

THE CAMBRIDGE GRAMMAR OF MEDIEVAL AND EARLY MODERN GREEK

David Holton
Geoffrey Horrocks
Marjolijne Janssen
Tina Lendari
Io Manolessou
Notis Toufexis

The Cambridge Grammar of Medieval and Early Modern Greek

The Greek language has a written history of more than 3,000 years. While the classical, Hellenistic and modern periods of the language are well researched, the intermediate stages are much less well known, but of great interest to those curious to know how a language changes over time. The geographical area where Greek has been spoken stretches from the Aegean Islands to the Black Sea and from Southern Italy and Sicily to the Middle East, largely corresponding to former territories of the Byzantine Empire and its successor states. This Grammar draws on a comprehensive corpus of literary and non-literary texts written in various forms of the vernacular to document the processes of change between the eleventh and eighteenth centuries, processes which can be seen as broadly comparable to the emergence of the Romance languages from Medieval Latin. Regional and dialectal variation in phonology and morphology are treated in detail.

DAVID HOLTON is Emeritus Professor of Modern Greek at the University of Cambridge and a Fellow of Selwyn College. He directed the ‘Grammar of Medieval and Early Modern Greek’ research project and has published many articles on Greek language and literature of various periods. His publications include: The Tale of Alexander: The Rhymed Version (1973, 2nd edition 2002), Erotokritos (1991), Studies on Erotokritos and other Modern Greek Texts (2001), (as editor) Literature and Society in Renaissance Crete (Cambridge, 1991) and (as a co-author) two grammars of Modern Greek.

GEOFFREY HORROCKS is Emeritus Professor of Comparative Philology at the University of Cambridge and a Professorial Fellow of St John’s College. He is a leading international authority on the history and structure of Greek, and over the last forty years has published widely on the morphology, syntax and semantics of the ancient, medieval and modern language. His publications include the groundbreaking monograph Greek: A History of the Language and its Speakers (2nd edition, 2010). In 2012 he was awarded an honorary doctorate by the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens for his services to Greek linguistics.

MARJOLIJNE JANSSEN studied Medieval and Modern Greek at the University of Amsterdam, where she then taught language and linguistics and collaborated on the compilation of the comprehensive dictionary Prisma Groot Woordenboek Nederlands–Nieuwgrieks en Nieuwgrieks–Nederlands. She has been involved with the ‘Grammar of Medieval and Early Modern Greek’ Project since 2007 and has published a number of articles arising from it.

TINA LENDARI is Assistant Professor in Medieval Vernacular and Early Modern Greek Language and Literature at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens. She studied at the Universities of Crete and Cambridge and has taught at the Universities of Crete, Patras, Ioannina, Thessaloniki and Cambridge. From 2004 to 2007 she was a Research Associate on the ‘Grammar of Medieval and Early Modern Greek’ Project. She has published many articles on textual criticism, linguistic analysis and literary theory as applied to medieval and early modern Greek literature and produced the editio princeps of the romance Livistros and Rodamne, version V. Her current project is a new edition of the romance Velthandros and Chrysantza.

IO MANOLESSOU studied Greek literature and linguistics at the Universities of Athens and Cambridge. She has worked as a Research Associate at the University of Cambridge and as a Lecturer in Historical Linguistics at the University of Patras. She now holds the post of Senior Researcher at the Academy of Athens, working on the compilation of the Historical Dictionary of Modern Greek. She has participated in a number of international research projects on Greek dialectology and linguistics, and has published more than fifty papers on various topics focusing on Greek language history, dialectology and lexicography.

NOTIS TOUFEXIS is a Digital Humanities specialist with a background in Classics and a PhD on Early Modern Greek from the University of Hamburg. He was a Research Associate on the ‘Grammar of Medieval and Early Modern Greek’ Project from 2004 to 2009 and has published a number of articles arising from it.

The Cambridge Grammar of Medieval and Early Modern Greek

DAVID HOLTON

GEOFFREY HORROCKS

MARJOLIJNE JANSSEN

TINA LENDARI

IO MANOLESSOU

NOTIS TOUFEXIS

Arts & Humanities
Research Council

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

University Printing House, Cambridge CB2 8BS, United Kingdom

One Liberty Plaza, 20th Floor, New York, NY 10006, USA

477 Williamstown Road, Port Melbourne, VIC 3207, Australia

314–321, 3rd Floor, Plot 3, Splendor Forum, Jasola District Centre, New Delhi – 110025, India

79 Anson Road, #06–04/06, Singapore 079906

Cambridge University Press is part of the University of Cambridge.

It furthers the University's mission by disseminating knowledge in the pursuit of education, learning, and research at the highest international levels of excellence.

www.cambridge.org

Information on this title: www.cambridge.org/9780521195294

DOI: 10.1017/9781316632840

© David Holton, Geoffrey Horrocks, Marjolijne Janssen, Stamatina Lentari, Io Manolessou and Panagiotis Toufexis 2019

This publication is in copyright. Subject to statutory exception and to the provisions of relevant collective licensing agreements, no reproduction of any part may take place without the written permission of Cambridge University Press.

First published 2019

Printed and bound in Great Britain by Clays Ltd, Elcograf S.p.A.

A catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Names: Holton, David, author.

Title: The Cambridge grammar of medieval and early modern Greek / David Holton, Geoffrey Horrocks, Marjolijne Janssen, Tina Lendari, Io Manolessou, Notis Toufexis.

Other titles: Grammar of medieval and early modern Greek

Description: Cambridge, United Kingdom ; New York, NY : Cambridge University Press, 2018. | Includes bibliographical references.

Identifiers: LCCN 2017051172 | ISBN 9780521195294WX

Subjects: LCSH: Greek language, Medieval and late – Grammar. | Greek language, Modern – Grammar.

Classification: LCC PA1055 .H65 2019 | DDC 487/.3–dc23

LC record available at <https://lccn.loc.gov/2017051172>

ISBN 978-0-521-19529-4 Set of 4 hardback volumes

ISBN 978-1-107-18174-8 Vol 1

ISBN 978-1-107-18181-6 Vol 2

ISBN 978-1-107-18182-3 Vol 3

ISBN 978-1-107-18183-0 Vol 4

Cambridge University Press has no responsibility for the persistence or accuracy of URLs for external or third-party internet websites referred to in this publication and does not guarantee that any content on such websites is, or will remain, accurate or appropriate.

Contents

Volume 1

General Introduction	xv
Acknowledgements	xxxv
Bibliography	xxxvii
Correspondence Table of Graphemes and Phonemes	clxvii
List of Abbreviations	clxix
Part I: Phonology	1
1 Introduction	3
2 Vowels	6
3 Consonants	112
4 Stress	222

Volume 2

Correspondence Table of Graphemes and Phonemes	xix
List of Abbreviations	xxi
Part II: Nominal Morphology	239
1 Introduction	241
2 Nouns	253
3 Adjectives	688
4 Adverbs	830
5 Articles, Pronouns and Determiners	845
6 Numerals	1231

Volume 3

Correspondence Table of Graphemes and Phonemes	xviii
List of Abbreviations	xx
Part III: Verb Morphology	1265
1 Introduction	1267
2 Stem Formation	1273
3 Augment	1394
4 Conjugation	1434
5 Morphosyntax	1767

Volume 4

Correspondence Table of Graphemes and Phonemes xii

List of Abbreviations xiv

Part IV: Syntax 1859

Introduction 1861

1 Main Clauses 1863

2 Complement Clauses 1884

3 Adverbial Clauses 1896

4 Verbs and Verb Phrases 1927

5 Nouns and Noun Phrases 1944

6 Prepositions and Prepositional Phrases 1993

7 Coordination and Apposition 2008

8 Constituent Order 2022

Indexes 2041

General Introduction

The four volumes of the Cambridge Grammar of Medieval and Early Modern Greek are the fruits of a large-scale and complex research project that began in 2004. It took much longer than originally planned, mainly because there proved to be even more surviving linguistic material than we had expected, but also because of the incredible richness and diversity of the language we were analysing. But perhaps the most important factor is that at every step we were encountering phenomena that had never before been explored systematically and in detail by linguistic researchers.

This General Introduction has four main objectives: firstly, to give a brief outline of how the subject of this work relates to previous work on the evolution of the Greek language since Antiquity, and then to clarify the scope and objectives of our undertaking; secondly, to give some information about the source materials available to the historian of Greek for the late medieval and early modern periods and to indicate the problems inherent in the different kinds of material; thirdly, to explain our methodology, in terms of how the source texts have been processed and analysed, and how the observed phenomena are described; and finally, to provide essential information about how the linguistic material is presented in the detailed discussion of phonology, morphology and syntax.

1 Background, Aims and Scope

The history of the Greek language, from its earliest written records in the Linear B script to the present day, has been the subject of innumerable studies. The length of that written tradition, uninterrupted apart from the “Dark Age” from roughly 1200 to 800 BC, is unique among European languages. However, the scholarly examination of that tradition is, in chronological terms, extremely uneven. Although there exists a large number of Grammars of both Ancient and Modern Greek, and sufficient accounts of Hellenistic Koine Greek (i.e. analyses of the language of the New Testament and of the Ptolemaic papyri), the “intermediate” period between the Hellenistic/Roman period and Modern Greek has not hitherto received a comprehensive and authoritative treatment, and “Medieval Greek” as an object of historical linguistic study has only been treated in a fragmentary way (for an overview see MANOLESSOU 2008a). The first researcher of Medieval Greek, G. N. Chatzidakis, wrote in 1892 (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 409–10): “in general very little has been done up to now to advance our knowledge of linguistic evolution during the postclassical and Byzantine eras”, a statement echoed more than 100 years later by a modern specialist, Elizabeth Jeffreys, who observed in 1998 that “the definitive linguistic analysis of early demotic Greek ... has yet to be written.”¹ This is perhaps a somewhat surprising fact, given that:

¹ JEFFREYS 1998: xlix, cf. also CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1990/91: 19 and references cited therein.

- a) the gap in our systematic grammatical knowledge of Greek extends roughly from Late Antiquity until the creation of the Modern Greek state, i.e. has a span of around 1,500 years, a gap unparalleled in the historical study of any language;
- b) the Greek language is particularly suitable for diachronic linguistic studies, since it has a continuously attested history of more than 3,500 years, the longest of any Indo-European language, and additionally, for its earlier periods, the documentation is not, as is usual for most languages, scant and fragmentary, but extremely rich; and
- c) at the other end, Modern Greek is one of the best-studied languages in the world, as far as synchronic analyses are concerned.

No overall Grammar of Medieval and Early Modern Greek exists, nor has a historical Grammar of Modern Greek yet been attempted. For the Greek language of this period, three types of study are available (cf. MIRAMBEL 1964: 395):

- a) studies on the language of individual authors, texts or genres, e.g. PSALTES 1913, MIHEVC-GABROVEC 1960, EGEA 1984 and EGEA 1988, or APOSTOLOPOULOS 1984. Information on individual texts, usually falling short of a complete linguistic description, can also be found in recent scholarly editions of medieval and early modern vernacular texts, such as HOLTON 1974/2002, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1996, PAPATHOMOPOULOS/JEFFREYS 1996, VEJLESKOV 2005, LENDARI 2007. These offer valuable information, but lack a general view of linguistic evolution; frequently their aim is to identify “particularities”, or “peculiarities”, of authors or texts with respect to an expected standard, and not to draw overall conclusions about the language of the period (on such editions see HOLTON 2001: 259, 263, 265). Similarly, especially in recent years, there have appeared a number of studies on the language of medieval and early modern non-literary texts, mainly notarial documents, such as LAMPSIDIS 1952, BAKKER 1988/89, CHARALAMBAKIS 1998; for an overview see MANOLESSOU 2003.
- b) studies on the evolution of specific linguistic constructions, e.g. the participle (MIRAMBEL 1961, MANOLESSOU 2005), the clitic pronouns (MACKRIDGE 1993, PAPPAS 2004), relative clauses (CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1990/91, MANOLESSOU 2004, LIOSIS/KRIKI 2014), the future (HOLTON 1993, MARKOPOULOS 2009a) the perfect periphrasis (MOSER 1986, MOSER 1988, MOSER 1989). Again, these researches are often invaluable, but inevitably of limited scope, in that they treat only the phenomenon in question and are based on a restricted selection of textual data.
- c) general overviews of the history of the Greek language during this period, e.g. DIETERICH 1898, BROWNING ²1983, TONNET ²2003 and HORROCKS ²2010. In these studies, the drawback of the two previous categories is overcome, since an overall perspective of the evolution of the language is provided, covering all linguistic levels in parallel (phonology, morphology, syntax etc.). However, apart from the fact that, in some cases at least, these works are not exclusively concerned with Medieval Greek, but treat it only as a stage in the evolution of Greek in general, they suffer from the opposite drawback, i.e. the lack of sufficient detail and of direct recourse to the primary sources. A further problem often encountered in these general handbooks is that the information provided may be unreliable: it is frequently based on back-referencing, which, when checked, goes back to the earliest contributions to the topic, namely JANNARIS 1897, DIETERICH 1898, CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07 and PSALTES 1913, works which are now seriously out of date, both because they quote from old, unreliable and superseded editions and because they did not have access to many texts that were still unpublished (on these problems see MANOLESSOU 2008a).

A variety of factors are responsible for this serious gap in the linguistic investigation of the Greek language. In the past, the most important cause was the low prestige of Medieval Greek, seen as a “degeneration” of the high standards of Ancient Greek, and the limited value accorded to Medieval Greek literature. Even Chatzidakis, the founder of the discipline, declared that “the ... post-classical and medieval literature is of such low worth, such long-windedness, and shows such a mixture of linguistic forms, that nobody can occupy himself with it with pleasure, and certainly not for any length of time” (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 360).

But even when the linguistic monuments of the period were recognized as representatives of an important literature and were studied in their own right, the progress, as far as linguistic science is concerned, was not great. This was due to the nature of the texts themselves, which allow us to trace the development of the language only with considerable difficulty, as most of them are written in imitation of prestigious Ancient Greek, and particularly Attic, works of literature, and are therefore not representative of the spoken language of their period. Even the texts closer to the vernacular present a high degree of “mixture” of old and new forms, depending not so much on the period when the author was writing as on his level of education, his literary aims, and his chosen literary genre. The issue here is the diglossia which was a major characteristic of the Greek language up until very recent times (for details see TOUFEXIS 2008). In other words, “Medieval Greek” was difficult to approach as a scientific object.

To these general difficulties one may further add the practical obstacles arising from the lack, until recent years, of high-quality reliable editions of Medieval and Early Modern Greek texts, as Greek scholarship was relatively slow to catch up with the advances made in textual criticism and editorial practice for medieval texts in other major European languages.

Over the past thirty or so years much has changed in relation to the situation described above. Firstly, many new critical editions of literary texts now provide more reliable evidence for the linguistic scholar; familiar texts have been re-dated, often on the basis of archival evidence; and previously unknown or unedited texts have added significantly to the literary corpus in Medieval and Early Modern Greek. Non-literary material in the public domain, especially documents, has similarly expanded considerably – indeed even more impressively than is the case for literary texts – adding significantly to the body of linguistic evidence available to the historical linguist. Of course editions of both literary and non-literary texts, for a variety of different reasons, must be treated with due caution by the linguistic researcher. This issue will be discussed below. But the increase in available textual evidence, as well as progress in lexicography (especially the multi-volume dictionary of Kriaras and the Vienna-based Lexikon zur byzantinischen Gräzität), affords a much fuller and more detailed picture of what was happening to the Greek language in the period that interests us.²

As discussed above, the major issue concerning the relatively poorly investigated language of the period between Late Antiquity and modern times is the difficulty in defining it as a scientific object. The language of the medieval and early modern periods can actually be two quite different things:

- a) The linguistic form in which the preserved texts from the relevant period are written. With this broad definition, there are many “languages” to study, as medieval texts display a very broad spectrum of differentiation, which goes from the very high-register archaizing texts imitating Ancient Greek language (e.g. theological and rhetorical texts) to the virtually illiterate low (e.g. a personal note scrawled on the back of a book). If this first definition is adopted, then all texts are equally useful and equally interesting for linguistic investigation; furthermore, all texts require such linguistic investigation if they are to be properly edited philologically.³
- b) The linguistic form which (we believe) represents the innate grammatical system of a native speaker of Greek living in this period. Even this definition will include several “languages”, as the language changes with the passage of time, over such a lengthy period, and as there are also local (dialectal) differences. But with this definition, not all texts are equally appropriate for linguistic research: one would prefer those that may be assumed to be actually closer to the everyday spoken language of the time, the so-called “vernacular” texts (on this issue see MANOLESSOU 2008a and 2014). The aim of such an investigation would be to understand the development of the Greek language over time, and to describe the language not of a text, but of a chronologically and geographically specified linguistic community. This is the main approach followed by modern historical linguistics.

It is this second definition that the present Grammar adopts, tempered of course by the awareness that access to the language of this linguistic community is available only through texts and not via native speakers. The exclusive reliance on written sources, the requirement for written sources close to the spoken language of the time, and the relative quantity of such sources in the various historical sub-periods between Late Antiquity and Modern Greek have largely dictated the chronological limits of the Grammar.

To be more specific, the starting point of its coverage has been set at approximately AD 1100, as it is only after this time that “vernacular” texts start to appear in significant quantity. The end point has been placed around 1700, in order to include the Early Modern period, with its considerable literary production (e.g. the works of Cretan literature) and its abundance of non-literary sources, conveniently identifiable both chronologically and geographically. The time period of the Grammar thus broadly coincides with the limits set by the corresponding lexicographical magnum opus, the Λεξικό της Μεσαιωνικής Ελληνικής Δημώδους Γραμματείας (1100–1669) of Emmanouil Kriaras. We must clarify, however, that the dates 1100 and 1700 are only approximate ones; material which stems from just outside this period (i.e. the 11th century or the early 18th) has also been taken into account, particularly when it serves to extend our geographical coverage.

² Concerning developments in lexicography see especially KRAMER 2011.

³ The language of higher-register Byzantine literary texts is now beginning to be systematically studied, as it deserves. See especially the edited volume HINTERBERGER 2014a.

The system of periodization that we have used is not based on external criteria, which might relate to historically significant dates, such as wars, conquest or independence. For this reason we do not employ the term “Byzantine Greek”: for almost the whole of the period that we are concerned with, a substantial part of the Greek-speaking world was not “Byzantine” in a political sense. Our criteria are instead internal ones, based on clusters of important linguistic changes that we see as occurring around 1100, 1500 and 1700 (for details see HOLTON 2010, HOLTON/MANOLESSOU 2010). Consequently, we employ the following terminology in order to denote sub-periods of the history of Greek, terms that also conveniently correspond to those widely used for periodization in Western historical thought: Early Medieval (EMedG) from about 500 to 1100; Late Medieval (LMedG) from about 1100 to 1500; Early Modern (EMG) from about 1500 to 1700.

It was only after careful consideration that the decision was taken to leave the Early Medieval period outside the scope of our investigation. On the one hand, the linguistic form of the relevant texts is in many ways markedly different from those of the Late Medieval and Early Modern periods; their inclusion would have resulted in a rather un-homogeneous textual corpus, not easily amenable to a unified treatment and description. On the other hand, the lack of preliminary linguistic studies on the texts of this period, including the totally untapped potential of the extensive corpus of Christian inscriptions, meant that substantial primary research would be needed, possibly involving a different set of skills. Nevertheless, we have taken the existing secondary bibliography on Early Medieval Greek sources into consideration when giving a historical overview of LMedG phenomena; in addition, EMedG primary sources offering early attestations of specific phenomena are quoted whenever possible.

As regards geographical limits, the choices are much simpler: the texts examined originate from all areas where the Greek vernacular was spoken as a native language in the late medieval and early modern periods: the bulk come of course from mainland Greece, the Greek islands, Cyprus and Asia Minor, but the areas covered include also more northerly areas in the Balkan peninsula (parts of modern Albania, Bulgaria, Romania, Turkey), as well as more distant areas with compact Greek-speaking enclaves during the period under investigation, namely Southern Italy and Sicily, Corsica and the Crimea, and urban settlements with a substantial Greek immigrant population, such as Venice and the Danubian principalities. Of course, since it depends entirely on the availability of sources and on changes in historical circumstances, the coverage is inevitably uneven. This issue will be discussed further in the following section.

2 The Sources

The Cambridge Grammar of Medieval and Early Modern Greek is a text-based descriptive grammar. This means that although it ultimately targets the internalized grammatical system of a native speaker of Greek living in the late medieval and early modern periods, as described in the previous section, the primary data at its disposal for postulating this system are exclusively the written sources of the period, which therefore constitute the basis of our linguistic description (complemented by knowledge of prior and subsequent phases of linguistic evolution, and of general principles of linguistic structure and language change).

Obviously, the texts cannot be taken as a faithful, photographic as it were, representation of the internalized grammatical system of the period, or, in simpler terms, of the “spoken” language. The very act of writing involves the influence of multiple linguistic registers, as the ability to write, i.e. literacy, is inevitably connected with knowledge of higher, more archaic and more prestigious linguistic levels. In the case of Medieval Greek, the distinction between linguistic phases or textual registers is more difficult than for other medieval languages, due to the very long attested history of the Greek language and literature, the extremely high prestige of Ancient Greek, and the relatively slow rate of change in several inflectional paradigms, not to mention the overall conservativeness of the writing system. As an illustration, consider the fact that in an Old French text, one is very rarely in doubt as to whether a certain form is “Latin” or “French”; however, in a Medieval Greek text one is frequently unsure whether a form should be labelled as “Classical”, “Koine” or “Medieval”. Contrast for example rex and magnus as opposed to li reis or magnes with ὁ βασιλεὺς and μέγας: whereas in the case of French there is no doubt as to the chronological period to which each set of elements belongs, in the case of Greek comparative and distributional research is required in order to exclude the possibility of the forms in question having survived normally until the medieval period. Similarly, the feminine form of the definite article in Greek appears identical in Ancient, Medieval and Modern Greek, namely <ή>; however, the conservativeness of the spelling system disguises the fact that since the Classical period the form has changed phonetically (and morphologically) from /hɛ:/ to /i/.

The description of Medieval and Early Modern Greek is, naturally, also subject to the limitations often described for all written languages belonging to earlier periods: the dependence on the successive stages of the textual tradition, i.e. the intervention of copyists and editors, which may vary according to text type. Ideally, priority should be accorded to texts which display the minimum of “interference” between the linguistic competence of the original speaker and the actual textual form before the eyes of the modern reader. The exiguity of ideal texts, such as autograph manuscripts, imposes the necessity for strict quality control of the available sources, as well as the examination of a very extensive textual corpus.

With these considerations in mind, the Grammar of Medieval and Early Modern Greek project entailed the linguistic processing of a very large body of textual material, divided into two basic categories: literary and non-literary texts, the former subdivided into prose and poetic texts. The notion “literary” is of course notoriously difficult to define. Instead, for the purposes of this Grammar, we have focused on a practical definition of “non-literary”: under this term are subsumed texts which were written and read for a practical purpose, i.e. to serve a specific extra-linguistic and extra-textual need (e.g. legal documents of all kinds, private letters, chronological notes, inventories, receipts etc.).

The fundamental distinction between non-literary and literary relies mainly on differences of transmission: non-literary texts usually involve few stages of copying/reproduction, and in many cases we even possess the original; on the other hand, literary texts usually have a more complex textual tradition, often involving many stages of transmission, multiple witnesses, or different versions/redactions. Furthermore, the richer textual tradition of literary texts inevitably influences their surviving linguistic form, e.g. the degree of variation or “mixture” of forms (co-existence of earlier and later forms, or of forms of different geographic provenance), or the volume of “errors” (copying errors, hypercorrections, errors resulting from misinterpretation etc.).⁴

Secondarily, the distinction literary vs. non-literary involves differences of linguistic practice: non-literary texts are more open to higher registers and formulaic and fossilized expressions, while literary texts allow a greater degree of intentional variation (conceivably as part of a Kunstsprache). Furthermore, literary texts may contain a wider range of linguistic categories and phenomena, as well as a richer vocabulary, than the often terse and repetitive non-literary texts. Finally, the linguistic form of literary texts is to a greater degree subject to stylistic considerations, which may even lead to conscious artificiality.⁵

The distinction between prose and poetry acknowledges the influence of additional factors determining the linguistic form of a text, namely metre and rhyme, which affect all linguistic levels, i.e. phonology (treatment of hiatus, stress patterns), morphology (shape of inflectional suffixes, tolerance of multiple equivalent variants serving different metrical needs), and syntax (word order). The most common metrical form of MedG and EMG vernacular poetry is the 15-syllable verse, with obligatory stress on the penultimate syllable and a caesura after the 7th or the 8th syllable (for a basic introduction see ODB s.v. “political verse”).

The textual material which served as the basis of the Grammar project, subdivided into the above categories according to the relevant theoretical considerations, was compiled after a lengthy process of research, selection and elimination. This procedure presupposes a number of criteria for the composition and delimitation of the corpus, in order to ensure its greater reliability for linguistic research.⁶

⁴ In light of the criteria mentioned above, “literary” texts include a number of works that are not strictly literary, but have undergone a similar transmission process, e.g. historical texts, legal codes (e.g. the Cypriot Assizes), religious narratives, homilies etc., instructional texts of various kinds, medical handbooks (ιατροσόφια), as well as letters that have historical significance or were written not just for personal communication (e.g. those of Nikon).

⁵ On issues relating to literary vs. non-literary sources see HINTERBERGER 2001, 2006; MANOLESSOU 2003; MARKOPOULOS 2009b.

⁶ We use the word “corpus” to refer to the sum total of texts assembled for the purposes of the Grammar. As explained below, our approach is necessarily selective: it does not aim at an exhaustive, quantitative analysis of a representative “corpus” of texts.

In more detail, one of the main preliminary tasks was to locate and document the existing literary and non-literary sources by area and period. In the case of non-literary texts, the research undertaken for vernacular documents went considerably beyond the standard bibliographies available (e.g. GINIS 1966, GINIS 1972/3; BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1977, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1979 and the more recent PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 2011),⁷ into national and provincial periodical publications and editions, library catalogues, digital resources etc., and produced a (constantly updated) bibliography for non-literary sources listing some 1,200 items, which were then perused and selectively excerpted for the purposes of the Grammar.

In the case of literary texts, although a basic list of sources was provided by the on-going medieval vernacular Greek dictionary of Kriaras, and the bibliography of the Sydney project (see also JEFFREYS/DOULAVERA 1998) offered important additional information, the register of works was completed through systematic bibliographic research by the project team. The aim was the full electronic overview, documentation and classification of all published texts for the medieval and early modern periods in the project's database (versions, editions, genres etc.). The electronic documentation also included secondary sources for these texts, such as concordances, lexica, philological and linguistic studies etc. New editions which appeared during the period from 2004 to 2016, especially those of texts not previously available in modern edition, were also utilized, as far as possible.

A second task was the necessary evaluation of the sources collected, a process which followed standard linguistic practice elaborated for the research of other major medieval languages (see e.g. VAN REENEN 1985, FLEISCHMAN 2000, PRÉVOST 2008 for French; WEGERA 2000, WEGERA 2003 for German; LAING/WILLIAMSON 2004, LASS 2004 for English; cf. also MANOLESSOU 2008a, TOUFEXIS 2012, MANOLESSOU 2014 for Greek). The standpoint and the choices of the present Grammar with respect to these criteria are discussed below.

Ideally, textual data should come from sources which are geographically and chronologically identifiable, i.e. whose dating and provenance is secure. As already discussed, non-literary texts meet these requirements more easily, due to the fewer stages of copying and their mainly archival or commemorative nature: the majority can be geographically located and dated with precision, whereas a large number of literary texts are anonymously transmitted, of unknown geographical origin, and of uncertain (or even controversial) dating. The geographical provenance and dating information is included in the reference tag of each non-literary example in the Grammar, whenever possible.⁸

Similarly, as already mentioned, reliable linguistic research requires minimal interference between the original form of a text and the modern reader. Successive copying of a text introduces, besides errors, variation attributable to scribes/redactors, and even alternative branches of textual tradition. Critical editions conflating multiple witnesses/versions of a text can eliminate variation and create “artificial” linguistic witnesses made up from the mixing of these alternative branches. Furthermore, even editions of texts based on a single manuscript/witness involve some degree of interference, in the matter of orthographic normalization, interpretation of forms, correction of scribal errors, analysis of abbreviations and ligatures etc. Editors may also implement arbitrary emendations, sometimes tacitly, and introduce linguistic elements absent from the actual textual witnesses, in an attempt at linguistic or stylistic homogeneity or heightened dialectal colouring.

⁷ Note that the Kriaras dictionary only relatively recently started to use non-literary texts as sources for the vocabulary of the medieval and early modern period; consequently it offered very limited documentation on this issue.

⁸ The geographical provenance of a text is the place where it was actually written. Sometimes, for example in the case of letters, this place is not located in a Greek-speaking area, e.g. Rome, Stockholm. In such cases we also give the place of origin of the writer, if that information is available.

For the purposes of linguistic research, the data drawn from diplomatic transcriptions are relatively more reliable, and such sources have been heavily utilized in the Grammar. Diplomatic editions are mostly available for non-literary texts. Some literary texts were also consulted in the form of diplomatic transcriptions, while the Grammar project also benefitted from a number of normalized transcriptions of literary texts with minimal editorial interference (in electronic form). Alongside modern printed sources, the Grammar project used a considerable body of digitized manuscripts as well as a number of early prints (mainly 16th-century editions), which included some of the major literary works. These were constantly consulted in the case of dubious, exceptional and hapax readings. Due to limitations of time and human resources, it was not possible to include in the corpus unpublished texts (i.e. unavailable in modern editions), either in manuscript or in print form.⁹

Literary texts in critical editions were included in the corpus only when they included an apparatus criticus, which was always consulted during excerption. In rare cases we included major texts that lack a critical apparatus in their most authoritative edition, for example Chortatsis’s tragedy Erofilis; however, in this case we had the possibility of checking the readings of the extant witnesses. A serious difficulty faced by the Grammar during the phase of data collection was the fact that the MedG and EMG electronic texts included in the online Thesaurus Linguae Graecae (<http://stephanus.tlg.uci.edu/>, hereafter TLG) are not accompanied (for copyright reasons) by the apparatus criticus, something which required constant recourse to the corresponding printed edition and diminished the validity of numerical/statistical counts. It is of course true that many of the available printed editions are outdated and fall short of modern requirements in terms of methodology or consistency. However, it was deemed preferable to use them, albeit with caution, rather than ignore their evidence completely. In any case, medieval grammars of other major European languages have faced similar problems.

In general, as also happens in grammars of many other European languages, our approach towards medieval literary texts was rather maximalistic: strict application of linguistic reliability criteria would have resulted in the exclusion from investigation of a large number of texts of major historical and literary significance. Although from a purely linguistic point of view this might have increased the reliability of the description, it would have severely limited the usefulness of the Grammar for those interested in Medieval Greek literature. It may therefore safely be said that the vast majority of published vernacular literary works composed between roughly 1100 and 1700, belonging to a wide variety of genres, were taken into consideration: the number of literary sources examined totals around 360 texts, published in approximately 450 editions (as some texts are published in several different editions). Textual length varies from a few lines or verses to several hundred pages (e.g. the Cypriot chronicles of Machairas and Voustronios). Exclusion was an option only (a) for works published only in completely unreliable editions (extensive undocumented normalization, absence of apparatus criticus, outdated editorial methodology etc.) and (b) for works which, despite containing a few vernacular features, are on the whole written in a high-register style.

⁹ A few exceptions were made in the case of texts containing important linguistic information otherwise unavailable (e.g. the information on Old Athenian dialectal features provided in the Turcograecia by Martinus Crusius) or works which present particular historical or literary interest (e.g. the Theseid, which has only been partially edited).

Thankfully, it was in many cases possible to check the reliability of even questionable editions through access to the primary material, i.e. the manuscripts themselves or diplomatic transcriptions, or through comparison between different editions of the same text. For example, although the standard edition of the Chronicle of the Morea by John Schmitt involves a considerable amount of unwarranted phonetic normalization, it would have been impossible to exclude a text of such historical, geographical and chronological significance from the investigation. However, our access to digitized images of the main manuscripts of this text, coupled with the possibility of consulting other editions of the work, enabled us to overcome the editorial problem to a great extent. Great effort was made not to include in the actual text of the Grammar examples from sources that were unreliable or could not be cross-checked. Nevertheless, the reader must be aware that in all cases one is at the mercy of the textual data as presented by the editors.

It must be borne in mind that even the best efforts and intentions are restricted by reality: absolutely rigid criteria could not be applied to the entirety of the non-literary material either. The requirement for geographical and chronological representativeness and thorough coverage made it difficult to exclude a number of textual sources not fully conforming to modern standards, as this would have meant that whole areas or periods would not have been represented in the Grammar at all. (This is the case, for example, for small islands such as Kalymnos, Skiathos or Kimolos.) It should be noted that, in contrast to the literary material, it was not normally possible to have access to the originals of non-literary sources for purposes of verification (only in a few cases was it possible to consult facsimiles). Furthermore, it would have been unwise to omit older but unique and irreplaceable editions of documents not otherwise available, for example those from Southern Italy and Sicily. In terms of geographical distribution, representation could not be equal for all areas and periods, principally for two reasons: (a) areas under Latin, mainly Venetian, occupation (namely Crete, the Heptanese and the Cyclades) generally provide much richer documentary (notarial) archives than areas under Ottoman occupation (e.g. Southern Mainland Greece, Thessaly, Macedonia, Epirus); and (b) vernacular non-literary texts become available in greater numbers only after the 15th century, given that before the disintegration of the Byzantine Empire legal texts were mostly composed in high-register archaizing language.

From a purely factual/technical point of view, the textual basis of the Grammar of Medieval and Early Modern Greek project comprises the following source types:

- I) An electronic corpus totalling approximately 3 million words. This corpus is an accumulation of already available electronic MedG and EMG material, texts donated by editors or publishers themselves, in a generous gesture towards our project, and digital transcriptions of manuscript texts compiled by the members of the project.¹⁰ All electronic texts were converted to a standard electronic format (XML/TEI). In addition, we made extensive use of the online TLG, which is continuously expanding into the medieval period, and now contains several major literary works as well as some collections of non-literary documents. (But see the reservations mentioned above, in view of the omission of the apparatus criticus.)
- II) The main bulk of the textual material of the project, and especially the large body of non-literary texts, consisted of printed editions (books or articles), some of which were scanned as (non-machine-readable) PDFs, particularly those that exist only in rare or out-of-print publications.
- III) For many literary texts, and some non-literary ones, the project benefitted from a set of digitized images of manuscripts, including several of the major manuscripts transmitting well-known MedG works. This sub-corpus was created thanks to an earlier project undertaken at the University of Sydney, under the direction of Elizabeth and Michael Jeffreys, who generously granted access to their rich collection of microfilms. A smaller set was in the private possession of members of the project.

Most LMedG and EMG literary texts are in verse, covering recognized genres and sub-genres (often overlapping) such as narrative fiction, lyrical and satirical poetry, historical narrative, religious, didactic and allegorical poetry, drama and pastoral (the last two appearing in the EMG period). Literary prose texts are scarce for the LMedG period, but increase from the 15th century, the majority of such texts belonging to genres such as historical narrative, didactic/allegorical prose, narrative fiction, religious narratives (e.g. miracles, vitae), ecclesiastical rhetoric, epistolography and satire. The literary sources prior to the 15th century are, in the main, impossible to assign to a particular geographical area; this is the case, for example, with several medieval vernacular romances, which represent a substantial part of the known literary production of the period.

The vast majority of the non-literary sources consulted are legal documents (monastic and notarial acts, private agreements, deeds of sale, leases, wills, contracts, inventories, canonical documents etc.). Texts of a non-legal nature include brief chronicles, manuscript notes, registers, official letters (including petitions and diplomatic correspondence), private and commercial letters, grammars and vocabularies, practical treatises (medical texts, portolans etc.), and magical/astrological texts. (Many of these texts are treated, for presentational purposes, in the same way as literary texts, as will be explained below.) Inscriptions and graffiti constitute a small, separate category. The earlier centuries of the period under investigation are mainly covered by the large monastic archives of Athos, S.

¹⁰ Scanning of printed texts and transformation to machine-readable format has been attempted only on a very small scale, as the results of OCR (optical character recognition) for Greek polytonic texts of mixed linguistic form or not following standard orthography proved unsatisfactory.

Italy and Sicily, while after the disintegration of the Byzantine Empire, as already mentioned, there is a boom in the production of vernacular legal documents in the areas under Latin rule. In fact, the notarial corpora from Crete, the Heptanese and the Cyclades make up roughly half of the extant non-literary sources, while some areas under Ottoman rule are seriously under-represented, e.g. Asia Minor, Macedonia and Thessaly, from which very little survives other than monastic archives. In general, the availability of sources from an area is directly connected to its overall economic, social and educational level, and of course the prevailing political situation. Sometimes availability is also limited by subsequent historical accident, such as the loss of a local archive due to natural disasters (e.g., in the case of Zakynthos, the 1953 earthquake and devastating fire which followed).

The examined corpus of non-literary sources consists of about 1,200 publications, of very variable length: from a single note or inscription taking up only a few lines, to large volumes of notarial archives containing hundreds of documents each. For this reason, it is not possible to quantify with precision the relative textual sizes (in words/lines/pages) of the corpus with respect to geographical or chronological distribution. The distributional picture may also change in the near future, as it is still the case that, for many areas, written sources of the period remain uncharted and unpublished.

The overwhelming majority of the texts, both literary and non-literary, are written in the Greek alphabet, following the conventional rules of Greek orthography, subject, of course, to the literacy and educational level of the scribe.¹¹ (See section 4 of this Introduction on Presentation.) However, a limited number of texts is written in scripts other than Greek. These texts are particularly useful for research into the phonology of Medieval and Early Modern Greek.

One may distinguish between texts written in an alphabet other than Greek and texts written in non-alphabetic scripts. The first category includes mainly texts written in the Latin alphabet, following the spelling conventions of several languages. Most Latin-script texts derive from areas under Venetian domination and follow Italian spelling practices (for which see VINCENT 1980: ξδ'-οε'; BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1996: 346–50; KARANTZOLA 2005b; MANOLESSOU 2017); they are mainly notarial documents, literary works and religious propaganda texts. They provide valuable information, for example, concerning the pronunciation of the Cretan dialect in the Early Modern period. A small number of non-literary texts, mainly of Cypriot origin, follow French conventions. Even smaller textual samples may be found in foreign travellers' accounts, when Greek words or phrases, or even short dialogues, are transcribed in the Latin alphabet following English or German conventions. One important source, the phrasebook published in VASMER 1922, offers a translation of Greek words and phrases into Russian, accompanied by a transcription in an early form of the Cyrillic alphabet.¹²

The second category (Greek texts in non-alphabetic scripts) covers a series of texts in Arabic script (aljamiado texts) and a larger body of sources written in Hebrew script. Greek aljamiado texts are mostly works of a linguistic nature (dictionaries, phrasebooks, word lists, e.g. PERNOT 1934: 497–508, GOLDEN 1985, LEHFELDT 1989, HENRICH 1993/94, MCKAY 2015), as well as a small set of poems from Asia Minor (BURGUIÈRE/MANTRAN 1952, DEDES 2003, KAPPLER 1999, KAPPLER 2010). The sources in the Hebrew alphabet are mostly texts used for the religious practices of Greek-speaking Jewish communities (biblical translations, prayers and liturgical texts; see SZNOL 1999, DE LANGE 2006, HOLLENDER/NIEHOFF-PANAGIOTIDIS 2011, HOLLENDER/NIEHOFF-PANAGIOTIDIS 2016, KRIVORUCHKO 2014 and references therein). Texts in non-alphabetic scripts are mostly useful for investigating the phonology of consonants, and secondarily for the study of the vocabulary. The incomplete notation of vowels occasionally renders them dubious sources for vocalism and for nominal and verbal morphology; additionally, in the case of religious Hebrew texts, the verbatim translation of the Hebrew original may give a distorted picture of MedG or EMG syntax. For these reasons such texts have been used only sparingly.

¹¹ For a correspondence table of graphemes and phonemes, i.e. how the written symbols/letters of the Greek alphabet correspond to sounds in LMedG and EMG, see pp. clxvii–clxviii.

¹² Transcriptions of loanwords and names in the Armenian, Georgian and Coptic alphabets are also important for the historical phonology of Greek, but are actually prior to the period under investigation.

3 Methodology

The descriptive framework of the Grammar, given the great span of its spatio-temporal coverage, the diverse interests and disciplinary backgrounds of its potential audience, and the very large amount of primary data to be handled, inevitably could not adhere to any specific theoretical model of analysis. It was felt that adherence to such a model would have impaired the Grammar's future usefulness rather than enhancing it, as theoretical approaches change relatively fast, and as a large part of the intended audience of the Grammar is not expected to possess formal linguistic training. On the other hand, rigid adherence to "traditional" analyses of the Greek language, following the available standard grammatical descriptions of its ancient and modern phases, was deemed equally undesirable, as it might have created pre-conceived classifications which do not correspond to the actual (extremely variable) state of the language in the late medieval and early modern periods, or would have imposed a teleological evolutionary view in the direction of Modern Greek (see e.g. BURIDANT 2000: 35 for a similar attitude towards Medieval French). The necessity for achieving a balance between "tradition and innovation" or "philology and linguistics" is in fact discussed in the methodological introductions of several recent medieval grammars (e.g. HOROBIN/SMITH 2002: viii; HOGG 2011: vii–ix; see also KNAPP 2003: 223–5; MARCHELLO-NIZIA 2012).

Of course, in order to be accessible and useful both for future investigations of Greek linguistic history and for comparative linguistic research focusing on other (medieval) languages, and to be able to cover all aspects of the phenomena in the most comprehensive manner, the description required some interaction with current linguistic theory and research, and needed to assume a certain level of standardization and abstraction; this concerns mainly the basic structural units and levels of linguistic analysis, and the terminology of grammatical entities and linguistic phenomena and changes. Readers unfamiliar with standard structural and historical linguistic terminology may refer to specialized dictionaries, such as CAMPBELL/MIXCO 2007, CRYSTAL 2008, and MATTHEWS 2014.

Comprehensive bibliographical coverage in relation to the phenomena and issues under discussion was another important desideratum, so that the reader might also be offered, along with a full description of the data, a general overview of the status quaestionis, together with relevant documentation and, where possible, pointers for further in-depth research, which could not have been conducted within the framework of a Grammar.

Summary information on earlier or subsequent language phases is also provided when necessary for the illumination of the specific feature or phenomenon under investigation: Ancient Greek (AG), Koine Greek and Early Medieval Greek (EMedG) are brought into the picture in short historical overviews attempting to date first appearances and diachronic developments, while Modern Greek data, especially data pertaining to Modern Greek dialects, is drawn on when it may help to corroborate innovative or geographically restricted phenomena (cf. also GIGNAC 1976: 43 for this practice with respect to the description of Koine Greek). The perspective of the Grammar is therefore not synchronic but diachronic (something which would in any case be inevitable, given the span of more than six centuries which it covers). However, insofar as SMG or dialectal features and phenomena not yet attested in the texts of the period under investigation are not discussed, it is not a historical grammar of Modern Greek.

No attempt is made to describe diachronic (and diatopic) variation in quantitative terms, employing current statistical variationist methods. This would have required the full parsing, annotation and excerption of the textual corpus investigated, an impossible undertaking in present circumstances, due both to the large size of the potential corpus and to the fact that most of the sources (especially the non-literary texts) were not available in electronic format. Instead, approximative estimations of relative frequency are provided through pre-theoretical terms such as “frequent”, “rare”, “restricted”, “regular” etc. These may not be considered as representing a fixed absolute numerical amount (e.g. “more/less than 100 occurrences”; again cf. GIGNAC 1976: 50), as they depend on the overall frequency of the phenomenon under investigation. For example, for a relatively rarely occurring inflectional suffix, such as the 1st person plural passive imperfect, even five or six tokens of a specific variant form may be considered sufficient to rate it as “frequent”, while for inflectional suffixes occurring in almost every sentence, such as the definite article or the 3rd person singular present of the copula verb, the term “frequent” may denote many hundreds of occurrences. An approximate idea of relative frequency, as well as of chronological and geographical distribution, is provided through the list of examples, which is as extensive and comprehensive as was possible for a work of this scope. For further details concerning the quantification of the data, see the preceding and following sections of this Introduction.

The overall methodology of the linguistic research proceeded through the following stages: initially, an overview of the secondary literature on Medieval and Early Modern Greek and a conceptual analysis of a short textual sample resulted in a long list of features/phenomena, classified by linguistic level, which would be included in the Grammar and which therefore needed to constitute targets for annotation and excerption. On the basis of this list, an electronic relational database, again divided by linguistic level, was constructed, in order to facilitate the process of excerption, codification, classification and retrieval of the data. As a second step, the database was tested on a subset of the corpus under investigation, and was subsequently modified on the one hand with additions or deletions of features/phenomena on the basis of actual data, and on the other with extra functionalities facilitating various types of aggregation (by century, geographical area, author, text-type etc.) on the basis of requirements arising from actual research experience. For further details concerning the creation and implementation of the project's database see TOUFEXIS 2012.

There followed the main stage of research, lasting several years, which consisted in the perusal and selective annotation and excerption of the chosen corpus of texts. As indicated, the excerption of the source materials could not be comprehensive (the whole of each text for all phenomena), as such an enterprise would have required a large team of specialized researchers working over a period of several decades. Instead, both literary and non-literary texts were subjected to extensive sampling, which may have covered the whole of the text in the case of shorter ones (e.g. Arm., Diig. Ven., Opsarol., Porikol.)¹³ or one or more substantial representative passages in the case of larger texts (e.g. Chron. Mor., Pol. Tr.) or collections of documents (e.g. TRINCHERA 1865, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987). The aim was to collect a well-structured set of sufficient instances for the illustration and analysis of each linguistic feature or phenomenon. Naturally, due to limitations of space, only a subset of the textual excerpts inputted in the database are included as examples in the Grammar, restricted by chronological, geographical and textual-pragmatic selectional criteria.

The final step of the research consisted in the actual writing up of the Grammar: this was based on the primary data collected in the database, on additional data collected ad hoc for each phenomenon through a targeted search in available electronic primary sources (principally the TLG, other MedG/EMG texts freely available online and electronic files of editions of texts kindly donated privately by their editors, as mentioned above) and on further reading of relevant primary and secondary literature (lexica, glossaries of editions, indexes and concordances, descriptions of the language of specific texts, authors or periods etc.). Further details concerning methodological and presentational principles are given, as necessary, in the introductions to the various Parts of the Grammar and individual chapters.

The end result of the process is not so much the description of a single object identifiable as “Late Medieval and Early Modern Greek” as the description of a set of (mainly) phonological and morphological isoglosses spreading and intersecting across Greek-speaking areas during the period under investigation. Some of them (usually those appearing earliest) cover the entire area, and may be considered as core characteristics of “Medieval and Early Modern Greek”, common to all of its local sub-varieties. Others (usually more recent ones, although a number of them are arguably datable to the period of the Koine) are geographically restricted and may be considered as dialectal characteristics.

However, throughout the Grammar the term “dialect” has generally been avoided with reference to local varieties spoken in the LMedG or EMG period, for the following reasons: (a) there was, during this whole period, no “standard” to which such “dialects” would contrast; (b) such a term might induce a mistaken identification of the Medieval with the ¹³ For the abbreviated titles of texts and relevant bibliographical details see the Bibliography.

Modern Greek dialectal situation and classification principles, which are in fact rather different; (c) given the fragmentary information available for most local varieties, it would be impossible to define them, i.e. to compile a list of identifying features for each of them; and (d) in most cases these identifying features would not all have appeared at the same time, so it would be very difficult to decide on a “cut-off” point after which sufficient differentiation would have accumulated in a given area to justify the postulation of a separate “dialect”. For example, the degemination of double consonants in most Greek-speaking regions, as opposed to their retention in certain peripheral areas, must have taken place already in the late Koine; but one cannot speak of a Cypriot, Dodecanesian or Southern Italian dialect at such an early date. Instead, the Grammar opts for the description of geographical variation, and assigns features, changes and isoglosses – insofar as the surviving evidence permits – to geographical areas and not to dialects.

4 Presentation

Throughout the Grammar we give lists of examples for each phenomenon under discussion. The examples are taken from our source texts, which, given that some were published in the 19th century, while others have never appeared in a modern edition, inevitably follow different principles as regards orthography and spelling. In the case of edited texts, we have not made any intervention in the orthographic system of the editor, except for the following “modernizations”: omission of the iota subscript in subjunctive forms; and replacement of the old spellings of the feminine nominative plural of the definite article ἡ with οἱ, the corresponding accusative ταῖς with τές, and likewise the nominal ending -αῖς with -ες. A variety of different systems will therefore be encountered by the reader: from conservative “classicizing” orthography, via the simplified spelling and orthography recommended by Manolis Triandafyllidis (TRIANDAFYLLIDIS 1941) and implemented in, for example, the series Βυζαντινὴ καὶ Νεοελληνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη (1974–), to more recent monotonic editions. We resisted the temptation to “standardize” the spelling and orthography of editions, partly out of respect to the editors and partly because it is not at all obvious which system should be preferred in a work of this kind, given the lengthy time-span and the wide range of registers that the texts represent. We considered it better to represent the variety of systems that are encountered in the editions themselves.¹⁴

The reader will therefore regularly observe differences in spelling, accentuation, and breathings, according to the edition which is cited. However, it should be clear that such differences do not affect the underlying linguistic form: the orthographic divergences are purely a matter of editorial preference or fashion. We will give a few examples. In noun endings, we find variation between the acute and the circumflex, e.g. παπᾶς/παπαῖς, ἄλουπού/ἄλουποῦ; parts of the verb “to be” can have different spellings, such as εἶνε/εἶναι, ἦταν/εἶταν; certain comparative forms may also have alternative spellings, e.g.

¹⁴ We have departed from this principle in the case of non-literary texts published in the monotonic system, e.g. ANDONIADIS 1990, KATSANIS 2012. Excerpts from such texts are given in “normalized” polytonic Greek, as is also the case with diplomatic editions (see below).

καλύτερος/καλλίτερος; double consonants in loanwords may be preserved or simplified, e.g. φουσσᾶτον/φουσάτον, σαῖττες/σαῖτες, ὀφίκιον/ὀφίκιον; words of uncertain etymology have various spellings, e.g. κοιτάζω/κυττάζω, γροικῶ/γρικῶ, ἀφίνω/ἀφήνω; older editions generally give <τζ> where <τσ> is now the normal spelling; finally, there may be differences of word division, such as εἴτι/εἴ τι, ἀφοῦ/ἀφ' οὗ, καθένα/καθ' ἓνα.

However, normalized spelling, in accordance with Triandafyllidis's simplified orthographic system, is employed in the synoptic tables of forms, in discussions of specific words or forms, and in all extracts taken from texts published in diplomatic editions. So, for example, we do not quote the unorthographic spelling of the manuscript πολῶν χαρῖτον καὶ δουλιῶν, ὅς πολακης ... ἀπηλῖφα (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 182.4), but normalize it as πολλῶν χαρίτων καὶ δουλειῶν, ὅς πολλάκις ... ἀπείληφα. What interests us here is the relative pronoun form ὅς. To give the editor's diplomatic text would be disorienting to the reader and rather pointless. On the other hand, when the interpretation of the text leaves room for doubt, we give both the diplomatic transcription and a normalized version, separated by an oblique stroke ("forward slash"), e.g. λωγγειουαριας / Λογγιβαρβίας (1133, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 113, 150.6); κε τουνυς / καὶ τουνῆς (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 80.60). In the discussion of phonology it is, of course, especially important to cite the actual reading of the source in cases of uncertainty, and this applies to both literary and non-literary texts. In the following examples the original spelling indicates the presence of a voiceless palatal fricative [ç]: κᾷπγιω στάρι / κάποιο στάρι (1630, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 51, 137.11); τοῦ χωραφχιού / τοῦ χωραφιοῦ (1695, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 33, 81.17). Similarly, in the case of texts in non-Greek scripts (mainly Latin, but also Cyrillic and Arabic) the original is given whenever a linguistic phenomenon is subject to interpretation, e.g. ἀπαῖα με / ἀγαπᾶς με (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 872); to stomandu / τὸ στόμαν του (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 198.151); na mi pleroni bglio / νὰ μὴ πλερώνη μπλιὸ (1661, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 10, 105.103).

It should be noted that the orthography of the extant manuscripts of LMedG and EMG texts in the Greek alphabet, both literary and non-literary, is largely historical and conventional, i.e. it aims to follow the model of AG classical orthography, but less well-educated scribes make frequent "errors". The majority of texts, both literary and non-literary, are full of such spelling errors, which constitute a useful indication for the investigation of MedG phonology, but which are normally tacitly "corrected" by modern editors. Of course, since the vernacular language is not subject to standardization, a certain degree of spelling variation and freedom, greater than that for MG, is observable. The accentuation system followed by LMedG and EMG is similarly conventional: it follows the AG "rules" of accentuation as set down by Alexandrian grammarians, but has no connection to phonetic reality apart from noting the syllable on which the stress accent falls. All types of sources display a large amount of accentuation "errors", both in the placement of accentuation marks and in the choice of the correct accentuation mark. Further information and additional bibliography on the writing system of the period may be found in standard manuals of epigraphy, palaeography and orthography such as MIONI 1979, CANART 1991, LITSAS 2001, WILSON 2008, PAPANASTASIOU 2008.

For each phenomenon or form a number of examples is given, in order to illustrate its geographical and chronological distribution, and the registers or types of text in which it occurs. The list does not normally exceed twenty extracts for each form, although in many instances much more material has been collected for analysis, in order to establish the overall pattern. When a form is standard throughout the period, with only limited variation, a smaller number of examples is given. For rare forms only a handful of examples may have been located.

In the Morphology chapters (Parts II and III) examples are listed in order of approximate date. (Slightly different arrangements are adopted for Phonology and Syntax; details are provided in the introductions to Parts I and IV.) Sometimes the lists are separated by a line-space into two or more sets, to distinguish variant forms. Forms are usually accompanied by enough of their context to show how they function in their verb or noun phrase, though sometimes a single word is sufficient. Non-literary examples are always cited with the date and geographical provenance, when this information is known (a question mark indicating uncertainty), followed by a reference to the publication, e.g. νὰ δώκη τὰ αὐτὰ χωράφια ... διὰ μερτικάρικα (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 31, 71.11) ὡσὰν καλὰ τση καὶ θεληματάρικα παιδιὰ (1598, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 1, 213–14.30) κλήματα ... χρονιάρικα (1607, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 463, 421.3)

 πηχιάρικα μαντήλια ὀκτώ (1636, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 3, 216.12)

In the case of notarial and other documents, the number of the document is given (if there are several in the same publication) as well as the page on which it occurs, to facilitate consultation, given the diversity of practices among editors of such texts. For example, the reference to BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987 in the list above identifies the specific document as number 463; the relevant extract can be found on p. 421, in line 3 of the document in question. When the editors of the texts provide numbering which follows the actual line division of the original, line numbers in our references correspond to lines in the original, continuously from the beginning to the end of the document. When the editors do not provide such numbering (even though they may indicate line breaks), line numbers in our references correspond to lines of the printed text on the relevant page.

Literary texts are cited by means of an abbreviated title, together with the author's name (if known). The key to these abbreviations can be found in the Bibliography of literary works, where full bibliographical details are given. The reference may sometimes specify the edition, where more than one edition of the same text exists; when no editor's name is mentioned, the edition used is the one marked with an asterisk (*) in the bibliography.¹⁵ In the case of verse texts a line number is given (the verse-end being indicated by a vertical line, |, where necessary), while prose texts are cited either by page and line of the edition (even if the edition does not have line numbering), or by paragraph and line if that is the editor's system:

¹⁵ The same arrangement is followed in the case of some other categories of text which either have a known author (e.g. grammars) or have undergone a similar transmission process to literary texts (e.g. oracles, proverbs, instructional handbooks). Consequently, such texts have been included in the Bibliography of literary works.

τοῦ τὴν ἡπῆρεν Chron. Toc. 859 τοῦ τὸ ἐπούλησεν Assizes A 41.21 καὶ ἐφαίνετό του Spanos D 403 καὶ ἐδῶκαν του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 280.24 διατὶ ἤξευρε ὅτι ὅλοι τοῦ ἤθελαν κακὸν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 337.9
 εἶπα σου πῶς ταμένη | εἶχε τὴν κακορίζικη ἐτούτη νὰ τοῦ δώσει CHORTATSIS, Katz. III.364–5

Quite often it is necessary to cite words that are not found in the edited text but either in the apparatus criticus or in a manuscript available to us. Variant readings when a text survives in more than one witness, original readings that the editor has rejected or amended (for linguistic, stylistic, metrical or other reasons), and repetitive or “irrelevant” material may come into this category, as well as misreadings of the manuscript by the editor. However, for the historical linguist all such matter is valid linguistic data and should not be ignored: it may constitute crucial evidence for the existence of a particular form. We give a few (unrelated) examples:

καλαμάχιν Ptoch. II 26.12 app. crit. (H) ζητεῖ νὰ τίς τὴν δώσετε Pol. Tr. 1371 app. crit. (A) κολουμποῦσι Velth. 697 transcr. (Lendari) (κολυμποῦσι Kriaras) τσῆς ἀγάπης MONTSEL., Evgena 1133 app. crit. (Vitti) ὡσάν τὸ στόμα ἐτουτουνῶν KORNAROS, Erot. V.150 app. crit. (X)

The presentation of the linguistic material varies somewhat from section to section, and is dictated by the material itself rather than by a rigid formalistic structure. Basic historical information is usually given in an introduction, while more detailed aspects of variation (i.e. diachronic and geographical variation, as well as register, style and function) are generally discussed when the forms are presented. For Phonology the treatment is by phenomenon. As far as Syntax is concerned, the rather different approach and the principles underlying the presentation of the data are fully explained in the introduction to that part of the Grammar. For Morphology the picture – and consequently the way we present it – exhibits both variety and complexity. Thus, adjectives and determiners demand a different kind of presentation from nouns, because for each paradigm three genders must be discussed. Verb morphology is further complicated by the need to discuss endings (for person, number, voice, mood etc.), as well as stem variation and augments. Usually we give a synoptic table for each nominal or verbal paradigm, setting out all the variants. Subsequently, smaller tables classify the allomorphs as “General” (if they occur widely in the texts examined), “Restricted” (if they are found in only part of the period covered by the Grammar, or only in certain areas or certain types of text), or “Rare” (if their occurrence is very limited).¹⁶ Within tables, allomorphs are separated by a broken vertical line (|), while purely orthographic variants are separated by a slash: τση / τζη, or occasionally indicated by the use of brackets: βάρ(ε)ιε, βαθ(ε)ιά. Letters/sounds at word boundaries whose presence is variable are given in round brackets: μεγάλω(ν), ἐκεῖνων(ε), γρικᾶν(ε). When whole words are enclosed in brackets in the tables, the forms in question may reasonably be assumed to have existed, but no example has been located in the LMedG and EMG texts examined, e.g. (μῖανοῦ), (χρυσοῦ).

¹⁶ Sometimes this information is incorporated in the synoptic table, where space allows it.

Throughout the Grammar our aim is to present a comprehensive, detailed and nuanced picture of the Greek language in its late medieval and early modern phases, to relate developments to earlier and later periods, to plot linguistic change within our period, and to provide a reliable source of information, for the benefit of scholars and students who read, consult or edit medieval and early modern texts written in some form of vernacular Greek. It is impossible for such a large collective undertaking to be entirely free of errors, omissions, inconsistencies and differences of approach, and for all such flaws we seek readers' forbearance. But we hope that we have significantly advanced the scientific study of the Greek language in a crucial, but sadly neglected, phase of its history. It is clear to us that many of the phenomena explored in this Grammar would benefit from further in-depth analysis; they could also be examined in a broader comparative or theoretical framework. It is therefore to be hoped that our work will provide a stimulus and a starting point for a variety of further investigations into the history of the Greek language, and at the same time facilitate the researches of scholars across a broad range of disciplines concerned with medieval and early modern Greek history and culture.

* * *

Although this is a collective work, it is appropriate here to acknowledge the specific responsibilities of members of the research project and to make the necessary attributions of authorship. Io Manolessou was closely involved in the project from the outset: she undertook a pilot project which involved compiling bibliography and critically assessing previous work on Medieval and Early Modern Greek. Thereafter she served as an honorary consultant throughout the process and, in addition to advising on a wide range of linguistic issues, was solely responsible for drafting the Phonology part of the Grammar. She also maintained the constantly updated linguistic bibliography and contributed to data inputting. Three members of the team were employed as Research Associates during the period of the grant awarded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council: Tina Lendari (2004–7), Notis Toufexis (2004–9) and Marjolijne Janssen (2007–9). During this period, and indeed beyond, they researched the primary and secondary sources and inputted linguistic data to the database. Marjolijne Janssen was re-employed as a part-time Research Associate for further periods (2009–13), when funding became available. All of the members of the project participated in the writing-up process. Tina Lendari, together with Io Manolessou, drafted the following Morphology sections: Articles, Demonstrative, Qualitative, Quantitative, Interrogative, Indefinite, Relative and Distributive Pronouns, as well as parts of the General Introduction. Notis Toufexis was responsible for the design, creation and maintenance of the database throughout the process; he produced an initial draft of Noun Morphology and drafted Numerals. Marjolijne Janssen undertook the drafting of Noun and Verb Morphology, shared the overall editing and compiled the indexes. Geoffrey Horrocks served as Co-Director of the research project and authored the Syntax part. David Holton directed the project and drafted the chapters on Adjectives and Adverbs, and the sections on Personal, Possessive, Intensive, Contrastive, Reflexive, and Reciprocal Pronouns, and Universal Quantifiers.

Acknowledgements

We are indebted to many individuals, institutions and funding bodies for various forms of assistance and support, without which this project could not have been completed. Initial “seed-corn” funding for a pilot study was provided by the Faculty of Classics at the University of Cambridge. As a result, Io Manolessou was able to devote part of 2001 to compiling bibliography, researching medieval grammars in other languages, and producing a feasibility study. The main project was funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council for a period of just over five years (2004–9). Crucial additional funding beyond this period came from donations or grants made by Dr Nicholas Theocarakis and the Cambridge Humanities Research Grants Scheme.

Our international advisory board, which met four times during the main funding period, monitored progress, offered sage advice and helpful suggestions, and in some cases provided detailed comment on our initial drafts. It had the following membership: Professor Despina Chila-Markopoulou (Athens), Professor Arnold van Gemert (Amsterdam), Professor Martin Hinterberger (Cyprus), Professor Elizabeth Jeffreys (Oxford), Professor Michael Jeffreys (Sydney/King’s College London) and Professor Peter Mackridge (Oxford).

Throughout the project we have benefitted hugely from the kindness of colleagues and friends, who have sent us publications, offered us their own unpublished research materials, tracked down inaccessible publications or checked manuscript readings. Special thanks are due to Katerina Korre for sacrificing part of her research time in order to check document readings in the Venetian archives, and to Marc Lauxtermann for excerpting many texts and relentlessly hunting down poorly documented forms. We thank the following for all their valuable contributions: Javier Alonso Aldama, Nikolaos Aliprandis, Eleni Angelomati-Tsoungaraki, Ilias Arnaoutoglou, Wim Bakker, Rosemary Bancroft-Marcus, Christina Bassea-Bezantakou, Walter Brokkaar, Giannis Chatzakis, Vicky Doulavera-Panayotopoulou, Manolis Drakakis, Hans Eideneier, Christos Fakas, Simon Franklin, Arnold van Gemert, Michael Grünbart, Christian Hannick, Günther Steffen Henrich, Wolfram Hörandner, Christina Jannick, Caroline Janssen, Elizabeth Jeffreys, Michael Jeffreys, Stefanos Kaklamanis, Tassos A. Kaplanis, Aglaia Kasdagli, †Rolandos Katsiaounis, Giorgos Kechagioglou and the Board of the Institute for Modern Greek Studies, Paschalis Kitromilides, Toulia Koliadimou, Katerina Krikos-Davis, Julia Krivoruchko, Stelios Lampakis, Nicholas de Lange, Renata Lavagnini, Peter Mackridge, Chrysa Maltezou, Thodoris Markopoulos, Tonia Marmarelli, Yannis Mavromatis, Angeliki Panopoulou, Maria Pantelia, Nikos Pantelidis, Tassos Papacostas, Anthony Papalas, Lydia Paparriga-Artemiadi, Cyril Pavlikianov, Stavros Perentidis, Dia Philippides, Maria Politi, Theodosios Pylarinos, Cristina Rognoni, Maria Olimpia Squillaci, Vera Tchentsova, Erich Trapp, Agamemnon Tselikas, Kostas Tsiknakis, Peter Vejleskov, Alfred Vincent, Rena Vlachaki, Francesca Vuturo, Kostas Yiavis, Stamatoula Zapanti, and staff of Crete University Press and of the Byzantine and Modern Greek Library of the National Research Foundation, Athens.

At Cambridge University Press we are grateful to Michael Sharp for his commitment, encouragement and patience throughout the process; to Malcolm Todd for his meticulous copy-editing, which saved us from numerous errors and inconsistencies; and to Sarah Starkey for her enthusiastic support and professional oversight of the final stages.

Finally, it is a pleasure to acknowledge the efficient and friendly support we have received from a succession of administrative, computing, accounting and library staff at Cambridge, in the Faculty of Modern and Medieval Languages, the University Library and the Classics Faculty Library. Special thanks go to Lyn Bailey, Stephen Howe, Mel Leggatt, Adam Merton, Jacky Price-Dyer and Nan Taplin.

Bibliography

1. Literary Works

For each work, approximate dates are given in square brackets at the end of the entry; sometimes different recensions or witnesses of the same text have different dates, and these are also provided at the end of the relevant entry. Where there are two dates within the square brackets, separated by an oblique line, the first is the presumed period of composition and the second is the date of the earliest surviving witness. In cases where there is more than one edition of the same text, an asterisk (*) indicates the edition normally used for quotations in the Grammar. If a different edition is used, the editor's name is given in brackets after the reference.

Classical, post-classical, early medieval and other learned Byzantine texts are not included below. When extracts are quoted from such works, the reference is only minimally abbreviated and, where necessary, the editor's name is also given. For standard editions of Byzantine texts see A. P. Kazhdan (ed.), The Oxford Dictionary of Byzantium, 3 vols. Oxford and New York 1991.

- ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. Pernot H., P. Gentil de Vendosme & Antoine Achélis, Le Siège de Malte par les Turcs en 1565, publié en français et en grec d'après les éditions de 1567 et de 1571. Paris 1910 [Collection de monuments pour servir à l'étude de la langue et la littérature néo-hellénique, troisième série, no. 2]. [16th c.]
- Achil. L* Hesseling D. C., L'Achilléide byzantine. Amsterdam 1919 [Verhandelingen der Koninklijke Akademie van Wetenschappen te Amsterdam. Afdeling Letterkunde. Nieuwe reeks, 19.3], 91–125. [14th–15th c. ?/15th c.]
- Achil. L* Haag B., Die Londoner Version der byzantinischen Achilleis. Munich 1919.
- Achil. L* Panayotopoulou V. – Lendari T., Transcription of ms L (Brit. Mus. Add. Ms 8241).
- Achil. N* Smith O. L., The Byzantine Achilleid. The Naples Version. Introduction, critical edition and commentary by Ole L. Smith†. Edited and prepared for publication by P. A. Agapitos and K. Hult. Vienna 1999 [Wiener Byzantinistische Studien, 21]. [14th–15th c. ?/15th–16th c. ?]
- Achil. O* Smith O. L., The Oxford Version of the Achilleid. Copenhagen 1990 [Opuscula Graecolatina, 32]. [14th–15th c. ?/16th c. ?]

- Ag. Nik. Strat.* Κωνσταντινίδης Κ. Ν., «Ὁ Ἅγιος Νικόλαος ὁ στρατιώτης», Δωδώνη 22 (1993) 35–54. [14th–15th c./16th c. ?]
- AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka* Δετοράκης Θ., «Μιχαὴλ τοῦ Ἀγαπητοῦ, Εἰς τοὺς ἁγίους δέκα μεγαλομάρτυρας τῆς Κρήτης μαρτύριον», Κρητικά Χρονικά 23 (1971) 58–85. Reprinted in idem, Βενετοκρητικά Μελετήματα. Heraklion 1996, 293–319. [17th c.]
- ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth.* Παράσογλου Μ., Ανδρόνικος Νούκιος. Γεώργιος Αιτωλός. Αισώπου μύθοι. Οι πρώτες νεοελληνικές μεταφράσεις. Athens 1993. [16th c.]
- ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Rim. Andron., Rim. Mich.* Λάμπρος Σπ., «Δύο ἀνέκδοτα στιχουργήματα εἰς Μιχαὴλ καὶ Ἀνδρόνικον τοὺς Καντακουζηνούς», Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 9 (1912) 252–64. [16th c.]
- ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Voev.* Bănescu N., Un poème grec vulgaire relatif à Pierre le Boiteux de Valachie. Bucharest 1912. [16th c./16th c.]
- Al. Kypr.* Τζεδάκης Θ. Β., «Ἡ Κρήτη ἐν ἀνεκδότῳ ἐπικῶ ποιήματι περὶ τῆς ὁλώσεως τῆς Κύπρου (ἐκ κώδικος τῆς σιναϊτικῆς βιβλιοθήκης)». In Πεπραγμένα τοῦ Α΄ Διεθνoῦς Κρητολογικοῦ Συνεδρίου [= Κρητικά Χρονικά 15–16 (1961–2)], vol. 2, 156–74. Reprinted in idem, Εἰσηγήσεις – Ἀνακοινώσεις εἰς διεθνή συνέδρια, 7 Κρητολογικά, τὸ ΙΣΤ΄ Βυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν καὶ τὸ Β΄ Κυπριολογικόν. Rethymno 1995, 13–34. [16th c.]
- Alex. Fyll.* Βελουδῆς Γ., Ἡ Φυλλάδα τοῦ Μεγαλέξαντρου. Διήγησις Ἀλεξάνδρου τοῦ Μακεδόνα. Athens 1989. [17th c./18th c.]
- Alex. Rim.* Holton D., Διήγησις τοῦ Ἀλεξάνδρου. The Tale of Alexander. The rhymed version. Critical edition with an introduction and commentary. Athens 1974, 2nd edition 2002 [Βυζαντινὴ καὶ Νεοελληνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 1]. [16th c.]
- Alf. Xen. A, B* Μαυρομάτης Γ., Τὰ «Περὶ τῆς Ξενιτείας» ποιήματα. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις μετὰ εἰσαγωγὴν, σχόλια καὶ λεξιλόγιο. Heraklion 1995, 193–234. [15th c.]
- Alfav. 10, 11, 14, 15* Κακουλίδη Ἑ. Δ., Νεοελληνικά θρησκευτικά ἀλφαβητάρια. Διατριβὴ ἐπὶ διδακτορίᾳ. Thessaloniki 1964 [ΕΕΦΣΠΘ, Παράρτημα 9]. [16th c. ?] [17th c. ?/17th–18th c.] [15th c./15th–16th c.] [17th c.]
- Alfav. I, II* Μπουμπουλίδης Φ. Κ., «Δημῶδεις μεταβυζαντινοὶ ἀλφάβητοι», Ἑπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Βυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν 25 (1955) 284–305. [15th c.] [17th–18th c.]
- Alosis Legrand É., “Εμμανουὴλ Γεωργιλλᾶ, Ἀλωσις Κωσταντινουπόλεως”. In Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, vol. 1. Paris 1880, 169–202. [15th c./16th c.]
- Alosis* Lendari T., Normalized transcription of Paris. gr. 2909.
- ANAGN., Stich. pol.* Bănescu N., Deux poètes byzantins inédits du XIIIe siècle. Bucharest 1913. [13th c.]

- Anak. Konst.* Κριαρᾶς Ἐ., Ἀνακάλημα τῆς Κωνσταντινόπολης. Τὸ κείμενο μὲ εἰσαγωγή, σχόλια καὶ γλωσσάριο. 2nd edition, Thessaloniki 1965. New edition, Thessaloniki 2012. [15th c.]
- Analos. Ath.* Δεστούνης Γ., Περὶ τῆς ἀναλώσεως καὶ τῆς αἰχμαλωσίας ἣ γέγονεν ὑπὸ τῶν Περσῶν εἰς Ἀττικὴν Ἀθήνα. St Petersburg 1881. [15th c./16th c.]
- ANDONIOS, Vios Sym. Styl. Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίον Πρῶτον: Ἀπὸ το τέλος τοῦ Βυζαντίου ὡς τῇ Γαλλικῇ Επανάστασι. Thessaloniki 2001, 243–5. [16th c.]
- *[ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. Pichard M., Le roman de Callimaque et de Chrysorrhoe. Texte établi et traduit par –. Paris 1956. [14th c./16th c.]
- [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. Cupane C., Romanzi cavallereschi bizantini: Callimaco e Crisorroe, Beltandro e Crisanza, Storia di Achille, Florio e Plaziafiore, Storia di Apollonio di Tiro, Favola consolatoria sulla Cattiva e la Buona Sorte. Turin 1995, 215–305.
- [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. Κριαρᾶς Ἐ., Βυζαντινὰ ἵπποτικά μυθιστορήματα. Athens 1955 [Βασικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 2].
- Anon. Naupl.* Χώρας Ἀ. Θ., «Αὐτοβιογραφικὸ στιχοῦργημα ἀπὸ ἀνώνυμο Ναυπλιώτη γιὰ τὰ δεινοπαθήματά του στὸ Ναύπλιο καὶ στὸ Ἄργος (1451)», Ναυπλιακὰ Ἀνάλεκτα 3 (1998) 348–63. [15th c.]
- Anthos Ch. A, G, I* Κολιαδήμου Σ., Ἀνθος τῶν Χαρίτων: τὸ ἰταλικὸ πρότυπο καὶ οἱ κύριες ἐλληνικὲς παραλλαγές. Unpublished PhD thesis, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, 2002. [15th–16th c./16th c.] [15th c.] [17th c.]
- Aparnimeni* Πολίτης Λ., «Παρατηρήσεις σὲ κρητικὰ κείμενα. 1. Ἡ ἀπαρνημένη τῶν Χανίων», Κρητικὰ Χρονικά 12 (1958) 300–5. [16th c.]
- Apok. Theot.* Dawkins R. M., «Κρητικὴ ἀποκάλυψις τῆς Παναγίας», Κρητικὰ Χρονικά 2 (1948) 487–500. [ca. 1650/17th c.]
- Apoll. Rim. A, E, N, V* Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Απολλώνιος τῆς Τύρου. Ὑστερομεσαιωνικὲς καὶ νεότερες ἐλληνικὲς μορφές. Κριτικὴ ἐκδόση, μὲ εἰσαγωγές, σχόλια, πίνακες λέξεων – γλωσσάρια, vols. 1, 2.1, 2.2. Thessaloniki 2004. [16th c.]
- Arm.* Ἀλεξίου Στ., Βασίλειος Διγενῆς Ἀκρίτης (κατὰ τὸ χειρόγραφο τοῦ Ἑσχοριάλ) καὶ τὸ Ἄσμα τοῦ Ἀρμούρη. Κριτικὴ ἐκδόση. Athens 1985. [12th c./15th c.]
- Arm.* Eideneier H., «Τὸ Ἄσμα τοῦ Ἀρέστη Ἀρμούρη», Παλίμψηστον 33 (2016) 81–116.
- ARSENIOS, Vasil. Ros. (= Βασιλεία καὶ αυτοκρατορία τῶν Ρωσῶν ...) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίον Πρῶτον: Ἀπὸ το τέλος τοῦ Βυζαντίου ὡς τῇ Γαλλικῇ Επανάστασι. Thessaloniki 2001, 297–8. [17th c.]

- Assizes A Σάθας Κ. Ν., «Ἀσσίζαι τοῦ Βασιλείου τῶν Ἱεροσολύμων καὶ τῆς Κύπρου». In Μεσαιωνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, ἡ συλλογὴ ἀνεκδότων μνημείων τῆς ἑλληνικῆς ἱστορίας, vol. 6. Venice and Paris 1877, 1–246. [16th c.]
- Assizes B Σάθας Κ. Ν., «Ἀσσίζαι τοῦ Βασιλείου τῶν Ἱεροσολύμων καὶ τῆς Κύπρου». In Μεσαιωνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, ἡ συλλογὴ ἀνεκδότων μνημείων τῆς ἑλληνικῆς ἱστορίας, vol. 6. Venice and Paris 1877, 249–497. [15th c.]
- AXAGIOLIS, Diig. Karolou Ζώρας Γ. Θ., Ἰωάννου Ἀξαγιώλου, Διήγησις συνοπτικὴ Καρόλου τοῦ Ε΄ (κατὰ τὸν Βατικανὸν ἑλληνικὸν κώδικα 1624). Athens 1964 [Σπουδαστήριον Βυζαντινῆς καὶ Νεοελληνικῆς Φιλολογίας Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν, 38]. [16th c.]
- BAROZZI, Letter Κακλαμάνης Σ., Francesco Barozzi, Descrizione dell'isola di Creta (Περιγραφή τῆς Κρήτης, 1577/8). Μιὰ γεωγραφικὴ καὶ ἀρχαιολογικὴ περιγραφή τῆς Κρήτης στὰ χρόνια τῆς Ἀναγέννησης. Εἰσαγωγή, ἔκδοση κειμένου, σχόλια καὶ ἀπόδοση στὰ ἑλληνικά. Heraklion 2004, 357–63 [Βενετικὲς Πηγὲς τῆς Κρητικῆς Ἱστορίας, 3]. [16th c.]
- *BERGADIS, Apok. A, V Vejleskov P., APOKOPOS. A fifteenth century Greek (Veneto-Cretan) catabasis in the vernacular. Synoptic edition with an introduction, commentary and Index verborum. Cologne 2005 [Neograeca Medii Aevi, 9]. [15th c./16th c.]
- BERGADIS, Apok. A Ἀλεξίου Στ., «Μπεργαδὴ Ἀπόκοπος, Κριτικὴ ἔκδοση», Κρητικὰ Χρονικά 17 (1963) 183–251. [15th c./16th c.]
- BERGADIS, Apok. A Παναγιωτάκης Ν. Μ., «Τὸ κείμενο τῆς πρώτης ἔκδοσης τοῦ “Ἀπόκοπου”. Τυπογραφικὴ καὶ φιλολογικὴ διερεύνηση», Θησαυρίσματα 21 (1991) 89–167.
- Bertoldin. Ἀγγέλου Ἀ., Giulio Cesare Dalla Croce, Ὁ Μπερτόλδος καὶ ὁ Μπερτολδίνος. Athens 1988. [17th c.]
- Bertoldos Ἀγγέλου Ἀ., Giulio Cesare Dalla Croce, Ὁ Μπερτόλδος καὶ ὁ Μπερτολδίνος. Athens 1988. [17th c.]
- BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. (= Νεῖλου Μπέρτου, Στιχοπλοκία εἰς τουτονὶ τὸν ἑβδομον αἰῶνα) Aposkiti-Stammmler H., Nathanael-Neilos Bertos. Vindobonensis hist. gr. 91, Nr. 59. Inaugural-Dissertation zur Erlangung des Doktorgrades der Philosophischen Fakultät der Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität zu München. Munich 1974. [15th c./15th–16th c.]
- BERTOS, Omil. Schartau B., “Nathanaelis Berti monachi sermones quattuordecim”, Cahiers de l'Institut du Moyen-âge Grec et Latin 12 (1974) 11–85. [15th c.]
- BOUBOULIS, Limbon. Legrand É., “Relation de la mort de Michel Limbona”. In Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, vol. 2. Paris 1881, 123–47. [17th c.]

- BOUNIALIS ΕΜ., Epain. Korn., Evang. Theot. Πέττα Μ., «Δύο στιχουργήματα τοῦ Ἑμμανουὴλ Τζάνε Μπουνιαλῆ», Θησαυρίσματα 22 (1992) 258–88. [17th c.]
- *BOUNIALIS Μ., Diig. Pol. Ἀλεξίου Στ. – Ἀποσκίτη Μ., Μαρίνου Τζάνε Μπουνιαλῆ τοῦ Ρεθυμναίου, Ὁ Κρητικὸς Πόλεμος (1645–1669). Athens 1995. [17th c.]
- BOUNIALIS Μ., Diig. Pol. Ξηρουχάκης Α., Ὁ Κρητικὸς Πόλεμος (1645–1669) ἡ συλλογὴ τῶν ἐλληνικῶν ποιημάτων Ἀνθίμου Διακρούση, Μαρίνου Ζάνε. Trieste 1908.
- *BOUNIALIS Μ., Kat. ofel. Πασχαλίδου-Παπαδοπούλου Γ., «Ἡ «Κατάλυσις ὠφέλιμος» τοῦ Μαρίνου Τζάνε Μπουνιαλῆ», Κρητολογία 12–13 (1981) 5–46. [17th c.]
- Byz. II. Nørgaard L. – Smith O. L., A Byzantine Iliad. The Text of Par. Suppl. Gr. 926, edited with Critical Apparatus, Introduction and Indexes. Copenhagen 1975 [Opuscula Graecolatina, 5]. [14th c./16th c.]
- CANTEMIR, Krit. (= Κριτήριον ἢ διάλεξις ...) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ἀνθολογία. Ἀφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρῶτο: Ἀπὸ το τέλος τοῦ Βυζαντίου ὡς τῇ Γαλλικῇ Ἐπανάστασι. Thessaloniki 2001, 446–9. [17th c.]
- Charon II, III Moravcsik G., “Il Caronte bizantino”, Studi Bizantini e Neoellenici 3 (1931) 45–68. [17th c./17th-18th c.] [16th c./17th c.]
- CHEILAS, Chron. Hopf Ch., Chroniques gréco-romanes inédites ou peu connues, publiées avec notes et tables généalogiques. Berlin 1873, 346–58. [15th c./16th c. ?]
- CHIKAS, Monod. Sev. (= Ἡ μονωδία εἰς τὸν θάνατον τοῦ Γαβριὴλ Σεβήρου) Μανούσας Μ. Ι., «Ναθαναὴλ Χίκας ὁ Ἀθηναῖος καὶ τὰ ἀνέκδοτα ἔργα αὐτοῦ», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Μεσαιωνικοῦ Ἀρχείου 4 (1952) 3–48. [17th c.]
- *CHORTATSI, Erof. Ἀλεξίου Στ. – Ἀποσκίτη Μ., Ἐρωφίλη, τραγωδία Γεωργίου Χορτάτση. Athens 1988. [16th c./17th c.]
- CHORTATSI, Erof. Legrand É., “Érophile. Tragédie de Georges Chortatsis”. In Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, vol. 2. Paris 1881, 335–99.
- CHORTATSI, Erof. Ξανθουδίδης Σ., Ἐρωφίλη, τραγωδία Γεωργίου Χορτάτση (1600) ἐκδιδομένη ἐκ τῶν ἀρίστων πηγῶν μετ’εἰσαγωγῆς καὶ λεξιλογίου. Athens 1928 [Texte und Forschungen zur Byzantinisch-Neugriechischen Philologie, 9].
- CHORTATSI, Erof. Interm. Ἀλεξίου Στ. – Ἀποσκίτη Μ., Γεωργίου Χορτάτση, Ἡ Ἐλευθερωμένη Ἱερουσαλὴμ (Τὰ ἰντερμέδια τῆς Ἐρωφίλης). Athens 1992. [16th c./17th c.]
- CHORTATSI, Katz. Πολίτης Λ., Γεωργίου Χορτάτση Κατζοῦρμπος. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις, σημειώσεις καὶ γλωσσάριο. Heraklion 1964 [Ἑταιρία Κρητικῶν Ἱστορικῶν Μελετῶν, Κρητικὸν Θέατρον, 1]. [16th c.]

- *CHORTATSI, Panor. Κριαράς Ε. – Πηδώνια Κ., Γεωργίου Χορτάτση, Πανώρια. Κριτική έκδοση με εισαγωγή, σχόλια και λεξιλόγιο Εμμανουήλ Κριαρά, αναθεωρημένη με επιμέλεια Κομνηνής Πηδώνια. Thessaloniki 2007. [16th c.–17th c.]
- CHORTATSI, Panor. Κριαράς Έ., Γεωργίου Χορτάτση Πανώρια. Κριτική έκδοση με εισαγωγή, σχόλια και λεξιλόγιο. Thessaloniki 1975 [Βυζαντινή και Νεοελληνική Βιβλιοθήκη, 2].
- CHORTATSI, Panor. Bancroft-Marcus R. E., Georgios Chortatsis (fl. 1576–1596), Plays of the Veneto-Cretan Renaissance: A bilingual Greek–English edition in two volumes, with introduction, commentary, apparatus criticus, and glossary, vol. 1: Texts and Translations. Oxford 2013.
- CHORTATSI, Panor. Prol. Apoll., Prol. Charas Κριαράς Ε. – Πηδώνια Κ., Γεωργίου Χορτάτση, Πανώρια. Κριτική έκδοση με εισαγωγή, σχόλια και λεξιλόγιο Εμμανουήλ Κριαρά, αναθεωρημένη με επιμέλεια Κομνηνής Πηδώνια. Thessaloniki 2007. [16th c.–17th c.]
- CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. Μέγας Γ. Α., Γεωργίου Χούμνου Ἡ Κοσμογέννησις. Ἀνέκδοτον στιχούργημα τοῦ ΙΕ΄ αἰῶνος. Ἑμμετρος παράφρασις τῆς Γενέσεως καὶ Ἑξόδου τῆς Παλαιᾶς Διαθήκης. Κριτική ἔκδοσις. Athens 1975. [15th c.]
- Chron. 1570* Psichari J., “L’arbre chantant”. In Mélanges offerts à M. Emile Chatelain par ses élèves et ses amis. Paris 1910, 628–33. Reprinted in Quelques travaux de linguistique, de philologie et de littérature helléniques, 1884–1928. Paris 1930, 993–1001. [16th c.]
- Chron. 1619* Vitti E., “Eine unveröffentlichte Chronik aus dem Codex Marc. Gr. VII, 43”, Folia Neohellenica 3 (1981) 151–97. [17th c.]
- Chron. Mor. H, P, T* Schmitt J., The Chronicle of Morea, Τὸ Χρονικὸν τοῦ Μορέως. A History in Political Verse relating the Establishment of Feudalism in Greece by the Franks in the Thirteenth Century. Edited in Two Parallel Texts from the MSS of Copenhagen and Paris, with Introduction, Critical Notes and Indices. London 1904, reprinted Groningen 1967, Athens 2003. [14th c.]
- Chron. Ps.-Doroth.* (1572) Ζαχαριάδου Έ. Α., «Ἡ πατριαρχεία τοῦ Διονυσίου Β΄ σὲ μία παραλλαγή τοῦ Ψευδο-Δωροθέου», Θησαυρίσματα 1 (1962) 142–61. [16th c.]
- Chron. Ps.-Doroth.* (1631) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Απὸ το τέλος τοῦ Βυζαντίου ὡς τὴ Γαλλικὴ Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 227–33. [16th c./17th c.]
- Chron. Theod.* (= Χρονικὸ τῶν Θεοδοσίων) Κονόμος Ντ., Ζακυνθινὰ χρονικὰ (1485–1953). Athens 1970, 19–24. [15th–16th c./19th c.]

- Chron. Theod.* Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 187–9. [15th–16th c./19th c.]
- Chron. Toc.* Schirò G., Cronaca dei Tocco di Cefalonia di anonimo: prolegomeni, testo critico e traduzione, a cura di –. Rome 1975 [Corpus Fontium Historiae Byzantinae, 10]. [15th c.]
- Chron. Tourk. Soult.* Ζώρας Γ. Θ., Χρονικόν περί τῶν Τούρκων σουλτάνων (κατά τὸν Βαρβερινὸν ἐλληνικὸν κώδικα 111). Athens 1958 [Σπουδαστήριον Βυζαντινῆς καὶ Νεοελληνικῆς Φιλολογίας τοῦ Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν]. [17th c.] See also Ζώρας Γ. Θ., «Σύμμεικτα: α) Χρονικὸν περί τῶν Τούρκων Σουλτάνων (Προσθῆκαι καὶ παρατηρήσεις). β) Τζάνε Βεντράμου, Ἱστορία φιλαργυρίας μετὰ τῆς περφηανείας γ) Ἀνέκδοτος ἐπιστολὴ τοῦ Κομμητᾶ πρὸς τὸν Θείρσιον», ΕΕΦΣΠΑ 16 (1965–1966) 597–610.
- Corona Preciosa* Stefano Nicolini da Sabbio, Introdutorio nuovo intitolato Corona Preciosa ... Venice 1527. [16th c.]
- Cypr. Canz.* Siapkarakas-Pitsillidès Th., Le Pétrarquisme en Chypre, poèmes d'amour en dialecte chypriote d'après un manuscrit du XVI^e siècle. Paris ²1975. [15th c.?–16th c.]
- Cypr. Canz.* Legrand É., “Poésies érotiques chypriotes”. In Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, vol. 2. Paris 1881, 58–93.
- DAM. STOUD., Dial. Κακουλίδη-Πάνου Έ., «Δαμασκηνού Στουδίτου ‘Διάλογος’», Δωδώνη 3 (1974) 443–58. Reprinted in eadem, Συμβολές. Νεοελληνικά μελετήματα. Ioannina 1982 [Ἐρευνες στὴ Νέα Ἑλληνικὴ Φιλολογία, 4], 89–104. [16th c./17th c.]
- *DAM. STOUD., This. Βιβλίον ὀνομαζόμενον Θησαυρός, ὅπερ συνεγράψατο ὁ ἐν μοναχοῖς ἐλάχιστος Δαμασκηνὸς ὁ ὑποδιάκονος καὶ στουδίτης ὁ Θεσσαλονικεύς. Stampato in Venetia per Christofano di Zanetti. Venice 1561. [16th c.]
- DAM. STOUD., This. Δεληδήμος Ε., Θησαυρὸς Δαμασκηνοῦ τοῦ ὑποδιακόνου καὶ Στουδίτου. New York 1943.
- DEFAR., Log. did. Karaiskakis S., “Das Lehrgedicht Λόγοι διδακτικοὶ τοῦ πατρὸς πρὸς τὸν υἱὸν von Markos Depharanas 1543”, Λαογραφία 11 (1934) 1–66. [16th c.]
- *DEFAR., Sos. Legrand É., “Μάρκου Δεφαράνα, Ἱστορία ἐκ τῶν τοῦ Δανιήλ περὶ τῆς Σωσάννης”. In Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, vol. 1, Paris 1880, 269–82. [16th c.]
- DEFAR., Sos. Holton D. W., Edition in preparation of M. Δεφαράνας, Ἱστορία τῆς Σωσάννης.

- Deft. Par.* Schartau B., “Δευτέρα Παρουσία διὰ στίχου – The Second Coming of Christ in rhyme. The text of Cod. Vind. hist. gr. 119, ff. 116–125 edited with an introduction, English translation, and index verborum”, Scandinavian Journal of Modern Greek Studies 3 (2005) 7–75. [15th c./16th c.]
- Deft. Par.* Luciani Cr., “Un poema in greco demotico sul Giudicio finale: La Δευτέρα Παρουσία διὰ στίχου (XV sec.)”, Νέα Ῥώμη 10 (2013) 245–301.
- DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos, Erot. apokr., Peri antapod. Μανούσκακας Μ. Ι., Λεονάρδου Ντελλαπόρτα, Ποιήματα (1403/1411). Ἐκδοση κριτική, εἰσαγωγή, σχόλια καὶ εὐρετήρια. Athens 1995. [15th c./16th c.]
- DIAGR., Diig. Pol., Stichoí* Κακλαμάνης Στ., Ἄνθιμος (Ἀνάκιος) Διακρούσης, Ὁ Κρητικὸς Πόλεμος. Διήγησις διὰ στίχων τοῦ δεινοῦ πολέμου τοῦ ἐν τῇ νήσῳ Κρήτῃ γενομένου, εἰς τὴν ὁποίαν περιέχει τὴν σκληρότητα καὶ αἰχμαλωσίαν τῶν ἀθέων Ἀγαρηνῶν, καὶ πῶς ἐκυρίευσαν ὄχι μόνον τὰ Χανιά καὶ τὸ Ρέθυμνον, μὰ καὶ ὅλον τὸ νησί, καὶ ὅλον ἓνα πολεμοῦσι καὶ αὐτὸ τὸ μεγάλο Κάστρον. Κριτική ἔκδοση, σχόλια, γλωσσάριο καὶ εὐρετήριο. Athens 2008 [Βυζαντινὴ καὶ Νεοελληνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 11]. [17th c.]
- DIAGR., Diig. Pol.* Ξηρουχάκης Ἀ., Ὁ κρητικὸς πόλεμος, 1645–1669, ἡ συλλογὴ τῶν ἐλληνικῶν ποιημάτων Ἀνθίμου Διακρούση, Μαρίνου Ζάνε. Trieste 1908.
- Diat. Kypr.* Σάθας Κ. Ν., «Διάταξις κυπρία». In Μεσαιωνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη ἡ συλλογὴ ἀνεκδότων μνημείων τῆς ἐλληνικῆς ἱστορίας, vol. 6. Venice and Paris 1877, 501–15. [13th c.]
- Diath. Nikon Metan.* Λαμφίδης Ὁ., Ὁ ἐκ Πόντου Ὅσιος Νίκων ὁ Μετανοεῖτε (Κείμενα – Σχόλια). Athens 1982 [Ἀρχεῖον Πόντου, παράρτημα 13]. [17th c.]
- Did. Solom.* Legrand É., “Διδαχὴ Σολομῶντος περὶ τοῦ αὐτοῦ υἱοῦ Ῥοβοάμ”. In Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, vol. 1. Paris 1880, 11–16. [16th c.]
- Dig. A* Alonso Aldama J., Basilio Diyenís Acritis. Edición crítica de la versión A (en edición sinóptica con la versión T). In progress. [12th c./17th c.]
- Dig. A* Trapp E., Digenes Akrites. Synoptische Ausgabe der ältesten Versionen. Vienna 1971 [Wiener Byzantinistische Studien, 8]. [12th c./17th c.]
- Dig. A* Μηλιαράκης Ἀ., Βασίλειος Διγενῆς Ἀκρίτας, ἐποποιία βυζαντινὴ τῆς 10ης ἑκατονταετηρίδος κατὰ τὸ ἐν Ἄνδρῳ ἀνευρεθέν χειρόγραφον. Athens 1881.
- Dig. E* Ἀλεξίου Στ., Βασίλειος Διγενῆς Ἀκρίτης (κατὰ τὸ χειρόγραφον τοῦ Ἑσκιוריὰλ) καὶ τὸ Ἄσμα τοῦ Ἀρμούρη. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοση. Athens 1985. [12th c./15th c.]

- Dig. E* Jeffreys E. M., Digenis Akritis. The Grottaferrata and Escorial Versions. Cambridge 1998 [Cambridge Medieval Classics, 7].
- Dig. G* Jeffreys E. M., Digenis Akritis. The Grottaferrata and Escorial Versions. Cambridge 1998 [Cambridge Medieval Classics, 7]. [12th c.?/13th–14th c.]
- Dig. T* Sathas C. – Legrand É., Les Exploits de Digénis Akritas. Épopée byzantine du dixième siècle publiée pour la première fois d'après le manuscrit unique de Trébizonde. Paris 1875.
- Diig. Ag. Sof. f, ω* Vitti E., Die Erzählung über den Bau der Hagia Sophia in Konstantinopel. Kritische Edition mehrerer Versionen. Amsterdam 1986 [Bochumer Studien zur neugriechischen und byzantinischen Philologie, 8]. [17th c.]
- Diig. Alex. E, F* Lolos A. C., Ps.-Kallisthenes: Zwei mittellgriechische Prosa-Fassungen des Alexanderromans, Teil I. Königstein/Ts. 1983 [Beiträge zur klassischen Philologie, 141]. [16th c.?]
- Diig. Alex. E, F* Konstantinopoulos V. L., Ps.-Kallisthenes: Zwei mittellgriechische Prosa-Fassungen des Alexanderromans, Teil II. Königstein/Ts. 1983 [Beiträge zur klassischen Philologie, 150].
- Diig. Alex. K* Mitsakis K., «Διήγησις περὶ τοῦ Ἀλεξάνδρου καὶ τῶν μεγάλων πολέμων. Ἀνέκδοτη περὶ διασκευὴ τοῦ βυζαντινοῦ μυθιστορήματος τοῦ Μεγάλου Ἀλεξάνδρου ἀπὸ τὸν κώδικα 236 τῆς Μονῆς Κουτλουμουσίου», Byzantinisch-Neugriechische Jahrbücher 20 (1968) 228–302. Reprinted in Τὸ ἐμψυχοῦν ὕδωρ (Μελέτες μεσαιωνικῆς καὶ νεοελληνικῆς φιλολογίας). Athens 1983, 299–383. [16th c.]
- Diig. Alex. M* Reichmann S., Das byzantinische Alexandergedicht nach dem Codex Marcianus 408. Meisenheim am Glan 1963 [Beiträge zur klassischen Philologie, 13]. [14th c.]
- Diig. Alex. V* Mitsakis K., Der byzantinische Alexanderroman nach dem Codex Vindob. theol. gr. 244. Munich 1967 [Miscellanea Byzantina Monacensia, 7]. [15th c./16th c.]
- Diig. Alex. Sem. B, S* Moennig U., Die Erzählung von Alexander und Semiramis. Kritische Ausgabe mit einer Einleitung, Übersetzung und einem Wörterverzeichnis. Berlin and New York 2004 [Supplementa Byzantina. Texte und Untersuchungen, 7]. [15th c.?/17th c.] [14th c./17th c.]
- Diig. Apoll.* Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Απολλώνιος της Τύρου. Υστερομεσαιωνικές και νεότερες ελληνικές μορφές. Κριτική έκδοση, με εισαγωγές, σχόλια, πίνακες λέξεων – γλωσσάρια, vols. 1, 2.1, 2.2. Thessaloniki 2004. [15th–16th c.]
- Diig. Sant.* Βοῦρος Ἰ., «Διήγησις πανωφελίμος, ὅπου ἔδειξεν ὁ πανάγαθος Θεὸς διὰ ὠφέλειαν τῶν ἀνθρώπων, καὶ μάλιστα διὰ τὰς ἀμαρτίας τῶν κατοικούντων ἐν τῇ νήσῳ Σαντορήνῃ», Χρυσάλλις 4(75) (1866) 55–6. [17th c.]

- Diig. sevast. Thom.* Σοφιανός Δ. Ζ., «Ἀνωνύμου ἀνέκδοτο ἠθικοδιδασκτικὸ στιχοῦργημα (ΙΓ΄-ΙΔ΄ αἰ.)», Θησαυρίσματα 26 (1996) 43–67. [14th c.]
- Diig. tetr.* Tsiouni V., “Παιδιόφραστος διήγησις τῶν ζώων τῶν τετραπόδων”. Critical edition. Thesis submitted for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in the University of London. Munich 1972 [Miscellanea Byzantina Monacensia, 15]. [14th c./15th c.]
- Diig. tetr.* Eideneier H., Μεσαιωνικὲς Ἱστορίες Ζώων – Διήγησις των τετραπόδων ζώων & Πουολόγος. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις. Heraklion 2016.
- Diig. Vefa* Σοφιανός Δ. Ζ., «Διήγησις Βεφᾶ καὶ Μιχρῆς. Ἀνωνύμου ἀνέκδοτο στιχοῦργημα ΙΖ΄ αἰ.», Μεσαιωνικά καὶ Νέα Ἑλληνικά 6 (2000) 37–110. [17th c.]
- Diig. Ven.* Μπουμπουλίδης Φ. Κ., «Διήγησις τῆς Φουμιστῆς Βενετίας», Ἀθηνᾶ 69 (1966–7) 181–90. [15th c.]
- Dim. poiim.* Ζώρας Γ. Θ., Ἀγνώστου ποιητοῦ δημώδη ποιήματα (κατὰ τὸν κώδικα III. B. 27 τῆς βιβλιοθήκης τῆς Νεαπόλεως). Athens 1955 [Σπουδαστήριον Βυζαντινῆς καὶ Νεοελληνικῆς Φιλολογίας τοῦ Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν]. [15th c. ?/16th c.]
- Dimotika Ivir.* Bouvier B., Δημοτικὰ τραγούδια ἀπὸ χειρόγραφο τῆς μονῆς Ἰβήρων. Athens 1960 [Collection de l’Institut français d’Athènes, 120 – Μουσικὸ Λαογραφικὸ Ἀρχεῖο, 24]. [17th c.]
- Dimotiko (Lambros)* Lambros Sp., “Ein byzantinisches Volkslied”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 3 (1894) 165–6. [15th c.]
- DIONYS., Istor.* (= Διονύσιος Ἰβηρίτης, Ἱστορία τῆς Ρωσίας) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ἀνθολογία. Ἀφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίον Πρῶτον: Ἀπὸ το τέλος τοῦ Βυζαντίου ὡς τὴ Γαλλικὴ Ἐπανάστασις. Thessaloniki 2001, 402–3. [16th c.]
- Don Kis.* Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Μιχαὴλ Τσερβάντες, ὁ ἐπιτίδειος εὐγενὴς δὸν Κισότης τῆς Μάντσας. Ἡ πρώτη γνωστὴ ἐλληνικὴ μετάφρασις. Athens 2007. [18th c.]
- DOSITH. IEROS., Dodekanivlos* Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ἀνθολογία. Ἀφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίον Πρῶτον: Ἀπὸ το τέλος τοῦ Βυζαντίου ὡς τὴ Γαλλικὴ Ἐπανάστασις. Thessaloniki 2001, 459–64. [17th–18th c.]
- EFTHYM., Chron. Gal.* Ἀναγνωστάκης Ἡ., Εὐθυμίου Ἱερομονάχου, Χρονικὸ τοῦ Γαλαξειδίου. Athens 1985. [18th c.]
- EFTHYM., Chron. Gal.* Βαλέτας Γ., Χρονικὸ τοῦ Γαλαξειδίου. Δημοτικὸ ἱστόρημα τοῦ 1704 γραμμένο ἀπὸ τὸν ἱερομόναχο Εὐθύμιο Πενταγιάτῃ. Athens 1944.
- EFTHYM., Chron. Gal.* Σάθας Κ. Ν., Χρονικὸν ἀνέκδοτον Γαλαξειδίου, ἡ ἱστορία Ἀμφίσσης, Ναυπάκτου, Γαλαξειδίου, Λοιδωρικίου καὶ τῶν περιχώρων, ἀπὸ τῶν ἀρχαιοτάτων μέχρι τῶν καθ’ ἡμᾶς χρόνων, μετὰ προλεγομένων καὶ ἄλλων ἱστορικῶν σημειώσεων. Athens 1865.

- Eisit.* (= Εἰσιτήριοι [Ἐπιθαλάμιον]) Spatharakis I., The Portrait in Byzantine Illuminated Manuscripts, Leiden 1976 [Byzantina Neerlandica, 6]. [12th c.? or 13th–14th c.]
- Ekatol.* (Meteoron) Βέης Ν., «Νεοελληνικά δημώδη ἄσματα ἐκ χειρογράφων κωδίκων», Παναθήναια 10 (1910–11) 211–16, 292–3. [16th c./17th c.]
- Ekth. Chron.* Lambros Sp., Ecthesis Chronica and Chronicon Athenarum. Edited with Critical Notes and Indices. London 1902. [16th c.]
- Epain. gyn.* Vuturo F. P., La lode delle donne. Ὁ ἔπαινος τῶν γυναικῶν. Edizione, traduzione e commento. Caltanissetta 2011. [16th c.]
- Epain. gyn.* Krumbacher K., “Ein vulgärgriechischer Weiberspiegel”, Sitzungsberichte der philosophisch-philologischen und der histor. Klasse der Königl. Bayer. Akademie der Wissenschaften. Munich 1905, 335–433.
- Epist. Nax.* (= Επιστολή Ναξιώτη αιχμάλωτου) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 470–2. [17th–18th c./19th c.]
- ERMON., Ilias Legrand É., Ἰλιάδος Παμφώδια ΚΔ. La guerre de Troie. Poème du XIVe siècle en vers octosyllabes par Constantin Hermoniakos, publié d’après les manuscrits de Leyde et de Paris. Paris 1890 [Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, 5]. [14th c./15th c.]
- Evr. Eleg.* Παπππαγεώργιος Σ. Κ., «Ἐβραιο-ἑλληνικαὶ ἐλεγεῖαι», Ἑπετηρὶς Φιλολογικοῦ Συλλόγου Παρνασσοῦ 5 (1901) 151–74.
- FALIEROS, Ist. On., Erot. En. Van Gemert A. F., Μαρίνου Φαλιέρου Ἑρωτικά Ὀνειρα. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοση μεῖ εἰσαγωγή, σχόλια καὶ λεξιλόγιο. Thessaloniki 1980 [Βυζαντινὴ καὶ Νεοελληνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 4]. [15th c./16th c.]
- FALIEROS, Log. did. Bakker W. F. – Van Gemert A. F., The Λόγοι διδακτικοὶ of Marinos Phalieros. A Critical Edition with Introduction, Notes and Index Verborum. Leiden 1977 [Byzantina Neerlandica, 7]. [15th c./16th c.]
- FALIEROS, Rim. Par. Bakker W. F. – Van Gemert A. F., “The Ρίμα παρηγορητικὴ of Marinos Phalieros. A critical edition with introduction, notes and index verborum”. In W. F. Bakker, A. F. van Gemert and W. J. Aerts (eds.), Studia Byzantina et Neohellenica Neerlandica. Leiden 1972, 74–195. [15th c./16th c.]
- FALIEROS, Thrinios Bakker W. F. – Van Gemert A. F., Θρήνος εἰς τὰ πάθη καὶ τὴν Σταύρωσιν τοῦ Κυρίου καὶ Θεοῦ καὶ Σωτῆρος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ ποιηθεὶς παρὰ τοῦ εὐγενεστάτου ἄρχοντος κυροῦ Μαρίνου τοῦ Φαλιέρου. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοση. Heraklion 2002. [15th c./16th c.]

- Fallidos* Παναγιωτάκης Ν. Μ., «Θρήνος τοῦ Φαλλίδου τοῦ πτωχοῦ». In idem, Κρητικό Θέατρο. Μελέτες, ἐπιμ. Στ. Κακλαμάνης – Γ. Μαυρομάτης. Athens 1998, 159–236 [= Θησαυρίσματα 23 (1993) 222–89]. [17th c.]
- Fior* Κακουλίδη-Πάνου Ε. – Πηδωνία Κ., Ἄνθος τῶν Χαρίτων – Φιὸρ δὲ Βερτού. Ἡ Κυπριακὴ παραλλαγή. Nicosia 1994 [Δημοσιεύματα του Κέντρου Επιστημονικῶν Ερευνῶν Κύπρου, 16]. [15th–16th c.]
- Fior, Suppl.* Κακουλίδη-Πάνου Ε., «Ἡ λογοτεχνία της περιφέρειας. Κανόνες κοινωνικῆς συμπεριφορᾶς ἀπὸ την Κύπρο (16ος αἰ.)», Ἐπετηρὶς Κέντρου Ἐπιστημονικῶν Ἐρευνῶν Κύπρου 22 (1996) 265–97. [16th c.]
- Flor. L* Cupane C., Romanzi cavallereschi bizantini: Callimaco e Crisorro, Beltandro e Crisanza, Storia di Achille, Florio e Plaziafiore, Storia di Apollonio di Tiro, Favola consolatoria sulla Cattiva e la Buona Sorte. Turin 1995, 215–305. [14th c. ?/15th c.]
- Flor. L* Panayotopoulou V. – Lendari T., Transcription of ms L (Brit. Mus. Add. Ms 8241).
- Florios* Κριαρᾶς Ἐ., Βυζαντινὰ ἱπποτικὰ μυθιστορήματα. Athens 1955 [Βασικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 2], 133–96. [14th–15th c./15th c.]
- Florios* di Benedetto Zimbone A., “Ancora su Florios e Platziafiore. Un esempio di edizione”. In Στ. Κακλαμάνης, Ἀ. Μαρκόπουλος καὶ Γ. Μαυρομάτης (eds.), Ἐνθύμησις Νικολάου Μ. Παναγιωτάκη. Heraklion 2000, 269–89.
- Florios* Hesseling D. C., Le Roman de Phlorios et Platzia Phlore. Publié avec une introduction, des observations et un index. Amsterdam 1917 [Verhandelingen der Koninklijke Akademie van Wetenschappen te Amsterdam, Afdeling Letterkunde, Nieuwe Reeks, Deel 17, No. 4].
- Florios* Ortolá Salas F. J., Estudio de la novela bizantina “Florio y Platzia Flora”. Unpublished PhD thesis, Universidad Complutense de Madrid, 1997.
- FORTIOS, Strat. pragm.* (= Περὶ στρατιωτικῆς πραγματείας) Legrand É., Poème sur l’art militaire par Leonard Phortios. Paris 1871 [Collection de monuments pour servir à l’étude de la langue néo-hellénique, 17]. [16th c.]
- FOSKOLOS, Fort., Fort. Interm.* Vincent A., Μάρκου Ἀντώνιου Φόσκολου Φορτουνάτος. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις, σημειώσεις γλωσσάριο. Heraklion 1980 [Ἑταιρία Κρητικῶν Ἱστορικῶν Μελετῶν, Κρητικόν Θέατρον, 2]. [17th c.]
- Fyll. gadar.* Pochert C., Die Reimbildung in der spät- und postbyzantinischen Volksliteratur. Cologne 1991 [Neograeca Medii Aevi, 4]. [16th c.]
- Fyll. gadar.* Ἀλεξίου Λ., «Ἡ Φυλλάδα τοῦ Γαδάρου ἤτοι Γαδάρου, λύκου καὶ ἀλουποῦς διήγησις ὥραϊα», Κρητικὰ Χρονικά 9 (1955) 81–118.

- GAVRIILOP., Diig. panouklas Κονόμος Ντ., Ζακυνθινά χρονικά (1485–1953). Athens 1970, 92–100. [17th c.]
- GERMANO, Grammar, Vocab. Pernot H., Girolamo Germano, Grammaire et vocabulaire du grec vulgaire, publiés d'après l'édition de 1622. Fontenay-sous-Bois (Seine) 1907. [17th c.]
- GLYKAS, Eis tas aporias I Εὐστρατιάδης Σ., Μιχαήλ τοῦ Γλυκᾶ, Εἰς τὰς ἀπορίας τῆς θείας γραφῆς κεφάλαια, vol. 1. Athens 1906.
- GLYKAS, Eis tas aporias II Εὐστρατιάδης Σ., Μιχαήλ τοῦ Γλυκᾶ, Εἰς τὰς ἀπορίας τῆς θείας γραφῆς κεφάλαια, vol. 2. Alexandria 1912.
- GLYKAS, Stichoi Τσολάκης Ε., Μιχαήλ τοῦ Γλυκᾶ στίχοι οὓς ἔγραψε καθ' ὃν κατεσχέθη καιρόν. Κριτική ἔκδοση. Thessaloniki 1959 [ΕΕΦΣΠΘ, Παράρτημα 3]. [12th c./13th c.]
- GLYKYS, Penth. Than. Ζώρας Γ. Θ., Πένθος θανάτου, ζωῆς μάταιον καὶ πρὸς Θεὸν ἐπιστροφή. Athens 1970 [Βιβλιοθήκη Βυζαντινῆς καὶ Νεοελληνικῆς Φιλολογίας Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν, 49]. [16th c.]
- Hist. Imp. I* Iadevaia F., Anonymi Historia Imperatorum. Parte Prima. Introduzione, testo critico, versione italiana, note e indici. Messina 2000. [15th c.]
- Hist. Imp. IIb* Iadevaia F., Anonymi Historia Imperatorum. Parte Seconda. b) Da Anastasio a Irene. Introduzione, testo critico, versione italiana, note e indici. Messina 2000. [15th c.]
- IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou Legrand É., “Διήγησις ἐμοῦ Ἱεροθέου Ἀββατίου ... περὶ τοῦ μεγάλου σεισμοῦ τοῦ ἐν τῇ Κεφαλλονίᾳ νήσῳ”. In Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, vol. 1. Paris 1880, 331–8.
- Imber.* Κριαρᾶς Ἐ., Βυζαντινὰ ἵπποτικά μυθιστορήματα. Athens 1955 [Βασικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 2], 199–249. [15th c.]
- Imb. Rim.* Yiavis K., A critical edition of the rhymed mediaeval romance Imberios and Margarona. Unpublished PhD thesis, University of Cambridge, 2006. [16th c.]
- IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali Kaplanis T. A., Ioakeim Kyprios' Struggle. A Narrative Poem on the “Cretan War” of 1645–1669. Editio Princeps. Nicosia 2012 [Cyprus Research Centre: Texts and Studies in the History of Cyprus, 67]. [17th c.]
- Irodīs* Ποῦχνης Β., Ἡρώδης ἢ Ἡ Σφαγὴ τῶν Νηπίων. Χριστουγεννιάτικο θρησκευτικὸ δράμα ἀγνώστου ποιητῆ σὲ πεζὸ λόγο ἀπὸ τὸ χάρο τῶν Κυκλάδων τὴν ἐποχὴ τῆς Ἀντιμεταρρύθμισης. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοση μὲ εἰσαγωγή, σημειώσεις καὶ γλωσσάριο. Athens 1998 [= Παράβασις. Ἐπιστημονικὸ Δελτίο Τμήματος Θεατρικῶν Σπουδῶν Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν, Παράρτημα: Κείμενα, 1]. [17th c.?]]
- Ist. Enet.* (= Ἱστορία τῆς κυβερνήσεως των Ενετῶν) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ἀνθολογία. Αφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίον Πρῶτον: Ἀπὸ το τέλος τοῦ Βυζαντίου ὡς τὴ Γαλλικὴ Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 416–19. [17th c.]

- Jonas Hesseling D. C., "Le livre de Jonas", Byzantinische Zeitschrift 10 (1901) 208–17. [14th c.]
- *Kakop. (= Ἡ κακοπαντρεμένη) Beijerman I. – Van Gemert A., Uitgehuwelijkt aan een oude man. Een vroegnieuwgrieks gedicht. Kritische editie, vertaling met Inleiding, commentaar en woordenlijst. Amsterdam 2006. [15th c?/16th c.]
- Kakop. Δανέζης Γ., «Senex amans: Το δημώδες ποίημα για τον γέρο και το κορίτσι (Περί γέροντος)». In Π. Α. Αγαπητός – Μ. Πιερής (eds.), «Τ' αδόνιν κείνον που γλυκά θλιβάται». Εκδοτικά και ερμηνευτικά ζητήματα της δημώδους ελληνικής λογοτεχνίας στο πέρασμα από τον Μεσαίωνα στην Αναγέννηση (1400–1600). Πρακτικά του 4ου Διεθνούς Συμποσίου Neograeca Medii Aevi (Νοέμβριος 1997, Λευκωσία). Heraklion 2002, 427–54.
- Kakop. Wagner G., Carmina graeca medii aevi. Leipzig 1879, 106–11.
- KALLIOUP., Ioud., Kaini Diath. Κάσδαγλης Έ. Χ., Ἡ Καινή Διαθήκη τοῦ Κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ εἰς ἀπλὴν διάλεκτον γενομένη μετὰ φρασις διὰ Μαξίμου τοῦ Καλλιουπολίτου, ἀνατυπωθεῖσα δ' ἐπιμελεῖα Έ. Χ. Κάσδαγλη, vols. 1–2, Athens 1999. [17th c.]
- Kaloandros (= Ο Καλλόανδρος πιστός) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 404–8. [17th c.]
- KAMAT., Astron. Weigl L., Johannes Kamateros. Εἰσαγωγή ἀστρονομίας. Leipzig 1908. [12th c.]
- KANANOS, Diig. Pinto E., Giovanni Cananos. L'assedio di Costantinopoli. Introduzione, testo critico, traduzione, note e lessico. Messina 1977. [15th c.]
- KARTANOS, P&N Diath. Κακουλίδη-Πάνου Ε., Ιωαννίσιος Καρτάνος. Παλαιά τε και Νέα Διαθήκη [Βενετία 1536]. Φιλολογική επιμέλεια Ε. Κακουλίδη-Πάνου. Γλωσσικό επίμετρο Ε. Καραντζόλα. Thessaloniki 2000. [16th c.]
- KASIMATIS, Varl. & Ioas. (= Ιστορία ... Βαρλαάμ τε και Ιωάσαφ) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 498–501. [17th c.]
- *Katal. Hesseling D. C. – Pernot H., Ἑρωτοπαίγνια (Chansons d'amour). Publiées d'après un manuscrit du XVe siècle avec une traduction, une étude critique sur les Ἑκατόλογα (Chansons des cent mots), des observations grammaticales et un index. Paris and Athens 1913 [Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, 10]. [15th c.?]
- Katal. Panayotopoulou V., Καταλόγια. Στίχοι περὶ ἔρωτος καὶ ἀγάπης (unpublished).

- Katis* Τικτοπούλου Κ., Ο Κάτης και ο Μποντιμός. Κριτική έκδοση, εισαγωγή, σχόλια, γλωσσάριο. Heraklion 2010. [16th c.]
- Katis* Luciani, C., Ο κάτης και ο μποντιμός. Thessaloniki 2011 [Παλιότερα κείμενα της νεοελληνικής λογοτεχνίας, 2].
- Katis* Bănescu N., “Un poème grec vulgaire du Moyen-âge: ‘Ο κάτης καὶ οἱ ποντικοί’”. In Εἰς μνήμην Σπυρίδωνος Λάμπρου. Athens 1935, 393–7.
- KATSAITIS, Ifig., Klathmos, Thyest. Κριαρᾶς ἼΕ., Κατσαΐτης: «Ἰφιγένεια», «Θυέστης», «Κλαθμός Πελοποννήσου», Ἀνέκδοτα ἔργα, κριτική ἔκδοση. Athens 1950 [Collection de l’Institut Français d’Athènes, 43]. [18th c.]
- KONDAR., Paides (= Οἱ τρεῖς παῖδες ἐν καμίνῳ) Μανούσακας Μ. Ι. – Ποϋχνερ Β., Ἀνέκδοτα στιχουργήματα τοῦ θρησκευτικοῦ θεάτρου τοῦ 12’ αἰῶνα. Ἔργα τῶν ὀρθόδοξων Χίων κληρικῶν Μιχ. Βεστάρχη, Γρηγ. Κονταράτου, Γαβρ. Προσοψᾶ. Ἐκδοση κριτική μὲ εισαγωγή, σχόλια καὶ εὐρετήρια. Athens 2000. [17th c.]
- KONDARIS, Istor. palaiiai Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ἀνθολογία. Αφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίον Πρώτο: Ἀπὸ το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ὡς τὴ Γαλλικὴ Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 409–11. [17th c.]
- KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko Παπαδόπουλλος Θ., «Ἱστορία τοῦ Μακαρίτου Μάρκο. Ποίημα Κωνσταντίνου <Δια>κόνου, υἱοῦ γνησίου Νικολάου ἱερέως ἐκ κώμης Πισκο<π>ῆς», Κυπριακαὶ Σπουδαὶ 45 (1981) 77–141. [17th c./17th c.–18th c.]
- *KORNAROS, Erot. Ἀλεξίου Στ., Βιτσέντζος Κορινάρος, Ἐρωτόκριτος. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοση, εισαγωγή, σημειώσεις, γλωσσάριο. Athens 1980 (reprinted with corrections 1986 and 1994). [16th–17th c./18th c.]
- KORNAROS, Erot. Stevanoni C., Vitsentzos Kornaros. Erotòkritos. Verona 1995. [16th–17th c./18th c.]
- *KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua, Pittakin Angiolillo, R., Tzane Koroneos, Le Gesta di Mercurio Bua. Alessandria 2013. [16th c.]
- KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua, Pittakin Σάθας Κ. Ν., «Τζάνε Κορωναίου, Ἀνδραγαθήματα Μερκουρίου Μπούα». In Ἑλληνικὰ ἀνέκδοτα, περισυναχθέντα καὶ ἐκδοθέντα κατ’ ἔγκρισιν τῆς Βουλῆς, ἐθνικῇ δαπάνῃ, Τόμος πρῶτος. Μποῦα Ἀνδραγαθήματα, Σουμάκη Ρεμπελιόν Ποπολάρων, Μάτση Ἡμερολόγιον. Athens 1867 (Reprinted 1982), 1–153. [16th c.]
- Krasop.* AO, L, V Eideneier H., Krasopateras. Kritische Ausgabe der Versionen des 16.–18. Jahrhunderts. Cologne 1988 [Neograeca Medii Aevi, 3]. [15th c./16th c.]
- KRITOPOULOS, Grammar Δουβουνιώτης Κ. Ἰ., «Μητροφάνους Κριτοπούλου Γραμματικὴ τῆς ἀπλῆς ἑλληνικῆς», Ἐπιστημονικὴ Ἐπετηρὶς Θεολογικῆς Σχολῆς Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν 1 (1924) 97–123. [17th c.]

- Laikos Akath.* Μητσάκης Κ., «Ένας λαϊκὸς κρητικὸς Ἀκάθιστος τοῦ ΙΕ΄ αἰῶνα», Βυζαντινὰ 1 (1969) 25–38. Reprinted in idem, Τὸ ἐμψυχοῦν ὕδωρ (Μελέτες μεσαιωνικῆς καὶ νεοελληνικῆς φιλολογίας). Athens 1983, 205–21. [15th c.]
- LANDOS, Amart. sot., Kalok., Neos Parad. (= Αμαρτωλῶν σωτηρία, Καλοκαιρινή, Νέος Παράδεισος) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ὡς τὴ Γαλλικὴ Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 330–49. [17th c.]
- LANDOS, Geopon. Κωστούλα Δ. Δ., Αγάπιος Λάνδος. Γεωπονικόν, Βενετία 1643. Επιμέλεια κειμένου, Εισαγωγή, Σχόλια, Γλωσσάριο. Volos 1991. [17th c.]
- Lapid.* de Mély R. – Ruelle Ch.-É., Les Lapidaires de l'antiquité et du moyen âge, vol. 2: Les Lapidaires grecs. Premier fascicule, Paris 1898. [15th c./16th c.]
- Leilasia Par.* Κριαρᾶς Έ., «Λεηλασία τῆς Παροικίας τῆς Πάρου (Κρητικὸν ποίημα τοῦ 17ου αἰῶνος)», Ἄθηνᾶ 48 (1938) 119–62. Reprinted in idem, Μεσαιωνικά μελετήματα. Γραμματεία καὶ γλῶσσα, vol. 1. Thessaloniki 1988, no. XII, 167–210. [17th c./19th c.]
- *LIMEN., Than. Rod. Legrand É., “Εμμανουήλ Γεωργιλλᾶ, Τὸ θανατικὸν τῆς Ρόδου”. In Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, vol. 1, Paris 1880, 203–25. [15th c.]
- LIMEN., Than. Rod. Lendari T., Normalized transcription of Paris. gr. 2909.
- LIMEN., Than. Rod. Wagner G., Carmina graeca medii aevi. Leipzig 1879, 32–52.
- LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) Bakker W. F. – Van Gemert A. F., Ἱστορία τοῦ Βελισαρίου. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις τῶν τεσσάρων διασκευῶν μετ’ εἰσαγωγῆς, σχόλια καὶ γλωσσάριο. Athens 1988 [Βυζαντινὴ καὶ Νεοελληνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 6]. [15th c./16th c.] [14th c./16th c.] [15th c./16th c.] [14th c./15th–16th c.]
- Liv.* α, N, P, S Ἀγαπητὸς Π. Α., Ἀφήγησις Λιβίστρου καὶ Ροδάμνης. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις τῆς διασκευῆς α. Athens 2006 [Βυζαντινὴ καὶ Νεοελληνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 9]. [13th c./15th c.]
- Liv.* E, N, S Lambert-van der Kolf J. A., Le Roman de Libistros et Rhodamné publié d’après les manuscrits de Leyde et de Madrid avec une introduction, des observations grammaticales et un glossaire. Amsterdam 1935 [Verhandelingen der Koninklijke Akademie van Wetenschappen te Amsterdam. Afdeling Letterkunde. Nieuwe Reeks, 35]. [13th c./15th c.] [13th c./16th c.]
- Liv.* N Lendari T., Transcription of ms N (Neapolitanus III a 9, ff. 44r–116r).
- Liv.* P Lendari T., Transcription of ms P (Parisinus graecus 2910, ff. 1–91v).

- Liv. V* Lendari T., Ἀφήγησις Λιβίστρου καὶ Ροδάμνης (Livistros and Rodamne). The Vatican Version. Critical Edition with Introduction, Commentary and Index-Glossary. Editio princeps. Athens 2007 [Βυζαντινὴ καὶ Νεοελληνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 10]. [13th c./15th c.]
- Log. parig. L Cupane C., Romanzi cavallereschi bizantini: Callimaco e Crisorroë, Beltandro e Crisanza, Storia di Achille, Florio e Plaziafiore, Storia di Apollonio di Tiro, Favola consolatoria sulla Cattiva e la Buona Sorte. Turin 1995, 215–305. [13th c./14th c.]
- Log. parig. L* Λάμπρος Σπ., «Λόγος παρηγορητικός περὶ Δυστυχίας καὶ Εὐτυχίας κατὰ τὸν κώδικα τῆς Λειψίας», Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 3 (1906) 404–32.
- Log. parig. L, O* Πολίτη Μ., Λόγος παρηγορητικός περὶ Δυστυχίας καὶ Εὐτυχίας. Unpublished PhD thesis, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, 2007.
- Log. parig. O Lambros Sp. P., Collection de romans grecs en langue vulgaire et en vers. Publiés pour la première fois d'après les manuscrits de Leyde et d'Oxford. Paris 1880. [13th c./16th c.]
- LOUKANIS, Ilias* Legrand É., Ὀμήρου Ἰλιάς, μεταβληθεῖσα πάλαι εἰς κοινὴν γλῶσσαν παρὰ Νικολάου τοῦ Λουκάνου. Athens and Paris 1870 [Collection de monuments pour servir à l'étude de la langue néo-hellénique, 5]. [16th c.]
- Love poems V Pernot H., Chansons populaires grecques des XVe et XVIe siècles, publiées et traduites par –. Paris 1931 [Collection de l'Institut néo-hellénique de l'Université de Paris, fasc. 8].
- Love poems V* Legrand É., Recueil de chansons populaires grecques, publiées et traduites pour la première fois. Paris 1874 [Collection de monuments pour servir à l'étude de la langue néo-hellénique, nouvelle série, 1]. [15th c./16th c.]
- MACHAIRAS, Chron. O, V Dawkins R. M., Leontios Makhairas, Recital concerning the Sweet Land of Cyprus entitled "Chronicle", edited with a Translation and Notes. 2 vols., Oxford 1932. [15th c./16th c.]
- MACHAIRAS, Chron. O, R, V* Πιερής Μ. – Νικολάου-Κονναρή Α., Λεοντίου Μαχαιρά, Χρονικό της Κύπρου. Παράλληλη διπλωματική έκδοση των χειρογράφων. Nicosia 2003 [Κέντρο Επιστημονικών Ερευνών, Πηγές και Μελέτες της Κυπριακής Ιστορίας, 48]. [15th c./16th–17th c.]
- ΜΑΚΟΛΑΣ, Ioust.* (= Ιουστίνος) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 423–8. [17th c.]

- MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. (= Πατριαρχική Κωνσταντινουπόλεως ιστορία ...) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 217–23. [16th c.]
- MARGOUNIOS, Vioi (= Βίοι αγίων εκ της ελληνικής γλώττης ...) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 272–5. [16th c./17th c.]
- Markada* (= Ιστορία τῆς Μαρκιάδας ἐβραϊσπούλας) Legrand É., Recueil de poèmes historiques en grec vulgaire relatifs à la Turquie et aux Principautés Danubiennes, publiés, traduits et annotés par –. Paris 1877 [Publications de l'École des langues orientales vivantes, 5], 129–89. [17th c./18th c.]
- Martyr. Nikif.* (= Μαρτύριον του αγίου μάρτυρος Νικηφόρου) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 250–1. [16th c.]
- Martyr. Vlas.* (= Μαρτύριον του αγίου ιερομάρτυρος Βλασίου) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 245–8. [16th c.]
- MATESIS, Chron. Κονόμος Ντ., Ζακυνθινά χρονικά (1485–1953). Athens 1970, 63–89. [17th c.]
- MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. Legrand É., “Histoire de Valachie, par Matthieu, métropolitain de Myre”. In Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, vol. 2. Paris 1881, 231–333. [17th c.]
- MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. Νικολοπούλου Ά. Π., «Μαξίμου τοῦ Πελοποννησίου Ἑξήγησι τοῦ Κατὰ Ἰουδαίων ἔργου τοῦ Μελετίου Πηγά», Παρνασσός 37 (1995) 308–46. [17th c.]
- MAXIMOS, Synax. Ag. Nik. Σοφιανός Δ. Ζ., «Ο Ἅγιος Νικόλαος ὁ Νέος τῆς Βουναίνης (I' αἰ.). Συμπληρωματικά στοιχεῖα, ἀνέκδοτα ἀγιολογικά κείμενα Μαξίμου (1620) κ.ἄ.», Μεσαιωνικά καὶ Νέα Ἑλληνικά 2 (1986) 76–148. [17th c.]
- Metaphr. Alexiad* Hunger H., Anonyme Metaphrase zu Anna Komnene, Alexias XI–XIII. Ein Beitrag zur Erschliessung der byzantinischen Umgangssprache. Vienna 1981 [Wiener Byzantinische Studien XV]. [14th c.]
- MILOITIS, Odoipor. Παπαγεωργίου Σπ. Κ., «Ὁδοιπορικὸν Ἰακώβου Μηλοῖτη», Παρνασσός 6 (1882) 632–42. [16th c.]
- MINIATIS, Didachai (= Διδαχαὶ εἰς τὴν ἀγίαν καὶ Μεγάλην Τεσσαροκοστήν) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 476–9. [17th c./18th c.]

- Moirol. Konst.* Μιχαηλίδης Δ. Κ., “Un lamento inedito sulla caduta di Constantinopoli (cod. Alexandr., Bibl. patr. 30 [361], ff. 149mv–150m)”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 65 (1972) 303–26. [16th c.]
- *MONTSEL., Evgena Vitti M., Teodoro Montselese, Εὐγένεα. Naples 1964 [Istituto universitario orientale, Seminario di greco moderno]. [17th c.]
- MONTSEL., Evgena Spadaro G., Τραγωδία ὀνομαζομένη Εὐγένεα τοῦ Κύρ Θεοδώρου Μοντσελέζε, 1646, παρουσίαση Μ. Vitti, φιλολογικὴ ἐπιμέλεια G. Spadaro. Athens 1995.
- MOREZINOS, Klini Κακουλίδη-Πάνου Ε. – Καραντζόλα Ε. – Χαλβατζιδάκη Ε., Ιωάννης Μορεζήνος, Κλίνη Σολομώντος. Ιστορίες θαυμάτων της Παναγίας [1599]. Heraklion 2007. [16th c.]
- MOREZINOS, Logos Κακουλίδη Έ., «Ὁ Ἰωάννης Μορεζήνος καὶ τὸ ἔργο του», Κρητικὰ Χρονικὰ 22 (1970) 7–78, 389–506. [17th c.]
- MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. Κακλαμάνης Στ., Μοσχολέου Θεολογίτη, Βίος τοῦ ἁγίου καὶ μεγάλου Νικολάου. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις με εἰσαγωγή, σχόλια καὶ λεξιλόγιο. Athens 2000. [16th c./17th c.]
- NEKT. IEROSOL., Ierokosm. Ist. (= Επιτομή της ιεροκοσμικής ιστορίας) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίον Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλικὴ Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 394–401. [17th c.]
- NEOFYTOS, Achouri Legrand É., “L’Écurie, comédie du moine Néophytos”, in Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, vol. 2. Paris 1881, 148–65. [17th c.]
- *NIKON, Prol., Logos 1–42 Hannick Ch., Das Taktikon des Nikon vom Schwarzen Berge. Griechischer Text und kirchenslavische Übersetzung des 14. Jahrhunderts ediert von Christian Hannick in Zusammenarbeit mit Peter Plank, Carolina Lutzka und Tat’jana Afanas’eva unter Heranziehung der Vorarbeiten von Irénée Doens. 2 vols. Freiburg 2014. [11th c./12th c.]
- Grünbart M., “The Letter of Nikon of the Black Mountain to the Founder George”, Dumbarton Oaks Papers 61 (2007) 149–56. (= Logos 9)
- Aerts W. M., “Nikon of the Black Mountain, witness to the first Crusade?” In K. Ciggaar and M. Metcalf (eds.), East and West in the Medieval Eastern Mediterranean, vol. 1: Antioch from the Byzantine Reconquest until the End of the Crusader Principality. Leuven 2006, 125–69. (= Logos 31)
- Benešević V., “Taktikon Nikona černogorca. Grečeskij tekst po rukopisi No 441 Sinajskago monastyrja sv. Jekateriny”. Petersburg 1917 [Zapiski Istoriko-Filologičeskago Fakulteta Petrogradskago Universiteta, 139], 1–120. (= Logos 1–4)
- Benešević V., Catalogus codicum manuscriptorum graecorum qui monasterio sanctae Catharinae in monte Sina asservantur, 2 vols. Petersburg 1911–1917, reprinted Hildesheim 1965. (= Logos 4)

- NOTARAS, Kitaia (= Κιταΐα δουλεύουσα) Legrand É., “Conquête de la Chine par les Tartares, étude historique par Chrysanthé Notaras”. In Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, vol. 3. Paris 1881, 337–441. [17th c./18th c.]
- ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. Παράσογλου Μ., Ανδρόνικος Νούκιος. Γεώργιος Αιτωλός. Αισώπου μύθοι. Οι πρώτες νεοελληνικές μεταφράσεις. Athens 1993. [16th c.]
- Nov. I, II* di Benedetto Zimbone A., “Due novelline inedite in greco volgare (Cod. Neap. Gr. III B 27, f. 199r/v)”. Studi di filologia bizantina IV. Catania 1988 [Quaderni del Siculorum Gymnasium, 16], 151–72. [16th–17th c.]
- Om. Nokr. Vas.* Μανούσας Μ., «Ἡ ὁμιλία τοῦ νεκροῦ βασιλιᾶ. Ἀνέκδοτο στιχοῦργημα τοῦ 16^{ου} αἰῶνα», Ἐπιστημονικὴ Ἐπετηρὶς τῆς Φιλοσοφικῆς Σχολῆς τοῦ Πανεπιστημίου Θεσσαλονίκης 8 (1963) 295–314. [15th c./16th c.]
- Om. Nokr. Vas.* Luciani C., “Una visio infernalis del tardo Quattrocento cretese: Ἡ ὁμιλία τοῦ νεκροῦ βασιλιᾶ”, Rivista di Studi Bizantini e Neoellenici 41 (2004) 141–77.
- Opsarol.* Winterwerb H., Porikologos. Einleitung, kritische Ausgabe aller Versionen, Übersetzung, Glossar, kurze Betrachtungen zu den fremdsprachlichen Versionen des Werks sowie zum Opsarologos. Cologne 1992 [Neograeca Medii Aevi, 7]. [15th c.]
- P&N Diath.* Παναγιωτάκης Ν. Μ., Παλαιὰ καὶ Νέα Διαθήκη: ἀνώνυμο κρητικὸ ποίημα (τέλη 15ου–ἄρχες 16ου αἰ.). Κριτικὴ ἔκδοση τῆς Παναγιωτάκης, ἐπιμ. Στ. Κακλαμάνης – Γ. Κ. Μαυρομάτης. Venice 2004 [Ἑλληνικὸ Ἰνστιτοῦτο Βυζαντινῶν καὶ Μεταβυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν τῆς Βενετίας, Graecolatinitas Nostra, Πηγές, 6]. [15th–16th c./17th c.]
- PACH. ROUS., Peri ofel. (= Περὶ τῆς ἐκ τῶν Γραφῶν ὠφελείας) Βασιλικὸς Ἰ., Κανέλλου Σπανοῦ Γραμματικὴ τῆς Κοινῆς τῶν Ἑλλήνων γλώσσης. Παχωμίου Ρουσάνου Κατὰ χυδαῖζόντων καὶ αἰρετικῶν καὶ ἄλλα τοῦ αὐτοῦ, νῦν πρῶτον ἐκδιδόμενα ἐκ κωδίκων τῆς Μαρμριανῆς Βιβλιοθήκης. Trieste 1908, 55–77. [16th c.]
- Paidi stavr.* (= Τὸ παιδὶ σταυρωμένο ἀπὸ τοὺς Ἰουδαίους) Legrand É., Recueil de poèmes historiques en grec vulgaire relatifs à la Turquie et aux Principautés Danubiennes, publiés, traduits et annotés par –. Paris 1877 [Publications de l'École des langues orientales vivantes, 5], 297–309. [18th c./19th c.]
- PALAMIDIS, Ist. Mich. Voev. Pidonia K. D., Stavrinos-Palamed, Cronici în versuri despre Mihai Viteazul. Prefață și traducere: Olga Cicanci. Notă introductivă și ediție Stavrinos: Komnini D. Pidonia. Bucharest 2004. [17th c.]

- PAMBERIS, Stef. Ichn. Sjöberg L.-O., Stephanites und Ichnelates. Überlieferungsgeschichte und Text. Uppsala 1962. [18th c.]
- PAPADOPOLI, L'Occio Vincent A., Memories of Seventeenth-Century Crete: L'Occio (Time of leisure) by Zuanne Papadopoli. Critical Edition with English Translation, Introduction, Commentary and Glossary. Venice 2007 [Hellenic Institute of Byzantine and Post-Byzantine Studies in Venice, Graecolatinitas Nostra, Sources, 8]. [17th c.]
- PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Lavras) (= Παπαλαυρέντιος, Διήγησις και οπτασία ωφέλιμος ...) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 256–62. [16th c.]
- PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) Κακουλίδη-Πάνου Έ., «Μιά ζωγραφιά τοῦ Παραδείσου κατὰ τὸ χειρόγραφο 106 τῆς Μονῆς Ἀγίου Στεφάνου τῶν Μετεώρων», Κληρονομία 29 (1997) 103–19. [16th c.]
- *PAPASYNAD., Chron. Odorico P., Ἀναμνήσεις καὶ συμβουλές τοῦ Συναδινοῦ, ἱερέα Σερρών στὴ Μακεδονία (17ος αἰώνας), μετὰ τὴ συνεργασία τῶν Σ. Ἀσδραχᾶ, Τ. Καραναστάση, Κ. Κωστῆ, Σ. Πετμεζᾶ. Paris 1996 [Textes, documents, études sur le monde byzantin, néoellénique et balkanique, 1]. [17th c.]
- PAPASYNAD., Chron. Καφταντζής, Γ., Ἡ Σερραϊκή Χρονογραφία τοῦ Παπασυναδινοῦ. Serres 1989.
- PARASPOND., Machi Varnas Moravcsik G., Görög költemény a vármai csatáról – Ἑλληνικὸν ποίημα περὶ τῆς μάχης τῆς Βάρνης. Budapest 1935 [Magyar-Görög Tanulmányok – Οὐγγροελληνικά μελέται, 1]. [15th c.]
- Paroim.* (Warner) Hesseling D. C., «Levinus Warner, Συλλογὴ ἐλληνικῶν παροιμιῶν». In Ν. Γ. Πολίτης, Μελέται περὶ τοῦ βίου καὶ τῆς γλώσσης τοῦ ἐλληνικοῦ λαοῦ. Παροιμιαί, τόμος Β'. Athens 1900. [17th c.]
- Paroim.* A, B, D, E, F, H, I, K Krumbacher K., «Mittelgriechische Sprichwörter», Sitzungsberichte der philosophisch-historischen Klasse der Bayerischen Akademie der Wissenschaften, Munich 1893, reprinted Hildesheim/New York 1969. [13th c.] [16th c.] [13th–14th c.] [16th c.] [15th c.] [16th c.] [16th c.] [16th c.]
- Pent.* Hesseling D. C., Les cinq livres de la Loi (le Pentateuque). Traduction en néo-grec, publiée en caractères hébraïques à Constantinople en 1547: transcrite et accompagnée d'une introduction, d'un glossaire et d'un fac-simile par –. Leiden 1897. [16th c.]
- Peri gerontos* See Kakop.

- Peri pon.* (= Περὶ τοῦ πονηροῦ καὶ ὀκνηροῦ) Eideneier N., «Δύο μῦθοι ἀπὸ τὸν “Στεφανίτη καὶ Ἰχνηλάτη” σὲ δημῶδη γλῶσσα», Ἑλληνικά 20 (1967) 430–5. [16th c.]
- Peri pragm.* (= Περὶ τοῦ πραγματευτοῦ) Eideneier N., «Δύο μῦθοι ἀπὸ τὸν “Στεφανίτη καὶ Ἰχνηλάτη” σὲ δημῶδη γλῶσσα», Ἑλληνικά 20 (1967) 430–5. [16th c.]
- Peri xen.* Μαυρομάτης Γ., Τὰ «Περὶ τῆς Ξενιτείας» ποιήματα. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις με̐ εἰσαγωγῇ, σχόλια καὶ λεξιλόγιον. Heraklion 1995. [15th c.]
- PETRITSIS, Dig. O Lambros Sp. P., Collection de romans grecs en langue vulgaire et en vers. Publiés pour la première fois d’après les manuscrits de Leyde et d’Oxford. Paris 1880, 111–237. [17th c.]
- Phys.* Legrand É., Le Physiologus. Poème sur la nature des animaux en grec vulgaire. Publié pour la première fois d’après deux manuscrits de la Bibliothèque Nationale. Athens and Paris 1873 [Collection de monuments pour servir à l’étude de la langue néo-hellénique, 16]. [15th c.?)
- PIGAS, Chrysop. Βολέτας Γ., Μελέτιος Πηγάς, Χρυσοπηγή. Εὐαγγελικῆς διδασκαλίας περίοδος. Ἀνέκδοτοι λόγοι γραμμένοι στὰ 1586–1587 καὶ ἐκφωνημένοι στὸ ναὸ τῆς Χρυσοπηγῆς καὶ Παμμακαρίστου Κωνσταντινουπόλεως (κατὰ τὸν ἀθηναϊκὸν κώδικα). Ἀναστύλωσε Γ. Βολέτας. Athens 1958. [16th c./17th c.?)
- PIKAT., Rima thrin. Bakker W. F – Van Gemert A. F. – Brokkaar W. G., Ρίμα θρηνητικὴ εἰς τὸν πικρὸν καὶ ἀκόρεστον Ἄδην. Ποίημα κυρ-Ἰωάννου Πικατόρου ἐκ πόλεως Ρηθύμνης. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις, σε συνεργασία με̐ τον W. G. Brokkaar. Heraklion 2008. [15th c./16th c.]
- Pist. kekoim.* Νικολόπουλος Π. Γ., Ἰωάννου τοῦ Δαμασκηνοῦ (;), Περὶ τῶν ἐν πίστει κεκοιμημένων. Μετάφρασις εἰς τὴν κυπριακὴν διάλεκτον. Εἰσαγωγὴ – Ἑκδοσις – Πίνακες λεξιλογικοί. Nicosia 2000 [Δημοσιεύματα τοῦ Κέντρου Ἐπιστημονικῶν Ἑρευνῶν, 28]. [16th c.]
- Pist. voskos* Joannou P., Ὁ Πιστιὸς Βοσκός. Der treue Schäfer. Der Pastor Fido des G. B. Guarini von einem Anonymus im 17. Jahrhundert in kretische Mundart übersetzt. Berlin 1962 [Berliner Byzantinistische Arbeiten, 27]. [17th c.]
- Pittakin* Di Benedetto Zimbone A., “Versi d’amore in calce al cod. Vat. gr. 2391”, Orpheus. Rivista di umanità classica e cristiana n.s. 8.2 (1987) 415–24. [15th c.]
- Plani kosmou* Reinsch R. D., “Ein bisher unbekanntes Gedicht Περὶ τῆς πλάνης τοῦ κόσμου”. In N. M. Panayotakis (ed.), Origini della letteratura neogreca: Atti del Secondo Congresso Internazionale “Neograeca Medii Aevi” (Venezia 1991). Venice 1993 [Biblioteca dell’ Istituto Ellenico di Studi Bizantini e Postbizantini di Venezia, 15], vol. 2, 156–76. [14th c./16th c.]

- PLOUSIAD., Thrinós Βασιλείου Π., «Ὁ αὐτόγραφος Θρήνος τῆς Θεοτόκου τοῦ Ἰωάννη Πλουσιαδηνοῦ», Ἑλληνικά 32 (1980) 267–87. [15th c.]
- PLOUSIAD., Thrinós Μανούσας Μ., «Ἀνέκδοτοι στίχοι καὶ νέος αὐτόγραφος κώδις τοῦ Ἰωάννου Πλουσιαδηνοῦ», Ἀθηνᾶ 68 (1965) 49–72.
- Pol. Tr. Παπαθωμόπουλος Μ. – Jeffreys E. M., Ὁ Πόλεμος τῆς Τρωάδος (The War of Troy). Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις μὲ εἰσαγωγὴ καὶ πίνακες. Editio princeps. Athens 1996 [Βυζαντινὴ καὶ Νεοελληνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 7]. [13th–14th c./15th–16th c.]
- PORFYROP., Prokop. paraphr. (= Μάρκος Πορφυρόπουλος, Παράφρασις ... των ιστοριῶν του Προκοπίου) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ἀνθολογία. Ἀφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίον Πρῶτον: Ἀπὸ το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ὡς τὴ Γαλλικὴ Ἐπανάστασις. Thessaloniki 2001, 486–94. [18th c.]
- Porikol. I, II, III Winterwerb H., Porikologos. Einleitung, kritische Ausgabe aller Versionen, Übersetzung, Glossar, kurze Betrachtungen zu den fremdsprachlichen Versionen des Werks sowie zum Opsarologos. Cologne 1992 [Neograeca Medii Aevi, 7]. [15th–16th c.] [16th–17th c.] [17th–18th c.]
- PORTIUS, Grammar Meyer W., Grammatica linguae graecae vulgaris. Reproduction de l'édition de 1638 suivie d'un commentaire grammatical et historique par Wilhelm Meyer, professeur à l'Université d'Iéna, avec une introduction de Jean Psichari, maître de conférences de langue néo-grecque à l'École des Hautes Études. Paris 1889. [17th c.]
- Portul. Delatte A., Les portulans grecs. Liège and Paris 1947 [Bibliothèque de la Faculté de Philosophie et Lettres de l'Université de Liège, fasc. 107].
- Portul. compl. Delatte A., Les portulans grecs II: Compléments, Brussels 1958 [Académie Royale de Belgique, Classe des lettres (2ème série) 53, fasc. 1].
- Poulol., Poulol. AZ Τσαβαρῆ Ἰ., Ὁ Πουολόλογος. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις μὲ εἰσαγωγὴ, σχόλια καὶ λεξιλόγιον. Athens 1987 [Βυζαντινὴ καὶ Νεοελληνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 5]. [14th c./15th–16th c.]
- Presv. Ippot. Rizzo Nervo F., Il vecchio cavaliere. Introduzione, testo e traduzione a cura di F. Rizzo Nervo. Soveria Mannelli 2000 [Medioevo romanzo e orientale. Testi, 6]. [15th c.]
- Prochiron Leg. Brandileone F. – Puntoni V., Prochiron Legum, pubblicato secondo il codice Vaticano greco 845. Rome 1895. [9th c./12th c.]
- Prol. Epain. Kef. (= Πρόλογος: Εἰς ἔπαινον τῆς περιφήμου νήσου Κεφαλληνίας) Εὐαγγελάτος Σπ. Ἀ., Ἱστορία τοῦ θεάτρου ἐν Κεφαλληνίᾳ, 1600–1900. Μετὰ δραματολογικῆς ἀναλύσεως τῶν σημαντικωτέρων ἔργων καὶ πρώτης κριτικῆς ἐκδόσεως τοῦ παλαιότερου κεφαλληνιακοῦ θεατρικοῦ κειμένου. Διατριβὴ ἐπὶ διδακτορίᾳ. Athens 1970 [Βιβλιοθήκη Σοφίας Ν. Σαριπόλου, 5]. [17th c.]

- PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou (= Δρᾶμα περὶ τοῦ γεννηθέντος τυφλοῦ) Μανούσακας Μ.
I. – Πούχνερ Β., Ἀνέκδοτα στιχουργήματα τοῦ θρησκευτικοῦ θεάτρου τοῦ 12' αἰώνα. Ἔργα τῶν ὀρθόδοξων Χίων κληρικῶν Μιχ. Βεστάρχη, Γρηγ. Κονταράτου, Γαβρ. Προσοψᾶ. Ἔκδοση κριτική μὲ εἰσαγωγή, σχόλια καὶ εὑρετήρια. Athens 2000. [17th c.]
- Ptoch. I, II, III, IV* Eideneier H., Ptochoprodromos. Einführung, kritische Ausgabe, deutsche Übersetzung, Glossar. Cologne 1991 [Neograeca Medii Aevi, 5]. [12th c./14th c.]
- Ptoch. (Maiuri)* Maiuri A., “Una nuova poesia di Teodoro Prodromo in greco volgare”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 23 (1920) 397–407. [12th
c./15th c.]
- Ptochol. A, P, α* Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Κριτική ἔκδοση τῆς Ἱστορίας Πτωχολέοντος.
Θέματα ὑστεροβυζαντινῆς καὶ νεοελληνικῆς λογοτεχνίας.
Διδακτορική διατριβή. Thessaloniki 1978 [ΕΕΦΣΠΘ, παράρτημα 22]. [14th c./17th c.] [14th c./16th c.] [14th
c./16th c.]
- PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas Κονόμος Ντ., Ζακυνθινὰ χρονικά (1485–1953). Athens 1970, 108–22. [18th c.]
- Reb. Evr.* (= Διήγησις περὶ τῆς ρεμπελιὸς ἐναντίον τῶν Ἑβραίων) Κονόμος Ντ., Ζακυνθινὰ χρονικά (1485–1953). Athens 1970, 103–5. [18th c.]
- RICHARD, Targa pisteos I Richard, F., Τάργα τῆς πίστεως τῆς ρωμαϊκῆς ἐκκλησίας εἰς τὴν διαφένδουσιν τῆς ὀρθοδοξίας. Συνθεῖσα παρὰ τοῦ αἰδεσίμου πατρὸς Φραγκίσκου Ριχάρδου, τοῦ ἐκ τῆς Ἱησοῦ ἑταιρίας θεολόγου. 2 vols. Paris 1658. [17th c.]
- Rim. kor. A, V* Caracausi M., Ριμάδα κόρης καὶ νέου. Contrasto di una fanciulla e di un giovane. Edizione critica, introduzione, commento e traduzione. Rome 2003 [Studi e ricerche. Sezione greca, 5]. [15th
c./16th c.]
- Rim. kor. A, V* Pernot H., Chansons populaires grecques des XVe et XVI siècles, publiées et traduites par –. Paris 1931 [Collection de l'Institut néo-hellénique de l'Université de Paris, fasc. 8].
- Rim. Sant.* Ἀσώπιος Εἰρ., «Τὸ περὶ Σαντορήνης χειρόγραφον», Ἀττικόν ἡμερολόγιον 13 (1878) 130–72. [17th c.]
- Rim. than.* (= Ρίμα περὶ τοῦ θανάτου) Κακουλίδη Ἑ. Δ., «Ποιήματα τοῦ Ἀνδρέα Σκλέντζα», Ἑλληνικά 20 (1967) 107–45. Reprinted in eadem, Συμβολές. Νεοελληνικὰ Μελετήματα. Ioannina 1982 [Ἔρευνες στὴ Νέα Ἑλληνικὴ Φιλολογία, 4], 105–42. [15th c.]
- RODINOS, Mart. Ag. Mam. (= Μαρτύριον τοῦ ἁγίου μεγαλομάρτυρος Μάμαντος) Βαλέτας Γ., *Νέοφυτος Ροδινός. Κυπριακὴ δημοτικὴ πεζογραφία.
Λόγοι – δοκίμια – συναξάρια. Τὸ ἀηδόνι τῆς τουρκοκρατίας*.
Athens 1979, 207–19. [17th c.]

- RODINOS, Martyr. Neof. (= Μαρτύριον του αγίου ενδόξου μάρτυρος Νεοφύτου) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 321–2. [17th c.]
- RODINOS, Vios Ign. Κιτρομηλίδης Π. Μ. – Μεσσής Χ., Βίος ἡ Μαρτύριον τοῦ ἐν ἁγίοις πατρὸς ἡμῶν Ἰγνατίου ἀρχιεπισκόπου Κωνσταντινουπόλεως, γραμμένος ἑλληνικὰ ἀπὸ Νικήταν Δαβίδ τὸν Παφλαγόνα καὶ γυρισμένος εἰς τὴν ἀπλήν γλώσσαν ὑπὸ Νεοφύτου Ροδινοῦ τοῦ Κυπρίου. Athens 2008. [17th c.]
- ROMANOS, Grammar Boyens J., Grammatica linguae graecae vulgaris communis omnibus Graecis ex qua alia artificialis deducitur peculiaris eruditus et studiosis tantum. Per Patrem Romanum Nicephori Thessalonicensem, Macedonem, édité d'après le ms 2604 (Fonds grec) de la B. N. de Paris. Liège 1908 [Bibliothèque de la Faculté de Philosophie et Lettres de l'Université de Liège, fascicule XVIII]. [17th c.]
- *RUMI, Poem I–II Δέδες Δ., «Τὰ ἑλληνικὰ ποιήματα τοῦ Μαυλανᾶ Ρουμὴ καὶ τοῦ
- γιοῦ του Βαλέντ κατὰ τὸν 13ον αἰῶνα», Τὰ Ἱστορικά 18–19 (1993) 3–22. [13th c./14th c.]
- RUMI, Poem I–II Burguière P. – Mantran R., “Quelques vers grecs du XIII^e siècle en caractères arabes”, Byzantion 22 (1952) 63–80.
- SACHLIKIS¹ Στέφανος Σαχλίκης, Τὰ ποιήματα. Χρηστική ἔκδοση με βάση καὶ τὰ τρία χειρόγραφα. Φιλολογική ἐπιμέλεια, πρόλογος, εἰσαγωγή καὶ γλωσσάριο: Γιάννης Κ. Μαυρομάτης, Νικόλαος Μ. Παναγιωτάκης. Athens 2015.
- *SACHLIKIS, Afigisis Papadimitriu S. D., Stefan Sakhlikis i ego stikhotvorenje “Ἀφήγησις παράξενος”. Odessa 1896 (in Russian) [С. Д.
Пападимитриу, Стефан Сахликис и его стихотворение «Αφήγησις παράξενος», Odessa 1896 (Летопись историкофилологического общества при Новороссийском университете, vol. 6. Византийское отделение, vol. 3)] 15–30 (vv. 1–412). [14th c./16th c.]
- SACHLIKIS, Afigisis Lendari T., Normalized transcription of ms Neapolitanus III a 9, ff. 1r–8v.

¹ As this edition is not furnished with an apparatus criticus it was not possible to use it for the excerpts quoted in the Grammar. In anticipation of the full critical edition we have used the poem titles and line-numbering of Mavromatis and Panagiotakis, but the actual excerpts are taken from the older editions of Wagner, Papadimitriu and Vitti, or, when the text differs, from the ms transcriptions of Tina Lendari.

- *SACHLIKIS, Katalogi Papadimitriu S. D., Stefan Sakhlikis i ego stikhotvorenie “Ἀφήγησις παράξενος”. Odessa 1896 (in Russian) [С. Д. Пападимитриу, Стефан Сахликис и его стихотворение «Ἀφήγησις παράξενος», Odessa 1896 (Летопись историко-филологического общества при Новороссийском университете, vol. 6. Византийское отделение, vol. 3)] 48–52 (vv. 812–908). [14th c./16th c.]
- SACHLIKIS, Katalogi Lendari T., Transcription of ms Neapolitanus III a 9, ff. 15v–17v.
- SACHLIKIS, Peri filon Wagner G., Carmina graeca medii aevi. Leipzig 1879, 79–85. [14th c./16th c.]
- *SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis Papadimitriu S. D., Stefan Sakhlikis i ego stikhotvorenie “Ἀφήγησις παράξενος”. Odessa 1896 (in Russian) [С. Д. Пападимитриу, Стефан Сахликис и его стихотворение «Ἀφήγησις παράξενος», Odessa 1896 (Летопись историко-филологического общества при Новороссийском университете, vol. 6. Византийское отделение, vol. 3)], 30–8 (vv. 413–602).
- SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis Wagner G., Carmina graeca medii aevi. Leipzig 1879, 85–92. [14th c./16th c.]
- SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis Lendari T., Normalized transcription of ms Neapolitanus III a 9, ff. 1r–8v.
- *SACHLIKIS, Symvoules Wagner G., Carmina graeca medii aevi. Leipzig 1879, 62–78. [14th c./16th c.]
- SACHLIKIS, Symvoules Lendari T., Transcription of ms Montepessul. Schol. Medic. 4056, ff. 141r–154v.
- SACHLIKIS, Symvoules Lendari T., Normalized transcription of ms Paris. gr. 2909.
- SACHLIKIS, Symvoules Lendari T., Normalized transcription of ms Neapolitanus III a 9, ff. 1r–8v.
- SACHLIKIS, Symvoules Vitti M., “Il poema parenetico di Sachlikis nella tradizione inedita del cod. napoletano”, Κρητικά Χρονικά 14 (1960) 173–200.
- SACHLIKIS, Vouli pol. Wagner G., Carmina graeca medii aevi. Leipzig 1879, 92–105 (vv. 378–712). [14th c./16th c.]
- SACHLIKIS, Vouli pol. Papadimitriu S. D., Stefan Sakhlikis i ego stikhotvorenie “Ἀφήγησις παράξενος”. Odessa 1896 (in Russian) [С. Д. Пападимитриу, Стефан Сахликис и его стихотворение «Ἀφήγησις παράξενος», Odessa 1896 (Летопись историко-филологического общества при Новороссийском университете, vol. 6. Византийское отделение, vol. 3)], 38–48 (vv. 603–811).
- SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. Κομίνης Ἀ. Δ., «Ἀγνωστον ἔργον τοῦ Κυπρίου ἀντιγραφῶς κωδίκων Ἰωάννου Σανκταμαύρα», Δίπτυχα 1 (1979) 7–19. [16th c.]
- SFRANTZIS, Chron. Maisano R., Giorgio Sfranze, Cronaca. Rome 1990 [Corpus Fontium Historiae Byzantinae, 29, Series Italica]. [15th c.]

- SKLAVOS, Symf. Μπουμπουλίδης Φ. Κ., Ἡ συμφορὰ τῆς Κρήτης τοῦ Μανόλη Σκλάβου. Κρητικὸν στιχοῦργημα τοῦ ΙΣΤ΄ αἰῶνος. Athens 1955 [Σπουδαστήριον Βυζαντινῆς καὶ Νεοελληνικῆς Φιλολογίας τοῦ Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν]. [16th c.]
- SKLENTZAS, Ain. Zood. Pig., Ther. Theot., Ymn. Ag. Frang., Ymn. Mar. Magd. Κακούλιδη Ἐ. Δ., «Ποιήματα τοῦ Ἀνδρέα Σκλέντζα», Ἑλληνικά 20 (1967) 107–45. Reprinted in eadem, Συμβολές. Νεοελληνικὰ Μελετήματα. Ioannina 1982 [Ἐρευνες στὴ Νέα Ἑλληνικὴ Φιλολογία, 4], 105–42. [15th c.]
- SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. Δετοράκης Θ., «Γεωργίου Σκορδίλη Μαραφαρᾶ. Ἀνέκδοτος Λόγος στὸν Εὐαγγελισμό τῆς Θεοτόκου», Κρητικὴ Ἑστία, περ. Δ΄, 4 (1988–91) 81–138. Reprinted in idem, Βενετοκρητικὰ Μελετήματα (1971–1994). Heraklion 1996, 421–75. [16th c.]
- SKOUFOS, Grammat. Manoussacas M. – Lassithiotakis M., François Scouphos, Ὁ Γραμματοφόρος (Le Courier). Édition critique du recueil de ses lettres avec introduction, commentaire et répertoires. Athens 1998.
- SOFIANOS, Grammar, Paidag. Legrand É., Nicolas Sophianos, Grammaire du grec vulgaire et traduction en grec vulgaire du traité de Plutarque Sur l'éducation des enfants. Athens 1874 [Collection de Monuments pour servir à l'étude de la langue néo-hellénique, 2, nouvelle série], 1–123. [16th c.]
- SOFIANOS, Tre tiranni Vitti M., Nicola Sofianòs e la commedia dei tre tiranni di A. Ricchi. Naples 1966 [Istituto universitario orientale. Seminario di greco moderno, 3]. [16th c.]
- SOUMAKIS, Rebelio Κονόμος Ντ., Ζακυνθινὰ χρονικά (1485–1953). Athens 1970, 27–59. [17th c./19th c.]
- SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. Παστώρ Φίδος, ἤγουν Ποιμὴν Πιστός. Μεταγλωττισμένος ἀπὸ τὸ ἰδίωμα τὸ Ἰταλικὸν παρ' ἐμοῦ Μιχαὴλ Σουμμάκη ἐν πόλειως Ζακύνθου, εἰς κατάνυξιν, καὶ περιδιάβασιν ὠφέλιμον καὶ εἰς μάθησιν ἡθικῶν νοημάτων ἀφιερωμένος, τῷ εὐγενεστάτῳ καὶ ἀξιωτάτῳ κυρίῳ Νικολάῳ Κουμμούτῳ. Venice 1658. [17th c.]
- Spaneas B* Hanna F., “Das byzantinische Lehrgedicht Spaneas nach dem cod. Vindobonensis theol. gr. 244 und dem cod. Marc. gr. XI 24”, Jahresbericht des Stiftungs-Obergymnasium zu Duppau in Böhmen für das Schuljahr 1910–1911, Duppau 1911. [12th c./16th c.]
- Spaneas D* Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., «Γεωργίου τοῦ Αἰτωλοῦ μῦθοι καὶ ἀποσπάσματα τοῦ Σπανέα ἐξ ἀγιορειτικῶν κωδίκων νῦν τὸ πρῶτον ἐκδιδόμενα», Δελτίον τῆς Ἱστορικῆς καὶ Ἐθνολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας τῆς Ἑλλάδος 5 (1896) 1–122. [12th c./16th c.]
- Spaneas P* Legrand É., “Ἐκ τοῦ Σπανέα”. In Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, vol. 1. Paris 1880, 1–10. [12th c./14th c.]

- Spaneas V* Hanna F., “Das byzantinische Lehrgedicht Spaneas nach dem cod. Vindobonensis theol. gr. 193”, Jahresbericht über das K. K. Akademische Gymnasium in Wien für das Schuljahr 1895–1896, Vienna 1896. [12th c./12th–13th c.]
- Spaneas Va* Λάμπρος Σπ., «Ὁ Σπανέας τοῦ Βατικανοῦ Παλατίνου κώδικος 367», Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 14 (1917) 353–80. [12th c./14th c.]
- Spaneas Z* Ζώρας Γ. Θ., «Ἀγνωστος ἡπειρωτικὴ παραλλαγή τοῦ Σπανέα (κατὰ τὸν Βατικανὸν ἑλληνικὸν κώδικα 1831)», Rivista di Studi Bizantini e Neoellenici, n.s. 1 (1964) 47–77. [12th c./15th c.]
- Spanos A, B, D* Eideneier H., Spanos. Eine byzantinische Satire in der Form einer Parodie. Einleitung, kritischer Text, Kommentar und Glossar. Berlin and New York 1977 [Supplementa Byzantina, Texte und Untersuchungen, 5]. [14th–15th c./16th c.]
- SPANOS, Grammar* Βασιλικὸς Ἰ., Κανέλλου Σπανοῦ Γραμματικὴ τῆς Κοινῆς τῶν Ἑλλήνων Γλώσσης. Παχωμίου Ρουσάνου Κατὰ Χυδαίζόντων καὶ Αἰρετικῶν καὶ ἄλλα τοῦ αὐτοῦ, νῦν πρῶτον ἐκδιδόμενα ἐκ κωδίκων τῆς Μαρκιανῆς Βιβλιοθήκης ὑπὸ τοῦ Ἀρχιμανδρίτου Ἰωάννου Βασιλικοῦ, ἐφημερίου τῆς ἐν Βενετίᾳ ὀρθοδόξου Ἑλληνικῆς Ἐκκλησίας. Trieste 1908, 21–44. [18th c.]
- SPON, Voyage* Spon J., Voyage d'Italie, de Dalmatie, de Grèce et du Levant, fait aux années 1675 & 1676, vol. 2. Amsterdam 1679.
- STAFIDAS, Iatrosoph.* Legrand É., “Formulaire médical de Jean Stafidas”. In Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, vol. 2. Paris 1881, 1–27. [15th c./14th c.]
- Stathis* Martini L., Στάθης, κρητικὴ κωμωδία. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις, μὲ εἰσαγωγή, σημειώσεις καὶ λεξιλόγιο. Thessaloniki 1976 [Βυζαντινὴ καὶ Νεοελληνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 3]. [17th c.]
- STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev.* Pidonia K. D., STAVRINOS-PALAMED, Cronici în versuri despre Mihai Viteazul. Prefață și traducere: Olga Cicanci. Notă introductivă și ediție Stavrinos: Komnini D. Pidonia, Bucharest 2004.
- STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev.* Legrand É., Recueil de poèmes historiques en grec vulgaire relatifs à la Turquie et aux Principautés Danubiennes, publiés, traduits et annotés par –. Paris 1877 [Publications de l'École des langues orientales vivantes, 5], 16–127. [17th c.]
- SULT. WALAD, Ibtid.* Kappler M., “Die griechischen Verse aus dem Ibtidâ-nâme von Sultân Veled”. In M. Kappler et al. (eds.), Trans-Turkic Studies: Festschrift in Honour of Marcel Erdal. Istanbul 2010, 379–97.
- SULT. WALAD, Poem I–V* Δέδες Δ., «Τὰ ἑλληνικὰ ποιήματα τοῦ Μαυλανᾶ Ρουμὲ καὶ τοῦ γιοῦ του Βαλὲντ κατὰ τὸν 13ον αἰῶνα», Τὰ Ἱστορικά 18–19 (1993) 3–22. [13th c./14th c.]

- Synax. gadar.* Moennig U., “Das Συναξάριον τοῦ τιμημένου γαδάρου: Analyse, Ausgabe, Wörterverzeichnis”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 102 (2009) 109–66. [14th c./16th c.]
- Synax. gadar.* Pochert C., Die Reimbildung in der spät- und postbyzantinischen Volksliteratur. Cologne 1991 [Neograeca Medii Aevi, 4].
- Synax. gyn.* Vuturo F. P., Sinassario delle nobildonne. Συναξάριον τῶν εὐγενικῶν γυναικῶν καὶ τιμιωτάτων ἀρχοντισσῶν. Edizione critica, traduzione e note. Rome 2016. [15th c./16th c.]
- Synax. gyn.* Krumbacher K., “Ein vulgärgriechischer Weiberspiegel”, Sitzungsberichte der philosophisch-philologischen und der historischen Klasse der Königl. Bayer. Akademie der Wissenschaften, Munich 1905, 335–433.
- Syndipas* Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 107–23. [15th c./16th c.]
- Thavm. Nikon Metan.* Λαμπιδής Ό., Ὁ ἐκ Πόντου Ὁσῖος Νίκων ὁ Μετανοεῖτε (Κείμενα – Σχόλια). Athens 1982 [Ἀρχεῖον Πόντου, παράρτημα 13]. [17th c.]
- Thavmata Ag. Nik.* (= Από των θαυμάτων του αγίου Νικολάου του θαυματουργού) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 262–5. [16th c./17th c.]
- Theophr. Char.* Παράσογλου Γ., «Η αρχαιότερη δημώδης μετάφραση των Χαρακτήρων του Θεοφράστου», Ἑλληνικά 42 (1991–1992), 115–33. [16th–17th c.]
- Theseid* Θησεός καὶ γάμοι τῆς Ἑμῆλιας. Stampato in Vinegia per Giouanantonio et fratelli da Sabbio a requisitione de M. Damiano de Santa Maria de Spici. Venice 1529.
- Theseid I* Follieri E., Il Teseida Neogreco. Libro I. Saggio di edizione. Rome and Athens 1959 [Testi e Studi Bizantino-neoellenici]. [15th c./15th–16th c.]
- Theseid VI* Olsen B., “The Greek translation of Boccaccio’s Theseid Book 6”, Classica et Medievalia 41 (1990) 275–301.
- Theseid Prol. E, Prol. P* Κακλαμάνης Στ., «Ὁ “Πρόλογος εἰς τὸ βιβλίον τοῦ Θησέου”. Ἑκδοτικὴ διερεύνηση», in N. Μ. Παναγιωτάκης (ed.)†, Ἄνθη χαρίτων: μελετήματα ἐόρτια συγγραφέντα ὑπὸ τῶν ὑποτρόφων τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Ἰνστιτούτου Βυζαντινῶν καὶ Μεταβυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν τῆς Βενετίας. Venice 1998 [Βιβλιοθήκη τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Ἰνστιτούτου Βυζαντινῶν καὶ Μεταβυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν Βενετίας, 18], 113–74. [15th c./16th c.] [15th c./15th–16th c.]

- Thrinios Konst.* (P-K) Παπαδόπουλος-Κεραμεύς Ά., «Θρήνος τῆς Κωνσταντινουπόλεως», Byzantinische Zeitschrift 12 (1903) 267–72. [17th c.]
- Thrinios Konst.* (Zoras) Ζώρας Γ. Θ., Ἀγνωστος παραλλαγή τοῦ «Θρήνου τῆς Κωνσταντινουπόλεως» (κατὰ τὸν Ἀθηναϊκὸν κώδικα 3113). Athens 1959 [Σπουδαστήριον Βυζαντινῆς καὶ Νεοελληνικῆς Φιλολογίας τοῦ Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν]. [16th c.]
- Thrinios Kyp.* Παπαδόπουλλος Θ., «Ὁ θρήνος τῆς Κύπρου», Κυπριακαὶ Σπουδαι 44 (1980) 1–78. Reprinted in A. Chatzivasas (ed.), Thrène de la prise de l'infortunée île de Chypre. Le chant de Hadjiyorgakis. Besançon 2000. [16th–17th c./18th c.]
- Thrinios patr.* M, O Krumbacher K., “Ein dialogischer Threnos auf den Fall von Konstantinopel”, Sitzungsberichte der philosophisch-historischen Klasse der Bayerischen Akademie der Wissenschaften. Munich 1901, 329–61. [17th c.]
- Thrinios patr.* M, O Luciani C., “Ἡ Θρήνος τῶν τεσσάρων Πατριαρχείων”, Rivista di Studi Bizantini e Neoellenici, n.s., 45 (2008) 257–303. [16th–17th c.]
- Thrinios Tam.* (= Θρήνος περὶ Ταμυρλάγγου) Wagner G., Carmina graeca medii aevi. Leipzig 1879, 28–31. [15th c./16th c.]
- Thysia Avr.* Bakker W. F. – Van Gemert A. F., Ἡ Θυσία τοῦ Ἀβραάμ. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοση. Heraklion 1996. [16th–17th c./17th c.]
- Trag. Ag. Dim.* Παναγιωτάκης Ν. Μ. – Ποῦχνης Β., Ἡ τραγῆδια τοῦ Ἀγίου Δημητρίου. Θρησκευτικὸ δρᾶμα με κωμικὰ ἰντερμέδια, ἄγνωστου ποιητῆ, ποὺ παραστάθηκε στὶς 29 Δεκεμβρίου 1723 στὴ Ναξία. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοση με εἰσαγωγή, σημειώσεις καὶ γλωσσάριο. Heraklion 1999. [18th c.]
- TRIBBECHOVIUS, Grammar Io. Tribbechovii ... Brevia Linguae Ρωμαϊκῆς Sive Graecae Vulgaris Elementa, quibus Differentia antiquum inter & recentiore Græcismum præcipue ostenditur; Præmissa est Dissertatio de Ortu & Natura huius linguae: Accessit Concio Christi montana ... Epistola Cl. Anastasii, Græci, & Syllabus vocum usitatorum. Jena 1705.
- TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias, Tagiarp. (= Ἱστορία τοῦ ρέ τῆς Σκότζιας ..., Ἱστορία τοῦ Ταγιαπιέρρα) Irmscher J., Ἰάκωβος Τριβώλης. Ποιήματα, herausgegeben, übersetzt und erklärt von Johannes Irmscher. Berlin 1956 [Berliner Byzantinistische Arbeiten, 1]. [16th c./17th c.]
- *TROILOS, Rodol. Ἀποσκήτη Μ., Ροδολίνος. Τραγωδία Ἰωάννη Ἀνδρέα Τρωίλου (17ου αἰῶνα). Athens 1987. [17th c.]
- TROILOS, Rodol. Walton F. R., Ἰωάννου Ἀνδρέα Τρωίλου, Βασιλεὺς ὁ Ρωδολίνος. Τραγωδία. Βενετία, παρὰ Ἰωάννη Ἀντωνίω τῷ Ἰουλιανῷ, 1647. Πρόλογος F. R. Walton, εἰσαγωγή Μ. Ι. Μανούσας. Athens 1976.

- TROILOS, Rodol. Μανούσακας Μ. Ι., «Βασιλεὺς ὁ Ροδολῖνος. Τραγωδία Ἰωάννη Ἀνδρέα Τρωίλου (1647). Πράξεις Γ´–Δ´. Πρώτη παρουσίαση (μὲ εἰσαγωγικὸ σημείωμα)», Θέατρο 4 (Ἰούλ.–Αὔγ. 1962), 8–23.
- Tzabl.* Λαμπάκης Στ., «Τὸ ποίημα τοῦ “Τζαμπλάκου”». In Ν. Μ. Panayotakis (ed.), Origini della letteratura neogreca: Atti del secondo Congresso Internazionale “Neograeca Medii Aevi” (Venezia, 7–10 Novembre 1991), vol. 2. Venice 1993, 485–500. [15th c./16th–17th c.]
- TZETZES, Epil. Theogon. Hunger H., “Zum Epilog der Theogonie des Johannes Tzetzes”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 46 (1953) 302–7. [12th c./14th c.]
- Varl. & Ioas.* (Lavras) Βασιλείου Π., Βαρλαάμ και Ιωάσαφ. Η παραλλαγή του κώδικα I 104 της Μονής Μεγίστης Λαύρας. Συμβολή στη μελέτη των δημωδών παραλλαγών του μυθιστορήματος. Thessaloniki 2004. [16th c./17th c.]
- Varl. & Ioas.* (Pantel.) Βασιλείου Π., «Το κείμενο της πρώτης γνωστής δημώδους παραλλαγής του μυθιστορήματος Βαρλαάμ και Ιωάσαφ», Ελληνικά 53 (2003) 49–69. [16th c.]
- VAROUCHAS, Logoi (= Λόγοι ψυχωφελείς ...) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτός νεοελληνικός λόγος. Βιβλίο Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 464–70. [17th c.]
- VATATSI, Periig. I, II Legrand É., “Voyages de Basile Vatace en Europe et en Asie”, in Nouveaux Mélanges Orientaux. Paris 1886 [Publications de l’École des Langues orientales vivantes. Ite série. Vol. XIX.], 185–295. Reprinted Athens 1972. [18th c.]
- Velis.* N2, Velis. ρ, Velis. χ Bakker W. F. – Van Gemert A. F., Ἱστορία τοῦ Βελισαρίου. Κριτική ἔκδοση τῶν τεσσάρων διασκευῶν μὲ εἰσαγωγή, σχόλια καὶ γλωσσάριο. Athens 1988 [Βυζαντινὴ καὶ Νεοελληνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 6]. [15th c./16th c.] [14th c./16th c.] [15th c./16th c.] [14th c./15th–16th c.]
- Velth.* (= Διήγησις ἐξαίρετος Βελθάνδρου τοῦ Ρωμαίου) Κριαρᾶς Ἐ., Βυζαντινὰ ἱπποτικὰ μυθιστορήματα. Athens 1955 [Βασικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 2], 87–130. [13th c./16th c.]
- Velth.* Cupane C., Romanzi cavallereschi bizantini: Callimaco e Crisorroee, Beltandro e Crisanza, Storia di Achille, Florio e Plaziaflore, Storia di Apollonio di Tiro, Favola consolatoria sulla Cattiva e la Buona Sorte. Turin 1995, 215–305.
- Velth.* Lendari T., Normalized transcription of Paris. gr. 2909.

- VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. Ζώρας Γ. Θ., «Τζάνε Βεντράμου, Ἱστορία φιλαργυρίας μετὰ τῆς περηφανίας (ἄγνωστον στιχοῦργημα τοῦ ΙΣΤ΄ αἰῶνος)», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Βυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν 24 (1954) 291–314. Reprinted as: Τζάνε Βεντράμου, Ἱστορία φιλαργυρίας μετὰ τῆς περηφανίας (ἄγνωστον στιχοῦργημα τοῦ ΙΣΤ΄ αἰῶνος). Athens 1956 [Σπουδαστήριον Βυζαντινῆς καὶ Νεοελληνικῆς Φιλολογίας τοῦ Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν]. [16th c.]
- VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. Knös B., “Un miroir des femmes du XVIe siècle”, Ἑλληνικά 14 (1955) 123–57. [16th c.]
- VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. Τσαβαρῆ Ἰ. Ὁ., Βαρλαάμ καὶ Ἰωάσαφ. Μεταφράζει ὁ Νικηφόρος Βενετζᾶς, ἐκδίδει ἡ Ἰ. Ὁ. Τσαβαρῆ. Heraklion 1992. [17th c.]
- VEST., Paid. Makkav., Pathi, Prol. Theot. (= Ἑπτὰ παῖδες Μακκαβαῖοι, Πάθη τοῦ Χριστοῦ, Πρόλογος τῆς ὑπεραγίας Θεοτόκου) Μανούσας Μ. Ι. – Ποῦχνερ Β., Ἀνέκδοτα στιχοῦργήματα τοῦ θρησκευτικοῦ θεάτρου τοῦ ΙΖ΄ αἰῶνα. Ἔργα τῶν ὀρθόδοξων Χίων κληρικῶν Μιχ. Βεστάρχη, Γρηγ. Κονταράτου, Γαβρ. Προσοψᾶ. Ἐκδοσὴ κριτικὴ μὲ εἰσαγωγὴ, σχόλια καὶ εὔρετήρια. Athens 2000. [17th c.]
- Vios Aisop.* D, E, I, K Eideneier H., Äsop – der frühneugriechische Roman. Einführung, Übersetzung, Kommentar, Kritische Ausgabe. Wiesbaden 2011 [Serta Graeca, Beiträge zur Erforschung griechischer Texte, 28]. [17th c.] [15th–16th c.] [17th c.] [16th–17th c.]
- Vios Aisop.* D, E, F, I, K Παπαθωμόπουλος Μ., Πέντε δημῶδεις μεταφράσεις τοῦ Βίου τοῦ Αἰσώπου. Editio princeps. Athens 1999.
- Vios Filaret.* Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίον Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ὡς τὴ Γαλλικὴ Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 237–43. [16th c.]/[17th c.]
- Vios Filaret.* Μελικίδου Ε., Ἡ δημῶδης μετάφραση τοῦ βίου τοῦ Αγίου Φιλαρέτου τοῦ Ελεήμονος: συμβολὴ στὴ μεταφραστικὴ κίνηση τοῦ 16ου καὶ τοῦ 17ου αἰ. Unpublished PhD thesis, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, 1997.
- Vios Ioann. Eleim.* Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίον Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ὡς τὴ Γαλλικὴ Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 265–8. [16th–17th c.]
- Vios Iosif* (= Βίος καὶ πολιτεία Ἰωσήφ τοῦ παγκάλου) Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφικὴ Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικὸς γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. Βιβλίον Πρώτο: Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ὡς τὴ Γαλλικὴ Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001, 269–72. [16th c.]

- Vios Philaret. Rydén L., The Life of St Philaretos the Merciful, written by his Grandson Niketas. A Critical Edition with Introduction, Translation, Notes, and Indices. Uppsala 2002. [9th c./11th c.]
- VLACHOS, This. Θησαυρός τῆς ἐγκυκλοπαιδικῆς βάσεως τετράγλωσσος, μετὰ τῆς τῶν Ἐπιθέτων ἐκλογῆς, καὶ διττοῦ τῶν λατινικῶν τε καὶ Ἱταλικῶν λέξεων πίνακος· ἐκ διαφόρων παλαιῶν τε καὶ νεωτέρων λεξικῶν συλλεχθεὶς παρὰ Γερασίμου Βλάχου τοῦ Κρητός, Καθηγουμένου τῆς μονῆς τοῦ μεγάλου Γεωργίου Σκαλωτοῦ, Κήρυκος τοῦ Ἱεροῦ Εὐαγγελίου, καὶ τῶν ἐπιστημῶν κατ' ἀμφοτέρας τὰς διαλέκτους διδασκάλου. Venice 1659. [17th c.]
- [VLASTOS], Dig. P Πασχάλης Δ., «Οἱ δέκα λόγοι τοῦ Διγενοῦς Ἀκρίτα, περὶ διασκευῆ», Λαογραφία 9 (1926) 305–441. [17th c.]
- Vosk. Ἀλεξίου Στ., Ἡ Βοσκοπούλα, κρητικὸ εἰδύλλιο τοῦ 1600. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις. Heraklion 1963. [16th c./17th c.]
- VOUSTR., Chron. A, B, M Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Τζώρτζης (Μ)πουστρούς (Γεώργιος Βο(σ)τρ(υ)ηνός ἢ Βουστρώνιος, Διήγησις Κρονίκας Κύπρου. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις, Εἰσαγωγή, Σχόλια, Γλωσσάρι, Πίνακες καὶ Επίμετρο. Nicosia 1997 [Πηγές καὶ Μελέτες τῆς Κυπριακῆς Ἱστορίας, 27]. [15th c./16th c.]
- Vulgärorakel Trapp E., “Vulgärorakel aus Wiener Handschriften”. In J. Koder and E. Trapp (eds.), AKPOΘINIA, Sodalium Seminarii Byzantini Vindobonensis Herberto Hunger oblata. Vienna 1964, 83–120. [13th c./15th c.]
- Xethapsimo Τὸ ξεθάψιμο τοῦ σταυρωμένου παιδιοῦ. In É. Legrand, Recueil de poèmes historiques en grec vulgaire relatifs à la Turquie et aux Principautés Danubiennes. Publiés, traduits et annotés par Émile Legrand. Paris 1877, 306–08.
- Zinon Ἀλεξίου Στ. – Ἀποσκίτη Μ., Ζήνων, Κρητοεπτανησιακὴ τραγωδία (17ου αἰώνα). Athens 1991. [17th c.]
- ZINOS, Alex. Rim. Epil. Holton D., Διήγησις τοῦ Ἀλεξάνδρου. The tale of Alexander. The rhymed version. Critical edition with an introduction and commentary. Athens 1974, 2nd edition 2002 [Βυζαντινὴ καὶ Νεοελληνικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 1]. [16th c.]
- ZINOS, Penth. Than. Prol. Ζώρας Γ. Θ., Πένθος θανάτου, ζωῆς μάταιον καὶ πρὸς Θεὸν ἐπιστροφή. Athens 1970 [Βιβλιοθήκη Βυζαντινῆς καὶ Νεοελληνικῆς Φιλολογίας Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν, 49]. [16th c.]
- ZINOS, Vatr. Δ. Ζήνος, Βατραχομομαχία. Venice 1539? [16th c.]
- ZYGOM., Stef. Ichn. Stefou L., Die neugriechische Metaphrase von Stephanites und Ichnelates durch Theodosios Zygomalas. Inauguraldissertation zur Erlangung des Grades einer Doktorin der Philosophie am Fachbereich Philosophie und Geisteswissenschaften der Freien Universität Berlin. Berlin 2011.

- ZYGOM., Synopsis Perentidis S., Théodose Zygomalas et sa Paraphrase de la Synopsis minor. Athens 1994 [Forschungen zur byzantinischen Rechtsgeschichte, Athener Reihe, 5]. [16th c.]
- ZYGOM., Thematoep. Ζυγομαλᾶς, Θεματοεπιστολαί. In Martinus Crusius, Turcograecia. 1584. [16th c.]

2. Non-literary Texts

References to documents and other non-literary texts are given by editor and date. The abbreviations used for papyri can be found at www.papyri.info. For inscriptions not included in the list below see <http://epigraphy.packhum.org/>

- AERTS 1995 Aerts W. M., “Froumound’s Greek: an analysis of fol. 12v of the Codex Vindobonensis Graecus 114, followed by a comparison with a Latin–Greek wordlist in MS 179 Auxerre fol. 137v”. In A. Davids (ed.), The Empress Theophano: Byzantium and the West at the Turn of the First Millennium. Cambridge 1995, 194–210.
- ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015 Alexakis A. – Mavromatis G., “Eleven documents from the Acta of the Monastery of St. John the Forerunner of Vazelon in Trebizond”. In T. Antonopoulou, S. Kotzabassi and M. Loukaki (eds.), Myriobiblos: Essays on Byzantine Literature and Culture. Boston, Berlin and Munich 2015, 1–23.
- ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009 Αλεξοπούλου Κ. – Βλάχου Ν. – Μπαλού Μ. – Ντουινιά Μ. – Παπαϊωάννου Α. – Πέτρου Αικ. – Σαμοΐλης Γρ., Νοταριακές πράξεις του Κώδικα της οικογένειας Τυπάλδου-Λασκαράτου (16ος-17ος αι.), επιστημονική επιμέλεια έκδοσης Ε. Αγγελομάτη-Τσουγκαράκη – Α. Τσελίκας. Corfu 2009 [Πηγές της Επτανησιακής Ιστορίας, 3].
- ALEXOULIS 1892 Ἀλεξούλης Ἀ., «Δύο σημειώματα ἐκ χειρογράφων», Δελτίον Ἱστορικῆς καὶ Ἐθνολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας τῆς Ἑλλάδος 4 (1892) 275–81.
- ALEXOULIS 1896/1900 Ἀλεξούλης Ἀ., «Κατάλογος τῶν ἐν ἱεραῖς ἐκκλησίαις τῆς συνοικίας Κάστρου, πόλεως Βερατίου τῆς μητροπόλεως Βελεγράδων εὑρισκομένων ἀρχαίων χειρογράφων», Δελτίον Ἱστορικῆς καὶ Ἐθνολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας τῆς Ἑλλάδος 5 (1896–1900) 352–69.
- ALIPRANDIS 1974/75 Ἀλιπράντης Ν., «Ἀνέκδοτα παριακὰ ἔγγραφα τῆς Τουρκοκρατίας (1594–1836). Σιγίλλια καὶ ἔγγραφα τῆς μονῆς Ἀγίου Μηνᾶ Πάρου», Ἀθηνᾶ 75 (1974–75) 95–179.
- ALIPRANDIS 1983 Ἀλιπράντης Ν., «Ἀνέκδοτα παριανὰ ἔγγραφα (ἀπὸ τῆς συλλογῆς τοῦ κ. Ὁθωνα Κάπαρη)», Παριανὰ 4, no. 12 (1983) 94–100.
- ALIPRANDIS 1993 Ἀλιπράντης Ν., «Ἀνέκδοτα δικαιοπρακτικὰ ἔγγραφα τῆς Πάρου (1636–1830). Ἀπὸ τῆς συλλογῆς τῆς Βασιλικῆς Ἀσπροπούλου», Παριανὰ 14, no. 51 (1993) 285–306.

- ALIPRANDIS 2000 Ἀλιπράντης Ν., «Ἀνέκδοτα ἔγγραφα τῆς Πάρου (1625–1820)», Παριανὰ 21, no. 76 (2000) 12–27.
- ALIPRANDIS/SYMEONIDIS 1985 Ἀλιπράντης Ν. – Συμεωνίδης Σ., «Τὸ Καινούριο Πηγάδι Παροικιάς, συνοικία καθολικῶν τὸν 17ο αἰῶνα. Ἀνέκδοτα ἔγγραφα τῆς συλλογῆς τοῦ κ. Σίμου Συμεωνίδη», Παριανὰ 4, no. 13 (1983) 126–32.
- ANDONAKATOU 1980 Ἀντωνάκου Ντ., «Περὶ τοῦ Ἱερεμῖα Κατσαΐτη, ἐπισκόπου Μαΐνης καὶ ἡγουμένου τῆς Μονῆς Νέας Ἱερουσαλὴμ Κεφαλληνίας», Λακωνικαὶ Σπουδαί 5 (1980) 395–402.
- ANDONAKATOU 1989 Ἀντωνάκου Ντ., «Ἡ ἀνταλλαγὴ ἀνθρώπου μὲ ζωὸ (νοταριακὴ πράξις) καὶ μοναστήρια τῆς Κεφαλονιάς ἐπὶ Βενετοκρατίας», Δελτίον Ἱστορικῆς καὶ Ἐθνολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας τῆς Ἑλλάδος 32 (1989) 51–80.
- ANDONIADIS 1980/81 Ἀντωνιάδης Ξ., «Δικαιοπρακτικὰ ἔγγραφα Σκύρου 17ου αἰῶνα», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Κέντρου Ἑρεύνης τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 27–28 (1980–81) 299–361.
- ANDONIADIS 1982/83 Ἀντωνιάδης Ξ., «Τὸ ἰδιοκτησιακὸ καθεστῶς καὶ ἡ ἀγοραπωλησία ἀκινήτων στὴν Τουρκοκρατούμενη Σκύρο (Συμβολὴ στὴν ἔρευνα τοῦ μεταβυζαντινοῦ ἑλληνικοῦ δικαίου)», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Κέντρου Ἑρεύνης τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 29–30 (1982–83) 61–122.
- ANDONIADIS 1983 Ἀντωνιάδης Ξ., «Σκυριανὲς διαθήκες τοῦ 12' αἰῶνα», Δελτίον Ἱστορικῆς καὶ Ἐθνολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας τῆς Ἑλλάδος 26 (1983) 115–202.
- ANDONIADIS 1990 Ἀντωνιάδης Ξ., Αρχεῖο ἐγγράφων Σκύρου. Athens 1990.
- ANDONIADIS 1995 Ἀντωνιάδης Ξ., «Προίκα καὶ προικοσύμφωνα στὴ Σκύρο ἐπὶ Τουρκοκρατίας», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Κέντρου Ἑρεύνης τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 31 (1995) 151–248.
- ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982 Ἀνδριτσάκη-Φωτιάδης Δ., «Μιὰ κυθηραϊκὴ διαθήκη τοῦ 1685». In Δ. Ἀνδριτσάκη-Φωτιάδης – Μ. Κ. Πετρόχειλος, Κυθηραϊκὰ Μελετήματα. Athens 1982 [Βιβλιοθήκη Ἱστορικῶν Μελετῶν, 164], 68–79.
- ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996 Ἀγγελομάτη-Τσουγγαράκη Ἐ., «Οἱ οἰκογένειες Λικίνιου καὶ Περδικάρη. Μελέτη βιογραφικὴ καὶ γενεαλογικὴ», Μεσαιωνικὰ καὶ Νέα Ἑλληνικά 5 (1996) 307–79.
- ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007 Ἀγγελομάτη-Τσουγγαράκη Ἐ., «Ἡ κοινωνικὴ συνείδηση ἐνὸς κρητικοῦ τοῦ 1574», Θησαυρίσματα 37 (2007) 122–52.
- ARGENTI 1941 Argenti P., Chius vincta, or the Occupation of Chios by the Turks (1566) and their Administration. Cambridge 1941.
- ASONITIS 1993 Ἀσωνίτης Σπ., «Τρία κερκυραϊκὰ νοταριακὰ ἔγγραφα τῶν ἐτῶν 1398–1458», Ἐῶα καὶ Ἑσπέρια 1 (1993) 9–43.

- ASONITIS 1996/97 Ασωνίτης Σπ., «Έγγραφα αναφερόμενα στην εκκλησιαστική περιουσία στην Παλαιόπολη της Κέρκυρας κατά το 14ο και 15ο αι.», Έξω και Έσπέρια 3 (1996–97) 9–40.
- ASONITIS 1999/2000 Ασωνίτης Σπ., «Η αγγαρεία στην Κέρκυρα κατά τον όψιμο μεσαίωνα», Έξω και Έσπέρια 4 (1999–2000) 133–73.
- ASONITIS 2000 Ασωνίτης Σπ., «Προβλήματα του ορθοδόξου κλήρου της Κέρκυρας πριν και μετά τη Σύνοδο Φερράρας-Φλωρεντίας», Βυζαντινά 21 (2000) 399–417.
- ASTRUC 1981 Astruc Ch., “L’inventaire – dressé en septembre 1200 – du Trésor et de la Bibliothèque de Patmos. Édition diplomatique”, Travaux et Mémoires 8 (1981) 15–30.
- AVOURIS 1973 Άβούρης Μ., «Τὸ ξυλόγλυπτο τέμπλο τοῦ ναοῦ τῆς Φανερωμένης στὴ Ζάκυνθο», Κρητικά Χρονικά 25 (1973) 218–22.
- AVRAMEA/FEISSEL 1987 Avramea A. – Feissel D., “Inventaires en vue d’un recueil des inscriptions historiques de Byzance. IV. Inscriptions de Thessalie (à l’exception des Météores)”, Travaux et Mémoires 10 (1987) 357–98.
- BABINGER/DÖLGER 1952 Babinger F. – Dölger F., “Ein Auslandsbrief des Kaisers Johannes VIII. vom Jahre 1447”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 45 (1952) 20–28. Reprinted in F. Dölger, Byzantinische Diplomatie. 20 Aufsätze zum Urkundenwesen der Byzantiner. Ettal 1956, 292–301.
- BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956 Babinger F. – Dölger F., “Mehmeds II. frühester Staatsvertrag (1446)”. In F. Dölger, Byzantinische Diplomatie. 20 Aufsätze zum Urkundenwesen der Byzantiner. Ettal 1956, 262–91. Originally published in Orientalia Christiana Periodica 15 (1949) 225–58.
- BAGLIONI 2006 Baglioni D., La scripta italo-romanza del regno di Cipro: edizione e commento di testi di scrittori ciprioti del Quattrocento. Rome 2006.
- BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978 Bakker W. – van Gemert A., «Οἱ διαθήκες τοῦ Κρητικοῦ νοταρίου Ἀντωνίου Γιαλέα (1529–1532)», Κρητολογία 6 (1978) 5–90.
- BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987 Bakker W. – van Gemert A., Μανόλης Βαρούχας, νοταριακές πράξεις. Μοναστηράκι Ἀμαρίου (1597–1613). Rethymno 1987.
- BALLAS 1999a Μπάλλας Γ. Σπ., «Συμφωνίες για σκλάβους στο Αργοστόλι (12^{ος} αιώνας)», Κεφαλληνικά Χρονικά 8 (1999) 275–84.
- BALLAS 1999b Μπάλλας Γ. Σπ., «Μισθωτήριο συμφωνητικό καταστήματος πριν από 330 χρόνια στο Ἀργοστόλι», Ἑπτανησιακά Φύλλα 20 (1999) 1–2.

- BALLAS 2001 Μπάλλας Γ. Σπ., «Πληροφορίες για συντεχνίες στην Κεφαλονιά». In Γ. Πεντόγαλος et al. (eds.) Πρακτικά του ΣΤ΄ Διεθνούς Πανιονίου Συνεδρίου (Ζάκυνθος, 23–27 Σεπτεμβρίου 1997), vol. 2. Athens 2001, 169–80.
- BALLAS 2008 Μπάλλας Γ. Σπ., «Η αγγαρεία της θάλασσας στα χρόνια της βενετικής κυριαρχίας στην Κεφαλονιά (13΄ αιώνας)», Κεφαλληνιακά Χρονικά 11 (2006–2008) 241–60.
- BARIŠIĆ 1966 Barišić F., “Pismo Mihajla II Andjela dubrovačom kneze iz 1237”, Zbornik radova Vizantoloski Institut 9 (1966) 1–24.
- BEES 1922 Bees, N. A., Die Inschriftenaufzeichnung des Kodex Sinaiticus graecus 508 (976) und die Maria-Spiläotissa-Klosterkirche bei Sille (Lykaonien), mit Exkursen zur Geschichte der Seldschukiden-Türken. Berlin-Wilmersdorf 1922 [Texte und Forschungen zur byzantinisch-neugriechischen Philologie, 1].
- BEIHAMMER 2007 Beihammer A. D., Griechische Briefe und Urkunden aus dem Zypern der Kreuzfahrerzeit: die Formularsammlung eines königlichen Sekretärs im Vaticanus palatinus graecus 367. Nicosia 2007.
- BENEŠEVIĆ 1919 Benešević V., “Die türkischen Namen der Tore von Konstantinopel”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 23 (1919) 408.
- BEŠEVLIEV 1963 Beševliev V., Die Protobulgarischen Inschriften. Berlin 1963 [Berliner byzantinistische Arbeiten, 23].
- BLANKEN 1951 Blanken G. H., Les Grecs de Cargèse (Corse): Recherches sur leur langue et sur leur histoire, vol. 1: Partie linguistique. Leiden 1951.
- BOMBACI 1954 Bombaci A., “Nuovi firmani greci di Maometto II”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 47 (1954) 298–319.
- BOMPAIRE 1964 Bompaire J., Actes de Xéropotamou. Édition diplomatique. Paris 1964 [Archives de l’Athos, 3].
- BOMPAIRE et al. 2001 Bompaire J. – Lefort J. – Kravari V. – Giros Chr., Actes de Vatopédi, vol. 1: Des origines à 1329. Édition diplomatique. Paris 2001 [Archives de l’Athos, 21].
- BOUBOULIDIS 1957 Μπουμπουλίδης Φ., «Συμβολή εις τὴν ἱστορίαν τῆς Ζακυνθίας οἰκογενείας Σιγούρου ἐπὶ ἐνετοκρατίας», Ἐπετηρὶς Μεσαιωνικοῦ Ἀρχείου 7 (1957) 84–128.
- BOUBOULIDIS 1958 Μπουμπουλίδης Φ., «Νοτάριοι Ζακύνθου», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Ἀρχείου τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 8 (1958) 112–35.
- BOUDREAUX 1912 Boudreaux P., Codices Parisini. Brussels 1912 [Catalogus Codicum Astrologorum Graecorum vol. 8.3].
- BRAYER et al. 1951 Brayer E. – Lemerle P. – Laurent V., “Le Vaticanus latinus 4789. Histoire et alliances des Cantacuzènes aux XIVe–XVe siècles”, Revue des Études Byzantines 9 (1951) 47–105.

- BROUSKARI 1981 Μπρούσκαρη Ή., «Ἐμπορικὲς περιπέτειες τοῦ μητροπολίτη Φιλαδελφείας Γαβριὴλ Σεβήρου. Μία ἐπιστολὴ τοῦ Μιχαὴλ Σβηροῦ», Θησαυρίσματα 18 (1981) 307–24.
- BROUSKARI 1982 Μπρούσκαρη Ή., «Ἐγγραφο αἵρετοκρισίας σχετικὰ μὲ ἔμπορικὴ διένεξη (1606)», Θησαυρίσματα 19 (1982) 166–203.
- BRYER 1976 Bryer A., “Some Trapezuntine Monastic Obits”, Revue des Études Byzantines 34 (1976) 125–38. Reprinted in idem, The Empire of Trebizond and the Pontos. London 1980, no. IX.
- BUCHON 1843 Buchon J. A., Nouvelles recherches historiques sur la principauté française de Morée et ses hautes baronnies, à la suite de la quatrième croisade, faisant suite aux Éclaircissements historiques, généalogiques et numismatiques sur la principauté française de Morée. 2 vols. Paris 1843–5.
- CANTARELLA 1937 Cantarella R., Codex messanensis graecus 105. Testo inedito con introduzione, indici e glossario. Palermo 1937 [Memorie e documenti di storia siciliana. II, Documenti, 2 – Documenti per servire alla storia di Sicilia. S. II, 12].
- CARUSO 1976 Caruso S., “Una pergamena greca del tempo di Federico II. Nota su una famiglia arabo-greca di Messina”, Byzantion 44 (1976) 308–29.
- CATALDI PALAU 2000 Cataldi Palau A., “Il copista Ioannes Mauromates”. In G. Prato (ed.), I manoscritti greci tra riflessione e dibattito. Atti del V Colloquio Internazionale di Paleografia Greca (Cremona, 4–10 ottobre 1998), vol. 1. Florence 2000 [Papyrologica Florentina, 31], 335–99.
- CATALDI PALAU 2003 Cataldi Palau A., “Correspondence between Manuel Provataris Scriptor Graecus in the Vatican Library (1556–1571), and some of his fellow scribes”. In Ch. Dendrinos, J. Harris, E. Harvalia-Crook and J. Herrin (eds.), Porphyrogenita: Essays on the History and Literature of Byzantium and the Latin East in Honour of Julian Chrysostomides. Aldershot 2003, 461–91.
- CHAIRETI 1969 Χαιρέτη Μ., «Ἡ ἐν Ἀκρωτηρίῳ Κυδωνίας γυναικεῖα μονὴ Ἀγίου Γεωργίου Κερατιδιώτη καὶ ἡ οἰκογένεια τοῦ Γαβριὴλ Σεβήρου. Ἑλληνικὰ ἔγγραφα (1596–1615)», Θησαυρίσματα 6 (1969) 157–81.
- CHARALAMBOPOULOS 1988/89 Χαραλαμπόπουλος Χ. Δ., «Παναγία Ἀμπελακιώτισσα. Το Σταυροπηγιακὸ μοναστήρι. Ἐγγραφα 1708–1820. Ἐγγραφα 1829–1965 β’ σειρά. Θυμῆσεις», Ναυπακτικὰ 4 (1988–89) 515–613.
- CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010 Χάρου-Κορωναίου Ε. – Δρακάκης Ε. Γ., Δημήτριος Φάναρης, νοτάριος Κυθήρων, 1586–1619. Κατάστιχο I, Τόμος Α΄ 26 Ιανουαρίου 1586 – 29 Ιανουαρίου 1589. Athens 2010 [Εταιρεία Κυθηραϊκῶν Μελετῶν, 19].

- CHASIoTIS 1964/65 Χασιώτης Ί. Κ., «Ὁ ἀρχιεπίσκοπος Ἀχρίδος Ἰωακείμ καὶ οἱ συνωμοτικὲς κινήσεις στὴ Βόρειο Ἠπειρο (1572–1576)», Μακεδονικά 6 (1964–65) 237–55.
- CHASIoTIS 1966 Χασιώτης Ί. Κ., Μακάριος καὶ Νικηφόρος οἱ Μελισσηνοὶ (Μελισσοουργοὶ) (16ος–17ος αἰ.). Thessaloniki 1966 [Ἐταιρεία Μακεδονικῶν Σπουδῶν – Ἰδρυμα Μελετῶν Χερσονήσου τοῦ Αἴμου, 91].
- CHASIoTIS 1970 Χασιώτης Ί. Κ., Οἱ Ἕλληνες τὶς παραμονὲς τῆς ναυμαχίας τῆς Ναυπάκτου. Ἐκκλήσεις, ἐπαναστατικὲς κινήσεις καὶ ἐξεγέρσεις στὴν ἐλληνικὴ χερσόνησο ἀπὸ τὶς παραμονὲς ὡς τὸ τέλος τοῦ κυπριακοῦ πολέμου (1568–1571). Thessaloniki 1970 [Ἐταιρεία Μακεδονικῶν Σπουδῶν – Ἰδρυμα Μελετῶν Χερσονήσου τοῦ Αἴμου, 120].
- CHASIoTIS 1972 Χασιώτης Ί. Κ., Ἰσπανικὰ ἔγγραφα τῆς Κυπριακῆς ἱστορίας. Nicosia 1972 [Κέντρο Ἐπιστημονικῶν Ἑρευνῶν – Πηγαὶ καὶ Μελέται τῆς Κυπριακῆς Ἱστορίας, 3].
- CHATZIDAKIS I. 1927 Χατζιδάκης Ί., Ἡ ἱστορία τῆς νήσου Μήλου. Athens 1927.
- CHAVIARAS 1879 Χαβιαρᾶς Δ., «Ἀνέκδοτοι ἐπιστολαὶ Μοροζίνη καὶ Καποδιστρίου πρὸς τοὺς Συμαίους», Παρνασσός 3 (1879) 251–2.
- CHORAS 1975 Χώρας Γ. Α., Ἡ “ἀγία μονὴ” Ἀρείας ἐν τῇ ἐκκλησιαστικῇ καὶ πολιτικῇ ἱστορίᾳ τοῦ Ναυπλίου καὶ Ἀργους. Athens 1975.
- CHRISTODOULOU 1983 Χριστοδοῦλου Μ. Ν., «Κυπριακὰ κανονικὰ διατάξεις», Ἑπετηρὶς Κέντρου Ἐπιστημονικῶν Ἑρευνῶν Κύπρου 12 (1983) 329–490.
- CHRYSOCHOIDIS 1977 Χρυσοχοΐδης Κρ. Κ., «Τὸ μετόχι τοῦ Παναγίου Τάφου στὴν Κεφαλονιά (τέλη 16ου αἰ.)», Κεφαλληνιακὰ Χρονικά 2 (1977) 195–214.
- CONSTANTINIDES 1988 Constantinides C. N., “The protopapas Laurentios Dalephantos, a Scribe in 16th Century Famagusta”, Δωδώνη 17 (1988) 169–76.
- CONSTANTINIDES 1996 Constantinides C. N., “A dated Greek manuscript from Cyprus of the 16th Century (Paris. gr. 947)”. In C. N. Constantinides, N. M. Panagiotakes, E. Jeffreys and A. D. Angelou (eds.), Φιλέλλην: Studies in Honour of Robert Browning. Venice 1996 [Istituto Ellenico di Studi Bizantini e Postbizantini di Venezia, 17], 55–73.
- CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993 Constantinides C. N. – Browning R., Dated Greek Manuscripts from Cyprus to the year 1570. Washington, DC and Nicosia 1993 [Dumbarton Oaks Studies 30].
- CONSTANTINIDI-BIBICOU 1956 Constantinidi-Bibicou H., “Documents concernant l’histoire byzantine déposés aux Archives Nationales de France”. In Mélanges offerts à Octave et Melpo Merlier à l’occasion du 25e anniversaire de leur arrivée en Grèce, vol. 1. Athens 1956, 119–32.

- COUROUPOU/GÉHIN 2001 Couroupou M. – Géhin P., “Nouveaux documents chypriotes”, Revue des Études Byzantines 59 (2001) 147–64.
- CUSA 1868/82 Cusa S., I diplomî greci ed arabi di Sicilia, pubblicati nel testo originale, tradotti ed illustrati, vol. 1. Parts 1–2. Palermo 1868–82, reprinted Cologne and Vienna 1982.
- DALLEGIO D’ALESSIO 1939 Dallegio d’Alessio E., “Le texte grec du traité conclu par les Génois de Galata avec Mehmet II, le 1er Juin 1453”, Ἑλληνικά 11 (1939) 115–24.
- DARROUZÈS 1951 Darrouzès J., “Un obituaire chypriote: le Parisinus graecus 1588”, Κυπριακαὶ Σπουδαὶ 11 (1951) 25–62, reprinted in DARROUZÈS 1972, no. XIII.
- DARROUZÈS 1953 Darrouzès J., “Notes pour servir à l’histoire de Chypre”, Κυπριακαὶ Σπουδαὶ 17 (1953) 83–102, reprinted in DARROUZÈS 1972, no. XIV.
- DARROUZÈS 1956 Darrouzès J., “Notes pour servir à l’histoire de Chypre (deuxième article)”, Κυπριακαὶ Σπουδαὶ 20 (1956) 33–63, reprinted in DARROUZÈS 1972, no. XV.
- DARROUZÈS 1958 Darrouzès J., “Notes pour servir à l’histoire de Chypre (troisième article)”, Κυπριακαὶ Σπουδαὶ 22 (1958) 223–50, reprinted in DARROUZÈS 1972, no. XVI.
- DARROUZÈS 1959 Darrouzès J., “Notes pour servir à l’histoire de Chypre (quatrième article)”, Κυπριακαὶ Σπουδαὶ 23 (1959) 27–56, reprinted in DARROUZÈS 1972, no. XVII.
- DARROUZÈS 1963 Darrouzès J., “Lettres de 1453”, Revue des Études Byzantines 22 (1963) 72–127.
- DARROUZÈS 1964a Darrouzès J., “Notes d’Asie Mineure”, Ἀρχεῖον Πόντου 26 (1964) 28–40, reprinted in DARROUZÈS 1972, no. XX.
- DARROUZÈS 1964b Darrouzès J., “Obits et colophons”. In Χαριστήριον εἰς Ἀναστάσιον Κ. Ὁρλάνδον, vol. 1. Athens 1965, 299–313, reprinted in DARROUZÈS 1972, no. XX.
- DARROUZÈS 1972 Darrouzès J., Littérature et histoire des textes byzantins. London 1972.
- DARROUZÈS/LAURENT 1976 Darrouzès J. – Laurent V., Dossier grec de l’Union de Lyon (1273–1277). Paris 1976 [Archives de l’orient chrétien, 16].
- DE JERPHANION 1925/42 De Jerphanion G., Les églises rupestres de Cappadoce. Une nouvelle province de l’art byzantin. 3 vols. Paris 1925–42.
- DE LANGE 1982 De Lange N., “Two Genizah fragments in Hebrew and Greek”. In J. A. Emerton and S. C. Reif (eds.), Interpreting the Bible: Essays in Honour of E. I. J. Rosenthal. Cambridge 1982, 61–83.
- DELATTE 1924 Delatte A., Catalogus Codicum Astrologorum Graecorum. Codices Athenienses, Tomus X. Brussels 1924.
- DELATTE 1927 Delatte A., Anecdota Atheniensiâ, vol. 1: Textes grecs inédits relatifs à l’histoire des religions. Liège and Paris 1927 [Bibliothèque de la Faculté de Philosophie et Lettres de l’Université de Liège].

- DELATTE 1946 Delatte A., “L’armement d’une caravelle grecque du XVI^e siècle d’après un manuscrit de Vienne”. In Miscellanea Giovanni Mercati, vol. 3. Vatican 1946 [Studi e Testi, 123], 490–508.
- DELEHAYE 1921 Delehay H., Deux typica byzantins de l’époque des Paléologues. Brussels 1921 [Académie royale de Belgique, Classe des Lettres et des sciences politiques et morales. Mémoires, 13].
- DELENDAS 1949 Δελένδας Ί. Χ., Οἱ καθολικοὶ τῆς Σαντορίνης. Συμβολὴ στὴν ἱστορία τῶν Κυκλάδων. Athens 1949.
- DELIALIS 1969 Δελιαλῆς Ν. Π., «Τὸ πρωτότυπον τῆς διαθήκης τοῦ Ὁσίου Νικάνορος τοῦ Θεσσαλονικέως καὶ τέσσερα ἄλλα ἀνέκδοτα ἔγγραφα», Μακεδονικά 9 (1969) 243–64.
- DETORAKIS 1980 Δετοράκης Θ., «Διδασκαλικές καὶ βιβλιογραφικές συμβάσεις στὴ βενετοκρατούμενη Κρήτη», Κρητολογία 10–11 (1980) 231–56, reprinted in DETORAKIS 1996, 37–53.
- DETORAKIS 1992 Δετοράκης Θ., «Τὸ μοναστήρι τοῦ Ἁγίου Γεωργίου τοῦ Διασορίτη στὴν Κρήτη», Νέα Χριστιανικὴ Κρήτη, περ. Δ΄, 4 (1992) 99–105, reprinted in DETORAKIS 1996, 285–90.
- DETORAKIS 1994 Δετοράκης Θ., «Συμβολὴ στὰ βιογραφικὰ τοῦ Ἀγαπίου Λάνδου (Δύο ἀνέκδοτα νοταριακὰ ἔγγραφα)». In Ροδωνιά: Τιμὴ στὸν Μ. Ι. Μανούσασκα, vol. 1. Rethymno 1994, 123–30.
- DETORAKIS 1996 Δετοράκης Θ., Βενετοκρητικὰ Μελετήματα (1971–1994). Heraklion 1996.
- DI MATTEO 1903 Di Matteo I., “Una pergamena inedita, in greco, 1338”, Archivio storico siciliano, N.S., 28 (1903) 460–9.
- DIMITRAKOPOULOS 1995 Δημητρακόπουλος Φ. Α., «Παλαιογραφικὰ καὶ μεταβυζαντινὰ, Ε΄», Ἐπιστημονικὴ Ἐπετηρὶς Φιλοσοφικῆς Σχολῆς Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν 20 (1992–95) 531–81.
- DOIKAS 1982 Δοίκας Ι. Ν., «Ἐγγραφα καὶ ἐπιστολὲς αναφερόμενες σὲ σκλάβους Κερκύρας-Παξῶν», Δελτίο τῆς Αναγνωστικῆς Εταιρείας Κερκύρας 19 (1982) 131–66.
- DOKOS 1963 Ντόκος Κ., «Μία ὑπόθεσις πειρατείας κατὰ τὸν 17ον αἰ.», Θησαυρίσματα 2 (1963) 36–62.
- DOKOS 1971/74 Ντόκος Κ., «Ἡ ἐν Πελοποννήσῳ ἐκκλησιαστικὴ περιουσία κατὰ τὴν περίοδον τῆς Β΄ Ἐνετοκρατίας», Byzantinisch-Neugriechische Jahrbücher 21 (1971–74) 43–167.
- DOKOS 1972 Ντόκος Κ., «Ἐπαναστατικαὶ κινήσεις εἰς Μάνην πρὸ τῆς ναυμαχίας τῆς Ναυπάκτου καὶ ἡ ἔναντι αὐτῶν στάσις τῆς Βενετίας καὶ Ἰσπανίας (1570–1571)», Λακωνικαὶ Σπουδαί 1 (1972) 212–66.
- DOKOS 1975 Ντόκος Κ., Ἡ Στερεὰ Ἑλλάς κατὰ τὸν Ἐνετοτουρκικὸν πόλεμον (1684–1699) καὶ ὁ Σαλῶνων Φιλόθεος. Athens 1975.
- DOKOS 1985 Ντόκος Κ., «Ἡ μετοικεσία τῶν Ἀθηναίων στὴν Πελοπόννησο καὶ ἡ πρώτη φάση τοῦ ἐπαναπατρισμοῦ τοὺς (1688–1691)», Μνήμων 10 (1985) 96–138.

- DRAKAKIS 1967 Δρακάκης Ά. Θ., «Ἡ Σϋρος ἐπὶ Τουρκοκρατίας. Ἡ δικαιοσύνη καὶ τὸ δίκαιον», Ἑπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Κυκλαδικῶν Μελετῶν 6 (1967) 63–492.
- DRAKAKIS 1971 Δρακάκης Ά. Θ., «Θηραϊκὴ διαθήκη τοῦ 17ου αἰῶνος». In Μ. Α. Δανέζης, Σαντορίνη. Athens 1971, 131–3.
- DRAKAKIS 1999 Δρακάκης Ἐ., Ἑμμανουήλ Κασσιμάτης, νοτάριος Κυθήρων (1560–1582). Athens 1999 [Ἑταιρεία Κυθηραϊκῶν Μελετῶν, Πηγές Κυθηραϊκῆς Ἱστορίας, 10].
- DRAKAKIS 2004 Δρακάκης Ἐ., Μιχαήλ Μαρᾶς, Νοτάριος Χάνδακα, Κατάστιχο 149. Τόμος Α΄ (16 Ἰανουαρίου–30 Μαρτίου 1549). Heraklion 2004 [Βενετικὲς Πηγές τῆς Κρητικῆς Ἱστορίας, 2].
- DRAKOPOULOU 2005 Drakopoulou E., “Inscriptions de la ville de Kastoria (Macédoine) du 16^e au 18^e siècle: tradition et adaptation”, Revue des Études Byzantines 63 (2005), 5–40.
- DRANDAKIS 1972/73 Δρανδάκης Ν. Β., «Ἀνάγλυπτος παράστασις βυζαντινοῦ μύθου», Ἑπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Βυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν 39–40 (1972/73) 659–74.
- EFSTRATIADIS 1925 Εὐστρατιάδης Σ., «Κερκυραϊκὸν προικοσύμφωνον τοῦ 15^{οῦ} αἰῶνος», Θεολογία 3 (1925) 47–50.
- EVANGELATOS 1995 Εὐαγγελάτος Σπ., Ἱφίγένεια [ἐν Ληξουρίῳ]. Ἐπιμέλεια (Διασκευὴ κειμένου, Εἰσαγωγή, Ἀνέκδοτα Ἐγγραφα, Περιγραφή Σκηνοθεσίας). Athens 1995.
- EVANGELATOS 2000 Εὐαγγελάτος Σπ., «Μία δίκη (1582–1583) τοῦ Γεωργίου Χορτάτση τοῦ Ἰωάννη», Παράβασις 3 (2000) 11–62.
- EVANGELATOU-NOTARA 1982 Εὐαγγελάτου-Νοταρᾶ Φλ., «Σημειώματα» ἑλληνικῶν κωδίκων ὡς πηγὴ διὰ τὴν ἔρευναν τοῦ οἰκονομικοῦ καὶ κοινωνικοῦ βίου τοῦ Βυζαντίου ἀπὸ τοῦ 9ου αἰῶνος μέχρι τοῦ ἔτους 1204. Διατριβὴ ἐπὶ διδακτορίᾳ. Athens 1982 [Βιβλιοθήκη Σοφίας Σαριπόλου, 47].
- EVANGELIDIS 1913 Εὐαγγελίδης Τ., Ἡ νῆσος Σκιάθος καὶ αἱ περὶ αὐτὴν νησίδες. Μελέτη τοπογραφικο-ἱστορικὴ μετὰ χάρτου τῆς νήσου καὶ εἰκόνων. Athens 1913.
- FEISSEL 1980 Feissel D., “Inscriptions byzantines de Ténos”, Bulletin de Correspondance Hellénique 104 (1980) 477–518.
- FEISSEL 1983 Feissel, D. Recueil des inscriptions chrétiennes de Macedoine du III^e au VI^e s. Paris 1983 [Supplément au Bulletin de Correspondance Hellénique 8].
- FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985 Feissel D. – Philippidis-Braat A., “Inventaires en vue d’un recueil des inscriptions historiques de Byzance. III. Inscriptions du Peloponnèse (à l’exception de Mistra)”, Travaux et Mémoires 9 (1985) 267–396.

- FLORISTÁN 2008 Floristán J. M., “Expedición de Antonio Sherley al Archipiélago (1 de Febrero–7 de Mayo de 1610): Una nueva embajada de los habitantes de Maina”, Θησαυρίσματα 38 (2008) 266–88.
- FLORISTÁN IMÍZCOZ 1999 Floristán Imízcoz J. M., “La segunda misión de Alejandro Vasilópulo al Monte Atos (1629–1631)”, Erytheia 20 (1999) 217–46.
- FOERSTER 1877 Foerster R., De antiquitatibus et libris manuscriptis constantinopolitanis commendatio. Rostock 1877.
- FONKIČ 2000 Fonkič B. L., «Ἀθανάσιος Βελλεριανὸς καὶ Ἱερεμίας Περιστιανός. Ἀπὸ τὴν ἱστορία τῶν μεταξὺ τους σχέσεων». In Στ. Κακλαμάνης, Ἀ. Μαρκόπουλος καὶ Γ. Μαυρομάτης (eds.), Ἐνθύμησις Νικολάου Μ. Παναγιωτάκη. Heraklion 2000, 235–42.
- FOSKOLOS 2012 Φώσκολος Μ. π., «Παλαιὰ νομικά και νοταριακά έγγραφα ἀπὸ το Δουκάτο του Αἰγαίου (Νάξος-Σαντορίνη, 15ος–16ος αἰῶνας)», Ναξιακά 2 (2012) 119–47.
- FOTEINOS 1865 Φωτεινὸς Γ., Τὰ Νεαμονήσια. Δύο βιβλία, ὧν τὸ μὲν α΄, ἐκδοθὲν τῷ 1804 ὑπὸ τοῦ ἱεροδιδασκάλου Νικηφόρου, τὸ δὲ β΄, συνταχθὲν ὑπὸ τοῦ Καθηγουμένου Γρηγορίου Φωτεινοῦ, συνεξεδόθη μετὰ τοῦ α΄, διορθωθέντος ὑπὸ τοῦ αὐτοῦ. Chios 1865.
- GARBIS 1999 Γαρμπής Δ. Γ., «Νέες εἰδήσεις για τη μονή των Ἀγίων Φανέντων στην Κεφαλονιά και ένα ανέκδοτο (το αρχαιότερο ως τώρα) έγγραφο (15–10-1595)», Κεφαλληνιακά Χρονικά 8 (1999) 407–13.
- GAUTIER 1974 Gautier P., “Le typikon du Christ Sauveur Pantocrator”, Revue des Études Byzantines 32 (1974) 27–131.
- GAUTIER 1985 Gautier P., “Le typikon de la Théotokos Kécharitômenè”, Revue des Études Byzantines 43 (1985) 19–155.
- GAVALAS 1887 Γαβαλᾶς Ζ. Δ., «Φολέγανδρος», Δελτίον Ἱστορικῆς καὶ Ἐθνολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας τῆς Ἑλλάδος 2 (1887) 475–514.
- GEORGA-VOLONAKI 1974 Γεώργα-Βολονάκη Ε., «Συμαϊκὰ δικαιοπρακτικὰ ἔγγραφα τοῦ 18ου αἰῶνα», Τὰ Συμαϊκά 2 (1974) 200–45.
- GERLAND 1903 Gerland E., Neue Quellen zur Geschichte des lateinischen Erzbistums Patras. Leipzig 1903.
- GILL 1953 Gill J., Acta graeca Concilii Florentini cum versione latina. Rome 1953.
- GILLILAND WRIGHT/MACKEY 2007 Gilliland Wright D. – MacKay P. A., “When the Serenissima and the Gran Turco made love: the peace treaty of 1478”, Studi Veneziani 53 (2007) 261–77.
- GINIS 1966 Γκίνης Δ. Σ., Περίγραμμα ἱστορίας τοῦ μεταβυζαντινοῦ δικαίου. Athens 1966, 65–112.
- GIUNTA 1968 Giunta F., “Note di cronaca nell’ Ambrosianus Gr. 196”, Byzantinische Forschungen 3 (1968) 129–33 [= Polychordia. Festschrift Franz Dölger zum 75. Geburtstag, besorgt von P. Wirth. Amsterdam 1968].

- GOLDEN 1985 Golden P. B., "The Byzantine Greek elements in the Rasûlid Hexaglot", Archivum Eurasiae Medii Aevi 5 (1985) 41–166.
- GRANSTREM et al. 1976 Granstrem E. – Medvedev I. – Papachryssanthou D., "Fragments d'un praktikon de la région d'Athènes (avant 1204)", Revue des Études Byzantines 34 (1976) 5–44.
- GRAPSA 2006 Γράψα Ε. Δ., Γεώργιος Μπαρμπανίγος, Δημόσιος Νοτάριος της Αγίας Μαύρας. Βιβλίο πρώτο: 1707–1709. Προλεγόμενα Σ. Ι. Ασδραχάς. Lefkada 2006 [Γενικά Αρχεία του Κράτους, Αρχεία Νομού Λευκάδας, Νοταριακό Αρχείο, 1].
- GRASSO 1880 Grasso G., Documenti riguardanti la costituzione di una lega contro il Turco nel 1481. Genoa 1880.
- GRÉGOIRE 1909 Grégoire H., "Les veilleurs de nuit à Trébizonde (XIV^e siècle)", Byzantinische Zeitschrift 18 (1909) 489–99.
- GRÉGOIRE 1922 Grégoire H., Recueil des inscriptions grecques-chrétiennes d'Asie Mineure, publié sous les auspices de l'Académie des Inscriptions et Belles lettres. Paris 1922.
- GRITSOPOULOS 1950 Γριτσόπουλος Τ. Α., «Πωλητήρια καὶ ἄλλα ἔγγραφα τῆς παρὰ τὴν Δημητσάναν μονῆς τοῦ Φιλοσόφου (1626–1787)», Ἐπετηρίς τοῦ Ἀρχείου τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 3 (1950) 118–57.
- GRITSOPOULOS 1954 Γριτσόπουλος Τ. Α., «Ὁ Στασινὸς τῆς Ἄκοβας καὶ ἡ οἰκογένεια Λαμπαρδοπούλου τῆς Δημητσάνης», Ἑλληνικά 13 (1954) 131–59.
- GRITSOPOULOS 1957/58 Γριτσόπουλος Τ. Α., «Ἡ μονὴ τοῦ Φιλοσόφου κατὰ τοὺς ΙΣΤ' καὶ ΙΖ' αἰῶνας», Δελτίον Ἱστορικῆς καὶ Ἐθνολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας τῆς Ἑλλάδος 12 (1957–58) 103–36.
- GRITSOPOULOS 1960 Γριτσόπουλος Τ. Α., Μονὴ Φιλοσόφου. Athens 1960.
- GRITSOPOULOS 1968/69 Γριτσόπουλος Τ. Α., «Μονὴ Ἀγίου Νικολάου Κυνουρίας», Μνημοσύνη 2 (1968–69) 309–56.
- GRITSOPOULOS 1972 Γριτσόπουλος Τ. Α., «Σύμμεικτα Ἀρκαδικὰ Ι. Δικαιοπρακτικὰ ἔγγραφα Τριπολιτσᾶς, ΙΙ. Δικαιοπρακτικὰ ἔγγραφα μονῆς Προδρόμου», Γορτυνιακά 1 (1972) 143–226.
- GRITSOPOULOS 1994 Γριτσόπουλος Τ. Α., «Ἐγγραφα ΙΖ' καὶ ΙΗ' αἰώνων ἀπὸ τῆς Νάξου. Ἐκκλησιαστικὲς καὶ ἄλλες εἰδήσεις», Ἐπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Κυκλαδικῶν Μελετῶν 15 (1994) 333–411 [= Πρακτικὰ Α' Κυκλαδολογικοῦ Συνεδρίου, 1991].
- GUILLOU 1955 Guillou A., Les archives de Saint-Jean-Prodrome sur le Mont Ménéceé. Paris 1955 [Bibliothèque byzantine. Documents, 3].
- GUILLOU 1963 Guillou A., Les actes grecs de S. Maria di Messina. Enquête sur les actes grecs d'Italie du Sud et de Sicile (XI^e–XIV^e s.). Palermo 1963 [Istituto siciliano di studi bizantini e neoellenici. Testi e monumenti. Testi, 8].

- GUILLOU 1967 Guillou A., Saint-Nicolas de Donnoso (1031–1060/1061). Vatican 1967 [Corpus des actes grecs d'Italie du Sud et de Sicile, 1].
- GUILLOU 1968 Guillou A., Saint-Nicodème de Kellarana (1023/1024–1232). Vatican 1968 [Corpus des actes grecs d'Italie du Sud et de Sicile, 2].
- GUILLOU 1972a Guillou A., La Théotokos de Hagia-Agathé (Oppido): 1050–1064/1065. Vatican 1972 [Corpus des actes grecs d'Italie du Sud et de Sicile. Recherches d'histoire et de géographie, 3].
- GUILLOU 1972b Guillou A., Le brébion de la métropole byzantine de Règion (vers 1050). Vatican 1972 [Corpus des actes grecs d'Italie du Sud et de Sicile, 4].
- GUILLOU 1982 Guillou A., “Saint-Elie près de Luzzi en Calabre. Monastères byzantins inconnus du Xe siècle”, Rivista di studi bizantini e slavi 2 (1982) 3–11 [= Miscellanea Agostino Pertusi, vol. 2, Bologna 1984].
- GUILLOU 2009 Guillou A., Les actes grecs des fonds Aldobrandini et Miraglia (XIe–XIIIe s.). Vatican 2009 [Corpus des actes grecs d'Italie du Sud et de Sicile, 6].
- HANNICK 2014 Hannick C., Das Taktikon des Nikon vom Schwarzen Berge. Griechischer Text und kirchenslavische Übersetzung des 14. Jahrhunderts. Freiburg im Breisgau 2014 [Monumenta linguae Slavicae dialecti veteris 62, 1 & 2].
- HOFMANN 1928 HOFMANN G., Patmos und Rom: Darstellung der Beziehungen zwischen dem griechischen Johanneskloster und der römischen Kirche nach ungedruckten Quellenschriften. Rome 1928 [Orientalia Christiana, 11.2].
- HOFMANN 1936 Hofmann G., Vescovadi cattolici della Grecia, II: Tinos. Documenti con introduzione, 16 illustrazioni e con indici dei luoghi e delle persone. Rome 1936 [Orientalia Christiana Analecta, 107].
- HOLTZMANN 1926 Holtzmann W., “Die ältesten Urkunden des Klosters S. Maria del Patir”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 26 (1926) 328–51.
- HUNGER 1970 Hunger H., “Piraterie in der Aegaeis anno 1504. Brief Bajezids II. an Leonardo Loredan”, Byzantion 40 (1970) 361–76.
- HUNGER/KRESTEN 1981 Hunger H. – Kresten O., Das Register des Patriarchats von Konstantinopel, vol. 1: Edition und Übersetzung der Urkunden aus den Jahren 1315–1331. Vienna 1981 [Corpus Fontium Historiae Byzantinae, 19/1].
- HUNGER/VOGEL 1963 Hunger H. – Vogel K., Ein byzantinisches Rechenbuch des 15. Jahrhunderts. 100 Aufgaben aus dem Codex Vindobonensis phil. gr. 65. Text, Übersetzung und Kommentar. Vienna 1963 [Österreichische Akademie der Wissenschaften. Phil.-hist. Klasse. Denkschriften, 78. Abh. 2].

- HUNGER et al. 1995 Hunger H. – Kislinger E. – Kresten O. – Cupane C., Register des Patriarchats von Konstantinopel, vol. 2: Edition und Übersetzung der Urkunden aus den Jahren 1337–1350. Vienna 1995 [Corpus Fontium Historiae Byzantinae, 19/2].
- ILIAKIS 2008 Ἡλιάκης Κ., Παπα-Ἰωάννης Κατζαρᾶς. Νοτάριος Καστελίου Φουρνῆς. Κατάστιχο 43 (1607–1635), ἐπιμ. Γ. Κ. Μαυρομάτης – Δ. Γεωργακόπουλος. Heraklion 2008 [Βενετικές Πηγές τῆς Κρητικῆς Ἱστορίας, 9].
- ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002 Ἡλιάκης Κ. Μ. – Χρονάκη Δ., Πέτρος Πατσιδιώτης, νοτάριος Καινούργιου χωριού των Καρών: κατάστιχο (1546–1554). Neapoli (Crete) 2002.
- IMELLOS 1985/90 Ἡμέλλος Στ., «Παρατηρήσεις σὲ ἀνέκδοτο ἔγγραφο τῆς Τουρκοκρατίας ἀπὸ τῆ Μῆλο», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Κυκλαδικῶν Μελετῶν 13 (1985–90) 329–37.
- IOANNOU 1992 Ἰωάννου Τ., «Δεκαεννέα διαθήκες ἀπὸ τα μοναστηριακά ἀρχεῖα τῆς Σάμου (1692–1799)». In Αντιπελάργηση. Τιμητικός τόμος για τον Νικόλαο Α. Δημητρίου. Athens 1992, 449–78.
- IORGA 1915 Iorga N., Documente Grecești privitoare la Istoria Românilor, culese de Eudoxiu de Hurmuzaki, vol. 14: Publicate după originale, copile Academiei Române si tipăritur de N. Iorga. Partea I, 1320–1716. Bucharest 1915.
- KADAS 1988 Καδᾶς Σ. Ν., «Σημειώματα χειρογράφων των μονῶν του Αγίου Ὁρους (μονὴ Ξηροποτάμου)», Βυζαντινὰ 14 (1988) 307–82.
- KADAS 1991 Καδᾶς Σ. Ν., «Τα σημειώματα των χειρογράφων του Αγίου Ὁρους. Μονὴ Σίμωνος Πέτρως», Βυζαντινὰ 16 (1991) 263–302.
- KAKLAMANIS 1993 Κακλαμάνης Στ., Ἔρευνες γιὰ τὸ πρόσωπο καὶ τὴν ἐποχὴ τοῦ Γεωργίου Χορτάτση. Heraklion 1993.
- KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003 Κακλαμάνης Στ. – Λαμπάκης Στ., Μανουὴλ Γρηγορόπουλος, νοτάριος Χάνδακα 1506–1533: διαθήκες, ἀπογραφές, ἐκτιμήσεις. Heraklion 2003 [Βενετικές Πηγές τῆς Κρητικῆς Ἱστορίας, 1].
- KAKOULIDI 1958/59 Κακουλίδη Ἐ. Δ., «Ἐνα ξόρκι γιὰ τοὺς ποντικούς ἀπὸ τὸν 15ο αἰῶνα», Ἑλληνικά 16 (1958–59) 119–25. Reprinted in eadem, Συμβολές: Νεοελληνικά Μελετήματα. Ioannina 1982 [Ἔρευνες στὴ Νέα Ἑλληνικὴ Φιλολογία, 4], 197–202.
- KALITSOUNAKIS 1928 Καλितσουνάκης Ἰ. Ε., «Ἀνέκδοτα κρητικὰ συμβόλαια ἐκ τῆς ἐνετοκρατίας», Πρακτικά τῆς Ἀκαδημίας Ἀθηνῶν 3 (1928) 483–519.
- KALLIGEROS 2001 Καλλίγερος Εμμ. Π., Ληξιαρχικά βιβλία Κυθέρων. Ενορία Αγίου Ἰωάννου Προδρόμου Στραποδίου, 1687–1850. Athens 2001 [Ἑταιρεία Κυθηραϊκῶν Μελετῶν, 13].

- KALLINIKOS 1980 Καλλίνικος Π. Γ., «Ἡ διαθήκη ἐνὸς Θιακοκερκυραίου τοῦ δεκάτου ἔκτου αἰῶνα», Δελτίο Ἀναγνωστικῆς Ἑταιρείας Κερκύρας 17 (1980) 53–64.
- KALOPISSI-VERTI 1992 Kalopissi-Verti S., Dedicatory Inscriptions and Donor Portraits in Thirteenth-Century Churches of Greece. Vienna 1992 [Veröffentlichungen der Kommission für die Tabula Imperii Byzantini, 5; Österreichische Akademie der Wissenschaften, Philosophisch-historische Klasse, 226].
- KAMBOURIS 1976 Καμπούρης Λ. Ι., «Προικοννησιακὰ (Δύο κώδικες τῆς μητροπόλεως Προικοννήσου)», Byzantinisch-Neugriechische Jahrbücher 21 (1976) 193–222.
- KAMBOUROGLOU 1889 Καμπούρογλου Δ. Γ., Μνημεῖα τῆς Ἱστορίας τῶν Ἀθηναίων, vol. 1. Athens 1889, reprinted Athens 1993.
- KAMMAS 1974 Καμμάς Π., «Ἱστορικά ἔγγραφα τῆς Ἱερᾶς Μονῆς τοῦ Ἁγίου Παντελεήμονος Τήλου», Δωδεκανησιακὰ Χρονικά 3 (1974) 132–40.
- KANELLAKIS 1890 Κανελλάκης Κ. Ν., Χιακὰ Ἀνάλεκτα. Athens 1890, reprinted 1984 [Ἐκδοση «Χίος Ἡμερολόγιο»].
- KARADOCHOS 1990 Καπάδοχος Δ. Χ., Ἡ ἀπονομή τῆς δικαιοσύνης στὴν Κέρκυρα ἀπὸ τοὺς μεγάλους πρωτοπαπάδες τὴν ενετικὴ περίοδο (1604–1797) (σύμφωνα με ἀνέκδοτα ἔγγραφα τοῦ ἱστορικοῦ ἀρχείου Κερκύρας). PhD thesis, University of Athens 1990.
- KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998 Καραμπούλα Δ. Π. – Παπαρρήγα-Αρτεμιάδη Λ., «Οἱ πράξεις τοῦ νοταρίου Δουκάδων Κερκύρας Ἀρσένιου Ἀλεξάκη (1513–1516)», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Κέντρου Ἑρεύνης τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 34 (1998) 9–126.
- KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13 Καραμπούλα Δ. Π. – Ροδολάκης Γ. Ε., Ο Κώδικας Vaticanus Graecus 2369. Ναξιακὰ νοταριακὰ ἔγγραφα τοῦ Δουκάτου τοῦ Αἰγαίου καὶ τῆς Τουρκοκρατίας (1472–1598 καὶ 1702–1798). Athens 2012–13 [= Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Κέντρου Ἑρεύνης τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 44, Παράρτημα 12].
- KARANIKOLAS 1974 Καρανικόλας Ἀ. Σ., «Συμαϊκὸ ἔγγραφο τοῦ 18ου αἰῶνα μὲ φωνητικὴ γραφή», Τὰ Συμαϊκὰ 2 (1974) 135–41.
- KARATHANASIS 1972 Καραθανάσης Ἀ. Ε., «Συλλογὴ βενετικῶν ἐγγράφων γιὰ τὸν Ἥλια Μηνιάτη (1696–1710)», Ἑλληνικά 25 (1972) 314–34.
- KARATHANASIS 1972/73 Καραθανάσης Ἀ. Ε., «Δύο ἐπιστολὲς Ὑδραίων καὶ Σπετσιωτῶν πρὸς τὸν Φραγκίσκο Μοροζίνη (1659)», Μνημοσύνη 4 (1972–73) 237–41.
- KARATHANASIS 1973 Καραθανάσης Ἀ. Ε., «Ἀνέκδοτη ἀλληλογραφία τοῦ Fr. Morosini καὶ ἄλλων Βενετῶν μὲ Κρητικούς στὰ χρόνια τοῦ πολέμου (1659–1660)», Κρητικὰ Χρονικά 25 (1973) 21–124.

- KARAVIDAS 2004 Καραβίδας Β. Ε., «Εφτά ανέκδοτα σκιαθίτικα έγγραφα 1717–1742», Θεσσαλικό Ημερολόγιο 46 (2004) 241–54.
- KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06 Καρλάφτη-Μουρατίδη Φ., «Η μαθητεία στα επαγγέλματα στην Κέρκυρα το 17ο αι.», Έξω και Έσπέρια 6 (2004–2006) 133–47.
- KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005a Καρλάφτη-Μουρατίδη Φ., «Οικοδομική δραστηριότητα στην Κέρκυρα το 17ο αιώνα», Θησαυρίσματα 35 (2005) 341–69.
- KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005b Karlafti-Mouratidi Ph., Aspects de la vie économique à Corfou au milieu du 17ème siècle. Athens 2005.
- KARYDIS 1994 Καρύδης Σπ. Χρ., «Σκλάβοι στη βενετοκρατούμενη Κέρκυρα», Ίστωρ 7 (1994) 93–108.
- KARYDIS 1999a Καρύδης Σπ. Χρ., «Αντίγραφα νοταριακών πράξεων του 15ου αι. στα κατάστιχα του Κερκυραίου νοταρίου Ιερέα Σταματίου Κοντομάρη», Παρνασσός 41 (1999) 157–71.
- KARYDIS 1999b Καρύδης Σπ. Χρ., «Ορθόδοξοι ναοί της Κέρκυρας τον 15ο αιώνα», Βυζαντιανά 19 (1999) 265–307.
- KARYDIS 2001 Καρύδης Σπ. Χρ., Θεοδώρου Βρανιανίτη δημοσίου νοταρίου πόλεως και νήσου Κερκύρας οι σωζόμενες πράξεις (1479–1516). Athens 2001.
- KARYDIS 2004/06 Καρύδης Σπ. Χρ., «Άρχειακές μαρτυρίες για τη δραστηριότητα ζωγράφων στην Κέρκυρα και την άγιογράφιση ναών», Έξω και Έσπέρια 6 (2004–2006) 9–59.
- KARYDIS 2011 Καρύδης Σπ. Χρ., Ώψεις τῆς ἐκκλησιαστικῆς ὀργάνωσης στὸν βενετοκρατούμενο ἐλληνικὸ χῶρο. Α΄ Ζάκυνθος – Κέρκυρα – Κεφαλληνία – Κύθηρα – Πελοπόννησος. Athens 2011.
- KARYDIS 2016 Καρύδης Σπ. Χρ., «Συλλογικές Χορηγίες στην Κέρκυρα κατά την Πρώιμη Λατινοκρατία. Έπιγραφικά Τεκμήρια», Βυζαντινά Σύμμεικτα 26 (2016) 163–209.
- KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96 Καρύδης Σπ. – Τζιβάρα Π., «Ο ναός του Άγίου Λαζάρου πόλεως Κερκύρας καί ἡ κοινότητα τῶν ‘ἀδυνάτων’», Έξω και Έσπέρια 2 (1994–1996) 83–108.
- KASAPIDIS 1990 Κασαπίδης Δ. Ν., «Ο θεσμός του πατρινονίου μέσα από τέσσερεις παροχές πατρινονίου τῆς Καθολικῆς Ἐπισκοπῆς Θήρας τῶν ἐτῶν 1631, 1636 καὶ 1652», Ίστωρ 3 (1991) 53–64.
- KATSANIS 2012 Κατσάνης Ν. Α., Το γλωσσικό ιδίωμα της Θεσσαλονίκης στα τέλη του 17ου αιώνα, όπως αποτυπώνεται σε 12 επιστολές του Θεσσαλονικιού εμπόρου Δημ. Καστρίσιου. Thessaloniki 2012.
- KATSOUROΣ 1948 Κατσουρός Ά. Φ., Κουρσάροι καὶ σκλάβοι. Άνέκδοτα μυκονιάτικα καὶ συριανὰ ἔγγραφα. Syros 1948.
- KATSOUROΣ 1955 Κατσουρός Ά. Φ., «Ναξιακά δικαιοπρακτικά ἔγγραφα τοῦ 16ου αἰῶνος», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Ἀρχείου τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 5 (1955) 47–91.

- KATSOUROS 1958/59 Κατσουρός Ά. Φ., «Ναξιακά έγγραφα τῆς Τουρκοκρατίας. Δικαιοπραξίαι Ἰωάννου Γ᾽», Ἐπετηρίς τοῦ Ἀρχείου τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 8–9 (1958–59) 125–90.
- KATSOUROS 1968 Κατσουρός Ά. Φ., «Ναξιακά δικαιοπρακτικά έγγραφα τοῦ 17ου αἰῶνος», Ἐπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Κυκλαδικῶν Μελετῶν 7 (1968) 24–337.
- KATSOUROS 1971/73 Κατσουρός Ά. Φ., «Οἱ Τοῦρκοι τῆς Νάξου», Ἐπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Κυκλαδικῶν Μελετῶν 9 (1971–73) 152–80.
- KAVVADAS 1950 Καββάδας Στ. Δ., Οἱ κώδικες τῆς Χίου. Μέρος Α΄. Chios 1950.
- KAVVADAS 1969 Καββάδας Στ. Δ., «Ἐνθυμήσεις καὶ χρονικά ἀπὸ παλαιοῦς κώδικες χωρίων τῆς Χίου. Α΄», Χιακή Ἐπιθεώρησις 7 (1969) 155–9.
- KAVVADAS 1970 Καββάδας Στ. Δ., «Ἐνθυμήσεις καὶ χρονικά ἀπὸ παλαιοῦς κώδικες χωρίων τῆς Χίου. Β΄», Χιακή Ἐπιθεώρησις 8 (1970) 123–33.
- KAVVADAS 1976 Καββάδας Στ. Δ., «Περιπτώσεις ἐπαγγελματικῆς μαθητείας ἐν Χίῳ», Χιακὰ Χρονικά 8 (1976) 4–16.
- KAZANAKI 1974 Καζανάκη Μ., «Ἐκκλησιαστικὴ ξυλογλυπτικὴ στὸ Χάνδακα τὸ 17ο αἰῶνα. Νοταριακὰ έγγραφα (1606–1642)», Θησαυρίσματα 11 (1974) 251–83.
- KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73 Κεφαλληνιάδης Ν., «Ἡ μονὴ τοῦ Ἁγίου Γεωργίου Γρόττας», Ἐπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Κυκλαδικῶν Μελετῶν 9 (1971–73) 450–572.
- KEFALLINIADIS 1974/78 Κεφαλληνιάδης Ν., «Ποιμενικά Νάξου: ἐπιτόπιοι συνήθειαι ἐξ ἀνεκδότων ἐγγράφων», Ἐπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Κυκλαδικῶν Μελετῶν 10 (1974–78) 407–55.
- KLEOMVROTOS 1970 Κλεόμβροτος Ἰ. Γ., Mytilena Sacra. Τόμος Πρῶτος. Ἡ Ἱερὰ Μονὴ Ὑψηλοῦ, Ἱστορία – Τέχνη. Athens 1970.
- KODER 1964 Koder J., “Eine kretische Urkunde des 15. Jh.”. In J. Koder and E. Trapp (eds.), Ἀκροθίνια sodalium Seminarii Byzantini Vindobonensis Herberto Hunger oblata. Vienna 1964, 41–62.
- KODER et al. 2001 Koder J. – Hinterberger M. – Kresten O., Das Register des Patriarchats von Konstantinopel, vol. 3: Edition und Übersetzung der Urkunden aus den Jahren 1350–1363. Vienna 2001 [Corpus Fontium Historiae Byzantinae, 19/3].
- KOLYVA-KARALEKA 1977 Κολυβά-Καραλέκα Μ., «Ἀγνωστα στοιχεῖα (c. 1540–1578) γιὰ τὴ ζωὴ τοῦ Μονεμβασιώτη κωδικογράφου Γεωργίου Τρύφων», Λακωνικά Σπουδαί 3 (1977) 244–58.
- KONDOMICHIS 1957 Κοντομίχης Π., «Ἡ διαθήκη τοῦ Ἡπειρώτη δωρητῆ Χρ. Τζαγγρηῆ», Ἡπειρωτικὴ Ἑστία 6 (1977) 306–9.
- KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994 Κοντογιάννης Σπ. – Καρύδης Σπ., «Ἡ μονὴ Παλαιοκαστρίτσας Κερκύρας (Ἱστορικά ἐξ ἀνεκδότων ἐγγράφων)», Ἐπιστημονικὴ Ἐπετηρίς Θεολογικῆς Σχολῆς Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν 29 (1994) 591–705.

- KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996 Κονιδάρης Ι. Μ. – Ροδολάκης Γ., «Οι πράξεις του νοταρίου Κέρκυρας Ιωάννη Χοντρομάτη (1472–1473)», Ἐπετηρίς τοῦ Κέντρου Ἑρέυνης τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 32 (1996) 139–205.
- KONOMOS 1960 Κονόμος Ντ., «Ἱστορικά ἔγγραφα Ζακύνθου (ἀπὸ τὸ ἀνέκδοτο ἀρχεῖο τοῦ Λ. Χ. Ζώη)», Ἑπτανησιακὰ Φύλλα 4 (1960) 1–16.
- KONOMOS 1969a Κονόμος Ντ., «Αἴτηση καὶ ἄδεια τῆς συντεχνίας τῶν ναυτῶν γιὰ τὴν ἴδρυση τῆς ἐκκλησίας της, Ἅγιος Νικόλαος τοῦ Μώλου (21 Μαρτίου 1561)», Ἑπτανησιακὰ Φύλλα 7 (1969) 33–5.
- KONOMOS 1969b Κονόμος Ντ., «Ἀνέκδοτη διαθήκη Ἀνδριανῆς Ἀντ. Βλαστοῦ (21 Ἰανουαρίου 1600)», Ἑπτανησιακὰ Φύλλα 7 (1969) 36–7.
- KONOMOS 1969c Κονόμος Ντ., «Ἀνέκδοτο συμφωνητικὸ γιὰ τὴν κατασκευὴ μιᾶς φρεγάδας (10 Νοεμβρίου 1708)», Ἑπτανησιακὰ Φύλλα 7 (1969) 38–9.
- KONOMOS 1969d Κονόμος Ντ., «Συμφωνία καπεταναίων τῆς Ζακύνθου γιὰ νὰ ‘κουρσέψουν τὸν κοινὸν ἔχθρὸν μέσα ἀπὸ τὰ καστέλια τοῦ Ἐπάκτου’ (21 Νοεμβρίου 1716)», Ἑπτανησιακὰ Φύλλα 7 (1969) 41–2.
- KONOMOS 1969e Κονόμος Ντ., «Ἀνέκδοτα ἱστορικά ἔγγραφα Ζακύνθου (1515–1815)», Ἑπτανησιακὰ Φύλλα 7 (1969) 59–71.
- KONOMOS 1969f Κονόμος Ντ., «Ὁ Ἅγιος Ἰωάννης καὶ Εὐαγγελιστὴς τῆς Πάτμου (Ἀνέκδοτα κείμενα τοῦ μετοχίου τῆς Μονῆς Πάτμου στὴ Ζάκυνθο)», Ἑπτανησιακὰ Φύλλα 7 (1969) 75–7.
- KONOMOS 1969g Κονόμος Ντ., «Ἡ ἐκπαίδευση στὴ Ζάκυνθο (1509–1567)», Ἑπτανησιακὰ Φύλλα 7 (1969) 128–32.
- KONOMOS 1969h Κονόμος Ντ., «Συμβολαιογραφικὴ πράξη τοῦ 1550», Ἑπτανησιακὰ Φύλλα 7 (1969) 133–4.
- KONOMOS 1969i Κονόμος Ντ., «Ἀπὸ τὸν ἀνέκδοτο κώδικα τῆς Θεοτόκου Ἀναφωνήτριας (δύο συμβόλαια τοῦ 1562 καὶ 1563)», Ἑπτανησιακὰ Φύλλα 7 (1969) 135–7.
- KONOMOS 1969j Κονόμος Ντ., «Ἅγιον Ὅρος καὶ Ζάκυνθος. Μία ἐπιτροπικὴ τοῦ 1660», Ἑπτανησιακὰ Φύλλα 7 (1969) 139–40.
- KONOMOS 1969k Κονόμος Ντ., Ἅγιος Διονύσιος, ὁ πολιοῦχος Ζακύνθου. Athens 1969.
- KONOMOS 1970a Κονόμος Ντ., Ζακυνθινὰ χρονικά (1485–1953). Athens 1970.
- KONOMOS 1970b Κονόμος Ντ., «Ἀνέκδοτα ζακυνθινὰ ἔγγραφα (1547–1826)», Ὁ Ἐραnistῆς 8 (1970) 226–42.
- KONSTANDOUDAKI 1975 Κωνσταντουδάκη Μ. Γ., «Μαρτυρίες ζωγραφικῶν ἔργων στὸ Χάνδακα σὲ ἔγγραφα τοῦ 16ου καὶ 17ου αἰῶνα», Θησαυρίσματα 12 (1975) 35–136.
- KORRE 2008 Κορρέ Κ. Β., «Ἕλληνες στρατιῶτες στὸ Bergamo. Οἱ πολιτικὲς προεκτάσεις ἐνὸς ἐκκλησιαστικοῦ ζητήματος (1622–1624)», Θησαυρίσματα 38 (2008) 289–336.

- KORRES 1931 Κορρές Στ. Γ., «Ἀνέκδοτα ἔγγραφα τῶν Φράγκων τῆς Νάξου», Byzantinisch-Neugriechische Jahrbücher 8 (1931) 266–305.
- KOSTIS 1901 Κωστής Ν. Κ. Χ., «Ἀποσπάσματα ἐκ συμυρναϊκοῦ κώδικος», Δελτίον Ἱστορικῆς καὶ Ἐθνολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας τῆς Ἑλλάδος 6 (1901) 164–85.
- KOUTELAKIS 1979 Κουτελάκης Χ. Μ., Ἱστορικὸ ἀρχεῖο νήσου Τήλου. Athens 1979 [Στέγη Γραμμάτων καὶ Τεχνῶν Δωδεκανήσου, Σειρά Αὐτοτελῶν Ἐκδόσεων, 9].
- KOUTELAKIS 1981 Κουτελάκης Χ. Μ., «Τὰ ἐλαιοτριβεῖα τῆς Καλύμνου καὶ ἡ διαμάχη τῆς Μονῆς τοῦ Ἁγίου Ἰωάννου Θεολόγου Πάτμου μὲ τὴ Μονὴ τοῦ Ἁγίου Παντελεήμονα Τήλου», Καλυμνιακὰ Χρονικά 2 (1981) 27–37.
- KRAVARI 1987 Kravari V., “Nouveaux documents du monastère de Philothéou”, Travaux et Mémoires 10 (1987) 261–356.
- KRAVARI 1991 Kravari V., Actes de Pantocrator. Paris 1991 [Archives de l’Athos, 17].
- KRUMBACHER 1895 Krumbacher K., “Michael Glykas. Eine Skizze seiner Biographie und seiner litterarischen Thätigkeit nebst einem unedierten Gedichte und Briefe Desselben”, Sitzungsberichte der philosophisch-philologischen und der historischen Classe der königlichen bayerischen Akademie der Wissenschaften, 1894. Heft III. Munich 1895.
- KYRRIS 1987 Kyrris C. P., The Kanakaria Documents 1666–1850: Sale and Donation Deeds Edited with Introduction and Commentary. Nicosia 1987 [Cyprus Research Centre, Texts and Commentaries of the history of Cyprus, 14].
- LAIIOU 1982 Laiou A., “The Greek merchant of the Palaeologan period: a collective portrait”, Πρακτικά τῆς Ἀκαδημίας Ἀθηνῶν 57 (1982) 96–132. Reprinted in eadem, Gender, Society and Economic Life in Byzantium. Aldershot 1992, no. VIII.
- LAMBROS 1885 Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., «Ἀνέκδοτος διήγησις περὶ τῆς ἐν ἔτει 1650 παρὰ τὴν Θήραν ἐκρήξεως», Δελτίον Ἱστορικῆς καὶ Ἐθνολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας τῆς Ἑλλάδος 2 (1885) 107–11.
- LAMBROS 1895 Lambros S. P., “Das Testament des Neilos Damilas”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 4 (1895) 585–9.
- LAMBROS 1904a Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., «Μάρκου μοναχοῦ Σερρῶν Ζήτησις περὶ βουλκολάκων», Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 1 (1904) 336–52.
- LAMBROS 1904b Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., «Συμπληρώματα εἰς τοὺς Ἀθηναίους βιβλιογράφους καὶ κτήτορας κωδίκων κατὰ τοὺς μέσους χρόνους καὶ ἐπὶ Τουρκοκρατίας», Ἐπετηρὶς Φιλολογικοῦ Συλλόγου Παρνασσός 8 (1904) 1–16.
- LAMBROS 1905 Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., «Ὁ κατὰ τὸν δέκατον ἔβδομον αἰῶνα εἰς τὴν Τοσκάναν ἐξοικισμὸς τῶν Μανιατῶν», Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 2 (1905) 396–434.

- LAMBROS 1907 Λάμπρος Σπ., “Δουκικὸν γράμμα Ἰακώβου Κρίσπη Β΄ τοῦ Δουκὸς τοῦ Αἰγαίου”, Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 4 (1907) 467–75.
- LAMBROS 1908a Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., «Ἑλληνικὰ δημόσια γράμματα τοῦ σουλτάνου Βαγιαζήτ Β΄», Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 5 (1908) 155–89.
- LAMBROS 1908b Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., «Διαθήκη τοῦ ιζ΄ αἰῶνος», Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 5 (1908) 339–40.
- LAMBROS 1908c Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., «Δύο ἑλληνικὰ ἔγγραφα ἐκ τῶν ἀρχείων τῆς Βενετίας», Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 5 (1908) 479–81.
- LAMBROS 1909a Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., «Ναυπλιακὸν ἔγγραφον τοῦ οἴκου Πουλομάτη ἐν ἔτει 1509 καὶ ὁ βιβλιογράφος Μιχαὴλ Σουλιάρδος», Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 6 (1909) 273–83.
- LAMBROS 1909b Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., «Τρία ἔγγραφα τῆς ἐν Ἀνδρῶ μονῆς τοῦ Ἀγίου Νικολάου», Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 6 (1909) 243–6.
- LAMBROS 1910 Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., «Ἐνθυμήσεων ἤτοι χρονικῶν σημειωμάτων συλλογὴ», Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 7 (1910) 113–313.
- LAMBROS 1916a Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., «Τραπεζουντιακὸν ὠροσκόπιον τοῦ ἔτους 1336», Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 13 (1916) 33–50.
- LAMBROS 1916b Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., «Χρονικὰ σημειώματα ἐξ Ἡπείρου», Νέος Ἑλληνομνήμων 13 (1916) 134–6.
- LAMBROS 1930 Λάμπρος Σπ. Π., Παλαιολογία καὶ Πελοποννησιακά, vol. 4. Athens 1930.
- LAPPA-ZIZIKA/RIZOU-KOUROPOU 1991 Λάππα-Ζιζίκα Εὐρ. – Ρίζου-Κουρουπού Μ., Κατάλογος ἑλληνικῶν χειρογράφων τοῦ Μουσείου Μπενάκη (10ος–16ος αἰ.). Athens 1991.
- LASKARIS 1957 Λάσκαρις Μ. Θ., «Ἐκκλήσεις τοῦ ἐπισκόπου Μάνης Νεοφύτου πρὸς τοὺς Ἰσπανοὺς (1612–1613) διὰ τὴν ἀπελευθέρωσιν τῆς Πελοποννήσου», Ἑλληνικά 15 (1957) 293–310.
- LATYSHEV 1896 Latyshev V., Sbornik grecheskikh nadpisei khristianskikh vremen iz iuzhnoi Rossii. St. Petersburg 1896.
- LEFORT 1973 Lefort J., Actes d'Esphigménou. Édition diplomatique, Paris 1973 [Archives de l'Athos, 6].
- LEFORT 1981 Lefort J., Documents grecs dans les archives de Topkapı Sarayı. Contribution à l'histoire de Cem Sultan. Ankara 1981.
- LEFORT et al. 1985 Lefort J. – Oikonomidès N. – Papachryssanthou D. – Métrévélī H., Actes d'Iviron, vol. 1: Des origines au milieu du XIe siècle. Paris 1985 [Archives de l'Athos, 14].
- LEFORT et al. 1990 Lefort J. – Oikonomidès N. – Papachryssanthou D. – Kravari V. – Métrévélī H., Actes d'Iviron, vol. 2: Du milieu du XIe siècle à 1204. Paris 1990 [Archives de l'Athos, 16].
- LEFORT et al. 1994 Lefort J. – Oikonomidès N. – Papachryssanthou D. – Kravari V. – Métrévélī H., Actes d'Iviron, vol. 3: De 1204 à 1328. Paris 1994 [Archives de l'Athos, 18].

- LEFORT et al. 1995 Lefort J. – Oikonomidès N. – Papachryssanthou D. – Kravari V., Actes d'Iviron, vol. 4: De 1328 au début du XVI^e siècle. Paris 1995 [Archives de l'Athos, 19].
- LEFORT et al. 2006 Lefort J. – Kravari V. – Giros Chr. – Smyrlis K., Actes de Vatopédi, vol. 2: De 1330 à 1376. Paris 2006 [Archives de l'Athos, 22].
- LEGRAND 1903 Legrand É., Recueil de documents grecs concernant les relations du Patriarchat de Jérusalem avec la Roumanie (1569–1728). Seconde édition revue et corrigée, Paris 1903 [Bibliothèque grecque vulgaire, 7].
- LEHFELDT 1989 Lehfeldt W., Eine Sprachlehre von der Hohen Pforte. Ein arabisch-persisch-griechisch-serbisches Gesprächslehrbuch vom Hofe des Sultans aus dem 15. Jahrhundert als Quelle für die Geschichte der serbischen Sprache. Mit Beiträgen von T. Berger, C. Correll, G. S. Henrich, W. Lehfeldt. Cologne and Vienna 1989 [Slavistische Forschungen, 57].
- LEMERLE 1977 Lemerle P., “Le testament d'Eustathios Boilas (avril 1059)”. In idem, Cinq études sur le XI^e siècle byzantin. Paris 1977, 13–63.
- LEMERLE 1988 Lemerle P., Actes de Kutlumus. Nouvelle édition remaniée et augmentée. Paris 1988 [Archives de l'Athos, 22].
- LEMERLE et al. 1970 Lemerle P. – Guillou A. – Svoronos N. – Papachryssanthou D., Actes de Lavra, vol. 1: Des origines à 1204. Paris 1970 [Archives de l'Athos, 5].
- LEMERLE et al. 1977 Lemerle P. – Guillou A. – Svoronos N. – Papachryssanthou D., Actes de Lavra, vol. 2: De 1204 à 1328. Édition diplomatique. Paris 1977 [Archives de l'Athos, 8].
- LEMERLE et al. 1979 Lemerle P. – Guillou A. – Svoronos N. – Papachryssanthou D., Actes de Lavra, vol. 3: De 1329 à 1500. Édition diplomatique. Paris 1979 [Archives de l'Athos, 10].
- LEMERLE et al. 1982 Lemerle P. – Dagron G. – Ćirković S., Actes de Saint-Pantéléèmon. Édition diplomatique. Paris 1982 [Archives de l'Athos, 12].
- LIATA 1975 Λιάτα Ε. Δ., «Μαρτυρίες για την πτώση τ' Αναπλιού στους Τούρκους (9 Ιούλη 1715)», Μνήμων 5 (1975) 101–56.
- LIATA 1976 Λιάτα Ε. Δ., «Ἱερεῖς τῶν Ἑλλήνων τῆς Βενετίας ἀπὸ 1412–1558 (Κατάλογος καὶ ἔγγραφα)», Θησαυρίσματα 13 (1976) 85–110.
- LIATA 1986 Λιάτα Ε. Δ., Η Σέριφος κατά την Τουρκοκρατία (17ος–19ος αιώνες). Συμβολή στη μελέτη των κοινωνικών και οικονομικών δομών και του κοινοτικού συστήματος. Διδακτορική διατριβή. Rethymno 1986.

- LIATA 1998a Λιάτα Ε. Δ., «Ὅψεις τῆς κοινωνίας τ' Ἀναπλιῶν στὶς ἀρχές τοῦ 18ου αἰῶνα (μὲ ἀφορμὴ μιὰ διαθήκη)». In Ν. Παναγιωτάκης† (ed.), Ἄνθη χαρίτων: μελετήματα ἐόρτια συγγραφέντα ὑπὸ τῶν ὑποτρόφων τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Ἰνστιτούτου Βυζαντινῶν καὶ Μεταβυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν τῆς Βενετίας. Venice 1998 [Βιβλιοθήκη τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Ἰνστιτούτου Βυζαντινῶν καὶ Μεταβυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν Βενετίας, 18], 246–69.
- LIATA 1998b Λιάτα Ε. Δ., «Ἐνα ἐργαστήρι τ' Ἀναπλιῶν στὴ Βενετοκρατία (1712–1715)», Ναυπλιακὰ Ανάλεκτα 3 (1998) 229–58.
- LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011 Λίτσας Ε. Κ. – Λεοντιάδου Ε. Χ., Δημήτριος Φαρμάκης, νοτάριος καὶ πρωτοπαπὰς Ἀγίου Μαθαίου Κερκύρας. Πρωτόκολλο τῶν ἐτῶν 1515–1525. Thessaloniki 2011.
- LYDAKI 2000 Λυδάκη Εἰρ., «Ἀφορισμοὶ στὴ βενετοκρατούμενη Κρήτη τοῦ 17ου αἰῶνα». In Πεπραγμένα Ἡ' Διεθνοῦς Κρητολογικοῦ Συνεδρίου, vol. Β1. Heraklion 2000, 399–426.
- MALTEZOU 1968 Μαλτέζου Χρ., «Ἄγνωστοι εἰδήσεις (1539–1540) περὶ Μητροφάνους Μονεμβασίας ἐκ τοῦ ἀρχείου τοῦ Δούκα τῆς Κρήτης», Θησαυρίσματα 5 (1968) 32–44.
- MALTEZOU 1970 Μαλτέζου Χρ., «Τὰ λατινικὰ ἔγγραφα τοῦ Πατμιακοῦ Ἀρχείου», Σύμμεικτα 2 (1970) 349–78.
- MALTEZOU 1975 Μαλτέζου Χρ., «Ἡ κρητικὴ οἰκογένεια Κλαδούρη καὶ τὸ συμβούλιο τῶν εὐγενῶν στὰ Κύθηρα», Θησαυρίσματα 12 (1975) 257–91.
- MALTEZOU 1983 Μαλτέζου Χρ., «Προσωπογραφικὰ βυζαντινῆς Πελοποννήσου καὶ ξενοκρατούμενου ἑλληνικοῦ χώρου (μὲ ἀφορμὴ τὸν φάκελο Foscarì τῆς Βενετίας)», Σύμμεικτα 5 (1983) 1–27.
- MALTEZOU 1987 Μαλτέζου Χρ., «Τρία κυπριακὰ ἀφιερωτήρια ἔγγραφα. Συμβολὴ στὴ μελέτη τῆς λατινοκρατούμενης Κύπρου», Σύμμεικτα 7 (1987) 1–17.
- MALTEZOU 1989 Μαλτέζου Χρ., «Σύμβαση ἱδρύσεως χωριοῦ στὴν Κρήτη (1622)», Ἀριάδνη 5 (1989) 353–61.
- MALTEZOU 1991a Μαλτέζου Χρ., «Ἀρχειακὲς μαρτυρίες γιὰ πέντε μεταβυζαντινοὺς ναοὺς τῆς Κέρκυρας». In Εὐφρόσυνον. Ἀφιέρωμα στὸν Μανόλη Χατζηδάκη, vol. 1. Athens 1991, 309–20.
- MALTEZOU 1991b Μαλτέζου Χρ., «Μονεμβασία καὶ Κύθηρα». In eadem, Βενετικὴ παρουσία στὰ Κύθηρα. Ἀρχειακὲς μαρτυρίες. Athens 1991, no. ΙΓ', 1–9.
- MALTEZOU 1995 Μαλτέζου Χρ., “From Crete to Jerusalem: the will of a Cretan Jew (1626)”, Mediterranean Historical Review 10: 1 (1995), 189–201.
- MALTEZOU 2000 Μαλτέζου Χρ., «Οἱ ἀμπασαδόροι τῆς Μεγάλης Μοσχοβίας στὴ Βενετία καὶ ὁ Κρητικὸς Πόλεμος», Θησαυρίσματα 30 (2000) 9–20.

- MALTEZOU 2004 Μαλτέζου Χρ., Ἄννα Παλαιολογίνα Νοταρά. Μιά τραγική μορφή ανάμεσα στὸν βυζαντινὸ καὶ τὸν νέο ἑλληνικὸ κόσμο. Venice 2004 [Βιβλιοθήκη τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Ἰνστιτούτου Βυζαντινῶν καὶ Μεταβυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν Βενετίας, 23].
- MANOUSAKAS 1940 Μανούσakas Μ. Ι., «Ἡ διαθήκη τοῦ Φιλοθέου Σκούφου», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Κρητικῶν Σπουδῶν 3 (1940) 297–307.
- MANOUSAKAS 1960 Μανούσakas Μ. Ι., «Στέφανος Κατράριος, ὁ πρῶτος γνωστὸς Ἑλληνας νοτάριος τῆς Χίου». In Εἰς μνήμην Κ. Ἰ. Ἀμάντου. Athens 1960, 265–71.
- MANOUSAKAS 1960/61 Μανούσakas Μ. Ι., «Ἡ διαθήκη τοῦ Ἀγγέλου Ἀκοτάντου (1436), ἀγνώστου Κρητικοῦ ζωγράφου», Δελτίον τῆς Χριστιανικῆς Ἀρχαιολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας, περ. Δ', 2 (1960–61) 139–51.
- MANOUSAKAS 1962a Μανούσakas Μ. Ι., «Ἐνα παλιὸ (1420;) ἰδιωτικὸ γράμμα σὲ κρητικὴ διάλεκτο. Τὰ παράπονα τοῦ ξενιτεμένου Μανουὴλ Χαντακίτη γιὰ τὴν ἀπονιὰ τοῦ πατέρα του», Κρητικὴ Πρωτοχρονιά 2 (1962) 35–9.
- MANOUSAKAS 1962b Μανούσakas Μ. Ι., «Ἡ πρώτη ἐμπορικὴ παροικία τῶν Βενετῶν στὰ Παλάτια (Μίλητο) τῆς Μ. Ἀσίας (Ἐνα ἑλληνικὸ ἔγγραφο τοῦ 1355)», Δελτίον τῆς Χριστιανικῆς Ἀρχαιολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας, περ. Δ', 3 (1962) 231–9.
- MANOUSAKAS 1963a Μανούσakas Μ. Ι., «Ἀνέκδοτα βενετικὰ ἔγγραφα (1618–1639) γιὰ τὸν Ἰωάννη-Ἀνδρέα Τρώιλο, τὸν ποιητὴ τοῦ Ῥοδολίνου», Θησαυρίσματα 2 (1963) 63–77.
- MANOUSAKAS 1963b Μανούσakas Μ. Ι., «Ἡ παρουσίαση ἀπὸ τὸν ἱανὸ Λάσκαρη τῶν πρώτων μαθητῶν τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Γυμνασίου τῆς Ρώμης στὸν πάπα Λέοντα Ι' (15 Φεβρουαρίου 1514)», Ὁ Ἑρανιστὴς 1 (1963) 161–72.
- MANOUSAKAS 1964 Μανούσakas Μ. Ι., «Ἑλληνικὰ νοταριακὰ ἔγγραφα (1374–1446) ἀπὸ τὰ Atti antichi τοῦ Ἀρχείου τοῦ Δούκα τῆς Κρήτης», Θησαυρίσματα 3 (1964) 73–102.
- MANOUSAKAS 1965 Μανούσakas Μ. Ι., «Ἀνέκδοτος ἐπιστολὴ καὶ ἀγνώστος εἰκὼν τοῦ Φιλοθέου Σκούφου». In Χαριστήριον εἰς Ἀναστάσιον Κ. Ὀρλάνδον, vol. 1. Athens 1965, 261–77.
- MANOUSAKAS 1967 Μανούσakas Μ. Ι., «Ἀνέκδοτα σημειώματα καὶ ἔγγραφα (1506–1521) τοῦ νοταρίου Ζακύνθου Θεοδώρου Ραφτοπούλου». In Πρακτικὰ Τρίτου Πανιονίου Συνεδρίου, vol. 1. Athens 1967, 213–27.
- MANOUSAKAS 1969 Μανούσakas Μ. Ι., «Συλλογὴ ἀνεκδότων ἐγγράφων (1578–1685) ἀναφερομένων εἰς τοὺς ἐν Βενετίᾳ μητροπολίτας Φιλαδελφείας», Θησαυρίσματα 6 (1969) 7–112.
- MANOUSAKAS 1970 Μανούσakas Μ. Ι., «Ἐγγραφα ἀγνώστων νοταρίων τοῦ Ρεθέμνου (1535–50)», Κρητικὰ Χρονικά 22 (1970) 285–97.

- MANOUSAKAS 1984 Μανούσας Μ. Ι., «Μιά διαθήκη ἀπὸ τὸ Ναύπλιο (1534) μὲ πλούσιο γλωσσικὸ ὕλικό». In Ἀντίχαρη. Ἀφιέρωμα στὸν καθηγητὴ Σταμάτη Καρατζᾶ. Athens 1984, 257–69.
- MANOUSAKAS 1992 Μανούσας Μ. Ι., «Τὸ μοναδικὸ ἑλληνικὸ προικοσύμφωνο (1548) ἀπὸ τὰ Χανιά», Μεσαιωνικά καὶ Νέα Ἑλληνικά 4 (1992) 7–21.
- MANOUSAKAS/SKOULAS 1993 Μανούσας Μ. Ι. – Σκουλάς Ι. Γ.†, Τὰ ληξιαρχικά βιβλία τῆς Ἑλληνικῆς Ἀδελφότητος Βενετίας. Α. Πράξεις Γάμων (1599–1815). Venice 1993.
- MANOUSSACAS 1976 Manoussacas M., “Sept lettres inédites (1492–1503) du recueil retrouvé de Jean Grégoropoulos”, Θησαυρίσματα 13 (1976) 7–39.
- MANOUSSACAS 1981 Manoussacas M., “Un acte de donation à l’église Sainte-Kyriaké de Mouchli (1457)”, Travaux et Mémoires 8 (1981) 315–19.
- MARKOS 1977 Μάρκος Γ., «Τρία ἰδιόγραφα γράμματα τοῦ νοταρίου Θηβῶν (16ος αἰὼν) Μανουὴλ Μαλαξοῦ καὶ ἡ ἐκ τῆς Βατικανῆς Βιβλιοθήκης διέλευσίς του», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Κέντρου Ἑρέυνας τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 22 (1975) 16–37.
- MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005 Μαρμαρέλη Τ. – Δρακάκης Μ. Γ., Μιχαὴλ Μαῤῥας, Νοτάριος Χάνδακα. Κατάστιχο 149. Τόμος Β΄ (1 Ἀπριλίου–28 Ἰουνίου 1549). Heraklion 2005 [Βενετικὲς Πηγὲς τῆς Κρητικῆς Ἱστορίας, 4].
- MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006 Μαρμαρέλη Τ. – Δρακάκης Μ. Γ., Μιχαὴλ Μαῤῥας, Νοτάριος Χάνδακα. Κατάστιχο 149. Τόμος Γ΄ (1 Ἰουλίου–28 Σεπτεμβρίου 1549). Heraklion 2006 [Βενετικὲς Πηγὲς τῆς Κρητικῆς Ἱστορίας, 5].
- MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009 Μαρμαρέλη Τ. – Δρακάκης Μ. Γ., Μιχαὴλ Μαῤῥας, Νοτάριος Χάνδακα. Κατάστιχο 149. Τόμος Δ΄ (1 Ὀκτωβρίου–31 Δεκεμβρίου 1549). Heraklion 2010 [Βενετικὲς Πηγὲς τῆς Κρητικῆς Ἱστορίας, 9].
- MARUHN 1981 Maruhn J., Eine zyprische Fassung eherechtlicher Titel der Epitome. Frankfurt am Main 1981 [Forschungen zur byzantinischen Rechtsgeschichte, 7: Fontes minores, 4], 218–55.
- MAVROEIDI 1978 Μαυροειδῆ Φ. Δ., «Κοινωνία καὶ διοίκηση στὰ Κύθηρα στὶς ἀρχὲς τοῦ 17ου αἰῶνα», Δωδώνη 7 (1978) 141–69.
- MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971 Μαυροειδῆ-Πλουμίδη Φ., «Ἐγγραφα ἀναφερόμενα στὶς ἔριδες τῶν Ἑλλήνων τῆς Βενετίας στὰ τέλη τοῦ 16ου αἰῶνα», Θησαυρίσματα 8 (1971) 115–87.
- MAVROMATIS 1979 Μαυρομάτης Γ. Κ., «Ἑλληνικά ἔγγραφα (δωρητήριο καὶ διαθήκες) τῆς μητέρας, τῆς κόρης καὶ τῆς ἐγγονῆς τοῦ Βισσέντσου Ἰακ. Κορνάρου», Θησαυρίσματα 16 (1979) 206–54.

- MAVROMATIS 1986 Μαυρομάτης Γ. Κ., Ἀνέκδοτα βενετικά ἔγγραφα γιὰ τοὺς Κορνάρους τῆς Σητείας καὶ τοῦ Χάνδακα: διαθήκες μελῶν τῆς οἰκογενείας τοῦ Ἰακώβου Κορνάρου. Athens 1986.
- MAVROMATIS 1988 Μαυρομάτης Γ. Κ., «Δύο προικοσύμφωνα ἀπὸ τῆ Σητεία τοῦ ΙΖ΄ αἰῶνα». In Σύνδειπνον. Τιμητικό ἀφιέρωμα στὸν καθηγητὴ Δημήτριο Σ. Λουκάτο ἀπὸ παλαιούς μαθητές του στὴ Φιλοσοφικὴ Σχολὴ Ἰωαννίνων (1964–1969). Ioannina 1988, 157–63.
- MAVROMATIS 1990 Μαυρομάτης Γ. Κ., «Ἡ βιβλιοθήκη καὶ ἡ κινητὴ περιουσία τῆς κρητικῆς μονῆς Βαρσαμονέρου (1644)», Θησαυρίσματα 20 (1990) 458–99.
- MAVROMATIS 1994a Μαυρομάτης Γ. Κ., Ἰωάννης Ὀλόκαλος, νοτάριος Ἱεράπετρας. Κατάστιχο (1496–1543). Venice 1994 [Ἑλληνολατικὴ Ἀνατολή – Oriens Graecolatinus, 1].
- MAVROMATIS 1994b Μαυρομάτης Γ. Κ., «Κι ἄλλες ἑλληνικὲς διαθήκες μελῶν τῆς οἰκογενείας τοῦ Ἰακώβου Cornaro». In Λοιβὴ εἰς μνήμην Ἀνδρέα Γ. Καλοκαιρινοῦ. Heraklion 1994, 159–76.
- MAVROMATIS 1998 Μαυρομάτης Γ. Κ., «Νέες εἰδήσεις γιὰ τὸν ποιητὴ τοῦ «Φορτουνάτου» Μάρκο Ἀντώνιο Φόσκολο». In N. Παναγιωτάκης† (ed.), Ἄνθη χαρίτων: μελετήματα ἐόρτια συγγραφέντα ὑπὸ τῶν ὑποτρόφων τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Ἰνστιτούτου Βυζαντινῶν καὶ Μεταβυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν τῆς Βενετίας. Venice 1998 [Βιβλιοθήκη τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Ἰνστιτούτου Βυζαντινῶν καὶ Μεταβυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν Βενετίας, 18], 305–15.
- MAVROMATIS 2000 Μαυρομάτης Γ. Κ., «Εἰδήσεις γιὰ τὰ νεανικὰ χρόνια τοῦ Ἀγαπίου Λάνδου». In Στ. Κακλαμάνης, Ἀ. Μαρκόπουλος καὶ Γ. Μαυρομάτης (eds.), Ἐνθύμησις Νικολάου Μ. Παναγιωτάκη, Heraklion 2000, 505–18.
- MAVROMATIS 2004 Μαυρομάτης Γ. Κ., «Ἀρχειακὲς μαρτυρίες γιὰ τὸν μουσικὸ καὶ πρωτοψάλτη Χάνδακα Δημήτριο Νταμία», Θησαυρίσματα 34 (2004) 319–38.
- MAVROMATIS 2006 Μαυρομάτης Γ. Κ., Μιχαὴλ Μαῤῥς, Νοτάριος Χάνδακα. Κατάστιχο 148 (2 Μαρτίου–31 Αὐγούστου 1538). Τόμος Β΄. Heraklion 2006 [Βενετικὲς Πηγὲς τῆς Κρητικῆς Ἱστορίας, 7].
- MAVROMATIS 2009 Μαυρομάτης Γ. Κ., Μιχαὴλ Μαῤῥς, Νοτάριος Χάνδακα. Κατάστιχο 148. 2 Σεπτεμβρίου 1538–28 Φεβρουαρίου 1539 (m.v. 1538). Τόμος Γ΄. Heraklion 2009 [Βενετικὲς Πηγὲς τῆς Κρητικῆς Ἱστορίας, 8].
- MAVROMATIS/ALEXAKIS 2009 Mavromatis G. K., – Alexakis A., «Τὰ Acta τῆς Μονῆς Βαζελώνος στὰ κατάλοιπα τοῦ Ν. Μ. Παναγιωτάκη καὶ οἱ προοπτικὲς γιὰ μιὰ νέα ἐκδόσή τους». In S. Kotzabassi and G. Mavromatis (eds.), Realia Byzantina. Berlin and New York 2009 [Byzantinisches Archiv, 22], 151–66.

- MAVROS 1980 Μαῦρος Τ., «Κώδικας τῆς μονῆς “Παναγία ἡ Σπηλιώτισσα” Ζακύνθου», Δελτίον Ἱστορικῆς καὶ Ἐθνολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας τῆς Ἑλλάδος 23 (1980) 459–544.
- MAVROS 1983 Μαῦρος Τ., «Κώδικας τῆς μονῆς “Παναγία ἡ Σπηλιώτισσα” Ζακύνθου», Δελτίον Ἱστορικῆς καὶ Ἐθνολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας τῆς Ἑλλάδος 26 (1983) 417–538.
- MAVROS 1984 Μαῦρος Τ., «Κώδικας τῆς μονῆς “Παναγία ἡ Σπηλιώτισσα” Ζακύνθου», Δελτίον Ἱστορικῆς καὶ Ἐθνολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας τῆς Ἑλλάδος 27 (1984) 354–456.
- MELAS 1958 Μελάς Ἰ., Ἱστορία τῆς νήσου Ἰκαρίας, vol. 2. Athens 1958.
- MÉNAGER 1957 Ménager L. R., “Notes et documents sur quelques monastères de Calabre à l’époque normande”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 50 (1957) 7–30, 321–61.
- MERCATI et al. 1980 Mercati S. G.† – Giannelli C.† – Guillou A., Saint-Jean Theristès (1054–1264). Vatican 1980 [Corpus des actes grecs d’Italie du Sud et de Sicile. Recherches d’histoire et de géographie, 5].
- MERTZIOS 1935 Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Ἡ οἰκογένεια τῶν Γλυκῶν ἢ Γλυκῆδων», Ἡπειρωτικὰ Χρονικὰ 10 (1935) 1–53.
- MERTZIOS 1936a Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Τὸ ἐν Βενετίᾳ Ἡπειρωτικὸν Ἀρχεῖον. Κεφάλαιον Α΄. Διαθήκη Λάνθου Μονδάνου ἐκ Τρικκάλων», Ἡπειρωτικὰ Χρονικὰ 11 (1936) 17–20.
- MERTZIOS 1936b Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Τὸ ἐν Βενετίᾳ Ἡπειρωτικὸν Ἀρχεῖον. Κεφάλαιον Β΄. Ἰδιωτικὸν Ἀρχεῖον Γ. καὶ Ε. Ἡγουμένων», Ἡπειρωτικὰ Χρονικὰ 11 (1936) 41–64.
- MERTZIOS 1936c Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Τὸ ἐν Βενετίᾳ Ἡπειρωτικὸν Ἀρχεῖον. Κεφάλαιον Δ΄. Ἡ σχολὴ τῶν Ἀθηνῶν», Ἡπειρωτικὰ Χρονικὰ 11 (1936) 84–91.
- MERTZIOS 1936d Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Τὸ ἐν Βενετίᾳ Ἡπειρωτικὸν Ἀρχεῖον. Κεφάλαιον ΣΤ΄. Ἡ σχολὴ Ἑμμανουὴλ Γγιόνμα ἐν Ἰωαννίνοις», Ἡπειρωτικὰ Χρονικὰ 11 (1936) 100–10.
- MERTZIOS 1936e Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Τὸ ἐν Βενετίᾳ Ἡπειρωτικὸν Ἀρχεῖον. Κεφάλαιον Ζ΄. Πᾶνος ἱερομνήμων», Ἡπειρωτικὰ Χρονικὰ 11 (1936) 111–39.
- MERTZIOS 1936f Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Τὸ ἐν Βενετίᾳ Ἡπειρωτικὸν Ἀρχεῖον. Κεφάλαιον ΚΑ΄. Παράρτημα εἰς τὴν μονογραφίαν “Ἡ οἰκογένεια τῶν Γλυκῶν ἢ Γλυκῆδων”», Ἡπειρωτικὰ Χρονικὰ 11 (1936) 295–327.
- MERTZIOS 1947a Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Κεφάλαιον Ζ΄, “Ἐμπορικὴ ἀλληλογραφία ἐκ Μακεδονίας (1695–1699)”», Μνημεῖα Μακεδονικῆς Ἱστορίας. Thessaloniki 1947 [Μακεδονικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 7], 209–64.
- MERTZIOS 1947b Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Κεφάλαιον Θ΄, “Ἀπὸ τὸ ἀρχεῖον τοῦ ἐν Δυρραχίῳ προξενείου τῆς Βενετίας”», Μνημεῖα Μακεδονικῆς Ἱστορίας. Thessaloniki 1947 [Μακεδονικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 7], 266–72.

- MERTZIOS 1949 Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Ἡ συνθήκη Ἐνετῶν–Καλλέργη καὶ οἱ συνοδεύοντες αὐτὴν κατάλογοι», Κρητικά Χρονικά 3 (1949) 262–92.
- MERTZIOS 1953 Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Ἀρχεϊακὰ ἀνάλεκτα». In Προσφορά εἰς Στίλπωνα Π. Κυριακίδη ἐπὶ τῇ εἰκοσιπενταετηρίδι τῆς καθηγεσίας αὐτοῦ. Thessaloniki 1953 [= Ἑλληνικά, Παράρτημα 4], 474–85.
- MERTZIOS 1954 Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Ἡ ὁσία Φιλοθέη. Ἀνέκδοτα ἔγγραφα», Ἑλληνικά 13 (1954) 122–8.
- MERTZIOS 1956 Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Ἐγγραφον ἐκ Παραμυθιάς τοῦ 1633», Ἡπειρωτικὴ Ἑστία 5 (1956) 115–18.
- MERTZIOS 1958a Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Μία διαθήκη ἐκ Σίφνου τοῦ 1662», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Ἀρχεῖου τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 8 (1958) 103–11.
- MERTZIOS 1958b Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Ἀνέκδοτος ἐπιστολὴ τοῦ ἀρχιεπισκόπου Κύπρου Νικηφόρου (1664) πρὸς τὸν Δόγην τῆς Βενετίας διὰ τὴν ἀπελευθέρωσιν τῆς Κύπρου», Πρακτικά τῆς Ἀκαδημίας Ἀθηνῶν 33 (1958) 247–56.
- MERTZIOS 1960 Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Ὁ μικρὸς Ἑλληνομνήμων. Τεῦχος δεύτερον», Ἡπειρωτικὴ Ἑστία 9 (1960) 7–15.
- MERTZIOS 1964 Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Βιτζέντζος Κορνάρου – Ἐρωτόκριτος», Κρητικά Χρονικά 18 (1964) 142–244.
- MERTZIOS 1965 Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Κρητικὰ συμβόλαια τῶν χρόνων τῆς Ἐνετοκρατίας», Κρητικά Χρονικά 19 (1965) 111–45.
- MERTZIOS 1967 Mertzios K. D., “Un mandat du XVe siècle en grec vulgaire”, Byzantinische Forschungen 2 (1967) 265–8 [= Polychordia. Festschrift Franz Dölger zum 75. Geburtstag, besorgt von P. Wirth. Amsterdam 1968].
- MERTZIOS 1968 Μέρτζιος Κ. Δ., «Φιλόθεος ἐπίσκοπος Σαλῶνων (1698–99)», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Στερεοελλαδικῶν Μελετῶν 1 (1968) 241–4.
- MEYER 1894 Meyer P., Die Haupturkunden für die Geschichte der Athosklöster. Leipzig 1894, reprinted Amsterdam 1965.
- MICHAILARIS 1976 Μιχαηλάρης Π., «Ἀνέκδοτες ἐπιστολὲς (1695–1696) τοῦ Μιχ. Ν. Γλυκὺ στοῦ Μιχ. Σταμ. Περούλη», Θησαυρίσματα 13 (1976) 245–57.
- MICHAILARIS 1998 Μιχαηλάρης Π., «Ἅγιος Ἰωάννης (Κολόνα): Μετόχι τῆς μονῆς τῆς Πάτμου στὴ Σάμο (16ος–19ος αἰ.)». In Ἡ Σάμος ἀπὸ τὰ βυζαντινὰ χρόνια μέχρι σήμερα. Πρακτικά Συνεδρίου, 28–30 Ἀπριλίου 1995, Σάμος, vol. 1. Athens 1998, 181–94.
- MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90 Miklosich F. – Müller J., Acta et diplomata Graeca medii aevi: sacra et profana, collecta et edita, 6 vols. Vienna 1860–1890.
- MILIARAKIS 1888 Μηλιαράκης Ἀ., «Προικοσύμφωνον ναξιακὸν τοῦ 1533», Ἑστία 25 (1888) 58–60.

- MILIARAKIS 1900 Μηλιαράκης Ά., «Προικοσύμφωνον συνταχθέν ἐν Σύρῳ τῷ 1597», Ἀρμονία 1, no. 11 (1900) 695–704.
- MILLET 1895 Millet G., “Les monastères et les églises de Trébizonde”, Bulletin de Correspondance Hellénique 19 (1895) 419–59.
- MILLET 1896 Millet G., “Inscriptions byzantines de Trébizonde”, Bulletin de Correspondance Hellénique 20 (1896) 496–501.
- MILLET et al. 1904 Millet G. – Pargoire J. – Petit L., Recueil des inscriptions chrétiennes de l’Athos. Paris 1904 [Bibliothèque des Écoles françaises d’Athènes et de Rome, 1ère série, 91].
- MINAS 2012 Μηνάς Κ., «Ἐγγραφα τῶν ἱπποτῶν τῆς Ρόδου», Δωδεκανησιακά Χρονικά 25 (2012) 382–436.
- MITFORD 1991 Mitford T. B., “Inscriptiones Ponticae-Sebastopolis”. Zeitschrift für Papyrologie und Epigraphik 87 (1991) 181–243.
- MITROPOULLOS 1923 Μητρόπουλλος Π. Δ., «Ἀνέκδοτα κυπριακά ἔγγραφα», Κυπριακά Χρονικά 1 (1923) 324–6.
- MOMFERRATOS 1892 Μομφερράτος Ά. Γ., «Ἀρχεῖα τριῶν Ἀθηναίων νοταρίων ἐπὶ Τουρκοκρατίας». In Δ. Γ. Καμπούρογλου, Μνημεῖα τῆς Ἱστορίας τῶν Ἀθηνῶν, vol. 3. Athens 1892, 19–117, reprinted Athens 1993.
- MORGAN 1954 Morgan G., “A Greek Gunner’s Manual”, The Annual of the British School at Athens 49 (1954) 57–71.
- MOSCHOPOULOS 1970 Μοσχόπουλος Γ. Ν., «Οἱ Κρήτες ξυλογλύπτες Ἰωάννης καὶ Ἀντζόλος Μοσκέτης στὴν Κεφαλονιά», Ὁ Ἑρανιστής 12 (1975) 241–61.
- MOSCHOPOULOS 1976 Μοσχόπουλος Γ. Ν., «Ἕνας κατάλογος φορολογουμένων τοῦ φρουρίου καὶ τῆς πόλης τῆς Ἄσου (1682)», Κεφαλληνιακά Χρονικά 1 (1976) 130–43.
- MOSCHOPOULOS 1981 Μοσχόπουλος Γ. Ν., «Μετοίκηση Κρητῶν στὴν Κεφαλονιά στὴ διάρκεια τοῦ Κρητικοῦ πολέμου (1645–1669) καὶ ὕστερα ἀπὸ τὴν ἄλωση τοῦ Χάνδακα». In Πεπραγμένα τοῦ Δ’ Διεθνοῦς Κρητολογικοῦ Συνεδρίου (Ἡράκλειο, 29 Αὐγούστου–3 Σεπτεμβρίου 1976), vol. 2. Athens 1981, 270–91.
- MOSCHOPOULOS 1986 Μοσχόπουλος Γ. Ν., «Εἰδήσεις γιὰ τὸν Ζακύνθιο σοπρακόμιτο Μούκιο Ρώμα (1669). Μιὰ ἀνακοίνωση», Κεφαλληνιακά Χρονικά 5 (1986) 227–34.
- MOŠIN/SOVRE 1948 Mošin V. – Sovre A., Dodatki h grškim listinam Hilandarja. Supplementa ad acta graeca Chilandarii. Ljubljana 1948.
- MÜLLER 1868 Müller G., “Tre carte greche dell’Italia meridionale”, Archivio Storico Italiano, ser. III, 7, parte I (1868) 3–27.
- NADAL CAÑELLAS 1983 Nadal Cañellas J., “Los documentos griegos del Archivo de la Corona de Aragón”, Anuario de estudios medievales 13 (1983) 149–78.

- NIEHOFF-PANAGIOTIDIS/HOLLENDER 2010 Niehoff-Panagiotidis J. – Hollender E., “Ἐχομε Ψ7Π Ψ87: The Announcement of the New Moon in Romaniote Synagogues”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 103 (2010) 99–127.
- NITTI DI VITO 1900 Nitti Di Vito F., Le pergamene di S. Nicola di Bari. Periodo greco (939–1071), vol. 4. Bari 1900.
- NYSTAZOPOULOU 1966 Νυσταζοπούλου Μ., «Γράμμα τοῦ ἱερέως καὶ νομικοῦ τῶν Παλατίων Νικήτα Καραντηνοῦ πρὸς τὸν ἡγούμενον τῆς ἐν Πάτμῳ Μονῆς Ἰωάννου τοῦ Θεολόγου». In Χαριστήριον εἰς Ἀναστάσιον Κ. Ὁρλάνδον, vol. 2. Athens 1966, 286–308 [Βιβλιοθήκη τῆς ἐν Ἀθῆναις Ἀρχαιολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας, 54].
- NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980 Νυσταζοπούλου-Πελεκίδου Μ., Βυζαντινὰ ἔγγραφα τῆς Μονῆς Πάτμου. Β΄. Δημοσίων Λειτουργῶν. Διπλωματικὴ ἔκδοσις. Athens 1980.
- ODORICO 1998 Odorico P., Le codex B du Monastère Saint-Jean-Prodrome (Serrès). B (XVe–XIXe siècles). Paris 1998 [Textes – Documents – Études sur le monde byzantin, néohellénique et balkanique, 2].
- OIKONOMIDÈS 1968 Oikonomidès N., Actes de Dionysiou. Édition diplomatique. Paris 1968 [Archives de l’Athos, 4].
- OIKONOMIDÈS 1978 Oikonomidès N., Actes de Kastamonitou. Édition diplomatique. Paris 1978 [Archives de l’Athos, 9].
- OIKONOMIDÈS 1984 Oikonomidès N., Actes de Docheiariou. Édition diplomatique. Paris 1984 [Archives de l’Athos, 13].
- OIKONOMU-AGORASTU 1982 Oikonomu-Agorastu I., Kritische Erstausgabe des Rezeptbuchs des Cod. Par. gr. 2316, f. 348v–374v. Inaugural-Dissertation zur Erlangung des Doktorgrades der Philosophischen Fakultät der Universität zu Köln. Thessaloniki 1982.
- OMONT 1890 Omont H., “Le Typicon de Saint-Nicholas di Casole près d’Otrante. (Notice du ms. c. iii. 17 de Turin)”, Revue des Études Grecques 3 (1890) 381–91.
- OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927 Ouspensky Th. – Bénéchévitch V., Actes de Vazélon. Matériaux pour servir à l’histoire de la propriété rurale et monastique à Byzance aux XIII–XV siècles. Leningrad 1927.
- PANAYOTOPOULOU 1975 Παναγιωτοπούλου Κ., «Πατριαρχικά γράμματα καὶ ἄλλα ἔγγραφα (1571–1576) γιὰ τὸν Ἱέρωνα-Ἰωάννη Μπωναφέ», Θησαυρίσματα 12 (1975) 309–55.
- PANDAZI 2007 Πανταζῆ Σ.-Αἰκ., Ἑμμανουὴλ Τοξότης, νοτάριος Κερκύρας. Πράξεις (1500–1503). Ἐπιστημονικὴ ἐπιμέλεια Ἐ. Ἀγγελομάτη-Τσουγκαράκη – Γ. Κ. Μαυρομάτης. Φιλολογικὴ ἐπιμέλεια Θ. Πυλαρινός. Corfu 2007 [Πηγές τῆς Ἑπτανησιακῆς Ἱστορίας 2, Τμῆμα Ἱστορίας Ἰονίου Πανεπιστημίου].

- PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-Papastathi 1974 Πανταζόπουλος Ν. Ι. – Τσούρκα-Παπαστάθη Δ., Κώδιξ Μητροπόλεως Σισανίου καὶ Σιατίστης, ιζ'–ιθ' αἰ. Thessaloniki 1974 [Δικαιικὰ Μεταβυζαντινὰ Μνημεῖα, 1].
- PANDELIA-GRITSOPOULOU 1995/97 Παντελιᾶ-Γριτσοπούλου Δ., «Δέκα προικοσύμφωνα ἀπὸ τὴν Νάξο», Μνημοσύνη 13 (1995–97) 199–222.
- PANDELIA-GRITSOPOULOU 1998/2000 Παντελιᾶ-Γριτσοπούλου Δ., «Ναξιακὰ δικαιοπρακτικὰ ἔγγραφα», Μνημοσύνη 14 (1998–2000) 225–46.
- PANDELIA-GRITSOPOULOU 2001/02 Παντελιᾶ-Γριτσοπούλου Δ., «Δικαιοπρακτικὰ ἔγγραφα ἀπὸ τὴν Νάξο, τρίτη δέσμη (1685–1822)», Μνημοσύνη 15 (2001–02) 56–72.
- PANGRATIS 1999/2000 Παγκράτης Γ. Δ., «Τὸ Κονσουλάτον τῶν Μυτιληναίων στὴν Κέρκυρα (1548–1549)», Ἐῶα καὶ Ἑσπέρια 4 (1999–2000) 22–45.
- PANOPOULOU 1991 Πανοπούλου Α., «Συντροφίες καὶ ναυλώσεις πλοίων στὸ Χάνδακα». In Πεπραγμένα τοῦ ΣΤ' Διεθνοῦς Κρητολογικοῦ Συνεδρίου, vol. 2. Chania 1991, 419–30.
- PANOPOULOU 2003 Πανοπούλου Α., «Απὸ τὴ ζωὴ τοῦ Βαρθολομαίου Συρόπουλου στὴν Κρήτη. Νέες ἀρχειακές μαρτυρίες». In Χρ. Μαλτέζου καὶ Α. Παπαδάκη (eds.), Τῆς Βενετίας τὸ Ρέθυμνο (Πρακτικὰ Συμποσίου, Ρέθυμνο, 1–2 Νοεμβρίου 2002). Venice 2003, 128–60.
- PANOPOULOU 2015 Πανοπούλου Α., Πέτρος Καστροφύλακας, νοτάριος Χάνδακα. Πράξεις 1558–1559. Heraklion and Athens 2015.
- PAPACHRISTODOULOU 1976 Παπαχριστοδούλου Χ. Ί., «Εἰδήσεις γιὰ τὴ Ρόδο στὸ ΙΖ' μ. Χ. αἰῶνα ἀπὸ ἓνα χειρόγραφο εὐχολόγιο τοῦ Βρετανικοῦ Μουσείου», Δωδεκανησιακὸν Ἀρχεῖον 6 (1976) 1–29.
- PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1975 Papachryssanthou D., Actes du Prôtaton. Édition diplomatique. Paris 1975 [Archives de l'Athos, 7].
- PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1986 Papachryssanthou D., Actes de Xénophon. Édition diplomatique. Paris 1986 [Archives de l'Athos, 15].
- PAPADAKI 2001 Παπαδάκη Ἀ., Ληξιαρχικὰ βιβλία Κυθήρων: Ἑνορία Ἑσταυρωμένου Χώρας 1671–1812. Athens 2001 [Ἑταιρεία Κυθηραϊκῶν Μελετῶν, 12].
- PAPADOPOULOS 1976 Παπαδόπουλος Ν. Π., «Δικαιοπρακτικὰ ἔγγραφα Σοποτοῦ ΙΖ'–ΙΗ' αἰ.», Ἐπετηρὶς τῶν Καλαβρύτων 8 (1976) 117–32.
- PAPADOPOULOS 1977 Παπαδόπουλος Ν. Π., «Προεπαναστικὰ δικαιοπρακτικὰ ἔγγραφα Μονῆς Ἀγίων Θεοδώρων (Ἀροανίας)», Ἐπετηρὶς τῶν Καλαβρύτων 9 (1977) 63–103.
- PAPADOPOULOS 1978 Παπαδόπουλος Θ. Ί., «Μαθητὲς τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Κολλεγίου τῆς Ρώμης καταγόμενοι ἀπὸ τὴ Μεσσηνία». In Πρακτικὰ τοῦ Α' Συνεδρίου Μεσσηνιακῶν Σπουδῶν (2–4 Δεκ. 1977). Athens 1978, 305–22 [= Πελοποννησιακά, Παράρτημα 5].
- PAPADOPOULOS 1979 Παπαδόπουλος Θ. Ί., «Μανιάτες ἔποικοι στὴν Ἰταλία τὸν 17ο αἰῶνα», Λακωνικαὶ Σπουδαί 4 (1979) 396–473.

- PAPADOPOULOS 1987 Παπαδόπουλος Θ. Ί., «Οικογενειακά Λέοντος Ἀλλατίου», Χιακά Χρονικά 18 (1987) 17–25.
- PAPADOPOULOS 1989 Παπαδόπουλος Θ. Ί., «Ὁ Λέων Ἀλλατίος καὶ ἡ Χίος», Χιακά Χρονικά 20 (1989) 3–144.
- PAPADOPOULOS 1994 Παπαδόπουλος Θ. Ί., «Καθολικοὶ καὶ ὀρθόδοξοι στὶς Κυκλάδες», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Κυκλαδικῶν Μελετῶν 15 (1994) 134–97.
- PAPADOPOULOS 1998/2000 Παπαδόπουλος Θ. Ί., «Δράση Θεοφίλου Κορυδαλλέως στὴ Ζάκυνθο – σχέσεις του μὲ Νικόδημο Μεταξᾶ», Μνημοσύνη 14 (1998–2000) 97–184.
- PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990 Παπαδόπουλος Στ. Α. – Φλωρεντὴς Χρ., Νεοελληνικὸ Ἀρχεῖο Ι. Μονῆς Ἰωάννου Θεολόγου Πάτμου. Κείμενα γιὰ τὴν τεχνικὴ καὶ τὴν τέχνη. Athens 1990.
- PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1884 Παπαδόπουλος-Κεραμεὺς Ἀ., «Κατάλογος τῶν ἐν ταῖς βιβλιοθήκαις τῆς νήσου Λέσβου ἑλληνικῶν χειρογράφων», Ὁ ἐν Κωνσταντινουπόλει Ἑλληνικὸς Φιλολογικὸς Σύλλογος, Παράρτημα τοῦ ΙΕ΄ τόμου (1884) 1–44.
- PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1886 Παπαδόπουλος-Κεραμεὺς Ἀ., «Διαλεκτικαὶ ἐπιγραφαὶ Τραπεζοῦντος», Ὁ ἐν Κωνσταντινουπόλει Ἑλληνικὸς Φιλολογικὸς Σύλλογος, Παράρτημα τοῦ ΙΖ΄ τόμου (1886) 114–16.
- PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1891 Παπαδόπουλος-Κεραμεὺς Ἀ., Ἀνάλεκτα Ἱεροσολυμιτικῆς σταχυολογίας, vol. 1. Saint Petersburg 1891.
- PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1894 Παπαδόπουλος-Κεραμεὺς Ἀ., Ἀνάλεκτα Ἱεροσολυμιτικῆς σταχυολογίας, vol. 2. Saint Petersburg 1894.
- PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997 Παπαρρήγα-Αρτεμιάδη Λ. – Ροδολάκης Γ. Ε – Καραμπούλα Δ. Π., «Οἱ πράξεις τοῦ νοταρίου Καρουσάδων Κέρκυρας πρωτοπαπᾶ Φιλίππου Κατωϊμέρη (1503–1507)», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Κέντρου Ἑρεύνης τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 33 (1997) 9–436.
- PAPASTRATOU 1981 Παπαστράτου Ντ., Ὁ Σιναΐτης Χατζηκυριάκης ἐν Χώρας Βουρλά. Γράμματα – ξυλογραφίες 1688–1709. Athens 1981.
- PAPAZOGLU 1989/90 Παπάζογλου Χ. Ί., «Δύο ἔγγραφα σχετικὰ μὲ τὴν πώληση τοῦ “Ρουφανιοῦ” στὸν Χατζῆ Μουστάφαγα», Μακεδονικά 27 (1989–90) 403–8. Reprinted in idem, Χειρόγραφα καὶ βιβλιοθήκες τῆς Ἀνατολικῆς Μακεδονίας καὶ Θράκης. Komotini 1993 [Δημοκρίτειο Πανεπιστήμιο Θράκης, Θρακικὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 1], no. ΙΑ΄.
- PASCHALIS 1924 Πασχάλης Δ. Π., «Τοῦρκοι ἰδιοκτῆται ἐν Ἀνδρῶν», Ἀθηνᾶ 36 (1924) 166–76.
- PASCHALIS 1935 Πασχάλης Δ. Π., «Αἱ Κυκλάδες κατὰ τοὺς μεταξὺ τῶν Τούρκων καὶ Βενετῶν Πολέμους (1644–1669 καὶ 1684–1699)». In Εἰς μνήμην Σπυρίδωνος Λάμπρου. Athens 1935, 132–9.

- PASCHALIS 1948 Πασχάλης Δ. Π., «Ἡ Δυτική Ἐκκλησία εἰς τὰς Κυκλάδας ἐπὶ Φραγκοκρατίας καὶ Τουρκοκρατίας», Ἀνδριακὰ Χρονικά 2–3 (1948) 5–136.
- PATRAMANI 1989/90 Πατραμάνη Μ. Γ., «Ἐνα προξενιὸ τοῦ ἔτους 1508 μὲ προξενητὴ τὸ Δούκα τῆς Κρήτης Ἰερώνυμο Donado», Παλίμψηστον 9–10 (1989–90) 165–77.
- PATRAMANI 1998 Πατραμάνη Μ. Γ., «Λιμοὶ καὶ λοιμοὶ στὰ Κύθηρα. Ἡ στάση τῶν βενετικῶν ἀρχῶν καὶ τοῦ πληθυσμοῦ (16ος–18ος αἰ.)». In Ν. Παναγιωτάκης† (ed.), Ἄνθη χαρίτων: μελετήματα ἐόρτια συγγραφέντα ὑπὸ τῶν ὑποτρόφων τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Ἰνστιτούτου Βυζαντινῶν καὶ Μεταβυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν τῆς Βενετίας. Venice 1998 [Βιβλιοθήκη τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Ἰνστιτούτου Βυζαντινῶν καὶ Μεταβυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν Βενετίας, 18], 569–618.
- PATRAMANI 2010 Πατραμάνη Μ. Γ., «Ὁ ἔρωτας ἐνώπιον τοῦ νόμου στὰ Κύθηρα τῆς βενετικῆς περιόδου (17ος–18ος αἰ.)», Νόστος 6 (2010) 121–222.
- PATRINELIS 1967/68 Πατρινέλης Χ. Γ., «Ἐπιστολαὶ Ἑλλήνων πρὸς τὸν πάπαν Γρηγόριον τὸν ΙΓ΄ (1572–1585) καὶ τὸν καρδινάλιον Σιρλέτον (†1585) ἐκ τοῦ ἑλληνικοῦ βατικανοῦ κώδικος 2124», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Ἀρχείου τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 17–18 (1967–68) 45–112.
- PATRINELIS 1988/89 Πατρινέλης Χ. Γ., «Εἰδήσεις γιὰ τὴν ἑλληνικὴ κοινότητα Προύσας», Δελτίο Κέντρου Μικρασιατικῶν Σπουδῶν 7 (1988–89) 9–50.
- PATRINELIS 1992 Πατρινέλης Χ. Γ., «Ἐπιστολὲς τοῦ Ἰππόλυτου Βάρελη καὶ τοῦ Μανουὴλ Γλυτζούνη, Ἑλλήνων ἐκδοτῶν στὴ Βενετία», Μεσαιωνικά καὶ Νέα Ἑλληνικά 4 (1992) 283–319.
- PATRINELIS 1993/94 Πατρινέλης Χ. Γ., «Πρώιμη ἱστορικὴ μαρτυρία γιὰ τὶς Κυδωνίες (1653)», Δελτίο Κέντρου Μικρασιατικῶν Σπουδῶν 10 (1993–94) 13–21.
- PATRINELIS 2000 Πατρινέλης Χ. Γ., «Τὸ σχέδιο ἀντιτουρκικῆς ἐκστρατείας τοῦ μητροπολίτη Τιμοθέου (1572) καὶ ἄλλα σχετικὰ κείμενα», Μεσαιωνικά καὶ Νέα Ἑλληνικά 6 (2000) 9–35.
- PAVLIKIANOV 2005 Павликянов К., История на българския светогорски манастир Зограф от 980 до 1804 г.: свидетелствата на двадесет и седем неизвестни документа / History of the Bulgarian Athonite monastery of Zografou from 980 to 1204: the evidence of twenty-seven unknown documents. Sofia 2005.
- PAVLIKIANOV 2006 Pavlikianov C., The Athonite Monastery of Vatopedi from 1480 to 1600: The Philological Evidence of Twenty-eight Unknown Post-Byzantine Documents from its Archive. Sofia 2006 [Monumenta Slavico-Byzantina et Mediaevalia Europensia, 19].

