστέφθη ὁ Φουκάς ibid. 18.12 καὶ βασιλεὺς ἐστέφθηκα Om. Nekt. Vas. 53 κι ἀνέ θαφτούμε Katis 54 ν' ἀλειφτῶ CHORTATIS, Panor. I.278 μέλλει νὰ θαφτῶ (1713, Nauplion, LIATA 1998a: [1], 263.42) νὰ εξαλειφθεῖ Don Kis. 45.1

περισωρεύθησαι GLYKAS, Stichoi 189³⁹ ἐμπιστεύτησαν (13th?/15th c., Cyprus, Assizes B 411.9) ἐξενιτεύτηκα (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.7) ἐπεγεύτηκαν Achil. N 1475 (= ἀπογεύομαι) ὅλα ξωλοθρευθήκαν Alosis 57 ἀρχεύτην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 206.28 ἀμουρεύτηκεν μιᾶς καλογριᾶς Fior 147.9 ἐκρουσεύτησαν (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 177, 177.4) ἐμπιστεύτη του (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.5) ἐμεταπαντρεύτη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 54.7 ἐφαρμακεύτηκε νὰ τοῦ πάρω πιστό (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 3, 169.12) νὰ γυρευτοῦσιν (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 142.75–6) ὑπανδρεύθηκε ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 25.7 δὲν ηθέλησε νὰ γευθεῖ τίποτε Don Kis. 48.16

ἀναπαύθημαν Dig. E 1719 ἀναπαύθησαν Pol. Tr. 151 app. crit. (A) ἀναπαυτήκετε SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 87 ἐνεπαύτην [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1998 ν' ἀναπαυτῇ SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 162 ἐνεπαύτησαν τὰ φαρία σου Achil. L 1271 καλῶς ἀναπαυθῆτε Achil. N 280 ἀναπαύθη (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.14) ἀναπαύθηκαν (post 1666, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 23, 313.11)

A small group of labial-stem verbs had variant aorist formations with and without -θ- since Antiquity or the Hellenistic period, e.g. AG ἐγράφην with a rare variant ἐγράφθην, Att. ἐκρύφθην with a non-Att. and Koine variant ἐκρύβην, Koine ἐθλίβην with a rare variant ἐθλίφθην, AG ἐτρίφθην and Koine ἐτρίβην, AG ἐτάφην with a rare variant ἐθάφθην. In post-classical times these verbs began to show a very strong preference for the forms without -θ-, and they continued to do so throughout the EMedG period, in which forms in -φθ- are rare, even among archaizing writers. In the LMedG period, history begins to repeat itself, and these verbs start to develop new alternative perfective passive forms with -φθ- (or -φτ- after manner dissimilation, see I, 3.8.1), which are usually used alongside inherited forms without -θ-. These new forms are absent from texts of the early period, and appear to be avoided by authors who aim at a higher register. The verb κόπτω/κόβω retains its inherited perfective stem κοπτ- without developing an alternative κοφθ-.⁴⁰ τὰ ὁστᾶ μου συνετρίβησαν Ptoch. IV 623 ἐκόπη εἰς τρία κομμάτια Chron. Mor. H 4025 τὸ κοντάρι ἐτρίβηκεν Pol. Tr. 670 ἐτάφη εἰς τὸ πάνσεπτον ναὸν (1387, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 96, 99.3–4) ἐθλίβηκεν Chron. Toc. 110 ἐγράφη εἰς τὸν φόρον Χίου (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.17) ἐκρύβηκεν Velis. χ 352 ἀπεκρύβηκεν [ANDR. PALAIOI.], Kallim. 1260; ἐσυνετρίβης ibid. 1608 διὰ νὰ θαφοῦν CHEILAS, Chron. 349.15 δὲν ἐγράφησαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 170.26 ἐκρύβη Diig. Alex. E 173.4 (Lolos) εἶχα γραφῇ SOFIANOS, Grammar 49.14 τὰ μέλη μου ἐκοπήκασι FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.526 ἐγράφηκαν (1724, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1986: 8, f.1v.5) κρύφθησε Liv. V 1927⁴¹ ἐκρύφθη Chron. Toc. 3382 ὁ Ἰωσήφ, διὰ νὰ θαφθῇ DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 476 ἐθάφτην εἰς τοὺς Φρεῖ Μενούριδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 276.7

³⁹ For this imperative form, see 4.5.2.2.

 καὶ τὰ κονδάρια τριφθήσαν Alex. Rim. 853; κ' ἐκεῖνοι ἐκρυφθήκανε ibid. 954 ἐγράφτη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 133.33; ἐκρύφτη ibid. 143.18–19 διὰ νὰ ὑπογραφοῦν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 340.6 ἐκρύφθημεν Alex. Fyll. 79.36; ἐθλίφθηκεν ibid. 106.27 θέλει συντριφθεῖ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 21.44 κ' ἐμεῖς οἱ δυὸ κρυφθήκαμεν VEST., Prol. Theot. 63 ἐγράφτηκα (1649, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1957/58: I A. 2, 121.7) ἐγράφτηκαν (1684, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 93, 321.2)

Mainly in texts from Cyprus and other southern areas, though more rarely from Crete or the Heptanese, /ft/ may “reassimilate” to /pt/. This phenomenon is usually regarded as a form of hypercorrection (see I, 3.8.1.4), but it is too common to be regarded as such (cf. velar stems, 2.2.1.3, for which it is even more common). Forms with -πττ- are usually used alongside forms with -φθ-/φτ-:

ἐσκέπτηκε Pol. Tr. 975 app. crit. (A); κανεῖς οὐδὲν ἐβλάπτει ibid. 6146 app. crit. (A) ἐγράφτηκα (1417, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 52, f.258.10) νὰ γραπτοῦν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 48.11 and 362.32–3; ἐγράφτη τῇ ιδ' μαρτίου ibid. 510.13; καὶ ἐξηλείπτειν τὸ νησσίν ibid. 60.29–30; but also: νὰ ξηλειφθοῦν ibid. §14 νὰ κρυπτοῦσι Epain. gyn. 188 νὰ κρυπτῶ Syndipas 110.24 πρῶτον νὰ νιπτοῦμεν Martyr. Vlas. 247.4
 νὰ μηδὲν ἀφῆσωμεν νὰ λειπτοῦμεν τίποτες Pist. kekoim. 474–5 ἐγράφτη SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 17.48 ἐγράφτηκεν MOREZINOS, Klini 276.1

⁴⁰ This is probably due to the fact that κόπτω had developed an alternative imperfective stem κοφτ- for the active voice, for which see 2.1.1.1.1.

⁴¹ For this imperative form, see 4.5.2.2.

καὶ θέλεις βλαπτῇ Vios Aisop. K 195.14 δὲν βάλλεις νὰ νιπτοῦμεν; Vios Aisop. I 259.23 (scribe probably of south-eastern provenance) οὐδένας δὲν ἐβλάπττηκεν Dig. A 2166 καὶ νὰ κρυπτοῦν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1324 νὰ πάτε νὰ κρυπτεῖτε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5370; τότες καὶ αὐτός ἐκρύπτηκεν ibid. 5413 ἐγράπτηκε (17th c., Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 59, 317.1 and 140, 326.1); ἐγράπτηκεν (ibid. 125, 326.1; 126, 326.1; 127, 326.1); ἐγράπτη (18th c., ibid. 419, 353.1; 421, 353.1)

Of the verb θάπτω/θάβω, perfective passive forms with -πτ- are likely to be a simplification of θαφθ-/θαφτ- with its consecutive fricatives, rather than “real” instances of re-assimilation. They are quite common in texts from Crete (notably in Grigoropoulos) and the Heptanese, areas that do not often show re-assimilation of /ft/ to /pt/:

ἀλλὰ ἀλλοῦ θέλει θαπτῇ Pol. Tr. app. crit. (V) νὰ συνθαπτῶ μὲ σένα Achil. N 1781 ἄς συνθαπτῶ μετὰ σου Velth. 1177 ὅπου θαπτῶ ἀφίνω ἕνα σαρακονταήμερον (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 2, 5.18); καὶ θέλω θαπτεῖν εἰς τὸν Χριστὸν τ’ Ἄρφανου (1523, ibid. 72, 137.9) σ’ Ἀλεξανδρεία θὲς θαπτῇ Alex. Rim. 2449 ὅπου μέλλει νὰ θαπτῶ (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 113.22) νὰ μὴ θαπτῶ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 928

The verb παύω and its prefixed derivatives had developed an alternative strong passive aorist ἐπάην and future παήσομαι in the lower registers of Hellenistic Greek, which continued to be in use in the lower registers of EMedG.⁴² In the LMedG and EMG periods, these forms can be found with the verb ἀναπαύω in texts of south-western provenance and with θαραπαύω (< θεραπεύω) in Cretan texts,⁴³ usually alongside forms with -αυθ-/αυτ-. From at least the 15th c. onwards these forms also appear with an added /y/ (for which see I, 3.5.2.2):

νὰ ἀναπαοῦσιν Chron. Mor. H 5590; ποτέ μου νὰ μὴ ἀναπαῶ ibid. 6072 ὅτι ἀναπάησαν ὅλοι Pol. Tr. 7573 μὴ ἀναπαγοῦμεν Dig. E 884 πὰ ν’ ἀναπαγοῦσι Imb. Rim. 565 ἀναπάηκε Rim. kor. A 35 (ἀναπάηκεν in V) πολλοὶ ἀναπάγησαν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 433.8 ογιά ν’ ἀναπαγείς CHORTATIS, Panor. II.367; δὲν ἡμπορεῖ ν’ ἀναπαεῖ ibid. III.495 ν’ ἀναπαγῶ KORNAROS, Erot. I.1222; ἤθεκε, γιὰ ν’ ἀναπαγῇ ibid. II.1238 ν’ ἀναπαγοῦμε Thysia Avr. 486; νὰ ῥθα ν’ ἀνεπάγηκα ibid. 860 εἶχε ἀναπαγῇ (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 41.33) ν’ ἀναπαγοῦσιν FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.651 δὲν ἀναπαῆκα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 189.19 (3 pl.); καμπόσο ἀναπαῆκασιν ibid. 219.5; εἶπε ν’ ἀναπαοῦσιν ibid. 315.26; ν’ ἀναπαγοῦσιν ibid. 359.3

⁴² The earliest texts in which these forms appear are the Gospel of Thomas, the Protoevangelion of James and Hermas (2nd c. AD); Aelius Herodianus mentions it as a “common” form: παύω ἔπαον ἐξ οὗ τὸ ἐπάην καὶ ἀνεπάην ἐν τῇ συνηθείᾳ (ed. Lentz, see the online TLG). In EMedG these forms are used by less archaizing authors and texts, such as Ps.-Macarius, Theodore of Stoudios, Moschos, Theophanes, De Administrando Imperio and Saints’ Lives.

⁴³ For the corresponding “perfect” passive participles ἀναπατημένος and θαραπατημένος, see 2.3.2.

καὶ ὅς θαραπαιοῦμεν Dig. E 1382 ἠθαραπαῖκαν CHOUNMNOS, Kosmog. 1571; ἔθεραπαῖκαν ibid. 1571 app. crit. (V) ἔθεραπάη Alex. Rim. 136 and 181 ἄσ' τηνε νὰ θαραπαγεῖ Thysia Avr. 216 ἔθαραπάη BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 293.8; ἔθαραπάησαν ibid. 454.11

For the verb καίω, which showed a similar development already in Antiquity, with both ἐκαύθην and ἐκάην, see 2.4.

2.2.1.3 Velar Stems

2.2.1.3.1 Active Voice

When the imperfective stem ends in a velar (-γ, -γγ, -γχι, -κ, -κν, -χι, -χν) or in a sibilant or dental with underlying velar (-σσ/-ττ, -ζ) the perfective active stem ends in /ks/:

καὶ ἔστερξα αὐτῶν (1125?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 18, 417.4–5) (στέργω) ὁποῦ διδάξη γράμματα GLYKAS, Stichoi 209 (διδάσκω) καταλέξειν Eisit. f.7v.4 (-λέγω); πῶς νὰ τὴν ἐξεπλέξω ibid. f.8r.16 (-πλέκω) ἐψέξατε Diig. sebast. Thom. 440 (ψέγω) ἔφεξε τὸ καράβιν Velth. 1301 (φέγω) νὰ προσέξετε Chron. Mor. H 8302 (-έχω) τὸ τοιχαρμάριν ἄνοιξε [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 573 (ἀνοίγω) τὸ ἐκάτσα κι ἐστιχόπλεξα SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 26 (-πλέκω); ἀμὴ ὅλους ὅς μᾶς πνίζουσιν ibid.

343 (πνίγω)

νὰ μὲν τοὺς σφίξουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 136.30 (σφίγω) οὐδὲ εὐλογηθήκαμεν οὐδὲ ἐσμίξαμεν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 3, 4.7)

(σμίγω) νὰ ἡλέγω τὴ λωλιά του Alex. Rim. 1014 (ἐλέγω) ας βήξει Kakop. 17 (βήχω) εἰτρεξάσιν VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.11 (τρέχω) ἐδιόλεξεν KORNIAROS, Erot. I.1254 (-λέγω); τὰ μάτια τση ἐξεφέξασι, τὴ συννεφιάν ἐδιῶξα ibid.

I.1549 (-φέγω, διώχνω)

δὲν ἐπάντεξεν Vios Aisop. I 265.22 (-έχω) ἔπληξα Dig. G VI.259; ἐπλήξαμεν VOUSTR. Chron. A 180.6 (πλήττω) διὰ νὰ πατάξη τὰ εἴδωλα Chron. Mor. H 783 (πατάσσω) ἀμιράδας ἐπόταξεν Dig. E 1613 (-τάσσω) οἱ Ἑρωτες μὲ τὸ ἔταξαν Liv. V 780 ἐτύλιξεν DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 472 (τυλίσσω/τυλίγω) τοὺς δρόμους ἔφραξαν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 18. app. crit. (N) (φράσσω) ὅλοι ἐφρίξαν καὶ τρομάσα TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 174 (φρίττω) τήραξε MONTSEL., Evgena 1412⁴⁴

στόν τόπο του ν' ἄράξει BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 143.18 (ἄράσσω) ἤρπαξεν (post 1306, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 31, 163.[23]2) ἐβάσταξε τὸν λόγον Chron. Mor. H 8166 ἔσφαξαν Dig. E 100; τὸ ἔρπαξεν ibid. 130

⁴⁴ This form with -αξ is derived from the Heptanesian verb τηράζω (< τηρῶ) (see 2.1.3.2). Other examples are: ἐτήραξε το χαϊμένον πρόσωπον Kaloandros 408.19; καὶ τὴν ἐτηράξαν PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 117.23.

στρίγλιξεν τὸ φαρίν του Chron. Toc. 248; καὶ οὐρίαξαν ὁλόγυρα ibid. 2349 ἐγκάρισε ἐκ τὴν χαράν Diig. tetr. 710; ἐβάβιξεν ἀπὸ μακρά ibid. 1059 app. crit. (CL) ἐκροβάσταξεν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1854 ἀναστέναξεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 469 το αἷμαν της γαρ ἐπηξεν Diig. Apoll. 390 ἄν τὸν πειράξη κανεῖς (1540, Skytos, ANDONIADIS 1990: 8, 21.7–8) καὶ βούλιαξέ την Alex. Rim. 2018; τὴν κοπανιά δὲν ἔχρηξε ibid. 960⁴⁵ ἐκατάσφαξε πολλοὺς Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.13 ἔκραξαν τὸν παρόντα παπα-Ἰωάννην Μακρὴ (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 36.7) ἀποσφώνιαξέ την καλὰ εἰς τὸ ξύδι LANDOS, Geopon. 187.25; καὶ στράγγιξέ την ibid. 273.18 πῶς να σκιάξουσιν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2361 κοίταξε καλὰ Don Kis. 48.21

Overlap between stems with and without underlying velar occurs with various verbs. The appearance of [ks] for [s] (see 2.2.1.4) does not appear to have geographical limits, and can be found in texts from north to south throughout the period under investigation:

νὰ ζετάξη (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.15)
 ἐξέταξαν ἀκριβῶς Porikol. I 122 ἐξέταξα KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.31 νὰ τὰ ἐξετάζωμε (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.5) καὶ νὰ τὴν ἐξετάξη Alex. Rim. 184 νὰ ξετάξη FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.58 σὰν τοὺς ἐξέταξαν Vios Aisop. I 283.10 ἐξετάξετε τίς εἶναι εἰς αὐτὴν ἔξις KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 10.11 καὶ νὰ ξετάξουν (1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 30, 119.32) δίχως να εξετάξουν Don Kis. 59.14 κ' ἐκατεστόχαξέ το Chron. Mor. H 8223 λοξεοιδῶς τὸν στόχαξε KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.83 ὅλοι οἱ ἄλλοι ἐθαυμάσασι MOREZINOS, Klini 56.7 ἐθαμάξανε τὴν ἀγνωσία τους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 33.2 ἐθαύμαξεν Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 32 ἐθαύμαξε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 41.37 ἐθαύμαξεν εἰς αὐτό Alex. Fyll. 103.2.3 ἐθαύμαζάμεν VATATISIS, Periig. I 170 δράμε, σπούδαξε Pol. Tr. 569 app. crit. (V) σπουδάξωμεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1357 σπούδαξε, ἰδέ τη, τὴν Γραφὴν Synax. gyn. 86 νὰ σπουδάξετε να ἔλθετε (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.45) νὰ σπουδάξει Thysia Avr. 1013 ἐσπούδαξα PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §7.3 νὰ τὸν φοβερίξη PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.42 να μουγκρίξει IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2586 (but also: ἐμουγκρίσασιν ibid. 898) τεταρτιάξετε, θανατώσετε Irodis I.47

⁴⁵ Aorist forms of this verb are extremely rare; no forms with -σ- have been found.

Vowel-stem verbs that transfer to the class of consonant stems for the imperfective stem through the addition of /ɣ/ (see 2.1.1.2) can form a new perfective stem in [ks]:

διὰ νὰ μὴ σοῦ κρούξω Pol. Tr. 4824 app. crit (X) πόλεμον γιὰ νὰ κρούξουν Alex. Rim. 1857 ἐφταίξασι (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 9, 311.12) ἄλλος τινὰς δε μου ᾿φταιξε CHORTATIS, Panor. V.205 ᾶ σοῦ ᾿φταιξα κιαμιὰ φορά Thysia Avr. 815 ὅποιος ἔλθῃ καὶ κρούξῃ τὴν θύραν PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §29.16

2.2.1.3.2 Passive Voice

The perfective passive stem of velar-stem verbs and dental-stem verbs with underlying velar is formed by substituting -θ- for -σ-. Before -θ-, the velar becomes -χ-. The combination -χθ- then may become -χτ- through manner dissimilation (for details on the chronology of the phenomenon, and the issues of contemporary writing practice and modern editing, see I, 3.8.1):

ἡ διδασχὴ ὅπου μᾶς ἐδιδάχθη Chron. Mor. H 810 app. crit. ἐνεπαίχθηκα Pol. Tr. 7892; νὰ ἐστέρχθησαν ibid. 8049 πολλὰ τὸ ἐταράχθη Dig. E 1359; ἐδιδάχθη ibid. 1565 ἐτάχθηκα Assizes B 408.1
 ὠρέχθη καὶ ὁ βασιλεὺς Achil. O 235; ἡ κόρη γοῦν τὸ δέχθηκεν ibid. 354; ἐκεῖνος τὴν ἐδέχτηκεν ibid. 538 ὁ ρε Οὔγκε ἐταράχθη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.14; δὲν ἐκαταδέχθη ibid. 338.15 ἐδιδάχθη Diig. Apoll. 303; ἐτάχθη ibid. 767 νὰ σμιχθῇ μὲ τὴν βασιλίσσαν Diig. Alex. E 103.7 (Lolos); νὰ σμιχτῇτε ibid. 133.10 ἐρημάχθης, ταπεινέ Spanos D 1215 νὰ ξεταχθοῦμεν Alfan. 15 26 (< ἐξετάζω) ἀνοίχθησαν οἱ οὐρανοὶ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 3.21; ὅλα ἐκεῖνα ὅπου σᾶς ἐδιατάχθη ibid. 17.10 τοὺς ἐδέχτηκε Bertoldos 46.13 ἐσφίχθησαν νὰ ξεράσουν Bertoldin. 114.2; ἐδέχθη τὸ ἐπιτήδευμα ibid. 167.24 ἐφυλάχθηκα LANDOS, Geopon. 131.38 δὲν τὸ ἐδέχτην ὁ Θεός PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §7.18–19 ἐδέχτη τὸν μετὰ χαράς IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1788; αὐτὸ οὐοῦ ἐδέχθης ibid. 6022

In texts of southern provenance, such as Crete, Cyprus, the Heptanese and certain Cycladic islands, from the 14th c. onwards -χτ- can subsequently “reassimilate” to become -κτ-. This is usually interpreted as a form of hypercorrection (see I, 3.8.1.4 for examples across parts of speech), but these spellings are far too common to be dismissed as such. Though in principle -κτ- can replace -χτ- in any perfective passive verb stem, it is particularly frequent with certain verbs such as δέχομαι; see also passive verb stems of oxytone verbs in -ηχτ- and -αχτ-, 2.2.1.9.2 and 2.2.1.9.4 and verbs in -ώνω that have an alternative velar stem (see 2.2.1.5.2). Some of numerous examples are:

οὐδὲν τὸ ἐπαπαδέκτη Chron. Mor. H 107 app. crit.; ἐκαταδέκτησαν ibid. 242 app. crit.; ἀποδέκτη ibid. 8764 app. crit.; ὀρέκτηκε ibid. 8784 app. crit.
 ἀλλ’ οὐδὲ καταδέκτηκεν αὐτὸ νὰ τὸ φορέσῃ Achil. L 259 δριμέα τὸ ἐπεδέκτη Velis. χ 77 app. crit. (N) ἐγὼ ὑποδέκτηκά το SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 251 νὰ τὰ δεκτῇ (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.17) ἐδέκτηκά τα (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.4) ἄς τὸν δεκτοῦμεν Diig. Alex. V 50.12; but also: νὰ τὸν δεχθῇτε ibid. 50.22 καὶ ἐπεριπλέκτην εἰς τὰ κλαδία τὸ ραβδὶν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 64.5–6; καὶ ἐπροσεδεκτῆσαν τον ibid. 108.38

 ἐδεκτῆκαμεν (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 171.2) δὲν τὸν ἐδέκτη ποσῶς (1572, Peloponnese, VEIS 1956: 452.8) ἐκαταδεκτῆκετε κ' ἤρθετε MONTSEL., Evgena 81 νὰ στερκτοῦσι (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.17)
 ἐκεῖνός την ἐδέκτηκεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1855 νὰ σὲ δεκτοῦν (1708, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 23, 99.87) νὰ τοὺς τακτεῖς (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 21.124); ἐτάκτησαν (ibid. 21.146) ἐδιατάκτη Chron. Mor. H 355 app. crit. καὶ πῶς ποθοεφαντάκτηκεν Liv. V 3336 νὰ συνακτοῦν Velis. χ 96 app. crit. (N) καὶ θέλω νὰ διατακτῶ Achil. L 233; δούλη σου ἐτάκτηκα πάντα ibid. 877 φυλάκτηκα Pol. Tr. 5866 app. crit. (V) νὰ ταρακτῇ ἡ καρδιά μου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 306 ἐκράκτην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 70.19; γιὰ ν' ἀλλακτοῦν ibid. 116.5
 νὰ ἐμπορῇ αὐτὴ νὰ τὸ διατακτῇ (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 82, 154.16) ἐστοιβάκτησαν Alex. Rim. 339 ἐσικίακτη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 34.26; ἐπειδὴ ὑποτάκτη ὁ Ἀρανίτης ibid. 65.6; να φυλακτοῦσι
ibid. 66.37
 εἰ δὲ καὶ ὑποτακτῇτε Vios Aisop. K 190.16; ἐρημάκτηκα ἀπὸ τὰ αὐγά μου ibid. 205.3 εἶχε ἀλλακτεῖ (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 53, 67.13) στεῖρα ἔτον καὶ δὲν ἔτικτεν οὐδὲ ἐκράκτην μάνα VEST., Prol. Theot. 164 ἐφυλακτῆκανε ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 50.24 καὶ ἐπεσφίκητησεν πολλὰ Dig. E 1453 ἐσφίκητημαν ὁμάδια FALIEROS, Ist. On. 449a app. crit. (N) ἐτυλίκτηκεν Katal. 64 ἐσμίκτην τὴν Χρυσάντζα Velth. 1120 κάτεχε κι ἐξανοίκτης FALIEROS, Ist. On. 576; κι ἐδείκτηκεν κι ἐσφίκητη ibid. 746 αναμίκτησαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 226.9; ἐπροσδέκτην id., Chron. M 173.3
 καὶ σὰν ἐσμίκτησαν λοιπὸν Alex. Rim. 1211 ὅλος μὴδὲν ἀπορικτεῖ Apoll. Rim. V 1870 ἡ Θεοτόκος καὶ ὁ Ἰωσήφ ἐσμίκτησαν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 348.16 λοιπὸν ἐσμίκτησαν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 127.11–12 ἐνοίκτηκε MOREZINOS, Klini 41.18 ὅταν δεικτοῦν τὰ δυνατὰ καὶ ἀποφασιστοῦσι KONDAR., Paidēs 19 μες στον λιμῶνα μπήκτησαν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡΡ., Pali 1833 ἔμπήκτη ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. IV.1159 app. crit. (A)⁴⁶

⁴⁶ Spelled μπήκτη in KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1159 app. crit. (V). It is a passive aorist (ἐ)μπήκτη rather than an active present: καὶ δίδει του μιὰ κονταρά και τὸ κοντάρι ἔμπήκτη | εἰς τὸ λαῖμό ἀποκατωθιὸ καὶ χάμαι τόνε ρίκεται. Τὸ κοντάρι is topic, and therefore has to be the subject of ἔμπήκτη (a topicalized object would require a clitic pronoun: see IV, 8.1.1).

τὰ μέλλοντ' ἀποδείκνουν VATATSI, Periig. I 816

Hypercorrection of -κτ- to -κθ- can sporadically be found: ὁ ρὲ Οὔνγκες ἐταράκθην πολλὰ MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 77.46–7.

The verb πνίγω retains its inherited strong aorist ἐπνίγην, and sporadically similar forms can be found of other verbs with an imperfective passive stem in /iγ/, such as σμίγω:

πολλοὶ ἀπ' αὐτοὺς ἤθελαν πνιγῇ Pol. Tr. 3099 app. crit. (BV) πρὶν πνιγοῦμεν δὸς τὸν ναῦλον Paroim. H 36 να μην πνιγούμεν ὅλοι μας Apoll. Rim. A 920 πνίγησαν VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 255 νὰ ἐπνίγηκεν (1696, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 17, 217.6) ὅταν δὲ σμιγῇ τὸ ἄλᾶς τῷ ὕδατι ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 120.17

δὲν τῆς ἐσμίγηκεν MOREZINOS, Klini 128.21

2.2.1.4 Dental Stems (without underlying velar)

2.2.1.4.1 Active Voice

When the imperfective stem ends in a dental (/ð/, /θ/, /t/), this dental is deleted before the /s/ of the perfective active stem:

ἔσπρυσαν ὅπως εἰς ταφὴν φθάσωσι τοῦ Ἀκρίτου Dig. G VIII.208 (σπεύδω) ἔπρυσαν Diig. sevast. Thom. 296 (πείθω) ἔσπρυσεν, ἡῦρηκέ τους Pol. Tr. 14209 τὸ θέλει νιώσει LIMEN., Than. Rod. 431 transcr. (Lendari) (νιώθω) δὲν με θέλεις καταπείσει ERMON., Ilias 8.53

καὶ ἐπήγαγεν ν' αλέσει εἰς τὴν Λάπηθον VOUSTR. Chron. A 102.1 (ἀλέθω) ἐσύνθεσα Alosis 987 (συνθέτω) ἐθέσε τα Pol. Tr. 6640 app. crit. (B) νὰ μὲν γνῶστε ποττὲ χορταγιάν Pist. kekoim. 18 (γνώθω) καὶ πῶς ἡ Τύχη ἐνάντιον σας νὰ κλώση ἐσυγκατέβη; BERGADIS, Apok. A 390 (κλώθω) ἔγνωσες CHORTATSI, Katz. I.65

οὐδὲ τὰ κουρφα τῇ ἐνιδῶσα KORNAROS, Erot. III.35 καὶ αὐτεῖνοι τὰ ἐκλώσασιν εἰς ἄλλα παραμύθια IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 7360

2.2.1.4.2 Passive Voice

The perfective passive stem of dental stems is formed by adding -θ- to the perfective active stem in -σ-. The combination -σθ- may become -στ- through the process of manner dissimilation (for details on the chronology of the phenomenon, and the issues of contemporary writing practice and modern editing, see I, 3.8.1):

κλώσμα τῆς τύχης δυστυχὲς ἐκλώσθη μου καὶ μοίρας [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 703 τῆς εἰμαρμένης τὸ ἄστακτον κατ' ἐδικόν μου ἐκλώσθη Liv. E 2519 ἐνεγνώστη (1681, Chios, KAVNADAS 1950: 38.14) (ἀναγνώθω) εκείνος τόσον ἐκαταπείσθη Don Kis. 45.20

2.2.1.5 Nasal Stems

2.2.1.5.1 Active Voice

When the imperfective stem ends in -ν, in the majority of verbs that nasal is deleted before the -σ of the perfective active stem. This category comprises all verbs in -ώνω, as well as certain other verbs with an imperfective stem in -ν, such as δαγκάνω, πιάνω, σβήνω, στήνω/στένω (< AG ἵστημι, aor. ἔστησα), φθάνω, φτιάνω,⁴⁷ χάνω (< χαώνω), ψήνω (< AG ἔψω, aor. ἤψησα). (See 2.2.2.1 for verbs in -άνω, -ύνω and -αίνω, which have non-sigmatic perfective stems in -ν.)

νὰ ἱστήσουν δὲ καὶ σταυρὸν ἐπάνω μου (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.54) ἡ φορισμένον πούπετε κύνα νὰ σὲ δαγκάση Ptoch. IV 609 καὶ ὡσάν σιμῶση πρὸς αὐτὸν SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 341 καὶ νὰ τοὺς πλακώσουσιν Achil. L 320 φθάσε σύντομαν Achil. N 1169 νὰ τὲς κομπώσουν πάσχουν BERGADIS, Apok. V 207 καὶ νὰ τοῦ το πλερώσει Apoll. Rim. A 262 ἔπιασεν αὐτὸν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 46.11 ἐσελλοχαλίνωσε τὸ ἄλογον Diig. Alex. F 120.5 (Lolos) ἐτέντωσεν ἀπὸ κάτω εἰς τὸ κάστρον τῆς Ἀθήνας Diig. Alex. E 167.6 (Lolos) θὲ νὰ στέσου CHORTATIS, Erof. IV.515 ἤσβησα Fallidos 230
 εἶχεν φτιάσει PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §30.50 νὰ σοῦ γεμώσουν τὸ ποτήρι Vios Aisop. D 229.33 καὶ πῶς θὰ τοὺς δαγκάσουσι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 190.28

The verb κερδένω (also spelled like AG κερδαίνω) also belongs in this category, as does the verb μπερδένω, which appears in Cretan texts from the 16th c. onwards:

νὰ μηδὲν κερδαίση ἀπὸ τὸ γονικὸν αὐτῆς τίποτε (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 239.431) νὰ μὴ ... κερδαίσης Liv. α 4116 καὶ θέλεις τὸ κερδαίνειν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 987 οὐδὲν ἔχω νὰ κερδαίσω SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 383 transcr. N (Lendari) μέτρησε τί ἐκέρδεσεν Chron. Toc. 699 τὸν κόσμον νὰ κερδέσεις Alfav. 14 27 τίποτε δὲν ἐκέρδεσεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 662.12–13 νὰ κερδέσης Cypr. Canz. 37.2 πῶς νὰ κερδέσουν Fior 73.8–9 μὲ τ' ἄρματα τὴν κόρη αὐτὴν ὀλότης νὰ κερδέσω Theseid V.14,8 (1529) πῆς μου, τί θὲς κερδαίσει; Alex. Rim. 2392 ἂν κερδέσει ὅλον τὸν κόσμον KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 8.36 σὲ ἔκαμα καὶ ἐκέρδαισες Vios Aisop. I 268.26 νὰ μπερδέσει Apoll. Rim. A 528 τα λόγια τῆς τοῦ ἔρωτα τα δίκτυα μ' ἐμπερδέσα CHORTATIS, Panor. I.114 νὰ ῥθει νὰ μὲ μπερδέσει Thysia Avr. 300 μὲ δίκιο σᾶς ἐμπέρδεσε Stathis II.221

⁴⁷ SMG perfective forms with -ξ- (φτιάξω, ἐφτιάξα) have not been found in the texts examined.

καὶ πῶς σ' ἀγάπη ἐμπερδεσε KORNAROS, Erot. I.396; γλήγορα ξεμπερδέσου ibid. I.729 νὰ μπερδέσου FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 88

Certain verbs in -άνω/-αίνω (which normally have non-sigmatic perfective stems, for which see 2.2.2.1), can form an alternative perfective stem in -ας, e.g. βυζάνω, βυζάσω. Compounded and prefixed forms of λαμπάνω (< λαμβάνω) only have a sigmatic perfective stem λαμπτας-:⁴⁸

ἐβύζασα (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 9, 16.13) εις το γάλα της μάνας σου οπου ἐβύζασες Diig. Alex. K 365.33–4 ἐβύζασε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 437.16

περιλαμπάσειν Katal. 363 καὶ γλυκοπεριλάμπασε κοράσια τὰ βλέπεις Florios 835 app. crit. (V) ἔχω παραλαμπασμένα ἀπὸ σένα (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006:148, 122.12–13) ἔχει παραλαμπασμένα ... δουκάτα (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 309, 287.59) ἔχει παραλαμψασμένα (1542, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1970: 3 [Γ'], 292.5)

A small group of verbs in -ώνω have an alternative perfective stem in -ωξ, with an intrusive velar /k/ before the aoristic formant /s/, especially ζυγώνω and μαζώνω. The provenance of the perfective forms with intrusive /k/ is unclear; BABINIOTIS (1972: 217–19) postulates a generalization of /ks/ as an aoristic formant, and proposes that it is due to a general spread of /k/ as an aorist marker starting from verbs like ἔποικα, ἔδωκα (for which see 2.2.1.10). Imperfective stems in -ωχν (e.g. μαζώνουσιν in ΠΙΓΑΣ, Chrysop. 276.31; SMG στριμώνω) appeared well after the perfective stems in -ωξ. For μαζώνω, forms with -ωξ- are common and forms with -ωσ- are rare,⁴⁹ whereas ζυγώνω has perfective forms with -ωξ- only in Cretan texts of the 16th and 17th c. (see also 2.2.1.10 for verbs in -ώνω with alternative perfective stems in -ωκ):

τὸ κοῦρσο ἐπεριμάζωξαν Chron. Mor. H 1058 καὶ μάζωξε ἀντζαλα Spanos A 225 ἐσύναξεν, ἐμάζωξε Velth. 648 καὶ τὴ βουλή σου μάζωξε Alosis 631 ἐμάζωξεν Syndipas 117.32 οὐδὲ νὰ τὰ μαζώξουσιν BERGADIS, Apok. A 506 νὰ μαζώξωμεν (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.46) νὰ περισυμμαζώξουν Theseid XI.14,4 (1529) νὰ τὰ μαζώξουνε οὔλα (1573, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 4, 14.36) ἐμάζωξε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.11 ἐπεριμάζωξεν MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 133; δὲν ἐσυμμάζωξε πολλοὺς ibid. 291 αὐτήνη ἐμάζωξε Bertoldos 20.27 νὰ ὑπάμε νὰ τὲς μαζώξομε; KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 13.28 πολλήν αρμάδα μάζωξεν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 7024 ξένα δάκτυλα τα ἐμάζωξαν CANTEMIR, Krit. 449.19 ὁπου σὲ ἐσυμμάζωξα (1708, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 23, 99.86)

⁴⁸ Cf. also the noun παραλάμπασμα and the adjective περιλαμπαστός, e.g. εἰς τὸ παραλάμπασμα (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 282, 281.9); ἡρε μας περιλαμπαστούς BERGADIS, Apok. A 361.

⁴⁹ Only a handful of examples have been found, e.g. καὶ περὶμάζωσέ το Ptoch. III 164 app. crit. (P) and ἐμάζωσεν Chron. Toc. 962.

και ζύγωξ' από 'πάνω σου την τόσην αμελάγρα Apoll. Rim. V 1526 (same in all versions) άπου έζύγωξες άδίκως MOREZINOS, Klini 60.21 έζύγωξες τόν κύρη μου KORNAPOS, Erot. V.1340 ζύγωξε τσ' άναστεναγμούς, ζύγωξε και την πρίκα Thysia Avr. 395 ζύγωξες CHORTATSI, Erof. I.358 και άποζυγώξη μας FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.192; but also: νά θέ νά με ζυγώσουσι ibid. Prol. 150 νά ζυγώξω VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34.5

Other verbs in -ώνω, which usually have perfective stems in -ωσ, can occasionally have alternative forms with -ωξ- as well, possibly the result of a conflation of sigmatic and κ-aorist formation:

έξατίμωξεν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1408 έστεγνώξα CHORTATSI, Erof. III.13 transcr. X (Legrand) (3 pl.) νά μεγαλώξουν (1613, SYROS, DRAKAKIS 1967: 9, 311.15) άν στιγνώξη πάραυτα LANDOS, Geopon. 199.16; άφες το νά στιγνώξη ibid. 248.6; και τά κρεμνοῦσι νά στιγνώξουν ibid. 252.7
 κ' έμουλώξαν εις την κάπαν άποκάτω Vulgärorakel X 5 άμή έμούλωξεν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §9.13

The verb στριμώνω (SMG στριμώνω, στριμώνωξω) is quite rare and does not seem to exist before the 17th c.⁵⁰ The perfective stem is στριμωσ- in Bertoldos, and στριμωσ- or στριμωξ- in IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali: με έστρίμωσαν μέσα σέ τοῦτο τὸ σακκίον Bertoldos 60.23–4; και στρίμωξαν κει μέσα IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1833; but also: εκεί τους εστριμώνωσαν ibid. 6424 (rhymes with εσιμώνωσαν).

2.2.1.5.2 Passive Voice

In the case of verbs in -ώνω and -ένω the perfective passive stem is formed by substituting -θ- for -σ-. Of other verbs in this category, some form the perfective passive stem in -θ, and others in -σθ. The presence/absence of the aoristic formant /s/ can usually be explained historically: e.g. πιάνω, πιασθῶ/πιαστῶ is derived from πιάζω⁵¹ (< πιέζω) which had a passive aorist έπιάσθην; χύνω, χυθῶ is derived from χέω, which had a passive aorist έχύθην; ψήνω is derived from ξψω, which had a passive aorist έψηθην; φτύνω is derived from πτύω, which had a rather rare passive aorist έπτύσθην. The cluster -σθ- may become -στ- through the process of manner dissimilation (for details on the chronology of the phenomenon, and the issues of writing practice and modern editing, see I, 3.8.1):

έσκοτώθη SFRANTZIS, Chron. 4.8 έλαβώθηκεν Anon. Naupl. 8 ένεκατώθησαν (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 275.29) νά μαζωθῇ Velis. χ 391 app. crit. (N); έμαζώθηκεν ibid. 396 app. crit. (N)⁵² έθυμώθηκεν Achil. O 661

⁵⁰ Only a few examples have been found: τὸ πλῆθος τοῦ λαοῦ τὸν έστρίμωναν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 8.43; κι ὁ Τοῦρκος τοὺς στριμώνει BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 272.1

⁵¹ E.g. και πιάζει τὸ αὐτὸ ρυάκιον (11th c., Thebes, SVORONOS 1959: 12.23). For πιάζω in AG see also LSJ s.v. πιέζω.

⁵² For the verb μαζώνω, perfective stems in -ωξ, passive -ωχθ/-ωχτ are much more common (see 2.2.1.5).

και εμαζώθηκαν όλον το ψυχόλαον Diig. Alex. K 347.29 νὰ κερδεθῇ ὁ Μορέας Chron. Mor. H 2457 γοργὸν καθυποδέθηκεν Dig. E 830 ὥσάν τὸ πρῶτο μπερδεθῇ KORNAROS, Erot. I.1577 τότες αὐτεῖνο ψήθη Alex. Rim. 1626 ἄν ἐψήθην ἡ φακῇ Vios Aisop. I 259.30–1 νὰ ψηθῇ γληγορύτερα LANDOS, Geopon. 256.12

χυθῇτε στὸ φουσσάτον Achil. L 425 ολόγδυμνος εντύθη Apoll. Rim. E 1810 και εντύτην καλογηρικά VOUSTR. Chron. A 314.2

ντύθου λεμοσύνην Cypr. Canz. 37.5

σάν πάγη ἐκεῖνος νὰ γδυθῇ CHORTATIS, Katz. III.235 ποῖος οὐκ ἐδαγκάθηκεν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 25 λύκος ἀπὸ σκύλους εδαγκάθη ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 87.1

νὰ κλεισθῶ μέσα σὲ τοῦτο τὸ σακκίον Bertoldos 63.29 καὶ ἐκλείστη σὲ μίαν κάμεραν Bertoldin. 136.31–2 ἐκλεισθήκασι στὰ γύρω νησόπουλα ΕΦΤΗΜ., Chron. Gal. 22.4

ἄν οὐ πιασθῇ GLYKAS, Stichoí 128

ἡ Πόλις ἐπιάστη Chron. Mor. H 550 πιαστῶσιν (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 302.51)

ἔμεινα κ' ἐπιάστην BERGADIS, Apok. V 54

ἡ ὄψις τοῦ ἐσβήσθη Thrinós Kypr. 76

Compounds of -λαμπάνω, which have a sigmatic perfective active stem, form their perfective passive stem in -ασθ/-αστ, as does the verb λα(ν)θάνω/λα(ν)θαίνω:

ἐλαθάσθη Pol. Tr. 9356

ἔναν γοῦν ἐλαθάσθησαν Chron. Toc. 1886 ὅποιος ἐκεῖνος λαθαστεί Apoll. Rim. V 99; ὡς ἐλαθάστησαν ibid. 102 (same in all versions) τώρα καὶ ἐλαθάστης Alex. Rim. 2351 αμμή ἐλαθάστη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 111.12 βλέπε ὅτι ἴλαθάστης Fyll. gadar. 30d ἐλαθάστηκα ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 145.28

κ' ἤσφαλες κ' ἐλαθάστης KORNAROS, Erot. I.1158

ἐάν λαθασθῇς ποτὲ Vios Aisop. K 170.23

ποτέ δεν ἐλαθάστη ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 9358

γιέ μου, ἄς σὲ περιλαμπαστῶ Thysia Avr. 1125

Verbs in -ώνω that have an alternative perfective stem in -ωξ can form their perfective passive stem in -ωχθ/-ωχτ (for the change /xθ/ > /xt/, see I, 3.8.1):

νὰ μαζωχθῇ ἡ Βαβυλωνία Arm. 119 ἀπομαζώχθησαν Dig. E 1317 ἐσυμαζώχτηκαν ὅλος ὁ λαός (1585, Mani, LAMBROS 1905: 397.5) γὰ κείνο μαζωχτήκα CHORTATIS, Katz. V.156

καὶ ἐμαζώχθησαν ἀντάμα Bertoldos 39.23 ἐσυμαζώχθηκαν οἱ ὄρχοντες Diath. Nikon Metan. 5 τριγύρου μαζωχθῆτεν οἱ διάβολοι KONDAR., Paides 104 ὥστε ποὺ συμμαζωχοῦμε (1685, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 8, 331.12) νὰ μαζωθοῦν οἱ Ῥώσσοι ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 293 ἐμαζωχτήκετε KORNAROS, Erot. II.957; κι ὁ νοῦς σου νὰ περμαζωχτῇ ibid. III.1180 ἐμαζωχτήκανε Chron. Theod. 20.17

In texts of southern provenance, such as Crete, Cyprus, the Heptanese and certain Cycladic islands (cf. velar stems, 2.2.1.3), from the 14th c. onwards -χτ- can subsequently “reassimilate” to become -κτ-. These spellings are usually considered to be a form of hypercorrection (see I, 3.8.1.4 for examples across parts of speech), but they are far too common to be dismissed as such. Some of numerous examples are:

νὰ μαζωκτοῦν Imb. Rim. 330 καὶ περιμαζωκτῆκασιν ibid. 362 καὶ τότες ἐμαζώκτηκε Alex. Rim. 2789 κ’ εἰς μίον εμαζωκτῆκαν Apoll. Rim. V 681 (only forms with -κτ- in this text; same in all versions) ἐμαζώκτησαν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 52.17 (only forms with -κτ-) καὶ μαζωκτῆκαν καὶ οἱ τρεῖς Fyll. gadar. 94d νὰ ζυγωκτῶ MOREZINOS, Klini 99.31; ἐμαζώκτησαν ibid. 229.15 ας μαζωκτοῦσι CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.139 ἐκεῖ ὁποῦ θε νὰ μαζωκτοῦν KORNAROS, Erot. II.98 (Stevanoni); ἐμαζωκτῆκετε ibid. II.957 τυχαίνει νὰ πρεμαζωκτοῦ Thysia Avr. 1099 τότες εμαζωκτῆκασιν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ KYP., Pali 1067 νὰ συμμαζωκτοῦν SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 47.32

Hypercorrection of -κτ- to -κθ- occurs sporadically: ἐκεῖ ἐπεριμαζώκθησαν Byz. Il. 880; ἐμαζώκθην Diig. Alex. F 88.22 (Lolos); νὰ μαζωκθοῦν ibid. 90.15; ἐμαζώκθησαν ibid. 156.16.

2.2.1.6 Voiced Sibilant Stems (without underlying velar)

2.2.1.6.1 Active Voice

When the imperfective stem ends in -ζ, this voiced sibilant is deleted before the -σ of the perfective active stem. This category comprises all verbs in -άζω and -ίζω that do not have an underlying velar in their stem, such as ἀγοράζω, ἀρχίζω and χέζω:⁵³ ἀγόρασε (1179, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 194, 255.7) ἐγωγίασεν Assizes B 327.2–3 ἔμπασέ τους SKLENTZAS, Ain. Zood. Pig. 28 ἔθαυμάσασιν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 67 νὰ τὸ ἐξετάσωμεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 66.33 θε νὰ μὲ ντροπιάσεις Rim. kor. (A) 125 θέλετε τὸ διαβάσειν Fior 74.3

⁵³ Of verbs in -έζω only forms of χέζω have been found. AG, MedG and SMG πιέζω, though quite common in texts of a higher register, is extremely rare in vernacular texts; only a few examples occur in texts such as Dig. G. No perfective forms of this verb or its compounds have been found.

τὰ θέλω ξοδιάσει (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 287.18) καὶ ἐκομματιάσαν τον Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.33 τόπον ἄδειασέ μου CHORTATSI, Erof. IV.440 ποὺ θὲν τὴν ἀγκαλιάσουσι KONDA., Paidēs 57 ἔχει δοκιμάσει Pist. voskos II 1.229 ἔσυναθροίσαμεν (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 307.8) παρεγνώρισες GLYKAS, Stichoi 541 ἂν σὲ καθίσουν εἰς ἀρχὴν Spaneas P 171 ζεματίσετε Ptoch. IV 594 ὀφείλουν ἐγκρεμνίσαι Chron. Mor. H 890; θέλει νὰ τὸ καθίσει ibid. 2898 μὲ κέρδισε Dig. E 1566 καὶ σφόδρα ἐμουγκάνισεν Diig. tetr. 1009 ὠρίσέν μας (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.10) καὶ ἐφούρκισάν τους (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 96.6) ἐκουκλούκισεν ὁ πετεινός (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 124.1d) ἄλλους ἐφυλακίσαν, ἄλλους ἐδέραν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 322.10 παρεκάθισε τὴν πόλιν (15th–16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.III, 252.53.2) κι ασπρίσα τα μαλλιά μου CHORTATSI, Panor. I.286 ἀπὸ τότε ἄρχισαν οἱ σύγχυτες (1616, Pogoniani, SCHREINER 1975/79: 64.IV, 497.31.3–4) ἀναντράνισεν εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 14.19 καὶ ἔχσαν οἱ πάντες Diig. tetr. 430 ἄξιόν ἐστιν νὰ σὲ χέσωμεν Spanos A 415 γλυκὺν τὸ φαγεῖν, πικρὸν δὲ τὸ χέσειν Paroim. H 34 ἂν ἐμπορῇ ἄς τοὺς χέση! CHORTATSI, Katz. III.422

The verbs βάζω and ἐβγάζω, derived from βάλλω and ἐκβάλλω respectively, retain their inherited non-sigmatic perfective stems (βαλ- and ἐβγαλ-), for which see 2.4.

2.2.1.6.2 Passive Voice

The perfective passive stem of voiced sibilant stems is formed by adding -θ- to the perfective active stem in -σ-. The combination -σθ- may become -στ- through manner dissimilation (see I, 3.8.1). This group also includes deponent verbs such as ἀσπάζομαι, δυνάζομαι, ἐννοιάζομαι, ἐργάζομαι, στοχάζομαι, συμβάζομαι, χρειάζομαι and others:

ἂν οὐ πιασθῇ καὶ δαμασθῇ GLYKAS, Stichoi 128 τὴν ρήγαιναν ἀσπάσθηκεν Chron. Mor. H 296 νὰ ἔχε σχιστὴν καὶ διχαστὴν ἡ γῆς Byz. Il. 261 ἐνεγαλλιάσθη Spanos A 229 ἐσυμβιάσθησαν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1278 ἐσοὺ νοιάστης νὰ μ' ἀφήσης Cypr. Canz. 119.1 (ἐννοιάζομαι) ἰσιαστήκαμε (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.20) κι ὅλοι ἐχορταστήκαν, Alex. Rim. 2053 ἐντροπιάσθησαν Diig. Alex. E 171.8 (Lolos) καὶ διαμοιράσθησαν αὐτὰ Vios Filaret. 239.14 τὰ δὲ ἄσπρα ἐξοδιάστησαν εἰς τὸ ἀρχονταρῖκι (1607, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 17, 78.2–3) ἀρρεβωνιάσθη KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 1.18 γιά νά μήν ντροπιαστοῦν KONDAR., Paides 98 ἐβραδιάστηκα MONTSEL., Evgena 37 να ετοιμασθεῖτε ἀφ' ἐαυτοῦ σας Don Kis. 49.37–50.1

2.2.1.7 Barytone Verbs with a Vocalic Extension /i/

A small group of barytone verbs form their perfective stem by adding a vocalic extension /i/, followed by the aoristic formant /s/, to the imperfective stem, just like the majority of oxytone verbs (see below). These verbs include inherited deponent verbs such as βούλομαι, δύναμαι/δύνομαι, δέομαι and εὔχομαι, which have passive morphology only, as well as the verbs (ἐ)θέλω and κύω, the second of which is rare in vernacular texts. Βλέπω has an alternative stem βλέπησ- (alongside -ιδ-), examples of which have been found in texts from Cyprus and Crete. In the northern mainland the verb ὑπάγω developed an alternative perfective stem παγήσ-, for which see 2.4.

2.2.1.7.1 Active Voice

The active is restricted to the inherited verb (ἐ)θέλω and the alternative stem of βλέπω,⁵⁴ which predates the LMedG period by many centuries:⁵⁵

διὰ τοῦτο ἐθελήσασι οἱ ἄνωθε κριτάδες (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 44.11) δέν τὸ ἔβλησεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.12 ἤθελεν θελήσει (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 132, 146.10–11) θεῖ θελήσω GERMANO, Grammar 94.23 δεν ηθέλησε να το κάμει Don Kis. 48.6

ὁποῦ σ' ἐβλέπισε καλῶς LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 190 νὰ τήνε βλέπήσει MOREZINOS, Klini 4.23 τὸ μνημα νὰ βλέπίσου P&N Diath. 4112

2.2.1.7.2 Passive Voice

The passive is formed by replacing the /s/ of the infix with /θ/ (cf. oxytone verbs):

τὸν πρίγκιπα ἐδεήθησαν Chron. Mor. H 8160 ὃς ἐδυνήθηκε Pol. Tr. 28; πρότερον ἐβουλήθηκεν ἐκείνη νὰ τὸν κρούση ibid. 11076 τῶν εὐχήθηκεν Dig. E 1065 νὰ βλεπηθοῦν Assizes B 389.24 καὶ τότε μὲ εὐχήθηκεν Poulol. 579 ἀνέβειν ἡδυνήθηκεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1269

⁵⁴ No examples have been found of the rather learned verb κύω, apart from an attempt at regularization: ἡ κόρη ἡ πανεξαίρετος ἔγκυσεν τὴν γαστέρα Imber. 48.

⁵⁵ The Stoic philosopher Sextus Empiricus (2nd/3rd c. AD) condemns and ridicules the form: ... ἐπὶ τῶν ρηματικῶν φερῆσω λέγειν καὶ βλεπήσω ὡς κυήσω καὶ θελήσω, οὐ μόνον ἀσαφές ἀλλὰ καὶ γέλωτος ἔτι δὲ προσκοπῆς ὄξιον εἶναι δοκεῖ Sextus Empiricus, Against the Grammarians, 195.10–12 (ed. Mau/Mutschmann); see the online TLG. These forms of βλέπω are sometimes spelled βλεπισ-, even though imperfective *βλεπίζω has not been attested, and the passive stem is βλέπηθ-, not *βλεπισθ-, the participle βλεπημένος, not *βλεπισμένος.

και είπεν του να βλεπηθεί VOUSTR., Chron. A 46.11 και έδεήθη τόν Άμμών Alex. Rim. 525 ο Κάτης εβουλήθηκε τον Μποτικό να πνίξει Katis 3 να βλεπηθεί MOREZINOS, Klini 44.19 άφέντη, μήν τὸ βουληθεῖς Thysia Avr. 692 δέν έδυνηθήκαμεν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 9.28 τον γενεράλη ν' ευχηθούν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 2130; να δεηθούν προς τον Θεόν ibid. 9663 δέ θέλουν δυνηθούν DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 420 Βασίλειος ό Διγενής 'κ τής κόρης έκυήθη PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1234 βλεπήθου, Κύπρος Thrinis Kypr. 52

2.2.1.8 Barytone Verbs with a Change of Stem Vowel in the Passive Voice

A small group of verbs with stem vowel /e/, among which βρέχω, κλέπτω/κλέβω, στέκω/στέκομαι (< έστηκα, perf. of 'ισταμαι, with a change of /i/ to /e/), στρέφω, τρέπω, τρέφω and their prefixed derivatives, tend to retain their inherited passive perfective stem with /a/ (βραχ-, κλαπ-, σταθ-, στραφ-, etc.):⁵⁶ έπαρεστάθη (1223, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 29, 443.12) ανατράφη Dig. E 724; στράφου ibid. 991 νά έστράφηκεν εκείθεν Pol. Tr. 196; όλα έβράχησαν ibid. 8121; όθεν εκλάπη ibid. 11925 ότι κανείς βίος εκλάπη Assizes B 443.29 και δένδρον ένετράφηκεν Liv. V 3632 θέλουσιν έστραφήν (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 83.7) σταθήτε πάντες άρχοντες Om. Nehr. Vas. 1 άν ή πόλβερη θέλει έρθει νά βραχή (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.1) έστράφης (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.6) στάσου (1572, Peloponnese, VEIS 1956: 449.16) έστάθηκα (1573, Famagusta, CONSTANTINIDES 1988: 172, f.146r.15) έποδιαντράπην (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 179.6) του άντιστάθη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.19 ούδδ έντράπη (1669, Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 84, 217.56) έσταθήκασι (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 302.4)

These verbs only rarely develop regular alternative forms with /θ/: όθεν εκλέφθη ή Πελλάς Pol. Tr. 11925 app. crit. (V); ήν έν τῷ σακκίῳ και εκλέφτην (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 88.3d); αναθρέφτηκα σέ τόπον άγριον Bertoldin. 120.4.

2.2.1.9 Oxytone Verbs

As in previous and subsequent stages of the language, oxytone verbs form their active perfective stems by adding a syllable consisting of a vocalic stem extension /i/, /a/ or /e/ followed by the aoristic formant {s}. In some cases an intrusive velar /k/ is added before this {s}, due to the fact that many oxytone verbs have alternative presents in -ζω, and that quite a few verbs in -ζω have perfective stems in -ξ (see 2.2.1.3). The passive perfective stem is typically formed by substituting /θ/ for /s/ in the active stem, or by adding /θ/ to it.

⁵⁶ In the case of στέκω/στέκομαι with a semantic shift due to the disappearance of the root aorist έστην “I stood”, which was replaced by passive έστάθην “I was placed”.

2.2.1.9.1 -ησ- and -ηθ-

Active Voice

The majority of oxytone A- and E-stems form their perfective active stem in -ησ. Some representative examples are:

A-stems

- ρόφησε GLYKAS, Stichoi 268
 πανταχοῦ ἐρευνήσατε, ἴδετε Dig. G I.210 εἴ τις νικήσει τὸν πόλεμον Assizes A 171.14 ἵνα τὸν ἀπαντήσῃ Achil. N 1580 ἐδιπλωρῶτησέν την Spanos A 251 ἐπεμερίμνησαν καὶ τὴν ζωὴν των (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 229–30) πάλιν ἐμετεβρόντησεν Krasop. AO 109 ἐρρούφησεν τοὺς Χριστιανοὺς Alosis 600 καὶ ἀγάπησέ την KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.20 ἐρωτήσαν το (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 276, 380.11) καὶ ἐτίμησέ τον (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.4) ἐπαραγρίκησα CHORTATIS, Katz. III.363 ἐσοφήσασι (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), 28.7) ἐψηφήσεται (1685, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1924b: [2], 13.17)

E-stems

- καὶ προσεκύνησέν σε Eisit. f.4r.1–2 νὰ ἔχουν κινήσει Chron. Mor. H 585 ἐχεροτόνησεν (1395, Pontos, BRYER 1976: 7, 133.3) ἐμίλησαν Dig. E 361 θρηνήσετε LIMEN., Than. Rod. 36 ποιήσατε (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 289.14) ἐσυνεφώνησαν (1474, Athos, OIKONOMIDÈS 1968: 32, 166.1) ἐμιλήσετε (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.12) πάτησε Diig. Alex. F 136.11 (Lolos) καὶ ἀκλούθησέν του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 566.32 ἐποίησε χρόνους τρεῖς (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.8) ἐμολόγησε (1597, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 5, 77.37) φιλήσετε CHORTATIS, Panor. V.357 ὅταν ἀπίστησεν (1616, Pogoniani, SCHREINER 1975/79: 64.IV, 497.31.1) δέ μοῦ τὸ ἐμολόγησε Nov. I 156.21 παρηγορήσετε PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.138

In texts from Cyprus, certain verbs that usually form their perfective stems in -εσ (for which see 2.2.1.9.5) can have an alternative perfective stem in -ησ:

- ἐπαρακάλησέν τον (1406–7, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 35, f.115v.3) ἐπαρκάλησα τὸν κυρ-παπα-Χαρίτων (1484, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 23, 236.8–9) ἐπαρακαλήσαν τὸν ρήγα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 168.10; ὁ Γενουβίσος ἐπόννησεν ibid. 458.27 ἐπαρακάλησα Fior 77.3; νά μπόρησεν ibid. 79.34; ἀντὰν δὲν μπορήσῃ νά ῥβῃ ibid. 121.29 ἐπαρακάλησέ την ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 738; διατί ἐγὼ ἐπόνῃσα ibid. 4393; but also, once: τῶρα αὐτόν ἐπόνεσεν ibid. 1919 ἐπαρακάλησέν τον ΚΟΝΣΤ. ΔΙΑΚ., Ist. Makaritou Marko 430 νά σὲ παρακαλήσω Thrinós Kyp. 141

The verb χωρῶ, and especially its prefixed derivatives such as ἀναχωρῶ, παραχωρῶ, προχωρῶ, ὑποχωρῶ, and to a lesser degree συγχωρῶ and στενοχωρῶ, show a clear preference for forms with -ησ- over forms with -εσ- (for which see 2.2.1.9.5):

καὶ χωρήσει SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 300 transcr. (Lendari) (hapax) καὶ ἡ κόρη ἀπεχώρησεν Achil. N 1061 (hapax) ὁ πρίντζης ἀναχώρησεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 266.16; καὶ τόσον τοὺς ἐστενοχώρησεν ibid. 586.27 (no forms with -εσ-) ἤθελα παραχωρήσειν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 74.16 ὅλοι ἀναχωρήσασιν Diig. Apoll. 236 νά μοῦ τὲς συγχωρήσετε (1574, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES 1996: 61.17) ἤθελαν ἀναχωρήσει ὅλες τῶνε (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.21–2) ἀποχώρησεν ἀπὸ ἐκεῖνον Vios Aisop. I 252.38 ἀνεχώρησεν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 2.22 οἱ θεοὶ νά σας συγχωρήσουν Alex. Fyll. 39.37; καὶ δὲν θέλει σὲ χωρήσει ὁ κόσμος ὅλος ibid. 42.21 ὅλα τους τὰ συγχώρησαν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 4844

Passive Voice

The perfective passive stem of verbs that form their perfective active stem in -ησ is formed by substituting -θ- for -σ-. This group of verbs also includes the majority of deponent verbs in -ῶμαι, -οῦμαι and -ᾶμαι, such as ἀπιλογοῦμαι, ἄρνοῦμαι, ἀφηγοῦμαι, βρυχώμαι, διηγοῦμαι, ἐγγυῶμαι, ἐπιμελοῦμαι, θυμοῦμαι/θυμᾶμαι, καυχῶμαι, κοιμοῦμαι/κοιμᾶμαι, κτῶμαι, λυποῦμαι/λυπᾶμαι, μιμοῦμαι and φοβοῦμαι/φοβᾶμαι:

οἱ Φράγκοι ὥκονομήθησαν Chron. Mor. H 705; ἔπιασεν κ' εὐλογήθη ibid. 1194 ὥστε νά τοῦ ἀπιλογηθοῦν Arm. 30; καὶ τότε νά σ' ἀφηγηθῶ ibid. 132 Ὅππιανὸν ἐκτέθησα, πείναν οὐδὲν φοβοῦμαι Ptoch. III 273,20 app. crit. (PK) ἐπροτιμήθη ἐκ παντός Chron. Toc. 116 διὰ νά κυβερνηθοῦσιν Achil. L 222; τὰ χέρια μου ἐκρατήθησαν ibid. 1326 ὅταν εἰς νοῦν ἀθυμηθῶ τῆς Πόλεως τὰ κάλλη Anak. Konst. 106 ὑπήγαινα νά κοιμηθῶ SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 64 μηδὲν πλανηθῆτε εἰς τῶν Φραγγῶν τὰ λόγια (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.15) ἐγροικῆθη ἐἰς πᾶσα τόπον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 8.8; ἐδιαλαλήθη παντοῦ ibid. 52.17 νά κοιμηθῶ ἐθυμήθη BERGADIS, Apok. A 1; νά μυριολυπηθῆτε id. Apok. V 167 ἐλεημονήθηκέν τους Diig. Alex. F 188.11–12 (Lolos) (same in E) νά πᾶ νά περιβοσκηθῇ Fyll. gadar. 7; ἐσὺ τοὺς ἐμιμήθης ibid. 213 ἄμε καὶ συ νά τιμηθεῖς Apoll. Rim. A 695 (same in all versions) τὸν μύθον ὅπου ἐσὺ ἐδιηγέθης μου Bertoldin. 109.4
 ἐγὼ εἶμαι ὅπου ἐπουλήθηκα Vios Aisop. D 217.16

2.2.1.9.2 -ηξ- and -ηχθ-/-ηχτ-, -ηκτ-

Active Voice

Due to the fact that many oxytone verbs have alternative presents in -ίζω (see 2.1.3.2), and that quite a few verbs in -ίζω have perfective stems in -ιξ (see 2.2.1.3), in the period covered by this Grammar certain oxytone verbs also begin to develop perfective stems in /iks/. Forms with -ηξ- are absent from 14th-c. works like the Chronicle of Morea and the War of Troy,⁵⁷ and their first appearances in texts can be dated to the 15th c. Of course, whenever a variant in -ίζω is attested (see 2.1.3), it cannot possibly be established whether the form with /iks/ is derived from the barytone or the oxytone verb, as is e.g. the case with ἀκολουθῶ/ἀκολουθίζω; γροικῶ/γροικίζω; ἐρωτῶ/ἐρωτίζω; κρατῶ/κρατίζω; σταματῶ/σταματίζω; χαιρετῶ/χαιρετίζω; χλιμιντρῶ/χλιμιντριζω.

Forms with -ηξ- of the verb ἐρωτῶ are used quite generally, in various texts from different areas, though, notably, only rarely in texts from the south-east (Cyprus, Dodecanese):

νὰ ρωτήξουν Byz. Il. 284 (hapax, 3x -ησ-) κι ἄσ σ' ἄρωτήξουν Cyp. Canz. 132.18 ἐρωτήξαμεν (1528, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 53, 173.47) ἠρώτηξεν (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.IV, 259.84.10) ἐρώτηξαν Diig. Alex. F 292.2 (Lolos) και ἑκεί την ανερώτηξε Apoll. Rim. E 1649 ἐρώτηξα Pent. Gen. 24.47
 ἃ θε νὰ μάθης, ρώτηξε P&N Diath. 729 θέλει σὲ ρωτήξει Vosk. 387 νὰ μὲ ρωτήξει CHORTATIS, Erof. II.255 ἐρώτηξά σε Pist. voskos V 5.246 νὰ ρωτήξω MONTSEL., Evgena 39 ἐρώτηξεν (1670, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 4, 16.12)

Others are found mainly in texts from south-western areas (Crete, Heptanese, Peloponnese), Chios and certain Cycladic islands:

νὰ κρατήξη FALIEROS, Ist. On. 159 να τον κρατήξεις Apoll. Rim. A 511 (also in EV) μηδεις ἐξ αὐτῶν ἰσχύσαι κρατήξαι (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 6, 12.16) τὰ κράτηξε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 214.30); ἐκράτηξεν (1579, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 5, 23.6) ἐκράτηξεν (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 841, 733.17) ἐκράτηξα (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 50.89) τὸν ἐκράτηξε (1646 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 58, 149.68) ἐκράτηξε (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 743, 1013.7) νὰ κρατήξετε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 57.1–2 ἦβγασιν καὶ παντήξαν τον Achil. L 478 δέτε, ἀπαντήξετέ μας Rim. than. 130 ἐσυναπάντηξέ τους Pol. Tr. 1949 app. crit. (V)

⁵⁷ With one exception in a 16th-c. ms: ἐσυναπάντηξε Pol. Tr. 1949 app. crit. (V), where mss BX read ἐσυναπάντησε.

ἔσυνεπάντηξάν με DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1325 ἐκεῖ του ἑσυναπάντηξε Apoll. Rim. V 237 (same in all versions) ὅποιο κι' ἂν ἀπαντήξω CHORTATIS, Katz. II.123; γὰρ νὰ συνἀπαντήξομε id., Panor. III.469 πὰ ν' ἀπαντήξω τὸ παιδί Thysia Avr. 1112 ἀπάντηξά σε Pist. voskos V 5.243 γὰρ κείνο μοῦ παντήξασι FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.13 ἡπάντηξέν του (1670, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 4, 16.10) ἀπαντήξαν Leilasia Par. 595

 ἐζήτηξεν Jonas 217.109 τὴ θεὸ ζήτηξαι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 160 μὴ μοῦ ζητήξεις Rim. kor. A 72 νὰ δυνηθῇ νὰ ζητήξῃ αὐτὸ τὸ ρέστος (1525, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 107, 199.20) καὶ νὰ ζητήξετε καὶ ἄλλον (1571, Mani, CHASIOIS 1970: 5, 239.12–13) νὰ ζητήξομε τὴν βοήθειαν τοῦ Θεοῦ MOREZINOS, Klini 20.28; δὲν ἤθελεν ζητήξιν ibid. 137.25; τοῦ ἐζήτηξα θέλημα id., Logos 469.25 ἐζήτηξες BAROZZI, Letter 358.11 συμπάθιο νὰ ζητήξουσι CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.367 καὶ τὴν εὐχὴ σου ἐζήτηξα KORNAROS, Erot. III.863 ἐζήτηξέν το (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 181.73) ἐκεῖνο ὅπου μοῦ ζητήξεις Bertoldos 9.20 ἐζητήξετε (1675, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: 61.23)

 καὶ ἐσταμάτηξε καὶ αὐτός Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 177 τὰ μάτια ἐσταματήξασι KORNAROS, Erot. V.557 νὰ σταματήξῃ VEST., Pathi 409 ἐσταματήξαμε σὲ μίαν μερέαν (1687, Andros, LAMBROS 1909b: 2, 244.5)

Others appear to be mainly Cretan:⁵⁸ γῆς, σκίσου, ρούφηξέ με CHORTATIS, Panor. V.203 νὰ θεὸ νὰ τὸν ρουφήξῃ KORNAROS, Erot. IV.658 κάτω νὰ με ρουφήξῃ FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.466 νὰ με καταρουφήξῃ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 497.4

 καὶ ρούφηξε το φούντος IOAKEIM KYPR. Pali 3484

 ἀκλουθήξασιν SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 154 καὶ ἔκει τον ἀκλουθήξασι Apoll. Rim. N 785 ἄς ἀκλουθήξῃ Pist. voskos I 1.3 κι ἀκολουθήξά σου TROILOS, Rodol. III.247 κι ὥσὰ φυσήξῃς τὸ κερί KORNAROS, Erot. III.1102 τότες ὥσάν ἐφύσηξεν ἄνεμος οὔτου θέλαν IOAKEIM KYPR. Pali 6929 ἀνέμοι ἐφύσηξασι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 263.1

 νὰ βοηθήξῃ Pist. voskos V 7.70 καὶ θεὸς νὰ μοῦ βοηθήξῃς KORNAROS, Erot. I.1909 (rhymes with ξανοίξης); κιανεὶς νὰ τῆς βοηθήξῃ ibid. IV.77 (rhymes with πνίξη)

⁵⁸ Note that modern Cretan still favours /ks/ over /s/; see KONDOSOPOULOS ³2001: 31–2.

The verb τολμῶ (perfective stem normally in -ησ) has a variant form τρομῶ, which is the result of two phonetic processes, namely liquid interchange (τολμῶ > τορμῶ, e.g. νὰ μηδὲν τορμήσουν (1449, Chios, LAIOU 1982: 4, 124.10)) and metathesis (τορμῶ > τρομῶ) (for details see I, 3.8.6.2 and 3.9.1), possibly also influenced by the semantically related verb τρομάζω. This variant can form its perfective stem in -ησ (e.g. νὰ μηδὲν τρομήσω Liv. E 3418; οὐδὲ ἐγὼ θέλω τρομήσει Diig. Alex. F 146.9 (Lolos); ποτέ νὰ μὴν τρομήσει CHORTATISIS, Panor. V 129), but in texts from Crete and the Aegean also in -ηξ:

τινάς ουδὲν ἐτρόμηξε νὰ ᾽πά' νὰ του ᾽μιλήσει Apoll. Rim. V 1481 (also in EN; ἐτρόμαξε in A); ουδὲ τρομήξουν ἤθελεν ibid. 1544 (also in AEN) νὰ μὴν ἔχη τρομήξει (1576, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 138, 259.15) νὰ μὴν τρομήξουσιν οἱ γυναῖκες (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 54.217)

Perfective stems in -ηξ for the verbs πηδῶ and βροντῶ, normal in SMG, are quite rare, and only appear from the 16th/17th c. onwards, mainly in Cretan texts, but in the case of πηδῶ also in Don Kis., a text that was written in the Danubian Principalities in the early 18th c.:

καὶ τὸ ζιμιὸν ἐπήδηξεν ὁλόρθο σὰν τὸ λάφι KORNAROS, Erot. II.2142 ἐτότες μ' ἐπηδήξασι ἀξάφνου FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.85 ἐπήδηξε ἀπὸ το παραθύρι Don Kis. 137.2 σὰ βροντήξει CHORTATISIS, Panor. II.259 (hapax, rhymes with ρίξει) ἐδέτσι ἀστραποβρόντηξε KORNAROS, Erot. II.2131

Forms with -ηξ- of the verb πορπατῶ (< περιπατῶ) have only been found in the Pentateuch and in Erotokritos, but it cannot be excluded that they were more widely used, at least in Cretan:⁵⁹ ἐπορπάτηξεν ὁ Νοαχ Pent. Gen. 6.9; ἐπορπάτηξα ibid. 35.3 νὰ πορπατήξη Pent. Exod. 21.19 ὅπου κι ἂν ἐπορπάτηξεν KORNAROS, Erot. III.1719 and IV.1099; δὲ θὲ νὰ πορπατήξη ibid. IV.73.

Some forms with -ηξ- even appear to be typical of certain authors/texts, e.g. γλακῶ, γλακήξω, γροικῶ,⁶⁰ γροικήξω, τηρῶ, τηρήξω and χαιρετῶ, χαιρετήξω of Chortatsis, χλιμιτῶ, χλιμιτήξω of Alex. Rim., and ξεψυχῶ, ξεψυχήξω of Diig. Alex. E:

καὶ ἐξεψύχηξεν ὁ βασιλεὺς Αἰγύπτου ὁ Κτεναβῶ Diig. Alex. E 117.15 (Lolos) τότε πολλὰ χλιμίτηξε, βρουχᾶται ὥσπερ λέω Alex. Rim. 2919 νὰ γροικήξου CHORTATISIS, Erof. Dedic. 10 (hapax; rhymes with ἀνοίξου); νὰ γλακήξει id., Panor. I.361; καθὼς ἐκείνη ἐγλάκηξε ibid. I.363; μα τήρηξε την ὀρεξη ibid. III.320; νὰ σὲ χαιρετήξω id., Katz. II.164 (hapax; rhymes with ἀνοίξω)

⁵⁹ The noun πορπατηξιά is also found in Velthandros 614 and 715, Panoria I.426 and V.96, and Fortounatos III.742. Panoria and Fortounatos happen not to have perfective forms of this verb, Velthandros, however, has forms with -ησ-, e.g. καὶ δέκα περιεπάτησεν Velth. 243.

⁶⁰ Of the verb γροικῶ, one example with -ηξ- was found in the following text from Chios: καὶ λύπην μὴν γροικήξω Vest., Paid. Makkav. 706; but apart from the fact that it rhymes with δείξω in the previous verse, it should also be borne in mind that Chortatsis's Erofilis is one of the sources used by Vestarchis for his play (MANOUSAKAS/PUCHNER 2000: 49).

New oxytone verbs, e.g. τραβῶ (< τραβίζω < ταυρίζω) and βουτῶ (< βουτίζω, attested in the 13th c., see LBG), form perfective stems in -ηξ as well as -ησ:

ἐτράβηξεν Pol. Tr. 7065 app. crit. (C), where mss AX read ἐτάβριζε, V ἐτάβρισαν and B ἐτράβησεν νά τόν βουττήσουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 72.9 καί τήν ἐτραβήξαν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 81.18 νά βουτῇσι Kaini Diath. Louk. 16.24 νά μὲ τραβήσετε ἔξω Alex. Fyll. 103.19–20 βούτησε τὰ ραβδία τοὺς LANDOS, Geopon. 153.25; but also: ἐὰν βουτῇσης τὰς ρίζας τοῦ ibid. 208.28 βουτήσας εἰς τὸ βάθος Vios Aisop. D 242.14–15 νά τραβήξει ὀπίσω Bertoldin. 136

Passive Voice

The perfective passive stem of verbs that form their perfective active stem in -ηξ is formed by substituting -θ- for -σ-. Before -θ-, the velar becomes -χ-. The combination -χθ- may then become -χτ- through manner dissimilation (for details on the chronology of the phenomenon, and the issues of contemporary writing practice and modern editing, see I, 3.8.1):

ἐκρατήχθηκά σου (1553, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 181, 170.12) νά κρατηχτῇ KORNAROS, Erot. I.2117; νά βοητηχτῶ ibid. III.353 app. crit. (X) ἐτραβήχθηκαν κάτω Bertoldos 71.31 ἐτραβήχτησαν Bertoldin. 169.22 ἐτραβήχθη ὀπίσω τοῦ ἀλογόνου τοῦ Don Kis. 46.1

From around the 15th c. onwards in texts of southern provenance such as Crete, Cyprus, the Heptanese and certain Cycladic islands, -χτ- can subsequently “reassimilate” to become -κτ- (cf. 2.2.1.3):

ἐκεῖ συνεπαντήκητησαν Achil. L 926 ἐκεῖ ὁπὸπαντηκτῆκασιν Apoll. Rim. A 729 (same in all versions) νά ζητηκτεῖ MOREZINOS, Klini 27.6 ἐτραβήκτη τὰ μέρη τῆς Ἀρμενίας τῆς Μικρῆς Chron. Tourk. Soult. 141.15 γλυκοχαιρετηκτῆτε Stathis III.504 (γλυκοχαιρετικτῆτε in the ed.)
 ν' ἀποχαιρετηκτούσιν BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 378.8 (Xirouchakis); θὲ ν' ἀναζητηκτοῦνε ibid. 428.26 (both corrected to -χτ- in ed. Alexiou/Aposkiti)

2.2.1.9.3 -ασ- and -ασθ-/αστ-

Active Voice

Oxytone A-stem verbs that historically formed their perfective stem in -ασ, e.g. AG γελῶ, γερῶ (< γηρῶ/γηράσκω), ἔξερῶ (> ξερνῶ), κρεμῶ, περῶ (> περνῶ), χαλῶ, Koine πεινῶ, δειλιῶ, EMedG κερνῶ (< κεράννυμι), continue to do so throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods:

νά ἔχουν περάσει Chron. Mor. H 400 ὅλους νά σᾶς κρεμάσουν Pol. Tr. 1464; ὅπου καί θὲν νά μᾶς χαλάσουν ibid. 6601 app. crit. (A) μὴ δειλιάσετε, ἄρχοντες Achil. N 450; ἀλλὰ ὁ εἷς τοὺς δέκα ἐσύνθλασεν ibid. 552 κρέμασε Dig. E 802; περάσειν ἔχω ibid. 1532 μήτε ἐκκλησίας νὰ χαλάσωμεν (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.21) νὰ ξέρασα SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 196 και εκρέμμασεν κ' εκείνον ἀπό τα πόδια VOUSTR. Chron. A 104.14–15 ὅταν γεράσουν Diig. Alex. F 140.15 (Lolos) καὶ βλέπε μὴ δειλιάσεις Thysia Avr. 18; κρέμασε τὸ σκληρὸ σπαθί ibid. 232 θέλει νὰ ξεδειλιάση KORNAROS, Erot. III.679 ἔως πού νὰ γεράσης PETRITSIS, Dig. O Prol. 5 ἐχάλασαν (17th c., Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.2, 72.17) οἱ Τούρκοι εδειλίασαν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6897 το ποτήρι ποῦ με ἐκέρασες Alex. Fyll. 115.16

 Ο δον Κισότε ἐγέλασεν Don Kis. 47.21; ἤθελε νὰ περάσει ibid. 49.11

Of a small group of verbs that usually have perfective stems in -αξ (see below, 2.2.1.9.4) forms with -ασ- can occasionally be found:

καὶ ἀπὲ τὰ δέντρα ἐπέτασεν Achil. L 713 νὰ πετάση [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1555 καὶ τὰ πουλιά ἐπετάσασιν BERGADIS, Apok. A 64 δὲν ἤμποροῦσιν νὰ πετάσουσιν Fior 97.19 νὰ πετάσουν Vios Aisop. D 238.35 (but also: ἐπέταξεν ibid. 230.18) νὰ τοῦ τὸ ξεπετάσει Bertoldin. 151.3 (but also: νὰ ἀπετάξουν ibid. 141.6) ἐρπάσουσιν DELLAP., Peri antapod. 14 ἔχει νὰ τὴν ἀρπάση PETRITSIS, Dig. O 52

Passive Voice

The perfective passive stem of verbs that form their perfective active stem in -ασ is formed by adding -θ- to the perfective active stem. The combination -σθ- may then become -στ- through manner dissimilation (for details, see I, 3.8.1):

ἄν πεταστῇτε εἰς οὐρανόν Liv. E 522 μέλλει νὰ κρεμαστῇ (13th?/16th c., Cyprus, Assizes A 185.29) ἐκρεμάστη Spanos A 99
 κ' ἔπειτα στὸ τραχήλι μας ὕστερ' ἀποκρεμάσθην BERGADIS, Apok. A 382 καὶ θέλεις χαλαστεῖν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 642.30 ἔχασθη Synax. gyn. 360
 ἀφ' ὕψους ἐπετάσθην Dig. T 2032 καὶ ὅλοι χαλασθοῦμεν KONDAR., Paides 550

2.2.1.9.4 -αξ- and -αχθ-/-αχτ-, -ακτ-

Active Voice

A small group of verbs, among which are ἀρπῶ, βαστῶ, πετῶ, πλαντῶ and φυλῶ form their perfective stems in -αξ. These stems are built on the analogy of their, usually older and more common, barytone variants in -άζω or -άσσω: βαστάζω, πετάζω (< πετάννυμι), πλαντάζω, ἀρπάζω, φυλάσσω, for which see 2.2.1.3; see also 2.1.3.1.

ἤρπαξεν (post 1306, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 31, 163.[23]2) διατὶ ἐβάσταξε ἄρματα Chron. Mor. H 3337 (cf. βαστοῦν ibid. 2489; but also: ἐβάσταξαν ibid. 231) καὶ ὡς γυνήν του νόμιμον κρατήσῃ καὶ φυλάξῃ Pol. Tr. 1128 ᾗ τὸν οὐρανὸν τὸ ἀπέταξεν Arm. 82 καὶ πάσχου νὰ πλαντᾷ FALIEROS, Ist. On. 57 (cf. πλαντᾷ ibid. 689) καὶ ἅμα τὸ σώσειν ἤρπαξεν τ' ἀριστερὸν τιμόνιν BERGADIS, Apok. A 356 (cf. ἤρπου ibid. 41) ἐπέταξεν ἡ μία καὶ ἔφυγε Vios Aisop. D 230.18 (cf. νὰ πετοῦν ibid. 239.1; but also: νὰ πετάσουν ibid. 238.35) νὰ τὸν βαστάξῃ Vios Aisop. K 148.30–1 (cf. νὰ βαστᾷ ibid. 153.13; but also: ἔπαρε καὶ βάσταξε 153.20)

Some of these verbs (though not πλαντᾷ and φυλᾷ) also have variant perfective stems in -ας, for which see above, 2.2.1.9.3.

Passive Voice

The group of oxytone verbs that have a perfective active stem in -αξ /ak-s/ form their perfective passive stem by substituting /θ/ for /s/, resulting in -αχθ. Through manner dissimilation -χθ- may become -χτ- (see I, 3.8.1), and in certain areas -χτ- may “re-assimilate” to become -κτ-:

ὑπάγαυινε νὰ πεταχθῇ Pol. Tr. 5177; ἂν εἶχε τοῦτος βασταχθῇ ibid. 13370 χίλιοι νὰ πεταχτήκα CHORTATIS, Katz. III.439 ἐπετακτήκα CHORTATIS, Panor. I.331 app. crit. (DN) νὰ πετακτᾷ ὀλομόναχος FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.197 (corrected to πεταχτᾷ in the edition) νὰ πετακτοῦσι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 239.13 (Xirouchakis) (πεταχτοῦσι in ed. Alexiou/Aposkiti)

2.2.1.9.5 -εσ- and -εθ-, -εσθ-/-εστ-

Active Voice

Oxytone E-stem verbs that traditionally had aorists in -εσα continue to do so throughout and after our period, e.g. τελῶ, ἀρκῶ, ἐπαινῶ, καλῶ, which had -εσα in AG, or ἡμπορῶ (< εὐπορῶ), βαρῶ, φορῶ, πονῶ, χωρῶ, ὠφελῶ, which had -ησα in AG and obtained variant perfective stems in -εσ in post-classical times. Forms of both stems of these verbs are common, forms with -ησ being particularly common for compounds with the verb χωρῶ (see 2.2.1.9.1). Newer formations of perfective stems in -εσ include the verbs πλανῶ, καρτερῶ, εὐκαιρῶ, and ἀντῶ. Because the last two verbs also form alternative imperfective stems in -αίνω/-ένω (for which see 2.1.3.2), it cannot be established whether a perfective form with -εσ is derived from the oxytone or the barytone variant of the verb. Even when the imperfective stem transfers from E-stem to A-stem, the perfective stem in -εσ is usually retained:

καὶ ὁμῶς συγχώρεσόν με, πάτερ μου NIKON, Logos 9 314.3 ἐγκαλέσαμεν (1128, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 13, 97.5) ἔ τσοῦκα, ὅπου τὰ ἐχώρεσες Ptoch. IV 217 πῶς νὰ ἡπορέσω στέρησιν νὰ ἴδω τῆς θυγατρὸς μου Eisit. f.8 r.17–18 νὰ τοῦ τὸ ἔχουν φορέσει Chron. Mor. H 953; οὕτως τοὺς ἐπλανέσαν ibid. 1099 τὸν θέλουσιν ἐγρήγορα βαρέσει Pol. Tr. 1075; τὴν θλίψιν νὰ τελέσῃ ibid. 12925 ἐψυχοπόνεσέ με Liv. V 3699 εὐκαιρέσασιν τὴν χώραν (15th, Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28, 209.4.3–4) κανεὶν δὲν ἐκαρτέρεσεν Chron. Toc. 1495; πολλὰ ἐστενοχώρεσεν τὴν πόλιν Γιαννίνων ibid. 1819 πονέσετε FALIEROS, Thrinós 15 τίποτες οὐδὲν ἐφέλεσεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 44.17 (< ὠφελῶ) ἐπαρκαλέσασιν τονε (1574, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 15, 141.9) οἱ Εβραῖοι ὄνταν ἐντεσαν στον Φαραῶ ἐκεῖνο ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 5018 δὲν θὲν τὴν ἐπαινέση KONDAR., Paides 234 τὴν ἐπιβουλίαν οἱποῦ ηθέλησαν νὰ ἀποτελέσουν Alex. Fyll. 111.3–4

In texts from Cyprus alternative perfective stems in -ησ can be found for some of these verbs, not only those which traditionally had -ησ such as πονῶ, but also e.g. for παρκαλῶ (for examples, see 2.2.1.9.1).