- PENDOGALOS 1972 Πεντόγαλος Γ., «Παντόγαλοι Σητείας», Κρητικά Χρονικά 24 (1972) 177–208.
- PENDOGALOS 1974a Πεντόγαλος Γ., «Ἀνέκδοτα ἔγγραφα τοῦ ΙΕ΄ αἰῶνα σχετιζόμενα μὲ τὴν ἐκκλησιαστικὴ ἱστορία τῆς Κερκύρας», Κερκυραϊκά Χρονικά 19 (1974) 126–39.
- PENDOGALOS 1974b Πεντόγαλος Γ., «Ἡλίας ἢ Λέος Μόσκος ἀγιογράφος στὶς ἐκκλησίες “Ἀνάληψη” καὶ “Παντοκράτορας” στὸ Λιξούρι (1664–1665)», Παρνασσός 16 (1974) 34–51.
- PENDOGALOS 1975 Πεντόγαλος Γ., «Ἦθη καὶ ἀνθρώπινες σχέσεις στὴν Κεφαλονιά τὸν ΙΣΤ΄ αἰῶνα (πληροφορίες ἀπὸ εἴκοσι δύο ἀνέκδοτα νοταριακὰ ἔγγραφα)», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Κέντρου Ἑρεύνης τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 22 (1975) 69–145.
- PENDOGALOS 1976 Πεντόγαλος Γ., «Χριστοφόρου ἢ Χριστοδούλου Κρασσᾶ διαθήκη (1584) καὶ ἡ ἀκύρωσή της (1589)», Κεφαλληνιακά Χρονικά 1 (1976) 144–56.
- PENDOGALOS 1977a Πεντόγαλος Γ., «Νοταριακὸ ἀντίγραφο καταλόγου ΙΕ΄ αἰῶνα γιὰ δωρητὲς καὶ κτήματα τῆς ἐκκλησίας τοῦ Ἁγίου Νικολάου στὸ Ρίφι τῆς Κεφαλονιάς», Κεφαλληνιακά Χρονικά 2 (1977) 45–59.
- PENDOGALOS 1977b Πεντόγαλος Γ., «Μήνυμα ἀπὸ τὸν Τοῦρκο Φλαμπουράρη Ἀγγελοκάστρου καὶ Ἀγίας Μαύρας στοὺς Βενετσιάνους τῆς Κεφαλονιάς», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Λευκαδικῶν Μελετῶν 4 (1977) 143–52.
- PENDOGALOS 1980a Πεντόγαλος Γ., «Γεώργιος Μόσχος νοτάριος Κέρκυρας στὰ τελευταῖα χρόνια τοῦ ιε΄ αἰῶνα (νεώτερα στοιχεῖα)», Πρακτικά Δ΄ Πανιονίου Συνεδρίου, vol. 1. Corfu 1980, 293–302 [Κερκυραϊκά Χρονικά 23].
- PENDOGALOS 1980b Πεντόγαλος Γ., «Ἐγγραφή συμφωνία γιὰ μεταφορὰ καταδιωγμένων Ἡπειρωτῶν στὴν Κέρκυρα τὸ 1558», Ἡπειρωτικά Χρονικά 22 (1980) 89–92.
- PENDOGALOS 1999 Πεντόγαλος Γ., «Ἐγγραφα αναφερόμενα στὸν Ἅγιο Γεράσιμο τοῦ 16ου, τοῦ 17ου καὶ τοῦ 18ου αἰῶνα», Κεφαλληνιακά Χρονικά 8 (1999) 85–108.
- PENDOGALOS 2004 Πεντόγαλος Γ., Γιατροὶ καὶ ἰατρικὴ Κεφαλονιάς στα χρόνια τῶν ξενικῶν κυριαρχιῶν (1500–1864). Thessaloniki 2004.
- PENDOGALOS 2008 Πεντόγαλος Γ., «Ιωάννης (Ιωαννίκιος) καὶ Σπυρίδων (Σωφρόνιος) ἀδελφοὶ Λυκούδη (Λειχούδαι). Βιογραφικὰ καὶ ἄλλα (1654–1683)», Κεφαλληνιακά Χρονικά 11 (2006–2008) 37–61.
- PERDIKIS 1998 Περδίκης Στ., Διμαιοπρακτικὰ ἔγγραφα Ἱερᾶς Μονῆς Κύκκου, 1619–1839. Nicosia 1998 [Ἀρχεῖο Ἱερᾶς Μονῆς Κύκκου, 4].
- PETIT 1900 Petit L., “Le Monastère de Notre-Dame de Pitié en Macédoine”, Izvestiia Russkago Arkheologicheskago Instituta v Konstantinople 6 (1900) 1–153.

- PETIT/KORABLEV 1911/15 Petit L. – Korablev B., Actes de Chilandar. St Petersburg 1911–1915 [= Vizantijski Vremennik 17].
- PETRIDIS 1870 Πετρίδης Ά., «Περὶ τῶν ἐν Κορσικῇ Στεφανοπούλων», Πανδώρα 20, no. 478 (1870) 430–4.
- PETROPOULOS 1958 Πετρόπουλος Γ. Α., Νοταριακαὶ πράξεις Παξῶν, διαφόρων νοταρίων, τῶν ἐτῶν 1658–1810. Athens 1958 [Παράρτημα Ἑπετηρίδος Νομικῆς Σχολῆς Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν – Μνημεῖα μεταβυζαντινοῦ δικαίου, 2].
- PETROPOULOS 1960 Πετρόπουλος Γ. Α., Νοταριακαὶ πράξεις Μυκόνου τῶν ἐτῶν 1663–1779. Athens 1960 [Μνημεῖα τοῦ μεταβυζαντινοῦ δικαίου, 3. Παράρτημα Ἐπιστημονικῆς Ἑπετηρίδος Νομικῆς Σχολῆς Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν].
- PETROPOULOS 1962 Πετρόπουλος Γ. Α., Α. Νοταριακαὶ πράξεις Κεφαλληνίας τῆς συλλογῆς Ἐ. Μπλέσσα τῶν ἐτῶν 1701–1856. Β. Ἐγγραφα τῆς Ἠπείρου καὶ Ἰερῶν μονῶν Αἰτωλίας τῶν ἐτῶν 1701–1887. Athens 1962 [Μνημεῖα τοῦ μεταβυζαντινοῦ δικαίου 4, Παράρτημα Ἐπιστημονικῆς Ἑπετηρίδος τῆς Νομικῆς Σχολῆς τοῦ Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν].
- PETROPOULOS 1963 Πετρόπουλος Γ. Α., Α. Νοταριακαὶ πράξεις Χίου τῶν ἐτῶν 1724–1780. Β. Ἐγγραφα Ρόδου καὶ Καστελλορίζου τῶν ἐτῶν 1847–1874. Athens 1963 [Μνημεῖα τοῦ μεταβυζαντινοῦ δικαίου, 5. Παράρτημα Ἐπιστημονικῆς Ἑπετηρίδος τῆς Νομικῆς Σχολῆς τοῦ Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν].
- POUMIDIS 1995/98 Πλουμίδης Γ. Σ., «Ναύλωση πλοίου στη Ζάκυνθο», Κεφαλληνιακά Χρονικά 7 (1995–1998) 85–8.
- POUMIDIS 2008 Πλουμίδης Σπ. Γ., Γυναῖκες καὶ γάμος στην Κέρκυρα (1600–1864). Ἐμφυλές σχέσεις καὶ οικονομικὲς δραστηριότητες. Corfu 2008.
- POLEMIS 1977 Πολέμης Δ. Ἰ., «Εἴκοσι διαθῆκαι ἐξ Ἀνδρου (1678–1831)», Πέταλον 1 (1977) 22–157.
- POLEMIS 1982 Πολέμης Δ. Ἰ., «Ἀπελευθέρωσις αἰχμαλώτου ἐν Ἀνδρῶ κατὰ τὸν δέκατον ἕκτον αἰῶνα», Πέταλον 3 (1982) 81–96.
- POLEMIS 1995a Πολέμης Δ. Ἰ., Οἱ ἀφεντότοποι τῆς Ἀνδρου. Συμβολὴ εἰς τὴν ἔρευναν τῶν καταλοίπων τῶν φεουδαλικῶν θεσμῶν εἰς τὰς νήσους κατὰ τὸν δέκατον ἕκτον αἰῶνα. Andros 1995 [Πέταλον: Συλλογὴ Ἱστορικοῦ Ὑλικοῦ περὶ τῆς νήσου Ἀνδρου, Παράρτημα 2].
- POLEMIS 1995b Πολέμης Δ. Ἰ., «Μία επιγραφή του ἔτους 1679 καὶ ἡ οικογένεια Δελλαγραμμάτικα», Πέταλον 6 (1995) 3–68.
- POLEMIS 1999a Πολέμης Δ. Ἰ., Ἀνέκδοτα ἀνδριακὰ ἔγγραφα τοῦ δεκάτου ἔκτου αἰῶνος. Andros 1999 [= Ἀνδριακά Χρονικά 30 (1999)].
- POLEMIS 1999b Πολέμης Δ. Ἰ., «Ἡ μονὴ τοῦ Παντοκράτορος κατὰ τὸν δέκατον ἔβδομον αἰῶνα», Πέταλον 7 (1999) 5–54.

- POLEMIS 2001 Πολέμης Δ. Ί., Μοναστηριακά τοῦ Ἀγίου Νικολάου. Andros 2001 [= Ἀνδριακά Χρονικά 32].
- POLITIS 1971 Πολίτης Λ., «Βυζαντινὰ ἐπιγραφικά», Ἑλληνικά 24 (1971) 126–36. Reprinted in Paléographie et littérature byzantine et néo-grecque. Recueil d'études. London 1975, no. XVIII.
- POLITIS/POLITI 1991 Πολίτης Λ., Κατάλογος χειρογράφων τῆς Ἑθνικῆς Βιβλιοθήκης τῆς Ἑλλάδος: ἀρ. 1857–2500. Μὲ τὴ συνεργασία Μαρίας Λ. Πολίτη. Athens 1991 [Πραγματεῖαι τῆς Ἀκαδημίας Ἀθηνῶν, 54].
- PREGER 1912 Preger Th., “Studien zur Topographie Konstantinopels, IV. Ein anonymes Verzeichnis der Tore und Inschriften an den Mauern Konstantinopels im 16. Jahrhundert”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 21 (1912) 461–71.
- PRINZING 2000 Prinzing G., “Trapezuntia in Krakau. Über die Kleinchronik und andere Texte im Cod. Berol. graec. qu. 5”. In C. Scholz and G. Makris (eds.), Πολύπλευρος νοῦς: Miscellanea für Peter Schreiner zu seinem 60. Geburtstag. Leipzig 2000 [Byzantinisches Archiv 19], 290–310.
- PSARAS 1989 Ψαρὰς Ι. Δ., «Πεῖνα στα Κύθηρα (1666–1673)». In Πρακτικά του Ε΄ Διεθνoῦς Πανιονίου Συνεδρίου (Αργοστόλι-Ληξούρι, 17–21 Μαΐου 1986), vol. 1. Athens 1989, 139–54.
- RAMFOS 1972 Ράμφος Ί. Σπ., «Τὰ χριστιανικά μνημεῖα τῆς Κιμῶλου καὶ τῶν πέριξ νησίδων», Κιμωλιανά 2 (1972) 183–299.
- RAMFOS 1973 Ράμφος Ί. Σπ., «Σύμμεικτα Κιμωλιακά», Κιμωλιανά 3 (1973) 297–375.
- RAMFOS 1974 Ράμφος Ί. Σπ., «Δικαιοπρακτικά ἔγγραφα ἐκ Κιμῶλου (1692–1839)», Κιμωλιανά 4 (1974) 3–70.
- RE/ROGNONI 2008 Re M. – Rognoni C., “Gestione della terra ed esercizio del potere in Valle Tuccio (fine secolo XII): due casi esemplari. Edizione, commento, dati prosopografici e analisi paleografica di ADM 1324, 1368 e 1333”, Jahrbuch der Österreichischen Byzantinistik 58 (2008) 131–46.
- RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983 Richard J. – Papadopoulos Th., Le Livre des remembrances de la Secrète du royaume de Chypre (1468–1469). Nicosia 1983 [Centre de Recherches Scientifiques. Sources et Études de l'Histoire de Chypre, 10].
- RIGO 1998 Rigo A., “Lo Horismòs di Sinân Pascià, la presa di Ioannina (1430) e la ‘lettera’ del sultano Murâd II”, Θησαυρίσματα 28 (1998) 57–78.
- ROBINSON 1929 Robinson G., History and Cartulary of the Greek Monastery of St Elias and St Anastasius of Carbone, vol. 2.1: Cartulary. Rome 1929 [Orientalia Christiana, 15.2].

- ROBINSON 1930 Robinson G., History and Cartulary of the Greek Monastery of St Elias and St Anastasius of Carbone, vol. 2.2: Cartulary. Rome 1930 [Orientalia Christiana, 19.1].
- RODOLAKIS 1994 Ροδολάκης Γ. Ε., «Συντροφίες στη Νάξο (τέλη του 17ου αιώνα)». In Η Νάξος δια μέσου των αιώνων (Α΄ Πανελλήνιο Συνέδριο, Φιλώτι 3–6 Σεπτεμβρίου 1992). Athens 1994, 569–86.
- RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996 Ροδολάκης Γ. Ε. – Παπαρρήγα-Αρτεμιάδη Λ., «Οι πράξεις του νοτάριου Αγ. Ματθαίου Κερκύρας Πέτρου Βαραγκά (1541–1545)», Ἐπετηρίς τοῦ Κέντρου Ἑρεύνης τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 32 (1996) 207–339.
- ROGNONI 2004 Rognoni C., Les actes privés grecs de l'Archivo Ducal de Medinaceli (Tolède), vol. 1: Les monastères de Saint-Pancrace de Briatico, de Saint-Philippe-de-Bojòannès et de Saint-Nicolas-des-Drosi (Calabre, XIe–XIIe siècles). Paris 2004 [Textes, documents, études sur le monde byzantin, néohellénique et balkanique, 7].
- ROGNONI 2007 Rognoni C., “Messina 1208: un contratto matrimoniale greco (ADM 1302)”, Νέα Ρώμη. Rivista di ricerche bizantinistiche 4 (2007) (= Ἀμπελοκήπιον. Studi di amici e colleghi in onore di Vera von Falkenhausen, vol. 4. Rome 2007) 331–42.
- ROGNONI 2011 Rognoni C., Les actes privés grecs de l'Archivo Ducal de Medinaceli (Tolède), vol. 2: La Vallée de Tuccio (Calabre, XIIe–XIIIe siècle). Paris 2011 [Textes, documents, études sur le monde byzantin, néohellénique et balkanique, 12].
- RONDOYANNIS 2005 Ροντογιάννης Π. Γ., Ἱστορία τῆς νήσου Λευκάδος. Τόμος Α΄. Ἀνατύπωση με συμπληρώσεις καί διορθώσεις τοῦ συγγραφέα. Athens 2005.
- SAKKELION 1887a Σακκελίων Ί., «Συμβόλαιον τῆς ΙΔ΄ ἑκατονταετηρίδος», Δελτίον Ἱστορικῆς καὶ Ἐθνολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας τῆς Ἑλλάδος 2 (1887) 468–75.
- SAKKELION 1887b Σακκελίων Ί., «Κυπριακή διαθήκη τῆς ΙΕ΄ ἑκατονταετηρίδος», Παρνασσός 11 (1887) 259–62.
- ŠANGIN 1936 Šangin M. A. F., Codices Rossici. Brussels 1936 [Catalogus Codicum Astrologorum Graecorum, 12].
- SANTSCHI 1976 Santschi E., Régestes des arrêts civils et des mémoriaux (1363–1399) des archives du Duc de Crète. Venice 1976 [Bibliothèque de l'Institut Hellénique d'Études Byzantines et Post-Byzantines de Venise, 9].
- SARANDIS 1934 Σαραντής Μ., «Κώδικες τῆς ἐπισκοπῆς Μετρῶν καὶ Ἀθύρων», Θρακικά 5 (1934) 163–78.
- SATHAS 1865 Σάθας Κ. Ν., [Διαθήκη Δημ. Χαριτοπούλου], Χρυσάλλις 3, 65 (15.9.1865) 524–5.

- SATHAS 1877 Σάθας Κ. Ν., «Παράρτημα. 3. Κρητικά διαθήκαι». In Μεσαιωνική Βιβλιοθήκη ἢ συλλογὴ ἀνεκδότων μνημείων τῆς ἑλληνικῆς ἱστορίας, vol. 6. Venice and Paris 1877, 654–92.
- SCHNEIDER 1907 Schneider G., “Mittelgriechische Urkunden für San Filippo di Gerace”, Quellen und Forschungen aus italienischen Archiven und Bibliotheken 10 (1907) 247–74.
- SCHOPEN/NIEBUHR 1832 Schopen L. – Niebuhr B., Ioannis Cantacuzeni eximperatoris Historiarum Libri IV, vol. 3. Vienna 1832 [Corpus Scriptorum Historiae Byzantinae].
- SCHREINER 1975/79 Schreiner P., Die byzantinische Kleinchroniken. Vienna 1975–1979 [Corpus Fontium Historiae Byzantinae, 12. 1–3].
- SCHREINER 1982 Schreiner P., “Eine zweite Handschrift des ‘Ordo Portae’ und der Wegbeschreibung in das Gebiet des Uzun Hasan”, Südost-Forschungen 41 (1982) 9–25.
- SEARBY 2003 Searby D. M., “A collection of mathematical problems in Cod. Ups. Gr. 8”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 96 (2003) 689–702.
- SEREMETIS 1962 Σερεμέτης Δ. Γ., «Δικαιοπρακτικά καὶ ἄλλα ἔγγραφα ἐκ τῶν ἀρχείων τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Ἰνστιτούτου Βενετίας περὶ Κυθέρων», Θησαυρίσματα 1 (1962) 119–41.
- SFYROERAS 1963a Σφυρόερας Β., «Τὸ ἐν Νάξῳ μονύδριον τῶν Ἀγίων Τεσσαράκοντα, μετόχιον τῆς Μονῆς Ξηροποτάμου», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Βυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν 32 (1963) 484–95.
- SFYROERAS 1963b Σφυρόερας Β., «Μεταναστεύσεις καὶ ἐποικισμοὶ Κυκλαδιτῶν εἰς Σμύρνην κατὰ τὴν Τουρκοκρατίαν», Μικρασιατικὰ Χρονικά 10 (1963) 164–99.
- SIAKOTOS 2006 Σιακωτὸς Β., «Κυνηγετική δραστηριότητα στη βενετοκρατούμενη Κρήτη», Θησαυρίσματα 36 (2006) 167–95.
- SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83 Σιφωνιοῦ-Καράπα Ἀ. – Ροδολάκης Γ. – Ἀρτεμιάδη Λ., «Ὁ κώδικας τοῦ νοταρίου Νάξου Ἰωάννου Μηνιάτη, 1680–1689 (χφ. Γ.Α.Κ. 86)», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Κέντρου Ἑρένης τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 29–30 (1982–83) 123–1221.
- SIMON 1973 Simon D., Zyprische Prozessprogramme. Munich 1973 [Münchener Beiträge zur Papyrusforschung und antike Rechtsgeschichte, 65].
- SIMOPOULOS 1966 Simopoulos Th. N., Ἡ Ἱερὰ Μονὴ Ζερμπίτσης: Ἀνέκδοτα περὶ αὐτῆς ἔγγραφα – χειμῆλια. Athens 1966.
- SKAVDI 2008 Σκαυδὴ Δ., Τα χαρτιά μιας ιαριώτικης οικογένειας (1625–1920). Athens 2008.
- SKOPETEAS 1950 Σκοπετέας Στ., «Ἐγγραφα ἰδιωτικά ἐκ Δ. Μάνης τῶν ἐτῶν 1547–1830», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Ἀρχείου τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 3 (1950) 60–117.

- SOFIANOS 1984 Σοφιανός Δ. Ζ., «Ἱστορικά σχόλια σὲ ἐπιγραφές, ἐπιγράμματα, χαράγματα καὶ ἐνθυμήσεις τῆς μονῆς Δουσίκου. Συμβολὴ στὴν ἱστορία τῆς μονῆς», Μεσαιωνικά καὶ Νέα Ἑλληνικά 1 (1984) 9–70.
- SOFIANOS 1986 Σοφιανός Δ. Ζ., Τὰ χειρόγραφα τῶν Μετεώρων. Κατάλογος περιγραφικὸς τῶν χειρογράφων κωδίκων τῶν ἀποκειμένων εἰς τὰς μονὰς τῶν Μετεώρων. Τόμος Γ΄, Τὰ χειρόγραφα τῆς μονῆς Ἀγίου Στεφάνου. Athens 1986.
- SOFIANOS 1992 Σοφιανός Δ. Ζ., «Ὁ Ἅγιος Βησσαρίων, μητροπολίτης Λαρίσης (1527–1540) καὶ κτίτορας τῆς Μονῆς Δουσίκου. Ἀνέκδοτα ἀγιολογικὰ καὶ ἄλλα κείμενα», Μεσαιωνικά καὶ Νέα Ἑλληνικά 4 (1992) 177–282.
- SOFIANOS 1993 Σοφιανός Δ. Ζ., Τὰ χειρόγραφα τῶν Μετεώρων. Κατάλογος περιγραφικὸς τῶν χειρογράφων κωδίκων τῶν ἀποκειμένων εἰς τὰς μονὰς τῶν Μετεώρων, Τόμος Δ΄, Τὰ χειρόγραφα τῆς Μονῆς Ἀγίας Τριάδος, Μέρος Πρῶτον, Τόμος Δ΄, Τὰ χειρόγραφα τῆς Μονῆς Ἀγίας Τριάδος, Μέρος Δεύτερον. Athens 1993.
- SOFIANOS 1994 Σοφιανός Δ. Ζ., «Ἡ ἀνέκδοτη διαθήκη τοῦ Μανουὴλ Ἰωαννάκη (μέσα 18΄ αἰ.) καὶ ἄλλα κείμενα σχετικὰ μὲ τὴ Μονὴ τῆς Θεοτόκου στὸν Στύλο τῶν Σταγῶν», Σύμμεικτα 9 (1994) [= Μνήμη Δ. Α. Ζακυθηνοῦ, Μέρος Β΄] 279–88.
- SOULIS 1934 Σούλης Χ. Ἰ., «Ἐπιγραφαὶ καὶ ἐνθυμήσεις Ἑπειρωτικά», Ἑπειρωτικά Χρονικά 9 (1934) 81–126.
- SPANAKIS 1971 Σπανάκης Στ., «Ἔργα καὶ ἡμέραι ἐνὸς τοκογλύφου κατὰ τὴ Βενετοκρατίαν», Κρητικά Χρονικά 23 (1971) 178–88.
- SPANOS 2001 Σπανός Κ., «Οἱ θεσσαλικοὶ οικισμοὶ στὸν ιεροσολυμιτικὸ κώδικα 509. 1649–1669», Θεσσαλικὸ Ἡμερολόγιο 40 (2001) 293–366.
- SPATA 1862 Spata G., Le pergamene greche esistenti nel grande archivio di Palermo. Palermo 1862.
- SPATA 1870 Spata G., «I diplomi greci inediti ricavati da alcuni manoscritti della biblioteca comunale di Palermo». In Miscellanea di storia italiana, vol. 9. Turin 1870, 373–512.
- STAMATIADIS 1893 Σταματιάδης Ἐ. Ἰ., Ἱκαριακά, ἥτοι ἱστορία καὶ περιγραφή τῆς νήσου Ἱκαρίας. Samos 1893.
- STEFANIDOU 1996/97 Στεφανίδου Α., «Ἡ οικογένεια δωρητῶν Μαθὰ καὶ ἡ σχέση τους με τὴ μονὴ Ἀγίου Ἰωάννου τοῦ Θεολόγου Πάτμου κατὰ τὸν 17ο αἰῶνα», Δελτίον τῆς Χριστιανικῆς Ἀρχαιολογικῆς Ἑταιρείας, περ. Δ΄, 19 (1996–97) 395–410.
- STEFANIDOU 2004 Stefanidou A., Müzene des Theologos-Klosters auf Patmos. Darstellung ihrer Lebensweise und ihrer wirtschaftlichen Lage nebst einer Beschreibung ihrer Kirchen in spät- und nachbyzantinischer Zeit. Rhodes 2004.

- STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992 Στεφανής Ί. Ε. – Παπατριανταφύλλου-Θεοδωρίδη Ν., Εὐγενίου Γιαννούλη τοῦ Αἰτωλοῦ, Ἐπιστολές. Κριτική ἔκδοση. Thessaloniki 1992 [Ἐπιστημονική Ἐπετηρίδα Φιλοσοφικῆς Σχολῆς Πανεπιστημίου Θεσσαλονίκης, περ. Β΄, Τεύχος Τμήματος Φιλολογίας, παράρτημα 1].
- SVORONOS 1959 Svoronos N. G., “Recherches sur le cadastre byzantin et la fiscalité aux XIe et XIIe siècles: le cadastre de Thèbes”, Bulletin de Correspondance Hellénique 83 (1959) 1–145.
- SYMEONIDIS 1989 Συμεωνίδης Σ. Μ., «Τὸ Ἀρχιελάγος κατὰ τὸν πόλεμο Τουρκίας–Βενετίας (1645–1669) καὶ οἱ ἀρχιερατικὲς ἐναλλαγές στὶς ὀρθόδοξες ἐπισκοπές», Μηλιακά 3 (1989) 17–136.
- SYMEONIDIS 1991 Συμεωνίδης Σ. Μ., «Δεκαπέντε προικῶς ἔγγραφα Σίφνου», Σιφνιακά 1 (1991) 80–110.
- SYMEONIDIS 1992a Συμεωνίδης Σ. Μ., «Ἱερὰ Πατριαρχικὴ καὶ Σταυροπηγιακὴ Μονὴ τοῦ Προφήτου Ἡλίου “ἐπὶ τοποθεσίᾳ τῷ λόφῳ τοῦ ὑψηλοῦ τῶν βουνῶν” τῆς Σίφνου», Σιφνιακά 2 (1992) 21–101.
- SYMEONIDIS 1992b Συμεωνίδης Σ. Μ., «Ἀνέκδοτα νομικὰ ἔγγραφα Σίφνου», Σιφνιακά 2 (1992) 103–40.
- SYMEONIDIS 1999 Συμεωνίδης Σ. Μ., «Οἱ Καντζηλλιέρηδες τῆς Σίφνου. Ὁ θεσμὸς καὶ τὰ πρόσωπα», Σιφνιακά 7 (1999) 5–59.
- SYMEONIDIS 2001 Συμεωνίδης Σ. Μ., «Σχέσεις Καθολικῶν–Ὀρθοδόξων τῆς Σίφνου κατὰ τὸ δεῦτερο τέταρτο τοῦ 17ου αἰῶνα. Ὁ ρόλος τῶν ἀγιορείτικων μετοχίων τοῦ νησιοῦ», Σιφνιακά 9 (2001) 91–108.
- SYRKOU 2006 Σύρκου Α., Το μεγαριό γλωσσικό ἰδίωμα. Λεξικογραφικὴ μελέτη. Athens 2006.
- TCHENTSOVA 2000 Tchentsova V. G., “Le coup d’état constantinopolitain de 1651 d’après la lettre d’un métropolite grec au tsar russe Alexis Michailovich”, Turcica 32 (2000) 389–423.
- TCHENTSOVA 2002 Tchentsova V. G., “Les documents grecs du XVIIe siècle: pièces authentiques et pièces fausses”, Orientalia Christiana Periodica 68 (2002) 335–74.
- TCHENTSOVA 2004 Ченцова В. Г., Восточная церковь и Россия после Переяславской рады. 1654–1658. Документы. М.: «Гуманитарий». Moscow 2004.
- THIERRY/THIERRY 1963 Thierry N. – Thierry M., Nouvelles églises rupestres de Cappadoce: région du Hasan Dagi. Paris 1963.
- TOMADAKIS 1979 Τωμαδάκης Ν. Β., «Τυπικὸν τῆς ἱερᾶς μονῆς Ὁδηγητρίας (Γωνιάς Κισσάμου)», Κρητολογία 8 (1979) 5–22.
- TOURTOGLOU 1980/81 Τουρτόγλου Μ., «Ἡ νομολογία τῶν κριτηρίων τῆς Μυκόνου (17ος-19ος αἰ.)», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Κέντρου Ἑρεύνης τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 27–28 (1980–81) 3–257.

- TOURTOGLOU 1985/1990 Τουρτόγλου Μ., «Συμβολή στη μελέτη τοῦ μεταβυζαντινοῦ ἐθιμικοῦ δικαίου τῶν Κυκλάδων», Ἐπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Κυκλαδικῶν Μελετῶν 13 (1985–90) 245–56.
- TOURTOGLOU 1995 Τουρτόγλου Μ., «Καλλιεργητικές συμβάσεις στὴν Ἀπείρανθο τῆς Νάξου κατὰ τὴν Τουρκοκρατία», Ἐπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Κυκλαδικῶν Μελετῶν 12 (1995) 507–13.
- TOURTOGLOU 1998/2000 Τουρτόγλου Μ., «Ἡ νομολογία τῶν κριτηρίων τῆς Νάξου (17ος–19ος αἰ.)», Μνημοσύνη 14 (1998–2000) 97–184.
- TOURTOGLOU 2000 Τουρτόγλου Μ., «Ἡ προσωπική κράτηση σε δύο Ναξιακὰ πωλητήρια ἐγγράφα του 17ου αἰῶνα», Ἐπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Κυκλαδικῶν Μελετῶν 17 (2000) 109–16.
- TRINCHERA 1865 Trinchera F., Syllabus Graecarum membranarum quae partim Neapoli in maiori tabulario et primaria bibliotheca partim in Casinensi Coenobio ac Cavensi et in episcopali tabulario Neritino iamdiu delitescetes. Naples 1865, reprinted Sala Bolognese 1978.
- TSAKALOF 1910 Τσακάλωφ Ἀ., «Βυζαντινὸν νάϊδριον παρὰ τὴν Τραπεζοῦντα», Byzantinische Zeitschrift 19 (1910) 119–21.
- TSANGALAS 1983 Τσαγγαλᾶς Κ. Δ., «Μιά ἀνέκδοτη συνταγὴ “ὕδρομαντείας” τοῦ 15ου αἰῶνα», Ἐπετηρίς Κέντρου Ἐπιστημονικῶν Ἑρευνῶν Κύπρου 12 (1983) 129–47.
- TSELENDI 1978 Τσελέντη Ν. Γ., «Οἱ καμπάνες τοῦ τουρκοκρατούμενου Ναυπλίου στὴ Βενετία», Θησαυρίσματα 15 (1978) 228–45.
- TSELIKAS 1977 Τσελίκας Ἀ., «Ἐπτὰ ἐπίσημα κυπριακὰ ἐκκλησιαστικά ἐγγράφα», Θησαυρίσματα 14 (1977) 251–74.
- TSELIKAS 1980/81 Τσελίκας Ἀ., «Τὰ χειρόγραφα τῶν ἀρχαϊκῶν μονῶν Ὁμπλοῦ, Χρυσοποδαριτίσσης καὶ Νοτενῶν», Μνημοσύνη 8 (1980–81) 258–82.
- TSELIKAS 1985 Τσελίκας Ἀ., Μαρτυρίες ἀπὸ τὴ Σαντορίνη (1573–1819): ἔκθεσις ἱστορικῶν ἐγγράφων. Athens 1985 [Πνευματικὸ Κέντρο-Μέγαρο Γκύζη, Σαντορίνη].
- TSELIKAS 1986a Τσελίκας Ἀ., «Τρία πατρὶνὰ ἐγγράφα τῆς Α΄ Τουρκοκρατίας (1647–1682)», Πελοποννησιακὰ 16 (1986) 667–75.
- TSELIKAS 1986b Τσελίκας Ἀ., «Νικολάου Σπαρμιώτη, νομικοῦ Κορυφῶν “Ἐγγραφὸν ἐλευθερίας” (1391)», Δελτίον τῆς Ἰονίου Ἀκαδημίας 2 (1986) 168–87.
- TSELIKAS 1986c Τσελίκας Ἀ., «Παρθένιος Χαιρέτης, ἕνας ἀγνοημένος Κρητικὸς λόγιος στὴ Σίφνο (17ος αἰ.)», Τεύχη τοῦ Ε.Λ.Ι.Α. 1 (1986) 21–48.
- TSELIKAS 1988/92 Τσελίκας Ἀ., «Δραστηριότητα τῶν ἐτῶν 1988–1992. Ἀμοργός, Μονὴ Παναγίας Χοζοβιώτισσης», Δελτίο τοῦ Ἱστοριοῦ καὶ Παλαιογραφικοῦ Ἀρχείου 6 (1988–1992) 45–101.
- TSELIKAS 2000 Τσελίκας Ἀ., Ἱαριακὰ ἐγγράφα τοῦ 16ου καὶ 17ου αἰῶνα ἀπὸ τὸ ἀρχεῖο τῆς Πανιναριακῆς Ἀδελφότητος Ἀθηνῶν. Athens 2000.

- TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003 Τσελίκας Ά. – Κορομηλά Λ., Δύο χειρόγραφοι έλληνικοί πορτολάνοι. Οί κώδικες τής Βιβλιοθήκης τής Βουλής τών Έλλήνων και τής Δημόσιας Βιβλιοθήκης τής Ζαγοράς. Athens 2003.
- TSILIMINGRA 1955 Τσιλιμίγκρα Θ., «Βραχεία Χρονικά εκ Λευκάδος», Νέον Άθήναιον 1.1 (1955) 71–80.
- TSIOURAKI 1971 Τσιουράκη Β., «Άνέκδοτα έγγραφα περι τής μονής Ταξιαρχών Αιγίου», Μνήμων 1 (1971) 165–74.
- TSIRPANLIS 1964 Τσιρπανλής Ζ. Ν., «Ό Ίωάννης Πλουσιαδηνός και ή έκκλησία του Χριστού Κεφαλά στο Χάνδακα (Δυό ανέκδοτα έγγραφα του 1481)», Θησαυρίσματα 3 (1964) 1–28.
- TSIRPANLIS 1967 Τσιρπανλής Ζ. Ν., «Σελίδες από τή μεσαιωνική ιστορία τής Νισύρου (1306–1453)», Δωδεκανησιακά 2 (1967) 29–50, reprinted with corrections in TSIRPANLIS 1991, 31–45.
- TSIRPANLIS 1968 Τσιρπανλής Ζ. Ν., «Φιλικές σχέσεις τών ίπποτών τής Ρόδου με τούς Τούρκους κατά τόν 15ον αϊ.», Byzantinische Forschungen 3 (1968) 191–209 [= Polychordia. Festschrift Franz Dölger zum 75. Geburtstag, besorgt von P. Wirth. Amsterdam 1968]. Reprinted with corrections in TSIRPANLIS 1991, 46–63.
- TSIRPANLIS 1973 Τσιρπανλής Ζ. Ν., Άνέκδοτα έγγραφα εκ τών αρχείων του Βατικανού. Nicosia 1973 [Κέντρο Έπιστημονικών Έρευνών – Πηγαί και Μελέται τής Κυπριακής Ιστορίας, 4].
- TSIRPANLIS 1982 Τσιρπανλής Ζ. Ν., «Νίσυρος και Πάτμος (17ος–19ος αϊ.). Πνευματική επικοινωνία και οικονομικές σχέσεις», Νισυριακά 8 (1982) 7–21.
- TSIRPANLIS 1986 Τσιρπανλής Ζ. Ν., «Οί “εΰπρετοι άνθρωποι”, τó παιδομάζωμα και οί επχειρήσεις του παπικού στόλου στο Αιγαίο (1456–1458)», Δωδώνη 15 (1986) 219–57. Reprinted in TSIRPANLIS 1991, 64–102.
- TSIRPANLIS 1991 Τσιρπανλής Ζ. Ν., «Τιμωρία παροίκου τής Ρόδου στα χρόνια τών ίπποτών (1491)». In TSIRPANLIS 1991, 222–37. Orig. version publ. in Βυζαντιναι Μελέται 1 (1988) 52–74.
- TSIRPANLIS 1991 Τσιρπανλής Ζ. Ν., Η Ρόδος και οι Νότιες Σποράδες στα χρόνια των Ιωαννιτών ίπποτών (14ος–16ος αι.). Συλλογή ιστορικών μελετών. Rhodes 1991.
- TSIRPANLIS 1995 Τσιρπανλής Ζ. Ν., Άνέκδοτα έγγραφα για τη Ρόδο και τις Νότιες Σποράδες από το αρχείο των Ιωαννιτών Ιπποτών, vol. 1: 1421–1453. Rhodes 1995.
- TSITSAS 1978/79 Τσίτσας Ά. Χ., «Χριστόδουλος Βούλγαρης, Μέγας Πρωτοπαπās Κερκύρας (1638–1693)», Κεφαλληνιακά Χρονικά 3 (1978–79) 195–234.
- TSITSAS 1994 Τσίτσας Α. Χ., «Η κερκυραϊκή οικογένεια Ζανδίρη. Συμπληρωματικά». In Ροδωνιά. Τιμή στον Μ. Ι. Μανούσακα, vol. 2. Rethymno 1994, 541–50.

- TSITSELIS 1904 Τσιτσέλης Ή. Α., Κεφαλληνιακά Σύμμικτα. Συμβολαί εἰς τὴν ἱστορίαν καὶ λαογραφίαν τῆς νήσου Κεφαλληνίας εἰς τόμους τρεῖς, vol. 1. Athens 1904.
- TSOPANAKIS 1970 Τσοπανάκης Α. Γ., «Ἐγκατάσταση Χαλκητῶν στὴν Ρόδο», Δωδεκανησιακὸν Ἀρχεῖον 5 (1970) 54–80. Reprinted in idem, Συμβολές στὴν ἱστορία τῆς ἐλληνικῆς γλώσσας, vol. 2. Thessaloniki 1983 [ΕΕΦΣΠΘ, Παράρτημα. Τιμητικὸς τόμος Α. Γ. Τσοπανάκη], 389–416.
- TSOPANAKIS 1972 Τσοπανάκης Α. Γ., «Λίγο φῶς στὴν ιδιωτικὴ ζωὴ τῆς Ρόδου κατὰ τὴν μέση Τουρκοκρατία», Δωδεκανησιακά Χρονικά 1 (1972) 7–37.
- TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011 Τσούρκα-Παπαστάθη Δ.-Ε., Η νομολογία του Κριτηρίου τῆς ἐλληνικῆς «Κομπάνιας» του Σιμπίου Τρανσυλβανίας 17ος–18ος αἰ. Πηγές του δικαίου καὶ των θεσμῶν του ἀπόδημου ἐλληνισμοῦ. Athens 2011.
- TURYN 1972 Turyn A., Dated Greek Manuscripts of the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Centuries in the Libraries of Italy, vol. 1. Urbana 1972.
- TURYN 1980 Turyn A., Dated Greek Manuscripts of the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Centuries in the Libraries of Great Britain. Washington, DC 1980 [Dumbarton Oaks Studies, 17].
- TZANNETATOS 1965 Τζαννετάτος Θ. Στ., Τὸ Πρακτικὸν τῆς Λατινικῆς Ἐπισκοπῆς Κεφαλληνίας τοῦ 1264 καὶ ἡ Ἐπιτομή αὐτοῦ. Κριτικὴ ἔκδοσις αὐτῶν. Athens 1965.
- TZIVARA 2003 Τζιβάρα Π., Σχολεῖα καὶ δάσκαλοι στὴ βενετοκρατούμενη Κέρκυρα (16ος–18ος αἰ.). Athens 2003.
- VAKATSAS 1992 Βακατσάς Κ., «Τυπικὸ (1643) με ἐνθυμήσεις ἀπὸ τὴν Ι. Μονὴ Ελεούσας Νήσου», Ἑπειρωτικὰ Χρονικά 30 (1992) 147–58.
- VARZELIOTI 2000 Βαρζελιώτη Γ. Κ., «Τὰ ἰνστρουμέντα τῆς ἀγάπης τοῦ νοτάριου Ἰωάννη Κρούσου», Θησαυρίσματα 30 (2000) 315–37.
- VARZELIOTI 2011 Βαρζελιώτη Γ. Κ., Κρητικὴ κωμωδία καὶ καθημερινὴ ζωὴ: σχέση σημερινῆς εἰκόνας καὶ κοινωνίας στο βενετοκρατούμενο Χάνδακα. Athens and Venice 2011.
- VASMER 1922 Vasmer M., Ein russisch-byzantinisches Gesprächbuch. Beiträge zur Erforschung der älteren russischen Lexikographie. Leipzig 1922 [Veröffentlichungen des baltischen und slavischen Instituts an der Universität Leipzig, 2].
- VASSILIEV 1893 Vassiliev A., Anecdota Graeco-byzantina, vol. 1. Moscow 1893.
- VAYAKAKOS 1940 Βαγιακάκος Δ. Β., «Ἀποικία Μανιατῶν», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Μεσαιωνικοῦ Ἀρχείου 2 (1940) 152–7.
- VAYAKAKOS 1948 Βαγιακάκος Δ. Β., «Γενεαλογία τῆς Ἀγγελικῆς Νίκλη-Σολωμοῦ», Ἀθηνᾶ 52 (1948) 233–43.

- VAYAKAKOS 1949 Βαγιακάκος Δ. Β., «Συμβολή εἰς τὰ περὶ Νίκλων-Νικλιάνων τῆς Μάνης», Ἀθηνᾶ 53 (1949) 147–94.
- VAYAKAKOS 1950 Βαγιακάκος Δ. Β., «Μελισσηνοὶ καὶ Κοντόσταβλοι. Ἐκ Μάνης εἰς Ζάκυνθον 1509», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Ἀρχείου τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 3 (1950) 141–66.
- VAYAKAKOS 1954 Βαγιακάκος Δ. Β., «Μανιάται εἰς Ζάκυνθον. Ἐπὶ τῇ βάσει ἀνεκδότων ἐγγράφων τοῦ ἀρχαιοφυλακείου Ζακύνθου. Α΄ Ἡ οἰκογένεια Νίκηδων-Νικλιάνων (1554–1559)», Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Ἀρχείου τῆς Ἱστορίας τοῦ Ἑλληνικοῦ Δικαίου 5 (1954) 3–96.
- VAYAKAKOS 1988b Βαγιακάκος Δ. Β., «Μετακινήσεις Μανιατῶν πρὸς τὴν Γένοβα», Λακωνικαὶ Σπουδαί 9 (1988) 504–11.
- VAYONAKIS et al. 2001 Βαγιωνάκης Χρ. – Κατσίβελα Ό. – Μιχάλαγα Δ. – Μπελαβγένη Β. – Μπλέτας Μ., Ανδρέας Αμάραντος: νοταριακές πράξεις. Αράνλι Κεφαλονιάς (1548–1562), επιστημονικὴ ἐποπτεία Ν. Γ. Μοσχονάς. Athens 2001.
- VAYONAKIS et al. 2008 Βαγιωνάκης Χρ. – Μιχάλαγα Δ. – Μπλέτας Μ., Νικόλαος Καπιάνος. Νοταριακές πράξεις: Κάστρο Κεφαλονιάς (1571–1576). Επιστημονικὴ ἐποπτεία Ν. Γ. Μοσχονάς. Athens 2008.
- VEIS 1907 Βέης Ν. Α., «Διορθώσεις καὶ παρατηρήσεις εἰς ἀφιερωτήριο τοῦ 1375 ἔτους πρὸς τὴν ἐν Μυστρᾷ μονὴν τῆς Παναγίας τοῦ Βροντοχίου», Νέα Σιών 5 (1907) 241–8.
- VEIS 1911/12 Βέης Ν. Α., «Σερβικὰ καὶ Βυζαντιακὰ γράμματα Μετεώρου», Βυζαντίς 2 (1911–12) 1–100.
- VEIS 1939 Βέης Ν. Α., «Ποντιακὰ χειρόγραφα ἐν τῷ μουσεῖῳ τοῦ κάστρου τῆς Ἀγκύρας», Ἀρχεῖον Πόντου 9 (1939) 193–248.
- VEIS 1956 Βέης Ν. Α., «Χαρτία τοῦ Κλαβαζοῦ», Πελοποννησιακὰ 1 (1956) 441–53.
- VEIS 1984 Βέης Ν. Α., Τὰ χειρόγραφα τῶν Μετεώρων. Κατάλογος περιγραφικῶς τῶν χειρογράφων κωδίκων τῶν ἀποκειμένων εἰς τὰς μονὰς τῶν Μετεώρων, ἐκδιδόμενος ἐκ τῶν καταλοίπων Νίκου Α. Βέη. Τόμος Β΄, Τὰ χειρόγραφα τῆς Μονῆς Βαρλαάμ. Athens 1984.
- VEIS et al. 1998 Βέης Ν. Α. – Βρανούσης Λ. – Σοφιανὸς Δ. Ζ., Τὰ χειρόγραφα τῶν Μετεώρων. Κατάλογος περιγραφικῶς τῶν χειρογράφων κωδίκων τῶν ἀποκειμένων εἰς τὰς μονὰς τῶν Μετεώρων, ἐκδιδόμενος ἐκ τῶν καταλοίπων Νίκου Α. Βέη. Τόμος Α΄, Τὰ χειρόγραφα τῆς Μονῆς Μεταμορφώσεως. Προλεγόμενα – Προσθήκαι Λ. Βρανούσης – Δ. Ζ. Σοφιανός. 2nd edition. Athens 1998.
- VELOUDIS 1987 Βελουδῆς Γ., Τὸ ἑλληνικὸ τυπογραφεῖο τῶν Γλυκῆδων στὴ Βενετία (1670–1854). Συμβολὴ στὴ μελέτη τοῦ ἑλληνικοῦ βιβλίου κατὰ τὴν ἐποχὴ τῆς Τουρκοκρατίας. Athens 1987.

- VERRA et al. 2007 Βέρρα Ί. – Δαβιδοπούλου Ά. – Καλομπράτσου Π. et al., Άντώνιος Σπυρής, Νοτάριος & Πρωτοπαπάς Κερκυρών. Πρωτόκολλο (1560–1567). Έπιστημονική επιμέλεια: Έ. Άγγελομάτη-Τσουγκαράκη – Γ. Κ. Μαυρομάτης. Φιλολογική επιμέλεια Θ. Πυλαρινός. Corfu 2007 [Τμήμα Ίστορίας Ίονιου Πανεπιστημίου, Πηγές τής Έπτανησιακής Ίστορίας, 1].
- VINCENT 1967 Vincent A., «Ό ποιητής τοϋ «Φορτουνάτου». Άνέκδοτα έγγραφα για το Μάρκο Άντώνιο Φώσκολο», Θησαυρίσματα 4 (1967) 53–84.
- VINCENT 1968 Vincent A., «Νέα στοιχεία για το Μάρκο Άντώνιο Φώσκολο. Ή διαθήκη του καί άλλα έγγραφα», Θησαυρίσματα 5 (1968) 119–76.
- VIOLI 2006 Violi F., Storia della Calabria greca con particolare riguardo all'odierna isola ellenofona, Reggio 2006.
- VIOLIDAKIS 2006 Βιολιδάκης Γ. Ν., «Παραχωρήσεις αμπελιών στην Κρήτη κατά την τάξιν των κοινομιανών, τέλη 16ου–μέσα 17ου αιώνα», Θησαυρίσματα 36 (2006) 245–68.
- VISVIZIS 1948 Βισβίζης Ί. Τ., «Αί μεταξύ τών συζύγων περιουσιακαί σχέσεις εις την Χίον κατά την Τουρκοκρατίαν», Έπετηρίς τοϋ Άρχείου τής Ίστορίας τοϋ Έλληνικοϋ Δικαίου 1 (1948) 1–164.
- VISVIZIS 1949 Βισβίζης Ί. Τ., «Αί βολαί τής νήσου Κέας», Έπετηρίς Έταιρείας Βυζαντινών Σπουδών 19 (1949) 25–74.
- VISVIZIS 1951 Βισβίζης Ί. Τ., «Ναξιακά νοταριακά έγγραφα τών τελευταίων χρόνων τοϋ Δουκάτου τοϋ Αιγαίου (1538–1577)», Έπετηρίς τοϋ Άρχείου τής Ίστορίας τοϋ Έλληνικοϋ Δικαίου 4 (1951) 1–167.
- VISVIZIS 1957 Βισβίζης Ί. Τ., «Δικαστικά άποφάσεις τοϋ 17ου αιώνος εκ τής νήσου Μυκόνου», Έπετηρίς τοϋ Άρχείου τής Ίστορίας τοϋ Έλληνικοϋ Δικαίου 7 (1957) 20–154.
- VISVIZIS 1965 Βισβίζης Ί. Τ., «Τινά περι προικών έγγράφων κατά την Βενετοκρατίαν καί την Τουρκοκρατίαν», Έπετηρίς τοϋ Κέντρου Έρεΰνης τής Ίστορίας τοϋ Έλληνικοϋ Δικαίου 12 (1965) 1–129.
- VLACHAKI 1978 Βλαχάκη Ρ. Ί., «Πληρεξούσιο τοϋ ήγουμένου τής κρητικής Μονής Καβαλλαράς στο Γαβριήλ Σεβήρο (1578)», Θησαυρίσματα 15 (1978) 137–43.
- VLACHAKI 1979 Βλαχάκη Ρ. Ί., «Ή εικόνα τής Παναγίας τής Έπισκοπιανης στην Κρήτη πριν άπό τή μεταφορά της στη Ζάκυνθο», Θησαυρίσματα 16 (1979) 255–68.
- VLACHAKI 1982 Βλαχάκη Ρ. Ί., «Διαθήκη τής Δροσούλας χήρας Γεωργαντή Μαλαχία (1584)», Κρητολογία 14–15 (1982) 49–53, 51–53.
- VLACHAKI 1986 Βλαχάκη Ρ. Ί., Ή Κρητική Μονή τής Άγναράθου κατά την εποχή τής Βενετοκρατίας. PhD thesis, University of Crete, Rethymno 1986.

- VLACHAKI 1994 Βλαχάκη Ρ. Ι., «Ἐπιστολή τῆς Πηγῆς Σεβηροπούλας πρὸς τὸν Γαβριήλ Σεβήρο». In Λοιβή εἰς μνήμην Ἀνδρέα Καλοκαιρινοῦ. Heraklion 1994, 291–300.
- VLACHOU 1986 Βλάχου Ἐ. Γ., «Συγκέντρωση μοναστηριακῶν γαιῶν στὴν Κεφαλονιά κατὰ τὸν 17ο καὶ 18ο αἰῶνα. Ἡ περίπτωση τῆς Μονῆς Ὑπεραγίας Θεοτόκου στὴν Ἄτρο», Κεφαλληνιακά Χρονικά 5 (1986) 219–26.
- VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915 Βουρδουμπάκης Ἀ. Π., «Κρητικά ἔγγραφα ἐκ τῆς Ἑνετοκρατίας καὶ Τουρκοκρατίας», Χριστιανικὴ Κρήτη 2 (1915) 339–424.
- VRANOUSI 1980 Βρανούση Ἐ. Λ., Βυζαντινὰ ἔγγραφα τῆς Μονῆς Πάτμου. Α΄, Αὐτοκρατορικά. Διπλωματικὴ ἔκδοσις, Εἰσαγωγή – Εὔρετήρια – Πίνακες. Athens 1980.
- VRANOUSI 1981 Βρανούση Ἐ. Λ., «Δύο ἀνέκδοτα ἀφιερωτήρια ἔγγραφα ὑπὲρ τῆς μονῆς Θεοτόκου τῶν Κριβιτζῶν (ΙΓ΄–ΙΔ΄ αἰ.). Συμβολὴ στὴ μελέτη τῆς βυζαντινῆς Πελοποννήσου», Σύμμεικτα 4 (1981) 17–47.
- XANTHOUDIDIS 1912 Ξανθουδίδης Στ., «Κρητικά συμβόλαια ἐκ τῆς Ἑνετοκρατίας», Χριστιανικὴ Κρήτη 1 (1912) 1–377.
- YANNAROPOULOU 1972 Γιανναροπούλου Ἰ., «Ποικίλα σημειώματα ἐκ γορτυνιακῶν κτητορικῶν κωδίκων», Γορτυνιακά 1 (1972) 303–400.
- YANNOPOULOS 1974 Γιάννοπουλος Ἰ. Γ., «Ἐπιστολή εἰς τὴν ἑλληνικὴν τοῦ Μποσταντζή μπασῆ Σκεντέρ μπέη πρὸς τὸν Andrea Gritti», Θησαυρίσματα 11 (1974) 128–35.
- ZACHARIADOU 1962 Ζαχαριάδου Ἐ., «Μία ἑλληνόγλωσση συνθήκη τοῦ Χηδῆρ Ἀϊδινόγλου», Byzantinische Zeitschrift 55 (1962) 254–65. Reprinted in eadem, Romania and the Turks (c.1300–c.1500). London 1985, no. VII.
- ZAPANDI 1999 Ζαπάντη Στ., Κεφαλονιά 1500–1571: ἡ συγκρότηση τῆς κοινωρίας τοῦ νησιοῦ. Thessaloniki 1999.
- ZAPANDI 2001a Ζαπάντη Στ., Γιάκουμος Σουριάνος, Νοτάριος Κάστρου. Κατάστιχο 1570–1598. Argostoli 2001 [Γενικά Ἀρχεῖα τοῦ Κράτους, Ἀρχεῖα Νομοῦ Κεφαλληνίας 14, Πηγές 3].
- ZAPANDI 2001b Ζαπάντη Στ., «Ἐριδες χωριῶν τῆς Κεφαλονίας καὶ συμφωνίες συμφιλίωσης τῶν κατοίκων τοὺς κατὰ τὸ 17ο αἰῶνα». In Πρακτικά τοῦ ΣΤ΄ Διεθνούς Πανιονίου Συνεδρίου (Ζάκυνθος, 23–27 Σεπτεμβρίου 1997), vol. 2. Athens 2001, 181–98.
- ZAPANDI 2002a Ζαπάντη Στ., Μοντεσάντος (δε) ἱερέας Σταμάτιος, νοτάριος Ελείου. Κατάστιχο 1535–1553. Argostoli 2002 [Γενικά Ἀρχεῖα τοῦ Κράτους, Ἀρχεῖα Νομοῦ Κεφαλληνίας 15, Πηγές 4].
- ZAPANDI 2002b Ζαπάντη Στ., Γεώργιος Βλασόπουλος. Νοτάριος Βαθέος Ἰθάκης 1636–1648. Ithaca 2002 [Γενικά Ἀρχεῖα τοῦ Κράτους, Τοπικὸ Ἀρχεῖο Ἰθάκης, 1. Πηγές, 1].

- ZARIDI 1992 Ζαρίδη Κ., «Άγνωστα στοιχεία για τὸν Κερκυραῖο ἱερομόναχο Ἰωαννίκιο Καρτάνο ἀπὸ ἀνέκδοτα ἔγγραφα τοῦ ἱστορικοῦ ἀρχείου τῆς Κέρκυρας», Δωδώνη 21 (1992) 57–77.
- ZARIDI 1993 Ζαρίδη Κ., «Ὁ Κερκυραῖος στιχουργὸς Ἰάκωβος Τριβώλης. Στοιχεῖα ἀπὸ τὸ Ἱστορικὸ Ἀρχεῖο Κερκύρας», Ἐξὰ καὶ Ἑσπέρια 1 (1993) 145–89.
- ZARIDI/MICHALEAS 2008/13 Ζαρίδη Αἰκ. – Μιχαλέας Σπ., «Οἱ πράξεις τοῦ νοταρίου τῆς πόλεως Κερκύρας Νικολάου Γεράσιμου (1566–1568)», Δωδώνη Ἱστορία καὶ Αρχαιολογία 38–40 (2008–2013), 121–67.
- ZERLENDIS 1888 Ζερλέντης Π. Γ., «Περὶ τῆς ἀνὰ τὰς Κυκλάδας σωματεμπορίας ἐπὶ Τουρκοκρατίας», Παρνασσὸς 12 (1888) 246–50.
- ZERLENDIS 1913a Ζερλέντης Π. Γ., «Ἀρχιεπίσκοποι Σίφνου καὶ Μυκόνου (1646–1797)». In Ἱστορικαὶ ἔρευναι περὶ τὰς ἐκκλησίας τῶν νήσων τῆς ἀνατολικῆς Μεσογείου θαλάσσης, vol. 1. Ermoupolis 1913, reprinted Athens 1998, 124–46.
- ZERLENDIS 1913b Ζερλέντης Π. Γ., «Διορθώσεις καὶ προσθήκαι εἰς τοὺς ἀρχιεπισκόπους Σίφνου καὶ Μυκόνου». In Ἱστορικαὶ ἔρευναι περὶ τὰς ἐκκλησίας τῶν νήσων τῆς ἀνατολικῆς Μεσογείου θαλάσσης, vol. 1. Ermoupolis 1913, reprinted Athens 1998, 230–5.
- ZERLENDIS 1917 Ζερλέντης Π. Γ., «Περὶ τῶν ἐν Χίῳ φροντιστηρίων», Ἀθηνᾶ 29 (1917) 242–47.
- ZERLENDIS 1918a Ζερλέντης Π. Γ., «Τουλιάνου Ντακορώνια αὐθέντου Σιφνίων, γράμμα τοῦ ἔτους 1462», Νησιωτικὴ Ἐπετηρὶς 1 (1918) 126–32.
- ZERLENDIS 1918b Ζερλέντης Π. Γ., «Παναγιώτης Νικαίου καὶ Ἀλέξανδρος Μαυρογορδάτος, ἄρχοντες Μυκονίων», Νησιωτικὴ Ἐπετηρὶς 1 (1918) 161–223.
- ZERLENDIS 1918c Ζερλέντης Π. Γ., «Ὁ ναὸς Παναγίας τῆς Γωνιάς. Τὸ καθολικὸν τῆς ἐπισκοπῆς Θήρας», Νησιωτικὴ Ἐπετηρὶς 1 (1918) 275–84.
- ZERLENDIS 1918d Ζερλέντης Π. Γ., «Ἀρχιεπίσκοποι Καρπάθου καὶ Κάσου 1537–1821», Νησιωτικὴ Ἐπετηρὶς 1 (1918) 285–308.
- ZERLENDIS 1922 Ζερλέντης Π. Γ., Ἱστορικὰ σημειώματα ἐκ τοῦ βιβλίου τῶν ἐν Νάξῳ Καπουκίνων, 1649–1713. Ermoupolis 1922.
- ZERLENDIS 1923a Ζερλέντης Π. Γ., Μαντροκάθισμα, βουδόμαντρα, θεμωνιά, μιτᾶτο. Ἐκ τοῦ γεωργικοῦ καὶ ποιμενικοῦ βίου τῶν Συρίων. Ermoupolis 1923.
- ZERLENDIS 1923b Ζερλέντης Π. Γ., Παραλειπόμενα τοῦ οἴκου Ζυγομαλά. Ἐπροστάτευσαν οἱ Πάπαι τοὺς Ἕλληνας; Καὶ τὰ ἐλληνικὰ γράμματα; Athens 1923.
- ZERLENDIS 1924a Ζερλέντης Π. Γ., Σύστασις τοῦ Κοινοῦ τῶν Μυκονίων. Ermoupolis 1924.
- ZERLENDIS 1924b Ζερλέντης Π. Γ., Ἰγνάτιος Ρόσας, ὁ τελευταῖος Φράγκος ἐπίσκοπος Ἄνδρου, 1670–1710. Ermoupolis 1924.

- ŽIVOJINOVIĆ et al. 1998 Živojinović M. – Kravari V. – Giros Chr., Actes de Chilandar, vol. 1: Des origines à 1319. Édition diplomatique. Paris 1998 [Archives de l'Athos, 20].
- ZOIS 1928 Ζώης Λ. Χ., «Ταμεῖον ἐξαγορᾶς αἰχμαλώτων», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Βυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν 5 (1928) 342–7.
- ZOIS 1936/37 Ζώης Λ. Χ., «Ἐγγραφα τοῦ ΙΣΤ΄ αἰῶνος ἐκ τοῦ Ἀρχείου Ζακύνθου», Byzantinisch-Neugriechische Jahrbücher 13 (1936–37) ιε΄–μζ΄.
- ZOIS 1938 Ζώης Λ. Χ., «Κρῆτες ἐν Ζακύνθῳ», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Κρητικῶν Σπουδῶν 1 (1938) 293–301.
- ZOIS 1939 Ζώης Λ. Χ., «Κρῆτες ἐν Ζακύνθῳ», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Κρητικῶν Σπουδῶν 2 (1939) 119–31.
- ZOIS 1940 Ζώης Λ. Χ., «Ναοὶ Κρητῶν ἐν Ζακύνθῳ», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Κρητικῶν Σπουδῶν 3 (1940) 179–86.
- ZOIS 1941 Ζώης Λ. Χ., «Κρητικὰ σημειώματα», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Κρητικῶν Σπουδῶν 4 (1941) 107–13.
- ZOIS 1951 Ζώης Λ. Χ., «Παλαιὰ ἐπίσημα ἔγγραφα», Φιλολογικὴ Πρωτοχρονιά, 1951, 170–2.
- ZOIS 1955 Ζώης Λ. Χ., «Ναὸς καὶ Μονὴ ἐν Ζακύνθῳ τῆς ἐν τῷ Ἀγίῳ Ὁρει τοῦ Σινᾶ Μονῆς τῆς Ἀγίας Αἰκατερίνης», Κρητικὰ Χρονικά 9 (1955) 512–22.
- ZOIS 1956 Ζώης Λ. Χ., «Κρῆτες πρόσφυγες τοῦ 1667», Κρητικὰ Χρονικά 10 (1956) 346–52.
- ZOIS 1957 Ζώης Λ. Χ., «Ἡ διαθήκη τοῦ Ἱερωνύμου Λιτάρχη (1599)», Ἑλληνικά 15 (1957) 54–64.

3. Secondary Works

Most entries use the author–date system, but in the case of some frequently cited reference works an abbreviated title is used, e.g. ANDRIOTIS, Lex. Arch.; KRIARAS, Lex.; LBG.

- ADLER 1931 Adler A., “Suidas”, Paulys Realencyclopädie der classischen Altertumswissenschaft A 4A,1 (1931), 675–717.
- AERTS 1965 Aerts W. J., Periphrastica: An investigation into the use of εἶναι and ἔχειν as auxiliaries or pseudo-auxiliaries in Greek from Homer up to the present day. Amsterdam 1965 [Universiteit van Amsterdam. Byzantijns-Nieuwgrieks Seminarium, 2].
- AERTS 1972 Aerts W. J., “The Monza Vocabulary”. In W. F. Bakker, A. F. van Gemert and W. J. Aerts (eds.), Studia Byzantina et Neohellenica Neerlandica. Leiden 1972, 36–73.
- AERTS 1983 Aerts W. J., “Periphrastic constructions of future tense, especially with μέλλειν, in Medieval Cypriot”, Ἐπετηρὶς τοῦ Κέντρου Ἐπιστημονικῶν Ἑρευνῶν Κύπρου 12 (1983) 149–69.

- AERTS 1995 Aerts W. J., "Froumund's Greek: an analysis of fol. 12v of the Codex Vindobonensis Graecus 114, followed by a comparison with a Latin–Greek wordlist in MS 179 Auxerre fol. 137vff". In A. Davids (ed.), The Empress Theophano: Byzantium and the West at the Turn of the First Millennium. Cambridge 1995, 194–210.
- AERTS 1998 Aerts W. J., "Um ein Jahrhundert Unterschied. Einige Überlegungen zur Handschrift H (Kopenhagen) gegenüber der Handschrift P (Paris) der Chronik von Morea". In I. Vassis, G. S. Henrich and D. Reinsch (eds.), Lesarten: Festschrift für Athanasios Kambylis zum 70. Geburtstag. Berlin and New York 1998, 259–72.
- AERTS/HOKWERDA 2002 Aerts W. J. – Hokwerda H., Lexicon on the Chronicle of Morea. Groningen 2002.
- AGAPITOS 2006 See Liv. α, N, P, S in Bibliography of literary works.
- AGGOURAKI et al. 2001 Aggouraki G. – Arvaniti A. – D. Goutsos et al. (eds.), Greek Linguistics '99: Proceedings of the 4th International Conference on Greek Linguistics, Nicosia, 17–19 September 1999. Thessaloniki 2001.
- ALEXAKIS 2005 Αλεξάκης Ν., «Παρατηρήσεις στη φωνητική, τη μορφολογία και τη σύνταξη του κερκυραϊκού ιδιώματος», Studies in Greek Linguistics 25 (2005) 19–30.
- ALEXANDRIS 1958 Ἀλεξανδρῆς Α. Κ., «Τὸ γλωσσικὸν ἰδίωμα τῆς Κύμης καὶ τῶν περιχώρων», Ἀρχεῖον Εὐβοϊκῶν Μελετῶν 5 (1958) 143–78.
- ALEXIOU 1980 See *KORNAROS, Erot. in Bibliography of literary works.
- ALEXIOU 1985 See *Dig. E in Bibliography of literary works.
- ALLEN ³1987 Allen W. S., Vox Graeca: A Guide to the Pronunciation of Classical Greek. 3rd edition. Cambridge 1987.
- ALONSO ALDAMA 2005 Alonso Aldama J., «Συναλοιφή, αφαίρεση, κράση, έκθλιψη και διαλοιφή στα δημώδη βυζαντινά κείμενα: οι διασκευές Τ και Α του Διγενή Ακρίτη». In E. Jeffreys and M. Jeffreys (eds.), Neograeca Medii Aevi V: Αναδρομικά και προδρομικά. Approaches to Texts in Early Modern Greek. Oxford 2005, 153–68.
- AMANDOS 1918 Ἀμαντος Κ., «Ἡ πρόθεσις ἀπὸ ἐν τῇ νέᾳ ἑλληνικῇ», Λεξικογραφικὸν Ἀρχεῖον 5 (1918) 132–45.
- ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1922 Ἀναγνωστόπουλος Γ., «Περὶ τοῦ ἄρθρου», Ἀθηνᾶ 41 (1922) 166–247.
- ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1924 Ἀναγνωστόπουλος Γ., «Εἰσαγωγή εἰς τὴν νεοελληνικὴν διαλεκτολογία. Α', Περὶ τῆς ἀρχῆς τῶν νέων ἑλληνικῶν διαλέκτων», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Βυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν 1 (1924) 93–108.

- ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1926 Ἀναγνωστόπουλος Γ., «Περὶ τῆς ἐν Κρήτῃ ὁμιλουμένης καὶ ἰδίως περὶ τοῦ ἰδιώματος Ἀγ. Βαρβάρας καὶ περιχώρων», Ἀθηνᾶ 38 (1926) 139–93.
- ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1936 Anagnostopoulos G., “Über das neugriechische εἶναι (= ἐστί, εἰσί)”, Glotta 25 (1936) 9–11.
- ANDRIOTIS, Lex. Ἀνδριώτης Ν. Π., Ἑτυμολογικὸ λεξικὸ τῆς Κοινῆς Νεοελληνικῆς. 3rd edition with corrections and additions. Thessaloniki 1983.
- ANDRIOTIS, Lex. Arch. Andriotis N. P., Lexikon der Archaismen in neugriechischen Dialekten. Vienna 1974.
- ANDRIOTIS 1933 Ἀνδριώτης Ν. Π., «Περὶ τῆς ἀρχῆς τῶν βορείων γλωσσικῶν ἰδιωμάτων τῆς Νέας Ἑλληνικῆς», Ἐπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Βυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν 10 (1933) 340–52.
- ANDRIOTIS 1939 Ἀνδριώτης Ν. Π., «“Paragaudis”-“παραγαύδης”-“παραγαύδιον”-“παραγάδι”», Λεξικογραφικὸν Δελτίον 1 (1939) 33–9.
- ANDRIOTIS 1940 Andriotis N. P., “Die Ausdrucksmittel für ‘gar nichts’, ‘ein wenig’ und ‘sehr viel’ im Alt- Mittel- und Neugriechischen”, Byzantinisch-Neugriechische Jahrbücher 16 (1940) 59–155.
- ANDRIOTIS 1942/43 Ἀνδριώτης Ν. Π., «Τὰ ὅρια τῶν βορείων, ἡμιβορείων καὶ νοτίων ἑλληνικῶν ἰδιωμάτων τῆς Θράκης», Ἀρχεῖον τοῦ Θρακικοῦ Λαογραφικοῦ καὶ Γλωσσικοῦ Θησαυροῦ 9 (1942/43) 131–85.
- ANDRIOTIS 1943 Andriotis N. P., “Zur vermeintlichen Nasalentwicklung im Neugriechischen”, Byzantinisch-Neugriechische Jahrbücher 17 (1943) 108–24.
- ANDRIOTIS 1952 Ἀνδριώτης Ν. Π., «Συντακτικὰ καὶ μορφολογικά», Ἑλληνικά 12 (1952) 15–33.
- ANDRIOTIS 1954 Ἀνδριώτης Ν. Π., «Γραμματικά (ἔχομε-ἔχουμε, κάθομαι-κάθουμαι)», Νέα Ἑστία 647 (1954) 917–18.
- ANDRIOTIS 1956 Ἀνδριώτης Ν. Π., «Ἡ κράση τοῦ συμπλέγματος ou + e στὴν Μεσαιωνικὴ καὶ Νέα Ἑλληνικὴ». In Mélanges offerts à Octave et Melpo Merlier pour le 25e anniversaire de leur arrivée en Grèce, vol. 1. Athens 1956, 1–11.
- ANDRIOTIS 1958 Ἀνδριώτης Ν. Π., «Τὸ γλωσσικὸ ἰδίωμα τῆς παλιᾶς Θεσσαλονίκης», Μακεδονικὸν Ἡμερολόγιον 1958, 145–50.
- ANDRIOTIS 1974 Andriotis N. P., La loi de prophylaxie dans le vocalisme grec. Thessaloniki 1974.
- ANDRIOTIS 1976a Andriotis N. P., “La genèse des dialectes”. In XVe Congrès international d’études byzantines. Rapports et co-rapports, II.2. Athens 1976, 3–20.
- ANDRIOTIS 1976b Ἀνδριώτης Ν. Π., «Φαινόμενα συναλοιφῆς καὶ χασμωδίας στὴν ἑλληνικὴ γλώσσα», Ἑλληνικά 29 (1976) 5–45.
- APOSTOLOPOULOS 1984 Apostolopoulos Ph., La langue du roman byzantin “Callimaque et Chrysorrhôe”. Athens 1984.

- ARCHELAOS 1899 Archelaos Sarandidis I., Ἡ Σινασός, ἥτοι θέσις, ἱστορία, ἠθικὴ καὶ διανοητικὴ κατάστασις, ἥθη, ἔθιμα καὶ γλῶσσα τῆς ἐν Καππαδοκίᾳ κωμοπόλεως Σινασοῦ. Athens 1899.
- ARVANITI 1999 Arvaniti A., “Standard Modern Greek”, Journal of the International Phonetic Association 29 (1999) 167–72.
- ARVANITI 2007 Arvaniti A., “Greek phonetics. The state of the art”, Journal of Greek Linguistics 8 (2007) 97–208.
- ARVANITI 2010 Arvaniti A., “A (brief) overview of the phonetics and phonology of Cypriot Greek.” In A. Voskos, D. Goutsos and A. Moser (eds.), Ἡ ἐλληνικὴ γλῶσσα στὴν Κύπρῳ ἀπὸ τὴν ἀρχαιότητα ὡς σήμερα. Athens 2010, 107–24.
- ARVANITI/JOSEPH 2000 Arvaniti A. – Joseph B. D., “Variation in voiced stop prenasalisation in Greek”, Glossologia 11–12 (2000) 131–66.
- ASDRACHA 2003 Asdracha C., Inscriptions protobyzantines et byzantines de la Thrace orientale et de l’île d’Imbros (IIIe–XVe siècles): Présentation et commentaire historique. Athens 2003.
- AVLONITI 2006 Αυλωνίτη Σ.-Ζ., Μορφολογικὴ ἐξέταση τοῦ ρηματικοῦ συστήματος τοῦ κερκυραϊκοῦ ιδιώματος. Unpublished MA thesis, University of Patras, 2006.
- BABINGER 1953 Babinger F., Mehmed der Eroberer und seine Zeit: Weltenstürmer einer Zeitenwende. Munich 1953.
- BABINIOTIS, Lex. Μπαμπινιώτης Γ. (ed.), Λεξικό τῆς Νέας Ἑλληνικῆς Γλώσσας. Athens 1998.
- BABINIOTIS 1972 Μπαμπινιώτης Γ., Τὸ ρῆμα τῆς ἐλληνικῆς. Δομικαὶ ἐξελίξεις καὶ συστηματοποιήσεις τοῦ ρήματος τῆς ἐλληνικῆς (ἀρχαίας καὶ νέας). Athens 1972 [Βιβλιοθήκη Σοφίας Ν. Σαριπόλου, 20].
- BABINIOTIS 1977 Μπαμπινιώτης Γ., «Τὸ πρόβλημα τῆς χρονολογήσεως τῶν κωφώσεων στὰ βόρεια ἑλληνικὰ ιδιώματα». In Πρακτικὰ Α΄ Συμποσίου γλωσσολογίας βορειοελλαδικοῦ χώρου. Thessaloniki 1977, 13–21.
- BABINIOTIS 32002 Μπαμπινιώτης Γ., Συνοπτικὴ ἱστορία τῆς ἐλληνικῆς γλώσσας. 3rd edition. Athens 2002.
- BAKKER 1974 Bakker W. F., Pronomen abundans et pronomen coniunctum: A contribution to the history of the resumptive pronoun within the relative clause in Greek. Amsterdam and London 1974 [Verhandelingen der Koninklijke Nederlandse Akademie van Wetenschappen, Afd. Letterkunde; N.R. 82].
- BAKKER 1988 Bakker W. F., «Ἡ γλῶσσα τῶν συμβολαιογραφικῶν πράξεων τοῦ Μανόλη Βαρούχα», Cretan Studies 1 (1988) 17–24.
- BAKKER 1988/89 Bakker W. F., «Περιγραφή τῆς γλώσσας τῶν συμβολαιογραφικῶν πράξεων τοῦ Μανόλη Βαρούχα», Κρητικὰ Χρονικά 28–29 (1988/89) 275–323.

- BAKKER 1993 Bakker W. F., «Η χασμωδία σε κρητικά κείμενα της ακμής». In PANAYOTAKIS 1993, 228–47.
- BAKKER et al. 2008 See ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. in Bibliography of literary works.
- BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1977 Bakker W. F. – Van Gemert A. F., “A check list of published Cretan documents in Vernacular Greek”, Μαντατοφόρος 10 (May 1977) 12–39.
- BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978 Bakker W. F. – Van Gemert A. F., «Οί διαθήκες τοῦ κρητικοῦ νοταρίου Ἀντωνίου Γιαλέα (1529–1532)», Κρητολογία 6 (1978) 5–90.
- BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1979 Bakker W. F. – Van Gemert A. F., “A check list of published Cretan documents in Vernacular Greek. Supplement I”, Μαντατοφόρος 14 (November 1979) 53–5.
- BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1988 See Velis. in Bibliography of literary works.
- BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1996 See Thysia Avr. in Bibliography of literary works.
- BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 2002 See FALIEROS, Thrinios in Bibliography of literary works.
- BALTAZANI/TOPINTZI 2012 Baltazani M. – Topintzi N., “On some phonetic and phonological properties of the Greek glide”. In GAVRIILIDOU et al. 2012, 153–66.
- BALTAZANI et al. 2009 Baltazani M. – Giannakis G. K. – Tsangalidis A. – Xydopoulos G. J. (eds.), ICGL 8: Proceedings of the 8th International Conference on Greek Linguistics (Ioannina, Greece, 30 August–2 September 2007). Available as CD-ROM. ISBN: 978-960-233-195-8.
- BANCROFT-MARCUS 1987 Bancroft-Marcus R., “The language of Chortatsis. Phonetic consistency”. In H. Eideneier (ed.), Neograeca Medii Aevi I: Text und Ausgabe. Akten zum Symposion Köln 1986. Cologne 1987, 53–74.
- BĂNESCU 1915 Bănescu N., Die Entwicklung des griechischen Futurums von der frühbyzantinischen Zeit bis zur Gegenwart. Bucharest 1915.
- BARRY et al. 1975 Barry J. N. – Share M. J. – Smithies A. – Westerink L. G., Mazaris' Journey to Hades: Or Interviews with Dead Men about Certain Officials of the Imperial Court. Buffalo 1975 [Arethusa Monographs, 5].
- BASEA-BEZANDAKOU 2005 Μπασέα-Μπεζαντάκου Χ. Ε., «Διαλεκτικά στοιχεία σε ιδιωτικά έγγραφα (μέσα 16ου – αρχές 19ου αι.) από τη Δ. Μάνη». In Γ. Παπαντωνάκης et al. (eds.), Άνθη Φιλίας. Αφιέρωμα στον καθηγητή Κ. Μηνά. Rhodes 2005, 279–91.
- BEAUDOIN 1884 Beaudoin M., Étude du dialecte chypriote moderne et médiéval. Paris 1884 [Bibliothèque des Écoles d'Athènes et de Rome, 36].
- BEEKES 2010 Beekes R. S. P., Etymological Dictionary of Greek. Leiden 2010.

- BEIS 2002 Μπέης Σ., «Το φαινόμενο της κώφωσης στα βόρεια ελληνικά ιδιώματα και στη βλαχική γλώσσα». In Ch. Clairis (ed.), Recherches en linguistique grecque: Actes du 5e Colloque international de linguistique grecque (Sorbonne, 13–15 Septembre 2001), vol. 1. Paris 2002, 103–6.
- BENARDIS 2006 Μπεναρδής Μ., Γραμματική και λεξικό του μεγάρικου ιδιώματος. Athens 2006.
- BESCHEVLIEV 1922/25 Beschewliiev V., “Die griechische Sprache der Urbulgarischen Inschriften”, Godisnik na Narodnija Muzej = Jahrbuch des bulgarischen archäologischen Nationalmuseums (Sofia) 4 (1922–25) 381–429.
- BESCHEWLIIEW 1935 Beschewliiew V., “Der Ursprung des neugriechischen εἶναι (= ἐστί)”, Glotta 23 (1935) 270–3.
- BESCHEWLIIEW 1938 Beschewliiew V., “Nochmals über das neugriechische εἶναι”, Glotta 26 (1938) 262–3.
- BIDWELL 1967 Bidwell C. E., “A medieval Greek text in Latin letters”, General Linguistics 7 (1967) 121–6.
- BLASS et al. 1961 Blass F. – Debrunner A. – Funk R., A Greek Grammar of the New Testament and Other Early Christian Literature: A translation and revision of the ninth–tenth German edition. Cambridge and Chicago 1961.
- BLEVINS 2004 Blevins J., Evolutionary Phonology: The Emergence of Sound Patterns. Cambridge 2004.
- BLEVINS 2008 Blevins J., “Consonant epenthesis: natural and unnatural histories”. In J. Good (ed.), Language Universals and Language Change. Oxford 2008, 79–107.
- BLEVINS/GARRETT 2004 Blevins J. – Garrett A., “The evolution of metathesis”. In B. Hayes, R. Kirchner and D. Steriade (eds.), Phonetically Based Phonology. Cambridge 2004, 117–56.
- BOERIO, Lex. Boerio G., Dizionario del dialetto veneziano. Venice 1829.
- BOIATZIS 1813 Μποϊατζής Μ. Γ., Γραμματική ρωμανική ήτοι μακεδονοβλαχική. Vienna 1813.
- BON 1969 Bon A., La Morée franque: Recherches historiques, topographiques et archéologiques sur la Principauté d’Achaïe (1205–1430). Paris 1969.
- BORTONE 2010 Bortone P., Greek Prepositions from Antiquity to the Present. Oxford and New York 2010.
- BOTINIS 2009 Μποτίνης Α., Φωνητική της Ελληνικής: Βασικές έννοιες φωνητικής και φωνητικά συστήματα. Athens 2009.
- BOUTOURAS 1911 Μπούτουρας Ά. Χ., Φωνητικά καὶ ὀρθογραφικά τῆς νεοελληνικῆς. Ὁ ὑπολανθάνων νόμος τῆς ἐξασθενώσεως τοῦ ου εἰς ι πρὸ τῆς ἀποσιωπῆσεως καὶ ἐμβολῆς αὐτοῦ ἐν τοῖς βορείοις ἰδιώμασι. Athens 1911.

- BOUTOURAS 1917 Μπούτουρας Ά. Χ., «Περὶ τῆς γενέσεως καὶ ἐκτάσεως τοῦ τσ (τζ) φθόγγου ἐν τῇ ἐλληνικῇ γλώσσῃ», Άγωγή 1 (1917) 253–61.
- BOÜÜAERT 1946 Boüüaert J., “Le gamma irrationel”, Byzantina-Metabyzantina 1 (1946) 55–63.
- BOYENS 1908 Boyens J., Grammatica linguae graecae vulgaris communis omnibus Graecis ex qua alia artificialis deducitur peculiaris eruditis et studiosis tantum per patrem Romanum Nicephori Thessalonicensem, Macedonem, éd. d’après le ms. 2604 (Fonds grec) de la B.N. de Paris par –. Liège 1908.
- BRIXHE ²1987 Brixhe C., Essai sur le grec anatolien au début de notre ère. 2nd edition. Nancy 1987.
- BRIXHE 2010 Brixhe C., “Linguistic diversity in Asia Minor during the Empire: Koine and non-Greek languages”. In E. Bakker (ed.), A Companion to the Ancient Greek Language. Malden, MA, Oxford and Chichester 2010, 227–51.
- BRIXHE 2013 Brixhe, C., “La Pamphylie. Peuplement et dialecte: 40 ans de recherche”, Kadmos 52 (2013) 169–205.
- BROWNING 1976 Browning R., “Problems concerning the genesis of the dialects of Modern Greek”. In XVe Congrès international d’études byzantines. Rapports et co-rapports, II.2. Athens 1976.
- BROWNING ²1983 Browning R., Medieval and Modern Greek. 2nd edition. Cambridge 1983.
- BRUST 2005 Brust M., Die indischen und iranischen Lehnwörter im Griechischen. Innsbruck 2005.
- BUCK 1955 Buck C. D., The Greek Dialects. Chicago 1955.
- BURESCH 1891 Buresch K., “Γέγοναν und anderes Vulgärgriechisch”, Rheinisches Museum für Philologie 46 (1891) 193–232.
- BURGUIÈRE/MANTRAN 1952 See RUMI, Poem I–II in Bibliography of literary works.
- BURIDANT 2000 Buridant C., Grammaire nouvelle de l’ancien français. Paris 2000.
- BUTURAS 1913/14 Buturas A., «Über den irrationalen Nasal im Griechischen», Glotta 5 (1913/14) 170–90.
- BYBEE 2015 Bybee J., Language Change. Cambridge 2015.
- CAMPBELL/MIXCO 2007 Campbell L. – Mixco M. J., A Glossary of Historical Linguistics. Edinburgh 2007.
- CANART 1991 Canart P., Paleografia e codicologia greca: una rassegna bibliografica. Vatican 1991.
- CARACAUSSI, Lex. Caracausi G., Lessico greco della Sicilia e dell’Italia meridionale (secoli X–XIV). Palermo 1990 [Lessici siciliani, 6].
- CARACAUSSI 1975 Caracausi G., “Il valore di ζ nei documenti medievali italogreci e il problema delle affricate”. In Byzantino-Sicula II. Palermo 1975, 107–38.
- CARATZAS 1940 Καρατζάς Στ., «Συμβολή εἰς τὴν εὐβοϊκὴν διαλεκτολογίαν». In Άφιέρωμα εἰς Κ. Ἱ. Άμαντον. Athens 1940, 253–86.

- CARATZAS 1952 Caratzas S. C., “La dissimilation du T dans le dialecte du vieil Athènes et la valeur du témoignage de Kavassilas et Zygomalas (16e sc.)”, Rendiconti del Istituto Lombardo di Scienze e Lettere 85 (1952) 289–97.
- CARATZAS 1954 Caratzas S. C., “Byzantinogermanica”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 47 (1954) 320–32.
- CARATZAS 1957 Καρατζάς Στ., «Ένα δωρικό κατάλοιπο στις ελληνικές και ρομανικές διαλέκτους της Καλαβρίας και Σικελίας θεωρούμενο άραβικό», Ἑλληνικά 15 (1957) 26–39.
- CARATZAS 1958 Caratzas S. C., L’origine des dialectes néogrecs de l’Italie méridionale. Paris 1958.
- CGL Corpus Glossariorum Latinorum, 7 vols. Leipzig 1888–1923.
- CHALKIOPULOS 1872 Chalkiopoulos N., “De sonorum affectionibus quae percipiuntur in dialecto neolocrica”. In G. Curtius (ed.), Studien zur griechischen und lateinischen Grammatik, vol. 5.2. Leipzig 1872, 339–76.
- CHANTRAINE 1927 Chantraine P., Histoire du parfait grec. Paris 1927.
- CHANTRAINE ²1984 Chantraine P., Morphologie historique du grec. 2nd edition. Paris 1984.
- CHARALAMBAKIS 1984 Χαραλαμπάκης Χρ., «Δυο προβληματικά τοπωνύμια: Ρήχτης και Ρέτζακας», Ονόματα 9 (1984) 133–40. Reprinted in CHARALAMBAKIS 2001, 113–20.
- CHARALAMBAKIS 1995 Χαραλαμπάκης Χρ., «Κοινωνιογλωσσολογική προσέγγιση των έργων της κρητικής λογοτεχνίας». In Πεπραγμένα του Ζ’ Διεθνούς Κρητολογικού Συνεδρίου, vol. B2. Rethymno 1995, 757–71. Reprinted in CHARALAMBAKIS 2001, 171–86.
- CHARALAMBAKIS 1998 Χαραλαμπάκης Χρ., «Γλωσσικές παρατηρήσεις στο κατάστιχο του Ιωάννη Ολόκαλου», Cretan Studies 6 (1998) 109–28. Reprinted in CHARALAMBAKIS 2001, 191–208.
- CHARALAMBAKIS 2001 Χαραλαμπάκης Χρ., Κρητολογικά Μελετήματα. Heraklion 2001.
- CHATZIDAKIS See also HATZIDAKIS.
- CHATZIDAKIS 1901a Χατζιδάκης Γ. Ν., Γλωσσολογικά μελέται Α’. Athens 1901.
- CHATZIDAKIS 1901b Χατζιδάκης Γ. Ν., «Έχω γράψαι–γραφῆναι, ἔχω γράψει–γραφῆ», Ἀθηνᾶ 13 (1901) 262–72. Reprinted in CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A, 598–609.
- CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07 Χατζιδάκης Γ. Ν., Μεσαιωνικά και Νέα Ἑλληνικά. 2 vols. Athens 1905–1907. Reprinted Athens 1997, Athens 2010.
- CHATZIDAKIS 1909/10 Χατζιδάκης Γ. Ν., «Παρεκτεταμένα μόρια τῆς νέας ἑλληνικῆς», Ἐπιστημονικὴ Ἑπετηρὶς Ἐθνικοῦ Πανεπιστημίου 7 (1909/10) 80–4. Reprinted in CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: A, 223–6.
- CHATZIDAKIS 1910 Χατζιδάκης Γ. Ν., «Νεοελληνικά», Ἀθηνᾶ 22 (1910) 205–62.

- CHATZIDAKIS 1910/11 Chatzidakis G. N., «Περὶ τῶν ἐπιθέτων τῆς νέας ἑλληνικῆς εἰς ‘-ιμος’ καὶ τῶν οὐδετέρων οὐσιαστικῶν εἰς ‘-σιμον’», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑθνικοῦ Πανεπιστημίου 7 (1910/1911) 1–22. Reprinted in CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: A, 164–80.
- CHATZIDAKIS 1915 Χατζιδάκις Γ. Ν., «Περὶ τῆς γλώσσης καὶ τῆς γραμματικῆς τοῦ Ἑρωτοκρίτου», in ΧΑΝΘΟΥΔΙΔΙΣ 1915, 458–68. Reprinted in CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: B, 197–207.
- CHATZIDAKIS 1916 Χατζιδάκις Γ. Ν., «Φωνητικά καὶ ἔτυμολογικά», Ἀθηνᾶ 28 (1916), Λεξικογραφικὸν Ἀρχεῖον 3, 3–22.
- CHATZIDAKIS 1927a Χατζιδάκις Γ. Ν., Review of BESCHEVLIÉV 1922/25, Ἐπιστημονικὴ Ἐπετηρὶς Φιλοσοφικῆς Σχολῆς Πανεπιστημίου Θεσσαλονίκης 1 (1927) 10–17. Reprinted in CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: B, 425–30.
- CHATZIDAKIS 1927b Χατζιδάκις Γ. Ν., «Μικραὶ συμβολαὶ εἰς τὴν ἱστορίαν τῆς μεσαιωνικῆς καὶ νεωτέρας γλώσσης. Α΄. Φωνητικά», Ἐπιστημονικὴ Ἐπετηρὶς Φιλοσοφικῆς Σχολῆς Πανεπιστημίου Θεσσαλονίκης 1 (1927) 3–43. Reprinted in CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: B, 418–52.
- CHATZIDAKIS 1928 Χατζιδάκις Γ. Ν., «Συμβολὴ εἰς τὴν ἱστορίαν τῆς ἑλληνικῆς γλώσσης. Περὶ τῶν μετοχῶν», Πρακτικὰ τῆς Ἀκαδημίας Ἀθηνῶν 3 (1928) 634–45.
- CHATZIDAKIS 1930 Χατζιδάκις Γ. Ν., Review of MIRAMBEL (1929), Ἀθηνᾶ 42 (1930) 86–110. Reprinted in CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: B, 521–37.
- CHATZIDAKIS 1934 Χατζιδάκις Γ. Ν., «Τοῖος-ἐτοῖος-τίτοιος-τέτοιος». In CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: A, 396–400.
- CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77 Χατζιδάκις Γ. Ν., Γλωσσολογικαὶ Ἔρευναι. Vol. A, Athens 1934. Vol. B, Athens 1977.
- CHATZIOANNOU 1936 Χατζιωάννου Κ., Περὶ τῶν ἐν τῇ μεσαιωνικῇ καὶ νεωτέρᾳ κυπριακῇ ξένων γλωσσικῶν στοιχείων. Athens 1936 [Texte und Forschungen zur Byzantinisch-Neugriechische Philologie, 18].
- CHATZIOANNOU 1999 Χατζιωάννου Κ., Γραμματικὴ τῆς ὁμιλουμένης κυπριακῆς διαλέκτου, μὲ ἔτυμολογικὸ προσάρτημα. Nicosia 1999.
- CHATZIOANNOU 2000 Χατζιωάννου Κ., Ἐτυμολογικὸ λεξικὸ τῆς ὁμιλουμένης κυπριακῆς διαλέκτου. Ἱστορία, ἐρμηνεία καὶ φωνητικὴ τῶν λέξεων μὲ τοπωνυμικὸ παράρτημα. 2nd edition. Nicosia 2000.
- CHATZOPOULOU 2012 Chatzopoulou A., Negation and Nonveridicality in the History of Greek. Unpublished PhD thesis, University of Chicago, 2012.
- CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1980 Χειλᾶ-Μαρκοπούλου Δ., «Ἡ προφορὰ τῆς ἑλληνικῆς τὸν 10ο μ.Χ. αἰ. Ἔμμεσες μαρτυρίες ἀπὸ χειρόγραφο τῆς Bodleian Library». In Μνήμη Γ. Ι. Κουρμούλη. Athens 1980.
- CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1990/91 Χειλᾶ-Μαρκοπούλου Δ., «Προβλήματα διαχρονικῆς σύνταξης. Οἱ ἐλεύθερες αναφορικὲς προτάσεις στὴν Μεσαιωνικὴ καὶ Νέα Ἑλληνικὴ», Glossologia 9–10 (1990–91) 13–42.

- CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1991 Χειλά-Μαρκοπούλου Δ., «Περίφραση και γραμματικοποίηση. Η εξέλιξη του περιφραστικού συγκριτικού της ελληνικής», Studies in Greek Linguistics 11 (1991) 159–74.
- CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1994 Cheila-Markopoulou D., “Free Relatives in Medieval and Modern Greek”. In I. Philippaki-Warbuton, C. Nikolaidis and M. Sifianou (eds.), Themes in Greek Linguistics: Papers from The First International Conference on Greek Linguistics, Reading, September 1993. Amsterdam 1994, 413–19.
- CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 2000 Cheila-Markopoulou D., “The indefinite article in Greek. A diachronic approach”, Glossologia 11–12 (2000) 111–30.
- CHRISTODOULOU 1983 Χριστοδούλου Μ. Ν., «Κυπριακά κανονικά διατάξεις», Ἐπετηρίς Κέντρου Ἐπιστημονικῶν Ἑρευνῶν Κύπρου 12 (1983) 329–490.
- CHRISTODOULOU 2013 Χριστοδούλου Χ., «Μη αιτιολογημένος διπλασιασμός στην κυπριακή διάλεκτο», Glossologia 21 (2013) 115–36.
- CONSANI 1999 Consani C., “Sulla ipotesi di i—sC in greco”. In Varietà linguistiche nella storia della grecità. Atti del Terzo Incontro Internazionale di Linguistica Greca (Pisa, 2–4 ottobre 1997). Alessandria 1999, pp. 77–91. [Quaderni della Sezione di Glottologia e Linguistica, Dipartimento di Studi Medievali e Moderni, Università “G. D’Annunzio”, Supplementi, 7].
- CONSTANTINIDES 1996 Constantinides C. N., “A dated Greek manuscript from Cyprus of the 16th century (Paris. gr. 947)”. In C. N. Constantinides, N. M. Panagiotakes, E. Jeffreys and A. D. Angelou (eds.), Φιλέλλην: Studies in Honour of Robert Browning. Venice 1996 [Istituto Ellenico di Studi Bizantini e Postbizantini di Venezia, 17], 55–73.
- CONTOSOPOULOS 1983/84 Contossopoulos N. G., «La Grèce du τί et la Grèce du εἶντα», Glossologia 2–3 (1983/84) 149–62.
- COUTSOUGERA/KATSOYANNOU 2011 Coutsougera P. – Katsoyannou M., “The consonant system of obsolescent Grico”. In M. Janse, B. Joseph, P. Pavlou and A. Ralli (eds.), Studies in Modern Greek Dialects and Linguistic Theory. Nicosia 2011, 59–71.
- CRYSTAL 2008 Crystal D., A Dictionary of Linguistics and Phonetics. 6th edition. Malden, MA 2008.
- DANEZIS 1989 Δανέζης Γ., Καλόανδρος πιστός. Ένα μυθιστόρημα του 17ου αιώνα και το πρότυπό του. Athens 1989.
- D’ARBOIS DE JUBAINVILLE, Lex. D’Arbois de Jubainville H., Études sur la langue des Francs à l’époque mérovingienne. Paris 1900.
- DAVY/PANAYOTOU 2000 Davy J. – Panayotou A., “French loans in Cypriot Greek”. In Y. Ioannou, F. Métral and M. Yon (eds.), Chypre et la Méditerranée orientale: Actes du Colloque tenu à Lyon, 1997, Université Lumière – Lyon 2, Université de Chypre. Lyon 2000, 113–25.

- DAVY/PANAYOTOU 2001 Davy J. – Panayotou A., “Strident palatals in Cypriot Greek”. In AGGOURAKI et al. 2001, 338–45.
- DAVY/PANAYOTOU 2003 Davy J. – Panayotou A., “‘Spontaneous’ gemination in Cypriot Greek”. In M. Chehab, Y. Ioannou et al., Méditerranée: ruptures et continuités: actes du colloque tenu à Nicosie les 20–22 octobre 2001. Lyon 2003 [Travaux de la Maison de l’Orient Méditerranéen, 37], 151–60.
- DAVY/PANAYOTOU 2004 Davy J. – Panayotou A., “Phonological constraints on the phonetics of Cypriot Greek: does Cypriot Greek have geminate stops?” In KATSIMALI et al. 2004.
- DAWKINS 1916 Dawkins R. M., Modern Greek in Asia Minor: A Study of the Dialects of Silli, Cappadocia and Pharasa with Grammar, Texts, Translations and Glossary. Cambridge 1916.
- DAWKINS 1932 See *MACHAIRAS, Chron. in Bibliography of literary works.
- DAWKINS 1937 Dawkins R. M., “The Pontic dialect of Modern Greek in Asia Minor and Russia”, Transactions of the Philological Society (1937) 15–52.
- DAWKINS 1939 Dawkins R. M., “Graecobarbara”, Transactions of the Philological Society (1939) 1–30.
- DAWKINS 1940 Dawkins R. M., “The dialects of Modern Greek”, Transactions of the Philological Society (1940) 1–38.
- DE ANGELIS 2016 De Angelis A., “La trascrittura del romanzo in caratteri greci”, Bolletino del Centro dei Studi Filologici e Linguistici Siciliani 27 (2016) 175–99.
- DE JERPHANION 1925/42 de Jerphanion G., Les églises rupestres de Cappadoce: Une nouvelle province de l’art byzantin, vols. 1–2: Texte. Paris 1925/42.
- DE LANGE 2006 De Lange N., “Jewish use of Greek in the middle ages: evidence from Passover Haggadoth from the Cairo Genizah”, The Jewish Quarterly Review 96 (2006) 490–97.
- DEDES 2003 See RUMI, Poem I–II in Bibliography of literary works.
- DEISSMANN 1901 Deißmann G. A., Bible Studies: Contributions chiefly from Papyri and Inscriptions to the History of the Language, the Literature, and the Religion of Hellenistic Judaism and Primitive Christianity. Edinburgh 1901.
- DELIGIANNAKI 2005 Δεληγιαννάκη Ν., «Ζητήματα χρήσης ή μη της συνίζησης σε παλαιότερα έμμετρα κείμενα». In E. Jeffreys and M. Jeffreys (eds.), Neograeca Medii Aevi V: Αναδρομικά και προδρομικά. Approaches to texts in Early Modern Greek. Oxford 2005, 169–78.
- DENDIAS 1924 Δένδιας Μ., «Περὶ τῶν ἐν τῇ Κυπριακῇ ρημάτων ἐκ τῆς ἰταλικῆς καὶ γαλλικῆς», Ἀθηνᾶ 36 (1924) 142–65.

- DEVINE/STEPHENS 1994 Devine A. M. – Stephens L. D., The Prosody of Greek Speech. Oxford 1994.
- DIETERICH 1898 Dieterich K., Untersuchungen zur Geschichte der griechischen Sprache von der hellenistischen Zeit bis zum 10. Jahrh. n. Chr. Leipzig 1898 [Byzantinisches Archiv, 1].
- DIETERICH 1904a Dieterich K., “Akzent- und Bedeutungsverschiebung im Mittel- und Neugriechischen”, Indogermanische Forschungen 16 (1904) 1–26.
- DIETERICH 1904b Dieterich K., “Neugriechisches und Romanisches. I. 1. Die Synkope im Neugriechischen”, Zeitschrift für vergleichende Sprachforschung 37 (1904) 407–23.
- DIETERICH 1908 Dieterich K., Sprache und Volksüberlieferungen der südlichen Sporaden im Vergleich mit denen der übrigen Inseln des Ägäischen Meeres. Vienna 1908 [Schriften der Balkankommission, Linguistische Abteilung, VII].
- DIETERICH 1928 Dieterich K., “Die Suffixbildung im Neugriechischen”, Balkan-Archiv 4 (1928) 104–67.
- DIMARAS ²1999 Δημαρᾶς, Κ. Θ., Δημήτριος Καταρτζής. Τὰ εὑρισκόμενα. 2nd edition. Athens 1999.
- DIMITRAKOS, Lex. Δημητράκος Δ. (ed.), Μέγα Λεξικὸν ὅλης τῆς Ἑλληνικῆς γλώσσης. Athens 1933–1953.
- DMF Dictionnaire du Moyen Français, version 2012. ATILF CNRS – Université de Lorraine. Available at: www.atilf.fr/dmf
- DÖLGER 1929/30 Dölger F., Review of OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 29 (1929–30) 329–44.
- DRACHMAN/MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 1998 Drachman G. – Malikouti-Drachman A., “Greek Word Accent”. In H. van der Hulst (ed.), Word Prosodic Systems in the Languages of Europe. Berlin and New York 1998, 897–945.
- DRACHMAN/MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2007 Drachman G. – Malikouti-Drachman A., “Concrete vs. abstract explanations in phonology”, Studies in Greek Linguistics 27 (2007), 115–26.
- DRANDAKIS 1972/73 Δρανδάκης Ν. Β., «Ἀνάγλυπτος παράσταση βυζαντινοῦ μύθου», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἑταιρείας Βυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν 39–40 (1972/73) 659–74.
- DRESSLER 1965 Dressler W., “i-Prothese vor s impurum in Kleinasien (und in Vulgärlatein)”, Balkansko Ezikoznanie 9 (1965) 93–100.
- DRESSLER 1966a Dressler W., “Vom altgriechischen zum neugriechischen System der Personalpronomina”, Indogermanische Forschungen 71 (1966) 39–63.
- DRESSLER 1966b Dressler W., “Griechisch nt zu nd zu d”, AION, sezione linguistica 7 (1966) 61–81.

- DRESSLER 1967 Dressler W., “Zur historischen Phonologie des neugriechischen Konsonantismus”. In J. Hamm and O. Back (eds.), Phonologie der Gegenwart: Vorträge und Diskussionen anlässlich der internationalen Phonologie-Tagung in Wien 30. VIII.–3. IX. 1966. Graz 1967, 124–33.
- DRETTAS 1997 Drettas G., Aspects pontiques. Paris 1997.
- DRETTAS 2007 Drettas G., “Le Corpus judéo-grec et l’étude des vernaculaires médiévaux du grec”, Studies in Greek Linguistics 27 (2007) 127–35.
- EGEA 1984 Egea J.-M., “El griego de los poemas prodrómicos”, Veleia 1 (1984) 177–91.
- EGEA 1988 Egea J.-M., Gramática de la Crónica de Morea: un estudio sobre el griego medieval. Vitoria/Gasteiz 1988 [Veleia, anejo 4].
- EGETMEYER 2010 Egetmeyer M., Le dialecte grec ancien de Chypre, vol. 1: Grammaire. Berlin 2010.
- EIDENEIER 1988 See Krasop. AO L, V in Bibliography of literary works.
- EIDENEIER 2011 See Vios Aisop*. in Bibliography of literary works.
- EIDENEIER et al. 2001 Eideneier H. – Moennig U. – Toufexis N. (eds.), Θεωρία και πράξη των εκδόσεων της υστεροβυζαντινής, αναγεννησιακής και μεταβυζαντινής δημώδους γραμματείας. Πρακτικά του Διεθνούς Συνεδρίου Noegraeca Medii Aevi IVa, Αμβούργο 28.–31.1.1999. Heraklion 2001.
- Etym. Gud.* Sturtz F. W., Etymologicum Graecae linguae Gudianum et alia grammaticorum scripta e codicibus manuscriptis nunc primum edita. Leipzig 1818.
- FANCIULLO 1985 Fanciullo F., “Greek and Italian in Southern Italy”, Studies in Greek Linguistics 6 (1985) 93–106.
- FANCIULLO 2001 Fanciullo F., “On the origins of Modern Greek in Southern Italy”. In A. Ralli, B. D. Joseph and M. Janse (eds.), Proceedings of the First International Conference of Modern Greek Dialects and Linguistic Theory. Patras 2001, 67–77.
- FAVIS 1911 Φάβης Β., Γλωσσικά έπισκέψεις αναφερόμεναι εις τὸ ἰδίωμα Αὐλωναρίου καὶ Κονιστρῶν. Athens 1911.
- FAVIS 1939/40 Φάβης Β., «Μετάθεσις καὶ ἀντιμετάθεσις φθόγγων ἐν τῇ νεωτέρᾳ ἑλληνικῇ γλώσσῃ, μετ’ ἀναφορᾶς εἰς τὴν ἀρχαίαν», Λεξικογραφικὸν Δελτίον 1 (1939) 89–142; 2 (1940) 75–122.
- FAVIS 1948 Φάβης Β., «Περὶ τοῦ λεγομένου ἀλόγου ἐνρίνου», Ἀθηνᾶ 52 (1948) 271–7.
- FERGUSON 2007 Ferguson R., A Linguistic History of Venice. Florence 2007.
- FERGUSON 2013 Ferguson R., “Venetian language”. In E. R. Dursteler (ed.), A Companion to Venetian History 1400–1797. Leiden 2013, 929–57.

- FEW von Wartburg W., Französisches etymologisches Wörterbuch: eine Darstellung des galloromanischen Sprachschatzes. Basel 1922–1967.
- FILOS 2009 Φίλος Π., «Τα λατινικά δάνεια και η επίδρασή τους στην παραγωγική μορφολογία της μετακλασικής ελληνικής. Η περίπτωση του επιθέματος -άριος». In BALTAZANI et al. 2009, 1224–38.
- FILOS 2017 Filos P., “Dialect evidence for Koine Greek: Pamphylian -ιις (→ -ις) vs. Koine -ιος (→ -ις) revisited”. In A. Panayotou and G. Galdi (eds.), Ἑλληνικὲς διάλεκτοι στὸν ἀρχαῖο κόσμος. Actes du VIe Colloque international sur les dialectes grecs anciens (Nicosie, Université de Chypre, 26–29 septembre 2011). Louvain 2017, 103–14.
- FLEISCHMAN 2000 Fleischman S., “Textual parameters in historical linguistics: on working with older languages”. In S. C. Herring, P. van Reenen and L. Schøsler (eds.), Textual Parameters in Older Languages. Amsterdam and Philadelphia 2000, 33–58.
- FLORISTÁN IMÍZCOZ 1990 Floristán Imízcoz J.-M., “Evolución del sistema de los pronombres personales desde el ático clásico al griego moderno”, Minerva 4 (1990) 177–202.
- FLORISTÁN IMÍZCOZ 2013 Floristán Imízcoz J.-M., “Evolución del sistema de los pronombres demostrativos entre el ático clásico y el griego moderno. Consideraciones a la luz de un análisis cuantitativo”, Cuadernos de Filología Clásica. Estudios griegos e indoeuropeos 23 (2013) 9–29.
- FORIS 1963 Φόρης Β., Η κράση στα νέα ελληνικά. Athens 1963.
- FOY 1879 Foy K., Lautsystem der griechischen Volkssprache. Leipzig 1879.
- FRUYT 2001 Fruyt M., “Word-formation in Classical Latin”. In J. Clackson (ed.), A Companion to the Latin Language. Chichester 2011, 157–75.
- GARANDOU DIS 1993 Γαραντούδης Ε., «Προβλήματα περιγραφής και ανάλυσης των πρωτοελληνικών δεκαπεντασύλλαβων: Η μετρική αποκατάσταση των δημωδών κειμένων (Το παράδειγμα του Διγενή Escorial)». In ΠΑΝΑΥΟΤΑΚΙΣ 1993, vol. 1, 188–227.
- GAVRIILIDOU et al. 2012 Gavriilidou Z. – Efthymiou A. – Thomadaki E. – Kambakis-Vougiouklis P. (eds.), Selected Papers of the 10th International Conference of Greek Linguistics (ICGL). Komotini 2012.
- GEORGACAS 1938 Γεωργακάς Δ., Review of LAMBERT 1935, Le roman de Libistros et Rhodamne, Byzantinisch-Neugriechische Jahrbücher 14 (1938) 143–53.
- GEORGACAS 1940 Γεωργακάς Δ., «Ἑτυμολογικά καὶ σημασιολογικά», Λεξικογραφικὸν Δελτίον 2 (1940) 123–41.

- GEORGACAS 1948a Georgacas D. J., “On the nominal endings -ις, -ιν in later Greek”, Classical Philology 43 (1948) 243–60.
- GEORGACAS 1948b Georgacas D. J., “The causes of vocalic and consonantal aphaeresis and prothesis in late and modern Greek”, Transactions of the American Philological Association 79 (1948) 340 [thesis summary].
- GEORGACAS 1951 Georgacas D. J., “Grammatische und etymologische Miscellen zum Spät- und Neugriechischen. Georg Hatzidakis zum Gedächtnis”, Glotta 31 (1951) 199–235.
- GEORGACAS 1982 Georgacas D. J., A Graeco-Slavic Controversial Problem Re-examined: The -its- Suffixes in Byzantine, Medieval and Modern Greek, their Origin and Ethnological Implications. Athens 1982.
- GEROV 1942 Gerov B., “Die Wiedergabe des griechischen u (oi) im Altbulgarischen”, Glotta 29 (1942) 78–85.
- GIACALONE RAMAT/SANSÒ 2014 Giacalone Ramat A. – Sansò A., “Venire (‘come’) as a passive auxiliary in Italian”. In M. Devos and J. van der Wal (eds.), Come and Go off the Beaten Grammaticalization Path. Berlin and Boston 2014, 21–44.
- GIANNARIS 2011 Giannaris Th., “Pluperfect periphrases in Medieval Greek: a perspective on the collaboration between linguistics and philology”. Transactions of the Philological Society 109 (2011) 232–45.
- GIGNAC 1976 Gignac F. T., A Grammar of the Greek Papyri of the Roman and Byzantine Periods, vol. 1: Phonology. Milan 1976.
- GIGNAC 1981 Gignac F. T., A Grammar of the Greek Papyri of the Roman and Byzantine Periods, vol. 2: Morphology. Milan 1981.
- GINIS 1966 Γκίνης Δ. Σ., Περίγραμμα ιστορίας του μεταβυζαντινού δικαίου. Athens 1966 [Πραγματεΐαι τῆς Ἀκαδημίας Ἀθηνῶν, 26].
- GINIS 1972/3 Γκίνης Δ. Σ., «Περίγραμμα μεταβυζαντινού δικαίου. Συμπλήρωμα πρώτον». In Λειμών. Τιμητική προσφορά τῷ καθηγητῇ Νικολάῳ Β. Τωμαδάκη [= Ἐπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Βυζαντινῶν Σπουδῶν 39–40]. Athens 1972–73, 201–46.
- GIVÓN 1981 Givón T., “On the development of the numeral ‘one’ as an indefinite marker”, Folia Linguistica Historica 2.1 (1981) 35–53.
- GODEFROY, Lex. Godefroy F., Dictionnaire de l’ancienne langue française et de tous ses dialectes, du IX^e au XV^e siècle. Paris 1881–1902.
- GOLDEN 1985 Golden P. B., “The Byzantine Greek elements in the Rasūlid Hexaglot”, Archivum Eurasiae Medii Aevi 5 (1985) 41–166.
- GOLDEN 2000 Golden P. B., The King’s Dictionary: The Rasūlid Hexaglot. Fourteenth-Century Vocabularies in Arabic, Persian, Turkic, Greek, Armenian and Mongol. Leiden 2000.
- GOLSTON 1990 Golston C., “Floating H (and L*) tones in Ancient Greek”, Arizona Phonology Conference 3 (1990) 66–82.

- GORTON 2013 Gorton L., “Discussion note. Evidence for adverbial origins of final -ς on the Medieval and Modern Greek -οντας participle”, Journal of Greek Linguistics 13 (2013) 143–8.
- GUILLOU 1963 Guillou A., Les actes grecs de S. Maria di Messina. Enquête sur les actes grecs d'Italie du Sud et de Sicile (XIe–XIVe s.). Palermo 1963 [Istituto siciliano di studi bizantini e neoellenici. Testi e monumenti. Testi, 8].
- GUILLOU/HOLTZMANN 1961 Guillou A. – Holtzmann W., “Zwei Katepansurkunden aus Tricarico”, Quellen und Forschungen aus italienischen Archiven und Bibliotheken 41 (1961) 1–28.
- GUILPIN 2002a Guilpin P., «Η εμφάνιση του αόριστου άρθρου στα ελληνικά: διαχρονική μελέτη της έκφρασης της απροσδιοριστίας του ονόματος από τη γλώσσα των ευαγγελιστών έως το 17ο αι.», Studies in Greek Linguistics 22 (2002) 219–28.
- GUILPIN 2002b Guilpin P., «Το αόριστο άρθρο στα ελληνικά. Διαχρονική μελέτη». In Ch. Clairis (ed.), Recherches en linguistique grecque. Actes du 5e colloque international de linguistique grecque. Sorbonne, 13–15 Septembre 2001. Paris 2002, 227–30.
- HADJIOANNOU 1964 Hadjioannou K., “The beginning of the Modern Greek Cypriot dialect as it appears in the text of the Assizes in the 13th c. AD”. In Communications et rapports du Premier Congrès International de Dialectologie générale. Louvain 1964, 296–309.
- HADJIOANNOU 1988 Hadjioannou K., “The medieval dialect of Cyprus”. In J. Karageorghis and O. Masson (eds.), The History of the Greek Language in Cyprus: Proceedings of an International Symposium Sponsored by the Pierides Foundation. Nicosia 1988, 199–214.
- HATZIDAKIS See also CHATZIDAKIS.
- HATZIDAKIS 1885 Hatzidakis G. N., “Die altgriechischen Feminina auf -ος im Neugriechischen”, Zeitschrift für vergleichende Sprachforschung 27 (1885) 82–4. Reprinted in CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: B, 10–11.
- HATZIDAKIS 1892 Hatzidakis G. N., Einleitung in die neugriechische Grammatik. Leipzig 1892 [Bibliothek Indogermanischer Grammatiken, 5]. Reprinted Athens 1975 [Λεξικογραφικόν Δελτίον, Παράρτημα 3].
- HATZIDAKIS 1893 Hatzidakis G. N., “Zur Wortbildungslehre des Mittel- und Neugriechischen”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 2 (1893) 235–86.
- HEINE/KUTEVA 2002 Heine B. – Kuteva T., World Lexicon of Grammaticalization. Cambridge 2002.
- HENRICH 1976 Henrich G. S., Κλητικὲς καὶ γενικὲς σέ -ο ἀπὸ ἄρσενικά σέ -ος στὰ μεσαιωνικά καὶ νέα ἑλληνικά, Διατριβὴ ἐπὶ διδακτορία, Thessaloniki 1976.

- HENRICH 1979 Henrich G. S., “Zwei Phänomene des Pontischen und ihr chronologisch-kausales Verhältnis: o pappou (neben pappos) und der Schwund von nachtonigem [u]”. In Actes du Ve Colloque International de Linguistique fonctionnelle, Ioannina 1978. Paris 1979, 158–64.
- HENRICH 1990 Henrich G. S., «Τα ποντιακά στοιχεία σε ελληνόγλωσσο ισλαμικό κείμενο της εποχής του 1500». In Τιμητικός τόμος στη μνήμη Στ. Καρατζά. Thessaloniki 1990, 355–74.
- HENRICH 1991 Henrich G., “Theophanu oder Theophano? Zur Geschichte eines ‘gespaltenen’ Frauennamensuffixes”. In A. von Euw and P. Schreiner (eds.), Kaiserin Theophanu: Begegnung des Ostens und Westens um die Wende des ersten Jahrtausends. Gedenkschrift des Kölner Schnütgen-Museums zum 1000. Todesjahr der Kaiserin, vol. 2. Cologne 1991, 89–99.
- HENRICH 1993/94 Henrich G. S., “Eine volkssprachlich-griechische Verbformenliste der 2. Hälfte des 15. Jahrhunderts in arabischer Schrift”. In H. Hokwerda, E. R. Smits and M. M. Woesthuis (eds.), Polyphonia Byzantina: Studies in Honour of Willem J. Aerts. Groningen 1993/94, 283–301.
- HENRICH 1994 Henrich G. S., «Ροδίτικα φωνητικά φαινόμενα στα τρία ποιήματα του Μανόλη Λιμενίτη», Νεοελληνική Διαλεκτολογία 1 (1994) 131–41.
- HENRICH 1996a Henrich G. S., «Ένας δωρισμός στα μεσαιωνικά και νέα Ελληνικά. Οι γενικές πληθυντικού του τύπου (ε)κεινῶν/τῶν Σερβῶν/τόσων χρονῶν», Studies in Greek Linguistics 16 (1996) 10–20.
- HENRICH 1996b Henrich G. S., «Δύο πρώιμα γραπτά μνημεία της ποντιακής και της κριμαιοαζοφικής διαλέκτου». In J.-M. Egea and J. Alonso (eds.), Prosa y verso en griego medieval. Rapports of the International Congress “Neograeca Medii Aevi III” (Vitoria 1994). Amsterdam 1996, 177–91.
- HENRICH 1998a Henrich G. S., «Διαλεκτολογική ανάλυση ελληνικής επιστολής χάνου της Κριμαίας προς τους Γενουάτες (MM III 292/3, 1470)», Νεοελληνική Διαλεκτολογία 2 (1998) 101–11.
- HENRICH 1998b Henrich G. S., «Στοιχεία σημερινών κρητικών ιδιωμάτων τεκμηριωμένα ήδη στην Κρητική Λογοτεχνία», Cretan Studies 6 (1998) 89–108.
- HENRICH 2000a Henrich G. S., «Διαλεκτοϊστορικά. 1) Μια περίπτωση της ποντιακής αποβολής του επίτονου [u] στον 12ο αιώνα, 2) Τα συντάγματα “τίς το, τίς τὰ” αντί “του το, του τὰ” της βορειοδυτικής Ρόδου (Τριάντα, τουλάχιστον 17ος-20ος αιώνας)», Νεοελληνική Διαλεκτολογία 3 (2000) [= Πρακτικά Τρίτου Διεθνούς Συνεδρίου Νεοελληνικής Διαλεκτολογίας, Κάλυμνος 20–23 Οκτωβρίου 1998. Athens 2000], 49–60.

- HENRICH 2000b Henrich G. S., «Ηπειρωτικά διαλεκτικά στοιχεία στο Χρονικό των Tocco», Studies in Greek Linguistics 20 (2000), 140–5.
- HENRICH 2001 Henrich G. S., «Μια τάση ανομοίωσης στα νεότερα ελληνικά (τ > ουρανικό κ)». In AGGOURAKI et al. 2001, 23–8.
- HENRICH 2002 Henrich G. S., «Γλωσσικά του Μαχαίρα και της νεότερης Κυπριακής». In P. Agapitos and M. Pieris (eds.), «Τ' αδόνιν κείνον που γλυκά θλιβάται». Εκδοτικά και ερμηνευτικά ζητήματα της δημόδους ελληνικής λογοτεχνίας στο πέρασμα από τον Μεσαίωνα στην Αναγέννηση (1400–1600). Πρακτικά του 4ου Διεθνούς Συνεδρίου Neograeca Medii Aevi (Νοέμβριος 1997, Λευκωσία). Heraklion 2002, 323–36.
- HENRICH 2011 Henrich G. S., «Πρώιμες εμφανίσεις γραμματικών νεοτερισμών της ποντιακής και της κριμαιοαζοφικής διαλέκτου», Νεοελληνική Διαλεκτολογία 6 (2011) 89–109.
- HESSE 2003 Hesse R., Syntax of the Modern Greek Verbal System: The Use of the Forms, Particularly in Combination with θα and να. 2nd revised edition. Copenhagen 2003.
- HESSELING 1892a Hesselting D. C., “Das Personalpronomen der ersten und zweiten Person im Mittellgriechischen”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 1 (1892) 379–91.
- HESSELING 1892b Hesselting D. C., “Essai historique sur l’infinitif grec”. In J. Psichari (ed.), Études de philologie néogrecque. Paris 1892, 1–44.
- HESSELING 1897 See Pent. in Bibliography of literary works.
- HESSELING/PERNOT 1913 See Katal.* in Bibliography of literary works.
- HINTERBERGER 1993 Hinterberger M., “Sprachliche Variationsformen in volkssprachlichen metrischen Werken der spätbyzantinischen und frühneugriechischen Zeit”. In N. M. Panayotakis (ed.), Origini della letteratura neogreca: Atti del secondo Congresso internazionale “Neograeca Medii Aevi” (Venezia, 7–10 Novembre 1991), vol. 1. Venice 1993, 158–68.
- HINTERBERGER 2001 Hinterberger M., «Το φαινόμενο της πολυτυπίας σε δημώδη κείμενα». In EIDENEIER et al. 2001, 215–44.
- HINTERBERGER 2006 Hinterberger M., “How should we define vernacular literature?” Paper delivered at the conference “Unlocking the Potential of Texts: Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Medieval Greek” at the Centre for Research in the Arts, Social Sciences, and Humanities, University of Cambridge, 18–19 July 2006. Available at: www.mml.cam.ac.uk/sites/www.mml.cam.ac.uk/files/hinterberger.pdf
- HINTERBERGER 2007 Hinterberger M., “Die Sprache der byzantinischen Literatur. Der Gebrauch der synthetischen Plusquamperfektformen”. In M. Hinterberger and E. Schiffer (eds.), Byzantinische Sprachkunst: Studien zur byzantinischen Literatur gewidmet Wolfram Hörandner zum 65. Geburtstag. Berlin and New York 2007, 107–42.

- HINTERBERGER 2014a Hinterberger M. (ed.), The Language of Byzantine Learned Literature. Turnhout 2014.
- HINTERBERGER 2014b Hinterberger M., “The synthetic perfect in Byzantine literature”. In HINTERBERGER 2014a, 176–204.
- HOGG 2011 Hogg R., A Grammar of Old English, vol. 1: Phonology. Malden, MA, Oxford and Chichester 2011.
- HOLLENDER/NIEHOFF-PANAGIOTIDIS 2011 Hollender E. – Niehoff-Panagiotidis J., “Mahzor Romania and the Judeo-Greek hymn ἕνας ὁ κύριος. Introduction, critical edition, and commentary”, Revue des Études Juives 170 (2011) 117–71.
- HOLLENDER/NIEHOFF-PANAGIOTIDIS 2016 Hollender E./Niehoff-Panagiotidis J., “Judeo-Greek wedding poems from the fifteenth century”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 109 (2016) 703–38.
- HOLTON 1993 Holton D., “The formation of the future in Modern Greek literary texts up to the 17th century”. In PANAYOTAKIS 1993, vol. 1, 118–28.
- HOLTON 2001 Holton D., «Η εισαγωγή μιας κριτικής έκδοσης: Σε ποια ερωτήματα θα έπρεπε ν’ απαντήσει ο εκδότης ενός κειμένου;». In EIDENEIER et al. 2001, 251–70.
- HOLTON ²2002 See Alex. Rim. in Bibliography of literary works.
- HOLTON 2010 Holton D., “What is Medieval Greek? Some thoughts of a grammarian”, Scandinavian Journal of Modern Greek Studies 4 (2010) 29–43.
- HOLTON et al. ²2012 Holton D. – Mackridge P. – Philippaki-Warbuton I., Greek: A Comprehensive Grammar. 2nd edition. Revised by V. Spyropoulos. London and New York 2012.
- HOLTON/MANOLESSOU 2010 Holton D. – Manollessou I., “Medieval and Early Modern Greek”. In E. Bakker (ed.), A Companion to the Ancient Greek Language. Malden, MA, Oxford and Chichester 2010, 539–63.
- HONNORAT, Lex. Honnorat S.-J., Dictionnaire Provençal-Français ou dictionnaire de la langue d’Oc ancienne et moderne. Digne 1846–47.
- HÖRANDNER 2017 Hörandner W., “Dichtungen des Euthymios Tornikes in Cod. gr. 508 der Rumänischen Akademie”. In P. Odorico, A. Rhoby and E. Schiffer (eds.), Wolfram Hörandner, Facettes de la littérature Byzantine. Contributions choisies. Paris 2017 [Dossiers Byzantins 17], 91–140.
- HOROBIN/SMITH 2002 Horobin S. – Smith J., An Introduction to Middle English. Edinburgh 2002.
- HORROCKS 1995 Horrocks G., “On condition ... : aspect and modality in the history of Greek”, Proceedings of the Cambridge Philological Society 41 (1995) 153–73.

- HORROCKS ²2010 Horrocks G., Greek: A History of the Language and its Speakers. 2nd edition. Malden, MA, Oxford and Chichester 2010.
- HORROCKS 2014a Horrocks G., “Ouk ísmen oudén: negative concord and negative polarity in the history of Greek”, Journal of Greek Linguistics 14 (2014) 43–83.
- HORROCKS 2014b Horrocks G., “High-register Medieval Greek: ‘Diglossia’ and what lay behind it”. In C. Carpinato and O. Tribulato (eds.), Storia e storie della lingua greca. Venice 2014 [Antichistica, 5], 49–72.
- HUMBERT 1930 Humbert J., La disparition du datif en grec (du Ier au Xe siècle). Paris 1930.
- ILNE Ἀκαδημία Ἀθηνῶν, Ἱστορικὸν Λεξικὸν τῆς Νέας Ἑλληνικῆς, τῆς τε κοινῶς ὁμιλουμένης καὶ τῶν ἰδιωμάτων, vols. 1–6: Α–διάλεκτος. Athens 1931–.
- IRIGOIN 1984 Irigoín J., “Sur les origines lointaines des dialectes neo-grecs de l’Italie méridionale”. In Αντίχαρη: Αφιέρωμα στον καθηγητή Σταμάτη Καρατζά. Athens 1984, 139–44.
- JANNAcone 1951 Jannacone S., “Sur l’hypercorrection en grec médiéval et moderne”, Neophilologus 35 (1951) 151–61.
- JANNARIS 1897 Jannaris A. N., An Historical Greek Grammar chiefly of the Attic Dialect. As written and spoken from Classical Antiquity down to the present time, founded upon the ancient texts, inscriptions, papyri and present popular Greek. London and New York 1897. Reprinted Hildesheim 1987.
- JANSE 2002 Janse M., “Aspects of Pontic Grammar” [Review of DRETTAS 1997], Journal of Greek Linguistics 3 (2002) 203–31.
- JANSE 2004 Janse M., “Animacy, definiteness and case in Cappadocian and other Asia Minor dialects”, Journal of Greek Linguistics 5 (2004) 3–26.
- JANSE et al. 2006 Janse M. – Joseph B. D. – Ralli A. (eds.), Proceedings of the 2nd International Conference of Modern Greek Dialects and Linguistic Theory, Mytilene, Greece, 30 September–3 October 2004. Patras 2006.
- JANSE et al. 2013 Janse M. – Joseph B. – Ralli A. – Bagriacik M. (eds.), Online Proceedings of MGDLT5: 5th International Conference on Modern Greek Dialects and Linguistic Theory. Ghent, Belgium, September 20–22, 2012. Patras 2013.
- JANSSEN 2013 Janssen M., “Perfectly absent: the emergence of the Modern Greek perfect in Early Modern Greek”, Byzantine and Modern Greek Studies 37 (2013) 245–60.
- JEFFREYS 1998 See Dig. E in Bibliography of literary works.

- JEFFREYS/DOULAVERA 1998 Jeffreys M. – Doulaveria V., Early Modern Greek Literature: General Bibliography (4,000 items) 1100–1700. Sydney 1998.
- JOANNOU 1962 See Pist. Voskos in Bibliography of literary works.
- JOHNS 2002 Johns J., Arabic Administration in Norman Sicily: The Royal Diwān. Cambridge 2002.
- JOSEPH 1979 Joseph B. D., “Irregular [u] in Greek”, Die Sprache 25 (1979) 46–8.
- JOSEPH 1980a Joseph B. D., “Watkins’ Law and the Modern Greek Preterite”, Die Sprache 26 (1980) 179–84.
- JOSEPH 1980b Joseph B. D., “A new convergence concerning the Balkan loss of the infinitive”, Indogermanische Forschungen 85 (1980) 176–87.
- JOSEPH 1983 Joseph B. D., The Synchrony and Diachrony of the Balkan Infinitive: A Study in Areal, General and Historical Linguistics. Cambridge and New York 1983.
- JOSEPH 1985 Joseph B. D., «Για την ιδιαίτερη θέση του [ts]/[dz] στην ελληνική φωνολογία», Studies in Greek Linguistics 3 (1985) 227–35.
- JOSEPH 1990 Joseph B., Morphology and Universals in Syntactic Change: Evidence from Medieval and Modern Greek. New York–London 1990.
- JOSEPH 2000a Joseph B. D., “Textual authenticity: evidence from Medieval Greek”. In S. C. Herring, P. van Rensen and L. Schøsler (eds.), Textual Parameters in Older Languages. Amsterdam 2000, 309–29.
- JOSEPH 2000b Joseph B. D., “Processes of spread for syntactic constructions in the Balkans”. In Ch. Tzitzilis and Ch. Symeonidis (eds.), Balkanlinguistik: Synchronie und Diachronie. Akten des Internationalen Kongresses (Thessaloniki 30/10–1/11 1997). Thessaloniki 2000, 139–50.
- JOSEPH 2008 Joseph B. D., “What Greek can tell us about the remaking of verb endings”. In M. Theodoropoulou (ed.), Θέρμη και Φως/Licht und Wärme: Αφιερωματικός τόμος στη μνήμη του Α.-Φ. Χριστίδη/In Memory of A.-F. Christidis. Thessaloniki 2008, 277–81.
- JOSEPH 2009a Joseph B. D., “Greek dialectal evidence for the role of the paradigm in inflectional change”, Morphology 19 (2009) 45–57.
- JOSEPH 2009b Joseph B. D., Review of MARKOPOULOS 2009a, Journal of Greek Linguistics 9 (2009) 195–214.
- JOSEPH 2011 Joseph B. D., “On some hyperadaptations in Greek and in Greece”. In M. Janse, B. Joseph, A. Ralli, P. Pavlou and S. Armostis (eds.), Studies in Modern Greek Dialects and Linguistic Theory. Nicosia 2011, 37–46.

- KAFKALAS 1995 Καυκαλάς Μ., Τὰ ἐπιρρήματα τῆς κρητικῆς διαλέκτου. Athens 1995.
- KAFKALAS 2000 Καυκαλάς Μ., Περὶ εὐφωνίας τῆς κρητικῆς διαλέκτου. Athens 2000.
- KAHANE 1942 Kahane R. T., “Some sandhi phenomena in Modern Greek”, Modern Language Notes 57 (1942) 39–45.
- KAHANE/KAHANE 1973 Kahane H. – Kahane R., “Greek in Southern Italy III”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 66 (1973) 1–37.
- KAHANE/KAHANE 1981 Kahane H. – Kahane R., “Zum Gräkanischen (II)”, Zeitschrift für romanische Philologie 97 (1981) 103–45.
- KAHANE/KAHANE 1982 Kahane H. – Kahane R., “The Western impact on Byzantium. The linguistic evidence”, Dumbarton Oaks Papers 36 (1982) 127–53.
- KAINADA 2012 Kainada E., “The acoustics of prosodic conditioning of vowel hiatus resolution in Modern Greek”. In G. Fragaki, Th. Georgakopoulos and Ch. Themistocleous (eds.), Current Trends in Greek Linguistics. Newcastle 2012, 246–69.
- KAISSE 1977 Kaisse E., Hiatus in Modern Greek. Unpublished PhD thesis, Harvard University, 1977.
- KAKLAMANIS 1997 Κακλαμάνης Στ., «Ἀπὸ τὸ χειρόγραφο στὸ ἔντυπο: «Θησέος καὶ γάμοι Αἰμιλίας» (1529)», Θησαυρίσματα 27 (1997) 147–223.
- KAKOULIDI-PANOU et al. 2007 See MOREZINOS, Klini in Bibliography of literary works.
- KAMBOUROGLOU 1889 Καμπούρογλου Δ. Γ., Ἱστορία τῶν Ἀθηναίων. Τουρκοκρατία, περίοδος πρώτη, 1458–1687, vol. 1. Athens 1889.
- KAMBOUROGLOU 1910 Καμπούρογλου Δ., «Στοιχεῖα ἀθηναϊκοῦ γλωσσικοῦ ἰδιώματος», Δίπτυλον 1 (1910), 16–17, 24, 32, 46–50.
- KAMBYLIS 1967 Kambylis A., “Zur Sprache einer mitteligriechischen Urkunde aus Sizilien”, Glotta 45 (1967) 221–32.
- KAPLANIS 2012 See IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali in Bibliography of literary works.
- KAPPLER 1999 Kappler M., «Προϋποθέσεις για μια γραφηματική προσέγγιση στα ελληνικά κείμενα γραμμένα με αραβικό αλφάβητο». In A. Argyriou, K. Dimadis and A. Lazaridou (eds.), Πρακτικά Α' Ευρωπαϊκού Συνεδρίου Νεοελληνικών Σπουδών, Βερολίνο 2–4 Οκτ. 1988, Ο ελληνικός κόσμος ανάμεσα στην Ανατολή και τη Δύση 1453–1981, vol. 1. Athens 1999, 695–709.
- KAPPLER 2010 See SULT. WALAD, Ibtid. in Bibliography of literary works.
- KAPSOMENAKIS 1938 Kapsomenakis S., Voruntersuchungen zu einer Grammatik der griechischen Papyri: Beiträge zur Herstellung und Deutung einzelner Texte. Munich 1938.
- KAPSOMENOS 1939 Καψωμένος Στ., «Ἡ λέξις ‘φρέαρ’ εἰς τὴν μεταγενεστέραν καὶ νέαν ἑλληνικὴν: συμβολὴ εἰς τὸ πρόβλημα τῶν σχέσεων Κοινῆς καὶ Νέας Ἑλληνικῆς», Λεξιμογραφικὸν Δελτίον 1 (1939) 40–72.

- KAPSOMENOS 1953a Καψωμένος Στ., «Ἡ ἱστορία τοῦ ρήματος εἰμί». In Προσφορά εἰς Στίλπωνα Π. Κυριακίδη ἐπὶ τῇ εἰκοσιπενταετηρίδι τῆς καθηγεσίας αὐτοῦ. Thessaloniki 1953 [Ἑλληνικά, Παράρτημα 4], 305–25.
- KAPSOMENOS 1953b Kapsomenos S. G., “Beiträge zur historischen Grammatik der griechischen Dialekte Unteritaliens”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 46 (1953) 320–48.
- KAPSOMENOS 1960 Καψωμένος Στ., «Ἡ ρηματική κατάληξη -μεσθα». In Ἀφιέρωμα στὴ μνήμη τοῦ Μανόλη Τριανταφυλλίδη. Thessaloniki 1960, 225–30.
- KAPSOMENOS 1985 Καψωμένος Στ., Ἀπὸ τὴν ἱστορία τῆς ἑλληνικῆς γλώσσας. Ἡ ἑλληνικὴ γλώσσα ἀπὸ τὰ ἑλληνιστικὰ ὡς τὰ νεώτερα χρόνια. Ἡ ἑλληνικὴ γλώσσα στὴν Αἴγυπτο. Thessaloniki 1985.
- KARAGIANNI 1976 Καραγιάννη Ἰ., Ὁ «Διγενὴς Ἀκρίτας» τοῦ Ἑσχοριᾶλ. Συμβολὴ στὴ μελέτη τοῦ κειμένου. Ioannina 1976.
- KARANASTASIS 1963/64 Καραναστάσης Ἀ., «Ἡ φωνητικὴ τῶν ιδιωμάτων τῆς νήσου Κῶ», Λεξικογραφικὸν Δελτίον 10 (1963/64) 3–96.
- KARANASTASIS 1997 Καραναστάσης Ἀ., Γραμματικὴ τῶν ἑλληνικῶν ιδιωμάτων τῆς Κάτω Ἰταλίας. Athens 1997.
- KARANASTASIS 2010 Καραναστάσης Τ. Α. (1955–2010), Μεσαιωνικά καὶ νεοελληνικά μελετήματα. Ανατύπωση δημοσιευμάτων στὴ μνήμη τοῦ γιὰ τὴν προσφορά τοῦ στο Κ.Β.Ε. Thessaloniki 2010.
- KARANASTASIS, Lex. Καραναστάσης Ἀ., Ἱστορικὸν λεξικὸν τῶν ἑλληνικῶν ιδιωμάτων τῆς Κάτω Ἰταλίας, vols. 1–5. Athens 1984–92.
- KARANTZOLA 2005a Καραντζόλα Ε., «Διαλεκτικὴ διαφοροποίηση τῆς πρώιμης νέας ἐλληνικῆς: ἡ μαρτυρία κρητικῶν νοταριακῶν ἐγγράφων». In Γ. Παπαντωνάκης et al. (eds.), Ἀνθὴ Φιλίας: Ἀφιέρωμα στὸν καθηγητὴ Κ. Μηνά. Rhodes 2005, 249–66.
- KARANTZOLA 2005b Καραντζόλα Ε., «Γλωσσολογικὴ μαρτυρία μὴ ἐλληνόγραφων κειμένων (16ος–17ος αἰ.)», Studies in Greek Linguistics 25 (2005) 265–76.
- KARANTZOLA et al. 2012 Καραντζόλα Ε. – Τικτοπούλου Κ. – Φραντζή Κ., «Τὰ νοταριακὰ ἐγγραφα ὡς πηγὲς γιὰ τὴν πρώιμη νεοελληνικὴ γλώσσα». In ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑΤΙΣ/ΑΓΙΟΤΙΣ 2012, 473–501.
- KARANTZOLA/CHALVATZIDAKI 2014 Καραντζόλα Ε. – Χαλβατζιδάκη Μ., «Πρώιμη κρητικὴ σε ἀφηγηματικὰ καὶ νοταριακὰ κείμενα (16ος αἰ.)». In G. Kotzoglou et al. (eds.), Selected Papers of the 11th International Conference on Greek Linguistics. Rhodes 2014, 689–702.
- KARANTZOLA/LAVIDAS 2016 Καραντζόλα Ε. – Λαβίδας Ν., «Χαρακτηριστικὰ τῆς κερκυραϊκῆς τοῦ 16ου αἰῶνα», Studies in Greek Linguistics 36 (2016) 129–50.
- KARANTZOLA/PAPAIIOANNOU 2010 Καραντζόλα Ε. – Παπαϊωάννου Α., «Ὁρθογραφικὰ ἀνώνυμων καὶ ἐπώνυμων κειμένων (16ος–17ος αἰ.)», Studies in Greek Linguistics 30 (2010) 289–302.

- KARATSAREAS 2011 Karatsareas P., “Neuter heteroclisis in Asia Minor Greek: origin and development”, Νεοελληνική Διαλεκτολογία 6 (2011) 111–35.
- KARLA/BASEA-BEZANDAKOU 2008 Κάρλα Γ. – Μπασέα-Μπεζαντάκου Χ., «Η κατανομή των καταλήξεων -ουν/-ουσι(ν), -αν/-ασι(ν) στην κυπριακή: διαχρονική και συγχρονική θεώρηση». In Νεοελληνική Διαλεκτολογία 5. Πρακτικά Πέμπτου Διεθνούς Συνεδρίου Νεοελληνικής Διαλεκτολογίας, Αθήνα, 18–20 Μαΐου 2006. Athens 2008, 215–32.
- KARLA/LAVIDAS 2004 Κάρλα Γ. – Λαβίδας Ν., «Το απαρέμφατο στον άξονα της διαχρονίας της ελληνικής γλώσσας». In KATSIMALI et al. 2004.
- KATSANIS 2000 Κατσάνης Ν., «Η γλώσσα της Θεσσαλονίκης στα τέλη του 17ου αι.», Studies in Greek Linguistics 20 (2000) 215–21.
- KATSANIS 2012 Κατσάνης Ν., Το γλωσσικό ιδίωμα της Θεσσαλονίκης στα τέλη του 17ου αιώνα, όπως αποτυπώνεται σε 12 επιστολές του Θεσσαλονικιού Δημ. Καστρίσιου. Thessaloniki 2012.
- KATSIMALI et al. 2004 Katsimali G. – Kalokairinos A. – Anagnostopoulou A. – Kappa I. (eds.), 6th ICGL: Proceedings of the 6th International Conference on Greek Linguistics, Rethymnon 18–21 September 2003. Available at: www.philology.uoc.gr/conferences/6thICGL/ebook/.
- KATSOUDA 2002 Katsouda G., «Η ερμηνεία του μεταπλασμού των τύπων της προστακτικής “ειπέ” > “πες”, “ιδέ” > “δες”, “ευρέ” > “βρες”», Studies in Greek Linguistics 22 (2002) 322–29.
- KATSOUDA 2007 Κατσούδα Γ., Ρηματικοί μεταπλασμοί. Μεταδομήσεις ενεστωτικού και αοριστικού θέματος. Athens 2007.
- KATSOULEAS 1977 Κατσουλέας Στ., «Τὸ προθετικὸν “α” εἰς τὰ παρακαμβούνια γλωσσικὰ ιδιώματα». In Α’ Συμπόσιο γλωσσολογίας τοῦ βορειοελλαδικοῦ χώρου, 28–30 Ἀπριλίου 1976. Thessaloniki 1977, 193–208.
- KECHAGIOGLOU 1993 Kechagioglou G., “Digenes Akrites in prose: the Andros version in the context of Modern Greek literature”. In R. Beaton and D. Ricks (eds.), Digenes Akrites: New Approaches to Byzantine Heroic Poetry. London 1993, 116–30.
- KECHAYOGLU 1997 See VOUSTR., Chron. in Bibliography of literary works.
- KECHAYOGLU 2001 Κεχαγιόγλου Γ., Πεζογραφική Ανθολογία. Αφηγηματικός γραπτὸς νεοελληνικὸς λόγος. I. Από το τέλος του Βυζαντίου ως τη Γαλλική Επανάσταση. Thessaloniki 2001.
- KECHAYOGLU 2007 See Don Kis. in Bibliography of literary works.
- KIM 2008 Kim, R., “An individual twist on the individualizing suffix: definite n-stem nouns in Pontic Greek”, Glotta 84 (2008) 72–113.
- KIPARSKY/CONDORAVDI 2006 Kiparsky P. – Condoravdi C., “Tracking Jespersen’s Cycle”. In JANSE et al. 2006, 172–97.

- KLAIRIS/BABINIOTIS 2004 Κλαίρης Χ. – Μπαμπινιώτης Γ., Γραμματική της Νέας Ελληνικής. Δομολειτουργική-Επικοινωνιακή. Athens 2004.
- KNAPP 2003 Knapp F. P., “Anforderungen eines Philologen an die neue Mittelhochdeutsche Grammatik”. In A. Lobenstein-Reichman and O. Reichmann (eds.), Neue historische Grammatiken: Zum Stand der Grammatikschreibung historischer Sprachstufen des Deutschen und anderen Sprachen. Tübingen 2003, 217–30.
- KOLIOPOULOU 2009 Κολιοπούλου Μ., «Το ιδίωμα της Καλύμνου και της Ρόδου. Διαχρονική προσέγγιση», Καλυμνιακά Χρονικά 18 (2009) 407–45.
- KONDOSOPOULOS 1960 Κοντοσόπουλος Ν., «Περί τινων κρητικῶν γλωσσικῶν φαινομένων», Ἀθηνᾶ 64 (1960) 209–20. Reprinted in Θέματα κρητικής διαλεκτολογίας. Athens 1997, 32–43.
- KONDOSOPOULOS 1963 Κοντοσόπουλος Ν., «Διάγραμμα τῆς φωνητικῆς τῆς βενετικῆς διαλέκτου», Θησαυρίσματα 2 (1963) 143–53.
- KONDOSOPOULOS 1969 Κοντοσόπουλος Ν., Γλωσσογεωγραφικαὶ διερευνήσεις εἰς τὴν κρητικὴν διάλεκτον. Διατριβὴ ἐπὶ διδακτορικῇ ὑποβληθεῖσα εἰς τὴν Φιλοσοφικὴν Σχολὴν τοῦ Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν. Athens 1969 [Ἀθηνᾶ, Σειρὰ Διατριβῶν καὶ Μελετημάτων, 6].
- KONDOSOPOULOS 1987 Κοντοσόπουλος Ν., «Τι μένει ἀπὸ τις ἀρχαῖες διαλέκτους στα νεοελληνικά ιδιώματα», Studies in Greek Linguistics 8 (1987) 109–21.
- KONDOSOPOULOS 2001 Κοντοσόπουλος Ν., Διάλεκτοι καὶ ιδιώματα τῆς Νέας Ἑλληνικῆς. 3rd edition. Athens 2001.
- KONOMOS 1960 Κονόμος Ντ., Ζακυθινὸ Λεξιλόγιο. Athens 1960 [Ζακυθινὴ Βιβλιοθήκη, 1].
- KORAIS 1828/35 Κοραῖς Ἀ., Ἄτακτα, ἧγουν παντοδαπῶν εἰς τὴν ἀρχαίαν καὶ τὴν νέαν ἑλληνικὴν γλῶσσαν αὐτοσχεδίων σημειώσεων καὶ τινῶν ἄλλων ὑπομνημάτων αὐτοσχέδιος συναγωγῇ. 6 vols. Paris 1828–35.
- KOSMAS 1972 Κοσμᾶς Ν. Β., «Τὸ γλωσσικὸ ἰδίωμα τοῦ Λαγκαδᾶ», Μακεδονικά 12 (1972) 317–60.
- KOSTAKIS 1980/81 Κωστάκης Θ., «Ὁ Evliya Çelebi στὴν Πελοπόννησο», Πελοποννησιακά 14 (1980–81) 238–306.
- KOSTAKIS 1986/87 Κωστάκης Θ., Λεξιμὸς τῆς τσακωνικῆς διαλέκτου. 3 vols. Athens 1986–7.
- KOUKOULES 1908 Κουκουλῆς Φ., Οἶνουντιακά, ἡ μελέτη περὶ τῆς ἱστορίας, τῶν ἡθῶν καὶ ἐθίμων καὶ τοῦ γλωσσικοῦ ιδιώματος τοῦ δήμου Οἰνοῦντος τῆς ἐπαρχίας Λακεδαιμόνος. Chania 1908.
- KOUKOULES 1917 Κουκουλῆς Φ., «Φωνητικά, ἐτυμολογικά καὶ σημασιολογικά», Ἀθηνᾶ 29 (1917), Λεξικογραφικὸν Ἀρχεῖον 4, 83–108.

- KOUKOULES 1921 Κουκουλές Φ., «Ἐτυμολογία τριῶν λέξεων». In Ἀφιέρωμα εἰς Γ. Ν. Χατζιδάκιν: διατριβαὶ φίλων καὶ μαθητῶν ἐπὶ τῇ τριακοστῇ πέμπτῃ ἐπετείῳ τῆς ἐν τῷ Πανεπιστημίῳ καθηγεσίας αὐτοῦ. Athens 1921, 33–41.
- KOUKOULES 1923 Κουκουλές Φ., «Γλωσσικὰ ἐκ Κύθνου», Λεξικογραφικὸν Ἀρχεῖον 6 (1923) 271–325.
- KOUKOULES 1931 Κουκουλές Φ., «Ἡ πρόθεσις ἀνὰ ἐν τῇ νέᾳ ἑλληνικῇ γλώσσῃ», Ἀθηνᾶ 43 (1931) 60–84.
- KOUKOULES 1953 Κουκουλές Φ., Θεσσαλονίκης Εὐσταθίου τὰ γραμματικά. Athens 1953 [Ἐταιρεία Μακεδονικῶν Σπουδῶν, Σειρά Φιλολογική καὶ Θεολογική, 8].
- KOUNDOURIS 2009 Koundouris A., Οἱ αντωνυμίες σε μεσαιωνικά κυπριακά κείμενα. Unpublished MA thesis, University of Thessaloniki, 2009.
- KOURMOULIS 1938 Κουρμούλης Γ., «Φωνητικὰ τῆς κρητικῆς διαλέκτου. Ἡ πρὸ τοῦ συνιζανομένου ἰ δάσυνσις του τ εἰς θ», Ἐπετηρὶς Ἐταιρείας Κρητικῶν Σπουδῶν 1 (1938) 15–16.
- KOURMOULIS 1955/56 Κουρμούλης Γ., «Τονικά τινα προβλήματα τῆς Νέας Ἑλληνικῆς», Ἐπιστημονικὴ Ἐπετηρὶς Φιλοσοφικῆς Σχολῆς Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν 6 (1955/56) 439–68.
- KOURMOULIS 1956 Κουρμούλης Γ., «Ἀναλογικαὶ ἀναμείξεις ἐνεργητικῶν καὶ παθητικῶν καταλήξεων», Πλάτων 8 (1956) 3–11.
- KRAMER 2011 Kramer J., “Stand und Perspektiven der historischen Lexikographie des byzantinischen Griechisch”, Lexicographica 27 (2011) 31–44.
- KRETSCHMER 1905 Kretschmer P., Der heutige lesbische Dialekt verglichen mit den übrigen nordgriechischen Mundarten. Vienna 1905 [Kaiserliche Akademie der Wissenschaften, Schriften der Balkankommission].
- KRETSCHMER 1909 Kretschmer P., “Zur Geschichte der griechischen Dialekte. Ionier und Achäer. 2. Die Apokope in den griechischen Dialekten”, Glotta 1 (1909) 9–60.
- KRETSCHMER 1922 Kretschmer P., “Korinth. ἐνι ‘ist’”, Glotta 12 (1922) 152.
- KRIARAS, Epit. Καζάκης Ι. (ed.), Επιτομή του Λεξικού της Μεσαιωνικής Ελληνικής Δημόδους Γραμματείας του Ε. Κριαρά. Thessaloniki 2001–.
- KRIARAS, Lex. Κριαράς Ε., Λεξικό της μεσαιωνικής ελληνικής δημόδους γραμματείας (1100–1669). Thessaloniki 1968–.
- KRIARAS 1932 Κριαράς Έ., «Βλέπεσαι καὶ βλέπουσαι», Νέα Ἑστία 140 (1932) 1108–9.
- KRIARAS 1936 Κριαράς Έ., «Κριτικά καὶ γραμματικά εἰς τὸ κρητικὸν θέατρον», Byzantinisch-Neugriechische Jahrbücher 12 (1936) 50–60.
- KRIARAS 1938 Κριαράς Έ., «Γλωσσικὰ σημειώματα», Ἀθηνᾶ 48 (1938) 77–90. Reprinted in Μεσαιωνικά μελετήματα 1. Thessaloniki 1988, 153–66.

- KRIARAS 1957 Κριαράς Ή., «Γλωσσικά φαινόμενα σὲ δημώδη μεσαιωνικά κείμενα», Ἑλληνικά 15 (1957) 41–7.
- KRIARAS 1965 See Anak. Konst. in Bibliography of literary works.
- KRIARAS 1976 Κριαράς Ή., «Σχόλια σὲ βυζαντινὴ ἐπιγραφή (τοῖος, τοίσιος, τέτιος; ἀλουπός, ἀλεπός; κανόνας, κανόνα)», Ἑλληνικά 29 (1976) 166–71.
- KRIKI 2013 Κρίκη Εί., Μορφοσυντακτικοί νεωτερισμοί στη γλώσσα των μη φιλολογικῶν παπύρων: οι αναφορικές δομές. Unpublished PhD thesis, University of Thessaloniki, 2013.
- KRIVORUCHKO 2014 Krivoruchko J., “Medieval and Early Modern Judaeo-Greek biblical translations. A linguistic perspective”. In J. K. Aitken and J. C. Paget (eds.), The Jewish-Greek Tradition in Antiquity and the Byzantine Empire. Cambridge 2014, 152–70.
- KRIVORUCHKO forthcoming Krivoruchko J., The Late Byzantine Hebrew–Greek Glossary to the Prophets. Leiden (forthcoming).
- KRUMBACHER 1885 Krumbacher K., “Beiträge zu einer Geschichte der griechischen Sprache”, Zeitschrift für vergleichende Sprachforschung 27 (1885) 481–545.
- KRUMBACHER 1886 Krumbacher K., “Ein irrationaler Spirant im Neugriechischen”, Sitzungsberichte der kaiserlichen Bayerischen Akademie der Wissenschaften (1886) 359–444.
- KRUMBACHER 1893 See Paroim. A, B, D, E, F, H, I, K in Bibliography of literary works.
- KUHLMANN 1997 Kuhlmann P., «Εἷς als Indefinitpronomen im Griechischen in diachroner Sicht», Glotta 74 (1997) 76–93.
- KÜHNER/BLOSS ³1892 Kühner R. – Bloss F., Ausführliche Grammatik der griechischen Sprache, vol. 1: Elementar- und Formenlehre. Hanover 1892.
- KÜHNER/GERTH ³1904 Kühner R. – Gerth B., Ausführliche Grammatik der griechischen Sprache, vol. 2 Satzlehre. Hanover 1904.
- KUNSTMANN 1991 Kunstmann P., “Création et diffusion du relatif-interrogatif lequel en Ancien Français. Comparaison avec d’autres langues romanes”. In Actes du XVIIIème Congrès International de linguistique et de philologie romanes, Université de Trèves (Trier) 1986. Tübingen 660–70.
- KYRIAKIDIS 1923 «Περὶ τῆς λέξεως κυρκατης», Byzantinisch-Neugriechische Jahrbücher 4 (1923) 341–4.
- KYRIAZIS/SPYROU Κυριαζής Δ. – Σπύρου Α., «Τὰ ελληνικά γλωσσικά ιδιώματα της Αλβανίας», Νεοελληνική Διαλεκτολογία 6 (2011) 175–99.
- KYRRIS 1963 Κύρρης Κ. Π., Review of MERTZIOS 1958b, Κυπριακαὶ Σπουδαί 37 (1963) 279–80.
- LAING/WILLIAMSON 2004 Laing M. – Williamson K., “The archaeology of medieval texts”. In C. Kay and J. J. Smith (eds.), Categorization in the History of English. Amsterdam 2004 [Current Issues in Linguistic Theory, 261], 85–145.

- LAMPE, Lex. Lampe G. W. H., A Patristic Greek Lexicon. Oxford 1961.
- LAMPSIDES 1935 Lampsides O., «Sprachliches zu den Vazelonos-Urkunden», Byzantinische Zeitschrift 35 (1935) 18–19.
- LAMPSIDIS 1936/37 Λαμψίδης Ό., «Περὶ τῆς μεσαιωνικῆς γλώσσης τοῦ Πόντου», Ποντιακὰ Φύλλα 1 (1936–37) 1114–15.
- LAMPSIDIS 1952 Λαμψίδης Ό., «Γλωσσικὰ σχόλια εἰς μεσαιωνικὰ κείμενα τοῦ Πόντου», Ἀρχεῖον Πόντου 17 (1952) 227–38.
- LANDSMAN 1988/89 Landsman D., “The history of some Greek negatives: phonology, grammar and meaning”, Glossologia 7–8 (1988–89) 13–31.
- LASS 2004 Lass R., “Ut custodiant litteras: editions, corpora and witnesshood”. In M. Dossena and R. Lass (eds.), Methods and Data in English Historical Dialectology. Bern 2004 [Linguistic Insights, 16], 21–48.
- LAURITZEN 2009 Lauritzen F., “Michael the Grammarian’s irony about hypsilon: a step towards reconstructing Byzantine pronunciation”, Byzantinoslavica 67 (2009) 161–8.
- LAUXTERMANN 2003 Lauxtermann M. D., Byzantine Poetry from Pisides to Geometres: Texts and Contexts, vol. 1. Vienna 2003.
- LAUXTERMANN 2012 Lauxtermann M., “The perils of travel: Mark the Monk and Bodl. E.D. Clarke 15”. In F. Bernard and K. Demoen (eds.), Poetry and its Contexts in Eleventh-Century Byzantium. Farnham and Burlington 2012, 195–205.
- LAUXTERMANN forthcoming Lauxtermann M. D., Byzantine Poetry from Pisides to Geometres: Texts and Contexts, vol. 2. Vienna (forthcoming).
- LBG Trapp E. et al. (eds.), Lexikon zur byzantinischen Gräzität, besonders des 9.–12. Jahrhunderts. Vienna 1994–2017 [Byzantina Vindobonensia, 20].
- LEEMANS 1885 Leemans C., Papyri graeci Musei antiquarii publici Lugduni-Batavi. Leiden 1885.
- LEHFELDT 1989 Lehfeldt W., Eine Sprachlehre von der Hohen Pforte: Ein arabisch-persisch-griechisch-serbisches Gesprächslehrbuch vom Hofe des Sultans aus dem 15. Jahrhundert als Quelle für die Geschichte der serbischen Sprache. Mit Beiträgen von T. Berger, C. Correll, G. S. Henrich, W. Lehfeldt. Cologne and Vienna 1989 [Slavistische Forschungen, 57].
- LEJEUNE 1972 Lejeune M., Phonétique historique du mycénien et du grec ancien. Paris 1972.
- LENDARI 2007 See Liv. V in Bibliography of literary works.
- LENDARI/MANOLESSOU 2003 Lendari T. – Manolessou I., «Η εκφορά του έμμεσου αντικειμένου στα μεσαιωνικά ελληνικά. Γλωσσολογικά και εκδοτικά προβλήματα», Studies in Greek Linguistics 23 (2003) 394–405.

- LENDARI/MANOLESSOU 2013 Lendari T. – Manolesou I., “Demonstrative pronouns: synchronic variation and diachronic evolution”. In JANSE et al. 2013, 228–44.
- LIATA 1996 Λιάτα Ευ. Δ., Φλωρία δεκατέσσερα στένουν γρόσια σαράντα. Η κυκλοφορία των νομισμάτων στον ελληνικό χώρο, 15ος–19ος αιώνας. Athens 1996.
- LIOSIS 2011 Liosis N., Review of MARKOPOULOS 2009a, Ἑλληνικά 61 (2011) 107–23.
- LIOSIS 2012 Liosis N., “Modal and future periphrases with eimai in the history of Greek and its dialects”. In GAVRIILIDOU et al. 2012, 408–16.
- LIOSIS 2017 Λιόσης Ν., «Η γραμματική του πατέρα Ρωμανού Νικηφόρου του Θεσσαλονικέως (17ος αι.) ως πηγή για τη μελέτη της πρώιμης νεοελληνικής και των ποικιλιών της». In Στ. Κακλαμάνης και Α. Καλοκαιρινός (eds.), Χαρτογραφώντας τη δημόδη λογοτεχνία (12ος–17ος αι). Πρακτικά του 7ου Διεθνούς Συνεδρίου Neograeca Medii Aevi. Heraklion 2017, 553–67.
- LIOSIS/KRIKI 2013 Liosis N. – Kriki Ei., “Towards a typology of relative clauses in Modern Greek dialects”. In JANSE et al. 2013, 245–71.
- LIOSIS/KRIKI 2014 Liosis N. – Kriki Ei., “Towards a typology of relative clauses in Late Medieval Greek”. In G. Kotzoglou et al. (eds.), Selected Papers of the 11th International Conference on Greek Linguistics. Rhodes 2014, 895–908.
- LIOSIS/PAPADAMOU 2011 Λιόσης Ν. – Παπαδάμου Ε., «Η εξέλιξη του Υ στις νεοελληνικές διαλέκτους: η κατωιταλική σε σύγκριση με την τσακωνική», Νεοελληνική Διαλεκτολογία 6 (2011) 201–23.
- LIOUDAKI 1938 Λιουδάκι Μ., «Οἱ ἀνωμαλίες τῶν ἀντωνυμιῶν ἐτοῦτος καὶ ἐκεῖνος στὸ ἰδίωμα τῆς Ἀνατολικῆς Κρήτης», Ἑπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Κρητικῶν Σπουδῶν 1 (1938) 421–4.
- LITSAS 2001 Λίτσας Ε., Σύντομη εισαγωγή στην ελληνική παλαιογραφία και κωδικολογία. Thessaloniki 2001.
- LKN Λεξικό της Κοινής Νεοελληνικής. Thessaloniki 1998.
- LSJ Liddell H. G. – Scott R. – Jones H. S., A Greek–English Lexicon. 9th edition, with a revised supplement. Oxford 1996.
- LUPAŞ 1972 Lupaş L., Phonologie du grec attique. The Hague 1972 [Janua Linguarum, series practica, 164].
- LUZZI 2012 Luzzi A., «Il Patmiacus 266: un testimone dell’utilizzo liturgico delle epitomi premetafrastiche», Rivista di Studi Bizantini e Neoellenici 49 (2012) 239–61.
- MAAS 1912 Maas P., “Metrische Akklamationen der Byzantiner”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 21 (1912) 28–51.

- MAAS/TRYPANIS 1963 Maas P. – Trypanis C. A. (eds.), Sancti Romani Melodi Cantica: Cantica Genuina. Oxford 1963.
- MACHARADZE 1980 Macharadze N., “Zur Lautung der griechischen Sprache in der byzantinischen Zeit. Zeugnisse altgeorgischer Quellen”, Jahrbuch der österreichischen Byzantinistik 29 (1980) 144–58.
- MACKRIDGE 1985 Mackridge P., The Modern Greek Language: A Descriptive Analysis of Standard Modern Greek. Oxford 1985.
- MACKRIDGE 1987 Mackridge P., “Greek-speaking Moslems of North-East Turkey: prolegomena to a study of the Ophitic sub-dialect of Pontic”, Byzantine and Modern Greek Studies 11 (1987) 115–37.
- MACKRIDGE 1993 Mackridge P., “An editorial problem in medieval Greek texts: the position of the object clitic pronoun in the Escorial Digenes Akrites”. In PANAYOTAKIS 1993, vol. 1, 325–42.
- MACKRIDGE 1997 Mackridge P., “The Medieval Greek infinitive in the light of modern dialectal evidence”. In C. N. Constantinides, N. M. Panagiotakes, E. Jeffreys and A. D. Angelou (eds.), Φιλέλλην: Studies in Honour of Robert Browning. Venice 1997 [Istituto Ellenico di Studi Bizantini e Postbizantini di Venezia, 17], 191–204.
- MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 1993 Malikouti-Drachman A., «Και πάλι διαλεκτικοί τονισμοί του ρήματος», Studies in Greek Linguistics 14 (1993) 340–54.
- MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2001 Malikouti-Drachman A., “Greek phonology: a contemporary perspective”, Journal of Greek Linguistics 2 (2001) 187–243.
- MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2009a Malikouti-Drachman A., “Cross-dialect ambiguities of epenthesis”, Journal of Greek Linguistics 9 (2009) 110–33.
- MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2009b Malikouti-Drachman A., “Greek dialect variation: A co-grammar approach”. In S. Tsiplakou, M. Karyoleμου and P. Pavlou (eds.), ICLaVE 4: Language Variation – European Perspectives II: Selected papers from the 4th International Conference on Language Variation in Europe (Nicosia, June 2007). Amsterdam 2009, 157–68.
- MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN/DRACHMAN 1989 Malikouti-Drachman A. – Drachman G., «Τονισμός στα ελληνικά», Studies in Greek Linguistics 9 (1989) 127–43.
- MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN/DRACHMAN 1992 Malikouti-Drachman A. – Drachman G., «Σύγκριση του ρηματικού τονισμού κοινής και διαλέκτων», Studies in Greek Linguistics 13 (1992) 143–61.
- MANDILARAS 1973 Mandilaras B., The Verb in the Greek Non-literary Papyri. Athens 1973.

- MANESIS 1964/65 Μάνεσης Στ., «Τροπή τῶν συμφῶνων τσ καὶ τζ εἰς σ καὶ ζ εἰς τὰ νότια ιδιώματα τῆς νέας ἐλληνικῆς», Λεξικογραφικὸν Δελτίον 10 (1965–66) 97–179.
- MANESIS 1969 Μάνεσης Στ., «Ἀντικωφωτικὰ φαινόμενα τῶν βορείων ιδιωμάτων», Λεξικογραφικὸν Δελτίον 11 (1969) 1–65.
- MANOLESSOU 2001 Manolesou I., “The evolution of the demonstrative system in Greek”, Journal of Greek Linguistics 2 (2001) 119–48.
- MANOLESSOU 2003 Μανωλέσσου Ι., «Οἱ μὴ λογοτεχνικὲς πηγὲς ὡς μαρτυρίες γιὰ τὴ γλῶσσα τῆς μεσαιωνικῆς περιόδου», Λεξικογραφικὸν Δελτίον 24 (2003) 61–88.
- MANOLESSOU 2004 Μανωλέσσου Ι., «Οἱ αναφορικὲς προτάσεις τῆς ἐλληνικῆς: διαχρονικὴ προσέγγιση». In ΚΑΤΣΙΜΑΛΙ et al. 2004.
- MANOLESSOU 2005 Manolesou I., “From participles to gerunds”. In M. Stavrou and A. Terzi (eds.), Advances in Greek Generative Syntax. Amsterdam 2005, 241–83.
- MANOLESSOU 2008a Manolesou I., “On historical linguistics, linguistic variation and Medieval Greek”, Byzantine and Modern Greek Studies 32 (2008) 63–79.
- MANOLESSOU 2008b Μανωλέσσου Ι., «Γλωσσικὲς ἐπαφὲς στὸν ἐλληνικὸ Μεσαίωνα: ἡ ἀντωνυμία ὁ ὅποιος». In A. Moser et al. (eds.), Γλώσσης χάριν. Τόμος ἀφιερωμένος ἀπὸ τὸν Τομέα Γλωσσολογίας στὸν καθηγητὴ Γεώργιο Μπαμπινιώτη. Athens 2008, 255–66.
- MANOLESSOU 2012 Manolesou I., «Μεσαιωνικὴ γραμματικὴ καὶ μεσαιωνικὲς γραμματικὲς». In ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑΤΙΣ/ΑΓΙΟΤΙΣ 2012, 293–311.
- MANOLESSOU 2014 Manolesou I., “Learned Byzantine language from the viewpoint of linguistics”. In HINTERBERGER 2014a, 13–33.
- MANOLESSOU 2017 Manolesou I., “Graphematic evidence for Cretan phonology from the 16th to the 20th century”. In L. Giannakopoulou and K. Skordyles (eds.), Culture and Society in Crete: From Kornaros to Kazantzakis. Newcastle upon Tyne 2017, 151–70.
- MANOLESSOU/BASEA-BEZANDAKOU 2012 Μανωλέσσου Ι. – Μπασέα Μπεζαντάκου Χ., «Τὰ διπλά σύμφωνα στὶς νεοελληνικὲς διαλέκτους. Συγχρονικὴ καὶ διαχρονικὴ προσέγγιση». In ΓΑΥΡΙΛΙΔΟΥ et al. 2012, 950–9.
- MANOLESSOU/KOUTSOUKOS 2011 Μανωλέσσου Ι. – Κουτσούκος Ν., «Τὸ φαινόμενο τῆς χασμωδίας στὴ διάλεκτο τῶν Μεγάρων. Συγχρονικὴ καὶ διαχρονικὴ προσέγγιση», Patras Working Papers in Linguistics 2 (2011) 14–35.
- MANOLESSOU/NIFADOPOULOS 2000 Μανωλέσσου Ι. – Νιφαδόπουλος Χ., «Ἡ αὐξηση στὰ μεσαιωνικὰ ἐλληνικά. Μία πρώτη προσέγγιση με βάση τὰ σύνθετα ρήματα», Studies in Greek Linguistics 20 (2000) 303–14.

- MANOLESSOU/PANDELIDIS 2011 Μανωλέσσου Ι. – Παντελίδης Ν., «Το αρχαίο ελληνικό /ε:/ στην Ποντιακή», Νεοελληνική Διαλεκτολογία 6 (2011) 245–71.
- MANOLESSOU/PANTELIDIS 2013 Manollessou I. – Pantelidis N., “Velar fronting in Modern Greek dialects”. In JANSE et al. 2013, 272–86.
- MANOLESSOU/TOUFEXIS 2009 Manollessou I. – Toufexis N., “Phonetic change in Medieval Greek: focus on liquid interchange”. In BALTAZANI et al. 2009, 291–306.
- MANOLESSOU/TOUFEXIS 2011 Manollessou I. – Toufexis N., “Corpus linguistics in historical dialectology: a case study of Cypriot”. In M. Janse, B. Joseph, A. Ralli, P. Pavlou and S. Armostis (eds.), Studies in Modern Greek Dialects and Linguistic Theory. Nicosia 2011, 305–20.
- MANOUSAKAS 1995 See DELLAP. in Bibliography of literary works.
- MANOUSAKAS/PUCHNER 2000 See VEST. in Bibliography of literary works.
- MARCHAND 1973 Marchand J. W., The Sounds and Phonemes of Wulfila's Gothic. The Hague and Paris 1973.
- MARCHELLO-NIZIA 2012 Marchello-Nizia Ch., “Écrire une nouvelle grammaire historique du français à la lumière de l'histoire des descriptions de la langue”. In B. Colombat, J.-M. Fournier and V. Raby (eds.), Vers une histoire générale de la grammaire française. Matériaux et perspectives. Actes du colloque international de Paris (HTL/SHESL, 27–29 Janvier 2011). Paris 2012, 45–60.
- MARKOPOULOS 2006 Markopoulos T., “The development of future/modality markers. Evidence from Modern Greek dialects”. In JANSE et al. 2006, 236–56.
- MARKOPOULOS 2009a Markopoulos T., The Future in Greek: from Ancient to Medieval. Oxford 2009.
- MARKOPOULOS 2009b Μαρκόπουλος Θ., «Η έρευνα της γλωσσικής αλλαγής στα κείμενα της μεσαιωνικής ελληνικής: μεθοδολογική διερεύνηση των πηγών». In BALTAZANI et al. 2009, 987–98.
- MARKOPOULOS 2010 Markopoulos T., “Case overlap in Medieval Cypriot Greek. A socio-historical perspective”, Folia Linguistica Historica 31 (2010) 89–134.
- MARKOPOULOS 2012 Markopoulos T., “Language contact in the Middle Ages: Rhodes under the Hospitallers”. In GAVRIILIDOU et al. 2012, 425–31.
- MARKOPOULOS 2013 Μαρκόπουλος Γ., «Η μορφολογική απλολογία ως ανομοιωτικός μηχανισμός: στοιχεία από πειραματικές διαδικασίες», Studies in Greek Linguistics 33 (2013) 277–92.
- MARKOPOULOS 2015 Markopoulos T., “Contact-induced grammaticalization in older texts: the Medieval Greek analytic comparatives”. In A. D. M. Smith et al. (eds.), New Directions in Grammaticalization Research. Amsterdam 2015, 209–29.

- MATTHEWS 2014 Matthews P. H., The Concise Oxford Dictionary of Linguistics. 3rd edition. Oxford 2014.
- MAVROCHALYVIDIS/KESISOGLU 1960 Μαυροχαλυβίδης Γ. – Κεσίσογλου Ι. Ι., Τὸ γλωσσικὸν ἰδίωμα τῆς Ἀξοῦ. Athens 1960 [Κέντρο Μικρασιατικῶν Σπουδῶν, Καππαδοκία, 6].
- MAVROFRYDIS 1871 Μαυροφρύδης Δ., Δοκίμιον ἱστορίας τῆς ἑλληνικῆς γλώσσης. Smyrna 1871.
- MAVROMATIS/AGIOTIS 2012 Mavromatis G. – Agiotis N. (eds.), Πρώιμη Νεοελληνική Δημόδης Γραμματεία. Γλώσσα, παράδοση και ποιητική. Πρακτικά Συνεδρίου Neograeca Medii Aevi VI. Heraklion 2012.
- MAYSER 1923 Mayser E., Grammatik der griechischen Papyri aus der Ptolemäerzeit, vol. 1: Laut- und Wortlehre. Berlin and Leipzig 1923.
- MAYSER 1926 Mayser E., Grammatik der griechischen Papyri aus der Ptolemäerzeit, vol. 2: Satzlehre, analytischer Teil, erste Hälfte. Berlin and Leipzig 1926.
- McKAY 2015 McKay P. “Spoken Greek in Seyahatname VIII”. In B. Hickman and G. Leiser (eds.), Turkish Language, Literature, and History: Travelers’ Tales, Sultans, and Scholars Since the Eighth Century. London 2015, 270–5.
- MENARDOS 1896 Μενάρδος Σ., «Ἡ γενικὴ κατὰ Κυπρίου», Ἀθηνᾶ 8 (1896) 435–50. Reprinted in MENARDOS 1969, 29–40.
- MENARDOS 1900 Μενάρδος Σ., «Γαλλικαὶ μεσαιωνικαὶ λέξεις ἐν Κύπρῳ», Ἀθηνᾶ 12 (1900) 360–84.
- MENARDOS 1925 Μενάρδος Σ., «Περὶ ἄρκτικῶν φωνηέντων», Ἐπιστημονικὴ Ἐπετηρὶς τῆς Φιλοσοφικῆς Σχολῆς τοῦ Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν 1 (1925) 65–74. Reprinted in MENARDOS 1969, 137–46.
- MENARDOS 1969 Μενάρδος Σ., Γλωσσικαὶ μελέται. Nicosia 1969.
- MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 1985 Méndez Dosuna J., Los dialectos dorios del noroeste. Gramática y estudio dialectal. Salamanca 1985.
- MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 1993 Méndez Dosuna J., “El cambio <ε> en <ι> ante vocal en los dialectos griegos: una cuestion zanjada?”. In E. Crespo, J.-L. Garcia Ramon and A. Striano (eds.), Actas del 2o Coloquio Internacional de Dialectologia Griega (Miraflores de la Sierra, 19–21/6/1991). Madrid 1993, 237–59.
- MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 1995 Méndez Dosuna J., “The origin of feminine οἶ”, Studies in Greek Linguistics 15 (1995) 78–89.
- MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 1997 Méndez Dosuna J., “Fusion, fission, and relevance in language change: de-univerbation in Greek verb morphology”, Studies in Language 21 (1997) 577–612.
- MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 2000 Méndez Dosuna J., Review of the first edition of HORROCKS 2010, Journal of Greek Linguistics 1 (2000) 274–95.

- MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 2002 Méndez Dosuna J., “Deconstructing height dissimilation in Modern Greek”, Journal of Greek Linguistics 3 (2002) 83–114.
- MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 2006 Méndez Dosuna J., “When zeroes count for nothing: the mythical origins of nasal deletion”. In JANSE et al. 2006, 272–81.
- MENOUNOS 1979 Μενοῦνος ἱ., Κοσμά τοῦ Αἰτωλοῦ διδαχῆς καὶ βιογραφία. Athens 1979.
- MERCATI 1970 Mercati S. G., “Ancora intorno a Μιχαήλ Γραμματικός ὁ ἱερομόναχος”, Bessarione 21 (1917) 348–63. Reprinted in Collectanea Byzantina, vol. 1. Bari 1970, 128–31.
- MERTYRIS 2011 Mertyrus D., “Case syncretism in the personal pronouns of Medieval Greek: the loss of the genitive plural.” In K. Chatzopoulou, A. Ioannidou and S. Yoon (eds.), Proceedings of the 9th International Conference on Greek Linguistics, 29–31 October 2009. University of Chicago, Chicago, Illinois. Online publication, Ohio State University, 2011, 480–91. Available at: www.ling.ohio-state.edu/ICGL/proceedings/41_Mertyrus-SED_480.pdf
- MERTYRIS 2013 Mertyrus D., “Accusative-genitive syncretism in the nominal inflection of Modern Greek dialects”. In JANSE et al. 2013, 335–52.
- MERTYRIS 2014 Mertyrus D., The loss of the genitive in Greek: a diachronic and dialectological analysis. Unpublished PhD thesis, La Trobe University, 2014.
- MEURSIUS, Gloss. Ioannis Meursi, Glossarium Graeco-Barbarum: in quo praeter vocabula quinque millia quadringenta, officia atque dignitates imperij Constantinop. tam in palatio, quam ecclesia aut militia, explicantur, & illustrantur. Leiden 1614.
- MEYER 1889 Meyer W., Simon Portius, Grammatica Linguae Graecae Vulgaris. Reproduction de l’édition de 1638, suivie d’un commentaire grammatical et historique par W. Meyer, avec une introduction par J. Psichari. Paris 1889 [Bibliothèque de l’École des Hautes Études, Sciences philologiques et historiques, fasc. 79].
- MEYER 1895 Meyer G., “Die griechischen Verse im Rabâbnâma”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 4 (1895) 401–11.
- MICHAILIDIS 1972 See Moirol. Konst. in Bibliography of literary works.
- MIHEVC-GABROVEC 1960 Mihevc-Gabrovec, E., Études sur la syntaxe de Ioannes Moschos. Ljubljana 1960.
- MIKLOSICH 1870 Miklosich F., “Die slavischen Elemente im Neugriechischen”, Sitzungsberichte der philosophisch-hist. Klasse der kaiserlichen Akademie der Wissenschaften 63 (1870) 529–66.
- MIKROS 1995 Μικρός Γ. Κ., «Ο κανόνας του τελικού -ν: κοινωνιογλωσσολογική και υφολογική ποικιλότητα», Studies in Greek Linguistics 15 (1995) 155–66.

- MINAS 1977 Μηνάς Κ., «Γλωσσικά Δωδεκανήσου», Δωδώνη 6 (1977) 273–306. Reprinted in MINAS 2004, 76–108.
- MINAS 1982/83 Μηνάς Κ., «Γλωσσικές παρατηρήσεις στα “Βραχεία Χρονικά”», Ἑλληνικά 34 (1982–83) 412–21.
- MINAS 1983 Μηνάς Κ., «Συνίζηση των ἐ, ἰ στη Μεσαιωνική και Νέα Ελληνική», Δωδώνη 12 (1983) 283–87. Reprinted in MINAS 2004, 674–80.
- MINAS 1987a Μηνάς Κ., «Οι καταλήξεις της οριστικής των μονολεκτικών ρηματικών τύπων της μεσοπαθητικής φωνής», Δωδώνη 16 (1987) 21–60. Reprinted in MINAS 2004, 690–731.
- MINAS 1987b Μηνάς Κ., «Αφομοίωση ερρίνου με άηχους κλειστούς φθόγγους στην Ελληνική». In Πρακτικά του Β΄ Διεθνούς Κυπριολογικού Συνεδρίου (Λευκωσία, 20–25 Απριλίου 1982), vol. 3. Nicosia 1987, 253–89. Reprinted in MINAS 2004, 321–55.
- MINAS 2003 Μηνάς Κ., Η γλώσσα των δημοσιευμένων μεσαιωνικών ελληνικών εγγράφων της Κάτω Ιταλίας και της Σικελίας. 2nd edition. Athens 2003.
- MINAS 2004 Μηνάς Κ., Μελέτες νεοελληνικής διαλεκτολογίας. Athens 2004.
- MINAS 2005 Μηνάς Κ., «Ερμηνευτικές απόψεις για φαινόμενα δωδεκανησιακών και άλλων ιδιωμάτων», Δωδεκανησιακά Χρονικά 19 (2005) 462–94.
- MINAS 2008 Μηνάς Κ., «Επιστάσεις στην κυπριακή διάλεκτο», Νεοελληνική Διαλεκτολογία 5 (2008) 449–74.
- MIONI 1979 Mioni E., Εἰσαγωγή στὴν ἑλληνικὴ παλαιογραφία. Μετάφραση Νικολάου Μ. Παναγιωτάκη. 2nd edition. Athens 1979, reprinted 2009.
- MIRAMBEL 1929 Mirambel A., Étude descriptive du parler maniote méridional. Paris 1929.
- MIRAMBEL 1933 Mirambel A., “Le traitement du groupe nasale-occlusive dans les parlers néogrecs et le problème de la classification”, Bulletin de la Société Linguistique de Paris 38 (1933) 145–64.
- MIRAMBEL 1946 Mirambel A., “Le groupe ts en grec moderne”, Bulletin de la Société Linguistique de Paris 42 (1946) 89–102.
- MIRAMBEL 1950 Mirambel A., “Le gamma intercalaire et les emprunts grecs en vieux slave”, Revue des Études Slaves 26 (1950) 125–30.
- MIRAMBEL 1961 Mirambel A., “Participe et gérondif en grec médiéval et moderne”, Bulletin de la Société Linguistique de Paris 56 (1961) 46–79.
- MIRAMBEL 1964 Mirambel A., “Pour une grammaire historique du grec médiéval. Problèmes et méthodes”. In Actes du XIIe Congrès international des études byzantines, Ochride 1961, vol. 2. Belgrade 1964, 391–403.

- MIRAMBEL 1978 Mirambel A., Ἡ νέα ἑλληνική γλώσσα: περιγραφή καὶ ἀνάλυση. Translation by S. Caratzas. Thessaloniki 1978.
- MITFORD 1991 Mitford T. B., “Inscriptiones Ponticae-Sebastopolis”, Zeitschrift für Papyrologie und Epigraphik 87 (1991) 181–243.
- MITSAKIS 1967 Mitsakis K., The Language of Romanos the Melodist. Munich 1967 [Byzantinisches Archiv, 11].
- MITSAKIS 1983 See Diig. Alex. K in Bibliography of literary works.
- MOENNIG 2001 Moennig U., «Από το χειρόγραφο στο εκδιδόμενο κείμενο. Βήματα, προβλήματα, παγίδες». In EIDENEIER et al. 2001, 189–211.
- MOENNIG 2004 See Diig. Alex. Sem. in Bibliography of literary works.
- MOENNIG 2009 See Synax. Gadar.* in Bibliography of literary works.
- MORAVCSIK 1983 Moravcsik G., Byzantinoturcica, vol. 2: Sprachreste der Türkvolkern in den byzantinischen Quellen. Leiden ³1983.
- MOSER 1986 Moser A., «Προβλήματα που προκύπτουν από τη διαχρονική εξέλιξη και τη συγχρονική χρήση του Παρακειμένου», Studies in Greek Linguistics 7 (1986) 149–61.
- MOSER 1988 Moser A., The history of the perfect periphrases in Greek. Unpublished PhD thesis, University of Cambridge, 1988.
- MOSER 1989 Moser A., «Από τη σύνθεση στην ανάλυση: παρατηρήσεις στη διαχρονική εξέλιξη του παρακειμένου», Studies in Greek Linguistics 9 (1989) 99–112.
- MOSER 2009 Μόζερ Α., Άποψη και χρόνος στην ιστορία της ελληνικής. Athens 2009 [Παρουσία, Παράρτημα 77].
- MOULTON 1901 Moulton J. H., “Grammatical notes from the papyri”, The Classical Review 15 (1901) 31–8.
- MOULTON 1906 Moulton J. H., A Grammar of New Testament Greek, vol. 1: Prolegomena. Edinburgh 1906.
- MOUTSOS 1975 Moutsos D., “Some observations on a phonological problem of Middle and Modern Greek”, Zeitschrift für vergleichende Sprachforschung 84 (1975) 235–64.
- MOUTSOS 1986 Moutsos D., “On the Lexical Interference of the Slavic Suffix -ica in Greek”, Λεξικογραφικόν Δελτίον 16 (1986) 319–20.
- MOYSIADIS 2005 Μωυσιάδης Θ., Ετυμολογία. Εισαγωγή στη Μεσαιωνική και Νεοελληνική Ετυμολογία. Athens 2005.
- MOYSIADIS 2012 Μωυσιάδης Θ., «Η αόριστη αντωνυμία κάποιος. Ο σχηματισμός και η λειτουργία της στη μεσαιωνική ελληνική». In GAVRIILIDOU et al. 2012, 983–9.
- NĂSTUREL 1956 Năsturel P. Ș., “Torna, torna, fratre. O problemă de istorie și de lingvistică”, Studii de cercetări și istorie veche 7 (1956) 177–88.
- NESPOR 1999 Nespor M., Φωνολογία. Translated by A. Πάλλη. Athens 1999.

- NESPOR/RALLI 1994 Nespor M. – Ralli A., “Stress domains in Greek compounds: a case of morphology–phonology interaction”. In I. Philippaki-Warbuton, K. Nicolaidis and M. Sifianou (eds.), Themes in Greek Linguistics I. Amsterdam 1994, 201–8.
- NEWTON 1968 Newton B. E., “Spontaneous gemination in Cypriot Greek”, Lingua 20 (1968) 15–57.
- NEWTON 1972a Newton B. E., The Generative Interpretation of Dialect: A Study of Modern Greek Phonology. Cambridge 1972.
- NEWTON 1972b Newton B. E., Cypriot Greek: Its Phonology and Inflections. The Hague and Paris 1972 [Janua Linguarum, Series practica, 121].
- NEWTON 1972c Newton B. E., “The dialect geography of Modern Greek passive inflections”, Glotta 50 (1972) 262–89.
- NEWTON 1973 Newton B. E. “The dialect geography of Modern Greek active inflections”, Glossa 7 (1973) 189–230.
- NICHOLAS 1997 Nicholas N., “‘To aper’: a Mediaeval Italiot Relativiser”. In G. Drachman, A. Malikouti-Drachman, J. Fykyas and C. Klidi (eds.), ICGL 2: Proceedings of the 2nd International Conference on Greek Linguistics (Salzburg, 22–24/9/1995), vol. 2. Graz 1997, 749–58.
- NICHOLAS 1998a Nicholas N., The Story of pu: the grammaticalisation in space and time of a Modern Greek complementizer. Unpublished PhD thesis, University of Melbourne, 1998.
- NICHOLAS 1998b Nicholas N., “TO APER and O OPOIOS: untangling Mediaeval Greek relativisation”. In B. D. Joseph, G. C. Horrocks and I. Philippaki-Warbuton (eds.), Themes in Greek Linguistics II. Amsterdam 1998, 283–323.
- NICHOLAS 2004 Nicholas N., «Η ετυμολόγηση του ίντα», Κρητολογικά Γράμματα 19 (2004) 189–202.
- NICHOLAS 2007 Nicholas N., “The Greek cluster vy in Southern Italy”, Glotta 83 (2007) 192–221.
- NICHOLAS 2008 Nicholas, N., “The passive future subjunctive in Byzantine texts”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 101 (2008) 89–131.
- NICHOLAS 2011 Nicholas N., “The apocope of final /s/ in Greco-Corsican”, Mediterranean Language Review 18 (2011) 1–24.
- ODB Kazhdan A. P. (ed.), The Oxford Dictionary of Byzantium, vols. 1–3. New York and Oxford 1991.
- OIKONOMIDIS 1952 Οἰκονομίδης Δ. Β., «Περὶ τοῦ γλωσσικοῦ ιδιώματος Ἀπεράθου Νάξου», Ἀθηνᾶ 56 (1952) 215–73.
- OIKONOMIDIS 1958 Οἰκονομίδης Δ. Ἡ., Γραμματικὴ τῆς ἐλληνικῆς διαλέκτου τοῦ Πόντου. Athens 1958 [Λεξικογραφικὸν Δελτίον, Παράρτημα 1].
- ORLANDOS 1973 Ὁρλάνδος Α., Τὰ χαράγματα τοῦ Παρθενῶνος, ἥτοι ἐπιγραφαὶ χαραχθεῖσαι ἐπὶ τῶν μόνων τοῦ Παρθενῶνος κατὰ τοὺς παλαιοχριστιανικοὺς καὶ βυζαντινοὺς χρόνους. Athens 1973.

- OUDIN, Lex. Oudin C., Thresor des deux langues Espagnolle et Françoise, vol. 2. Paris 1607.
- OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927 Ouspensky Th. – Bénéchévitch V., Actes de Vazélon: Matériaux pour servir à l'histoire de la propriété rurale et monastique à Byzance aux XIII–XV siècles. Leningrad 1927.
- PAGONI-TETLOW 1998 Pagoni-Tetlow S., “Breaking up is (not) hard to do. The case of the Modern Greek ‘pt’/‘kt’ sequences”. In B. D Joseph, G. C. Horrocks and I. Philippaki-Warbuton (eds.), Themes in Greek Linguistics II. Amsterdam 1998, 3–22.
- PANAYOTAKIS 1993 Panayotakis, N. M. (ed.), Origini della letteratura neogreca: Atti del secondo Congresso Internazionale «Neograeca Medii Aevi» (Venezia, 7–10 Novembre 1991). 2 vols. Venice 1993 [Biblioteca dell’Istituto Ellenico di Studi Bizantini e Postbizantini di Venezia, 14–15].
- PANAYOTOU 1990 Panayotou A., La Langue des inscriptions grecques de Macédoine (IVe s. a.C. – VIIe s. p.C.). Phonétique, phonologie et morphologie. Unpublished PhD thesis, Université Nancy II, 1990.
- PANAYOTOU 1992a Παναγιώτου Α., «Φωνητική και φωνολογία των ελληνικών επιγραφών της Μακεδονίας», Ελληνική Διαλεκτολογία 3 (1992) 5–32.
- PANAYOTOU 1992b Παναγιώτου Α., «Εξέλιξη του ονόματος και του ρήματος της Ελληνικής κατά την ελληνιστική, ρωμαϊκή και πρώιμη βυζαντινή περίοδο. Τα επιγραφικά δεδομένα της Μακεδονίας», Studies in Greek Linguistics 12 (1992) 13–32.
- PANAYOTOU 2007 Panayotou A., “Arcado-Cypriot”. In A.-F. Christidis (ed.), A History of Ancient Greek: From the Beginnings to Late Antiquity. Cambridge 2007, 417–26.
- PANDELIDIS See also PANTELIDIS.
- PANDELIDIS 1922 Παντελίδης Χρ. Γ., «Κυπριακὸν χειρόγραφον», Ἀθηνᾶ 34 (1922) 130–65.
- PANDELIDIS 1927/8 Παντελίδης Χρ. Γ., «Προσθήκη καὶ ἀφαίρεσις -σ- πρὸ συμφώνου ἐν ἀρχαίᾳ, μεσαιωνικῇ καὶ νέᾳ ἑλληνικῇ», Byzantinisch-Neugriechische Jahrbücher 6 (1927/8) 401–31.
- PANDELIDIS 1929 Παντελίδης Χρ. Γ., Φωνητικὴ τῶν νεοελληνικῶν ιδιωμάτων Κύπρου, Δωδεκανήσου καὶ Ἰκαρίας. Athens 1929.
- PANDELIDIS 1999 Παντελίδης Ν., «Μια πρώτη γλωσσογεωγραφικὴ προσέγγιση στα τέρματα των μεσοπαθητικῶν ενεστώτα και παρατατικού των “βαρύτων” ρημάτων στην Πελοπόννησο», Λεξικογραφικὸν Δελτίον 22 (1999) 133–203.
- PANDELIDIS 2001 Παντελίδης Ν., «Πελοποννησιακὸς ιδιωματικὸς λόγος και κοινὴ νεοελληνικὴ», Studies in Greek Linguistics 21 (2001) 550–61.

- PANDELIDIS 2004 Παντελίδης Ν. «Το ιδιωματικό στοιχείο στη γλώσσα των Απομνημονευμάτων του Θεόδωρου Κολοκοτρώνη». In KATSIMALI et al. 2004.
- PANDELIDIS 2005 Παντελίδης Ν., «-όντουσαν», Studies in Greek Linguistics 25 (2005) 473–83.
- PANDELIDIS 2008 Παντελίδης Ν., «Η ‘ενοποίηση του παρωχημένου’: ιστορική προσέγγιση με βάση τη μαρτυρία των νεοελληνικών διαλέκτων». In A. Moser et al. (eds.), Γλώσσης χάριν. Τόμος αφιερωμένος από τον Τομέα Γλωσσολογίας στον καθηγητή Γεώργιο Μπαμπινιώτη. Athens 2008, 289–302.
- PANDELIDIS 2010 Παντελίδης Ν., «Μαρτυρίες για τη διαχρονία των νεοελληνικών διαλέκτων: η περίπτωση της Πελοποννήσου», Studies in Greek Linguistics 30 (2010) 464–76.
- PANDELIDIS 2011 Παντελίδης Ν., «Ρηματική κλιτική μορφολογία του μεγαρικού ιδιώματος», Patras Working Papers in Linguistics 2 (2011) 1–15.
- PANDELIDIS 2016a Παντελίδης Ν., «Το ρηματικό επίθημα -(ι)σκ- στην Καππαδοκική». In A. Ralli et al. (eds.), Proceedings of the 6th Modern Greek Dialects and Linguistic Theory Meeting (MGDLT6) Patras, 25–28 September 2014. Patras 2016, 133–42.
- PANDELIDIS 2016b Παντελίδης Ν., «Το παλαιοαθηναϊκό ιδίωμα: πηγές, μαρτυρίες, χαρακτηριστικά», Γλωσσολογία 24 (2016) 103–46.
- PANDELIDIS 2016c Παντελίδης Ν., «Μία νοτιοελλαδική διαλεκτική ζώνη;», Studies in Greek Linguistics 36 (2016) 303–13.
- PANDELIDIS forthcoming Παντελίδης Ν., «Τα πελοποννησιακά ιδιώματα». In Ch. Tzitzilis (ed.), Νεοελληνικές Διάλεκτοι. Thessaloniki (forthcoming).
- PANGALOS 1955 Πάγκαλος Γ., Περὶ τοῦ γλωσσικοῦ ιδιώματος τῆς Κρήτης, vol. 1: Εἰσαγωγή – Γραμματική. Athens 1955.
- PANTELIDIS See also PANDELIDIS.
- PANTELIDIS 2003 Pantelidis N., “The active imperfect of the verbs of the ‘2nd conjugation’ in the Peloponnesian varieties of Modern Greek”, Journal of Greek Linguistics 4 (2003) 3–43.
- PAPACHRISTODOULOU 1959 Παπαχριστοδούλου Χ., «Μορφολογία τῶν ροδίτικων ιδιωμάτων», Δωδεκανησιακὸν Ἀρχεῖον 3 (1953) 9–106.
- PAPADAMOU 2009 Παπαδάμου, Ε., Διαχρονική και διατοπική εξέταση της εξέλιξης του Υ. Unpublished MA thesis, University of Thessaloniki.
- PAPADOPOULLOS 1983 Papadopoulos Th., “Les textes grecs du Livre des Remembrances”. In J. Pichard, Le Livre des Remembrances de la Secrète du Royaume de Chypre (1468–1469), Nicosia 1983 [Centre de Recherches Scientifiques, Sources et Études de l’histoire de Chypre, 10], 217–27.
- PAPADOPOULOS 1917 Παπαδόπουλος Ά. Ά., «Τοπικά ἐπιρρήματα τῆς ποντικῆς διαλέκτου», Ἀθηνᾶ 29 (1917) 109–56.

- PAPADOPOULOS 1926 Παπαδόπουλος Ἀ. Ἀ., Γραμματική τῶν βορείων ιδιωμάτων τῆς νέας ἐλληνικῆς γλώσσης. Athens 1926.
- PAPADOPOULOS 1940 Παπαδόπουλος Ἀ. Ἀ., «Ἐπιρρήματα εἰς -α», Λεξικογραφικὸν Δελτίον 2 (1940) 3–74.
- PAPADOPOULOS 1941a Παπαδόπουλος Ἀ. Ἀ., «Περὶ τῆς προφορᾶς τοῦ ἡ ἐν τῇ Ποντικῇ διαλέκτῳ», Ἀρχεῖον Πόντου 11 (1941) 170–85.
- PAPADOPOULOS 1941b Παπαδόπουλος Ἀ. Ἀ., «Ἀπὸ πότε ἀρχίζει ἡ δημοτικὴ», Λεξικογραφικὸν Δελτίον 3 (1941) 3–56.
- PAPADOPOULOS 1955 Παπαδόπουλος Ἀ. Ἀ., Ἱστορικὴ γραμματικὴ τῆς ποντικῆς διαλέκτου. Athens 1955 [Ἐπιτροπὴ Ποντιακῶν Μελετῶν, Ἀρχεῖον Πόντου, Παράρτημα 1].
- PAPADOPOULOS 1958 Παπαδόπουλος Ἀ. Ἀ., Ἱστορικὸν Λεξικὸν τῆς ποντικῆς διαλέκτου. Athens 1958 [Ἐπιτροπὴ Ποντιακῶν Μελετῶν, Ἀρχεῖον Πόντου, Παράρτημα 3].
- PAPANASTASIOU 1992 Παπαναστασίου Γ., «Μετακινήσεις τοῦ τόνου σε τριτόκλιτα ἐπίθετα τῆς ἐλληνικῆς γλώσσας», Studies in Greek Linguistics 12 (1992) 65–81.
- PAPANASTASIOU 2008 Παπαναστασίου Γ., Νεοελληνικὴ ὀρθογραφία. Ἱστορία, θεωρία, ἐφαρμογή. Thessaloniki 2008.
- PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 2011 Παπαρρήγα-Ἀρτεμιάδη Λ. – Ἀρναούτογλου Ἡ. – Χατζάκης Ἱ., Περίγραμμα ἱστορίας τοῦ μεταβυζαντινοῦ δικαίου. Τὰ ἐλληνικά κείμενα. Athens 2011 [Πραγματεῖαι τῆς Ἀκαδημίας Ἀθηνῶν, 63].
- PAPATHOMOPOULOS 1999 See Vios Aisop. in Bibliography of literary works.
- PAPATHOMOPOULOS/JEFFREYS 1996 See Pol. Tr. in Bibliography of literary works.
- PAPPAS 2004 Pappas P., Variation and Morphosyntactic Change in Greek: From Clitics to Affixes. Basingstoke 2004.
- PAPPAS 2006 Pappas P., “Object clitic placement in the dialects of Medieval Greek”. In JANSE et al. 2006, 314–28.
- PAPPAS 2010 Pappas P., “Object clitic placement in the history of Cypriot Greek”. In B. Heselwood and C. Upton (eds.), Proceedings of Methods XIII: Papers from the Thirteenth International Conference on Methods in Dialectology 2008. Frankfurt 2010, 260–9.
- PAPPAS/JOSEPH 2001 Pappas P. – Joseph B. D., “The development of the Greek future system: setting the record straight”. In AGGOURAKI et al. 2001, 354–9.
- PERNOT 1896 Pernot H., “L’indicatif présent du verbe être en néogrec”, Mémoires de la Société Linguistique de Paris 11 (1896) 170–88.
- PERNOT 1906 Pernot H., La metathèse dans les dialectes de Chio. Paris 1906.
- PERNOT 1907 Pernot H. (ed.), Girolamo Germano, Grammaire et vocabulaire du grec vulgaire, publiés d’après l’édition de 1622. Fontenay-sous-Bois (Seine) 1907.

- PERNOT 1907/46 Pernot H., Études de linguistique néo-hellénique, vol. 1: Phonétique des parlers de Chio; vol. 2: Morphologie des parlers de Chio, vol. 3: Textes et lexicologie des parlers de Chio. Paris 1907, 1946 [Collection de l'Institut néo-hellénique de l'Université de Paris, 5–6].
- PERNOT 1913 Pernot H., “Phénomènes de contraction en grec moderne”, Revue de Phonétique 3 (1913) 258–64.
- PERNOT 1923 Pernot H., “Grec moderne τοῦ λόγου σου”, Neophilologus 8 (1927) 64–7.
- PERNOT 1932 Περνός, «Γλωσσικά». Νέα Ἑστία 138 (1932) 986–7.
- PERNOT 1934 Pernot H., Introduction à l'étude du dialecte tsakonien. Paris 1934.
- PETALAS 1876 Πεταλάς Ν. Γ., Θηραϊκῆς γλωσσολογικῆς ὕλης. Ἰδιωτικὸν τῆς θηραϊκῆς γλώσσης. Athens 1876.
- PETERSEN 1937 Petersen W., “The Greek masculines in circumflexed -ās”, Classical Philology 32 (1937) 121–30.
- PETROUNIAS 1987 Πετρούνιας Ε., «Ελληνικά επιθήματα κοινῆς καταγωγῆς καὶ πολλαπλῆς συγγενικῆς ἐξέλιξης: ἡ ομάδα ‘-ia’ (αμοιβαίες ἐπιδράσεις ἀνάμεσα στὴν Ελλάδα καὶ στὴ Δύση)», Studies in Greek Linguistics 8 (1987) 193–214.
- PIDONIA 1977 Πηδώνια Κ., Τὰ λόγια γλωσσικὰ στοιχεῖα στὰ ἔργα τοῦ Χορτάτση, Διδακτορικὴ διατριβή. Ioannina 1977 [“Ἐρευνες στὴ Νέα Ἑλληνικὴ Φιλολογία, 2].
- PILAVAKIS 1968 Πιλαβάκης Κ., «Συμβολὴ στὴ μελέτη τῆς φωνητικῆς τοῦ κυπριακοῦ ἰδιώματος. Παθήσεις καὶ ἐπιδράσεις τοῦ Λ καὶ Ρ», Κυπριακαὶ Σπουδαὶ 32 (1968) 121–53.
- POLITIS 1964 See CHORTATSI, Katz. in Bibliography of literary works.
- POLITIS 1971 Πολίτης Λ., «Βυζαντινὰ ἐπιγραφικά», Ἑλληνικά 24 (1971) 126–36. Reprinted in idem, Paléographie et littérature byzantine et néo-grecque. Recueil d'études. London 1975, no. XVIII.
- POLITIS 1973 Politis L., “Digénis Akritas: à propos de la nouvelle édition de l'épopée byzantine”, Scriptorium 24 (1973) 327–51.
- PRÉVOST 2008 Prévost S., “Corpus informatisés de français médiéval: contraintes sur leur constitution et spécificités de leurs apports”, Corpus 7 (2008). Available at: <http://corpus.revues.org/1500>.
- PROBERT 2006 Probert P., Ancient Greek Accentuation: Synchronic Patterns, Frequency Effects, and Prehistory. Oxford 2006.
- PROMBONAS 1968 Προμπονᾶς Ἰ. Κ., «Ἡ γλώσσα τῶν ναξιακῶν ἐγγράφων (1633–1837) καὶ τὸ παλαιότερον ναξιακὸν ἰδίωμα», Ἑπετηρίς Ἑταιρείας Κυπριαδικοῦ Μελετῶν 7 (1968) 338–425.
- PSALTES 1913 Psaltes S. B., Grammatik der byzantinischen Chroniken. Göttingen 1913.

- PSICHARI 1886 Psichari J., Essais de grammaire historique néo-grecque. L'article féminin pluriel au moyen âge et de nos jours et la première déclinaison moderne. Paris 1886.
- PSICHARI 1888 Psichari J., Review of KRUMBACHER 1886, Revue Critique 22 (1888), 364–70. Reprinted as “La question du Γ intervocalique moderne” in PSICHARI 1930, 284–94.
- PSICHARI 1905 Psichari J., “Essais de grammaire historique: Le changement de l en r devant consonnes en grec ancien, médiéval et moderne”. In Recueil de mémoires orientaux. Textes et traductions publiés par les professeurs de l'École spéciale des langues orientales vivantes. Paris 1905, 231–6. Reprinted in PSICHARI 1930, 664–710.
- PSICHARI 1930 Psichari J. Quelques travaux de linguistique, de philologie et de littérature helléniques, 1884–1928. Paris 1930.
- PUCHNER 1998 See Irodis in Bibliography of literary works.
- RALLI 2005 Ράλλη Α., Μορφολογία. Athens 2005.
- RALLI 2013 Ralli A., Compounding in Modern Greek. Dordrecht 2013.
- RALLI et al. 2007 Ralli A. – Melissaropoulou D. – Tsolakidis S., «Ο Παρακείμενος στη νέα ελληνική και στις διαλέκτους: παρατηρήσεις για τη μορφή και την εξέλιξή του», Studies in Greek Linguistics 27 (2006) 361–72.
- RAMSAY 1883 Ramsay W. M., “Unedited inscriptions of Asia Minor”, Bulletin de Correspondance Hellénique 7 (1883) 297–328.
- REDHOUSE/WELLS, Lex. Redhouse, J. W., Turkish Dictionary in Two Parts, English and Turkish, and Turkish and English. Second Edition, Revised and Enlarged by Charles Wells. London 1880.
- REINHOLD 1898 Reinhold H., De graecitate patrum apostolicorum librorumque apocryphorum Novi Testamenti quaestiones grammaticae. PhD thesis, Halle 1898.
- REINSCH 1998 Reinsch D. R., “Kodikologisch-prosopographisches zum Codex Seragliensis graecus 35”, in I. Vassis et al. (eds.), Lesarten: Festschrift für Athanasios Kambylis zum 70. Geburtstag. Berlin and New York 1998, 248–58.
- REINSCH 2005 Reinsch D. R., “Ο Νικόλαος Αγιομνήτης ως γραφέας και λογίων και δημωδών κειμένων”, in D. Holton et al. (eds.), Κωδικογράφοι, συλλέκτες, διασκευαστές και εκδότες. Χειρόγραφα και εκδόσεις της όψιμης βυζαντινής και πρώιμης νεοελληνικής λογοτεχνίας. Πρακτικά Συνεδρίου που πραγματοποιήθηκε στο Ινστιτούτο της Δανίας στην Αθήνα, 23–26 Μαΐου 2002, προς τιμήν των Hans Eideneier και Arnold van Gemert. Heraklion 2005, 43–65.
- REVYTHIADOU/SPYROPOULOS 2009 Ρεβυθιάδου Α. – Σπυρόπουλος Β., Οφίτικη Ποντιακή: Έρευνα γλωσσικής καταγραφής με έμφαση στη διαχρονία και συγχρονία της διαλέκτου. Athens 2009.

- RINGE/ESKA 2013 Ringe D. – Eska J. F., Historical Linguistics: Toward a Twenty-First Century Reintegration. Cambridge 2013.
- RIX 1992 Rix H., Historische Grammatik des Griechischen: Laut- und Formenlehre. 2nd edition. Darmstadt 1992.
- ROBERTS/ROUSSOU 2003 Roberts I. – Roussou A., Syntactic Change: A Minimalist Approach to Grammaticalization. Cambridge 2003.
- ROBINS 1993 Robins R. H., The Byzantine Grammarians: Their Place in History. Berlin and New York 1993.
- ROHLFS 1964 Rohlfs G., Lexicon Graecanicum Graeciae Inferioris: Etymologisches Wörterbuch der unteritalienischen Gräzität. Tübingen 1964.
- ROHLFS 1968 Rohlfs G., Grammatica storica della lingua italiana e dei suoi dialetti, vol. 2: Morfologia. Translated by T. Franceschi. Turin 1968.
- ROHLFS 1977 Rohlfs G., Grammatica storica dei dialetti italogreci (Calabria, Salento). Translated from the German manuscript by Salvatore Sicuro. New edition completely revised and updated. Munich 1977.
- ROSENTHALL 1994 Rosenthal S., Vowel/glide alternation in a theory of constraint interaction. Unpublished PhD thesis, University of Massachusetts at Amherst, 1994.
- RUGE 1969a Ruge H., Zur Entstehung der neugriechischen Substantivdeklinaton. Stockholm 1969 [Acta Universitatis Stockholmiensis, Studia Graeca Stockholmiensia, 4].
- RUGE 1969b Ruge H., “Ist [j] ein Phonem im Neugriechischen?”, Glotta 47 (1969) 243–8.
- RUGE 1984 Ruge H., “Zur Entstehung der neugriechischen mediopassiven Endungen”, Folia Neohellenica 6 (1984) 132–43.
- RYTTING 2005 Rytting C., “An iota of difference: attitudes to ‘yod’ in lexical and social contexts”, Journal of Greek Linguistics 6 (2005) 151–85.
- SAKELLARIOS 1891 Σακελλάριος Ἀ. Ἀ., Τὰ Κυπριακά, ἥτοι γεωγραφία, ἱστορία καὶ γλῶσσα τῆς νήσου Κύπρου ἀπὸ τῶν ἀρχαιοτάτων χρόνων μέχρι σήμερον, vol. 2: Ἡ ἐν Κύπρῳ γλῶσσα. Athens 1891.
- SAKELLION 1869 Σακελλίων Ἰ., «Ἀπογραφή τῶν ἐν τῇ Μονῇ τῆς Πάτμου σωζομένων ἐπισήμων ἐγγράφων», Πανδώρα 19 (1869) 339–459.
- SAYAR 1998 Sayar M. H., Perinthos-Herakleia (Marmara Ereğlisi) und Umgebung: Geschichte, Testimonien, griechische und lateinische Inschriften. Vienna 1998 [Denkschriften der Österreichischen Akademie der Wissenschaften].
- SCHMITT 1898 Schmitt J., Über phonetische und graphische Erscheinungen im Vulgärgriechischen. Leipzig 1898.

- SCHMITT 1904 See Chron. Mor. in Bibliography of literary works.
- SCHWYZER 1933/34 Schwyz E., “Dissimilatorische Geminatenauflösung als Folge von Übersteigerung, zunächst im Neugriechischen und im Spätaltgriechischen”, Zeitschrift für vergleichende Sprachforschung 61 (1933/34) 222–52.
- SCHWYZER 1936 Schwyz E., “Zur Systematik der griechischen Nominaldeklinaton”, Glotta 25 (1936) 205–71.
- SCHWYZER 1939 Schwyz E., Griechische Grammatik: Auf der Grundlage von Karl Brugmanns griechischer Grammatik, vol. 1: Allgemeiner Teil. Lautlehre-Wortbildung-Flexion. Munich 1939.
- SCHWYZER/DEBRUNNER 1950 Schwyz E., Griechische Grammatik, vol. 2: Syntax und syntaktische Stilistik. Completed and edited by Albert Debrunner. Munich 1950.
- SEIGNEUR-FROLI 2003 Seigneur-Froli D., “Diachronic consonantal lenition and exotic word-initial clusters in Greek: a unified account”, Studies in Greek Linguistics 23 (2003) 345–57.
- SEIGNEUR-FROLI 2006 Seigneur-Froli D., Statut phonologique du début de mot grec. Lénitions consonantiques et libertés phonotactiques initiales dans la diachronie de la langue commune et dans le dialecte de Lesbos. Unpublished PhD thesis, Université de Nice Sophia-Antipolis, 2006.
- SEILER 1957 Seiler H.-J., “Das Problem der sogenannten Geminaten in den neugriechischen Dialekten mit besonderer Berücksichtigung einiger Dodekanes-Dialekte”, Glotta 36 (1957) 209–34.
- SEILER 1958 Seiler H.-J., “Zur Systematik und Entwicklungsgeschichte der griechischen Nominaldeklinaton”, Glotta 37 (1958) 41–67.
- SESTITO 1999 Sestito F., “Sull’alternanza chelil quale nell’italiano antico”, Studi di grammatica italiana 18 (1999) 5–30.
- SETATOS 1967 Σετάτος Μ., «Τὸ πρόβλημα τῆς ἐξέλιξης τοῦ υ ὡς τὰ νέα ἑλληνικά», Ἑλληνικά 20 (1967) 338–48.
- SETATOS 1987 Σετάτος Μ., «Απὸ τα αρχαία στα νέα ἑλληνικά. Φωνολογικές ἀλλαγές», Studies in Greek Linguistics 8 (1987) 187–92.
- SETATOS 1990/91 Σετάτος Μ., «Γλωσσολογικές παρατηρήσεις στη σερραϊκή χρονογραφία του Παπασυναδινού», Ελληνική Διαλεκτολογία 2 (1990–91) 17–35.
- SHIPP 1958 Shipp G. P., “The phonology of Modern Greek”, Glotta 37 (1958) 233–58.
- SHIPP 1965 Shipp G. P., “IOY = Y in Modern Greek”, Glotta 43 (1965) 302–16.
- SIAPKARAS-PITSILLIDÈS 1975 See Cypr. Canz. in Bibliography of literary works.
- SIHLER 1995 Sihler A., New Comparative Grammar of Greek and Latin. New York and Oxford 1995.

- SITARIDOU 2014 Sitaridou I., “The Romeyka infinitive. Continuity, contact and change in the Hellenic varieties of Pontus”, Diachronica 31 (2014) 23–73.
- SITARIDOU/TERKOURAFI 2009 Sitaridou I. – Terkourafi M., “On the loss of the masculine genitive plural in Cypriot Greek: language contact or internal evolution?”. In M. Dufresne et al. (eds.), Historical Linguistics 2007: Selected papers from the 18th International Conference on Historical Linguistics, Montreal, 6–11 August 2007. Amsterdam and Philadelphia 2009, 161–73.
- SMITH 1990 See Achil. O in Bibliography of literary works.
- SMYTH 1984 Smyth H. W., Greek Grammar. Revised by G. M. Messing. Cambridge, MA 1984.
- SOLARI 1976 Solari R., “Le trascrizioni armene di parole greche dei vangeli”, Rendiconti dell’Accademia dei Lincei 31 (1976) 87–102.
- SOPHOCLES, Lex. Sophocles E. A. (ed.), Greek Lexicon of the Roman and Byzantine Periods (from B.C. 146 to A.D. 1100). Cambridge, MA and London 1914.
- SOTIROPOULOS 1972 Sotiropoulos D., Noun Morphology of Modern Demotic Greek. The Hague and Paris 1972 [Janua Linguarum, Series Practica, 137].
- SPADARO 1980/82 Spadaro G., “La forma κανεί(ν) nella poesia greca medievale e negli odierni dialetti neogreci”, Rivista di Studi Bizantini e Neoellenici 17–19 (1980/82) 267–72.
- SPYRIDAKIS 1939 Σπυριδάκης Γ., «Ἡ προσωπική ἀντωνυμία λόγου μου -τοῦ λόγου μου», Ἐπετηρίς Μεσαιωνικοῦ Ἀρχείου 1 (1939) 43–51.
- STANITSAS 1984 Stanitsas S., “Formation de la syllabe tonique du vers à partir d’une diphthongue descendante dans la poésie grecque médiévale et moderne”. In Actes du VIIe Congrès international des néohellénistes des Universités francophones, Paris, INALCO, 12–20 mai 1983. Paris 1984, 133–50.
- STERIADE 1988 Steriade D., “Greek accent: a case for preserving structure”, Linguistic Inquiry 19 (1988) 271–314.
- SYMEONIDIS 1972 Συμεωνίδης Χ., «Χείλωση στὴ μεσαιωνικὴ καὶ νέα ἐλληνικὴ», Βυζαντινὰ 4 (1972) 239–52.
- SYMEONIDIS 1981 Συμεωνίδης Χ., «Ἡ ἐξέλιξη τοῦ ἀρχαίου “υ” σε “βγ” στὴ σύγχρονη κρητικὴ διάλεκτο καὶ τὰ λοιπὰ νεοελληνικὰ νησιωτικὰ ἰδιώματα». In Πεπραγμένα τοῦ Δ’ Διεθνoῦς Κρητολογικοῦ Συνεδρίου, Ἡράκλειο 29/8–3/9 1976, vol. 3. Athens 1981, 265–72.
- SYMEONIDIS 1983 Συμεωνίδης Χ., «Τὸ ἄρθρο ι τῶν βορείων νεοελληνικῶν ἰδιωμάτων». In Β’ Συμπόσιο Γλωσσολογίας τοῦ Βορειοελλαδικοῦ Χώρου (Ἡπειρος–Μακεδονία–Θράκη), 13–15 Ἀπριλίου 1978. Thessaloniki 1983, 329–43.

- SYMEONIDIS 1994 Symeonidis Ch., “Zur mittel- und neugriechischen Gruppe von Suffixen ‘-ίτσι(ν)’, ‘-ίτσα’, ‘-ούτσικος’ usw.”, Indogermanische Forschungen 99 (1994) 123–56.
- SYMEONIDIS 2006 Συμεωνίδης Χ., Ιστορία της κυπριακής διαλέκτου. Nicosia 2006.
- SYRKOU 2006 Σύρκου Α., Το μεγαριό γλωσσικό ιδίωμα: Λεξικογραφική μελέτη. Athens 2006.
- SZNOL 1999 Sznol S., “Medieval Judeo-Greek bibliography – texts and vocabularies”, Jewish Studies 39 (1999) 107–32.
- TABACHOVITZ 1926 Tabachovitz D., Sprachliche und textkritische Studien zur Chronik des Theophanes Confessor. Inauguraldissertation. Uppsala 1926.
- TARABOUT 1978 Tarabout Y., “L’interrogatif εἶντα ou ἴντα ‘quoi?’ du grec moderne dialectal”, Bulletin de la Société Linguistique de Paris 73 (1978) 301–10.
- TEODORSSON 1974 Teodorsson S. T., The Phonemic System of the Attic Dialect, 400–340 B.C. Göteborg 1974 [Acta Universitatis Gothoburgensis].
- THAVORIS 1980 Θαβώρης Α., «Τὸ προυν(ε)ικὸς τοῦ Ἡρώνδα καὶ ἡ παλαιότητα τῶν γνωστῶν γνωρισμάτων τῶν βορείων νεοελληνικῶν ἰδιωμάτων», Δωδώνη 9 (1980) 401–40.
- THEOPHANOPOULOU-KONTOU 1972/73 Theophanopoulou-Kontou D., “Fast speech rules and some phonological processes of Modern Greek: a preliminary investigation”, Ἐπιστημονικὴ Ἑπετηρὶς Φιλοσοφικῆς Σχολῆς Πανεπιστημίου Ἀθηνῶν 23 (1972–3) 372–90.
- THIERRY/THIERRY 1963 Thierry N. – Thierry M., Nouvelles églises rupestres de Cappadoce. Paris 1963.
- THOMADAKI 2001 Θωμαδάκη Ε., «Ο σχηματισμός των θηλυκών επιθέτων της νέας ελληνικής». In AGGOURAKI et al. 2001, 130–7.
- THREATTE 1980 Threatte L., The Grammar of Attic Inscriptions, vol. 1: Phonology. Berlin 1980.
- THREATTE 1996 Threatte L., The Grammar of Attic Inscriptions, vol. 2: Morphology. Berlin 1996.
- THUMB 1891 Thumb A., «Μελέτη περὶ τῆς σημερινῆς ἐν Αἰγίνῃ λαλουμένης διαλέκτου», Ἀθηνᾶ 3 (1891) 95–128.
- THUMB 1897 Thumb A., “Beiträge zur neugriechischen Dialektkunde: Der Dialekt von Amorgos”, Indogermanische Forschungen 7 (1897) 1–37.
- THUMB 1900 Thumb A., Review of DIETERICH 1898, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 9 (1900) 231–41.
- THUMB 1901 Thumb A., Die griechische Sprache im Zeitalter des Hellenismus. Strasbourg 1901.
- THUMB 1906 Thumb A., “Prinzipienfragen der Koine-Forschung”, Neue Jahrbücher für das klassische Altertum, Geschichte und deutsche Literatur, Abt. 1, 17.4 (1906) 246–64.

- THUMB 1910 Thumb A., “Die griechischen Lehnwörter im Armenischen. Beiträge zur Geschichte der Koine und des Mittelgriechischen”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 9 (1910) 388–452.
- THUMB 1912 Thumb A., Handbook of the Modern Greek Vernacular. Translated from the second improved and enlarged edition by S. Angus, MA, PhD. Edinburgh 1912.
- TLG Thesaurus Linguae Graecae. A Digital Library of Greek Literature. University of California, Irvine. <http://stephanus.tlg.uci.edu/>
- TLIO Tesoro della lingua Italiana delle Origini, Opera del Vocabolario Italiano, Istituto del Consiglio Nazionale delle Ricerche, Florence. Available at: <http://tlcio.oiv.cnr.it/TLIO/>
- TOMBAIDIS 1980 Τομπαΐδης Δ., «Συμβολή στην έρευνα του όνοματικού συνόλου της ποντιακής», Άρχεϊον Πόντου 36 (1980) 220–37.
- TOMBAIDIS 1988 Τομπαΐδης Δ., Η ποντιακή διάλεκτος. Athens 1988 [Περιοδικού Άρχεϊον Πόντου, Παράρτημα 17].
- TONNET ²2003 Tonnet H., Histoire du grec moderne. 2nd edition. Paris 2003.
- TOPINTZI/BALTAZANI 2013 Topintzi N. – Baltazani M., “Where the glide meets the palatals”. In N. Lavidas, T. Alexiou and A. M. Sougari (eds.), Major Trends in Theoretical and Applied Linguistics, vol. 1: Selected Papers from the 20th ISTAL. Berlin 2013, 177–96.
- TOUFEXIS 2005 Toufexis P., Das Alphabetum vulgaris linguae graecae des deutschen Humanisten Martin Crusius (1526–1607). Ein Beitrag zur Erforschung der gesprochenen griechischen Sprache im 16. Jh. Cologne 2005.
- TOUFEXIS 2008 Toufexis N., “Diglossia and register variation in Medieval Greek”, Byzantine and Modern Greek Studies 32 (2008) 203–17.
- TOUFEXIS 2012 Toufexis N., “Creating a database for the Grammar of Medieval Greek project”. In MAVROMATIS/AGIOTIS 2012, 271–91.
- TRIANDAFYLLIDIS 1926 Τριανταφυλλίδης Μ., «Η γενική των ύποκοριστικών σε -ακι και τὸ νεοελληνικὸ κλιτικὸ σύστημα», Byzantinisch-Neugriechische Jahrbücher 5 (1926) 273–306. Reprinted in Άπαντα Μανόλη Τριανταφυλλίδη, vol. 2. Thessaloniki 1963, 141–71.
- TRIANDAFYLLIDIS 1936 Τριανταφυλλίδης Μ., «Η ελληνική αύξηση, ό κλονισμός της, και τὸ ξεχώρισμα τῶν όμόηων ρηματικῶν τύπων», Glotta 25 (1936) 238–48. Reprinted in Άπαντα Μανόλη Τριανταφυλλίδη, vol. 2. Thessaloniki 1963, 206–15.
- TRIANDAFYLLIDIS 1938 Τριανταφυλλίδης Μ., Νεοελληνική γραμματική, vol. 1: Ίστορική Είσαγωγή. Athens 1938. Reprinted in Άπαντα Μανόλη Τριανταφυλλίδη, vol. 3. Thessaloniki 1993.
- TRIANDAFYLLIDIS 1941 Τριανταφυλλίδης Μ., Νεοελληνική Γραμματική (τῆς δημοτικής). Athens 1941. Reprinted Thessaloniki 2002.

- TRIANDAPHYLLIDIS 1909 Triandaphyllidis M., Die Lehnwörter der mittelhellenischen Vulgärliteratur. Strasbourg 1909. Reprinted in Ἀπαντα Μανόλη Τριανταφυλλίδη, vol. 1. Thessaloniki 1963, 299–494.
- TRIBBECHOVIUS 1705 Tribbechovius M. J., Brevia linguae ῥωμαϊκῆς, sive Graecae vulgaris, elementa, quibus differentia antiquum inter et recentiore Graecismum praecipue ostenditur. Praemissa est dissertatio de ortu et natura hujus linguae. Jena 1705.
- TRUDGILL 2003 Trudgill P., “Modern Greek dialects: a preliminary classification”, Journal of Greek Linguistics 4 (2003) 45–63.
- TRYPANIS 1960 Trypanis C. A., “Early Medieval Greek ἰνᾶ”, Glotta 38 (1960) 312–13.
- TSAVARI 1987 See Poulol. in Bibliography of literary works.
- TSERDANELIS 2002 Tserdanelis G., “Obstruent cluster manner dissimilation in Greek: a perceptual account”. In Ch. Clairis (ed.), Recherches en linguistique grecque: Actes du 5e Colloque international de linguistique grecque (Sorbonne, 13–16/9/2001). Paris 2002, 271–4.
- TSOLAKI 2009 Τσολάκη Μ., Μορφολογία του ιδιώματος της Σαμοθράκης. Ονομαστικό και ρηματικό κλιτικό σύστημα. Unpublished PhD thesis, University of Thessaloniki, 2009.
- TSOLAKIDIS 2009 Τσολακίδης Σ., «Αντιγεγονοτικές περιφράσεις με “ήθελα να” στις νεοελληνικές διαλέκτους», Studies in Greek Linguistics 29 (2009) 413–27.
- TSOLAKIDIS 2010 Τσολακίδης Σ., «Αντιγεγονοτικές περιφράσεις με το ήθελα +απρφ. στις νεοελληνικές διαλέκτους». In M. Janse, B. D. Joseph, A. Ralli et al. (eds.), MGDLT 4: Proceedings of the 4th International Conference of Modern Greek Dialects and Linguistic Theory (Chios, Greece, 11–14 June 2009). Patras 2010, 224–31.
- TSOLAKIDIS 2011 Τσολακίδης Σ., «Γραμματικοποιημένες δομές δυνητικής τροπικότητας στις νεοελληνικές διαλέκτους». In M. Janse, B. Joseph, P. Pavlou, and A. Ralli (eds.), Studies in Modern Greek Dialects and Linguistic Theory. Nicosia 2011, 215–26.
- TSOPANAKIS 1940 Tsopanakis A., Contribution à l’étude des dialectes néogrecs: Essai sur la phonétique des parlers de Rhodes. Athens 1940 [Texte und Forschungen zur Byzantinisch-Neugriechischen Philologie, 40]. Reprinted in Tsopanakis 1983, vol. 1, 3–255, 609–18.
- TSOPANAKIS 1949 Τσοπανάκης Ά. Γ., Τὸ ἰδίωμα τῆς Χάλκης (Δωδεκανήσου). Rhodes 1949. Reprinted in Tsopanakis 1983, vol. 1, 435–572.
- TSOPANAKIS 1950 Τσοπανάκης Ά. Γ., «Συμβολή στὴ ρύθμιση τοῦ νεοελληνικοῦ κλιτικοῦ συστήματος», Ἐπιστημονικὴ Ἑπετηρὶς τῆς Φιλοσοφικῆς Σχολῆς Πανεπιστημίου Θεσσαλονίκης 6 (1950) 243–80.

- TSOPANAKIS 1953 Τσοπανάκης Ά. Γ., «Τὸ σιατιστινὸ ἰδίωμα», Μακεδονικά 2 (1953) 266–98. Reprinted in TSOPANAKIS 1983, vol. 2, 53–85.
- TSOPANAKIS 1955 Τσοπανάκης Ά. Γ., “Eine dorische Dialektzone im Neugriechischen”, Byzantinische Zeitschrift 48 (1955), 49–72. Reprinted in TSOPANAKIS 1983, vol. 2, 113–36.
- TSOPANAKIS 1960 Τσοπανάκης Ά., «Ἡ ἐξέλιξη τοῦ νεοελληνικοῦ φωνηεντισμοῦ (Ἡ περίπτωση γοητεύω-γητεύω καὶ ἡ ἐξέλιξη τῶν διφθόγγων αἰ, οἰ σε ε, ι)». In Ἀφιέρωμα στὴ μνήμη τοῦ Μανόλη Τριανταφυλλίδη. Thessaloniki 1960, 425–43.
- TSOPANAKIS 1963 Τσοπανάκης Ά., «Βυζαντιακὰ διαλεκτικὰ στοιχεῖα στὴν Κωνσταντινούπολη», Ἐπιστημονικὴ Ἐπετηρὶς τῆς Φιλοσοφικῆς Σχολῆς Πανεπιστημίου Θεσσαλονίκης 7 (1963) 1–15.
- TSOPANAKIS 1968 Τσοπανάκης Ά., «Μιὰ ἰωνικὴ παραγωγικὴ κατάληξη: -οὔδι (-οὔδα, -οὔδης)», Ἐπιστημονικὴ Ἐπετηρὶς τῆς Φιλοσοφικῆς Σχολῆς Πανεπιστημίου Θεσσαλονίκης 10 (1968) 283–307.
- TSOPANAKIS 1983 Τσοπανάκης Α., Συμβολές στην ιστορία της ελληνικής γλώσσας. 2 vols. Thessaloniki 1983.
- TSOPANAKIS 1988 Tsopanakis A., “Mutations of φ, θ, χ into β, δ, γ (in Cyprus, Macedonia, Homer and Modern Greek)”. In J. Karageorghis and O. Masson (eds.), The History of the Greek Language in Cyprus: Proceedings of an International Symposium Sponsored by the Pierides Foundation. Nicosia 1988, 81–93.
- TSOPANAKIS 1994 Τσοπανάκης Α. Γ., Νεοελληνικὴ Γραμματικὴ. Thessaloniki and Athens 1994.
- TSOUKNIDAS 1981 Τσουκνίδας Γ., «Πιθανὲς ἐνδείξεις γιὰ τὴ χρονολόγηση τῶν κωφώσεων στὰ Νέα Ἑλληνικά», Τομὲς 70 (1981) 32–6.
- TSOUKNIDAS 1985/89 Τσουκνίδας Γ., «Περὶ τὴν σίγησιν τῶν νόθων ι καὶ ου εἰς τὰ βόρεια ἑλληνικά ἰδιώματα», Ἀθηνᾶ 80 (1985–89) 179–86.
- TSOUKNIDAS 2002/03 Τσουκνίδας Γ., «Γλωσσικά του 17ου και του 18ου αιώνα από την περιοχή του Μετσόβου», Λεξικογραφικὸν Δελτίον 24 (2002–03) 97–122.
- TURNER 1963 Turner N., A Grammar of New Testament Greek, by J. H. Moulton, vol. 3: Syntax. London and New York 1963.
- TZAKOSTA 2012 Tzakosta M., “Manner, place and voice interactions in Greek cluster phonotactics”. In P. Hoole, L. Bompian et al. (eds.), Consonant Clusters and Consonant Complexity. Berlin 2012, 93–117.
- TZITZILIS 1997 Τζιτζιλίης Χ., Review of the first edition of ΜΙΝΑΣ ²2003, Ἑλληνικά 47 (1997) 406–16.
- TZITZILIS 1999 Tzitzilis Ch., “Bemerkungen zu einem russisch-griechischen Gesprächsbuch des 15. Jh.”, Zeitschrift für Balkanologie 35 (1999) 78–96.

- TZITZILIS 2000 Tzitzilis Ch., “Das Mittelgriechische im Lichte der Balkanlinguistik”. In Ch. Tzitzilis and Ch. Symeonidis (eds.), Balkanlinguistik: Synchronie und Diachronie. Akten des Internationalen Kongresses (Thessaloniki 30/10–1/11 1997). Thessaloniki 2000, 257–72.
- TZITZILIS 2004 Tzitzilis Ch., “Das Mittelgriechische in Süditalien und das Problem der Herkunft der neugriechischen Dialekte Süditaliens”. In W. Hörandner, J. Koder and M. Stassinopoulou (eds.), Wiener Byzantinistik und Neogräzistik: Beiträge zum Symposium “Vierzig Jahre Institut für Byzantinistik und Neogräzistik der Universität Wien im Gedenken an Herbert Hunger” (Wien, 4. bis 7. Dezember 2002). Vienna 2004 [Byzantina et Neograeca Vindobonensia, 24], 464–81.
- VAN BUREN 1908 Van Buren A. W., “Inscriptions from Asia Minor, Cyprus and the Cyrenaica”, Journal of Hellenic Studies 28 (1908) 180–201.
- VAN GEMERT 1973 Van Gemert A. F., Marinos Falieros en zijn beide liefdesdromen. Amsterdam 1973.
- VAN GEMERT 1980 See FALIEROS, Ist. On. in Bibliography of literary works.
- VAN REENEN 1985 Van Reenen P., “La linguistique des langues anciennes et la systématisation de ses données”. In A. Dees (ed.), Actes du IV^e Colloque International sur le moyen français. Amsterdam 1985, 433–70.
- VASMER 1922 Vasmer M., Ein russisch-byzantinisches Gesprächsbuch: Beiträge zur Erforschung der älteren russischen Lexikographie. Leipzig 1922 [Veröffentlichungen des baltischen und slavischen Instituts an der Universität Leipzig, 2].
- VAYAKAKOS 1964 Βαγιακάκος Δ., «Διαλεκτικά ἐκ τοῦ μεσαιωνικοῦ Πόντου», Ἀρχεῖον Πόντου 26 (1964) 267–89.
- VAYAKAKOS 1978 Βαγιακάκος Δ. Β., Οἱ Μανιάται τῆς Διασποράς. Α' Ὁι Μανιάται τῆς Κορσικῆς, vol. 2. Athens 1978.
- VAYAKAKOS 1988a Βαγιακάκος Δ., «Κοινὰ γλωσσικὰ φαινόμενα τῆς διαλεκτοῦ τῆς Μάνης μετὰ τῆς διαλέκτου τῆς Ζακύνθου καὶ τῶν Κυθήρων», Λακωνικαὶ Σπουδαί 9 (1988) 133–88.
- VEJLESKOV 2005 See BERGADIS, Apok. in Bibliography of literary works.
- VENDRYES 1938 Vendryes J., Traité d'accentuation grecque. Paris 1938.
- VENNEMANN 1988 Vennemann Th., Preference Laws for Syllable Structure and the Explanation of Sound Change: With special reference to German, Germanic, Italian, and Latin. Berlin 1988.
- VENNEMANN 2012 Vennemann Th., “Structural complexity of consonant clusters: a phonologist’s view”. In P. Hoole, L. Bompian et al. (eds.), Consonant Clusters and Consonant Complexity. Berlin 2012, 9–32.

- VINCENT 1980 See FOSKOLOS, Fort. in Bibliography of literary works.
- VINE 2011 Vine B., “On dissimilatory r-loss in Greek”. In T. Krisch and T. Lindner (eds.), Indogermanistik und Linguistik im Dialog: Akten der XIII. Fachtagung der Indogermanischen Gesellschaft vom 21. bis 27. September 2008 in Salzburg. Wiesbaden 2011, 1–17.
- WARD 1946 Ward R., “The loss of final consonants in Greek”, Language 22 (1946) 102–8.
- WEGERA 2000 Wegera K.-P., “Grundlagenprobleme einer mittelhochdeutschen Grammatik”. In W. Besch, A. Betten, O. Reichmann and S. Sonderegger (eds.), Sprachgeschichte: Ein Handbuch zur Geschichte der deutschen Sprache und ihrer Erforschung. 2nd edition. Berlin and New York 2000 [Handbücher zur Sprach- und Kommunikationswissenschaft 2.2], Vol. 2, 1304–20.
- WEGERA 2003 Wegera K.-P., “Grammatiken zu Sprachabschnitten. Zu ihren Grundlagen und Prinzipien”. In A. Lobenstein-Reichmann and O. Reichmann (eds.), Neue historische Grammatiken: Zum Stand der Grammatikschreibung historischer Sprachstufen des Deutschen und anderen Sprachen. Tübingen 2003, 231–40.
- WILLMOTT 2013 Willmott J., “Negation in the history of Greek”. In D. Willis, C. Lucas and A. Breitbarth (eds.), The History of Negation in the Languages of Europe and the Mediterranean. Oxford 2013, 299–340.
- WILSON 2008 Wilson N., “Greek palaeography”. In R. Cormack, J. F. Haldon and E. Jeffreys (eds.), The Oxford Handbook of Byzantine Studies. Oxford 2008, 101–14.
- WOODARD 2008 Woodard R. D., “Attic Greek”. In R. D. Woodard (ed.), The Ancient Languages of Europe. Cambridge 2008, 14–49.
- XANTHINAKIS ⁴2009 Ξανθινάκης Α. Β., Λεξικό ερμηνευτικό και ετυμολογικό του δυτικοκρητικού γλωσσικού ιδιώματος. 4th edition, revised and augmented with 1,500 new entries. Heraklion 2009.
- XANTHOUDIDIS 1915 Ξανθουδίδης Σ., Βιτζέντζου Κορνάρου Έρωτόκριτος. Έκδοσις κριτική γενομένη ἐπὶ τῇ βάσει τῶν πρώτων πηγῶν, μετ’ εἰσαγωγῆς, σημειώσεων καὶ γλωσσαρίου. Heraklion 1915.
- YANGOULLIS 2002 Γιαγκουλλής Κ. Γ., Θησαυρός της Κυπριακής διαλέκτου, ερμηνευτικός και ετυμολογικός. Από το 13ο αιώνα μέχρι σήμερα. Nicosia 2002.
- ZACHARIADOU 1978 Zachariadou E., “Observations on some Turcica of Pachymeres”, Révue des Études Byzantines 36 (1978) 261–7.
- ZERDIN 1999 Zerdin J. R., Studies in the Ancient Greek Verbs in -skō. Unpublished PhD thesis, University of Oxford.

- ZEUGOLIS 1956 Ζευγώλης Γ., «Γλωσσικά φαινόμενα από τὰ ἰδιώματα τῆς Νάξου». In Mélanges offerts à Octave et Melpo Merlier à l'occasion du 25^e anniversaire de leur arrivée en Grèce, vol. 2. Athens 1956, 7–25.
- ZOIS 1963 Ζώης Λ., Λεξικὸν ἱστορικὸν καὶ λαογραφικὸν Ζακύνθου, vol. 2: Λαογραφικόν. Athens 1963.
- .

Correspondence Table of Graphemes and Phonemes

For the general orientation of the non-specialist user of this Grammar, this correspondence table indicates the relationship between the letters of the Greek alphabet and the phonemes they represent in Medieval and Early Modern Greek. It does not include graphematic particularities such as ligatures, abbreviations, special symbols or scribal idiosyncrasies which may be encountered in manuscript, epigraphic and printed sources, for which see the specific bibliography given in section 4 of the General Introduction (Volume 1). Further details concerning allophonic, regional or other particular realizations are provided, when necessary, in the relevant phoneme sections in Phonology.

Grapheme	Phoneme	Allophone
Α α	/a/
Β β	/v/
Γ γ	/ɣ/	[j]
Δ δ	/ð/
Ε ε	/e/
Ζ ζ	/z/
Η η	/i/
Θ θ	/θ/
Ι ι	/i/
Κ κ	/k/	[c]
Λ λ	/l/	[Λ]
Μ μ	/m/
Ν ν	/n/	[ɲ]
Ξ ξ	/ks/
Ο ο	/o/
Π π	/p/
Ρ ρ	/r/
Σ σ ς	/s/
Τ τ	/t/
Υ υ	/y/ > /i/
Φ φ	/f/
Χ χ	/x/	[ç]
Ψ ψ	/ps/
Ω ω	/o/

Digraph	Phoneme	Allophone
αι	/e/
αυ	/af/ – /av/
γγ	/ng/	[ŋg] – [g]
γκ	/ng/	[ŋg] – [g]
ει	/i/
ευ	/ef/ – /ev/
μπ	/mb/	[b]
ντ	/nd/	[d]
οι	/y/ > /i/
ου	/u/
τζ	/ts/ – /dz/
υι	/y/ > /i/

Abbreviations

Cross-references within the Grammar are given by Chapter and Section, e.g. 2.6.3, if they refer to the same Part, but if to a different Part they begin with the relevant Part number, e.g. II, 3.1.

Periods and Dates

AG	Ancient Greek
EMedG	Early Medieval Greek
LMedG	Late Medieval Greek
EMG	Early Modern Greek
MG	Modern Greek
SMG	Standard Modern Greek
ca.	circa
c.	century

General

app. crit.	apparatus criticus
f., ff.	folio(s)
ibid.	in the same text, i.e. the one cited immediately before id./idem/eadem	by the same author ms(s)	manuscript(s)
vs.	versus

Grammatical Terms

acc.	accusative
act.	active
adv.	adverb
aor.	aorist
F/fem.	feminine
fut.	future
gen.	genitive
imp.	imperative
imperf.	imperfect
ind.	indicative
inf.	infinitive
M/masc.	masculine
N/neut.	neuter

NP	noun phrase
nom.	nominative
pass.	passive
perf.	perfect
pl.	plural (e.g. 3 pl. = 3rd person plural)
pluperf.	pluperfect
PP	prepositional phrase
prep.	preposition
pres.	present
pron.	pronoun
sg.	singular (e.g. 1 sg. = 1st person singular)
subj.	subjunctive
voc.	vocative
VP	verb phrase

Languages

Alb.	Albanian
Fr.	French
IE	Indo-European
Ital.	Italian
MedLat.	Medieval Latin
Lat.	Latin
Occit.	Occitan
OFr.	Old French
Port.	Portuguese
Rom.	Romanian
Slav.	Slavonic
Turk.	Turkish
Ven.	Venetian

Part I

Phonology

1 Introduction

1.1 Theoretical preliminaries

The analysis of the phonetics and phonology of a “dead” language presents greater difficulties than that of its morphology or syntax, since, by definition, it requires access to the sounds of the language, which are irrecoverable from the written record. The written record does not permit any conclusions concerning the “real”, phonetic, realization of the sounds under investigation. Furthermore, the conservativeness inherent in all writing/orthographic systems allows sound changes to remain hidden for centuries, sometimes even millennia. (To take a random example, the change /ai/ > /e/ in Greek, dated to the first centuries AD, is still not reflected in standard MG orthography.) Additionally, alphabetical systems (such as the MedG and EMG one) are phonological and only rarely offer insights into allophonic realizations. As a further complicating factor, scribal/copying errors are more liable to be interpreted as “true” phenomena in the domain of phonology than in other domains.

Finally, it is only for sound changes, and not for changes in the morphology or the syntax, that theoretical historical linguistics makes an assumption of regularity: sound changes are expected to apply in a specific phonetic context, all extralinguistic factors being equal, across the board and without exceptions. Therefore, the persistent variation exhibited by medieval texts (and in particular by MedG and EMG ones) in the application of sound changes, which is confirmed by the variation exhibited even in the modern form of the Greek language and its dialects, is in more urgent need of explanation, and the presence/absence of a feature or phenomenon in a specific text in greater need of verification/corroboration from alternative sources.¹

To counteract these problems, historical phonological research (and, as a result, Part I of this Grammar) attaches particular importance to: (a) graphematics (diplomatic versions of texts, texts written in other alphabets, the apparatus criticus of critical editions); (b) comparative/corroborating evidence from earlier and later forms of the language; and (c) general theoretical analyses of linguistic phenomena. However, “peripheral” information on a phenomenon is here kept to a minimum, used in order to assist its dating, localization and interpretation, and the reader is directed to the relevant secondary literature for further details. The aim is to provide a short historical overview of each sound change, from its earliest attestations up to and including the Early Modern period, detailed information as to the linguistic and extralinguistic factors affecting its distribution, and, where possible, an interpretation.

¹ On these issues cf. MANOLESSOU 2008a, MANOLESSOU/TOUFEXIS 2009.

The adoption of a specific theoretical viewpoint for the presentation of the phonology of MedG and EMG was deemed impractical. Phonology by definition refers to a specific phonological system, which in turn implies a specific linguistic community at a specific time. On the contrary, the description provided here is diachronic and diatopic: it encompasses a variety of local phonological systems evolving over several centuries, which may be very similar but cannot be viewed as identical. An additional difficulty is the fact that modern linguistic research on the historical phonology of later Greek (from EMedG onwards) is seriously lagging behind in comparison to the solid work done for other languages, and thus in most cases there is no secondary literature to rely on for the analysis of the data.

The issue is further complicated by the fact that the major controversial issues of MedG phonology, which are very similar (frequently identical) to those of MG and its dialects, are by no means resolved by modern theory,² despite the additional advantages that a spoken language with living native speakers can offer (the possibility of experimental phonetic analysis, elicitation tests, comprehensive and representative data coverage etc.); therefore it can hardly be expected for them to be settled for MedG, which presents all the difficulties (discussed above) inherent in a language transmitted only through the written medium.

Finally, since much of the data presented here is made available to the scholarly community for the first time, an effort has been made to couch them in an, as far as possible, theory-neutral framework, so that they may be usable by as many scholars as possible, whatever their linguistic or philological background.

1.2 Presentation

In the first sections of Chapters 2 and 3 the sounds constituting the MedG and EMG system are described, by articulatory class. For each class, information is provided as to (a) the historical origin of the sounds comprised in it, (b) the allophonic variants of these sounds, (c) where necessary, their graphematic representation and (d) the regular changes affecting them, with cross-references to the subsections where each change is discussed. In the next sections, the major sound changes of MedG and EMG are described. As discussed above, and as will become evident from the presentation of the data, few of the sound changes discussed display regularity. It was therefore indispensable to provide a larger number of examples than is strictly necessary for the illustration of each change as a linguistic phenomenon per se; the aim was to provide comprehensive documentation pertaining to the spread and distribution of the phenomenon according to period, area and register.

The list of examples for each change is arranged first by phonetic environment and secondarily in chronological order. There is an important exception to this practice: all “affected” attestations of a lexical item are presented together, irrespective of chronological order, and inserted in the sequence of examples on the basis of the earliest attestation of the “changed” form. This is because it is crucial to verify whether an early change appearing in a certain lexical item is indeed a true instantiation of this change, and not a one-off performance error which accidentally corresponds in form to it. This corroboration can be provided only by the consistent presence of the “changed” form in other areas and periods.

² For recent and easily accessible overviews of the major issues in MG phonetics and phonology and the various alternative proposals see MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2001 and ARVANITI 2007.

In the case of major changes of Panhellenic spread no attempt is made to provide examples from all areas where the phenomenon is attested; instead, the list of examples aims to cover the various phonetic environments and gives emphasis to the earliest attestations. By contrast, in the case of sound changes of regional or dialectal status, an effort is made to provide examples from all the areas where the change is attested.

2 Vowels

2.1 Overall Description of the Vowel System

2.1.1 Simple Vowels

At the beginning of the LMedG period, the vowel system has six isochronous vowels, being a continuation of the late Koine and EMedG system. The massive changes leading to this system (monophthongization of AG diphthongs, loss of quantity distinctions) were already completed by the end of the Koine period and are therefore not discussed here (see HORROCKS ²2010: 160–70 for details). The EMedG vowel system has three high vowels (front /i/, y/, back /u/), two mid vowels (front /e/, back /o/) and one open low vowel (/a/) (Fig. 1).

Fig. 1: The Vowel System of Early Medieval Greek

After the merger of /y/ <υ, οι> and /i/ towards the end of the 10th c. (see 2.4.6.1), a stable five-vowel system, /a e i o u/, is in place (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 202–65; HORROCKS ²2010: 274). The high vowel /i/ possesses a semi-vocalic allophonic variant [i̯] when preceded or followed by another vowel. Around the 13th c., after the phenomenon of syniz-esis has applied (see 2.9.4), [i̯] acquires phonemic status, enriching the phoneme inventory with an additional phoneme, the semivowel /j/, which has multiple realizations dependent on the phonetic environment (see 2.4.7). This system undergoes no further changes, remaining stable until MG (Fig. 2).

Fig. 2: The Vowel System of Late Medieval, Early Modern and Modern Greek

2.1.2 Diphthongs

The vowel system also includes a series of diphthongs, i.e. tautosyllabic combinations of an open or mid vowel + the vocalic semivowel [i̯] (falling diphthongs):

[a̯i̯]	[e̯i̯]	[o̯i̯]	[u̯i̯] γαῖτάνι	ηλαίει	τρώει	ἄμούει

At least until the phenomenon of synizesis has set in (see 2.9.4), rising diphthongs, consisting of the vocalic semivowel [i̯] + open or mid vowel are also part of the vowel system:

[i̯a]	[i̯e]	[i̯o]	[i̯u]
βιάζω	διέβη	στρατιώτης	ποιοῦσι

There is no reason to assume phonemic status for either the rising or the falling diphthongs of MedG and EMG.

2.2 Allophonic and Regional Variation

There are two main processes creating allophonic variation in the vowel system. The first is synizesis, i.e. the reduction of the front vowel /i/ to a vocalic glide [i̯] when adjacent to another vowel. The results of this phenomenon vary according to period and region or dialect. One may assume a regular allophonic alternation [i] ~ [i̯] adjacent to vowels, which becomes obscured once additional phenomena set in, namely: (a) consonantization, i.e. the hardening of the vocalic glide to a palatal consonant, and (b) glide absorption, i.e. the deletion of the vocalic glide when preceded by a palatalized consonant (see 2.9.4). After the action of these phenomena the most straightforward analysis is to consider [i̯] and its various context-dependent palatal realizations ([j], [ç], [ɲ] or zero) as allophones of a new phoneme /j/ (see 2.4.7 and 2.9.4).

According to some scholars (e.g. MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 2002), the vowel /e/ also possesses a vocalic glide allophone [e̯] adjacent to a tautosyllabic vowel; this glide follows the same evolutionary path as [i̯], and disappears from the vowel system of most areas after the phenomenon of synizesis has been completed. However, in areas of northern mainland Greece this glide is maintained up to MG (see 2.9.4) and should therefore be considered a part of a regional variety of the LMedG system as well, albeit unidentifiable through the spelling.

In the Pontic dialect the phenomenon of synizesis has created two new vowels, /æ/ and /œ/. These vowels result from the coalescence of the sequences [ɛa, i̯a] and [ɛo, i̯o] respectively when [e] or [i] is unstressed: in the case of a stressed [e] or [i] the sequence remains unaffected, without coalescence or synizesis. The phenomenon is not very well attested, but definitely extant in the MedG documents of Pontic or assumed Pontic provenance (see 2.5.3 and 2.9.4).

The second basic process which creates allophony in the LMedG (and MG) vowel system is the phenomenon of raising or “northern” vocalism (see 2.5.4). This phenomenon affects the unstressed mid vowels /e/ and /o/, raising them to [i̯] and [u̯] respectively. As a result, in the areas where it applies, the vowels /e/ and /o/ possess the allophones [i̯] and [u] respectively when unstressed, and the vowel system has five members, /a e i o u/, in stressed syllables, but only three, /a i u/, in unstressed ones. The dating of the phenomenon is still a matter of controversy, but there is no doubt that it was in place in the LMedG period. Its extent was roughly that of the MG period, i.e. central and northern mainland Greece and several Aegean islands.

2.3 Quality of the Vowels

Written records naturally provide no evidence concerning the precise degree of height, openness or duration of the MedG and EMG vowels, which might have varied according to region or dialect. It is probable that they were quite similar to the MG ones; an indication of this, apart from the fact that they behave similarly in similar environments (i.e. almost all MedG phonetic changes appear in MG and its dialects as well), derives from the contrast with the vowel systems of languages with which MedG came into contact.

More precisely, there is considerable evidence that at least the mid vowels /e/ and /o/ were more open in MedG than the corresponding vowels in Medieval French and Italian, just as MG /e o/ are more open than French or Italian /e o/, and were in fact realized, as in MG, as [ɛ] and [ɔ] respectively. The evidence consists in the adaptation of Romance loanwords in Greek, which consistently show /u/ instead of /o/ and (less frequently) /i/ instead of /e/ (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 289–90; TRIANDAPHYLIDIS 1909: 24–9; PERNOT 1907/46: I 148). The phenomenon can be distinguished from the similar raising of [o] > [u] in “northern” (cf. 2.5.4) and “southern” dialects (back vowel raising; cf. 2.8.3) from the fact that it occurs both in stressed and unstressed syllables, in words of Romance origin. The S. Italian raising of /o/ > /u/ (see 2.5.4) is again a different case, as it appears in both native and borrowed words, and derives from contact with local Romance dialects which have a different vowel system. Examples:

/o/ > /u/ stressed

Βερούναν Chron. Mor. H 1563

ὁ κούντης (1388, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 101, 99.2) < Fr. comte κοῦντοι, πρίγκιπτοι Alosis 177 transcr. (Lendari) (Legrand: κούντους, πρίγκιπταις) κανόνικος καὶ καντοῦρος (1431, Athens, BUCHON 1843: LXIX, 290.2) < Ital. cantore

Φούσκαρις SFRANTZIS, Chron. 136.19; Φούσκαρη (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 21.3) < Foscari μπαροῦνος (1501, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 65, 99.4) Ital. < barone

τὴν σκροῦφα (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 257.49) < Ital. scrofa

τὸν Φούσκουλον (1670, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 4, 15.6) < Foscolo

/o/ > /u/ unstressed

ἄβουκᾶτος Chron. Mor. H 7531

Κάρουλος SFRANTZIS, Chron. 36.15

τὴν παρουνίαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 20.34 κουρτουμπίζα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 141 < Ital. corto-bisso σὰν λουρέντζω (ca. 1560, Venice, MARKOS 1977: IIα, 27.6); Λουρέντζος (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 8, 129.5) < Lorenzo σουλτάδοι (16th c., Constantinople, SCHREINER 1975/79: 63A, 11.3–4) (scribe from Nauplion)

< Ven. soldado

ἐκουπιάρισα (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 42, 103.30) < Ital. copiare κουμουδητὰ (1612, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 1, 308.26) < Ital. commodità φαλκουνετίου FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 231 < Ital. falconetto Ρουλάνδος (1641, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 19, 323.22)

 Ρουμπέρτος (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 26, 173.4)

/e/ > /i/

τορνίσια (1501, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 66, 101.30) φουριστιέρικα (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 10, 11.9) < Ital. forestiere κωνδίκηλλον (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 45, 55.20) ὁ σινεσκάρδος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 46.1 < OFr. seneschal δισπλαζίριν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 77.32 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) < OFr. desplazir φόρσι (17th c., Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32.51) < Ital. forse (alternatively, < Ven. forsi) πούρι δὲν εἶσαι CHORTATIS, Katz. III.155 < Ital. pure πούρι (1665, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 9, 418.15); (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 84.22) φρηγάδα (1708, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969c: 1, 38.6)

2.4 Phoneme Inventory

2.4.1 /a/ <α>

/a/ is a direct inheritance from Koine and EMedG /a/, which in turn originates from the merger of two AG vowels, /a:/ and /a/. It is the only open or central vowel of MedG and EMG. It may appear in all positions, initial, medial and final, and has no allophones. It is the “strongest” vowel in the MedG and MG vowel sonority hierarchy /a o u e i/ (see 2.9.2).

/a/ is involved in the following phenomena:

- /a/ > /e/ adjacent to liquids and nasals (see 2.8.1)
- /a/ > /o/ – labialization (see 2.8.2)
- Addition of word-final vowel (see 2.6.3)
- Deletion (see 2.7)
- Assimilation and dissimilation (see 2.8.5)
- Prothesis and aphaeresis (see 2.6.1 and 2.7.1)

2.4.2 /e/ <ε, αι>

/e/ is a direct inheritance from Koine and EMedG /e/, which in turn originates from the merger of the AG vowel /e/ and the monophthongized AG diphthong /ai/. It is a front mid vowel, appearing in initial, medial and final position. In the so-called “northern” dialects it has an allophone [i] when unstressed.

/e/ is affected by the following phenomena:

- /e/ > [i] – “raising vocalism” (see 2.5.4)
- /e/ > [i] – synizesis (see 2.9.4)
- /e/ > /o/ – labialization (see 2.8.2)
- Prothesis and aphaeresis (see 2.6.1 and 2.7.1)
- Word-final addition (see 2.6.3 and II, 2 passim, II, 3 passim, II, 5 passim, III, 4 passim)

- Deletion (see 2.9.2)
- Crasis (see 2.9.5)
- Assimilation and dissimilation (see 2.8.5)

2.4.3 /o/ <ο, ω>

/o/ is a direct inheritance from Koine and EMedG /o/, which in turn originates from the merger of the AG vowels /o/ and /ɔ:/. It is a back mid vowel, appearing in initial, medial and final position. In the so-called “northern” dialects it has an allophone [u] when unstressed.

/o/ is affected by the following phenomena:

- /o/ > [u] – “raising vocalism” (see 2.5.4)
- /o/ > /e/ in the adjacency of liquids and nasals (see 2.8.1)
- /o/ > /u/ – back vowel raising (see 2.8.3)
- Prothesis and aphaeresis (see 2.6.1 and 2.7.1)
- Deletion (see 2.9.2)
- Assimilation and dissimilation (see 2.8.5)

2.4.4 /u/ <ου>

/u/ is a direct inheritance from Koine /u/, which in turn stems from the raising of AG /o:/. It also arises from a series of backing and raising changes of /o/ and /i/ during the EMedG and LMedG periods (see 2.8.3, 2.8.4), as well as, in more restricted cases, from EMedG /y/ (see 2.4.6). It is a high back vowel which can appear in all positions.

/u/ is affected by the following phenomena:

- Deletion as part of “raising vocalism” (see 2.5.4)
- /u/ > /o/ – lowering (see 2.5.4)
- Deletion (see 2.7 and 2.9)
- Crasis (see 2.9.5)
- Assimilation and dissimilation (see 2.8.5)

2.4.5 /i/ <ι, η, υ, ει, οι, υι>

/i/ is a direct inheritance from Koine /i/, which in turn stems from a variety of AG sources: the merger of /i/ and /i:/. the raising of /e:/. and /ε:/. and the monophthongization of the diphthong /ei/, as well as from EMedG /y/ (see 2.4.6). There is one area where AG /ε:/. evolved to /e/ and not to /i/, namely Pontos; for this see 2.5.2.

/i/ is a high front vowel which can appear in all positions. Due to its complex phonological history, it is spelled in a bewildering variety of ways: as <ι, η, υ, ει, οι, υι>, in the Greek alphabet and as <i, y> in the Latin alphabet.

/i/ is affected by the following phenomena:

- Synizesis (see 2.9.4)
- Deletion as part of “raising vocalism” (see 2.5.4)
- /i/ > /e/ – lowering (see 2.5.4)
- /i/ > /e/ in the adjacency of liquids and nasals (see 2.8.1)
- /i/ > /u/ (see 2.8.4)
- Deletion (see 2.7 and 2.9)
- Prothesis and aphaeresis (see 2.6.1 and 2.7.1)
- Assimilation (see 2.8.5)

2.4.6 /y/ <οι, υ>

The vowel /y/ is a direct inheritance from Koine /y/, which in turn stems from the merger of AG /y/ and /y:/ and the monophthongization of the AG diphthong /oi/. This phoneme exists in the medieval period until roughly the 11th c., when it finally merges with /i/ (and in some cases with /u/), although in some areas the change may have taken place a few centuries earlier. The survival of /y/ until almost the beginning of the LMedG period is indicated by the fact that in many texts there is spelling variation only between <υ> and <οι> and not between <υ, οι> on the one hand and <η, ι, ει> on the other; conversely, spelling interchange between all these graphemes indicates that the merger has taken place (see 2.4.6.1 for data). Apart from such spelling evidence, the presence of /y/ in the MedG phonological system is evidenced through transcriptions in other alphabets: Latin (BIDWELL 1967), Gothic (MARCHAND 1973: 23–36), Anglo-Saxon (CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1980), Armenian (SOLARI 1976) and Georgian (MACHARADZE 1980).

/y/ is a high front rounded vowel which can appear in all positions. There are two major phenomena connected with it: merger with /i/ and “regression” to /u/.

2.4.6.1 Merger of /y/ and /i/

Although Attic-Ionic /u/ > /y/ is well established chronologically, and Koine /y/ is a necessary intermediate step in order to explain the MG evolution to /i/, it is unknown when and in what measure the speakers of the other AG dialects adopted the new Attic sound. It is likely that in non-Attic areas or areas where the influence of the Koine was slow to be felt, the original pronunciation /u/ was maintained until the final demise of the AG dialects in the first centuries AD. It has been claimed that the appearance of /u/ instead of /i/ in several MG dialects as well as in non-dialectal lexical items (many of which appear in MedG texts, such as χρουσός, μουστάκι, στουπί etc.) testifies to the direct preservation of AG /u/ without the intermediate stage /y/ (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 278–80; TSOPANAKIS 1955: 57–8; KAPSOMENOS 1985: 112; MINAS ²2003: 37; for an overview see LIOSIS/PAPADAMOU 2011). However, MedG also exhibits a conditioned phonetic change /i/ > /u/, which affects any /i/ in the proper phonetic environment, irrespective of etymological provenance (i.e. /i/ not only from AG <υ> but from <η, ι, ει> as well); so, many scholars agree that is possible for the words in question to have acquired the /u/ sound as a result of a phonetic innovation (PERNOT 1907/46: I 105–13; MOYSIADIS 2005: 247–50) and that they are therefore unconnected to the history of /y/. For details see 2.8.4.

Apart from this possibility of local dialectal retention of original /u/, it is generally accepted that the phoneme /y/ existed in most Greek-speaking areas throughout the Koine and EMedG period, merging with /i/ by the 11th c. AD. Interchanges between <ι, ει, η> on the one hand and <υ, οι> on the other which appear in late Koine papyri are usually interpreted not as early evidence of the final merger of /y/ and /i/, but as a result of Coptic interference in the Greek of bilingual speakers: Coptic did not possess the sound /y/, so bilingual speakers represented it with the next closest available sound, namely /i/ (GIGNAC 1976: 266–7; KAPSOMENOS 1985: 112).

Others prefer to consider cases of interchange between <ι, ει, η> and <υ, οι> in inscriptions from the early Christian centuries as true evidence for an early merger of /y/ and /i/ (cf. PANAYOTOU 1990: 207–9; 1992a: 19 for Macedonia and BRIXHE ²1987: 47–9; 2010: 232 for Asia Minor), although potentially the same analysis (fluctuating graphematic representation of a sound absent from the native phonological system through its closest equivalents) could also apply here. In any case, there is secure evidence that in some areas at least there was no merger of /y/ and /i/ until the 10th c., because there the two sets of graphemes never present interchange.

Most scholars place the change in the 10th c. (BROWNING ²1983: 56–7; NEWTON 1972a: 19) or the 11th c. (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 28; CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1980). The textual evidence shows that this change did not take place simultaneously in all Greek-speaking territories. In the 9th-c. Proto-Bulgarian inscriptions the change does not yet seem to have taken place (CHATZIDAKIS 1927a: 15; BEŠEVILIEV 1963: 28–9), cf. examples like ὁ θῆν μου / οἱ θεῖοι μου (BEŠEVILIEV 1963: 1.Ic, 97.10), ὁ Γρικύ (ibid. 13, 156.5), ὕκον ... ἐπύθησεν (ibid. 55, 247.5–7), and the same is true for the 9th-c. inscriptions from Cappadocia, an area in which first examples occur in the 10th c.; see LAUXTERMANN forthcoming: ch. 15, with multiple examples of confusion such as διαφοίλαξον, δεσπύνης (10th c., Cappadocia, DE JERPHANION 1925/42: I, p. 523, 94). The evidence of transcriptions in other alphabetic systems such as Old English (CHEILA-MARKOPOULOU 1980), Latin (BIDWELL 1967) and Old Church Slavonic (GEROV 1942, LAURITZEN 2009) shows that in the 10th c. the pronunciation /y/ for Greek was still widespread and required special letters for transliteration. Another such indication is provided by the lemmatic organization of the 10th-c. Suda dictionary, which follows a semi-phonetic/semi-alphabetic order: homophonous vowels are grouped together, so words beginning with <αι> are classed together with those beginning with <ε>, but words beginning with <ει, η, ι> form one group, and words beginning with <υ, οι> form another (ADLER 1931: 679). Finally, Michael the Grammarian, a Byzantine poet of the 11th c., notes in a satirical poem that the inhabitants of a rustic village (τράχὺ χωρίον) were unable to make the proper distinction between <ι> and <υ> in their pronunciation, which implies that until this period in some areas the distinction was still the norm, or at least was so recently lost that older generations and/or scholars retained the memory of it (text from MERCATI 1970 [1917]: 129; discussion in LAUXTERMANN 2003: 319, followed by LAURITZEN 2009; see especially LAUXTERMANN forthcoming: ch. 15):

... τὸ κρίον λέγουσιν ἀφρόνως κρίον καὶ τὸ ξύλον λέγουσιν ἀγροίκως ξίλον

In the Athos archives, loss of the distinction between <ι, η, ει> on the one hand and <υ, οι> on the other becomes apparent from the 10th c. onwards,¹ though in certain documents the distinction is maintained as late as the middle of the 11th. In the S. Italian corpus, all 10th- and 11th-c. documents show that the change has already taken place:

κυ-μενην / κειμένην (941, Thessaloniki, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 2, 95.13–14) του αγίου Ακύνδινου / τοῦ Ἀγίου Ἀκινδύνου (1008, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 14, 137.6) ειμῶν (καὶ) εἰμῶν / ἡμῶν καὶ ὑμῶν (1018, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 24, 172.11) οἰπωταγεις / ὑποταγῆς (942–43, Athos, PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1975: 5, 195.1) εδηκνοῖτω / ἐδείκνυτο (942–43, Athos, PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1975: 5, 195.7) συνκαιχιμένι / συγκεχυμένη (942–43, Athos, PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1975: 5, 195.9) ημῖς υ προαναφερόμενυ / ἡμεῖς οἱ προαναφερόμενοι (1008, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 15, 188.6) επει χρόνυς πολυς / ἐπὶ χρόνοις πολλοῖς (1008, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 15, 188.13) υκῆς οφθαλμυς / οἰκείοις ὀφθαλμοῖς (1008, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 15, 188.36) τον ... ζωοπτωυν σταυρόν / τὸν ... ζωοποιόν σταυρόν (1017, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 22, 167.3); τιν γνισιαν μου θοιγατέραν / τὴν γνήσιάν μου θυγατέραν (ibid. 167.4) ἀναμεταξοὶ ἡμῶν στυχιθήσαν / ἀναμεταξὺ ἡμῶν στοιχηθεῖσαν (1034, Athos, LEFORT 1973: 1, 41.19) ξεροροιακεῖου / ξερορουακίου (1042, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 27, 246.17) του δροῖος / τοῦ δρυός (1042, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 27, 246.20) επι χρόνοις ὀλήγυς / ἐπὶ χρόνοις ὀλίγοις (1042, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 27, 246.27) φροιδ(ι) / φρύδι (1065, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 35, 205.32) κατελοῖσαν/κατελύσαν (1065, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 35, 205.10) εἰπέγραφα / ὑπέγραφα (981, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 8, 7.20) υδιοχηρος / ἰδιοχείρω (981, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 8, 7.22) οἷγουμένου / ἡγουμένου (984, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 9, 8.2) τὸ ὕμησοι / τὸ ἡμισυ (984, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 9, 8.10) κατύχεν / κατεῖχεν (1000, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 12, 11.8) κιρ(οῦ) Κλήμι / κυροῦ Κλήμη (1031, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 1, 22.9) τειάπτῃ / τοιάπτῃ (1051, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 3, 49.7)

The evidence for retention of an [y] realization as late as the 19th c. in the local dialect of Athens is a further indication that the merger of /y/ and /i/ may have taken place relatively late in some more isolated areas, or even not at all.²

¹ The following example in a 9th-c. document has come down to us in a later copy: μεγαλωνίμω / μεγαλωνύμω (897 [12th/13th-c. copy], THESSALONIKI, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 1, 89.5).

² Cf. MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 34: “Καὶ σήμερον μὲν τὸ γράμμα υ γενικώτατα ὡς τὸ ι προφέρεται: κύριος, ὕστερα, ὑπερβολή, κτλ. ἐνιαχοῦ δὲ καὶ ὡς ὕ γερμ. π.χ. παρὰ τοῖς νῦν Ἀθηναίοις τσιῦρά ἀντὶ κυρά (κυρία)”; KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: I, 349: “Ἐκ πάντων τῶν Ἑλληνικῶν ἰδιωμάτων, τὸ Ἀθηναϊκὸν ἦτο τὸ ἰδιορρυθμότατον ... αἱ ἐν χρήσει λέξεις καὶ ὁ σχηματισμὸς τῶν φράσεων ἦσαν ἀξιοσημείωτα, ἰδίως δὲ ἡ προφορὰ τῶν φωνέντων καὶ διφθόγγων, καθότι ἅπαντα τὰ υ προεφέροντο ὡς τὸ γαλλικὸν u.” The full array of data concerning the modern (19th-c.) survival of the [y] pronunciation in the Old Athenian dialect is discussed in PANDELIDIS 2016b.

2.4.6.2 Regression of /y/ to /u/

In certain areas the evolution of the phoneme /y/ involved a change to the back vowel /u/ instead of the front vowel /i/. It must have included most of Central and Southern Mainland Greece (i.e. Peloponnese, Central Greece and neighbouring islands; this survives in MG as the “Old Athenian and Maniot” relic dialect group spoken in Athens, Aegina, Megara, Kymi in Euboea, and Mani, cf. NEWTON 1972a: 14–15). The interpretation of the presence of /u/ in a considerable number of lexical items (though never in inflectional suffixes, except in the case of Tsakonian) with etymological ancient /u/ as a “regression” from /y/ back to /u/, rather than as retention of original ancient /u/, relies on the fact that velar consonants preceding this /u/ are palatalized (cf. the modern dialectal forms γυναίκα > γιουναίκα, άχυρο > άχιουρο, κοιλία > τσουλία), a development that can only be explained if the following vowel was fronted at some period (NEWTON 1972a: 19–23; KAPSOMENOS 1985: 111). Older scholars tended to view this phenomenon as a “splitting up” of the phoneme /y/ (front rounded vowel) into two sounds, each retaining part of its phonetic distinctive features, namely /i/ (front) + /u/ (rounded), which is followed by diphthongization into [ju] in the case of preceding non-palatalizable consonants (labial, dental) vs. absorption of the palatal glide in the case of preceding palatalizable consonants (velar, nasal, lateral); see especially SHIPP 1965, SETATOS 1967.³ However, since the MedG and EMG data do not provide any instances of a non-palatalizable consonant + palatal glide + /u/ such as those found in MG dialects (e.g. θιουρίδα, πανεθιούρι – see PAPADAMOU 2009 for a full diatopic list), such an analysis is unnecessary. The attested historical data, as well as most of the MG dialectal data, are better explained through the hypothesis of an evolution of /y/ > /u/, which may or may not have palatalized the preceding consonant prior to its backing.

For Athens, the backing of /y/ to /u/ is documented since the 16th c. through the descriptions of the local dialect by the scholars Zygomalas and Kavasilas, proffered to Martinus Crusius and published in his Turcograecia (1584), who also emphasize that the phenomenon is not known in other areas of Greece: “Τὰ σύκα, σοῦκα λέγουσι: τὸν βάτραχον πακακᾶν: καὶ ἄλλα γελοῖα” (p. 99); “Καὶ ἀντὶ τοῦ σύ, σοῦ, καὶ πορεύου, σοῦρε, καὶ λύτεραν, λούτρων. Οὕς οἱ τὴν Ἑλλάδα οἰκοῦντες, καλῶς τὰ πολλὰ φθεγγόμενοι, βαρβάρους τὸ παράπαν ἀποκεκλήκασιν, τούτους βδελυττόμενοι” (p. 462). Direct attestations of the phenomenon in documents of Athenian, Euboean and Maniot provenance are very few, due to the scarcity of primary sources from these areas, but they do exist:

- τὰ σουκίδια (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 257, 354.17) σουκέα (1618, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: V, 73.29); Σουκάμινο (1670, ibid. X, 75.7) σουκέα (1760, Megara, SYRKOU 2006: 1, 334.26) λαιοφουτάδες (1635, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 182.7) < ελαιοφύτα; φοῦγε ἀπὸ τὴν δούλην τοῦ Θεοῦ (17th c.?, ibid. 186.5) Κάλιστρος Στουραγίτης (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 25, 163.20) (= from the town of Styra in Euboea)

³ An argument in favour of this analysis would be the parallel of the adaptation of French loanwords into Late Middle English, such as Fr. pur → Eng. pure, Fr. cure → Eng. cure, Fr. nude → Eng. nude.

The same phenomenon also occurs, though very rarely, in specific lexical items, in S. Italian documents (cf. MINAS ²2003: 37):

ρουάκει / ρουάκι (1034, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 29, 34.24) ρουάκιν / ρουάκιν (1113, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 75, 98.12) ρουάκην / ρουάκιν (1122?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 17, 415.7)

The palatalization of velar consonants preceding a “regressed” /y/ is attested for only a single lexical item, κύρης/κιούρης and κυρά/κιουρά, occurring very frequently in documents from many areas but not from those of the “Old Athenian” group:

κυούριν / κιούρην (1168–9, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1963: 10, 104.8) τοῦ καλοκιούρη / τοῦ Καλοκιούρη (1328, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 9, 42.21) τοῦ κυουροῦ της / τοῦ κιουροῦ της (1573, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 2, 18.15) τοῦ κιουροῦ του (1577, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 8, 20.4) τῆς κυουράς / τῆς κιουράς (1655, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: 123.2) ἐκαρακιούρευεν (1671, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 1395, 821.6) < καρaboκυρεύω στὴν κιουρά / στὴν κιουρά (1693, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 10, 407.60) τοῦ κιούρου τῶνε (1714, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 28, 333.13) τοῦ κυουροῦ / τοῦ κιουροῦ (1702, Chios, KAVVADAS 1969: 155.2)

2.4.7 /j/

2.4.7.1 Phonemic Status

The phoneme /j/ appears around the 13th c. as a result of the phenomenon of synizesis (see 2.9.4), deriving from /i/ when followed by another vowel.⁴ /j/ strictly speaking is not a vowel, but a semivowel; it is discussed here together with vowels, despite its consonantal allophonic realizations, because of its vocalic origin. It is realized by a variety of palatal or palatalized consonantal sounds, depending on the phonetic environment. Rather than considering a whole range of consonantal sounds as allophones of a vowel (especially since these consonantal sounds also exist independently, as allophones of other consonants), it is more consistent to consider them as allophones of a new semi-consonantal phoneme.

Additionally, the postulation of /j/ as a separate phoneme is the simplest analysis for the cases where palatal sounds occur before back vowels (cases like χιόνι, γκιόστρα, νιότη etc.), since one can then assume that the palatal allophone of velar (or nasal) consonants appears before the front vowels /e, i/ and the front semivowel /j/ and not before back vowels as well (e.g. [çoni] = /xjoni/), something that would put their allophonic status into question (see 3.8.2, palatalization).

Furthermore, after the spread of the phenomenon of synizesis to sequences of stressed /e, i/ + V, the morphophonemic environments (i.e. the inflectional paradigms) where alternation between [i] and [j] exists, and therefore where the native language learner has the possibility of recovering an underlying /i/ when presented with a realization of a glide or palatal fricative, are quite limited: they are reduced in fact to the nominal paradigm of the neuter nouns in -ι(ν) (παιδί-παιδιά, see II, 2.20.1.2), the small closed class of adjectives in -ύς (βαρύς-βαριά, see II, 3.3.1) the equally small class of colour adjectives in -ής (μαβής-μαβιά, see II, 3.4.3), and perhaps the mediopassive inflection of oxytone verbs (κρατεῖ-κρατεῖται, see III, 4.1.2). Such a limited range of alternating environments is perhaps insufficient for the acquisition of [j] as an allophone of /i/ (see 2.9.4 below and MANOLESSOU/KOUTSOUKOS 2011 for detailed discussion).

⁴ Whether or not the glide [j] has phonemic status is a vexed question in the MG phonological literature. See ARVANITI 2007: 124, BALTAZANI/TOPINTZI 2012, TOPINTZI/BALTAZANI 2013 and references therein for recent overviews of the two alternative positions. See also RUGE 1969b for earlier discussion.

2.4.7.2 Realization and Attestations

The appearance of the phoneme /j/ is closely connected to the phenomenon of synizesis (see 2.9.4), since /j/ may be assumed to have appeared after this major change had affected the totality of /e, i/ + V sequences, and thus to have destroyed most of the morphophonemic environments where there previously existed an alternation between [i] and [j]. Due to its history, this phoneme has a limited distribution, only appearing before a vowel, and a number of allophonic realizations. These are the following:

- a) voiced palatal fricative [j] when preceded by the voiced consonants /v ð b d z r/ or in initial position e.g. διαβάζω [ðja'vazo], βιός [vjos], λίζιος ['lizjos], γιορτή [jor'ti].
- b) voiceless palatal fricative [ç] when preceded by the voiceless consonants /f θ p t s/, e.g. ποιός [pços], τέτοιος ['tetços], ἴσια ['isça].
- c) palatal nasal [ɲ] when preceded by /m/, e.g. ζημιά [zi'mɲa].

/j/ is deleted (or “absorbed” – see below) when preceded by a consonant that may assume a palatal realization, i.e. the velars /k g x ɣ/ and the sonorants /l/ and /n/, e.g. χιόνι ['çoni], ἥλιος ['iłos].

Graphematic evidence for the various consonantal realizations of /j/ exists after the phenomenon of synizesis has taken place; they are spelled with the graphemes <χ γ ν> + <ι> (see also 3.8.2 and 2.9.4). These spellings appear from the 14th c. in the case of <γ>, the 16th in the case of <ν> and the 17th in the case of <χ>. In the case of /j/ after a voiceless consonant, it is noteworthy that the earlier spellings show <γ> and that <χ> appears later (17th c.). One could assume that the first step in the consonantization of the glide was [j] in all environments (the palatal fricative [j] being the closest consonantal sound to the semi-vocalic palatal glide [j]), which was subsequently devoiced in the adjacency of voiceless consonants. Alternatively, the spelling change from <γ> to <χ> may be a simple change in graphematic practice not reflecting a true phonetic difference, in which case one should assume that the voiceless allophone [ç] appeared automatically and contemporarily with the voiced allophone [j], depending on the phonetic environment.

τὸν γιάτρο (1389, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 3, 89.2)

ἄπε τα χεργία τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 76.26 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari)

τὸ ὀργιάκι / τὸ ὀρυάκι (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 181, 171.6)

rgiachi / ρυάκι Thysia Avr. 799 transcr. M σταργίου (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 23.16)

- παραθύργια (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 779, 677.48–9) τὸν τεργιαζμόν / τὸν ταιριασμόν (1615, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 46, 197.14) ταιργιασμό (1670, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 2, 577.15) μία μουργιά (1631, Kea, VISVIZIS 1949: 7, 65.4) περιστεργιῶνας (1656, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 9, 405.34) γιὰ τὰ κιργιά (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.9) Πιγέρω / Πιέρο (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 2, 5.10) πγῆ σαν / ποιοί' σαν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 56 app. crit. (MB); παραπγιασμένη ibid. 1106 app. crit. (M) εἰς φᾶν καὶ πγεῖν Assizes B 414.27 πλατγοὶ τόποι MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v. πλατγὸς πγιάτα / πιάτα (1666, Santorini, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 26, 21.5) καράβγια / καράβια (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.6) τα ποιδγι>ά / τὰ πιδγιά (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 6, f.43r.16); B<ε>νοιτγι>άς / Β'νιτιάς (1691, ibid. 17a, f.45v.29) το ηδυγο / τὸ ἴδιο (1691, Ikaria/Chios?, TSELIKAS 2000: 81, 64.15–16) πγεζαρίες (1697, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 12, 27.20) opghi clessi / ὅποιοι κλαῖσι CHORTATSI, Erof. I.624 transcr. X (Legrand) pgh' agli aformi / ποι' ἄλλη ἀφορμή CHORTATSI, Erof. Interm. I.109 transcr. X (Legrand) τοῦ ὄφχιου KRITPOULOS, Grammar 109.16; τὸ κριάς, τοῦ κριατχιοῦ ibid. 109.30 φχιάνουνε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 1, 29.19) τοῦ χωραφχιοῦ / τοῦ χωραφιοῦ (1695, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 33, 81.17) ἀσημνιοῦ Pent. Gen. 23.15
 μνιά νύκτα Rim. kor. A 2 app. crit. ἐπεθυμνιάς FALIEROS, Ist. On. 75 ρωμνιους / Ρωμιούς (1608, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 18, 179.62) βαπτισμνιό της (1663, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 235, 147.11)

2.4.7.3 Post-consonantal /j/ Deletion

The deletion of /j/ after sibilants and affricates is frequently termed “depalatalization” in the literature, although strictly speaking these consonants are not palatalized (i.e. their main articulation does not involve the palate), but are simply followed by a palatal glide. The areas in which the change /j/ > Ø after /s z ts dz/ is attested are Crete, Cythera, the Cyclades, Athens and some northern dialects. The distribution corresponds to the modern dialectal one (cf. NEWTON 1972a: 128–35; KONDOSPOULOS ³2001: XXIII), but for some areas which show the phenomenon in the modern period there are no medieval documents available; therefore the phenomenon appears to be more restricted in MedG and EMG. The earliest attestations come from 15th-c. Cretan texts, and it seems gradually to have spread from the capital of the island towards the East and West. The LMedG and EMG picture of the phenomenon in Crete is different from the modern one, as nowadays /j/ deletion after sibilants is a characteristic of the East Cretan dialect only. In LMedG documents from Siteia, such as those of the notary Olokalos, it has not yet appeared, while it occurs in several EMG texts from Rethymnon and Chania (see BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 15; BAKKER 1988/89: 284; CHARALAMBAKIS 1998: 118 and KARANTZOLA 2005a:

260–1 for attestations in notarial documents). Literary texts written by authors of West Cretan provenance, such as Chortatsis, also display the phenomenon.

A special case is constituted by the plural of nouns formed with the derivational suffix -ίτσι, which present deletion of the semivowel as early as the 11th c., irrespective of geographical provenance, e.g. τὰ πιττακίτζα / τὰ πιττακίτσα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.5; εἰς τὰ βιβλίτζα ibid. 9 310.24. See II, 2.20.2.2 for further examples.

Crete and Cythera

- στ' ἄξο σου καταφύγι SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Ag. Frang. 6 ἄξος DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 988 ἀνίψα (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 2, 18.3) βουτζά (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 135.93) εἰς φορεσῆς (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 1, 3.17); κρασά (ibid. 3, 8.8) τοῦ νησοῦ ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 124 ἰ corassessmu / οἱ κορασῆς μου CHORTATIS, Erof. II.128 transcr. X (Legrand); παπούτσα id., Katz. I.249 πεντακόσσα (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 23.19); μετὴν ἐκκλησά (1603, ibid. 174, 185–6) τῷ βυζῶ μου Thysia Avr. 377 τὰ βυζά της LANDOS, Geopon. 266.22 πακτωσῆς (1628, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2000: 3, 517.8) καὶ σούντανε (1629, Crete, LAMBROS 1910: 254, 187.4–5) < σείω τσῆ ἀλλαξῆς (1650, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 12, 371.4) φοβιτσάροι FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 71 τὰ τορνέσα (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 214.25); μεσακά (ibid. 16, 94.7); τῶν λεγόμενων σαστάδων (1565, ibid. 130, 211.17)

Cyclades

- κρεββατοστρώσα (1604, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 10, 165.33) καμιζόλα μία ὄξα / καμιζόλα μία ὄξά (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 3, 33.58) τὰ Μελίσσα (1616, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1918c: 279.24) ἰσαστήκαμεν (1639, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 3, 114.45) τῆς φορεσῆς (1656, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 9, 405.60) γρόσα τριακόσα (1656, Amorgos, TSELIKAS 1988/1992: 3, 49.13) μαγαζά (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 106.50); χαράτζα (ibid. 1, 107.66) γρόσα (1663, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 1, 11.13) γρόσα (1687, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1972: 16, 286.9) τὰ κρασά (1677, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 24, 92.13) ἀγορασῆς (1688, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 22, 327.12) Δροσανή (1692, Naxos, PANDELIA-GRITSOPOULOU 1995/97: 2, 212.13)

Old Athenian

- Κηβισά (15th c., Athens?, DARROUZÈS 1964b: 67, 311.2) < Κηφισιά σκολαρίτζα (1749, Athens, MOMFERRATOS 1892: 1, 28.2)

Northern Greece

- τρία κορίτσα (1449–55, Silymvria, SCHREINER 1975/79: 98B, 4.9) μελησα / μελίσσα (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 341.40) τὲς βρισῆς PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §4.13 ἡ Σατιστιανή / οἱ Σατιστιανοὶ (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 56.4) < Σιάτιστα

Occasionally the phenomenon appears outside the areas which are known to be affected. In literary texts one may suspect the intervention of a Cretan copyist or an editor:

νὰ ἀξάζ(η) (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 12, 22.2) τὰ πουλίτσα Liv. V 149; μικρά μονοπατίτσα ibid. 2357 ξμορφους, πλούσους Theseid Prol. E 154 τὶς πιδεξότηταις / τὶς ᾽πιδεξότητες Byz. Il. 163 app. crit.

Note that the plural suffix -ές instead of -ιές of nouns and adjectives in -έα/-ιά (denoting trees, blows or strokes, quantities etc., see HATZIDAKIS 1893; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 342–51), which appears frequently in all areas, is not an instance of “depalatalization”, but the result of the simplification of two consecutive identical vowels (for which see 2.9.2.1), i.e. the evolution is -εές > -ές, and not -ιές > -ές (see also II, 2.11.4), e.g.

κερασές (1018, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 24, 172.16) (κερασέες) κοπανές Ptoch. III 187 app. crit. (K) τές βαρές μου ανάγκες DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 3138 τές ἑλές (1553, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 116, 164.45) τές σπαθές (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 135, 99.4) κοπραίς / κοπρές (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 220.28) με τὰς μουραῖς / μὲ τές μουρές (1634, Laconia, SIMOPOULOS 1966: 149.3) σκεπαρνές (1667, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 53, 317.13); εἰς τές Καστανές (1688, ibid. 120, 325.9) μαχαιρές PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §9.9

Several cases of apparent depalatalization, i.e. deletion of /j/ after a consonant, are attested in texts from Cyprus. The phenomenon involves the combinations of /n l r ð f m/ + /j/, and is difficult to interpret because the modern dialect does not display this feature. Henrich (2002: 332–3) has collected the attestations from Machairas, but they appear in other texts as well and therefore cannot be simply a graphematic idiosyncrasy of the specific writer; it is either a true phonetic feature that has died out, or a general scribal habit of the period in Cyprus. The only case where this type of apparent depalatalization finds support from the modern dialect (cf. CHATZIOANNOU 1999: 54, 97) is the verbal oxytone inflection, which regularly has simplification (-ειε > -ε, -ιέσαι > -έσαι), possibly as an analogical phenomenon from the barytone inflection, also appearing in areas outside Cyprus; for this see III, 4.1.2.

ἡ ζήλα ἐνέβην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 56.30; ζήλαν Fior 83.10 εὐρίσκουνται μεγάλες ζήλες VOUSTR., Chron. A 14.14 ἔδωξέν τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 50.36; νὰ τὸν δώξουν Assizes B 277.29 ἐφόρεν δ' δακτυλίδια MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 84.22–3 νὰ διαλαλέται Assizes A 63.23 ἔνωσές με Cypr. Canz. 127.17 μετανωμένοι Thrinis Kypr. 90 μόνος σου δὲ κρατέσαι κρυφός Fior, Suppl. 277.1–2 δὲν θωρέται Cypr. Canz. 56.7 ἐθῶρες τοὺς ἀνθρώπους του KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 681 νὰ μπόρεν Cypr. Canz. 56.3

τὸ γοφύρι (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 2, 7.8) συμπλαστιάδες (1703, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 8, 113.8) ἐπίσκοπος Κυρήνας (1609, Cyprus, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90: III 20, 267.15) κεῖ ὀληνυκτὶ περπάται / κι ὀληνυκτὶ ᾽περπάτε KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XII.39; δὲν πόρε νὰ ᾽πομένει ibid. XV.11

A number of cases of depalatalization of /l/ are attested in a 17th-c. corpus from Macedonia. These, if not taken at face value, could perhaps be attributed to hypercorrection of the phenomenon of palatalization of /l/ to [ʎ] before /e/, which is, according to MG evidence, a local dialectal characteristic of the Thessaloniki area (e.g. λέγω > λιέου, ANDRIOTIS 1958: 148; KOSMAS 1972: 320):

η δουλές / οἱ δουλές (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 57.17); γιὰ τὶς παρακιλές (1698, ibid. 2012: 10, 78.24); δὲν πολέτι (1698, ibid. 12, 82.25)

Another special case of (true) depalatalization concerns the sporadic backing of the palatal fricative [j] deriving from synizesis of the sequence [ia] > [ja] to a velar fricative [χ], occurring only in western Crete, and attested very rarely in documents from the area, e.g. νὰ τοῦ τὸ γαγείρη (1652, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 13, 373.4); γὰ νὰ γυρεύγη (1655, ibid. 14, 374.7); γὰ τὸ κόπο του (1655, ibid. 14, 374.8). For this phenomenon see KONDOSPOULOS 1969: 28, 75; ILNE, s.v. διαγέρνω.

2.4.7.4 Deletion of /j/ after /r/

The dialect of Crete shows, as a characteristic feature, the realization /r/ + V in specific morphological environments, where other areas show /rj/ + V with synizesis. This is well documented in Cretan literary and non-literary documents, from the 15th c. on. A limited number of examples have also surfaced from Cythera and some Cycladic islands.

μερὰν Peri xen. 28; μερὰν BERGADIS, Apok. A 387; τὴν πέρα μερὰ (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 181, 171.6) βαρὰ CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1688; βαρὰ TROILOS, Rodol. I.381 na uaranastenaso / νὰ βαραναστενάζω CHORTATIS, Erof. II.349 transcr. X (Legrand) τὴν δεκαρὰν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1089 γρᾶδες P&N Diath. 4671 τζῆ Γρᾶς τὸ Πίδιμα / τσῆ Γρᾶς τὸ Πήδημα (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 920, 722.8) ἡ ρηθεῖσα μου κουμεσαρὰ (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 7, 13.20–1) ἡ ζυγαρὰ Thysia Avr. 663 τὴν κοπρὰ ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 1102 καὶ πλιὰ βαροὶ KORNAROS, Erot. I.1212; τόσους λογισμοὺς βαροὺς TROILOS, Rodol. II.47 θρέφονται μὲ κρὰς KORNAROS, Erot. IV.503; τὸ κρὰς FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.98; κρατάκι VLACHOS, This. s.v. στήν Ὀβρακὴ FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.432 τῆς γρᾶς Σταμάτας (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 171, 139.15) εἰς τὴν μερὰν ἐκείνην Diig. Sant. 55.62; τὴν Ἀπάνω Μερὰν ibid. 58.65 βορὰς ἡ γρεγαλάκι Diig. Sant. 59.50 καλογρά (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 110.138)

The phenomenon involves only environments where the underlying etymological sequence is stressed /re/ + V, and in the majority of cases the second vowel is /a/; consequently, it affects mainly the feminine derivational suffixes -έα and -αρέα, as well as some inflectional forms of adjectives in -ύς when the preceding consonant is /r/ (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 346–51; KRETSCHMER 1905: 119–22; XANTHOUDIDIS 1915: 459; NEWTON 1972a: 50–1). For example, μερέα becomes μερά and τὰ βαρέα become τὰ βαρά, but τὰ χωριά does not become *τὰ χωρά, nor ρυάκι *ράκι. Similarly, in the inflectional paradigm of oxytone E-stem verbs, the terminations -ειες, -ειε are never reduced to -ες, -ε in texts of Cretan provenance.

Consequently, the phenomenon cannot be considered a type of depalatalization, as it must have taken place before the synizesis process, creating palatal /j/, was completed, i.e. the evolution was /rea/ > [rɛa] > /ra/ rather than /rea/ > [rja] > /rja/ > /ra/.⁵ It is quite possible that the phonetic environment of the consonant /r/ was responsible for the retention of the realization /e/ for a longer time, since one of the most typical combinatory vowel changes in MedG is the change of /i/ > /e/ before /r/ (e.g. σίδερο, ἄχερο etc.), a change which in some cases could even be viewed as retention of the original /e/ from AG <η> (see 2.8.1). The connection of this development with the also Cretan evolution -έ in the same environment (βαρέ, ἀπομοναρέ, κρές) is obvious and constitutes another strong argument that a stage /i/ or /j/ was never involved in the derivation. In modern Cretan, the two variants are in complementary distribution, the variant -ρέα > -ρά characterizing East Cretan (as well as Karpathos and Chalki) and the variant -ρέ characterizing (parts of) West Cretan (as well as Ikaria); see KONDOSOPOULOS 1960: 210–18, TSOPANAKIS 1949: 40. But the result /'e/ from /'ea/ is not limited to the environment after /r/, and appears in West Cretan irrespective of the preceding consonant (ἄπιδέ, μῆλε etc.; see 2.9.4 and II, 2.11.4). It should therefore be assumed that the first stage in the evolution of the sequence /'ea/ was ['ɛa] throughout Crete, but in eastern Crete this was retained only after /r/, whereas after other consonants it proceeded as the “regular” synizesis to /ja/. According to CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: A 344–5), the next step in the evolution of ['ɛa] must have involved not consonantization or deletion, as in other areas, but coalescence to [æ], which was eventually reinterpreted as [a] in the eastern and as [e] in the western areas of Crete.

The forms which show apparent deletion of /j/ in the case of vowels other than /a/, such as /'eo/, /'eu/ can have alternative interpretations. At least within inflectional paradigms, analogical influence of forms where the semivowel is lost for phonetic reasons before /a/ or /e/ can be suspected (e.g. βαρά, βαρές → βαροί, βαρούς). Alternatively, the above described phonetic evolution ['ɛa] > /a/ could be suspected to apply also to sequences of /e/ + other vowel, which, being quite rare statistically (in contrast to -έα which is a common derivational suffix), formed a marginal phonetic pattern. This could, for example, apply to the otherwise “irregular” evolutions $\chi\rho\epsilon\omega\sigma\tau\tilde{\omega} > \chi\rho\omega\sigma\tau\tilde{\omega}$, $\chi\rho\epsilon\acute{\omega}\nu\omega > \chi\rho\acute{\omega}\nu\omega$, $\Theta\epsilon\acute{\omicron}\delta\omega\rho\omicron\varsigma > \Theta\acute{\omicron}\delta\omega\rho\omicron\varsigma$ and could even account nicely for the variation between $\lambda\iota\omicron\nu\tau\acute{\alpha}\rho\iota$ – $\lambda\omicron\nu\tau\acute{\alpha}\rho\iota$ – $\lambda\epsilon\nu\tau\acute{\alpha}\rho\iota$ (see 2.9.2.1). However, the wide geographical spread of some of these lexical items is an argument against this scenario.

⁵ The imprecise descriptions in ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1926: 148 and KONDOSOPOULOS 1960: 210–12; 1969: 27–8, who speak of deletion of -i- or of the semivowel [j] after synizesis, have led many scholars investigating the language of EMG Cretan texts to misunderstand this phenomenon (e.g. POLITIS 1964: πστ'-πζ'; BAKKER 1988/89: 284; VEJLESKOV 2005: 109; KARANTZOLA 2005a: 259).

On the basis of the above, two cases frequently examined under the heading “depalatalization after /r/” should receive a different interpretation, since their etymological origin is /ia/ and not /ea/, and their distribution extends well beyond Crete. The first is the variation in the feminine derivational suffix $-\tau\rho\iota\alpha/-\tau\rho\alpha$, which is not phonetic, but due to the co-existence and confusion of two etymologically distinct suffixes, the suffix $-\tau\rho\iota\alpha$ originally forming animate agent nouns and corresponding to masc. $-\tau\eta\varsigma$ (e.g. $\acute{\epsilon}\rho\gamma\acute{\alpha}\tau\eta\varsigma$ – $\acute{\epsilon}\rho\gamma\acute{\alpha}\tau\rho\iota\alpha$, $\pi\omicron\upsilon\lambda\eta\tau\acute{\eta}\varsigma$ – $\pi\omicron\upsilon\lambda\eta\tau\rho\iota\alpha$), and the suffix $-\tau\rho\alpha$ originally forming inanimate instrument nouns (e.g. $\theta\epsilon\rho\mu\acute{\alpha}\sigma\tau\rho\alpha$, $\chi\omega\rho\acute{\iota}\sigma\tau\rho\alpha$). The appearance of animate agent nouns in $-\tau\rho\alpha$ ($\pi\omicron\upsilon\lambda\eta\tau\rho\alpha$, $\sigma\upsilon\zeta\epsilon\upsilon\tau\rho\alpha$) should not be understood as a phonetic but as a morphological/analogical phenomenon (for details see CHATZIDAKIS 1901a: 181–7, who notes $\kappa\upsilon\rho\acute{\alpha}$ $\chi\omicron\rho\omicron\delta\omicron\kappa\omicron\iota\lambda\acute{\iota}\sigma\tau\rho\alpha$ Ptoch. III 273–34 app. crit. (P) as one of the earliest examples).

The second is the numerals $\tau\rho\iota\acute{\alpha}\nu\tau\alpha$ and $\tau\rho\iota\alpha\kappa\acute{\omicron}\sigma\iota\alpha$ and their derivatives, which also present the variants $\tau\rho\alpha\nu\tau\alpha$ –, $\tau\rho\alpha\kappa\omicron\sigma\alpha$ – in non-Cretan sources, and which must be considered a special case of vowel deletion (see CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 242; KRETSCHMER 1905: 118–19; PERNOT 1907/46: I 129; and below, 2.9.2):

$\tau\rho\acute{\alpha}\nu\tau\alpha$ SKLAVOS, Symf. 11; $\tau\rho\acute{\alpha}\nu\tau\alpha$ CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 385 app. crit. (S)
 $\tau\rho\alpha\nu\tau\alpha\phi\upsilon\lambda\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\nu\alpha$ Cypr. Canz. 86.40; $\tau\rho\alpha\nu\tau\acute{\alpha}\phi\upsilon\lambda\lambda\omicron\nu$ AITOLOS, Rim. Andron. 5 $\tau\rho\alpha\kappa\acute{\omicron}\sigma\iota\alpha$ $\acute{\epsilon}\xi\eta\nu\tau\alpha$ (1678, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 25, 133.7); $\tau\rho\alpha\kappa\acute{\omicron}\sigma\iota\alpha$ (1644–5, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 4, 47.3–4)

2.4.8 Diphthongs

2.4.8.1 Historical Overview

By the end of the period of the Koine, all the inherited AG diphthongs had disappeared due to a long process of monophthongization in the case of the /i/ diphthongs, and consonantization of the second member in the case of the /u/ diphthongs (HORROCKS ²2010: 161–70; BROWNING ²1983: 25; GIGNAC 1976: 183–226). In the second case, which, in phonetic terms, involves fortition of a labial glide [w] to a labial/labiodental fricative, innovative consonant clusters were created in combination with the initial consonant of the following syllable, which materially affected the overall phonotactics of MedG and MG (DRACHMAN/MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2007: 123–4; NICHOLAS 2007; see also 3.3.2).

MedG developed new diphthongs through the following processes (for an overview and examples see CHATZIDAKIS 1901a: 225–31; THUMB 1912: 9–10):

- a) loss of quantity distinctions and of the AG contraction rule (cf. also PERNOT 1913: 261). Vowel sequences which were disyllabic, since the second vowel was long, became tautosyllabic diphthongs: $\acute{\alpha}\eta\delta\acute{\omega}\nu$, $\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\eta\sigma\epsilon$, $\beta\omicron\eta\theta\tilde{\omega}$, $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\eta\sigma\iota\varsigma$, $\rho\omega\mu\acute{\alpha}\iota\omicron\iota$, $\nu\acute{\epsilon}\omicron\upsilon$.

- b) borrowing, e.g. βάιον, μπάιλος, μπέης, γάιδαρος.
- c) deletion of intervocalic consonants, mostly /ɣ/ (see 3.6.1.1), e.g. ἀλλάι, σαῖττολάσι, λέει, ὑπάει-ὑπάουν, μαῖστωρ (see LBG s.v. μαγίστωρ).
- d) spontaneous/analogical diphthongization, e.g. ἀναπατημένος, κατημένος (on the basis of ἐκάην, ἀνεπάην etc.), κλαῖμένος, χαμημένος.⁶ (See FOY 1879: 88; MEYER 1889: 98–9; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 602.)

2.4.8.2 Phonetic Description and Graphematic Realization

MedG diphthongs consist of two tautosyllabic vowels, the first being more open and the second more closed (falling diphthongs). Due to the spelling variants for the sound /i/, in several cases the monophthongal or diphthongal value of certain letter sequences is ambiguous; for example, <κλαιμα> can be read both as κλάημα and as κλαῖμα, <λειμονιά> can be analysed as either λειμονιά or λιμονιά, and <βουδι> could be either βόιδι or βούδι. The MedG diphthongs are the following:

[aɪ] [eɪ] [oɪ] [uɪ] [aʊ] [ɛʊ] [oʊ]

Examples:

[aɪ]: αἰτός, γαῖτάνι, χαμημένος, e.g. χαῖμος Pol. Tr. 6548 app. crit. (BX); ἔχει τὸ φῶς χαμημένον LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 698

[eɪ]: κλαίει, μαλαματέινος, πορφυρέινος

[oɪ]: βόιδι, ρόιδι, βοῖβόδας, τρώει, e.g. ροῖδέα (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 54.68)

[uɪ]: βούιδι, ἀλληλούια, Γεννουιτῶν, γρατούιτον, ἀκούει, νιραγούια

[aʊ]: καουτσιόν, καουζαρία, κάουρας, ὑπάουν, Ναουσαῖος

[ɛʊ]: κλαίουσι, πλέουσι, ομνέουσι, νέου, ὠραίου

[oʊ]: τρώουσι, μνόουσι

It is not necessary for the phonological description of MedG also to assume the existence of rising diphthongs, for cases where the first member is more closed than the second, such as [ia] [io] [iu] etc. (e.g. as in τριάντα, κρυώνω, ποιοῦσι).

2.4.8.3 Phenomena Affecting Diphthongs

The second (falling) element of a diphthong is occasionally deleted, as a hiatus resolution strategy, following the vowel hierarchy (see 2.9.2): ἀργηρογάτανα / ἀργυρογάτανα (1226, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 274, 376.23) ἀτὸς Velth. 771; ὁ ἀτὸς Poulol. AZ 98 app. crit. (Z) < αἰτὸς (AG ἀετὸς) νεράδες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 115

⁶ Cf. also ἐπροβοῖδησε (1615, Lefkada, PENDOGALOS 1977b: 2, 148.7).

γάδαρον (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 46.87) tus elenus / τούς ἐλενοῦς (15th c., Crete?, KAKOULIDI 1958/59: 120.7) ἀρκήτας ὀλενὸς / Ἀρκήτας ὁ ἰλενὸς Theseid X.11,1 (1529) τ' ἁδόνιν Cypr. Canz. 34.2

According to CHATZIDAKIS (1934/77: A 296–7) the semi-vocalic element of a diphthong may be deleted due to dissimilation, when the following syllable also contains a semivowel; this would explain the forms χάιδι, χαϊδεύω as opposed to plural χάδια, or βόιδι as opposed to βόδια and ρόιδι, ξυνόρροϊδο as opposed to pl. ρόδια. However, he himself notes that this phenomenon is not regular and has dialectal and lexical exceptions.

Another dialectally restricted phenomenon affecting diphthongs is the consonantization of the second, falling, member to a velar fricative [ɣ]. In the texts examined, the phenomenon appears in EMG texts from Crete, where it constitutes a dialectal characteristic corroborated by modern dialectal evidence (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 212; 1916: 13; PANGALOS 1955: 179), in the related dialect of Cythera, and in late texts by the Kefalonian Katsaitis:

τὸ μικρότερον ρόγδι LANDOS, Geopon. 153.23; ὅταν κάμνη ἢ ρογδία ξυνὰ τὰ ρόγδια ibid. 157.17 ὀδια ἔνα βοῦγδι / ὀδια ἔνα βούγδι (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 82, 63.5); τὸ βόγδιον (1588, ibid. 315, 265.15)
 νὰ μὴν μὲ γδοῦν KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.348; νεράγδα μου id., Thyest. V.673

Two very common MedG and MG lexical items present a similar consonantization phenomenon: the words ἄβγό and ἄφτί, already since the EMedG period (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 322), cf. the 10th-c. attestation apti in a Latin-script glossary in AERTS 1972: 42. The phenomenon affected the sequence [au] deriving from coarticulation of proclitic [a] followed by initial [o], i.e. [ao] > [aw] > [af]/[av]: τὰ ὠτία > τ' ἄουτία > τ' ἄφτία.

2.5 Dialectal Differentiation in Vowels

2.5.1 Retention of “Doric” /a/

Koine Greek, the ancestor of MedG, is descended from the Attic dialect of AG, and therefore displays the characteristic Ionic-Attic change of inherited /a:/ to /ɛ:/, e.g. μάτηρ /ma:tɛ:r/ > μήτηρ /me:tɛ:r/, cf. Lat. māter. This sound further evolved in the late Koine, along with original /ɛ:/, to /i/, e.g. AG acc. μητέρα /me:tɛra/ > MedG μητέρα /mi'tera/. The /a:/ > /ɛ:/ change was not shared by the other dialects of AG (Doric, Aeolic etc.), and so the presence of “original” /a/ in MedG and MG can be considered an ancient dialectal relic (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 77–80; PERNOT 1934: 107–8; TSOPANAKIS 1955: 55–7; ANDRIOTIS, Lex. Arch. s.v. α dor.-äol.; KAPSOMENOS 1985: 64–5).

MedG and MG lexical items presenting the potentially archaic dialectal /a/ fall in two categories: (a) those in which /a/ is (part of) an inflectional suffix (i.e. masc. -ας instead of -ης, fem. -α instead of -η, e.g. φιάλα, λίμνα, πνογά, τραπεζίτας), and which could conceivably be interpreted also as analogical/morphological phenomena instead of archaic retentions; and (b) those where the /a/ appears as part of the stem (e.g. MG στάλα, ἀλακάτη, ἄσαμος, Μίλατο), in which case their status as archaisms is more secure. This of course involves only items from areas where originally Doric/north-western or Aeolic dialects were spoken (S. Italy, Peloponnese, Dodecanese, Macedonia etc.) and excludes the small numbers of lexical items of Doric provenance which entered the Koine and survived directly into MedG and MG or its dialects, such as λοχαγός, διχάλα and a few others (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 99, 102). Both types of “Doric” /a/ are attested in MedG, but the evidence is very limited, in contrast to much more extensive modern dialectal attestations. However, the status of the phenomenon as an archaism presupposes the uninterrupted transmission of the involved lexical items from AG until MG, and consequently the existence of the specific modern dialectal archaisms in MedG, despite the silence of the written record.

Evidence of the first type (grammatical) comes from S. Italy, where the /a/ is probably analogical (cf. KONDOSOPOULOS 1987: 118–19, MINAS ²2003: 37, 81, 89; ROHLFS 1977: 9–10), and thus quite frequent in the modern dialect (KAPSOMENOS 1953b: 321–2). From other areas, attestations are very rare (see also II, 2.11.6 for the variation between -η and -α in old “1st-declension” nouns):

τῆς λύμνας τοῦ Χρυμάτου / τῆς λίμνας τοῦ Χρημάτου (1136–7, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 1, 61.7)

τὴν λίμναν (1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 165.47–8)

εἰς τὴν λίμναν (1188, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 225, 298.35) τῆς προρρηθείσης ὄχθας (1183, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 55, 106.24)

τὴν ὄχθαν (1189, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 227, 302.28)

ἄξιον ἀρχιμανδρίταν (1173, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 51, 87.12)

πόρνα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.41

An obvious case of analogical change is the appearance of masc. nouns presenting the two allomorphs -ίτας and -ίτης in Medieval Pontic (the Vazelon Archive), just as in modern Pontic: Καστελίτης/Καστελίτας, Χαρσενίτης/Χαρσενίτας, Μαλαχίτης/Μαλαχίτας etc. (VAYAKAKOS 1964: 270). The Ionic background of the dialect leaves no room for assuming a “Doric” retention of /a/. Evidence of the second type (lexical) is also available from S. Italian documents: it involves the lexical items λανός and νασίδα (MG ληνός, νησίδα), also present in Modern S. Italian (cf. MINAS ²2003: 37):⁷ λανούς (1109 ca., S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 28, 214.7)

ὁ λανός ὑπῆρχε (1206, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 160, 354.34–5)

νασίδας (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 308.20) τῆς νασίδας (1192, Sicily, RE/ROGNONI 2008: 1, 143.5)

εἰς τὴν χώραν τῆς Νάσου (1182, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 23, 427: 11)

The form μεσαμβρία, also quoted by Minas (περὶ μεσαμβρίαν (1183, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: LV-100, 106.24)), should perhaps be excluded, as it is in origin an Ionic form with short [a] (TZITZILIS 1997: 407). A more dubious Doric element in S. Italian documents is the place name Τζάγκανον (1268, TRINCHERA 1865: 441, 307.37–8), Modern S. Italian τσάκκανο “sheep-fold”, argued to derive from σᾱκός/σηκός “hedge” (CARATZAS 1957, CARACAUSSI, Lex. s.v.). In general, retention of Doric /a/ should be considered a lexical and not a phonological phenomenon in S. Italian, since, overall, Medieval (and Modern) S. Italian behaves like all other Greek varieties with respect to the change /a/ > /ɛi/. In Modern S. Italian there are no more than two dozen words with residual “Doric” /a/ (KARANASTASIS, Lex. A: κγ’-κδ’).

⁷ A dubious example (in an abbreviation) involves the adj. ματρικός = μητρικός: τὴν ἄπασάν μου μοῖραν τὴν μ(ατ)ρηκὴν τὴν ἔχω (1037, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 1, 64.5).