Passive Voice

Of oxytone verbs that form their perfective active stem in -εσ, the majority form the perfective passive stem in -εθ. A small group of verbs has perfective passive stems in -εσθ. The choice of -εθ or -εσθ can usually be explained historically: verbs that had passive aorists in -έθην retain their perfective passive stems in -εθ (e.g. ἐπαινῶ, αἰρῶ), whereas verbs that had passive aorists in -έσθην continue to do so in the period under review (e.g. τελῶ, ἀρκῶ). The verb καλῶ and its compounds had moved from an irregular passive aorist (ἐκλήθην) to a more regular one (ἐκαλέσθην) in the EMedG period, though the old forms can still be found in the texts examined. The sequence <σθ> may become <στ> through manner dissimilation (see I, 3.8.1). Verbs that transfer from stems in -ησ to stems in -εσ form their perfective passive stem in -εθ (e.g. βαρῶ, βαρήσω > βαρέσω > ἐβαρέθην):

ἀφαιρέθη (1225, Sicily, CUSA Coll. IX: 1868/82: 31, 449.15) πολλὰ ἠθέλαν βαρεθῇ Chron. Mor. H 2818 ἠθέλες ... ἐπαινέθην Dig. E 252 μήπως καὶ βαρεθῶσι σε Pol. Tr. 557 app. crit. (A) πολλὰ ἐβαρέθηκε Spanos D 395 πῶς ἐπλανέθηκες τέτοιᾱς λογῆς VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34.20–1 μετὰ δὲ τὸ συντελεσθῆν τὸν τριμηνῆον γάμον Dig. G IV.933 ἠρκέστηκεν Velis. χ 398 ὁποῦ μέλλουν νὰ ἄρκεσθούν (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.2) ἐγκαλέσθηκεν Bertoldin. 112.28–9 ἐπικαλέσθηκεν (1688, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 113, 324.2)

2.2.1.10 Verbs with an Alternative Stem Formation in -κ-

2.2.1.10.1 Indicative

The athematic aorist in -κα in the singular of the three AG verbs δίδωμι, τίθημι, ἀφίημι had already begun to spread to the plural before the Hellenistic period (see MANDILARAS 1973: 145), and forms with -κ- (ἔδωκα, ἔθηκα or ἔθεκα and ἀφῆκα or ἄφηκα) are found for all persons throughout the LMedG and EMG periods:

κακὴν βουλήν τὸν ἔδωκαν Spaneas P 221 μά τὸν Θεόν ὁποῦ με ἔδωκεν τὸ κεφαλατίκιν (1346/7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 256.27–8) ὃν ἔδωκα χάριν ψυχικῆς μου σωτηρίας (1400, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 10, 194.6)

- οὔτε φίλημαν μὲ ἔδωκεν Dig. E 166
 ἔδωκαν οἱ ὅλοι τὸν λόγον τως (1453, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1967: 1, 47.11) ἔδωκανε (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 176, 120.1) καὶ ἔδωκάν τα τοὺς Λατίνους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 28.4 το πως ἔδωκαν Diig. Alex. K 365.15 εἰς ὅ,τι ἄρα σοῦ ἔδωκαμεν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 44, 42.5) ἔδωκα καὶ παράδωκαν (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 9, 131.13) καὶ ἔδωκε (1662, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 27, 33.11) τόση δύναμην ἔδωκαν DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 1005 δὲν ἤδωκε ἄλλο τίβετις (17th c., Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32.44) ἀνταπεδώκασι NEOFYTOS, Achouri 180 καὶ ἔδωκεν ἀπόκρισιν Thrinos Kypr. 144
- ἔθηκεν Diig. sebast. Thom. 335 εἰς κάτεργα δύο τὴν ἔθηκεν Chron. Mor. H 2478 ἐθέκαν Dig. E 480; but also: ἔθηκαν ibid. E 780 ἔθηκαν Assizes B 395.23 ἔθηκαν Achil. N 380; but also: ἐθέκαν ibid. 1832 κανεῖς οὐδὲν ἐθέκεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1149 ἤθεκα στὸ κρεβάτιν μου BERGADIS, Apok. A 4 ἀπόθηκέν το εἰς το σκαμνὶ του Diig. Alex. K 375.1 ἐμετάθεκα τὸ παρὸ (1610, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 7, 22.15) ἐθηκεν Varl. & Ioas. (Lavrás) 161.2 μοῦ θέκανε μαχαίρι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 540.22 καὶ νὰ τὸν ἐμετάθεκαν οἱ φονογραμματαῖοι VEST., Pathi 188 ἐμετάθεκα τὸ παρὸν (1681, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 70, 58.29)
- ἐμὲ ἀφήκαν NIKON, Logos 4 206.12 τοῖς ἀφηκεν (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.16) ἄφηκες Pol. Tr. 1933 ἤφηκεν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 22, 57.6) ἀφήκες ... τὸν κόσμον; Alosis 145 μὰ πάλι ἀπεὶ σ' ἐφήκαν FALIEROS, Thrinos 280 ἀφηκες ἄλλα εἶδη Syndipas 118.6 ἐγὼ ἀφήκα πολλὰ χωριά Fior 125.3 τοῦ ἐφήκαν (1602, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 8, 162.16–17) ἔφηκες GERMANO, Grammar 99.10 μᾶς ἀφήκασι γραφικῶς LANDOS, Geopon. 130.18 καὶ τὸν Θεὸν ἐφήκασιν KONDAR., Paides 957 μᾶς ἀφηκεν (1663, Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 39, 136.6) τὸν ἀφήκαμ' ἐφημέριον (1683, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 89, 321.7) τῶν τὸ ἤφηκεν (1688, Andros, PASCHALIS 1948: 44.5)

As is well known, the AG category of the Perfect had started to disappear from the spoken language already in Hellenistic times. Forms that morphologically are perfects continue to be used in written texts in the post-classical and Byzantine periods, but apart from the most classicizing texts they are generally used as aorists (HORROCKS ²2010: 131–2; HINTERBERGER 2014b), and by the beginning of the period covered by this Grammar their use is entirely residual. The only morphological perfect to have survived, but semantically as an aorist, is εὔρηκα (< εὐρίσκω) (THUMB 1912: 147–8), which since Hellenistic times had been in use as an aorist indicative,⁶¹ alongside the inherited thematic form εὔρον/ηὔρον and, later, the newer form ηὔρα, both of which it eventually managed to supersede. Due to the sound change in the diphthong ευ from [eu] to [ew] and ultimately to [ev], which started around the 3rd c. BC (HORROCKS ²2010: 169), /e/ came to be reanalysed as an augment, thus facilitating the interpretation of the form εὔρηκα (also spelled ἔβρηκα) as an aorist, by analogy with the aforementioned aorists ἔδωκα, ἔφηκα, ἔθηκα (HORROCKS ²2010: 302). By analogy with ηὔρον/ηὔρα versus εὔρον, εὔρηκα could then also adopt the /i/ augment: ηὔρηκα (for εὐρίσκω/βρίσκω, see also 2.4; for the augment, see Chapter 3). ηὔρηκαν Dig. G II.154

 ηὔρηκα Dig. E 1197; μας ἡβρηκαν Dig. E 1321 app. crit. εὔρηκεν Assizes A 222.16 εὔρηκα [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2367 ηὔρηκε Velth. 244 δὲν ηὔρηκα FALIEROS, Thrinis 18 ἔβρηκασιν Porikol. I 127 ευρήκασι Martyr. Vlas. 245.11 ηὔρηκα CHORTATIS, Katz. III.177 εὐρήκετε (1603, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 5, 21.14) ηὔρηκα πήχες εἴκοσι πέντε Diath. Nikon Metan. 43–4 ηὔρηκε Prol. Epain. Kef. 9 ἔσκαψαν τὴν κοπριά καὶ τὰ ηὔρηκαν Paroim. (Warner) 107.21–2 καὶ εὐρήκασιν τὴνε (1689, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 852, 1138.7) εὔρηκε EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 26.15 εὐρήκαμε (1719, Patmos, TSIRPANLIS 1982: 16.3)

A shift of the stress to the penultimate in proparoxytone forms, resulting in columnar stress (see also I, 4.2.4.2), occurs from at least the 15th c. onwards:

αὐτὸς ηὔρηκεν ἀφορμὴν Chron. Toc. 505 εὐρήκαν καὶ ἑκατὸν χιλιάδες ἄλογα Alex. Fyll. 69.15; εὐρήκα χρυσάφι πολὺ ibid. 109.5 ηὔρηκα VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 305 εὐρήκαν NEOFYTOS, Achouri 179

These forms are the precursors of SMG βρήκα, βρήκες etc., which are the result of deletion of the initial /e/ or /i/. The verb thus joined the small group of verbs with disyllabic aorists, which includes εἶπα, εἶδα, ἦρθα, μπήκα and βγήκα. This is probably due to the fact that these verbs uniquely share a tendency to become monosyllabic in the subjunctive (cf. εὔρω and εὐρῶ (> βρῶ), εἴπω and εἰπῶ (> πῶ), ἔμπω and ἐμπῶ (> μπῶ) etc.) and the infinitive (εὐρεῖν (> βρεῖ), εἰπεῖν (> πεῖ), ἐμπεῖν (> μπεῖ), etc.). Secure examples of the forms βρήκα, βρήκες etc. have not been found in the period covered by this Grammar; the Cretan work Palaia kai Nea Diathiki (mid-17th-c. ms, written in Latin script) offers: ἂν βρήκασι σωσμοδ P&N Diath. 1221 and δὲν τὸν βρήκα ibid. 2380 (3 pl.), but, as becomes clear from the critical apparatus, neither form is undoubtedly “augmentless”: v. 1221 reads: aneuricassi (ἀν εὐρήκασσι) and v. 2380: dhedo (δέν τὸ, not τὸν). The SMG form βρήκα is in all likelihood a late, or initially regional, development.⁶²

⁶¹ See for instance the following example from the Septuagint: καὶ ἐνέπρησεν τὴν βασιλείαν καὶ τὰς χώρας αὐτῆς, ὅτι οὐχ εὔρηκέν σε Septuaginta, Regn. III, 18.10.

Apart from ἔδωκα, ἄφηκα, ἔθηκα and εὗρηκα, discussed above, there are many other verbs that show a /k/ stem in the aorist indicative. These alternative aorist indicative forms with -κ- (instead of the usual -σ-), are usually either interpreted as incorrectly formed perfects in which the augment replaces the reduplication (in other words, e.g. ἐποίηκα is in fact πεποίηκα, and ἔβηκα is in fact βέβηκα; see among others CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 548–9; MANDILARAS 1973: 146; GIGNAC 1981: 243–4) or as the result of confusion between the aorist and the perfect (MANDILARAS 1973: 57; HORROCKS 2010: 176–8 and 302–3). Though there is nothing inherently implausible about confusion in the Hellenistic period when the two tenses merged, the evidence for it in Greek papyri is relatively slender and relatively late: see GIGNAC 1981: 243–4 who offers a mere handful of examples from papyri of the 2nd c. AD onwards. In fact, the popularity of the κ- aorist (other than the inherited forms ἔδωκα, ἄφηκα, ἔθηκα and εὗρηκα) dates from long after the demise of the perfect. The first attestation so far of ἐποίηκα has been found in Malalas (6th c.): καλῶς μὲν ἐποίηκατε Malalas, Chronogr. 399.95 app. crit. (O) (ed. Thurn);⁶³ and the earliest example so far of ἔβηκα dates to the 9th c., appearing in a letter by Theodore of Studios: ἐνταῦθα δὲ οἶονεὶ καὶ ἔργον προύβηκεν τὸ βουλευθὲν διὰ τῆς αἰτήσεως καὶ θείας συντεύξεως Theod. Stud., Letter 52, l. 19 (in all mss, oldest ms (C) 9th c.; ed. Fatouros).

Whatever the origin of the remarkable /k/ stem, it should be stressed that from a semantic point of view these forms are indeed aorists. Take, for instance, the following 7th-c. example of ἀπόλλυμι quoted in the Chronicle of Theophanes (early 9th c.):⁶⁴ πάλιν εἰς τὸν καῦκον ἔπιες· πάλιν τὸν νοῦν ἀπέλεκας Theoph., Chronogr. 296.27 app. crit. (ed. De Boor). That this form is used as an aorist indicative becomes clear from subsequent Byzantine authors who quote this passage, such as the Chronicle of the Logothete, George the Monk, Constantine Pophyrogennitos, Kedrinios and Glykas; they all change the “vulgar” form ἀπέλεκας, not into a perfect (ἀπολώλεκας), but into an aorist, ἀπώλεσας.

It must also be stressed that some of the κ-aorists treated below are clearly not based on any parallel forms of the perfect: e.g. ἔπεκε derives from ἔπεσε, not from πέπτωκε and ἐγλύτωκε is formed from the innovative verb γλυτώνω. The same clearly goes for the /k/ attached to the passive aorist stem: ἐλύθην > ἐλύθηκα, the earliest examples of which date from the 13th c. (see 4.4).

Apart from ἔδωκα, ἄφηκα, ἔθηκα, εὗρηκα and the highly productive aorist passive in -ηκα, there are three other verbs which particularly favour the /k/ aorist in the Middle Ages and beyond: βαίνω and its prefixed derivatives, ποιῶ and ἀπολύω/ἔξαπολύω. To begin with the verb βαίνω and its derivatives ἀναβαίνω, διαβαίνω, ἐκβαίνω/ἐβγαίνω, ἐμβαίνω/

⁶² It is noteworthy that neither Chatzidakis nor Jannaris mention the form βρήκα.

⁶³ This form was corrected to a perfect (πεποίηκατε) by the editor. In the context an aorist is more suitable than a perfect.

⁶⁴ This is the reading of all mss but one (M), which reads ἀπόλεκας (corrected to ἀπώλεσας in the edition); interestingly, this form appears in a satirical song sung by the Demes in the Hippodrome of Constantinople in AD 609–10 (Theophanes quotes John of Antioch); see also MAAS 1912.

ἐμπαίνω, ἐπιβαίνω, καταβαίνω, συμβαίνει, these verbs may have developed a new ending -ηκα by analogy with ἔθηκα and ἄφηκα, or with εὔρηκα, with which they share certain common characteristics in the formation of perfective forms: εὐρίσκω, aor. ind. εὔρηκα > ἐβρήκα, aor. subj. εὔρω > εὐρώ > βρώ; ἐμβαίνω, aor. ind. ἐμβηκα > ἐμπήκα, aor. subj. ἐμβω > ἐμπω > ἐμπῶ > μῶ (see 4.4.2 and 4.2.3). The fact that /k/ forms of βαίνω can be found in early mixed-register texts such as Glykas and Dig. G indicates that by the 12th/13th c. they had become perfectly acceptable in writing (as noted above, the earliest example found so far dates to the 9th c.) (for these verbs' influence on the passive aorist see 4.4):

συνέβηκεν (1060–1, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 4, 58.9–10) καὶ ὥσει σκιὰ διέβηκες GLYKAS, Stichoi 199 ἐπέβηκεν Dig. G IV.759
ἀνέβηκα καὶ ἐκάτσα Ptoch. I 131; εἰσέβηκα ibid. 130; καὶ μέσα νὰ ἐκατάβηκεν Ptoch. IV 191 ἐμπήκαν Chron. Mor. H 4846; ἀνέβηκεν ibid. 5357; ἐσυνέβηκεν ibid. 7203 ἐμπήκαν Dig. E 75; ἐδιάβηκα ibid. 545; ἐκατέβηκεν ibid. 618; οὐκ ἐβγήκα ibid. 1231; ἐξέβηκαν
ibid. 1411
ἐδιέβηκεν Florios 1487; ἔμπηκεν ibid. 1599 ἐπέβηκεν Chron. Toc. 19; ἀνέβηκεν ibid. 239; ἐκατέβηκαν ibid. 1722; ἐσυνέβηκεν ibid. 1982 ἤμπηκεν Achil. L 769 καὶ ἔμπηκεν ibid. 992 ἐκατέβηκαν Achil. N 550; ἐμπήκεν ibid. 1153; μή τι δεινὸν συνέβηκεν ibid. 1456 καὶ εἰς τὸ κάστρον ἀνέβηκεν Achil. O 526; ἡ κόρη ἐδιέβηκεν ibid. 1228 ἔμπηκεν Byz. Il. 974 σ' ἐμᾶς ἐκατεβήκαν Alex. Rim. 1643; ἐμπήκανε ibid. 1671; ἐμπήκαμε ibid. 2112 ἔμπηκαν Bertoldos 65.8

The verb ποιῶ forms an alternative perfective stem in -κ, alongside its regular sigmatic one ποιησ- (for which see 2.2.1.9.1), with both paroxytone and proparoxytone variant forms for the singular: ἐποῖκα and ἔποικα, on the model of its alternative sigmatic forms ἐποῖσα > ἔποισα (for which see 2.4; see also HATZIDAKIS 1892: 438). Alternative stress patterns are, of course, very convenient for poets, but proparoxytone forms are not restricted to metrical positions where such a stress pattern may be obligatory (e.g. before the caesura), or indeed even to verse texts, e.g. ἔποικα σχῆμα σιωπῆς BERGADIS, Apok. A 153, where ἐποῖκα would be equally acceptable metrically, and μὲ ἔποικεν (1480, Constantinople, LAMBROS 1908c: 1, 480.2). Examples occur from the beginning of the LMedG period in a large geographical area:

καὶ τώρα ἐποῖκε τὸν σταυρὸν GLYKAS, Stichoi 262 καὶ ἐποῖκες με ἐρημίτριαν Ptoch. I 147 τί ἐποῖκεν ὁ πατήρ σου Dig. E 264 τὴν ἀγορὰ τὴν ἐποῖκεν Assizes B 286.18 ἐποῖκες ὡς εὐγενικὴ Pol. Tr. 341 app. crit. (EV) τὸν ὄρκον τὸν μ' ἐποῖκες Katal. 24 σφακέλωμαν ἐποῖκεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1165 κι ἐποῖκε το μετὰ χαρᾶς FALIEROS, Thrinis 10; τὰ τόσα ποῦ σ' ἐποῖκαν ibid. 279 ὅπου μοῦ ἐποῖκετε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 48.30; δὲν ἐποῖκαμεν βεντέτταν ibid. 236.5
τὸ ποῖκεν Rim. kor. V 134 τὴν ἀντροπὴν, οὔτου τοῦ ἐποῖκαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 52.9 ἐποῖκαν MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 227 ὄλα ἐσὺ τὰ ποῖκες MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2667 μέ τιμή το ἔποϊκαν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 3060 καὶ πρόσωπον ἔποϊκασιν Thrinós Kypr. 63 ms τὰ λουτρικά τὰ μέ ἔποικες Ptoch. I 62 τί ἔποικεν ὁ παππούς σου Dig. E 254 ἄν ἔποικεν κανεῖς Spaneas Z 349 ἄτιμον πρᾶγμαν ἔποικεν Pol. Tr. 178; ἔποικες Pol. Tr. 341 app. crit. (AX) πατήρ μου πρᾶξιν ἔποικες εἰς κόρην Πλάτζια–Φλώρη Florios 1075 καὶ ἔποικεν τέτοιαν τέχνην Chron. Toc. 932 ἀνδραγαθίης τὰς ἔποικεν Velis. χ 121 διὰ τὸν φόνον ὅπου ἔποικες Achil. N 994 καὶ τὰς πονηρίας, ἃς ἔποικες Spanos D 1288 τρεῖς χρόνους ὁ ἡμέριος ἔποικεν στὴν σκλαβίαν Imb. Rim. 725 ἐγὼ τὸ ἔποικα (1509, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1950: 1, 144.15) ὁποῖος τὸ ἔποικεν MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 192 ἔποικε ἐξολόθρεμα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 20.3

Only one instance has been found of the stem ποιηκ- instead of ποικ-, but this one example is purely graphematic and should be read as ἔποϊκασιν: κ' ἐποιήκασιν οἱ δύο ὁμοῦ ἐκείνους τοὺς τρεῖς ἀφέντες Chron. Mor. H 7383.

Similarly, the verb ἀπολύω and its derivative ἐξαπολύω has an alternative aorist ἀπέλυκα for ἀπέλυσσα from at least the 15th c. in texts from various areas. Given its relatively late appearance, it can safely be excluded that residual perfect forms had any influence on this development:

ἀπέλυκεν ἡ λειτουργία (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 530); ἀπεδὰ ἀπέλυκαν (ibid. 1415) στά πταιίσματα σ' ἐπόλυκεν SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 21 καὶ ἀπέλυκες πιστάκια Spanos B 224 ἀφήκες, ἐξαπόλυκες, πανύμνητε, τὸν κόσμον; Alosis 145 ἦλθεν ἀετὸς μέγας ... καὶ ἀπόλυκεν αὐγὸν Diig. Alex. F 106.12 (Lolos) (same in E); καὶ ἀπόλυκέν τους ibid. 240.15–16 (Lolos) καὶ τους ἀπόλυκαν Diig. Alex. K 344.29–30; τὰ μαλλιά της ἀπόλυκεν ibid. 375.4 ἐπόλυκές τσι Stathis II.62 δὲν τὸ ξαπόλυκες Pist. voskos II 2.108 ἄξαπολῶ, [ἄξαπόλ]υσσα & [ἄξαπόλ]υκα GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. lasciare and ibid., 299 s.v. tralasciare ὁ Πιλάτος ... ἀπόλυκέν τους τον Βαραββάν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 15.15 τὸν πλάστην ἐξαπόλυκες KONAR., Paides 722 τὰ πλούτη ἐξαπόλυκες PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1025 παρευθὺς ἐξαπόλυκα ὅλα τὰ μοιρολόγια PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 246 καὶ τ' ἄλογά του ἐπόλυκε KORNAROS, Erot. III.1749

It is important to realize that for the verbs δίνω, ἀφήνω, θέτω, ποιῶ and ἀπολύω the κ-aorist formation exists alongside the sigmatic one and that the /k/ stem, with the notable exception of ἀφήνω and δίδω (see below), is normally restricted to the indicative.

Seeing that certain MG dialects make extensive use of the κ-aorist,⁶⁵ it is clear that the limited number of examples in LMedG and EMG sources of verbs other than the ones mentioned above are likely to be just the tip of the iceberg, as there is a lack of material from certain areas and because forms as idiomatic as these are usually avoided in writing. Almost all examples of these alternative κ-aorists in LMedG and EMG sources are in /oka/ (from verbs in -ωνω and others) and in /ika/ (from oxytone verbs and others), but note the form ἔπεκε (= ἔπεσε) (and below, among the subjunctives, πιάκεις):

⁶⁵ KONDOSOPOULOS (³2001: XXIII) mentions general appearance of κ-aorists in the modern dialects of the Peloponnese, Old Athenian, Epirus and Skyros, and less general in Tsakonia and S. Italy.

κι ἀπώθωκα τὴν διάταξιν στήν τήρησιν τῆς κούρτης Chron. Mor. H 7672 μέγαν γομάριν ἐμπλάκωκες Pol. Tr. 6037 app. crit. (A); τὰ ἔντερα τῶν ζώων ἀποθώκαν ibid.
 11797 app. crit. (A) εἰς τὸ σκολεῖον ἐκάθηκα DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1209 ὁ Πάρις μόνος ἐγλύτωκε Byz. Il. 426 εἰς τὴν μέσσην βαρῆκαν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XVI.489 (but read βάρηκαν for the sake of the metre) ἐξενίζονταν πῶς ἐγλύτωκαν MOREZINOS, Klini 31.35; ἐβάρηκε ibid. 86.38 ὅλα μοῦ τὰ ἐπλήρωκες Diig. Alex. F 120.15 (Konstantinopulos) ἔπεκε στάκτη ἓνα δάκτυλο εἰς ὅλην τὴν γῆν (1605–32, Preveza?, LAMBROS 1910: 241, 184.4) (= ἔπεσε) τὴν σήμερον ὁμολογήκαμε καὶ ὁμολογοῦμεν (1636, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 182.1) ἴντ' ἄχεις; ποιός σοῦ βάρηκε; CHORTATIS, Katz. III.50; γιὰ κείνο σοῦ βαρῆκα ibid. III.81 ἐβάρηκε τοῦ Ἰησοῦ P&N Diath. 3078 τότες δὲν τοῦ βαρῆκασι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 205.21; κι ὅλοι ὅπου γλυτώκανε ibid. 542.17 ἐπουλήκασι παιδία (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 36.30) καὶ δὲν τὸ ἐθάρηκασιν χάρισμα νὰ τοῦ δώσουν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 168 δὲ σώνει ὅπου μ' ἐγλύτωκε KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1397 ὅλοι, πτωχὴ ἀδελφή, σ' ἀπαρτήκαν | ὅλοι σ' ἀρνήθησαν κι' ἀλησμονῆκαν KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.437–8; ὀπὸμπήκαν | οἱ Τοῦρκοι εἰς αὐτὸ καὶ ἐπατήκαν ibid. II.14

2.2.1.10.2 Other Moods

From the 14th c. onwards, the /k/ stems of δίδω and ἀφήνω, but not θέτω,⁶⁶ are also used for the aorist subjunctive, the gerund, the infinitive and the imperative, mainly in texts from Epirus, the Heptanese, the Peloponnese, Chios and certain Cycladic islands, and only rarely in texts from Crete and Asia Minor:

μὴ δώκης δῶρα αὐθεντὸς Spaneas Z 238; καὶ δώκουν καὶ σκοτώσου σε ibid. 327 ἔλεγαν νὰ τὸ δώκουν Chron. Toc. 2472 ἔτι νὰ δώκη ἡ εἰρημένη Χρυσάννα (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 10, 18.20) (hapax) λιζάτον νὰ τοῦ δώκετε Diig. Alex. E 167.15 (Lolos) νὰ ἔχουν νὰ δώκουν (1549, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 51, 93.5); ἤθελε δώκει (1555, ibid. 177, 228.28) νὰν τοῦ δώκω (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 216.14) νὰ τοῦ δώκετε (1571, Mani, CHASIOTIS 1970: 5, 239.10); νὰ τοὺς δώκης (ibid. 240.18) καὶ νὰ του δώκη καὶ τὰ καστέλλια Chron. Tourk. Soult. 70.4
 ἔχεις τίποτις νὰ μοῦ δώκης; GERMANO, Grammar 71.25; παρὰδωκε id., Vocab. s.v. raccomandare (imp.)

⁶⁶ In Chios, however, an innovative present indicative with /k/ is attested, for which see 2.4.

νὰ παραδῶκουν VEST., Paid. Makkav. 470; νὰ προδῶκη ibid. 900; ὅσα σοῦ δώκω ibid. 1591 θέλω δώκω (1690, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 9, 23.24) ἔχομε νὰ δώκωμε (1694, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 204, 123.12)

τί λόγο θέλεις δώκεις Alfav. II 31; ἀπόκρισιν θὰ δώκης ibid. 32 τοῦ δώκουνε (1605 [late 17th–early 18th c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 512.8) ἤθελα τοὺς δώκω (1716, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 38, 140.7–8) νὰ ἀφήκουσιν τὸ πέραμα Chron. Mor. H 155; ἦτον ἀφήκοντα ibid. 4689 μὴ τὴν ἀπαφήκης Spaneas Z 171; μὴ τὰ ἐξαφήκης ibid. 421 νὰ μὲ ἀφήκης Pol. Tr. 414 app. crit. (EV); νὰ μηδὲν τὴν ἀφήκουν ibid. 2371 (mss ABV) εἶχεν ἀφήκει τὴν μητέρα του Diig. Alex. V 33.15; νὰ τὸ ἀφήκωμεν ibid. 56.26 τὸν Τοῦρκον ἂν ἀφήκετε Alosis 845 ν' ἀφήκης τὸ δοξάριν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 217 νὰ τοὺς ἀφήκη ζακόνια καλὰ Diig. Alex. F 188.10 (Lolos) καθὼς τοὺς εἶχεν ἀφήκει ὁ Νεκτεναβός Diig. Alex. K 349.23 δὲν ἔχω τὸ ποῦ ν' ἀφήκω τὰ παιδία σου (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.12) δὶα νὰ μὴν ἀφήκω σκάλα ἔτοιμη τοῦ ἀντροῦς μου (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 6, 33.30)

ν' ἀφήκη ἐσένα ὁ λωλός KONDAR., Paidēs 974

μὴν μ' ἀφήκης (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 25.4)

θὲ νὰ ῥήκουμε (1705, Symi, GEORGA-VOLONAKI 1974: 1, 204.16)

The /k/ stem of ἀπολύω is only sporadically used for moods other than the indicative: ὅταν ῥπολύκουν τὸ ἀρνί BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 300.19.

Other examples of the subjunctive formed from the /k/ stem are the following, found in the Epirot version of Spaneas and in a document, also from Epirus: ποσῶς μηδὲν γογγύκης Spaneas Z 338 app. crit. (<γογγύζω); νὰ τὸν πιάκης (17th c., Epirus, MERTZIOS 1936b: 13, 51.10).

2.2.2 Non-sigmatic

2.2.2.1 Nasal/liquid stems

2.2.2.1.1 Nasal Stems

Verbs in -άνω/-ύνω/-αίνω

Verbs in -άνω, -ύνω and -αίνω fall into three different categories where the formation of their perfective stems is concerned:

- 1) AG and post-classical verbs in -αίνω and -άνω that had perfective stems in -αν (e.g. πικραίνω, ὑγιαίνω) continue to do so before, throughout and after our period. The majority of newer verbs in -αίνω also form their perfective stems in -αν (e.g. ἀποθαίνω < ἀποθνήσκω, ἀνασπαίνω, βουβαίνω, ζεσταίνω, ὀλιγαίνω, τρελαίνω).
- 2) Verbs in -ύνω/-αίνω (e.g. ἀπαλαίνω < ἀπαλύνω, εὐρύνω, μολύνω, πλαταίνω < πλατύνω) retain their AG perfective stems in -υν; a number of newer verbs in -αίνω, derived mainly from adjectives (e.g. ἀσχημαίνω, θαμπαίνω, ψαραίνω), also form their perfective stems in -υν, most probably by analogy with the first, since both groups of verbs fall into the same semantic category, denoting a change of state, especially of outward appearance. In modern editions the /i/ in the perfective stem of the second group, the “new” verbs in -αίνω, is sometimes spelled with <η> or <ι> instead of <υ>

- 3) Verbs in -άνω/-αίνω that had thematic aorist formations in AG retain their thematic aorist stems, e.g. λαβαίνω (< λαμβάνω), λαβ-; λαθαίνω (< λανθάνω), λαθ-; λαχαίνω (< λαγχάνω), λαχ-; μαθαίνω (< μανθάνω), μαθ-; παθαίνω (< πανθάνω < πάσχω), παθ-; τυχαίνω (< τυγχάνω), τυχ-. For these verbs see 2.2.2.2.

Active Voice

ὕγιανε Pol. Tr. 6427 app. crit. (A) ἐνέσανα Spanos A 262 (ἀνασαίνω) ἀπόκρυσσε και ᾿χάθη Apoll. Rim. A 1457 (same in all versions) οὐδ' ἐλιγάνα FALIEROS, Thrinos 108 (3 pl.)
 ἀποκρύσαναν, ὡς γοιὸ νὰ εἶχαν τζακκιστεῖν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 344.1; τότες ἀναφάναν οἱ Σαρακηνοὶ ibid. 660.28 (ἀναφαίνω) καὶ κατάντανε Rim. kor. A 28 (κατανταίνω) κι ἔγιανέ με CHORTATIS, Katz. III.345 τὸ κορμί τση ἐκρύγιανε KORNAROS, Erot. V.560 ἐπατρατρέλλανέ με NEOFYTOS, Achouri 77 και πῶς τους απομώρυνες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1071 ἐπλουτύνετε Chron. Mor. H 5107 πολλὰ θέλει πλατύνει Pol. Tr. 197; πολλὰ ἀπομακρύναν ibid. 225 ἐγὼ ᾿μαι ὁποῦ σέ ἐνέθρεψα καὶ ἐκατεκάλλυνά σε Achil. N 1070 ὅτι πολλὰ ἀσχήμενε Spanos D 397 μετέπειτα ἀκρίβηνε τὸ ἀλεύρι (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 5, 18.4) ἐβράδυνεν, ἐνύκτωσεν [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 937 γι' αὐτὸ οὐκ ἐπληθύνασιν οἱ πόνοι οὐδ' ἐλιγάνα FALIEROS, Thrinos 108 θέλει παχύνειν Alosis 847 ἐφτωχήνασι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 53.22 ὅταν ἐβράδυνεν, ὑπῆγεν μὲ τὸ φουσάτον του Diig. Alex. E 131.2 (Lolos) σαν εἶδα κι εψαρήνασι κι ασπρίσα τα μαλλιά μου CHORTATIS, Panor. I.286 λαμπρύνετε τὰ ἄρματα σας Alex. Fyll. 40.20 ἤθελες μὲ πλουτίνει Bertoldos 61.9
 μιὰ τρίχα δὲν τ' ἀψάρινε Pist. voskos V.201 ὅτι ἀλάφρυνεν ὁλότελα τὸ φόρτωμάν του Vios Aisop. I 251.38

Passive Voice

Verbs in -αίνω that have a perfective active stem in -αν form their perfective passive stem either by adding -θ- to the active stem, or by substituting -θ- for -ν-. The choice of -νθ- or -θ- can usually be explained historically: AG and post-classical verbs in -αίνω that had perfective active stems in -αν and aorists in -άνθην (e.g. εὐφραίνω, ἀναφαίνω, πικραίνω, γλυκαίνω) continue to form their perfective passive stems in -ανθ; newer verbs in -αίνω with perfective active stems in -αν (e.g. τρελαίνω, βουβαίνω, ζεσταίνω) as a rule form their perfective passive stem in -αθ, although there is always room for variation, especially with verbs like πικραίνω, γλυκαίνω, which belong to the same semantic category as the newer verbs in -αίνω (“to become X”): ἐφάγασιν, εὐφράνθησαν Pol. Tr. 711 app. crit. (BEVX); οἱ πάντες ἐπικράνθησαν ibid. 12890 ἐκατεπικράνθη Liv. E 2597 καὶ τάχα ἐγλυκάνθη Liv. V 3898; but also: καὶ καταγλυκαθῇ ibid. 908; πάλιν νὰ εὐφρανθοῦμεν ibid. 3913; τοὺς ἐκατεπικράθηκα ibid. 4003 πολλὰ ἐπικράνθη Liv. α 1422 καὶ ποττὲ δὲν ἐγλυκάνθη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 620.16 ἡ γλῶσσα μου ἔξηράνθη Krasop. AO 42 νὰ γλυκαθῇ ἡ πικριά μου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 51 (γλυκανθῇ in V) πολλὰ το ἐπικράνθη DEFAR., Sos. 10 (Holton) πασάνας ἐπικράθη Alex. Rim. 1789 καὶ παρευθὺς ἐξηράνθη ἡ συκία KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 21.19; but also: ἐξεράθησαν

ibid. 13.6

As in previous stages of the language, verbs in -ύνω in principle add -θ- to the active stem in -ν; however, the nasal of the verb stem may be deleted before the fricative /θ/ (see I, 3.6.2.2):

μεγάλως τὸ ἐβαρύνθη Chron. Mor. H 2531 τόσον αὐξύνθη ὁ λαός Pol. Tr. 13429 αἰσχύνθη γοῦν ἡ ἔλαφος Diig. tetr. 416 ὁ λόγος ἐπλατύνθηκεν Chron. Toc. 1452 καὶ ἡ χώρα του ἐπληθύνθη Achil. N 84 ὥστε ὁποῦ ἐμεγαλύνθη SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 33 transcr. (Lendari) ἐπαχύνθη ἡ καρδιά τοῦ λαοῦ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 13.15 ἐὰν ἐμολύνθη, χαλοῦσι τὰ χαλούμια LANDOS, Geopon. 252.1 ἂν αὐξυνθῇ (1653–5, Venice, FONKIČ 2000: 240, f.1v.22) πῶς κατησχύνθη ο εχθρός IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 570 ἐβαθύθη Peri xen. 355 ἐδριμύθη Spanos B 88
 μὲν τὸ βαρυθῆς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 108.30 ἐπλατύθη Pol. Tr. 5867 app. crit. (V) (ἐπλατύνθη in BCX)

Stems in -ν or -μ

Active Voice

This category comprises verbs ending in -ίνω, -ένω and -έμω. As in previous stages of the language, verbs with an /e/ in their stem, such as νέμω, μένω and their compounds (the verbs γέμω and τρέμω do not have perfective stems), form their perfective stems by substituting /i/ for /e/. This /i/ is conventionally spelled <ει> for historical/etymological reasons, as it derives from an AG long [e:], the result of compensatory lengthening after deletion of the standard aoristic formant {s} in the adjacency of a nasal. Verbs in -ίνω, such as κρίνω and κλίνω, have identical imperfective and perfective stems. This group of verbs excludes former vowel-stem verbs in -νω (e.g. δένω), which have sigmatic perfective stems (see 2.2.1).

κοσμήτης οὐκ ἀπέμεινεν Ptoch. I 79 ἀνευ αργυρίου καὶ τιμῆς διένειμεν τον σίτον Diig. Apoll. 128 ὦδε μὲ περιμείνατε Velth. 280 ἐδιέμεινεν Ekth. Chron. 13.23 ἔμειναν εὐχарιστημένοι (1545, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 153, 100.10) καὶ ἀπόμειναν πολλὰ κοτέντοι (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 311, 296.26)

Imperfective nasal stems in -ν that derive from liquid stems in -λλ, such as βάνω <βάλλω, ἐβγάνω <ἐκβάλλω and Cretan σφάνω <σφάλλω, retain their perfective stems in -λ, for which see 2.2.2.1.2. For βάλλω see also 2.4.

Passive Voice

Verbs in -ίνω form the perfective passive stem by substituting -θ- for active -ν-, though occasionally (especially in Diig. Alex. F) a nasal is added before the fricative /θ/ (for which see 2.2.3; see also I, 3.5.2.4). Verbs in -μω (τρέμω, νέμω) tend not to have perfective passive morphology.⁶⁷

ἀφοῦ κλιθῆς καὶ μαρανθῆς GLYKAS, Stichoi 219 διὰ νὰ κριθοῦμε μετ' αὐτό Chron. Mor. H 7671 ἐκέϊνοι ἀνταπεκρίθησαν Achil. N 421 ἀπεκρίθηκα οὐχί (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 43, 75.18–19) καὶ μ' αὐτὴν ἐσυγκλίθη Alex. Rim. 171 θέλω νὰ ὑποκριθῶ, ἦγουν νὰ καμωθῶ μετὰ σέ Vios Aisop. K 177.1 νὰ συγκλιθεῖ, σαν πεθυμάς CHORTATIS, Panor. II.551 καὶ νὰ κατακριθεῖ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 8.31

2.2.2.1.2 Liquid Stems

Active Voice

Verbs with imperfective stems in -λλ or -λν retain their inherited perfective stems: verbs with /e/ in their stems, such as ἀνατέλλω, στέλλω/στέλνω, ἀγγέλλω/ἀγγέλνω and their compounds, substitute /i/ for /e/ in their perfective stems. This /i/ is conventionally spelled <ει> for historical/etymological reasons, as it derives from an AG long [e:], and is the result of compensatory lengthening after deletion of the aoristic formant {s} in the adjacency of a liquid. Verbs with /a/ in their stems, such as σφάλλω and ψάλλω have perfective stems in -αλ. Verbs with imperfective stems in -ρ, such as ἐγείρω/γέρνω, δέρω/δέρνω, σπείρω/σπέρνω, σύρω/σέρνω and φθείρω also retain their inherited perfective stems, which used to be identical to their imperfective stems, before the addition of /n/ to the latter. The verb φέρω/φέρνω, which had obtained a new aorist ἔφερα for AG ἤνεγκον in at least the EMedG period,⁶⁸ also belongs to this category.

ἀνάτειλες GLYKAS, Stichoi 200 ἐνέγγειλεν Jonas 214.28
 στήν Βενετίαν ἀπόστειλεν τὰ πλευτικά Chron. Mor. H 1396 ἀνέτειλεν ὁ ἥλιος Achil. L 1077 στείλε τον ἐδῶ (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.11–12); ὅ,τι ... ἐπαρεγγείλατε (1489, Constantinople, ibid. 19, 100.8) ἐπεστείλασιν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1240 ἤθελεν ἵξαποστείλει (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 16, 94.9–10) στείλε ὑψηλὴ γραφὴν (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.25) θὰ τσῆ στείλω CHORTATIS, Erof. II.15

⁶⁷ No passive examples have been found of νέμω, a verb that is generally rare in the examined texts. For a rare passive imperfect τρεμάμη in Falieros see 4.3.1.2.

⁶⁸ Perfective forms with φερ- can be found in the work of John Moschos (6th–7th c.), e.g. καὶ ἄλλους τινὰς ἔφερα πρὸς ὑμᾶς Moschos, Leimon 3004.4; φέρετέ μοι ᾧδε σκάφην μεγάλην ibid. 3057.39 (ed. Migne); cf. also the following innovative aorist participle: καὶ φέρας καὶ τὸν ἕτερον βούν Vios Philaret. 187 (9th c., 11th-c. ms).

ἐξαπόστειλεν (1601, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 31, 111.6) θέλω τοῦ παραγγεῖλει (1673, Sikinos, ZERLENDIS 1913a: 139.18) νὰ ψάλουσιν τὸν ταπεινὸν ξένον Imb. Rim. 781 ἥσφαλα (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 24.9) διὰ νὰ ψάλει ὁ κόρακας ἔχασε τό τυρί Bertoldos 72.35–6 θεὸ νὰ μὲ ψάλῃ (1678, Andros, POLEMIS 1977: 1, 29.9) δὲ θεὸ σφάλλω PETRITSIS, Dig. O 568 ἀνέγειρεν (1225, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 31, 450.17) σπεῖρε Pol. Tr. 574; νὰ βάλω νὰ σὲ σύρουν ibid. 1465 νὰ σύρω Dig. G II.196 ἐδιάγειρε Dig. E 202

 σύρε Spanos A 12
 νὰ γείρη Defl. Par. 21 ἔσυρες Cypr. Canz. 127.29 ὁπού ᾿χεν σπεῖρει (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 34, 40.4) καὶ ἔσυρε μία σοῖττα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.20 μῆτε ἔφθειρεν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.36 δὲ θεὸς γιαγειρεῖ Thysia Avr. 781 ποτε δὲν ἐγιαγειράμεν ὀπίσω VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 35.2 σύρτε MONTSEL., Evgena 527 εἶχεν δεῖρει PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §11.14 ἐπρόσφεράν με (14th c., Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1956: [4], 40.5) θέλω ἀναφέρει Ptochol. α 629

 ἔμαθα καὶ ἀνάφερα (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.2) εἶπαμεν, ἐνεφέραμεν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1266

Passive Voice

For the passive voice, too, the inherited perfective stems remain in use (e.g. ἀγγέλλω, ἀγγελθ-; στέλλω, σταλ-; σύρω/σέρνω, συρθ-; χαίρω, χαρ-), but for some verbs new formations appear from at least the 14th c. onwards, whereby the passive perfective stem is formed in a more regular fashion, by adding -θ to the old passive stem (e.g. σπεῖρω/σπέρνω, σπαρ-θ-; στέλλω/στέλνω, σταλ-θ-; ψάλλω, ψαλ-θ-). This -θ- only sporadically becomes -τ- (for details on chronology and geographical spread, see I, 3.8.1).

εἰς ἄλλον ἀπεστάλη GLYKAS, Stichoi 565 πρὸς μὲ σταλεῖς τὸν ἐλεεινὸν Ptoch. IV 129 ἀπεστάλην Liv. α 2024 app. crit. (N) ἐστάλησαν ὀπίσω [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 207 νὰ τὴν περιχαρῶσιν Pol. Tr. 280 ἐχαρήκετε Diig. Alex. F 22.20 (Konstantinopulos) ἐπαρηγγέλθηκεν Pol. Tr. 683 ἐφέρτην Assizes B 425.28 νὰ φερθοῦν οἱ ἄγιοι AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 228 ἐσύρθηκεν (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 59.35) νὰ γιαγερθοῦσιν (1663, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 6, 416.20–1) ἀπεστάλην Liv. S 805 (Lambert-van der Kolf) βαλθήκετε CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 226 app. crit. (B) καὶ νὰ θαπτῶ καὶ νὰ ψαλθῶ (1528, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 125, 228.9) ἐστάληκα KALLIOUR., Kaini Diath. Matth. 15.24; ἀπεστάλη ibid. Louk. 1.26 νὰ σπαρτοῦν Assizes B 407.26 ὄντε σπαρθοῦσι (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 311, 296.9–10) ἐδάρθηκα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §20.2

ἀπ' ὅ,τι σπαρθῇ (1660, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 29, 176.29)

ἐδάρθηκες, ὑβρίσθηκες NEOFYTOS, Achouri 246

For verbs in -άρω/-ίρω/-έρω, see 2.2.4.1; for ἐπαίρω and καθαίρω see 2.4.