Similarly, there is minimal MedG evidence in the texts examined for residual Doric /a/ in other areas where Doric dialects were previously spoken. Eustathios of Thessaloniki twice makes mention of Doric /a/ in the spoken language of his day (ΚΟΥΚΟΥΛΕΣ 1953: 38): the Cretan place name Ἰδα (= Ἰδη) and the name for the poppy μάκων (= μήκων): “... μάκων εἰσέτι καὶ νῦν παρ’ ἐνίοις λέγεται, βαρβάροις μὲν, ἑοικόσι δὲ ἀπήχημα φυλάττειν γλώσσης Ἑλληνίδος παλαιᾶς” (714.40). The form is indeed attested in the modern dialect of Karpathos, as well as in Tsakonian (DAWKINS 1940: 3–4, see also LBG s.v. μάκος). TSOPANAKIS (1963: 10–11) further adduces two dubious doricisms from the Chronicle of Theophanes, διαφατεύω and στᾶμα, as well as one more place name, Σαλαμβρία (modern Σηλυμβρία) attested in De ceremoniis 496.11. To this one could perhaps add the form μαρουγάζω Pent. Deut. 14.8 from Constantinople (attested in Cyprus and Pontus according to ANDRIOTIS Lex. Arch., SMG μηρυκάζω), although the alternation α/η is already AG (BEEKES 2010 s.v.). The body of medieval evidence can be augmented by the addition of the frequent element λανός from Cythera, e.g. ὁ λανός (1565, DRAKAKIS 1999: 257, 356.17) and the typical Cretan verb γλακῶ (< ἐκλακῶ, Attic ληκέω, see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v., TSOPANAKIS 1955: 56). One of the items adduced by HATZIDAKIS (1892: 98) as retentions of Doric /a/, ρέχτας “waterfall”, occurs as a place name in the notarial acts of Olokalos: στὸν Ρίκτην τῶν Λιθινῶν (1540, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 203, 198.8) (cf. CHARALAMBAKIS 1984).

The only modern dialect which displays the phenomenon with regularity is of course Tsakonian, given its derivation from ancient Laconian. The earliest (17th-c.) attestations of the dialect fully confirm this, as shown by the word-list reported in the writings of Evliya Celebi (PERNOT 1934: 502–3; KOSTAKIS 1980/81: 276).⁸

2.5.2 Retention of “Ionic” /e/

MedG documents from the Pontos and Crimea areas frequently exhibit /e/ instead of expected /i/, stemming from AG /ɛi/ <η> (DÖLGER 1929/30: 334; HENRICH 1990, 2011; TZITZILIS 1999: 86; MANOLESSOU/PANDELIDIS 2011). The earliest secure examples for the LMedG period come from a 14th-c. inscription, namely the ethnic names Καμαχενός and Τζανιχίτες (1306, Trebizond, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1886: 1, 114.3 and 15).

⁸ The list contains the words samri = Tsak. σάμερε ≈ σήμερα, tancala = Tsak. τὰν τσέλα ≈ τὴν κέλλα and matmi = Tsak. μάτη μοι ≈ μήτηρ μου.

Apart from these, the phenomenon is frequently attested in the archive of the Vazelon Monastery (DÖLGER 1929/30; LAMPSIDES 1935, 1952; VAYAKAKOS 1964), with examples as early as the 13th c.:

Πεγαδάν (ca. 1245, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 16, 7.9) Θελητέσιν (1260, ibid. 25, 11.7) γονικέσια μου (1292, ibid. 115, 85.45) τὸ κεπί (15th c., ibid. 145, 108.6) < κηπίον τὸν Βαζελιώτε<ν> (15th c., ibid. 147, 109.10) ὁ Πολίτες (15th c., ibid. 164, 115.5)

However, because of the complex textual transmission of the Vazelon codex and the fact that the two extant manuscripts preserving it are later copies, the reliability of these examples for the dating of the phenomenon is dubious. A number of other documents and inscriptions from the area exhibit the phenomenon, from the 15th c. onwards:

Ιω(άννης) Αγυανανήτες / Ἰωάννης Ἀγιανανίτες (1411, Trebizond, MILLET 1895: 435.7–8) ὁ Ἀρζικενῶς / ὁ Ἀρζικενός (1411, Trebizond, BRYER 1976: 8, 133.2) ἀσχεμότερον (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 110.2d); χαμέλυνον (ibid. 130.3d); ἐν φυσέματι (ibid. 193.3d) ἐτρώπεσε (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 2558); ἐλυπήθεμεν (ibid. 1803) ε δοῦληα / ἐ δουλεία (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.3); τεν βούλα / τέν βούλα (ibid. 169.12)
 ὉΑΓΓΙΟΣ ΘΕΟΔΩ | ΡΟΣ Ο ΣΤΡΑΤΙ|ΛΑΤ|Ε|Σ / Ὁ Ἁγίος Θεόδωρος ὁ Στρατηλάτες (15th c., Trebizond region, TSAKALOF 1910: [2], 120.1–6) γ-εῖναι τὸ Ἁγίου Σωτέρου (17th/18th c., Pontos, TURYN 1980: 144 (f.202r).1)

The phenomenon is not systematic, in that not all cases of original <η> appear as /e/, even within the same document. Furthermore, there are some cases of /e/ stemming not from <η> but from <ι, υ, ει, οι>, although these could perhaps receive an alternative interpretation, such as lowering due to liquids (see 2.8.1) or hypercorrection of mid vowel raising (cf. HORROCKS ²2010: 400):

Βουκενάτωρ (1264, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 39, 19.15); θεγατερός (15th c., ibid. 148, 109.8) οἱ καλογέρε (15th c., Pontos, ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015: 5, 12.7) τρεγώνα (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1055)
 τοῦ παπα-Κερίλλου (17th c., Pontos, VEIS 1939: 28, 216)

“Ionic” /e/ is one of the main characteristics of the modern form of the Pontic dialect (ΠΑΠΑΔΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ 1955: 14–17; ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1958: 41–5), and the medieval attestations accord well with its modern distribution (appearance in specific inflectional and derivational suffixes such as -ησα > -εσα, -ημεν > -εμεν, -ηνός > -ενός, -ίτης > -ίτες, -ήσιος > -έσιν, or absence from others, such as -τής). In some cases it is difficult to distinguish this phenomenon from the regular change of /i/ > /e/ which is due to the influence of nasals and liquids (see 2.8.1) and so the most secure examples are those without adjacent liquid or nasal consonants. An indication of the ancient origin of the phenomenon is that in the Koine and Early Christian inscriptions from Pontos the interchange of <H> and <E> is quite well documented (BRIXHE ²1987: 109), with examples such as: ἐ δούλε τοῦ Θ(ε)ο(ῦ)

Γρεγορία (MITFORD 1991: inscr. 35) (see MANOLESSOU/PANDELIDIS 2011 for further examples and discussion). Another such indication is the relatively high number of Greek loanwords in Armenian, geographically adjacent to Pontos, where the realization /e/ for <η> is retained (THUMB 1910: 395–6).

2.5.3 Pontic Half-Central Vowels /æ/ and /œ/

There is some evidence that Medieval Pontic had already evolved the sounds [æ] and [œ] which are characteristic of the Modern Pontic dialect. These vowels result from the coalescence of the sequences [ea, ia] and [eo, io] respectively when the [e] or [i] is unstressed; in the case of a stressed [e] or [i] the sequence remains unchanged without coalescence (PAPADOPOULOS 1955: 10–13; DRETTAS 1997: 84–6; see also 2.9.4). Most MedG Pontic documents show no evidence of the phenomenon, but there is one text, which has been claimed to be of Pontic origin, where several potential examples occur: the 15th-c. Russian-Greek Gesprächbuch (VASMER 1922). According to TZITZILIS (1999: 85–6), the following examples, where the Greek text shows <ε> and/or the Russian text shows [А] or [e] are indications of the phenomenon:

κοпрА/ κοπρᾶ́ (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 906) κληдорА/ κλειδορᾶ́/ κλειδαριά (ibid. 1015) мерен / μερέν / μεριάν (ibid. 1870) κρίε / κρύε (ibid. 854) χαρκαρίε / χαρκαριέ (ibid. 994) нлнec / ἥλιες / ἥλιος (ibid. 847)

A problem with some of these examples is that they represent cases of stressed [ea]/[ia] sequences, and thus contravene the modern phonetic rule. Nevertheless, the form μερᾶ́ is attested in Modern Pontic (PAPADOPOULOS 1958 s.v. μερέα).

Additional evidence of the phenomenon comes from the Vazelon archive, which contains multiple proper names and place names derived from Ἰωαννάκης > Γιαννάκης in the form Γεν-, with Pontic vowel coalescence, instead of Γιαν-:

τῶν Γενακάντων (13th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 105, 65.1) ἀπὸ τὸν Γενακόπουλον (1292, ibid. 115, 84.9) τῆς Παπαγενακόπουλος (1344, ibid. 100, 57.2)

In the same archive, two more lexical items could also be viewed as evidence of the phenomenon: the form επεδέβεν (15th c., Pontos, ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015: 5, 12.10–11), which should be read as ἐπεδᾶβεν, 3 sg. aorist of the verb ἀποδᾶβαίνω < ἀποδιαβαίνω (LAMPSIDES 1935: 18; 1952: 230), and the place name εἰς τὰ Μηλάρα (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 151, 110.5), which presumably stands for τὰ Μηλάρια (VAYAKAKOS 1964: 269).

Less certain additional evidence of the phenomenon comes from a 15th-c. note from Asia Minor, containing the forms χόνι, χονίζω instead of χιόνι, χιονίζω. This should be compared to the regular Modern Pontic forms [ʃœnin, ʃon], deriving naturally from the evolution [io] > [œ] > [o] when preceded by the sounds [ʃ, kʃ, pʃ] (PAPADOPOULOS 1955:

12, 1958 s.v. ῥῶνιν). The same marginal note twice gives Κυράκη (“Sunday”) instead of Κυριακή, which again could be interpreted as a case of unstressed [ia] > [æ]:

ἐχόνησεν χονήν / ἐχόνισεν χόνιν (15th c., Asia Minor, DARROUZÈS 1964a: [34], 37.1) ἐχονησεν χονήν / ἐχόνισεν χόνιν πολλύν (ibid. [35], 37.1) ἐχονησέν / ἐχόνισεν (ibid. [35], 37.3) κυράκη / Κυράκη (ibid. [35], 37.1)

2.5.4 “Raising Vocalism”

2.5.4.1 Definition

The term “raising vocalism” refers to a series of stress-related phenomena affecting all vowels except /a/, whose general effect is raising. Thus the mid vowels /e/ and /o/ are raised to [i] and [u] when unstressed, and the high vowels /i/ and /u/ are deleted when unstressed. Formally:

Phenomenon	Example
e > i	ῥρεξιν > ῥριξιν
o > u	μαῦρον > μαῦρουν
i > Ø	κοιμηθῶ > κοιμ’θῶ
u > Ø	Σγουρόπουλος > Σγουρόπ’λος

These raising phenomena constitute the most basic phonetic dialectal isogloss in the history of later Greek, and their presence is already well established in MedG, although the precise dating and spread are not yet settled. In general, they affect the so-called “northern” dialects, i.e. Mainland Greece north of Attica, Thessaly, Epirus, Macedonia, Thrace and the islands of the northern Aegean such as the Sporades, Lesbos, Lemnos, Thasos (see ANDRIOTIS 1942/43; KONDOSOPOULOS ³2001: 92–108; TRUDGILL 2003: 53–4 for the modern distribution). A form of raising phenomena also appears in S. Italian and Pontic, and even the “southern” dialects display (non-systematic) raising in many lexical items. It is not evident that all raising phenomena in different areas and dialects should be attributed to the same cause.

2.5.4.2 Dating and Literature Overview

One may distinguish two main positions concerning the dating of “raising vocalism”: according to the first, it constitutes some sort of continuation of AG dialectal phonology, while according to the second it is a specifically MedG evolution.

The most extreme position is taken by DIETERICH (1898: 15–17), followed by THAVORIS (1980), who dates the phenomenon as far back as the 2nd c. BC on the basis of inscriptional forms like Πουμαίω, Πουμανός. However, Dieterich’s early examples are rejected by most scholars as irrelevant to the issue (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 258–9; PSALTES 1913: 40; KAPSOMENOS 1985: 83). Furthermore, Gignac attributes his extensive data of variation between /o/ and /u/ and /e/ and /i/ in the papyri to bilingual interference.⁹

The EMedG dating (4th–5th c. AD) proposed by PANAYOTOU (1990: 195–6, 203–6; 1992a: 12–13, 17–18) and TSOUKNIDAS (1985/89) (cf. also BABINIOTIS 1977: 19–20), on the basis of inscriptional evidence from Macedonia, is much more likely, both because the attestations come from areas where the phenomenon is certain to have existed in later periods, and because their relatively late dating ensures that they are unconnected to the AG vowel system with its length distinctions. EMedG Macedonian inscriptions include examples such as: καὶ τοῦ ἀμαρτουλῶ ἰωάννου διακόνου, inscr. 16, Edessa, 6th c.; κοιμητήριον δῆσουμον (= δίσωμον), inscr. 165, Thessaloniki, 5th c. AD (examples from FEISSEL 1983, discussed in PANAYOTOU 1990). Furthermore, it is possible to find similar cases of raising in inscriptions from Thrace (MANOLESSOU 2003: 78, examples in ASDRACHA 2003). However, there are two problems with this evidence: firstly, it shows raising of both stressed and unstressed mid vowels, although the MG phenomenon involves unstressed vowels only; secondly, it shows no instances at all of high vowel loss, although, from a theoretical viewpoint, high vowel loss must have preceded raising (NEWTON 1972a: 189–90; HORROCKS 2010: 404–6), otherwise all raised vowels would subsequently have been lost.

Another indication of the late onset of high vowel loss, apart from the evidence of the LMedG data (for which see below), is the fact that in the MG northern dialects, the secondary stop + stop and fricative + fricative clusters arising from the deletion of high vowels do not undergo the expected regular manner dissimilation (for which see 3.8.1), e.g. κουτάβι > κ'τάβ' not χ'τάβ'. The only way of getting round this problem would be to assume, along with CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: A 258), that the raised mid vowels initially did not coincide fully with the originally high vowels and were therefore not affected by the same processes.

A slightly later date, namely 7th to 9th c., is proposed by BESCHEVLIEV (1922/25 and BEŠEVLEV 1963), on the basis of the form Γρικὸς appearing in the Proto-Bulgarian inscriptions, a view also adopted by BROWNING (1976) (cf. objections in CHATZIDAKIS 1927a: 15; KAPSOMENOS 1985: 83), as well as by THUMB (1910: 393), on the basis of Greek loanwords in Armenian, such as kat'ulikos (= καθολικός), tumar (= τομάρι).¹⁰

The only paper expressly devoted to northern vocalism in medieval documents, ANDRIOTIS 1933, comes to the conclusion that it is established around the 13th c., and gives as earliest attestations a multiplicity of 12th-c. examples of /e/ > /i/ and /o/ > /u/ from the corpus of S. Italian documents published in TRINCHERA 1865. This dating therefore rests on problematic data: the S. Italian phenomenon is in all probability due to Romance influence, as the neighbouring Romance dialects of S. Italy have a different phonetic system from that of Standard Italian, whereby Latin short /i/ and /u/ have not lowered to /e/ and /o/ (cf. on this topic FANCIULLO 2001: 71–2; MANOLESSOU 2003: 79), and is unconnected to the MedG and MG “northern” dialects. Furthermore, the S. Italian raising occurs also with stressed vowels (cf. MINAS ²2003: 44–5; IRIGOIN 1984: 142), and is not accompanied by high vowel loss, so it is a different phenomenon altogether (see below for examples). An even later dating, to the EMG period, such as that proposed by CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: A 258) need not be discussed, as Chatzidakis had at his disposal insufficient textual evidence.

⁹ “Since an interchange of ou with o/ω is rare elsewhere in Greek, but is paralleled in Greek loanwords in Coptic, it seems to rest on bilingual influence” (GIGNAC 1976: 213–14).

¹⁰ The Aromanian data (which do not seem to show vowel raising) discussed in ANDRIOTIS 1933: 348–50 and BABINIOTIS 1977 are outdated and do not correspond to the modern (at least) behaviour of Aromanian dialects with respect to the phenomenon (for which see BEIS 2002). Therefore, they are an insecure basis for historical conclusions.

All in all, it should be considered certain that the phenomenon is earlier than the date proposed by Andriotis, and that it should be placed at some point in the EMedG period. It is perhaps connected with the transformation of the AG vowel system into the Koine one, in specific AG dialects spoken in the areas of Thessaly, Macedonia and Thrace. The great geographic extent of the phenomenon in MG also testifies to a relatively early appearance.

2.5.4.3 The Data

It is crucial (though not always possible) to distinguish true raising and deletion phenomena from other phonetic changes such as raising of unstressed /o/ > /u/ in labial/velar environments (e.g. μοσχάρι > μουσκάρι, κωδώνιον > κουδούνι – see 2.8.3) or syncope of unstressed /i/ (e.g. σημερινός > σημερνός, περυσινός > περσινός – see 2.7.2).

Indirect evidence for raising can also be provided by hypercorrection, i.e. by non-etymological lowering of an original /u/ or /i/, the so-called “αντικώφωσις” (MANESIS 1969; TZITZILIS 2000: 268–9; KATSANIS 2012: 107–8), e.g. τοφέκια, βουτσόπολον (see examples below). In such cases two analyses are possible: (a) the writer spells unstressed <o> or <ε> instead of <ου> or <ι> respectively because he is aware of the phenomenon of raising, and attempts to suppress it, occasionally overreaching himself and correcting even genuine instances of original, etymological [i] and [u] – in this case we are dealing with a conscious linguistic choice; or (b) the spellings of unstressed <o> or <ε> would in any case be read/interpreted by a speaker of a raising dialect as [u] and [i] respectively, in whatever word they occurred; in this case we are merely dealing with an unconscious orthographic variant. But hypercorrections should also be distinguished from the phenomenon of lowering due to liquids (see 2.8.1).

Non-literary documents from Macedonia provide the earliest secure evidence for raising phenomena outside S. Italy. The Athos archives contain a small number of documents which present evidence of raising from the 12th and 13th c. Other areas of Macedonia are not well documented, and therefore the evidence comes from the 16th–17th c. onwards. Instances of high vowel deletion are not to be found before the 17th c., and in general high vowel deletion is much more poorly attested than raising, probably through a conscious effort at restoration.¹¹ A full description of the raising and hypercorrection phenomena to be found in a 17th-c. corpus from Thessaloniki is offered by KATSANIS 2000; and 2012: 43–5, 107–8. Examples of raising, hypercorrection and deletion:

κινούργια (1142, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 7, 75.34) ἄρσινικόν (1270–4 ca., Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.20); χιρεκάκων (ca. 1270, ibid. 9A, 80.31) ἀναλουμάτων (1309, Meleniko, LEFORT et al. 1994: 71, 178.21) τὴν λιθосуρέαν (1350–1351?, Athos?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 130, 45.13) εἰς τοῦ Πρωτάτου (1493–1494, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 36, 179.12) ΚΥΡ ΝΗΚΤΑΡΙΟΥ / κύρ Νικταρίου (1593, Kastoria, Drakopoulou 2005: 1, 13.3) μὲ τοῦ δῖπνου τοῦ μυστικοῦ (1628–9, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 1, 42.11); ὁ φοῦρνους (ibid. 43.24) ἄπου τοὺς πραγματιφτάδεις (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 4, f.40r.13) εὐγινή μου καὶ πουλλὰ μου ἡγαπιμένι μου (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 49.1); νὰ σὶ δόσου / νὰ σὶ δώσου (ibid. 1, 49.5) σουλδία (1697, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 30, 23.52) βουτζόπολον / βουτσόπολον (1445, Macedonia?, BOMPAIRE 1964: 30, 217.30) τὸν Τραπεζόταν (±1530, Athos, SCHREINER 1975/79: 73, 7.1) νὰ γράψον (1618, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 33, 114.3); τὴν θεγατέρα (ibid. 33, 114.4) τοῦ μολᾶ (1629, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2005: 11, 133.8) δύο τοφέκια (1695, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 2, 212.4) κουστίζον (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 52.15); τὶς ποτάνεις τὶς ντροπιασμένεις (ibid. 5, 61.9); γιὰ νὰ σεκουθῶ (ibid. 11, 79.3) καλουγερκὲς προθέσεις (1691, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 89, 214.11) γύρσα εἰς τὸ σπῖτι (1696, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 17, 217.3) λαρσινό (1697, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 30, 23.41); μνήσκουν / μ'νίσκουν (ibid. 30, 24.63) ἡ ἀλατζιάδεις κόμα καλίτιρ[ι] / οἱ ἀλατζιάδεις 'κόμα καλίτιρ' (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 9, 73.24); ἐπλούσα τὰ ατουλάζηα / ἐπ'λούσα τὰ ἀτουλάζια (ibid. 10, 78.18)

Literary evidence from Macedonia comes from the Chronicle of Papasynadinos (see also SETATOS 1990/91: 22).

ὀριξη ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. I §31.67; ἐπιρικύκλωσεν ibid. I §36.56; γιφύρι ibid. I §36.130; τὰ κουρίτζιά της ibid. III §29.51 τὸ πογγί ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. I §23.47; ἀναβορκώνει ibid. IV §11.13–14

For the region of Epirus, HENRICH (2000b) adduces a number of examples from the Chronicle of the Tocco (15th c.), which may have been written in Ioannina:

¹¹ Very occasionally, deletion can be surmised indirectly through other phenomena normally affecting non-contiguous consonants, which is an argument in favour of conscious orthographic suppression of the phenomenon of high vowel deletion. For example, in the form τὸ θικό μας τοῦ βιλᾶέτι (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 52.23), the devoicing affecting the initial [ð] of δικό μας can only be caused by assimilation to the following voiceless [k] as is normal in MG northern dialects (το δικό μας > του δ'κό μας > του θ'κό μας, cf. PAPADOPOULOS 1926: 45) although the deletion of the unstressed [i] separating the two consonants is not recorded in the spelling.

τὸ κάτιργον Chron. Toc. 31; τὴν ὄριξιν του ibid. 2684; ἐγύριψαν ibid. 2100; εὐτράπιλον ibid. 3490; ἡπείν ibid. 2170 (= ἐπεί); μέτουπον ibid. 1751; τοῦ κουρμίου ibid. 144; ἀπόκουτος ibid. 53; ἡ φουνή ibid. 2311

However, some of his examples are dubious, since Henrich himself notes that almost all the cases of [o] > [u] appear next to labial and velar consonants. They could thus also be attributed to the phenomenon of raising o > u (e.g. κώδων > κουδούνι; see 2.8.3), which is unrelated to northern vocalism and appears in all Greek-speaking areas. Non-literary documents provide additional evidence:

τὸ γιουφίρι (post 1556, Epirus, ALEXOULIS 1896/1900: 47b, 369.1) ὄντανίμεστι / ὄνταν εἴμεστι (1594, Ioannina, MERTZIOS 1936b: 5, 45.11) ΕΚΙΝΙΑΣΤΙ / ἐγκινιάσθη (1615, Epirus, SOULIS 1934: 12, 86.); ἰουάννου / Ἰουάννου (ibid. 24, 24.4); ἡπιτρόπου / ἱπιτρόπου (1650, ibid. 24, 90.2) στον ηπίσκοπον / στὸν ἱπίσκοπον (17th c., Epirus, MERTZIOS 1936b: 13, 50.15); ἐκοπήσσης / ἐκοπίσσης (ibid. 13, 50.3) κηρί (1696, Elbasan/N. Epirus, MERTZIOS 1947a: 11, 215.1) Κουστis (1556, Corfu, PENDOGALOS 1980b: 91.14) (Κωστής Στράτης, a native of Epirus) σεντοκόπουλον (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 277.7)

For the region of Thessaly, ANDRIOTIS (1933: 347) draws attention to the name Νικουλιτζᾶς appearing in Kekaumenos, Strategikon 252.24 and 257.22 (ed. Litavrin), although onomatological data, especially in cases of a multilingual environment, are not a secure source. There are a few cases attested in late monastic documents, mostly through hypercorrections:

οὐράρια ιδ' (16th c., Meteora, VEIS 1984: 85, f.104v.1); εμω του ευτηλοῦς ἰοάνηκού / ἐμῶ τοῦ εὐτιλοῦς Ἰωαννικίου (ibid. 30, f.1v.2) εἰς τὲ δεκατέσσιρες (1601, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1993: f. 1v.2, 60) τζουμπάνη (1649–69, Thessaly, SPANOS 2001: 358, f.95v.14) βελτίουσην (1703, Thessaly, SOFIANOS 1984: 42) σελ'νιασμένος (17th c.?, Meteora, VEIS 1984: 110, f.62v.7) ἦλθεν ὁ βασιλέας στὴ Λάρσα (1668, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1986: 43, f.2v[28].1) φ'σέκια (18th c., Meteora, VEIS 1984: 29, f.222v.12) Ἐμανωήλ (1649–69, Thessaly, SPANOS 2001: 337, f.51v.21) ἐτότη (1690, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1986: 48, f.54v.1) = ἐτούτη ἡγομενέβοντας (1703, Thessaly, SOFIANOS 1984: A, 42.2)

For the region of the Northern Aegean, there is some evidence for both raising and deletion from Lesbos, as well as from the city of Kydonies on the opposite coast, from the 16th c. onwards:

ιωλίο / Ἰολίο (1559, Lesbos, KLEOMVROTOS 1970: 23, 2.163.2) εἰς τὸ μοναστήρ, (1631, Lesbos, LAMBROS 1910: 257, 189.1) Φιρπίνα (1653, Kydonies, PATRINELIS 1993/94: 15.1) < Φιλιππίνα (?); Καταξινή (ibid. 17.31) < Κατακουζηνή εἰς τοῦ κάστρου τῆς Μυτιλήνης (1713, Lesbos?, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1884: 7, 27.2); ἔδουσα (ibid. 7, 27.4)

Documents from Skyros and Skiathos provide a number of examples of mid vowel raising. In the case of the 1 sg. ending of the verb, the phenomenon may be unconnected to “northern” raising, as it even occurs in the oxytone conjugation, i.e. when the /o/ is stressed. In the modern period, the dialect of Skyros belongs to the so-called “semi-northern” group, which displays deletion only, without raising (ANDRIOTIS 1942/43: 137), but this is not reflected in the available EMG documents from the area:

- διὰ τοῦτο λέγου ἐγώ (1539, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 3, 17.5); δίδου χωράφιον τὸ ἔχου ἀπὸ τοῦ πατρός μου (ibid. 5, 19.2); ἀφήνου ὁ διὰ τὴν ψυχὴν μου (1562, ibid. 9, 22.3); μαρτυροῦ τὸ ἄνωθεν (1635, ibid. 24, 46.13)
 νὰ τὰ ἐξουσιάζου (1656, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: VI, 164.41) δε ζητου πλέον τήποταις / δὲ ζητοῦ πλέον τίποτες (1659, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 29, 52.11); μαρτυροῦ / μαρτυροῦ (1661, ibid. 31, 54.14) θε να του δόσου / θὲ νὰ τοῦ δώσου (1717, Skiathos, KARAVIDAS 2004: 2, 249.7–8) εἰς τοὺς ἀπάνου Κεραμουτές (1524, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 1, 15.3); μέσα καὶ ὄξου (1562, ibid. 9, 23.19–20); χάλκουμα (1581, ibid. 10, 26.24) μεταξουτά (1626, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 2, 215.19) ἔνα χάλκουμα μιγάλο (1653, Skiathos, EVANGELIDIS 1913: 66.19) προικοσύφουνο (1687, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 10, 223.3) ἡγόρασιν ἓνα καματιρὸ ἀποῦ τοῦν Γιώργη (1711, Skiathos, KARAVIDAS 2004: 1, 248.3); τοῦ ἀνουθεν γιγγραμμένου (ibid. 1, 248.11–12) τῆς ἀδελφῆς μο τῆς Θεοδωρόλας (1653, Skiathos, EVANGELIDIS 1913: 67.2) νὰ ξοσιάζει (1664, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 8, 221.18)
 ἡ Ὅρανία τοῦ μακαρήτο Σηβαστάκη (1711, Skiathos, KARAVIDAS 2004: 1, 248.1)

Due to the paucity of documents from Central Greece, only a very small number of late (18th c.) attestations are available from this area:

- Δροσὸπῆλος (1708, Naupaktia, CHARALAMBOPOULOS 1988/89: 1, 521.10) χρωστάγου τοῦ χαράτσι μου (1735, Aitolia, PETROPOULOS 1962: E.11, 479.4) νεκοκυρέγοι (1735, Aitolia, PETROPOULOS 1962: E.11, 479.12)

A few instances of raising and deletion have been located in EMG documents from Andros, which is known to present the phenomenon in the modern period:

- νὰ φτέπη ὅλους σκὲς (1593, Andros?, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 151, 275.11) ὁμπροστε τοῦ κάτωθεν ὑπογεγρα[μμένου] μαρτύρου (1597, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 71, 97.18)

For Eastern Thrace, one may record a 13th-c. inscription from Avdimion: Κωσταντῆ προυσκινιτοῦ (1277, ASDRACHA 2003: I.7.1; and an early 18th-c. short note from Metra: ἓνα καζανόπλο ὁκάδες τρεῖς (1711, SARANDIS 1934: 173).

The evidence for raising phenomena in S. Italy is quite substantial, as already known from previous literature (ANDRIOTIS 1933). However, it is doubtful that this phenomenon is connected with the corresponding evolutions in the northern dialects (see above), as the phenomenon in S. Italy is not accompanied by high vowel loss. Furthermore, it is attested in Sicily already since the 5th c. AD: οὔπου κῖτε τοῦ φυλακτίριον τοῦτου ... (SEG 50.1014); πρὸς ἐ<ύ>καρπῆα<ν>, χουρίον (καὶ) κλαρίον (SEG 44.781).

Unstressed

- δηλουθεις (1053, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 5, 161.4) περισσουτέραν (1097, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 60, 78.16) τοῦ πλήρουμα (1101, S. Italy, ibid. 69, 87.7); δυδου και στέργου (1101, ibid. 69, 87.9); νουμίσματα (1140, ibid. 122, 163.20); πιριορισμός (1141, ibid. 130, 172.16) μηγάλω / μιγάλο? (1141, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 5, 19.21); ἡ οὐδός (1142?, ibid. Coll.
 XI: 9, 523.7)
 ἀθόλουτον (1193, Messina / Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 15, 124.13) Νουεμβρίου (1243, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 18, 96.3)

Stressed

- τοῦ Μούντε Κασσίνου (1000, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 12, 10.4) οἱ σκώληκες ἀπάνω τῆς γῆς ἂν μὴ ἔτρωγαν (11th c., S. Italy, NITTI DI VITO 1900: 46, 93.29–30)
 το διμ(ού)σιο(ν) (1051/1052, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 6, 58.11); ἀούκνω (1053, ibid. 21, 96.2)
 ἀγχοῦνην (1122, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 16, 414.6); Ρούμης (1243, ibid. Coll. II: 18, 96.5)

Hypercorrections

- τοῦ Κοράτορα (1157–8, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 20, 163.18) βιβλίω τέλος (1279, S. Italy, TURYN 1972: 21); χέλια εὐτακόσια / χέλια ἐφτακόσια (1289/90, ibid. 64)

For Pontos and the Crimea, Henrich has collected several examples of raising phenomena from medieval documents which could perhaps be considered Pontic (HENRICH 1990, 1996b, 1998a). One is a very illiterate letter by the Khan of the Crimea: τω γραμα σου εηδαμεν του / τὸ γράμμα σου εἶδαμεν του (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 168.3); μη τὸν εξοδων σας / μὴ τῶν ἐξόδων σας (ibid. 169.7). The second is a text dated to the end of the 15th c., written in Arabic characters: κόρη οὐφθαλμοῦ μου (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 128.1d). In older literature, one of the earliest sources for raising vocalism was considered to be a Russian–Greek Gesprächbuch probably written on Athos (VASMER 1922). According to TZITZILIS (1999), however, the text should rather be considered of Pontic/Crimean origin. It contains several instances of raising and deletion:

- μαῦρουν (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 626); πιπόνια (ibid. 933)
 θέλω νὰ κοιμ<η>θῶ (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 102–3); μάχ'ν ἔχουσι (ibid. 873)

No evidence of raising has been located in the Vazelon monastery archive, except for the doubtful Κουρουπαλάτης (35.1), which could be viewed as an assimilation. The other examples adduced by DÖLGER (1929/30: 334), namely πουλεῖν, ἀπάνου, ἀποκάτου, are unrelated to raising vocalism and occur all over the Greek-speaking world. The same corpus contains, again according to Dölger, one instance of /i/ deletion: χοινκός (146.4). A few other instances of raising and deletion are also to be found in Pontic sources, involving, as in modern Pontic, mostly deletion only of post-tonic /i/:

- τοῦ Ἀγάπ' Ρεῖζη (17th c., Pontos, VEIS 1939: 15, 207.15.f.1.1) (< Ἀγάπης < Ἀγάπιος); τὸν Λευθέρ' (ibid. 15, 208.f.1.15); ἀνεκαινίσθ' καὶ ἐγράφη παρ' ἐμοῦ (ibid. 15, 208.f.2.1) ο Μανόλης ὁ Μανολόπλ(ον) / ὁ Μανόλης ὁ Μανολόπλον (1506, Trebizond, PRINZING 2000: 2, 304.7–8)

The occurrence of the locative adverb κάθεν (< κάτωθεν) in the Vazelon archive, e.g. εἰς τὸ Βασακίον κάθεν (1260?, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 55, 31.5–6); εἰς τὸ Καριώνιν κάθεν στρατάς (13th c., ibid. 105, 65.7); ἀποκά<τω>θεν τριῶν τησερετάρων (15th c., ibid. 147, 108.4–109.5), is a further instance of deletion of unstressed post-tonic /u/, since this form should be interpreted as deriving from the process κάτωθεν > κάτουθεν > κάτ'θεν > κάθεν (PAPADOPOULOS 1917: 113–15; LAMPSIDIS 1952: 237), although the deletion of secondary high vowels arising from raising is a relatively rare phenomenon.

For the remaining areas that in the MG period present a variety of raising phenomena restricted with respect to phonetic environment, such as Thrace, Asia Minor (Bithynia/Cappadocia), Propontis, no evidence is available due to the scarcity of LMedG and EMG sources. Some instances of raising phenomena have been found before the LMedG period, for example in late Koine inscriptions from Thrace (MANOLESSOU 2003), and in 9th- and 10th-c. church inscriptions from Cappadocia, e.g. ανδρονκου / Ἀνδρόν'κου (10th c., Cappadocia, DE JERPHANION 1925/42: I 122); λουγγινος / Λουγγίνος (ibid. I 131); ζουγραφο / ζουγράφω (9th c., ibid. II 109, 141); θεουτοκ[ε] / Θεουτόκε (10th c., ibid. II 252, 169).

A number of examples of raising derive from areas lying outside the raising isogloss, such as Peloponnese, Dodecanese, Heptanese and Crete, without any systematicity:

τούς πράτουντα(ς) / τούς πράττουντας (1027, Sparta, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 43, 301.19) βυστιαρίτου / βιστιαρίτου (1288, Cos/Dodecanese, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 228.30) ἄν ἔπτεισες / ἄν ἔπτισες Spaneas Z 217 app. crit. (= ἔπταισες) μιτανοήση Chron. Mor. H 1624 app. crit. (H) παραγγυλήα / παραγγιλία (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 8, 87.6); μητρητα / μιτριτά (1564, ibid. 132, 214.25)

τότις BERGADIS, Apok. V 334 τοῦ κηλαρίου (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 43, 53.8) ὅποιος ἀδύνατος θιλήσει (16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.11–12) ἄρσινικόν (1635, Nisyros/Dodecanese, TSIRPANLIS 1982: 1, 13.8) κιρὸν (1648, Gortynia/Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 7, 124.9)

ὁ στireμός σου Trag. Ag. Dim. III.299 < στερεμός

To sum up: within the period under investigation, evidence for vowel raising starts in Macedonia, in the 12th c. The evidence from S. Italy, which is contemporary, has a more plausible alternative interpretation. Solid evidence for raising comes only from Macedonia and Epirus, less evidence is available for Thessaly and N. Sporades, while for other areas one is hampered by lack of data. Most of the available instances of raising originate from a period much later than the supposed beginnings of the phenomenon (i.e. from around the 16th–17th c.), and are thus useful only for documenting the spread of the change and not its origins. The meagre evidence for medieval Pontic and Cappadocian does not permit conclusions concerning the different function/status of the phenomenon with respect to the “standard” northern areas, but it does serve to show that some sort of raising phenomena are indeed in operation within the LMedG period. In any case, the question of the first appearance of the phenomenon is less important than the documentation of the fact that the “raising” rule is an active one during the period under investigation, i.e. it is not a change that has operated and delivered specific results on specific words or environments, but a change that keeps affecting even new words; this is obvious from the fact that several comparatively novel loanwords (e.g. from Turkish) are regularly affected by it.

An unexpected result of the research conducted is that evidence for high vowel deletion is much more difficult to locate than that for raising (the ratio being about 1:20). This may be due to graphematic reasons to a certain extent, but the discrepancy in attestation is still too great to be dismissed out of hand. A further complication arises from the fact (already discussed above) that according to the theoretical literature at least, chronologically high vowel loss must have preceded raising (otherwise all raised segments would subsequently have been lost). This is not at all borne out by the data. The meagre evidence points to an appearance of the phenomenon around the 14th c. The paucity of examples does not allow the possibility of investigating the potential phonetic restrictions on the change (e.g. position of the affected syllable, number and quality of the consonants on either side of the vowel) which are known to operate in the modern version of the change (cf. NEWTON 1972a: 182–9).

2.6 Vowel Addition

2.6.1 Prothesis

The following types of vowel prothesis occur in MedG (cf. MENARDOS 1925; ILNE s.v. ἄ- προθετ.; KATSOULEAS 1977; MOYSIADIS 2005: 144):

- i) non-lexicalized phonetic prothesis occurring mostly in verbal forms, caused by a tendency to avoid consecutive consonants within phonological phrases, e.g. τὸν γνωρίζω > τὸν ἐγνωρίζω. This type of prothesis involves only the vowels /e/ and less frequently /i/, which originate from a variety of sources, such as the reanalysis of the verbal augment. It is closely connected to (and in many cases may also be interpreted as) final vowel addition (see 2.6.3.1 and 2.6.3.2);
- ii) lexicalized phonetic prothesis due to resegmentation at word boundaries, whereby the final vowel of the preceding word is reanalysed as the initial vowel of the following word, e.g. τὰ ζωσταράκια > τ' ἄζωσταράκια > ἄζωσταράκιν (Dig. T 2365). This type of prothesis may involve any vowel, but is most frequent in the case of /a/. In a subset of such cases, it could be assumed that prothesis has the additional role of facilitating the articulation of word-initial consonant clusters, e.g. κρημνός > ἐγκρημνός;
- iii) non-phonetic prothesis, caused by analogy or folk etymology under the influence of morphologically or semantically related lexical items, e.g. ἐγώ, ἐμέ ~ σὺ, σέ → ἐγώ, ἐμέ(ν)(α) ~ ἐσὺ, ἐσε(ν)(α) (cf. II, 5.3.1).

The phenomenon of prothetic vowels in MedG is totally unconnected with the so-called prothetic vowels of AG, which are mostly due to the vocalization of initial laryngeals, a phenomenon characterizing the Greek branch of Indo-European (SIHLER 1995: §§89–90), e.g. AG ἔ-ρυθρός vs. Lat. ruber, AG ὄ-νομα vs. Lat. nomen. Phonetic prothesis is very rare in Late Koine papyri, except in the case of initial /s/+ stop clusters, e.g. ἐσχοινίου, ἐσπέρματα (GIGNAC 1976: 312); the earliest item in which the phenomenon seems to be lexicalized is the word ἐχθές.

2.6.1.1 Non-lexicalized Phonetic Prothesis

An irregular, but very common, phenomenon in LMedG and EMG is the prothesis of /e/ in verbal forms. This is normally interpreted as resulting from reanalysis of the verbal augment (see III, 3), which is dissociated from its function as a marker of past tense and becomes a part of the verbal stem. A similar reanalysis of word boundaries leading to prothetic /e/ occurs in the case of a verb preceded by the conjunction καί or the 1st and 2nd person accusative clitics μέ, σέ, e.g. μέ γνωρίζει > μ' ἐγνωρίζει. A third potential source of this prothetic /e/ is the stem allomorphy, consonant-initial and vowel-initial, of a small number of common verbs having undergone aphaeresis, such as ἐξεύρω/ἤξεύρω/ξεύρω (< 2nd aor. ἐξ-εὔρον), ἐμπορώ/ἤμπορώ/μπορώ (< εὔπορώ), ἐθέλω/θέλω. This type of /e/ prothesis is an originally post-lexical process, occurring within phonological phrases for the avoidance of consecutive consonants, i.e. mostly the final /n/ of the preceding proclitic word (weak personal pronoun, negation etc.) followed by a consonant-initial verb form, especially, and perhaps originally, in the case of verbal stems with an initial consonant cluster. In many attested cases it is doubtful whether this prothesis is lexicalized, i.e. whether the verbs have acquired a permanent new allomorph of the stem beginning with a vowel, which can appear in all environments, or whether the prothesis of /e/ appears only in verbal phrases involving proclitic items. The lexicalization seems plausible in the case of a few very frequent verbs with initial consonant clusters, such as βλέπω/ἐβλέπω.

ἐβλέπεις Ptoch. IV 91; νὰ ἐβλέπω Chron. Mor. H 1131; νὰ ἐβλέπω Dig. E 1437 οὐκ ἐγνωρίζεις Ptoch. (Maiuri) 42; ἐγνωρίζει [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2240; ἐγνωρίζει SFRANTZIS, Chron. 22.19 νὰ ἐσμίξουν Chron. Mor. H 306 νὰ ἐφτάση Velth. 745; νὰ ἐφθάσουν Pol. Tr. 3025 app. crit. (A) ἐλησμονῶ Dig. E 153
ἐκαθίζει Achil. O 315 οὐκ ἐσαλεύεται Alosis 929 ἐδηγοῦμαι Krasop. V 83 δὲν ἐσιμώνει Peri xen. 96 συμπάθειο σοῦ ἐζητῶ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1983

In the case of nouns presenting /e/ prothesis, one may assume some sort of levelling within an etymological paradigm (a word family), whereby the verbal stem with lexicalized prothesis caused by the mechanisms described above spreads analogically to cognate nominal forms (MENARDOS 1925; TSOPANAKIS 1940: 79–81). In a different direction, the extension of the phenomenon leads to the subsequent reanalysis of this prothesis as an additional final vowel of the preceding clitic pronoun (see 2.6.3).

τοὺς ἐγκληρονόμους (981, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 8, 7.8) ἐγνώριμος (1288, Cos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 228.22) ἐγνήσιος Chron. Mor. H 8126; ἐγνήσιον Liv. V 149 ἐχρονίαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 18.30 τῶν ἐπταισμάτων Chron. Mor. P 39 app. crit. (P) οἱ ἐκτῆτορες (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 30, 164.7); ἐμεῖς οἱ ἐκτιτόροι (1636, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 24, 313.2) τὰς ἐλύπεις μου Liv. E 902 ἐγκρεμνοῦ BERGADIS, Apok. A 56 ἐξημία (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 31, 50–51.22) τῶν ἐπτωχῶν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 703; πολλή ἐπτώχεια (post 1666, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 23, 313.18) διὰ ἐμνημόσυνο (1659, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 24, 31.2) ἐθνησιμαῖον κρέας (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: B, 472.945)

In a geographically restricted region, which includes Cyprus and the Dodecanese, prothesis of /i/ in verbs also occurs. This can also be interpreted as reanalysis of the augment in areas where the syllabic augment takes the form /i/ <ῆ> instead of /e/ (Crete, Cyclades, Dodecanese; see III, 3.1.2.2–3). The influence of Turkish, which also exhibits the phenomenon, and which is apparent in the modern dialects of Asia Minor (Pontic, Livissi) with respect to /i/ prothesis, has also been invoked (cf. THUMB 1901: 144–7 pro; PERNOT 1907/46: I 232 contra). In areas where the ῆ- syllabic augment is not regular (e.g. Peloponnese, Heptanese¹² etc.), and where Turkish influence is less strong, it could be assumed that prothetic /i/ in verbs is analogically derived, on the basis of the few common verbs which do take an ῆ- augment irrespective of geographical provenance, such as φέρω-ῆφερα, ἐξεύρω-ῆξευρα (for these see III, 3.1.2.1). In isolated cases it may be the result of stem levelling on the basis of other allomorphs presenting initial /i/ (e.g. ἴστημι, ἴστω > ἰστήσουν). On the other hand, it is unlikely that the LMedG /i/ prothesis is connected with the characteristic Asia Minor /i/ prothesis before initial /s/ + stop clusters, which appears frequently in Late Antique and EMedG inscriptions from the area (cf. DIETERICH 1898: 34; DRESSLER 1965: 95–9; BRIKHE ²1987: 115–16; CONSANI 1999, with examples such as ἰστήλη, ἰστρατιώτης, ἰστουδασάντων, ἰστίλβουσα), since the last is restricted to s-initial clusters and makes no distinction between verbs and nouns. Some representative examples:

νὰ ἰστήσουν (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.54) ὅπου ἰστέκουν (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 275.29) νὰ τὸ ἰμοιράζουν (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 3, 150.8) νὰ ἰμοιράζουν (1501, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 65, 99.28) ἂν οὐκ ἰστρέψη DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1132 ἰμεράζουνε (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 40, 57.9) νὰ τὸ ἰβλέπη (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 2, 22.22) ἵνα ἡβλέπουν (1524, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 2, ιη'.25) διὰ νὰ ἡβλέπει KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 132.27

¹² For multiple attestations of prothetic /i/ in 16th-c. documents from Corfu see KARANTZOLA/LAVIDAS 2016: 139–40.

ἄδικον οὐκ ἠπράττεις Velis. χ 413 οὐδὲν ἰζεῖς LIMEN., Than. Rod. 540 transcr. (Lendari) νὰ μὴν ἠζοῦ P&N Diath. 1165 τὸν ἡμαντινιέρουσιν (1528, Santorini, FOSKOLOS 2012: B', 135.18) νὰ 'χεν ἰ-φτάσειν (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3.5) καὶ βάρος σᾶς ἰδίνω Diig. Vefa 709 ὅποιος ἰκτίσει (1705, Symi, GEORGA-VOLONAKI 1974: 1, 204.17)

2.6.1.2 Lexicalized Phonetic Prothesis

Phonetic prothesis in MedG and EMG is mostly due to false segmentation at word boundaries. The phenomenon is similar to, and connected with, the change of an initial vowel due to deletion as a means of hiatus resolution of consecutive vowels, whereby the weaker initial vowel (according to the vowel hierarchy) of the second word is deleted and the surviving, stronger final vowel of the first word is reanalysed as belonging to the second word, e.g. τὰ ἰχνάρια > τὰ 'χνάρια > τ' ἄχνάρια (see 2.9.3). It is difficult to decide whether in such cases one is dealing with deletion of an initial vowel (see 2.7.1), followed at some later period by phonetic prothesis, or with false segmentation leading to more or less synchronous replacement of one vowel by another. The first alternative is preferable in cases where the form with aphaeresis is widely attested (e.g. τὰ ὀδόντια > τὰ 'δόντια > τὰ δόντια > τ' ὀδόντια > τ' ὀδόντι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 654). The most frequent vowel in this type of prothesis is /a/, due to its greater phonological strength (see 2.9.2). In the case of nouns and adjectives, prothetic /a/ arises through coarticulation with the neut. pl. definite article τὰ or the indefinite pronouns/determiners μία and ἕνα, while in the case of verbs it arises through coarticulation with the particles νά, θενά, θά (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 229; ANDRIOTIS, Lex. s.v. ἀ- προθετικό; ΚΑΗΑΝΕ 1942).

Nouns and Adjectives

ἀχαίτη (1124, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 94, 123.3) ἀμάχην Pol. Tr. 2316 app. crit. (V); ἀμάχην (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 84.18) τὸ ἀπαλάτιον (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 18, 158.7) Ἄρουμπέρτος Chron. Mor. P 1185 οἱ ἀχριστιανοὶ Alosis 656 ἀδυστυχημένε DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 107 ἀσπίθα Pent. Gen. 15.17; ἀσπίθες Theseid I.67,8 (Follieri) οἱ ἀχελῶνες Spanos A 23; ἀχιλῶνα. (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 963) ἀπάπλωμαν Spanos B 110; ἀπαπλώματα (1640, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 4, 217.7) ὥραιον ἀμαξιλλάριν Liv. V 3760 ἕναν ἀζωγράφον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 340.15 ἀπήδημα ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 14.3
 εἰς τοὺς Ἀπαξοὺς (1534, Unknown, Tselikas/Koromila 2003: A, 72.18) τοὶ ἀμασκάλες P&N Diath. 2285; ἀμασκάλη, ἡ GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. ascella τ' ἀστηθιοῦ τση Pist. voskos I 1.234 τ' ἀχείλι ΡΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 42 καὶ ἀκτυπήματα Voustr., Chron. A 80.10 καὶ ἀσταφίδα του (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 57.9–10) τέξ ἀφοράδες (1642, Patmos, MICHAELARIS 1998: 1, 193.8) ἀγκίσθηρα (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), 28.12)

αἱ ἀναράϊδες Alex. Fyll. 79.8

Verbs

ἀχάνεις Chron. Mor. H 3574

ἀσηκώθη (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 4, 151.1) νὰ ἀκαρτερέσω Achil. N 1367; τοὺς ἀκαρτεροῦν (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 5, 25.24); μὴν ἀκαρτερῆς Alex. Rim. 22; νὰ τοῦ ἀκαρτερεῖ (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 58.34)

καὶ ἀτρέμει Achil. O 441 ἀβαλμένη (1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 176.18) πῦρ ἀπετᾶ Pol. Tr. 367 app. crit. (X); πετῶ, se dice anco ἀπετῶ GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. volare θέλω ἀπηδῆσει NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 2.7

καὶ ἀσυκοφάντησεν (1579, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 6, 93.2) εἶχα τόσο ἀκουραστῇ Fallidos 218

καὶ ἀφωνάζανε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 33.17

Prothesis of /o/ is rarer. It is mostly the result of coarticulation with the definite articles ὁ and τό, and therefore occurs only with nouns and adjectives and not with verbs:

τῶν ὁμαλλιών Velth. 690 ὀρυάκιν Dig. E 673; τὸ ὀρυάκι (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 9, 12.5) ὀνόστιμον Chron. Mor. H 6019; τὰ ὀνόστιμα DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 716 τὸ ὀπάπλωμα Pol. Tr. 489 app. crit. (A) ὀνόμιμη Chron. Mor. H 7381 (possible influence of ὄνομα?)

ποκάμισα ξξι. Ὁμπόλιες ξξι (1540, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 80, 60.6) τὰ ὀζά (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 8, 86.22)

τὸν ὀφανό CHORTATSIS, Katz. I.126

τὸν ὀμυαλόν Diig. Alex. F 176.9 (Lolos) ὀσπῆλαια Diig. Alex. E 107.8 (Konstantinopulos)

There are also a few cases of /i/ prothesis in nouns, without geographical restrictions, as a result of the reanalysis of the definite articles ἡ and οἱ; this is most common with monosyllabic words such as ἡ γῆς > ἰγῆς, ἡ δρύς > ἰδρύς, οἱ δύο > ἰδυό:

ἰδρῦς, ὀξίεις (1496, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 39, 185.12); ὁ ἰδρῦς Pist. voskos I 1.205 κριθάλευρον ἰψιλόν (15th c., ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΟΥ-ΑΓΟΡΑΣΤΟΥ 1982: 84.21) (confusion with ὑψηλός) τὴν ἰγῇ Pent. Gen. 1.1; εἰς τὴν ἡγῆν Epain. gyn. 673 app. crit.; στὴν ἡγῆν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 110 τῶν ἰδυό CHORTATSIS, Erof. IV.44

τοῦ δὲ ἰσταχώματος (1561, Unknown, LAPPA-ZIZIKA/RIZOU-KOULOPOY 1991: 107, 221.4)

ἐναν ἰμήναν Apoll. Rim. N 775

2.6.1.3 Non-phonetic Prothesis

On the analogy of ἐκεῖνος and ὅποιος a number of pronouns and conjunctions have acquired a prothetic ἐ- or ὀ- (see II, 5.5; II, 5.8):

ἐτέτοια Chron. Mor. H 273 ἐτοῦτοι Chron. Mor. H 1962; ἐτοῦτα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 262 ἔμὸς αὐθέντης πέφυκεν, ἔσος υἱὸς τυγχάνει Achil. O 99 (ἔμὸς – σός > ἔμὸς – ἔσος) ἔτόσον Chron. Mor. H 3671; ἔτόσο μεγάλο Efthym., Chron. Gal. 59.22–3 ὀκάπου Poulol. 15; BERGADIS, Apok. A 305 ὀκάποθεν Poulol. 290

 ὀδιά (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 147.11) ὀδιά (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.11) ὀδίχως Assizes A 28.21
 ὀτόσον Assizes B 358.20–1

Less clear is the origin of prothetic /i/ and /e/ in nominal forms, especially those stemming from areas where the phenomenon is not attested dialectally in the modern period, those which do not begin with complex consonant clusters, and those which do not derive from verbs, in which case an extension of the augmented verbal stem (as described above in 2.6.1.1) is no longer a possible cause:

ἱμερίδι Chron. Mor. H 1025 ἱγονικά Chron. Mor. H 1258 τὸ ἱμοιράδι μου (1327–8, Peloponnese, VRANOUSI 1981: B, 26.5) τὸ ἱσυνητισμένον διάφορον (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 72, 184.8–9) ὄλην τὴν ἱποσότητα (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 10, 47.13) ἔναν ἱσπίτι (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 7, 35.13) εἶχαν κάποια ἰχωράφια (1667, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 37, 39.4–5) τὸ ἱπόπολο DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 604 ἡθελήσεως (1666, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: IX, 75.3) ἑθήκη ξύλινος (1142, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 7, 75.44) ἑλατίνικον Assizes A 70.23 ἑμοιχείαν Assizes A 162.31 τὸ ἑριζικό Chron. Mor. P 2482 εγυμνό DEFAR., Sos. 220 (Holton) ἑμυαλὸς ὁ GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. cervello ἔνα φόρτουμα χαρτιά καλά, ἐπιλά (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 6, 64.7)

In verse texts the variable application of prothesis may be due to metrical reasons, i.e. to the necessity to supply an additional syllable.

2.6.2 Anaptyxis

Anaptyxis is the insertion of a vowel word-internally for the breaking up of a consonant cluster. In most cases, one of the consonants involved is a liquid or nasal, and the anaptyctic vowel is usually /i/, the weakest in the vowel hierarchy, and less frequently /u/, especially if one of the two members of the cluster is a velar or labial consonant (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 109; DIETERICH 1898: 41, 277). Anaptyxis is especially frequent in cases of loanwords containing consonant clusters not permissible in the phonotactics of MedG. The phenomenon was already extant, but marginal, in AG; a number of instances can be found in Koine papyri and in EMedG glossaries, e.g. ἑθινῶν, τεχνιταῖς (DIETERICH 1898: 42; GIGNAC 1981: 311–12).

Anaptyxis is a relatively rare and sporadic phenomenon, appearing only in low-register texts, irrespective of geographical provenance (see also MINAS ²2003: 41). However, a few common lexical items present /u/ anaptyxis relatively early as a lexicalized phenomenon: ἰγδίον > γουδί, γρώνιον > γουρούνι, εὐνοῦχος > μνοῦχος > μουννοῦχος, cf. also the adaptation of Pers. kamkha as καμουχάς (PERNOT 1907/46: I 159; KRIARAS, Lex. s.vv.). A lexicalized case of anaptyxis occurs in the univerbation of the Cretan adverb εἰς μίον > ζιμιό (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 119–21; KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.).

- τοῦ ἔφεχεσθαι ἤπερ ἰμῶν / τοῦ εὔεχεσθαι ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν (1171, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 178, 233.11)
 ὁ κυρὸς Ἀλιπέρτος (12th c., S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 68, 152.5) βιβιλία (1363, Cyprus, COUROPOU/GÉHIN 2001: 3, 157.1) βιβιλιὸν Cypr. Canz. 2.9 μουσουλουμάνοι Anak. Konst. 85 ἡ Σίφουνος (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 103.10); εἰς τὴν Σίφουνον (1673, Sikinos, ZERLENDIS 1913a: 138.13) ὄνὸς ἀσιλανιοῦ (1603, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 5, 20.2); ἀσιλάνι (1663, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 401, 249.12) μὲ τὴν ἐφική μου (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 79.73) < εὐχή τῶν ὀχουθρῶ μας FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.318; μ' ὀχουθρούς TROILOS, Rodol. I.167 νὰ πουσούνισω FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.402 ἀδελιφοί (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 4, 5.1); ἡ ἀδελιφή (1659, ibid. 9, 9.5) ἀτιλάζι (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 137.13) Γαδουροπινηήκτης / Γαδουροπινίκτης (ca. 1700, Peloponnese, TSIOURAKI 1971: B', 171.9)

Two further subcases of anaptyxis may be distinguished:

a) The breaking up of consonant clusters as a dialectal characteristic of the “northern” dialects (PAPADOPOULOS 1926: 22–3) occurs in documents from Macedonia (KATSANIS 2000: 219 and 2012: 45), Thessaly and Epirus. It is possible that at least some instances of this phenomenon are the results of hypercorrection of high vowel deletion, with dialect speakers feeling that a consonant cluster is the result of their own tendency to delete unstressed /i/ and /u/ and inserting these vowels even when the cluster is original-etymological (see 2.5.4):

- χαλουβατζής (1649–69, Thessaly, SPANOS 2001: 360, f.96r.7) ψαλιτήρια (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 10, 307, f.2r.2) τοῦ Ψαλιτήρος PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.21 μουφουλούζιδις (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 49.15–16) < Turk. müfliüs να μι βηγάλις / νὰ μὴ βιγάλεις (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.21) ὁ κόζουμους (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 54.6) < κόσμος ἡς το σιπιτι / εἰς τὸ σιπίτι (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 56.13)

b) Anaptyctic vowels may appear in texts written by almost illiterate authors, who write out each syllable separately in an artificial CVCV structure (cf. TSOUKNIDAS 2002/03: 101, KARANTZOLA/PAPAIIOANNOU 2010: 292–3; KATSANIS 2012: 45). This is not a true phonetic change, but rather a graphematic phenomenon due to the author's imperfect command of writing. Similar graphematic phenomena appear also in ancient inscriptions and Koine papyri (THREATTE 1980: 407–8; GIGNAC 1976: 311–12). In texts written in northern areas, it is difficult to distinguish this phenomenon from the previous one:

ὑπιγραψι (1422, Meteora, VEIS 1911/12: 15, 55.29) μαρυτηρό / μαριτυρῶ (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 31, 51.37) του Αγίου ποροφητου (1645, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 11, 24.2–3) Ἀγιο-Τ{η}ρύφωνα (1673, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 19, 130.6)

2.6.3 Addition of Word-final Vowel

The term refers to the phenomenon traditionally termed “paragoge” in grammars of AG, and “parektasis” in manuals of Greek language history. Another frequently employed term for this phenomenon is “extension”, which has been avoided here because of its already heavy semantic load in the domain of linguistics, although the term “extended forms” is used as the data require.¹³

A final vowel, most frequently /e/ and less frequently /a/, is added to inflected and uninflected forms ending in a consonant. The underlying causes of the phenomenon may be phonological, i.e. a general tendency of the Greek language towards open syllables (cf. MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2001: 201). Due to the phonotactic restrictions of MedG, the phenomenon always appears with inflectional suffixes ending in /n/ and /s/, the only two permissible final consonants in MedG and MG. However, because of the much higher proportion of extended forms after /n/ than after /s/ (which are regionally restricted, such as the clitic forms τῶσε, τοῦσε),¹⁴ it is quite possible to argue for an ultimately prophylactic origin for addition of /e/, triggered by the strong tendency for final /n/ deletion (JANNARIS 1897: 550–1; see also 3.7.2). It cannot be accidental that the areas where addition of /e/ is most common are also the areas where deletion of final /n/ operates more generally, affecting a larger number of environments.

Be that as it may, the immediate causes of final vowel addition are partly morphological (resegmentation at word boundaries in phonological phrases with words beginning with /e/) or purely morphological, i.e. analogy on the basis of similar forms (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 71; PERNOT 1907/46: I 92–4). For example, the added final /e/ in clitic pronouns is in all probability due to reanalysis from instances where the pronoun was proclitic to a past verb form beginning with the augment, or to a verb form originally beginning with an /e/ subsequently lost through lexicalized aphaeresis, e.g. τὸν ἐπῆρα → τόνε πῆρα, ἐκεῖνον εὐρίσκω → ἐκεῖνονε βρίσκω (see also 2.6.1.1). An early source may also have been the evolution of the new preverb ξε- from past tense stems in ἐξε-, e.g. πῶς νὰ τὴν ἐξεπλέξω ¹³ See CRYSTAL 2008, s.v. extension, for various senses of the term.

¹⁴ Contrast modern dialectal variants from Chios and S. Italy, such as ὁ μύλος-ε, ὁ λύκος-ε (KARANASTASIS 1997: 56), τοὺς ξένους-ε (PERNOT 1907: 93) which are truly due to a tendency for open syllables irrespective of the final consonant, probably under the influence of local Romance dialects.

Eisit. f.8r.16; νὰ μᾶς ἐξεμαυλίσουν Chron. Mor. H 1173. Similarly, the MedG and MG preposition σέ derives from εἰς through false segmentation in the frequent collocations with pronouns starting with ἐ-, e.g. εἰς ἐμένα, εἰς ἐκεῖνον → εἰσὲ μένα, εἰσὲ ἑκεῖνον, with subsequent deletion of the unstressed initial vowel (see 2.7.1). This type of addition is largely euphonic and optional, appearing usually when the following word begins with a consonant or at the end of a phrase/clause.

Addition of a final vowel as a permanent morphological change, creating new inflectional allomorphs, constitutes a different type. It is mostly to be found in the verbal system, which consists of complex interacting subparadigms and where multiple analogical forces, such as tendencies for columnar stress, parisyllabicity, homophony etc., are at play (see BABINIOTIS 1972: 192–202 and PANDELIDIS 2008 for a detailed account). This type of addition may be optional, but is not determined by the phonetic environment; its optionality is the normal variation seen during the spread of a morphological change. An example of such a morphologically driven change is the final /e/ appearing in the 3 pl. active or the 1 sg. passive imperfect: the forms ἔγραφαν > (ἐ)γράφαν > (ἐ)γράφανε and ἔγραφόμην > (ἐ)γραφόμουν > (ἐ)γραφόμουνε / ἔγραφόμουνα may be due to a tendency for stress in all past verb forms to fall on the antepenultimate syllable (see 4.2.4). As another example, the plural suffixes of the active present were disyllabic in AG (-ομεν, -ετε, -ουσι), a situation that was partly maintained in MedG and remains so in several MG dialects; however, the innovative variant ending -ουν was monosyllabic, a situation remedied by the development of a final -ε, i.e. -ουν > -ουνε (see III, 4.1.1.1). The specific timbre of the vowel added on to a verbal suffix in the interests of systemic symmetry depends on the phonetic form of the other inflectional morphemes in the same paradigm; for example, in the 3 pl. active present it takes the form /e/ on the analogy of the 1 and 2 pl. By contrast, the /a/ addition in the singular of the passive imperfect is due to the analogy of the active imperfect and the passive aorist (ἔγραφα – ἐγράφηκα – γραφόμεν-α).

Because, as already mentioned, most cases of /e/ addition appear after final /n/, a shift of morpheme boundary led to the development of a new suffix -νε, e.g. γράφουσιν > γράφουσιν-ε > γράφουσι-νε. The new suffix can be added to verbal endings which etymologically do not end in /n/, e.g. γράφετε > γράφετε-νε.

A different case, which in fact should not be included under the heading of final vowel addition at all, as it does not constitute a phonetic or analogical change, is the suffixation of a stressed deictic particle -έ or -νά to demonstrative pronouns and adverbs, e.g. τουτοινά, ἐκεινοσέ (see II, 5.5.1).

Finally, note that in cases of semi-literate scribes, a final vowel may be added to a closed syllable both word-internally and word-finally, e.g.:

τῆς Ἀγίας Μαρίνασα / τῆς Ἀγίας Μαρίνασα (1674, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 50, 47.4–5); η ξενοσω η εδικσω / ἡ ξένοσο ἡ ἐδικόσο (1674, ibid. 50, 47.7); μαραττηρεσε αξιοπησι / μάρατυρεσε ἀξιόπιστοι (17th c., ibid. 114, 84.9); πουλούνου καὶ παραδίδουνου (1674, ibid.
50, 47.3)

Ἄγιο-Τ{η}ρύφωνα τῆς{η} Παναγίας{α} (1673, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 19, 130.6); τῶ<ν> καλογέρων{ο} (ibid. 130.6); γιὰ τὸ ἀληθές{ε} (ibid. 130.11)

This is not a true case of vowel addition, but a purely graphematic phenomenon, betraying the scribe's inadequate reading and writing skills, and is common also in AG and MG texts of similarly low level (see 2.6.2).

In general, in the nominal domain, the earliest attestations of the phenomenon concern the addition of final /e/ to 3rd person clitic pronominal forms (τον > τονε), a phenomenon which seems already well established in the 15th c. and is quite common, both in literary and non-literary texts, and geographically unrestricted. Addition of final /e/ to other pronouns, such as demonstrative, indefinite etc. (αὐτόν > αὐτόνε) in forms ending in /n/ also appears in the 15th c., again without geographical restrictions, but less commonly. From the 16th c., very rarely, and from the 17th more frequently, one finds addition of final /e/ to nouns and adjectives (καλόν > καλόνε, παιδιῶν > παιδιῶνε), but with severe geographical restrictions: the phenomenon concerns mostly the Heptanese, and less consistently the Peloponnese, the Cyclades and Crete, corroborated by modern dialectal evidence. Addition of final /a/ is to be found only in the personal and demonstrative pronouns, without geographical restrictions.

In the verbal domain, the earliest and most widespread instances involve the 3 pl. active γράφουν > γράφουνε, ἔγραφαν > γράφανε etc., as well as the imperfect of the copula ἦτονε, all of which appear in the 15th c. From the 16th c. onwards, all verbal suffixes may occasionally display addition of final /e/, which is almost exclusive to Crete, the Cyclades and the Heptanese. Addition of a whole syllable -νε is characteristic of Crete, the Cyclades and Chios. Addition of final /a/ is to be found mostly in the passive voice, with similar geographical restrictions.

The morphological categories affected by addition of word-final vowel are presented in more detail in the following sections.

2.6.3.1 Nouns and Adjectives

In LMedG and EMG, addition of final /e/ in nouns and adjectives appears in the forms that end in /n/, never those in /s/. The forms involved are the masc. acc. sg. (-ον > -ονε / -όν > -όνε) and the masc./fem./neut. gen. pl. (-ων > -ωνε / -ῶν > -ῶνε). Pronouns and pronominal determiners following the inflectional paradigm of adjectives in -ος also present addition of /e/, in a wider geographical area (see 2.6.3.2).

Final vowel addition in the masc. acc. sg. is attested, from the 16th c. onwards, only in the paradigms of nouns and adjectives in -ος, irrespective of stress. For nouns, examples have been located only from the Heptanese, but for adjectives there are attestations also from Mani, Crete and the Cyclades (see II, 2 passim and II, 3.2); a special case are the determiners ἄλλος and ὅλος, which display the phenomenon more commonly, due to their pronominal status (see II, 5.10.1 and II, 5.13.1.1). The frequency of such forms is very low; they appear mostly before a consonant and are always in alternation with forms without addition.

⁷κ τὸν τάφονε τοῦ Σίρεως Alex. Rim. 548 μὲ τὸ(ν) ληνόνε (1569 [late 17th-/early 18th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 475.15); ἔνα κομμάτι τόπονε κήπονε διὰ σπιτότοπον (1604, ibid. 510.5–6) κέρασσε τὸν ξένονε MONTSEL., Evgena 1074 ζουρλόνε τονέ λέσι CHORTATSI, Katz. I.158 έμπιστεμένονε, άληθινόνε καί άξιο (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 307.20) νά τον έχη μαθημένονε (1666, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 1, 144.9–10) εΐχε παχτωμένονε (1678, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 246, 222.35) νά μήν τονε άφήση χέρισονε (1708, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 47, 83.8) = χέρσον άλλονε δέν έχω μπιστεμένον TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 243 πλέον παρ' άλλονε τινά KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XVIII.476 κι ένας τόν άλλονε Rim. Sant. 436 νά βάλης άλλονε κουμέσιο (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 3, 362.11) όλονε (1688, Andros, POLEMIS 2001: 8, 107.6) όχ τόν κόσμον όλονε SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. A1v.23 έπήρε τόν Μορέαν όλονε (1715, Stefani, LAMBROS 1910: 362, 213.2) καλύτερά 'χει τούς πολλούς παρή ένα μοναχόνε KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.676

Addition of final /e/ in the gen. pl. appears in the case of masc. nouns ending in -ας, -ης and -ος, neuter nouns in -ιον/-ι, and -μα, as well as adjectives in -ος. In most categories, the phenomenon is restricted to the Heptanese. The only paradigms where addition in the gen. pl. extends to other areas are masc. nouns and adjectives in -ος, and neut. nouns in -ιον/-ι, especially oxytone ones. Forms appear from the Peloponnese, Cythera and Crete, and are corroborated by SMG data, where forms like χρονώνε, παιδιώνε, χαρτιώνε are acceptable in a colloquial style. It has been suggested (BABINIOTIS 1972: 195) that the allomorphs with final /e/ appear mostly with oxytone nouns due to a tendency to avoid the transgression of the Law of Limitation in the case of a following clitic. As in the case of the acc. sg., the affected forms appear from the 16th c. onwards, are very rare, and are always in variation with forms without final addition, conditioned mostly by the phonetic environment.

Masc. gen. pl.

έξι μηνώνε (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2008: 2, 252.10).
 τοῦ άγοραστάδωνε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 27, 47.17) (for the article τοῦ see II, 5.2.1) τῶ μαθητάδωνε (1667, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 3, 146.21) τῶν δουλευτάδωνε (1672, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 16, 49.6–7) τῶν πτωχώνε (1509, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1950: 1, 144.14) τοῦν άνιψώνε του (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 15, 39.7); χρονώνε δύο (ibid., 60.14) τῶν λαγώνε SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. C8v.23 τῶν προεστώνε (1666, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 4, 198.299) τῶ Φραγκώνε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 262.3
 τῶν άνωθεν άμπασαδόρω καί κουμέσωνε (1571, Mani, CHASIoTIS 1970: 5, 239.15) τὸ κόρσο τοῦ Τούρκωνε (1644, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 288, 227.23–4) τοῦ Γιαννικακαίωνε (1653, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 215, 187.61) τῶν αὐτώνε συντρόφωνε (1689, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 40, 74.11) Άναστάση καί Φράγκου Πετράτωνε (1698, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 250, 158.2) τῶν άνωθεν έπιτρόπωνε (1708, Peloponnese, PAPADOPOULOS 1976: 6, 124.25) τῶν συνόδωνε SPANOS, Grammar 31.12
 άπό τῶ πτωχώνε | άρχόντω BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 250.5–6

Fem. gen. pl.

καμιά τῶν γυναικῶνε MONTSEL., Evgena 1512 τῶν άνωθε γυναικῶνε (1649, Kefalonia, PETROPOULOS 1962: B.3, 311.11–12) τῶν ἄξιων γυναικῶνε KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.419

 τῶν κοπελλῶνε (1670, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1948: 241.4) τοῦ θυατερῶνε μου (1639, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 139, 125.19) τῶν σταφιδωνέ του (1653, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 215, 186.48)

Neut. gen. pl.

τοῦ μπραμάτωνε (1644, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 296, 233.5) τοῦ μανδριῶνε (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 15, 93.23) τῶν θηλυκῶν παιδιῶνε (1672, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 4, 119.89) τῶν ὑποστατικῶνε του (1653, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 215, 186.42) τῶν ἀδελφιῶνε μου (1688, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 110, 64.7) δώδεκα δουκάτωνε ἀμπέλι (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 37, 55.35) ὁμοίως καὶ τοῦ καρabiῶνε Reb. Evr. 105.7 δουκάτωνε εἴκοσι ἑπτὰ (1649, Kefalonia, PETROPOULOS 1962: B.3, 311.8)

2.6.3.2 Pronouns

The pronoun categories where addition of final vowel appears are the personal, demonstrative, relative, contrastive, interrogative and indefinite pronouns, and the quantifiers ἄλλος and ὅλος.

In personal pronouns, the addition of final vowel appears in the strong forms of the 1st and 2nd person acc. sg., in the weak forms of the 1st and 2nd person pl. gen./acc., and the 3rd person acc. sg., gen. pl. and masc. acc. pl. In the case of strong pronouns, it takes place in consecutive steps: first, addition of /a/, appearing already before the period under investigation (ἐμέν > ἐμένα, ἐσέν > ἐσένα) and geographically unrestricted, then addition of final /n/, and further addition of /e/, appearing from the 15th c. onwards only in Crete, the Heptanese and the Peloponnese. The multiple consecutive extensions of the AG pronoun ἐμέ > ἐμέν > ἐμένα > ἐμέναν > ἐμένανε are discussed and interpreted in CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 56–7, DRESSLER 1966a: 55–6 and FLORISTÁN IMÍZCOZ 1990: 188–9; see also II, 5.3.1.

εἰς ἐμένανε FALIEROS, Ist. On. 328 μ' ἐμένανε MONTSEL., Evgena 437 ἐπάρτην ἐσύ διὰ τ' ἐμένανεν Bertoldin. 149.19–20 σὲ μένανε (1604 [copy of 1695], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 508.3) ἐμένανε χαρίζου Zinon I.161 μετὰ σένανε MONTSEL., Evgena 304 κ' Ἑσένανε ἀφήκασι, τὸν ποιητὴ καὶ κτίστη DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 1059 κ' ἐσένανε, ἀξάδερφε Zinon III.188

In the case of the weak (clitic) forms of the 1st and 2nd persons pl., attestations of final /e/ addition are found from the late 15th c., and are mostly due, as already discussed, to reanalysis in the case of a following verb bearing the augment. Many editors indeed prefer to spell this /e/ as a prothetic initial vowel on the verb, rather than as an addition to the proclitic pronoun (e.g. μᾶς ἐκάμουν instead of μᾶσε κάμουν – see 2.6.1.1). Because this type of addition appears after final /s/ and not after final /n/ (μᾶς > μᾶσε, σᾶς > σᾶσε), it is much less widespread than in the 3rd person (τον > τονε, τῶν > τῶνε). Another difference from 3rd person pronouns is that the phenomenon never occurs when the clitic is post-verbal (see ΚΑΦΚΑΛΑΣ 2000: 112 for the modern Cretan distribution). It is comparatively frequent only in Cretan literary and non-literary texts, and may also occur in documents from Mani and the Cyclades:

- νὰ μὴ μᾶς ἐγνωρίσουν Liv. V 4472 νὰ μᾶσε φέρη CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 676 θέλει μᾶσε πατάξει SKLAVOS, Symf. 144 κι ὅλους μᾶσε κομπώνου CHORTATIS, Erof. I.462 μᾶσε φοβερίζουνε (1659, Hydra, KARATHANASIS 1972/73: 241.2) πὼς εἴμεστα πρόντοι ὅ,τι ὥρα μᾶσε κρᾶξη (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 5, 34.3) μᾶσε κουμαντάρουν (1696, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 47, 141.31) νὰ μᾶσε βοηθήση Trag. Ag. Dim. III.435 παιγνίδι μᾶσε φαίνεται KORNAROS, Erot. I.1629 ἂν σᾶς ἐλησμονήσω Arm. 115 νὰ σᾶσε φωτίση Alosis 473 transcr. (Lendari) (Legrand: σᾶς ἐφ.) σᾶς ἐστέλνομε (1571, Mani, CHASIOITIS 1970: 5, 239.9) τὰ σᾶσε θέλω ὀρίσει Thysia Avr. 249 θελί σαςσε φαγνι / θέλει σᾶσε φανῇ (1668, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 15, 421.5) σᾶσε ζητῶ CHORTATIS, Katz. I.63

Concerning the 3rd person pronoun, addition of final /e/ is attested since the 15th c. in the case of the acc. sg., masc. and fem. Although not very frequent, it appears more commonly than any other case of final vowel addition in the nominal system, being geographically unrestricted. Also, in contrast to 1st and 2nd person clitics, addition appears both in preverbal and postverbal position. The ultimate analogical origin of this addition from past verbal forms bearing the augment, as in the previous case, leads to many manuscript and editorial spellings with a prothetic vowel on the verb (e.g. τὸν ἐκάμνω instead of τόνε κάμνω). Stress marking is also often editorial: these clitic forms do not bear stress.

- τονε ἐφαριστίσσομεν / τόνε εὐκαριστήσομεν (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 467.5) ἵνα τὸν ἐπρολάβω / ἵνα τόνε προλάβω Dig. E 1134 app. crit. (Jeffreys) νὰ τονε παιδεύσωμεν Dig. E 1356 (Alexiou) τόνε λέγει Velth. 524 νὰ τὸν ἐπηράξη / νὰ τονε πειράξει (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 26, 164.14) νὰ τόνε κεφαλίωνω (1679, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: XIII, 76.11) ἔβαλέ τονε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 159.23 ἀβηζάρωντάς τοναι / ἀβιζάρωντάς τονε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 1, 79.24) σκύφτω καὶ προσκυνῶ τονε P&N Diath. 690 θέλω καὶ ἀφήνω τονε κλερονόμο (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 198.152–3) παρακαλεῖ τονε (1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 7, 20.18) εἶδα τονε / εἶδα τονε GERMANO, Grammar 50.2 Θεὸς σχωρέσ' τονε (1696, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 6, 213.10) νὰ τὴν ἐρμᾶζουν / νὰ τήνε ρημάζουν Chron. Toc. 59 νὰ τήνε πρικάνης (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.4) νὰ τήνε ντεφεντέρομεν (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.18–19) καὶ νὰ σὲ τὴν ἐσηκώση LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 453 app. crit. (L) νὰ τήνε διασίσσει / νὰ τήνε διασεῖσει (1532, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 24, 74.19) καὶ ἐντασάρασίν τηνε (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 46.19) ξν τηνε FALIEROS, Ist. On. 248 ἀναστήσαν τηναί / ἀναστήσαν τηνε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 22, 100.17) ἐδεαλέασέν τηνε (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 31.22) ἐδιαβάσαμε τηνε (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.4) ἡξεύρωτηνε / ἡξεύρω τηνε GERMANO, Grammar 50.3

The gen. pl. of the 3rd person clitic presents several allomorphs (see II, 5.3.2.6), some of which involve final vowel addition. The areas in which the phenomenon is attested are Crete, the Cyclades and the Peloponnese. It occurs both in preverbal and in postverbal/postnominal position with τῶνε, only postnominally with τοῦνε and only preverbally with τῶσε, τοῦσε:

ἄντρες νὰ τῶνε δώσης FALIEROS, Log. did. 285 τῆς κοπελὸς τῶνε (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.24) τί τῶνε φωνάζει Imb. Rim. 818 ἡ μάνα τῶνε (1562, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 130, 249.1) τὰ ἐπίλοιπα τῶνε καλὰ (1591, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 35, 179.22) σὲ κάθα των–ε χρεῖα P&N Diath. 1774 δῶσ' τῶνε τὸ φῶς CHORTATIS, Katz. I.15 νὰ μὴ μπορῇ νὰ τῶνε πάρη περισσότερο (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 5, 28.10–11) τὴν πληρωμὴ τους τῶνε ἀνέβασε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 51.5–6 μὲ σπῆζες ἀνάμεσά τωνε (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 853, 744.7–8) οἱ δυὸ τωνε (1672, Milos, CHATZIDAKIS I. 1927: A, 295.14) μὲ τὴν φελούκα τωνε (1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 7, 20.7) δόστονε σωτηρία / δῶσ' τῶνε σωτηρία Rim. Sant. 127 εἰς τὰς χύρας τουναί / εἰς τὰς χεῖρας τουνε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 22, 100.17) ἡ μάνα τουνε (1589, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 338, 283.12) μὲ τοὺς καπεταναίους τουνε (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 5, 261.8) κληρονομους στουνε / κληρονόμους τουνε (1622, Crete, MALTEZOU 1989: 359.32) ἀγάπη τῶσε–ε φέρνει P&N Diath. 2473; νὰ τῶσε–ε βοηθήσετε ibid. 5167 ἀποὺ τὸ ἀμπέλι ὁποὺ κρατεῖ ὅ,τι τῶσε τοκάρει (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 41, 61.27) νὰ τῶσε δώσει Thysia Avr. 503 νὰν τῶς ἐμετρᾶ (1671, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 3, 578.22)

The masc. acc. pl. displays addition of a final /e/ from the 15th c. onwards, comparatively rarely, but without geographical restriction. The phenomenon occurs only preverbally:

τοὺς ἐσταίνου / τοῦσε σταίνου Byz. Il. 243 νὰ τοὺς ἐδώσουν Achil. O 227 τοῦσε φέρης Alosis 607 transcr. (Lendari) (Legrand: τοὺς ἐφ.) νὰ τοὺς ἐδόσει LIMEN., Than. Rod. 75 transcr. (Lendari) (scr. τοῦσε δώση) νὰ τοῦσε δεηθοῦμεν MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 46 τοῦσε γυρίζω FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 25 δὲ θέλουν τοῦσε σώσει Prol. Epain. Kef. 64 νὰ τοὺς ἐκάμη ἀγάπην Vios Aisop. I 282.15–16

Insofar as the gen. pl. τῶν/τῶς forms part of the complex pronouns δικός μου and ἀπατός μου, final vowel addition appears also in the domain of possessive and identifying pronouns:

δικός τωνε (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 173.11) ἀπατοί τωνε (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 331, 313.10) τήν ἐδική τωνε (1671, Syros, VISVIZIS 1965: 11, 95.3) στὰ δικά ντωνε σπίτια Trag. Ag. Dim. II.25

Furthermore, the relative pronoun τόν/τήν/τό, being morphologically identical to the 3rd person clitic, presents, though only very rarely, forms with addition of final /e/ in the acc. sg., since the 15th c. (see II, 5.9.1.2). In such cases it is best viewed as prothesis on the verb:

νὰ ἔλθῃ ὁ μητροπολίτης, | ἐκεῖνος, τόνε λέγουσιν ὁ τῆς Παλαιᾶς Πάτρας Chron. Mor. H 2684 αὐτήν, τήνε θωρεῖς ἐδῶ μοῦ ᾿δῶκασι CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 710

In demonstrative pronouns, which follow the inflectional pattern of -ος adjectives, addition of final /e/ appears in the masc. and fem. acc. sg. (-ον > -ονε, -ην > -ηνε) and in the gen. pl. (-ων > -ωνε). Its distribution is wider than that observed for the corresponding adjectives, and its frequency is higher; it also appears earlier than in adjectives, namely from the 15th c. The areas where the phenomenon is attested are the Heptanese, the Peloponnese, the Cyclades, Crete and Chios (see II, 5.5.1).

κ' ἐκείνονε παρακαλῶ Theseid Prol. E 257 κ' εἰς τὸν δρυμῶνα τούτονε Theseid V.37,8 (1529) ἐκείνονε ἐκλέξασι Chron. Mor. P 7867 στὸν πόλεμον ἐτοῦτονε KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua III.113 εἰς αὐτόνε Rim. kor. A 156 ἔξ αὐτόνε (1564, Corfu, TZIVARA 2003: 32, 491.11) στὸν φόβο τούτονε MONTSEL., Evgena 424 τὸν καιρὸ ἐκείνονε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 54.27 τέτιονε / τέτοιονε GERMANO, Grammar 50.2 ἐτούτηνε Peri xen. 237 app. crit. (A) σ' ἐκείνηνε Alex. Rim. 2848 αὐτήνε νὰ ἀμπατάρωμεν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 391, 387.31) κάγηκεν γι' αὐτήνε VEST., Paid. Makkav. 981 τούτηνε τὴν αὐτὴ ντονατζιό (1646, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 77, 194.10–11) τουτωνῶνε PORTIUS, Grammar 68.12 ἐκείνωνε τῶν περισσότερων (1716, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969d: 1, 42.18)

Addition of final /e/ appears, rarely, also in the gen. pl. of the quantifiers ἄλλος and ὅλος, but has so far only been found in texts from the Peloponnese and the Heptanese:

εἶναι ἄλλουνῶνε (1683, Glarentsa, KONOMOS 1969e: 63.13) ὀλονόνε μας / ὀλωνῶνε μας (1605, Koroni, MERTZIOS 1960: 21.12) ολονόνε το χοριόνε / ὀλωνῶνε τῷ χωριῶνε (1666, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 4, 198.299)

Demonstrative pronouns also display addition of final /a/, probably on the analogy of the personal pronouns ἐμένα, ἐσένα (see II, 5.5.1). The forms affected are the masc. and fem. acc. sg. (-ον > -ονα, -ην > -ηνα). The phenomenon appears from the 15th c., and does not seem to be geographically restricted:

ἐβγάν(ει) ἀπ' αὐτόναν κρασί (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 82, 64.3) ἐτούτονα Peri xen. 130 app. crit. (V) ἐνίκησαν αὐτόνα Diig. Alex. Sem. S 43 ἀπ' τὸν σευδὰ ἐτούτονα Diig. Vefa 426 τὰς ἔπαθα δι' αὐτήν Liv. V 1094 χωρὶς αὐτήνα Diig. Vefa 782; τὴν καλwsύνην τούτηνα ibid. 848

A further type of final accretion is also to be found with demonstrative pronouns: the suffixation with an accented deictic particle $-(v)\acute{\epsilon}$, $-(v)\acute{\alpha}$, which, as discussed above, does not properly constitute an instance of vowel addition, as it involves addition of a whole morpheme, which imparts a strongly deictic meaning. This is especially characteristic of Cretan, but may also appear in the Dodecanese and Chios.¹⁵ ἐτούτονὲ τὸ σπήλιο εἶναι δικό μας Vosk. 192 στή βάρδια τουτηνὲ CHORTATIS, Katz. II.79; νὰ τουτονὲ τὸ χάρισμα! ibid. III.467 εἰς τοῦτονὲ τὸ φόνο Zinon II.97 εἰς τουτονὰ νὰ πῶ καὶ νὰ ριμάρω LIMEN., Than. Rod. 184 τουτονὰ GERMANO, Grammar 86.22 ἐκείνονὰ ὀλονομπρὸς νὰ σώση FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.287 ἐτουτηνάν Peri xen. 237 (ms V) τέτοιανα δουλεῖα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 432 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: τετοιανὰ); πῶς ἀποθαίνουν τουτοινα ibid. 258 (τοῦτοι νὰ ms) ἐτουτεσὰ τς ἀθιβολὲς FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.88

In indefinite pronouns, addition of final /e/ appears in the masc. acc. sg. of the numeral and pronoun εἷς/ἕνας and the pronouns μηδεῖς, κανεῖς, καθεῖς, πᾶσα εἷς, in Crete, the Heptanese, the Peloponnese and Chios (see II, 5.8.5–11 and II, 5.13.1.5):

τον ἕνανε κριτὴν DEFAR., Sos. 247 (Holton) ἕνανε ἄλλονε (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 3, 362.4) ἕνανε ποὺ ἔχε κλέπτει KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.735 ἔκ τῶν νέων δὲ μηδένανε ἐκεῖ τοτ' ἐκαλέσαν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.96 μὴ μοῦ βάλεις κανένανε σύνδροφο (1612, Monemvasia region, BROUSKARI 1981: 316.72) πεῖραξη νὰ μὴν ἔχη ἀπὸ κανεῖνε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 6, 33.34)

ἐγὼ δὲν ζητῶ κανένανε Bertoldos 23.19

εἰςὲ πᾶσα ἕνανε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 11, 36.24)

In interrogative pronouns, addition of final /e/ appears in the masc. acc. sg. of the pronoun ποῖος only in the Heptanese, and of the pronoun τις only in Chios (see II, 5.7.1.1 and II, 5.8.1): μὲ ποῖονε τὴν ἔστειλες MONTSEL., Evgena 869; τίνανε GERMANO, Grammar 50.2.

¹⁵ Reanalysis creating a new suffix $-ve$ added on to suffixes ending in a vowel is marginally attested in Naxos: ζητοῦν καὶ αὐτοῖνε τὰ ὅμοια (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 432, 653.11).

2.6.3.3 Verbs

In the verbal domain, addition of final /e/ appears with all inflectional suffixes ending in /n/, and does not seem to be phonetically conditioned. The earliest and most common instance is 3 pl. active -ουν > -ουνε, -οῦν > -οῦνε and -αν > -ανε,¹⁶ appearing from the 14th c. onwards, originally mainly before a clitic. The phenomenon appears in both literary and non-literary texts, and the bulk of attestations come from the Heptanese, the Cyclades and Crete (see III, 4.1 and III, 4.4):

καὶ συμβουλευοῦνέ τον Chron. Mor. H 2501; ἐξαγοράζοῦνέ τον ibid. 4293 ὅς κρατήσουνε πιττάκιν ἐδικόν μου Liv. E 1616 νὰ σᾶς βαρυφορτώνουνε Diig. tetr. 739 app. crit. (C) ἐγρήγορα τὸν θέλουνε βαρέσει Pol. Tr. 1075 app. crit. (B) τοῦ νὰ καλοφωνίζουμε τραγοῦδημαν Liv. N 1400 transcr. (Lendari) ἔχουνε (1555, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 177, 227.4) νὰ τὸν ἔχουνε (1577, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 21, 156.13) τάσσουνε (1604, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 10, 165.22) νὰ τὸ μεράζουνε (1656, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 6, 165.56) λέουνε (1675, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: 61.34) ἔχουνε ἕνα καλὸ λιμιῶνα (1681, Genoa / author from Mani, VAYAKAKOS 1988b: 508.61) ἀκμήν τὰ ἔντερα ἡμῶν ποιοῦνε καὶ τὰς κόρδας Diig. tetr. 535 app. crit. (C) βοηθοῦνε Theseid I.96,8 (Follieri) νικοῦνε μας Alex. Rim. 940 παρακαλοῦνε σε πολλὰ CHORTATIS, Erof. IV.587 μαρτυροῦνε (1617, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 16, 320.27) νὰ ματαμετροῦνε (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 53, 68.30) νὰ μὲ τραβοῦνε (1659, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 29, 52.3) νὰ ἡμποροῦνε (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 312.6) οὐκ ἐζυγώνανέ τους Chron. Mor. H 1074; ἐπροβεδίζανέ του ibid. 4677 στὸ στῆθος εἶχανε αὐτεῖνοι τὸ κεφάλι Alex. Rim. 1656 παιγνίδια παίζανε Imb. Rim. 48 κάνανε (1674, MILOS, IMELLOS 1985/90: 329.7) ἠθέλανε τὸ λέγει KORNAROS, Erot. I.973 ἐκεῖ ποὺ πολεμοῦσανε Alex. Rim. 1877 ἐζούσανε Fyll. gadar. 143B στὴν Πόλιν ζούσανε ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 196 σκορπούσανε CHORTATIS, Erof. Prol. 44 ἀπερνούσανε IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 331.12–13 ἐκιλαδούσανε KORNAROS, Erot. II.1764 ἐπολεμήσανέ τον Chron. Mor. H 1674; ἐπροσκομίσανέ τα ibid. 1840 καὶ ἐπῆρανέ τα (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 37.II, 20.7)

¹⁶ The oxytone variant -ᾶν, being a relatively recent and geographically restricted innovation, displays the extended form -ᾶνε very rarely, e.g. πολεμᾶνε EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 48.3 (see III, 4.1.2.1).

ἐπουλήσανέ του (1546/1551, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 26, 64.6) καθώς τὸ ἐστιμάραν (1590, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 33, 176.12) διατὶ μ' ἀραζουνάρανε MONTSEL., Evgena 221 ὅλοι ἐπεθάνανε (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), 28.6) τὰ ἐξανακτίσανε (1696, Nauplion, DOKOS 1971/74: 20, 55.3)

The passive aorist, displaying inflection identical to the active voice, also shows frequent addition of /e/ in 3 pl. (-ηκ-αν > -ηκ-ανε, and less commonly -ησαν > -ησανε) in the same areas:

ἐλεμενταριστήκανε (1573, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 4, 15.61) ἐστιμαριστήκανε (1579, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 21, μβ'.107) ἐσυνιβαστήκανε (1620, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 363, 336.2) ἐσταθήκανε, vel ἐσταθήκασι, vel ἐστάθησαν GERMANO, Grammar 96.26–7 καὶ τῇ ξαναφανήκανε MONTSEL., Evgena 1246 τὰ χοντρά ζωά ἔχαθήκανε (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), 28.6) τῆς ἐναντιωθήκανε (1700, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 24, 329.11) κ' ἐπροφωνεθησανέ τους Chron. Mor. H 3663 ms καὶ ἄλλοι ὅπου ἐνθυμούθησανε (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 447.20) ἐδιάβησανε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 54.17 ms

Addition of /e/ in the variant 3 pl. suffixes -ουσιν > -ουσινε, -οὔσιν > -οὔσινε and -ασιν > -ασινε appears from the 16th c. onwards, and is mainly restricted to Crete (where it is in fact more common than the variant -ουν > -ουνε, cf. ΚΑΦΚΑΛΑΣ 2000: 107), though it also occurs, less frequently, in the Heptanese, the Cyclades and Chios (see III, 4.1). In the case of -ουσινε, -ασινε the stress position of the verb form is difficult to establish (see 4.2.3 and III, 4.1.1):

καὶ τρέχουσινε εἰς τὴν κάμεραν MOREZINOS, Klini 51.1–2 τρώσινε καὶ τὰ σπαθιά CHORTATSIS, Katz. II.50 στέκουσινε δίχως | γιῶργεμα Pist. voskos IV 6.51–2 νὰ τὰ κάνουσινε ἄλλοι (1642, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 8, 281.26) κι ὁ εἶς τὸ χέρι τ' ἄλλουνοῦ πιάνουσινε καὶ κλαῖσι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 233.4 κι ἀρχίζουσινε τὴ μαλιά KORNAROS, Erot. II.1054 ξυπνούσινε MOREZINOS, Klini 51.1 καὶ πόσοι πεθυμούσινε CHORTATSIS, Katz. Prol. 19 τὰ ζητούσινε (1639, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 6, 273.19) θωρούσινε ψαράκια Rim. Sant. 757 κτυποῦσινε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1524 λαλούσινε Zinon I.33

ἐκλαίγασινε ἀπαρηγόρητα MOREZINOS, Klini 51.25 νὰ κάνασινε κρῖμα Pist. voskos IV 5.59 εἶχασινε νὰ κάμουσιν (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 211, 200.5) ἐκόφτασινε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 188.6 [ἐκλ]εγασινε τὰ παιδιὰ / ἐκλαίγασινε τὰ παιδιὰ Rim. Sant. 733 νὰ θέλασινε σμίξουν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1795 app. crit.

εμνόξασινε σήμερο CHORTATSIS, Panor. V.151 κι ἐπάψασινε οἱ ἔγνοιες μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.108 ὅπου ἦρθασινε τόσοι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 136.4

μας ηπασινε παλι / μᾶς εἴπασινε πάλι Rim. Sant. 416 νὰ τὸ φάσινε (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 20.22) κ' ἐφέρασινε τοὺς γιατροὺς KORNAROS, Erot. II.1755

An equally widespread change is the addition of a final /e/ in the 3 sg. oxytone imperfect -ει > -ειε, which, however, does not belong under the same heading, as the phenomenon occurs after a vowel and not after a consonant; this means that there are no phonetic grounds for its development, and that it is purely morphologically driven. In fact it is a key evolution, which lies at the basis of the reformation of the whole oxytone paradigm, leading to the new “uncontracted” inflection (see III, 2.1.2.2.4):

οὐκ ὤκνιεν εἰς τὰ δύσκολα Log. parig. L 43 ἐππροεκράτειε (1432, Corfu, ASONITIS 1996/97: 3, 29.47) ἀνέζειεν Assizes B 364.3
 ἐβάρειε της Pol. Tr. 424 (mss AEX) ἐκράτειεν Chron. Toc. 180

The other instances of addition of /e/ in the active voice are geographically restricted to Crete, the Cyclades, the Heptanese and Chios, appearing from the 16th c. onwards. The suffixes involved are the following:

a) 1 pl. -μεν > -μενε, found so far only in Crete and Chios, and 2 pl. -τεν > -τενε, which appears to be exclusive to Chios (see III, 4.1–4):

γράφομενε GERMANO, Grammar 50.1
 τὸ ἄλλης φαμέγιας ἀπὸχομενε ἴπᾱ (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 81.76) νὰ σ' ἐχομενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 9 app. crit.; δίχως αὐτὴν δὲν πάμενε ibid. 391 νὰ πολεμοῦμενε ὁμοῦ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2575 περνούμενε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 171.10 ἄν εἴχαμενε πεῖ P&N Diath. 772 ἐλέγαμενε GERMANO, Grammar 86.32–3 γράφετενε GERMANO, Grammar 50.1 πῶς δὲν κλαίτενε KONAR., Paidēs 999 ποῦ πᾱτενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 339 κἰ ἀμέτεν ἴδᾱ, διαβήτενε KONAR., Paidēs 1112 τὰ δάκρυᾱ μου δέτενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 866 ἐλέγετενε GERMANO, Grammar 86.33; εἴπετενε ibid. 86.35

b) the 1 sg. imperf. oxytone ending -ουν > -ουνε (Crete, Cyclades, Heptanese, Chios/Naxos):

τὸν ὄρθρον ἀκαρτέρουνε τὰ δένδρη γιὰ ν' ἀκούσω Alex. Rim. 2132 ἐγάπουνε GERMANO, Grammar 87.4 ἐκράτουνε FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.28 τὴν γνώμην ὅπου ἴκράτουνε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1822 νὰ μπόρουνε νὰ λόγιασα Trag. Ag. Dim. III.322

c) 3 sg. imperfect and aorist -εν > -ενε to be found in texts from Crete, Chios, the Heptanese and the Cyclades and 3 sg. imperf. oxytone -ει > -εινε found only in texts from Chios and the Peloponnese:

τὴν χαρὰ τὴν εἶχενε φερμένη FALIEROS, Ist. On. 19 τό 'θελενε πεῖ P&N Diath. 443 and 574 εἶχενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 22

δὲν εἶχενε ριζικὸ (1694, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 10, 24.8) εἶδενε GERMANO, Grammar 50.6

ἦρθενε ἀπὸ τὴν Κασσάντρεα (1640, Andros, POLEMIS 1999b: 11, 35.2) ἐπαράδωσενέ τονε (1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 190, 161.11) ἡ θάλασσα ἔφυγενε (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), 28.7–8) καὶ Ἄμηνρᾶς τῶν εἶπενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 479 μοῦ 'καμενε (1686, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 647, 647.3–4) ἔχασενε ἀπὸ μένα (1694, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 10, 24.9) ἐκράτεινε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 264 ἐκράτεινε (1702, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 35, 49.13) ἦκαμε ὅ,τι ἐμπόρεινε Trag. Ag. Dim. II.119 καὶ τὴν ἐφόρεινε αὐτὴ PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 604 ἦμπόρηνε τινὰς νὰ τὸ ὀνομάση (1699, Nauplion/Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 178.3)

In the passive voice (other than the aorist), the only instance of final /e/ addition which appears already in the 15th c. and presents a relatively wide distribution is 3 sg. -τον > -τονε (especially the copula ἦτον > ἦτονε), although again most attestations come from Crete, the Cyclades and the Heptanese:

οὐκ ἦτονε τσουκάλιν Ptoch. IV 218 app. crit. (K) ἦτονε γυναῖκα μου (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.11) ἦτονε γὰρ χαιράμενοι Pol. Tr. 10795 app. crit. (X) ἦτονε μπαστάρδος Chron. Mor. P 3088; ἦτονε ρεματιάρης ibid. 4693 ἦτονε γυναῖκα Theseid I.10,1 (Follieri) ἦτονε εἰς τὸ κάτεργο (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 91, 95.29) ἐσφαζέτονε Liv. E 3103

ἐχθρευέτονε Theseid II.13,3 (1529) ἐρχέτονε Imb. Rim. 835 ἐφαινέτονε (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 148.50) φυλαγέτονε Pist. voskos II 1.318 app. crit.

μὲ ὄλους ἐμοιχεύετονε MOREZINOS, Klini 46.30 εδίδετόνε MARGOUNIOS, Vioi 273.8

ὁποῦ λέγετονε Σεγρεδιανή (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 206, 195.7) τὸ σπῖτι της ὅπου ἐκάθετονε (1629, Milos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 14, 10.12) μοῦ φαίνετονε FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.461

κ' ἐγίνετονε σύγχυση BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 9228

The other variants of the 3 sg. passive, being more restricted geographically, exhibit the phenomenon of addition more rarely. The suffixes involved are -εντον > -εντονε (Crete, Cyclades), -ουντον > -ουντονε (Crete, Cyclades, Chios), -οτου > -οτουε (Heptanese, Peloponnese), -ατον > -ατονε (Crete), and -όταν > -ότανε (Heptanese, Peloponnese, becoming more widespread by the end of the 17th c.); see III, 4.3.

καὶ λογίζεντονε τὸ ἐμισὸν περιβόλαιον (1557, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 11 [later copy], 63.7) δὲν ἐντρέπεντονε MOREZINOS, Klini 183.36 (ms Ξ) νὰ βρίσκεντονε in veritā a bono patre natus FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.218 εὐρίσκουντόνε κάτοικος PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1589 ἐκρύβουντονε (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 53, 205.7); ἐκείτουντονε (1703, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 43, 56.8) ἐκράζουντονε KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1069 ποὺ καθότουνε MONTSEL., Evgena 190 ἐρχότουνε τ' ἄσκέρι KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.136 [ἐγγραφότου]νε SPANOS, Grammar 36.22 ἐθυμονότουνε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 58.3

ἐκλαιγε κι ἐθρηνάτουνε P&N Diath. 1572; κοιμάτουνε ibid. 1943 ἐκινάτουνε ἀπὸ τὸν θυμόν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 37.12 εὐρίσκότανε (1641, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 233, 190.4) ἐρχότανε MATESIS, Chron. 64.28 πάντα ὅλα ἐγενότανε μὲ τέλος καλὸ SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 37.20

The variant ἦτανε of the copula also shows a comparatively high frequency from the 16th c. onwards:

ἦτανε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.3) ἦτανε (1574, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 15, 141.10) ἦτανε πλιὰ γρά P&N Diath. 2083 ὁποὺ ἦτανε ἀνάμεσά μας (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.12) ἦτανε (1696, Nauplion, DOKOS 1971/74: 16, 52.2) ἦτανε ὀμπλιγάδος (1697, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 12, 665.153–4)

The other instances of addition of /e/ in the passive voice are also geographically restricted to Crete, the Cyclades, the Heptanese, Mani and Chios, appearing from the 16th c. onwards. The suffixes involved are the following:

a) The 1 sg. imperf. -μουν > -μουνε and the 2 sg. imperf. -σουν > -σουνε:

σ' ἄμετρην εὐρίσκουμουνε κρίση CHORTATSIS, Erof. I.250 κ' εἰς ὅλους ἐφαινόσουνε εὐμορφο παλληκάρι ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Voev. 127 εὐρίσκουσουνε FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.117 καὶ ρέγουσουνε Stathis I.242

A special case is the copula (ἦμουν > ἦμουνε and ἦσουν > ἦσουνε), which seems to have a wider geographical distribution than other verbs and to present the phenomenon earlier:

καταβαττὰς ἂν ἦμουνε Ptoch. III 181 app. crit. (P) (15th-c. ms) ἦμουνε Pol. Tr. 5815 app. crit. (X) ἀπ' ὄντεν ἦμουνε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 218.19) ἦμουνε βέβαιος (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.32) ἦμουνε ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 65.13 ἦμουνε κάστρον Thrinós patr. O 59 ἦμουνε σκλαβωμένο FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.204 καρβουνάρέα ἦσουνε Poulol. 431 app. crit. (CP) ἦσουνε Fyll. gadar. 358c ἦσουνε βοηθός μου CHORTATIS, Panor. II.535 ἦσουνε MONTSEL., Evgena 723

- b) 1 pl. -μεσταν > -μεστανε, -μαστέν > -μαστένε, only in Crete and the Heptanese; -μαστιν > -μαστινε, only in Mani; and -ουμαν > -ουμανε, only in Crete (see III, 4.1–4):

λυτρώνομέστανε MOREZINOS, Klini 62.21 εκεῖ ἀπού κάθομέστανε CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.352

νὰ δέομέστανε Thysia Avr. 1133 εὐρίσκομέστανε (1649, Crete, PANOPOULOU 2003: 2, 148.30–1) εὐρίσκομέστανε FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.256 κείνη πού ὀρέγομέστανε KORNAROS, Erot. I.1261 φοβούμεστανε MOREZINOS, Klini 137.20 (reading of ms Ξ) θλιβομάστένε μὲ θλιμὸ μεγάλο Evr. Eleg. 3 166.6

νὰ μὴν ἀγκικιομάστένε (1693, Corfu, TSITSAS 1978/79: [2], 207.80) εἰς τὴ στράτα ὅπου ἐρχομαστινε ... (1584, Italy, PAPADOPOULOS 1978: 1, 318.5–6); ἠβρεσκουμαστινη / ἠυρεσκουμαστινε (ibid. 1, 318.16–17) ἐβιρυσκομαστυνε / ἐβιρυσκομαστινε (1679, Sovana, Tuscany, PAPADOPOULOS 1979: 1, 473.37) ἐκρατούμανε TROILOS, Rodol. V.298

- c) 2 pl. -ουστε > -ουστενε, with addition of the whole syllable -νε, only in Chios:

μὴν στεκούστενε KONДАР., Paidēs 251 πάντοτε βρισκούστενε PROSOPSAS, Peri Tyflou 438

ἄν δὲν λυποῦστενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 865

- d) 3 pl. pres. ονται > -ονταίνε, -ουνται > -ουνταίνε, with addition of the whole syllable -νε, only in the Heptanese and Chios:

ἠύρισκονταίνε εἰς τὰ χέρια (1653, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 215, 186.54) ἔρχονταίνε καὶ κλαῖσι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2109

κί ὅλοι νὰ μὲ φοβούνταιε KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.26

- e) 3 pl. imperf. -ουντον > -ουντονε (Cyclades), -ονταν > -όντανε (Crete and Heptanese), -ουνταν > -ούντανε (Crete, Cyclades, Heptanese, Chios), and -όντησαν > -όντησανε (only in the Chronicle of the Turkish Sultans) (see III, 4.3.1):

ἔσιαζούντονε (1673, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 10, 172.16) ἐγνωρίζόντανε Alex. Rim. 871 ἐμαχόντανε ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 2076 ἔρχόντανε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 35.15; ὀρεγόντανε ibid. 35.18

δὲν συνεριζόντανε οἱ γνῶμες PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 122.27 ἐκαθέζουντανε MOREZINOS, Klini 16.9

ὅπου εὐρίσκουντανε (1613, Rethymno region / Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 846, 737.10–11) ἐδέρνουντανε BOUNIALIS M. Diig. Pol. 1732; ἤρχουντανε ibid. 1764 τὰ πλοῦτή καὶ βασιλεια ἐκράζουντανε κόποι KORNAROS, Erot. III.900 εὐρίσκόντησανε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 54.11 ms; ἐρχόντησανε ibid. 72.34 ms

- f) The 3 sg. aorist $-(\theta)\eta\nu > -(\theta)\eta\nu\epsilon$, very rarely (see III, 4.4.2):

ὁ κράλης μὲ ἀποκρίθηνε (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 58.5) τὸ πῶς εὐρέθηνε ἐκεῖ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2312

Addition of final /a/ appears in the following suffixes:

- a) the 1 sg. active imperf. oxytone ($-\sigma\upsilon\nu > -\sigma\upsilon\nu\alpha$), appearing from the 15th c. onwards, with a relatively wide distribution; for its etymology see PANDELIDIS 2008: 296–8:

ἐκράτουνα Liv. E 1670; ἐκονόμουνα ibid. 3532 ἐπεθύμουνα Theseid I.103,7 (Follieri); ἡμπόρουνα ibid. III.54,5 (1529) ποῦ κράτουνα FALIEROS, Erot. En. 122 ὅταν ἐγὼ τραγούδουνα ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 129.13 νὰ σοῦ ζήτουνα Thysia Avr. 897 ἐπούλουνα (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 2, 361.10) νὰ τὸν ἐτίμουνα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 86.19 ὥσὰ δὲν μπόρουνα νὰ τὸ δουλέψω σήμερο (1639, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 137, 123.11) ἐχρώστουνα τοῦ καπετὰν Δουλφῆ κάτι λάδι (1694, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 204, 124.17)

- b) The 1 sg., 2 sg. and 3 sg. passive imperfect, very rarely. For 1 sg. the frequency is higher in the case of the copula:

ἐκ πόλεμον ἐρχόμουνα ZINOS, Vatr. 323 εὐρίσκόμουνα (1643, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1960: 3, 3.7) τοὺς ἐδεχότουνα PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 115.17 [ἐγγραφ]ότουνα SPANOS, Grammar 36.22 ἐγραφότουνα Chron. Theod. 21.14 ὀνομαζότουνα ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 36.8; ἐμουρμουριζότουνα ibid. 37.16 στὸν θρόνον ἐκαθότουνα ΚΑΤΣΑΙΤΙΣ, Ifig. Prol. 51; κ' ἐρχότουνα id., Thyest. V.696 ἦμουνα Pol. Tr. 7435 app. crit. (BV) ἦμουνα πρὸς ἐσένα Liv. E 1583 ποῖος ἦμουνα Theseid Prol. P 139 ἦμουνα ἐγγαστρωμένη BERGADIS, Apok. V 426 ἀποθαμένος ἦμουνα (1655, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 178.8) ἂν ἦμουνα ΣΟΥΜΜΑΚΙΣ, Past. Fid. A4v.20

- c) The 1 sg. passive aorist, again very rarely:

καὶ αἰχμάλωτος ἐδιάβηνα κόσμον πολὺν καὶ χώραν Liv. E 3992 εκολλήθηνα Vurl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 384 app. crit.

2.6.3.4 Uninflected Words

A number of uninflected words ending in /n/ and /s/ display addition of final /e/, in those areas where the phenomenon is common also in inflected forms. The most frequent, and earliest, case is that of the preposition εἰς > εἰσέ > σέ. The same evolution appears also in the case of the preposition ἐξ > ἐξέ > ξέ, but this form is limited to the Heptanese. The most typical cases before final /n/ are the conjunctions ἄν > ἄνε, κάν > κάνε, ἦγουν > ἦγουνε and the negation δέν > δένε, which appear mainly in Crete. The case of ἄνευ > ἄνευε is the only one where addition of /e/, and once even /a/, appears after the final consonant /v/, which is normally disallowed by the phonotactics of MedG (see 3.3.1). It is not surprising then that final addition in this form appears as early as the 12th c. Examples (see also KRIARAS, Lex. s.vv.):

- οίσε μανδῖαν / εἰσὲ μαντεῖαν Byz. Il. 76 app. crit.
 εἰσὲ κληρονομίαν των Alosis 695 εἰσὲ προυκίον (1509, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 4, 50.5) εἰσὲ ὄλην τὴν διαφοράν (1514, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 59, 65.6) εἴστε εἰς σέ νηκοκηριῶν / εἴστε εἰσὲ νοικοκυριὸν (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.5–6) ἦσε ἡ,τι καὶ ἀν ἔχη / εἰσὲ εἴτι καὶ ἂν ἔχη (1557, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 201, 250.5) ἴσε τέλος / εἰσὲ τέλος (1576, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 19, 151.15) εἰσε ὄλο το νησι / εἰσὲ ὄλο τὸ νησι (1647, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 16, 88.53)
- ἐξ ἑμίας / ἐξὲ μίας Diig. sevast. Thom. 371 ξὲ κανέναν Alex. Rim. 1426 ξὲ ὅλους TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 42; ξὲ δύο ibid. 50
- οσε τορα / ὤσε τώρα (1481, Crimea, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90: III 10, 293.7) (misprint in GRASSO 1880)
- ἀν¹⁷ σημαίνουν BERGADIS, Apok. A 93 agne zi na ci dhidhussi / ἄνε ζῆ, νὰ τσῆ διδουσι (1661, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 10, 103.51) ὅποιοι καὶ ἀνὲ κατέχουσι τίβοτας (1663, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 6, 416.10) καὶ χίλιοι χρόνοι ἀνὲ διαβοῦ KORNAROS, Erot. III.1136; ἀνὲ βαρῆς ibid. IV.515
- ὅτι κανε δεν επεινούσαμε Vios Filaret. 241.14 ἡ κάνε αὐτοῦνα τὰ μακριὰ τὰ τράγινα τ' αὐτιά σου; Soummakis, Past. Fid. G5r.18
- ὄντενε ἔναι κοντὰ νὰ τελειώση FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. IV 78 tit.
- ἡγουμε / ἦγουμε (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 21.12); ἦγουμε δουκάτα τέσσαρα (1501, ibid. 5, 27.14–15) ἦγουνε / ἡγουνε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 15, 39.6) ἦγουνε (1667, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 16, 128.7)
- ἐκίθενε / ἐκείθενε (1599, Zakynthos, PLOUMIDIS 1995/98: 87.9)
- ἄνευε (1198, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 246, 333.20) ἄνεβε βουλῆς / ἄνευε βουλῆς (14th c.?, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1994: 1, 286.29)
- ἄν ευά της / ἄνευά της Assizes B 265.31

2.7 Vowel Deletion

This section examines vowel deletion in all positions within the word, except the special, geographically restricted, phenomenon of “raising vocalism” (2.5.4).

¹⁷ KRIARAS, Lex. mistakenly conflates such instances in the lemma ἀνέν, where they are interpreted as deriving from ἄν + 3 sg. of εἶμαι (ἄν ἐν').

2.7.1 Aphaeresis

A basic distinction should be made between lexical aphaeresis, i.e. a diachronic process which has resulted in a permanent, lexicalized stem lacking its etymological initial vowel, and post-lexical synchronic aphaeresis, i.e. a sandhi phenomenon occurring at word boundaries as a means of hiatus resolution (for which see 2.9.2). The first process originates (at least partly) from the second and is explicable through it, and the distinction between the two is not always easy in written sources; secure instances of diachronic aphaeresis in LMedG and EMG are only those where the preceding word ends in a consonant (BAKKER 1988/89: 319). A further distinction should be made between synchronic aphaeresis in LMedG and the phenomenon of aphaeresis (also termed prodelision) operating in AG (SMYTH 1984: §76): the latter is an AG synchronic sandhi rule affecting only the short vowels /e/ and, less frequently, /a/, when preceded by a proclitic word ending in a long vowel or diphthong (e.g. μή ἐστι > μή 'στι), whereas the MedG phenomenon affects all vowels.

Diachronic aphaeresis is a phonetic development whereby unstressed initial vowels are deleted. It has been suggested that it can be viewed as an instance of an overall diachronic tendency of Greek towards CV syllable structure, together with the deletion of final consonants and the addition of final vowels (MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2001: 201). As noted above, permanent aphaeresis originates from the lexicalization of synchronic deletion of a word-initial vowel, which takes place when the preceding word also ends in a vowel, if that vowel is identical or stronger in terms of sonority (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 213–25; MENARDOS 1925; HORROCKS 2010: 276–7; see also 2.9.2). Typical environments causing synchronic aphaeresis which may later be lexicalized are the phonological units definite article + noun (e.g. τὸ ὀσπίτιν > τὸ σπίτιν, τὸ ὀφρύδιν > τὸ φρύδιν, ἡ ἡμέρα > ἡ μέρα, ἡ Εἰρήνη > ἡ Πήνη), indefinite article + noun (e.g. μιὰ ἀλυσίδα > μιὰ 'λυσίδα) and particle νά + verb (e.g. νὰ ἀσφαλίσω > νὰ σφαλίσω), i.e. the same environments which also cause vowel prothesis (see 2.6.1).

Diachronic aphaeresis is responsible for major changes in MedG and EMG morphology (BROWNING 1983: 58; HORROCKS 2010: 277) including: (a) the loss of the syllabic augment when unstressed, and therefore its destabilization as the main exponent of past tense, although this tendency is not at all well documented in MedG and EMG sources (see introduction to III, 3); (b) the development of the weak clitic forms of the personal pronouns (αὐτόν > ἄτον > τόν); and (c) the “new” form of the extremely frequent preposition εἰς combined with the definite article (εἰς τόν > 'ς τόν/στόν).

Aphaeresis as a synchronic rule (at word boundaries) is attested already in papyri of the Christian era, and is considered a low-register phenomenon against the norm of AG, where aphaeresis was a rare occurrence, restricted to poetry; no examples of lexicalized aphaeresis from this period seem to be attested (GIGNAC 1976: 319). In low-register texts of the EMedG period lexicalized attestations begin to appear, as well as the first attestations involving the weak clitic forms (DIETERICH 1898: 29–33; PSALTES 1913: 8–9, 21). An obvious early (Koine) example of lexicalized aphaeresis is the word family γρήγορος, γρηγορῶ, Γρηγόριος (< AG ἐγρήγορα), while a few epigraphic instances from Phrygia and Cilicia have been collected by BRIXHE (1987: 115), and DRESSLER (1966a: 57), mainly involving prepositions. Early instances of deletion with the preposition εἰς appear in the Late Antique Colloquia Monacensia, e.g. Ἐν ποίῳ τόπῳ; Ὡς τὸ φόρον. Ποῦ ὑπάγεις; Ὡς τὴν οἰκίαν σπεύδω (CGL III, 648.16, 650.4, 651.34). The initial restriction of aphaeresis to prepositions such as ἐπὶ and εἰς and to the clitic forms of the personal pronoun may indicate that the phenomenon started from proclitic/enclitic elements. Another grammatical environment where aphaeresis may have set in already from the EMedG period is the conjunction ἵνα > νά, on its way to become a marker of the subjunctive, e.g. κατάραν δὲ νά ἔχη 10th c., Thrace, ASDRACHA 2003: inscr. 80 (this inscriptional form is already noted in CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 493). Early, lexical, instances are to be found in the 10th-c. Monza Latin–Greek glossary (AERTS 1972: nos. 8, 43, 49), e.g. ungula· nihia (= νύχια), vaca· gelatas (= γελάδας), pomo· ipora (= ἡ ἰώρα).

Diachronic aphaeresis does not present absolute regularity. It is strongly inhibited by register (of the text or of the lexical item), and is subject to analogical restitution, especially when the lexical item involved has allomorphs or derivatives in which the initial vowel is stressed, e.g. ὀνομάζω – ὄνομα. A further inhibiting factor has to do with phonotactics, and involves cases where the deletion of the initial vowel would result in non-permissible word-initial consonant clusters, e.g. ἀρχινῶ – ῥχινῶ. Additionally, the extent of aphaeresis in the vocabulary may be morphologically conditioned: HATZIDAKIS (1892: 64; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 213–14) has argued, for example, that aphaeresis of /a/ is more frequent in verbs than in nouns, because vowel-initial verbs, when prefixed in past tenses with an augment ἐ- (e.g. ἐγάπησα, ἐγανάκτησα, ἔρπαξα, see III, 3.1.4.2) were re-interpreted as consonant-initial. Frequently, within the same text, a word may appear both with and without its etymological initial vowel. In view of the non-stabilization of aphaeresis even in MG, which presents many lexical doublets (e.g. ἀγελάδα-γελάδα, ἡμέρα-μέρα, ὑπερήφανος-περήφανος etc.), the variable situation displayed by MedG texts should be considered as representative of spoken usage. An additional problem with written sources, especially in the case of consecutive identical vowels, is that the notation of aphaeresis might be simply a scribal or editorial choice: the sequence [tospitin], for example, might be represented as τοσπιτιν, τ' ὀσπίτιν, τὸ σπίτιν etc. Examples of lexical aphaeresis:

/a/

- βάλλειν ἴλυσίδαν (1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 533.3)
- τὸ παρὸν σφαλιστικὸν σιγίλλιον (1171, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 21, 422.20–1)
- ἰπόλυσον πέτραν κατ' αὐτῆς Ptoch. I 66
- νά τοὺς ἰπεικάσης Liv. V 457
- πάντα εἰς κρωτήριν Poulol. 90 app. crit. (V)
- μέλλειν ἰζιωθῇ Assizes A 87.21–2; ἦσαν κουμπισμένες ibid. 111.9
- μίαν γελάδα (1560, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 24, 103.19)
- εἰς ἰκλούθησιν (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 8, 129.21)
- καμπόσον ναπαμένος Cypr. Canz. 20.5
- δὲ θέλω νά τις ἰκούσει (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 82.112)

/o/

- τὸ μὲν σπίτιν (1254, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 19, 90.8)
- οὐδὲν μολογᾷ Assizes B 254.30 συχνάκις λιγωροῦσιν Byz. Il. 317 ὁ μόδης λοκοτίνιν ἕνα Assizes A 52.2; τὸ δικαίωμαν τῶν παρικῶν ibid. 241.1 χιλιάδες ὕδοντα τέσσαρες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 343 καθὼς μολογάει (1549, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 51, 93.1) uqī dem celo / Οὐχὶ δὲν θέλω (12th c., Cyprus?, AERTS 1995: 2, 206.1) < οὐδέν κακὸς ἄνθρωπος ζουράρης (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 179.1) < Ven. usuraro ἄστεως Πισκοπῆς (1139, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 120, 160.35); χωράφιον ρεῖπτιον (1211, ibid. 262, 358.11)

/u/

/e/

 οὐ θέλεις πάρειν Pol. Tr. 3434 app. crit. (A) τὸ ἔξωθεν ἴσσηπτιον (1451, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 29, 160.4) τὸν πῖσκοπον Velth. 1330 εἰς τὸν γιᾶλόν Byz. Il. 117 κόπριον λέφαντος Spanos D 1704 πανέμορφον, πιτήδειον Achil. O 44 τὴν πεθυμοῦν Def. Par. 53 ἦγουν βδομήντα (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 93.32) ἀπὸ τὴν πητιδιότητα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 203.5 δεύτερον ρώτημα Diig. Alex. Sem. B 333 ἄν τοῦ δώσης στῖαν LANDOS, Geopon. 143.17–18

/i/καὶ ἄκων ἴσσησαι (1123, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 93, 122.15) Ἰωάννης Κονόμος (1176, Sicily, Cusa 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 3, 372.15) Ἰούσαν τὸν Σκαριώτην Chron. Mor. H 666; κύρ Σάκης ὁ Βατάτσης ibid. 448, 451 εἷς ἴπρητης BERGADIS, Apok. V 435 τὸ εἰρημένον στρουμέντον (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 26, 40.16)

 ἐν ποκάμισο (1562, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 9, 23.13)

2.7.2 Syncope

Vowel deletion between consonants occurs frequently in the case of unstressed /i/ (the weakest vowel in the vowel hierarchy) and rarely in the case of unstressed /u/ (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 347–8; DIETERICH 1904b; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 258; MINAS 2003: 40–1). In most cases, the deleted vowel is adjacent to a liquid, especially /r/, a tendency evident already in later Hellenistic times (KAPSOMENAKIS 1938: 64–5; GIGNAC 1976: 307). The phenomenon is unrelated to the deletion of unstressed /i/ and /u/ which forms part of “raising vocalism” (see 2.5.4).

Examples of the change occur already in inscriptions and papyri from the period of the Koine (DIETERICH 1898: 37; GIGNAC 1976: 306). In the period covered by this Grammar, it appears already in the earliest documents, i.e. from the 11th c. onwards.

/i/ > Ø adjacent to /r/κορφῶν (1019, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 18, 19.28–9) τὰς κορφᾶς (11th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 30, 268.23) κορφὴν BERGADIS, Apok. V 47; κορφὴν Def. Par. 356 ύστερνὸν Chron. Mor. H 867; ύστερνήν (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 252, 347.6) σπερνὸ Chron. Mor. H 3640; τὸ ὄσπερνὸ (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 54.216) σημερνῆς Chron. Mor. H 4744; σημερνήν Thysia Avr. 184 χοιρνήν Poulol. 289

 περπατεῖς [ANDR. PALAIOI.], Kallim. 721; περπατῶ DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 73 Σαντορνιὸς (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.19); Σαντορνέος (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 60.86); σαντορνιές (1666, Santorini, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 26, 27.113) περβόλια (1510, Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.II, 18.4); περβόλι (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 17, 59.4); περβόλια (1642, Patmos, MICHAELARIS 1998: 1, 192.6) στάρι (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 214.30) ἔπερμαζῶσα CHORTATIS, Erof. Prol. 52 καλοκαιρνό (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 22.4) καθημερνό (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.10) τὸ βορνό (1675, Amorgos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 33, 26.9)

/i/ > Ø adjacent to other consonants ἐκάτσα Ptoch. I 131; ἐκάτσαν Chron. Mor. H 1836 τσῆ φλακῆς Thysia Avr. 501; φλακὴ μου CHORTATIS, Erof. II.60 πολτικές CHORTATIS, Katz. I.286 οἱ ἀλκές Chron. Tourk. Soult. 107.18 τσῆ Στείας (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 49.63) ἀγαφτικούς CHORTATIS, Katz. I.92 adhelfoftumas P&N Diath. 834 app. crit. φτίλια (1666, Santorini, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 26, 26.12) μισοφτεψία (1688, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 108, 323.5) Θεὸς σχωρέσ' τονε (1696, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 6, 213.10) schoffillati / σκοφυλλάτη PAPADOPOLI, L'Occio 157.13 σκαμνιά (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 450.7) < συκαμνιά

/u/ > Ø

τά ῥθούνια μου Ptoch. III 273.29 app. crit. (P) < ρουθούνι ἄρθούνια CHORTATIS, Katz. III.70; orthugna / ὀρθούνια BAROZZI, Letter 359.1 κουρνόμυαλον Poulol. 220 < κουρούνα ἀκλούθαν τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 634.16–17; ν' ἀκλουθήσης Velth. 197 < ἀκολουθῶ < ἀκολουθῶ δέρματα ἀλπουδων Dig. A 4731 < ἄλουπού νὰ τῆ κουκλώνεται (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 92, 108.21); νὰ σὲ κουκλώσου CHORTATIS, Erof. V.7
 εἰς τὸν Φρακόπλον Achil. O 671 τοῦ Σεργόπλου (1691, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1957/58: I A. 32, 115.2) Σεφαννόπλος (1665, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 45, 316.1)

A number of MedG lexical items which are Latin loanwords presenting deletion of /u/ between stop and liquid since Koine times (e.g. τὰβλα < tabula, τίτλος < titulus, στὰβλος < stabulum, σοῦβλα < subula, ἄρκλα < arcula) should be considered as deriving from already syncopated Late Latin forms and not as internal Greek developments (TRIANDAPHYLIDIS 1909: 20).

A special subcase of syncope is the so-called “Kretschmer’s Law”, proposed by KRETSCHMER (1909) for AG and extended to MedG and MG by CHATZIDAKIS (1934/77: A 584–5; cf. also KRETSCHMER 1905: 109–16; PERNOT 1907/46: I 94–7; TSOPANAKIS 1940: 75). According to this phonetic tendency, an unaccented (etymologically short) vowel is deleted when adjacent to a liquid, nasal or sibilant if the preceding or following syllable contains the same vowel. This law explains Koine attestations like σκόροδον > σκόρδον, Βερνίκη > Βερνίκη, παραχρήμα > παρχρήμα (GIGNAC 1976: 306). It is not necessary for the interpretation of MedG cases of unstressed /i/ deletion, which is very frequent independently of whether the next syllable also contains /i/ or not, but could apply in the much rarer cases when the stronger vowels /a/ and /e/ are deleted, especially in 2 pl. imperative forms (see III, 4.5.2):

παρκαλῶντα με (1173, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 51, 88.21) λαμβάννει παρκάτω (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 31.49); παρκάτω Fior 77.7 παρχατώττεροι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 256.10 πάρτε με MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 448.27–8 βάλτε Theseid I.4,5 (Follieri) θέλτε SKLAVOS, Symf. 147 πιάστε με FALIEROS, Thrinis 267 σύρτε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 395.19 δώστε CHORTATIS, Panor. V.345 νά τήνε θανατώστε MONTSEL., Evgena 411 σύρτε ROMANOS, Grammar 62.9

Syncope is also responsible for a characteristic morphological idiosyncrasy of the Cretan, Cycladic and Heptanesian area, namely the definite article forms τσῆ, τσί etc., which derive from deletion of /i/ in the proclitic article form, followed by addition of final /i/. See II, 5.2.1 and II, 5.3.2 for details and examples.

2.7.3 Deletion of Final Vowel (Apocope)

If the phenomenon of “raising vocalism” is discounted, lexical deletion of final vowels is extremely rare in MedG and EMG, as in many cases it would lead to loss of inflectional suffixes and as final consonants, except for /n/ and /s/, are disallowed in the phonology of the language (see 3.3.1). Post-lexical final vowel deletion before words beginning with a vowel is of course quite frequent as a hiatus resolution strategy (see 2.9.2.2).

A special case of post-lexical final vowel deletion occurs after consonants, in the case of close-knit syntactic units which form a phonological phrase; the classical term for the phenomenon is apocope. In MedG and EMG, it appears only in low-register texts from the 15th c. and beyond, and predominantly in verse texts. The most frequent environment is the preposition ἀπό + the definite article, e.g. ἀπό τόν > ἀπ’ τόν, and the 2 sg. imperative verb forms followed by a clitic, e.g. φέρε τον > φέρ’ τον (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 255–7; see also III, 4.5). Further appropriate phonological environments include the proclitic 2 sg. personal pronoun (CHATZIDAKIS 1915: 460), and the 3 sg. form of the verb εἶμαι (see III, 4.8.1), which is often unaccented, and which has even led to the univerbation τίντα/ἴντα (see II, 5.7.1.4).

ἀπ’ τὰ νησιά Chron. Toc. 2160 ἀπ’ τὸ φόβο KORNAROS, Erot. II.887 τὴν ἀδελφήν μας ἄφησ' την Dig. E 346 φέρ' μου τὰ καρτζὰ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 448.6

 ἐβγάλ' το ὄξω καὶ γιομίσ' το πόλβερη (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 64.32–3) βάρ' της βλεπατόρους Fior 149.12 ἐλθέ, ἔπαρ' με, Χάροντα KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.189 βρίσ' τον (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 3, 302.20) γύρισ' την (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 87.21) μόνον δῶσ' τα καὶ ἔπαρόν με Ptochol. A 246 το κιρί κράτιστο / τὸ κιρὶ κράτησ' το (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 51.9) θέλουν σ' τ' ἀπομάθει Poulol. 618 χάρη νὰ μὴ σ' τὴν κάμη KORNAROS, Erot. III.103; ὅποια σ' τό 'δωκε ibid. III.1470

τί ἔν' τὸ σὲ χρεωστοῦσιν; Spaneas V 99 ἄν ἔν' καὶ βλέπεις ἄνθρωπον DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 629 ἦκουσε τί ἔν' τὸ λέγασιν καὶ τί ἔν' τὸ λαλοῦσαν BERGADIS, Apok. V 241 πόθεν ἔνι, τί ἔν' τὸ ἡξεύρει Ptochol. α 207 ὄνειρον εἶν' πολλὰ ζαβὸ KORNAROS, Erot. I.213

An apparent case of final vowel deletion concerns the preposition μέσα, which presents the form μέσ' before the combination of the preposition σέ + definite article, e.g. μέσα στὰ > μεσ' στὰ, from the 17th c. onwards. This is in reality a case of dissimilatory syllable deletion, due to the repetition of identical sounds in the following word (see 3.9.3.3).

A geographically restricted case of final vowel deletion is the development of the demonstrative form ἐκεῖν' before the definite article in Cyprus (see II, 5.5.1.8):

ἐκὴν τὴν κλεψίαν / ἐκεῖν τὴν κλεψίαν Assizes B 424.20 κεῖν' τὸν ἥλιον Cypr. Canz. 106.17; κεῖν' τὸ σπλάχνος τῆς φιλιᾶς ἀφήκα ibid. 137.2; κεῖν' τ' ἄρματα ποὺ σὲ φουμίζουν ibid. 153.13

2.8 Vowel Changes

2.8.1 Change to /e/ in the Adjacency of Liquids and Nasals

The adjacency of a liquid or a nasal may cause the change of an unstressed vowel to the mid vowel /e/. All vowels except /u/ are subject to this change, but it appears with greater regularity in the case of /i/, less regularly with /a/, and only sporadically with /o/. In the overwhelming majority of cases, the conditioning environment is unstressed vowel + /r/.

/a/ > /e/. The raising of /a/ to /e/ adjacent to a liquid or a nasal (especially /r/) is the only conditioned change affecting /a/ with at least some regularity (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 238–9; ANDRIOTIS, Lex. s.v. “ἐ ἀντί ἀρχαίου α μέσα σε λέξεις”; MOYSIADIS 2005: 93). It is part of the more general change to /e/ in the adjacency of liquids and nasals; cf. below for the phenomenon as it affects /i/. In the case of /a/, it has sometimes been analysed as dissimilation of two consecutive /a/ vowels rather than as raising (cf. MEYER 1889: 73; MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 1985: 411), but there seems to be no regularity in this alleged dissimilation process, since it may be either regressive or progressive (contrast e.g. κράββατος > κρεββάτιν vs. Σαρακηνός > Σαρεκηνός).

The phenomenon appears in both literary and non-literary MedG texts, the earliest attestations coming from the 11th c., but for some words there is evidence that the change has already taken place before the period under examination (cf. LBG s.v. κρεβάτιον, and the Koine examples of κρεβάτιν, καθερίζω, ῥέπανον in DIETERICH 1898: 4–6). In some lexical items, the change seems to have been fixed/lexicalized (e.g. κρεβάτιν, σεντούκιν, βελανίδιν, νεράντζιν), but in most cases the affected form varies with the original one. No specific geographical restriction on the change is observable, which is an additional indication that the change must be dated quite early, i.e. at least in the EMedG period.

- κρεβατοστρώσιν (1017, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 22, 167.14); κρεβάτι Chron. Mor. H 8247 πελλακίδαν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 246.671) βελανιδέα (1345, Serres, GUILLOU 1955: 39, 127.75); βελανίδια (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 57, 47.3) σεντούκια (1384, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 49, 264.51); σεντούκι Chron. Mor. H 7789 < Arab. sanduk καβελλαρίου Chron. Mor. H 5752; καβελαρίου (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 263.3); καβελάρει Velis. χ 395 app. crit. (V); καβελάρης Dig. E 43 app. crit. < Lat. caballarius νεραντζέαν [ANDR. PALAIOLOG., Kallim. 1744 < Arab. nārandj τῶν νεραντζιῶν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 33, 67.10) sideromolivochalineria / σιδερομολουβοχαλίνερα (15th c., Crete?, KAKOULIDI 1958/59: 120.3–4) Σαρεκνηοί Chron. Mor. P 13; Σαρεκνηοί Velis. χ 386 app. crit. (V) ἀσχημοποδερούσα Poulol. 327 app. crit. (P) ἄρρεβώνα Poulol. 150 app. crit. (V); ἄρρεβώνα Rim. kor. A 72 νὰ καθερίζη (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 3, 150.5); ἐκαθέρισεν Poulol. 149
 app. crit. (PV) ξεκαθερνούμεν (1644, Chios, FOTEINOS 1865: 236.2) σεράντα (1483, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 2, 41.15) καρεβούρη (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 112, 195.30)

A phenomenon with similar effect, not to be confused with this phonetic change, is the appearance of /e/ instead of /a/ in words prefixed with the prepositions παρά and ἀνά (or interpreted as such):

- παρεποταμίαν Dig. E 1199 παρεδείσιν Dig. E 1628 app. crit. παρεκαλοῦν Pol. Tr. 6650 app. crit. (V); παρεκάλια MONTSEL., Evgena 464 παρεθύρια DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1613; παρεθύρι Rim. kor. V 1; παρεθύρια (1582, Kefalonia ZAPANDI 2001a: 155, 98.7); παρεθύρι Epain. gyn. 455 τοῦ παρεδίδω (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 6, 27.11–12) εἰς τὸ Παρεπόρτι (1626, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 2, 215.3) παρεκάτω Diig. Alex. E 269.6 (Lolos) ν' ἀνεσηκωθεῖ Thysia Avr. 291 ἀνεπινιά FALIEROS Ist. On. 297 τ' ἀνεκατωμένα KORNAROS, Erot. I.642 ἀνεζητᾶ KORNAROS, Erot. I.643 anepaimenos / ἀνεπατημένος CHORTATSI, Erof. III.313 transcr. χ (Legrand); ἀνεπαμένοι (1670, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 2, 577.15) ἀνεστήματα (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 481.23)

Ἀνεγνώστης (17th c., Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32); Ἀνεγνώστης (1674, Paros, ZERLENDIS 1922: (3), 54.20); Ἀνεγνώστης (1697, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 12, 28.28) νὰ ἀνεκατωθῇ (1724, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1973: 3, 308.8) νἀνεγκάζη PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2501 ἀνεσενάλης / ἀνεσενάζεις PETRITSIS, Dig. O 106 ἀνεφερούσας (1101, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 7, 395.4) ἀνετολήν Chron. Mor. T 59
 τὴν ἀνετολικήν (1623, Bergamo, KORRE 2008: 2, 330.7)

Although conceivably of phonetic origin (influence of the adjacent liquid/nasal), in such cases the change /a/ > /e/ should rather be considered a morphological evolution, i.e. a new prefix/preverb παρε-, ἀνε-. The origin of ἀνε- and παρε- forms is attributable to false reanalysis of aorist verb forms containing the augment (e.g. παρέδωσα, ἀνέγνωσα); see KOUKOULES 1931: 64–6 for interpretation and modern dialectal distribution, and 2.6.1.1 and III, 3 (introduction) on the spread of the augment to non-past tenses. The appearance of the preposition ἀνά as ἀνε- in compounds is a feature of the modern dialect areas of E. Crete, S. Cyclades and Chios (KOUKOULES 1931: 66; KONDOSOPOULOS ³2001: 37, 52), and indeed most of the attestations come from these areas, although occasionally it crops up in texts from elsewhere. It is not recorded in the earliest Cretan texts, i.e. Sachlikis, Dellaportas and Bergadis, although as a phenomenon it is attested already since the Hellenistic period (KOUKOULES 1931: 66; KAHANE/KAHANE 1981: 108).¹⁸

/o/ > /e/. The phenomenon is attested both in MedG/EMG texts and in MG dialects, but it is quite limited, and the precise factors determining its appearance are unknown (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 239, B 406; MOYSIADIS 2005: 94). Furthermore, several alleged instances of the phenomenon may be attributed to different causes, such as analogy, assimilation or folk etymology.

δεμέστικον Chron. Mor. H 2606 (possibly assimilation) πρόβεδοι Chron. Mor. H 5313; ἐπροβεδίζανέ τους Chron. Mor. H 4677 Κρεμμύδιος Porikol. I 114 (possibly already an AG doublet κρεμ-/κρομ-) ἄλεπουν Achil. N 1573 < ἄλωπού < ἄλώπηξ φρένιμος (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 61.12); φρενίμους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.35, φρένιμος Anak. Konst. 18 καὶ περμαχιόνια LIMEN., Than. Rod. 458 ξερωμένον LIMEN., Than. Rod. 627 (possibly false etymology from the prefix ξε-) Ἰσίδερος (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 1, 3.14) προσερινέ FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 115 νέφη θελά FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 112 κρεντήρια (1664, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 12, 126.19) τὸ ἀντίδερον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.228

/i/ > /e/. One of the most consistent and widespread phonetic changes in MedG is the lowering of unstressed /i/ to /e/ in the adjacency of liquid, and less frequently nasal, ¹⁸ The verbs ἀνεβαίνω and κατεβαίνω have analogical /e/ throughout, irrespective of geographical provenance, cf. KRIARAS, Lex. s.vv.

consonants, especially before /r/ (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 238–9; PSALTES 1913: 26–8; DIETERICH 1898: 11–15; MINAS ²2003: 43–4). In the cases where a stressed original /i/ appears as /e/ one should assume paradigmatic levelling (i.e. analogical extension of the affected stem allomorph) on the basis of unstressed inflectional or derivational forms (MEYER 1889: 84; NEWTON 1972a: 195). The change appears in MedG and EMG much more extensively than in MG, affecting even words of learned origin (e.g. τοποτερητής, Εὐρεπίδης, σερραφή, προσκενῶ, μετροπολίτης, ἄδεμονῶ – see examples below).

The phenomenon dates back to the Late Koine (GIGNAC 1976: 248; ΠΑΝΑΥΟΤΟΥ 1990: 197), and therefore it appears already in the earliest MedG documents, without geographical restrictions; it is a Panhellenic change probably pre-dating the split into the various dialects. It is very frequent, but there is constant variation in its application, the most important factor limiting its appearance being register (both of the text and of the specific lexical item). Because of the early appearance of the change, it is conceivable that several instances of /e/ deriving from original /ε:/ <η> are the result of retention of the ancient open pronunciation adjacent to a liquid, i.e. that they are due to inhibition of raising of /ε:/ > /i:/ rather than to lowering of /i/ > /e/.¹⁹

Furthermore, in texts composed in areas where “northern” dialect forms were spoken, it is possible that some cases of /i/ > /e/ lowering are due to the hypercorrection of most of the vowel raising characteristic of these linguistic varieties (cf. 2.5.4) rather than to the action of the adjacent liquid or nasal.

/m/ unstressed

- μετροπόλεως (11th c., Silymvria, EVANGELATOU-NOTARA 1982: 323, 186.1) μετροπολίτης (1655, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: 122.2–3) τῶν ἐμετέρων (1044, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 3, 146.14) δेमόσιον (1148, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1963: 7, 82.17); (δε)μοσίω / δेमοσίω (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 183.14); ἡ δेमοσιὰ (1693, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 32, 136.5) ἄδεμονεῖ Chron. Toc. 703 οἱ Μεζιθριῶται (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 37.II, 10.1) θεμωνιά (1590, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 8, 309.16); θεμωνιά (1713, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992a: 2, 75.5) Ρέθεμνος (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.32); Ρέθεμνος (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 2, 27.3) δίμετα (1616, Naxos, CHASIoTIS 1966: 20, 214.9) ἀμέρεμνοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 131.33 μεσοφαγωμένον Bertoldos 12.4 ἔμειναν εὐχαριστεμένοι (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 49, 64.22) μεδέ (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 53, 68.30)

¹⁹ It has in fact been suggested that the phenomenon of /i/ > /e/ lowering is an inheritance from the AG Aeolic dialect (KAPSOMENOS 1985: 48; MINAS ²2003: 43–4; discussion in ΜΟΥΣΙΑΔΗΣ 2005: 92) due to rare examples such as Lesb. Δαμοκρέτω IG XII 2 74 and Thess. κρεννέμεν IG IX 2 5 17.14. However, this is extremely doubtful, both because of the limited influence of the Aeolic dialect on the history of later Greek as compared to the Panhellenic spread of this change, and because of the different nature of the AG vowel system (short and long vowels, musical accent; all the examples quoted involve stressed vowels).

/m/ stressed

- εἰσοσδέματα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.8 μένημα (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 9, 313.8) μὲν ὑπᾶς Achil. N 1567 να μεν τυχαίνει Theseid VI.12,7 (Olsen) νὰ μὲν ποιήσης (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 404.231) ἀποστέματα LANDOS, Geopon. 177.23

/n/ unstressed

- Κομνενοῦ (1179, EVANGELATOU-NOTARA 1982: 443, 211.1) Κομνενός (1649–69, Thessaly, SPANOS 2001: 437, f.86v.23) Πελοπόννησον Chron. Mor. H 1405 γεναῖκες (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.4–5); τὴν γεναῖκαν του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 218.2
 τὸ πανεγύρι (1604, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 10, 166.77) Αἶγεναν Theseid VI.15,1 (Olsen); τὴν Αἶγεναν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 54.34 φτενόν LANDOS, Geopon. 247.20; φτενό (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1639) σενήθειο (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 148.55) Νεκήτας (1608, Kalymnos, KOUTELAKIS 1981: 2, 31.16) κάνεστρο (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 81.107); κάνεστρα (1627, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 240.28) ναν τον ἐπροσκενήσω (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 2, 361.24)

/n/ stressed

- γδένεται DEFAR., Sos. 108 (Holton)

/l/ unstressed

- τὸ ζευελατίον (1073, Constantinople?, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 50, 9.114) ζευελάτης [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1501 βελλάνους (1157?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 10, 315.8) θελείας (< θήλυ) (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 245.622) βουλεθῆ (1358?, Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. II C, 231.11) μαξελάρια LIMEN., Than. Rod. 176 (Wagner: μαξελλάρια) ἡ ἐλικία μας BERGADIS, Apok. A 245 βεγλήσει FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 262 app. crit.
 νὰ κολεμπήση Diig. Alex. E 233.3 (Lolos) Στελιανόν (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 21, 230.2); κύρ Στελιανός
 Ντὲ | Πάλμας (1548, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 119, 233.3–4); τὸν
 Στελιανό (1573, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 4, 14.27) ἡπροσελῶνει (1608, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 18, 177.6) τὸ στελέτον (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 518, 744.16)

/l/ stressed

- ἀνέλικα (1177, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IV: 4, 120.2) ἐσκέλυεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 50.25 νὰ μὴν τὸ ἀμελέση TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 18 ἀκωλέτως (1573, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 4, 13.5)

/r/ unstressed

- θεοστερικτων (1015, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 15, 15.14) ἀνεπερέαστον (1034, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 29, 34.6) ὑπερεσίαν (1041, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 2, 141.41); ὑπερετεῖν (1101–1113?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 6, 394.2); νὰ μὲ ὑπερετήσουνε (1682, Skyros, ANDONIADES 1983: VIII, 184.8)

ἀκερῶσαι τὴν τοιαύτην διάταξιν (1096–1100, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 26, 121.16) στηχαιράριν (1138?, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 14, 102.21) σωτερία Jonas 215.61; σωτερευτῆς Chron. Mor. H 3872 ναύκληρος Ptoch. III 197.18 app. crit. (P); τὸν ναύκληρον Assizes B 296.23 καλόγερος (1288, Cos, NYSTAZOPOYLOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 227.10) Εὐρεπίδης ERMON., Ilias 1.147 ἐπλέρωσα (14th c.?, Cyprus, COUROPOY/GÉHIN 2001: 2, 157.3); πλερώνεται Dig. E 1705 τὰς μαγερίας (1453, Thrace/Black Sea?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 4, 89.35) μερσίνην Liv. V 837; μερσίνη Rim. kor. V 15 θερία σ' ἐφάγαν, DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 475; τοῦ θεριοῦ Anak. Konst. 36 σίδερα (1531, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 148, 267.31) βούτερον Diig. Alex. Sem. B τὴν σερραφὴν Spanos D 1785 ἄχερον Spanos A 462; Assizes B 497.6; ἄχερα (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 394.29) σκληρὰ καὶ ἀντροπιασμένα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 144.2; τῆς σκληρῆς Fior 73.24 τὴν σχηοράσιν / τὴν συχώρεσιν (1573, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 1, 75.11) σπερούνι (1594, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 57, 80.5–6) τοῦ Ἄργεροῦ (1645, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 5, 218.4)

/r/ stressed

ἀνακρένην (1101, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 7, 395.14); ἀνακρένει KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 455.3 ψαλτέριον (1116, S. Italy, EVANGELATOU-NOTARA 1982: 364, 194.1) κρένουν Chron. Mor. H 2394; κρένη Poulol. AZ 109 ἐπλέρωσα (14th c.?, Cyprus, COUROPOY/GÉHIN 2001: 2, 157.3) πλέρωμαν (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 134.60) τοῦ σιδέρου Liv. V 173; σίδερον ibid. 234 βρέσκει TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 59; βρέσκει Nov. I 156.5

2.8.2 Labialization

The influence of the labial consonants /p, b, f, v, m/ may cause the rounding of a vowel to /o/. This affects mostly /e/ and very rarely /a/. In the case of /i/, the influence of the labial consonants results in the corresponding high rounded vowel /u/, a change which is examined in 2.8.4 below, as it may be triggered by velar consonants as well.

/e/ > /o/. An (usually) unstressed /e/ occasionally changes to /o/ adjacent to the labial consonants /p, b, f, v, m/. The phenomenon has been considered a facet of the more common phenomenon of the change of /i/ > /u/, frequently termed labialization (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 280; SYMEONIDIS 1972; MOYSIADIS 2005: 105–6).

As far as dating is concerned, this change seems to be a medieval evolution. The first secure examples come from 12th-c. documents (cf. also MINAS ²2003: 52; LBG s.v. ἐξόμπλιν). The change is specifically mentioned in the grammars of Germano and Portius (PERNOT 1907/46: I 88–9; MEYER 1889: 79). According to NEWTON (1972a: 26), this phenomenon should chronologically have preceded the “northern” raising phenomena, since the /o/ resulting from this change undergoes raising to /u/ (γεφύρι > γιοφύρι > γιουφύρι); but such forms could be loanwords within the dialects affected by raising phenomena. The limited dialectal distribution also points to a later dating than the other labialization changes, which are common to all MG dialects except the most peripheral ones.

The change /e/ > /o/ is attested with stressed /e/ as well. In such cases, it could be the result of analogical paradigmatic levelling or assimilation to a following /o/. On the other hand, there are two lexical items (ψέμα > ψόμα and γεῦμα > γιόμα) where the change appears very frequently, from many areas and periods, despite the fact that most case-forms are stressed.

Unstressed

ἐξομπλίοις (1106, Athos, EVANGELATOU-NOTARA 1982: 350, 191.4) < Lat. exemplum τὸ γιοφύριν (1125, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 4, 555.17) < γεφύριν; γιοφυρίου (1211, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 261, 356.8); γιοφύρια Velth. 700; γιοφύρια Chron. Mor. P 542 ὀλόγομον (1325, Veroia?/Macedonia, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 64, 355.52); ἂν ἐγεομίζασιν Ptoch. IV 300 app. crit. (K); γομάτη Pol. Tr. 2733 app. crit. (R); γιομάτο ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 46.30 πορπάτημα Jonas 216.68; πορπατεῖτε BERGADIS, Apok. A 532; νὰ πορπατῇ TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 96 σύγνοφα Pol. Tr. 1246 app. crit. (X); Diig. Alex. F 236.3 (Lolos); συγνοφᾶ BERGADIS, Apok. V 87 νὰ πορτομηθῇτε Pent. Gen. 34.17 ροβίθια CHORTATSI, Katz. III.110; ροβίθια (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 162, 161.11); Ροβίθιον Porikol. III 59 γιομάτου DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 181 < γεῦμα ψοματινὴ CHORTATSI, Panor. I.22; ψοματινὸς KORNAROS, Erot. IV.404 τὸ ἀπόγιομα ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 55.38

Stressed

ψόμα Poulol. 246 app. crit. (CP); BERGADIS, Apok. A 163; (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 83.10); ψόμα (Unknown, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 31.4); ψόμα Rim. kor. A 18; ψόματα Alosis 736; ψόματα (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 2, 361.20) γιόμα Arm. 106; Krasop. V 65; Vosk. 366; Peri xen. 182; γιόμαν Achil. N 1030 ἰστρουμόντο (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 17, 33.24) ἡ χιότη Liv. V 1981; τὴν χιότη Diig. Alex. E 201.5 (Konstantinopulos) < χιάτη τὰ ρούματα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 265.20; ὡς τὸ ροῦμα (1678, Crete, VOUREDOUNBAKIS 1915: 28, 403: 9) < ρόμα < ρέμα < ρεῦμα τοὺς ἐφοβόρισε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 39.27

Other instances of apparent /e/ > /o/ adjacent to non-labial consonants should rather be interpreted as the results of analogy or folk etymology, cf. the two examples adduced by TRIANDAPHYLIDIS (1909: 9): δοκανίκια Diig. tetr. 917 (< δεκανίκι, influence of δόκανο) and βιτισορές, βιτισορήγας KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XVI.505 (< βιτισερές < Ital. vice-re, dissimilation, or reanalysis as the regular /o/ linking vowel of compounds).

/a/ > /o/. This change is occasionally mentioned in the literature, with examples such as θαμπός > θομπός, λαβωματιά > λοβωματιά, σαμάρι > σομάρι, παπάς > ποπάς (MEYER 1889: 73; MOYSIADIS 2005: 108). It is most likely not of phonetic origin, but due to phenomena such as folk etymology, analogy or assimilation. Very few instances have surfaced so far:

βοθρακοῦ Spanos D 32; μποθρακὸς CHORTATSI, Katz. II.41 μοσγίτιν Thrinis Tam. 22 (< Arab. masdjid, usual form μασγίδιον) τὰ σωμαρικά CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1123 πετροσόμαρα (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 118, 131.15) Σομαριάρης (1610, Mani, FLORISTÁN 2008: 1, 283.11)

The form όπού for άπό (1508, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 4.49), frequent in the acts of Olokalos, may be of morphological origin, perhaps through the intermediary of άπού, or may be due to a post-lexical vowel change at word boundaries (see 2.9.3) caused by the influence of words ending in /o/.

The fluctuation between /a/ and /o/ observable in a single text (VASMER 1922) has been attributed to language interference from Russian (VASMER 1922: 130; TZITZILIS 1999: 85): e.g. μήνος for μήνας (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 2059).

2.8.3 Raising of /o/ to /u/

Unstressed /o/ raises to /u/ in specific environments in all areas, mainly adjacent to velar and labial consonants (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 291–3; PERNOT 1907/46: I 142–5; NEWTON 1972a: 24–5; ΜΟΥΣΙΑΔΗΣ 2005: 97–102). Some scholars propose the additional influence of a sibilant or liquid environment, but this is difficult to establish due to the frequent simultaneous presence of a velar or labial consonant as well, e.g. τζούφιος < ζοφός < σομφός due to the labial /f/, Αμοργός > Αμουργός due to the labial /m/ (ΜΟΥΣΙΑΔΗΣ 2005: 101). In some words the phenomenon has been lexicalized and is therefore regular, i.e. the word always appears in the changed form, while other lexical items present variation.

Although the change normally applies only to unstressed /o/, stressed results of the change also occur, as the result of analogical levelling (NEWTON 1972a: 24). A special case is the word-class of neuter nouns in -ούνι, with apparent stressed /o/ > /u/, from AG diminutives in -ων > -ώνιον (e.g. ρώθων > ρωθώνιον > ρουθούνι, σάπων > σαπώνιον > σαπούνι, κώδων > κουδούνι etc.). CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: B 308) and PERNOT (1907/46: I 147) interpret them as the result of analogical spread from the corresponding verbs κουδουνίζω, σαπουνίζω, ρουθουνίζω and not of a straightforward application of the rule, since other members of this class, which do not possess verbal cognates, have not undergone the change, e.g. αηδόνι, τρυγόνι, παγόνι, σεντόνι. Alternatively, according to GEORGACAS (1951: 206–10), the -ούνι class could be interpreted as a late derivation from non-diminutive forms of nouns only after the /o/ > /u/ change had applied, i.e. from inflected forms like τὸν ρώθουνα, τὸν σάπουνα etc., where /o/ was unstressed and therefore subject to the change. This would explain the lack of change in αηδόνι, τρυγόνι, σεντόνι et sim., since their inflection never involved forms with unstressed /o/, as they were oxytone (AG αηδών, τρυγών, σινδών etc.).

The change must be dated at some point in the EMedG period. Papyrological data (GIGNAC 1976: 208–13) are not helpful for dating the phenomenon to the Roman period, because the interchange of /o/ and /u/ is very frequent in these texts due to interference from Coptic. EMedG examples include: κιβούριον Malalas, Chronogr. 490.3; Chron. Paschale 713.11 but κιβώριον De ceremoniis 98.2; Theophanes, Chronogr. 231.20; άρτοπουλίω De ceremoniis 502.1; κλουβίον ibid. 306.17; σαπουνίζω De thematibus 39.15; Καρβουνοψίνα Theophanes Cont. 705.12 (PSALTES 1913: 38). In LMedG, examples occur in the earliest non-literary documents from Athos and S. Italy (but are difficult to distinguish from “raising vocalism”) as well as in the earliest literary texts (Ptochoprodromos, Glykas).

On the other hand, Pontic and Cappadocian are reported as not taking part in the general /o/ > /u/ change and as exhibiting unchanged forms like ρωθώνιν, κωπίν etc. (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 291), which would point to a late appearance of the phenomenon, after the splitting off of these dialects. However, standard descriptions of these dialects provide many examples with raised /o/, e.g. ψουνίζω, βουτάνι, κουμπί, ρουφίζω, γουμάρι (from ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1958: 25), cf. also the forms reported by DÖLGER (1929/30) from the Vazelon archive (πουλεῖν, ἀπάνου, ἀποκάτου).

The modern dialect of Mani shows traces of a very early change of /o/ > /u/, which affects stressed /o/ stemming from AG /ɔ:/, e.g. στρούνου, φιλού, χρούμα, as well as unstressed original /ɔ:/ in environments and items not attested in other dialects, e.g. μαύρουν, σουστός (MIRAMBEL 1929: 58–73; CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: B 528–9; KONDOPOULOS ³2001: 78). This is considered a different, and earlier, change than the one discussed here, since it must have taken place before the falling together of /o/ and /ɔ:/ in the period of the Koine. Unfortunately, such instances do not seem to be attested in MedG documents from Mani.²⁰ However, there are very rare attestations of a corresponding phenomenon from the Peloponnese: that of the realization of the 1 sg. active verb ending -ω as -ου: νὰ χρωστάου τοῦ Ἀγίου Μάρκου (1696, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 33, 137.13).

The raising of /o/ > /u/ is much more widespread in MedG than in MG, and in medieval texts from Cyprus it is indeed very strong. This points to a general phonetic change inhibited by the influence of learned language.

Unstressed

- πουλεῖν (1005, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 13, 13.26) κουλλούρια (1062, Sicily, ROGNONI 2004: 11, 117.7) Λευκουσίας (1193, Cyprus, EVANGELATOU-NOTARA 1982: 471, 217.7); Λευκουσία (1303, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 31, 161.[12]3) ἀγελάδιν σύμμουσκον (1216, Macedonia, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 12, 123.11) μουσκαράκια SFRANTZIS, Chron. 128.4; μουσκάρια (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 20, 32.7) σχουλαρίκια (1280, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 82, 48.6) ψουνίζει Ptoch. IV 92 app. crit. (CP) σουλήνας Ptoch. IV 323 app. crit. (P); σουληνάριν [ANDR. PALAIOI.], Kallim. 1627 εἰς τὸ Ἀμμόχουστον (14th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 27, 3.5) γουργόν Chron. Mor. H 3073; γουργόν Pol. Tr. 6703 app. crit. (A) ψαλμουδία Jonas 215.58; ψαλμουδιές LIMEN., Than. Rod. 44 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: ψαλμουδιαῖς) ἀφουρμή (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 47, 25.2) ὁ Κουμνηνός MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 16.37 ψουμίν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.15 ζουγραφίζουν Achil. N 903; ζουγραφιστή Spanos A 250 τῶν κουδουνίων Achil. N 1210 κουρούνα Poulol. 430

²⁰ BASEA-BEZANDAKOU (2005: 284) reports only the name ἡ Φουκοῦ (= τοῦ Φωκᾶ) (1547, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: I, 70.4), also attested in another Maniot document: Φουκάς (1610, Mani, FLORISTÁN 2008: 1, 282.1).

μουρὲ Poulol. 241 app. crit. (E) πουρνόν BERGADIS, Apok. V 304 ἔναν κουμμάτιν (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 16, 32.6) πουλάρι (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 6, 27.22) προικοσύφουνο (1560, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 24, 102.1) τὴν παρούσαν μουλογία (1629, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 8, 173.6) φουλιάν Cypr. Canz. 142.16 τὸν ζουμόν LANDOS, Geopon. 243.30

Stressed

σαπούνιν Ptoch. IV 154; σαπούνι Theseid I.53,7 (Follieri); σαπούνιν DEFAR., Sos. 101 (Holton) ἀγούριν GLYKAS, Stichoi 210 ρωθοῦνι Jonas 215.53
 χοῦμαν Dig. E 86; χοῦμα Liv. E 44 καλούγριαν Assizes B 347.9
 σκούληκας Poulol. 118 ἔρρουκανοετούρνενυσεν Velth. 290 πλερούσουσιν (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 56.52) ροῦφημαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 524 τοῦ κούπου Assizes A 73.30 τὰ κούρταλα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 441 < κρόταλον φούνια FALIEROS, Log. did.; ἐψούνινσεν Pist. kekoim. 162 μέ κούκκαλα λεφάντινα Diig. Alex. E 147.15 (Lolos)

The phenomenon is detectable also through (rare) hypercorrections, e.g.

κομονίου (1391, Corfu, Tselikas 1986b: 182.3) δοκατα κε / δοκάτα κε' (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.10) προκοσύμφωνον (1662, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 6, 55.13) < προκοσύμφωνον < προικοσύμφωνον

Two special cases of stressed /o/ > /u/ need to be mentioned: the very frequent prepositional variant ἀπό > ἀπού, which, however, is not stressed within a phonological phrase, as it is proclitic on the following word, and the quantitative determiner ὅλος > οὔλος/οὔλος, which is a widespread dialectal form that has been interpreted as an Ionic archaism (THUMB 1901: 86; but cf. CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 284; LKN s.v. οὔλος). See II, 5.13.1.1 for further examples.

τὸ βάθος οὔλον (1199, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 247, 336.4) νὰ κάμης οὔλα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.23 οὔλα (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 60.5) οὔλους τοὺς ἀγάπουν Anak. Konst. 41 καὶ φοβιτσαροὶ οὔλοι FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 71 οὔλη τὴν Ἑλλάδα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 20.11–12

It is also crucial to distinguish this change from the regional raising phenomenon /o/ > /u/ (see 2.5.4).

2.8.4 Backing of /i/ > /u/

The high front vowel /i/ changes to the corresponding high back vowel /u/ in the adjacency of velar and labial consonants, in unstressed syllables. The phenomenon appears in all areas, but it is regular only in some lexical items and not in others. It affects /i/ of any historical provenance (i.e. ι, η, ει, υ, οι, not only from Koine /y/). According to JOSEPH (1979: 46), the environment of the change should be better defined as follows: /i/ between consonants, where one of the consonants is a labial or a velar and the other consonant is a sonorant /l, r, m, n/ or both are labial or velar. Other scholars (MOYSIADIS 2005: 105) doubt the influence of adjacent liquid consonants, and attribute the change only to the presence of labials and velars. However, it is possible that liquids may play an additional role, i.e. support the tendency when the main triggering consonant is present.

It is often claimed (see 2.4.6.2) that several cases of MG /u/ corresponding to AG /y/, sometimes standing in variation with forms in /i/, are instances of a direct retention of an ancient pronunciation (KAPSOMENOS 1985: 111; MINAS ²2003: 37, cf. LIOSIS/PAPADAMOU 2011 for an overview).²¹ Common examples include: μουστάκι, στουπί, σκουτί, ξουράφι/ξυράφι, χρουσός/χρυσός etc. However, the fact that these /u/ sounds occur quite consistently adjacent to velar and labial consonants, i.e. in an environment which is known to cause backing of /i/ to /u/, renders the retention scenario dubious. Since the innovative change /i/ to /u/ is well attested in the MedG period, the presence of forms with etymological <υ> = /u/ in medieval texts does not necessarily entail that they are AG survivals. Only the presence of /u/ from original AG /u/ in a phonetic environment not involving labial, velar or sonorant consonants, or when the base-form of the word is stressed, attested in MedG texts, can be considered a candidate for a true archaic retention of AG /u/; a typical example is the personal pronoun ἐσοῦ consistently attested in Ancient, Medieval and Modern Cypriot (see II, 5.3.1.2). In most other cases /u/ must have evolved regularly to /y/ and then, in the environments described above, i.e. in the vicinity of velar, labial and sonorant consonants, it must have become subject to the irregular /i/ > /u/ change, which affected all Medieval Greek /i/ sounds irrespective of origin. Some of these /i/ sounds simply happened, coincidentally, to correspond to ancient <υ> rather than to <η, ει, ι>.

Unfortunately the phonetic environment of the change /i/ > /u/ is rather unclear. Firstly, there are exceptions to the rule both ways, i.e. one may find unaffected /i/ despite the fact that a velar, labial or sonorant consonant is adjacent, or an affected /i/ despite the fact that these conditions are not met. Furthermore, because the conditioning consonants belong to so many classes, it is in fact difficult to find an /i/ that does not meet at least one of the conditions of the proposed change. The phenomenon appears rarely with stressed vowels, in which case paradigmatic levelling should be assumed.

As far as dating is concerned, the situation is again imprecise: there is inscriptional evidence for sporadic appearance of <ου> instead of <υ> already in the first centuries AD

²¹ This would entail direct survival from an AG dialect other than Ionic-Attic, which did not undergo the AG dialectally restricted fronting change /u/ > /y/ (i.e. Doric, Aeolic or Arcado-Cypriot).

(DIETERICH 1898: 23), e.g. χρουσός, ούπέρ. These can indeed be AG dialectal survivals with the caveats expressed above, or instances of a change /y/ > /u/, since one could assume that the environments that backed /i/ to /u/ could also affect /y/. Alternatively, along with KAPSOMENOS (1985: 111), one could assume that the spelling <ου> in these cases simply betrays a failed attempt to render the sound [y] on the part of those speakers who did not possess it in their native language system.

However, there is no evidence for interchange of original AG <ι, η, ει, οι> with <ου> before the 11th c.

Unstressed

- βουττία (1007, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 1, 136.38) χρουσου (1008, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 14, 138.29); χρουσοῦ [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 800
 νὰ κρουφθῇ Log. parig. L 63; κουρφά PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1663 κολουμποῦσι Velth. 697 transcr. (Lendari) (κολουμποῦσι Kriaras) Σουρίαν Chron. Mor. P 1361; Σουρία DEFAR., Sos. 56 (Holton) βρουχᾶται Dig. E 394; βρουχίσματα ἔποικε Byz. Il. 118; ἔβρουχᾶτον SKLAVOS, Symf. 129 πᾶμφουμος Pol. Tr. 136 app. crit. (V); περίφουμον ibid. 110 app. crit. (V) προυκίον (1496, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1, 48.8); προυκοχάρτι (1573, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 4, 13.8)
 ὀρδουνιάσουν (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 135.102) μοῦρμουγκοι Poulol. 49 app. crit. (CP); τοῦ μουρμουκιοῦ Fior 109.25 τὸ μουστάκιν του κλάσε το Spanos D 14 εἰς τὰς ἀλογοπατουματές των Spanos A 200 σουρίζει Alex. Rim. 190; νὰ τοὺς σουρίξη MONTSEL., Evgena 261 ἄγκουραν (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 53.12); ἄγκουραν Cypr. Canz.
 143.7
 ἡ Ἄστουπαλιά (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 98.tit.) ἐμπροστοκούρτουνα (1561, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 12, κζ'.20) σουπέας Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1104; σουπές PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §9.2
 ἔβαλε ξουράφι νὰ τὸ ξουρίση Synax. gyn. 218; μὲ ξουράφιν Diig. Alex. F 262.13 (Lolos) μὴ στρουφογυρίζης LANDOS, Geopon. 177.28–9 μὲ ζουμάρι LANDOS, Geopon. 249.27 τὸ φουκάριν FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.11 ζουλιάρη Epain. gyn. 626 τουραγνὰ CHORTATIS, Katz. I.76 app. crit.; νὰ τουραγνιέται MONTSEL., Evgena 953 ξουφάριν Cypr. Canz. 30.1 πουροστιὰ (1645, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 5, 219.24) Γεράσουμος (1683, Naxos, TOURTOGLOU 2000: 2, 115.19) ἐφουμέρευεν (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 824, 1107.7) στὴν Κορφοξουλιά (17th c., Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 44, 315.1–2)

Stressed

- ἔσου ὁ ἀγοραστὴς (1134, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 43, 192.12) εσου / ἔσου (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.7) φούμην ἀγαθὴ DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1097 τὸ σκουλούκιν Ptochol. P 185 κρούσταλλον Dig. E 1655 πτερούγιν Dig. E 1513 τούμπανο Krasop. V 10; τούμπανο Pent. Gen. 31.26; μὲ τούμπανα PETRITSIS, Dig. O 139 μούττην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 282.5 (regular form of the word in Cyprus); ἀποὺ τήν μούτην του Assizes A 204.2

ἐξούρισε Alex. Rim. 39 ὁ ποὺγουνάς της Diig. Alex. Sem. S 8 ὁ ποὺσκοπος (16th–17th c.?, Macedonia?, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 2166, f.54r.1) ὁ ἀτὸς δὲν πιάννει μοῦγες Fior 130.8–9 ζούλευσε PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §5.1; ἐζούλεψεν Pent. Gen. 30.1 μερμούγκι DEFAR., Log. did. 215 φρούδι P&N Diath. 110; φρούδιν BERGADIS, Apok. V 56 τρούπα (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.16); μία τρούπα μεγάλη EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.9

2.8.5 Assimilation and Dissimilation

Assimilation is a sporadic phenomenon which occurs already in AG and Koine Greek (DIETERICH 1898: 19–23; MAYSER 1923: 149–51; LEJEUNE 1972: §254). In MedG it also occurs sporadically, throughout the period and in all areas. Despite its sporadicity, it is possible to observe a number of regularities (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 234–8; PERNOT 1907/46: I 236; MOYSIADIS 2005: 112–13): assimilation affects only unstressed vowels, it is more frequently regressive than progressive, and the influence of vowels seems to be related to the vowel hierarchy (see 2.9.2) in that weaker vowels tend to assimilate to stronger ones. It is natural, therefore, that most of the attested cases are assimilations to /a/, the strongest vowel in the hierarchy.

Changes affecting initial vowels are better interpreted as the result of contact between vowels at word boundaries, as determined by the vowel hierarchy (see 2.9.3). In several cases it is difficult to decide whether the vowel change is due to assimilation rather than to the action of an adjacent consonant (e.g. lowering due to liquids, backing etc.). Assimilation is especially frequent in Cypriot texts.

Regressive

ἀνάθαμαν (1023–4, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1968: 1, 24.8–9) ἀπεδέα (1073, Miletos, VRANOUSI 1980: 50, 9.116) μαναχός SULT. WALAD, Poem I 1b; ἥρχουμου μαναχός (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.31) δεμέστικον Chron. Mor. H 2606 λαμπάρδοι Chron. Mor. P 1059 Μοθώνη Chron. Mor. P 1690; Μοθωναίου (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 98.190) θαραπεύω Dig. E 1443; νὰ θαρπαγεῖ Thysia Avr. 216 ἀκουλουθοῦν Dig. E 209 app. crit.; ἀκουλουθοῦν Pol. Tr. 3085 app. crit. (V) τῶν ὀρώτων Dig. E 1477 app. crit.; ὀρωτική Achil. N 122; ὀρωτικὴν Krasop. V 6 εἰς τὴν Περιστορόναν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 30.15 δικιμήν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 644.7; νὰ τὰ δικιμάσεις Thysia Avr. 540 νὰ παρπατοῦν ὀξαπόλυτοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 192.2 δραπάνιν ἐν (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 75, 73.8) προυτοῦ Alex. Rim. 999 ἀσιρνικῶν (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 172.7) ζευγαλάτης Cypr. Canz. 20.9

άλουποῦ Pist. voskos III 6.72

τὸ μαναστήρι (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 2, 7.3–4)

αἱ ἀναράϊδες Alex. Fyll. 79.8

Progressive

φοροστέροις (1094, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 4, 390.19)

Πελεπόννησος Chron. Mor. P 1579 πολομοῦμε σε (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 16, 11.1); πολομοῦν

MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 30.12; πολομᾶ Assizes A 26.20 βούτουρο Pent. Gen. 18.8

ὄροχτικά Pent. Gen. 49.20; ὄροξι (1625, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 99, 240.44–5) φλourounτινίκου VOUSTR., Chron. A 12.14–15 < φλωρενττὴν φαμαλιάν (1571, Unknown, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 8, 481.10–11) καταβοδοθῶ Alex. Rim. 1317 οἱ Μαμαλοῦκοι SKLAVOS, Symf. 176

ὁ Πτολομαῖος VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 113 ἔξεπνες (1609, Cyprus, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90: III 20, 266.4) < ἔξυπνος τὸ παναγύριν Pist. kekoim. 161

Dissimilation is also attested since AG times (LEJEUNE 1972: §254), but is much rarer than assimilation and less easy to distinguish from other changes affecting vowels. In MedG and EMG it appears very sporadically, without any regularity and, again, is hard to distinguish from other phonetic changes, as well as as from folk etymology and hypercorrection (Chatzidakis 1905/07: A 238–9).

Τσεγγαρόπολος (1116, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 15, 412.2) < Τσαγγαρ-ἀπιλογίαν Chron. Mor. H 295 < ἀπολογία ἐλαλούδιζαν Dig. E 1061 < λουλουδὀρκοματικοῦ (1503, Constantinople, YANNOPOULOS 1974: 133.25) ἀνοψίεις (1600, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: II, 70.3) < ἀνιψ-

2.9 Vowels in Contact

2.9.1 Introduction: Types of Hiatus and Hiatus Resolution

Sequences of immediately adjacent vowels occur both at the lexical level (word-internally), and post-lexically (at word boundaries). The resulting hiatus is resolved in a number of different ways:

- deletion of one of the vowels (see 2.9.2)
- vowel coarticulation: diphthongization (2.4.8.1), synizesis (2.9.4), crasis (2.9.5)
- anaptyxis of an intervocalic glide [j] (3.5.2.1) or a euphonic consonant /n/ (3.7.2.1)
- metathesis, so that one vowel is postposed after a consonant (3.9.1).

Hiatus resolution through one of the above strategies is optional, and depends on a variety of factors. On the lexical level, hiatus resolution is the regular development, but may be avoided if it would lead to deletion of inflectional suffixes, for the preservation of morphological transparency (e.g. ἀκούω, ἀγαπάει). It is also avoided when the hiatus is secondary, i.e. arising from the deletion of an intervocalic consonant (see 3.6.1.1), e.g. καλόγερος > καλόερος, πέλαγος > πέλαο.

At word boundaries, the default development is hiatus retention, while hiatus resolution takes place mainly within close-knit syntactic units forming phonological phrases. This is to be expected, in that hiatus resolution across word boundaries is a fast-speech phenomenon, not taking place in careful or formal enunciation and therefore not characteristic of written language.²² The syntactic constructions in which post-lexical hiatus resolution mostly takes place are the following: clitic pronoun + verb (e.g. τὸ εἶδα > τό 'δα), particle + verb (e.g. νὰ ἔρθω > νὰ 'ρθω), article + noun (e.g. τὸ ἀμπέλιν > τ' ἀμπέλιν), preposition + complement (e.g. ἀπὸ αὐτόν > ἀπ' αὐτόν), conjunction + verb (καὶ ἦρθε > κι ἦρθε, ποὺ εἶναι > ποὺ 'ναι). The special aptitude of these syntactic environments for vowel deletion is already noted by Germano: “Perche li Greci vsano assai accortare, & sminuire le parole, ὃ congiunte, come νάναι, in vece di νὰ εἶναι, τόδα, in vece di τὸ εἶδα, μούρθε, in luogo di μοῦ ἦρθε, & simili” (GERMANO, Grammar 95.6–8).

In this respect, there is a strong difference between prose and verse texts in MedG and EMG: whereas in prose texts hiatus resolution is to be found almost exclusively in the syntactic environments listed above, in verse texts, due to the requirements of the metre, hiatus resolution is more common, and occurs also between more loosely connected words, though again not very frequently, except in late EMG poetic works. Some EMG texts, especially printed editions, seem particularly prone to the phenomenon (on this see also VEJLESKOV 2005: 166). Hiatus retention in poetic texts may also depend on metrical or stylistic reasons, such as the position of the caesura, semantic emphasis etc. (see BAKKER 1993; DELIGIANNAKI 2005: 172–4).

The observable tendencies concerning hiatus resolution are, however, not quantifiable, as they depend largely on graphematic, scribal or editorial choices: the representation of the phenomena is dictated by differing editorial or orthographic practices, especially in the case of word division (cf. MOENNIG 2001: 203–5). To a large extent this problem also concerns the practices of early typographers and the ambiguity in the representation of phenomena such as apocope, elision etc. Some editors may “restore” the metre of a verse text by introducing vowel deletions as an emendation, or different versions of the same text may contain variant forms of the same line, one with hiatus resolution and one without (on the problem see GARANDODIS 1993; BAKKER 1993; ALONSO ALDAMA 2005; KAFKALAS 2000: 37–40); editorial interventions with respect to vowel deletion may not even be mentioned in the apparatus criticus (cf. BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1996: 149; VEJLESKOV 2005: 180–1). Examples:

νὰ ἀφήκουν τὴν στράταν τῆς Συρίας, ν' ἀπέλθουν εἰς τὴν Πόλιν, Chron. Mor. H 513 ὁ 'τσαλοπεριπάτης Ptoch. IV 551 ('τσαλοπεριπατάρης C, ἀτσαλοπεριπάτης P) κρατώντ' ἀπὸ τὸ χέριν BERGADIS, Apok. A 96; κρατώντα ἀπὸ τὸ χέρι Apok. V 96 ἄρχοντ' αὐτόν ἐποῖκε Dig. T 1590; ἄρχοντα τὸν ἐποῖκε Dig. A 2478

²² See also GIGNAC 1976: 315 for the avoidance of hiatus resolution at word boundaries in Koine papyri, due to a tendency to isolate individual words in writing.

ἡμεῖς θανοῦσαν σὲ εἶχομεν καὶ σπαθοκοπημένην Dig. G I.324 ἄπάνω στὰ λαμπρὰ ἄρματα, τὰ θαυμαστά, βασταίνει Imb. Rim. 417 (Venetian ed. λαμπρ' ἄρματα)

In some especially frequent collocations, vowel deletion across word boundaries has created lexicalized univerbations, e.g. τὶ εἶναι τὰ > τεῖντα/ῖντα, εἰς πολλὰ ἔτη > σπολλάτη, ἐν τῷ ἄμα > ἐντάμα/ἀντάμα, καλὴ ἡμέρα > καλημέρα, ὥς καὶ ἄν > σκιάν.

2.9.2 Vowel Deletion: The Vowel Hierarchy

Deletion of one of two consecutive vowels is a hiatus resolution strategy that occurs both word-internally and at word boundaries. As discussed above, this strategy is to a certain extent optional. When it does take place, the choice of the vowel to be deleted is determined by two competing tendencies: (a) linguistically conditioned deletion, according to the automatic rules of MedG and EMG phonology, and (b) stylistically conditioned deletion, according to the spelling norms of AG. In the first case, either vowel may be deleted, depending on the relative phonological strength, or sonority, of the two vowels. In the second case, the first of the two vowels is always deleted, irrespective of the vowels' phonological strength, i.e. in conventional terms, elision is preferred over aphaeresis, as in AG (on the phenomenon in AG cf. KÜHNER/BLASS ³1892: §53; SMYTH 1984: §70–6).

The sonority scale or vowel hierarchy in MedG was initially described by G. Chatzidakis (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 308–13; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 211–17; cf. also JANNARIS 1897: 84–6 [§§145–54]; PERNOT 1913; TSOPANAKIS 1960; ANDRIOTIS 1976b), and one may compare the very similar data for MG (NEWTON 1972a: 41–6; THEOPHANOPOULOU-KONTOU 1972–3: 382–7; KAISSE 1977; HOLTON et al. ²2012: 25–7). The vowel hierarchy is related to the articulatory features of the five LMedG and MG vowels: back vowels dominate front ones and low vowels dominate higher ones.²³ Therefore, the hierarchy takes the form /a o u e i/: the vowel /a/ will prevail when adjacent to any other, /o/ will prevail over /u e i/ but will be deleted in favour of /a/, and so on: for example, τὸ ἄκουσα > τ' ἄκουσα but τὸ ἔφερα > τό 'φερα, τὸ εἶδα > τό 'δα. When the deleted vowel is the stress carrier of the phonological phrase, the stress is normally shifted to the surviving vowel of the preceding proclitic word (see also 4.2.2). In general, a stressed vowel is less likely to be deleted, and deletion is especially avoided if both the stronger and the weaker vowel are stressed.

In the lower section of the hierarchy, a stressed weaker vowel may occasionally prevail over the one immediately preceding in the hierarchy (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 313), e.g. καὶ εἶδα > κὶ εἶδα not καί 'δα. Partly for this reason, in some recent accounts of the vowel hierarchy in MG, the order of the two last vowels is reversed (NESPOR 1999: 91; KLAIRIS/BABINIOTIS 2004: 1040; KAINADA 2012: 263–4). However, this is a notable area of differentiation between MedG and MG, since in MedG texts /e/ normally prevails over /i/ in accordance with the vowel hierarchy. A characteristic application of this phonetic generalization is the suggestion that in cases where one would expect a stressed ḡ- verbal augment (in Cretan texts) but the manuscript tradition gives ḡ-, one should consider the possibility that this results from false segmentation because of a preceding proclitic word, conjunction or adverb ending in /e/, e.g. σεκαμα Thysia Avr. 388 should be analysed as σέ 'καμα rather than as σ' ἔκαμα and κεκλεγε ibid. 594 as καί 'κλαιγε rather than as κ' ἔκλαιγε (BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1996: 147; HENRICH 1998b: 101–2).

²³ Recent experimental and instrumental phonetic research on MG (see KAINADA 2012 and references therein) indicates that vowel deletion is a gradient and not a categorical phenomenon (i.e. it results in a continuum of partially assimilated vowels rather than in the full deletion of one of them) and that it is driven by coarticulation rather than an abstract, underlying phonological hierarchy. However, in view of the fact that such research methods are not available for past phases of the language, that written sources will inevitably show only categorical outcomes (deletion vs. non-deletion) and that the vowel hierarchy is descriptively adequate for the analysis of MedG data, it continues to be used here.

The vowel hierarchy does not hold for the Pontic dialect, in which deletion always affects the first vowel, following the AG pattern. There is meagre evidence for this from two documents of Pontic origin: ἐπὶ τ' ἔργον (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 160.4d) (see HENRICH 1990: 360) and διὰ μνημόσυνον τε <ἐ>μόν / διὰ μνημόσυνον τ' ἔμόν (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 148, 109.8); see also LAMPSIDIS 1952: 231. For the phenomenon in Modern Pontic see ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1958: 71.

As far as the dating of the phenomenon of vowel deletion is concerned, inevitably its earliest manifestations appear in the Koine, after the wholesale transformation of the vowel system caused by the loss of quantity distinctions. The first examples concern lexical hiatus, and seem to involve deletion of /i/ when followed by another vowel, a phonetic environment which in LMedG would lead not to deletion but to synizesis, e.g. ραδουργίας, τράκοντα, ἀρχερεὺς, σαγωνίου, ψαθοπλόκος (DIETERICH 1898: 59; GIGNAC 1976: 302–6). Such spellings have been interpreted by many scholars as representations of synizesis in unstressed sequences rather than as deletion (HORROCKS 2010: 169). However, the existence of many quite common MedG (and MG) lexical items displaying deletion, such as σιαγών > σαγόνι, σιωπῶ > σωπαίνω, σιάλος > σάλιο, φασήολος > φασούλιν, δυώδεκα > δώδεκα (already in AG), κυρία > κυρά (PSALTES 1913: 34–5; note that in most of the words in question deletion takes place after a sibilant) may be an indication that this was a real deletion process. Alternatively, LMedG lexical items showing deletion instead of synizesis may be interpreted as the results of a late process, i.e. they may initially have been unaffected by synizesis due to their higher register, leaving the vowel sequence intact and thus amenable to deletion (e.g. ἀνδρωμένος, θωρῶ; see further examples below).

The irregular evolution of the AG diphthong /au/ to /a/ instead of /af/ in the weak forms of the personal pronoun, i.e. αὐτον > ἄτον > τον (see II, 5.3.2.2 and DRESSLER 1966a: 56–8), which also takes place in the period of the Koine,²⁴ can similarly be attributed to a very early instantiation of the deletion strategy, applying in a very common phonetic environment, that of an unstressed object clitic, which was especially prone to fast-speech effects. On the other hand, the notable number of attestations of the spellings <α> and ²⁴ Texts from Pontos preserve the form ἄτός without initial vowel deletion, as in modern Pontic: τὸ μερτικὸ νὰ τον / τὸ μερτικὸν ἄτων (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 145, 108.4; ἐνοχλεῖ α<ὐ>τό / ἐνοχλεῖ ἄτο (ibid. 147, 109.8); see LAMPSIDIS 1952: 231.

<ε> instead of <αυ> and <ευ> to be found in papyri and inscriptions of the Koine period, such as ἀξάνων, πάλλα, ἐλάνοντας, ἐλεθερία, βουλευτής, πρυτανέσας (see DIETERICH 1898: 78–80; GIGNAC 1976: 226–9; BRIXHE ²1987: 57–9; ΠΑΝΑΥΟΤΟΥ 1990: 261–2), points to diphthong simplification (instead of consonantization) as a more general alternative tendency, unconnected to the specific environment of the clitic. This eventually lost out, and survives today only in isolated lexical items such as παραγαύδιον > παραγάδι (ANDRIOTIS 1939). However, it has alternatively been suggested that such spellings are merely indications of the ongoing consonantization process, as the writers were unable to represent the innovative semi-vocalic [w] sound graphematically (GIGNAC 1976: 229; BRIXHE ²1987: 58–9).

Another early environment for the application of the innovative deletion strategy (as opposed to AG hiatus resolution strategies, which involve mainly contraction) is that of consecutive identical vowels, with papyrological examples such as ἐπέικια, Θέ, πείν (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 308–9; JANNARIS 1897: 84–5; DIETERICH 1898: 43–4).

Post-lexical deletion at word boundaries, i.e. phonetically driven deletion governed by the vowel hierarchy, discounting the elision process determined by AG rules (which is a diachronically stable phenomenon), is also first attested in the Koine, though not very commonly; cf. the examples cited under “inverse elision” in GIGNAC 1976: 319–21 and ΠΑΝΑΥΟΤΟΥ 1990: 292. In any case, it must be assumed that phonetically driven aphaeresis was quite common in EMedG, as otherwise the phenomenon of (lexical) initial vowel deletion, already present in EMedG (see 2.7.1), would not have developed.

2.9.2.1 Lexical Vowel Deletion

In the case of lexical (word-internal) hiatus, deletion²⁵ is almost always linguistically conditioned. Thus, sequences of identical vowels are simplified to a single vowel, and sequences of non-identical vowels are reduced through deletion of the vowel which is lower in the hierarchy /a o u e i/; see TSOPANAKIS 1960 for a discussion of isolated lexical exceptions such as γοητεύω > γητεύω. An important inhibiting factor is register, as lexical items or texts belonging to higher registers often do not show the phenomenon. Also, in lexical items already formed in AG, or formed in MedG but in higher registers following AG derivational patterns, such as learned compounds, deletion does not follow the vowel hierarchy; instead, the first vowel is deleted, according to AG phonology (e.g. παρὰ + ἔρχομαι > παρέρχομαι not *παράρχομαι).

Inflectional suffixes are in many cases not deleted (e.g. ἀγαπάει, τρώει), or, in Chatzidakis’s opinion (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 564), they are deleted and subsequently restored analogically. Notwithstanding, lexical vowel deletion is in several cases the trigger for morphological innovations in the nominal and the verbal domain. For example, in the case of secondary hiatus arising from the deletion of an intervocalic fricative, deletion takes place optionally, e.g. ἔφαγε > ἔφαε > ἔφα, τρώγομεν > τρώομεν > τρώμε, leading to the new inflectional paradigm of semi-contracted verbs (see III, 2.1.1.2). In nominal inflection, vowel deletion affects the formation of plurals of the feminine nouns in -έα (σπαθέα – σπαθέες > σπαθές), and the masculine nouns in -ιος (καβαλλάριος – καβαλλάριοι > καβαλλάρουι → καβαλλάρους), see II, 2.7. A special case of lexical deletion is that of the suffix -ιος/-ιον in masculine and neuter nouns developing to -ις, -ιν through deletion of /o/, instead of synizesis or deletion of /i/ as per the vowel hierarchy. This development pre-dates the LMedG period and is therefore not discussed here in full (see GEORGACAS 1948 for a list of early attestations, and FILOS 2009, FILOS 2017, HORROCKS 2010: 175–6 for the most recent interpretations). However, it must be noted that the restriction of the phenomenon to nouns (though certainly not all nouns, e.g. ἥλιος) and the exclusion of the phonetically identical adjectives in -ιος -ιον from this development (e.g. ἄξιος, τίμιος, πλούσιος) indicates that the causes of the phenomenon cannot have been purely phonetic, and that morphological levelling of some sort must have played a part.

²⁵ Note that in traditional philological accounts of MedG and EMG phonology, lexical vowel deletion is occasionally termed “contraction”.

A distinction must be made between true phonetic deletion and apparent deletion due to paradigm levelling, i.e. to the analogical spread of a stem with deleted vowel to other slots of an inflectional paradigm. For example, κρῶ does not result directly from κρούω, but from the reformation of the semi-contracted paradigm on the basis of the 2/3 sg. κροῦς/κροῦ. Similarly, the plural ζά does not derive directly from ζῶα, but is a new plural formed from the singular ζῶο > ζό, with simplification of consecutive identical vowels.

As already discussed above, the sequences of /e/ + V, /i/ + V would normally be expected to develop through synizesis. However, in a number of lexical items, deletion of the higher vowel (as per the hierarchy) is observed, e.g. Θεόδωρος > Θόδωρος. In some cases, the deletion can be interpreted as a result of the failure of /i/ to consonantize, due to the fact that it is preceded by a consonant cluster, e.g. ἄγριο- > ἄγρο-, κρυο- > κρο-, τρια- > τρα- (see KRETSCHMER 1905: 118–19; MINAS 2005: 464–6 and 2.4.7.4). In other cases, it could be assumed that the sequence resisted synizesis due to the high register of the lexical item (i.e. the specific item was not part of everyday language and as such exempt from its influence), and therefore was subjected at a later stage to resolution through deletion. Some lexical items may also be considered as inherited elements preserving the ancient phenomenon of hyphaeresis (irregular deletion of [e] and more rarely [o] in the sequence [eo], e.g. Θεοκλῆς > Θεοκλῆς, Νεοπτόλεμος > Νεπτόλεμος, cf. LEJEUNE 1972: 252–3). The phenomenon is not to be confused with the geographically and phonetically restricted phenomenon of /j/ deletion after sibilants, usually termed “depalatalization”, and /r/ for which see 2.4.7 and 2.9.4.

Similarly, the sequences of low vowel + high vowel would be expected to develop normally to falling diphthongs with a semi-vocalic /j/ as second member. Instead of diphthongization, in several instances the result is deletion, e.g. ἀετός > ἄτός; cf. also 2.4.8.3. A specially productive subcase in this category is the AG adjectival derivational suffix -έινος, which in LMedG has two allomorphs deriving from the application of two different hiatus resolution strategies: regular vowel deletion -έινος > -ένος (mostly in the Cyclades, the Dodecanese and Cyprus) and metathesis -έινος > -ένιος (see 3.9.1). The same deletion process also applies to the derivational suffix αίκος > -αῖκος (ρωμαῖκος, ἑβραῖκος etc.). For these two subcases see TSOPANAKIS 1960: 440.

Lexical vowel deletion appears already in the earliest LMedG texts (see MINAS ²2003: 47–50), as the phenomenon pre-dates this period (see above). Examples:

Identical Vowels

/a/ + /a/

Ἀβράμιος (1186, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. X: 9, 494.14) Ἰσάκου (1188, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 12, 529.33) κύρ Σάκης ὁ Βατάτσης Chron. Mor. H 448 (cf. Ἰσάκιος Theophanes, Chronogr. 238) ἐφάγανε vel ἐφάσι GERMANO, Grammar 96.3

/o/ + /o/

ζωποιοὺς σταυρούς (1034, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 29, 34.1–2) ὄγδον τὸ λέγουν Chron. Mor. H 1026 ὀλῶμα Poulol. 44 < ὀλόωμος ἔνα ζό (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 393.29) χρουσοχός (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKIS 1962a: 1, 39.26); ὁ χρυσοχὸς ἐκεῖνος [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 331

/u/ + /u/

πρῶτα νὰ κροῦν τὲς σφονδυλὲς Arm. 60; νὰ κροῦν Dig. E 1405; νὰ κροῦσιν Achil. N 723

/e/ + /e/

ὦ θέ μου Ptoch. IV 179 app. crit. (P) ἐκάϊτον Pol. Tr. 644 πολλὲς σπαθὲς τὸν ἔδωκεν Pol. Tr. 672 κονταρές Chron. Mor. H 4916 φταῖτε Chron. Mor. H 2691 ἔκλαιν BERGADIS, Apok. A 387 ἔλῆς (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 86, 163.98)

/i/ + /i/

συγκλεῖ (1093, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 57, 74.16) δοικῆσεως (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.43) πῖsome / ποῖσωμε Jonas 214.29 (comment p. 209) κακοδικήση Dig. G I.189 ποῖ Chron. Mor. H 668; νὰ ποῖσω Velis. χ 167; νὰ σοῦ τὸ ποῖσω Dig. E 1574 ἐχαροποιήσαν Velth. 1021 νὰ πῇ μὲ τὸ κρασὶν (15th c., Unknown, OIKONOMU-AGORASTU 1982: 86.9) κλεῖ (1516, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 94, 94.5) τοὺς ἐγγυτάδες Assizes A 65.12; ἐγγυτάδες (1616, Naxos, CHASIOTIS 1966: 20, 213.6) δηγήθηκα TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 272 app. crit. (1577) τὸ πῖ μου Diig. Alex. E 43.4 (Konstantinopulos)

Non-identical Vowels

/a/ + /o/

Νικόλαν Φαβατὰν (1157?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 10, 316.3) Νικόλα ἐκείνου (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.16) ἐχάσες την GLYKAS, Stichoï 206; ἐχάσα το [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1470 < ἐχάωσα

/a/ + /u/

ὄταν φᾶν Pol. Tr. 3435 app. crit. (B) ὕπᾶν Dig. E 201

κοιλιοχορδοφᾶσα Diig. tetr. 286 < φάγουσα

/a/ + /e/

πασανοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 8.30

ὁ σταυρατὸς Poulol. 653 app. crit. (E) ἄτὸς μὲ ἐφάνην Liv. V 2474; ὁ ἄτὸς δὲν πιάννει μοῦγες Fior 130.8–9 δεκάξι (1479, Cyprus, DARROUZES 1953: 6, 89.3) δεκαπτά (1516, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 94, 94.9) δεκαφτά (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 12, 10.4) δεκαννιά (1660, Kefalonia, PETROPOULOS 1962: B.12, 319.22) παρέρχεται Achil. N 1653

παρεμπρός KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 132.10

/a/ + /i/

Μιχάλη ταπεινέ GLYKAS, Stichoi 518

τὸ γατάνι μου, τὸ τριχογάτανό μου Liv. V 3751 νὰ τὸ φά [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 2465 κλαῖ τον ὁ ἥλιος αὐτός LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 474

Μὰς Cypr. Canz. 109.32 < Μάης < Μάιος

/o/ + /a/

Γιαννάκης Dig. E 1243

μεγαλορχιδάτον Diig. tetr. 82 τὸ πραστεῖον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 34.9; πραστεῖα (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PARADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.2) τὸ παλαιάμπελο (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 9, 28.4) μισαπαιθαμένοι IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 333.6

μηλαπιδιά (1673, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 71, 42.3) συχναναντρανίζει KORNAOS, Erot. IV.1310

/o/ + /u/

νὰ τρῶν BERGADIS, Apok. A 548 τρῶσιν το Diig. Alex. Sem. B 462

/o/ + /e/

παλαιοκκλήσιον (1473, Heptanese, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 4.163)

ἔτρωσ Poulol. 544

ἔτρων SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 117 ροδολαίου (15th c., OIKONOMU-AGORASTU 1982: 78.11) γλυκολιά (1672, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 62, 38.7)

/o/ + /i/

ὀγδόντα KAMAT., Astron. 3380a < ὀγδοήντα < ὀγδοήκοντα βόθα τὸν κελλάρην Ptoch. IV 111 app crit. (K) βοθᾶτε τὸν Καλλίμαχον [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 1346 τρῶ LIMEN., Than. Rod. 570

πουνρόν BERGADIS, Apok. A 304 πρωινόν > πρωνόν > πορνόν > πουνρόν τὰ ἐπτὰ βόδια KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 243.30

/u/ + /a/

μανάλι (1442, Belgrade region/Serbia, ALEXOULIS 1892: 2, 280.17)

Φεβραρίου VOUSTR., Chron. M 245.15

στην κάρταν πάρτεν (1607/8, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 487, 439.3) < Ital. quarto

/u/ + /o/

ἀκῶντας Theseid I.5,2 (Follieri)

/u/ + /e/

ἄκου Dig. E 1581; ἄκου Rim. kor. A 178

νὰ λοῦται Achil. N 833

/u/ + /i/

ἀκοῦς Ptoch. III 172 app. crit. (GP); νὰ ἀκοῦς Chron. Mor. P 1349 καὶ κροῦ με καταπρόσωπα Ptoch. III app. crit. (P); κροῦ μὲ τὸν Δωροσκάλην Pol. Tr. 4074 app. crit. (B); ἡ κόρη κροῦ τὸ χέρι του Diig. Alex. Sem. B 959

/e/ + /a/

κρατοπουλεῖα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 561 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner κρασοπουλιά)

Φράτζια / Φράτσια (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 5, 6.4) (<Φρεάτια)

/e/ + /o/

χρωστῶ (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 129, 171.12); ἐγὼ ἐχρώστουν Pol. Tr. 2601 app. crit. (X); ἐχρώθηκεν / ἐχρώθηκεν (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 9, 41.27) τὸ χρὸς του SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 50 δικολογοῦντα (1147, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 143, 190.25) θωρεῖς LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 451; θωρῶ ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 19.12 θωρία Poulol. 19 app. crit. (EAZ) αὐγὸν νωπὸν STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 8.211–12 θολογοίτης / θολογίτης (1507, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 4, 8.21)

Θοδωρῇ (1631, Kefalonia, PETROPOULOS 1962: B1, 309.5)

Λονταραῖοι Velis. χ 315; τὸ Λοντάρη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 102.16 μετωρίζοντας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 347.36

Θοδόσιον (1664, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 12, 126.15) νωστὰ (= νεωστὰ) MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v. νοστὰ

Θεδόση (1114, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 77, 101.12) лєндарѣ / λεντάρη (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 939); λεντάρη FALIEROS, Ist. On. 309 ἄλαιτρουβεῖον (1543, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 239, 225.15) < ἔλαιοτριβεῖον το αλαιτριβιδίο (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 104, 119.22)

/e/ + /u/

τοῦ φέδου < φέουδο (1219, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: app.14, 529.20) νὰ κλαῖν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 295 καὶ πρὸς ἐκείνον λέσι Achil. O 20; λένε (1649, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2008: 1, 51.17)

/e/ + /i/

ἀσημένον (1334, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 43, 131.24); ἀσημένον (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 143.94) μαργαριταρένος LIMEN., Than. Rod. 133; μαργαριταρένην (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 44.38) σιδερένος Katal. 52 (Panayotopoulou, in progress) μαλαματένη μου Rim. kor. A 95 νά ἔνι καὶ Ρωμαίσσα Dig. E 70

τὴν ἑβραϊκὴ FALIEROS, Thrinos 254 ρωμαίκου (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 45.60) αὐτὰ τὰ μποργιαναῖκα Rim. Sant. 633 ψυχικά, ἡμεοσύνες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 322 ἐλενὲ Poulol. 72 app. crit. (Z); ἐλενός Alex. Rim. 42

λὲ Alex. Rim. 1744

/i/ + /a/

ἀγραππηδιᾶν / ἀγραππηδιάν (1115, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 78, 102.14); εἰς τὴν ἀγραπιδία (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 35, 76.7); ἀγραπιδούλα (1672, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 57, 34.3) ὀργάς (1198, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: LXV-105, 138. 17) λίτραν μίαν ἀγραπγοῦρίας (15th c., OIKONOMU-AGORASTU 1982: 86.18) τρακόσια (1644–5, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 4, 47.3–4)

/i/ + /o/

ἀξόννη / ἀξώννει (1227–50, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 20, 157.10) κρωντήρια DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1852 ἀνδρωμένοι TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 307

Γεώργος (1672, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 14, 11.5)

/i/ + /u/

Πρωτοούλη (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 18, 38.1) καὶ ἀφιρώσαμεν (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 127, 168.20) ἀγρελλία MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 264.10

/i/ + /e/

ἀγρολιὰ MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v. < ἀγριοελιά

2.9.2.2 Post-lexical Hiatus

As in the case of hiatus retention, it is difficult to investigate post-lexical vowel deletion in MedG and EMG written sources, for a variety of reasons: firstly, it may be determined by scribal or editorial choice and vary according to version or published edition of a text. If one of the vowels involved belongs to a suffix or particle standardly represented graphematically by an abbreviation, the decision in fact lies entirely with the editor. Another major difficulty is to distinguish post-lexical deletion from the permanent/lexicalized aphaeresis of unstressed initial vowels, which should be suspected in all cases which seem to contravene both the vowel hierarchy and the AG elision rules (on this point see also ALONSO ALDAMA 2005: 154–5). Finally, the deleted vowel may not be recoverable, due to lexicalized vowel changes at word boundaries (see 2.9.3), which might allow two different restitutions (e.g. ἀπ' ἐλπίδα = ἀπὸ ἐλπίδα or ἀπὲ ἐλπίδα; similarly, ἀπὸ ᾿λπίδα = ἀπὸ ἐλπίδα or ἀπὸ ὀλπίδα).

In post-lexical hiatus, both deletion strategies are possible, i.e. either phonetic deletion according to the vowel hierarchy or stylistic deletion according to AG patterns, with the second being preferred, as might be expected, in earlier and in higher-register texts. However, even in very low-register texts, stylistically conditioned deletion prevails in the case of prepositions and the conjunctions ἀλλά and δέ:

- μετ' ἑσᾶς (1346, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 256.30) μετ' ἐμένα Log. parig. L 14 γι' ὀρισμὸν (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.17) ἀπ' ἐκεῖνο (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 83.6)
 ἀπ' ἐκεῖ (1490, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 22, 109.26)

In fact, the extreme frequency of collocations such as ἀπ' ἐκεῖνον, ἀπ' ἐμέ, ἀπ' ἐδῶ etc., against the vowel hierarchy, led to the creation of a new lexical form ἀπέ through false segmentation.

In such cases, the adhesion to rules which are no longer phonetic is betrayed by the, by this time purely conventional, change of a final voiceless stop to a voiceless fricative preceding a word bearing the rough breathing (see 3.8.4.5):

- καθ' ὦραν φθάνει ὁ θάνατος, καθ' ὦραν ἀποθνήσκεις GLYKAS, Stichoi 143 καὶ μονοκύθρου μ' ἔδωκε καθ' ὕπνους μυρωδία Ptoch. I 235 τοῦτο πληροφορήθησε, μεθ' ὄρκου σὲ τὸ λέγω Achil. N 216

The following list of examples groups instances of vowel deletion by vowel combination; where two different vowels are involved, examples that conform to the hierarchy are given first, followed by ones that go against it. The instances contravening the vowel hierarchy are to be interpreted either as results of adherence to the AG elision rules or as results of permanent/lexicalized aphaeresis not dependent on the immediate phonetic context. In most cases, as already described, vowel deletion takes place within phonological phrases such as clitic + verb, article + noun, while deletion between syntactically unconnected words occurs almost exclusively in poetic texts.

/a/ + /a/

- τᾶπερ ἔχει /τ' ἄπερ ἔχει (1220–I, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 16, 78.7) νὰ τ' ἀλαφροκοπήσουν Arm. 109 τὸ νὰ τὰκούση ὁ βασιλεὺς τὰ λόγια ἐτοῦτα Achil. L 97 τ' ἄνωθεν κρασιὰ (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 37, 168.17) καὶ τ' ἄλλα πάντα σήμερον ἃς ἔχουν καταστόλιν [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 134 ν' ἀποσκεπάζη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.31 ἀποῦ τ' ἀδέλφια μου (1582, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 13, 28.4) τ' ἀνεπτόλπιστα βάσανα (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.9–10)

/a/ + /o/

- νὰ φελέση MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 10.12 τὰ ῥγανα ἐκτυπήσαν Velis. ρ 365 λοιπὸν αὐτὴ τὰ ῥδίνιασε Alex. Rim. 1501 νὰ ῥοματίσω CHORTATIS, Erof. II. 267 τὰ ῥνειροφαντάσματα Thysia Avr. 660 τὰ ῥόματά τως (1665, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 9, 418.22) ὥς δ' εἶδε ταῦτ' ὁ δοῦλος σου Ptoch. I 242 ἄλ' οἷ / ἄλλ' ὄχι (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 78.3) δι' ὃ πονεῖς, εἰς τὸ ποθεῖς Liv. V 3708 ἀλλ' ὁ Θεός (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 21) ποθῶ την ὡς εὐγενικήν καὶ ὡς ἔμορphen παρ' ὅλας Achil. N 71 ζῶντες μεθ' ὅσης ἡδονῆς, μετὰ χαρίτων τόσων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 806 νὰ πνίξου παρ' ὀλίγον Velis. p 52 app. crit. (P) ἀλλ' ὅμως, ἀσεβέστατε Fyll. gadar. 264 m καὶ μετ' ὀλίγον ἐβγήκεν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 33.4 δι' ἔνα ἑνικό (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 5, 58.4–5)

/a/ + /u/

οὐδὲν ἐδῶκετε καμιά ὅδε σκιὰν εὐχαριστία FALIEROS, Thrinos 303 ἀλλὰ ὅδεμιά ὅδεν ἦτονε νὰ ἔχει την ομορφία τση Apoll. Rim. N 476 δὲν ἔχω χεῖλη νὰ τὰ πῶ, ὅδε συντυχιά, ὅδε γλώσσα Alex. Rim. 1506 συνεσταλμένους, παίζοντας, ἀλλ' οὐκ ἀναισχυντῶντας Ptoch. I 10 ἀλλ' οὐδὲ καταδέκτηκεν Achil. L 259 ἀλλ' οὐκ ἠθέλησεν ποσῶς νὰ δευτερώσῃ ἄνδρα Chron. Toc. 14 ἀλλ' οὐδὲ θῆρ οὐδὲ πτηνὸν οὐδὲ κνωδάλου φύσις [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 172

/a/ + /e/

ναρτι / νὰ ῥτη (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 7, 7.8) νὰ πάγω νὰ ῥθω Dig. E 381 (Jeffreys) τὸ θέλημά ἔκαμαν Pol. Tr. 1687 app. crit. (X) ἡ δέσποινα ἔπесεν Byz. Il. 313 σίμωσε, κάτσε μετὰ μὲν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 55 πολλὰ πουλίτσια εἶδα ὅδω Achil. N 540 ἀλογά ἔστειλε LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 616 νὰ ἔχῃς Spanos D 72; νὰ ἔχῃ (1635, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1982: 1, 13.9); νὰ ἔχω την αποκράτησιν Apoll. Rim. A 1806; νὰ ἔχει ἀφορμή (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 4, 27.9); δῖχως νὰ ἔχει (1621, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 26, 82.17) τὰ ὅδινα (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 1, 360.13) ἴντὰ ἔφταιξα κ' ἴντὰ ἔκαμα KORNAROS, Erot. V.1337 μὰ ἔγώ αὐτός μου δὲν μπορῶ Rim. Sant. 11 ἡ ἄρκος μετ' ἔσεν παίζει· νὰ παίξῃ καὶ μετ' αὐτὸν GLYKAS, Stichoi 369 μετ' ἔσας (1346/7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 256.30) ποῦ ἦσαν ἐκεῖσε μετ' αὐτὸν συντρόφοι μετ' ἐκεῖνον Chron. Mor. H360 ἔλα μετ' ἐμὲν, ἀκολουθῶ με KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 353.31 κάμε νὰ ἔλθῃς καὶ ἀτός σου μετ' ἐμᾶς Diath. Nikon Metan. 8 κατ' ἔτος (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 4, 151.16) ἐσπάζετο πάντοτε δι' ἐκείνην Achil. L 567 δι' ἐμέναν ἀγρυπνήσετε μόνο τῇ νύχταν τούτῃ Achil. O 395 δι' ἔνα παχτὸ ὅπου ἐδίνανε (1673, Kefalonia, PETROPOULOS 1962: B.24, 330: 4) ψηλώνει | πᾶς ἔνα Zinon II.118 κ' ἐσιάστησαν οἱ δύο ἀδελφοί, ὁ πρῶτος ν' ἐνεμείνῃ Chron Mor. H 1377 νὰ με μνημονεμένος / νὰ ἔμαι μνημονεμένος (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 11, 46: 12) νὰ ἔμεσταν καὶ οἱ δύο μας (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 308, 305.5) μοῦ τ'ᾶχαι φαίρη / μοῦ τὰ ἔχει φέρει (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 214.26) νὰ ἔχεν πουλημένα (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 82, 99.4) νὰ ἔσαι κρατημένος (1614, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 13, 49.26) νά 'τον χωσμένα Fior 105.35

/a/ + /i/

τά 'δε νά τση πη P&N Diath. 2133 θεά 'μαι μπορεζάμενη CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. theas 9 άλλ' εἰς αὐτὴν τὴν βασιλεύουσαν NIKON, Logos 4, 226.6

καθ' ἣν μὲ παρεδώκασιν εἰς τὸ διδασκαλεῖον Ptoch. III 87

<καί> λόγους ἤκουσα ψευδεῖς καὶ γέλι' ἦσαν καθόλου Dig. E 546 ἐκοίτασε μεθ' ἡδονῆς καὶ συνεσωματώθη [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1967

/o/ + /a/

ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ κανάλου (996, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 10, 171.49); ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ τράφου (1110, Thessaloniki?, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 59, 308.11) τ' ἀνάθεμαν (1027, Sparta, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 43, 301. 37); εἰς τ' ἀνάθεμα Spanos A 37; ἀκ τ' ἀνάθεμα Anak. Konst. 9

ἀπ' αὐτοὺς Ptoch. III 90 δεμένα μὲ τ' ἀσήμιν Dig E 434 τοῦ τ' ἀφῆνω διὰ τὴν ψυχὴν μου (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 10, 42.18–19)

τ' ἄλλο δουμίν τ' ανοίγει Katis 44 τ' ἀδελφομοίριν (1612, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 8, 22.16)

τ' ἄλάτι (1672, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 53, 32.2) τ' ἀμπέλι (1677, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 24, 92.5) τὸ χιόνιν τ' ἄσπρον Cypr. Canz. 114.5

δὲν τ' ἄφινε νά καθίσῃ IER. AVVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 332.8

ἔλεγε γὰρ Ἐκτεναβὸς τὴν Αἴγυπτον ἄφεντεύει Alex. Rim. 7

/o/ + /o/

ἔθεκεν φύλαξες καλές, εἰς τ' ὀνομάν του ὠμόσαν Chron. Mor. H 1236 τ' ὠραῖον χελιδονάκιν Arm. 175 μὲ τ' ὀνομαν (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 5) εἰς τ' ὀσταρεῖο Nov. II 162.33

ἀπ' ὅπου καὶ ἂν εὐρίσκονται (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 149, 145.16) ἀπ' ὅσο ἐγνωρίσανε (1647, Kefalonia, PETROPOULOS 1962: B.2, 310.11)

/o/ + /u/

ἐγὼ δὲν βρίσκω 'δέποτε τὴν θαραπὰν Cypr. Canz. 97.18 κοσοκτῶ 'γιές (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 80.64)

/o/ + /e/

εἰς ἀπιστίαν μὴν τό 'χετε Arm. 74; νά τό 'χης πάντοτε Porikol. I 152 διὰ τό 'μπα μου BERGADIS, Apok. A 69 σάν τό 'μαθεν ὁ Φίλιππος Alex. Rim. 313 τῷ 'Βραίω τὸν-ε χαρίζει P&N Diath. 3475; νά τό 'χει ὡς τὴ ζωὴ τση (1598, Crete, BAKKER/

VAN GEMERT 1987: 15, 36.10); τὸ ἀποὺ τό 'χει (1518, Chandax/Crete, KAKLAMANIS/

LAMBAKIS 2003: 50, 87.25); τῶχω / τό 'χω (1700, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: XX, 80.15) ἀπὸ 'κεῖ καὶ κειθες (1575, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 1, 17.16) κι ἀπὸ 'δεπὰ δὲ βγαίνου; Zinon 2.162 καὶ ἐκβάλη με ἀπ' ἐκείνης; Ptoch. I 39 ἐξαπέσπασαν τὸ γονικόν μου ἀπ' ἐμέ (1260, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/ΒΕΝΕΧΕΝΙΤΣ 1927: 57, 32.8–9) μὴν ἀπ' ἐδῶ νά ἐδιάβησαν Dig. E 1204

ἀπ' ἐκεῖνο (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 83.6)

ἀπ' ἐμοῦ (1496, Pesaro, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 3, 131.8) μισεύγεις ἀπ' ἐδῶ Peri xen. 302 ἀπ' ἐμένα [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1072 ἀπ' ἐδικού μου DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 268 ἀπ' ἐκείνους Theseid I.79,6 (Follieri) ἀπ' ἐκεῖνον τὸν τόπον LANDOS, Geopon. 142 τ' αἶμα μου τὸ χυμένο TROILOS, Rodol. I.644 ἀπ' ἐκεῖ (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 6, 6.3)

/o/ + /i/

ὅστις τὸ 'θελεν ἀμποδίσειν (1496, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 12, 55.6) τὸ 'γδι FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 225 τὸ 'χε ἀφησμένον (1576, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 19, 151.20) τὸ 'χαμε καμωμένο P&N Diath. 790 τίς τὸ 'πεν, τίς τὸ μήνυσε Anak. Konst. 5 στό 'στερο CHORTATIS, Katz. I.361

/u/ + /a/

τ' Ἀρμούρη ὁ υἱός, Ἀρέστης Arm. 142 τοῦ Διγενῆ τ' Ἀκρίτη Dig. E 442
 τ' Αὐγούστου Spanos D 1715 ἐμήνησέ τ' Ἀλέξανδρος νὰ μὴ χολομανίση Alex. Rim. 327 κυρά μ', αὐτὰ τὰ λόγια γραμματικὰ ὑπάρχουν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 500 τ' ἀφέντη (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 8, 30.5); τ' ἀφεντός των CHORTATIS, Erof. IV.1519 τ' ἄγοραστή (1598, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 158, 284.23) κ' ἐνούς τ' ἄλλου ἀκλουθοῦμα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 221.25 καὶ μέ τ' ἀντρός τη<ς> (1678, Icaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 64, 54.4) τοῦ κονταριοῦ 'ξιωμένος Imb. Rim. 26

/u/ + /o/

ὅπ' ὅρις Diig. Alex. Sem. B 666 αὐτόθεν ὅπ' ὁδεύγεις Imb. Rim. 251 καὶ τὴν καρδιά μ' ὁμάδι SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. E8v.23

/u/ + /u/

ὅπ' οὐ νερόν οὐδὲ δενδρόν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 75 καὶ τὰ στοιχεῖα τ' οὐρανοῦ Alosis 429 κι ὅλες τσί χάρες π' Οὐρανοὶ καὶ τ' Ἄστροι ἐγεννήσα KORNAROS, Erot. I.83 ἀπ' οὐδ' ἀδόντι λεῖ τονε TROILOS, Rodol. I.322

/u/ + /e/

τὸν ἀδελφὸν ὅπου 'χω Porikol. I 60 μοῦδωκεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.15; μοῦ 'δωκεν (1513, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 37, 63.11–12); ποῦ τοῦ 'δωκε (1537, SANTORINI, TSELIKAS 1985: 1, 75: 20); τοῦ 'δωκεν (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 21, 41.16); ποῖαν ἀπόκριση σου 'δωκε τότες CHORTATIS, Panor. I.354 τοῦ μονολίθου κείνου Velth. 481 τὰ τοῦ διαβόλου 'ποίκετε κ' ἐκλέψετε Defi. Par. 155 τὰ μεσάνυκτά 'φυγεν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 30

/u/ + /i/

μοῦ 'παν ὅτι ἤκαμες (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.13)
 'ς τὴν φυλακὴν ὅπου 'μαι SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 118 (Wagner) ποῦ 'ναι τὰ πολυπόθητα γλυκέα σου ἀδέλφια Peri xen. 288 όπου 'ναι ή έκκλησία (1537, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 117, 231.8) όπου του 'θελε κάμει (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 12, 33.13) όπου'ναι κοντά εις τό σπίτιν μου IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 332.2 όπου 'τον Nov. I 156.6

 ούδεποτέ μου 'πνάζω Cypr. Canz. 103.17 τό ήθος του 'τον θαυμαστόν, ήτον ώσαν λοντάρι Alex. Rim. 235 κακά δέν του 'πε τόσα Imb. Rim. 176

/e/ + /a/

ούδὲ γονέων στέρησιν, οὐδ' ἄλλο μέγαν πρᾶμαν, Achil. L 236 δὲν εἶχαμ' ἄλλην 'παντοχήν, οὐδὲ κανένα θάρρος, SKLAVOS, Symf. 127 φύγετ' ἀπ' ἐδῶ, μωροὶ ἀγριότραγοὶ Spanos D 1529 ἐπήγαγεν μ' ἀρχόντισσες PETRITSIS, Dig. O 134

/e/ + /o/

όπου οί σπίθες οί πολλές γίνοντ' όλου του κόσμου Pol. Tr. 2883 app. crit. (X) κι ὀχτακόσιες Chron. Mor. P 45 κι ὀνομάζω Chron. Mor. H 1962 κι ὅσο ἐκατεβαίναμε P&N Diath. 122 μ' ὁμορφη λογάδα CHORTATIS, Katz. I. 135 και μ' ὅλους σου τους δίκαιους να σε υμνολογούσι Rim. Sant. 129 και μ' ὁψην ἀλλαμένη KORNAROS, Erot. I. 163

/e/ + /u/

κι οὐδὲ δουλειὲς γυρεύγεις KORNAROS, Erot. I 787 οὔτε τή γῇ ἐβλέπασι οὐδ' οὐρανὸν ἀπάνου Alex. Rim. 875

/e/ + /e/

απού νάνε κ(αι) χου / άπού νά 'ναι κι ἔχου (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.11) γέγραπτε 'νόπιων / γέγραπτ' ἐνώπιον (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 27, 66.15) καί 'να /κι ἔνα (1685, Tilos, KOUTELAKIS 1979: 13, 45.6) ομᾶδι μ' ἔναν του παιδι ἴσον της ἐλικιά τση Rim.Apoll. V 1139 μ' ἔχει θανατωμένο CHORTATIS, Katz. I. 58 σύρνει με 'κ τήν χέρα Diig. Ven. 70

/e/ + /i/

κ(αί) 'μεστα (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 99, 48.3) τοὺς σέ 'πεν Liv. V 2786 τώρα σκοτώσει σέ 'χα Achil. N 1571 δὲν σέ 'θελεν ἀφήσ(η) (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 25, 30: 4) πρῶτα σέ 'δα πρῶτα μέ 'δες (17th c., Unknown, ŠANGIN 1936: 4, 161.8) γιάντα δὲ μέ 'χες Rim.Apoll. V 1393 οὐδέ 'πεν βλασφημίαν Imb. Rim. 806 ᾄς φυλάγωντ' οἱ "Ἕλληνες Pol. Tr. 3809 app. crit. (X) οὐκ ἐπλήρωσες ἐξάμηνον ὄτ' ἤλθες Ptoch. IV 74

/i/ + /a/

'ς τό Διγεν' ἀπάνώ 'τρεξεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2596
 'ς τήν κόρ' ἀπάνω 'πάγει PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2423 τόπον νά κάμ' ἀνάπαψιν Imb. Rim. 658 app. crit. νά δῇ τό τί ἔχει 'πέσω Imb. Rim. 920

/i/ + /o/

μή μὲ ρωτήσ' ὁ ἄνομος Anak. Konst. 49 νὰ παρέλθ' ὁ νοῦς του Byz. Il. 432 νὰ πίνετεν ἀφ' τὸ πιότὸ πού πίν' ὁ βασιλέας KONDAR., Paides 295 καὶ τ' ὄνομά του καθενεὶς ἄς ξεύρ', ὄντας σὰς πάγω KONDAR., Paides 300

/i/ + /u/

βραδύν', οὐδὲν τὸ πολεμεῖ Liv. α 1387 app. crit. (N) δὲν ἔχει 'δέτινας Cypr. Canz. 110.2 ποιεῖ ὡς ἡ 'ζάντζα τῶν γεωργῶν (1536, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 20, 30.8)

/i/ + /e/

καὶ ἄν τύχ' ἐσένα τίποτα Chron. Toc. 3411 ὡσὰν ἀκοῦσαν τὴν γραφὴν, ἀβούλως ἔτσ' ἐποίσαν Alex. Rim. 661 μηδεκιανεὶς δὲ μὲ 'δε ἐκέῖ, οὐδὲ κιανεὶς στὴ στράτα Stathis II.98 χάρ' ἔχει PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2675; τ' ἔχεις κ' ἔτσι φωνάζεις ibid. 105

/i/ + /i/

οἱ 'γούμενοι (1395, Pontos, BRYER 1976: 7, 133.3) εἰς τὴν Μπουργούνια ἐσιμίξασιν ἀμφοτέρ' οἱ κοντᾶδες Chron. Mor. H 204 ἀνέτρεχον, ἀνέβαινον ἐφ' ἱκανὰς τὰς ὥρας [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.] Kallim. 145 τοῦ δ' Ἀχιλλέως τοῦ θαυμαστοῦ ὅλη 'τον χρυσωμένη Achil. O 189 γιατί 'ναι ντροπὴ (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 3, 169.8) τί 'τον τὸ κακὸ Nov. I 156.3

When the phonological word involves the definite article, vowel deletion usually occurs only with forms which begin with a consonant, i.e. deletion is frequent with τό, τοῦ, τά, but never occurs with ὁ, ἡ, οἱ, αἱ.

In two dialectal varieties, Cretan and Pontic, vocalic forms of the article may also be deleted. There are several attestations of the phenomenon in Cretan literature of the EMG period, involving the definite article ὁ (nom. sg.) before a word beginning with a back vowel. These are discussed and illustrated in CHATZIDAKIS 1915: 459 for Erotokritos; BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1996: 85 for Thysia tou Avraam; VEJLESKOV 2005: 108 for Apokopos. The phenomenon is extremely rare in prose texts, although it surfaces quite early in the period covered by the Grammar, and is amply corroborated by modern dialectal evidence (especially for W. Crete, see KAFKALAS 2000: 56–8).

na ton eghi Emanuil / νὰ τὸν ἔχη Ἑμμανουήλ (1394, Crete, SANTSCHI 1976: 1597, 344.19) εἰπέ μας ἄν κρατεῖ οὐρανὸς κι ἄν στέκει ὁ κόσμος τώρα BERGADIS, Apok. A 86; λάμπουσιν τ' ἄστρα τ' οὐρανοῦ καὶ αὐγερινὸς ἀστέρας ibid. 92 κλαίγει πατέρας, δέρνεται, τὰς τρίχας ἀνασπάζει Imb. Rim. 207 κι ἄντρας μου τὴν ἀγόρασε καὶ σπῖτι του ἔφερε τὴ CHORTATIS, Katz. I.2.235 ὁπού μοῦ 'γραφε ἀδελφός του (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.19) τοῦτο πού θε νὰ πάθουμε Ἀφέντης μας τὸ θέλει Thysia Avr. 330; δὲν εἶναι ἐπὰ μετανιωμὸς κι Ἀφέντης μου τὸ θέλει ibid. 653 λέγει ἀφέντης Μιχελής (1645, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 9, 365: 2); καὶ ἀφέντης ἡγούμενος λέγει (ibid. 365.4) πόσα μᾶς τάσσει ἄδικητῆς κι ἀπόκει μᾶς κομπώνει KORNAROS, Erot. I.1043; κι ἄστροπελέκια οὐρανός χάμαι στή γῆ νὰ πέψη ibid. IV.1042 app. crit.; "Ἀριστος ποῦ 'το γλήγορος κ' εἰς τ' ἄρματα τεχνίτης ibid. IV.1695

For Pontic, TZITZILIS (1999: 88) has collected a few cases from the 15th-c. Gesprächbuch, and HENRICH (1998A: 107) a single example from a Crimean document where the masc. nom. sg. ó is deleted. Instances of the phenomenon can also be found in the Vazelon archive. For the phenomenon in modern Pontic see PAPADOPOULOS 1955: 10 and 157–8; DAWKINS 1937: 27; TOMBAIDIS 1980: 225; DRETTAS 1997: 111–15.

ἐχάρασεν ἀνατολή (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 846); βασιλεύει ἥλιος (ibid. 848) ἐποίησεν τὰ Ἑμινάκης (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.5) καὶ ἐστάθεν Ἐλαφοῖω(α)ννας καὶ ὁ Γαριότ(ης) ὁ κύρ Θεόδωρ(ον) (15th c., Pontos, ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015: 5, 12.8–9)

2.9.3 Vowel Change at Word Boundaries

A high number of LMedG and EMG lexical items display non-etymological initial vowels, i.e. they present common variants, or even a single form, which begin with a vowel different from that in previous phases of language history, e.g. ἐξω > ὄξω, ἐλαφρός > ὄλαφρός. The phenomenon does not appear in the Koine or in EMedG sources, and is rare in the earlier LMedG documents and in higher-register texts. It seems to be a feature of vernacular language, becoming frequent from the 14th/15th c. onwards.

The main cause of the change is the phenomenon of vowel deletion at word boundaries as a hiatus resolution strategy (see 2.9.1), followed by false word division (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 232–4). The availability of two alternative strategies of vowel deletion at word boundaries, either according to the AG system, leading to elision, or according to the MedG system (on the basis of the vowel hierarchy), frequently leading to aphaeresis (2.7.1), may have increased insecurity as to the position of the word boundary. For example, within the phonological phrase τὰ ἐλαφρά [taela'fra], the vowel sequence [ae] is simplified through deletion of the weaker of the two vowels, [e], and the resulting phrase [tala'fra] is parsed not as τὰ 'λαφρά with aphaeresis, but as τ' ὄλαφρά with elision. The one-off misparsed variant [alafr-] is subsequently lexicalized and becomes a permanent stem variant of the word. Once a word has acquired a new stem through this process, this may spread to its whole derivational paradigm, e.g. τὸ ἐλπίζω > τὸ 'λπίζω > τ' ὄλπίζω > ὄλπίζω → ὄλπίδα.

The connection of the phenomenon to vowel deletion and consequently to the vowel hierarchy which governs it (2.9.2) entails that the most common non-etymological vowels are those which stand higher in the hierarchy, namely /a/ and /o/, and conversely those which are most commonly replaced are the ones which stand lower, especially /e/. Apart from the relative frequencies of the replaced vowels, another indication of the close connection of the phenomenon to vowel deletion at word boundaries is the comparatively late dating of its appearance.

As in the case of vowel prothesis (2.6.1), the phrases within which the phenomenon mostly takes place are the collocations of article + noun, preposition + complement or clitic + verb. Therefore, spread of /a/ is due mostly to the indefinite pronoun *ἐν*α, μία, the definite article τά, and the preverbal particles νά and θά, while spread of /o/ is mostly due to the definite article ό and τό, or the preposition ἀπό (e.g. ἀπό ξῶ > ἀπό 'ξῶ > ἀπ' ὄξῶ > ὄξῶ). In the case of weaker vowels replacing stronger ones, a more solid explanation from a phonetic point of view is to assume a two-step process: lexicalized initial vowel deletion followed at a later stage by vowel prothesis. This is quite common in the case of initial /e/ in verb stems, e.g. ἀγροικῶ > γροικῶ > ἐγροικῶ (with an initial /e/ probably stemming from past indicative forms with syllabic augment), but might subsequently spread to nominal forms within the paradigm, e.g. ὀμιλῶ > μιλῶ > ἐμιλῶ → ἐμιλία (an evolution preferable to assuming ὀμιλία > ἐμιλία directly).

Initial vowel change may also be due to other causes than vowel deletion at word boundaries. These include assimilation (2.8.5), analogy or folk etymology. For example, the word ἄγγαρεία appears already in Koine papyri, as well as in MedG documents from S. Italy, in the form ἐγγαρεία; this is usually interpreted as analogical influence of the preposition ἐν or the Latin form of the word engaria, rather than a phonetically driven initial vowel change (GIGNAC 1976: 280; MINAS ²2003: 162). Also, the mutual influence of the preverbs ἀπο-, ὑπο- and ἐπι- is quite common, especially after the demise of ὑπό and ἐπί as true prepositions (cf. ALEXIOU 1985: κα').

Initial vowel change appears in texts from all areas, with rare examples from the end of the 11th c. and increasing frequency from the 15th. It is present both in literary and non-literary texts, but is predominantly a low-register feature, avoided in more learned and archaizing sources. Furthermore, it is a feature that presents considerable variation: the lexical items involved appear in the same period, sometimes even in the same texts, both in changed and unchanged form. In some cases, a lexical item may present two non-etymological stem forms, e.g. ἐρμηνεύω > ἀρμηνεύω/ὀρμηνεύω or ἐκ > ἄχ/ὀχ.

In the following examples, most lexical items present the phenomenon in more than one instance from different areas and periods, and the changed form is sometimes retained in MG. However, other cases are less well entrenched.

/a/ > /e/

ἐγγαρείας (1099, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: App. 1, 643.14)

καὶ νὰ τὸ ἐγροικᾶτε Chron. Mor. H 2692

νὰ ἐξάζει (1619, Crete, XANTHOUDIS 1912: 21, 69.11)

/a/ > /i/

καὶ μοναχὸς ὑπέμεινεν μετὰ τῆς ποθητῆς του Dig. E 1096 app. crit. < ἀπομένω καὶ ὑπέκλεισεν τὰ τέσσερα τοῦ ποταμοῦ κλωνάρια Dig. E 1634 app. crit.

νὰ ὑποκτῆσης FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 56

/o/ > /a/

αφιδι, ἀφείδι / ἀφίδι (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 958) ἄρφανῶν (1573, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 4, 13.9) ἀλάκερη (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 229, 193.16) ἄδόντι TROILOS, Rodol. I.322

/o/ > /e/

ἐπίσω Velth. 996 app. crit.
 ἐψικεύουσιν Achil. N 1244 νὰ τοὺς ἐψικεύουσιν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 348 ἐμολογᾷ (1520, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 4 [Δ'], 238.2) ἐλλίγον VOUSTR., Chron. A 46.9–10; ἐλίγην TROILOS, Rodol. III.4 εἰς ἐμοιότητάν τως P&N Diath. 996 καμμία ἐμπλιγάτζιο (1667, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 802, 484.14)

/o/ > /i/

καρπούς καὶ ὑπώρας [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 283; ἵπωρα Diig. Alex. Sem. B 801 ἰσπίτι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2280 δὲν ἤφελ᾽ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 406.12

/u/ > /o/

στς ὀρανοὺς ἀπάνω FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.337; τσ' ὀρανοὺς Zinon Prol. 3 ἀπὸ τὴν ὀρὰν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 250.26 κατὰ τὴν οὔζάντζα του τόπου (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 648, 566.5) < usanza

/e/ > /a/

ἀλάδι (1227–50, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 20, 156–157.9) ἀπῆρες ὕπνον GLYKAS, Stichoi 166 τὸ ἀργαστήριν Poulol. 82 app. crit. (E); ἀργάτης Deft. Par. 256; ἀργατων / ἀργατῶν (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 7, 35.10); β' ἀργαστήρια (1628–9, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 1, 43.29) πολλὴ ἀντροπὴ εἰς αὐτόν μας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 234.10 ἀντίπερα τοῦ Ἀφράτη Arm. 31 ἀλαφρόν (1682, Cyclades, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 231, 409.6) τῆς ἀρμηνείας FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 29 νὰ σ' ἀγγίξω Thysia Avr. 836 ἄχ τὸν κόσμον Diig. Alex. Sem. S 33 ἀλεφάντινον DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 281; ἀλεφάντινα Diig. Alex. F 146.15 (Lolos) καὶ ἡτῆς ἀνοχλησι (1586, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 4, 20.9–10) ὀληνῆς [τῆς] ἀνορίας (1659, Zakynthos, AVOURIS 1973: 219.8); μετουσανουριτες / μὲ τοὺς ἀνουρίτες (1687, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1972: 1, 27.2) τ' ἄντερὰ μου CHORTATSI, Katz. I. 27

/e/ > /o/

εἰς τ' ὄξω (1056, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 40, 163.8) τότε τὴν ὀρμηνεία μου Pol. Tr. 415 app. crit. (V) ὁμορφον Chron. Mor. H 3154 κι ὀλπιζα TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 188 app. crit. (1577); ὀλπίδες (1613, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 2, 308.24) ὀρωτικόν Achil. N 832 στὰ ὄτοιμα Poulol. 452 app. crit. (V); ὄτοιμοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.33 ἐκ τῶν Ὀβραίων Poulol. 584 app. crit. (V) ο προσμας / ὁμπρός μας (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 17, 11.1); νὰ τὸ τσακίσω ὁμπρός σου Arm. 20 ὄξω εἰς τὴν στεριὰν (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 92.24) μεγάλες ὄξοδες (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 97.14) ὀχθροὺς (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 97.25); οἱ ὀχθροὶ σας (1503, Constantinople, YANNOPOULOS 1974: 133.33) ὁκ Alex. Rim. 37; ὁκ τὸ νησὶν τῆς Κύπρου (1609, Cyprus, CHASIOITIS 1972: 33, 55.3) το βάλασιν ὀφθηνὸ (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 758, 659.4) τὴν ὀφετινὴ (1677, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 24, 92.10)

/e/ > /i/

ἦστιάν του Chron. Mor. H 3718; ἰστίαν Dig. E 1743

/i/ > /a/

δὲν σᾶς ἀκανεῖ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 518.24 ἔχει ἀπομονήν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 208.38; δὲν ἔχει ἀπομονή KORNAROS, Erot. V.377 ἀχνάρια τῶν ζώων AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 136.21 οἱ ἀπακοῆς του FALIEROS, Log. did. 44; κι ἄς ἀπακούση σήμερο KORNAROS, Erot. V.355 ἀππάριν MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v.

/i/ > /o/

ὀρμολόγιον (1363, Cyprus, COUROPOU/GÉHIN 2001: 3, 157.16) ὀγρὰ BERGADIS, Apok. V 402; ὀγρὸν MOREZINOS, Klini 208.12 σὰν ὀξός, ὅπου κολνᾷ MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2091 < ἰξός

/i/ > /e/

τὰ ἐδικά μου Liv. E 3140

The appearance of non-etymological final vowels is, on the contrary, a much rarer phenomenon. It must of course be distinguished from the morphological changes involving different inflectional suffixes, i.e. the transition from one inflectional paradigm to another (e.g. fem. φοβερὰ → φοβερή) or the analogical reformation of inflectional suffixes, e.g. -όμουνε/-όμουνα, ἔνι/ἔναι.

Because of the suffixal inflectional morphology of LMedG and EMG, phonetic changes in the final vowel are to be expected only in uninflected lexical items. A characteristic case is the preposition ἀπό appearing in many texts and areas as ἀπέ (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ἀπό), a change caused by the frequent collocations of the preposition with lexical items beginning with /e/ and the subsequent reanalysis of the vowel deletion process as aphaeresis in accordance with the vowel hierarchy rather than elision (see above), e.g. ἀπὸ ἐκεῖνον > ἀπ' ἐκεῖνον > ἀπέ 'κεῖνον → ἀπέ. A similar analysis could also apply to the adverbial variants πάλι(ν)/πάλε, μόνο(ν)/μόνε. In the same vein, the form ὀπό instead of etymological ὀπού for the relative pronoun (see II, 5.9.1.1) is due to reanalysis from instances with crasis, e.g. ὀπου ἔκαμε > ὀπῶκαμε > ὀπό 'καμε → ὀπό.

Variations like ξι/ἔξε (cf. πέντε), τίποτε/τίποτα/τίποτι, κάθε/κάθα, ἀπόψε/ἀπόψα, τώρα/τώραι are due to analogy and not to phonetic reasons. The same is valid for the locative adverbs ἀπάνω/ἀπάνου, κάτω/κάτου which were influenced by ὅπου, παντοῦ, ἀλλοῦ etc. (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 100, 309).

2.9.4 Synizesis

2.9.4.1 Introduction and Definition

The phenomenon of synizesis encompasses a number of phonetic changes involving sequences of high vowel + vowel, whereby the first (high) vowel becomes a (palatal) glide. The application or the results of the change depend on the consonant preceding the vowel sequence, the quality of the high vowel undergoing glide formation (/e/ vs. /i/), the position of the accent (both vowels unstressed, stress on the second vowel, or stress on the first vowel), the chronological period, the geographical area and the register of the lexical item or the text.

Synizesis is the most important phonetic phenomenon of LMedG, as it affects the overall structure of the phonological system and creates major dialectal isoglosses which continue into MG (see 2.1). The phenomenon requires further investigation as there is disagreement in the relevant literature concerning its dating and evolution (see CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 332–55; NEWTON 1972a: 19–52; MINAS 1983; MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 2002; MANOLESSOU/KOUTSOUKOS 2011). Furthermore, synizesis is especially difficult to investigate in written texts, because it is graphematically invisible when the affected syllables bear no accent, or it is easily hidden by conservative spelling (see e.g. HINTERBERGER 2006: 11). In any case, the accentuation of medieval vernacular manuscripts is often unreliable (see 4.1).

Synizesis in its most frequent form involves the following sequence of phenomena (see also 2.4.7):

- 1) glide formation: the high vowel /e/ or /i/ becomes a glide [j].
- 2a) consonantization: the glide [j], initially a vocalic approximant, undergoes consonantization, depending on the preceding consonant, i.e. the result is the voiced palatal fricative [ɟ] after the voiced consonants /v ð b d r z/, the voiceless palatal fricative [ç] after the voiceless consonants /f θ p t s/, or the palatal nasal [ɲ] after /m/.
- 2b) absorption: the glide [j] is deleted or “absorbed”, if the consonant preceding it is palatalizable, after having palatalized it, i.e. velar /k g x ɣ/ + [j] > [c ɟ ç ɲ], nasal /n/ + [j] > [ɲ] and lateral /l/ + [j] > [ʎ].

If the high vowel is stressed, the stress shifts onto the second vowel. There is doubt in the literature as to whether the stress shift precedes or follows glide formation and on whether, if the high vowel undergoing synizesis is /e/, there is first an intermediate stage of height dissimilation whereby /e/ first becomes [i] and then undergoes glide formation. Table 1 gives examples.

Table 1: Synizesis by Environment

Unstressed [i]	καρύδια [ka'riðia]	> καρύδια [ka'riðja]
Stressed [i]	παிடία [pe'ðia]	> παιδιά [pe'ðja]
Stressed [e]	καρυδέα [kari'ðea]	> καρυδιά [kari'ðja]
Unstressed [i]	σμπάθειο [si'mbaθio]	> σμπάθειο [si'mbaθço]
Stressed [i]	θεῖος ['thios]	> θείος [θços]
Stressed [e]	γρονθέα [ɣron'thea]	> γροθιά [ɣro'tça]
Unstressed [i]	γένια ['jenia]	> γένια ['jeɲa]
Stressed [i]	χωνίου [xo'niu]	> χωνιοῦ [xo'ɲu]
Stressed [e]	νέου ['neu]	> νιοῦ [ɲu]

In some dialectal areas, synizesis fails to apply when the first of the two vowels is stressed; this is to be expected, as cross-linguistically the stress accent is a major factor blocking glide formation (see e.g. ROSENTHALL 1994). Also, several areas show alternative results in stressed sequences, such as vowel deletion or coalescence instead of synizesis. This dialectal variation in the application of synizesis on sequences where the first vowel is stressed is a strong indication that the change took place considerably later in this specific environment; see below for more details on the dating and alternative evolutions of synizesis.

2.9.4.2 Historical Overview: Evidence

Synizesis as a metrical phenomenon, i.e. as the monosyllabic scansion of normally disyllabic sequences of /e/ or /i/ + other vowel was already an AG phenomenon (see e.g. SCHWYZER 1939: 244–5). As a linguistic phenomenon permanently affecting the phonetic shape of words, the first stage in the process must have taken place in the period of the Koine (GIGNAC 1976: 251–2 and 302–3; MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 2002: 86; HORROCKS ²2010: 113, 165) and involved simple diphthong formation, i.e. tautosyllabic pronunciation of /e/ or /i/ when followed by another vowel, without, however, real glide formation. This is detectable through the interchange of spelling between /e/ and /i/ when followed by another vowel, or even the total omission of /i/ in the same environment. The phenomenon acquired greater force through the loss of quantity distinctions which must have led to a phonological system disavouring vocalic sequences and hiatus (MANOLESSOU/KOUTSOUKOS 2011), and thus to a variety of novel hiatus resolution strategies (cf. also 2.9.1).

The next stage, during the EMedG period, must have been true glide formation in unstressed sequences, i.e. true synizesis whereby the vowel /i/ acquired an allophone [j] before another unstressed vowel. The only evidence for this change is again the appearance of  instead of <ε> before a vowel, as well as the reverse due to hypercorrection (cf. the examples in PSALTES 1913: 23–8; MINAS 1983: 283; MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 1993 and 2002: 86–7) and perhaps the number of syllables in metrical texts written in the new syllable-based Byzantine metres (HORROCKS ²2010: 276). However, it is in general difficult to draw conclusions from syllable-based metre, because of the phenomenon of metrical synizesis: it is possible for two consecutive vowels to count as one for the purposes of the metre, without this actually reflecting a lexicalized phonetic change in the words in question (see e.g. ALONSO ALDAMA 2005 and DELIGIANNAKI 2005, where a description of metrical, as opposed to grammatical, synizesis is given). Lists of MedG vernacular verses displaying metrical synizesis can be found in MINAS 1983 and STANITSAS 1984; the placement of the accent by scribes and editors is variable.

ἡ παπαδιὰ παρέπεσεν, ἐξύβρισε τὴν κοίτην GLYKAS, Stichoi 270 καὶ ὁ βασιλεὺς ἀπέμεινεν μὲ τοὺς οἰκειοὺς του μόνους Spaneas P 210 ἀπέσω τὰ μανίκια σου, ἀπέσω ἡ τραχηλιὰ σου Ptoch. IV 58 (ms K) καὶ τὴν Λαμπρὰν τὴν Κυριακὴν στήν ἐκκλησιὰν ἂν ὑπάγω Ptoch. III 273.69 app. crit. (K) περηνιστηρίαν τὸν μαῦρον του, διὰ νὰ περάση πέρα Arm. 42 ὥς δ' εἶχεν ἀπαραίτητον τῆς ξενιτείας τὴν στράταν Velth. 67 transcr. (Lendari) (ξενιτειᾶς Kriaras) καὶ ἐπλούτισεν ἐκέισε | καὶ αὐτὸς καὶ τὰ παιδία του Ptochol. α 50–1 μισεύγουσιν, ἀφήνουν τον, ὑπᾶν εἰς τὲς δουλεῖες των SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 83 transcr. N (Lendari) καὶ τὴν καρδίαν ἐρωτικά καταδουλογραφοῦσι [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 728

Direct metalinguistic description of synizesis in non-stressed syllables comes from the 17th c., namely from GERMANO, Grammar 55, repeated in PORTIUS, Grammar 13, in the context of cases where the stress falls on the fourth syllable from the end (e.g. ἀναγάλλιασις, ἐνύκτιασεν), something normally disallowed by the stress rules of MedG (see 4.2): “il ι con l'α ὁ altra seguente vocale s'uniscono à modo di diftongo & formano una sillaba, in modo che ἐνύκτιασεν siano tre sillabe.”

The first two stages of synizesis affect the totality of the Greek-speaking areas. During this period, another synizesis-connected phenomenon takes place, namely the retraction of the stress to the first vowel in the case of sequences where the stress falls on the second syllable (e.g. φωλέα > φωλέα, σκιά > σκία), probably as a prophylaxis against synizesis. Since the forms showing stress retraction appear from many areas (especially peripheral ones such as Pontos and S. Italy), are documented even in early and learned MedG texts and also appear in a variety of MG dialects, in particular those in which synizesis of stressed sequences does not apply (see e.g. ILNE s.vv. ἀνεψιός, ἀραιός, δεξιός, cf. also CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: A 82; KAHANE/KAHANE 1981: 116–17), the phenomenon must be quite early and not the result of a late diaeresis (i.e. undoing of synizesis) as some scholars claim (e.g. MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 2002: 100–2). ἀνεψίου (11th c.?, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1982: 1, 10.20); πρὸς τὸν ἀνεψίον του Pol. Tr. 34 app. crit. (A); τὸν ἀνηψίον Chron. Mor. P 6775; ἀνηψίον μου (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.4); τὸν ἀνιψίον του (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 73, 57.3); ἀνοψίες (1600, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: II, 70.3) εἰς τὴν παλαίαν δημοσίαν (1007, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 1, 135.29) τῶν Παλαίων Λάκκων (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 45.227); τῶν παλαίων Chron. Mor. H 1353; εἰς τὴν παλαίαν Πάτραν Chron. Toc. 3085 μητριάς (1196, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 13, 88.5); μητρία του KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 413 τοῖς δεξίοις προβάτοις (1328, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 6, 32.22) ἀνὰ φωλέας δεκαπέντε Theophanes Cont. 430.16; φωλέαν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 1.2

 τοὺς Ἀραίους (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 86, 65.5) καρύαν (1433, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 29, f.35r.4) εἰς τὰς γενέας ἄπασας Dig. E 1702; τῆς γενέας τους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 51.4 ὥσπερ ἀγιά δωρέα FALIEROS, Thrinis 282

It is also possible that the origin of the retraction is at least partly morphological rather than phonological, i.e. due to the analogical influence of the very productive derivational suffixes -έα and -αῖος on the relatively rare ones in -έα, -εός (cf. CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: A 81–2).

The third stage of evolution was the consonantization of the glide [j] into a fricative consonant [ʃ] or [ç] and the development of palatalized [ɲ] and [ʎ] after glide absorption as described above (see also dental palatalization, 3.8.2.3). This stage involves a phonological change as well, since the consonantal realization of [j] made its connection to the vowel /i/ harder to recover during language acquisition. This is especially true in cases (a) where [j] occurred in the stem of a word, without the possibility of allomorphic variation with another inflected form of the word bearing the stress on the first vowel, and (b) where the glide was absorbed into a preceding palatal consonant (e.g. χιόνι, λιανός). From this stage onward, the postulation of a phoneme /j/ at least in these environments is necessary. Evidence for the consonantization of [j] into [j] is provided, for unstressed sequences, since the 10th c., through the spellings <γι>, <γε> + V instead of <ι> + V, cf. e.g. the contrast Ἰωαννάκης Dig. G IV 33 vs. Γιαννάκης Dig. E 1243 and ἱανουαρίου Chron. Mor. H 2174 vs. Γενναρίου Chron. Mor. P 2174.

διὰ τὰς γερακαρίας De ceremoniis 659.5 < ἱέραξ ὕπα καλῶς, γεράκιν μου Anna Comnena, Alexiad 2.4.9 γιάκονου (1098, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 65, 83.5) ἀρχιδιάκονος / ἀρχιδιάκονος (1112, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 3, 72.73) τὸν γιατρό (1389, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 3, 89.2)

Another indication of synizesis is the substitution of /i/ + V for /e/ + V, as in EMedG. This is rare in the 11th to 14th c., but becomes much more frequent in later texts:

λιανδρου (1034, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 29, 33.1) < Λεάνδρου Γιωργιω(ς) / Γιώργιος (1032, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 4, 53.35) γῳργιος / Γιώργιος (1173, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 51, 88.19) καλαμιῶνες (1180, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 200, 262.32) παλιοσπίτια (1307, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 10, 114.55) σπῖλλοιους / σπήλιοιους (1326, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 41, 93.12) θιωρῶ Liv. E 21
 τοῦ μορειός / τοῦ Μοριῶς Chron. Mor. P 2270 app. crit. δίκια LIMEN., Than. Rod. 153 τὸ παλιὸ καβάδιν (1506, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: 1 [A'], 224.26) ἐφάνη τοῦ καλοῦ θησιῦ / ἐφάνη τοῦ καλοῦ Θησιοῦ Theseid XII.3,4 (1529) (cf. Θησέος ὠνομάζετον ibid. I.6.5 (Follieri)) τὸν Μορίαν / τὸν Μοριᾶν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.109; στὸν βασιλῆαν / στὸν βασιλιᾶν ibid. VII.42; ὁ θεῖός μας κατηράθη / ὁ θιὸς μᾶς κατηράθη ibid. XVIII.434 λιόφυτα (1571, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 216, 308.7) λιοντάρια TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 161 τὴν γιωμετρίαν Diig. Alex. E 109.19 (Lolos) τσι γιωργούς CHORTATIS, Erof. I.283

Yet another indication/result of consonantization is the deletion of /ð/ in the preposition/preverb διὰ, caused by the necessity to avoid the word-initial consonant cluster [ðj] (see 3.6.1 and ΚΡΙΑΡΑΣ, Lex. s.vv. διὰ, διατί, γιγέρνω for dating and examples). For further graphematic indications of synizesis see II, 1.5.

Extrapolating from MG, it is possible that consonantization of the glide in unstressed sequences did not take place in many instances and would be avoided in more elevated speech, especially in higher-register lexical items such as διάδοχος, σχέδιο, πρόνοια, βεστιάριος etc. However, this is impossible to detect through graphematic evidence.

The fourth stage in the evolution of synizesis is the spread of the phenomenon to sequences where the first, high vowel is stressed. This stage is dialectally restricted, as in some regions it never takes place (see below). These are the outlying areas of Pontos and S. Italy, and the southern part of Mainland Greece, as evidenced by the modern dialectal survivals of the “Old Athenian” group and Maniot. It is possible that the spread to stressed sequences was delayed for Northern Greece as well, because in some northern areas the modern results of the synizesis of /ea/ differ from those of the synizesis of /ia/ ([ɛa] vs. [ja] respectively, e.g. μορέα > μούρεά [mur'ɛa]). However, this phenomenon is not verifiable in MedG texts. In view of the areal/dialectal restriction of this stage, as well as its variable results, it must have been reached towards the end of the LMedG period.

The spread of synizesis to stressed sequences is attested, like the previous one, through the use of the graphemes <γ χ ν> in order to denote the consonantization of /j/ (see 2.4.7 for further examples), and through the spelling <ι> + V instead of <ε> + V, appearing in the 14th–15th c. Graphematic representation of palatalization of the preceding consonant also betrays the operation of synizesis, irrespective of the placement of the accent in the manuscripts (see also 3.8.2):

- εἶστο χοργίον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 86.33 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) ἀπὸ τὴν μεργιάν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 91.42 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) σταργίου (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 23.16) νὰ πγῆ Assizes B 431.19 τὴν Μαργιὰ (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 152.4) opghi clessi / ὅποιοι κλαῖσι CHORTATIS, Erof. I.624 transcr. X (Legrand) πγιάννοντας ἄρματα / πιάννοντας ἄρματα (1609, Cyprus, CHASIOIS 1972: 33, 55.25) me martirgià (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 200.223–4) rgiachi / ρυάκι Thysia Avr. 799 transcr. M εἰκωσι κοματγῆα / εἴκοσι κομμάτια (1675, Amorgos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 33, 26.12) σίντροφγ<ι>α / συντροφιά (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 3, 39r.6); τὰ ποιδγ<ι>ά / τὰ πιδιά (ibid. A: 6, 43r.16) τοῦ χωραφχιού / τοῦ χωραφιοῦ (1695, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 33, 81.17) φοριχίες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 12.29 δοκιμαχιά Fior 126.35
 ἀλλ' ἑφτακόχες KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 268 τυραγνιά Theseid I.95,3 (Follieri) ξεραχιά MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v. = ξηρασία; κακοπαθηχία ibid. s.v. καὶ καθὰ κοπεγλιού / καὶ κάθα κοπελιού (1660, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 15, 379.8) ποδαριὰς (1304, Sicily, Guillou 1963: 23, 175.51) γιατ' ἔτσι 'ν' ὀριζάμενο τὸ χριός σου νὰ πλερώσης Alfav. 10 8 ἔτσι ἀπὸ τὰ παλιά ὥσάν καὶ τὰ νιά (1596, Naxos, Karaboula/Rodolakis 2012/13: 154, 279.11)
 ρωμνιους / Ρωμιούς (1608, Santorini, Stefanidou 2004: 18, 179.62) παλιά καὶ νιά (1638, Crete, Vourdoumbakis 1915: 5, 357.22) αμπελιού με πέντε ρίξες ελιές (1624, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2000: 2, 516.10) οἱ γουνιοῖ μου (1643, Andros, POLEMIS 1999b: 15, 39.5) στὴν ἐδικήνμας τῶν Ῥωμειῶν / στὴν ἐδικήν μας τῶν Ρωμιῶν SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. a2v.12 μὲ ἔναν Ὀβριόν (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 10, 76.14)

Another indication for a LMedG dating for synizesis in stressed sequences is the appearance of the “semi-contracted” barytone inflection in this period (see III, 2.1.1.2), with rare 13th-c. attestations from S. Italy, and 14th-c. attestations from literary texts:

καὶ συγκλειοῦν (1251, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 197, 419.23) οἱ συμφωνίης τῆς κλειοῦσιν Chron. Mor. H 2387 < κλείω καταλυεῖς τὰ ροῦχά μου Spaneas Z 626; σείεσαι ἀγριωμένος ibid. 628 < σείω

Of course synizesis is also attested, to the extent that the accentuation of medieval manuscripts is reliable, simply through the graphematic placement of the accent on the second vowel. The evidence of printed editions is certainly more reliable, and so are attestations in LMedG metrical texts where the shifted accent falls on the penultimate syllable of the 15-syllable political verse, which has obligatory stress on this position (in which case the last syllable in the verse is frequently a clitic).

ὑποδησιάν οὐκ εἶχεν Ptoch. III 60 app. crit. (M) τῶν δύο της φρυδιῶν Pol. Tr. 2072 app. crit. (V) τὰ κεριά (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 18, 158.6) ρίζες διὸ / ρίζες δυὸ (1529, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 92, 114.4) ὦ μαρτυριά τῆς ἀληθείας FALIEROS, Thrinos 237 σκηλιά / σκυλιά (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 2, 48.4); ἐδῶ εἶναι Τουρκιά (ibid. 2, 49.7) ποτέ σας νὰ μὴν ἔχετε ἑσεῖς καὶ τὰ παιδιά σας Chron. Mor. H 4250; κι ἀφότου ἑκατονέψασιν ἐπιάσαν τῆς μαντιές τους ibid. 5305 τὴν λευθεριάν του LIMEN., Than. Rod. 285 Βέλθανδρε, φῶς μου, μάτια μου, ψυχὴ μου καὶ καρδιά μου Velth. 1158 καὶ κανισκέψη τον καλὰ, διαβαίνει ἡ μανιά του SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 96 transcr. N (Lendari) λοιπὸν αὐτὸς ἐμίσσεψε καὶ πᾶγει τὴν δουλειά του CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1125 κ' ἐδιάβηκε στὸ σπῆτι του μέσα στὴν κατοικιά του Alex. Rim. 174

By the 17th c., the phenomenon is also noted in grammars of the period, cf. “la lingua di Scio ama assai l’Accento nell’ultima sillaba ne’ Nomi Feminini in a. φιλιά, amicitia, μακαριά, buona memoria, & simili, che altri pronuntiano φιλία, μακαρία” (GERMANO, Grammar 56.20). The same author (p. 63) comments on the variable application of synizesis in the neuter nouns in -ι: “το δεμάτι, του δεματιοῦ, τῶν δεματιῶν, il fascio, del fascio, delli fasci. & questo é il Dialetto, cioè la lingua di Scio. Altri dicono σπιτίου, παιδίου, δεματίου & simili”.

It must be noted that synizesis in sequences where the first vowel is stressed is very much a variable phenomenon, in that there are no texts from any period which display it consistently in all lexical items possessing the proper phonetic environment. Resistance to synizesis in sequences where the first vowel is stressed is one of the characteristic markers of higher register; even very late texts, dated to the 17th and 18th c., may show absence of synizesis, without this entailing that the process had not taken place at that time. The investigation of the phenomenon of synizesis in MG has demonstrated how closely it is connected to sociolinguistic factors (e.g. RYTTING 2005). Absence of synizesis in literary and non-literary texts from all areas is so frequent, even up to the 17th c., that it does not require documentation.

In general, the morphophonological environments where synizesis with variable results may appear in MedG and EMG are the following (based on NEWTON 1972a: 28–9):

- a) Feminine nouns in -έα, -ία, -εία (μερέα, μερία, μεριά, μερά, μερέ); see II, 2.11.4.
- b) Masculine nouns in -έας deriving from the AG paradigm -εύς (βασιλέας, βασιλιάς, βασιλές); see II, 2.4.
- c) Neuter nouns in -ιον/-ιν in the gen. sg. and the pl. (παιδί → παιδίου-παιδιοῦ / παιδία-παιδιά, μοναστήρι → μοναστηρίου-μοναστηριοῦ); see II, 2.20.
- d) Neuter nouns in -ειο, -εῖο (σχολεῖο, σχολειό); see II, 2.20.
- e) Adjectives in -αῖος (παλαιός-παλιός, Ρωμαῖος-Ρωμιός) and -ιάρης (ζηλιάρης, ζηλιαρέα); see II, 3.2.2 and II, 3.2.6.
- f) Adjectives in -ύς, -εία/-έα, -ύ (βαθέου → βαθιοῦ, βαθείας/βαθέας → βαθιδς, βαθέων → βαθιδων); see II, 3.3.1.
- g) The derivational suffixes -άζω and -ώνω when attached to stems ending in a high vowel (δειλία → δειλιάζω, ὅμοιος → ὁμοιάζω, παλαιός → παλιώνω).
- h) The paradigm of oxytone verbs, and specifically in the active imperfect (ἐκράτειες, ἤμπόρειε) and the mediopassive present and imperfect (κρατιοῦμαι, κρατιέμαι, ἐκρατειόμην/ἐκρατειοῦμουν etc.); see III, 4.3.
- i) The paradigm of “semi-contracted” verbs, i.e. barytone verbs with vocalic stem ending in /i/, (λύω > λυῶ, κλείω > κλειῶ, κυλίομαι > κυλιέμαι) and more rarely in /e/ (καίομαι > κιόμαι); see III, 2.1.1.2.
- j) The stem of several lexical items such as ἐορτή, ἱατρός, διαβάζω and some pronouns, e.g. ποῖος/ποιός, οἷος/ὄγοιος.

In the history of MG, a fifth stage in the evolution of synizesis takes place in the South-Eastern dialect group (Cyprus and Dodecanese; see PANDELIDIS 1929: 7–11; NEWTON 1972a: 166–74): the hardening of the voiced palatal fricative deriving from synizesis to a voiceless palatal stop, e.g. Cypriot ἀλήθεια > ἀλήθκεια [a'liθca], καρδιά > καρκιά [kar'ca], a change connected to the phenomenon of manner dissimilation, which in the South East affects a larger group of consonants (see 3.8.1.3). This stage is not attested in MedG or EMG documents, so most scholars believe that it post-dates the period under investigation (SYMEONIDIS 2006: 182). However, DAWKINS (1932: II 179) adduces an indirect piece of evidence that the phenomenon may already have begun in the late 14th c. in Cyprus: in a travel book written in Latin, the transliterated (ablative) form in pitarcis is used in order to refer to wine-jars in Cyprus (πιθάρι – πιθάρια > πιθάρκα).²⁶ An even further step in the evolution, occurring before back vowels, namely the backing of the palatal stop to a velar stop, e.g. Cypriot χωρίο(ν) > χωρκό(ν) [xor'kon] is not attested; however, a similar phenomenon of backing of the palatal fricative [j] resulting from synizesis to the velar fricative [ɣ] is attested in texts from Western Crete (see 2.4.7.3).

²⁶ The instance of “Verhärtung von j zu κ im Kyprischen” adduced by TRIANDAPHYLLIDIS 1909: §21, μπαζαρκάνος (< παζάρκι), TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 77, is spurious as it derives directly from Turk. bazargân (KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.).

2.9.4.3 Alternative Evolutions

The final stage of synizesis, involving vowel sequences where the first vowel is stressed, did not affect the totality of the vocabulary, but, more importantly, nor did it affect the totality of Greek-speaking areas. The major alternative evolutions are the following: (a) absence of synizesis, (b) absence of synizesis combined with height dissimilation, (c) vowel coalescence instead of synizesis.

a) absence of synizesis: stressed /e/ + V and /i/ + V sequences remain unaffected. Because of the conservative character of the written record, it is difficult to distinguish cases where absence of synizesis is a true regional dialectal characteristic from cases where it is inhibited due to conscious archaism or due to the properties of a specific lexical item. For this reason, the evidence of the Modern Greek dialects which still display absence of synizesis is crucial. The phenomenon occurs in the peripheral areas of Pontos and S. Italy, as well as in the so-called “Old Athenian” dialect group, which includes the variety spoken in Athens, Megara, Aegina and parts of Euboea. It also occurs in the Peloponnese, systematically in the dialects of Mani and the nearby island of Cythera and sporadically in some areas of Arcadia. This could indicate a dialectal isogloss which in the past encompassed the whole of southern mainland Greece, i.e. Attica, Boeotia, Euboea and the Peloponnese, and which became fragmented much later (cf. the discussion in PANDELIDIS 2016c). Lack of synizesis is attested in the texts originating from Pontos (VAYAKAKOS 1964: 271–2), S. Italy, Athens, Mani and Cythera. However, in some of these texts, forms with synizesis co-exist with unchanged forms. Examples:

ἐν σακὶν καμασίαν (1260?, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/ΒΕΝΕΧΕΒΙΤΣΧ 1927: 52, 29.31); τὴν μοιρασίαν (1264, ibid. 39, 19.22); ἀπὲ τὴν μίαν μερέαν (15th c., ibid. 148, 109.7) εἰς τῆς Σπιλήαις / εἰς τὶς Σπηλῖες (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 84, 167.1); τῶν τρεῖων του πεδεῖων / τῶν τριῶν του παιδίων (1568, ibid. 261, 363.17) εἰς τὸ μακελλεῖο (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 15, 13.7); τὴ χρονέα (1587, ibid. 167, 135.19); ἡ μία μερέα (1587, ibid. 137, 109.9); μῆαν ἀγριολεά / μίαν ἀγριολεά (1588, ibid. 276, 233.19) εἰς τὴ Βαθέα Λαγκάδα (1631, Cythera, SEREMETIS 1962: 2 (ii), 132.9) μερέαν (1547, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: I, 70.10) σουκέα (1618, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: V, 73.29) μονοκονδυλέα (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 307.6) πυροστία (1627, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 240.24) ἀχλαδέα (1749, Athens, MOMFERRATOS 1892: I, 28.16)

σουκέα (1760, Megara, SYRKOU 2006: I, 334.26)

According to KONDOSOPOULOS (1960: 211), absence of synizesis in the sequence -έα/-αία remains a feature of modern West Cretan, albeit restricted geographically (prefecture of Chania, province of Kissamos). This lends greater credibility to documentary attestations of such forms from EMG Cretan sources. However, forms in -έα appear only in non-literary (legal) texts and are absent from Cretan literature, except in rare cases, later only to be found in the rhyming position (BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 32–3). This indicates either that they are archaic forms retained only as part of legal language, or that they are, as today, dialectally restricted. Examples:

ἐλαίαν μίαν ... καὶ κερατέα μίαν (1517, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 7, 55.18) διὰ ἐντριτέα (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 5, 25.26) βρόμον πολὺν καὶ δυσωδίαν, εἰς τὴν κοπρέαν ἀπόσω DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 244 στεφάνιν τῶν ἐφέρασιν ἀπὸ μερτέα καὶ δάφνης BERGADIS, Apok. V 491 διχῶς ζωή, σοῦ ὄωκασι μὲ λόγχη στὴν πλευρέα | κι ἤδραμεν αἷμα καὶ νερόν ὥσπερ ἀγία δωρέα FALIEROS, Thrinós 281–2 πάντα δε στέκεις ὁμορφῇ, δε θέλεις εἶσται νέα, | ἀμ' ἀσκημίσεις θες κι ἐσύ, γενεὶς θέλεις καὶ γράια CHORTATIS, Panor. III.133–4 ἴντὰ ἴναι αὐτὰ τὰ τσέρκουλα, λέχτορα καὶ ἡ τσιλέα, | τὰ ρόδομα ἀποῦ λὲς καὶ τρῶς, τὰ νεῦρα καὶ ἡ τσινέα; FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.62–3

Modern dialectal evidence indicates lack of synizesis in stressed sequences also for some Dodecanesian islands (parts of Rhodes and Karpathos, DAWKINS 1940: 25; TSOPANAKIS 1940: 64), for Arcadia (DAWKINS 1940: 19) and for parts of Northern Epirus (KYRIAZIS/SPYROU 2011: 180), but the evidence from these areas is insufficient to establish the status of synizesis in the LMedG and EMG periods. Finally, lack of synizesis in stressed sequences is normal for S. Italian and Pontic:

τῆς τε πελέας καὶ συκέας (1019, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 18, 19.10) φορεσίεις δ' (1254, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 19, 90.20)
 ἡ παππαδία αὐτοῦ χήρα ἡ Κουρτιστάβα (1268, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 50, 27.14); περὶ τοῦ χωραφίου μου (13th c., ibid. 101, 59.7)

b) height dissimilation without synizesis: the synizesis of the sequences where the first vowel is /e/ poses a difficult problem concerning the process of evolution. Most scholars follow the position of ANDRIOTIS 1974 and postulate a stage of height dissimilation, i.e. of raising of /e/ to /i/ prior to synizesis proper. Others (e.g. MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 2002) claim that this is unnecessary and that synizesis can take place without such an intermediate stage, explaining the many cases of alternation between <εα> and <ια> as hypercorrections or as morphologically conditioned. A stage of height dissimilation can be assumed with some degree of certainty only for regions which do present ['ia] instead of etymological ['ea] in the modern period, namely S. Italy, Zakynthos and Tsakonia, and perhaps areas of the Peloponnese. In S. Italian documents the phenomenon is especially frequent (cf. MINAS ²2003: 50–2), but from the other areas the evidence is less secure. In all other instances, the most likely interpretation of apparent height dissimilation in MedG texts is hypercorrection of synizesis, which, by the time most of these attestations appear, had already set in:

καρυδίεις (1039–40, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 2, 69.10) ταῖς συκειαῖς / τὲς συκίεις (1108–9, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 29, 135.27) κιτριέας (1149, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 18, 122.26) βάδιον (<βάδεον>) (1198, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 246, 334.26) πτελίας (1307, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 10, 114.15) ἡ γρία τοὺς ἄφηκεν Pol. Tr. 497 app. crit. (E); πολλὲς σπαθίεις ibid. 3514 app. crit. (X) γλυκία (adv.) Chron. Mor. P 228 τὴν κονταρίαν μὲ δώση Dig. E 1557 καὶ κονταρία τὸν ἔδωσεν τὸν Σγοῦρον ὁ Γαλιάσσος Chron. Toc. 1073 ξυλίες τοὺς ἔδωκα Achil. O 598 τοῦ χαλκία Poulol. 438 app. crit. (E) χρίος (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 46, 25.5) τοὺς γονίους του / τοὺς γονίους του (1484, Cyprus, DARROUZES 1958: 20, 232.7–8) τον φονίαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 18.2, ποδία (1514, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 2 [B'], 237.17) προτιμητίος (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 43, 53.6) τοῦ βασιλῆος ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua VII.45 ᾽ξ Ἀμμώνου βασιλιάς Alex. Rim. 1411 Κωσταντής Κορωνίος (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 39, 40.5); τὲς ἐλίες (1572, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 1, 17.10–11) τὰ λόγια τὰ βαρία MONTSEL., Evgena 543 ἀνήμπορη καὶ γρία Zinon Prol. 149

Height dissimilation could be assumed also in cases where the reverse pronunciation ['ea] or [ea], ['eo] or [eo], ['eu] or [eu], ['ei] or [ei] instead of ['ia] or [ia], etc. occurs, since these cases can be interpreted as hypercorrections of height dissimilation:

ἀνιψέοι (1041, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 2, 141.44) μεσειμβρέας (1123, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 93, 122.10); χοράφεον (1140, ibid. 122, 162.9); πέντε κεφάλαια πρόβατα (1141, ibid. 125, 167.29) νηφάλαιος / νηφάλεος (1328, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 2, 13.17) χασδέου SFRANTZIS, Chron. 58.1 τειχέα Chron. Mor. H 855 εἰς τὴν κοπρέαν Diig. tetr. 232 app. crit. (P) νὰ κάμω τὴ μαλέα Alex. Rim. 808 < ὀμαλία κλαρέα Diig. Alex. E 181.12 (Lolos) σουπέας Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1104

However, in many cases the explanation of apparent height dissimilation is morphological/ analogical rather than phonetic: the suffix -έα has spread to specific subcategories of nouns (denoting trees, blows or strokes, smells, measures, skins; see CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 196ff. and B 227ff.; PSALTES 1913: 267–8; PETROUNIAS 1987) and adjectives (the feminine of the -ύς and -άριος paradigms, see II, 3.3.1 and II, 3.2.6),²⁷ replacing in some cases earlier -ία. This change is still evident in MG dialects not having undergone the final stage of synizesis (see extensive list of examples in VAYAKAKOS 1988a). This morphological change is still in a state of flux in the period under investigation, something which is reflected in the variation in inflection:

βαθείαν (1142, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 6, 304.12) vs. βαθέαν (1141, ibid. Coll. V: 5, 300.17) Σικ(αι)λέ(ας) / Σικελέας (1179, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 50, 217.2) ἐγίνη λυσσιαρία Pol. Tr. 12483 app. crit. (V) vs. ἐγίνη λυσσιαρέα ibid. 12483 app. crit. (ACX) καρέας (1071, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 39, 116.14); καρέας (1330, Athos, LEFORT et al. 2006: 70, 65.34) κερασῆς (1018, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 24, 172.16) < κερασῆες < post-class. κερασία ²⁷ Cf. the early form σπαθαρέα (AD 898) from an EMedG Athenian inscription (ORLANDOS 1973: 101).

τῆς Κυδωνέ(ας) (1104 [14th-c. copy], Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 52, 242.27) < AG κυδωνία φυτέα (1270 ca., Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.23–4) < φυτεία φυτέα (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 64, 84.8) εἰς τὴν Ὀξέαν (1292, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 115, 85.44) λεπτοκαρέα (1400, Athos, KRAVARI 1991: 24, 165.7) τ(ήν) ἄλλην μερέαν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 17.83) τῇ κουβικουλαρέα De adm. imperio 53.429 κουβουκλαρέα Poulol. 167 καντζελλαρέα (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 26, 165.13)

c) vowel coalescence instead of synizesis: the vowel sequence stressed /e/ + /a/ results in /'e/ instead of /'ja/ in two areas, West Crete and Ikaria (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 402–3; KONDOSOPOULOS 1960: 210–18), a situation that is corroborated by MG dialectal evidence (see also 2.4.7.4). The phenomenon is well attested from the 16th c. onwards in texts from Rethymnon. About one-fourth of the relevant forms show coalescence to /'e/ in the corpus of the notary Varouchas (BAKKER 1988/89: 282), and several attestations are to be found in the works of Chortatsis and Troilos (HENRICH 1998b: 102). Documents from Ikaria also provide sufficient evidence for the regularity of the phenomenon since the 16th c. (cf. also CHATZIDAKIS 1901a: 152):²⁸ ἀπού τὸ ἀμπέλι τοῦ Βατέ (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 7, 29.5); ἄσπρη ρασέ (1598, ibid. 22, 42.13); ἀπού τὴν ἀπάνω μερέ (1604, ibid. 213, 218.4–5); ἀρχίζοντας ἡ πρώτῃ χρονέ ἀπού τσι,αχε' (1604, ibid. 256, 251.6); μία τραχηλὲ με σταυρό (1604, ibid. 274, 265.6–7); τὴν ἀμπελὲ του Βουβοῦ (1612, ibid. 795, 691.26) το κρες CHORTATIS, Panor. II.14; μια ραβδέ ibid. II.85; τση γρες αδόντι ibid. III.291; δεν εἶσαι τόσα γρε ibid. III.297; τὴν κοπρέ ibid. III.310; στὴν αποκαλαμέ σου ibid. III.329 στὴν πρωτινὲ ζωὴ TROILOS, Rodol. II.17 τὰ Μακρὲ Καμπία (1573, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 2, 18.24–5); εἰς τὴν Πρινέ (1573, ibid. 2, 18.27); μίαν ἐλὲ (1652, ibid. 19, 29.4); εἰς τὴν Ὀξέ (1681, ibid. 70, 58.21); ὁ κῆπος ὅπου ἔχει τήνι καρὲ (1685, ibid. 73, 60.10); εἰς τὴν Συκαμνέ (1694, ibid. 87, 69.24); βοῦν καὶ ἀγελὲ (1698, ibid. 100, 78.13) εἰς τὴν Μονοβολέ (1640, Ikaria, STAMATIADIS 1893: 3, 155.7); τὴν Καλαμὲν (ibid. 3, 155.14)

The inflectional paradigm of masc. nouns in -εὺς > -έας also displays a variant in -ές, e.g. βασιλιεύς > βασιλέας/βασιλές, Ἀχιλλεύς > Ἀχιλλέας/Ἀχιλλές (see II, 2.4). This has been variously interpreted as a result of vowel coalescence during the intermediate stage -έας, on the analogy of feminine nouns in -έα > -έ, or as a result of consonant deletion in lexical items which had retained their archaic inflection -εὺς [efs] due to their higher register (JANNARIS 1897: 108; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 207, 345; KAPSOMENOS 1939: 51–8). Given its very early attestation (from the 11th c.) and its occurrence in areas where vowel coalescence in the feminine, as described above, is not attested in either the MedG or the MG period, the second alternative is more likely.

²⁸ A form of the phenomenon occurs in Modern Cypriot (for which see KAPSOMENOS 1939; MENARDOS 1969: 47; MINAS 2008: 450–1), but does not seem to be attested in MedG; the form χρέ in Machairas: ἀπιτόθε νὰ πλερώση ὁ ρήγας τὰ χρέ του; MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 430.7 probably does not derive from χρέα, as this form is not to be found in Cypriot texts (see II, 2.23).

A special case is constituted by Pontic, which in the modern period shows vowel coalescence instead of synizesis in unstressed /i/ + V and /e/ + V sequences, leading to the creation of the new vowels [æ] and [œ] (see 2.5.3).

2.9.5 Crasis

In grammars of AG the term “crasis” refers to a hiatus resolution process occurring at word boundaries within a clitic group, whereby a word-final and a word-initial vowel coalesce to give a long vowel, whose degree of aperture is determined by roughly the same rules as contraction (SMYTH 1984: §§ 62–9, GOLSTON 1990: 69–70). In MedG and EMG, however, as the vowel system is fundamentally different due to the loss of length distinctions, the AG phonetic rules of crasis do not apply; hiatus at word boundaries is resolved through vowel deletion according to the sonority hierarchy (see 2.9.2). Crasis according to AG rules has all but disappeared in the late Koine (GIGNAC 1976: 321).

However, there is one phonetic environment in MedG and MG where coalescence instead of deletion does take place, bearing a resemblance to the ancient phenomenon, and for this reason the term “crasis” is applied to it in the standard bibliography (ANDRIOTIS 1956, FORIS 1963): when /u/ comes into contact with /e/ within a phonological unit, the result is coalescence of the two vowels to /o/. The phenomenon is usually interpreted as a fast speech coarticulation effect, as the vocal organs retain the lip rounding of the first vowel but assume the lower lingual height of the second (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 216–17, adopted in later studies).

The phenomenon takes place both word-internally, where the typical, and perhaps the only, examples are the imperative and 3 sg. imperfect ἄκουε > ἄκο and the 2 pl. present ἀκούετε > ἀκότε, and at word boundaries, if the first word is proclitic. This involves: (a) the weak personal pronouns (μοῦ, σοῦ, τοῦ), (b) the relative pronoun and adverb ὁπού/πού and (c) the interrogative adverb ποῦ, usually followed by a verb whose stem begins with /e/ or any verb in the past tense if it bears the augment ἐ-.²⁹ With regard to orthography, editorial practice varies.

καὶ θές τὸ νοῦν σου καὶ ἄκο τὰ καλὰ Spaneas V 46 (ms late 12th/early 13th c.)

ὁ Δοῦκας γὰρ τῆς Βενετίας, μισὶρ Ἀρίγος ἄκω Chron. Mor. H 335, cf. 1379, 3176, 3539, 3540, 5231, 7866, 8099 (meaning “he answered to the name”, “he was called”) ὥς τὸ ἀκῶτε Chron. Mor. H 8911 ἄκο τὸ τίνα λέγει Dig. E 517 ἄκο ἄλλον σύβαμα Chron. Toc. 41 μῶδειξαν (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 9, 28.10) θὲ νὰ μῶρθη VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 250 δὲν μῶστελες (1682, Corfu, MERTZIOS 1936d: 2, 105.13)

σόπρεπε Kakop. 144

σὸδίδασι CHORTATZIS, Katz. I.214

²⁹ In some cases of crasis apparently involving other vowels in verb-stems (e.g. ἀγόρασσα) one has to assume a variant formation with syllabic instead of temporal augment (see III, 3.1.4.2).

τῶχει δίδοντα (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 434α, 343.6) θέλει νὰ τῶρθη MONTSEL., Evgena 71

γῆ πάλι ἀξανάστροφα τό ’ρτου KONDAR., Paides 939 τῶκαμε EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 59.22 ὁπῶβαναν τὲς σκάλες Chron. Toc. 100 ὁπὸγεννήθηκε Rim. kor. A 148 ὁπὸγόρασεν (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 9 [Θ'], 241.4–5) τὸ χωράφι ὁπὸκράτει (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 36, 77.27) πὸγόρασα (1573, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 1, 75.12) (underlying ἐγόρασα) ὁπὸστειλίς (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 65.13) πῶδωσεν Thrinis Kypr. 51

ὁπῶχει κόκκινον Poulol. 336 ὁπῶχουν χρεῖαν μεγάλην Pol. Tr. 6736 app. crit. (V) ὁπῶχουν Peri xen. 10

ὁπῶχω (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 29, 35.10) πῶχομεν (1570, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 1, 9.13) ὁπῶχει μέσα (1596, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 154, 279.10) ὅπ’ ὶχει (1620, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 12, 315.2) πῶχου (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 1, 29.15)

ὁπῶχω PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2478

εἶπαν τὴν τὸ πῶναι Liv. V 2770 καὶ πῶναι; [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1110 αὐτοῦ ὁπῶναι καὶ ὁ δούκας (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.51) ὁπῶναι (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 297, 250.17)

πῶναι (1685, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 27, 134.6)

The earliest attestations of the phenomenon come from a 12th-c. Latin–Greek glossary (AERTS 1995: 204): po ne oto castro? Po ne strata oto castro? (= πῶναι ὦ{ς} τὸ κάστρο; πῶναι στράτα ὦ{ς} τὸ κάστρο;). It occurs in both literary and non-literary texts, but is especially frequent in Crete, the Cyclades (Andros, Naxos, Santorini, Syros) and the Heptanese (Kefalonia, Corfu, Ithaca, Cythera), and is also attested from other areas such as the Peloponnese and Macedonia.

Crisis between words which do not form a phonological unit occurs only in versified texts, and should be considered an artificial device serving metrical needs:

χρήση μὲν νὰ ποίσω Cypr. Canz. 79.10 < μου ἔν’ τὰ σάλια μὲκινῆσα CHORTATIS, Katz. I.60 καὶ τὴν γυνὴ μὲγλύτωσα PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2480

Crisis according to the AG rules appears, as an archaism influenced by learned language, in some literary texts. The only elements displaying AG-type crisis fully integrated into MedG and EMG are the adverb κᾶν and the indefinite pronouns κανεῖς, κάτις, κάποιος, καμπόσος (for which see II, 5.8.9–14):

ἐξῆλθον ἐξωθεν κᾶγῶ Ptoch. I 218

κᾶκεῖνο Velth. 466

θέλω κᾶγῶ ἐζήτημα Byz. Il. 207 κᾶγῶ [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 228

3 Consonants

3.1 Description of the Consonant System

The MedG consonant system is essentially that of the end of the period of the Koine; the dating of the major consonant changes (fricativization of voiced and of voiceless aspirated stops), even if not entirely settled, falls well before LMedG (GIGNAC 1976; HORROCKS ²2010: 170–2). This system is very similar to that of MG (for which see ARVANITI 1999; NESPOR 1999: 46; BOTINIS 2009: 90–101). Table 2 shows pan-dialectal phonologically contrastive sounds in boldface, while allophonic variants, sounds of contested/contestable phonological status, and dialectally restricted sounds are given in parentheses, and discussed below. In each box, the first sound is voiceless, the second voiced (except for the liquids, which are both voiced).

The MedG consonantal system is symmetrical, operating on the basis of contrasts between voiceless vs. voiced and fricative vs. stop: /p/~/b/~/f/~/v/, /t/~/d/~/θ/~/ð/, /k/~/g/~/x/~/ɣ/. The system is complemented by contrastive pairs of nasals (/m/~/n/), liquids (/l/~/r/) and sibilants (/s/~/z/).

The major factors in the creation of allophonic variation are the phenomena of palatalization, i.e. the fronting of certain consonant classes when followed by a front vowel or semivowel (see 3.8.2) and synizesis, i.e. the semi-vocalization and subsequent consonantization of front vowels when followed by a back vowel (see 2.9.4). Palatalization and synizesis give rise to palatal stops ([c ɟ]), palatal fricatives ([ç ʝ]), and palatal nasals and liquids ([ɲ ʎ]). In addition, synizesis “destroys” the original distributional environment of palatal consonants, in that, after it has applied, palatal consonants appear not only before front vowels but before back vowels as well. The degree and final result of palatalization, as well as the range of palatalizable consonants, vary according to dialect, so that in certain areas and periods additional post-alveolar allophones (e.g. [ʃ, ʒ, ʒ̥]) exist. Another source of allophonic variation is the assimilation of a nasal to a following stop as to place of articulation, which gives rise to the velar nasal [ŋ] when a nasal is followed by a velar consonant.¹

The phonemic status of the voiced stops /b d g/ is contestable, since they mostly originate from the voicing of nasal + voiceless stop sequences (i.e. [mp] > [mb], [nt] > [nd] and

¹ The presence of a labiodental allophone [m̥] in the cases of [m] followed by [f] or [v] can be assumed for MedG on the analogy of MG and on the basis of general principles of phonetics (automatic partial assimilation for articulatory reasons), but is impossible to prove through graphematic evidence. Furthermore, such a sound can appear in higher registers only, since the “regular” outcome of the sequence [mf] would be deletion of the nasal (see 3.6.2), and the sequence [mv] is a “learned” cluster, instead of regular [mb] (see 3.2.1.2). Therefore, this sound is not taken into consideration here.

Table 2: The Consonantal Sounds of Medieval and Early Modern Greek

	Bilabial	Labiodental	Dental	Alveolar	Post-alveolar	Palatal	Velar
Stop	p b		t d			(c ɟ)	k g
Fricative		f v	θ ð			(ç ʝ)	x ɣ
Nasal	m		n			(ɲ)	(ŋ)
Liquid				r l	(ʃ)	(ʎ)
Sibilant				s z
Affricate				ts dz	(tʃ dʒ)

[ŋk] > [ŋg]). However, in view of the fact that voiced stops appear without a preceding nasal in certain positions, dialects or lexical items, and that specific phonetic changes apply to them, they are described here as a separate class of phonemes (see 3.2.1.2). Similarly, the phonemic status of the affricates [ts dz] is doubtful, as it is also possible to analyse them as sequences of homorganic stop + sibilant. However, they are discussed here as a separate class of affricate phonemes because of their special history and properties (see 3.2.6).

The final major issue concerning the overall consonant system of MedG and EMG is the phonemic status of the double/geminate consonants which appear in certain dialects (see 3.4), i.e. whether to consider them as single, separate phonemes (long consonants) or as iterations of the same phoneme (i.e. as two consecutive identical consonants). In view of the fact that they are (a) dialectally restricted, (b) not well represented/detectable in texts, and (c) subject to the same general sound changes as the corresponding singleton consonants, the second option is followed here.

3.2 Phoneme Inventory

3.2.1 Stops

3.2.1.1 Voiceless Stops

The three voiceless stops, labial /p/ <π>, dental /t/ <τ> and velar /k/ <κ>, are mostly direct inheritances of Koine and AG /p t k/, or may arise secondarily through either occlusivization of voiceless fricatives (see 3.8.1, manner dissimilation) or devoicing of voiced stops (see 3.8.3.4). They appear in word-initial and medial position. Only the velar /k/ has a regular allophone, palatal [c], before the front vowels /i/ and /e/ and the semivowel /j/ (see 3.8.2 for history and graphematic evidence). Voiceless stops are subject to the following phenomena:

- Gemination (see 3.4)
- Manner dissimilation (see 3.8.1)
- Voicing (see 3.8.3)

- Fricativization (see 3.8.4)
- Affrication (see 3.2.6)
- Dissimilatory deletion (see 3.9.3.2)

3.2.1.2 Voiced Stops

The three voiced stops /b d g/ are mostly innovative evolutions of Koine and MedG.² Their origin is threefold (BABINIOTIS ³2002: 128–9):

- a) blocking of the fricativization of original AG voiced stops when preceded by a nasal, e.g. δένδρον [déndron] > δέντρο ['ðendro], κόμβος [kómbos] > κόμπος ['kombos], ξγγονος [éḡgonos] > ξγγονος ['eḡgonos];
- b) voicing of post-nasal voiceless stops, e.g. πέντε [pénte] > πέντε ['pende], ἔμπορος [émporos] > ἔμπορος ['emboros], ἐγκαλῶ [eḡkalṓ:] > ἐγκαλῶ [eḡga'lo]. The phenomenon occurs also at word boundaries, i.e. word-initial voiceless stops become voiced when the preceding word ends in a nasal (see 3.8.3);
- c) loanwords, initially Latin (mandatum > μαντάτο, accumbo > ἀκουμπῶ); later Romance (Ital. barbiere > μπαρμπιέρης, OFr. dame > ντάμα, Ven. governar > γκουβερνάρω) and Turkish (bey > μπέης, oda > όντάς). Note, however, that in the South-Eastern and Asia Minor dialect groups (Cyprus, Dodecanese, Pontos etc.) foreign voiced stops are adapted as voiceless stops (see 3.8.3.4).

A number of sporadic voicing processes may also lead to voiced stops from originally voiceless ones (see 3.8.3).

The Greek alphabet does not possess a special sign for the notation of voiced stops, since the graphemes <Β Δ Γ> originally denoting them represent, from the Koine onwards, voiced fricatives (as a result of a regular sound change which lenited the AG voiced stops to voiced fricatives; see HORROCKS ²2010: 170). Therefore, in MedG they are noted through the digraphs <μπ, ντ, γκ/γγ>, as they mostly derive from original [mp, nt, ŋk] sequences as described above. In manuscripts, the spelling with plain <π τ κ> is quite frequent, representing, in all probability, a voiced pronunciation with deletion of the preceding nasal (for the phenomenon and its graphematic representation see 3.6.2.1).

Furthermore, the conservative orthography <μβ, νδ> may, more often than is apparent, in fact represent the sounds [mb] and [nd]. This is evident through hypercorrections such as: τὰ φλάμβουρά μου Liv. E 766 (for φλάμπουρα); ἡκούμβισαν ΚΑΝΑΝΟΣ, Diig. 389 (for ἡκούμπισαν < Lat. accumbo); Κόνστανδεν[ος] (1071, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 39, 116.3); τὴν τένδαν Dig. G I.311; πονδικούς Chron. Mor. H 2932 app. crit. (for ποντικούς); κονδαρέας Achil. O 673 (for κονταρέας). The interpretation of these cases is as follows:

² A possible exception could be the S. Italian (Puglian) voiced stops, which are often claimed to be direct descendants of AG /b, d, g/ (ROHLFS 1977: 54–5) and which, if this is so, would have retained their original stop value throughout MedG. However, an alternative interpretation of these stops as a relatively late (post-medieval) innovation under the influence of neighbouring Romance dialects is more likely (KAPSOMENOS 1953b: 325–6).

the writer knows that the digraphs <μβ> <νδ> in words of AG origin are in fact pronounced [mb nd], as in δένδρον ['ðendron], and that they are quite frequently written <μπ> <ντ> in order to denote this, e.g. κιντυνέψης Chron. Mor. H 3872; ἀντραγαθίας Dig. E 625; κομπρία ἀργυρά (1500, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1 [A¹], 236.15). In his effort to “undo” this graphematic innovation the writer extends the reversion even to “original” <μπ> <ντ> spellings such as ποντικός. See SCHMITT (1898: 27) and JANNACONE (1951: 155–6) for discussion and further examples.

Only the velar /g/ has a regular allophone, the palatal [ɟ], before the front vowels /i/ and /e/ and the semivowel /j/ (see 3.8.2 for history and graphematic evidence). Voiced stops are subject to the following phenomena:

- Devoicing (see 3.8.3.4)
- Fricativization (see 3.8.4)

3.2.2 Fricatives

3.2.2.1 Voiceless Fricatives

The three voiceless fricatives /f θ x/ <φ θ χ> are mainly a direct inheritance from the corresponding Koine phonemes, which resulted from the fricativization and deaspiration of the AG voiceless aspirated stops /p^h t^h k^h/ (HORROCKS ²2010: 170–1). Secondly, they may arise through fricativization of voiceless stops (see 3.8.1 and 3.8.4). Finally, /f/ also results from the consonantization of the second member of the AG diphthongs /au/ and /eu/, which took place in the period of the Koine (see 2.4.8).

Voiceless fricatives appear in word-initial and medial position (and word-finally in the case of a few high-register vocabulary items such as εῦ, φεῦ, ἄνευ and the vocative of the nouns in -εὺς, for which see II, 2.4). Only the velar /x/ has a regular allophone, palatal [ç], before the front vowels /i/ and /e/ and the semivowel /j/ (see 3.8.2 for history and graphematic evidence). A palatal [ç] arises also from the consonantization of [j] after a voiceless stop through the phenomenon of synizesis (see 2.9.4). Voiceless fricatives are subject to the following phenomena:

- Gemination (see 3.4)
- Manner dissimilation (see 3.8.1)
- Voicing (see 3.8.3)
- Cluster simplification (see 3.3.2)
- Fricative interchange (see 3.8.5)
- Change to stops (see 3.8.4.6)

3.2.2.2 Voiced Fricatives

The three voiced fricatives /v ð ɣ/ <β δ γ> are a direct inheritance from the corresponding Koine phonemes, which resulted from the fricativization of the AG voiced stops /b d g/ (HORROCKS ²2010: 170). The labiodental /v/ originates also from the consonantization of the second element of the AG diphthongs /au/ <αυ> and /eu/ <ευ>, which took place in the period of the Koine. Consequently, in manuscript sources the grapheme <υ> may occasionally also represent a plain /v/, e.g. κατάυαίννει / καταβαίννει (1092, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 54, 71.12); τῆς εὐγάλαι / τῆς ἔβγαλε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.37).

Voiced fricatives appear in word-initial and medial position. Only the velar /ɣ/ has a regular allophone, palatal [j], before the front vowels /i/ and /e/ (see 3.8.2 for history and graphematic evidence). A palatal [j] arises also from the consonantization of /j/ after a voiced stop as a result of the phenomenon of synizesis (see 2.9.4). Voiced fricatives are subject to the following phenomena:

- Gemination (see 3.4)
- Deletion (see 3.6.1)
- Fricative interchange (see 3.8.5)
- Change to nasal (see 3.8.4.7)
- Devoicing (see 3.8.3.4)
- Anaptyxis (see 3.5.2)
- Dissimilation (see 3.9.3)
- Depalatalization (see 2.4.7.3)

3.2.3 Nasals

The nasals /m/ <μ> and /n/ <ν> are a direct inheritance of Koine and AG /m n/. They appear in word-initial and medial position, and /n/ can also occur as a final consonant, though subject to frequent deletion (see 3.7.2). /n/ has a palatal allophone [ɲ] when followed by the semivowel /j/ as a result of synizesis (see 2.9.4 and 3.8.2.3). Additionally, /n/ is subject to assimilation when followed by other consonants, both word-internally (as a result of derivation/composition) and at word boundaries: before dental consonants it surfaces as a dental [n], before labial consonants as labial [m], and before velar consonants as velar [ŋ]. This is an automatic allophonic or morphophonemic rule operating throughout the history of Greek, being already well attested in AG and Koine Greek, as well as in MG (LEJEUNE 1972: 145–6; THREATTE 1980: 588–635; GIGNAC 1976: 165–71; NEWTON 1972a: 94–9; HOLTON et al. 2012: 20), the difference between MedG/MG and AG being the simultaneous voicing of the following consonant if it is voiceless (see 3.8.3.2). The phenomenon is also described by Germano: “N, ν, suona n. ma auanti il π, suona, m. τὸν πατέρα, tom batéra, il padre” (GERMANO, Grammar 51.1).

Word-internally

ἐμπῆκαν Dig. E 75

πολλὰ τοῦ ἐμφαίνετον ἀργόν Pol. Tr. 1479 app. crit. (B) νὰ συμπάψουν Assizes B 278.11 συμπέπτει TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 355 τῆς ἐγγχρονίας (14th, Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 27, 1.6)

Συγχααραίους Chron. Toc. 640

εἰς μίαν ἐγχάραξες LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 773 συγγαντερός SOFIANOS, Paidag. 98.26

At word boundaries

ἐν μπρώτοις / ἐν πρώτοις (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 57, 176.6) στήμ πόλι τῇ μεγάλῃ / στήν πόλῃ τῇ μεγάλῃ Velis. ρ 2 app. crit. (P) τιμπαρουσατις διαθικί / τήν παροῦσα της διαθήκη (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 113.6) τήν {κ}γγάβαν / τήν γκάβαν (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 9, 154.5) τὸν γγατεβατὸν / τὸν κατεβατὸν (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 16, 32.8) τονγκουνιαδον μου / τὸν κουνιάδον μου (1660, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 2, 115.20)

μὴν γγάνοντας / μὴν κάνοντας (1696, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 47, 141.15)

τοῖς πάσιν γχριστιανοῖς (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 16, 227.6)

Nevertheless, both low- and high-register documents frequently fail to record the phenomenon in the spelling, noting a “phonological” <ν> instead of the assimilated <μ> or <γ>, either as an attempt to denote the absence of the expected deletion of a preconsonantal nasal (for which see 3.6.2) or simply for etymological transparency:

συνβίαν Assizes B 346.22

συνφάμιλος (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 11, 68.4) ἐνμπρός / ἐμπρός (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 57.67) λέγομαι καὶ συνβουλευόμαίσε / λέγομε καὶ συμβουλευόμε σε Chron. Mor. P 2636 συνμφωνίας (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 5, 24.14) συνφωνίαν (1607, Naxos, KATSOURO 1968: 3, 31.6) συνμπαθάει (1695, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 192, 115.3) ἐγγγωνας / ἔγγγονας (1031, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 1, 25.36) ενγγίσι/ ἐγγύση (1094, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 59, 76.13) ἐνκόλπιον (1142, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 7, 75.47) ἐνγκάτοικον (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 16, 157.3)

τοῦ ἐνκυτῇ / τοῦ ἐγγυτῇ Assizes B 254.30; αὐτὰ τὰ ἐνκλήματα ibid. 380.6

νὰ τοὺς ἐνγγαλέσετε (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 149.28)

Nasals are affected by the following phenomena:

- Gemination (see 3.4)
- Palatalization (see 3.8.2.3)
- Deletion (see 3.6.2)
- Anaptyxis (“irrational nasal”) (see 3.5.2.4)
- Final addition and deletion (see 3.7)
- Prothesis and aphaeresis (see 3.5.1)
- Assimilation (see 3.9.2)
- Dissimilation (see 3.9.3)

3.2.4 Liquids

The two liquids /l r/ <λ ρ> are direct inheritances from Koine and AG /l r/. They appear in word-initial and medial position, and /r/ can also function as a final consonant in higher registers (see 3.3.1). /l/ has a palatal allophone [ʎ] before the semivowel /j/ and before /i/ in certain dialects (see 3.8.2.3). Liquids are affected by the following phenomena:

- Gemination (see 3.4)
- Palatalization (see 3.8.2.3)
- Liquid interchange (see 3.8.6)
- Metathesis (see 3.9.1)
- Dissimilation (see 3.9.3)

3.2.5 Sibilants

The sibilant /s/ <σ ς> is a direct inheritance of Koine and AG /s/. It appears in all positions, initial, medial and final. It has an allophone [z] before voiced consonants, both word-internally and at word boundaries (also inherited from the Koine), for which there is sporadic graphematic evidence in manuscripts, such as:

προζβητερος (972, Athos, PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1975: 7, 215.29) περηορήζμον / περιορισμόν (1071, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 40, 128.19) σζγουροκέφαλος Pol. Tr. 2185 app. crit. (B); ζμίγει ibid. 3409 app. crit. (B) ώρυζμόν / όρισμόν (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 85.8) ζγομπιάζη Kakop. 140 app. crit.
 της Κιουραζμας / της Κιουρᾶς μας (1643, Naxos, KORRES 1931: 4, 275.12)

Texts written in other scripts also provide evidence for the voicing of /s/ before voiced consonants: for Arabic see LEHFELDT 1989: 63–5; for Slavonic cf. the examples арапаз ме, аґапаᾗс ме (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 872); το πλαзмаη ду / τὸ πλάσμαν του (ibid. 21).

The voiced sibilant /z/ <ζ> is a direct inheritance from Koine /z/, which in turn descends from AG /dz/ or /zd/. The change /dz/ > /z/ (whatever its precise path of evolution, cf. HORROCKS 2010: 171) has already taken place before the Medieval period, as is attested by papyrological and epigraphic evidence, where the grapheme <ζ> is used to represent the voiced allophone of /s/ (GIGNAC 1976: 119–22; ALLEN 1987: 58). However, the evidence of some MG dialects, which display [dz] instead of SMG [z] has led a number of scholars to assume that the pronunciation [dz] was preserved in some areas as a direct continuation of AG, in which case the medieval form of these dialects must also have included a phoneme /dz/ and not /z/ (BROWNING 1976: 9). The areas in question are: many Dodecanesian and some Cycladic islands, Chios and S. Italy (PANDELIDIS 1929: 41, CARATZAS 1958: 91; MANESIS 1964/65; KARANASTASIS 1997: 34). Interestingly, it is a subset of the areas which show gemination (see 3.4). Manuscript evidence for a medieval pronunciation [dz] in these areas frequently presents problems of interpretation.

Medieval S. Italian documents in general use the grapheme <ζ> normally, i.e. in Greek words which have the phoneme /z/ (at least in other areas) and in Arabic and (Norman) French words which contain the sound [z]; conversely, the spelling <τζ> is used in Greek and borrowed words which contain the sound [ts] or [dz] (see CARACAUSI 1975, esp. 124–6, for a detailed graphematic analysis and many examples). However, in rare cases the grapheme <ζ> may also have the value [ts] or [dz], e.g.:

τοῦ ζαγγάρι / τοῦ ζαγγάρη (1052/1053, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 14, 82.3) το ρυακήζην / τὸ ρυακίζιν (1108, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 17, 216.55) τὸ πραγματίζην (1138?, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 14, 102.16) βονηφαζήου / Βονιφαζίου (1143, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 6, 559.16)

This could be taken as evidence of a medieval [dz] instead of [z] realization (MINAS ²2003: 55–6), although the alternative interpretation, that it is a spelling practice influenced by Italian and local Romance dialects (where indeed the grapheme <z> stands for [ts]) is more likely. There is a single, late, attestation of the spelling <τζ> for /z/ which may indicate that the modern realization [dz] is in existence: τῆς μοιτζώτερας ἐκκλησίας Βωῶς / τῆς μειτζότερας ἐκκλησίας Βοῶς (1572, S. Italy, VIOLI 2006: 311.23).³ In the same vein, medieval Romance texts from S. Italy written in the Greek alphabet do not use the grapheme <ζ> in order to represent the Romance dialectal sound [dz] or [dʒ]; instead, they prefer a variety of digraphs or trigraphs such as <κζ>, <γζ>, <τγ>, and later <τζ>, <ντζ> (DE ANGELIS 2016).

Documents from other areas which in the modern period exhibit the realization [dz] are unfortunately much later, mostly from the 17th c. onwards, and so far only very few examples, from Chios and the Cyclades, have been located:

ἐνα τζιμπίλι (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 80.82) ντουτζίνες (1656, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 9, 405.57) ρεῖτζην (1656, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 2, 48.6) τοῦ τζευγᾶ (1664, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1991: 1, 82.27) βρίντζω σας καὶ ξεβρίντζω σας KONDAR., Paides 11 ρίντζες (1722?, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 481.6)

These instances date the phenomenon of the realization [dz] at least to the Early Modern period, but cannot settle the issue of whether it indeed constitutes an ancient survival or an innovative evolution [z] > [dz] as a result of gemination of /z/; the latter scenario is, according to dialectologists, the most likely one (cf. PERNOT 1907/46: I 286–91; NEWTON 1972a: 92).

Sibilants are affected by the following phenomena, which are described in the relevant sections:

- Gemination (see 3.4)
- Palatalization (see 3.8.2.3)

³ For the realization of <ζ> as [dz] in the MG dialect of Bova see KARANASTASIS 1997: 34.

- Depalatalization (see 2.4.7.3)
- Deletion and addition (see 3.7.1)
- Cluster simplification (see 3.3.2.2)
- Prothesis and aphaeresis (see 3.5.1)

3.2.6 Affricates

3.2.6.1 Status and History

The issue of whether to treat affricates as complex phonemes as opposed to combinations of single phonemes (/t/ + /s/, /d/ + /z/) is complex; for MG phonology it is still open, cf. JOSEPH 1985; MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2001: 214–15; ARVANITI 2007: 114–17; HOLTON et al. ²2012: 9. The reasons for which phonemic status is adopted here are the following: (a) the appearance of these sound sequences constitutes a change in the phonology of MedG which requires separate treatment, as they were disallowed in earlier stages; (b) the spelling of these clusters in various scripts also requires separate treatment (although this is also the case for /ks/ <ξ>, <x> and /ps/ <ψ>); and (c) the occurrence of [ts] and [dz] as fronted allophones of /k/ and /g/ respectively in at least some MedG and EMG dialectal varieties (see the phenomenon of palatalization, 3.8.2) demands a monophonemic treatment. Additional phonological arguments in favour of this analysis, involving factors such as distribution at morpheme boundaries, reduplication and special affective content, can be found in the references cited above; although constructed for MG they are also applicable to MedG.

The two affricates are combinations of (homorganic) dental stop + sibilant: voiceless [ts] and voiced [dz]. In MedG and EMG, the spelling <τζ> is used for both voiceless [ts] and voiced [dz], a practice occasionally maintained by modern editors (PSALTES 1913: 134; MIRAMBEL 1946: 90–1; MOYSIADIS 2005: 127), cf. also the direct testimony of Portius: “Z insuper post τ, sonat σ, ut in hac voce, ἔττι constat et in aliis pluribus” (PORTIUS, Grammar 9.10–12). Occasionally the sound [dz] can be specifically identified through the spelling <ντζ> (cf. MOENNIG 2009: 130 concerning the form ἐρόντζεψεν).

In Cyprus, the spelling <στζ> is frequent for both affricates: στζιβιτα(νι) κ(αι) παραστζιβιτα(νι) (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.3–4); η(αι) ραστζια / κερατσιά (1501, Cyprus, MALTEZOU 1987: 2, 11.11); σπάζει καὶ στζακρᾱ Pist. kekoim. 53.

The appearance of affricates is a specifically Medieval evolution, since the sequence /ts/ was disallowed in Classical and Koine Greek phonology, and /dz/ or /zd/ was simplified to /z/ in Koine Greek. The terminus post quem for their appearance is therefore the change of <ζ> from /dz/ or /zd/ to plain /z/ (see 3.2.5), and the terminus ante quem is the appearance in EMedG texts of loanwords with the new sound: τὸ Τζανικὸν ἔθνος ... Σάνοι ἐν τοῖς ἄνω χρόνοις καλούμενοι Procopius, De bellis I.15.19; σέντζον Theophanes, Chronogr. 297.24; τζαγγάριοι De ceremoniis 494.10; τζαγγία Chron. Paschale 614.5; τζεβουλιανούς De adm. imperio 32.14 (ed. Moravcsik–Jenkins) (TRIANDAPHYLIDIS 1909: 39–42; PSALTES 1913: 134–6). Scholars disagree on the precise dating of the phenomenon, and the different sources of affricates belong to different dates. For an overview of the alternative proposals see MOYSIADIS 2005: 115–18; detailed discussions in BOUTOURAS 1917; MIRAMBEL 1946; DRESSLER 1967; MOUTSOS 1975; GEORGACAS 1982.

The sources of affricates in MedG can be divided into two main categories: (i) adoption or adaptation of loanwords, and (ii) language-internal phonetic evolutions. To the first category belong:

a) Late Latin loanwords, in which palatalization has taken place, e.g. σέντζον < Lat. sedium, σκορτζίδιον < Lat. scorteus, ματσούκα < Lat. matteuca.

b) Latin and Romance loanwords with initial /s/, which appears as /ts/ in Greek, e.g. τσικούριον < Lat. securi; τὰς τσερδέλας Ptoch. IV 248.21 app. crit. (P) < Ital. sardella. The change initial /s/ > /ts/ may be a Greek-internal evolution (see below).

c) Old French loanwords: the spelling <τζ> may represent an unadapted original pronunciation [tʃ] or an adapted Greek rendering [ts] – more rarely also [dʒ] or [dz]. The fact that Modern Cypriot has [ts] and not [tʃ] for still extant Old French loanwords (e.g. τσαέρα “chair”), despite the fact that the sound [tʃ] does exist in the dialect (as a result of the palatalization of /k/; see 3.8.2), could be an indication of the second alternative. OFr. loanwords are especially abundant in areas under Frankish rule, such as the Peloponnese and Cyprus:

τζάμπρ(αν) (1310, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 31, 163.[24]6–7) τζανούνιδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.24

τὴν τσάμπρα Chron. Mor. H 6026

τζάκρα Assizes A 297.30 βικάριος τζενεράλ Chron. Mor. P 7992

d) Italian/Venetian loanwords, especially frequent in areas under Venetian control:

κοντετζιόν / κοντετσιόν (1436, E. Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 147.21) ἀπελατζιόν ἢ λεγόμενη σετέντζια (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 48.47)

Μελιτζάνα Porikol. I 108

αντζι / ἄντζι (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.)

ἀπὸ τζι τζινταδίνους / ἀπὸ τσι τσινταδίνους (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 147.39)

e) Slavonic loanwords: these appear from the 7th c. onwards, and are relatively rare, e.g. ἀτζούπωτε Poulol. 330 app. crit. (CPV) < τσίπα < (?) Slav. tsipa; τζυκαλικά τριάκ(ον) τα (1258, Asia Minor, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 15, 158.191) < τσουκάλιν < (?) Ital. zucca or Slav. tšukal*; τσουγκάλιν Diig. Apoll. 488. The diminutive suffix -ίτσα and related -ίτσιν, -ίτσης, -ούτσικος are uncertain examples, as Slavic origin is contested or debatable (GEORGACAS 1982; MOUTSOS 1986; SYMEONIDIS 1994): examples abound, e.g. τὰ παιδίτσια μου Ptoch. II 34.1 app. crit. (H).

f) Arabic and Persian loanwords, appearing from the EMedG period onwards:

τσαγκάρην Ptoch. III 112 < Lat. zanca < Pers. (BRUST 2005: 651–3), cf. Hesych. Σ 1196 σκυτεύς σαγγάριος, contrast τὴν τοῦ τζαγκαρίου τεχνήν P.Lond. 5 1078.89, 6th c. AD εἰς τὸ νεράντζι δένει [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1746 < Arab. nārandj

g) Turkish loanwords, which appear from the 15th c. onwards:

ὁ τζαλαπῆς (15–16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.III, 51.2) < Turk. çelebi μετζίτια / μετζίτια (1508, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1986: 4, back.10) < Turk. mecit παπουτσιού Pent. Gen. 14.23 < Turk. pabuç σαγκιάκιν / σαντζάκιν (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3.8) < Turk. sancak [sandzak] τὼ τζιαρσί (1669, Meteora, VEIS et al. 1998: 343, 356, f.101r.2) < Turk. çarşı

Language-internal evolutions include (cf. MOYSIADIS 2005: 118–27):

a) Affrication of /s/, already noted by Du Cange: “TZ, pro Σ, usurpant passim recentiores Graeci scriptores”; see C. DU CANGE, Glossarium ad scriptores mediae & infimae graecitatis (Paris 1688) 2.1555. It occurs in initial position, in several lexical items without specific geographical provenance, and is usually interpreted as “reinforcement of articulation”. A more likely interpretation would be to see it as development of an epenthetic /t/ from cases of coarticulation of a word ending in final /n/ (such as an article, a clitic form or a 3 pl. verb), i.e. an evolution following the common cross-linguistic path [ns] > [nts].

τσούζουν Liv. α 538 < AG σίζω τζίληπουρδίσμα Diig. tetr. 729a; τσιληπουρδίσματα Synax. gadar. 148 < AG σιληπορδῶ τσίκνα Erof. Dedic. 52 < AG κνῖσα, with metathesis ἀτζιμπραγή / ἀτσυμπραγή (1632, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 610, 582.27) (< συμπραγός)

Affrication of medial /s/ is rarer, e.g. κότσυφοι Poulol. 505 < AG κόσσυφος; νητζιοῦ / νητσιοῦ (1714, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 28, 333.3).

b) Affrication of /z/: Τζιτζύφου Porikol. II 9.

c) Affrication of /t/ before /i/:

κατσία Chron. Mor. H 2932 < Lat. cattus, καττίον κότσια Achil. L 809 < AG κόττος, κόττιον ρητσίνην, ἀλόην (15th c., ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΟΥ-ΑΓΟΡΑΣΤΟΥ 1982: 85.14) < AG ῥητίνη τοῦ βατσινοφύλλου Spanos A 176 < AG βάτινον

In specific dialectal areas only (mainly Crete, Cyclades), further lexical items present the phenomenon (see GEORGACAS 1951: 200–3):

τὰ κεράτσια Assizes B 495.31 ἀλάτζη / ἀλάτσι (1549, E. Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 363, 340.37); ἀλάτζι / ἀλάτσι (1689?, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 868, 1161.17) δύο ἀλατσερά ἀγκονιτιάτικα (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 79.27) ἕνα χαρκομάτζη / ἕνα χαρκωμάτσι (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 171, 139.40)
Φράτζια / Φράτσια (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 5, 6.4) (< Φρεάτια) κοτζήνας / κότσινας (1597, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 41, 189.21–2) (< κότινος) κοματζούλη / κομματσούλι (1562, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 130, 249.15); κομματσούλι (1619, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 21, 69.8) < κομμάτσι < κομμάτι

The rare instances of the phenomenon in S. Italy, when affecting loanwords, may be attributed to Romance influence, e.g. ὀσπίτζιον / ὀσπίτσιον (1233, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 289, 401.17).

d) Affrication of /k/: isolated lexical items present affrication of /k/ before front vowels: ὁ τζικνέας / ὁ τσικνέας Poulol. 58 app. crit. (CPVLE) < κυκνίας; ἡ τζίχλα Poulol. 621 app. crit. (C) < AG κίχλη. In some dialects, affrication of /k/ before front vowels is an automatic allophonic process (see 3.8.2.2).

e) Onomatopoeia: a number of Greek-internal new lexical creations are of unknown etymology, but an onomatopoeic origin is presumed by standard dictionaries, e.g. τσιγαρίζω and τσακίζω: ἐτζίγαρίζαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 10.7: τσακίσω Arm. 20.

f) Affrication of /nθ/: a rare evolution, involving only the words κατσαρίδα < κανθαρίς (not attested in MedG), σκαντζόχοιρος < ἀκανθόχοιρος, e.g. cazzoghiru / κατζόχοιρου BAROZZI, Letter 359.17; (?) κατσαρός < ἀκανθηρός, MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v. κατζαρός.

g) Syncope: a characteristic instance of the phenomenon is the dialectal form of the article τῆς > τσῆ, τίς > τσί, τούς > τσού (see II, 5.2.1). To this category also belong the various aorist forms of the verb κάθομαι/κάθημαι: ἀνέβηκα καὶ ἐκάτσα Ptoch. I 131; ἐκάτσαν Chron. Mor. H 1836; νὰ κάτσω Peri xen. 1 (see III, 2.4 s.v.), and possibly the adverb ἔτσι < ἔτις and the pronoun τίποτσι < τίποτε (cf. KRIARAS, Lex. s.v., CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 591).

h) Anaptyxis: rarely, an epenthetic /t/ may develop between /rs/: κουρτζαρυδες / κουρτσάρηδες (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 92.19); ἔκουρτζευγάν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 314.16–17 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari); κούρτσεμα Fior 117.36.

3.2.6.2 Phenomena Affecting Affricates

/ts/, /dz/ > /s/, /z/: From the 15th c. onwards,⁴ texts from the Cyclades, the Dodecanese and Chios attest to a well-known modern dialectal phenomenon, whereby affricates become deaffricated to (single or geminate) sibilant consonants (PERNOT 1907/46: I 292–3; MANESIS 1964/65; HENRICH 1994: 136):

Φρατζέζους Alosis 354

Φρατζής LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 447 app. crit.

Φραζέσκου (1593, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 55, 77.9); Φραζέσκος (1769, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 4, 25.3)

Ζίας (1594, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 57, 80.16)

⁴ The isolated examples collected in KOUKOULES 1921, namely ἄνζαν in Eustathios and ζαγκράτορες in Nicetas Choniates (the latter an editorial error, in any case) and the hapax ἀπλίσεψε from Chron. Mor. T 2062, are not sufficient to establish an earlier, more widespread, presence of the phenomenon. Equally dubious are the forms συττάζω, σύτταγμα, ἀπλίσεύω, κεφαλατίσι from the 1547 Pentateuch, adduced by PERNOT (1907/46: I 293), which may be due to graphematic idiosyncrasies of the text.

ζιότικον (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 105.15) < Κέα/Τζιά Μαζίππειό (1668, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 528, 881.6 τοῦ Ζάου (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 13, 316.10) < Ital. giao = deacon ζήζιγας, τζινζικας ὁ GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. cicala Πετροῦσος (1694, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 10, 24.13) ἔσι (1694, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 10, 24.10; and 1699, ibid. 13, 29.8) (= ἔτσι) ἰνσίρκα (1701, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 14, 31.16) < Ital. incirca Βισέζο (1659, Hydra, KARATHANASIS 1972/73: 241.6) χαράσι / χαράσι (1659, Hydra, KARATHANASIS 1972/73: 240.6) χαράζι (16th c., Chios, ARGENTI 1941: 85, 208.2); τὸ χαράζι (1690, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 80, 64.5)

In the Cyclades the phenomenon could be at least partly due to Venetian influence, starting from loanwords, since in this area deaffrication of [ts] > [s] and [dz] > [z] was in place in the EMG period (KONDOSOPOULOS 1963: 147; MANESIS 1964/65: 157–9; FERGUSON 2007: 95, 99). An additional indication could be the few instances from the Heptanesian island of Paxoi, although the phenomenon is not known nowadays (in contrast to the Cyclades and the Dodecanese, where it is common). Examples: τὴν τὰρὰσα (1677, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 239, 150.8); χαρὰσιάρης (ibid. 150.18). The absence of the phenomenon from Cretan texts is a counter-indication, although a number of Modern Cretan words of Venetian origin do display it (e.g. ἀραζό, λόζα).

The Dodecanesian and Chiot instances are in some way connected to the phenomenon of gemination, since the same areas also show the reverse phenomenon, i.e. affrication of original [s] and [z] (see above).

For the phenomenon of depalatalization of affricates, see 2.4.7.3.

3.3 Phonotactics

3.3.1 Position of Consonants Within the Word

All consonantal phonemes may appear in initial and medial position; the word-final position, on the other hand, is severely restricted, as only two consonants, /n/ and /s/, may occupy it. The status of /r/ as a final consonant in the system is doubtful: as an inheritance from AG, it appears very frequently, but only in lexical items of archaic inflectional patterns (e.g. πατήρ, αὐτοκράτωρ; see II, 2.2.4), particularly in texts of higher registers. It also occurs in a limited number of French and later Turkish loanwords (e.g. ἀβοέρ, μισσέρ, παζίρ). Similarly, final /f/ may appear in the archaic form of the vocative of nouns in -εύς, e.g. ἀφέντη βασιλεῦ Chron. Mor. P 4287; ὦ βασιλεῦ γαπρέ μας Achil. O 25 (see II, 2.4).

Again as an inheritance from AG, two very common words end in /k/: the preposition ἐκ and the negation οὐκ. The retention of /k/ in these two words is probably due to the fact that they are proclitic, i.e. constitute a single phonological unit with the following word, and thus the /k/ is not felt to be final. These two words may also appear with final /x/ instead of /k/, either as a lexicalized reflex from AG when the following word originally started with /h/ (rough breathing; see 3.8.4.5), or as a result of manner dissimilation with a following /t/ (3.8.1):

οὐχ ὑπομείνασι Pol. Tr. 2323 app. crit. (A) τίποτα οὐχ εὕρίσκει Velth. 1127 ἐχ τὴν χῶραν (1095?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 1, 1.4)

ἄχ τὸν κόσμον Diig. Alex. Sem. S 33
ὀχ τὴ μιὰ μεριά CHORTATIS, Katz. I.102

Loanwords ending in other consonants are regularly adapted to the MedG phonological system through addition of a final vowel or inflectional suffix, or deletion of a final consonant. They are very rarely retained in their original form: Μουχτασούππ (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 5, 18.2); ἁρμονιάκ Assizes A 240.3; μπαράτ ibid. 344.1.

Another exception to the restriction on final consonants are exclamations, which, however, should be considered as lying outside the linguistic system proper. e.g. φεῦ Velis. N2 4; τ' ὦχ! οὐμένα! KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.31.

MedG and EMG exhibit a strong tendency in favour of open syllables (SETATOS 1987: 189; MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2001: 201), something which triggers two opposing processes: (a) the deletion of final consonants (see 3.7.1.1. and 3.7.2.2), and (b) the addition of a final vowel, usually /e/ and more rarely /a/ (see 2.6.3). Additionally, the preference for open syllables may be considered an underlying cause of the phenomena of degemination (see 3.4) and nasal deletion before stops and fricatives (see 3.6.2).

3.3.2 Permissible Consonant Clusters

As a result of the double linguistic history of Greek (learned and vernacular), the consonant clusters appearing in MedG present considerable variety. Most are unmarked for register, but others are characteristic of either high or low registers. The well-formedness of a given consonant cluster depends, apart from register (of the text or of the lexical item), also on its position within the word (word-internal, word-final, at morpheme boundaries), as well as on general cross-linguistic properties of consonants, such as the sonority hierarchy (Stop < Fricative < Sibilant < Liquid < Glide) (MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2001; DRACHMAN/MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2007; NICHOLAS 2007; TZAKOSTA 2012).

The differentiation between “learned” and “vernacular” clusters mainly concerns two sets of clusters: (a) obstruent clusters with identical manner of articulation (stop + stop, fricative + fricative) and (b) nasal-initial clusters. In the first case, the operation of the major sound change of manner dissimilation (3.8.1) transforms these clusters to fricative + stop in vernacular registers and in the second case, nasal deletion (see 3.6.2) deletes nasals before voiced stops and fricatives.

Most obstruent-initial clusters which occur only at morpheme boundaries are the result of derivation involving two frequent prefixes, ἐκ- and εὐ- (e.g. ἐκβαση, εὐδοκία). The degree to which these belong to the vernacular language depends on the frequency of specific lexical items and thus cannot be gauged.

The preferred word-initial clusters consist of obstruent + liquid/nasal combinations. Also, obstruent + liquid and liquid + obstruent are the most common clusters in general. This is in accordance with the sonority hierarchy governing consonant clusters, which stipulates that clusters whose members present the greatest distance from each other are preferable. A rough idea of the relative frequency of the various consonant clusters in LMedG can be gleaned from the statistics on the language of Kallimachos and Chrysorrhoe (APOSTOLOPOULOS 1984: 33).

Word-final clusters are rare and learned; only combinations of voiceless obstruent + /s/ are allowed.

3.3.2.1 Biconsonantal Clusters

Table 3 gives the biconsonantal clusters of MedG, with white boxes for unmarked clusters and grey for learned clusters. All clusters are possible in word-medial position, but only a subset of them can appear word-initially (bold in the table). Furthermore, some clusters are possible only at morpheme boundaries (in parentheses in the table). Word-final consonant clusters do not exist, apart from the combinations /ks/ (e.g. δοῦξ, κῶδιξ) /ps/ (e.g. γύψ, γρύψ) and /fs/ (e.g. βασιλεύς, ἱερεύς) which appear only in high-register texts or lexical items, as an inheritance from AG⁵ (cf. II, 2.2.3–4 and II, 2.4 for the evolution of inflectional paradigms involving these clusters). Examples of each category are given in Table 4 (from KRIARAS, Lex., and for words after πν-, from the word-index of the TLG).

3.3.2.2 Triconsonantal Clusters

Triconsonantal clusters are permitted in MedG and MG, subject to certain constraints (for which see CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 165; NEWTON 1972a: 113–19; BOTINIS 2009: 105–6). In word-initial position the first consonant is always the sibilant /s/ and the last a resonant (nasal or liquid). In word-medial position sequences of three consecutive consonants may also be formed between syllable and morpheme boundaries, i.e. they normally include the coda of the previous syllable and the onset of the following; however, the final position is again limited to a resonant or a sibilant, while the medial position is in all cases occupied by an obstruent. One source is the prefixation of cluster-initial stems with the frequent prefixes ἐκ-, ἐν-, σὺν-, ὑπερ- (which occur mainly in more learned lexical items). Again, the phonological change (consonantization) of the AG diphthongs /au/ and /eu/ to /af ~ av/ and /ef ~ ev/ respectively has created a number of innovative clusters which did not exist in AG and which, for LMedG, belong only to the learned register (e.g. αὐξάνω – /fks/).

The triconsonantal clusters shown in Table 5 are attested in LMedG and EMG. Clusters in parentheses occur only at morpheme boundaries, and clusters in bold occur both in word-initial and word-medial position. Clusters appear in alphabetical order. All examples are from KRIARAS, Lex. or the TLG.

⁵ In fact word-final /fs/ is an innovation, deriving from the consonantization of the AG diphthong /eu/, and so cannot normally have ever formed part of the vernacular. For this reason the inflectional paradigm of the -εύς nouns is subject to considerable variation (see II, 2.4).

Table 3: Biconsonantal clusters in MedG

	p	t	k	b	d	g	f	θ	x	v	ð	ɣ	m	n	l	r	s	z
p		pt												pn	pl	pr	ps
t								tθ					tm		tl	tr	ts
k	(kp)	kt					(kf)	(kθ)	(kx)	(kv)	(kð)		km	kn	kl	kr	ks	(kz)
b															bl	br
d															dl	dr		dz
g															gl	gr
f	(fp)	ft	fk					fθ	(fx)					fn	fl	fr	fs θ													θm	θn	θl	θr
x		xt						xθ					xm	xn	xl	xr
v											vð	vɣ	vm	vn	vl	vr		(vz)
ð														ðn		ðr
ɣ											ɣð		ɣm	ɣn	ɣl	ɣr
m				mb			mf			mv				mn
n					nd			nθ	nx		nð				nl		ns
l	lp	lt	lk	lb	ld		lf	lθ	lx	lv	lð	lɣ	lm	ln			ls
r	rp	rt	rk	rb	rd		rf	rθ	rx	rv	rð	rɣ	rm	rn	rl		rs	rz
s	sp	st	sk				sf	sθ	sx						sl z										zv	zð	zɣ	zm

Notes:

1. Clusters whose first member is a voiced stop may, in some varieties, appear as triconsonantal clusters word-medially, due to the non-deletion of a preceding nasal (i.e. not /br/ but /mbr/, not /gl/ but /ngl/ etc.); see 3.2.1.2.
2. Clusters of identical consonants (i.e. geminates) appear only dialectally and are not included in this table; see 3.4.3 for a list of consonants having geminate counterparts in MedG.
3. The affricate clusters /ts/ and /dz/ are here presented as consonant clusters for reasons of homogeneity, although they can also be considered single phonemes (see 3.2.6).
4. Additional clusters are created through the process of synizesis, when the semivowel /j/ is realized as a palatal fricative, voiceless [ç] or voiced [j], after labial and dental consonants, e.g. κάποιος [kapços], παιδιά [peðja] (see 2.9.4).

Table 4: Examples of biconsonantal clusters

pt	πτωχοπρόδρομος	fs	γεῦσις	lb	ἄλμπιτρος pn	πνεῦμα	θm	βαθμός	ld	μπουλντούνι pl	πλανεύω	θn	θνητός	lf	ἀδελφός pr	πρώτος	θl	θλίψις	lθ	ἔλθιμον ps	ψεύτικος	θr	θράσος	lx	βούλχας tθ	Γότθοι	xt	χτύπος	lv	ἀλβάνι
tm	ἀτμός	xθ	χθές	lδ	γαστάλδος
tl	ἀτλάζι	xm	αἰχμάλωτος	ly	Βούλγαρος
tr	τρόπος	xn	τέχνη	lm	ἀλμυρός ts	τσακίζω	xl	χλωμός	ln	στέλνω
kp	ἐκπαιδεύω	xr	χρόνος	ls	βάλσαμον kt	κτήμα	vδ	ραβδίν	rp	καρπός kf	ἐκφεύγω	vγ	βγαίνω	rt	καρτερῶ
kθ	ἐκθαμβος	vm	γεῦμα	rk	ἀρκούδιν
kx	ἐκχυσίς	vn	κεραυνός	rb	μπάρμπας kv	ἐκβαίνω	vl	βλέπω	rd	ὄρντινας kδ	ἐκδέχομαι	vr	βρωμιαρέα	rf	ὄρφανός km	ἀκμήν	vz	εὐζωνος	rθ	διορθώνω
kn	κνηκάτος	δn	ἔχιδνα	rx	ἔρχομαι
kl	κλαίω	δr	δριμύς	rv	ζερβός kr	κρατῶ	γδ	γδέρνω	rδ	καρδία
ks	ξανθός	γm	πράγμα	ργ	ἀργυρός
kz	ἐκζεστόν	γn	γνώμη	rm	ἄρματα bl	μπλάβος	γl	γλυκύς	rn	ἀρνούμαι
br	μπράτσο	γr	γράφω	rl	ζουρλός dl	ἀντλῶ	mb	κάμπος	rs	ἀρσενικός
dr	ντροπή	mf	ἐμφανής	rz	βερζίν dz	τζίτζυφος	mv	θρίαμβος	sp	σπαθίν gl	μαγκλάβιν	mn	μνήμα	st	στέκω
gr	γκρεμνός	nd	μαντάτο	sk	σκοτός
fp	εὐπρεπος	nθ	ἄνθος	sf	σφάζω

Table 4: (cont.)

ft	φ τάνω	nx	λό γ χη	sθ	ά σ θένεια fk	εύ κ αιρία	nθ	σκάν δ αλον	sx	σ χήμα fθ	φ θάνω	nl	καν λ ής	sl	σ λάβος fx	εύ χ ή	ns	πάν σ οφος	zv	σ βήνω fn	άρ ι φνητος	lp	ἐ λ πίζω	zθ	μπου σ δουγάνι fl	φ λάμouρoν	lt	ἄ ψ α λ τος	zy	σ γουρός fr	φ ρ ι κτός	lk	όλό χ α λ κος	zm	σ μέρινα

Table 5: Triconsonantal clusters in MedG

fθm	κλα υ μός	ktr	όρνιθο π νί κ τρια	(nrx)	πά γ χρυσος
(fθr)	εὐ θ ραυστος	(kvl)	ἐ κ βλύζω	ptr	κάτο π τρον fkI	ναύ κ ληρος	(kvr)	ἐ κ βρέχω	rθr	ἄνα θ ρος fkr	ἄ φ κρασ ι ς	ltr	φί λ τρον	rts	βου ρ τσίζω fks	αὐ ξ άνω	lts	κά λ τσα	rdz	Μού ρ τ ζ ουφλος fkt	θεό ζ ε υ κτος	ldz	ἐ λ τ ζ ής	rkl	ἄ ρ κλα fpl	Ναύ π λιον	lxθ	ἐ θ έ λ χ θ η	rks	ὔπα ρ ξις
(fpr)	εὐ π ρεπτος	mbI	ἐ μ πλέκω	rkt	ἄ ρ κτος
(fps)	εὐ ψ υχα	mbr	λα μ πρός	rpn	πάν τ ε ρ πνος ftt	δουλε ύ τρια	mfr	πα μ φρόνιμος	rps	τέ ρ ψις fst	ἀκατάπα υ στα	(mps)	ἐ μ ψυχῶ	sθm	ἄ σ θμα
(fxr)	εὐ χ ρηστος	mpt	πέ μ πτη	skI	σ κληρός
(kθI)	ἐ κ θλίβω	(mvI)	ἐ μ βλέπω	skr	σ κρόφα
(kθr)	ἐ κ δράμω	mvr	Δεκέ μ βριος	skn	σ πλάχνα
(kfr)	ἔ κ φρασ ι ς	ndr	κέ ν τρον	spr	ἄ σ προς
(kpl)	ἐ κ πληρώνω	nθr	ἄ ν δρες	str	σ τρατιώτης
(kpn)	ἐ κ πνοή	nθr	ἄ ν θρωπος	sfr	σ φραγίς
(kpr)	ἐ κ πρωτεύω	(ngI)	ἔ γ κλειστος	sxr	αἰ σ χρώδης
(kpt)	ἔ κ πτω σ ις	ngr	ἀσύ γ κριτος	xθr	ἐ χ θρός
(ksf)	ἐ κ σφονδυλίζω	nks	ἔ λ ε γ ξις	(vχn)	εὐ γ νώμων
(ksk)	ἐ κ σκορπίζω	(nsk)	ἐ ν σκήπτω	(vθr)	εὐ δ ρομία
(ksp)	ἐ κ σπῶ	nst	Κω ν σταντίνος
(kst)	ἔ κ στασ ι ς	(nsθ)	παν σ θενής

In the case of triconsonantal clusters, cluster simplification occurs in the following environments:

- a nasal followed by voiceless stop and /s/:

τὸν συψωμίτην μου Ptoch. IV 383 μέψεται Dig. E 1049; μέψιν Poulol. 20 app. crit. (CE) ἔπεψεν Dig. E 226 app. crit.; ἔπεψεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.14; νὰ πέψουσι BERGADIS, Apok. V 70 ὁ Σαψῶν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 279.6
 νὰ λάψει Thysia Avr. 28

- fricative-initial clusters created by the consonantization of the ancient diphthongs /au/ and /eu/:

κλαθμοῦ [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 1395; κλαθμόν Velis. χ 349 app. crit. (V) ἔσπλαχνίαν (1514, Unknown, TURYN 1980: 35.2) < εὐσπλαγχνία ψεύτην Velis. χ 571 app. crit. (N) ἀξάινη Chron. Mor. P 2440; ἀξάινει Alex. Rim. 233 σιζέξε α(υ)τι / συζέξει αὐτή (1609, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 6, 21.4) νάφλερος TROILOS, Rodol. II.67 < ναύκληρος νὰ τὸν καστηριάσουν Assizes A 481.3; καστηρια<στῆ> (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 424.1147)

3.3.2.3 Groups of More Than Three Consonants

Such groups are very rare, and exist only at morpheme boundaries, through prefixation of cluster-initial stems (all starting with σ-) with the frequent prefixes ἐκ-, εὐ-, συν-, ὑπερ-; to a certain degree they belong to learned language only. Thus, the only possible clusters are the following:

/kstr/:	ἐκστρατίζω
/fstr/:	εὐστροφος
/fspl/:	εὐσπλαγχνία
/nstr/:	συνστρατιώτης
/rstr/:	ὑπερστράτηγος

3.4 Geminate Consonants

3.4.1 Definition

The LMedG and EMG phonological system allows double (geminate) consonants in certain of its regional varieties. The areas for which gemination is attested in the period under investigation are the following: S. Italy, Cyprus, the Dodecanese, Chios, Ikaria and Euboea, a distribution which corresponds to the MG one (see 3.4.3 for details of attestation by phoneme). Cyprus and S. Italy provide the most consistent and abundant evidence, while the data from the Aegean islands are sporadic at best. Other areas which in the modern period show gemination, namely some Cycladic islands and parts of Asia Minor (see CARATZAS 1958: 80; MANOLESSOU/BASEA-BEZANDAKOU 2012: 952), provide no evidence of the phenomenon in MedG and EMG, simply due to lack of data. The consonants for which evidence of gemination exists are the following: /p, t, k, f, θ, x, v, m, n, l, r, s, z/, appearing in initial prevocalic and in intervocalic position.

The phonological status of MedG geminates, i.e. whether they are to be interpreted as single long consonants or as clusters of identical consonants, is an open question, resolvable with argumentation similar to that proposed for the MG dialectal geminates (cf., for example, ARVANITI 2010). For mainly presentational reasons, in order to achieve homogeneity of description with all varieties of MedG, a non-phonemic analysis of geminates is adopted here.

The precise phonetic status of MedG geminates is also difficult to determine: while in the case of geminate continuants it is not necessary to assume anything other than a long realization, identical to that of the corresponding single consonant, the MG data from Cyprus, the Dodecanese and S. Italy show that, in the case of stops, gemination does not phonetically correspond (only) to lengthening, as in AG, but to aspiration (SEILER 1957; CARATZAS 1958: 81; NEWTON 1968; MANOLESSOU/BASEA-BEZANDAKOU 2012). The extensive geographical spread of this “aspirated” gemination has sometimes been considered an indication of its early, perhaps even pre-medieval, establishment, at least for Cyprus (DAVY/PANAYOTOU 2004). There is no evidence for such an aspirated pronunciation of geminates in MedG documents, although admittedly the Greek writing system does not allow the possibility of expressing this realization: geminate realization is in all cases indicated graphematically by repetition of the geminate consonant. The earliest evidence of aspirated pronunciation of stops comes from the end of the 18th c.: χκελίμι κόχκινο / κελίμι κόκκινο (1796, Symi, KARANIKOLAS 1974: 136.18); παχκίρι / μπακίρι (ibid. 136.15). There is also some limited evidence of a closed aspirated realization of geminate /θ/ as [tʰ] in S. Italy and the Dodecanese, corroborated by MG dialectal evidence (see 3.4.3).

3.4.2 Origin of Geminates

3.4.2.1 Introduction

The AG consonant system, which included geminate consonants, underwent radical modification in the Koine, one of the results of which was the elimination of geminates (“degemination”, see CARATZAS 1958: 87–8; GIGNAC 1976: 154–62; HORROCKS 2010: 274; MANOLESSOU/BASEA-BEZANDAKOU 2012: 956 for early evidence). However, the presence of geminate consonants in some MedG and MG regional varieties indicates that this change probably did not encompass the totality of Greek-speaking areas, leaving unaffected some peripheral areas (the extreme West and South-East). Since MedG and MG gemination functions quite differently from the corresponding AG phenomenon, being to a certain extent stress- or syllable-related and involving classes of consonants which were non-existent in AG (namely fricatives), the possibility of its being a completely unrelated, innovative phenomenon could also be considered (see PERNOT 1907/46: I 382–3; CARATZAS 1958: 85 for discussion of such proposals, notably that of J. Schmitt). Nevertheless, the fact that gemination functions similarly in areas which are widely distant from one another speaks against its being an independent innovation in each area. The analysis most consistent with the medieval and modern distribution would be that in Late Antiquity, when the AG phonological system underwent radical change due to the loss of vowel quantity, there came about a phonological reinterpretation of the length feature, limiting or transferring it to the consonant domain, and leading to the development of a new, stress- or syllable-related gemination, which included also innovative gemination, due to assimilation, in the case of new consonant classes (fricatives). This innovative phonological system must have covered most Greek-speaking areas, and must have subsequently receded, leaving behind the peripheral geminating areas in the extreme East and West, as well as some pockets still retaining gemination in more isolated areas in Central Greece (Euboea, Cyclades).

Since the evidence consists only of written sources, the diachronic investigation of gemination and degemination is difficult: the spelling of MedG manuscripts and inscriptions is extremely variable concerning double consonants (cf. PSALTES 1913: 125–32 for an overview of EMedG practice). The “double” spelling of etymological geminates may be nothing more than the application of correct orthographic rules, and the doubling of non-etymological ones nothing but a spelling error (or a hypercorrection). The most secure indication of geminate pronunciation is the consistent “double” spelling of non-etymological geminates in phonetic environments and geographical areas which also show gemination in the modern period. However, even in these areas, notation of gemination is far from systematic (see 3.4.3). The sources of MedG geminates are discussed below (cf. PERNOT 1907/46: I 407–8; SEILER 1957: 212; CARATZAS 1958: 81–5; NEWTON 1968 for the corresponding phenomena in MG).

3.4.2.2 Original/Etymological AG Geminates

Due to the conservative nature of Greek orthography, it is impossible to distinguish a geminate from a degeminated pronunciation in the case of original/etymological geminate consonants; as noted above, a geminate spelling could simply be the result of the correct application of orthographic rules. Accordingly, it would be pointless to provide examples of such “correct spelling” of etymological geminates from MedG sources. Only the reverse practice, i.e. the non-notation of etymological geminates, is a useful linguistic indication, in that it betrays the identical realization of original geminate and single consonants. Unfortunately, cases of non-notation of etymological geminates are to be found even in areas for which there is solid modern evidence of gemination, such as S. Italy (see FANCIULLO 1985: 95–6) and Cyprus: σακκελάρηον / σακκελλάριον (1140, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 122, 162.13); γαίγραμενοῦ / γεγραμμένου (1141, ibid. 130, 172.5) καμιασ αλις / καμίας ἄλλης (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 7, 7.3) θαλασσου / θαλάσσου (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 60.3) πολὰ μακρήν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 66.33 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) ἐπλημέλαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 90.23 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) τοῦ κελιοῦ του (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: B, 478.1156) Φιλίπτου / Φιλίππου (1691, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 24, 61.5)

Note also that, as mentioned above in 3.4.2.1, it is theoretically possible to attribute all etymological double consonants in MedG and EMG geminating areas or in MG dialects not to direct inheritance from AG, but to the innovative phenomenon of “spontaneous gemination” (see 3.4.2.5). To verify this, it would be necessary to examine all lexical items containing etymological geminates and surviving in MG geminating dialects, in order to establish whether they still present gemination according to AG patterns or not, something which has not up to now been attempted. Such an investigation would be pointless in MedG and EMG texts, due to the orthographic inconsistency of documents even in the case of secure MG confirmation of the existence of geminate realization (see examples above). For what it is worth, the impression of scholars who were native speakers of geminating dialects is that degemination of inherited geminates never takes place, except in specific phonetic or analogical conditions, or when the word in question had disappeared from the dialect and was reintroduced via standard MG (CHATZIDAKIS 1901a: 154–9; MENARDOS 1969: 20; CARATZAS 1958: 86–7).

3.4.2.3 Borrowing

It is standardly assumed that loanwords from languages with double consonants in their phonological system, such as Italian, are incorporated in MedG with their etymological phonetic form retained. There is considerable evidence of double consonant spelling in loanwords, although again it is impossible to distinguish between the recording of an authentic geminate pronunciation and a simple graphematic transliteration. Only the existence of (some of) these loanwords in the MG geminating dialects allows one to opt for the former interpretation.

πλοῦππων / πλούππων (1124, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 95, 124.15) < Lat. pluppus γάττου / Γάττου (1171, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 178, 234.14) < Lat. gattus καππέλλας (1236, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: : Coll. I: 16, 92.12) < Lat. cappella σακκουμάνος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 440.19 < Ital. saccomano ρόκκα MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v. δουλάππιν σουσπέττον VOUSTR., Chron. A 62.10; Fior 121.5 < Ital. sospetto ὀρνιθες ἢ πουλλία (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 57.60) < Ital. pullus ἐφέττον Fior 88.13 < Ital. effetto

Apart from lexical items, loan suffixes are also imported along with their geminating phonetic forms. This involves mainly derivational suffixes of Latin/Italian origin, such as pul-lus > -πουλλος, -πουλλα, -ella > -έλλα, -ullus > -ούλλης/-ούλλα, e.g. τὸ ψευδορυακούλλην (1145–6, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 2, 65.19); κουρτέλλα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 266.17; λαγηνόπουλλον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 492.26.

There is a problem concerning gemination of Italian loanwords in Dodecanesian and Cypriot: the dialectal forms of Italian which were used in these areas, Venetian and Genoese, do not have geminate consonants, as is normal for most Northern Italian dialects (PERNOT 1907/46: I 386; KONDOSOPOULOS 1963: 146; DAVY/PANAYOTOU 2004: 7; FERGUSON 2013: 943); straightforward borrowing through contact is therefore difficult to establish. A purely graphematic borrowing is possible: it is preferable in many cases to assume borrowing through written administrative language, and thus transliteration rather than phonetic adaptation. The possibility that the Greek double consonants are the result of “spontaneous gemination” which only accidentally coincides with the Italian form may also be considered. Another plausible suggestion (DAVY/PANAYOTOU 2000: 121, fn. 11) is that in some cases at least the Cypriot geminate consonants in loanwords derive not from Italian but from French: although the French of the period had undergone degemination and no longer included double consonants in its phonological system, the Cypriot geminates may reflect a phonological adaptation of the French long vowel, e.g. cotte > κόττα, querelle > κερέλλα, trappe > δράππα etc.

The only direct adoption of geminates from French involves geminate /r/, which was still retained in the French of the period, and imported in a small number of loanwords such as γκέρρα, φαρράσης, although normally gemination of /r/ is very limited in Cypriot (DAVY/PANAYOTOU 2000: 120–1).

The adaptation of Turkish loanwords in Early Modern Cypriot is a further source of double consonants: Turkish single voiceless stops are adapted in Cypriot as geminate voiceless stops, in contrast to Turkish single voiced stops, which appear in Cypriot (and Dodecanesian) as single voiceless stops (NEWTON 1968: 22–5; SYMEONIDIS 2006: 178–9). Examples:

μαράφεττην / μαραφέττιν (1640, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 4, 13.17) < Turk. marifet ττεμεσοούκκιν (1704, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 2, 54.7–8) < Turk. temessük ἐξίκκιν KONST. ΔΙΑΚ., Ist. Makaritou Marko 62 < Turk. eksik; τταχρίριν ibid. 170 < Turk. tahrir παχκίρι / μπακίρι (1796, Symi, KARANIKOLAS 1974: 136.15)

3.4.2.4 Assimilation

An innovative source of geminate consonants is the total assimilation of a preceding nasal consonant, both word-internally and at word boundaries (see also 3.6.2.2). Evidence for this phenomenon is adequate for /θ, l, m, n, s/, but less so for other continuous consonants (see 3.4.3). A direct metalinguistic description is provided by Meursius (MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v. ἀκάθθιν): “Graeci recentiores ν sequente θ convertebant in θ, sic ἄθθος & ἄθθεῖν pro ἄνθος & ἀνθεῖν”. He also offers numerous examples from the so-called “Glossae Graecobarbarae” of Cypriot origin (BEAUDOIN 1884: 111–31).

τῆς καθθοῦσα (1053, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 40, 50.29) < Ἀκανθοῦσα ἄθθυμηθῆτε MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 91.50 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) < ἐνθυμοῦμαι του πεθθερού του VOUSTR., Chron. A 2.14 < πενθερός ἄθθος, ἀπίκραθθος, γρόθθος, ξαθθός MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.vv.

τῶ λλάκκον / τὸ λλάκκον (1044, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 3, 147.26) ἴσχύν λαμυᾶννειν / ἴσχύν λαμβάνει (1213, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 266, 365.11); τὴν ρροῦγαν (1226, ibid. 175, 378.9) παρενποδίζειν σε / παρεμποδίζειν σε (1195, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 4, 32.30); κατὰ τῶν σσῶν κληρονόμων (1210, ibid. 5, 35.17) ὀσστήν σσήμερον / ὡς τὴ σ-σσήμερον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 80.50 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) ἄμ με ἀγαπᾶτε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 293.10 ἀλλάβη / ἔλ λάβη Assizes A 48.29 ἐθελε σσέ βαστάζειν VOUSTR., Chron. A 142.1
 ἰστηλέμ με το Νικόλα / ἦστειλέμ με τὸ Νικόλα (1638, Patmos, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 6, 403.11)

Total assimilation of final /n/ at word boundaries, leading to post-lexical geminates, is already a regular feature of AG, appearing in inscriptions from many areas (see e.g. THREATTE 1980: 616–38). It does not appear in Koine papyri, which indicates that it disappeared following the generalized degemination (GIGNAC 1976: 166–7), being preserved only in the geminating areas. The MedG innovation consists in the spread of assimilation word-internally, affecting the “new” fricative sounds and creating not post-lexical but lexical geminates.

Another commonly assumed source of assimilatory gemination is that of a fricative followed by a nasal, in the case of the monophthongization of the ancient diphthongs /au/ and /eu/, i.e. [avm], [evm] > [amm], [emm] (see 3.6.1.3). The MedG data on this issue are unclear: both geminated and ungeminated spellings are attested, e.g. ἀπιγωρεμμένου / ἀπηγορεμμένου (1172, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 179, 234.13) vs. ἐρμηνεμένη (1363, Cyprus, COUROPOU/GÉHIN 2001: 3, 157.26); their interpretation is rendered more difficult due to the fact that several MG dialects do not display gemination in this environment. Thus the attested double spellings could also be attributed to the accent-related “spontaneous gemination”, cf. cases such as λεγομένων (1190, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 16, 49.10); τοῦ ἀποθαμμένου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 218.6 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari); πολλάκιπραμμένος ibid. 220.3–4, where there can be no question of assimilation.

3.4.2.5 “Spontaneous Gemination”

The most solid evidence of geminate consonants in MedG comes from cases of so-called “spontaneous gemination” (for the term and its conditions of application see NEWTON 1968): intervocalic single consonants are doubled when immediately preceded by the word-stress (post-tonic consonant gemination) and, more rarely, when followed by it (syllable-initial consonant gemination). The second alternative surfaces when (a) the stress falls on the final syllable (e.g. ποττέ), or (b) the post-tonic consonant is non-geminatable, i.e. it is a voiced fricative, stop or /r/ (e.g. ὀλλίγος). Most cases where spontaneous gemination seems to have taken place in a non-immediately pretonic or post-tonic syllable can be explained as instances of paradigmatic levelling, i.e. analogy from other inflectional or derivational forms of the word which do involve the “correct” phonetic environment (NEWTON 1968: 33–4).

Spontaneous gemination is quite well attested in other languages, and is usually interpreted as a direct phonetic manifestation of stress, or as an effect of radical changes in the nature of the stress system (cf. BLEVINS 2004: 173–4; BYBEE 2015: 45), but a comparison of the Greek data to the cross-linguistic findings of phonological theory is lacking. However, the stress-based account is in many ways insufficient to account for the totality of cases, in that it predicts many cases of gemination which are not in fact attested, either in MedG/EMG texts or in the MG dialects (see CHRISTODOULOU 2013 for an overview of criticisms). An additional complication is the fact that in MG geminating dialects the same lexical items may display different behaviour with respect to spontaneous gemination (see e.g. CARATZAS 1958: 123–4; MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2009b: 165–6), something which renders the variable evidence of MedG texts less secure.

Nevertheless, alternative accounts based on AG vowel length (DAVY/PANAYOTOU 2003), syllable structure (MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2009b), massive analogy (CHATZIDAKIS 1901a: 156) or emphasis, or borrowing face similar problems. It is likely that whatever the initial phonetic motivation of the phenomenon (probably to be placed in the late Koine), it was subsequently obscured by analogy and lexical borrowing from non-geminating varieties. But in any case, it is obvious that spontaneous gemination is an active process during the MedG and EMG periods, and not just a lexicalized relic from earlier phases, because it also affects contemporary loanwords from French and Italian, as well as innovative inflectional suffixes (see examples below).

Spontaneous gemination in MedG is attested for the following consonants: /p, t, k, f, θ, m, n, l, r, s/:

Post-tonic

ἔππεσεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 66.32 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari); ἔππεσαν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 79.3–4 δράππαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 266.3; δράππαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 18.16

θέττου (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 33.87) μούττην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 282.5; μύττη (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 423.1083) θαυμάζουμέθαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 360.32

πόθθεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 182.28

σγάφει Fior 118.34

σήμερον Pist. kekoim. 148

καθέν(α) / καθένα (1227–50, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 20, 157.14) της αννοθ(εν) / τῆς ἄνωθεν (1501, Cyprus, MALTEZOU 1987: 2, 11.7) ή σκήλλα / ή σκύλλα (1382, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 100, 99.4) ἄλλος ὁ λογαριασμός (1578/1583, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 2, 1.3) τὴν ἁγία νῆσον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 28.5

Syllable-initial

ποττέ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 10.5; ποττέ VOUSTR., Chron. A 14.8

οἱ σεκρεττάριοι Pist. kekoim. 81

τὴν ἄλουππούν Fior 121.28–9 ἐτζακκίσαν τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 40.25 κριθάρια KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 259; κριθάριν MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v.

κεκριμένους (1214, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 268, 368.2) ἀλλήθια / ἀλήθεια (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 306.8)

βασιλλιασ / βασιλείας (1469, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 117, 56.2); τη βασυλλῆα σου / τῇ βασιλλείᾳ σου (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.2) ολλίγες ημέρες VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.3–4; ὀλλίγος MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v.

κλαίει σκύλλος (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: B, 460. 504) τοῦ ρρὲ ἔρρι (post 1306, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 31, 163.[23]5)

Γιλιὰμ τε Ρρῶς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 164.7

ησε σοαῖ / εις ἐσσὲ (1015, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 15, 15.23)

᾿ς τὸ νησσίν μας KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 17

Away from the Stress ἀγραππηδιᾶν / ἀγραππιδιάν (1115, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 78, 102.14) < ἀπίδι ἀππηδᾶ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 172.30 ἀλληθηνῆν / ἀλληθινῆν (1483, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 2, 41.2) < ἀλήθεια εἰσοδόματα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.8 < εἰσόδημα

Certain suffixes that involve the standard phonetic environment triggering spontaneous gemination, namely the verbal suffixes (-άνω, -ίνω, -αίνω, -ώνω etc.) and the comparative adjectival and adverbial forms with the suffix -τερ(ος) (only in Cyprus), display the phenomenon with great regularity. Due to this morphological conditioning, it has been suggested that in these cases the underlying process is not phonetic but analogical. In the first case, because gemination appears already in late Koine inscriptions and papyri, it has been attributed to the analogy of the verbs in -ννυμι/-ννω (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 641–2; KAPSOMENOS 1953b: 327; CARATZAS 1958: 126–34); in the second, the Cypriot comparative has been seen as analogical to the AG “irregular” comparatives θάπτων, ἐλάπτων or καλλίων (CHRISTODOULOU 2013: 122). Both suggestions are possible, but not necessary.

κατάουαίννει (1092, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 54, 71.12); κατεβέννη (1124, ibid. 94, 123.1); κλήννει / κλίνει (1092, ibid. 54, 71.18); αφιεροννοντα (1034, ibid. 29, 34.11–12); ἀφιερώνωντα (1113, ibid. 75, 97.14); ἀναβέννι / ἀναβαίννει (1115, ibid. 78, 102.17–18) ἐγεννήθη ἐξημερόννωντ(α) (1407, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1956: [5], 40.1) διαλαμβάννει (1190, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 16, 49.5); φθάννει (ibid. Coll. I: 16, 49.19) διαβαίννουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.5–6; θανατώννομεν ibid. 2.7 τιχέννουν / τυχαίννουν (1646, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 5, 15.16) παρχατώττεροι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 256.10; ἀσχημόττερος ibid. 492.29–30 το εγληγορόττερον / τὸ ἐγληγορότερον (1456, Unknown, TSIRPANLIS 1986: 1, 223.12) την καλλιόττερην στράταν VOUSTR., Chron. A 12.8; πρωτύττερα παρά τινάν ibid. 44.15–16; μεγαλυττέρην ibid. 144.4

In a small number of inherited lexical items, it has also been suggested that the presence of geminate consonants absent from Classical Greek is not a case of innovative spontaneous gemination, but in fact constitutes an ancient (Doric) dialectal survival. This involves the words ὄσσοϛ and τόσσοϛ with geminate [ss], attested a few times in MedG documents from S. Italy and Sicily and corroborated by modern dialectal evidence:⁶ ὄσσους δ' ἂν ἔχης νοθείους φέρειν ἐκ τὰς περιεξῆς χώρας ἀνθρώπους (1097, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 64, 81.26); ἀμπέλιον ... ὄσσον καὶ οἶον ἐστὶν (1135, ibid. 116, 155.5); εἰς τὰς τόσσας (1291, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 13, 639.4). It also concerns the word νῆσσοϛ > νησσίν, attested with geminate [ss] in Rhodes since the Koine, and common in many MedG and EMG documents from Cyprus and the Dodecanese. The “survival” argument was first propounded by Tsopanakis and Caratzas (TSOPANAKIS 1940: 159; CARATZAS 1958: 89 fn. 1 and 96–100) and adopted in later literature (MINAS ²2003: 72; CARACAUSI, Lex. s.v. ὄσσοϛ, τόσσοϛ; TZITZILIS 2004: 476).

3.4.3 Consonants Affected

In documents from South-Eastern dialect areas and from S. Italy, gemination of /p t k/ is attested, both in inherited words and loans and as an innovative phenomenon (“spontaneous gemination”).

τῆς στοῦππα / τῆς Στούππα (1117, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 83, 109.44) ἔππτεσεν (1640, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 3, 9.9).

⁶ It is lexicalized in S. Italian (KARANASTASIS, Lex. s.v.), but variable and only emphatic in Cyprus and Chios (HADJIOANNOU 1988: 206; PERNOT 1907/46: I 392–3).

γάττου / Γάττου (1171, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 178, 234.14); θέττουν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 33.87) ποττέ VOUSTR., Chron. A 14.8 ρηκκάρδου / Ρικκάρδου (1117, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 83, 110.26) ετσακκίσεν VOUSTR., Chron. A 20.15 ὀκκάδες KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 83 απο τι Κκαλέπια / ἀπό τῇ Κκαλέπια (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 2, 7.6)

For certain words, such as ποττέ, μούττη, σάκκος, τσακκίζω or the comparative -ττερος, the spelling approaches regularity. Gemination of /f/ and /x/, although extant in modern South-Eastern dialects, either as an innovative phenomenon (spontaneous gemination), or as a result of assimilation of a preceding nasal, is very poorly attested in MedG and EMG documents. Rare examples include:

τοῦ γρόφφουλου / τοῦ Γρόφφουλου (1168, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 172, 227.10) τὰ ῥφικία τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 10.29 το θαφφίον VOUSTR., Chron. A 152.8 σγάφφει Fior 118.34
 συχχωρουντε / συχχωροῦνται MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 104.38

By contrast, gemination of /θ/ is quite well attested, especially in Cyprus. Its provenance is either assimilation of a preceding nasal, or innovative (spontaneous) gemination.

Θεόδωρος Ξανθός (1190, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 12, 65.28); ἔνδδοθεν καὶ ἔξωθθεν (1213/14, ibid. 6, 37.8) διὰ νὰ συνμπεθθερέψουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 326.8; τον πεθερόν του VOUSTR., Chron. A 194.13
 θαυμάζουμέθαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 360.32 ἐπλύθθην MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 496.44 ἄθθυμήθου MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 44.39; ἄθθύμισιν (1602, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1959: 1, 28.1) ῥπου θθεῖ ῥνὰ δῆ Thrinis Kypr. 1 κριθάρια KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 259

There is limited evidence from S. Italy and Rhodes that gemination of /θ/ may take the form of a long aspirated dental stop /tʰ:/ as in several MG dialects. The evidence in question involves forms of the proper names Ἀνθοῦσα as Ἀνττοῦσα, Ἀθοῦσα, Ἀττοῦσα (1220–1, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 16, 78.1, 80.25, 826) and Ἀρνίθα as ἄρνίττα (1684, Rhodes, PAPACHRISTODOULOU 1976: 2, 3.1).

Since voiced fricatives did not exist in AG, gemination of /v, ð, ɣ/ can only appear as an innovative phenomenon in MedG/EMG, and not as an ancient retention. Orthographic historical <ββ>, from the transliteration of foreign words with /bb/, such as Σάββατον, κρεββάτι etc., occasionally appears in MedG texts with single <β> and is presumably pronounced accordingly, e.g. σαβατον MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 317.26 and 433.19; κρεβάγτωστρώσια (1166, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 170, 124.14); παπα Σάβας (1501, Cyprus, MALTEZOU 1987: 2, 12.19). A further indication of non-geminate pronunciation of these words in MedG/EMG is the fact that in the corresponding MG dialects they appear with single /v/ (TSOPANAKIS 1940: 161; MENARDOS 1969: 29; KARANASTASIS 1997: 47).

Gemination of /v/ as a result of nasal assimilation is very rarely attested, and only in words of learned origin, e.g. σηββήα / συββία (1477, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1959: f 170, 36.28.2); σύββαλμα MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v. The rarity of the phenomenon is expected, since the normal evolutionary path of the sequence <μβ> would be retention of the original AG pronunciation as [mb]; see also 3.6.2.2. Assimilation to other consonants may also lead to gemination of /v/, e.g. καὶ ῥόββαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 314.7, probably from κόββαν if not a simple spelling error. “Spontaneous” gemination of /v/ is not attested, nor expected, since MG dialects do not exhibit it either (SEILER 1957: 214; NEWTON 1968: 19, MANOLESSOU/BASEA-BEZANDAKOU 2012). There is no evidence for gemination of /χ/ or /ð/.

Gemination of /m/ and /n/ is sporadically attested in texts from Cyprus and S. Italy. Apart from retention of inherited or borrowed geminates, the provenance of /mm/ and /nn/ is either assimilation of a preceding fricative (see also 3.6.1.3), or innovative “spontaneous” gemination:

ἐγκεχαραμμένοι (1019, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 18, 19.24) ἀμμέ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.33; αμμέ ἦρτα VOUSTR., Chron. A 22.13 κρεμμάζουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 34.23
 ἄμ με ἀγαπᾶτε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 293.10 ὁστὴν σήήμερον / ὡς τήνς σήμερον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 80.50 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) ἦστο ννισσίν / εἰς τὸ νησίν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 83.34 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) σήμερον Pist. kekoim. 148; σήμερον VOUSTR., Chron. A 52.9–10 πικραμμένοι VOUSTR., Chron. A 68.18

In the case of /n/, there are specific morphological environments which always exhibit innovative gemination, namely verbs in -ώνω, -αίνω, -ίνω, -άνω, both in S. Italy and in Cyprus (MINAS ²2003: 71; SYMEONIDIS 2006: 179). For the Dodecanese, the phenomenon is expected (PANDELIDIS 1929: 29; TSOPANAKIS 1940: 158) but as yet has not been located in the texts:

αφιερωννοντα / αφιερώννοντα (1034, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 29, 34.11–12) ἄξόννη / ἄξώνει (1227–50, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 20, 157.10) κατάυαίννει / καταβαίννει (1092, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 54, 71.12) φθάννει (1190, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 16, 49.19) λαμβάννει παρκάτω (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 31.49) θανατώννομεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.7 εἰς κουφοῦ πόρταν ἐσυντύχανεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 44.16–17 παγαιννάμενοι VOUSTR., Chron. A 22.9–10

Gemination of /l/ is attested in S. Italy, Cyprus and the Dodecanese. It occurs either as assimilation of a preceding nasal, or as spontaneous gemination, which is especially frequent in Cyprus in common words such as πολλύς and ὀλλίγος. However, there is no regularity in the spelling, as certain cases of geminate /ll/ may also appear written as single.

τῶ λλάκόν / τὸ λλάκκον (1044, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 3, 147.26) τὴν λλέπραν (1076–7, Calabria, GUILLOU 1963: 1, 46.18) οὐβόν λλουπούνον / Οὐβον Λ-λουπούνον (1226, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 175, 378.16) σκελίζει (1053, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 40, 50.29) μαντίλλιον / μαντήλλιον (1226, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 274, 376.22) ἡ σκήλλα / ἡ σκύλλα (1382, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 100, 99.4) τισ μεγαλίου βασιλίας (1469, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 117, 56.2) ἐπερυλλάβαμ(εν) / ἐπεριλλάβαμεν (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.2) πολλὺν καιρὸν (15th c., Rhodes, MINAS 2012: 18, 413.10) ἀλλάβη / ἄλ λάβη Assizes A 48.29 ὄλλος ὁ λογαριασμός (1578/1583, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 2, 1.3) ὀλλίγα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.34; ὀλλίγες ἡμέρες VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.3–4 διὰ τὸ πολλὺν πληθος Pist. kekoim. 38–9 τριανταφιλίας / τριανταφυλλίς Katal. 5 πολὰ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 66.33 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari)

Gemination of /l/ and /n/ is securely attested for Euboea thanks to the metalinguistic description provided by Euthymios Tornikes in a recently published poem (HÖRANDNER 2017). The poem mocks the inhabitants of Euripos for their pronunciation and makes specific reference to gemination, which, according to the author, sounds as if the consonants /l/ and /n/ are split in two:

οἱ γραμμάτων ἄρπαγες ἄνδρες Εὐρίπου τὸ λαῦδα συντέμνουσιν εἰς μέρη δύο (vv. 21–2) καὶ γὰρ παρευθὺς τὴν φίλην βροτοῖς νίκην ἡμῶν ἀφαρπάζουσιν ἀδίκῳ τρόπῳ τὸ νῦ μόνον τέμνοντες εἰς μέρη δύο (vv. 44–6)

That the phenomenon in question is gemination is made explicit by the title of the poem as given in the manuscript: Οἱ ἐν Θήβαις οἰκοῦντες σύρφακες ἐν πάσαις ταῖς ὁμιλίαις αὐτῶν λαλοῦντες τὸ νῦ καὶ τὸ λαῦδα ὑφειμένως πῶς καὶ σχεδὸν ἥμισυ, ἐγκαλοῦσι κατὰ τῶν γειτονοῦντων αὐτοῖς Εὐριπιωτῶν διπλασιαζόντων καὶ διπλαζόντων ἔστιν ὅτε τὰ τοιαῦτα στοιχεῖα (HÖRANDNER 2017: 127, 133). It should be presumed that the geographical term “Euripos” here refers to the whole of Euboea, and not just to the city of Chalkis, and that during the 13th c. the geminating pronunciation, which nowadays characterizes only the local subdialect of Kymi, covered the whole island. That the dialect of Kymi, connected in many ways to the dialect of Athens, Megara and Aegina, represents the oldest form of the dialect of Euboea and receded later due to the Albanian migrations is a conclusion independently arrived at by modern dialectology (CARATZAS 1940; PANDELIDIS 2016c), and confirmed by the evidence of the poem under discussion.

Evidence for geminate /r/ is poor in medieval texts. Gemination as a result of assimilation of a preceding nasal is attested but rare, and “spontaneous gemination” is very rare indeed. Most examples of geminate /r/ are loanwords, such as γέρρα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 466.25, VOUSTR., Chron. B 122.9 < Fr. guerre, φαρράσης MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 114.10 < Arab. farrash etc., or foreign proper names. There are no examples from the Dodecanese, where gemination of /r/ is also absent from the modern dialect (TSOPANAKIS 1940: 155; SEILER 1957: 214). Machairas’s text frequently exhibits degemination of etymological double /rr/, which is a feature also of the modern Cypriot dialect (PILAVAKIS 1968: 137; SYMEONIDIS 2006: 181).

σσουρρέντου / Σουρέντου (1190, Palermo, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 16, 48.26)

ἐνρρίκου / Ἐρρίκου (1226, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 175, 378.10)

τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Κονρράδου (1254, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 19, 90.2)

Γιλιὰμ τε Ρρᾶς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 164.7

βιζόρρες VOUSTR., Chron. B 155.2

ἀπεριμμένας (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 239.433)

περούνιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 308.32 < Fr. perron ἄρωστον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 48.4; ἄρωστος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 372.2 and Chron. R 220.7

Gemination of /s/ is evidenced mainly through the consistent spelling <σσ> of etymologically single /s/ (“spontaneous gemination”), in words which also show gemination in modern dialects. Apart from that, there are a few instances of assimilation of final /n/ to a following initial /s/ (spelled <σσ->, <-ν σσ->, <-νς σ->, cf. DAWKINS 1932: II 35; KECHAYOGLU 1997: 147*), as well as cases of coarticulation of a final /s/ with a word-initial /s/. Furthermore, gemination of /s/ also results, in the EMG period, from the total assimilation of the cluster /sk/; the spelling <χχ> indicates that the realization in this case is probably [ʃ:] (see 3.8.2.2):

ησε σσαι / εις ἐσὲ (1015, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 15, 15.23 and 16.38) εἰσσακουέσθω / εἰσακουέσθω (1190, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 16, 48.18) ἔσσω (1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 5, 618.14); ἔσσο / ἔσω εις Κύπρον (14th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 27, 2.2 app. crit.); ἔσσω VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.10–11

εις τ(ο) νησιν / εις τὸ νησίν (1326, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 41, 93.1); τὸ νησίν τῆς

Ρόδου (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 55.6) τὸν Φαρισσαῖον (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 407.437) τὲς συκεῖαις / τὲς συκίης (1108–9, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 29, 135.27) εις τὴν σσὴν ὑποταγὴν (1210, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 5, 34.12) εἰσαυτὸν σσου / εἰς αὐτὸν σσου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 78.30 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari); τον υιὸν σσου VOUSTR., Chron. M 43.14 ἄσσας / ἄ σ-σᾶς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 66.34 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) ἐθελε σσέ βαστάξειν VOUSTR., Chron. A 142.1

σσεπάρνην / σσεπάρνιν (1678, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 453.9) τοῦ Μαρκουλῆ τοῦ χχύλλου KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 41

There is one instance of a geminate sibilant resulting from total assimilation of the cluster [ks] in S. Italy: προσένεσσ(ην) / προσένεσσιν (1052–3, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 15, 84.10) < προσένεξιν. The change [ks] > [ss] is corroborated by modern dialectal data, as the Greek variety of Calabria does indeed display the phenomenon (KARANASTASIS 1997: 34), as do both the modern Romance languages of the area and standard Italian. Gemination of /z/ as a result of assimilation or spontaneous gemination is not attested in MedG documents; the spelling <ζζ> is rare, and is usually reserved for direct transliterations from Romance, or for affricates (for which see 3.2.6), e.g. ἡ πέτρα πιζζοῦτα (1117, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 83, 109.20) < S. Ital. pizzutu = pointed; τῆς παναγίας τῆς μετίζζιαις (1032, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 25, 28.11). Most modern geminating dialects do not, in any case, make a distinction between single and geminate /z/ (TSOPANAKIS 1940: 161; NEWTON 1968:

19; MENARDOS 1969: 21–2; KARANASTASIS 1997: 34). A number of instances of <ζζ> in the Dodecanese may reflect a realization [z:] resulting from the deaffrication of [dz] (see 3.2.6.2): Φρατζέζους Alosis 354; Φρατζής LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 447 app. crit.

3.5 Consonant Addition

3.5.1 Prothesis and Aphaeresis

As a lexicalized sporadic change, words beginning with a vowel occasionally exhibit prothesis of an initial /n/ or /s/ (the only two permissible final consonants in MedG and EMG; see 3.3.1). This is originally due to false segmentation when the item in question is preceded by a word ending in /n/ or /s/, followed by lexicalization of the new variant. The elements involved are usually a form of the article, e.g. τῆς, τὰς, τοὺς, τὸν, τήν, τῶν, and a noun or verb forming a phonological phrase with it (PERNOT 1907/46: I 536–40; PANDELIDIS 1927/8).⁷ A few early attestations occur in Koine papyri and EMedG texts (DIETERICH 1898: 95; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 411–12; PSALTES 1913: 83), and the phenomenon is noted also by Eustathios (Comment. ad Hom. 1523.52): “Ἡ δὲ κλήθρη φυλάσσει μέχρι καὶ νῦν τοῦνομα ὑποβαρβαριζομένη διὰ προσθήκης τοῦ σ” (ΚΟΥΚΟΥΛΕΣ 1953: 53). Attestations from the LMedG and EMG period can be found in lower-register texts from all areas:

τὸν νῶμον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 492.18; στοὺς νόμους Byz. Il. 515 ν-εῖς ὀπίσω τοῦ ἄλλου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.27–8 ἡ νιστία LIMEN., Than. Rod. 507 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: ἡ ἰστία); νηστεία / ν-ιστία Peri xen. 245 app. crit. (V) < ἔστια τοῦ νεαυτοῦ μας P&N Diath. 216 κυρὰ τῆς Νίου (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 172.35); οἱ Νιώτες Diig. Sant. 59.7 < ἴος εἰς ναιῶνα Pent. Gen. 6.3 νουράδες Fior 108.7
 νυκοκερὰν / νοικοκερὰν (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 172.5) νὰ ἵνε νῖκοκαίρεϊ / νὰ εἶναι νοικοκεραῖοι (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 7, 127.22) τοῦ ναγίου / τοῦ ν-αγίου (1686, Tilos, ΚΟΥΤΕΛΑΚΗΣ 1979: 13, 45.8) σκαράνικον Ptoch. I 246 < καράνος (see CARATZAS 1954) σκάλτζες τζούκνινες / σκάλτσες τσοῦκνινες (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 37, 168.8) οἱ σκάλτζες / οἱ σκάλτσες Poulol. 190 app. crit. (PA) < Ital. calza < Lat. calceus σκύπτω TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 157 < AG κύπτω σκανθάρους Poulol. 118; σκάνθαρος Vios Aisop. K 204.24 < AG κάνθαρος σκόνη Erof. Prol. 133; σκόνην LANDOS, Geopon. 250.22 < AG κόνις σκαρτσούνια CHORTATIS, Katz. I.257 < Ital. calzone στή ζκοντραδα / στή σκοντραδα (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 113.4) < Ven.
contrada

⁷ A slightly different case is constituted by a small number of words which present an alternation between initial [sm] and [m], normally only in learned registers, but surviving also in MG: μικρός/σμικρός (e.g. Mich. Glykas, Eis tas aporias 7.72.13; [Const. Porphyre], De virtutibus 2.240.4 (ed. T. Büttner-Wobst–A. G. Roos); Georg. Acropolites, Epitaph. 15.24), μαρίς/σμαρίς, μύραινα/σμούραινα and their derivatives. In this case, the stem allomorphy is inherited from AG (SIHLER 1995: 171; ΜΟΥΣΙΑΔΗΣ 2005: 146).

In rare cases, due to analogy, the prothetic /s/ appears before the second member of a compound: ἀνασκόψασιν Chron. Mor. H 5085; ἀνασκομπωμένην Poulol. 103. Correspondingly, but also quite rarely, initial /n/ or /s/ may be deleted as a result of false segmentation, in cases where it is interpreted as belonging to a preceding word ending in /n/ (PSALTES 1913: 85; PANDELIDIS 1927/8: 402). The phenomenon is more frequent with /s/; the only lexical item which regularly undergoes aphaeresis of /n/ is the place name Νάξος, Ναξία and the corresponding ethnic names.

εἶναι πιθαμή Dig. E 1643; μιὰ πιθαμή KORNAROS, Erot. II.268 < AG σπιθαμή στὲς καποῦλες Achil. L 1002 < Lat. scapulae ἡ Ἀξία (1534, UNKNOWN, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 108.4); τῆς Ἀξι(ας) (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 13, 26.6); τὴν Ἀξιὸν KORNAROS, Erot. II.287 ὁ Ἀξώτης KORNAROS, Erot. II.1717 Ἀξιωτοπούλα CHORTATIS, Katz. V.211 τὴν Ἀγούσαν (1634, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 2, 111.12) < Νάουσα (Πάρου)

The only other potential instances of the phenomenon listed in KRIARAS, Lex. are ἀφκράτης Phys. (post 425) < AG ναυκράτης, and ἰσαντής Ekth. Chron. 82.24 < Turk. nişanci.

3.5.2 Anaptyxis

/ɣ/ appears as an epenthetic consonant in various phonetic environments, some of which have earned it the name (following KRUMBACHER 1886) of “irrational spirant”. The contexts involved are the following:

- in intervocalic position word-internally (e.g. πνοή > πνογή) or word-initially in a phonological phrase such as article + noun (e.g. τὸ αἶμα > τὸ γ-αἶμα);
- in the verbal derivational suffix -εύω (e.g. δουλεύγω, πορεύομαι);
- before a nasal in certain words (e.g. σύννεφο > σύγνεφο, ἔννοια > ἔγνοια).

These are discussed in turn below.

3.5.2.1 Anaptyxis of /ɣ/ Between Vowels

A non-etymological /ɣ/ appears between sequences of consecutive vowels, both word-internally and at certain word boundaries, as a hiatus resolution strategy (see 2.9.1). Three subcases of the phenomenon must be distinguished:

- Anaptyxis of an intervocalic /ɣ/ between consecutive vowels within the stem of a word, which surfaces as a velar [ɣ] before the back vowels /a o u/ and a palatal [j] before the front vowels /e i/. The phenomenon is first attested in the Koine, in cases of consecutive front vowels, between which there develops a [j] glide (DIETERICH 1898: 91–2; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 50; GIGNAC 1976: 72), e.g. ἰγεροῦ BGU 1197.3, ἀ[ν]α γκαίγει SB 4669.11. The phenomenon of a transitional glide appearing intervocalically, when the first of the two vowels is front (e.g. [ia] > [ija]), is one of the most natural and commonly occurring diachronic epenthetic phenomena (see BLEVINS 2008). But in MedG and EMG the phenomenon seems to have spread to intervocalic cases where the first vowel is back, or both vowels are back; the phenomenon should therefore be viewed as /ɣ/ epenthesis which surfaces alternatively as [ɣ] or [j] depending on the following vowel. Because of its early development, the phenomenon is not geographically restricted and is even lexicalized in very common words such as ἄγουρος, ἄγοριν, ἄγέρας. However, it does show a preponderance in Cyprus, the Cyclades and the Heptanese, and a restriction to low-register texts. The fact that these areas are exactly those where the opposite phenomenon of intervocalic /ɣ/ deletion is the most prevalent (see 3.6.1.1) and that the modern form of these dialects does not include /ɣ/ anaptyxis as a feature is an indication that in some cases at least the phenomenon is in fact a hypercorrect reaction against intervocalic /ɣ/ deletion, or an equally hypercorrect means of blocking synizesis in learned lexical items.

Before Front Vowels

- αὐς' ὀγδόγης Χριστοῦ (ms ογδογισ) (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 143, 68.4) ἱγέρεας (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 4, 151.1) συρρογή ERMON., Il. 17.114 δούληγες / δουλειγες (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.4) τὸν ἄγέραν Fior 125.32; ἄγέρας PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §7.68 νέγοι Cypr. Canz. 101.27 τ' ὀπίγιο (1617, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 16, 320.31) κολαγίνα (1626, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 2, 215.23) ἀγειπαρθένου (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 2, 3.1) νικοκυρεγι / νοικοκυραῖγοι (1658, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 5, 652.18) τοῦ ἀγίου Παντελεγήμονα (1686, Tilos, KOUTELAKIS 1979: 13, 45.3) οἱ θεῖγοι νόμοι (1692, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1991: 2, 84.6) καλάγι (1697, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 30, 24.74) αὐτίνι η Οβρέγι / αὐτεῖνοι οἱ Ὀβραῖγοι (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 11, 79.31–2)

Before Back Vowels

- ὁ πράγος Anak. Konst. 19 τὸν ἄγουρον Dig. E 1507 < ἄωρος τὸν Ἰγουδαῖον Assizes B 483.11 ζωγοτροφίαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 268.24–5 λαγο / λαγὸ (1570, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 3.3) Λάγουρας (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 13, 27.7) τὴν Ἄγουσαν (1634, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 2, 111.12) = Νάουσα (Πάρου) στέρεγον (1678, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 64, 54.14) τὴν ἀγουτουριτὰ (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 720, 979.6) ὀγδογον (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 412.672)

A subcase of this phenomenon is the anaptyxis of a palatal glide [j] in sequences of obstruent + /r/ + /i/ + vowel, e.g. πριόνι > πριγιόνι (NEWTON 1972a: 50; MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2009a: 112–13). The sequence CriV is an environment where synizesis does not normally apply (see 2.9.4), as it would create a complex consonant sequence. Therefore, the hiatus occurring between the two consecutive vowels is broken up through the insertion of a homorganic glide [j] between /i/ and the following vowel, irrespective of whether it is front or back. An alternative, perhaps phonetically more plausible, interpretation would be that in such cases the phenomenon in question is not in fact anaptyxis of [j] before synizesis, but anaptyxis of a vowel [i] after synizesis, in order to break up the complex consonant cluster, e.g. πριόνι > πργιόνι > πριγιόνι (MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 2002: 98). The phenomenon appears from the late 15th/early 16th c. onwards:

χρείγια (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 186.4d) μητριγιᾶς (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 33, 52.11); πριγιόνι (1601, ibid. 118, 131.16) πριγιόνι (1697, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 30, 24.81) τρίγια (1667, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 19, 90.14) κρυγαίνω MONTSEL., Evgena 419

b) Anaptyxis of a palatal glide [j] between consecutive vowels at word boundaries. The overwhelming majority of cases involves /i/ as the first element (i.e. the article forms ή, οί and the conjunction ή), which, as described above, is a cross-linguistically natural and frequent environment for an evolution iV > ijV. The epenthetic consonant is always palatal [j] and never velar [ɣ], even before back vowels, as betrayed by the spelling <γι>. Furthermore, the phenomenon is more restricted geographically, appearing primarily in Crete, the Cyclades and Cyprus:

Before Front Vowels

τὸ γ-ῖδιον (1164, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IV: 3, 118.10) κ(αί) μόχθουιέμοῦ / καί μόχθου γ-έμοῦ (1306, Trebizond, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1886: [1], 117 transcr.)
καί γ-οί ιδ' ἐπισκόποι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 52.19 στράταν γή φόρμαν (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.)
το γίδιον / τὸ γ-ῖδιον (1542, Cyprus, MALTEZOU 1987: 3, 13.4) δύο γή τρεῖς (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.31); ι γεδική μας ολι / οί γεδικοί μας ὅλοι (1565, ibid. 283, 398.25) ή γευλόγηση (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 24.30) ι giefchi / ή γιευκή Thysia Avr. 843 transcr. M νὰ γημπορέσωμε νὰ σὲ γιδοῦμεν (1609, Cyprus, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90: III 20, 267.7–8) προτύτερον γή ὑστερότερον (1629, Milos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 14, 11.41) κε γηπόγραφα / καί γ-υπόγραφα (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 17, 42.19) ξανάχτισμα γή σιάσμα (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 310.21) νὰ γήσου βογηθός μου Charon III 8 να γίχαν / νὰ γ-εῖχαν (1679, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 16, 39.3) η γυδυγυ πγεζυ / οί γίδιγοι πιέζοι (1691, Chios, TSELIKAS 2000: 81, 64.15)

Before Back Vowels

γiAιμίλια γiάμαζόνα Theseid Prol. E 158 οί γiάνωθε μερίδες (1610, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 6, 360.17) ι γiάδερφι τζι / οί γiαδερφοί τση (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 849, 740.11) ι γιορεξιν του / ή γιόρεξή ντου (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 38.6); ή γιόρεξή μου Stathis II.307 η γiαρχοντισά μου / ή γiαρχόντισά μου (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 49.43) ή γiαστραπαῖς / οί γi-ᾶστραπές TROILLOS, Rodol. I.249 (Walton) (Aposkiti: οί ᾶστραπές) igiora / ή γiώρα Thysia Avr. 786 transcr. M κι γιομορφιά η περίσσα CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 47 ή γιακριβειά CHORTATIS, Katz. I.101 ιγι αθροπι / οί γι-ἄθρωποι (1642, Crete, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 21, 15.7) ή γιαγιουσύνη σου (1668, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 15, 421.4) οί γιαποδέλοιποι / οί γι-ἄποδέλοιποι (1664, Cyprus, MERTZIOS 1958b: 255.14) ή γιοποία (1688, Andros, PASCHALIS 1948: 44.8) ἐγὼ ἢ γι' Ασημίστζα καὶ ἡ γιάδερχή μου (1691, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1957/58: I A. 32, 115.1)

Note that there is a tendency for this intervocalic glide to be suppressed by editors of works of Cretan literature (see BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1996: 147; HENRICH 1998b: 94).

c) Anaptyxis of an intervocalic /y/ between consecutive vowels at verbal morpheme boundaries (stem-/y/-suffix), which surfaces as a velar [ɣ] before the back vowels /a o u/ and a palatal [j] before the front vowels /e i/. In contrast to cases (a) and (b) above, this type of anaptyxis can no longer be considered a phonetic phenomenon, but has instead been generalized through analogy and paradigm levelling, and serves as a formative of various verbal inflectional paradigms (NEWTON 1972a: 50; BABINIOTIS 1972: 245–7; PANTELIDIS 2003: 14–17; PANDELIDIS 2008: 292–6). It should be assumed that the origin of the phenomenon was an initially phonetic [j] glide appearing between front vowels, i.e. between a stem form or an inflectional suffix ending in a vowel and the 3 sg. suffix -ε, which, due to its frequency, usually forms the basis of most verbal analogies. This glide subsequently spread to the rest of the paradigm, even before back vowels, through paradigmatic levelling, and eventually became a permanent formative.

It can thus be claimed that /y/ is a morphological marker of imperfective aspect, appearing mainly (i) since the 15th c., in the present stem of barytone vowel-stem verbs, e.g. ἀκούω > ἀκούγω, καίω > καίγω, κλαίω > κλαίγω, κρούω > κρούγω, λούω > λούγω, πταίω > πταίγω etc., as part of a general tendency of all barytone verbs to acquire a consonantal stem; (ii) rarely, in the passive aorist of barytone vowel-stem verbs, e.g. ἐκάην > ἐκάγην, νά καγῶ; and (iii) in the formation of the mainly Peloponnesian oxytone imperfect suffix -ηγα, -αγα, through the analogical influence of the barytone inflection, which added an extra vowel on to the vocalic inflectional suffix, i.e. ἐπόνει > ἐπόνειε > ἐπόνειγε–ἐπόναγε. For the chronology and distribution of this suffix see III, 2.1.2.2.2–3. Less regularly, epenthetic /y/ also appears in some inflectional forms of the oxytone present of A-stem verbs, e.g. ὁμολογάει > ὁμολογάγει, mostly in the Heptanese and Crete. This phenomenon is restricted to the 3rd person sg. and has not spread to other persons of the present, so morphological motivation is unlikely. It could perhaps be considered a hypercorrect reaction against the (for these two areas) typical phenomenon of intervocalic [j] deletion.

ἐκρούγασιν Dig. E 1174; νά συγκρούγη Velth. 103 κλαίγει NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 127.5; Dimotika Ivir. VII.4

λούγουνται Velis. χ 221; λούγεσαι Poulol. 147 app. crit. (AZP) σὲ ἀκούγω Liv. V 3118; ἀκούγουν Synax. gadar. 389 πταίγουν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.34 πλέγουσι τὰ φαγητά LANDOS, Geopon. 181.34

νὰ ἀναπνέγω MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 218 οὐ κωλύγω (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 408.456) ἐκαγην / ἐκάγην (1469, Paphos, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 117, 56.6); ῥάγην LIMEN., Than. Rod. 267; νὰ καγοῦ Thysia Avr. 810 μὴ ἀναπαγοῦμεν Dig. E 884; ν' ἀναπαγῶ KORNAOS, Erot. I.1222 ἐπέρναγαν (1572, Peloponnese, VEIS 1956: 451.33); ποὺ πέρναγαν DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 291 ποὺ τὰ χρώσταγα (17th c., Gortynia/Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 33, 185.7) ἐκράταγέ το (1670, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 2, 164.10) ἐγέλαγα SPANOS, Grammar 41.14; ἐφίλειγα ibid. 39.23

ν' ἀπαντάγη Assizes B 455.3

ἀκουμπάγει (1554, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 144, 193.9) ὁμολογάγει (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 17, 30.5) καὶ ἀρχινάγει KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 346.12 προβοδάγει DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 124 να μετραγι / νὰ μετράγη (1688, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 285, 267.18)

νὰ ἀπερνάγη (1694, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 184, 110.3)

3.5.2.2 Anaptyxis of /ɣ/ in the Verbal Suffix -εύω

The phenomenon appears for the first time in Late Antiquity (KRUMBACHER 1886: 368; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 50; GIGNAC 1976: 74), with the earliest examples, from Egyptian papyri, involving anaptyxis not only in the verbal suffix but in general after the diphthongs [au, eu]: Φλαυγίω POxy.504.14.30, εὐγεργετημένος POxy.487 (AD 156), εὐγαπόδεικτον PCair.Isidor. 62.16 (AD 296). This early appearance has led several scholars to assume that the phonetic origin of the phenomenon lies at a time when <ευ> was still realized as [eu] or [ew] (NEWTON 1972a: 57–9; HORROCKS 2010: 312–13). The frequency of the -εύω suffix (phonetically ['evɣo]) has also caused the metaplasm of several labial stem verbs to -βγω (e.g. κόπτω > κόβγω, πέμπω > πέβγω), for which see III, 2.1.1.1.1. The phenomenon is discussed in KRUMBACHER 1886; PSICHARI 1888; BOÜÜAERT 1946; MIRAMBEL 1950; SYMEONIDIS 1981; NICHOLAS 2007.

In the MedG and EMG periods the -εύω suffix appears in sources from the following areas: Athos, Asia Minor, S. Italy, Cyprus, Dodecanese, Chios, Crete, Cyclades, Peloponnese, as well as in literary texts of uncertain provenance. Its earliest appearance is traceable to 9th/10th-c. Cappadocian inscriptions (POLITIS 1971: 129–30). Its distribution is less extensive than in the modern period (for which see MIRAMBEL 1950: 127–8), but evidence is lacking for certain areas, such as Central and Northern Mainland Greece and Asia Minor.

ἐπορεύετον (9th c., Cappadocia, THIERRY/THIERRY 1963: 55) διαφθεντεύωμεν (1008, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 14, 138.27) πορεύεσται (1059, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 7, 170.58) κελεύγει (beg. 11th c., S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 7, 46.25) διαφεντεύεσαι (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 21.122) ἡῦρα κείνον τὸν ἐγύρευγα ἐγὼ SULT. WALAD, Poem I 19 ρογεύγουν Chron. Mor. H 3550 νὰ γυρεύγης (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.3) ξεμπερδεβγομεν / ξεμπερδεύγομεν (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.20) ἐπιβουλεύεσάι με Dig. E 365 (Jeffreys) σαλεύει Theseid I.85,7 (Follieri) καβαλλικεύει Velth. 743 παιδεύει LIMEN., Than. Rod. 260 διά να μου μνημονεύγου (1502, Kalymnos, KOUTELAKIS 1981: 1, 29.10) γυρεύω (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 287.27) γυρεύομε (1571, Mani, CHASIOTIS 1970: 6.1, 242.23) τελεύγου (1576, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 19, 150.4) άλωνεύω (1597, Syros, MILIARAKIS 1900: 699.8) γυρεύοντας (1602, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 8, 162.6) λιγεύοντας (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.11) γυρεύει (1696, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 47, 141.11) να τὰ δουλεύει / νὰ τὰ δουλεύη (1697, Chios, TSELIKAS 2000: 99, 77.7–8) ὀνορεύεται (1733, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 28, 49.20–1)

A small number of words containing the sequence /av/ or /ev/ + vowel also show epenthesis of /y/, probably as an analogical phenomenon:

τὴν παρασκευὴν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 60.3; τζῆ Παρασκευῆς (1630, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 52, 135.26) Παρασκευάδες (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 428.1360) καταυόδιος Assizes B 298.22 βγοδώνει Alex. Rim. 762; νὰ βγοδώσομε Apoll. Rim. A 921

3.5.2.3 Anaptyxis of /y/ before /n/

/y/ also appears before /n/+ front vowel, with great frequency in specific lexical items (KRETSCHMER 1905: 171–4; PERNOT 1907/46: I 526; SCHWYZER 1933/34).

χρυσογνημάτην [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1879 < νήμα ἔγνοιόζομαι Dig. E 50 < ἔννοια τὰ σύγνοφα Pol. Tr. 1246 app. crit. (X); τὰ σύγνεφα ibid. 1266 app. crit. (B); τὰ σύγνεφα Diig.
Alex. E 237.3 (Lolos); σύγνεφα Peri xen. 131 app. crit. (A) < σύννεφον συγνεφιά DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 177 συγνεφιάσω Pent. Gen. 8.14 εἰς τὰ γνέφη KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 157.15; τὰ γνέφη Prol. Epain. Kef. 39 < νέφος ἔγνεπεν Pent. Gen. 4.4; γνέφει P&N Diath. 921; νὰ τόνε γνέψω Alex. Rim. 2006 νὰν τοὺς τυραγνήσουν Diig. Alex. F 240.10 (Lolos); νὰ τουραγνιέται MONTSEL., Evgena 953; ἐτυραγνεύσασι EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 20.13–14
 τυραγνιά Theseid I.95,3 (Follieri) ἀγνάδια Chron. Toc. 2535; ἐγνάτια (1627, Dimitsana/Peloponnese, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 13, 311.7) < ἐνάντια

Because all of these words appear in this form in MG and its dialects, there can be no doubt that in some cases at least the spelling <γν> already represented the realization [ɣn]. An additional indication comes from spellings in the Latin alphabet with double <ggn>, where the first <g> presumably denotes the sound [ɣ] and the <gn> the palatal nasal [ɲ]. Examples: i eggnia / ἡ ἔγνοια Thysia Avr. 593 transcr. M; τὴν ἔγγνιατζη / τὴν ἔγνοια τση TROILOS, Rodol. I.462 (Walton).

It has been proposed that the phenomenon originates from dissimilation of /nn/ either word-internally (e.g. ἔννοια > ἔγνοια) or at word boundaries (e.g. τὸν νεύω > τὸν γνεύω) (SCHWYZER 1933/34: 222–4; KAPSOMENOS 1953b: 325; ANDRIOTIS, Lex. s.v. γ προθετικὸ σὲ λέξεις ποὺ ἄρχιζαν ἀπὸ ν), or that some cases of initial γν- are attributable to verbal forms with the prefix ἐκ- (e.g. ἐκνεύω > γνέφω, ἐκ-νήθω > γνέθω, CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 185, B 343; KRETSCHMER 1905: 173–4).⁸ An alternative explanation, proposed by MEYER (1889: 88), is that in most cases [ɣn] constitutes a “spelling pronunciation” of the grapheme <γν>, originally used to denote the palatalized [ɲ] realization of /n/ before /e i j/, following Italian scribal practices (see 3.8.2.3). Indeed, <gn> is frequently used in Greek texts written in the Latin alphabet, and the usage has been carried over to Greek-alphabet texts as well, in environments where it is obvious that the intended pronunciation is [ɲ] and not [ɣn]:

ἐκουρουγνιάστιν / ἐκουρουγνιάστην MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 100.31; ἰστιν κεριγνιαν / εἰς τὴν Κερύγνειαν ibid. 100.37 γιτόγνιαν / γειτογνιάν (1646, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 5, 15.9); σικαμινγνές / συκαμινγνές (ibid.
5, 15.13) νὰ τὸ κονσεγνάρου (1660, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 15, 379.5); νὰ ὀρδινγνάση (ibid.
380.20)
τὰ γνιάτα RODINOS, Vios Ign. 71.8
τὴν γνεόνυμφόν του Theseid II.2,1 (1529)

The earliest instance of this graphematic practice comes from S. Italian documents displaying transliteration of Italian names, e.g. Βονσιγνόρος (1273, TRINCHERA 1865: 486, 327.11).

3.5.2.4 Anaptyxis of Nasals

Medieval documents, continuing earlier practice (cf. the early examples in DIETERICH 1898: 94–5; MINAS ²2003: 62–3; MINAS 1987b: 274–6), frequently exhibit a non-etymological nasal before stops, fricatives and /s/, which is traditionally termed “irrational nasal” (BUTURAS 1913/14; ANDRIOTIS 1943; FAVIS 1948). The phenomenon involves both /m/ and /n/. The cause of the phenomenon is mostly the hypercorrection of nasal deletion before fricatives or voiced stops (3.6.2), or an analogical spread from forms which do contain a nasal (e.g. ἑβδομήκοντα > ἑβδομηκονστός); thus most cases have a non-phonetic origin. In other cases, the presence of a nasal before a voiceless stop is a means of indicating that voicing has taken place (see 3.8.3.2). Examples are abundant from all types of texts and all areas.

ἐπ’ ὄμψεσιν (1060–1, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 4, 60.38) ἀμφιερώ (1092, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 54, 71.3) ἡμπληκεύσασι Dig. G II.102 προσκυμνῶ (1487, Unknown, LEFORT 1981: 16, 87.19) ἐμπούλησαν (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 5, 24.4)

⁸ The form ἐκνεύ(γ)ω is actually attested: νὰ μὲ ἐκνεύγουν «γράφει!» Liv. E 1463.

κάνστρου (1346/7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 255.9) τοῦ κανσπελλίου (1464, Athos/Macedonia, KRAVARI 1991: 26, 174.10) τέγγνη Spaneas Z 170 app. crit.; νὰ ἀνπαντήσουν ibid. 328 app. crit. ἀνανδρομήν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 32 αὐξηνθέντων Spanos D 552 ἱστορήνθη (1201, Laconia, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 53, 310, no. 53.1) δίνδειν (1451, Athos, OIKONOMIDÈS 1968: 29, 160.9) δια μπαντήκι / διὰ μπαντίκι (1535, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 4, 120.19) < ἐμπατίκιν ἀνσθενής (17th c.?, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 186.7)

3.5.2.5 Anaptyxis of /r/

In isolated cases an intrusive /r/ may appear before or after another consonant, after the 15th c. in vernacular texts, but also in earlier learned Byzantine sources, e.g. κούρκουρον γέμον νομισμάτων Theophanes, Chronogr. 366.18 app. crit. < Lat. curcurus (see TRIANDAPHYLIDIS 1909: 68; KOUKOULES 1917: 90–1).⁹ A similar phenomenon was already attested in AG, as well as in Koine papyri, with examples such as πρατρίδι, χρηστρή, etc. (SCHWYZER 1939: 257; THREATTE 1980: 478–9), and it is also corroborated by MG dialectal data (KOUKOULES 1917; KAPSOMENOS 1939: 62 fn. 1; KONDOPOULOS 1969: 50–2), while a few words also survive in MG (e.g. κατρακυλῶ < κατακυλίω, μπουρδουκλώνω < πεδικλώνω, δρασκελῶ < διασκελίζω). The phenomenon should be attributed to sporadic processes such as assimilatory influence of a second /r/ in the word, analogy or folk etymology. Some instances may also be interpreted as mere slips of the pen.

ἄρκτρου (1053, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 40, 50.22) ἐπάνω ἐδρασκελεύσαμεν Liv. α 2918 < διασκελίζω τὸ κορβεῖτῃρι ἐσήκωσεν αὐτὸ τοῦ κρεββατίου Chron. Mor. P 7698 (κουβεῖτοῦρι H) ἄρχο{ρ}τες VOUSTR., Chron. M 213.12; κά{ρ}τεργα ibid. M 127.5 ἀναχαιντῶνουν τὰ μαλλιά KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1034 < χαίτη δηλοσκόρπησιν / δειλοσκόρπισιν Pist. voskos III 8.20 < δειλοσκόπιση στη ζέστραν Apoll. Rim. N 907 ἀσκολύμπρου ἀνθὸν κοπάνισον (15th c., OIKONOMU-AGORASTU 1982: 87.18) < σκόλυμος μάραθρον, μάραθον, μάλαθρον, τό GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. finocchio < μάραθον

3.6 Consonant Deletion

3.6.1 Fricative Deletion

Voiced fricatives are deleted (a) intervocalically and in initial position before a vowel (in effect this should also be viewed as an intervocalic position, since the preceding word usually ends in a vowel); and (b) before nasal consonants. For dissimilatory fricative deletion see 3.9.3.2.

⁹ The form κράβρα–κράβα adduced by PSALTES (1913: 84) from Cedrenus is not a true instance of the phenomenon, as the second /r/ is etymological (see LBG s.v. κράβρα and BEEKES 2010 s.v. κραῦρος).

3.6.1.1 Intervocalic Deletion

Deletion of intervocalic /y/ is a very frequent phenomenon in MedG and EMG texts, and constitutes an important areal/dialectal characteristic. On the other hand, deletion of intervocalic /v/ and /ð/ is restricted, both geographically and chronologically.

The phenomenon of intervocalic /y/ deletion must be further subdivided into the deletion of the palatal allophone [j], which is widespread in Crete, the Cyclades, the Heptanese, the Peloponnese, the North and Pontos (a distribution that corresponds to the modern one, cf. NEWTON 1972a: 73), and the deletion of the velar allophone [ɣ], which occurs almost exclusively in the South-Eastern areas, as a part of a phenomenon involving the whole class of voiced fricatives (see below). However, the loss of palatal [j] before front vowels spreads analogically in positions before back vowels as well, within verbal or nominal paradigms; thus, ὑπάγεις, ὑπάγει > πάεις, πάει bring about ὑπάγω > πάω (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 345–6; PERNOT 1907/46: I 526). It is therefore difficult to classify and interpret the very frequent cases of intervocalic /y/ deletion occurring in MedG and EMG texts, before both front and back vowels.

The dating of the phenomenon is also a confusing issue. Sporadic cases of <γ> deletion occur already in 4th-c. BC Attic inscriptions, mostly involving forms of the adjective ὀλίγος > ὀλίος, and in Ptolemaic and later papyri, involving cases of deletion before front vowels (DIETERICH 1898: 86–8; GIGNAC 1976: 71–2; THREATTE 1980: 440–1). These are usually interpreted as indications of an early change of stop /g/ to fricative /y/, and connected with the equally sporadic anaptyxis of <γ> between vowels (see 3.5.2.1). For the EMedG period, PSALTES (1913: 86) adduces the loanwords μαῖστωρ < magister and σαῖττα < sagitta, while DIETERICH (1898: 44) notes the 2 pl. antilete (< ἀντιλέγετε) from a glossary (Hermeneumata Monacensia, CGL 3.128.25). We may also compare the imperative ὕπα already found in early hagiographers such as Barsanuphius and Leontius of Neapolis (e.g. Life of John the Almsgiver 369.2, 385.11), as well as in Anna Comnena (Alexiad 2.4.9.15). Forms of the verb ὑπάγω appear frequently without <γ> in S. Italian documents (MINAS ²2003: 54). It seems that lenition of palatal [j] had already started in the period of the Koine, and this explains its wide geographical distribution. Especially frequent lexical items such as ὑπάγω are subject to the phenomenon irrespective of period, area or specific paradigm form. However, the unconditioned deletion of /y/ in all intervocalic environments and outside specific verbal paradigms is a more restricted phenomenon, localized mainly in the South-Eastern and the Cyclado-Cretan area. NEWTON (1972a: 62) notes that since synizesis does not apply to secondary hiatuses arising from voiced fricative deletion (e.g. λίγον > λίον not *λιόν), this deletion must post-date the phenomenon of synizesis (for which see 2.9.4).

In the texts examined, Cyprus shows the most extensive range of deletion environments, followed by Crete and the Cyclades. The Heptanese shows deletion before front vowels and some analogical extensions, while northern mainland areas have deletion only before front vowels (see also TSOUKNIDAS 2002/03: 106 for 18th-c. attestations from Metsovo), and in other areas the phenomenon involves only common lexical items such as ὑπάγω and τρώγω. The frequent appearance of the form λίος in the Chronicle of Morea (see AERTS/HOKWERDA 2002 s.v. λίος) is puzzling, since this word does not show deletion in areas other than Cyprus (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ολίγος). Examples classified by geographical area:

S. Italy

- ὑπάει (1056, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 6, 164.11)
- ὑπάει (1124, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 95, 124.13)
- ὑπάει εἰς τὸν Κουκκιάτον (1179, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 50, 217.9)
- θυάτηρ (11th c., S. Italy, NITTI DI VITO 1900: 46, 92.2)

Cyprus, Dodecanese, Chios

- equit innecam / ἔχει ὕνναϊκαν (12th c., Cyprus?, AERTS 1995: 2, 205.2); eblouis em, despota / εὐλόησέ με<ε>, δέσποτα (ibid. 2, 208.1)
- ῥουν Assizes B 305.11 < ῥγουν
- is tin Odiitrian / εἰς τὴν Ὀδηήτριαν (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 71, f.Iv.2)
- ο ρίας / ὁ ρῆας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 109.15 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari); κατειόρυσιν / κατηορήσειν ibid. 202.50
- μανιόρδοι LIMEN., Than. Rod. 46 < Ital. manigoldo
- σουουργιάσην / σιουριάσειν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 214.8 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) < σιγουριάζω
- εὐλουσω / εὐλόησο (1609, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 6, 21.3)
- ο Διενις / ὁ Διενῆς (1665, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 7, 19.9)
- πρωτόερος (1686, Tilos, KOUTELAKIS 1979: 13, 45.11) < πρωτόγερος
- τὸ εροντομοίρι (1722?, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 481.12) < γεροντομοίρι

Crete and Cyclades

- νὰ πηαίνουσιν (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 7, 35.24)
- νὰ πηαίνομε Thysia Avr. 263
- μιᾶς λοῆς FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 57
- λόο (1533, Naxos, MILIARAKIS 1888: 58.5)
- ἡ ἄλληλοῖα (1587, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 147, 271.21)
- λοῖσμος (1590, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 42, 64.8)
- λαήνια (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 79.22)
- τέτοιας λοῆς (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 148.53)
- νὰ δῶ καὶ ἐὼ φτωχός (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.25)
- ἡ θυατέρα του (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 13, 316.4)
- τοῦ Αἰγαίου πελάου (1655, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: 122.2)
- τρασπούλα (1661, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1974/78: 4, 423.8)
- τὸ Τζιρίο (1720, Folegandros, GAVALAS 1887: 513.7) < Τσιρίγιο

Heptanese

- μοῦ τὸ ἐμολόησε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.1)
- πὲρ γρέο (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 25, 35.9)
- λοῆς (1617, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970b: 3, 230.7)
- ὁμολόησε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 13, 38.4); λεόμενο (ibid. 21, 44.8)
- νὰ πηαίνω MONTSEL., Evgena 31

Northern and Pontos

- διωτι ηρεψετε / διότι ὕρέψετε (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 168.5)
- να ειπιενι / νὰ ὑπηαίνει (1594, Ioannina, MERTZIOS 1936b: 5, 43.7)
- βαένι (1654, Kastoria, Drakopoulou 2005: 19, 36.5) < βαγένι
- Τρυπητήν (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 303, f.Ir.20)
- νὰ ἐπνίκηεν (1696, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 17, 217.6)
- Πανάος (1708, Naupaktia, CHARALAMBOPOULOS 1988/89: 1, 521.2) < Παναγιώτης

Peloponnese

λίον Chron. Mor. H 1471

νὰ ὑπάτη Chron. Mor. P 2496

Uncertain

νὰ πάω Dig. E 375

νὰ ὑπάτη νὰ δῆ Pol. Tr. 597 app. crit. (A) πήσινε (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 60.13)

λαούς Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1095

νὰ τόνε φυλάουσι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 51.25–6

The other two voiced fricatives, /v/ and /ð/, exhibit deletion only in the Dodecanese, Chios and Cyprus, from the 17th c. onwards,¹⁰ although there are a couple of early examples in Machairas (DAWKINS 1932: II 34) and one in Assizes. PERNOT (PERNOT 1907/46: I 448–9) locates a single instance of intervocalic /ð/ deletion in a 15th-c. document from Chios, but is reluctant to attribute it to this phenomenon, due to its early date: εἰς τὴν καμινὰν τοῦ αὐτοῦ ὀσπιτίου (1402, Chios, FOTEINOS 1865: 189.8) < Ven. caminada = “parlour with fireplace”.

τὴν ἀρνάν σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 220.33 < ἀρνάδα, or perhaps conflation with ἀμνάς μίαν μεγάλην σανία MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 82.15 < σανίδα περὶ δύο μπουργέζων Assizes A 108.28 ἄρσάτο Velis. ρ 674 app. crit. < ἀρχιδάτος (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.)

ποσῶς κονάκ' ἐν ἡκαμνεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 960 < δὲν < οὐδὲν; ὅτ' ἐν εἴμαι ibid. 2492

σπαχῆς (1694, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 32, 79.2) < σπαχήδες < Turk. spahi μουσαβερές που κάνουν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 8503 < μουσαβερέδες ἐπεαλώθη (1689, Rhodes, PAPACHRISTODOULOU 1976: 41, 21.1)¹¹ τὴν περιολὴν (1722?, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 481.16) στὴ σιεροστιὰ (1702, Chios, KAVVADAS 1970: 123.)

δίω το (1722, Tilos, KOUTELAKIS 1979: 21, 54.3)

The phenomenon of voiced fricative interchange (3.8.5.2), from the same areas and the same period, provides corroboration for this change, as it constitutes a hypercorrect restitution of the deleted fricative. The modern distribution of intervocalic voiced fricative deletion, which corresponds to the medieval one (DIETERICH 1908: 56–7; PANDELIDIS 1929: 31–2; TSOPANAKIS 1940: 86–7; NEWTON 1972a: 60–72; KONDOSPOULOS ³2001: 43), is an additional confirmation. Intervocalic voiced fricative deletion is also a feature of the Tsakonian dialect, attested in the 17th-c. word list preserved by Evliya Çelebi through the form ὕο < ὕδωρ (PERNOT 1934: 503).

The only example discussed in the literature of /ð/ deletion in Cypriot is the negation μέν, which has been interpreted as deriving from μηδέν (HADJIIOANNOU 1988: 204;

¹⁰ Tsopanakis has suggested that the deletion of intervocalic /v/ took place in the Hellenistic period, during the transition of /b/ to /v/ through an intermediate stage of a bilabial fricative /β/, and that the earliest attestations of the phenomenon are forms like Ὀκτάσιος found in papyri (TSOPANAKIS 1940: 87). In view of the complete absence of intermediate evidence between the Ptolemaic period and the 17th c. AD, this suggestion is unlikely.

¹¹ According to the editor, ἀπέβαλα > ἀπεβαλλώνομαι > πιαλλώνομαι.

SYMEONIDIS 2006: 188), e.g. να μεν απεξέυσει VOUSTR., Chron. A 16.7–8; διὰ να μὲν πᾶμεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 646.19; μὲν τοὺς δώσης Anak. Konst. 88. Given the fact that the phenomenon of intervocalic /ð/ deletion is otherwise not very common in Medieval Cypriot and other South-Eastern texts of the same period (see the examples adduced above) and that the form μὲν appears also in texts of non-South-Eastern provenance, e.g. μὲν ὑπᾶς, Achil. N 1567; να μεν τυχαίνει Theseid VI.12,7 (Olsen), it is preferable to interpret μὲν as simply μήν with lowering of /i/ to /e/ in the adjacency of a nasal (cf. also KECHAYOGLU 1997: 133* and see 2.8.1 for the phenomenon).

Similarly, the single example of /v/ deletion mentioned in the literature (HADJIOANNOU 1988: 208; SYMEONIDIS 2006: 188), ἀπό πᾶσα πρᾶμαν στερε(υ)ομένη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 216.13 is a phantom, since ms V most probably reads στερεμένη (as in the transcription of Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari 192.40). The deletion of /v/ in the word διάβολος (e.g. ὦ διάολ' ἔπαρέ σε FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.222; διάολος, παντίδος IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 367), normal in MG (cf. ILNE s.v.), is lexical, unconnected to this phenomenon, and otherwise rarely appears in MedG and EMG texts.

Another special case is the frequent Cretan form ψή < ψυχή, where, arguably, deletion of intervocalic [ç] takes place, followed by simplification of consecutive identical vowels, e.g. τὴν ψή ταλαιπωρᾶς Thysia Avr. 468; ἡ ψή νὰ ξεχωρίση FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.153; ὁ γὰρ τὴ ψή του (1660, Crete, VOUDOUMBAKIS 1915: 15, 377.11). It has been suggested that this, similarly to διάβολος > διάολος, should be viewed not as a purely phonetic phenomenon, but as a case of morphological taboo deformation (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 322). Nevertheless, a phonetic analysis viewing it as a case of dissimilatory syllable deletion (see 3.9.3.3), caused by the sequence [ps-ç], especially if the palatal velar had begun to assume the more fronted realization found in Modern Cretan, which brings it closer to a sibilant (see 3.8.2.3), is also possible.

3.6.1.2 Deletion Before Synizesis

A special phenomenon involving deletion of /ð/ irrespective of geographical provenance is the simplification of the consonant cluster [ðj] arising from synizesis (for which see 2.9.4). This affects mainly the word-initial cluster [ðj], as, for example, in the preposition and prefix διὰ. The phenomenon appears in the late 11th c., and the presence of the change depends largely on register.

- γιάκονου (1098, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 65, 83.5) γιὰ τὰ ὠραῖα τῆς κάλλη Dig. E 215 νὰ γιαγέρνουν (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 148.37) στόν γιαγερμόν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1814 γιὰτί νὰ ῥθοῦμε FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 33; γιὰτί δὲν θέλει Cypr. Canz. 98.17 γιὰ τοῦτον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.9
 ἡ καργιὰ τους (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 68.14)

The phenomenon can lead to hypercorrect spellings of “original” γιὰ- as διὰ-, as well as to the adaptation of loanwords starting with [ja] as διὰ-. Examples:

διαλίν Liv. E 2497 = γυαλίν < ὕαλος διατρός (1585, Mani, LAMBROS 1905: 398.1) = γιατρός < ἱατρός ὁ κυρ Διακομῆς Ἀμπράμος (1611, Crete, ΙΛΙΑΚΙΣ 2008: 126, 122.2) < Γιακουμῆς, Giacomo ἔδιαγουμίσετέ την Pol. Tr. 1369 app. crit. (A) < Turk. yağma (see ΚΡΙΑΡΑΣ, Lex. s.vv. διαγουμάς, διαγουμίζω and ILNE s.vv. διάγουμα, διαγουμίζω for further examples)

3.6.1.3 Deletion Before Nasals

The monophthongization of the AG diphthongs /au/ and /eu/ led to the creation of innovative consonant clusters in the case of a following syllable with consonantal onset. Clusters of fricative + nasal, namely the combinations /v/ + /m/, /ɣ/ + /m/, were subsequently simplified through deletion of the fricative, in a process that is more extensively attested in the period that concerns us than in MG.

απεδοκεντοπνεμα / ἀπῆδωκεν τὸ πνέμα (9th–10th c., Cappadocia, DE JERPHANION 1925/42: I 565) Ἀγίου Πνέματος (1096–1100, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 26, 122.18) πνεματικός (1501, Cyprus, MALTEZOU 1987: 2, 12.19); (1714, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 474.18) ἀπιγωρεμένου / ἀπηγορεμένου (1172, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 179, 234.13) ὁ ρεματισμός GLYKAS, Stichoi 265 διαφεντεμένος (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 239.440) κοράσια ἔμορφα Dig. E 234 app. crit. ψέματα τῶν ψεμάτων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.12 θαμάσματα μεγάλα Byz. Il. 108; τὸ θάμα Thysia Avr. 671 ἐγκεχαραμμένοι (1019, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 18, 19.24) τοῦ βαστάματος (1073, Constantinople?, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 50, 18.286) χάραμαν τετράγωνον (1333, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 15, 75.12) pramata / πράματα (1394, Crete, SANTSCHI 1976: 1597, 344.12); πράματα (1476, Cyprus, SAKKELION 1887b: 260.6); πράματα (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 83.3) στιμήν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1321 θανατοσφαμένην [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1441; σφαμμένος Dig. G I.227 μάλαμα Velth. 478; μαλαματένια Velis. χ 279 ἀποδιαλεμένοι Chron. Mor. H 3595; διαλεμένον TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 7 περιφραμένος κεφαλὴν Pol. Tr. app. crit. (AX); καλὰ φραμένον LANDOS, Geopon. 245.33–4 τὸ ἔλλαμα (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 53.20) ἔνι περιπλεμμένοι Alosis 707 ἐντυλίματα BERGADIS, Apok. A 456; τηλημένα / τυλιμένα (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 79.51) τὸν σφυμὸν αὐτοῦ Spanos A 482; τὸν σφυμὸν του Ptoch. IV 565 app. crit. (H) φράμα ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1864

DIETERICH (1898: 119) adduces a few papyrological examples of the 2nd c. AD, e.g. κεκαμμένους δακτύλους Pap.Rain. I. 170, and PSALTES (1913: 99) cites the form σημένα < segmenta from the De adm. imperio 6.8 (ed. Moravcsik–Jenkins), while an undated Byzantine inscription from Pamphylia contains the form <σιμμα> for σῆγμα (VAN BUREN 1908: 195–6), but there are no other similar early indications. The earliest examples in MedG come from 9th/10th-c. Cappadocian inscriptions. Because some MG South-Eastern dialects, as well as S. Italian, display gemination of the nasal in this environment (PANDELIDIS 1929: 47; PERNOT 1907/46: I 415–16; MINAS ²2003: 69), the phenomenon could be interpreted as a two-step evolution, involving first assimilation of the fricative to the following nasal, and then simplification of the geminate, i.e. /vm/ or /χm/ > /mm/ > /m/. The fact that Modern Cypriot and Rhodian do not present geminate consonants in this environment has been propounded as a counter-argument (CHATZIDAKIS 1901a: 157; MENARDOS 1969: 21; PANDELIDIS 1929: 33; TSOPANAKIS 1940: 117), although examples are mentioned in the literature. In the texts examined, documents from geminating dialects (Cyprus, Rhodes, S. Italy etc.) normally do not show gemination, with rare exceptions from S. Italy:

- διαφεντεμένος (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 239.440)
 έρμηγεμένη (1363, Cyprus, COUROPOU/GÉHIN 2001: 3, 157.26) τό ρέμαν τών νερών Assizes B 299.13; ένι φονεμένη ibid. 465.22 ψέματα τών ψεμάτων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.12 πνεματικός (1501, Cyprus, MALTEZOU 1987: 2, 12.19) τὰ μαντέματα τών μάντισσων (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 429.1380) έγκεχαρμένοι (1019, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 18, 19.24)

Very occasionally, hypercorrection leads to restoration of the “wrong” fricative before a nasal, e.g. πὰν πράύμα ὄν αφιέρωσεν ὁ πατηρ ημων / πᾶν πῤῥβμα ὄν αφιέρωσεν ὁ πατήρ ήμῶν (1116, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 80, 105.27); τα οφιλούμενα πράύματα / τὰ ὀφειλούμενα πῤῥβματα (1533, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 39, 80.5).

Standard manuals of AG phonology often claim that the realization of /g/ before the nasal /m/ was that of a velar nasal [ŋ], e.g. πῤῥγμα /prâ:gma/ → [prâ:ŋma] and adduce the MedG and MG forms exhibiting fricative deletion before nasals, e.g. πῤῥμα ['prama], as evidence (SCHWYZER 1939: 214–15; ALLEN ³1987: 33–7; SIHLER 1995: 207; WOODARD 2008: 16). In effect, in AG linguistics the phenomenon discussed here is not viewed as fricative deletion, but as nasal assimilation which took place before the fricativization of voiced stops. However, in view of the parallel existence in MedG of the deletion of the fricative /v/ before a nasal, this analysis is unnecessary and uneconomical. In any case, a phonetic realization [ŋm] in AG is not only phonetically unstable and therefore implausible, but is also supported by minimal evidence (cf. LEJEUNE 1972: 77–8; LUPAŞ 1972: 20–3).

3.6.2 Deletion of Nasals

3.6.2.1 Deletion Before Stops

Medieval documents frequently display spellings with a plain voiceless stop instead of the combination nasal + voiceless stop, i.e. <π> instead of expected <μπ> and <τ> instead of <ντ>; see LENDARI 2007: 103–4, especially fn. 13, for evidence from a wide variety of texts. This is especially frequent in the case of consonant clusters with a following liquid, i.e. <μπρ, μπλ, ντρ>, where presumably the adjacency of the liquid is sufficient to express voicing. This has led scholars to assume that it is possible to trace to this period the common phenomenon of nasal deletion before voiced stops, which constitutes one of the main isoglosses defining MG dialects (MIRAMBEL 1933; TRIANDAFYLIDIS 1938: 66, 80 map; NEWTON 1972a: 93–9). Unfortunately, because of the inconsistent spelling of medieval manuscripts, and the fact that standard orthography is unable to spell the sounds [b, d, g] without the nasal, it is not possible to determine whether the modern distribution corresponds to the medieval one.

Nasal deletion before stops is a phenomenon occurring sporadically already in AG, in low-register texts such as vase inscriptions, graffiti, curse tablets etc. These cases are usually interpreted as testifying to a process of nasal weakening in this position, although such an early deletion would eventually have yielded outcomes incompatible with the attested history of Greek, e.g. a word like δένδρον would have evolved as δέδρον > δέδρο not δέντρο (see MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 2006 for references and discussion). So the ancient data should perhaps be dissociated from the medieval evidence and be considered more a graphematic than a phonetic phenomenon. During the medieval period, however, when, in contrast to AG and the Koine, the post-nasal voicing of stops (3.8.3.2) and the fricativization of voiced stops has already taken place, it would be quite reasonable to take the spellings of plain <π> and <τ> as evidence of nasal deletion. A problem with this analysis is that the dialectal areas in which the phenomenon does not occur in the modern period, namely Cyprus and (parts of) the Dodecanese, which furthermore are areas that generally maintain /n/ in a variety of environments normally leading to deletion, quite frequently offer graphematic evidence of nasal deletion before stops.

Evidence for the phenomenon starts in the earliest (11th-c.) documents from Athos and S. Italy, and comes from both literary and non-literary texts from all areas.

μπ > π

ἐποδηζόμενος / ἐποδιζόμενος (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 125, 166.22)

ὡς ἡπορεῖς GLYKAS, Stichoi 189; ἡπόρεσε Chron. Mor. P 7650 app. crit. (P); ἱπορουμὲ / ἡπορουῖμε (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 79.12); εἰπορῶ / ἡπορῶ (1565, Prousa / Asia Minor, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.4) γαπρὸν, ἡγοῦν σώγαπρον (1514, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIDI 1998: 46, 55.4); γαπρούς (1618, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: V, 73.20)

λαπρῶς Poulol. 161 app. crit. (P); τὸ λαπρὸν Achil. O 30 ἐκλαπροτάτου (1654, Kastoria, Drakopoulou 2005: 5, 16.6–7); ἐκλαπρότατε (1659, Hydra, KARATHANASIS 1972/73: 239.1) ἐπροστεν Chron. Mor. P 2786 app. crit. (P); ἐπροστα (1612, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 1, 308.26–7) ἐτρέξαν κάποσοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 34.22; κάποσα BERGADIS, Apok. A 129

ἐκοπώθη Ptochol. P 211 app. crit. (P) ἀπέλια (1645, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 11, 26.7)

ντ > τ

εἰστατε (και)ρασais / ἴσταται κερασές (1018, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 24, 172.16)

τὸ περὲλθότα / τὸ περιελθότα (1052, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 10, 71.5)

κατέβα κύρι σύτεκνε (11th c., Mani, DRANDAKIS 1972/73: 2, 666.2–3) δέτρα (1433, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 29, f.35r.2) κωτὰ / κοτὰ Chron. Mor. P 1661 app. crit. (P) < κοντὰ σύτροφος Chron. Mor. P 182 app. crit. (P) ἐτροπῆς Liv. V 2012 app. crit.; ἐτροπὴν Poulol. 323 app. crit. (A) δὲν ἐτρέπεστε Epain. gyn. 590 app. crit.; ἐτρέπεται Om. Nokr. Vas. 81 app. crit.

ζοτανὸς / ζωτανὸς Chron. Toc. 3479 app. crit.

ἕνας σολτάδος (1513, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: (a), 222.5) ἐβδομηῖτα (1600, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: II, 70.7–8) εχωτα / ἔχοντα (1609, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 6, 21.3) < ἔχοντα ιτα ιχα εγω γινι / ἴτα εἴχα ἐγὼ γίνει (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.15) < ἴντα Κοστατης / Κωστατης (1631, Lesvos, KADAS 1988: 152, 352.4–5) πενηταρά (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 2, 27.6) προστά πατρεμένος (1663, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1993: 54, f.70v.2) γκ/γγ > κ ρουκέρι / Ρουκέρη (1117, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 1, 383.1) < Ρουγκέρη μέ τὸ φεκάριν ἔρχομαιν Achil. O 519 < φεγγάριν ἐκόλφιν Pol. Tr. 646 app. crit. (B) στροκυλὸν (1482 [later copy], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 109, 218.17–18) ἐναίκασαι μας / ἐνέκασέ μας (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 91.6) < ἐνέγκασε εἰ ἀτζήκανι / οἱ ἀτσίκανοι (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 220.25) < ἀτσίγγανοι τῷ συκενῶ (1600, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: II, 71.11–12) < συγγενῶ(ν) φράκοι λίμπεροι (1612, Mani / Peloponnese, LASKARIS 1957: 1, 307.24) λακάδι (1618, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: V, 72.8) < λαγκάδι τὸ Λακάδι (1671, Gortynia / Peloponnese, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 69, 318.6)

The phenomenon is also detectable through texts written in the Latin alphabet, which show the spellings <d> <g> instead of <mb> <nd> <ng>, so nasal deletion before stops is confirmed at least for Crete (VINCENT 1980: οα΄; BAKKER 1988/89: 278–9), e.g.:

cabosso / καμπόσο CHORTATSI, Erof. I.389 transcr. X (Legrand) acubisse / ἀκούμπησε Thysia Avr. 104 transcr. M sito sibathio / ζητῶ συμπάθειο (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 196.20) elabirisen / ἐλαμπήρισεν FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.254 app. crit. n' adimeugi / ν' ἀντιμεύγει CHORTATSI, Erof. I.380 transcr. X (Legrand); adidhichi / ἀντίδικη ibid. III.9
 madato / μοντάτο Thysia Avr. 2 transcr. M eghodas / ἔχοντας P&N Diath. 319 app. crit. tu afedi / τοῦ ἀφέντη (app. crit.) (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 795α, 692.4) tu parodos / τοῦ παρόντος (1653, Crete, PANOPOULOU 1991: 2, 428.1) gerodachi / γεροντάκι FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.105 transcr. se egastrothica / σὲ ἐγγαστρώθηκα BAROZZI, Letter 358.7 anagassi / ἀνάγκαση P&N Diath. 305 app. crit. paragiglia / παραγγελία Thysia Avr. 25 transcr. M ti fragichi / τὴ φράγκικη (1661, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 10, 103.25)

However, even Cretan texts in the Latin alphabet show variable realizations, and the spellings <mb> <nd> <ng> are often to be found. In the case of <ng> especially, the possibility of confusion with the sound [ɣ], which is also rendered graphematically through <g>, makes the notation of the nasal preferable.

ombros / ὀμπρὸς Thysia Avr. 855 transcr. M panda masi / πάντα μαζί BAROZZI, Letter 358.7 ossa liondari / ὡσὰ λιοντάρι CHORTATSI, Erof. I.594 transcr. X (Legrand) dhio che pendacossa / δύο καὶ πεντακόσα (1653, Crete, PANOPOULOU 1991: 2, 429.10) paracalondas / παρακαλώντας (1661, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 10, 103.11) apu ci angelous / ἀπού τοῖ ἀγγέλους (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 196.21)

For nasal deletion before stops at word boundaries see 3.7.2.2.

A different case of apparent nasal deletion before stops is constituted by the adaptation of loanwords containing the sounds [b d g]. In most areas, these are spelled as <μπ, ντ, γκ>, but spellings with a plain voiceless stop <π τ κ> indicating a non-prenasalized voiced realization are also possible (see e.g. TRIANDAPHYLIDIS 1909: 34–6; BAKKER 1988/89: 278 for Crete):

οὔκως / Οὔκος (1122, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 16, 413.10) < Οὔγγος Περνάρδος (1217, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 15, 91.14) < Μπερνάρδος τριπουτσέτα Chron. Mor. H 852 ἄλπιτροι (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 12, 29.1); ἄλπιτρος (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 33, 52.3) < Ital. albitro ὀπλιγεύεται (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 41, 52.14–15) τὴν ἄλλην κομοσιτάν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.30–1 Παρπαρίγο (1663, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 4, 414.7) < Μπαρμπαρίγο

In specific areas, namely Cyprus, the Dodecanese and Asia Minor, the spelling <π τ κ> for loanwords containing [b d g] should be taken as reflecting a devoiced realization [p t k], for which see 3.8.3.4.

παίκην / πέκην (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.3) τὸν Παρταλομέο (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 168.2) τοῦ πούπλικου νοταρίου (1523, Cyprus, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1894: III, 258.16) ρουπίνιν Cypri. Canz. 114.5 λύπερων / λίπερον (1574, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES 1996: 61.8) < Ital. libero τὸν ποστατζίπαση (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: f.2r. 401.78–9) Πογιατζή (1653, Kydonies, PATRINELIS 1993/94: 16.31)

3.6.2.2 Deletion Before Fricatives

LMedG and EMG texts from all areas testify to a common phenomenon, that of deletion of a nasal before a voiceless fricative. Dialectal evidence indicates that this is probably a complex evolution: the first step must have been total assimilation of the nasal to the following fricative, resulting in geminate voiceless fricatives, followed by degemination: [mf] > [ff] > [f], [nθ] > [θθ] > [θ] and [ŋx] > [xx] > [x] (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 161–3; NEWTON 1972a: 93–5; MINAS ²2003: 67–8). As deletion of nasals before fricatives is a diachronically common evolution (cf. BYBEE 2015: 36, e.g. Eng. five vs. Germ. fünf), an alternative analysis as direct deletion without intermediate assimilation/gemination is also possible (HORROCKS ²2010: 275). If assimilation is assumed, the first stage must have taken place in the Koine, immediately after the fricativization of the voiceless aspirates /p^h t^h k^h/ to /f θ x/ (although this is not reflected in the spelling), and is attested in MedG and EMG texts from geminating areas (see 3.4.2.4). The second step must have been reached during the phase of degemination, i.e. again in the late Koine. Spellings with deleted nasal appear already in Koine inscriptions and papyri, but some, if not all, may date from a time when <φ θ χ> were still stops (JANNARIS 1897: 95–6; DIETERICH 1898: 115–19; GIGNAC 1976: 117). On account of its early date, the phenomenon is very common in MedG and EMG texts, and is attested without geographical restrictions from the 11th c. onwards:

- συφώνου (1059, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 7, 168.33); τὸ παρὸν σύφωνο (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 25, 163.15–16) συφερ(ον) / συφέρον (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 33, 67.12); συφέρνει Liv. V 3560 συφορὰ Velis. χ 1 app. crit. (N) ὀφαλοῦ Velth. 406 μέφεσαι Dig. E 439; καταμέφεσαι Poulol. AZ 45 app. crit. (Z); μέφονται KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 345.7 ἀφοτέρως Chron. Toc. 528; ἐχαίρουντα ἀφότεροι Achil. O 602 τῶν τριῶν του νυφάδω (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 257, 355.12) πεθερὸν (1179, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 193, 254.9–10) γρόθον Pol. Tr. 549 app. crit. (X) πλιθάρια Chron. Mor. H 1402 ὅταν ἄθοῦσι τὰ φυτὰ Pol. Tr. 128 app. crit. (X); ν' ἄθοῦσι BERGADIS, Apok. A 90 ἄθος Chron. Mor. P 1112 στήν Κόριθο Chron. Mor. P 1444 ἐθερμάθηκα Dig. E 1181 τὴν ἐρημαθρωπῖαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 412 app. crit. κι ἄθρωπο Thysia Avr. 58; ἄθρώπους (1622, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: VI, 73.19) τὸν ξαθὸν Liv. V 484
 τὴν σύθεσιν Achil. O 299 εἰς τὴν Ζάκυθον (app. crit.) (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.IV, 90.3) τὴν ἐπιλαχάνουσαν (1051/1052, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 7, 61.7); ἐπιλαχάνον (1196, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 13, 87.2) τὴν ἀχόνην (1327–8, Peloponnese, VRANOUSI 1981: B, 27.12); τὴν ἀχόνη (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 13, 28.18) συχαρίκια Achil. N 479 ἐσύχισεν (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 302.64); συχυσμένοι KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 332.13

As a less regular phenomenon, resulting from the influence of high-register language, which leads to “unhistorical” consonant clusters (see 3.3.2), deletion of a nasal before a voiced fricative also occurs. The expected reflex of the AG sequence nasal + voiced stop [mb, nd] <μβ, νδ> is retention (non-fricativization) of the stop with variable deletion of the nasal before a voiced stop (see 3.6.2.1). However, a “learned” spelling pronunciation [mv, nð] was also current in MedG and EMG for higher-register lexical items or texts, as is still the case in MG. In these environments, the phenomenon of nasal deletion before fricatives, normally applicable only to voiceless fricatives, also comes into effect (see also PERNOT 1907/46: I 418–20). Spellings with a deleted nasal appear already in the Koine (DIETERICH 1898: 111–13), but in this case the most likely analysis is that these involve clusters of nasal + stop, an environment which, as discussed above, was conducive to nasal deletion since AG.

- γαβρός (1056, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 31, 80.58); γαυρὸς(ς) / γαβρός (14th c., Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 18B, 147.3) μεσιυρηάς / μεσηβρίας (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 130, 172.21); τὴν Μεσευρίαν / τὴν Μεσεβρίαν (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 85.5) συβίου (1265, Laconia, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 55, 312.3) τοῦ Νοεβρίου (13th c., Asia Minor?, DARROUZÈS 1964a: [7], 34.8) τοῦ δεκεβρίου μηνός (14th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 27, 2.1) ἐξεθαυρήθησαν / ἐξεθαβήθησαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 209 app. crit. (L) βέβρανον (1417, Crete, LAMBROS 1895: 1, 585.5) λαβάνουν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 18, 158.9) ἐσπούλευα DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1235; συμβουλὴν ἐποῖκεν Achil. O 226; καὶ ἔκαμεν συμβούλιον (1572, S. Italy, VIOLI 2006: 311.7–8) τῆς Μονεβασίας Chron. Tourk. Soult. 35.3 καὶ λοιπὰ δέδρη (1018, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 24, 172.16) ἐδιχθιῶνος (1201, Laconia, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 53, 310, no. 53.4) Σποδῶν (1288, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 227.7) < Σπονδαὶ ἀμπάρες συδεμένες Pol. Tr. 2943 app. crit. (A) ἄδρες Achil. O 326; ἄδρειωμένα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 39.23 ἀπιδοσφόδυλε Poulol. 236 app. crit. (E) πανέδοξη, φρόνιμη Diig. Alex. Sem. S 624 νὰ συδράμης (1503, Constantinople, YANNOPOULOS 1974: 133.42) συδρομή (1696, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 4 [Δ'], 256.10) ὡς ἔναι ἐπάνω ἐγράφως (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 13.16–17)

3.7 Final Consonants

The only two permissible final consonants in LMedG and EMG are /n/ and /s/ (see 3.3.1). Both are subject to addition and deletion, under the influence of phonological or morphological factors, such as a tendency for open syllables, coarticulation, analogical spread, or reformation of inflectional paradigms.

3.7.1 Final /s/

3.7.1.1 Deletion of Final /s/

This phenomenon appears consistently in two areas, Crete and Mani (both in the Peloponnese and in the Corsican Maniot colony). In the Cretan case, deletion of final /s/ is a type of dissimilation, normally occurring in two environments: (a) in words ending in /s/ when followed by a possessive clitic also ending in /s/, namely μας (though not τως), and (b) in words ending in /s/ when the following clitic pronoun starts with /ts/. The phenomenon is purely phonetic, affecting all endings with /s/, irrespective of part of speech, gender, number etc. (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 184, 368; BAKKER 1988/89: 284; HENRICH 1998b: 98–101; KONDOSOPOULOS ³2001: 37).

τοὺς ἀξαδέλφου μας (1524, E. Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 19, 60.5) τση φιλιὰ μας CHORTATIS, Panor. I.89; τσι γάμου μας ibid. V.368; οἱ καρδιέ μας id., Erof. I.174 τς ἄνδρε μας Pist. voskos II 1.169 adhelfoftumas / ὀδελοφφτού μας P&N Diath. 834 app. crit.
 οἱ κυροῦδε μας TROILOS, Rodol. I.129 τζᾶδρεφίμο τζι ἐλένης / τσ' ὀδρεφῆ μο τσῆ Ἑλένης (1655, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 14, 374.17)

ο λογισμός τη CHORTATSI, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 65 πό τζι χροστί / πώ τη χρωστεϊ (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 92, 108.13); ό γαμπρό τζι / ό γαμπρό τη (1604, ibid. 273, 264.3) ό δικότζη / ό δικό τη TROILOS, Rodol. III.373 (Walton) (Aposkiti: δικός τη) ό μισέροτζη / ό μισέρο τη (1664, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 18, 387.3); να παγιότζηκαλογρας / νά πάγη ώ τη κάλογρᾶς (1678, ibid. 28, 403.8)

One must distinguish this phenomenon from apparent cases of /s/ deletion which might be morphologically driven, i.e. attributable to an analogical suffix change rather than to dissimilatory loss. For example, neuter nouns in -ος (γένος, δάσος etc.) tend to transfer to the O-stem declension, presenting inflectional forms with apparent loss of final /s/ such as γένο, δάσο, πέλαγο etc. (see II, 2.23). So, cases like τὸ γένο μας TROILOS, Rodol. II.258 could be interpreted both as a phonetic deletion of /s/ (before μας) and as morphological metaplasm of a “3rd-declension” noun.

In the case of Mani, the phenomenon of final /s/ deletion takes a more extensive form. It affects, as in the case of Crete, all endings with final /s/, but in a wider variety of contexts which have not yet been described in detail: normally before consonants and at phrase and clause end, but in other contexts as well, frequently involving dissimilation due to a following /s/. Evidence is available for both Peloponnesian and Corsican Maniot since the 16th c. (MIRAMBEL 1929: 170; BASEA-BEZANDAKOU 2005: 285; NICHOLAS 2011):

ἐμι<ς> ει δούλη σου / ἐμεῖ<ς> οἱ δοῦλοι σου (1571, Mani, CHASIOTIS 1970: 6.1, 242.32) οἱ παῖδε<ς> τῶν παίδων αὐτοῦ (1600, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: II, 70.10) Στρατήγη Τριβόλης (1609, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: III, 71.3–4) εἰςὲ καλοῦ<ς> ἀνθρώπους (1611, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: IV, 72.21–2) ό Μιχάλη ό Τρουπά[κης] (1622, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: VI, 73.12) ἐγὼ Παναγιώτη· καὶ ... (1679, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: XIII, 76.12) τ' ἄτρό μου (1680, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: XIV, 77.4–5) ό αὐτὸς κυβερνίστη τους (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 310.28) ἐνορίτη τῆς ἐκκλησίας (1693, Corsica, VAYAKAKOS 1978: 123, entry 5)

Deletion of final /s/ is very occasionally attested in the Peloponnese outside Mani. It is also recorded in a 16th-c. document from Pontos and in the Athos Gesprächbuch, which shows several Pontic characteristics (TZITZILIS 1999: 88). The phenomenon is corroborated by Modern Pontic; however, it is usually interpreted not as deletion of final /s/, but as morphosyntactic replacement of /s/ by /n/ in the nom. sg. of masc. nouns (see II, 1.4), followed by final /n/ deletion (OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 157; PAPADOPOULOS 1955: 30). Other areas which in the modern period display the phenomenon (list of areas and examples in TRIANDAFYLIDIS 1926: 304–6) show no traces in MedG or EMG.

ό Παποῦμας) / ό παππού μας (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 450.14) αὐτὸς ό ἄνδρα της (1506, Trebizond, PRINZING 2000: 2, 304.5) λέοντα<ς> (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 940); καρπό<ς> (ibid. 977); μύλο<ς> (ibid. 1033)

MINAS (2003: 70) adduces several examples of final /s/ deletion in MedG documents from S. Italy. This spelling probably reflects total assimilation of final /s/ to the following initial consonant, i.e. a geminate pronunciation of the initial consonant, as is regular in the modern dialects of S. Italy (KARANASTASIS 1997: 44–5). However, the status of most of these examples is dubious, as they could be due to either editorial or scribal omissions.¹² ψυχικῇ μου σωτηρίας (1139, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 120, 160.17) νυκτὸ καὶ ἡμέρας (1094, Sicily, SPATA 1862: 3, 179.7); διατρίβοντό μου (1101, ibid. 5, 191.9–10)

A different issue is the dialect-independent final /s/ deletion in the masc. nom. sg. and fem. gen. sg. of certain frequent noun + proper name collocations, with nouns denoting rank, status, age etc., such as γέρο-, παπα-, κυρα-. This is not a phonological but a morphological development, as an initially independent nominal element behaves like the first member of a compound (see II, 2.18 for details):

ὁ πρηγγηπαντζε-φρώαι / ὁ πρίγκιπα Ντζεφρόε Chron. Mor. P 2621 ὁ γέρο μισίρ Νικόλαος Chron. Mor. H 8616 ο γέρο πνευματικός / ὁ γέρο πνεματικός (1664, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 31, 36.7–8) ὁ παπα κυρ Σίδερης PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §2 1–2 τῆς θηγατέρος της τῆς κυράτζα Λάγουρας (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 13, 27.6) τις λεγουμενίς της κυρα Πατολίνας / τῆς λεγούμενης τῆς κυρα Πατολίνας (1577, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 21, 155.5–6)

3.7.1.2 Addition of Final /s/

Addition of a final /s/ is common in adverbs (see II, 4.1), as well as in some conjunctions, prepositions and uninflected pronouns, and is usually interpreted as an analogically driven phenomenon on the basis of lexical items which bear an etymological final /s/ (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 53; CHATZIDAKIS 1909/10). The same phenomenon is probably responsible for the addition of final /s/ in the active present participle (see MANOLESSOU 2005; but also III, 4.7). The earliest instantiation of the phenomenon is the addition of final /s/ to the adverbs οὔτω–οὔτως, πολλάκι–πολλάκις and the prepositions ἄχρι–ἄχρις, μέχρι–μέχρις, ἀμφι–ἀμφίς already in AG (SCHWYZER 1939: 404–5). Such examples of “movable -s” seem to multiply in the non-literary papyri (GIGNAC 1976: 126–9).

In the texts examined, the phenomenon is attested since the 11th c., in documents from S. Italy (cf. also MINAS ²2003: 160), and does not seem to be geographically restricted. However, Cretan texts are especially rich in attestations, and it does constitute a characteristic feature of the modern Cretan dialect (see KONDOSOPOULOS 1969: 51–4 and KAFKALAS 1995: 82–4 for details and distribution).

καθότις (1052, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 10, 71.5) διότις (1226, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 274, 376.19); δι' ὅτις / διότις (1612, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 1, 307.10)

¹² The examples in the documents edited by Spata do not show /s/ deletion in the edition of CUSA 1868/82 (pp. 389 and 394 respectively). However, in several instances Spata comments specifically on the absence of /s/ in the ms.

ἀντικρυς τοῦ ὀπισκοπέου (1138, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 119, 158.10); ἀντικρυς Achil. N 707 ἀντὶς Ptoch. IV 259 app. crit. (KP); ἀντὶς μου Liv. S 2634; ἀντὶς νερόν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 549 τίποτες νὰ μὴ λείπη Pol. Tr. 134 app. crit. (X); τίποτες (1618, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 33, 114.6) ποτές Poulol. 239 app. crit. (E); ὁ ποτές της παππούς (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 85, 65.10) τότες Assizes B 273.23; τότες BERGADIS, Apok. V 325 ἐγλήγορας (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 84.13) διατὶς ὁ κύρ βοιβόντας (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 92, 84.7) ὀψές ἀργὰς Thysia Avr. 419

The appearance of final /s/ instead of etymological final /n/ shows that addition of final /s/ is an ongoing phenomenon, active throughout the period under investigation, e.g. ἔμπροστες (1632, Crete, DETORAKIS 1994: 2, 129.6); ἀπὸ μικρόθες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §30.121.

In some nominal inflectional paradigms, a non-etymological final /s/ appears in certain case-forms. This is not a phonetic phenomenon, but a morphological one, i.e. the result of transfer to a different inflectional class. Instances include the nom. and acc. sg. of neuter nouns in /o/ (e.g. τὸ μέτρο → τὸ μέτρος, see II, 2.19.3) and in /a/ (τὸ αἶμα → τὸ αἶμας, see II, 2.21), the gen. sg. of feminine nouns in /o/ (e.g. ἡ Ρόδος, τῆς Ρόδου → ἡ Ρόδο, τῆς Ρόδος, see II, 2.1) and, rarely, the nom. sg. of fem. nouns in /i/ (ἡ Κρήτη → ἡ Κρήτης, ἡ τύχη → ἡ τύχης, see II, 2.12.2 and GEORGACAS 1951: 220–1).

3.7.2 Final /n/

The status of final /n/ is perhaps the most complex issue in MedG phonology. A strong tendency for analogical extension of final /n/, followed by an equally strong, both phonetically and morphologically driven, tendency for final /n/ deletion, were both under way long before the LMedG period. Therefore, the picture presented by LMedG texts cannot be considered as truly representative of language variation or change in progress, but is instead a long-term phenomenon influenced by sociolinguistic and stylistic factors. In fact final /n/ should be viewed under at least four guises:

- a) as a formant of inflectional suffixes, subject to phonological and/or morphological pressure, which may differ by area or period;
- b) as a synchronically stable euphonic or metrical device, devoid of morphological function and independent of etymology. In effect, it functions as an “euphonic”, “floating” or “latent” consonant (see CRYSTAL 2008 s.vv.). The term applies to phonetic features, usually final consonants, which lack a fixed realization and are pronounced only under certain circumstances, such as liaison in French;
- c) as a purely graphematic device for denoting voicing of the following stop consonant (see 3.8.3.2);
- d) as an orthographic marker of higher register, dependent on etymology only so far as the educational level of the writer allows.

The picture is further complicated by the nature of the graphematic evidence, which hinders access to phonetic realization. Manuscript sources, both literary and non-literary, frequently employ standard abbreviations of inflectional suffixes containing final -v, something which renders any consideration of “actual” pronunciation pointless. Furthermore, the manuscript tradition is very variable in the notation of final -v, displaying, in several cases, a haphazard distribution unaffected by the phonetic environment, but which in general, except for texts with clear dialectal colouring, is conservative and avoids omission. Editorial practice, at least in literary texts, in the face of this apparent “indifference and confusion” (PAPATHOMOPOULOS/JEFFREYS 1996: cxxxi–cxxxii; cf. also SCHMITT 1904: xxv) has largely been that of normalization according to metrical needs, without mention in the apparatus criticus; in many cases it is therefore impossible to establish the actual contemporary picture unless one goes back to the manuscripts on which editions are based. In other cases, such editorial interventions are noted (e.g. ALEXIOU 1985: λά'; SMITH 1990: 10; MANOUSAKAS 1995: 11; LENDARI 2007: 131) but the retrieval of the original status of the text remains a painstaking enterprise.

Apart from graphematic issues, diachronic linguistic considerations add to the complexity of the phenomenon. Firstly, owing to the opposing tendencies of addition and deletion, it is in many cases difficult, from a MedG and EMG point of view, to interpret the absence of final /n/ as deletion as opposed to simply non-development of an innovative analogical final /n/ (e.g. in paradigms like πρᾶγμα-ν, βαθύ-ν); this is especially problematic in the case of non-addition of an “optional” final /n/ (e.g. γράφουσι(ν)). In such cases it is best to consider final /n/ as a synchronically variable option depending on the environment. And most importantly, the status of final /n/ cannot have been identical throughout the MedG and EMG periods: there are bound to have existed diachronic and diatopic differences, evident in the modern dialectal distribution but frequently not detectable in the sources, even those of the same geographical provenance.

3.7.2.1 Addition of Final /n/

3.7.2.1.1 Historical Overview

The phenomenon of final /n/ addition takes a variety of forms, some of which appear before the period under investigation and are therefore not treated here in detail. It is usually attributable to the influence of analogical forces, but phonetic factors (hiatus resolution, voicing) may also play a part, and in several cases more than one factor may be involved, each reinforcing the other. The overall evolution may be viewed as follows: at a first stage, which was already completed before the medieval period, a final /n/ which was only optional/euphonic (ἑφελκυστικόν) becomes a fixed part of an inflectional suffix (e.g. the final /n/ occurring in the 3 pl. pres. active and the 3 sg. imperf. and aor. active of barytone verbs). At the same time, a final /n/ which formed part of common inflectional suffixes spreads analogically to the corresponding slot in other, less common and less stable inflectional paradigms (e.g. the final /n/ occurring in the acc. sg. of 1st- and 2nd-declension masc. and fem. nouns and adjectives spreads to the 3rd declension). At a second stage, due to its generalization, final /n/ becomes the marker par excellence of certain nominal and verbal inflectional forms, irrespective of origin. This stage should be placed in the EMedG period, and any dialectal differentiation post-dates this development. At a third stage, as the phonetic tendency for final /n/ deletion sets in (see below), the additional factor of hypercorrection (false restoration in analogically non-justifiable morphological environments) comes into play, further increasing and diversifying the environments where final /n/ may appear.

Ultimately, as final /n/ is disconnected from its inflectional origins and the initial phonetic or morphological motivation behind its addition or deletion in each morphological slot is obscured, it acquires a new function: it is reanalysed as an optional phonetic element, a “floating consonant”, liable to appear anywhere, serving as a means of hiatus resolution in the case of following words beginning with a vowel within syntactic phrases. In the LMedG and EMG periods, final /n/ should be considered as a feature under stable synchronic variation, conditioned mostly by extra-linguistic factors such as register of the text and level of education of the writer, as well as by the phonetic environment. This in contrast to the previous periods, when the variation in the attestation of final /n/ can be better understood as part of a gradual diachronic process of phonetic or morphological change (diachronic addition/deletion as opposed to synchronic manifestation/non-manifestation). Addition of final /n/ may therefore be further subdivided into (a) analogical addition and (b) purely phonetic addition.

3.7.2.1.2 Morphological Addition

The following analogical processes are in operation:

a) Fixation of final /n/ in (mostly verbal) inflectional suffixes ending in /e/ and /i/, where in AG it was only optional/euphonic (traditionally termed “-ν ἐφελκυστικόν”), so that it appears irrespective of phonetic environment, i.e. also before a consonant and at the end of a phrase. This development dates to the AG period (JANNARIS 1897: 100, GIGNAC 1976: 114, THREATTE 1980: 640–3). It involves the following inflectional suffixes: the 3 pl. active -ουσι(ν), -ασι(ν) and the 3 sg. imperf. and aor. active barytone -ε (e.g. ἔγραφε-ν, ἔγραψε-ν). The appearance of -ν ἐφελκυστικόν in the dat. pl. of nominal paradigms following the 3rd declension (e.g. τοῖς ἥρωσιν, τοῖς βέλεσιν) is of no interest for a grammatical description of LMedG and EMG, as it concerns an archaic/residual case-form. Examples (see also III, 4):

ἵνα ἔχουσιν (1015, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 15, 16.5) ὀρώσιν καὶ τὰ σκύβαλα Ptoch. IV 566 νὰ ποιοῦσιν μαλακίαν Diig. Alex. F 29.16 κρένοσιν, συνιβάζουσιν καὶ ἀποφασίζουσιν (1594, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 1, 172.30) καθὼς ἐχαλάσασιν καὶ τοὺς Θεσσαλονικαίους (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.16) ἐλάλησέν με ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31, 810.27

ἐχάωσεν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 67.79) ἐφυσήσεν τοὺς ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 34.25 ὀλους ἐρίπτειν κάτω ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua VII.342

After the development of the “uncontracted” inflection for oxytone verbs (see III, 2.1.2.2 and III, 4.3.2), which led to the creation of a 3 sg. active suffix identical to that of the barytone verbs (ἐκράτει > ἐκράτειε), the same additional final /n/ appears in this inflectional slot as well (ἐκράτειε > ἐκράτειε-ν), and is to be found also in cases where the semi-vocalic element of the suffix is lost (ἐκράτειε-ν > ἐκράτε-ν).

μῆλον χρυσὸν ἐκράτειεν Liv. V 426 ἐφίλειεν τὴν ἐδικήν του κόρην Achil. L 1120 ἐπαρκαάλειέν τον Vios Aisop. I 248.31 ἐκράτεν (1184, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 220, 289.1) ἐχρῶστέν του τα Assizes B 335.25 τότες ἐλάλεν του ὁ παπᾶς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 12.11 καὶ περιπάτεν ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. I §22.21

In the case of areas where final /n/ is especially subject to deletion, such as Crete and the Cyclades, the appearance of a final /n/ of this type before a voiceless consonant is merely a graphematic indication of voicing of the initial consonant of the following word (see below):

λέγουσίν τως MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 146 ἀπομένουσίν του κ' ἐκεινοῦ (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 180.28) egnorisasidine / ἐγνωρίσασί ν-τηνε FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.2 transcr. (Vincent)

b) Analogical extension of final /n/ to (mainly nominal) inflectional suffixes ending in a vowel, on the basis of other, equivalent, but more common and more transparent inflectional suffixes containing etymological final /n/. Thus, a non-etymological final /n/ appears, already in AG, in the acc. sg. of masc. and fem. nouns and adjectives of the “3rd declension” on the analogy of the more frequent and regular first and second declension, e.g. χώραν, στρατιώτην, λόγον → ἐλπίδαν, βασιλέαν, Σοφοκλῆν (JANNARIS 1897: 541–3; DIETERICH 1898: 158–60; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 4–5; GIGNAC 1981: 45–6; HORROCKS 2010: 121). By the LMedG period, the reformation of the old 3rd declension was complete, so such instances of addition are of little historical interest: in low-register texts, they merely indicate that the items in question are inflected according to the innovative MedG pattern, and in high-register texts they only bear witness to the writer’s incapacity to master AG inflection due to the interference of his native idiom. Examples (see also II, 2.2, 2.4 and 2.11.2):

τὸν τέρμοναν (1140–1, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 15, 106.9) τὸν γέρονταν ἐλάλει Dig. E 687 (Jeffreys) μαῦρος πολλὰ ὡς κόρακαν Liv. V 2475 τὸν εἰρημένον ἄρχοντάν μας (1428, Lefkada, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90: III 12, 253.20); ἐκεῖνον τὸν γονέαν GLYKAS, Stichoi 208 ὄρισεν τὸν Κεραμέαν (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.32) ἀπὸ τὸν βασιλέαν Chron. Mor. H 8715 τὴν αὐτοῦ γυναῖκα (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 27.215) ἀνέβαινε τὴν νύκταν (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 77, 58.1) τὴν μελετηθεῖσαν προίκαν (1693, Corfu, TSITSAS 1978/79: [2], 210.185–6)

Another typical instantiation of this development is the analogical extension of final /n/ to the neut. nom. and acc. sg. of pronouns, which in AG ended in /o/ (< IE *-od), such as αὐτό, τοῦτο, τοιοῦτο, ἄλλο, ὅ, a phenomenon which again is quite common already in the Koine (GIGNAC 1981: 174–7). Examples (see also II, 5.5, 5.9.1.4 and 5.10.1):

αὐτὸν τὸ χωράφιον (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 130, 172.12) καὶ αὐτὸν τὸ θέλημά [σου] Spaneas V 32 τὸ δένδρον ἐκείνον (1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 5, 618.30) τὸ μέμψιμον ἐκείνον Pol. Tr. 12806 καὶ τοῦτον σοῦ θυμίζω (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 38.9) ἐτοῦτον πούλησέ το (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1119) κι ἀπείτις καὶ τὸ χάρισμα ἐτοῦτον ἀπαρνήθης KORNAROS, Erot. I.1181 πάλιν ἄλλον ἔγγραφον (1144, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 85, 32.39) καὶ τ' ἄλλον τότε τοῦ λαοῦ οὐκ εἶδαμεν τί ἐγένη BERGADIS, Apok. V 365 τὸ ὄν ἐστὶ πλησίον Θεοδώρου τοῦ Κριάτου (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 129, 170.11) τὸ ἡμέτερον χωράφιον, ὄν κτώμεθα (1145, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: App.6, 660.2)

A further evolutionary step in this direction is the spread of final /n/ to old “3rd-declension” neuters, namely the neut. nom. and acc. sg. of neuter nouns in -μα (πρᾶγμα → πρᾶγμαν), and of adjectives ending in -ύ, e.g. βαθύ → βαθύν (JANNARIS 1897: 543; PSALTES 1913: 83, 155; GIGNAC 1981: 128; see also II, 2.21 and 3.3.1). This development appears well-established in lower-register texts, without geographical restrictions, already from the start of the LMedG period, but earlier attestations are scarce, and it is absent from Koine and Byzantine papyri. However, it must be noted that nouns in -μα present addition of final /n/ already in the ancient Cypriot dialect (e.g. ma-na-ma-ne, sa-ma-ne = μᾶμαν, σᾶμαν, Attic μνημα, σῆμα, EGETMEYER 2010: 402). Although Medieval and Modern Cypriot is not descended from ancient Cypriot but, like all other MG dialects, from the Koine, it cannot be ruled out that the ancient dialect, before its extinction, exercised some influence on the local form of the Koine. Ancient Cypriot was also ahead of the Koine in the development of an analogical final /n/ in the masc./fem. acc. sg. as well as in the development of an euphonic final /n/ in lexical items such as ἐγώ > ἐγών, τάδε > τάδεν (PANAYOTOU 2007: 422).

As in the previous cases, extension of final /n/ in the neuter suffixes -μαν and -ύν is due to the reinterpretation of final /n/ as the marker par excellence of neuter gender, in conformity to the much more regular and frequent inflectional pattern of neuter nouns in -ον and -ιν and adjectives in -ος. From the 15th c. onwards, addition of final /n/ appears also in the neuter indefinite pronoun/article (ἐνα > ἐναν). Examples (see also II, 2.21, II, 3.3.1 and II, 5.8.5):

εἰς τὸ θέμαν (1027, Sparta, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 43, 301.19) κεῖται ... βάσταγμαν λαρνακίου (1098–1103, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 48, 187.8) εἰς αὐτὸ τὸ κλείσμαν (1154–5, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 5, 79.6) ἀνάθεμαν τὰ γράμματα Ptoch. III 85 ἔ[χ]ει θέλημαν ἡ βασιλεία μου (14th c., Trebizond, GRÉGOIRE 1909: 2, 492.5) ὡς γοιὸν ἕναν μικρὸν πρᾶμαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 32.25 ὀξύν βουνὶν (1015, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 15, 15.32) τὸ δασύν ρυάκιν (1047, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 29, 260.83) κρασὶν γλυκὺν γανίτικον Ptoch. IV 332 Μακρὺν Ἀμπέλιν (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 45.222) ὀξίδιν δριμύν (15th c., OIKONOMU-AGORASTU 1982: 81.20) καὶ τὸ ἄλλο πλατύν (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 94.56) ὡσάν ἕναν πουλὶν εἰς τὸν κάμπον (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 11, 68.3) ἕναν καλὸν καράβι Pol. Tr. 107 app. crit. (V) ἕναν καμπαναρίον (1498, Corfu, KARYDIS 1999b: 2, 306.12)

In the pronominal domain, the addition of a final /n/ to the gen./acc. of the strong forms of personal pronouns (ἐμέ → ἐμέν, ἐσέ → ἐσέν) should again be attributed to over-characterization of the accusative through its by now typical marker, following the pattern of the 3 sg. pronoun αὐτόν, αὐτήν. The evolution is to be dated before the LMedG period (JANNARIS 1897: 543, GIGNAC 1976: 162–4, MINAS ²2003: 98). After the addition of final /a/ to the same pronoun (see 2.6.3.2), the process of final /n/ addition, on the analogy of the acc. sg., is repeated. The same process affects demonstrative pronouns extended through the addition of final /a/ in the acc. sg., from the 15th c. onwards, as well as in the indefinite pronoun τις–τινά > τινάν. Examples (see also II, 5.3.1, II, 5.5.1 and II, 5.8.1):

εἰς ἐμέν (1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 64, 209: 34)

ἐμέν κατονειδίζουσιν ὡς διὰ σένα, τέκνον Dig. E 243

ἡ ἄρκος μετ' ἐσέν παίζει GLYKAS, Stichoi 369

ἐσέν πρέπει τὸ βασιλεῖον Porikol. I 179 ἐμέναν καίει μόνον GLYKAS, Stichoi 131 λοιπὸν ἐμέναν φαίνεται διὰ καλλιώτερόν σας Chron. Mor. H 1625

τὸν μέγαν αὐτοκράτορα | καὶ πενθερόν ἐσέναν Eisit. f.8v.19–20

ὡσάν ἐσέναν ἔχει Ptoch. III 57 σ' αὐτόν σου σέναν Cypr. Canz. 47.5

ἐβγάν(ει) ἀπ' αὐτόναν κρασί (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 82, 64.3) ἐκείνοναν ὅπου δειλιάζει αἶμα Liv. V 813 οὐ ψέγει φρόνιμος τινάν, παιδί μου, διὰ πενίαν Spaneas V 144

τινάν πιστόν, δοκιμασμένον Achil. N 694

In the verbal domain, the earliest instance of an analogical addition of final /n/ concerns the 3rd person sg. of the passive aorist (ἐλύθη → ἐλύθην), which is to be dated to the EMedG period (see DIETERICH 1898: 249 and CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: 468–9 for early inscriptional and papyrological examples; cf. also MINAS ²2003: 120). This should be considered the norm for all areas during the LMedG period. The analogical origin of this /n/ is the optional/euphonic -ν (ἐφέλκυστικόν, see 3.7.2.1) appearing in the corresponding active inflectional form (ἐγραψε-ν → ἐγράφη-ν).

The same analogy is responsible for the addition of final /n/ to the 3rd person sg. of the passive imperfect (ἐγράφετο → ἐγράφετον), the passive 2nd aorist (ἐγένετο → ἐγένετον) and the copula (ἦτο → ἦτον); it is attested since the EMedG period, very frequently and without geographical restrictions. The pattern is later extended through the addition of final /n/ to the 3 sg. imperfect of oxytone verbs (ἐποίει → ἐποίει-ν, ἐτίμα → ἐτίμα-ν), which appears from the 13th c. onwards, again without geographical restrictions. Examples (see also III, 4):

ἐγκατελείφτην (1193, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 15, 124.16)

ἐξέβην ναὶ καὶ ἠνώθην σε Eisit. f.4r.1

ἐσυμβιβάστην οὕτως Chron. Mor. H 4328 ἐθάφτην ὁ Σπιθόλιοντας KORNAROS, Erot. II.1217

ἀναθρέφετον Dig. E 611

ἐσυεθλίβετον Velth. 396

σκάνταλον ἐγινίσκετον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 46.30 ἐγράφετον SOFIANOS, Grammar 57.7

ἐσωρεύετον (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 83.13) ἦτον ἐν τούτοις, ἔχαιρεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 860 ἦτον συνήθη DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 347

καθὼς ἐκράτειν αὐτὰς Γεώργιος ὁ Χορτάτσης (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 267.73–4) ἠκολούθειν τον Liv. V 43 ἐφίλειν, κατεφίλειεν τον Achil. L 1424 transcr. (Panayotopoulou/Lendari) ἐπεριπάτειν, ἔτρεχεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1481 περιεπάτειν τρεῖς χρόνους Spanos B 32

ἀνερῶταν Dig. E 133

ἐβρόνταν ἡ δύσις, καὶ ἐτισληπούρδαν ἡ γαδάρα Spanos A 170 ἀγάπαν ὁ ἕνας τον ἄλλον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 10.26 ἐχρώσταν (1573, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 1, 20.9) ἐβάσταν ἀσβολιῆς (1687, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 674, 921.19)

Another subcase of analogical addition is the extension of final /n/ to the 1 pl. passive on the basis of the 1 pl. active (γράφομεν – γραφόμεθα → γραφόμε(σ)θαν, -ούμεθαν). These in turn provide the basis of the innovative inflectional suffixes -όμεθεν, -όμεσθεν, -όμασθεν, -όμασταν etc., which, however, cannot be considered cases of addition of final /n/, as the suffix is a new evolution in its entirety. On the other hand, the absence of final /n/ in the variants -μεσθε, -μεστε, -μαστε (supported by the analogy of 2 pl. -εσθε/-εστε which lack /n/) cannot, for the same reason, be viewed as a case of deletion, and so the presence/absence of final /n/ in these suffixes is best considered a case of morphological variation between alternative innovative allomorphs. Examples (see also III, 4): φαινόμεθαν ἡμεῖς (1121, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 89, 116.3–117.4) ἔτι δεόμεθαν ὑπὲρ ἀφέσεως (1453, Gallipoli, DARROUZÈS 1963: 2, 80.1)

σύντομα σηκωνόμεθαν Liv. S 1798 χρηζούμεθαν ἄλογα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 158.4 494.10

πῶς καθόμεσθεν μὲ τὸν τραγέλαφον Spanos D 877 κ' εὐρίσκομέσθεν ζωντανοὶ MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2634 νὰ παιδεύωμέσθεν καὶ νὰ πειράζωμέσθεν ὅλοι μας PAPASYNAD., Chron. 66.26 (Kaftantzis) ἐρχούμεσθεν (1666, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: 131.13) ζημιούμεσταν (1114, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 67, 107.19) φοβούμεσταν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 434.14 λυπούμεσταν MOREZINOS, Klini 137.20

καὶ τώρα ἡύρισκόμασταν στὰ χέρια τὰ δικά σου Alex. Rim. 721 εὐρίσκομασταν (1613, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 3, 310.21) ἐρχόμασταν ὁμάδι MONTSEL., Evgena 1261

3.7.2.1.3 Phonetic Addition

The main instantiation of phonetic addition is the appearance of a non-etymological final /n/ in uninflected lexical items ending in a vowel, as well as in inflected forms ending in a vowel, irrespective of the phonetic and syntactic environment; this final /n/ is sometimes termed in the literature “irrational” or “parasitic” (cf. ALEXIOU 1985: κα’). Attestations are available in LMedG documents of the 12th c., and sporadic manifestations are already to be found in early Christian inscriptions from Asia Minor (BRIXHE ²1987: 34–5), as well as in papyri (KAPSOMENOS 1985: 114). This should be viewed as a type of hypercorrection, i.e. as a reaction against the general tendency for final /n/ deletion (see 3.7.2.2). It is particularly common in low-register legal texts from areas where deletion of final /n/ applies wholesale, such as Crete and the Cyclades (see CHARALAMBAKIS 2001: 171–7).¹³ At least some instances of such final /n/ addition should be considered mere scribal errors, i.e. slips of the pen, which cannot easily be identified as such, in view of the great frequency of the phenomenon.

Addition of final /n/ is also more frequent in the case of inflectional suffixes for which there exists a homophonous or equivalent suffix, where the final /n/ is etymological. A case in point is the 3 sg. present active -ει, which could be subject to the analogical influence of the infinitive -ειν and of the 3 sg. active imperfect and aorist (e.g. γράφει – γράφει(ν) – ἔγραφε(ν) and γράψει – γράψει(ν) – ἔγραψε(ν)). A way to distinguish between an innovative final /n/ which up to a point, or in some areas at least, has been adopted in the inflectional system, and a final /n/ which is a mere hypercorrection, is through the existence of variants with addition of final /e/ after /n/ (see 2.6.3), i.e. where an attempt is made to “protect” this innovative /n/ from deletion (e.g. γράφονται > γράφονταιν > γράφονταινε).

To a certain extent, it can be surmised that this intrusive /n/ functions as a euphonic device, i.e. as a hiatus resolution strategy in the case of consecutive vowels at word boundaries, especially within syntactic phrases. The euphonic function of this non-etymological final /n/ is still to be found in MG folk poetry (KRETSCHMER 1905: 213–14; VINCENT 1980: 164; KAPSOMENOS 1985: 114). This is easier to assume in verse texts, where it also serves metrical needs, creating extra syllables, and in the case of inflectional suffixes where no potential analogical influence is imaginable. For texts from Crete, at least, it has been suggested that presence vs. absence of final /n/ is determined purely by the phonetic environment (BAKKER 1993: 230–1; BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1996: 142–3; contrast ALEXIOU 1985: λ’-λα’ fn. 24 on the frequent metrically unjustified deletion of final /n/). As far as can be determined, this type of addition of final /n/ is indeed more frequent before a vowel, and the tendency is very strong in verse texts. However, the appearance of an intrusive /n/ before consonants and in absolute pause is also possible, and so euphony is not the only determining factor.

Any inflectional suffix may be subject to this arbitrary (euphonic or hypercorrect) addition of final /n/, but the phenomenon is more extensive in verbal than in nominal morphology. However, in some areas, such as, notably, Naxos, it is so frequent that this distinction cannot be made.

Nominal Inflection

τοῦ ρήγαν Ἰταλίας Chron. Toc. 20

τοῦ καβαλιέρον (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 247, 244.1) τοῦ αὐτοῦ Τζαμπατάκη (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 42, 192.5–193.1)

¹³ The same hypercorrect tendency to add a final /n/, non-justifiable analogically or phonetically, is recorded for 20th-c. low-register speakers of Cretan; see PANGALOS 1955: 214.

φεύγουν οί Κρήτικοί, φεύγουν οί Γενουβήσοι Anak. 31 app. crit. ἐπεθάναν πολλοί VOUSTR., Chron. B 138.8
 τι πειρασμὴν ἐσυνέβησαν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1371 app. crit. (= πειρασμοί) καὶ ἐκήνην λαὸν πολὺν ἔχει Dig. E 1354 app. crit. (= ἐκείνη) ἦτον ἀγάπη δολερὴν καὶ τρόπος κολακείας DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 818 app. crit.
 ἡ ὄρνιθαν καὶ ἡ γραῖα Synax. gadar. 188 ἡ ἀσκημιά-ν ἀπού 'χα FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.468 ἡ πουλησίαν τῆς Κοπριάς (1587, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 147, 271.3) καὶ τόσαν τὸν ἡγάπησεν αὐτὸν Pol. Tr. 311 app. crit. (E) εἰς σὲ ὄλαν τὰ ἄνω γεγραμμένα (1548, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 119, 233.18–19) τὰ σπίτιαν ὅπου κάθετα (1632 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 70, 174.13) εἰς τὰ ὅσαν ἔχουν (1636, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1993: 2, 291.10) παιδιὰν εἴστενε Prol. Epain. Kef. 45 μὲ ἀπόμειναν ἀφούνισταν καὶ στέκον ἐκεῖ (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 53.17) ἐγὼν Ἀντώνης Ταπουσὸς γράφω (1575, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 134, 255.3) κὶ ἐγὼ-ν εἰς τοῦτο ἀκόμη FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.365

Verbal Inflection

Present

ἡ δόξα μου, ὅπου ἔχω ἀπὲ σένα Diig. Alex. F 280.12 (Lolos) νὰ γράψω θέλων στιχερόν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 56 app. crit. ρίκτειν (1098, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 65, 82.13) δίκαιον οὐδὲν εὐρίσκειν Spaneas Z. 550 app. crit. κάτω τὴν ἀποθέτειν Dig. E 937 app. crit.
 καὶ θέλει-ν κακοπαθήσειν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.16 ὅπου κηρύττειν πίστιν PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 14 app. crit. οὐδεὶς γινώσκειν τὴν ἡμέραν (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 137.3) τὲς κλεψίεις ποὺ ἔχετε (1654, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 15, 370.18) καὶ μὴν τονε πικραίνετον ἄνδρα τὸν ἀκριβὸ μου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 867; νὰ τὸν καταπατῆτεν
ibid. 3030
 φαίνομαι ἐγὼ (1196, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 241, 325.2) βούλομαι τοῦ ἔχειν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 62, 180.30) καὶ πάλιν ἐφηγοῦμαι των τὴν ἐρωτοπλασίαν Liv. E 833 ἀπορῶ καὶ ἐξίσταμαι καὶ τὸν νοῦν καταπλήττομαι Spanos B 24 τοῦ ἀποκρίνομαι καὶ εἰς τοῦτα (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.22) φαίνεται ἵνα ἔχει βαλμένα (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 109.111) νὰ τῆς θυμάταιν (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 37, 187.24) δουλῶνεστέν εἰς Ἑρωταν Liv. V 497 οὐδὲν ἐντρέπεστέν ποσῶς Chron. Mor. P 5392 ἀπέξω φαίνεσθην εἰς τοὺς ἀνθρώπους δίκαιοι KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 23.28 καὶ νὰ γενολογᾶστέν Poulol. 658 ἀλλήλως νὰ ἡγαπᾶστέν Chron. Mor. P 3993 θυμάστέν ποὺ δειλιάζετε Alex. Rim. 1759 καὶ ἵνα διαλέγωνται ἀμφοτέροι (1027, Sparta, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 43, 301.25) ἐκεῖνο τὸ ὀρέγονται Spaneas Z 331 όπου ἴναι εἰς Τουρκίαν Alosis 939 πραματέβγουνταιν κάθε λογῆς πραμάτεια (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 312.14) ἴνα ἀνατρέφουνταιν (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 27.220) καὶ μ' ἄλλους χαίρουνταιν αὐτές BERGADIS, Apok. V 260 ὅτι προσποιούνταιν ὡς δῆθεν ἀγαθοεργείας NIKON, Prol. 16.31 ὅτι σθенаχωρούνταιν Liv. V 763 ἐνθυμούνταιν Pol. Tr. 8548 app. crit. (C) καὶ παρακινούνταιν οἱ ἄνθρωποι (1576, Macedonia, CHASIOTIS 1964/65: 3, 253.30) εἴτι χρέη χρωσιόνταιν (1555, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 172, 222.18)

Imperfect

εἶχαν ἐγώ (1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 16, 209.31) τὴν εἶχαν στο Κουμούνι μου DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1311 app. crit.

Aorist

ἀφιέρωσιν τὴν ἐγὼ ἠφιέρωσαν εἰς ... (1108, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 17, 218.86) ἐγὼ τὴν βασιλείαν ἔχασαν καὶ τὰ πλούτη DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 603 app. crit.

ὥσαν σοῦ τό ἔγραψαν με ἄλλα μου χαρτία (1501, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 5, 27.20–1) ἐγὼ ὁ κοντόσταβλος ... ἔλαβαν ἓναν ὀρισμόν (1570, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 1999: 33, 398.9) ἐγὼ ἐμίσεψαν ἀπὸ κεῖ (1501, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 5, 27.27) ἠγόρασαν αὐτόν ἀπὸ τὸν παπὰν (1493–4, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 36, 179.5) ὅταν δὲ θέλῃς κτήσεστέν εἰς ἄνθρωπον φιλίαν Spaneas V 81 app. crit.

εἶδετέν αὐτόν GERMANO, Grammar 87.32

αὐτὰ ποὺ ἐγροικήσετέν VEST., Paid. Makkav. 99 τὰ ὅσα ἐτάξετέν (1685, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1924b: [2], 12.8)

Uninflected Words

ἄχριν τοῦ σπαρτίου (1118, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 85, 112.18) ἐφειδὴν ἦτον κρατημένος Assizes B 279.6

ἐπεῖν τοῦτο ἐσκόπησεν Pol. Tr. 43 app. crit. (A) ἐπειδὴν / ἐπειδὴν (1503, Constantinople, YANNOPOULOS 1974: 133.29) τ' ὄξων περιβόλι (1537, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 117, 231.8) θέλεις πέσει κάτω Diig. Alex. F 154.10 (Lolos)

μὰς τόστιλις ἢ ὄχιν / μὰς τό στείλις ἢ ὄχιν (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 57.13)

A totally different case, not properly belonging under the heading of “final /n/ addition”, is the analogical voicing of an initial voiceless consonant, graphematically expressed as a final /n/ tagged on to the previous word, which ends in a vowel (see 3.8.3.2 and 3.8.3.3). The origin of the phenomenon is the automatic assimilatory voicing of initial voiceless stops when preceded by proclitic words ending in /n/, such as forms of the definite and indefinite article and the weak (clitic) forms of the personal pronoun; this spreads analogically even in cases without preceding nasal (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 63). This phenomenon appears sporadically everywhere, but has almost the status of a norm in texts from Crete and the Cyclades, in the case of postnominal possessive clitics and object clitics appearing after νά, θά and the negation. In such cases, the presence of final /n/ is only apparent; the sound heard is probably a bare voiced stop [b d g] and not a nasal + stop cluster. This is immediately apparent in texts written in the Latin alphabet. Examples (see also 3.8.3.3):

τοῦ ἐδικοῦν του δικαίου Assizes B 381.26

τὰ μέλην του Achil. O 78 ἀπάνων του DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 334 τεμονιοῦν τους (1503, Constantinople, YANNOPOULOS 1974: 132.5) τὰ παιδιάν τονε (1544, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [2], 7.11)

ὁ κύρ Κωσταντής καὶ ἡ συμβίαν του (1587, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 147, 271.13) ἡ γιόρεξιν του (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 38.6) ἐδικάν του (1634, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 2, 111.16)

i thigateradu / ἡ θυγατέρα ν-του CHORTATIS, Erof. I.581 transcr. X (Legrand) sta plutidu / στὰ πλούτη ν-του CHORTATIS, Erof. I.582 transcr. X (Legrand) νάν τὸ ἔχη, νάν τὸ δεσπόζη (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 2, 80.11)

νάν τοῦ λισεντζιάρειν (1687, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 277, 257.34)

νάν τοὺς βάλουν εἰς τὴν ὑποταγήν τους SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 39.17 ἡκολούθειν τον Liv. V 43 πῆτεν του (1670, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 4, 15.7)

3.7.2.2 Deletion of Final /n/

Deletion of final /n/ is first attested in the period of the Koine. Papyrological evidence shows that final nasals were deleted in many texts, irrespective of the phonetic environment (GIGNAC 1976: 111–16, cf. also inscriptional examples in DIETERICH 1898: 88–91; PANAYOTOU 1990: 311). The deeper causes of the phenomenon may be phonological, i.e. a tendency towards open syllables, as in the case of final /s/. Deletion of final /n/ can also be the ultimate result of various coarticulatory phenomena obtaining originally within phonological phrases (i.e. close-knit syntactic units such as article + noun, clitic + verb, or negation + verb), in the case of proclitic words ending in /n/ followed by consonant-initial words. In this environment, the assimilatory rules affecting word-internal nasals would also apply, and would later spread context-independently, having become adopted into the inflectional system. These are the following:

a) Total assimilation of a final nasal to a following initial continuant (fricative, sibilant, nasal or liquid; see 3.4.2.4). This process would result in a geminate initial consonant, appearing in all areas before the loss of quantity distinctions in the phonological system, and would subsequently be degeminated in the majority of areas but retained in geminating dialects, e.g. τὸν φίλον [ton 'filon] > [to'ffilon] > [to'filon], τὸν λόγον [ton 'loɣon] > [to'lloɣon] > [to'loɣon]. An argument in favour of such a phonetic pathway of assimilation–gemination–degemination for the loss of final /n/ (DIETERICH 1898: 88; NEWTON 1972a: 100) is the fact that the areas where deletion of final /n/ does not take place mostly coincide with those where double consonants are retained, i.e. Cyprus, the Dodecanese and S. Italy (see below).

b) Voicing assimilation of a following stop and subsequent deletion of the nasal (see 3.8.3.2 and 3.6.2.1), e.g. τὸν πατέρα [ton pa'tera] > [tomba'tera] > [toba'tera]. Again, it is indicative that the areas in which final /n/ tends to be retained, such as Pontos and the South-East (see below) also tend to preserve word-internal nasal + stop clusters, whereas the areas which display more wholesale deletion of final /n/, such as Crete, the Cyclades and Mani, are also those which exhibit deletion of word-internal /n/ before stops more consistently.

c) Hiatus avoidance in the case of a following vowel (see 2.9.1). Although final /n/ has been lost entirely as a constituent feature in several nominal and verbal inflectional suffixes in MG, it has been retained in the case of proclitic words, such as the definite article, the object clitics and the negation δέν, indicating that in this environment /n/ functioned as a non-final intervocalic element.

Deletion of final /n/ may also have morphological causes, i.e. it can appear as a hypercorrect reaction to the strong tendency for analogical extension of final /n/ (see above 3.7.2.1). It is possible that the picture given by Egyptian papyri of the Koine period is not truly representative of the overall evolution of Greek, and that deletion of final /n/ was not so well-established at such an early date (cf. HORROCKS ²2010: 171–2). Two facts point in this direction: (a) the extreme extension of analogical addition of final /n/, which affects all regional forms of Greek, even those which later show wholesale deletion of final /n/; and (b) the existence of several MG dialects in which final /n/ still constitutes a typical feature, thus presupposing a very early date of dialectal division/differentiation if deletion of final /n/ is taken to be already a Koine characteristic. If the deletion of final /n/ is connected to the phenomenon of degemination (see above), it becomes even more tightly connected with the dating of dialectal division of the so-called South-Eastern group.

Finally, deletion of final /n/ in the nominal morphology can be seen as part of a more general structural change within the nominal inflectional system, which tends, in the singular, towards a simple binary marking of cases based on the presence vs. absence of final /s/, and in which final /n/ can be seen as a superfluous marker (see II, 1.1 and the studies of SEILER 1958 and RUGE 1969a).

Furthermore, the fact that deletion of final /n/ shows, in most areas, as well as in MG, a certain degree of morphological conditioning (i.e. there are specific suffixes where final /n/ resists deletion) inevitably points to a diachronic process that took several centuries to complete. As phonetic changes are normally “blind” to morphology, applying across the board independently of the inflectional environment, it is only changes that remain in a state of variation over a long period of time that acquire differential conditioning.¹⁴

The morphological conditioning of final /n/ deletion is also apparent from the fact that it is consistently avoided in the case of archaic/residual inflectional suffixes which are part of the learned register. When deletion of final /n/ is found in such cases, it should be considered as a scribal error, of no interest for the diachronic development of MedG. The suffixes belonging to this category are the following:

- the nom. sg. of 3rd-declension nasal and dental stem nouns, adjectives and participles, e.g. ἄγων, λιμήν, Πλάτων, Ξενοφῶν, γράφων, λαβών, ἀγαπῶν
- the 1 sg. and 3 pl. active imperf. of barytone verbs, e.g. ἔγραφον, ἠγάπων, ἐπόνουν
- the 2 sg. active aor. imp. -ον, e.g. γράφου

¹⁴ Compare, in this respect, the diachronic process of final /n/ deletion in English, which also seems to have undergone morphological conditioning over a long period of time (RINGE/ESKA 2013: 147–9).

- the 1 sg. passive imperf. -ομην, e.g. ἐγγραφόμην
- the 1 sg. passive aor. -ην, e.g. ἐγράφηην
- the 1 pl. passive aor. -ημεν, e.g. ἐγράφημεν.¹⁵

Apart from papyrological evidence, traces of final /n/ deletion are to be found in Asia Minor and Macedonian inscriptions of the first centuries AD (BRIXHE ²1987: 33–4; ΠΑΝΑΥΟΤΟΥ 1990: 311), as well as in 9th-c. inscriptions from Cappadocia, e.g. ἰς τὸν οὐρανο /εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸ (9th c., Cappadocia, DE JERPHANION 1925/42: I, p. 192); κοψε με κλαδη / κόψε με κλαδί (ibid. I, p. 444); ἐπορεύετον ἐπὶ τὴν Ἑγυπτο (THIERRY/THIERRY 1963: 55). However, deletion of final /n/ does not occur in EMedG literature, at least not in the printed editions (DIETERICH 1898: 90; PSALTES 1913: 89). Non-deletion is also the norm in the earliest vernacular LMedG texts such as Ptochoprodromos, Spaneas, Glykas, Eisitirioi (Logoi), although rare variants without final /n/ may be spotted, often in the apparatus criticus, e.g.

τὸ γενε ολόγι σου / τὸ γενεολόγι σου Spaneas V 107; παιδί μου ibid. 144 νικῶσι καὶ τὸν Ἄδη GLYKAS, Stichoi 88 τὸ δίδειν καὶ ἐπαίρειν καὶ κρούει τε καὶ λαμβάνειν Ptoch. II 19–9 app. crit. (H) καὶ φέρε με παιδίτσι μου τυρὶν σταμεναρέαν Ptoch. III 118 app. crit. (M)

In S. Italian documents, the phenomenon is again not very common. Modern dialectal data corroborate this scarcity, as the modern S. Italian norm is one of retention before vowels, total assimilation before consonants and loss in final position or in isolation. However, it is possible to find relatively early attestations of loss of final /n/ in S. Italy (MINAS ²2003: 61; KARANASTASIS 1997: 42–3), a number of which could be interpreted as graphematic non-indication of total assimilation to a following consonant.

εἰς τοῦ ρουάκι (1034, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 29, 34.24) εἰς τὸ πόδι τοῦ χωραφίου (1112, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 32, 148.11) τὸ ἐπιλαγχάνο μας μέρος (1127–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 11, 90.6) ἀπὸ μεσημβρία (1134, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 115, 154.9–10) τὸ χωράφιο τοῦ Ραβέτου (1170, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 21, 167. 9) τῶν ἐμετέρων γονέω (1131, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 42, 188.12) νὰ μοῦ βοηθοῦ ὁ Θεὸς (1137, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 8, 628.23) φανεῖ τις ἐπενοχλεῖ (1092, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 54, 71.19) πωλεῖν, χωρίζειν, ανταλλάττει, προίξι γράφειν (1176, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 4, 374.18) εἴ τις εὐρευθεῖ πλέον δώσει (1264, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 21, 163.8) τοῦ τοιούτου ἔνεκε τρόπου (1195, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 17, 140.10) ἔνεκε σωτηρίας (1116, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 15, 412.14)

The status of final /n/ in other early sources of the LMedG period, such as the Athos corpus of the 11th–13th c., is obscured by the scribal practice of using abbreviations for most inflectional suffixes, such as -ον, -αν, -ην, -ιν, -ων, -εν. Deletion is also inhibited by the overall higher register of these documents. If it is to be found at all, it is in suffixes which presented a tendency for deletion already in previous periods, such as the nom./acc. of neuter nouns.

¹⁵ For this last, a few examples have been located: πάντες γυμνοὶ ἐγεννήθημε Spaneas V 136 app. crit.; τὸ ἐπιστώθημε ἀπὸ εὐλαβῶν χριστιανῶν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §1.22.

- τὸ ἀμπέλι κρατεῖ τὸν βάσταγα (1010, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 15, 140.13); ἐπὶ τὸ παρὸ πρακτικὸ (1056, ibid. 31, 80.56); ἡς τὸ μεικρῶ δορὶν / εἰς τὸ μικρὸ δορὺν (1071, ibid. 39, 117.17)
- τὸ δὲ ἕτερον ρυάκι, τὸ πρὸς ἄκτρον (1071, Athos, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 9, 107.16); ἀφίον ἐκ δεξιὸν ρυακίτζι μικρ(όν) (ibid. 9, 107.22)
- τὸ κεραμαρίο τὸ πλη(σίον) (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.26–7); κριθ(ά)ρ(ι) μὸδ(ια) ο' (ibid. 9A, 80.22)
- ἀσφαλίζομε (1008/9, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 13, 134.17)
- ὡς ἐδιαχωρίσαμε οὕτω (1206, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 160, 350.45)

3.7.2.2.1 Morphological Distribution

In more detail, the morphological positions where deletion of final /n/ occurs are the following:

a) In nominal morphology: the acc. sg. of masc. and fem. nouns and adjectives of all declensions displays deletion of final /n/ already since the Koine. This is the most common environment of final /n/ deletion, which is attested in all types of LMedG and EMG documents from all areas. The acc. sg. of the definite article is less prone to deletion, but it is not possible to observe phonetic regularity with respect to its retention, i.e. it is not possible to perceive, from written sources, whether it behaves as in MG, where it is retained only before vowels and stops. Deletion of final /n/ in the nom./acc. sg. of neut. nouns and adjectives in /o/ and /i/ is again attested already since the Koine. As a result, it surfaces sporadically even in the more archaizing and high-register LMedG texts, and is regular in lower-register texts from all areas.

- τὸν γαβρό σου Γεώργιο τὸ Καραντινὸ (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 20.3)
- εἰς τὸν Μάτζαρη (post 1640, Monemvasia, SCHREINER 1975/79: 79, 44.1)

- ἑτέρα φυτέα (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.23–4)
- ὁ Κύριος ἔρριξεν ἄνεμο μεγάλην Jonas 213.4
- ἄμε μὲ τὴν εὐχίτσα μου Chron. Mor. H 1388

- τὸ φταῖσιμο θέλει εἶσται (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 61.8–9)
- νερὸ καθάριον Dig. E 1655
- ὅποιον κάστρο καὶ χώρα προσκυνήσει (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.10)
- εἰς τοῦ ρουάκι (1034, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 29, 34.24)
- τὸ χωρίον τὸ Ὀφιδοβούνι (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 22.59)
- καὶ τὸ παιδὶ τὸν κύρην Alosis 206

By contrast, the gen. pl. of nouns and adjectives of all declensions, as well as of the definite article, displays deletion of final /n/ only since the late 15th c. This is attested mostly in texts from Crete, less frequently from the Cyclades, Mani and the Peloponnese, and only occasionally from other areas.

- τῶν τριακόσιων ἄγιω πατέρω ιη' (1572, S. Italy, VIOLI 2006: 311.22) πατέρω καὶ παππάδω P&N Diath. 214 των αλλωνῶ βοσκῶ CHORTATIS, Panor. I.294 τῶν ἄνωθι ὀρφανῶ (1617, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 16, 320.24) τῶν βοσκῶ (1642, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 19, 159.15) τῶν ἄνωθεν ἀμπασαδόρω (1571, Mani, CHASIOTIS 1970: 5, 239.15) τῶ κάτωθε γεγραμμένω μαρτύρω (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 51, 66.19) ρηγάδω, βασιλιάδω FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 35 ὅς ταῦτιὰ τῶν ἀφεντάδω PETRITSIS, Dig. O 236 ἔμπροστε καλῶ<v> ἀ<v>θρώπων<v> (1673, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 18, 129.10–11)
- τω γυναικῶ την ὀρεξη CHORTATIS, Panor. I.404 ὁλωνῶ τῶ γυναικῶ (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 39.66) τῶν λεγομένων ἀρχόντισσῶ (1568, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 14 [later copy], 68.20) τῶν ἐκκλησῶ (1645, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 11, 25.22)
- εἰς ἀρμάτω συμμαχίαν Chron. Mor. P 2007 ὁ σφάκτης τῶν σιδέρω FALIEROS, Ist. On. 493 τῶν παιδίο της / τῶν παιδίω της (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.17–18) γέννημα ὀσπρίω, λάδι (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 257.37) ἄλλονῶ πραμάτω (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 59, 72.2) τῶν μπραμάτω (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 482.13)
 τὸ σάλδο τῶ δουκάτω τετρακοσίω (1699, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 5, 166.2–3)

b) In verbal morphology: the 1 pl. present active suffixes -ομεν, -οουμεν, -οῦμεν and the 1 pl. active past -αμεν, -ᾶμεν exhibit loss of final /n/ before the LMedG period, and therefore the phenomenon is recorded already in the earliest LMedG documents, without geographical restrictions. By contrast, the 3 pl. active -ουν/-αν in the present and the imperfect exhibit loss of final /n/ only since the 14th c., perhaps initially only before clitics. The phenomenon occurs with regularity only in texts from Crete and the Cyclades, while in other areas and in literary texts it may appear sporadically, especially before clitics. The prevalence of the phenomenon before clitics is noted by Germano (GERMANO, Grammar 87.18–21). However, note that in areas with geminate consonants, deletion before a 1st or 2nd person clitic may be only apparent, and the actual realization may be total assimilation to /mm/ or /ss/. Similarly, before a 3rd person clitic absence of final /n/ may also be just an indication of a voiced denasalized realization of the following voiceless stop /t/.

In the active aorist, deletion of final /n/ in the suffix -αν is predominant again only in Crete and the Cyclades, and mostly in forms which exhibit shift of stress to the penultimate, in order to ensure disambiguation from the homophonous 1st person sg. In the 3rd person pl. of the passive aorist, the phenomenon is attested already since the 11th c. It appears in relatively early literary texts, and is again predominant in Crete and the Cyclades (in the case of the suffix -ησαν), and in forms which exhibit shift of stress for disambiguation (in the case of the suffix -ηκαν).

- ἀσφαλίζομε (1008/9, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 13, 134.17) εὔχολα τὸν περνούμε Liv. E 3902 παρακαλοῦμέ σε (1571, Mani, CHASIOTIS 1970: 5, 239.16) ἐδιαχωρίσαμε (1206, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 160, 350.45) εἶχαμε (1360, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 49, f.236r.6)

κ' ἐπήραμε τὸ νῆκος Chron. Mor. H 3657 na treghu ta chalu / νὰ τρέχου τὰ καλά του (1394, Crete, SANTSCHI 1976: 1597, 344.8) ἀποχαιρετοῦ τον Chron. Mor. P 77; πάντες παρακαλοῦ σε ibid. 233 διαφεντεύου σε Pol. Tr. 6589 app. crit. (C) θέτου με, κρατοῦν, καταφιλοῦ με Liv. V 2175

νὰ δίνου καὶ νὰ πλερώνου (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 54.28) γράφου καὶ λέγου τα πιτάκια μου (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 397.27–8) να μ' αγαπού, να με τιμού και να με προσκυνούσι CHORTATIS, Panor. I.280 ἐγύρευγά τους καὶ ἔκαυγά τους (1570, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 3.3)

καὶ τοὺς κώλους των ἐκρούσα | καὶ τοὺς ἄνδρες των γελοῦσα | καὶ παστάρδικα γεννοῦσα ἐρρικταν ἀπάνω πέτρες καὶ δὲν ἐβουλοῦσα Diig. Sant. 59.64–5 μ' ἀναστεναγμούς, ὅπ' ὅλους ἐπικράνα FALIEROS, Thrinios 12 τίποτες δὲν ἐμολογήσα πως ... VOUSTR., Chron. A 32.13 ἐπομείνα κοντέντοι (1573, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17 [later copy], 72.39) ἐτιμήσα το (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 35, 53.16) ἐτελειώθησα τὰ στηθεῖα (1079, Mani, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 47, 306.1) ἐσχίστησα τὰ σώματα [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1984

Epain. gyn. 705–7

ἐδιάβησα τ' αμαξία VOUSTR., Chron. A 82.11

ἐγίνησα ξύδι (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.14)

κι ἐνεθραφῆκα ὁμάδι FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.616

Loss of final /n/ in the 1st and 2nd person sg. imperf. pass. suffixes -ομου, -ουμου, -σου, -ουσου is relatively rare, appearing from the 14th c. onwards, and geographically restricted mostly to Crete and the Cyclades.

The absence of final /n/ in the 3rd person pl. -ο(υ)ντα(ν) is difficult to interpret. If this suffix is considered an analogy on the basis of the active imperfect -αν (ἐγγραφαν → ἐγράφοντο > ἐγράφονταν), then the absence of final /n/ is a case of deletion. However, if it is viewed as an evolution of the AG 3rd person pl. with influence, with respect to its vocalism, from the active voice (ἐγράφοντο > ἐγράφοντα > ἐγράφονταν), then the absence of final /n/ can also be considered as non-addition. The extension of the variants without final /n/, which do not seem to be geographically restricted, renders the second alternative more likely.

νὰ ἐγάλλουμου DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 218

οὐκ ἐδουλώνομου εἰς τὸ ἐξουσιαστικόν σου Liv. α 409 app. crit. (N) ἐσυχνοεχαίρομου Theseid Prol. P 4 ἐσηκόνουμου συχνῶς Alosis 712

πῶς οὐδὲν ἐντρεπέσου Liv. E 1773 ὀνομάζεσου μοναχικά Synax. gyn. 429 εἰς τὰ κρισίματα ὅπου ἐκρίνουσου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 324, 321.23) ἐλογιάζουσου (1689?, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 868, 1161.24–5) ἐλαβώνοντα καὶ ἔπεφταν Pol. Tr. 3452 app. crit. (B) αμή πάντα εστέκοντα πικραμένοι Vios Filaret. 241.25

τὰ ὀριζες ἐγίνοντα, τὰ ἤθελες ἐποίουν Dig. E 358 ἐγεύγουντα BERGADIS, Apok. A 292

να τη θωρούσι ἐρέγουντα τὰ ὄρη καὶ τὰ δάση CHORTATSI, Panor. I.315

ἤρχουντα ἀπὸ τὴν Ἀμοργὸν Diig. Sant. 58.85

Finally, the present infinitive suffix -ειν (barytone) and -εῖν (oxytone) appears without final /n/ already since the Koine (GIGNAC 1981: 330, 362), and its presence in the earliest LMedG sources, namely the S. Italian documents, is therefore to be expected. As already mentioned, functional overlap with the 3rd person sg. active must have influenced this development (see 3.7.2.1). Deletion of final /n/ thereafter appears in all types of texts from all areas. However, the infinitive of A-stem verbs does not display deletion of final /n/ before the 14th c.

πωλεῖν, χωρίζειν, ἀνταλλάττει, προῖξι γράφειν (1176, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 4, 374.18) νὰ ὑπᾶμεν ... τὰ οὐκ ἔχομεν γυρεύει Chron. Mor. H 837 θέλει λαχαίνει (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 21, 161.15) ἀποσπάζει θέλει Assizes B 340.11 ἐξαπορῶ τοῦ γράφει BERGADIS, Apok. V 14 φανεῖ τις ἐπενοχλεῖ (1092, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 54, 71.19)

ὁ ρῆγας ἄρξετον λαλεῖ Chron. Mor. H 7118 εἶχα κρατεῖ SOFIANOS, Grammar 52.5

κί' ἂν εἶναι κί' ἤθελε μπορεῖ CHORTATSI, Katz. I.41

τὸν θέλουσι γελεῖ Chron. Mor. H 8185 πάντα θέλω σ' ἀγαπᾶ CHORTATSI, Panor. I.392

c) In uninflected words: this category includes the negation δέν, the conjunctions ἂν, (ὠ)σάν, ὅταν, ἤγουν, λοιπόν, the adverb πλέον/πλέον/πιό, the adverbs in -θεν and other isolated items. Deletion of final /n/ in the negation δέν is to be found rarely, mostly in texts from Crete, and only before a consonant, usually a continuant; it never occurs before a vowel. The conjunction ἂν displays deletion in texts from many areas, although Crete again produces the most examples. The conjunction σάν, by contrast, shows deletion almost exclusively from Crete. Deletion takes place only before a consonant. The deletion of final /n/ in ἂν and σάν is noted by Germano: “ἂν, che significa, se, che volgarmente anco lo dicono, ἄ” (GERMANO, Grammar 88.8); “ῶσάν, & volgarmente, σάν, che anco dicono, σά” (ibid. 88.17). In texts from Cyprus, assimilation of /n/ to the following consonant is occasionally recorded.

The adverb πλέον/πλέον occurs without final /n/ in many texts, predominantly from Crete but also in many literary sources (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. πλέον (I)). Apart from these grammatical words, deletion of final /n/ may occur in a variety of lexical items, predominantly from Crete and the Cyclades, but also in literary and non-literary texts from other areas. Deletion in these lexical items is not conditioned by the phonetic environment, as they are not proclitic; therefore instances before a vowel are not uncommon.

δέ μου ἤχε δώσει / δέ μου εἶχε δώσει (1501–3, Padua, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 7, 33.7)

δέ δύνεται νὰ βοηθηθῇ FALIEROS, Thrinis 190

μά σὺ δέ μολογᾷς θεόν Rim. kor. A 125

ἀ λάχει Chron. Mor. H 5197

ἀ μέ ἀπαλησμονήσης Dig. E 478 ἀ σοῦ ἦλθεν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 235 ἀ τὰ στείλης (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.23) σὰ μοῦ ᾿χεν ὀρδινιάσει CHORTATZIS, Katz. II.131

σὰ φτάσεις Thysia Avr. 17

σὰ μαρούλια Paroim. (Warner) 115.8

γὰ πλίο ἡδονικότερον ἐσένανε Theseid Prol. E 115 ἦτονε πλέο ἐλεύθερη καὶ ὀγλήγορη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.14 bglío tinvoci / μπλιό τίβοτσι (1661, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 10, 105.103) ἀρχῆθε Velth. 1017; κύκλωθε ibid. 482 παρόπισθε SFRANTZIS, Chron. 182.4

ἐξόπισθε τοῦ φθόνου LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 23 ἦγου τὸν ἀφέντη (1676, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 23, 92.7) πλησίο εἰς Chron. Toc. 587 ἦγου πεντακόσα (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 23.19) λοιπὸ ρωτᾶ τον Nov. I 156.6

3.7.2.2.2 Geographical Distribution

Deletion of final /n/ in the above environments surfaces as follows:

a) The areas where final /n/ is retained throughout fall to the East and South: Asia Minor, Cyprus and most Dodecanesian islands. In Cypriot texts, final /n/ is mostly retained in sources such as the mss of Machairas, Voustronios, Fior de Vertu, Assizes, and in non-literary documents. Additionally, the retention of final /n/ is betrayed by assimilatory phenomena at word boundaries, which result in word-initial geminate consonants (see 3.4), and by the entrenchment of an innovative analogical final /n/ in several morphological slots such as the neuter nouns and adjectives in -μα and -ύ. There is one MedG Cypriot source, the collection of documents known as the Remembrances, where final /n/ is completely absent from the notation. This is usually interpreted as a graphematic phenomenon attributable to the influence of Old French, where non-notation of nasals due to the phenomenon of nasalized vowels is common. In literary texts and in other documentary sources, absence of final /n/ is also attested, albeit more rarely than in other areas, in both nominal and verbal suffixes (BEAUDOIN 1884: 55; CHRISTODOULOU 1983: 383; KECHAYOGLOU 1997: 148*), in morphological slots disallowed both by Modern Cypriot and even by the less conservative SMG (see MENARDOS 1969: 17–20 for the modern Cypriot distribution).

Absence of final /n/ in Cypriot texts may also imply total assimilation and gemination of the following initial consonant, if it is not a stop; so, assimilation may be suspected in the case of a following /f θ x v ð γ m n l r/. Non-notation of initial gemination is especially common in the case of a following word beginning with ν-, usually νά, e.g. χρεωστοῦ νά ζητήσουν Assizes A 118.17; ἐπῆγε εἰς τὴν Ἀμόχουστο νά δουλεύγη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 402.30–1; θέλομε νά σοῦ συντύχωμεν ibid. 388.21. Editorial practice sometimes “restores” the assimilated -ν absent from the notation, e.g. ἀρνήθημ με (αρνίθι με ms) Cypr. Canz. 113.4; στο κλάμα μου (κλάμα μου ms) ibid. 112.8. Final /n/ is also lost when the following word begins with a consonant cluster, e.g. διὰ τὴ ψυχὴ της (1333, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 2.3). Examples, by morphological category:

νὰ ἔλθουν εἰς τὴν Ἀμόχουστο μοναῦτα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 174.6

κανέναν ξύλο εἰς τὴν Συρίαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 150.10 αποτικαλαμιά / ἀπὸ τὴ καλαμιά (1666, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 1, 1.4) τῶν τέκνων της Assizes B 383.10; τῶν δύο ἀδελφάδω, ὅπου ibid. 420.15 τον αὐτ(ο) χοριο κ(αι) πραστιο / τῶν αὐτῶ χωρίω καὶ πραστείω (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.4) τῷ τριακοσίῳ θεοφόρῳ πατέρῳ (1534, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 18, 232.10) δείχνου καλὴν μούστραν Assizes B 251.29; καὶ λέγου οὕτως ibid. 475.25 κομπώννου μας, καὶ πλανοῦ μας! MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 656.5–6 καταστήνου ἕναν βαχλίωτην VOUSTR., Chron. A 28.3; εστέκα πολλὰ χαῖριασμένοι ibid. 92.15 ἐγύρευγά τους καὶ ἔκαβγά τους (1570, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 3.3) (3 pl.)

να μὲν εἶχου κακόν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 76.40 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari)

As far as the medieval Pontic sources (acts, inscriptions, ms notes) are concerned, final /n/ is deleted only extremely rarely, mostly in the acc. sg. of nouns:

τὴ<ν> λαχοῦσα<ν> μου μοῖραν (1435, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 12, 6.3); ἀπὲ τὸν Γεώργι[ον] τὸν Νομικὸ[ν] (ibid. 13, 6.6–7); τὸ ὀσπιτοέδρι μου (13th c., ibid. 108, 80.40) τὸ Πυργί (1506, Trebizond, PRINZING 2000: 2, 304.3); τ(ὴν) Μουγάλα τ(ὴν) Ἀλευράβα (ibid. 2, 304.10)

Only the Athos Gesprächbuch shows regular deletion of final /n/, if indeed it can be considered an instance of Pontic Greek, and the same tendency is observable also in a 15th-c. document from the Crimea:

εἰς τὴμ πόρτα / εἰς τὴν μπόρτα (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 183); καματεμένο κερὶ (ibid. 2242) αποκρηχηρη / ἀποκρισάρη (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.1); το δικό σας (ibid. 169.3–4) νὰ φάγ<ω>με σύντομα (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 111); θέλομε νὰ σηκωθοῦμε τὸ πουρνό (ibid. 118–19); μαθεῖ θέλουσι (ibid. 337)

ἐκαρτέρου<ν> (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1480); ποῦ ἦσου; (ibid. 1869)

Texts from the Dodecanese and other eastern Aegean islands are less consistent in the notation of final /n/, displaying several attestations of deletion, from a variety of morphological environments. However, it must be noted that the modern Dodecanesian dialects present considerable local variation between islands with respect to the preservation of final /n/ (see PANDELIDIS 1929: 40–1 and 48–9), a situation possibly already established in the MedG period.

ἕνα μου ἐντιστεμένο ἄνθρωπον (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.14) τῶν Χριστιανῶ καὶ Μουσουλμάνῳ γυρεύουσιν (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 83.10) τεσσάρῳ πινακίῳ (1609, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 6, 21.5) γιερέω και λαγικο / γιερέω και λαγικῶ (1722, Tilos, KOUTELAKIS 1979: 21, 54.2) τὰ δουκάτα ἀποῦ ἀπομένου διὰ τὶς ὁδοὺς (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.16); θέλου ἀνακατωθῶ οὗλοι οἱ Χριστιανοί (ibid. 9, 61.7) κλαῖ σας οἱ ρύμες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 62 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: κλαῖν) να μου μνημονεύγου δια τον κόπον (1502, Kalymnos, KOUTELAKIS 1981: 1, 29.9) ἐτιμήθησα ὑπὸ 'κοδεσπότη (1603, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 5, 21.16) (3 pl.)

b) Areas where final /n/ tends to be deleted throughout: the typical representative of the tendency is Crete, and the phenomenon is also entrenched in the Cyclades, Cythera and Mani, and to a lesser degree in the Heptanese. In Mani, final /n/ deletion is documented in an inscription from the 11th c. and in documents from the 16th and 17th c.; it corresponds to modern dialectal tendencies, in concurrence with final /e/ addition as a prophylactic device (BASEA-BEZANDAKOU 2005: 285).

ἐτελειώθησα τὰ στηθία (1079, Mani, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 47, 306.1) νὰ τὸ μεράζου (1547, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: I, 70.13); εὐρεθέντω ἀξιοπίστω μαρτύρων (1547, ibid. I, 70.19); ἐσυφωνήσαμε καὶ ἐπουλήσαμε (1547, ibid. I, 70.4); κατὰ τὴ σήμερο ἡμέρα

(1600, ibid. II, 70.2); πουλοῦμε τὶς ἐλὲς στὴ Γιάννιτζα (1600, ibid. II, 70.4–5); τῶν συκενῶ μου (1600, ibid. II, 71.11–12); νὰ ἔχου, νὰ δεσπόζου εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα (1609, ibid. III, 71.17) ἐδιαβάσαμε τήνε (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.4); τῶν ἀφεντάδω (ibid. VIII, 306.2); τῶν ὁμοίω Γραικῶν (1676, Corsica, ibid. IX, 311.34) ἀν ἀπομείνου, νὰ περπατοῦ μὲ τὸ διάφορό τους (1690, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: IX, 76.5–6)

There is exhaustive documentation of final /n/ deletion in Cretan texts, in all morphological environments (CHATZIDAKIS 1915: 460–1; PIDONIA 1977: 218–23; BAKKER 1988/89: 284–6; HENRICH 1998b: 91–4). Again, the phenomenon appears in concurrence with final /e/ or /ne/ addition and with hypercorrect “parasitic” final /n/ addition (see 3.7.2.1). The picture corresponds to the modern distribution (for which see ΚΑΦΚΑΛΑΣ 2000: 66–76). Phonetic conditioning of the presence vs. absence of final /n/ depending on the initial sound of the following word is observed in some texts (e.g. the autograph of Fortounatos, cf. VINCENT 1980: οἱ—οε΄) but not in all: in non-literary documents, where final /n/ is much less frequently deleted, it is detectable only in very low-register texts (drafted by almost illiterate scribes).

τὸν Γεώργη τὸν Καραντινὸ (1501, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 5, 26.3) τὸ λιβάδι μὲ τὸ δάσο (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 31, 50.4) εἰς τὸ γκάτο ροῦκουνα τὸ βορινὸ (1613, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 196, 186.23) σειω τη γη CHORTATSI, Panor. I.376; νὰ βλέπητς πᾶσα μέρα id., Katz. II.26 δέσε τὸ γάιδαρο FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.371 ἄλογο φοβιτσάρι KORNAROS, Erot. II.2332

πολλῶν ἀνθρώπων αἶμα P&N Diath. 497 to gineco olono / τῶ γυναικῶ ὄλωνῶ CHORTATSI, Erof. III.203 transcr. X (Legrand) κατὰ τὸ ὀρδενάριον τῶ γονικάρῳ (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 45, 66.14) καλῶς ἔχομε τὸ σῶμα (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 21.8) νὰ τὸ πᾶμε εἰς τὴν Μεσαράν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 22, 22.4) νὰ κάμου δύο κλιζιόλες (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 148.39)

ἐγίνησα ξύδι (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.14)

νὰ μοῦ συγχωρέσου καὶ νὰ μοῦ συμπαθήσου ὅλοι (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 48.20) δὲν ακούστησα ποτὲ FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.32

Texts from Cythera and the Cyclades present the same picture as those from Crete: final /n/ deletion, in all potential morphological environments, in concurrence with final /e/ addition, with hypercorrect “parasitic” final /n/ addition, all corroborated by modern dialectal data. Phonetic conditioning of the presence of final /n/ depending on the initial sound of the following word is rarely observable.

μὲ βελουδένιο φηκάρι (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.31); εἰς τὸ βυθὸ (ibid. 132, 217.38)

τὸ μισὸ τράφο (1575, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 134, 255.1)

εἰς τὸν ἀφέντη τὸν κατῆ (1597, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 41, 188.19)

εἰς κάποια διαφορά (1597, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 5, 77.5) μῖαν κασσέλα ὅπου ἔχει (1614, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 14, 317.8)

τῶ γεννητόρω μας γονέων (1556, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 146, 116.15)

τῶν αὐτῶν καλογέρω (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 11, 134.15)

τῶ σπιτιῶ (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 32.45)

τῶν ὑποκάτωθε ὑπογεγραμμένω (1676, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 23.16) δίδομε καὶ τελεύγομε (1583, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 28, 168.3) ὁμολογοῦμε πῶς τὰ ἐλάβαμε (1666, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 18, 85.9) ἔχομε προσηλωμένο (1670, Naxos, SFYROERAS 1963a: 1, 491.9) νὰ τῶν τὰ δώσωμε καὶ νὰ τῶν τὰ μετρήσωμε (1697, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 12, 27.9) ὡς καθὼς γράφου καὶ λέγου τὰ πιτάκια (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 397.28) νὰ τὸ κοπιάζου, νὰ τὸ κυβερνοῦ (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 7, 127.8) νὰ λάβου καὶ νὰ περιλάβου (1636, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1993: 2, 291.10) τόνε θέλουσι ρωτήσῃ (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 277, 381.1–2)

θελόμε βάλῃ / θέλομε βάλει (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 19.13)

In the Heptanese, final /n/ deletion is more evident in nominal than in verbal morphology (again corroborated by modern dialectal evidence, cf. ALEXAKIS 2005: 22), and is in general countered by the addition of final /e/ or /ne/ (see 2.6.3).

τὴν ἀναθρεφθῇ μου (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 2, 22.12) κατὰ τὸν ὀρισμὸ σας TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 206 τὴν κάμαρη τὴν ἀφεντική (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 4, 5.6) τὸν μισὲρ Ἀνδρία Φραγγόπουλο (1667, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2008: 3, 254.11) ἓνα κομμάτι χωράφι ὅμπερ ἔχου (1685, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 362.8)

γέννημα ὀσπρίω, λάδι (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 257.37)

ριαλιῶνε τριῶ (1654, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2008: 2, 53.17)

τῶν ὑποκάτωθε ὑπογεγραμμένω τιμίων μαρτύρω (1685, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 362.1–3)

τὸ σάλδο τῶ δουκάτω τετρακοσίω (1699, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 5, 166.2–3)

κάμαμε ἱμοιρασία (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 9, 28.9) ἔδωκάμῃ του (1516, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 1, 1στ'.33) ὑπαντρεῖομε τὴν θυγατέρα μας (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 2, 4.3) νὰ μένου ὄλα (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 12, 30.24–5) τὸν εἶχα ἐβγάλει οἱ σύντιχοι (1513, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: (a), 217.8) ὄλοι τοὺς ἐτρομάσσα MONTSEL., Evgena 21 δίνου τῷ μαθητάδωνε (1667, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 3, 146.21)

c) Areas where final /n/ is mostly deleted, but retained in certain morphological environments: these include mainland Greece, the N. Aegean and most literary texts. In this type of text, deletion of final /n/ is possible but avoided in the acc. sg. of masc. and fem. nouns and adjectives, and in the nom./acc. of neuter nouns, and it is rare, verging on disallowed, in the gen. pl., which can serve as a diagnostic of the extent of the phenomenon. In verbal morphology, deletion of final /n/ is frequent in the 1 pl. active and in the active infinitive, but rare in the 3 pl. active (-ουν) and in other slots of the verbal paradigm. In the texts belonging to this category the most important factor determining the retention of final /n/ is register. Examples are to be found in the previous sections.

3.8 Consonant Changes

3.8.1 Manner Dissimilation

3.8.1.1 Definition

The most characteristic phonetic phenomenon affecting the MedG consonant system is the so-called manner dissimilation of voiceless stops and fricatives (NEWTON 1972a: 106–12; BROWNING ²1983: 76; HORROCKS ²2010: 281). Sequences of voiceless consonants with the same manner of articulation (stop + stop, fricative + fricative) are disallowed and subject to dissimilation, which leads to sequences of fricative + stop.

The phenomenon appears in this form in all areas and periods under examination; it must be considered an active synchronic process and not a lexicalized inheritance from earlier phases, because innovative lexical items and loanwords are also affected. However, it does not display complete regularity, its applicability depending mainly on register (of the text or of the lexical item). Higher-register texts consistently avoid manner dissimilation, although hypercorrection phenomena occasionally reveal its existence (see 3.8.1.4). Furthermore, words belonging to the ecclesiastical, legal or scientific vocabulary rarely exhibit the phenomenon. The clusters affected are the sequences of voiceless stop + voiceless stop (/pt/, /kt/) and the sequences of voiceless fricative + voiceless fricative (/fθ/, /xθ/). Schematically:

	Input		Result		Input
Cluster	[pt]	>	[ft]	<	[fθ]
Example	ἐπτὰ	>	ἐφτά φτάνω	<	φθάνω
Cluster	[kt]	>	[xt]	<	[xθ]
Example	ὀκτώ	>	ὀχτώ χτῆς	<	χθῆς

The phenomenon also includes the rare cluster /fx/, which arose secondarily after the consonantization of the diphthongs /au/ and /eu/ (2.4.8) and involves words like εὐχή, εὐχαριστῶ, καυχῶμαι etc. The same dissimilatory process also affects sequences of /s/ + fricative, the result being /s/ + stop (e.g. ἀσθένεια > ἀστένεια), again as a general register-conditioned phenomenon. The reverse sequence, fricative + /s/, is non-existent in MedG and EMG (because sequences of aspirated stop + /s/ were subject to deaspiration in AG), but from a synchronic point of view it may be considered to occur at morpheme boundaries, where the process of dissimilation results in sequences of stop + /s/, with absolute, morphophonologically conditioned, regularity (see 3.8.1.5).

As a dialectal phenomenon with more limited distribution, manner dissimilation also extends to sequences of /r/ + fricative, resulting in sequences of /r/ + stop (e.g. ἔρχομαι > ἔρκομαι, ἔρθω > ἔρτω). (See 3.8.1.3 for details concerning distribution.) In summary, the evolutions are as follows:

- [pt] > [ft], e.g. ἐπτὰ > ἐφτά
- [kt] > [xt], e.g. ὀκτώ > ὀχτώ
- [fθ] > [ft], e.g. φθάνω > φτάνω
- [xθ] > [xt], e.g. χθές > χτές
- [fx] > [fk], e.g. εὐχή > εὐκή
- [sθ] > [st], e.g. ἀσθένεια > ἀστένεια
- [sx] > [sk], e.g. ἐσχάρα > σκάρα
- [rθ] > [rt], e.g. ἤρθε > ἤρτε
- [rx] > [rk], e.g. ἔρχομαι > ἔρκομαι

The above description of the phenomenon is purely synchronic, and the term “manner dissimilation” should be considered as a convention rather than as an actual description, as the diachronic evolution leading to it presents several problematic points (see 3.8.1.2). Manner dissimilation in biconsonantal clusters has received a number of phonological interpretations: it has been considered an instance of application of the sonority hierarchy (see 3.3.2), which requires greater articulatory distance between members of the cluster, or as an instance of the Obligatory Contour Principle, a general phonological principle which bans sequences of identical segments, or as a process of lenition (weakening) in syllable-final position (PAGONI-TETLOW 1998; MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 2001: 207–12; SEIGNEUR-FROLI 2003). The bidirectionality of the dissimilation, i.e. the fact that the result is always fricative + stop irrespective of whether the origin is fricative + fricative or stop + stop (which means that in the first case dissimilation is progressive and in the second regressive) has been attributed to perceptual reasons (TSERDANELIS 2002): perception of stops is easier when they are adjacent to vowels.

3.8.1.2 Historical Overview

The beginnings of the phenomenon can be traced in AG inscriptions, where the spellings <ΣΤ> for <ΣΘ> appear occasionally in North-West Greek dialects, and more sporadically in other dialects, including Attic (see MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 1985: 333–94 for attestations and discussion). These spellings have been variously interpreted: some scholars view them as an indication of deaspiration in the phonetic environment after a sibilant, i.e. $\Sigma T = [st]$, resulting from $[st^h] > [st]$. Others view them as graphematic evidence of an inhibition of fricativization in the phonetic environment after a sibilant, i.e. $\Sigma T = [st^h]$ as a phonetic archaism, whereas in all other environments the fricativization $[t^h] > [\theta]$ takes place. In both scenarios, the MedG stage $[st]$ does not derive from a dissimilation $[s\theta] > [st]$, but is either a direct continuation of AG $[st]$ or the result of deaspiration $[st^h] > [st]$.

In papyri of the Hellenistic period, replacement of aspirated stops $\langle X \rangle$, $\langle \Theta \rangle$ and $\langle \Phi \rangle$ by their unaspirated counterparts $\langle K \rangle$, $\langle T \rangle$ and $\langle \Pi \rangle$ respectively, occurs occasionally after $\langle \Sigma \rangle$, but also before other aspirated stops, liquids and nasals (GIGNAC 1976: 87–9); however, the phenomenon is in these cases mostly attributable to native language interference, since Egyptian lacks aspirated stops and fricatives (HORROCKS ²2010: 112). In all probability the AG and Koine change after $/s/$ took place while $\langle \Theta \rangle$ and $\langle X \rangle$ still represented $/t^h/$ and $/k^h/$. The dialect of Pamphylia also shows early evidence of deaspiration of voiceless aspirates after $/s/$, from the 2nd c. BC onwards (BRIXHE 2013: 178–80).

The consonantization of the diphthongs $/au/$ and $/eu/$ to $/af/$ and $/ef/$ respectively (see 2.4.8), which also took place in the Koine, must have increased the environments where sequences of fricative + stop occurred, e.g. $\alpha\upsilon\tau\acute{o}s$ [autos] $>$ [aftos], $\epsilon\upsilon\kappa\alpha\iota\rho\acute{\iota}\alpha$ [eukairia] $>$ [efceria] (HORROCKS ²2010: 282; BRIXHE 2013: 180); it also created new environments for the application of a deaspiration change, e.g. $\epsilon\upsilon\chi\acute{\eta}$ [euk^hɛ:] $>$ [efk^hi] $>$ $\epsilon\upsilon\kappa\acute{\eta}$ [efci] or $\kappa\alpha\upsilon\chi\acute{\iota}\omicron\nu$ [kauk^hion] $>$ [kafk^hi] $>$ $\kappa\alpha\upsilon\kappa\acute{\iota}$ [kafci]. An evolution involving deaspiration instead of fricativization followed by dissimilation, i.e. an evolution [efk^hi] $>$ [efci] directly, rather than [efk^hi] $>$ [efçi] $>$ [efci], is more economical; but the relative chronology, i.e. whether the consonantization of diphthongs preceded or followed the fricativization of aspirated stops, is difficult to establish.¹⁶

Dissimilation in clusters of consecutive fricatives is not straightforward either: some scholars have difficulty in accepting that in AG the aspirated stop clusters $\langle \Phi \Theta \rangle$ $\langle X \Theta \rangle$ were articulated with double aspiration, as $[p^ht^h]$ $[k^ht^h]$ (LEJEUNE 1972: 69; ALLEN ³1987: 26–8); therefore, early deaspiration of part of the cluster, instead of fricativization followed by dissimilation, has been proposed as an alternative evolution, i.e. $[p^ht^h] > [pt^h]$ or $[p^ht] > [ft]$ rather than $[p^ht^h] > [f\theta] > [ft]$ (cf. RIX 1992: 96; HORROCKS ²2010: 282; SEIGNEUR-FROLI 2003, 2006).

For the EMedG period a full overview of developments is still lacking, but according to PSALTES (1913: 96–7), manner dissimilation is not graphematically attested in Byzantine chronicles, except for $[s\theta] > [st]$ and, rarely, $[sx] > [sk]$. The same holds good for the Proto-Bulgarian inscriptions (CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: B 428). The evidence for dissimilation in other consonant clusters, consisting of stop + stop or fricative + fricative, is scanty in the EMedG period. DIETERICH (1898: 96–9) does provide a few examples from bilingual Greek–Latin glossaries, and early Christian inscriptions and papyri offer a few more:

¹⁶ EMedG inscriptional evidence such as $\acute{\upsilon}\pi\epsilon\rho\ \epsilon\upsilon\phi\chi\eta\varsigma$ RECAM II 217 (Galatia) might be interpreted as favouring the second alternative.

φθωχῶν θρέφτηρα <ᾰ>μῶμη τε σοφή τε MAMA 7 23.2, l. 10–11, (Lycaonia) οφταλμ[ον] BGU.13.2338, AD 176 συναφτῆναι τῇ αὐτοῦ ἀδελφῇ P.Lond. V 1708, AD 568 πεμφτῆναι σοι P.Giss.Apoll 23, AD 120 γλύφτ(ου) P.Lond 4 1419, AD 716 εγραφτι μηνος Γορπιεου P.Ness. 57, AD 689 νωμίσματα τιάκωντα ἐφτά P.Ness.3.58, 7th c. AD Θεοῖς Καταχτονίοις IG XIV 2003, Rome, AD 193–211 ἐχτῆς P. Oxy. Hels. 33, 2nd c. AD ἐχ τεσσαρα[ρίου] O.Claud.3.596, AD 153 εκχτισω (= ἐκτείσω) σοι τὸ μὲν προκείμενον κεφάλαιον PSI.12.1253, AD 186

Slight evidence since the 8th–9th c. is provided by Greek loanwords in Armenian present-ing aspirated stops instead of plain stops in such clusters, e.g. ok'taedron = ὀκτάεδρον, tip'tikon = δίπτυχον (THUMB 1910: 407–8). Evidence of the phenomenon is extensive and consistent in the 10th-c. inscriptions from Cappadocian rock-cut churches, e.g.:

βάφτισμα (10th c., Cappadocia, DE JERPHANION 1925/42: I 216); βαυτιστινε / βαφτισθῆναι (ibid. p. 217); Ἐγυφτος (ibid. I 160); τὰ δυο λευτα της χιρας / τὰ δύο λεφτά τῆς χεῖρας (ibid. I 340); τοὺς ευτα διακονας / τοὺς ἐφτά διάκονας (ibid. I 356); ἐξαφθέρυγον (hypercorrection, ibid. I165) βρεφοχτόνος (10th c., Cappadocia, DE JERPHANION 1925/42: I 159); η δυοχται / οἱ διῶχται (ibid. I160); ἐχ τοῦ οὔρανοῦ (ibid. I 354) παύσψαστε (10th c., Cappadocia, DE JERPHANION 1925/42: I 185); τοὺς αιψεβεις ημον βασιλης / τοὺς ἔψεβεῖς ἡμῶν βασιλεῖς (ibid. I 523); σπέπψον (ibid. II 282)

The evidence becomes abundant in later MedG, in texts from all areas. However, the spelling associated with the phenomenon is never completely regular or consistent. The main factor determining variation is register, both of texts as a whole and at the level of individual words. The picture of the distribution of manner dissimilation in MedG and EMG texts is obscured by the fact that modern editorial practice may (sometimes tacitly) introduce readings <φτ, χτ, στ, σκ> when the manuscripts display conservative spelling.

3.8.1.3 Detailed Description of the Phenomenon

Consonant clusters subject to this phenomenon occur almost exclusively word-initially and word-internally, since Greek phonotactics disallow final stops. However, in cases of apocope or specific stop-final words (mainly ἐκ), the phenomenon may also occur at word boundaries within phonological phrases.

ἐχ τὴν χώραν (1095?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: I, 1.4) ἀφ' τὴν θλίψιν Velth. 1154 ἀφ' τοὺς ἄρχοντας LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 706 ὁχ τὴ μιά μεριά CHORTATSIS, Katz. I.102

Occasionally, word-internal non-contiguous consonants may be subject to the phenomenon, after deletion of the intervening vowel (through syncope, see 2.7.2) or consonant (through cluster simplification, see 3.3.2.2):

adhelfoftumas / ὀδελφοφτού μας P&N Diath. 834 app. crit. (< ὀδελφοποιτός) ἀγαφτικούς CHORTATSI, Katz. I.92 μ' ἀγαφτικὴν TROILOS, Rodol. I.402

The consonant clusters affected by manner dissimilation are the following:

1. The combinations stop + stop and fricative + fricative: evidence is ample from all areas throughout the period covered by the Grammar, starting from the 11th c., but no regularity is detectable.

/pt/ > /ft/

λεύτομερως / λεφτομερῶς (1080, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 11, 186.10) καὶ ὅπου κλύεται οὐ διορίσουσιν οὔτε κλεύουσιν (1154, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 23, 142.9) οἱ χυδαῖοι δὲ τὸ τοιοῦτον κάπτω χάπτω φασὶ Eustathios, Comment. ad Hom. 1481.22 θεοστεύτου / θεοστέφτου (1206, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 6, 378.10) πιπεροτρίφτας Ptoch. III 188 app. crit. (P) εὐτακαιδεκάτι / ἐφτακαιδεκάτη (13th c., Asia Minor, DARROUZÈS 1964a: [13], 35.1) φτελέας (1307, Athos, OIKONOMIDÈS 1984: 10, 115.110) τὰ σκῆφτρα Pent. Gen. 49.16 τὰ φτερά του Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1065 τὴ φτώση CHORTATSI, Erof. II.489

/kt/ > /xt/

τοῦ πάχτου (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 23.84) πραχτικόν (1062, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 35, 104.48); χτῶμεν (1139, Troina / Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 3, 295.8) ὑποταχτικοὶ (1456, Unknown, TSIRPANLIS 1986: 1, 222.10) οἱ χτύποι Liv. V 3518 εἰς τὴν διάλεχτόν του Assizes A 3.5 ἐλάχτισεν Achil. O 452 τὸ χτῆνο Pent. Gen. 1.25 μὴ χτυπᾷς CHORTATSI, Katz. II.109 Βίχτωρος (1634, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 2, 110.10) χτένια (1667, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 3, 146.21)

/fθ/ > /ft/

γραφτεῖς (1190, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: XVI, 49.23) ἐγκατελήφτην / ἐγκατελείφτην (1193, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 15, 124.16) εὔ τιάσουν / εὐτιάσουν (1270, Athos/Macedonia, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.49) ἐνταῦτα Pol. Tr. 182 app. crit. (A) ἐφτόνησεν Achil. N 1653 ἐλεύθερον πάντη ἐλεύτερον (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 13, 30.10) ἔφτασεν Achil. O 155 ἐβουλεύθηκα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.1 ci oftalmussu / τσι ὀφταμούς σου CHORTATSI, Erof. II.524 transcr. X (Legrand) /xθ/ > /xt/ὀρέχτην Liv. V 2659

 ἐτάχτηκα Assizes B 408.1 ἐπροσδέχτην τον VOUSTR., Chron. A 8.10

προχτὲς Thysia Avr. 798

ἐδιατάχτη (1691, Venice, MERTZIOS 1936c: [1], 127.1)

/fx/ > /fk/

πεύχ(ης) (11th c., Thebes, SVORONOS 1959: 12.26) < πεύκης, hypercorrection πεύκην / πεύκιν (ca. 1270–4, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 83.96) < ἐπεύχιον εὐκαριστῶ (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.4); εφκαριστιμενος / εὐκαριστημένος (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 43, 191.13)

τὴν εὐκούλα μου Spanos A 418; εὐκολόγιν (1572, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 3, 83.23)

ἡ εὐκὴ Thysia Avr. 41; τὴν εὐκὴ μου (1673, Sikinos, ZERLENDIS 1913a: 139.28) γιά νὰ καυκούσου Cypr. Canz. 104.30; ecafcatō / ἐκαυκάτο CHORTATIS, Erof. III.362 transcr.

X (Legrand)

τὸν καῦκο (1685, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1924b: [2], 13.2)

2. Sibilant + fricative: extensive attestations for this change are available without geographical restrictions, and without regularity, throughout the MedG and EMG periods.

/sθ/ > /st/

ἐπιμελεῖσται (1027, Sparta, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 43, 301.18) πέμπεσται (1073, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 1, 7.56); ζημιοῦσται (1123, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 4, 60.19) περιοριστέντα (1184, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 218, 286.23) ἐφθάστη (1288, Cos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 227.13) μισταργὲ Poulol. 112

αἰστήσεις (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 45, 54.2) ἐμαλακίστην τὴν ψυχὴν Achil. N 1445 στεναρὰ καρδία [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 458

/sx/ > /sk/

τὸ Σκοινάριν (1073, Constantinople?, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 50, 16.248) ἰσκυρά (1159, Calabria, TRINCHERA 1865: 158, 210.5); ἀγελάδιν σύμμουσκον (1216, Macedonia, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 12, 123.11)

σκάρα (1270–4, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.14)

εἰς τὸ σκολεῖον Ptoch. III 87 app. crit. (P) σκέδος (1417, Crete, LAMBROS 1895: 1, 586.36) πανάσκημον Poulol. 21 app. crit. (C) τὴν ἀναισκυντίαν Pol. Tr. 1433 app. crit. (A) πάσκουν BERGADIS, Apok. A 207 μουσκαράκια SFRANTZIS, Chron. 128.4

ἐκ τὸ σκολεῖο του ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 42.1

ὡς εἰπόσκειται / ὡς ὑπόσκειται (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 1, 79.15)

/sf/ > /sp/

Although the sequence /sf/ fulfils the general conditions necessary for manner dissimilation, this change does not occur except marginally (the MG dialectal data show presence of the phenomenon only in Pontos, Ikaria, Cythera and Mani; CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: A 7). Only Cythera shows evidence of the phenomenon in EMG, through the hypercorrect name-form Σφυρίδος (= Σπυρίδων): Σφηρίδος του μαστὸρ Μανολι / Σφυρίδος τοῦ μαστορ-Μανόλη (1687, Cythera, ΠΑΠΑΔΑΚΙ 2001: 97, 55.2). The variation between σφόνδυλος/σπόνδυλος and σφόγγος/σπόγγος, e.g. τὸν σφόνδυλα Alosis 199; και σφόγγισε το αἷμα ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 23.3, pre-dates the period under investigation and is probably lexical. It has been suggested (CHATZIDAKIS 1927b: 6; MÉNDEZ DOSUNA 2000: 291; BRIXHE 2013: 179) that the failure of manner dissimilation, or rather of deaspiration, to apply in the sequence /sp^h/ is due to the fact that the labial /p^h/ is not fully or partly homorganic with the preceding sibilant, in contrast to the sequences /st^h/ and /sk^h/.

3. Other combinations involving sequences of continuants:

/fs/ > /ps/

ἐρμηνέψαντες (1000, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 12, 12.12) ἐν το εψαιβι βασιλικο βεστιario / ἐν τῷ ἐψεβεῖ βασιλικῷ βεστιαρῷ (1008/9, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 13, 135.20) < εὐσεβῆς τοῦ Κλαψιάρη (1100–10, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 53, 269.283) χύμεψιν (1142, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 7, 75.48) ἔαν γυρέψει (1156, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 28, 160.16) τὴν δούλεψιν (1200, Nicotera / S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 249, 338.16) νὰ κλάψουν Dig. E 248 ἐχορέψαν Velth. 1035
 τὴν ἐδόξεψεν Achil. O 375 κατάκαψον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 635

/rθ/ > /rt/

ὀρτώνεται (1451, Constantinople, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 1, 198.19); ὀλόρπη Phys. 352; διαρτώνω GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. accommodare (< διορθώνω) νὰ συρτῇ Assizes B 387.9
 ἦρτεν (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 86.10); νὰ ῥπη (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 7, 7.8); ἔρτιμον (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 168.4); ἦρταμε (1555, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 177, 228.22); ἦρτα (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 6, 33.29); ἦρτασι (1663, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 1, 11); ἄν ἦθελε ἔρτει (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999a: 1, 277.11); ἦρτιν καλά / ἦρτιν καλά (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 49.5); ἔρτη (1697, Chios, TSELIKAS 2000: 99, 77.11) ἐξεγδάρτην LIMEN., Than. Rod. 525 ἐδιαφτεῖρτην Pent. Gen. 6.11 ἐπάρτην (16th c., Lesvos?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 70.III, 42.1) ἐβάρτην Cypr. Canz. 44.3
 τὸν ἄρτηκα (1648, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (8), 152.3) = τὸν νάρθηκα

/rx/ > /rk/

καλὸν ἄρκον (14th c.?, Thessaloniki?/Macedonia, TURYN 1980: 62 (8v).4); εἰς ἄρκον ἄνθρωπον Fior, Suppl. 273.26–7; τοὺς δύο ἄρκοντες (1638, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2004: 107.9) ἔρκοντα τοῦ κυροῦ Μανουὴλ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 36.21; ἔρκομαι ἀκ τ' ἀνάθεμα Anak.
Konst. 9; ἔρκουντενε (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 25.5); ποὺ ἔρκεται (1667, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 37, 39.16) τοὺς ἀγελαρκίδες / τοὺς ἀγελάρκηδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 308.35 ἥρκεψασιν τὸ πράγμα Liv. V 632; τραγουδίτζιν ἥρκισεν Achil. L 1211 τὸ Ἄρκιπέλαγος (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.25) ἐπίσκοπος καὶ ἑξαρκος πατριαρχικός (1618, Mani, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90: vol. 3: 24, 271.24)

On the basis of the above, dissimilation involving /r/ + voiceless stop appears from the 14th c. onwards, and is less widely attested than the previous types, both geographically and from the point of view of register. However, this is partly due to the limited number of lexical items presenting the relevant phonetic environment. So far, the change is attested in the following areas: Cyprus, Chios, Dodecanese, N. Aegean, Asia Minor, Macedonia, Peloponnese, Thrace, Heptanese.

On the other hand, dissimilation involving /r/ + voiced fricative, e.g. /rð/ > /rd/ or /rt/, /rɣ/ > /rg/ or /rk/ (MENARDOS 1969: 11; NEWTON 1972a: 109–10), has not been found in the texts examined, apart from two Cypriot examples: οἱ Βουρκάροι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 452.23 < Βουργάροι < Βουλγάροι; ὁ τὸ κάτερκον ἐνέβηκεν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 67 < κάτεργον. Another indirect piece of evidence for Cypriot comes from a word presenting consonantization of the semivowel /j/ after /r/, namely πιθάρια [piθarja] > πιθάρκα [piθarka], written in a Latin document as abl. pl. pitarcis (see 2.9.4). The establishment of this form of the change should probably not be placed before the 17th c.

More extreme cases of manner dissimilation, characterizing the South-Eastern dialect group, may be indirectly gauged from meagre Cypriot evidence. More specifically, the dissimilation process disallowing consecutive voiced fricatives such as /vɣ, vð, ɣð/ leads in Modern Cypriot to the corresponding voiceless fricative + stop clusters /fk, ft, xt/ (PANDELIDIS 1929: 36 and 43–4; NEWTON 1972a: 109–12). Such an evolution may lie behind the spelling <φγ> for <βγ> in ἀποφγαλμένοι Assizes B 274.24–5; νὰ ἀποφγῇ ibid. 254.29; τρύφγει / τρίφγει ibid. 435.19.

3.8.1.4 Hypercorrection of Manner Dissimilation

In several instances, consonant clusters in LMedG and EMG texts can be interpreted as hypercorrection of the phenomenon of manner dissimilation (SCHMITT 1898: 5–27; DAWKINS 1939: 26–7; JANNACONE 1951; CHARALAMBAKIS 1995), leading to a variety of non-etymological forms, devoid of phonetic reality, but providing important evidence for the distribution of the dissimilation change: because different consonant clusters have identical outcomes (e.g. both /kt/ and /xθ/ become /xt/, and both /pt/ and /fθ/ become /ft/), the dissimilated consonant cluster may, through hypercorrection, be replaced by the “wrong” original, a phenomenon also known as “inverse writing”, e.g.

ἐγράπτῃ (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 103.12)

κόφθει Liv. E 1739

φθωχολογία SKLAVOS, Symf. 25

φθέρνει ΡΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 519 με φθερῶ / με φθερὸ (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 298, 212.12) ὠρέκτην Liv. S 1726

ἐκαταδέκτησαν Chron. Mor. H 242 app. crit. (P) μαζωκτεῖτε Thysia Avr. 195 παρχατώττεροι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 256.10, cf. παρχατώτερος MEURSUS, Gloss. s.v.

Another possible source of hypercorrect spellings are original fricative + stop clusters that are reanalysed as results of dissimilation of stop + stop or fricative + fricative, e.g.

ἀπαρσάλεπτος (1168–9, Calabria, GUILLOU 1963: 10, 104.24) εἶπέν της λόγους εἰς τ' ἄπτιν Log. parig. L 632; σκρόφαν κουτζάπταν μίαν (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 95.79) ἰ τειάπτει μαρτ(υ)ρία / ἡ τοιάπτη μαρτυρία (1051, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 3, 49.7) ναπτῶν (1548, Corfu, PANGRATIS 1999/2000: 1, 41.16) τοῦ ἀγορασθοῦ (1178, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 12, 111.13) ὕσθατους κληρονόμους (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 2, 22.18) ἐπήσθευσαν / ἐπίσθευσαν Chron. Mor. P 57 app. crit. (P) κανισχί(ων) / κανισκίων (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 182.10) εὐχολα νὰ τὸ δώκης Spaneas Z 189

3.8.1.5 Morphophonological Manner Dissimilation

From a purely synchronic/ahistoric point of view, it may be assumed that MedG and EMG (as indeed SMG, for which see HOLTON et al. 2012: 21–2) possess a dissimilatory rule which affects morphologically derived sequences of stem-final fricative + suffixal sibilant, resulting in sequences of stop + sibilant. This apparent dissimilatory rule is the synchronic effect of an AG assimilatory process operating in the same morphophonological environment, whereby AG aspirated stops became deaspirated and voiced stops became devoiced before /s/ (see LEJEUNE 1972: 72–3; SIHLER 1995: 203–4). For MedG and EMG, this environment appears specifically in the formation of the perfective verbal stem, through the addition of the aorist formant {s} (see III, 2.2.1). More specifically, the sounds involved are the voiced and voiceless velar and labial fricatives, which are replaced by the corresponding voiceless stops before /s/. Dental fricatives are simply deleted before /s/, which again bears witness to the non-phonetic but rather inherited origin of the rule, as AG disallowed the sequence /ts/ (see above 3.2.6). Schematically:

τρέχ-ω ['trexo] → τρέχ-σ-ω ['trexso] → τρέξω ['trekso] διαλέγω [ðia'leɣo] → διαλέγ-σ-ω [ðia'leɣso] → διαλέξω [ðia'lekso] γράφ-ω ['ɣrafo] → ξ-γράφ-σ-α ['eɣrafsa] → ξγραψα ['eɣrapsa] κλέβω ['klevo] → ξ-κλεβ-σ-α ['eklevsa] → ξκλεψα ['eklepsi] πλάθω ['plaθo] → ξ-πλαθ-σ-α ['eplaθsa] → ξπλάσα ['eplasa]

3.8.2 Palatalization

Palatalization is a cover term for a variety of fronting phenomena involving sequences of consonant + front vowel or semivowel (see MANOLESSOU/PANTELIDIS 2013 for terminological issues). There are two main types of palatalization: (a) velar palatalization: velar consonant /k, g, x, ɣ/ + /e, i, j/ and (b) dental palatalization: /s, z, n, l/ + /j, i/.

3.8.2.1 Velar Palatalization

Velar palatalization can be assumed to exist in all forms of LMedG and EMG, similarly to MG: the velar consonants all have a palatal allophone before front vowels. The evidence for this phenomenon is only indirect, since the Greek spelling does not denote the velar vs. palatal allophonic distinction, and the letters <κ, γ, χ> serve for both variants. However, there is considerable indirect evidence of the phenomenon.

The Grammars of Germano and Portius clearly state that /k, ɣ, x/ are pronounced differently depending on whether they are followed by /a, o, u/ or /e, i/ (PERNOT 1907/46: I 50–1; PORTIUS, Grammar 9, 11). The palatalized pronunciation of velars before the front vowels /e, i/ is evident from transcriptions in the Arabic script, where two different symbols are used for the two allophones, [x] vs. [ç], [k] vs [c] and [ɣ] vs. [j] (LEHFELDT 1989: 57–60; KAPPLER 1999: 705–6). Transcriptions in the Old Church Slavonic alphabet also employ different letters to denote the palatal allophones (VASMER 1922: 5).

Occasionally, the Greek alphabet also indicates palatalization before /e/ by the addition of a non-etymological <ι> (cf. DAWKINS 1932: II 34):

σάρκiais / σάρκιες VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 37.19 app. crit.
 κιε πνεματικός / καὶ πνεματικός (1501, Cyprus, MALTEZOU 1987: 2, 12.19) νὰ διαγιέρνη (1514, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 115, 227.31) τις καλογιέρους (1576, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 19, 150.3) ἔγιες / αἴγες (1666, Santorini, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 26, 22.99) οἱ πτωχοὶ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 80.20 ἀποὺ διδαχίες Pist. kekoim. 13 τζή Χιέρονίσος / τση Χερονήσος (1625, Crete, VLACHAKI 1986: 22, 445.5)

Similarly, the Latin alphabetic script in areas of Italian influence employs the trigraph <chi> and <ghi> in order to denote the palatal pronunciation of /k/ and /x/ before /e/:

istes filachies / εἰς τὲς φυλακὲς (1394, Crete, SANTSCHI 1976: 1597, 344.14–15) na ghierome / νὰ χαίρομαι CHORTATIS, Erof. I.420 transcr. X (Legrand) chierós / καιρὸς Thysia Avr. 4 transcr. M chie icama chie ecraxassin / καὶ ἦκαμα καὶ ἐκράξασιν (1639, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 11, 112.11)

3.8.2.2 Strong Velar Palatalization

Apart from the palatalization of /k, ɣ, x, g/ > [c, j, ç, ʝ] which is common to all forms of MedG and EMG, certain dialectal areas exhibit a stronger form of palatalization which leads to affrication of the velar consonant (a phenomenon frequently referred to in the literature as “tsitakismos” in the case of /k/). The precise phonetic realization of the palatalized consonant is impossible to determine from the spelling, and it may vary from area to area and from period to period: /k/ must have varied between [tʃ] (as in Modern Cypriot), [tɕ]/[cʰ] (as in Modern Cretan), and [ts] (as in Modern Cycladic and Old Athenian), and /g/ between [dʒ], [dz] and [dz̥]; for terminological issues and geographical distribution in MG dialects see MANOLESSOU/PANTELIDIS 2013.

Indications as to palatalization type can be gleaned from the Early Modern testimonies of Martinus Crusius’s Turcograecia (1584: 209) concerning Cyprus and Crete, and Jacob Spon’s Voyage en Grèce (1677: II 194–5), concerning the language spoken in Athens, Boeotia and Euboea. In the first case, Crusius’s Cypriot informant, Stamatis Donatos, when describing the palatalization found in Crete, pronounces a “heavy” sound which differs from regular [ts], spelled <τζ>, and which Crusius renders as <τσχ> (ἀρνάτσχο). In all probability, this is the palatoalveolar affricate [tʃ] which characterizes the modern Cypriot dialect. Crusius again, in an unpublished ms (see MANOLESSOU/TOUFEXIS 2011), records the Cypriot dialectal form ἄπέρκι (= ἄπ' ἔκει), which, rather than geminated and aspirated, could again be considered as an indication of palatoalveolar affrication. In the second case, Spon states: “Ils ont à Athenes, à Thebes & à Negrepont une prononciation toute particuliere du Ke & du Ki, qu'ils prononcent comme ci nous écrivions Tché, Tchi, de même qu le C. des Italiens.” Here again, a palatoalveolar [tʃ] is implied, although 19th-c. testimonies concerning the Old Athenian dialect show that it had simple alveolar [ts] (CHALKIOPULOS 1872: 357). A similar palatoalveolar realization is probable for S. Italy, given the influence of adstratal Romance and the evidence of the modern dialect.

It has been suggested that the modern variant realizations of palatalization are a reflection of the historical process of spread of the phenomenon (TRUDGILL 2003: 56–7): the most fronted modern realizations, i.e. [ts] and [dz], would represent the last stage, and therefore the areas where the change is oldest (and where it probably began), while the areas which exhibit less fronting, i.e. [tʃ] and [dʒ], would be those where the change took longest to reach. In this scenario, the change must have originated somewhere in mainland Greece (the Peloponnese or Attica) and have spread southwards, reaching first Crete and later the outlying areas of Cyprus and the Dodecanese. Unfortunately, the historical record shows the reverse picture, as the oldest attestations come from Cyprus, and there are no attestations from the Peloponnese and Attica before the late 17th c. Although this is partly due to historical accident (non-availability of earlier records), the notion of southward spread is hard to maintain, because the southernmost areas (Cyprus and the Dodecanese, but especially Crete) enjoyed a higher cultural level than the Ottoman-occupied mainland Greece, and were therefore less likely to be on the receiving end of a change spreading from these areas. Furthermore, the modern realization of the phenomenon varies in adjacent areas (e.g. North-West Maniot [ts] vs. South-East Maniot [tʃ]), something which cannot be accounted for through a straightforward wave-like spread of a sound change.

In the case of /x/, strong palatalization leads to sibilant [ʃ] or [s], which is detectable in manuscripts through the spelling <σ> before a front vowel. Because in some areas the same sound also results from the palatalization of /s/ before /i, j/ (see 3.8.2.3), the spelling <χι> may be used to denote palatalization of /s/. Thus, the spelling <χι> for palatalized /s/ constitutes evidence of both types of palatalization, dental (directly) and velar (indirectly).

The outcome [ʃ] or [s] results also from the combination of the cluster [sk] + front vowel, in Cyprus and Chios, in texts from the late 17th c. onwards: τοῦ χχύλλου (<σχύλου) KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 41; σσεπάρνην <σκεπάρνην (1678, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 453.9, see PERNOT 1907/46: I 244); cf. also the variant spellings of the Cypriot place name Ἀσκία/Ἀχέα/Asquie/Achia in the sources (DAWKINS 1932: II 164–5).¹⁷ In Pontic, a front vowel following the cluster /sk/ results in the palatalization of [sk] > [ʃk], which is attested in a 15th-c. text with Pontic elements written in Arabic script (HENRICH 1990: 363; for the phenomenon in Modern Pontic see ΠΑΠΑΔΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ 1958: 28): πᾶχυον τὸν σκύλον σου (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 97.1d).

¹⁷ It has been suggested (KAHANE/KAHANE 1973: 13) that the form σχύβαλον appearing in a 12th-c. (1116) Sicilian document is an early indication of this phenomenon, which also characterizes the modern dialects of S. Italy; however, it is more likely that this is a simple case of hypercorrection of manner dissimilation in the cluster [sk] (for which see 3.8.1.4).

Strong palatalization of /k/ and /g/ is attested in the following areas in the LMedG and EMG periods: Cyprus, Rhodes, Kos, Kastellorizo, Chios, Kydonies, Andros, Naxos, Peloponnese (Corinthia, Achaia, Arcadia, Tsakonia),¹⁸ Skyros, Athens, Thebes, Euboea and S. Italy (Calabria) – a distribution corresponding to the modern one (MANOLESSOU/PANTELIDIS 2013). The oldest attestations come from 15th-c. Cyprus: the isolated forms βολίκιν (Fr. volige) and παπούγκια (Turk. papuç) in Machairas, a hypercorrection (DAWKINS 1932: II 34–5; PANDELIDIS 1922); but there are no other instances in 15th- and 16th-c. Cypriot texts, and attestations are very scarce even in the 17th c. In fact, Cypriot documents written in the Latin script occasionally betray the non-affrication of palatal [c]:

apo quinous tous vasilef (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 71, f.Iv.1–2); o Jazon epetanen is tin Quipron (ibid. 72, f.IIr.8); ton pion tou quirin (ibid. 73, f.IIr.8) dou cazal de Quity (1468, Nicosia, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 49, 26.1) = Κίτιον; en leuq de Quiriaco tou Toupi (1468, Alyki, ibid. 15, 10.2) apoclismeny is tin Querinian apou tous Saraquinous (15th c., Cyprus, BAGLIONI 2006: 202.34)

For Crete, there is only the indirect testimony of Crusius from the 16th c., but there are no traces of the phenomenon in Cretan literature or in Cretan documents, written in either the Greek or the Latin alphabet (see e.g. VINCENT 1980: ξε'–ξς'). A possible exception is the interchange of καί and σέ and the spelling τσ' for κ' in the manuscript of Pistikos voskos (JOANNOU 1962: 23), and also the hypercorrect spelling <γγ> for the name of the author Ἀνδρέας Σκλέντζας: Ἀνδρέου Σκλεγγίου SKLENTZAS, Ain. Zood. Pig. 71. Another meagre indication could be provided by two isolated lexical items implying permanent affrication of /k/ before /i/: λιάτσι Katis 31, 47 (<ήλιάκι) can be contrasted with a reverse hypercorrect rendering of the suffix -ίτσιν as -ίκιν, ἄστρίκιν Liv. E 2134 (if indeed any sort of Cretan influence may be recognized in this text, pace the objections of GEORGACAS 1982: 135). It could perhaps be assumed that the phenomenon was present in Early Modern Cretan without being recorded, if the spelling operated on an unconscious, allophonic level (cf. the similar practice in Modern Cretan dialectal texts). For S. Italy, attestations come from a single 16th-c. document (a manuscript note recording the transition from the Greek to the Latin rite), which is one of the last written in Greek script in the area. For Thebes and Euboea, owing to the lack of sources, there is only the 17th-c. evidence of the traveller Spon quoted above.¹⁹

Most of the instances of velar palatalization are detectable through hypercorrection, i.e. by the use of <κ, γκ, γγ> even in words with etymological [ts, dz].

¹⁸ Evidence for the phenomenon in Tsakonian comes from the 17th-c. Ottoman traveller Evliya Çelebi, who gives a transcription in the Arabic/Ottoman script of the words tancala (= τήν τσέλλα = τήν κέλλα = τὸ σπίτι) and erzaci (= ἐδιάτσε = ἐδιάβηκε) (PERNOT 1934: 503; KOSTAKIS 1980/81: 276). The Arabic script indicates a fronted realization of velar /k/ as [tʃ].

¹⁹ Two possible traces of strong velar palatalization in Euboea can be detected in the hypercorrect form ξενούκινη for ξενούτσικη Poulol. 453 app. crit. (C), and in the palatalized form λουρίτσι for the common λουρίκι in Arm. 163 (Eideneier), from a manuscript copied in 1461 in Frankish Euboea by a native of the area, Nikolaos Agiomnitis, who was of Athenian descent (REINSCH 2005: 43, further details in REINSCH 1998).

- τῆσαι τον ἐκάμεν / τσαι τὸν ἐκάμεν (1572, S. Italy, VIOLI 2006: 311.10); να εχούσυν ετζοίνοι / νὰ ἔχουσιν ἔτσεινοι (ibid. 311.20)
- τὸ ρυάτζι / τὸ ρυάτσι (1590, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 42, 64.4)
- τζίλιακόν GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. cacarella (= τσοιλιακόν)
- στοὺς Ἀμπελοτζίηπους (1634, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 331.10–11)
- Περάτζις Τζικαλὰς / Περάτσης Τσικαλὰς (1649, Crete, ΠΑΝΟΠΟΥΛΟΥ 2003: 2, 149.83) < Περάκης
- πλέκουν μετὰ του τοὺς κέστους, ἦγουν τζέστους MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v. τζέστος
- Τζεργαζή τοῦ Φαμιλιώτη (1653, Kydonies, PATRINELIS 1993/94: 16.29) < Κυριαζή (?)
- τὸ Γιαννάτζη (1655, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 178.11)
- ὅλες τζ' οὐλές / ὅλες κι οὐλές Pist. voskos I.3, 128 app. crit.; τζ' ἐλπίδες / κ' ἐλπιδες ibid. I.4, 206 app. crit.
- οἱ τζαούρηδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2212 < γκιαούρης
- εἰς τὸ Τζεφαλόβρυσσ (1683, Dimitsana / Peloponnese, YANNAROPOYLOU 1972: 95, 322.3)
- σκολαρίτζια / σκολαρίτσια (1688, Akova / Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 137.15)
- πατρογονιτζή (1672, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1982/83: 6, 96.5)
- παραδάτσα (1722?, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 481.14)
- ἐναν βολίκιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 572.25 < Fr. volige
- Γγιουζέπη Γγιουστινιὰ (1518, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 391.3)
- χαράκια (1573, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 4, 14.24); χαράκι (1635, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 182.4) < χαράτσι
- χωγγετι / χογγέτι (1583, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 28, 169.15); μὲ χουκέντιν καὶ μὲ ὀστρουμέντον (1666, Chios, FOTEINOS 1865: 254.2); χονκέτι (1672, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 6, 169.36) = χοτζέτι
- χαγκῆ Χασάνης / Χατζῆ Χασάνης (1597, Andros, POLEMIS 1982: 3, 90.4)
- τοῦ κιαοῦση Chron. Tourk. Soult. 37.33 < Turk. çavus
- σαγκιάκιν / σαγκιάκιν (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3.8) < hypercorrection of Turk. sancak [sandzak]
- τενκερέ / τεγκερέ (1627, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 240.23) < hypercorrection of Turk. tencere
- τεγγέρους (1687, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 10, 224.29)
- τοῦ Χακῆ Χαρίτου Ρεῖζη (1637, Kastellorizo, GRÉGOIRE 1922: 299, 101.11)
- Κελεπίς (1682, Patras / Peloponnese, TSELIKAS 1986a: 3, 672.37)
- ο Βενεκιανός / ὁ Βενεκιάνος (1686, Corinthia / Peloponnese, LAMBROS 1910: 315, 201.1)
- τοῦ Βενεκυάνου / τοῦ Βενεκιάνου (1687, Athens, LAMBROS 1910: 320, 202.2)
- γγιακομενοὶ / γγιακωμένοὶ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 210 (see DAWKINS 1939: 26–7)

Since the sporadic change of etymological [ts] to [k] before front vowels is attested in certain MG dialects, as an established hypercorrect reaction to stigmatized velar fronting (“anti-tsitakismos”, cf. DAWKINS 1939: 26–30; ZEUGOLIS 1956 for Naxos, MANESIS 1964/65: 156 for Mykonos and KOUKOULES 1923: 290 for Kythnos, cf. also JOSEPH 2011: 41), the possibility that the hypercorrect spellings appearing in EMG documents may reflect actual pronunciation cannot be rejected; but in any case this phenomenon has its origin in the existence of strong palatalization in an area, and therefore constitutes indirect evidence for it irrespective of whether the hypercorrect variants are purely graphematic or also phonetic.

The geographical areas for which evidence of strong palatalization of /x/ is actually available are Cyprus, Pontos, Chios and Kalymnos (for the latter see KOLIOPOULOU 2009: 417). The earliest certain attestations come from 15th-c. Cyprus, but it is possible to lower the date to the 12th c. if a number of lexical items from a 12th-c. Latin–Greek glossary, written in Latin script (AERTS 1995), are interpreted as instantiations of the phenomenon with provenance from Cyprus:²⁰ ταψισικα / τὰ ψυσικὰ (1469, Paphos / Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 117, 56.11)

= ψυχικά

ισεσ / εἶχες Cypr. Canz. 100.10

Ἀρσιπελάγου (app. crit.) (16th c., Northern Aegean?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 70.IV, 52.1–2) εἰς θέσιν Ράση (1722?, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 481.4) = Ράχη esquis sumin? / ξ[σ]χεις ψωμίν; (12th c., Cyprus?, AERTS 1995: 2, 206.1); surridia, probata /

χιουρίδια, πρόβατα (ibid. 2, 207.2)

A possible indication of the palatalization /x/ > [ʃ] in medieval Asia Minor is provided by the poems of Jalal ad-Din Rumi and his son Sultan Walad, written in the Arabic script. The first editor of these poems, G. MEYER (1895: 406, 410), already noted the systematic use of the Arabic grapheme “shin”, which has the phonetic value [ʃ], for the writing of /x/ before the front vowels /e/ and /i/, e.g. χείλη šili, ψυχὴν bsišin, and connected it with the corresponding modern dialectal evidence. Later editors of the poems (DEDES 2003: 12) prefer to view this spelling as simply a means of denoting a fronted palatal pronunciation of /x/ as [ç], for which there is no Arabic grapheme available. However, in view of the fact that the change /x/ > [ʃ] before front vowels is typical of both Pontic and Cappadocian, including the dialects of Pharasa and Silli (DAWKINS 1916: 45; MANOLESSOU/PANTELIDIS 2013: 281), it should be considered a relatively early feature of Asia Minor Greek, so a dating of the phenomenon to the 13th c. is not unlikely, and the graphematic evidence of Rumi’s poems need not be discarded out of hand. A recent edition of the Greek verses in another poem by Sultan Walad, the Ibtidânâme, also points out the consistent spelling of /x/ before the front vowels /e/ and /i/ with the Arabic grapheme “shin”, and interprets it as an indication of strong palatalization of [ç] > [ʃ] (KAPPLER 2010: 388 fn. 17): pšiši, = ψυχή, šilyus = χίλιους.

There is no evidence for strong palatalization of /y/.

3.8.2.3 Dental Palatalization

3.8.2.3.1 [n] > [ɲ] and [l] > [ʎ] before /j, i/

The dental nasal /n/ and the lateral /l/ undergo palatalization before front vowels and semi-vowels. One may distinguish palatalization before /j/, a semivowel resulting from synizesis of /i/ (for which see 2.4.7 and 2.9.4), which occurs in all areas displaying synizesis and is datable accordingly, and palatalization before the front vowel /i/, which is geographically restricted.

²⁰ A very early and isolated attestation from S. Italy, ἕτερον λασίδιν (1060–1, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 4, 58.14 = λαχίδιον < λαγγάνω), is puzzling and should probably be considered a graphematic error, as palatalization of /x/ is absent from the MG S. Italian dialects (see CARACAUSI, Lex. s.vv. λασίδιν, λαχίδιον; MANOLESSOU/PANTELIDIS 2013: 277 fn. 6 and references therein).

Evidence for palatalization before /j/ is difficult to establish, since the Greek alphabet has no way of denoting it. However, because in MG it appears in all dialects as well as in SMG (NEWTON 1972a: 137), it must have occurred comparatively early, probably simultaneously with the phenomenon of synizesis. Thus, spellings denoting synizesis through height dissimilation or stress shift (for which see 2.9.4) after /l/ and /n/ in all probability already involve a palatalized [ʎ] or [ɲ]:

- πλιόν BERGADIS, Apok. A 459 τριανταφιλιάς / τριανταφυλλιάς Katal. 5 ληῶφητα / λιώφουτα (1571, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 216, 308.7) τῖς ἑλιές (1573, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 2, 18.15) λιόντα Cypre Canz. 1.1
 νιές BERGADIS, Apok. A 143; τὰ νιά KONДАР., Paides 988 νιούτσιε TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 270 τὴν νειότην LIMEN., Than. Rod. 466 γονίους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.7 βουνιά FALIEROS, Thrinios 223

Furthermore, in Crete, Cyprus and Corfu the spellings <γν> and <γλ> are occasionally used in order to denote palatalized sounds, in imitation of Italian and French <gn> and <gl>, thus providing more direct evidence of the phenomenon (see also 3.5.2.3):

- ἀναμεγλιά TROILOS, Rodol. 2.465 τὰ λεγόμενα κοπέγια (1660, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 15, 377.26); τὰ σταφύγια (ibid. 397.1) ἑγλιάν (1679, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 16, 41.17); περβογλοῦ (1699, ibid. 39, 95.6) ἰστιν κερῖγνιαν / εἰς τὴν Κερύγνειαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 100.37 τοὺς φογνιάδες / τοὺς φογνιάδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 140.7–8 εγνια / ἑγνιά (1640, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 4, 11.9) ἑγνιακόσιες (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 62.14) εἰς τὰ χρόγνια / εἰς τὰ χρόνια (1642, Crete, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 21, 16.41) τοῦ Γνιοχωρίου (1503, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 226, 190.2) μπεζουγνιάρει (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 62.35)

Another graphematic indication of the existence of palatalized [ɲ] involves /m/ followed by the semivowel /j/ in cases of synizesis: the combination [mj] + V results in [mɲ] + V, through consonantization of the palatal semivowel to a palatal nasal (for this see 2.9.4). This outcome is frequently spelled <μνι> in Cretan literary and non-literary texts, and occasionally in texts from other areas:

- μνιά νύκτα / μιὰ νύκτα Rim. kor. A 2 app. crit.
 νὰ ζημνιώση MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 316.2 ἔπεθυμνιάς FALIEROS, Ist. On. 75 ὁ ἀναδεξιμνιός (1519, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 57, 107.35) ἀσημνιοῦ Pent. Gen. 23.15 τὰ κορμνιά μας (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 9, 10.15) mnian hora / μνιὰν ὥρα CHORTATSIS, Erof. I.408 transcr. X (Legrand) ἐχλώμνιανεν Thysia Avr. 198 app. crit. (B) τοὺς Ρομνιούς / τοὺς Ρωμνιούς (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 59.41) βαπτισμινιό της (1663, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 235, 147.11)

τὰ ποτάμνια (17th c., Unknown, ŠANGIN 1936: 4, 137.20)

ή μνιά, τής μνιάς KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 110.3

Evidence for the second type of palatalization, before /i/, comes from the testimony of EMG grammars. Thus Germano (GERMANO, Grammar 51.30; PERNOT 1907/46: I 335) and Portius (PORTIUS, Grammar 9–10, 88) state that in certain Greek-speaking areas the sounds [l] and [n] are pronounced like Italian <gli>, <gni>, giving the examples σώνει <sógni>, and παρακαλεῖ <paracagli>. Unfortunately Germano does not specify which areas present the phenomenon (though certainly not Chios), but it is emphasized that it is a dialectal feature best avoided. The modern dialectal distribution of the phenomenon includes the northern dialects, Zakynthos, East Crete, and parts of the Peloponnese (NEWTON 1972a: 137). Direct evidence is provided by the spellings <gn> in the Latin alphabet and <γν> in the Greek, which are quite frequent in Crete, and are also to be found in the Corona Preciosa.²¹ ossa bugli / ὡσὼν πουλὶ P&N Diath. 3421 app. crit.

thegli / θέλει CHORTATSIS, Erof. I.379 transcr. X (Legrand)

i angegli / οἱ ἀγγέλοι Thysia Avr. 6 transcr. M na to pglithigni / νὰ τὸ πληθύνει FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.9 app. crit.

pepogni πεπόνη Corona Preciosa E 3^r.20–1 isse echigni / εἰς ἐκείνη CHORTATSIS, Erof. I.388 transcr. X (Legrand) mu fagnistichie / μοῦ ᾿φανίστηκε Thysia Avr. 593 transcr. M; efagnichiemu / ἐφάνηκέ μου ibid. 594 dhen agnixte to stomandu / δὲν ἄνοιξε τὸ στόμαν του (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 198.151) narghignisso / ν’ ἀρχινήσω FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.97 transcr.

Palatalization before /e/ is rarely attested, through the spelling <νιε> instead of <νε>:

ηνιε / εἶναι (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468); ἡνγε / εἶναι (1537, Ierapetra region / Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 173.10); νάν ἡνηαι / νὰν εἶναι (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 1, 79.23)

πλάνιες σιδηρές (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: Inv. 2, 284.34)

ἐπλάνιευε Bertoldin. 112.15

As a dialectal phenomenon (mostly in Crete), palatalization of /n/ also appears before back vowels, in specific lexical items. These should be considered lexical or analogical cases of palatalization, unconnected to phonetic reasons. The most frequent lexical items presenting the phenomenon are the verb φωνιάζω (φωνιάζω), the adjective μόνος (μόνιος) and the adverb συχνά (συχνιά):

φωνιάζω DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 58; μηδὲ φωνιάζεις Thysia Avr. 935 μόνιους νὰ μᾶς ᾠφῆσου CHORTATSIS, Erof. Interm. II.98 συχνιάζει LIMEN., Than. Rod. 518; συχνιά LANDOS, Geopon. 248.12

²¹ Additional evidence of the phenomenon comes from an unpublished trilingual biblical glossary from the Cairo Genizah, probably datable to the 16th c. (Julia Krivoruchko, p.c.). It is written in the Hebrew script, and includes words which present (though not consistently) dental palatalization of /n/ and /l/ before /i/, such as θέλγημα, θρονj.

Another case of apparent palatalization of non-phonetic origin concerns a number of verbal forms belonging to the oxytone declension, which present an intrusive semivowel after the last consonant of the stem, mostly, but not exclusively, in texts from Crete:

τούς καλιοῦν εἰς πόλεμον Assizes B 464.23 ζιώντας / ζιώντας (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 45, 54.2) ὥστε νὰ ζιῶ CHORTATISIS, Erof. Interm. I.152 ζιῶ (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 8, 7.5); νὰ ζιοῦμε (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.14)

These should be interpreted as morphological variants deriving from the analogy of oxytone verb forms on the basis of stems ending in the vowel /i/, such as μηνύω > μηνῶ. For details see III, 2.1.2.2.4.1. For διῶ see 3.9.1.

3.8.2.3.2 /s/ > /ʃ/ before /j/

In certain areas, /s/ undergoes palatalization under the influence of the palatal semivowel /j/, resulting from synizesis of /i/. The phenomenon is detectable in LMedG and EMG texts through the spelling <χι> instead of <σι>, since the sequence /x/ + /i/ also results in [ʃ] in some areas (see 3.8.2.2). Thus, since both sequences /xi/ and /sj/ are pronounced the same, i.e. as [ʃ], they are written the same, as <χι>. There are abundant examples of this spelling from Cyprus, and one from the Crimea (DAWKINS 1932: II 32; HENRICH 1996b: 182; HENRICH 2002: 333–5; SYMEONIDIS 2006: 185):

κουρτεχία MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 472.10 ἱχία MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 462.18; ἱχία Fior 89.11; ἱχιον Fior, Suppl. 279.8–9 Λευκωχιάτες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 420.18 ta carcha / τὰ καρτσά (15th c., Cyprus, BAGLIONI 2006: 202.37) [kartʃá] τοῦ Μαχομέτ Μπαχιά MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 100.33; παχίας VOUSTR., Chron. A 132.18; τοὺς παχιᾶδες του Thrinós Kyp. 5 φανταχιά Fior 82.31
 τσαρχία IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 359 του Ἀχαμετ(ι) σουπαχ(ι) / τοῦ Ἀχαμέτη σούμπαχη (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3–5.13) τετρακόχια (1692, Cyprus, Mitropoulos 1923: A, 325.5) ἀλλ' ἑφτακόχες τοῦ ὅδιεν KONST. ΔΙΑΚ., Ist. Makaritou Marko 268 αποκρηχηρη / ἀποκρισ' ἄρη (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.1)

Evidence for /s/ > /ʃ/ is also provided from reverse spellings of words containing /x/ + /i/ as <σι> instead of <χι> from Cyprus and Chios (see examples in 3.8.2.2).

Thus, the only areas for which the phenomenon is attested in the Medieval and Early Modern periods are Cyprus, Chios and the Crimea, because these areas, coincidentally, also show palatalization of /x/, which helps to identify the phenomenon in the written sources.

Another possible case of /s/ palatalization occurs in the adaptation of loanwords containing the fronted sibilant or affricate sounds [ʃ] or [tʃ], which may be represented, mostly in texts from northern areas, with the spellings <σι>, <τζι>. Furthermore, from the 17th c. onwards, the same spelling convention may be used to denote palatalization of /s/, /ks/, /ps/, in native vocabulary, before /i/ and /e/, as a local phenomenon of the dialect of Thessaloniki, for which there is solid modern dialectal evidence (PAPADOPOULOS 1926: 27–8; ANDRIOTIS 1958: 148; KOSMAS 1972: 320; KATSANIS 2012: 91–2):

Καρατζεῖα / Καρατζιά (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 78.2) < Karadja

Χαραῖτην μπάσιας (16th c., Sozopolis/E. Thrace, SCHREINER 1975/79: 57, 7.1) < Turk. paşa

ἡ αλατζιάδης / οἱ ἀλατζιάδης (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 9, 73.24) < Turk. alaca όπουτι ἦνι δεψιασμένοι / όπουτι εἴνι δεψιασμένοι (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 68.3) δὲν ξιέρου (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 6, 63.13)

For the palatalization of /t/, i.e. the affrication /t/ > /ts/ before /i/ see 3.2.6.1. The phenomenon of depalatalization, i.e. deletion of the semivowel [j] after the consonants /s, z, r, l, n/ is discussed in 2.4.7.3–4.

3.8.3 Voicing and Devoicing

3.8.3.1 Definition and Historical Overview

The phenomenon of voicing affects voiceless stops when preceded by a nasal, and may be followed by the phenomenon of nasal deletion (see 3.6.2). Word-internally, it is a historical lexicalized phenomenon inherited from Koine Greek and constitutes a general phonotactic constraint in MedG (sequences of nasal + voiceless stop are disallowed; see 3.3.2). At morpheme and word boundaries, it is an active coarticulation (sandhi) rule. Post-nasal voicing is, cross-linguistically, a frequent and natural assimilatory phenomenon, whereby the feature [+voice] of the nasal spreads to the following stop.

Word-internal post-nasal voicing is attested since the 4th c. BC in inscriptions from Pamphylia (BRIXHE 2010: 234), but from no other area. It is present in papyri from the 1st c. AD onwards (DIETERICH 1898: 104–14; GIGNAC 1976: 81–3), possibly influenced by native language interference due to the absence of the voiced/voiceless contrast in Egyptian (HORROCKS 2010: 112). In all probability, the post-nasal voicing of voiceless stops is connected to the overall change of the Greek consonant system during the Hellenistic and Roman periods, and to the fricativization of voiced stops. This is indicated by the fact that the original AG voiced stops were preserved in later Greek only after a nasal (DRESSLER 1966b). This phenomenon constitutes, along with borrowing, the main source of voiced stops in MedG and MG (see 3.2.1.2).

On the contrary, post-nasal voicing at word boundaries seems a specifically Medieval and not a Koine phenomenon (CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: B 420); its first attestations come from the 15th c., and it is absent from the earlier corpora of LMedG, i.e. from the monastery archives of Athos and S. Italy (although, admittedly, historical orthography would in any case “hide” the phenomenon). It is explicitly described in the grammar of Germano: “Π, ὦ, π, suona, p, ma dopo μ, ὁ ν, suona come il b, nostro. πέμπω, pémbo, mando. τὸν πατέρα, tom batéra” (GERMANO, Grammar 51.6).

MedG also exhibits a sporadic phenomenon of intervocalic voicing of stops and fricatives, also a natural assimilatory phenomenon, which appears only in low-register texts without regularity. This phenomenon is attested from the 12th c. onwards. There is also very meagre evidence for voicing of fricatives adjacent to other voiced consonants, from the South-Eastern dialects.

Finally, devoicing of voiced stops concerns again only the South-Eastern dialects of Cyprus and the Dodecanese, where foreign voiced stops are adapted as voiceless ones, and the area of S. Italy, where interchange of voiced and voiceless stops occurs from the 11th c. onwards, prefiguring the modern dialectal situation.

3.8.3.2 Post-nasal Voicing

The phenomenon requires separate treatment for word-internal and word-initial positions. In the first case, because of the spelling conventions of the Greek alphabet, it is graphematically invisible, as voiced stops will in any case be spelled as combinations of nasal + voiceless stop, i.e. <μπ>, <ντ>, <γκ/γγ>. In MedG texts it is detectable only through hypercorrections of original nasal + voiced stop combinations, i.e. through spellings of <μπ> for <μβ> and <ντ> for <νδ> and the reverse, starting from the late Koine, e.g. κονδόν Theophanes, Chronogr. 441.21; σφοντύλιν De adm. imperio 53.325 and 345 (GIGNAC 1976: 81–2; PSALTES 1913: 93–4; JANNACONE 1951: 151). Examples from late MedG texts are abundant (cf. also MINAS ²2003: 64–5 for examples from S. Italian documents and 3.2.1.2):

Τζηάνι Καπονδίστρια / Τζιάνη Καπονδίστρια (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 183.19) πονδικούς Chron. Mor. H 2932 app. crit. (H) κονδαρέας Achil. O 673

μανδόν (1503, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 254, 213.1) σύνδροπον (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 2, 54.13)

τόν Παντέκτην (1258, Philadelphia?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 15, 157.162)

χοντρικώς (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 86, 163.101)

Φρατζέσχω Βλάχκω (1355, Palatia (Militos), MANOUSAKAS 1962b: 1, 234.6) = Francesco

Blanco

Voicing of word-initial voiceless stops after a word-final nasal takes place within a phonological phrase, i.e. in phrases involving proclitic words such as forms of the definite article (τόν, τήν, τών), the conjunctions ἄν, ὥσάν, the negations δέν and μήν, and the particle θενα > θά (see III, 5.1.4–5), as well as other close-knit syntactic phrases such as combinations of adjective + noun, preposition + object etc. The phenomenon is regular and automatic, but not always noted in the spelling (since there is no conventional way of representing voiced stops). As already mentioned, attestations come from the 15th c. onwards:

τόν μπ(ατέ)ραν μου (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 273.15) ἐν μπρώτοις (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 62, 179.6) εις την μπώλην / εις τήν Μπόλιν (1453, Constantinople, DALLEGIO D'ALESSIO 1939: 119.63) dhe bolema / δέν πολεμᾷ CHORTATSI, Erof. 2.105 transcr. X (Legrand) sto bollema / στόν πόλεμο Thysia Avr. 210 transcr. M σα μπερασυ / σᾶ μπεράση (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 82.107) τόν μπαπαῖ (1639, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 3, 112.9) την μπαραπόνεσι (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 24.6) ἄν μπατρευτοῦ (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 423, 643.27) dhe bisteugu P&N Diath. 66 app. crit.

dhedin / δέν τήν [ἐβγάτισα] P&N Diath. 108 app. crit.; sti dripa / στὴν τρύπα ibid. 208 app. crit.

ti dossi / τὴν τόση CHORTATISIS, Erof. I.499 transcr. X (Legrand) νάν τα κρατοί, νάν τα βόσκοι / νάν τὰ κρατῆ, νάν τὰ βόσκη (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 16, 94.8) εἰδὲ νάν τὸ ἔχη τὸ μοναστήρι (1600, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 98, 131.12) νάν τὸν ἐπροσκενήσω (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 2, 361.24)

νάν τὸ δώσουν (1635, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 182.5) νάν τὰ δίδουν (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 113.10)

νάν τοῦ λισεντζιάρειν (1687, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 277, 257.34)

τὴν {κ}γγάβαν / τὴν γκάβαν (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 9, 154.5) ἐν γκόμη / ἐν κώμη (1496, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1, 48.3) κανέναν γκαιρὸν / κανέναν γκαιρὸν (1548, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 119, 233.17)

τὴν γκαθαροσίνην τὴν γκαθολήκην (1571, Mani, CHASIOTIS 1970: 6.1, 241.10–11) μασαρίαν τῶν γγελιῶ / μασαρίαν τῶν κελλιῶ (1655, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 2001: 96.4) ανγκαλεσι / ἄν καλέση (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 113.11)

μὴν γγάνοντας / μὴν κάνοντας (1696, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 47, 141.15)

The regularity and extreme frequency of the phenomenon, combined with the equally frequent deletion of final /n/ which obscures phonetic conditioning, have led in certain cases to its lexicalization, i.e. to the permanent, lexical, voicing of a word-initial voiced stop irrespective of phonetic environment. Voicing of the enclitic forms of the personal pronoun is regular in Crete and the Cyclades, as is evident from the wealth of EMG attestations as well as modern dialectal data (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 63). For other lexical items, initial voicing is a sporadic phenomenon. Note that in manuscripts and modern editions the phenomenon is sometimes spelled as a non-etymological final /n/ attached to the previous word (see 3.7.2.1): to prochion dis / τὸ προκίον (προυκίό?) ντης (1394, Crete, SANTSCHI 1976: 1597, 344.11)

το πιαзмаη dy / τὸ πλάσμαν του (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 21) estilan don / ἔστειλάν τον (15th c., Cyprus, BAGLIONI 2006: 202.35) τὰ παιδιάν τονε / τὰ παιδιά ντωνε (1544, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [2], 7.11)

i thigateradu / ἡ θυγατέρα ν-του CHORTATISIS, Erof. I.581 transcr. X (Legrand); sta plutidu / στὰ πλούτη ν-του ibid. I.582 to stomandu / τὸ στόμαν του (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 198.151) οἱ κληρονόμοι ντου (1631, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 6, 136.22)

τοῦ πατέραν του (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 42, 193.17–18); οἱ γονοίν τος / οἱ γονοί ντως (1684, ibid. 414) λέγει ντων (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 26.12) εἰδαμένταις, idaméndes / εἰδαμέν τες GERMANO, Grammar 51.10

τὸ πλέον σὲ γκομπόνη / τὸ πλέον σὲ γκομπώνει Spaneas Z 357 app. crit.

ὁ μπρίγκηπας Chron. Mor. P 1327 τοῦ Μπίνδαρου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 143.33

κυρ μπαχουμηως / κύρ Μπαχούμιος (1595, Kefalonia, GARBIS 1999: 411.2)

ένα μπιθηάρι / ἕνα μπιθάρι (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 8, 86.26–7) μισιάρικα μπατοτινά (1575, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 134, 254.4) να μπέρνι / νὰ μπάρνη (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 41.34); και τα μπράματα / καὶ τὰ μπράματα (ibid. 128, 119.10) το μπουκύμας / τὸ μπουγγί μας MONTSEL., Evgena 462 app. crit. na mi pleroni bglio / νὰ μὴ πλερώνη μπλιὸ (1661, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 10, 105.103) διὰ τὰ μπέντε ὀνόματα (1691, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 59, 201.11) tone dirate / τόνε ντηρᾶται BAROZZI, Letter 359.24 τὸ ντεσταμέντο (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 81.102) τοὺς γκαρδινάλιους Alosis 175 στὸν Ἀγιάννη γκοντὰ (17th c., Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 44, 315.2–3)

3.8.3.3 Intervocalic Voicing

Occasionally, voiceless stops are voiced in intervocalic position, a cross-linguistically common type of voicing assimilation. It appears especially frequently in areas in contact with Italian, specifically S. Italy and the Heptanese. Except for isolated lexical items (e.g. κροντήρι < κρυωτήριο, ἀγκάθι < ἀκάνθιον), the phenomenon does not appear in SMG, but is quite frequent in MG dialects (TRIANDAPHYLIDIS 1909: 44; MINAS 1987b: 274). It may in some cases be a purely graphematic instance of hypercorrect nasal addition (“irrational nasal”; see 3.5.2.4), and it is difficult to distinguish from true cases of nasal addition; the presence of the word in MG dialects preserving nasals before voiced stops is the only certain diagnostic.

τοῦσ πλοῦμπους / τοὺς πλούμπους (1100, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 15, 203.15) τόμπον (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1949: 273.14) καταμπαντοῦ / Καταμπαντοῦ Chron. Mor. P 1502 app. crit. (P) Φιλίμπο / Φιλίμπο (1478, Lefkada, MALTEZOU 1983: 3, 22.Address) ντζιμπούνι Byz. Il. 446 τζίμπουρον / τσίμπουρον Krasop. AO 76 (reading of ms A, see Eideneier 1988: 35) ὅτι ἐμπούλησαν (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 5, 24.4) τὴν ἀμπιδούλα (1554, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 144, 193.10) essoberbissa / ἐσσοπερμπίσσα P&N Diath. 988 app. crit. < Ital. superbo λουμπούνια FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.352 < λούπινο τὸ μονομπάτι (1632, Gortynia / Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 16, 177.11) διβλαντάριν Ptoch. I 59 < βλαττίον βλαντιὰ Byz. Il. 146; ἀπὸ βλαντίου Velis. p 38 app. crit. (P) κριοντήρια δέκα (1325, Macedonia, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 64, 357.111) καμηλοπερπαντάρη Poulol. 23 app. crit. (P) ὄνταν τὸ ἄνθος τῆς Φραγκίας Chron. Mor. P 348 (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ὅταν) στοιχημάντων Assizes B 334.27 τοποτηρηνητὴν του Assizes A 222.6 ὅποντες (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 41, 52.13) σοντιρίας / σωντηρίας (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 40.12) Ἐγκατερίνης / Αἰγκατερίνης (1128, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 13, 97.1); Σαγκοτρίπου / Σαγκοτρύπου (1156, ibid. 28, 161.26) σαγκέλλιον (1193, Messina / Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 15, 125.33)

Σιγγελίας Liv. E 155

τσουγκάλιν Diig. Apoll. 488

ἀγκάθι Pent. Gen. 3.18

δύο λουγγέτα / δύο λουγκέτα (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.34) ανγκίσιρα / ἀγκίσσηρα (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), 28.12) ἤθελε σηνκωθῆν (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 180.3)

The same voicing assimilation is responsible, in rare cases, for the appearance of /b d g/ instead of /p t k/ in the environment between a vowel and a voiced consonant, usually a liquid:

ἐγκλησία / ἐγκλησία (1183, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: LV-100, 106.32)

ἡμπληκεύσασι Dig. G II.102

σαλμπίγγια Chron. Mor. P 643 ἐγκλέγει Cyp. Canz. 42.8

τὴν πάρντε του (1673, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 6, 581.8) καρέγκλες (1731, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 18, 36.13) (but probably from Ven. caregla)

It has been suggested (SCHWYZER 1933/34; KAPSOMENOS 1953b: 329–30; KAPSOMENOS 1985: 110; FANCIULLO 1985: 97–9) that at least some of these cases of voicing (ἐγκλησία, ἄμπλικεύω, ἄμπιδία, σάγκος etc.) are due to geminate dissimilation, i.e. to a process [kk] > [nk], [pp] > [mp] etc., and an effort to preserve consonantal differentiation and syllable structure threatened by the phenomenon of degemination. This interpretation is possible but unnecessary, and would in fact push back the phenomenon to the late Koine, although in several cases it is obvious that the lexical items involved are new.

Very rarely and only as a sporadic irregular phenomenon, intervocalic voicing assimilation or voicing assimilation between a vowel and a voiced consonant may affect voiceless fricatives as well, resulting in the corresponding voiced fricative. The latter phenomenon is characteristic of Cypriot in the modern period, but rare traces may be found in MedG and EMG texts as well (HADJIIOANNOU 1988: 207–8; TSOPANAKIS 1988; SYMEONIDIS 2006: 188):

Κυβισσ(άς) / Κιβησσᾶς (11th–13th c.?, Athens, GRANSTREM et al. 1976: A1, 39.10); Κηβισά (15th c., Athens?, DARROUZÈS 1964b: 67, 311.2) ἀποκεῖδες (1554, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 157, 206.12)

Στεβανῆς (1623, Chios, KAVVADAS 1950: 48.16) προσκεβαλάδε (1717, Skiathos, KARAVIDAS 2004: 2, 249.14) πέστροβες Don Kis. 10.20

τὸ αἰγμάλωτον Assizes B 404.2

ἔξαυνα / ἔξαβνα (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 452.30)

The phenomenon may, equally rarely, also affect word-initial fricatives, presumably in coarticulation with a preceding word ending in a vowel:

για βοδρ(α) / γιά βόδρα (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 15, 13.6) βουστάνια (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 44.34) < φουστάνι δείαφι (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), 28.10) < θειάφι

3.8.3.4 Devoicing

/b d g/ > /p t k/. In the South-East area, i.e. in Cyprus and the Dodecanese, and in Asia Minor, devoicing of adopted voiced stops is a regular phenomenon, consistently noted in MedG and EMG documents, and corroborated by MG dialectal data (TSOPANAKIS 1940: 162–3; HENRICH 1994: 139–40; HENRICH 1996b: 178; SYMEONIDIS 2006: 170–3). The phenomenon applies to loanwords from Italian, French and Turkish and is attested, at least for Pontos, since the 13th c.:

κ' ἐγὼ δοῦλος τοῦ μεγάλου σουλτάνου Πατρατίνης Ὁπου Πάκης (1215, Pontos, BEES 1922: 53.3–54.4) (= Badr-ad-Din Abu Bekr)

Χητήρ πεγής ὁ Τζαλαπής (1346/7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 255.6) τὴν σουπερπιάν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 24.31

μετὰ γυμνὰ τὰ πράτσα σου LIMEN., Than. Rod. 215 (scr. μετὰ)

Δασπουσού (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.20) < Fr. d'Aubusson

Φρά Γαπριέλ (1502, Kalymnos, KOUTELAKIS 1981: 1, 28.1)

του παστάρδου του πατέρα της VOUSTR., Chron. A 6.15

Περνάρδος Fior 73.19

ρουπίνιν Cypr. Canz. 114.5

Παλής (1653, Kydonies, PATRINELIS 1993/94: 15.17) περβανὰπέλουπαχίς / Περβανὰ Πελούπαχης (1666, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 1, 1.1) < Turk. böyükbashi ἐπάρθη τὸ κάστρον ἡ Σινώπη παρὰ τοῦ μεγάλου σουλτάνου Ἀζατίν Καϊ-Καούση (1215, Pontos, BEES 1922: 53.1–3) = Izz-ad-Din Kay Kawus εἰς τὸ Κουρτιστάν (1336, Trebizond, LAMBROS 1916a: 40.31) τῆς ἄνωθεν τάμε Ἀλὶς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 40.26

τὸ τουέριν Assizes A 150.19

τῆς Ἐκλετέρας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 18.31

The phenomenon should not be confused with the purely graphematic notation of nasal deletion before voiced stops, i.e. /mb nd ng/ > /b d g/, which occurs in all Greek-speaking areas, with both native and borrowed lexical items (see 3.6.2.1).

/v ð γ/ > /f θ χ/. Devoicing of voiced fricatives is again attested in the South-Eastern area, especially Cyprus, very sporadically, corroborated by modern dialectal evidence (PANDELIDIS 1929: 36, 38; TSOPANAKIS 1988). The phenomenon appears mostly in intervocalic position. One potential interpretation would be to consider it some sort of false restitution/hypercorrection, after regular deletion of an intervocalic voiced fricative, although in such cases the expected outcome would be a voiced, not voiceless fricative (see 3.8.5.2). Alternatively, it could be viewed as a voicing dissimilation due to an adjacent voiced consonant (SYMEONIDIS 2006: 188).

μαχαζένια MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 115.5 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari)

τιν αναλοχιν / τὴν ἀναλοχὴν MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 292.48 ὁ Δαβίθ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.5

τὸ χέρι τὸ ζερφὸ PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 605 ἐμάθησεν τὰ γένειά του Assizes B 268.13 < μαδῶ ἐνι μαθισμένες Fior 124.37

3.8.4 Fricativization and Occlusion

3.8.4.1 Sporadic Fricativization

In certain words, probably under the influence of non-phonetic factors such as analogy or folk etymology, the corresponding voiceless fricative appears instead of a voiceless stop (cf. TRIANDAPHYLIDIS 1909: 30–1; PANDELIDIS 1929: 35):

φισκίαν Dig. E 1648; ὑπᾶ πρὸς τὴν φισκίαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1298 < Lat. piscina φλεμόνι τῆς αἰγας LANDOS, Geopon. 243.10 < πνεύμων ἐφειδὴν ἦτον κρατημένος Assizes B 279.6 (cf. KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ἐπειδή) βαθράκοι ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 17.1; βαθρακοὺς Spanos A 105 < βάτραχος μοῦ ἀπαρθενεὺει (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 113.14–15) < Ital. appartenire μηδὲ ἄλλου ποθέξ VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 39.17 < ποτέ αἱ κοροῦχαι Ptoch. III 200 < Lat. carruca διώχει τους Pol. Tr. 3186 app. crit. (AX); νὰ διώχουν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 169 ἡ σύντηχή / οἱ σύντιχοι (1513, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: (a), 217.8) < Ven. sindico ἐχουνθήκεν Diig. Alex. F 54.2 (Konstantinopulos) < κουνῶ < κινῶ

A similar, sporadic and lexically determined, evolution occasionally leads to the appearance of the voiced fricative instead of the corresponding voiceless stop:

πούβοτας (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 9, 87.9) < πούποτε τίβοτις (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 5, 25.30) < τίποτε περβατοῦμεν (1549, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 51, 93.7); νὰ περβατοῦμε (1594, Epirus, MERTZIOS 1936b: 5, 45.22); περβατοῦνε CHORTATSI, Katz. Prol. 35 < περιπατῶ μέδ' ἔσου Dig. E 870; μεδ' ἔμας Pol. Tr. 1801 app. crit. (BV) < μετά δεξιότης Velth. 32; τοῦ δεξιότη BERGADIS, Apok. V 417 < τοξότης μερδικόν (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 5, 25.14) < μερτικόν ἀναγαράδες Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1193 < ἀνακαράς γυψέλια (1681?, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARARA et al. 1982/83: 148, 317.26) < κυψέλη

The pronoun τίποτε has several variants involving /v/ (τίβετις, τίβοτας etc.), with a wide-spread distribution. For further details see II, 5.8.2.

Pontic retains some weak traces of an interchange between aspirated and non-aspirated stops, which was characteristic of the AG Ionic dialect. This concerns mainly the lexical item ἀχάντιον < ἀκάνθιον, noted by Eustathios (ΚΟΥΚΟΥΛΕΣ 1953: 36; KAPSOMENOS 1985: 59), attested in MedG place names and personal names from the Vazelon archive, cf. τὸ Ἀχαντιώνιν (13th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 62, 36.14); τοῦ Ἀχαντέα (1382, ibid. 125, 193.12), and corroborated by modern Pontic (ΠΑΠΑΔΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ 1958 s.v.). The characteristically Ionic form οὐκί for οὐχί, preserved in modern Pontic, is also attested in the same archive: κάμνει οὐκί κάμνει (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 176, 120.2–3) (cf. DÖLGER 1929/30: 335; VAYAKAKOS 1964: 270).

The variation between /t/ and /ð/ in the suffixes -άτος/-άδος, -άτα/-άδα in loanwords is due to the different origin of the loan: Ital. -ato vs. Ven. -ado (KONDOSOPOULOS 1963: 150). Examples: σολδαδῶν CHORTATSI, Katz. III.454 vs. σορδάτους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 42.9; τὴν ἀρμάδα LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 228, μὲ ἀρμάδα (17th c., Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.2, 72.2) vs. ἡ ἀρμάτα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 407.26. In general intervocalic and word-initial /v ð γ/ instead of /b d g/ in loanwords of Italian origin (e.g. γοῦστο, βελουδο, γουάρδια etc.) is largely due to the fact that the Venetian dialect, which is in most cases the immediate source, displays regular lenition (fricativization) of voiced stops in these positions (KONDOSOPOULOS 1963: 149–50).

The frequent instances of θρέφω/θροφή, e.g. θροφή CHORTATSIS, Katz. I.33; εἰς τὴν θροφήν του KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 338.27; ἀναθρέφη Chron. Mor. H 955, and of θάφος/θαφή, e.g. θάφος Pist. voskos I 1.21; ἐν ᾧ μέλλω θαφῆναι (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 2, 22.6), are due to analogy with forms of the verb containing -θ- (ἐθρεψα, ἔθαψα etc.).

3.8.4.2 Fricativization due to Palatalization

/t/ > /θ/ before /j/. The characteristic Modern Cretan phenomenon of /t/ > /θ/ before the semivowel /j/ resulting from synizesis (termed “fricativity assimilation”, e.g. μάτια > μάθια, σπίτια > σπίθια; see KONDOSOPOULOS 2001: 30; NEWTON 1972a: 163–6) is not attested in Cretan literary and non-literary texts of the period, except for a few very dubious cases: μάθια PIGAS, Chrysop. 118.11 from an unreliable edition, the hypercorrect form Λασίτιν instead of Λασίθιν in BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 150.17 (both quoted by HENRICH 1998b: 90–1), and the ethnic name σιθηακοῦ / Σηθιακοῦ (1635, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 67, 177.4), quoted by CHATZIDAKIS (1934/77: A 374). The presence of the corresponding phenomenon affecting voiced /d/ (see below) has led to disagreement as to whether the dearth of attestations is due to the fact that the phenomenon took place after the 17th c. or to the deliberate “normalization” of scribes and printers.²²

/d/ > /ð/ before /j/. The corresponding phenomenon, involving the voiced /d/ instead of the voiceless /t/ appears, albeit rarely, in Cretan texts from the late 16th c. onwards. It is more consistent in Cypriot documents from the 17th c.:

ἀνάδια μου Thysia Avr. 913; ἀνάδια KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1797 < ἐνάντια μπεργαδιά BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 312.25 (Xirouchakis)

Κιδιοῦ (1692, Cyprus, MITROPOULLOS 1923: A, 325.heading) = Κιτίου νὰ κάμη τέδοιαν πέρκαν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 253 τὰ σπίδια του KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 23; τὸν σπηδγον / τῶν σπιδγιῶν (1699, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 39, 95.5); πασάνας εἰς τὰ σπίδια τους Thrinis Kyp. 348

It cannot be ascertained whether the Cypriot spellings represent the modern dialectal realization of the sequence /t/ + /j/ as [ðç] in varieties of Modern Cypriot and other South-Eastern dialects (PANDELIDIS 1929: 35–6) or whether they reflect a superseded, no longer attested intermediate stage [ðj]. Evidence for the more usual Modern Cypriot change, with /t/ > /θ/ before a semivowel (e.g. μάτια > μάθκια, σπίτια > σπίθκια, see NEWTON 1972b: 52) has not been found; it probably post-dates the period covered by this Grammar.

²² Further examples of the ethnic Σηθιακός in Cretan notarial documents are collected by KOURMOULIS (1938) in an effort to prove that the appearance of the phenomenon is dated earlier than the 17th c., despite the opinion of CHATZIDAKIS (1934/77: A 374) and KRIARAS (1938: 77–81). However, he too fails to find any direct evidence of the phenomenon in Cretan literature; the botanical term <lagochimithia> that he adduces from the 16th-c. travel account of Pierre Belon is irrelevant, since it may represent not λαγοκοιμητιά with fricativization, but original λαγοκοιμηθιά (i.e. with an original verbal stem κοιμηθ-).

3.8.4.3 Fricativization due to Language Contact

In S. Italian documents there are occasional instances of interchange between stops and fricatives (MINAS ²2003: 56–7):

Ἰσκαριώθου (1193, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 15, 125.31–2) χαλεῖτε / καλεῖτε (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 307.23) ἡχουστοῦ / εἰκοστοῦ (1317, S. Italy, TURYN 1972: 129) χαρβουνεῖς (1124, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 95, 124.35–6); χρυσοθαρία ... ταρία (1005, ibid. 13, 13.13, 21)

Since the phenomenon appears also in the modern form of the S. Italian dialects (KARANASTASIS 1997: 35–6; COUTSOUGERA/KATSOYANNOU 2011), it could be due to influence of the local Romance varieties, which lack /x/ and /θ/, and the native speakers of which occasionally resort to hypercorrect forms; compare 3.8.4.6 for the change of fricatives to stops in S. Italy.

3.8.4.4 Fricativization due to Voicing Assimilation

/k/ > /g/ in compounds with ἐκ. When a stem starting with the voiced consonants /v ð l/ is prefixed with the preposition ἐκ, /g/ frequently appears instead of /k/:

διεγδικήσωμεν / διεγδικήσωμεν (984, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 9, 8.23); οὐκ ἐγδικοῦμεν αὐτό (1210, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 5, 35.18) ἐγλήωνται / ἐγλύωνται (1198, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 246, 333.19) ἐγδύνουν τον DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 440 ἐγλανπροτατε / ἐγλαμπρότατε (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 49.1) πῶς ἐγδέχονται LIMEN., Than. Rod. 199 transcr. (Lendari) (Wagner: ἐγδέχονται) ἐγδοχή Thysia Avr. 500 ἄστρα γλαμπρισμένα Cypr. Canz. 68.1 ἐγδιμούντοστος / ἐκδημούντος του (1612, Chios, FOTEINOS 1865: 213.23) ἡγδαρέν τον PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1437

According to some scholars, the phenomenon also involves compounds with stems starting with /n/ such as γνέφω, γνέθω, if indeed they derive from ἐκ + νεύω, ἐκ + νήθω etc. (cf. BABINIOTIS, Lex. s.vv.), an etymology which is not generally accepted (see also 3.5.2.3 for /g/ anaptyxis). Examples such as διατὸ ἥτο ἐγνέας χηρέφοντα Chron. Mor. H 8022 < ἐκ νέας, would be an argument in favour of this analysis.

The origins of the phenomenon may be dated to Hellenistic times, as voicing of /k/ > /g/ in this environment is already attested in inscriptions and papyri of the period (GIGNAC 1976: 174; MINAS ²2003: 58; NICHOLAS 2007: 199; HORROCKS ²2010: 276). The overall evolution is therefore /k/ > /g/ > /g/ rather than directly /k/ > /g/. In the case of a following /v/, an additional development occurs, the metathesis /ɣv/ > /vy/ (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.vv. βγαίνω < ἐκβαίνω, βγάνω < ἐκβάλλω for numerous examples from a variety of texts and areas). The earliest example of this development comes from the EMedG period: εὔγαλε Moschos, Leimon 3064A, a form perhaps due to a later copyist (NICHOLAS 2007). In some MG dialectal areas, such as Pontic, the change has not taken place (KRETSCHMER 1905: 196; KAHANE/KAHANE 1981: 112). DAWKINS (1932: II 36) notes several occurrences of the unmetathesized cluster in ms O of Machairas: νατὸν απογβάλῃς / νὰ τὸν ἀπογβάλεις MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 359.35–6 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari); διὰ ναπογβῇ / διὰ ν’ ἀπογβεῖ ibid. 413.39. However, the fact that the same manuscript also has readings such as κόγβοντα ibid. 349.12 shows that this <γβ> may simply be a scribal peculiarity.

3.8.4.5 Orthographic Fricativization after Rough Breathing

A special case of apparent fricativization is the change of the voiceless stops /p t k/ to the corresponding fricatives /f θ x/ before words historically bearing the rough breathing. This is not a true phonetic change, but an orthographic convention inherited from AG, where the coarticulation of a voiceless stop + following aspiration was denoted graphematically as an aspirated stop <φ θ χ> = [p^h t^h k^h] (LEJEUNE 1972: §§ 367, 378). The phenomenon occurs at morpheme and word boundaries (after elision) and constitutes a marker of archaism or high register. This excludes cases where this “aspiration” has been lexicalized in common univerted words, such as καθείς/καθένας, ἀφοῦ, ἀφότου etc.

καὶ καθ’ ἡμέραν προσδοκῶς Ptoch. I 101 καθ’ ἐκάστη ἐκδέχεται Chron. Mor. H 4649 καθ’ ὀρισμὸν ἐκείνης [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2034 ὁ ἐλθὼν μεθ’ ὑμῶν (1131, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 111, 146.8) μεθ’ ὄρκου τοὺς ἐμήνα Chron. Mor. P 680 ἐσεῖς ἀρνιέστε μεθ’ ὄρκου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 83.35–6

3.8.4.6 Occlusion

/θ/ > /t/ and /x/ > /k/ in S. Italian. In the MedG documents from S. Italy several instances of the phenomenon occur (MINAS ²2003: 56–7): προρειτέντα / προρρητέντα (1185, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 223, 292.10) συμφωνιτέντα / συμφωνητέντα (1201, Messina Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 19, 151.27) ἐπιτυμίαν (1271, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 324, 479.27) ὀλοψύκω / ὀλοψύκω (1190, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 16, 48.1); ἰσικῶς / ἡσυκῶς (1094?, ibid. Coll. IX: 5, 391.2); τῆς μονακῆς (1236, ibid. Coll. I: 16, 92.1)

Furthermore, S. Italian documents contain a number of instances of the reverse phenomenon, i.e. /t/ > /θ/ or /k/ > /x/ (see above 3.8.4.3), probably as a hypercorrection. The modern S. Italian dialects of Puglia also have a similar phenomenon of interchange between fricatives and stops, probably as a result of Italian influence, e.g. θερμός > τερμό (KARANASTASIS 1997: 33). In all probability, this is a phenomenon of language interference between Greek and Romance, since the native Romance dialects do not possess the phonemes /θ/ and /x/.

3.8.4.7 Change to Nasals

/v/ > /m/ before /n/. The /v/ arising from the consonantization of the AG diphthongs /au/ and /eu/ before /n/ undergoes partial assimilation to the corresponding nasal /m/ (ANDRIOTIS, Lex. s.v. μ; MINAS ²2003: 58). The resulting /emn/ is occasionally written εὔμν- in an attempt at conservative spelling. The phenomenon affects a small number of words, which appear in their new form in the vernacular texts of this period, starting from the 12th c. There are no traces of this phenomenon in the Koine or in EMedG.

σηνεύμ(ου) / συνεύμνου (1173, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 51, 91.70) < σύνευνος ἐρευνήσαντες (1000, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 12, 11.34) ερεμνήσαμεν / ἐρεμνήσαμεν (1232, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 288, 398.37–8) < ἐρευνῶ ἔμνοστον Dig. G IV.193 < εὔνοστος πανέμνοστη Pol. Tr. 1903 app. crit. (VX) διὰ τὴν εὔμνοστοτοπίαν Liv. S 2873 ἄχαμνόν Chron. Mor. H 1675; ἄχαμνόν Fior 73.14 < χαῦνος μνούχου ὀρχίδια Spanos A 487; τοὺς μνούχους της Diig. Alex. Sem. S 541 < εὔνουχος ἐλάμνοντα Chron. Mor. H 4681; λάμνοντα BERGADIS, Apok. V 332 < ἐλαύνω

3.8.5 Fricative Interchange

3.8.5.1 Voiceless Fricative Interchange

/θ/ > /f/. /θ/ occasionally changes to /f/, mainly in initial position (PERNOT 1907/46: I 308–10; JANNACONE 1951: 160). The phenomenon is more widespread in MedG and EMG than in SMG, although by no means regular. In all attestations, the vowel following initial /θ/ is /i/. The phenomenon appears at least as early as the Chronicle of Morea (only ms P), but there is also a single 12th-c. attestation from S. Italy. There are no traces of this phenomenon in the Koine or EMedG. Its origin probably lies in the perceptual similarity between the sounds [f] and [θ], as the same phenomenon is attested in several languages, including Venetian and English (BLEVINS 2004: 134–5).

φρησκεία (1141, Palermo / Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 5, 16.4) que figateres v / καὶ φυγατέρες ε' (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 72, f.IIr.2) στήν Φήβαν Chron. Mor. P 3302 φρήνος Chron. Mor. P 2462 φηκάριν Arm. 81; φηκάρια Dig. E 127; φηκάρια BERGADIS, Apok. A 468; φηκάρι (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 80.68); φουκάριν FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.11 coltelliera. μαχαίροφικάρι, τό GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. φλίβεται (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 150) τὸ φυμιατόν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 66.21 ἡ Φηρασσία (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 97.7) φηλυκό (1662, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 27, 33.15); φηλυκό (1664, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1991: 1, 82.26); φηλυκό (1686, Corsica, VAYAKAKOS 1978: 123, entry 2)

Άφηνούς Chron. Mor. P 1554

ἔφιμον Flor. L 1344

Martinus Crusius makes special note of the phenomenon when discussing the Cypriot dialect, and gives several examples from Cypriot speakers, such as σπαφί, φηκάρι, φρονί, παραφύρι, σωφικά. The phenomenon is indeed corroborated in Modern Cypriot, but in Crusius's case the possibility of mis-hearing should not be ruled out (TOUFEXIS 2005: 201).

3.8.5.2 Voiced Fricative Interchange

MedG and EMG texts exhibit sporadic interchange of voiced fricatives, i.e. the appearance of a different voiced fricative from the etymologically expected one, usually in intervocalic and occasionally in word-initial position. This occurs already in the earliest documents, from 11th-c. S. Italian archives, and in all areas. In most cases, the change is due to sporadic assimilation or dissimilation, or even not due to phonetic causes but rather to morphological ones, such as analogy or folk etymology.

δισκόμης (1179, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 193, 254.35) < Lat. vicecomes χηρνηδῶξεστον / χιρνιδῶξεστον (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.14) < χερνιβῶξεστον δηλόθυρον (1442, Belgrade region/Serbia, ALEXOULIS 1892: 2, 280.14) < βηλόθυρον φλέγα SKLENTZAS, Ain. Zood. Pig. 10 < φλέβα; φλέγα, φλέβα, ή GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. vena βιμῶσιον / βημῶσιον (1182, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 212, 278.25) < δημῶσιον κηβεύσειν (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 45.60) < κηδεύω (assimilation?); νὰ κηβεύει (1532, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 24, 74.21) βοῦγην / βούγιν (1500, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1 [A'], 236.6) < βούδιν λαβοῦτον Dig. E 627 < λαγοῦτον < Ital. lauto διά νὰ τραβουδήσουν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1218 < τραγουδῶ βαρνίρουσι (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 311, 296.11) < Ven. guarnir

λαβῶνικα MONTSELI, Evgena 252 < λαγωνικά

However, a phonetic interpretation is also available for the phenomenon if it occurs in texts from the Dodecanese and Cyprus: hypercorrect restitution of the “wrong” fricative after the phonetic change of intervocalic fricative deletion (for which see 3.6.1.1), a regular phenomenon in the modern dialects (PERNOT 1907/46: I 532; JANNACONE 1951: 160; NEWTON 1972a: 72–3). In LMedG texts the phenomenon is extremely rare, but attestations become more frequent from the 16th c. onwards.

τὸν ἐβρούθησεν Assizes B 362.18 < γροθίζω τὸ βρούθισμάν του Assizes A 112.4 < γρόθισμαν βακρύζω Cypr. Canz. 64.8 < δακρύζω βουργά Cypr. Canz. 2.30 < γοργά λοτρίδιν (1502, Kalymnos, KOUTELAKIS 1981: 1, 28.2) < ἔλαιστριβεῖον το περιγολη / τὸ περιγόλι (1603, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 5, 21.14) < περιβόλι δίγω τω / δίγω το (1722, Tilos, KOUTELAKIS 1979: 21, 54.4) < δίδω δύρου δύρου (1722?, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 481.15) < γύρω κε βοχαλilis / κι ἐβώ Χαλilis (1737, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1972: 5, 35.8–9) < ἐγώ

A similar, but much rarer, cause of apparent voiced fricative interchange is the hypercorrect restoration of the “wrong” fricative that was normally deleted before a nasal, e.g. πᾶν πᾶβμα ὄν ἀφιέρωσεν ὁ πατήρ ἡμῶν (1116, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 80, 105.27) (see 3.6.1.3).

/v/ > /ɣ/ after /l/. A phenomenon unconnected with the previous one is the sporadic appearance of /ɣ/ instead of /v/ when it forms a cluster with /l/. This is a very rare and probably word-specific phenomenon. All the instances located date back to at least the EMedG period, and are recorded in the Lexicon of Hesychius: ἐπιγλέποι· ἐπόψεται Hesych. E 5066; γλέφαρ· βλέφαρ Γ 630; σουγλάριον· ἐργαλοθήκη Σ 1350 (cf. also BEEKES 2010 s.v. βλέπω).

σουγλισμόν Chron. Mor. H 631 ἐν σουγλα Spanos A 95; σουγλα (1627, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 240.24) ἐγλέποντας (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.27) κίανταγλεπε / κι' ἂν τὰ ᾿γλεπε CHORTATSI, Katz. III.8 app. crit.

πίττες γλέπει Paroim. (Warner) 98.19 γλέφαρον MEURSIUS, Gloss. s.v.; εἰς τὸ γλέφαρόν του PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.229

3.8.6 Liquid Interchange

3.8.6.1 Introduction and Historical Overview

The two liquid consonants of MedG and EMG, /l/ and /r/, being both articulatorily and perceptually close, undergo interchange in two specific phonetic environments (PSICHARI 1905; SHIPP 1958; NEWTON 1972a: 112–13; MANOLESSOU/TOUFEXIS 2009). The phenomenon is of Panhellenic spread and is restricted only by register (of the text or the specific lexical item). The two changes in question are the following:

- change of /l/ > /r/ when it is the first member of a consonant cluster (e.g. ἀδελφός > ἀδερφός, ἀλμυρός > ἄρμυρός), a change also known as “delateralization”. Occasional hypercorrect changes of /r/ to /l/ (e.g. βάρκα > βάλκα) also occur.
- change of /r/ > /l/ when another /r/ sound follows in the same word (e.g. γρήγορα > γλήγορα, πρῶρη > πλώρη), with occasional hypercorrect changes of /l/ to /r/ (e.g. ἀλεύριον > ἄρεύριον). The phenomenon can be described as regressive dissimilation, i.e. the first syllable changes in order to become dissimilar from a following one.

The earliest attestations of liquid interchange are to be found in Koine inscriptions (cf. the examples in DIETERICH 1898: 107, JANNARIS 1897: 94–5 and PSICHARI 1905). Some of these, however, are misreadings of earlier scholars or refer to outdated editions; the most reliable information comes from THREATTE 1980: 483 and GIGNAC 1976: 105: Εὐέρπιστος IG II² 2245.222 (AD 262/3); χάρκεον Agora inv. no. IL 493.27 (3rd c. AD); ἐξερθῖν PMich.204.5 (AD 7); ἐρπὶς POxy 1059 (6th c. AD). For the EMedG period, PSALTES (1913: 76, 98) collects the few available examples: σκαρμός De adm. imperio 9.16; πλώρα ibid. 9.34. The NT contains two early instances of the dissimilation change: φραγγέλιον (< Lat. flagellum) Ev. Jh 2.15, Matth. 27.26; and πλώρη Act. Apost. 27.30.

3.8.6.2 Delateralization

In the period under investigation, the phenomenon is widespread and appears in all areas, starting from the 12th c., although no regularity is observable. It affects /l/ before any type of consonant (stop, fricative, nasal). According to a rough estimation based on data from the Kriaras Lexicon (MANOLESSOU/TOUFEXIS 2009), about 30 per cent of the words possessing the relevant environment exhibit the change of /l/ > /r/ in consonant clusters:

αρμῖρις / Ἄρμυρῆς (1159, Calabria, TRINCERA 1865: 158, 209.16); armira / ἄρμυρά (15th c., Crete?, KAKOULIDI 1958/59: 119.2) τοῦ Χάρκοματ(α) / τοῦ Χαλκωματᾶ (1307, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 10, 115.106); χαρκοματένιον (1557, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 11, κς'.49); χαρκώματα (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 9, 88.6) μυροβρύτου (1325, S. Italy, TURYN 1980: 91) ὀρπίζαν Dig. E 532; ἀπῆρπισέν με ibid. 1129 app. crit.
 Βουργάρους Chron. Mor. P 1215 ἐτόρμησες Achil. N 1071 τὸ φαρκόνιν Assizes B 451.16–17 ὁ ἀδερφός σου Pent. Gen. 4.9 συχνοεπαρέγγερνεν Liv. V 1128 βαρσάμου Love poems V 401; βάρσαμα Katal. 360 Βάρτος (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 215, 202.5) (place name) ormingus / ὀρμίγκους BAROZZI, Letter 358.23 < ἔλμινς ἐστέρνανε ἓνα μέρος SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 34.31–2 φαρτικὰ (1716, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 476.6)

Importantly, there are several instances of new native or borrowed lexical items undergoing the change, which shows that the phenomenon is not simply lexically inherited from the Koine, but was still active during the LMedG and EMG periods:

Μουρσουμάνοι (1448, Constantinople, SCHREINER 1975/79: 9.IV, 50.2) τὸ ἐρμὸ Achil. O 285 < OFr. helme βάρτε τὸ σκοπὸν Cypr. Canz. 2.7 φαρτσουσύνην Fior 78.28 < Ital. falsità κάρσες / κάρσες (1678, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 453.7); κάρτζες (1687, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 10, 224.25) < Ital. calza

The general application of the change in the MG dialects also shows its vitality. From a linguistic point of view, this phenomenon is cross-linguistically frequent and can be attributed to a general tendency for more sonorant elements in syllable-final (coda) position (MANOLESSOU/TOUFEXIS 2009; VENNEMANN 1988).

The hypercorrect change of /r/ > /l/ in consonant clusters is much rarer than the reverse change /l/ > /r/ and seems to occur predominantly in words of foreign origin. This was already noted by Portius (PORTIUS, Grammar 10), with the example scrima > σκλίμα.

τὸν βοῦλχαν Dig. G IV.314 < Lat. burrichus φούλκας Diig. sevast. Thom. 237 < Lat. furca βουλγατόριον SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 49 < Lat. purgatorium βάλκας (1453, Constantinople, DALLEGIO D'ALESSIO 1939: 117.24) < Lat. barca στέλγω (1585, Mani, LAMBROS 1905: 398.5) ὁ Ἀλγυρὸς (1687, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 20, 53.3)

3.8.6.3 Liquid Dissimilation

The dissimilatory change /r/ > /l/ is, like all long-distance dissimilatory changes, never completely regular, although it is quite well documented cross-linguistically. In MedG and the MG dialects it is much more sporadically attested than the delateralization change, affecting only about 1% of the words that possess the appropriate environment (MANOLESSOU/TOUFEXIS 2009). It does not seem to operate in compound words, i.e. words in which the two /r/ phonemes belong to different members of the compound, such as ἀσπρομαρμαροτράχηλος, μαυρόβουρκος, ἀκρογυρίζω etc., and has affected to the point of stabilization only a few specific words (mainly the family of γρήγορος).

ἐγλήγορα Dig. E 459 < ἐγρήγορα λεθρινάρια STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 3.60 < ἐρυθρίνος Γληγόρης (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 2, 6.35) τὸν κλιάρον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 220.34 < κρίαρος διὰ ἀποκλισιάρην Assizes B 414.9 κολιάνδρον ξηρόν (15th c., OIKONOMU-AGORASTU 1982: 95.22) νὰ ἀλατρεύση (1543, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 47, 249.7) < ὄροτρο φλάρος CHORTATIS, Katz. III.415 < φράρος ραίνει καὶ λαντουρᾶ Vosk. 39 < ραντουρῶ μάραθρον, μάραθον, μάλαθρον, τό. GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. finocchio

The hypercorrect change of /l/ to /r/, leading to assimilation instead of dissimilation, is found very occasionally in the texts examined (see KAPSOMENOS 1985: 109):

κρήρου (1027, Sparta, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 43, 301.21 app. crit.) < κλήρος καρδηναρίου (1200, Sicily, RE/ROGNONI 2008: 3, 145.8); καρδεναρίου (1267, Otranto / S.
 Italy, OMONT 1890: 387.4) < καρδινάλιος ἐπρηρόθησαν Chron. Mor. T 1082 app. crit. < πληρώνω καρόγερος (1689, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: XVII, 78.6)

3.9 Word-level Phenomena

3.9.1 Metathesis

Metathesis is a sporadic lexical phenomenon transposing adjacent segments. It has no geographical restrictions, but perhaps shows greater frequency in southern insular areas and is attested only in low-register texts. The most frequent sound undergoing metathesis is /r/, and less frequently /l/, while the voiceless stops /p t k/ are exempt from the phenomenon (PERNOT 1906; FAVIS 1939/40). The strong tendency of liquids towards metathesis is a well-documented cross-linguistic phenomenon, amenable to phonetic interpretation (BLEVINS/GARRETT 2004: 128–35, including Greek data; VENNEMANN 2012: 24–6).

- δέρπανα (1007, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 1, 136.39); δερπάνιν Liv. V 914 τὸν τράφον (1090–4, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 45, 164.56); τοῦ τράφου (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 27, 163.6) τρουμάρχου (1102/3, Mani, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 48, 307, no. 49.2) γραμβός (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 130, 172.5) κήτηρνί / κίτιρνη (1442, Belgrade region, ALEXOULIS 1892: 2, 280.15); κίτιρνον (1582, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 62, 142.18) κρουσάροι [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 878; ἐκρούσευσε SFRANTZIS, Chron. 108.15; ἐκρούσευσαν (16th c., Northern Aegean?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 70.IV, 52.1) πάντρεπνα Dig. E 1051 app. crit.; πάντρεπνος Achil. N 699 κουρφά BERGADIS, Apok. A 192; τὰ κουρφά Thysia Avr. 230 πρίκα (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.5); πρίκα CHORTATIS, Erof. IV.151 τῆς κουρδελιτάς Fior 99.10–11 app. crit. (I) λιτρουγη(α) / λιτρουγία (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 84.40); λουτρουγιά (1692, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1991: 2, 84.31) ταδρεφου μου / τ' ἀδρεφού μου (1655, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 374.15); ταξαδρεφου μου / τ' ἄξαδρέφου μου (ibid. 374.27) καλαμαύχιν Ptoch. II 26.12 app. crit. (H) ὀφθλαμούς (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 45, 54.2) τὸν λεγόμενο ἀδλεφó σου (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 84.10) σλουτάν (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 49.1) κλάτζαις / κλάτσες Assizes A 213.4 φλίτσα (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 119, 132.15) < Ital. filza πιστακόν Liv. V 1986 < ψιττακός σατζιφάδα (1663, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 1, 11.19) < σατισφάδος

Some cases may be interpretable as simple spelling or copying errors and not true phonetic changes; only multiple attestations of the affected form of a lexical item can settle the issue.

A special case of metathesis involves the transposition of a vowel and a consonant for the avoidance of sequences of contiguous vowels, as a means of hiatus resolution (see 2.9.1). Two instances are the most frequently mentioned in the literature: the derivational suffix -έινος > -ένιος (see II, 3.2.7) and the aorist subjunctive of the verb βλέπω, νὰ ἰδῶ > νὰ διῶ, typical of North-Eastern dialect areas (KRETSCHMER 1905: 124ff; PERNOT 1913: 263), e.g. νὰ διγεῖς (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 55.23).