2.2.2.2 Thematic Aorist

Verbs that had a thematic (or second) aorist in AG and that survive in the period covered by this Grammar usually retain their inherited perfective stem, e.g.:

βάλλω, βαλ-: καὶ ὑπεβγάλη με NIKON, Logos 9 315.32; βάλετε χέρι νὰ μιλήσετε (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 182.41) βλέπω, ἰδ- (in AG associated with ὁράω, the aorist attached itself to βλέπω on semantic grounds): εἶδαμεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 914; νὰ ἰδοῦσι (1663, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 1, 11.4) ἔρχομαι, ἔλθ- (and its phonetic variant ἔρθ-): ἦλθαν NIKON, Logos 4 206.9; διὰ νὰ ἔλθουσι (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 1, 25.5); ἦρθαν EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 30.1

εὐρίσκω, εὐρ-: δὲν ἤρρα (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.2); ἐὰν σᾶς ἦθελα εὐρεῖ Diig. Alex. F 204.16 (Lolos) λαβαίνω (< λαμβάνω), λαβ-: ἔλαβα μνηστρα (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 17.54–5); θέλεις νὰ λάβης VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 94 λαθαίνω (< λανθάνω), λαθ-: ἔλαθεν τὸν ἄγγελον GLYKAS, Stichoi 565; τὰ λόγια δὲν τῆς ἔλαθαν Fyll. gadar. 45 λαχαίνω (< λαγχάνω), λαχ-: ἦλαχα CHORTATSIS, Katz. III.4; εἶχες λάχει PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.36

λέγω, εἶπ-: νὰ εἶπῶ Achil. N 2; εἴπασιν νὰ κάμουσιν (1580, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 24, 161.15) μαθαίνω (< μανθάνω), μαθ-: ἐκατέμαθεν Dig. E 629; θέλετε μάθειν (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 101.9) παθαίνω (< πανθάνω < πάσχω), παθ-: θὲ νὰ πάθη MONTSEL., Evgena 42; ποὺ πάθαν BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 145.21 πίνω, πι-: νὰ φᾶν, νὰ πιοῦν Defi. Par. 208; ὅταν ἐπίασι νερό ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 2.2

πίπτω/πέφτω, πεσ-: νὰ ἔχης πέσει Pol. Tr. 3700; ἐπέσαν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 505 τρώγω, φαγ- (in AG connected with the verb ἐσθίω on semantic rather than morphological grounds, it later became associated with τρώγω): ἐφάγαν γιόμαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 44.25; φάγε GERMANO, Grammar 83.2

τυχαίνω (< τυγχάνω), τυχ-: ἀπότυχε (1541, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 11, 223.3); ἄ μοῦ τύχει θάνατος (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 36.3) φεύγω, φυγ-: ἐπροσέφυγα NIKON, Logos 4 206.22; ἐμέλλαν να φύγουν ANDONIOS, Vios Sym. Styl. 243–4.14, 1.

A few of these verbs move over to a regular sigmatic formation, among which most prefixed derivatives of ἄγω, ἄξ- (for AG ἀγαγ-; see also 2.4); the verbs ἔρωτῶ, ἔρωτησ- (AG ἔρ-, aor. ind. ἠρόμην); τρέχω, τρεξ- (AG δραμ-); λείπω, λειψ- (AG λιπ-); πείθω, πεισ- (AG πιθ-); and prefixed derivatives of -λαμπάνω (< λαμβάνω), for which see 2.2.1.5. For the alternative vowel stems and “contracted” forms of φάγω and ὑπάγω see also 2.2.2.3. For barytone and oxytone alternatives in the aorist subjunctive of some of these verbs see 4.2.3. For γίνομαι and its peculiarities, see 2.4.

2.2.2.3 Vowel Stems

Two of the verbs that retain the stem of their inherited thematic aorists, namely τρώγω (perfective stem φαγ-) and ὑπάγω/ὑπαγαίνω (perfective stem (ύ)παγ-) may lose their intervocalic /γ/ and exhibit forms in the aorist indicative (τρώγω only, e.g. ἔφα < ἔφαε), subjunctive, imperative and infinitive, in which the vowel of the ending, /e/, /i/, /o/ or /u/, is deleted after the /a/ of the stem, in accordance with the vowel hierarchy (see I, 2.9.2). It is difficult to establish when these forms came into existence, but at least the 2 sg. imperative ὕπα is attested from the 6th c. onwards.⁶⁹

νὰ κάτσωμεν νὰ φᾶμεν Ptoch. I 243

νὰ φᾶ τὴν πίτταν Vulgärorakel I.98; ἔφα τὸ μιὰρὸν ποντίκιν ibid. VI.1

νὰ μῆδε φᾶς Dig. E 662 νὰ φᾶν Assizes B 381.3

ἔφας GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 203

ὅπου ἔφας Poulol. 14; ὅπου ἔφα τὰ πουλία μου ibid. 393

νὰ φᾶν (1449, Chios, LAIΟΥ 1982: 4, 124.8)

ἔφα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 23; ἄν φᾶ ibid. 261 καὶ ἔφαν ... καὶ ὄνταν ἀπόφαν, ἔππεσεν ... καὶ ἐκοιμήθην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 6.22

που νὰ ᾽χε φα φαρμάκι Kakop. 115 (inf.)

ἔλα σὲ φᾶν οἱ σκύλοι CHORTATIS, Katz. III.142 διὰ νὰ φᾶ Diig. Alex. Sem. B 732 νὰ φάνε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 98.20 ἔφας, ἔφα ... ἐφᾶτε ... ἐφάσι GERMANO, Grammar 96.2–3 νὰ τὸ φάσινε (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 20.22)

ὕπατε, παραλάβετε Dig. E 174

ὕπα, ᾶς ἀνασάνωμεν Liv. V 2377

πᾶτε νὰ γλυτωθῇτε Anak. Konst. 34 ὕπα ... γυνή, εἰς ὁδὸν εἰρήνης SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 62 ὕπατε καὶ στολίσετε τὴν κόρην Flor. L 956 ὕπᾶ θέλεις εἰς τὸν καλόγερόν σου; (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1945–6) (infinitive) ὕπατε, θάψετε τὴν SACHLIKIS, Katalogi 97; νὰ πᾶ νὰ ταξιδεύση id., Afigisis 283 ὕπα, σηκώσου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 377 νὰ ὑπᾶσιν Achil. N 705; ᾶς ὑπᾶμεν ibid. 1335 νὰ πᾶνε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 362.32

νὰ πᾶσι (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 43, 191.21)

νὰ πᾶ ᾽ς τὴν Ἑρδελίαν MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 160 νὰ πὰ νὰ κυνηγήση MONTSEL., Evgena 101

νὰ πὰ νὰ πάρη FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.196 μέλλει νὰ πᾶνε (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 323, 523.4–5)

⁶⁹ The earliest examples found so far are: ὕπα Barsanuphius & John of Gaza, Letter 1, 31 and Letter 219, 15 (eds. Neyt/de Angelis-Noah) (6th c.); ὕπα μάθε τὴν κατάστασιν Satirical Songs IV 35.1 (ed. Maas) (song dated 26/11/602); ὕπα Leontios of Neapolis, Life of Symeon the Holy Fool 151.3, 161.20 and 165.8 (ed. Rydén); id., Life of John the Almsgiver 396.2, 385.11 and 392.27 (eds. Festugière/Rydén) (7th c.).

The imperative forms φά and φᾶτε appear in the later part of the period covered by this Grammar. Since the number of literary contexts in which a command “eat!” is likely to be issued is fairly limited, it is probably coincidental that the singular form has only been found in Cretan theatrical texts, especially when one considers the much wider geographical spread of the form for the 3 sg. aorist subjunctive: καὶ κάτσε φά το CHORTATISIS, Katz. IV.24; φά το Stathis III.251; φά τα Thysia Avr. 539; λέγει τους ὁ Ἰησοῦς: ἐλάτε φᾶτε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 21.12.

Forms without vowel deletion after the loss of the /y/ of the stem can sometimes be found:

γλυκὺν τὸ φαεῖν Paroim. I 34 (for such substantivized infinitives see II, 2.20) διὰ νὰ φάη (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 51, 90.15) σὲ θέλω φαεῖν Diig. Alex. F 64.8 (Konstantinopoulos) ἀνὲ καὶ φάης Stathis II.90 νὰ φάη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 143.21 ἐφαε τὸ φαρμάκι (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 3, 169.11) θέλειν ὑπάει Diig. Alex. F 186.5 (Lolos) ὄλα τως τὰ ψέματα θέλουσι πάει εἰς τὸ βυθὸ (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.38) νὰ ὑπάης (1571, Unknown, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 8, 481.7); νὰ μὴ πάης (ibid. 481.16); νὰ πάω εἰς τὸ Λεβάντην (ibid. 481.18–19)

κ' ἦτονε παωμένοι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 148.20 (< παγωμένοι/παγομένοι)

Forms of these verbs are often written in full, and are sometimes even written with the intervocalic /y/, while in reality they are “contracted”. Verse texts are the best witnesses to this practice. The following examples should clearly be read in such a way in order for the verse to scan:

νὰ ὑπάγη νὰ ἰδῇ τὸ θαύμασμα Pol. Tr. 597 app. crit. (AX); νὰ ὑπάγουν νὰ τὴν ζητήσουν ibid.

1337 app. crit. (X); καλὰ τυχαίνει τοῦ νὰ ὑπάγης μετ' ἐκείνους ἀπάρτι ibid 5094 app. crit.

(X); τὴν θλίψιν σου καὶ τὴν χολὴν τὴν λέγεις ὅτι ἔκαμά σου ibid. 5622 app. crit. (X) σὰν πάει στὸ πρόσωπό του Thysia Avr. 371

For the shortened form πὰ, used for all persons singular and plural, see 2.4.

2.2.3 Addition of /s/ and /n/

Oxytone verbs that normally have perfective passive stems in -θ can develop alternative stems in -σθ/-στ, with an added /s/, on the analogy of barytone verbs in -ζω, which have perfective passive stems in -σθ/-στ, as many verbs have both barytone and oxytone variants (see 2.1.3) (a similar development can be observed in passive participles, for which see 2.3.2). When the passive stem vowel is /i/, some modern editors choose to spell these forms with  rather than <η>, even when variants in -ίζω are not attested (e.g. *ἀρνίζομαι):

συμφωνισθείσης (1113–14, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 8, 76.17) ἐμαντατοφορήστησαν Chron. Mor. H 306; ἐσυμπαθήστησαν ibid. 2719 ὡς λέων ἐβρυχίσθηκεν Dig. E 304 ὅταν ἐξαπορισθῇς Diig. tetr. 287; οὐδὲ καυχίσθηκά τα ibid. 472

νὰ ἀρνιστῇς τὴν δόξα σου Achil. L 208 καὶ λέγουν ὅτι ἀρνήστης με Katal. 276 ἐφθονίστην ὁ τόπος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 80.30 μηδὲν ἀποθαρριστῆς Fior 78.2

 κ' ἢ θάλασσ' ἐβρουχίστην BERGADIS, Apok. A 346 (same in Apok. V) ἐστορίστη (1559, Lesvos, KLEOMVROTOS 1970: 23, 163.3) (< ἱστορῶ) ποτὲ νὰ μὴν μὲ ἀρνησθῇ Dig. A 2575 ὅς τους Τούρκους εχυμήστηκεν PALAMIDIS, Ist. Mich. Voev. 294 καὶ ὁ Πέτρος τὸν ἀρνήσθη KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 22.57 γιὰτ' ἐρνήστην τὴν θρησκεία PETRITSIS, Dig. O 561; ἀρνίστηκες τὴν πίστιν σου ibid. 1030 νὰ το αρνισθεῖ Don Kis. 608.7

Sometimes the existence of these forms can lead to the development of new barytone present stems, even of deponent verbs such as βρυχώμαι (> βρυχίζω/βρυχίζομαι). The same phenomenon can occasionally affect barytone verbs as well:

οὐ μὴ μαχεσθῶ αὐτὰ ποτέ app. crit. (1346–7, Smyrna?, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 256.34) (< μαχέζομαι < μάχομαι) εὐχίσθηκά σου Dig. E 251 πολλὰ τὸν εὐχίστην Achil. L 1205 ἵνα σὲ εὐχισθῇ Spanos B 157 καὶ ἀφότου μᾶς εὐχίστηκεν BERGADIS, Apok. A 323 ἐμαχίστηκε KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.88 σηκώστηκεν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 317 and 344, but also: σηκώθην ibid. 336

Occasionally a nasal is inserted before the fricative /θ/ of the perfective passive stem. In the case of verbs such as αὐξάνω and κρίνω and its derivatives, the nasal is added by analogy with the active stem, whereas in the case of the oxytone verbs (ἐξαπορῶ, βοηθῶ, etc.), the analogy is secondary, to nasal-stem verbs (for phonetic addition of nasals see I, 3.5.2.4):

καὶ ὅταν ἐξαπορινθῇς Diig. tetr. 790 app. crit. (C) (ἐξαπορῶ) τάχα νὰ παραβοσκηθῇ Synax. gadar. 7 τὸ πῶς νὰ ἐβοηθήνην Pol. Tr. 8144 app. crit. (A); καλὰ δὲ ἐβοηθήνησαν ibid. 8147 app. crit. (A) (βοηθῶ) καὶ αὐτοὶ τὸν ἀποκρίνησαν Diig. Alex. F 32.3–4 (Lolos); ἐδοκῆνην ibid. 100.8 and 280.15 (Lolos), and 136.12 and 188.10 (Konstantinopulos) (δοκῶ); ὡς λέων ἐβρυχήνην ibid. 128.4 (Lolos) (βρυχώμαι) καὶ αὐτὸς τοὺς ἀπεκρίνην Diig. Alex. E 173.3 (Konstantinopulos) (ἀποκρίνομαι) αὐξήνην ἢ τέχνη τῶν λουμπαρδάρων (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.18)

2.2.4 Adaptation of Loanwords

2.2.4.1 -άρω/-ίρω/-έρω

2.2.4.1.1 Imperfective Stem

Loanwords from Romance languages in -άρω, -ίρω and -έρω, which at first do not show any distinction between the imperfective and the perfective stem, develop an alternative imperfective stem through the addition of -ιζ- (modelled on the alternative aorist stems in -αρισ/-ιρισ/-ερισ (see below). This alternative imperfective stem is used from at least the early 16th c. onwards. Forms without this added affix also continue to be in use:

σατισφάροντας τὸ Μόρα (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 48.52) (< Ven. satisfār) προμετέρω (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 46.87) (< Ven. promèter) ἐμπλεγρόμασταν (1546–51, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 26, 64.22–3) νὰ σοτοσκριβέρης (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 141, 141.7–8); νὰ ποσεδέρωμεν (ibid. 272, 268.16–17) (< Ven. sotoscriver and posseder) ἀβιζάροντάς τονε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 1, 79.24) (< Ven. avisār) νὰ σοῦ τὸν ἐσπριμέρω Stathis III.209 (< Ven. esprimer) ἐφουντάρανε καμπόσα ξύλα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 83.3 (< Ital. fondare) ἐλετζέρουντα ... οἱ ... πρωτοπαπάδες τους (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.6) (< Ven. eleggier)
 καὶ σάλια ροζονάρεις FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.110 (< Ven. resonār) νὰ τοὺς μαντινιέρομε καὶ ἀτούς (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.19) (< Ven. mantegnir) καὶ προμετάρω σου VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.24 (< Ven. promèter) δὲν ρισολβέρει νὰ ἔλθῃ ἐδῶ (1715, Corfu, LIATA 1975: 22, 136.11); κορέρει ρεάλια 14½ ἢ βαρέλα (1715, Zakynthos, ibid. 26, 137.5) (< Ven. rissolver and corer) ὀμπλιγαρίζομαι (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 46.87) (< Ven. obligār) ἐρεστάριζα (1527, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 60, 90.4) (< Ven. restār) ἐσονάριζες CHORTATIS, Katz. II.162 (< Ven. sonār) ἐσκοδέριζεν (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 662, 576.11) (< Ven. scuoder) ἐτεντέριζε (1649, Crete, PANOPOULOU 2003: 1, 145.17) (ἀτενδέρω < Ven. atender) σολατσάριζε ὀλίγην ὥραν LANDOS Geopon. 182.19 (< Ital. sollazzare) μὲ ἐξαμινάριζε FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.357 (< Ven. esaminār) τὴν ἐμαντινιέριζεν (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 51, 203.20) (< Ven. mantegnir) ὀμπλιγαρίζόμεσταν νὰ τῶν τὰ δώσωμε (1697, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 12, 27.9) (imperf.)
 ἐφεουδάριζε Chron. Theod. 21.15 (< Lat./Ital. feudare) καὶ ἐγοβερνάριζε τὰ ἄλογά του (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 179.4) (< Ven. governār) τὸν ἐτραδίριζε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 48.6 (< Ital. tradire)

In Cretan documents, verbs in -έρω, most notably σκο(υ)δέρω, may acquire an added nasal in the imperfective stem, possibly by analogy with other verbs in -(ἐ)ρνω such as σέρνω (< σύρω) and φέρνω (< φέρω) (see 2.1.1.1.5):

νὰ σκουδέρνουν (1522, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 65, 122.31); ἐχέτω τὴν ἐξουσίαν
 ... δεφενδέρειν, σκουδέρνειν (1524, ibid. 89, 169.34) σκοδέρνουνται (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 280, 262.14) νὰ σκοδέρνεται ἀπὸ μένα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 122, 120.13); ἐκεῖνα νὰ σκοδέρνεις ἀπὸ μένα (ibid. 243, 241.9) νὰ τὰ σκοδέρνει (1601, Crete, SIAKOTOS 2006: 1, 191.1) νὰ τὰ σκοδέρνω (1614, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 1, 331.24) σκοδέρνουνται (1624, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2000: 2, 516.21)

Again in texts from Crete verbs in -άρω or -ίρω may acquire a new affix -έρνω: τέτοια συχινὰ συγέρνουσι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 289 (< σιγίρω < Ital. seguire);⁷⁰ κι ὁ Τοῦρκος ἀμολέρνει BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 157.17 (< Ven. amollàr); καὶ σταλέρνου ibid. 323.19 (< Ven. stalàr).

⁷⁰ The etymology given by Kriaras in the glossary to his edition of Katsaitis and by MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 430 (σιγίρω < seguire) makes perfect sense and does not justify the “hellenized” spelling συγέρνω, νὰ συγείρω or νὰ συγύρω that is usually adopted in modern editions. See also the following spelling of the verb, which is even closer to the Italian original: οποιὺ ἤθελοι σεγβήρη / ὁποιὺ ἤθελε σεγβίρει (1634, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 5, 270.23–4). For the rendering of the phoneme /g/ by <γ>, cf. ἀντίγα (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 662, 576.4–5) for Ven. antiga.

2.2.4.1.2 Perfective Stem

From about the 15th c. onwards, loans from Romance languages in -άρω/-ίρω/-έρω begin to develop alternative perfective stems in -αρῖσ/-ιρῖσ/-ερῖσ (and sporadically -ουρῖσ in verbs deriving from Venetian verbs in -dùr). Throughout the EMG period perfective forms with -αρ/-ιρ/-ερ are also found.

νὰ τὸν στουδιάρης (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 171.24) (< Ital. studiare) νὰ σοτοσκριβέρης (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 141, 141.7–8) (< Ven. sotoscriver); νὰ ἰντραβινίρης (ibid. 199, 199.9) (< Ven. intravegnir) νὰ πῶ καὶ ριμάρω LIMEN., Than. Rod. 184 transcr. (Lendari) (< Occit. rimar, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.)

ἐτότες τοῦ ἤθελα ρεσποντάρει (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.32) (< Ven. responder) μὴν μανκάρης νὰ μοῦ γράψεις (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 2, 361.5) (< Ven. mancàr) νὰ τὸ ρεῖστράρω (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 84, 89.2) (< Ven. registràr) ἐπέμφθη νὰ σπιγιουνάρει Bertoldos 46.15 (< Ven. spionàr) νὰ φουρκίσουν ἢ νὰ στραγκουλάρουν Bertoldin. 110.16 (< Ven. strangolàr) τὸ ἐπίλοιπο ... νὰν τὸ ἱνβαστίρη (1660, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 2, 116.25) (< Ven. investir) καὶ νὰ τσι κονσολάρω (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 1, 25.4) (< Ven. consolàr) κι ἀμολάρασι στὰ κάτεργα μιὰ μπάλα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 214.4; ἐξεβαρκάρα τὸ λαὸ ibid. 312.3 (3 pl.) (< Ven. amollàr and ξε- + imbarcàr) σιγουράρετέ τον KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 27.65 (< Ven. sicurar) νὰ κουμουδάρω (1696, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 4 [Δ], 256.14) (< Ital. accomodare) δὸ τση νὰ γείρη κι ὅ,τι σιγίρη PAPADOPOLI, L' Occio 120.4–5 (< Ital. seguire) ἐκουντονάρισεν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 39, 169.4) (< Ven. condonàr) ἐδεσφάρισέ μας (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 172.31–2) (< Ven. desfàr) ὁμπρὸς παρὰ νὰ συγύρει τίποτες ἄλλο KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 377.27–8 ρετσιβίρισα τὴ γραφή σου (1573, Ancona, CATALDI PALAU 2000: 2, 387.3) (author from Corfu) (< Ven. ricever) ἐσιγίρισαν ἀνάμεσόν τους (1590, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 15, 125.5–6) μὰ ἐκιαρίσισά τονε καὶ ἔγώ (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 3, 169.11) (< Ven. chiarir) κοπιάρισα τὸ παρὸν τεσταμέντο (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 9, 313.79) (< Ital. copiare)

ἢ Σοῦδα ἀμολάρισε λουμπάρδες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 419.1 (< Ven. amollàr) τὴν ἔσασσινάρισεν καὶ αὐτὴ (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 181.63–4) (< Ven. assassinàr) κι ἐστὶ ἀτσετάρισε FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.385; καπίρισε τοῦτο ἀποῦ ἀναρωτῶ σου ibid. V.233 (< Ven. acetàr and capir) τοῦ ἐπουμπλικάρισα τὴ διαθήκη του (1692, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 2A, 162.3–4) (< Ven. publicàr) σέ παρακαλῶ, σιγουράρισέ μι (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.16–17) (μι = με, see I, 2.5.4) (< Ven. sicuràr)

2.2.4.1.3 Passive Voice

For the formation of the passive the alternative perfective stem in -αρισ/-ιρισ/-ερισ is used, to which is added the aorist passive marker -θ-, usually in its dissimilated form -τ- (for which see I, 3.8.1):

- ἐκοπιαρίστη (1516–29, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 155, 204.22) (< Ven. copiàr) καθώς ἐγὼ ᾧδε ἔτεσταρίστηκα (1526, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 112, 206.24) (< Ven. testàr) νὰ ἀποσατισφάριστει (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 119, 214.29–30) (< Ven. sodisfarse) ποτὲ νὰ μὴν μοῦ λεμενταρίστης (1549, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 300, 298.7) (< Ven. lamentarse) νὰ κουσομαρίστη (1553, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 131, 181.45) (< Ven. consumàr) μηδὲ ν' ἀλιεναριστοῦν (1576, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 79, 98.21) (< Ital. alienare) ὀμπλιγαρίστη (1594, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 21, 143.27) (< Ven. obligàr) δεν εκοτενταρίστηκεν ο θεῖος Παῦλος MOREZINOS, Logos 468.13 (< Ven. contentàr) νὰ ζαμιναριστοῦσι (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 180.50) (< Ven. esaminàr) νὰ σιγουραρίστη (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 314, 299.8); νὰ κομονταρίστη κιαμία του δουλειά (1607, ibid. 431, 396.3) (< Ven. sicuràr and accomodàr) νὰ ξεϊντριγαριστῶ (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 2, 361.7) (ξε- + Ven. intrigàr) ἐρεντουριστήκασι (1630, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 3, 335.8) (< Ven. redür) ἀποφάσισαν νὰ ξεμπαρκαρισθοῦν Bertoldin. 114.24 (ξε- + Ven. imbarcàr) νὰ σιγουραρισθεῖ ὁ τάφος KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 27.64 νὰ μπαρκαριστοῦσι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 352.10 ἐσταμπιλιριστήκανε (1682, Kefalonia, Moschopoulos 1976: 139, f.214r.14) (< Ven. stabilir) ἐκουτενταρίστηκα (1689, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 21, 55.12) (< Ven. contentàr) διὰ νὰ δοτοραρισθοῦσιν (1693, Corfu, TSITSAS 1978/79: 208.119) (< Ven. dotoràr) σὰν ἐξηβαρκαρίστησαν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 209

2.2.4.2 -ιάζω

Loanwords from Occitan/French are usually adapted to -ιάζω, regardless of their original French ending (see MENARDOS 1900: 376–8; DENDIAS 1924: 142–50; CHATZIOANNOU 1936: 19–20; DAVY/PANAYOTOU 2000: 118–19):

- ὡς γοῖο ἀπαρτενιάζει (1468, Alyki, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 15, 10.4) (< Occit. apartiner) ἄν κορδιάζουν τὰ δύο εἰς λόγους (15th c., Cyprus?, TSANGALAS 1983: 132.21–2) (< Occit. accordar); ἐπροβιάστην πολλές φορές (ibid. 132.23) (< Occit. prover) νὰ τὸν ἀτενιάσουν μὲ τοιοῦτες μαρτυρίας Assizes A 98.22 (< Occit. ataindre); νὰ μεντιάση ibid. 181.9 (< Occit. amendar) ἀσιγγιάσομεν τῆς γῆς καὶ τῆς θαλάσσου Chron. Mor. P 2702 (< OFr. asseggiare) διὰ ν' ἀβαντζιάσει ὁ ἄτυχος καθαλλάρης ὀνομίσματα φ' MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 524.14 (< Occit. avançar); καὶ νᾶμαι σκουζιασμένος ibid. 380.5 (< Occit. escusar) εἶχεν πέφειν ἡ ρήγαινα τὸν Πατὴ Σαλάχαν, διὰ νὰ βιτουαλιάσει τὴν Κερυνείαν VOUSTR. Chron. A 280.4 (< Occit. vitualhar) τόσα σκληρὴν ἀν εἶχα σ' ἀγκατιάσει Cypr. Canz. 86.15 (< Occit. agaitar) οί βερτούς ἀλεγκριάζουν τὴν καρδιάν Fior 78.16 (< Occit. alegrar); φερμιάζεται ibid. 78.22 (< Occit. fermar); νά παρτιτσιπιάση ibid. 78.36 (< Occit. participar); κουρουμπιάζεται ibid. 79.42 (< Occit. courroumpre); ἐκουμπατιάζασιν ibid. 93.6 (< Occit. coumbatre) καὶ ἤξευρε μοναῦτα εἰς τὰ δεσάστρε σου νά κονμφορτιαστῆς Fior Suppl. 269.8 (< Occit. confortar); ἡ ἀβεντούρα ἀμπαντουνιάζει συχνές φορές ibid. 272.31 (< Occit. abandonar) ἀγιτιάζουνται καὶ εὐεργετοῦνται Pist. kekoim. 220 (< Occit. ajudar or Ital. aiutare) νά κουσεντιάση KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 764 (< Occit. counsentrir)

2.2.4.3 -ίζω

Loanwords from Turkish are adapted to Greek morphology by adding -ίζω, as they are usually derived from the perfective past tense of the Turkish verb ending in <ι> (e.g. dayandı < dayanmak).⁷¹ Sometimes -ίζω is used for loanwords from Romance languages that are not directly derived from verbs:

ἐδιαγουμίσετέ την Pol. Tr. 1369 app. crit. (A) (15th-c. ms) (< διαγουμάς < Turk. yağma) νά τὸν γιβεντίση ἔξω τῆς χώρας με δίκαιον Assizes A 186.17 (< Occit. (noun) gibet) πάραυτα τὸν ἐσουνέτισαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §9.14 (< Turk. sünnet + -ίζω); ἄδεν τὴν ὠλάστιζεν, δὲν ἐγίνονταν ibid. I §17.4 (< Turk. ulaşmak); πάλε τὰ καζαντίζεις ibid. IV §1.4 (< Turk. kazanmak) ἐπεξέριζαν ὅσο νά τὸ ποτίσουν (1676, Ioannina, VAKATSAS 1992: 4, 154.4–5) (< Turk. bezmek) ἀπὸ τὸν σευδὰ αὐτόνε βασιγιστίζω Diig. Vefa 282 (< Turk. vazgeçmek) καὶ μέσα νά γερλετιστούν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 764 (< Turk. yerleşmek + -ίζω); οἱ Τούρκοι σάστισαν ibid. 4783 (< Turk. şasmak); μερεμετίσθησαν ibid. 6259 (< μερεμέτι + -ίζω < Turk. meremmet) ἐβουρλουδίζουτου Bertoldin. 146.4–5 (< βούρδουλος + -ίζω < Ven. (noun) bordòn/Ital.
bordone) νά γκλομπίζιται (1692?, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 26, f.56r.2) (< Rom. (noun) gloabă) εγλένδιζαν ενθυμούμενοι τες αγαπητικές τους Don Kis. 48.6 (< Turk. eğlenmek)

2.2.4.4 Other

The verbal affix -εύω is the oldest way to adapt loanwords, as it appears with several common verbs of Latin origin such as ἀππλικεύω, μισεύω, κουρσεύω (see PSALTES 1913: 316–21). In the period covered by this Grammar it is sometimes used to adapt Occitan, Venetian and Turkish verbs:

ἐκούστεψεν Assizes B 424.13 (< Occit. coustar) ὅταν ἐδῶ ἀππλικεύσαμεν Pol. Tr. 190 (< Lat. applicare) ἂν ἐτραίτουρεύτηκα τὸν μέγα βασιλέα LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 500 (< Ven. tradir with influence from the noun traituria) ὀπλιγύεται (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 41, 52.14–15) (< Ven. obligàr) ἔχομε κουρσεμένον (1571, Mani, CHASIOTIS 1970: 6.1, 241.18) (< κοῦρσος + -εύω < Lat. cursus)

⁷¹ See the comprehensive glossary to Ioakeim Kyprios in Kaplanis 2012 and the extensive notes to Papasynadinos in KARANASTASIS 2010: 223–97 for multiple examples.

ἀνὲ μισεύση (1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.26) (< Lat. missa + -εύω) ἐφοβᾶτο μήπως καὶ τραϊτορεύεται τον (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III–V, 506.25.6–7)
 ἔρχεται καὶ κονεύει PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1176 (< Turk. konmak)

Sometimes loanwords are assimilated to Greek morphology in a different way, by association with existing Greek words, which do not necessarily have any semantic correlation with the verb that is being adapted, as in the case of Ven. apartegnir/Ital. appartenere, which becomes morphologically associated with παρθένος: ἀπαρθενεύω, ἀπαρθενίζω:

ὅσα τοῦ ἀπαρθενίζουν (1444, Peloponnese, LAMBROS 1930: [3], 18.2) βραβεῖον ... ὅπου ἀπαρθενεύει εἰς τὸν Φιλόσοφον (1478, Lefkada, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 16, 260.4–5); ἀπαρθενεύουν (ibid. 260.14) τῶρα παραλαμβάνει τον ἄλλος ποῦ παρθενίζει Alex. Rim. 1279 πλερωμὴν ὅπου τοὺς ἐπαρθενεὺε νὰ λάβουν SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 58.36 τὸ μερτικὸ ποῦ τοῦ ἀπαρθενίζει (1682, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 1, 160.15–16) εἶντα μ' ἀπαρθενίζουσι KATSAITIS, Ifig. IV.221 μῆτε τοὺς ἐπαρθενεὺαν SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 53.17

2.3 Participles

2.3.1 The Present Passive Participle

The present passive participle continues to be in use throughout the period covered by this Grammar.⁷² As in earlier stages of the language, in the period covered by this Grammar present passive participles in -μενος can be formed from verbs that can be passivized and from deponent verbs such as γίνομαι, ἔρχομαι, δέομαι, λυποῦμαι, στέκομαι, φοβοῦμαι and χαίρομαι. It can be used adverbially, especially with deponent verbs, in which case the participle functions similarly to the gerund, e.g. ὁ στρατηγὸς χαιρόμενος ὑπὰ εἰς τὰ γονικά του Dig. E 1085; ἐντρεπόμενοι νὰ φανερωθοῦν Vios Aisop. K 159.18; but in the majority of cases, the participle functions as an adjective or noun: κ' εἰς τὸν ἐρχόμενον καιρόν Chron. Mor. H 584; ἔστεκαν οἱ παραστεκόμενοι Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1211.

In LMedG and EMG the participle is not restricted to passivizable and deponent verbs. Examples have been found of participles in -μενος derived from verbs that otherwise lack passive morphology, such as for instance ἀπομένω, ξεύρω, παγαίνω/πηγαίνω, πλέω,⁷³ πρέπει, τρέμω, τρέχω and χηρεύω (for variation in thematic vowels see below in this section). In the majority of these cases the participle is in fact used with active, not passive meaning (see also CHATZIDAKIS 1928: 643):

ἀν ἐγὼ ... οὐδὲν τὸν παιδεύσω πρεπούμενως (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 272.12)
 εἰς τοὺς τόπους τοὺς πρεπάμενους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 364.4–5; με ἀφέντην ξευράμενον ibid. 374.25; παγαινόμενος id., Chron. O 38.1–2

⁷² Cf. SMG, where its use is mainly restricted to deponent verbs (e.g. ἐρχόμενος, φοβούμενος) and certain lexicalized items used as nouns or adjectives, e.g. τὸ κείμενο, τρεμάμενος, τρεχούμενος, καλοδεχούμενος.

⁷³ Only one other passive form of πλέω has been found in the texts examined: νὰ πλευτοῦν Velis. χ 249 app. crit. (N).

τὴν γλώσσαν του τὴν τρεχάμενην Fior Suppl. 276.19 σὰν ποταμὸς τρεχάμενος Pist. kekoim. 596 πηγαινάμενη ἡ χήρα DAM. STOUΔ., This., Logos 8, 85v.22 (1561) παγαινάμενος (1572, Peloponnese, VEIS 1956: 448.12) πηγαινάμενοι Vios Aisop. D 217.20–1 πᾶσα φύλλον | τρεμούμενον Pist. voskos IV 2.26–7; μὲ καρδιὰν τρεμάμενην ibid. V 7.40 τοὺς ἀπομενάμενους Thrinios Konst. (Zoras) 20 καὶ ἦτον χηρευάμενος PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §17.5; πηγαινάμενοι εἰς τὴν ἐξουρίαν ibid. I §31.182 πηγαινάμενοι (1670, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 2, 577.18) ἡ γλῶσσα μ' εἴ τρεμάμενη PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 99 πρεπάμενα κτίσματα καὶ ἱερὰ ἀγγεῖα RODINOS, Vios Ign. 64.8 δὲν ἐχωρούσασιν στὰ πλεούμενα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 17.16 τρεχούμενα νερά KATSAITIS, Ifig. Dedic. 81

Moreover, forms in -μενος occur of verbs that can be passivized, but the participle clearly has active meaning. This is probably related to the fact that the active participles (ἀλέθων, κατοικῶν etc.) had developed into invariable gerunds (ἀλέθοντα(ς), κατοικῶντα(ς) etc., see 4.7.1), which cannot be used attributively, only predicatively. These verbs include ἀλέθω, ἀρέσ(κ)ω, κατέχω, κατοικῶ, κλαίω, περιπατῶ:

τὸν [μύλον] τὸν ἀλεθούμενον (1500, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 5, 6.5) μακάριος μοναχὸς κατοικοῦμενος εἰς τοὺς ἀγίους πάντας (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 16, 30.53) κλαιάμενες, μὲ φαίνεται Theseid II.26,4 (1529) κρασὶ μέτρα στ', ἤγουν ἔξι ἀρεσκούμενα (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 257.37) ὁ δὲ Αἴσωπος, περιβλεπόμενος ἐδῶ καὶ ἐκεῖ Vios Aisop. D 213.12⁷⁴ τὰ καλὰ τοὺς, στεκοῦμενα καὶ περιπατούμενα (1574, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 15, 141.19) νὰ παίρνη τόσο ὑποστατικὸ ἀρεσοῦμένό της (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 114.70) ἐκεῖνοι οἱ κατεχάμενοι ἔφοροί μας KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.620.

The participle χρειάζομενος, derived from the deponent verb χρειάζομαι “to need”, on the other hand, is usually used with its passive meaning “needed, necessary, necessity”:⁷⁵ χρειάζομενο μαντάτο FALIEROS, Thrinios 238; τὰ χρειάζομενα τοῦ πολέμου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 120.17; καὶ τὰ ἄλλα ὅσα τοὺς ἦσαν χρειάζομενα RODINOS, Vios Ign. 64.8–9; ὅλα τὰ χρειάζομενα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 369.6. It is rarely used with the verb’s deponent meaning “in need”: τοὺς πτωχοὺς καὶ χρειάζομενους RODINOS, Vios Ign. 66.19.

As the above examples demonstrate, the participle shows variation and innovation in the choice of thematic vowel. For barytone verbs the thematic vowel can be /o/, /u/ or /a/, and there is considerable variation and little rhyme or reason to it. The variation in thematic vowels precedes the period covered by this Grammar by many centuries, starting with the aorist participle; see e.g. PSALTES 1913: 211 for forms such as γενάμενος and ὀφειλάμενος ⁷⁴ This form is an innovative adaptation of the middle aorist, preserved in version K of the Life of Aesop: αὐτὸς περιβλεψάμενος τὴν μίαν μερέαν Vios Aisop. K 153.21.

⁷⁵ Cf. the use of SMG χρειάζομαι “I need” and 3 sg. and pl. χρειάζεται/χρειάζονται “it/they are needed, necessary”.

(for γενόμενος and ὀφειλόμενος) in Malalas (6th c.) and other Byzantine authors, and for further bibliography.

For oxytone verbs the thematic vowel is /u/ (originally that of E- and O-stem verbs), and only sporadically /o/ (originally that of A-stem verbs). Certain verbs in this category show innovation in the formation of a new barytone stem used to form the participle. In the period covered by this Grammar, the participle is sometimes derived from the perfective stem rather than the imperfective stem (see CHATZIDAKIS 1928: 643–5 and see below), or even from other parts of speech. For the declension of these participles and the historical shift of the stress in certain forms see II, 3.2.1. For adverbs derived from participles see II, 4.2.1 and 4.2.2.

2.3.1.1 Barytone Verbs

For barytone verbs the thematic vowel is inherited /o/, /u/ (originally that of oxytone E- and O-stem verbs) or /a/ (originally that of the middle aorist). Variants often occur side by side in the same text: πετόμενα, μικρὰ τε καὶ μεγάλα DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1554; πετούμενον δρεπάνι ibid. 2526; ἐκ τὰ πετάμενα πουλῖα ibid. 2616. There is no distinct geographical distribution to be detected, though texts from Cyprus display a slight preference for /a/, employing it where others do not (e.g. πρεπάμενος “fitting”, “suitable”; ξευράμενος “capable”, “familiar”; χρηζάμενος “useful”).