The phenomenon of antimetathesis transposes non-contiguous segments, and is much rarer than metathesis. Liquids and, to a lesser extent, nasals are the most frequently affected (FAVIS 1939/40):

- ἀγρώνισεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 166.23 < γνωρίζω βολύμιν FORT., Strat. pragm. 654; βολίμι (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.10) < μολύβιν φαρακλούς Spanos B 222; τοῦ Φαρακλού (1683, Leros, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 37, 29.19) < φαλακρός

ἀγελαῖδόβοδα Diig. Alex. F 170.18 (Lolos) < ἀγελαδόβοῖδον βούρλουδους Bertoldin. 145.27 < βούρδουλος ἑνοῦς ζγουράφο (1660, Crete, VOUDOUMBAKIS 1915: 15, 380.4) < ζωγράφος ἀδολλαποῦ (1703, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 420.1) < ἀλλοδαπός

Antimetathesis may also take the form of phonetic feature interchange, whereby two consecutive syllables with a fricative onset, one of which is voiced and the other voiceless, may reverse the order of the voicing feature:

εἰς τῖς Κοκορεφιδιές (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 56, 71.7) = Κακορεβυθιές οἱ δυχατέρεις (1675, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 21, 131.2–3) < θυγατέρα τοῦ παπαῦ Χριστοφόρου δυχατέρα (1692, Nauplion, DOKOS 1985: 1, 109.3)

3.9.2 Assimilation

Contact assimilation occurs in several specific consonantal environments and has been discussed in the relevant sections: assimilation of fricatives to a following nasal (see 3.4.2.4 and 3.6.1.3), assimilation of nasals to a following stop (3.2.3), voicing assimilation (3.8.3.2). Assimilation may also occur, however, at the word level, affecting consecutive syllables with consonantal onsets. The phenomenon is rare, non-systematic, probably non-lexicalized and without geographical restrictions; as a low-register phenomenon it is already attested since AG (SCHWYZER 1939: 257). Some instances may also be considered graphematic errors instead of true phonetic changes.

λωγγειουαρίας / Λογγιβαρβίας (1133, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 113, 150.6) < Λογγιβαρδία μαρθυρωθέν (1269, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 315, 459.31–2) < μαρτυρῶ καὶ πᾶπλωμα Krasop. L 12 < ἐφάπλωμα βέβρανον (1417, Crete, LAMBROS 1895: 1, 585.5) < μέμβρανος; βεβράνη (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 4, 151.1)
 γοί φταῖφτις (1514, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 115, 227.31) < φταίχτις Φλεφάρης (1705, Symi, GEORGA-VOLONAKI 1974: 1, 204.heading) < Φλεβάρης

3.9.3 Dissimilation

3.9.3.1 Consonant Dissimilation

Dissimilation is a sporadic phenomenon which affects identical consonants in consecutive syllables, and normally results in the change of the first of the two (regressive dissimilation) into a different consonant, possessing similar articulatory/acoustic properties to the second. The phenomenon is more frequent in the case of liquids and nasals (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 328–31; PERNOT 1907/46: I 442–502; see also KONDOSOPOULOS 1969: 60–2 for modern Cretan).

καλονάρχος Ptoch. IV 64 app. crit. (PK) < κανονάρχος καλαναρχᾶ ἡ πολιτικὴ SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 410 (Vitti) < κανοναρχῶ ἀριφνισμὸν οὐκ εἶχαν Chron. Mor. H 2410 ἀριφνιμὸν SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 2 < ἀριθμημός ἀλιμένομεν (15th c., Rhodes, MINAS 2012: 18, 413.30) < ἀναμένω ὅλοι τῶς ξεσμηλῶνους FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.707 < ξεσμηνῶνω λέμπρινον χαρτί GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. charta pergamena; χαρτί μεμβρανώδη, ἡγουν ντέμπρινο LANDOS, Geopon. 169.36 < μέμβρινος ἔμαλιτζάριζεν (1685, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 32, 409.11–12) < μανιτζάρω γουβάλια (ca. 1700, Achaia, TSIOURAKI 1971: B', 172.5) < βουβάλι τὰ διβάρια τοῦ Βασιλαδιοῦ SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 56.4 < βιβάριο

In some cases, the identical consonants are not in contiguous syllables:

πλεμόνιν αἶγας STAFIDAS, Iatrosf. 6.163 < πνευμόνιν βήχαν, σφάκτην, πλέμοναν Spanos A 158 < πνεύμων τὸν μηλάδελφον Poulol. AZ 42 < ἀλληλάδελφος ἀλυσαντής Pent. Ex. 35.35 < ἀνυσαντής μιὰ φινοκάλα πιάνει FALIEROS, Ist. On. 191 < φιλοκαλῶ παναθύρια (1705, Symi, GEORGA-VOLONAKI 1974: 1, 204.8) < παραθύριον

Some rather dubious assimilatory phenomena involving /t/ in MedG lexical items and place names have been proposed (HENRICH 2001), such as διβιτίσιος > διβικήσιος > διβίκιν. Further, there are a number of special cases of dissimilation, discussed in the relevant sections: dissimilation of liquids in consecutive syllables (see 3.8.6.3) and manner dissimilation of adjacent stops and fricatives (3.8.1).

3.9.3.2 Dissimilatory Consonant Deletion

The homophony resulting from the adjacency of phonetically similar syllables, i.e. syllables with onsets containing identical consonants or consonants belonging to the same class, may also be resolved through the deletion of one of the two consonants (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 326–8). The phenomenon was already present in AG, especially in the case of the liquid /r/ (DIETERICH 1898: 123–4; VINE 2011). Early MedG attestations of the phenomenon include the common word φοράδα < φορβάς, cf. Hesych. Φ 742 φοράδες· αἱ θήλειαι ἵπποι, and ἀφέντης < ἀφέντης (with manner dissimilation of consecutive fricatives) < αὐθέντης.

As a rare dialectal phenomenon, EMG displays deletion of /t/ in the cluster /st/, again probably interpretable as dissimilation from collocations with a definite article starting with /t/ or due to a preceding syllable with a stop onset. This is a feature of the Old Athenian dialect, which is attested since the 16th c. through the testimony of Zygomalas and Kavasilas, recorded by Crusius, and partly corroborated by modern dialectal data from the area:

Τούτων δι' ἀπασῶν [i.e. τῶν διαλέκτων] ἢ τῶν Ἀθηναίων χειρίστη· βουλόμενοι γὰρ εἰπεῖν· ἰδοὺ πίστις, ὑπήνη καὶ Ἑλλήνων δικαιοσύνη, λέγουσιν ἀντὶ τούτων· ἐπὰ πίσι, ἐπὰ σολή, ἐπὰ ρωμαϊκῇ κρίσει. (Turcograecia, p. 99; see CARATZAS 1952 for testimonies and analysis)

Note that early traces of such a phenomenon are available in Koine papyri (GIGNAC 1976: 66) through examples such as ἐπισόλιον, ἐσσί, σαδίου. The phenomenon is also characteristic of the Modern Pontic and Cappadocian dialects in specific syntactic environments, namely in the collocation of the preposition εἰς + the acc. definite article τόν, τήν, τό, i.e. εἰς τόν > στόν > σόν (PAPADOPOULOS 1958: 29). There is limited evidence for this in one MedG text from Asia Minor, the poems of Rumi: εἰς σὴ ἔστία μου RUMI, Poem I 2 (if the reading is correct).

3.9.3.3 Dissimilatory Syllable Deletion

Dissimilatory deletion may also take the form of deletion of the whole syllable, normally the first and less usually the second (DIETERICH 1898: 124–5; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 323–5; TRIANDAPHYLIDIS 1909: 68–9; PSALTES 1913: 106–8; HADJIOANNOU 1988: 209; MINAS ²2003: 73). The phenomenon, also known as “dissimilatory haplology” is already attested in AG, with typical examples such as ἀμφιφορεύς > ἀμφορεύς, τετράπεζα > τράπεζα (SCHWYZER 1939: 262–5; LEJEUNE 1972: 291), and continues until MG (MARKOPOULOS 2013). It is to be found in a restricted number of lexical items, in low-register texts from all periods and areas, and its results are permanent/lexicalized.

Dissimilatory haplology frequently affects words whose stems displayed “present reduplication” in AG, e.g. καταβιβάζω > κατεβάζω, διαβιβάζω > διαβάζω, συμβιβάζω > συβάζω, διδάσκαλος > δάσκαλος. It is also responsible for the genesis of the MedG preposition μέ, starting from frequent collocations in which the preposition μετά was followed by an article or pronoun form beginning with τα-: μετά τὰ X or μετὰ ταῦτα > μέ τὰ X or μέ ταῦτα (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 153; DIETERICH 1898: 124). The apocopated form μέσ’ of the adverb μέσα is also due to dissimilatory syllable deletion, from collocations like μέσα στά > μέσ’ στά or μέσο στό > μέσ’ στό (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 249; PERNOT 1907/46: I 451; GEORGACAS 1940: 137). Furthermore, dissimilatory haplology lies behind the short forms of the pronoun οὗτος/τούτος found in Cypriot, originating from collocations with a following definite article, i.e. τοῦτον τὸν > τοῦντον (see II, 5.5.1.11).

Another lexical domain where the phenomenon is considered to have applied is the numerals from 30 to 90, which display loss of the syllable [ko] (i.e. τριάκοντα > τριάντα, πεντήκοντα > πεντήντα > πενήντα, ὀγδοήκοντα > ὀγδόντα etc.), but the homophony triggering the deletion is not entirely clear. It has been suggested that the origin lies in complex numerals containing the word καί, which would provide the required phonetic iteration (-κο- ... καί), e.g. τριάκοντα καὶ εἴς, ἑξήκοντα καὶ δύο etc. (THUMB 1900: 239), although the first instances of the innovative forms seem to have appeared in the late Koine, after the expression of complex numerals through conjunction with καί had been lost (GIGNAC 1981: 196). An alternative proposal is to dissociate the evolution of the numerals from the phenomenon of dissimilatory haplology, and to consider it a simple case of sporadic syncope, which applied due to the unwieldy length of the numeral words (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 150; JANNARIS 1897: 172; DIETERICH 1898: 125).

συβάζειν τὰς δύο μοίρας τῆς χώρας (1040, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 32, 38.30) < συμβιβάζω νὰ καταβάσει [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 655 τὸ φλάμουρον ἀνήβασαν εἰς τὸν γουλᾶν ἀπάνω Chron. Toc. 3002 κακά πολλὰ εδιέβασεν πρᾶσινοκόκκινα Spanos A 351 < διαβιβάζω φαινόμεθα πράσχοντις εἰς σέ (1163, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 163, 215.6) < πιπράσκω ἡ Ὁροδάφνη (1073, Constantinople?, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 50, 16.249) < Ροδοδάφνη

πιτραχήλιν (1334, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 43, 131.25) < περιτραχήλιον τὸ ταρτερόν τὸ λέγουν Ptoch. III 149 < τεταρτηρόν δασκάλους τῆς θεολογίας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.8 < διδάσκαλος τὸ Δεμότειχον Alosis 974 < Διδυμότειχον καλικεύω ΡΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 365 < καβαλικεύω μὲ τὴν ρηγάτικην ἐξὰ ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. IV.1312 < ἐξουσία Παλογίνα (1653, Kydonies, PATRINELIS 1993/94: 15.9) < Παλαιολογίνα ἐκαρακιούρευεν (1671, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 1395. 821.6) < καρaboκυρεύω μὲ τοὺς υἱοὺς αὐτοῦ (1097, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 60, 78.7–8) σεράκοντα καὶ δύο (1233, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 289, 401.25) < τεσσεράκοντα < τεσσαράκοντα μὲς στοὺς πολυπαθοῦντας FALIEROS, Ist. On. 290 μὲς στὸν κῆπον (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 55.28) καὶ μὲς στὸ στόμα μποῦσι ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. III.327; μὲς στὰ δάση μπαίνει ibid. III.359

4 Stress

4.1 Definition and Historical Overview

Stress in MedG and EMG is dynamic as in MG, i.e. stressed syllables are distinguished from unstressed ones through higher intensity/loudness (and perhaps non-distinctive greater duration), rather than through higher pitch as in AG. The transition from the AG to the MG stress system is connected to the loss of quantity distinctions and took place during the period of the Koine, around the 2nd–3rd c. AD (GIGNAC 1976: 325–7; DEVINE/STEPHENS 1994: 215–23); it is therefore not discussed here. The accentuation marks standardly used for the notation of stress in MedG and EMG (acute, grave and circumflex) are purely conventional: they reflect AG accentuation rules connected to pitch and quantity distinctions which are no longer present in the MedG and EMG phonological system. From a phonological point of view, accentuation marks serve only to indicate the syllable on which the stress accent falls.

In manuscript sources, especially in low-register non-literary texts, accentuation is erratic: words are left unaccented, or the stress is noted on the “wrong” syllable, or the “wrong” accentuation mark is used, usually circumflex instead of acute and vice versa. Furthermore, in vernacular verse texts many lexical items show unexpected (non-etymological) stress, which should be attributed to metrical reasons, i.e. the necessity to conform to the rhythm of the fifteen-syllable verse. This is especially the case at the invariable parts of the line, namely the syllable before the caesura and the fourteenth syllable. Many cases of stress shift metri gratia may be attributed to editorial intervention. Examples of metrical stress-shift:

ἔσθ' μὲν εἶσαι ἄνδρειος καὶ βριαρὸς δυνάστης Pol. Tr. 57 app. crit. (VX) λοιπὸν τὸ ξενοδόχειον τῶρα ἐκ νέας τὸ ἐποῖκεν Liv. V 2751 καὶ δένδρων εἶδε καλλονὴν καὶ ἰσότηταν εὐμόρφην Velth. 287 μὲ τήν λογχή τοῦ κονταριοῦ τοῦτος ὁ σταυρωμένος FALIEROS, Thrinus 276 στὸν ὕπνον τοῦ 'δ' Ἀλέξανδρος ἔνὰ 'μορφο ὀνέϊρο Alex. Rim. 665

Stress is of major importance in the diachronic phonology of MedG, as most phonetic changes are blocked by it. For example, the deletion of initial vowels affects only unstressed syllables, and the raising phenomena characteristic of the northern dialects involve only unstressed mid and high vowels. In more detail, the following vowel changes are contingent on the absence of stress on the affected syllable:

- “raising vocalism” (2.5.4)
- lexical aphaeresis (2.7.1)
- syncope (2.7.2)
- change to /e/ in the adjacency of liquids/nasals (2.8.1)

- labialization (2.8.2)
- raising of /o/ > /u/ (2.8.3)
- backing of /i/ > /u/ (2.8.4)
- assimilation (2.8.5).

The process of synizesis was also affected by the presence of stress, in that the phenomenon took place at a later date and with geographical restrictions when the first of the two vowels was stressed (see 2.9.4). The relationship of stress to spontaneous consonant gemination remains to be determined (see 3.4.2.5).

Despite the fundamental difference between the phonological systems of AG and MedG, stress placement has remained relatively stable (mutatis mutandis), and most lexical items continue to be stressed in MedG/EMG in the same syllable as in AG, e.g. ἔχω, ἀγαπῶ, δέκα, κάθημαι > κάθομαι, ὀμμάτιον > μάτι, ἐλπίς > ἐλπίδα, παιδίον > παιδί, καλός, -ή, -ό, εὐμορφος > ὁμορφος, -η, -ο. Diachronic changes in accent position are due either to phonetic or to morphological causes (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 418–40; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 82–158; KAHANE/KAHANE 1981: 117–18).

The main phonetic development involving change in the original stress position is synizesis, which is a hiatus resolution strategy affecting sequences of high vowel followed by mid or low vowel (see 2.9.4). The first vowel loses syllabicity (eventually becoming consonantized), so if it is stressed the stress shifts to the second vowel, e.g. καρδία > καρδιά, νέος > νιός. Also, prophylaxis against synizesis may cause accent shift to the first vowel, e.g. ἀνεψιός > ἀνεψίος, παλαιός > παλαῖος. A second, less frequent phonetic cause is again motivated by hiatus resolution: when lexical vowel deletion as per the vowel hierarchy takes place (see 2.9.2), if the deleted vowel is stressed, the stress is transferred to the surviving vowel, e.g. δεκάξι > δεκάξι, βοήθα > βόθα, ἀκούοντας > ἀκῶντας.

On a morphological level, alteration in the original stress position is caused by analogy. The domain of analogy may be:

- a) semantic: for example, καρπός has brought about the gender and stress change in τὸ ἄνθος > ὁ ἀνθός; πολὺς–πολύ has induced the stress shift in ὀλίγος > ὀλιγός–ὀλιγό; and πτηνόν has motivated the innovative form κτηνόν.
- b) a derivational paradigm: for example, the multiple oxytone adjectives in -νός (σκοτεινός, ὀρφανός, γυμνός, τρανός etc.) and -λός (καλός, χαμηλός, ὁμαλός) have influenced originally paroxytone adjectives such as χαῦνος > ἀχαμνός, στρογγύλος > στρογγυλός.
- c) two related inflectional paradigms: for example, the paroxytone stress of most active infinitive forms (ἔχειν, γράφειν etc.) has influenced the small group of 2nd aorist infinitives with variable results: λαβεῖν > λάβει, πεσεῖν > πέσει, ἐλθεῖ > ἔρθει/ἐρθεῖ vs. εὐρεῖ, (εἰ)πεῖ, (ἰ)δεῖ; similarly, the gen. pl. of the proximal demonstrative αὐτός, αὐτῶν, has caused stress shift in the gen. pl. of the distal demonstrative ἐκείνος: ἐκείνων > ἐκείνων.
- d) a single inflectional paradigm as part of a tendency towards columnar stress: for example, the historical stress shift in the gen. and acc. pl. of O-stem nouns has brought about an analogical stress shift in the nom. pl. in cases like οἱ ἄγγελοι, τῶν ἀγγέλων, τοὺς ἀγγέλους → οἱ ἀγγέλοι, τῶν ἀγγέλων, τοὺς ἀγγέλους. By contrast, the tendency for columnar stress has acted in the reverse direction in the adjectival paradigm, eliminating stress shift in the gen. pl. of low-register adjectives, e.g. οἱ ὄμορφοι, οἱ κόκκινοι, οἱ μαργαριταρένιοι – τῶν ὄμορφων, τῶν κόκκινων, τῶν μαργαριταρένιων. In the verbal domain, a typical example is the stress of the 1st and 2nd person pl. active indicative, which has influenced the 3rd person in cases like ἐγράφαμε, ἐγράφετε, ἐγράφαν → ἐγράφαμε, ἐγράφατε, ἐγράφαν(ε).

4.2 Properties of the MedG and EMG Stress Accent

4.2.1 Overview

The position of stress within the word, as well as its function, is determined by rules/constraints similar to those of MG (for which see MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN/DRACHMAN 1989 and DRACHMAN/MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 1998; ARVANITI 1999: 171; KLAIRIS/BABINIOTIS 2004: 1047–53; HOLTON et al. 2012: 28–31). These are discussed and exemplified in the following sections.

a) Uniqueness: All words carry only one stress accent. There are two exceptions to this rule: first, a number of lexical items, mostly pronouns and grammatical words, are clitics, i.e. have no stress of their own but form a single phonological phrase with the preceding/following word (proclitic/enclitic, see 4.2.2). Secondly, under certain conditions creating a sequence of more than two consecutive unstressed syllables within a phonological phrase, a second accent may develop (see 4.2.3).

b) Positional limitation: The stress accent falls on one of the last three syllables of the word. Thus words may be oxytone (e.g. Διγενής), paroxytone (e.g. Ἀκρίτης) or proparoxytone (e.g. κοράσιον). This trisyllabic constraint is a continuation of the quantity-based AG “Law of Limitation” (STERIADE 1988; PROBERT 2006: 60–1), which limited the leftmost position of the pitch accent: the accent could recede up to the antepenultimate syllable if the final syllable was light (i.e. had a syllable nucleus with only one mora and a syllable coda with zero or only one consonant), or to the penultimate if it was heavy (i.e. had a syllable nucleus with two morae and/or a syllable coda with two consonants). With the loss of quantity distinctions during the period of the Koine, the Law of Limitation became syllable-based rather than mora-based: the stress cannot recede beyond the antepenultimate syllable, but the quantity/quality of the final syllable is indifferent (all syllables are of equal weight). However, the weight-dependent effects of the AG Law of Limitation are partially retained in MedG, albeit transferred to the morphological domain (see 4.2.4): in AG, stress shift to the right within inflectional paradigms was phonologically conditioned, due to the alternating weight of the inflectional suffixes forming the final syllable. For example, the nom. sg. ἄνθρωπος bears the pitch accent on the antepenultimate, allowed by the final light syllable, but the gen. sg. ἀνθρώπου displays accent shift to the penultimate, forced by the final heavy syllable. In MedG, stress shift to the right still occurs in many inflectional paradigms as a continuation of AG inflectional patterns, but in most cases it is no longer required by the phonology: it has become a morphological (inflectional) rule.

The MedG version of the Law of Limitation has local exceptions, in that in certain areas/dialects stress may fall further back than the antepenultimate syllable, either within a word or within a phonological phrase (see 4.2.3).

c) Distinctiveness: Apart from the limitation to the three final syllables, the MedG stress accent is not fixed but free, i.e. which of the three final syllables will be stressed is an unpredictable lexical property. Therefore, as in AG and MG, stress is distinctive in MedG, in that there exist pairs of word-forms which are differentiated only through the position of the stress accent. These may belong to homonymous different lexemes, e.g. ἔμενα ['emena] vs. ἐμένα [e'mena], πίνω ['pino] vs. πεινώ [pi'no]; to different but cognate lexemes, e.g. δέντρη ['ðendri] vs. δεντρί [ðe'ndri], ἀδελφή [aðel'fi] vs. ἀδέλφι [a'ðelfi]; or to different inflectional forms of the same lexeme, e.g. ἄγαπᾱ [aɣa'pa] 3 sg. pres. indic. vs. ἀγάπα [a'ɣapa] 2 sg. pres. imp.

d) Synchronic movability and variability: The stress accent does not remain fixed on the same syllable in all the forms of an inflectional paradigm, but may shift to the right or to the left for morphological reasons, or as a result of hypercorrection, or, in verse texts, due to the demands of the 15-syllable verse. Stress placement on a certain syllable in a certain slot of the inflectional paradigm may be stable or variable (shift or absence of shift differing according to period, area and/or register); see 4.2.4.

e) Morphological exponency: As a result of the previous property, stress has a morphological function both in inflection and in derivation. It is an exponent of certain grammatical properties, such as case (e.g. genitive vs. nominative) or tense (e.g. past vs. non-past), or it may signal a derivational process (e.g. composition, substantivization); see below 4.2.4.

4.2.2 Proclisis and Enclisis

MedG and EMG have a number of (mostly monosyllabic) clitics which are inherently unaccented and form a single phonological word with the preceding or the following word (proclitics and enclitics). Clitic status may be signalled graphematically through lack of accent marking in conventional orthography, but this convention does not hold for all phonologically clitic words. In manuscript and early print sources, clitic status is often indicated through lack of word division within phonological phrases, especially in the case of the weak forms of the personal pronouns. The MedG and EMG clitics are the following:

a) proclitic:

- the definite article
- the weak forms of the personal pronouns
- the relative pronoun τόν, τήν, τό
- the verbal particles νά, θά, ἄς

- the prepositions
- the negation οὐ(κ)
- the conjunctions πού, καί;

b) enclitic:

- the weak forms of the personal pronouns
- the verb εἶμαι (and ἔχω only in the present) in certain areas (see III, 4.8)¹
- the indefinite pronoun τις
- the conjunction τε (a residual high-register item).

In the case of proclitic elements, the single stress of the phonological phrase is borne by the following host word, and even consecutive clitics are unstressed, e.g.

ἐνὺ μὲ ἐδῶκες τὴν ἀνδρείαν καὶ Ἀφράτης μὲ τὴν παίρνει Arm. 48 καὶ ἄν εὔρετε τὸ ἀδέλφι σας, εἰς μίαν νὰ σᾶς τὸ δώσω Dig. E 64 ἐκεῖ τοῦ τὸν εἰδείχνασιν ὅσοι τὸν ἐγνωρίζαν Chron. Tōc. 2837 ἵντα μαντάτο μοῦ ῥερες, ἄγγελε, ἀποῦ τὸ θρόνο Thysia Avr. 29

In the case of enclitic elements, when the host word is oxytone or paroxytone, the clitic bears no stress; when the host word is proparoxytone, a second stress accent develops on the final syllable of the host word:

φοβοῦμαι γὰρ τὸ στόμαν της, φοβοῦμαι τὴν ὀργὴν της Ptoch. I 33 ἐκείνη βαπτιστήρα ἦτον, ἐκείνη τσοῦκα οὐκ ἦτον Ptoch. IV 218 εἰς τοῦτο ὅπου μᾶς ἔποιεν Δεσπότης ὁ ἀδελφός μου Chron. Mor. H 3965 ἐδιέβησαν οἱ ἄρχοντες καὶ στρώνουν του τὸν μαῦρον Arm. 27 ἐγὼ Ρωμαίου παιδὶν εἶμαι καὶ ἐκλέψασίν με οἱ Φράγκοι Poulol. 355 (Tsavari) οἱ πόνοι ἀψὰ σὲ εἰσέβησαν κ' ἐκατεσκούρωσάν σε GLYKAS, Stichoi 190 κ' ἐνίκησέ με εἰς πόλεμον, παρηγορίαν νὰ τὸ εἶχα Chron. Mor. H 5007 τὰ λαμπροκαλαμόστουλα, ὀρθομαρμάρωσῖς τε Velth. 476 καὶ τὰς κατοῦνας μεθ' ἡμῶν καὶ τὰ βαρέματά μας [ANDR. PAL.] Kallim. 2517 σιμώσετέ τση ἀντήρητα, δέτε, χορτάσετέ τη CHORTATISIS, Panor. II. 179

In such cases, manuscript sources frequently note only the second enclitic stress, while the first one, probably felt to be weaker, is omitted:

διδοντά του (1496, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1, 47.11) ἐπεψέν τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 160.40-1 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari); ἔφερές μας ... καὶ ἐξαπολυσές μας ibid. 332.20-2 ἐδωκαμέν τως θέλημα (1607, Kalymnos, KOUTELAKIS 1981: 3, 32.6 facs.)
ἐκλειδωσασμένην ... καὶ ἐφηκαμένη τη (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 81.119-20) εἰδετέντον GERMANO, Grammar 50.9

A proclitic becomes the bearer of stress when the stress-bearing syllable of the host word is deleted as a hiatus resolution strategy (see 2.9.2), e.g.

ἐδέσποζές το τὸ βεργὶν καὶ μόνη σου νὰ τὸ ῥης Velth. 585 νὰ ῥτον καὶ αὐτὸ γραμμένον της ῥς τῆς τύχης τὰ χαρτία LIMEN., Than. Rod. 31

¹ On the function of εἶμι as an enclitic and the relevant editorial practice see AGAPITOS 2006: 243 fn. 35.

τὶς ἄνθρωπος νά 'χεν ἰδεῖ τὸν θρηνισμὸν τὸν τόσον SKLAVOS, Symf. 63 τὰ 'διδα (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 1, 360.13) μὲ ταίρι ὅπου ποτὲ κιανεῖς δὲν τοῦ 'βρισκε ψεγάδι KORNAPOS, Erot. I.34

An enclitic becomes the bearer of stress in the case of a paroxytone host word followed by two consecutive clitics:

εἶπε με «Εἰς τὸν Λίβιστρον σύρε καὶ δεῖξε τίς τα» Liv. V 1233 μᾶλλον καὶ τὸ ἀφήγημα καλὸν εἶναι καὶ λέγε μᾶς το Liv. E 2807 (scr. μᾶς το) μείνατε εἰς τὸ καλύβιν μου, πλὴν παραγγέλλω σᾶς το Liv. α 3061 καὶ ἐλάλεν τοὺς το MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 50.20–1 ἀφ' ἧνι τοῦ τηνε / ἀφήνει τοῦ τηνε (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 51, 132.5) ἀφιδάρεψου μου τηνε, κὶ ἐγὼ τῇ ρεμεντιάρω FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV. 50 καὶ δίδω τοῦ το, πιάνει το, σιμώνει το στὰ χεῖλη KORNAPOS, Erot. V.948

In EMG verse texts, which exhibit more extensive vowel deletion in hiatus, even across phonological phrases, a second accent may appear on a word when the initial vowel of the following word is deleted, irrespective of whether that word is a clitic, both in proparoxytone and in paroxytone host words:

ὄνειρό 'δεν στὸν ὕπνο της, κ' ἦλθε θεὸς Ἀμμῶνος Alex. Rim. 101; ἦσαν καὶ σκυλοκέφαλοι, στόμά 'χαν εἰς τὰ στήθη ibid. 2616 δίχως νὰ δῇ τιντὰ 'καμεν μιτὰ μου Cypr. Canz. 19.6 δέκά 'μεσταν κ' ἐκεῖνοι δυό, π' ἀνάθεμα τὴν ὥρα KORNAPOS, Erot. I.617; πάντὰ 'μου στῶ γονέω μου τοῖ δροσερές ἀγκάλες ibid. IV.627

In such cases it is difficult to evaluate whether the phenomenon, leading to two consecutive stressed syllables, is purely rhythmical or even graphematic, or whether it represents actual spoken usage, instead of the more natural outcome whereby the stress of the deleted vowel would simply be lost.

A special case of enclisis is recorded for the Cypriot dialect as represented by ms V of Machairas (DAWKINS 1932: II 32): disyllabic verbs become enclitic after the negation δέν, a phenomenon well documented for Modern Cypriot (see MENARDOS 1969: 22–3), as well as from related modern dialects. In LMedG and EMG Cypriot texts preserved in unaccented manuscripts, such as Assizes B or the Cypriot Canzoniere, it is impossible to detect the phenomenon.

το κούρσος δέν ηνε τηνὸς διαφορος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 160.10 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari); εἰ μουσθλουμένη δέν εχουν πτόν καμίαν ζωὴν ibid. 173.34; ὄνταν δέν υδεν τὰ χαρτία ὅπου ἔρυψεν εἰ σατία ibid. 189.49; καὶ δέν υβρεν γενοῦβίσικιν ibid. 199.15–16

The enclitic status of the verb “to be” in this environment is further demonstrable from its univerbation with the preceding negation in Cypriot texts, as well as in the related dialect of Rhodes (see also III, 4.8):

d' ene edi qui mas / δ' ἔνε ἐδικοί μας (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 66, f.IV.2) δέ 'νε μόδος νὰ πάρη ὁ σὶρ Τιπὰτ τὸ Κουρίκος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 562.17 δεναυρέθη / δένα βρεθῇ VOUSTR., Chron. A 290.9 app. crit. (δένα < δέν ἔναι νά) ἄν δέ 'ναι ἐγλήγορας (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 83.7) καὶ δέν καιρὸς τῆς καύχησης LIMEN., Than. Rod. 187

ποτέ μου δὲ νὰ σ' ἔλλαξα Katal. 505

A similar phenomenon, restricted geographically, is the enclisis of disyllabic verb forms in 15-syllable verse texts, in order to avoid or ensure a specific metrical stress pattern. Enclisis of the copula was an AG phenomenon which may have survived into MedG, while enclisis of verbs in the case of orally transmitted verse texts, as well as in emphatic contexts in everyday language, is a feature of Modern Cypriot, Dodecanesian and Cappadocian (MENARDOS 1969: 27–8; DAWKINS 1916: 43–4, 69; KOURMOULIS 1955/56: 449–52; MINAS 2005: 462). Consequently, the LMedG and EMG verse data could be considered as reflecting a true phonetic situation:

τὰ γράμματα τιμὴν ἔχουν GLYKAS, Stichoi 214 (ed. τιμὴν ἔχουν); πολλά εἶσαι βαρεμένη ibid. 304 (ed. πολλά εἶσαι) καλῶς ἦλθες, νεώτερε Dig. E 651; αὐτὰ τῶν χωριατῶν εἰσιν ibid. 745; ἐγὼ μονογενὴς εἰμαι ibid. 1299; καὶ μέριμναν οὐδὲν εἶχεν περὶ ἄλλας ἐμνοστίας ibid. 1616 καλὸν ἦτον νὰ μὴ ὁμονα Liv. V 2400 ἰσόκορμος οὐδὲν εἶσαι Velth. 579 αὐτοῦ στεκου καὶ θῶρει με Achil. L 698 (ed. στέκου) ὅτι εἰς ἐντροπὴν σου ἔναι Poulol. 69 βάρος εἰς τοῦτο δὲν ἔχεις Alfav. 10 5 (ed. ἔχεις) με λόγια δεν ἔναι πρεπό CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.412 τὰ δὲν εἶδαν τὰ μάτια μου Rim. Sant. 698 (δενήδαν diplomatic ed.)

4.2.3 Exceptions to the Law of Limitation

The limitation of the stress position to the three final syllables has several local exceptions: under certain conditions and in certain areas, stress on the fourth syllable from the end of a word or a phonological phrase is possible, whether or not accompanied by the development of a second stress on the penultimate syllable. The conditions where preantepenultimate stress may appear are the following:

- Extension of a proparoxytone verbal form through the addition of final /e/ or /ne/ (see 2.6.3 and III, 4.1), e.g. γράφουσιν → γράφουσινε, γράφετε → γράφετενε
- Extension of a disyllabic enclitic with a suffixal /e/ preceded by a paroxytone host word, e.g. γράφω την → γράφω τηνε, τὸν φόβο των → τὸν φόβο τωνε
- In verbal inflection, attachment of a plurisyllabic suffix with retention of columnar stress, e.g. γράφω → γράφομεστα, ἐκάλεσα → ἐκάλεσάμε, ἔστειλα → ἔστειλέτε.
- Non-development of a second stress accent in the case of proparoxytone words followed by an enclitic, e.g. γράφομεν → γράφομεν το.

The investigation of all aspects of the phenomenon is difficult in written sources, due to the inconsistent accentuation of manuscripts, editorial intervention (e.g. stress normalization even in diplomatic editions), and the script (texts written in the Latin or other alphabets). Inevitably, cases of transgression of the Law of Limitation are more secure in texts from areas for which there is modern dialectal evidence of the phenomenon, and impossible to detect in others. Even modern dialectal evidence is insufficient to determine the extent to which a second accent develops in the case of preantepenultimate stress, as modern linguistic descriptions are frequently imprecise. Therefore, this possibility is not discussed here. The basic reference for the various instantiations of preantepenultimate stress, their causes, their geographical distribution and the relevant dialectological bibliography is KOURMOULIS 1955/56, where it is demonstrated that in all cases the driving force behind the stress changes is morphology: the analogical spread of final vowel (or syllable) addition, the tendency for columnar stress (i.e. stress levelling across an inflectional paradigm, with the stress accent kept on the same syllable throughout) or the necessity for differentiation of homophonous inflectional forms (cf. also PERNOT 1907/46: I 64–71).

Concerning the geographical distribution of preantepenultimate stress in LMedG and EMG, the cases where it is due to the development of final vowel addition (subcases (a) and (b) above) are attested in the areas where this phenomenon is characteristic, i.e. Crete, the Cyclades (Naxos, Mykonos, Santorini etc.), the Heptanese and Chios. At least for Chios, it is also secured through the testimony of Germano: “ma la Greca volgare usa metter l’Accento nella sillaba avanti l’antepenultima, che e la quarta cominciando dall’ultima ... L’esempio ἀναγάλλιασις, anagalliasis, & in Scio κάμετενε” (GERMANO, Grammar 55.20–4). In the case of Crete, it is amply documented in the textual tradition of Morezinos (KAKOULIDI-PANOU et al. 2007: ρς’–ρζ’). As a result, many editors of EMG texts choose to follow the modern dialectal accentuation without second stress, while others do mark second stress on clitics and verb forms. In verse texts, the second accent is frequently secured by the metre. In texts written in Latin script, dialectal accentuation is purely an editorial choice. The verbal forms involved in preantepenultimate stress of type (a) are the following:

Active voice

- 3 sg. -’ενε
- 1 pl. -’ομενε, -’αμενε
- 2 pl. -’ετενε,
- 3 pl. -’ουσινε, -’ασινε
- 3 pl. -’ουνε, -’ανε

Passive voice

- 3 pl. present -’ονταινε, -’ουνταινε
- 3 sg. imperfect -’ετονε
- 1 pl. imperfect -’ομεστανε, -’ουμαστινε
- 3 pl. imperfect -’ουντονε

Verbs

αὐτὸς ἐφάνισένε κάστρη PETRITSIS, Dig. O 599; ἐγνώρισενε ὅτι πῶς ἀνδρεῖος θέλει γένει ibid. 1297 απο χομενε πα /ἀπῶχομενε ᾽πά (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 81.76) να σέχομενε / νὰ σ’ ἔχωμενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O Prol. 9 app. crit.

γράφομενε GERMANO, Grammar 50.1

μοῦ γράφετενε εἰς τὴν γραφὴν σας (1666, Italy / author from Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 11, 115.1) να με αγγηούτάρετενε / νά με άγκιουτάρετενε (1657, Ancona, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 8, 111.4) ν' αλλάξουσίνε τη χαρά απ' έχουσι σε πρίκα CHORTATSI, Panor. IV.145

δε θέλουσινε (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 183.120) καί παίρνουσινε θάνατον όγιά νά τά γλυτώσου KORNAROS, Erot. IV.500 έδοξάζασινε τόν Κύριον MOREZINOS, Klini 90.37 app. crit. (K); είχασινε ibid. 233.8

εκάμασινε την πληγή τα μάτια τση κεράς μου CHORTATSI, Panor. II.156 ήχασηνε να κάμουσιν/ είχασινε νά κάμουσιν (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 211, 200.5) πήγαν άπάνου εις τό αυτό τόπο καί έπαράδωσενέ τονε (1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 190, 161.11) έπιάσασινε τά χωριά, τούς Χριστιανούς έγδύσα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 149.13 μάς είπασινε πάλι Diig. Sant. 416 ναθέλασιννεσμήσουν / νά θέλασινε σμίξουν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1795 app. crit.

εκάμασινε τη μαλιάν εκείνη τήν ήμέρα KORNAROS, Erot. II.866 είπανε μου TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 201

δίνουνε τους (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 62.28) ερκουντενε / έρκουνταίνε (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 25.5) βρίσκουνταίνε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2543

καί λογίζεντονε τό έμισόν περιβόλεον (1557, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 11 [later copy], 63.7) όπου λέγετονε Σεγρεδιαν(ή) (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 206, 195.7) νά βρίσκεντονε in verità a bono patre natus FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.218 ερχουμαστίνε / έρχούμαστίνε (1584, Italy/author from Peloponnese, PAPADOPOULOS 1978: 1, 318.5) εκεί απού κάθομέστανε CHORTATSI, Panor. IV.352; γιατί' ήμεστανε δίχως σου περίσσα πρικαμένες id., Erof. Interm. I.126 παντοτινά κολαζόμαστανε Apok. Theot. 493.194–494.195 κείνη που όρέγομέστανε στό νοϋ μας τήνε βάνει KORNAROS, Erot. I.1261 μεγάλος καλορίζικος έκράζουντονε τότες KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1069

Pronouns

άποθανόντας τωνε (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 6, 16.44) έπήρα τονε άπάνω μου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 39, 37.3) άφήνει τηνε (1589, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 338, 283.10) κι η φύση τωνε να 'ναι αλλιώς' γιαδαύτος πορπατούσι CHORTATSI, Panor. I.439; και κάμε τηνε ταίρι σου κι εμένα μην πειράξεις ibid. II.333 γιαγέρνει τονε (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 82.6–7) κράξε τόνε παραμεράς, Σιμπάν, καί ρώτηξέ τον Thys. Avr. 589 είδατονε GERMANO, Grammar 51.2 (= είδα τονε) θέλω καί αφήνω τονε κλερονόμο (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 198.152–3) γνώθω τονε πολλά καλά, καί 'ντα θά πής για κείνο; FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.67 παρακαλόνταστηνε / παρακαλώντας τηνε (1660, Crete, KARATHANANIS 1973: 5, 34.6) καί τρατάρω τονε δια άδελφό μου (1686, Milos, KATSOUROS 1948: 7, 20.28)

καί δώνει τον τωνε τών Τούρκω ... (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 26.11–12)

Type (c), i.e. columnar stress with plurisyllabic suffixes not involving addition of final -ε or -νε, is again to be found in Crete, the Heptanese and the Cyclades, but also in EMG texts from areas with “northern” vocalism, such as Sterea Ellada and Macedonia. (See, for example, ΣΕΤΑΤΟΣ 1990/91: 22, 24 for Papasynadinos, a native of Serres; for the distribution of the phenomenon in modern “northern” dialects see ΠΑΠΑΔΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ 1926: 48–9; NEWTON 1972a: 198.) The development or not of a second stress on the penultimate syllable in such cases is not easily detectable, while modern evidence points to the existence of both alternatives. The forms involved are the following:

- 1 pl. past -άμεν
- 2 pl. past -έτε
- 1 pl. -ομεστε, -ομεστα, -ομαστε

Examples of subcase (c):

- καὶ ὥρισάμεν τὴν ρηθείσαν μονὴν (1059, Athos, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 7, 92.6) ἐκάλεσάμεν ἄρχοντες πολλοὺς Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1224 ἔτσι ἀνασκουμπώθηκάμεν καὶ οἱ τρεῖς ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. 84.8-9 (Kaftantzis); ἐμάζωνάμεν ἡμεῖς τὰ ἄσπρα ibid. 84.9 ἐπροσκύνησάμε τὴν εἰκόνα (17th c., Meteora, VEIS 1984: 187, f.172v.1–2) μικρὸν ἐθρήνησάμεν ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 2766 ἐλογαριασθηκάμαν (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 306, f.2r.19) ἐλογαριάστηκάμεν (1690, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 21, 14.6) ἔδινάμεν (1697, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B I/13, f.190r.12) ὡς ἡλιπίζάμεν ΒΑΤΑΤΣΙΣ, Periig. I 521
- πολλά υψηλά μου ἐστειλέτε Diig. Alex. K 347.3 δὲν ἐφοβήθηκότε τὸν θεόν; δὲν ἐντράπηκότε τοὺς ἀνθρώπους; DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 13, μ8r.15–16 (1561)
- καὶ μὲ τὸ θάρρος τοῦ Χριστοῦ ὅλοι ἀναπεύομεστε FALIEROS, Thrinis 298 θαυμάζομεστε τὸ λοιπὸν ὅλοι στήν ἀφεντιά σου Alex. Rim. 789 ἐμπλεγάρομάσταν (1546/51, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 26, 64.22-3); δὲν μπατζαρομάσταν (1548, ibid. 25, 63.13) καὶ τὸ βεβαιώνομεσθεν ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. 60.5 (Kaftantzis) στέκομέστα Pist. voskos V 2.128; στέκομέσθα ibid. 7.38 κ’ εὐρίσκομέσταν ζωντανοὶ ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 2634 ὁποῦ εὐρίσκομέσταν (1672, Vraniana / Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 96, 237.6) χαίρου λοιπό, παιδάκι μου, σὰ χαίρομέσταν ὅλοι KORNAROS, Erot. V.1431

The fourth type of preantepenultimate stress is typical of the modern Cypriot dialect (MENARDOS 1969: 22; SYMEONIDIS 2006: 195–6) but is difficult to trace in LMedG and EMG textual sources from the area. However, despite the erratic accentuation of the manuscripts, indications of the phenomenon can be found in Voustronios (KECHAYOGLOU 1997: *78). Stress on the preantepenultimate syllable due to causes (c) and (d) is also attested in the modern dialects of Pontos and Cappadocia; again, it is traceable only with great difficulty in LMedG and EMG sources from these areas (some of which are written in non-Greek scripts), because of inconsistent ms accentuation. An indirect indication of the possibility of preantepenultimate stress in Cyprus and Pontos is the evolution of object clitic placement in these two dialectal varieties: while the general trend in all Greek-speaking areas is extension and fixation of proclisis, i.e. preverbal placement, in Cypriot and Pontic enclisis, i.e. postverbal placement, seems to gradually extend even beyond the syntactic environments normal for LMedG (see PAPPAS 2006, 2010 and, in this Grammar, IV, 8.2). This entails a considerable increase in the environments in which preantepenultimate stress of type (d) may appear, since proclisis by definition eliminates consecutive post-tonic unstressed syllables caused by clitic attachment. The co-occurrence of the two phenomena (extension of enclisis and preantepenultimate stress of type (d)) in these two – and only these two – dialectal varieties may indicate a causal connection between them.

ἐπροσδέκτησαν τον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 129.18–19 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari); ἔπεψεν την
ibid. 178.32

εὐρίσκοντας μου εἰς τὴν Φάλειαν (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3.1) ἐχεροτόνησεν τον (1395, Pontos, BRYER 1976: 7, 133.3)

τοῦτο τὸ βιβλίον ἐχάρισεν το (ca. 1401, Asia Minor, DARROUZÈS 1964a: [29], 37.1)

4.2.4 Stress Shift and Variation: Morphological Functions

Lexical stress in MedG and EMG is movable within its set limits, i.e. it may shift to the left or to the right within an inflectional or derivational paradigm. Stress shift is not motivated by phonological reasons as in AG, but is a purely morphological phenomenon. In inflectional morphology, stress shift is to a certain extent conditioned by register, whereas in derivational morphology it is lexically determined and stable. The only phonological motivation for lexical stress shift is the phenomenon of synizesis, which is also strongly influenced by register (see 2.9.4).

4.2.4.1 Stress in Nominal Morphology

Stress variability appears in the following cases (apart from the pervasive phenomenon of synizesis, which causes variation in many different paradigms):

1. In the gen. sg. and the nom./acc. pl. of neuter nouns in -μα (see II, 2.21), if lexical stress falls on the antepenultimate syllable, it shifts to the right, as these inflectional forms add an extra syllable which would otherwise lead to preantepenultimate stress, against the Law of Limitation: θέλημα(ν) vs. θελήματος/θελημάτων – θελήματα. Similarly, the higher-register inflectional variants of proparoxytone feminine nouns in -η deriving from AG nouns in -ις (see II, 2.12.4) exhibit stress shift to the right (a) in the gen. sg. and the gen. pl. due to the addition of an extra syllable, e.g. δύναιμι vs. δυνάμεως – δυνάμεων, and (b) in the nom./acc. pl. due to the “etymologically” long final syllable, e.g. δύναιμι – δυνάμεις.
2. In the gen. pl. of masc. and fem. nouns in -ας and -α (II, 2.2 and 2.11): since these inflectional paradigms consist in the conflation of the AG 1st declension, which displayed obligatory stress on the final syllable (e.g. ταμίας – ταμιῶν, θάλασσα – θαλασσῶν) and of the 3rd declension, which displayed obligatory stress on the penultimate (e.g.

κανών – κανόνων, ἐλπὶς – ἐλπίδων), the accentuation of the gen. pl. of the A-stem nouns is unpredictable from their synchronic inflectional class (see II, 2.11.2–3 and MERTYRIS 2014: 190–8). It normally continues the accentuation of the word's AG etymon, but extensive fluctuation is observable in lower-register texts, e.g.

τῶν τριῶν ἐκκλησίῳν (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 307.27–8) ἀνάμεσα τῶν ρέντων Pol. Tr. 986 app. crit. (X) μετὰ ράβδων καὶ ματσούκων Spanos D 754 τῶν πόρτων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 414.34 τῶν σέλλων Assizes A 240.19 τῶν ἀρχόντισσων (1628, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 99b, 241.61)
 δακρύων τε καὶ λύπων Dig. A 4367

3. In the gen. pl. of masc. and fem. nouns in -ης and -η (II, 2.3 and 2.12), the same fluctuation between historical/etymological stress on the final syllable and columnar stress on the penultimate is observable (see also MERTYRIS 2014: 198–201), e.g.

τουρμάρχων (1099, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: App. 1, 643.7–8) τον εραιμήτων / τῶν Ἑρεμίτων (1159, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 159, 210.15) τῶν ἀπελάτων Dig. E 644
 τῶν ναύτων Assizes B 298.1 τῶν Τρωαδίτων Pol. Tr. 1436 app. crit. (A) τῶν Μοραΐτων Chron. Toc. 3920 πρᾶξες καλῶν στρατιώτων Chron. Mor. P 1349 τῶν μητροπολίτων Alosis 237

4. In the paradigms of nouns in -ος, -ο(ν) and -ι(ν) stress shift occurs with proparoxytone nouns when the case suffix contained a long vowel in AG, i.e. constituted a phonologically heavy syllable. The case-forms in question are the gen. sg., the gen. pl. and (for the masc. nouns only) the acc. pl. In these case-forms, LMedG and EMG present considerable variation: continuation of the AG pattern vs. retention of columnar stress (cf. MERTYRIS 2014: 35–8). The variation is mostly register-dependent, although a morphological motivation is also possible. For example, the masc. gen. pl. presents stress shift almost uniformly, as lack of shift would render the relevant forms homophonous with the acc. sg. (τὸν ἄνθρωπον – τῶν ἀνθρώπων). The necessity of distinction between acc. sg. and gen. pl. in this paradigm has led to analogical accent shift to the right even in paroxytone nouns (e.g. τῶν χρόνων – τῶν χρονῶν; see II, 2.1.2). Register-conditioned variable stress shift in the gen. sg. and pl. and the acc. pl. following the AG pattern is also observable in the paradigm of adjectives in -ος, -η, -ο in the case of proparoxytone lexical items (see II, 3.2).

καὶ ἐσύ, γαδάρου χαρμονή Poulol. 516 τοῦ καλογέρου (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 134.73)
 vs.
 τοῦ Πρίαμου Pol. Tr. 1690 app. crit. (X) τοῦ ζέφυρου ὁ δρόσος Theseid V.99,3 (1529) τῆς παραδείσου Deft. Par. 292 τῆς Αἰγύπτου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 125.22

vs.

τῆς ἄβυσσου Deft. Par. 318

τῆς ὁδοῦ GERMANO, Grammar 59.16

τοῦ κατόρου Vios Aisop. K 160.14

vs.

τὴν τσούκαν τοῦ ὀξύγαλου Ptoch. III 177 τοῦ θεμέλιου (1554, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 217, 192.5) τῶν σιδέρω FALIEROS, Ist. On. 493 καρβοπούλων SFRANTZIS, Chron. 168.16

vs.

σμάραγδων Achil. N 838

τῶν βίτσιων Fior 147.35

Furthermore, there is a strong tendency for non-etymological stress shift to the right in the nom. pl. of the O-stem nominal paradigm, on the analogy of the gen. pl. and the acc. pl.: τῶν ἀνθρώπων, τοὺς ἀνθρώπους → οἱ ἀνθρώποι.

5. In the pronominal domain, analogical stress shift has created extensive allomorphy due to mutual influence of the various pronominal subparadigms, e.g. αὐτός > αὐτός, ἐκείνων > ἐκείνων, ὅποιος > ὅποιος (see II, 5.5.1 and II, 5.9.2).

4.2.4.2 Stress in Verbal Morphology

In verb morphology stress plays a much more important functional role than in nominal morphology, as its position is less subject to variation and has a distinctive role in several parts of the verbal paradigm (see APOSTOLOPOULOS 1984: 67–71 for MedG and BABINIOTIS 1972: ch. III Γ for MG).

Stress functions as the main distinguishing characteristic of the two LMedG/EMG conjugations, i.e. barytone (γράφω) vs. oxytone (ἀγαπῶ). In more general terms, the two conjugations may be distinguished on the basis of whether the stress falls on the inflectional suffix or not. Due to the residual effects of the AG Law of Limitation, a proparoxytone verb conjugation could not develop, as the 1 sg. suffix -ω constituted a heavy syllable.

Stress also functions as a main indication of past tense: the imperfect and aorist, both active and passive, tend to be accentuated on the antepenultimate syllable, e.g. ἔγραφα – γράψαμε, ἀγάπησα – ἀγαπήσαμε, ἐγραφόμην > ἐγράφομουν/γραφόμουν, ἐγράφη > γράφτηκε. This leads to stress shift in the case of past forms of the verb showing penultimate stress due to phonetic accident, e.g. ἐχάωσα > ἐχάσα (with lexical vowel deletion) > ἔχασα.

The reverse development, i.e. stress shift to the penultimate syllable in 3 pl. past forms, is a very frequent phenomenon, e.g. ἔγραψαν > ἐγράψαν, ἐσκοτώναν > ἐσκοτώσαν; it should be attributed to a tendency for columnar stress in the three persons of the plural, i.e. to the analogy of the 1st and 2nd persons pl.: ἐγράψαμε, ἐγράφετε, ἔγραψαν → ἐγράψαν, γράφανε. In dialects showing extensive deletion of final -ν even in verbal suffixes, stress shift to the penultimate in 3 pl. may help to distinguish it from the homophonous 1 sg.: ἔτρεξα – ἐπαρακάλεσα vs. ἐτρέξα, ἐπαρακάλεσα.

The attachment of plurisyllabic suffixes onto a stem normally triggers stress-shift to the right, so that the constraint limiting stress to the last three syllables may not be transgressed, e.g. γράφομαι → γραφόμεθα, ἔγραψα → ἐγράψαμε. However, as a geographically restricted phenomenon appearing from the 15th c. onwards, an alternative strategy also appears: preservation of the stress on the same syllable throughout the subparadigm (columnar stress), with development of a second accent on the penultimate syllable, e.g. γράφομαι → γράφομέστε, ἔγραψα → ἔγραψάμε. For more examples see 4.2.3, case (c), as well as III, 4.3.1.1, 4.4.1.1, 4.4.2 and 4.5.2.1. For further details on the phenomenon as it appears in MG dialects see KOURMOULIS 1955/56, MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN/DRACHMAN 1992 and MALIKOUTI-DRACHMAN 1993.

Finally, stress serves to distinguish the active indicative from the imperative in the oxytone verbs, as the imperative has recessive accentuation: ἀγαπᾷ vs. ἀγάπα, κρατεῖ vs. κράτει. In the small subparadigm of the 2nd aorist, the reverse is true: the imperative is distinguished from the indicative through final-syllable stress: εἶπε vs. εἶπέ, εἶδε vs. ἰδέ.

Verbal inflection involves several trisyllabic suffixes (e.g. -όμεσθε, -ούμαστων) which bring about stress shift to the right due to the trisyllabic constraint, except in the cases noted above when columnar stress prevails. For full details see the relevant paradigms (III, 4).

4.2.4.3 Stress in Derivation and Composition

Recessive accentuation, i.e. retraction of the stress as far as is allowed by the Law of Limitation, serves a variety of derivational and compositional functions (DIETERICH 1904a), such as:

- marking of substantivization of adjectives, e.g. δαμασκηνό > δαμάσκηνο, ξανθός > Ξάνθος, βραδύ > βράδυ.
- marking of prefixation, e.g. πεθερός → συμπεθέρος, ὄψέ → ἀπόψε, φιλόσ → κατάφιλος, ἐκεῖ → ἀπέκει.
- marking of composition, e.g. δίσκος + ποτήριον → δισκοπότηρον, εὐνοστος + λιβάδιον → ἐμνοστολίβαδον, ἄγριος + σκύλος → ἀγριόσκυλος, παλαιόν + κάστρον → παλαιόκαστρον.

The position of stress in nominal compounds depends, as in MG (for which see NESPOR/RALLI 1994; RALLI 2013: ch. 5), on the internal structure of the compound: if the compound has the form [stem] + [stem], i.e. when the compound is formed through a special inflectional or derivational affix, the accent retracts to the antepenultimate syllable (e.g. δισκ-ο-πότηρ-ο).

ἀσημοχρούσαφον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 346.24 ἡλιόκλιμαν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 551 βροντοκούδουνα Diig. tetr. 763 γαίδουρόπετσον Assizes A 245.11 ζαχαρόμελο Peri Xen. 531 ἀγριογούρουνον AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 53.1 αθόγαλο CHORTATSI, Panor. III.388 αὐλότοπον (1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 717, 621.3) κοντυλομάχαιο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 142.14 ἀμπελοχάρατσα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.41 κακοτσίκαλο FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.109

If the compound takes the form [stem] + [word], i.e. its second member is a whole word, the compound may inherit the stress properties of the right-hand member (e.g. ἀνεμ-ο-ζάλη), although this is not absolute and stress retraction may take place (e.g. γουρουν-ό-τριχα):

καλοκαβαλάρης Ptoch. III 71 app. crit. (G) ἀνθρωποφιλία Chron. Mor. H 2458 ἀγριοτσουκνίδα Kakop. 119 ἀναχαιοφυσάλλίδα Spanos A 222 κουρφοκλεψιές Rim. kor. A 607 γιαλοφεγγίτης Flor. 1347 (Kriaras) ἴδιοπαρδιαβασμός (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 2335) ἔρωτογραφὴ Liv. S 698 ἔρωτοσαῖτα Theseid V.39,8 (1529) Εὐτυχοκυρά Logos Parig. L 334 κουζουλοκοπελιές CHORTATSI, Panor. IV.55 γεροντογαίδουρι CHORTATSI, Katz. V.412; γεροδαίμονας ibid. III.516 μαγγανοσανίδα (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 816, 712.13) καλαμαρθήκη KORNAOS, Erot. I.1424 ψυχὴ μου κακοτύχε GLYKAS, Stichoí 196 ἀκρόξανθος STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 2.45 κονταρόκρουσμα Pol. Tr. 4403 διαβολόσκαλαν (post 1425, Athos, SCHREINER 1975/79: 8.II, 18.4) ἀνδράδελφος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 546.13 κλεισουρότοπον Velth. 220 ἀμπαρόμοσχος Achill. N 1586 ἀγριόμπουφος Poulol. 646 λωλότραγον Diig. tetr. 459 δρακοντόκαστρον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 176; κακεύνουχος ibid. 2294 βαρύσκυλος Synax. gadar. 32 κακόγερος DEFAR., Log. did. 255 γουρουνότριχα Bertoldos 6 τὸν ἀμπελότοπο (1664, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 13, 127.6)

The neuter compounds in -ι form a special category, in which stress appears to retract not to the antepenultimate but to the penultimate syllable; this is due to the fact that their original suffix was -ιον, with subsequent loss of the final /o/ (see CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 170–93 and II, 2.20).

ἀγιοζούμιν Ptoch. IV 375 vs. ἀγιάζουμιν ibid. 377 κυμινोधέρμιν Ptoch. IV 337 vs. κυμινόθερμον ibid. app. crit. (H) ἔξωχώρια SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 52.31 vs. ἐξώχωρον Chron. Mor. P 8244 έρωτοτρυγόνι Liv. E 130 vs. έρωτοτρύγονον ibid. 3613 έρωτοπιττάκιν Liv. V 1731 vs. έρωτοπίττακα Liv. S 2856 βουνοτόπιν Velth. 769 θυροπόρτιν Byz. II. 105 καλαμοκάννια Spanos B 116 καλιγοκάρφια Dig. E 13 καμηλογόμαρον Assizes A 244.24

Obviously, verbal compounds are always exempt from accent retraction for two reasons: firstly, their second member is always an inflected verbal form, and secondly, in AG the verbal inflectional suffix was always heavy (-ω, -ῶ) and therefore retraction to the antepenultimate was phonetically impossible:

διπλογράφω Chron. Mor. H 7034
 δαμονογυρεύω Liv. S 1640 βαρυκαρδίζουν Epain. gyn. 546 γλυκοπεριπλέκεις SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 156 άνοιγοσφαλίζει CHORTATIS, Erof. II 357

Part II

Nominal Morphology

1 Introduction

1.1 Overview of Developments in the Nominal System

Much morphological change affecting the nominal system had already taken place before the period covered by this Grammar, leaving few paradigms untouched. The evidence of the papyri (see GIGNAC 1981), the Byzantine chronicles (PSALTES 1913) and other texts that draw on the vernacular indicates the extent of analogical change, simplification and redundancy that affected the inherited paradigms. Of course changes in morphology cannot be isolated from developments in the domains of phonology and syntax, and there often appears to be a subtle interaction of different factors, insofar as it is possible to explain the causation of the changes observed in our texts.

Part II examines the nominal system in detail, by part of speech. We include: nouns, adjectives (and adverbs derived from adjectives), articles, pronouns and determiners, and numerals. Parallel developments can be adduced in various parts of the paradigms. To take a single example, the feminine nominative plural ending -ες, which in AG characterized the 3rd declension, is extended to the nominative and accusative plural of virtually all feminine nouns, as well as the corresponding cases of adjectives and determiners, and the feminine accusative plural of the definite article (τές) and the 3rd-person clitic pronoun (τές/τες). However, there are some interesting survivals against the general trend: while the AG 3rd declension is almost completely merged with the first as far as nouns are concerned (with the exception of those of neuter gender), adjectives ending in /is/ (εὐγενής, βαθύς), if they are not remodelled as adjectives in -ος (e.g. ἀληθινός < ἀληθής), preserve substantial parts of their original paradigms and therefore need to be discussed separately (3.3.1, 3.3.3).

Among other significant developments in MedG we may note the emergence of certain indeclinable forms: the relative pronoun όπού (5.9.1.1), the universal quantifier πάσα (5.13.1.4) and the distributive determiner κάθε/κάθα (5.13.2.4). Finally, many pronouns and determiners acquire extended forms (ἀλλουνοῦς, ὀλωνῶν, ποιουνοῦ, etc.), an analogical process that begins with the demonstrative pronouns and determiners (ἐκεινοῦ, τουτουνοῦ, αὐτουνοῦς etc.).

Despite the manifold changes, the nominal system as a whole has preserved the two main features of the AG system: gender and case. All nouns are assigned to one of the three genders and all associated modifiers must agree in gender, number and case. Nominative, genitive and accusative cases continue to exist in LMedG and EMG. The dative case, however, had gradually disappeared from the spoken language during the first millennium and its main functions were reassigned (see HUMBERT 1930, LENDARI/MANOLESSOU 2003, HORROCKS 2010: 183–5, 284, HOLTON/MANOLESSOU 2010: 546–7). Nonetheless, datives survive in many of the written texts that this Grammar is based on, though mainly in documents and other texts in mixed or higher registers, and they may have a range of inherited functions. Particularly common are datives governed by the prepositions ἐν and σύν. Because the dative had ceased to be part of the spoken vernacular by about the 10th c., dative forms are not included in the paradigms set out in the chapters that follow.¹ Some examples of usage are given here, including innovations of various kinds.

Datives frequently occur in dates and other temporal expressions:

μηνὶ Δικεβρίῳ εἰς τὰς δυό, ἡμέρᾳ Τετράδῃ (1388, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 101, 99.1) ἦτο ἀρχιερεὺς τῷ καιρῷ ἐκείνῳ Diig. Alex. K 346.16–17 (Mitsakis) 1596 μηνὶ Φεβρουάριος 23 (1596, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 20, 75.2) (note the lack of agreement)

They can also be found as the indirect object or complement of the verb:

ἀπέδωκε τοῖς στεναγμοῖς, ἀπέδωκε τοῖς θρήνοις [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2147 βοηθεῖτε μοι! Om. Nekt. Vas. 63
 Ἀριστοτέλει τῷ ἐμῷ τιμίῳ διδασκάλῳ Alex. Rim. 1511

Prepositional phrases occur in a range of texts, often as fossilized expressions:

ἔζων σύν τοῖς μαθήμασι Ptoch. (Maiuri) 25 ἐν ἀληθείᾳ Dig. E 1677
 ἐν ὀνείρῳ Liv. V 324
 σύν βασιλίσσῃ τῇ λαμπρᾷ Liv. E 4329 σύν μαλαγματένῃ θήκῃ ERMON., Ilias 12.125 ἐν συντόμῳ λόγῳ [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1226 ἐν Νικαίᾳ τῇ πόλει (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 9, 18.18) ὁ ἐν ἱερεῦσι χατζῆς (1662, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 81, 202.2) σύν τῇ κυρίᾳ μητέρα μου (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 10, 306, f.1r.2)

Other adverbial expressions:

ἐκουσίᾳ ἡμῶν τῇ γνώμῃ καὶ αὐτοπροαιρέτῳ βουλήσει (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.9–10) προβλέποντας τῷ πνεύματι τοῦτα ποὺ ἐγενήκαν VEST., Prol. Theot. 267

In addition to instances like the above, which could be deemed grammatically “correct” (i.e. in accordance with AG morphology and syntax), we also find dative forms with innovative phonology, stress or morphology, or new lexical items:

ἐν τῇ τουποθεσίᾳ τοῦ εὐγενοῦς ἄρχων (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 24, 64.4–5) οἰκοῦσα ἐν Ρεθέμνῃ (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 94, 175.2) σύν τοῖς βοθηρακοῖς Spanos D 1509 ἐν παρρησιᾷ PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 62 ἐν τῇ Ὀγκριᾷ Ekth. Chron. 83.22 app. crit. (D)

Ἀράβοις KAMAT., Astron. 323 (< Ἀραβος); ἑταιρίδαις ibid. 632 (< ἡ ἑταιρίδα, for ἑταιρίσι < ἑταιρίς)

¹ The only exception that has been made is the dative reciprocal pronoun ἀλλήλοις, on the basis that its occurrence, which is quite rare, seems to be as much a lexical survival as a morphosyntactic feature (see 5.12).

ἐν πᾶσι τοῖς Κυκλάσι νήσiais (1263, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 68, 185.17) (for νήσiais)
 συνπάσois τοῖς τοίχοis Assizes B 360.5² ἐν τοῖς Ἑλλήνοis ERMON., Ilias 7.271; καὶ δοράτοis γὰρ ὀξέois ibid. 18.144 τοῖς ἐμπιστευτήδεis / τοῖς ἐμπιστευτιόδais Assizes A 160.5

Of particular interest is the use of dative forms for loanwords:

ἐν σούγλα Spanos A 95 (Lat. subula) τῷ μπασταρδικῷ γένει SFRANTZIS, Chron. 18.15; ἐν τῷ τοῦ ἀμηρᾶ σεργαγίῳ ibid. 146.8
 ἐν τοῖς τῶν γενιτζάρων ὀντάσι Ekth. Chron. 53.10 (< Turk. oda)

Dative forms usually indicate an attempt on the part on the writer (or copyist) to elevate the register above the common vernacular. In the texts on which this Grammar is based – i.e. texts that are not systematically archaizing – such attempts may be unsuccessful because the writer lacks a formal knowledge of the classical language, as the unorthodox spelling of documents often indicates, e.g. εἰκέις χερσῆν / οἰκείαις χερσίν (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.5).

In the following sections (1.2–4) we present three geographically or dialectally restricted phenomena affecting the nominal system. Nominal inflection in MedG and EMG displays attrition/syncretism in certain case-forms, across inflectional paradigms. What is meant here by syncretism is not the accidental phonetic overlap between different case-forms, such as for instance, that between the nom. sg. and the acc. sg. of fem. nouns in -α and -η caused by the deletion of final /n/ (ἡ χώρα/τὴν χώρα, ἡ τιμή/τὴν τιμή, see I, 3.7.2.2), which may be disambiguated through the forms of the definite article, but rather the syntactic merger of two case-forms. Three varieties of case merger may be distinguished, each having different causes and different geographical and diachronic distribution.

- a) In Cyprus, the replacement of the genitive plural by the accusative plural of masculine nouns of all inflectional paradigms, e.g. τὸ δίκαιον τοὺς κριτάδες.
- b) In texts from the Cyclades, the replacement of the accusative plural by the nominative plural of masculine nouns, e.g. εἶδα τὶς ἀνθρῶποι.
- c) In Pontic, the replacement of the nominative singular by the accusative singular of masculine nouns in -ος, e.g. ὁ Κυριακόν.

The Introduction concludes with a section on synizesis, stress shift and accent notation in nominal morphology.

1.2 Cypriot Genitive Plural of Masculine Nouns

LMedG and EMG texts from Cyprus display a strong tendency for merger of the genitive plural and accusative plural of masculine nouns, adjectives, pronouns and determiners of all declensions, in favour of the accusative form. Previous studies of the phenomenon have shown that it affects masculine nouns in all syntactic positions, such as possessive, indirect object, complement of prepositions. There does not appear to be any quantitative differentiation with respect to the grammatical or inflectional category of the affected nominal forms, and so the innovative syncretic genitive may belong to nouns in -ος (e.g. εἰς τὴν γῆν τοὺς Σαρακηνοὺς, Assizes B 424.9; μετὰ τὴν βουλὴν τοὺς καλοὺς ἀνθρώπους Assizes A 26.17–18; εἰς τὸ καράβιν τοὺς Βενετικούς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 228.19), nouns in -ας (e.g. εἰς τὰ χέργια τοὺς πατέρες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 54.2; κληρονόμος τοὺς Τελαζανιάδες VOUSTR., Chron. A 152.3), nouns in -ης (e.g. εἰς τες αὐλάδες τοὺς ἀφέντες VOUSTR., Chron. A 14.14; τῖς γλῶσσαις τοὺς κακοὺς συντυχάρηδες Fior 83.37–8), nouns in -εύς (e.g. δίχως τὸ θέλημα τοὺς γονεῖς αὐτῆς (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 239.425–6); κοιμητήρια τοὺς ἀρχιερεῖς καὶ ἐπισκόπους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 30.13), adjectives or participles in -ος (e.g. οἱ ψυχῆς τοὺς ἀποθαμμένους Pist. kekoim. 629; εἰς τὴν Ζωὴν τοὺς ἁγίους πατέρες εὐρίσκεται Fior 95.5) and pronouns/determiners in -ος (e.g. ἀνε παρικι αλοὺς / ἂν ἔ πάροικοι ἄλλους (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.8; for ἔ see III, 4.8.1); νὰ ἀπολογηθῇ ἀπ' ἐκείνην τὴν κακοποιίαν ὅλους ἐκείνους Assizes A 217.24; ἔδωκέν τους τὴν ἐλευθερίαν ἐκείνους καὶ τῶν παιδιῶν τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 18.28; μήπως καὶ φανιστῇ κάποιους δύσκολον Pist. kekoim. 178).

² The innovative dative plural πάσois, replacing AG πᾶσι, also occurs in legal documents from the Aegean: ἐπαφῆνου πάσois χριστιανοῖς (1562, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 9, 22.3); τοῖς πάσois Χριστιανοῖς (1601, Ikaria, STAMATIADIS 1893: 1, 153.1).

Similarly, all syntactic environments requiring an adnominal, adverbial or adpositional genitive are available to the new syncretic form:

Possessive genitive

τὴν ἐξουσίαν καὶ τοὺς ἀνθρώπους καὶ τῶν γυναικῶν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 254.929) ἤρτεν τὸ ἀρμάτωμαν τοὺς Σαρακηνοὺς (1425, Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 208.1.2) ἐστράφησαν εἰς τὴν γῆν τοὺς Χριστιανοὺς Assizes B 266.31

ἀπὲ τὴν συντροφίαν τοὺς ἄλλους κριτάδες Assizes A 28.10; ἕτερα φυλὴ τοὺς Συριάνους ibid. 238.19 ἐκόψαν τὲς κεφαλὰδες τοὺς κάτωθεν δηλούμενους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 402.27; εἰς τὸ καράβιν τοὺς Βενετικούς ibid. 228.19; τὰ ραβδία τοὺς ραβδούχους τοὺς Βενετικούς ibid. 228.27

διὰ το κακόν τους ἄλλους ἔλαβεν ἐκεῖνος καλόν VOUSTR., Chron. B 233.14–15

εἰς τὴν χώραν τοὺς ζωντανούς Pist. kekoim. 111 καὶ δέχου νὰ μᾶς ἐβγάλει ἀπὸ τὰ χέρια τοὺς ἀπίστους (17th c., Cyprus, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 22, 269.4) γυναῖκες τοὺς γυναικαδελοφούς (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 418.859)

Subjective/objective genitive διὰ ζημίαν τοὺς γονεῖς (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 234.254) ἤρταν εἰς τὴν βοήθειαν τοῦ(ς) συντρόφους τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 132.38–134.1

διὰ τὴν ἀγάπην τοὺς συγγενάδες Fior 76.7; ὁ θυμὸς τοὺς πελλοὺς εἶναι πάντα εἰς τὰ λόγια καὶ τοὺς φρενίμους εἶναι μόνον εἰς τὰ ἔργα ibid. 95.9–10

Partitive genitive

τὸν ἕνα τοὺς ἐγγυτάδες Assizes B 471.5–6

Indirect object

νὰ τὸ δώσουν εἰδῇσιν καὶ τοὺς καλλιωτέρους συγγενεῖς (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 241.513–14) νὰ ἀπολογᾶται ὅλους ἐκείνους καὶ ὅλων ἐκείνων Assizes A 166.6

ἐχάρισεν καὶ τοῦτο ὁ Θεὸς τοὺς σωζομένους Pist. kekoim. 672

Ethical/personal dative οὐδὲν ἄρέσουν τοὺς γονεῖς Assizes A 97.17 ἐβγάλαν τα πράματα τὰ ἐπῆραν τοὺς δύο ἀδελφούς VOUSTR., Chron. A 20.5–6

Prepositional complement ἐμπροσθεν τοὺς λεγάδες Assizes B 280.13–14; ἐμπροσθεν τοῦ βισκούντη καὶ τοὺς κριτάδες

ibid. 354.20–1

κατὰ πρόσωπα τοὺς καβαλλάριδες τοὺς φουμάτους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 24.24; ἐμπροσθεν τοὺς αὐθέντες, καὶ τοῦ πόπουλου ibid. 48.33

ἐμπροσθεν τοὺς κλογάδας Assizes A 31.18; μέσον τοὺς ἐγγυητάδες ibid. 65.29–30

Another syntactic environment, not discussed in previous studies, is the use of the genitive as a direct object, with verbs which in other areas are construed with the accusative. In such cases, Cypriot texts show genitive in the singular (ἐμπλάσεν μίας καμήλας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 662.25–6; ἐμπλάσεν ἐνοῦ τζακρατόρου ibid. 654.4), but accusative only with the masc. acc. pl., e.g.

οὐδὲ νὰ τοῦ πιστεύσουν οὐδὲ ἐκείνου, οὐδὲ τοὺς σιργέντες του Assizes B 353.7–8 ἐμπλάζει τοὺς καβαλλικεμένους Assizes A A 70.8

ἐμπλάσεν ἧ Γενουβίσους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 366.18; ἐμπλάσαν Σαρακηνοὺς ἀπεζοὺς ibid.
634.23–4

The development seems to be complete, in lower registers, by the 16th c., as the text of Voustronios, for example, does not contain a single instance of the “old” masc. gen. pl. form (MARKOPOULOS 2010: 99–100). Older texts, such as the Assizes and Machairas’s Chronicle, show a predominance of the innovative acc. for gen. form (ca. 75%), but the change seems to be still in progress.

The phenomenon was first noted and discussed in BEAUDOIN 1884: 66, 98–9, repeated in SYMEONIDIS 2006: 197–8, and has since formed the subject of several studies with respect to its interpretation. The oldest suggestion, first put forward by MENARDOS (1969 [1896]: 33), and adopted by HADJIOANNOU (1988: 208–9), was that the gen./acc. pl. form has as its origin the addition of final -ς to the gen. sg. of nouns in -ος (τοῦ Σαρακηνοῦ → τοὺς Σαρακηνοὺς). This analysis, however, cannot account for the fact that the phenomenon is not specific to the /o/ stem masculine nouns, but affects all masculine nominals, irrespective of inflectional class, even in the earliest attestations.

An alternative proposal, formulated by PAPADOPOULLOS (1983: 222–3) and also considered by SITARIDOU/TERKOURAFI (2009) is that the genitive/accusative was at least partially motivated by the influence of Old French, which shows merger in several inflectional paradigms (though, crucially, not in the masculines). This is a rather unlikely scenario, given the relatively early appearance of the phenomenon in Cypriot texts (ca. 1300), too early for Old French to have so deeply penetrated the language as to affect a basic morphosyntactic category, and given that Old French influence is otherwise minimal on Cypriot, except perhaps in the domain of vocabulary.

According to a third proposal, elaborated by HENRICH (2002: 323–30), the innovative gen. pl. form was motivated by the necessity to disambiguate the homophonous acc. sg. and gen. pl. of masc. nominals in -ος (τὸν λόγον–τῶν λόγων). However, the innovation affects not only nouns in -ος, but also nouns in -ας and -ης; in these inflectional paradigms there is no ambiguity between acc. sg. and gen. pl., and, more significantly, the case merger actually increases ambiguity, as in certain cases, such as the imparisyllabic plural in -άδες, it leads to an uninflected plural, where all four cases (nom., gen., acc., voc.) are identical.

A newer analysis was put forward by MARKOPOULOS (2010), according to whom the phenomenon is connected to the merger of dative and accusative and may go as far back as the Early MedG period, on the basis of 6th-/7th-c. inscriptional evidence from Palestine. Markopoulos was able to locate the earliest instances of the phenomenon in Cypriot, ca. 1300. Nevertheless, the gap of several centuries between these attestations and the Palestinian data render the connection less likely, especially since such an analysis would require the process of dative loss to have lasted several centuries longer than usually admitted.

The most likely proposal was put forward by MERTYRIS (2013, 2014), who also provides a balanced criticism of all earlier accounts. In his view, the merger must have started from the weak form of the 3 pl. personal pronoun, which shows fluctuation between τῶν and τούς already since the EMedG period, without geographical restrictions (see 5.3.2.6). This merger must have then spread to masc. nouns in -ος, and subsequently to all other masculine classes, probably starting from the syntactic environment of the indirect object, where τούς was usually preferred over τῶν (in contrast to the possessive clitic, which shows greater variability) and which, crucially, is the environment which shows the higher percentages of the new syncretic form in Medieval Cypriot (according to the statistics provided by MARKOPOULOS 2010).

A reasonable counter-argument would question why such a development does not appear in other MedG and MG varieties as well, since the replacement of the clitic τῶν by τούς is almost universal. A first answer would be to point out, along with MERTYRIS (2013, 2014), that this development does in fact appear in several other MG dialectal varieties not hitherto discussed in the literature.³ In the period covered by this Grammar, evidence for the phenomenon outside Cyprus is scarce, though not non-existent. Several examples found in the chronicle of Papasynadinos (Serres, Macedonia; see 2.1.3, 2.2.1, 2.3.3) and two in inscriptions in the Crimea (see 2.1.2 and 2.1.3) point to a wider geographical spread than our sources seem to reveal.

Additionally, it could be assumed that in the case of Cypriot, the tendency for replacement of the masc. gen. pl. was enhanced due to the undesirable phonetic coincidence of masc. acc. sg. and gen. pl. of /o/ stem nouns, which remained strong in Cypriot due to the non-deletion of final /n/ in the acc. sg., in contrast to most other regions. The retention of final /n/ was combined, in the case of Cypriot, with the retention of the genitive in direct objects for several semantic verbal subcategories, contrasting with the accusative in most other Greek varieties (see LENDARI/MANOLESSOU 2003), which may have added to the environments where a merger of genitive and accusative was possible.

³ This concerns mostly some “northern” dialects of MG (local sub-varieties spoken in Epirus, Thessaly and islands of the northern Aegean).

1.3 Accusative Plural of Masculine Nouns in Cycladic Texts

Masculine nouns in -ος show a tendency for syncretism of the nominative and the accusative plural, in a small number of EMG texts of Cycladic and Aegean provenance. This is a well-known phenomenon in MG dialectology, where the merger of nom. and acc. pl. of -ο stem nouns constitutes a basic dialectal isogloss which includes the areas in question (see KRETSCHMER 1905: 227–8; DIETERICH 1908: 117–18; PAPADOPOULOS 1926: 61; KONDOPOULOS 2001: 59 for the modern distribution). This merger has been plausibly interpreted as an analogical transfer of the inflectional pattern of the masc. nouns in -ας and -ης, where the nom. and acc. pl. have historically fallen together, e.g. οἱ στρατιῶτες–τούς στρατιῶτες, οἱ ἄρχοντες–τούς ἄρχοντες (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 29; DIETERICH 1908: 117).⁴

ἀποὺ τῖς ἄνωθε καλογιέροι (1576, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 19, 151.17) νὰ βάνωμε γερόντοι (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 19.11) διὰ κόποι τῆς ἄνωθε καλουγριᾶς (1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 8, 21.6) βάνομε παρακαλετοὶ μάρτυρες (1691, Ikaria/Chios?, TSELIKAS 2000: 81, 65.20–1) καὶ τῖς ἄλλοι σύντροφοι (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 26.34–5) μπεζόνιο ἀπὸ ἄρχοντες, ἡγουν ἀπὸ προεστοὶ (1696, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [42], 58.1) νὰ ἄρωτήσουνε καὶ πάρτε προεστοὶ (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 19, 34.18–19); νομινάριε τῖς ἄνωθεν σπιτότοποι (1702, Mykonos, ibid. 40, 53.10); καὶ νὰ βάνου ἀνθρῶποι νὰ τὸ μοιράζουν (1706, Mykonos, ibid. 67, 78.18); ἀπὸ τῖς κριτάδες καὶ ἀφέντες μπρεβετιτόροι (1706, Mykonos, ibid. 59, 71.11–12)

1.4 Pontic Nominative Singular of Masculine Nouns

An idiosyncrasy of the Pontic dialect, the appearance of the accusative singular form instead of the nominative singular form of masculine nouns in -ος, mostly when preceded by the definite article, is relatively well attested in the available LMedG sources from the Pontos area.⁵ Examples:

Ἰωαννάκης ὁ Βαλεντζιάκον μαρτυρῶν ὑπέγραφα (ca. 1275, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 60, 35.47); Ἰωαννάκης ὁ Γουσμάνον μαρτυρῶν ὑπέγραφα (ibid. 35.48); Θεόκτιστος ἱερομόναχος ὁ Μαῦρον ὑπέγραφα (1349, ibid. 48, 25.31); κριταὶ τῆς ὑποθέσεως Γεώργιος ὁ Σοῦτον καὶ Παῦλος ὁ Σοῦτον (1350–1400, ibid. 131, 97.9–10); Μιχαήλ ὁ Σοῦτον (ibid. 132, 98.20); μάρτυρας Λέων ὁ Ξένον (15th c., ibid. 172, 119.16); ὁ Κυριακὸν (ibid. 173, 119.5); ἐγὼ ὁ Θεόπεφτον Κροκήρη (16th c., ibid. 186, 123.1)

⁴ Instances such as βάνου ἀποκοπταὶ (1561, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 129, 247.13), which apparently affect old 1st-declension nouns in -ας/-ης with the obsolete nom. pl. suffix -αί, if not due to transcription errors, are hyperdialectisms influenced by the phenomenon in question.

⁵ HENRICH (2011: 99) adduces a dubious additional example in a rather early text of Pontic origin: ὁ χειμῶν κάθυγρος (1336, Trebizond, LAMBROS 1916a: 39.5). He argues that the contrast between articular ὁ χειμῶν in the above example and non-articular χειμὸς in the following: πολλὺς χειμὸς (ibid. 45.17 app. crit.) constitutes an instance of the phenomenon, i.e. that the noun χειμῶν has already moved from the 3rd to the 2nd declension, and therefore χειμῶν should be read as an acc. sg. form (ὁ χειμὸς–τοῦ χειμοῦ–τὸν χειμὸν), triggered by the presence of the definite article. In view of the text's rather elevated style, however, a conservative 3rd-declension inflectional pattern cannot be excluded.

ἔγω Τηβράνο Κωσταντίνον (1430–5?, Pontos, ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015: 5, 12.3); ὁ Γαριώτης ὁ κυρ-Θεόδωρον (ibid. 12.9) Σάββας ὁ Χρυσιοχὸν (1482, Pontos, BRYER 1976: 22, 135.1–2) ὁ Μανόλης ὁ Μανολόπλον (1506, Trebizond, PRINZING 2000: 2, 304.7–8) (< Μανολόπουλος)

In modern Pontic, the phenomenon affects masculine nouns in -ος in all subdialects, and masculine nouns in -ας and -ης only in some areas, and is further connected to the development of an innovative gen. sg. patterned after the AG /n/-stem 3rd declension, e.g. ὁ λύκος–τοῦ λύκου → ὁ λύκον–τῆ λύκονος (PAPADOPOULOS 1955: 159; OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 145–6; MACKRIDGE 1987: 124; DRETTAS 1997: 120). It has therefore been interpreted by most scholars as originating from a confusion between the AG 2nd-declension masc. /o/-stem nouns, and the 3rd-declension /n/-stem nouns (δαίμων, γείτων etc.). This is a suggestion originally put forward by HATZIDAKIS (1892: 372), subsequently adopted and modified in many studies (e.g. DAWKINS 1916: 94; CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: A 276; DAWKINS 1937: 31; HENRICH 1976: 242–7; HENRICH 1979; TOMBAIDIS 1988: 45–6, with further bibliography). It has also been proposed that the phenomenon is connected to the modern Cappadocian tendency for loss of case and gender distinctions, for which, however, there is no evidence during the LMedG or EMG period.

Furthermore, Dawkins suggests that the phenomenon may be of already Hellenistic date, pointing to a defixio from Cyprus first commented upon by THUMB (1906: 258): ὁ Κράτερον AUDOLLENT 30.22 = I. KOURION 135.22, 3rd c. AD. It is, of course, doubtful whether a single isolated instance is sufficient to establish the presence of the phenomenon at such an early date, as some scholars seem to accept (JANSE 2002: 218–19; HORROCKS ²2010: 402). Alternative accounts of the phenomenon include a syntactic interpretation as differential subject marking (JANSE 2004: 25–6; REVYTHIADOU/SPYROPOULOS 2009: 52–3, 60–1), a proposal to connect it with the AG masc. augmentative suffix -ων, supposedly first attached to adjectives and then to nouns (KIM 2008), and a proposal to view it as a compensation, a new means of marking the definiteness of the masc. nom. sg. due to the Pontic tendency for deletion of the definite article (HORROCKS ²2010: 402).

It should be noted that all of the examples located in MedG Pontic texts are proper names, most of which could also be interpreted as genitive plural forms in -ων/-ῶν expressing the notion of belonging to a family/kin, e.g. Ξένων, Χρυσοχῶν, Σκοτωμένων etc. This could provide an alternative trigger for the development of the phenomenon, which could be attributed to a reanalysis of a non-articular gen. pl. in -ων accompanied by the masc. nom. sg. definite article ὁ (an archaic syntactic pattern not available in vernacular MedG) as a nom. sg. and not as gen. pl., namely Γεώργιος ὁ (τῶν) Σκοτωμένων > Γεώργιος ὁ Σκοτωμένον. Nevertheless, the confusion with the 3rd-declension nouns in -ων remains the most likely interpretation, given the relatively early appearance of the innovative genitive -ονος for nouns in -ος in MedG documents from Pontos: Ἰωαννάκη τοῦ Βαλεντζιάκονος (1262, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 14, 7.15); Μιχαήλ τοῦ Σούτονος (1384, ibid. 128, 96.27). The two proper names appear in other documents with genitives Σούτου (1260, ibid. 37, 16.1–2) and Βαλεντζιάκου (1344, ibid. 99, 57.12) (for the plural formation of Pontic surnames see 2.10).

1.5 Synizesis, Stress Shift and Accent Notation

Stress shift as the result of synizesis may affect the following nominal paradigms: masculine nouns in -έας > -άς (see 2.4); feminine nouns in -έα > -ιά, and -(ε)ία > -(ε)ιά (see 2.11.4 and 2.11.5); neuter nouns in -(ε)ιο > -(ε)ιό (see 2.20.1); adjectives in -αῖος > -ιός (see 3.2.2); the paroxytone forms of adjectives in -ύς (e.g. βαθεία > βαθιά, etc., see 3.3.1); as well as pronouns such as (ὁ)ποῖος (see 5.7.1.1 and 5.9.1.3). It also occurs in verbs (see Part III) and other words such as certain numerals (see Chapter 6). For more information on synizesis in general, see I, 2.9.4.

Judging from manuscripts and early prints, accent placement does not always correspond to the actual position of the stress. As noted by HOLTON (²2002: 94) and others after him, often the accent is written on the first vowel (/e/ or /i/), even though the word needs to be read with synizesis for metrical reasons:

τὸν βασιλέα τῶν οὐρανῶ P&N Diath. 1909 καὶ νᾶ τὸ δώσω τὸν γναφέαν Diig. tetr. 211 καὶ μία κλοτσία τῆς διδῃ Rim. Apoll. E 1535 καὶ κονταρία τὸν ἔδωσεν Chron. Toc. 1073 ἦλθαν τοῦ Λάκκου τὰ χωρία Chron. Mor. H 1719 μὲ ᾽πελατίκια καὶ ραβδία SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 238 ὁ μὲν ἐντράπη τὸ φυγεῖον Chron. Mor. H 3859 το διάβα του σκολείου της Apoll. Rim. E 1182 οὕτως εἶχε τὸ δάσωμα τῶν ὁμαλλίων ἡ κόρη Velth. 690 transcr. (Lendari) μετὰ μακρέας τὰς μύτας Ptoch. III 50 καὶ τότε θέλομεν ἰδεῖ ποῖος ἀγαπᾷ τὸν δούκα Chron. Toc. 1353 ο ποῖος εἰς τὴν Καλλίπολιν ἐξόρθωσεν τὰ πάντα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 2773

In modern editions these notations of the accent are usually attributed, in the best case to scribal “conservatism”, and in the worst to scribal “inadequacy”, and are therefore tacitly corrected to accommodate the modern reader, without being included in the critical apparatus.

But things are not as simple as that. Take the London version of the Achilleid: in ἔβλεπεν τοῦτον ὁ πατὴρ καὶ ἐχαίρετον ἡ καρδία του (22), καρδία is to be read with synizesis; but in τὸ κορμίν μου δίδω το μὲ ὅλης μου καρδίας (583), it is not. This may indicate that in 22 [kar'ðja] is the phonetic realization of metrical, not grammatical, synizesis; it may also indicate that, at least for the scribe of this version of the Achilleid, the shift /'ia/ > /'ja/ had not yet taken full effect, allowing for two concurrent pronunciations. The fact that in SMG and most modern dialects the word is commonly pronounced as [kar'ðja] is in itself not a guarantee that it was pronounced in that way throughout the MedG and EMG periods. More evidence than metre alone is needed to establish when and in which regions stress shift as the result of synizesis came into effect.

Palatalization is a clear indicator of synizesis and stress shift. The spelling <χι> in μεγάλην ανακατωχίαν VOUSTR., Chron. B 81.8 and M 81.9 indicates that the sequence <σι> in ἀνακατωσιά is pronounced as [ʃ] [anakato'ʃa], but again the accent is written on <ι>. Such spellings also occur in the chronicle of Machairas: φοριχίης MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 12.29; κουρτεχία ibid. 472.10; ἐγκυμαχίαν ibid. 520.34. The same can be said for the following examples: ἐκείνον τὸν βγίον Assizes B 425.1, 425.6, 425.25 (< βίος); ὁ λαὸς τοῦ χωργίου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 178.13–14 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari); σταργίου (1597, Κρήτη, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 23.16); τὸ μαγεργεῖον (1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 721, 625.16) and τοῦ ἄνωθεν μαγεργεῖου (ibid. 625.19); τὰ ὀπγία χοραφία (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 5.18–19); στὰ χεργία Thrinós Kypr. 306 facs., in which the addition of <γ> clearly points to a consonantal pronunciation of <ι>, i.e. as /j/ (see I, 2.9.4 for details). There can be no doubt that in all these cases synizesis must have involved stress shift.

While in the examples above the accent is placed where one would expect it had synizesis and stress shift not taken place, something peculiar occurs in the following examples. In με μεγάλην φουργίαν VOUSTR., Chron. M 5.13–14, the addition of <γ> once again indicates that synizesis has taken place, but the accent is placed on the “wrong” syllable (φούρια in the other manuscript). The same goes for the Cypriot word λαμπάχιον (/lam'baʃon/) in ἀποῦ εἶχαν λαμπάχιον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 64.23 (Dawkins), where the spelling <χι> for [ʃ] indicates that synizesis has taken place. Here, too, the accent is clearly not placed where the stress is.

There is in fact abundant evidence that accentuation quite often does not denote stress, but indicates that forms are to be read with synizesis:⁶ τ' αἰοφίρια (app. crit.) (14th, Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 27, 206.1.5) (= τὰ γιοφύρια) ὡς γοιὸ νῆχαν εἴσταιν ἀδελφία MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 10.26 (= ἀδέλφια); τὰ καλὰ συνηθία ibid. 24.36 (= συνήθια); δὲν ἐπίστευσεν τὰ λογία τοὺς ibid. 44.1 (= λόγια); ἐχάλασεν πολλὰ σπιτία ibid. 60.22 (= σπίτια); εἰς δ' ἄμαξια ibid. 572.24–25 (= ἄμάξια) καταστήνου ἕναν βαχλίωτην VOUSTR., Chron. A 28.3 (= βαχλιώτην); ἐποῖκεν καὶ ἄλλους πολλοὺς πολλὰ ἀπλαζίρια ibid. A 42.6 (< OFr. aplaisir, see GODEFROY, Lex.) (= ἀπλαζίρια) ἕνας παιδῖος ροδίτης VOUSTR., Chron. B 73.17 (= παῖδιος); ἐκάψαν καὶ πολλὰ ἀπλικία ibid.

 116.11–12 (= ἀπλικία); τοὺς Τελαζανιάδες ibid. 152.3 (< Fr. De Lusignan); ἐπῆρην καὶ τὰ προβιλιζία τῆς Μαριέττας ibid. 160.10 (< Occit. privilegi, see HONNORAT, Lex.) αἱ ἀρχόντισσες τῆς πολέως Pol. Tr. 3288 app. crit. (X) (2nd hemistich, read [ῥολος]); τινὰς οὐκ ἐπιάνε τα ibid. 8950 app. crit. (BCV) καὶ εἶδες ἐκεῖ παραδιάβασιν Achil. L 276 ms (tacitly corrected by Hesselning, but note that accent placement in this ms is generally correct)⁷

⁶ The same practice can also be observed in verbs, but seems much less common. This could, however, be due to the fact that these accentuations seem more “erratic” in verbs than in nouns, and are often tacitly corrected in modern editions. Some examples are: καὶ ὅταν ἐπεδιάβησαν ἄλλοι τέσσαρες χρόνοι Achil. L 18 ms (= ἐπεδιάβησαν); τινὰς οὐκ ἐπιάνε τα Pol. Tr. 8950 app. crit. (BCV) (= ἐπιάνε τα); κρατιέται Liv. V 1228 (= κρατιέται); νὰ σπαθοκαταλύουνται Poulol. 224 app. crit. (V) (-λυοῦνται in A, -λοῦνται in CPL); τὸ πρᾶγμα π' ἀγαπιέται Theseid IV.55,2 (1529) (= ἀγαπιέται); καὶ δὲν φτερνιέται Bertoldos 78.11 (= φτερνιέται).

⁷ See also HESSELING/PERNOT (1913: 160), who observe similar accent placements in the Katalogia (same scribe as Achil. L), giving telling examples such as χολίαζης, γίομα and νίσση, all to be read with synizesis.

γιάτηνε δεκεῖ Theseid Prol. E 32 (= γιατί 'ν' ἔδεκεῖ); ὁτίαρσεσκεινόνε / ὅτι ἄρεσε 'κρινῶνε Theseid III.19,5 (1529) (in the last example the spelling represents metrical synizesis between words) οἱ ἱερεῖς vel communius οἱ γερεῖαδες ROMANOS, Grammar 127.2 (= γερεῖαδες)⁸

One may even find two accents placed on words, one indicating stress and the other synizesis:

τὰ κοκαλάκία SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 235 transcr. (Lendari) καὶ ὄχι λόγια ἄπιαστα KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua IV.68 εἰς τὰ κελλάργια τους Thrinis Kypr. 418 (facs.) εἰς τὰ σαράγια τους (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: f.3r.402.31).

Once one understands that medieval scribes and early modern editors regularly put accents to denote synizesis, it becomes clear that spellings such as <ία> for <ιά>, are not “conservative” but in fact innovative; not a sign of “scribal incompetence”, as some tend to believe, but a shorthand notation for synizesis. A good example is Tzanes Koronaios’s Ἀνδραγαθήματα τοῦ Μερκουρίου Μπούα. This early 16th-c. text has come down to us in a beautifully illuminated autograph manuscript, one of the rare and precious occasions where scribal intervention may safely be excluded, and where we expect to find the text as the author intended it to be. In the diplomatic edition by Angiolillo (2013), some telling spelling peculiarities can be found involving the combination /e/ + vowel. Take the word Μορέας, which has a common variant Μοριάς: whenever the word consists of three syllables, Koronaios writes it as follows: τὸν Μορέαν (I.112); however, whenever the metre requires the word to be read with synizesis, he writes it with an accented /i/ instead of /e/: κι εἰς τὸν Μορίαν τοὺς ἔστειλεν (I.109); καὶ τὸν Μορίαν ἀφέντευσε (I.115); ὅλος ὁ Μοριάς (I.118). When the word βασιλέας is trisyllabic, he writes: στὸν βασιλῆαν (VII.42), read: στὸν βασιλιάν; τοῦ βασιλῆος (VII.45), read: τοῦ βασιλιῶς. And Koronaios is not alone. The same practice occurs in the Venetian edition of the Theseid (1529) and in its printer’s manuscript (KAKLAMANIS 1997: 194), as well as in Voustronios: ἐφάνη τοῦ καλοῦ Θεοῦ Theseid XII.3,4 (1529) (read: Θεοῦ) and εἰς τὸν Θεοῖον νὰ πᾶσι ibid. II.14,7 (1529) (read: Θεοῖον) versus Θεσέος ὠνομάζετον ibid. I.6.5 (Follieri) and τοῦ πάγκαλου Θεσέου ibid. I.19,1 (Follieri); or εἴτι τῶν θίων ἀρέσει Theseid XII.6,7 (1529) vs. ὀργὴν γὰρ τῶν θεῶν μας ibid. V 55,2; τον φονίαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 18.2.

There is little reason to believe that anyone ever said νίον or νίους, as in ἀπ’ ἑναν νίον κουρτέση Theseid VI 18,8 (1529) and ἔπειτα γιὰ τοὺς νίους τοὺς δύο Theseid Prol. E 161. It is also very unlikely that Koronaios pronounced “signor” as [si'nior]: πῶς ὁ Σινίωρ Μερκούριος KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VII.203. Spellings such as these simply denote synizesis and, hence, stress shift. Likewise, the spellings adopted in γλυκία καταφιλεῖ τον Achil. L 78 ms (γλυκεὰ in Hesseling) and καὶ τοὺς γονίους μου ἀφῆκα Achil. O 732 ms (γονιούς in Hesseling) almost certainly denote phonetic (and not just metrical) synizesis.

⁸ Another text with this type of accent notation is Don Kisotis: see KECHAYOGLU 2007: *108 σίερα, σινίωρα, σκαπιλιάτος, εκυλιουνταν in ms B and P. As KECHAYOGLU (2007: *110) points out, another way of denoting synizesis is the use of a breve below the vowels concerned, as in σινιόρα (387.26, app. crit.).

Of course, the problem with this graphematic representation of synizesis is that in non-metrical texts it is impossible to determine whether a form χωρίον or παιδίου actually represents a conservative paroxytone form, or whether the accentuation indicates that the form in fact needs to be read with synizesis and stress shift.

Another scribal rendering of synizesis appears to be restricted to Cretan scribes. As BAKKER (1988/89: 277) has rightly observed, the Cretan notary Varouchas puts a smooth or rough breathing above a vowel sequence undergoing synizesis, e.g. χριᾶζόμενο, Νέότερου, καιάνένα, παλέοπατίτιρο. The same phenomenon has been observed in the manuscript of Erotokritos (ALEXIOU 1980: κδ'), and it also occurs in the acts of Olokalos, e.g. Γεῶργιος, υἱὸν, πρηῶνια (1496, doc. 48); ὀγιᾶ, Μανόλη Στριᾶνο (1530, doc. 101) (see also I, 2.9.4.2).

2 Nouns

The well-known three declensions of school grammars of Ancient Greek, modelled on the five-declension system of Latin, were developed in 1635 by Jakob Weller (SCHWYZER 1936: 206). The three-declension classification was a simplification compared with the ten inflections of Chrysoloras that preceded it (ROBINS 1993: 239), which in its turn was a major simplification of the 56 paradigms, or kanones, of Theodosios of Alexandria (2nd half of the 4th c.?) and his commentator Choiroboskos (9th c.) (SCHWYZER 1936: 205–6).

The 1st declension comprised the α stems, both short and long: namely feminine nouns in $-\alpha/-\acute{\alpha}$ (long /a:/) and $-\eta/-\acute{\eta}$, feminine nouns in $-\alpha$ (short /a/), and masculine nouns ending in $-\alpha\varsigma$ (long /a:/) and $-\eta\varsigma/-\acute{\eta}\varsigma$. The 2nd declension comprised the $\omicron$ stems: masculine and feminine nouns ending in $-\omicron\varsigma/-\acute{\omicron}\varsigma$, neuter nouns in $-\omicron\nu/-\acute{\omicron}\nu$, as well as contracted nouns such as $\nu\omicron\upsilon\varsigma$ and $\delta\sigma\tau\omicron\upsilon\nu$. The 3rd declension comprised nouns with stems ending in a consonant, $-i$ or $-u$ (see e.g. SMYTH 1984: 48–72).

In post-classical Greek, the noun system had undergone various drastic processes of levelling and regularization. These developments had started with the gradual merger of masculine and feminine nouns of the 1st and 3rd declensions from Roman times onwards (HORROCKS 2010: 121), leading to the eventual demise of the masculine and feminine parts of the 3rd declension in the EMedG period (JANNARIS 1897: 122). In the Hellenistic period a new oxytone masculine paradigm in $-\acute{\alpha}\varsigma$ had emerged.¹ The 2nd declension, on the other hand, held its ground, as did many 3rd-declension neuter nouns such as those in $-\mu\alpha$ and $-\omicron\varsigma$. However, there are fundamental differences between AG and later morphology, brought about by the loss of vowel-length distinction and changes in pronunciation, whereby for instance $\langle\eta\rangle$, in the 1st declension, historically a long /e:/, came to be pronounced as [i]; or whereby the $\langle\omicron\upsilon\rangle$ in $\nu\omicron\upsilon\varsigma$ was no longer logically seen as a contraction of $\nu\acute{\omicron}\omicron\varsigma$, making its inclusion in the 2nd declension quite incomprehensible.

Dominant patterns of inflection developed (see SEILER 1958 and RUGE 1969a). For masculine nouns, with exception of those in $-\acute{\omicron}\varsigma/-\omicron\varsigma$, the dominant pattern of formation became: nom. sg. vowel + ς ; gen. acc. and voc. drop $-\varsigma$; acc. may or may not have final /n/, e.g. $\pi\alpha\pi\acute{\alpha}\varsigma$, $\pi\alpha\pi\acute{\alpha}$, $\pi\alpha\pi\acute{\alpha}(\nu)$, $\pi\alpha\pi\acute{\alpha}$; $\sigma\tau\tau\alpha\tau\iota\acute{\omega}\tau\eta\varsigma$, $\sigma\tau\tau\alpha\tau\iota\acute{\omega}\tau\eta$, $\sigma\tau\tau\alpha\tau\iota\acute{\omega}\tau\eta(\nu)$ (see the introduction to each paradigm for more details).

For feminine nouns, again with the exception of those in $-\acute{\omicron}\varsigma/-\omicron\varsigma$, the pattern is: nom., acc. and voc. sg. end in a vowel, gen. sg. adds $-\varsigma$; acc. sg. may or may not have final /n/, e.g. $\phi\omicron\rho\acute{\alpha}$, $\phi\omicron\rho\acute{\alpha}\varsigma$, $\phi\omicron\rho\acute{\alpha}(\nu)$, $\phi\omicron\rho\acute{\alpha}$; $\kappa\omicron\rho\eta$, $\kappa\omicron\rho\eta\varsigma$, $\kappa\omicron\rho\eta(\nu)$, $\kappa\omicron\rho\eta$.

¹ In the following description spelled with acute instead of circumflex in accordance with Triandafyllidian polytonic.

The plural for masculine nouns in -άς/-ας and -ής/-ης and feminines in -ά/-α and -ή/-η is -ές/-ες for nom., acc. and voc. and -ών/-ων for gen., though certain sub-paradigms develop imparisyllabic plurals in -άδες and -ήδες/-ηδες. In manuscripts and older editions these endings are often spelled with <ᾱ̃>/<αι> for <έ>/<ε>, as if it were the old dative plural (for which see 1.1). These spellings have been modernized in this Grammar.

Masculine and feminine nouns in -ός/-ος retain their inherited endings nom. sg. -ός/-ος, gen. sg. -οῦ/-ου, acc. sg. -όν(v)/-ο(v), voc. sg. -έ/-ε, nom. and voc. pl. -οί/-οι, gen. pl. -ών/-ων, acc. pl. -ούς/-ους, though in the case of the feminines there is some analogical pressure from the dominant pattern discussed above, resulting in nom. sg. in -ό/-ο and gen. sg. in -ός/-ος (HATZIDAKIS 1885: 83; SEILER 1958: 66). They also sometimes adopt the dominant nominative and accusative plural -ες ending (see 2.1).

A remnant of the 3rd declension is a clear preference for genitives in -ός in the disyllabic masculine -ας paradigm (e.g. ἄνδρός, μηνός) (see 2.2.2) and paroxytone feminine paradigms (γυναικός, νυκτός, μητρός). Regionally (south-western areas such as the Heptanese, Crete, S. Italy and the Peloponnese) the -ός ending is also employed with non-3rd-declension nouns (e.g. στρατός (< στράτα>); κοπελός (< κοπέλα>)) (see 2.11.2.1).

Neuter nouns of the old 3rd declension, such as those in -μα (2.21) and -ος (2.23) remain the same, with some innovative variation in endings and occasional transfers to other paradigms. Given the dominant patterns, many of the 3rd-declension neuter nouns may be viewed as irregular in the period covered by this Grammar (see 2.24).

In the MedG and EMG periods new paradigms emerge as well, such as masculine nouns in -ές/-ες (2.6) and -οῦς (2.5) and feminine nouns in -ού (2.13) and in -έ/-ε (2.16), all of which follow the dominant inflectional pattern in the singular, but have a clear preference for imparisyllabic plural formations; paroxytone feminine nouns in -ω (singular only); and neuter nouns in -ιμο, which in their inflection are clearly influenced by the -μα paradigm. Regional paradigms include oxytone masculine nouns in -ιός (Cyprus, see 2.8), and feminine nouns in -ιό(v) (areas under Italian rule, see 2.15).

Given all this innovation and variation it would be unhelpful to the reader to insist on the description of the LMedG and EMG noun system within the framework of the three declensions imposed on AG in the 17th c. Therefore an approach has been adopted that is somewhat closer to traditional descriptions of SMG grammar, dividing the material into various paradigms, based on the vowel in their ending. However, as LMedG and EMG are not a standardized language, there is infinitely more variation to take into account than in SMG. The following description, therefore, combines elements of the major classification systems proposed for SMG (such as TSOPANAKIS 1950; RUGE 1969a; SOTIROPOULOS 1972; MIRAMBEL 1978; RALLI 2005), but is more analytic in the distinction of paradigms in order to capture the fluidity, flexibility and mobility of LMedG and EMG noun morphology. This inevitably creates repetition of information in some sub-paradigms, but it facilitates the presentation of the historical data.

The first line of division is the division by (grammatical) gender: masculine, feminine and neuter, which was first introduced by Thumb in his Handbuch der neugriechischen Volkssprache (Strasbourg 1895). The second is by ending: -ός/-ος for masculines and feminines, -άς/-ας; -ής/-ης; -εύς/-έας/-ιάς; -οῦς; -ές/-ες; and -ιος and the regional -ιός for masculines; -ᾱ/-α; -ῆ/-η and -ις/-η; -ῶ/-ω; -ἔ/-ε; and the regional -ί(ν) for feminines; and -ό(ν)/-ο(ν); -ιο(ν)/-ι(ν)/-ί(ν); -μα(ν); -ιμο(ν); and -ος for neuters. Where necessary, these paradigms are further divided into sub-paradigms based on stress position, stress shift in certain cases, plural formation (parisyllabic, imparisyllabic or both), the existence of alternative forms (e.g. the plural formation of proparoxytone masculine nouns in -ας), or other developments such as, for instance, the retention or loss of <ο> in the neuter /ion/ endings. Masculine and feminine nouns in /os/ constitute a special case: they have been divided into three paradigms (oxytone, paroxytone and proparoxytone), even though paradigms 2.1.1 and 2.1.2 could have been treated as one (cf. e.g. masculine nouns in /as/ and /is/). This decision was made for presentational reasons: merging the two paradigms would lead to a rather complex synoptic table, as it would have to include four paradigm nouns instead of two. Furthermore it would dramatically reduce the number of examples that could be given for each category.

The description starts with nouns in -ός/-ος, which are masculine or feminine, followed by the masculine nouns, the feminine nouns and the neuter nouns. Irregular and indeclinable nouns are treated by gender after each group of paradigms.

Each paradigm has an introduction in which relevant historical, diachronic and synchronic information is given. Because there is some fluidity and paradigms are far from rigid, transfers between various paradigms can be observed. Therefore, each introductory section concludes with an overview of transfers from other paradigms to the present one, and the description of each paradigm is concluded with a section entitled “transfers to other paradigms”, which list movements of nouns belonging to the present paradigm toward other paradigms, sometimes wholesale, sometimes on a more lexical level.

Phenomena that occur across the board and are often of a phonetic nature will be mentioned briefly in order to draw the reader’s attention to their existence, but for details the reader is referred to the relevant sections in Phonology. Such phenomena are, for instance: deletion of final /s/ in the nominative singular and accusative plural of masculines and the genitive singular of feminines; addition of -(ν)ε in the accusative singular and genitive plural; the change of /ia/ and /ea/ to /a/ or /e/ in the endings of feminine nouns. Idiosyncratic and clearly graphematic forms occur in a collection of documents from Ikaria, in which across parts of speech the vowel of the ending is repeated after the final consonant, e.g. υίόσο for υίός, Νικόλασα for Νικόλας, μάρατυρεσε for μάρτυρες, πέραμανα for πέραμαν, τὸ ἀληθέσε for τὸ ἀληθές, ἐδικόσο for ἐδικός, πουλοῦνου for πουλοῦν; such forms have not been included in the paradigm descriptions, but are discussed in I, 2.6.3.

MASCULINE AND FEMININE

2.1 Masculine and Feminine Nouns in /os/

The paradigms in this section comprise all inherited nouns in /os/, oxytone (2.1.1), paroxytone (2.1.2) and proparoxytone (2.1.3), of the former 2nd declension as well as new words in /os/ such as diminutives in -αρος, -ούτσικος and -όπουλος (including surnames) and compounds like καλόγερος or γυναικάδελφος. They also include masculine loanwords such as, among many others, δραγουμάνος, ἀμπασαδόρος, μόδος (< Ven. modo, masc. by analogy with τρόπος). This is a fairly stable paradigm that shows variation mainly in stress position and regionally in endings.

The feminine nouns in /os/ are almost all inherited and, as in previous stages of the language, limited in number. An especially modest number of feminine examples has been found for the plural, and the examples occur mainly in grammars and in mixed- and higher-register texts. It is interesting to note that in his grammar Sofianos gives Ρόδος as the paradigm word for feminines in /os/ and, obviously, only in the singular, as geographical names generally do not have a plural. There appears therefore to be some truth to the observation of Romanos Nikiforou that the /os/ paradigm does not include feminine words anymore (ROMANOS, Grammar 3.25–4.1–3), although he clearly overlooked the geographical names.

Some feminines, such as ξξοδος and εἴσοδος, tend to adopt feminine plural endings from the 1st declension. In addition, some feminine nouns in /os/, among which ἄλυσος, ἄμμος, ἄμπελος, βάσσανος, εἴσοδος and ξξοδος, κιβωτός and τάφρος/τράφος, may change gender and become masculine (see also HATZIDAKIS 1885: 82–3). This is a development that had already set in before the LMedG period (see GIGNAC 1981: 39–41 for examples from the 2nd c. onwards). Feminine geographical names only rarely become masculine: εἰς τὸν Κύπρον (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 66, f.IV.1); τὸν Ἀμουργὸν (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 99.17); τὸν Νάπακτον (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 60A, 454.32.1); ἐπάρθη ὁ Ἐπακτος (16th c. [ms], Unknown, ibid. 74, 569.5.1) (= Ναύπακτος). Masculine examples of feminine words are listed among the masculine examples, marked with (< fem.). Masculine nouns in /os/ rarely develop feminine alternatives, with the exception of παράδεισος, first attestations of which can be found in the writings of Bartholomew of Edessa (12th c.) (see LBG s.v. παράδεισος, ἦ). Examples of ἡ παράδεισος are included with the feminine examples. For transfers from the /os/ paradigm to other paradigms see 2.1.4.

Feminine nouns may develop alternative nominatives in /o/ and genitives in /os/. These are the result of analogical levelling within the noun morphology system, in which the vast majority of feminine nouns end in a vowel in the nom. sg. and add a final /s/ in the gen. sg. (see also the introduction to Chapter 2).

Most nouns in /os/ have parisyllabic plural forms, though certain masculine nouns, and especially proper names, have alternative imparisyllabic plural forms in -άδες, -αῖοι or -ηδες, for which see 2.10.

Transfers between the sub-paradigms are limited: paroxytone nouns of which the stem ends in /e/ or /i/ may transfer to the oxytone paradigm due to synizesis or vowel deletion (for more information see I, 2.9.4 and I, 2.9.2.1). Some examples of synizesis are: ὁ νιὸς FALIEROS, Log. did. 9 (= adj. νέος used as a noun); θωρώντα ξόμπλια τῶν ἀρχιῶν ibid. 140 (= ἀρχαίων); τοῦ θειοῦ του MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 92.4–5 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari); τοῦ Μαθιό (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 15, 54.24) (< Μαθιός < Ματθαῖος); τοῦ Μοσχολιό (1641, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 233, 190.4) (< Μοσχολέος < Μοσχολέων); τῶν Ρωμιῶν SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. a2v.12 (1658) (< Ρωμιός < Ρωμᾶιος); ἡ Νιὸς (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 145.7) (= ἴλος); διὰ τὸ βιάντζο τῆς Χιὸς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 198, 197.4) (< Χιός). Conservative stress notation may conceal the fact that a form was pronounced with synizesis. This is best visible in verse texts: ἀφότου οἱ ἄπιστοι Ρωμαῖοι Chron. Mor. H 833; ἐκείνοι γὰρ οἱ Κορωνάοι ibid. 1702. However, sometimes the accentuation may in fact indicate that a form should be read with synizesis; see 1.5 for a discussion. Some examples of vowel deletion are: Νικολάου Χρυσσοχοῦ (1007, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 13, 182.39) (< χρυσοχός);² ὡς χρυσοχοὶ τεχνῖται Ptoch. II 88. Proparoxytone nouns of which the stem ends in /i/ may also develop oxytone forms for the genitive singular and the genitive and accusative plural (after the shift of the stress to the penultimate): τοῦ ἡλιοῦ FALIEROS, Ist. On. 256; ἡλιοῦ βασιλεύοντος (1518, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 12, 55.10); ὁποῦ μαι σύνθρονος ἡλιοῦ Alex. Rim. 698; τοῦ ἡλιοῦ οἱ γιαχτίνες CHORTATSI, Panor. III.561; σαράντ' ἁγίους καὶ ἄν' ἔκραζες Alfan. 10 71.

Sometimes an oxytone word may undergo a shift of the stress to the antepenultimate, e.g.: νὰ ᾔχεν ἐπιπέσειν κέραυνος KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 171 (< κεραυνός). A shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the ultimate may also occur with certain words, e.g.: τοὺς βαθρακοὺς Ptoch. IV 106; βοθρακοῦ Spanos D 32 (< βάτραχος); ἐνὶ ρίζα, θεμελιός ... ὄλων των ἀρετῶν Fior 74.37–8 (< adj. θεμέλιος).

Oxytone nouns derived from adjectives in -ικός may present a shift of the stress to the penultimate: οἱ Βενετικοὶ Chron. Mor. H 368; ἀπὸ τοὺς βενετικούς SFRANTZIS, Chron. 68.25; νὰ συπιαστούν οὐλοὶ οἱ κλησιαστικοὶ VOUSTR., Chron. A 52.6; τῶν αἰρετικῶν (1514, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1963b: 166.86); των Βενετικῶν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6650.

Transfers from other paradigms to the /os/ paradigm are not uncommon. Already in AG there was a certain degree of interaction between the masculine /os/ paradigm and other paradigms, and this trend continues to manifest itself throughout the Postclassical, Medieval and Early Modern Greek periods (REINHOLD 1898: 53–7; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 36–46; GIGNAC 1981: 43–4). Thus neuter nouns in -ος and -ον may develop alternative masculine forms in -ος. Some had done so well before the LMedG period; e.g. ὁ βουνός < τὸ βουνόν can already be found in Herodotus (see LSJ) and also appears in mixed- to higher-register texts of the LMedG period: ὁ βουνός (1190, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 16, 49.23); βουνός καὶ φύσις ἄψυχος [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 111; ὁ λουτρός for τὸ λουτρόν can be found in Gregory of Nazianzos (4th c.; see the online TLG) as well as in the period covered by this Grammar: εἰς τὸν λουτρόν (ante 1425, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 21, 124.100), Syndipas 116.11 and Vios Aisop. K 178.6. Others are more recent developments, e.g.: ὁ ἄλγος < τὸ ἄλγος; καὶ τῶν ποδῶν τοὺς ἄλγους KAMAT., Astron. 1844; ὁ θάρρος < τὸ θάρρος; αὐτοῦ ἔναι ὁ θάρρος Diig. Alex. V 56.28; ὁ μέτωπος < τὸ μέτωπον; ὁ μέτωπος Diig. Alex. Sem. S 4; ὁ τόξος < τὸ τόξον; καὶ τόξους εἶχαν Pol. Tr. 10705; με τοὺς τόξους Theseid I.3,5 (Follieri); ὁ μάκρος/πλάτος < τὸ μάκρος/πλάτος; ὁ μάκρος ... ὁ πλάτος (1665, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1974b: 2, 44.9–10). The neuter noun παιδίον has a masculine variant, which usually presents a shift of the stress to the first syllable (see also 2.20.4): ἐὰν δέ τις παῖδιος ὦν, ... φθαρεῖ δὲ ὑπὸ τινος ἀνδρός ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 3 188.21–2; ένας παίδιος ροδίτης VOUSTR., Chron. A 72.16; τήν καρδίαν τούς παίδιους Fior 106.22 (for this gen. pl. see 1.2); ὦ παίδιοι Cypr. Canz. 2.7. The chronicles of Machairas and Voustronios offer a paroxytone alternative παιδῖος, which is likely to represent παίδιος with synizesis (see 1.5 for discussion): ἕνας ἀπότορμος παιδῖος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 358.34; περίτου παιδῖοι παρὰ κείνον ibid. 258.2; εἶδεν γ' παιδῖους ibid. 650.5–6; ένας παιδῖος ροδίτης VOUSTR., Chron. B 73.17. Only very rarely do neuter nouns develop feminine alternatives, as is the case with the following geographical name, which from neuter plural becomes feminine singular: ἡ Γεράπετρος BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 249.11 (< τὰ Ἰεράπετρα).

² Note that a plural χρυσοχοὶ can be found in a gloss in Hesychius, Lex. s.v. θερμαστρίς (5th/6th c.; 15th-c. ms); oxytone forms also appear in De Ceremoniis (10th c.; 10th-c. ms); see the online TLG.

Former 3rd-declension masculine nouns in -εύς (see 2.4) also develop innovative formations in -ος, namely paroxytone forms in -έος, which appear from the very beginning of the LMedG period, starting with the genitive singular and then spreading to the other cases as well (for discussion see 2.4.2). Forms in -έος have been found in a large geographical area from S. Italy to Constantinople, but notably not in texts from Cyprus:

διὰ τοῦ γραφέου (1065, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 35, 206.57 and 58)

τοῦ Θεσσαλονικέου (1085, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 43, 146.7)³

Ἰωάννην τοῦ Χαλκέου (1106, S. Italy, MÉNAGER 1957: 3, 325.28) τοῦ χαλκέου (1143, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 6, 560.19) τοῦ βασιλέου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 37.33 τοῦ ἀρχιερέου (1707, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1973: 1, 303.6)

Λέων χαλκός (1141, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 127, 169.17) ὁ ἀρχιερός (1200, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 250, 340.17) ὁ Τυδέος Theseid I.15,6 (Follieri)

ὡσάν γονέος του (1681, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 140, 307.9)

ὡσάν καλὸς γονέος (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 303.34)

ἐκεῖνον τὸν γονέον GLYKAS, Stichoi 208 app. crit. (P)

πρὸς βασιλέο Jonas 216.74

καὶ ἓνα γραφέο εὐρήκασι P&N Diath. 757

πρὸς βασιλέο Jonas 216.74

μὲ τὸν κυρ-Μαρτὴ Σαλονικέον (1548, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 3, 39–40.7); Δημήτρη

Σαλονικέο (1508 [copy of 1550], ibid. 40, 82.7)

τὸν ἄνωθε γραφέο (1660, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 15, 381.4)

ὡσάν Ἀχιλλέοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 84.23

οἱ γονέοι της (1640, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 28, 314.2) καθὼς ἐχαλάσασιν καὶ τοὺς θεσσαλονικέους (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.16) καὶ τοὺς αὐτῶν γονέους (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 26, 165.19) ὡς γονέους μου Diig. Alex. Sem. S 792

τοὺς ἀρχιερέους P&N Diath. 2801

τσί γονέους FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.244 τοὺς γονέους τῶνε (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 303.36)

ἔτοιους γονέους ἀκριβούς KORNAROS, Erot. IV.318

³ Forms of the word Θεσσαλονικεύς are often spelled with <αι> instead of <ε>, probably by analogy with nouns such as Ἀθηναῖος, Σιφναῖος, etc.

Regionally (Crete, Heptanese, Aegean islands) these forms in -έος may undergo synizesis and become oxytone; the ending is then usually spelled <ιός> to indicate it was pronounced as [ˈjos]:

γονιός GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. padre

ό βασιλιός P&N Diath. 2126 ξετελειωμένος βασιλιός KORNAROS, Erot. I.31

ό γονιός μου ibid. V.1363 τοῦ βασιλιοῦ μου CHORTATIS, Erof. I.247 τοῦ βασιλιοῦ FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 20 τοῦ βασιλιοῦ KORNAROS, Erot. II.181 τὸ βασιλιό CHORTATIS, Erof. Dedic. 26 βασιλιό μέ λέσι TROILOS, Rodol. I.7 (Aposkiti) τὸ γονιόν σας KONDAR., Paides 284 καί μὴν ἀργήσης, βασιλιέ KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1285 οἱ βασιλιοί CHORTATIS, Erof. Prol. 127 οἱ γουνιοί μου (1643, Andros, POLEMIS 1999b: 15, 39.5) (for /o/ > /u/ see I, 2.8.3) οἱ γονιοί της (1700, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 24, 329.15) ἐκ τοῦς γραφιοῦς BERGADIS, Apok. A 479 ὁκ τοῦς γονιοῦς τους Alex. Rim. 475 ἀπὸ τῖς γονιοῦς μας Rim. Sant. 125 (for the article τῖς see 5.2.1) τσὶ βασιλιούς FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 39 (for the article τσὶ see 5.2.1) σὲ βασιλιούς KORNAROS, Erot. I.216

στοῦς γονιοῦς ibid. III.1701

δίχως γονιοῦς Leilasia Par. 464

Two examples with haplography, in which the pronunciation is probably still palatalized [ɣoˈni], are the following (see also I, 3.8.2.3): οἱ γονοί Chron. Toc. 2713; οἱ γονοί (1686, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 763, 1035.30); however, depalatalized examples also occur (see I, 2.4.7.3 for details): ὁ μέγας βασιλός (1167/8, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 46, 71.13). Similarly, nouns in -αῖος denoting geographical provenance may undergo synizesis and become oxytone, e.g. τρεῖς Μυτιληνιοῦς (1668, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 3, 14.8); as do nouns of which the root ends in /e/ or /i/: τοῦ θειοῦ μας τοῦ πρίντζη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 370.22.

Sometimes the endings are spelled with an accent on <ι>, but from verse texts it becomes clear that these forms should often be read with synizesis, as in the following example: καὶ τοῦς γονίους μου ἀφῆκα Achil. O 732 ms (corrected to γονιοῦς in the modern edition). However, such spellings also occur in non-literary sources. And although it cannot be excluded that in the following examples the stress notation is conservative or even erroneous and that it in fact represents a form with synizesis (see 1.5 for a discussion), it must be borne in mind that certain MG dialects still resist synizesis (see I, 2.9.4.3 for details). The examples are from Kefalonia: Μαρτῆς ὁ Σαλονικίος (1548, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 3, 39.1); Δῆμος ὁ Σαλονικίος (1549, ibid. 14, 52.7). Forms in -ίους (acc./gen. pl. only) in texts from Cyprus, an area where forms in -έος have not been found, are likely to have a morphological explanation and should be viewed as an analogical development, which renders γονεῖς more explicitly accusative/genitive: /γο'ni-s/ > /γο'ni-u-s/: τοὺς γονίους μας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.7 and 2.10; διὰ τὴν ψυχὴν τοὺς γονίους του (1484, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 20, 232.7–8); cf. a similar case involving gender in the same area: ὁ παῖδιος < τὸ παιδὶν (2.20.4).

Former 3rd-declension nouns in -ας (γίγας, ἑλέφας, see 2.2.5), may also develop forms according to the /os/ paradigm from their dental stem (γίγαντ-, ἑλέφαντ-): ἐφαίνετον γίγαντος Pol. Tr. 2858 app. crit. (BVX); τὸν γίγαντον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 291.30; οἱ ἑλέφαντοι Diig. Alex. E 81.5 (Konstantinopulos); τοὺς αλέφαντους Diig. Alex. K 371.60.

Other former 3rd-declension nouns, which usually transfer to the /as/ paradigm (see 2.2), may also develop alternative forms in -ος (see also HENRICH 1976: 4–13); those that end in a consonant by adding -ος to their consonantal stem:

Ἄραβοι Dig. G V.177 (< Ἄραψ) εἰς τὸν ἄρπαγον ZYGOM., Synopsis 141.B.10 ἄρπαγοι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.140 (< ἄρπαξ) ὁ πρίγκιπτος Chron. Toc. 564 (< πρίγκιψ) βιγλάτορον τοῦ σπιτίου σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 220.27 (< βιγλάτωρ) ο ἀσπάλαγκος ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 50.1 (< ἀσπάλαξ) τὸν νάρθηκο MOREZINOS, Klini 175.36 (< νάρθηξ)

For those in -ων the ending is simply replaced with -ος:

εἶναι πολλὰ καλὸς ἄρχος (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 171.9) (< ἄρχων) γεῖτος μου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.28 γεῖτος (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 2362) (< γεῖτων) τοῦ γέρου (1640, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 17, 156.10) (< γέρος < γέρων) ὁ δράκος καὶ ὁ λέως Achil. N 1849 (< δράκων and λέων) τοῦ Πανταλέου (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 135.89) (< Παντολέων) Κλιτοβέ μου Liv. E 4246 (< Κλιτοβών) τοῦ Σολομοῦ Diig. Alex. F 134.9 (Lolos) (< Σολομών) τοῦ Ξενοφοῦ KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 109.4 (< Ξενοφών) πολὺς χειμὸς (1336, Trebizond, LAMBROS 1916a: 45.17 app. crit.)
ὁ χειμὸς μέσος καὶ ὑετὸς ἀπλὸς (15th c. [ms], Unknown, BOUDREAUX 1912: 173.6) τὸν χειμὸν Phys. 266; κατὰ χειμὸν (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 695) (< χειμών)

For nouns in -ως, the ending had become homophonous with -ος with the loss of vowel length distinction, thus facilitating a full transfer to the -ος paradigm: εἶναι ἔρου δουλευτῆς Liv. V 2433 (< ἔρος < ἔρωσ); τοῦ Αἰγοκέρου ΚΑΜΑΤ., Astron. 1866 (< αἰγόκερος < αἰγόκερωσ).

In the period covered by this Grammar the Koine word μεγιστάν (gen. sg. μεγιστᾶνος) also transfers to the /os/ paradigm: οὐ μεγιστᾶνος πούπετε Pol. Tr. 2015; κυρ Δημήτρης Μεγιστάνος (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 173, 171.12); ἡ μεγιστάνου Pol. Tr. 7403; ἡ μεγιστᾶνον ibid. 7403 app. crit. (C). Its plural formation usually follows the /os/ paradigm: νὰ σὲ τιμήσουν ἄρχοντες, ρηγάδες, μεγιστάνοι Flor. L 1099 (Cupane); πάντων τῶν μεγιστάνων Eisit. f.5r.6; τοὺς μεγιστάνους Diig. sevast. Thom. 365; though the imminent transfer to the /as/ paradigm, as in SMG μεγιστάνας, starts to become apparent in the period under review: ἄρχοντες, μεγιστᾶνες Dig. G IV.486; ἐμήνυσε τοὺς σουμπάσιδας καὶ μεγιστᾶνας Ekth. Chron. 49.7–8 (μεγιστᾶνες in ms D); ἐνδοξοὶ μεγιστᾶνες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4137.

Originally indeclinable masculine proper names and forms of address may develop regularized declinable forms in /os/ (see also HENRICH 1976: 18–23), either by substituting a declinable ending for the indeclinable one or by adding a declinable ending to the indeclinable noun:

- τὸν Σαφὸν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 618.6–7 τοῦ Σαμφοῦ Diig. Alex. E 231.8 (Lolos) σὺν Ἀχιλλέας καὶ Σαμφῶς BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 475.8 (< Σαμφῶν) (see 2.1) Γεδεοῦ ἱερομονάχου (1435, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 13, 6.10–11) τοῦ κύρ Γεδεοῦ (1506, Patmos, MALTEZOU 1970: 2, 367.188) (< Γεδεῶν) τοῦ Ἀγίου Συμεοῦ τὰ χωράφια (1573 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17, 72.28–9) (< Συμεῶν) ὁ δὲ ρηθεὶς κύρ Σίμος ὁ Ἀλαμάνης (1447, Corfu, EFSTRATIADIS 1925: 50.1–2) (< Σίμων) Ἰωάσαφος ἱερομόναχος (14th/15th c., Trebizond, BRYER 1976: 4, 132.1–2) (< Ἰωάσαφ) μισέρο, κλέπτης, πιάσε τον Poulol. 362 (< μισέρ) λείποντας ὁ μισέρος μου Stathis II.182

Similarly, obsolete masculine participles may be reanalysed as nouns in /os/ (see also 3.7):

- τοῦ προεστοῦ (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 4, 128.5); οἱ προεστοὶ Chron. Mor. H 2011 οἱ προεστοὶ καὶ ὁ ἐπίλοιπος ραγιάς (1677, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 24, 92.7) (< perfect active participle προεστῶς) ὁ τεθνεῶτος Assizes B 382.30 (< perfect active participle τεθνεῶς) τοῦ τεθνηκοῦ Assizes A 107.17 (< perfect active participle τεθνηκῶς) ὁ μεσάζος Pol. Tr. 170 τῶν μεσάζων Diig. Alex. Sem. B 607 (< present active participle μεσάζων)

Lexically, the noun κύριος and its compounds may make a full transfer to the oxytone sub-paradigm, based on the common oxytone form κυροῦ which pre-dates the LMedG period by many centuries (see 2.7.2 for discussion):⁴

- ὁ κυρὸς Ἀλιπέρτος (12th c., S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 68, 152.5) παρὰ τοῦ κυροῦ Θεοδώρου Vulgärorakel I.162 τοῦ κυροῦ μου (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 182, 122.8) τοῦ κiuροῦ του (1714, Smyrna, SFYROERAS 1963b: 2, 177.7–8) ἱερομόναχον κυρὸν Νικηφόρον (1154, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 63, 325.19) οἱ карабокуроὶ να παν VOUSTR., Chron. A 26.11 νοικοκυροὶ τῆς ἐκκλησίας (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 26, 31.4) τῶν βοσκῶ καὶ νοικοκυρῶν (1642, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 19, 159.15) τοὺς λᾶς καὶ карабокуρούς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 102.32–3 ἀπαντας τοὺς οικοκυροὺς IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1688

⁴ Note that this genitive is often used in combination with the nominative variant κύρης (see 2.3.4), but is treated here because morphologically it belongs with the /os/ paradigm.

In certain verse texts the noun ἦχος has an oxytone variant ἦχός: καὶ τὸ καθέναν τῶν ἦχῶν Liv. E 933 and Liv. α 1013; τὴν μελωδίαν τῶν ἦχῶν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 3070; ἐκεῖνον, λέγω, τὸν ἦχόν id., Peri antapod. 19.

An especially inventive new formation by the anonymous author of Palaia kai Nea Diathiki is the word ὁ πατερμός P&N Diath. 846, nom. pl. πατερμοί ibid. 840, acc. pl. πατερμούς ibid. 5169, formed from the phrase πάτερ ἡμῶν. Note that other authors substantivize this phrase as a neuter noun in -ό(ν) (see 2.19.1). Transfers from other paradigms to the feminine in /os/ are very rare: πᾶσα ἄκρος ἦτονε ἕναν πῆχαν μακρέα, ὅπου ἐπερίσσευε ἔξω KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 188.29–30 (< τὸ ἄκρος). They include some feminine nouns in -εια (e.g. ασθένεια, συμπάθεια), e.g. με ἀλήθειον σὲ τὸ λέγω Chron. Mor. H 1849; ὅς ἀστένειον βαρυτάτην ibid. 7216 (ms: εἰς ἀστένειον); καὶ δὲ με τὴν συμπάθειον Liv. V 3653; καὶ γένη ἡ συμπάθειος του Liv. α 425 app. crit. (N); as well as certain paroxytone nouns in /a/, such as ἄμαξα, γέφυρα, τράπεζα: ὁλόρθα εἰς τὴν ἄμαξον ἀνέβηκεν ἀπάνω Theseid II.22,2 (1529); ἐπέρασα τὴ γιόφυρο P&N Diath. 320; φαγὶ ἀπὸ τὴν τράπεζο ποὺ τρώγει αὐτὸς νὰ παίρνω KONDAR., Paidēs 330. Only one example has been found of a feminine noun in -η transferring to the /os/ paradigm: τὰ βροῦλα δὲν ἐκοβγόντουσαν με τὴν ἄξιον, μόνον με σκεπαρνές (1667, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 53, 317.12–13) (< ἡ ἄξινη).

For proparoxytone masculine nouns in -ιος (καβαλλάριος, κύριος, Βασίλειος) see 2.7. For Cypriot imparisyllabic masculine nouns in -ιός such as δανειστιός see 2.8. For indeclinable proclitic forms such as γερο-, μαστρο- and others see 2.18. For the Cypriot alternative plural formation in -οῦδες of the noun θεῖος see 2.10.5. For forms with deletion of /j/ such as ἀνηψός for ἀνηψιός see I, 2.4.7.3.

2.1.1 Oxytone Nouns

	General		Restricted		Rare
	Masc.	Fem.	Masc.	Fem.	Masc.	Fem.
Singular
Nom.	καιρός	όδός	-ό -όν			-ό
Gen.	καιροῦ	οδοῦ	-ό	οδοῦς όδός	-οῦν -οῦς -ός
Acc.	καιρό(ν)	όδó(ν)	καιρόνε
Voc.	καιρέ	όδέ	καιρό

Plural
Nom.	καιροί				όδοί
Gen.	καιρών		καιρῶ καιρῶνε καιρούς		όδων
Acc.	καιρούς		καιροί		όδους		όδές
Voc.	καιροί				όδοί

Singular

Nominative

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ός

There is little variation in the nominative singular forms of masculine and feminine nouns belonging to this paradigm, apart from two regionally restricted alternatives (see below). The normal ending is -ός:

Masculine

- ό άλουπος (11th c., Mani, DRANDAKIS 1972/73: 2, 666.1) ένα σκυλίν, Σαρακηνός Arm. 92 άδελφός Γκιώνης (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.1) ό Κλιτοβός Liv. E 835 (< Κλιτοβών) ό άγιος Κυριακός MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.21; ήλθεν εις Άταλίαν ώς γοιόν φευγός ibid. 302.14–15 ό Σολομός Fior 76.23 (read Σολομός < Σολομών); ό άλουπτός ibid. 109.1–2 ό θιός μās κατηράθη KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XVIII.434 (= θεός, see I, 2.9.4.2) ο χλιμιτισμός παμμέγεθος Diig. Alex. K 354.13 κυρ Μανόλης Σαλονικιός (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 4, 6.17) (< Θεσσαλονικεύς) κυρός Ίωακείμ (1555, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 57, 178.2) (< κύριος) ό κιβωτός P&N Diath. 1457 (< fem.); ό βασιλιός ibid. 2126 (< βασιλεύς) γίνε όδηγός τση στράτας μου CHORTATSI, Erof. Dedic. 59 ό Ξενοφός KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 109.4 (< Ξενοφών) ό άδελφός αυτού ... Νικολός (1636, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 24, 313.4–5) κ' έγίνηκεν κλιαμός πολύς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 167 έγενέθηκε μεγάλος σκοτωμός EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.11

Feminine

- γή και σποδός όρώμαι GLYKAS, Stichoi 557 και έμιάνθη ή όδός Dig. G V.247 και ούκ ένι όδός Log. parig. L 284 έως ότου στήκει ή κιβωτός στο Άραράτ τó όρος Chron. Mor. H 4744 τριβόλοι ή όδός σου ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 526 νά ήτον όδός, όμμάτια μου Achil. N 1704 ἐκεῖ ἔναι ἡ κιβωτός KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 364.8

 πού ἔλαμπεν ἡ Δαμασκός Thrinós patr. O 68 (Luciani)

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ό

Masculine

Masculine nominatives in -ό can be found, especially with proper names, in areas under western rule, not only of foreign names, but also of Greek names and other words. Regionally /s/ may be omitted as a phonological post-lexical phenomenon when followed by a sibilant or affricate, as in the examples from Panoria and Varouchas (see I, 3.7.1.1 for details):

ό λογαριασμό του (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 2, 18.13–14) ό Μάρκο ῥόκαλος (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 24, 64.11–12) ἔσκοτώθη πολλός λαγό (1570, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 3.3) (< λάος) ἔγώ Νικόλδ Πουζέλης (1573, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 1, 75.2) ό κυρ-Γιάκουμος ό Τραυλό (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 10, 63.8) ο λογιισμό τση CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 65; ο ύπνο τση ibid. II.237 ό γαμπρό τση (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 273, 264.3); ό υιό τση (1613, ibid. 849, 740.13)

Feminine

Feminine nominatives in -ό are rare. The loss of final /s/ occurs by analogy with the majority of feminine nouns, which end in a vowel (HATZIDAKIS 1885: 83; SEILER 1958: 66): ἡ Ταρσό (1530–40, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: Z, 198.12); ἡ Λεμησό (ibid. 198.20); ἡ Δαμασκό (post 1640, Monemvasia, SCHREINER 1975/79: 79, 583.26.5–6); ἡ όδό τήν εἶχε βάλει FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.296.

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-όν

Masculine nominatives in -όν occur in documents from Pontos (cf. the paroxytone and proparoxytone paradigms in 2.1.2, 2.1.3). As in modern Pontic, the ending is used when the noun is preceded by the definite article (see 1.4 for details and more examples): ό και γαβρόν τῆς Λαζογιανίνας (1435, Pontos, MAVROMATIS/ALEXAKIS 2009: 13, 166.4–5); ό Ἐξιτικόν (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 173, 119.8).

Genitive

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-οῦ ! -οῦν

The inherited ending -οῦ is the most common ending for the genitive singular of masculine and feminine nouns:

Masculine

- τοῦ ... ἀδελφοῦ μου Chron. Mor. H 1851 τὸ ἀμπέλιον τοῦ γιαιοῦ (14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 148.9) βάλε καὶ καρβούρους ἀπὸ ποταμοῦ STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 2.49–50 μετὰ κλαυθμοῦ μεγάλου Achil. O 19 βοθρακοῦ ἀποσκέλλωμα Spanos D 32 τὸ κοντάρι τοῦ Σαμψοῦ Diig. Alex. V 68.13 (< Σαμψών) τὴν στράταν τοῦ ἀτοῦ Fior 149.19 (= ἀετοῦ) τοῦ Νικολοῦ Χιώτη (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 5, 10.25) μισερ-Λαρέντζου Σολωμοῦ (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 36, 96.18) (< Σολωμών) νὰ ἔχει τὴν κατάρα τοῦ Χριστοῦ (1585, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 23, 41.21) καὶ ὕγιου τοῦ μακαριτοῦ παπᾶ κύρ Γεωργίου (1557 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 11, 63.8) παιδὶ ἴνους κακομοίρη | κυροῦ Pist. voskos V 5.305–6 (< κύριος) τοῦ Ξενοφοῦ KRITROPOULOS, Grammar 109.4 (< Ξενοφῶν) ἦβγαν τοῦ γαμπροῦ τὰ μάτια Paroim. (Warner) 92.6 τοῦ μισερ Συμεοῦ Φρατζέσκου (1692, Larnaca, MITROPOULLOS 1923: A, 325.2) (< Συμεών)

Feminine

- τὸ τρίτον τῆς ὁδοῦ Assizes B 454.17 τῆς ὁδοῦ δεμοσίας (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 21, 160.6–7) ἐκ τῆς Ταρσοῦ τὸ κάστρον Byz. Il. 238 τῆς Κιβωτοῦ τοῦ Νῶε Poulol. AZ 14 ὁ πρίσκοπος τῆς Λεμεσοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 46.27; τοῦ μητροπολίτου τῆς Ταρσοῦ ibid. 98.7 εἰς τὴν πόρταν τῆς Λεμεσοῦ VOUSTR., Chron. A 118.18 τὸν τόπον ὅλον τῆς Δαμασκοῦ Diig. Alex. F 88.13 (Lolos) κάτωθεν τῆς ὁδοῦ (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 26, 84.7) ἐκείνης τῆς ὁδοῦ MILOITIS, Odoipor. 640.36 εἰς τας ἀγκάλας τῆς τροφῆς MINIATIS, Didachai 478.3

Addition of final /n/ is generally unusual, but may occur in texts from Naxos, where the addition of a non-etymological final /n/ is not uncommon (see I, 3.7.2.1.3): τοῦ γαμπροῦν τῶς (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 48, 198.9).

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ός

Masculine

Retention of the masculine nominative ending, not only with originally indeclinable proper names (e.g. Niccolò > Νικολός, Σαμψών > Σαμψός) but also with other nouns, occurs sporadically in the genitive in texts from southern areas:

- πλησίον τοῦ δαμινοῦ βουνός (1112, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 13, 408.4) (< ὁ βουνός < τὸ βουνό(ν)) ἔως τοῦ βουνός (1132, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 112, 149.16) ἦτον μαθητῆς τοῦ Νικολός τε Ναοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 296.24 του ψαλμωδός ἐκείνου Diig. Apoll. 838; του ψαλμωδός το ρήμα ibid. 857 τοῦ Λιγιά καὶ Σαμψός (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 3, 6.10) (< Σαμψών) τοῦ δούκα Σανταλός Chron. Tourk. Soult. 114.2–3

Feminine

Feminine genitives in -ός have been found in texts from the Heptanese, Crete and the Cyclades. This may be viewed as an analogy with the majority of feminine nouns, the genitive of which ends in -ς (HATZIDAKIS 1885: 83; SEILER 1958: 66), but note that the Heptanesian language varieties show a marked preference for oxytone genitives in -ός in other feminine paradigms as well (see 2.11.2):

τῆς δεμοσίας ὁδός (1420, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 2 [B'], 21.10) στῆς Δαμασκός CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 993 τὴν βάλην τῆς Ἑβρός KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 185.1 (< indecl. ἡ Χεβρών); τὸ μάκρος αὐτῆς τῆς κιβωτός ibid. 188.26; τῆς Δαμασκός ibid. 218.38 τῆς Ἀμουργός (1673, Sikinos, ZERLENDIS 1913a: 139.6)

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-οῦς

Genitives in -οῦς occur occasionally, mainly of the feminine noun ὁδός, with possible influence from feminine nouns in -ώ (see 2.14; cf. the nominative singular in -ό, above):⁵

Feminine

νὰ ἔχη ἀπάνω τῆς ὁδοῦς του Assizes B 454.17 τῆς ὁδοῦς Ptochol. α 945 app. crit. (N) τῆς μακροτάτης γὰρ ὁδοῦς ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 2409

Masculine

τοῦ Νεκτεναβοῦς Diig. Alex. F 100.20 (Lolos)⁶

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ό

Genitives in /o/ are used in western-ruled areas, of both foreign and Greek masculine proper names and sporadically of other words (HENRICH 1976) (cf. paroxytone and proparoxytone nouns below):

τοῦ προγονό μου (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 62, 179.18) του Νικολό Τεμοράπιτου VOUSTR., Chron. A 154.7–8 τοῦ Σολομώ Fior 73.22 τοῦ Ζαρό (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 173, 171.3) ὑπὸ μαρτυρίας ... κύρ Νικολό Σιμοτᾶ (1559, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 231, 280.11) τοῦ κυρ Νικολό (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 219.33) τοῦ Σολομό P&N Diath. 1545
 τοῦ Νικολό CHORTATIS, Katz. III.377

⁵ The adoption of this ending for the genitive may pre-date the period covered by this Grammar: a genitive τροφούς (< ἡ τροφός?) is found in inscriptions (see LSJ, who lemmatize as *τροφώ based on these genitive forms); the same form also occurs in Patm. 266 (late 10th c.): μετὰ τῆς τροφούς αὐτοῦ (see LUZZI 2012: 250).

⁶ The name Nectenabo appears in a variety of forms in the various versions of the Alexander Romance. The nom. sg. form in this particular version is Νεκτεναβός, Νεκτέναβος or Νεκτεναβόν (indecl.).

τοῦ κύρ Νικολὸ Βαρούχα (1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 729, 632.2) τοῦ ποτὲ Ξενοφὸ (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 235, 223.21) (< Ξενοφῶν) τοῦ ἐκλαμπροτάτου ἀφέντη Μαθιὸ Τζέν (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 38.9) τοῦ ποτὲ ὀσιότατου Ξενοφὸ (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 235, 222.5); τοῦ ἄνωθεν Κουμπανιὸ
 (1631, ibid. 591, 565.9)

Accusative

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ό(ν) -όνε

The inherited ending -ό(ν), usually with but sometimes without final /n/, is the normal ending for the accusative:

Masculine

διὰ τὸν ἐξυπνισμόν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 54.13; εἰς διακόνου βαθμόν id., Logos 3 190.1–2 ἔναν θεὸν Spaneas V 67 δι' ἀνακουφισμόν Liv. E 11 μήτε πιασμόν παιδίων (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.21) στὸν λογιισμόν TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 1; διὰ τὸ στερεμὸ σου ibid. 79 τὸν θάρρον τὸν πολὺν ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 349.18 (< τὸ θάρρος) τὸν ξεχυτὸν τὸν κάτω (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 257.27) κυρὸν Ἰλαρίωνα (1555, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 57, 178.28) (< κύριος) ὅποιος κάμνει τὸν λογαριασμόν του (1564, Cythera, ΔΡΑΚΑΚΙΣ 1999: 132, 218.6) τὸ γυαλὶ ὅταν τσακιστῇ πλέον ἱατρεμὸ δὲν ἔχει Paroim. (Warner) 54.16 εἰς τὸ γιὰλὸ νὰ πᾶς νὰ κολυμπήσης CHORTATIS, Katz. III.470 τὸν καιρὸ ἐκείνῳ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 54.27; ἐχάλασε τὸν τοῖχο τοῦ Ἐξαμιλίου ibid. 61.18 ἐκ τῶν δεινῶν τὸν μυρισμόν Dimotika Ivir. I.8
 διὰ γαμπρὸ τὸν ἑπιθυμᾷ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1620; ποῦ ἔχεις χαριτωμένον | γαμπρὸν ibid.
 1863–4
 τὸν σκοτωμὸ καὶ τὸν χαῦμὸ τῶν ὁμοφύλων ΕΦΤΗΜ., Chron. Gal. 16.20–1; μὲ τρελαμὸν κεφαλῆς ibid. 25.18–19

Feminine

κ' ἐδιάβη τὴν ὁδὸν του Chron. Mor. H 1567 χρὴ ὀμνύειν ἐπάνω εἰς τὴν Κιβωτόν τοῦ μαρτυρίου Assizes B 485.16–17 νὰ πάρω τὴν ὁδὸ μου Liv. V 3900 ἐπέξευσε πρὸς τὴν Λεμεσόν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.10 ὁ Νῶες μὲ τὴν κιβωτόν Synax. gyn. 146; καὶ πᾶει εἰς τὴν ὁδὸν της ibid. 356 κ' ἐχάσα τὴν ὁδὸν μου Cypr. Canz. 144.2
 ἀπὸ τὴν Ταρσὸν (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 133.7); εὗρίσκεις τὴν Λαμφακό (1530–40, ibid. Z, 163.25) εἰς τὴν Κύπρον (post 1640, Monemvasia, SCHREINER 1975/79: 79, 585.36.2) ὁ Νῶε ἐμπήκεν εἰς τὴν κιβωτόν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 24.38 στὴν Δαμασκὸν τὸν βάνουν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 8611 νὰ κάμνη τὴν ὁδὸ του PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1858 στὴν Λεμεσόν νὰ πγιάση Thrinios Kypr. 69

Addition of -(ν)ε can be found in texts from south-western areas (Crete, Heptanese). Only masculine examples have been found, but this may be due to the fact that feminine nouns in this category are in limited use:

τὸν πλίσιον σας θυμόνε Pist. voskos V 5.415 διὰ γαμπρόνε MONTSEL., Evgena 216 ἔχει ἕναν υἱόνε ibid. 215; τὸν Θεόνε πάντα ἀρνᾷται ibid. 1524 μὲ τὸ(ν) ληγόνε (1569 [17th/18th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 475.15)

Vocative

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-έ

The inherited ending -έ is the normal ending for the vocative:

Masculine

πνευματικέ μου ἀδελφέ ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 136.13

ἀμή ἄν θέλης, υἱέ καλέ Arm. 9 σκατοποντικέ Diig. tetr. 144

ὦ θεέ μου Ptoch. IV 179 app. crit. (P) (= θεέ) φίλε μου, Κλιτοβέ μου Liv. E 4246 (< Κλιτοβών) ἀνάπλοκέ μου κρεμασμέ Liv. S 500 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ἀλεπέ (15th c., Trebizond region, TSAKALOF 1910: [3], 121.1) ἔδᾶ συνάξου, λογισμέ Diig. Ven. 1 εἶπέ μοι, γέρον κηπουρέ [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2340

ὦ βρυγμέ τῶν ὁδόντων Spanos A 155

ἔλα Σαμψέ ἀνδρειότατε Synax. gyn. 169 (< Σαμψών) ὦ σταυραῖτέ χρυσόπτερε ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Pittakin 13

καὶ ἐσύ γαβρέ Ζαπάντη (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 237, 144.11) (= γαμβρέ); υἱέ Νικολό (ibid. 243, 147.12) ἀδελφέ κύρ Μανοῦσο (1554, Bologna, CATALDI PALAU 2000: 1, 386.16) κι ἐσύ ναέ τσ' αγιάς θεάς CHORTATSI, Panor. V. 387 κι' ἐσύ, λαιμέ MONTSEL., Evgena 723 ύστερινέ μου λογισμέ καὶ νὰ σέ εἶχα πρῶτα Paroim. (Warner) 80.18 ὦ γλυκύτατε καὶ παμφίλτατέ με ἀρραβωνιαστικέ Don Kis. 554.33–4

Feminine

λυχνία θεία, κιβωτέ VEST., Prol. Theot. 242

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-ό

Vocatives in -ό have been found with masculine proper names (see also HENRICH 1976):

ἐκεῖ πεζεύω, Κλιτοβό Liv. E 3069 (< Κλιτοβών); υἱέ Νικολό (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 243, 147.12); κύρ Νικολό μου CHORTATSI, Katz. I.48.

Plural

Nominative

Masc. & Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-οί

For the masculine the nominative plural shows no variation before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar. A feminine nominative plural form has only been found in a mixed-register document (see the introduction to this section, 2.1):

Masculine

οἱ τῶν Τουρκῶν πειρασμοὶ ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.8 οἱ κληρικοὶ (1395, Pontos, BRYER 1976: 7, 133.2) οἱ νεφροὶ του Dig. E 774 οἱ ἀρχηγοὶ τῆς Δύσης Chron. Mor. P 40 οἱ Ἀμουχουστιανοὶ ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 150.18; οἱ γιατροὶ ibid. 232.25 τὴν ἡύρασιν οἱ κυνηγοὶ Synax. gyn. 370 τόσοι εἶναι οἱ κολασμοὶ τοῦ κόσμου Fior Suppl. 270.13 ὡς ἴδιοι νοικοκυροὶ (1518, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 390.21) (< οἰκοκύριος) ἐγένοντο πολλοὶ σεισμοὶ (1521, Zakynthos, ΜΑΝΟΥΣΑΚΑΣ 1967: (b), 221.5) οἱ δύο μου οἱ γιοὶ (1553, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 99, 146.18) Γραικοὶ καὶ Λατῖνοι (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 23.166) καὶ βασιλιοὶ ἐπομένα FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 70 (βασιλιός < βασιλεύς) ἦτανε ἐχθροὶ τοῦ Μουσουλμάνου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 43.9 ἄλλονῶν γίνονται ὁδηγοὶ ἀπωλείας (1697, Cythera, PATRAMANI 2010: 1, 210.26) οἱ χριστιανοὶ ἐκρύπτησαν Thrinios Kypr. 770

Feminine

συνέρχονται ὁδοὶ διάφοροι (1392, Athos, ΚΡΑΒΑΡΙ 1991: 13, 115.18)

Genitive

Masc. & Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν -ῶ -ῶνε

The standard ending for the genitive plural is -ῶν:

Masculine

ἡ χρεια τῶν ἀδελφῶν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 114.30 στὰς χεῖρας τῶν ἐχτρῶν του Chron. Mor. H 3930 ἀντ' ἀδελφῶν Liv. V 95 τὰ πράγματα τῶν Ἀρτινῶν Chron. Toc. 2935 πτωχῶν τε καὶ τῶν ξένων Imber. 705 τῶν ἐχθρῶν ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 278.34; καὶ τῶν ἀλλουνῶν βοσκῶν ibid. 331.40 καὶ ἀλλουνῶν χριστιανῶν (1652, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 69, 179.8) τῶν Γραικῶν ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 36.18 ποτὲ τῶν καιρῶν ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 58.26

Feminine

πλησίον των ὁδῶν τῶν δημοσιῶν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 53, 86.14)

Deletion of final /n/ occurs in texts from Crete, the Heptanese and certain islands in the Aegean (see I, 3.7.2.2 for details):

τὸν Κύριο θεὸ τῶν οὐρανῶ Jonas 214.9
τῶν Χριστιανῶ καὶ Μουσλουμάνῶ (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 83–84.10) των αλλωνῶ βοσκῶ CHORTATSI, Panor. I.294; δυὸ βασιλιῶ μεγάλῳ id., Erof. II.251 (< βασιλιός); δυὸ ἀγαφτικῶ πιστῶ ibid. III.401 τὸν βασιλέα τῶν οὐρανῶ P&N Diath. 1909; τῶν ὀχθρῶ μας ibid. 4695; τὸ γένος τῶ Ὑστιανῶ ibid. 5175 (= Χριστιανῶν) τῶν ἄνωθι ὀρφανῶ (1617, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 16, 320.24)

 τῶν βοσκῶ (1642, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 19, 159.15) ποτε τῶ καιρῶ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 61.15; τὰ φουσσᾶτα τῶν χριστιανῶ ibid. 72.3; τῶν Κομμενῶ ibid. 103.24
 κατέπροστε τῶν ... λαγικῶ (1722, Tilos, KOUTELAKIS 1979: 21, 54.2) (= λαϊκῶν)

Addition of -(v)ε occurs in texts from the Heptanese and possibly elsewhere (Crete, Peloponnese; see I, 2.6.3.1):

τῶν πτωχῶνε (1509, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1950: 1, 144.14) τοῦν ἀδελφῶνε μου (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 14, 39.11); τοῦν ἀνιψῶνε του, τοῦ κύρ Σταφανῆ καὶ τοῦ κύρ Μαρκα<v>τῶνη (ibid. 15, 39.7) (for the article τοῦ(v) see 5.2.1) τῶν λαγῶνε SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. C8v.23 τῶν προεστῶνε (1666, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 4, 198.299) (προεστός < part. προεστώς, see also 3.7.5)
 ποτε τῶ καιρῶνε (1670, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1981: 1, 285.17) τῶν θεῶνε KATSAITIS, Ifig. I.205

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-οὺς

Genitives plural in -οὺς, morphologically identical to the accusative, occur with masculine nouns only in texts from Cyprus, and possibly elsewhere (see 2.1.2, 2.1.3, 2.2.1, 2.3.3). For discussion and further examples see 1.2:

τὸ ἀρμάτωμαν τοὺς Σαρακηνοὺς (15th, Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 208.1.2) τὸ ἱγλαμπρότατον γένος τοὺς Καντακοζηνοὺς (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 70, f.Iv.11–12)
 τὴν πίστην τοὺς χριστιανοὺς (15th c., Cyprus, BAGLIONI 2006: 202.40–1) ἔνδυμαν τοὺς μοναχοὺς Assizes A 133.8
 νὰ εἶναι εἰς τὴν βλέπισιν τοὺς ἀδελφούς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 54.8; τὴν νίκην τοὺς χριστιανοὺς τοὺς Κυπραίους ibid. 154.34–5; τὸ διάβαν τοὺς Ἀμοχουστιανοὺς ibid. 432.12 τὸ φυσικὸν τοὺς θεοὺς Fior 78.31–2 τὸ μερτικὸν τοὺς πτωχοὺς Pist. kekoim. 496–7

Accusative

Masc. & Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-οὺς

There is little variation in the accusative plural ending before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar. A feminine example has only been found in the high-register Grottaferrata version of Digenis:

Masculine

χωρισμοὺς ἔχουν NIKON, Prol. 14.16; εἰς διαφόρους καιροὺς id., Logos 3 170.3–4 ἀπὸ τοὺς Κορφοὺς (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 270.2) τινὲς ἐκ τοὺς σοφοὺς Byz. Il. 375 τούς άλλους β' σταυρούς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.15–16; ἔκτισες πολλούς ναούς ibid. 6.26 εἰς τοὺς Ἀπαξοὺς (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 72.18) (= Παξούς, see I, εἶχαν πέσει ἀπὸ τοὺς οὐρανοὺς KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.29

2.6.1.2)

ἀπὸ τῖς γονιούς μας Rim. Sant. 125 (< γονιός < γονεύς; for the article τῖς see 5.2.1) ἀπὸ χαϊράμενους βοσκούς CHORTATSI, Panor. I.14; με τσ' αθούς τσ' όμορφους ibid. I.414 (< ό ἀθός < τὸ ἄνθος)

ὄσους χριστιανούς (1608, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 18, 179.70) ρωτῶ την: ἀδελφούς ἔχεις Vosk. 177 app. crit.

ἐχάλα να τοὺς Γραικοὺς MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1313

Feminine

τὰς ὁδοὺς τῆς ἀγάπης Dig. G III.3

In specific phonetic environments final /s/ may be deleted in texts from south-western areas, e.g. τοῖ ἀδελφοφτοῦ μας P&N Diath. 834 app. crit. (= ἀδελφοποιτούς); τσι παραδαρμού μας CHORTATSI, Panor. V.408. For details and more examples see I, 3.7.1.1.

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-οί

A masculine accusative ending -οί, identical to the nominative, has been found in texts from the Cyclades (see 1.3 for details): μπεζόνιο ἀπὸ ἄρχοντες, ἦγουν ἀπὸ προεστοί (1696, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [42], 58.1); νὰ ἀρωτήσουνε καὶ πάρτε προεστοί (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 19, 34.18–19) (< part. προεστώς, see also 3.7.5).

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ές

One example has been found of a feminine accusative plural adopting the ending of the old 1st declension (cf. paroxytone and proparoxytone nouns (2.1.2, 2.1.3), for which this is more common): εἰς τὲς δύο ὁδέξ (17th c., Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: App. III, 324.27).

Vocative

Masc. & Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-οί

The vocative plural ending is identical to that of the nominative. No feminine examples have, however, been found:

φίλοι κι ἀδελφοί Chron. Mor. H 1613

χαίρετε λαοί Spanos D 1354

ὦ χρόνοι καὶ κακοὶ καιροί Love poems V 512 τῶν φαμελίτων, ἀδελφοί, τῆς Ἑρωτοκρατίας FALIEROS, Ist. On. 1 ἠβλέπετε, ἔδελφοί KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 154.8 (for the prothetic /e/ in ἔδελφοί see I, 2.6.1.3) ὦ λογιμοί, πῶς σφάνετε CHORTATSI, Erof. Prol. 121 φύγετε ἀπὸ λόγου μου, κακοὶ συλλογισμοί Don Kis. 567.18

2.1.2 Paroxytone Nouns

	General		Restricted		Rare
	Masc.	Fem.	Masc.	Fem.	Masc.	Fem.
Singular
Nom.	λόγος	ράβδος	-ους -ο -ον	(-ους) -ο
Gen.	λόγου	ράβδου	-ο -ονος	-ος -ους	λόγουν -ον -ος	-οῦ -ο
Acc.	λόγο(ν)	ράβδο(ν)	λόγου(ν) λόγονε	ράβδου(ν)
Voc.	λόγε λόγο	ράβδε ράβδο
Plural
Nom.	λόγοι	ράβδες		ράβδοι	-ηδες	-αι
Gen.	λόγων		λόγω λόγωνε -ῶ(ν) ἰ -ῶνε λόγους	ράβδων
Acc.	λόγους	ράβδες		ράβδους ράβδοι	-ηδες	ράβδας
Voc.	λόγοι			ράβδοι

Singular*NominativeMasc. & Fem.*

Sg.	Nom.	-ος ἰ -ους

There is only little variation in the nominative singular. The normal ending is -ος:

Masculine

εἰ δὲ καὶ ἔνι Φράγγος ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 142.14; εἰ δὲ πάλιν φίλος ἔνι ibid. 142.24 Ἰωάννης ἀρχιερέος (1180, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 201, 265.23) (< ἀρχιερέυς) ὁ τάφρος τοῦ ἀμπελίου (1321, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 108, 194.277) (< fem.)
 ὁ κουτρούλης Ἀλαμάνος Vulgärorakel I.287; ὁ μὲν στάμνος ibid. I.343 (< fem.) κάποιος σκλάβος Assizes B 447.15 φράγκος γὰρ βασιλέος Chron. Mor. P 3048 (< βασιλεύς) ὁ κάτος κάπου ἔλειπεν Synax. gadar. 174 τοῖχος ἀσβεστόκτιστος (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 138, 119.6) γεῖτος μου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.28 (< γεῖτων) ἔναι ὡσὰν τροῦλος (1530–40, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: Z, 235.4) ἰδρος τον υπάει ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 42.4 (< ἴδρω < ἰδρώς) ἐγὼ Λέος Σοφολέος (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 217, 213.1) (< Λέων) ο φιότσος της (1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.22) (< Ven. fiozzo see BOERIO, Lex. s.v.)

 ὁ κόλφος τῆς Ἐπάχτου ΜΙΛΟΙΤΙΣ, Odoipor. 641.4 (= κόλπος) ἦτον ἕνας ὄστος κ' εἶχε ὄσταρία Nov. II 161.1 (< Ven. osto) ἦτονε καὶ μάγος· Σπανιόλος τὸ γένος Chron. Tourk. Soult. 32.10; τζιντιλόμος Βενετζάνος ibid.
 89.26–7 (< Ven. zentilomo) ὁ κιζιτόρος τοῦ Πάπα (1623, Bergamo, KORRE 2008: 2, 330.6) (< Ital. inquisitore) μεγιστάνος μοιάζει PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 528 (< μεγιστάν)

Feminine

ἡ λεγομένη βίβλος τοῦ Νηστευτοῦ ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 3 109.23 ἡ μεγάλη λίθος (1222/3, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 48, 247.12) (< masc.)
 ἡ ἄρκτος ἐστράφη Dig. G IV.133; ἡ ράβδος ἡ ἐμὴ ibid. VI.146 ἡ βάτος ἀπὸ πέρα Vulgärorakel I.129 ἦτον ἡ νῆσος τῆς Κολκοῦ Pol. Tr. 25 ἐτελειώθη ἡ παρούσα δέλτος Fior Suppl. 281.5
 ἡ Ἄντρος (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 142.1); ἡ Λῆμνος (ibid. 142.20); ἡ Χίος (ibid. 143.6); Πάτμος καὶ ἡ Λέρος (ibid. 143.23); ἡ Σέρφος (1530–1540, ibid. Z, 235.25) (= Σέριφος, see I, 2.7.2) ἐδῶ ἡ Παρθένος, ἐκεῖ ἔναι ἡ ράβδος τοῦ Ἀαρών KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 364.8–9

Forms in -ους are phonetic rather than morphological (for raising of unstressed [o] to [u] see I, 2.5.4): ὁ φόρνους (1628/9, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 1, 43.24).

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-o

Nominatives in -o have been found of masculine proper names, of both foreign and Greek origin, and feminine geographical names. The loss of final /s/ in the nominative of feminine words occurred by analogy with the majority of feminine nouns, which end in a vowel (HATZIDAKIS 1885: 83; SEILER 1958: 66):

Masculine

ὁ μισὲρ Μάρκο Πριούλης καὶ ὁ μισὲρ Παρθολομαῖο Μαλό MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 288.31–2 ἐγὼ ὁ Δῆμο Τοριὸς (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 30, 54.30)

Feminine

ἡ Ρόδο ἐθλίβηκε SKLAVOS, Symf. 189 ἐδῶ κι ἡ Ρόδο ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 14.3 (hapax; rhymes with μόδο) ἡ Τύρο δὲν τὸν προσκυῖ Alex. Rim. 636 ἡ Νέλο μὲ τὸν κάβον τοῦ Καναλίου (1530–40, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: Z, 147.13) (= ἡ Ἑλλη); ἡ Μπάφο (ibid. 154.7) (< Πάφος) ἡ Χίο νὰ διδῇ χαράτζί Chron. Tourk. Soult. 112.25

The loss of final /s/ may be phonologically motivated in specific environments (for details see I, 3.7.1.1): τίς ἐστίν ὁ γεῖτο σας; (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 174.2d) (= γείτος < γείτων; ed. γείτω); κι ο πόθο τση CHORTATIS, Panor. I.24 (τσι in ed.).

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ον

Masculine nominatives in -ον occur in documents from Pontos (see 1.4 for details and further examples): Ἰωαννάκης ὁ Βαλεντζιάκον (ca. 1275, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 60, 35.47); ὁ Μανόλης ὁ Μανολόπλον (1506, Trebizond, PRINZING 2000: 2, 304.7–8) (< Μανολόπουλος).

Genitive

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ου

The most common ending for the genitive singular is -ου:

Masculine

ἀπ' ἐμοῦ τοῦ ἀναξίου Νίκου ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 46.21 (< Νίκων) περὶ τοῦ ὄρκου Assizes A 214.7
ἐπάνωθεν τοῦ ἄμμου Pol. Tr. 147 app. crit. (V) (< fem.) Μανουήλου τοῦ Γρηγοροπούλου (1523, ΚΑΚΛΑΜΑΝΙΣ/LAMBAKIS 2003: 84, 156.4) (< indecl. Μανουήλ) όλονοῦ τοῦ χρόνου (1568, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 259, 350.1) ἄρχου καὶ μωροῦ καθὼς τοῦ δόξη Paroim. (Warner) 40.16 (< ἄρχων) τοῦ βασιλέου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 37.33 (< βασιλεύς); τοῦ Μουσουλμάνου ibid. 43.9 τοῦ προτετόρου μας (p. 1669, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1938: 2, 296.9) (< Ital. protettore) τῆς Παναγίας τοῦ Κήπου (1686, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1999: 6, 51.8) τοῦ ἀρχιερέου (1707, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1973: 1, 303.6) (< ἀρχιερεύς)

The addition of final /n/ in the following example from Assizes is likely to be an error: τοῦ παρόντος βίβλουν Assizes B 273.1–2 (note also that the word βίβλος is normally feminine in this text).

Feminine

ἐνορίας Πάμφου (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 13.20) (< Πάφος, see I, 3.5.2.4) ἄσπρον ἐν τῆς Ρόδου (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 56.49) τὸ ρηγάτον τῆς Κύπρου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 18.27; τὴν εἰκόνα τῆς Θεοτόκου ibid. 36.6
κυρὰ τῆς Νίου (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 172.35) (< Ἴος, see I, 3.5.1) ταπέδα τῆς Ρόδου (1523, Crete, ΚΑΚΛΑΜΑΝΙΣ/LAMBAKIS 2003: Inv. 10, 295.15) τῆς νήσου (1594, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 1, 109.6) ἀπὸ τὸ μέρος τῆς ἄρκτου Bertoldin. 94.3 τὸ πουλάρι τῆς ὄνου KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 12.15
τῆς νήσου Μύκονος (1687, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1918b: 6, 222.2)

A few examples have been found of feminine genitives with a shift of the stress to the ultimate. All three examples come from verse texts:

τῆς Κολκοῦ Pol. Tr. 25 and 232 (< Κόλχος) ρῆγας Κυπροῦ μεγάλος VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 113; ὅς Κυπροῦ τῇ Λευκουσίᾳ ibid. 170

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ο ὁ -ον

Genitives in -ο are quite common with masculine nouns in texts from southern areas, and especially Crete (see HENRICH 1976) (cf. oxytone and paroxytone nouns). They occur with proper names of Italian and Greek origin as well as with other words. They are much rarer for the feminine, for which only one example has been found, in a text from Tilos (Dodecanese):

Masculine

τῆς μονῆς τοῦ Ἀγίου Θαλελαῖο (1091?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 2, 386.9) τοῦ γέρο <τοῦ> μισῖρ Ντζεφρέ Chron. Mor. H 7765 (< γέρος < γέρων) τοῦ μάστρε Πέτρο τοῦ Πελεκάννο (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 47, 25.1) τοῦ ποτέ μου κουινάδο (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 46.81) τοῦ νοδάρο (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 11, 46.19) τοῦ μαστρο Νήνφο Λέκα (1548, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1992: 15.13) (< Νήμφο < Νήφων) διὰ τοῦ γαστάλδο (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 172, 170.6) τοῦ Τοῦρκο (1553, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 177, 167.2) τοῦ Παῦλο Βλαντῆ (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 388.14) υἱὸς τοῦ ποτέ κυρ-Δράκο (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 41, 101.23) (< δράκος < δράκων); τοῦ μαστρο-Δῆμο (ibid. 46, 108.7–8) τοῦ Χάρο ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1730 (< Χάρος < Χάρων) καὶ μια καρδιά ἑνὺς δράκο CHORTATIS, Panor. I.83 τοῦ ἄνωθεν ἄρχο (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 311, 296.13; and 1607, ibid. 459, 418.4) ἐνὸς διάκο (1615, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 247, 234.27) (< διάκος < διάκων see the Introduction to 2.1) τοῦ ποτέ Φραγγιᾶ Ζωγράφο (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 56.262) τοῦ Ἀγίου Ματθαῖο (1631, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 3, 267.4) τοῦ γέρο ἡ ἀγκαλιὰ FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.378 τοῦ ἄνωθεν πανοσιωτάτο ἀφέντη Οἰκονόμο (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 4, 127.3–4) τοῦ μακαρίτου Μάρκο Ist. makaritou Marko tit.
ἐκείνου τοῦ Μιχελέττο Leilasia Par. 116

In the archive of Varouchas there are instances of a gen. sg. with an added final /n/:⁷

τοῦ καβαλιέρον (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 247, 244.1); τοῦ [...] ἄρχον (1605, ibid. 308, 293.19), (ibid. 311, 296.10), (ibid. 328, 310.3; and 1612, ibid. 819, 715.4); τοῦ ἄνωθεν τεσταδόρον (1611, ibid. 716, 620.29)

Feminine

τῆς νῆσο Τῆλο (1686, Tilos, KOUTELAKIS 1979: 13, 45.8)

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ος

⁷ In the case of the word ἄρχος there is obviously confusion with the residual 3rd-declension nom. ἄρχων. Varouchas in fact spells this genitive with <ω>, even though his nominative is ἄρχος (see BAKKER 1988/89: 287, n. 66).

Genitives in -ος occur quite frequently with feminine nouns, and especially with place names, in texts from south-western regions and the Aegean, but they are much rarer with masculine nouns. These forms are the result of an analogy with the majority of feminine nouns, which have genitives in -ς (HATZIDAKIS 1885: 83; SEILER 1958: 66). No examples have been found before the 16th c.:

Feminine

- τῆς Ἄντρος (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 107.8) τῆς Φάρος τῆς Ἱεράπετρας (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 127, 125.2) τῆς παρούσας πόλεως καὶ νήσος (1561, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 12, κη'.3) ἀπὸ νήσου Σάμος ἕως νήσου Χίος MILOITIS, Odoipor: 636.21–2; τὸ κύκλος τῆς νήσος ibid. 637.1
 τῆς νήσου τῆς Πάρος (1594, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 1, 109.6) εἰκόνα τῇ εὐλογημένης Θεοτόκος (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 39, 59.18) τῆς Κυρίας Θεοτόκος Μαρουλάτικης (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 1, 29.13) τὸ ἄμμος TROILOS, Rodol. I.615 τῆς μεγαλειότητος κοινότης Νάξος (1650, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: (2), 29.7) τῆς Κύπρος (1664, Cyprus, MERTZIOS 1958b: 255.10) (author not from Cyprus)⁸ τῆς Λήμνος τὰ Τουρκία IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 8423 τῇ Ρόδος τὸ νησί BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 341.4; <σ>τῆς Χίος τὸ νησί 393.11 τῆς Λέρος (1683, Leros, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 37, 26.17) τῆς Πάρος (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 518, 744.3) τῆς Χίος (1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 8, 21.5) τὸ ρηγόπουλο τῆς Κύπρος KORNAROS, Erot. II.497 μέσα στῆς Σκύρος τὸ νησί KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.142 πρὸς τὴ μερὰ τῇ Σίφνος Leilasias Par. 191

Masculine

- ἀπὸ χωρίου τοῦ Ἁγίου Ματθαῖος (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 64, 261.1)

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ους

Genitives in -ους, which have been found with feminine place names in 17th- and 18th-c. texts from the Cyclades and Cyprus, are either a conflation of the endings -ου and -ος, or the result of back-vowel raising (for which see I, 2.8.3; cf. proparoxytone nouns): τῆς Ἄνδρους (1685, Andros, POLEMIS 1995b: 5, 38.2); τῆς Πάφους (1646, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 5, 15.2); ἀφέντες μπρεβετιτόροι Τήνους (1706, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 59, 71.11–12).

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ονος

⁸ This document is an autograph letter from Nikiforos, the archbishop of Cyprus, to the doge of Venice. Judging from the language of the letter, Nikiforos is much more likely to have been from a south-western area (Crete, Heptanese, Peloponnese?) than from Cyprus, e.g.: τζι ραγιάδες (253.1), εἴμεστανε (255.3 and 255.10), τζι χῶρες (255.9), φτάζει (255.10), οἱ γιαποδέλοιποι (255.14; the Cypriot word being προδέλοιπος or δελιοπός), νά τζι κάωμε (255.15), θέλεις ρωτήξει (255.16).

This genitive ending occurs as an alternative to -ου with masculine proper names in documents from Pontos (see 1.4 for discussion): Ἰωαννάκη τοῦ Βαλεντζιάκονος (1262, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 14, 7.15); Μιχαήλ τοῦ Σούτονος (1384, Pontos, ibid. 128, 96.27) (cf. σίγνον τοῦ Σούτου ibid. 37, 16.1–2; Κωνσταντίνου τοῦ Βαλεντζιάκου ibid. 17.14).

Accusative

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ο(ν) ὁ -ου(ν)

There is little variation in the accusative ending. It usually appears in writing with final /n/:

Masculine

κατ' ἦχον α' ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 60.15; οὔτε εἰς φίλον id., Logos 2 144.1 τὸν κόντον τῆς Κεφαλλονίας Chron. Mor. H 2894 (< OFr. conte) εἰς τὸν Κακὸν Τράφον (14th c., Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 101, 156.13) (< fem.) κάθα χρόνον (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 147.17) κλότσον τὸν εὐεργέτησε Spanos D 16 εἰς τον μέγα μάστρον VOUSTR., Chron. A 126.19 τὸν ἄμμον Cypr. Canz. 36.8 (< fem.) ἵς τὸν πάμφουμον Θησεὶον Theseid I.14,3 (Follieri) (< Θησεύς) ἐτέθη εἰς τὸν τάφον (16th c., Serres?, LAMBROS 1904a: 339.22) τὸν ἄμμον Diig. Alex. F 276.21 (Lolos) (< fem.) μέ ἴδρο τῶν ρουθουινῶν σου νὰ φῆς ψωμί Pent. Gen. 3.19 (ἴδρος < ἴδρω < ἴδρῳς) εἰς τὸν Κάμπτον (1650, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 2, 138.5) μέ τέτοιον τρόπον φυσικόν SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. D3v.28 τοῦ φοῦρνο (1658, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 34, 117.4) (τοῦ = τὸ, see 5.2.1) κρασί, σὲ πίνω γιὰ καλὸ καὶ σὺ μέ κροῦς στὸν τοῖχο Paroim. (Warner) 76.21 τὸν ἄνωθε γραφέο (1660, Crete, VOUDOUMBAKIS 1915: 15, 381.4) (< γραφεύς) μέ ὅ,τι μὸδον ἤθελαν μπορέσου (1671, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1918b: 3, 220.8–9) (< Ital. modo) μέ κάθεν κόπτον (1687, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005a: 1, 368.7)

Feminine

εἰς τὴν Τράφον (1271, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 39, 300.4) εἰς τῶν Κορφῶν τὴν νῆσον Chron. Mor. H 2224 εὐθύς τὴν ράβδον ἔρριψεν Achil. N 1612 ἔσσω εἰς Κύπρον (app. crit.) (14th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 27, 206.2.2) τὴν Πεντάπολιν καὶ Τύρον Vulgärorakel I.64 νὰ φουμίσωμεν τὴν ἀγία νῆσσον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 28.5
ἵς τὴν ἄμμον Theseid I.48,7 (Follieri) κ' εὐρέθησαν στὴν νῆσο ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1409 καὶ πρὸς τὴν ἄρκτον ἔφθασε Dig. A 1441 ἐπῆρεν ὁ σουλτὰν Σουλεϊμάνης τὴν Ρόδο (post 1570 [ms], Lamia?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 69.XIV, 541.79.1) χώνουνται οἱ ἀχινέοι εἰς τὴν ἄμμον LANDOS Geopon. 131.15; ἔπαρε μίαν ράβδον χοντρήν ibid. 168.27 τὴν ἄμμον ἦν ἔχω (1650, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 2, 138.5) ὁχ τὴ Σάμο (1671, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 230, 204.4) μέ μιὰ ράβδο 'ποῦ 'βάστανε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1318 ἀνθρωποὶ ἀπὸ τὴν Ἰο (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 521, 747.5)

Forms in -ου(ν) are phonetic rather than morphological variants of -ο (for back vowel raising see I, 2.5.4 and 2.8.3): τὸν γάμουν τους Achil. L 1127 app. crit. (Hesseling) and ibid. 1153 tit. transcr. (Lendari); τὴν Νήσσουν με τὰ πρᾶστεία τῆς VOUSTR., Chron. A 78.4; γυρεῦει τὸν κόπου του (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 28, f.61r.13).

Addition of -(ν)ε has been found in Heptanesian texts with masculine nouns only, but is likely to occur elsewhere as well (see I, 2.6.3.1):

ἔκ τὸν τάφονε τοῦ Σίρεως Alex. Rim. 548 κέρασε τὸν ξένονε MONTSEL., Evgena 1074 με τὴν αὐλὴ καὶ κήπονε (1598 [late 17th–early 18th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 503.18); ἔνα κομμάτι τόπονε κήπονε διὰ σπιτότοπον (1604 [late 17th–early 18th-c. copy], ibid. 510.5–6)

Vocative

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-ε

In the LMedG period the inherited /e/-ending is the most common ending for the vocative of paroxytone nouns, and it continues to be in use throughout the EMG period:

Masculine

χρόνε, τῆς Τύχης δουλεπτά Log. parig. L 121 Μιχαὴλ Παλαιολόγε Vulgärorakel I.178 λύκε λυσσιάρη Pol. Tr. 6675 σουλτάνε μου (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.1) ἄσυστατε χρόνε τοῦ βίου Velth. 726 κάμπε με τὰ λουλούδια Love poems V 58 ὦ κόσμε, κόσμε ἀνέγνωρε FALIEROS, Thrinis 299 κουμπάρε, ἔλα! VOUSTR., Chron. A 266.11
 Κρόνε, πλανῆτα τ' οὐρανοῦ Alosis 413 δέχου, Φράγκε Achil. N 1583 θρόνε δικαιοσύνης KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua IX.53 ρουφιάνε ἀπαρθινότατε CHORTATIS, Katz. III.538 ὦ νεανίσκε, ἐσένα λέγω KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 7.14 ὦ Παύλε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 545 ὦ φίλε Σάντσο Don Kis. 44.30; σινιόρ καβαλιέρε ibid. 50.7; μαστρο-Πέτρε ibid. 313.8

Feminine

ἄσπιλε Θεοτόκε DELLAP., Epit. Thrinis 507 ὦ παρθένε MOREZINOS, Klini 48.26 δέσποινά μου ὑπεραγία Θεοτόκε (1654, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2008: 1, 52.1) χαῖρε ... στάμνε χρυσή VEST., Prol. Theot. 241

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-ο

In the EMG period certain nouns belonging to this paradigm develop alternative vocatives in -ο (see also HENRICH 1976). These are not, as in SMG, limited to masculine proper names, feminine geographical names and certain disyllabic masculine words such as γέρος (HOLTON et al. 2012: 60, 68) but can also be found with loanwords (κουινιάδος, ρουφιάνος, τραδιτόρος, φράρος) and other disyllabic words (δρόσος, κοῦκκος, λύκος):

Masculine

κουινιάδο μου (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 21.10) λύκο αίματοπόπη Poulol. 370 app. crit. (A) κυρ λύκο ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 71.26 Κροῖσο βασιλεῦ VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 23 κράτει τα ἑσύ, Βίδο (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 287.15) κύρ Μανοῦσο (1570, Venice, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 9, 482.1) κακὲ ρουφιάνο CHORTATIS, Katz. III.540; ὦ γέρο κακορίζικε ibid. V.27 (< γέρος < γέρων) ὦ τραδιτόρο καὶ ἐπίβουλε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 86.8 ὑψηλότατε καὶ ἀφέντη δούκα τῆς Ναβερσίας Παλαιολόγο (1618, Mani, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 24, 270.1) Μπερτολδῖνο ἔλα Bertoldin. 128.7; κοιμᾶσαι ἑσύ, κοῦκκο; ibid. 149.15 ἄρχο χαριτωμένε FOSKOLOS, Fort. Dedic. 34 (< ἄρχος < ἄρχων); Φορτουνάτο μου ibid. I.11 παμμέγιστε Σαν Πέτρο ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 544 λέ' του: ὦ κακογέρο PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1535 ιδέξ εκεί, ὦ φίλε Σάντσο Don Kis. 44.30 ὦ λόγο SPANOS, Grammar 30.14

Feminine

ὦ δρόσο τῆς ἀγάπης μου Rim. kor. V 60 ὦ Ρόδο SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.1
 Ρόδο καὶ Ἰντάλια ἐλευθερώθητε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 122.7

Plural

Nominative

Masc. & Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-οι

Masculine nouns show very little variation in the nominative plural ending, which is almost always the inherited ending -οι. Feminine nouns in -οι have only been found in mixed-register texts; they show a tendency to form plurals in -ες by analogy with the 1st declension (see below):

Masculine

ὅταν δὲ ἦλθαν οἱ Τοῦρκοι ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.9
 οἱ πόνοι | κεντοῦσιν τὴν καρδίαν μου Spaneas V 17–18 κ' οἱ Βενετικοὶ ἐστήκασιν Chron. Mor. 531 τρεῖς χρόνοι Pol. Tr. 203; οἱ μεσάζοι ἦλθασιν ibid. 2570 (< pres. part. μεσάζων) οἱ χτύποι τῆς καρδίας του Liv. V 3518 οἱ μεγιστάνοι Velth. 948 (< μεγιστάν) κόντοι καὶ καβελάροι Diig. tetr. 492 app. crit. (V) (< OFr./Ital. conte) ἐκατέλαβαν οἱ Λατῖνοι εἰς τὴν Κύπρον (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 25, 199.1.1) κλερονόμοι (1420, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 2 [B'], 21.20) ἔπεφταν ψύλλοι ἄσπροι Spanos A 257 οἱ Γενουβίσοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 590.1–2 ἦσαν καὶ ὅσον ἑκατὸν εἴκοσι ὀνομάτοι SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 17.37 οἱ στιμαδόροι τῶνε (1587, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 1, 343.11)

Ἐβραῖοι εἶναι Diig. Alex. Sem. B 497 ἐκεῖ ἔστεκόντησαν οἱ Ρωμαῖοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 59.24; ὡσάν Ἀχιλλεῖοι ibid. 84.23 (< Ἀχιλλεύς)

οἱ γονεοὶ τῆς (1640, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 28, 314.2) (< γονεύς) ῆσαν κουμπάροι (1687, Cythera, PAPADAKI 2001: 95, 55.3)

Feminine

οἱ τράφοι τοῦ (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 57, 61.5) (< τάφος) ὥσπερ τράφοι FORTIOS, Strat. pragm. 782

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ηδες

This ending of the masculine -ης paradigm (see 2.3.4), is sometimes employed with certain masculine nouns in -ος, but these are occasional formations that occur in verse texts and do not signify a true trend (cf. acc. pl.): ὅτ' εἶναι τραδιτόρηδες STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voen. 1257 (Pidonia) (< τραδιτόρος); και ὅλοι οι κολονέληδες ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 2470 (< κολονέλος); ὅλοι οι μεγιστάνηδες ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 6965 (< μεγιστάνος < μεγιστάν); μικροί και μεγιστάνηδες ibid. 7396.⁹

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες ἢ -αι

Feminine nouns in -ος tend to adopt the -ες ending of the old 1st declension, e.g. τύχες. Sporadically even the obsolete -αι ending is found:

οἱ Δῆλες οἱ Μικρὲς (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 105.19); οἱ Δῆλες (1530–40, ibid. Z, 199.3) (< ἡ Δῆλος) οἱ ράβδες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 258.32

ῆσανε πολλὰς παρθένες MOREZINOS, Klini 152.35 αἱ παρθέναι SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 440.413

Genitive

Masc. & Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ων ἢ -ω ἢ -ωνε

The inherited ending -ων is found with paroxytone nouns throughout the period covered by this Grammar, though disyllabic nouns show a strong tendency towards oxytone genitive plural forms (see below). Feminine examples are restricted to mixed-register texts:

Masculine

περὶ εὐνούχων ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 3 156.4

τῶν Φράγκων κι Ἀλλαμάνων Chron. Mor. H 4056; ἵς ἀπάντησιν τῶν Τούρκων ibid. 5235 τῶν μεγιστάνων ὁλωνῶν Pol. Tr. 8814 app. crit. (B) (< μεγιστάν)

⁹ Ioakeim Kyprios clearly is partial to the /ides/ ending, which he uses freely to accommodate the metre or rhyme. Consider the following innovative forms: τοὺς ἀχρεϊάνηδες ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 4182 (< adj. ἀχρεῖος, see KAPLANIS 2012, Glossary); τοὺς Βενετικλήδες ibid. 5285; τοὺς Κρητικλήδες ibid. 5286.

μετὰ τῶν ἵππων τούτων Velth. 1107 χῶρες τῶν Γενουβίσιων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 354.36 τῶν κληρονόμων του (1539, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 26, 46.52) τῶν Κυπρίων Pist. kekoim. tit. πέντε χρόνων (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 37, 117.7) διήγησις μακρῶν καὶ ανοήτων λόγων Theophr. Char. 121.2
 τῶν Ἀρμενίων ... τῶν Συργιάνων (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 335.16) μερικῶν Τούρκων PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.35 τῶν εὐγενεστάτων ... προκουραδῶρων (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 4, 128.12–13) τῶν πλανωμένων καβαλιέρων Don Kis. 47.11; δεκαεννέα χρόνων ibid. 307.35

Feminine

ἐκ δὲ τῶν ἄρκτων τοὺς βρυγμοὺς Dig. G IV.139

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete, the Peloponnese and the Aegean (Cyclades, Dodecanese):¹⁰ τῶν Χριστιανῶ καὶ Μουσλουμάνω γυρεύουσιν (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 83–84.10) καὶ σπίτια μεγιστάνω Imb. Rim. 64 (< μεγιστάν) τῶν ἄνωθεν ἀμπασαδῶρων (1571, Mani, CHASIOTIS 1970: 5, 239.15) ρήγας εἶν' τῶν Ἑβραίων P&N Diath. 2202 τὴν ἀρμάδα τῶν Βενετζάνω Chron. Tourk. Soult. 52.15 τῷ δούλῳ καὶ ἀφεντάδῳ FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 36 τῷ κουνάδῳ μου (1680, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: XIV, 77.6) (< κουνιάδος) δώνει τον τῶνε τῶν Τούρκω ὡς ἦτονε (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 26.11–12)

Addition of -(v)ε has been found in texts from the Heptanese and the Peloponnese (see I, 2.6.3.1 for details):

τῶν ἄνωθεν ἀμπασαδῶρων καὶ κουμέσωνε (1571, Mani, CHASIOTIS 1970: 5, 239.15) τῶν Ρωμάνωνε Prol. Epain. Kef. 61; τῶν Βενετσιάνωνε ibid. 62 τὸ κόρσο τοῦ Τούρκωνε (1644, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 288, 227.23–4) (for τοῦ see 5.2.1) μπάγκωνε δεκοχτῶ (1665, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 9, 39.6) Ἀναστάση καὶ Φράγκου Πετράτῶνε (1698, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 250, 158.2) πέθανε χρόνωνε ὀγδοῇντα (1708, Zakynthos, SATHAS 1865: 524.21) τῶν ἄνωθε ... ὀφιστιάλῶνε τοὺς (1716, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969d: 1, 42.2)

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν -ῶ -ῶνε

Oxytone genitive plural endings are very common with certain, mostly disyllabic, paroxytone masculine nouns that denote nationality (Τοῦρκος, Φράγκος; trisyllabic Καζακῶν in IOAKEIM KYPR.) (see also HENRICH 1996a). Such oxytone forms can be found in texts from the very beginning and throughout the period covered by this Grammar, including in middle- and higher-register texts such as Ekthesis Chroniki, the chronicle of Sfrantzis and Arsenios's Vasileia kai aftokratoria ton Roson:

¹⁰ As the ms of Fortounatos is written in Latin script and notation of stress is therefore lacking, it cannot be established with certainty if the following form is σκύλω or σκυλῶ, as both are metrically acceptable: σκυλῶ καὶ τῶν ἀθρώπων FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.458.

τῶν ἀθέων Τουρκῶν (1072, Constantinople, EVANGELATOU-NOTARA 1982: 240, 241.12) παρεκτός τῶν Φραγγῶν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 142.21; τῶν Τουρκῶν id., Logos 4 206.8
 τῆς ἁγίας μονῆς τῶν Σεργῶν (ca. 1290?, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 86, 64.7) λέγει τῶν Φραγκῶν Chron. Mor. H 418; ἐξοπτίσω τῶν Τουρκῶν ibid. 5158 μηδέν πλανηθῆτε εἰς τῶν Φραγγῶν τὰ λόγια (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.15) τῶν Τουρκῶν (1442, Belgrade region, ALEXOULIS 1892: 2, 281.4) καὶ τῶν Φραγκῶν τὸ θράσος Chron. Toc. 3856 Οὐγγρῶν καὶ Ἰσμαηλῖτων PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 192 τῶν Οὐγγρῶν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 136.11; παρὰ τινων Τουρκῶν ibid. 136.13 τῶν Φραγκῶν Ekth. Chron. 17.15; τῶν Οὐγγρῶν ibid. 73.6; τῶν Σεργῶν ibid. 73.14 τοῦ φουσσάτου τῶν Τουρκῶν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 33.21–2 τῶν Βλαχῶν STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 78 (Pidonia) τῶν Φραγκῶν (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 335.16) αυτοκρατορία τῶν Ρωσῶν ARSENIOS, Vasil. Ros. 298.1 τῶν Τουρκῶν αἱ πράξεις ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 5263; τῶν Καζακῶν καὶ τῶν Ρουσῶν ibid.
 5950
 τὸ ἀσκέρι τῶν Τουρκῶν EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 39.2–3 κῆκ τῶν Γαλλῶν εὐρίσκεται VATATZIS, Periig. I 573

In the LMedG period the oxytone ending spreads to certain other disyllabic words such as χρόνος (now the SMG form), and occasionally μύλος, σκλάβος, φίλος and others:

χρονῶν εἰκοσιπέντε Chron. Mor. H 142; τῶν Σκλαβῶν ὁ δρόγγος ibid. 4605 πέντε χρονῶν τὰ ἐποῖκα Dig. E 671 ὑπὸ τῶν φιλῶν Ermon. 3.120 χρονῶν ὀλίγων SFRANTZIS, Chron. 190.7 παρακάτω τῶν δεκατριῶν χρονῶν Assizes A 113.12 ἀμὴ ἀπὴν ἐγένεομουν χρονῶν δεκατεσσάρων SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 37 ἀποῦ κε' χρονῶν καὶ ἀπάνω MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 310.34 ἡ φοῦστα ... ἔναι εἰκοσιδυὸ παγκῶν TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 96–7 ὄλουνδων τῶν χρονῶν (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 349, 248.12) νὰ τὰ δώσουν τῶν φραρῶν τοῦ Σὰν Φραντζέσκου (1567, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 6, 308.51–2) πακτωσίες μυλῶν (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 33, 26.6) τῶν τοιχῶν MOREZINOS, Klini 31.25; τῶν φιλῶν ibid. 263.21 πόσων χρονῶν εἶσαι; (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 401.29) δύνων χρονῶν πληρωμὴ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.30 ὡς κάτεργα παγκῶν κβ' (1609–18 [ms], Athos?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 55.II, 406.56.2–3) τῶν σκλαβῶν (1620, Ioannina, DOIKAS 1982: [6], 144.12) δὸς τὸ κορμί μου τῶν σκυλλῶν KORNAROS, Erot. IV.536 app. crit. (A) (Xanthoudidis)

Finally, oxytone genitives plural may sporadically occur with trisyllabic loanwords:

Λατινῶν καὶ Σαρακηνῶν (1133, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 5, 516.3) σολδαδῶν CHORTATZIS, Katz. III.454 τῶν σολνταδῶν BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 242.11

With the oxytone genitive plural deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete, the Peloponnese/Heptanese and the Cyclades:

καὶ τέλος τῷ χρονῷ μου CHORTATZIS, Panor. II.532; κ' ἔδωκα τῷ φιλῷ χαρὰ id., Erof. I.352 χρονῷ σὰ νὰ 'σου τράντα Stathis II.259; νὰ ἀρέσου τῷ φιλῷ ibid. III.580 παλληκάρι εἴκοσι πέντε χρονῶ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 142.10 τριῶν κλονῶ (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 284, 479.28) τῶ Φραγκῶ Leilasia Par. 130

Addition of -(ν)ε has been found in texts from south-western areas (Crete, Heptanese), but may also occur elsewhere (see I, 2.6.3.1 for details):

τοῦν ἀνιψῶνε του (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 15, 39.7) (for τοῦν see 5.2.1; for deletion of /j/ see I, 2.4.7.3); χρονῶνε δύο (1637, ibid. 42, 60.14) τῶ Φραγκῶνε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 262.3; τῶν Τουρκῶνε ibid. 262.4 τῶν ἔξι χρονῶνε (1680, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 255, 231.20) τὸ κράτος τῶν Φραγκῶνε KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.371

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ους

Genitives plural in -ους, morphologically identical to the accusative, occur with masculine nouns only in texts from Cyprus. An example has also been found in an inscription from Inkerman, Crimea, a region for which written sources are scarce (see also 2.1.3, 2.2.1 and 2.3.3 for further examples from Macedonia and 2.1.3 for another example from the Crimea). For discussion and bibliography see 1.2:

εἰς τὰ παιδιά τοὺς κληρονόμους (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.610) οἱ κρίσεις τοὺς θαλασσομάχους καὶ τῶν ναβῶν Assizes B 252.4
 τὰ σημάδια τῆς Γενουβέσους (15th c., Crimea, LATYSHEV 1896: 42, 46.1) (for the article τῆς see 5.2.1) ἐκεῖνου καὶ τοῦ<ς> κληρονόμους του (1484, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 20, 232.7) με β' μαρτυρίες Ἑβραίου Assizes A 58.6; εἰς τὰς βίβλους τοὺς νόμους τοὺς ibid. 235.20 τὴν νίκην τοὺς ... Κυπραίου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 154.34–5; χῶρες τοὺς Γενουβίους ibid. 354.33–4; βουλὴν τοὺς παιδίους ibid. 402.12 (< παιδῖος); τὸ καράβιν τοὺς Καταλάνους ibid. 580.13 εἰς τὰς τρεῖς τοὺς γενουβήσους VOUSTR., Chron. A 120.16; τα σπῖτια τοὺς φράγκους ibid. 302.11–12 τοὺς Παρπαρόσους πῆρασιν τα κάτεργά τως ὅλα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 301

Accusative

Masc. & Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ους

For masculine nouns the most common accusative plural ending is the inherited ending -ους. Feminine examples are restricted to mixed-register texts:

Masculine

ὑπὲρ τοὺς θεῖους νόμους ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 32.8; εἰς τοὺς τόπους id., Logos 2 152.14 τοὺς ἀμέτρον πόνους Spaneas V 4 ἐπὶ τοὺς Βενετικούς Ptoch. IV 121 βασιλεῖς καὶ κόντους Pol. Tr. 2893 (< OFr. conte) ἔπαρον κοχλίου ΣΤΑΦΙΔΑΣ, Iatrosof. 7.193 τοὺς λόγους ἐμάθαμεν (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 168.3) όλους μας ἔχεις δούλους σου FALIEROS, Thrinis 82 εἰς τοὺς λάκκους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 416.15–16; ἐπίασεν ἅ' Γενουβίους ibid. 590.5

 στρέφομαι ἔς τοὺς Οὐγκλέζους Alosis 345 τοὺς πάππους CHEILAS, Chron. 349.16 τοὺς ράβδους KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 258.33 (< fem.)
 εἰς τοὺς γονεὺς τους (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 243, 147.10) (< γονεὺς) ἐποίησε χρόνους τρεῖς (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.8) ἀπὸ τοὺς μεγιστάνους MOREZINOS, Klini 46.31 (< μεγιστάν) ὅλους μου τσι ἔδικούς καὶ φίλους (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 55.230) αὐτοὺς τους τραδιτόρους IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2615 τσι ἄτους τοῦ νοδάρου (1674, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 3, 122.28) (< Ven. atto; for the article τσι see 5.2.1); με τοὺς κατωγεγραμμένους μόδους (1675, ibid. 4, 126.19–20) (< Ven. modo) εἰς τοὺς αὐτοὺς ἄνωθεν Πελεκάνους (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 323, 524.18)

Feminine

ἀπῆραν ... ράβδους Ptoch. I 254 εἰς τὰς βίβλους Assizes A 235.20

In specific phonetic environments final /s/ may be deleted in texts from south-western areas, e.g. τσι γάμου μας CHORTATSI, Panor. V.367. For details and more examples see I, 3.7.1.1.

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-οι

An accusative ending -οι, identical to the nominative, has been found in texts from the Cyclades.¹¹ For further details see 1.3: τις ἄλλοι σύντροφοι τις εἶχαν μέσα στὴ γαλιότα (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 26.33–4); διὰ τις γονεῖοι τῶνε (1702, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 35, 49.10) (< γονεὺς) (for the article τις see 5.2.1).

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ηδες

This ending, which belongs to the masculine -ης paradigm (see 2.3.4), is sometimes employed with masculine nouns in -ος in verse texts to accommodate the metre (cf. nom. pl.): λέγω με κάτι πόρνηδες, della città baroni CHORTATSI, Katz. V.354 (< πόρνος); τους τραδιτόρηδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2591 (< τραδιτόρος); με τους σενατόρηδες ibid. 6456 (< σενατόρος); μ' ὅλους τους μεγιστάνηδες ibid. 7836 (< μεγιστάνος < μεγιστάν).

¹¹ The following example in a literary text of unverified provenance: πᾶσα χρόνοι μοῦ τὰ κλέφτουν ὅλα Νοι. II 16–17, is probably a misreading (χρόνοι for χρόνον), or an innovative singular χρόνι based on the plural χρόνια (see 2.1.4).

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες ἢ -ας

Feminine nouns show a clear tendency to adopt more overtly feminine endings from the old 1st declension (-ες, or even sporadically the more archaizing -ας ending):

τὲς Ντῆλες (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 144.3) (< ἡ Τῆλος); εἰς τὲς Δῆλες (1534, Unknown, ibid. A, 105.17) (< ἡ Δῆλος) εἰς ἄλλες νῆσες MILOITIS, Odoipor. 637.33–4 ἐπὶ τὰς νήσας Pol. Tr. 14201 app. crit. (C)

Vocative

Masc. & Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-οι

The vocative plural is identical to the nominative, but has been found only of masculine nouns:

ἀφεῖτε, πόνοι τοῦ κορμιοῦ, τὰ χεῖλη νὰ λαλοῦσιν Diig. Ven. 6 ὦ χρόνοι καὶ κακοὶ καιροὶ Love poems V 512 ἀκριβοί, καλοὶ καὶ δίκαιοι φίλοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 380.32 κόψετε τὸ κεφάλιν μου, χριστιανοὶ Ρωμαῖοι Anak. Konst. 37 Πορτογαλέζοι, δράμετε Alosis 553 ὦ Ρωμαῖοι φιλάργυροι, ... τραδιτόροι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 83.32 οἱ Φράγκοι τοὺς ἐλέγασιν: πρε κάνοι τραδιτόροι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2989 (< Ven. can) κάμποι, λυπηθεῖτε DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 652

2.1.3 Proparoxytone Nouns

	General		Restricted		Rare
	Masc.	Fem.	Masc.	Fem.	Masc.	Fem.
Singular
Nom.	ἄνθρωπος	σύνοδος	-ο -ον	-ο
Gen.	ἀνθρώπου	συνόδου	ἄνθρωπου ἄνθρωπο -ος	σύννοδου -ος		-ους
Acc.	ἄνθρωπο(ν)	σύννοδο(ν)
Voc.	ἄνθρωπε ἄνθρωπο	σύννοδε σύννοδο			ἄνθρωπεν

Plural
Nom.	ἄνθρωποι ἄνθρωποι	σύνοδες	ἄνθρωπε	σύνοδοι		σύνοδα -εις/-οις
Gen.	ἀνθρώπων		ἀνθρώπων ἀνθρώπωνε ἄνθρωπων ἀνθρώπους	συνόδων σύνοδων
Acc.	ἀνθρώπους	σύνοδες	ἄνθρωπους ἄνθρωποι	συνόδους		σύνοδας -εις/-οις
Voc.	ἄνθρωποι		ἄνθρωποι

Singular

Nominative

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ος

For the nominative singular of proparoxytone nouns, forms in -ος are the most common before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

Masculine

Χριστόδουλος, διάκονος ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31 822.28

ὡς ἔνι κίνδυνος ψυχῆς Spaneas V 69 ἐλάκτισεν ὁ γάϊδαρος GLYKAS, Stichoi 274 ἄνθρωπος ὀλοφάρακλος Log. parig. L 549

ὁ Ἀριουρόπουλος Arm. 75

Στρατηγόπουλος ὁ Σκαντζιλέρης (1448, Constantinople?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 9.I–IV, 99.51.4–5) ὁ ἔξοδος (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 18, 158.24) (< fem.)

καὶ φαίνεται ὡσὰν Τούρκικος Epain. gyn. 82 ὅταν ἀνάτελνε ὁ ἥλιος KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.32 ὁ διάδοχος του (1576, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 79, 99.31)

ὁ δὲ σκάνθαρος ἐπαρεκάλει τὸν ἀετὸν Vios Aisop. K 204.24 καὶ ἦτονε μανιῶδης ἄνθρωπος Chron. Tourk. Soult. 28.1; ὡσὰν βασιλιόπουλλος ὅπου εἶσαι ibid. 104.9

ἦτον Ἄραβος [VLASTOS], Dig. P IV 342.17 (< Ἄραψ)

ὁ δίκταμος ἔχει δύναμιν LANDOS, Geopon. 130.25 (< τὸ δίκταμον) ὁ χάτμανος (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 57.16)

Feminine

ἡ φυλακὴ καὶ κάμινος GLYKAS, Stichoi 139

ἡ ἐνθύμιος (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 33.84)

ἡ ἔμποδος ἐκείνων τῶν πελεγκρίνων Chron. Mor. H 443; καὶ προσκυνήση ἡ Κόρινθος ibid. 1448 ἡ κάμηλος ὀρχᾶται Diig. tetr. 1068 αὕτη ἡ σύζυγός του Imb. Rim. 33 ἡ ἄβυσσος ἐκείνη Krasop. AO 30

- ή παράδεισος Fior 150.17 (< masc.)
 η έλαφος AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 55.9 ή σύμβιός μου (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 86, 159.18); έγω και ή σύννυμφός μου (1529, ibid. 134, 243.13) ή Σκαρτσάομηλος (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 102.14); ή Νίσουρος (ibid. 144.1); ή Κάρπαθος (ibid. 144.9); ή Σίφουνος (1530–40, ibid. Z, 235.6) (= Σίφνος, see I, 2.6.2); ή Σέριφος (ibid. 235.15) ή έκτη Σύνοδος KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 413.33; επάρθη ή Κόρινθος ibid. 422.22 ή Γεράπετρος BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 249.11 (< τὰ ἱεράπετρα) ή σύνοδος SPANOS, Grammar 31.11

In documents from Pontos surnames in -όπουλος retain the masculine -ος ending in the feminine (instead of -οπούλα, -οπουλίνα or -οπούλαινα elsewhere; note that in the modern dialect -οπουλλίνα is used; see OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 376): έγω Θεοδώρα ή Θεοφιλόπουλος (ca. 1245, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 16, 7.1); έγω Άγνη ή Πρωτοπαπαδόπουλος (1260, ibid. 17, 8.1).

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ο

Feminine nominatives in -ο are the result of analogical levelling within the noun morphology system, in which the vast majority of feminine nouns end in a vowel in the nom. sg. and add a final /s/ in the gen. sg. (see the Introduction to this section; see also HATZIDAKIS 1885: 83 and SEILER 1958). Nominatives in -ο of masculine nouns appear to be restricted to proper names, probably influenced by Italian:

Feminine

- ή και σύνβιο (1226, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 274, 376.4) (< σύμβιος) ή Αμόχουστο επάρτην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 464.19–20 ίντα μαντάτα έχει η Αμμόχουστο; VOUSTR., Chron. B 183.1
 ή σύμβιό του (1514, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 46, 55.1) ή Αἴγυφτο Pent. Gen. 50.3
 ή Ἐγριπο ἔναι κάστρο δυνατὸ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 117.10–11 ή σύνοδο SPANOS, Grammar 31.11

Masculine

- έγω ἱερώνυμο Μαρουλιανὸς (1532, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 151, 272.37)

Regionally /s/ may be deleted in specific phonetic environments (see I, 3.7.1.1): ὁ πρόγονό τση (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 33, 52.8).

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ον

Nominatives in -ον occur in documents from Pontos (cf. the oxytone and paroxytone paradigms above, and see 1.4 for discussion): ὁ Γαριώτης ὁ κυρ Θεόδωρον (1430–35?, Pontos, ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015: 5, 12.9); ὁ Θεόπεφτον (16th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 186, 123.1).

GenitiveMasc. & Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ου

Historically the genitive singular of proparoxytone nouns in /os/ displays a shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate. Forms with such a shift of the stress can be found throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods:

Masculine

- περί τοῦ μονοκέρου Phys. 989a (< μονόκερως) τοῦ ἐλάφου STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 12.342 τοῦ μαγείρου (1440, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 22, 224.11) τοῦ ρηθέντος μου ἐγγόνου (1497, Corfu, KARYDIS 1999b: 1, 305.25) καὶ ἐσὺ, γαδάρου χαρμονή Poulol. 516 τοῦ καλογέρου (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 134.73) Μανουήλου τοῦ Γρηγοροπούλου (ibid. 84, 156.4) πιάνει μίαν κεφάλη γαδάρου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.36; δένδρον τοῦ ἡλίου ibid. 335.21 στοῦ Παραδείσου CHORTATIS, Erof. III.224 τοῦ ἀντραδέρφου τζι τοῦ πρώτου (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 54, 74.8) τ' Αντιχρίστου IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6855 ἐσένα τοῦ ἀφέντη γερομονάχου (1665, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 10, 418.2) διὰ χερὸς Εὐθυμίου Ἱερομονάχου EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 13.9

Feminine

- τῆς ὀκταήχου NIKON, Logos 1 48.8
 ἡ φυλακὴ καὶ κάμινος καὶ χεῖρων τῆς καμίνου GLYKAS, Stichoi 139 τὴν θύραν τῆς εἰσόδου Ptoch. I 226 στὸ κάστρον τῆς Κορίνθου Chron. Mor. H 1472 τῆς Παραδείσου Pol. Tr. 2865 and 13076 (< masc.)
 ἡ φλόγα τῆς καμίνου Liv. E 3167 τῆς συγκλήτου Chron. Toc. 1223 ὅς τὰ μέρη τῆς Τενέδου Anak. Konst. 6 τῆς Ἀμοχούστου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 434.19 ἀπὸ τὴν Ἐπισκοπὴν τῆς Χερσονήσου (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 13, 22.3); εἰς τὴν εἰρημένην ἐκκλησίαν τῆς Περιβλέπτου (1511, ibid. 25, 45.56) τὸ νησὶν τῆς Φιλερήμου (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 88.16) στὴν περιοχὴν τῆς Πυλάρου (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 41, 101.9) τοῦ νησίου τῆς Ἐγρίπου MILOITIS, Odoipor. 640.15; τῆς Ἐπάχτου ibid. 641.4 τοῦ σουλτάνου τῆς Αἰγύπτου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 125.22 τὸ γέννημα τῆς ἀμπέλου KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 26.29 τῆς συνόδου SPANOS, Grammar 31.11

However, forms without a shift of the stress can also be found from the very beginning of the period covered by this Grammar, not only in new words and compounds (as in SMG), but also in inherited words:

Masculine

- καὶ κεφαλὴ τοῦ Κάνθαρου KAMAT., Astron. 530 τοῦ Πρίαμου Pol. Tr. 1690; τοῦ Θέλεφου ibid. 2767 τοῦ Ἀλεξόπουλλου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 568.12

τοῦ Κωνσταντῆ Ἐξεδάκτυλου (1510, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 19, 33.9) τοῦ ζέφυρου ὁ δρόσος Theseid V.99,3 (1529) Δημήτρη Χαλκιοπούλου (1535, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 2, 20.5–6); τοῦ ποτε Ἀλίσανδρου
 (1537, ibid. 23, 31.3) τοῦ ἄγγελου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 324.20–1 κυρ-Δήμου Νιόφουτου (1571, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 1, 53.1) τοῦ καπετάν Ἰππόλυτου Τζανώλη (1623, Bergamo, KORRE 2008: 2, 330.6) κύρ Τιμόθεου (1625, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 66, 192.20) καὶ ἐγκονιῶνε μου Ἀπόστολου καὶ Τζανῆ (1642, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 252, 202.31–2) ἡ συφορά τοῦ γάδαρου Paroim. (Warner) 33.6–7 τοῦ χάτμανου (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 56.15–57.16) τοῦ πανοσιότατου ἱερομόναχου (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 3, 176.14) τοῦ πρωτόγερου (1671, Skyros, ANDONIAKIS 1982/83: 5, 96.2–3) τοῦ ἡλίου εἶπεν νὰ σταθῇ KONDAK., Paides 37 τοῦ ποτε Θεόδωρου (1695, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 354.16)

Feminine

ὁ λαὸς δὲ τῆς Πύλαρχου Pol. Tr. 3377 τῆς ἄβυσσου Defl. Par. 318 τὰ χωράφια τῆς Γιόφουρου (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 58, 110.cod.6)
 τῆς ὁδοῦ GERMANO, Grammar 59.16

Addition of final /n/ is generally unusual, but may occur in texts from Naxos, where the addition of a non-etymological final /n/ is not uncommon (see I, 3.7.2.1.3): τάζειν τοῦ ἀρχοντόπουλόν του (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 485, 707.19–20).

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ο

Genitives in -ο have been found of masculine proper names in western-ruled areas: τοῦ μισέρ Γιάκουμο Μπαρότζη (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 174, 175.9); Βαρθολομαίου Συρόπουλο (1649, Crete, PANOPOULOU 2003: 1, 145.5).

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ος

Genitives in -ος are not uncommon for feminine nouns in texts mainly from southern areas (Heptanese, Peloponnese, Crete, certain islands in the Aegean such as Mykonos and Patmos) (cf. the same phenomenon, though much rarer, with adjectives in -ος, 3.2.1). These may be explained as an analogy with the majority of feminine nouns, which have genitives in -ς (HATZIDAKIS 1885: 83; SEILER 1958: 66). Only a few examples have been found for the masculine, which most probably serve to accommodate the verse:

Feminine

τὸ κάστρον γὰρ τῆς Κόρινθος Chron. Mor. H 1459; ὅλης τῆς Πολυπόνεσσος ibid. 2333 τῆς παράδεισος CHOUNMNOS, Kosmog. 116 τῆς Στάφυλος Porikol. I 174 and Porikol. II 44 τῆς ἄβυσσος Pent. Gen. 7.11 κ' εἰς τὸ πλευρόν τῆς ἄμαξος πολὺς λαὸς ἐρχέτον Theseid IX.45,5 (1529) (< ἡ ἄμαξος < ἡ ἄμαξα) τῆς Νίσουρος (1530–40, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: Z, 230.24) διὰ πλήρωμα τῆς ἔξοδος ὁποῦ ἵκαμα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 88, 86.8) τῆς ὁδοῦ τῆς Τένεδος MILOITIS, Odoipor: 636.24 τσῆ Παράδεισος CHORTATIS, Erof: II.358 Ἀλβανίτες τῆς Ἠπειρος Chron. Tourk. Soult: 61.22; τὴν ἔσοδεῖα τῆς Αἴνος ibid: 107.17–18 τσῆ Γεράπετρος (1614, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 1, 330.14) (ἡ Γεράπετρος < τὰ Ἱεράπετρα) τῆς τράπεζος καυχία ζ' (1610–20, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 23, 94.17) (< τράπεζα) εἰς τὸ νησί τῆς ... Ζάκυνθος IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 336.18–19 πρὸς τὴ μερὰ τῆς Γιόφυρος BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol: 357.23 τῆς Ζάκυθος (1674, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1940: 153.8–9)

 τῆς νήσου Μύκονος (1687, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1918b: 6, 222.2) εἰς τσ' Ἐγριπος τὰ μέρη KORNAROS, Erot: II.203 τοῦ ἀγίου Ἰωάννου τοῦ Θεολόγου τῆς Πάτινος (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 107.8–9) (< ἡ Πάτινος = Πάτμος) τῆς σύνοδος SPANOS, Grammar 31.11

Masculine

τοῦ κάραβος ἐκείνου Pol. Tr: 138 app. crit. (V); ἀλλ' ὁ πατήρ τοῦ Θέλεφος ibid: 2767 app. crit. (A) καὶ τοῦ Πίνδαρος τὸν ὄρκον ERMON., Ilias 3.213

Note that Pontic feminine surnames in -όπουλος retain the nominative (masculine) -ος ending: τῆς θυγατρὸς μου Χατούνας Μαρκιανόπουλος (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 166, 116.2–3); Εἰρήνης τῆς Λαχονόπουλος (1432, ibid: 168, 116.2).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ους

This ending is either a conflation of -ου and -ος or the result of back-vowel raising (see I, 2.8.3). It has been found in documents from Mykonos (cf. paroxytone nouns): τῆς Μύκονους (1702, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 39, 52.8; and 1706, ibid: 72.8).

Accusative

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ο(ν)

There is no variation in the accusative singular ending, which appears usually with, though sometimes without, final /n/ in texts from all areas:

Masculine

τὸν ἄμπελον (1196, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 241, 325.16) (< fem.)
 εἰς ὄλον τὸν ἐξάφαλμον ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos I 58.4–5 ἐδόθη πρὸς τὸν Κομνηνούτζικον ἐκείνον (1343, Constantinople, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 21, 161.8–9) τὸν ἀφεντόπουλόν του Chron. Mor: H 1266 οὐ θέλει τὸν Παράδεισον Dig: E 841 τὸν μονόκερον Phys. 68 (< μονόκερως) ἐλάλησεν ὁ Ἀχιλλῆς τὸν Πάντουρκλον Achil. O 253 (< Πάτροκλος) τοῦ δρόμου τὸν ἔξοδον Diig. Alex. V 32.17 (< fem.) τὸν σπλαχνικόν σου υἱούτζικον Diig. Alex. E 67.9 (Konstantinopulos) ἔως τὸν Ἑπαχτο ΜΙΛΟΙΤΙΣ, Odoipor. 641.14 (< fem.) τὸν θανάτὸν μου TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 71; τὸν θάνατό σου ibid. 80 μήτε τὸν ἄρπαγον (17th c., Athos, MEYER 1894: XVI, 220.14) (< ἄρπαξ) δέσε τὸ γαῖδαρο FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.371 μὴ δέχοντας ἐμένα ὡς ἀρχιεπίσκοπον (1653–5, Venice, FONKIC 2000: 240, f.1v.9) μὲ σπέζεις καὶ ἔξοδον ἐδικὸν τῶς (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 4, 127.14) (< fem.) ἄνθρωπο παιδεμένο KORNAROS, Erot. I.169 μπλοκάροντας οἱ Τοῦρκοι τὸν Ἑπαχτο EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 44.23–4

Feminine

ὁ Κύριος ἔρριξεν ἄνεμο μεγάλην Jonas 213.4 (< masc.)
 στήν Κόρινθον Chron. Mor. H 1444 Αἴγυπτον, Αἰθιοπίαν Vulgärorakel I.63 νὰ μπῆς εἰς τὴν Παράδεισον FALIEROS, Log. did. 325 (< masc.)
 μὲν χάσωμεν ... τὴν Ἀμόχουστον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 434.16–17; τὴν ἄλυσον ibid. 482.26 ὁ σύντεκνος τὴν σύντεκνον Alosis 222 δίχως καμὶαν ἔμποδον Theseid I.128,5 (Follieri); στήν ἄμαξον ἀπάνω ibid. IX.47.1 (1529) (< ἡ ἄμαξα) σ' ποιά βρίσκομαι παράδεισο CHORTATSI, Erof. I.18 (< masc.) εἰς τὴν ἄλυσον Chron. Tourk. Soult. 129.21 μέσα ἀπὸ τὴν κάμινον MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2559 καὶ εὐρέθησαν σὲ σύνοδον (1613, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 2, 308.6) νὰ κερνοῦμεν εἰς τὴν τράπεζον (1634, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 58, 156.12–13) (< τράπεζα) εἰς τὴν ... Ἱεράπετρον LANDOS, Geopon. 146.19 (< τὰ Ἱεράπετρα) δὲν ἐκοβγόντουσαν μὲ τὴν ἄξιον (1667, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 53, 317.13) (< ἄξινη) στήν Πάτινο BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 261.2; στή Μύκονο ibid. 261.3 εἰς τὴν Κίμουλον (1673, Sikinos, ZERLENDIS 1913a: 139.3) καὶ ἀπεκεῖ ἐπῆγα στήν Ζάκυθο (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 507.23) μὲ κάθεν κόπον καὶ ἔξοδον (1687, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005a: 1, 368.7) τὴν σύνοδο, τὴν σύνοδον SPANOS, Grammar 31.11

Vocative

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-ε

The inherited -ε ending is by far the most common throughout the period covered by this Grammar, at least for masculine nouns. As feminine proparoxytone nouns often have abstract meanings, not many examples have been found:

Masculine

Ἄγιε Στέφανε (10th/11th c.?, Tinos, FEISSEL 1980: 14, 490.1) ὦ χρυσόγαμβρε Dig. G IV.693 ποῖσε το, ἀδελφούτισκε Chron. Mor. H 2741 καὶ ἂν ἡμπορεῖς, υἱούτζικε Spaneas Z 4 τότε, ἥλιε, μὴ ἀνατεῖλῃς Vulgärorakel I.275

ὦ μισρὲ σκατόχοιρε Diig. tetr. 436

χαῖρε, κολοκυθοκέφαλε Spanos B 29; πρόδρομε τοῦ ἀντιχρίστου ibid. 39; σκορδοκόπανε ibid. 72

ὦ θάνατε σκοτεινέ, ὦ θάνατε πονιζάμενε Fior 91.37 κύρ γάδαρέ μου Fyll. gadar. 11; γλήγορα σκυλογάδαρε ibid. 159 ὦ βασιλεῦ Ἀλέξανδρε Alex. Rim. 2234; ὦ Βουκέφαλε ibid. 2917 ὕψηλόφρονε Τάρειε Diig. Alex. E 155.8 (Lolos) νιούτσικε TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 270 ὀιμένα, σκύλε Μούστρουχε CHORTATSI, Katz. V.41; κι' ἐσύ, κακὲ Κατζάραττε ibid. V.277

τρῶγε καὶ πίνε, φίλε βάτραχε Vios Aisop. K 203.32

βούβαλε FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.137

ἐλεημοσύνη, καίσαρε Zinon I.175 (< καίσαρος < καίσαρ) αὐθέντη κόνσολε Thrinis Kyp. 7

Feminine

ὦ σύνοδε SPANOS, Grammar 31.11

Addition of final /n/ is very rare: διατ' ἡ καντήλα σ', ἄνθρωπεν, δὲν ἔχει πλέον λάδι Alfav. 11 66 app. crit.

Masc. & Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-o

Vocatives in -o are occasionally found with both masculine and feminine nouns (see also HENRICH 1976): ὦ βασιλιόπουλλο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.5; τση πεθυμιάς παράδεισο CHORTATSI, Panor. II.534; ὦ σύνοδο SPANOS, Grammar 31.11.

Plural

Nominative

Masc. & Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-oi

The inherited nominative plural ending -oi is the only ending for masculine nouns, but no examples have been found of feminine nouns other than, sporadically, in grammars and mixed-register texts:

Masculine

καὶ ὡς ἤσαν οἱ ἄνθρωποι NIKON, Logos 4 206.16

καὶ Ἄραβοι ἐξήσαν Dig. G V.177 (< Ἄραψ) ἡμεῖς οἱ καλόγηροι (1415, Skyros, LEMERLE et al. 1979: App. XVII, 216) τοιοῦτοι ἄνθρωποι Assizes B 282.31; ἐμέτρησάν τα οἱ φιλόσοφοι ibid. 284.15 ἐπνέασιν οἱ ἄνεμοι Achil. N 797 νὰ ζιοῦσιν οἱ κοιλιόδουλοι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 323; διότι ἦσαν συνανάθροφοι ibid. 1354

τὸν εἶχα ἐβγάλει οἱ σύντιχοι (1513, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: (a), 217.8) (= σύνδικοι) οἱ ὀδεῖνες συμπεθεροι Diig. Alex. F 126.18–19 (Lolos) οἱ ἀτσίγγανοι (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 220.25) τοιαῦτα ἐκαρπώνουνταν οἱ ἅγιοι MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 227 οἱ Ἀτζάβολοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 54.11; οἱ Οὔγγαροι ibid. 97.25 (= Οὔγγροι) οἱ Ἄραβοι τοῦ τόπου ἐκείνου (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 337.75) (< Ἄραψ) ἀδελφοὶ Μαρκόπουλοι (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 841, 733.2–3) κάπιοι ἐφημέριοι (1693, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 104, 301.7–8) οἱ ἔγγονοι (1694, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 47, 76.2) ἄγγελοι συντροφίασαν τὴν Thrinos Kypr: 143

Feminine

οἱ ἔρημοι GERMANO, Grammar 59.21

Forms with a shift of the stress to the penultimate have been found of masculine nouns only:¹² οἱ διαδόχοι ἡμῶν (1243, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 293, 410.8) οἱ γαδάροι Diig. tetr: 691 οἱ χρησμοὶ γὰρ καὶ ὄνειροι ERMON., Ilias 2.111 (< AG ὁ ὄνειρος) οἱ καλογέροι (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 176, 120.1) οἱ συντρόφοι σου (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 86.15) κινδύνοι φοβεροὶ Byz. Il. 395; τρεῖς καλογέροι ἐκάθοντα ibid. 444 οἱ ἀνθρώποι SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 124 οἱ δώδεκά του ἀγοῦροι Achil. N 462 πολλοὶ ἅγιοι Krasop. V 81 οἱ ἀνέμοι Defi. Par. 25 ἐπηγαῖναν οἱ ἀνθρώποι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.25; ἦσαν ἀρχιεπισκόποι ibid. 28.8 οἱ ἄγγελοι Thysia Avr. 6; οἱ ἄνθρωποι ibid. 610 δέκα χιλιάδες Βουλγάροι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 38.35 οἱ καλογέροι (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.35) οἱ διαδόχοι τῶν διαδόχων του (1576, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 79, 99.31) οἱ τουρκοκαλογέροι Thrinos Konst. (Zoras) 57 γουμένοι καὶ γουμένισσες DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 666 (< ἡγούμενος) ἀναδόχοι ἦσαν (1695, Cythera, KALLIGEROS 2001: 21, 43.2) οἱ συνδῖχοι SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 37.21 (= σύνδικοι)

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες ἰ -αι

Feminine nouns in -ος show a clear tendency to adopt the more overtly feminine -ες ending (or even sporadically the archaizing -αι ending) of the old 1st declension (feminines in -α and -η):

οἱ ἔξοδες, τὰ πλευτικά πολὺ θέλουν κουστίσει Chron. Mor. H 601 ἔξοδες νὰ γυρίσουν Alex. Rim. 687 διὰ νὰ λείψουν κρίσες, ἔξοδες (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 31, 238.5) αἱ ἔξοδες οἱ ἐδικές σου (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 26, 31.21) διὰ νὰ λείψουν κρίσες καὶ ἔξοδες (1554, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 157, 206.7) οἱ ἄμπελες καὶ οἱ σπορές MILOITIS, Odoiopor. MILOITIS, Odoiopor. 637.32 οἱ ἐπτὰ σύνοδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §20.7 οἱ ἄγνοι Κανόνες καὶ Σύνοδες (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 310.18) οἱ σύνοδες οἱ θεῖες KONDAR., Paidēs 1076 βιβλία β' ὀκτώηχαι (1200, Patmos, ASTRUC 1981: 23.71)

¹² The form is likely to be masculine in the following example: ἀντὰ πληθυνίσκουσιν οἱ ὀξόδοι Fior 102.25.

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-εις/(-οις)

Sporadically one may even encounter what appears to be the ending of former 3rd-declension nouns in -ις (note the use of the archaizing article αἱ); for a discussion see the accusative plural below: αἱ ἐξόδεις καὶ τὰ ἀναλώματα (1439–45, Florence, GILL 1953: II.10, 408.33).

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ε

This unusual ending occurs in a document from Pontos. It is likely to be phonological: a case of lowering of /i/ to /e/ in the environment of liquids and nasals (for details see I, 2.8.1; see also I, 2.5.2): οἱ καλογέρε τοῦ Βαζελών (15th c., Pontos, ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015: 5, 12.7).

Genitive

Masc. & Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ων ὀ -ω ὀ -ωνε

Masculine

The standard ending for the genitive plural of masculine nouns is -ων, and the movement of the stress to the penultimate is generally observed. Examples for the feminine have only been found in grammars:

τῶν ἀγίων ἀποστόλων Vulgärorakel I.379 τόσων καλῶν ἀνθρώπων Pol. Tr. 5631 βιβλία φιλοσόφων Imber. 72; μεγάλων διδασκάλων ibid. 73 τῶν γαϊδάρων Spanos D 962 νᾶ ἔναι τῶν καλογέρων βακούφια (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.45–6) ἄλλουῶν καλογέρων (1588 [17th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 464.25) τῶν ἐκκλησιαστικῶν ἀνθρώπων (1653–55, Venice, FONKIČ 2000: 239, f.1v.2)

Feminine

τῶν ἐρήμων GERMANO, Grammar 59.22 τῶν συνόδων SPANOS, Grammar 31.12

Occasionally forms may be found in which the historical shift of the stress to the penultimate is not observed:

καὶ γὰρ ὁ Ζεὺς γεννητικὸς ἄνεμων τῶν ἀρκτῶν KAMAT., Astron. 2309 φυλὴ δαιμόνων καὶ ἀγριότραγων Spanos D 849 ἀνθρώπων χριστιανῶν (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 36, 37.8) μιὰ πενηταρὰ Ρωμιότουρκω γνῶμες (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 2, 27.6 facs.)

Deletion of final /n/ occurs in texts from Crete, Mani and certain islands in the Aegean:

τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἔν' δυνατὸ FALIEROS, Ist. On. 117
 τῶν αὐτῶν καλογέρω (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 11, 134.15) πολλῶν ἀνθρώπων αἶμα P&N Diath. 497; τῶν ἀγγέλων τῇ φωνῇ ibid. 4443 τῶν Καλογέρων (1611, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: IV, 72.10) αὐτουνοῦ καὶ τῶν διαδόχων του (1630, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 41, 116.11) τὰ κορμιά ὀζῶ, δεντρῶ καὶ ἀθρώπων FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.369 μιὰ πενηταρὰ Ρωμιότουρκων γνῶμες (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 2, 27.6 facs.)

 ἐφημέριο τῆς Κυρίας τῶν Ἀγγέλων (1663, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 5, 415.3) τῶν ἀπομοναρχῶ ἀθρώπων (1668, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 20, 425.14) τῶν ἀνθρώπων (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 481.3)

Addition of -(v)ε occurs in texts from the Heptanese and the Peloponnese, and possibly Crete (see I, 2.6.3.1 for details):

ἐμπιστῶνε ἀθρώπωνε (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 73, 81.5–6) τῶν αὐτῶνε συντρόφωνε (1689, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 40, 74.11) τῶν ἄνωθεν ἐπιτρόπωνε (1708, Peloponnese, PAPADOPOULOS 1976: 6, 124.25) τῶν συνόδωνε SPANOS, Grammar 31.12

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ους

Genitives plural in -ους occur routinely, with masculine nouns only, in texts from Cyprus. An example also occurs in the Chronicle of Papasynadinos (see 2.2.1 and 2.3.3 for more examples), and in a 10th-c. inscription from Paternit, Crimea (see 2.1.2 for a later example from the same area; both examples are discussed in MARKOPOULOS 2010). For a discussion see 1.2. These genitives show a shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate:

ἡγούμενος τῆς μονῆς τοὺς ἁγίους Ἀποστόλους (907, Crimea, LATYSHEV 1896: 69, 75.10–11) τὰ παιδιὰ ἐκείνους τοὺς ἀνθρώπους (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 228.74); καὶ τοὺς ἀνθρώπους καὶ τῶν γυναικῶν (ibid. 254.929) μετὴν βουλήν τοὺς καλοὺς ἀνθρώπους Assizes A 26.17–18 το ἕναν του σιρ Τζαν Τέρρας καὶ το ἄλλον τοὺς ἀθρώπους τῆς χώρας VOUSTR., Chron. A 222.14–15
 τὰ φυσίσματα τοὺς ἀνέμους Fior Suppl. 270.9–10; τὸ τίμασμαν τοὺς ἄτυχους ἀνθρώπους ibid.
 273.15
 τὸ μαναστήρι τοὺς Ἀγίους Ἀποστόλους (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 2, 7.3–4) ἐνορίτης τοὺς Ἀγίους Θεοδώρους PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §18.1–2

Accusative

Masc. & Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ους

The accusative plural ending -ους is the most common ending for masculine nouns. With feminine nouns, which tend to either become masculine or undergo analogical influence from the feminine endings of the old 1st declension (see below), it is much less common. The accusative plural usually retains the historical shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate:

Masculine

τούς ἐλάφους Dig. E 1369 (< fem.)
 καὶ νὰ ἰδῆς τοὺς ἀγριοκάτους Vulgärorakel VII.11 ἐξόδους ἔποικα πολλοὺς Pol. Tr. 1542 app. crit. (A) (< fem.); δύο παιδοπούλους 2546 app. crit. (B) τοὺς πολλοὺς βασάνους Peri xen. 350 (< fem.) γαδάρους ψοφισμένους Poulol. 572 μὲ τοὺς αὐθεντοπούλους (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 290.19–20) μὲ ἐξόδους πολλοὺς (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 66.9–10) (< fem.)
 τοὺς θαλασσίμους, ἤγουν τοὺς ναύτας Assizes A 46.6; ὅλους τοὺς ἐξόδους ibid. 222.19 (< fem.)
 ἀπὲ τοὺς εἰσόδους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 52.23–4 (< fem.); καὶ κ' τουρκοπούλους ibid. 54.35; τοὺς παροίκους ibid. 540.13; ἀποὺ τοὺς ἐξόδους ἀποῦ 'πολομούσασιν ibid. 638.30 (< fem.)
 μὲ τοὺς ἐγγόνους καὶ δισεγγόνους CHEILAS, Chron. 354.8 ἀνακατώθη ... μὲ παπαδοκαλογήρους (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 1, 290.20) διὰ τοὺς καλογέρους τοὺς (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.38) κ' ἐγέμωσαν οἱ ἐκκλησιῆς τοὺς τουρκοκαλογέρους Thrinis Konst. (Zoras) 55 τετούς ἀρχιεπισκόπους (1653–5, Venice, FONKIC 2000: 240, f.1v.13) νὰ διώχνη τοὺς γαιδάρους Vios Aisop. K 205.31

Feminine

ἐξόδους ἔχοντες πολλὰς, εἰσόδους δὲ ὀλίγας Ptoch. II 84 τὰς ἀπείρους ἐξόδους Dig. T 1534 τὶς ἐρήμους GERMANO, Grammar 59.24

The accusative plural can sometimes be found without a shift of the stress:

εἰς χρουσοὺς ἄλυσους Diig. Alex. V 71.26–7 (< fem.)
 ἀπὸ τὸν Μιχαήλ καὶ Ἰωάννην Σαρακηνόπουλους (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 218.46) ὅτι χρεωστῶ σου τέσσερεις χοιρόπουλους (1539, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 964, 756.4–5) ὅχι μὲ ἔξοδους κακὲς DAM. STOD., This., Logos 12, μ5v.22 (1561) ὡσάν ... ἐπίτροπους (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 6, 262.7) ἡδιωξες τοὺς ρηγόπουλους KORNAROS, Erot. V.1411 ma è meglio ἔξοδους GERMANO, Grammar 59.17 διὰ τοὺς κάτοικους (1700, Demesticha, DOKOS 1975: 15, 175.6)

In specific phonetic environments final /s/ may be deleted in texts from south-western areas, e.g. μὲ τοὺς ἀξαδέλφου μας (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 19, 60.5). For details and more examples see I, 3.7.1.1.

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες ἢ -ας

Feminine words in -ος, and especially prefixed forms of ὁδός such as ἔξοδος¹³ and σύνοδος tend to undergo analogical influence from the old 1st declension (feminines in -α and -η), adopting the -ες ending, or sporadically even the archaizing -ας ending:

¹³ In the case of ἔξοδος, this new plural normally means “expenses”, not “exits”, and one can sporadically even find a new singular formation based on this plural: μὲ χαρμοσύνην καὶ χαρὰ καὶ ἔξοδη μεγάλην Chron. Mor. P 8597; ἔνεκα τροφῆς καὶ ἐτέρας ἐξόδης ΔΟΥΚΑΣ, Ist., 289.33.

μὲ ἔξοδες μεγάλες Chron. Mor. H 8597 διὰ τὶς ὁδοὺς (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.15) μὲ ἔξοδες τοῦ αὐτοῦ Κωνσταντῆ (1535, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 4, 120.17) εἰς τὶς ἄμπελές τους Pent. Gen. 25.16 ἀπὸ κακῆς ἔξοδες DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 19, ρ8v.2–3 (1561); μαζώνουνται εἰς τὲς σύνοδες id. Logos 21, φ4v.26
 μὲ σπέζες καὶ ἔξοδες ἐδικῆς του (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 31, 50.15) παράγραφες δὲν ἔχω μπλιὸ στὸ νοῦ μου Stathis I.293 dicono anco l'Accusatiuo Plur. ὁδοὺς GERMANO, Grammar 59.16 τὲς σύνοδες (1623, Bergamo, KORRE 2008: 2, 330.9) ἀπὸ τὲς ἔξοδός του PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.114 διὰ χρέη καὶ ἔξοδες (1702, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 35, 49.10) καὶ πάσας τὰς ἐξόδας (1266, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 303, 434.19) ἔξοδας ἔχουσι πολλὰς Ptoch. II 84 app. crit. (H)

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-οι

An accusative ending -οι, identical to the nominative, has been found in texts from the Cyclades (see 1.3 for details):

ἀποῦ τὶς ἄνωθε καλογιέροι (1576, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 19, 151.17) (for the article τὶς see 5.2.1) καὶ τὶς ἄλλοι σύντροφοι (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 26.34–5) συνρωτήσας ἀνθρώποι πρατικοὶ (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 19, 34.20); καὶ νὰ βάνου ἀνθρώποι νὰ τὸ μοιράζουν (1706, ibid. 67, 78.18)

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-εῖς/-οῖς

With the noun ἔξοδος one may sporadically even encounter what appears to be the ending of former 3rd-declension nouns in -ις (see 2.12.4). However, it is likely that this plural is in fact modelled on the obsolete dative plural ἔξόδοις (as the notary Maras invariably spells it; he has many instances of the form, but always in the same phrase: ἀπάνω εἰς τὰς ἔξόδοις μου/σου/του, etc.). The dative plural regularly appears in stock phrases such as ἔξόδοις καὶ ἀναλώμασι (for the dative see 1.1; also note the use of the archaizing article τὰς in all of the examples below); cf. the nominative plural above:

πάσας τὰς ἔξοδεις (1439–45, Florence, GILL 1953: I.24, 222.29–30); ἔστειλαν κάτεργα καὶ ἔξοδεις (ibid. II.7, 391.16–17); τὰς ἔξοδεις εἰς οὐδὲν ἐλογιζόμεθα (ibid. II.10, 420.30) τὰς ἔξοδεις (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 85, 189.7; ibid. 189.14) ἀπάνω εἰς τὰς ἔξόδοις μας (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 1, 3.9) τὰς ἔξοδεις τοῦ ἐλαιοτριβείου (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 214, 214.9)

Vocative

Masc. & Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-οι

The vocative plural is identical to the nominative:

Masculine

- ἔγῳ ἔκυνήγουν, ἄγουροι Dig. E 505 σύντροφοι, στρατιῶται Achil. O 154 ὦ σύντροφοι ἐδικοί μου Diig. Alex. F 138.14–15 (Lolos) ὦ ἄνθρωποι Δελφοί Vios Aisop. D 243.14 ὦ καλοί μου σύνδουλοι Vios Aisop. K 153.12; ὦ Σάμιοι ibid. 190.9 ἔσεῖς, κουζουλότατοι ἄνθρωποι AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 305 ὦ σύντροφοί μου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2674

Feminine

- ὦ ἔρημοι GERMANO, Grammar 59.25

It can also be found with a shift of the stress to the penultimate (cf. the nominative):

- ἀγοῦροι ἀπὸ τοῦ Λύκαντος, ἀγοῦροι ἀπὸ τὴν βίγλαν Dig. E 921 οὐαί, λέγει, κακότυχοι, ἐντροπιασμένοι ἄνθρωποι Pol. Tr. 3520 συντρόφοι, στρατιῶται Achil. N 249 συντρόφοι ἐδικοί μου PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 292 τυράννοι, ἀκούσετε DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2513 φίλοι καὶ συντρόφοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 380.32 ἄγνωστοι γαῖδάροι Diig. Alex. F 232.18 (Lolos) συντρόφοι μου KONDAR., Paides 102

2.1.4 Transfers to Other Paradigms

Certain nouns in -ος may change gender and develop alternative forms belonging to other paradigms (for feminines see also HATZIDAKIS 1885). Some masculine nouns develop neuter alternatives in -ος (see also 2.23):

- τὸ ἔπαινός του Assizes B 274.27 ὀλίγο δρόσος (15th c., Cyprus?, TSANGALAS 1983: 131.7) τὸ ζήλος FALIEROS, Ist. On. 585 ἐμάζωνε βίος πολὺ VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 115 με μεγάλο θρήνος Theseid VI.62,4 (Olsen) τὸ θρήνος DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 948 ποταμούς καὶ βράχη [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1477 τὰ βράχη (1604, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 146.9)

Other masculine, and sporadically feminine, nouns develop alternative forms according to the neuter paradigm in -ο(ν): some for the plural only (e.g. ὁ βόρβορος, ὁ δεσμός, ὁ πηλός, ὁ λαγκός),¹⁴ while others form neuter singular forms as well (e.g. ὁ κίνδυνος, ἡ βάσανος) (see also 2.19):

- ἐκυλιέτον εἰς τὰ βόρβορα Pist. kekoim. 463 ἄμμη δεσμά καὶ βάσανα GLYKAS, Stichoí 169; ὅπου δεσμά καὶ κάκωσις ibid. 325 ὅμως ὅχι χωρὶς κίνδυνα (1682–9, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 11, 279.249) κυλιοῦνται εἰς τὰ πηλὰ P&N Diath. 368

¹⁴ Both δεσμά and πηλά pre-date the LMedG period, see LSJ, s.v. δεσμός and LAMPE, Lex. s.v. πηλόν.

να βρίσκεται εις τα δεσμά ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 3683 στὰ λαγκά Thysia Avr. 1047 ἐκεῖ ἤτονε τὸ πλεόν κίνδυνον Chron. Tourk. Soult. 84.13 πολλὰ κίντυνα (1710, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 32, 94.7) σὲ βάσανο περισσο CHORTATSI, Erof. I.77

Two paroxytone masculine words, namely λόγος and χρόνος, have alternative neuter plural forms in -ια of the neuter paradigms in -ιον/-ιν (see 2.20). The plural λόγια of τὸ λόγιον “oracle” had begun to mean “sayings, words” in Hellenistic times (see LSJ, s.v.) and thus attached itself as an alternative plural to λόγος. The form is still the most common SMG plural of λόγος meaning “word”. The word χρόνος developed neuter plural forms (now common in SMG) in the later EMG period. These alternative neuter plural forms are used mainly for the nominative and the accusative. Genitives are very rare, appearing for the sake of the metre in Ermoniakos and influenced by the learned original he was translating in Venetzas: τῶν ὑστάτων τῆς λογίων ERMON., Ilias 23.196; με ... ἀκρόασιν τῶν θείων λογίων VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.9.¹⁵ Some LMedG and EMG examples are:

τίτοια λόγια ἤρηνεν Log. parag. L 642 μηδὲν πλανηθῆτε εἰς τῶν Φραγγῶν τὰ λόγια (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.15) ἦσαν με λόγια ἑβραϊκά FALIEROS, Thrinos 6 τῶν θείων λογίων VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.9 τέτοια λόγια (1652, Milos, SYMEONIDIS 1989: 2, 118.7) χρόνια εἰκοσιένα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 569.25 τόσα χρόνια νὰ γυρίζουνε στὰ βουνὰ EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 30.1–4 ἡμεῖς γνωρίζουμάσθε ἀπὸ μικρὰ μας χρόνια Don Kis. 131.8
 με λόγια ἄπρεπα SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 42.37

Sporadically other nouns in -ος may form alternative (non-diminutive) forms in /i(o)(n)/, e.g. με θρηνίον μέγαν καὶ κλαθμόν Diig. Alex. F 138.6 (Lolos) (< ὁ θρήνος); τὰ περικούλα καὶ τὰ φόβια τῆς στράτας (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 49.12) (< ὁ φόβος).

Quite a few masculine nouns in -ος develop alternative singular forms according to the proparoxytone masculine paradigm in -ας (note that the /os/ and the proparoxytone /as/ paradigms have the same endings for gen. sg. – e.g. ἀνθρώπου and κοράκου – and the plural of all cases, see 2.2.5 for details):

μάγειρος > μάγειρας ὄρισα τὸν μάγερα Alex. Rim. 1703 εἰς μάγειρα πλησίον AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 25.1 ὁ μάγειρας PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2143 ἔγγονος > ἔγγονας ἔγγονας Φιλίππου (1047/8, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 4, 81.1) τὸν ἔγγοναν Dig. E 507

κάβουρος > κάβουρας
 ὁ κάβουρας παγαίνει τῆς ἀναποδίας (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 59.3)

¹⁵ In earlier texts τὰ χρόνια (adjective; sc. μνημόσυνα) means “first annual mass”, e.g. πρὶν διαβοῦν τὰ χρόνια τοῦ τεθνεώτος Assizes B 371.21; ἔφθασαν τὰ χρόνια τοῦ θαυμαστοῦ Ἐκτόρου Pol. Tr. 7681 app. crit. (B); νὰ με μνημονεύς ἕως τὰ χρόνια (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 1, 3.15); εἰς τὰ χρόνια ὁ,τι ἐξοδίασα (1642, Crete, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 21, 16.41).

τράχηλος > τράχηλας

εἰς τοῦ φαρίου τὸν τράχηλαν Achil. L 851

κόνσουλος > κόνσουλας

τοῦ κούνσουλα (1582, Patras, ZOIS 1936/37: 17–18, λγ'.3)

Φίλιππος > Φίλιππας

υἱοὶ Φίλιππας καὶ Ἀκριβός (1649–69, Thessaly, SPANOS 2001: 340, f.83r.14)

Transfers to the -ης paradigm (see 2.3) are rarer: μ' ἕναν ἀφέντην Πορτογαλέζη (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 67, f.IV.3); Φραντζέσιδας ΔΟΥΚΑΣ, Hist. 52.12; Γενιτζάριδας ibid. 67.12; ἔλειπεν ὁ γάτης | κι ἀντὶς τὸν γάτον πῆγα ἐγὼ Fyll. gadar. 173–4 (< κάττος < Lat. cattus). However, they do occur routinely, through the attachment of a derivational suffix, with certain proper names such as Ἀγγελος, Αὔγουστος, Θεόδωρος, Λάζαρος, Πέτρος and others, some of which become oxytone in the process, e.g. τοῦ προειρημένου Θεοδωρῆ (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 183.24); τοῦ ποτὲ Ἀγουστῆ Κορφιάτη (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 55, 48.5); ὁ ἄνωθεν κύρ Ἀγγελῆς (1631, Kefalonia, PETROPOULOS 1962: B.1, 309.12); ὁ κύρ Θεοδωρῆς Καλιμάνης (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 2, 30.3); τοῦ ἄνωθεν κύρ Κωνσταντῆ (1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 703, 607.10–11); κύρ Στεφανῆ Πουλιώτη (1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 200, 168.22); Πετρῆς Φρουδίτης στέργω (1685, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 3, 126.27).

Sporadically feminine nouns in -ος may become neuters in -ος (2.23): τὸ Σκιάθος (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 142.11); or in -ο(ν) (2.19): τὸ Σκούπελο ἔχει β' νησόπουλα (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 142.7) (< ἡ Σκόπελος). In the War of Troy the masculine word μεγιστάνος (< μεγιστάν) has a feminine counterpart (plural only): ὅλας τὰς μεγιστάνας Pol. Tr. 1840 (reading of mss AX); ὅλες τὲς μεγιστάνες ibid. app. crit. (BV).

MASCULINE

2.2 Masculine Nouns in /as/

The AG 1st-declension nouns in -ας, very limited in number, were paroxytone,¹⁶ parisyllabic and had gen. sg. in -ου, at least in Attic (e.g. νεανίας, νεανίου). Early on they started to follow the declensional pattern of the new paradigm in -ας in the singular, a pattern that would eventually become dominant for the singular of most masculine nouns ending in vowel + final /s/ (with the exception of those in /os/, see 2.1): nom. sg. in -ς; gen. acc. and voc. drop -ς; acc. may preserve -ν.¹⁷ Gen. sg. in -α instead of -ου can occasionally already be found in AG and had become common by the time of the grammarian Herodian (2nd c. AD); see DIETERICH 1898: 171, whose earliest example dates from the 5th c. BC (proper name Φιλέας); see also HATZIDAKIS 1892: 76–7; JANNARIS 1897: 108; SEILER 1958: 54; GIGNAC 1981: 14; PSALTES 1913: 139–40; HORROCKS 2010: 286. Their nominative plural ending was originally -αι and their accusative -ας, but both gradually changed to -ες by analogy with 3rd-declension nouns, which had followed the same development considerably earlier (JANNARIS 1897: 106–7; DIETERICH 1898: 156–7; SEILER 1958: 55; GIGNAC 1981: 46–7); cf. masculine nouns in /is/ (2.3) and feminine nouns in /a/ and /i/ (2.11, 2.12). By the beginning of the period covered by this Grammar this small group of nouns had become obsolete and occurs only residually, with the exception of proper names such as Ζαχαρίας and Ἀνδρέας.

¹⁶ Unless they were the result of contraction, as is the case with βορρᾶς (< βορέας).

¹⁷ The development of the genitive in /a/ is clear: it is formed from the nominative by omitting final /s/. Writing the genitive of oxytone nouns with a circumflex, as if it were a contracted form, instead of an acute is therefore unnecessary.

In Ionic and later in Attic a group of oxytone masculine nouns in -ᾱς had emerged, consisting mainly of proper names and hypocoristics, i.e. pet names and nicknames (JANNARIS 1897: 110; DIETERICH 1898: 166–7; PETERSEN 1937: 121), and therefore largely lacking a plural. From the very beginning these nouns had genitives in -ᾱ, not in -οῦ. The origin of this group of nouns is unknown, but they have little to do with the 1st declension (CHANTRAINE ²1984: 56). When in Hellenistic and Roman times the oxytone -ᾱς ending started to be used to denote profession, they were in need of a plural (CHANTRAINE ²1984: 56 mentions κλειδᾱς and μαχαίρᾱς;¹⁸ also consider loanwords such as ἄββᾱς, a fully declined singular of which is frequent in the 4th-c. Apophthegmata). In Ionic and the Koine these nouns had genitives in -ᾱδος (JANNARIS 1897: 110–11; DIETERICH 1898: 166–7; CHANTRAINE ²1984: 56; see also PETERSEN 1937: 121–2, who provides inscriptional evidence from the 5th c. BC onwards), a formation similar to 3rd-declension oxytone nouns in -ᾱς such as νομάς, φαγᾱς and φυγᾱς, which had gen. in -ᾱδος and nom. pl. in -ᾱδες. What emerges then is in fact a new paradigm, with parisyllabic singular forms and an imparisyllabic plural.

The imparisyllabic plural in nom. -ᾱδες, acc. -ᾱδας, gen. -ᾱδων¹⁹ is securely attested from the MedG period onwards; see among others SOPHOCLES, Lex. 34; JANNARIS 1897: 111; DIETERICH 1898: 166–7 and PSALTES 1913: 168–70, who quote multiple examples from Theophanes (8th/9th c.) and De Ceremoniis (10th c.). According to HORROCKS ²2010: 287–8 the development is already apparent in texts of Hellenistic and Roman times, though he does not give any specific examples. The earliest examples so far of an imparisyllabic plural of one of the new non-1st-declension nouns can be found in the Acts of the Council of Constantinople/Jerusalem (a. 536), where there are seven mentions of a μονή τῶν Εὐκρατάδων (ed. Schwartz; see also the online TLG).²⁰ Further examples ¹⁸ PETERSEN 1937: 125 mentions the word ἐμβᾱδᾱς “cobbler” in Theopompos (5th/4th c. BC), which, however, still has a derisive connotation.

¹⁹ The use of the acute versus the circumflex was entirely graphematic after the loss of vowel length distinction. Therefore in this Grammar the acute will be employed.

²⁰ There is circumstantial evidence that -ᾱδες became productive for masculine nouns in /as/ quite early on. Consider the following example from Gregory of Nazianzos (4th c. AD; ed. Migne): ἀκτέανοι, κινυροὶ χαμαιευνάδες, οἰοχίτωνες | βαιὸν ἀναπνεύοντες, ἀγαστορες ... “poor, wailing, who sleep on the ground wearing only a tunic, barely breathing, fasting ...”. The plural χαμαιευνάδες is otherwise attested in Homer and in Euboulos (4th c. BC). In Homer it is a 3rd-declension feminine adjective: σῦες χαμαιευνάδες “sows that sleep on the ground”. In Euboulos it is used pejoratively referring to philosophers: οὗτοι ἀνιπτόποδες χαμαιευνάδες ἀερίοικοι Euboulos, Fragm. 139.1 (ed. Kock) “those [philosophers] with their dirty feet who sleep on the ground and dwell in the air”; as such it could be interpreted as a feminine (“who are on-the-ground-sleeping [sows]”), though it cannot be excluded entirely that it was intended as a masculine. In Gregory of Nazianzos, however, the form is clearly masculine, referring in a positive sense to the humility of monks.

can be found in Leontios of Neapolis's Life of Symeon the Holy Fool and Life of John the Almsgiver (7th c.): ἤρξαντο καταλέγειν εἰς ἀββάδας Leontios, Symeon 91.17–18 (eds. Festugière/Rydén);²¹ τοῦ κυροῦ Ἰωάννου καὶ τοῦ κυροῦ Σωφρονίου τῶν εὐκρατάδων id., John 373.33–4. Imparissyllabic plurals in -άδες are also found in MedG high-register texts: ἵνα μὴ μόνον κρυπτοὶ κερατάδες ᾗτε Arethas, Scripta minora 26, 240.13 (10th c.; ed. Westerink);²² and the fact that the earliest examples within the period covered by this Grammar are place names clearly indicates that the ending was common in the spoken language, e.g. εἰς τὸ χωρίον Κλαπατουράδες (1047, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 29, 258.34);²³ νῆσος ἡ λεγομένη Καυκανάδες (ibid. 260.77); τὸ νησίον οἱ Καυκανάδες (1104 [14th-c. copy], Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 52, 233.194). The imparissyllabic plural then underwent a change in the ending from nom. -άδες/ acc. -άδας to nom./acc. -άδες, following a trend that had already set in with 3rd-declension consonant stems in the Roman period (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 379; DIETERICH 1898: 155–8; HORROCKS 2010: 117 and 286–7). The -άδες plural is the dominant plural for oxytone masculine nouns in -άς in the period covered by this Grammar, also extending to loanwords from Turkish and other languages.

New -ας paradigms emerged with the demise of the 3rd declension, which saw many words obtaining a new paroxytone or proparoxytone nom. sg. in -ας, built on the analogy of the accusative singular, which with the loss of vowel length distinction and the subsequent addition of final /n/ had become identical to the acc. sg. of the 1st declension (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 79–80 and DIETERICH 1898: 158–62). Written evidence for this transition, in the form of a nominative singular in -ας, has not been found before the 5th c. AD:²⁴ a proper name ὁ Ἰέρακας (< ἰέραξ) appears twice in the Life of Epiphanius (late 5th c.): τὸ δὲ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ ἐκαλεῖτο Ἰέρακας (PG 41, 57B) and καὶ ἦν Ἰέρακας ἀναυδὸς διαμένων (ibid. 60A; both quoted in JANNARIS 1897: 122). An even earlier example appears to be the ²¹ Note that the word had also entered the derivational system, as the same Leontios in his Life of John the Merciful also has the following derived form, based on the extended dental stem ἀββαδ-: ἀληθῶς καλὸν ἀββαδόπουλον ἐγέννησας Leontios, Ioannis Eleimon 400.27 (eds. Festugière/Rydén).

²² “Archaized” nominatives plural in -άδαι, which conflate the new nom. pl. ending -άδες with the ending -αι of the old 1st declension, can occasionally be found in texts that aim at a high register, but have not been found in the texts examined for this Grammar.

²³ Cf. γῆς ... ὀνομαζομένης τοῦ Κλαπατουρά (1321, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 108, 195.304).

²⁴ An oft-quoted form ἀέρας in a 2nd/3rd-c. papyrus is unlikely to be an innovative nom. sg. of ἀήρ, as the passage does not make much sense: ἐπικαλοῦμαι σε πάση φωνῇ, τὸν τὰ πάντα περιέχοντα· καὶ πάση διαλέκτῳ ὑμῶν σε ἐγώ, ὡς πρῶτος ὑμνησέ σ' ὁ ὑπὸ σέ ταχθεὶς καὶ πάντα πιστευθεὶς τὰ αὐθεντικά, ἥλιος Ἀχεβυχρωμ'· ὁ ἡμνουέτ' τοῦ δίσκου τὴν φλόγα καὶ τὴν ἀκτίνα, οὗ ἡ δόξα· ααα, ηηη, ωωω, ὅτι διὰ σ' ἐνεδοξάσθη· ἀέρας, εἶθ' ὡσαύτως ἀλλομορφούμενος, τοὺς ἀστέρας ἱστάς, καὶ τῷ φωτὶ τῷ ἐνθῷ κτίζων τὸν κόσμον, ἐν ᾧ δὲ ἔστις τὰ πάντα (LEEMANS 1885: 117) “I call upon Thee loudly, Thee who comprises all; and I praise Thee in every language, as first praised Thee he who is subject to Thee and is entrusted with all things authoritative, [the] sun Achebychrom; who [...] the flame and the beam of the disk, to whom glory be; aaa, iii, ooo, as the Sun is glorified because of you; air (?), and then disguised in the same manner, having placed the stars [on the firmament] and building with Thy divine light the world, in which Thou made everything.” It is more likely that we should read ὅτι διὰ σ' ἐνεδοξάσθη [sc. <ὁ> ἥλιος, the sun, who here equals the demiurg]· ἀείρας (masc. aor. part. of ἀείρω) “having raised up ... and placed the stars, etc.”. There are other instances in the ms where the scribe confuses /i/ and /e/, see LEEMANS 1885: 79. Furthermore the lemma ρήγας in SOPHOCLES, Lex. s.v. is based on an accusative ρῆγαν in Anon. 358.9, which could be the old acc. ρῆγα (+ final /n/) of ρῆξ, and does not prove the existence of a nom. sg. ρῆγας in the 10th c.

following in a fragmentary work attributed to the astrologer Antiochos of Athens (2nd c. AD): μοιχαλὶς γενήσεται ἡ γυνή καὶ ὁ ἄνδρας βαιοθάνατος ANTIOCHOS, Fragm. 109.7 (ed. Boll); some caution is due, though, as the attribution seems far from secure and the text may well be Byzantine (the ms, Monac. gr. 287, dates to the late 14th c.). Some of these new former 3rd-decl. nouns in /as/ adopted the imparisyllabic plural in -άδες, but most of them did not (see below). In the period covered by this Grammar new paroxytone nouns in /as/ were also derived from loanwords from Italian, Turkish and Slavic. These new words demonstrate a clear preference for the plural in -άδες.

The LMedG and EMG nouns in /as/ can be divided into five sub-paradigms, each with their own characteristics. Sub-paradigm 2.2.1 comprises oxytone and paroxytone nouns with an imparisyllabic plural in -άδες:²⁵ the oxytone nouns denote profession, rank or title (μυλωνάς, παπάς, ἄββάς, ἀμνιάς), or physical/personal characteristics (κερατάς, παλληκαράς), and the paradigm also includes a group of later loanwords from Turkish (ἀγάς, καμουχάς, Μουσταφάς) and the regional form ξυλαλάς (< ξυλαλόη), which occurs in texts from south-eastern areas such as Cyprus and Rhodes. The group of paroxytone nouns includes later loanwords from Italian, Slavic and Turkish (πάπας, βοεβόδας, χότζας), personal and family names such as Νικήτας, Μιχολίνας, and pet names such as κύρκας, υἱόκας and γρίβας, which rarely form a plural; the sub-paradigm further includes the few inherited former 1st-declension nouns (e.g. Ζαχαρίας), which rarely appear in the plural, unless the word is used as a family name, e.g. οἱ ἄνωθεν Ἰωάννης καὶ Μανέας Ζαχαρίας (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 257α, 255.1); τοῦ κύρ Ἰωάννου Ζαχαρίου (ibid. 257, 254.2); τῶν ἄνωθεν Ζαχαριάδων (ibid. 255.19) (for plural formations of personal names see also 2.10). Some former 3rd-declension nouns, which usually transfer to sub-paradigm 2.2.5, are sometimes reanalysed as belonging to sub-paradigm 2.2.1: ἐλέφας, which usually is reformed to ἐλέφαντας:²⁶ ὥσπερ λέφας Spanos D 1687; τοῦ ἐλέφα Diig. tetr. 977; ἔμοιαζεν ὥσπερ λέφα Alex. Rim. 2071; Πεντακοσίους ἤφεραν τότε σ' ἐμὲν λεφάδες Alex. Rim. 2569; and γίγας, which usually becomes γίγαντας: τοῦ Ἰασοῦ τοῦ γίγα Pol. Tr. 137.

Sub-paradigm 2.2.2 consists of paroxytone nouns with a parisyllabic plural in -ες or, rarely, an imparisyllabic plural in -άδες; this sub-paradigm includes disyllabic nouns which derive from monosyllabic former 3rd-declension nouns such as μήνας (< μήν, acc. μήνα(ν)), γύπας (< γύψ, acc. γύπα(ν)); it also includes the word ἄνδρας (< ἀνὴρ, acc. ἄνδρα(ν)). These nouns have parisyllabic plural formations and a strong tendency to retain their 3rd-declension genitive singular in -ός. Their genitive plural usually retains the historical shift of the stress to the ultimate.

Sub-paradigm 2.2.3 is a two-word paradigm that covers the loanwords ρήγας (< ρήξ, acc. ρήγα(ν) < Lat. rex) and δούκας (< δούξ, acc. δούκα(ν) < Lat. dux). These two nouns show similarities with sub-paradigm 2.2.2 in the singular, but show a preference for the imparisyllabic plural in -άδες of sub-paradigm 2.2.1, probably because they belong to the same semantic field of profession/rank/title as many of the nouns in 2.2.1.

²⁵ Note that an imparisyllabic plural of the paroxytone word Ἀκαρνάνας can be found in the Souda Lexicon (10th c.): οἱ δὲ Ἀκαρνανάδες Souda s.v. ἀπαλγοῦντες.

²⁶ A proparoxytone form ἔλεφας appears in Diig. tetr. for metrical reasons (before the caesura): τότε ἐλθὼν ὁ ἔλεφας Diig. tetr. 904.

Sub-paradigm 2.2.4 covers paroxytone nouns in /as/ with a parisyllabic plural in -ες; this sub-paradigm includes words of more than two syllables (cf. the disyllabic paradigm 2.2.2), mostly derived from plurisyllabic oxytone former 3rd-declension nouns (liquid and nasal stems) such as ἀστέρας (< ἀστήρ, acc. ἀστέρα(ν)), λιμένας (< λιμήν, acc. λιμένα(ν)), πατέρας (< πατήρ, acc. πατέρα(ν)), χειμώνας (< χειμών, acc. χειμώνα(ν)). Not many new nouns are formed according to this sub-paradigm, though a few examples are words indicating a place with specific characteristics such as λιμ(ν)ιώνας (port), δενδριώνας (woodland) and παλιουρίλας (thicket of crown-of-thorns shrubs), formed by analogy with words such as ἀμπελώνας (vineyard), ἐλαιώνας (olive grove) and καλαμιώνας (reed-bed): ὅπου ἦτον ὁ λιμιώνας Chron. Mor. H 9203; ἦτον πολὺς δενδριώνας Dig. E 1623; καλαμιώνας, παλιουρίλας, Μαραθώνας SOFIANOS, Grammar 45.29.

Finally, sub-paradigm 2.2.5 includes all proparoxytone nouns in -ας with a parisyllabic plural in -ες or -οι, derived from paroxytone 3rd-declension nouns based on their consonantal stems, such as αὐτοκράτορας (< αὐτοκράτωρ, acc. αὐτοκράτορα(ν)); γέροντας (< γέρων, acc. γέροντα(ν)); δαίμονας (< δαίμων, acc. δαίμονα(ν)); ἔρωτας (< ἔρως, acc. ἔρωτα(ν)); κόμιτας (< κόμη, acc. κόμιτα(ν)); κόρακας (< κόραξ, acc. κόρακα(ν)); and many others. It also includes new proparoxytone nouns, including loanwords, such as ἀγκούτσakas, ζήτουλας, λούμπινας, κάπονας, κάρλακας, κόστινας, words in -ακας (e.g. μεθύστακας) and others. This -ας paradigm has alternative endings for gen. sg. and nom./voc. and acc. pl. influenced by the /os/ paradigm. These alternative endings had come into being long before the LMedG period, and become especially frequent in texts of the LMedG and EMG periods; see DIETERICH 1898: 163 and GIGNAC 1981: 44–5, who quote a genitive singular ἄλεκτόρου from a 4th-c. papyrus.

Transfers between the sub-paradigms are limited to compound words derived from oxytone nouns such as παπάς and ἀγάς, which may remain oxytone: πρωτοπαπὰς τῆς νήσου Ζίας (1594, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 57, 80.16); or become proparoxytone, thus transferring to sub-paradigm 2.2.5: τὸν ἀπόπαπαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 566.23; κύρ Νικόλας τοῦ Κουλίπαπα υἱὸς (1503, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 112, 222.2); γιανιτζάραγαν MAXIMOS, Synax. Ag. Nik. 137.8–9 (< Turk. yeniçeri ağa); πρωτόπαπας, ὁ Ντεβήσαγας PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §30.5. These compounds, however, retain the imparisyllabic plural of the oxytone sub-paradigm: φραγκοπαπάδες, λαϊκοὶ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 176.4.

Quite a few masculine nouns in -ος develop alternative nom., acc. and voc. sg. forms in accordance with the proparoxytone masculine paradigm in -ας (sub-paradigm 2.2.5) due to the fact that the proparoxytone /as/ paradigm shares alternative endings for gen. sg. and all cases in the plural with the /os/ paradigm (see below and 2.1.3). Thus, among many others, μάγειρος may become μάγειρας: ὅρισα τὸν μάγερα Alex. Rim. 1703; εἰς μάγειρα πλῆσιον ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 25.1; τὸν μάγειραν Theophr. Char. 121.27; τοῦ μαστρὸ Μαρτίνου μάγειρα Bertoldos 82.23; ὁ μάγειρας PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2143; ἔγγονος can become ἔγγονας (cf. fem. ἡ ἐγγόνα for ἡ ἐγγόνῃ, see the introduction to 2.11): ἔγγονας Φιλίππου (1047/8, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 4, 81.1); τὸν ἔγγοναν Dig. E 507; ἔγγονας Chron. Toc. 1029; τοῦ ἔγγονά μου (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 8, 7.8); μετὰ τὸν αὐτὸ ἔγγονά της (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 610, 841.25); κάβουρος has an alternative κάβουρας: ὁ κάβουρας παγαίνει τῆς ἀναποδίας (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 59.3); με κάβουρα ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 69.1; ὁ κάβουρας, τοῦ καβούρου, τὸν κάβουρα, ὦ κάβουρα GERMANO, Grammar 60.2–6; κόνσουλος may become κόνσουλας (κούνσουλας): τοῦ κούνσουλα (1582, Patras, ZOIS 1936/37: 17–18, λγ'.3); Νικόλαος may become Νικόλας through vowel deletion (see I, 2.9.2.1): τοῦ Νικόλα Κάλπο (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 2, 18.13); Φίλιππος may become Φίλιππας: υἱοὶ Φίλιππας καὶ Ἀκριβός (1649–69, Thessaly, SPANOS 2001: 340, f.83r.14); and Ματθαῖος has a variant Ματθίας: ὁ Ματθίας SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 15.8. Transfers from the /os/ paradigm to the oxytone -άς paradigm are much rarer: εἰς τῶνο Καλογεράδω ἀμπέλια (1685, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 73, 60.9) (< place name Καλογεράδες < Καλογεράς; for τῶνο see I, 2.6.3).

Nouns derived from Turkish nouns in /e/ may also develop alternative forms in -άς (e.g. λουφές, μπαχτζές): ἐπερίσσευε τὸν λοφᾶ τοὺς Chron. Tourk. Soult. 125.14; καὶ τὸν μπαχτζιά ἐφκίασεν ὑπέρκαλα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §19.17. Some Turkish nouns in /e/ appear only to have formed Greek nouns in -άς: ὁ ζαλαχανάς, ἤγουν τὸ μακελεῖον τῆς πόλεως (16th c., Constantinople?, BENEŠEVIĆ 1919: 408.14) (< Turk. selhane).

Occasionally feminine nouns in -α and feminine former 3rd-declension nouns may transfer to the masculine sub-paradigms 2.2.5 (proparoxytone) and 2.2.4 (paroxytone) through grammatical gender change: ὁ λαίλαπας ἐτοῦτος Jonas 214.33 (< ἡ λαίλαψ); εἰς τοὺς γαλιότες (1684, Patmos, HOFMANN 1928: 9a, 70.21) (< ἡ γαλιότα); ᾗ τὸ μήλιγγάν του P&N Diath. 3046 (< ἡ μήνιγξ); διὰ τὸν Ἀλασσόνα (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 10, 307, f.1r.14) (< ἡ Ἐλασσών); τοῦ Ἀλασσόνος (ibid. 307.15 (1r)); ᾗ τὸν Λάρνακαν Thrinok. Kypr. 162 (< ἡ Λάρναξ); even the foreign place name Ancona may sporadically become masculine, probably by association with ἀγκών/ἀγκώνας: στὸν Ἀγκόνα (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.Address); τοῦ Ἀγκόνος (ibid.).

Two especially inventive new formations are ὁ Φράντσας and ὁ Σπάνιας, derived from the genitives singular τῆς Φράντσας (of France) and τῆς Σπάνιας (of Spain) and denoting the respective kings of these countries (ὁ ρήγας τῆς Φράντσας/Σπάνιας): ὁ Φράτσας KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VI.221; τοῦ Φράντσα τὸ στρατόπεδον ibid. VII.300; τὸν Φράντσα νὰ διώξωμεν ibid. V.42; ὁ Σπάνιας ibid. VIII.11; τοῦ Σπάνια ibid. VIII.137; ἐπῆρεν ὁ Σπάνιας τὴν Γένουβαν (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.IV, 260.86.1); τοῦ ρηγὸς τοῦ Σπάνια (16th c. [18th-c. ms], Unknown, ibid. 59.IV, 444.32.5); εἶν' ὁ Σπάνιας ᾗ σιμὰ DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 165; μόνον θέλομε τὸν Σπάνια ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 49.23. In verse texts the noun Μάης (< Μάιος) may become Μᾶς through contraction: ἔρχεται ὁ Μᾶς Flor. L 1547 (Cupane); καὶ Μᾶ κατακαμμένη Dimotiko (Lambros) 5; ὁ βασιλείας τῶν μηνῶν ὁ Μᾶς λογιάζω εἶναι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2395.

A feminine noun in -ή that gave rise to a new masculine form is the word κεφαλή (pl. κεφαλές or κεφαλᾶδες), which has a plural-only masculine derivative οἱ κεφαλᾶδες meaning “heads, leaders”, belonging to paradigm 2.2.1: τοὺς κεφαλᾶδες Chron. Mor. H 2894; οἱ πρῶτοι κεφαλᾶδες ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 53.11, cf. καὶ κεφαλὴν τοὺς ἔδωσε ἄρχοντα γιαννινιώτην Chron. Toc. 2076. The singular κεφαλάς has an entirely different meaning and is only used as a nickname (“big-head”) and by extension as a surname: Γιούργης Κεφαλάς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 256, 254.15). A similar innovative formation, derived from a feminine loanword, is the following: οἱ Σανιτάδες Stathis III.81 “health inspectors” (< Ven. Sanità); τῶν Σανιτάδων PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 118.15; οἱ Σανιτάδες ibid. 118.20. Other plural-only nouns include dvandva compounds such as the following: καὶ ᾠγουμενοπαπάδες Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1228 (“abbots and priests”); πατεροπαπάδες P&N Diath. 741 (“father-priests”).

The AG noun πῆχυς may occasionally transfer to the masculine -ας paradigm (as well as to feminines in -α and especially -η, see the introductions to 2.11 and 2.12): ἦσαν σκορπίοι φοβεροί, πασάνας ἔναν πῆχαν Alex. Rim. 2057; μέ κέρατα καὶ με αὐτία ἔναν πῆχαν Diig. Alex. V 30.29; ὁ πῆχας ἔναι μακρὺς ἐπτὰ ποδάρια KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 298.3–4; ἔναν πῆχαν ibid. 411.5–6.

Finally, an innovative plural formation is the following, derived from the neuter noun τὸ σέλας, reinterpreted as a masculine ὁ σέλας with an imparisyllabic plural: οἱ δὲ καὶ καθ’ ὑπόστασιν σελάδες καὶ κομῆται KAMAT., Astron. 3182.

For nouns in -έας, e.g. the old 1st-declension Ἄνδρέας, βορέας and new formations such as βασιλέας (< βασιλεύς) see 2.4. For the plural formation of surnames in /as/, which show more variation than other nouns, see 2.10.

2.2.1 Oxytone and Paroxytone Nouns with Imparisyllabic Plural

	General		Restricted		Rare
Singular
Nom.	παπάς/παπαῖς	μπάρμπας
Gen.	παπαῖ	μπάρμπα	-ου -ός	-ου -ός	-οῦ -άδος
Acc.	παπά(ν)	μπάρμπα(ν)
Voc.	παπά	μπάρμπα
Plural
Nom.	παπάδες	μπαρμπάδες	-άς	-ηδες	-άδοι	-ες
Gen.	παπάδων	μπαρμπάδων	παπάδω παπάδωνε παπάδες	μπαρμπάδω μπαρμπάδωνε μπαρμπάδες	-αδῶν	-ων -ηδων
Acc.	παπάδες	μπαρμπάδες	παπαδάς -άς	μπαρμπάδας -ηδες	-άδους	-ας
Voc.	παπάδες	μπαρμπάδες

Singular*NominativeMasc.*

Sg.	Nom.	-άς -ας

There is very little variation in the nominative singular of this paradigm:

- Ἰωάννης ὁ Μαρμαρᾶς (1073, Constantinople?, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 50, 11.144)
 Γεώργιος ὁ Τσικαλᾶς (1103, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 51, 208.69) ἄμιράς (12th c., Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 19, 418.15) Βασίλειος Καρβουνᾶς (mid-12th c., S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 43, 224.105) ὁ μισίρ Μπελᾶς Chron. Mor. 7382 (< Fr. proper name Bela (de Saint-Omer)); ὁ μισίρ Ντζῆς ibid. 7740 (< Fr. Jean) ὁ καρκατσᾶς Ptoch. I 35 ἔαν ἦμουν ὀξυγαλατᾶς Ptoch. III 176; καταβλαττᾶς ἂν ἔμαθον ibid. 181 Νικόλαος ὁ Τοξαράς (ca. 1300, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 91, 105.64) ὁ δὲ παπᾶς Γαριάνος (1316, Constantinople, HUNGER/KRESTEN 1981: 42, 298.8) οὔτε τζαγγάρης ἦ σελᾶς Diig. tetr. 389 εἰς τὴν τζιμνίαν ξυλαῖας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 82.21 χαλιναράς (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 5, 9.2) χαλκωματᾶς, βελονᾶς (1510, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 19, 34.28) ἄρσανᾶς (1547, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 56, 176.12) Νικολὸ Περιπτερᾶς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 38, 37.1) φεῖτιφᾶς αβγήκε MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 218.16–19 ἀγουροφᾶς ἐκέρδιζε καὶ ὠριμοφᾶς ἐζήτα Paroim. (Warner) 31.5 ὄλος ὁ ἀραστᾶς PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.8 (< Turk. arasta); ἔαν ἐγίνονταν ἡ καβγάς ἡ αἶμα ibid. §29.37–8; ὁ πασιᾶς ibid. §31.213; εἶναι ... ὑπνοφᾶς ibid. III §31.27 ὁ σιδεράς (1652, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 70, 180.3) ὁ ἐπίλοιπος ραγιάς (1677, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 24, 92.7) καμουχᾶς κόκκινος (1687, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 709, 961.34) ὁ Δαλαῖ Λαμᾶς VATATZIS, Periig. II 291 ἦκουσε νεανίας Dig. G IV.629
 Θεόδωρος ὁ Γρίβας (1316, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1994: 74, 198.92) ὁ Πάπας, ὡς τὸ ἦκουσεν Chron. Mor. H 483 ὁ πανευτυχέστατος βοῖβόδας (1369/70, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 29, 114.49) ὁ γρίβας μου Dig. E 1536
 ὁ υἱόκας Arm. 120
 εἷς μου μπάρπας εἶχε γυναῖκα (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 21.26–7) ἐγίνης κύρκας πέπανος Love poems V 494 (< κύρκος, see KYRIAKIDIS 1923) ἵνα χέζης ὀρθοστεκάμενος ὡσὰ λέφας Spanos B 107–8 (< 3rd-decl. ἐλέφας) ὁ νεανίας ἔρχεται Anak. Konst. 115 ὁ ποδότας Poulol. 542 app. cr. (CV) ὁ Πτολομαῖος ὁ βοεβόντας Diig. Alex. F 140.21 (Lolos) παλιουρίλας, Μαραθῶνας SOFIANOS, Grammar 45.29 ὁ μπάρμπας μου (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 36.12) ἐγὼ Ἰσαῖας ἱερομόναχος (1639, Cyclades, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 3, 112.3) κολέγας του (1709, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1938: 3, 298.10) (< Ital. collega)

Deletion of final /s/ has been found in documents from the Heptanese and the Aegean, probably influenced by Italian: ἐγὼ Δῆμος Ἀντριόλα βεβαιώνω (1619, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 1, 187.29–30); Νικόλα τοῦ Κουλουλία μαρατυρῶ (1675, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 53, 48.16) (= μαρτυρῶ, see I, 2.6.2). The following example: ἄσπρη, ξανθὴ πανέμνοστη, ὁ κύρκας τῆς μισσεύει Dimotiko (Lambros) 1, is likely to be influenced by the vocative, which is the most common case for this medieval “pet name” (for its etymology from κύρκος, “harrier”, see KYRIAKIDIS 1923). For invariable proclitic forms of address that also derive from the vocative, see 2.18.

Genitive

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ά -α

The most common ending for the genitive singular is /a/:

- Κύριλλον τοῦ Πιθαρχᾶ (1018, Athos, ŽIVOJINOVIC et al. 1998: 1, 94.4) τοῦ Μυλωνᾶ (ca. 1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 172.156) Ἰωάννου νοταρίου τοῦ Ἀντζᾶ (1089, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 53.44); κυροῦ Νεοφύτου τοῦ Ἀμπελᾶ (1271, ibid. 70, 201.28) τοῦ Κρεβατᾶ (1104 [14th-c. copy], Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 52, 235.247) τοῦ Κοσκινᾶ (1162, Thessaloniki, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 64, 331.8) τοῦ Ἀμυγδαλᾶ (11th–13th c.?, Athens, GRANSTREM et al. 1976: A1, 38.23) τοῦ Κολοκυνθᾶ (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 35.89) τὸν ρύακα τοῦ Καλαθᾶ (1300, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 90, 87.202) τοῦ Καθαροψωμᾶ (1316, Constantinople, ŽIVOJINOVIC et al. 1998: 33, 231.27) Δαμαλᾶ Chron. Mor. H 1498 Ψησίου τοῦ λογαρά Opsarol. 6 περὶ τοῦ ξυλαλᾶ Assizes B 488.23 τοῦ ζευγᾶ (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 31, 69.39) ὁ Μηνᾶς, τοῦ Μηνᾶ SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.18²⁷ τοῦ καθενὸς μαχαλᾶ (1572, Peloponnese, VEIS 1956: 447.21) λέγει τοῦ πασά MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 219.29 τοῦ πατᾶ (1654, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 15, 370.31) τὴν μιαρότατη τοῦ Σατανᾶ φιλενάδα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 26.9–10 τοῦ αγά τοῦ Don Kis. 47.30–31; κανενού ψαρά ibid. 337.6
- διὰ χειρὸς Νικήτα βιβλιοφύλακος (1042, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 26, 242.34) Χριστίνας ... καὶ Ζαχαρία (1098–1103, Athos, LEFORT ET AL. 1990: 48, 188.17) τοῦ πανευτυχεστάτου βοιβόδα (1369/70, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 29, 115.56) πατέρας τοῦ Ζαχαρία (1447, Corfu, EFSTRATIADIS 1925: 50.1–2) τοῦ βοηβόντα τοῦ τοῦ Πτολομαίου Diig. Alex. E 271.19 (Lolos) ὁ Ἀντίπας, τοῦ Ἀντίπα SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.18–19 τὰ χρυσὰ ἔπη τοῦ Πυθαγόρα (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.19) σύμπλια Μάμα Χάρου (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 168, 136.6) τὸ φουσάτο τοῦ Πάπα Chron. Theod. 22.4 τ' ἄλωνιν τοῦ μπάρμπα τῶνε (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 853, 745.28) τοῦ Παπανικόλα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.56 τοῦ μακαρίτη πατᾶ κυρ Ἰερεμία (1655, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 2001: 96.11)

²⁷ Both mss as well as Legrand's first edition (32.10) have ὁ μηνᾶς, τοῦ μηνᾶ; his second edition offers ὁ μῆνας, τοῦ μηνᾶ, which is clearly a typo.

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ου

The residual ending -ου can sometimes be found with original 1st-declension nouns in more formal contexts:²⁸ τοῦ ρηθέντος υἱοῦ του Ζαχαρίου (1447, Corfu, EFSTRATIADIS 1925: 50.3) (cf. τοῦ Ζαχαρία in the same document, see above)

Μανέα Ζαχαρίου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 257, 254.3)

Παυσανίου ἱστορία παλαιά (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 8, 17.15)

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ός ἢ -οῦ

A genitive in -ός occurs lexically with the word ἀμῖράς in texts of Peloponnesian provenance. The choice for -ός may be influenced by other words that belong to the same semantic field, such as ρήγας, gen. ρηγός and δούκας, gen. δουκός (cf. the same phenomenon with the word αὐθέντης, 2.3.1):

μεγιστάνου ἢ ἀμῖρός Pol. Tr. 7403 app. crit. (AX) τοῦ ἄσεβοῦς καὶ ἀθέου ἀμῖρός (app. crit.) (15th–16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79:

33.III, 253.53.6); ὑπὸ τοῦ ἀμῖρός σουλτάν Σουλαιμάνη (16th c., Peloponnese?, ibid.

33.IV, 260.87.1); τοῦ ρηθέντος ἀμῖρός (ibid. 260.87.5); ἡ ἀρμάτα τοῦ ἀμῖρός (1523–36, Peloponnese, ibid. 36.II, 295.29.10)

A genitive τοῦ ἀμῖροῦ appears once in Chron. Toc. 3075 (cf. the genitive τοῦ πατροῦ (< πατήρ/πατέρας) in the same text, 2.2.4).

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-άδος

In documents from S. Italy we find a genitive form in -άδος, on the analogy of 3rd-declension nouns such as φυγάς, gen. φυγάδος; τοῦ ἀμῖράδος (1141?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 7, 23.19; 1172, ibid.; 1201, ibid. Coll. II: 14, 89.2).

Accusative

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-ά(ν) ἢ -α(ν)

²⁸ In a document from S. Italy we find a genitive singular τοῦ ἀμῖρου (1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 6, 72.4), which is connected with ὁ ἀμῖρ rather than with ἀμῖράς (see CARACAUSI, Lex. s.v. and cf. gen. pl. ἀμῖρων). Several instances of a genitive πάπου (< πάπας) and a form σατανοῦ in Hist. Imp. IIb do not inspire much confidence, as the edition is generally unreliable. One of the mss used (Bern. 569) can be consulted online (www.e-codices.unifr.ch/de/bbb/0596); for instance, where the editor prints οἱ συγγενεῖς τοῦ πρώτου πάπου Ἀδριανοῦ Hist. Imp. IIb 2630 and τοῦ πάπου ibid. 2638, the Bern manuscript has πάπα (f.168r); for σατανοῦ it reads σατανά (f.166v), readings that are not mentioned in the edition's app. crit.

The accusative ending is /a/. It often occurs with final /n/ but can also be found without:

- ὡς πρὸς βορρᾶν (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 53.55) Ἰωάννην Γαῖδαροφαγάν (1095, S. Italy/Sicily?, GUILLOU 1963: 2, 49.16) Νικόλαν Φαβατάν (1157?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 10, 316.3) τὸν παπᾶν GLYKAS, Stichoi 271; τὸν ἑλᾶδαν ibid. 370 κερατᾶν Ptoch. I 20; γείτοναν ἔχω κοσκινάν ibid. III 198 Γεώργιον Τσικαλάν (ca. 1300, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 91, 104.54) χαλκωματᾶν Poulol. 28 παπαγᾶν ἡμερωμένον Liv. E 2153 εἰς τὸν Χριστὸν τὸν Κεφαλᾶ (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 146.5) μηδὲν μὲ πᾶν στὸν ἀμῖρᾶ Anak. Konst. 44 τὸν ζαρκουλᾶ Epain. gyn. 83 τὸν γαμπᾶν μου (1528, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 127, 233.54) τὸν γουλᾶ (1540, Monemvasia, MALTEZOU 1968: 41.3) υπήγεν εἰς τὸν πασιάν MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 218.37 τὸν ποτὲ κύρ-Φραντζίσκο Φαβατᾶ (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 55, 118.7) ἕναν παλληκαράν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 88 ἐλειτουργήθηκα εἰς τὸν ἅγιον Γολγοθᾶ (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 335.3) εἶδες καβγᾶν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §22.10; νὰ κάμης καβγᾶ ibid. III §10.12 ἕνα γαμπᾶ (1685, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 34, 64.4) εἰς τὸν αγάν του Don Kis. 47.29; ἀπὸ τὸν ματαρά ibid. 47.29–30; ἕνα μέγαλον κομμάτι παστιρμᾶν ibid. 232.16–17; τὸν μυταρά ibid. 241.21; με ονομάζει και φαγᾶν ibid. 545.17 τὸν βοῦλχαν Dig. G IV. 314; τὸν νεανίαν ibid. IV 1004 Βλαδίσθλαβον τὸν βοεβόδαν (1378, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 36, 136.25) τὸν Πάπαν Chron. Mor. H 473; εἰς τὸν Πάπα ibid. 479 τὸν γρίβαν μου Dig. E 798; καὶ νὰ ἴδης κύρκαν τὸν φιλεῖς ibid. 894 πρὸς κύρ Λούκαν Καντάρην τὸν Κρητικόν (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 270.3) (< Ital.
Luca)
 νὰ ποῖσουν καὶ ποδότα Fyll. gadar. 94 f αὐτόνο τὸν μεσίαν FALIEROS, Thrinis 147 facs. (τὸν Μεσσία in the edition) τὸν Πέτρον βοιβόνδα αὐθέντην (16th c., eastern Thrace, SCHREINER 1975/79: 57, 410.6.2) εἰςὲ βιβλίον ἔμορφον στὸν στορικὸν Σουῖδα Alex. Rim. 32 τὸν μπάρμπα μου τὸν κύρ Κώστα (1526, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 52, 84.6) μὲ τὸν εἰρημένο Μάμα (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 168, 137.20) εὐρήκαμεν τὸν Μεσσίαν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 1.41 εἶχεν ἐνορίες τὴν Ἁγίαν Παρασκευή, τὸν Σκυποδιάβα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.16²⁹ τὸν ἄξιο νεανία PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1918 τὸν Γεωργάκη Μεραμπελιώτη τὸν κολέγα μου (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 110.18–19) (< Ital. collega)

Vocative

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-ά ἰ -α

²⁹ This dvandva compound is formed from the two imperatives σκύψε (stoop) and διάβα (enter), indicating it was a church with a low entrance (see KARANASTASIS 2010: 250).

There is no variation in the vocative ending, which is /a/:

γαμησά καὶ κλαδοτρυπολόγε Diig. tetr. 327 ἀνακαρὰ τατάρικε Poulol. 625 καὶ Μᾶ κατακαμμένε Dimotiko (Lambros) 5 (< Μάης) παλληκαρὰ μου φρόνιμε Diig. Alex. Sem. B 329 γερο-Λουκά (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 150.23) ἄνοστε, ἀδούλη καὶ φαγὰ FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.112; νιανιά μου ibid. II.322 σῶπα, παπᾶ Νεόφυτε ΝΕΟΦΥΤΟΣ, Achouri 243 μπρε γαῖδαρε καὶ μασχαρά Don Kis. 349.24 κερατᾶ ξεχασμένε ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 49.22–3 κάλλιστε νεανία Dig. G IV.1048; πανεύμνοστέ μου κύρκα ibid. VI.823 θῶρει με, κύρκα, θῶρειε με Achil. L 1276 (Hesseling) ὦ Ἀντίοχε βοεβόντα Diig. Alex. F 136.8–9 (Konstantinopoulos) ἐσύ γελᾶς, μπόγια; Bertoldos 35.31 (< Ital. boia) μπάρμπα Γιάννη, ἐσύ μοῦ πούλησες τὸ σπῆτιν (1688, Naxos, ΣΙΦΟΝΙΟΥ-ΚΑΡΑΠΑ et al.

 1982/83, 726, 986.10)

Plural

Nominative

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-άδες ἢ -άς

The normal ending is -άδες,³⁰ even in higher-register texts such as the 13th-c. will edited by Bompaire et al. and the Typikon edited by Delehay:

νῆσος ἡ λεγομένη Καυκανάδες (1047, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 29, 260.10) τὸ νησίον οἱ Καυκανάδες (1104 [14th-c. copy], Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 52, 233.12) λυχνία δύο, μαστραπάδες τρεῖς (1258, Philadelphia?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 15, 158.189) (< Turk. maşrapa)
 οἱ ἀμυράδες Dig. G II.85 οἱ κεφαλάδες ὅλοι Chron. Mor. H 138 ἐνθα καταμένουσιν οἱ κοσκινάδες (14th c., Constantinople, DELEHAYE 1921: 1, 95.29) οἱ Μαλτζάδες (1348, Serres, LEMERLE 1988: 21, 92.13) οἱ λεγάδες τῆς ἀγίας ἐκκλησίας Assizes B 280.26–7 (< λογάς) χάσδια ἦταν ὀλόχρυσά ὁμοῦ καὶ καμουχάδες Pol. Tr. 237 app. crit. (A) οἱ σκουφάδες Diig. tetr. 403; σπαθαρομαχαιράδες τε καὶ σουβλομανικάδες ibid. 481 ἀνακαράδες, βούκινα Chron. Toc. 1543 εἷς ἡ δύο παπάδες (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.8–9) λογάδες νὰ ὑμνολογοῦν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.2 οἱ ἀμαξάδες Velis. p 811; ἄλογα καὶ γιοργάδες ibid. 812 οἱ σκουταράδες Diig. Alex. E 143.4 (Lolos) οἱ κεχαϊάδες ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Rim. Andron. 18 αγάδες, φλαμπουραραῖοι MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 222.9–10 <οἱ> ἄνωθεν Κρασάδες (1591, Kefalonia, CHRYSOCHOIDIS 1977: 1, 207.39)

³⁰ A proparoxytone nominative plural in Voustronios: ἐτενῶσαν δυο ἀμύραδες VOUSTR., Chron. A 84.10 does not inspire much confidence, as the stress notation of the ms is not entirely consistent (see KECHAYOGLU 1997: 75*–7*).

οί νταβάδες είναι χαρκώματα (1612, Monemvasia region, BROUSKARI 1981: 316.64) δύο παλιογαπάδες, ένας ἄσπρος και ἄλλος μαῦρος (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 847, 739.7–8) (= παλιογαμπάδες < παλιο- + Ven. gabàn) οί κρασοποτηράδες ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2123 οί Θωμάδες, οί Ἀββάδες ΚΡΙΤΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ, Grammar 108.30 οί σπαθάδες και οί σιδεράδες ΡΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. I §23.11 οί βοράδες (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III–V, 508.34.3) (< βορράς)³¹ γίνονται μασχαράδες ΝΕΟΦΥΤΟΣ, Achouri 232 (< μασκαράς) μαγκουφαροί, βοεβοδάδες (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.15) ὁ παρὼν κύρ Θεωδωρῆς Ἀντριόλας και κύρ Δήμος και Γιώργος Ἀντριολάδες (1619, Kefalonia, ΖΑΡΑΝΔΙ 2001b: 1, 187.2–3) οί βοηβοντάδες τοὺς ἐρώτηξαν Diig. Alex. F 292.1–2 (Lolos) οί ἀνωθε Καραβιάδες (1636, Ithaca, ΖΑΡΑΝΔΙ 2002b: 17, 42.25) (< Καραβίας); οί παρπάδες (1637, ibid. 53, 68.31) (= μπαρμπάδες, see I, 3.6.2.1) ὅσοι χοτζάδες ἦτον ἔκει ΒΟΥΝΙΑΛΙΣ Μ., Diig. Pol. 150.8
 οί ασεβείς σέγγηδες και χοντζάδες ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 9813

In Cypriot texts the intervocalic /ð/ in -άδες may be deleted (see I, 3.6.1.1) and subsequently deletion of the weaker vowel /e/ after /a/ may occur, resulting in -άς (cf. acc. pl.): του Τούρκου ἐγιναν ραγιάς ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 5338 (see ΚΑΡΛΑΝΙΣ 2012: 762), though in this case the form could also be interpreted as a collective noun.

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-άδοι

Substitution of the 2nd-declension ending -οι for -ες has been found in two mss of the rhymed version of Velisariada: οί ἀμαξάδοι Velis. ρ 811 app. crit. (ME); γιοργάδοι ibid. 812 app. crit. (ME).

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ηδες

This -ης paradigm ending (see 2.3.4) occurs with paroxytone words in -ας. Examples have been found of πάπας, χότζας (cf. the accusative, below) and ἐλέφας (for the morphological variety in this noun see the introduction to this section). In the case of πάπας the form could be seen as a way of disambiguating between παπάς (pl. παπάδες) and πάπας (pl. πάπηδες):

τίνες εἰσιν οί πάπηδες οὓς ἡριθμήσατε; (13th c. [16th-c. ms], Athos, DARROUZÈS/LAURENT 1976: 18, 503.15) οί λέφηδες ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 287.15 ἔκραξεν δύο χότζηδες ΡΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. I §15.58 εἶναι κρατημένοι οί πάπηδες νὰ ἐξαγορεύονται RICHARD, Targa pisteos I 187.31 χόντζηδες να λαλήσουν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 2020

³¹ It cannot be excluded entirely that this form represents βοριάδες (< βοριάς < βορέας, see 2.4) with deletion of /j/ (see I, 2.4.7.4).

καὶ πάπηδες νὰ προσκυνοῦν BOUNIALIS M., Kat. ofel. 286 ἐσυναχθήκασιν οἱ χότζηδες DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 116

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες

The parisyllabic ending of the old 1st declension is only rarely employed: οἱ βοηβόντες Diig. Alex. E 139.24 (Lolos) εἴκοσι λέφες τό ὕρπναν Alex. Rim. 2335 (< ἐλέφας).

Genitive

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-άδων ἰ -άδω ἰ -άδωνε ἰ -αδῶν

The normal ending for the genitive plural is -άδων:³² παξαμάδων καὶ ὀλίγου φάκου NIKON, Logos 1 84.14 (< παξαμάς) ἀμυράδων (1140, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IV: 2, 117.3) χωρίου Κρεββαττάδων (1268, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 307, 441.32–3); χωρίου Ἀγίου Ἰωάννου Μανδηλάδων (1269, ibid. 315, 458.25) τῶν κεφαλάδων ὀλωνῶν Pol. Tr. 8814 τῆς κεφαλῆς τῶν κεφαλάδων, καὶ αὐθέντου πάσης δύσεως (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.3)

 τῶν ἐπτὰ γουλάδων (16th c., Constantinople, PREGIER 1912: 470.30) τοῦ Λέοντος καὶ τοῦ Γεωργίου Πηγαδάδων (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 89, 168.15)
 τῶν Τριβιζιάδων (1547, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 32, 63.7) τῶν ἀγάδων (1630, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 68, 195.12) τῶν μυλωνάδων τὰ παιδιὰ Paroim. (Warner) 90.12 εχθρός των καβγάδων Don Kis. 48.32; ἐναντίον των μυλωνάδων ibid. 339.14 ἐκ τὸ γένος τῶν Μπουάδων Chron. Toc. 2289 (< Μπούας) τῶν δύο μου μπαρμπάδων (1513, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 36, 62.19) τῶν ἄνωθεν Ζαχαριάδων (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 257, 255.19) Δημοσιανάδων καὶ Ἀντριολλάδων ἀγάπη (1619, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 1, 187.31) τῶν βοηβοντάδων (1653, Putyvl, TCHENTSOVA 2002: 4, 364, f.1r.24–5)

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete and the Aegean (Ikaria). It must be borne in mind, however, that in Cretan literary texts the deletion of final /n/ is often editorial:³³ τῶν δύο παπάδω (1609, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 589, 520.12); πατέρω καὶ παππάδω P&N Diath. 214; εἰς τῶνο Καλογεράδω ἀμπέλια (1685, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 73, 60.9) (< Καλογεράς; for τῶνο see I, 2.6.3). When the word is followed by a word ³² In a document from S. Italy we find a genitive plural τῶν ἀμύρων (1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 6, 72.1), which is connected with ὁ ἀμύρ rather than with ὁ ἀμυράς (see CARACAUSI, Lex. s.v. and cf. a gen. sg. ἀμύρου).

³³ As is the case with the following examples: ἀγάδω καὶ τσαούσηδω, γιουρλάδω, σουμπασηδω BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 147.20; τῶν καλογέρω <ή> συντροφιά, παπάδω, κεῖ ἐβγήκαν ibid. 155.5; all these forms appear with final /n/ in the Xirouchakis edition. The choice to omit final /n/ is based on suspected scribal conservatism and on certain mss in the Latin script, notably that of Fortounatos, which is an autograph.

starting in /n/, the deletion may be graphematic (haplography): σὲ καρδιῆς πασάδω νὰ χορτάσω CHORTATSIS, Katz. II.47.

Addition of -(v)ε can be found in Heptanesian texts (for details see I, 2.6.3.1): πουλεῖ τοῦ Πεταλιάδωνε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 12, 37.11); κληρονομίας τοῦ Μαρουλάδωνε (1638, ibid., 109.111) (for the article τοῦ see 5.2.1).

A shift of the stress to the ultimate is rather rare: τοῦ μοναχοῦ Κλήμη τῶν Παπαδῶν (1066, Athos, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 8, 101.35); τῶν ἁγίων ἀββαδῶν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 128.24.

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-άδες

This genitive ending, morphologically identical to the accusative, occurs in texts from Cyprus and in the chronicle of Papasynadinos (Serres) (see 1.2 and cf. 2.1.2, 2.1.3 and 2.2.1):

ἐμπροσθεν τοῦς λεγάδες Assizes B 280.14 ἐππέσεν εἰς τὰ πόδια του καὶ οὐλοῦς τοὺς αμειράδες VOUSTR., Chron. A 96.2–3 ο κοινόττερος κληρονόμος τοῦς Τελοζουινιάδες VOUSTR., Chron. M 153.1–2 (< Fr. de Lusignan) εἰς τὸν Ἅγιον Γεώργιον τοῦς Γουναράδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §10.4

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ηδων

This -ης paradigm ending (see 2.3.4) has been found with the word πάπας and is likely to have been used to disambiguate this plural from that of παπάς (pl. παπάδες). For other words that may adopt this ending cf. the nominative (above) and accusative (below): τῶν ἁγιότατων πάπηδων (17th c., Syros, ZERLENDIS 1924b: [3], 14.4); εἰς καμίαν διαταγήν τῶν πάπηδων RICHARD, Targa pisteos I 185.12.

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ων

The old ending of the 1st declension occurs sporadically with nouns belonging to this paradigm: τῶν ἐλέφων Diig. Alex. E 81.4 (Konstantinopulos).

Accusative

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδας

This inherited ending is used in early texts and in later mixed-register ones:

εἰς τοὺς Παπάδας (1090–4, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 45, 163.41) εἰς τοὺς Καλαμαράδας (1262, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1994: 59, 101.93) Κωνσταντῖνον καὶ Ἰωάννην Τσικαλάδας (1316, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1994: 74, 198.97) τοὺς λεγομένους Καλαθάδας (1346, Skopje?, LEFORT et al. 1995: 90, 121.38) ἀτσουπάδας δώδεκα Dig. E 1076; ἀμιράδας ἐπόταξεν ibid. 1613 ταπεινούς ἀββάδας Ptoch. IV app. crit. (P) ἄσπρα λ' εἰς τοὺς παπάδας (15th c., Meteora, VEIS et al. 1998: 225, 247, f.163v.3) κεφαλάδας μωρὸς καὶ ἀνοήτους Hist. Imp. I 3079–80 ἀββάδας DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1484 κεφαλάδας οὗς εἶχεν ὅλη ἡ Ἐγγλιτέρα LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 373 ὅπως φέρωσι καμουχάδας Ekth. Chron. 82.6–7 εἰς τοὺς ἐπτὰ γουλάδας (16th c., Constantinople?, BENEŠEVIĆ 1919: 408.3)

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδες -άς

The accusative ending -άδες, identical to the nominative plural, has not been found before the 14th c.:

τοὺς Βουτζαράδες Chron. Mor. H 1762; τοὺς κεφαλάδες ibid. 2894 μετὰ τοὺς λογάδες Assizes B 280.29; ἀπαὶ τοὺς λαγηνάδες ibid. 494.19 εἰς τοὺς μπασάδες του (1487, Chios?, LEFORT 1981: 13, 77.24) (= πασάδες) ξυλοφάδες δύο (1496, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1, 47.18) τὸ καμίνιν ἐκαίγασιν μὲ τοὺς ξυλαλάδες Achil. L 523 ἐκτύπησαν τοὺς ἀνακαράδες Diig. Alex. F 172.21–2 (Lolos) τοὺς ταυραμπάδες (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 3, 302.24–5) καὶ λαϊκούς καὶ πατεροπαπάδες P&N Diath. 741 μήτε ἀββάδες μήτε παπάδες στέργει Paroim. (Warner) 28.2; ὅλους τοὺς κερατάδες ibid. 29.12 τοὺς γλωσσάδες μερώνει (17th c., Unknown, ŠANGIN 1936: 4, 152.27–8) ἔγραφεν μὲ τὸ ζερβὶ τὸ χέρι κάτι μπακλαβάδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §35.3–4 καβγάδες να ᾿χομεν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1906; με τοὺς τεμπελχανάδες ibid. 4110 εἰς τὸ ἄρσενάδες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 528.12 (< ἄρσενάς < Ven. arsenal) τοὺς χοτζιάδες DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 107 tit. li nominavimο συκοφάδες PAPADOPOULI, L'Occio 135.23 ὅς τῆς Λευκωχιάς ἀγάδες KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 97; διὰ τοὺς ἐσκκιᾶδες ibid. 245 (< Turk. eşkiya) εἰς ἐσᾶς τῖς παπάδες (1687, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1918b: 6, 222.2) (for the article τίς see 5.2.1) νὰ ἔχωμεν μπελάδες Diig. Vefa 116 (< Turk. belâ) ἐκάμαμεν καὶ τρεῖς ὀντάδες (1703, Thessaly, SOFIANOS 1984: A, 42.8) ἐσκοτώσασι καμπόσους ζορπάδες EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 43.14 ἀν ἦτον διὰ τακλάδες Don Kis. 567.34 πεντακοσίους ἤφεραν τότε σ' ἐμέν λεφάδες Alex. Rim. 2569 τοὺς βοηροντάδες Diig. Alex. F 284.19 (Lolos) τοὺς μπαρμπάδες (1638, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 100, 102.23) τοὺς βοῖβοντάδες Alex. Fyll. 63.19–20

The following forms in Ioakeim Kyprios's Struggle are the result of intervocalic deletion of /ð/ in the -άδες ending (see I, 3.6.1.1) and subsequent deletion of the weaker unstressed vowel /e/ after stressed /a/: ἀμπαρεῖς καὶ ξυλαλάς, χαμπέσικα ζαμπέτια IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 841; με ζιαχίλια, χακκαπάς ibid. 4259 (< Turk. hokkabaz; see KAPLANIS 2012: 788).

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδους

Substitution of 2nd-declension -ους for -ες in the imparisyllabic ending is rare: κεφαλάδους τούς ποιήσε Chron. Toc. 1595.

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ηδες

This ending of the -ης paradigm (see 2.3.4) occurs with a few paroxytone words only (cf. the nominative and genitive, above). In the case of πάπας the form could be seen as a way of disambiguating between παπάς (pl. παπάδες) and πάπας (pl. πάπηδες): ἔκραξεν δύο χότζηδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.58; με τους Αγίους Πάπηδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 8897; καὶ ἀπὸ χόντζηδες ibid. 9203; ἐμάζωξε τούς χόντζηδες DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 109.

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

The use of the old parisyllabic 1st-declension ending -ας is rare within this paradigm: τούς λέφας Alex. Rim. 1853; διὰ τούς κολέγας του (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 110.24) (< Ital. collega).

Vocative

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-άδες

The vocative ending is identical to the nominative:

ἄρχοντες κεφαλάδες τῆς Λήμνου (1448?, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 45, 321.2) ἄγιοι παπάδες Synax. gyn. 158 αἰδεσιμώτατοι παπάδες καὶ πρόκριτοι (1650, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: (2), 28.3)

2.2.2 Paroxytone Nouns with Parisyllabic Plural

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	μήνας/μῆνας	μῆνα	-α
Gen.	μηνός	μηνοῦ ἢ μηνοῦς	-ό μηνίου ἢ μηνιοῦ μῆνα
Acc.	μήνα(ν)/μῆνα(ν)
Voc.	μῆνα/μῆνα

Plural
Nom.	μήνες		-άδες -οι
Gen.	μηνῶν	μηνῶ μηνῶνε μήνας (ἰ μήνες)
Acc.	μήνες	μήνας	-ους -άδες
Voc.	μήνες

Singular

Nominative

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ας

No variation can be observed in the formation of the nominative singular other than the use of the residual 3rd-declension forms in more formal contexts and a regional form in /a/ (see below). The normal ending is -ας:³⁴ βλάκας: μωρός τις Lex. Segueriana 180.10 (10th-c. ms; ed. Bachmann) Γρηγόριος ὁ Βήχας (1321, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 109, 251.518) κανένας μήνας, δύο Chron. Mor. H 150; ὁ ἄνδρας τῆς Ζαμπέας ibid. 7942 app. crit. ἄνδρας φοβερός Pol. Tr. 6500; ὁ μήνας τῆς ἀγάπης ibid. 6559 λείπει μήνας α' (post 1427, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 10, 20.3) βήχας, σφάκτης, φλεγμονή Spanos D 494 ὁ ποτέ παῖδας τῶν ἐκτητόρων Anak. Konst. 116; ἄλλος παῖδας ἔφθασε ibid. 117 ὁ χιούχας κ' ἡ ξυφτέρα Cypr. Canz. 142.15 (= σιούχας, see I, 3.8.2.2) ὁ ἄνδρας μου ὁ Φίλιππος Alex. Rim. 256 ὁ ἄνδρας SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.13 ὁ ἄντρας της (1614, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 14, 317.9) ὁ πόδας VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 39.33 ἄνδρας πολλὰ ψηλός PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.49 νὰ παύση ὁ βήχας LANDOS, Geopon. 231.31 ὁ αὐτὸς μήνας Diig. Sant. 60.57–58 εἶναι ὁ μήνας ἁλωνάρης (1671, Cythera, PSARAS 1989: 150.15–16) πῶς ἦρθε πόδας λιονταριοῦ KORNAROS, Erot. II.688; πόδας τὸν πόδαν ἤμπωθε ibid. II.1150 Αὐγουστος μήνας EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 17.2

³⁴ In a Russian–Greek conversation book, in which the Greek is written in the Early Cyrillic alphabet, there is a single occurrence of минос /minos/ for μήνας. This form, however, can be explained through Russian phonetics (unstressed /o/ is pronounced as [a]) and is unrelated to Greek morphology (VASMER 1922: 130; see also TZITZILIS 1999: 85).

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-α

A form in /a/, in which final /s/ is dropped before a clitic pronoun, has been found in a document from Pontos (see OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 157 and HENRICH 1979 for the same phenomenon in modern Pontic): αὐτὸς ὁ ἄνδρα της (1506, Trebizond, PRINZING 2000: 2, 304.5).

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	Residual

Residual forms are used throughout the period under review in higher-register texts and more formal contexts. They often occur alongside forms in /as/: ὁ ρηθεὶς κυρ-Μάρκος ὁ ἀνὴρ μου (1528, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 124, 227.10) and ὁ ρηθεὶς κυρ-Μάρκος ὁ ἄνδρας μου (ibid. 227.21–2). The residual nominative is often treated as an indeclinable form that can also be used for the oblique cases (see below):

- ὁ τοιοῦτος ἀνὴρ (1258, Philadelphia?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 15, 154.43) ὁ δέ γε παῖς Dig. G IV.592 ἀνὴρ τίς ... ὀνόμ(α)τι Καππαδόξ (1365, Serres, LEFORT 1973: 27, 162.8–9) ὁ μὴν δὲ τῆς ἀγάπης Pol. Tr. 6559 app. crit. (X) ὁ γὰρ πολὺλόγος ἀνὴρ PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 98 ὁ παῖς τοῦ βασιλέως Achil. N 91 εἰς βασιλέως τράχηλον δὲν πρέπει πούς ἀνόμου Anak. Konst. 48 ο μᾶταιος ἐκεῖνος ἀνὴρ Syndipas 116.32 ἐμεγάλυνεν ὁ ἀνὴρ Pent. Gen. 26.13 ἀνὴρ τῆς ἀνωθεν κυρα-Μήλως (1571, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 2, 80.2) ο δε ο αὐτὸς ἀνὴρ Vios Filaret. 238.18–19 ὁ ποτὲ ἀνὴρ μου (1673, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 70, 42.3) ὁ ἀνὴρ αὐτῆς (1686, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 257, 161.5) ποῖος νὰ εἶναι ὁ τοιοῦτος ἄξιος ἀνὴρ (1696, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 112, 307.9)

GenitiveMasc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ός ἢ -ό

The inherited oxytone genitive form in /os/ (ἄνδρός, μηνός, etc.) shows a remarkable resistance to linguistic change, changing to paroxytone -α only very reluctantly (see below). For this sub-paradigm it is by far the most common ending throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

- τοῦ μηνός Chron. Mor. H 7297
 τοῦ Δεκεβρίου μηνός (14th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 27, 206.2.1) τοῦ Ὁκτουβρίου μηνός (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 41, 51.1) τοῦ παιδός Achil. N τ' ἄδόντι τοῦ ἀντρός FALIEROS, Ist. On. 654 τοῦ Γεναρίου μηνὸς (1537, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 31, 35.7) ὁ ἄνδρας, τοῦ ἀνδρός, τὸν ἄνδρα SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.13 τοῦ ἀντρός μου (1547, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970b: 1, 226.7) εἰς τὲς πόσες τοῦ μηνὸς (ca. 1560, Ancona, MARKOS 1977: Ια, 27.7) τοῦ περασμένου μηνὸς (1572, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 136, 256.18) ὡσάν ἀπέρασεν ἡ πρώτη ἡλικία τοῦ παιδὸς VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.33 τοῦ ὑστεροῦ της ἀνδρός Vios Aisop. D 220.13 εἰς τὰς δέκα τοῦ Ὀκτωμβρίου μηνὸς (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 56.11) ᾧ τ' ἀνδρός τ' ἀνασκουμπώματα Paroim. (Warner) 38.4 καὶ μὲ τ' ἀντρός τη<ς> τοῦ Νικόλα (1678, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 64, 54.4) τοῦ ἰδίου ἀνδρός πάλι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2195 ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀντρός της (1681, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 142, 309.15) ἀντρός φωνὴ γροικοῦσι KORNAR., Erotokr. IV.1438 εἰς τὴν τιμὴν τ' ἀνδρός της KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.71 μηνὸς Φεβρουαρίου 9, Κίμουλος (1731, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 18, 36.1) πὲ τ' ἀνδρός σου Leilasia Par. 375

In specific phonetic environments final /s/ may be deleted in texts from South-West areas, e.g. τ' ἀντρό μου (1680, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: XIV, 77.4–5). For details and more examples see I, 3.7.1.1.

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-οῦ ἢ -οῦς

Oxytone genitives in -οῦ, modelled on the inherited oxytone -ός ending but with substitution of 2nd-declension /u/ for /os/, occur occasionally. Genitives in -οῦς, which are a conflation of -ός and -οῦ (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 55; cf. fem. in -α, 2.11.2.1) have been found in texts from the Heptanese and the Cyclades (cf. similar developments in the indefinite article, see 5.8.5). The use of these endings appear to be limited to the common words μῆνας and ἄνδρας:

ἐνὸς μηνοῦ Pol. Tr. 13719 app. cr. (C) τοῦ μηνοῦ Pent. Gen. 7.11 τοῦ ἀνδροῦ της (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 210, 206.2) μωρή, μωρή, τ' ἀντροῦ σου CHORTATIS, Katz. V.54 γῆ ᾗ νοῦς μηνοῦ παιδάκια P&N Diath. 4811 τοῦ ἄνωθεν ἀνδροῦς της (1631 [19th-c. copy], Santorini, KASAPIDIS 1990: (1), 58.4) τοῦ ἀντροῦς μου (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 6, 33.30) τοῦ ἀντροῦς μου (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 761, 1032.13)

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ίου ἢ -ιοῦ

The forms μηνίου and μηνιοῦ are conflations of μηνοῦ and the residual dative μηνί, which is not uncommon in formulaic contexts (see 1.1):

μηνιοῦ Μαρτίου (1584, Italy, PAPADOPOULOS 1978: 1, 318.33) (author from the Peloponnese) 1590 μηνιοῦ Νοεβρίου εἰς 8 (1590, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 8, 308.2) τοῦ ἐνεστώτου μηνίου (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 38, 40.10) μηνίου Σετεβρίου (1593, Andros?, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 151, 275.1) 1597 μηνίου Δεκεμβρίου (1597, Syros, MILIARAKIS 1900: 697.1)

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-α

Genitives in -α, which represent the general trend followed by most nouns in /as/, /is/, /es/ and /us/ of dropping the final /s/ of the nominative in the genitive, are very rare with nouns belonging to this paradigm:³⁵

Γρηγόριος ὁ υἱὸς Μιχαήλ τοῦ Βήχα (1321, Thessaloniki, PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1986: 15, 140.9) τοῦ μῆνα, αὐμθ' (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 302, 300.15)

τοῦ Ρουμπέμ τοῦ ἄντρα τῆς P&N Diath. 2503

The residual nominative form is sometimes used instead of the genitive:

τοῦ ἀνὴρ μου (1148, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1963: 7, 82.6) τοῦ ἀνὴρ ἐτουτουνού Jonas 214.17 τοῦ ἀνὴρ αὐτῆς (1666, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 7, 22.9) τοῦ ἀνὴρ αὐτῆς (1684, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 409.13)

τοῦ ἀνὴρ μου (1688, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 126, 73.9)

An innovative formal-looking genitive based on the residual nominative is the following: τοῦ ἀνῆρος (1338, Sicily, DI MATTEO 1903: 464.3); ἀνῆρος καὶ κουμесаρίου (1528, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 124, 227.26).

Accusative

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-α(ν)

There is no variation in the ending of the accusative singular, other than that it may occur with or without final /n/ throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

κατὰ μῆναν ἕκαστον ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 112.5–6 ἄνδραν εἶχαν οἱ χῆρες Chron. Mor. H 7225 app. crit.

μῆναν ἐπεριπάτησεν Log. parig. L 40; ἄνδραν μακρύν, ἀσκεπαστον ibid. 52 ποτὲ οὐκ εἶδασιν ἄνδραν Pol. Tr. 10637 εἰσὲ βῆχαν ΣΤΑΦΙΔΑΣ, Iatrosoph. 8.233; διὰ βῆχα ibid. 12.344

τὸν πόδαν (Assizes B, 432.10)

τὸν πόδαν τοῦ Diig. tetr. 1027 εἶπέ το στὸν ἄνδραν τῆς (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 101.15) τὸν πόδαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1166

ἔνα μῆναν Synax. gyn. 382

τὸν Σεπτέβριον μῆνα (1472 [copy of 1604], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 107, 216.6–7); ἄνδραν τῆς νόμιμον (1536, ibid. 116, 228.12)

³⁵ Legrand's second edition of Sofianos's grammar (repr. in PAPADOPOULOS 1977) offers ὁ μῆνας, τοῦ μηνᾶ (39.18). Both mss as well as Legrand's first edition have the proper name ὁ μηνᾶς, τοῦ μηνᾶ (32.10).

έναν μῆναν Apoll. Rim. A 775 (for prothetic /i/ see I, 2.6.1.2) τὸν ἰούλην μῆναν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 60.6 τὸν ἄνδραν τῆς (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 37, 29.12) κάθα μῆνα Ἰαγουστο (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 5, 27.6); ὀδὶ ἄνδραν τῆς (1598, ibid. 18, 38.10) τὸν ἄνδραν τῆς λεγόμενης Καλῆς (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 211, 200.6) εἰσὲ βήχαν LANDOS, Geopon. 231.20 πόδας τὸν πόδαν ἡμπωθε KORNAROS, Erot. II.1150

The residual nominative is sometimes used instead of the accusative:

τὸν ἐμὸν ἀνὴρ (1226, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 274, 376.35) νὰ ἐπάρη τὸν μισὶρ Τζεφρὲ ἀνὴρ καὶ σύμβιον τῆς Chron. Mor. H 2519 ὅταν ἡπῆρεν ἀνὴρ (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.16) κατέσφαξαν καὶ τὸν ἀνὴρ Flor. L 57 (Cupane) μὲ τὸν ἀνὴρ τῆς κόρης Byz. II. 935 εἰς ἀνὴρ ἄλλον Pent. Gen. 29.19 τὸν ἐπιθύμιον ἀνὴρ MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 92 ἀπὸ τὸν ἄνωθεν ἀνὴρ (1699, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 280, 186.3)

Vocative

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-α

The most common ending for the vocative is -α, reflecting the general trend in all masculine nouns apart from those in /os/ (see 2.1) of dropping the final /s/ of the nominative in the vocative:

Ὅκτώβρη, μῆνα δολερέ, μῆνα κατακαημένε DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 112 ἀνδρα, εσύ χειρότερην ἔχεις ταλαιπωρίαν AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 72.14 τί λέγεις ἀνδρα μου; ὄνειρον εἶδες; ZYGOM., Stef. Ichn. 182.25 ὦ ἀνδρα μου γλυκύτατε [VLASTOS], Dig. P III 239.2
 ἐγὼ δὲν σε καταλαβαίνω, ἀνδρα μου Don Kis. 178.21

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	residual

The residual vocative is sporadically used in higher-register texts: τί, ἄνερ μου, κατηγορεῖς Dig. G II.211.

The residual nominative form sporadically appears as vocative: χαῖρε βασίλισσας ἀνὴρ Diig. Alex. Sem. B 765.

Plural

Nominative

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες

The inherited parissyllabic plural in -ες is the regular form for all nouns belonging to this paradigm:

οἱ παῖδες τοῦ Χαλκίεα (mid-12th c., S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 43, 222.26) οἱ παῖδες ὑπάρχουν ἐδικοὶ του (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 67.V 72–3) οἱ ἄερες νὰ σᾶς εἶναι ἡμεροὶ καὶ γλυκύτατοι (1415, Skyros, LEMERLE et al. 1979: App. XVII, 216.9) οἱ πόδες του ὡς αἶγας Phys. 556 ὡς γῦπες τοὺς ἐσύνθλασαν Achil. N 553 ἐξέβησαν ἄδρες τε καὶ γυναικες Achil. O 326 (= ἄνδρες, see I, 3.6.2.2) νὰ συμπάψουν δύο ἄνδρες Assizes B. 278.11 ὡς γῦπες εἰς τὸ βρώμα LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 278 οἱ φωτισμένοι ὑπὸ Θεοῦ ἄνδρες Pist. kekoim. 567 ἔτρεχαν ... ἄνδρες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §14.21

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-οι

Substitution of the 2nd-declension ending -οι for -ες occurs only sporadically:³⁶ ὥσάν οἱ γῦπτοι εἰς τίποτες βρώμιον [VLASTOS], Dig. P VI 371.12.

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-αδες

The imparissyllabic plural very rarely extends to nouns belonging to this paradigm (cf. the accusative plural, below). One instance has been found of a proparoxytone form γύπαδες in the London version of the Achilleid: ὡς γύπαδες τοὺς ἔφαγαν οἱ τριάκοντα μόνον Achil. L 394 (Hesseling).

Genitive

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν ἢ -ῶ ἢ -ῶνε ἢ -ῶνε

The inherited ending -ῶν is the only ending for the genitive plural:

ἀποκάτω τῶν ποδῶν των Vulgärorakel I.191 μέσον δύο μηνῶν (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.12) τῶν θ' μηνῶν Lapid. 187.19 μηνῶν ια' (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 90, 170.21) ὑπὸ ἀνδρῶν (1545, Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 2, 99.8) ὀρφανῶν παιδῶν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1071; μέλη ἀνδρῶν ibid. 2503 ὅταν ἐγίνε τεσσάρων μηνῶν ἐγγαστρωμένη Varl. & Ioas. (Lavrás) 75.18–19 περὶ ἀμαρτημάτων ἀνδρῶν (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 401.25) τὰ ἴχνη τῶν πανιέρων ποδῶν σου (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174.4) ἐκ τῶν ποδῶν σου VEST., Prol. Theot. 290 ἐννέα μηνῶν ἐπήγαινε MONTSEL., Evgena 1212

³⁶ There is no evidence for a full transfer to /os/ (*ὁ γῦπος), but cf. ἡ τοῦ γύπου ἀνατομή (16th c. [ms], Unknown, BOUDREAUX 1912: 126.4).

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in a Cretan text: τῶν ἀντρώ την ἀπονιά CHORTATSI, Panor. I.450.

Addition of -(ν)ε occurs in Heptanesian texts: ἔξι μηνῶνε (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2008: 2, 252.10). The following example shows a lack of stress shift, which should perhaps be viewed as a writing mistake for ἀνδρῶνε: τῶν ἀνδρωνέ τοὺς SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 58.24.

The paroxytone genitive of the residual word παῖς, which had long been superseded by the diminutive τὸ παιδί(ο)(ν), can sometimes be found in mixed- and higher-register texts: τῶν παίδων αὐτοῦ (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 67.79); ἐν καὶ γὰρ ἐκ τῶν παίδων μου Ptoch. I 208; τῶν ἀμφοτέρων παίδων Flor. L 156 (Cupane); οἱ παῖδε<ς> τῶν παίδων (1611, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: IV, 72.20).

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	(-ες) ἰ -ας

This genitive, which is morphologically identical to the accusative (cf. all other masculine paradigms and see 1.2), has been found in a text from Cyprus: περὶ τοὺς ἀνδρας (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 27.1).³⁷

Accusative

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες

This inherited ending is the most common for the accusative plural:

τοὺς δ' παῖδες (1062, Sicily, ROGNONI 2004: 11, 117.16) ἄλλους τινὲς ἄντρες Chron. Mor. H 4403; διὰ μηνες δύο ibid. 6600 νὰ σταθῇ δύο μηνες (1491, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1991: 1, 234.24) ἄντρες νὰ τῶνε δώσης FALIEROS, Log. did. 285 τοὺς ἄνδρες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 302.29 ἄνδρες καλοὺς LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 125 μηνες τέσσαρους (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2008: 2, 252.22) τσ' ἄντρες KORNAOS, Erot. IV.1645 (for the article τσί see 5.2.1) τὸν εἶχεν ἐφτὰ μηνες (1736, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 42, 144.3)

In specific phonetic environments final /s/ may be deleted in texts from south-western areas, e.g. τς ἄνδρε μας Pist. voskos II 1.169; οἱ παῖδε τῶν παίδων (1600, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: II, 70.10; and 1611, ibid. IV, 72.20). For details and more examples see I, 3.7.1.1.

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

This residual ending can be found occasionally throughout the period covered by this Grammar, usually alongside the more common forms in /es/ (e.g.: μετὰ μηνας τέσσαρους KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VII.90 and κ' ἔξε μηνες τότε ἔζησε ibid. VI.17):

³⁷ Note that in this text περὶ normally takes the genitive: περὶ τῆς προικὸς (ibid. 47.156); περὶ αὐτοῦ (ibid. 67.75); περὶ τούτων (ibid. 71.131) (N pl.).

εἰς μήνας β' (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 4, 16.1) πόδας δεν εἶχεν να σταθεῖ STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 258 (Pidonia) παντρεμένους ἄνδρας PIGAS, Chrysop. 115.14 ἁγίους καὶ ἐναρέτους ἄνδρας PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §2.5 τοὺς ἀπερασμένους μήνας (1687, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 277, 256.11) υποταγὴν εἰς τοὺς ἄνδρας μας Don Kis. 179.11–12

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδες

The imparisyllabic plural is very rarely employed in nouns belonging to this paradigm (cf. the nominative plural, above). Note that Cypriot texts display the same preference with feminine nouns (see 2.11.1.1, 2.11.2.1): τοὺς ἀντράδες τοὺς MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 263.24; χωρὶς ἀνδράδες PIGAS, Chrysop. 115.15; μὲ ἀνδράδες τῶν ἀδελφάδων (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: B, 462.580).

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ους

In the following example the ending is replaced by that of the /os/ paradigm: ἐκάθισε στὰ νησιά τρεῖς μήνους ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 42.9 app. crit. (B).

Vocative

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-ες

The vocative ending is identical to the nominative: ἔστι καιρός, ὦ ἄνδρες μου KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XVI.145; ω μήνες καὶ βδομάδες μου CHORTATSIS, Panor. III.178.

2.2.3 Paroxytone Disyllabic Nouns with Imparisyllabic Plural

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	ρήγας		-α
Gen.	ρηγός	ρήγα
Acc.	ρήγα(ν)
Voc.	ρήγα
Plural
Nom.	ρηγάδες	ρήγες	-αι -οι -ηδες

Plural
Gen.	ρηγάδων	ρηγάδω ρηγῶν ρηγάδες
Acc.	ρηγάδες		ρηγάδας -ηδες -ας
Voc.	ρηγάδες		-οι

Singular

Nominative

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ας

The normal ending for the nominative singular is /as/:

Κωσταντῖνος ... αὐτοκράτωρ Ρωμαίων ὁ Δούκας (1060, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 33, 198.127) δοῦκας τῆς Πουλίας (1144?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 9, 312.2) δοῦκας τῆς Κρήτης (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 265.23)

ὁ δοῦκας τῆς Βενετίας Chron. Mor. H 1028; ὁ ρήγας τῆς Φραγκίας ibid. 272 ὁκάπιοις ρήγας Pol. Tr. 2765; ὁ δούκας ibid. 2835 ὁ δούκας τῆς Ἀξίας (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 274.22) ὁ ρήγας, ὡς ἐγροίκησε Velth. 940

ὁ ρήγας Assizes A 36.19

ὁ ρήγας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 18.30

ὁ βιτσορήγας τό 'μαθεν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XVI.505 (< Ven. vicere + ρήγας) ὁ ρήγας SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.26

εἶχα φουσάτα πάμπολλα, ἀρίθμητα ὡς ρήγας Diig. Alex. Sem. B 971 ὁ λεγόμενος Δούκας (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 27, 41.7–8)

ο δοῦκας καὶ ἡ δουκέσσα Don Kis. 612.5

Deletion of final /s/ occurs sporadically, in the following example probably influenced by the Italian (for specific phonetic environments in which final /s/ may be omitted see I, 3.7.1.1): ὁ δοῦκα ντὲ Οὐρμπή KORONAIOS, Pittakin 47.

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	Residual

The residual nominatives ρήξ and δούξ occur in higher-register texts and contexts and are convenient for poets as a monosyllabic alternative to ρήγας and δοῦκας. The residual nominative is often treated as an indeclinable form that can also be used for the oblique cases (see below):

ὁ ἀγιότατος ρῆξ (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 309.13) ρῆξ Ἰταλίας καὶ δοῦκος τῆς Πουλίας (1144?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 9, 312.2) ὁ δούξ Ἀθήνας Μενεστεύς Pol. Tr. 8040; ὁ εἷς ρῆξ καὶ ἄλλος δούξ ibid. 2287 app. crit. (B) ὁ δούξ ἡγνόμεν τὸ συμβάν Flor. L 760 (Cupane) δούξ Αἰγαίου Πελάγους (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 467.1–2) ὁ δούξ Φραντζέσκω Φούσκαρις SFRANTZIS, Chron. 136.18–19 ὁ ρῆξ τῆς Ἀρμενίας Liv. α 2775 καὶ ποῦ ὁ ρῆξ καὶ ρήγαίνα Velth. 1166 ὁ ρῆξ ὁ Λατζελάος Chron. Toc. 3338

Genitive

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ός

The inherited oxytone genitive form in /os/ (ρηγός, δουκός) shows a remarkable resistance to linguistic change, appearing throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

τοῦ μακαρίτου δουκός (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 22.70) μέ τοῦ ρηγός τὴν ἀδελφὴν, Chron. Mor. H 452; τοῦ δουκός ντὲ Καρεντάνα ibid. 7103 καταπάνω τοῦ δουκός Chron. Toc. 716 τοῦ ρηγός τῆς Κύπρου (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 209.5.2) τοῦ ρηγός ὁ κτίστης MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 656.19–20 τοῦ αὐθεντός τοῦ δουκός (1527, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 220.82) ὁ ρήγας, τοῦ ρηγός SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.26 εἰς τὸ παλάτι τοῦ δουκός Stathis III.16 τοῦ ... πολυχρονημένου ρηγός (1610, Mani, FLORISTÁN 2008: 1, 281.7) στοῦ ρηγός KORNAROS, Erot. II.39 ἀπὸ το καστέλι του δουκός Don Kis. 609.17

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-α

This ending, borrowed from the old 1st declension in -ας, pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar and is in line with the general trend that can be observed in masculine nouns, with the exception of those in /os/ (see 2.1), to form the genitive by deleting the final /s/ of the nominative. Forms in -α usually appear alongside forms in -ός (see above). In verse texts the different stress patterns of the two alternative forms are conveniently exploited: cf. τοῦ ἀφέντου μου τοῦ ρῆγα Chron. Mor. H 244 (verse end) and καὶ τὴν κατοῦνα τοῦ δουκός ibid. 7103 (before the caesura). Note that the family name Δούκας appears almost exclusively with the genitive in -α:

κυροῦ Ἀνδρονίκου τοῦ Δούκα (ca. 1110, Constantinople, GAUTIER 1985: 123.1848) Κομνηνοῦ Ἰωάννου Ἀγγέλου τοῦ Δούκα (1283, Thessaly, AVRAMEA/FEISSEL 1987: 21, 380.3) τοῦ μεγάλου στρατοπεδάρχου Ἀγγέλου Δούκα (14th c., Constantinople, DELEHAYE 1921: 1, 81.18) περὶ τοῦ ρῆγα τῆς Φραγκίας, τῆς Ἀθηνοῦ τοῦ δοῦκα Chron. Mor. H 3465 τοῦ δοῦκα τὰ μηνύματα Flor. L 884 (Cupane) τοῦ δοῦκα τοῦ ἀνδρός τῆς Chron. Toc. 9 τοῦ δοῦκα τὸν τόπον (1430, Epirus, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.9) ἔχω καὶ τὴν δονασιὸν τοῦ δοῦκα (15th c., Cyprus, BAGLIONI 2006: 202.31–2) τοῦ δοῦκα (1509, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [1], 5.8) ἀπὸ τοῦ ἐκλαμπροτάτου αὐθέντη δοῦκα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 334, 319.6) τοῦ ... ρῆγα τῶν Σπανιόλων ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 368 τοῦ Δοῦκα τοῦ Πουλάδη (1663, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 124, 88.5) ποῦ 'τονε 'νοὺς ρῆγα θυγατέρα KORNAROS, Erot. I.462 νὰ εἶναι καὶ τοῦ Δοῦκα τὸ ἕμισὸ ἀμπέλι (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 27, 42.29)

Addition of final /n/ to the genitive is very rare and should perhaps be regarded as a scribal error (as the Chronicle of Tocco does not systematically avoid hiatus): τοῦ ρῆγαν Ἰταλίας Chron. Toc. 20.

The residual nominative form is sporadically used for the genitive, e.g. τοῦ δοῦξ βενετίας (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 265.22).

Accusative

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-α(ν)

The accusative ending /a/ may occur with or without final /n/:

κύρ Κωνσταντῖνον τὸν Δοῦκαν (1066, Athos, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 8, 99.11–12) τὸν εὐσεβῆ αὐτοῦ υἱὸν Γουλιάλμον ρῆγα (1153, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 11, 33.14–15) ἀπὸ τὸν ρῆγα Κάρλον Chron. Mor. H 6478; στὸν ρῆγαν Κατελώνιας ibid. 2490 Γεώργιον τὸν Δοῦκαν Ptoch. IV 655 ἐπιάσασαν τὸν ρῆγα (15th. c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 209–10.7.6–7) τὸν δοῦκα τὸν ἀφέντη Chron. Toc. 265 διὰ τὸ ρῆγα τῆς Φραγκίας (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.8) τὸν δοῦκα δὲ τῆς Ἀθηνοῦ Theseid I.14,4 (Follieri) θωρῶντα ὁ σῖρ Τιπὰτ τὸν ρῆγα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 564.12–13 τὸν δοῦκαν Alosis 365 τὸν ἐκλαμπρώτατον αὐθέντη δοῦκα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 141, 141.8) τὸν βασιλέα Μιχαήλ Δοῦκαν (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 20.49) νὰ πᾶουν ἔως τὸν ρῆγα τὸν βασιλέα (1610, Mani, FLORISTÁN 2008: 2, 282.7) τὸ Δοῦκα Σοφιανό (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 27, 41.4)

The residual nominative is sporadically used for the accusative, e.g. τὸν ρῆξ LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 412.

Vocative

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-α

The vocative ends in /a/:

δοῦκα μου Alosis 374; ρῆγα πανένδοξε ibid. 516 ὦ μέγα δοῦκα KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua V.21; ρῆγα χριστιανικώτατε ibid. IX.53 συμπάθησέ μου, ρῆγα μου KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1378

The residual nominative is sporadically used as vocative, e.g. τρισεκλαμπρότατε μέγα ρῆξ (1469, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 117, 56.1).

Plural*NominativeMasc.*

Pl.	Nom.	-άδες

The most common nominative plural ending is -άδες:

οἱ κατὰ καιροὺς δουκάδες (1185–1204, Constantinople, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 13, 322.12–13)

οἱ εὐγενικοὶ δουκάδες καὶ κοντάδες Chron. Mor. 2143 δουκάδες καὶ κοντάδες Pol. Tr. 258³⁸ πολλοὶ βασιλεῖς καὶ ρηγάδες LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 760

ποῦ με κρατοῦσιν ... ρηγάδες Poulol. 404 ρηγάδες με ἐμηνύσασιν Imber. 284 ρηγάδες καὶ τοπάρχοι Achil. N 1869 οἱ ρηγάδες (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.8) οἱ ρηγάδες ὁ ἕνας ὀπίσω τοῦ ἄλλου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.3

ἀξιώτατοι ἀφέντες καὶ ρηγάδες P&N Diath. 402 μικροὶ ἀφεντάδες, ἦγουν μικροὶ δουκάδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.6

πάπηδες καὶ ρηγάδες ΝΕΟΦΥΤΟΣ, Achouri 161

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες

The parisyllabic plural in -ες of the old 3rd declension is the exception rather than the rule for ρήγας and δοῦκας: οἱ κατὰ χώραν δοῦκες (1088, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 7, 73.30); οἱ πρόγονοι μὲν αὐτοῦ ρήγες Σεββίας (1319, Constantinople, ŽIVOJINOVIC et al. 1998: 42, 268.52).

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-αι

The residual AG 1st-declension ending in -αι is only very rarely employed with this paradigm:³⁹ οἱ ρηγάδες καὶ δοῦκαι καὶ κόντιδες ΔΟΥΚΑΣ, Hist. XIV 5.6.

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-οι

Substitution of the 2nd-declension ending -οι for -ες is very rare:⁴⁰ οἱ δοῦκοι μας νὰ κάτσουσι Zinon V.34.

³⁸ Two instances of δοῦκες in this text (post 45 and 5546) are the result of editorial intervention.

³⁹ It is limited to the word δοῦκας, which as a personal name tended to adopt 1st-declension plural endings, e.g. in Anna Komnene and Theodore Metochites (see the online TLG).

⁴⁰ No evidence has been found for a complete transfer to /os/ (*ὁ δοῦκος), but cf. τοῦ μεγάλου δούκου in Basilica 11, title 2(CA), Chapter 3, section 16, line 5 (eds. Holwerda/Scheltema; see the online TLG).

Two especially inventive one-off formations are the following, inspired by the obsolete datives plural δουζί and ρηξί: δουξοί AXAGIOLIS, Diig. Karolou 738; ρηξοί τε πάσης τάξεως κύκλω παρισταμένοι ibid. 1236.

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ηδες

This ending of the -ης paradigm (see 2.3.4; and cf. paradigm 2.2.1), occurs with the word δούκας only: οί δούκιδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 142.39; της Ιταλίας δούκηδες ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 1602; καπετανέοι, δούκηδες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 518.18; οι δούκηδες το ευφράνθηκαν Don Kis. 612.8–9.

Genitive

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-άδων -άδω

The imparisyllabic ending is the most common for the genitive plural, appearing also in less vernacular texts and documents (Dig. G and the Patriarchal Register):

τῶν Δουκάδων Dig. G IV.43 καὶ ἐτέρων ρηγάδων (1354, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 196, 134.36) τῶν Δουκάδων Dig. E 137 δουκάδων καὶ κοντάδων Pol. Tr. 3161; ἄλλων πολλῶν ρηγάδων ibid. 3202 εἰς αὐλὰς ρηγάδων Diig. tetr. 250 καὶ τῶν ρηγάδων ἡ τιμὴ Katal. 563 τῶν ευγενῶν ἀρχόντων καὶ ρηγάδων Diig. Apoll. 10 τόσων ρηγάδων παιδίᾳ Diig. Alex. Sem. B 588 τὸ γένος τῶν Δουκάδων [VLASTOS], Dig. P IV 342.18–19

Deletion of final /n/ occurs in texts from Crete: ρηγάδω θυγατέρες P&N Diath. 1740; ρηγάδω, βασιλιάδω FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 35; καὶ τῷ ρηγάδω οἱ διαφορὲς KORNAROS, Erot. V.1509.

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν

The parisyllabic ending, with a shift of the stress to the ultimate, is less common than the imparisyllabic one and appears mainly in mixed- and higher-register texts:

δουκῶν (1079, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 2, 18.21) τῶν εὐγενεστάτων ρηγῶν (1361, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 262, 554.67) ἐκ τῶν Δουκῶν τὸ γένος Dig. T 54 οἱ ἄλλοι ἀποκρισιάροι τοῦ βασιλέως καὶ τῶν ρηγῶν Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 41 ἀπὸ τὸ γένος τῶν Δουκῶν κατὰγεται [VLASTOS], Dig. P II 323.16

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-άδες

This genitive ending, morphologically identical to the accusative, occurs in texts from Cyprus and elsewhere (see 1.2 for discussion): τὰς δόσεις τοὺς προκατόχους του ρηγάδες Assizes B 285.16–17; τὰ παῖδιά τοὺς ρηγάδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 78.6–7.

Accusative

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδες

The most common ending for the accusative plural is -άδες:

τέσσαρες δουκάδες ἤφερε Pol. Tr. 2830 app. cr. (AX); ἐχάσαμεν ... δουκάδες ibid. 8005 ἀπὸ ὅλους τοὺς ρηγᾶδες Chron. Tōc. 3333 καὶ μὲ ρηγάδες ἔλεγα συμπεθερίαν νὰ ποίσω Florios 420 ἀπὲ τοὺς ρηγᾶδες Assizes A 229.19 εἰς ὅλους τοὺς ρηγᾶδες Chron. Mor. P 23 κι ἐκ' εἶδα ἀφέντες, ἄρχοντες, στρατιῶτες καὶ ρηγάδες ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 283 νὰ ζηγηθοῦμεν τοὺς ρηγάδες τοὺς λατίνους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 16.25–6 τοὺς ρηγάδες Alosis 176; δουκάδες, κούντους, πρίγκιπες ibid. 177 εἰς πέντε ρηγάδες καὶ ἄρχοντες Ekth. Chron. 2.5
 ἐγὼ δοξεύω πρέντζιπους, ἀκόμη καὶ ρηγάδες CHORTATSI, Katz. Prol. 11 τοὺς πλουσίους ἐκείνους Δουκᾶδες [VLASTOS], Dig. P V 351.35 στοὺς ρηγάδες KONDAR., Paides 405

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδας

This obsolete accusative ending does not appear in texts frequently:

τοὺς φίλους καὶ τοὺς συγγενούς, δουκάδας Liv. E 4338 δουκάδας, φίλους γνήσιους Liv. V 3960 τοὺς ἀρχηγούς δουκάδας του Liv. S 3184 (Lambert-van der Kolf) δουκάδας, μεγιστάνους Pol. Tr. 780 (reading of ms X); δουκάδας, κόντους ibid. 2565 (reading of mss AX)

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ηδες

This -ης paradigm ending (see 2.3.4), has been found with δούκας only (cf. 2.2.1): καὶ γενεράλους, δούκηδες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 568.19; εγευμάτισε με τοὺς δούκηδες Don Kis. 612.27.

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

This residual ending can be found occasionally, usually alongside the more common forms in -ες: καὶ τοὺς εὐγενεστάτους ρήγας (1361, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 262, 554.48–49); δοῦκας καβαλλαρίου Pol. Tr. 4360 app. crit. (X).

VocativeMasc.

Pl.	Voc.	-άδες

The vocative ending is identical to the nominative:

τοπάρχαι μου, δουκάδες Liv. S 3186 (Lambert-van der Kolf) παρακαλῶ, αὐθέντες καὶ ρηγάδες Alosis 453; φθέντες, ρηγάδες, τὸ λοιπὸν ἀπὸ τοῦ νῦν σᾶς γράφω ibid. 747

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-οι

Vocatives in -οι, an ending borrowed from the /os/ paradigm, have only been found in the Heptanesian tragedy Zinon (cf. the nominative, above): ἔχετε φόβο τὸ λοιπὸ, δοῦκοι Zinon I 279; δοῦκοι μου ὑψηλότατοι ibid. I 305; δοῦκοι, ὡς βλέπετε ibid. IV 282; Δοῦκοι, ἡ τόση πεθυμιὰ ibid. V 23.

2.2.4 Paroxytone Nouns with Parisyllabic Plural

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	ἀστέρας
Gen.	ἀστέρα	ἀστέρος ἀστέρου	ἀστέραν -οῦ
Acc.	ἀστέρα(ν)
Voc.	ἀστέρα
Plural
Nom.	ἀστέρες		-οι -ηδες
Gen.	ἀστέρων	ἀστέρω -ωνε
Acc.	ἀστέρες	ἀστέρας	-ους -ηδες
Voc.	ἀστέρες

Singular*NominativeMasc.*

Sg.	Nom.	-ας

The most common ending for the nominative singular is -ας:

ὁ καλαμιώνας (1193/4, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1963: 16, 131.28–9 and 31) ὁ ποῦ ἔνε καλαμεώνας δαφιλός (1333, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 15, 75.14) ἐσέβαινε ὁ χειμῶνας Chron. Mor. H 582; ὁ πατέρας του ibid. 3189; ὅπου ἦτον ὁ λιμιῶνας ibid. 9203 ἔλαμπεν ὡς ἀστέρας Pol. Tr. 285; ὁ πατέρας της ibid. 320; ὁ ἀέρας ὅλος ibid. 5524 ἄνδρας ὥσπερ ποιμένας Liv. V 895; ὁ πατέρας της ibid. 2426 ἔρχεται χειμῶνας Phys. 620
 πατέρας τοῦ Ζαχαρία (1447, Corfu, EFSTRATIADIS 1925: 50.1–2) ἦτον ἀέρας ἐκ τῆς γῆς Byz. Il. 124 φυσᾷ γλυκὺς ἀέρας BERGADIS, Apok. A 91; αὐγερινός ἀστέρας ibid. 92 ἦτον χειμῶνας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 82.20 ἕνας φωστήρας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 142.21 ὁ πατέρας ... ὁ σωτήρας SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.25; ἔλαιῶνας, καλαμιῶνας ibid. 45.29 ποιμένας καὶ λυκόπουλον ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 70 τίτ. ὡς εὐσπλαχνος σωτήρας AXAGIOLIS, Diig. Karolou 113; ὡς παμφαῆς ἀστέρας ibid. 190 ὁ ἀρραβῶνας ZYGOM., Synopsis 125.A.22 ὁ ἀγκῶνας (17th c., Kefalonia, TZANNETATOS 1965: 2, 104.9) ἀμὴ ἦτον καὶ κρασοπατέρας PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.15 ὁ πατέρας της (1670, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 31, 388.5–6)

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	Residual

Residual nominative singular forms are used in mixed- and higher-register texts, in more formal contexts (e.g. referring to emperors or biblical figures) and in verse texts, in which they conveniently serve metrical needs: cf. ὁ ἀφέντης καὶ πατήρ μας Chron. Mor. H 2733 at the verse end, and ὡσαύτως κὶ ὁ πατέρας του ibid. 3189 before the caesura (for the metrical constraints of the 15-syllable verse, see Volume 1, General Introduction, section 2). The residual nominative is sometimes treated as an indeclinable form that can also be used for the oblique cases (see below):

ὁ σὸς δεσπότης καὶ πατήρ Eisit. f.2r.3
 ποιμὴν εἶμαι εἰς πρόβατα, ποιμὴν διὰ τὸ γάλα Liv. V 900 τῆς κόρης ὁ κοιτών Liv. α 2580 φίλος ἐμὸς ὁ Κλιτοβῶν Liv. S 3192 (Lambert-van der Kolf) τάχα πατήρ τοῦ Πάρι Byz. Il. 247 ἐδιάβη ὁ ἀστήρ Alex. Rim. 2913 εἶναι ... διδάσκαλος καὶ σωτήρ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 379.7; ὁ Ἰωσήφ ὁ μνηστήρ τῆς Θεοτόκου ibid. 356.39–40 ἡ γῆς, ἡρ καὶ θάλασσα ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 452 καὶ ὁ πατήρ αὐτοῦ Κωστατῆς (1631, Lesvos, KADAS 1988: 152, 352.4–5) ὁ χιτών KALLIOUR., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 19.23 πατήρ πατέρων ἐκεῖνος IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2660

Genitive

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-α

The most common genitive ending is /a/:

- καὶ τοῦ πατέρα (1101, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 7, 395.21) τοῦ πιστοῦ καὶ ἡγαπημένου μας πατέρα (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 46, 25.2) τοῦ πατέρα μας (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 21.13) τοῦ λιμένα Theseid I.70,3 (Follieri)
 του παστάρδου του πατέρα της VOUSTR., Chron. A 6.15 τοῦ πατέρα τοῦ Ντόνο κορμιά δύο (1543, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 239, 226.38) τοῦ πατέρα μου Fyll. gadar: 148B τοῦ Πλάστη καὶ Πατέρα P&N Diath. 4282 με του χειμώνα τσι βροχές CHORTATSI, Panor. III.144 τοῦ Σωτήρα Χριστοῦ (1613, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 188, 178.10) τοῦ πατέρα του (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 140.24) πρώτες τοῦ χειμώνα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 197.27 τὴν εὐλογίαν τοῦ ἀρραβώνα (1675, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 39, 253.8) τοῦ ἀγέρα τοῦ αὐτοῦ σπιτιοῦ (1681, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 151, 322.10) (= ἀέρα)
 ἡδιοξε τοῦ πατέρα μου KORNAROS, Erot. II.808

Addition of final /n/ occurs in Cycladic texts before clitic pronouns starting in /t/, e.g. τοῦ πατέραν τως (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 19, 34.22) (cf. τὸν μπατέρα τοῦ αὐτοῦ Τζαμπάτáκην (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 42, 192.5–193.1), where the word is not followed by a clitic pronoun; see I, 3.7.2.1.2 for details).

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ος (ὶ -ός)

The old genitive forms in /os/, paroxytone for all nouns belonging to this paradigm with the exception of πατέρας, occur in texts throughout the period covered by this Grammar, especially in more formal contexts:

- μετὰ τοῦ ὀδόντος Diig. tetr. 408 πικροῦ χειμῶνος Phys. 630 ἐν μέσῳ τοῦ δρυμῶνος Synax. gadar. 34 γυνή τοῦ Σολομῶντος DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2095 ὁ σωτήρας, τοῦ σωτήρος SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.25 τοῦ ἀστέρος KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 2.7
 τοῦ Μακεδόνης (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 22.124); Συμεῶνος τοῦ Σήθ (ibid. 15, 31.41) (< indecl. Συμεών) τοῦ Σωτήρος Χριστοῦ EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 13.4–5

A shift of the stress to the antepenultimate occurs sporadically in versified texts to accommodate the metre: τοῦ κτίστου καὶ Μακέδονος ΚΑΜΑΤ., Astron. 693 (before the caesura).

The oxytone genitive πατρός (< πατήρ) is especially frequent and not restricted to formal contexts:

- τ' ὄνομα τοῦ πατρός του Chron. Mor. H 2447 κοντάριν τοῦ πατρός σου Arm. 10 ἐνοῦ πατρός καὶ πολλῶν μητέρων Assizes B 421.19 ἦτο τοῦ πατρός Ἀλεξίου τοῦ Φιορεντίνου (1447, Corfu, EFSTRATIADIS 1925: 50.3–4) τὸ ὀρκομωτικὸν τοῦ πατρός μου (1451, Constantinople?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 1, 198.23–4) τοῦ κάποτε μου ἀφεντὸς μακαρίτο πατρός (1469, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 117, 56.15)

 οἱ ἀγοῦροι τοῦ πατρός σου Achil. N 1007 ἀπὸ μητέρος καὶ πατρός KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.136 τοῦ πατρός του Alex. Rim. 390 τοῦ πατρός μας τὴν κληρονομίαν (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 36, 37.13) εἶστεν ἐνοῦ πατρός παιδία Diig. Alex. F 206.1 (Lolos) πατρός τοῦ κακοδαίμονος, τ' ἄθλιου τοῦ Ψιχαρπάγου ZINOS, Vatr. 188 τοῦ πατρός σου (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 35, 34.5) ὁ πατέρας, τοῦ πατρός SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.25 νὰ γράψης τοῦ πατρός μας τὸ ὄνομα (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.30) τοῦ πατρός μου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 53.6

The following two examples may be viewed as attempts to bring the genitive of πατέρας into line with the rest of the paradigm: τοῦ ὑπερτίμου κρασσοπατέρος Krasop. AO tit.; ἐνούς πατέρος VEST., Paid. Makkav. 1303.

A paroxytone form in -ους, a conflation of 3rd-declension -ου with 2nd-declension -ος (cf. HATZIDAKIS 1892: 55), occurs in a document from Corfu: εἰς τὸ μοναστήρι τοῦ μεγάλου Σωτήρους (1696, Corfu, KARATHANASIS 1972: 4, 320.5).

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ου ἢ -οῦ

Paroxytone genitives in -ου, which borrow their ending from the /os/ paradigm, pre-date the period covered by this Grammar,⁴¹ but do not occur very frequently. The ubiquitous alternative ending of the proparoxytone paradigm 2.2.5 (ὁ κόρακας, τοῦ κοράκου) may also have had some influence on this formation:

τοῦ ἀέρου ΚΑΜΑΤ., Astron. 4042 τοῦ Τελαμῶνου Pol. Tr. 1124, 8177, 12824 τοῦ ἀγκώνου (1539, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 1158, 895.8) γεῖναι τὸ Ἀγίου Σωτέρου (17th/18th c., Pontos, TURYN 1980: 144 (f.202r).1)

There are several examples of an oxytone genitive in -οῦ of the word πατέρας in the Chronicle of Tocco. This ending is modelled on the inherited oxytone /os/ ending but with substitution of 2nd-declension /u/ for /os/ (cf. paradigms 2.2.1, 2.2.2): τοῦ πατροῦ των Chron. Toc. 18; τοῦ πατροῦ τους ibid. 22 and 37.

The residual nominative form is sometimes used instead of the genitive:

τοῦ Κλιτοβῶν τοῦ φίλου Liv. E 4255 παῖς ὁ δεύτερος πατήρ τοῦ Ροδοφίλου Velth. 384 τοῦ Σολομῶν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2094 τοῦ Σολωμῶν τὰ λόγια Diig. Alex. E 135.11 (Lolos) τοῦ ἀήρ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 107.37
 Βαλσαμῶν Θεοδώρου πατριάρχου (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.23)

⁴¹ Cf. the forms Μακεδόνου in a 3rd-c. AD inscription (see PANAYOTOU 1992b: 21) and λιμένου in a 3rd-c. papyrus (see GIGNAC 1981: 44).

τοῦ Σολωμών Alex. Fyll. 34.3–4 διὰ ὄνομα τοῦ μρ. Μανόλη Μακεδών (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 110.36)

An innovative formal-looking genitive based on the residual nominative is the following:
τοῦ ἀῆρος FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 1 and 22 and Interm. II 4.

Accusative

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-α(ν)

There is no variation in the ending of the accusative singular, other than that it may occur with or without final /n/ throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

ὡς πατέρα μου λέγω σε τὴν αἰτίαν μου NIKON, Logos 9 312.10 τὸν τοιοῦτον μὲν καλαμῶναν (1154/5, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 5, 79.8) τὸν ἐμὸν πνευματικὸν πατέρα (1197–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 42, 217.11) ἔδωκεν ἀρραβῶναν (1264, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 21, 163.11) κρατήραν ἀσημένον (1334, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 43, 131.24) ὁμοῦ μὲ τὸν πατέρα μου Chron. Mor. H 4276; πατέρα εἶχαν τὰ ὀρφανά ibid. 7225 χρυσὸν ἀστέρα εἶχεν Dig. E 11; τοῦ Ἀκρίτη τὸν πατέρα ibid. 738 λέγει τὸν Κλιτοβόντα Liv. E 80 καλὲς εἰς χαρακτήραν Liv. V 459; εἰς ἀέρα ἤλεγά το ibid. 1549 εἰς τὸν λιμέναν τῆς σωτηρίας Assizes B 295.22 ἔδιδαν τὸν πατέρα μου (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956 275.27) τέτοιον γλυκὺν ἀέρα FALIEROS, Ist. On. 370 καὶ πιστεύω πατέρα, υἱὸν καὶ ἅγιον πνεῦμα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.18 λαβωμένος εἰς τὸν ἀγκῶνα (1539, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 1158, 895) ἀέρα χρυσοκόκκινον (1557, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 11, κς'.52) τὸ χειμῶνα (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 15, 13.8) τὸν ἀχειρίωνα (1592, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 37, 183.6) ἐποίησεν ἡ θάλασσα χειμῶνα ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1150; ἐκ τῶν σπαθιδῶν ἀθήραν ibid. 2538 καὶ ὀδόντα μετὰ θήκης ἀργυρῆς (1596, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 27, 141.6) ἐγέννησε τὸν Σολομών KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 1.6;⁴² εἶδαμεν τὸν ἀστέρα του ibid. 2.2
τὴν κάμαρα μὲ τὸν ἀγέρα τοῦ δωμάτου (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 180.26); πῶς τσῆ ἴστρεψες τὸν ἀρραβῶνα (1685, ibid. 580, 805.15) ἐκλινε τον αυχένα MINIATIS, Didachai 478.11

The residual nominative is sometimes used instead of the accusative:

τὸν πατήρ του Chron. Mor. H 454 εἰς τὸν πατήρ του Pol. Tr. 3267 app. crit. (A) ὁμοιάζω τὸν πατήρ μου Synax. gadar. 148 ἔδωσαμεν τὸν πατήρ (1503, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 8, 107.11) ὑπάγει εἰς τὸν πατήρ του Pol. Tr. 3267 app. crit. (A) τὸν πατήρ ἀντάμα μὲ τὴν μήτηρ Achil. N 360 πρὸς τὸν πατήρ του γράφει Achil. O 316 τὸν λεπτὸν ἀήρ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 143.2

⁴² The name Σολομών may form the oblique cases by adding the ending to the nominative instead of the dental stem Σολομώντ-. Examples can already be found in the New Testament.

As many of the nouns in -ών have alternative nominatives in -ός (see 2.1), it is difficult to establish whether the forms were perceived as belonging to the /os/ paradigm or whether they are instances of residual nominatives used as accusatives:

εἰς τὸν χειμῶν, τὴν κλύδωνα Byz. Il. 446 τὸν χιτῶν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 467; χειμῶν καὶ καλοκαίριν ibid. 2006; τὸν Σολομῶν ibid. 2061 τὸν Σολωμῶν Synax. gyn. 338 νὰ εἶναι φυλαγμένα ... χειμὸν καλοκαίρι (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 8, 25.14)

Vocative

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-α

The most common ending for the vocative is -α, reflecting the general trend in all masculine nouns apart from those in /os/ (see 2.1) of dropping the final /s/ of the nominative in the vocative:

φίλε μου Κλιτοβῶντα Liv. α 4424 app. crit. (P) καλὲ πατέρα Ptochol. α 534 ὦ τίμιε πατέρα μου CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1912 καὶ ποῦ 'σαι 'δά, πατέρα»! SKLAVOS, Symf. 31 σήκω, πατέρα Diig. Alex. F 136.11 (Lolos) φωστήρα τ' οὐρανοῦ Thrinios Konst. (Zoras) 24 ἐσένα κράζω, τοῦ ὁρανοῦ φωστήρα Zinon III. 121 γροίκησε, πατέρα μου Apok. Theot. 495.12

The residual vocative, mainly of the word πατήρ, is used in higher-register texts and more formal contexts, as the following examples illustrate:

πνευματικέ μου τίμιε πάτερ NIKON, Logos 9 310.6 ἀνάστα, πάτερ Dig. G VII.119 ὦ πάτερ, πάτερ βασιλεῦ [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 112 κύριε, πάτερ, βασιλεῦ Imb. Rim. 442 χαίρε, σῶτερ κλεινῆς Ἑλλάδος (1514, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1963b: 164.25) ὦ πάτερ, ἐσύ εἶσαι μέγας NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 51.1 πάτερ πατέρων MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 16 δόξα Σοι, Πάτερ ἅγιε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1253 παρακαλῶ σε, πάτερ μου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1265

The residual nominative form sometimes appears as vocative:

αὐθέντα καὶ πατήρ Dig. G IV.73 ἄκουσον, φίλε Κλιτοβῶν Liv. E 2464 πατήρ μου, τί ἔνε τὸ θλίβεσαι Achil. O 129 πατήρ καὶ δάσκαλέ μου FALIEROS, Thrinios 118 app. crit. ὦ Πατήρ P&N Diath. 857 ἀφέντη καὶ πατήρ μου (1680, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 8, 301, f.1r.2)

Plural*NominativeMasc.*

Pl.	Nom.	-ες ἢ -ις

The inherited parisyllabic plural in -ες is the normal ending throughout the period covered by this Grammar:⁴³ ἔδε κριταὶ καὶ δικασταὶ καὶ νόμοι καὶ κανόνες! GLYKAS, Stichoi 269 οἱ ἄρραβῶνες οὓς ἔλαβεν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 228.79) ἔλαμπαν ὥς ἀστέρες Pol. Tr. 6334 οἱ ὀδόντες τοῦ παιδίου STAFIDAS, Iatrosoph. 7.202–3 ᾿ς τοὺς ἔμορφους ἄερες Chron. Toc. 3456 πατέρες καὶ μητέρες Kakop. 1 οἱ γλυκοὶ μου ἀστέρες Cypr. Canz. 23.3 οἱ φωστήρες τῆς οἰκουμένης Pist. kekoim. 419–20 οἱ ἄερες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 211.10 οἱ ἄρραβῶνες ZYGOM., Synopsis 124.A.21 αν Μακεδόνες εἰμασθεν STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 160 (Pidonia) οἱ ἀστέρες KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 13.25 καὶ καλοὶ κρασοπατέρες ὅλοι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.123 οἱ ὀδόντες τοὺς LANDOS, Geopon. 224.24 νά ᾿χουν τοῦτον τὸν καμὸν πατέρες καὶ μητέρες Thrinios Kypr. 37

Forms in /is/ are phonetic rather than morphological variants of /es/, reflecting mid-vowel raising of unstressed /e/ to /i/ (see I, 2.5.4 for details): ἄγιοι πατέρις (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 2270).

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-οι

This ending, borrowed from the /os/ paradigm, occurs a few times with the word Μακεδών/Μακεδόνας in two versions of the Alexander Romance: ἔρχονται Μακεδόνοι Alex. Rim. 791; ποιοὶ ᾿ναι οἱ Μακεδόνοι ibid. 871 (not quite rhyming with ἀπομένη and τρομασμένοι respectively); οἱ Μακεδόνοι Diig. Alex. E 133.4 (Lolos). The form πάτεροι in the following example is derived from Latin pater rather than from πατήρ: Γεζουβῖται καὶ πάτεροι VATATSI, Periig. I 574.

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ηδες

⁴³ An instance of an imparisyllabic plural in -άδες, a nominative οἱ Πατεράδες (“Church Fathers”), in the modern edition of Damaskinos Stouditis’ Thisavros (16th c.) (DELIDIMOS 1941) is of much later date. The edition is based on a 19th-c. reworking of the text. The 1561 Venetian edition reads οἱ πατέρες.

This ending, borrowed from the /is/ paradigm, is only very rarely employed with nouns belonging to this paradigm: ἤλθαν οἱ πατέριδες εἰς τὸ σπηῖτι τοῦ Κάνλικη (1701, Vienna, LEGRAND 1903: 13, 36.1).

Genitive

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ων ἢ -ω ἢ -ωνε

The inherited ending -ων is the only ending for the genitive plural:

νόμους τῶν πατέρων Ptoch. IV 339 τῶν ὀδόντων STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 8.204 τῶν ἄλλων ἀστέρων KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 407.38 πλησίον ἐλαιῶνων (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 229, 162.4) ὁλουνῶν τῶν πατέρων (1595, Kefalonia, GARBIS 1999: 412.3) τὸ σκαμνὶ τῶν πατέρων τοὺς Chron. Tourk. Soult. 43.23 χαλασμός τῶν πατέρων, τιμωρία τῶν μανάδων Bertoldos 19.17 ἔχουσι ἐλαιῶνων τόσην ποσότητα LANDOS, Geopon. 146.20
 πατήρ πατέρων ἐκεῖνος IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2660
 τῶν μπατέρων (1687, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 103, 323.5–6)

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in a Cypriot and a Cretan text, but is likely to occur in other areas as well (Mani, certain Aegean islands; see I, 3.7.2.2): τῶ τριακοσίῳ θεοφόρῳ πατέρῳ (1534, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 18, 232.10); πατέρῳ καὶ παππάδῳ P&N Diath. 214.

Addition of -(v)ε occurs in Heptanesian texts (see I, 2.6.3.1): τοῦ αὐτοῦ μοναστηρίου καὶ πατέρωνε (1603 [17th/18th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 506.9).

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ες ἢ -ας

In Cypriot texts genitives plural occur in which the ending is morphologically identical to the accusative (for discussion see 1.2): εἰς τὴν ἐξουσίαν τοὺς πατέρας τοὺς Assizes B 441.12; εἰς τὰ χέργια τοὺς πατέρες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 54.2.

Accusative

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες

This inherited ending is the most common for the accusative plural:

καὶ οἶκον καὶ ἄμπελον καὶ καλαμιῶνες (1180, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 200, 262.37) ἄλλοι τὰ πλάγια ἐφύγασιν, ἄλλοι δρυμῶνες πάλιν Pol. Tr. 902 τοὺς ἄερες Flor. L 526 τοὺς δύο μὲν ἀστέρες Cypr. Canz. 127.6. εἰς τοὺς πατέρες (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 341.42) πνευματικούς πατέρες (1545, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 164, 106.5) εἰς τοὺς κανόνες (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.9) ῥς τοὺς δρυμῶνες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 34.22 ἄερες χρυσοὺς (1628/9, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 1, 41.6) τοὺς πατέρες (1656, Andros, POLEMIS 2001: 59, 178.4)

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

This residual ending can be found occasionally in higher-register texts and more formal contexts:

τοὺς ὀδόντας Dig. G III.102 ἔσβειουν τοὺς ἀστέρας Liv. V 2565 τοὺς ποιμένας Ptochol. P 38 τοὺς φωστήρας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 142.20 ἔρωταποκρίσεις εἰς τοὺς κανόνas (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.23)

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ους

The occasional employment of the ending of the 2nd-declension /os/ paradigm is a phenomenon that pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar.⁴⁴ There may also be some influence from paradigm 2.2.5 (ὁ κόρακας, τοὺς κοράκους), which adopts this ending much more systematically:

τοὺς ἀγκώνους Dig. E 1707
 ἀπάνω ῥς Μακεδόνους Alex. Rim. 836 τοὺς Μακεδόνους Diig. Alex. F 120.21 (Lolos) τοὺς Μακεδόνους Diig. Alex. V 36.14 με τους Μακιδόνους Diig. Alex. K 365.14 (Mitsakis)

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ηδες

This ending, borrowed from the paroxytone -ης paradigm (see 2.3.4), occurs in a collection of documents from Naxos with the word ἄερας (meaning “right to extend (a property)”, not “air”): με πάσαν τως ἀγέρηδες (1681, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 158, 330.13); με τοὺς ἀγέρηδές τως (ibid. 159, 331.10); τοὺς ἀγέρηδες τοῦ αὐτοῦ σπιτίου (1685, ibid. 558, 784.4).

Vocative

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-ες

⁴⁴ Cf. a very early (AD 128) accusative plural χιθώνους (for χιτώνας) quoted by GIGNAC 1981: 45 and a medieval example: καθὰπέρ τινας ἀειφανεῖς ἀστέρους Michael the Monk, Encomium of SS. Isakos and Dalmatos 277.10 (9th c., 10th-c. ms; ed. Hatlie).

The vocative ending is identical to the most common nominative ending. No variation has been found:

ἀλλὰ »κακόν«, ἐκραύγασαν, »πατέρες, τὸ λεγμένον«, Ptoch. IV 342 σελήνη καὶ ἀστέρες PLOUSIAD., Thrinós 84 (Vasileiou) στρατιῶτες Μακεδόνες Alex. Rim. 863 να το ηξεύρητε καλά, εσεῖς Μακιδόνες Diig. Alex. K 369.20–1 ἱερεῖς καὶ πατέρες Pist. kekoim. 10 κι εσεῖς, ὡ ἀγιότατοι ποιμένες πατριάρχαι ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 9938 ἀστέρες, θρηνησιτῆτε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 177.11

2.2.5 Proparoxytone Nouns with Parisyllabic Plural

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	κόρακας	-ης
Gen.	κόρακος κοράκου κόρακα	-η
Acc.	κόρακα(ν)	-η(ν)
Voc.	κόρακα	-η
Plural
Nom.	κόρακες κοράκοι	κοράκες κόρακοι	-άδες -ηδες
Gen.	κοράκων	κοράκω κοράκωνε	κόρακων -ουνε -άδων
Acc.	κόρακες κοράκους	κόρακας	-άδες -αίους
Voc.	κόρακες κοράκοι

Singular

Nominative

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ας

The most common ending for the nominative singular is /as/. It appears before (see introduction to 2.2), throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

ὁ Φύλακας (ca. 1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 178.234) Λέων κοράτορας (1139, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 121, 162.14) πρίγκιπας τῆς Κάπουας (1144?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 9, 312.3) νὰ γένη πρωτοστράτορας Dig. G II.69 εἴτις ἐν ἄρχοντας (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 271.214) ὁ προνοιάτορας Chron. Mor. H 2001; ὁ κόμιτας ibid. 2194; ὡς φάλκοντας περδίκιν ibid. 4006 ὁ βραχίονας Pol. Tr. 1089 (reading of ms X); ὅς ἦτον Ἀγαμέμνονας ibid. 1982 ἂν δώση ὁ Παντοκράτορας Florios 1210 ὁ μέρμηγκας Achil. L 1008 (Hesseling) ὁ γέροντας (1496, Pesaro, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 3, 132.31) ὁ φυλακάτορας SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 91; ὁ δαίμονας τοὺς ἔκαμε ibid. 125 ὁ κερνάτορας Diig. Alex. V 75.5 σώνοντας ὁ τέρμονας (1506, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 484, 345.13) ὁ Μπέντε Βόγιας ἄρπαγας KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua IX.65 εἶναι διάκονας Pist. kekoim. 104 ὁ πάτρωνας ZYGOM., Synopsis 135.1.84 γεννᾶται ἕνας σκούληκας SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 434.204–5 ὁ λάρυγγας MOREZINOS, Klini 229.27 ὁ πούγουνάς της Diig. Alex. Sem. S 8 (< πώγων) ὁ δὲ τζιντζίρας εἶπε Vios Aisop. K 191.27; ὁ πόντικας ibid. 203.29 ὁ γιανιτζάραγας, ὁ κεχαγιάπεγης καὶ ὁ Πεκτάσαγας (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 400, f.2r.28–29) (< Turk. yeniçeri ağa and Bektaş ağa) εἶμαι ὡσάν ἀσπάλακας BOUNIALIS EM., Epain. Korn. 25 ἕνας κάρλακας ζωντανὸς (1683, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 2011: 334, 328.3) ἕνα κελὶ μικρὸν, καὶ ὁ ἄρτηκας (1696, Nauplion, DOKOS 1971/74: 17, 53.4) (< νάρθηξ) ὁ ... δέσποτας Μιχαήλ EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 25.6 (< Voc. δέσποτα < δεσπότης)

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ης

A small number of ex-3rd-declension nouns of Latin origin with /r/-stem, among which βιγλάτωρ, καῖσαρ, μάϊστωρ and πράκτωρ, as well as later formations making use of the ending -τωρ such as ἐννοικάτωρ, may develop alternative forms, for the singular only, by analogy with the /is/ paradigm (cf. the other cases):

ὁ Καῖσαρης τῆς Ρωμανίας Chron. Mor. H 5417 βιγλάτορης (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 679) εἷς μάστορης (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 59, 48.1); ὁ μάστορης (ibid. 73, 56.7) ὁ μέγας μάστορης τῆς Ρόδου (1487, Chios?, LEFORT 1981: 13, 77.14–15) ὁ πράχτορης (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 143, 68.1) ὁ καῖσαρης ὁ μέγας Velis. χ 441 ὁ βιγλάτορης Synax. gyn. 391 ὁ Ἰωάννης Καῖσαρης (1577, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 8, 20.2) ὁ νοικάτορης ZYGOM., Synopsis 194.E.114 (< ἐννοικάτωρ) ὁ μάστορης GERMANO, Grammar 60.18 πρωτόγερος ἢ πρωτομάστορης PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.99 πρωτομάστορης τῶν ψωμάδων (1649–69, Thessaly, SPANOS 2001: 357, f.95r.5)

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	residual

Residual forms are used throughout the period under review in higher-register texts and more formal contexts. Verse texts are more likely to use them for metrical convenience; compare:

ὁ πρωτοστράτωρ τὸ ἤκουσεν Chron. Mor. H 1707 and καὶ μέγας πρωτοστράτορας ibid. 163. Some representative examples are:

ταῦτος ὁ ρύας (1126, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 98, 129.7) (for ταῦτος see 5.5.1.11) ὅταν ὁ κόραξ πούποτε καθίση καὶ φωνάξη GLYKAS, Stichoi 20 ὁ καύσων σου δὲ καίει με Spaneas Va 31 αὐτοκράτωρ Ῥωμαίων (14th c., Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 21B, 162.2) ἀνὴρ τίς ... ὀνόμ(α)τι Καππάδοξ (1365, Serres, LEFORT 1973: 27, 162.8–9) ἐξέψυξεν ὁ ἥρωρ Pol. Tr. 7072 ὁ νυκτοκόραξ Phys. 200; ὁ λέων ἔναι βασιλεὺς ibid. 942 τιτιμημένος ἄρχων (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 271.4) ὁ γέραξ Poulol. 378
 ὁ καῖσαρ ὃν δουλεύεις Spanos A 117 Ἔρωρ ἐγέννησέν την Achil. N 858 πῶς καὶ διατὶ λέγεται βουλκόλαξ (16th c., Serres?, LAMBROS 1904a: 343.17) Ἀρχίλογος ὁ γίγας Theseid VI.51,1 (Olsen) ὡς δράκων τὰ πουλιὰ ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 8 ὁ σκευοφύλαξ κύρ Γεωργάκη (1658, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 78, 198.2–3) γείτων ὁ δικός μας PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 209 (cf. γείτονας ὁ δικός σας ibid. 217) με τί τρόπον ἐμάντευε ὁ πίθηξ Don Kis. 326.31 (cf. ὁ πίθηκας ibid. 316.34)

Genitive

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ος

This inherited genitive ending remains in use throughout the period covered by this Grammar, often alongside the newer formations in -ου and -α (see below):

περνᾶ τὸ ἀκρωτήριν τοῦ Κόρακος (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 54.61) Λέοντος τοῦ Παχῆ (1109, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 11, 404.18) τοῦ γείτονος τοῦ πονηροῦ GLYKAS, Stichoi 80 τοῦ Τζιάνη τοῦ γέροντος (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.22–3) τοῦ πρίγκιπος ἐκείνου Chron. Mor. H 2758 τοῦ ἐλέφαντος Phys. 2; τοῦ θώρακος ibid. 361 ἔξ Ἑρωτος Achil. N 327 μάγκιπος υἱὸς ὑπάρχω Ptochol. α 785 παρὰ τοῦ εὐγενεστάτου ἄρχοντος κυροῦ Μαρίνου τοῦ Φαλιέρου FALIEROS, Thrinis tit. στοῦ δράκοντος τὸ στόμα BERGADIS, Apok. V 65 ὀπίσω τοῦ φούντικος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 672.2 (< Arab. funduq) ἐκ την σποράν του μύρμηγκος Theseid VI.15,4 app. crit. (V) (Olsen) τοῦ εἰρημένου κύρ Λέοντος (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 11, 19.11) Λέοντος τοῦ σοφοῦ (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 20.48); ἱερέως καὶ νομοφύλακος (ibid. 12, 24.6) τὸ θέλημα δαίμονος ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 124 τοῦ Ζήνωνος Zinon Prol. 127 τοῦ ἁγίου γέροντος RODINOS, Vios Ign. 79.2 τοῦ Γολιάθ τοῦ Ἑλλήνος Alex. Fyll. 47.17 του ἔρωτος Don Kis. 103.17–18; την πονηρίαν του δαίμονος ibid. 111.22; του γείτονος ibid. 590.16

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ου

This alternative ending, borrowed from the /os/ paradigm (see 2.1) pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar by centuries (see introduction to 2.2). Forms in -ου invariably present a shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate (cf. nom., acc. and voc. pl.). They often appear alongside forms in -ος (see above) and -α (see below). For poets the different stress patterns are especially convenient, cf. καὶ τὴν δρακόντου πόλιν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1380 and ὁ θάνατος τοῦ δράκοντος ibid. 2381. Genitives in -ου occur in texts from all regions and remained in widespread use throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar (see e.g. THUMB 1912: 48):

- ὁ τοῦ ἀρχόντου τῶν ἀρχόντων υἱὸς Μιχαήλ (1140, Sicily)⁴⁵ τοῦ ἑτέρου ρυάκου (1143, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 6, 560.15) ἐν τῇ διακρατῇ Κροτόνου (1199, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 247, 335.10) (< Croton, S. Italy) μεγάλου περιγίπτου (1257, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 33, 458.1) Λέοντος τοῦ Μαστόρου (1260, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 18, 8.6) δουλευτῆς μαγκίπου Ptoch. III 165 ἀπὸ φτοράν δαιμόνου Chron. Mor. H 3774 τοῦ βουνοῦ τοῦ Κοράκου (1394, Athos?, KRAVARI 1991: 20, 144.35) τοῦ Ἐκτόρου Pol. Tr. 1320; τοῦ Νεστόρου ibid. 1456; τοῦ Ἀπολλώνου ibid. 11826 (reading of ms A) τοῦ ἥρώου ERMON., Ilias Prol. 8 τοῦ γειτόνου μου Assizes B 360.29 δρακόντου αἶμα STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 13.366 τοῦ περιγίπτου SFRANTZIS, Chron. 42.22 τοῦ κηρύκου Assizes A 215.9 τοῦ βουλκολάκου (16th c., Serres?, LAMBROS 1904a: 349.19) τοῦ χανδάκου (1518, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 51, 168.31) τὸν λόγον τοῦ γερόντου Alex. Rim. 573; Ἰᾶμμου βασιλίας ibid. 1411 στήν κάψαν τοῦ ἐρώτου Theseid Prol. E 95 τοῦ Χανδάκου τῆς Κρήτης (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 181, 171.1–2) ὁ μύρμηγας, τοῦ μυρμήγγου SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.14–15 τὸ σπίτιν τοῦ γειτόνου Pist. kekoim. 593 τοῦ κοράκου Dimotika Ivir. IV.7 ὁ κάβουρας, τοῦ καβούρου GERMANO, Grammar 60.2–3 μοιάζεις ἑνοῦς δαιμόνου FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.59 τοῦ παλαιοῦ δρακόντου IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3859; ἐκείνου τοῦ ἀρχόντου ibid. 6022 μά ᾗ γε γερόντου γνώση KORNAROS, Erot. I.79

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-α

This ending is in line with the dominant development in masculine nouns of forming the genitive by deleting the final /s/ of the nominative (as in SMG; see the introduction to ⁴⁵ Quoted in JOHNS 2002: 82, n. 139.

Chapter 2); it appears as an alternative from the very beginning of the period under review in texts from north to south and west to east:

τοῦ χάνδακα (1122?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 17, 415.8) τοῦ ρύακα (1144?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 9, 313.26) παῖδες Σάρακα (1188, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 225, 297.32) τοῦ πρίγκιπα Γυλιάμου Chron. Mor. H 1193 (τοῦ ...) ἱερομνήμονα (1432, Corfu, ASONITIS 1996/97: 3, 29.2) πλησίον ἀμπελίου Νέστορα Ρύκου (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 62, 179.12) τοῦ Κώστα Χαρτοφύλακα (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 55.10) στοῦ Μιχάλακα (1496, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1, 48.28) τοῦ Κρέοντα, τοῦ βασιλέως τῆς Θήβας Theseid II.10, tit. (1529); του μέρμηκα ibid. VI.15.4 (Olsen) του γέροντα Kakop. 57 τοῦ εὐγενοῦς ἄρχοντα (1548, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1992: 15.13) τοῦ ἄνωθε γέροντα (1588 [17th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 464.24) τοῦ κόρακα P&N Diath. 1478 τοῦ γέροντα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 139.6 ὁ κόρακας [τοῦ κόρ]ακα ROMANOS, Grammar 4.20 τὸν τοῖχον τοῦ νάρθηκα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §3.4 Χρῦσος τοῦ Πήδουλα (1649–69, Thessaly, SPANOS 2001: 357, f.95r.13) τοῦ Μιχαήλ τοῦ Λίμπωνα BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 25 τοῦ δράκοντα KORNAROS, Erot. II.1520

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-η

A small number of ex-3rd-declension nouns of Latin origin with /r/-stem, among which βιγλάτωρ, καίσαρ, μαῖστωρ and πράκτωρ, may develop alternative forms, for the singular only, by borrowing endings from the /is/ paradigm (cf. the other cases): τοῦ Καίσαρη ἦτον ἀδελφός Chron. Mor. H 5231.

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	Residual

The residual nominative is sometimes used as genitive. Some representative examples are:

τὸ χωράφιον μαῖστωρ Ἰωάννου (1180, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 199, 261.8) τοῦ Νέστωρ Pol. Tr. 1456 app. crit. (B); τοῦ Ἀγαμέμνων Pol. Tr. 2714 app. crit. (RVX) τοῦ προπάτωρ Peri xen. 576 τοῦ εὐγενοῦς ἄρχων (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 175, 176.8) τοῦ προφητάναξ Δαβίδ (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 13, 26.14) τοῦ ποτέ εὐγενῆ ἄρχων (1607, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 448, 410.1–2) τοῦ ἁγίου Σπυρίδων (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III–V, 511.41.1)

Accusative

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-α(ν)

This inherited ending is by far the most common ending for the accusative singular. It may appear without and with final /n/ throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

Λέονταν τὸν Πλουσιανόν (1042, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 3, 46.16) τὸν διάκονα ἀπεδίωξεν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31 822.33 εἰς τὸν ρύακαν (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 307.24) τὸν γέροντα Chron. Mor. H 896; μέγαν πρωτοστράτορα ibid. 3279
τὸν γέρονταν ἐλάλει Dig. E 687 (Jeffreys)
τὸν καύσωνα τῆς ἡμεροῦ Spaneas Z 141 ὡς γέρονταν (14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 147.5) ἀπαιτὶ τὸν φούντικαν καὶ κάτω Assizes B 494.12 (< Arab. funduq) τὸν εἰρημένον ἄρχοντάν μας (1428, Lefkada, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 12, 253.20); πρὸς τὸν ἄρχοντά μας (ibid. 253.27) ἐμένα τὸν ἱέρακα Poulol. 402 νὰ τὸν ἡγράψω κήρυκαν PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 14 εἰς τὸν φάρυγγα τοῦ Ἄδου Ag. Nik. Strat. 43.19 βήχαν, σφάκτην, πλέμοναν Spanos A 158 (= πνεύμοναν) τὸν ἄνακταν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2451; τὸν ἄρπαγαν ἐκείνον ibid. 2471 τὸ σκούληκαν FALIEROS, Log. did. 73 ἐντάμα μετὰ τὸν δαίμονα Synax. gyn. 49 δράκοντ' εἶδα BERGADIS, Apok. A 61 (for apocope see I, 2.7.3) τὸν λιόνταν Fior 127.1 (= λέονταν with synizesis, see I, 2.9.4) τὸν μήλιγγα SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 464.1141 (= μήνιγγα) εἰς τὸ Χάρακα (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 392, 364.5) γιανιτζάραγαν ἢ σερτάρην MAXIMOS, Synax. Ag. Nik. 137.8–9 (< Turk. yeniceri ağa) τὸν σκευοφύλακα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §4.1–2; τὸν ἀνθρωπον κάμει ... ζήτουλαν ibid. II §9.5–6 μετὰ ἄρτηκα (1696, Tripoli, DOKOS 1971/74: 11, 50.4) (< νάρθηξ)

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-η(ν)

A small number of ex-3rd-declension nouns of Latin origin with /r/-stem, among which βιγλάτωρ, καίσαρ, μαῖστωρ and πράκτωρ (cf. the other cases), may develop alternative forms for the singular by analogy with the /is/ paradigm:

μάστορην καὶ τεχνίτην Ptoch. III 163 app. crit. (G) ἐκάμαν συμφωνίαν μετὰ ἕναν μάστορη (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 73, 56.1) διὰ να τοὺς δώση πρωτομάστορην (1453, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1967: 1, 48.16) πρωτομάστορην τῶν κτιστῶν (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 7, 311.13) κάλλιο παρὰ τὸν Καίσαρη P&N Diath. 3437 (< καίσαρ) τὸν πρωτομάστορήν σου ... τὸν μάστορήν σου PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §8.26

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	Residual

Sometimes the residual nominative form is used as accusative:

τὸν ρύαξ (1157/8, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 20, 162.5) μετὰ τὸν σεβαστοκράτωρ Chron. Mor. H 7971 ἐφύλαγαν τὸν Ἑκτωρ Pol. Tr. 3257

τὸν ὕδρωψ Phys. 1035

τὸν μέγαν αὐτοκράτωρ LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 48

τὸν σοφώτατον μέγαν ρήτωρ Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 237

τὸν Παντοκράτωρ Diig. Alex. Sem. B 119

As many nouns deriving from 3rd-declension -ων and -ως have alternative nominatives in -ος (in which the residual ending -ων or -ως is directly replaced by -ος, see 2.1), it is likely that the following forms should be viewed as innovative accusatives in -ο(ν), the choice between <ω> and <ο> being just a matter of spelling:

Λέων τὸν Φώτην (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 307.11)

εἶς τὸν θεὸν Ἀπόλλων Pol. Tr. 2336 (Ἀπόλλω in X); ἐκοίμησαν τὸν ἥρων ibid. 7327 (ἥρω in X)

(cf. τοῦ Ἀγαμέμνου ibid. 2714 app. crit. (A)) τὸν Ἀγαμέμνων ERMON., Ilias 3.163 (cf. τοῦ Ἀπόλλου ERMON., Ilias 7.317) ἔχει καὶ δράκων συγγενὴν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1276 εἰς τὸν χειμῶν Byz. Il. 446 τὸν λέων Achil. N 1411 (cf. ὁ δράκος καὶ ὁ λέος ibid. 1849) τὸν ἥρων LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 472

τὸ Μίνω CHORTATIS, Erof. Dedic. 26 τὸν Γαλακτίων PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.190

Vocative

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-α

The normal ending for the vocative is -α:

Πρίγκιπα, ἐσὺ θεωρεῖς Chron. Mor. H 4222

ἄν σε ἀφήσω, λέοντα Dig. E 518; ἄκουσόν μου, γέροντα ibid. 672; στράτορα, πρωτοστράτορα ibid. 797

Ἔρωτα, ἃς εἶχες λυπηθεῖ Love poems V 541 παντάνακτα, δὲν γράφω οὐδὲ γράμμα KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.6

ὦ ... Ἀχιλλέα καὶ Ἔκτορα Diig. Alex. F 204.15–16 (Lolos) ἐνδοξότατε ... πρίντζιπα (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 259.4) σώπα, σώπα, γέροντά μου Ptochol. A 257

Ἔρωτα, πρέπει να σε λε τω σκληροκάρδω χάρο CHORTATIS, Panor. V.189; κακόμοιρε κι' ἀτύχουλα id., Katz. II.41

δὲ ντρέπεσαι, μεθύστακα; Stathis III.545

ὦ κάβουρα GERMANO, Grammar 60.6

Νικόλαε, θεράποντα MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 5

ὦ Χάρο, Χάρο, Χάροντα MONTSEL., Evgena 759 ἀποστολάτορά μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 175; γαϊδούρακα! ibid. III.60; μπουτζούρακα ibid. III.567 στό χαλασμό σου, Χάνδακα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 548.4

κόρακα τῆς ἀβύσσου Zinon I.137 διὰ σέ, πιστέ μου Λίμπωνα BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 508

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-η

A small number of ex-3rd-declension nouns of Latin origin with /r/-stem, among which βιγλάτωρ, καίσαρ, μάϊστωρ and πράκτωρ (cf. nom., gen. and acc. sg.), may develop alternative forms for the singular by analogy with the /is/ paradigm: μάστορη, και την τιμήν ειπέ με ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 90.8.

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	Residual

The residual vocative is used sporadically. In the case of nouns in -ων and -ωρ it is indistinguishable from the residual nominative, as the distinction between <ω> and <ο> is merely a matter of spelling:

κύρ Νήφων (1213/14, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 44, 227.3) φεύγε πονηρὲ δαίμον (14th c., Pontos, VEIS 1939: 1–2, 199, f.3.9) ὦ κηπουρέ μου γέρον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1831 γέρον πεπαλαιωμένε Ptochol. α 353 γαληνότε αὐτοκράτωρ Βλαντομερίου (1652, Crete, TCHENTSOVA 2002: 1, 355.4) διαλάλησε, κῆρυξ, καὶ φώναξέ το ΚΟΝΔΑΡ., Paidēs 451 ἄρχον ἀφέντη (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 52.1) “το κακὸν εἶναι, ἀρχων καβαλιέρη,” αποκρίθη ο χωρικός Don Kis. 20.18

Plural

Nominative

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες

The inherited ending -ες is used throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

οἱ ... διάκονες (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 271.220) ὡς δράκοντες ἐσύριζαν καὶ ὡς λέοντες ἐβρυχοῦντα Dig. E 33; οἱ γέρακες ibid. 327 ἐπτακοσίοι ἥρωες ἀκολουθοῦν Pol. Tr. 1015 οἱ ἄρχοντες ἐπεκρίθησαν Achil. L 106; λέοντες μὲ βλέπουσιν ibid. 647 οἱ μύρμηγκες Poulol. 49 πετρίτες δὲ καὶ φάλκονες οἱ ναῦτες Velis. χ 93 ἐκεῖ οἱ πρῶτα υπῆγαιναν πένητες Theseid VI.4,6 (Olsen) γίνονται οἱ βουλκόλακες (16th c., Serres?, LAMBROS 1904a: 344.14) ὡς λιόντες νὰ φανοῦμεν ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua VII.304 (= λέοντες with synizesis, see I, 2.9.4) εἶσταν εἰς τὸν καιρὸν ἐκεῖνον λέοντες Diig. Alex. E 205.17 (Lolos) (read ἦσταν) οἱ μύρμηγκες τα εστεγνώνασιν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 115.2–3 δράκοντες χώνουνται συχνιὰ CHORTATISIS, Erof. IV.110 οἱ κόρακες ROMANOS, Grammar 4.21 ἄρχοντες ᾽ τὸ ντιβάνι ΜΑΤΤΗΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 1247 σκούληκες, ἀγριόγατοι ΒΟΥΝΙΑΛΙΣ Μ., Kat. ofel. 21; ἑλέφαντες, τίγρηδες ibid. 481 ἦσαν δαίμονες Diath. Nikon Metan. 48 οἱ δαίμονες τὰ κάμουν ΜΑΤΤΗΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 125 οἱ ἐλέφαντες Alex. Fyll. 84.10 τριάντα μεγαλότατοι γίγαντες Don Kis. 44.30; οἱ προπάτορές του ibid. 177.3–4

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-οι

Nominative plural forms in -οι, an ending borrowed from the /os/ paradigm, generally show a shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate (cf. gen. sg. and acc. and voc. pl.; cf. also the alternative stress patterns in ἄνθρωποι and ἀνθρώποι, for which see 2.1.3). Forms with this ending often occur alongside forms in -ες, and the different stress patterns are, of course, especially convenient for versifiers, cf. αὐτοὶ οἱ βιγλατόροι Alex. Rim. 1113 (verse end) and καὶ τότες οἱ βιγλάτορες ibid. 1119 (before the caesura). Forms in -οι can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar in texts from all areas:

οἱ φίλοι κ' οἱ γειτόνοι Chron. Mor. H 8447 τρώγουν σε οἱ κοράκοι Diig. tetr. 792 πολλοὶ μαστόροι (15th c., Cyprus?, TSANGALAS 1983: 132.19) βραχιόνιοι σιδηροὶ Chron. Toc. 3392; οἱ γειτόνοι ibid. 3591 ὅλοι <οἱ> φυλακατόροι SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 73; ἔλεγα ὅτι εἶναι κοράκοι ibid. 134 σκουλήκοι μὴν τὸ φᾶσι FALIEROS, Log. did. 91 οἱ κύνες καὶ κοράκοι Theseid II.13,8 (1529) εἴμεσταν γειτόνοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.17 οἱ γειτόνοι (1548, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 2, 38.21) τὸ ἤκουσαν οἱ γειτόνοι σου (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 2, 49.8) ὡς οἱ μερμηγκοὶ ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 427 μαρτύριοι νὰ τὸ ποῦσι P&N Diath. 3094 οἱ συγγενεῖς καὶ οἱ γειτόνοι τοῦ PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 105.17–18 οἱ καβούροι GERMANO, Grammar 60.2 οἱ πρωτομαστόροι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §32.4; οἱ γειτόνοι ibid. III §33.3 σκουλήκοι τοῦ μεταγνώμου γιὰ τοῦτο μοῦ τιμποῦσι TROILOS, Rodol. I.301 (Aposkiti) χίλιοι δαιμόνοι FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.305 πὼς νὰ εἶναι καὶ γειτόνοι PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 118 οἱ κουράκοι (app. crit.) (1684–5, Moscow, ŠANGIN 1936: 3, 115.13) (= κοράκοι, see I, 2.5.4) μαρτυροῦν οἱ γειτόνοι ὅλοι (1696, Nauplion, DOKOS 1971/74: 22, 56.2–3)

Confusion of old and new forms may lead to the transfer of stress patterns between forms that have the old or the new ending (for words that may also borrow their singular endings from the /os/ paradigm, among which πρίγκιπας, see 2.2.6):⁴⁶

οἱ βραχιόνες Chron. Toc. 3352 οἱ κώδικοι (1238, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: App. 15, 676.1)⁴⁷ μούρμουγκοι Poulol. 49 app. crit. (CP); μέρμηγκοι ibid. app. crit. (V) ὡς δεφένστοροι CHEILAS, Chron. 357.26 ἦλθασαν ὡς ρογάτοροι Chron. Mor. P 8944 (cf. ὡς ρογατόροι ἦλθασιν Chron. Mor. H 8944) οἱ βουλκόλακοι (16th c., Serres?, LAMBROS 1904a: 340.5)

⁴⁶ The following form is based on Italian eroe rather than on ἥρωας: ἐτοῦτοι οἱ θαυμαστοὶ ἐρός ἀφεντέψα Prol. Epain. Kef. 69 (= ἥρωες).

⁴⁷ It cannot be excluded that the lack of stress shift in this example is an editorial mistake, as the edition of these documents is known to be unreliable.

οἱ Καππάδοκοι (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 286, 275.3) οἱ ἐλέφαντοι Diig. Alex. E 81.5 (Konstantinopulos)

Ἄραβοι κ' Αἰθίοποι TROILOS, Rodol. V.57 (Aposkiti)

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-άδες

The imparisyllabic plural of paradigms 2.2.1 and 2.2.3 (see above) is employed with compounds of oxytone nouns such as παπᾶς and, conceivably, ἄγας: φραγκοπαπάδες, λαῖκοι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 176.4. It is, however, rare with originally proparoxytone nouns. In the following examples it occurs by analogy with βασιλιάδες, ρηγάδες, δουκάδες and other titles: ἐνώθη ὁ βασιλεὺς μετὰ τοὺς πριγκιπᾶδες Chron. Mor. P 66; πολλοὶ γὰρ πριγκιπᾶδες Theseid Prol. E 208; αὐτεῖνοι οἱ πριντζιπάδες STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voen. 315 (Pidonia).

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ηδες

Even though certain /t/ stem nouns of Latin origin may form alternative singular forms in /is/ (see above), they rarely adopt the imparisyllabic plural of the /is/ paradigm, as is the case in the following example: ὁποῦ γινίσκονται ... προκουρατούρηδες Pist. kekoim. 628.

Genitive

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ων -ω -ωνε

This is by far the most common ending for the genitive plural. The forms generally present a shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate (cf. gen. sg. and nom., acc. and voc. pl.):

ἀρχόντων (1079, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 2, 18.11) ἡρώων ... κατάλογον Ptoch. I 116 τῶν σωματοφυλάκων Ptoch. IV 198

τῶν ἐλεφάντων Phys. 51

ἀρχόντων μεγιστάνων Velth. 785 τῶν φυλακατόρων SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 72 τῶν βουλκολάκων (16th c., Serres?, LAMBROS 1904a: 339.15) των λεόντων Diig. Alex. K 351.3 (Mitsakis) επεῖνα και εζήτα των μυρμήγκων να του δώσουσιν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 115.3–4 τῶν λεόντων KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 187.28; τῶν γιγάντων ibid. 291.27

τῶν γερόντων (1594, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 1, 109.4) μετὰ τῶν ἱεράκων Dig. A 760 τῶν κοράκων ROMANOS, Grammar 4.21 τῶν καβούρων GERMANO, Grammar 60.3

οἱ ψαράδες τῶν καρλάκων Bertoldin. 125.17 τῶν ἐλεφάντων Alex. Fyll. 84.7–8 τῶν Ἑλλήνων EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 18.12–13 ἀρχοντα των φυλάκων PORFYROP., Prokop. paraphr. 487.24

Forms without shift of stress occur in verse texts for metrical reasons: καὶ γέροντων καὶ γυναικῶν Byz. Il. 1047; τὸ δάνειο τῶν πένητων MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 222.

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from south-western areas and the Aegean:⁴⁸

τὲς Μοῦσες τῶν Ἑλλήνων FALIEROS, Log. did. 3 τῶ γεννητόρω μας γονέων (1556, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 146, 116.15) καὶ τω γερόντω τσι φιλιές CHORTATSIS, Panor. III.344; σκουλήκω κατοικιὰ id., Erof. Prol. 89 μετὰ καὶ ἐτέρων ἀρχόντω τοῦ αὐτοῦ τόπου (1610, Mani, FLORISTÁN 2008: 1, 280.3–4) τῶ κάτωθε γεγραμμένω μαρτύρω (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 51, 66.19) στή μέση τῶ δαιμόνω FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.83 τῶ μαστόρω (1672, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 48, 46.9–10; and 46.29–30)
 τῶν ὑποκάτωθε ὑπογεγραμμένω τιμίων μαρτύρω (1685, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 362.2–3) τῶ γερόντω Leilasias Par. 81

Addition of -(ν)ε occurs in Heptanesian texts:

τῶ μαστόρωνε (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 3, 176.11) τῶν Ἑλλήνωνε KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.651 τῶν ἀρχόντωνε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 40.1

In the same area (Ithaca), the /o/ of the ending may become /u/ through raising of unstressed /o/ to /u/, for which see I, 2.8.3: τοῦ μαστόρουνε (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 84, 87.26); τοῦ γερότουνε (ibid. 92, 96.17) (= τῶν γερόντωννε; for the article τοῦ see 5.2.1).

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-άδων

Adoption of the imparisyllabic plural in -άδες is quite rare. It occurs with the word λέοντας, possibly by analogy with (ἐ)λεφάδες (see 2.2.1) and cf. the accusative plural, below), and with πρίγκιπας by analogy with βασιλιάδες, ρηγάδες, etc.: κι ὁλῶν τῶν πριγκιπάδων Theseid XII.3,4 (1529); τῶν λεοντάδων Diig. Alex. F 240.24–5 (Lolos); την μπαρπούταν γεγραμμένην λεοντάδων Diig. Alex. K 352.27 (Mitsakis).

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-εῖς

This Cypriot genitive is morphologically identical to the accusative plural (see 1.2 for discussion): καὶ εἶπεν τοὺς ἄρχοντες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 322.2; ομπρός της κυράς μου καὶ τοὺς ἄρχοντες VOUSTR., Chron. B 305.16.

⁴⁸ Note that in editions of Cretan literary texts the omission of final /n/ is often editorial, as in the following example: ἀπὸ τῶ φτωχῶνε | ἀρχόντω BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 250.5–6. The form appears with final /n/ in the Xirouchakis edition. The choice to omit final /n/ is based on suspected scribal conservatism and on certain mss in the Latin script, notably that of Fortounatos, which is an autograph.

AccusativeMasc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες

This inherited ending remains in use throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

μέ ἄλλους νάπτες γέροντες SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 306 βραχίονες εἶχεν στρογγυλούς DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 286 μέ τοὺς Γίγαντες Synax. gyn. 144 τοὺς ἀνθρώπους ἀλλὰ καὶ ἰλέφαντες Peri pragm. 20–1 ἐπῆραν γέροντες τρεῖς (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 23, 37.2) προσεκάλεσαν γέροντες παλαιούς (1512/3, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1978: 8, 67.5–6) εἰς πέντε ρηγάδες καὶ ἄρχοντες Ekth. Chron. 2.5–6 τοὺς ἄρχοντες (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.29) τοὺς λέφαντες Alex. Rim. 1831 ρηγάδες καὶ ἄρχοντες Ekth. Chron. 2.5–6 μέ γέροντες λάς Fior Suppl. 275.1 τοὺς τιμιωτάτους ἄρχοντες (1587, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 147, 271.22–3) καλοῦς, φρονίμους, γέροντες Diig. Alex. Sem. S 228 εἰς τοὺς ἄρχοντες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.5 τοὺς δαίμονες RODINOS, Vios Ign. 95.33 τοὺς ἐλέφαντες Alex. Fyll. 84.1

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ους

This innovative ending, borrowed from the /os/ paradigm, pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar by many centuries (see introduction to 2.2) and is as least as frequent as the inherited /es/ ending. Accusatives in -ους normally present a shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate (cf. gen. sg. and nom. and voc. pl.):

φίλους τε καὶ γειτόνους Chron. Mor. H 737; τζαγρατόρους ἑκατὸν ibid. 6715 κακοῦς γειτόνους ἔχουν Pol. Tr. 1064; ἔκοψε τοὺς φυλάκους ibid. 1126 ὅλους τοὺς βιγλατόρους Katal. 29 τοὺς γειτόνους τους Assizes A 29.11 ἀρέσει τοὺς μαστόρους Imber. 593 δύο μαρτύρους (1494–6, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 39, 183.16) εἰς τοὺς φυλακατόρους SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 122 μέ τερμόνους λιθίνους (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 23, 37.11) τοὺς βουλκολάκους (16th c., Serres?, LAMBROS 1904a: 339.6) τοὺς γεννητόρους (1516, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 80, 83.7) τοὺς δύο βωλάκους (1550, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 71, 96.8) νὰ βάνει μαστούρους (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 1, 79.18) (= μαστόρους) μέ ὅλους τοὺς γειτόνους (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 451.16) τοὺς καβούρους GERMANO, Grammar 60.5 ὀρμήγκους καὶ ἄλλα μιὰρὰ BAROZZI, Letter 358.23 τοὺς μαστόρους PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §32.8; μέ ἓνα δύο ζητούλους ibid. I §36.114–15 τίς κάτωθεν μαρτύρους (1678, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 63, 53.2–3) (for the article τίς see 5.2.1) φίλους οὐδὲ γειτόνους PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 165 σκουλήκους κάνου ζωντανοὶ Stathis III.412 γερόντους, νέους καὶ γυναικόπαιδα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 17.3–4

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

This residual accusative ending is not uncommon as a more formal variant, occurring throughout the period covered by this Grammar, alongside the more frequent endings -ες and -ους (see above):

τοὺς ἄρχοντας ἐλάλει Arm. 21

μὲ τρισχιλίους ἥρωας Pol. Tr. 3176

καὶ σκώληκας STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 9.250; τοὺς βραχίονας ibid. 15.417

τοὺς δώδεκα ἐλέφαντας Phys. 67 τοὺς γέροντας (1474, Athos, OIKONOMIDÈS 1968: 32, 166.2) καὶ σκούληκας προγεύεσαι Poulol. 118 τοιούτους ἄρχοντας καλοὺς Synax. gadar. 245 μὲ τοὺς ἀλέκτορας ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 10.2

τοὺς κόρακας ROMANOS, Grammar 4.21 τοὺς δαίμονας Alex. Rim. 15; ἐλέφαντας ἠύρίσκαμεν ibid. 2025 τοὺς δικαίους προπάτορας ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. III §13.16 τρώγουν μύρμηγκας LANDOS, Geopon. 131.3

τοὺς νέους καὶ τοὺς γέροντας PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 15 μὲ ἄρχοντας εὐγενικοὺς MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1254 ἄλλους ἀποστελλάτορας εὗρε KATSAITIS, Thyest. II.253 αὐτοὺς τοὺς γίγαντας Don Kis. 46.14–15

Confusion between the old forms in -ες and the newer ones in -οι may lead to the borrowing of the other form's stress pattern:

διὰ τοὺς γιγάντες CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 413 (rhymes with πάντες) βραχιόνας θαυμαστοὺς Achil. L 39 (due to synizesis) τοὺς μεγάλους ἀλεφάντας Diig. Alex. F 78.18 (Konstantinopoulos) τοὺς ἄρτηκους (16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.9) (< νάρθηξ) τοὺς ἀλεφάντους Diig. Alex. K 371.6 (Mitsakis) μὲ ἄρτηκους δύο (1696, Tripoli, DOKOS 1971/74: 12, 50.2)

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-οι

In Cycladic texts the accusative ending may be identical to the nominative (cf. masculine nouns in /os/ and see 1.3 for details): τὶς γερόντοι ὅπου θέλομε βάλει (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 19.13).

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδες

Adoption of the imparisyllabic ending -άδες occurs with proparoxytone compounds of certain oxytone nouns such as παπάς: εἰς κάτω Φραγγοπαπάδες EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 40.18–19. It is rare with other proparoxytone nouns: τοὺς λεοντάδες Diig. Alex. V 71.26.

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-αίους

This ending has been borrowed from the paroxytone -ιος paradigm (see 2.7), on a semantic analogy with similar titles in -άριος (e.g. καβαλλάριος, πρωτοσπαθάριος): εἰς τοὺς πρωτοστρατοραίους Diig. Alex. F 284.19.

Vocative

Masc.

Pl.	Voc..	-ες

The old vocative ending is used throughout the period covered by this Grammar. It is identical to the old nominative ending. As the vocative only appears in certain kinds of texts and contexts (dialogue and direct speech), a modest number of examples has been found, mainly of the word ἄρχοντας:

ἄρχοντες, ἄρχοντόπουλα Achil. L 146 ἄρχοντες κεφαλᾶδες τῆς Λήμνου (1448?, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 45, 321.2) πέτε, μεγάλοι ἄρχοντες PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 334 ἄρχοντες, πῶς σᾶς φαίνεται SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 122 ἄρχοντες, νὰ γροικήσετε, ἃ θέλετε, δαμάκι Fyll. gadar. 1 ὦ κόρακες ROMANOS, Grammar 4.21 μὴν μὲ θωρήτην, ἄρχοντες KONDAR., Paides 1 ἄρχοντες καὶ ἀρχόντισσες, σᾶσε ευχαριστοῦμε KATSAITIS, Thyest. Epil. 37

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-οι

This innovative vocative ending is identical to the alternative nominative ending (see above):

ὅς ᾤστε μάρτυρες, ἀρχόντοι Assizes B 339.3
 ὦ βραχιόνιοι σιδηροὶ Chron. Toc. 3392 εὐλογεῖτε, κοράκοι, τὸν ὁμυαλὸν τοῦ Spanos A 316 ὦ καβοῦροι GERMANO, Grammar 60.6
 κ' ἐσεῖς, μαστόροι μου ἀκριβοὶ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 165.10

2.2.6 Transfers to Other Paradigms

Some former 3rd-declension nouns belonging to the /as/ paradigms may change grammatical gender and become feminine:

ἡ ρύαξ (1142, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 6, 304.21) τὴν ἀρραβῶνα τοῦ Assizes B 286.14 τῆς σωλήνης ERMON., Ilias 5.280 τὴν σπλήναν τοῦ STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 3.85 πολλές κανόνας ἔχεις (15th c., Trebizond region, TSAKALOF 1910: [3], 121.2) τὰς ἀρραβῶνας Assizes A 37.28; πούληση ... γῆς ἢ ἀμπελώνας ibid. 104.10

εἰς τὸν χειμῶν, τὴν κλύδωνα Byz. Il. 446 καμπόσες μήνες Apoll. Rim. N 160 τὲς κανόνες (1551, Venice, COUROPOU/GÉHIN 2001: 3, 161.3) τὰς κανόνας (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 2, 295.28); αἱ παροῦσαι κανόνες (ibid. 295.44–5) οἱ ὁμορφες βραχιόνες P&N Diath. 436 οἱ μῆνες ὅλες πταίγουν με Dimotika Ivir. I.2
 στὲς ἀγκῶνες Paroim. (Warner) 127.11

Sporadically, new nouns denoting females are derived from masculine forms:

τῇ ἁγίας μεγαλομάρτυρας Μαρίας (1553, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 99, 146.10) ὅλας τὰς μεγιστάνας Pol. Tr. 1840 (reading of AX); ὅλες τὲς μεγιστάνες ibid. 1840 app. crit. (BV) καὶ ἡ μήτηρ παῖδα τοῦ ρηγὸς AXAGIOLIS, Diig. Karolou 214

As paradigm 2.2.5 shares so many alternative forms with the masculine /os/ paradigm, it is unsurprising that these nouns sometimes make a full transfer to /os/, forming nom. sg. in -ος, acc. sg. in -ο(ν) and voc. sg. in -ε (for reanalyses of residual 3rd-declension forms, such as γείτος, λέος, Σολομός see 2.1):

nom.

ὁ αὐτὸς ἀναρύακος (1116, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 80, 105.17) ὁ φούντακος (1160, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: App. 7, 662.12) Ἀπόλλωνος ὀρίζει με νὰ ποίσω Pol. Tr. 2396 app. crit. (B); ἐφαίνετον γίγαντος ibid. 2858 app. crit. (BVX); καύσωνος τὸν ἡῦρισκεν ibid. 6451 app. crit. (BCX) ὁ πάνθηρος Phys. 482
 ὁ πρίγκιπος ᾗς τὸν Ἄγιον Ἡλία ἔναι Chron. Toc. 564 ὁ Φίλιππος ὁ Ἑλληνας Diig. Alex. V 20.15 ὁ Μίμαντος ἠπῆρην το φουσάτο του Diig. Alex. K 351.25 (Mitsakis) acc.

τὸν ψευδορύακον (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 308.25) εἰς ὕδρωπον νὰ πᾶσι Phys. 132 τὸν μᾶστορον Assizes A 94.7
 ἐκ τὸν πρίγκιπον Chron. Mor. P 7359; με ἀφῆκες βιγλάτορον τοῦ σπιτιοῦ σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 220.27; ἐβάλαν τὸν Ἀρνὰτ Γιλιάμ βλεπάτορον ibid. 626.24; διὰ νὰ τὸν ποιήσουν πράκτορον ibid. 670.25–6 εἰς πᾶσα ἀλέφαντον Diig. Alex. F 78.20–1 (Konstantinopoulos) τὸν γίγαντον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 291.30 τὸν νάρθηκο MOREZINOS, Klini 175.36 μήτε τὸν ἄρπαγον (17th c., Athos, MEYER 1894: XVI, 220.14) τὸν γαληνότατον πρίγκιπον IER. AVVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 336.5

voc.

Ἄγιε Στέφανε πρωτομάρτυρε (10th/11th c.?, Tinos, FEISSEL 1980: 5, 485.1) συνοικήτορε Flor. L 799 (Cupane) μὴ σὲ μέλη ἐξ αὐτό, ὦ γείτονέ μου (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 139.2d) Transfers from paradigm 2.2.4 to the /os/ paradigm are much rarer:⁴⁹ τὸν λιμένο (1131, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 111, 146.11); ποιμένον ἄνδρα Liv. E 1029; μετὰ τὸν Τελαμῶνον Pol. Tr. 3877 app. crit. (B); σφοδρὸς χειμῶνος τε καὶ ὑέτος Phys. 255.

⁴⁹ Cf. the Koine accusatives ποιμένον (AD 518/27), ἀμπελόνον (AD 46/7) quoted by GIGNAC 1981: 44.

Proper names in -ας may develop alternative forms in -ης or -ής (see also 2.3): ὁ τιμιώτατος κύρ Νέστορης ὁ σιδεράς (1652, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 69, 180.3) (< Νέστορας); ὁ ρηθεις κύρ Κωνστής (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 7, 26.3) (< Κώνστας).

2.3 Masculine Nouns in /is/

The old 1st-declension masculine nouns in -ής/-ης were oxytone (κριτής) or paroxytone (κτίστης, στρατιώτης), with gen. sg. in -οῦ/-ου, voc. sg. in -ά/-α and a parisyllabic plural formation. They follow a path of evolution similar to that of the masculines in /as/ (see 2.2), though it was completed considerably later. For the singular they early on started to follow the declensional pattern that eventually became dominant for most masculine nouns ending in vowel + final /s/ (with the exception of those in /os/, see 2.1): nom. sg. in -ς, gen., acc. and voc. drop -ς, acc. may add -ν, thus being one step away from the SMG two-ending singular (nom. + ς; gen., acc. and voc. Ø). Gen. sg. in -ή/-η⁵⁰ instead of -οῦ/-ου can already be found with proper names in AG and is attested with other nouns from the 1st c. AD onwards (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 76–7; DIETERICH 1898: 170–1; SEILER 1958: 54; GIGNAC 1981: 14; HORROCKS 2010: 286); a vocative φιλοθεροσίτη can be found as early as Herodian (see the online TLG).

As for the plural, the nominative -αί/-αι becomes -ές/-ες: a nom. pl. form Αἰνείαδες for Αἰνείαδαι (< Αἰνείαδης) can be found in Malalas (6th c.) (PSALTES 1913: 140; see also SEILER 1958: 55). The accusative -άς/-ας becomes -ές/-ες as well; as in the singular, this is the last step towards the two-ending plural of the paradigm in SMG: nom., acc. and voc. in -ές/-ες, gen. in -ῶν/-ων (cf. PANAYOTOU 1992b: 18). For similar developments in the feminine /i/ paradigms see 2.12. In manuscripts, early printed editions and older modern editions the /es/ ending is often spelled -αῖς/-αις rather than -ές/-ες. Just like certain masculine nouns in /as/ (see 2.2.1, and 2.2.3), certain masculine nouns in /is/ then develop an imparisyllabic plural in -δες, but initially not, as might have been expected, in -ήδες/-ηδες.⁵¹ Instead nouns in /is/ borrow the -άδες plural from the masculine /as/ paradigm.⁵² Plurals in -ήδες (oxytone nouns) and -ηδες (paroxytone and proparoxytone nouns) are only attested from the LMedG period onwards with new formations (loanwords), but not normally with original 1st-declension nouns. PSALTES 1913: 169 lists examples from Doukas (15th c.), but not from earlier chronicles. The earliest examples so far date from the 13th/14th c.: they are plurals of Turkish proper names, spelled with <ι> as if they were 3rd-declension nouns:

⁵⁰ The development of the genitive is clear: it is identical to the accusative and is formed from the nominative by omitting final /s/. Writing it with a circumflex instead of an acute, as if it were a “contracted” form, is therefore unnecessary.

⁵¹ Despite the fact that, similarly to those in /as/, a plural could have been modelled on 3rd-declension words in -ις, -ιδες, this did not happen, probably due to the fact that 3rd-declension words in -ις are mainly adjectives and are more often feminine than masculine (cf. ὁ μάντις, οἱ μάντις/μάντιες; ἡ μάντις, αἱ μάντιδες).

⁵² As with the /as/ paradigm (see 2.2), “archaized” nominatives plural in -άδαι, which conflate the new nom. pl. ending -άδες with -αἱ of the old 1st declension, can occasionally be found in high-register texts, but have not been found in the texts examined.

Σαλαμπάξιδες καὶ Ἀλαΐδες PACHYMERES, Hist. II 389.2 (ed. Bekker) (cf. τοῦ Σαλάμπακι ibid. 211.10 and τῷ Ἀλάιδι ibid. 403.3).⁵³

The LMedG and EMG paradigm in /is/ consists of four sub-paradigms, each with their own characteristics. Paradigm 2.3.1 is a very large paradigm, which includes many oxytone and a limited number of paroxytone nouns in /is/ that develop a new alternative imparisyllabic plural in -άδες alongside the inherited parisyllabic plural in -ες. The nouns belonging to this sub-paradigm all denote human beings and include inherited 1st-declension words such as ἀγοραστής, ἀσκητής, βουλευτής, ληστής, μαθητής, μεθυστής, πραγματευτής, αὐθέντης/ἀφέντης, κτίστης, κυβερνήτης, μητροπολίτης; new formations in -ής such as καταπατητής, μοιρολογητής, φουμιστής (< φουμίζω < φημίζω) and compounds in -πούλης (< -πώλης), e.g. κηροπούλης, χαβιαροπούλης; as well as loanwords: ζαριστής (< Arab. az-zahr), ὀρδινιαστής (< ὀρδινιάζω < Ital. ordine), στιμαριστής (< στιμάρω < Ven. stimàr), τζενιαστής (< τζενιάζω < Fr. engeigner); and morphologically adapted foreign names (singular only): Ἀσελῆς (< Fr. Ancelin), Μπαντουῆς (< Fr. Baudoin). The imparisyllabic plural can be found with oxytone nouns from the very beginning of the period covered by this Grammar; they are more common than the parisyllabic ones and only words that belong to a higher register, such as ἐραστής and μιμητής, resist forming an imparisyllabic plural.

Most inherited paroxytone nouns do not develop imparisyllabic forms at all (see sub-paradigm 2.3.2), but the small group of nouns that does adopt the imparisyllabic plural appears to do it a few centuries later than the oxytone nouns. The picture may, however, be distorted by the material recorded in the written sources, as the paroxytone nouns are fewer in number and the most common of them (αὐθέντης, μητροπολίτης, δεσπότης) appear in the singular more often than in the plural.

Sub-paradigm 2.3.2 covers paroxytone animate and inanimate nouns with almost exclusively parisyllabic plural forms, such as the inherited 1st-declension nouns νούτης, πατριάρχης, στρατιώτης and ἄσβέστης, most words in -ιώτης and -ίτης (with the notable exception of μητροπολίτης, which belongs to sub-paradigm 2.3.1), as well as the loanwords σεργέντης/σιργέντης (< Fr. sergent) and κουρτέσης (< OFr. cortéis or Ital. cortese), which only very rarely form an imparisyllabic plural (see below).

Sub-paradigm 2.3.3 comprises new oxytone nouns, which mostly refer to human beings and are borrowed from other languages and adapted to the Greek morphological system, such as καδής/κατής (< Turk. kadı) and γαρμπής (< Ven. garbin or Turk. garbi). These nouns have an imparisyllabic plural in -ήδες. The paradigm also includes adjectives such as διγενής used as contemporary proper names,⁵⁴ as well as new forms in -ής derived from former 3rd-declension nouns in -εύς (see 2.4), such as βασιλής, γονής and ἱερής. These alternative forms first appear in writing in the 15th c. (ms date of Assizes B) and can be found in a large geographical area (Cyprus, Crete, the Heptanese and the northern mainland). They generally adopt the imparisyllabic plural of the paradigm, though for gen. pl. parisyllabic forms can also be found, e.g.: οὔτε ἱερῆς, οὔτε ἀναγνώστης Assizes B 358.20; τοῦ Ἀρκιερεῖ τῆς Ρώμης (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 310.4); τὸν ἱερῆ CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2124; τὸν γονή σας VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 297; λοιπόν, γονή μου KORNAPOS, Erot. III.831; οἱ πρῶτοι βασιλῆδες Diig. Alex. K 350.12 (Mitsakis); ὁ εἷς τῶν βασιλίδων VATATIS, Periig. II 277; but also: τῶν ἀρχιερέων P&N Diath. 3284; μὲ ἐφτὰ ἱερῆδες (1665, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 11, 419.3); κεῖς δύο βασιλίδες VATATIS, Periig. II 274.

⁵³ For the ways in which Pachymeres renders Turkish names see ZACHARIADOU 1978.

⁵⁴ Note that the contemporary name Διγενής always belongs to this paradigm, whereas the hero Διγενής Ἀκρίτης in the less vernacular versions of the text still follows the old 3rd-declension adjectival paradigm (see 3.3.3), forming a genitive Διγενοῦς e.g. in Dig. A 4366 and a vocative Διγενές e.g. in Dig. G II.291.

Sub-paradigm 2.3.4 includes paroxytone inherited nouns denoting human beings, such as Πέρσης, but the majority of nouns belonging to this paradigm are paroxytone and proparoxytone nouns borrowed from other languages and adapted to the Greek declensional system, e.g. ἄζαπης (< Turk. ‘azap < Arab. ‘azab “infantryman”, not to be confused with the adjective ἄζαπης “wretched” (< Arab. ‘adāb or ‘azāb), for which see 3.4.1), ἀράπης (< Turk. Arap), βεζίρης (< Turk. vezîr), βισκούντης (< OFr. visconte), γενεράλης (< Ven. general), μπαρούνης (< Occit. baroun), πολγάρης (< Rom. pîlgar), πρίντζης (< Fr. prince), σουμπάσης (< Turk. subaşı) and surnames in -ίδης and -ογλης. The sub-paradigm also covers paroxytone formations of proparoxytone nouns in -ιος, e.g. καβαλλάρης (< καβαλλάριος), κύρης (< κύριος), Βασίλης (< Βασίλειος), Στράτης (< Εὐστράτιος), Μάης (< Μάιος), examples of which can be found for the singular already in the 1st c. AD (see 2.7.2). Finally, the sub-paradigm also covers diminutives in -άκης and -ούδης used as proper names. It has a certain overlap and mutual influence with adjectives in -άρης such as ζηλιάρης and ψεματάρης which are often used as nouns (see 3.2.6). The nouns belonging to this paradigm normally form their plural in -ηδες (ἀράπηδες, καβαλλάρηδες, βεζίρηδες, μπαρούνηδες, σουμπάσηδες) and only very rarely in -ες. The endings are usually spelled with <η>, although in some modern editions they are spelled with <ι> when the word in /is/ is derived from a noun in -ιος (e.g. καβαλλάριδες). Some editors chose to spell the ending with <ι> for other nouns as well, as if they were former 3rd-declension nouns (e.g. ἀβιτισιάλιδες).

Nouns for which no plural forms have been found, notably given names, are categorized according to their behaviour in the singular. For instance the name Ἰωάννης can be found under paradigm 2.3.2, as it easily forms its genitive in /u/ in more formal contexts; however, its more colloquial counterpart Γιάννης belongs to paradigm 2.3.4, as it normally forms its genitive in /i/.

Transfers between these sub-paradigms are quite limited: one sometimes finds oxytone variants of paroxytone words, and whereas one could argue that the forms κυβερνητής in the Chronicle of Morea and σφακτής in Apokopos A appear mainly to serve the metre – κυβερνητής, διορθωτής εἰς ὅλα τὰ φουσσᾶτα Chron. Mor. H 237; εἰς τοῦ σφακτῆ τὸ χέρι BERGADIS, Apok. A 349 – a similar form has also been found in non-literary sources: τὸν κτιστὴν (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 83, 100.9; and 1612, ibid. 780, 678.8), as well as with a proper name in Machairas: ὁ Θεοτοκῆς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 656.19 (< Θεοτόκης). Furthermore, the loanword κόντης (< OFr./Ital. conte), which also has alternative forms belonging to other paradigms, namely κόντες (singular only; see 2.6.2) and κόντος (see 2.1.2), may form its plural according to both 2.3.1 and 2.3.4: δουκάδες καὶ κοντάδες Pol. Tr. 258; δύο κόντηδες (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981:

3, 45.25). Similarly εὐγενής and συγγενής, originally adjectives (for their declension as adjectives see 3.3.3), when used as nouns may form their plural according to 2.3.1 or, less frequently, 2.3.3, adopting -άδες or -ῆδες: οἱ συγγενάδες του Assizes A 118.16; ἀμῖρ ἢ τινῶν εὐγενάδων Pol. Tr. 7403; με τοὺς συγγενάδες του (1515, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 70, 75.7); τῆς Τροίᾳς οἱ εὐγενῆδες ERMON., Ilias 21.32. A plural form in -ηδες of a noun ending in -πούλης appears to be a one-off in Machairas, as nouns in -πώλης/-πούλης normally follow paradigm 2.3.1, having a plural in -άδες:⁵⁵ ψέμα λαλεῖτε ... λύκοι ψαρπούλιδες! MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 486.30.

There is also some fluctuation in the stress pattern of plural forms, especially of words borrowed from Turkish and other oriental languages: proparoxytone nouns, which usually have a proparoxytone plural in -ηδες, may present a shift of the stress to the penultimate, e.g. ὀνομάζονται ἑλληνικά Ραχμανῆδες Diig. Alex. F 38.2 (Konstantinopulos); Μιχαλογλῆδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 76.31 (< Μιχάλογλης); ζορπαπασῆδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §16.7 (< ζορμπάμπασης). The reverse may also occur: ἔχει ἀλουφατζηδες (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 11.11), from ἀλουφατζής; cf. οἱ ἀλοφατζῆδες in the same text (ibid. 12.38). In addition, compound words ending in -(μ)πασης (< Turk. başı), which normally have a plural in -ηδες, may adopt the plural ending -άδες, probably influenced by the word πασάς (< Turk. paşa) (see 2.2.1), which belongs to the same semantic field of Ottoman titles: σουμπασάδες (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.14–15).

Apart from the above-mentioned masculine nouns in -εύς, which develop alternative forms in -ής belonging to paradigm 2.3.3, and nouns in -ιος, which develop alternative forms belonging to paradigm 2.3.4, certain other nouns may also transfer to the imparisyllabic /is/ paradigms 2.3.3 (oxytone) and 2.3.4 (paroxytone and proparoxytone), e.g. former 3rd-declension nouns in -ις such as μάντις, ὄφης, Λούκαρις, τίγρις,⁵⁶ as well as proper names in -ης and -ῆς such as Θεοφάνης, Ἡρακλῆς and others:

οἱ μάντιδες, τῶν μάντιδων καὶ μάντεων, τοὺς μάντιδες, ὦ μάντιδες SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.14–16 ῥέφαντες, τίγρηδες BOUNIALIS M., Kat. ofel. 481 ὄφιδες φοβεροὶ Apok. Theot. 496.193 οἱ ὄφιδες, τῶν ὄφιδων, τοὺς ὄφεις-φίδες, ὦ ὄφιδες SPANOS, Grammar 28.29–30

Λουκάριδες καὶ ἄλλους ὁμοίους των RODINOS, Vios Ign. 54.17–18 τοὺς τίγριδες ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1039 τοῦ Ἁγίου Ἀθηνογένη (1054, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 1, 40.22) πρεσβυτέρου Θεοφάνη (1063, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 46, 60.7) ὁ Δημοσθένης, τοῦ Δημοσθένους-νη, τὸν Δημοσθένην-η, ὦ Δημοσθένη SPANOS, Grammar

28.27;⁵⁷ τοῦ Ἡρακλῆ (1133, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 5, 516.17)

τοῦ Παλαμήδη Pol. Tr. 3127a app. crit. (B)

⁵⁵ Note, however, that the word is not used meaning “fishmonger”, but is used as a swear word. It can, therefore, not be excluded that it is originally a feminine form meaning something like “fishwife”.

⁵⁶ Note that the grammatically feminine noun ἡ τίγρις already had an alternative plural τίγριδες in Antiquity (see LSJ, s.v.).

⁵⁷ For the sake of paradigmatic completeness, Spanos also gives a plural: οἱ Δημοσθένηδες, τῶν Δημοσθένηδων, τοὺς Δημοσθένηδες, ὦ Δημοσθένηδες SPANOS, Grammar 28.28.

Foreign proper names and forms of address that were originally indeclinable, such as Γαβριήλ, Ἑμμανουήλ, Μιχαήλ, Μουράτ, μισέρ and others, may transfer to paradigm 2.3.4:

τοῦ Καμπανέση τὰ ἔδωκαν Chron. Mor. H 1840 (< Fr. Champenois, via Ital. Campanese) ἐζήτησεν τὸν Τζέμη (1487, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 16, 87.8–9) (< Turk. Cem) Ὀτμάνης τὸ ὄνομάν του (16th c., northern Aegean?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 70.Π, 543.4.1–2) τοῦ κύρ Μιχαήλ (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 32, 72.1) μισέρη, κλέπτης, πιάσε τον Poulol. 362 app. crit. (V) ἐσκότωσεν ὁ Κάϊς τὸν Ἄβελ Diig. Alex. F 32.14 (Konstantinopulos) (< Κάιν) ἀπέθανεν ὁ σουλτάν Σελίμης (1575 [copy of 1653], Epirus, LAMBROS 1916b: 8, 135.1) τοῦ σουλτάν Μουράτη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.30–1 μα κείνοι οἱ Μαγώγηδες ibid. 4311 (< Magog) ὁ Μανόλης Κορινιάκός (1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 701, 605.2) ὁ προφήτης Δαβίδης (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 89, 93.8) ἐγορασέν το ὁ κύρ Μιχαήλης (1640, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 3, 9.11) ἀδελφός μου Βενιαμής (1694, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 188, 124.2) (ed. Βενιαμής) τοῦ ἄνωθεν Παπαγαβριήλη (1694–1704, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 3, 78.9) οἱ νυν αὐτοὶ Οτμάνηδες ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 3822 ὁ Ἀδάμης P&N Diath. 968 τοῦ ἱερομονάχου Σεραφεῖμη (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 22, 36.11) ὁ Χασάνης (1704, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 2, 54.1)

Proper names in /os/ and less frequently those in /as/ may develop alternative forms in /is/: ὁ δὲ ρηθεῖς κύρ Σίμος ὁ Ἀλαμάνης (1447, Corfu, EFSTRATIADIS 1925: 50.1–2) (< Ἀλαμάνος); ἀποθανόντας τοῦ ρηθέντος Κυριάκη (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 5, 25.11) (< Κυριάκος); τὸν κυρ-Λάζαρη (1573, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 24, 81.8) (< Λάζαρος); ὁ τιμιώτατος κυρ-Νέστορης ὁ σιδεράς (1652, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 69, 180.3) (< Νέστορας). Sometimes an oxytone derivational suffix is adopted:

τοῦ προειρημένου Θεοδωρῇ (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 183.24) (< Θεόδωρος) τοῦ Κωσταντῇ Dig. E 42 (< Κωνσταντίνος) τοῦ κύρ Μπερναρδῇ Κλόντζα (1525, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 99, 184.3) (< Μπερνάρδος) κυρ-Στεφανῇ Μαντζαβίνο (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 6, 59.17) (< Στέφανος); ὁ κύρ Ἀγγελῇ ὁ Ποταμιάνος (ibid. 32, 91.3) (< Ἀγγελος) ἐγὼ Θεοδωρῇ Προσαλέντης (1585 [later copy], Ithaca, KALLINIKOS 1980: 56.4) ὁ ρηθεῖς κύρ Κωνστῇς (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 7, 26.3) (< Κώνστας) τοῦ μισέρ Φιλιππῇ Πατέ (1574, Andros, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 137, 257.2) (< Φίλιππος) ὁ Χατζῇ-Αὔγουστῇς (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3.11) (< Αὔγουστος) ὁ παπὰ κύρ Ἀλεξανδρῇς PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §25.1 (< Ἀλέξανδρος) τοῦ Μαστρο-Νικολῇ Βλατά (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 4, 128.19) (< Νικόλαος) Πιτρῇς Φρουδίτης στέργω (1685, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 3, 126.27) (< Πέτρος) ὁ χατζῇ-Λουκῇς (1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 30, 121.79) (< Λουκάς)

The same shift of stress occurs sometimes with proper names originally in -ιος: τοῦ λεγόμενου κύρ Γεωργῇ (1516 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 2, 51.6–7); τοῦ Γιωργῇ KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 699 (< Γεώργης < Γεώργιος). A similar innovative transfer is the following noun, derived from the adjective τρελλός (see also MITSAKIS 1983: 385–7): τὸν Πῶρον τὸν γάϊδαρον καὶ τρέλλη Diig. Alex. F 62.15–16 (Konstantinopulos) (τρέλλην in Diig. Alex. E 63.13); κύρ τρέλη, γάϊδαρε Diig. Alex. V 80.14; καὶ τὸν ἄνδρα τῆς οὐ θέλει | ἐπειδὴ τὸν ἔχει ὡς τρέλλη Epain. gyn. 215–16.

Regionally (Cyprus, Rhodes?) the word κοντοσταῦλος/κοντόσταυλος (< MedLat. comestabulus, see LBG s.v. κομηστάβουλος) has a variant κοντοστάβλης/κοντοσταύλης: τοῦ κοντοστάβλη (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 46, 25.2); ὁ κοντοσταύλης τῆς Κύπρου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 21–2; τοῦ κοντοστάβλη Katal. 451; να σκοτώσουν τον κοντοστάβλην VOUSTR., Chron. A 56.16.

Feminine nouns do not often transfer to the masculine paradigms in /is/, although a few clear examples of just such a transfer (to paradigm 2.3.2) are ὁ ἀσβέστης (< ἡ ἀσβέστη < ἡ ἄσβεστος), ὁ πλάτης (< ἡ πλάτη) and ὁ χαίτης (< ἡ χαίτη): ὄλον τὸν ἀσβέστην τοῦ καμινιοῦ μου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 276, 271.4); ἔλειψε ἀσβέστης Diath. Nikon Metan. 79; ὁ χαίτης (1092, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 3, 388.4); τὸν χαίτην (1142, ibid. Coll. V: 6, 304.22). Masculine examples of ἡ πλάτη occur in texts of south-western provenance (Heptanese, Peloponnese): ἐπῆρα εἰς τὸν πλάτην μου πέτραν Diath. Nikon Metan. 27; εἰς τὸν πλάτην μου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 373.4; εἰς τοὺς πλάτες τοῦ Κυρίου ἡμῶν ibid. 378.17; εἰς τοὺς πλάτες σου ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 2.6 and Bertoldos 67.31; ἀλείφω σου τοὺς πλάτες Bertoldin. 149.22.

Finally, an interesting derivative is the word ὁ Κουτλουμούσης (< τὸ Κουτλουμούσι), which denotes a monk of the Athonite monastery of Kutlumus: Γρηγόριος ἱερομόναχος ὁ Κουτλουμούσης (1287, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 79, 49.33); τὸ κελλίον τοῦ Κουτλουμούση ἐκείνου τοῦ ἀγίου (14th c., Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 15, 74.93).

For alternative plural formations of proper names, surnames and names of peoples/tribes (-αῖοι, etc.) see 2.10. For the regional alternative plural in -οῦδες of the noun κύρης, see 2.10.5. For undeclined proclitic forms such as χατζη- see 2.18.

2.3.1 Oxytone and Paroxytone Nouns with an Alternative Plural in -άδες

	General		Restricted		Rare
Singular
Nom.	μαθητής	κτίστης			-ές
Gen.	μαθητῆ	κτίστη	μαθητοῦ	κτίστου -ός -ος	-άδος -έ
Acc.	μαθητή(ν)	κτίστη(ν)			-έ
Voc.	μαθητή	κτίστη	μαθητά	κτίστα

Plural
Nom.	μαθητές μαθητάδες	κτίστες κτιστάδες	μαθηταί	κτίσται
Gen.	μαθητῶν μαθητάδων	κτιστῶν κτιστάδων	μαθητῶ μαθητάδω μαθητάδωνε μαθητάδες μαθητές	κτίστων κτιστῶ κτιστάδω κτιστάδωνε κτιστάδες κτίστες
Acc.	μαθητές μαθητάδες	κτίστες κτιστάδες	μαθητάς -άδης	κτίστας	μαθητάδας -άδους	κτιστάδας
Voc.	μαθητές μαθητάδες	κτίστες κτιστάδες			μαθηταί	κτίσται

Singular

Nominative

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ής ἰ -ης

Apart from one regional alternative (see below), there is little variation in the nominative singular endings:

πλὴν ἔνι καλοφουνιστής Ptoch. III 114; ἐὰν ἦμον παραζυμωτής ἢ δουλευτής μαγκίπου ibid. 165 ὁ πρῶτος ὁ μισὶρ Ἀσελής Chron. Mor. H 1321 (< Fr. Ancelin); κι ὁ Βαλδουβῆς ἐκέϊνος ibid. 1335 (< Fr. Baudoin)

ὁ ἀγοραστής Assizes B 286.22 πολεμιστής καὶ νικητής Velis. χ 339 καλλωπιστής ἐγίνη [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1990 ὁ ζαριστής ὀρέγεται νὰ κάτση ᾽ τὸ παιχνίδιν SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 160 ἦτον ὁ μαῦρος μεθυστής Achil. O 180

καὶ ἐγίνουν ὕβριστής Spanos A 35–6 ὥσπερ <ἵππος> τσινιστής DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 194

ἐνι φουμιστής τούς παιγνιδοφουμιστάδες Fior 131.14–15

ο ληστής καὶ φονέας DIONYS., Istor. 253.37

ἦτον καὶ πρωτοκαλεστής Dimotika Ivir. IV.3

ἐμπῆκε ἐγγυητής Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.34–5 ὁ ἄνωθεν μοιραστής (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 841, 733.18) ὕβριστής, ἄδικος PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §9.17; (ἦτον ...) διαβαστής ibid. I §17.12; διὰ νὰ γένης καὶ σὺ μιμητής ibid. I §29.10; μὴ εἶσαι ... κλησοχάλαστής ibid. II §5.21 (< ἐκκλησιοχάλαστής)

ὁ Διοικητής ἢ ἄλλος κανένας Diath. Nikon Metan. 107–8; καὶ ὁ κριτής ibid. 126–7 νὰ εἶναι καὶ ἐξουσιαστής (1694, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 47, 76.8–9) ἀφέντης μας ἔν κι ἀγαποῦμεν τον RUMI, Poem II 1

ὁ ἀφέντης του Assizes B 269.4

τῆς Ἐφθίας δεσπότης Achil. N 25

οὔ ναι χρεοφελέτης (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 48.29–30)

τοῦ ρηγός ὁ κτίστης MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 656.19–20

ἔσωσεν εἰς ἡγήτης BERGADIS, Apok. V 435 αφέντης των αφεντάδων όλων Diig. Alex. K 344.1 (Mitsakis) εἰ εἶναι τινὰς ράπτης (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 251.69–70) ἐγὼ ὁ Δῆμος ὁ Χαράκης (1546/51, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 26, 64.23) κύρ Δῆμος Χαράκης (1551, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 49, 91.1–2)

ὁ οἰκοδεσπότης Vios Aisop. K 175.28

τὸ πληρώνει ὁ κυβερνήτης τῶν πάντων Bertoldin. 169.7–8 ψάλτης κοινός PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §28.11

ἦμπε ὁ δεσπότης (1646/7, Patmos?/Crete?, LAMBROS 1910: 266, 190.21) ὄλου τοῦ Αἰγίου Πελάου μετροπολίτης (1655, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: 122.2–3) (= μητροπολίτης, see I, 2.8.1) ἦλθε ἄλλος κυβερνήτης Soumakis, Rebelio 36.10–11

In specific phonetic environments final /s/ may be deleted in texts from south-western areas, e.g. ὁ αὐτὸς κυβερνίστη τους (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 310.28) (= κυβερνήτη) (author from Mani). For details and more examples see I, 3.7.1.1.

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ές

In a collection of 17th-c. documents from Naxos there are quite a few examples of an oxytone variant in -ές, alongside many more common forms in -ής. As these endings are only employed in the singular (cf. the genitive and accusative, below), this is not a full transfer to a different paradigm (cf. the Cypriot paradigm in -ιός, 2.8). The following list of examples is not exhaustive, but the ending does seem to be lexically limited to the words ἀγοραστής and πωλητής:⁵⁸

ὁ αὐτὸς πωλητὲς (1630, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 4, 133.13); ὡς πωλητὲς τὸ βεβαιώνει (1631, ibid. 6, 136.31); ὁ ἀγοραστὲς (1633, ibid. 9, 144.13; and ibid. 144.21); ὁ πωλητὲς (ibid. 144.13); ὁ πωλητὲς Λιανὸς (1640, ibid. 17, 156.14); ὁ ἄνωθεν Σταμάτης ὁ πωλητὲς (1658, ibid. 28, 174.14)

Unrelated to these is the following peculiar shortened form of ἀφέντης, which appears in the Cretan comedy Stathis: ἀφὲς ὁ Στάθης Stathis I.226 and III.270 (ἀφὲς = ὁ ἀφές).

⁵⁸ Note that in the same area there is a corresponding feminine form ἡ πωλητέ (see 2.16.1).

GenitiveMasc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ῆ ἢ -η

The most common ending for the genitive is /i/:

- κυροῦ Κοσμά τοῦ Ἀττικῆ (1147 [13th-c. copy], Constantinople, KRUMBACHER 1895: 410, f.18r.2) ὄχρι τοῦ δρόμου τοῦ Ληστῆ (1154, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 4, 76.5) τοῦ δουλευτῆ σου τοῦ Σταμάτη (1489, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 19, 100.8) περὶ τοῦ ἐγγυητῆ Assizes A 91.30 ἐκ τοῦ ληστῆ τὸ στόμα FALIEROS, Thrinós 172; τοῦ Ποιητῆ μου ibid. 286 τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ καλοῦ ληστή MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 6.35; εἶπαν τοῦ διαλαλητῆ ibid. 456.13
 τοῦ Κωνσταντῆ Ἐξεδάκτυλου (1510, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 19, 33.9) τοῦ ποτὲ κυρ-Κωσταντῆ (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 2, 54.5) τοῦ μισέρ Θεοδωρῆ Τάγαρη (1586, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 145, 268.1) (< Θεόδωρος) τοῦ πουλητῆ (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 149, 119.16) λέγει τοῦ πραγματευτῆ Vios Aisop. D 215.13 εἰς τοῦ σφακτῆ τὸ χέρι Thysia Avr. 827 (< σφάκτης) τοῦ Θεριστῆ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 373.3 τοῦ ἄνωθεν ἀγοραστῆ (1673, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 10, 173.22) μέγα διερμηνευτῆ (1679, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 18, 32.5) ν' ἀκούση τοῦ τραγουδιστῆ KORNAROS, Erot. I.491 τοῦ κριτῆ ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 54.1 Ἰωάννου Κτίστη (1133, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 113, 151.17) τοῦ Μιχάλη τοῦ Ράφτη (1157/8, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 19, 158.9) ἐκείνου τοῦ δεσπότη Chron. Mor. H 1086; τοῦ μητροπολίτη τῆς Πατροῦ ibid. 1955 τοῦ χριοφελέτη Assizes B 303.24; περὶ τοῦ ράφτη ὅπου ράβγει τὰ ροῦχα τοὺς λᾶς ibid. 322.11–12 ὅμως οὐ μὴ σὲ βαρεθῶ, ὁψαροπούλη τέκνον Poulol. 366 ap. crit. (V) τοῦ δεσπότη τοῦ Μορέως (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 71, f.Ir.12) τοῦ καλοῦ σας ἀφέντη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 46.12 τοῦ ἀφέντη (1556, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 146, 116.8) ἐνοῦ παπαῖ ἢ ψάλτη (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 2, 295.44–5) τὸ ἄλογον τοῦ γαλατοπούλη Bertoldin. 157.35–6 τοῦ πανιερωτάτου μητροπολίτη (1654, Kastoria, Drakopoulou 2005: 18, 36.3) τοῦ δεσπότη καὶ ὁλονοῦ τοῦ λαοῦ (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.5) τοῦ αἰνδεσιμωτάτου ἀφέντη (1672, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 5, 17.24–5) (= αἰδεσιμωτάτου, see I, 3.5.2.4) τοῦ Μελοπούλη (1694, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 32, 79.2) παρὰ τοῦ ποτὲ αὐθέντη καὶ δεσπότη EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 13.5–6

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-οῦ ἢ -ου

This residual ending of the old 1st declension is much rarer than the common ending in /i/ (above) and is used mainly in mixed- and higher-register texts and more formal contexts:

σου τοῦ ἀγορασθοῦ (1178, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 12, 111.13) (with <σθ> for <στ>, see I, 3.8.1.4) ἀπὸ σαλοῦ καὶ μεθυστοῦ Paroim. A 7 τοῦ μεριστοῦ (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 15, 22.2) τοῦ ληστοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.22 τ' ὄνομαν τοῦ δικαστοῦ Pist. kekoim. 496 το ὄνομα του ελευθερωτοῦ σου Don Kis. 51.12 τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ δεσπότη Dig. G III.215 Ἰωάννου τοῦ δεσπότη Chron. Mor. H 3085 ὡς δοῦλοι τοῦ δεσπότη Alosis 140 τοῦ μητροπολίτου τῆς Ταρσοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 98.7; τοῦ δεσπότη τοῦ Μορεᾶ ibid. 682.16 τοῦ αἰδεσίμου μητροπολίτου (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 42, 73.24) του Λαζάρου δεσπότη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 63.31 τους τρεις σταυρούς που ἐκρυσαν, ληστῶν καὶ του Δεσπότη ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 9757

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ός ἰ -ος

The deployment of these endings is entirely lexical, limiting itself to the word αὐθέντης/ἀφέντης, probably by analogy with semantically related words such as ρήγας and δούκας (see 2.2.3). The oxytone variant occurs frequently in texts from north to south and west to east, whereas the paroxytone one is much rarer:

τοῦ ... ρηγός ... καὶ αὐθεντός ἡμῶν (1188, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 20, 338.22) μὴ δώκης δῶρα αὐθεντός Spaneas Z 239 οἱ ὀρισμοὶ τοῦ ἀφεντός Synax. gyn. 396 τοῦ αὐθεντός (16th c., Constantinople, PREGER 1912: 468.24) του αφεντός μου Diig. Alex. K 357.2 (Mitsakis) κόντρα τοῦ ἀφεντός μου TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 295 τοῦ ἀφεντός του (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 21, 32.7–8) τοῦ ἀφεντός τοῦ καδῆ (1596, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 20, 75.31) τοῦ αὐθεντός ὁποῦ κρατεῖ τὸ Κάερος Diig. Alex. Sem. B 47 τ' ἀφεντός τωνε CHORTATIS, Erof. IV.151 τοῦ ἀφεντός τῆς Μολδαβίας Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.10–11 τοῦ ἀφεντός τοῦ Θεοῦ (1617, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970b: 3, 230.6) τοῦ ἐκλαμπροτάτου ἀφεντός (1624, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2000: 2, 515.8) τοῦ ἀφεντός τοῦ χάτμανου (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 56–7.15–16) τοῦ πανιερωτάτου ἡμῶν ἀφεντός (1707, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1973: 1, 303.15) ἐπὶ τοῦ εὐσεβεστάτου ἀφέντος (1440, Crimea, LATYSHEV 1896: 3, 4.5–6) τοῦ αὐθέντος (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 61, 51.7) ἦφεράν τον τοῦ αὐθέντος (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 38.II, 307.28.2) τὰ μισὰ τοῦ ἀφέντος τοῦ Καδῆ (1594, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 153, 278.31)

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-έ

In a collection of 17th-c. documents from Naxos there are quite a few examples of an oxytone variant in /e/, alongside many more common forms in /i/ (for discussion see nom. sg. in -ές, above; see also acc. sg. in -έ, below):

τοῦ αὐτοῦ ἀγοραστέ (1628, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 2, 130.37); τοῦ ἄνωθεν ἀγοραστέ (1630, ibid. 4, 133.14); τοῦ ἀγοραστέ (1633, 9, 144.12; and 1640, ibid. 17, 156.12); τοῦ πωλητέ (1630, ibid. 4, 133.13; and 1636, ibid. 13, 149.9)

Unconnected to these is the following shortened form of ἀφέντης, which appears in the Cretan comedy Stathis: τ' ἀφέ τοῦ Στάθη Stathis III.438.

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-άδος

A genitive in -άδος, a pseudo-archaism modelled on the imparisyllabic plural (see below), appears once in one manuscript of the War of Troy, where the other mss have a plural (εὐγενάδων): ἀμῖρος ἢ τινὸς εὐγενάδος Pol. Tr. 7403 app. crit. (X).

Accusative

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-ή(ν) ἢ -η(ν)

With the exception of one regional variant (see below) there is no variation in the acc. sg. ending, other than that it can occur with or without final /n/:

χειρώνονται τὸν ἀγωνιστὴν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 16.31–2 πολλὰ τὸν ἔχω εὐκαιρητὴν GLYKAS, Stichoi 208 νὰ βάλῃ τὸν διαλαλητὴν Chron. Mor. H 3894 ὁποῦ τὸν ἔβαλεν ἐνκυτὴν Assizes B 315.15 (< ἐγγυητής) εἰς τὸν κριτὴν (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 86, 66.2) γίνονται ὥσάν τὸν μεθυστὴν SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 201 τὸν Μέντζην τὸν κατηχητὴν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 610.26–7 ἐβάσταξεν τὸν Ποιητὴν Synax. gyn. 63 τὸν μαῖστρο-Αὐγουστή (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 144, 144.4–5) (< Αὐγουστος) μ' ἓνα ληστὴν μὲ κράζετε νὰ κάμω τὴ μαλέα; Alex. Rim. 808 τὸν Ντουέλε τὸν ἀσκητὴν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 128.24; ἐπῆρε ἓνα του δουλευτὴ καὶ ἐφύγανε ibid. 143.4 ἀναγέλασεν τὸν πραγματευτὴν Vios Aisop. I 252.17 τὸν Ἰωάννην τὸν Βαπτιστὴν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 11.11 ἀπὲ καὶ πλερωτὴ καὶ σακκὶ ἄχερο Paroim. (Warner) 101.12; πραγματευτὴν ἐγύρευα ibid. 105.9
γὰ τὸν τραγουδιστὴν KORNAROS, Erot. I.436; κριτὴ μ' ἐβάλαν ibid. I.1659 Λουκὰν κυβερνήτην (1015, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 15, 15.23) ἓναν κλέρην Chron. Mor. H 2329 (< Fr. clerc); τὸν μητροπολίτην τῆς Πατροῦ ibid. 7867 ἓνα αὐθέντην ἔσχον Ptoch. (Maiuri) 21 καὶ τὸ παιδὶν ὠνόμασε δεσπότην Ἀχιλλέαν Achil. L 11 ἐκοπίασεν εἰς τὸν ἀφέντη τὸν ρήγα (1406, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 35, f.115v.2) τὸν αὐθέντην τὸν πατέρα τους (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.11–12) ἐρμάσαν την μὲ τὸν ἀφέντην ... τὸν δεσπότην τοῦ Μορέως MACHAIRAS, Chron. 58.33–4 τὸ ὄνομά του λέγασι δεσπότη κυρ Μουρίκη KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.85 εἰς τὸν ἀφέντη τὸν κατὴ (1597, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 41, 188.19) καὶ χαίρετοῦμε καὶ τὸν ἀφέντη τὸν Κωσταντὴ (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.PS) πανιερώτατον μητροπολίτην (1610, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 6, 360.2) διά τὸν ἀφέντη τὸ δεσπότη τὸν ἐδικό μας (1652, Milos, SYMEONIDIS 1989: 2, 118.4) τὸν αὐθέντην τὸν χάτμαν (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 57.27) ἡ νύχτα πύσκοπο γεννῆ, ἡ αὐγὴ μετροπολίτη Paroim. (Warner) 92.20 (= μητροπολίτη) τὸν ποιητὴ καὶ κτίστη ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 1059

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-έ

In a collection of 17th-c. documents from Naxos an oxytone variant in -έ occurs, alongside many more common forms in /i/ (for discussion see nom. sg. in -ές, above; see also gen. sg. in -έ): τὸν ἀγοραστέ (1630, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 4, 133.19; and 1640, ibid. 17, 156.14); ἀπὲ τὸν ἄνωθεν ἀγοραστέ (1645, ibid. 21, 161.13); νὰ στερεώνουν τὸν ἀγοραστέ (1658, ibid. 28, 174.14).

Unrelated to these is the following shortened form of ἀφέντης in the Cretan comedy Stathis: τὸν ἀφὲ τὸ Στάθη Stathis III.483.

Vocative

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-ή ἰ -η

The most common ending for the vocative is /i/:

γνήσιε συγγενή του Liv. E 339 ἦλθες καὶ ἐσύ, φονέα, ληστή Poulol. 370 ἀγαπημένε συγγενή Achil. L 962 ὦ ποιητὴ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 437.31 βόηθα μου, μαθητὴ μου CHORTATSI, Katz. V.475 Πλάστη καὶ Ποιητὴ μου Thysia Avr. 215 κακοθελητὴ του οσπιτίου μου, τι ἦτον οπού ἐκαμες; Vios Filaret. 242.25 λυτρωτὴ μου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. Prol. 6 ἀφέντη μας, δεσπότη Chron. Mor. H 1116 ἄφισ με ἀφέντη μου καλέ Dig. E 953 αὐθέντη μου Pol. Tr. 530 app. crit. (A) στράφου, αὐθέντη εὐγενῆ Achil. O 472 αὐθέντη, νὰ ἐγνωρίσεις (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 85.3) ἔλα 'φέντη μου, ὅς φιλοῦμεν Katal. 451 καλῶς ἦλθες, ἀφέντη SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 157 ἀφέντη καβαλλάρη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 474.25 καὶ λέγει του: δεσπότη μου Theseid V.87,3 (1529) ἀφέ<ν>τη μισέρ Μανούσο (1570, Venice, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 9, 482.1) Κύριε, Θεέ καὶ Κτίστη P&N Diath. 871 νὰ ἡξεύρης, δεσπότη μου (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.10–11) ἀφέντη καὶ πατὴρ μου (1680, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 8, 301, f.1r.2) δεσπότη μου γλυκύτατε, αὐθέντη μου ποθεινότατε VAROUCHAS, Logoi 469.22

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-ά ἰ -α

This residual ending is used mainly in more formal contexts. Note that the vocative of the word δεσπότης also preserves its historical shift of stress to the antepenultimate (see 2.3.5 for innovative formations based on the residual vocative):

Χρόνε, τῆς Τύχης δουλεπτά Log. parig. L 121 (< δουλευτής) καὶ σὺ, πολιτευτά Phys. 545 μέγα αὐθέντα καὶ ἐξουσιαστά (1652, Crete, TCHENTSOVA 2002: 1, 355.7) ἐλελῶ καὶ λυτρωτά PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 84 εἶδες, δέσποτα, ἀφέντη μου Chron. Mor. H 4922 ἀφέντα μου Dig. E 750 οὐκ ἐγνωρίζεις, δέσποτα, τὸν Πρόδρομον τὸν ἔχεις Ptoch. (Maiuri) 42 δέσποτα Λίβιστρε Liv. V 3893 κατάβε, δέσποτα (15th c., Trebizond region, TSAKALOF 1910: [3], 121.3) φύγε, διῶκτα Poulol. 375 δέσποτα παπά (1497, Crete, MAVROEIDI-POUMIDI 1971: 6, 143.33) πλάνε καὶ ψεύστα κόσμε Plani kosmou 145 ἐκλαμπρότατε ἡμῶν αὐθέντα καὶ ἀδελφε (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 171.1) δέσποτά μου (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.23–4) πολλῶν αὐθεντάδων μέγα αὐθέντα (1653, Putyvl, TCHENTSOVA 2002: 4, 363, f.1r.3) Θεὲ παντάναξ, ἄγιε, Ἄδωναϊ καὶ Κτίστα PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 83 αὐθέντα ὑψηλότατε KONDAR., Paides 168 δέσποτα πολυέλεε Θεέ! EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 25.12–13

Plural

Nominative

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ές ἰ -ες

With oxytone nouns the inherited parisyllabic ending /es/ is much less common than the newer imparisyllabic one (see below). With paroxytone nouns, which adopt the imparisyllabic ending later than the oxytone ones, it is more common, especially with the word αὐθέντης/ἀφέντης:

οἱ κακοθελητές του Pol. Tr. 13373 app. crit. (A) διορθωτές τῆς ψυχῆς μου (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 82, 154.8) νὰ μεθαν καὶ οἱ δυὸ ἀπιλογητές σου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 90, 88.14–15); ἐγγυητές καὶ καθολικοὶ πληρωτές (1549, Crete, ibid. 98, 96.3) οἱ αὐτοὶ τιμητές (1649, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2008: 1, 51.17–18) ἀπόστολοι καὶ μάρτυρες, συνασκητές ἀλήθεια IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 9516 μητροπολίτες κι ἀρχιερεῖς Chron. Mor. H 2664; πρέπει νὰ εἶναι ἀφέντες ibid. 3889 ζιοῦν οἱ μητροπολίτες Assizes B 280.7 τὲς χάριτες τὲς ἔχουν οἱ ἀφέντες Chron. Toc. 1271 αὐθέντες ... εἰσὶν (1453, Gallipoli, DARROUZÈS 1963: 2, 84.28) ὡς αὐθέντες, βασιλεῖς [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2111 τῆς θαλάσσου αὐθέντες Byz. Il. 542 ἀγελαδοὶ καὶ σκάπτες SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 172 οἱ δολεροὶ καὶ πονηροὶ δεσπότης DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 834 οἱ κτίστές MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 592.11–12 γέροντες μικροὶ καὶ ἑκοδеспότες BERGADIS, Apok. A 125 οἱ ὅποιοι ὅλοι χρεοφελέτες φαίνονται (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 50, 88.37–8) οἱ αὐθέντες οἱ δεσπότες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 422.14 οἱ δεσπότες ἐγυρίσανε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 95.9 οἱ ... λογιότατοι ἀφέντες (1667, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [6], 23.13)

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-άδες

With oxytone nouns this innovative imparisyllabic ending appears from the very beginning and throughout the period covered by this Grammar and is more common than the inherited parisyllabic ending /es/ (see above). Examples of paroxytone nouns, however, have not been found before the 14th c. (see introduction to 2.3 for discussion):

οἱ ἐξουσιαστάδες (1121, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 88, 116.11); καὶ ἐγγυητάδες (1146, ibid. 142, 189.19) ἐὰν ἔναι ζαριστάδες (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 23.173) οἱ κριτάδες Assizes B 276.17; οἱ πραγματευτάδες ibid. 299.17 ὅλλοι πραγματευτάδες (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 273.18) κριτάδες νὰ τὸν φουρκίσου (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 92.15) (= κριτάδες, see I, 3.9.1) οἱ μεθυστάδες οἱ ναῦτες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 148.20 οὐδέ ἔσου οὐδέ οἱ δουλευτάδες σου VOUSTR., Chron. A 54.15 ὅλοι οἱ βουλευτάδες Alex. Rim. 562 οἱ τζενιαστάδες Fior Suppl. 273.1; οἱ μουρμουριστάδες ibid. 278.29 ὅλοι οἱ Εὐαγγελιστάδες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 363.20 ἐγγυτάδες καὶ πλερωτάδες (1543, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 119, 82.18) νὰ εἶναι ἀπιλοητάδες (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 218, 183.19) (< ἀπολογητής) οἱ ἀνωθεν ἄγοραστάδες (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 344, 323.12) ἔγιναν τιμωρητάδες Vios Aisop. I 283.11 οἱ ληστάδες KRITTOPOULOS, Grammar 108.28 οἱ ἀποκοφτάδες (1630, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 4, 133.10); οἱ κοπιαστάδες (1651, ibid. 23, 166.26) οἱ τοποτηρητάδες RODINOS, Vios Ign. 104.13 εἶναι γογγυστάδες, κατηγορητάδες KALLIOUP., Ioud. 16; οἱ μαθητάδες id., Kaini Diath. Matth. 14.12 οἱ ἀνυφαντάδες (1667, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 3, 146.8–9) οἱ πουλητάδες (1680, Peloponnese, PAPADOPOULOS 1976: 1, 118.8) περίσσιοι ἐξουσιαστάδες καὶ κυβερνητάδες SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 52.35–53.1 τινὲς πλεῖστοι κλεράδες Chron. Mor. H 514 εὐρίσκονταν ραφτάδες Chron. Toc. 1788 ὡς ἀρσενοκοιτάδες CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1068 νὰ κάμουν οἱ κτιστάδες Alex. Rim. 561 ἐμεῖς οἱ Κοντομανολάδες (1559, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 231, 280.13) οἱ μητροπολιτάδες ZYGOM., Synopsis 174.E.7 οἱ χριστιανοὶ οἱ ἀφεντάδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.24 οἱ μητροπολιτάδες ROMANOS, Grammar 2.11 ὅλοι οἱ αὐθεντάδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6965; τοὺς μητροπολιτάδες ibid. 9255 χρεοφειλετάδες όπου μου βρίσκονται (1677, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 2, 125.25–6) οἱ δύο ραφτάδες (1680, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 26, 57.2) τοῦ κλήρου κυριτζάδες KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 436 Στώσιος καὶ Ζώτος καὶ Κωτζῆς, Ἀρβανιτάδες (1683, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 84, 320.3) (< Ἀρβανίτης)

νὰ εἶναι κυβερνητάδες (1705, Chios, KAVVADAS 1950: 39.7)

In the following surnames the /i/ of the sg. ending is retained before -άδες (cf. gen. pl.): οἱ ἄνωθεν Χαρακτιάδες (1546/51, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 26, 65.33; and 1551, ibid. 49, 91.8) (< Χαράκτης); οἱ Μακριάδες (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 60, 73.6) (< Μακρής); οἱ αὐτοὶ Μισινιάδες (1639, ibid. 152, 133.5) (< Μισίνης).

Forms in -άδης are phonetic rather than morphological variants of those in -άδες (for mid-vowel raising see I, 2.5.4): τοῦ λέγουν οἱ κριτάδης τοῦ Ζώτου (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.46r.5).

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-αὶ ἢ -αι

This residual 1st-declension ending, which had long been replaced by /es/ (see the introduction to Chapter 2), is sometimes used in more formal contexts and in texts that strive for a higher register:

οἱ ἔρασταὶ καὶ φίλοι τῆς ἀνδρείας Dig. G VIII.223 πραγματευταὶ (1346/7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 256.54) οἱ ἄνωθε ἀποκοπταὶ (1561, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 129, 247.28–248.1) οἱ τοποτηρηταὶ RODINOS, Vios Ign. 105.26 οἱ μαθηταὶ του KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 5.1

καὶ δοῦλοι καὶ δεσπότες Ptoch. II 74 οἱ δεσπότες κείτονται Pol. Tr. 9208 οἱ μητροπολίται Diig. tetr. 918 ρηγάδες καὶ δεσπότες Poulol. 404 ὅλοι οἱ αὐθένται Chron. Ps.-Dorothe. (1572) 17 αυθένται καὶ τοπάρχαι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 323

In documents from Naxos we find a plural in -αὶ with the word πουλητής, which possibly is not the archaizing ending (note πουλ – for πωλ-). Cf. the peculiar sg. forms in -ές of the words πουλητής and ἀγοραστής, above.

οἱ πουληταὶ ὁμολογοῦσι (1596, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 20, 76.14–15) οἱ αὐτοὶ πουληταὶ (1628, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 3, 132.22); οἱ πουληταὶ (1639, ibid. 16, 155.18); τ' ἀδελφία οἱ πουληταὶ (1645, ibid. 21, 162.17–18)

Genitive

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν ἢ -ῶ ἢ -ων

With oxytone nouns the inherited parasyllabic ending, with a shift of the stress to the ultimate, is not as frequent as the imparisyllabic one (see below), though it can be found in texts throughout the LMedG and EMG periods. With paroxytone nouns it is the only ending used in the LMedG period, and it remains common after they adopt the new imparisyllabic ending:

κριτών ... καὶ λοιπῶν ἀπαιτητῶν (1079, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 2, 18.11) τῶν ἀνωτέρων ἐξουσιαστῶν (1224, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 30, 448.29) τῶν εὐγενῶν, τῶν συγγενῶν Eisit. f.7v.7
 τῶν δανειστῶν μου Ptoch. III 285 ἄν εἶχα φύσιν τῶν ληστῶν Liv. E 351 βίβλοις ποιητῶν Achil. N 1902 περὶ ... ψαλτῶν Alosis tit. τῶν ὑποκριτῶν SOFIANOS, Paidag. 98.2 τῶν μαθητῶν του MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 335.9 τῶν εὐρισκομένων εἰς αὐτὴν κοπιαστῶν IER. AVVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 336.17 μύθους τῶν ποιητῶν καὶ ἄλλα ὅμοια φλυαρίσματα LANDOS, Geopon. 132.14–15 τῶν πραγματευτῶν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1413 τῶν ραφτῶν (1674, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 3, 122.1) διαμέσον των πρεσβευτῶν MAKOLAS, Ioust. 424.18 των επιμελῶν εραστῶν Don Kis. 100.19 ἐποπτῶν (1079, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 2, 18.11) στεφηφορούντων δεσποτῶν Eisit. f.3r.7 τάξιν λαβεῖν κυβερνητῶν Ptoch. III 197.18 app. crit. (K) πρωτομάστορη τῶν κτιστῶν (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 7, 311.13) μητροπολιτῶν κ' ἐπισκόπων Diig. tetr. 506 app. crit. (P) τὸ σκαμνὶ τῶν δεσποτῶν Chron. Toc. 1524 σὰν πρέπει γὰρ τῶν ἀφεντῶν Imb. Rim. 274 κόντρα τῶν αὐθεντῶν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 103, 102.6) τῶν δυναστῶν τοὺς ἐμπαιγμοὺς Dig. A 4001 τῶν μεγάλων αὐθεντῶν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 18

Deletion of final /n/ occurs in Cretan texts and possibly elsewhere (see I, 3.7.2.2): ἄμε ᾽ς τῷ μαθητῷ μου P&N Diath. 4208; μεγάλῳ ἀφεντῷ παιδιὰ ibid. 1740.

Absence of stress shift to the ultimate may occur in the genitive plural of paroxytone words:

ἐπισκόπων μητροπολίτων Diig. tetr. 506 app. crit. (V) τῶν ψάλτων (15th c., Meteora, VEIS et al. 1998: 225, 247, f.164r.17) αὐθέντων καὶ ἀρχόντων Byz. Il. 839 ψάλτων Alosis tit. transcr. (Lendari) (Legrand: ψαλτῶν); τῶν μητροπολίτων ibid. 237 τῶν χρεοφειλέτων μου ὁλονῶν (1525, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 106, 197.14) τῶν ἄλλων σου χρεοφειλέτων (1553, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 206, 183.8–9) τῶν χρεοφειλέτων τως (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 218, 183.14–15) τῶν αὐθέντων τῶν παπάδων (1628, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 2, 129.26)

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ἄδων ἰ -ἄδω ἰ -ἄδωνε

With oxytone nouns the imparisyllabic ending is by far the most common for the genitive plural, from the very beginning of the period under review. Paroxytone nouns appear to adopt this ending considerably later, as no examples have been found before the 16th c. (ms date of Alosis) (for discussion see the Introduction):

- ἐκ τῶν ἔμῶν δουλευτάδων (1099, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: App. 1, 644.1) τῶν συμμεριστάδων (1216, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 23, 108.13) τῶν ἄλλων κριτάδων Assizes B 278.31 τῶν δύο κριτάδων (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 44.12–13) ἐτέρων ἀληθεστάτων πλησιαστάδων (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 71, 184.10) περὶ τῶν πραγματευτάδων σας (1481, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 11, 316.14–15) τῶν ληστών SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.12 ἀπὸ τὸν ἀριθμὸν τῶν μαθητάδων SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 15.7 τῶν ἐδυσσίων κοπιαστάδων (1597, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 156, 281.18) τῶν δύο πτωχῶν ἀσκητάδων Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 113.18 ὁ φόβος τῶν κριτάδων (17th c., Athos, MEYER 1894: XVI, 220.11) τῶν πολεμιστάδων Chron. Tourk. Soult. 86.1 τῶν νικητάδων Pist. voskos IV. 4.2
 τῶν κληρονομητάδων ντου (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 199.189–90) τῶν συγγενάδων του (1645, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 20. 160.20) τῶν διαλλαχτάδων VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 42.29 ὑποκριτάδων ἀνθρώπων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 107.20–1 τῶν τρυγητάδων LANDOS, Geopon. 146.4 στῶν ποιητάδων τὲς γραφεὶς BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. Dedic. 4 τῶν αὐτῶν ἀγοραστάδων (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 256, 447.18) τῶν μεγαλυτέρων καὶ ἐξουσιαστάδων SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 53.5–6 τῶν Βαρυπρατάδων (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 27, 61.2); τῶν Βασιλακάδων (1501, ibid. 65, 99.12–13) εἰς χεῖρας τε τῶν αὐθεντῶν, ρηγάδων, αὐθεντάδων Alosis 1011 ἡ συνήθεια τῶν αὐθεντάδων Diig. Alex. F 94.5–6 (Lolos) ἀφέντης τῶν αφεντάδων ὅλων Diig. Alex. K 344.1 (Mitsakis) τῶν Κοπτάδων (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 335.16–17) τῶν ἀφεντάδων τῆς Βλαχιάς MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 79 τῶν κηροπουλάδων PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.11 (< κηροπώλης) τῶν αὐθεντάδων τοὺς KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 15.27 τῶν κυβερνητάδων (1707, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 2, 35.11) τῶν ἄνωθεν ἀδελφῶν Κατσαϊτάδων (1720, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 8, 169.4) [τῶν μητροπολιτ]άδων ROMANOS, Grammar 2.11

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete, the Aegean (Chios, Mykonos) and Mani (see I, 3.7.2.2 for details):⁵⁹

- τῶν ἄνωθεν πουλητάδω (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 82, 99.12); τῶν ἄνωθεν ἀγοραστάδω (1606, ibid. 351, 328.11) τῶ δουλευτάδω σου Thysia Avr. 612 τῶ δούλω καὶ ἀφεντάδω FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 36 τῶν δουλευτάδω PETRITSIS, Dig. O 235 τῶν ἄνωθεν σιμαριστάδω (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 28, 43.18–19)

⁵⁹ In Cretan literary texts the omission of final /n/ is often editorial, as in the following example from Erotokritos: ἀπ' ἀφεντάδω προξενιὲς KORNAROS, Erot. III.288, where both the London ms and the Venetian edition read ἀφεντάδων.

τῶν ἀφεντάδω (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 306.2)

᾿ς ταῦτιά τῶν ἀφεντάδω PETRITSIS, Dig. O 236

Addition of -(ν)ε occurs in 17th-c. Heptanesian texts (see also I, 2.6.3.1):

τοῦ ἀγοραστάδωνε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 27, 47.17); τοῦ αὐτῷ ἀγοραστάδωνε (ibid. 44, 61.16) (for the article τοῦ see 5.2.1) τῷ μαθητάδωνε (1667, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 3, 146.21)

τῶν δουλευτάδωνε (1672, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 16, 49.6–7)

τοῦ Μαρουλάδωνε (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 36, 54.11–12) (cf. ὁ Καλογιάννης Μαρούλης (ibid. 54.4)) (for the article τοῦ see 5.2.1)

A form in -άδωνε in a document from Ithaca is a phonetic rather than a morphological variant of -άδωνε (for mid-vowel raising see I, 2.8.3): τοῦ ἄνωθε ἀγοραστάδωνε (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 46, 62.19) (for τοῦ see 5.2.1).

In the following example the /i/ of the singular ending is retained before the plural ending (cf. nom. pl.): τῶν ἄνωθεν Χαρακτιάδων (1546/51, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 26, 65.31) (< family name Χαράκτης).

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ές ἰ -ες ἰ -ας ἰ -άδες

These genitive endings, morphologically identical to the accusative, have been found in texts from Cyprus (for discussion see 1.2):

ἐκόντεψεν ὁ ἀμράλλης κοντὰ τοὺς ἀφέντες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 256.14; τοὺς ἄλλους β' σταυροὺς τοὺς ληστῆς ibid. 4.15–16

εἰς τες αὐλάδες τοὺς αφέντες VOUSTR., Chron. A 14.14

τὰ δικαιώματα τοὺς ἐνκυτάδες Assizes B 309.15 (< ἐγγυητής) τὰ ἀμάχια τοὺς ἐγγυτάδες Assizes A 8.26 τινάς να μεν δώσει φαστίδιον τους δουλευτάδες VOUSTR., Chron. A 220.4–5 τὴν ἀγάπην τοὺς συγγενάδες Fior 76.7; ἔνι φουμιστής τοὺς παιγνιδοφουμιστάδες ibid. 131.14–15 περὶ ... τοὺς συνεσκάρδους τοὺς ἀφέντας Assizes B 410.8–9

Accusative

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ές ἰ -ες

With the oxytone nouns belonging to this paradigm, the inherited parisyllabic ending is much less common than the imparisyllabic one (see below). It is more common with the paroxytone nouns, which start to adopt the new imparisyllabic ending a few centuries later than the oxytone ones:

τοὺς τέσσερις εὐαγγελιστές (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.143) εἰς τοὺς ἀπάνου Κεραμουτές (1524, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 1, 15.3) (= Κεραμωτές, see I, 2.5.4) μητροπολίτες τέσσαρους Chron. Mor. H 6151 εις τούς δεσπότες ὅλους Chron. Toc. 2120 τούς χρεοφελέτες (1549, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 51, 93.9) τούς εὐγενεῖς αὐθέντες (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 286.2); ἀπὸ τῆς χρεοφελέτες (ibid. 283, 388.29) (for the article τίς see 5.2.1) μέ τούς δεσπότες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 95.5–6 τὸν μαστρο-Θωμὰ Καντζιπὰ καὶ μαστρο-Γαρόφο Κρητικό, χτίστες (1630, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 4, 133.10–11) μέ τούς ἀφέντες (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.17–18) σπαχήδες ἔχω ἀφέντες μου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 572.4

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδες

For oxytone words this ending is the most common for the accusative plural from at least the 14th c. onwards. Examples of paroxytone nouns have not been found before the 16th c. (ms date of the Byzantine Iliad):

τούς καταπατητάδες Chron. Mor. H 1049 πραγματευτάδες ξενικούς Florios 914 τούς καρδιοφλογιστάδες Katal. 551 τούς καταλυτάδες Chron. Toc. 1014 τούς ἔξαγορευτάδες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 25 μέ τούς δουλευτάδες μου (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 84.11) εἰς ἀπαὶ τούς συγγενάδες του Assizes A 39.1 (< adj. συγγενής) μέ τούς τραγουδιστάδες SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 57 (Lendari) τούς κατατιμωτάδες LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 188 μέ ὅλους τούς ἀσκητάδες Synax. gyn. 157 εἶχα ... ὀρχηστάδες Fior 76.31; νὰ ἀγαπήσουν τούς συγγενάδες τους ibid. 77.39–40 κουμεσαρίου καὶ ὀρδινιασάδες (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 132.10) εφονεύθηκα ὑπὸ τους αναθρεφτάδες μου Diig. Alex. K 365.27 (Mitsakis) κολυμβητάδες MOREZINOS, Klini 207.24 τσι προξενητάδες CHORTATSI, Erof. II.284 (for the article τσι see 5.2.1) ὡσάν τους ὑποκριτάδες KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 6.5; εἶδε τους μοιρολογητάδες ibid. 9.23 δὲν εἶχε ... στιμαριστάδες (1657, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 4, 51.11) τούς φονευτάδες BOUNIALIS M., Kat. ofel. 349 ἐκλέγει ... ἐπιθεωρητάδες (1681, Chios, KAVVADAS 1950: 38.8) τούς τέσσερους εὐαγγελιστάδες (1685, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1940: 301.27–8) στέλνοντας διαλαλητάδες EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 22–3.25, 1 τῆς κακοπλερωτάδες (1707, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 16, 34.20) (for the article τίς see 5.2.1) ὅλους τούς αὐθεντάδες Byz. Il. 701 ἑσᾶς τους αὐθεντάδες Diig. Alex. F 132.8 (Lolos) τούς κληρικούς ἀρχιερεῖς καὶ μητροπολιτάδες MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2849 ἔφθειρεν πολὺν κόσμον καὶ ἀφεντάδες (1624, Skopje?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 72A, 563.16.2) εἰς τους κηροπουλάδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §24.3 νὰ δουλεύει δύο αὐθεντάδες KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 6.24 καὶ αὐτοὺς τους μητροπολιτάδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 9255 ὑψηλότατους ἀφε<ν>τάδες (1667, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [6], 24.16) τοὺς κυβερνητάδες (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1955: 516.16) με τοὺς καπετανέους καὶ δεσποτάδες τῆς Ρούμελης (1708, Zakynthos, SATHAS 1865: 524.30–1) ἀπὸ τοὺς ὁμοίους χρειοφειλετάδες (1707, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 16, 33.11) τοὺς αὐθεντάδες Don Kis. 612.25

Forms in -άδης are phonetic rather than morphological variants of those in -άδες (for mid-vowel raising see I, 2.5.4): ἀπὸ τοὺς πραγματιφτάδης (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PARASTATHI 2011: A 4, f.40r.13); τοὺς πραγματευτάδης (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 53.5) (= πραγματευτάδες).

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδας

This accusative ending, which is the old imparisyllabic ending of the /as/ paradigm (see 2.2.1), is used only occasionally:

ληστάδας ὑποτάξεις; Dig. G III.308 <τοὺς> ληστάδας ἐπάταξα Dig. E 1790 τοὺς ἀποφουμιστάδας Diig. tetr. 22 app. crit. (VC) ἐκ τοὺς Φουσκωματάδας Poulol. 276; ἀπὸ τοὺς Λασκαράδας ibid. 276 app. crit. (E) ἀπὲ τοὺς ληστάδας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.22 στοὺς εὐαγγελιστάδας PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 13 τοὺς πρώτους αὐθεντάδας LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 374

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδους

This is a hybrid ending that combines the innovative imparisyllabic ending with the acc. pl. ending of the /os/ paradigm: ἐπιτρόπους καὶ ἐκδιγητάδους (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 129, 171.26–7).

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-άς ἢ -ας

This residual parasyllabic ending is mainly restricted to mixed- and higher-register texts and formal contexts:

δύο τῶν μοναχῶν μαθητάς (1258, Philadelphia?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 15, 154.43) τοὺς ληστάς Dig. G IV.15 τοὺς ἄρχοντας καὶ πραγματευτάς (1481, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 13, 319.12) θέλεις ὁσίους ἀσκητάς DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 677 (< ἀσκητής, see I, 3.8.1.4) εἰς τοὺς ἀγίους τοῦ μαθητάς VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 31.2 βλέποντας τοὺς μαθητάς VAROUCHAS, Logoi 467.24 ἀπ' ὅλους τοὺς μητροπολίτας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 408.16 με αὐθέντας τε καὶ βασιλεῖς IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 8901 ἔχεις φίλους αὐτοῦ γεζοβίτας (1692, Bucharest, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 4, 54.183) (= ἰησουίτας)

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-αι

An accusative ending -αι has been found in a document from Naxos. It is a hypercorrection of the parasyllabic /es/ ending, which is identical to the nominative ending (for the influence of nouns in /is/, /as/, /es/ and /us/ on masculine nouns in /os/ in Cycladic texts see 1.3 and 2.1): βάνου ἀποκοπταί (1561, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 129, 247.13).

Vocative

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-ές ἰ -ες

The inherited parasyllabic ending is restricted to paroxytone nouns, which do not appear to adopt the imparisyllabic ending (see below) until the 16th c.:

ἀκούσατε, τοπάρχες μου Liv. V 3962 νὰ τὸ ἤξεύρετε, αὐθέντες (1456, Unknown, TSIRPANLIS 1986: 1, 222.5) καὶ ἐσεῖς, αὐθέντες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 19 αὐθέντες μεγιστᾶνοι Alosis 359 καὶ εἶπε τους: ἀφέντες μου Alex. Rim. 1341 ἀφέντες κριτάδες (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 50.4)

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-άδες

For oxytone nouns the vocative ends in -άδες. Examples of paroxytone nouns have not been found before the 16th c.:

ὁ βασιλεὺς λέγει: πραγματευτάδες Florios 1053 ὦ ληστὰδες SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.12 ἀφέντες κριτάδες (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 50.4) ὦ μαθητάδες VEST., Pathi 111 καλῶς ἦλθετεν, ... ἄξοι ἀκροατάδες PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 429 ᾽πέτε μου, δουλευτάδες μου KONDAR., Paides 89 ἄμετε καὶ σεῖς, κολακευτάδες κατάρατοι Irodis V 126 αὐθεντάδες Diig. Alex. E 95.11 (Lolos) [μητροπολιτ]άδες ROMANOS, Grammar 2.11 νὰ ζεῖτε, αὐθεντάδες μου Bertoldin. 98.35 ἀξιώτατοι καὶ ἐγλαμπρότατοι ἀφεντᾶδες (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 506.1)

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-αί ἰ -αι

The residual vocative appears only sporadically in more formal contexts: εὐλογημένοι μου ἀκροαταί Diig. Sant. 59.26; ἐνδοξότατοι ἐκλαμπρότατοι καὶ περιβλεπτοι αὐθένται σινιὸρ καπετάνιοι (1415, Skyros, LEMERLE et al. 1979: App. XVII, 216.1); αὐθένται καὶ τοπάρχαι ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 9937.

2.3.2 Paroxytone Nouns with Parisyllabic Plural

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	στρατιώτης	-η -ες
Gen.	στρατιώτη	στρατιώτου
Acc.	στρατιώτη(ν)	-εν
Voc.	στρατιώτη	στρατιῶτα
Plural
Nom.	στρατιῶτες	στρατιῶται	-ηδες -οι
Gen.	στρατιωτῶν	στρατιώτων στρατιῶτες	στρατιώτας
Acc.	στρατιῶτες	στρατιώτας	-ηδες -ους
Voc.	στρατιῶτες	στρατιῶται	-οι

Singular

Nominative

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ης

With the exception of one regional variant (see below), there is no variation in the nom. sg. ending:

- ὁ προλεχθεὶς κύρης Λεόντιος (11th c.?, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1982: 1, 11.24) γραμματικὸς τεχνίτης Ptoch. III 81 ὁ μακαρίτης αὐθέντης ὁ θεὸς μου (1437, Athens, BUCHON 1843: LXXI, 297.2) ὁ σεργέντης Assizes B 321.24 ἔδε κουρτέσης ἄγουρος, ἔρωτικός στρατιώτης Achil. L 1113 ὁ Νῶες ὁ προφήτης CHOUNNOS, Kosmog. 425 πταίστης ἐγὼ οὐκ εἶμαι Velth. 209 ὡσάν παιγνιώτης SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 26; νὰ ἐν' καὶ νάπτης ἔτοιμος ibid. 327 (= ναύτης, see I, 3.8.1.4) ὁ σώστης τῶν σφαλμάτων FALIEROS, Thrinos 237 Κωνσταντινουπολίτης Ekth. Chron. 28.8
 ὁ Πλάστης μετὴν φρόνα Synax. gyn. 78 τίτοιος δοσιώτης ἔναι Diig. Alex. F 172.11 (Konstantinopulos) ἐνορίτης τῆς Ἁγίας Παρασκευῆς PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §7.3; ὁ κύρ Ἀνδριανὸς ὁ λογοθέτης ibid.

 I §23.25; ἐγίνην οἰνοπότης ibid. I §31.178–9; ὁ πατριάρχης ibid. I §31.199 ἄλλα ἐμέτρα ὁ ἀγωγιάτης Paroim. (Warner) 33.18; ἄλλα λέγει ὁ ζευγηλάτης ibid. 33.22; εἶνε βουβαλοκλέφτης ibid. 44.24 ὁ προφήτης τως IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 90 Ἰουδας καὶ προδότης BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 476.8; ἔγινε καταδότης ibid. 476.9 εἶναι συνοριάτης ... ὁ Ἰωάννης (1671, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 69, 318.6) ὁ καθρέπτης της σωφροσύνης Don Kis. 131.19

Final /s/ is sometimes omitted, probably under the influence of Italian: ἐγώ, Ἰωάννη Ὀλόκαλος (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 25, 64.3); Ἰωάννη ἱερές (1623, Bergamo, KORRE 2008: 2, 330.22) (author from Mani) (cf. Ital. Giovanni).

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ες

Forms in -ες have been found of paroxytone surnames in documents from Pontos (see I, 2.5.2; cf. acc. sg. in -εν, below; cf. PAPADOPOULOS 1955: 14–17 and OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 44 for the modern dialect):

Θεόδωρος ὁ Τζανιχίτες (1306, Trebizond, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1886: 1, 114.14–15) Βασίλης ὁ Πολίτες καὶ Ἰωάννης ὁ Πολίτες (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 164, 115.5)
 ὁ Ἅγιος Θεόδωρος ὁ Στρατηλάτες (15th c., Trebizond region, TSAKALOF 1910: [2], 120.1–6) Ἰωάννης Ἀγιανάνιτες (1411, Trebizond, MILLET 1895: 435.7–8)

Genitive

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-η

The most common ending for the genitive singular is the inherited ending -η (see also introduction to 2.3):

χήρας Καλῆς τῆς τοῦ Κουρτέση (ca. 1300, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 18A, 141.10) τοῦ στρατιώτη Pol. Tr. 8237 περὶ ἐκείνου τοῦ σιργέντη Assizes B 320.31 ἕτερου τεχνίτη Assizes A 73.17 τοῦ μακαρίτη κοντοσταύλη τῆς Κύπρου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 52.28–9 ἐνοῦ στρατιώτη ἐψόφησε τὸ ἄλογόν του Diig. Alex. F 24.19 (Konstantinopulos) τοῦ προφήτη SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.3 τοὺς Τούρκους τοῦ Προφήτη μας Chron. Tourk. Soult. 37.26 ἐμένα τοῦ ἐπτωχοῦ τοῦ παπα-Μανιάτη (1623, Bergamo, KORRE 2008: 2, 330.4–5) τοῦ οἰνοπότη RODINOS, Vios Ign. 53.11 τοῦ πατριάρχη PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §24.22 τοῦ μακαρίτη τοῦ ἀνδρὸς αὐτῆς (1682, Patras, TSELIKAS 1986a: 3, 671.6)

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ου

This residual ending occurs mainly in mixed- and higher-register texts or contexts:

- τοῦ μακαρίτου δουσὸς (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 22.70) τοῦ μακαρίτου πατριάρχου ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31 822.28 ἔς τὸ μῆμαν τοῦ προφήτου Dig. E 250 τοῦ μακαρίτου μισὲρ Λογίζου (1523, Cyprus, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1894: III, 258.19) τοῦ μακαρίτου τοῦ ἀντρός μου (1547, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970b: 1, 226.7) Ἰωάννου τοῦ Σούτζου (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 10, 19 tit.) τοῦ βασιλέως Ἰωάννου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 25.17 ἐνορίτου παπαὶ κύρ Μαλάκη PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §10.3; ὁ λόγος τοῦ προφήτου ibid. III §7.108 τοῦ τιμίου ἐνδόξου προφήτου Προδρόμου (1657, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 75, 191.2) τοῦ μακαρίτου Στάθη Παπαὶ (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 4, f.40r.11–12)

Forms in /o/ are the result of hypercorrection of back vowel raising (unstressed /o/ to /u/, see I, 2.8.3 for details): τοῦ κάποτε μου ἀφεντός μακαρίτο πατρός (1469, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 117, 56.15) (cf. συναφουρμῆς for συναφορμῆς ibid. 56.6); τοῦ μακαρίτο Σιβαστάκη (1711, Skiathos, KARAVIDAS 2004: 1, 248.1–2) (cf. ἀποδείχνου for ἀποδείχνω ibid. 248.1).

Accusative

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-η(ν)

With the exception of one regional variant (see below), there is no variation in the acc. sg. ending, other than that it can occur with or without final /n/:

- ὡς ἕναν δυνάστη τῆς χώρας Assizes B 317.8; ἔχει α' σεργέντην ibid. 321.23 ἀγελάρχην ἔχουσι Phys. 397 καὶ κεφαλὴν τοὺς ἔδωσε ἄρχοντα γιαννινιώτην Chron. Toc. 2076 τὸν μακαρίτην τὸν αὐθέντην (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.11–12) τὸν Μαχομέτην τὸν προφήτην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.9–10 ἀπὸ ἑνὰ νέον κουρτέση Theseid VI 18,8 (Olsen) ὅλον τὸν ἀσβέστην τοῦ καμινιοῦ μου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 276, 271.4) ψεύτης τον ψεύτην ἠύρηκεν Apoll. Rim. A 609 εἰς τὸν Εὐφράτην ποταμὸν Diig. Alex. F 238.18 (Lolos) τὸν προφήτην SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.4
 τὸν φράκτη ὅπου ἔναι πεσομένος (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 20, 75.110–11) κάποιον Τοῦρκον Σερριώτη συντοπίτην του PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §9.21 τὸν κρυσταλλένιον καθρέφτην Bertoldos 13.7 ἕνα καλυβάκι κατωμένον ἀπὸ φράχτην Bertoldin. 94.8–9 ἀπὸ κανένα πατριάρχη (1653–5, Venice, FONKIC 2000: 239, f.1r.18) κάμε τὸν κλέφτη κελλάρη Paroim. (Warner) 70.19; τίμα τὸ χωριάτη ibid. 125.10 ὀπρίζει τοῦ μακαρίτη Στάθη Παπαὶ (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 28, f.61r.8) (τοῦ = τὸ, see 5.2.1) τὸν ἀρχιμανδριτῆ (1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 34, 136.104)

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-εν

A form in -εν has been found of a paroxytone proper name (Βαζελιώτης) in a document from Pontos (cf. nom. sg. in -ες, above): τὸν Βαζελιώτεν (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/ΒΕΝΕΧΕΒΙΤΣΧ 1927: 147, 109.10).

Vocative

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-η

The most common ending for the vocative singular is -η: στρατιώτη, λέγει Pol. Tr. 333 app. crit. (ABV) ξμαθες, στρατιώτη μου Achil. L 1020; ἀφέντη μου, κουρτέση μου ibid. 1219 ἀνόσιε διώκτη Flor. L 732 (Cupane) κι ἔπαρ' κι ἐσύ, Ἰωάννη FALIEROS, Thrinos 95 κλέπτη Spanos D 65

 ἐσού, Πλάστη, Cypr. Canz. 26.13 ἐργάτη πάντων τῶν καλῶν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VII.48 ψεύτη μπαστάρδε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 287.32 ὦ προφήτη SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.5 ω κλέπτη, ψεύστη Apoll. Rim. V 1701 ὦ Πλάστη P&N Diath. 857 νὰ σὲ σαλέψου δὲμποροῦ, στρατιώτη CHORTATIS, Erof. Interm. II.112 κλέφτη Χρύσιππε Stathis II.293 πῶς ἔκαμες, καταδότη; Bertoldin. 144.3 πλάστη καὶ λυτρωτή μου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. Prol. 6 Νεόφυτε, Νεόφυτε, γέροντα μακαρίτη NEOFYTOS, Achouri 145 κάθισε χωριάτη Don Kis. 353.20

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-α

The residual ending -α can still be found occasionally in higher-register texts and more formal contexts:

προστάτα Dig. G II.120 ἀήττητε μονάρχα Eisit. f. 1v.2 δεῦρο τεχνίτα δεῦρο Ptoch. III 163 στρατιώτα, λέγει Pol. Tr. 333 δικαιοκρίτα ἀληθῆ Flor. L 701 (Cupane) Κρόνε, πλανῆτα τ' οὐρανοῦ Alosis 413 τῶν παθῶν μου ρῦστα PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 84 κ' ἐσύ, ὦ ἀνγνώστα μου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2396 ἀχ υπηρέτα ἀχάριστε Don Kis. 599.19–20

Plural

Nominative

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες

The most common nom. pl. ending is the inherited ending -ες (see also Introduction):

οἱ ἐρεμίτες (1125, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 96, 125.1–2) (= ἐρημίτες); οἱ κλέπτες τῶν χοιριδίων (1133, ibid. 113, 151.17) ἐμεῖς οἱ πράτες (1134, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 43, 192.13) σιργέντες καὶ καβαλλαροὶ Chron. Mor. H 3281 ὅλοι συγκοινωνῖτες μου καὶ συμπονοπασχῖτες Pol. Tr. 13003 οἱ δεκαρχῖτες χωρίου τῶν Κρητικῶν (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.12) χωριάτες ὀνειδίζουσιν μας Dig. E 231; ἄνδρες ἀρπάκτες ἐνι ibid. 327; οἱ ἀπελάτες ibid. 640 ἀμπατάρουσιν του ... ἀργάτες γ' (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 48.29) (= ἐργάτες) οἱ Ροδίτες (1481, Rhodes?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 2, 206.45) πετρίτες δὲ καὶ φάλκονες οἱ ναῦτες Velis. χ 93 σεργέντες καὶ ἄλλοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 52.13; οἱ μεθυστάδες οἱ ναῦτες ibid. 148.20; κάτινες Λευκωχιάτες ibid. 420.18 (= Λευκωσιάτες, see I, 3.8.2.2); ἄν τὸ 'ξεῦραν οἱ τεχνίτες ibid. 592.14 ἀν δὲν εἶχαν νώσειν οἱ βαχλιώτες VOUSTR., Chron. A 28.8 (< OFr. vaslet, see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.) οὐρανοπολίτες ἀσκητάδες τῆς ἐρήμου Pist. kekoim. 420 οἱ Ναυπακτίτες (1523–36, Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 36.II, 295.29.6) Κεφαλονίτες καὶ Ζακυθινοὶ (1615, Lefkada, PENDOGALOS 1977b: 2, 148.24) ἀρσενικοῖτες, κλέπτες, ... κλεπτοσπίτες PAPASYNAD., Chron I §36.140 οἱ σποργίτες ἀπομένουν Paroim. (Warner) 104.20 (< σπουργίτης) οἱ Ρεθυμνιώτες οἱ πτωχοὶ DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 898 πού 'ναι καθρέφτες τῆς ἀντρείας KORNAROS, Erot. II.2226 εἴκοσι δύο Γαλαξειδιώτες, τρεῖς Βουνοχωρίτες, δύο Πεντεορίτες, τρεῖς Ἀγιαθυμιώτες ΕΦΤΗΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 53.12–13 δύο αγωγάτες ... πεζοὶ Don Kis. 49.9

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-αι

This residual ending is used occasionally in texts that aim for a somewhat higher register and in more formal contexts:

Βαρβαριῶται κόπελοι Poulol. 261 app. crit. (E); ἄρχοντες καὶ στρατιῶται ibid. 264 app. crit. (E) ἐμεῖς οἱ Γιαννινιώται Chron. Toc. 1409 στέκονται οἱ προφῆται Diig. Ven. 21 προφῆται δὲ ἀγάλλονται DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 361 πατριάρχαι ΝΕΟΦΥΤΟΣ, Achouri 161 βασιλεῖς, πατριάρχαι, ἀρχιερεῖς PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §3.3 αὐθένται καὶ τοπάρχαι ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 323 οἱ δὲ Χανιώται οἱ πτωχοὶ DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 719

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-οι

The loanword κουρτέσης (< OFr. cortéis or Ital. cortese), whether used as an adjective (see 3.4.1) or a noun, usually borrows its nominative plural ending from the /os/ paradigm in order to distinguish the masculine form (οἱ κουρτέσοι) from the feminine one (οἱ κουρτέσες < ἡ κουρτέσα). With other nouns (πατριάρχης) this ending is very rare (cf. the accusative and vocative, below):

κουρτέσοι ERMON., Ilias 7.68 κουρτέσοι καβαλλάροι Pol. Tr. 10968 app. crit. (B) κουρτέσοι ἀπεσταλμένοι Poulol. 261 οἱ Φράγκοι καὶ κουρτέσοι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 7825 οἱ πατριάρχαι P&N Diath. 4825

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ηδες

The imparisyllabic plural ending -ηδες of paradigm 2.3.4 (see below) is not generally employed with nouns that belong to the parisyllabic paradigm. Occasional examples are:

οἱ σεργέντιδες του Assizes B 353.5 (hapax) εἶστε κουρτέσηδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 342.41 and R 342.39 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) ἄλλοι στρατιώτηδες διαλεκτοὶ Μακεδονίτες KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.208 πίσκοποι, πατριάρχηδες P&N Diath. 401

Genitive

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν ἢ -ων

Inherited forms in -ῶν, with a shift of the stress to the ultimate, are in use throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

τῶν θαυμαστῶν ἀπελατῶν Dig. G VIII.104 αὐτὰ τῶν χωριατῶν εἰσὶν Dig. E 745 τῶν ἀλβανιτῶν Chron. Toc. 80 θαυμάζω χεῖρας τεχνιτῶν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 320 αὐτὰ ἵνα λόγια τῶν κλεπτῶν καὶ ψευματολογίης Fyll. gadar. 349 εἰς τὸν χορὸν τῶν προφητῶν SKLAVOS, Symf. 271 τῶν Σιναΐτων (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 16, 27.2) τῶν Κελτῶν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XVIII.197 τοὺς πρώτους τῶν στρατιωτῶν Alex. Rim. 2725 τῶν προφητῶν SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.8
 τῶν παμμεγίστων Ταξιαρχῶν (1597, Ioannina, LAMBROS 1910: 234, 183.3–4) τῶν ὀπλιτῶν Dig. A 4455 ἡ κόλασις τῶν Σοδομιτῶν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 11.24; σπηλιὰ τῶν κλεπτῶν id., Louk. 19.46 τῶν καλῶν ναυτῶν γυναικες Paroim. (Warner) 39.5
 των Ισμηλιτῶν, των Πολιτῶν Τουρκίων IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5666 στὰ χέρια τῶν Ἀραβιτῶν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 630 ὄλωνων τῶν προφητῶν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 430 τῶν εἰδωλολατρῶν Alex. Fyll. 44.24; ἐπιστολὴ τῶν Ἱεροσολυμιτῶν ibid. 44.29 των υπηρετῶν σας Don Kis. 546.18

Paroxytone forms are not uncommon and are not restricted to verse texts:

τουρμάρχων (1099, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: App. 1, 643.7–8) τῶν Ἑρημίτων (1144, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 17, 117.26) τῶν παμμεγίστων Ταξιάρχων (1255, Kastoria, KALOPISSI-VERTI 1992: App. 2, 104.2) ὡσὰν καὶ τῶν χωριάτων Chron. Mor. H 3721
 τῶν ἀπελάτων Dig. E 644 διὰ τῶν ναύτων Assizes B 298.1 τὴν διάμετρον τεχνίτων ERMONT., Ilias 22.135 πῶς ἔκοψεν τὰ γένεια τῶν Γιαννινιώτων Chron. Toc. 1808 tit.; τῶν Μοραΐτων ibid. 3920 τῶν Ἰσμαηλίτων PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 192 τὸ φοῦμος τῶν προφήτων Diig. Ven. 22 πρᾶξες καλῶν στρατιῶτων Chron. Mor. P 1349; ὅπου βολὴ δοξιώτων ibid. 6689 μετὰ τῶν πατριάρχων DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 361; τῶν ἰδιώτων id., Erot. apokr. 2697 τῶν φαμελίτων FALIEROS, Ist. On. 1 τῶν θαυμαστῶν ἀπελάτων Diig. Alex. E 205.7 (Lolos) τῶν Μαρωνίτων (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 335.17) εἰς τὴν σπεράντσα τῶν Ἀγιοκυριακίτων (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.21) θρῆνος τῶν Ρεθεμνιώτων BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 195.6 τῶν Χανιώτων DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 440a app. crit. τῶν Ἀγιαννιώτων τῶν καλογέρων (1693, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 32, 136.4) οἱ φωνές των πολεμάρχων Don Kis. 380.2; των υπηρέτων του ibid. 553.23

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ες ἰ -ας

These genitive endings, morphologically identical to the accusative, occur in texts from Cyprus (for discussion see 1.2):

τὰ στουβέρια τοὺς κανπίτες Assizes B 464.22–3 (= καμπίτες) τὴν τάξιν τοὺς Τεμπλιῶτες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 10.27–8 ἐπολόμαν πολλά κακά και περισσές αντροπές τους κυπριώτες VOUSTR., Chron. M 141.17–18 περὶ τοῦ βισκούντη καὶ τοὺς σεργέντας Assizes B 258.28; κατὰ τὸ πεῖν ... τοὺς ναύτας ibid. 296.15–16 περὶ τοὺς ἀρσενοκοίτας καὶ γυναικῶν Assizes A 21.24

Accusative

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες

The most common ending for the accusative plural is the inherited ending -ες:

ἔθεσεν κλέπτες εἰς τὸ κατέλλιον (1133, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 113, 151.1) ὅλους καλοὺς δοξιώτες Chron. Mor. H 3599; τοὺς σιργέντες τῶν καστρῶν ibid. 8655 ἀπείρους ἀπελάτες Dig. E 1309 ἔχουσιν καὶ κάτοπτρα τὰ λέγουσιν καθρέπτες Diig. tetr. 928 εἰς τοὺς ρκδ' χιλιάδες προφήτες (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.18–19) ἐπιάσασιν πολλοὺς ἄρχοντες γιαννινιώτες Chron. Toc. 1754 ὀνομαζομένους Χαρκίτες (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 55.8) (< Χαλκίτης, see I, 3.8.6.2) τούς μεσίτες Assizes A 102.27 ὥσπερ γοργούς πετρίτες Achil. O 510 εἶχα παιγνιώτες καὶ ὀρχηστάδες Fior 76.31 τούς προφήτες ΣΟΦΙΑΝΟΣ, Grammar 39.9 πόσους στρατιώτες ἔπιασα CHORTATIS, Erof. Interm. III.15 τσί Δεκαρχιώτες (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 179.18) (for the article τσί see 5.2.1) ἐτζάκισε τούς Ἀλβανίτες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 61 με τούς πατριάρχες (1653–5, Venice, ΦΟΝΚΙῸ 2000: 240, f.1v.7) ὅς βάλῃ ἐργάτες Paroim. (Warner) 35.21; τ' ἀμπέλι θέλει ἀμπελουργόν, καὶ τὸ καράβι ναῦτες ibid. 35.23; τούς διαβάτες ibid. 102.18 τούς καμένους Κυδωνίτες Diakr., Diig. Pol. Stichoi 145 τούς ἄλλους σκλάβους συντοπίτες μας, Μανιάτες (1681, Genoa, ΒΑΥΑΚΑΚΟΣ 1988b: 506.16–17) δεῖξε τούς συκοφάντες μου Zinon IV.276

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

The residual -ας ending is used occasionally with more formal words or in more formal contexts:

εἰς τούς Γιαννινιώτας Chron. Toc. 1356 tit. εἰς τούς χωριάτας Assizes A 228.25 με τούς προφήτας καὶ με τούς πατριάρχας ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 394.41–2 ἔβλεπαν τούς τεχνίτας τούς περισσότερους ψεύστας Bertoldin. 112.15 κἄν τε πατριάρχας ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. III §2.6 ἐκατέβασε δυνάστας ἀπὸ τὰ θρονιά τους ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΡ., Kaini Diath. Louk. 1.52

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ηδες

The imparisyllabic plural ending -ηδες of paradigm 2.3.4 (see below) is only rarely found with nouns that belong to the parisyllabic paradigm: τούς ἀγέλαρχηδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 308.35 (< ἀγελάρχης); προφήτες, πατριάρχηδες, ὅλους νὰ τούς λυτρώσῃ P&N Diath. 2713; νὰ ζωγραφίσει ἱεράρχηδες ἢ ἀποστόλους (1664, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1974b: 1, 42.21).

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ους

The employment of this ending of the /os/ paradigm (see 2.1), is rather rare (cf. nom. and voc. pl.): καὶ με τσί πατριάρχους P&N Diath. 4402; καὶ με τούς ταξιάρχους ibid. 4403; ποῦχεν σηκώσει τούς πατριάρχους (1709, Chios, ΠΑΠΑΣΤΡΑΤΟΥ 1981: 34, 135.52–3).

Vocative

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-ες

The most common ending for the vocative is -ες:

ἀκούσατε, τοπάρχες μου Liv. V 3962
 κάλλιο ἔνε, στρατιῶτες μου Achil. O 230 ἔσεῖς ναῦτες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 486.32 ἀλίμονον, Ροδίτες μου LIMEN., Than. Rod. 38 τεχνίτες εἰς τὸν πόλεμον KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XVI.260 ὦ προφῆτες SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.10 στρατιῶτες μου πιστότατοι CHORTATSIS, Erof. IV.607 ὦ χώρα Μονοσπιτιῶτες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.185 στρατιῶτες μου, τρέξετεν KONDAR., Paidēs 220

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-αι

This residual vocative ending is not very common: ἄρχοντες γιαννινιῶται Chron. Toc. 1382; αὐθένται καὶ τοπάρχει ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 9937; ὦ αγιότατοι ποιμένες πατριάρχαι ibid. 9938.

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-οι

Vocatives plural in -οι, borrowed from the /os/ paradigm, are rare (cf. the nominative and accusative): ὦ πατριάρχαι χαίρεστε P&N Diath. 4178.

2.3.3 Oxytone Nouns with Imparisyllabic Plural in -ῆδες

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	κατῆς
Gen.	κατῆ
Acc.	κατῆ(ν)
Voc.	κατῆ
Plural
Nom.	κατῆδες
Gen.	κατῆδων	κατῆδες	κατῶν
Acc.	κατῆδες
Voc.	(κατῆδες)

Singular*NominativeMasc.*

Sg.	Nom.	-ής

There is no variation in the nominative singular ending:

- τὸ ἰδεῖν ὁ Διγενής Dig. E 934 οὔτε ἱερής, οὔτε ἀναγνώστης ὁμοίως Assizes B 358.20 (< ἱερεύς) ἀνεφάνη τις ἐκ Περσίας ὀνόματι Σάχ Κουλής Ekth. Chron. 48.14–15 ὁ ρηθὲς κύρ Ἀγγελλής (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 32, 91.4–5) (< Ἀγγελλος) ὡσὰ γονὴς μ' ἐρώτα P&N Diath. 696 (< γονεύς); ἀρχιερής ἐπιάσεν το ibid. 1646 (< ἀρχιερεύς) ὅποιοις χριστιανὸς κἂν ἱερής κἂν λαϊκός (17th c., Athos, KADAS 1988: 120, 352.13) ὁ Διγενής Ἀκρίτης Dimotika Ivir. IV.3 ὁ Χακη-Αὔγουστής (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3.11) (< Αὔγουστος; Χακη – = Χατζη-, see I, 3.8.2.2) νὰ γένη χατζής PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §18.11; μαυρογένης, τζελεπής ibid. I §18.16; ὁ Κυριαζής ὁ χρυσοχός ibid. I §19.2; ὁ Θεοδωρής ibid. I §21.12; ὅποιοις σπαχής καὶ ἂν ἤρχουνταν ibid. I §29.98; ὁ Κωνσταντῖνος ὁ Τραπεζουνλής ibid. I §36.112; νὰ μὴν εἶσαι μπεκρής ibid. II §9.12 ὁ κακορίζικος γονής MONTSEL., Evgena 181 μουφτής με τους κατήδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1432 ἐγὼ παπα-Θεοδωρής Ψαρός (1671, Cythera, PSARAS 1989: 151.20) (< Θεόδωρος) ὁ ποτὲ ὀσιότατος Φιριπής (1672, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 5, 17.9) Ἄχᾶν Κελεπής (1682, Patras, TSELIKAS 1986a: 3, 672.37) Πετρῆς Φρουδίτης στέργω (1685, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 3, 126.27) (< Πέτρος) κι ὡσὰ γονὴς μανίζει KORNAROS, Erot. I.900 (< γονεύς) ὁ καπετὰν Θεοδωρής EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 58.9; ὅπου καὶ ἐγενέθηκε χατζής ibid. 64.9–10 (< Turk. hacı) ἀξίος μπεκρής Don Kis. 233.15 (< Turk. bekri)

GenitiveMasc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ῆ

The genitive singular ends in -ῆ:

- τοῦ Διγενῆ τ' Ἀκρίτη Dig. E 442
καὶ τοῦ κατῆ (1474, Athos, OIKONOMIDÈS 1968: 32, 166.10) τοῦ εἰρημένου Δαμουλή (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 46.81) πρὸς τὴν μεριὰν τοῦ γαρμπῆ (1515 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 1, 50.6–7); τοῦ ἀφεντός τοῦ καδῆ (1596, ibid. 20, 75.31) εἶναι τοῦ Διγενῆ τοῦ Κοντογιάννη (1627, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 13, 311.11) τοῦ ἄνωθεν ἱερῆ (1631, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 591, 565.19) (< ἱερεύς) χωρὶς τοῦ κατῆ τὸν λόγον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §18.17 τοῦ ἀφεντός κατῆ (1672, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 5, 16.3) τοῦ Ἀρκιερῆ (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 310.4) (< ἀρχιερεύς) πλησίον τοῦ Μπαλῆ τσαχαγιά (1696, Nauplion region, DOKOS 1971/74: 93, 110.8) τοῦ γονῆ μου KORNAROS, Erot. II.805 (< γονεύς)

AccusativeMasc.

Sg.	Acc.	-ή(ν)

The only variation in the accusative singular is that it can appear with and without final /n/:

- τὸν Διγενὴν Dig. G VII.214 τὸν ἱερῇ CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2124 (< ἱερεύς) τῶν Περσῶν τὸν βασιλῆ Alex. Rim. 731 (< βασιλεύς) τὸν γονή σας VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 297 (< γονεύς); μὲ τὸν γαρμπὴν ἀρμένιζαν ibid. 322 Μιχαὴ Τζελεππὴ τὸν λέγουν ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Rim. Mich. 29
 εἰς τὸν ἀφέντη τὸν κατὴ (1597, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 41, 188.19) εἰσὲ πάσα καλὸ γονή (1598, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 1, 212.2) τὸν κύρ Κωσταντὴ Διγενή (1614, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 1, 330.9) τὸν Ἀλεξανδρὴ PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §22.2; τὸ σπαχὴν του ibid. I §35.39; ἔναν μπεκρῆ ibid. II §9.64 ἔκαμαν αὐτὸν μουφτῆ (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 402, f.3r.16) ἔκραξε δὲ καὶ <τὸν> μουφτὴν DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 111 τὸν Διγενὴ ἐκάλεσαν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1703 νὰ κρένονται εἰς τὸν κατὴ μας (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 25, f.51r.6) τὸ γονή σου ἐπαίνα KORNAROS, Erot. II.2029

VocativeMasc.

Sg.	Voc.	-ή

The vocative singular ends in -ή:

- μ' ἐνέθρεφες γονή μου Thysia Avr. 807 app. crit. (B) (< γονεύς) κύρη γονή, νὰ ζήσης Vask. 409 βοηθᾶ σε ὁ τόπος, Διγενή, καὶ φαίνεσαι ἀντρειωμένος Paroim. (Warner) 57.20 ὄνταν σου λε: «τζανή μου» IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 54 μὴν λυπᾶσαι, Διγενή μου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2515 εἰπές με, Τουρασῆ ΝΕΟΦΥΤΟΣ, Achouri 307 ξέρεις, χατζή, αὐτὸ ὅπου ἐπιχειρίσθηκα νὰ κάμω (1709, Chios, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 34, 134.23)

Plural*NominativeMasc.*

Pl.	Nom.	-ῆδες

The imparisyllabic nominative plural ending is the only one used for this paradigm, although not all words that have alternative formations belonging to this paradigm make use of this ending:⁶⁰

⁶⁰ E.g. γονῆς does not appear ever to form *γονῆδες (though it is regionally attested in 19th/20th-c. Greek), opting for inherited γονεῖς or innovative γονέου/γονιοί instead; see 2.4.1, 2.1.

οίπραματευτάδες ττογατζήδες (1453, Constantinople, DALLEGIO D’ALESSIO 1939: 118.50) (< ντογαντζής < Turk. doğancı) τούς όλουφατζήδες (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 86.16) (< Turk. ulüfeci) οί Γουρρίδες, ... οί Γουλίδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 354.32–3 (< family names Gurri and Guli) οί άλοφατζήδες μέ τās τέντες τωνε (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 13.59) οί δέ Καραμανλήδες Ekth. Chron. 49.13 όσοι βασιλήδες και κάστρη Diig. Alex. K 344.3 πενταλμαντζήδες (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.15) νοπετσήδες, τουτέστι γενίτσαροι MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 221.33; σπαήδες και άλλοι ibid. 222.10 οί λεγόμενοι Ότμανλήδες (16th c., SCHREINER 1975/79, ibid. 59.III, 422.27.4) κآن τε μουφτήδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §16.5–6; έγίνηκαν πολλοί νταουτζήδες ibid. I §22.5 (< Turk. dāvacı); οί άτακτοί σπαχήδες ibid. I §29.100; οί κατήδες ήλεγαν ibid. I §29.102; μπεκρήδες ... χαραμήδες ibid. I §36.140–1 διακόσοι βασιλήδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3025 (< βασιλεύς); ελτζήδες και οί πάίλοι ibid. 4042 πασηδες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 163.9; σπαχήδες άπομείνα ibid. 508.1; θά μπούσινε τζαμήδες ibid. 548.2
 οί Βαρυσηδες (1683, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 95, 322.5–6) όλοι οι τζεβαχερτζήδες Don Kis. 105.10 (< Turk. cevahirci); οι δύο μεγάλοι μπεκρήδες ibid. 233.36

Genitive

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ήδων

The imparisyllabic ending is the most common ending for the genitive plural:

των βασιλήδων Diig. Alex. K 370.14 (Mitsakis) (< βασιλεύς) έκ τών ... Τουλκατηρητήδων Ekth. Chron. 48.17 χιλίων διακοσών σπαχήδων ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 202 τών Χαμπεσήδων (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 335.16–17) όλα τά έργαστήρια τών τακιατζήδων PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.10 (< Turk. takkeci/takiyesi; see KARANASTASIS 2010: 268) ό είς τών βασιλίδων VATATSI, Periig. II 277 τών άμπατζήδων (1724, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1986: 8, f.56r.1) (< Turk. abacı)

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ών

The parisyllabic plural ending of paradigm 2.3.2 is sporadically employed with words in -ής that derive from former 3rd-declension nouns in -εύς: τών άρχιερών P&N Diath. 3284.

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ήδες

This genitive plural ending, which is morphologically identical to the accusative plural, occurs in texts from Cyprus and in the Chronicle of Papasynadinos (Serres). Given that with the paroxytone /os/ paradigm an example has been found in the Crimea (see 2.1.2), the ending will have had a wider geographical spread than our sources reveal (for discussion see 1.2):

περί τούς έμπαλῆδες Assizes B 265.14 (< Fr. bailli) μέ τῇ βουλή τούς σπαχῆδες (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 2, 7.3) τόν Ἅγιον Νικόλαον τούς Μποσταντζῆδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §11.5; εἰς τήν ἄκρη τούς ἀπατζῆδες ibid. I §22.19

Accusative

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ῆδες ἰ -ῆδες

The only ending for the accusative plural is /iðes/. Normally the form bears the stress on the penultimate:

τούς έμπαλῆδες Assizes B 410.8 (< Fr. le bailli) τούς ὀλουφατζῆδες (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 86.16) (< Turk. ulüfeci) φρατζῆδες Χριστιανούς κακοῦς Alosis 751 (perhaps < Turk. frasiz, see REDHOUSE/WELLS, Lex. s.v. French) καί βασιλῆδες φοβερούς ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 284 (< βασιλεύς) ἀπό τούς ἀτζαμῆδες (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 13.51) (< Turk. acem) εἰς τούς καθῆδες (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.2) μέ κατῆδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.94; τούς Μποσταντζῆδες ibid. I §36.144 μέ έφτά ιερῆδες (1665, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 11, 419.3) (< ιερεύς) τούς ὁποίους τούς λέγουνε ντελῆδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 72.28 τους ελτζῆδες ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 341; τους κατῆδες ibid. 1432; τους τσελεπήδες ibid. 7565 καί σουμπαρῆδες ἔκραξε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 403.23 (< Turk. süvarî) κι ἔβαλαν χαρατζῆδες (1678, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 454.2) μέ μερικούς χατζῆδες (1698, Sinai, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 7, 60.10) κείς δύο βασιλίδες VATATSI, Periig. II 274 τους πλέον εξαιρέτους μπεκρῆδες Don Kis. 233.26–7

A shift of the stress to the antepenultimate is quite rare (see introduction to 2.3): ἔχει ἄλουφατζηδες (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 11.11).

Vocative

No examples found.

2.3.4 Paroxytone and Proparoxytone Nouns with Imparisyllabic Plural in -ῆδες

	General		Restricted		Rare
Singular
Nom.	βεζίρης	σούμπασης	-η
Gen.	βεζίρη	σούμπαση			-ου βεζίρ'
Acc.	βεζίρη(ν)	σούμπαση(ν)			βεζίρ'
Voc.	βεζίρη	σούμπαση

Plural
Nom.	βεζίρηδες	σουμπάσηδες			-άδες -αι -οι	-άδες -ες
Gen.	βεζίρηδων	σουμπάσηδων	βεζίρηδω βεζίρηδες βεζίρων βεζίρωνε	σουμπάσηδες	-άδων -ήδες	-ήδες
Acc.	βεζίρηδες	σουμπάσηδες			-ήδες -ηδας -ήδας -ες -ας -ους
Voc.	βεζίρηδες	σουμπάσηδες			-οι

Singular

Nominative

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ης -η

There is no variation in the nominative singular, other than that final /s/ is occasionally omitted. The ending is usually spelled with <η>, although in some modern editions it is spelled with <ι> when the word in -ης is derived from a noun in -ιος (e.g. κύρις < κύριος):

ὁ μακελλάρης (ca. 1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 166.62)

ὁ δὲ κύρις Πέτρος ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31 822.32 πρίντζης τῆς Ἀμούρεας (1281, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 329, 491.7) (< Fr. prince) ὁ κύρης μου Dig. G IV.284

ὁ μέγας προφήτης ρασούλης (1346/47, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 255.19) (< Arab. rasūl) ἐχθρὸς μόνον τοῦ δράκοντος ὑπάρχει ὁ πανθήρης Phys. 483⁶¹ οὔτε τζαγγάρης ... ἢ ραπτοδερματάρης Diig. tetr. 389 ὁ Κελλάρης ὁ Θεοτόκης (1442, Belgrade region, ALEXOULIS 1892: 2, 280.21) ὁμοιάζεις ἀγριοκάτης Katal. 328 (Hesseling) φλαμπουιάρης (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.4)

ὁ ἀβανπαρλιέρης Assizes A 99.13 (< OFr. avant-parleur, see OUDIN, Lex. s.v.); καὶ τὸ σιτάρην ἀξιάζει τίτοιαν ὦραν ὁ μόδης λοκοτίνιν ἓνα ibid. 52.1–2 (< ὁ μόδιος) ὁ νοτάρης ΜΑΧΑΪΡΑΣ, Chron. V 52.1; ὁ πατρίτζης id., Chron. R 94.17–18 ὁμπρὸς ὁ καπετάνης ἔτον Diig. Ven. 75 app. crit. (V) νὰ τὰ ἔχει ὁ κύρ Γεώργης (1516, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 2 [later copy], 51.8) ένας καρβουνιάρης ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 12.1

γένου ἀτός σου ἀποκρισάρης Diig. Alex. F 270.7 (Lolos)

⁶¹ This form has been created by analogy with τίγρης from πανθήριον or πάνθηρος, according to Kriaras, Lex. s.v. Note that the form also occurs as a proper name (Πανθήρης, but < Πανθήριος) in the Patriarchatsregister: πρεσβύτερός τις, Πανθήρης καλούμενος (1325, Constantinople, HUNGER/KRESTEN 1981: 92, 524.8).

ὅποια θέλει ὁ Βασίλης (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 171, 139.37) αὐτός ο γαρδινάλης STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 608 (Pidonia) (< Ital. cardinale) ἕνας κακὸς ἄνθρωπος ζουράρης (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 179.1) ὁ προφήτης Δαβίδης (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 89, 93.8) (< Δαβίδ) ὁ Παπαδημήτρης PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §6.7; ὁ παπὰ κύρ Δημητρούδης ὁ Καργούδης ibid. I §15.13; γραμματικὸς καλεμκιάρης ibid. I §19.6; καὶ μὴ μαχαιροβγάλτης ibid. II §5.17 ἀκριβὸς κελλάρης, πάντα κελλάρης Paroim. (Warner) 32.20; κάποτες ἤμουν κηπουρὸς καὶ κάποτες δραγάτης ibid. 70.13; πότε Μάης πότε λουλούδια ibid. 83.13 ὁ караβοκύρης (1667, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 19, 90.3) εἶναι ὁ μήνας ἁλωνάρης (1671, Cythera, PSARAS 1989: 150.15–16) Γεωργάκης Τάγαρης (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 323, 523.3) ὁ βεζίρης ἔρθε ἀτός του καὶ ἐπῆρε τὸν Μορέαν ὄλονε (1715, Peloponnese, LAMBROS 1910: 362, 213.2) (for ἔρθε see III, 3.1.4.4) ο σινιόρης σου Don Kis. 152.7 (< Ital. signore); ἕνας περίφημος κουκλαμπάζης ibid. 326.4–5 (< Turk. *kuklabaz*⁶²); ο μπαρμπέρης ibid. 498.22; να γίνεις μουσαφίρης ibid. 533.31 Δημήτριος Λίπαρης (1316, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1994: 59, 195.23) ἤλθεν Πέρσης ὁ Ἀρόμπακης (15th, Thessaloniki?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 49, 351.4.1) κανένας φλαμπουριάρης ἢ σούμπασης (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.4) ὁ μποσταντζήμπασης (16th c., Constantinople, PREGER 1912: 468.25) μαγκουφάρης ἢ σούμπασης (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.18) ὁ ἀμηνῶς Ἀμουράτμπεης (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 34.I, 270.17.1); ὁ ἀμηνῶς Μεεμέτμπεης (ibid. 277.33.1); ὁ Γιαχαλιπασάογλης (16th c., Constantinople, ibid. 63A, 485.13.1) Ἀλοῖζε Λούκαρης (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 145, 119.1) ὁ κύρ Σταμάτης ὁ Σταβερης (1573, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 24, 81.3) ετούτος εἶναι ο Γύπαρης CHORTATIS, Panor. I.49 ἐσὺ εἶσαι Τάταρης Chron. Tourk. Soult. 40.24; ἦτονε Βούλγαρης ibid. 75.11–12 (< Βούλγαρος) ὁ Παπασίδερης καὶ ὁ Καραπάτζης PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §17.15; ὁ Κούλογλης ibid. I §18.15 Στάθης Γούναρης (1649–69, Thessaly, SPANOS 2001: 338, f.51v.15) ὁ κεχαγιάτσης (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 400, f.2r.28) Πιέρος Σκούταρης (1665, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 2, 13.14)
 Γεωργάκης Τάγαρης (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 323, 523.3) φούρναρης εἰς τὴν Γαρίτσα (1683, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 56, 266.37) ὁ Θύμιος Πούρκαλης (1690, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 13, 8.2) ἔτερον χωράφι ὀνομαζόμενον Γούναρης (1696, Nauplion region, DOKOS 1971/74: 93, 110.8) βάμεσης ποτὲ τῆς Μπόιτζας (1726, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: Δ: 9, f.6v.2–3) (< Rom. vameş)

Deletion of final /s/ occurs, with given names and forms of address, probably based on the vocative (see also I, 3.7.1.1 for instances where final /s/ is omitted for phonological reasons):

ὁ παπα-Γεώργη Ὁλόκαλος (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 65.12) ὁ κυρίτζη Γγόγγος (1601, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 31, 111.7); ὁ σκευοφύλας κύρ Γεωργάκη καὶ ὁ δικητὰς κύρ Ζαγωράκη (1658, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 78, 198.2–3) (δικητὰς = διοικητής, see 2.3.5)

⁶² The word kuklabaz (“puppeteer”) seems to have escaped the notice of lexicographers of Turkish but is found in the 17th-c. travel writings of Evliya Efendi (see: J. von Hammer-Purgstall (ed.), Narrative of Travels in Europe, Asia and Africa in the seventeenth century, by Evliya Efendi, vol. 1, London 1834, p. 229).

Στρατήγη Τριβόλης (1609, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: III, 71.3–4); ὁ Μιχάλη ὁ Τρουπάκης (1622, ibid. VI, 73.12); ὁ Δημήτρη ὁ Τρουπάκη (ibid. VI, 73.20); ἐγὼ Δημητράκη Ματσουκομητάκης (1666, ibid. IX, 75.11)

Genitive

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-η

There is little variation in the genitive singular. The ending is usually spelled with <η>, although in some modern editions it is spelled with <ι> when the word in -ης is derived from a noun in -ιος (e.g. κύρι < κύριος):⁶³ τοῦ παπαῖ Βασίλη (1112, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 32, 148.11) τοῦ Σπαθάρη (1154, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 4, 77.21) Ἰωαννάκη τοῦ Σαπούα (1268, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 50, 27.23) οἰκονόμου καὶ προκουρατούρη (1336, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 51, 158.16) καλλίστου τυμπανάρη Ptoch. III 154 τοῦ Γληγόρη (14th c., Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 16, 123.230) τοῦ μπαρόνη (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 73, f.III.5) (< Fr. baron) τοῦ κοντοστάβλη γιασιμίν Katal. 451 τῆς μάνας τοῦ Τζέμη (1487, Chios, LEFORT 1981: 14, 79.4) (< Turk. Cem) ἐνώπιον τοῦ βισκούντη Assizes A 104.9–10 τοῦ πρίντζη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 40.16 (< Fr. prince); μηνὸς φεβρουάρη ibid. 172.34 δοῦλος τοῦ Σάχ Ἰσμαίλη Ekth. Chron. 48.15 παπα-Μιχαήλ Κουνούκη (1564, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 181, 121.4) γυνὴ ποτὲ μισέρ Μανόλη Δὲ Στάη (1582, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 62, 142.4) καταπάνω τοῦ κνέζη (1624, Skopje?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 72A, 561.10.2) τοῦ Σταματάκη (1635, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 182.4) τοῦ Τσαγγάρη τ' ἀλώνι (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 56, 71.8) εἶχεν ἐνοῦ ἐμίρη γυναῖκα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §1.8 εἰς τοῦ Πετράκη (1659, Hydra, KARATHANASIS 1972/73: 240.6) τοῦ χακη-μεμέτη (1694, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 4, 90.2) (= χατζη-, see I, 3.8.2.2) ἡγούμενος τοῦ Κάτζαρη (996 [13th-c. copy], Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 12, 132.26) ἡγούμενος μονῆς τοῦ Σαράβαρη (1057, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 5, 59.53) Λέοντος Κόρδαρη (1193/4, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1963: 16, 131.19)

 Νικολάου Γούναρη (1242, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 292, 407.8) Βασιλείου τοῦ Μούσγαρη (14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 148.11) τοῦ Μιχάλμπεϊ SFRANTZIS, Chron. 22.2; Μανουήλ τοῦ Μπόχαλη ibid. 162.3 τοῦ Ἀμουράτμπεη (15th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 35.II, 286.7.2) τοῦ Χουσαήν σούμπαση (1489, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 19, 100.7) τὴν πόρταν τοῦ Μποστοαντζήμπαση (16th c., Constantinople, PREGER 1912: 468.24) τοῦ ποτὲ Ἰακώβου Βούλγαρη (1572, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 136, 256.4) ὑπὸ μαρτυρίας μαστρ-Ἀλυσάνδρου Δάσκουλη (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 44, 106.16) ν' ἀκλουθὰς τοῦ Γύπαρη ἀποπίσω CHORTATIS, Panor. III.255 τοῦ Δούναβη τα ρεύματα STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 391 (Pidonia) ὑπὸ χερὸς τοῦ Ἀχαμέτη σούμπαχη (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3–5.13) (< Turk. subaşı; for <χ> representing [ʃ], see I, 3.8.2.2)

⁶³ For the common genitive κυροῦ of κύριος/κύρης and its compounds, see 2.7.2.

καταπάνω τοῦ κνέζη Λάζαρη (1624, Skopje?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 72A, 561.10.2) (< Λάζαρος) εἰς τοῦ Καράπατζη τὸ σπίτι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §21.1; τοῦ Μποσταντζόογλη ibid. I §21.1
 τοῦ Πελοῦπαχη Ταπαζᾶ (1704, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 2, 54.1) (< Turk. bölükbaşı) τοῦ ἄρχον πολυγαρ-Μέστιρη (1728, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: Δ: 13, f.9r.5) του κολοβού τέτζερη Don Kis. 611.25–6 (< Turk. tencere)

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ου

In texts that aim for a higher register, the residual ending of the old 1st declension is sometimes employed:

Πέτρου ἐκείνου τοῦ Τρυγόνου (1176, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 2, 367.1) cf. τοῦ λεγομένου Τρυγόνη (ibid. 369.2) ἀπὸ προσενέξεως τοῦ Κρυβοπούστου (1320, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1994: 77, 250.181) βιζίρου ὄντος SFRANTZIS, Chron. 20.11

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	φ

A rare form in which the unstressed /i/ of the ending is deleted has been found in a document from Pontos (cf. OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 165–6 for the modern dialect; see also the accusative singular below): τοῦ Ἀγάπ' Πεῖζη (17th c., Pontos, VEIS 1939: 15, f.1.1) (< Ἀγάπης < Ἀγάπιος).

Accusative

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-η(ν)

The accusative ending -η occurs with and without final /n/. It is usually spelled with <η>, although in some modern editions it is spelled with  when the word in -ης is derived from a noun in -ιος (e.g. κύριν < κύριος):

ἰὼβ τὸν κελλάρην (1085, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 47, 253.4) τάχα ψευδοτσαγγάρην Ptoch. III 113 ἀδηφάγον γουλάρην Ptoch. IV 297 στὸν κύρ Μιχάλην Chron. Mor. H 3103; πρωτοβιστιάρην ἄλλαξε ὁμοίως καὶ τριζουριέρην ibid. 7936 τὸ σκύλον Μαχουμέτην Anak. Konst. 44 ὀρδινιάσαμέν το<ν> διὰ ψαράρην (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 15, 10.2) ἐκώλυσα τὸν Ἑμινάκη ἀπὲ τὸν τόπον (1470, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.2–3) τὸν Χατζη-Ἰμπραήμη (1490, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 22, 109.27) ἔχουν τὸν λογισμὸν παπά, τὸν Θεὸν ἐξαγοράρην BERGADIS, Apok. V 201 τὸν μαρκέζη KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.201 (< Ital. marchese) πεζὸν ἢ καβελάρη Alex. Rim. 873; ἀποκρισάρην ἄρχοντα ibid. 1094 εἶχε μάχην μεῖ ἓνα κούντην Fior 93.4 (< Fr. conte) μισερ Γγιουζέπη Γγιουστινιά (1518, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 391.3) (< Ital. Giuseppe) αὐτὸν ὁποῦ ὀνομάζομεν ἡμεῖς κουμερκιάρην DAM. SToud., This., Logos 21, υ3v.8–9 (1561) εἶπε πρὸς τὸν γεροντάκη Ptochol. A 160 με τὸ θεῖό μου τὸ Γληγόρη (1585 [later copy], Ithaca, KALLINIKOS 1980: 57.19–20) (< Γρηγόριος)

 τὸν ὁποῖον ἄφηνεν κύριν καὶ νοικοκύριν Bertoldin. 92.29–30 (< κύριος) γιὰ τὸν ἅγιον Ἀντώνη Paroim. (Warner) 29.18; εἶδες Χιώτην φρόνιμον ibid. 35.2 τὸν ποθεσάρη του (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 25, f.51r.21) (= ὑποθεσάρη < ὑποθεσάριος) πεῖτε τὸν Χατζηκυριάκη (1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 34, 136.103) τὸν υἱὸν αὐτοῦ Σαουτζίμπεη (1448, Constantinople?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 9.I, 96.30.1) εἰς τὸν ἔκλαμπρον αὐθέντην σούμπασην (1481, Rhodes?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 2, 203.6–7) τὸν μπισστατζήμπαση Ekth. Chron. 64.7 (< Turk. bostancıbaşı) μα'δὼ θωρῶ το Γύτπαρη CHORTATSI, Panor. II.425 εἰς τὸν κνέζην Λάζαρην (1624, Skopje?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 72A, 561.6.2) (< Λάζαρος); πρὸς τὸν Μουσίπεη (17th c. [ms], Unknown, ibid. 96, 637.7.3) ἀπάνω ἀπὸ τον Δούναβην STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 132 (Pidonia) εἰς τὸν Μάτζαρη (post 1640, Monemvasia, SCHREINER 1975/79: 79, 587.44.1) ἔβαλε χάψι τὸν ποστατζίπαση (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 401, f.2r.78–9) (< Turk. bostancıbaşı) τὸν μεγάλον τέντζερη (1656, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 6, 162.11) Ἰωάννην τὸ Μούρμουρη ρήτορα CHORTATSI, Erof. Dedic. 3 tit. τὸν Μανόλη τὸν Μπισταντζόγλη PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §4.1; με τὸν Ἀβράμπακη ibid. I §21.17; με τὸν Καραπάτση ibid. I §29.62 τὸν Μάρκον Γούναρην (1697, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 30, 25.10)
 τον σούμπασην Don Kis. 166.15

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	φ

An accusative in which the unstressed /i/ of the ending is deleted has been found in a document from Pontos (cf. OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 165–6 for the modern dialect; see also the genitive singular above): τὸν Λευθέρ' (17th c., Pontos, VEIS 1939: 15, f.1.1) (< Λευθήρης < Ἐλευθέριος).

Vocative

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-η

The vocative ends in /i/, which is usually spelled with <η>, although in some modern editions it is spelled with <ι> when the word in -ης is derived from a noun in -ιος (e.g. κύρι < κύριος):

κατέβα κύρι σύτεκνε (11th c., Mani, DRANDAKIS 1972/73: 2, 666.2–3) πνευματικέ μου ἀδελφὲ κύρι Λουκά NIKON, Logos 4 206.5 ἔδά, Μιχάλη ταπεινέ GLYKAS, Stichoi 518 πόσους δύνασαι, Βασίλη, ἀπαντήσαι; Dig. E 686 κάτη κάκιστε Diig. tetr. 155 κράλη Μπερνάρδε PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 173 (< Slav. kral') Σαχλίκη κακομοίρη SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 162 (Lendari) Ὀκτώβρη, μήνα δολερέ DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 112 ὦ κλανομουστάκη Spanos D 411 ἀφέντη καβαλλάρη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 474.25; ἀφέντη πρίντζη ibid. 550.7 (< Fr. prince) εἶπε· Μερκούρη KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.409 ἀράπη καὶ Σαρακηνέ Poulol. AZ 9 τί ὅδες, λέγει, γεροντάκη Ptochol. A 226 ὄφου ἀφεντάκη μου γλυκύ Thysia Avr. 493 ἐγδέρνε, ἐγδέρνε, κασάπη Paroim. (Warner) 68.2; τόσο τ' ἔχω, νοικοκύρι ibid. 91.16 ἄρχων κλοτζιάρη NEOFYOTOS, Achouri 297 (= κλουτζιάρη, see I, 2.5.4.3); Ἀσάνη καμασάρη ibid. 305 χτύπα, παλιομουρτάτη EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 56.22 εὐὶ τρελέ δασκαλάκη Don Kis. 145.11–12; υποθεσιάρη ἀγνωστε ibid. 464.24 (< ὑποθεσάριος) θαυμαστὲ Μουράτμπεη PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 213 Γύπαρη, πέ μου CHORTATSI, Panor. I.55; εὐγενέστατε Μούρμουρη id., Erof. Dedic. 27

Plural

Nominative

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ηδες ὁ -ῆδες

The most common nom. pl. ending is /iðes/. The ending is usually spelled with <η>, although in some modern editions it is spelled with <ι> when the word in /is/ is derived from a noun in -ιος (e.g. κουρσάριδες < κουρσάριος). Some modern editors choose to spell all /iðes/ endings with <ι>. Examples have been found from at least the 15th c. onward (ms date of Assizes B), but only with paroxytone nouns:

οἱ ἀβάντ παρλιέριδες Assizes B 284.26–7 (< OFr. avant-parleur, see OUDIN, Lex. s.v.); γίνονται τζικλούριδες ibid. 439.13–14 (< OFr. juggleor, see KRIARAS, Epit. s.v. ζιγκλούρης); οἱ Ρωμάιοι, ὅπου ἔνι ρεντάπλιδες (< OFr. adj. rentable, see Petit Robert, s.v.)
 οἱ τορνάρηδες Diig. tetr. 617 οἱ πουρβεούρηδες (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 143, 68.1) (< Occit. pourvouyur, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.)
 ἦρθαν ... δύο κόντηδες (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.25); οἱ μαμαλούκηδες (1487, Unknown, ibid. 13, 77.8); οἱ ἀπεκρουσιάρηδες μου (1487, Rhodes, ibid. 18, 97.11) Σαρακηνοί, ἡ κουρσάριδες Assizes A 89.13 εσηκωθήσαν ... φρέρηδες VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.3–4; οἱ ἀνωθεν καβαλλάρηδες ibid. 22.10; ἦρταν ψαράρηδες ibid. 68.20 (< ψαράρης) τοῦτοι οἱ τίτοιι ἀμουρούζηδες Fior 81.32 (< ἀμουρούζης < Occit. amourous, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.)
 ἐσέβησαν οἱ ἀζάπιδες (16th c. [ms], Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 34.II, 279.47.5); ἦλθαν δύο τζαούσιδες (16th c., Peloponnese?, ibid. 63A, 485.12.8) ὡσάν οἱ Πέρσηδες Diig. Alex. F 298.9 (Lolos) οἱ τσαγκάρηδες ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 86.7 πολλοὶ κατάμαυροι ἀράπηδες DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 22, χ8r.30 (1561) ἐσηκώθηκαν οἱ σπαογλάνηδες (1589 [copy of 1653], Epirus, LAMBROS 1916b: 3, 135.1–2) (= σπαχογλάνηδες) ομπρός του ἦτον Νέμτσηδες STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 929 (Pidonia) (< Slav. němcy)

οἱ Πάλληδες ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Rim. Mich. 31 ἐγυρίσανε οἱ Κουζιλμπάσηδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 130.19 (< Turk. qızılbaş, see MORAVCSIK 1983: 160, s.v. κιζιλμπάσης) οἱ νοικοκύριδες, οἱ καρaboκύριδες GERMANO, Grammar 62.9–10 ἦλθαν Ἀρμένηδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.212; ζαπίτηδες ἦσαν ibid. I §36.205 (for ἦσαν see III, 4.8.2) εἶναι Ἀλλάτζηδες ἐδικοὶ σου (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 25.7) οἱ κοπιαστάδες Ρουτζιέρηδες (1651, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 23, 166.26) οἱ τερβίσηδες ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 91; οἱ καπιτάνηδες ibid. 2539; οἱ τζαβούρηδες ibid. 3313; οἱ γενεράληδες ibid. 4137 οἱ ἀφέντες οἱ Μπαρόντζηδες (1681, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 166, 338.2) (< Ital. proper name Barozzi) να μη περιπατοῦν εἰς τοὺς φόρους ματραπάζηδες Don Kis. 492.17 (< Turk. matrabaz)

Forms with a shift of the stress to the penultimate have been found with a handful of words of oriental provenance. In the case of Περσῆδες there may be a pun, as this form is homophonous to the feminine Περσίδες, and is often used in mocking contexts that stress the alleged Persian cowardice (cf. the accusative, below):

αὗτοι οἱ Περσῆδες εἶναι γυναῖκες Diig. Alex. F 246.5–6 (Lolos); οἱ Περσῆδες οὐδὲν ἠμπόρεσαν νὰ βαστάξουν τὰ ἀκονητὰ σπαθία τῶν Μακεδόνων ibid. 246.19–21; οἱ Περσῆδες ἐσκιάσθηκαν ibid. 288.12 (same in Diig. Alex. E); ὀνομάζονται ἑλληνικὰ Ραχμανῆδες ibid. 38.2 (Konstantinopulos) καὶ ὀταπασῆδες κἄν τε ζορπαπασῆδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §16.7 (< ὀντάμπασης and ζορμπάμπασης)

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες

The parasyllabic ending -ες is sporadically used with irregular former 3rd-declension nouns that have moved over to this paradigm: φρόνιμοι μάντες Byz. Il. 381 (for μάντεις).

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-αι

Sporadically the residual ending of the 1st declension is used with original 1st-declension nouns that have transferred to this paradigm: ὅλ' οἱ Πέρσαι Pol. Tr. 6816 app. crit. (X).

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-οι

Equally sporadically the parasyllabic ending of the 2nd declension is used. In this example there is also a shift of stress from the penultimate to the antepenultimate: οἱ σπαόγλανοι ἔχουν τὴν ἡμέραν ἀλοφάν (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 12.34).

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-άδες

Sporadically certain nouns denoting profession (τσαγκάρης, μπακάλης, cf. the genitive, below) may adopt the -άδες ending of sub-paradigm 2.2.1: μαστόροι τσαγγαράδες (1647, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 2, 173.1).

Genitive

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ηδων -ηδω -ήδων

From at least the 15th c. onwards (ms date of Assizes B), the most common ending for the genitive plural is imparisyllabic /iðon/:⁶⁴

- τῶν βουργέσηδων Assizes B 294.21 τῶν δύο βεζιρηδων ΔΟΥΚΑΣ, Hist. 169.8 app. crit. (P) ἐκ τῶν Βαρσάκιδων Ekth. Chron. 48.17; ἀλλὰ καὶ βεζήριδων ibid. 56.2; τῶν Ἀράπηδων 68.24 τῶν μάντιδων SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.15 τῶν σπαχογλάνηδων Chron. Tourk. Soult. 41.10 γράφοντας τῶν καπετάνιων καὶ γενεράληδων τοῦ VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 32.26–7 (< γενεράλες < Ital. generale) τῶν ἄνωθεν ταμπάκηδων (1647, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 2, 174.24) τῶν ἄνω λεγομένων Ροντζέρηδων (1651, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 23, 165.15) τῶν ἐτέρων πριόρηδων (1691, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 145, 84.1) (< πριόρες < Ital. priore) τῶν Τουρκμένηδων VATATSI, Periig. II 109 τῶν ὁμωσμένων πολγάρηδων (1684 [18th-c. copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B 22, f.184r.10) (< Rom. pîrgar) τῶν κατεργάρηδων Don Kis. 166.16–17; τῶν ἀράπηδων ibid. 321.5; τῶν χοκαμπάζηδων ἡ τῶν κουκλαμπάζηδων ibid. 326.4–5 (< Turk. hokkabaz and kuklabaz) τῶν γιαμπάσιδων Ekth. Chron. 53.18; τῶν Ματζάριδων ibid. 73.15 κατὰ Περσῶν ἦγουν τῶν Κιζιλμπάσιδων (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.5)

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in documents from Naxos. It is likely to appear in Cretan texts as well, although no secure examples have been found:⁶⁵ τῶ Τζουκάνηδω (1591, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 149, 273.10); τῶ Σαλιαράκηδω (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 483.22).

An historicizing shift of the stress to the penultimate occurs in mixed- to higher-register texts and in verse texts for metrical reasons: τῶν καπηγητλήρηδων (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 12.22); περὶ τζαουχίδων (ibid. 11.16 tit.); τῶν μπεϊλαρμπεϊδων SFRANTZIS, Chron. 166.4; ἐκ τῶν γιαγειμπασιδων Hist. Polit. 66.5 (< Turk. yaya başı).

⁶⁴ The following 14th-c. example: πλησίον τῶν Κατζυλά<κη>δων (1321, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 109, 244.403) is the result of editorial intervention based on the singular, which appears in the same document as Κατζυλάκης: Ἰωάννης ὁ Κατζυλάκης (ibid. 240.323). There is, however, some fluidity in the formation of surnames, which often appear with or without the diminutive ending -άκης. In the same collection of documents (Megistis Lavras) we encounter an alternative of the surname in the form Κατζιλάς: ὁ γαμβρὸς τοῦ Κατζιλᾶ (1409, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 161, 157.23), which justifies the reading Κατζυλάδων.

⁶⁵ In Cretan literary texts the omission of final /n/ is often editorial, justified on the basis of the modern dialect and certain manuscripts written in Latin script (e.g. that of Fortounatos, which is an autograph). This is the case with the following example from Bounialis: ἀγάδω καὶ τσαούσηδω, γιουρλάδω, σουμπασηδω BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 147.20; all these forms appear with final /n/ in the Xirouchakis edition.

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-άδων

Nouns that denote profession may sporadically appear with the -άδων ending of sub-paradigm 2.2.1: τοῦ ἀγίου Νικολάου τῶν ντζαγγαράδων (1706, Zakynthos, Zois 1941: 1, 107.5); τῷ πακαλάδων (1724, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1986: 8, f.85r.1 and f.87v.1) (= μπακαλάδων, see I, 3.6.2.1).

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ηδες ἢ -άδες

In texts from Cyprus and elsewhere (see 2.1.2, 2.2.1 and 2.3.3) the ending -ηδες, morphologically identical to the accusative plural, can be found for the genitive (for discussion see 1.2):

τὰ στουβέρια τοὺς κανπίτες (= καμπίτες) λεγόμενους τζαντιούνιδες Assizes B 464.22–3 (< Occit./OFr. champion); εἰς τὴν αὐλὴν τοὺς βουργέζηδες ibid. 484.2–3 (< βουργέσιος < OFr. burgeis) τὴν ἐκκλησίαν τοὺς Νεστούριδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 84.1; τὰ παιδιά τοὺς πουρζέζιδες ibid. 88.3; ἔμπροσθεν τοῦ ρηγὸς ... καὶ ... τοὺς καπιτάνιδες ibid. 474.27–8 τῆς ρήγαινας καὶ τοὺς κουβερνούρηδες VOUSTR., Chron. A 208.12 ἐνὶ εἰς λογιῆς τοὺς μάντηδες Fior 122.33 (< μάντις); εἰς τὸν κάμπον τοὺς Γρέτσηδες ibid. 136.39 (< Ital. Greci)

In the following examples the ending of the masculine /as/ paradigm (see 2.2.1) occurs for the sake of the rhyme: τὰ παιδιά τοὺς ἄρχοντες καὶ τοὺς καβαλλαράδες Thrinós Kypr. 461.

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ων ἢ -ωνε

Substitution of the parisyllabic plural ending -ων for -ηδων is not very common:

τῶν αὐτῶν Μαγνέντων (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 194, 118.23) τῶν σπαχόγλανων Chron. Tourk. Soult. 141.6 (cf. τῶν σπαχογλάνηδων ibid. 41.10) ἡ σκόλα τῶν Τσαγγάρων (1675, Zakynthos, Zois 1939: 4, 126.3) τῶν μπακάλων (1724, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1986: 8, f.1v.4)

It has also been found with the addition of -(ν)ε (see I, 2.6.3.1) in the same document from Kefalonia: τῶν ἄνωθεν Μανέντωνε (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 194, 118.10); τῶν αὐτῶν Μανέντωνε (ibid. 118.21).

Accusative

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ηδες ἢ -ῆδες

From at least the 15th c. onwards (ms date of Assizes B) the most common ending for the accusative plural is -ηδες:

μέ δλην τήν κουμπανίαν, ντενέτιδες, σιγούντες (1415, Skyros, LEMERLE et al. 1979: App. XVII, 216.7) ἀπέ τοὺς μπαρούνηδες Assizes B 479.10–11 (< Occit. baroun) μ' ὄφιδες τοὺς παιδεύει CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2623 (< ὄφης) ποῖσε ἀβιτζιάλιδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.25 (< Ital. uffiziale); δέκα συντρόφους σορδιέριδες ibid. 54.33–4 (< OFr. soldier); ἄλλους κριτάδες καὶ νοτάριδες ibid. 318.2

έφερεν κουρσάρηδες VOUSTR., Chron. A 20.15; με πολλοὺς μαμουλούκηδες ibid. 78.6; έφερεν ... τοὺς χαλφούσηδες ibid. 98.4 (< Arab. harfūsh; see KECHAYOGLU 1997: 497)

(έβγαλεν ...) μπαλεστρέρηδες LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 127; σκεύη καὶ πουμπαρδιέρηδες ibid. 128 τοὺς Γαβρίληδες (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 44, 76.8) αγάπα τοὺς Πέρσηδες Diig. Alex. K 367.32 σολδάδους καὶ τσαούσηδες CHORTATSI, Katz. II.45 στέλνει τοὺς βεζίρηδες STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 71 (Pidonia); Καζάκους καὶ Τατάρηδες ibid. 992 πολλοὺς ... μπέτηδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 28.4–5; τοὺς ἔστειλε ... σεργούνηδες ibid. 37.9; τοὺς ἔκαμε σπαχογλάνηδες ibid. 109.26 (< Turk. sipahi oĝlan); ἔστειλε κιαούσηδες, οὐλάκηδες ibid. 144.11 τοὺς ταβερνάρηδες Bertoldin. 112.21 τοὺς ζαμπίτηδες τοῦ ἁγίου ὄρους (1639, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 69, 197.21) μέ τοὺς χασάσηδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §22.3; τοὺς συγκεφίληδες σου ibid. III §30.15 ὅποιος ἀπὸ τοὺς ταμπάκηδες (1647, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 2, 174.27) με τοὺς πλησίον κράληδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 364 τοὺς παρόντες πριόρηδες (1692, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 170, 103.2) (< πριόρες < Ital. priore) ποὺ ᾔγιάνναν χαρατζάρηδες KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 111 χτυπάτε, μωρὲ παιδιά, τοὺς παλιομουρτάτηδες EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 59.14–15 εσκότωσε τόσους ἀράπηδες Don Kis. 46.33–4; τοὺς ἀχρείους υποθεσιάρηδες ibid. 452.24 (< ὑποθεσάριος) ἔχει γιανιστάρηδες χιλιάδες δεκαπέντε Alosis 751 (< Turk. yeni çeri) διὰ τοῦτο τοὺς λέγουνε Κουζιμπάσηδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 128.27

A shift of the stress to the penultimate may occur with words of Turkish provenance (cf. nom. pl. and see also the Introduction to this section): μηδὲ Μιχαλογλῆδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 76.31 (ms μιχάλογλῆδες); με ζορπαμπασῆδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.94.

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ηδας ἢ -ήδας

Substitution of the more formal-looking 1st-declension accusative ending /as/ for the /es/ of -ηδες occurs in mixed- and higher-register texts: μετὰ τοὺς ζηγκλούριδας Assizes A 187.28; οὓς καλοῦσι γενιτσάρηδας DOUKAS, Hist. 97.31; ἐμήνυσε τοὺς σουμπάσιδας Ekth. Chron. 49.7; ἀπὸ τοὺς Πέρσηδας Diig. Alex. V 71.10. The following example from version E of the Alexander Romance, with a shift of the stress to the penultimate, is likely to be a pun, as the form Περσῆδας is homophonous to the feminine form Περσίδας (cf. the nominative plural, above): ἔνδυσαν τοὺς Περσῆδας ὅλους ὥσ' ἂν τὲς Μακεδόνες Diig. Alex. E 309.19–20 (Lolos).

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες

The parisyllabic ending of the old 3rd declension is employed sporadically:

καὶ Πέρσες δοξάρατους Pol. Tr. 5147 app. crit. (V) οἱ Μακεδόνες ἔτρεχαν τοὺς Πέρσες κ' ἔσκοτῶναν Alex. Rim. 1221 εἰς μάντες Theophr. Char. 129.4

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

The residual parisyllabic ending of the old 1st declension is sporadically used, in the following example with the original 1st-declension word Πέρσης: καὶ Πέρσας δοξάρατους Pol. Tr. 5147 app. crit. (AX).

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ους

Even the parisyllabic ending of the 2nd declension is employed sporadically: σπαογλάνους, ἦγουν ἀρχοντόπουλα ἐξακοσίους (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 11.7–8); καὶ τεγγέρους 2 καὶ τηγάνι 1 (1687, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 10, 224.29) (< τέντζερης, see I, 3.8.2.2).

Vocative

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-ηδες

The vocative, identical to the nominative, ends in -ηδες:

γῆς τῆς ἐμῆς μπαρούνηδες καὶ τίμιοι ἐδικοί μου Liv. V 765 ἡγαπημένοι μας πουρβεόρηδες (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 49, 26.1) (< Occit. pournouyur, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.); ὁρισμός μας ἔνι, κυβερνούρηδες (1468, ibid. 83, 41.1) ἐσεῖς ναῦτες κατεργάριδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 486.32 ἐσεῖς, αὐθέντες, φρέρηδες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 19 ἐξαγοράρηδες πιστοί Synax. gyn. 158 ὦ μάντιδες SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.14–16 (< μάντις) γραν πέκκο καὶ φορφάντηδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 9137 (< Ital. furfante, see KAPLANIS 2012, Glossary) ὦ ὄφιδες SPANOS, Grammar 28.29–30 (< ὄφεις)

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-οι

Vocatives in -οι, an ending borrowed from the masculine /os/ paradigm (see 2.1), appear to be an idiosyncrasy of Palaia kai Nea Diathiki (cf. paradigm 2.3.2). There may be some influence of adjectives in -άριος/-άρης (see 3.2.6): στέκετε ἐσεῖς ζουράροι P&N Diath. 4853.

2.3.5 Transfers to Other Paradigms

Certain oxytone nouns belonging to paradigm 2.3.1, such as πουλητής, δανειστής and a few others, form an alternative paradigm in -ίος in texts from Cyprus (for which see 2.8).

Transfers to the masculine /os/ paradigm occur in the following examples:

< χάρτης

ὁ τοιοῦτος χάρτος (1059, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 7, 170.63) τὸν παρόντα χάρτον (1139, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 3, 296.5) τοὺς ἀγοραίους ἡμῶν χάρτους (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 131, 173.13) (< χάρτης)

< αὐθέντης

τὸν αὐθέντον (1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 535.11) αὐθέντος καὶ κύριος (1172, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 179, 235.15) οἱ αὐθέντοι (1099, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: App. 1, 643–644.8) τίμα τους ὡς ἀφέντους σου Spaneas V 103 τοῦ κραταιοῦ καὶ ἀγίου μου αὐθέντου (13th c.?, Thessaly?, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 6, 343.16) τοῦ ἀφέντου μου τοῦ ρῆγα Chron. Mor. H 244 (ms: αὐθέντου) ἀφέντοι, ξεῦρετε πῶς ... MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 248.35–6 τοῦ ἀφέντου (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 377, 588.2)

< μπαρούνης

μπαρούνος τῶν Κορυφῶν (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 38, 32.1)

Innovative formations in /as/ based on the residual vocative in /a/, as indicated by the stress shift in δέσποτας (< ὦ δέσποτα < ὁ δεσπότης) can occasionally be found throughout the period under review:

Θεόδ(ω)ρος τοῦ Ἀκρίτα (1104 [14th-c. copy], Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 52, 234.235) ἐγὼ Ρουμβέρτος αὐθέντας (1121, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 90, 118.1)

ἄξιον ἀρχιμανδρίταν (1173, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 51, 87.12)

νὰ γίνεται μεσίτας δι' ἐσένα Liv. E 328 καὶ ἀποστάτα κι' ἄδικο κι' ἄσπλαχνο μ' ὀνομάζου CHORTATIS, Katz. Prol. 33

πρὸς τὸν ἀφέντα (17th c., Unknown, ŠANGIN 1936: 4, 152.26–7) τοῦ Ἀγίου ποροφήτου καὶ βαπτιστᾶ (1645, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 11, 24.2–3) (for ποροφήτου see I, 2.6.2) κύρ Ζαγοράκη τοῦ διοικητᾶ (1655, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 74, 188.3) ὁ δικητᾶς κύρ Ζαγωράκη (1658, ibid. 78, 198.3) περιφημισμένος δέσποτας ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 25.1–2; τὸν δέσποταν ibid. 27.8

In texts from Pontos surnames in -της may transfer to the /as/ paradigm (for their plural formations see 2.10.4): ἐγὼ Ἰωάννης ὁ Μουλίτας (1264, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 32, 14.6); Ἀποστόλου τοῦ Σιμελίτα (1704, ibid. 187, 123.8); τοῦ Αὐλίτα τὸ μερτικόν (15th c., Pontos, ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015: 6, 15.10–11). In verse texts the noun Μάης (< Μάιος) may be contracted to Μᾶς: ἔρχεται ὁ Μᾶς Flor. L 1547 (Cupane); καὶ Μᾶ κατακαμμένε Dimotiko (Lambros) 5; ὁ βασιλέας τῶν μηνῶν ὁ Μᾶς λογιάζω εἶναι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2395.

Only very rarely do masculine nouns in /is/ change gender and become feminine: τῆς καλῆς βασιλῆς Ἀμαζόνης Pol. Tr. 11959; ἕως τὴν φράκτη τοῦ Ἀγιώτη (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 36, 38.44); ὀμπλιγάρεται αὐτήνη ἢ πουλητῆς καὶ οἱ κληρονόμοι της (1596, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 20, 75.26–7).

2.4 Masculine Nouns in -εύς, -έας, -ιάς

The ending -εύς of the old 3rd declension had become incompatible with the phonological system, as due to the sound change /eus/ > /efs/ it ended in two consonants (JANNARIS 1897: 131). It had ceased to be productive by the EMedG period (PSALTES 1913: 254), and only a limited number of these nouns survive in the LMedG and EMG periods. From the very beginning of the period covered by this Grammar, the inherited words belonging to this paradigm show a strong tendency to transfer to other paradigms (see below), and new singular forms had already emerged based on the old accusative -έα (CHATZIDAKIS 1934/77: A 50): -έας for the nominative and -έα for the genitive and the vocative. Thus the -εύς paradigm followed the general tendency of 3rd-declension nouns with opaque nominative endings to adopt the morphology of nouns in /as/ by forming new nominatives based on the acc. sg., with an added masc. nom. marker /s/, and new genitives in which the nominative marker /s/ is dropped (see the introduction to Chapter 2): βασιλεύς, acc. βασιλέα(ν) > nom. βασιλέας > gen./voc. βασιλέα.

The chronology of the transition from -εύς to -έας is not quite clear and the bibliography is rather vague on the subject. Nominative singular forms in -έας appear in texts from the very beginning of the LMedG period, but not in texts from the preceding centuries (DIETERICH 1898, PSALTES 1913 and GIGNAC 1981 offer no examples). This, however, must be attributed to a certain conservatism that is characteristic of MedG written texts, as there are a few unambiguous examples in papyri and ostraca of the Roman period: καλχέας O.Claud. 4 656 (for χαλκέας (< χαλκεύς); ostracon datable 98–117 AD); Καλλίνικος ὁ καὶ Κοπρέας P.Oxy. 12 1463 (< κοπρεύς (see the online TLG); papyrus dated AD 215); [Αὐρήλιος] Κοπρέας P.Lond. 3 939 (papyrus dated 01/11/225); Χαλκέας O.Mich. 2 849 (ostracon dating from the 3rd/4th c.) (for these examples see www.papyri.info). As for the plural formation of these nouns, the inherited nom. and voc. pl. ending -εῖς remains in use throughout the period covered by this Grammar, as does the gen. pl. ending -έων. The AG acc. pl. ending -έας had started to be replaced by the nom. pl. ending -εῖς already in the 4th c. BC (DIETERICH 1898: 154), and -εῖς is by far the most common ending for the accusative in the LMedG and EMG periods.

Due to the fact that paroxytone plurisyllabic nouns are quite rare and that the oxytone paradigms are by far the largest for masculine nouns, nouns in -έας tend to become oxytone as well, in four different ways: (1) by transferring to the oxytone -ής paradigm (see 2.4.2 and 2.3.3); (2) by transferring to the oxytone -ός paradigm (see 2.4.2 and 2.1.1); (3) through synzesis (βασιλέας > βασιλέας, usually spelled βασιλιάς indicating [e] has become [j]; see I, 2.9.4) – these oxytone forms then begin to form an imparisyllabic plural in -ιάδες, by analogy with the oxytone -ας paradigm (see 2.2.1) (HORROCKS 2010: 287–8); (4) by forming oxytone forms in -ές (see I, 2.9.4.3 for discussion), after which the innovative declensional pattern of nouns in /as/ and /is/ could once more be applied (nom. in /s/: ὁ βασιλές; gen. and voc. drop /s/: (τοῦ) βασιλέ; acc. drops /s/ and may add /n/: τὸν βασιλέ(ν)). Examples of nom. sg. in -ές have been found as early as the mid-11th c. in Athos and subsequently in a large geographical area. Examples of gen. sg. and acc. sg. are fewer and appear much later than the nom. sg. In the EMG period this new oxytone ending -ές would become productive in the adaptation of Venetian and Turkish loanwords to Greek morphology, e.g. ὁ μαγατζές (< Ven. magazén); ὁ καφές (< Turk. kahve). Contrary to βασιλές, which appears in the singular only, these loanwords form imparisyllabic plurals in -έδες and thus constitute a new paradigm, for which see 2.6.1.

Old 1st-declension nouns in -έας such as Ἀνδρέας and βορέας had already developed a gen. sg. in -έα instead of -έου⁶⁶ and the overlap in the singular between these nouns and the new paradigm in -έας led to these words transferring to this new paradigm, occasionally borrowing the old endings of the -εύς paradigm (e.g. τοῦ βορέως),⁶⁷ undergoing synizesis (e.g. ὁ Ἀνδριάς), and where applicable forming imparisyllabic plurals in -(ι)άδες (e.g. βοριάδες).

In Cretan texts words in -έας may drop /a/ and become oxytone, especially when they denote surnames or place names, e.g. ὁ Κουρτεσέας > ὁ Κουρτεσές. Interestingly, this only applies to nouns originally in -έας, in other words, to words that do not derive from nouns in -εύς. In fact, paroxytone forms in -έας (all cases in the singular and gen. pl.) from nouns that formerly ended in -εύς are very rare in Cretan texts, appearing only occasionally in non-literary texts with less regional colouring (e.g. the notarial documents of Grigoropoulos), and in verse texts for metrical reasons. The majority of forms in -έας in Cretan verse texts are a matter of conservative spelling and should be read with synizesis (as [ˈjas]). It is quite likely, though impossible to establish, that the same holds true for prose and non-literary texts. Significantly, there are only three real paroxytone examples in the whole of Erotokritos, one in Stathis and two in Erofilis (not counting occurrences in stage directions, which are in prose), four in Palaia kai Nea Diathiki, six in Bounialis's Cretan War, one in Panoria and none in Katzourbos. They are absent in the works of Sachlikis, Fortounatos and Landos's Geoponikon. In most of these works, forms in -ιός (see 2.1.1) and to a lesser degree -ιάς (see below) are by far the most frequent. As -ιάς presupposes the previous existence of -έας, this indicates that Cretan will have moved from -έας (< -εύς) to other oxytone forms (-ιός, -ιάς, -ής) quite early on. For similar developments in the feminine paradigm in -έα see 2.11.4.⁶⁸ ⁶⁶ An early example is: ὑπὸ τοῦ Ἀνδρέα Acts of Andrew 59.1 (2nd/3rd c. AD; ed. Prieur; see the online TLG).

⁶⁷ The same holds true for the later place name Μορέας, which is not attested before the 12th c., see BON 1969: 307.

⁶⁸ The theory of CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: B 354–5 and 402) regarding the change from /'ea/ to /'e/ in feminine nouns in /'ea/ (e.g. ἀπιδέα) and masculine nouns in /'eas/ (e.g. ὁ φονέας < φονεύς) when they occur in West Crete, Ikaria and Lesbos illustrates the heavy dependence of historical linguistics on modern dialectology. According to him forms such as βασιλέας and φονέας are phonological in the above-mentioned areas (βασιλέας > βασιλέας (with assimilation) > βασιλέας (vowel deletion)), but when they occur in Chios and Kyzikos, they should be viewed as a simplification of βασιλεύς, a form with which people were still familiar through the language of the Church. He thus ignores the fact that dialects, too, change over the centuries and that a phenomenon that is now restricted to a small geographical area may have had a wider geographical distribution in the Middle Ages and the early modern period, or vice versa (compare, for example, the EMG distribution of the now SMG ending -όμασσε (III, 4.1.1.2)).

Apart from the above-mentioned handful of old 1st-declension nouns in -έας (Ἀνδρέας, βορέας, etc.) and a few old 1st-declension words in -ίας such as καυχηματίας > καυχηματέας and κυκνίας > κυκνέας, nouns do not generally tend to transfer from other paradigms to the one under discussion. New formations in -έας are limited to proper names such as Βαβουλέας, Βατέας, Μαλλέας and others, as well as a few other nouns denoting physical characteristics or a habitual action such as μαυρέας, γαμέας and ὀλεθρέας, a word made up by Ermoniakos: ὥς κακὸν καὶ ὀλεθρέαν ERMON., Ilias 6.75. Most of these nouns, with the exception of βορέας, do not normally form a plural. For alternative plural formations of personal names see 2.10.

Despite these innovations, the old forms of the -εύς paradigm are still used quite widely in LMedG and EMG written sources, especially of the noun βασιλεύς. The irregular noun Ζεύς (AG gen. Διός, acc. Δία) tends to move to the residual side of this paradigm, forming an innovative gen. and acc. sg. Ζεύ. The residual nominative in -εύς and vocative in -εῦ are sometimes treated as indeclinable forms and used for the other cases as well.

As the number of nouns in -εύς/-έας is limited and as most of the words in this group are semantically restricted and appear in specific contexts only (βασιλέας “king”, γραφέας “scribe”, φονέας “murderer”, χαλκέας “blacksmith”, Ἀχιλλέας “Achilles”, Ὀδυσσεύς “Odysseus”), it is not always possible to determine the geographical spread of the different forms.

2.4.1 The Paradigm

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	βασιλέας βασιλιάς	βασιλεύς βασιλιάς βασιλές	βασιλεῦ
Gen.	βασιλέως βασιλέα βασιλιᾶ	βασιλιός/βασιλιῶς -εός/-εῶς βασιλέ -έου -ία	-έους βασιλεύς -έω -ιῶ/-ιό -ίου
Acc.	βασιλέα(ν) βασιλιά(ν)	βασιλέ(ν) βασιλεύ	-ία(ν) βασιλεύς
Voc.	βασιλέα βασιλιά	βασιλεῦ βασιλέ	βασιλεύς -ία

Plural
Nom.	βασιλεῖς	βασιλιάδες	βασιλέες -εάδες
Gen.	βασιλέων	βασιλέω βασιλιῶν βασιλιῶ βασιλιάδων βασιλιάδω βασιλιάδωνε	-εάδων
Acc.	βασιλεῖς	βασιλιάδες	βασιλέες βασιλέας -εάδες
Voc.	βασιλεῖς	βασιλιάδες

Singular

Nominative

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-έας ἰ -εάς/-ιάς ἰ -ίας

This ending occurs with original 1st-declension nouns and new nouns in -έας in texts from all areas. As noted in the Introduction, forms in /eas/ also developed from former 3rd-declension nouns in /efs/, a development which pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar by many centuries. With these words the ending occurs in texts from most areas and is by far the most common, with the notable exception of Crete, where it is rather rare (see the introduction to this section):

- Νικόλαος ἱερέας (1126, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 98, 129.19)
 Λέων Μαυρέας (mid-12th c., S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 43, 223.54)
 Νικηφόρος διάκονος ὁ Μαλλέας (1265, Athos/Thessaloniki?, ŽIVOJINOVÍČ et al. 1998: 7, 126.31)
 Θεόδωρος ὁ Κεραμέας (1284, Thessaloniki, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 75, 30.2)
 Γεώργιος Κοντοστέφανος ὁ Καλαμέας (1309, Meleniko, LEFORT et al. 1994: 71, 178.1) Ἰωάννης ὁ Χαλκέας (14th c., Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 16, 116.2) νὰ εἶσαι βασιλέας Chron. Mor. H 664; ὅσον κρατεῖ ὁ Μορέας ibid. 1447 οὗτος ὁ βασιλέας Pol. Tr. 178; ὁ κύρ Δυσσέας ibid. 12560 (< Ὀδυσσεύς) καὶ ὁ τοικνέας ἤρξατο τὸν γερανὸν ὑβρίζει Poulol. 58 (< κυκνίας) ὁ εὐτελής ἱερέας (1432, Corfu, ASONITIS 1996/97: 3, 31.113) Μενεσὲς Βεργιώτης βαφέας (1497, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: App. 1, 310.27) φονέας τοῦ κόσμου ὀλουνοῦ Diig. Alex. E 143.2 (Konstantinopulos) καρβουνιάρης καὶ γναφέας NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 13 tit.
 Μάρκος Μυξέας (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 85, 65.6) σὰ βασιλέας φρόνιμος Stathis Interm. II.89 (hapax) Κώστας Ἀσπρέας (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 374, 348.13) οὐδὲ ἀρχιερέας MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2195 διαβαστής, καλογραφέας PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.24

Γέργος βαφέας (1649–69, Thessaly, SPANOS 2001: 364, f.100r.6) πού ἤθελε γενῆ ἱερέας (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 482.3) ὁ ἀρχιερέας μας (1693, Nauplion, TSELENDI 1978: 5, 242.24) ὁ βασιλέας τῇ Βλαχιᾷς KORNAROS, Erot. IV.859 (hapax) καὶ χριστιανὸς βασιλέας EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 25.2–3 ο σοφὸς συγγραφέας Don Kis. 4.17

The -έας ending may undergo synizesis and become oxytone. The ending is spelled as -εάς or as -ιάς, indicating that [e] has become [j] (through an intermediate stage in which /e/ and /a/ are pronounced as one syllable ['ɛa] without presenting a full glide; for details see I, 2.9.4):

Δυσσιὰς καὶ Διομήδιος Pol. Tr. 5545 app. crit. (C) (< Ὀδυσσεύς) ὁ βασιλιάς ἀρώπησε Fior 126.18 σάν μακελάρης καὶ φονιάς ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 67 γραφεᾶς Pent. Gen. 49.10 Ἰωάννης Κατζοματός, χαρκιάς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 442, 444.141) (< χαλκεύς) κακὸς φονιάς καὶ κλέφτης P&N Diath. 3733; ὁ Καίσαρης ὁ βασιλιάς ibid. 4572 ὁ βασιλιάς σας πολεμᾷ Stathis Interm. I.13 κάλεσμα κάμνει ὁ βασιλιάς Dimotika Ivir. IV.1 βασιλεύς, βασιλιάς GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. re Τριαντάφυλλος χαλκιάς (1649–69, Thessaly, SPANOS 2001: 364, f.100r.2) καὶ ὁ βασιλιάς τί θέλει τ' ἀποδώσει; BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 351.16 ἀλιάς εἰς τὴν τέχνην (1683, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 56, 266.26) (< ἀλιεύς) καὶ ὁ βασιλιάς καὶ ἡ ρήγισσα KORNAROS, Erot. V.1373 βρέθεται ἕνας παπ' Ἀντριᾷς KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 119 (for βρέθομαι see III, 2.4: εὐρίσκω/βρίσκω)

It cannot be established precisely when synizesis first started to occur in this ending (for details on synizesis in general see I, 2.9.4). From verse texts it becomes clear that, due to conservatism in the writing practice, forms are often written as -έας, whereas they should be read with synizesis (whether as ['ɛas] or as ['jas]):

ὁ βασιλέας τῆς δόξης Chron. Mor. H 346 ὁ βασιλέας ἐθλίβη Pol. Tr. 703 app. crit. (E) ἄν τὰς ἐκράτει ὁ Χαλκέας Synax. gyn. 191 ἀρχιερέας τὸν ἤκραξε P&N Diath. 1848

Deletion of final /s/ occurs in Cretan texts in a specific phonological environment (see I, 3.7.1.1 for details): ὁ ἄξος βασιλιά μας CHORTATIS, Erof. Interm. III.64.

Sometimes the ending is spelled <ιάς>. From verse texts it becomes clear that this spelling may in fact stand for ['jas], as in the following example (before the caesura): κ' ἔγμεν ὅλος ὁ Μορίας KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.118. However, these spellings also occur in prose texts and in non-literary sources. And although it cannot be excluded that in each of the following examples the stress notation is conservative or even erroneous and that they in fact represent forms with synizesis (see 1.5 for discussion), it must be borne in mind that in certain MG dialects synizesis still does not occur in the vowel sequence ['ia]. Examples have been found, especially with the name Ἀντρέας, in texts from S. Italy, the Heptanese, the Aegean and Athos (cf. gen. sg. and acc. sg.) (see also see I, 2.9.4):

Ἰωάννης Φυτίας (1198, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 243, 328.37) γρικώντα ο μισέρ Αντρίας VOUSTR., Chron. A 192.3, B 193.2–3 and M 193.3 κύρ Αντρίας ὁ Ἀσπρογένης (1519, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 64, 94.1) βασιλεὺς ὁ Ἀλέξανδρος, ἕ Ἀμμώνου βασιλίας Alex. Rim. 1411 ὁ κυρ-Ἀντρίας Ζακυνθινός (1539, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 46, 43.3) καὶ ποῖος φονιάς ἔνι ἐκεῖνος ὁ ἄνθρωπος Diig. Alex. E 143.1 (Konstantinopulos) ὁποῖος μισέρ Ἀντρίας (1580, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 139, 260.7) κυρ-Ἀτρίας Μεγαλογένης (1643, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 262, 209.5) ὁ ποτὲ Sr Ἀνδρίας Τυπάλδος (1680, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 255, 231.6) Ἀντρίας Ταταδάκης (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 551, 775.3); Ἰωάννης καὶ Ἀντρίας (ibid. 775.14)
 Ἀντρίας Οδοόσης (1695, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 354.5) ἰνφεταρίστη καὶ ὁ Ἀντρίας ὁ Κακαβᾶς PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 121.10 ὁ Ἀντρίας καὶ Πιέρως ἀδελφοὶ Δρόσοι SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 55.16–17

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ές

This ending appears as an alternative form for nouns in -έας that derive from former 3rd-declension nouns in -εύς shortly before and throughout the period covered by this Grammar. It can be found in texts from most areas, with the exception of Crete (for discussion see the introduction to this section (2.4); and cf. the much rarer ending -έ for gen. and acc. sg., below):

Ἰωάννης ἱερές (1056, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 31, 80.54)
 Θωμάς ἱερές (1143–5, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 1, 56.1) πιστὸς βασιλεὺς καὶ αὐτοκράτωρ Ῥωμαίων (14th c., Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 21B, 162.2) ὡσὰν ὀρίσει καὶ πληρωθῶ ἱερές (1357/60, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 237, 364.3) γραφεὺς καὶ μάρτυρας (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 172, 119.18) (ed. γραφε<ύ>ς) ὁ Ἀχιλλέας Pol. Tr. 2380 app. crit. (B); ὁ δὲ Δυσσέας ὁ θαυμαστὸς ibid. 3060 app. crit. (B) (< Ὀδυσσεύς) ἔνε βασιλεὺς Chron. Mor. T 1620 ὁ εὐλαβέστατος ἱερές (1482 [later copy], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 109, 218.4) ὁ Ἀχιλλέας Achil. O 591; ὁ βασιλεὺς ἐγέλασεν ibid. 640 ὁ φονὲς κατὰ τὸν νόμον θνησκέτω (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 414.701) Ἰωάννη ἱερές (1623, Bergamo, KORRE 2008: 2, 330.22) Ἰάκωβος ἱερές (1669, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 1, 577.9) ὁ γονέας του (1674, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 4, 177.11) Γεώργιος ἱερές (1674, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 31, 25.17) ἦτον δὲ τότε βασιλεὺς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2153 ὁ εὐλαβέστατος ἱερέας (1695, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 354.6) (ed. ἱερε<ύ>ς)

Examples derived from words (surnames) originally in -έας occur in Cretan texts (cf. gen. and acc. sg. below; cf. also similar developments in the feminine paradigm in -έα (2.11.4); for the underlying phonological process see I, 2.9.4.3):

ὁ Ἰωάννη Φουλέας (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 18, 60.9) (cf. pl. τοῦ<ς> Φουλιάδες (1527, ibid. 59, 90.4)); Μανόλη Χαγέας (1543, ibid. 239, 227.66) (cf. the MG surname Χαγιάς) ὁ κύρ Γαλιάτσος Βαρούχας Παρθενές (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 57, 77.3–4); Μανούσος Σετενές (1602, ibid. 158, 170.7) (cf. Μανούσος Σετενέας (1612, ibid. 762, 662.12)); μαστρο-Ἰωάννης Κουρτεσές (1613, Crete, ibid. 841, 733.10–11) (cf. τὸν Κουρτεσέα (1600, ibid. 98, 113.3))

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	Residual

Residual nominatives in -εύς are used routinely throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, especially of the word βασιλεύς, and not only in mixed- and higher-register texts, probably because it sounded more elevated and appropriate for kings and emperors:

ὁ εὐτελής ἱερεὺς Ἰωάννης (1357, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 240, 386.10) ὁ βορεὺς ΕΡΜΟΝ., Ilias 13.256 (hypercorrection < βορέας) μέγιστος βασιλεύς βασιλέων (1489, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 19, 100.1) ὁκάπποιος ἄλλος βασιλεύς Liv. α 2933 ἐνώθη ὁ βασιλεύς μετὰ τοὺς πριγκιπᾶδες Chron. Mor. P 66 κι ὁ Βασιλεύς τοῦ οὐρανοῦ ΡΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 339 ὁ σπορεύς Planī kosmou 10
ὁ Ἀχιλλεύς ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua IV.111 ποῖος φονεύς νά γενῇ Diig. Alex. F 142.1 (Konstantinopulos) ὅποιος ἱερεὺς ἤθελεν λειτουργᾷ μέσα (1537, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 117, 232.5) βασιλεύς των βασιλέων όλων Diig. Alex. K 344.1–2; ἤτο ἀρχιερεὺς τῷ καιρῷ ἐκείνῳ ibid. 346.16–17 ὁδεῖνας ὁ ἱερεὺς ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 351.8 ο φθορεὺς των ημετέρων ψυχών ΜΑΡΓ., Vioi 273.10 ὁ Βασιλεύς τοῦ κόσμου Thysia Avr. 726 βασιλεύς, βασιλιάς GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. re; ἀρχιερεὺς ibid. s.v. pontefice ἦτον ... φιλοκλήσιος, καλὸς ἱερεὺς ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. I §13.10 εἶπεν του ὁ Βασιλεύς Bertoldos 28.7 ὁ βασιλεύς ἐννοιάζετο Thrinios Kypr. 16 ο συγγραφεὺς αὐτῆς τῆς ιστορίας Don Kis. 53.9

Forms without final /s/, which are, in fact, residual vocatives singular (see below), are sometimes used as nominatives, which underlines the residual nature of the -εύς endings:

θεὸς γὰρ ὀνομάζεται καὶ ὁ βασιλεῦ, παιδί μου Spaneas V 77 Γεώργιος Ἱερεῦ (1357, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 240, 386.12) ἐστέφθη ... βασιλεῦ (app. crit.) (15th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 32, 230.11.2) ὁ δὲ βασιλεῦ ἀκούσας Ptochol. α 445 ὁ σοφὸς ὁ Ζεῦ Cypr. Canz. 147.2
ὁ βασιλεῦ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 51.29

Genitive

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-έα ἰ -εά/-ιά ἰ -ία

The emergence of the genitive ending -έα pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar and appears with old 1st-declension and new words in -έας as well as with nouns in -έας derived from former 3rd-declension nouns in -εύς. It is by far the most common ending in most areas for both groups of nouns. The exception to this is Crete, where the ending is normal for words originally in -έας, but rare with former 3rd-declension nouns in -εύς (see introduction (2.4) for discussion):

- Κωνσταντῖνος τοῦ Ἀνδρέα (1104 [14th-c. copy], Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 52, 246.15) οἱ παῖδες τοῦ Χαλκεία (mid-12th c., S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 43, 222.26); Πέτρου Μαυρέα
(ibid. 223.56)
τοῦ Κουβαλέα (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 35.84); τοῦ Βατέα (ibid. 46.235) Νικηφόρου τοῦ Μαλλέα (1265, Athos/Thessaloniki?, ŽIVOJINOVIĆ et al. 1998: 7, 126.27) Κωνσταντίνου τοῦ Καλαμέα (1271, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 70, 201.19) τοῦ Λιγδέα (1300, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 90, 88.216) καὶ τοῦ κακοῦ φονέα Spaneas Z 640 καὶ εἰπέτε τοῦ βασιλέα σας Diig. Alex. V 77.11 τοῦ Ἀνδρέα (1506, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 475, 339.13) Ἰωάννου Βαβουλέα (1526, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 113, 206.10) κυροῦ Ἀνδρέα τοῦ Ντόνου (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 8, 17.32) τοῦ μαστρ-Ἀντρέα Χαραζά, τοῦ χαρκέα (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 137, 109.5) (<χαλκεύς) τοῦ ἱερέα MOREZINOS, Klini 165.33 παιδὶ τοῦ βασιλέα CHORTATISIS, Erof. V.348 [τοῦ βασιλ]έα ROMANOS, Grammar 5.23 εἰς τοῦ βαφέα (1644, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 1, 130.9) ἐμὲ τοῦ γραφέα (1661, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 109, 257.3) εἰς τοῦ Φονέα τὸ Λαγγάδι (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 72.3) τοῦ Ἀχιλλέα (1688, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 126, 74.10)

The forms may become oxytone through synizesis, and the ending is then spelled either <εᾶ> or <ιᾶ> (representing ['ɛa] or ['ja]; see I, 2.9.4):

- τοῦ δεσπότη τοῦ Μορεᾶ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 682.16 εἶδε Ξέρξου βασιλιᾶ ἐκείνου τὸ μνημούρι Alex. Rim. 1295 τοῦ βασιλιᾶ μας CHORTATISIS, Erof. II.518; τέτοιου φονιᾶ ibid. Interm. III.40 εἰς τοῦ Χαρκιᾶ τὸ Χάρακα (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 366, 342.3) μέσα εἰς τὸν Μοριᾶ (1613, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 2, 308.22) τοῦ βασιλιᾶ τοῦ κόσμου Zinon I.251 σύμπλιο ... μαστρὸ Μιχελῆ Βαφιᾶ (1667, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 597, 825.8) τοῦ Ἀνδριᾶ τοῦ Φραγκούλη (1670, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 4, 15.2) Πέτρου Παπαδάτου, ἄλιᾶ (1683, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 57, 267.7) τοῦ Ἀντριᾶ (1689, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 914, 1219.2–3) πλησίον Νικολάου Χαλκιᾶ (1691, Chios, TSELIKAS 2000: 83, 66.7–8)

In verse texts it becomes clear that even when the ending should be read with synizesis it may be spelled -έα: εἰς τὸ ἐργαστήριν τοῦ χαλκέα Poulol. 438 (reading of PVL); τοῦ βασιλέα ἐπροφήτεψε P&N Diath. 2135; ἀπῶχου τσι παλληκαριές τοῦ Ἀχιλλέα γραμμένα FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.255 (spelled tu Aghilea in the Latin-script manuscript). Sometimes the ending is spelled <ιᾶ>, which may in reality represent ['ja] (or ['ja]), as the following example illustrates (before the caesura): εἰς τὸ ἐργαστήριν τοῦ χαλκία Poulol. 438 app. crit. (E) (see 1.5 for discussion), or it may point to height dissimilation (see I, 2.9.4.3 for details). It is especially frequent with the proper name Ἀνδρέας:

τοῦ Φιλίππου Χαλκία (1144?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 9, 314.3) τοῦ Κωνσταντίνου κυροῦ τοῦ Χαλκία (1301, Athos, LEFORT 1973: 10, 79.3) Μιχαήλ ὁ τοῦ Χαλκία (1355, Lemnos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 136, 65.133) του μισέρ Αντρία VOUSTR., Chron. A 44.3, B 45.3 and M 45.3 κύρ Ἀντρία Ἀρμενιακοῦ (1524, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 127, 159.45; and ibid. 151, 187.39) τοῦ γράψαντος παπα-Ἰωάννη Χαλκία (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 36, 37.12) τοῦ ποτὲ κυρ-Ἀνδρία (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 25, 82.3) τοῦ ποτὲ Ἀντρία Δέντια (1662, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 31, 20.1) εἰς τὴν ἐνορία τοῦ Ἁγίου Ἀνδρία (1683, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1940: 1, 179.7) τοῦ Ἀντρία Ξενάκη (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 601, 829.21)

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-έως ἰ -εός ἰ -ῶς/-ῖός ἰ -έω/-ῶ/-ῖό

Similarly to ex-3rd-declension genitives singular in /os/ (see 2.2.2, 2.2.3), the gen. sg. in -έως of former 3rd-declension nouns in -εύς shows remarkable resilience. Although innovative genitive forms based on the ending -έως come into being in the LMedG period (see below), there is little doubt that -έως remained in general use alongside other endings. It sometimes appears with old 1st-declension nouns in -έας (βορέας, Ἀνδρέας) and is by far the most common gen. sg. ending for the LMedG toponym Μορέας:

ἀφέντης τοῦ Μορέως Chron. Mor. H 1192; περὶ τοῦ βασιλέως ibid. 3045; στὸ πέραμα τοῦ Ἀλφέως ibid. 8328 (< Ἀλφείας < Ἀλφειός) ὅτι εἶσαι βασιλέως υἱός Flor. L 1145 transcr. (Panayotopoulou/Lendari)⁶⁹ τοῦ ἄρχοντος Δυσσεύς ERMON., Ilias 8.74 (< Ὀδυσσεύς) τοῦ δεσπότη τοῦ Μορέως (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 71, f.Ir.12) τοῦ Ἀγίου Ἀνδρέως (15th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 32, 230.10.1; and 16th c. [ms], ibid. 33.I, 248.30.5); οἱ Ἀλβανίτες τοῦ Μορέως (ibid. 33.II, 250.41.2) περὶ τοῦ ἱερέως Assizes A 113.30 ὁ τοῦ Μουρέως πρίγκιπας Chron. Toc. 529 (for /o/ > /u/ see I, 2.5.4) τὸν βουν(όν) τοῦ Βορέως (1430–48, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 99, 169.34) εἰς τὸ παλάτιν τοῦ βασιλέως MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 36.28–37.1
 τοῦ πέμποντος γραφέως Cypr. Canz. 141.3 τοῦ ἱερέως τῆς ἐκκλησίας (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 2, 5.18); ἀπὸ δὲ τοῦ βορέως (1510, ibid. 19, 33.9) ὁ βασιλέας, τοῦ βασιλέως SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.23; ὁ ἱερέας, τοῦ ἱερέως ibid. 41.26–7 Νικηφόρου τοῦ Κεραμέως (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 9, 18.21); τοῦ βασιλέως Λέοντος τοῦ σοφοῦ (ibid. 11, 20.48); Γεωργίου ἱερέως (ibid. 12, 24.6) τοῦ Μορέως (1571, Mani, CHASIoTIS 1970: 6.1, 241.12) τοῦ βασιλέως Ἰωάννου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 25.17; δεσπότη τοῦ Μορέως ibid. 35.4 τοῦ αὐτοκράτορος βασιλέως (1610, Mani, FLORISTAN 2008: 1, 281.7) στοῦ βασιλέως τὰ νερά BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 574.16 τοῦ βασιλέως ὑψηλοῦ KONDAR., Paidēs 244 Διομήδους τοῦ Τυδέως PETRITSIS, Dig. O 253; τοῦ ἱερέως τοῦ Χριστοῦ ibid. 3080
 Ρούμελης καὶ Μορέως EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 34.23

⁶⁹ The edition of Cupane (v. 1131) reads: ὅτι εἶσαι βασιλὲς υἱός. This is one of quite a few unfortunate typos; see www.bl.uk/manuscripts/Viewer.aspx?ref=add_ms_8241 for the ms (at f.133v). Hesselning prefers to read βασιλεῶς with synizesis and υἱός without rather than the other way around. The form occurs in the text with and without synizesis.

In the following two examples /u/ for /o/ is due to mid-vowel raising (see I, 2.8.3), or perhaps to confusion of former 3rd-declension paradigms:⁷⁰ τοῦ Μορέους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 51.17 and 99.10

Παναγιώτου κεχαγιᾶ δὲ τοῦ μεγάλου ἑρμηνέους τῆς βασιλείας τῶν Τουρκῶν (ms note in Bodl.

E. D. Clarke 15 (11th-c. ms; note dates to ca. 1661–73), quoted in LAUXTERMANN 2012: 196)

The genitive singular may present a shift of the stress to the ultimate, spelled <εῶς>, <εός>, <ιῶς> or <ιός> and pronounced with synizesis as ['ɛos] or ['jos] (see I, 2.9.4 for details):

πρὸς τὴν μερεὰν τοῦ Μορεῶς Chron. Toc. 3438 τοῦ βασιλεῶς τῆς Πόλης Alosis 388 and 527 εἰς τὸν θυμὸν τοῦ Βασιλῖος CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 865 τοῦ Μοριῖος Chron. Mor. P 2270 app. crit. (P) τοῦ βασιλῖος Chron. Mor. T 2493 κόρη τοῦ βασιλῖος Fior 126.10 τοῦ βασιλῖος ἐσύντυχε KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VII.45 καὶ τὸ τσεκούρ' ἀσήκουσε τοῦ βασιλιῶς νὰ δώση Alex. Rim. 957 τοῦ Ἀγίου Ἀτρεὸς (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 29, 49.3) (= Ἀντρεός, see I, 3.6.2) τοῦ βασιλιῶς KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 632 (βασιλῖος in the diplomatic transcription)

Ostensibly conservative spelling practice may conceal the stress shift, but from verse texts it becomes apparent when the forms need to be read with synizesis in order for the verse to scan, e.g. καὶ χαϊρετᾶ τοῦ βασιλέως ἐκείνου τὴν θυγάτηρ Chron. Mor. H 2493. For more information on synizesis and accent placement, see 1.5.

Deletion of final /s/ occurs in the following examples: θάνατος Ὀφρεμίου βασιλέω παρ' Ἀχιλλέως Pol. Tr. 5173 tit. app. crit. (V); τοῦ Ἀχιλλέω Achil. N 1624 and 1910; chie ci oftalmous tu vassiglio se tuto na tiflossi (τοῦ βασιλιῶ) CHORTATIS, Erof. II.84 transcr. X (Legrand). In the example from Erofil the form is followed by a word starting in /s/; this is likely to be a case of haplography (even though it appears before the caesura, but the question is how much attention a scribe would pay to the caesura when he was copying). It cannot be excluded that the instances from the War of Troy and the Achilleid are simple writing mistakes.

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-έ

This genitive ending occurs with former 3rd-declension nouns, but it is much less common than its nominative counterpart in -ές (see above and cf. acc. sg.) and appears considerably later. It has only been found in 17th-c. texts from Chios: κ' εὐρίσκουμουν στοῦ βασιλέ κοντά του καὶ σιμά του KONDAR., Paidēs 91; γυνὴν τοῦ βασιλέ μας PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 601; ἔμοιαζεν τοῦ Ἀχιλλέ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 251.

⁷⁰ Note that a genitive in -έως (< -εύς) appears sometimes with Ἡρακλῆς (AG Gen. Ἡρακλέους), e.g. τοῦ Ἡρακλέως, λέγω δὴ Dig. A 1346 app. crit.; ὅς νανόν τοῦ Ἡρακλέως Alex. Rim. 2881 (see the online TLG for older examples).

With nouns (proper names and place names) originally in -έας, not < -εύς, the ending can be found in Cretan texts (for discussion see the introduction to this section (2.4); cf. nom. and acc. sg.; see also I, 2.9.4.3):

τοῦ Μανούσο Φουλῆ (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 19, 60.15) (cf. pl. τοῦ<ς> Φουλιάδες (1527, ibid. 59, 90.4)); τοῦ ποτὲ Γεώργη Χαγέ (1528, ibid. 68, 96.1) ἀποῦ τὸ ἀμπέλι τοῦ Βατέ (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 7, 29.5); στοῦ Παρθενὲ τὸ λιβάδι (1598, ibid. 27, 47.3); τοῦ Διαβαῖδέ (1606, ibid. 351, 328.5) (cf. στοῦ Διαβαῖδέα 289, 277.9); τοῦ Λεπρὲ τὸ χωράφι (1606, ibid. 405, 377.5)

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-έου ἰ -ίου

The residual genitive ending -έου of the 1st declension is sometimes encountered with originally 1st-declension words, especially in higher-register documents. The ending can also be found with former 3rd-declension nouns in -έας (< -εύς), but as these nouns had developed an alternative paradigm in -ος (e.g. χαλκέος), the genitive in -έου is more likely to belong to that paradigm (for which see below and 2.1.2). It has also been found with the new noun Μορέας:

τοῦ αὐθεντὸς τοῦ παντὸς Μορέου (1540, Monemvasia, MALTEZOU 1968: 41.2) Ἀνδρέου μητροπολίτου Ρόδου (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 13, 25.10) τοῦ εὐλαβεστάτου παπᾶ κύρ Ἀνδρέου Βαρούχα (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 6, 28.2–3) ἄγια λείψανα Ἀνδρέου τοῦ πρωτουκλήτου (1628–9, Macedonia, ODORICO 1998: 1, 42.16) νὰ κάνει μία λουτρογιά τοῦ Ἀγίου Ἀντρέου (1692, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1991: 2, 84.31–2)

With /i/ for /e/ (cf. -ία above and see nom. sg. for discussion) it appears in a document from Sicily, though some caution is due, as the edition is known to be unreliable: σίγνον χειρὸς Ἀνδρίου (1192, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: App. 13, 672.1).

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	Residual

Residual nominative forms are sometimes treated as indeclinable and used for the genitive as well:

ἐγὼ Κωνσταντίνος τοῦ χαλκεύς (1279, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 35, 463.19) Νικόλαος τοῦ χαλκέψ (1328, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: App. I 18, 195.8) (for /fs/ > /ps/ see I, 3.8.1) τοῦ Ἐρκουλεὺς Pol. Tr. 325 app. crit. (BEX) τοῦ Ζεὺς CHORTATIS, Erof. III.296 transcr. X (Legrand) τοῦ μέγα Ζεὺς παιδί μαι ΤΡΟΙΛΟΣ, Rodol. Prol. Mell. 57 (Aposkiti)

The use of -ές for the genitive points to confusion with residual -εύς, if it is not a simple writing mistake: τοῦ εὐλεβεστάτου ἱερές (1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 201, 168.12).

Forms in -εῦ could be viewed as residual vocatives used as indeclinable forms, but they also conform to the general trend in most masculine nouns to form the genitive by dropping the final /s/ of the nominative (see the introduction to Chapter 2): τοῦ βασιλεῦ Pol. Tr. 2869 app. crit. (V); τοῦ Ζεῦ ἡ δικαιοσύνη CHORTATSI, Erof. Prol. 107.

Accusative

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-έα(ν) ἢ -έα(ν)/-ιά(ν) ἢ -ία(ν)

The most common accusative singular ending is the inherited ending -έα, which may occur with and without final /n/ throughout the period covered by this Grammar. It is used with nouns originally in -έας as well as with nouns derived from former 3rd-declension nouns in -εύς, though with the second group the ending does not usually appear in Cretan texts (see the Introduction to this section for discussion):

εἰς τὸν Βορέα (ca.1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 165.50) πολλὰ τὸν ἔχω εὐκαιρητὴν ἐκείνον τὸν γονέα GLYKAS, Stichoí 208 ὄρισεν τὸν Κεραμέα (ca.1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.32) ἀπὸ τὸν βασιλέαν Chron. Mor. H 8715; κ' ἦλθαν εἰς τὸν Μορέαν ibid. 8773 ἄνεμος ... τὸν λέγουν βορέαν (1387, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 37, f.162r.2) ἔως ἐκεῖ ἀκούμπισε, ὅ τὸν πύργον τὸν φονέα Chron. Toc. 250 νὰ ἔχει ἄδειαν νὰ στήσῃ ἱερέαν (1446, Jerusalem, TSIRPANLIS 1964: 19.14) τὸν βασιλέαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.11; νὰ πέψω ἀρχιερέαν ibid. 26.8 τὸν Ἀχιλλέα KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.19; τὸν βασιλέαν ibid. I.20 τὸν Ἀντώνιον Γιαλέαν (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 5, 23.5) επαρράκαλει ... ἕναν γναφέα ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 13.2; νὰ ποιήσουν βασιλέα ibid. 47.1 τον βασιλέα Diig. Alex. K 344.9 (Mitsakis); εἰς βασιλέαν ibid. 344.28 τὸν Ἀνδρέαν SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.13; τὸν βασιλέα ibid. 41.14 καὶ πλήρωσε ἐκείνον τὸν γραφέα (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 2, 296.74) τὸν μισὸν Μορέαν (1571, Mani, CHASIoTIS 1970: 6.1, 241.18–19) τὸν ἀρχιερέαν Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 35 πρὸς Βορέαν (17th c., Kefalonia, TZANNETATOS 1965: 2, 104.17) ὅ τὸν Ἰωάννη βασιλέα Παλαιολόγο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 25.11; τὸν φονέα Σέρβον ibid. 27.33 κρίμα εἰς τὸν βασιλέα τὸν νεοῦτζικον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §14.11; τὸν ὡς φονέα μισημένον ibid. I §31.94–5
ἀποὺ τὸ βορέα (1650, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 12, 371.12) μὲ ἔχει διὰ ἄρπαγον καὶ φονέα Alex. Fyll. 43.1
καὶ ἐπῆρε τὸν Μορέαν ὅλονε (1715, Stefani, LAMBROS 1910: 362, 213.2)

Synizesis renders the form oxytone (spelled <εά> or <ιά>, representing ['ɛa] or ['ja]; see I, 2.9.4). Note that oxytone forms, contrary to paroxytone forms, of former 3rd-declension nouns in -εύς do occur in texts from Crete, though never very frequently (see introduction to 2.4):

στὸν βασιλέαν ὑπάσιν Achil. L 69 ὅτι ἔκαμεν καὶ εἰς τὸν Μορέαν Chron. Toc. 2163; ἐλπίζουν καὶ τὸν βασιλέα ὅπως νὰ τὸν ἀρέσῃ
ibid. 3638
καὶ νὰ ᾄχες εἴσται ὅ τὸν Μορέαν Alosis 66; λοιπὸν μὴ ὀνειδίζετε τὸν βασιλέαν ibid. 230 νὰ ᾄτες βαφεὰν ὁμοιάζω Ptoch. III 273.79 app. crit. (P) φέρνουν τὴν εἰς τὸν βασιλέα Florios 68; νὰ σὲ φορέσω, βασιλέαν νὰ σὲ ἀνακηρύξω ibid. 1119 καὶ βασιλιά τὸν κρᾶζουν FALIEROS, Log. did. 83 νὰ τὸν-ε κάμου βασιλιά P&N Diath. 3396 ἐσκότωσαν τὸν βασιλιά Thrinis Konst. (Zoras) 17 ἀποὺ τὸ Βορεά (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 289, 277.6) μέσα εἰς τὸν Μοριά (1613, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 2, 308.22) τὸν Ἀτριά (1671, Naxos, TOURTOGLOU 1995: 1, 509.3) (< Ἀνδρέας) ποῦναι στὸ Μοριά MATESIS, Chron. 65.20 κατὰ τὸν βοργάν (1692, Larnaca, MITROPOULLOS 1923: A, 325.6) (= βοριάν) φονιά μὴν τόνε βγάλη KORNAROS, Erot. II.108

Ostensibly conservative spelling practice may conceal the stress shift, but from verse texts it becomes apparent when the forms need to be read with synizesis in order for the verse to scan, e.g. καὶ νὰ τὸ δώσω τὸν γναφέαν Diig. tetr. 211. Sometimes the ending is spelled <ία(ν)>. This spelling may bear witness to height dissimilation ([^hea] > [^hia]), for which see I, 2.9.4.3, or it may in fact represent [^hja] (or [^hia]), as the following example illustrates: κὶ ἀφῆτε ἐμένα τὸν Μοριάν Chron. Mor. P 4247. For more information on synizesis and accent placement, see 1.5.

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-έ

Just like the genitive (see above), this accusative ending is much rarer and appears considerably later than its nom. sg. counterpart in -ές. With former 3rd-declension nouns it has been found in texts from Chios and texts of unknown origin of the 16th c. (ms date of Achil. O) and later:

καὶ ἦλθαν εἰς τὸν βασιλὲ Achil. O 19 ἐσκότωσαν τὸν βασιλὲ Thrinis Konst. 17 (P-K); νᾶχουν Ρωμαῖον βασιλὲ ibid. 29 δέξαι το οὔν σὰν βασιλὲ PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou Dedic. 19 τρέξετεν εἰς τὸν βασιλὲ KONDAR., Paides 122 εἰς τὴν Συρία βασιλὲ ἐσένα νὰ καθίσουν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1028; τοῦτον τὸν νέον Ἀχιλλὲ ibid. 1258

With nouns originally in -έας (i.e. not derived from -εύς) the ending occurs in texts from Crete (for discussion see the Introduction to this section; cf. nom. and gen. sg.; see also I, 2.9.4.3):

μὲ τὸν κύρ Ἀντώνη Φουλὲ (1536, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 160, 164.2) ἀποὺ τὸν κύρ Μανὸ Βαρούχα, λεγόμενο Παρθενέ (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 27, 47.4); καὶ τὸ ἄλλον στὸ Βατέ (1604, ibid. 211, 216.4) (cf. στὸ Βατέα (1602, ibid. 147, 160.4); νὰ φράξου τὴ πόρτα τὴν ἄνωθεν νὰ τὴν ἀνοίξου ἀποὺ τὸ Βορέ (1606, ibid. 353, 331.22); στὴ Πλάκα, στὸ Λεπρέ (1613, ibid. 840, 732.24) (cf. εἰς τὸ Λεπρέα (1612, ibid. 779, 677.53))

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	Residual

Residual nominative forms are sometimes treated as indeclinable and used for the accusative as well: τὸν Ἰασοῦν καὶ Ἑρκουλεύς Pol. Tr. app. crit. (X). Forms in -εῦ could be viewed as residual vocatives used as indeclinable forms, but they also conform to the general trend in most masculine nouns to have nominatives in -ς and accusatives without -ς (see the Introduction to Chapter 2), and therefore may be written with acute accent:

διὰ βασιλεῦ Chron. Mor. H 588 τὸν Ἀχιλλεῦ πολλά παρεκαλεῖ τον Pol. Tr. 2786 app. crit. (B); τὸν Ὀδυσσεῦ τὸν φρόνιμον Pol. Tr. 4072 app. crit. (BX) μέ τὸν βασιλεῦ τῆς Τραπεζόντας (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 71, f.Ir.19) εἰς τὸν Ἀχιλλεῦ Achil. O 280 διὰ τὸν Ζεῦ Cypr. Canz. 141.14 τὸν βασιλεῦ Diig. Alex. Sem. B 27 τὸ Ζεῦ FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.337 αὐτὸ κ' ἐγὼ παρακαλῶ τὸ Ζεῦ KONDAR., Paides 423

Vocative

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-έα -ιά -ία

The paroxytone ending is the most common for nouns originally in -έας and for nouns derived from former 3rd-declension nouns in -εύς, though for the second group it is rare in Cretan texts (see the introduction to 2.4 for discussion and cf. nom., gen. and acc. sg.):

δέσποτα, βασιλέα Chron. Mor. H 597 εἰπέ τους, Ἀχιλλέα Pol. Tr. 2352 ὦ καυχηματέα πλάνε ERMION., Ilias 16.235 (< καυχηματίας) ἔλεινέ, χαλκέα Poulol. 72; ἦλθες καὶ ἐσύ, φονέα ibid. 370 δέσποτα παπά, κυρ Ἀνδρέα (1497, Crete, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 6, 143.33) τράγε ... σπανέα Spanos D 1544 Ἀλέξανδρε βασιλέα Diig. Alex. K 365.19 (Mitsakis) ὦ Ἀνδρέα SOFIANOS, Grammar 39.13 ἄράπη καὶ Σαρακηνέ, μαυρέα, κακομύτη Poulol. AZ 9 ὦ Βασιλέα τ' οὐρανοῦ Thysia Avr. 33 βασιλέα μου πολυχρονημένε (1653, Putyvl, TCHENTSOVA 2002: 4, 363, f.Ir.8) γιὰ τοῦτο, βασιλέα μου KONDAR., Paides 239 [βασιλ]έα ROMANOS, Grammar 5.23

A shift of stress and synizesis may occur. The ending will then have been pronounced as ['ɛa] or ['ja] (see I, 2.9.4) and is often spelled <ιά>. Ostensibly conservative spelling practice may, however, conceal the synizesis:

λοιπόν, ἀφέντη βασιλέα Chron. Mor. H 4287 γνώρισ', αὐθέντη βασιλιά Alex. Rim. 1045 βασιλιά μου TROILOS, Rodol. III.359 (Aposkiti) ποῦ φεύγεις, πῖβουλε, φονιά Zinon I.183; ψηλότατέ μου βασιλιά ibid. I.324 πρίντσιπε, βασιλιά μου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 567.25 ἀπάνθρωπε φονιά VEST., Paid. Makkav. 1386 βασιλιά μου KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1361

This ending may also be spelled <ία>. In some cases this may represent ['ia] (see I, 2.9.4.3 for details), but at least in the only example found so far the spelling clearly stands for ['ja] (2nd hemistich): χαλκία καλιπολίτα Poulol. 72 app. crit. (E). For more information on synizesis and accent notation see 1.5.

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-έ

Vocatives in -έ are the counterpart of the much more common nom. sg. in -ές, though in the first example it may be a case of haplography (final /f/ of Ἀχιλλεῦ omitted before <φ>): Ἀχιλλῆ φρικτότατε Synax. gyn. 174; θεοφρούρητε μέγα αὐθέντα, βασηλῆ (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 399.2).

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	Residual

The residual vocative is sometimes used, especially of the word βασιλεύς:

χαίρου τῆς Ρώμης βασιλεῦ Eisit. f.1v.1 λαμπρὲ αὐθέντη βασιλεῦ Liv. V 435 γίνωσκε, θεῖτε βασιλεῦ Ptoch. (Maiuri) 14 λοιπόν ἀφέντη βασιλεῦ Chron. Mor. P 4287 ὦ βασιλεῦ γαπρέ μας Achil. O 25 γινώσκεις, βασιλεύ Diig. Apoll. 289 σήκω βασιλεῦ DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 2, β3v.35 (1561) ὦ Ζεῦ θεέ μου Vios Aisop. I 282.28 μέγιστε βασιλεῦ (1652, Crete, TCHENTSOVA 2002: 1, 355.4) λέγει τ', ἀφέντη βασιλεῦ Thrinis Kypr. 11

Instances in which the residual nominative is used instead of the vocative also occur:

θεοφιλέστατε ἱερεύς (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 51.25) βασιλεὺς βασιλέων (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 65.1) δέσποτα, λέγει, βασιλεύς Pol. Tr. 1568 app. crit. (B); βασιλεύς, λέγει, Πρίαμε ibid. 2574 app. crit. (V) δέσποτα, αὐθέντη, βασιλεύς Byz. Il. 96 νὰ ἡξεύρης, βασιλεύς Diig. Alex. E 91.6 (Lolos) «Ζεὺς», λέγει, «βούηθησέ μου CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 69

Plural

Nominative

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-εῖς

Words originally in -έας do not usually have a plural, but the few that do (βορέας and personal names, for the varied plural formations of which see 2.10) do not normally adopt this inherited ending of the former 3rd-declension nouns in -εύς. With words in -έας that derive from -εύς this ending remains in use throughout the period covered by this Grammar, even when new alternative endings emerge (see below):

τὰ παιδιὰ ... ὅπου δαιμονίζονται οἱ γονεῖς αὐτῶν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 228.74) τῆς οἰκουμένης οἱ ἀρχιερεῖς Chron. Mor. H 790; οἱ βασιλεῖς ἐκεῖνοι ibid. 1334 κ' ἔθανον οἱ γονεῖς του Dig. E 1095 οἱ γραφεῖς Assizes B 497.13 ἐσθίουν με οἱ βασιλεῖς Diig. tetr. 297; χρῶνται αὐτὸ οἱ ἀλιεῖς ibid. 629 ἐκεῖνοι γὰρ οἱ βασιλεῖς Anak. Konst. 103 οἱ ἄτυχοι γονεῖς SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 32 νὰ χειροτονοῦνται ... ἱερεῖς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.22–3; οἱ γονεῖς μας ibid. 94.17 ὅλοι οἱ βασιλεῖς τῆς Ἀσίας Diig. Alex. K 344.6–7 ἀλιεῖς KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 157.28 οἱ ἀρχιερεῖς P&N Diath. 2836 καὶ βασιλεῖς ρηγάδες τε ἐσέναν ἐπεθύμουν Diig. Apoll. 26 ὥσάν τὸ εἶχανε συνήθειαν οἱ βασιλεῖς Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.4–5 οἱ ἱερεῖς vel communius οἱ γερειάδες ROMANOS, Grammar 127.2
 καὶ ἑσεῖς οὔτε βασιλεῖς, μόνον ἄνθρωποι ἐπτωχοὶ PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.231–2 ἐκεῖ που ἱερεῖς κάνουν τὴν λειτουργίαν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 556; ἰδιώτες καὶ οἱ ἀλιγεῖς ibid.
 10090 (= ἀλιεῖς) ὅλοι οἱ βασιλεῖς Alex. Fyll. 6.5; χίλιοι ἱερεῖς ibid. 46.4; οἱ φονεῖς τοῦ Δαρείου ibid. 68.29 οἱ γονεῖς του Leilasia Par. 465 app. crit.
 σ' ἐτούτونه οἱ βασιλεῖς πᾶνε συχνά KATSAITIS, Thyest. IV.66

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ιάδες/-εάδες

This imparisyllabic ending, borrowed from the oxytone -άς paradigm (see 2.2.1) after the change of ['eas] to ['jas] through synizesis (see I, 2.9.4), first appears in written texts in the 15th c. (cf. acc. pl.) with both words originally in -έας and words derived from the former 3rd-declension paradigm in -εύς. It is usually spelled <ιάδες>, and only occasionally <εάδες>:

ὅσοι εἶναι φονιάδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 334.36–7 ἱεριάδες οἱ ἀλειμμένοι Pent. Arith. III 3 ἀλιάδες ἐψάρευσαν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 16.1 νὰ ἔλθουν οἱ χαλκιάδες ὅλοι Diig. Alex. E 143.3 (Lolos) οἱ Χαρικεάδες (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 341.39–40) οἱ βασιλιάδες, λέγω P&N Diath. 2129 σὰ νὰ ἴσα βασιλιάδες CHORTATIS, Erof. I.548; ἐσηκωθήκαμε σύνναυγα σὰ χαλκιάδες id., Katz. I.25 οἱ βασιλιάδες ROMANOS, Grammar 5.23–4; οἱ ἱερεῖς vel communius οἱ γερειάδες ibid. 127.2
 οἱ ἄνωθε Καραβιάδες (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 17, 42.25) ἦτον θαφιάδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.114 (< ταφεύς); πόρνοι, φονιάδες ibid. I §36.140–1 ἐτοῦτοι οἱ βασιλιάδες Zinon I.11 ἀπὸ τὴν ἀρχὴ δὲν ἦσα οἱ βασιλιάδες FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 55 σὰν σκύλοι καὶ φονιάδες KONDAR., Paidēs 102 οἱ βασιλιάδες τοῦτοι KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1229 (hapax) νὰ συναχθοῦν οἱ χαλκιάδες Alex. Fyll. 21.1
 μόνον ὅλον βοριάδες ξεροὶ (1713, Chios, LAMBROS 1910: 350, 209.6)

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-έες

This ending should probably be viewed as an attempt to form a regular plural for singular -έας. It has only been found in one text (see also acc. pl., below): οἱ ἄρχιερέες Irodis V 170.

Genitive

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-έων ἢ -εῶν/-ιῶν

The inherited ending -έων remains in use throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar with nouns that derive from the 3rd-declension -εύς paradigm, but it is not usually adopted with other nouns in -έας. Similarly to the singular (see above), paroxytone forms in -έων are not very common in texts from Crete (see introduction to 2.4 for discussion):

- καὶ τῶν γονέων μου (1114, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 76, 99.21) καὶ χωρισμὸν γονέων Dig. E 704 σπίτια καὶ παλάτια μεγάλων βασιλέων Diig. tetr. 400 τῶν δύων βασιλέων Achil. N 1825
βασιλεὺς βασιλέων (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 65.1) τῶν ἱερέων Assizes A 43.30 ἐμένα καὶ τῶν γονέων μου (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 45.49) τῶν ἀρχιερέων Diig. Alex. F 224.12 (Lolos) καὶ ἄλλων πολλῶν βασιλέων (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 20.48) τὸ πλῆθος ... τῶν ἱππέων Dig. A 3026; τῶν βασιλέων καύχημα ibid. 4287 τῶ γονέων του (1573 [17th-c. copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17, 72.26) τῶν ἐπτωχῶν τῶν ἱερέων (1623, Bergamo, KORRE 2008: 2, 330.4) τῶν ἀνωθεν ἱερέων (1628, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 523, 496.6) τῶν γραμματέων καὶ Φαρισαίων KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 5.20 ἄλλονῶν καλλιοτέρων μου συγγραφέων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 74.30 των πρώην βασιλέων τως IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5616 τῶν γονέων μου (1672, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 4, 118.19)

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from S. Italy, Crete, the Heptanese and the Aegean:

- τῶν ἐμετέρων γονέω (1131, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 42, 188.12) (= ἡμετέρων, see I, 2.5.4.3) καὶ τῶ γονέω της (1573 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17, 71.8) τῶν ἴδιω ἀρχιερέω P&N Diath. 2385 τα λόγια τω γονέω ντως CHORTATIS, Panor. V.254⁷¹ καὶ τῶν γονέω τους (1686?, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 360.15–16) γιερέω καὶ λαγικῶ (1722, Tilos, KOUTELAKIS 1979: 21, 54.2) (= ἱερέων καὶ λαϊκῶν; see I, 3.5.2)

Deletion of final /n/ is ostensible when the form is followed by a word starting in a nasal:

- τῶν γονέω μας (16th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 186, 123.3) τῶ γονέω μας (1501, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 5, 27.29) τῶ γονέω μου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 575.16 καὶ τῶ γονέω μαχαιριὰν KORNAROS, Erot. IV.276; στῶ γονέω μου ibid. IV.627

⁷¹ The spelling γονέω ντως in this example points to a pronunciation /yon'eo dos/; see I, 3.7.2.1.3 for details.

Synizesis may occur in this ending, though when spelled with <ι> the form could also be considered to be part of the alternative -ός paradigm (βασιλιός; see below and 2.1.1):

ἰδὲς τὰ ἔργα τῶν γονιῶν FALIEROS, Log. did. 163 Σαλονικιῶν ὁμάδα Alex. Rim. 425; ἐκ' εἶδε τάφους βασιλιῶν ibid. 1289 τῶν γονεῶν του Paroim. (Warner) 51.8 ἐσὺ 'σαι βασιλιῶν παιδὶ KORNAROS, Erot. III.87 τῶν προγονιῶν μας (1710, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 32, 94.18) (conflation of γονέας and πρόγονος)

Synizesis may be concealed by conservative spelling, as becomes clear from verse texts: ὠσαύτως καὶ τῶν ἀρχιερέων Chron. Mor. H 1970; κ' ἡ εὐχή γὰρ τῶν γονέων μας ibid. 4004 (see 1.5 for information on synizesis and accent notation). Epenthesis of an intervocalic /y/ (see I, 3.5.2.1) indicates that synizesis has not taken place: τῶν γονέγων μου (1686, Tilos, KOUTELAKIS 1979: 13, 45.7).

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in Cretan texts:

βασιλιῶ χάρισματὰ CHORTATSI, Erof. II.264 τῷ βασιλιῶ ποὺ φταίξουσι Zinon III.180 σ' ἔβγαλε ἀπὸ τὸ σπῆτι σας καὶ χέρια τῷ γονιῷ σου FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.248 εἰσὲ παλάτια βασιλιῶ KORNAROS, Erot. I.187; τῷ γονιῷ τὴν ἐντροπὴ ibid. I.701

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ιάδων/-εάδων

The new imparisyllabic ending of the oxytone -ός paradigm (see 2.2.1) occurs from the 15th c. onwards (cf. nom. and acc. pl.). The ending is usually spelled with <ι> and only rarely with <ε>: βασιλεὺς τῶν βασιλεάδων Diig. Alex. F 288.1 (Lolos); ὁ βασιλεὺς τῶν βασιλιάδων ibid. 76.10 (Konstantinopulos) εἶσαι βασιλέας των βασιλιάδων ὁλων Diig. Alex. K 363.18 τῷ βασιλιάδων ὁλωνῶν CHORTATSI, Erof. I.130 [βασιλ]ιάδων ROMANOS, Grammar 5.23–4 τῶν φονιάδων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 86.28 τῶν βασιλιάδων ἡ βουλή BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 549.5

 στῶν Χαρικεάδων τὰ μελισουρία (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.19)

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in Cretan texts: τῷ βασιλιάδῳ σάζου CHORTATSI, Panor. V.31; δυὸ βασιλιάδῳ προξενιὲς id., Erof. IV.27; τῷ βασιλιάδῳ Zinon I.120, I.363, III.225; ρηγάδῳ, βασιλιάδῳ FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 35.