Thematic Vowel /o/

- ἐκ τὰς συκοφαντίας ... τὰς γινομένας παρὰ τοῦ ἀντικειμένου διαβόλου ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.25–6 βιαζόμενοι νὰ ἔβγουν Chron. Mor. H 4423 ἐγένετο ὁ ἐνάγων ἐναγόμενος Paroim. F 72 ὡς λέων ὠρυόμενος Dig. E 352 νὰ σὲ ἰδῶ ἐρχόμενον Achil. O 140 πουλάκιον φυλακίζόμενον Katal. 699 οἱ καθεζόμενοι ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 490.24; ἐπονομαζόμενον Μάγκκανα id., Chron. O 682.26 τὰ λεγόμενα στάμενα (1529, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 114, 225.17) ὑποσχόμενος νὰ τόνε διαφεντάρει (1573, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 1, 20.14–15); οὔτε ὑπὸ τινὸς βιαζόμενη (1581, ibid. 13, 27.4) οὔλα του τὰ καλὰ πρεζέντε καὶ ἐρχόμενα (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 795, 691.21–2) ὁ εὐρισκόμενος παντοῦ Thysia Avr. 722 φυλαττόμενα τὰ δικαιώματά τους (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 70, 80.13) τους καθεζομένους ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΡ., Kaini Diath. Matth. 14.9; διαλογιζόμενοι ὅλοι μέσα τους ibid. Louk. 3.15 ἕνας χωριότης ὀνομαζόμενος Μπερτόλδος Bertoldos 4.28–9; μὴν σκιαζόμενος ὥσάν ἑμέναν ibid. 61.24 ἐρχόμενοι ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 16.6; γονατιστὰ καὶ δεόμενος ibid. 26.17

Thematic Vowel /u/

- ἐνι πετούμενα Assizes B 451.9
 πετούμενα, συρνάμενα ΧΟΥΜΝΟΣ, Kosmog. 22 τοῦ λεγόμενου κυρ-Κωνσταντῇ (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 53.19) κραζομένου Δοξαρά (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 5, 25.22–3) εὐχαλούμενον (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 6, 16.25) τὸν κρᾶζοῦμενον Βαρσαβᾶν SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 18.56–7 τὰ καλὰ τοὺς, στεκοῦμενα καὶ περιπατούμενα (1574, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 15, 141.19); εὐρισκούμενος αὐτὸς ὁ σερ-Νικολός (1577, ibid. 21, 155.4); εἰς τὸν ἐρχοῦμενον καιρὸν (1593,

ibid. 55, 77.11)
 κρᾶζοῦμενοι καὶ παρακαλετοὶ μάρτυρες (1600, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 96, 128.15); διὰ κανένα καιρὸν ἐρχοῦμενον (1606, ibid. 84a, 115.7–8) καθοῦμενος ἀπάνω εἰς τοῦτον τὸν θρόνον Bertoldos 9.27–8 Μελλοῦμενον οἱ γλῶσσες ἄς μὲ λέσι TROILOS, Rodol. Prol. Mell. 103 νὰ βρῇ γαμπρό ἀρεσκούμενον FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.291 σ' ἀφτούμενες φωτιᾶς KONDAR., Paidēs 29 ἦτον χρειαζούμενο (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 506.6)

Thematic Vowel /a/

νὰ ἔνι πολλὰ χαϊράμενος Chron. Mor. H 8280 δερνάμενη ἐκείνη Pol. Tr. 6686 ἀποστερνάμενοι Liv. V 2691 (< ἀποστέλλω, see I, 3.8.6.2) ἵνα χέξης ὀρθοστεκάμενος Spanos B 107 τὸν ἐρχάμενον τρύγον (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 1, 150.5) τετράποδα, συννάμενα CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 241; τὴν στράταν παγαϊνάμενοι ibid. 2465 ἐντεχάμενον ἔνι νὰ ... Assizes A 83.16 (< ἐνδέχεται) στὰ φερνάμενα FALIEROS, Ist. On. 12; ἀφείτις ἔν' μελλάμενο id., Erot. En. 64 τοὺς τόπους τοὺς χρηζάμενους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 364.9–10; μὲ ἀφέντην ξευράμενον ibid.
 374.25; ὡς χρέος ἀγωνιζάμενον ibid. 436.15 κί' ὁ νοῦς μου ὁ φοβιζάμενος CHORTATSI, Katz. I.10; στρατηγοὶ πεμπάμενοι id., Erof. Interm.
 II tit.
 καὶ παίδευσε πρεπάμενα τὲς ε' αἰσθησες (17th c.?, Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 401.1) ἐρχάμενη (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 37, 55.37) τὴν πρεπάμενην παρηγορίαν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 66.4–5; οἱ πεμπάμενοι τοποτηρητάδες ibid.
 104.33
 καὶ τὸν ἐδέχθηκε χαϊράμενος KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 19.6
 πέρδικα πετάμενη PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1483

The participle is sometimes derived from the perfective rather than the imperfective stem, or even from other parts of speech:

ἐδιάβη πασαεῖς εἰς τὸν τόπον τοῦ χαρούμενοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 94.3 (< perf. stem χαρ-, probably with influence from the noun χαρά) μὲ χαρούμενην ψυχὴν Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 39 κ' ἐγὼ πάντα ἔμαι μοναχός, κλαμούμενος Cypr. Canz. 97.21 (< κλαίω + κλαμός/κλάμαν (KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. κλαίω); no evidence has been found for the existence of a verb κλαυθῶ/κλαθμῶ/κλαμῶ, but influence from Occit. clamar se may be suspected; see HONNORAT, Lex.
 s.v.)
 τοὺς ἀπομονάμενους Thrinos Konst. (P-K) 20 app. crit. (< ἀπομένω + ἀπομονή) ἀποκριζάμενος ὁ Καλοϊωάννης (1646, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 331, 251.9) (ἀποκρίνομαι + ἀπόκριση > new stem in -ιζ; cf. oxytone verbs below)

2.3.1.2 Oxytone Verbs

For oxytone verbs the thematic vowel is inherited /u/ (originally that of oxytone E- and O-stem verbs); /o/ (originally that of A-stem verbs) is rare and limited to mixed-register texts:

Thematic Vowel /u/

τὸν βάδον τὸν περνούμενον τῆς δημοσίας (1007, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 1, 135.26) (“the crossable ford of the main road”) οὐδὲ δακρύων ὀχετὸν κινούμενον εἰς μάτην GLYKAS, Stichoi 512 λέγοντα καὶ ἄρνούμενοι Chron. Mor. H 5691 ὁ ρήγας ἐνὶ κρατούμενος Assizes B 464.22 ἤμπασιν θαρρούμενοι Achil. L 1086 ὁ σταυρὸς ὁ Φανερούμενος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 38.9; ἐκόψαν τὲς κεφαλὰδες τοὺς κάτωθεν δηλούμενους ibid. 402.27 (for this genitive see II, 1.2) πῶς καὶ διατὶ λέγεται βουλκόλας τὸ ὀγκούμενον σῶμα (16th c., Serres?, LAMBROS 1904a: 343.17) ὅσο ἐνε ἠμπορούμενον Theseid VI.31,2 (Olsen) ἦτον κι ἄλλος λυπούμενος Alex. Rim. 2717 τ’ ἀγαπούμενον DEFAR., Log. did. 377 τὰ καλὰ τους, στεκούμενα καὶ περιπατούμενα (1574, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 15, 141.19) διὰ τί ἀφορμὴν εἶσαι, ὦ αὐθέντη, στενοχωρούμενος Vios Aisop. D 233.13 τὴν φθαρτὴν καὶ χαλουμένην φύσιν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 32.13–14 διηγούμενος Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 39 ἐγλένδισαν ἐνθυμούμενοι τες ἀγαπητικές τους Don Kis. 48.6

Thematic Vowel /o/

ὁ ἐγκαλόμενος Assizes A 54.17; ὁ νικώμενος ἐκείνου τοῦ ἐγκλήματος ibid. 127.12 των πλανωμένων καβαλιέρων Don Kis. 47.11

For some oxytone verbs a new barytone stem is formed, derived from the actual perfective stem (μπορεσ- > μπορεζ-) or by adding -ιζ- (μποριζ-, πονιζ-), based on the dominant perfective stem in -ησ (ἐρώτησα > ἐρωτιζ-). The thematic vowel is /a/ or, less frequently, /o/. Examples come from insular areas and the Peloponnese:

πῶς ἔναι μπορεζάμενο FALIEROS, Thrinis 40 δὲν ἔναι μπορεζάμενον CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2766 ἔνι πονιζάμενη ἡ καρδιά μου Fior 125.34–5 (< πονῶ)
 ἀποὺ πονιζάμενες ἐννοῖες Fior Suppl. 269.3
 νὰ εἶνε ἄρωτιζάμενος (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 215, 130.22) φοβιζάμενος τὸ κοινὸν ποτήριον (1583, Karpathos, ZERLENDIS 1918d: A, 298.8) δὲν εἶναι μπορεζάμενο CHORTATIS, Katz. III.233 νὰ εἶναι ἐρωτιζάμενοι (1611, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 4, 651.22) (< ἐρωτῶ) ρωτιζάμενη (1665, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 3, 116.8); ἄρωτιζάμενος (1672, ibid. IV, 118.9) μὲ τέτοιο μπορεζάμενο στρατιώτη TROILOS, Rodol. III.498 πλούσους καὶ μπορεζάμενους FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 42 δὲν ἦτον μποριζάμενον Thrinis Kypr. 901 φοβιζάμενος κατάραν τῆς μητρός του PETRITSIS, Dig. O 887 φοβιζάμενος ὁ λαὸς SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 50.14 κ’ ἐκείνη φοβιζόμενη Chron. Mor. H 6055 ἂν ἦτον μπορεζόμενον Peri xen. 23 app. crit. (A) κι ἂν ἐνε μποριζόμενον KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VII.210 πᾶσαν εὐχαρίστησιν ἠμπορεζόμενην SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 38.36

2.3.2 The “Perfect” Passive Participle

After the decline and eventual disappearance of the monolectic perfect, existing perfect passive participles remained in use to form verbal periphrases (see Chapter 5), and as adjectives, usually in unreduplicated form. Loss of reduplication can be observed in Hellenistic times, when the reduplication is first replaced by an augment, and later suppressed altogether (see e.g. DIETERICH 1898: 214–16). Of course, augmented and reduplicated participles can be found in the period covered by this Grammar (see 4.9.3).

However, the awareness clearly remained that the affix -μένος could be used to form a verbal adjective with a passive perfect meaning, and hence new ways to form “perfect” passive participles were found (see also CHATZIDAKIS 1928: 637–43). They were generally derived from the perfective passive (aorist) stem (THUMB 1912: 148–50) by dropping -θ/-τ and adding -μένος. This principle was applied to inherited verbs as well as to new verbs: whenever verbs formed alternative stems by transferring from one paradigm to another, or from one perfective stem to another, the participle usually followed suit, e.g. καλῶ, κεκλημένος : *ἐκαλέσθην*⁷⁶ > καλεσμένος; παρακαλέσμενοι (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 71, 71.58); λανθάνω, λελησμένος : ἐλανθάσθην > λανθασμένος; κ’ εὐρέθης λανθασμένος Chron. Mor. H 8422; κρατῶ, (κε)κρατημένος : κρατίζω, κρατισμένος; ἀποῦ εἶχα κρατισμένο (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 50.90); πλανῶ, (πε)πλανημένος : πλανέσω > πλανεμένος; ἦτονε στὸν ἔρωταν τοῦ πόθου πλανεμένη Rim. kor. (V) 39 (Pernot); τιμωρῶ, (τε)τιμωρημένος : τιμωρίζω, τιμωρισμένος; τιμωρισμένος GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. tormentato.

Similarly, new irregular participles were formed, e.g. σὰν ἔχομε ἴπωμένο CHORTATSIS, Katz. I.332: a new participle εἰπωμένος derived from the perfective passive stem εἰπωθ- (to replace AG εἰρημένος); νὰ εἶνεν καλὰ βλεπτημένος (1483, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 2, 41.11); νὰ στέκει βλεπτημένη CHORTATSIS, Erof. V.234, formed from the innovative aorist passive stem βλεπτηθ- (for which see also 2.4); τίβοτας δὲν εἶχα φαγωμένα CHORTATSIS, Katz. III.67; τίς ἔχει καὶ τόσα ἄσπρα φαγωμένα (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 58.6), formed from the perfective stem φαγωθ- attached to τρώ(γ)ω. Participles could also be supplied for loanwords in -άρω, -ίρω and -έρω, formed from the alternative perfective stem in -ριστ (see 2.2.4.1): ὅλα φαριὰ διαλεκτά, ὅλα προβαρισμένα Achil. L 371 (< Ital. provare); ὅ,τι εἶνιε σιγυρισμένα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 48, 46.20) (< Ital. seguire); ἔχει σκουδερισμένα (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 388.29) (< Ven. scuoder); ἀπρεπαρarisμένου FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 717 (< Ven. preparàr).

Passive participles were likewise formed for verbs that did not previously have them, especially when these verbs acquired new meanings, e.g. περασμένος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.3 from περνῶ, περασ-θ-;⁷⁷ τῆς μαυρογελασμένης Alosis 195, from γελῶ, γελασ-θ-.⁷⁸

Even verbs that lacked a passive voice could obtain a participle/adjective in -μένος, usually with active meaning. Morphologically they were either modelled on existing ones, e.g.

⁷⁶ A participle κεκαλεσμένη has been recorded in the Souda Lexicon (10th c.), s.v. κλητή.

⁷⁷ περασθῆναι for περαθῆναι occurs in the 12th-c. Basilica, Ecloga Basilicorum; see the online TLG.

⁷⁸ Cf. οἶον γεγελασμένοι εἰσὶν in Choiroboskos, Commentary on the Canons of Theodosius, 195.19 (9th c.).

ἀρρωστημένους Chron. Mor. H 1541 by analogy with participles such as ἡγαπημένος,⁷⁹ or formed from the (usually perfective) active stem by adding -μένος, e.g. πεινασμένος from πεινῶ, πεινασ-: ὡς φάλκονες πεινασμένοι Achil. L 384; πεσμένος from πέφτω, πεσ-: στήν πόρτα τῆς πεσμένος CHORTATISIS, Katz. III.527; καβαλλικευμένος from καβαλλικεύω: καβαλλικευμένοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 279.41; μαθημένος from μαθάνω/μαθαίνω (with an added /i/, for which see below): ἔνι μαθημένος νὰ πολομᾷ κακόν Fior 121.5; πιωμένος from πίνω, πι-: πιωμένος GERMANO, Grammar 85.10; πταισμένος (“guilty”) from πταίω, πταισ-: εἴμεσθεν πταισμένοι Thrinios Kypr. 89 (see MANOLESSOU 2005: 251–2 for an overview and further bibliography).

In texts from Crete one finds παγομένος/παγωμένος from the perfective stem (ύ)παγ- “(having) gone”; ἐρθομένος/ἐρθωμένος from ἐρθ- (< ἐρχομαι “(having) come”; (ἐ)μπορεμένος from (ἐ)μπορῶ, (ἐ)μπορεσ- “possible, powerful”; and παθομένος/παθωμένος (< παθαίνω “(having) suffered”):

ἦτονε πρωτύτερας παγομένος (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 392, 364.10) ἀνίσως καὶ ἐγὼ δὲ θέλω ὅσται παγομένη (1644, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 3, 229.71) ἦτονε στήν Ρώμην παγωμένος ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 578 ἔ μας ἐδῶ ἐρθομένους Pist. voskos V 5.193 εἶστε ἐδεπὰ ἐρθωμένοι FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 134 ἂν ἦτον μπορεμένο CHORTATISIS, Erof. I.431 περίσση ἐμπορεμένος Stathis Prol. 14 ὁποῦ τοῦ ἦτονε μπορεμένο (1609, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 612, 536.4) νὰ κάμω τ’ ἀνημπόρετα σήμερο μπορεμένα Thysia Avr. 92 σὲ τέτοια εὐγενικότατη καὶ μπορεμένη χώρα TROILOS, Rodol. III.344 νικητῆς ἐμπῆκε μπορεμένος Zinon II.275 εἶχεν παθωμένα VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 136.39 πόσα ἔχω παθωμένα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 459.13 εἰς τὰ ἔχω παθωμένα KORNAROS, Erot. II.154

As many participles in -μένος were formed from stems ending in /s/, sometimes an /s/ is added to forms that did not originally have them, e.g.: φορεσμένοι Pol. Tr. 249 app. crit. (E) (φορεμένοι in all other mss); συνδεσμένοι ibid. 9196 app. crit. (X) (συ(ν)δεμένοι in all other mss) καὶ ἐγὼ χασμένος νὰ ἴσταμαι Liv. α 351 for χαμένος (< χαωμένος) πολλὰ ἀθυμισμένος KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VI.50 ἔνι μαθισμένες Fior 124.36 κυρ-Καλογιάννη Μαθισμένου (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 254, 150.10–11) for μαθημένος; ὡς γοιόν νὰ ἦτον φοφισμένη ibid. 121.30 σοῦ εἶχεν δοσμένον (1546, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 1, 41.7), now the SMG form, for δομένος (< δεδομένος) συμφωνησμένοι (1570, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 4, 22.18) ἔχω ἀφησμένο (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 60.20)

⁷⁹ Cf. ἡρρωστημένης in Eustathios of Thessaloniki, Capture of Thessaloniki 3.2 (12th c.).

τους είχεν ακόμ' εκεί ἔπου τότες αφησμένους PALAMIDIS, Ist. Mich. Voev. 1218, for ἀφημένος⁸⁰ τὸ ἔμισό λιόφυτο ἀποῦ εἶχα κρατησμένο (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 50.90) (καρύδια ...) μασισμένα LANDOS, Geopon. 216.13 εὐρίσκονταν πολιορκησμένοι (1697 [18th-c. copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B I/13, f.165 r.10–11)

In the following examples /s/ replaces the velar /ɣ/ of the original form: τῶν σφασμένων Irodis I.25; φωνασμένοι Thrinos Kypr. 148.⁸¹

Other participles undergo spontaneous/analogical diphthongization (see I, 2.4.8.1 for details), e.g. ἀναπατημένος (for ἀναπα(υ)μένος; aor. pass. ἀνεπαύτην or ἀνεπάτην): ἤμουν ἀναπατημένος Anon. Naupl. 5; καμημένος (for κα(υ)μένος, aor. pass. ἐκαύτην or ἐκάτην): καμημένος ὥς δι' ἀγάπη Liv. E 9. These in their turn may influence similar verbs such as κλαίω: κλαμημένος for κλα(υ)μένος (aor. pass. ἐκλαύτην, not *ἐκλάτην): τὰ μάτια της κλαμημένα KORNAOS, Erot. V.728; or θεραπεύω, which has a regional variant θαρραπαύω: θαρραπατημένος βρίσκομαι Stathis III.350. Sporadically, they even influence dissimilar verbs such as χάνω, χαμένος: τὴν εἶχα χαμημένη (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.31).

Some verbs whose stem ends in a consonant develop alternatives with an added thematic vowel /o/ or /i/, e.g. πεσομένος for πεσμένος, πληξημένος for πληγμένος: τὸν φράκτη ὁποῦ ἔναι πεσομένος (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 20, 75.110–11); πεσομένοι Pist. voskos I 3.57 app. crit.; γέροντες μὲ τὰ βρέφη πεσωμένοι KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.312; τοῦ πληξημένου Fior 99.24.

Finally, the participle/adjective is sometimes derived from the present stem instead of the aorist stem:

ἰστελμένον (1350–1?, Athos?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 130, 45.24) σε ἕναν κάστρον ... στελμένους PALAMIDIS, Ist. Mich. Voev. 1217 ἔνα χαρτί, στελμένο ἀπὸ τὸ Νησί τῆς Ζακύνθου Chron. Theod. 20.6 εἶναι ἀποστελιμένο (1644, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 296, 233.6) στελμένοι (1673, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1918b: 4, 221.8) ριχνημένους GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. buttato νὰ τὸ ἔχει φερνημένο (1674, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 4, 176.9–10)

For the declension of these participles, see II, 3.2.1; for the use of these participles in periphrastic verb forms, see 5.3, 5.4, 5.5 and 5.6.3.

2.4 Peculiarities in Single Verbs

This section deals with stem peculiarities and variations that occur in single verbs. Prefixed verbs are treated at the main verb (e.g. συνάγω under ἄγω), unless the verb shows a different development (e.g. ὑπάγω).

⁸⁰ The passive perfective stem of ἀφήνω is not very common in the period covered by this Grammar, but in vernacular texts it is ἀφήθ- rather than SMG ἀφεθ-, which is a reinvention of katharevousa: καὶ οὕτως ἀφήθη ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 90.4; ἀφήθηκαν εἰς τὸ τρέξιμον Alex. Fyll. 13.27; εἶτι ἄρα τοῦ ἔχω ἀφημένα (1521, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 62, 116.21); νὰ τοὺς εἶναι ἀφημένες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 398.29.

⁸¹ Cf. “participia φωνασμένους, non φωναγμένους, et φωνασμένα” ROMANOS, Grammar 110.8–9.

ἄγω

The verb ἄγω does not survive as an independent verb in the period covered by this Grammar, at least not in vernacular texts.⁸² It only left behind a lexicalized imperative ἄγωμε(ν) (sometimes spelled ἄγομε(ν)), originally the 1st pl. subjunctive (“let us go!”), which came to be interpreted as a 2nd sg. imperative (“go!”) (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 111). This subjunctive form had undergone a remarkable semantic change from transitive “bring, carry”, to intransitive “go” in the Hellenistic period, with multiple examples in the New Testament (see the online TLG), probably with influence from ἄγε (see LSJ) and ὑπάγω (for which see below). In the period covered by this Grammar, the imperative ἄγωμε is usually intransitive (“go!”), though there are several examples in which it retains its old transitive meaning. The majority of examples comes from literary texts, which is unsurprising, as direct speech is rare in most non-literary sources:

- agome / ἄγωμε (14th c., Yemen, GOLDEN 2000: 64.27)
 ἄγωμε εἰς τὸ πηγάδιν Ptoch. IV 301 app. crit. (HV) κι ἄγωμε εἰς τὸν τόπον σου Chron. Mor. H 3787 ἄγωμε εἰς τὴν Μαξιμοῦ Dig. E 1352 ἄγωμε καὶ εἰπέ τον Liv. V 1392 ἄγωμε στὴν μητέρα σου Achil. L 783 ἄγωμε εἰς τὸν φόρον (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1089) ἄγωμε, βάλε, κηπουρέ, νερό [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1626 λέγει μου: ἄγωμε εἰς τὸ χωρίον SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 105 transcr. (Lendari) ἄγωμε εἰς τὰ μέρη τῆς Τουρκίας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 158.34 ἄγωμε καὶ κατήβα Spanos A 224 ἄγωμε, στρώσε γλήγορα το βρομερό κρεβάτι Kakop. 100 ἄγωμε, γιε μου, στο καλό CHORTATSI, Panor. I.399 ἄγομε, νοικοκύρη μου Thysia Avr. 397

Addition of final /n/ is rare (cf. other imperatives, 4.5): ἄγωμεν Pol. Tr. 469 app. crit. (B) and 2392 app. crit. (V); κ' εἰς το παλάτιν ἄγομεν Apoll. Rim. N 386.

A corresponding plural is formed by adding the 2nd pl. ending -τε. A second accent is placed on the penultimate, and the first accent is often omitted:

- καὶ ἀπέκει ἄγωμέτε τα τὸν Διγενὴν Ἀκρίτην Dig. E 525 (transitive) ἄγωμέτε Achil. L 1045 app. crit. λέγει ἄγωμέτε καλῶς SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 99 transcr. P (Lendari) ἐκεῖ ἄγωμέτε Pol. Tr. 12398 app. crit. (CV)

Forms that are stressed as ἀγώμετε are editorial (e.g. ἀγώμετε, ἀδέλφια μου Achil. L 1045), introduced to accommodate the metre in verse texts.

A syncopated form ἄμε,⁸³ occurs from the 14th c. onwards:

⁸² Isolated examples can be found in texts that belong to a higher stylistic register, e.g. ἄγωμεν εἰς τὰ κάστρα σου, συνάξωμεν φουσάτον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 982.

⁸³ The form ἄμες in Sathas's edition of Stathis: μὰ ἄμες τὴν προξενήτρα μου νὰ βρῆς (I.49) is likely to be a simple writing mistake in ms V, triggered by the word order of the sentence. The app. crit. of the Martini edition offers ἄμε στην and she corrects to ἄμε τὴν.

κι ἄμε μὲ τὴν εὐχίτσα μου Chron. Mor. H 1388 ἄλλον φαγὶ ἄμε νὰ εὔρης Pol. Tr. 3433 ἄμε, περισωρεύθητι Dig. E 1280 καὶ ἄμε εἰς ἀναζήτησιν τῆς κόρης τῆς Ροδάμνης Liv. V 621 ἄμε καὶ σύ, ψυχούλα μου Velth. 1193 θέλεις ἄμε, θέλεις ἔλα Fior 102.35 ἄμε, παιδάκι, τὸ λοιπόν Alex. Rim. 691 ἄμε GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. partirsi; portalo là ἄμε τὸ ἐκεῖ ibid. s.v. portalo qua (transitive) μόν' ἄμε, μὴν ἀργοπορῆς KONDAR., Paides 137

The corresponding plural is ἄμετε or ἄμέτε; the second appears to be more common than the first:

ἄμετέ μας ἐκέισε Chron. Mor. H 5310 (ἄμετέ ms) ἄμετε λοιπόν εἰς τὴν δουλείαν σας Bertoldos 41.30 ἄμετε τὸ λοιπόν Irodis I.46 ἄμετε ἕνας ἀπὸ ἐσᾶς SOU MAKIS, Rebelio 57.1 ἄμέτε τον εἰς τὸ λουτρόν Arm. 187 καὶ ἄμέτε, τὰ παιδία μου Liv. V 2772 ἄμέτε ἀναπαυθῆτε Byz. Il. 276 καὶ ἄμέτε νὰ τὸν εὔρεῖτε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 332.1 ἄμέτε ἰδέτε ὁλλίγον Pist. kekoim. 71 κι ἀμέτε νὰ καυκάστε CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.401 ἄμέτε ἐσεῖς Pist. voskos I 1.1
 ἄμέτε τοῦ τα (1681, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 566, 792.17) (transitive) κι ἄμέτε σὲ παραχωστό KORNAROS, Erot. I.514

In texts from Chios, addition of final /n/ is encountered, as well as a form ἄμέστε(ν), for which there is no good explanation, though it is certainly not formed on the analogy of imperatives such as πέστε (KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ἄγωμε(ν)), which postdate the EMG period (see 4.5.2.4; and cf. ἐλάστε < ἔρχομαι, see below): κι ἄμέτεν ἔδ᾿, διαβήτηνε KONDAR., Paides 1112; ἄμέστ' ἀρπάξετέ την PETRITSIS, Dig. O 185; ἄμέστεν εἰς τὰ σπῆτια σας ibid. 1422; ἄμέστεν, φύγετ' ἀπὸ ἔδῳ KONDAR., Paides 8; ἄμέστεν ibid. 757.

Prefixed derivatives of ἄγω include verbs such as ἀνάγω, διάγω, συνάγω and others. Some of these verbs, notably διάγω and συνάγω, develop alternative imperfective stems in -ζ: πλῆθος συνάζεται πολὺ Liv. V 2109; νὰ διάζεις τὰ διάζω Thysia Avr. 560; νὰ τοῦ συνάζει τὸ ἴσος (1697, Chios, TSELIKAS 2000: 99, 77.10).

These verbs tend to form their perfective stem regularly (active: -αξ-; passive -αχθ-/ -αχτ-), rather than through the old extended stem -αγαγ-:

τὸ πῶς νὰ θέλουν διάξει Chron. Mor. H 3010 τὸ τί καὶ πῶς νὰ διάξωσιν Pol. Tr. 2364 νὰ συναχθοῦν Diig. tetr. 94 ὅλα ἐπισυνάξέ τα Liv. S 2044 (Lambert-van der Kolf) νὰ ἔχη περισυνάξει Chron. Mor. P 1291 καὶ τοὺς Ρωμαίους τοὺς κατηφεῖς ν' ἀνάξω, νὰ ὑψηλώσω PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 139 τὴ νύκτα πῶς ἐδιάξασιν KORNAROS, Erot. V.1498

For ὑπάγω, which shows different developments, see below.

ἀναπαύω

The prefixed verb ἀναπαύω has an alternative imperfective stem in -ευ(γ) throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, in texts from both northern and south-western areas (cf. θεραπτεύω, which has an alternative perfective stem θαρραπαισ-/θαραπαψ-, see below):

- ἡνεπευόμην ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.13 app. crit. (S) ἀναπεύονται Chron. Mor. H 2634 νὰ ἀναπεύεσσουν Pol. Tr. 3425 app. crit. (B); ἀναπεύετον ibid. 4333 app. crit. (V) ἀναπεύομέστε FALIEROS, Thrinus 298 νὰ μποῦσιν ν' ἀναπεύονται ΣΚΛΑΒΟΣ, Symf. 272 κάθεστε, ἀναπεύετε Alex. Rim. 809 ἀναπεύεστέν Theseid I.1,2 (Follieri) ἀναπέυστον ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 188.40 ἐμορφα τ' ἀναπεύει ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 57.4 ἀναπεύεσαι Diig. Alex. F 94.4 (Konstantinopulos) ἀναπεύου Diig. Alex. K 373.17 ἀναπεύου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 139.23 ἀναπεύεσθε ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΡ., Kaini Diath. Matth. 26.45 ἀναπεύετο ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. I.2171; κι ἀναπεύουν το ibid. IV.709

ἀπαντῶ

In texts of the 16th and 17th c. from Crete the verb ἀπαντῶ and its prefixed derivatives can form an alternative barytone stem in -ηχν, based on their perfective stem in -ηξ (see 2.2.1.9.2). Other oxytone verbs that have alternative perfective stems in -ηξ (e.g. ἐρωτῶ, ζητῶ, κρατῶ) do not appear to follow this pattern:

- ὁποῖος τον ἀπαντήχνηι Apoll. Rim. V 739 (same in all versions) τοῦ ἀπαντήχνηι ὁ δαίμων ΜΟΡΕΖΙΝΟΣ, Klini 170.20 ἐσυναπάντηχνα CHORTATSI, Panor. III.538 ἀπαντήχνασι ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. II.642; συνἀπαντήχνουσι ibid. II. 1398 μ' ἀπαντήχνηι Pist. voskos IV 2.67 ἀπαντήχνοντάς του (1628, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 2, 332.10) ἀπαντήχνασι ΒΟΥΝΙΑΛΙΣ Μ., Diig. Pol. 240.30

A similar development, though with a broader geographical distribution, can be observed in barytone velar stems (for which see 2.1.1.1.4).

ἀποφαίνω

The verb ἀποφαίνω develops a new imperfective stem ἀποφην- based on the aorist indicative ἀπέφηνα (see also ΚΡΙΑΡΑΣ, Lex. s.v. ἀποφαίνω):

- ἀποφῆνομεν ἐγράφως (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 25.203–4) ὀρίζω δὲ ἀπὸ τοῦ νῦν, λέγω καὶ ἀποφῆνω Diig. tetr. 984 app. crit. (CL) ἀλλ' ἀποφῆνηι βέβαια ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua VII.33 ἀποφῆνουν οἱ θεῖοι πατέρες Chron. Ps.-Dorothei. (1572) 247

ἄρχομαι/ἄρχω

The verb ἀρχίζω for ἄρχομαι/ἄρχω first appears in texts of the early 12th c.:

- τὸ ρυακίον ὅπου ἀρχίσαμεν (1100, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 15, 203.23) ὅπου τὰ συνόρια ἀρχίσαμεν (1118, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 85, 112.26–7) ἔπειτα νὰ ἀρχίζη ὁ ὀρθὸς (1197–9, Serbia, MEYER 1894: VII, 186.31) ἀρχίζουν νὰ κάμνουν SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 209; ἀρχίζουν εἰς τὸ μάλωμα ibid. 212 ἀρχίζει ἡ πανεξαίρετος ὥραία ἡ Μαργαρώνα Imber. 871

The verb shows great variation in its imperfective stem formation. There is an oxytone variant ἀρχινῶ with a broad geographical spread from the 14th c. onwards and a local variant in Chios καταχερνῶ (= καταρχινῶ with metathesis of /r/ and subsequent change of /i/ to /e/):

ὅπου ἀρχινοῦν καὶ κηλαδοῦν Chron. Mor. H 3620 τότε ἀρχινᾷ ὁ ἡμπέριος νὰ λέγη Imber. 765 ἀρχινᾷ (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.26) ἀρχινοῦσαν καὶ ἔκαναν τὰ ἄζυμα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 362.28 νὰ ἀρχινάη (1693, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969e: 66.4) καὶ ἀπὸ τοὺς πρῶτους ἀρχινά ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 151 ἀν ἀρχινοῦσες Don Kis. 109.3 ἀρχινᾷ πλέον τ' Οὐζμπειγιστάνι VATATSIS, Periig. II 420 καταχερνῶ, -ᾷς, ἑκαταχέρνουν GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. cominciare καταχερνᾷ νὰ λέγη PETRITSIS, Dig. O 806

Marginally, forms of ἀρχῶ can be found:

καὶ τότες Ἀπολλώνιος ἀρχεῖ ν' ἀναθιβάνει Apoll. Rim. A 1822 ἐπίασεν ὁ πατέρας της, καὶ ἀρχεῖ νὰ τ' ἀναγνώθῃ Apoll. Rim. E 585 καὶ το κακόν τση ριζικόν ἀρχεῖ νὰ τ' ἀτιμάζει Apoll. Rim. N 650 ἀρχεῖ κυρὰ καὶ λέγει τοὺς Theseid I.23,8 (Follieri)

Barytone variants include ἀρχινίζω (Crete, Cyprus, certain Aegean islands); *ἀρχιρίζω/*ἀρχερίζω, a Heptanesian variant of which only perfective forms have been found; ἀρχεύω, which occurs in texts of south-eastern provenance and of uncertain provenance; and, marginally, ἀρχάζω, ἀρχινέζω and ἀρχέζω:

καὶ κλάημα ἀρχινίζει Apoll. Rim. A 865 καὶ ἀρχινίζει Imb. Rim. 1010 ἀρχινίζει ἡ βοσκή της (1544, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [2], 7.18) μὲ τὸ παῖξε-γέλασε ἀρχινίζει Vösk. 228 καὶ ἐκείνη ἀρχινίζει Stathis II.53 τώρα ἀρχινίζω νὰ γρικῶ FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.192
 τὸ κλάμαν ἀρχινίζει MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 198 μὲ γέλοιο ἀρχινίζει PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1465 τὸ αἶμαν τοὺς ἀρχινίζει νὰ φεύγῃ KONST. ΔΙΑΚ., Ist. Makaritou Marko 266 καὶ ἀπόκεις ἀρχινίζει KORNAROS, Erot. I.899 θέλουν ἀρχιρίσου νὰ φεύγουν Diig. Alex. F 246.11 (Lolos) ἀρχέρισεν νὰ παρακαλῇ Diig. Alex. V 81.22–3 ὅταν ἀρχεύῃ ἡ νύκτα Liv. V 1908 (hapax; in all versions but E) ἀλλὰ καὶ πάλιν στρέφεται ὁ λογισμὸς καὶ ἀρχεύγει LIMEN., Than. Rod. 468 ἀρχεύγου νὰ πάρουν βετέττα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 628.13–14 καὶ πρῶτον ἤδη ἀρχεύει Pist. kekoim. tit.

ἐνταῦτα ἀρχάζουν οἱ ἄπαντες Chron. Mor. H 7889 ἄρχασε νὰ τοῦ λέγῃ Liv. E 81 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ἀρχέζει, κτίζει, πολεμεῖ μετὰ ἐξόμπλου πύργον Byz. Il. 102 ἀρχίνεζεν νὰ φεύγῃ KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 266.

Forms of AG ἄρχομαι are also in use in a variety of texts, though not usually in Cretan and Cypriot literature:

ἀνδραγαθαίαι ἄρχονται ἐντεῦθεν τοῦ Ἀκρίτου Dig. G IV.1

εἰ γὰρ καὶ λέξων ἤρχομουν Ptoch. III 47; ἄρχομαι ibid. 51 ἄρχεται νὰ τοὺς λέγῃ Pol. Tr. 2312 λοιπὸν καὶ τὴν ἀφήγησιν ἄρχομαι τῆς ἀγάπης Liv. V 27 ἄρχομαι, ἐρωτῶ τον Liv. α 3188 app. crit (P) ἄρχεται διηγῆσεται Byz. Il. 70 ἄρχομαι ἀπὸ τὸν καιρὸν τῆς Βενετίας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 421.17 αρχόμεθα IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 506 tit.

For residual middle forms see 4.9.1–3 and 4.9.2.

βαίνω

As discussed above (see 2.2.1.10), the verb βαίνω and its prefixed derivatives made use of passive-looking endings for the aorist indicative (-ην, -ης, etc., later -ηκα, -ηκες, etc., see 4.4.2) and the infinitive (-ῆναι, later -εῖν, see 4.6.2.3), and developed passive-looking oxytone endings for the aorist subjunctive (-ῶ, εῖς, etc., see 4.2.3). On the other hand, there is a tendency for some of these verbs to move over to an active rather than passive paradigm. The verbs (ἐ)μπαίνω (< ἐμβαίνω) and (ἐ)βγαίνω (< ἐκβαίνω) develop new aorist indicatives ἤμπα and ἤβγα, adopting the /i/ augment by analogy with certain other verbs with monosyllabic perfective stems (see 3.1.2.1 for details):

ἤβγεν Dig. A 2930

ἤμπασιν Dig. E 416

ἤμπες Velth. 951

ἤμπαν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 851

σὰν συγγενεῖς μοῦ ἤμπετεν μέσαν εἰς τὴν καρδίαν KONDAR., Paidēs 286; κ' ἤβγεν ἀφ' τὰ μυαλά του ibid. 950 ἤβγενε εἰς τὸ κυνήγι φῖνος PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1356 (with addition of -(ν)ε, for which see I, 2.6.3.3) ἤμπασι (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 518, 744.12).

βάλλω

The verb βάλλω and some of its prefixed derivatives (e.g. ἀμφιβάλλω, ἀναβάλλω) develop an alternative imperfective stem in -βαν: καὶ τὸν οἶνον διαβάνει ERMON., Ilias 14.45; μ' ἀμφιβάνει SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. L3v; ἐπρόβανε ζητήματα φυσικά VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 43.29–30 (for more examples see 2.1.1.1.6).

These verbs tend to retain the inherited perfective stem βαλ- for the active voice (see also 2.2.2.1.2), e.g. τῖς γερόντοι ὅπου θέλομε βάλει (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 19.13) (for τῖς γερόντοι see II, 1.3 and II, 2.2.5); cf. pres. κι ὅποτε δὲ μᾶς ἀρέσουσι ... νὰ βάνομε ἄλλους (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 19.11–12). As the pronunciation of single and double consonants is identical in most of the Greek-speaking regions (for exceptions see I, 3.4), /n/ may be added to the imperfective stem in order to distinguish it from the perfective stem (see also 2.1.1.1.6): ὅτι τὸν διαβάλουν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 344.16.

The non-prefixed variant βάζω and prefixed (ἐ)βγάζω (< ἐκβάλλω) may have come into being under the influence of prefixed forms derived from βιβάζω (e.g. ἀνεβάζω, ἐμβάζω, κατεβάζω, σεβάζω), but βάζω itself is unlikely to have been derived from βιβάζω (ANDRIOTIS, Lex. s.v.), since the perfective stem would then be expected to be sigmatic (βασ-), which it is not; βάζω and (ἐ)βγάζω retain the perfective stem βαλ- of βάλλω. Forms with -ζ- can be found in a variety of texts from at least the 15th c. onwards:

ὅπου τοὺς ἐβγάζουν Ptoch. IV 248.36 app. crit. (K) ἐκβάζω τὸ δοξάριον Liv. α 140 app. crit. (P) νὰ τὸ ἀπέβγαζαν Pol. Tr. 1167 app. crit. (A) ποὺ βγάζουν μυρωδία Theseid XI.24,2 (1529) εὐγάζω ... ἐκβάνω ... ἐκβάζω GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. cavare βγάζοντας PALAMIDIS, Ist. Mich. Voev. 184 ἐβγαζεν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I § 36.32 σκολεῖο τὸν βάζουν Dig. O 1251 βγάζο<ν>τας (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 4, f.40r.5).

For the passive voice this verb retains its inherited perfective stem βληθ-, but also develops an innovative alternative βαλθ-,⁸⁴ e.g. ἐμετεβλήθη ἡ θλίψις τοὺς Achil. N 76; ἐβάλθηκε να σπουδάζει RODINOS, Martyr. Neof. 321.38–9. The innovative stem has a phonetic variant in which /l/ is replaced by /r/ (see I, 3.8.6.2 for details): ἐβάρτησαν νὰ ἔλθουν ἀππῶδε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 144.15–16; διὰ νὰ μὴν ἀποβαρθῇ τὸ παιδί ἀπὸ τὴν κοιλίαν τῆς μητρός LANDOS, Geopon. 266.1.

βαστῶ

The verb βαστῶ (< βαστάζω) can form an alternative imperfective stem in -άνω in texts of southern provenance (Cyprus, Crete) (often -άννω in Cypriot, reflecting gemination, see I, 3.4) or in -αίνω in texts from various regions (Constantinople, Crete, Heptanese, Peloponnese):

κοντάρια ἐβάσταιναν Chron. Mor. H 1042; ἡ νὰ βαστάνουν ἄρματα ibid. 3890 τὸν πόνον οὐ βασταίνει Pol. Tr. 5696 (ms X, 15th c.) (βαστάνει ms C 15th c., βαστάζει ms V 16th c.); θαύμασμα πῶς βασταίνει ibid. 10079; βασταίνομεν ibid. 10984 app. crit. (BC) μαγνήτην νὰ βασταίνη Poulol. 542 app. crit. (V) τὸ στέμμαν τὸ βαστάνω Imb. Rim. 63; νὰ βασταίνης ibid. 253; βασταίνει ibid. 417 ὅπου βασταίνει τὸ κλειδί FALIEROS, Ist. On. 322 οἱ πτωχοὶ οἱ Κυπριῶτες, ὅπου βαστάνουν πολλὰ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 540.11 γυμνὸν βαστάνει το σπαθίν Diig. Apoll. 727 Λέξανδρος τὸν βασταίνει Alex. Rim. 1401 ἐβάσταινε ἓνα μαχαίρι KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 366.17; νὰ τὸν βασταίνει ibid. 380.33 βασταίνοντας τὰ σκεύη Vios Aisop. K 154.29

⁸⁴ The SMG semantic difference between the stems βληθ- (SMG 'to be cast') and βαλθ- (SMG 'to apply onself'), begins to manifest itself in the period covered by this Grammar.

σοῦ τάσσω ἀπάνω στὸ χρουσὸ στέμμαν ἀποῦ βασταίνω FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. II 170 Χριστέ, πῶς τὸ βασταίνεις DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 790 νὰ βασταίνει Zinon III.369; but also: αὐτὰ τὰ γένια ὁποῦ βαστᾶς ibid I.113

βλέπω

The verb βλέπω has a rather unusual imperative singular βλέπεσαι/βλέπεσε, either derived from periphrastic νὰ βλέπεσαι with omission of νά, or, perhaps a little less likely, modelled on the passive aorist imperative in -ησε (XANTHOUDIDIS 1915: 391; KRIARAS 1932):

καὶ βλέπεσαι μὴ πλανηθῇς Dig. G VIII.139 βλέπεσαι, θυγατέρα μου Fyll. gadar. 159 βλέπεσε, μὴν τις κάμης πλιό CHORTATSI, Katz. I.30 dicono ancora βλέπεσαι GERMANO, Grammar 83.5
 βλέπεσαι μὴν ἀγγίξης VEST., Paid. Makkav. 1143

The peculiar form βλέπουσαι in one ms of CHORTATSI, Panor. (II.251), appears to be a conflation of βλέπεσαι and regular βλέπου (for which see 4.5.1.1.2).

This verb continues to make use of the inherited thematic aorist stem ἰδ- to form its perfective tenses (ind. εἶδα, subj. ἴδω/ἰδῶ etc., see 4.4.1 and 4.2.3). It presents a regional (mostly northern) peculiarity in the formation of its perfective stem, through metathesis (JANNARIS 1897: 83; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 308–9; KRETSCHMER 1905: 124ff.; PERNOT 1913: 263; see also I, 3.9.1): the subjunctive (ἰ)δῶ may become διῶ, e.g. νὰ διγεῖς (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 55.23); νὰ διγιοῦμι (1698, ibid. 9, 73.33) (= νὰ διοῦμε with raising of /e/ to [i] (see I, 2.5.4), the added <γ> indicating palatalization; see I, 3.8.2.3); στα μάτια να τις διοῦμιν (ibid. 12, 82.29) (= διοῦμεν, see I, 2.5.4); μ' ἄς διοῦμεν Diig. Vefa 1052; ὅπου διοῦν τὰ μάτια του ibid. 1069. Furthermore, the infinitive (ἰ)δεῖν(ν) may become διεῖν(ν), e.g. θέλω σε διγεῖ (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 53.2), and the imperative ἴδέ has a rare variant διέ: διέ ἐγὼ διδω ὁμπροστέ σας ... εὐλογία Pent. Deut. 11.26. Several examples of the aorist indicative have also been found: καὶ εἶδιεν ὁ Θεὸς Pent. Gen. 1.4; εἶδια ibid. 33.10; εἶδιαμεν (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 12, 29.7).

Furthermore, βλέπω has an alternative perfective stem βλεπησ-, which follows the paradigm of oxytone verbs for both the active and the passive voice. See 2.2.1.7 for details.

γίνομαι

In earlier stages of the language, the verb γί(ν)ομαι made use of the stem γι(γ)ν- for imperfective tenses and moods and γεν- for the perfective ones, with medio-passive endings. In the Koine the middle voice had started to fall into disuse, and to be replaced with passive or active morphology (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 193–4; JANNARIS 1897: 362–4). Thus, the verb γίνομαι had developed a passive alternative ἐγενήθην (probably with influence from ἐγεννήθην) for the AG aorist middle ἐγενόμην, later simplified to ἐγένην (possibly to distinguish it from ἐγεννήθην): λίθος ἐγένην, μάννα μου [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 1179. In the period covered by this Grammar, both stems remain in use, but the distinction between perfective and imperfective aspect appears to be blurred (cf. ἔρχομαι and εὐρίσκομαι). The stem γιν- starts to be used for the aorist alongside γεν-, both with passive and active endings:

νά γένη καλοπαιδευτον GLYKAS, Stichoi 275 ἀφότου γάρ ἐγίνετον τοῦ δημηγέρτη ἡ κρίσις Chron. Mor. H 903; νά γενῶ ibid. 956; ἀφότου ἐγίνη βασιλέας ibid. 1008 (cf. ἀφότου ἐγένετον ἐκεῖνο τὸ πασσάτζο ibid. 123) ἐνεθράφην τὸ παιδὶν καὶ ἐγίνη χρονῶν τεσσάρων Achil. L 12; ἐγάπησεν καὶ θέλησεν καὶ ἐγίνετον στρατιώτης ibid. 20 πολλὰ ἐγίνηκα φρόνιμος Pol. Tr. 6885 καὶ ξενοδόχισσα ἔγινεν Liv. V 2735 τὸ εἶντα θέλω ἀπογενεῖν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 3134 θέλει γινεῖν μεγάλη μάχη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 182.36–7 πότε τὸ βλέπω ἐγίνετο; πῶς τὸ θωρῶ ἐσυνέβη BERGADIS, Apok. A 389 (cf. καὶ τ' ἄλλον τότε τοῦ λαοῦ οὐκ εἶδαμεν τί ἐγένη ibid. 365) στὰ Ἱεροσόλυμα, ὅπου καὶ ἐγενέθη καὶ χατζής EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 64.9–10

Similarly, imperfective forms can be found formed from the perfective stem γεν-: τὰ χλωρά χόρτα γέρονται ἀποκάτω του νεροῦ Anthos Ch. G 231.14; πότε γένεται εἰς τὸν κόσμον σύγχυσις μεγάλη Vios Aisop. I 261.27; καὶ ἐγένιτι καὶ εἰς τὴν λογιότη σου κάτρη (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 12, 82.32–3) (= ἐγένεται, see I, 2.5.4).