Addition of -(v)ε has been found in a document from Ithaca, but is likely to have had a wider geographical spread (see I, 2.6.3 for details): νὰ πάγει εἰς τοῦ Χαλκιάδωνε (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 38, 56.11) (for the article τοῦ(ν) see 5.2.1).

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-εῖς ἰ -ιάδες

These genitive endings, morphologically identical to those of the accusative plural, have been found in texts from Cyprus and they are likely to have had a wider geographical spread (see 2.1.2 for an example from the Crimea and 2.3.3 and 2.2.1 for examples from Macedonia; see 1.2 for discussion):

δίχως τὸν ὀρισμὸν τοὺς γονεῖς (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 238.404) ἀνευ τῆς εἰδησης τοὺς γονεῖς αὐτῆς Assizes A 96.28 τὴν στενὴν ζῶν τὸς ἀρχιερεῖς τῆς Κύπρου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.31–2 ἀποῦ θέλουν πάρειν βεντέτταν ἀπὸ ᾧ αὐτῶν τοὺς φονιάδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 128.18–19

Accusative

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-εῖς

This inherited accusative form is used throughout the period covered by this Grammar with nouns in -έας that derive from 3rd-declension nouns in -εύς, but not with other nouns in -έας:

εἰς τοὺς ἱερεῖς (1197–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 42, 217.11) γονεῖς ἀτέκνους καθιστᾷ GLYKAS, Stichoi 35 ἀφίνω καὶ ἐπτά ἱερεῖς ἀπὸ δύο ὑπερπύρων σιτάριν (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.55) ἄρνούμαι τοὺς γονεῖς μου Dig. E 897 τοὺς βασιλεῖς Flor. L 1119 (Cupane); διαγέρνει εἰς τοὺς γονεῖς του ibid. 1786 καὶ τοὺς γονεῖς μας Chron. Toc. 3417 τοὺς Φαρισαίους καὶ γραμματεῖς FALIEROS, Thrinis 19; ᾧ τσ' Ἀρχιερεῖς ibid. 155

διὰ τοὺς γονεῖς μου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 208.29 ἐμένα καὶ τοὺς γονεῖς μου (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 45.57) ὅτι νὰ ἐρωτοῦμεν τοὺς γονεῖς του KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 351.9–10 τοὺς βασιλεῖς αὐτόνους SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 437.317 ἀπὸ γονεῖς εὐγενεῖς καὶ φιλάρετους MOREZINOS, Klini 42.3

νὰ δίδουν διὰ τὴν ψυχὴν μου εἰς σὲ ἱερεῖς (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 37.5–6) εἰς τοὺς ἄλλους βασιλεῖς Vios Aisop. I 275.8

τσὶ ἄνωθεν ἱερεῖς (1628, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 523, 496.8) τοὺς βασιλεῖς καὶ τοὺς ἀνδρειωμένους PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 13; αὐτὸς γονεῖς δὲν ἤξευρεν ibid. 165

ἀπὸ τοὺς γονεῖς του Don Kis. 96.20 τοὺς ἱερεῖς, ὅπου θὲ νὰ τὸν κηδέψου (1733, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 28, 49.17)

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ιάδες/-ιάδε

This imparisyllabic ending, borrowed from the oxytone /as/ paradigm (see 2.2.1) after the change of /'eas/ to /'jas/ (see I, 2.9.4), first appears in written texts in the 15th c. with both words originally in -έας and words derived from the former 3rd-declension paradigm in -εύς:

τοὺς φονιάδες (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 92.30) εἰς τοὺς φονιάδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 318.33

τοῦ<ς> Φουλιάδες (1527, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 59, 90.4) τοὺς φονιάδες μου ἀγάπα Diig. Alex. F 304.11–12 (Lolos) ἐκραξαν τοὺς φονιάδες Diig. Alex. K 368.1–2 πλούσους βασιλιάδες CHORTATIS, Erof. 1.542 μεγάλους βασιλιάδες STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 407 (Pidonia) ἐχάλασε τοὺς φονιάδες ἐκείνους KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 22.7 στοὺς βασιλιάδες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 557.14

Deletion of final /s/ has been found in a document by Olokalos (see I, 3.7.1.1 for details): με τοὺς ἀξαδέλφου μας τοὺς Φουλιάδε (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 19, 60.5).

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	Residual

The archaizing accusative ending -έας, which had been replaced by -εῖς many centuries before the LMedG period (see the introduction to 2.4), is used sporadically in mixed- and higher-register texts: δι' οὗ ἄρνοῦμαι συγγενεῖς, γονέας ὑστεροῦμαι Dig. G IV.512; δύο παιδιά ἀτιμάσασιν ἄτσαλα τοὺς γονέας BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 162; τοὺς γονέας KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 7.11.

Sporadically the residual vocative singular in -εῦ is used as an indeclinable form even for the plural: apo quinous tous vasilef / ἀπὸ κείνους τοὺς βασιλεῦ (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 71, f.Iv.1–2).

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-έες

This ending must be viewed as an innovative attempt to form a regular plural for singular -έας. It has only been found in one text (see also nom. pl., above): πόσους βασιλέες Irodis V 179.

Vocative

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-εῖς

The vocative is identical to the nominative and ends in -εῖς: ὦ Φαρισαῖοι καὶ γραμματεῖς FALIEROS, Thrinis 173; ὦ βασιλεῖς SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.24; ὦ ... ἱερεῖς καὶ πατέρες Pist. kekoim. 9–10.

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-ιάδες

From the EMG period an alternative ending emerges, again identical to the innovative alternative nominative (see above), which ends in -ιάδες: ἄνδρες ἀνήμεροι καὶ φονιάδες Vios Aisop. I 282.22; [βασιλιάδ]ες ROMANOS, Grammar 5.23–4.

2.4.2 Transfers to Other Paradigms

Nouns belonging to this paradigm may undergo various transfers to other paradigms. It is worth noting that such transfers are restricted to former 3rd-declension nouns originally in -εύς. The handful of inherited 1st-declension nouns in -έας (βορέας, ἄνδρέας) and the innovative names in -έας (e.g. Κουβαλέας, Μαυρέας, Μορέας) do not transfer to other paradigms.

The -έας ending may become -έος and thus transfer to the paroxytone /os/ paradigm (see 2.1.2). Due to the merger between former 3rd-declension nouns in -εύς and old 1st-declension nouns in -έας, former 3rd-declension -έας came to be viewed as 1st-declension, forming a genitive -έου (possibly with influence of the gen. pl. γονέων as suggested by CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 3–4):⁷² τοῦ Χαλκέου (ca. 1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 173.172)

 διὰ τοῦ γραφέου (1071, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 35, 206.57 and 58) κύρ Νικολάου τοῦ Κεραμέου (1284, Thessaloniki, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 75, 30.9) ἀπὸ ὀρισμὸν τοῦ βασιλείου Jonas 216.77; υἱὸς ποτὲ Νικολάου ἱερέου (1543, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 239, 224.2)

For more examples see 2.1.2. These forms were then reinterpreted as belonging to the 2nd-declension -ος paradigm and a full transfer was realised. Examples have been found in texts from S. Italy, the northern mainland, Crete, the Heptanese, the Peloponnese and the Aegean, but notably not from Cyprus:

nom. sg.

Ἰωάννης ἱερέος (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 127, 169.15) ὁ λαμπρὸς καὶ βασιλεὺς Αἰγέος Theseid I.6,3 (Follieri) ὡσάν γονέος του (1681, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 140, 307.9)

acc. sg.

τὸν κύρ Λεόντιον τὸν Θεσσαλονικέον (1018, Athos, ŽIVONJINOVÍČ et al. 1998: 1, 94.4)⁷³
 ἐκεῖνον τὸν γονέον GLYKAS, Stichoi 208 app. crit. (P) πρὸς βασιλέο Jonas 216.74
 ὅς τὸν πάμφουμον Θησέον Theseid I.14,3 (Follieri) τὸν ἄνωθε γραφέο (1660, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 15, 381.4)

nom. pl.

ἐκάμνασι ὡσάν Ἀχιλλέοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 84.23; οἱ γονεοὶ της (1640, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 28, 314.2) παίρνου οἱ γονεοὶ καὶ χαίρουνται KORNAROS, Erot. IV.324

acc. pl.

καὶ τοὺς γονέους μου (1114, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 76, 99.26); τοὺς γονέους Achil. O 315 ἀπὸ τοὺς γονέους του (1582, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 27, 167.5)
 τοὺς ἀρχιερέους P&N Diath. 2801

Regionally (Crete, Heptanese, certain Aegean islands) these forms may subsequently transfer to the oxytone -ός paradigm through synizesis (e.g. βασιλέος > βασιλιός); for details see 2.1.1; for synizesis in general see I, 2.9.4.

Former 3rd-declension nouns in -έας (< -εύς) may also transfer to the masculine -ής paradigm (2.3.4). Examples have been found from at least the 15th c. onwards (ms date of ⁷² The familiarity with plural forms in -έοι/-αῖοι in the proparoxytone -ος paradigm (see 2.1.3) may also have played a role in this development.

⁷³ Forms of the word Θεσσαλονικεύς are often spelled with <αι> instead of <ε>, probably by analogy with nouns such as Ἀθηναῖος, Σιφναῖος, etc.

Assizes B) in texts from Cyprus, Crete, the Heptanese, Mani and the northern mainland. Some representative examples are:

οὔτε ἱερής, οὔτε ἀναγνώστης Assizes B 358.20 τὸν ἱερῇ CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2124 καὶ βασιλῆδες φοβεροὺς PIKAT., Rima thrin. 284 τῶν βασιλῆδων Diig. Alex. K 370.14 (Mitsakis) στὸν βασιλῆ Ἀλέξανδρον Alex. Rim. 2538 εἰς ἐπᾶσα καλὸ γονή (1598, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 1, 212.2) ὡσὰ γονῆς μ' ἐρώτα P&N Diath. 696 κἂν ἱερῆς κἂν λαϊκός (17th c., Athos, KADAS 1988: 120, 352.13–14) ὁ ἄνωθεν ἱερῆς (1620, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 22, 71.11) ὁ κακορίζικος γονῆς MONTSEL., Evgena 181 διακόσοι βασιλῆδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3025 τοῦ Ἀρκιερχῆ τῆς Ρώμης (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 310.4) κεῖς δύο βασιλίδες VATATIS, Periig. II 274

It goes without saying that variant forms can often be found side by side in the same text, especially in verse texts, as the following examples illustrate: ξετελειωμένος βασιλῖδς KORNAROS, Erot. I.31; ὁ βασιλέας τῇ Βλαχιᾷ ibid. IV.859; κι ὁ βασιλιάς κ' ἡ ρήγισσα ibid. V.1373; οἱ βασιλιάδες τοῦτοι ibid. IV.1229; οἱ βασιλῖοι ν' ἁμνόσου ibid. IV.1598.

Transfers from the masculine /eas/ paradigm to the feminine /ea/ paradigm are rare: ἄλευρον ... εἰς τὴν ἀφορέαν ἐμβάλε (λατροσόφ. 44¹⁶) (cited from KRIARAS, Epit. s.v. ἀμφορέα).

2.5 Masculine Nouns in /us/

This is a small paradigm comprising the new noun παπποῦς and several innovative reformations of former 3rd-declension proper names (singular only): Ἰασοῦς < Ἰάσων, Σαλαμοῦς < Σολομών. The occurrence of the ending -οῦς with proper names pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar; see GIGNAC 1981: 60 for examples from the 1st c. AD onwards. The paradigm also includes adaptations of foreign proper names and surnames, both inherited and new (Ἰησοῦς, Ντακορφοῦς, Σιμοῦς (< Occit. Simoun)), and other foreign nouns: τρίτος μπαροῦς Chron. Mor. H 1925 (< Occit. baroun). The majority of words belonging to this paradigm do not have a plural at all, but the plural of παπποῦς is imparisyllabic -οῦδες.

First attestations of the word παπποῦς occur in S. Italy in the 12th c. and a genitive παπποῦ is attested in Kekaumenos (late 11th c.; 14th/15th-c. ms): τοῦ παπποῦ μου Kekaumenos, Strategikon 196.7 app. crit. (ed. Litavrin). With the noun παπποῦς, but not with the other nouns belonging to this paradigm, paroxytone forms also occur, with first appearances simultaneous to παπποῦς; it is impossible to establish which variant precedes the other, though the likely scenario is that πάππους derives from παπποῦς with influence from πάππος. When prefixed with προ-, the stress usually shifts to the penultimate (προπάππους, see below), or, sporadically, to the antepenultimate: ὁ ὀποῖος ἦτον τοῦ Ἀκρίτου πρόπαππους [VLASTOS], Dig. P IX, 405.2–3. Oxytone forms of προπάππους are equally rare: ὁ προπαπποῦς μας (1382, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 125, 93.7); but: τοῦ προπάππου μου (ibid. 93.8).

The genesis of παπποῦς is not quite clear: according to CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 129, followed by ANDRIOTIS, Lex. s.v., it derives from an (ill-attested) noun παππούα(ς),⁷⁴ which in its turn derives from παππίας (meaning “daddy” in AG (< πάππας) (LSJ), and “guard”, and eventually “majordomo”, a courtly title, in later times (LBG)). LBG and KRIARAS, Lex., following TSOPANAKIS 1968: 295, take παπποῦς to derive from πάππος by analogy with nouns such as ἀδελφιδοῦς and with influence from ἀδελφός, ἐγγονός where the oxytonization is concerned, even though, as Tsopanakis concedes, an intermediate form *παππρός is unattested. Neither of these explanations is entirely satisfactory.

Even though the evidence is scarce, it is perhaps worth assuming that πάππος first developed an imparisyllabic plural παπποῦδες, which in its turn gave rise to a new singular in -οῦς. There is a strong tendency in Greek to form imparisyllabic plurals for nouns denoting family relations (cf. nouns such as ἀδελφή, ἀδελφάδες and ἀδελφῆδες (2.12.1); ἀνεψιά, ἀνεψιάδες (2.11.5); μάνα, μανάδες (2.11.2.1); συγγενής, συγγενάδες (see 2.3.1, 3.3.3), the (late) form πατεράδες (2.2.4) and others). As the -άδες ending was already assigned to παπάς, and -ηδες to πάπας (see 2.2.1), with πάππος -οῦδες was employed. Even though plural examples are few and have not been found before the second half of the 16th c., there is indirect evidence that the extended stem παππουδ- is older, in the form of an adjective παππούδικος, which occurs in the 14th-c. Chronicle of Morea: οὐδὲν τὸν ἔχω [sc. τὸν τόπον] ὥς γονικὸν οὔτε παππούδικόν μου Chron. Mor. H 4272. Moreover, the -οῦδες ending occurs twice in a mid-11th-c. document from S. Italy to form the plural of a family name in -ός: τῶν Κουτζοῦδων (see CARACAUSI, Lex. s.v. Κουτζός) and is regionally found with words belonging to other paradigms but to the same semantic field of family relations from the 15th c. onwards (θειοῦδες, κυροῦδες, see 2.10.5).

Transfers to the -οῦς paradigm are limited to the singular and include the contracted nouns νοῦς⁷⁵ and χοῦς and several innovative reformations of the former 3rd-declension nouns βοῦς and πούς.

	General	Restricted
Singular
Nom.	παπποῦς/παππούς	πάππους
Gen.	παπποῦ	πάππου
Acc.	παπποῦ(ν)/παππού(ν)	πάππουν
Voc.	παπποῦ/παππού

⁷⁴ The form, recorded as pappua, has not been found in the texts examined nor in earlier texts, but occurs in the modern dialect of Bova, S. Italy, see KARANASTASIS, Lex.).

⁷⁵ A plural νοῦδες mentioned by JANNARIS 1897: 118 and others and attested in the satirical writings of Georgios Souris (19th/20th c.) has not been found in the texts examined. Plural forms have only been found in Portius's grammar, which offers uncontracted AG forms: οἱ νόοι, τῶν νόων, τοὺς νόους PORTIUS, Grammar 20.34–6. Even a singular νός has been found: ὁ νός του Alex. Rim. 1231; μὴ φιτάνοντας ὁ νός μου (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 11, 81.12), which is possibly based on the genitive νοῦ, or formed by analogy with adjectives such as ἀπλοῦς > ἀπλός (HOLTON 2002: 62).

Plural
Nom.	παπποῦδες	παπποῦδοι
Gen.	παπποῦδων	*παπποῦς ⁷⁶
Acc.	(παπποῦδες)
Voc.	(παπποῦδες)

Singular

Nominative

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-οῦς/-οὺς ἢ -ους

The most common ending for the nominative singular is oxytone -οῦς:

- ὁ παπποῦς μου (1264, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 39, 19.22) ὁ παπποῦς Dig. G IV.37 ἕνας μπαροῦς Chron. Mor. H 3405 (< Occit. baroun); ὁ μισῖρ Ντζᾶς ὁ Τζαρδεροῦς ibid. 7820 (< Occit. de Chauderoun); τὸ ἀκούσει το ὁ μισῖρ Σιμοῦς ibid. 8342 (< Occit. Simoun) τί ἔποικεν ὁ παπποῦς σου Dig. E 254 ὁ Ἰασοῦς ὁ θαυμαστός Pol. Tr. 116 (< Ἰάσων); ὁ Νέστωρ καὶ Ἀμφιμακοῦς ibid. 2820 (< Fr. Phimacus < Ἀμφίμαχος); ὁ Ρεμοῦς ibid. 4706 (< Fr. Remus) ἀπεφύσησεν ὁ βοῦς Diig. tetr. 1019 ὁ παπποῦς αὐτῶν (15th c., Lesbos, SCHREINER 1975/79: 30, 221.6.5) εἰς βασιλέως τράχηλον δὲν πρέπει ποῦς ἀνόμου Anak. Konst. 48 κάγῳ Σταμάτης ὁ Τουροῦς (1472 [copy of 1604], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 107, 216.16) ὁ γλυκὺς Ἰησοῦς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 18.5; ὁ παπποῦς του ὁ ρέ Οὔνγκες ibid. 94.7–8 ὁ Τζώρτζης ὁ Πουστρούς VOUSTR., Chron. A 98.15 κι ὁ νοῦς ἀναγυρίζοντα ὁμάδι μὲ τ' ἁμάτι FALIEROS, Thrinós 1 ὁ Σαλαμούς εἶπεν Fior Suppl. 277.3
 Ἰησοῦς ὁ του Ναυή Diig. Alex. K 349.5–6 Μάξιμος Ντακορφοῦς (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 164, 156.1); Νικολὸς Τουτοῦς (ibid. 169, 162.9) ὁ ποτές της παππούς (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 85, 65.10) ὁ γέρων ὁ Φιλοπαπποῦς Dig. A 1603 ὁ παπποῦς μου Chron. Tourk. Soutl. 87.32 ὁ κύρ Γεώργης Πετοῦς (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 181, 355.3)

Paroxytone forms are the norm for προπάππους, but also occur as an alternative to παπποῦς, most probably influenced by πάππος. Other paroxytone nouns in -ους include adapted forms of Turkish surnames in -oğlu:

- τῆς θείας σου ποῦττος πάππους μου Spanos B 145 ὁπού ἔσπειρεν ὁ πάππους μας Theseid V 57,2 (1529) ὁ Ἀδάμ ὁ προπάππους μας Diig. Alex. F 198.17 (Lolos) ὁ πάππους [VLASTOS], Dig. P II 324.3 and IV 342.23

⁷⁶ For the validity of this form, see the discussion below.

ο πάππους του Chron. Tourk. Soult. 103.26 πάππους ό GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. nonno ό Πγερής ό Καπιτανόγλους (1677, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 14, 35.4)

Omission of final /s/ may occur in texts from Crete when the form is followed by a sibilant or affricate (see I, 3.7.1.1): ό παπποϋ σου (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 51, 54.10); ό παπποϋ τση (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 365, 341.2–3); ό προπάππου τση (ibid. 341.3).

Genitive

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-οϋ -ου

The genitive is formed by deleting the final /s/ of the nominative:

τοϋ παπποϋ μας (1140, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 122, 162.11); εις τοϋ παπποϋ (1198, ibid. 246, 334.4) τοϋ Βοϋ το Πηγάδιν (1329, Constantinople, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 68, 375.79)

Φιλοπαπποϋ τοϋ γέροντος Dig. G IV.33

τοϋ Ίασοϋ τοϋ γίγα Pol. Tr. 137

τοϋ νοϋ Assizes B 439.17

ουδέν έχουν άλλην όρεξην του νοϋ Anthos Ch. G 21.9

τοϋ λεγομένου ποτέ παπποϋ μου (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 845, 660.20)

τοϋ ποτέ κυρ-Ίάκουμο Μπουλντοϋ (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 226, 214.2)

τοϋ νοϋ SOFIANOS, Paidag. 105.6

τοϋ ποτέ παπποϋ αϋτοϋ (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 251, 211.10) τοϋ παπποϋ μας ό παπποϋς Paroim. (Warner) 97.24

τοϋ παπποϋ σου [VLASTOS], Dig. P V, 364.26

The noun παπποϋς has a paroxytone alternative, most probably influenced by the old form πάππος. For the prefixed form προπάππους paroxytone forms are the norm: τοϋ πάππου ... ή τοϋ προπάππου RICHARD, Targa pisteos I 249.1.

Accusative

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-οϋ(ν)/-οϋ(ν) -ου(ν)

The accusative ends in -οϋ and occurs with and without final /n/:

τόν βοϋν (1049, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 4, 154.64) τόν παπποϋν ήμων (1234, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 7, 33.1)

Φιλοπαπποϋν τόν γέροντα Dig. G VI.548

τόν Ίασοϋν τόν πάγκαλον Pol. Tr. 7; τόν παπποϋν του ibid. 14169 τόν ποϋν τόν δεξιόν τε ERMON., Ilias 5.246

ἐν βοϋν κόκκινον (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 26, 163.3) μέ τόν παπποϋν του τόν άλλον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 94.8

τόν άνδραν άπό χοϋ τής γής έδημιούργησέν τον Synax. gyn. 89 app. crit.

τόν ποϋν τοϋ βασιλέως Velis. p 242 εις τόν παπποϋν του Thrinós Tam. 45 στὸν νοῦ σου Theseid Prol. E 226 τὸν παπποῦν του SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 437.296 τὸν παπποῦ του (1590, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 8, 309.28) οἱ ἐχθροὶ χοῦν ἔλειξαν MOREZINOS, Klini 10.13 νοῦν σαλεμένον DAM. STOUDE., Dial. 93.22 τὸν ἄνωθεν ἀφέντη Μπουστρουῦ (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 297, 284.9–10) τὸν παπποῦ μου (1635, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994b: 1, 166.50) τὸν νοῦν σου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 935 χωράφι διὰ βοῦν καὶ ἀγελὲ (1698, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 100, 78.13)

The noun παπποῦς has a paroxytone alternative, a conflation of παπποῦς and πάππος. The noun προπάππους is usually paroxytone: ἐκ τὸν ἡμέτερον προπάππου (1185, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 18, 334.5–6); τὸν πάππου, τὸν προπάππου μας Chron. Toc. 3417.

Vocative

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-οῦ/-οῦ

The vocative singular ends in -οῦ:

ἄλλην μίαν, Φιλοπαπποῦ γέρον μου Dig. G VI.222 τοῦτο ἐξεύρω, Ἰασοῦ Pol. Tr. 381 ὦ νοῦ σκοτεινισμένη Fior 92.2 νοῦ μου διασκορπισμένη Erof. II.439 ἔλα, παπποῦ, νὰ σὲ δειξῶ τὰ πατρογονικά σου Paroim. (Warner) 97.22

Plural

Nominative

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-οῦδες

No nominative plural examples have been found before the late 16th c.: οἱ παπποῦδες μας (1569/70, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 20, 130.11); γονεῖς, παπποῦδες, προπαπποῦδες RICHARD, Targa pisteos I 249.13; πού εἶναι παπποῦδες καὶ προπαπποῦδες μας; CANTEMIR, Krit. 447.12.

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-οῦδοι

This ending, with substitution of <οι> for <ες>, occurs in a document from Mykonos. Though it cannot be excluded that it derives from an alternative form παπποῦδος (see fn. 78 at gen. pl.), no such singular has been found in the texts examined: οἱ παπποῦδοι τῶς (1702, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 40, 53.16).

GenitiveMasc.

Pl.	Gen.	-οῦδων

The genitive plural ends in -οῦδων. The examples date to the 17th c.: καὶ τῶν παπποῦδων αὐτοῦ MEURSIUS, GLOSS. s.v. παπποῦδος;⁷⁷ τῶν παπποῦδων RICHARD, Targa pisteos I 249.7.

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-οῦς

If this genitive form is valid, it is most probably the result of intervocalic deletion of /ð/ in the -οῦδες ending and subsequent deletion of the weak unstressed vowel /e/ (see I, 3.6.1.1). Genitive plural endings that are morphologically identical to the accusative occur with most masculine paradigms and have a strong presence in texts from Cyprus (see 1.2). However, as the manuscript, Par. gr. 1390, lacks any form of stress notation (παππους), the form is equally likely to represent παππους: εἰς τὴν ἑξουσίαν τοῦς πατέρας τοὺς οὗ τοὺς παππούς τοὺς Assizes B 441.12–13.⁷⁸

Accusative and Vocative

No accusative or vocative plural forms have been found in the texts examined, but they can be assumed to be identical with the nom. form in -οῦδες.

2.6 Masculine Nouns in /es/

This paradigm comprises innovative formations of foreign loanwords from French and Italian/Venetian, among which ἀποστολές, βιτισορές, μαγατζές, λεβάντες, κόντες and πρίντσιπες and proper names such as Ντζεφρές, Μαφρές, Τζάνες, Μικέλες, Κρέοντες and others. In the EMG period the paradigm expands with loanwords from Turkish, such as καφές, καφενές, φερεντζές and many others.

The oxytone sub-paradigm develops an imparisyllabic plural in -έδες towards the end of the EMG period, with first written evidence in the 17th c. The paroxytone and proparoxytone nouns in -ες do not develop a distinctive plural, but rather borrow plural endings from ⁷⁷ Meursius, based on this genitive plural form, supposed that the nominative singular would be παπποῦδος, a form that has not been found in the texts examined, although nowadays it does occur as a surname (cf. also the nom. pl. ending -οῦδοι). He quotes this form from a manuscript of Bartholomew of Edessa, the 12th-c. author of an anti-Muslim pamphlet. In Leiden Meursius's colleague Scaliger copied the text of this manuscript and his copy forms the basis for the modern edition (K.-P. Todt, Bartholomaios von Edessa. Confutatio Agareni. Kommentierte griechisch-deutsche Textausgabe von Klaus-Peter Todt, Würzburg/Altenburge 1988). However, Scaliger's version offers παππων, making it quite clear that he normalized the text of the manuscript he copied. Unfortunately the original as seen by Meursius now appears to be lost and there is no information on its date: it may have been 16th-c., but it may also have been older.

⁷⁸ The only other form of this noun in Assizes is an equally uncertain genitive singular τοῦ παπποῦ Assizes B 441.11 (ms: παππου). Unfortunately, the other manuscript of Assizes (Par. Suppl. gr. 465), which does have stress notation, does not mention any grandfathers.

paradigms in -ης, -ος and -ας; at the same time they show a strong tendency towards a full transfer to these paradigms, especially to -ης and -ος (see 2.6.3).

For forms in -ές that are alternatives to -εύς/-έας (singular only) see 2.4.1.

2.6.1 Oxytone Nouns

	Restricted	More restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	μαμελές
Gen.	μαμελέ
Acc.	μαμελέ(ν)
Voc.	μαμελέ
Plural
Nom.	μαμελέδες	(μαμελές)
Gen.	(μαμελέδων)
Acc.	μαμελέδες	μαμελές μαμελέδισ	-ήδες -άδες
Voc.	(μαμελέδες)

Singular

Nominative

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ές

There is no morphological variation in the nominative singular, examples of which have been found from the very beginning of the period covered by this Grammar:

ἐγὼ Τζεφρές, υἱὸς τοῦ κόμητος Ρογερίου (1111, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 2, 511.2) (< Fr. (Norman) Geoffrey)

Ἰωάννης Μαντζές παρὼν μαρτυρῶ (1188?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 12, 530.1) (< Fr. Manchez?); Γοῖδος Δετρές (1141, ibid. Coll. XII: 6, 562.2) (< Fr. De Treux, Detrez?); Μανφρὲς υἱὸς κόμητος (ibid. 562.10) (< OFr. Mainfroi) ὁ μισίρ Ντζεφρές Chron. Mor. H 188 (< OFr. (Occit.) Geoffroi); ὁ μισίρ Βηλές ibid. 1325 (< Fr. Vilain); τὸ ἰδεῖ τον ὁ ροῖ Μαφρές ibid. 5787 ἦτον α' ἀποστολές, ἔτι ὑποφήφις MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 624.27 (< OFr. apostoile, see GODEFROY, Lex. s.v.)

ὁ βιτσορές τσ' Ἀνάπολης KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.55⁷⁹ (< Ital. vicere)

⁷⁹ Note that the Italian title may also occur in unadapted form: ὁ βιτσορέ ντ' Ἀνάπολι KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.75.

εἷς μαγατζές καὶ ὁσπίτιον (1510, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 23, 40.9) (< Ven. magazèn) ὁ μαγαντζές (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 10, 22.21) ἐγὼ Τζανὲς Σιγάλας (1573, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 1, 75.30) ὁ σερ-Γιαννούλης Τζές (1590, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 33, 176.13) (< Ven. Zen) ἄβγατίσθην ὁ λοφές του Ptochol. A 181 (< Turk. ulûfe) καὶ τόπεσεν ὁ φερεντζές STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voenv. 242 (Pidonia) (< Turk. ferace) (τόπεσεν = τοῦ ἔπεσεν, see I, 2.9.5) δὲν εὐρίσκονταν κερεστές PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.19 (< Turk. kereste) ὁ αὐτὸς μισὲρ Μικές (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 428, 649.2) (< Ital. Miche) ὁ σερμεγές τοῦ Ἰωάννου (1690, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 12, 7.7) (< Turk. sermaye); ὁ μπαχτζές (1697, ibid. 30, 25.98) (< Turk. bahçe) νὰ ἡ χαρὰ κι ὁ ἐγλεντζές Diig. Vefa 1164 (< ἡ ἐγλεντζέ (see 2.16.1) < Turk. eğlence) χασές φράγκικος (1708 [later copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B 15, f.179r.14) (< Turk. haşe) δὲν εἶναι κανένας κουμπές Don Kis. 12.16–17 (< Turk. kubbe); ὁ μπερδές διὰ τες κούκλες ibid. 317.17 (< Turk. perde)

Genitive

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-έ

The genitive singular is formed by deleting the final /s/ of the nominative:

τοῦ μισὲρ Ντζεφρὲ Chron. Mor. H 200 (< OFr. Geoffroi); τοῦ ροῖ Μαφρὲ ibid. 6784 (< OFr. Mainfroi) τοῦ αποστολὲ VOUSTR., Chron. A 8.3 (< OFr. apostoile, see GODEFROY, Lex. s.v.) τοῦ μαγαντζέ μας (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 260, 259.8) (< Ven. magazèn) τοῦ πρίντσιπου τοῦ Τζεντεφρὲ IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 380 (< OFr. Godefroi/Geoffroi) τοῦ μισὲρ Μικέ (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 428, 649.2); τοῦ αὐτοῦ μαγαντζέ (1685, ibid. 558, 783.10) τοῦ μπαχτζέ (1697, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 30, 25.100) (< Turk. bahçe) τοῦ εκλαμπροτάτου Καμοέ Don Kis. 533.23 (< Port. Camões)

Accusative

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-έ(ν)

The accusative ends in -έ. Addition of final /n/ is variable:

μισὲρ Ντζεφρὲ τὸν ἔλεγαν Chron. Mor. H 162 (< OFr. Geoffroi); κ' ἔστεψασιν τὸν ροῖ Μαφρὲ ibid. 5975 (< OFr. Mainfroi) μὲ τὸ μαγατζέν τὸ μικρόν (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 147.15) (< Ven. magazèn) τότες ἔστειλεν ὁ σολτάνος τὸν ἀποστολὲ (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 67, f.IV.7) (< OFr. apostoile, see GODEFROY, Lex. s.v.)
 ὑπῆρχον δὲ σεῖτηδες ἔχοντες τεκὲν Ekth. Chron. 59.13–14 (< Turk. tekke) καὶ βιτισορὲ ἀπέστειλεν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.127 (< Ital. viceré) ἔνα φερεντζέ (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 230, 163.12) (< Turk. ferace) εἰς πένα καὶ τζερεμέν τῶν ἐμίνηδων (1587, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 146, 270.5–6) (< Turk. cerime) τὸ αὐτὸν ἔτον ἔσθησε μιναρὲ (1597, Ioannina, LAMBROS 1910: 234, 183.2–3) (< Turk. minare) διὰ νὰ κάμουσι λοφέ των παιδίων του Theophr. Char. 126.21 (< Turk. ulûfe) τεγκερὲ ἔνα (1627, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 240.23) (< Turk. tencere) ἐκεῖ όπου εἶχαν τινάξει τὸν λουλέ PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.4 (< Turk. lule); θέλω δώσει καὶ ἐγὼ τὸ ρεφενέ μου ibid. III §33.12 (< Turk. refene); ὅποιος ἐπῆρεν βερεσέ τίποτες ibid. III §31.3 (< Turk. veresiye) οὔτε μὲ κεφιλιμέν (1655 [18th-c. copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B 1, f.157v.18) (< Turk. kefilime) εἰς τὰ Φηρὰ ἔνα μαγατζέ (1656, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 9, 405.38–9) λεφέν τρία ἀσπρα κάμαν του IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 380 (< Turk. ulûfe); ἀπόξω ἀπὸ τον περδέ ibid. 651 (< Turk. perde); σαν ἔκαμαν μουσαβερέ ibid. 1451 (< Turk. müşavere); ἀπὸ τὸν σερμεγέν τους (1687, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 4, 3.13) (< Turk. sermaye); μὲ μπαχτζέν (1699, ibid. 30, 62.15) (< Turk. bahçe) βγάνει τὸ πελκεσέν του (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 26.11) (< Turk. bel-kese) (σὲ ἔστειλα ...) καὶ καφέν (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 66.12) στὸν χαζνέ μέσα Diig. Vefa 119 (< Turk. hazne); βλέπεις ἐτοῦτον τὸν τζεσμὲ ibid. 245 (< Turk. çesme) μὲ ντεσκερὲ χρωστημιᾶς EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 56.11–12; μέσα στὸ τζιμπιχανέν ibid. 58.21 (< Turk. cebehane) ἐγὼ ἔχω ζαχερέν Don Kis. 232.22 (< Turk. zahire); σκεπασμένος με μαύρον καδιφέν ibid. 603.3 (< Turk. kadife)

Vocative

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-έ

The vocative ends in -έ, but not many examples have been found: “μιοῖρ Ντζεφρέ”, τὸν λέγει Chron. Mor. H 1847 (< OFr. Geoffroi).

Plural

Nominative

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-έδες

The imparisyllabic plural of this paradigm, now the SMG norm for the limited number of nouns that have escaped the 19th-century purification of the Greek language, has not been found before the second half of the 17th c.:

καὶ αὐτεῖνοι οἱ τετέδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 91 (< Turk. tete); οἱ ναμέδες σας ibid. 435 (< Turk. name) οἱ μαμελέδες ποῦπαιρνα ΝΕΟΦΥΤΟΣ, Achouri 53 (< Turk. muamele); μὲ γείνηκαν μπερδέδες ibid.
 54 (< Turk. perde) καμχανέδες ... χασέδες τρανοί (1708 [later copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B 15, f.179r.10–13) (< Turk. kamhane and haşe)

Genitive

No examples have been found, but it can be assumed that the ending would be -έδων.

Accusative

Pl.	Acc.	-έδες -ές -έδεις

The accusative is identical to the nominative. In the texts examined no examples have been found before the 17th c.:

εἰς μαμελέδες καὶ τζερεμέδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.41 (< Turk. muamele and cereme); ἐχάλασεν τοὺς καφενέδες ibid. I §16.4 (Turk. kahve-hane); ἀπὸ χανέδες ibid. I §29.15 (< Turk. hane); πᾶσα λογῆς πωρκὰ καὶ μεζέδες ἔχεις εἰς τὸ τραπέζιν σου ibid. II §7.15 (< Turk. meze; πωρκὰ = πωρικά, see I, 2.7.2) ἀνωκάτησε πόλι, κάστρο καὶ μιναρέδες (1650–4, Leros/Patmos, LAMBROS 1910: 273, 193.2) (< Turk. minare) ἀποὺ τίς μαγατζέδες (1665, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 10, 419.5) (< Ven. magazèn; for the masc. article τίς see 5.2.1) με ἀπειρους τεστέδες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 23 (< Turk. deste); με ζαχιρέδες, με φαγιά ibid. 1982 (< Turk. zahire); λεφέδες τους δεν θέλουσιν ibid. 2872 (< Turk. ulûfe); μουσαβερές κάνουν ibid. 5379 (< Turk. müşavere); καὶ μουναρέδες ἔκαμαν ibid. 9817 (= μιναρέςδες) τοὺς μαμελέδες NEOFYTOS, Achouri 41; τοὺς ἔχει διὰ μεζέδες ibid. 42; τοὺς ντζερεμέδες ibid. 53 τεντζερέδες δύο (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 137.14–15) (< Turk. tencere) βρίσκεις σωστοὺς σαράντα χοτζερέδες Diig. Vefa 257–8 (< Turk. hiücre) εἰς τρεῖς ἄβαντέδες (1684 [18th-c. copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B 22, f.184v.2) (< Turk. vade, possibly with influence from Romance avant-) τοὺς εἶχαν κρεμίνισι τοὺς κουμπέδες Don Kis. 12.16–17 (< Turk. kubbe); τοὺς εγλεντζέδες ibid.
 562.7 (< ἡ ἐγλεντζέ < Turk. eğlence)

Deletion of intervocalic /ð/ and subsequent loss of the weak unstressed vowel /e/ resulting in oxytone forms in -ές occur in the work of the Cypriot Ioakeim (see KAPLANIS 2012, Gloss. s.v. ζερδές and μουσαβερές; cf. masculine nouns in -άς (2.2.1) and feminine nouns in -ού (2.13.1): μ' όλους τους ζαχιρές τους IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1951 (< Turk. zahire); με όλους τους ζερδές τους ibid. 1952 (< Turk. zerde); μουσαβερές που κάνουν ibid. 8503 (< Turk. müşavere).

Raising of /e/ to /i/, resulting in -έδεις, has been found in a document of northern origin (see I, 2.5.4 for details): ἔχει δούου σιντζατέδεις (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 55.14–15).

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ῆδες

In the following example the word μαγατζές (< Ven. magazèn) borrows the ending of the masculine -ής paradigm (2.3.3). The validity of the form could not be checked, but some caution is due, as the facsimiles of other documents included in the edition show discrepancies when compared with the transcription:⁸⁰ εἰς τὸν γιάλὸν δύο μαγατζήδες (1656, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 9, 405.40).

⁸⁰ To give just a few examples: on p. 409 the facsimile reads: τα ανοθε οπου, which is transcribed as τὰ ἀνωθεν ποῦ; ταφεντι becomes τοῦ αὐθ[έντη]; δια γινεκα μου βλογιτικι becomes διὰ γυναῖκα μου εὐλογητικὴν.

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδες

In the following example the noun μαγατζές appears with the ending of the masculine -άς paradigm (2.2.1): τσι μαγατζάδες Leilasia Par. 142.

Vocative

No examples have been found.

2.6.2 Paroxytone and Proparoxytone Nouns

Singular
Nom.	λεβάντες	πρέντσιπες
Gen.	λεβάντε	πρέντσιπε
Acc.	λεβάντε(ν)	πρέντσιπε(ν)
Voc.	(λεβάντε)	(πρέντσιπε)

Singular

Nominative

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-ες

The nominative singular invariably ends in -ες. Examples have been found from the 15th c. onwards:

ὁ Νῶες CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 425 στὸ ὁποῖον θρονὶν καθέζεται ντοῦζες τῆς Βενετίας Diig. Ven. 42 (< Ven. dose) ὁ κόντες Φλάντρας Chron. Mor. P 402 (< OFr. conte) ὁ λεβάντες KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.26 (< Ital. levante) ὁ πριόρες τῆς Σάντα Μαρίας (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 1, 3.8) (< Ital. priore) ὡς ἀφατόρες (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 25, 64.3) (< Ital. fattore) φράσσει σε ... ὁ γριεγολεβάντες (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 76.9–10) (< Ven. grego levante) νὰ γίνεται ὁ καρπὸς τοῦ ὅλος ἑνας μόντες (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 14, 19.12–13) (< Ital. monte) ὡσάν ἐρέντες ἐκεινοῦ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 48, 48.9) (< Ital. eredede) ἀληθινὸς ντεμπιτόρες (1552, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 166, 158.3) (< Ital. debitore) παῖσα ὁποῦ νὰ γένη νέος καρδηνάλης (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 19.1) (< Ital. cardinale) ἐγίνηκε δοττόρες CHORTATIS, Katz. IV.160 (< Ital. dottore) ἦτον γκενεράλης (16th c. [18th-c. ms], SCHREINER 1975/79: 59.IV, 444.31.11) (< Ital. generale)

ὁ Λαντίσλαος καὶ ὁ γαρδενάλης Chron. Tourk. Soult. 72.5 (< Ital. cardinale)

Ἐμμανουήλ Βλαστός ὁ δετόρες (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 7, 177.28)

<ὁ> ἀφέντης ἀγιουτάντες (1667, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 19, 90.7) (< Ital. aiutante)

ὁ γενεράλης τό 'ξευρε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 446.13; ὁ μαρκέζες ibid. 450.3 (< Ital. marchese) ὁ ὑψηλότατος ἀφέντης καπετάν τελε-νάβες (1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 7, 20.5) (< Ven. capitàn del le nave, see BOERIO, Lex. s.v. governatòr)⁸¹ ἐκλελεμένος ... διὰ ἀσιστέντες (1687, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005a: 1, 368.2) (< Ital.
assistente) ὁ μισερ Ζάννες Δουράτζος ὡσάν προκουρατόρες (1700, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 24, 329.6) (< Ital. procuratore)
 Μικέλες Ντζές ὑπογράφω (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 110.25)
 "Ερκολες ἐπόθανεν καλόιρος (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 72, f.II.8) (καλόιρος = καλόγηρος)
 ὁ Κρέοντες ὁ ἄτυχος Theseid V 59,5 (1529) ὁ ὁποῖος ἔγινε ἔπειτα πρίντζιπες (16th c. [18th-c. ms], Unknown, SCHREINER 1975/79: 59.IV, 444.31.12) (< Ital. principe) ὁ μπρέντζιπες (1687, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005a: 1, 368.22) (< Ven. prencipe) ὁ ὑψηλότατός μας Πρέντζιπες Chron. Theod. 21.21

Genitive

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-ε

The genitive is formed in the most common way, by deletion of the final /s/ of the nominative:

τοῦ λεβάντε (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 55.2); τοῦ πουνέντε (ibid. 57.20) (< Ital. levante and ponente/punente) τῶν ... μαρτύρων: κυρ-Τζιανῆ Μαντηλᾶ, φατόρε τοῦ μισερ ... (1536, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 165, 167.15)
 καὶ μισερ-Τζουάνε, τοῦ ἀδερφοῦ του (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 122, 134.2) φορῶ ντοττόρε βέστα Stathis I.294 (< Ital. dottore) τοῦ γαληνοτάτου πρέντζιπε (post 1669, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1938: 2, 295.3) (< Ven. prencipe) τοῦ πρέντζιπε (1675, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 87, 51.3) τοῦ πρέντζιπέ τους SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 58.29

Accusative

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-ε(ν)

The accusative ends in -ε and may occur with and without final /n/:

τὸν Νῶεν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 439 στὸν κόντε τῆς Τσαμπάνιας Chron. Mor. P 175 (OldFr. conte) εἰς τὸν πουνέντεν (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 57.15); εἰς τὸν λεβάντεν (1534, ibid. 69.8) (< Ital. ponente/punente and levante) νὰ πιάσω ἕνα ντοττόρε | ... γῆ ἕνα ψηλὸ ἀουτόρε Stathis III.207–8 (< Ital. dottore and autore) τὸν ἐκλαμπρότατον ἀφέντην του Τζουάνε Ντεσουνία (1630, Patmos, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 1, 401.23)

⁸¹ For the undeclined form cf. ὁ καπετάν δελενάβε MATESIS, Chron. 66.10.

τὸν μαρκέζε πέψανε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 447.5 (< Ital. marchese) ἤγουν σ' αὐτὸν τὸν πρίντσιπε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6099

Vocative

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-ε

One example has been found, though it cannot be excluded that it derives from the alternative πρίντσιπος rather than from πρίντσιπες. Ioakeim uses both alternatives, but those in -ος are more frequent in his text: Πρίντσιπε, ἐγὼ στὸν ὀρισμὸν σου IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2117.

2.6.3 Transfers to Other Paradigms

Oxytone nouns in -ές do not show a strong tendency to transfer to other paradigms. In the documents of the Cretan notary Maras the word μαγατζές may transfer to -ος through the addition of this ending to the original Venetian word magazèn:⁸² τοῦ μαγαντζένου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 37, 36.4 and 257, 254.6–7); καὶ τὸν μαγαντζένο (ibid. 48, 47.16). Certain nouns derived from Turkish words in /el/, e.g. λουφές (< ulûfe) may transfer to the masculine -άς paradigm (2.2.1); the word μπαχτζές (< bahçe) has a regional variant bahça in Turkish. A form μπαχτζιά occurs in the Chronicle of Papasynadinos (Serres): οἱ σπαόγλανοι ἔχουν τὴν ἡμέραν ἀλοφᾶν (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 12.34); ἐπερίσσευε τὸν λοφᾶ τοὺς Chron. Tourk. Soult. 125.14; δώσω σοι λοφᾶν, ὅσον θέλεις (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.IV, 259.84.6); τοὺς λοφάδες τῶν Οὐγγῶν ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1102; καὶ τὸν μπαχτζιά ἐφκίασεν ὑπέρκαλα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §19.17.

From the very beginning of the period covered by this Grammar, paroxytone nouns in -ες may transfer to the masculine paradigm in -ης (2.3.4), to that in -ος (2.1.2) or sporadically to that in -ας (2.2.5), by substituting -ης, -ος or -ας for -ες, though in documents from S. Italy and Sicily there is no evidence for intermediate forms in -ες of the nouns κόντης and πριόρος.⁸³

-ης:

ἐγὼ Ρογέριος κόντης στέργω (1111, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 2, 511.15) πριούρην τοῦ ὀσίου πατρὸς ἡμῶν Νικολάου (1193, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 232, 313.6) (< Ital. priore) δύο κόντηδες (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.25)

τοῦ κούντη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 30.28

⁸² Comparable is the indeclinable surname Τζέν (< Ven. Zen), which appears in the same collection of documents (Maras) in its original form, e.g. τοῦ μισερ Νικολὸ Ντζέν (ibid. 96, 94.15), as well as with an added -ος ending: ἡμεῖς Φραντζέσκος Ντζένος καὶ Λορέντζος Ντζένος (ibid. 116, 113.1); τοῦ κυρ-Στεφάνου Ντζένου (ibid. 142, 141.2). Elsewhere it appears as a declinable noun in -ές: Μικέλες Ντζές ὑπογράφω (1706, Zakynthos, ΖΟΙΣ 1941: 1, 110.25).

⁸³ In Sicily, forms in /es/ occur only in the oxytone paradigm, with proper names of (Norman) French origin.

τοῦ πουνέντη (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 61.27); εἰς τὸν λεβάντη (1530–40, Unknown, ibid. Z, 176.1)

-ος:

ὁ ρηθεὶς πριόλος Ρουπέρτος (1100, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 15, 202.8) (< Ital. priore; for the change of /r/ to /l/ see I, 3.8.6.3) τὸν κόντον τῆς Κεφαλλονίας Chron. Mor. H 2894 κόντοι Diig. tetr. 492 app. crit. (VC) ὁ κόντος ὁ Μερκούριος ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua I.241 δουκάδες, κούντους Alosis 177 ἄξιος φατόρος Σαντορίνης (1548, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 119, 234.17–18)

ὁ πρίντζιπος τῆς Ποδολίας Chron. Tourk. Soult. 111.31 ὄλους τοὺς ἀδελφούς καὶ πριόρους (1672, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 46, 28.5) τοῦ πρίντσιπου ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 380 (< Ital. principe)

-ας:

τοῦ πρίντζιπα Βενετίας (1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 34, 135.48)

να μην εἶναι πρίντσιπας Don Kis. 181.27

(both examples with obvious influence from the noun πρίγκιπας).

2.7 Masculine Nouns in -ιος

This paradigm comprises all proparoxytone masculine nouns in -ιος, with only a few exceptions such as δῆμιος, ἥλιος, ἴσκιος and σύμβιος, which follow the proparoxytone masculine -ος paradigm (2.1.3). The majority of nouns belonging to this paradigm end in -άριος and mostly consist of Latin loanwords in -arius (see FILOS 2009), e.g. δρουγγάριος (< drungarius), καβαλλάριος (< caballarius); new formations based on Greek roots, e.g. γονικάριος (< γονικόν), ὑποθεσ(ι)άριος (< ὑπόθεσις); and loanwords from Italian and French, e.g. τζεσιονάριος (< Ital. cessionario), λίζιος (< Fr. lige < MedLat. ligius). These nouns show developments similar to adjectives in -άριος, for which see 3.2.6. The paradigm also covers names of months in -ιος (Ἰανουάριος, Φεβρουάριος, etc.) as well as proper names in /ios/ such as Ἀντώνιος, Βασίλειος, Ἰσαάκιος and others, both of which categories seldom appear in the plural. In addition it covers nouns denoting geographical provenance (Αἰγύπτιος, Πελοποννήσιος, etc.) and the noun κύριος and its compounds. In the singular this paradigm does not differ much from the proparoxytone paradigm in -ος (2.1.3), but it is different from proparoxytone -ος in its alternative plural formations and in its systematic transfer to the -ης paradigm (see 2.7.2).

An alternative plural formation in -αῖοι/-εῖοι can be found alongside -ιοι from the 1st c. AD onwards with nouns denoting geographical provenance and names of (exotic) tribes, e.g. Γανδαράων in the anonymous Periplus of the Red Sea (1st c.) (< Γανδάριοι); Μαρθωναίους in Ps. Caesarius, Erotapokriseis (6th c.); and Πελοποννησαῖοι and Ζακυνθαίους in De Administrando Imperio (10th c.) (for these examples see the online TLG). This alternative plural is rather common in the period covered by this Grammar, occurring over a large geographical area. However, among the well-documented areas Crete and Cyprus appear to be the exception, as no examples of this alternative plural have been found. The ending -αῖοι/-εῖοι could become ['ji] through synizesis (see I, 2.9.4), after which loss of /j/ occurred, resulting in oxytone forms: σιργέντες καὶ καβαλλарοί Chron. Mor. H 3281 ἐκάμνασιν τα οἱ νοικοκυροί (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 277, 381.10); τοὺς πορταροὺς Diig. Alex. Sem. B 122; με ὀλίγους καβαλαροὺς Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 87.27. Occasionally resyllabification occurs, a form of hypercorrection of synizesis (see I, 2.9.4), resulting in paroxytone forms in -ιοί, no doubt also helped by the existence of the inherited gen. pl. -ίων and acc. pl. -ίους (see above): καβαλλαριοί Pol. Tr. 576 app. crit. (X); ὀφικιαλίοι LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 134.

In addition the inherited -ιοί ending could undergo deletion of the repeated vowel [i] resulting in paroxytone forms in -οί (see I, 2.9.2.1). Examples can be found as early as the 2nd c. AD with names of foreign tribes: Βαντουράροι and Κασσούροι appear in the Geography of Claudius Ptolemy (see the online TLG). After this a new accusative plural in -ους and genitive plural in -ων were formed based on the nominative ending. These forms continue to occur in the period covered by this Grammar:

ἀγγαράροι (1173, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 51, 88.20) ἐκείνοι οἱ ἀποκρισάροι Chron. Mor. H 568 μεγάλων καβαλάρων Diig. tetr. 251 ἀποκρισάρους ἄρχοντες Alex. Rim. 763 ἔχει δὲ γερακάρους (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 12.32).

Alternative forms can often be found side by side in the same text, especially in verse texts, in which the different stress patterns are convenient to accommodate the rhythm: ἦ καὶ κατεργοκύριοι εἶτε ὀφικιαλίοι LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 134; ἀπαντας τοὺς οἰκοκυροὺς κυρίου Βενετσάνους ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 1688; τῶρα ἔναι οἰκοκύροι ibid. 9911; but also in prose texts: οἱ κουμμερκιαροί Vios Aisop. K 159.24; οἱ κουμμερκιαρέοι ibid. 159.25.

As paroxytone nouns in -ιος started systematically to produce alternative forms in -ης (see 2.7.2), it comes as no surprise that new words in -ης belonging to paradigm 2.3.4, and especially those in -ρης, may sometimes transfer to the -ιος paradigm:

γκουβερνούριος (1310, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 31, 163.[24]4) (< κουβερνούρης) ὁ Λεοθέτιος Pol. Tr. 2305 (= Φιλοκτήτης); ὁ Διομήδιος ibid. 11988; ὁ Παλαμήδιος ibid. 13174; Ὁρέστιος ὡς ἤκουσε ibid. 13444 μαγκουφαροί (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.14–15) (< μαγκουφάρης) οἱ κατωγραμμένοι κατεργάροι (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 115, 93.1) (< κατεργάρης) αὐτουῶν τῶν ιδίων κατεργάρων (1554, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 216, 191.28) ὅλοι οἱ γιανιτσηραῖοι τῆς Πόλης (1589 [copy of 1653], Epirus, LAMBROS 1916b: 3, 135.1–2) (< γιανίτσαρης) ζουράροι P&N Diath. 394, 801 and 4853

The word ὄφης (< ὄφης) develops a variant ὄφιος: ὄφιος ἱπὶ (= ἐπὶ) μονοπάτι Pent. Gen. 49.17; ἀντὶ τοῦ ὁ ὄφης, τοῦ ὄφιος, τὸν ὄφιν λέγουσιν ὁ ὄφχιος τοῦ ὄφχιου KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 109.16 (palatalized, see I, 2.4.7). Nouns belonging to other paradigms do not usually transfer to the paroxytone /ios/ paradigm, though there are several ad hoc formations in the War of Troy and Ermoniakos's Iliad, two texts that can be surprisingly inventive in adapting morphology to metre. In both texts one finds alternative forms in /ios/ for various proper names of the former 3rd declension: ἐσκόπα Λαομήδιος Pol. Tr. 971

(< Λαομέδων); ὁ Καστόριος ibid. 985 (< Κάστωρ); Τελώνιος ἐλέγεται ibid. 5427 app. crit. (ACV) (< Δόλων); ὁ Σαρπεδόριος ibid. 8241 (< Σαρπεδών); Ἰούλιος Καισάριος ibid. 10536 (< Καῖσαρ); ὁ Ἀχιλλῖος ἀκούσας ERMONT., Ilias 15.125 (and with transfer to /is/: φοβερώτατε Ἀχιλλῆ ibid. 8.108) (< Ἀχιλλεύς); καὶ Δευκάλιος ἐκκόπτει ibid. 19.300 (Δευκαλίων).

The noun κύριος has two shortened indeclinable forms: κύρ and κυρο-, for which see 2.18. For nouns in /os/ see 2.1; for Cypriot oxytone nouns in -ίος see 2.8.

2.7.1 The Paradigm

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	καβαλλάριος		-ος
Gen.	καβαλλαρίου	καβαλλάριου καβαλλαριού -οῦ	-ου -ιο/-ο
Acc.	καβαλλάριο(ν)		-ο(ν) -αῖο/-έο
Voc.	καβαλλάριε	καβαλλάριο
Plural
Nom.	καβαλλάριοι καβαλλάρροι καβαλλαραιῖοι/καβαλλαρέοι	καβαλλαρῖοι καβαλλαροῖ
Gen.	καβαλλαρῖων καβαλλάρων καβαλλαραιῶν/καβαλλαρέων	καβαλλάρων καβαλλαριῶν καβαλλάρω † καβαλλάρω καβαλλαρῶν
Acc.	καβαλλαρῖους καβαλλάρους καβαλλαραιῖους/καβαλλαρέους	καβαλλάριους καβαλλαρούς
Voc.	καβαλλάριοι καβαλλάρροι καβαλλαραιῖοι/καβαλλαρέοι	καβαλλαρῖοι καβαλλαροῖ

Singular

Nominative

Masc.

Sg.	Nom.	-(ε)ιος † -ος

The most common ending for nom. sg. is /ios/:

μὴν Ἀπρίλλιος ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 130.9
 Νεσθόριος (1171, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 178, 234.4) (for hypercorrect /θ/ for /t/ see I, 3.8.1.4) αὐτὸς δὲ καβαλάριος διηνεκῶς ὁδεύει Ptoch. IV 74 Μανουήλ ὁ Τζαγγάριος (1304, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 99, 146.80) πρωτοβιστιάριος ὅλου τοῦ πριγκιπάτου Chron. Mor. H 7681 κυρο-Ἀλέξιος ὁ Μέγας Κομνηνός (1390, Trebizond, BRYER 1976: 1, 131.2) Ἰούλιος Καισάριος Pol. Tr. 10536; Ὁρέστης καβαλλάριος ibid. 13420 ὁ Ἰούνιος Liv. V 910; ὁ δὲ Δικέβριος ibid. 943 οὔτε ὁ οἰκοκύριος ἐπλήρωσε τὸν μάστορα (15th c., Unknown, SEARBY 2003: 3, 693.3) ὁ κύρης Ὁμύδιος Opsarol. 38 (< ὁμύδιον < μύδιον < μῦς, see ANDRIOTIS, Lex. s.v. μύδι) ἦλθεν ἀποκρισιάριος (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 271.4) κουσουλιέριος εἰς τὴν Μεθώνην (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 21.3) (< κουσουλιέρης < Ital. consigliere) ὁ Ἀρμένιος Assizes A 57.7
 ὁ ἄγιος Γεώργιος ὁ Μαχαιρωμένος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 34.34; νοτάριος τὸν ἔφερεν ὁ ρὲ Πιερ μετὰ του ibid. 296.24–5 ἐπιμελητὴς καὶ κουμεσάριος (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 31, 55.8) αφέντης Ἀπολλώνιος Apoll. Rim. A 261; ευτεῖνος ὁ Στραγγίλιος ibid. 1076 ἦτονε καπετάνιος τζενεράλες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 89.27; ὁ δεσπότης Δημήτριος ibid. 94.26 ὁ σκαελλάριος PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §26.1; ὁ παπὰ κύρ Δημήτριος ... καὶ ... ὁ ρεφενδάριος ibid. I §32.13–14
 ὁ Κύριος Ἀδωναΐ ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 3782
 Βασίλειος ὁ Διγενὴς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1234

Synizesis is most easily detectable in verse texts, although sometimes the spelling in other texts may give it away as well, when <γ> is substituted for <ι>, or when the second accent is absent before the enclitic possessive pronoun. The result is paroxytone forms ([ios] > [jos]; see I, 2.9.4):⁸⁴

κύρ Σάκιος ὁ Βατάτσης Chron. Mor. H 557 αὐτὸς ὁ Εὐλάλιος καὶ ἄν ἔλθῃ Ptoch. (Maiuri) 43 (but read: ἐλθῇ) ὁ καπετάνιος τοὺς αὐτὸς Chron. Toc. 628 ὁμπρὸς ὁ καπετάνιος ἔτον Diig. Ven. 75 ἄς ἔναι καπετάνιος μας SACHLIKIS, Vouli pol. 759 (Papadimitriou) σκορδιαλὸν ὁ σμυρίλιος Poulol. AZ 127 (verse end) ἀμέ βαρέθηκεν πολλὰ ὁ Κύριος τὴν ζωὴν του Apoll. Rim. A 55 μουλάρι, ποιὸς εἶνε ὁ κύριος σου; Paroim. (Warner) 90.4
 ὁ κύργος Μπάνουγλου (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 6, f.43r.15)

The /j/ in these forms may then be deleted, which is visualized by the omission of <ι>, although in the case of the noun καπετάνιος, influence of Italian capitano may be suspected:

ὁ κύρος Θεόδωρος ὁ Στουδίτης λέγει Palaia 218.12 (11th/12th c., ?Constantinople, VASSILIEV 1893: 218.12) ὁ ἡμέτερος αὐθέντης κύρος Ρωκέριος (1101, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 70, 88.7–8) ὁ ... δεσπότης κύρος Λεόντιος (1119, S. Italy, SCHNEIDER 1907: 2, 262.35)

⁸⁴ The fact that no examples of nom. sg. with synizesis have been found for nouns in -άριος must be considered a coincidence; see gen. pl. for several examples.

ἔσηκώθησε ὁ καπιτάνος Βετόριος (17th c., Cyprus, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 22, 269.8)

Γεώργος Μιχολίνας (1609, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: III, 71.20)

ὁ Γιῶργος Στούκουλας (1684, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 90, 321.1)

Genitive

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-(ε)ίου ἢ -(ε)ιου ἢ -(ε)ιοῦ

The old genitive ending can be found throughout the period under review. The historical shift of the stress to the penultimate is often observed:

Βασιλείου Λυσσάρη (1155, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 24, 146.2) μετά συγχαριαρίου Eisit. f.2r.10

Βασιλείου τοῦ Γουδουριαρίου ... καὶ Σεργίου τοῦ κτίστη (1290/91, Methoni, VRANOUSI 1981: A, 24.13–15)

Μιχαήλ Τζαγγαρίου (1300, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 90, 79.17)

εἰς τὸ ἔμπα τοῦ ἀπριλίου Chron. Mor. H 147

Τζώρτζη Γεωργίου (1383, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 89, 98.1–4) τοῦ Ἀρμενίου Assizes A 8.6; τὸ δίκαιον τοῦ Νεστορίου ibid. 57.15 τὸ αἶμαν τοῦ Κυρίου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.17–18; Ἀθανασίου, Εὐσταθίου ibid. 28.28 τη ιε' Νοεμβρίου VOUSTR., Chron. B 194.4

τοῦ Σεπτεμβρίου ZINOS, Alex. Rim. Epil. 57; τοῦ Δημητρίου ibid. 58 τοῦ ἁγίου Ἀλεξίου (1530–40, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: Z, 165.23) τοῦ Ἡρακλείου τοῦ βασιλέως Diig. Alex. F 70.3 (Konstantinopoulos) τοῦ αἰδεσιμωτάτου καρδινάλιου Ἰουλιανοῦ (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 13, 26.20) καταπάνω τοῦ δεσπότη Γεωργίου τῶν Σεβίων Chron. Tourk. Soult. 95.17–18 ἔμοῦ τοῦ Ἰγνατίου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 3092 στὶς 12 τοῦ ἄνωθε Μαρτίου (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 611, 844.1)

διὰ χερὸς Εὐθυμίου Ἱερομονάχου EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 13.9

Forms without a shift of the stress to the penultimate are not uncommon (cf. the proparox-ytone -ος paradigm, 2.1.3):

μὲ τὴν μπληρωμὴν τοῦ νοτάριου (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 52.57) τοῦ πρώτου, τοῦ Ἑρκούλιου Chron. Toc. 2637 καὶ τὸν υἱὸν Σελήνιου Byz. Il. 241 τη ιε' Νοέμβριου VOUSTR., Chron. B 195.4

στην χώραν τ' Απολλώνιου Apoll. Rim. A 192; τοῦ Βασίλειου ibid. 1899

τοῦ Ἰούλιου Καίσαρος KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 322.20

μισερ Σέργιου Κορέση (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 54, 52.2) τοῦ ἁγιοτάτου Ροζάριου (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 55.232) τοῦ περιβολιάριου Bertoldin. 134.20–1

τοῦ Εὐδόξιου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2347

τοῦ ὑπογράφοντος νοτάριου (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 6, 148.2) τοῦ μονσινιὸρ σεκρετάριου (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 182.24)

In forms that show absence of stress shift synizesis may or may not occur. Forms with synizesis are easily recognizable in verse texts, but the absence of a second stress when the form is followed by the possessive pronoun is also a give-away: τοῦ ἀνθρώπου σου τοῦ λίξιου Chron. Mor. H 5815 (verse end); τοῦ καπετάνιου τὸν γαβρὸν Chron. Toc. 1517 (1st hemistich); καὶ κουμεσάριου μου (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 86, 162.85); τοῦ καπετάνιου τοὺς SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 34.23. When synizesis occurs, [i] becomes [j] (see I, 2.9.4), and is then sometimes omitted:

Μιχαήλ τοῦ Περδεκάρου (1097, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 60, 77.24–5); Νικολάου Ἀββεστάρου (1139, ibid. 121, 162.13)
 Φώτιος, υἱὸς Σχολάρου (1169, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 8, 77.15) Μανόλης τοῦ Γεώργου (1448?, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 45, 321.12) τοῦ Νεστούρου Assizes B 307.4–5 ἔτι καὶ καρδινάλου LIMEN., Than. Rod. 8 Γεώργου καὶ Σταματέλου (1653, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 215, 187.61) ὑγιου τοῦ ἀνωθεν Γιώργου (1673, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 73, 319.6)

Paroxytone forms in -ίου may become oxytone through synizesis (see I, 2.9.4): καβαλαριοῦ γυναικὰν Poulol. 243 app. crit. (P); στὸν αὐλακα τ' Ἀγιοῦ Γιωργιοῦ ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 720, though this sometimes appears to be concealed by stress notation (see 1.5 for discussion): εἰς τοῦ Κυρίου τὸν τάφον Chron. Mor. H 131 (2nd hemistich); ὀκάπριου τοῦ καβελλαρίου ibid. 5752 (before the caesura).

Masc.

Sg.	Gen.	-(ε)ιο ἰ -ο

Genitives in -ο are found occasionally in Italian-influenced areas (cf. masculine nouns in /os/, 2.1):

τοῦ ἀνω εἰρημένου Σάμιο (1515, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 8, 53.4) τοῦ καπουράλιο (1519, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 55, 103.3) (< Ven. caporàl; BOERIO, Lex. s.v.)
 τοῦ μ(ισέρ) Ἀντώνιο Μεγιστάνο (1597, Crete, EVANGELATOS 2000: 23, 57.1) ὑπὸ μαρτυρίας κὺρ Γιώργο Τραυλοῦ (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 21, 33.15)

Accusative

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-(ε)ιο(v) ἰ -ο(v)

The inherited proparoxytone ending remains in use throughout the period covered by this Grammar. It occurs with and without final /n/:

ἐπικαλοῦ τὸν Κύριον GLYKAS, Stichoi 525 ἔχεις με προσμονάριον ὁμοῦ καὶ ἐκκλησιάρχην Ptoch. I 98 ὅλοι τὸν Διομήδιον ἐπαρεκάλεσάν τον Pol. Tr. 13374 εἶχεν γὰρ καπετάνιον Chron. Toc. 159 τὸν γαβρό σου Γεώργιο τὸ Καραντινὸ (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 20.3) ἔχω καὶ τὸν Ρεβίθιον τὸν κουκουβαῖομύτην Porikol. I 48 τὸν μέγαν καντσιλάριο SKLAVOS, Symf. 88 τὸν Ἡράκλειον τὸν βασιλέα Diig. Alex. F 122.1–2 (Lolos) διὰ ὅλον τὸν Ἰούλιον (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 54, 117.10) νά βάλης ἄλλονε κουμέσιο (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 3, 362.11) (< Ven. comesso) τὸν Φεβρουάριον μῆναν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.4

ἐφημέριο τῆς Κυρίας τῶν Ἀγγέλων (1663, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 5, 415.3)

λιμῶνα τόνε λένε Ἅγιο Δημήτριο (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 508.61–2)

Βασίλειον τὸν ἔβγαλαν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1237 ἀφίνων τὸν ἄντρα μου κύριο νοικοκύρην (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 77, 231.10) νά μὲ στείλει ... διὰ μισιονάριον (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 182.26–7) μόνου νά παρακινήσετε τὸν κύρ Μελέτιο (1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 34, 135.55–6)

The accusative may become paroxytone through synizesis, after which <ι> will have been pronounced as [j] (see I, 2.9.4 for details); this is best visible in verse texts, but it also can be seen in other texts when the form is followed by an enclitic possessive pronoun and there is no notation of second stress:

Ἀλέξιον τὸν ἐλέγαν Chron. Mor. H 449

μετὰ τὸν Τελαμώνιον Pol. Tr. 3877

Γαλάσσιον τὸν ἐλέγασιν Chron. Toc. 1060 εἶπαν τὸν καπετάνιον μας SACHLIKIS, Vouli pol. 761 (Papadimitriou) κι ἐγώ, ἡ πτωχή, τὸν Κύριο μου τὸν εἶχα γεννημένο FALIEROS, Thrinis 90

Βασίλειον τὸν Ἀκρίτην Dig. A 620

καὶ τέτοιο πλάσμα θαυμαστὸ νά λαβα ἐκ τὸν Κύριο P&N Diath. 1686 ὁμπροσθὰ εἰς τὸν καπετάνιον τοῦς Bertoldos 46.3

These forms may then undergo deletion of /j/, which is visualized by the omission of <ι>, though the case of the noun καπετάνιος is likely to be influenced by Italian capitano:

κύρον Νιέλην (1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 16, 210.39) κῦρον Παῦλον (1234–9, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 7, 33.16)⁸⁵ ἐποίησεν αὐτὸν καπετάννον Ekth. Chron. 78.5

ἀπὸ τὸ Γιῶργο τὸ Μελά (1609, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: XVI, 78.4) ἀπὸ τὸ Γιῶργο Πάλμο (1641, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 232, 189.46–7)

Masc.

Sg.	Acc.	-αῖο/-έο

A form καπετανέο, which occurs in BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 298.1 and 353.5, is formed on the basis of the alternative plural in -αῖοι/-έοι to serve metrical needs.

Vocative

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-(ε)ιε

The most common ending for the vocative is /ie/:

κῦρι δεῖνα σακελλάριε (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 51.25) μνησθητι αὐτὸν Κύριε (1390, Trebizond, BRYER 1976: 4, 132.1–2)

⁸⁵ An acc. κύρον occurs in the Peira (10th/11th c.), Philes (13th–14th c.) and elsewhere, see the online TLG.

ἀφέντη καπετάνιε Chron. Toc. 1442 ὦ Γεώργιε! MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 650.8 Φρύγιε πρωτοσπαθάριε Porikol. I 76 ἱμπέριε, καρδιά μου Imb. Rim. 149 ἐλθέ, Σινιὸρ Μερκούριε KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VII.183 ἀτυχέ Απολλώνιε Apoll. Rim. V 323 θέλω ἐσὺ νοτάριε νὰ γράψης οὕτως (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 45, 77. 7) υψηλότετε και μέγα χογγέριε Diig. Alex. K 371.20 Κύριε, καὶ λυπήσου με Thysia Avr. 51 ἔλα ἐδῶ, Ἑρμίνιε Bertoldin. 162.33 μέγα κνέζη Ἀλέξιε Μιχαήλ (1652, Crete, TCHENTSOVA 2002: 1, 355.4) υἱὲ Βασίλειε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1361

As with the other cases (see above) the vocative may become paroxytone through synizesis, after which i will have been pronounced as [j] (see I, 2.9.4 for details); this is perceptible mainly in verse texts and when the word is followed by a possessive pronoun but the second stress is absent: καὶ εὔξου με, κύριε, Λίβιστρε Liv. S 255 (Lambert-van der Kolf); ἐμέννα, Κύριε, σκότωσε LIMEN., Than. Rod. 348; Κύριε μου, νὰ ᾤλωθῃ Apoll. Rim. V 615; τόμου σοῦ δώσω, Σίλβιε μου SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. F1r.9. Forms with deletion of /j/ also occur: Σμυρίλε Poulol. AZ 27 app. crit. (Z).

Masc.

Sg.	Voc.	-(ε)ιο

Vocatives in /io/ are found occasionally in areas under western rule (cf. masculine nouns in /os/, 2.1): Σμυρίλιο κακοθώρετο Poulol. AZ 27; ὦ καπετάνιο Γίουστινιανέ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 91.14–15; ἀφέντη καπετάνιο μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.720.

Plural

Nominative

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-ιοι ὁ -οι

The old proparoxytone ending -ιοι can be found in texts throughout the period covered by this Grammar, but it is not as common as the innovative alternative endings below:

ὡς γονικάριοι (1234–9, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 7, 39.14) ἐκεῖνοι καθαλάριοι διαβαίνουσιν τὴν πόλιν Ptoch. IV 306 οἱ τοιοῦτοι ἀποκρισιάριοι (1361, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 262, 554.51) οὗ Σαμαρίται, οὗ Νεστούριοι Assizes B 486.21 οἱ κοιτωνάριοι Opsarol. 46 καὶ ἕτεροι καθαλάριοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 538.8 οἱ εἰρημένοι κουμεσάριοι (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 2, 5.14); ὡς κύριοι (1499, ibid. Inv. 2, 311.26)
 οἱ σεκρεττάριοι Pist. kekoim. 81 οἱ Στρασσαλβάνιοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 66.31 κύριοι ἐγένησαν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 7141 νὰ ᾤγουν ἀποκρισάριοι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 513.19
 κάπιοι ἐφημέριοι (1693, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 104, 301.7–8)

Synizesis ([ii] > [ji]; see I, 2.9.4 for details) is demonstrable mainly in verse texts, though in other texts the addition of <γ> or the absence of a second stress before an enclitic possessive pronoun may reveal that synizesis has taken place and the forms have become paroxytone:

ἀποκρισιάριοι ἦλθμεν Flor. L 931 ms⁸⁶ καὶ καβαλάριοι παρευθὺς Achil. N 723 πάντες οἱ καβαλλάριοι Pol. Tr. 135 (reading of ms X) οἱ ἐντόπιοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 24.16 (< adj. ἐντόπιος with palatalization; see I, 2.4.7)

The [j] glide may then be deleted, or this may be viewed as a simplification of the repeated vowels /i/ (see I, 2.9.2):

ώραῖοι καβαλλάριοι Dig. G VI.176 ἐκεῖνοι οἱ ἀποκρισάριοι Chron. Mor. H 568; οἱ καβαλλάριοι ὅλοι ibid. 8901 β' λίζοι Assizes B 457.31 πάντες οἱ καβαλλάριοι Pol. Tr. 135 app. crit. (V) οἱ ἀποκρισιάριοι Diig. tetr. 87 app. crit. (PCA); κόντοι καὶ καβελάριοι τε ibid. 492 app. crit. (V) μυροψοὶ καὶ τζαγκάριοι ΚΑΝΑΝΟΣ, Diig. 60.169–70 οὔλοιοι οἱ λίζοι ἐποῖκαν τοῦ ὄρκου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 308.20 αὐθέντες καὶ οἰκοκύριοι Diig. Alex. V 69.24 οἱ κουμεσάριοι μου (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 15, 27.46); βουτικλάριοι (1525, ibid. 97, 182.25) ὡς δύο καλοὶ κοτουβερνάριοι (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 53.9–10) οἱ ἀδελφοὶ μου Μάρκο καὶ Λέο Μεταξάριοι (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 261, 204.5) <οῖ> ὑποθεσιάριοι (1554, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 165, 215.21) διότις οἱ νοικοκύριοι δὲν εἶναι κλέφτες (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 218.14); ἄλλοι μακελλάριοι ἐπουλῆσαν (1565, ibid. 283, 387.16) γράφονται γονικάριοι (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 122, 135.7) πεζοὶ καὶ καβαλλάριοι ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 183 altri dicono οἱ νοικοκύριοι GERMANO, Grammar 62.11 νὰ εἶναι νοικοτσύριοι (1676, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 23, 132.10) (= νοικοκύριοι, see I, 3.8.2.2)

Masc.

Pl.	Nom.	-αῖοι/-εῖοι -αιοί/-εοί -οί ιοι

The ending -αῖοι/-εῖοι appears as an alternative to -ιοι many centuries before the LMedG period (see the introduction to this section, 2.7) and continues to be in use throughout the period covered by this Grammar across a large geographical area, though, as noted in the introduction, not in texts from Crete and Cyprus.⁸⁷ The spelling <έοι> versus <αῖοι> is a matter of orthography:

ἐμνοστοὶ καβαλλαρεῖοι Pol. Tr. 2735 app. crit. (X) οἱ ἀποκρισαρεῖοι Diig. tetr. 87; καβαλλαρεῖοι τε ibid. 492 app. crit. (L)

⁸⁶ Tacitly corrected to ἀποκρισιάριοι in the edition of Cupane; for the ms reading see www.bl.uk/manuscripts/Viewer.aspx?ref=add_ms_8241_f078r.

⁸⁷ Note that Ioakeim Kyrios shows a great morphological variety that is not always consistent with his Cypriot background. During his travels he easily adopted linguistic elements from other regions.

οἱ ρηθέντες κανισχαράοι (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 15, 51.25) Λονταράοι Velis. χ 315 (< Λεοντάριος); οἱ ἀποκρισαράοι ibid. 550 οἱ προδιαβασμένοι πακτωνάροι (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 38, 33.11) οἱ αποκλισιαράοι Diig. Alex. K 344.24–5 (= ἀποκρισιαράοι, see I, 3.8.6.3); οἱ πορταράοι ibid. 362.25 νὰ εἶναι νοικοκερέοι (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 7, 127.22) (= νοικοκυρέοι, see I, 2.8.1) φλαμπουραράοι MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 222.9–10 οἱ δὲ κουμμερκιαρέοι Vios Aisop. K 159.23 νὰ εἶναι αὐτοὶ ἴδιοι νοικοκυράοι (1647, Patras, TSELIKAS 1986a: 1, 669.16) νοικοκυρέγοι (1658, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 5, 652.18) καὶ αὐτοὶ οἱ αφιτσιαλέοι ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 2470; αὐτοὶ οἱ γαρδενάλεοι ibid. 2657 (< καρδινάλιος) συναυλακαράοι οἱ Καραβασιαῖοι (1671, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 69, 319.3) δύο καπεταναῖοι ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 34.18; ὡσὰν νοικοκυράοι ibid. 53.38

At this point there is a fundamental difference in development between nouns in -άριος and the other nouns belonging to this paradigm. As discussed in the introduction to this section (2.7), in nouns in -άριος synizesis and stress shift may occur with this ending, after which [e] becomes [j]. Conservative stress notation may conceal the synizesis, but in verse texts it is apparent enough when ['ei] should be read as one syllable: προβαταράοι, ἀπείραστοι Chron. Toc. 2404 (1st hemistich); σεργέντες καὶ καβαλλαρέοι Chron. Mor. P 3281 (before the caesura). Subsequently /j/ may be deleted, resulting in oxytone forms in -οί:

καβαλλαροὶ κι ἀρχόντισσες Chron. Mor. H 2479; ὡσαύτως κ' οἱ φλαμουριαροὶ ibid. 5286 καβαλλαροὶ ἐξήλθασιν Pol. Tr. 684 app. crit. (AV) οἱ ἀλυκαροὶ Θεσσαλονίκης (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 31, 30.1) μαγκουφαροὶ, βοεβοδάδες (16th c., Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 236.14–15) οἱ πορταροὶ Diig. Alex. Sem. S 70 and Diig. Alex. Sem. B 122 οἱ κουμμερκιαροὶ Vios Aisop. K 159.24 τρεῖς ἄρματωμένοι ἀπελάται καβαλλαροὶ [VLASTOS], Dig. P VII 379.6 σπαχήδες καὶ γιαννιτσαροὶ ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 8072

Sporadically resyllabification (i.e. hypercorrection of synizesis, see I, 2.9.4) may occur: ἐκ τὴν γῆν καβαλλαρίοι Pol. Tr. 576 app. crit. (X); καλοὶ καβαλλαρίοι ibid. 2735 app. crit. (A); κόντοι, καβαλαρίοι τε Diig. tetr. 492 app. crit. (C).

Genitive

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.
		-ίων † -ιῶν † -ιω

This inherited ending remains in use throughout the period covered by this Grammar. The historical shift of the stress to the penultimate is often observed:

πρωτονοταρίων ... χαρτουλαρίων (1079, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 2, 18.20) καβαλλαρίων (post 1306, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 31, 163.[23]8–9) τῶν ἀδελφῶν πραιδεκατουρίων (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 471 tit.)
 παρὰ τῶν τοιοῦτων ἀποκρισιάρων (1361, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 262, 554.55) τῶν φλαμουραρίων Chron. Mor. H 135; καὶ τῶν γαρδιναρίων ibid. 5985 (= καρδινάλιων) δοῦλος πολλῶν κυρίων Ptoch. (Maiuri) 15 καὶ τῶν καβαλαρίων Liv. E 3219, Liv. V 2970 and Liv. α 2439

ἡ μαρτυρία τῶν β' λίζιων Assizes B 458.12 ἐκ τῶν καρβαλαρίων Flor. L 1382 (Cupane) πούλησις οὐ δύναται γενέσθαι βουργεζίων Assizes A 170.23 (< OFr. burgeis < MedLat. burgensis) τῶν εἰρημένων κουμεσαρίων (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 2, 5.16) πολλοὶ ἐξ αὐτῶν τῶν ἀποκρισιαρίων Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 43 ἀπὸ τῶν ἀποκρισαρίων MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 222.22 διὰ παρακαλίας τῶν Σαμίων Vios Aisop. D 230.8 τῶν κουμμερκιαρίων Vios Aisop. K 159.19 app. crit. (A) καταπάνω τῶν Αἰγυπτίων Chron. Tourk. Soult. 116.36 τῶν Ἀρμενίων (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 335.16) εἰς το ἀξίωμα τῶν πατρικίων PORFYROP., Prokop. paraphr. 492.23

Synizesis may render the forms oxytone ([ˈion] > [ˈjon]; see I, 2.9.4): πλῆθος πολλῶν καρβαλαρίων Imber. 783 (reading of ms H) and Velis. χ 393 (reading of ms N); ἐκ χειῖρας τῶν Μακεδονίων Alex. Rim. 1566 (< Μακεδόνιος < Μακεδών), although this is not always reflected in the accentuation (see 1.5 for discussion): πλῆθος πολλῶν καρβαλλαρίων Florios 30 app. crit. (V) and Flor. L 30 (before the caesura).

Forms without a shift of stress to the penultimate also occur (cf. proparoxytone nouns in /os/, 2.1.3), though not many examples have been found: ἡ μαρτυρία τῶν δύο λίζιων Assizes A 206.11; σοφία τῶν Αἰγύπτιων Alex. Rim. 1; λογίων ἀνδρῶν Αἰγύπτιων (app. crit.) (1684–5, Moscow, ŠANGIN 1936: 3, 123.14–15). Deletion of final /n/ has been found in a text from Crete: τῶν καπετάνιω ἐχάρισε πλούτη BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 328.26.

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ων ὁ -ω

This genitive ending has been modelled on its nominative counterpart -οι (see above):

μεγάλων καρβαλάρων Diig. tetr. 251 ἡ τέχνη τῶν λουμπαρδάρων (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.19) τῶν μαγγανάρων (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 57, 61.18) αὐτουπῶν τῶν ἰδίων κατεργάρων (1554, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 216, 191.28) τῶν καρβαλάρων τῶνε (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 41, 61.26) ὁλονῶ μου τῶν γονικάρων (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 51.112)
 ἡ σκόλα τῶν Τσαγγάρων (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 4, 126.3)

Deletion of final /n/ occurs in texts from Crete:

κατὰ τὸ ὀρδενάριον τῶ γονικάρω (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 45, 66.14) τῶν καρβαλάρω ὁλονῶ (1603, Crete, VIOLIDAKIS 2006: 2, 266.13–14) τῶ γονικάρω (1622, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 385, 358.15) τῶ Τζαγγάρω (1665, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 10, 419.3)

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-αίων/-έων ὁ -αίων/-εὼν ὁ -ῶν

This alternative ending had come into being long before the LMedG period (see 2.7, introduction) and remains in use in most of the Greek-speaking area, with the notable exception of Crete and Cyprus. The spelling <έων> versus <αίων> is, of course, just a matter of orthography:

τῶν βουλγησέων Pol. Tr. 2711 (<βουργέσιος) καὶ τῶν καβαλαρέων Liv. α 2439 app. crit. (N) καὶ τῶν καβαλαραίων Imb. Rim. 363 καὶ τῶν γαρδιναλέων Chron. Mor. P 5985 (<καρδινάλιος) καθολικῶν ἐνεντριταρέων (1506, Patmos, MALTEZOU 1970: 2, 362.4) (<ἐντριτάρσιος) τῶν πρωτοκαβαλλαραίων Diig. Alex. V 37.28; τῶν ἀποκρισταραίων ibid. 75.1
μὲ θέλημα καὶ ἐξουσίαν τῶν ποθεσσαραίων (1540, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 85, 62.2) καραβοκυρέων μυτιληναίων (1548, Corfu, PANGRATIS 1999/2000: 1, 41.6) τῶν κουμερκιαρέων Vios Aisop. K 159.19 τῶν συναυλασκαραίων (1665, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 54, 317.3) καβαλλαρέων καὶ πεζῶν VATATSI, Periig. I 740 τῶν ἄνωθε καπεταναίων (1716, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969d: 1, 42.2)

Synizesis is often essentially concealed by the stress notation, but becomes visible in verse texts (for details on stress notation and synizesis see 1.5). Consider the following example, in which the ending clearly needs to be read as one syllable ([ˈjɔn], see I, 2.9.4): τῶν ρυμπαραίων τοῦ δούκα Chron. Toc. 967. After synizesis deletion of /j/ may occur: τὸ αἶμαν τῶν γενιτσαρῶν PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 343; πλῆθος πολλῶν καβαλαρῶν Velis. χ 393 app. crit. (V); ὄχλος πολλὺς τῶν κουμερκιαρῶν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 5.29.

Masc.

Pl.	Gen.	-ίους -ίους -ους

These genitive endings are morphologically identical to those of the accusative (see below) and have been found in texts from Cyprus, though they are likely to have had a wider distribution, as with other paradigms examples have also been found in the Chronicle of Papasynadinos (Macedonia) and in an inscription from the Crimea (see 2.1.3, 2.2.1 and 2.3.3; for a discussion see 1.2). The accent in -ίους may or may not indicate synizesis (see 1.5 for details):

ἐκ τοῦ μέρους τοῦ αὐτοῦ ἀρχιεπισκόπου Λευκουσίας καὶ τοὺς ἀβικαρίους αὐτοῦ Diat. Kypr. 504.2–4 τὸν πόλεμον τοὺς καβαλλαρίου Assizes B 467.21 ἐμήνυσεν ὅλους τοὺς λιζίους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 308.21 μὲ δίκαιον ἐποίησε τοὺς λιζιούς σου ἐκεῖνον τὸ ἐποίησε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 250.12 (= λιζιούς σου with omission of the first accent) χωρὶς βουλὴν τοὺς καβαλλάρους Assizes A 99.22 επῆρεν καὶ πολλὰ χαρκαματικά τοὺς νοικοκύρους VOUSTR., Chron. A 116.16

Accusative

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ίους -ίους -ιούς

The inherited ending -ίους is used in texts throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, The historical shift of the stress to the penultimate is often retained:

εἰς τὴν πρὸς Κορινθίους ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 90.12 Μιχαήλ, Μπεζάνον καὶ Σθλάβον, τσαγγαρίου (1316, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1994: 74, 199.104) τινὰς καβαλλαρίου Dig. G IV.105 τοὺς χεροτεχναρίους Ptoch. III 157 ἐξέπεμψεν ... ἀποκρισαρίου (1361, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 262, 554.41–2) καὶ δύο φλαμουριαρίου Chron. Mor. H 1832; πέντε γαρδιναρίου ibid. 6150 (= καρδιναλίου) ἑκατὸν εἶχεν καβαλαρίου Achil. L 370 ἐστείλεν ... αποκρισαρίου MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 222.16 τοὺς Αἰγυπτίους Vios Aisop. K 196.21 νὰ κρεμάσουν τοὺς ἀποκρισαρίου Alex. Fyll. 42.25

Synizesis may occur in the paroxytone -ίους ending, resulting in a shift of stress and oxytone forms:

δὸς μοι χιλίους καβαλλαρίου Pol. Tr. 4035 ἐπῆρε τοὺς καβελαρίου Chron. Mor. T 224 app. crit. ρηγάδες καὶ καβαλλαρίου Imber. 480 (reading of mss GV) μὴ στείλῃς ἀποκρισαρίου Alex. Rim. 1099

As with the genitive singular and the other cases of the plural the stress notation may obscure the fact that synizesis has taken place (see 1.5 for discussion): τοὺς ἀποκρισαρίου τους Chron. Mor. H 1632 (2nd hemistich); φρεμενουρίου ἀπέστειλεν ibid. 2659; ρηγάδες καὶ καβαλλαρίου Imber. 480 app. crit. (NOH); καβαλλαρίου ἀνδρείους Byz. Il. 239 (2nd hemistich).

Forms without the historical shift of the stress to the penultimate also occur:

νὰ ὁδηγήσουν τοὺς λίζιους Assizes B 215.20 λίζιους νὰ τοὺς κάμω Achil. L 88 ὡσὰν κομεσάριους (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 156, 168.9–10) εἰς τοὺς ἄρχοντες καὶ πατρίκιους τῆς Κωνσταντινούπολης Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.5 πῶς ἔστειλεν ὁ βιζήρης ἀποκρισιάριους εἰς τὴν χώραν BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 531.17 tit.

Conservative stress notation sometimes masks the absence of stress shift, as becomes clear in verse texts: καὶ ὅλους τοὺς φλαμουραρίου Chron. Mor. H 2597 (1st hemistich; read φλαμουράριους); μὲ ἀποκρισιάριους ἐκλεκτοὺς LIMEN., Velis. Λ 618. When there is no shift of the stress, synizesis is likely to take place, though it is usually only visible in verse texts, e.g. πεζοὺς καὶ καβαλλάριους Chron. Mor. H 6802 (2nd hemistich), in which the ending should be read as [jus] (see I, 2.9.4). In non-verse texts the absence of a second stress when the noun is followed by a possessive pronoun confirms that synizesis has indeed taken place: κουμεσάριους μου (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 2, 5.10).

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-ους

This accusative ending has been formed by analogy with its nominative counterpart in -οι (see above):

τοὺς καβαλάρους μου Dig. E 1393 τοὺς χαρατσάρους (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 302.70) οὐκ ἔχει Νεστούρους μάρτυρες Assizes B 306.25 (< Νεστόριος) καὶ δύο φλαμουριάρους Chron. Mor. P 6383 καλούς καβαλλάρους ψουμάτους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.25 ἔχει δὲ γερακάρους (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 12.32) καὶ ἔξε καπετάνους KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.325 ἐπῆρεν σκύλους καὶ λαγωνάρους MOREZINOS, Klini 83.10–11 (< λαγωνάρης) ἄπου τζι γονικάρους (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 53, 74.22) ὄλους τοὺς κυνηγάρους Poulol. AZ 90 (< κυνηγάρης) ἄπεζούς καὶ καβελλάρους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 28.1; με τοὺς γιανιτζάρους ibid. 60.4–5 (< γιανίτσαρης) με τοὺς συνηθισμένους του καβαλάρους VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 39.30 κατεργοκύρους κι ἄρχοντες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 342.6

Masc.

Pl.	Acc.	-αίους/-έους † -αιούς/-εούς † -ούς

The very common alternative ending -αίους/-έους pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar and can be found in a large geographical area, though, as noted in the introduction to this section (2.7), the ending is virtually absent from texts from Crete or Cyprus.⁸⁸ The spelling with <αι> or <ε> is just a matter of orthography:

τοὺς Κορινθαίους ἐνταῦθα Chron. Mor. H 2810 (but read with synizesis) πεζούς, καβαλλάρους Chron. Toc. 201; συγχαραραίους ἔστειλαν ibid. 640 τὸν πάπαν καὶ τοὺς καρδιναλέους (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.16–17) τοὺς ἀποκρισιάρους SFRANTZIS, Chron. 22. app. crit. (N) καβαλλάρους, ἄρματα Pol. Tr. 96 app. crit. (V) καὶ δύο φλαμουριάρους Chron. Mor. T 1832 ἄλλους Μαραθωναίους Velis. p 382 καπετανέους δέκα (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 63A, 484.11.4) ἔστειλὲν τοῦ ἀποκρισαραίους Diig. Alex. F 158.3 (Lolos) ἠρώτησαν τοὺς πορταραίους Diig. Alex. K 362.24–5; χίλιες χιλιάδες καβαλλαραίους ibid. 350.20 τοὺς ὑποθεσαρέους (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 7, 44.12–13) με τοὺς καπετανέους τουνε (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 5, 261.8) (for τουνε see 5.2.1) με γερακαρέους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 40.20; τέσσαρους φλαμπουριάρους ibid. 119.8 γιανιτζαρέους παλαιούς ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1192; καὶ τοὺς χαρατζαρέους ibid. 1521 εἰς τοὺς κουμερκιάρους Bertoldin. 114.28 τοὺς τσοπαναίους ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ KYPR., Pali 3501 (< τσοπάνης); γιαννιτσαραίους ibid. 3502 ἀπὸ τοὺς χαρατσαρέους (1673, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1918b: 4, 221.10–11) τοὺς νοικοκυρέους (1674, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 84, 49.8) σκοτώνει τοὺς ἀποκρισαραίους Alex. Fyll. 101.24–5 με τοὺς καπετανέους καὶ δεσποτάδες τῆς Ρούμελης (1708, Zakynthos, SATHAS 1865: 524.30–1)

Synizesis may take place in this ending, although it is often masked by conventional stress notation (see 1.5 for discussion): τοὺς ἄρχοντας καὶ βουργησέους Chron. Mor. H 2256 ⁸⁸ Note that Ioakeim, although Cypriot by origin, shows great morphological variety and happily borrows elements from other regions. There are 14 examples in Bounialis's Cretan War, remarkably few for a text of this length, but it must be borne in mind that the text has come down to us in one Venetian edition, which was most probably edited by a Corfiot (the person who added the encomiastic verses at the beginning of the edition).

(before the caesura); τοὺς ἀρχιερεῖς καὶ βουργισέους ibid. 5848 (before the caesura); καβαλλάρεους νὰ φέρουσιν Pol. Tr. 1644 app. crit. (V); ἐπῆρεν δύο καβαλλάρεους Chron. Mor. P 172 (before the caesura). After synizesis [j] may be deleted:

τινὰς ἐκ τοὺς καβαλαροὺς Imb. Rim. 94 τοὺς πορταροὺς ἐχαιρέτησεν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 153 and B 122; ἄρχοντας καὶ φλαμπουραροὺς ibid. B 1089 νέους πεζοὺς καὶ καβαλαροὺς Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 85.35 σπαχήδες καὶ γιαντισαροὺς IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1719

Vocative

Masc.

Pl.	Voc.	-ιοι -οι -αῖοι/-έοι (-ίοι) (-οί)

The vocative endings are identical to those of the nominative and show the same variation, though predictably the number of examples found is limited (for discussion of the variants, see the nominative, above):

περίβλεπτοι αὐθένται σινιὸρ καπετάνιοι (1415, Skyros, LEMERLE et al. 1979: App. XVII, 216.1) ὦ Σάμιοι Vios Aisop. K 190.9

ἐλᾶτε καβαλάροι Dig. E 1237

ὦ καπετάνιοι KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.143 σώφρονες καβαλλάροι ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 918

ὦ συντρόφοι μου ... πρωτοκαβαλλαραῖοι Diig. Alex. F 94.11 (Lolos)

2.7.2 Transfers to Other Paradigms

The majority of nouns belonging to this paradigm may make a full transfer to paradigm 2.3.4 of masculine nouns in /is/, with the notable exception of most nouns denoting geographical provenance such as Αἰγύπτιος, Πελοποννήσιος, Σάμιος, though a form Ἀρμένης does exist: ἔναν Ἀρμένην Assizes A 57.5. For a similar development in neuter nouns in /ion/ > /in/ see 2.20; in adjectives, see 3.2.6. There is some disagreement in the literature whether the reasons for the change are phonological, morphological or a combination of both (for an overview see FILOS 2009), but as far as the singular is concerned the development certainly pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar by many centuries. Gignac's earliest examples date to the 1st c. AD and they consist of proper names such as Διονῦσις (< Διονύσιος), Ἀντώνις (< Ἀντώνιος), nouns denoting profession, e.g. γέρδης (< γέρδιος), and the word κύρις (< κύριος) (GIGNAC 1981: 25–7). Such forms can be found in texts throughout the subsequent period, e.g. among many others: voc. κύρι in Philogelos and in Ephraem the Syrian (4th c.); κύρις in Theodoret of Cyrrhus (4th/5th c.), δρακονάρις in Moschos (6th c.), καβαλλάρης and Βηλίσάρην (< Βελισάριος) in Chronicon paschale (7th c.); τὸν φακτιονάριν in De Ceremoniis (10th c.) (for these examples see the online TLG); and Μαυρίκις ὁ εὐσεβέστατος καὶ θεοφύλακτος ἡμῶν δεσπότης (582–602, Crimea, LATYSHEV 1896: 99, 109.3–4). Some LMedG and EMG examples are:

τὸν κύρ Εὐφήμην (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 307.11) Ἰωάννης καβσάλης (1149, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 18, 121.3) τοῦ κελλάρη (1154, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 63, 324.5); σίγνον Ἀθανασίου μοναχοῦ τοῦ τζαγγάρη (ibid. 324.8) χωρικὸν νοτάρην Ptoch. 199
 ὁ Μάρτης Liv. V 887
 ὁ δοῦλος τοῦ Θεοῦ Ἰωαννίκης (ca. 1406, Pontos, BRYER 1976: 9, 133.1) σιτάρην ἀξάζει ο μόδης πέρπυρον ἓνα Assizes B 300.28 (< ὁ μόδιος) καὶ γὰρ Σταμάτης ὁ Τουροῦς (1472 [copy of 1604], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 107, 216.16)
 βουτηκλάρης τὴν τέχνην (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 43, 75.25) τὸν ταβερνάρη (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 218.7) τοῦ ἐγγονιοῦ τῆς τοῦ Ἀναστάσης (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 108.18)

The plural formation of these nouns remains with the -ιος paradigm until the imparisyllabic plural in -ηδες becomes available for -ης, the first written evidence for which dates to the 15th c. (see 2.3.4).

Lexically, the noun κύριος and its compounds may make a full transfer to the oxytone -ός paradigm (2.1.1).⁸⁹ The starting point for this development is an oxytone genitive form κυροῦ, which pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar by many centuries, appearing e.g. in a 2nd-c. papyrus (BGU 1 204; see www.papyri.info) and in Malalas (6th c.; see the online TLG for more examples; see also LBG, s.v. κύρος).⁹⁰ This oxytone genitive remains in general use throughout the period under review, also spreading to new compounds such as καρaboκύριος:

κυροῦ Κωνσταντίνου τοῦ Μονομάχου (1056, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 31, 77.3); τοῦ κυροῦ Ζωσίμου (1113, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 75, 97.28) κυροῦ Θεοδώρου Ptoch. I tit. τοῦ καρaboκυροῦ Assizes A 48.27
 κυροῦ Ἀνδρέα τοῦ Ντόνου (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 8, 17.32) διὰ χρέος τοῦ κυροῦ του τοῦ Κωσταντῆ (1587, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 147, 271.7) τοῦ οἰκοκυροῦ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 13.27; τοῦ κιουροῦ τῶνε (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 27, 41.7) (= κυροῦ, see I, 2.4.6.2)

From here the stress pattern spread to all cases singular and plural:

τὸν κυρὸν Νιέλην (1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 16, 208.16) τὸν τιμιώτατον καθηγούμενον κυρὸν Ἠλίαν (12th c., Macedonia, PETIT 1900: 3, 90.7) ὁ βασιλεὺς κυρὸς Μανουήλ ὁ Κομνηνός (1181, S. Italy, LAMBROS 1910: 23, 133.2) ὁ κυρὸς Παῦλος (1288, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 228.25) τὸν ἱερομόναχον κυρὸν Κλήμην τὸν Παλαιολόγον (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 16, 28.8)

⁸⁹ Note that other nouns in -ιος develop oxytone forms in the plural, but that it is in principle a phonological development with a different geographical spread, as these forms do not occur in Crete and Cyprus, whereas those of κύριος do.

⁹⁰ Oxytone nominatives, datives and accusatives can also be found in learned Byzantine texts, e.g. κυρῶ in Moschos and John of Damascus, κυρὸν in the Diataxis of Michael Attaleiates (11th c.) and in the historical poems by Theodore Prodromos (12th c.); κυρὸς in the Letters of Nicetas Stethatos (11th c.) (see the online TLG for numerous examples).

ὡς γνήσιοι καὶ κύριοι οἰκοκυροὶ (1422, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 19, 132.15) οἱ καραβοκυροὶ οἱ Γενουβίσοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 138.3 ἀμ' ἦτονε νοικοκυροὶ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 528.10 νά 'ναι ἐσᾶς τῶν νοικοκυρῶν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 26, 26.14) αυτοὺς τους καραβοκυροὺς IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 984

2.8 Masculine Nouns in -ιός

Words belonging to this paradigm have only been found in LMedG and EMG texts from Cyprus. In all cases these words are local variants of masculine words in -τής (BEAUDOIN 1884: 71; HADJIOANNOU 1964: 300; SYMEONIDIS 2006: 207; for masc. nouns in -τής see 2.3.1). Only words consisting of more than two syllables appear to follow this paradigm, as no examples of e.g. *κριτιός for κριτής have been found. The earliest examples are from Assizes B (15th-c. ms).

	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	δανειστιός
Gen.	δανειστιοῦ
	δανειστιό
Acc.	δανειστιόν
Voc.	—
Plural
Nom.	δανειστιόδες	δανειστιότες
Gen.	δανειστιόδες	δανειστιούς
Acc.	δανειστιόδες
Voc.	—

Singular

Nominative

ὁ πουλητιός Assizes B 286.22; ὁ δανειστιός ibid. 309.29; ὁ πρῶτος ἀγκαλειτιός ibid. 353.12 ὁ δανειστιός Assizes A 9.17; ὁ ἀμαχευτιός ibid. 64.27 νά εἶσαι δυνατός καὶ βουθιστιός ἀπὲ τὸ κορμί σου Fior 126.34

Genitive

τοῦ πουλητιοῦ Assizes B 250.21; τοῦ ἀγκαλειτιοῦ ibid. 275.10; τοῦ ἀπολογητιοῦ ibid. 275.13 τοῦ δανειστιοῦ Fior 149.39 τοῦ πουλητιοῦ Assizes A 5.22

Several examples of a genitive in -ιό have been found in Assizes B, cf. genitives in -ό in the masculine /os/ paradigm (2.1):

τοῦ πουλητιό Assizes B 251.18; τοῦ ἀγοραστιό ibid. 286.11; τὸ χριωστεῖ τοῦ δανειστιό ibid. 304.30; ἐνοῦ πουλητιό ibid. 448.8 (spelled -ιῶ in the edition)

Accusative

The accusative singular always retains final /n/:

ἐναν μεταπουλητιόν Assizes B 293.12; τὸν δανειστιόν ibid. 294.7

Vocative

No example of a vocative has been found.

Plural

The plural of Cypriot words in -ιός is usually imparisyllabic:

Nominative

οἱ ἐμπιστευτιόδες Assizes A 160.9

One example of a form in -ότες has been found in Assizes. If this is not a simple writing mistake, it could represent a hypercorrect form, which can be explained by fluctuation between /ð/ and /d/ and the fact that in this dialect [t] often replaces [d] (see 3.8.3.4 for details):

οἱ ἐμπιστευτιότες Assizes B 411.24

Genitive

As these plural endings are unique to Cypriot, the genitive plural endings are identical to those of the accusative (see 1.2 for discussion). There is no interference from a “dominant” paradigm and therefore no pressure to form the genitive in *-ιόδων. In Assizes there is one instance of a parasyllabic genitive plural:

τὰ δικαιώματα τοὺς δανειστιόδες Assizes B 309.14 να τὸν παραδῶση τοὺς ἐνπιστευτιοὺς Assizes B 411.21

Accusative

τοὺς δανειστιόδες Assizes B 309.14 and 388.14 να πλερώση τοὺς ἐμπιστευτιόδες Assizes A 160.10–11

Vocative

No example of a vocative has been found.

2.9 Irregular and Indeclinable Masculine Nouns

With the demise of the 3rd declension most masculine nouns had become regularized by transferring to the 1st and 2nd declensions. However, certain nouns remain in use, showing varying degrees of morphological innovation. Compared with the dominant paradigms these nouns may be viewed as irregular in the period covered by this Grammar.

Greek being an inflected language throughout its history, indeclinable nouns in Greek are – with very few exceptions – loanwords, which may remain indeclinable or adapt to Greek morphology. Loanwords that have been fully adapted to Greek morphology are included in the relevant conjugation sections, whereas indeclinable loanwords are included below.

This overview does not aim to be comprehensive. For nouns not included here the reader is referred to the dictionary of Kriaras.

2.9.1 Irregular Nouns

2.9.1.1 δρῦς

The originally feminine noun δρῦς (for which see 2.17.1) may undergo gender change and become masculine, a development that pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar (see LSJ s.v.). The feminine article is sometimes reinterpreted as being part of the noun, leading to ὁ ἰδρῦς:

τοῦ ξηροῦ δρυός (1062, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 35, 103.25); τοὺς δύο μεγάλους δρύας (1090–4, ibid. 45, 161–162.17) ἐκ τούς δρύας ERMON., Ilias 21.310 ἰδρὺς μέγας (1496, Athos, OIKONOMIDÈS 1968: 39, 185.14) ὁ ποῖος δρῦς (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 25, 44.3–4); τοῦ λεγομένου δρυῖ (ibid. 44.4); τὸ δρῦν ὅπου ἔχου (1609, ibid. 572, 508.3) σὲ ἔναν δρῦν Bertoldin. 113.27; ὁ ὁποῖος δρῦς ibid. 113.28 τὴν φλούδαν τοῦ δρυός LANDOS, Geopon. 254.4

Sporadic attempts occur to regularize the noun, e.g. by lending it a 2nd-declension ending: ἄγριους ἰδρύους γεμάτος Theseid VII.37,1 (1529).

Furthermore, it has an alternative imparisyllabic plural δρυάδες; a corresponding singular δρυάς has not been found in the texts examined: ἀμπέλι ... μὲ δρυάδες κληματερούς (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 64, 84.5); δρυάδες δέκα μισσοῦς μεγάλους (1611, ibid. 726, 629.8–9); τοὺς δρυάδες (1684, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 19, 51.20).

2.9.1.2 ἰχθύς

The noun ἰχθύς, which had long been superseded by its morphologically more transparent synonym ὀψάριον, clearly belongs to a more formal register, and is not very common in the period covered by this Grammar. The ancient variant ἰχθῦς for acc. pl. is much rarer than ἰχθύας:

σήμερον ἰχθύς οὐ τρώγεται Ptoch. IV 141; ἰχθύν γὰρ οὐκ ἐσθίομεν ibid. 318 ἰχθύων Phys. 116; ὁ ἰχθύς ibid. 120; ἄρρενες ἰχθύες ibid. 126 οἱ ἰχθύες ἀπαξάπαντες εἶπαν Opsarol. 85 τὸ δικαίωμαν τοῦ ἰχθύος τοῦ ἄρμυροῦ Assizes 489.6 <καί> ἐποίησεν βιβάρια πανθαύμαστα ἰχθύων Dig. E 1638; τοὺς ἰχθύας ibid. 1811 πετραίους ἰχθύας STAFIDAS, Iatrosof. 4.97 ὥς ἔνι ἡ θάλασσα ἀλμυρά, διατί οἱ ἰχθύες εἰσὶ γλυκεῖς; Paroim. B 112 τοὺς ἀδόλους τοὺς ἰχθῦς Plani kosmou 45 ὥσπερ ἰχθύας IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5730

An attempt at regularization is the following genitive singular, which is formed by dropping the final /s/ of the nominative (cf. masc. nouns in /is/, 2.3): στοῦ ἰχθὺ τὴν καρδιά Theseid III.5,8 (1529).

2.9.1.3 πῆχυς

The masculine noun πῆχυς has an alternative masculine in -ας, and feminines in -η as well as -α (see the introductions to 2.2, 2.11, 2.12). The old forms occur only occasionally: ἔξη πήχεις Om. Nekt. Vas. 67; ἐν ταβλομάντηλον πήχεων τριῶν (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 14, 24.15–16); πανὶ πήχεις τριανταδύο (1531, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 20, 66.12). The old forms are sometimes reinterpreted as feminine: πανίον πήχεις τετρακόσται (1325, Veroia?/Macedonia, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 64, 355.58).

2.9.2 Indeclinable Nouns

2.9.2.1 ἀγαπῶ

This substantivized verbal form is a reanalysis of the relative clauses τὸν ἀγαπῶ “the one I love” (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ἀγαπῶ ὅ), e.g.: ὧς ποτε ζῶ καὶ φαίνομαι, τὸν ἀγαπῶ οὐκ ἄρνούμαι Katal. 72; νὰ ᾿χω περίσσιους ἀγαπῶ ΣΟΥΜΜΑΚΙΣ, Past. Fid. C2r.21 and Pist. voskos I 3.179. For a different interpretation see 5.9.1.2.

2.9.2.2 λάς

The noun ὁ λάς occurs in Cypriot Greek. It is considered to be a “contraction” of λαός (e.g. KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. λαός), hence the circumflex in many modern editions. However, it is much more likely to be a loanword, from Occitan las meaning “commoner”, “peasant”, “minion” or “serf” (see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v. las (7) and GODEFROY, Lex. s.v. las (2)), which underwent a semantic generalization and came to mean “men”, “people”, both in the (collective) singular and in the plural:

πολλὸς λᾶς (14th, Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 27, 206.3.6); ὁ πρόλοιπος λᾶς τῆς χώρας (ibid. 209.4.3) τὰ σπίτια τοὺς λᾶς (15th, Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 210.8.4) ἐπυρῶνουνταν οἱ λᾶς (1469, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 117, 56.6) τοὺς καλοὺς λᾶς Assizes A 50.14 οἱ λᾶς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.15; ψέμα λαλεῖτε, λᾶς τῆς μέσης ibid. 486.30 τους λας της χώρας VOUSTR., Chron. A 6.18; τον ορισμόν τοὺς λας του αρχιπίσκοπου ibid. 230.15 ἡ ποιὰ δὲν εἶναι εἰς τὸ πογέριν τοὺς λᾶς Fior 82.14–15 μὲ γέροντες λᾶς Fior Suppl. 275.1

τοὺς λᾶς τοῦ φουσάτου Pist. kekoim. 73

2.10 Alternative Plural Formations of Masculine Nouns

There is more than average variation in the plural formations of surnames, and to a lesser degree given names and names denoting geographical provenance. Regionally and lexically an alternative plural -οὔδες occurs with two nouns denoting family relations, namely κύρης and θεῖος. With one exception (2.10.7) there is a clear preference for imparisyllabic plurals.

2.10.1 -αῖοι

The ending -αῖοι is used with proper names in -ος, -ας and especially -ης. Its declension is that of masculine nouns in -ος (2.1.2), and it shows the same variation in the genitive plural regarding addition of -(ν)ε and deletion of final /n/ (for which see also I, 2.6.3.1 and I, 3.7.2.2):

- καὶ Κατακουζηναῖοι Velis. χ 313 app. crit. (V) (< Καντακουζηνός); καὶ Κοντοστεφαναῖοι ibid. 316 (< Κοντοστέφανος) οἱ Παπαδαταῖοι (1551, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 46, 88.7) (< Παπαδάτος) τοῦ Μπολαίωνε (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 89, 94.49) (< Ποῦλος); τοῦν Ἀμαρανταῖω (1645, ibid. 322, 247.3) (< Ἀμάραντος) ἀδελφοὶ Μπουλτζαῖοι (1686?, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 360.4) (< Μπουλτζος) οἱ Μιχολιναῖοι (1547, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: I, 70.8) (< Μιχολίνας) τοὺς Γαβραίους (post 1666, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 52, 316.3) (< Γαβράς) εἰς τοὺς Μαζαρακαίους Chron. Toc. 1492 (< Μαζαράκης); ὅλοι οἱ Ζενεβεσαῖοι ibid. 3194 (< Ζενεβέσης) τῶν Μποχαλαίων SFRANTZIS, Chron. 154.18; Μποχαλαῖοι ibid. 162.1 (< Μπόχαλης) Λονταραῖοι Velis. χ 315 (< Λεοντάρης) Ραλλαῖοι KORONAIOS, Pittakin 81; Μποχαλαῖοι ibid. 82 οἱ Τορναραῖοι (1535, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 4, 120.13) (< Τορνάρης); τῶν Μουζακαίων (1589, ibid. 31, 172.5) (< Μουζάκης) οἱ Πουχαλαῖοι (1547, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: I, 70.8) (< Πούχαλης); τῷ Ματριταῖω (1666, ibid. IX, 75.5) (< Ματρίτης); τῶν Ματριταίωνε (1691, ibid. XVIII, 79.23) τῶν Μαζαρακαίων (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 35, 76.9) οἱ Χαρατσαράοι (1575 [copy of 1653], Epirus, LAMBROS 1916b: 8, 135.4–5) (< Χαρατσάρης) τῶν ἔνωθεν Ποργιαραίων (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 222, 133.12) (< Πόργιαρης) τῶν Κοντογιαννιάουε (17th c., Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1960: II.B 32, 132.13) (= -αίωνε, see I, 2.8.3) οἱ Ἀμυγδαλαῖοι (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969k: 18, 111.15) (< Ἀμυγδάλης) τοῦ Καταποδαίωνε (1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 179, 153.10); εἰς τῷ Κοντομανωλαίωνε (ibid. 201, 168.9); τοῦ Μαρουλαίωνε (1644, ibid. 292, 230.15) (< Μαρούλης) τοῦ Γιαννικακαίωνε (1653, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 215, 187.61) τοὺς Διγενάους (post 1666, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 52, 316.3) (< Διγενής) ἀπὸ τὴν γενεάν τῶν Γουζελαίων (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: I, 108.19–20) (< Γουζέλης)

Sometimes the ending is employed with nouns denoting geographical provenance: ἄς ποῦμε καὶ Ἰταλαίων Synax. gyn. 344 (< Ἰταλός); τῶν Πουρτογαλαίων Alosis 509 (< Πορτογάλος); οἱ Παλαιστιναῖοι KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.30 (< Παλαιστίνος).

2.10.2 -άδες

The plural ending -άδες is not only used with proper names in -ας (for which see 2.2.1) and -ης (2.3.1), but also with names in -ος and sometimes with foreign proper names. In the genitive final /n/ may be deleted (I, 3.7.2.2) or -(ν)ε may be added (I, 2.6.3.1):

Περατικάδων, Κυπριανάδες (1347, Corfu, KARYDIS 2016: 2, 175.5) (< Περατικός, Κυπριανός) από τους Κινναμάδας Poulol. 275 (< Κίνναμος); από τους Σεβαστάδας ibid. 277 (< Σεβαστός) από τους Άργυράδες (1501, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 65, 99.12) (place name < family name Άργυρός)
 τῶν Ἀγαπητάδων (1547, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 32, 63.6) (< Ἀγαπητός) οἱ ἄνωθεν Βαλοσαμάδες (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 38, 40.7) (< Βάλσαμος); τοὺς ἄνωθεν Τρουγιανάδες (1582, ibid. 159, 100.5) (< Τρουγιάνος) τοὺς Ἀβλιχάδες (1600, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 29, 22.10) (< Ἀβλιχος) Δημοσιανάδων καὶ Ἀντριοιάδων ἀγάπη (1619, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 1, 187.31) (< Δημοσιάνος) τοῦ ἄνωθε Βρετάδωνε (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 82, 87.9) (< Βρετός; for the article τοῦ(ν) see 5.2.1); οἱ ἄνωθε Βρετάδες (ibid. 88.10); τῷ Βλασποουλάδω (1643, ibid. 261, 208.26) (< Βλασπόπουλος); κύρ Νικολὸς Ἀμάρατος καὶ κύρ Νικολὸς Μαυρίκης ... οἱ ἄνωθε Νικολάδες
 (ibid. 263, 209.6)
 ἀδελφοὶ Βλαχάδες (1669, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999a: 2, 277.2) (< Βλάχος) καὶ ἦσαν τὸν τόπον οἱ Λαζανιάδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 142.9 (< Fr. Lusignan) τοὺς Τελαζανιάδες VOUSTR., Chron. A 152.3 (< Fr. de Lusignan); τοὺς Τελουζουνιάδες id., Chron. M 153.2–3

2.10.3 -ηδες

The plural ending -ηδες is not only used with proper names in -ης (for which see 2.3.4), but also with proper names in -ος and with nouns in -ος that denote geographical provenance. It is probably a coincidence that no genitive forms have been found:

οἱ δύο Λέηδες (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 15, 13.14) (< Λέος) με τσι Ἀνέστηδες (1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 721.22–3) (< Ἀνέστος) οἱ Πελεκάνηδες (1683, Naxos, SIFONΙΟΥ-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 323, 524.25–6) (< Πελεκάνος) Ἀνδρέας καὶ Πιέρος ἀδελφοὶ Δρόσιδες SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 43.1–2 (< Δρόσος) με τοῦ(ς) Σπανιόλιδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 672.16 (< Σπανιόλος) Σπανιόλους καὶ Μουρλάκηδες Stathis III.15 (< Μορλάκος) Σκλαβούνοι καὶ Καζάκηδες 8361; που πήσαν οἱ Μαλτέζηδες ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 5482 (< Μαλτέζος)
 Σαπνιόλοι καὶ Βαλόνηδες STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 934 (Pidonia) (< Βαλλόνος); Σέρβοι καὶ Μολδοβάνηδες ibid. 936 (< Μολδοβάνος)

2.10.4 -άντοι

Pontic surnames may have an imparisyllabic plural formation in -άντοι (nom.), -άντων (gen.) and -άντας (acc.) (cf. ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1958: 383–6 for the modern dialect):

τῶν Γενακάντων (13th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 105, 64.1) (< Γενάκης); ἀπὸ τοὺς Γουσμανάντας (1292, ibid. 115, 85.21) (< Γουσμάνος); τῶν Αὔλιανιτάντων (15th c., ibid. 6, 3.8) (< Αὔλιανίτης); τῶν Μαρκιανάντων (15th c., ibid. 166, 116.6) (< Μαρκιανός); με τοὺς Χαψάντας (15th/16th c., ibid. 145, 108.3) (< Χαψάς); οἱ Λαλατζάντοι (16th c., ibid. 186, 123.1) (< Λαλάτζης); πλησίον τῶν Κουνουκάντων (1564, ibid. 181, 121.2–3) (< Κουνούκης); με τοὺς Κουνουκάντας (ibid. 121.6).

2.10.5 -οὔδες

Lexically this ending is employed with the nouns κύρης (in its meaning “father”) and θεῖος (“uncle”) by analogy with the semantically related noun παπποῦς (“grandfather”, see 2.5) (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 18), which appears in written sources from the 11th c. onwards (see LBG, s.v.).

The plural κυροῦδες occurs regionally, in texts from Cyprus, Crete, Chios, Rhodes:

τῶν κυρούδων Alosis 198; κυροῦδες, μάννες καὶ παιδία ibid. 257 ἀπὸ δύο κυρούδες (1530, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 137, 248.8) οἱ κυροῦδες P&N Diath. 761 ὁ κύρις ... οἱ κυρούδες GERMANO, Grammar 62.7 οἱ δύο κυροῦδες (1628, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 2, 334.7) δύο κυρούδων Pist. voskos V 5.346; δυὸ κυροῦδες, σὲ καὶ μένα ibid. V 6.375 δυὸ κυροῦδες ἔχεις FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.154; οἱ κυροῦδες ibid. V.286 κυροῦδες καὶ ἄλλους συγγενεῖς AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 164

In specific phonetic environments final /s/ may be deleted in texts from south-western areas, e.g. οἱ κυροῦδε μας TROILOS, Rodol. I.129 (Aposkiti). For details and more examples see I, 3.7.1.1. Deletion of final /n/ in the genitive has been found in a text from Crete (see I, 3.7.2.2 for details): κυρούδω καὶ μαννάδω P&N Diath. 213.

The plural θειοῦδες occurs in the chronicle of Machairas (Cyprus): οἱ θειοῦδε<ς> σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 404.25 (with omission of final /s/ to avoid a geminate pronunciation, see I, 3.4); τοὺς θειοῦδες μου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 404.32; οἱ θειοῦδες τοῦ ρηγὸς ibid. 450.33.

In a document from S. Italy, the ending -οὔδες is used with two proper names in /os/ (see CARACAUSI, Lex. s.v.): τῶν Πουτζοῦδων ... τῶν Κουτζοῦδων (ca. 1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 165.37–9) (< Πούτζος and Κουτζός).

2.10.6 -άτοι

This ending, now typical of Kefalonian surnames in both the singular and the plural, occurs twice in the Chronicle of Tocco as well as in documents from Icaria (cf. CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 454–5): τοὺς Κατακουζηνάτους Chron. Toc. 2155 tit. and 2174 (< Καντακουζηνός); τῶν Λαγουδάτων (1656, Icaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 21, 30.4–5) (< Λαγός, with addition of a morpheme <ουδ>); τῶ Ρουσιάτωνο (1670, ibid. 42, 42.4) (< Ροῦσος) (for vowel addition see I, 2.6.3); οἱ Λαγουδάτοι (1678, Icaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 61, 52.3–4). In one instance -άτοι becomes -άτες: μὲ τοὺς Λαγουδάτες (1656, ibid. 21, 30.6).

2.10.7 -οι

In the archive of the Cretan notary Varouchas we find plural forms in -οι, -ων, -ους for his own surname: οἱ ἄνωθεν ἀφέντες Βαρούχοι (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 311, 296.14); τῶν ἄνωθεν ἀφεντῶ Βαρούχων (ibid. 296.25); τσι ἄνωθεν ἀφέντες Βαρούχους (ibid. 297.30).

FEMININE

2.11 Feminine Nouns in /a/

The AG 1st-declension nouns in -ά and -α comprised oxytone, paroxytone and proparoxytone nouns; e.g. ἄγορά, δόξα, μέλισσα. In Attic the <α> in these endings was either long or short, resulting in two sets of singular endings, e.g. long $\bar{\alpha}$: οἰκία, οἰκίας, οἰκία, οἰκίαν, οἰκία; short α: δόξα, δόξης, δόξη, δόξαν, δόξα. With the loss of vowel length distinction these two groups converged, through an initial period of confusion, into a paradigm in which the vowel [a] of the nominative prevailed in all cases of the singular (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 77; see GIGNAC 1981: 3–11 for numerous examples of mutual borrowing in the Roman period). In the same period, the nom. pl. ending -αι/-αί of the 1st declension came to be replaced by the nom. pl. ending -ες/-ές of the 3rd declension. From the 2nd century onwards the -ες/-ές ending also started to spread to the accusative plural (see DIETERICH 1898: 157–8 and GIGNAC 1981: 46–7).

New nouns in -α emerged when the 3rd declension was remodelled (cf. masculine nouns in /as/, 2.2), which saw many words obtaining a new paroxytone or proparoxytone nom. sg. in -α, built on the analogy of the accusative singular, which with the loss of vowel length distinction and the subsequent optional addition of final /n/ had become identical to the acc. sg. of the 1st declension (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 79–80; DIETERICH 1898: 160; HORROCKS 2010: 285–8). Thus: ἀκτίς > ἀκτίνα; γυνή > γυναίκα; ἑβδομάς > ἑβδομάδα; εἰκών > εἰκόνα; ἑλπίς > ἑλπίδα; θρίξ > τρίχα; φλόξ > φλόγα; μήτηρ > μητέρα; ἀνθρωπότης > ἀνθρωπότητα; ἔρις > ἔριδα; κλίμαξ > κλίμακα. The full transition is usually dated in the first centuries AD. The earliest example found so far of a fem. nom. sg. in -α is θυγατέρα, which occurs twice on an Egyptian mummy label datable to the 3rd c. AD (SB 1 1735)⁹¹ (cf. masculine nouns in /as/, so far with first written evidence in the 5th c. AD).

The LMedG and EMG feminine nouns in /a/ can be divided into five paradigms, each with their own characteristics. Paradigm 2.11.1, the oxytone paradigm, consists of two sub-paradigms, which comprise a fairly limited number of nouns: 2.11.1.1 includes old 1st-declension nouns such as ἄγορά, ἀναφορά, γενεά, διαφορά, θεά, οὐρά, σπορά, συμφορά, φορά, φωλεά, χαρά and others, as well as newer words such as βολά. These nouns have a parasyllabic plural formation and develop imparisyllabic plural forms only regionally; 2.11.1.2 covers nouns with a widespread alternative imparisyllabic plural, consisting of inherited nouns such as πε(ν)θερά, newer formations such as βαβιά and κυρά/κερά, and loanwords such as ἄμπά (< Turk. aba), ὀκά (< Turk. okka), ζαφορά (< Ven. zafaràn) and nouns in -ιτά borrowed from Italian such as σιγουριτά.

Paradigm 2.11.2, the paroxytone paradigm, is much larger and also consists of two sub-paradigms: 2.11.2.1 comprises inherited paroxytone 1st-declension nouns with a parasyllabic plural formation and a historical shift of the stress to the ultimate in the genitive plural, which is often though not always observed, such as γλώσσα, ἡμέρα, κατάρα, μοίρα, ρίζα, τρύπα, χήρα, χώρα; innovative paroxytone forms of old 3rd-declension nouns with the same characteristics, such as, among others, αῖγα, γυναῖκα, νύκτα, προῖκα; newer words such as μύγα (< μύγια < AG μυῖα), ζέστα, πίτ(τ)α, προβάτα (< πρόβατον); and singular formations of place names that were originally plural, such as Ἀθήνα (< Ἀθηναί), Θήβα (< Θῆβαι), Πάτρα (< Πάτραι). The paradigm also includes loanwords such as κάπα (< MedLat. capa), κάτα (< MedLat. catta), κασέλα (< Ven. cassèla), κορτίνα (< MedLat. cortina), κερέλλα (< Fr. querelle), γκέρρα (< Fr. guerre); κόττα (< Fr. cotte/Ital. cotta), λουμπάρδα (< Ital. lombarda), σκρόφα (< Lat. scrofa), σπέζα (< Ital. spesa), στράτα (< Ital. strada), τσάμπρα (< Occit. chambra). Imparissyllabic plural forms are lexical for this paradigm (μάννα and χήρα).

⁹¹ See www.papyri.info. This example is not in GIGNAC 1981: 63, whose first occurrence, ἡ μητέρα in P. Michael. 39, is datable to the 4th–7th c.

Sub-paradigm 2.11.2.2 consists of paroxytone nouns with a parisyllabic plural but historically without a shift of the stress in the genitive plural. This group includes innovative forms of former 3rd-declension plurissyllabic oxytone nouns such as ἄκτινα, ἄμαζόνα, ἀκρίδα, γαστέρα, ἑβδομάδα, εἰκόνα, Ἑλλάδα, ἐλπίδα and paroxytone ones such as θυγατέρα, μητέρα. Also included are newer formations such as ἀγελάδα, γαϊδάρα, diminutives in -ούδα, -ούλα, -οπούλα, -ίτσα and italianate -έτα (e.g. καθενέτα). The sub-paradigm also covers loanwords such as βερτούδα (< Ital. vertute), ἰντράδα (< Ven. intràda). Many nouns belonging to this paradigm do not appear to form a genitive plural at all (as in SMG).

Paradigm 2.11.3, the proparoxytone paradigm, is also very large and can be divided into two sub-paradigms: 2.11.3.1 includes inherited 1st-declension nouns in -α such as βασιλίσσα, δέσποινα, θάλασσα, μέλισσα, τράπεζα, nouns in -αῖνα and -εσσα, and nouns in -εῖα such as βοήθεια, συμπάθεια and others, which all have a parisyllabic plural formation and often retain the historical shift of the stress to the ultimate in the genitive plural. It also covers place names of Slavic origin in -ιτζα/-ιτσα (singular only) such as Κράβιτζα, Ἰωάννιτζα, Ρίμνιτζα, Στρούμπιτζα, and loanwords such as νέσπολα (< Ven. nespola). Proparoxytone nouns in -(ε)ῖα may become paroxytone through synizesis, which is best visible in verse texts: ὦ πάπια σεισοκῶλα Poulol. AZ 45 app. crit. (Z) (trisyllabic in A: πάπια σεισοκῶλα); μόσχος τῆς Ἀλεξάνδρειας Katal. 349; στα μέρη τσ' Αντιόχειας Apoll. Rim. N 1678; γιατί τσ' ἀλήθειας μοιάζου KORNAOS, Erot. V.1444.

Sub-paradigm 2.11.3.2 consists of innovative formations of former 3rd-declension paroxytone nouns, which have a parisyllabic plural and present a shift of the stress to the penultimate in the genitive plural, e.g. ἄλωπεκα (< ἄλώπηξ), κλίμακα (< κλίμαξ), λάρνακα (< λάρναξ), ὄρνιθα (< ὄρνις), πέρδικα (< πέρδιξ), πτέρυγα (< πτέρυξ), χάριτα (< χάρις). The sub-paradigm also includes nouns in -τητα (< -της), a very productive ending used in both inherited nouns such as γλυκύτητα, ἡμερότητα, μεγαλειότητα, νεότητα, and new nouns, e.g. ἐδικότητα “family” (< ἐδικός), πανιερότητα, σπουδότητα. Other new words in this category include ἄργητα, ἄργητα, ἔχθητα, κάκητα and μάνητα. These words are sometimes spelled with <ι> instead of <η>.

Nouns in which the ending -α is preceded by /e/ or /i/ are treated as separate paradigms because they show their own characteristics and (regional) variation. For the sake of descriptive convenience /e/ and /i/ are treated as belonging to the ending rather than the stem of the noun. Paradigm 2.11.4 covers paroxytone nouns in -έα, both inherited, such as ἀπιδέα, γραῖα, ἐλαῖα, μηλέα, and newer formations, such as ζυγαρέα, καρυδέα, κονταρέα, μερέα, ποδέα, σπηλαία (< σπήλαιον) and many others. Nouns in -έα tend to become oxytone and may undergo synizesis (μερέα > μεριά; see also I, 2.9.4).⁹² This tendency towards a shift of the stress to the ultimate pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar: for example, the form ἀμυγδαλιά for ἀμυγδαλέα can be found in Aelius Herodian's treatise on prosody (see the online TLG).

There is some regional variation to be noted (for similar developments in feminine adjectival forms see 3.2.6 and 3.3.1): in the singular ['ea] may become ['a] when preceded by /t/ (examples from Crete, Cythera, the Peloponnese, Epirus and Paros), or a sibilant or affricate (Crete), due to two different phonological processes (for details see I, 2.4.7.3 and I, 2.4.7.4). In the noun γραία and its compound καλογραία /j/ is often deleted after synizesis for ease of pronunciation, resulting in γρά, a form found in a large geographical area: evidence is abundant in texts from Crete but can also be found in texts from the Peloponnese, certain Aegean islands and the northern mainland, including Constantinople.

Furthermore, in texts from West Crete, Cythera and Ikaria [e] and [a] may coalesce to [e] (see I, 2.9.4.3).⁹³ It is important to note that variant forms often occur side by side in the same areas and even in the same texts, as the following examples demonstrate: ἀπὸ μιὰ μεριά BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 169.17; στὴν ἀπάνω μερὰ (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 15, 36.10); στὴν ἐκεῖθεν μερεὰ (1603, ibid. 200, 207.4); ἀποὺ τὴν ἀπάνω μερεῖ (1604, ibid. 213, 218.4–5); ἀποὺ τὴ κάτω μερέα (1606, ibid. 366, 342.3); με γρια καμιά στο πλάι τῆς CHORTATSI, Panor. II.26; τση γρες ibid. III.291; τση γριας ibid. I.240. The ending -έ may occasionally spread to nouns not originally in -έα, e.g. τὴν ἀμπελὲ τοῦ Βουβοῦ (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 795, 691.26), by analogy with nouns belonging to the same semantic field (e.g. ἀπιδέα, καρέα, μουνρέα).

The plural of nouns in /ea/ may become oxytone through synizesis (μερέες > μεριές; see I, 2.9.4) or through vowel simplification (μερέες > μερές; see I, 2.9.2.1).

Imparissyllabic plural forms are lexical for this paradigm, limited to γραία and its compounds: μικροὶ καὶ γράδες P&N Diath. 4671; με τοὺς καλογέρους καὶ καλογριάδες (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.14); γριάδες ἔχουν τὸν καιρό Paroim. (Warner) 73.12.

Paradigm 2.11.5 covers inherited nouns in -ία and -εία, such as ἀδικία, βία, δοκιμασία, δουλεία, ἐστία, ἐκκλησία, θεία, καρδία, Λευκωσία, οὐγγία (< Lat. uncia), πανουργία, ὑπανδρεία and many others, as well as later formations such as ἀβροχία, ἀγγαρεία, ἀδιαντροπία, αἱματοχυσία, ἐσοδεία, παπαδία, πυροστία, and σουπία (< σηπία) and regional loanwords such as τζιμνία ("chimney") (< Occit. chemineia, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.). Most of these nouns show a strong tendency to become oxytone and be affected by synizesis, e.g. φορεσία > φορεσιά. This tendency toward oxytonization pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar,⁹⁴ although it is often masked by conservative stress notation (for details on synizesis and accent notation see 1.5). Paradigm 2.11.5 also includes loanwords from French and Italian such as ἀβοερία (OFr. avoerie) and φαμελία, as well as the handful of inherited oxytone nouns in -ιά such as ἀνεψιά, λαλιά and μητρυιά. The oxytone suffix -ιά becomes very productive in the period covered by this Grammar, producing innovative nouns such as ἀγκαλιά, ἀνακατωσιά, ζευγιά, κοπελιά, παλουκιά, πορπατηγιά and many others. In all cases of the singular and in the genitive plural (forms with /a/ and /o/ in their ending), deletion of /j/ may occur regionally in the oxytone variant forms when the noun stem ends in a sibilant or affricate (see I, 2.4.7.3) or in /r/ (see I, 2.4.7.4): ἡ ἐξουσά σου Alex. Rim. 2677; ἀπὸ τὴν ἀγορασάν (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 90, 1670.24–5); τῶν ἐκκλησῶ (1645, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 11, 25.22); τῆς φορεσῶς (1656, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 9, 405.60); τὲς βρισῆς PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §4.13; τὴ ζωὴ τῆς μοναξιάς KORNAROS, Erot. II.602.

⁹² Only nouns that are not very common in the period under review, such as ἰδέα, resist the tendency to become oxytone, unless metrical synizesis is involved: ἐκ τὴν ἰδέαν τοῦ ἀγγέλου Dig. E 1770 and 1771.

⁹³ It has also been found in a text that was probably written in Athos by a Russian monk with a good knowledge of Greek: μερεν / μερέν (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1870). For a different explanation see I, 2.5.3.

In plural forms with /e/ in their ending (nom., acc., voc.) apparent omission of  occurs in a larger geographical area and not only after sibilants, affricates and /r/, but also after other consonants. These apparent omissions are graphematic, as omitting  will not have altered the pronunciation of <γ> and <κ> before /e/: ἐξῆντα ὀργές κι ἂν ἔσκαψα Ekatol. (Meteoron) 63 (< ὀργυία>); ᾽πὸ τσι δύο κατοικίες (1631, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 598, 572.13) (< κατοικία>).

Transfers between the sub-paradigms are not uncommon: nouns in -τρια (e.g. πολυλήτρια) may lose the , probably on the analogy of other nouns in -τρα, thus transferring to sub-paradigm 2.11.2.1. Examples have been found in a large geographical area, including Sicily, the Heptanese, Crete, the Cyclades and the northern mainland:

ἡ μακαρία αὐθέντρα ἡμῶν (1142, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 6, 303.20–1) καὶ πεθυμῶ σε, ἀφέντρα Love poems V 215 ἐγγύτρα καὶ πλερώτρα (1529, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 114, 225.19) ὡς κυβερνήτρα τῶν παιδιῶν τῆς (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 46, 46.3) τσῆ πολυλήτρας (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 846, 738.25–7) λούστρα, πλύστρα καὶ μαμμή Paroim. (Warner) 81.2 λεμενταρίστρα Stathis III.382 ἄρμιρίστρες (1617, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 16, 320.17) οἱ μοιρολόητρες (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 82.109) οἱ αὐθέντρες Bertoldos 64.29 χαλάστρα | ... καὶ σγουροφτειάστρα KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.393–4

Regionally, loss of /j/ may occur (see I, 2.4.7.3 for details and discussion): ἡ ζήλα ἐνέβην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 56.30 (= ζήλεια); εὐρίσκονται μεγάλες ζήλες VOUSTR., Chron. A 14.14; ἐπίσκοπος Κυρήνας (1609, Cyprus, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 20, 267.15) (= Κυρήνειας); καθὼς ἔναι οἱ συνήθες Chron. Toc. 817 app. crit. (V) (= συνήθειες).

⁹⁴ See for instance the lemma τροχιλία in LSJ, which has an oxytone alternative τροχιλιᾶ in Theophrastos and Galen and even an alternative τροχιλέα in Aristotle and a 1st-c. BC papyrus (BGU 1116.24) (see below for the same phenomenon in the period under review). Oxytone forms such as τῆς ἀφωνιάς, τῆς ἐκκλησιᾶς and τῆς κοιλιᾶς occur in the hymns of Romanos the Melode (6th c.). From the metrical appendix in MAAS/TRYPANIS 1963: 514 it becomes clear that these forms are oxytone but that synizesis has not taken place.

The reverse phenomenon of a noun in /a/ developing an alternative form with an added /j/ occurs with ἄκρα, which has an alternative ἄκρια (for proposed etymologies see ΚΡΙΑΡΑΣ, Lex. s.v. ἀκρά). Examples have been found in texts from Chios: με τὲς ἄκριες (1606, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 3, 81.42); ἄκρια, ἄκρα, ἡ GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. estremità; εἰς τὴν ἄκρια PETRITSIS, Dig. O 364; τὲς ἄκριες τριγυρίζει ibid. 2135.

Sometimes, and especially in verse texts, proparoxytone nouns may transfer to the paroxytone/oxytone paradigm in -ία/-ιά (2.11.5): τοῦ νὰ κρατῆτε ἐδῶ προνοῖες Chron. Mor. P 2696 (read προνοίεσ, before the caesura); διὰ νὰ ἔχη τὴν ἀκριβειάν Fior 105.18–19; αὐτήνη ἡ Μηδεῖα Synax. gyn. 363; ἀπὸ ζηλειῆς περισσες CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. theas 43; τῆς ἀρρωστίας μου ibid. II.530; τῇ ζηλειᾷ τὴν πράξη KORNAROS, Erot. II.708. The reverse may also occur: κὶ ἡ περιστέρα γύρισε Poulol. AZ 8 (< περιστερὰ). Several examples of stress shift in nouns in -ισσα occur in documents from S. Italy, possibly by analogy with the residual genitive in -ισσης and possibly influenced by Romance nouns in -essa (e.g. comitessa). It must also be borne in mind, however, that the edition is far from reliable: Ἀδελάσια κομητίσσα (1101–13?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 6, 394.8); ἡ συγγενίσσα (1145, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 9, 27.12 (col. B)). A paroxytone noun that has a sporadic proparoxytone variant is κατάρα: τὴν κατάρα του (1579, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 5, 23.28); εἰς τὴν κατάρα της (1582, ibid. 196, 120.17); καὶ γράφει του με κατάρα PETRITSIS, Dig. O 879; τὴν κατάρα της ibid. 885.

Originally paroxytone nouns in /'ia/ may sporadically transfer to the proparoxytone paradigm: καὶ λείπουν οἱ δυνάστεις Chron. Toc. 1227 (< δυναστεία); τὴν πελελὴν ἀγγάρεια SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 239 (< ἀγγαρεία); τὴν πραγμάτειαν τοὺς Bertoldin. 114.7 (< πραγματεία); with influence from Italian: τῇ Πέρσιᾳ ὁ πόλεμος CHORTATIS, Erof. I.206 and ποὺ ἡ Πέρσια δὲν ἀξιώθηκε TROILOS, Rodol. II.240 (Aposkiti); πολλὴ ἐπτῶχεια (post 1666, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 23, 313.18) (< πτωχεία); τὴν Νήστειαν KONDAR., Paidēs 568 (< νηστεία). The same holds true for the noun ἀποκρέα, which has a proparoxytone alternative ἀπόκρια, derived from its oxytone alternative ἀποκριά: οἱ Ἀπόκριες (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 303, f.1r.8). The noun κυρία developed an oxytone variant κυρά (2.11.1.2) before the LMedG period (see the online TLG for examples from the Life of Aesop G, Philogelos, Byzantine Saints' Lives and others).

Oxytone nouns in -έα (2.11.1) may transfer to paroxytone -έα (2.11.4): εἰς τὴν θέαν Ἀρτέμην Pol. Tr. 204 app. crit. (C); τῆς θέας τῆς Διάνας ibid. app. crit. (BV); φωλέαν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 1.2; ἦτανε γενέα με τὸν Μπαγιαζίτη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.15–16; τῆς γενέας τοὺς ibid. 51.4. The same also occurs with the noun ἡ στερεά (< adj. στερεός): θάλασσα καὶ στερεά Chron. Toc. 3108; εἰς τὴν στερεά (1503, Constantinople, YANNOPOULOS 1974: 132.10).

Nouns belonging to paradigm 2.11.4 (-έα) may develop forms in -ία by analogy with paradigm 2.11.5, as both groups of nouns tend to become oxytone through synizesis, resulting in the identical ending /'ja/, e.g.: εἰς τὰς πτελίας (1307, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 10, 114.15) (< πτελέα); εἰς τὶς Σπηλίες (1564, Cythera, ΔΡΑΚΑΚΙΣ 1999: 84, 167.1) (< σπηλαία); καβαλλάρειαν γυναικῶν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 260.16; τὴν ἄλλην μερία (1624, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 11, 311.2). Regionally these spellings may represent forms in which height dissimilation has taken place ([^hea] > [^hia]; see I, 2.9.4.3 for details).

However, these spellings may also represent forms in which synizesis has taken place, as in the following example, in which the word should clearly be read as /kondar'jan/ in order for the verse to scan: τὴν κονταρίαν μὲ δώσει Diig. E 1557 (< κονταρέα). For synizesis and accent placement in poetry, prose and non-literary texts see 1.5. The reverse development, -ία > -έα, a form of hypercorrection, is less common, though examples can be found from the very beginning of the period covered by this Grammar, and long before (see above fn. 94):

ἀπὸ μεσημβρέας (1123, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 93, 122.10) (< μεσημβρία) τὴν ἀνθρωπέαν Chron. Mor. H 1646 (< ἀνθρωπία) κрасин καὶ χοιρινομαγερέαν Spanos A 19 (< μαγειρία) παλαιές ἐντριτές (1525, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 103, 193.19) (< ἐντριτία) εἰς τὴν καντζελλαρέα (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 26, 165.13) (< καντζελλαρία)

The noun γραῖα/γριά when compounded usually remains paroxytone/oxytone: τὸ κελλὶν ὅπου στέκει ἡ καλογρέα (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 173.13); μὲ τοὺς καλογέρους καὶ καλογριάδες (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.14); ἡ καλουγριά (1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 8, 21.3). Proparoxytone forms, as in SMG, are rarer: καὶ γραῖες καὶ μεσόγρες Diig. tetr. 927 app. crit. (P) (with simplification of /ee/ to /e/); ἡ λουλόγρια Synax. gadar. 180; ἀταμῶς μὲ μία καλόγρια (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 29, 49.5).

The feminine noun σύμβιος may transfer to the feminine /a/ paradigm: ἦτον πρώτη σύμβια Chron. Mor. H 8004; ἡ συβία μου (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 181.24). In a document from Cythera we find an alternative ἡ ἐγγόνα for ἡ ἐγγόνη (cf. masc. ὁ ἐγγονας for ὁ ἐγγονος, 2.1.4): ἡ ἐγγόνα της (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 172, 141.25); τὴν ἐγγόνα τση (ibid. 141.26).

Certain nouns belonging to other paradigms may transfer to the feminine /a/ paradigms by changing gender. Former 3rd-declension masculine nouns, especially those in -ών and -ων, may change gender and become feminine (a development that pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar; see e.g. PSALTES 1913: 177; DIETERICH 1898: 160):

τὴν ἀρραβῶνά του Assizes B 286.14
τὰς ἀρραβῶνας Assizes A 37.28 (< ὁ ἀρραβών) καὶ εἰς τῆς πρωτομάρτυρας Θέκλας Diig. Apoll. 811 πολλὰς κανόνας ἔχεις (15th c., Trebizond region, TSAKALOF 1910: [3], 121.2) τὲς κανόνες (1551, Venice, COUROPOU/GÉHIN 2001: 3, 161.3) αἱ παροῦσαι κανόνες (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 2, 295.44–5); τὰς κανόνας (ibid. 2, 295.28) (< ὁ κανών) οἱ ὁμορφες βραχιόνες P&N Diath. 436 (< ὁ βραχίων) τὴν κύναν Flor. L 382 (Cupane) (to distinguish biological sex < ὁ κύνας < ὁ κύων) τὴν κλύδωνα Byz. Il. 446 (< ὁ κλύδων)

The masculine noun πῆχυς has an alternative feminine in -α (as well as a feminine in -η and masculine in -ας, see 2.12 and 2.2): μὲ κέρατα ἀνάμεσα τὰ αὐτῖα μία πήχα Diig. Alex. F 118.10–11 (Lolos); τὴν καθε πήχα (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 245, 175.16).

Sporadically indeclinable neuter nouns in /a/ may be reanalysed as feminine (for a similar development of feminine singular forms being interpreted as neuter plural, see 2.19): οἱ δύο ἄλφες καὶ τὸ ρ, τὸ θαυμαστὸν κομμούνι BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 1382; τὶ πράγμα ἔναι ἡ βήτα ... τὶ ἔναι ἡ ἄλφα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 345.1–2; ὅστις ἤθελε διασείσει μίαν ἰώτα (1615, Santorini, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 9, 6.56); κι απόκεις δέν κατέχουσι τήν ἄλφα σκιᾶς νὰ ποῦσι KORNAROS, Erot. V.1530. Neuter nouns in -ιν (originally diminutives) may transfer to the feminine /a/ paradigm by adopting the augmentative suffix -α: τήν πιγούναν Spanos D 1185 (< πιγούνα < πιγούνιν); πέτρες κι ἀγκάθες βάνει KORNAROS, Erot. IV.582 (< ἀγκάθα < ἀγκάθιν).

For numerals in -άδα and -αριά see 6.3. For undeclined proclitic forms such as κυρα-/κερα- see 2.18.

2.11.1 Oxytone Nouns

2.11.1.1 Nouns with a Parisyllabic Plural

	General	Restricted
Singular
Nom.	φορά
Gen.	φορᾶς
Acc.	φορά(ν)
Voc.	φορά
Plural
Nom.	φορές	φοραί -άδες
Gen.	φορῶν	(-άδων)
Acc.	φορές	φοράς -άδες
Voc.	φορές	-αί άδες

Singular

Nominative

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ά

There is no variation in the nominative singular:

καὶ ὥσει σκιὰ διέβηκες GLYKAS, Stichoi 199; αἶ συμφορὰ μεγάλη! ibid. 271 ἐνὸς φαρίου μας ἡ φορὰ νὰ ρίξη δεκαπέντε Chron. Mor. H 4730 (ἐνι ...) περιστερὰ τὸ ἀδελφι μας Dig. E 329 ἡ χαρὰ ἐκείνη Achil. L 6 ὦ συμφορὰ μεγάλη Chron. Toc. 1776 μιά γενιά κακή και ξένη FALIEROS, Thrinis 76 (< γενεά) ούλη ή σπορά έχάθηκεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.23–4; ἦτον ή γ' φορά ibid. 438.2

 ή φθορά τ' άνέμου BERGADIS, Apok. A 395; ή χαρά των ibid. 409 ή γενεά σου (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.14)
 'σαν είναι πλέα διαφορά Rim. Apol. A 1195; όντε το μήλον η θεά τ'όδωκε ibid. 1589 ποῦ εἶναι ή οὔρα σου; Vios Aisop. K 161.34–5 εἶναι ένα γέλιον ή άγορά του Vios Aisop. I 253.30 έτούτη ἦτον τότε τρίτη φορά KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 21.14 ή συφορά του γάδαρου Paroim. (Warner) 33.6–7 (= συμφορά) άστόχησε ή σπορά μας (1671, Cythera, PSARAS 1989: 150.4) ποιά ή χαρά σου, αὔθεντη μου KONDAK., Paidas 208 ή όρα του ώσαν του πάρδου Alex. Fyll. 11.1 (= οὔρα) είναι ολίγη η αγορά του Don Kis. 121.8; δεν με λείπει άλλο παρά μία ουρά ibid. 335.15

Genitive

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ᾶς

The genitive singular shows no morphological variation:

διὰ πρώτης φορᾶς (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 27.209) ἀπό ... άγορᾶς μουλαρίων (1079, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 2, 17.4) φεῦ τῆς συμφορᾶς Ptoch. III 142 τῆς θεᾶς τῆς Διάνας Pol. Tr. 1734 μετά χαρᾶς μεγάλης Achil. L 70 ἐάν αἱ τῆς σκιᾶς πῆχες θ' με δίδουν ξύλου ὕψος πῆχας ς' (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 17, 22.3–4) μετά πάσης χαρᾶς (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 103.10) περὶ τῆς δωρᾶς Assizes A 17.6 (= δωρεᾶς, see I, 2.4.7.3); ἀπό πρώτης άγορᾶς ibid. 192.29 τοῦ κινδύνου τῆς φθορᾶς BERGADIS, Apok. V 362 εἰς ὁμοίωσιν μιᾶς περιστερᾶς KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 389.16–17 κρασωμένοι ἐποίησαν τὴν ἀρχὴν τῆς σπορᾶς SOFIANOS, Paidag. 96.18 τὰ ἥμιση στάμενα τῆς άγορᾶς (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 293, 208.10) τῆς ξαγορᾶς (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 6, 29.17) τῆς ἐτᾶς νά πανδρευτεῖ (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 142.86) (< Ital. età) ν' ακολουθῶ τσ' άσκιᾶς σου TROILOS, Rodol. Dedic. 34 (= σκιᾶς) διὰ θαλάσσης καὶ ξηρᾶς DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 168 πολλὰ μετά χαρᾶς ὑπογράφομεστέν (1674, Paros, ZERLENDIS 1922: (3), 54.3–4) τῆς διαφορᾶς γενομένης (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 27, 41.4)

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ά(ν)

The accusative shows no variation other than that it may occur with or without final /n/:

τὸ χωράφιον τὸ ἄπερ ἔχω άγοράν ἐκ τὴν κυρίαν Χαράν (1145, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 15, 140.3–4) τὴν ἀράν (1168/9, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 36, 191.13) ἀπὸ φτορὰν δαιμόνου Chron. Mor. H 3774 τὴν ἀγορὰ τὴν ἐποίκεν Assizes B 286.18; ἀπαὶ τὴν φρουρὰν ibid. 476.17 τὴν ὀχρὰν Liv. E 2549 μὲ ἐξαγορὰν Chron. Toc. 416; εἰς τὴν φρουρὰν ἀπέσω ibid. 1806 τὴν Ἀθηνᾶν [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 436 καὶ ἂν ὁμιλήσῃ μιὰ φορά SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 362 μὲ μία χροιά FALIEROS, Ist. On. 251 κ' ἐγλύτωσα τὴν συμφορὰν Synax. gadar. 331 τὴν ἄρνάν σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 220.33 (= ἄρνάδαν, see I, 3.6.1.1); πολλὰ μεγάλην διαφορὰν ἔχει ibid. 570.25 στὴν ὀχρὰν Cypr. Canz. 2.21 μίαν βολὰ ἐδιέβηκα Diig. Alex. F 178.21 (Lolos) τὴν διαμφορὰν (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008:55, 118.12) (= διαφορὰν, see I, 3.5.2.4) ἄλλη φορά γυρίσετε Apoll. Rim. A 625 εἰς τὴν διασπορὰν τῶν Ἑλλήνων KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 7.35; τὴν πλευρὰν του ibid. 20.20 ὅπ' ἔχει δυὸ ἀγαπητικίες, ἔχει χαρὰν μεγάλην Paroim. (Warner) 28.11 ὅταν ἦλθεν ἡ ἀφεντιά σου τὴν ἄλλην βολὰν (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 37.48–9) ἀπὸ τὴν γενεὰν τῶν Γουζελαίων (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 108.19–20)

Vocative

Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-ά

The vocative singular is identical to the nominative. As most nouns belonging to this paradigm refer to abstract notions, it is unsurprising that not many examples of the vocative have been found:

περιστερὰ μου πάντερπνε Dig. G III.265 κυρὰ Κουβά, βασίλισσα Pol. Tr. 10465 (< Fr. Hécuba) εἰπέ με γοῦν, περιστερὰ Poulol. 524 ὦ χαρὰ καταλυμένη Fior 92.3–4 θεὰ τῇ δόλιας μου καρδιάς CHORTATIS, Panor. II.533 ὦ γενεὰ ἄπιστε καὶ διεστραμμένη KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 17.17

Plural

Nominative

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ές

The most common ending for the nominative plural is -ές. In manuscripts and older editions the ending is often spelled with <αι> instead of <ε>. The number of examples found is modest, not least because the very common words φορά and βολά seldom appear in the nominative plural:

αἱ χαρὲς καὶ ὁ γάμος τῶν θαυμαστικῆς, μεγάλης Pol. Tr. 13580 αἱ συμφορὲς μου [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 1676 (hapax) χαρὲς ἐδῶ δὲν γίνονται PIKAT., Rima thrin. 140 λογιές ὀχρὲς μετὰξιν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 173 διὰ τοῦτο εἶναι οἱ ορές των μαδισμένες Anthos Ch. A 161.4 (= οὐρές) κι ἄς πάσουν ὅλες οἱ ζηλειές CHORTATSI, Erof. I.70 (< ζήλεια) ἐμεῖς οἱ κατωγεγραμμένες γενές (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 130, 143.3) (with simplification of -εές to -ές, cf. 2.11.4) ὅλες οἱ αὐτὲς γενεές Chron. Tourk. Soult. 76.36 ὅλες οἱ γενεές KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 1.48 ἔσοντας καὶ νὰ ἦτανε διαφορὲς ἐν τῷ μέσῳ τους (1661, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 225, 200.16)

 καὶ θε νὰ πάψουν οἱ χαρὲς BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 510.24 καὶ τῷ ρηγάδῳ οἱ διαφορὲς KORNAROS, Erot. V.1509

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-αί

The residual nominative ending -αί of the 1st declension can be found in mixed-register texts: αἱ συμφοραί, ὧ πικρασμοὶ καὶ πόννοι [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2391; αἱ περιστεραί εσιωπούσαν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 84.4.

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-άδες

The imparisyllabic plural of paradigm 2.11.1.2 is regionally employed with nouns belonging to this paradigm. Examples have been found in texts from Cyprus and certain Cycladic islands (cf. acc. pl. below):

ἐνι μαθισμένες ἴτσου οἱ νουράδες τους Fior 124.37 (< οὐρά) ὀχράδες δὲν στέκουν καλὰ σ' αὐτόν μου Cypr. Canz. 2.21 ἀγοράδες ἀπὸ τοὺς κόπους των (1695, SYROS, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 303.43) οἱ ἄνωθεν ἀγοράδες (1706, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 68, 79.11)

Genitive

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν

The inherited oxytone ending -ῶν is the normal ending of the genitive plural:

τῶν συμφορῶν τὸ πλῆθος Dig. G I.68 διὰ πλείστων καὶ πολλῶν φορῶν Chron. Mor. H 6081 ὧ τῶν μεγίστων σου δωρεῶν Diig. Sant. 57.57 περὶ τῶν δωρεῶν τῶν δίδει ὁ ἀνθρωπος τῆς γυναικὸς Assizes A 15.12 πάθη συμφορῶν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2198 πολλὰς τῶν φορῶν Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 114 ἔπαρε νερόν ἀπὸ περιστερῶν LANDOS, Geopon. 229.4

So far no examples have been found of an imparisyllabic plural genitive in -άδων (cf. nom. and acc. pl.).

AccusativeFem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ές

This ending, identical to the nominative, had started to be used for the accusative long before the beginning of the LMedG period (see the introduction to Chapter 2). It is the most common ending throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

κι ἂν τὸ λυγίστης τρεῖς φορές Arm. 14 περὶ πουλήσεις καὶ ἀγορές Assizes B 286.5 ἐγὼ χαρὲς πολλὰς ἔχω Achil. L 902 διὰ νὰ κρίνουν καὶ εξετάσουν τινὲς διαφορὰς (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 31, 65.5–6) τὲς οὐρὰς Pol. Tr. 1466 app. crit. (B) ἐπεσαύτες φορές Assizes A 163.18 χολὲς καὶ συμφορὰς τοῦ βίου Diig. Apoll. 687 δύο βολὲς ἐπολέμησαν Diig. Alex. F 288.13 (Lolos) νὰ μὲ μνημονεύει πέντε φορές τὸν χρόνον (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 45, 78.44–5; ἀφήνω εἰς τὲς Ἀπεζωνὲς δουκάτα δέκα (1523, ibid. 80, 151.13–14) (= Ἀπεζανές) κ' ἐκάναν τες φωλὲς τοὺς DEFAR., Sos. 47 (Holton) (with simplification of -εές to -ές, cf. 2.11.4) μία καὶ δύο καὶ πολλὰκις βολὲς (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 46, 46.3) καὶ τσι σπορὰς καρπίζεις CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.285 οἱ ἀλεποῦδες ἔχουσι φωλιὰς KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 8.20 τὲς πλέα φορές LANDOS, Geopon. 129.24–5 εἰς τόσες χαρὲς VAROUCHAS, Logoi 469.35 καλῶς τες τὲς σεμνὲς θεές Zinon Prol. 157 τὲς προγαμιαῖες δωρεές (1696, Proikonnisos, KAMBOURIS 1976: A.8, 199.2) εἰς τὶς γραφὲς ὅπου μὴ ἔσταις (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 49.19) ἀπὸ ὅλες τὶς γενεές Alex. Fyll. 82.10; ἐκτυποῦνταν ὅλον μὲ τὲς ὀρές τοὺς ibid. 103.25 (= οὐρὰς)

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-άς

The old accusative ending is not uncommon in mixed-register texts and more formal contexts:

ἔχει καὶ τὰς ἀρὰς τῶν ἁγίων ΤΗΗ θεοφόρων πατέρων (1358?, Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App.
II C, 231.11–12)
κι ὅσον ἀπῆλθεν τρεῖς φορές Chron. Mor. H 5065 τὰς πλευρὰς ὠραιοκάλλους ERMON., Ilias 2.261 τὰς οὐρὰς Pol. Tr. 1466 εἰς τὰς τοσοῦτας συμφορὰς Liv. S 3193 (Lambert-van der Kolf) πολλὰς φορές φλογοτομᾶται Assizes A 204.8
εἰς τὰς σκιὰς ἐχαίρεντον Achil. N 1031 τὰς ἐξαρωμένους σου παρειὰς Spanos D 626 τὰς διαστάξεις καὶ διαφορὰς (1543, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 48, 249.3–4)
εἶδε τας περιστεράς NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 84.1
πολλὰς καὶ πλήστας φορές (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 10, 63.5) να ξένουν τας πλευράς του Martyr. Vlas. 246.37 περισσότερές και όρνιθας ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 9287 νὰ ἔχη τὰς ἀράς τῶν ἐν Νικαίᾳ πατέρων (1678, Laconia, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 1917.1,5)

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδες

The imparisyllabic plural ending of paradigm 2.11.1.2 is adopted in texts from Cyprus and certain Cycladic islands (cf. nom. pl. above).⁹⁵ The single occurrence in the versified translation of Aesop's fables by Aitolos does not constitute sufficient evidence for its currency in texts from Corinth, where he was born, or Constantinople, where he spent most of his life:

περὶ ... ἀγοράδες Assizes B 250.18 σταυρούς, ἀναφοράδες Assizes A 43.29 ἐπήραν μετάξιν οχράδες λίτρες κ' VOUSTR., Chron. A 108.2–3 δὲν ἔχει πλέον πρᾶξες καὶ ἀγοράδες Pist. kekoim. 161 ψάριν μέ δύο νουράδες Fior 108.7 τες ουράδες τους ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 7.4 εἶ τι ἀγοράδες ἔκαμε (1662, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 6, 55.20) ἀπὸ τῆς ἀγοράδες (1676, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 1, 123.22) εἰς ὅλες των τὲς ἀγοράδες (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 303.46) διὰ κάποιες ἀγοράδες (1706, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 68, 79.5)

Vocative

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-ές ἰ -αί ἰ -άδες

The vocative is presumed to be identical to the nominative (see above). So far no examples have been found.

2.11.1.2 Nouns with an Imparisyllabic Plural

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	ὀκά
Gen.	ὀκάς	-ᾱ	-ῆς -άδος
Acc.	ὀκά(ν)
Voc.	ὀκά

⁹⁵ Cf. the following late 18th-c. example from Serifos: καὶ ἐκεῖ κάτω βάλλει ἀγοράδες (1781, Serifos, Liata 1986: 1, 166.34) (the publication can be consulted at <http://thesis.ekt.gr/thesisBookReader/id/0025>).

Plural
Nom.	ὀκάδες		-ές
Gen.	ὀκάδων		-ῶν
Acc.	ὀκάδες		-ές -άδας
Voc.	ὀκάδες		-ές

Singular

Nominative

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ά

There is no variation in the formation of the nominative singular:

κυκλέαν εἰς τὸ πρόσωπον ἢ κερά νὰ σὲ δώση KAMAT., Astron. 1508 ὡς οἰκοκυρά εἰς αὐτά (1330, Constantinople, HUNGER/KRESTEN 1981: 102, 582.36) ἢ Κυρά τοῦ Μορέως Chron. Mor. H 8480 καὶ εὐθὺς περιλαμβάνει τὸν αὐτὸν ἢ πενθερά του Achil. N 1510 ἢ γλυκιὰ κυρά μου Cypr. Canz. 2.3 κυρά καὶ νοικοκυρά (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 2, 22.14) δὲν εἶν' ἐπὰ κερά μου CHORTATIS, Katz. II.101 νὰ κάθεται στὸ σπῖτιν του κερά καὶ νοικοκερά (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 117, 129.8–9); ἢ ποτέ τση λαλά (ibid. 118, 130.5); οἱ ὅποιοι ἦσανε ... φρατερνιτά (1604, ibid. 238, 236.8) πολυπραγμοσύνη (ἦγουν κοριοζιτά) Bertoldos 38.16 ἀγόραζεν σουπὲς ἀπὸ Τοῦρκον ἢ ὀκά δώδεκα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §9.3; πῶς τὸν ἀδίκησεν ἢ κερά του ibid. IV §7.39 ἦτον συμπενθερά μὲ τὸν Πῶρον τὸν βασιλέα Alex. Fyll. 92.4 ἦθελεν ἐβγει μία οκά μετὰξί Don Kis. 454.16

Genitive

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ᾶς ἢ -ᾶ

The genitive singular normally ends in -ᾶς:

κυρᾶς Θεοδοσίας (1202, S. Italy, NADAL CAÑELLAS 1983: III, 164.7) μετὰ τῆς κυρᾶς μου (1330, Constantinople, HUNGER/KRESTEN 1981: 102, 582.28) μετὰ τῆς πεθερᾶς τῆς Achil. L 1102 (Hesseling) τῆς πεθερᾶς τῆς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 682.12–13 (see I, 3.4) ἐποίκειν ὄρκον τῆς κυρᾶς τῆς ρήγαινας VOUSTR., Chron. A 44.16–17 τῆς νοικοκυρᾶς (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: Inv. 3, 287.53) ἀπο κληρονομίαν τῆς ποτέ Ἀνούσας βαβᾶς αὐτῶν (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 246, 177.6) Κατερίνας τῆς ἀγοραστᾶς (1596, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 20, 75.16–17) μὲ ἀμπέλι τῆς ἐρεντιτᾶς (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 819, 715.5) τῆς κερᾶς μὰς Thysia Avr. 593 τση λαλᾶς τση Σοφίας Καλοχουσπούλας (1620, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 347, 323.7) ὅταν ἔβγη τῆς ζαφορᾶς ὅλη ἡ δύναμις LANDOS, Geopon. 264.15–16 τῆς κιουρᾶς (1655, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: 123.2) (= κυρᾶς) τῆς μακαρίτισσας τῆς πεθερᾶς μου (1688, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 119, 325.3)

When the genitive -ᾶς is followed by a sibilant or affricate, the final /s/ is sometimes deleted in writing (see I, 3.7.1.1): τση κερᾶ τση μάνα τση (1608, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 559, 496.7); τση λαλᾶ τση (1609, ibid. 571, 507.2).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ῆς

The old -ῆς ending of most 1st-declension paroxytone and proparoxytone nouns is sporadically employed hypercorrectly with oxytone nouns, though it cannot be excluded that this single example is a writing mistake or a misreading by the editor: τῆς ἐμῆς πενθερῆς (1173, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 51, 91.71).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ᾶδος

Sporadically this ending of the old 3rd declension is employed as a pseudo-learned formation, based on the imparisyllabic plural in -ᾶδες: ὥς ἔπρεπε κυράδος Chron. Toc. 10; μετὰ ζαφαράδος STAFIDAS, Iatrosoph. 21.106.

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ά(ν)

The accusative ends in -ά and can be found with and without final /n/:

τὴν πρωτοβαβᾶν τῆς Ptoch. I 36; παρὰ βαβᾶν καλλίστην ibid. 91 τὴν Εὐτυχοκυράν σου Log. parig. L 334 (Lambros) κερὶ λίτραν, ἦγουν ὀκὰ μιά (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 341.40) εἰς τὴν οἰκοκυράν DAM. STOUDE., This., Logos 19, σ5r.17 (1561) διὰ σιγουριτάν (1580, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 24, 161.15) τοῦ ὁποίου δίδει ἀουτοριτάν (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 30, 49.4); ἀποῦ τὴν ἔρεντιτὰ τοῦ ποτέ τση ἀδελφοῦ (1603, ibid. 177, 188.5–6) ν' ἀποδεκτῇ τὴν ἄλλη σου κερὰ Stathis III.519 μέ κοσμιτὰ (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 5, 173.23) ἐπουλοῦσαν ἀγνὸν μοῦστον ἀπὸ ἔναν ἄσπρο τὴν ὀκὰ PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.4 διὰ πιλιο σεγουριτὰ (1655, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 2, 188.14–15) (< Ven. segurtà) διὰ σιουριτὰ (1661, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1974/78: 4, 423.13–14) (= σιγουριτὰ, see I, 3.6.1.1) τὴν πεθερά τῆς IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 769 tit. τὴν ἀγουτουριτὰ (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 720, 979.6) (= ἀουτοριτὰ, see I, 3.5.2)
 μιστὴν οκάν κηρί Don Kis. 238.12

VocativeFem.

Sg.	Voc.	-ά

The vocative is identical to the nominative:

καί τὸ «κυρά μου» προσειπὼν Ptoch. I 227 κερά μου Ptoch. III 127 κυρά μου Chron. Mor. H 4455 κερά μου Liv. V 1301 κυρά μου ἔρωτοδέσποινα, ποθοκρατόρισσά μου Katal. 84 κυρά μου, ἀπὸ δικοῦ σου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 611 κυρά γουμένη Alex. Rim. 131 τί λέγεις, κυρά μου! Vios Aisop. I 256.28 μὴ ντρέπεσαι, κερά μου Stathis III. 524

Plural*NominativeFem.*

Pl.	Nom.	-άδες

The most common ending for the nominative plural is imparisyllabic -άδες:

ὀκάποσαι κεράδες Ptoch. III 193 πῶς οἱ κεράδες κάθονται Pol. Tr. 6072 app. crit. (A) ὀκάδες ζ' (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 29, 30.1) κυράδες καὶ κουρτέσες Poulol. 160 app. crit. (C) οἱ νοικοπεθεράδες σου Spanos B 153 οἱ κυράδες Epain. gyn. 668 οἱ κυράδες μου βασιλίσσες καλοῦνται ZINOS, Alex. Rim. Epil. 37 οἱ κυράδες SOFIANOS, Grammar 40.13 ὅλες εἶναι νοικοκυράδες (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.4) ἦσαν δύο χιλιάδες ὀκάδες Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1118 ὡς κυρίες καὶ καθολικὲς οἰκοκεράδες (1628, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 99b, 241.64) ἔστεκον κυράδες καὶ κορίτσια IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 750 (δίδεται ...) κερὶ ὀκάδες πέντε (1679, Nauplion, CHORAS 1975: 2, 258.8)

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ές

The parisyllabic plural of paradigm 2.11.1.1 is only rarely employed with nouns belonging to this paradigm: οἱ μελλοπεθερὲς αὐτοῦ Spanos A 481.

GenitiveFem.

Pl.	Gen.	-άδων

The imparisyllabic ending -άδων is likely to be the most common ending for the genitive plural (cf. the other cases), though only a modest number of examples has been found:

ὡς πρέπει τῶν κεράδων Pol. Tr. 392 app. crit. (A) τῶν δύο κυράδων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 230.15 τῶν κυράδων SOFIANOS, Grammar 40.13 ἡ ἀδιάντροπος ἐλευθερία των κυράδων Don Kis. 122.9

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν

The parisyllabic genitive ending -ῶν is quite rare with nouns belonging to this paradigm: δύο νοικοκερῶν Spanos B 143.

Accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδες

The imparisyllabic ending -άδες, identical to the nominative, is the most common for nouns belonging to this paradigm:

μέ τές κυράδες ὅλες Chron. Mor. H 4392 τές οἰκοκυράδες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 27 οχράδες μετὰξιν VOUSTR., Chron. A 108.2 φοροῦν πλατιές ἀμπάδες BERGADIS, Apok. A 187 (ἡ ἀμπά < ὁ ἀμπάς < Turk. aba) κυράδες ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 2841 τές κυράδες SOFIANOS, Grammar 40.13 μέ ὅλες των τές κομοντιτάδες (1589, Crete, VLACHAKI 1986: 9, 397.8) μέ σιγουριτάδες (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 24.37); μέ τσι νόμους καὶ σολενιτάδες (1598, ibid. 26, 46.33) ἐπῆρεν των 5 ὁκάδες καφέ (1670, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 4, 15.5) κερὶ ὁκάδες πέντε (1679, Nauplion, CHORAS 1975: 2, 258.8) δύο στάμνες ... μέ γλώσσες βουβαλινές ὁκάδες 24 (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 306, f.2r.22) τὶς κυράδες τους ἐδέξαν ΚΑΤΣΑΙΤΙΣ, Klathmos II.400

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδας

This hybrid ending, consisting of the innovative imparisyllabic ending -άδες with substitution of the old accusative ending -ας for -ες, is only very rarely employed in the period covered by this Grammar:⁹⁶ εἰς κεράδας Pol. Tr. 5649 app. crit. (A).

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ές

⁹⁶ But see the online TLG for several 18th/19th-c. examples of ὁκ(κ)άδας.

The parisyllabic accusative ending is rare for this paradigm: καὶ μὲ ἄλλες σιγουριτὲς (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 214, 218.6–7) (hapax).

Vocative

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-άδες

The vocative is identical to the nominative:

κεράδες χειρομάχισσες Ptoch. III 190 νὰ ἡγνωρίζετε, αὐθέντες καὶ κυράδες Assizes A 116.22 κυράδες φουμισμένες Theseid I.23,8 (Follieri) κι' ἀληθινά, κέραδες μου CHORTATIS, Katz. III.322 ὦ κυράδες SOFIANOS, Grammar 40.14

2.11.2 Paroxytone Nouns

2.11.2.1 Nouns with a Shift of Stress to the Ultimate in the Genitive Plural

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	χώρα		χώραν
Gen.	χώρας	-α -ης -ός -οῦ	-οῦς
Acc.	χώρα(ν)
Voc.	χώρα
Plural
Nom.	χώρες	χώραι -άδες	-άδαι
Gen.	χωρῶν χώρων	χωρῶ χωρῶνε χώρω χώρωνε -άδων
Acc.	χώρες	χώρας -άδες	-άδας
Voc.	χώρες	χώραι (-άδες)

Singular*NominativeFem.*

Sg.	Nom.	-α

There is little variation in the formation of the nominative singular:

χήρα ἡ Κουρτιστάβα (1268, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 50, 27.14) ἡ γυναῖκα μου Ptoch. II 47; ἐπαρεκλάσθη ἡ θύρα μας ibid. 57 ἡ σὴ γὰρ φλόγα φλέγει με Spaneas Va 30 ἐπεὶ ἔνι δόξα καὶ τιμὴ Chron. Mor. H 290 ἡ κούρβα ἡ Μαξιμουῦ Dig. E 1518 ἐσέβηκεν ἡ νύκτα Pol. Tr. 815; ἦτον ἡ χώρα πλούσιος ibid. 2733 app. crit. (R) ποντικοῦ βουλὰς κόψει κατὰ Paroim. F 40 ἦτον μία γάτα (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 89, 76.1) εἷς ἄνθρωπος κοσμικός, οὐ μία γυναῖκα Assizes B 290.23 γλώσσα νὰ ἐλῆξεται καὶ χεῖρα νὰ συγγράψῃ Byz. Il. 12; οὐκ ἔναι αὐτὴ γυναῖκα ibid. 861 νὰ ἔστραπτεν ἡ κοῦπα Krasop. V 24 πάλιν Ἀθήνα κόπτεται, πάλιν Ἀθήνα κλαίει Analos. Ath. 43 αὐτὴ ἐστὶν ἡ προῖκα (1509, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1950: 1, 153.2) ἡ ὁποία πόρτα (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 14.104) ἡ μάνα τῆς Θεοτόκου Μαρίας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 355.7–8 πουτάνα δίχως πονηριά, δίχως ὀνύχια ἡ γάτα CHORTATSI, Katz. I.219; ἡ πλάκα ἡ μαρμαρένη id., Panor. I.135
 ὥσάν κοπέλλα ὅπου ἦτουν (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 138.27) καὶ νένα τοῦ παιδιοῦ σου KORNAROS, Erot. IV.532 με πόσην υπερηφάνειαν περιπατεῖ ἡ σκρόφα Don Kis. 176.22–3; νὰ φανερωθεῖ ἡ τρέλα σου
ibid. 423.5

Addition of /n/ to the nominative ending occurs in texts from Naxos, indicating that the following voiceless stop /t/ had a voiced pronunciation [d] (see I, 3.7.2.1.2): ἡ μάνναν της (1623, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 1, 128.13).

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	Residual

Residual forms of former 3rd-declension nouns are occasionally used throughout the period covered by this Grammar, in mixed-register texts and especially in verse texts, which benefit from the possibility of using different stress patterns:

καθάπερ φλόξ εἰς τὴν ἐμὴν καρδίαν ἐπεισῆλθεν Dig. G V.232 ἡ νύξ γὰρ ὑπαγαίνει Pol. Tr. 853 app. crit. (X) (ἡ νύκτα in the other mss) ἡ χεῖρ μου ἐκράτειεν τὸ χαρτὶν Katal. 334 ἡ χεῖρ Achil. N 851 νύξ ἔναι πλεωτέρα Alex. Rim. 1959 ὡς γοῦν ἡ νύξ κατέλαβεν Diig. Apoll. 235 ἡ δὲ προῖξ (1628, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 17, 94.10) δὲν ἤθελε σωθεῖ καμία σάρξ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 13.20 ἐφάνη φλοξ θαυμασία LANDOS, Kalok. 339.5

GenitiveFem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ας † -α

The genitive singular ending -ας, which is employed with all nouns belonging to this paradigm, has the widest geographical spread:

- τῆς Πλάκας (1093, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 58, 75.19) ἐντὸς τῆς κασέλας (14th c. [copy], Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9B, 85.55) (< Ven. cassèla) τῆς γυναίκας (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 35.111) τῆς μάννας μου (1330, Constantinople, HUNGER/KRESTEN 1981: 102, 582.28) τῆς χώρας Chron. Mor. H 855; τῆς προίκας ibid. 3123 πλεμόνιν αἶγας STAFIDAS, Iatrosaf. 6.163 τῆς Φράγκας κυρᾶς Σοφίας (1448, Constantinople?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 9.I–IV, 98.48.2) τῆς νύκτας [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 902 ἔξω τῆς πόρτας ἔβγηκεν Byz. Il. 907 γραίας αἶγας ἀνακάρωμα Spanos A 10 τῆς γεναίκας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 578.13 (= γυναίκας) τῆς σκληρῆς καὶ τρομερῆς βεντέττας Fior 73.25–6 (< Ital. vendetta) τρίχας σγουρῆς Theseid VI.30,5 (Olsen) τὴν ἀγορὰν τῆς ἔμισθης βάρκας (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 11, 14.3) ἡμέρας καὶ νυκτὸς (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 293, 208.13) τοῦ κοπέλας του (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 759, 660.3) τοῦ γυναικάς μου CHORTATIS, Katz. III.495–6 διὰ τὴν πραγματείαν τῆς μουστάρδας Bertoldin. 164.7 τοῦ στέρνας (1664, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 7, 416.9) τῆς αὐτῆς σκόλας (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 4, 126.9–10) (< Ven. scola)

Deletion of final /s/ may occur when the following word starts in a sibilant or an affricate (see I, 3.7.1.1): τοῦ κερᾶ τοῦ μάννα τοῦ (1608, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 559, 496.7).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ης

This residual ending of the 1st declension is found occasionally in mixed- and higher-register texts and more formal contexts:

- ἀπὸ τῆς πόρτης (1172, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 10, 81.1) ὦ γλώσσης ψευδηγόρου GLYKAS, Stichoi 71 ἐκ τῆς ρίζης Dig. G V.33 τοῦ Κυρίου τῆς Δόξης Chron. Mor. H 667 τῆς γλώσσης Dig. E 21 μετὰ τιμῆς καὶ δόξης DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 557 ἐκ τῆς βίγλης Dig. T 2367 ἀπὸ Προύσης (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.Address) τὸ Μοναστήρι τῆς Ἀγίας Μαρίνης (1664, Kea, VISVIZIS 1949: 9, 66.6) καὶ τὴν μεγαλειότητα τῆς δόξης Σου θαυμάζουν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 10190

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ός

The old ending -ός of the 3rd declension remains in use with former 3rd-declension nouns throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

- αυτῆς τῆς γυναικός του Diig. Apoll. 622 περὶ τῶν δωρεῶν τῶν δίδει ὁ ἄνθρωπος τῆς γυναικός Assizes A 15.12 ἐπάνω τῆς προικός Spanos B 131 ἡ αἶγα, τῆς αἰγός SOFIANOS, Grammar 42.1
 ἡμέρας καὶ νυκτός (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 293, 208.13) τῆς κάθε νυκτός (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 451.19) χάρι προικός δίδει τῆς τοῦ Πολιχνίου τὸ χωράφι (1573 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17, 71.8–9) (= προικός) τῆς γυναικός μου (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 3, 31.27) ἰδὲς τί μοῦτρο σφιγγός ἤγουν μπαμπουίνου Bertoldos 23.16 ἔως ὥρες δύο τῆς νυχτός (1660, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 2, 115.1–2); τῆς νυκτός (1665, ibid. III, 116.2) τῆς σαρκός τους DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 959 ὑπὸ χειρός τως (1673, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1918b: 4, 221.24–5) τόσον τοῦ ἀνδρός ὥσαν καὶ τῆς γυναικός (1680, Naxos, SIFONIU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 181.15) ἦτον δύο ὥρες τῆς νυκτός (1708, Chios, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 23, 99.83) ἡ ἀγάπη τῆς γυναικός μου Don Kis. 613.36–7 στὴν γνῶμη μιανῆς γυναικός KATSAITIS, Ifig. Prol. 9

It is sometimes even used with the new noun stem χερ- instead of χερ-:

- ἀπὸ χερὸς τοῦ μισερ Νικολοῦ Μιχελῆ (1580, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 139, 260.3–4) ὑπὸ χερὸς τοῦ Ἀχαμέτη σοῦμπαχη (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3–5.13) (= σοῦμπαση, see I, 3.8.2.2) ἀπὸ χερὸς τοῦ Καντζηλλιέρη (1709, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 27, 332.21–2)
 διὰ χερὸς Εὐθυμίου ἱερομονάχου EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 13.9

Regionally the ending spreads to non-3rd-declension nouns as well. These forms are very common in texts from the Heptanese, but they also occur in S. Italy, the Peloponnese and Crete:

- ἄχρι τῆς στρατός τῆς μεγάλης (1124, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 95, 124.21–2) τῆς ἐμῆς μοιρός (1152, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 8, 88.17) (< μοῖρα) τῆς γιστερνός (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 47.246); τῆς Βιγλός (ibid. 55.377); τῆς γιστερνός (17th c., ibid. 2, 118.1) τῆς κληρονομικῆς μου μοιρός (1302, Sicily, ROGNONI 2007: 334.5) εἰς τῆς Ἀθηνός τὰ μέρη Theseid Prol. P 160 τῆς κοπελός μου (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 17, 54.26) τῆς κοπελός τωνε (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.24) ἡ κοπέλα, τῆς κοπελός SOFIANOS, Grammar 42.2–3 τῆς κοπελός (1561, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 64, 56.86–7) τῆς κοπελός τῆς (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 19, 31.19) τῆς κοπελός μου (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 114.47) τῆς βαρκός (1680, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 27, 58.9) τσῆ στρατός (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 74.19) τῆς αὐτῆς βαρκός (1686, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 36, 65.6) τῆς κοπελλός μου (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 138.21) τῆς κοπελλός PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 118.16

The noun (ή)μέρα has an alternative genitive singular (ή)μερός, modelled on νυκτός, which often appears in the collocation νυκτός καὶ ήμερός in texts from various areas:

νυκτός καὶ ήμερός Spaneas Z 432 νυκτός καὶ ήμερός Diig. Alex. V 74.5 νυκτός καὶ ήμερός Diig. Alex. F 274.3 (Lolos) νυχτός καὶ ήμερός (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.10) μισῆς μερός δρόμος Chron. Tourk. Soult. 136.20 μερός καὶ νυκτός PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §29.51 τῆς ήμερός (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 112.2) τῆς μερός DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 707

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-οῦ

This ending may replace the oxytone /os/ ending, but is employed with specific nouns only, such as γυναίκα, ήμέρα, νύκτα, in a large geographical area.⁹⁷ In west/south-western areas (Heptanese, Peloponnese) the ending also occurs with place names that were originally plural such as Ἀθήνα, Θήβα and Πάτρα. Here the shift of the stress to the ultimate occurs by analogy with the inherited genitive plural (Ἀθηνῶν, Θηβῶν, Πατρῶν):

γυναικοῦ ἐξαγορίαν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 318.21 τὸν καύσωνα τῆς ήμεροῦ Spaneas Z 141 τῆς γυναικοῦ του (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 231.155) τῆς Πατροῦ Chron. Mor. H 1401; τῆς Ἀθηνοῦ ibid. 1554; ὁ μητροπολίτης τῆς Θηβοῦ ibid. 3309; μιᾶς ήμεροῦ τὸ διάστημα ibid. 3671 τῆς Ἀθηνοῦ Chron. Mor. P 1561; τῆς Θηβοῦ ibid. 6304 μιᾶς ήμεροῦ δρόμον Ag. Nik. Strat. 45 ὥρα πρώτη τῆς νυκτοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 382.12 τῆς Πατροῦ SFRANTZIS, Chron. 62.14 app. crit. (N) τῆς Ἀθηνοῦ Theseid I.14.4 (Follieri); μιᾶς ήμεροῦ ibid. I.18.4; τῆς νυκτοῦ ibid. V.29.1 (1529) ἀπὸ τὴν σήμερον μεροῦ Fyll. gadar. 344 f μιᾶς ήμεροῦ δρόμον SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 17.2–3 τῆς Ἀθηνοῦ Diig. Alex. F 170.8 (Lolos) τῆς νυκτοῦ (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.40) τῆς γυναικοῦ του (1690, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 80, 64.8) ὡς ἔξ ὥρες τῆς ήμεροῦ Thrinios Kypr. 364

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-οῦς

This ending is a conflation of the previous two endings, /os/ and /u/ (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 54–5; and cf. masc. in -ας 2.2.2). It has been found with the nouns νύκτα and ήμέρα, a distorted version of the proper name Κλεοπάτρα and with place names that were originally plural:

⁹⁷ Cf. CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 93 fn. 1, who mentions the form ήμεροῦ as being typical of modern Kefalonian.

ὥρα πρώτη τῆς νυχτοῦς (1418, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES/BROWNING 1993: 24, 139.[3]5) τῆς Πατροῦς Chron. Mor. T 1401 τῆς Ἀφηνοῦς Chron. Mor. P 1554 (= Ἀθηνοῦς, see I, 3.8.5.1) τῆς ἡμεροῦς ... τῆς νυχτοῦς Pent. Gen. 1.16 τῆς βασιλισσας τῆς Αἰγύπτου τῆς Κλεοπατοῦς Diig. Alex. F 182.20–1 (Lolos) τῆς ἡμεροῦς MONTSEL., Evgena 863 app. crit.

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-α(ν)

There is very little variation in the accusative singular, except that it can be found with and without final /n/:

τὴν αὐτοῦ γυναικάν (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 27.215) μὰ τὴν γλυκέαν του μάναν Arm. 61 ἐκούμπισα εἰς τὴν ρίζαν Dig. E 1197; τὴν νύκταν ibid. 1355 τὴν θύραν ἀκριοχτύπησεν Chron. Mor. H 937 εἰς μίαν κοπέλλαν μοναχὴν Pol. Tr. 5684; διὰ τὴν ζέσταν τὴν φρικτὴν ibid. 10562 μὲ τὴν χεῖραν τως (1453, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1967: 1, 48.18) εἰς τὴ τσάμπρα μας (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.10) (Occit. < chambra) ὡς μίαν τρίχαν (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 302.49) νύκταν καὶ ἡμέραν (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.5) τὴν ἴσαν στράταν Assizes A 4.10 ἐπῆγεν νύκτα πρὸς αὐτὴν, τὴν ἄνομη, τὴν Τούρκα Synax. gyn. 392 σκρόφαν κουτζάπταν μίαν (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 95.79) (< Lat. scrofa) τότε κατὰ τὴν ὥρα Alex. Rim. 554 τὴν σαγίταν του Diig. Alex. F 172.12 (Konstantinopulos) εἰς πλάκαν πέτρινη KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 198.24 ἀπὸ Μπροῦσσα (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.Address) γῆ μὲ τὴ χέρα μου (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 48.15) (γῆ = ῆ) μέραν τὴν ἡμέραν γιανίσκει PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §3.4 ἔρχοντας μιὰ φούστα ν' ἀγοράση FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.202 νὰ ἔχει τὴν κατάραν τοῦ Θεοῦ (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 7, 127.16–17) τὴν σάρκα μας ἐφόρεσες Thrinis Kypr. 120

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	Residual

The residual nominative of former 3rd-declension nouns is sporadically regarded as indeclinable and used for the accusative as well: εἰς προῖξ (1200, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 249, 339.10).

Vocative

Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-α

The vocative is morphologically identical to the nominative:

καὶ εἶδα, μάνα μου, νεκρούς Dig. E 551 καὶ μίλειε, γλώσσα, φρόνιμα Diig. Ven. 2 ὀρωτική, ἐξαιρετὴ κουρτέσα Achil. N 935 (εἰπέ ...) δούλη καὶ σκλάβα τῶν Φραγκῶν Poulol. 328 καλή μου γυναῖκα Spanos B 98 φλέγα ψυχοπονέσεως SKLENTZAS, Ain. Zood. Pig. 10; γυναῖκα, σοῦ ἴπαν id., Ymn. Mar. Magd. 151 ὦ περισσότερα ταπεινὴ Poulol. AZ 1 (< περιστερὰ) ὦ καλοριζικότατη καὶ πλουμισμένη σκάλα CHORTATSI, Katz. V.24 Ἀθήνα, πρώτη χώρα Paroim. (Warner) 32.14 βαλετέ σουλτάνα IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 800 ὦ Κρήτης, χώρα μου χρυσή DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 1185 (for Κρήτης see 2.12.2) μηδὲν θαρρῆς, κουρτέσα μου [VLASTOS], Dig. P V 355.30–1 θρόνε καὶ πλάκα νόμου VEST., Prol. Theot. 243; διόπτρα πάντων προφητῶν ibid. 245 φοβοῦμαι σε, γλυκιὰ Χώρα Thrinis Kypr. 321

Sometimes the articular nominative is used instead of the vocative (for details see IV, 5.1.2):

ᾶ, πῶς λαλεῖς, ἡ μάνα μου; [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1077.

Plural

Nominative

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες

The most common ending for the nominative plural is -ες:

θύρες καὶ φενέστρες (1178, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 12, 111.19) οἱ χῆρες Chron. Mor. H 7225 οἱ φάρες ἄν σε ἀκολουθοῦν Dig. E 281; οἱ ρίζες ἦσαν σμάραγδοι ibid. 1680 λέγουσιν οἱ κουρτέσες Liv. V 1945 πολλὲς σπῖθες ἱατρικὲς Pol. Tr. 10582 οἱ τέντες τους Achil. N 424; αἱ βίγλες ibid. 478 ἦρταν ... σ' φοῦστες τούρκικες VOUSTR., Chron. A 318.7 (< Ital. fusta) ἐκοιμούντησαν ... ὡς σκρόφες BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 151 πολλὲς γυναῖκες γίνονται τότε ἐκεῖ χηράδες Alex. Rim. 1212 οἱ τρουμπέτες οἱ χρυσὲς Diig. Alex. E 241.23 (Lolos) κόλλες μεταξωτὲς (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.35–6) οἱ ἄνωθεν κοπέλες (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 208, 214.4) οὐδὲ μυζήθρες ἀπαλὲς ZINOS, Vatr. 68 οἱ βράκες οἱ ὀλοκοφτὲς CHORTATSI, Katz. I.182; οἱ ξακουστὲς Ἀθῆνες id., Erof. I.26 τὰ χεῖλη του ἐκρεμόντησαν ἔξω ὡσὰν μελιτζάνες Vios Aisop. K 147.9 οἱ μοιρολόητρες (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 82.109) (< μοιρολογήτρια) ἔστοντας καὶ ... νὰ ἐκάμασιν οἱ αἴγες ... μερικὴ ζημία (1625, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 393.1–2) γυναῖκες τότε ἐκλαίγασιν DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 645; οἱ μάνες ἐθρηνούσανε ibid. 674 ὡσὰν να ἦτον τηγανίτες Don Kis. 164.8–9

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-αι

The obsolete nominative plural ending of the 1st declension is sometimes used in mixed- to higher-register texts, not only with original 1st-declension words, but also with reformed 3rd-declension nouns such as γυναίκα and χείρα:

αί καρούχαι Ptoch. III 200 ποῦκλαι χρυσαί (1325, Veroia?/Macedonia, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 64, 355.55) (= μποῦκλαι < Fr. boucle) ὁμοῦ τε καὶ αἱ χεῖραι Phys. 459 αἱ ἡμέραι τῆς χαρᾶς τοὺς Achil. N 1597; αἱ ρίζαι σου ibid. 1632 αἱ χεῖραι PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 5 αἱ γλῶσσαι τῶν Λατίνων Alosis 958 ὡς χῆραι SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 432.150–1 πολλὰ αὔραι τῆς φωτίας Vios Aisop. D 219.7 γυναῖκαι τῶν ἀρχόντων (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 149.9) αἱ Μιαραὶ Γλῶσσαι Alex. Fyll. 91.10–11; αἱ ἡμέραι τῆς ζωῆς σου ibid. 104.14

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-άδες

The imparisyllabic plural in -άδες is adopted lexically with the words μάνα and χήρα, similarly to other words that denote family relations or status of females such as ἀδελφή, ἀδελφάδες; ἀνεψιά, ἀνεψιάδες; λαλά, λαλάδες and others:

ὑπανδρες καὶ χηράδες Anak. Konst. 73 πολλές γυναῖκες Οὐγγρισσες ἐγίνηκαν χηράδες STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 640 (Pidonia) οἱ ἄλλες χηράδες (1640, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2011: 8, 220.24) οἱ ἄνωθε χηράδες (1649, Kefalonia, PETROPOULOS 1962: B.3, 311.14) μονάδες κλαίουσιν τὰ παιδιὰ DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 650; οἱ πτωχῆς χηράδες ibid. 666 ὡσάν εἶναι οἱ χηράδες PIGAS, Chrysop. 115.15–16

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-άδαι

Sporadically the obsolete nominative plural ending -αι is substituted as the second syllable of this innovative ending: αἱ μονάδαι μας SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 432.150.

Genitive

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν -ῶ -ω -ῶνε -ωνε

This inherited ending is the most common for the genitive plural. The historical shift of the stress to the ultimate is usually observed, even with loanwords such as βάρκα, λουμπάρδα, πόρτα, στράτα and others:

ποτὲ τῶν ἡμερῶν μου GLYKAS, Stichoi 545 τῶν τσαγρῶν Chron. Mor. H 854; μὲ τὸν ἀφέντην Ἀθηνῶν ibid. 3176 τῶν ναβῶν καὶ τῶν καρabiών Assizes B 294.13 (< Occit. navei, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.)
 κακῶν καὶ συμβουλευτῶν γυναικῶν Anthos Ch. G 203.8–9 (< συμβουλευτρά < συμβουλεύτρια) περὶ τῶν χηνῶν Assizes A 20.25; περὶ τοὺς ἀρσενοκοίτας καὶ γυναικῶν ibid. 21.24

᾿ς τὲς ἀραμάδες τῶν πορτῶν SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 73 ἀρπάζεις τους ἀπὸ τριχῶν Plani kosmou 95 σενδόνην ἕνα πετσῶν τριῶν (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 14, 24.12–13) (< Ven. pezza) ᾿κατὸν λιτρῶν τὸ βάρος του Alex. Rim. 2190 τῶν τεσσάρων σκροφῶν σου (1539, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 964, 755.6) καρτελλῶν ἑνέα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 46, 44.5) (< Ven. cartèla) τῶν βαρκῶν (1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 34.4) τὴν φρόνησιν Μουσῶν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 56; τῶν αἰγῶν ibid. 647 νὰ ᾿ναι τὸ γέλιο ὀλωνῶν τῶν πουτανῶν CHORTATIS, Katz. IV.402 τῶν Πατρῶν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 105.32 (ms: τῆς, an apparent confusion with τῆς Πατροῦ, see above); ἀπὸ τῆς χαλάστριες τῶν λουμπαρδῶν ibid. 117.33 τῶν στρατῶν (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 3, 31.20) σκαελλάριος Σερρῶν PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §34.15 τὰ σπῆττα τῶν χηρῶν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 20.47 ο μέγας αφανισμός των κουκλῶν Don Kis. 321.35; τὰ νιαουρίσματα των γατῶν ibid. 445.20–1

Deletion of final /n/ (see I, 3.7.2.2) occurs in texts from Crete. Examples have also been found in documents from Cyprus and Naxos:

ἡμερῶ δέκα (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 7, 7.9) τῶ γυναικῶ την ὀρεξη CHORTATIS, Panor. I.404; τῶ γυναικῶ ὀλωνῶ id., Erof. III.203 ὀλωνῶ τῶ γυναικῶ (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 39.66) τῶ Μεγάλω Πετρῶ (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 26, 173.7)

Addition of -(v)ε can be found in Heptanesian texts (see I, 2.6.3.1 for details):

καμιὰ τῶν γυναικῶνε MONTEL., Evgena 1512 τῶν ἄνωθε γυναικῶνε (1649, Kefalonia, PETROPOULOS 1962: B.3, 311.11–12) τῶν κοπελλῶνε (1670, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1948: 241.4)
 τῶν ἄξιων γυναικῶνε KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.419

Forms that lack the shift of the stress to the ultimate are less common and often occur with loanwords:

πρὸς δὲ χώρων Εὐρώπης KAMAT., Astron. 314 ἀνάμεσα τῶν ρέντων Pol. Tr. 986; ἔμπροσθεν τῶν τέντων ibid. 10806 τῶν πούκλων Assizes A 240.18 (= μπούκλων); τῶν σέλλων ibid. 240.19; τῶν μαμούνων ibid. 241.29 τ' ἀνοικταρία τῶν πόρτων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 416.33–4 τὸ στάτε τῶν χώρων Fior 118.10 τῶν μαούνων Ekth. Chron. 43.1 τῶν μπάλλων (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 64.5) δι' ἵππων καὶ καμήλων VATATIS, Periig. II 348

These paroxytone forms, too, may be extended with an added -(v)ε in Heptanesian texts (see I, 2.6.3.1 for details): τῶν κουσερβωνέ του (1716, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969d: 1, 42.11) (read κουσέρβωνέ του); or lose their final /n/ in texts from Crete and possibly elsewhere (see I, 3.7.2.2): πέντε λίτρω (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 39.53); τῶν δέκα κολόνω τῶ μεγάλω (1639, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 6, 273.38).

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-άδω(v)

This imparisyllabic plural occurs only lexically with the words μάννα and χήρα (cf. nom. and acc pl.). Deletion of final /n/ occurs in texts from Crete:

- ἄς εἰποῦμε τῶν χηράδων Epain. gyn. 666bis τῶν μανάδων ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 296 τῶν χηράδων ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1071 τῶν χηράδων (1617, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 16, 319.6) χαλασμός τῶν πατέρων, τιμωρία τῶν μανάδων Bertoldos 19.17 τὰ σπίτια τῶν χηράδων KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 23.14 εἴμεστα Χριστιανῶν παιδιὰ κυρούδω καὶ μαννάδω P&N Diath. 213 οἱ ἄνδρες τῶν ἄνωθεν χηράδω (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 84, 101.8) ἐκλαῖγαν τῷ μανάδω τῶς BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 260,16

Accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες

The normal ending for the accusative plural, identical to the nominative, is -ες:

- σιτάριν ροῦβες ἐπτά (1243, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 293, 408.30) (< Arab. rub‘ah, see CARACAUSI, Lex. s.v.)
 σκρόφες δύο ἐπίμοσχος (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A’], 19.21) τές τσάμπρες Pol. Tr. 12268 app. crit. (BV) (< Occit. chambra) παρέξω ἐκ τές κοπέλης Achil. L 691; ἀπάνω στές καπούλης ibid. 1002 στές φλέγες SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Ag. Frang. 22 (= φλέβες, see I, 3.8.5.2) ἐστένησα κάμποσες ἡμέρες (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 78.4) (< ἀσθενῶ) καὶ ἐπτοῖκαν τές ἀσίζες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.28–9; ἀρμάτωσεν ... β’ νάβες ibid. 178.24 (< Occit. navei, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.)
 κ’ ἔριξεν τές σαγίτες της BERGADIS, Apok. A 418; μὲ τές χρυσές κουρτίνες ibid. 550 οἱ ἀλοφατζήδες μὲ τὰς τέντες τῶνε (16th c. (early), Unknown, SCHREINER 1982: 1, 13.59) ἐξέβγαλάν του κούπες σαράντα Diig. Alex. K 355.17–18 ἄρχισαν καὶ ἐδιηγούνταν ξένες γλωσσές KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 403.6 τῖς σοφίτες (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 68, 66.7) (< Ven. sofita) ἐπαρέλαβον οἱ Τοῦρκοι τὰς Σέρρες (16th c. [ms], Unknown, SCHREINER 1975/79: 74, 568.1.1) δὲν ἔχει ἐτοῦτος ὁ ποντικός τρίχες (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 58.22) ἀπὸ τες Αθήνες DIONYS., Istor. 255.13 με βάρκες μεγάλες καὶ μικρές Chron. Ps.-Doroth. 230.37–8 τσί δυὸ παλιοπιστόλες CHORTATIS, Katz. III.60 μὲ τές τρύπες τῆς μύτης πλατεῖες Bertoldos 6.9; μεσοφαγωμένον ἀπὸ τές μύγες ibid. 12.4 εἰς τές δόξες τές πρόσκαιρες VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 35.2
 με δουκέσες, με μαρκέζες μήτε με κοντέσες; Don Kis. 458.25–6

In areas that display raising of unstressed /e/ to [i], the ending may surface as [is] (see I, 2.5.4 for details and more examples): μὶ κάμποσις μέρη φορτώνου ὅλα τὰ πράματα (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.16).

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

The old accusative plural ending -ας occurs in mixed- and higher-register texts, not only with inherited nouns, but also with loanwords and newer formations:

εἰς ὀλιγὰς ἡμέρας Eisit. f.1v.14 κασέλας δύο (1314, Athos, ŽIVONONIC et al. 1998: 30, 216.41) μετὰ τρεῖς ἄβρας Dig. E 530; ὁκτώ τέντας ἐπήδησεν ibid. 929 τὰς τσάμπρας Pol. Tr. 12268 (< Occit. chambra) ποιοῦν κουρίνας ἔμορφας Diig. tetr. 488 εἰς τὰς χείρας μου (1471, Athos?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 173, 197.3) εἶχεν καὶ πόρτας σιδηρὰς Achil. N 766 ὄσας ὥρας Velth. 277
 μὲ τὰς φρικτὰς σαγίττας Byz. Il. 516 ἐμαγάρισαν γυναῖκας Analos. Ath. 24 φλέβας ἀργυρίου ZYGOM., Synopsis 142.B.13 ἐκ τὰς χρυσὰς καὶ λαμπρὰς Ἀνθήνας (1599, Attica?, LAMBROS 1904b: 6, 9.2) (= Ἀθήνας, see I, 3.5.2.4) ἡμέρας καὶ νύκτας δεκαπέντε Diath. Nikon Metan. 19–20 εἰς τὰς μικρὰς καλύβας LANDOS, Geopon. 254.16

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδες

The imparisyllabic accusative plural in -άδες is lexical, occurring with the nouns μάννα and χήρα:

εἰς χηράδες (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 148.32) πτωχοὺς, χηράδες καὶ ὀρφανὰ GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 289 χηράδες, λέγω, καὶ ὀρφανὰ καὶ Χριστιανοὺς DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1234 καὶ τὲς μανάδες θλίβει τὲς ΡΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 318 εἰς ὀρφανὰ καὶ χηράδες Chron. 1619 898 τὲς μανάδες Bertoldin. 112.17

In texts from Cyprus, where the -άδες ending is more generally employed, and not only with animate nouns (cf. 2.11.1.1 and 2.12.1), we find the following examples: ἐπήραν του μουρουπάδες πιλωμένες VOUSTR., Chron. A 106.2 (< ἡ μουρούπα, “unspun wool”); μὲ γλυκόμενοστες τροφές, φιντούτια, φιστουκάδες Pist. kekoim. 41–2 (< φιστούκα). Such examples are likely to occur across a wider area, including the Cyclades (cf. 2.11.1.1), but so far no examples have been found.

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδας

Sporadically the second syllable of this innovative ending is replaced with the obsolete accusative plural ending -ας: ἄκο ᾿δὰ διὰ τὰς χηράδας Epain. gyn. 667.

Vocative

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-ες ἢ -άδες

The vocative is identical to the nominative and shows the same lexical variation:

ὦ μάνες, συμπονέσετε τὸ τέκνο FALIEROS, Thrinios 52; ὦ ξύλα, πέτρες, ibid. 223 εἶπα πρὸς αὐτάς· γυναῖκες ... CHEILAS, Chron. 356.23 σκύλες ἀφορισμένες Synax. gyn. 80 γυναῖκες μου ομορφότατες CHORTATISIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 54; ὦ μέρες μου καὶ νύχτες μου ibid.
 III.177
 ὦ μάνες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 834 γυναῖκες μου χαρήτε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 300.9 καὶ σεῖς, πέτρες, ραγίσετε DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 651 κυροῦδες καὶ μανάδες Pist. kekoim. 10

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-αι

As with the nominative plural (see above), the obsolete vocative plural ending of the 1st declension is sometimes used in mixed- to higher-register texts, not only with original 1st-declension words, but also with reformed 3rd-declension nouns such as γυναῖκα: ἐπάρετε δρουβανιστὸν ὀξύγαλον γυναῖκαι Ptoch. III 179.

2.11.2.2 Nouns without a Shift of Stress in the Genitive Plural

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	πεταλούδα
Gen.	πεταλούδας	-ος -ός	-ου
Acc.	πεταλούδα(ν)
Voc.	πεταλούδα
Plural
Nom.	πεταλοῦδες		-αι
Gen.	πεταλούδων	πεταλουδῶν
Acc.	πεταλοῦδες	-ας
Voc.	πεταλοῦδες

Singular

Nominative

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-α

This is the normal ending for the nominative singular:

ή αὐτή μου θυγατέρα (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 23.88) νά ἐκόλλησεν λιγδίτσα Ptoch. IV 222 παρίσταται ή (δεῖνα) θυγατέρα τοῦ (δεῖνος) (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 49.11) νά ἐργάζεται ή φουδούλα Liv. E 1237 ἀπ' αὐτήναν ἔστεκεν ή Ἑλπίδα Liv. V 869 νά ἔξηβην ή ψυχίτσα μου Katal. 641 καὶ ἦλθεν ή Συναγρίδα Opsarol. 11 ή Αἰμίλια ἀμαζόνα Theseid Prol. P 158 ή μητέρα Imb. Rim. 227 ἐφύσησεν πολλή ἀκρίδα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 682.4 ρουφιάνα δίχως ψόματα CHORTATIS, Katz. I.220 ή πορτοπούλα (16th c., Constantinople?, BENEŠEVIĆ 1919: 408.4–5) ή θυγατέρα ντου (1617, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 4, 35.6) ή τρυγόνά ROMANOS, Grammar 4.23 ή δυχατέρα (1664, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 13, 127.3–4) (= θυγατέρα, see I, 3.9.1) η σουλτάνα η Μαλτεζίνα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 530a ή φοράδα καὶ ή ἀγελάδα (1672, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 5, 167.9) ή αὐτή λαμπάδα νά βάνεται εἰς τὸ αὐτὸ μνημα (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1955: 519.8–9) ή ἀρκούδα ἐγριώθηκεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1332 οδηγώντας τους η φρονιμάδα Don Kis. 423.14; εσιώπησεν η βοσκοπούλα ibid. 533.33

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	Residual

Residual nominatives of the former 3rd declension can occasionally be found, sometimes even displaying innovative phonological characteristics, as in the 1675 example from Gortynia:

τοῦ Πρίαμου εὐρίσκετο θυγάτηρ Pol. Tr. 1690 ή θυγάτηρ Ἰωάννου τοῦ Ἀλληλοῦα (1431, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 18, 217.5) ὡς ἀκρις καὶ μέμμηκας PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 165 app. crit. (C) καὶ ποῦ ὁ ρήξ καὶ ρήγαινα, πατήρ ἐμὸς καὶ μήτηρ Velth. 1166 ή θυγάτηρ τοῦ κυροῦ Μανουήλ (1551, Kastoria, DRAKOPOULOU 2005: 16, 32.12) θυγάτηρ ποτὲ μαστρο-Μιχάλη (1623, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 416, 388.6–7) θυγάτηρ Νικόλα Ψωμᾶ (1636, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 43, 119.5–6) ή δὲ θυγάτηρ μου (1655, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 4, 148.4) μήτηρ καὶ θυγατέρα (1671, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1982/83: 5, 96.10) ή δυχάτηρ (1675, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 80, 320.2) (= θυγάτηρ, see I, 3.9.1)

Genitive

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ας

The most common ending for the genitive singular is -ας:

τῆς Χαλκεδόνας (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 25.158) τῆς λιοπετρίδας (1132, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 112, 149.19) πλησίον τῆς αὐτῆς κουλούρας (1145, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 15, 140.9) τῆς Ἑλλάδας Chron. Mor. H 3815

ἐμπροσθεν τῆς μητέρας της Pol. Tr. 12479 τῆς πινακίδας Liv. V 260 τῆς θυγατέρας μου τῆς Νικολέτας (1496, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1, 48.24–5) τῆς ἡμῶν ἀδελφίτσας Achil. N 1441 τῆς νυκτερίδας Poulol. 175 app. crit. (AZ) τῆς ἐβδομάδας DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 122 ἀποκάτω τῆς γαστέρας (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 64.12) τῆς γράς Μπέλας, τῆς γράς Σταμάτας (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 171, 139.15) (for γρά < γραία see 2.11.5 and I, 2.4.7.4) τῆς μερίδας ὅπου στέργει (1596, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 154, 279.16–17) τῆς μητέρας της (1615, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 15, 319.25) τῇ Σοφίας Καλοχουσοπούλας (1620, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 347, 323.7) τῆς προβατίνας οἱ κλωτσιές τοῦ λύκου νεῦρα γίνονται Paroim. (Warner) 105.12 τῆς κορασίδας (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 114.59) τῇ Σοῦδας (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 72.20) τῆς ἄνωθεν κυράτσας Βασιλικῆς (1693, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969e: 65.9–10)

Deletion of final /s/ may occur when the following word starts in a sibilant or an affricate (see I, 3.7.1.1): καὶ τῇ θυγατέρα τῇ (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 849, 740.09).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ος

The old genitive ending of the 3rd declension remains in use in more formal contexts. The use of this ending for the nouns μητέρα and θυγατέρα instead of the oxytone forms μητρός and θυγατρός is not uncommon in AG poetic texts (Homer, Euripides and others), but highly unusual in post-classical Greek. Its appearance in vernacular texts should probably be viewed as an unconnected innovation, an attempt to bring these forms in line with the rest of the paradigm; in other words, a matter of history repeating itself:

βατμίδος διακόνων (1193, Cyprus, EVANGELATOU-NOTARA 1982: 471, 217.2) (= βαθμίδος) μητέρος θηλαζούσης GLYKAS, Stichoí 37 εἰς τὸ ἔμπα τῆς Λευχάδος Chron. Toc. 62 τῆς θαυμαστῆς εἰκόνος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 100.28
 ἀπὸ μητέρος καὶ πατρός KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.136 τῆς θυγατέρος μου τῆς Μαρούλας (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 36, 38.51) τὰ ἐμῖα τῆς μερίδος (1557 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 11, 64.30) ἔφυγε τῆς πατρίδος Dig. A 2431 εἰς τὰ μέρη τῆς Ἑλλάδος Vios Aisop. K 148.6 τῆς θυγατέρος του (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1955: 519.34) τῆς ἁγίας εἰκόνος τοῦ ἁγίου Νικολάου (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 107.5); μετὰ τὸν ἐξολοθρεμὸν τῆς πατρίδος τους (ibid. 107.6–7) τῆς πυραμίδος Don Kis. 183.16

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ός

The old oxytone genitives of μήτηρ/μητέρα and θυγάτηρ/θυγατέρα are used in mixed-register texts and in more formal contexts. The different stress patterns are, of course, convenient for versifiers: τῆς μητέρας του Alex. Rim. 362; τῆς μητρός του ibid. 378, but it must be borne in mind that regionally (in south-western areas and especially the Heptanese) the oxytone -ός ending is very common:

τῆς μητρός μου (1264, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 34, 15.1–2) τῆς θυγατρὸς μου Eisit. f.8r.18 τὸ γράμμα τῆς μητρός σου Dig. E 384 ἔμπροσθεν τῆς μητρός της Pol. Tr. 12479 app. crit. (AX) μετὰ τῆς θυγατρὸς μου (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 166, 116.2–3) ἔμὲν καὶ τῆς μητρός σου CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 307 τῆς θυγατρὸς τοῦ προγονοῦ μου (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 62, 179.18) ἀπὸ κοιλίας μητρός σου DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 538 θυγατρὸς τοῦ Πανταλέου (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 135.89); νὰ δίδουν τῆς μητρός μου (1524, ibid. 88, 167.25) ἡ μητέρα, τῆς μητρός SOFIANOS, Grammar 42.1; ἡ θυγατέρα, τῆς θυγατρὸς ibid. 42.2
 τῆς θυγατρὸς τῆς Καλῆς (1562, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 9, 22.8) τῆς θυγατρὸς τῆς τῆς Γληγορίας (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 8, 86.25) τῆς μητρός τῶνε (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 24, 19.4) βάνει λογισμὸν τῆς μητρός τῆς MOREZINOS, Klini 233.2
 κάνομε προικοσύφουνο τῆς θυγατρὸς μου (1687, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 10, 223.3)

The use of the old oxytone ending with the stem θυγατερ- has been found in a large geographical area:

τῆς θεγατερὸς μου (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 148, 109.8) τῆς θυγατερὸς αὐτοῦ (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 5, 25.2) τῆς θυγατερὸς μου τῆς Εὐγένως (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 31, 70.5) τῆς θυγατερὸς τῆς (1563, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969i: 2, 136.11) τῆς θυγατερὸς τῆς (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 37, 117.2) τῆς θυγατερὸς μας (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 8, 34.5) τῆς θυγατερὸς τῆς PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §6.42 τῆς κάθε μιανῆς θυγατερὸς μου (1673, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 73, 43.4) τὸ μιστικὸ τῆς θεγατερὸς μου (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.45v.11) τῆς θυγατερὸς μου (1713, Nauplion, LIATA 1998a: [1], 265.3)

In a Heptanesian document the oxytone ending also extends to other words (note that the oxytone genitive ending -ός is rather popular in this area; cf. 2.11.1.1 and 2.12.1): τῆς σταφιδὸς (1683, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2008: 5, 56.4).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ου

A rare genitive in -ου can be found once in the Chronicle of Tocco, alongside the more common form Λευχάδος:⁹⁸ τὸ νησὶ Λευχάδου Chron. Toc. 42.

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	Residual

⁹⁸ Cf. a similar form in Gennadios Scholarios's interpretations of Aristotle (15th c.): ἐκ τῆς Ἰλιάδου τὸ ἔπος (ed. Jugie et al.; see the online TLG).

Given that the most common genitive ending for the paradigm is -ᾶς, the residual nominative in -άς is sometimes used as a genitive: τῆς Ἀγίας Τριάς (1614, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1988: A, 159.5); τῆς Ἡρωιδιᾶς PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV 6.42.

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-α(ν)

The normal ending for the accusative singular is -α. It occurs with and without final /n/:

τὴν πρώτην καὶ γνησίαν μου θυγατέραν Εἰρήνην (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 23.83) ἐκάμμυσεσ ὠρίτισαν GLYKAS, Stichoi 166 ἀγελάδαν μίαν γεννημένην καὶ ἀγελάδαν ἀ' στέρφον (1254, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 19, 91.22) ἄμε μὲ τὴν εὐχίτισα μου Chron. Mor. H 1388; καὶ τὴν φαγοῦραν ibid. 6128 φοράδαν ἤμισην (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.20) στριγγέαν φωνίτισαν ἔσυρεν Arm. 46 ἀκτίναν τοῦ ἡλίου Dig. E 184 ἔχει τὴν αὐτὴν βερτοῦδα Lapid. 185.18 (< Ital. vertude)⁹⁹ θυγατέραν τοῦ ποτὲ ... (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 92.8); στανιάδα μίαν
 (ibid. 94.71)
 λαβίδα μία ἀργυρή (1557, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 11, κζ'.53) ὄσσην τρομάραν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 817 τὴν σφραγίδα Dig. A 412 ἔλαβεν τὴν Κασταμῶνα (post 1640, Monemvasia, SCHREINER 1975/79: 79, 581.11.1) οὐδὲ εἶχεν μία ὀμνοστάδα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §19.20 μίαν ἀγαστέρα LANDOS, Geopon. 229.6; θαυμάζεσαι τὴν νοστιμάδα ibid. 252.2
 ἐγὼ μὲ τὴν τρελλίτισα μου, | γεμῶζω τὴν κοιλίτισα μου Paroim. (Warner) 113.15–16 να εἰπούμεν περὶ διὰ τὴν Μαλτεζάνα τὴν σουλτάνα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 506 tit. ἔλαβε καὶ μίαν ἀμουνάδα (1672, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 62, 38.10) (< ἀμνάς) μία καδενέτα μαλαματένην (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 179.19)

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	Residual

The residual nominative of former 3rd-declension nouns is sometimes regarded as indeclinable and used for the accusative as well. These forms are restricted to verse texts and more formal contexts:

κ' ἐπῆρε τὴν θυγάτηρ του βλογητικὴν γυναιῖκαν Chron. Mor. H 7973 τὴν μήτηρ της Pol. Tr. 12855 τοῦ Πριάμου τὴν θυγάτηρ ERMON., Ilias 23.34 τὸν πατὴρ ἀντάμα μὲ τὴν μήτηρ Achil. N 360 ὁ βασιλεὺς ἐσπάσατο τὴν ἑαυτοῦ θυγάτηρ Achil. O 624 ἔχει θυγάτηρ, ἡ ὁποία ἐπονομάζεται Ἄννη (1500, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 2, 48.3); παραλαμβάνει θυγάτηρ (1510, ibid. 5, 50.5) ὑπάνδρευσαν τὴν θυγάτηρ (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 256.12)

⁹⁹ Loanwords such as these also sometimes appear in unadapted form: τίτοιαν βερτοῦδε Lapid. 187.10, at the most with an added final /n/: καὶ ἔχει τοῖαν βερτοῦδεν ibid. 187.13.

μέ τήν θυγάτηρ των (1594, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 152, 276.5) τήν Ἡρωδιάς PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §6.39

Very sporadically there is even confusion with the residual vocative: εχωτα θιγατερ / ἐχο<ν>τα θυγάτερ/θύγατερ (1609, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 6, 21.3); and even the residual dative may be recycled as an innovative accusative: μέ τή μητρί μου Alex. Rim. 464 (for the residual dative see 1.1).

Sporadically residual 3rd-declension forms are reformed based on a different paradigm: τήν θυγατήρ Chron. Mor. P 6319 (θυγάτηρ > θυγατέρα > θυγατήρ, by analogy with e.g. γαστήρ, γαστέρα).

Vocative

Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-α

The vocative, identical to the nominative, normally ends in -α:

παράκυψαι, βαγίτζα μου Dig. G IV.282 ἀγάπη, δούλη τοῦ Ἑρωτος καὶ γνήσια συγγενίδα Liv. V 368 ἐξύπνησε, κυράτσα μου Achil. N 1308; ψυχίτσα μου, ἄς ὑπᾶμεν ibid. 1335 καλογυναικίτσα μου Spanos B 98 βλέπεσαι, θυγατέρα μου Fyll. gadar. 159 λέγει: μαννίτσα κάτσε [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1091 γλυκειά μου μητέρα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 648.17 ἀπαντοχή, ἐλπίδα μου Imb. Rim. 244 ὦ ... ψυχίτζα μου Diig. Alex. F 98.3–4 (Lolos); ὦ μητέρα ἐδική μου ibid. 196.1 (Konstantinopulos) λαμπάδα γὰρ τοῦ σκότους μου Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1204; τρυγόνα μου ibid. B 1209 φαγάνα καὶ βουβάλα Stathis III.382 τοῦ κόσμου ἀνοστάδα SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. G5r.11; γαῖδάρα πομπιωμένη ibid. G5r.23 τὸ σκύλο μου μοῦ δόσε, κορασίδα Pist. voskos II 2.193 πατρίδα κακοτύχιστη BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 195.10 ὦ εἰκόνα ὑψωμένη KONDAR., Paidēs 487 θυγατέρα μου KORNAROS, Erot. III.1079

Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	Residual

Residual vocative forms of former 3rd-declension nouns are occasionally used in more formal contexts:

ὦ Κύρια μας καὶ μητερ μας FALIEROS, Thrinos 269 ἄκουσον οὔν, ὦ θύγατερ VEST., Prol. Theot. 275 ὦ γλυκυτάτη μου πατρίς IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 9621 Κυρία, μητερ τοῦ Χριστοῦ Thrinos Kypr. 85

Sometimes the residual nominative of former 3rd-declension nouns is used as a vocative and thus treated as indeclinable:

σώπασε, μήτηρ μου Dig. E 543 κοπελορίκτουσα, πόρνη, θυγάτηρ πόρνης Poulol. 223 τοῦτο, μήτηρ, | τὸ μὲ λέγει αὐτὸς ὁ γέρον Ptochol. P 306–7 ὦ θυγάτηρ μου [VLASTOS], Dig. P II 325.30 θυγάτηρ μου γλυκύτατη DEFAR., Sos. 216 (Holton) σκέπε καὶ διαφύλαττε, Τριάς, τοὺς σὲ ὑμνοῦντας DIKR., Diig. Pol. 1233

Plural

Nominative

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες

The normal ending for the nominative plural is -ες:

στουλάρια καὶ καννίτσες (1201, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 19, 150.24) ὅλες αἱ εὐγενίδες Pol. Tr. 10619 ὅλες οἱ συγγενίδες Liv. V 3059 ἀρχόντων θυγατέρες Achil. N 1033 οἱ νέες κοπελοῦδες Diig. tetr. 929 οἱ ἀκτῖνες DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 917 τὰ δουκάτα καὶ οἱ μονέδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 82.23 (< Occit. moneda, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.) οἱ δοῦλοι καὶ βαγίτσες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 160 αἱ μητέρες τοὺς SOFIANOS, Paidag. 99.13 ἀρνάδες ἰδ' ... καὶ κατσικάδες γ' (1553, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 116, 165.49–50) οἱ ἄνωθε μερίδες (1561, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 129, 247.9) οἱ ρουφιάνες CHORTATIS, Katz. Prol. 34; οἱ ασπριλάδες τῷ μαλλιῷ id., Panor. I.261 οἱ ἀπομοναρεὲς μουρνοπούλες (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 841. 734.36) φιληνάδες καταπολλὰ ἡγαπημένες Bertoldos 45.20–1 κ' οἱ κοπελλοῦδες οἱ μικρὲς ποὺ ἔταν κορασσοπούλες PETRITSIS, Dig. O 102 οἱ θυγατέρες μου (1693, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 32, 136.2) πατέρες καὶ μητέρες Thrinios Kypr. 37; δὲν νὲν παραξενάδες ibid. 459 ἐπειδήτης καὶ νὰ ἦτανε οἱ φοράδες ἐγγαστρωμένες (1708, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 7, 41.22)

In language varieties that are affected by raising of unstressed /e/ to [i] (see I, 2.5.4 for details), [e] may become [i]: οἱ ἀκτίνις (app. crit.) (1684–5, Moscow, ŠANGIN 1936: 3, 114.9); οἱ χιλιδόνις (app. crit.) (ibid. 115.4); οἱ καλοικούδις (app. crit.) (ibid. 115.13) (< καλοικούδα; cf. MG καλιακούδα).

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-αι

The residual ending of the 1st declension is sporadically employed with former 3rd-declension nouns, as well as with the newer words belonging to this paradigm: αἱ δύο μου θυγατέραι (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 25.168); λαβίδαι ὅμοιαι ε' (1200, Patmos, ASTRUC 1981: 21.31); ἕτεραι εἰκονίτσαι μικραὶ (1142, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 7, 74.22); αἱ κοπελλοπούλαι SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 442.456.

GenitiveFem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ων ὀ -ω ὀ -ωνε

The inherited unstressed genitive ending of the 3rd declension is the most common for this paradigm:

ἀγελάδων, βουβαλίων (1079, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 2, 17.6) εἰς τάξιν μητέρων (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 246.671–2) τῶν θείων καὶ σεβασμίων εἰκόνων (1313, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 8, 52.26–7) τῶν κοπελούδων των (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 102.19) ἄνωθεν δὲ ὀκτάγωνος μετὰ λαμπρῶν θυρίδων Dig. A 3986 μετὰ ράβδων καὶ ματσούκων Spanos D 754 εἴπαμε τῶν κορασίδων Epain. gyn. 665 ἤλθαν μετὰ φανῶν καὶ λαμπάδων KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 366.7
 των κορασίδων Varl. & Ioas. (Lavrás) 137.9 [τῶν τρυγ]όνων ROMANOS, Grammar 4.23

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete:

μὲ θέλημα τῷ μερίδω (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 9 [Θ'], 241.6) νὰ δίδης τῷ ρουφιάνω CHORTATIS, Katz. III.58; στολή τω βοσκοπούλῳ id., Panor. III.481 πέντε λίτρω (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 39.53) τῶν ἔξι εἰκόνων (1639, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 6, 273.37)

Addition of -(v)ε occurs in Heptanesian texts: τῶν σταφίδωνέ του (1653, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 215, 186.48) (though note that the original lacks stress notation; therefore a reading σταφιδῶνε (see below) cannot be excluded).

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν ὀ -ῶ ὀ -ῶνε

As the majority of feminine nouns present a shift of the stress to the ultimate in the genitive plural, the stress shift is sometimes also applied to this paradigm:

καὶ τῶν συγγενιδῶν σου *Eisit. f.*5r.4 τῶν μητερῶν Pol. Tr. 12166 τῶν θυγατερῶν (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 136.112) τῶν φοραδῶν τρίων (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 395.35) των βοσκῶν καὶ βοσκοπουλῶν Don Kis. 539.3

Deletion of final /n/ occurs in Cretan texts: τῶν δύο τση θυγατερῶ (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 15.7); ἀφήνει τῷ τεσσάρῳ τση θυγατερῶ (1600, ibid. 61, 81.10).

In Heptanesian texts addition of -(v)ε can be found (see also I, 2.6.3.1): τοῦ θυγατερῶνε μου (1639, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 139, 125.19) (= θυγατερῶνε, see I, 3.6.1.1).

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-άδων

The imparisyllabic plural is sporadically employed with this paradigm, by analogy with other nouns belonging to the semantic field of family relations/status of females (cf. θειάδες, μανάδες, πεθεράδες, χηράδες and others): τῶν δυὸν θεγατεράδων (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 114.54).

Accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες

This accusative ending, identical to the nominative, was adopted many centuries before the LMedG period (see the introduction to Chapter 2), and is the normal ending throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

θυγατέρες βασιλέων Pol. Tr. 1103 app. crit. (B); ὅλες μου τὲς ἐλπίδες ibid. 6517 app. crit. (BV); τὲς νταμιζέλες της ibid. 11970 app. crit. (CV) (< Occit. dameisela) ῥ τὲς ἀραμάδες τῶν πορτῶν SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 73 τὰ δάκρυα της ἐποίησαν βρυσίτζες ἔμπροσθέν της Byz. Il. 399 δούλους, δουλίδες περισσὲς DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 240 (δίδομεν ...) ματσούκες ἀγνὲς Spanos D 1683 τὲς μητέρες GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 93 εἰς τὲς μουράδες τῆς χώρας (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.26–7) (< Ven. murada) στανιάδες β' (1525, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 98, 183.27–8); ὀδιὰ τὶς ποστίλες (1527, ibid. 120, 221.117–18) (< Ven. postila, see BOERIO, Lex. s.v.) νερά, ἀγριάδες (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 442, 451.328) μὲ δικές του σπέζες (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 31, 50.6) (Ven. spesa) τσ' αταξάδες | δεν ἀφηκες CHORTATIS, Panor. III.295 (< ἀταξάδα) τόσες τεντίτζες ἔστησεν Thrinis Konst. (Zoras) 83 ἀπίδια θέλει ὁ κορωνιὸς καὶ ὄχι πεταλοῦδες Paroim. (Warner) 38.10 τὲς παπαδοπούλες DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 664 νὰ σφαλίσουν τὲς φινέστρες Kaloandros f.50v (DANEZIS 1989: 70) τὲς ἐβδομάδες τὲς περασμένες MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 317.12 βλέπει πολλὰς ἀρκοῦδες PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1309 μόνον μὲ ἐταῖρες παλλακίδες συναναστρέφεται (1684, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 64, 272.9) μὲ τσι ἰντράδες τως (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 74.24–5) (< Ven. intràda) τὲς τιμημένες πριντσιπέσες Don Kis. 49.36 (< Ital. principessa)

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

This residual ending can be found in mixed- and higher-register texts and in more formal contexts, not only with inherited nouns, but also with loanwords (νταμιζέλα, γαλιότα) and newer formations (diminutives in -ίτσα):

τὰς αὐτῶν μητέρας Dig. G 2.107 πάσας του συγγενίδας Eisit. f.3r.2 καὶ τὰς κεντούκλας νὰ ἔπαιρναν Ptoch. III 194 καὶ σταπιδίτσας χιώτικας Ptoch. IV 328; ψιχίτσας ζεματίσετε μικρὰς εἰς τὸ γαβάθιν ibid. 594 βασιλέως θυγατέρας Pol. Tr. 1103; ὅλας μου τὰς ἐλπίδας ibid. 6517; τὰς νταμιζέλας της ibid.
11970 (< Occit. dameisela) τόσας γαλιότας Velis. N² 268 (< Ven. galiòta) μία ἐκ τὰς βαγίτσας Velth. 876 γεμάτον πεταλούδας Krasop. AO 2 ἄπτει τὰς εἰκόνας Pist. kekoim. 410 τὰς τρυγόνας ROMANOS, Grammar 4.23

Vocative

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-ες

The vocative is identical to the nominative:

ἀκούσατε, μαυλίστρες SACHLIKIS, Katalogi 17 (< μαυλίστρια) ὦ θυγατέρες τῆς Σιών SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 426.7
ὦ μακαροῦνες με τυρὶ CHORTATIS, Katz. I.61; ὦ μήνες καὶ βδομάδες μου id., Panor. III.178; στην ψη μου, θυγατέρες μου ibid. IV.90 φιλήσετε, Νεράιδες μου Stathis III.504 κορασίδες | ἡγαπημένες καὶ χρυσές τοῦ λαιμοῦ μ' ἄλυσίδες PETRITSIS, Dig. O 107–8 ἐλπίδες μου, χαθῆτε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 208.17

2.11.3 Proparoxytone Nouns

2.11.3.1 Nouns with a Shift of Stress to the Ultimate in the Genitive Plural

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	μέλισσα
Gen.	μέλισσας	μελίσσης -ου	-ος -ους
Acc.	μέλισσα(ν)		-ο(ν)
Voc.	μέλισσα
Plural
Nom.	μέλισσες	μέλισσαι
Gen.	μελισσῶν	μελίσσων μέλισσων -ῶ -ω
Acc.	μέλισσες	μέλισσας
Voc.	μέλισσες	μέλισσαι

Singular*NominativeFem.*

Sg.	Nom.	-α

There is no variation in the nominative singular:

ή πρωτοστρατόρισα Chron. Mor. H 7703 ή στρατήγισσα Dig. E 1004 ή χάλαζα Spaneas Z 661 νά γένη ξενοδόχισσα Liv. E 2957 καί ποῦ ὁ ρήξ καί ρήγαινα Velth. 1166 ὅς ἔλθη ή δέσποινά μου Achil. N 697 καμμία μπουργέζαινα Assizes A 111.18 ή βιλλάναινα ή Κώτισσα ή γραία LIMEN., Than. Rod. 429 ή παραβάτισσα, ή Εὔα Synax. gyn. 56bis τούτη ή θάλασσα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 135.12; ή ἐνέργεια τῆς Ἀγίας Τριάδος ibid. 403.15 ή μεγαλειοτάτη ἀρχόντισσα Κατερίνα Γρίσπαινα (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 74.5) ή ὁποία κάμαρα (1594, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 152, 276.8) ή ξεδέλφισσά μου (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 55.33–4) (= ξεαδέλφισσα) ή τράπεζά σου φιλοσοφίας εἶναι γεμάτη Vios Aisop. K 172.20 τοῦ κόσμου γενοῦ μεσίτρια PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §24.30 η θεία πρόνοια ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 506 tit. ή γιάτρισσα (1688, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 202, 121.4) εἶναι ή ὁμοία Ἐρήνη καπετάνισσα (1701, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 14, 31.10–11) μία λοιμική ἀσθένεια ΕΦΤΗΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 20.1

GenitiveFem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ας

The genitive singular normally ends in -ας:

τῆς μακαριωτάτης δούκαινας (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 22.70) Βασιλείου τῆς Κωσταντίνεβας (1100–10, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 53, 256.55) τῆς ἐμῆς συγγένισσας (1202, S. Italy, NADAL CAÑELLAS 1983: III, 164.7) ὁ γαμβρὸς τῆς Λινάρδαινας (1284, Athos? Lemnos?, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 74, 26.70) ὁκάποιας κὰν γειτόνισσας Ptoch. III 162 τῆς συνάφειας Assizes B 535.18 τὴν ἀμαρτίαν τῆς παίδαινας Assizes A 98.28; τῆς μπουργέζαινας ibid. 111.31 τῆς Κουρουκιώτισσας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 100.28; τῆς Ἀτάλειας ibid. 106.12–13 τῆς ἀκρίβειας (1503, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 279, 279.12) τῆς χαλάστριας Ekth. Chron. 14.11 ἥτινος ἀρχόντισσας ἀφήνω τὸ ἀμπελάκι μου (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 9, 16.9); τῆς λεγομένης ντεμεσόριας (1529, ibid. 129, 237.31) (< Ven. dimissòria) μιᾶς ἀγγέλισσας τὸ χάδι Cypr. Canz. 116.4
 ή ἀλήθεια, τῆς ἀλήθειας SOFIANOS, Grammar 40.14–15 (ms P; ἀληθείας in ed.)
 τῆς γερόντισσας (1583, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 15, 29.11) νά πῶ τσῆ κερ' Ἀρμένισσας CHORTATIS, Katz. III.427 τῆς γράτσιας ἥνπερ ἔχει (1602, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969k: 21, 115.5) (< Ital. grazia) βοήθειας αὐτείνης ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 5717 τῆς μακαρίτισσας τῆς πεθερᾶς μου (1688, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 119, 325.3) βάμεσης ποτὲ τῆς Μπόιτζας (1726, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: Δ: 9, f.6v.2–3) τῆς χωριάτισσας Don Kis. 387.9

The historical shift of the stress to the penultimate in inherited nouns in -(ε)ῖα is often observed:

ἡ καθαμία τάξις συγγενείας (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.600) τῆς Κερυνείας VOUSTR., Chron. A 80.1
 εἰς τὸν ναὸν τῆς καθολικῆς Ὁδηγητρίας (1516, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 27, 91.2) δὲν εἶναι καιρὸς τῆς βοηθείας Pist. kekoim. 159; λειψοπραξία τῆς μετανόας ibid. 483 ὑπὸ ἐνεργείας διαβόλου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 434.42–3 μετὰ πάσης ἀληθείας ἔγραψα (1594, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 57, 80.16) μητροπολίτην Φιλαδελφείας (1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.12) τῆς ἀμαθείας μου VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 29.6

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ου

This ending occurs throughout the period covered by this Grammar in a variety of texts, from north to south and east to west, and is especially frequent with the word θάλασσα. These forms usually display a shift of the stress to the penultimate (cf. a similar development in the proparoxytone masculine paradigm in -ας, 2.2.5):¹⁰⁰

ἐν πέλαγο θαλάσσου Jonas 215.7 ἀειπαρθένου Μαρίας τῆς Παντανάσσου (1327–8, Peloponnese, VRANOUSI 1981: B, 26.2–3) τὸν γῦρον τῆς θαλάσσου Chron. Mor. H 863; τῆς Λαρίσσου ibid. 2591 αὐθέντην τῆς Λαρίσου Pol. Tr. 5039 τὴν σμύρναν τῆς θαλάσσου Liv. V 174 τῆς Βοδίτζου Chron. Toc. 89; διὰ θαλάσσου καὶ ξηρᾶς ibid. 164 τῆς θαλάσσου (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 271.7) τῆς θαλάσσου (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 60.3) τὸ ρέμαν τῆς θαλάσσου Assizes A 50.25 τοῦ ἀφέντου Καρυταίνου Chron. Mor. P 8120 τῆς θαλάσσου ὁ κίνδυνος BERGADIS, Apok. A 395 θαλάσσου καὶ κυμάτων SKLAVOS, Symf. 4 τὴν μίξιν τῆς θαλάσσου (1512, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔÈS 1978: 8, 67.19) καὶ τῆς θαλάσσου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.3 τὸν ἄμμον τῆς θαλάσσου Diig. Alex. V 74.26 δὲν ἦτον ἄνθρωπος τῆς θαλάσσου (1578, Cyprus, TSELIKAS 1977: 1, 253.11) τῆς θαλάσσου Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1108 τα βάρη τῆς θαλάσσου CHORTATSI, Panor. IV.279 τῆς Λαρίσσου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.30 τῆς θαλάσσου KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.332

Forms without the shift of stress are metre-induced (before the caesura): τῆς Λάρισσου Pol. Tr. 3580 and 4113.

¹⁰⁰ Note that a genitive πόλεως Λαρίσσου can be found in the Narrations of Paul of Monemvasia (10th c.); see the online TLG.

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ος

This ending, adopted from the old 3rd declension, is used occasionally in texts from various areas from very early on:

ἐν τῷ ἀριστερῷ μέρει τῆς γέφυρος (1027, Sparta, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 43, 301.10–11) μὲ τὸν λαὸν τῆς Λάρισος Pol. Tr. 3580 app. crit. (V) τῆς τράπεζος καυχία ζ' (1610–20, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 23, 94.17) τσῆ Γεράπετρος (1614, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 1, 330.14) περιτόριον τῆς Γεράπετρος (1628, Crete, DETORAKIS 1994: 1, 126.3) τῆς Γεράπετρος (1632, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2000: 4, 517.3)

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ους

Conflation of -ου and -ος has been found in the Pentateuch, an editorially problematic text: τῆς θαλάσσοις Pent. Gen. 1.16 and 32.13 (ed. θαλασσοῦς, but the stress notation is editorial; see also HATZIDAKIS 1892: 55).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ης

This residual ending with the historical shift of the stress to the penultimate appears occasionally in mixed-register texts and more formal contexts:

χειρὸς Ἀρχοντίσσης (1192, Sicily, RE/ROGNONI 2008: 1, 142.1) βασιλίσσης Ἀγγελίνας Δούκαινας (1375, Ioannina, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 146, 103.5) τῆς θαλάσσης SFRANTZIS, Chron. 146.15 μετὰ ἐρεύνης ἀκριβῆς Velth. 643 ἀντὶς ἀβροτραπέζης | νά 'χει ψωμὶν καμπανιστὸν LIMEN., Velis. Λ 103–4 ὡς πλῆθος τῆς μελίσσης Analos. Ath. 35 εἰς τὸν ἀφέντη ... Ριθύμνης (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 30, 49.6) τῆς Νεκρᾶς Θαλάσσης (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 337.67) ὁ προχὸς τῆς ἀμάξης PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.66 τὴν κρίσιν τῆς γεέννης KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 23.23
 διὰ θαλάσσης καὶ ξηρᾶς DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 168

Absence of stress shift in these forms is rare and clearly occurs to accommodate the metre: βασιλίσσης μεγάλης Alex. Rim. 2202. The following forms are hybrid formations with retention of the historical stress shift but substitution of the old ending with the newer ending -ας: ἐγγονίσσας τοῦ κυρ-Γεννάκη (1155, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 24, 146.1); τῆς ἀρχοντίσσης (1197–8, S. Italy, ibid. 42, 219.38); θαλάσσας (1191, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 12, 85.4); τῆς Τραπέζας Anak. Konst. 109.

AccusativeFem.

Sg.	Acc.	-α(ν)

The accusative normally ends in -α and occurs with and without final /n/:

ἔχεις με κουρατόρισσαν Ptoch. 194 κ' ἐπέζεψαν στὴν Πρέβεζαν Chron. Mor. H 9119 τοῦ Ἑρωτος τὴν συμπάθειαν Liv. E 358 εἰς τὴν ρέγουλαν τῶν τριῶν (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 72, 56.6) (< Lat. regula) τὴν κυρὰν τὴν Μαργαρίταν πρίντζαιναν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 52.30 (< πρίντζης (< Fr. prince) + -αῖνα) καὶ πέ μας τὴν ἀλήθειαν Synax. gadar. 256 ἐπῆρεν ὁ Σπάνιας τὴν Γένουβαν (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.IV, 260.86.1) τὴν βασιλίσσαν Diig. Alex. F 22.19 (Konstantinopulos) μὲ ὀρθωσιν μεγάλην καὶ μὲ δίαιταν Diig. Alex. E 209.12–13 (Lolos) τὴν ξυλόγατα ZINOS, Vatr. 87 ἀπὸ τὴν ἀρχόντισσάν του (1570, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 16, 70.8) ἔπαρε τὴν μάχαιραν (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 24.4) πουλοῦμε τίς ἐλὲς στὴ Γιάννιτζα (1600, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: II, 70.4–5) ἐποίκεν ἐπιτρόπισσαν κυρὰν τὴν Ὀδηγήτρια Thrinios Konst. (Zoras) 63 τρῶγε καμπόσον συτυπικόν ... ἦγουν ... ἀχλάδα ἢ νέσπολα LANDOS, Geopon. 182.6–7 (< Ven. nespola) ἔφαγε τὴν πικραμυγαλόπιττα Paroim. (Warner) 100.21 ἤφεραν τὴν κράλεσσαν (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 56.12) ἔλειπα εἰς τὴν Ντάντζικα (1709, Chios, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 34, 134.9) (= Danzig) με τὴν σκυλόσκουπα Don Kis. 167.24

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ο(ν)

This ending, borrowed from the /os/ paradigm, has been found with the nouns τράπεζα and Λάρισσα. In the case of Λάρισσα confusion may be suspected with the (masculine) river Λάρισις:

στὴν Λάρισσον Chron. Mor. H 2599 ἠφέρασι ἐκ τὴν Λάρισον Pol. Tr. 2302 εἰς τὴν ἁγίαν Τράπεζον MOREZINOS, Klini 36.21 νὰ κερνοῦμεν εἰς τὴν τράπεζον (1634, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 58, 156.12–13) στὴν Ἁγία Τράπεζο (1644, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1990: 486.390) φαγὶ ἀπὸ τὴν τράπεζο KONDAR., Paidēs 330 τὴν Λάρισσο (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 305, f.1v.29)

Vocative

Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-α

The vocative, identical to the nominative, ends in -α:

κατάβα, βάρια μου καλή Dig. G IV.320 (but disyllabic due to synizesis) καὶ δὸς με ἀπὸ τοῦ κήπου σου μῆλον, ἀφέντριά μου Achil. L 915 κυρὰ οἰκοδέσποινα Poulol. 35; κοπελορίκτουσα ibid. 223 κυρά μου έρωτοδέσποινα, ποθοκρατόρισσά μου Katal. 84; σκούφια μου παγκλασίδωτη ibid. 435

ὦ Κύρια καὶ Δασκάλισσα FALIEROS, Thrinos 57; ὦ Ρήγισσα ibid. 81 ἀγγέλισσά μου Cypr. Canz. 116.4

καὶ θάλασσα, βρυχήσθησε Thrinos Konst. (Zoras) 10 φίλαινα καὶ μαστόρισσα CHORTATIS, Katz. II.342; σώπασε, ἀμίρισσά μου id., Erof. V.291

δέσποινά μου ὑπεραγία Θεοτόκε (1654, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2008: 1, 52.1)

Μεσοπαντίτισσά μου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 554.24 ἔχε θάρρος, βασιλίσσά μου Alex. Fyll. 8.21

Plural

Nominative

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες

The most common ending for the nominative plural is -ες:

καὶ οἱ βάγιες ραίνουν τους μετὰ ροδοσταμάτων Dig. E 584 χίλιες καβαλλάριες Pol. Tr. 3292

οἱ βάγιές της ὅλες Achil. L 670 ὡς γονικάρχισσες καὶ κτητόρισσες CHEILAS, Chron. 356.27

αἱ δὲ ἀρχόντισσες Achil. N 1233 οὐδὲ καλὲς αὐγόπιτες ZINOS, Vatr. 65

οἱ ἀπομοναρεὲς μέλισσες (1541, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 222, 213.21) ἔφερον καὶ τὸν Διγενῆ αἱ βαῖές του μέσα Dig. A 1268 μεγάλες ἔγνοιες ... | μ' ἔχουν ἐδῶ φερμένο CHORTATIS, Erof. I.65–6 ᾠχθηρτες, ζήλειες Zinon II.410 πολλὲς γυναῖκες Οὐγγρισσεὲς ἐγίνηκαν χηράδες STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 640 (Pidonia)

τὲς δύο χώρες, ὅπου λέγονται Φώκιες (post 1640, Monemvasia, SCHREINER 1975/79: 79, 581.10.1–2) ἄλλες ἀσθένειες διάφοραι LANDOS, Geopon. 176.12; ἤγουν ... ὄστριες ibid. 224.12 (< MedLat. ostromia); τὰ σοῦρβα καὶ οἱ νέσπολες εἶναι στυπτικά ibid. 218.1 (< Ven. nespola)

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-αι

This residual ending of the 1st declension occurs occasionally in mixed-register texts and more formal contexts:

καβούροι ποτάμιοι καὶ πέστρουφαι STAFIDAS, Iatrosf. 3.61 (< Bulg. pŭstŭrva) καὶ κάμεραι δύο (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 54, 102.17) οἱ δουλεύτριαι αἱ δικαί σου Vios Aisop. K 160.26–7 ποῖται εἶναι αἱ ἀσθένειαι ἀνιάτρευται Bertoldos 9.2

ἤλθασιν αἱ Μέλισσαι Diath. Nikon Metan. 53–4

Genitive

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν -ων -ῶ -ω

The genitive plural often retains its historical shift of the stress to the ultimate:

τῶν ἐννοιῶν ἐκείνων GLYKAS, Stichoi 404 χορευτρίων λυγίσματα Dig. G IV.890 (but read χορευτρίων for the metre) ἄνευ τῶν τόπων καὶ προνοιῶν Chron. Mor. H 2859 μετὰ κλοτζάτων καὶ τυμπανιστριῶν Opsarol. 55 ἄλλων γυναικῶν καὶ γειτονισσῶν PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 113.19–20 τῶν δουλευτρίων Vios Aisop. K 161.4 ὡσαν νέφος μελίσσων Alex. Fyll. 29.22 περιέχεται ὑπὸ δύο θαλασσῶν NEKT. IEROSOL., Ierokosm. Ist. 395.29–30 τῶν μπούφων καὶ κουκουβαΐων CANTEMIR, Krit. 449.20

A stress shift to the penultimate (as in paradigm 2.11.3.2), which pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar,¹⁰¹ occurs occasionally:

ἀσθενείων τοῦ σώματος (1105, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 8, 397.29) καὶ ὀδύνες τὴν καρδίαν μου | κατέτρωναν μερίμνων Eisit. f.8r.3–4 τῶν μαυλιστρίων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 218.30 τῶν μελίσσων (1548, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 47, 76.14)

From verse texts it becomes clear that the stress notation may not correspond to the pronunciation (see I.5 for discussion), as in the following example, where we should clearly read προνοιῶν (before the caesura): ἀπὸ τὰ δίκαια τῶν προνοιῶν Chron. Mor. H 2651.

A complete absence of stress shift also occurs occasionally:

τῶν μάγισσων BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 1236 τῶν ἀρχόντισσων τῶν Γρίσπαινων (1560 [copy of 1691], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 128, 245.2–3) τῶν μάντισσων (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 429.1382)

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete and Naxos:

ἐκείνη ἐπιλογήθη | συντροφισσῶ P&N Diath. 1812–13
 τῶν λεγομένω ἀρχόντισσῶ (1568, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 14 [later copy], 68.20)

Accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες

The most common ending for the accusative is -ες:

θάλασσεσ μεγάλες (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 85.5) τὲς δύο κάμαρες (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 9, 154.4–5) ἀπὸ τὲς κάναβες (1480, Methoni, GERLAND 1903: 27, 237.4–5) (< Ven. càneva) τὸν αὐτὸν χρόνον ἐπῆρεν τὲς δύο Φώκιες (16th c., Lesbos?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 70.III, 546.27.1) τὶς μέλίσσές μου (1518, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 14, 57.14) τὲς δύο μαστόρισσες (1539, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 1032, 802.9) πληρῶνω τρίτο καὶ ρεγάγιες (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 247, 247.27) (< Ven. regàlia)

¹⁰¹ Similar forms occur e.g. in Socrates of Constantinople (Λαρίσσων; see the online TLG) and in Romanos the Melode; see MAAS/TRYPANIS 1963: 514.

ὅσες φάλιες καὶ ἂν εὔρετε (1574, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES 1996: 61.17) (< Occit. falia; see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.)
 ὅλες τὲς τελετές, ἤγουν τζερεμόνιες Pist. kekoim. 91 (< Occit. ceremonia; see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.) μὲ νήστειες καὶ μὲ δέησες P&N Diath. 1529 (< νηστεία) καὶ τσ' ἔγνοιες κατατάσσω CHORTATIS, Erof. Prol. 20; ὅλες τὲς ἄλλες τζόγιες ibid. IV.727 κι ὦρες τὲς βάρδιες ἔλλασσα Stathis III.32 εἶχεν ... δουλεύτριες Vios Aisop. K 161.7 τοῦ ἔδωκεν ἓνα ζευγάρι μπόλιες μεταξωτὲς (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 149, 162.10–11) ἀπὸ τὶς χαλάστριες τῶν λουμπαρδῶν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 117.33 τσί ντεσγράτζιες ὅπου μᾶς ἐβρήκασι (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 50.85) (< Ven. desgrazia) τὶς Τούρκισσες (1672, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 5, 167.14–15) τσ' ἀλήθειες φανερῶνομε KORNAROS, Erot. I.596

A shift of the stress to the penultimate may occur, especially in verse texts to accommodate the metre:

ἔδωκέν τους προνοῖες Chron. Mor. H 5736 μὲ τὲς ἀκάνθες τὲς πικρὲς PLOUSIAD., Thrinos 19 (Vasileiou) ἐξέλκουν τὲς μαχαῖρες LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 480

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

The residual -ας ending of the 1st and 3rd declensions, which had fallen into disuse long before the LMedG period (see the introduction to Chapter 2), can occasionally be found in mixed- and higher-register texts, with or without the historical shift of the stress to the penultimate:

καὶ τὰς βοήθειάς του Liv. V 3964
 μὲ τὰς ἀρχόντισσάς των Imber. 480 νὰ βάλης τὴν κοπρίαν, ἥτις κάμνει δύο ἐνεργείας LANDOS, Geopon. 156.27; καὶ ἄλλας πολλὰς ἀσθενείας ἰάτρευσεν ibid. 188.7

Vocative

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-ες

The most common ending for the vocative, identical to the nominative, is -ες:

χειρομάχισσες, καλοοικοδέσποινές μου Ptoch. III 190 ἀρχόντισσες εὐγενικὲς Pol. Tr. 1178 κί ἔσεῖς μου μυζηθρόπιτες πολλὰ μου ἡγαπημένες CHORTATIS, Katz. I.62 ἄρχοντες καὶ ἀρχόντισσες, σᾶσε ευχαριστοῦμε KATSAITIS, Thyest. Epil. 37

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-αι

This residual 1st-declension ending is used occasionally in mixed- and higher-register texts and in more formal contexts: ἄρourke <μου> ἐξάκουσται Analos. Ath. 56; ἐλᾶτε καὶ σεῖς θάλασσαι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.67.

2.11.3.2 Nouns with a Shift of Stress to the Penultimate in the Genitive Plural

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	νεότητα	νεότης
Gen.	νεότητος νεότητας		-ου
Acc.	νεότητα(ν)
Voc.	νεότητα
Plural
Nom.	νεότητες
Gen.	νεοτήτων		νεότητων
Acc.	νεότητες	νεότητας
Voc.	νεότητες

Singular

Nominative

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-α

There is little variation in the nominative singular:

- ἡ πέρδικα ἐξεπέτασεν Dig. G IV.587
 ἡ ἀλώπεκα Diig. tetr. 27 ἡ ἰσιότητα ὀρίζει ὅτι ... Assizes A 38.19; ἡ ὀρνιθα ibid. 199.24 ἡ μεγαλότητα τοῦ νησιῦ σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 642.20–1 ἡ μάχητά τους Cypr. Canz. 118.52 ὦ γλυκύτητα ἡμέρας ταύτης KANANOS, Diig. 73.512 νά 'νι χάριτά τως (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 134.62) γυναῖκα χήρα καὶ ὀρνιθα NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 22 tit. ἐσέβη ἡ ὠραιότητά της εἰς ἐμένα Diig. Alex. E 309.12 (Lolos) ἡ ἐμὴ ταπεινότητα (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 452.38) ἡ μάνιτά μου CHORTATSI, Katz. V.488 ἡ κρυότητα τοῦ δάσου Vosk. 120 ἡ πανιερότητά του (1692, Smyrna, KOSTIS 1901: 4, 170.14) τοῦ κυροῦ μου ἡ ὀργητα KORNAROS, Erot. V.81 τί ἦτον ἡ ὀργητά σου Alex. Fyll. 97.24

Addition of final /n/ to the nominative is very unusual: ἡ ὄρνιθιν Synax. gadar. 188.

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	Residual

Residual 3rd-declension nominatives, especially those ending in -ότης, occur routinely in mixed-register texts and more formal contexts:

- ἡ δὲ ποσότης τοῦ χωραφίου (1136–7, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 1, 61.8) ἡ πέρδιξ ὄρνειον ἐστίν Phys. 683 ἐδηλοποιήθη ἡ κραλότης μου (1345, Serres region, GUILLOU 1955: 39, 127.1) (< Slav. kral) ὄλη ἡ ἀνθρωπότης Diig. tetr. 498 ἐφαυλίστην ἡ φαυλότης ERMON., Ilias 3.117 ἡ κοσμική λαμπρότης Plani kosmou 132 ἡ ρηθείσα κοινότης (1539, Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 1, 97.12) ἡ κακότης SOFIANOS, Grammar 43.16 ἡ ἔξω ὡραιότης τοῦ κορμιοῦ της MOREZINOS, Klini 42.6 ἡ γὰρ νεότης Dig. A 2370 ἡ νιότης Kakop. 181
 ἡ ἀτελειότης τοῦ πράγματος Bertoldin. 167.28 ἡ θέρμη ἢ ἡ ὑρότης LANDOS, Geopon. 173.8 αὐτὴ ἐκείνη ἡ χάρις RODINOS, Vios Ign. 121.6 ὡς εἶν' θεότης μία IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5250 ἡ σοβαρότης τοῦ προσώπου της Don Kis. 115.11–12

Genitive

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ας

There are two main endings for the genitive singular, the inherited one in -ος (see below) and the newer ending -ας:

- φωλεὰν πέρδικας Phys. 690 τῆς ὄρνιθας Fyll. gadar. 182 f με αἶμαν ὄρνιθας ἄσπρης (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 76.21) τῆς Βέρροιας (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 249.40) ἡ μάννα τῆς σπλαχνότητος P&N Diath. 1788; ἡ βρύση τῆς γλυκότητος ibid. 1789 τῆς ὑψηλότητάς σου CHORTATIS, Erof. V.325 ὁ θυμὸς τσῆ μάνητας TROILOS, Rodol. I.342 πλουσιότητος περβόλι KORNAROS, Erot. II.442 app. crit. (X)

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ος

The old ending -ος of the 3rd declension can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar, with both inherited 3rd-declension words and new formations (ἄργητα, ἐδικότητα):

- τῆς ὑπεράγνου μου Θεομήτορος (1284, Athos? Lemnos?, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 73, 18.4) τὸ παρὸν πρόσταγμα τῆς κραλότητός μου (1345, Serres region, GUILLOU 1955: 38, 123.13–14) δίχως ἄργητος Pol. Tr. 13265 app. crit. (AC) χάριτος ἐπληρώθη Achil. N 710 τῆς ὑψηλότητος σου (1481, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 11, 315.7) τῆς κακότητος SOFIANOS, Grammar 42.16 ἄνευ τινὸς ἐναντιότητος (1687, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005a: 1, 368.20) ὁδὶ ἁγάπην ἐδικότητος (1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 703, 607.6) τῆς χάριτος Don Kis. 51.15–16

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ου

This ending is employed sporadically by analogy with proparoxytone masculine nouns in -ας, for which it is a very common alternative (see 2.2.5):¹⁰² τῆς ἀλωπέκου Synax. gadar. 114.

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-α(ν)

The normal ending for the accusative is -α. It can occur with and without final /n/:

καὶ χάριταν ἀνέκφραστον Eisit. f.5r.1
 καὶ ἔχε ἡμερότητα Dig. E 445 τὴν χωρικότητα Pol. Tr. 372; τὴν χάριταν ibid. 1328; καὶ ἡπιεξιότητά του ibid. 2029 ἔστεκαν καὶ εἰς ἔριταν Chron. Toc. 3887 (= ἔριδα, by analogy with e.g. μάνητα, ὄρητα) τὴν πέρδικαν Phys. 715 ἐντροπὴν καὶ ὕβριταν Velis. χ 543 εἶχεν καὶ ὀρνιθὰν χοντρή Synax. gadar. 162 ἄργηταν καμίαν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 232; τὴν μάνιτα ibid. 716 διὰ τὴν ολιγότητα τῶν ψαρίων ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 146.4–5 ἔχετε τὸν βασιλέα σας κάκητα Diig. Alex. E 215.12 (Lolos); τὴν προμήτοράν μας τὴν Εὐάν ibid. 48.3 (Konstantinopulos) εἰς τὴν αὐξότητα ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 199.6–7; ἀπὸ τὴν πιτηδειότητά του ibid. 203.5 (= ἐπιτηδειότητα) τὴν γλυκύτητα Vios Aisop. K 179.13–14; εἰς μίαν λάρνακα ibid. 185.26 πρὸς τὴν πανιερότητα σου (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174.7) διὰ ὅλη τους τὴν ἐδικότητα (1619, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 1, 187.5–6) νὰ μὲ κρατῇ σ' ἔχθριτα FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.462 ἔχει ἀπὸ λόγου του πείνα, δίψα, γυμνότητα (1689, Corfu, ΚΑΠΑΔΟΧΟΣ 1990: 59, 268.8) καὶ ἦλθαμεν εἰς τὴν Σιάτισταν (1690, Siatista, ΠΑΝΔΑΖΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ/ΤΣΟΥΡΚΑ-ΠΑΠΑΣΤΑΘΗ 1974: 21, 14.5) τὴν κλίμακα τοῦ Ἰακώβ (1692, Palermo region, ΠΑΠΑΔΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ 1994: 2, 181–2.18)

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	Residual

¹⁰²In the following example it cannot be established whether the form was intended to be feminine or masculine: μέγας πρωτοπαπὰς Λαρνάκου (1609, Cyprus, ΜΙΚΛΟΣΙΧ/ΜÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 20, 267.21), as a masculine variant of the place name Λάρνακα is attested elsewhere cf. ἡ τὸν Λάρνακαν Thrinus Kypr. 162.

The residual nominative of former 3rd-declension nouns is sometimes used as an accusative, especially in verse texts: ὄρνιξ φαρμακεμένην Flor. L 353 (Cupane) (an apparent confusion of ὄρνιξ with πέρδιξ; the form is also attested in Doric).

Vocative

Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-α

The vocative is identical to the nominative:

εἰπέ μοι, κυρά πέρδικα Poulol. 166 ὦ κακότητα SOFIANOS, Grammar 43.16–17 πέρδικα καὶ τρυγὸνα μου Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1209 χαῖρε, βάτε καὶ κλίμακα VEST., Prol. Theot. 241 δουλεύτριά μου Don Kis. 180.7

Plural

Nominative

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες

The nominative plural normally ends in -ες:

οἰκέτιδές τε εὐπρεπεῖς λαμπρῶς ἡγλαϊσμένοι Dig. G IV.845 οἱ κακότητες SOFIANOS, Grammar 43.17 ὕπουλοι δ' ὡς ἀλώπεκες AXAGIOLIS, Diig. Karolou 188 ἄτακτοι σὰν ὄρνιθες ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 2504 ὄχθηρες ... μάνητες Zinon II.410 οἱ ὄρνιθες (1645, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 398.4)

Genitive

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ων

The genitive plural usually presents a shift of the stress to the penultimate. As many nouns belonging to this paradigm appear not to have a genitive plural at all, a modest number of examples has been found:

μετὰ λαμπρῶν χαρίτων Liv. V 663 τὰ ἄκρα τῶν μεγάλων πτερύγων STAFIDAS, Iatrosf. 15.436 τῶν κακοτήτων SOFIANOS, Grammar 43.17 τῶν θεραπεινίδων Vios Aisop. K 161.4

Forms without a shift of the stress to the penultimate are quite rare: τῶν ὄρνιθων Assizes A 199.15.

Accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες

The most common ending for the accusative, identical to the nominative, is -ες: τὲς χάριτες Chron. Toc. 1271 ὀρνίθες ἐπιτὰ (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 4, 151.17) τὶς ᾽πιδεξότῃτες Byz. Il. 163 app. crit. μαυλίστριες καὶ πολιτικὲς ἤθελα νὰ γυρεύω SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 54 τὲς κακότητες SOFIANOS, Grammar 43.17 ὅλες τὲς τελετές, ἤγουν τζερεμόνιες Pist. kekoim. 91 (< Ital. ceremonia) πέρδικες ἔγεμεν ἡ σκουτέλα Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1206 εἰς τὲς λάρνακες Vios Aisop. K 185.23 μάστιγες, πληγὰς MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 77 (ending added to residual nominative) με ταύτες τες χάριτες Vios Filaret. 240.18–19 τὲς ἄγριτὲς τως λιῶσε FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. Il 23; τοῖ μάνητές μου ibid. III.60

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

Residual forms in -ας can occasionally be found in mixed-register texts:

τὰς ὕβριτας Pol. Tr. 1513a app. crit. (A) καὶ δωρεὰς καὶ χάριτας Achil. N 267 ἀφῆνουσιν τὰς χάριτας [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 168; τὰς πολυτελεῖς λαμπρότητας ibid. 1424 με δολιότητας καὶ με πολλὰς κακίας IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 7190; περιστερὰς καὶ ὀρνίθας ibid. 9287

Vocative

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-ες

The vocative is identical to the nominative: ὦ κακότητες SOFIANOS, Grammar 43.17–18; σωπαῖτε, σκληρὲς σάλπιγγες Zinon I.1.

2.11.4 Paroxytone Nouns in /ea/

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	ἄπιδέα ἄπιδεά/ἄπιδιά	-ά -έ
Gen.	ἄπιδέας ἄπιδεᾶς/ἄπιδιᾶς	-ᾶς -ές
Acc.	ἄπιδέα(ν)	-ά(ν)
	ἄπιδεά(ν)/ ἄπιδιά(ν)	-έ	-έν
Voc.	ἄπιδέα ἄπιδεά/ἄπιδιά	-ά

Plural
Nom.	ἄπιδέες ἄπιδέες/ἄπιδιές ἄπιδές	ἄπιδέαι	-άδες
Gen.	ἄπιδεῶν/ἄπιδιῶν ἄπιδέων	ἄπιδιῶ	-άδων -άδω
Acc.	ἄπιδέες ἄπιδέες/ἄπιδιές ἄπιδές	ἄπιδέας	-άδες
Voc.	ἄπιδέες ἄπιδέες/ἄπιδιές ἄπιδές

Singular

Nominative

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-έα/-αία

The inherited ending /'ea/ remains in use throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

ροϊδέα μία (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 54.68) καὶ ἀπαλαρέα μουχρούτινος Ptoch. IV 215 ὀνομάζεται Βουλκαρέα (1321, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 108, 209.608) ἐκείνη ἡ Ζαμπέα Chron. Mor. H 8484 ἡ κεφαλαρέα Achil. L 804 ὁ τόπος ὅλος ἀνοιξε· θάλασσα καὶ στερέα Chron. Toc. 3108 (< adj. στερεός) μία γραῖα ἐπούλειεν αὐγὰ (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 86, 66.)
ποδέα κόκκινη (1442, Belgrade region, ALEXOULIS 1892: 2, 280.14) ελάμπεν ἡ Ταρσέα Diig. Apoll. 441 (< Ταρσία) ἦτον γραῖα Fyll. gadar. 169 ἡ βοσκαρέα ἡ καλοκαιρινή (1506, Patmos, MALTEZOU 1970: 2, 367.190) ἡ μία κερατέα (1529, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 92, 114.6); τὸ κελλὶν ὅπου στέκει ἡ καλογραῖα
(1573, ibid. 173, 173.13) νὰ σῶναι γιαγερμένη ἡ μισὴ βουδέα (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 261, 205.17) ἦτον ὥσαν ἀνθισμένη ἀμυγδαλέα PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 108.3–4 ἡ μία μερέα (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 137, 109.9) ὄντεν ἔν' καὶ καρπέα ἐλίω (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 77, 94.17); ὥσαν κομεσαρέα (1601, ibid. 103, 118.8–9); ἡ ἄνωθεν ἀργοφυτέα (1609, ibid. 568, 505.21) ἡ κακὴ σπορέα P&N Diath. 3686 καὶ ἡ σαῖττεα ἦτονε θανατίσιμη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.21 ποδέα τοῦ εὐαγγελίου (1628–9, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 1, 42.9) ἄχλαδέα μία (1749, Athens, MOMFERRATOS 1892: 1, 28.16)

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-εά ἰ -ιά

The paroxytone forms may undergo a shift of the stress to the ultimate and undergo synizesis, which becomes apparent through the spelling <ιά> for <εά>, although, judging from versified texts, in the case of γριά the form tends to remain disyllabic as the cluster /ɣrj/ is difficult to pronounce (see I, 3.3.2.2 for triconsonantal clusters):

καὶ ἡ μιὰ μεριά Velis. χ 211 ἦτον ἐκεῖ καλογριά MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 397.34 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) ζευγιά μία (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 45, 55.17) ἐσηκώθηκεν δὲ ἡ γριά Diig. Alex. Sem. S 864 κι ὡσά γριά τη νιότη τση CHORTATISIS, Panor. V.243 ἄν εἶναι μηλεὰ θέλει ἀνθίσει Paroim. (Warner) 88.22 ἡ καλουγριά (1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 8, 21.2) μήτε να γίνει καλογριά Don Kis. 140.2

Synizesis may be disguised by conservative stress notation. This is, however, only visible in verse texts; in prose texts and non-literary sources it may be suspected but cannot be proved: ἑκατσεῖ ὡς κουβουκλαρέα Poulol. 167 (1st hemistich). For a discussion of synizesis and accent placement see 1.5.

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ά

Regionally the ['ea] sequence may become ['a] when it is preceded by /r/ (see I, 2.4.7.4 for details). Examples have been found in texts from Crete, Cythera, the Peloponnese, Epirus and Paros (cf. gen. and acc. sg.):

ἡ ρηθεῖσα μου κουμεσαρά (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 7, 13.20–1) ἡ ἀπάνω μερά (1518, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 12, 56.20) ὄλο κοπρά γεννᾷται FALIEROS, Log. did. 100 (< κοπρέα < κοπρία) ἡ ζυγαρά ἡ ἀσφαλτος Thysia Avr. 663 ἡ ὕγρα μερά LANDOS, Geopon. 143.1
 ἡ κονταρά ἔτονε βαρά KORNAROS, Erot. II.1401

The noun γριά has an alternative γρά, which is the result of deletion of /j/ from the cluster /ɣrj/ for ease of pronunciation (see I, 3.3.2.2 for triconsonantal clusters). These forms occur in a larger geographical area than the above-mentioned alternative forms in -ά (also in the northern mainland, including Constantinople; cf. the other cases):

καὶ βλέπει με ἡ κακογρά Fyll. gadar. 177 ὡς καλογρά Imb. Rim. 651 ἡ γρά τὸν ἐχαιρέτησεν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 786 ἡ ἄνωθεν κερα–καλογρά (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 116, 128.8) μα ὄα ῥμαι γρα κι ἀνήμπορη CHORTATISIS, Panor. I.259 ἦτανε πλιά γρά P&N Diath. 2082
 ἦτο γρά κι ἀνήμπορη Thysia Avr. 44 ἄν ἦθελα ἴσται γρά FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.24 σὰ γρά καὶ φρόνιμη KORNAROS, Erot. II.121

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-έ

In texts from west Crete and Ikaria (cf. the genitive and accusative) the vowels in the ending /'ea/ may coalesce into ['e] (see I, 2.9.4.3 for more details and examples from other paradigms and parts of speech). Examples have not been found before the 16th c.:

δεν είσαι τόσα γρε CHORTATIS, Panor. III.297 ἄσπρη ρασέ (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 22, 42.13); ἀρχίζοντας ἡ πρώτη χρονὲ ἀπού τσι,αχε' (1604, ibid. 256, 251.6)

Genitive

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-έας/-αίας

This inherited paroxytone ending is used throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

τῆς ἀγριοαπιδέας (1085, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 43, 147.29–30) ἀπὸ μεσημβρέας (1123, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 93, 122.10) (< μεσημβρία) τῆς Παχέας Ἀπιδέας (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 43.200) τῆς κεκαυμένης καστανέας (1320–1, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 20, 170.7) εἰς τὸ ἀναρροφίσμα τῆς ἐγκαρισματέας Diig. tetr. 718 ἄντρας τῆς Ζαμπέας Chron. Mor. H 7942 ὁ πατριτίτης τῆς Γαλιλαίας MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 94.17–18 τῆς Γραίας τὸ Λιμιωνάριν (1506, Crete, MALTEZOU 1970: 2, 364.48) τῆς θυγατέρας μου τῆς καλογραίας (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 172.8) μὲ ἕνα κλωνάρι τῆς ἐλαίας KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 191.20 τῆς γραίας Κυδωνέας (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 171, 139.15) τῆς γενέας τους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 51.4 (< γενεά) τσ' ἀλλῆς μουνέας (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 841, 734.28–9) τῆς γραίας ἀγελάδας LANDOS, Geopon. 193.10 κλαρία τῆς ἱτέας Bertoldin. 145.27 τῆς ασυγκρίτου καὶ εὐμορφῆς Δουλτσινέας Don Kis. 51.14–15

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-εᾶς/-αιᾶς ἢ -ιᾶς

Forms with a shift of the stress to the ultimate, which may undergo synizesis, are found from the very beginning of the LMedG period:

τῆς τελευτῆς τῆς γριᾶς (1096–1100, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 26, 121.15) τῆς ποδαριᾶς (1304, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 23, 175.51) τῆς ζερβῆς μεριᾶς (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 49, 40.6) τῆς στερεᾶς, τῆς θάλασσας Byz. Il. 555 ὡσεὶ σκατιᾶς Spanos A 427 ἀμoureύτηκεν μιᾶς καλογριᾶς Fior 147.9 τῆς Στερεᾶς τὸ Ξερόμερο ὄλον (17th c., Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.2, 72.3–4) τῆς κλωσσαριᾶς μας Bertoldin. 153.4
 τοῦ μοναστηργοῦ Κανακαργιᾶς (1703, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 8, 113.11) (< adj. κανακάρης, see 3.4.1)

Conservative stress notation may conceal synizesis, which becomes clear from verse texts: ὃ τῆς φοινικέας τὴν ρίζαν Arm. 50 (VP verse end); καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς συκέας τὸ γάλα Epain. gyn. 721 (octosyllable). For synizesis and accent placement see 1.5.

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ᾶς

This ending is the genitive counterpart to the nominative ending -ᾶ (see above):

τῆς μιᾶς μερᾶς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 60, 58.19) τοῇ μίας μερᾶς καὶ τοῇ ἄλλῃς (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 238, 236.8) ἀγριαγγουρᾶς ρίζαν LANDOS, Geopon. 249.24

The form γρᾶς (< γρᾶῖα) is the result of deletion of /j/ from the cluster /ɣtj/ for ease of pronunciation (see I, 3.3.2.2 for triconsonantal clusters). These forms occur in a larger geographical area (not only in the above-mentioned areas, but also in the northern mainland, including Constantinople, cf. the other cases): εἰς τοῇ Γρᾶς τὸ Πήδημα (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 920, 722.8); τῆς γρᾶς Μπέλας, τῆς γρᾶς Σταμάτας (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 171, 139.15).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ές

This ending is the genitive counterpart to the nominative ending -έ (see above): τοῇ γρῆς CHORTATIS, Panor. III.291 (reading of ms D).

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-έα(ν)/-αῖαν

Paroxytone forms in /'ea/, with or without final /n/, are common throughout the period under review:

εἰς τὴν ἐμὴν χρονέα (1226, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 274, 376.18) ἐτέρα φυτέα (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.23–4)

ὁ δέ γε κατηγοούμενος καλεῖ θερμαλατέαν Ptoch. IV 376 ἀπὸ τὴν στερέαν Chron. Mor. H 641 (< adj. στερεός); κ' ἐδῶκεν κονταρέαν ibid. 4020

τὴν Ἀποκρέα Spaneas Z 452

μοῦλαν ἐκαβαλλίκευσεν, μαύρην ὥσαν ἐλαίαν Achil. L 136 (Hesseling) λακτέαν νὰ τὰς δώσω Achil. N 1005 μαγνέα α' (1508, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 3, 49.14); δίδει του μίαν ἀγελέα (1524, ibid. 31, 69.49)

(ἀφήνει τὴν ἀδελφὴ τῆς ...) κουμεσαρέα (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.14)

τὴν λαβωματέαν (1539, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 1158, 895.7) τὴν Ἀπάνω Μερέαν (1547, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: I, 70.9); μὲ τὴ σουκέα (1618, ibid. V, 73.29)

(= συκέα; see I, 2.4.6.2) εἰς τὴν Ἀγρέα (1562, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969i: 1, 135.3) (< Ἀγρία) εἰς τὴν καντζελαρέα (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 26, 165.13) (< καντζιλαρία) ἔχει σπηλαία (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 12, 11.7) (< σπήλαιον); τὴ χρονέα τὴ πρώτη (1587, ibid. 167, 135.19); μίαν ἀγριολαία (1588, ibid. 276, 233.19) (= ἀγριοελαία)

μιὰ ρίζαν ἐλαία (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 9, 31.5–6); τὴ ρασέα ὅπου φορεῖ

(1600, ibid. 92, 108.21)

ἀπουκάτου εἰς τὴν ἀπιδέα Nov. II 162.34–5 εἰς τὴν ξερβὴ μερέα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 49.28; ἔσυρε μία λουμπαρδέα ibid. 82.21 ἔκοφεν μίαν μεγάλην καρέα PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §15.22 εἰς μίαν συκομορέαν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 19.4 τὴν μονοκονδυλέα του (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 307.6) εἰς τὴ μοσκέα κάνουσι μνημα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 347.5 (< Ven. moschèa)

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-εά(ν)/-αιά(ν) † -ιά(ν)

Oxytone forms, with or without (metrical) synizesis (see I, 2.9.4), are very common as well and occur throughout the LMedG and EMG periods. When the ending is spelled <ιά(ν)> or when a <γ> is added before <ι> (see the example from Machairas) or even replaces <ι> (see the 1704 example from Cyprus), synizesis is evident:

εἰς τὴν κάτω μεριάν (ca. 1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 178.231) ἵνα θρέψουν τὴν γριάν (1096–1100, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 26, 121.15) εἰς τὴν μεριάν τῆς Πάμφου (1333, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 29, f.35.1) με τὴν γραιάν τὴν ἀλωποῦτζαν Vulgärorakel I.6 ὄξω εἰς τὴν στεριάν (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 92.24) καὶ ἑλστικιάν τὸν ἔδωκεν Achil. O 695 ἀπὸ τὴν μεργιάν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 91.42 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) καὶ κονομά τη καλογριά Apoll. Rim. A 1043 στὴ συκιά ἀποκάτω (1613, Crete, Bakker/Van Gemert 1987: 841, 734.36) στὴν Κορφοξουλιά (17th c., Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 44, 315.1–2) ἀπὸ ὄγοιαν μερεὰν θέλει ὁ γα<μ>πρὸς (1606, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 4, 4.13) εἰς τὴν Παχιά Κερατιά (1611, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 126, 122.3) ἔδωσά του ... μία μουργιά (1631, Kea, VISVIZIS 1949: 7, 65.4) σεβαίνει τὸ πουλὶ εἰς τὴν βατζινιά PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §15.16 στὴν ἀπάνω Μερεά (1645, Santorini, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 22, 17.46) τὸ ξύλο με μιά τσικουριά δὲν κόφτεται Paroim. (Warner) 93.18 ἀρκομπουζιάν ἐσύρα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 192.1 μίαν ἐλιά ὅπερ εἶχε εἰς τὴν ἐξουσίαν του (1699, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 282, 187.4) ἀπὸ τὴν ἔξω μεργάν (1704, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 9, 121.4–5) με καμίαν λαβωματιάν Don Kis. 50.17

In verse texts it becomes apparent that synizesis may be masked by conservative stress notation: καὶ εἶδεν τὴν γραῖαν ἀπὸ μακρέα Log. parig. L 238; τὴν ὠνομάζασιν ἡ Ζαμπέα Chron. Mor. H 6422 (read: Ἰζαμπέα < Isabelle/Isabeau); ἡμέραν νύκταν τὴν ρειχέαν ἀνάσπας καὶ ἑκαυτές τὴν Poulol. 432; ἐκεῖνος γὰρ ἐκ τὴν στερέα στὴν Ἀρκαδία ἐσῶσεν Chron. Mor. P 1679. For synizesis, stress shift and accent placement see 1.5.

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ά(ν)

Regionally the vowel sequence ['ea] may become ['a] when preceded by /t/ (cf. nom. sg.) or a sibilant or affricate (for the two different phonetic processes underlying these developments, and for their regional distribution, see I, 2.4.7.4 and 2.4.7.3):

ἀπὸ ἐκείνην τὴν μερὰν Chron. Toc. 981 (< μερέα) νοικοκερὰν καὶ κουμεσαρὰν (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 172.5) τὴν πέρα μερὰ (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 181, 171.6) ἀπὸ τὴν ζερβὴν τοῦ μερὰν Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1631) 231.6 μία κλοτσά τσὴ δίδει Apoll. Rim. N 1535 στὴ κάτω μερὰ τοῦ γκάμπου (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 779, 676.27) τὴν Πέρα Μερά (1632, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 16, 177.4) ἀφήνω ὀγιά κομεσαρά (1646, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994b: 2, 168.19–20) μὲ μιά γλοτσά FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.154 πρὸς τὴ μερὰ τσὴ Σίφνος Leilasia Par. 191

In the noun γριά /j/ is deleted for ease of pronunciation (the cluster [γρj] being rather difficult to pronounce; see I, 3.3.2.2 for triconsonantal clusters) in a larger geographical area (cf. the other cases):

τὴν γρὰν ἐπιβουλεύουμουν Fyll. gadar. 166 τὴν γρὰν [ANDR. PALAIOI.], Kallim. 1162 τὴ γρὰ Μαρία (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 182.88) νὰ πὰ γυρεύγης ... μὲ γρὰ FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.323

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-έ(ν)

Forms in -έ, the result of coalescence of [ʼe] and [a] (see I, 2.9.4.3 for details), have been found in texts from West Crete and Ikaria from the 16th c. onwards:¹⁰³

εἰς τὴν Πρινέ (1573, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 2, 18.27); τὴν μικρὴ καρὲ (1612, ibid. 8, 23.19); μίαν ἔλῃ (1652, ibid. 19, 29.4); εἰς τὴν Ὁξὲ (1681, ibid. 70, 58.21) (< adj. ὀξύς, see 3.3.1); εἰς τὴν Συκαμνὲ (1694, ibid. 87, 69.24) (< συκαμινέα); χωράφι διὰ βοῦν καὶ ἀγέλε (1698, ibid. 100, 78.13) εἰς σου δίδω μια ραβδέ CHORTATIS, Panor. II.85; τὴν κοπρέ ibid. III.310; στὴν αποκαλαμέ σου ibid. III.329 ἄσπρη ρασὲ (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 22, 42.13); τὴν ἀπάνω μερέ (1604, ibid. 213, 218.4–5); μία τραχηλὲ μὲ σταυρό (ibid. 274, 265.6–7); τὴ βουϊδέ (1605, ibid. 336, 317.4); στὴ Λαχανέ (1610, ibid. 673, 585.9–10); ὅπου νὰ ἔχουν τὴ καρπέ (1613, ibid. 848, 740.8–9) εἰς τὴν Μονοβολὲ (1640, Ikaria, STAMATIADIS 1893: 3, 155.7)

Addition of final /n/ appears to be rather rare: τὴν Καλαμὲν (1640, Ikaria, STAMATIADIS 1893: 3, 155.14); εἰς τὴν καρέν (1681, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 70, 58.22).

Vocative

Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-έα/-αία ἰ -ιά ἰ -ά

¹⁰³ The hapax πορπατέ (< περπατιά < *περ(ι)πατέα?), transmitted in ms D of Chortatsis' Panoria at III.298, is dubious. The other manuscripts offer plural forms: τοῖ πορπατέ σου (N) (= πορπατέες with omission of <ς> before <σ>) (< πορπατιά, see 2.11.4)) and τοῖ περβάτισέ σου (A) (= περβάτισες).

The vocative is identical to the nominative and is likely to have shown the same regional variation. Due to its restricted use in written texts, only a modest number of examples has been found:

στραβοκεραία καὶ βυζοῦ Diig. tetr. 468 μωρὴ ... κατουροποδέα Spanos A 243 χαίρου, γραῖα Spanos B 71

μωρὴ ... κατουροποδιά Spanos B 64 καὶ πότε, γρά μου, τοῦτο; [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1197

Plural

Nominative

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-έες/-αίες

Paroxytone forms are much rarer in the plural than they are in the singular (see above):

ἀπαλαρές ξύλινες δ' (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 79.10); θημωνέες τρεῖς (ibid. 80.19)

καὶ γραῖες καὶ μεσόγρες Diig. tetr. 927 app. crit. (P) εἶναι γραῖες SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 440.409

ἡ συκία, κερασσία καὶ μερικές ἐλαῖες LANDOS, Geopon. 147.8; οἱ γραῖες ὄρνιθες εἶναι κακοχώνευτες ibid. 195.5–6 ὑπανδρες, νέες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 181.7 (< adj. νέος) οἱ περικεφαλαῖες τους Alex. Fyll. 40.30

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-εές/-αίες ἢ -ιές

A shift of the stress to the last syllable, often in conjunction with synizesis (see I, 2.9.4), results in oxytone forms, which can be found in a variety of texts:

καὶ καλογριές εὐγενικές (... ἡρπάγησαν ἀνηλεῶς) Anak. Konst. 74 ὄντεν γενοῦσιν οἱ μηλιές Rim. kor. V 593 ἐλιές καὶ κερατζιές MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 624.4 (< κερατέα; see I, 3.2.6) οἱ νιές ὅπου ἐχῆρεψαν BERGADIS, Apok. A 143 (< adj. νέος)

το γύρο ᾿σαν χαντάκια, | μερτιές καὶ δάφνες DEFAR., Sos. 45–6 (Holton) (< μυρτέα) ἔναι δένδρη πολλά, κουκουναρέες Portul. compl. 33.12 τις ἐλιές τοῦ κιουροῦ τῆς (1573, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 2, 18.15) οὐδὲν ἐλεῖπα κτύποι, καὶ σφεντυλιές P&N Diath. 3109–10; κὶ ἐστράφτα οἱ ποδιές τῇ ibid.

4329

ποδιές ἔξι (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 339, 256.12) ἄρφηνητες ἀρκουμπουζιές ... νὰ γροικιοῦνται CHORTATIS, Katz. II.28 οἱ ζιζυφιές πρὶν τοῦ χειμῶνος φυτεύονται LANDOS, Geopon. 157.7–8

τῆς προβατίνας οἱ κλωτσιές τοῦ λύκου νεῦρα γίνονται Paroim. (Warner) 105.12 οἱ σαῖτιές ἐπάψανε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 555.9; οἱ τουφεκιές οἱ πλῆσες ibid. 555.10; οἱ λουμπαρδιές ibid. 569.16 οἱ λογισμοὶ εἶναι σαῖτιές KORNAROS, Erot. I.269; νιές καὶ στεμένες τοῦ καιροῦ ibid. III.1597 (< adj. νέος) τα επρόσφεραν κάποιες καλογριές Don Kis. 451.19–20 συτζές τέσσερις (1749, Athens, MOMFERRATOS 1892: 1, 28.16) (= συκιές; see I, 3.8.2.2)

Sometimes the accent is placed on <ι>, even though the form should clearly be read with synizesis, e.g. οί νίες όπου ἐχήρεψαν BERGADIS, Apok. V 143 (< adj. νέος). This is a spelling practice in many manuscripts and early prints; see 1.5 for discussion.

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ές

Simplification of the two identical adjacent vowels (see I, 2.9.2.1) leads to oxytone forms in -ές, which occur in a large geographical area (cf. the accusative):

ἐὰν ἔλειπαν οἱ σαγιττές Chron. Mor. H 4920 καθαλλαρές, ἀρχόντισσες Pol. Tr. 11466 app. crit. (ACV); λαντσόνια πίπτουν, σαγιττές ibid. 8497 οἱ καλογρές μαζώνουνται Imb. Rim. 980 καὶ γὰρ κοπρές εἰς τὰ γένια του Spanos D 365 ἦσανε περαταρές (app. crit.) (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 37.II, 300.13.3) ὅλες αἱ καλογρές (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 26, 48.19) μερτές ἦσαν μὲ τ' ἄνθος Theseid VII.57,8 (1529) (< μυρτέα) οἱ ὀποῖες ἔλες (1536, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 5 [E'], 238.5) οἱ γελες ὀπου ἔχω (1543, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 239, 227.70–1) (< ἀγγελέα) αὐτές αἱ λεγόμενες δυὸ χρονές (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 37, 36.5) ἐπετάξανε πλέο παρὰ 150 λουμπαρδές Chron. Tourk. Soult. 82.25 οἱ ζυλοκερατές (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 382, 354.6–7); οἱ τρεῖς καρπές (1613, ibid. 848, 740.9) ὅλες οἱ ροδακινές LANDOS, Geopon. 151.28–9; οἱ συκές πάλιν ibid. 157.3 σὲ μάχη ὀπ' ἀρκομπουζές ... ἐβρέχα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 157.1; νέες, καλογρές, ὅλες ἐπῆγαν ἴσα ibid. 181.7 εἰς τὰς Ἀπιδές (1681, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 70, 58.13)

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-άδες

This imparisyllabic ending, borrowed from paradigm 2.11.1.2, occurs lexically with the noun γριά/γρά (< γραία) and its compounds, which belong to the semantic field of status/family relations of females (cf. γραία, 2.11.4; ἀνηψιά and θεία, 2.11.5; μάννα and χήρα, 2.11.2; ἀδελφή, 2.12.1):

ἔζησαν ὡσὰν καλογριάδες RODINOS, Vios Ign. 60.2 κοπέλλες κατατάξετε, γριάδες ἔχουν τὸν καιρό Paroim. (Warner) 73.12 οἱ καλογράδες Apoll. Rim. N 1053 οἱ καλογράδες (1543, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 239, 227.71) μικροὶ καὶ γράδες P&N Diath. 4671 κι οἱ γράδες εἰς τὰ νιότα τὼς πάλι ξαναγυρίζου CHORTATIS, Panor. I.276 ὅλες αἱ κερα-καλογράδες (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174.3) (for κερα- see 2.18) οἱ καλογράδες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 214.24

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-έαι/αίαι

The residual 1st-declension ending occurs occasionally in mixed- to higher-register texts: ἐλαῖαι δύο (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 54.68); ποδέαι β' μεταξωταί (1375, Ioannina?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 147, 107.15); αἱ ἐλαῖαι ἦτον χοντρὲς ὥσάν κίτρα Alex. Fyll. 97.32.

GenitiveFem.

Pl.	Gen.	-εῶν/-αῖων ἢ -ιῶν

Given the modest number of examples found, the genitive plural appears not to have been in abundant use in the period under review. The following inherited forms with a historical shift of the stress to the ultimate may or may not have been pronounced with synizesis (see I, 2.9.4):

τῶν ἐλαίων (1073, Constantinople?, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 50, 10.138) ἐν τῇ περιοχῇ τῶν Ἀπιδεῶν (1317, Athos, ŽIVOJINOVIĆ et al. 1998: 35, 241.79–80) τῆς σεβασμίας Λαύρας τῶν Καρεῶν (1369, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 27, 106.16); κατέναντι τῶν καστανεῶν (ibid. 106.22) τὸ δικαίωμαν τῶν ἐλαίων Assizes B 492.7
 τὸ ὄρος τῶν Ἐλαίων KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 21.1 (as in the NT)

Synizesis becomes evident when the forms are spelled with <ι> for <ε> or <αι>:

τῶν ἐλιῶν (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 58.15) τῶν συκιῶν (1681, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 566, 792.14)

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-έων/-αίων

Forms without a shift of the stress to the ultimate also occur. They could be viewed as a form of hypercorrection of synizesis:

τῶν δύο ἀγριαπιδέων (1019, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 18, 19.14–15) τῶν καλογραίων (1140, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IV: 2, 117.3) συκέων ... ἀμυγδαλέων (1190, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 16, 48.24–5) ἀπὸ τῶν ἡμετέρων ἐλαίων (1213, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 263, 359.13) τῶν συκομορέων (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 37.117) τῶν τεσσάρων μεταξωτῶν ποδέων (1313, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 8, 52.27) τῶν Ἀχλαπιδέων (1506, Patmos, MALTEZOU 1970: 2, 363.31) τῶν καλογραίων (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 86, 161.63) τῶν τριῶν μουζουρέων (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 366, 342.6)

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-άδω(ν)

The imparisyllabic ending of paradigm 2.11.1.2 is employed with the noun γριά/γρά (< γράϊα) and its compounds, which belong to the semantic field of status/family relations of females (cf. ἀνηψιά and θεία, 2.11.5; μάννα and χήρα, 2.11.2; ἀδελφή, 2.12.1):

τῶν καλογριάδων ZYGOM., Synopsis 236.M.52

τῶν καλογριάδων (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 60.88) ἀφίημι τῶν καλογράδων (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 86, 160.44) τῆς Ἁγίας Αἰκατερίνης τῶν Καλογράδων (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 30, 30.1) μετὰ τῶν λοιπῶν πρώτων γερόντων καλογράδων (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 7, 176.2–3)

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in a document from Crete: τῶν καλογράδω (1661, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 10, 106.128).

Accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-έες/-αῖες

The paroxytone accusative ending is less common than its oxytone alternatives (see below):

καὶ ἐλαῖες καὶ ἀππιτιδίες (1213, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 263, 360.15) τὲς καλογραῖες (1140, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IV: 2, 118.2) τὲς μηλέες (1172, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 179, 235.5) ἔχω καὶ ἐλαῖες (1222–3, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 48, 248.19) παλαιῖες ἐντριτέες ἀποὺ ἐχρεώστειν ὁ ἄνδρας μου (1525, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 103, 193.19) (< ἐντριτεῖα) εἶναι ὥσάν τὲς ἐλαῖες πράσινα καὶ ἄσπρα LANDOS, Geopon. 220.35 τῖς ἐλαῖες (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 257, 355.11–12)

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-εές/-αῖές -ιές

Forms with a shift of the stress to the ultimate are common and can be found in a large geographical area. They are usually spelled <ιές> or even <γ(ι)ές> to indicate that synizesis has taken place (see I, 2.9.4):

νὰ τὴν ἔκρουγα βουκιές Ptoch. III 187 app. crit. (P)

(νὰ φύτεψα ...) τὸν δρόμον σου τριανταφυλλιές Katal. 5 στὶς μεριές ἐκείνες (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.10) κροῦσιν τὰς σπαθιές PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 361

ἔμεινεν ὡς τὲς ἀποκριές MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 542.27

εἰς τὲς κουμαριές (1518, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 389.7) εἰς τὲς δυὸ ἐξαμηνιές (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 244, 242.19) τὶς ἐλιές τοῦ κιουροῦ τῆς (1573, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 2, 18.15) γροθιές τὸν ἐγεμίσα P&N Diath. 3393; καὶ φτύσματα καὶ σφεντυλιές ibid. 3577 τὲς ἀμυγδαλιές (1602, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 2, 80.8)

(ἀφίνω ...) δύο ρίζες ἐλιές (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 11, 35.12–13) καλὲς ραβδιές χαρίζουν [VLASTOS], Dig. P 380.25 κόψε μαραθιές LANDOS, Geopon. 252.17–18

τὲς δὲ συκιές (1656, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 6, 164.28) τὶς μουριές τὶς ἔδωσα (1666, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 15, 128.14) καὶ ἑτερες δύο μεργές (1675, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 11, 27.9) στὶς Κιτριές MATESIS, Chron. 70.33 ἔρριξε τρεῖς κανονιές Reb. Evr. 103.24 τον ἔδωσαν τόσες κλοτσιές Don Kis. 50.33–4 ἐκτυποῦσαν κονταριές Alex. Fyll. 14.3

Conservative stress notation may conceal synizesis, but this is visible only in verse texts: καὶ κονταρέες ἄς δώσουσιν Liv. V 2054; ραβδέες καλές ἐπῆραν Achil. O 565. A spelling with an accented <ι> may point to height dissimilation (see I, 2.9.4.3) or may, in fact, denote synizesis (see 1.5), as in the following example: καὶ τὲς μερτίες τὲς δροσερές SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 45 (< μυρτέα).

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ές

Oxytone forms in -ές, the result of simplification of the two adjacent identical vowels (see I, 2.9.2.1), are very common, occurring from north to south and west to east throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

τὲς ἔλές ὅπου ἔχω (1197–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 42, 217.9) ἀπὸ τὲς ἀμυγδαλές (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 42.186) νὰ κροῦν τὲς σφονδυλές Arm. 60 νὰ τὴν ἔκρουα κοπανές Ptoch. III 187 app. crit. (K) πολλὰς σπαθές τὸν ἔδωκεν Pol. Tr. 672; ἀπὸ τὲς δύο τὲς μερές ibid. 5156 ρίκει πετρές ἀπόκει SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 104 transcr. (N) (Lendari) εἰς τὰς ἀλογοπατουματές των Spanos A 200 (< ἀλογοπατηματέα) τρεῖς μαχαίρες σοῦ δώσου Rim. kor. A 168 ἐκ τὲς ξυλές ὅπου ἔπαιρνε Fyll. gadar. 4j ἀπὸ τὲς ἔλές ὅπου ἔχω μὲ τὴν ἐκκλησίαν (1524, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 153, 189.15) ἀπὲ τὲς κοπανές Theseid V.103,5 ms (P); τὲς λαβωματές τους ibid. V.103,6 εἰς τὲς ὁποῖες χρονές πέντε (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 139, 139.13); εἰς τὲς δυὸ ἑξαμηνές (ibid. 259, 257.22–3); ἔναι φορτωμένο ἀγγουρές (ibid. 266, 263.6) νὰ τῆς ἐδίδουσι ... ἔλές (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 145, 115.16–17) νὰ φτέψει ... σκές (1593, Andros?, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 151, 275.11) (< συκέα) μὲ γλοτσές καὶ μὲ γροθές P&N Diath. 3524; ὅς ἐκεῖνες τὲς μερές ibid. 4754 νὰ ἰδῆς καὶ τὲς μικρές μὴλές Ekatol. (Meteoron) 14 τσι Νερατζές (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 26, 46.19); φέρνοντας τσι προβές (1602, ibid. 159, 171.8–9); τσι χρονές ὅπου σκάφτει (1605, ibid. 321, 305.13) πούλουμ τὶς ἔλές στὴ Γιάννιτζα (1600, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: II, 70.4–5) τὲς ἀπιδές (1655, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 4, 148.6) ἄρκομπουζές νὰ ρίχτου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 329.1; καλογρές καὶ ἄρχους ibid. 234.14 παραπετρές μοῦ ρίχνει KORNAROS, Erot. I.882; σὲ γρές ξόμπλια πολλὰ θωροῦμε ibid. III.1612

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-έας

This obsolete accusative ending is used occasionally in mixed- and higher-register texts and in more formal contexts:

καρέας τρεῖς (1330, Athos, LEFORT et al. 2006: 70, 65.34) μερικός τινας λιθοσωρέας (1407, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 17, 124.35) ἐλαίας καὶ ἕτερα δένδρη (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 14, 50.31) οὐκ ἔμαθες πῶς κρούγουν κονδαρέας; Achil. O 673 κερατέας ὄσας ἔχω (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 92, 173.14) σουπέας, καλαμάρια, στακούς Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1104 (< σουπία < σηπία)

In verse texts even residual forms may need to be read with metrical synizesis (see I, 2.9.4.2): ραβδεάς, σπαθεάς ἐχάρισα Achil. L 1059 (ms: ραβδέας, σπαθέας); νὰ ἐπάρης τὰς ποδέας σου Poulol. 37.

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδες

Only the noun γριά/γρά (< γραία) and its compounds borrow the imparisyllabic ending of paradigm 2.11.1.2, because they belong to the semantic field of status/family relations of females (cf. ἀνηψιά and θεία, 2.11.5; μάννα and χήρα, 2.11.2; ἀδελφή, 2.12.1): τὲς καλογράδες πιάσσασι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 234.28.

Vocative

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	(-έες/-αίες ἰ -έες/-αίες ἰ -ιές ἰ -ές ἰ -άδες)

The vocative is identical to the nominative and is likely to have presented the same variation in endings and stress. So far no examples have been found.

2.11.5 Paroxytone/Oxytone Nouns in /ia/

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	καρδία καρδιά	-ά
Gen.	καρδίας καρδιᾶς	-ᾶς
Acc.	καρδία(ν) καρδιά(ν)	-ά(ν)
Voc.	καρδία καρδιά	-ά

Plural
Nom.	καρδίες καρδιές	καρδίαι -ές	-(ε)ιάδες
Gen.	καρδιῶν	-ῶν καρδίων
Acc.	καρδίες καρδιές	καρδίας -ές	-(ε)ιάδες
Voc.	καρδίες καρδιές	-ές

Singular

Nominative

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-(ε)ία

The inherited paroxytone ending -(ε)ία remains in use in texts from all areas throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

- ή παππαδία αὐτοῦ χήρα ή Κουρτιστάβα (1268, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 50, 27.14)
- προστάσει ή βασιλεία μου (1329, Constantinople?/Athos?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 118, 7.240)
- ή φτωχολογία Chron. Mor. H 4087
- καί ή βία τῶν παιδίων μου Ptochol. α
- ἀπέλυκεν ή λειτουργία (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 33.530)
- έ δουλεία (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.3) (for the article έ see 5.2.1 and I, 2.5.2)
- ἐνι χρεία νά φροντίζει ή αἰδεσιμότη σου (1490, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 22, 109.19)
- ἐχάλασεν ή Ἁγία Σοφία (1491–1508, Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.II, 212.17.3)
- επήγεν η κυρά η ρήγαινα ... καβαλλαρία VOUSTR., Chron. A 316.11–12 (< καβαλλαρέα)
- ἀπό ὅσην λειψοπροικία τοῦ χρεωστοῦν (1516, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 41, 73.8)
- ή Τζία (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 104.18) (< Κέα)
- ή μία μερία καί ή ἄλλη (1554, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 143, 192.9) (< μερέα); οὐδὲ ὁ μύλος οὐδὲ ή νεροτριβία (1555, ibid. 177, 228.16)
- ή παπαδία (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 37, 117.9)
- ἀπό κάτω λογίς ξυλοκαρπία (1575, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 1, 3.16–17)
- ή πουλησία νά εἶναι ἱμόπιλη (1594, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 152, 276.28)
- κι ἂν εἶμαι τόσα ἀνήμπορη καί γρία, σά θεωρεῖτε Zinon Prol. 149 (< γραία)
- ή Καβουρία Bertoldos 45.20
- ὅλη ή Μακεδονία PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §24.12; ή ἐπτῶχεια μεγάλη ταλαιπωρία εἶναι ibid. IV §11.8
- ή καρδία του (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 58.8)

Addition of final /n/ is found occasionally in texts from Naxos: ή πουλησιάν της Κοπριάς (1587, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 147, 271.3); ή ἀρχόντισσα Μαρίαν (1594, ibid. 153, 278.4).

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-(ε)ιά

Forms in -(ε)ιά may become oxytone and be affected by synizesis (for more information see I, 2.9.4). The few nouns that were originally oxytone such as λαλιά and μητρυιά also belong here. Examples have been found throughout the period under review in both literary and non-literary texts. Verse texts aside, they are much more common in texts from southern regions and the Aegean than from the northern mainland:

ή παπαδιά παρέπεσεν GLYKAS, Stichoi 270 πυροστιά, σχάρα (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.14) λιγοθυμιά τὸν ἐπιάσεν Achil. L 472; τὸ σχῆμαν καὶ ἡ πορπατησιά ibid. 560 διαβαίνει ἡ μανιά του SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 93 ἡ φορεσιά του κόκκινη Achil. O 84 ἡ παρηγοριά Krasop. AO 48 ὅπου ἔτον χρειά FALIEROS, Thrinios 292 ἡ ἐλικιά σας LIMEN., Than. Rod. 40 γειά σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 48.2 (ed. γιά) ἐκεῖ ἐδείχθη(ν) ὑπεριψιά BERGADIS, Apok. A 294 (< ὑπεροψία); ἡ συννεφιὰ ἑπονᾶτον ibid. 347 ἐκείνη ἡ σταλαματιά (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.34–5) ἡ ὀκνιά Fior 73.24; ἡ ζουλουζιά ibid. 121.15–16 (< Occit. jalousia, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.); εἶναι μιὰ δοκιμαχιά ibid. 126.35 (= δοκιμασιά, see I, 2.9.4.1) ἡ ἀδελφή του καὶ μητριά του KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 206.32 (= μητρυιά) ἡ πτωχειά τῆς θεογονώσας Pist. kekoim. 14 ὅτι ἐδῶ εἶναι Τουρκιά (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 2, 49.7) μὰ τό ἔθελεν ἡ πεθυμιά CHORTATIS, Erof. Dedic. 31 φιλιὰ ... μακαριὰ ..., che altri pronuntiano φιλία, μακαρία GERMANO, Grammar 56.20–1 τοῦ Τσιτσερόνε ἡ λαλιά FOSKOLOS, Fort. Dedic. 5 ἡ πραγματειά KONDAR., Paidēs 959 ἡ κυρία θειά μου (1680, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 8, 301, f.1r.3) ἡ ἀνασπριά μου (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 182.21) (< ἄ – + ἄσπρα); ἡ δουλειά τούτη (ibid. 182.30–1)

Synizesis may be concealed by conservative spelling, but from verse texts it becomes clear that forms spelled with -(ε)ιά may in fact represent oxytone forms (for metrical synizesis see I, 2.9.4.2; for synizesis and accent placement see also I.5):

καὶ ἡ θεία μου μὲ τὰ ὀμμάτια τῆς δι' ἐσένα νὰ ἔχη κλαύσει Pol. Tr. 8173 νὰ μὴ μαυρίζη, λυγερή, στὸν ἥλιον ἡ ἐλικιά σου Katal. 8 σὲ τρεῖς ἡμέρες νὰ γενεῖ τούτη ἡ θυσία τυχαίνει Thysia Avr. 23 πρέπεται ἡ σοφία κι' ἡ τέχνη μου MONTSEL., Evgena 8

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ά

Regionally in the oxytone forms /j/ may be deleted when preceded by a sibilant or affricate (see I, 2.4.7.3 for details). Examples have been found in texts from Crete and in the Heptanesian rhymed version of the Alexander Romance and are likely to occur in texts from certain Cycladic islands (cf. the other cases below):

τὸ κάτω, λέγω, τοῦ φιδιοῦ ἔναι ἡ ἐξουσία σου Alex. Rim. 2677 ἡ φορεσά μου CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. theas 9; τοῦτ' ἡ κορασά ibid. I.377; ἡ μοναξά ibid. II.237 ἡ φορεσά σου FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.262 ὦφου, ἀλλαξά ποῦ θὰ γενεῖ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 555.5 τὸ ψόμα μηδ' ἡ καυχησά KORNAOS, Erot. II.890

Genitive

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-(ε)ίας

The inherited ending -(ε)ίας is very common throughout the period under review:

τῆς αὐτῆς ἐκκλησίας μου (1216, Macedonia/region of Serres?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 12, 123.18) τῆς Λευκουσίας (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 19.108) (= Λευκωσίας, see I, 2.8.3) χωράφιον (...) τὸ ὅπερ ἔχω ἐξ ἀγορασίας (14th c., Athos, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 43.XIX, 253.105) πάσης τιμῆς, ἀξίας Chron. Mor. H 336 τῆς Φράγκας κυρᾶς Σοφίας (1448, Constantinople?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 9.I–IV, 98.48.2) ἔσω κατὰ καρδίας Velth. 409 (Cupane); χωρὶς ἀμφιβολίας ibid. 693 τῆς λουτουργίας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 514.2 (= λειτουργίας) τῆς ἐμπαρουνίας αὐτοῦ (1501, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 66, 101.36) (for prothetic /e/ see I, 2.6.1) ὡς πρέπει τῆς ἵουσίας KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VI.24 (for the article τῆς see 5.2.1) τῆς ἀνωθεν μοιρασίας (1518, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 12, 56.23–4) τῆς πλαγίας (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 35, 76.28) τῆς ἀνωθι δεκαρχίας (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 167.18) ἔδωσά τα τῆς ἀνεψίας μου (1583, S. Italy, CHASIOTIS 1966: 6, 194.6) (hypercorrect for ἀνεψιᾶς) τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ (1619, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 2, 260.6) (for the article τῇ see 5.2.1) τῇ Στείας (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 49.63) (= Σητείας) τῆς φωτίας VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 37.19 τὸ ἀμάρτημα τῆς μαλακίας (17th c., Sifnos?, TSELIKAS 1986c: 4, 41.21–2)

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-(ε)ιᾶς

The forms may become oxytone and undergo synizesis (for details see I, 2.9.4). Examples have been found in a variety of literary and non-literary texts from a large geographical area. Verse texts aside, they have a strong presence in texts from southern areas (Crete, Cyprus), but appear to be less common in texts from the northern mainland:

ὁ κόσμος τῆς Ἀγίας Σοφίας Anak. Konst. 109 τῆς βασιλείας του ὅλης Diig. Apoll. 347 τῆς φορησιᾶς Assizes A 134.16 ὦ μαρτυριὰ τῆς ἀληθείας FALIEROS, Thrinos 237 (< ἀλήθεια) οὐλῆς τῆς ἀνοριᾶς του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 380.8 (< ἐνορία) τῆς πτωχειᾶς Fior 87.16; τῆς διπροσωπιᾶς ibid. 125.20 ἀπὸ βιᾶς BERGADIS, Apok. A 31; τῆς σωτηριᾶς μου ibid. 59; τῆς ἀλαζονειᾶς ibid. 302 τῆς φορεσιᾶς Alex. Rim. 1124; τῆς σοφιᾶς ibid. 1910; τῆς βαβυλωνιᾶς ibid. 2708 τῆς ἀρχοντιᾶς Apoll. Rim. A 748; τῆς γιαιτρείας ibid. 1008 τῆς Μονοβασιᾶς (1548, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1992: 15.9) τῆς ἀφεντιᾶς σου (ca. 1560, Venice, MARKOS 1977: Πα, 28.14) τὰ φύλλα τῆς καρδιᾶς μου CHORTATSI, Katz. I.2; τὸ ἐμιλιάς μου id., Panor. I.61; χαλασμός τῆς γειας μου ibid. II.530 (< ὑγεία) τῆς δυστυχιᾶς Prol. Epain. Kef. 42 τὲς ἄξες διάξες τῆς Μαριᾶς P&N Diath. 1677 τῶν ἀφεντάδων τῆς Βλαχιᾶς MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Valach. 79 δεξιὰ τῆς γειτοنيᾶς μου Thrinios Konst. (Zoras) 74 εἰς τὸ ναὸ τῆς κυριᾶς τῆς Θεοτοκοῦ (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 113.12) τῆς Β'νιτιᾶς (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.45v.29) (< Βενετία; see I, 2.5.4) ὅς τῆς Λευκωχιᾶς ἀγάδες KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 97 (< Λευκωσία, see I, 3.8.2.3) ἀσλάνια τῆς Τουρκιᾶς (1697, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 30, 23.45)

Even when synzesis is apparent for metrical reasons, the accent may still be written on <ι>.
 For this spelling practice see 1.5:

αὐτὸς ὁ ρῆγας τῆς Φραγκίας Chron. Mor. H 1804; τὸν κόντον τῆς Κεφαλλονίας ibid. 2894 τῆς ξενιτειᾶς τὴν στράτα Velth. 67 (Cupane); ἀποτολμίας ζωνάριν ibid. 928 κορμὶν τῆς βασιλείας σου LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 773 μιᾶς ἡλικίας καὶ χρόας Defl. Par. 12

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ᾶς

In the oxytone forms /j/ is sometimes deleted when it follows a sibilant, affricate or /r/ (see I, 2.4.7.3 for details, and cf. THUMB 1912: 12 for the phenomenon in modern times). Examples have been found in texts from Crete, Santorini, the Heptanese and Ikaria (cf. the other cases of the singular and gen. pl.):

στὸν τόπον τοῦτον τῆς Περωᾶς Alex. Rim. 116 (< Περωσία) τῆς πακτωσᾶς (1526, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 114, 208.14) τῆς πουλησᾶς τως (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 227, 225.5) τῆς ἀπομοιρασᾶς (1598, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 1, 214.31) τῆς πορπατηξᾶς CHORTATSI, Panor. I.426; μιᾶς κορασᾶς ibid. II.499 τὴ θέληση τῆς κορασᾶς Stathis I.45; τῆς Μονοβασᾶς ibid. III.323 ἀμπέλι τῆς ἀλλαξᾶς (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 41, 61.9); τῆς ἀνηψᾶς του (1606, ibid. 388, 359.3); τῆς ἐκκλησᾶς τῆς Ἀγίας Τριάδος (1612, ibid. 772, 670.3) τῆς μοιρασᾶς (1633, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 649, 626.16) τῆς ἀνηψᾶς μου (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 6, 33.24) τῆς αὐτῆς ἐκκλησᾶς (1640, Crete, PENDOGALOS 1972: 5, 204.11) τῆς φορεσᾶς (1656, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 1996/97: 9, 405.60) τῆς ζωῆ τῆς μοναξᾶς KORNAROS, Erot. II.602; τὸ ἄρματωσᾶς ibid. IV.1801

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-(ε)ία(ν)

This inherited ending occurs throughout the period under review:

οὔτε τινὰ λαλίαν Dig. G I.308 (< λαλιά) ἐποίησεν ζημίαν μεγάλην (1387, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 37, f.162r.2); ἐξηρίζωσε καὶ μίαν καρύαν (1433, ibid. 29, f.35r.4) νὰ ἐποίησεν ἄλλην κλεψίαν (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 276.30) ὅση στίαν καὶ ἄ βάλης Lapid. 186.23 (< ἐστία) εἰς καλὴν συντροφίαν (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 171.8) μὲ τοιοῦτην συμφωνία (1550, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 16, 102.3) ἐκάμαν ἀλλαξίαν τέλειαν (1557, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 199, 247.4) τὴν ἐφεντία σας (ca. 1560, Ancona, MARKOS 1977: Ia, 27.1) διὰ ἐμπασία τουνε (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 257, 356.15) (for τουνε see 5.4.1.4) νὰ ἐβγάνουν τόσην ἐντριτεία (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 122, 135.19–20) ἔχομεν τὴν ὑγεία μας (1615, Lefkada, PENDOGALOS 1977b: 2, 148.4) ὡς γιὰ τὴν ἀποκοτία TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 11; μὲ συντροφία id., Re Skotsias 153 ἀπὸ μίαν κακογρία MONTSEL., Evgena 103 (< γράια) εἰς μεγαλοτάτη ἀποθυμία (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.23) ἔστειλε ὀρδινία Reb. Evr. 103.25 με δυσκολίαν Don Kis. 48.15

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-(ε)ιά(ν)

The paroxytone ending may present a shift of the stress to the ultimate and undergo synizesis. Oxytone forms can be found in a variety of texts (for more information see I, 2.9.4). In non-verse texts they have by far the strongest presence in southern areas and the Aegean:

ὑποδησιὰν οὐκ εἶχεν Ptoch. III 60 app. crit. (M) ἀνάβγασιν ὁ κάτα εἰς ἡσιτιὰν του Chron. Mor. H 3718 τὴν ἀποχωρισιὰν των Velth. 74 (Cupane) καὶ τὴν ἀπαιδευσιά σου Poulol. 317 app. crit. (A) εἰς τὴν Συργιὰν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 156.30–1 (< Συρία) τὴν ἁλυσθριὰν του LIMEN., Than. Rod. 285; τότε νὰ βάλουσι φωτιά id., Velis. (Λ) 254 κ' ἔδειξεν τότ' ἔξαστεριά ὁμοίως κ' εὐδιὰ μεγάλη BERGADIS, Apok. A 341 καὶ τὸ κερὶ ἔκανε λαλιά Alex. Rim. 16; κ' ἐγρίκησε ὁκ τὴν μαντειά χάνει τὴν βασιλεία του ibid. 37 ἔκτισεν τὴν Ἀγιὰν Σοφιά Anak. Konst. 99 ἐκ τὴν κληρονομιά (1541, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 11, 223.5); ἐὰν ἐρθοῦν ἀπὸ τὴν σκλαβιά (1542, ibid. 16, 227.9–10) ἔκαμα φιλιὰ TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 197 (< φιλία) νὰ ἔχει ἐμπασιά (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 157, 247.25) τὴν Μαργιὰ (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 152.4) (< Μαρία) τὸ τομάρει καὶ τὴν συκωταριὰν (1597, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 156, 281.28) διὰ νὰ μποροῦσι μ' εὐκολιά SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. a2v.13 στὴ Βενετιά τιμᾶσαι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 145.3 στὴν συντροφ<ι>ά τους (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 3, f.39r.6) νὰ κάνει μία λουτρογιά (1692, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1991: 2, 84.31–2) (< λειτουργία) ἔδωσεν ὀρδινία Alex. Fyll. 11.16–17 καὶ δίδεις καθανὸς σωστή, σὰν πρέπει, τιμωριά του KATSAITIS, Thyest. I.145 ἀπὸ τὴν ἄλλην βραδιά Don Kis. 48.14; τὴν ἴδιαν βραδιὰν ibid. 116.21

Even when synzesis is apparent, as is the case of versified texts, the accent may still be written on . For this spelling practice see 1.5:

εἰς μοναξίαν τὸν ἡῦρασιν Chron. Mor. H 740; εἶχεν εἰς ἀβοερίαν αὐτοῦ ibid. 8043 (< OFr. avoerie) οὔτε μιλίαν τῆς εἶπα Dig. E 166 ἰστίαν, φαρμάκιν, ἄρματα Pol. Tr. 545; ποτὲ ὑγείαν οὐκ ἔχει ibid. 3475 τὴν εὐγενείαν σου Katal. 10; στήν γειτονίαν μου ibid. 22 (verse end) μὲ τὴν κλεψίαν νὰ πᾶμεν Achil. L 349 καὶ ἄν εἶχες τίποτες θωρία Poulol. 19 καὶ τῶν πουλιῶν τὴν μελωδίαν BERGADIS, Apok. A 30; μὲ βίαν πολλὴν καὶ κόπον ibid. 37 γυναικὰς τε εἰς εὐμορφίαν ὀρίζεις ἵνα κρίνω Velth. 543 μὲ ὅλη του τὴν φαμελίαν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VI.328

In the following example the /s/ of the stem undergoes affrication after synzesis (see I, 3.2.6): στή τζιλοτζά τζη νὰ βρεθῶ FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.276 (spelled sti zilozacì in the Latin script) (< Ven. zilosìa, see BOERIO, Lex. s.v.).