In Cypriot Greek the stem γιν-, and sporadically γεν-, may be extended with the infix -ισκ- (see 2.1.1.3.2 for details) to form a new imperfective stem:

νά γενίσκουνται Assizes B 252.3–4; ὅλα τὰ ἄδικα τὰ γινίσκουνται ibid. 458.4 σκάνταλον ἐγινίσκετον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 46.30 ἐγινίσκετον VOUSTR., Chron. A 242.14 γινίσκεται Fior Suppl. 269.19 ὅπου γινίσκουνται κουμερκιάρηδες Pist. kekoim. 627

For barytone and oxytone variant forms in the aorist subjunctive and infinitive see 4.2.3, 4.6.2.3.

For residual aorist middle forms and their conflation with the imperfect see 4.9.1–3 and 4.9.2.

δίδω/δίνω

The verb δίδω (< δίδωμι) remains in general use throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

καὶ ἔδιδέν μας λάχανα Paroim. H 10 τοῦ τὸ δίδου (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 19.1) εἰς σου δίδω μια ραβδὲ CHORTATIS, Panor. II.85 νά δίδου (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 38.40) παρηγοριὰ τὸ ἐδίδα KORNAROS, Erot. III.11.

The alternative δίνω, now SMG, has not been found before the 15th c. (ms date of Pol. Tr.).
 It occurs mainly, though not exclusively, in texts from south-western areas and the Aegean:

τὰς χεῖρας δίνουσι Pol. Tr. 1914 app. crit. (A) τίποτε οὐδὲν τῆς δίνει Chron. Mor. P 7335 (hapax) δίνει του καὶ πιτάκι Alex. Rim. 2712 νά δίνου καὶ νά πλερώνου (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 54.28) νά δίνουνται (1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 34.13) τὶ μερτικὸ δίναν (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 55, 118.8–9) νά τοῦ δίνου (χαράτζί) Chron. Tourk. Soult. 94.23 νὰ τὸ δίνω ὀτινος θέλω (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 1, 29.38) δίνετε, καὶ θέλουν σας δώσει KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 6.38 ἔδιναν πόλεμο φρικτὸ ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 247 θὲ νὰ δίνει (1677, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 452.7–8) νὰ τοῦ δίνου βουτσά (1677, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 24, 92.11) τὰ ῥίνασι (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 26.29)

Furthermore, the verb has three local variants for the imperfective stem: διδῶ, δοῦδω and δώνω.

Oxytone διδῶ occurs in texts from Cyprus throughout the period covered by this Grammar (see also 2.1.3.1):

διδεῖ του (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 29.46) καὶ διδοῦσαν του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 86.22–3 δὲν διδοῦμεν ἀφορμὴν Pist. kekoim. 499–500 δὲν τοὺς διοῦν ψωμῖν νὰ φᾶν Thrinis Kypr. 505 (with deletion of intervocalic fricative; see I, 3.6.1.1)

Three examples of the verb δίδω with a shift of the stress to the penultimate have been found in ms B of Fior de Vertù: διδέται Fior 111.10, 118.41 and 119.1. This form is unusual, since the oxytone variant of διδῶ normally adopts the endings of the oxytone E-stem paradigm (cf. διδεῖται ibid. 111.10 app. crit. (I) and 118.41 app. crit. (I)); see also 2.1.3.1. However, for comparable forms of barytone vowel stems resulting from synizesis (e.g. σειέται), see 2.1.1.2.

A variant δοῦδω can be found in texts from Crete (cf. CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: A 33–4) and the Heptanese (Ithaca):

καὶ δοῦδεις σου καὶ ραβδακίεις Diig. tetr. 688 (reading of ms P; scribe probably Cretan) δοῦδουσί μας (1502, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 6, 29.11) νὰ τῶς δοῦδουν (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 148.26); τοὺς ἐδοῦδαμε (ibid. 148.10) δύνεται νὰ σου δοῦδεις CHORTATSI, Panor. I.160 νὰ σοῦ δοῦδεις Zinon II.28 παραδοῦδου (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 85, 90.5–6)

Finally, δώνω has been found in texts from the Aegean. It is likely to have been formed on the basis of the aorist ἔδωσα (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 408), perhaps with some influence from Italian dono (JANNARIS 1897: 218):

δώνει ἡγουν καὶ παραδώνει (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 25, 163.3); καὶ δώνει της τοῦτο (1599, ibid. 92, 123.8) καὶ δώνου (1634, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 18, 321.7) δώνομέν του τὰ (1666, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 18, 89.6–7) τήνε δώνει KONDA., Paidēs 687–8 τῖς δώνου καὶ παραδώνου (1676, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 6, 18.9) μίαν ραβδίᾱ τοῦ δώνει PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2883 δώνομε τὸ χωράφι μας (1685, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1918a: 129.17–18) δὲν μας ἤδωνε Epist. Nax. 471.27 τοῦ ῥδώνασιν ψωμί καὶ ἤτρωγεν (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 604, 834.3) νὰ δώνη (1719, Patmos, TSIRPANLIS 1982: 2, 16.10) οἱ χάρες ποῦ μοῦ δώνεις Trag. Ag. Dim. I.49

The perfective stem is δωσ- or δωκ- (for which see 2.2.1.10), though sometimes δουσ- and δουκ- can be found, not only as a phonetic variant (unstressed /o/ > /u/, see I, 2.8.3), but sporadically also in forms where /u/ is stressed, perhaps based on δούδω, although it cannot be excluded that the last example represents a simple writing mistake:

ἔδουκα (1101, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 69, 86.2) τὰ ἔδουκε (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 287.13) ἦδουκα τό παρόν τεσκερέ μου (1625, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 2000: 1, 14.8) ἔδουσα (1713, Lesbos?, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1884: 7, 27.4) θάνατον, κατὰ πῶς θωρῶ, βούλεσαι νὰ μοῦ δούσης Alfan. 11 31 app. crit.

The imperative is δῶσε, δῶσ' / δός, or δό, pl. δώστε / δόστε or δῶτε / δότε:

δός τα ὅλα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.23 δῶσ' με ἔδῶ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 14.8 τὸ σκύλο μου μοῦ δόσε Pist. voskos II 2.193 δό μου Diig. Alex. F 174.4 (Konstantinopulos) δό με νερό (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 2438)
 δῶστε της Cypr. Canz. 4.7
 δῶτε μου τόπο ν' ἀνεβῶ CHORTATIS, Katz. V.25

The participle is δομένος or δοσμένος:

δομένα ᾿ς τοὺς κάτωθεν (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 48, 26.3) τὰ ἔχω δομένα (1553, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 116, 165.51–2) τῶς ἔχουσι οἱ μερίδες δοσμένη (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 51.48) τοῦ ἔχω δοσμένα (1673, Sikinos, ZERLENDIS 1913a: 139.19).

δύναμαι/δύνομαι

The verb δύναμαι began to adopt the thematic vowels /o/ and /e/ in the last centuries BC (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 59; JANNARIS 1897: 258), resulting in δύνομαι, δύνεσαι, etc. for δύναμαι, δύνασαι, etc. (cf. κάθομαι for κάθημαι). The verb retains its inherited perfective stem δυνηθ-, for which see 2.2.1.7.

ἐγείρω

The verb ἐγείρω develops an innovative imperfective stem γερν- in order to distinguish it from the identical perfective stem (see also 1.1.1): e.g. ἐγέρνεται ἡ Τροία Pol. Tr. 1228 app. crit. (X); νὰ γέρνεσαι Poulol. 147 app. crit. (CPVL); ἦγερνεν (1697, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 48, 143.9).

The verb is quite unique in that for the passive aorist subjunctive it has alternative barytone forms, possibly built on a morphological analogy with verbs that display both stress patterns such as ἔρθω/ἐρθῶ, εὔρω/εὔρῶ: (ἐ)γέρθω instead of (ἐ)γερθῶ (e.g. νὰ γερθῶ CHORTATIS, Katz. III.513). In these barytone forms the endings of the active paradigm are used with the passive perfective stem:⁸⁵

⁸⁵ Interestingly, ἐγέρθω is mentioned by various grammarians from Antiquity onwards as having been derived from the adjective ἐγερτός (see the online TLG); however, these grammarians treat it as a present indicative, not an aorist subjunctive.

πολλάκις μὲ ἐπαώργισεν ὁ λογισμὸς νὰ ἐγέρθω Ptoch. IV 193 ἐκείνη ἀπὲ τὰγκάλια του δὲν ἤθελε νὰ γέρθη Achil. L 938 ἄν οὐκ ἐγέρθης τὸ γουργὸν Poulol. 37 app. crit. (V) καὶ ὅταν ἐγέρθω νὰ σταθῶ SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 37 κι ὁποῦ πῆσε μὴ γέρθη FALIEROS, Log. did. 40; καὶ ξύστερα ἄς ἐγέρθουν ibid. 284 νὰ γέρθη σῶμα καὶ ψυχὴ Defl. Par. 2; νὰ φᾶν, νὰ πιοῦν, νὰ γέρθουν ibid. 208 καὶ δὲν μποροῦν νὰ γέρθουν PIKAT., Rima thrin. 334 νὰ ᾔγερθη δὲν ἐδύνετο Fyll. gadar. 252 νὰ ᾔγερθη νὰ μισέψει Apoll. Rim. V 149 (same in EN) νὰ γέρθης νὰ μισέψης KORNAROS, Erot. V.242

(ἐ)θέλω

For the present indicative and subjunctive the verb (ἐ)θέλω can produce syncopated forms, for 2 sg. (θές), 3 sg. (θέ(ν)) and all persons of the plural (θέμε(ν), θέτε(ν)/θέλτε, θέν(ε) or θέσι). These forms are found in texts from southern areas (Crete, Heptanese, Peloponnese, Cyprus, Rhodes) from at least the 15th c. onwards (ms dates of the Oracles of Leo the Wise and of Pol. Tr.), as well as in later texts from other areas, such as Chios, certain Cycladic islands and the northern regions.⁸⁶ καὶ ἂν ἐν' καὶ θές νὰ μάθης FALIEROS, Ist. On. 96 θές νὰ κτίσης LIMEN., Than. Rod. 451 θές γῆ στανικῶς (1491, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: οδ', fn. 143) θές πάλι νὰ στὸ λέγω; Alex. Rim. 141 φύσ', ἄνεμε, ὅπου καὶ ἂ θές VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 250 τὸ θές μοῦ πεῖ CHORTATIS, Erof. I.122; θές ζωντανὸ νὰ μὴν ἀφήσω φλάρο; id., Katz. III.456 θέλω, θές, θέ. θέμεν, θέτε, θένε, vel θέσι GERMANO, Grammar 95.12–13 μὰ παρεκάλια θές κι' ἐσύ MONTSEL., Evgena 464 θές, Γιάννη, νὰ τὰ βόσκωμε μαζίν; (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 578, 803.8) τί θές ἐδῶ NEOFYTOS, Achouri 51 τὶς θέ καλὸν SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 53; (κᾶμε τῆς γυναικός σου ...) ὅ,τι θέ ibid. 1218 τὶς θεν ν' ἀκούει ἄσματα Diig. Apoll. 614 μὰ θέ κουτάλες δυνατές LIMEN., Than. Rod. 435 (3 sg., impers.)

 καὶ θέ νὰ μὲ φιλήσῃ Fyll. gadar. 180; θέ νὰ ᾠολογήσῃ ibid. 139A θέ νὰ πῇ ὄχι, σπολλάτε Pist. kekoim. 585 φαίνεται ὅτι θέ νὰ φεύγει ἀπὸ τὸ δίκαιον (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.28) νὰ μὴ θέ νὰ προβάλῃ CHORTATIS, Katz. III.318 καὶ ἄλλους τόπους, ὅπου θε, ας πάγει καὶ ας χαλάσει STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 538 (Pidonia) ὄντα θέ νὰ φτιάσῃ τὸ δῶμα του ... κι ὄντα θέ νὰ πλύνει τὰ βουτσά του (1685, Andros, POLEMIS 1995b: 5, 39.41–3) θέμεν νὰ μᾶς ποτίζῃς KONDAR., Paidēs 320 δὲν θέμεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 884 τοὺς παίζομεν ὡς θέμεν (1709, Chios, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 34, 134.16) ἂν θέμε νὰ χαίρομεστα Leilasia Par. 324 app. crit.
 ἂν θέλτε νὰ ᾤρομεν SKLAVOS, Symf. 147

⁸⁶ STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev., whose author was from Epirus, was written in Transylvania; NEOFYTOS, Achouri was written in 1692 in Bucharest; the provenance of Neofytos, however, is unknown.

ἄ θέτε νά γροικήσετε KONDAR., Paidēs 3 θέτεν νά γελάτεν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 177

νά τὸ κάνου ὡς θέσι καὶ βούλονται (1769, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 4, 25.16)

In the same area the shortened form θέ(ν) + νά is also used for the other persons of the singular, and even the plural, from about the 15th c. onwards. The use of this shortened form is not uncommon in periphrastic future formations, for which see 5.1.4.6, but it can also be found with volitive meaning:

εἰς τοὺς ἀντιδίκους μου ὅπου καὶ θέν νά μᾶς χαλάσουν Pol. Tr. 6601 app. crit. (A) ἄλλον θέ νά πτωχάνη SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 126 μὲ δαῦτον θέ νά μείνω Alex. Rim. 110 οἱ κορασιές που θε νά παντρευτείτε Kakop. 3 α θε νά σας αφουκραστώ CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.223 (2 pl.) ἐκεῖνο ὅπου θέ νά κάμουνε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 83.1 καὶ Τούρκος θεν νά γένει ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ. Pali 371 ξελησιμονῶ τὸ θέ νά πῶ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 581.2
 θέ νά μοιρασώσιν οἱ κληρονόμοι μὲ τὸ ζωντανὸν μέρος (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 303.46) δέν θέ νά πολεμοῦσιν KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.790

A past-tense shortened form ἦθε(ν) has been found in texts from southern areas (Heptanese, Peloponnese, Crete, Cyprus) and from certain islands in the Aegean (Chios, Naxos).⁸⁷ It is usually used to form conditionals (+ subjunctive), for which see 5.2.3.6. Sporadically it can also have volitive meaning, in which case it is followed by νά: κ' ἦθε' νά πορεύεται με νόμον ἐδικόν του Apoll. Rim. A 54; δέν ἦθε νά κάμη ἀγάπη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 60.17; κι ἦθεν νά καταντήσει Thrinis Kypr. 245 (facs.; ed.: ἠθεννᾶ).

A shortened form θά with volitive and deontic meanings appears mainly in Cretan texts from the 16th c./17th c. onwards; there is also one attestation in the Tale of Vefas and Michri (late 17th c., 18th-c. ms), which is of northern provenance. For a discussion of this particle and its use to express the future tense, see 5.1.5. Some examples of volitive/deontic θά are:

ὁ Κάης τότες ἐζήλεψε, τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ θά μοιάση P&N Diath. 1270 ὅσο κι' ἄ θά τῇ χώνη | τὴν ὄρεξή τζη CHORTATIS, Katz. I.96–7
 μὰ ὄντας δῆς καλὴ γουλιὰ στὸ πιάτο | νά θά τὴν πιάσω, τὸ ζημιὸ μου λέγεις' ἄσ' τὴν κάτω!
Stathis I.121–2
 γιὰ ποιά 'φορμὴ μακρὰ νά θά γυρεύης | θεριά Pist. voskos I 1.79–80
 καὶ ἀποὺ θά μάθη ἄς πιάση | ... τὸ σοφὸ Πλούταρχο νά διαβάση FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.80–2; ἄς ἔρθη ὀγλήγορα, γιατί θά τσῆ μιλήσω ibid. I.315 τόσον τὸν ἄρέσει | κι αὐτὴ διὰ γυναικὰ του εἰς τὸ ἐξῆς θά νά 'χῃ Diig. Vefa 1098–9

The verb θέλω continues to make use of its inherited perfective stem θελησ-, for which see 2.2.1.7. This verb lacks passive morphology.

⁸⁷ For the shortened form ἔθε(ν) in the following example: ἀμμ' ἔθεν νά πιντώνουν τὸ λαμπρόν μου Cypr. Canz. 100.7, we should probably read ἀμμὲ θε νά.

ἐξεύρω

The verb ἐξεύρω emerged shortly before the LMedG period from the aorist ἐξεῦρον⁸⁸ of the verb ἐξευρίσκω, most probably to replace οἶδα, which, because of the sound change from [y] to [i] had become homophonous with εἶδα (for details see I, 2.4.6.1). An early attestation can be found in a letter of the late 11th c.: καθὼς ἐξεύρεις ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.7–8. Deletion of the fricative [v] resulted in the variant (ἐ)ξέρω (cf. SMG ξέρω): καὶ καλὰ νὰ ἤξέρετε Assizes B 483.26; καὶ ξέρε, βασιλέα μου ΚΟΝΔΑΡ., Paides 629. This verb lacks perfective morphology.

ἐπαίρω

The verb αἶρω is not normally found in vernacular texts, but it does survive in the prefixed verb ἐπαίρω. In its imperfective stem ἐπαίρω shows a strong tendency towards addition of an “intrusive” /n/, a phenomenon that predates the period covered by this Grammar (see also 1.1.1): νὰ ἔπαιρναν Ptoch. III 194; θέλουν παίρνειν (1436, Crete, ΜΑΝΟΥΣΑΚΑΣ 1960/61: 2, 147.18); ἐτοῦτος παίρνει τὴν ὥραϊαν Achil. N 1322. The active perfective stem is normally -αρ-, and the passive perfective stem -αρθ-/αρτ- (see I, 3.8.1): ὅπου θέλουν ἐπαρθῇ (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 273.15); ἐπάρτην (16th c., Lesbos?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 70.III, 548.42.1); ἐπάρθηκε (1620, Crete, ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑΤΙΣ 1986: 1, 39.70). The aorist indicative usually retains its inherited internal augment, e.g. ἐπήρε το χρυσάφι ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 54.4; for details and more examples, see 3.3.1.2.

ἔρχομαι

The deponent verb ἔρχομαι, which has a phonetic variant ἔρκομαι in texts from Cyprus (see I, 3.8.1.1), shows quite a bit of morphological variation. It retains its inherited perfective stem ἔλθ-, with phonetic variants ἔρθ- and ἔρτ-, which continue to be used with active endings to form the perfective tenses (see 4.4.1, 4.2.3, 4.6.2.3). Similarly to γίνομαι (see above) and εὐρίσκομαι (see below), the distinction between the imperfective and perfective stems appears to be blurred. Thus we find perfective forms with present (passive) endings: νὰ ἔλθεστε (15th c., Adrianople, ΛΑΜΒΡΟΣ 1908b: A, 58.4); and a present gerund that makes use of the active ending -ντα(ς) (instead of part. ἐρχόμενος; for examples with other verbs see 4.7): ἔρχοντα ὁ καιρὸς Assizes A 44.13; ἔρκοντα τοῦ κυροῦ Μανουήλ τοῦ Βουτουμήτη ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 36.21; ἔρχοντας ΦΟΣΚΟΛΟΣ, Fort. II.202; ἔρχοντας (1693, Zakynthos, ΚΟΝΟΜΟΣ 1969e: 65.22). Finally, the aorist gerund ἐλθόντας (< part. ἐλθών) may adopt the stress of the present gerund: δὲν ἔρθοντας ὁ υἱὸς τῆς (1587, Cythera, ΧΑΡΟΥ-ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΥ/ΔΡΑΚΑΚΙΣ 2010: 172, 141.25–6). Locally, the reverse may also occur. In EMG Cycladic texts, perfective forms (with active endings) are derived from the imperfective stem ἐρχ- (cf. CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 504 for the distribution in modern dialects): ἐμεῖς ὁμπρὸς ἤρχαμε μέσα Leilasia Par. 343; νὰ ἔρχουν (1735, Kimolos, ΡΑΜΦΟΣ 1974: 37, 65.13). An example also occurs in Florios L: πόθεν ἔρχεις; Flor. L 1380, in which it is probably an adaptation of AG ἔρχει, which is the reading of Florios 1407.

⁸⁸ In EMedG texts, the aorist without the augment (ἐξεῦρον for ἐξηῦρον) is the more commonly used form.

The imperative has a very common alternative for ἔλθε/ἐλθέ, namely ἔλα, plural ἐλάτε (see 4.5.2.3 for examples). The plural has a regional alternative (Aegean, Crete) ἐλάστε (cf. ἀμέστε < ἄγω above; and THUMB 1912: 155).

καὶ ἐλάστε μὲ τὸ Γεώργην (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.52) ἐλάστε CHORTATISIS, Panor. V.324

ἔλα, vieni, ἐλάτε, altri però dicono ἐλάστε GERMANO, Grammar 83.25–6 ἐλᾷστ' ἀρχόντισσές μου VEST., Paid. Makkav. 1604; καὶ αὖριο ἐλᾷστέν πάλι ibid. 1605 ἐλάστενε ἀντάμα μου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1870 (with addition of -(ν)ε, see I, 2.6.3.3)

εὐρίσκω/βρίσκω

The verb εὐρίσκω/βρίσκω has a local variant εὐρέσκω/ηύρέσκω/βρέσκω (Heptanese, Epirus, Peloponnese, Cyclades):⁸⁹ εὐρέσκεσαι Chron. Mor. P 2502 νὰ εὐρέσκει ἐκεῖνον τὸν Ἀρβανίτην (1571, Unknown, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 8, 481.4–5)

(author probably from Epirus) παρόμοια δὲν εὐρέσκετον TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 56; παρόμοιον δὲν εὐρέσκουσι ibid. 86 ἡβρεσκουμαστινε (1584, Italy, PAPADOPOULOS 1978: 1, 318.16–17) (stress notation lacking; author from the Peloponnese) καὶ βρέσκει τον Nov. I 156.5

τὸ βρέσκει SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. A3r.8

ἡβρέσκεται (1659, Zakynthos, AVOURIS 1973: 220.3) κρένω δὲν βρέσκεται ἄλλη MONTSEL., Evgena 788 βρεσκόμενοι (1699, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 13, 29.5)

For non-past forms in ηῦρ-/ἡβρ- see also the introduction to Chapter 3.

For the passive voice this verb has imperfective variant forms derived from the passive perfective stem εὔρεθ-/βρεθ- (cf. γίνομαι and ἔρχομαι for similar developments), which occur in texts from Cyprus: βρέθουμουν (1679, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 16, 41.24); καὶ μὲ τοὺς δρυάδες ὅσους ἡύρέθουνται (1684, ibid. 19, 51.20); βρέθετ' ἕνας παπ' Ἀντριᾶς KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 119; βρέθουνται μὲ τὸν Μαρκουλῆν ibid. 121.

This stem may also be extended with the infix -ισκ- (> βρεθίσκομαι; see also 2.1.1.3.2), in the same area: βρεθίσκουνται (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 2, 7.5).

θεραπεύω

The verb θεραπεύω has an alternative perfective stem θαραπαυσ-/θαραπαψ- (though no alternative imperfective stem in -αυ was found; cf. ἀναπαύω, above, which has an alternative imperfective stem in -ευ):

νὰ θαραπαύσουν τὰς πληγὰς Chron. Mor. H 4195 app. crit.

γιατὶ ὅλους ἐθαράπαψες FALIEROS, Thrinis 210 διὰ νὰ τοὺς θαραπαύσει KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 375.29

νὰ σὲ θαραπαύσω MOREZINOS, Klini 44.34

νὰν σὲ θαραπάψη (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.27)

⁸⁹ A single instance of εὐρίκω in Assizes A 229.8 is likely to be a writing mistake for εὐρίσκω.

θέτω

For the irregular AG verb τίθημι⁹⁰ a new imperfective stem θετ(τ)- (cf. SMG θέτω) is attested from the very beginning of the LMedG period (see also LBG s.v. θέτω): ἴνα θέττωσιν (1134, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 7, 520.15); θέττουν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 33.87); θέττω (1303, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 334, 502.35) καὶ θέτουν με ἁγιοζούμιν Ptoch. IV 380. It has a rare alternative θηττ- in the late 11th-c. writings of Nikon of the Black Mountain: οὐ κατ' ἐντολὴν ἢ παράδοσιν θήττομεν ταῦτα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 146.34–5. The form θέτ(τ)ω acquired its /e/ probably because many words derived from τίθημι have /e/ (e.g. imp. θές, noun θέσις, compounds such as τοποθετῶ), and because the trend exists in other verbs as well (e.g. στήκω > στέκω) (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 315). Chiot texts may offer nasal variants for the imperfective stem of the verb θέτω and its compounds:⁹¹ συνθένω GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. componere; as well as an innovative present indicative with /k/: καλοθέκω ibid. s.v. collocare.⁹²

There is much variation in the formation of the perfective stem of this verb.⁹³ A new perfective stem θησ-, borrowed from the future θήσω, replaced the old subjunctive θῶ (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 312). A new sigmatic aorist indicative (ἔθησα for ἔθηκα, for which see 2.2.1.10) could be formed from the same stem: καὶ πᾶσαν δολιότητα ἔθησε στὸν σκοπόν του Pol. Tr. 36. A stem θεκ- for θηκ- (aorist indicative only), can already be found in the EMedG period,⁹⁴ and continues to be in use in the period covered by this Grammar. Some examples are:

- ἔθηκεν φύλαξες καλές Chron. Mor. H 1236 ἔθέκα τὸν μάστρε Ἀντώνη τὸν γιαιτρὸ (1389, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 3, 89.2) ἔθέκαν Dig. E 480
 πεῖσμαν ἀπλῶς ἔθηκεν Log. parig. L 30 ἐπροσέθεκα καὶ ἰδικό μου (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1134–5)
 ἤθεκα στὸ κρεβάτιν μου BERGADIS, Apok. A 2 ἀπόθεκάν τον Diig. Alex. F 298.20 (Lolos) ἔθεκαν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 291

For the passive voice θέτω continues to use the inherited perfective stem τεθ-: κ' ἐτέθη καπετάνος Chron. Mor. H 1852; καὶ ἐτέθην ἡ βασίλισσα Dig. E 1671; ὡς ἐγὼ ἐδιατέθηκα ⁹⁰ Earlier innovative forms include τίθω and τιθῶ (JANNARIS 1897: 234), e.g. pres. imp. τίθει in Vettius Valens (2nd c. AD), τιθοῦσιν in Cassius Dio (2nd–3rd c.), in the Life of St Symeon Stylites (5th c.) and in Tzetzēs (12th c.), τίθων in the Life of St John the Almsgiver (7th c.), τιθοῦσι in Mauropus and the Etymologicum Gudianum (both 11th c.) (see the online TLG); διατίθειν (11th c., S. Italy, NITTI DI VITO 1900: 46, 92.7–8). Such forms can still sporadically be found in the period under review: ὅλα ἐπαραιτίθει τα Byz. Il. 813; εἴτις εἰς ριζικόν το τίθει Anthos Ch. V 46.10; ὅτι την πάσαν ἐλπίδα μου εἰς Σε, ἀνασσαι, ἀνατίθω ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 10231.

⁹¹ A similar form also in Korais's Atakta: τοποθένω (KORAIIS 1828/35: IV 605 s.v. τοποθέκω).

⁹² In his Atakta Korais, who had a Chiot connection, mentions indicatives ἀποθέκω KORAIIS 1828/35: IV 28 s.v.; θέκω, τοποθέκω and καλοθέκω ibid. 605 s.v. τοποθέκω. In the modern period θέκω is attested in Pontos and Cappadocia, see ILNE archive; DAWKINS 1916: 603 s.v. θέτω and PAPADOPOULOS 1958 s.v. θήκω.

⁹³ However, a form ἐθεύμαν in Assizes A 25.29, interpreted by KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. θέτω as a 3 pl. aor. ind. should be viewed as a textual corruption. Morphologically it cannot possibly have been derived from this verb and in addition the context requires 3 sg. (cf. ἐνι θεοπισμένος in the corresponding passage in Assizes B 274.10–11).

⁹⁴ An aorist ἔθεκε occurs in the 7th/8th-c. poet Andrew of Crete (Canon for Palm Sunday, l. 435, ed. Maisano).

(1529, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 128, 235.28). Confusion of τεθ- and τιθ- occurs occasionally: διὰ νὰ γένουν καθώς ἐγὼ ἐδιατίθηκα (1528, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 125, 229.43).

καθαίρω

The verb (ἐκ)καθαίρω may adopt an “intrusive” /n/ in its imperfective stem. For this verb this is a regional phenomenon, occurring in texts from the Aegean and in the Theseid, which is of uncertain provenance:

τὰ ἄρματα τοῦ κάθαιρνε Theseid VII.35,2 (1529) νὰ τοὺς ἐξεκαθαίρνουν (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 8, 127.16); νὰ τὸ ἐξεκαθαίρνει (1586, ibid. 30, 171.11–12)

νὰ ξεκαθαίρνει (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 31, 45.14)

In the Aegean (Naxos, Chios) the verb ξεκαθαίρνω has an oxytone variant ξεκαθαίρνῶ: ξεκαθαίρνῃ καὶ λέγει (1576, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 138, 99.34); καθαιρνῶ ... [καθαίρ] νοῦμαι GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. mondare and purgare; ξεκαθαίρνωντας (1633, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 9, 144.13).

κάθηναι/κάθομαι

The AG verb κάθηναι had adopted the dominant thematic vowels /o/ and /e/ of the present long before the period covered by this Grammar (cf. δύνομαι for δύναμαι).⁹⁵ From the early centuries AD it began to supplement its lacking perfective morphology by adopting the future stem καθησ-⁹⁶ and substituting active endings for the middle ones of the future. Just as in the case of its transitive counterpart καθίζω (see next), perfective forms have a syncopated alternative stem κατσ-:

νὰ κάτσωμεν νὰ φᾶμεν Ptoch. I 243

κ' ἐκάτσε στὸ πλευρόν του Chron. Mor. H 4104 εἰς τὴν σάρκαν ἀπέσωθεν ἔκατσε τὸ κοντάριν Pol. Tr. 4152

ἐκάτσεν Log. parig. L 490

θέλει κάτσει Velis. χ 191

μαννίτζα, κάτζει [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1091

Ἀλέξανδρος κοντὰ του ἔκατzen Diig. Alex. F 40.14–15 (Konstantinopolis) ἔκατσε ἀπὸ τὴν μέσην μερέαν Vios Aisop. K 184.14 καὶ τ' ἄλλα σου καμῶματα θὰ κάτσω νὰ στουντιάρω FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.295 ἦκατσα νὰ ξεκουραστῶ KORNAROS, Erot. V.899

καθίζω

The verb καθίζω has a syncopated perfective stem κατσ- (< καθισ-) (in manuscripts and chapbooks spelled with <τζ> rather than <τσ>). This syncopated stem is also used as a perfective stem of the deponent verb κάθηναι/κάθομαι (for which see above). The syncopation initially led to paroxytone forms for the aorist indicative: ἐκάθισα > ἐκάτσα, but following reanalysis the stress moved back to the antepenultimate: ἐκάτσα > ἔκατσα.

⁹⁵ A 3 sg. form κάθεται can for instance be found in the Life of St Artemios (7th c.) and in Romanos the Melode, Kontakion 48 (see the online TLG).

⁹⁶ Aorists ἐκάθησεν in Ephraem the Syrian (4th c.) and Cyril of Alexandria (4th/5th c.); an infinitive καθήσκειν in Didymus Caecus (4th c.); an aorist subjunctive καθήσῃς in Romanos the Melode (see the online TLG).

ἐκάτσε την Dig. E 961 καὶ ἐπίκατζε τὸ ἀκάνθιν Vulgärorakel I.219 καὶ ὄλον του τὸ κέρατον εὐθύς ἐκάτζειν μέσα Diig. tetr. 1021 νὰ σ' ἐκάτσαν Spanos A 408 καὶ κάτζετέ μου FALIEROS, Thrinos 267 app. crit. καὶ ἐκάτζειν τους καθόρδινά MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 230.18 στην σέλλαν την ἐκάτσαν Diig. Apoll. 455 γῆ νὰ σὲ κάτσου μέσα CHORTATIS, Katz. V.335 καὶ ἔκατσέ τους Vios Aisop. K 149.18–19

καίω

The verb καίω forms an alternative imperfective stem καυτ- (also spelled καφτ-). It is not very common, but does occur in a variety of texts from various areas, from around the 15th c. onwards. This stem is possibly derived from the perfective stem καψ- (see 2.2.1.1.1), by analogy with labial stems in -φτ such as ἄφτω (for which see 2.1.1.1.1; cf. also παύτω in Cretan/Heptanesian, below):

καταπατοῦν καὶ καύτουν τες Achil. L 103 ἔκαυτεν τὸ χαρτὶ Hist. Imp. IIb 1337 καὶ κάφτει με ἡ ἀγάπη σου Katal. 214 καὶ ἔκαυτές την Poulol. 432 καὶ καύτει καμμίαν οἰκίαν Assizes A 222.29 κάφτουν τὸν στόλον ὄλον Velis. N² 180 φέρνουσιν ἱστιὰ καὶ κάφτουςιν Velis. χ 178 app. crit. (V) καὶ καύτουν τὴν γλώσσαν του Diig. Alex. E 217.17–218.1 (Lolos) ὅτι τον καύτει ἡ φλόγινη ρομφαία Diig. Alex. K 368.29–30

This [ft] may “reassimilate” to -πτ- in texts from southern areas (cf. 2.2.1.2.2):⁹⁷ κάπτουν Pol. Tr. 8287 app. crit. (V); ὡσὰν κερὶν τὸ κάπτει SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 63; κι' ὅλα τὰ ξύλα 'κάπταν BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 506.26 (Xirouchakis) (καῦτα in ed. Alexiou/Aposkiti).

In texts of south-eastern provenance (Cyprus, Rhodes) and other Aegean islands (Chios, Ikaria) καίω can form an alternative imperfective stem καυ(γ)- (also spelled καβ(γ)-). This stem is probably formed by analogy with other verbs in -β(γ)ω such as ἀνάβ(γ)ω, κόβ(γ)ω (for which see 2.1.1.1.1):

καύγει το ἥτζου κακὰ Assizes B 433.29 νὰ τὲς κάβουν (1449, Chios, LAIOU 1982: 4, 124.16) ἔκαυγα LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 260 σπορὰν ἐκαῦγαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 356.18 δὲν κάβγεισαι Cypr. Canz. 89.9; κάβγοντα ibid. 100.27 ἔκαυγά τους (1570, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 3.3) παρὰ 'καυγεν τοὺς χριστιανοὺς KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 250 νὰ κάβγου τὸ κερὶ (1659, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 24, 31.12) ἔκαυγεν τὴν καρδιά του PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2209 καύγουν τὸν Τίμιον Σταυρόν Thrinos Kypr. 171

⁹⁷ The following example is from an anonymous 14th-c. metaphor of Anna Komnene, Alexiad: αὐτὰ μὲν ὀρίζει κάπτειν Metaphr. Alexiad 306.5.

In AG καίω had two alternative passive perfective stems, namely καυθ- (ἐκαύθην) and κα- (ἐκάην) (see LSJ s.v. καίω). In the LMedG and EMG periods ἐκάην has prevailed, and passive examples with καυθ- are quite rare: ἐκαύθησαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1274 (ed. ἐκάφηθησαν); καὶ ταῦτα ὀρίζει παρευθὺς Κροῖσον κατακαυθῆναι DELLAP., Erot apokr. 594; να μηδέν καυθούν τα ρούχα του Anthos Ch. A 239.1–2 and V 238.2. Sometimes an “intrusive” /s/ is added (see 2.2.3 for details): ἐκαύσθησαν Dig. E 300. Forms derived from the stem κα-, often with an added /γ/ (for which see I, 3.5.2.1), are more common:

- ἔλα κάγου, λυγερέ, στὸν πόθον Του SULT. WALAD, Poem I 21 νὰ ᾄκηκα Katal. 487 ἐκάγην (1469, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 117, 56.6) νὰ ᾄχε καῖ Alosis 49
 διὰ νὰ μὴν καγεῖ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 133.13 κι ἐκαγήκα CHORTATIS, Panor. I.249 ἐκάηκαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.11 ἐκαγήκανε τὰ δέντρα (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III–V, 512.42.2) ἡκάηκε (1655, Chios, LAMBROS 1910: 277, 193.1) πρέπει να καεῖ Don Kis. 31.32 ἐκάγηκε Leilasia Par. 556

The following form is the result of an analogy with other labial stem verbs (e.g. κρύβω: κρυφῶ and κρυβῶ, see 2.2.1.2.2): να μηδέν καφούν τα ρούχα του Anthos Ch. G 239.1–2.

καταρῶμαι

For the deponent verb καταρῶμαι, the Koine perfective passive stem καταραθ- is used throughout the period covered by this Grammar. A new perfective stem in -ασθ/-αστ with an “intrusive” /s/ that can be found in other passive forms as well (for which see 2.2.3), occurs from at least the 15th c. onwards (date of ms E of Poulologos):

- ἐπῆγε νὰ τὴν καταραθῇ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 642.7
 τὸν ὄφιν ἐκατηράθη ΡΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 512 app. crit. (V) ἐκατηράθη μεγάλως τὴν Στάφυλον Porikol. I 122 (residual middle aorist ἐκατηράσατο in versions II and III) ὁ Θεὸς τὴν κατηράθη Synax. gyn. 117 ὅποιους χριστιανούς ἐκαταράθηκα (1643, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1960: 3, 3.2) καὶ ἐκαταράθη του Αετοῦ ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. Epim. (a) 1 ἐκατηράσθη σου πολλὰ Poulol. 564 ὁ Ἰησοῦς ἐκαταράσθη τὸν δάσκαλον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 345.3 τότε ἐκατηράσθη τὸν θεὸς τὸν ὄφιν DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 24, ω7ν.31 (1561) ἡ συκὴ ὅπου ἐκαταράσθη KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 11.21 ἡ Ἥρα τῆς ἐκατηράσθη ΜΑΚΟΛΑΣ, Ioust. 425.41 τὸν ἐκαταράστη (1708, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 23, 99.90)

Sporadically, forms with -ισθ/-ιστ- instead of -ασθ/-αστ- appear, perhaps formed on the basis of an analogically created present καταρίζω, which is, however, unattested in LMedG/EMG: καὶ τὸν ἐκαταρίστηκεν ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 107.8; τοῦ ὄφη ἐκαταρίσθη VEST., Prol. Theot. 79.

κερδαίνω/κερδένω

In two texts from the Peloponnese and one of unknown provenance (Alfav. 14), the verb κερδένω/κερδαίνω has an alternative imperfective stem κερδεζ-, modelled on the perfective stem κερδεσ-, for which see 2.2.1.5.1: καὶ τὸ ἄλλο νὰ κερδέζουσιν Chron. Mor. H 1992; τὸ τέλος οὐ κερδέζεις Alfav. 14 5 app. crit. (M); ἐκερδέζανε τὸν πόλεμο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 33.12.

κρύπτω/κρύβω

The verb κρύπτω/κρύβω shows an interesting peculiarity in that it developed another alternative perfective passive stem κρυβήθ-, alongside κρυπτ- and κρυβ- (for which see 2.2.1.2.2), from at least the 9th c.⁹⁸ This stem is said to derive from an oxytone variant κρυβῶμαι, but it is, in fact, the other way around.⁹⁹ Forms derived from this stem are quite frequent, and can be found in various texts from various areas throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

ἐχάθης, ἐκρυβήθης GLYKAS, Stichoi 199 ὁ σκλάβος ἐκρυβήθην Assizes B 404.3 ἐκρυβήθ' εἰς τὰς καμάρας Pol. Tr. 9968 app. crit. (X) νὰ κρυβηθῇ ἐγύρευσεν Poulol. 319 το πρᾶγμα θέλει κρυβηθεῖν Diig. Apoll. 29 ἐχάθης, ἐκρυβήθης Alosis 824 ντρέποντα ἐκρυβήθησαν ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 490 στὸν τράφο ἐκρυβήθη ΖΙΝΟΣ, Vatr. 408 ο κυνηγὸς κρυβήθηκε ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 45.9 εἰς ποῖον ... κάστρον νὰ κρυβηθοῦμεν; ΣΤΑΥΡΙΝΟΣ, Diig. Mich. Voev. 849 (Pidonia) ὁ Ἰησοῦς ἐκρυβήθη ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΡ., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 8.59 ἐκρυβηθήκαν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 7960 οὐδὲ νὰ κρυβηθῇτε ΒΟΥΝΙΑΛΙΣ Μ., Diig. Pol. 535.4

Sporadically the /v/ of κρύβω may become /f/: ἐκρυφήθηκε Byz. Il. 223; νὰ μὲν κρύφουσιν ὄνομαν ΚΟΝΣΤ. ΔΙΑΚ., Ist. Makaritou Marko 264. For anaptyxis of /ɣ/ in forms such as κρύβγω see 2.1.1.1.1 and I, 3.5.2.2. For κρυβ- instead of κρυβ- see I, 2.8.3.

λέγω

The verb λέγω has an imperfective vowel-stem variant λέω. In all persons but 1 sg. deletion of the vowel in the ending may take place, for which see 2.1.1.2.

To form its perfective moods and tenses it continues to make use of the inherited stem εἰπ- (see 2.2.2.2), which had attached itself to λέγω on semantic grounds already in ⁹⁸ First attestations are found in the 9th-c. Life of Peter of Atroa (ed. V. Laurent), an aorist participle κρυβηθέντος 64.22, and in the work of Symeon the New Theologian (ed. J. Koder; 10th–11th c.; oldest ms D 13th c.): an aorist participle κρυβηθέν 55.129 (all mss) and an imperative κρυβήθησε 21.418 app. crit. (D). A similar form of the verb γράφω has been found in a document from S. Italy: οἱ ἀνωτέρω γραφηθέντες (1162, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 31, 171.14); but as this is an isolated instance, no secure conclusions can be drawn regarding the verb γράφω.

⁹⁹ The supposition that this perfective stem is derived from an oxytone verb κρυβῶμαι (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 393) is incorrect, since imperfective forms are much rarer and appear much later than the perfective forms (imperfective forms in Poulol., Phys. and Byz. Il., Vulgärorakel; see ΚΡΙΑΡΑΣ, Lex. s.v. κρυβῶμαι ? / κρυβούμαι ?, who rightly states that the present is derived from the aorist).

Antiquity. The regular perfective stem λεξ- is uncommon for the independent verb, occurring in mixed- and higher-register texts only, e.g.:

εἰ γὰρ καὶ λέξων ἤρχομουν Ptoch. III 47 καὶ πῶς νὰ ζήσω, λέξον μοι Ptoch. IV 131 ὑμῖν λέξομεν τάδε Dig. G VII.158 οὐδὲν ἡξεύρω τί νὰ πῶ, οὐδὲ τὸ τί νὰ λέξω Alosis 346

It is, however, the norm for its prefixed derivatives such as διαλέγω, ἐκλέγω, ἐπιλέγω:

ἀλλ' ἐπίλεξον ὅφ' ἡμῶν ἓνα οἷον κελεύεις Dig. G VI.213 νὰ ἐκλέξουν βασιλέα Chron. Mor. H 924 ὅτι ἐκείνους τοὺς ἐδιόλεξα Achil. L 119 ἀμφοτέρως τοὺς ἐκδιαλέξαν (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 235, 139.9) θέλει διαλέξωμεν τὸ καλύτερον (1654, Chios, ZERLENDIS 1917: 3, 244.25–6)

The exception to this are a few verbs, in which λέγω has the meaning “to say”:

μάγειρος τοῦ ἀντεῖπε Dig. A 2326 ἐπροεῖπα (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 251.74) ἐξανάπα pro ἐξαναιῖπα GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. replicare ἐπροεῖπαμεν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 102.25; καθὼς προεῖπα IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 9598

For some verbs both forms are found, usually with different meaning (ἐκλέγω: ἐκλέξω “to choose”; ἐξεῖπω “to speak”; καταλέγω: καταλέξω “to tell”, κατεῖπω “to accuse”):

τούτου δὲ τοῦνομα λοιπόν, ἵνα σαφῶς ἐξεῖπω Dig. A 21 ἐκλεξεν διὰ στιμαδόρον του (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 2, 81.14) ἂν μόνον καταλέξης με καὶ κατὰ μέρος εἴπης [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1135 πολλὰ μὲ ἐκατεῖπες Diig. tetr. 741

The “perfect” passive participle is either the old – usually unreduplicated – λεγμένος: τὸ λεγμένον Ptoch. IV 342; στρατιώτας ἐκλεγμένους Pol. Tr. 2617; ὅλους διαλεγμένους Chron. Toc. 1062; or innovative εἰπωμένος, for which see 2.3.2.

ὁμνύω

The verb ὁμνύω is the only one of the barytone vowel-stem verbs that can change the stem vowel, producing a regional variant in -όω, as well as one in -έω.

The variant in -όω, with a perfective stem in -οο or -οξ, occurs mainly in texts from Crete: ἔμνοξέ μου TROILOS, Rodol. I.598 (ὁμνύω > ὁμνόω > ὁμνόγω: ὁμνόξω). It can also be found with an intervocalic /y/ (see I, 3.5.2.1 for details): ἡμνογεν MOREZINOS, Klini 51.24.

The variant in -έω appears in texts from various regions and behaves in ways similar to other verbs with a stem in /e/ (for which see 2.1.1.2):

καὶ μὲ ὄρκον τὴν ὁμνέει Dig. E 901 ὁμνέουν Pol. Tr. 12005 app. crit. (CV) ὁμνέω σας (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.17) ὁμνέω σας Alosis 462 and 688 ὁμνέω σε LIMEN., Than. Rod. 411; ὁμνέει σου ibid. 535 ὁμνέω σας ἀλήθεια Fyll. gadar. 23B μακάρι καὶ ἀν ὁμνέει IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 52; ὁμνεεν ibid. 250; τως ὁμνέουν ibid. 4343

It can sometimes be found with an intervocalic /y/ (for which see I, 3.5.2.1):

τ' άστρον την γην ομνέγει Apoll. Rim. E 1404 μνέγω Alex. Rim. 142
 σοῦ ὁμνέγω Fyll. gadar. 281B και ὀρκους τονε μνέγουν STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 793 (Pidonia) ἄρχισεν νὰ ὁμνέγη VEST., Prol. Theot. 48

In texts from south-eastern areas deletion of the vowel of the ending after that of the stem may occur in the 2 sg. and 3 sg. forms: ὁμνέ Assizes B 285.16 and 285.22; ὁμνές ibid. 214.14, 466.24 and 466.29; ὁμνέ κ' εἰς τὸ σπαθίν του Alosis 496 app. crit.

παύω

In Cretan and Heptanesian texts of the 16th/17th c., the verb παύω (though not its prefixed derivatives such as ἀναπαύω) has a variant imperfective stem παυτ-, probably modelled on verbs in -φτω such as βλάφτω, σκάφτω (for which see 2.1.1.1.1) via the perfective stem: βλάφτω, ἔβλαψα : παύω, ἔπαψα > παύτω:

ἔπαυτεν MOREZINOS, Klini 64.10 παύτου τα κλάηματά σας CHORTATSIS, Panor. IV.361; παύτου καὶ κατατάσσου id., Erof. V.324 ἀποῦ ποτὲ δὲν παύτου TROILOS, Rodol. I.225 λουμπάρδες δὲν ἐπαύτανε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 154.9
 καὶ τὸ ὄχθηρτές τους παύτω Zinon Prol. 14

πίπτω

The verb πίπτω developed into πέφτω by first adopting the vowel /e/ of its perfective stem πεσ-, leading to πέπτω:

ὅσοι ἐπροσπέπταν Chron. Mor. H 5684 app. crit.
 συχνὰ τοὺς ἐπιπέπταν Pol. Tr. 13784; πέπτει ἐκεῖνος κάτω ibid. 4753 app. crit. (B) ἔαν πέπτῃ ὁ σταλαγμός Liv. V 1500; εἰς τοῦτο σὲ προσπέπτω ibid. 3108 ἔπεπτα εἰς τοῦτο καὶ εἰς αὐτό Liv. α 692 πέπτει ὁ κύνας εἰς τὴν γῆν Flor. L 385 νὰ πέπτῃ, νὰ ἀποθνήσκῃ SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 337 transcr. (Lendari) πέπτει ὁ καρπὸς DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 902 ἐπέπταν οἱ σαῖτες Diig. Alex. E 169.14 (Lolos); καὶ ἔπεπταν εἰς τὴν γῆν ibid. 191.19 καὶ πέπτουσιν εἰς δουλείαν των εχθρῶν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 55.8
 ἐπῆρα καὶ ἐγὼ τὸ ρέσμιν ὅπου μοῦ ἐμπέπτεν (1687, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 20, 53.13–14)

This then evolved into πέφτω, now SMG, through manner dissimilation (for which see I, 3.8.1):

ἔπεφτεν εἰς τὰ ἄνθη Achil. L 525 καὶ δὲν ἦπεφτε (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 44.5) πέφτει μετὰ τῆς παρὰ φύσης Assizes A 227.12
 νὰ πέφτουν Spanos B 110
 νὰ πέφτει (1503, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 224, 189.14) πέφτου (1603, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 1, 26.5) ἐπέφτανε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 52.29 νὰ πέφτει ἀπὸ τὸ μπενεφίτο (1699, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 5, 165.28) καὶ πέφτουν καὶ ψοφάουν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1956

καὶ ἡπεφτες σὲ ζάλη PETRITSIS, Dig. O 416 καὶ πέφτω καὶ βαρίσκω KORNAROS, Erot. I.342

In his grammar Romanos Nikiforou gives a rare alternative form with /n/ replacing /t/: ξεπέφνω ROMANOS, Grammar 126.7.

The verb also has a rare alternative perfective stem in -κ, for which see 2.2.1.10. For its innovative “perfect” passive participle πεσομένος, see 2.3.2.

πλάθω

The verb πλάθω (< πλάσσω/πλάττω), although not used very frequently, shows some variation in the imperfective stem; both πλάθω and πλάττω are used in the period covered by this Grammar:

πλάττεται KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 152.24 όλα τα μεταπλάττουσι ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 4918 εμεταπλάττουσαν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 20.20 γῆ ἐπλάθε γῆ εκοσκίνιζε CHORTATISIS, Panor. II.94 πλάθεται νὰ εἶναι ἄρρωστη Bertoldos 51.30–1

An alternative stem πλασκ- occurs in a text from Cyprus: πλάσκεται Fior 76.17; while πλάζω has been found only in Liv. E: καὶ μόνος μεταπλάζεται καὶ γίνετα γυναικα Liv. E 649.

ποιῶ

Before and throughout the period under investigation and in texts from all areas the verb ποιῶ produces forms in which the two consecutive [i] sounds are reduced to one: ἐποίησα > ἐποίησα; ποιήσῃ > ποιήσει. In the aorist indicative the stress may be shifted to the antepenultimate (ἐποίησα for ἐποίησα):

νὰ ποίσω θέαμα μέγα GLYKAS, Stichoi 287 τοῦ νὰ τοῦ ἔχη ποίσει Chron. Mor. H 2559 ἐδάρει καὶ τὰ γράμματα, ἂν μὲ ἔποισαν τεχνίτην Ptoch. III 89 καὶ ὥραν πολλὴν ἐποίησασιν Dig. E 75 ποίησε τίποτα Liv. V 2702 πηδηματίτιζιν ἔποισεν Diig. tetr. 660 app. crit. (CA) θέλω ποίσει (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 101.11) καὶ ποίσετε νὰ τὸ βάλετε εἰς ἔργο (1468, Alyki, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 15, 10.3) νὰ μοῦ ποίση (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 62, 179.14) (ποι<ῆ>ση in the ed.)
ἂν τὶς βενέτικος ποίση χρέος (1478/9, Constantinople, GILLILAND WRIGHT/MACKAY 2007: 270.19) θάλασσα, ποῖσε μουγκρισμόν DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 400 ποίησε τοὺς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.27 ἔποισε VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 34 δὲν ἡμπορῶ νὰ ποίσω Thrinos Kypr. 144

Sometimes a conservative spelling is maintained, but especially in verse texts it is usually quite clear when forms of ποιῶ should be read with one [i], e.g. τὸ τί σὲ ποιήσῃ οὐδὲν ἔχω Chron. Mor. H 462 (1st hemistich; read: οὐδὲν ἔχω).

For alternative perfective forms of the verb ποιῶ with -κ-, see 2.2.1.10.

τρώγω

The verb τρώγω has an imperfective vowel-stem variant τρώω, in which vowel deletion may occur (see 2.1.1.2). The perfective stem associated with τρώγω is inherited φαγ-:

- ἐφάγασιν (1067, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 27, 207.30) ἀκρόστιχον οὐκ ἔφαγα GLYKAS, Stichoi 546 νὰ ἔφαγα Ptoch. IV 180 φάγε (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 101.4d) αφόν εφάγαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 44.9 ἦφαγεν (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 179.6) τὰ φάγανε (1641, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 232, 189.46–7) τὴν ὥρα ποὺ θὲ φάγω VEST., Prol. Theot. 33

The /ɣ/ in these forms may be omitted, after which deletion of one of the two consecutive vowels may occur; see 2.2.2.3 for details. For the innovative participle φαγωμένος, see 2.3.2.

ὑπάγω

The verb ὑπάγω originally had an irregular perfective stem ὑπαγαγ-. However, this stem fell into disuse, and the imperfective stem started to express both the imperfective and the perfective verbal aspect.¹⁰⁰ In order to distinguish this new perfective stem from the old imperfective one, for the latter ὑπαγ- was then extended with the affix -αίν- (for which see also 2.1.1.3), resulting in ὑπαγαίνω/παγαίνω, which occurs in texts from the very beginning of the LMedG period, e.g.:

- ὑπαγαίνω Spaneas V 23
 νὰ ἔχω ὑπαγαίνει Chron. Mor. H 2414 νὰ παγαίνουν (1490, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 22, 109.22) ὑπαγαίνοντας εἰς τὲς γράβες (1501, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 65, 99.13)

The verb tends to retain its internal augment in the imperfect: εἰ μὲν ὑπήγαγεν (app. crit.) (15th c., Unknown, SEARBY 2003: 2, 692.3), which led to a reanalysis of the stem as (ὑ)πηγαίν- (cf. SMG πηγαίνω):

- ὑπηένω Dig. E 792
 νὰ πηγαίνου εἰς τοὺς πλέα πρόξιμους (1528, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 113, 225.1–2) πηγαινάμενοι ἀνταμῶς οἱ δύο (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 161, 102.30) θὲ νὰ πηαίνη Vosk. 118

The /ɣ/ in (ὑ)πάγω may be omitted, after which vowel deletion may occur. See 2.1.1.2 for details.

In texts of northern provenance a new imperfective stem occurs in which /n/ has been added to (ὑ)πάω, e.g. καὶ πάνεις εἰς τὸ ὄρος Poulol. 117 app. crit. (Z); καβαλλικεύω μάβρον μου, πάνω νὰ τὸν ποτίσω Ekatol. (Meteoron) 6. For more examples see 2.1.1.2.

¹⁰⁰ Examples of ὑπάγω used as a perfective form can already be found e.g. in John Chrysostom (4th/5th c.): ὅταν ἀναδέξη μικρὸν τι τοῦ νόμου, καὶ ὑπάγῃς σεαυτὸν τῷ ζυγῷ, ὅλην ἐφειλκύσω τὴν δεσποτείαν (see the online TLG).

In late EMG texts from northern areas,¹⁰¹ the verb has an alternative perfective stem πάγησ-, which appears to be modelled on the paradigm of oxytone verbs (cf. other barytone verbs, 2.2.1.7):

καὶ μοῦ ᾽πάγησαν παραμικρὸν ἔξοδον (1665–76, Ioannina, VAKATSAS 1992: 3, 153.8) ἐπάγησεν ὁ παναγιώτατος δεσπότης (1698, Albania, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 2067, f.80v.1) κέπέρασα κέπάγησα VATATIS, Periig. I 132; στὸ Ἀστραχάνι πάγησα id., Periig. II 41 ἐπάγησε πρὸς τὴν οσταρίαν Don Kis. 6.24–5; ἐπάγησαν εἰς τὸ ταξίδι τοὺς ibid. 95.6; ἐβγήκεν καὶ ἐπάγησεν ibid. 443.11

One instance has been found of a rare imperative, again in a text of northern provenance: πάινε δῶσέ τα Diig. Vefa 903, probably πάγαίνε > πάαινε > πάινε (with mid-vowel raising of /e/ to [i], see I, 2.5.4).

A shortened form πά (sometimes accented with a circumflex like the 3 sg. form, for which see 2.2.2.3) can be found for all persons singular and plural from about the 15th c. onwards, mainly in texts from insular areas, among which Crete, the Heptanese, the Cyclades, Cyprus and Chios. It is used for the present indicative as well as the aorist subjunctive, e.g. καὶ τὸ νερὸν ποῦ πᾶ νὰ πιῶ Peri xen. 243; ἐνι κρατημένοι νὰ πᾶ νὰ δοῦν Assizes A 108.30. For details see 5.1.7 and 5.7.4.

Even though the verb, in its intransitive meaning “to go”, lacks passive morphology, it is possible to form present and “perfect” passive participles with active meaning, for which see 2.3.

ὑπόσχομαι

The deponent verb ὑπόσχομαι (< AG ὑπισχνέομαι) was formed from the middle aorist ὑπεσχόμην, subj. ὑπόσχωμαι (JANNARIS 1897: 553). As the middle voice had ceased to be a living category before the period under review, innovative ὑπόσχομαι must predate it.¹⁰² The passive aorist ὑπεσχέθη (“it was promised”) started to serve as the aorist indicative, with an active, transitive meaning (ὑπεσχέθην, “I promised”), before the LMedG period.¹⁰³

The Chronicle of Morea shows unique variation where this verb is concerned, with forms such as ὑποσχίεται, ὑποσχίόμεθεν, ὑπησχήθη, ὑπισκήθη, and even ἐπισχεθῆ and ἐπισχῆθης, which point to oxytone variants ὑποσχῶμαι and ἐπισχῶμαι. See AERTS/HOKWERDA 2002 s.v. ἐπίσχομαι and ὑπόσχομαι. For confusion between prefixes see also 3.3.

φθάνω/φτάνω

The verb φθάνω/φτάνω forms an alternative perfective stem φταξ-, mainly in Cretan texts from the 16th c. onwards; this stem is possibly derived from a variant φτάζω, which can be found in a document from Sicily (provenance of author unknown): φθάζει ἕως τῆς μείξεως τῶν δύο ρυάκιων (1141, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 5, 18.19).

¹⁰¹ Cf. CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 88, who mentions (ἐ)πάγησα, (ἐ)πάγησάμε in the modern northern dialects and in Pontic.

¹⁰² ὑπόσχομαι occurs in the Apocalypse of Sedrach (2nd–5th c.) and in recensio λ of the Alexander Romance (7th/8th c.), with the caveat that both texts have been transmitted in LMedG manuscripts.

¹⁰³ E.g. in Justinian’s Novels (6th c.): Εἰ δὲ καὶ τις αὐτοῖς ὑπεσχέθῃ ἢ ὑποσχεθῇ θεραπεία διὰ γραμμάτων (see the online TLG).

ἔφταξεν εἰς τὸ κάτεργον Apoll. Rim. V 1495 ἐφτάξασιν MOREZINOS, Klini 47.35 μ' ἀπείτις ἔφταξα ἔδεπά CHORTATSI, Katz. V.11 νὰ ᾿χα τὴ φτάξει ζωντανή Vosk. 423 ἦφταξα, Ἀρέτα Stathis III.75 τὸ φτάξη δώδεκα χρονῶ KORNAROS, Erot. III.1587 (read φτάξει) καὶ τὸ μαντάτο γλήγορα τσῆ μάνας σου νὰ φτάξει Thysia Avr. 1014 τέσσερεις χρόνους λείπομαι νὰ φτάξω τσι πενήντα FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.163 ἔφταξε TROILOS, Rodol. V.286 νὰ ᾿πά νὰ τονε φτάξω PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1870 (rhymes with πράξω) ἐφτάξανε στὴ Ντία BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 519.3 ὥστε νὰ φθάσουν εἰς ἀκοὴν BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 68; ᾶς προφθάξη ibid. 70 ἔφθαξάμεν VATATSI, Periiig. I 169; φθάξαμε ibid. 521

3 The Augment

The augment is a prefix that marks a verb form for past tense. Traditionally the augment is called syllabic when the verb begins with a consonant, and temporal, or quantitative, when the verb begins with a vowel. The temporal augment was the result of contraction of the syllabic augment with the initial vowel of the verb, which led to lengthening of that vowel.

In LMedG and EMG the augment is used with the aorist and imperfect indicative, active and passive. The syllabic augment may be /e/ or, mostly regionally, /i/. The temporal augment may be employed when the verb starts in /a/ or /e/, whereby /a/ becomes /i/, traditionally spelled <η>, and /e/ becomes /i/, traditionally spelled <η> or <ει>, depending on the verb. As the temporal augment had ceased to be a functional process before LMedG due to the reorganization of the vowel system that took place in the Koine, in which vowel length distinction was eliminated overall (HORROCKS 2010: 168, 319), its use is mostly limited to inherited verbs (e.g. ἀκούω, ἐλέγχω). When the verbs start in /i/, /o/ or /u/, the temporal augment is absent, again as a result of the loss of the above-mentioned vowel length distinction: the historical spellings <ω> and <η> for past-tense forms of verbs starting in /o/ and <α> respectively are entirely graphematic, as in the Medieval period there is no distinction in the pronunciation of <ο> and <ω>, and the iota (subscript) in <η> had already been lost in pronunciation (HORROCKS 2010: 175); the spelling <ω> for past-tense forms of verbs starting in <οι> (pronounced /i/ since ca. AD 1000) is indefensible, as <ω> could never represent the sound /i/. The /e/ augment frequently replaces the initial vowel of the verb, against the vowel hierarchy, in which /e/ is one of the weakest vowels (see I, 2.9.2), indicating that the need for morphological explicitness may overrule the laws of phonology (cf. 2.1.1.2).

A distinction needs to be made between verbs compounded with a nominal, adjectival, pronominal or adverbial modifier and dvandva compounds (“compound verbs”, see 3.2), and verbs prefixed with a preposition (“prefixed verbs”, see 3.3). Compound verbs, including dvandvas (verb + verb compounds such as μπαينوβγαίνω, πηγαينوέρχομαι, περνοδιαβαίνω and φαγοποτιζώ), beginning in a consonant have external augment in principle, and only rarely internal augment or double augment, whereas verbs that are prefixed with a preposition may have the syllabic or temporal augment placed between the preposition and the verb, as in AG (e.g. κατέλαβα, παρήκουσα), the syllabic augment before the preposition (e.g. ἐκατάλαβα, ἐπαράκουσα), or double augment, before and after the preposition (e.g. ἐκατέλαβα, ἐπαρήκουσα). When the prefix starts in a vowel and the form has external augment, the syllabic augment is usually employed, replacing the initial vowel of the prefix (e.g. ἐπόθανα < ἀποθαίνω); the temporal augment is much rarer with these verbs (e.g. ἠποφάσισα < ἀποφασίζω). For a preliminary study of the augment in prefixed verbs, see MANOLESSOU/NIFADOPOULOS 2000. Some verbs that are prefixed in origin, such as ἀνοίγω (< ἀνοίγνυμι), ἀφήνω (< ἀφίω < ἀφίημι) ἐξεύρω/ξεύρω (< ἐξευρίσκω), καθίζω, πανδρεύω/παντρεύω (< ὑπανδρεύω) and περπατῶ/πορπατῶ (< περιπατῶ), are clearly viewed as simple verbs, taking external augment only.

The LMedG and EMG situation is roughly a continuation of previous stages of the language (see e.g. DIETERICH 1898: 212; PSALTES 1913: 200–6), which from Late Antiquity onwards had shown an increased tendency to omit the augment with verbs starting in a vowel and to use external augment with prefixed verbs. Throughout the period covered by this Grammar, omission of the augment may occur in prefixed and compound verbs and in simple verbs that start in a vowel. However, it should be emphasized that the omission of the augment in simple verbs that begin with a consonant is far less frequent, and that the SMG rule that the augment only appears when stressed does not apply to LMed and EMG texts, which almost always have the augment, whether it is stressed or not (for an overview of the use of the augment in MG dialects see TRIANDAFYLIDIS 1936).

In fact, the presence of the augment is so strong that it may cross over to other tenses and even to other word classes (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 70–1). Thus new verb forms may arise incorporating the augment in all tenses; to give just a few of many examples:

- δίχως νὰ ἤξεύρη (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 226.24) καὶ ἂν ἡμπορεῖς, υἱοῦτζικε Spaneas Z 4; εἰς τὸν Θεὸν ἡκούεται ibid. 145; ἔναν θεὸν ἐγνώριζε τῶν πάντων βασιλέαν ibid. 67 (imp.); ὅσον τὴν ἐνεμπιστεύεσαι ibid. 357 app. crit.
ἤξεύρω σε Poulol. 430
καλὰ ἡγνώριζετε Assizes B 284.31 ἂν οὐκ ἐδῶ τὸ κάλλος σου Achil. L 748 (= ἰδῶ) ἀνεβοκατηβαίνει Diig. tetr. 1070 app. crit. (V) νὰ ἐμπορήσουν (15th. c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 210.8.15) ἡπαίρνει Achil. N 506 διότι μὲ ἡγλέπουν ἐπτωχὸν καλογεράκι (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.6) (= ἡβλέπουν) οὐκ ἤξεύρουν Peri xen. 53 app. crit. (A) παρεκαλῶ σε Synax. gyn. 445 διὰ νὰ ἡβλέπει KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 132.27 δεν θέλω σου ἀπεκριθεῖ Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 210 ἐνεφανίζεται (1572, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 54, 117.8) παρεκαλῶ σε Nov. II 162.29 ἡβλέποντας ἐγὼ αὐτὰ PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.80 δεν ἤθελαν ἡμπορέσει Don Kis. 48.9

Regionally (Heptanese and nearby mainland) a strong presence of ἡύρίσκω, ἡμοιράζω and ἡλιώνω (< λιώνω) can be observed:

- ἡθελαν ἡύρίσκονται (1371, Corfu, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 5: 3, 68.21) (ed. ἡύρίσκοντας) νὰ τὸ ἡμοιράζουν (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 3, 150.8) νὰ τὸν ἡύροῦν Chron. Toc. 307 νὰ μηδὲν ἔχετε ἄδειαν ... ἡμοιράσαι αὐτὸ (1480, Methoni, GERLAND 1903: 27, 237.11–12) θέλω ἡμοιράσει Diig. Alex. E 187.13 (Konstantinopulos) τῶν πτωχῶνε ὅπου ἡύρίσκονται (1509, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1950: 1, 144.14) ἂν ἤθελε ἡύρηθεῖ πλεώτερον (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 32, 44.13) οὐδὲν ἡύρίσκεις ἄλλον Alex. Rim. 594 ἔστωσαν ἡλιωμένες καὶ ἀνίσχυρες ὥσάν ποτὲ νὰ μὴν γενοῦσι (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 148, 268.48–9) τὸ ἀντίκρυ ἰνστρουμέντο ἔστω ἡλιωμένο καὶ καταλυμένο (1550, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 54a, 53.5–6) καθὼς ἡύρίσκεται (1541, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 11, 223.11) νὰ εἶναι κομμένες καὶ ἡλιωμένες, ὥσάν καὶ νὰ μὴν τὲς ἤθελε κάμει (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 38, 98.13–14) κόπτουν καὶ ἡλιώνουν (1579, Corfu, KARYDIS 1994: 6, 107.24) ἡύρισκονται (1597, Kefalonia, CHRYSOCHOIDIS 1977: 2, 212.59) ἡμεράζουνε (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 40, 57.9); ποὺ ἡύρισκομαι (ibid. 84, 87.7) τὸ σπιτότοπον ὅπου ἡύρισκομαι νὰ ἔχω (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 114.37) νὰ τὰ ἡμοιράζουν (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 8, 7.3) κόβοντας καὶ ἡλιώνοντας (1723, Lefkada, KONDOMICHIS 1957: 309.27–8)

Similarly, augmented verb forms may even influence other word classes, e.g. ἀνετολήν Chron. Mor. T 59; παρεκάλια MONTSEL., Evgena 464.

In some cases the internal augment of a prefixed verb has led to the development of a new simple verb, e.g. ἀποθνήσκω, ἀπέθανον > πεθαίνω; ἐπιθυμῶ, ἐπεθύμησα > πεθυμῶ; καταβαίνω, κατέβην > κατεβαίνω; εἰσβαίνω, εἰσέβην > σεβαίνω; ὑπάγω, ὑπῆγα > πηγαίνω; συμβάλλω, συνήβαλα > συνηβάζω; συμφέρω, συνήφερα/συνέφερα > συνηφέρω/συνεφέρω. In the case of verbs prefixed with ἐκ-, forms with internal augment (e.g. ἐκφωνῶ, ἐξεφώνησα) gave rise to a new prefix (ἐ)ξε- (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 64), which became rather productive, not only with verbs that originally had ἐκ-, e.g. ξεπέφτω, ξεριζώνω, ξετελειώνω, ξετρέχω or ξεφωνῶ, but also with new verbs, such as ξεκάμνω, ξελησμονῶ, ξεμπαρκάρομαι, ξεμπερδεύω and ξεσπαθώνω; it is also used to reinforce the meaning of verbs prefixed with another preposition, e.g. ξεδιαγέρνω, ξεδιαλύνω (for a full analysis of the prefix see MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 1997: 587–94).

In various areas a similar prefix ξη- emerges. It probably originates from verbs with internal /i/ augment (e.g. ἐξαλείφω, ἐξήλειψα; ἐξευθειάζω, ἐξήφτειασα; ἐξαρματώνω, ἐξηρμάτωσα), but then spreads to other verbs as well (see MENARDOS 1969: 70 on Cypriot). Thus in Machairas we find νὰ σὲ ξηλείψουν, νὰ τοὺς ξηφτιάση, ξηλοθρεύγεις μας (< ἐξολοθρεύω), ξηκληρώννω, νὰ τοὺς ξητζιπώση, and even nouns and adverbs such as ὁ ξηγορευτής, ὁ ξηλοθρεμμός, ξήκαμπα, ξηστοματίς. Similar forms can be found in Assizes, Voustronios and other Cypriot texts, e.g. νὰ δείξη καμίαν ξηκαθάρισιν (1578, Cyprus, TSELIKAS 1977: 1, 254.23); νὰ ξηφορτωθῆς (17th c.?, Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 401.10). We also find πριχοῦ ἐξητελεύσω in Alosis 936; and in Heptanesian texts: νὰ ξηβοῦν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XIII.215; ξήσκεπτο (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 20, 74.6); ξηκαθαροσύνη (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 161, 102.30); ἐξηκαθαρίζοντας (1599, Zakynthos, PLOUMIDIS 1995/98: 87.10); ξηφορτώνο<ν>τας ibid. 87.11; μὲ ἐξηκαθαροσύνην ibid. 87.16. In varieties of the language that display mid-vowel raising of unstressed /e/ to [i] (see I, 2.5.4 for details), the change of /e/ to [i] is likely to be phonological. Thus we find: ἀπεξιβαλμένος (1480, Constantinople, LAMBROS 1908c: 2, 480.8); νὰ ῥιτάζῃ (1644–5, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 4, 47.3); τὰ ξιπεταχτά (1703, Thessaly, SOFIANOS 1984: A, 42.8); νὰ ξιμακρύνει Don Kis. 115.24.

The texts written in the period covered by this Grammar are seldom systematic in their employment of the augment, and thus forms with /e/ augment, /i/ augment and unaugmented forms may appear side by side in the same text, e.g. ἐπροσέταξε (1225, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 31, 450.1) and ἐπρόστασεν (ibid. 450.17); τινὰν οὐκ ἔφηκαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1783 and τὸν ἔφηκαν ibid. 2330; καὶ δὲν ἀρμάστην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 40.19 and ἐρμάστην μὲ τὸν Ρεῖμουν ibid. 40.15; κ' ἤφερεν ξυλαράκια Apoll. Rim. V 337 and που μ' ἔφερεν εκ το πουρνόν ibid. 350; ἀπέτυχε (1683, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 56, 266.14) and ἀπότυχε (ibid. 266.46); ἤκαμεν (1697, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 50, 39.23) and ἔκαμε (ibid. 39.25).

For past-tense verb forms with prosthetic /a/, e.g. φεῖτιφάς ἀβγήκε MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 218.16–19; ἀλγισμόνησε Diig. Alex. Sem. S 164, see I, 2.6.1.2. For crasis of /u/ and /e/, e.g. τὸ χωράφι ὁπόκράτει (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 36, 77.27) (= ὁποῦ ἐκράτει) see I, 2.9.5.

3.1 Simple Verbs

3.1.1 Consonant-initial Verbs: Syllabic /e/ Augment

The syllabic augment is employed when a simple verb begins with a consonant. It bears the stress in active forms when both the verb stem and the ending are monosyllabic, e.g. ἔ-γραφ-α, ἔ-γραφ-α (unless a shift of the stress occurs, for which see I, 4.2.4.2); in all other cases the syllabic augment is unstressed. Whether stressed or unstressed, the syllabic augment is nearly always present, appearing also with new verbs and with Italian, French and Turkish loanwords. Most frequently employed is /e/, which can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar, in texts from all regions:

Stressed

καθὼς μας ἔγραψες NIKON, Logos 4 206.6

ἔδωκα ὑπὲρ ψυχικῆς μου σωτηρίας (ca. 1245, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 16, 7.1)

ἀκρόστιχον οὐκ ἔφαγα GLYKAS, Stichoi 546

ἔξευρεν νὰ γράφῃ Chron. Mor. H 8320

ἔτρεχα ὡς κύριος καὶ αὐθέντης Liv. V 2249; ἔφερα εἰς γῆν τὸν οὐρανόν ibid. 2565 καὶ ἐγὼ ἔμαθα ὅτι ἔκαμες ὡσάν ἤθελες (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.8–9)

ἔδωκαν οἱ ὅλοι τὸν λόγον τως (1453, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1967: 1, 47.11)

ἔμαθα (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.2); ἔπιασέν τον (1487, Rhodes, ibid. 10, 66.6) έθελεν VOUSTR., Chron. A 26.8

ἀγελάδες δύο ὁποῦ ἔφεραν (1566, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 280, 382.7) ἔδωκα (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 9, 131.13) διὰ τοὺς δυὸ μύλους ὁποῦ ἔκτισεν (1588, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 5, 2.2) τίποτις δὲν τὸν ἔκοφτεν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 62.13 ἔλεγαν (1645, Jassy, LEGRAND 1903: 5, 10.7) ἔκλεψε τὲς γαδάρε<ς> τοῦ Γεώργη (1691, Ikaria/Chios?, TSELIKAS 2000: 81, 64.7)

Unstressed

ἐπολεμοῦσαν NIKON, Logos 31 812.12 ἐκρυβήθης GLYKAS, Stichoi 199; ἐχάσες την ibid. 206; οὐκ ἐκαυχοῦ, ψυχὴ μου ibid. 302 τὸ τοπίον ἐδῶκα σε (1280, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 82, 48.6) ἐδυνέτον Dig. E 486
 ἄπαπα κ' ἡ πίττα ἐχάθη Vulgärorakel I.100 μεγάλως τὸ ἐχάρηκεν Pol. Tr. 75; τίποτε οὐκ ἐδυνήθησαν ibid. 351 ἐπιάσστησαν καὶ ἐφούρκισαν τους (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 96.6) δὲν εμοβιάσαν τίποτες VOUSTR., Chron. A 16.12–13 (< Occit. mover) ἐπληρώθη (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 241, 337.1); ἐδῶκασί του (ibid. 277, 380.2) κατὰ πῶς ἐταιριάσασι (1577, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 21, 156.23) ἐπρεζεντάρισεν καὶ μία γραφή (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 130, 144.28) (< Ital. presentare) ἐμποροῦμαν (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 84.21) ἐδῶσαμε εἰς πᾶσα μοναστήρι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §21.27; ἐβούλομουν ibid. I §31.83 διότις ἐχιαστίασιν ἀπὸ τας δυσκολίας IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5459 (= σαστίζω < Turk. yaşıtı) ἐστέκουντονε (1687, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 674, 921.17)

3.1.2 Consonant-initial Verbs: Syllabic /i/ Augment

3.1.2.1 Stressed and Unstressed – Broad Geographical Spread

The /i/ augment is used routinely with certain verbs, but is geographically restricted for others. Some verbs had obtained alternative forms with an /i/ augment already in Antiquity, such as βούλομαι and δύναμαι (JANNARIS 1897: 188).¹ The /i/ augment, both stressed and unstressed, also appears with certain verbs that originally started in /e/ or /i/ but had undergone deletion of the initial vowel, such as θέλω (< ἐθέλω), στήκω/στέκω (< ἰστήκω/ἐστήκω < AG perf. ἔστηκα)² and πορῶ/μπορῶ (< εὐπορῶ).³ All of the above-mentioned verbs can also be found with the /e/ augment (for examples see above).

ἡβουλήθην (1059, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 7, 169.45) ἡβουλήθησαν Chron. Toc. 93a ἡβουλήθη ὁ πατριάρχης ὅτι νὰ ἀπεστείλῃ Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 1 οὐκ ἡδυνήθησαν Pol. Tr. 351 app. crit. (VX) ἡδύνονταν Chron. Toc. 93
 ἀνέβειν ἡδυνήθηκεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1269

¹ Jannaris also mentions the verb μέλλω in this context, but in the period under review μέλλω appears with (stressed) /i/ augment only in specific areas that generally use the stressed /i/ augment (E. Crete, Aegean; see 3.1.2.2); the only example from another area is the following: ἄν ἡμελλε νὰ τὸ στείλῃς (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 79.14–15), which appears in a mixed-register letter and could therefore be viewed as an archaism. However, the provenance of the author is also unknown.

² In the case of ἥστεκα, it may be observed that in areas in which the /i/ augment is normally used only when stressed (E. Crete, Aegean, see 3.1.2.2), the /e/ augment tends to be used when it is unstressed (ἐστέκαμε); however, ἥστεκα does appear in a broader geographical area, both when the augment is stressed and when it is unstressed.

³ In all likelihood the verb εὐπορῶ developed into μπορῶ through the intermediate stages ἐπορῶ > πορῶ, in which the /i/ augment of ἡπόρησα lingered. As this verb was mostly used in negative contexts (οὐκ εὐπορῶ), the combination οὐδὲν πορῶ produced voiced μπορῶ. Non-past forms such as ἡμπορῶ and ἐμπορῶ (see introduction to this Chapter) are therefore later reanalyses from past-tense forms (JANNARIS 1897: 80).

ἡδυνήθηκα Alosis 1002 ἡδυνήθηκα Diig. Alex. E 265.1 (Lolos) ἤθελες δοξασθῆν Dig. G II.81 ἤθελαν οὐκ ἠθέλασιν Pol. Tr. 224 ἄν ἤθελεν εἶσται καύχα μου (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.12) ὅλοι τοῦ ἤθελαν κακόν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 337.9 ἠθέλαμεν κράζει (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.31) εἴ τις ἤθελεν εὐρεθεῖν (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 7, 127.16); ἠθέλασιν (1574, ibid. 15, 141.23) ἤθελεν σηκωσθῆν (1635, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1982: 1, 13.7) τί ἤθελα κάμει PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §7.5

ἠθέλαμεν τῆς τὸ πέμψει (1663, Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 39, 136.8) δεν ἠθέλησε να το κάμει Don Kis. 48.6

ἤστεκεν Log. parig. L 603 (Lambros) ἤστέκονταν δεμένα τὰ φαρία Dig. E 429 ἤστέκετον ὁ ἀνάγων Liv. E 373 καὶ μόνον ἤστηκεν ἐκεῖ Chron. Toc. 2264; τόσον ἤστέκασιν καλὰ ibid. 3358 ἤστεκες νὰ μισέψης (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.6) ἤστέκετο Diig. Alex. E 105.5 (Konstantinopulos) ὅλοι ἤστεκαν ἀντάμα SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 17.33

ὁ Χάρος ἤστεκε P&N Diath. 262

ἤστεκεν καὶ ἐφαίνονταν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §12.4

ἤστεκεν ὁ Ρωτόκριτος KORNAOS, Erot. I.247

ἡμπόρε Assizes A 79.10; ἡμπορήσαν ibid. 128.15

τινὰς οὐδὲν ἡπόρεσεν Achil. O 87 ὅσον ἡπόρει πλεότερον Theseid VI.66,5 (Olsen) δὲν ἡμπόρησεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 32.28

δὲν ἡπόρεσε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.3

δὲν ἡπόρεσεν νὰ τὸν πάρῃ (1624, Skopje?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 72A, 564.27.2) δὲν ἡμπόρεσεν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §13.4

δὲν ἡμπόρουνα MONTSEL., Evgena 165 δὲν ἡμπόρειε KORNAOS, Erot. II.1409

ἡμπορούσαμεν Don Kis. 61.18

Certain verbs with monosyllabic perfective stems acquire an /i/ augment in the aorist by analogy with aorists such as εἶπα, εἶδα, ἦλθα and ἦῤα; e.g. the verb πίνω develops ἤπια alongside ἔπια when ἔπια becomes disyllabic through synizesis. Similarly, two verbs that originally consisted of preposition + βαίνω, namely (ἐ)μπαίνω (< ἐμβαίνω) and (ἐ)βγαίνω (< ἐκβαίνω), developed monosyllabic perfective stems, (ἐ)μπ-, (ἐ)βγ-, which could make use of the -ηκα ending (see 4.4.2), but also developed an alternative paradigm with active past endings: ἤμπα, ἤβγα (see also 2.4). These forms have mainly been found in texts written or copied in southern islands (Crete, Cyprus, Rhodes, Santorini) and islands in the Aegean (Naxos, Chios):⁴

⁴ Sporadically the aorist indicative of μπαίνω occurs with an /e/ augment. Examples have been found in texts from Cyprus and Chios: ἔμπης εἰς συναγωγὴν Ἑβραίου; (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 403.211) (= ἐνέβης); ἔμπεν μέσα στὸ σπῆτι μας VEST., Pathi 460.

- ἐφάγαν κ' ἥπιασιν CHOUNNOS, Kosmog. 1571 ἥπιεν το καὶ ἀπέθανεν Assizes A 184.14 ἥπια Pent. Gen. 24.46, 25.34 and 26.30 ἥπια vel ἔπια GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. bevere ἥπιασι καὶ κρασί μίστατα τέσσερα (1642, Crete, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 21, 16.23) κ' ἥπιανε ὅσο θέλασι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 409.12 ἥπιεν ἡ γῆ ὅσον ἦτον καὶ πρῶτα πιωμένη (1713, Chios, LAMBROS 1910: 351, 209.7)
- εἰς τὸ κουβούκλιν ἥμπασιν Dig. E 416 ἥμπασιν μέσα εἰς τὸ κρεββάτι Achil. L 183 ἥμπεν εἰς τὰς ναῦς LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 385 ἥμπαν εἰς τὴν χώραν Diig. Apoll. 95 ἥμπαν μέσα Diig. Alex. Sem. B 851 ἥμπτε καὶ Δικέβριος Rim. Sant. 143 ἥμπανε μέσα (1646–7, Patmos?/Crete?, LAMBROS 1910: 266, 190.11); ἥμπτε ὁ δεσπότης (ibid. 190.21) ἐμᾶς ποὺ ἥμπαμεν σ' αὐτοὺς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2666 ὡς ἥμπασι (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 518, 744.12)
- ὅλες οἱ βάγιες ἥβγασιν Achil. L 831 καὶ ἥβγεν κατὰ κόσμου Diig. Apoll. 78 ἥβγανε Rim. Sant. 135 ὅσο νᾶμπη νᾶβγη ἡ νύφη, ἥβγαν τοῦ γαμπροῦ τὰ μάτια Paroim. (Warner) 92.6 ἥβγενε εἰς τὸ κυνήγι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1356 (= ἥβγε)
- By analogy with the above forms, the /i/ augment is also employed with the imperfect of μπαίνω and βγαίνω, and with other verbs that originally consisted of preposition + verb, but had come to be reinterpreted as simple verbs, namely βγάζω/βγάνω (< ἐκβάζω < ἐκβιβάζω) and by analogy also with its simplex βάζω/βάνω (< βάλλω); and παίρνω (< ἐπαίρνω < ἐπαίρω), probably reinforced by the use of the /i/ augment in the aorist ἥπῃρα (see 3.3.3.4.2). With these verbs the /i/ augment has been found in texts from various regions:⁵
- νὰ ἥπαιρναν Ptoch. III 194 app. crit. (G) ὁ Θεὸς ἥπαιρε τὸ μου Spaneas Z 494 app. crit. ἥπαιρε τὰς λαμπρίδας Byz. II. 28 καὶ ἥπαιρνε κάθε εἷς (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 53.9) ἀπὸ γάλι γάλι τὰ ἥπαιρνε PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §24.18 πλιὰ ἥπαιρνα τὰ ζάλα Stathis II. 79 ἥπαιρνε ἀπὸ αὐτὸν τὴν τιμωρία PETRITSIS, Dig. O 414 ἥπαιρνε τὸ λαγοῦτο του KORNAROS, Erot. I. 391
- καὶ κόπον ἥβαλες πολύν Alosis 69 ἥβανα εἰς τὴν καρδίαν μου Diig. Alex. F 308.14 (Lolos)

⁵ As before, it may be observed that in areas in which the /i/ augment is normally used only when stressed (E. Crete, Aegean; see 3.1.2.2), with these verbs, too, the /e/ augment tends to be used when it is unstressed; however, the forms with /i/ do appear in a broader geographical area, both when the augment is stressed and when it is unstressed.

καὶ τότες ἔργον ἦβαναν τὸ τί ᾗχαν στὴν βουλήν τους ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 320 (read τότε σ' ἔργον) ἦβαλέν τονε (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 179.3) τὸ φαμέγιο του ἦβαλε CHORTATSI, Katz. III.371 ἦβαλα ᾗ τὸ λογισμοῦ Fallidos 263 ἦβαλα (1647, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 16, 89.57) ἦβαλε τὰ κοπέλια του (1686, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1999: 6, 51.6) τὸ δακτυλίδιν ἦβγαλεν Dig. E 475 ἐκ τὴν πρέσσαν τὸν ἦβγαλαν Pol. Tr. 9715 app. crit. (C) ἄν τὸν ἦβγαλες Katal. 677 τὸ παιδί ἦβγαναν Diig. Alex. F 106.22 (Lolos) κι ἦβγαλές το Stathis I.260 κ' ἦβγαζεν τὴν κορώναν του PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 603 ἦβγαλεν τὸν καρακύρη (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 25.5); ἦβγαναν (ibid. 11, 25.27) ἦβγαλε τὸ ἄσῃμι (1720, Folegandros, GAVALAS 1887: 514.3) ἤμπαινε ἔμπροσθέν τους Achil. L 440 στὸ σπῑτί μου ἤμπαινε Stathis II.300 ἄλλο νερόν δὲ ἦβγαίνει Achil. L 498 ἦβγαίνα δίχως πρίκα P&N Diath. 319

Certain other verbs often adopt the /i/ augment for no apparent morphological reason: φέρω/φέρνω (aor. and imperf.), λέγω (imperf.), βλέπω (imperf.), ξεύρω/ξέρω (< ἐξεύρον, aor. of ἐξευρίσκω) appear with the /i/ augment, both stressed and unstressed, in texts from north to south and east to west. In fact ἦφερα had come into being long before the period covered by this Grammar and can already be found in an Attic inscription of the 3rd/4th c. AD (ἦφεραν, quoted in DIETERICH 1898: 212;⁶ for a 4th/5th-c. example see GIGNAC 1981: 231); the /i/ augment is likely to have been borrowed from its predecessor ἦνεγκον (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 33). In the case of βλέπω and λέγω influence from the /i/ augment of the associated aorists (εἶδα, εἶπα) may be suspected. There is, however, no satisfactory explanation for ἦξευρα.⁷ Given the broad geographical spread it must be stressed that the /i/ augment with these four verbs cannot serve as proof for the provenance of a text:

ἦφερεν τοπικούς γέροντας (13th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 117, 87.2) κ' ἦφέρνησιν σωτάρχισιν Chron. Mor. H 2769 τὸ ἦφέρασιν (1288, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 228.20)

⁶ See inscription IG IP 8395 (= C.I.A. III 2, 1379), at <http://epigraphy.packhum.org/inscriptions/>. Cf. the following example from the apocryphal Acts of John, in direct speech: τίς σε ἦφερεν ὧδε μάγε; Acta Apocr. Ioann. 171.19 (12th/13th-c. ms (V); ed. Bonnet); cf. also: εἶπε τοῦ ὄχλου ὅς ἦφερον τὸν Ἰησοῦν Gospel of Nicodemus 3, 1.4 (version M2, 12th–14th c.; ed. Gounelle).

⁷ It is unclear when the form ἐξεύρω is first used as a present meaning “to know”. An early example appears to be the following (11th/12th c.): καθὼς ἐξεύρεις ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.7–8. However, forms with the /i/ augment have not been found before the 14th c., and it is therefore very unlikely to be a new temporal /i/ augment. The fact that non-past forms with prothetic /i/ paradoxically appear in writing before past-tense forms (ca. 1300, see the introduction to Chapter 3), indicates that ἦξευρα will have been in existence before that time.

τὸ λιγάτον ὁποῖον ἤφερεν (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.16) ἤφερεν (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 21.6) καὶ ἤφεραν τοὺς γέροντας (1474, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 32, 166.2–3) ἤφερε (1502, Kalymnos, ΚΟΥΤΕΛΑΚΗΣ 1981: 1, 28.4) ἤφερα τοὺς μάρτυρές μου MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 221.4
 τὰ ἤφεραν ὅλα εἰς τὸ μέσος (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 236.124) τὸ παρὸν βιβλίον τὸ ἤφερεν (17th c.?, Amorgos?, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 2167, f.2.1) ἤφερεν στὸ σπῆτι (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 718, 820.3) καὶ τὸν ἤφερα τὸν Λάζο PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.47 ἤφεραν τὴν κράλῃσσαν (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 56.12) (author from Athens) ἤφερε ὁ Πεχλιβὰν ρεῖζης μιὰ παῖζα (1670, Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.1, 72.5–6) ὃς ἀέραν ἤλεγές το Liv. V 1568; καὶ τίτοια μὲ ἤλέγασιν ibid. 3065 μία πρὸς ἄλλην ἤλεγεν Florios 849 app. crit. (V) καὶ ἤλεγαν πρὸς ἀλλήλους Achil. N 1517 καὶ ἤλεγεν διὰ τὴ νέαν Achil. O 422 διαταῦτο, Μάρκο, σὲ ἤλεγα FALIEROS, Log. did. 249 ἤλεγε ἡ γυνή Synax. gyn. 210 καὶ ἤλεγεν ὅτι Diig. Alex. F 134.15 (Lolos); ἤλεγα νὰ ἐγλυτώσω ibid. 202.6 (Konstantinopoulos) μὰ ἤλεγεν ἀπὸ λόγου, ὡς λέσι (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 213, 218.3) πάντα ἤλεγεν (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 84.21) πλέον δὲν τὸν ἤλεγεν δοῦλον PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §22.82; ἐκεῖνα ὅπου τὸν ἤλεγα ibid. IV §7.6

 κ' ἤλεγε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 262.26

καὶ ἤβλεπαν Dig. E 1467 τῆς ἤβλεπες τὴν ἰσκία σου Liv. V 2226; κρεμνὸν ἀπὲδω ἤβλέπαμεν ibid. 2514 ἤβλεπε τὰ ἀμπέλια Chron. Toc. 1659 τὰ κύμα<τα> ἤβλεπα PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 443 ἐστάθην καὶ ἤβλεπα Spanos A 28 ἤβλέποσιν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 241.13; δὲν ἤβλεπαν ibid. 329.24–5 γυναικὰ στὸ στενὸ δὲν ἤβλεπες CHORTATIS, Katz. III.304 οὐδὲν ἤβλεπεν ὁ ἀνθρώπος νὰ ὀδεύει (1624, Skopje?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 72A, 564.24.1–2) καλὸν δὲν ἤβλεπαν MONTSEL., Evgena 938 οἱ Τούρκοι δὲν ἠβλέπασιν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1081 κ' ἤβλεπες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 272.24 ἤβλεπα καὶ ἐγὼ τὰ σημεῖα Diath. Nikon Metan. 69 τοσαῦτα ἤξευρεν νὰ εἰπῇ Chron. Mor. H 997 οὐκ ἤξευρα Liv. V 128 ἂν ἤξευρα, κυράτσα μου Katal. 1 ἐὰν ἤξευρα Achil. N 1766 δὲν ἤξευραν τὸν τόπον Theseid I.70,3 (Follieri) τόσον ἤξευραν νὰ ποίσουν VOUSTR., Chron. A 28.3 ἤξερες Alex. Rim. 267 ἤξευρε καλῦτερον ἀπὸ τοὺς τέσσαρους Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 77.10 ὅσοι ἤξέρανε καὶ ἐπλέανε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 52.30 τὸ ἤξευρα καλὰ PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.85 δὲν ἤξευρα (1661, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 26, 112.15–16) αὐτὸς γονεῖς δὲν ἤξευρεν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 165

3.1.2.2 Stressed /i/ Augment – Geographically Restricted

For other verbs a distinction needs to be made between stressed and unstressed /i/ augments, as they generally have a different geographical distribution. From texts that can be securely localized it becomes clear that the stressed /i/ augment appears with various verbs in texts written or copied in Crete and the Aegean (Cyclades, Chios, Rhodes, Patmos; cf. ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1926 for the modern situation), while isolated instances have been found in documents from Venice/Corfu, Mani⁸ and Proikonnisos.⁹ There is also indirect evidence for stressed /i/ augment in Athens, an area for which textual evidence is scarce. Literary texts from both eastern and western Crete tend to make use of the stressed /i/ augment, but from non-literary sources it becomes quite clear that, as in the modern period, the stressed /i/ augment with verbs other than those mentioned in 3.1.2.1 is a feature of eastern rather than western Cretan.¹⁰ As our sources are written texts, it cannot be established whether the /e/ augment in areas that also make extensive use of the /i/ augment – e.g. ἔδειξε KORNAPOS, Erot. II.510 and ἔδειξεν ibid. IV.818; τὸ γράμμα τὸ ἔκαμα, μὰ τ᾽σπρὰ δὲν ἤλαβα (1708, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 86, 96.15–16) – is simply a feature belonging to the literary or written language, or whether there was such variation in the spoken language as well:¹¹ τὴν ἡκρυβα Dig. E 168; τραπέζιν ἥστεσαν ibid. 679; ἡκρουγα ibid. 1175 μοῦ ᾗπαν ὅτι ἡκαμες (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.13); ἡμαθα (ibid. 1, 7.20) γύρου γύρου ἥστεσεν χρουσὸν Achil. L 281; καὶ ἥστρεφέν τους ὀπίσω ibid. 450 ὅπου μᾶς ἡκαμεν (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 172.31) ἡφεγγαν τὴν νύκταν ὡσάν λαμπάδες Diig. Alex. E 275.7 (Lolos) καὶ ἡκαμέν το (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 53.7); ἀληθῶς δὲ ἡβανε (ibid. 4, 53.8) σοῦ ἡγραφα (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 1, 289.4); τὰ ἥδεσε (ibid. 2, 296.66); ἡλαβα (ibid. 3, 302.4) (author born in Venice, Corfiot background) ἥδωσεν (1576, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 1, 1.2); ἡλαβα (1578–83, ibid. 2, 1.2) ἡλαχα CHORTATIS, Katz. III.4; ἄν ἡβαλε κι' ἄλλον ibid. III.399; ἥδιδέ μου id., Erof. III.26 transcr. X (Legrand) ἡκαμα (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 84.27) ἥστειλεμ μὲ τὸ Νικόλα (1638, Patmos, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 6, 403.11)

⁸ There is indirect evidence for stressed /i/ augment in the central Peloponnese, to be found in Mazaris' Journey to Hades, an early-15th-c. satirical text in learned Greek, in which the author ridicules the Peloponnesians and their “barbarous” language, mentioning, among other things, a form ἡμενον (ed. BARRY et al. 1975: 64.14; see also PANDELIDIS 2010: 469).

⁹ A single instance in the Pentateuch (printed in Constantinople, provenance of author unknown) is dubious, as the difference between /e/ and /i/ in the vocalized Hebrew script is but one dot: ἡκλινεν Pent. Gen. 49.15.

¹⁰ In many documents from eastern Crete, e.g. those of Gialeas, Olokalos and Patsidiotis, the /i/ augment is used frequently (BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 16; MAVROMATIS 1994a: 31; ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 35), whereas the extensive archive of Varouchas (Rethymno) has only one form with /i/ (not counting instances of ἡφερα, ἡθελα and ἡλεγα): ἥδωκεν (BAKKER 1988/89: 292). Maras and Grigoropoulos (Herakleion) on the other hand clearly favour forms with /e/, at least in writing. For a comparison between Olokalos and Varouchas see also KARANTZOLA 2005a.

¹¹ Though it is noteworthy that while the notary Miniatis (Naxos) tends to avoid the /i/ augment, his archive holds a document (no. 23) not written by himself but by a local merchant, which has only /i/ augments. Also, witnesses who sign documents often write “ἡγραφα” (see e.g. docs 47 and 54).

ἡσφαλα Rim. Sant. 92; ἡφριξε ibid. 849 δὲν ἡδωκε ἄλλο τίβετις (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32.44) τὸ ἡπιασεν ὁ Ζαννῆς (1663, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 2, 19.4–5); ἡδωσεν τὰ ἄσπρα
 του (ibid. 19.16)
 ἡμελλεν νὰ τοῦ σύρη PETRITSIS, Dig. O 289 ἡλαβεν (1670, Paros, ALIPRANDIS/SYMEONIDIS 1985: 129.13) τὸ γράμμα ὅπου ἡκαμε (1675, Amorgos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 33, 26.20) μοῦ ἡκαμεν μία πατέντε (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 506.8–9) (author from Mani) ἡδωσεν διὰ ἄρραβῶναν (1688, Proikonnisos, KAMBOURIS 1976: A. 16, 201.7) ἡμελλε νὰ σκοτωθῆς KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1927

3.1.2.3 Unstressed /i/ Augment – Geographically Restricted

In texts that display mid-vowel raising of unstressed /e/ to [i] elsewhere (even sporadically, as the phenomenon seldom appears systematically, especially not in literature; for details see I, 2.5.4), the unstressed /i/ augment is likely to be phonological, and it would perhaps be preferable to spell these forms with  rather than <η>.¹² Such examples have been found in texts from northern areas, from Skiathos and Chios, from certain Heptanesian islands and in texts of uncertain provenance:

ἡσκέπασε τὸ ἄγιον ποτήριον (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 517); οὐδὲν ἡκάθισαν (ibid. 33.551) (cf. πιπτόνια (ibid. 49.933); ἄγιοι πατέρις (ibid. 99.2270)) ἡβρυχίστηκεν Achil. O 525 (cf. περιπέσουσιν ibid. 228 app. crit. and κινοδοξήσης for κενοδοξήσης ibid. 347 app. crit.)
 ἡσκόλασεν νὰ κλαίει Synax. gyn. 403 (cf. Γρηκῶν for Γραικῶν ibid. 342 (Krumbacher)) και τεσ δύο με ἡνίκησεν Diig. Alex. K 363.30 (cf. της Μακιδονίας ibid. 363.24) ἰσύβασαν (1514, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 59, 65.9) (cf. τοῦ κιλαρίου (1513, ibid. 43, 53.8)) ἡκουπιάρησα (1537, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 41.24) (< κοπιάρω) (cf. τοῦ ἱπισκόπου (1546/1551, ibid. 26, 64.8)) ἡκριθήκαν (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 3, f.39r.3–4); καθώς ἡψούνησαν (ibid. 15, f.44v.8); ἡμαρτύρησεν (ibid. 15, f.44v.11) (cf. τοὺςπραματιφτάδεις (1691, ibid. 4, f.40r.13))
 ἡδῶθη εἰς τὰς χεῖρας τοῦ ἄνουθεν γιγραμμένου Γιωργιοῦ (1711, Skiathos, KARAVIDAS 2004:
 1, 248.11–12)

However, unstressed /i/ augments have also been found in texts and documents that do not otherwise display mid-vowel raising, frequently in documents from Mykonos, but much less systematically elsewhere:

¹² Cf. the same phenomenon in other word classes: ἡπεῖν ἡ ἀφεντία του τὸ Δεσποτάτο ἔναι Chron. Toc. 2170 (= ἐπεῖ); ἡλέφαντες Peri pragm. 21 (= ἐλέφαντες); εἰς ἰσένα Diig. Alex. Sem. B 889 (= ἐσέννα); τὴν ἰμομειξίαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §28.22 (= αἰμομειξίαν). However, it is striking that texts that do display raising of /e/ to [i] elsewhere tend to retain the unstressed /e/ augment, at least in writing, as the following examples demonstrate: ἐγύριψαν Chron. Toc. 2100 (= ἐγύρεψαν); ποῦ ἐπεριπάτησις (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 29.439) (= ἐπεριπάτησες); διὰ τοῦτο ἐζήτησιν καὶ τὸ παρὸν (1676, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 87, 211.4) (= ἐζήτησεν); τοὺς ἐλογάργιασάμι (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 3, f.39r.4) (= ἐλογάργιασάμε; for the stress pattern see 4.4.1.1).

ἡκοιμήθη (13th c., Asia Minor?, DARROUZÈS 1964a: [15], 35.15) ἡγυρεύετο Ptoch. III 161 app. crit. (C) ἡγένεαμε σασμένοι (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 271.5) οὐκ ἡδειλίασάν τους Achil. N 551; οὐκ ἡδειλίασεν ποσῶς ibid. 1580 ἡχρυσώσαν τα διάστελα (1602, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 7, 3.3) ἡκάμασιν (1641, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 7, 278.7) (hapax; otherwise unstressed /e/) ὅταν ἡκάηκε (1655, Chios, LAMBROS 1910: 277, 193.1) ἡμετρηθήκασιν (1663, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 14, 21.9) ἡπούλησεν (1663, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 1, 18.3); ἡπλέρωνε (ibid. 2, 19.10); ἄν ἡχρεωστοῦσαν (ibid. 3, 20.14); ἡνομινάριζεν (1665, ibid. 5, 21.15); τὰ ριάλια 5 πού ἡδῶσανε ὀφέτος (1708, ibid. 86, 96.21) ἡσκεπάσατε Irodis III.236 (written in Syros) ἡλάβαμεν (1769, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 5, 26.14)

Finally, there are several verbs that can appear with the unstressed /i/ augment, some in specific areas, others in texts/manuscripts of unknown provenance.¹³ Examples of μοιράζω appear in texts from the Heptanese and the western mainland, a region in which this verb often takes on prothetic /i/ in non-past forms as well,¹⁴ but which, on the other hand, also occasionally, though hardly systematically, shows signs of mid-vowel raising. The verb λιώνω, too, is found with the /i/ augment in texts from the Heptanese.¹⁵ Examples of the verb γνωρίζω have been found in a document from Arta, in one manuscript of the War of Troy, in two versions of Livistros, and in Velthandros,¹⁶ whereas ἡλυσμόνησα appears to be exclusive to one manuscript of the War of Troy:

ἐκεῖνος τὸ ἡμοίρασεν Pol. Tr. 2468 app. crit. (V) ἡμοιράσασιν Chron. Toc. 1307 ἡμοιράσαν καὶ τὰ ἀμπέλια τους (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 43, 53.8) ὅ,τι ἡμοιράσαν (1537, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 4, 41.6); ἡμοιράσαμέ τα (1550, ibid. 35, 76.5) ὅλον τὸ μάλαμαν ἡμοίρασεν Diig. Alex. E 309.22 (Lolos) ἡλιώθη τὸ παρὸν ἱστρουμέντον (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 49, 173.10); ἡλιώθη τ' ὄνωθεν ἱστρουμέντον (ibid. 66, 182.7–8; and ibid. 69, 183.6–7) ἡλιώθη τὸ παρὸν ἱστρουμέντο (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 7, 45.21)

¹³ For verbs that can appear with prothetic /e/ or /a/, e.g. λησμονῶ > ἀλησμονῶ/ἐλησμονῶ, γνωρίζω > ἀγνωρίζω/ἐγνωρίζω, one could maintain that it is, in fact, the temporal /i/ augment (see 3.1.4.1); however, there does not appear to be a general tendency for the /i/ augment to appear with verbs with prothetic /a/ or /e/ (e.g. no instances have been found with the rather common verbs ἀπετῶ, ἀπερνῶ, ἀπηδῶ, ἀσηκώνω).

¹⁴ For examples see the introduction to this section. The appearance of /i/ with μοιράζω may be due to semantically related words such as ἡμισυ, ἡμισεία, with which it often appears in collocation: ἡμοιράζουσι ἐφ' ἡμισείας (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 84, 189.7).

¹⁵ With the verb λιώνω, the /i/ augment is likely to appear in texts from Crete as well, given that a participle ἡλιωμένος can be found in Cretan documents (see the introduction to this section). Forms are often spelled ἡλλοιω- as if they were derived from the verb ἀλλοιώνω, but in the contexts in which these forms appear, the verb quite obviously does not mean “to alter”, but “to annul”, e.g. νὰ εἶναι κομμένες καὶ ἡλιωμένες, ὥσαν καὶ νὰ μὴν τὲς ἡθελε κάμει (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 38, 98.13–14).

¹⁶ Non-past forms with prothetic /i/ have also been found in Spaneas Z (Epirus/Kefalonia) and frequently in As-sizes (Cyprus): πρὶν νὰ τοὺς ἡγνωρίσουσιν Spaneas Z 300 app. crit.; καλὰ ἡγνωρίζετε ὅλοι Assizes B 284.31; νὰ ἡγνωρίζετε Assizes A 116.22.

(ἡ εἰκόνα ...) ἦτονε ... παγωμένη, πλὴν δὲ δὲν ἡλιώνετον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.38 (ed. ἡλλοιώνετον) ὅσα μοι δι' αὐτοῦ ἔγραψας ἡγνώρισα (1237, Arta, BARIŠIĆ 1966: [1], 2.3 and 2.4) (/i/ only with this verb; otherwise /e/) ἡγνώρισαν Metaphr. Alexiad 330.4 and 330.5

οὐκ ἡλησμένησα Pol. Tr. 215 app. crit. (X); τίποτε οὐκ ἡλησμένησα ibid. 1456 app. crit. (X); τοὺς ἡγνώρισεν ibid. 266 app. crit. (EV); ἡγνώριζε ibid. 335 app. crit. (X) βλέπει, ἡγνώρισεν τὴν Liv. S 374 (Lambert-van der Kolf); καὶ ἐπεὶ οὐδὲν μὲ ἡγνώριζες ibid. 490 ἤκουσεν καὶ ἡγνώρισεν Liv. α 2394 app. crit. (P); βλέπουν, ἡγνώρισάν με ibid. 2687 app. crit.

(P)

ὁ κόμης οὐκ ἡγνώρισε Velth. 1232

In the following example from Kos the scribe appears to consider the verb φθάνω to be compounded with εὐ-, which allows for a temporal augment /i/ to be employed (see below, 3.2.2.1): ηὐφθάσαμεν (1288, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 227.9 and 228.21) (cf. οὐκ εὐφθάστη ibid. 227.13).

3.1.3 Absence of the Syllabic Augment

Absence of the syllabic augment is not very common. When the preceding word ends in a vowel and the following verb starts in an unstressed augment, the augment is apparently omitted. However, this does not mean that the form is unaugmented, just that /e/, being a weak vowel (see I, 2.9.2), is deleted by aphaeresis. When the preceding vowel is /e/ it is mainly a matter of modern editorial choice whether the vowel is considered to belong to the preceding word (καὶ μαρτύρουν, σὲ ἔγραψαμε) or to the verb (κι ἐμαρτύρουν, σ' ἐγράψαμε), and whether to write an apostrophe or not:

καὶ μαρτύρουν (1125?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 18, 417.7) τὴν μύτην του τσακίσαν Poulol. 321 app. crit. (AZ) ἡ γλώσσα μου ἤξηράνθη Krasop. AO 42; ὅπου γέννησεν ibid. 98 ἐκεῖνο ὅπου σὲ ἔγραψαμε (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 91.5)

νὰ γύριζες Spanos D 409

δὲν τὸ θέλησεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.12; ἀμμὲ μὴνῦσεν του ibid. 26.12–13 καὶ τώρα γίνηκα κούτσουρας LIMEN., Than. Rod. 467 app. crit.

καὶ βάλασί με (1501, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 5, 27.22) τὸ τί μερτικό δίναν (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 55, 118.9) σὰν νὰ μὴν τὰ θέλασιν ἔχει ποτὲ (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 74.14) τὰ χρώσταγα (17th c., Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 33, 185.7) καὶ ξυρίσθη Bertoldos 28.9

μόνον αὐτὸ πιγιοῦρτισα IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6285 (< Turk. buyurdum)

When the stressed /e/ or /i/ augment is deleted after a word ending in a vowel, its stress shifts to the last syllable of the preceding word, e.g. μοῦ'παν (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.13); ἐκεῖ'λαχεν Anak. Konst. 20; ἄλογά'στειλε LIMEN., Velis. (Λ); τοῦρθε μὲ τεσταμέντο (1587, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 1, 343.9); τό'κουσα (1670, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 31, 388.22) (for details and more examples see I, 4.2.1). In these cases it is difficult to establish whether the augment was /e/ or /i/, as here the functioning of the vowel hierarchy is rather obscure, especially when the augment was stressed (see I, 2.9.2 for details).

A relatively modest number of examples has been found of unaugmented forms after words ending in a consonant or in sentence-initial position. They appear in both non-literary and literary texts (often verse-texts) from various geographical areas. The first examples date to the 15th c.:

τὴν μῆνυσεν Pol. Tr. 279 app. crit. (A) τί μᾶς θέλαν δώσει; (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 72, 56.6–7) ὅταν ζοῦσαν Epain. gyn. 699; τοὺς ἄνδρες των γελοῦσα ibid. 706; τοὺς σκοτῶναν ibid. 713 ὡς φαγῶθη ὁ ἄθλιος Spanos D 1522 ὄντεν ἐσεῖς βαλθήκετε CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 226 app. crit. (B) ὥρες σκοπόμουν Love poems V 314 ἔκαμα ὅσον μπόρεσα (16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.8) καθεῖς βάλθη νὰ παίζει KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VII. 190; δὲν πόρε νὰ πομένει ibid. XV.11 ὅμως στεῖλαν ἡμᾶς (1528, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 53, 173.46) ὁπότεν βαπτίστηκα (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 36, 38.48–9) χωρὶς φόβον περπάτειεν Diig. Alex. F 126.20 (Konstantinopoulos) ο Ερμῆς στοχάζουντον AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 91.17 διπλώθη καὶ ἐκάθισεν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1136 πάρτη ἀπ' ἑμᾶς διψοῦσας Rim. Sant. 240; μιὰν στράταν περπατοῦμαν ibid. 455 δὲν μπόρουνα νὰ τὸ δουλέψω (1639, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 137, 123.11) στὴν θάλασσαν τοὺς ρίκταν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 2424; τοὺς Τούρκους γίνητε συντρόφοι
ibid. 6526
 γράφτη εἰς τὴν Ἀγίαν Πρόθεσι (1672, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 71, 319.1) ἴσηκώθηνε κι ὁ τταχρικῆς KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 563 (verse-initial) μὴ γράφεις πὼς χάθηκιν ὁ κόζουμος (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 8, 70.33–4) (= χάθηκεν, see I, 2.5.4; for κόζουμος = κόσμος, see I, 2.6.2)

3.1.4 Vowel-initial Verbs

When the verb starts in /a/ or /e/, this vowel may be replaced by /i/ (usually spelled <η>) for historical reasons (temporal/quantitative augment); however, when the verb starts in /o/, /i/ or /u/ the forms are, in fact, unaugmented. The initial vowel of the verb may also be replaced by the syllabic /e/ augment, and verbs starting in /a/ or /e/ may also be unaugmented.

3.1.4.1 Temporal /i/ Augment

Verbs starting in /a/ and /e/ may adopt the /i/ augment throughout the period covered by this Grammar with inherited verbs¹⁷ and their innovative variants (e.g. ἀμαρτεύω, ἀρχεύω), but not usually with new verbs.¹⁸ In certain regions, such as eastern Crete and certain islands in ¹⁷ The temporal augment with verbs that were originally prefixed but were later reanalysed as simple verbs, such as ἀφίω (< ἀφ-ίημι) and ἀμφιάζω (< ἀμφι-έννυμι), predates the period covered by this Grammar (cf. e.g. JAN-NARIS 1897: 187).

¹⁸ Loanwords such as for instance ἀρριβάρω, ἀμολάρω, but also new derivations such as ἀντρεεύω and verbs with prothetic /a/, such as ἀπερνῶ, ἀσηκῶνω, do not normally take the /i/ augment. They are either unaugmented or augmented with the syllabic /e/ or /i/ augment (see below).

the Aegean, the /i/ augment with verbs starting in /a/ or /e/ is used only when it is stressed (ἤκουσα, ἤλπιζα) but not when it is unstressed (ἀκούσαν, ἐλπίζαμε) (cf. consonant-initial verbs, 3.1.2.2):

Initial /a/ > /i/

τὸν κῆπον ... ὅπερ ἤφησεν (1176, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 4, 374.1) οὐκ ἡμέλησα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 38.17; ὡς ἡγάπουν id. Logos 4 206.13–14 ἡ ἤκουσες το; (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 59.148) τὰ μάρμαρα ἠφανίσθησαν Ptoch. I 76; καὶ ἄς ἤφηνες ἐμέναν ibid. 105 ἠκούστηκεν (14th c., Asia Minor, DARROUZÈS 1964a: [33], 37.1) αὐτὸ νὰ σὲ ἤρκει μόνον Liv. α 2082 ἡπλωσεν Vulgärorakel I.130 ηὐξήνθη Spanos A 174; ἡφριζεν ibid. 270 ἀφέντης οὐκ ἠκούστηκεν PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 75 ἡγωνίστηκε (1514, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 48, 57.15) ἡξίωσαν (1573, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 9, 62.7) δὲν ἡλλασσε γνώμην MOREZINOS, Klini 44.16 κ' ἤκουσα (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 25.5) ἡφάνισε τὲς χώρες (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III–V, 507.27.4); ἡρχισε νὰ βρέξη (ibid. 508.34.1) ποὺ τοῦ ἡφῆκε ὁ πατέρας του (1672, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1993: 7, 299.2) ἡψασιν (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 518, 744.13)

Initial /e/ > /i/

ἡῦραν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.16; πρὸς τὰ Ἱεροσόλυμα ἡρχετον id., Logos 31 816.11–12 ὀκάπου ἡῦρηκα τὸ ταρτερόν Ptoch. III 149 ἡγέρθηκεν Pol. Tr. 450 δὲν ἡῦρα (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.2) ἡρχονταν κυνηγώντας Synax. gadar. 10 ἡρχουντα DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 449 ἡχμαλωτισθῆκαν Alosis 379 ἡλθασιν (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 5, 25.4) ἡρώτησαν Diig. Alex. E 285.12 (Lolos) ἡῦραμε (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.17) ἂν ἡρχονταν (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.8) ρηγάδων παιδία οὐκ ἡρχονταν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 305 ἡλευθέρωσες (1612, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 1, 307.9) ἂν ἡρχονταν ξένος PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.19 μὲ ἡρώτησεν (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 56.14–15) ἡλθασι (1656, Amorgos, TSELIKAS 1988/92: 3, 49.10) ἡρχούντονε (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 323, 525.2)

3.1.4.2 Syllabic /e/ Augment

The /e/ augment may replace the initial /a/, /i/ or /o/ of the verb stem. As the number of verbs beginning with /i/ and /o/ is limited, most examples are of verbs starting in /a/. Examples have been found from LMedG and throughout the period under review, in texts from Pontos to Crete and from the Heptanese to Cyprus, though the majority of examples come from southern areas (Crete, Cyprus) and the Aegean:

Initial /a/ > /e/ἐγόρασα τὸν τόπον (1260, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/ΒΕΝΕΧΕΝΙΤΣΗ 1927: 18, 8.1) ἐρμάστηκα (14th c., Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1956: [4], 40.2) (< ἀρμάζομαι) ἐκοῦσαν Dig. E 74; τὸ ἔρπαξες ibid. 130 ἐκούμπησα τοῦ πύργου Liv. V 1943; ὡς μ' ἔκουσεν ibid. 2861; ἐγάπα νὰ τὸν ἔχη ibid. 3891 καὶ ἄλλον ἐγόρασαν (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 253); ἐφῆκεν (ibid. 2009) ὅτι ἐρνίστηκές με Katal. 608 ἐστένησα (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 78.4) (< ἀσθενῶ) ἀν ἐτιμάξαμεν τὸν ἐπὶ γῆς αὐθέντην BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 341 app. crit. (< ἀτιμάζω) ἐμπιτάρισεν CHEILAS, Chron. 349.31 (< Ital. abitare) ἐφεντεύασιν Theseid VI.4.4 (Olsen) ἔξιζε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.33) καὶ ἐγόρασαν (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 9, 132.13) τὰ πράγματα ὅπου ἔφηκεν (1634, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 16, 11.2) ὁ ἀδελφός<ς> σου ἐρρώστησε (1637, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 3, 95.16) ἐρχινίσα Rim. Sant. 175; ἐρχίσασι ibid. 204; ἐνταμωθήκαμε ibid. 455 ἔφηγεν (1679, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 18, 33.11) τὸ μιτάτον ὅπου τοῦ ἔφησεν (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 2, 145.1) ἐλλάκτη (1688, Rhodes, PAPACHRISTODOULOU 1976: 11, 9.1) (< ἀλλάζω) ἔφησεν (1697, Chios, TSELIKAS 2000: 99, 76.3)

Initial /i/ > /e/ἐπερηφάνεσαν το Pol. Tr. 1656 app. crit. (V) (< ὑπερηφανεύω) ἐσιάσθησαν Chron. Toc. 3294 (< ἰσάζω < ἰσιάζω)¹⁹ δὲν ἐσαστήκαν Assizes A 46.26 ὕστερον ἐσιάσθησαν Chron. Mor. P 1197 ἐσιάστη νὰ τηνε γιάνει ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 19.2 ἐστορίστη (1559, Lesvos, KLEOMVROTOS 1970: 23, 163.3) (< ἱστορῶ) ἐσιάχτηκα μὲ τὸν κατή (1612, Monemvasia region, BROUSKARI 1981: 315.31) ἐσαστήκαμε (1614, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 1, 331.15) (τὴν εἰκόνα ...) ὅπου ἐστορίσεν ὁ Ἅγιος Λουκάς (17th c., Meteora, VEIS 1984: 187, f.172v.2) ἐσιαζούντονε (1673, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 10, 172.16) εἰς ποῖον ἔτος ἐκίωθη τὸ νησίον (1720, Folegandros, GAVALAS 1887: 512.2) (< οἰκίωνω)

Initial /o/ > /e/ἐμόσαμεν Dig. E 851 (< ὁμόνω) τὰ ἔρισαν Assizes B 284.15 (< ὀρίζω) ὁ πλοῦτος οὐδὲν μᾶς ἐφέλεσεν Achil. L 1270 καὶ ἔμοσεν ἡ αὐθεντία μου (1453, Constantinople, DALLEGIO D'ALESSIO 1939: 119.62) καὶ ἔρισεν ὁ κυβερνοῦρης MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 50.2; ὀλλίγον ἐφελέθησαν ibid. 322.40–1 καὶ ἔμοσαν του Diig. Alex. V 56.14 ἐρδίνιασε MOREZINOS, Klini 43.8; ἐρέκτηκεν ibid. 153.28 (< ὀρέγομαι) ἐμπλιγαρίστη νὰ το φυλάη (1572, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 17, 71.14) (< Ven. obligàr) ἐρέγουμου Thysia Avr. 422 ἔμοσες ποττὲ ἄδικα; (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 403.193) ἔμνοξέ μου TROILOS, Rodol. I.598 (< ὁμνόγω)

¹⁹ As the verb ἰσιάζω by the 15th c. had developed an alternative form σιάζω, the examples could be viewed as having syllabic /e/ augment.

νὰ ἐμπλιγαριστήκασι (1641, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 7, 278.4) ἐλίγανε ἡ πνοή του KORNAROS, Erot. III.939 (< ὀλιγαίνω); ἐρέχτηκες ibid. III.1193

No examples have been found of the /e/ augment replacing the initial /u/ of verbs. Sporadically the /e/ augment is used, placed before the initial /u/ of the verb, and an inter-vocalic /y/ is added for euphonic reasons (see I, 3.5.2.1):²⁰ διὰ τὴν ἀρσενοκοιτίαν, ὅτι πολλὰ τὴν ἐγουζιάζαν εἰς τὴν Ἀμόχουστον MACHAIRAS, Chron.

V 464.32–3 (οὐζιάζω < Fr. user); οἱ σκύλλοι ἐγουριάζαν ... οἱ κωρῶνες ἐγουργιάζαν, οἱ κουκκουφιάδες ... ἐγουργιάζαν ibid. 668.19–22 (< οὐριάζω) ὁποῦ ἐκλαιαν καὶ ἐγουργιάζαν πολλὰ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 5.38

3.1.4.3 Syllabic /i/ Augment

Regionally and lexically, the /i/ augment is also employed with the verb ὀρίζω and with innovative variants of ὀμνύω (ὀμόνων/ἄμόνων, ὀμνόγω/ἄμνόγω). Examples have been found in EMG texts from Crete, Cythera and the Aegean (Mykonos). As these verbs may lose their initial vowel in the present (ρίζω, μόνω, μνόγω),²¹ they may simply have been viewed as consonant-initial verbs:

ὁ Κύριος ἤρισε τοῦ Νῶε ὡγιά νὰ κτίσῃ P&N Diath. 1418 (< ὀρίζω) ὡς ἤριζες FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.34; εἰς τὸ παλάτιν του ἤρισε νὰ γυρίσω ibid. II.38 ἤρισε ὁ ρήγας νὰ γενῇ ἕνα ψηλὸ πατάρι KORNAROS, Erot. II.97; τὴ Μοθώνην ἤριζε ibid.

II.1293

καὶ ἤμνογεν πῶς δὲν τὴν ἀφήνει MOREZINOS, Klini 51.24

κι ἔτσι ἤμνογα CHORTATISIS, Panor. I.42

ἤμνογε καὶ τοῦ φίλου του KORNAROS, Erot. I.403 ἤμοσε (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 51.62) τὴν ἐβάλαμε καὶ ἤμωσε· ἡ ὁποία ἤμωσε καθαρά πῶς ... (1708, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 86, 96.16–17)

3.1.4.4 Absence of the Augment

Verbs starting in /a/ can regularly be found without the augment throughout the period covered by this Grammar, in all areas (with the likely exception of Pontos); verbs beginning in /e/, too, are often found without the augment, but of course in this case the initial /e/ can easily be interpreted as an augment. Verbs starting in /i/, /o/ and /u/ are normally unaugmented:

Initial /a/ἀκριβεύσαμεν (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 8, 311.7) ἄλογα ἀγόρασεν Chron. Mor. H 3378; ὡς τὸ ἄκουσε ibid. 5854

ἀρνήθηκα Dig. E 363

²⁰ The past-tense forms, in their turn, lead to a new consonant-initial verb γουριάζω, e.g.: γουριάζουσιν Phys. 240; πῶς γουριάζω Cypr. Canz. 103.18.

²¹ Cf. νὰ ρίζω ἐπὶ θέκῃ με FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.46; καὶ εἰς τοῦτο ἄς μόση (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.6).

ἀδικούσαμεν τὸ ταπεινὸν κατούδιν Ptoch. III 273 app. crit. (P) τὰ Ἰλβανα ἀπίστησαν Chron. Toc. 1333 αὖξανε DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 488 ἀγρώνισε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.22 (< ἀγρωνίζω); καὶ δὲν ἀρμάστην ibid. 40.19; ἄρχεψεν ἡ εὐλογημένη ἀκρίδα ibid. 60.27–8 ἄφησεν (1541, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 11, 223.3) ἐὰν ἀγάπας DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 7, η3ν.22 (1561) καὶ ἄφτε καὶ δὲν ἐκαίγετονε SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 435.246 μ' ἄφησε (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 36.12) ἀγάπα νὰ ἡκούη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.12; ἀκούγανε ibid. 39.27; ἀρνιόντησαν ibid. 86.27 ἄλλαζαν τὰ ἄσπρα KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 2.14; ἐὰν μὲ ἀγαπούσετε ibid. 14.28 αὖξαιναν Bertoldos 70.27 μᾶς ἄφηκεν (1663, Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 39, 136.6)
 τὸ πρᾶγμα ὅπου ἀκουιστάρισα (1665, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 3, 116.11–12) (< Ven. acquistàr) τότες τον ἀζαρλάτισεν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 977 (< Turk. azarladı, past tense of azarlamak) ἄρπασεν (1675, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 39, 65.9)

Initial /i/

ὑστερον γὰρ ἰσιάστηκαν Chron. Mor. H 1197 οὐκ ἰσχούσαν ERMON., Ilias 12.203
 ὕγιανε Pol. Tr. 6427 app. crit. (A) ἡγοῦντον Achil. N 1833 καὶ ὑβρίστηκες Spanos A 397 ἡλικιώτην Spanos A 174 ὑψώναςί με Om. Nekt. Vas. 52 ὡς ἦσαν πρῶτα ὕγιαναν Theseid X.10,7 (1529) ἰσιαστήκαμε (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.20) ἰντρομετέρισα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 177, 175.13) (< Ven. intromèter) ἰσαστήκαμεν (1639, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 3, 114.45) ὑστερήθησαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.17 νὰ μάθω πῶς ἰάθη PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 149 ὑβρίσθηκες NEOFYTOS, Achouri 246

Initial /o/

ὄρησαν (1093, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 56, 73.23) ὀδηγήθηκα (1350–1?, Athos?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 130, 45.1) ὠμίλει μετ' αὐτήν Pol. Tr. 6461; τίποτε οὐκ ὠφελοῦσαν Pol. Tr. 13124 app. crit. (AC) ὠρισέν μας (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.10) ὀρίσαμεν τους (1453, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1967: 1, 47.8) ὠργίστην Assizes A 74.16–17 ὀρέγομουν νὰ περπατῶ SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 89 ὠρυσεν ὁ ρὲ Οὐνγκες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 60.7 ὀρθώθησα Diig. Alex. F 24.5 (Lolos); ὀνομάξουσιν ibid. 64.1–2 (Konstantinopulos) ὠργιζόμουν SOFIANOS, Paidag. 116.4 κι ὀλιζα TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 188 app. crit. (1577) μὰ μιτὰ ὀρφανέσαμε (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 5, 173.12–13) ὠνειδοῦσεν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §4.13 καὶ ὅμοσε στὴν εἰκόνα τοῦ Χριστοῦ (1658, Moscow, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 18, 117.7–8) γιὰ τοῦτο ὠνομάζουντον Διγενῆς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1243

Initial /u/

οὐριάστηκε Pol. Tr. 5256 οὐρίαξαν εἰς τὸ κάστρο Chron. Toc. 2802 κύψασα οὐρησεν αὐτὸν εἰς τὸ ὠτίον τὸ δεξιόν Spanos D 685 ὁποῦ ἔζαρε δυὸ καὶ τρεῖς νὰ κάνη Rim. Sant. 156 (< οὐζάρω)

Initial /e/

When the verb starts in /e/, loss of augment is often apparent only, as the initial /e/ of the form may be interpreted as an augment.²² In fact, with certain verb forms, such as ἐζαμινάρασι, ἐπαίνεσαν, ἔρωτοῦσαν and εὐρίσκονταν, it is not certain whether they constitute past-tense forms of ἐζαμινάρω, ἐπαίνω, ἔρωτῶ and εὐρίσκω or of ζαμινάρω, παίνω, ρωτῶ and βρίσκω:

αἰτήθης μου (1139, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1968: App. I, 52.4) εὐνούχισαν ἑαυτοὺς ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 3 196.12

εὐρέθη ἐγκαστρωμένη Paroim. D 119

νὰ ἐρευξάμην εὐνοστα Ptoch. IV 182 ἐλευθέρωσεν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 4, 42.5)

τὸν ἐγγύθηκα Assizes A 67.21 αἰχμαλωτίσασιν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 115

ἐπαίνεσαν Achil. O 170 εὐρισκούνταν VOUSTR., Chron. A 56.17

ἐργάζουνταν ZYGOM., Synopsis 225.Λ.34 ἐζαμινάρασι (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 277, 380.1) (< Ven. esaminàr) ἔρωτοῦσαν τὸν SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 16.12–13 ἔρχομουν (1615, Lefkada, PENDOGALOS 1977b: 2, 148.12) κάθε λογῆς ἀδικίαν τὴν ἔλεγχε RODINOS, Vios Ign. 69.22 ἔρπετουν Thavm. Nikon Metan. III 4 δὲν ἔρχουνταν (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 58.1) ἐρμηνεύθημαν (1679, Sovania, Tuscany, PAPADOPOULOS 1979: 1, 473.25)

μὲ ἐγγυήθηκαν οἱ -4- καλόγεροι (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 506.19)

The verb ἔχω, which has an /i/ augment (traditionally spelled <ει>) throughout the period covered by this Grammar, can have unaugmented imperfects in the EMG period. Unaugmented forms have been found in texts from various areas: Cyprus, Crete, the Heptanese/Peloponnese and the northern mainland (for prefixed forms of ἔχω, see 3.3.2.1.1 and 3.3.2.2.1 and cf. ἔτον for ἦτον, 4.8.2):²³ νὰ μὴ τὴν ἔχα κάψειν Pol. Tr. 5576 app. crit. (C) ἔχεν γραμμένην Assizes A 105.9; οὕτως τὸ ἔχεν ibid. 165.24 (ed. ἔκεν; see KRIARAS, LEX. s.v. ἔχω)

²² This may lead to unfortunate editorial choices by editors of lower-register Byzantine texts who are unfamiliar with vernacular Greek and therefore do not recognise an aorist indicative when there is apparently no augment; in the following example the forms are taken to be aorist middle imperatives (with 2nd-person clitics!): εἴπεν· «εὐλόγησαί σε ὁ Θεός, τέκνον, καὶ ποιήσαι σε σκεῦος ἐκλογῆς.» Stephen the Deacon, Life of Stephen the Younger 103.9 (ed. Auzépy) (8th/9th c.) (read εὐλόγησέ σε and κ' ἐποίησέ σε respectively).

²³ The following example (with crasis of /u/ and /e/, see I, 2.9.5) appears to be an error in the modern edition: κεῖ ὁπῶχε τὴν παρηγορίαν KORNAROS, Erot. I.1961 (= ὁποῦ ἔχε), as both the Venetian edition (A) and the manuscript (X) read ὁποῦχε (= ὁποῦ εἶχε).

νὰ σ' ἔχασιν περιπλεχθῇ, νὰ σ' ἔχαν καταλύση BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 333