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ά(ν)

In the oxytone forms when /j/ is preceded by a sibilant or affricate it may be deleted. Examples are abundant in texts from Crete, but have also been found in Heptanesian texts and are likely to occur in texts from Santorini and Ikaria (cf. the other cases of the singular and the genitive plural and see I, 2.4.7.3):

τὴν φορεσὰ τῶν γυναικῶν FALIEROS, Log. did. 191 γιὰ κουρτεσάν του id., Thrinós 334 τῆς Παλαιστίνης εμπασάν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 706; εἰς μοναξάν ibid. 1667 κλαῖσιν τὴν χωρισάν τῆς Imb. Rim. 644 τὴν αγνωσὰ γεμάτοι Katis 26 ἀπὸ τὴν ἀγορασάν (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 90, 1670.24–5); εἰς τὴν μοιρασάν (1530, ibid. 141, 254.35); ἀπὸ τὴν πακτωσάν (ibid. 143, 258.20) τὴν φορεσὰ τ' ἀλλάζει Alex. Rim. 39; στήν ὑπνοφαντασὰ του ibid. 154; στήν ἐξουσὰ μου ibid.
 1693
 ἀπὸ τὴν Λευκωσάν τῆς Κύπρου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 10, 10.1) τὴ μοναξὰ ἔχω συντροφιά, τα κλάηματα δροσὰ μου CHORTATIS, Panor. III.557; τὴν πορπατηξὰ ντου ibid. V.96 τὴν χωρισάν τῶνε Apoll. Rim. E 882; τὴν μοναξὰ τῆς ibid. 1173; τὴν μαύρην φορεσάν ibid.
 1450 ἔλαβε ... μετρησὰ βλίσιδι φλορία ἰβ' (1549, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 51, 93.2) σκατζὰ μία (1608, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 535, 477.3) (< Ven. scanzia) εἰς τὴ μερασὰ (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 40.19) βράσε κατασταλακτὴν, ἦγουν ἀλουσὰ LANDOS, Geopon. 247.30 μὲ πιδεξοσὰ Zinon III.213; καὶ προδοσὰ νὰ κάμουνι ibid. IV.195 μὲ μιὰ γλοτσὰ FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.154; νὰ μοῦ δώση ἐντυμασὰ ibid. V.39 τὴν κοπρὰ DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 1102 μὰ τὴ μεταλαμπασὰ μου PAPADOPOULI, L'Occio 217.35 τὴν παραφαντασὰ KORNAROS, Erot. II.1246; μὲ κλεψὰ ibid. II.1870; μὲ τὴν ρηγατικὴν ἐξὰ ibid.
 IV.1312 (< ἐξουσῖα with influence from ἀξία, which can have the same meaning; see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.)

VocativeFem.

Sg.	Voc.	-(ε)ία ! -(ε)ιά ! -ά

The vocative is identical to the nominative and shows the same variation in the position of the stress:

ὁ μὲν τόπος, κυρία μου Dig. G VI.457 καλὰ λέγεις, κοράσιον, γλυκέα μου συνοδεία; Dig. E 957 πρὸς σέ, μωρὴ κατουρλοποδία Spanos D 655–6 Κυρία μου Ἑλένη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 6.25 ὦ Βλαχία πολὺθλιβη, Σερβία πονεμένη Alosis 588 καρδία μου Ὀλυμπιάδα Diig. Alex. F 98.4 (Lolos) ὦ Παναγία P&N Diath. 787 (< adj. πανάγιος) Θεοτόκε Μαρία | ἐτοῦτο σὲ παρακαλῶ, ἀγία μου κυρία BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. Prol. 133.12–13
καὶ σύ, καρδιά, βόησε DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 1198
λυχνία θεία, κιβωτέ VEST., Prol. Theot. 242 καρδιά, οὐ θεωρεῖς με Ptoch. I 228 ψυχὴ μου καὶ καρδιά μου Achil. L 596 ἔλα, δροσιά μου, νὰ σὲ δῶ Katal. 710 ὦ Παναγία, ποῦ τὰ ἔμαθες Rim. kor. A 115
εἰπέ με, Πόθοτσουστουριά SACHLIKIS, Katalogi 15; ἴντὰ ἔχεις, συνοδεία μου, | ... γλυκοπαρηγοριά μου; id., Symvoules 300–1 ὦ κουρτεσιά διωγμένη Fior 92.3; ὦ εὐγεννεὶα ξιλειμμένη ibid. 92.4–5 (< εὐγένεια) αιτιά του πόνου μου CHORTATIS, Panor. II.525 ἀλήθεια λέγεις, Βενετία Thrinis Konst. (Zoras) 59 κάμε, κορασιά, τὰ λόγια νὰ τελειώσης SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. E8v.25; βρομισμένη σιχασιά ibid. G5r.11

As elsewhere, synizesis may be indicated by placing the accent on <ι> (see 1.5 for details):
παρηγορία μου τῆς ψυχῆς Liv. E 1602; ἐπεθυμία μου, Φλόριε, καρδιά μου, ἀπαντοχὴ μου Flor. L 1010; ὦ Παναγία, ποῦ τὰ ἔβρηκες Rim. kor. V 113.

Deletion of /j/ in the oxytone forms has been found in a Cretan text (but cf. the nominative): μὴν κλαίγης τόσα, κορασά Stathis Interm. I.1; καὶ γύρισέ τα, κορασά ibid. 8.

Plural*NominativeFem.*

Pl.	Nom.	-ίες/-εῖες

Paroxytone forms in -ίες/-εῖες can be found throughout and beyond the period under review:

ὀλογραφίες χρουσές διάφορες (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.136) οἱ νηστεῖες ταῦτες NIKON, Logos 4 214.1
παρηγορίες εἶναι Dig. E 1330 ἐνταῦτα ἀπεχωσιάσασιν γύρωθεν οἱ χωσίες Chron. Mor. H 1066 οἱ ἄγιες ἐκκλησίες Assizes B 280.2

ὄσες ζημίες ἐγίνονταν (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 302.55) ὄλες οἱ στίες τοῦ οὐρανοῦ FALIEROS, Thrinis 134 (< ἐστία); ὄλες οἱ προφητεῖες ibid. 235 καὶ κιτρομηλίες καὶ οὐλα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 624.4 (Dawkins)(< κιτρομηλέα) οὐλές οι καθαλλαρίες VOUSTR., Chron. A 316.13 (< καθαλλαρέα) ἔναι αἱ ἐσοδεῖες (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 172.28) νὰ γενοῦν τόσες λειτουργίες (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 217.13) ὥσπερ φωτίες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 137.8; ὅπου εἶναι τρεῖς Μαρίες ἀδελφάδες ibid. 355.21 ἦταν καλογρίες (1583, Athens?, MERTZIOS 1954: 1, 124.14) (< καλογραῖα) εἶναι πενήντα πατημασίες (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 335.13) αἱ ὀχθρίες (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 59.39) (= ἐχθρίες) οἱ μακρὲς θερμασίες LANDOS, Geopon. 209.26–7 ἡ παροῦσαν τὼς διαθήκην καὶ παραγγιλίες (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 181.17) (= παραγγελίες)

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-(ε)ιές

As in the singular, paroxytone forms may become oxytone and undergo synizesis, resulting in -(ε)ιές:

οἱ κλεψιές (15th. c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 210.8.16) ἐφάνησαν φωτίες Diig. Sant. 56.44.45 εἰς τὲς δουλλειές σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 520.15–16 οἱ αδικιές VOUSTR., Chron. A 32.1
 ποῦ οἱ νηστειές Ρωμίων τε Alosis 151 ἴντα δουλειές σ' εὐρήκασι CHORTATSIS, Katz. III.359 οἱ παραγγελιές Thysia Avr. 700; παρηγοριές πολλῶ λογιῶ ibid. 1024 αἱ καυχισιές Diig. Alex. Sem. B 405 κ' ἐγέμωσαν οἱ ἐκκλησιές Thrinis Konst. (Zoras) 55 μῆδ' ἀφεντιές μῆδ' ἐπαρχιές FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 56 ἄντρες, γυναῖκες, κορασιές BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 210.6; κακοριζικιές ἐγίνηκαν ibid. 247.16 οἱ προφητεῖες VEST., Prol. Theot. 5 ὄλες οἱ γειτονιές GAVRILOP., Diig. panouklas 100.2
 οἱ ἐμιλιές του ἦσα σκολειὸ KORNAROS, Erot. I.32 (< ὀμιλία); κ' οἱ γειτονιές ἐχαίρουνταν ibid. I.56

Synizesis can be apparent in verse texts, even when the accent is placed on  (for a discussion see 1.5): καὶ ξέτρεχε τὶς ἐκκλησιές BERGADIS, Apok. V 212.

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ές

In oxytone forms with /e/ in their ending (nom., acc., voc.) omission of , indicating deletion of /j/ (see I, 2.4.7.3), is not uncommon in texts of south-western provenance:

τοῦ Ἀσκ<λ>ηπίου ἱατρὲς Theseid III.25.2 ms (P) (< ἱατρεῖα) οἱ κορασές P&N Diath. 1618 νὰ σας θωροῦν οἱ κορασές CHORTATSIS, Panor. V.399; οἱ αἵματοχυσές id., Erof. V.263 οἱ πουλησές (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 344, 323.3); ἡ γιάγορασές (1609, ibid. 586, 518.9) ἄμε καὶ νὰ 'ναι ἡ στράτα σας γάλα, δροσές καὶ μέλι Thysia Avr. 398 οί σταλαγματὲς (app. crit.) (1684–5, Moscow, ŠANGIN 1936: 3, 114.15) (provenance of scribe unknown) γίνονται ματοκυλίσες KORNAOS, Erot. IV.1111 (< αἵματοκυλισία)

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ίαι -εῖαι

The residual ending of the 1st declension is occasionally found in mixed- and higher-register texts and in more formal contexts. Some examples are:

ἀνδραγαθία ἄρχονται ἐντεῦθεν τοῦ Ἀκρίτου Dig. G IV.1; εἰς παραμυθία ibid. VI.333 αἱ αἵματοχυσίαι Byz. Il. 902 αἱ λειτουργίαι (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 118, 213.15) αἱ ἱστορίαι αἱ παλαιαί (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.2–3) εἶναι παρηγορία Dig. A 3280; τῶν δένδρων εὐωδίαι ibid. 4053 διὰ τῆς γλώσσης πολλαὶ ... βλασφημίαι Vios Aisop. K 174.18–19 αἱ ἀμπασσιαρεῖες, ἤγουν αἱ πρεσβεῖαι Bertoldos 22.14–15

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-(ε)ιάδες

The imparisyllabic ending of paradigm 2.11.1.2 is employed lexically with the nouns ἀνηψιά and θεία (see the genitive, below), and could conceivably be employed with μητριά, given that these words belong to the semantic field of female status or family relations (cf. γράια, 2.11.4; μάνα and χήρα, 2.11.2; ἀδελφή, 2.12.1): ἡ οἱ ἀνηψιοὶ του, ἡ ἀνηψιάδες του Assizes A 119.29.

Genitive

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-(ε)ιών

This inherited ending, with a shift of the stress to the ultimate, remains in use throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

οὐδὲ γὰρ μύθους παλαιῶν ἱστοριῶν σοι γράφω Ptoch. IV 29 τῶν ἄλλων ἐκκλησιῶν (1316, Constantinople, HUNGER/KRESTEN 1981: 39, 292.7) διὰ εὐλογιῶν εὐλογῆσω τον Spanos A 420 τῶν ρ' ὀργυιῶν (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 89, 76.21) νὰ μανθάνομεν τῶν ὑγειῶν σας (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 22.14–15) περὶ τῶν συντροφιῶν Assizes A 82.15; τῶν καλῶν συνηθειῶν ibid. 83.4

καὶ μαργαρίτην ὀγγιῶν δύο (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 46.85) κατὰ τὴν τάξιν τῶν Βενετιῶν (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 61, 125.11) διὰ πρεσβειῶν τῶν παμμεγίστων Ταξιάρχων (1597, Ioannina, LAMBROS 1910: 234, 183.3–4) στῶ λουμπαρδιῶν τῇ μέσῃ CHORTATZIS, Katz. II.32 τῶν τόσων εὐεργεσιῶν Bertoldin. 169.6

διαλογισμοὶ πολλῶν καρδιῶν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 2.35 τῶν ... πολλῶν αὐθεντιῶν μέγα αὐθέντα (1652, Crete, TCHENTSOVA 2002: 1, 355.6–7) τῶν Ὀλυνθίων καὶ ἄλλων δημοκρατιῶν Alex. Fyll. 5.9–10 κατὰ τὴν τάξιν τῶν ἐκκλησιῶν (1706, Zakynthos, Zois 1941: 1, 108.13) τὸ τέλος τῶν επιθυμιῶν τῆς Don Kis. 113.32; τῶν μεγάλων μου δυστυχιῶν ibid. 539.26

Absence of the historical stress shift occurs occasionally:

τῶν ἐκκλησιῶν (1145, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 9, 26.6) ἐκ ζημιῶν μεγίστων KAMAT., Astron. 431; ναυμαχιῶν ibid. 1305 τετρακοσίων εὐρίσκετον ὀργυίων εἰς τὸ ὕψος Pol. Tr. 1260 app. crit. (VX) ἀνδραγαθίων πλήθη Dig. A 1293

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete and in documents from Cyprus (Paphos area) and Ikaria (see immediately below), though when the form is followed by a word starting in /n/, the deletion could be graphematic, as in the example from Rodolinos:

να μη δουλεύγεις κορασιῶ CHORTATSI, Panor. Dedic. 5 καὶ τῶν καρδιῶ ἢ γιαφέντρα Stathis I.34 ξόμπλι τῶν ἄλλων ὠπαρχιῶ νὰ δείξει TROILOS, Rodol. Prol. Mell. 12 (Aposkiti) τῶν κορασιῶ FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.204 τῶν αὐτῶν ἐλίῳ (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 848, 740.17) (< ἐλαία) τῶν ἐλλίῳ (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 2, 7.8) (< ἐλαία)

Deletion of /j/ after sibilants has been found in documents from Crete and Ikaria and is likely to occur in the Heptanese and Santorini (cf. all cases of the singular and see the introduction (2.11) for discussion): τῶ πουλησῶν (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 211, 216.4); τῶν ἐκκλησῶ (1645, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 11, 25.22).

Addition of -(v)ε has been found in a Heptanesian text, but is likely to have had a wider geographical spread (see I, 2.6.3.1 for details): καὶ μὴν πιστεύη μαγικά, λέγω, οὐδὲ μαντεῶνε MONTSEL., Evgena 1512.

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-(ε)ιάδων

The imparisyllabic ending of paradigm 2.11.1.2 is employed lexically (θεία and ἀνηψιά, cf. the nominative and accusative) with nouns that belong to the semantic field of female status or family relations (cf. γράια, 2.11.4; μάνα and χήρα, 2.11.2; ἀδελφή, 2.12.1): τῶν τριῶν μου θειάδων (1517, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 48, 83.30).

Accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-(ε)ίεσ

The inherited paroxytone ending is very common throughout the LMedG and EMG periods:

τὲς δύο πριονίες (1118, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 85, 112.7); τὲς φορεσίες (1166, ibid. 170, 224.12) ἀπὸ τὲς πικρίεσ τῆς Log. parig. L 726 καὶ τὲς οἰκονομίες Chron. Mor. H 6128; κι ὅλες τὲς ἐξουσίες ibid. 8657 τὰςπραματεῖες τοὺς Assizes B 295.19 τὰς δουλεῖγες (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.4) (for the addition of <γ> see I, 3.5.2.1) τὲςπραματεῖες των (1481, Rhodes?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 2, 206.46) ὡς διὰ τὲς μεθυσίες SACHLIKIS, Katalogin 74; διὰ τὲς κλεψίες τὲς πολλές ibid. 75 μὲ ὅλες του τὶς ὀρδινίες (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 8, 86.25) ἤκουσε σουρισματίες (1579, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 7, 96.16) μὲ τὲς ἀνοψίες μου (1600, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: II, 70.3) (< ἀνεψιά, see I, 2.8.5) ἐκαμναν αταξίες και λουλίες και ατοπίες και πολλές ατσάλιες Vios Iosif 269.26–7 (= λωλίες, see I, 2.8.3) ἐκ τὲς τοῦ καιροῦ ἀνωμαλίες (1657, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 75, 191.4) τες πανουργίες Don Kis. 46.18; να πῖω και δύο σταλαγματίες ibid. 61.32–3 λέγοντες περίστιες συκοφαντίες καὶ ἀβανιές ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 42.17

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-(ε)ιές

The paroxytone ending may undergo a shift of the stress to the ultimate and synizesis (see I, 2.9.4). Oxytone forms occur throughout the period covered by this Grammar and have the strongest presence in texts from southern areas:

ἐπιάσαν τὲς μαντεῖες τοὺς Chron. Mor. H 5305 ξυλίες να σε φορτώσουν Spanos D 1758 ἐνὶ τὸ μήκος οὐργιές γω' SFRANTZIS, Chron. 10.3 (< ὀργυία) κι ἐσεῖς οἱ πρόλοιπες Μαριές FALIEROS, Thrinios 88
ἔμεινεν ὡς τὲς Ἀποκριές MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 542.27 σπίτια μὲ τὲς φαμιλίες Alosis 495 τὲςπραγματεῖες ἐκείνες ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 232 τὲς ὁμορφιές της πέτε Cypr. Canz. 40.6 τὲς σταλαματίες τοῦ νεροῦ MOREZINOS, Klini 276.23–4 τὶς θωριές CHORTATZIS, Katz. Prol. 7 (< θεωρία); τὶς πονηριές ibid. I.113; οἱ ρουφιανιές σου ibid. V.398 δύο καρδιές ἐμάρανες Ekatol. (Meteoron) 24 στὶς Σκαρουχιές (17th c., Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 33, 185.2) τὶς λαβωματίες (1638, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2004: 107.10) τσ' αἰτίες TROILOS, Rodol. Dedic. 56 τὲς καταλαλίες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.120–1 μαριολίες καὶ ἀντραγαθιές γυρεύγεις FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.42; εὐχαριστίες σᾶς δίδομε ibid. V.409 ἐδῶ δουλειές δὲν ἔχει Paroim. (Warner) 32.2; ὅλο μουγκρισματίες ἀκούει ibid. 51.21 τὲς πείραξες καὶ κακομοιργές (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 36.28) εἰς τὶς Τροχαλίες (1671, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 69, 318.8) μ' ἄλλες πολλές, κ' εἰς ἀντρεῖες ἐξακουστός ἐγίνη KORNAROS, Erot. I.28 (stress shift without synizesis); φαρμακεμένες μαγεριές πάντα μᾶς μαγερεύγει ibid. I.278 (< μαγειρία)

Synizesis is often ostensibly concealed by conservative stress notation, which is evident only in verse texts (see 1.5 for a discussion of what is in fact a spelling practice in many manuscripts and early prints):

ἐκ τὲς ἀνδραγαθίες μου Dig. E 750 εἰς τὲς καρδιές ἀπέσω DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 328 τῆς νύκτας τὲς κρυφοκλεψίεις Rim. kor. V 30 τὲς φορεσίεις τὲς στολισίεις μὲ ἔρωτίας τάξιν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 157 τὲς ἐμνοστίεις τοῦ κόσμου Liv. E 4163 ὅλεις τὲς οἰκονομίεις Chron. Mor. P 6128 δὲ θέλει πλιὸ θυσίεις ἀρνιῶ Thysia Avr. 9 νὰ μάθεις τὲς ἀνδραγαθίεις τοῦ νέου Ἀχιλλέως PETRITSIS, Dig. O 18

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ές

In the oxytone forms <ι> is quite often omitted in writing (see the introduction (2.11) for discussion and cf. nom. pl.), not only after sibilants and /r/ (cf. the singular and gen. pl.), but also after various other consonants (for a discussion of /j/ deletion after sibilants and /r/ see I, 2.4.7.3 and 2.4.7.4). Examples occur in texts from Crete, Cyprus, the Heptanese, the northern mainland and the Aegean,¹⁰⁴ but may have had a different pronunciation in different areas:

ἀτιμαξὲς παράξενες CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1667 διὰ τὲς ἀνδραγαθίεις τοὺς SACHLIKIS, Katalogi 7 τὴν πιγούναν στὲς κοπρέεις Spanos D 1185 ἐγέμωσαν τὲς κοιλίεις τοὺς ὠσγοιὸν τὰ χοιρίδια MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 448.22–3 τὲς γιαιτρέεις τῶν Theseid III.25,7 ms (P); τὲς συμφωνίεις ὅπερ ἔποικεν ibid. V.91 tit. ἡ κεφαλὴ σου συντροφέεις θεῖ κάμει μετὰ κείνεις Apoll. Rim. E 159; τσ' ἀρματωσέεις ibid. 686 εἰς φορεσέεις καὶ στολίδει (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 6, 7.12–13); ἀπὸ τὲς πουλησέεις (ibid. 309, 307.31) κι ἐκάναμὲ σας φορεσέεις P&N Diath. 795; 'ς τσι ἐκκλησέεις ibid. 2333; μ' ἀρίφνητες καταβαλσέεις
ibid. 3334
 ἐξῆντα ὀργέεις κι ἂν ἔσκαψα Ekatol. (Meteoron) 63 (< ὀργυία) τσι κορασέεις CHORTATIS, Panor. I.444; τσι πορπατέ σου ibid. III.298 app. crit. (N) (with omission of <ς> before <σ>) καὶ εἶχα καὶ τὲς ἐκκλησέεις Thrinos patr. O 61 τὰ νέφαλα γιὰ λόγου του πάντα δροσέεις νὰ βρέχου; Thysia Avr. 676 τὲς βρισέεις PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §4.13; ἀγόραζεν σουπέεις ἀπὸ Τοῦρκον ibid. I §9.2 ἀπὸ δροσέεις μεγάλες FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.301 τὲς κοπρέεις τοῦ IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 356 ὅσες ἀγορασέεις κάμει (1688, SYROS, DRAKAKIS 1967: 22, 327.12) γίνονται ματοκυλισέεις KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1111 ροῦχα, φορεσέεις (1709, Chios, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 34, 135.48)

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-(ε)ίας

The residual accusative plural ending -(ε)ίας occurs throughout the period under review in mixed- and higher-register texts and in more formal contexts:

καρδίαις ἀνασπάει Dig. G IV.10 πολλὰς παρανομίαις Ptoch. IV 641

¹⁰⁴The examples from the Aegean are few and relatively late. See PERNOT 1907/46: I 332–47 for the phenomenon in Chiot.

ταύτας τὰς ἱστορίας Log. parig. L 436 εἰς τὰς ἀγγαρείας (1360, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 236, 362.11) ἀνδραγαθίας ἔποικεν Pol. Tr. 3692 οὐργίας γ' (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 33, 67.6) ἀρνεῖσαι συντροφίας μας Velth. 148 app. crit.; καὶ ποίσης τον δουλείας του ibid. 177 ἐβγάνουν κλάηματα πολλά, μεγάλας δὲ λαλίας Imb. Rim. 581 (< λαλιά) ἀφ' τὰς γωνίας LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 685 εἰς τὰς κάτωθεν συμφωνίας (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 17, 32.3) μὲ βίους καὶ ἱστορίας VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.3 ἀπὸ βαρὲς ὑπηρεσίας LANDOS, Geopon. 266.7

Even residual forms may need to be read with metrical synizesis (see I, 2.9.4.2) in verse texts: ὅσας κλεψίας ἐποίησες Synax. gadar. 256.

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-(ε)ιάδες

The imparisyllabic ending of paradigm 2.11.1.2 is employed lexically with the nouns ἀνηψιά and θεία (see the genitive, above), words belonging to the semantic field of female status or family relations (cf. γράια, 2.11.4; μάνα and χήρα, 2.11.2; ἀδελφή, 2.12.1): τὲς ἀνεψιάδες μου (1582, Patras, ZOIS 1936/37: 17–18, λδ'.44); τὲς ἄνωθέν μου πέντε ἀνηψιάδες (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 59.22).

Vocative

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-(ε)ίεσ (↓ -(ε)ιέσ ↓ -έσ ↓ -(ε)ιάδες)

The vocative is identical to the nominative and is likely to have had the same variation in stress position. The number of examples found is very limited: ὦ ... θεριά καὶ στίες FALIEROS, Thrinios 223 (< ἐστία).

2.11.6 Transfers to Other Paradigms

Certain nouns in -α may transfer to the feminine /os/ paradigm. Examples have been found of τράπεζα, γέφυρα and nouns in -εια such as ἀσθένεια, συμπάθεια, but only in the singular: ᾿ς ἀστένειον βαρυτάτην Chron. Mor. H 7216; τὴν συμπάθειόν σας Pol. Tr. 12335 app. crit. (AV); τὴ γιόφυρο ἐνέβηκα P&N Diath. 314; νὰ κιρνοῦμεν εἰς τὴν τράπεζον (1634, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 58, 156.12–13). From there these nouns may even be re-analysed as masculine: ἐσηκώθηκαν ἀπὸ τὸν τράπεζον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §24.23; ὁ τράπεζος ἐγίνη ἀπάνου καὶ ἐξαπάνου ibid. I §32.22–3.

Sometimes a feminine noun in -α is reanalysed as being a neuter plural, especially feminine nouns in -εια.¹⁰⁵ As the latter clearly transfer to sub-paradigm 2.20.2.2, not 2.20.2.1, it would perhaps be preferable to spell the ending with <ι> in stead of <ει>:

¹⁰⁵ The following example is perhaps dubious: τὸ συντέλειο ἦτον Pent. Gen. 7.6, as the manuscript was written in Hebrew script, in which the vowel marks are not always easily distinguishable.

πρὸς τὰ συνήθεια Chron. Mor. H 1250 ὡς ἐνι τὸ συνήθειον ibid. 7519 (ms: συνήθιον) καὶ ἐπάρη το συνήθειον Dig. E 1341 (ms: συνήθιον) καὶ ἄς ἔλθῃ τὸ συμπάθειον σου LIMEN., Than. Rod. 88
 τῶν γυναικῶν τὰ συνήθεια Corona Preciosa E 3^r.26 εἶναι συνήθι (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 49.53) ἐπειδὴ καὶ νὰ μὴν εἶναι ἐτοῦτο τὸ συνήθι εἰς τὸ τόπο μας (1703, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 46, 60.27–8) καὶ ἐγὼ ἡῤῥηκα σκίον δενδροῦ Dig. E 1197 (< σκιά; ms: σκίον but with synizesis).

In Cypriot texts one finds a neuter plural τὰ γέννα (< ἡ γέννα) (cf. Χριστούγεννα), but the feminine stress shift is retained in the genitive plural: τὰ Γέννα οὐ τὸ Πάσχαν Assizes B 427.5; τὴν ἡμέραν τῶν γεννῶν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 40.32.

As mentioned elsewhere (2.2.6), masculine nouns in /as/ may sporadically change gender and become feminines in /a/. The reverse phenomenon may also occur: διὰ τὸν Ἀλασσόνα (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 10, 307, f.1r.14); τοῦ Ἀλασσόνος (1681, Ioannina, ibid. 10, 307.15 (1r)); ὅς τὸ μῆλιγγάν του P&N Diath. 3046 (< μῆνιγξ); τοῦ μῆλιγγου KORNAROS, Erot. II.1913; ὅς τὸν Λάρνακαν Thrinios Kypr. 162.

A transfer to the feminine /i/ paradigm may occur with certain nouns, among which ἄκρα, ζέστα, κάμαρα and ξέρα:

ὅπου εἶνι ἡ ἄκρη τῶν Σκορτῶν Chron. Mor. H 7201 ἡ ἔτερη ἄκρη τῆς χώρας SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 34.29 εσέβῃ εἰς τὴν κάμαρὴν τῆς Anthos Ch. A 167.7 τὴν κάμαρην Diig. Alex. E 283.5 (Lolos) τὴν κάμαρη (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 4, 5.6) ἀντίκρυ ἀπὸ τὴν ξέρη IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6371 κ' ἡ ζέστη νὰ τοῦ δώσῃ KORNAROS, Erot. V.1111

Moreover there are several one-off inventions in /i/, some of which are based on obsolete genitive and dative forms (for the latter see 1.1), as is often clear from the position of the stress. Genitive: ἡ ρίζη (1044, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 3, 146.5); κοιμητίσση (1131, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 111, 146.14); τὴν τραπέζην (1092, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 3, 388.6). Dative: ἡ χειρὶ σου SKLAVOS, Symf. 5; ὅταν γὰρ ἔλθῃ ἡ νυκτί Peri xen. 13; μὲ τῇ μητρί μου Alex. Rim. 464. They may even be based on non-existent residual forms (ἡ στράτα, *τῆς στράτης): ἀπὸ τὴν στράτην (1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 5, 618.26–7).

2.12 Feminine Nouns in /i/

The AG 1st-declension feminine nouns in /ε:/ included oxytone and paroxytone nouns such as τιμή, ψυχὴ and τέχνη, τύχη, many of which survive in MedG. The paradigms are very stable and show limited variation in endings. In the singular the endings of the surviving cases are graphematically, though not phonologically, identical to those of AG: nom. in -ή/-η, gen. in -ῆς/-ης, acc. in -ή(ν)/-η(ν) and voc. in -ή/-η. In the plural the AG nom. -αί/-αι and acc. -άς/-ας had been replaced by -ές/ες long before the LMedG period (see e.g. DIETERICH 1898: 157–8, GIGNAC 1981: 46–7 and HORROCKS ²2010: 286–7).

Certain nouns belonging to the oxytone paradigm in -ή have an alternative imparisyllabic plural in -άδες (for the -άδες plural in general see HORROCKS ²2010: 287–8). This imparisyllabic plural is especially common with ἀδελφή/ἀδερφή, in line with other feminine nouns denoting status or family relations of females (cf. 2.11.2, 2.11.4 and 2.11.5); but it is used with other nouns as well, in a rather large geographical area, and especially frequently in Cypriot texts. Forms with this imparisyllabic plural have been found from the 11th c. onwards (see below).

Another imparisyllabic plural that is used within the oxytone paradigm, but only with a handful of nouns such as ἀδελφή/ἀδερφή and μαμή, is /'īdes/. The development of this ending is puzzling: it appears to pre-date the period covered by this Grammar and the first securely datable examples are the following: οὐκ ἀδελφῶν οὐκ ἀδελφιδῶν P.Herm. 31 (6th c.) and λέγουσα: ἀδελφίδες μου ΝΙΚΕΤΑΣ, Vios Philaret. 490 (9th c., 11th-c. ms).¹⁰⁶ Interestingly, in the period covered by this Grammar, the ending appears to be narrowly restricted to south-western areas (Crete and Cythera), and does not surface in texts before the 16th c. It is therefore likely to be a new formation, unrelated to the earlier, rather rare, plural in -ίδες. There may be some analogical influence from the substantivized adjectives συγγενής and εὐγενής, which had developed alternative feminine forms according to the 3rd-declension paradigm in -ίς, -ίδος in Hellenistic times (see LSJ s.v. and see 3.3.3). In this Grammar, the /'īdes/ plural will be spelled with <η>.

With the transformation of the 3rd declension some nouns had moved over to the paroxytone feminine paradigm in -η (others to paradigms in /a/, see 2.11). These include nouns in -τη, gen. -της (< -της, gen. -τητος), e.g. ἡ μεγαλειότη, ἡ νιότη (< νεότης); ἡ ὀξύτη; as well as isolated cases such as μύτη (< μύτις, -ιδος), attested from the 10th c. onwards (see LBG s.v.); χάρη, gen. χάρης (< χάρις, gen. χάριτος; acc. χάριν already in AG); γυνή, gen. γυνῆς (< γυνή, gen. γυναικός) (singular only);¹⁰⁷ ἐλπῆ, gen. -ῆς (< ἐλπίς, gen. ἐλπίδος).

The suffix -τη is quite productive in the period covered by this Grammar, producing many innovative nouns, e.g.:

ἔχει πολλήν κρυότην Assizes B 435.5

στέμμα της παρθενιότης Laikos Akath. 1; πουλάκι της σπλαχνιότης ibid. 3

¹⁰⁶ LAMPE, Lex. lemmatizes as ἀδελφίς based on plural examples from the apocryphal Acts of Thomas: ὑμῶν τῶν ἀδελφιδῶν Prax. Thom. A 203.6 (3rd c.; ed. Bonnet), and the Greek Ephraem: παρὰ τῶν ἀδελφιδῶν Ephraem 2.394E (4th c.; ed. Assemani); see LAMPE, Lex. s.v. ἀδελφίς: “sister; of Christian women”, “of nuns”. However, both texts have very complicated text traditions, and the occurrence of an imparisyllabic plural in them by no means proves a date as early as the 3rd/4th c. Singular forms of ἀδελφίς are very rare. Only one example has been found before the period covered by this Grammar, in an undated (LA?) inscription from Asia Minor (Korykos, Cilicia): τῆς αὐτῶν ἀδελφίδος MAMA 3 598. Another example in a 17th-c. document from Crete is very likely to be a reanalysis based on the -ῆδες plural (see below).

¹⁰⁷ For γυνή see KRUMBACHER 1885: 529–35, who gives AG examples but doubts their validity as they all appear in comedies; he equally doubts the validity of the MedG examples and views them as “literary”. He may be right, given that the LMedG and EMG examples mostly come from literature, and documents that strive for a higher register. Most Late Antique and Byzantine grammarians (Apollonios Dyskolos, Aelius Herodianus, Georgios Choiroboskos) warn that a gen. γυνῆς does not exist, but Sophronios the Grammarian (9th c.; ed. Hilgard) notes such forms are found sporadically, but should be avoided: ἰστέον δὲ ὅτι σπανίως εὐρέθησαν πλάγιοι γυνῆς καὶ γυνήν, αἷς οὐ χρηστέον (see the online TLG).

ἀπὸ τὴν ἐκλαμπρότην σου (1481, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 10, 315.12)

ἡ φύση τῆς χοντρότης FALIEROS, Thrinis 177 φωτιά στην κοκκινότη CHORTATSI, Panor. I.357

ἡ παναγιότη σου (1653–5, Venice, FONKIČ 2000: 239, f.1r.27)

ὄλην τὴν χριστιανότην Thrinis Kypr. 102

Alongside forms in -τη, nouns in -της also develop forms in -τητα, for which see 2.11.3.2. Another suffix that is very productive in the period under review is -σύνη. Apart from common words such as δικαιοσύνη and καλοσύνη, derived from adjectives, more inventive examples, derived from adjectives, nouns, verbs and loanwords, include:

διὰ τὴν πρεποσύνην Diig. tetr. 306 μέ παρακαλεσύνη Theseid XII.18,1 (1529) τὴν ἀλεγροσύνην Fior 79.31

ἡ γεροντοσύνη Fior Suppl. 270.18 (< γέρων) μεγάλη λεμοσύνη Alex. Rim. 654 (< ἐλεήμων) στραβοσύνη εἰς τὸ μέσος δὲν ἦτον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §32.23 (< στραβός) διὰ νὰ μάθει τὴν τέχνη τῆς κτιστοσύνης (1670, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954: 10, 41.6) (< κτίστης) ἀπὸ δισπεραροσύνην τῆς SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 45.1 (< δισπεράρω < Ital. disperare) τὰ ρούχα του καὶ παπουσοσύνη του (1703, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 47, 61.36–7) (= παπουτσοσύνη; possibly a calque of Ital. calzature; for deaffrication of /ts/ see I, 3.2.6.2)

When the 3rd declension began to collapse, feminine nouns in -ις, gen. -εως (φύσις, δύναμις) also started to develop alternative forms according to the 1st-declension /i/ paradigm. GIGNAC 1981: 75 mentions genitives singular in -ης in papyri from the 1st c. AD onwards, though according to DIETERICH 1898: 160–1 nominatives in -η are not found before the 9th c. (διάλυση in the Glossarium Laodicea 117,2); see also HATZIDAKIS 1892: 80. As for the plural formation of these nouns, that, too, eventually moved over to the most common one for feminine nouns (nom. and acc. in -ες). There is some evidence this change had started to take place by the 12th c.,¹⁰⁸ but some caution is due, as the early examples constitute circumstantial evidence (unmatched endings and stress positions), and come from an edition that is known to be unreliable: ἐλεημοσύνη καὶ πίσται (1192, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 11, 634.6), in which the adoption of the old 1st-declension -αι ending with πίστις indicates that the by then more common -ες ending was already available; similarly in the following example: αἱ ... γινομέναι ἀφιερῶσαις (1192, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 21, 339.1–2) the new ending /es/ appears to be adopted, but with retention of the historical shift of the stress, though it cannot be excluded that this is a writing mistake or a typo for ἀφιερῶσεις. In τὰς ... ὑστέρησεις (1155, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VII: 3, 361.2–3), we find the old ending, but with the new stress pattern.

More secure examples are datable to the 13th/14th c. and they also occur in mixed-register texts: a strong indication that they had been around for a while. Thus in the LMedG period these nouns develop an almost full set of alternative endings according to paradigm ¹⁰⁸ A form προσφωνήσεις in a 5th-c. papyrus (Trismeg. 64804) can certainly not serve as proof, because the papyrus is too fragmentary to judge whether it is even a noun (see www.papyri.info).

2.12.2, e.g. φύση, gen. sg. φύσης, nom. pl. φύσες (< φύσις, gen. φύσεως, nom. pl. φύσεις); δύναμη, gen. δύναμης, nom. pl. δύναμες (< δύναμις, gen. δυνάμεως, nom. pl. δυνάμεις). The exception is the genitive plural, which continues to end in -εων; and although it must be noted that these forms are not in very common use, they were not routinely replaced by forms in -ων or -ων, which are very rare indeed. With the transfer of the proparoxytone nouns in -ις (δύναμις > δύναμη), a new proparoxytone paradigm in -η is created (see 2.12.4).

However, more than in most other paradigms, many of the old forms remain in use, though mainly in mixed-register texts and more formal contexts, and the result is often a mix of both inherited and innovative forms. This concurrence of old and new forms, combined with the fact that the accusatives singular in -ι(ν) and -η(ν) are homophonous and that the genitive plural remains that of the old paradigm, demands a separate treatment of these nouns (paroxytone at 2.12.3 and proparoxytone at 2.12.4). The co-existence of old and new forms appears not only in poetry, in which the different stress patterns of certain forms are convenient (see HINTERBERGER 2001), e.g. καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς θλίψης τῆς πολλῆς Achil. N 47 and ἀπὸ τῆς πρώτης τάξεως ibid. 1827; στρεβλώσεις, μάστιγες, πληγὰς MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 77; it also occurs in prose and non-literary texts, e.g.:

τοῦ μεγάλου δομέστικου τῆς Κωνσταντινόπολης (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 70, f.IV.15); μέγας δομέστικος τῆς Κωσταντινοπόλεως (ibid. 71, f.IV.27–8) ἐκ πίστεως καὶ κρίσης Assizes A 25.3–4 κρίσεις καὶ ἔξοδες (1554, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 157, 206.7) and ἔξωθεν κρίσεως (ibid. 206.10) μὲ κάποιες προφάσεις ZYGOM., Synopsis 130.A.49 and μὲ ἑλαφρὰς ἐπίπληξες ibid. 133.A.63 εἰς ὦραν εὐλόγησεως (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 16, 37.11–12) and εἰς ὦραν τῆς εὐλόγησης (1606, ibid. 379, 352.8) ἀπὸ μέσα ἀπὸ τὲς πόλεις KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 13.22 and ἀπάνου εἰς δέκα πόλεις ibid. 19.17 τὲς μάθησες Don Kis. 264.34 and τὰς ... μαθήσεις ibid. 265.25.

It even appears in EMG grammars: ἡ φύσις, τῆς φύσεως, τὴν φύσιν, ὃ φύσι. οἱ φύσες, τῶν φύσεων, τὲς φύσες, ὡ φύσες SOFIANOS, Grammar 43.1–20; ἡ πόλις τῆς πόλεως-λις τὴν πόλιν-λι ὡ πόλι οἱ πόλεις τῶν πόλεων τὰς πόλεις-λες ὡ πόλεις SPANOS, Grammar 28.24–5.

A few new proparoxytone words not originally in -ις also follow this paradigm (2.12.4), though usually only the innovative part of it; among these are πόλβερη/πούλβερη, σίκαλη and the place names Ροῦμελη and Χόβολη.

The vast majority of the inherited nouns in sub-paradigms 2.12.3 and 2.12.4 are derived from (the perfective stem of) verbs,¹⁰⁹ as are innovative nouns that are created in the period covered by this Grammar. They include nouns such as ἀντίλλαξη, ἄξιση, ἀποφάνηση, βλέπηση, ἔβγαλση, ξεφάντωση, συνίβαση and many others. The vast majority of innovative nouns belong to the proparoxytone paradigm. Innovative nouns in paradigm 2.12.2 are restricted to a handful of new formations based on inherited verb stems, such as κόψις/κόψη (< κοψ- < κόπτω) and the Cretan word βιάση (< βιασ- < βιάζω): κέκ τοῦ δόσματος τὴν κόψιν ERMON., Ilias 12.86; διὰ τὴν βιάσην τζῆ ὀκαζιός (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 36.13–14); plus innovative formations of inherited nouns, such as γνέψη (< νεύσις):

¹⁰⁹ Among the rare exceptions are πόλις, ράχις and ἔπαυλις.

ἐποίησέν του γνέψη Imber. 405; and Cypriot νῶσις/νῶση (< γνῶσις according to KRIARAS, Lex.; < νόσις according to YANGOULLIS 2002): νὰ τὸν ποίσουν νῶσι Assizes B 403.24. The new nouns tend to follow the innovative part of the paradigm (nom. sg. -η, gen. sg. -ης) rather than the old one, although some examples in -ις can be found, e.g. ἡ ἀγρώνις Fior 74.14–15 (< ἀγρωνίζω < γνωρίζω).

Feminine loanwords in /i/ are quite rare, though some examples have been found: ἐκρεμμάσεν τα εἰς τὴν πιλλιρήν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 76.1 (< Occit. pilerin, see GODEFROY, Lex. s.v. pilorin); τσακίζεις τους τὴν μούρη KORONAIOS, Pittakin 108 (< Ven. pl. muri < muro); *Μεριεμή < Μεριεμίν (< Turk. Meriemin): τῆς ἄνωθεν κερα-Μεριεμῖς / Μεριεμῖς (1672, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 6, 168.12).

Transfers between paradigms 2.12.1 and 2.12.2 are quite rare: the noun κεφαλή has a paroxytone variant, probably influenced by τὸ κεφάλι(ν) (< dim. κεφάλιον). Most of the examples occur in Heptanesian (Zakynthian) texts:¹¹⁰ τῆς λωλῆς του κεφαλῆς LIMEN., Than. Rod. 437; εἰς τὴν κεφάλην KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.327; ἀπάνω στὴν κεφάλη Alex. Rim. 113; ἡ κεφαλή του KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 187.10.

Transfers between the paradigms 2.12.3 and 2.12.4 are quite rare too: the forms ἔσμιξις (< μίξις) and ἔδοσις (< δόσις) in the following examples are the result of the assignment of a pseudo-augment to verbal derivatives (for details see III, 1.1.3): εἰ (ed.: ἡ) τὰς ὀφρῦς σου ἔσμιξις ἂν ἔλειπεν Velth. 573; μ' ἄς ἐν' κρυφῇ ἡ ἔδοσις DEFAR., Log. did. 146. The Cypriot paroxytone form γιάση (< ἴασις) is the result of synizesis (see I, 2.9.4): ἂν ἦτον νὰ γράψω τὲς γιάσες του, ὥς τοῦ νᾶζουν δὲν ἔφταννα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 32.33–4 (but read ὥστου).

Transfers from other paradigms are limited as well. They include feminine loanwords in -ε (κόρτε, πάρτε), which may transfer to paradigm 2.12.2: εἰς τὸν ἀφέντη τὸ ρετούρη κούρτης Ριθύμνης (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 30, 49.6); ἡ πάρτη μου (1656, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 6, 164.28); as well as the occasional feminine noun in -α, e.g. ἄκρη (< ἄκρα): ἡ ἕτερη ἄκρη τῆς χώρας SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 34.29; πλώρη (< πλώρα < πρῶρα): εἰς ὅποιαν σταυροφόρον πλώρην σας (1415, Skyros, LEMERLE et al. 1979: App. XVII, 216.13); τρούλλα (< τρούλλα < Lat. trulla): πορφυροχρουσομάρμαρον ἔκαμεν στὴν τρούλλην Achil. L 519. The AG masculine noun πῆχυς also transfers to paradigm 2.12.2 (as well as occasionally to the masculine -ας and feminine -α paradigms, see 2.2 and 2.11): τὰ κέρατα ἀνάμεσα τὰ αὐτία μία πῆχη Diig. Alex. E 119.9–10 (Lolos); καμίαν πῆχην KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 6.27; χῶμα μιὰ πῆχη BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 507.13.

Transfers from other paradigms to 2.12.3 and 2.12.4 occur mainly in the proparoxytone paradigm, and usually follow the alternative set of endings in -η, -ης rather than those in -ις, -εως. They include the noun κάμαρα, which has an alternative proparoxytone form κάμαρη, as well as certain proparoxytone neuter nouns in -ι(ν), which are generally rare (see 2.20.3): ευωδεστάτη ἀμπαρη Don Kis. 463.15 (< τὸ ἄμπαρι < EMedG τὸ ἄμπαρ, τοῦ ἄμπαρος < Arab. anbar); only sporadically do they adopt the old endings of this paradigm, ¹¹⁰This variant also occurs in astrological and medical texts and in Scholia (see the online TLG), texts that are usually difficult to date and localize.

e.g. ἀμπάρεις και ξυλαλάς IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 841, in which, however, the original stress is retained.

Occasional transfers to the feminine /i/ paradigms include: τήν θαυμαστήν τήν πλάτανην καὶ πάλιν θαυμασίαν Achil. L 970 (< ὁ πλάτανος); ἐκ τήν πολλήν ἰδρώτην Achil. O 298 app. crit. (< ὁ ἰδρώτας < ἰδρωτός); ἀλουπτή (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 50.943) (< ἀλουπούς); reanalyses within the 3rd declension: καὶ ἡ ὀσφὴ τοῦ Λέοντος KAMAT., Astron. 798 (< ὀσφύς); να κάμω καμίαν ἔριν Don Kis. 239.5 (< ἔρις, acc. ἔριδα); as well as the adoption of the old -εις ending with original 1st-declension nouns: πρὸς μάχεις καὶ παραταγὰς Achil. O 8; or with other 3rd-declension nouns: τὰς ἐν τούτῳ χάρεις [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 771 (< χάρις, acc. pl. χάριτας).

Finally, there are a few one-off formations based on obsolete 3rd-declension datives: ἡ νυκτί Peri xen. 13, ἡ χειρί σου SKLAVOS, Symf. 5; μετὰ τῇ μητρί μου Alex. Rim. 464; or on obsolete 1st-declension genitives in -ης: ἡ ρίζη (1044, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 3, 146.5); κομητίσση (1131, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 111, 146.14); τήν τραπέζην (1092, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 3, 388.6); μετὰ τιμὴν καὶ δόξην MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 87.

The monosyllabic noun γῆ has an indeclinable variant γῆς (singular and sporadically plural), and an irregular plural γῆες, for which see 2.17.

2.12.1 Oxytone Nouns in -ή

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	ψυχή
Gen.	ψυχῆς	-ῆ
Acc.	ψυχή(ν)		-ίδα/-ήδα
Voc.	ψυχή
Plural
Nom.	ψυχές	ψυχαί -ῆδες -άδες
Gen.	ψυχῶν	-ήδων -άδων
Acc.	ψυχές	ψυχάς -ῆδες -άδες	-ῆδας -άδας
Voc.	ψυχές	(ψυχαί) -ῆδες -άδες

Singular*NominativeFem.*

Sg.	Nom.	-ή

The nominative singular invariably ends in -ή:

- ή άγία έορτή (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.144–25.145) ή παρούσα μου ταύτη χαριστική (1065, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 34, 202.26) (< adj. χαριστικός) ό,τι λέγει ή έδεποία γραφή NIKON, Logos 9 312.34 άπηρέ με ή χολή GLYKAS, Stichoi 285 ή άγία μονή (1220–1, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 16, 78.7) έχαίρετον ή ψυχή της Achil. L 9 τοιούτη βουλή νά γένη Pol. Tr. 833 έδόθη εις αυτόν και άλλη γή (late 14th–early 15th c., Athos?/Lemnos?, KRAVARI 1991: App., 196.68) ή 'φχή τως μετά 'σε (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 20.6) (= εϋχή) πάσα σου πληγή πληγώνει την καρδιά μου FALIEROS, Thrinós 45 ή μονή MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 36.18; πολλή άντροπή εις αυτόν μας ibid. 234.10 τόμου έδωκεν ή αύγή Diig. Alex. V 71.1
έναι ή μεγαλύτερη πολιτική Vios Aisop. E 292.34 (< adj. πολιτικός) ήρθε μία γραφή εις τās χείρας μας (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 2, 49.8) καθολικά άδελφή του (1570, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 16, 70.8) μά πώς τό θέλ' ή ψή σου CHORTATIS, Katz. I.230 (= ψυχή) ώσα βροντή, σάν άστραπή θέ νά χαθείς Thysia Avr. 382 έπειδή και ή όργή είναι θεϊκή Diath. Nikon Metan. 9 και τούτη ή πλερωμή (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 311.40) η ταραχή των κουκλών Don Kis. 324.25

GenitiveFem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ής ! -ή

The genitive normally ends in -ής:

- ξύλης ή μετακομιδής (1079, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 2, 17.9); έκβολής χρειών ... φοσσάτων διατροφής (ibid. 18.12) μετά χαρμονής Eisit. f.5r.7
της ύποταής Assizes B 283.18 (= ύποταγής, see I, 3.6.1.1); τοιούτης τιμής ibid. 301.5
τόν Θεόν τοϋ οϋρανοϋ και της γής (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.17) διά προσευχής και νηστείας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 66.24 μετά βουλής έδικής μας (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.3–4) έκ της ζωγής (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 167.2d) (= ζωής, see I, 3.5.2.1) τό περίσσευμα της ψωλής Corona Preciosa E 8r.28 της θυγατρός της Καλής (1562, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 9, 22.8) να τας χαλάσουν εκ βάθρων γης MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 218.3–4 διχωστάς καμίας λογής κοντράστο (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 5, 28.8–9) οί ημέρες τῆς ζωῆς μας Diig. Alex. Sem. S 263 τέτοιας λοῆς (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 148.53) (= λογῆς, see I, 3.6.1.1) τοῦ φλακῆς Thysia Avr. 501 (= φυλακῆς, see I, 2.7.2) τοῦ ἀναθρεφτῆς μου (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 38.57–8) ἔπειτα τῆς θανῆς μου (1660, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 2, 115.9) δύο χαρὰν τῆς ρακῆς (1687, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 714, 971.28) ἦτονε τοῦ ἀρετῆς πηγῆς KORNAROS, Erot. II.82; κιαμιᾶς λογῆς ἀνάπαψη ibid. III.14 τό ρέστος τῆς ψυχῆς της (1700, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 4, 128.23–4) μέ κάθε λογῆς μηχανές EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.7–8; μέ τρελαμὸν κεφαλῆς ibid. 25.18–19

Deletion of final /s/ before a sibilant or affricate occurs in texts from Crete (see I, 3.7.1.1): γὰρ ὄνομα τοῦ θανῆ τοῦ (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 9, 31.14); τοῦ προγονή τοῦ (1599, ibid. 42, 62.4).

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ή(ν)

The accusative singular ends in -ή and occurs with and without final /n/:

νὰ πάρεις τὴν ἐ<ὸ>χή μου (11th c., Mani, DRANDAKIS 1972/73: 2, 666.3–5) εἰς τὴν πρωτὴν γυνή μου (1141, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 129, 171.17) τὴν παροῦσαν καθαρὰν ἀνταλλαγὴν (1153, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 11, 33.13) τὴν ἔχω ὁμμάτια καὶ ψυχὴν Eisit. f.8r.9 διὰ τὴν ψυχὴν της (1333, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 2.3) καὶ νὰ μὴδὲν ἔχῃς ὀχλησιν ἢ ταραχὴν πολέμου Achil. L 91 εἰς τὴν ψυχὴν μου, καὶ εἰς τὴν κεφαλὴν μου (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.19) γιὰτὶ ἔχω φανερὴν ὀλπήν FALIEROS, Ist. On. 588 (= ἑλπήν < ἑλπίς; see I, 2.9.3) νὰ χεῖς τὴν εὐκὴ μου (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 2, 18.8) (= εὐχή, see I, 3.8.1) εἰς τὴν κεφαλὴν τοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 18.4; κ' ἔβαλεν φωνὴν ibid. 64.18–19 εἰς τὴν Αλυκὴν VOUSTR., Chron. A 98.14–15 εἶπε τοῦ τὴν ἀθιβολή Alex. Rim. 273 ἀπέστειλε δευτέρην ἐπιστολὴν Diig. Alex. F 152.1 (Lolos); ἐποίησαν πλέον ἐντροπὴν ibid.
 292.19–20
 εἰς τὴν φυλακὴν (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 120, 93.6) τὴν Κυριακὴν ἔστειλε γράμμα (17th c., Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.2, 72.5) μ' ἀπομονὴ Thysia Avr. 147; μόνο τὴν ψὴ ταλαιπωρᾶς ibid. 468 (= ψυχὴ, see I, 3.6.1.1) εἰς ὅλην τὴν γῆν (1605–32, Preveza?, LAMBROS 1910: 241, 184.4) τὴν ρακὴν πολλὰ τὴν ἔπινεν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.178 τὴν ἑλπήν μας PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1064 (< ἑλπίς; ed. ἑλπί) ἔκαμε μιὰ νεροποντὴ MATESIS, Chron. 66.3
 πρέπει νὰ ἡξεύρουν τὴν γραμματικὴν Don Kis. 162.14; μήτε με τὴν ευχὴν μου ibid. 176.9–10

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ίδα/-ήδα

Sporadically the imparisyllabic plural -ῆδες, which is employed with the noun ἀδελφή, may lead to the reanalysis of the noun as belonging to the old 3rd-declension nouns in -ίς, acc. -ίδα: ἐκονσομάρειζεν τὴν ἄνωθὲν τοῦ ἀδελφίδα (1628, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 510, 486.20).

VocativeFem.

Sg.	Voc.	-ή

The vocative is identical to the nominative:

ψυχή μου κακορρίζικε GLYKAS, Stichoi 198 ψυχή μου, αναπνοή μου Dig. E 228 άφέντη μου, κουρτέση μου, τιμή τών άνδρειωμένων Achil. L 1219 και έσύ, γαδάρου χαρμονή Poulol. 516 ώ δαιμόνων πομπή Spanos D 1143 σκέπη κι άπαντοχή μας FALIEROS, Thrinis 269 (ώ ...) γή της Ρόδου LIMEN., Than. Rod. 91 ζήση μου και πνοή μου Thysia Avr. 995; γυνή μου, δέ σοϋ τό λεγα ibid. 1127 (ώ ...) ζωή χαριτωμένη Fallidos 157 ώ γή, και άνοιξε άπό τούς τάφους κανέναν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.132 θαράπιο τοϋ προσώπου μου κ' έλπη τση παιδωμής μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.464 (< έλπης) ω τιμή και έσοπτρον του γένους της Ισπανίας! Don Kis. 190.15

Plural*NominativeFem.*

Pl.	Nom.	-ές

This ending was adopted from the 3rd declension long before the period covered by this Grammar (see the introduction to Chapter 2) and it is the most common ending for the nominative plural:

στολές ιερέων πέντε (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.127) οί ψυχές μας Dig. E 61; οί κεφαλές των ibid. 80 οί κορυφές Achil. N 771 οί άστραπές Achil. O 145; οί παραταγές μου ibid. 219 νά ξναιν ό τοίχος πιθαμές δώδεκα (1453, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1967: 1, 48.13) οί ποιές ήτον Κατακουζηνές VOUSTR., Chron. A 132.18 (= Καντακουζηνές) οί γραφές (16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.29) τοϋτες οί τέσσαρες βουλές έγίνηκαν Diig. Alex. E 141.20–1 (Lolos) οί άδελφές (1583, Athens?, MERTZIOS 1954: 1, 124.17) αί γλυκές φωνές MOREZINOS, Klini 79.13 όσες θέλου ταραχές κι άνέμοι νά γερθοϋσι CHORTATISIS, Erof. Dedic. 61 νά γενοϋ κάποιες γραφές (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.10) νά γράφονται οί θανές (1671, Cythera, PAPADAKI 2001: [a], 41.1) οί όποϊες δύο άδελφές (1680, Naxos, SIFONIU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 53, 205.2) ποιές τοϋ καιροϋ μεταβολές είν' τοϋτες; Zinon II.363 οί ουλές Don Kis. 161.14; οί πληγές ibid. 168.6

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-αί

The residual ending of the 1st declension is used in mixed- and higher-register texts and in more formal contexts:

μή κρότοι δειλιάσωσι, πληγαί σε ἐκφοβήσουν Dig. G I.135; περιγραφαί ἀτυχιῶν ibid. VI.334 ἀστραπαί καὶ βροντή (1326, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 41, 93.5–6) ἀπειλαί μὴν σὲ καταπτοήσουν Dig. E 1; ὥσαν βρονταί καὶ κτύποι ibid. 469 καὶ τοῦτο λέγουν αἱ γραφαί Diig. tetr. 68 στολαί, παραταγαί [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 129 αἱ δύο μου ἀδελφαί (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 116, 211.22) φαίνονται βουλωμένες αἱ κεφαλαί αὐτῶν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 339.29–30 αἱ ψυχαί ἐκεῖναι τῶν ἀγίων ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1319 αἱ πληγαί, οἱ δαρμοὶ ZYGOM., Synopsis 271.Π.71 καὶ τῶν ἀνέμων αἱ πνοαί Dig. A 4053 οἱ διδαχαί σιμά σου Vios Aisop. K 157.18; διὰ τῆς γλώσσης πολλαί ... ὄργαί ibid. 174.18–19 αἱ φωναί τῶν ἀνδρῶν Alex. Fyll. 31.27; αἱ ψυχαί τους ibid. 105.29

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ῆδες

This ending appears in texts from south-western areas (Crete and Cythera) and is lexically restricted to the nouns ἀδελφή/ἀδερφή and μαμμή (< μάμη; see acc. pl.). No examples have been found before the 16th c.:

ἀδελφῆδες τοῦ ἀνωγραμμένου (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 685a, 531.3) ἀδελφῆδες αὐτοῦ (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 145, 119.2) ἀδελφῆδες ἡμεῖς ἡ Ναχαμά καὶ ἡ Στασοῦ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 240, 232.3) οἱ δύο ἀδερφῆδες (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 74, 57.12–13) ἀδελφῆδες τῶν ἄνωθεν παπάδω (1628, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 510, 485.10) οἱ ἄνωθε ἀδελφῆδες (1645, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 7, 361.20)

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-άδες

Imparissyllabic -άδες appears in writing from the 14th c. onwards (see the acc. pl. example from the Chronicle of Morea, below). It occurs in texts from southern and western areas and the Aegean (cf. the other cases), especially with the noun ἀδελφή/ἀδερφή, in line with the tendency to employ this ending with nouns denoting status or family relations of females (cf. γραιά, 2.11.4; ἀνηψιά and θεία, 2.11.5; μάνα and χήρα, 2.11.2). Its use with other nouns (κεφαλή and others) is especially common in Cypriot texts (cf. acc. pl. below, and see 2.11.1.1):

οἱ δύο ἀδελφάδες Assizes B 266.12 αἱ ἀδελφάδες Pol. Tr. 4217 app. crit. (BV) ἦτον ἀδελφάδες τοῦ κυρ-Γιώργη (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 72, f.Ir.3) οἱ δύο κεφαλάδες τοῦ ἀγίου Κυπριανοῦ καὶ Ἰουστίνης MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 38.13 καὶ δὴ ἀδελφάδες εὐμορφες Alosis 214 ὁποῦ εἶναι τρεῖς Μαρίες ἀδελφάδες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 355.21 οἱ ἀδελφάδες τῆς Κερῆς P&N Diath. 3990

GenitiveFem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν

The normal ending for the genitive plural is -ῶν:

διὰ πλῆθος ἀρετῶν Dig. G III.152 τῶν δώδεκα Ἀρετῶν Liv. E 1015; τὰ λόγια τῶν γραφῶν μου ibid. 1641 ὁ βρῶμος τῶν πληγῶν σου Diig. tetr. 826 καὶ εἰς τὸ σκολεῖον τῶν πολιτικῶν ἐγύρεψα κ' ἐμπῆκα SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 60 (< adj. πολιτικός) τὲς κόπιες τῶν γραφῶν ὅπου ἔπεψεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 298.9 σὺν μπασῶν νομῶν (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIAZI 1998: 13, 30.9) τῶν σοφιστικῶν παραβολῶν Vios Aisop. D 236.9–10 κατὰ τοὺς μόδους ... τῶν γραφῶν μου (1522, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 65, 122.29–30) ἀπὸ Ἀνατολῶν ἕως Δυσμῶν Diig. Alex. E 211.15 (Lolos) πολλῶν πληγῶν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 427.33 ψυχῶν παρηγορία Dig. A 3281 ἡ δικαιοσύνη εἶναι μητέρα καὶ κυρία ὅλων τῶν ἀρετῶν Anthos Ch. I 283.46 παραβάτης τῶν ἐντολῶν τοῦ Θεοῦ IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali Prol. 7 αὐτονῶν τῶν γραφῶν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 128.14

Deletion of final /n/ may occur in texts from Crete: βρύση ὀλωνῶ τῶν ἀρετῶν CHORTATIS, Erof. V.458.

The fact that addition of -(ν)ε (see I, 2.6.3.1), which occurs regionally with most genitives plural, has not been found in the texts examined should probably be seen as a coincidence.

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ήδων ! -ηδῶν

This ending has been found in texts from Crete, and is likely to occur in texts from Cythera as well (cf. nom. pl.): καὶ τῶν ἀδελφῆδων τοῦ (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 798, 695.8); ἡ ζωὴ τῶν ἄνωθεν ἀδελφῆδων (1622, Crete, DETORAKIS 1992: 2, 290.17); τῶν ἀλλῶ τριῶ ἀδελφῆδων (1643, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 683, 664.19–20).

One example with a shift of the stress to the ultimate has been found in a document from Chios. The shift of the stress may be explained by the fact that historically the majority of feminine nouns have oxytone genitives plural, though, as the edition does not provide facsimiles or information on the state of the documents, it cannot be excluded entirely that the accent is editorial:¹¹¹ κ(αὶ) τῶν ἀδελφεῖδων μου (1643, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 4, 99.18). A similar form occurs of the substantivized adjective συγγενής (for which see 3.3.3): καὶ τῶν συγγενιδῶν σου Eisit. f.5r.4.

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ἄδων

¹¹¹ Any connection with the rare LA form ἀδελφιδῶν (see 2.12, introduction) seems rather far-fetched.

This imparisyllabic ending is used especially with the noun ἀδελφή/ἀδερφή in southern and western areas and the Aegean, by analogy with other nouns denoting status or family relations of females (cf. γράϊα, 2.11.4; ἀνηψιά and θεία, 2.11.5; μάννα and χήρα, 2.11.2). It also occurs with nouns denoting days of the week (cf. acc. pl.) and liturgical terms such as ἑορτή and σαρακοστή. In texts from Cyprus it is likely to have been employed with other nouns as well (cf. the other cases and see also 2.11.1.1):

- περὶ τῶν δύο ἀδελφάδων Assizes A 18.29 τῶν δύων του ἀδελφάδων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 54.6 τὲς λειψοπροικίες τῶν ἀδελφάδων (1506, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 475, 339.15) τῶν δύων του ἀδερφάδων (1554, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 157, 206.11) (for δύων see 6.1.2) μὲ ἀνδρᾶδες τῶν ἀδελφάδων (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: B, 462.580) τῶν ἑορτάδων καὶ σαρακοστάδων (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 59.32) τῶν αὐτῶν δύο ἀδελφάδων (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 53, 205.8) τῶν ἄνωθεν ἀδελφάδων (1687, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 91, 53.4) τῶν ἀδελφάδων τους (1704, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 64, 81.24–5)

Accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ές

This accusative ending pre-dates the LMedG period by many centuries (see the introduction to Chapter 2) and is the normal ending throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

- πρὸς τὲς ἀγίες τοῦ Θεοῦ ταῦτες μονές (1102, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 2, 550.17) ἀλλαγές δύο (1138?, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 14, 102.21) τὲς μοναχές (1140, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IV: 2, 117.13) τὲς κεφαλές Dig. G I.232 θέλε μικρές ἀποδοχές Flor. L 1130 (Cupane) τὲς περιοχές τῆς θαλάσσου (1481, Rhodes?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 2, 204.24) περὶ φόνους, κλοπές Assizes A 23.15 διὰ τρεῖς ἀφορμές ἐνὶ νᾶ φύγωμεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 234.10–11 ὅλες τὲς λαμπρές (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 172.26) (< adj. λαμπρός) ἑκατὸ ζυγές ἀνακαράδες Diig. Alex. F 296.4–5 (Lolos) τὲς ἡγές / τὲς ἰ-γές Pent. Gen. 26.3 (rare plural of γῆ) τὲς ἀφορμές Pist. kekoim. 8; ἀποῦ διδαχίς ibid. 12 (see I, 3.8.2.1); ἀπ' ἀρετὴν εἰς ἀρετὲς ibid. 16 εἰς τὲς γραφές μας (1571, Mani, CHASIOITIS 1970: 6.1, 242.23) τὴν γυναῖκα, τῆς ὁποίας τὲς ἀρετὲς ἐδιηγούντανε MOREZINOS, Klini 58.7 μὲ ἀστραπές καὶ μὲ βροντές Diig. Alex. Sem. B 665 τον Δεκέμβριον ἔχομεν τόσες εορτές Theophr. Char. 121.11 στέλνει ὁ Θεὸς τὲς πολλές του ὀργές PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §6.18 μὲ πορδές αὐγὰ δὲ βάφουν Paroim. (Warner) 104.4 μὲ κάθε λογιῆ μηχανές καὶ συνέργεια EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.7–8 τὲς ἀγαπητικές τους Don Kis. 48.5 (< adj. ἀγαπητικός); νὰ ἀκούομεν βοές, βροντές ibid. 173.21–2

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-άς

The residual accusative ending -άς is used throughout the period covered by this Grammar in mixed- and higher-register texts and more formal contexts:

εἰς δεσποτικὰς ἑορτὰς ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 214.9 συνταγὰς γὰρ ποιήσατε Dig. G III.43
 τὰς ὕβρεις καὶ ἐπιβουλὰς Ptoch. IV 464 φωνὰς ἀγρίους ΚΑΝΑΝΟΣ, Diig. 63.267 τὶς εὐχὰς (1417, Crete, LAMBROS 1895: 1, 586.32) ὤμωσαν εἰς τὰς ἀγίας γραφὰς (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.15) τὰς δύο σεβασμίας μονὰς (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 27, 61.13) εἰς μάχας καὶ παραταγὰς Achil. O 173 ποντικοῦ βουλὰς κόψει κάττης Paroim. H 87 τὰς ἡδονὰς ... τὰς καλλονὰς [ANDR. PALAIOI.], Kallim. 279 εἰς πόσας γνώμας καὶ μορφὰς Plani kosmou 126 τὰς κραυγὰς ἐκείνων LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 405 να κάμνουσι τιμωρίες καὶ σφαγὰς ἀδίκους Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 58 γραφὰς δημοσίας χρειώδεις (1548, Corfu, PANGRATIS 1999/2000: 1, 42.3) ἀπὸ τὰς συνεχεῖς βροντὰς ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 1306 τὰς ορμὰς Don Kis. 158.10–11; τὰς επαναστροφὰς ibid. 159.18

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ῆδες

This imparisyllabic plural of ἀδελφή and μαμή has been found in texts from Crete from the 16th c. onwards. It is likely to have had a slightly wider geographical spread (see the nom. pl. example from Cythera, above):

τὲς ἀδελφῆδες μου (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 685, 530.29–30) δύο μαμηδες ἤρρηκε ὁ Ἰωσήφ P&N Diath. 2080; εἶχε ἄλλες δυὸ ἀδελφῆδες ibid. 2492 ἀπὸ τὰς αὐτὰς ἀδελφῆδες (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 798, 696.24) τὲς ἄνωθέν του γυναικαδελφῆδες (1634, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 687, 668.16) ἐχωρίζανε ἀδερφοὺς ἀπὸ ἀδερφῆδες Apok. Theot. 493.159

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδες ἢ -άδας

The imparisyllabic plural ending -άδες is adopted with the noun ἀδελφή/ἀδερφή in southern and western areas and the Aegean, following a trend of employing this ending with nouns denoting status or family relations of females (cf. γραία, 2.11.4; ἀνηψιά and θεία, 2.11.5; μάνα and χήρα, 2.11.2). It also appears in a larger geographical area with certain other nouns, denoting the names of days such as Παρασκευή and Κυριακή, and ἑορτή in a liturgical sense (cf. the other cases). In texts from Cyprus and possibly elsewhere (Cyclades?) the ending is used with other nouns as well: αὐλή, ἀφορμή, γραφή, κεφαλή, φυλακή (see 2.11.1.1):

τὲς δύο της ἀδελφᾶδες Chron. Mor. H 6056 μετὰ τὲς ἀδελφάδες του Pol. Tr. 6081 τὲς τρεῖς τους ἀδελφάδες (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 70, f.Iv.16) τὲς δύο του ἀδελφάδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 52.24–5; ἀπὸ τὲς φυλακάδες ibid. 204.31–2; τὲς κεφαλάδες κάτω καὶ τὲς μοῦττες ἀπάνω ibid. 484.20–1 εἰς τες αὐλάδες τους ἀφέντες VOUSTR., Chron. A 14.14; κ' ἐκόψαν τες κεφαλάδες τους ibid. 102.10–11 ἀφ' τὲς ἀδελφάδες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 198 ἔκτισα σπίτια, αὐλάδες Fior 76.26; μετὴν μάναν του οὐ μὲ τὲς ἀδερφάδες του ibid. 135.20 με τες ἀδελφάδες του Anthos Ch. A 193.15 (ὅσοι ἔχετε ...) φρόνιμες ἀδελφάδες VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 4 τὲς ἀφορμάδες Pist. kekoim. 380–1 (νὰ ἱστορήσει ...) ἑορτάδες (1590, Corfu, KARYDIS 2004/06: 3, 49.8) ἔαν πέσει εἰς δύο ἀδελφάδες ἡ γυναικαδελφάδες (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 418.850); νὰ νηστεύσει ... γ' Παρασκευάδες (ibid. 428.1360) (for addition of /γ/ see I, 3.5.2.2) τσι Κυριακάδες (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 276, 267.6) μετὲς ἀδελφάδες αὐτῆς (1674, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 9, 222.10) ἀδελφάδες δὲν ἔχω καμίαν (1683, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 56, 266.56) τῖς ἀδελφάδες (1693, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 32, 137.10–11) ἔστειλές μου γραφάδες KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 571 γυναικες ὅπου πᾶν Κυριακάδες (1716, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 475.13)

In texts belonging to a mixed or higher register, the more formal-looking ending -άδας is sometimes employed:

τὰς ἀγίας Τετραδοπαρασκευάδας (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 26.182) εἰς ὅλας τὰς αὐλάδας Assizes B 350.11 γ' Κυριακάδας τὸ ἄρτυμα οὐ μὴ φάγω STAFIDAS, Iatrosyf. 12.334

Vocative

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-ές -ῆδες -άδες

The vocative is identical to the nominative and shows the same variation. Predictably only a limited number of examples has been found:

Ροδογυνή, Ρωξάνη, ἀδελφές μου Alex. Rim. 1481 ὦ τιμές SOFIANOS, Grammar 40.12 ὦ ἀρετές GERMANO, Grammar 58.28 ἀδελφίδες μου MOREZINOS, Klini 224.27 ὦ ἀδελφάδες μου γλυκές FALIEROS, Thrinis 37

2.12.2 Paroxytone Nouns in -η

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	κόρη	-ης
Gen.	κόρης
Acc.	κόρη(ν)
Voc.	κόρη	-ης
Plural
Nom.	κόρες	κόραι -άδες
Gen.	κορῶν	κόρων -άδω(ν)
Acc.	κόρες	κόρας -άδες	-εις
Voc.	κόρες	κόραι -άδες

Singular*NominativeFem.*

Sg.	Nom.	-η

This is the normal ending for the nominative singular:

- ἐθήκη ξύλινος (1142, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 7, 75.46) (= θήκη, see I, 2.6.1.1) ή ζάλη τούτη νά διαβῆ GLYKAS, Stichoi 314 καί ή μέση ἔδαπανᾶτον Arm. 86 ή κόρη τόν ἐδέκτηκεν Achil. L 1049 καί πέση ή μύτη σου Spanos D 310 η τοσαύτη πλάνη Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 244–5 ή διαθήκη ή πρώτη νά εἶναι ἴουλάδα (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.24) λόγχη μία σιδερένια (1557, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 11, κζ'.55) ζέστη πῶς εἶναι μπορετὸ τὸ χιόνι νά γεννήσει CHORTATSI, Erof. I.9
 ἔπεκε στάκτη ἓνα δάκτυλο (1605–32, Preveza?, LAMBROS 1910: 241, 184.4) (for ἔπεκε see III, 2.2.1.10) ποιά τύχη σ' ἔφερε Thysia Avr. 1059; ή χάρη σου ibid. 1143 (< χάρις) ή ὀλόττη ἄσπρα σκ' ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. I §30.7–8; ἀμή ἦτον ... πολλή ἐμπιστοσύνη ibid. I §32.23–4 ή ζωντανοσύνη τοῦ νοῦ Bertoldos 4.31 ή πάρτη μου (1656, Skyros, ANDONIADES 1983: 6, 164.28) (< πάρτε) αυτείνη ἡ δάφνη ὅπου βαστᾷς Zinon III.62 ἐρχομένη καμμία ὑψηλοτάτην δικαιοσύνη (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 743, 1013.14–15) ἐχάθην ἔτοια νιότη KORNAROS, Erot. V.16 (< νεότης); μὰ κάποια ἀγάπη ἐκίνησε ibid. V.113 ἐγενέθηκε μεγάλος σκοτωμός καὶ φοβερὴ ἀμάχη EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.11–12 ἡ ἕτερη ἄκρη SOU MAKIS, Rebelio 34.29 (< ἄκρα)

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ης

Nominatives in -ης occur with certain nouns such as τύχη, ὕλη, Κρήτη and Ἀφροδίτη (cf. XANTHOUDIDIS 1915: 438). The first examples are datable to the 15th c.:¹¹² τὴν σ' ἔδωκεν ἡ τύχης σου Achil. L 1041 (ms) (ed. τύχη σου) πῶς ἡ Ἀφροδίτης τὸν γεννᾷ Liv. α 326 app. crit. (P) καὶ τί ἤφερεν ἡ τύχης Chron. Toc. 1155 αὐτὴ ἡ Ἀφροδίτης Achil. O 4 ἡ Ἀφροδίτης ἔστεκε Alosis 423 κ' ἐσὲν διώκει <ἡ> τύχης μου Imb. Rim. 217 ἐκ τοῦ θανάτου ἐβγάζει με ἡ ἄτυχή μου τύχης Byz. Il. 441 τὴν ζημιά, τὴν σ' ἔδωκε ἡ τύχης FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 7 ἡ Κρήτης ἀποκρίνεται SKLAVOS, Symf. 179 γιὰ ὅδε πῶς εκατήφερεν ἡ τύχης νὰ τον σύρει Apoll. Rim. A 107 διότις τύχης τό ἔφερε Alex. Rim. 1382 ἡ τύχης ἀμποδίζει CHORTATISIS, Erof. IV.285 ἡ ὕλης τῶν νοσημάτων VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 99; ἡ ρόδα τύχης κράζεται id., Istor. Filarg. 3 ἐξέβη ἡ πανθαύμαστος ἐκείνη Ἀφροδίτης Diig. Alex. Sem. B 247 ἡ τύχης τους ἐπήγαινε ἀπὸ κακὸ εἰς χειρότερο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 60.28–9 ὅπου πολέματον ἡ Κρήτης (1646–7, Patmos?/Crete?, LAMBROS 1910: 266, 190.3) ἡ πλανεμένη τύχης IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 112 Κρήτης ἡ φημισμένη DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 2 εἰς ἄλλον στάτον εὐρίσκεται ἡ Κρήτης (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 37.48) μὰ ἡ τύχης τότες θέλει BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 322.20 ἡ τύχης ἔτζί τό ἔφερεν Thrinis Kypr. 459

Genitive

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ης

The genitive normally ends in -ης:

ἀπὸ τῆς εἰς ἀλλήλους ἔρης NIKON, Logos 23 684.17 app. crit. (S) (< ἔρις, -ιδος) τῆς κοινότης (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.3) (< κοινότης, -ότητος)

¹¹² A comparable but not identical development can be seen in the alternative form γῆς for γῆ (see 2.17.2), which, however, is used for all cases of the singular, and sporadically the plural, and has thus become an indeclinable variant of γῆ. CHATZIDAKIS (1905/07: A 654) explains γῆς as deriving from the frequent collocation κατὰ γῆς. The same explanation, however, cannot apply to τύχης, ὕλης, Κρήτης and Ἀφροδίτης. In the case of Ἀφροδίτης, there is perhaps some influence from the name of the planet Venus, which in the LMedG period may be masculine. It occurs e.g. in the London version of the Achilleid. In the other cases there is perhaps some analogical influence from the paradigm in -ις (for which see 2.12.3).

δίχως καμίας ανάγκης Dig. E 1193 τῆς ωραιότης ERMON., Ilias 2.241 γλυκείας ἀγάπης Liv. V 3635 τῆς θαυμαστῆς τῆς κόρης Achil. L 570 τοιοῦτης καλοσύνης Assizes B 301.5
 τῆς ἀρσενικότης | ... τῆς γυναικότης FALIEROS, Ist. On. 501–2 πουλάκι της σπλαχνιότης Laikos Akath. 3 χάρην της ταπεινοφροσύνης Anthos Ch. G 203.11; της υψηλότης την ὀρεξιν ibid. G 203.13–14 ἐτούτης τῆς τέχνης (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.7) εἰς τὸ νησὶν τῆς Κρήτης (1504, Constantinople, HUNGER 1970: 362.12) τῆς πάρτης (1549, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 8, 46.13) (< πάρτε < Ital. parte) μετὰ θήκης ξυλένιας (1598, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 27 Suppl., 145.36) τῆς ἀδελφосύνης μου ὁληνῆς (1641, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 239, 193.34) μετὲς τρύπες τῆς μύτης πλατεῖες Bertoldos 6.9 ὅλα τὰ στραβὰ ψωμιὰ τῆς νύφης Paroim. (Warner) 92.2 ταύτης τῆς κοινότης (1663, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 28, 31.14) μετ' ἐντάμωσεν ἕνας ἐπίσκοπος τῆς Μάνης (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 507.23–4) τῆς μιᾶς πάρτης (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 393, 609.36) (< πάρτε) χωρίς γράμμα τῆς μακαριότης του (1692, Bucharest, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 4, 54.172–3)

Deletion of final /s/ occurs in texts from Crete before sibilants and affricates (see I, 3.7.1.1): τῆς πανιερότη σου (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.3).

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-η(ν)

The accusative ends in -η and occurs with or without final /n/:

τὴν ποσότην (1257, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 33, 457.17) εἰς κούρτην τοῦ αὐθέντου (1397, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 6, 184.8) τοῦ κράτου σου τὴν μάμμη Ptoch. (Maiuri) 22 καὶ ἤμπεν εἰς τὴν μέσην Achil. L 438; τὴν Ἀφροδίτην τὴν φρικτὴν ibid. 575 παρὰ πᾶσαν γὰρ ὀξύτην ERMON., Ilias 20.125 ἀσηκώθη εἰς βεβράνη (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 4, 151.1) (< βεμβράνη < μεμβράνη) εἰς τὴν ἀδελφοτέκνην της MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 60.31; καὶ ἄς κοιμήση τὴν κακοσύνην του ibid. 168.19 ἡ στράτα τοῦ βρεφιοῦ εἰς τὴν κοπελλοσύνην του Fior 149.21 ἀμὴ ἤκαμα καὶ ἤκαμε καὶ ἀγάπη (1501, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 5, 26.11) τὴν Μπέφτη ἀργὰ (1518, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 12, 56.16 (= Πέμπτη, see I, 3.8.1) πιάνει μίαν κεφαλὴν γαδάρου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.36 (< κεφαλή) ρινοκοπεῖσθω, νὰ κόψουν τὴν μύτην του ZYGOM., Synopsis 214.K.49 τὴν πάρτη ἐτούτη (1594, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 153, 278.35) (< πάρτε) παρεκαλῶ σε, Χάρο, κάμε μου μία χάρη Nov. II 162.29 (< χάρις) προσκυνοῦ τὴ μπανιερότη σου (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 3, 169.2–3) τοῦ ἀνάστασης τὴ σκόλη Thysia Avr. 1134 εἰς ὅλην τὴν οἰκουμένην (1670, Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.1, 72.1–2) (< part. οἰκούμενος, see 3.2.1) τὴν ὑψηλότη σου (1689, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 30, 136.22) διὰ κάποια ἀνάγκη τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1691, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 89, 214.14) δίχως προσθήκην Don Kis. 176.12–13

Vocative

Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-η ἰ -ης

The vocative is identical to the nominative and shows the same lexical variation where the forms in -ης are concerned:

θλίβομαι, κόρη εὐγενική Achil. L 626 ὦ νιότη Love poems V 477
 (εἰπέ ...) δούλη καὶ σκλάβα τῶν Φραγκῶν Poulol. 328 σκέπη κι ἄπαντοχὴ μας FALIEROS, Thrinos 269 κ' ἐσύ, σελήνη τ' οὐρανοῦ Thrinos Konst. (Zoras) 8 ὦ γνώμη τυφλωμένη CHORTATIS, Erof. Prol. 121; κ' ἐσύ, Ἀφροδίτη μου θεά ibid. III.231 νύφη, ἄναψε κερί νὰ σέ ψειρίσω Paroim. (Warner) 92.1 μούρη γαϊδουρωμένη Soummakis, Past. Fid. G5r.24 ὦ Κρήτη, ποῦ εἶν' τὰ πλούτη σου DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 1143 Φροσύνη μου, Φροσύνη μου, ἄφισ τὰ παραμύθια KORNAROS, Erot. I.1521 Κρήτης, ἡ Ρόδο ἐθλίβηκεν SKLAVOS, Symf. 189 ω τύχης, ὅδεν ἐχόρτασες τὰ μῶχεις κατωμένα; Apoll. Rim. E 301 (same in A and V) ὦ τύχης ἐναντία! Chron. Tourk. Soult. 91.14 Κρήτης, ποτάμια κίνησε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 195.9
 Κρήτης, τὰ χεῖλη μου δειλιοῦν DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 1135

Plural

Nominative

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες

This ending was borrowed from the 3rd declension long before the period covered by this Grammar (see the introduction to Chapter 2):

οἱ Σκάφες (ca. 1050, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972b: 185.330) παλάμες δύο ὀκτάφωτες (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 24.139) ὀδύνες τὴν καρδίαν μου | κατέτρωναν Eisit. f.8r.3–4 καὶ οἱ πιδεξιοσύνες σου Achil. L 1271 παρθένες κόρες εἴμεθεν Flor. L 835 (Cupane) οἱ ρύμνες Pol. Tr. 1246 οἱ κόρες τῶν ὀμμάτων σου Diig. tetr. 149 οἱ εὐμορφοσύνες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 56; ἄψεγες κόρες ἦσαν ibid. 114 εἶναι πῆχες τριακόσες πενήντα (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 94.55) (< ὁ πῆχυς)
 τοῦτες οἱ πῆχες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 188.23
 ποῦ τόσες γνώσες | καὶ τέχνες CHORTATIS, Erof. Prol. 24–5; μάχες καὶ πρίκες καὶ ζηλειές ibid.
 II.223
 οἱ ψηλότες TROILLOS, Rodol. Prol. Mell.84 (Aposkiti) οἱ γλυκότες Pist. voskos III 6.369 εἶναι διάφορες γνώμες Don Kis. 159.30

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-αι

The residual ending of the 1st declension can be found in mixed- and higher-register texts, and in more formal contexts:

ἐλεημοσύναι καὶ πίσται (1192, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 11, 634.6) νὰ παύσουν αἱ ὀδύναι μου GLYKAS, Stichoi 163 διὰ τῆς γλώσσης πολλὰ μάχαι Vios Aisop. K 174.18–19

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-άδες

The imparisyllabic -άδες plural is employed lexically with the noun νύ(μ)φη, in line with various other nouns that denote family relations or status of females (cf. 2.11.2.1, 2.11.4, 2.12.1): οἱ δόλιες σου οἱ νυφάδες Spaneas Z 470; οἱ νυφάδες του KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 188.7; οἱ γιοί του καὶ νυφάδες P&N Diath. 1434; ὥσὰν νυμφάδες ἐστολισμένες (17th c., Athos, MEYER 1894: XVI, 221.35).

Genitive

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν ἢ -ων

The genitive plural ends in /on/, and the historical shift of the stress to the ultimate is often observed:

τῶν ὀδυνῶν παρηγορίαν Dig. G V.51 ἀνέβην μέχρι νεφελῶν Liv. E 2339 περὶ τῶν παρακαταθηκῶν Assizes A 11.5; περὶ τῶν διαθηκῶν ibid. 15.31 τῶν συνθηκῶν ἐκείνων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 765 ἕως τῶν νεφελῶν τοῦ οὐρανοῦ Diig. Alex. V 71.6 τὰ σχολεῖα τῶν ἐπιστημῶν Bertoldin. 106.30–1 μετὰ ... καλῶν συνθηκῶν MAKOLAS, Ioust. 423.17

Occasionally, stress shift is absent, not only in versified texts:

σκελῶν, κνήμων καὶ νεύρων KAMAT., Astron. 1571 τῶν τέχνων Pol. Tr. 1670; εὐμορφουσύνων ibid. 12477 app. crit. (A) τὴν βυζαστρίαν τῶν κόρων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 228.11 τῶν κακοσύνων σου Pist. kekoim. 657 δακρύων τε καὶ λύπων Dig. A 4367 μετὰ πολλῶν ὀδύνων PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §9.25–6

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-άδω(ν)

The imparisyllabic plural is employed lexically with the noun νύ(μ)φη, as with several other nouns that denote family relations or status of females (cf. 2.11.2.1, 2.11.4, 2.12.1). In the example found it occurs without final /n/ (see I, 3.7.2.2.1): τῶν τριῶν του νυφάδω (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 257, 355.12).

Accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες

This ending, borrowed from the 3rd declension long before the period covered by this Grammar (see the introduction to Chapter 2), is the most common for the accusative plural:

μάχες δριμοτάτες Pol. Tr. 58 app. crit. (AX); πολλές ρύμνες ibid. 2710 app. crit. (BRV) μέ κόρες ἐμνοστούτσικες Flor. L 769 (Cupane) ὅσες διαθήκες ἐπροεποίησα (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 44, 75.8) καὶ τὲς ἀράχνες βγάνει FALIEROS, Ist. On. 192 εἰς τὲς βαρέες μου ἀνάγκες DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 3138 τὲς χάρες του τὲς τόσες SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 3 (< χάρις, with Acc. pl. χάριτας in AG) εἰς τὲς τέσσαρες κόχες Diig. Alex. V 73.21–2 (= κόγχες) τὲς μοῦττες ἀπάνω MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 484.21 τὲς κόρες τὲς ἀνέγλυτες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 27 εἰς ἀγκάλες νὰ σεβῶ Achil. N 1052 ἀπὸ χωρίον τὲς Νύμφες (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 18, 34.3) ὅλες τὲς κρουδελοσύνες Fior 99.26 (< Occit. adj. crudel, see HONNORAT, Lex. s.v.) τὶς πόρνες VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 210 εἰς ὅσες καταδίκες ἔχουσι θάνατον ZYGOM., Synopsis 199.Θ.6 εἰς ἔτοιες γνῶμες MOREZINOS, Klini 30.13 τοὶ δικοσύνες διασκορπῶ CHORTATIS, Erof. Prol. 18; τοῖ ἀγάπες τοῖ ἄπρεπες ibid. II.101 τὲς ζάλες τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1601, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 31, 111.7) τον Δεκέμβριον ἔχομεν τόσες εορτές, καὶ την Λαμπρὴν τόσες σκόλες Theophr. Char. 121.11–12 κι ἐκεῖνα που ἔχαν δύναμιν, λόγγες καὶ τα βερτόνια IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6538 πανδρεύοντας τὲς ἄλλες κόρες (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 138.27)

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

The residual accusative ending -ας is used throughout the period covered by this Grammar, but only in mixed- and higher-register texts and more formal contexts:

τὰς αὐταδέλφας (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 26.206) μέ τὰς μακρέας τὰς μύτας Ptoch. IV 56 ὀδύνας τὰς τοσαύτας Spaneas Va 15 εἰς τὰς βαρέας ἀνάγκας Dig. E 1736 τὰς ἀβαστάκτους λύπας μου Liv. V 768 εἰς πόσας γνῶμας καὶ μορφὰς Plani kosmou 126 ἀγάπας πολλὰς καὶ καλὰς Spanos A 284 τόσας λύπας καὶ πικρίας ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 102.4

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-άδες

The noun νύ(μ)φη may adopt the imparisyllabic -άδες plural, just like various other nouns that denote family relations or status of females (cf. 2.11.2.1, 2.11.4, 2.12.1):

νά θωροῦν ὑπαντρες τὲς νυφάδες BERGADIS, Apok. V 230 (same in A) κι ἄρπῳ νυφάδες καὶ γαμπρούς CHORTATSI, Erof. Prol. 84 γαμπρούς μὲ τὲς νυφάδες MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2842 γαμπρούς μὲ τὲς νυμφάδες PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1472

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	εις

Sporadically, the ending of former 3rd-declension nouns in -ις/-η (see below) is employed: τὰς ἐλύπεις μου Liv. E 904 (for the prothetic /e/ see I, 2.6.1.1).

Vocative

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	(-ες) † (-άδες) † (-αι)

The vocative is normally identical to the nominative. However, no examples have been found.

2.12.3 Paroxytone Nouns in -ις/-η

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	φύση	φύσις
Gen.	φύσης	φύσεως	-έου
Acc.	φύση(ν)/φύσι(ν)
Voc.	φύση/φύσι	φύσις
Plural
Nom.	φύσες	φύσεις	-αι
Gen.	φύσεων		-ῶν † -ων
Acc.	φύσες	φύσεις -ας
Voc.	φύσες	φύσεις

Singular*NominativeFem.*

Sg.	Nom.	-η

The adoption of this ending of the -η paradigm with nouns originally in -ις pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar (see the introduction to this section (2.12)). In manuscripts and older editions the ending is sometimes spelled with <ι> instead of <η>:

ή παρούσα πράση (1123, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 4, 60.20) εκείνη ή δόσι Assizes B 406.20 έχάθηκεν ή θλίψη της Achil. L 1 μεγάλη θνήση ἐγένετο Pol. Tr. 2733a app. crit. (R); όπου θλίψη τούς ἤλθεν ibid. 6555 το χῶμα νά 'ναι βρώση του CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 94 καί ἦτον ὕβρη μεγάλη (1496, Pesaro, MAVROEIDI-POUMIDI 1971: 3, 132.51) ή φιλεμένη κρίση FALIEROS, Ist. On. 507; ή φύση τους ibid. 705; ή γνώση μας id., Thrinis 44 ἀλλά οὐδὲ βρύση εὐρίσκεται DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 76 τίτσια εἶναι τοῦ χρουσαφιοῦ ή φύση Cyp. Canz. 76.8. ἦτον χρήση να συντύχει VOUSTR., Chron. A 20.19 και να σγομπιάζει η ράχη του σαν τον λαιμό της χήνας Kakop. 140 ή λάμψη του KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.32 τούτη ή κρίση ή φοβερή P&N Diath. 4690 ἐπὰ ή γλυκιά μου ζήση Thysia Avr. 407; ή ὄψη σου ibid. 1060 βρύση, ή GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. fontana; σκόνη, ή ibid. s.v. polvere (< κόνις) ή πόλη KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 109.19 ή ὄψη του ἀλλάζει DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 44

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ις

The old ending -ις of the nominative is found throughout the period covered by this Grammar, but mainly in mixed-register texts and more formal contexts:

ή καθαμία τάξις συγγενείας (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.600) ἐπιάστη ἐτότε ή Πόλις Chron. Mor. H 860 ή λειψις τοῦ ψωμίου Ptoch. III 273.5 app. crit. (P) ή κτίσις CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 22 θέλει γένει κρίσις (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 84.18–19) (= κρίσις, see I, 3.9.1) ἔδε θλίψις Achil. N 1725 ή τάξις τούς Τεμπλιῶτες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 14.38; δεύτερον εἶνε ή γνώσις ibid. 328.8–9 ή θραύσις αὕτη τοῦ πικροτάτου θανάτου (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 72, 136.2); καθώς θέλει ή κρίσις τῆς λαμπροτάτης μας Αὐθεντίας (1524, ibid. 86, 164.123–4) πρώτη κλίσις SOFIANOS, Grammar 38.17; ή φύσις id., Paidag. 99.22 καί βρύσις ὑπερκάθαρη Diig. Alex. Sem. B 691 κι ή φύσις δὲν τὸ θέλει Thysia Avr. 44 ὄψις, ή GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. aspetto; δύσις, ή ibid. s.v. occidente ή φύσις μου εἶναι τέτοιας λογιῆς Bertoldos 10.24 ἐὰν εἶναι μεσαιῶς φύσεως κρᾶσις PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §7.71

ἡ ὄψις του ἐσβήσθην Thrinós Kypr. 76 ἡ πολυανθρωπότερος πόλις VATATSI, Periig. I 475

Genitive

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ης

This ending appeared in the former -ις paradigm long before the LMedG period (see introduction, 2.12). It is the most common ending throughout the period covered by this Grammar. As some scholars, among whom Gignac and Dawkins, (mistakenly) consider this to be the use of the nominative in -ις as genitive, these forms are sometimes spelled with <ι>:

τῆς ἀνατολῆς καὶ δύσης (981, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 8, 6.20) τῆς βρύσης (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 40.145) περὶ τῆς πράξης (1334, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 46, 145.15) τῆς Κωνσταντίνου Πόλης Chron. Mor. H 6274 ἀπὲ τῆς βρύσης τὸ νερόν Liv. E 2682 ἀπὸ μεγάλης θλίψης Pol. Tr. 1215; τῆς πόλης ibid. 3288 app. crit. (A); μίας ράχης ibid. 10928 τῆς κρίσης Assizes B 277.13 τὸ νερόν τῆς βρύσης (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 14, 50.40–1) κι ἄλλα θηριά τῆς φύσης CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 21
 ἐκ πίστεως καὶ κρίσης Assizes A 25.3–4 δὲν ἔν' αὐτὸς τῆς φταίσης FALIEROS, Thrinós 326 πολλοὶ ἔνε τέτοιας πράξης LIMEN., Than. Rod. 566 τοῦτο το σαλμίτριο τ' ἐκείνης τῆς βράσης (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.39–40) τῆς φύσης FALIEROS, Log. did. 23; τῆς θλίψης τὸ φαρμάκι id., Thrinós 34 τῆς βρωμισμένης τοὺς τάξις MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 12.27; οἱ ἄρχοντες τῆς δύσεως ibid. 154.35 χαῖρε ἄκουσμα τῆς Ἀνατολῆς καὶ ὄνομα τῆς Δύσεως Diig. Alex. Sem. S 779 γιέ μου, πνοή τσῆ ζήσης μου Thysia Avr. 781 τὸ ἀγάπης καὶ τσῆ φύσης TROILOS, Rodol. I.362 (Aposkiti)

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-εως

The old ending of the genitive can be found throughout the period under review, though mainly in mixed-register texts and in more formal phrases and contexts:¹¹³ ἀπὸ δύσεως (1178, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 12, 111.18) πόλεως Κροτόνου (1199, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 247, 336.28) πόλεως καὶ ἐνορίας Πάφου (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 39.27); τῆς σκέψεως (ibid. 39.39) νὰ ἐξεχειμάσουσιν ἐκεῖ εἰς τῆς Πόλεως τὴν χώραν Chron. Mor. H 583 ¹¹³In a document from Cyprus written in the Latin script we find the following form: tis poleo (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 71, f.Iv.1), which, if it is not a simple writing mistake, is likely to represent πόλεως with deletion of final /s/, as elsewhere the full form is used: tis poleos / τῆς πόλεως ibid. 71, f.Ir.18. However it cannot be excluded entirely that it stands for πολέου (see below) with lowering of /u/ to /o/ (see I, 2.5.4), a phenomenon that does occur in this document (cf. Cantacozini / Καντακοζινοί ibid. 71, f.Iv.1 and torcos / Τόρκος ibid. 71, f.Ir.3 for Καντακουζινοί and Τοῦρκος).

ἀπὸ τῆς θλίψεως Dig. E 395 αὐθέντου πάσης δύσεως (1430, Ioannina, Rigo 1998: [1], 62.3) ἐκ πίστεως καὶ κρίσης Assizes A 25.3–4 οἱ διαλαλητάδες τῆς πίστεως Pist. kekoim. 147 ποὺ νᾶν' τῆς φύσεως TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 348 ὅσα εἶναι τῆς φύσεως τῶν γυναικῶν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.34–5 ἐν κρίσει καὶ ἔξωθεν κρίσεως (1549, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 11, 49.10) εἰς ὥρα κρίσεως P&N Diath. 4968 τῆς πόλεως ROMANOS, Grammar 5.12–13 κόντρα τῆς φύσεώς σου VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.30 πονηρὸς καὶ κακῆς φύσεως Bertoldos 4.33–4 τῆς ἰδίας τάξεως IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 335.13 εἰς τὸν αἰγιαλὸν τῆς πόλεως Ζακύνθου (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 112.3) τὸ ξύλον τὸ τῆς γνώσεως VEST., Prol. Theot. 34 τὴν ὁμολογίαν τῆς πίστεως (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 506.5) ἐν τῇ ἡμέρᾳ τῆς κρίσεως (1688, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 113, 324.11–12)

Synizesis in these forms occurs in verse texts, but is never reflected in the spelling. Note, however, the addition of the superfluous particle γάρ in the example from the Chronicle of Morea to avoid the reading /'po-le-os/:

τῆς δύσεως τὴν καλλίαν Eisit. f.1v.10 τὸ ἔτος ἐπὶ τὸ ἐτρέχεν τὸ ἀπὸ κτίσεως κόσμου Chron. Mor. H 124; τῆς Πόλεως γὰρ νὰ σὲ ἔχω εἰπεῖ τὸ πῶς κεῖται ἡ χώρα ibid. 532 καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς βρύσεως τὸ νερόν Liv. S 1534 (Lambert-van der Kolf) αἱ ἀρχόντισσες τῆς πόλεως Pol. Tr. 3288 καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς ὀψεως ἔβλεπεν Achil. O 149

Some scribes indicate synizesis by placing the accent on the first of the two vowels that are to be read with synizesis, irrespective of the actual stress of the word (see 1.5 for discussion): αἱ ἀρχόντισσες τῆς πολέως Pol. Tr. 3288 app. crit. (X) (2nd hemistich, read /'po-ljos/).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-έου

This ending has been found in the Chronicle of Morea (16 examples) and the War of Troy (5 examples), both verse texts from the Peloponnese. It appears to be used only with the noun πόλις/πόλη.¹¹⁴ Whereas in the War of Troy the form appears as an alternative to πόλεως only at the verse end, which indicates a stress on the penultimate, in the Chronicle of Morea πολέου is more frequent than πόλεως (6 occurrences), and is also found before the caesura, where the metre would require πόλεως, and the only “remedy” would be to read πολιοῦ, which again indicates that an accent on the first of the two adjacent vowels may serve as a signal for synizesis (see 1.5 for details):

¹¹⁴The form actually had a wider geographical spread than the sources used for this Grammar reveal, as it also occurs in the abridged prose version of the Sicilian Life of St. Leo of Catania (8th/9th-c., oldest ms 10th/11th c.; ed. Acconcia Longo): αἰφνιδίως ἐθεάσαντο ἑαυτοὺς εἰς τὸ βαλανεῖον τῆς Πολέου §10.21. The reading occurs in three of the four S. Italian mss. See also the previous fn. for a possible example from Cyprus.

ἦτον βασιλέας τῆς πολέου Chron. Mor. H 447; τὴν στρατὰν τῆς Πολέου ibid. 505; ὅπου ἔνι γῦρον τῆς Πολέου ibid. 537; τοὺς πρώτους τῆς Πολέου ibid. 595 διὰ νὰ τοὺς ἀσαλίσουσιν ἔνδοθεν τῆς πολέου Pol. Tr. 2907; ἐξῆλθον τῆς πολέου ibid. 5801

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ι(ν)/-η(ν)

The accusative ends in /i/, spelled either <ι> according to the old 3rd declension, or <η> according to the -η paradigm. The choice is often editorial. The ending occurs with and without final /n/:

ἐποησάμεν σου τελεία πράση (1134, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 43, 192.16) καὶ ἀπὸ δύση (1134, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 115, 154.8) εἰς τάξιν μητέρων (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 246.671–2) πρᾶξιν νὰ ποιήσετε εἰς αὐτοὺς Chron. Mor. H 1630 ἔχει καὶ βρύσιν ἑρωτικὴν Achil. L 491 θαυμαστὴ εἰς γνῶσιν Chron. Toc. 1847 ὅπου ποτὲ στὴν ράχην σου ποκάμισον οὐ βάνεις Poulol. 237 τὴν πᾶσα κτίση Anak. Konst. 94 κ' ἐλπίζουν εἰς τὴν γνώση σου Chron. Mor. P 239 τὴν τόσην ζέση Theseid Prol. P 60 χρῆση μὲν νὰ ποίσω Cypr. Canz. 79.10 ἐππέσαν εἰς μεγάλην πληξίν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 224.14 ἂν ἐπερπάτησεν Ἀνατολὴν καὶ Δύση Om. Nekt. Vas. 79 κ' εἶχα στὴν ζωσιν μου σπαθίν BERGADIS, Apok. A 7 μὴν κάμει χύση αἰμάτων KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 352.24 εἰς τὴν Μπόλη (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 2, 48.5) τὴν ὅψιν σου νὰ χάσης MONTSEL., Evgena 722 app. crit. μακρυγένης ἔως εἰς τὴν ζώση PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §3.2; καὶ βάνει ζέση καὶ εἰς τοὺς δύο ibid. II §1.6
 ἀπὸ τὴ βιάση μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.95 νὰ ᾔχουν γνώση KONDAR., Paidēs 174; καὶ ἔκαμεν τὴν κτίσιν ibid. 685

Vocative

The vocative is identical to the nominative and normally ends in /i/, which is usually spelled with <η>, according to the innovative part of the paradigm:

ἔδᾱ συνάξου, λογισμὲ καὶ λεπτινή μου γνώση Diig. Ven. 1 Πόλι, τὸ πᾶσχεις πᾶσχω το Thrinōs Konst. (Zoras) 35 βρύση, πιντώθου Cypr. Canz. 77.29 ὦ κρίση χαμηλωμένη Fior 92.2–3 ὦ βρύση μου CHORTATZIS, Panor. II.483; βρύση ὁλωνῶ τῶν ἀρετῶ id., Erof. V.458 ζήση μου καὶ πνοή μου Thysia Avr. 995 ὦ πόλι SPANOS, Grammar 28.24

Because in the innovative part of the paradigm and in the majority of feminine paradigms the vocative singular is homophonous with the nominative, sometimes the old nominative ending -ις is employed for the vocative: βρύσις ἑρωτικόβρυτε Liv. V 14; ὦ πόλις ROMANOS, Grammar 5.12–13.

Plural*NominativeFem.*

Pl.	Nom.	-ες

This ending was adopted from the -η paradigm and begins to surface in written texts perhaps as early as the 12th c. (note that the earliest example below (13th/14th.-c.) comes from a text that is clearly mixed- to higher-register, and see the introduction (2.12) for discussion):

βρύσες κρυσταλλορεϊθρες Diig. sevast. Thom. 52 κ' οἱ πρᾶξεις οἱ μεγάλες Chron. Mor. 1856 κρίσεις θανατηφόροι Assizes B 284.6; δόσεις, πούλησες ibid. 284.7 καὶ τάξεις, ἐπιστήμια Chron. Toc. 3118 αἱ πράξεις σου αἱ θαυμαστές SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 6 πόλες καὶ χῶρες Velis. χ 56 οἱ γνῶσες FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 131; οἱ στάξεις τῶν αἱμάτων σου id., Thrinos 47 θλίψες πολλές καὶ πόνοι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 12 πολλοὶ ἀνθρώποι, πολλές γνῶσες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 232.21 οἱ κρίσεις Alosis 733 διὰ νὰ λείψουν κρίσεις (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 31, 238.5) πτώσες πέντε SOFIANOS, Grammar 36.23; κλίσεις ἑφτά ibid. 38.14–15 διὰ νὰ λείψουν κρίσεις (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 18, 55.6) ποῦ εἶναι τόπος ἐνδροσος καὶ βρύσες τῶν χαρίτων Dig. A 79 ποῦ τόσες γνῶσες CHORTATIS, Erof. Prol. 24; οἱ καλές του διάξεις ibid. I.59 αὐτὲς οἱ τάξεις PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §30.66; καὶ θλίψες καὶ ἀναστεναγμοὶ πολλοὶ ibid. §31.15 καὶ συντροφιάζου γνῶσες TROILOS, Rodol. Dedic. 2 τῶν Τουρκῶν αἱ πράξεις IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5263

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-εις

Not many examples have been found of the nominative of the old paradigm, an indication that these forms had begun to belong to a more formal written register; cf. the accusative plural, with more examples, but mostly from mixed- and higher-register texts and in formal phrases and contexts:

ἐδῶ ὅπου βρύσεις καὶ νερά Liv. α 695 σχέσεις τοῦ δούκα μὲ τὸν σουλτᾶνον Chron. Toc. 1959 tit.
 δι' ἧς ἀπόλωνται πόλεις Achil. N 1873 αἱ πόλεις δὲ στὸν βασιλιὰ KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XI.111 αἱ πόλεις ROMANOS, Grammar 5.13 ἐγίναν τόσα αἵματα καὶ θνήσεις τῶν ἀνθρώπων IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4227 καθὼς οἱ πράξεις φαίνονται DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 1337

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-αι

When nouns in -ις start to adopt the -η endings of the 1st declension, a scribe who strives for a formal register has the option to adopt the residual 1st-declension -αι ending: ἐλεη-μοσύναι καὶ πίσται (1192, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 11, 634.6); βρύσαι κρύαι, χιονᾶται Dig. A 78.

Genitive

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-εων

The genitive plural normally ends in -εων, but the limited number of examples found indicates that these forms were perhaps not very much in use:

καὶ κυκεῶνα θλίψεων GLYKAS, Stichoi 75 ἄνευ γὰρ τῶν φονικῶν κρίσεων τε κ' ὑποθέσεων Chron. Mor. H 2015 θλίψεων τε καὶ πόνων Dig. T 112 τῶν κρίσεων Assizes A 154.16 τὰς ἀμοιβὰς τῶν πράξεων GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 605 τὰ δεκαεννέα κεφάλαια τῶν Πράξεων KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 404.1 ὀλωνῶν τῶν πόλεων Chron. Tourk. Soult. 34.34 τῶν πόλεων ROMANOS, Grammar 5.13 τῶν κακῶν σὰς πράξεων Don Kis. 50.2

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ων

There is no evidence for a strong tendency to adapt the genitive plural to that of the -η paradigm, in which case oxytone -ῶν would normally be expected. Only two forms in /on/ have been found, without the historical shift of the stress to the ultimate, in texts from Cyprus (cf. proparoxytone nouns): τῶν βρύσων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.25; τῶν αἰσθητῶν τῶν πλάσων Cypr. Canz. 135.2.

Accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες

This innovative accusative ending appears in written texts from the 13th/14th c. onwards. As mentioned in the introduction (2.12), the adoption of this ending possibly dates to the 12th c.:

καὶ θλίψες ἀμετρήτους Log. parig. L 7 τὲς τῶν Φραγκῶν γὰρ πράξεις Chron. Mor. H 1050; εἰς κρίσεις ibid. 2012 τὰς ὄψεις ἔβλεπεν ὀλῶν, τὲς πλάσες, ἡλικίης Pol. Tr. 2056 δόσες, πούλησες, ἀγοράδες Assizes B 284.7 καὶ πόλεις ἐξοικῆσαν Velis. χ 160 μὲ θλίψες καὶ μὲ κλάηματα Imber. 216 διὰ νὰ ἀκοῦς πράξεις καλῶν στρατιώτων Chron. Mor. P 1349 καὶ τάξεις καὶ παραταγὲς νὰ ποίση Byz. Il. 594 τῶν γυναικῶν τὲς διάξεις FALIEROS, Log. did. 263; ἀντρίκειες ἔχει πράξεις ibid. 264 εἰς ὅλες τοὺς τὲς χρήσεις MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 160.30 πλήξεις καὶ χολὲς βαμμένες Cypr. Canz. 2.2

 ὅλες τὲς πρῶξεις (1551, Venice, COUROPOU/GÉHIN 2001: 3, 161.2) κατὰ τὶς τρόπους καὶ τάξεις (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 26, 106.4) (for masc. τίς see 5.2.1) νὰ στέργη τὲς ὀρισμένες τάξεις τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 240.294) σμίγεται μὲ ὅλες τὲς πτώσεις SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 443.508 σ' τοῖ διάξεις καὶ σ' τοῖ πράξεις σου CHORTATIS, Erof. I.142 εἰς τὲς κρίσεις PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §35.38–9; ἔκαμεν κακὲς πρῶξεις ibid. III §2.4 τάξεις, λέγω, καὶ φρόνησης DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 1170

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-εις

The old accusative ending, with more examples than its nominative counterpart, can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar. Note, however, that it appears mainly in mixed-register texts and formal contexts, and that it is absent from regional literature such as the works of the Cretan Renaissance and the Cypriot chronicles:

τὰς ἀμεληθέντας ... πράξεις ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 316.18 τὰς φύσεις τῶν πραγμάτων GLYKAS, Stichoi 319 τὰς πράξεις αὐτῶν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 47.151) ὁ γύψος πτώσεις ἀπολεῖ Ptoch. II 54.2 app. crit. (H) τὰς ὕβρεις καὶ ἐπιβουλὰς Ptoch. IV 464 ὀνειδισμοὺς καὶ θλίψεις Dig. E 227; τὰς πράξεις τοῦ νεωτέρου ibid. 779 γέμει ἡ καρδιά μου συμφοράς, γουμάρια καὶ θλίψεις Liv. V 1494 τὰς ὄψεις ἔβλεπεν ὁλῶν, τὲς πλάσες, ἡλικίης Pol. Tr. 2056 ἐκ τὰς δυσκολούσας λέξεις ERMON., Ilias Prol. 24; καὶ τὰς ἑκατὸν τὰς πόλεις ibid. 5.367 πολλὰς δὲ οἱ ἀνθρώποι ποιοῦν καὶ ἄλλας πράξεις Diig. tetr. 960 τὰς δόσεις τοὺς ἄλλους ρηγάδες Assizes A 36.25 τὰς πράξεις κυρ-Ἀντωνίου τοῦ Βαρύ (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 57, 48.4) τὰς δικαίας κρίσεις Diig. Alex. E 277.1 (Lolos) νὰ ἔχουν καὶ διπλὰς τὰς βρύσεις τοῦ γάλακτος SOFIANOS, Paidag. 99.23 τὰς πόλεις ROMANOS, Grammar 5.13 νὰ ξοφλήσει τὲς κρίσεις καὶ φιλονικίης Bertoldos 84.32 ἔχει αὐτὸς ὁ στῦλος δώδεκα πόλεις Vios Aisop. D 240.2–3 τὰς τοῦ Κυρίου κρίσεις IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4648 εἰς πράξεις καὶ ἀρετὲς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 15; τάξεις τῶν ἀρχαγγέλων ibid. 1094 διὰ τὲς κακὲς τοὺς πράξεις EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 43.15–16

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

As the -ις paradigm had begun to adopt most of the endings of the old 1st declension in -η, it comes as no surprise that a scribe who strives for a more formal register may be tempted to use the residual accusative ending of the 1st declension: τὰς κατάκρυας βρύσας Dig. E 1026 and Dig. A 2180; τὰς βρύσας Liv. V 204 and elsewhere and Liv. α 210; τὰς κρίσας

Assizes B 209.25, 250.13 and elsewhere; καὶ ποταμούς καὶ βρύσας [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 856.

Vocative

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-ες ἰ – εις

The vocative is identical to the nominative. Very few examples have been found, and only in grammars: ὦ πόλεις SPANOS, Grammar 28.25; ὦ πόλεις ROMANOS, Grammar 5.13–14.

2.12.4 Proparoxytone Nouns in -ις/-η

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	δύναμη	δύναμις
Gen.	δύναμης	δυναμέως
Acc.	δύναμι(ν)/δύναμη(ν)
Voc.	δύναμι/δύναμη	δύναμις
Plural
Nom.	δύναμες	δυναμεις	(δύναμεις)
Gen.	δυναμέων		-ῶν ἰ -ων
Acc.	δύναμες	δυναμεις	δύναμεις δύναμας
Voc.	δύναμες	(δυναμεις)

Singular

Nominative

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-η

As noted in the introduction to this section (2.12), the adoption of this ending of the -η paradigm with nouns originally in -ις pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar. In manuscripts and older editions the ending is sometimes spelled with <ι> instead of <η>:

ἡ δεύτερη ὑπόθεσι ἔνι Assizes B 438.15–16 ποταπὴ ὑπόθεσι; (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 84.30) τὸ ὅποιον εἴσται ἤθελεν κόλαση Chron. Mor. P 6258 δεύτερη πάλε σύνταξι Pol. Tr. 3244 app. crit. (V) ἄφόντις στοιβαχτῇ ἡ πόλβερη (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.38) ἡ συνίβαση ὅπου ἐκάμαν (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 18, 56.9) ἀπόκριση κυρ-Ἀνδρέα (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 387.1) ἡ δέησί της Pist. kekoim. 185 ἡ γευλόγηση (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 24.30) (= εὐλόγηση, see I, 3.5.2.1) κ' ἡ ντήρησή σου ἡ τόση CHORTATSI, Erof. I.176; ἄπονη ἀπόφαση πολλὰ ibid. IV.349 ἡ Κωνσταντινόπολι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 34.33 ἡ ὄρεξη μοῦ λέγει Thysia Avr. 1083 ἡ γεμπόρεσή μου (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 80.62) (= ἐμπόρεση, see I, 3.5.2.1) μὲ ἤρχουνταν ὄριξη PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.67 (= ὄρεξη, see I, 2.5.4); ἡ σίκαλη ibid. §35.44–5 ἄν βρεθεῖ ἀνέχληση (1666, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 35, 38.9) (= ἐνόχληση) ὅς λείπη ἡ σύχυσή σας KONDA., Paides 3 (= σύγχυση, see I, 3.6.2.2) δὲν θέλουν διαρρέουν κακοὶ χυμοί, ἀλλὰ ευωδεστάτη ἀμπαρη Don Kis. 463.14–15

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ις

The old nominative singular ending can be found regularly in mixed- and higher-register texts and in formal contexts and phrases:

καθαρὰ καὶ ἀδόλωτος ἀφιέρωσις (1159, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 158, 210.5) ἡ ἀπόφασις (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 73.171) ὅς γένεται κατὰθεσις Chron. Mor. H 7921 ἡ τοιαύτη πώλησις (1400, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 10, 194.17) τῶν νέων ἡ παράταξις Achil. L 133 ἔτερη ἐξήγησις Chron. Toc. 517a; ὡς πάρδαλις ἐγόγγυζεν ibid. 3385 κατήχησις βαβύκινη (1442, Belgrade region, ALEXOULIS 1892: 2, 280.10) ἡ παρῶν ἀπόφασις (1491, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1991: 1, 234.28–9) διήγησις ἐξαίρετος Βελθάνδρου τοῦ Ρωμαίου Velth. tit. (Cupane) ἐξέτασις τῆς δέσποινας [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2345 ἐξήγησις τῆς γλυκείας χώρας Κύπρου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2 tit.; ἡ ἀφεντική διάβασις τοῦ λαοῦ ibid. 10.1
 μόνη ἡ νεκρανάστασις BERGADIS, Apok. A 82 τόση διακυβέρνησις (1530, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 143, 258.16) προσωδία εἶναι κάποια ἐξάπλωσις τῆς φωνῆς SOFIANOS, Grammar 37.2 διάλογος, ἦγουν ἐρωταπόκρισις SANKTAM, Praxeis apost. 15.5
 αὕξησις, ἡ GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. accrescimento; δύναμις, ἡ ibid. s.v. fortezza di corpo; διαφέντεψις, ἡ ibid. s.v. *difesa*¹¹⁵ ἡ κακή του ὑπόληψις (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 83.10) (= ὑπόληψις) αὐτὴ ἡ διαίρεσις (1645, Jassy, LEGRAND 1903: 5, 10.2) ἡ παροῦσα συμφωνητικὴ ἀπόδειξις (1665, Proikonnisos/Marmaras, KAMBOURIS 1976: A.2, 195.21)
 αὐτὸ εἶναι μεγάλῃ ὑπόθεσις Don Kis. 159.26

Final /s/ is sometimes omitted in writing when the form is followed by a clitic starting in /s/: ὅς ἐνι ἡ ὑπόληψι σου Spaneas V 59 app. crit. (note that this text offers no nominatives in -η, only in -ις).

¹¹⁵The fact that Germano almost invariably gives forms in -ις in his Vocabulary is surprising, firstly because he is certainly not an archaizer, recording what he hears in Chios instead, and secondly because he does not have the corresponding paradigm in his Grammar.

GenitiveFem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ης

The newer alternative genitive singular is formed in the most common way for feminine nouns, by adding final /s/ to the nominative in -η. As some scholars (mistakenly) consider this to be the use of the nominative in -ις as genitive, these forms are sometimes spelled with <ι>. In these innovative forms the stress normally remains on the antepenultimate:

- τῆς αὐτῆς ἀφιέρωσης (1108, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 17, 215.33) τὸ χαρτὶν τῆς πάκτωσης (1330, Crete, LAIOU 1982: 2, 123.2) τῆς πούλησης Assizes B 286.25; τῆς ἀγανάκτησης ibid. 455.12–13 τὴν τελείωσιν τῆς ἀπόφασις (1491, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1991: 1, 234.28) μετὰ τῆς σύνταξίς του Pol. Tr. 6753 μετὰ ... ἔπαρσις μεγάλῃς PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 111 τῆς πείκασίς σου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 308 (= ἀπεικασίς) τῆς συνειδησίς μου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 642.32; νὰ ποίσει τῆς ὁρεξίς του id., Chron. O 678.24–5 (ed. τὶς ὁρεξεῖς του, but note that Machairas does not use the old plural endings at all) τῆς πόλβερης (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.38) εἰς τρόπον φύλαξης (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 111, 108.11) δύο μανιέρες ἐνὶ τῆς δουλεψῆς Fior Suppl. 273.25 τῆς ὁρεξίς του (1554, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 124, 239.13) ὅσο ἦτον ὑπὸ τῆς δύναμὸς μας (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 234.78–9) μετὰ Σεμίραμης βασίλισσας Diig. Alex. Sem. B tit. τῆς πτωχῆς τῆς μητρόπολης (1613, Naxos, CHASIOTIS 1966: 15, 206.15–16) τοῦ ἀνάστασης τῆ σκόλη Thysia Avr. 1134 τοῦ ἐγδίκησις Zinon I.21 (= ἐκδίκησις, see I, 3.8.4.4) τοῦ εἰδησις (1664, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 7, 416.13) τῆς ἐξέφλησις τῆς διαφορᾶς (1672, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 5, 16.3) (= ἐξόφλησις, see III, 1.1.3) τῆς αὐτῆς προσήλωσις (1695, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 359.7) τῆς Ρούμελης (1708, Zakynthos, SATHAS 1865: 524.30–1)

The following example combines the new ending with the stress shift of the old form in -εως (see below): ἀπὸ τῆς τοιαύτης ἀμφιερώσεως (1140–1, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 15, 106.17).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-εως

The old genitive ending -εως remains in use throughout the period under examination, but clearly only in mixed- and higher-register texts and in more formal contexts:

- τῆς ἀμφιερώσεως (1124, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 9, 80.15) (= ἀφιερώσεως, see I, 3.5.2.4) χάριν ... διοικήσεως (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.43) (= διοικήσεως) τῆς μέσης ἀποφάσεως (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 43.92); διὰ συγκαταθέσεως (ibid. 47.147) τῆς ἁγιοτάτης μητροπόλεως Δυρραχίου (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 474.10) εἰς ποῖον κρεμνὸν ἐνέπεσεν κακώσεως ὁ νοῦς μου Liv. V 1800 καὶ τῆς δυνάμεώς του Chron. Toc. 3036 χωρίς λόγου τινὸς ἢ προφάσεως (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.13–14) πατριάρχην Κωνσταντινουπόλεως MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 40.5 περὶ ποίας ὑποθέσεως Assizes A 13.16; διὰ παρακλήσεως ibid. 218.30–1 ἕως ὥρα ἀφηλικιώσεως αὐτῆς (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 15, 26.22) τῆς ρηθείσης ὑποθέσεως (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 256.9) πρὶν τῆς εὐλογήσεώς σας (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 12, 13.14) τῆς θεϊκῆς δικαιοσεως Pist. kekoim. 104 με οἰκείας μου βουλῆς καὶ ἡθελήσεως καὶ ὀρωτήσεως τῶν ἐδικῶ μας (1666, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: IX, 75.3) καὶ ἄλλα συμβεβηκότα ἀξία διηγήσεως Don Kis. 172.6

The following is a clear example of a scribe trying to squeeze the old form into the metre (the other two mss have σύνταξις του): μετὰ τῆς σύνταξιός του Pol. Tr. 6753 app. crit. (B).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ος

Sporadically, nouns not originally in -ις may acquire the -ος ending of the old 3rd declension (cf. proparoxytone nouns in -α, 2.11.3): τῆς Ρούμελος (1699, Vostitza, MERTZIOS 1968: 3, 243.2–3).¹¹⁶

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ι(ν)/-η(ν)

The accusative ends in /i/ and occurs with and without final /n/. The spelling with <ι> or <η> is really a matter of editorial choice:

ἔχει ἡ ἐκκλησία ... σύστασι (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 307.5) (but: σύστασιν ibid. 307.4) εἰς ἀναζήτησιν τοῦ τοιοῦτου τόπου (13th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 20, 9.6) ἐπάνω εἰς τὴν ἄρνησιν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 45.116); μετὰ τὴν σύσμιξιν (ibid. 47.157) ὑπόσχεσιν τοῦ ἐποιήσαν Chron. Mor. H 221; νὰ ποιήσωμεν συμβίβασιν ibid. 1626 εἰς κάμαρην τὴν ἔβαλεν Chron. Toc. 322 (< κάμαρα) διὰ τὴν βλέπισιν τοῦ τόπου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 88.16 πολὺν σάλμιτρο, μπόλμπερη τοῦδωσε ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 585 ὑπόσκησιν τοῦ ἐποίησαν Chron. Mor. P 221 ἀπ' ὅ,τι ἐγγύησιν ἔχουν καμωμένη (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 134.71) εἰς τὴν κάμαρὴν του Diig. Alex. E 283.5 (Lolos) and Diig. Alex. K 361.30 εἰσὲ ἀντίλλαξιν τοῦ αὐτοῦ χωραφίου (1545, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 101, 148.12); διὰ πλεόν ἄξισην (1554, ibid. 144, 193.18) νὰν τοῦ δώσω ὄροξιν (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 287.3) (= ὄρεξιν, see I, 2.8.5)

¹¹⁶ Although Mertzios's editions are not always reliable, he tends to paraphrase and normalize rather than "make up" unusual forms.

τὴν συγχώρεσιν (1573, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 1, 75.11) (= συγχώρεσιν, see I, 3.6.2.2) μὲ πλῆσο | δρόσος καὶ περιδιάβαση CHORTATSI, Katz. I.11–12 τὴ παρὸν σύβαση (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 122, 135.5–6) (= σύμβαση, see I, 3.6.2.2) ὅποιος δώσει ἀνόχληση (1610, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 7, 22.7–8) (= ἐνόχληση) στούπισε κάππαρη LANDOS, Geopon. 229.36 μ' ἔκλειψη παντοτινὴ FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 112 ἐρχόμενος εἰς τὴν ἀκρόασιν (1672, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 5, 16.3) ἔκαμε παραίτηση (1687, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1986: 43, f.2r.1) μία ὑπόθεση πολλὰ χριαζούμενη νὰ τελειώσω (1696, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 3 [Γ'], 254.8)

Vocative

Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-η/-ι -ις

The vocative is identical to the nominative, and normally ends in /i/:

ἄμπαρη μοσκοφόρε Pittakin 2 (ed. ἄμπαρι) (< ἡ ἄμπαρις < τὸ ἄμπαρι < τὸ ἄμπαρ < Arab. anbar)
 Χρυσόνομη, ἔσφαξές μου | μετὸ μαντάτο τὴν καρδιάν CHORTATSI, Erof. IV.45–6

As in the innovative part of the paradigm and in the majority of feminine paradigms the vocative singular is homophonous to the nominative, sometimes the old nominative ending -ις is employed for the vocative: ἀνάπαυσις τοῦ γήρους μου, ψυχὴ μου καὶ πνοή μου Achil. L 225; Χαίρε, συγχώρησις αμαρτιῶν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 10187.

Plural

Nominative

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ες

This innovative ending was adopted by analogy with the -η paradigm. It begins to surface in written texts perhaps as early as the 12th c. (see the introduction (2.12) for discussion).¹¹⁷ ἔδε παραπόνεσες Ptoch. IV 428 app. crit. (C) ὅσες δύνამες εἰσὶ Pol. Tr. 663 app. crit. (E); τοῦτες οἱ δύο σύνταξες ibid. 3889 οἱ κράτησές τους Assizes B 280.6; πούλησες, ἀγοράδες ibid. 284.7; οἱ ἀγανάκτησες ibid. 455.15 οἱ συνήβασες ἐκεῖνες (1493, Venice, MALTEZOU 2004: 85.30–1) ἡ τῶν ἀνθρώπων πρόβλεψες Theseid VI.5,2 (Olsen) οἱ κακοὶ λογισμοὶ καὶ κακιῆς συνείδησες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 254.14 (γίνονται ...) δέησες καὶ ἐγκράτειες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 309; ἡ ὑπόληψες ibid. 606 οἱ πρῶτες ποιήσες ... εἶναι τοῦτες Fior 83.39; οἱ ἐξήγησες ὅπου ξηγοῦνται οἱ διδάσκαλοι ibid. 84.16

¹¹⁷ The following example appears to be a case of the new ending being employed with retention of the old shift of the stress (see below), but the form may equally represent ἀφιέρωσες, or ἀφιερώσεις with a simple typo, as the edition is known to be unreliable: αἱ ... γινομένη ἀφιερώσαις (1192, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 21, 339.1–2). Similar forms do occur occasionally in other, albeit later, texts (see acc. pl., below).

ἐρώτησες περὶ ἁμαρτημάτων ἀνδρῶν (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 401.25) αἱ ὀχθρίες καὶ ἀνακάτωσες (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 59.39–40) οἱ αἴρεσες RODINOS, Vios Ign. 73.8 ἐγκλισες εἶναι πέντε SOFIANOS, Grammar 46.24 κι ἀπόφασες γιαμιὰ γιαμιὰ χίλιες στὸ νοῦ μου ἀλλάσσου CHORTATIS, Erof. III.212 ἀπὸ τότε ἄρχισαν οἱ σύγχυσες (1616, Pogoniani, SCHREINER 1975/79: 64.IV, 497.31.3–4) οἱ διάλεξες Bertoldos 71.34 οἱ πρόκοψες FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 41 νὰ γράφονται οἱ βλόησες (1671, Cythera, PAPADAKI 2001: [A], 53.1) (< εὐλόγηση) οἱ ἀπόκρισές τους (1672, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 96, 238.30) ὁμως εἶναι ἀπόδειξες εἰς αὐτό (1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 30, 119.31) οἱ συχνές εξέταξες Don Kis. 70.15; εἶναι διάφορες υπόληψες Don Kis. 149.18

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-εις

The old ending is used mainly in mixed- and higher-register texts and more formal contexts:

καὶ φοβεραὶ κολάσεις GLYKAS, Stichoi 521 μετὰ τοὺς δείπνους οἱ χοροὶ, μετὰ χοροὺς ὀρχήσεις Achil. N 721 οἱ περισκέψεις τοῦ δεσπότη Chron. Toc. 2764 tit. στρατηγικαὶ δυνάμεις [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 57 αὐτὲς εἶναι πάλαι οἱ τέσσαρες ζωτικὲς δυνάμεις DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 2, α6ν.31–2 (1561) ἐρωταποκρίσεις εἰς τοὺς κανόνες (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.23) ποῦναι φανερὲς αἱ ἀποδείξεις ZYGOM., Synopsis 124.A.17 αἱ πολλότατές του δυνάμεις KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 11.20 αἱ υποσχέσεις οὐοῦ με ἔδωσε Don Kis. 123.25–6

The following is a clear example of a scribe trying to fit the old form into the metre, where the other mss have σύνταξης: τοῦτες αἱ δύο σύνταξεις Pol. Tr. 3889 app. crit. (X).

Genitive

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-εων

The genitive plural of the old paradigm remains in use, though it appears mainly in mixed-register texts and more formal contexts:

ἐρωτήσεων καὶ ἀποκρίσεων (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 47.144) ἄνευ γὰρ τῶν φονικῶν κρίσεων τε κ' ὑποθέσεων Chron. Mor. H 2015 τῶν αὐτῶν ὑποθέσεων Assizes B 329.25–6 ἐγράψαμεν περὶ ἄλλων τινῶν ὑποθέσεων (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 5, 309.6) τῶν ἀποκρίσεων Assizes A 28.18 μὲ πᾶσα ἐβγάτισεων τοῦ αὐτοῦ ὀσπιτίου (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 45, 54.11) (< ἀβγάτιση) περὶ ... ἐτέρων ἀποδείξεων KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 361.28 διὰ μέσου τῶν κανισκίων καὶ παρακαλέσεων Diath. Nikon Metan. 129 τῶν ὑποθέσεων μου IER. AVVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 336.28 ἦσυνε μία βρύσις τῶν ἀποφάσεων Bertoldin. 130.12–13 περὶ τῶν δεήσεων καὶ προσευχῶν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 530a μετὰ βεβαίῳ ἀποφάσεων MAKOLAS, Ioust. 423.17

Synizesis may occur with this ending. This becomes clear in verse texts (as in the example from Chron. Mor. H above), though it is not usually betrayed by the spelling. However, a very clear example has been found in a document. In this example ἀποφασιδῶν τῶνε (< ἀποφάσεῶν τῶνε) the primary stress on -φα-, being the weaker of the two stresses, is deleted because two consecutive syllables cannot bear stress: τῶν ἀγιότατων πάπηδων καὶ ὁλονῶν τῶν ἀποφασιδῶν τῶνε (17th c., Syros, ZERLENDIS 1924b: [3], 14.4–5).

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-ων

The following genitive in -ων is based on the innovative part of the paradigm. As the manuscript lacks stress notation, it cannot be established with certainty whether the form was intended to be proparoxytone or oxytone, but cf. paradigm 2.12.3 for similar examples from the same region (Cyprus), which do not present a shift of the stress to the ultimate: διὰ πόσων ὑπόθεσων ὁ πατήρ, οὗ ἡ μήτηρ ἡμποροῦν νὰ ἀποκληρώσουν τὸν υἱὸν τους Assizes B 438.10–11.

Accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ες

This innovative accusative ending appears in written texts from the 13th/14th c. onwards (cf. paradigm 2.12.3). As mentioned in the introduction (2.12), the appearance of this ending possibly dates to the 12th c.: ὑπόσχεσες τοῦ ἐποΐκεν Chron. Mor. 2430; με πρόφασες καὶ ἀφορμές ibid. 8435 σύνταξες ἃς χωρίσωμεν Pol. Tr. 856; ν' ἀκούωμεν ἀφήγησές σου ibid. 2680 app. crit. (R) νὰ θέλεις ἔπαρσες πολλές Flor. L 1128 (Cupane) τὰς ὄρεξες Assizes B 363.16 εἰς ὄχλησες, εἰς συμπλοκές Chron. Toc. 356; ἐπτὰ σύνταξες ἔκαμεν ibid. 769 με τὲς δέησές σου SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 224 (ἔχω ...) καθημερινὸ περιβάρεσες (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 97.18–19) στὲς ἀναγάλιασές μου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 474 ἀπὲ τὲς πέντε αἰσθησες τὲς καθολικὲς Fior 74.19 καὶ εἰπά σας δρόμον καὶ βουλὲς ᾗ πόθεσες ποῦ συμβῆκαν TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 359 τὲς ἐγγύσες (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 134.65) (= ἐγγύησες, see I, 2.9.2.1) τὲς τοιαῦτες ὑπόθεσες (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 249.33) τὲς ὀρθωσες ἐποίησεν Diig. Alex. F 176.13 (Konstantinopulos) τὶς πολλὰς τοῦ ζήτησες (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.18) ἀπὸ κάποιες ἐνθύμησες (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 452.15) ἂν ἔχει καὶ ἄλλες διόρθωσες καμωμένες (1579, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 5, 23.23–4) με ἐλαφρὰς ἐπίπληξες ZYGOM., Synopsis 133.A.63 κι' ἔδ᾽ τὰ τόσα ψόματα καὶ καύχησές του γρίκα! CHORTATSI, Katz. II.14; (νὰ ᾿χουσι ...) χιλιά λογιῶ ξεφάντως id., Panor. Prol. theas 24; δειλοσκοπήσες πάντα τότε γεμίζει ibid. I.202 δὲ θέλω ἀποφάνησες (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 81.105) μὲ πολλές παρακάλεσες (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.16) τάξες, λέγω, καὶ φρόνησες DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 1170 δίχως περίφρασες Don Kis. 155.4

In the following example the form ἀποδειξοις, although normalized as ἀποδείξεις in the edition, is very likely to represent ἀπόδειξες, with mid-vowel raising of unstressed /e/ to [i], a common phenomenon in this collection of documents (see I, 2.5.4 for details): βγάζο<ν>τάς ω μπάσά Θάνασοις ἀποδειξοις / βγάζοτας ὁ μπάσά Θανάσης ἀπόδειξις (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 4, f.40r.5) (for βγάζοτας, see I, 3.6.2.1). The same may apply to the following example: ἄλλοι [sc. ἔποικαν] φουσσατοκίνησεις Byz. II. 483, which might equally represent φουσσατοκίνησες with vowel raising (cf. e.g. τζικούριν Byz. II. 142 for τζεκούριν).

In the following examples the new ending is employed with retention of the shift of the stress of the old forms (see above for the reverse phenomenon). Examples occur in poetry, prose and documents:

δείχνουν καλὲς ὀρέξεις Spaneas Z 301 (verse end, where ὀρέξεις would have fitted) ἀντάμα συνετύχασιν, εἴπασιν ὑποθέσες Flor. L 1264 ms ν' ἀκούωμεν ἀφηγήσες Pol. Tr. 2680 app. crit. (V) β(ε)βαιώνει τὲς δεῖσες Pist. kekoim. 117 τὲς δυνάμεις (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 308, 284.7) νὰ γυρεύουν ... ὑποσχέσες ZYGOM., Synopsis 147.B.32 ἦκανες καὶ τὲς δεῖσες MOREZINOS, Klini 235.7

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-εις

The old accusative plural ending is found throughout the period under review, though after the spread of the new -ες ending to this paradigm, it is used mainly in mixed-register texts and more formal contexts, as becomes clear from the frequent choice of the old, more formal-looking article τὰς instead of τὲς or, later, τίς (see 5.2.1). They even occur alongside newer forms in -ες, not only in poetry, where the different stress patterns are metrically convenient, but also in prose texts e.g. τες ἀπόκρισες ... εἰς τας ἐρωτήσεις Don Kis. 166.8–9. The historical shift of the stress is normally observed:

τὰς εἰδήσεις NIKON, Logos 4 208.1–2; τὰς ἐπικυρώσεις id., Logos 9 310.26 εὐχὰς καὶ δεῖσεις (1101, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 7, 395.4) πάντας τὰς ὑποθέσεις (1143?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 15, 537.1) καὶ τὰς λοιπὰς δυνάμεις GLYKAS, Stichoi 32 τὰς πατρικὰς ἡμῶν ... παραδόσεις (13th c., Constantinople, DARROUZÈS/LAURENT 1976: 1, 191.4) τὰς ἀποδείξεις (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 21.140) καὶ πολλὰς ὑποσχέσεις Dig. G III.43 ταύτας τὰς τρεῖς κολάσεις Ptoch. III 226; τὰς ἐνθυμήσεις τὰς πολλὰς ibid. 273.6 app. crit. (P) τὰς ἀποκρίσεις Assizes B 277.8

φλογίζει τὰς αἰσθήσεις Flor. L 882 τὰς ἐνθυμήσεις αὐτοῦ SFRANTZIS, Chron. 82.25

τὰς ἀποφάσεις τούτων Synax. gadar. 86; οὐ θέλομεν τοιαύτας διηγήσεις ibid. 259

ὥς διὰ ... ὑποθέσεις, τὲς εἶχεν, | κερά μου, τὸ Κουμουνι μας DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1255–6 (ἀφίνω αὐτῆς ...) κρεβατοστρώσεις φουρνίδες (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 15, 26.15)

ύγιης δὲ τὰς αἰσθήσεις (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 117, 212.5) τὰς ἐτέρας αἰσθήσεις (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 16, 227.2); ἠκούσαμεν τὰς ἀναγυρεύσεις (1544, ibid. 59, 256.8) μὲ κάποιες προφάσεις ZYGOM., Synopsis 130.A.49 στρεβλώσεις, μαστίξεις, πληγὰς MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 77 τὶς ταιριάσεις (1708, Peloponnese, PAPADOPOULOS 1976: 6, 124.27) τὰς υποσχέσεις του ἀγὰ του Don Kis. 47.30–1; τὰς ἐπτὰ μου, ἡ πέντε αἰσθήσεις, ἡ ὅσες καὶ ἀν έχω ibid. 176.27–8

Occasionally proparoxytone forms are found, without the shift of the stress to the penultimate, clearly influenced by the new proparoxytone forms in -ες (see above). If the example from Sicily is to be trusted (cf. nom. pl. and see the introduction (2.12) for discussion), the evidence for proparoxytone forms in -ες, again, points to a date in or prior to the 12th c.:¹¹⁸ τὰς ... ὑστέρησεις (1155, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VII: 3, 361.2–3); ὅλας τὰς ὄρεξεις τοὺς Pol. Tr. 714 app. crit. (X) (ὄρεξές τοὺς in the other mss); εἶδαμεν τὲς ἀναζήτησεις τοῦ ἑνὸς μέρους καὶ τὲς ἀπόκρισεις τοῦ ἑτέρου μέρος (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 10, 63.4–5).

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ας

When the -ας paradigm had started to adopt most of the endings of the -η paradigm, scribes who strive for a more formal register tend to adopt the obsolete accusative plural ending -ας of the old 1st-declension nouns in -η. Given the fact that these forms are modelled on the innovative proparoxytone ones in -ες, the stress in these hybrid forms falls on the antepenultimate (note that the ms of Assizes B (Par. gr. 1390) lacks stress notation and the editor is not always consistent in his placement of accents):¹¹⁹ τὰς ὄρεξας τῆς Assizes A 121.21 ms (ed. ὄρεξας); ἐτέρας παράκλησας Assizes B 378.13; ὑπόθεσας ibid. 334.9, 405.31 and elsewhere (ed. ὑποθέσας).

Vocative

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-ες ἰ (-εῖς)

The vocative is normally identical to the nominative, but very few examples have been found: σκοτεινιασμένες θύμησες! Zinon I.5.

¹¹⁸The proparoxytone form in the following example clearly is the result of a typographical error in the modern edition, as the manuscript (Par. gr. 1390) lacks stress notation: περὶ πούλησεις καὶ ἀγοράδες Assizes B 250.18.

¹¹⁹Cf. εἰς ὑπόθεσας Assizes B 455.16 and: τὰς ὄρεξες Assizes B 363.16, but τὰς ὑποθέσες ibid. 329.27.

2.12.5 Transfers to Other Paradigms

An example has been found of a transfer from paradigm 2.12.1 to the /ia/ paradigm: τῆς ἐγγονιάς μου τῆς Μήλως (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 8, 7.10) (< ἐγγόνη/ἐγγονή), possibly by analogy with ἀνιψιά. The same noun has an alternative in -α, which has been found in a document from Cythera: ἡ ἐγγόνα της (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 172, 141.25).

Transfers from paradigm 2.12.2 to the masculine /is/ paradigm include the name ὁ Ἄφροδίτης, which is used for the planet Venus: ὡσάν τὸν ἥλιον ἔλαμπεν καὶ αὐτὸν τὸν Ἄφροδίτην Achil. L 15; Κρόνος, Ἄρης, Ἄφροδίτης, Ἑρμῆς, Ἥρα, Δίας, Ἥλιος καὶ Σελήνη Diig. Alex. V 29.15–16; other feminine nouns that may become masculine are ἡ χαίτη and ἡ ἀσβέστη: ὁ χαίτης (1092, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 3, 388.4); διὰ τὰ ἀνακατώνουν τὸν ἀσβέστην Diig. Ag. Sof. ω 530.19; and ἡ πλάτη in texts from the Heptanese and the Peloponnese: ἐπῆρα εἰς τὸν πλάτην μου πέτρην Diath. Nikon Metan. 27; εἰς τὸν πλάτην μου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 373.4; ἀπάνω εἰς τὸν ἕναν πλάτην Bertoldin. 145.23–4.

The noun ἰθάκη has a neuter alternative in -ι(ν): τὸ Θιάκι (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 167.9); εἰς το νησι τοῦ Θιακιοῦ (1585 [later copy], Ithaca, KALLINIKOS 1980: 56.4); εἰς τὸ Θιάκι (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 29, 48.1); ἀπὸ τὸ Θιάκι (1669, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999a: 2, 281.25–6). The noun δόση/δόσις develops alternative forms according to the same paradigm in the plural: ἔπαιρνες ... δόσια καὶ λιζάτον Diig. Alex. V 73.29–30; τὰ δώσης δόσια αὐτάρκετα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.33; τὰ δόσια μάτια παίρνουνε Paroim. (Warner) 58.11; τὰ δόσα MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 172 (= δόσια, see I, 2.4.7.3). The same noun may also transfer to the feminine -ία paradigm: γίνονται ... δόσιες χρονῶν ἐπτὰ (1489, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 19, 100.21).

In Cypriot texts the noun ἀπόφασις/ἀπόφαση may lose its last syllable, resulting in an unusual alternative in -α: καὶ θέλεις ἰδεῖν τὴν ἀπόφαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 258.29; ἐποῖκαν ἀπόφα τὰ μποῦν ibid. 392.22; ἐποῖκεν ἀπόφαν τὰ τοὺς κόψει ὅλους VOUSTR., Chron. A 146.12.

2.13 Feminine Nouns in /u/

In the period covered by this Grammar these nouns generally have an imparisyllabic plural in -οῦδες. They include nouns such as ἄλουπού/ἄλεπού (< ἄλουπός < ἄλωπηξ), μαϊμού (< Arab. maymūn), nouns that denote professions (e.g. ἀνυφαντού) and characterizations of women such as γλωσσού and μεθού, which generally have masculine counterparts in -άς or -ής (2.2.1, 2.3.1). The paradigm further includes nouns modelled on Romance words in -on and -oun (French/Occitan and Italian), which occur regionally (Cyprus, Rhodes, Peloponnese and elsewhere), e.g. βερτού (< Occit. vertut and Ital. vertu(de)); ραζού (< Occit. rasoun), βενεζού (< Occit. venesoun) and others (for the Occitan originals see HONNORAT, Lex.).

In the singular the paradigm also covers names in -ού developed from those in -ώ (see 2.14; see also HENRICH 1991) via an intermediate phase in which a new acc. sg. in -ούν and nom. sg. in -ούς appeared, modelled on the gen. sg. in -οῦς; see DIETERICH 1898: 168, who mentions two inscriptional examples in -ού that pre-date the 10th c. Names in -ού can also be found in lower-register EMedG texts such as Saints' Lives.¹²⁰ Proper names in -ού are also derived from given names in -ία and -α, e.g. Εὐδοκού (< Εὐδοκία), Μαρού (< Μαρία), Ἀννεζού (< Ἀννέζα); Ποθού (< Πόθα), as well as from masculine names such as Γιαννού (< Γιάννης), Πετρού (< Πέτρος) and others. Furthermore the ending is used in feminine surnames derived from masculine surnames. Examples have been found in texts from Crete, Mani and the Aegean (Naxos): κάγώ Ἐργίνα Χαλκωματού (1510, Crete, ΚΑΚΛΑΜΑΝΙΣ/LAMBAKIS 2003: 21, 36.7); τὴν κερα-Ζαμπέταν τὴν Χρυσολουρούν, γυναίκα τοῦ κυρ-Μανούσο Χρυσολουρά (1523, ibid. 74, 141.22–3); κερα-Μαρίαν Κουρεψούν (1524, ibid. 86, 159.10); ἡ Ἀντρεοῦ ἡ Φουκοῦ (1547, Mani, ΣΚΟΡΕΤΕΑΣ 1950: I, 70.2–3); τοῦ Νικόλα τῆς Πολυδοκατοῦς (1682, Naxos, ΣΙΦΟΝΙΟΥ-KΑΡΑΡΑ et al. 1982/83: 206, 383.5). The paradigm also includes place names such as Ἀκανθοῦ.

The ending -οῦς of the genitive singular is identical in the paradigms in -ού and -ώ. It is, therefore, not always possible to determine to which of the two paradigms a genitive form in -οῦς belongs. If an /o/ variant is attested, they will be treated at paradigm 2.14, even though the /o/ forms may reflect scribal conservatism. They will be treated at 2.13 if no /o/ forms have been found, if the form has an unambiguously vernacular feel about it (e.g. τῆς Καλοκρασοῦς, τῆς Τρελοῦς), or if /u/ forms are exclusive in a certain area (such as Crete, Cyprus and the Aegean) or text (as is the case with the name Μαξιμού in the Grottaferrata and Escorial versions of Digenis).

Transfers to this paradigm are fairly limited: apart from the above-mentioned feminine names in -ώ that developed into -ού, a group of nouns that may transfer to this paradigm are loanwords from Romance (Occitan, French and Italian, depending on the region) originally in -ό(ν) (see 2.15), e.g. κονδισιού < κονδισιό(ν), κομεσιού < κομεσιό(ν), ὀπινιού < ὀπινιό(ν). The Cypriot dialect has a variant in -ού for the noun μάμμη (midwife): ὅσα ὠρδινιάζαν οἱ γιλλοῦδες γ-οἱ μαμμοῦδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 216.4–5.

2.13.1 The Paradigm

	General	Restricted
Singular
Nom.	ἄλουπού
Gen.	ἄλουπούς
Acc.	ἄλουπού(ν)
Voc.	ἄλουπού

¹²⁰E.g. γυνή τις Φωτοῦ ὀνόματι in the Life and Miracles of St Anastasios the Persian (7th c., ed. Flusin; see the online TLG); εἶχε δὲ καὶ σύμβιον τοῦνομα Θεοσεβοῦν Vios Philaret. 16 (9th c.; 11th-c. ms); Κοσμοῦ καὶ Ὑπατίας ibid. 480 app. crit. (G).

Plural
Nom.	άλουποῦδες	-ούς
Gen.	άλουπούδων
Acc.	άλουποῦδες	-ούς
Voc.	άλουποῦδες

Singular

Nominative

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ού

The only ending for the nominative singular is oxytone -ού. The ending is sometimes spelled with a circumflex instead of an acute:

Βασιλοῦ σὺν τῶν παίδων (1097, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 60, 77.24–5) ἰδοῦ μόνη ἡ Μαξιμοῦ ἐφάνη ἐν τῷ κάμπῳ Dig. G VI.734 ἡ μαῖμοῦ ἀπέμεινεν Diig. tetr. 1074¹²¹ διλετσιοῦ καὶ χάριτα Fior 74.10 (< Occit. dilection); γεννᾶται ... μία δισποζετσιοῦ ibid. 76.17 (< Occit. disposition); ἡ φυσικὴ ραζοῦ εἶναι τούτη ibid. 83.14 (< Occit. rasoun) ἡ α' βερτοῦ τῶν κορμιῶν Fior Suppl. 274.3 (< Occit. vertut) ἡ δ' ἄλουποῦ ἡ πονηρά, ἡ δολιοπανοῦργος Fyll. gadar: 44 ἡ ρηθεῖσα Εὐδοκοῦ (1510, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 20, 35.18); ἡ Ποθοῦ ἡ Μπιλένα (1521, ibid. 30, 113.29); ἡ λεγομένη Μαροῦ (1523, ibid. 69, 128.16); ἐγὼ Κανακοῦ Μιχαλίτσαινα (ibid. 83, 155.2) ἡ Καλὴ καὶ ἡ Χεονοῦ (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 94, 116.3) (= Χιονοῦ) ἄλουποῦ καὶ μαῖμοῦ ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 27 tit. ἡ ἄλουποῦ ΣΟΦΙΑΝΟΣ, Grammar 42.15; ἡ μαῖμοῦ ... ἡ γελοῦ ibid. 42.19 ἡ Ἄντρεοῦ ἡ Φουκοῦ (1547, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: I, 70.2–3) ἡμεῖς ἡ Ναχαμὰ καὶ ἡ Στασοῦ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 240, 232.3) ἡ Φλουροῦ τσι βγάνει Stathis II.56 ἡ ὁποία ἄνωθεν κερα-Μπαλασοῦ (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 88, 243.7) ἡ κερ' Ἄννεζοῦ (1703, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 48, 61.5) ἐγὼ εἶμαι παλαιὰ ἀλεποῦ Don Kis. 604.34–5

Genitive

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-οῦς

The genitive is formed by adding the feminine genitive singular marker -ς to the nominative:

τῆς λούστρας τῆς Τρελοῦς (1104 [14th-c. copy], Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 52, 241.459) χωράφιον τῆς Καλτζοῦς (1100–10, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 53, 255.25)

¹²¹ The form is found in a Hebrew gloss by Hillel ben Eljakim, a 12th-c. rabbi from Chandax, in Cod. Merzbacher 97 f.270, translated in the German modern edition as: “der Affe heißt auf griechisch μαῖμοῦ”.

όσπίτιον τῆς Καπασοῦς (1110–16, Constantinople, GAUTIER 1985: 150.22) τῆς Μαξιμοῦς Dig. G VI.452 τὸ τῆς Ἀλωποῦς λεγόμενον ρυάκιον (1300, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 90.255); τῆς Καλοκρασοῦς (1321, ibid. 108, 204.540); τῆς Παπαμιχαηλοῦς (1321, ibid. 109, 258.633) Βασίλειος ὁ τῆς Βασταΐωνανοῦς (1318, Athos, LEFORT 1973: 14, 103.47) τῆς Μαξιμοῦς τῆς κούρβας Dig. E 1577 τῆς ἄλωποῦς τὰς ὕβρεις Diig. tetr. 237 τῆς Κατσικοπουρδοῦς Spanos A 467 οἱ ὑπεξοῦσιοι τῆς Ρελιγιοῦς (1481, Rhodes?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 2, 205.27) (< Fr. religion) τῆς Εὐδοκοῦς Ἀξιότισσας (1510, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 20, 35.10); τῆς λεγομένης κερα-Ποθοῦς (1521, ibid. 60, 113.30); τῆς λεγομένης Μαροῦς (1523, ibid. 69, 128.9) μετ' εὐλαβοῦς καὶ ταπεινῆς ἀρεκουμαντισιοῦς (1511, Chios, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol.
 3: 17, 261.2–3) (< Occit. arrecoumandation) τῆς βερτοῦς Fior 75.29 (< Occit. vertut); μῖς κομπλετσιοῦς ibid. 83.1 (< Occit. couplexion) μῖς κονδετσιοῦς καὶ ἐνοῦ τέλου Fior Suppl. 270.12–13 συνεγγὺς τῆς Ἀλουποῦς (1542, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 104, 73.3) τῆς ἄλουποῦς SOFIANOS, Grammar 42.15; τῆς μαίμοῦς ibid. 42.19; τῆς γελοῦς ibid. 42.20 (< γελλώ) τσῆ χήρας Μπουραμπουροῦς (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 217, 220.3) τράγου ἢ ἄλουποῦς LANDOS, Geopon. 249.5 θέλω γυρίσει στσῆ Πετροῦς FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.48 τοῦ Νικόλα τῆς Πολυδουκατοῦς (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 206, 383.5); κερα-Μοσκοῦς (ibid. 234, 417.8–9)

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-οῦ(ν)

The accusative ends in /u/ and can be found with and without final /n/. Some editors spell the forms with a circumflex instead of an acute:

καὶ τὴν δούλη σου Θεφανοῦν (10th/11th c.?, Tinos, FEISSEL 1980: 12, 488.3) (< Θεοφανώ) πρὸς Μαξιμοῦν ἀπῆλθε Dig. G VI.385 ἔχει ... θυγατέρα Εὐγενοῦν (1302, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 93, 121.15) (< Εὐγενώ) τὴν λέουν οἱ Φράγκοι κομεσίουν Chron. Mor. H 7994 (< Fr. comission) (read κομεσιούν) ἀμὴ ἄγωμε εἰς τὴν Μαξιμοῦ Dig. E 1352; ᾽ς τὴν Μαξιμοῦν ὑπάγει ibid. 1358 ὅπου φορεῖ τὴν τσαπεροῦν Poulol. 103; τὴν ἐμπαλωματοῦν ibid. 335 τὴν μαίμοῦν ἐλάλει Diig. tetr. 970 ἄπασα χάριτα ἀπου ἔλαβεν ἀπου τὴν Ρελιζιού (1491, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1991: 1, 233.13) εἰς ρετιτζιοῦν Assizes A 115.20 (< Occit. reddition) διὰ μίαν κεστιοῦν τὴν εἶχεν VOUSTR., Chron. A 170.19 (< Fr. question) ἀγάπην καὶ δισκριτιοῦν Fior 74.2–3 (< Occit. discretion); κατὰ τὴν ὀπνιοῦν τινῶν φιλοσόφων ibid. 79.20 (< Occit./Fr. opinion); εἰς κουμπαρατσιοῦν ibid. 94.19 (< Old Ital. comparacion/comparaciun, see TLIO s.v. comparazione); τὴν ἄλουππουν ibid. 121.28–9 κατὰ τὴν κουντετζιού του (1536, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 116, 229.35) (< Ven. condizìon); ἐκάμασιν τῆς κοντρατζιού (1537, ibid. 117, 231.28) δίχως ραζοῦν καὶ δίχα κέρδος Pist. kekoim. 149 (< Occit. rasoun) νὰ μὴν ἔχει ἀπελατζιοῦν (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 9, 25.12); νὰ ἡκούσει τὴν πομπλικατζιού (1582, ibid. 162, 102.2); ὥς φαίνεται στὴν κοντσεσιού (1582, ibid. 347, 196.6–7)

μέ την κοντετζιού έτούτη (1593, Andros?, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 151, 275.23–4) τήν Τουρλουρού Stathis I.75; (γυναίκα μιὰ εἶχα ...) γλωσσού ibid. II.398 σύμβιον ονόματι Θεοσεβού Vios Filaret. 238.13 ἄλλο πανί στούππινο όπου λέσι καί εἶναι στήν ἀνυφαντού (1608, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 486, 438.10)
 νά πὰ γυρεύγω μιὰ γελλού FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.317; νά πὰ γυρεύγης μιάν πορδού ibid. I.323 εἰς τήν Καλαθοῦν (1672, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 18, 96.21)

Vocative

Fem.

Sg.	Voc.	-ού

The vocative is identical to the nominative:

οὐκ ἀποθνήσκεῖς, Μαξιμοῦ Dig. G VI 771 ἄλωπτου τρυπολόγισσα καί βουνοαναθρεμμένη Diig. tetr. 240 ἦλθες, βρωμούσα, τσαπερού, εἰς ἀτιμίαν τοῦ γάμου Poulol. 40; Γίλλου μέ τὸ καρκάλλιν ibid.
 429
 ὦ κυρά μαϊμού, τέτοιαν τρελάδαν ἔχεις ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 27.8
 ὦ ἄλουπτου SOFIANOS, Grammar 42.15 κερα-Φλουρού μου Stathis I.54; λεμενταρίστρα καί γλωσσού ibid. III.398 ὦ Πετροῦ ROMANOS, Grammar 6.4–5 κυρά ἄλεπτου, ποιὸς σ' ἔμαθε νά μοιράζης; Paroim. (Warner) 33.6
 ὦ ἄλουπτου πολύξερη Zinon IV.272

Plural

Nominative

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-οῦδες

The most common nominative plural ending is imparisyllabic -οῦδες. A limited number of examples has been found due to the fact that the numerous proper names in -ού belonging to this paradigm do not have plural forms:

ὅσα ὠρδινιάζαν οἱ γίλλοῦδες γ-οἱ μαμμοῦδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 216.4–5 οἱ ἄλουπτοῦδες SOFIANOS, Grammar 42.16 ὡς φαίνονται οἱ κουμεσιοῦδες (1569, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 1999: 26, 392.34) οἱ ποσεσιοῦδες τως (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 149.32) (< Ven. possesso) οἱ ἄλεπτοῦδες ἔχουσι φωλιές KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 8.20 οἱ μεθοῦδες Apok. Theot. 494.210 τα βούκινα επαίξασιν, ποροῦδες ελαλούσαν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 1087 (< Turk. boru; cf. modern Cypriot η πουρού) νά ἴθουσιν ἄλεπτοῦδες PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1797

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-οῦς

In Cypriot texts the intervocalic [ð] in -οῦδες may be deleted (see I, 3.6.1.1) and subsequently deletion of the weaker vowel [e] after [u] may occur, resulting in -οῦς (cf. acc. pl.; cf. also masculine nouns in -άς and -ές, 2.2.1, 2.6.1): οἱ βερτούς ἀλεγριάζουν τὴν καρδίαν Fior 78.16 (< Occit. vertut, pl. vertutz).

Genitive

Fem.

Pl.	Gen.	-οῦδων

The only ending found for the genitive plural is imparisyllabic -οῦδων: τῶν ἀλουπούδων SOFIANOS, Grammar 42.16; μετὰ μαλλιά καὶ δέρματα ἀλπούδων τε καὶ λύκων Dig. A 4731.

Accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-οῦδες

The most common ending for the accusative plural is imparisyllabic -οῦδες:

ὀψάρια καὶ βενιζοῦδες ... | ... ἐσύνηθαν ἐστῖιν Pol. Tr. 2852–3 (< Occit. venesoun) εἰς τρεῖς ραζοῦδες Fior 100.20 app. crit. (I) (< Occit. rasoun); εἰς ἓνα πύργον μὲ τσερτετατοῦδες ibid. 150.12 (< conflation of Fr. certitude and Ital. certità) στὴν λίμνην κείνην εἶδαμε ἐτότες ἀλεποῦδες Alex. Rim. 2079 ἐκεῖ εἶδαν ἀλεπούδες μεγάλες καὶ χοντρές Diig. Alex. K 377.14 (Mitsakis) πιάνει ἀλουποῦδες ζωντανές KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.27 τὲς ἀλουποῦδες SOFIANOS, Grammar 42.16 εἰς ἀλαποῦδες καὶ ἄλλα ζῶα Vios Aisop. I 247.13–14 (ἔφερον ...) καστόρχια, ἀλεποῦδες NOTARAS, Kitaia 345.17

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-οῦς

As with the nominative plural (see above), in texts from Cyprus the intervocalic [ð] of -οῦδες may be deleted (see I, 3.6.1.1), after which the unstressed /e/ is deleted after /u/, resulting in -οῦς. The spelling <ίους> is likely to represent <ιοῦς> with synizesis (see 1.5 for discussion):

τὲς ποσεσίους τοῦ MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 217.17 (< Occit. poussession) ἀπὸ δύο βερτούς Fior 76.12 (< Occit. vertut); τὲς ἄλλες δελεκτατσιούς ibid. 80.20 (< Occit. delection); εἰς τρεῖς ραζούς ibid. 100.20 (< Occit. rasoun) ἀλεγριάζοντα ἄξες ραζούς Fior Suppl. 280.21 τὲς ἰουριδιστίους (1523, Cyprus, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1894: III, 260.5) (< Occit. jurisdicción)

Vocative

Fem.

Pl.	Voc.	-οῦδες

The vocative plural is identical to the nominative. Predictably not many examples have been found: ὦ ἀλουτοῦδες SOFIANOS, Grammar 42.16–17.

2.13.2 Transfers to Other Paradigms

The name Μαξιμού has a pseudo-learned conservative alternative Μαξιμῶ in Digenis versions A and T: ἡ Μαξιμῶ τὸν ἔρωτα ἐξήπτεν Dig. T 2643 and A 3814; πρὸς Μαξιμῶ ibid. T 2259 and A 265.

In documents from Sicily loanwords from Italian may be adapted to Greek morphology by transferring to the feminine -η paradigm: ὀβληκατζούνην (1329, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 12, 51.9); ὀβληκατιούνην (ibid. 19, 67.3).

2.14 Feminine Nouns in /o/

Feminine nouns in -ῶ and -ω appear in the singular only as they consist mainly of proper names, nicknames, a few other nouns denoting females such as βάρω and place names such as Λιβᾶθῶ. Oxytone nouns in -ῶ, gen. -ῶς are attested from Hellenistic times onwards but they are proper names only (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 25); AG abstract nouns such as ἡχώ and πειθῶ appear not to have survived into the MedG period, at least not in vernacular texts.¹²² Paroxytone nouns in -ω are newer formations influenced by Slavic names/nouns in -o (ANDRIOTIS 1952: 29–33).

The oxytone nouns in -ῶ show a strong tendency to transfer to the oxytone -ού paradigm (see below 2.14.2; see also HENRICH 1991), and it may be suspected that oxytone forms in -ῶ often reflect scribal conservatism. This is corroborated by the fact that these nouns adhere to the AG paradigm in -ῶ, never occurring with final /n/ in the accusative singular and often retaining the AG genitive singular in -οῦς.

Feminine nouns in /o/ occur in a large geographical area including the northern mainland (cf. ANDRIOTIS 1952: 32–3), the Heptanese and the Peloponnese; however, in the texts examined no examples have been found from well-documented southern areas such as Crete and Cyprus and from most of the Aegean. Texts from these areas show a marked preference for oxytone forms in -ού (see 2.13).

Transfers to this paradigm from other paradigms are limited: there is the name Μαξιμού, which has a conservative alternative Μαξιμῶ in versions T and A of Digenis Akritis.¹²³ Moreover, the AG former 3rd-declension noun αἰδῶς may transfer to this paradigm, but it is not very common, appearing mainly in grammars and dictionaries.¹²⁴ The irregular noun Κῶς (ἡ Κῶς, τῆς Κῶ, τὴν Κῶ(ν)) may transfer to this paradigm: ἀγνάντια τῇ Γκῶ Portul. II 248.22; ὁ κάβος τῆς Κῶς ibid. 248.28, or keep its inherited declension: ἡ Γκῶς καὶ ἡ Λέρος (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 143.25). Sofianos treats the name ¹²² The form ἀλωπῶ, which Chatzidakis quotes from Hesychius is, in fact, ἀλώπα (see LSJ, Suppl. s.v.).

¹²³ Note that the name is Μαξιμού even in the linguistically conservative Grottaferrata version.

¹²⁴ This development precedes the period covered by this Grammar by many centuries; e.g. ἡ αἰδῶ in Herodian, quoting a 3rd-c. BC source (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 25; TSOPANAKIS 1968: 289), and elsewhere: see the online TLG; cf. the example from Kritopoulos below.

as indeclinable: ἡ Κώ, τῆς Κῶ, τὴν Κώ, ᾧ Κώ SOFIANOS, Grammar 42.18–19. For the substantivized verb ὁ/ἡ ἀγαπῶ, see 2.9.2 and 2.17.2.

2.14.1 The Paradigm

	Restricted		More restricted		Rare
Singular
Nom.	Ἀσημῶ	Μάρω		Μάρως
Gen.	Ἀσημοῦς	Μάρως	Ἀσημῶς		-οῦ	Μάρους Μάρωνος
Acc.	Ἀσημῶ	Μάρω(ν)
Voc.	Ἀσημῶ	Μάρω

Singular

Nominative

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ῶ ἰ -ω ἰ -ως

The nominative singular normally ends in /o/:

- χήρα Θεοτοκῶς ἡ γυνὴ Ἰωάννου ἱερέως τοῦ Ποτηρᾶ (1301, Athos, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 30, 203, 24)
- χήρα ἡ Λαχανῶς (1320, Athos/Thessaloniki, LEFORT et al. 1994: 79, 263.37)
- Μαρία χήρα ἡ Τζυκαλῶς (1321, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 109, 257.617–18); χήρα ἡ Εὐγενῶ (ibid. 274.928)
- χήρα ἡ Δρακοντῶς (1338, Athos, PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1986: 25, 192.65); χήρα ἡ Ἀλεξανδρῶ (ibid. 194.97)
- χήρα ἡ Σαπωνῶς (1341, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 87, 84.49)
- ἡ Λητῶς, τῆς Λητοῦς, τὴν Λητῶ, ᾧ Λητῶ SOFIANOS, Grammar 42.18
- ὡς ἤκουσεν ἡ Μαξιμῶ Dig. T 2310 and A 3399 (< Μαξιμού)
- ἡ αἰδῶ, τῆς αἰδοῦ ... ἀντὶ τῆς αἰδῶς, τῆς αἰδόος αἰδοῦς KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 109.26–7
- καὶ ἡ σύμβιος αὐτοῦ κυράτσα Λάμπω (1539, Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 1, 98.2–3)
- ἡ Κατέρω (1549, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 51, 93.5)
- νὰ εἶμαι ὀμπλιγάδῃ ἐγὼ ἡ Μάρω (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 241, 146.6)
- ἐγὼ ἡ Ζαφείρω (1606, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 26, 102.17–18)
- ἡ Ἀγγέλω ... Καλόχων ... Μάρω ROMANOS, Grammar 6.1
- ἀπέθανεν ἡ θυγατέρα μου ἡ Ἀσάνω PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §12.1
- ἡ ἄνωθεν κυράτσα Μήλω (1662, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 31, 21.5)
- ἡ Ἀγγέλω καὶ ἡ Ἀνέστω (1675, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 21, 131.3–4)
- ἡ μὲν Στάμω (1690, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 11, 6.2); ἡ δὲ καὶ ἄλλη Στάθω (ibid. 6.2); ἡ Χάιδω (1692, ibid. 23, 15.2); ἡ Εὐδω (1693, ibid. 28, 20.2); ἡ Κυράνω (ibid. 29, 21.2)

Addition of final /s/ has been found in a collection of documents from Siatista, occurring alongside forms in -ω (see above). This indicates a certain degree of interaction between feminines in -ω and -ος (see 2.1): παρεστάθη ή Κάλλως (1668, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 2, 1.1 and 2.8); ή Κυράνως (17th c., ibid. 3, 2.4).

Genitive

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ῶς ἢ -ως

The genitive singular is formed by adding the genitive marker /s/ to the nominative. This ending is the normal one for paroxytone names, but less common with oxytone names, which belong to a more conservative paradigm:

- οἱ παῖδες τῆς Λεοντῶς (1221 or 1236, Patmos, Nystazopoulou-Pelekidou 1980: 62, 147.9) τῆς Βελισκῶς (1387, Athens?, BUCHON 1843: XL, 221.2) στήν περιοχὴν τῆς Λιβαθῶς (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 173, 106.8) καὶ ἡ στολὴ τῆς Μαξιμῶς Dig. A 3543 (< Μαξιμού)
- τῆς θυγατρὸς αὐτῶν ὀνόματι Στάμως (1447, Corfu, EFSTRATIADIS 1925: 48.8) Φράγκως τῆς ἀνιψίας μου (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 62, 179.17) τῆς βάβως του (1524, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 153, 189.28) τῆς κυρα-Ρόδως (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 82, 272.12–13) τῆς Εὐγένως (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 31, 70.5) τῆς ἄνωθεν κυρα-Μάρως (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 241, 146.5–6) τῆς θυγατερὸς τῆς Ζαφείρως (1606, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 26, 103.29) τῆς ἐγγονιάς μου τῆς Μήλως (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 8, 7.10); τῆς Λούργως (ibid. 18, 13.1) τῆς Δέσπως (1682, Corfu, DOIKAS 1982: [8], 145.2); ὁ ἄνδρας τῆς Ἀνθούσως (ibid. 145.5–6) τῆς Μάρως (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 138.21) τῆς Στάθως (1690, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 11, 6.2); καταπάνου τῆς Στάμως (1692, ibid. 20, 14.12); τῆς Γεώργως (1697, ibid. 30, 23.32)

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-οῦς ἢ -οῦ ἢ -ους

The genitive of oxytone nouns is not uncommon, though the texts in which it occurs are mainly in mixed or higher registers:

- καὶ τῆς δούλης σου Σεργοῦς (10th/11th c.?, Tinos, FEISSEL 1980: 6, 485.2–3); τῆς δούλης σου Θεοφυλακτοῦς (ibid. 14, 490.1) Μιχαὴλ ὁ υἱὸς τῆς Σαπωνοῦς (1234–9, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 7, 38.16–17) καὶ τῆς συμβίου Λεοντοῦς (1288/9, Naxos, KALOPISSI-VERTI 1992: 38d, 89.1) χήρας Θεοδώρας τῆς Δαμασκοῦς (ca. 1300, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 91, 103.30) πλησίον τῆς Τζυκαλοῦς (1321, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 109, 258.630); ὁ υἱὸς Ἰωάννου τοῦ Κριβαβέτση ἡτοῖ τῆς Ἀθανασοῦς (ibid. 109, 268.811) τὰ δίκαια τῆς Ρεπανοῦς (1322/3, Athos, PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1986: 19, 161.62) ἡ ἀδ(ε)λ(φ)ὴ τῆς Ἀλεξανδροῦς (1338, Athos, PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1986: 25, 194.98) καὶ τῆς παντόλμου Μαξιμοῦς Dig. A 2438 (< Μαξιμού)

Deletion of final /s/ is mentioned in the grammar of Kritopoulos. As Kritopoulos was an educated man who looked down upon the vernacular language, there is no reason to doubt the validity of his observations: ἡ αἰδῶ, τῆς αἰδοῦ ... ἀντὶ ἡ αἰδῶς, τῆς αἰδόος αἰδοῦς ... ἡ Λητῶ, τῆς Λητοῦ ... ἀντὶ ἡ Λητῶ, τῆς Λητόος Λητοῦς KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 109.26–8.

Forms in -ους of paroxytone names are either the result of “raising vocalism” (see I, 2.5.4) or due to influence from the oxytone feminine names in -ῶ: σίγνον χειρὸς Νικήτου<ς> συμβίου Νικολάου (1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 6, 71.1) (with deletion of /s/ due to the following /s/ (haplography)); τῆς Πάνους (1611, Ioannina, MERTZIOS 1936a: (1), 19.13); τῆς Ζαφύρους (1696 [18th-c. copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B 25, f.186r.18 and 27).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ωνος

The following example is a one-off use of the residual genitive ending of 3rd-declension nouns in -ων with a proparoxytone noun: τῆς Μάρωνος (1678, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 63, 53.17–18).

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ῶ ἢ -ω(ν)

The accusative ends in /o/. Addition of final /n/ has only been found with paroxytone names, whereas the oxytone names follow the conservative (AG) paradigm:

ἔχει ... θυγατέρας Μοσχῶ καὶ Θεοτοκῶ (1263, Leros, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 186.32) ἔχει γυναῖκα Ἰωαννῶ (ca. 1300, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 91, 108.108); ἔχει γυναῖκα Ἀργυρῶ (1321, ibid. 109, 242.360); θυγατέρας Θεοδώραν καὶ Ἀρχοντῶ (ibid. 253.554) ἔχει νύμφην ... Παρασκευῶ (1301, Athos, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 30, 203.24–5) ἔχει γυναῖκα Χιονῶ (1320, Athos/Thessaloniki, LEFORT et al. 1994: 79, 275.420) ἔχει ἐγγονὴν Εὐγενῶ (15th c., Lemnos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 7, 307.15) εἰς τὴν Λιβαθῶ (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 36, 37.15–16) ὅταν ἐπολεμοῦσαν τὴν Ἰεριχῶ (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 236.121) τὴν Μαξιμῶ ἐνίκησε Dig. A 3877 τὴν πρῶτην ἔλεγαν Μάρων (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 71, f.Ir.2–3) (describes a Constantinopolitan member of the well-known Kantakouzinos family) μὲ τὴν κυρὰ-Κιούρῶ τὴν Τετράδαινα (1516, Corfu, LITSAS/LEONDIADOU 2011: 41, 73.8) τὴν κυρὰν Μάρων, ἥ ὑπῆρχε γυνὴ τοῦ σουλτάν Μουράτη Ekth. Chron. 22.22 μὲ τὴν μπαροῦσαν συμβία του κυρὰ-Στάμῶ (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 78, 269.2) τὴν ἀνωθεν κυρατσα-Μάρῶ (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 241, 146.2) τὴν Ἀλέξῶ (1553, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 116, 164.20) τὴν μητέραν του Δημήτρῶ ... τὴν κυρὰ του Ἀνάστῶ (1631, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 17, 312.3–4) τὴν Θεοδώραν καὶ Χάιδῶ (1691, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 19, 13.3)

VocativeFem.

Sg.	Voc.	-ὦ ἰ -ω

As most of the proper names belonging to this paradigm occur in documents, not many vocatives have been found:

ὦ Λητώ SOFIANOS, Grammar 42.18

μὴν ἀπεράσης, Μαξιμῷ Dig. A 3572

μηδὲν περάσης, Μαξιμῷ Dig. T 2405

ὦ Κλώθω Zinon IV.111

2.14.2 Transfers to Other Paradigms

Oxytone nouns in -ὦ, such as γελῶ/γίλλῳ, and especially proper names (Ἀσημῷ, Θεοφανῷ) show a strong tendency to transfer to -οῦ. This tendency pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar (see the introduction to 2.13), and in certain areas forms in -οῦ are exclusive.

2.15 Feminine Nouns in -ιό(ν)

This is a small paradigm consisting mostly of Italian loanwords in -ιόν, which are adapted to Greek morphology by forming the genitive singular in -ς and an imparisyllabic plural in -όνες based on Italian -ioni. The paradigm shows similarities with loanwords from Latin that are found in older legal texts, such as δεφενσίων, κονβεντίων, ρελεγατίων and others, which are declined according to 3rd-declension nouns in -ων.¹²⁵ The paradigm in -ιό(ν) is defective in that no vocatives or genitives plural have been found.

Examples are limited to areas under Italian rule and the vast majority have been found in documentary texts. Literature, even vernacular literature, is linguistically conservative and thus, unsurprisingly, nouns in -ιό(ν) have mainly been found in comedies and similar works (Katzourbos, Stathis, Bertoldos, Bertoldinos and Fortounatos),¹²⁶ which reflect the spoken language more than other literary texts, and in texts with lower literary aspirations such as chronicles. Occurrences in other verse texts (Falieros, Bounialis) are rare.

¹²⁵ Thus: ἡ δεφενσίω, gen. sg. δεφενσίονος, dat. sg. δεφενσίονι, acc. sg. δεφενσίονα, nom. pl. δεφενσίονες, gen. pl. δεφενσιόνων, dat. pl. δεφενσίοσι, acc. pl. δεφενσίονας. These Latin loanwords are quite common in Byzantine legal texts such as the Basilica; see the online TLG for examples.

¹²⁶ Forms in -ιό(ν) can still be found in the Zakynthian Dimitrios Gouzelis's comedy O Chasis (e.g. σὲ τί ντεσπερατισὶ βρίσκομαι GOUZELIS, O Chasis I.140; στήν κοβερατσισὶ ibid. I.192), the final version of which dates from 1795 (ed. Synodinos).

2.15.1 The Paradigm

	Restricted	More restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	κονδιτσιό(ν)	κονδιτισό	κονδιτσιός
Gen.	κονδιτσιός	κονδιτισός	κονδιτσιόνος -ιόνες
Acc.	κονδιτσιό(ν)	κονδιτισό	κονδιτσιός κονδιτσιόνα
Voc.	(κονδιτσιό(ν))
Plural
Nom.	κονδιτσιόνες
Gen.	(κονδιτσιόνων)
Acc.	κονδιτσιόνες
Voc.	(κονδιτσιόνες)

Singular*NominativeFem.*

Sg.	Nom.	-ιό(ν) † -ό(ν)

The normal ending for the nominative singular is -ιό(ν). The final /n/ of the Venetian originals is often retained:

καθώς φαίνεται ἡ τερμενατσιό (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 44.23–4) (< Ven. terminaziòn) εἰς ... τελείωσιν, ὃ λέγεται ἐκζεκουντσιόν (1547, Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 3, 101.11) (< Ven. esecussiòn) ὡς καθὼς δηλοῖ ἡ κουντσεσιόν τοῦ πατρός μου (1548, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 200, 126.3) (< Ven. concessiòn) ἡ ἄνωθεν κομεσιόν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 24, 24.9) (< Ven. comissiòn) νά 'νε ἡ λεγόμενη κομεσιόν κομμένη καὶ ἀνουλάδα (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 38, 58.10–11); δίχως νά φαίνεται καουτσιόν (1606, ibid. 410, 381.6) (< Ven. cauziòn); ἡ λεγόμενη ἰντιματσιόν (1610, ibid. 661, 575.4) (< Ven. intimaziòn); ἡ ἄνωθεν πορτσιόν τσῆ πουλήτρας (1613, ibid. 846, 738.25–6) (< Ven. porziòn) τοῦτ' εἶναι σοτισφατσιόν Stathis III.491 (< Ven. sodisfaziòn) καὶ ποιά 'ναι ἡ ἐδική σου | προφесиό FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.249–50 (< Ven. professiòn) νιβελατσιό τοῦ Βλάχη (1695, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 361.1) (< Ital. nivelazione)

Forms in -ό(ν), in which /j/ is deleted after the sibilant or affricate of the stem (see I, 2.4.7.3), occur in texts from Crete and the Heptanese: ἀμπολλάκις καὶ ... τοῦ ἔρθη κουντουναζόν (1528, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 139, 91.7–8) (< Ven. condannàr); ἡ σμπουρατσὸ FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.274 and I.277 (< Ven. sboràr) (BOERIO, Lex. does not mention any corresponding nouns).

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ιός ἰ -ός

Since, after the demise of the 3rd declension, feminine nominatives in /'on/ had become alien to the Greek morphological system, the nouns belonging to this innovative paradigm are sometimes reanalysed as belonging to the feminine -ός paradigm (2.1.1):

- ἡ κουμεισιὸς ἀπού ἴκαμα ... ἔστι ψευδής (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 11, 19.12) ἡ λεγομένη τερμενατσιὸς (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 187, 176.9) ἡ κομεισιὸς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 18, 18.5 and ibid. 127, 126.21) ἡ παρούσα ντονατσιὸς (1603, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 178, 189.14–15)

Genitive

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ιός ἰ -ός

The genitive singular ends in -ιός. This could be viewed as either a regular addition of final /s/ to the nominative in -ιό(ν), or as an uninflected form, given the fact that nominatives and accusatives in -ιός also occur:

- τῆς τιμῆς καὶ κοντοτζιὸς αὐτῆς (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 15, 26.19) μὲ δύναμιν τουνῆς τως τῆς κομεισιὸς (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 115, 94.9) τῆς κοντσεσιὸς μου (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 165, 158.18) τῆς τσεσιὸς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 220, 218.2) (< Ven. zessiòn); τῆς λεγομένης τερμενατσιὸς (ibid. 293, 290.18–19) τσῆ μαλτσιπατσιὸς (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 411, 381.4) (< Ven. mancipaziòn); τσῆ παρούσας ντονατσιὸς (ibid. 662, 576.5) τῆς κοντσεσιὸς (1624, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2000: 2, 515.1) διὰ τὴν βιάσσην τσῆ ὀκαζιὸς (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 36.13–14) τσῆ κοντιτσιὸς του (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 73.14–15) διήγησις περὶ τῆς ρεμπελιὸς Reb. Evr. 103 tit.

In texts from Crete and the Heptanese (cf. nom. and acc.) we find genitive forms in -ός, in which /j/ is deleted after the sibilant or affricate of the stem (see I, 2.4.7.3): τῆς λεγομένης τως ντελιβραζὸς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 209, 209.14) (< Ven. delivràr).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ιόνος

This ending, formed on the analogy of the learned pseudo-3rd-declension paradigm in -ίων (see the introduction to this section, 2.15) but maintaining the stress pattern of Italian, occurs in texts that strive for a more formal register: μετὰ καὶ δεφενσιόνος (1061, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 8, 174.45 and 1172, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 179, 234.10–11); δετερμινατσιόνος τοῦ μεγαλειοτάτου Ρετζιμέντου (1547, Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 3, 101.12).

Fem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ιόνες

Sporadically genitives occur that are derived from the Italian noun in -ione, not the Venetian variant in -ion, by adding /s/: εἶναι τῆς σοτισφατζιόνες του (1685, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954/55: 33, 63.4).

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ιό(ν) ἢ -ό(ν)

The accusative is identical to the nominative. Here, too, the final /n/ of the Venetian originals is usually retained:

- δὲν ἦσανε εἰς μία ὀπινιόν (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 44.11) μὲ τέτοιαν κοντετσιόν (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 147.21) δίχως καμίαν κοντραδιτσιόν (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.15) ἔχω καὶ τὴν δονασιόν τοῦ δοῦκα (15th c., Cyprus, BAGLIONI 2006: 202.31–2) τὴν δονατσιόν ποιούμεθα σοι (1499, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: App. 2, 311.37); καθὼς φαίνεται μὲ πετετσιόν (1506, ibid. 1, 3.11); ὡς καθὼς τοῦ ἔκαμα ἐγὼ κουμεσιόν (1509, ibid. 11, 19.9–10) ὄλην ἐκείνην τὴν κοντετσιόν (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.20); τὴν σιγουρτά καὶ τὴν κονφερματσιόν (ibid. 174.43) φίλησε τὴν σουπλικατσιόν αὐτὴν (1514, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1963b: 165.57) κομεσιόν κάμνω ἐγὼ Γεώργης Κλήμης (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 2, 3.1); διὰ συμβετσιόν τοῦ ἀμπελιοῦ μου (ibid. 13, 14.2); μὲ ὀμπλεγατσιόν νὰ μοῦ τὰ μετρήσετε (ibid. 60, 58.8) χωρὶς καμίαν σιγουρατσιόν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 57α, 59.5); ὀδιὰ τὴν ἀπελατσιόν (ibid. 111, 110.5–6) κάνει τελείαν ριφουδατσιόν (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 311, 181.4) νὰ μὴ βαριέται τὴ λετσιὸ CHORTATIS, Katz. IV.142 δίδοντας ντεφινιτσιόν Stathis III.128; γρίκησε μιὰ ὀρατσιόν ibid. III.135 τὴν ἄνωθεν ἄσολοτσιὸ (1601, Crete, ΣΙΑΚΟΤΟΣ 2006: 1, 190.7–8) μὲ δίχως καμίας λογιῆς κοντραντιτσιὸ (1603, Crete, VIOLIDAKIS 2006: 2, 266.36) τὴ ζαμινατσιὸ (1638, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 129, 119.7); τὴν αὐτὴ διφινετσιὸ (1643, ibid. 265, 211.21) τὴν παρὼν ντονατσιὸ (1647, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 16, 89.57) μὲ δίχως ντεσκριτσιὸ FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.99; γιὰ δέτε τὴν κερα-Μηλιά ντεσκριτσιὸ τὴν ἔχει! ibid. V.37 ἔτυχε κ' ἔπεςεν ἰστιὰ εἰς τὴ μονετσιὸ του BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 524.3 (< Ven. monizìon) μὲ μίαν σταθεράν καὶ γενναίαν ρεσουλουτσιὸ Ist. Enet. 417.34 διὰ προβιζιόν PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 119.34; ἔκανε τρεῖς ἡμέρες ἀράδα προτσεσιόν ibid. 120.22; νὰ σταμπιλίρουν τὴν πρεπαρατσιόν ibid. 122.23–4

Deletion of /j/ (after sibilants and affricates, see I, 2.4.7.3) occurs in texts from Crete and the Heptanese (cf. nom. sg.): κατὰ τὴν κοντετζό σου FALIEROS, Log. did. 217; τὴν λεγομένην ρεφουδαζόν (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 65, 71.20); εἰς τὴν ντελιβραζόν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 48, 47.18); με̃ δίχως ντεσκριτσό FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.99.

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ιός

Accusatives in -ιός occur regularly in the archive of notary Maras, alongside forms in -ιόν, which are more frequent. The single instance in Varouchas (κοντετσιός) is likely to be a writing mistake:

εἰς ὀμπλιγατσιός (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 78, 75.4); εἰς ὀμπλεγατσιός (ibid. 125, 124.27, ibid. 128, 128.39 and ibid. 318, 317.19; and 1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 13, 18.24); χωρὶς καμίαν κοντραντισιός (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 240, 234.45); ἀπὸ σατισφατσιός μου (ibid. 341, 325.14) με̃ τὴ κοντετσιός τσῆ ξαγοράς (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 130, 143.15)

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ιόνα † -όνα

Addition of /a/ is another way of adapting these nouns to Greek morphology (cf. the nominative). The use of this ending follows the pattern of former 3rd-declension nouns in -ών (e.g. ἀμαζών, ἰνδικτιών): με̃ τὴν γκοντασιόνα τούτη (1586, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 145, 268.3–4) (< Ven. condizìon).

Vocative

No examples found

Plural

Nominative

Fem.

Pl.	Nom.	-ιόνες

The nominative plural is imparisyllabic and an adaptation of the Italian plural -oni:

οἱ παροῦσες ντονασιόνες (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 120, 133.20–1 and 1603, ibid. 178, 190.16–17) οἱ ρατζιόνες ποῦ μιλά Stathis III.197 κάθε ἡμέραν δὲν λαχαίνουν τοιοῦτες ὀκαζιόνες Bertoldos 62.8

Forms in which /j/ is deleted have not been found, but cf. the accusative.

Genitive

No examples found.

Accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Acc.	-ιόνες † -όνες

The accusative is identical to the nominative:

εἰς πολὺ κλόμε, καὶ πολλὰς κοντετσιόνες Lapid. 187.12–13 ἔχω ... σπῖτια καὶ ποσεσιόνες (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.36) κατὰ τοὺς μόδους ὅλους καὶ κοντετσιόνες (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 98.181) μὲ ... ἀκτσιόνες καὶ γιουριντιτσιόνες (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 308, 284.7) καὶ προμεσιόνες νὰ κάμνεις (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 127, 126.14) τὲς μεγάλες προβεζιόνες ἀποὺ ἔκαμε ἡ ἀφεντία σου (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 146.11) γιὰ τσί κλαούζουλες καὶ κοντιτζιόνες (1607, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 431, 397.11); ὀρισμούς, σεντέντσιες, ἀπελατσιόνες, κοντραντιτσιόνες (ibid. 497, 447.10–11) κρίμα εἰς τὶς λετσιόνες μου CHORTATSI, Katz. IV.133 εἴτις ἄλλες καουτσιόνες ἔχου ἐ<ν> τῷ μέσῳ τους (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 88, 92.10) εἰς τοιοῦτες ἀφορμές, ἤγουν ὀκαζιόνες Bertoldin. 99.28 μὲ τσεσιόνες πριβάτες (1665, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 3, 116.12) ἐδειάζασινε τὸ ἐκκλησές, λίμπρα, μονετσιόνες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 546.17 εἰς ὅλες τὲς ἀνωθεν πάρτες καὶ ἐσπρεσιόνες (1672, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1938: 1, 295.8–9) μὲ τοὺς κατωγεγραμμένους μόδους ... καὶ ὀπλιγατσιόνες (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 4, 126.19–20) φυλάσσοντας τὶς κοντετσιόνες (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 180.15) κάτεργα ... μὲ ἀνθρώπους καὶ μουνιτσιόνες MATESIS, Chron. 66.14 διὰ προτενσιόνες (1695, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 357.14) μὲ προτσεσιόνες PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 109.9–10; ἔβαλε προκλαματσιόνες ριγορόζες ibid. 110.20

In texts from Crete and the Heptanese (cf. the singular) we find forms in -ό(ν), in which /j/ is deleted after the sibilant or affricate of the stem (see I, 2.4.7.3): εἴτι ἄλλες διαφορὲς καὶ καουτσόνες ὅπου ἔχου (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 37, 55.11); εἴτι ἄλλες καουτσόνες ἔχου (ibid. 69, 79.8).

Vocative

No examples found.

2.15.2 Transfers to Other Paradigms

Feminine nouns in -ιό(ν) may develop alternative feminine forms in -ού (2.13): κατὰ τὴν κοντετζιού του (1536, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 116, 229.35); οἱ ποσεσιοῦδες τως (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 149.32); νὰ ἡκούσει τὴν πομπλικατζιού (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 162, 102.2); περὶ διὰ τὴ πρετενσιοῦ (1703, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 46, 60.25).

In documents from Sicily these loanwords may be adapted to Greek morphology by transferring to the feminine -η paradigm (2.12.2): ὀβληγατιόνης (1329, Sicily, CANTARELLA 1937: 11, 47.26); ὀβληγατιόνην (ibid. 13, 54.9).

They also occasionally change gender and transfer to the neuter paradigm in -ιό (2.20.1.1): τὸ κουτουνασιό (1638, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 129, 119.9); ἕνα ἱτιμασιό ποὺ ἔκαμε ὁ Γιάννης κόντρα τοῦ Στάθη (1644, ibid. 301, 236.13); κανένα <ᾶ>πελατζιό νὰ μὴν ἔχει (1645, ibid. 328, 250.15); διήγησις του ρεμπελιού των ποπολάρων SOUMAKIS, Rebelio tit.; διὰ νὰ σηκωθῇ τὸ ρεμπελιό EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 42.22.

2.16 Feminine Nouns in /e/

This is a small paradigm consisting mostly of feminine Venetian/Italian, as well as French and Turkish, loanwords in -έ, and -ε. Plural forms are hard to locate, but tend to be imparisyllabic in -έδες for the oxytone sub-paradigm (2.16.1), and parisyllabic in -ες for the paroxytone one (2.16.2). The genitive singular of the paroxytone paradigm is formed regularly, by adding -ς to the nominative. For the oxytone paradigm only uninflected genitives in -έ have so far been found. This may be explained by the fact that oxytone nouns in -έ are quite rare and entered the Greek language relatively late: leaving aside feminine biblical names that are generally indeclinable, no examples have been found before the 16th c. The paradigm is defective in that very few vocatives and no genitives plural have been found.

Examples are limited to areas under Italian, French and Turkish linguistic influence, and the majority of them have been found in documentary texts. Innovative forms based on a Greek root are quite rare, but they include the unusual Naxiot variant πουλητέ for πουλήτρια.

For feminine forms in -έ that are the result of coalescence of /e/ and /a/ (e.g. καρέ for καρέα, μερέ for μερέα), see 2.11.4. For neuter nouns in -ε derived from masculine Venetian/Italian nouns see 2.24.3.

2.16.1 Oxytone Nouns in -έ

	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	βαλετέ	-ές
Gen.	βαλετέ
Acc.	βαλετέ
Voc.	βαλετέ
Plural
Nom.	βαλετέδες
Gen.	(βελετέδων)
Acc.	βαλετέδες
Voc.	(βαλετέδες)

Singular

Nominative, genitive, accusative and vocative

Fem.

Sg.	Nom., Gen., Acc. & Voc.	-έ

As noted above, for the genitive singular no inflected forms have been found. Therefore, the normal ending for all cases of the singular is -έ. For the accusative, no examples with an added final /n/ have been found:

Nominative

- ή λεγόμενη κερα-Κατερίνα ή πουλητὲ (1598, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 158, 284.13) ή ἄνωθεν Καλή ή πουλητὲ (1628, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 3, 131.16) ή παλαιὰ βαλετὲ τοῦ σουλτάνου (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 400, f.2r.46) (< Turk. vâlîde) που ἔχεν την στείλει η βαλετὲ ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 160 ή κερα-Χατιτζέ (1672, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 6, 168.4) ή ... κερα-Ζαμπέταν ή πουλητὲ (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 256, 447.14)

Genitive

- τῆς Μπερσαπέ Fior 96.10 (= Βηρσαβεέ) τῆς κερα-Μαρίας τῆς πουλητὲ (1623, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 10, 50.21) τῆς κερα-Χατιτζέ (1672, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 6, 168.21)

Accusative

- ἀπὲ τὴν ἄνωθεν Καλή τὴν πουλητὲ (1628, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 3, 132.27) τὴν καινούργια τὴν βαλετὲ (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 400, f.2r.47) εἰς τὴν βαλετὲ σουλτάνα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 769cap

Vocative

- καθολικὴ μητέρα μου και βαλετὲ σουλτάνα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 800

Fem.

Sg.	Nom.	-ές

A nominative singular in -ές occurs in the early-18th-c. translation of Don Quixote, possibly as a result of confusion with the masculine noun ὁ ἐγλεντζές (for which see 2.6.1), which also occurs in the text: εἶναι η πλέον νόστιμη και η πλέον ἀβλαβος ἐγλεντζές Don Kis. 163.20 (< Turk. eğlence).

Plural*Nominative, Accusative and VocativeFem.*

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-έδες

Although only accusative examples have been found, it may safely be assumed that the endings for the nominative, the accusative and the vocative are identical: εἶχε καὶ αὐτὴ μερικὰ κορίτσια ἐδικὰ τῆς, τζεπέδες <σ>τημένες (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 401, f.2r.69) (< Turk. cephē); ἔχουν ἄλλες ἀσκησες και ἄλλες ἐγλεντζέδες Don Kis. 195.11 (< Turk. eğlence).

2.16.2 Paroxytone Nouns in -ε

Restricted
Singular
Nom.	πάρτε
Gen.	πάρτες
Acc.	πάρτε(ν)
Voc.	(πάρτε)
Plural
Nom.	πάρτες
Gen.
Acc.	πάρτες
Voc.	(πάρτες)

Singular*NominativeFem.*

Sg.	Nom.	-ε

The nominative singular ends in -ε:

- ή βάλλε τοῦ μαστόρου ἔναι λιμένας (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 76.23) (< Ital. valle) ή πάρτε τῇ ἄνωθεν κερα-Μαρίας (1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 129, 142.6) (< Ital. parte) ή θυγάτερα του ή Βιολάντε (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 3, 32.33) πάρτε ἀπό τοὺς ὁποίους μαραγκοὺς ἤρθασιν εἰς ... (post 1669, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1938: 2, 296.11)

GenitiveFem.

Sg.	Gen.	-ες

The genitive is formed by adding -ς to the nominative, as with most other feminine paradigms:

- τῆς Βάλλες (1134, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 115, 154.9) (< Ital. valle) τὸ δικαίωμαν τῆς κιφίρες Assizes B 491.1 (< OFr. képhir, see YANGOULLIS 2002 s.v.)
 τῆς ἀγίας κονγγρεγατζιόνες (17th c., Syros, ZERLENDIS 1924b: [3], 14.4–5) (< Ital. congregazione) τὸ ποσέσον τῇ ἄνωθεν πάρτες (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 147, 160.9) (< Ital. parte) τῆς Βιολάντες (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 3, 32.37) τῆς κυράτσας Διαμάντες (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 113.32) διὰ τῆς παρούσης φέδες (1692, Nauplion, DOKOS 1985: 1, 109.2) (< Ital. fede) τῆς πάρτες (1698, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1991: 3, 86.40) ἀπὸ τοὺς Κρητικούς τῆς ἄρτες (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 108.30–1) (< Ital. arte)

Accusative

Fem.

Sg.	Acc.	-ε(ν)

The accusative is identical to the nominative, with the only difference that it may appear with an added final /n/:

ἀπαὶ τὴν κιφίρε Assizes B 491.1 (< OFr. képhir, see YANGOULLIS 2002 s.v.)
 τὴν πάρτε μου (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 11, 15.15) (< Ital. parte) ρεφουδάροντα πᾶσα λέντζε (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 25, 25.15) (< Ven. lege) εἰς τὴν πάρτε τοῦ αὐτοῦ Δημητρίου (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 5, 83.8) ἀποὺ τὴ μπάρτε τοῦ ἑρετιτᾶς (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 53, 73–4.19) ἐτούτην τὴν φέδε καὶ μαρτυρίαν (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 84.18) (< Ital. fede) εἰς τὴν φέδε τοῦ ὁποίου τὰ ἐρεκομαντάρανε (1674, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 3, 122.6–7) στὴν μπάρτεν του (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 48.29–30) ἤγουν τὴν πάρτεν του (1536, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 116, 229.4) τὴν πάρτεν του (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 102, 77.12); εἰς τὴν μπάρτεν του (ibid. 110, 85.22) τὴν πάρτεν ὁποῦ εἶχεν (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 85, 102.6)

Plural

Nominative and accusative

Fem.

Pl.	Nom. & Acc.	-ες

For the plural only nominative and accusative examples have been found, but it may be assumed that the ending for the vocative is identical:

Nominative

οἱ τρεῖς πάρτες (1549/1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 34, 74.16) οἱ τρεῖς πάρτες (1608, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 488, 440.4)

Accusative

ἀπὸ ἑξὶ πάρτες τὴ μία (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 36, 56.10); ὅλα τὰ μισὰ ἀποὺ τοῖς πάρτες (1602, ibid. 167, 178.11) εἰς ὅλες τὲς ἄνωθεν πάρτες (1672, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1938: 1, 295.8–9)

2.16.3 Transfers to Other Paradigms

Nouns belonging to sub-paradigm 2.16.2 may transfer to feminine nouns in -η (see 2.12.2). Their plural formation remains as above, in -ες: τὴν πάρτη ἐτούτη (1594, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 153, 278.35); μαζί με τήν ... κερα-Βιολάντην (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 3, 31.8); ή μία πάρτη καί ή άλλη (1619, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 1, 187.6).

2.17 Irregular and Indeclinable Feminine Nouns

Most of the 3rd declension feminine nouns had become regularized by transferring to the 1st and 2nd declensions by the LMedG period. Only very few of them remain in use, notably δρῦς, demonstrating a certain degree of morphological innovation.

Greek being an inflected language throughout its history, indeclinable nouns are very uncommon, restricted to the rare substantivized verb form ή άγαπώ, and γής, a rather common variant of γῆ.

2.17.1 Irregular Nouns

2.17.1.1 δρῦς

The noun δρῦς clearly belongs to a more formal register and is not very common in the period covered by this Grammar: ὑπὸκάτω τῆς κουτουλῆς δρυός (1341, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 86, 64.107–8); οἱ δρύες τῆς αὐτῆς μονῆς (1271, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 70, 200.6); τῶν δρυῶν (ibid. 200.14); κλαδί μιας δρυός Don Kis. 46.32.

Several attempts at regularization may be observed, such as deletion of final /n/ in acc. sg. δρῦν, the appearance of the nom. pl. ending -ες in acc. pl., or the formation of a new singular δρύα(ν), based on the plural δρύες: εἰς τήν μεγάλην δρῦ (1112, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 32, 148.10); εἰς τήν δρύαν (ibid. 148.12); ἀπὸ τῆς λ' δρύες (1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 534.5). Furthermore, this noun may undergo gender change and become masculine (see 2.9.1 for details).

Sometimes the noun is treated as indeclinable: ἄχρι τῆς δρυς (1154, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 151, 200.27).

2.17.1.2 ἰσχὺς

The noun ἰσχὺς only occurs in the singular, and is restricted to mixed-register texts:

μόνη τῶν ἔργων ἡ ἰσχὺς GLYKAS, Stichoi 418 ἰσχὺς εἰς τὰ μαχαίρια σας Alosis 697 μετὰ πολλῆς ἰσχύος Pol. Tr. 5116 (reading of one ms) ἐν πλήθει τῆς ἰσχύος Diig. tetr. 1079 ὥσαν τυγχάνει τάξις δὲ καὶ μετὰ πολλῆς ἰσχύος Alosis 953 κατὰ τῶν λόγων τὴν ἰσχὺν Ptoch. IV 19 πᾶσαν ἰσχὺν τοῦ ὄφι Pol. Tr. 668 θεὸς γὰρ νέμει τὴν ἰσχὺν Diig. tetr. 10 τὴν δύναμιν καὶ τὴν ἰσχὺν τὴν ἔχει Achil. N 16 ἂν τύχη δράκοντος ἰσχὺν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 496 θὲ δῆς τὴν ἰσχὺ μάς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2488

2.17.2 Indeclinable Nouns

2.17.2.1 ἀγαπῶ

The finite verbal form ἀγαπῶ sporadically may produce an indeclinable noun ἡ ἀγαπῶ, which is a reanalysis of the relative clause τὴν ἀγαπῶ “the one I love”, e.g. τώρα ἄλλος φιλεῖ τὴν ἀγαπῶ Katal. 434 (see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ἀγαπῶ ὁ): ὥσπου μὲ βλέπ’ ἡ ἀγαπῶ Cypr. Canz. 139.1 and 151.1. For a different interpretation see 5.9.1.2.

2.17.2.2 γῆς

There is no obvious reason why the noun γῆ should develop an indeclinable variant γῆς. HATZIDAKIS (1892: 277; cf. CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 654) explains γῆς as deriving from the frequent collocation κατὰ γῆς, but that is a rather ad hoc explanation, as Greek has so many such collocations that did not produce new indeclinable nouns. Moreover, similar alternatives have been found for Ἀφροδίτη, Κρήτη, τύχη and ὕλη (see 2.12.2). Indeclinable γῆς occurs in texts from various areas (S. Italy, the Aegean, Crete, the Heptanese, the northern mainland) for nom. sg., acc. sg. and voc. sg., and sporadically the plural:

- (ἡ) γῆς κλονεῖται (10th/11th c.?, Tinos, FEISSEL 1980: 36, 496.1) βλαστεισάτω ἡ γῆς (1036, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 2, 32.22) οἱ γῆς ρόδα γεμίζουνσιν καὶ οἱ πεδιάδες ἄνθη Flor. L 1549 (Cupane) γῆς κι ὁ κόσμος Love poems V 62 ἄνοιξε γῆς! BERGADIS, Apok. V 110 φύτρωσε, γῆς, Def. Par. 65 ὦ μητέρα ἐδική μου, γῆς, ὅπου μὲ ἐπαίρνεις Diig. Alex. F 196.1 (Konstantinopulos) ἡ γῆς (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 32, 72.1) ἡ γῆς, ἀήρ καὶ θάλασσα ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 452 εἰς τόση γῆς (1597, Kefalonia, CHRYSOCHOIDIS 1977: 2, 212.51) κάτω στη γῆς CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 72 εἰς ποιά γῆς Zinon V.212 νὰ πάρουν τόση γῆς (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 11, 36.27) δὲν ἦτον γῆς πολλή KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 13.5 ἡ γῆς εἶναι ἁγία VEST., Prol. Theot. 291 τὴν ἡμισὴ γῆς (1671, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 232, 206.5) εἰς τὴ γῆς (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 25.6)

2.18 Invariable Masculine and Feminine Proclitic Forms

In certain frequent collocations consisting of a masculine or feminine noun denoting rank, status, age, etc. and a proper name or noun denoting profession, the first noun of the collocation may become indeclinable. The point of departure is very likely to be the vocative, with which these forms will have been frequent as a form of address. The two nouns behave very similarly to a compound: the first word loses its stress and in fact becomes proclitic to the second. The most common ones involved are: γερο- (< γέρος), κυρο- (< κυρός), μαῖστρο-/μαστρο- (< μαῖστωρ and Ven. mastro), παπα- (< παπάς), πριγκιπα- (< πρίγκιπας), χατζη- (< χατζής), κυρα-/κερα-, κυρατσα- and γρια-. Apart from these, there are certain shortened forms and loanwords that behave in the same way: κυρ-, μισιρ-, πρε-, σερ-, φρε-, φρα-. -The shortened form κυρ pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar, appearing e.g. in Theophanes Continuatus (10th c.; see LBG s.v.). These proclitic forms are sometimes unnecessarily accented in modern editions.

γερο-, κυρο-, μαῖστρο-/μαστρο-, παπα-, πριγκιπα-, χατζητοῦ κυρο-Γιοσφρέδου (1136, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 11, 155.7); τοῦ μαστρο-Ἀ<ν>δρέα (1141, ibid. 130, 172.13)
 ὁ γερο-μισιρ Νικόλαος Chron. Mor. H 7421; τοῦ γερο-μισιρ Νικόλα ibid. 8658 κυρο-Ἀλέξιος ὁ Μέγας Κομνηνός (1390, Trebizond, BRYER 1976: 1, 131.2) ὁ πριγκιπα-Ντζεφρὲ Chron. Mor. P 2621 ὁ μαῖστρο-Γεώργιος Χωματιανός (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 6, 12.31); ὁ μαστρο-Νικόλὸς Καλλιόπουλος (1523, ibid. Inv. 14, 300.8–9) τὸν ἄνωθεν παπα-κυρο-Θωμά (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 26, 84.10) ἄμε στὸ γερο-δαίμονα Stathis III.399 ὁ μαστρο-Πέτρος, ὁ μαστρο-Παῦλος ROMANOS, Grammar 94.9–10
 ὁ παπα-κυρ-Σίδερης PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §2 1–2 ὁ γερο-πνευματικός (1664, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 31, 36.7–8) ἐγὼ ὁ Νίκος χατζη-Μάρκου (1690, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 21, 14.9); ἀπὸ τὸν παπα-Τριαντάφυλλον (1697, ibid. 30, 26.122) τοῦ ἄρχον πουλγαρ-Μέστιρη (1728, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: Δ: 13, f.9r.5) (< Rom. pîrgar)

κυρ-, φρα-, φρε-/πρε-ὁ ἱερομονάζων κυρ-Νικόδημος (1127, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 10, 83.6) ὁ κυρ-Μιχαήλ (14th c., Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1956: [4], 40.4) τοῦ βασιλέως κύρ Σάκη τοῦ Βατάτση Chron. Mor. H 1211 τοῦ παπα-κυρ-Διονυσίου (1395, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 8, 76.20) κύρ Ἡλῖε, τί να ποιήσωμεν Dig. E 91 ὁ κυρ-Θεόδωρον (15th c., Pontos, ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015: 5, 12.9) δέσποτα παπά, κυρ-Ἀνδρέα (1497, Crete, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 6, 143.33) φρά Λιβέρη Poulol. 254 ἐθάφτην εἰς τοὺς Φρὲ Μενούριδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 276.37; ὁ σῖρ Ραμούν Παπῆς ... ὁ φρὲ Τράν ibid. 368.19–20 (σῖραμοῦν in Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) με τον ἄνωθεν φρε Γιλιάμ VOUSTR. Chron. A 14.20; και τον φρα Χριστόφορον ibid. 82.17 πρὲ Μάρκος ὁ Σουμαρίπας (1535, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 4, 120.3) ἐγὼ ὁ ρηθεῖς φρα Πιέρο Σουρίας (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 232, 231.21); τοῦ μισερ φρα Μπενέτο Τάντολο (ibid. 258, 256.2–3) κυρ-Γεώργιος (1551, Kastoria, DRAKOPOULOU 2005: 16, 33.7) τὸν αὐτὸν κυρ Ἀνδρέα (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 349, 248.24–5) ὁ κύρ Θεοφάνης PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §3.1
 νὰ πᾶμε νὰ τὸν εὔρωμε αὐτὸ τὸ Φρά Καποῦτσο FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.124 ὁ δέσποτας Κύρ Μιχαήλ EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 26.13–14 (for δέσποτας see 2.3.5) τὸν κυρ-Σπηλιωτάκη (1708, Peloponnese, PAPADOPOULOS 1976: 6, 124.15) τὸν κύρ Μελέτιο (1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 34, 135.55–6) κυρα-/κερα-, κυρατσα-, γρια-τῆς κυρά Ἑλένης Pol. Tr. 6283 app. crit. (CX); τῆς κυρά Θέτης ibid. 14136 τῆς κυρα-Ἰππόλυτας Theseid I.86,6 (Follieri) (κυρά ed.; unaccented in the Venetian edition)

 τῆς ἄνωθεν κυρα-Μάρως (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 241, 146.5–6) τῆς ἄνωθεν κυρατσα-Γούστως (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 6, 59.13) τῆς λεγούμενης τῆς κυρα-Πατολίνας (1577, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 21, 155.5–6)] τῆς θηγατέρος τῆς τῆς κυρατσα-Λάγουρας (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 13, 27.6); τῆς προειρημένης κυρατσα-Ἀγάθης (ibid. 55, 49.15) τσῆ κερ' Ἀρμένισσας CHORTATSI, Katz. IV 426 ἡ κερα-ἡγουμένη ... καὶ ὅλες αἱ κερα-καλογράδες (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174.2–3) ἡ κερα-Μανολέσα (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 1, 24.22); ἀπ' ὄνομαν τσῆ κερα-παπαδιάς (ibid. 6, 28.9–10); τσῆ κερα-Μπουστρουδένας (1606, ibid. 401, 374.6–7) εἰς τῆς γρια-Καλῆς τὸ χωράφι (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 56, 71.9) τσῆ κερα-Μηλιᾶς FOSKOLOS, Fort. III 308 κυρὰ ἀλεπού, ποιὸς σ' ἔμαθε νὰ μοιράζης; Paroim. (Warner) 33.6 τότες καὶ ἡ γρια-ρήγισσα PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1191 app. crit. (to be read with a hiatus between καὶ and ἡ; γρια is monosyllabic)¹²⁷

NEUTER

2.19 Neuter Nouns in /o(n)/

The inherited neuter /on/ paradigms are fairly stable paradigms with limited variation in endings. They include numerous inherited words as well as a large number of new formations, among which proparoxytone diminutives in -όπουλο(ν) (νησόπουλο(ν), ψωμόπουλο(ν) and many others) and -ούτζικον (e.g. δενδρούτζικον, τυπικούτζικον); innovative compound words such as e.g. παλιόσπιτο(ν) (παλιός + σπíti(ν)) or σκουπόραβδο(ν) (σκούπα + ραβδί(ν)), as well as many substantivized adjectives (e.g. τὸ ἄρωματικό(ν), τὸ κακό(ν), τὸ ὑποστατικό(ν), to name just a few) and loanwords, e.g. τὸ σκρίτο(ν) (< Ven. scrito); τὸ στάτο(ν) (< Ven. stato); τὸ φοῦντο(ν) (< Ven. fondo); τὸ κιλό(ν) (also spelled κοιλόν or κυλλόν) (< Turk. kile < Arab. keyl); τὸ μάρκον (< Fr. marc < Germ. Mark).

As in earlier stages of the language, there is a degree of interaction between various paradigms (REINHOLD 1898: 53–7; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 36–46; GIGNAC 1981: 43–4). Thus certain masculine, and sporadically feminine, nouns in /os/ may develop alternative forms in -o(ν). Some for the plural only (ὁ βόρβορος, ὁ δεσμός, ὁ νεφρός, ὁ πηλός):¹²⁸ καὶ ᾿ποντίστην μὲ τὰ βόρβορα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 496.24–5; τὰ δεσμὰ τοῦ πόθου Liv. α 162; καὶ τὰ νεφρά σου σαποῦν Spanos D 311; καὶ ἀνασκάπτει τὰ πηλὰ Diig. tetr. 447, while others form neuter singular forms as well (e.g. ὁ βάλτος, ὁ κίνδυνος, ὁ μισθός, ὁ μυαλός, ἡ βάσανος, ἡ ἔξοδος):

εἰς βάλτα κρυβηθέντες Dig. G 2485 ἡύρέθη βάλτο καὶ ἔπεσε Chron. Tourk Soult. 73.19 το κίνδυνο, ᾿πόπέρασε Apoll. Rim. A 1062; νὰ λυτρωθοῦν τὰ κίνδυνα Chron. Toc. 1294 καὶ κάμε το τὸ μιστό (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.11–12) ἔλεημοσύνης καὶ μιστὰ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 267.8

¹²⁷ There are several other instances of such hiatus in the text, e.g. ὁ ρήγας καὶ ἡ ρήγισσα ibid. 62; τὰ ἄρματα καὶ ἡ στολή ibid. 205.

¹²⁸ Both δεσμὰ and πηλὰ pre-date the LMedG period: see LSJ, s.v. δεσμός and Lampe, s.v. πηλόν.

στὰ μυαλά του KORNAROS, Erot. II.1586 ὑπομείνασιν βάσανα Dig. E 711 τοῦτα ὅλα τὰ βάσανα (1653–5, Venice, FONKIČ 2000: 240, f.1v.14) ἐπλήθαινε καθημερινὸ τὸ βάσανο KORNAROS, Erot. III.383 τὸ ἥμισον ἔξοδον (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 256.16) ἔξοδα εἰς τὰς χεῖρας του MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 368

It is rare for feminine words in /a/ to become neuter, though an example is the word ἡ ὀπώρα > ἡ ὀπωρα > τὰ ὀπωρα, a collective noun meaning “fruit”, which was easily re-interpreted as a plural. Examples can be found in the EMedG period (e.g. in Theodore of Mopsuestia and recension ε of the Alexander Romance; see the online TLG): περὶ δὲ τῶν ὀσπρίων καὶ ὀπώρων NIKON, Logos 1 82.10. Similarly, the loanword ἡ σπέζα (< Ital. spesa) is sometimes interpreted as a neuter plural: μὲ σπέζα ἐδικὰ τους (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 108.9).

Although many words belonging to the neuter /os/ paradigm have alternative singular forms in -ο(ν) (see 2.23), only a few of them may transfer completely to the paradigm in -ο(ν), forming a plural in -α: τὰ ὡς εἴρηται χρεωστούμενά μοι χρέα (1284, Thessaloniki, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 75, 32.46); τῷ νησιῷ τὰ πέλαγα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 162.8; ἤπληρσεν καὶ κτῆνα πολλά (14th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 27, 206.1.5). An especially inventive new formation is the plural form πατερ(η)μά which is the result of a reanalysis of the phrase πάτερ ἡμῶν “our Father” to πατερ(η)μόν, meaning either the prayer itself or “rosary”: βαστοῦσιν τὰ πατερημά BERGADIS, Apok. V 187; νὰ λέη τὰ πατερμά του Fyll. gadar. 309a; στὰ πατερμά μου | θέλω παρακαλεῖ γιὰ σέ CHORTATSIS, Katz. III.404–5; ἔνα ζευγάρι πατερημά μαλαματένια (1632, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 8, 142.71). A comparable form is the plural κυριελέσα in the following example: δὲ μᾶς-ε ξάζου οἱ πατερμοὶ μουδὲ τὰ κυριελέσα P&N Diath. 840 (< κύριε ἐλέησον) (for οἱ πατερμοὶ see 2.1).

Former 3rd-declension masculine nouns in -ων only sporadically transfer to the neuter /on/ paradigm. An example is the word νομοκάνονον, formed from the extended stem of the EMedG word νομοκάνων (< νόμος + κανών; see LBG, s.v.): τὸ τοῦ Νηστευτοῦ λεγόμενον νομοκάνονον NIKON, Logos 4 214.15; νομοκάνονα ἔχετε, τὰ ἅπερ ἔχουν γεγραμμένας τὰς ἀγίας συνόδους id., Logos 9 310.19–20; βιβλίον τὸ μέγα νομοκάνονον (12th c., Macedonia, PETIT 1900: 3, 121.28). Comparable formations are the following geographical names: Εἰς τὸ Καταστρόμονον (1262, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1994: 59, 102.106); εἰς τὸ Παραστρόμονον (ibid. 103.119) (< κατὰ/παρὰ + Στρυμών).

Already in AG certain nouns in -ον had developed alternative plural forms in -ατα borrowed from the /ma/ paradigm and other 3rd-declension nouns (JANNARIS 1897: 113), e.g. προσώπατα can already be found in Homer, ὀνείρατα in Aeschylus; as well as the occasional gen. sg. in -ατος, e.g. ὀνείρατος, which can be found in Plato (for these forms see SCHWYZER 1939: 515, 518; see also MAVROFRYDIS 1871: 436; PSALTES 1913: 176). These forms continue to be in use in the period covered by this Grammar, and the /ata/ ending spreads to a few other nouns, such as ἔργον(ν), ἔργατα and ὑπέρπυρον(ν), (ὑ)περπύρατα (regional).

Nouns in this category may be oxytone, paroxytone or proparoxytone. There is one paroxytone noun of which the stem ends in a vowel, namely the word ζῶο(ν), which may become oxytone through word-internal vowel deletion (see I, 2.9.2.1 for details). It is then sometimes extended to two syllables through the addition of a prothetic /o/ (see I, 2.6.1.2). The spelling <ω> for <ο> in the ending is, of course, graphematic: ἀφῆκεν την ὠσάν τὸ ζῶ Synax. gyn. 100 app. crit.; ἐναν οζῶ (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 388.10); ἄλλου ζοῦ FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 21; πενήντα κεφάλια ζᾱ (1646 [Later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 58, 149.54). Certain disyllabic words, such as δένδρο(ν), κτήνο(ν) (< τὸ κτήνος) and νεῦρο(ν), may undergo a shift of the stress and become oxytone:

εἰς κανέναν δενδρόν Assizes A 200.21 ἀπὸ τὰ κάλλη τοῦ δενδροῦ BERGADIS, Apok. V 29 εἰς τὰ δεντρὰ ποκάτω Achil. L 669 ᾿ς τὸ στένωμα τῶν δενδρῶν IER. AVVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 331.4–5 ἀπάνου εἰς τὸ κτηνόν του KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 10.34 ἐκείνου τοῦ κτηνοῦ Assizes A 19.8 ῆσαν ὡς κτηνὰ Chron. Toc. 3898 οἱ ἄνθρωποι καὶ τὰ κτηνὰ Fior Suppl. 270.12 ἀχάμνισάν μου τὰ νευρὰ Fyll. gadar. 338 περὶ τῶν νευρῶν μου Diig. tetr. 622

A shift of the stress in proparoxytone nouns from the antepenultimate to the penultimate may occur in verse texts for metrical reasons: ἐνά ᾿μορφο ὀνεῖρο Alex. Rim. 665.
For nouns in -εῖο(ν), -ειο(ν), -ῖο(ν) and -ιο(ν) see 2.20.

2.19.1
Oxytone Nouns

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	λουτρό(ν)
Gen.	λουτροῦ
Acc.	λουτρό(ν)
Voc.	λουτρό(ν)
Plural
Nom.	λουτρά
Gen.	λουτρῶν	λουτρῶ λουτρῶνε
Acc.	λουτρά		λουτράν
Voc.	λουτρά

Singular*Nominative, Accusative and VocativeNeut.*

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ό(ν)

The inherited ending -ό(ν), with and without the final /n/, is in general use throughout the LMedG and EMG periods for the nominative, the accusative and the vocative:

Nominative

τὸ κοιλιακὸν τὸν ἔπιασεν Chron. Mor. H 8200 τὸ κιλὸν τὸ στίον πουλιέται αγ' (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 48, 40.2) (< Turk. kile) ποθῶ σε τὸν ἐζάλισεν τὸ ποθοοργιστικὸ μου Liv. V 1872 τοῦτο ἐνι τὸ πτερόν μου Liv. α 587 τὸ κτηνὸν μου ἐλαβώθην Assizes A 433.18–19 (< τὸ κτήνος) κι ἦδραμεν αἶμα καὶ νερόν FALIEROS, Thrinos 282 ἦτον τὸ πρῶτον φονικὸν τὸ ἐγίνην εἰς τὸν κόσμον DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 355 θανατικὸν ἐπέσωσεν εἰς τὸ νησίον τῆς Ρόδου LIMEN., Than. Rod. 4 ἀνατολικά ἔναι τὸ στενὸ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 280, 277.8) τί κακὸν ἐσυνέβη Vios Aisop. D 212.38 λογιάζοντας πῶς νά 'ναι γιαιτρικὸν μου Vosk. 40 app. crit. καὶ ἦτονε πουρνό Chron. Tourk. Soult. 132.29 ἐθάρρουν καὶ ζωτικὸν νά 'ν' κείνη MONTSEL., Evgena 1237 τὸ μερικτὸ τοῦ ἄνωθεν Sr Γιάκουμου νά ἔνε τοῦ αὐτοῦ Sr Γιάκουμου (1665, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 3, 117.16) νά μεράζεται τὸ νερό (1694, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 47, 76.17) ἐκείνο ἦτυχε τὸ κακὸ μας ριζικὸ (1720, Folegandros, GAVALAS 1887: 513.1)

Accusative

ἡῦρα νερό νά λούνη SULT. WALAD, Poem II 3 ἀμέτε τον εἰς τὸ λουτρόν Arm. 187 καὶ χύνουν ἐκ του στόματος ... | νερό καθάριον Dig. E 1654–5 (νά πλερώση ...) ἔνα μάρκον ἀσημιν Assizes B 288.29 (< Fr. marc) ξηγᾶται διὰ τὸ φυσικὸν τοὺς θεοὺς Fior 78.31–2 βάλε, κηπουρέ, νερό [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1626 ὑμεῖς μὲν ἐποιήσατε τὸ φονικὸν ἐτοῦτο Velth. 210 εἰς τ' ἀβγὸ Alex. Rim. 212 ἔχουν ἀπὸ γονικὸν τῆς ... σπίτια (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROU 1955: 19, 74.6) ἄλλος ἔψηνε τὸ αὐγὸ Paroim. (Warner) 34.9; ἄλλος φυτεύει τὸ δεντρό ibid. 34.19 (< δέντρο(ν)) τὸ ψιμικὸν ὅπου θέλουσιν τὸ βάλε (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 227, 228.9–10) μηδὲν κυτάξης τὸ σκατόν σου Vios Aisop. I 267.10 ὅπου ποτὲ δὲν ἐνθυμοῦνται τέτοιον θανατικὸν (1621, Sicily, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 1, 90.10–11) ὅταν ἦταν εἰς χερουβικὸν LANDOS, Geopon. 254.1 νά παίρνει τόσο ὑποστατικὸ ἀρεσοῦμένό τῆς (1658, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 1, 114.70) νά πίνετεν ἀφ' τὸ πιωτὸ KONDAR., Paidēs 295 εἰς τὸ δεξιὸ πλευρό μου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2506 ἀν τὰ ἔδωσες, τοῦ πράμα καὶ ἀσημικὸ καὶ ἄλλα (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.46r.5–6)

δὲν εἶχενε ριζικὸ (1694, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 10, 24.8)

Vocative

ὦ παρικὸ μου ἀχόρταγο FALIEROS, Ist. On. 509

ὦ ἀπίστο καὶ ἀτίμητο ριζικὸ ἐδικὸ μου! Diig. Alex. K 363.14

ποῦ πᾶς, δανεικός; Paroim. (Warner) 55.23 ὦφου, πρικὺ μου ριζικὸ CHORTATSI, Erof. V.485 ὦ ντροπιασμένον θηλυκὸ SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. G3v.17 (< adj. θηλυκός) ὦ ριζικὸ ἀκατάστατον KORNAOS, Erot. IV.717

Genitive

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-οῦ

The inherited ending -οῦ is the only ending before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

καὶ νὰ εὐρῆς τὴν ὠφέλειαν τοῦ ρητοῦ ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 312.4

τοῦ Γλυκοῦ Νεροῦ (1321, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 108, 203.518) ὡς κληρονόμος ὅπου ἦτον τοῦ ἱγονικοῦ τῆς ὅλου Chron. Mor. H 7402 ἀπὸ πτεροῦ τὴν παίρνουν Arm. 35 τοῦ λουτροῦ ἐκείνου Achil. L 518

ἀπάνω τοῦ νεροῦ Assizes A 50.27–8 ἐνοῦ γλυκομυρωδάτου ποτοῦ Pist. kekoim. 35–6 τὶ ἔναι τοῦ ριζικοῦ μου Alex. Rim. 269; ἀπὸ πλευροῦ ibid. 340 αὐτουνοῦ τοῦ μερτικοῦ (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 220.95) μὴ γένεσιν αἷτιος κακοῦ (1576, Macedonia, CHASIoTIS 1964/65: 3, 253.27) ἄρχου καὶ μωροῦ καθὼς τοῦ δόξῃ Paroim. (Warner) 40.16 ἔως τὸ βουνὸ τοῦ Πρασσοβοῦ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 66.17–18 (= Βραζον) ἀπὸ τῆς κορυφῆς τοῦ βουνοῦ Vios Aisop. K 206.11 τοῦ φαγητοῦ Bertoldin. 98.19

τὴν λοίμην τοῦ θανατικοῦ AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 621 ψηλοῦ δεντροῦ κλωνάρι KORNAOS, Erot. I.658 (δεντρό(ν) < δέντρο(ν))

Plural

Nominative, Accusative and Vocative

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ά -άν

The inherited ending -ά is the only ending for the nominative, accusative and vocative plural throughout the period under review:

Nominative

τὰ πλευτικά πολὺ θέλουν κουστίσει Chron. Mor. H 601; πατέραν εἶχαν τὰ ὀρφανὰ ibid. 7225 εἰ δὲ χιονίστη δυνατὰ καὶ τὰ νερά παγώσουν Poulol. 93 τὰ νεφρά σου σαποῦν Spanos D 311 (< ὁ νεφρός) οὐλα τὰ νερά τῶν βρύσων ξεράναν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.24–5 ἔγινε σεισμός καί ἐχάλασαν τὰ βοδενά (16th c., Lamia?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 69.II, 530.7.1) τὰ ἀνωθεν καλά καί ὑποστατικά εἶναι ... (1591, Kefalonia, CHRYSOCHOIDIS 1977: 1, 207.40) τα δεντρά εκαρπίζα CHORTATIS, Panor. I.318 (< δεντρό(ν) < δέντρο(ν)); τα ζα τση προσεγέρνουντα ibid. I.320 (< ζῶον) ἔπεσαν τὰ αὐγά καί ἐτσακίσθησαν Vios Aisop. I 282.10 δὲν γνωρίζεις τί εἶναι τὰ γεράκια καί τὰ λαγωνικά Chron. Tourk. Soult. 40.25–6 διατὶ πλέγουσι τὰ φαγητὰ εἰς τὸν στόμαχον LANDOS, Geopon. 181.34 ἐκαγήκανε τὰ δεντρά (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III–V, 512.42.2) ἐχρειάστηκαν τοῦ σκύλου τὰ σκατὰ Paroim. (Warner) 107.21

Accusative

καὶ χάσης τὰ νερά σου GLYKAS, Stichoi 537 καὶ τὰ πλευρά του δέρνει Dig. E 1127 νὰ τὰ ἔχωσιν, τὰ γονικά τους, τὰ ὑποστατικά τους (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.24–5) πουνά καὶ δειλινά Liv. α 2266 καὶ τὰ στενά τοῦ Κάστρου μας τριγύρου νὰ τὰ γυρίζω SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 42 ἐρπετά κι ἄλλα θηριὰ τῆς φύσης CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 21 καὶ ἐκ τα κακά εἰς τα καλά θέλει νὰ σε γυρίσει Apoll. Rim. A 520 αὐγά ἐγέννα δίκροκα Fyll. gadar. 255 γιὰ θαφτικά καὶ μνημόσυνα ἐκεινῆς (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 9, 31.13) ἄλλοι βάνουσιν ἀβγά LANDOS, Geopon. 166.35–167.1
 ἀπ' ὅξω ἀφ' τὰ μυαλά μου KONDAR., Paidēs 92; ἀφ' τὰ πιωτὰ ποὺ πίνεις ibid. 318 ἄγρια ζᾶ ... νὰ τὰ ἀποκομίσει PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1262 (< ζῶον) ἔνα ζευγάρι πατερημὰ (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 179.26) (< πατερημόν < πᾶτερ ἡμῶν) εἰς χοντρά φαγητὰ (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 183.48) μὲ τρία δεντρά (1698, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1991: 3, 86.16) (< δεντρό(ν) < δέντρο(ν))

Vocative

ὄρη καὶ κάμποι καὶ βουνά Velth. 129 ὦ βουνὰ καὶ κάμποι καὶ ὄρη Diig. Alex. F 120.20 (Lolos) ὄρη, βουνὰ θρηνήσετε Thrinis Konst. (Zoras) 6; κ' ἐσεῖς, νερά τρεχάμενα ibid. 9 ἐσεῖς βουνά ... ἐρπετά ..., ἔλατε PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.135–7 βουνὰ καὶ ὄρη κλαύσατε DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 652

Addition of final /n/ is not very common and has only been found in the acc. (see I, 3.7.2.1.3): πόνος εἰς τὰ νεφράν του Chron. Toc. 1532; ἐκ τὰ γλυκιά του τὰ νεράν TROILOS, Rodol. III.334 (Walton).

Genitive

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.
		-ῶν -ῶ -ῶνε

There is little variation in the gen. pl. ending, which is the inherited ending -ῶν:

τῶν δενδρῶν τὰς φύσεις Liv. V 1604 τὸ ρέμαν τῶν νερῶν Assizes B 299.13 τῶν δύο πρώτων ποσῶν (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 4, 16.4) τὸ δικαίωμαν πάντων τῶν ἀρωματικῶν Assizes A 238.31

τῶν πτερῶν του Velth. 300

εἰς δῆγματα ἐρπετῶν Lapid. 187.21 τῶν ζευγαρικῶν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 100, 99.17) πόσων κακῶν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 107.4–5 τῶν φυτῶν τὰ ὀμμάτια LANDOS, Geopon. 147.38; τὸ ἄσπρον τῶν ἀβγῶν ibid. 167.1

τὰ φροῦτα τῶν ὑποστατικῶν μου (1660, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 2, 116.28–9)

Deletion of final /n/ occurs in texts from Crete: ἐκ τῶ δεντρώ τσι κλώνους CHORTATSI, Panor. Prol. theas 56; τῷ σωθικῷ Thysia Avr. 326; ὅλα τὰ κορμιὰ ὀζῶ FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.369 (< ζῶο(ν)).

Addition of -(ν)ε has been found in Heptanesian texts (Kefalonia, Zakynthos): τῶν ὑποστατικῶν του (1653, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 215, 186.42); τῶν ὑποστατικῶν του PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 114.25.

2.19.2 Paroxytone and Proparoxytone Nouns

	General		Restricted		Rare
Singular
Nom.	ὄπλο(ν)	πρόβατο(ν)	-ου
Gen.	ὄπλου	προβάτου		πρόβατου -ατος
Acc.	ὄπλο(ν)	πρόβατο(ν)	-ου
Voc.	ὄπλο(ν)	πρόβατο(ν)	-ου
Plural
Nom.	ὄπλα	πρόβατα	-ατα	-ατα	-ι/-η
Gen.	ὄπλων	προβάτων	ὄπλω ὄπλωνε ὄπλῶν -άτων	πρόβατων προβάτω προβάτωνε -άτων
Acc.	ὄπλα	πρόβατα	-ατα	-ατα	-ι/-η
Voc.	ὄπλα	πρόβατα	-ατα	-ατα	-ι/-η

Singular

Nominative, Accusative and Vocative

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ο(ν)

The inherited ending -ο(ν), with and without the final /n/, is in general use throughout the LMedG and EMG periods for the nominative, the accusative and the vocative:

Nominative

- φύλλον θροεῖ σε GLYKAS, Stichoi 148 τὸ ράσον τὸ σὲ δίδουσιν καὶ ἐκεῖνο ψυχικόν ἐνι Ptoch. IV 472.1 app. crit. (H) κ' ἐγίνη τὸ πασσάντζο Chron. Mor. H 157; τὸ κοῦρσο ... | οὐδὲν ἐδιήρκεσεν πολλὰ ibid.
 9103–4
 τὸ τόξο σου ἐτρίβη Liv. V 3681 ὀκάτι ἔργον νὰ γένη Spanos B 23 ἐκεῖτον τοῖνυν τὸ λαμπρὸν ἄστρον Achil. N 1671; τὸ ρόδον ... τὸ Ἴον καὶ τὸ κρίνον ibid. 1675 ἡ Ἀθήνα ἦτον κάστρο μέγα πολλὰ Diig. Alex. F 160.19–20 (Lolos) γιὰ σένα πάσα φύτρο πρασινίζει CHORTATISIS, Erof. I.609; σκῆπτρο νὰ σᾶς βαραίνει ibid.
 V.469
 τὸ ρόδο τῶν ἀλλῶν ἀνθῶν Stathis I.35 φακῇ εἶναι τὸ δεῖπνον μας Vios Aisop. K 165.22 ἐγύρισεν ... σὰν ἓνα μοῦτρον ἀναποδιασμένον Bertoldos 28.10–11 ἔσκασεν τὸ ξύλο PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §15.27 δῶρον ἂν εἶναι χαμηλὸ TROILOS, Rodol. Dedic. 43 σὲ ὠφελεῖ τὸ σκόρδον LANDOS, Geopon. 206.24–5 ἐσίμωσε τὸ ξύλο μου KORNAROS, Erot. V.1527
- τὸ ἄλογο ἐθυμώθηκε Chron. Mor. H 5074 μάρμαρον ἦτον πρᾶσινον Liv. α 324 ἓναν βιβλόπουλον (1417, Crete, LAMBROS 1895: 1, 586.30) τὸ πρόβατον δ' ἀπόμεινεν Diig. tetr. 452 τὸ παλιοφούστanon ... | ἐχαρβαλῶθη Poulol. 433–4 καὶ κάτεργον τὸ ὑπάντησε Anak. Konst. 7 τὸ πρῶτον μάγγανον ἦτον ἓναν ξυλόκαστρον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 482.35 γυρίζει τὸ φιδόπουλο Alex. Rim. 211; σὰν βούκινο βαρέση ibid. 839 βάσανο τὸ λογισμὸ μου κρίνει CHORTATISIS, Erof. I.398 (< ἡ βάσανος) τὸ μέτωπόν του ἔμπροσθεν ἀπετακτὸν Vios Aisop. K 147.8 ἐκεῖ ἦτονε τὸ πλεόν κίνδυνο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 84.13 (< ὁ κίνδυνος) τὸ ἀμυγδαλόλαδο καὶ σαμόλαδο ... ἔχουσι τὴν αὐτὴν δύναμιν LANDOS, Geopon. 190.28–9 ἔπεκε στάκτη ἓνα δάκτυλο (1605–32, Preveza?, LAMBROS 1910: 241, 184.4) (for ἔπεκε see III, 2.2.1.10)
 τὸ κάρβουνό μου στὴν καρδιὰ πάντα σοῦ θέλει βράζει KORNAROS, Erot. III.1244 τί βάλαμον εἶναι αὐτό; Don Kis. 61.22 ξανοίγεται ὅλο το πέλαγο SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 35.2 (< τὸ πέλαγος)

Accusative

- στὸ κάστρον Chron. Mor. H 2897
 ἀπέταξε τὸ ἔλμον Pol. Tr. 6030 (< Ital. elmo) ἄστρον ἐν τῇς Ρόδου (1493, Rhodes, Tsopanakis 1970: 56.49) κακώσεως τίποτι κέντρον ἔχεις Velth. 53
 δῶρα τὸν ἀποστέλνει | λιθαρομαργαρίταρο καὶ χρυσωμένον ροῦχον Imber. 445–6 καὶ θέλειν χάσειν το ρηγάτον VOUSTR., Chron. A 34.5
 ἔχει καλὸν φοῦντον (1534, Unknown, Tselikas/Koromila 2003: A, 63.15) ἔλεγον δένδρον τοῦ ἡλίου τὸ ἓνα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.21 ἔδωκέν τον τὸ φοσσάτον (1565–75, Constantinople, Foerster 1877: 7, 15.4) μέ τεχνικάτο ζάλο Stathis III.215 και ένα άλογον και ένα όνον Vios Filaret. 239.9 (< ό όνος) νά φέρη τό γράμμαν ... ήγουν τό σκρίτον (1613, Naxos, CHASIOTIS 1966: 15, 206.6–7) (< Ven. scrito)

(βάνουσιν ...) τό άσπρον τών άβγών LANDOS, Geopon. 167.1; βράσε ... όργον άψητον ibid. 267.6–7 ένα μερί βιδέλο FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.69 (< Ven. vedelo) σ' ήτα στάτο εύρίσκεται KORNAROS, Erot. III.34 (< Ven. stato)

<έν δέ> και πέμψη ό Χριστός τυρίτζιν ή όβγούτζικον NIKON, Logos 1 86.15–16 πλησίον εις τό λεγόμενον Νερούτζικον (1304, Lemnos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 99, 144.18–19) τό σεντοκόπουλον ... έσήκωσε (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 277.7) έπαρε σύ τό φλάπουλο Achil. O 255 (= φλάμπουρο) τίς άπεδιάβην άτρομος τό στενογιόφυρόν σου Plani kosmou 12 τό Σάββατο τής άποκρέου Pist. kekoim. tit.

έβαλέν το εις το δάκτυλο του Αλεξάνδρου Diig. Alex. K 367.21–2 τό γυναικόπαιδον έκαμαν σκλάβους (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 37.II, 301.20.5) τό όποίο παλαιόσπιτο τό ειχεν ψυχικό (1543, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 42, 245.5) ώσαν φαίνεται μέ όμόλογον άπό την Άλεσάνδρια (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 60, 57.7) εις τό στρατόπεδον (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.8) στού Νικολό τό μεσότοιχον (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 853, 744.7–8) έδωσα άπό τό πογγί μου ένα πρόβατον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.46–7 εις όποιον πρόσωπον (1678, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1999: 4, 49.11) του όποιου του έδωσα και ένα βρακοπουκάμισο (1680, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 8, 301.16) τό λένε Παλιογαλάξειδο EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 61.14

Vocative

πανώραιόν μου δένδρον Dig. G 900 τέκνον μου, μάθε γράμματα Ptoch. III 57; ώ κομνηνοβλάστητον άπό πορφύρας ρόδον ibid. 274 ώ στρατηγέτα φοβερέ και δένδρον τής ψυχής μου Chron. Toc. 3394 ρόδον μου εύθαλόφυτον, μήλον μου μυρισμένον Dig. T 1991 and A 2955 έγλήγορα, τέκνο μου Άλέξανδρε Diig. Alex. F 270.6–7 (Lolos) άστρο μου και πρώτον άστρον του ούρανοϋ (17, Unknown, ŠANGIN 1936: 4, 161.8) ώ Κάστρο μου περιόδοξο BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 573.21

ρόδο μυρισμένο, | μήλο μου ώραιότατον άξιο και πλουμισμένο PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1755–6 άκουσε εσύ, ζών Don Kis. 175.17 φλάμμουλόν μου εύγενικόν Pol. Tr. 7176 ώ σπλαχνικό μου σκάνδαλο FALIEROS, Ist. On. 473 ώ ήγαπημένο μου άλογον Diig. Alex. F 200.7 (Konstantinopulos) τριαντάφυλλό μου κόκκινο PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1755

ω τιμή και έσοπτρον του γένους της Ισπανίας! Don Kis. 190.15

Forms in -ου are phonetic rather than morphological variants of -ο (see I, 2.5.4): του ρούχου νά μη άπλώνει κανείς (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 6, f.43r.14); εις του κάστρου τής Μυτιλήνης (1713, Lesbos?, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1884: 7, 27.2).

GenitiveNeut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ου

The normal ending for the genitive singular is -ου:

τὸ ἥμισυ τοῦ κάστρου (1089, Leros/Samos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 52, 52.17–18) δουκάτου Ἀπουλίας καὶ πριγκιπάτου Κάπουας (1217, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 15, 90.4) κεφαλὴν κάνστρου ὁδεῖνα (1346/7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 255.8) τοῦ πριγκιπάτου Chron. Mor. H 2895 ἐπάνωθεν τοῦ ἔλμου Pol. Tr. 8129 (< Ital. elmo) ἂν ἦτον λιθοκάρδιος ἢ φύσιν εἶχεν ξύλου Achil. N 1681 τὸ τοῦ ρόδου φύλλον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 834; περίξ τοῦ μήλου γράμματα ibid. 1406 τὰς τέτας τοῦ φουσάτου Achil. O 188 (τέτας = τέντας, see I, 3.8.3.4) τοῦ ρηγάτου τῆς Κύπρου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 50.3; τὸ πλάτος τοῦ ξύλου ibid. 70.28 βαστώντα τα κλειδιά του κάστρου MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 219.2–3 ἐτουνοῦ τοῦ φανεροῦ ἱνστρουμέντου (1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 703, 607.4) τοῦ τεσταμέντου (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 57.300) τὸ κέντρωμα τοῦ ξύλου LANDOS, Geopon. 148.18–19; τριγύρου τοῦ δένδρου ibid. 152.10

In the genitive singular of proparoxytone nouns the shift of the stress to the penultimate is usually observed:

τοῦ λεγομένου νομοκανόνου NIKON, Logos 4 236.4 (< τὸ νομοκάνονον) τοῦ χωρίου Παλαιοκάστρου (1152, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1994: 56, 81.246) τοῦ σκουποράβδου Ptoch. I 184 μετὰ καὶ τοῦ Νοβογραδοπούλου (1361, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 262, 550.9–552.10) τοῦ τερμένου Assizes A 63.13 τοῦ κατέργου Chron. Mor. P 2190 καλοῦ βαρσάμου ρίζα Love poems V 401 ᾽νού κατέργου φλουρουντινίκου VOUSTR., Chron. A 12.14–15 ἔρρικταν τοῦ ἀλόγου θροφὴν Diig. Alex. E 119.15 (Lolos) τὰ ἀγγεῖα τοῦ μέλιτος καὶ βουτύρου ZYGOM., Stef. Ichn. 253.16–17 ὄξω τοῦ σοπάτου (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 4, 27.6–7) τριγύρου του κουτέλου τως CHORTATIS, Panor. I.417 ἡ βρόμα τοῦ κατούρου Vios Aisop. K 160.14 τοῦ ἀντρογύνου (1607, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968: 3, 32.31) ἕνας κτύπος ἐνού αλόγου Don Kis. 551.11

Forms that do not display a shift of the stress to the penultimate are much rarer:

τοῦ Ἄροτρου τὸ ἥμισυ KAMAT., Astron. 800 τοῦ εἰρημένου παλαιόσπιτου (1543, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 42, 245.6–7)

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ατος

This ending, the gen. sg. counterpart to the plural in -ατα (see below), has been found only for the word ὄνειρος/ὄνειρον, and only in a handful of texts, namely all versions of Livistros, the Byzantine Iliad and Kartanos. As noted in the introduction (2.19), this form existed already in AG:

τὸν βυθὸν τοῦ ὄνειρατος Liv. E 564 ἐκ τὴν παραχὴν τοῦ ὄνειρατος Liv. V 2482 and S 1549 τοῦ ὄνειρατος τὴν πλάσιν Liv. α 761 τοῦ ὄνειρατος τὴν πρᾶξιν Byz. Il. 43 τὴν διάλυσιν τοῦ ὄνειρατος KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 242.41

Plural

Nominative, Accusative and Vocative

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-α

This inherited ending is the most common for the nominative, accusative and vocative plural throughout the period under review:

Nominative

ὅσα ἄστροι εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν καὶ φύλλα εἰς τὰ δένδρη Arm. 144 app. crit. (P) τὰ μαντάτα ἐγλήγορα σπέρνονται Pol. Tr. 1744; τὰ ἔλμα κουδουνίζουν ibid. 5058 (< Ital. elmo) τὰ ζῶα τὰ μικροῦτζικα, τὰ οὐδετιποτένια Diig. tetr. 551 μαντάτα ἐπεσώθηκασιν Achil. N 195; ὥσπερ ἐπικεύουσιν τὴν Ἀφροδίτην τὰ ἄστροι ibid. 1244 πῶς ἐμποροῦσιν δυὸ ἄστροι γλαμπρισμένα Cypr. Canz. 68.1 τὰ μὲν ροῦχα ἦσαν ἀληθῶς ἐδικὰ μου (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 11, 19.10) ἦσαν δύο δένδρη KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.19 τα φύτρα και τα λούλουδα CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 17 ἐφαίνονται τὰ ἄστροι (1605, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1959: 33, 37.3) ἐδόθησαν ἄσπρα χιλιάδες ιε' (17th c., Monemvasia, SCHREINER 1975/79: 77, 576.7.2) τὰ χοντρά ζῶα ὅλα ἐχαθήκανε (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), 28.7) ἔφθασαν μαντάτα (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 2, 27.1) καὶ εἶν' ὁ Σπάνιας ἑκεῖ σιμὰ κι ἄλλα πολλὰ ρηγὰτα DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 165 οὕτως ψάλλονται τὰ ἀπόδειπνα NIKON, Logos 1 52.8 διὰ τὰ αἰχμάλωτα (1349, Egypt, SCHOPEN/NIEBUHR 1832: IV.14, 97.22) στὸν Ποντικὸν ἐπιάσασιν τὰ κάτεργα λιμιῶνα Chron. Mor. H 1190 τὰ ὄνειρα ἐψεύστησαν Pol. Tr. 13995 app. crit. (A) τὰ ἐντεληνοπροστέλινα ... | κόκκινα συρματένα ὅσαν Achil. L 804–5 τέσσερα τρυγονόπουλα στοὺς οὐρανοὺς πετοῦσιν Katal. 706 ἐὰν ἐξολοθρευθῶσιν ἅπαντα τὰ εἰρημένα πρόσωπα (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 46, 80.33) τα κόκκινά του μάγουλα ἐγέμιζαν το ἄνθος Theseid VI.30,3 (Olsen) ἦταν εἰς το κρέας κολλημένα κάρβουνα αναμμένα ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 1.14–15 τ' ἄντερα του βράζου CHORTATIS, Katz. II.414 ἄς εἶναι τὰ λάχανα αὐτὰ ἀντιμοιβή σου Vios Aisop. I 258.38 νὰ τὸ φάσιν τὰ πρόβατά του (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 20.22) καὶ ἤρχονταν δύο καραβόπουλα σαντορινεῖκα (1650, Santorini, LAMBROS 1885: 110.24) νιάκαρ νὰ λαλοῦσι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 166.23 (< Ven. gnacara) τὰ βούκινα δίδου μεγάλη ζάλη KORNAROS, Erot. II.2173 κι ἄλλα πολλά μωρούλλικα ἦσαν τουλουππισμένα Thrinós Kypr. 371

Accusative

ᾠρισε καὶ ἠφέραν ξύλα Chron. Mor. H 2036 κάστρα ἐπαρέλαβα Dig. E 151; εἰς τὰ δένδρα ibid. 923 εἴδασι καὶ τὰ σκρίτα (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 46.22–3) ὅλοι ἐκατευοδώνασιν τὰ λοῦρα καὶ τὰ ῥία SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 133 (< ῥία) στὰ κόπρα νὰ μὴν πηαίνει FALIEROS, Log. did. 104 (for the reading see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v.)
 ὡς ροῦχα ἐδικὰ τους (1524, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 1, 15.9) δουκάτα δύο ὅπου τῆς ἐχρεώστα (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.24) κάνουν φουσάτα καὶ ὑπᾶνε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.31; ἔκαναν μῆλα μεγάλα ibid. 335.36 ἐγεννήθη ὁ υἱός μου ὁ Καντακουζηνός, ἡμέρα γ', τὰ δεῖπνα (16th c., Thessaloniki, SCHREINER 1975/79: 107.1, 669.8.2) εἶναι γραμμένοι στὰ δύο ἀδελφάτα (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 55.231) ἀπὸ τὰ ὁποῖα ζῶα (1642, Patmos, MICHAELARIS 1998: 1, 193.6) τὰ ἱντερμέντια ἔχουνε βέρσα n° 369 FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. IV end, app. crit. (< Ven. verso) μὲ ἄσπρα εἰς τὴν Πόλιν κάνει κανεῖς (1653–5, Venice, FONKIČ 2000: 240, f.1v.6–7) (νὰ τοῦ στείλετε ...) ροῦχα (1684, Patmos, HOFMANN 1928: 9a, 71.30) ὡς εἴκοσι τριάντα μέρες θέλω τ' ἄσπρα μου (1687, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1918b: 6, 223.1) ὅπου ῥον εἰς τὰ ξένα KORNAROS, Erot. I.1782 (< adj. ξένος; pl. only) μὲ τὴν ἐντροπή στὰ μοῦτρα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 58.23–4 τὰ ἱστάμενα πλησίον τοῦ ποταμοῦ δρυετούτζικα (1090–4, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 45, 164.35); εἰς τὰ ἱστάμενα συχνὰ δενδρούτζικα (ibid. 165.26) Ἄδην καλῶ τὰ Νούμερα GLYKAS, Stichoi 87 φορεῖ τὰ μακρομύτικά του Ptoch. III 61 ἐκ τοῦ νεκροῦ τὰ κόλλυβα Poulol. AZ 4 τὸ πλάγιν εἶχεν κράκορα Chron. Toc. 2840 (< Aromanian creac., pl. creacuri) πάντα τῷ ἄμρᾳ παραδέδωκεν ὡς λάχανα κήπου SFRANTZIS, Chron. 150.19 ἀνθρώπους ἔφτειρε καὶ μερικά ἄλογα (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.II, 212.18.3) τὰ κάτεργα ἔκαυσα Velis. p 295 μεγαλύτερα σκάνδαλα θέλη ἐνεργήσει (1653–5, Venice, FONKIČ 2000: 240, f.1v.22) ἀπὸ τὰ πρόσωπα τῆς ἡγῆς Pent. Gen. 6.7
 γιὰ θαφτικά καὶ μνημόσυνα ἐκεινῆς (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 9, 31.13); (νὰ μοιράσει ...) τὰ δύο σωχωρόπουλα (1613, ibid. 841, 733.5) κάμε μικρὰ ψωμόπουλα LANDOS, Geopon. 244.28–9 οὐδέ πίφαρα οὐδέ ὄργανα ἠμπόρειες ν' ἀκούσεις IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1305 (< Ven. pifaro); (πουλοῦν ...) κείνα τα τουρκοκόριτσα ibid. 4098 μὲ κίντυνα μεγάλα KORNAROS, Erot. V.1426 (< ὁ κίνδυνος) ἀπὸ παλαιὰ χερόγραφα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 13.1–2; νέους καὶ γυναικόπαιδα ibid. 17.3–4

Vocative

ὦ τέκνα ποθεινότατα Dig. G I.70 πρὶν νὰ στραφῶ σ' αὐτόν σας, ἔγλαμπρ' ἄστρα Cypr. Canz. 106.25 ζῶα τετράποδα ... ὅπου νοῦν οὐκ ἔχετε Diig. Alex. F 232.18 (Lolos) ὦ κάκιστα ζῶα NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 104.6 ἐσεῖς ... ξύλα ... ἐλάτε PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.135–7 δένδρα, ξεριζωθεῖτε DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 651 στραφῆτε, ἀρχοντόπουλα Pol. Tr. 10968 ὦ ξύλα, πέτρες, σίδερα FALIEROS, Thrinis 223 ω πρόβατά μου θλιβερά CHORTATIS, Panor. II.515 ἐσεῖς ... πασσαλούλουδα ... τετράποδα, ... ἐλάτε PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.135–7 ἄνοστά μου λάχανα Paroim. (Warner) 80.2

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ατα

This alternative ending occurs lexically with certain words belonging to the /on/ paradigm, namely ἔργο(ν), ὄνειρο(ν) and πρόσωπο(ν). The proparoxytone words undergo a shift of the stress to the antepenultimate. A plural περπύρατα of the word (ύ)πέρπυρο(ν) occurs in texts from Cyprus, ὄργατα (< ὄργο(ν)) in texts from Crete, and ἔλματα (< ἔλμο(ν)) in one ms of the War of Troy (X):

Nominative

τῆς μάχης τὰ ἔργατα ἐτοῦτα προξενούσιν Chron. Mor. H 8682 σκουτάρια ἐσυντρίβονταν, ἔλματα καὶ λουρίκια Pol. Tr. 3451 app. crit. (X) τί φαίνονται τὰ ἔργατα KORONAIOS, Pittakin 22 ὄργατα φιλά χοντρά (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: Inv. 1, 282.26) σιγανὰ ἄς γενοῦσι, | τὰ ἔργατά σας Theseid X.3,7–8 (1529) ὅλα τὰ ἔργατά σου | εἶναι γεμάτα πονηριὰ SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. D2v.10–11 (1658) ἔργατα ὄχι λόγια (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 4, 59.19) ἀλύπητα πολλὰ τὰ ἔργατά του KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.264 τὰ ὀνείρατα ἐψεύσθησαν Pol. Tr. 13995 τοῦ κρασιοῦ τὰ ὀνείρατα προλέγουσιν τὸ μέλλος Krasop. V 76 ἄγγελοι καὶ προσώπατα Diig. Alex. E 275.2 (Lolos) τὰ ὀνείρατά του KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 241.1 τὰ προσώπατά τους γνώριμα εἰς ὅλους Pist. kekoim. 678–9 εὐρίσκονται ἐκεῖνα τὰ προσώπατα MOREZINOS, Klini 276.18–19 τ' ἀγγελικά προσώπατα CHORTATIS, Panor. II.463 ὡς ὀνείρατα τὰ πλούτη Charon II 47 ἦλθας ντακόρδο τὰ ἄνωθεν τέσσερα προσώπατα (1628, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 510, 485.12) προσώπατα ἀποῦ μιλοῦσι εἰς τὴν κωμωδίᾳ FOSKOLOS, Fort. Ind. Pers. I νὰ τὰ μοιράζουν τὰ ἄλλα προσώπατα (1691, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 16, 11.15) εἰς ὥρα ποῦ τὰ ὀνείρατα ὅλα τὰ πλιὰ ἀληθεύγου KORNAROS, Erot. III.111 εἶναι προσώπατα εἰς τὴν οστάρια Don Kis. 313.13

Accusative

ἐκεῖ νὰ εἶδες ἔλματα Pol. Tr. 1856 app. crit. (X) νὰ βάλῃ τὸ κορμὶν του καὶ τὰ ἔργατά του Assizes B 332.23 ἔργατα πόσα κάμνουσιν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 74 μέ τὰ ἔργατά σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 316.18–19 τὰ γλυκὰ λόγια σύρνουσιν κακὰ ἔργατα Fior 108.19 ἔτι ὄργατα ψημένα καὶ ἀνήφητα (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: Inv. 8, 293.26–7) γιὰ τὰ κακὰ τοὺς ἔργατα DEFAR., Sos. 272 (Holton) (ἐλαβα ...) ὄργατα κλοσμένα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 174, 172.8) τ' ασύστατά της ἔργατα νά σᾶς ἀναθιβάνω VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 2 ὄργατα, πανιά, σεντόνια (1623, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 5, 76.116) τὰ μαγικά ἔργατα τῆς Κέρκης Bertoldos 4.5

μὲ ἔργατα τῆς δικαιοσύνης (1694, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 205, 125.5) ἀλύπητα πολλὰ τὰ ἔργατά του KATSAITIS, Klathmos 1.264 πραγμάτων ποσομένων περπύρατα τόσα (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 63.15) (< ὑπέρπυρον) τρεῖς βαθμούς ἤγουν τρία προσώπατα (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.604) ἀπὲ τὰ περπύρατά του Assizes B 330.11 αὐτὴ ἡ φαντασία ἐνεργεῖ καὶ εἰς τὰ ὀνείρατα DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 2, α7r.7–8 (1561) ἐβλεπεν εἰς ὀνείρατα ἐκεῖνα οἱ ποὺ ἐμελλε νὰ γίνονται Vios Iosif 270.2–3 διὰ τὰ προσώπατα ὅπου ἐποίησαν εἰς τὸν Ἅγιον Νικόλαον (1596, Corfu, KARYDIS 2004/06: 6, 51.16–17)

δείχνει κακὰ ὀνείρατα LANDOS, Geopon. 195.18 ὀμπρὸς σὲ καλὰ προσώπατα (1654, Athos, MOŠIN/SOVRE 1948: 17, 51.10–11)

(τοὺς ᾔηγάται ...) αὐτὰνα τὰ ὀνείρατα IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1021; αὐτὰνα τὰ προσώπατα ibid. 4591 μὲ τὰ ἴδια τοὺς προσώπατα (1708, Peloponnese, PAPADOPOULOS 1976: 6, 124.23) εἰς σὲ πᾶσα ἐκλαμπρα καὶ τίμια προσώπατα (1724, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1973: 3, 307.4)

Vocative

No examples found

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ι/-η

Sometimes the Italian/Venetian plural of loanwords is retained in the Greek. There is clearly some association with the neuter /os/ paradigm, which also has a plural in /i/ (see 2.23), and therefore these forms are often spelled with <η>:

Nominative

εἶναι ὄλα βέρσι n° 1820 FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interim. IV end, app. crit. (< Ven. verso; written uerssi in ms)

Accusative

ἡ μαῦρα ράσι ἐβάλασιν BERGADIS, Apok. V 145 app. crit. (< It. raso) εἰς τὰ ἄτη ἐμοῦ (1557, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 11, κε'.6) (< Ven. ato) τὰ φρούτι τὰ φετινὰ νὰ τὰ ἡμοιράσουν (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 23, 80.14) (< Ven. fruto) θέλει νὰ καλογερευτεῖ, στα ράση ν' ἀποθάνει Apoll. Rim. V 1020 εἰς τὰ ἄτη (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 10, 8.2)

Vocative

No examples found

GenitiveNeut.

Pl.	Gen.	-ων ὶ -ω ὶ -ωνε

The inherited ending -ων is the most common before, during and after the period under review:

- φοσσάτων διατροφῆς (1079, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 2, 18.12) τῶν ἀγίων δώρων NIKON, Logos 1 100.29 τῶν τοιοῦτων ἐλαϊκῶν δένδρων (1251, Smyrna region, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 4: 28, 81.10) χωρὶς ὀπλῶν Diig. G VI.521 τῶν κάστρων τῆς Βλαχίας Chron. Mor. H 3656 ἐφοβούντησαν τὸ πέζεμα τῶν ξύλων Pol. Tr. 2928; τῶν ἔλμων τὸν κουδουνισμόν ibid. 9265 τῶν καθαρῶν τῶν ζώων Diig. tetr. 1040 τριῶν δὲ σωρῶν ἄσπρων (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 60, 48.1) μετὰ πολλῶν φουσάτων Achil. N 1383 τῶν αὐτῶν ρηγάτων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 306.7 δουκάτων δεκαεννέα (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 90, 170.18) στίμα ρούχων (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 59, 72.2) ἐκ τῶν ἔργων σου (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 401.19) ἐτούτων τῶν ζώων Bertoldin. 112.9
 τὰ κρόσσια τῶν ρούχων τοὺς KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 23.5

Proparoxytone nouns generally display a shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate:

- προβάτων ... καὶ λοιπῶν τετραπόδων (1079, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 2, 17.6) τῶν Ἱεροσολύμων NIKON, Prol. 46.2–3 τῶν προσώπων (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.602) τῶν κατέργων Pol. Tr. 12957; τῶν ὀνείρων τοὺς λόγους ibid. 14037 τοὺς ἦχους τῶν βουκίνων Achil. N 281 τῶν ἀχέρων (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 46.30) (< ἄχυρο(ν)) εἰς τὴν σκόλην τῶν Χριστογέννων (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.25–6) ἐν τῶν Κορυφιατικῶν караβοπούλων SFRANTZIS, Chron. 168.15–16 τῶ συνόρων (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.10) καμπανὸς τῶν σιδέρων (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1946: 500.13) τῶν ἀλόγων Diig. Alex. F 142.10 (Lolos) ὑπερπύρων χιλίων διακοσῶν (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 1, 4.20) περὶ κρέατος τῶν τετραπόδων (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 14, 28.29) ὄλων τῶν ὀπῶρων Porikol. III tit. πόσων σκανδάλων RODINOS, Vios Ign. 107.5
 μουσικῶν ὀργάνων IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1333; κιθαρικῶν, τυμπάνων ibid. 1334

Absence of stress shift in proparoxytone words occurs occasionally:

- ἐκεινῶν τῶν παιδόπουλων Chron. Mor. H 4818
 τῶν μουσκοκάρυδων Assizes A 237.30 τῶν ἀρχοντόπουλ (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 610, 841.15–16)

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete, the Heptanese and Naxos:

τὸ σάλδο τῷ δουκάτῳ τετρακοσίῳ (1699, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 5, 166.2–3) ὁ σφάκτης τῶν σιδέρῳ FALIEROS, Ist. On. 493 χάρκωμα ἕνα, ὑπερπύρῳ γ´ (1560, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 24, 103.4) τῶν ἀρχοντόπουλῳ (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 610, 841.15–16)

Addition of -(ν)ε occurs in texts from the Heptanese:¹²⁹ δῶδεκα δουκάτῳ ἀμπέλι (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 37, 55.35) δουκάτῳ εἴκοσι ἑφτά (1649, Kefalonia, PETROPOULOS 1962: B.3, 311.8) κασέλα μία δουκάτῳ δέκα (1654, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2008: 2, 53.15–16)

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-ῶν -ῶ

As noted in the introduction to this section (2.19), some paroxytone words such as ζῶο(ν) and δένδρο(ν)/δέντρο(ν) may undergo a shift of the stress to the ultimate and cross over to the oxytone paradigm (see 2.19.1). Certain other paroxytone words develop an alternative oxytone gen. pl. only.¹³⁰ Examples come from texts from various regions, such as the northern mainland, including Constantinople, the Heptanese, Crete and the Aegean (Andros, Naxos, Karpathos):

μετὰ ροδῶν καὶ κρίνων Diig. sebast. Thom. 56 ἐὰν ἔχη χρεῖαν καὶ ἀσπρῶν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 84.6

διὰ μέρος δουκατῶν χιλιαδῶν ἑκατόν (1481, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 10, 315.11) ἐκ τῶν δουκατῶν Imb. Rim. 717 ἀσπρῶν τριῶν χιλιαδῶν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 60, 58.11) εἰς ἐστίμα ρουχῶν (1550, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 76, 99.7) ἡχους ὀπλῶν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 4 τρίων δουκατῶν (1599, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 95, 127.9) δύο ἀσπρῶν LANDOS, Geopon. 244.13

τὴν ἀγάπην τῶν ἀσπρῶν PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.46 τῶν χορτῶν Prol. Epain. Kef. 41 ἀσπρῶν χιλιάδας δέκα μόνας (1662, Karpathos?, ZERLENDIS 1918d: Δ, 302.1) φατοῦρα τῶν κάτωθεν μερτσῶν (1680, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 8, 302, f.1v.1) (< τὰ μέρτσα)

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete and the Heptanese (Zakynthos):

τῷ χορτῷ τσι χάρες CHORTATSIS, Panor. I.271

εἰς τόσην στίμα ρουχῶ (1631, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 591, 565.11) τῶν ἀσπρῶ ΤΡΟΙΛΟΣ, Rodol. III.339 (Aposkiti) ἀσπρῶ πέντε (1643, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 361.15)

καὶ βγῇ ἡ ἀκτίνα τῷ ρουχῶ KORNAROS, Erot. II.420

¹²⁹This single instance in Assizes is not a case of addition of -(ν)ε, but an undeclined loanword from the French (cardamone): τῶν καρδάμουε Assizes B 489.27 (with /u/ for /o/, see I, 2.5.4).

¹³⁰This may be influenced by the fact that some neuter nouns in /on/ have neuter variants in /os/, which have oxytone genitives plural, e.g. τὸ μέτρος (< μέτρο(ν)); τὸ ἄστρος (< ἄστρο(ν)); see 2.23.

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-άτων

This ending is the gen. pl. counterpart to nom./acc. imparisyllabic -ατα. The expected shift of the stress to the penultimate appears to be observed. From the LMedG period onwards it is not very common and has only been found in early mixed-register texts: τοῦ αὐτοῦ περὶ ὀνειράτων ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 26.4; περπυράτων τόσων (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 71.V 120).

2.19.3 Transfers to Other Paradigms

In the period covered by this Grammar, as in earlier stages of the language, nouns belonging to the neuter /on/ paradigms may develop alternative neuter forms in /os/ (for more examples see 2.23), e.g.:

εἰς ἄκρος Dig. G I.32 app. crit. (G) (< ἄκρον) ὡς ἄστρον Diig. Alex. Sem. S 17 (< ἄστρον) εἰς τὸ μέσος (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 251.71) (< μέσον) εἰς τὸ δεῖπνος Diig. Alex. F 278.4 (Lolos) (< δεῖπνον) τὸ ἔργος ἐτοῦτο ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 37.2 (< ἔργον) τὰ κάστρον Chron. Mor. H 8652 (< κάστρον) μὲ τὸ μέτρος LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 104 (< μέτρον) τὰ πᾶκτη (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 280, 261.15) (< πᾶκτον) τὸ σπλάγχχνος FALIEROS, Erot. En. 1 (< σπλάγχχνον) καὶ δῶρος τῇ καρδιάς σου CHORTATSIS, Panor. I.232 (< δῶρον)

In Cypriot texts one finds a regional variant τὸ διάφορος (< διάφορον) (nom. and acc. sg. only): δομένον διὰ διάφορος Assizes A 45.31.

Sporadically neuter nouns in /on/ develop alternative masculine forms in /os/ (see also 2.1), e.g. εἰς τὸν λουτρόν (ante 1425, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 21, 124.100) (< τὸ λουτρόν); καὶ τόξους εἶχαν Pol. Tr. 10705 (< τὸ τόξον); βουνὸς καὶ φύσις ἄφυχος [ANDR. PALAIOI.], Kallim. 111 (< τὸ βουνόν); ὁ μέτωπος Diig. Alex. Sem. S 4 (< τὸ μέτωπον). Only very rarely do neuter nouns develop feminine alternatives, as is the case with the following geographical name, which from neut. pl. becomes fem. sg.: ἡ Γεράπετρος BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 249.11 (< τὰ ἱεράπετρα).

Nouns in /on/ do not easily transfer to the -μα(ν) paradigm (2.21), although a few examples have been found in a document from Pontos. It is the result of a reanalysis of the word πρόστιμο(ν) as belonging to the -ιμο(ν) paradigm (see 2.22), which has an alternative gen. sg. ending -ίματος, borrowed from the -μα(ν) paradigm: λόγου προστίματος (1264, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 39, 20.62); χάριν προστίματος (1283, ibid. 71, 43.9). Based on this genitive, a new nom./acc. in -μα(ν) was formed: νὰ δώση καὶ πρόστιμαν (13th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 20, 9.7). Similarly, the geographical name τὰ ἱεροσόλυμα was sometimes reinterpreted as a singular belonging to the -μα(ν) paradigm: ὦ Γεροσόλυμα πτωχόν FALIEROS, Thrinios 73; του ἱεροσολυμάτου VOUSTR., Chron. A 280.14; ἀπέστειλεν εἰς ἱεροσόλυμαν ἰβ' λίβρες ἀσήμιν Pist. kekoim. 75.

2.20 Neuter Nouns in /io(n)/ and /i(n)/

This paradigm covers neuter nouns in /io(n)/ and /i(n)/, and it includes nouns in -εἶο(ν) and -εἰο(ν), as well as nouns in -ίο(ν), -ῖο(ν) and -ι(ν). The originally diminutive suffixes -ιον and -ῖον had become popular in the Koine as an easy way to adapt irregular-looking 3rd-declension nouns to a more regular paradigm (HORROCKS 2010: 175). Certain paroxytone and proparoxytone nouns in -ῖον/-ιον such as παιδίον and ὀψάριον started to lose the /o/ in the ending, resulting in forms in -ῖν/-ιν. This development pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar by many centuries; see GIGNAC 1981: 27–8 for examples of loss of /o/ in forms such as ἄργυριν, ὀψάριν and κέραμιν in papyri dating from the 1st c. AD onwards. For a similar development in masculine nouns in -ιος (> -ης) see 2.7; in adjectives, see 3.2.6. There is some dispute in the literature whether the reasons for the loss of /o/ are phonological, morphological or a combination of both, but this is not discussed here, as this change occurred outside the period under investigation; for an overview and discussion of views see FILOS 2017. Subsequent loss of final /n/ in the /in/ ending (< /ion/) is less common in post-classical and EMedG than it is in LMedG and EMG, but Gignac does have an example as early as the 1st c. AD and a few more dating from the 5th/6th c.

LMedG and EMG neuter nouns in /i(o)(n)/ can be divided into three groups, comprising five distinct sub-paradigms.

Sub-paradigms 2.20.1.1 and 2.20.1.2 consist of originally paroxytone nouns: 2.20.1.1 covers nouns in -εἶο(ν) and -ῖο(ν), with variable realization of final /n/. These nouns normally retain the /o/ in the ending of the nominative and accusative singular, e.g. βιβλίο(ν), μεγαλεῖο(ν), σχολεῖο(ν). Most of these nouns may undergo a shift of stress and become oxytone, though some are more reluctant to do so than others, e.g.: θηρίο(ν) > θηρίό(ν)/θερίό(ν); μακελλεῖο(ν) > μακελλειό(ν); σχολεῖο(ν) > σκολειό(ν); and even βιβλίο(ν) > βιβλίό(ν); but ταμειό(ν), μνημειό(ν) and μουσειό(ν) (mosaic) rather than *ταμειό(ν), *μνημειό(ν) and *μουσειό(ν), as these nouns belong to a more formal register. In the nouns that do present a shift of the stress to the ultimate in the nominative and accusative singular, a shift of the stress to the last syllable may also be observed in the other cases: σκολειοῦ, σκολειά, σκολειῶν.

Sub-paradigm 2.20.1.2 covers inherited nouns in -ῖον, many of them originally diminutives, and later formations. As mentioned above, from long before the LMedG period these nouns show a strong tendency to lose the /o/ from their ending in the nominative and accusative singular and become oxytone, e.g. παιδίον > παιδί(ν); βυζιον > βυζί(ν). Whereas in the residual -ῖον ending final /n/ is normally retained, it becomes variable after the loss of /o/. The other cases may also present a shift of the stress to the ultimate: παιδιοῦ, παιδιά, παιδιῶν. The substantivized infinitives πιεῖν (> πῖ(ν)), φαγεῖν (> φαγί(ν)) and φιλεῖν (> φιλί(ν)) may follow this paradigm, e.g.:

περὶ φαγίου καὶ πίου NIKON, Logos 4 214.7 μήτε φαγίου καὶ ποτοῦ LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 120 τὰ φαγία (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III–V, 510.38.1) ὁ ἔρωσ τίκτει τὸ φιλὶν καὶ τὸ φιλὶ τὸν πόθον Dig. E 702 (ἀδελφία μου ...) τοῦ φιλιοῦ δοσμένα P&N Diath. 559 κλεφτάτο σκίας ἓνα φιλί δροσάτο να σου δώσω CHORTATIS, Panor. II.220 τὰ τόσα σου φιλιὰ Thysia Avr. 527

A substantivized infinitive δειν occurs quite frequently in the well-known collection of Cypriot love poetry (nom., acc., voc. sg. only): μέ τὸ δειν της Cypr. Canz. 94.35. It is likely that the noun φυγεῖτο(ν)/φυγίο(ν) (< perfective stem φυγ- of φεύγω), is a reinterpretation of the aorist infinitive φυγεῖν (φυγεῖν, interpreted as φυγίν, becomes declinable with a genitive φυγίου, which leads to φυγίον). It is the precursor to the later, and SMG, φευγεῖό/φευγιό (< imperfective stem φευγ-).

Sub-paradigms 2.20.2.1 and 2.20.2.2 cover proparoxytone nouns: 2.20.2.1 comprises inherited nouns in -(ε)ιο(ν), in which final /n/ is optional. These nouns normally retain the /o/ in the ending of the nominative and accusative singular, e.g. βασιλαιο(ν), εὐαγγέλιο(ν), θεμέλιο(ν). The sub-paradigm also covers newer formations such as σάλιο(ν) (< AG σίαλον), and certain loanwords, e.g. βίτσιο(ν) (< Ital. vizio), δεσδένιον (< OFr. desdeign) and ρένιο (< Ital. regno).

Sub-paradigm 2.20.2.2 covers inherited and innovative, originally proparoxytone nouns. These nouns normally lose the /o/ in the ending in the nominative and accusative singular and become paroxytone, after which the final /n/ may be deleted as well. As noted above, this development pre-dates the period covered by this Grammar by many centuries: ἀλλάγιον > ἀλλάγι(ν); ἀμπέλιον > ἀμπέλι(ν); κοιμητήριον > κοιμητήρι(ν); μοναστήριον > μοναστήρι(ν));¹³¹ Ναύπλιον > Ἀνάπλι(ν); (ὀμ)μάτιον > μάτι(ν); (ὀ)σπίτιον > σπίτι(ν); περιβόλιον (< περιβόλαιο(ν) > περιβόλι(ν); χωράφιον > χωράφι(ν); diminutives in -άριον > -άρι(ν), -διον > -δι(ν), -ίτσιον > -ίτσι(ν) and -άκιον > -άκι(ν).¹³² The nouns δάκρυον > δάκρυ(ν) and δίκτυον > δίκτυ(ν)¹³³ also follow this paradigm, as does βράδυ(ν)/βράδι(ν) (< βραδύ < adj. βραδύς).

The sub-paradigm further covers certain ex-3rd-declension nouns such as μέλι(ν) (< μέλι, gen. μέλιτος); loanwords such as μόδιον > μόδι(ν) (< ὁ μόδιος < Lat. modius, see LSJ s.v. μόδιος) and ὀφφίκιον > ὀφφίκι(ν) (< Lat. officium); as well as later formations and ¹³¹ Note that nouns in -τήριον that belong to a more formal register such as ἀσκητήριον, δικαστήριον, εὐκτήριον and κριτήριον usually retain the /o/ in their ending.

¹³² These diminutives pre-date the period covered by this Grammar, occurring in lower- and middle-register Byzantine texts, e.g. βιζάκιον ("small stone") in a 6th-c. text (Barsanuphius and John, Questions and Answers; ed. Chitty; see LBG s.v.). The Notitiae episcopatum nos 9 and 10 (10th and 10th/11th-c. respectively) offer the Slavic place names Γραδίτзин and Χαβτζίτзин (see the online TLG), and De administrando imperii (10th c.) records an otherwise unattested noun ἡνίτзин (see LBG s.v.). For the disputed origin of the -ίτσιν ending, see GEORGACAS 1982. Diminutives such as βιβλιδάκιον and ἐργοχειρίδιον occur in letters of Theodore of Stoudios (early 9th c.; see LBG s.v.). The ending -διον can also be found in the 5th-c. Life of Hypatios in the word ἐκκλησιδιον (10th-c. ms). The diminutive -άκιον has its origin in AG. It was originally -ιον used with 3rd-declension nouns in -αξ (e.g. μείραξ, κλίμαξ, ἄνθραξ and others). From these forms a new diminutive ending -ακιον emerged, which then started to spread to other types of nouns (JANNARIS 1897: 292; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 422), e.g. φαρμάκιον (< φάρμακον) in papyri of the 3rd c. BC; πιστάκιον (< ἡ πιστάκη) in Galen; σπινθηράκιον (< ὁ σπινθήρ) in Gregory of Nyssa (see the online TLG). The ending -διον shows a similar development, starting from words with a dental stem, such as, to name just a few, ἀσπίς, ἀσπίδ- > ἀσπίδιον, θερραπαινίς, θερραπαινίδ- > θερραπαινίδιον, λαμπάς, λαμπάδ- > λαμπάδιον, σελῖς, σελίδ- > σελίδιον, σανίς, σανίδ- > σανίδιον, and then spreading to other nouns as well, e.g. γραῦς > γραῖδιον, κρέας > κρεάδιον, σάρξ > σαρκίδιον (see LSJ). Double diminutives such as βιβλαρίδιον (< βιβλάριον < βίβλος) are also old, occurring e.g. in the Apocalypse 10.2, 10.9, 10.10.

¹³³ When around the year 1000 the pronunciation of  changed from /y/ to /i/ (see I, 2.4.6), the spelling of these nouns with  became a matter of mere orthography.

loanwords in -i(v) that do not derive from previous forms in -ιον. These innovative nouns include, among many others, ἀγόρι(v), ἀπλαζίρι(v), ζιπούρι(v), μουζούρι(v), μούλκι(v), νταβάνι(v), ξύδι(v), παξιμάδι(v), παραμύθι(v), πογέριν, χάψι(v),¹³⁴ as well as loanwords in -ίκι(ο)(v), a suffix that denotes profession. This suffix appears to have entered the Greek language from two different sources, namely Latin (-ίκι(ο)v < adjectival suffix -icius, neuter -icium, which in Latin denotes “names of magistracies”¹³⁵) and Turkish (-λίκι(v) < -lik, -lık). The Latin suffix appears in the noun διδασκαλίκιον in a Byzantine law text (ed. Zepos), in Theodoros Balsamon (12th c.), and in a 12th-c. Typikon, of which, however, the original is lost: τὸ διδασκαλίκιον (1136 [18th-c. mss], Constantinople, GAUTIER 1974: 107.1317–18) (for these references see LBG, s.v.). The Latin ending also occurs in Machairas: τὸ κοντοσταυλίκιν τῶν Ἱεροσολύμων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 88.28 (< κοντοσταυλος/ κοντόσταυλος + -ικιν, modelled on MedLat. comestabulus, see LBG s.v. κομηστάβουλος). The Turkish suffix -λίκι becomes productive in the EMG period and not only occurs in loanwords of Turkish origin, e.g. ἔκαμεν ὁ Σπανακτζόγλης χαϊνιλίκι (16th c., Constantinople, SCHREINER 1975/79: 63A, 485.12.7) (< Turk. kha'inlik); ἦτον εἰς τὴν φυλακὴν ... διὰ καλποζανλίκι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.61–2 (< Turk. kalpazanlık); ἂν λάχη καὶ δὲν εἶναι καλαμπάλικι ibid. III §7.53 (< Turk. kalabalık), but is also used with Greek roots: τοῦ γειτόνου σου τὸ οἰκονομενλίκι PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §8.7; οὔτε τὸ πρωτογεργλίκιν του οὔτε τὸ πρωτομαστοργλίκιν του καὶ οὔτε τὸ φοργλίκιν του ibid. III §8.7.

In texts striving for a higher register, nouns originally in -i(v) may receive the old -ιον ending, e.g.: ἦλθεν εἰς τὸ παζάριον Vios Aisop. D 214.9 (< Turk. pazar); νὰ ὑποτάσσωνται μὲ χαράτζιον εἰς τὸν βασιλεᾶ Κροῖσον ibid. 234.23–4 (< Turk. haraç); ἀπὸ τὸ αὐτὸ σαράγιον (16th c., Constantinople, PREGER 1912: 468.10–11) (< σαρὰ(γ)ι < Turk. saray); καλόγερος ... τὸ ἐπίκλιον Εὐδαιμονοϊωάννης (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 61, 58.1–2) (< τὸ ἐπίκλιν < AG adv. ἐπρίκλιν); καὶ ἔκαμεν ἓνα κατσίκιον βρασμένον DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 18, π6r.22 (1561).

The fifth sub-paradigm in -i(v) (2.20.3) covers a very small group of proparoxytone nouns, which do not derive from nouns in -ιον, such as κιννάβαρι (< AG κιννάβαρι, gen. κινναβάρεως), πέπερι (< AG πέπερι, gen. πεπέρεως) and φίλντισι (< Turk. fil-dişi), and for which only few examples have been found (singular only).

Transfers between the sub-paradigms usually occur in verse texts and constitute ad hoc solutions dictated by the metre, e.g.: Θεέ, φανέρωσέ μου το τοῦτο τὸ μυστηρίο! Vios Ag. Nik. 176. In the following form there is a shift of the stress from the ultimate to the penultimate to make the word rhyme with μαχαίρι: τὸ ζερβί του μέρι MONTSEL., Evgena 850 (< μερίν < μηρίον). A paroxytone variant πεπερί for πέπερι is already post-classical (see LBG s.v. πεπερί), as is a proparoxytone variant παιδίον for παιδίον (see LSJ s.v.).

¹³⁴ Note that loanwords may also occur in morphologically unadapted form, e.g. εἰς τὸ Παρίς Chron. Mor. H 2139; μεγάλο δισπλαζίρ VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.3; ἂν ἔποικαν ... τὸ ντέβερ τους (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.14) (ed. τοντεβερους / τὸ τέβερ τους) (< Occit. dever), though we should probably read ντεβέρ. The word does not appear to have survived in modern Cypriot, as it is absent from dictionaries of the modern dialect.

¹³⁵ For the Latin suffix see FRUYT 2001: 164.

Transfers to the /ion/ paradigms include certain feminine nouns in -ία/-ιά, which may develop neuter alternatives in -ίο(v)/-ίν according to paradigm 2.20.1 when the -ία ending is reanalysed as neuter plural: εἰς τ' ὀσταρίο αὐτό Nov. II 161.2 (< ἡ ὀσταρία < Ven. ostaria); ἔναι στὴν μπουκα δύο σταρία Portul. II, 186.19–20; οἱ Βολάνες ἔχουν ἕνα σταρί ibid. 186.24; κάτου εἰς τὸν γιάλὸν εἶναι δύο ὀσταρία ibid. V, 325.16–17; ο βοσκὸς δροσιό γυρεύγει Vosk. 463 (< ἡ δροσιά); ὅλοι ἐκατευδῶνασιν τὰ λοῦρα καὶ τὰ ῥία SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 133 (= τὰ ῥνία < ἡ ῥνία).¹³⁶

Similarly, proparoxytone feminine nouns in -εια, such as συνήθεια, συμπάθεια and a few others, may develop neuter alternatives according to sub-paradigm 2.20.2.1. Some editors prefer to spell the ending with <ι>, while others retain the <ει> of the feminine original:

πρὸς τὰ συνήθεια Chron. Mor. H 1250 καὶ ἐπάρη το συνήθειον Dig. E 1341
καὶ ἄς ἔλθῃ τὸ συμπάθειον σου LIMEN., Than. Rod. 88
τῶν γυναικῶν τὰ συνήθεια Corona Preciosa E 3r.26 τὸ συντέλειο ἦτον Pent. Gen. 7.6 εἶχαν συνήθειον οἱ ἄγριοι ἄνθρωποι Diig. Alex. E 21.18 (Konstantinopolus) καὶ πρέπει ἀλήθειο τ' ὄνειρο νά ῥναι Stathis III.263 συμπάθιο εἰς τοὺς ἀμαρτωλοὺς P&N Diath. 5209 συμπάθιο νά σοῦ ῥζήτουνα Thysia Avr. 897

Regionally (Crete, Cyprus, Cyclades), the noun συνήθειον may lose /o/ from its ending and thus effectively transfer to sub-paradigm 2.20.2.2: ἦτον συνήθι DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 347; ἔναι συνήθι (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 49.53); ἐπειδὴ καὶ νά μὴν εἶναι ἐτοῦτο τὸ συνήθι εἰς τὸ τόπο μας (1703, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 46, 60.27–8).

Neuter nouns in -ος, pl. -η, such as ἄνθος, ὄρος, στῆθος, χρέος and others may transfer to sub-paradigm 2.20.2.2. This change is likely to have started with the addition of the neuter plural ending -α to the opaque plural ending -η (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 44): /'stiθi/ > /'stiθi-a/, which led to a new singular in -ι(v):

μὲ τ' ἄνθια Dig. A 2836 εἰς τ' ἀστήθιν του Katis 40 εἰς τὸ ὄρι Apok. Theot. 489.1 διὰ νὰ σολδάρεῖ τὸ ἄνωθεν χρέι (1669, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999a: 2, 280.16) νὰ χρεωστοῦσαν χρέγια (1696, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 244, 154.2) διὰ τὸ ἄνωθεν χρέι (1716, Smyrna, SFYROERAS 1963b: 3, 179.18)

Neuter nouns in -αῖον and -αῖον, derived from adjectives in -αῖος and -αῖος, may transfer to sub-paradigms 2.20.1.1 and 2.20.2.2 respectively. It may be suspected that these forms are generally to be read with synizesis, irrespective of the position of the written accent (see 1.5 for discussion), e.g.: τὸν ποῖον θέλομεν νά ἔχῃ μηνίον (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 48, 26.2); ἐπλέρωσεν τὸ μηνιόν τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 188.3 (< μηναῖον); βάρει καὶ δίκιο ἔχεις P&N Diath. 3079 (< δίκαιον)

Other transfers are lexical, as there is no general tendency for feminine nouns in -ις/η and -η and masculine nouns in -ος to form non-diminutive alternative forms in /ion/:

¹³⁶ Any connection with the poetic AG noun τὰ ῥνία (see LSJ, s.v.) is unlikely.

δίδε καὶ δόσια SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 332 νὰ δώσης δόσια αὐτάρκετα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.33 (< ἡ δόσις/δόση) εἰς τὸ νησί τοῦ Θιακιοῦ (1585 [later copy], Ithaca, KALLINIKOS 1980: 56.4) εἰς τὸ Θιάκι (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 29, 48.1) τὴν Κεφαλονία καὶ τὸ Θιάκι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 134.8 (< ἡ ἰθάκη) μὲ θρηνίον μέγαν καὶ κλαθμὸν Diig. Alex. F 138.6 (Lolos) (< ὁ θρήνος) τὰ περικόουλα καὶ τὰ φόβια τῆς στράτας (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 49.12) (< ὁ φόβος)

The noun Τοῦρκος has a derogatory (diminutive) derivative in -ίν: νὰ ἴθῃ στὴν Κύπρον τὸ Τουρκίν Thrinós Kypr. 29; Οὐγγροι, Τατάροι καὶ Τουρκιά STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 846 (Pidonia).

As mentioned above, the nouns in both sub-paradigms of 2.20.1 may become oxytone: in 2.20.1.1 through stress shift and synizesis in all cases (χωρίο > χωρίό; χωρίου > χωριοῦ, etc.) and in 2.20.1.2 through deletion of /o/ in the nominative and accusative singular (παιδίον > παιδί(ν)) and stress shift and synizesis in the other cases (παιδίου > παιδιοῦ; παιδία > παιδιὰ, etc.). In these cases, very often an accent is written on , even though it is clear that synizesis has taken place and that the pronunciation of  has shifted from [i] to [j]. This is a spelling habit that occurs in many manuscripts and early prints. The problem this scribal habit poses is that in non-metrical texts it is impossible to determine whether a form χωρίον or παιδίου actually represents a conservative paroxytone form, or whether the accentuation indicates that the form needs to be read with synizesis. For more information see 1.5.

2.20.1 Paroxytone Nouns in /'io(n)/

2.20.1.1 Paroxytone/Oxytone Nouns in -ίο(ν)/-εῖο(ν) > -(ε)ιό(ν)

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	χωρίό(ν)	χωρίον -ίν -ό
Gen.	χωριοῦ	χωρίου
Acc.	χωρίό(ν)	χωρίον -ίν -ό
Voc.	χωρίό(ν)	χωρίον
Plural
Nom.	χωριά	χωρία	-έα
Gen.	χωριῶν	χωρίων χωριῶ χωριῶνε
Acc.	χωριά	χωρία	-έα
Voc.	χωριά	χωρία

Singular*Nominative, Accusative and VocativeNeut.*

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ιο(ν)/-εῖο(ν)

Paroxytone forms in /'ion/, with retention of final /n/, can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar, though only in verse texts and in mixed-register prose texts and documents can there be some degree of certainty that the accent notation corresponds with the intended stress position (see the introduction (2.20) for discussion):

Nominative

τὸ δὲ βιβλίον τὸ πανηγυρικὸν (11th c.?, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1982: 1, 11.27) βιβλίον τοῦ Ἀγίου Νικολάου (1363, Cyprus, COUROPOU/GÉHIN 2001: 3, 157.21) (= βιβλίον, see I, 2.6.2) χιλιάδες ἐξήντα ὑπέρπυρα ἦτον γὰρ τὸ προικίον Chron. Mor. H 3127 λέγει το Βιβλίον του Ελαττωμάτου Anthos Ch. G 225.16 καὶ εἶναι σημεῖον τοῦ πολέμου Anthos Ch. A 225.11 ἐκεῖ μνημεῖον τοῦ λοιπόν ἐξω στο ακρωτήρι Diig. Apoll. 502 ὡσὰν κακὸν θηρίον SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 52 ἦλθε θηρίον ἄγριον Alex. Rim. 1307 ἦτον διδασκαλεῖον Diig. Alex. V 43.25 ὅπου ἂν ἦτον βιβλίον πολῦτιμον Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 213 ὡς ἐλάφρυνε τὸ φορτίον τοῦ Vios Aisop. K 154.12–13 (εὐρίσκεται ...) προικίον τῆς αὐτῆς Αἰκατερίνης (1678, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1999: 4, 49.5) (= προικίον, see I, 2.8.4)

Accusative

τὸ χωρίον τὸ Ὀφιδοβούνι (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 22.59) εἰς τὸ αὐτὸ βιβλίον NIKON, Logos 3 178.19 εἰς τὸ διδασκαλεῖον Ptoch. III 87 νὰ δοθοῦν εἰς προικίον ἄλλων παιδίων (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 148.29) εἰς πολλὴν ἀκριβὸν ... μεγαλεῖον (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 66.12) ἀπάνου εἰς τὸ μνημεῖον Achil. N 1858 νὰ νομευτῇ ... τὸ χωρίον Assizes A 115.8; ἦσαν εἰς ἄλλου ἀγγεῖον ibid. 197.31 εἰς τὸ πολιτικαρεῖον SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 51 πόσον πωλεῖς ἐτοῦτο τὸ κακὸν ἀγγεῖον; Vios Aisop. D 212.25 εἰς βιβλίον ἕμορφον στὸν στορικὸν Σουῖδα Alex. Rim. 32 ἐξω ἀκ το χωρίον Diig. Apoll. 498; εἰς το πορνείον μ' ἐστείλεν ibid. 734 διὰ δὲ προικίον ... τάσσεται (1548, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1992: 15.7) εἰς τὸ πατριαρχεῖον (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.1) ἐπῆγαν καὶ εἰς τὸ μαντεῖον Vios Aisop. I 283.6 σύρε εἰς τὸ ταμεῖον μου Bertoldin. 168.17 εἰς τὸ σχολεῖον τοῦ Alex. Fyll. 11.34; καλὸν σημεῖον μοῦ ἔστειλες ibid. 25.2–3 νὰ κτίσουν καὶ καμπαναρίον (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 108.10)

Vocative

No examples found.

Contrary to the oxytone variants (see below), deletion of final /n/ is not very common with the paroxytone forms. In fact the example from Poulologos shows that the form χωρίο, despite its stress notation, should actually be read with synizesis (as χωρίό, see below), and it may be suspected that the same holds true for the other examples (see 1.5 for discussion):

μετὰ τὸ κεραμαρεῖο (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.27–8) ἐκ τὸ χωρίο τῆς Ρίμνης Poulol. 489 app. crit. (A) ἐκ τὸ σκολεῖο του ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 42.1
 ὡς καθὼς τὸ εἶχε πρικίο (1535, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 3, 21.7) τοῦ ὁποίου τοῦ τὸ εἶχεν δώσει ἡ αὐτὴ προικίο (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 145, 115.10)

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-(ε)ιό(ν)

Most nouns belonging to this paradigm may present a shift of the stress to the ultimate and undergo synizesis. Examples have not been found before the 14th c. (date of Chron. Mor. H), but this is likely to be due to scribal conservatism and a scribal tendency to indicate synizesis by placing an accent on /i/, irrespective of the actual position of the stress (see 1.5 for discussion).¹³⁷ Forms without final /n/ are more common than those with final /n/:

Nominative

συμπεθερεῖον νὰ ποιήσουσιν, τὸ ἔνα νὰ γενοῦσιν Chron. Mor. H 6357 καὶ τῆς ἀλαζονειᾶς ἀγγειὸν BERGADIS, Apok. A 302 θεριὸν ἐβγήκε ἔκ τὸ νησί Alex. Rim. 2018 τὰ ... μόμπελε νὰ γροικοῦνται προικίον τῆς λεγομένης θυγατρὸς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 96, 94.24–5) ὁποῦ ἔτον τὸ πατριαρχεῖον Thrinios Patr. M 42 κι ἐκεῖνο τὸ κακὸ θεριὸ φάγει με θέλει, ἐθώρουν ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 20 ἦτονε το διδασκαλειὸ Apoll. Rim. N 960 θηριὸ ἐξέβη εἰς αὐτοὺς Alex. Rim. 2046 ὄντα προικίο τση κορασάς ἦτον ἡ προκοσύνη CHORTATZIS, Panor. V.246 (= προικίο, see I, 2.8.4) ὁποῦ ἔτον τὸ πατριαρχεῖο Thrinios Patr. O 42 εἶναι πρικίο τῆς γυναικὸς του (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 46, 62.22) ποιὸ θεριὸ σ' ἐγέννα Zinon I.89 (δὲν εἶναι ...) οὐδ' ἄκερο καμπαναρεῖο BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 491.2; καὶ τὸ τειχίὸ πῶς θὰ ριχτεῖ ibid. 500.21 τὸ χωρίο ἐκεῖνο λέγεται Σεργούνη ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 39.28–40.1; διὰ νὰ σηκωθῇ τὸ ρεμπελιὸ ibid. 42.22 (< Ven. rebeliòn)

Accusative

εἰς τὸ χωρίον Πρινίτσας Chron. Mor. H 4758 εἰς τὸ σκολεῖον Ptoch. III 87 app. crit. (P); εἰς μακελλεῖον μὲ πᾶγει ibid. 273.31 app. crit. (P) διδεῖ το εἰς προικίον Assizes A 19.14 (for διδεῖ see III, 2.4)

¹³⁷ Note that in the comparable feminine paradigm in -ία oxytone forms occur occasionally already in AG and are evident in the kontakia of Romanos the Melode (see 2.11.5).

ἐκ τὸ τευχιδόν τοῦ κάστρου Byz. Il. 1027 ἐπῆγεν στὸ ξενοδοχεῖον Florios 1478 ἦτον εἰς τὸ χωργιδόν του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 44.6; τάσσομένς σου προικιδόν περισσόν ibid. 328.12–13 (read: τάσσομέν σου; see I, 3.4.3); ἀνοῖξαν τὸ ὄργιδόν ibid. 438.30 (< EMedG ὠρεῖον < Lat. horreum, see DAWKINS 1932, Gloss. s.v.); ἐπιντώσαν τὸ μηνιδόν του ibid. 446.16–17 (< μηναῖον) χωράφιον τὸ ἔχω προικιδόν (1539, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 3, 17.2) διὰ προικιδόν αὐτῆς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 6, 7.9) τὴν ἔχει εἰς τὸ προικιδόν της ζιγανεμένη (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 37, 117.22); εἴστε εἰσὲ νοικοκυριδόν (ibid. 132, 217.5–6) μέσα εἰς τὸ πατριαρχεῖον ἐκεῖ θεννά κριθοῦσιν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 434 καὶ πέμπει τὴν εἰς τὸ σκολειό Apoll. Rim. A 1138 καὶ τὸ θηριό σκοτώνουσι Alex. Rim. 2074 εἰς τὸ χωριό τοῦ Βαθιοῦ (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 40.1); εἰς τὸ Βολιό (1641, ibid. 210, 174.12) σκιὰς κολατισιὸ ἄς εἶχαμε κάμει CHORTATSI, Katz. I.27 (< Ven. colaziòn); σὲ τσικνιασμένο μαγερεῖο ibid. I.45; τα νέφελα τὸ ἐδίδασι σκιανιό id., Panor. I.321; γυναῖκα στο τυροκομεῖο ibid. II.103 ὅς κοντολογιὶ Stathis I.125; γιὰ προικιό ντου ibid. IV 465 στὸ σκολειό μου Thysia Avr. 928 ὅ,τι προικιό ἐπεριελάβαμε (1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 189, 159.25); κανένα πελατισιό νὰ μὴν ἔχει (1641, ibid. 218, 179.17–18) (< Ven. apelaziòn, see BOERIO, Lex. s.v.)
 ἄφες τὸ κοιμησιό, τώρα μὴδὲν κοιμᾶσαι TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 239 τὸ δριμύ τὸ ξύδι τὸ ἀγγεῖο του βλάβει Paroim. (Warner) 93.12 εἴτι προικιό ἦφερα (1663, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 37, 24.3) ἀπάνω στὸ καμπαναρεῖο BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 473.6 τώρα ἐμὲν τὸ γερατειό τίς νὰ γηροβοσκήση PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1885 ἀπὸ χωριό Βουνοχώρα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 53.3; ἔγλυσε ἀπὸ τὸ μακελειό ibid. 53.7–8 στὸ σκολειό (1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 34, 136.114) τὸ χωράφι ... ὅπου μοῦ εἶχανε προικιό οἱ Φαρμακαῖοι δομένο (1720, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 35, 186.2–4)

Vocative

ἄγωμε, βιβλιδόν παραδαρμένον Cypr. Canz. 2.9 (= βιβλίον, see I, 2.6.2) μισάνθρωπε, μισότραγε, κι ὅλος θηριό καθάριο SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. G5r.10

Forms with the accent placed on <ι> often represent oxytone forms with synizesis, as is evident in verse texts (see 1.5 for discussion):

καὶ ὅ ποιόν σκολεῖον ἐμπῆκες Rim. kor. V 115 τὴν γύμνωσιν καὶ τὸ φευγιδόν Velth. 1293 transcr. (Lendari) (Kriaras: φευγιόν) εἰς τὸ σκολεῖον μὲ ἐβάλαν SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 32; εἰς τὸ χωρίον μ' ἐπῆγε ibid. 124 κράξε τον εἰς τὸ μαγερεῖον DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2383 καὶ τῆς ἀλαζονείας ἀγγεῖον καὶ τῆς διπλῆς τῆς γνώμης BERGADIS, Apok. V 302 καὶ ὅπαν τὴ στο διδασκαλεῖο Apoll. Rim. A 967 στὴν χώραν οὔ ποῦ τῶδωκεν ὁ πεθερός προικιδόν του Apoll. Rim. V 1861

However, even in non-verse texts it may sometimes be suspected that the written accent does not actually represent the position of the stress, as in the following examples, which are all derived from adjectives in -αῖος, which may undergo synizesis, /'eos/ > /'jos/, but there is no evidence for an intermediate stage /'ios/ (see I, 2.9.4.1):

κρατεῖ εἰς τὸν οἶκον τοῦ ἑναν ἀμάλωτον κλεψιμίον Assizes B 403.15–16 (< adj. κλεψιμαῖος) τὸν ποῖον θέλομεν νὰ ἔχη μηνίον (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 48, 26.2) (< μηνᾶϊον) μήνα ἔνι κρυψιμίον τοῦ Ταρείου Diig. Alex. E 177.1–2 (Konstantinopulos)

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ό(ν)

Regionally in the oxytone forms /j/ may be deleted when preceded by a sibilant or affricate (see I, 2.4.7.3). Examples have been found in texts from Crete, but are likely to occur in texts from other areas as well: ἀπέρασε το κολατσό κι ἀκόμη δεν εφάνη CHORTATIS, Panor. II.51 (< Ven. colaziòn); νὰ ἔβρει δροσό νὰ κάτσει Katis 32 (< τὸ δροσιό < ἡ δροσιά).

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ί(ν)

This ending, borrowed from paradigm 2.20.1.2, occurs lexically with the noun προικίον. Geographically it appears to be restricted to the Aegean (for the phonetic variants προικί(ν) and πουρκί(ν) see I, 2.8.4 and 3.9.1).¹³⁸

Nominative

εἶναι προικὶν τῆς αὐτῆς κερα-Ρήνης (1572, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 135, 255.8)

Accusative

(πουλεῖ ...) τὸ προικὶ τῆς μάνας τοῦ (1664, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 31, 36.4) νὰ δοθοῦν εἰς τῆς Ἑρήνης τὸ προικί (1678, Andros, POLEMIS 1977: 1, 30.25) (= Εἰρήνης, see I, 2.8.1) καὶ τὰ δίδει τῆς ἐκκλησίας παντοτινὸν πουρκί (1482 [copy of 1688], Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 108, 217.23–4) (< προικίον) δίνει διὰ πουρκὶν τῆς (1692, Naxos, PANDELIA-GRITSOPOULOU 1995/97: 2, 212.9) ἀπὸ τὸ προικί τοῦ (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 303.45) νὰ ἔχει ἀρεκετὸ τὸ πουρκί τοῦ (1710, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 32, 94.18–19)

Vocative

No examples found.

Genitive

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-(ε)ίου

Inherited forms in -(ε)ίου can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar, though mainly in verse texts and in mixed-register prose texts and documents. In other texts there can be no certainty regarding the intended stress position in these forms, even if the accent is written on <ι> (see the introduction (2.20) for discussion, and see below for unambiguous examples from verse and prose texts):

¹³⁸ The fact that the phonological variants προικί and πουρκί exist indicates that these forms were part of the spoken language. It is therefore unlikely that προικί would be the result of reinterpretation of the old dative as a nominative.

ἐκ τὴν τοῦ μαγερείου διακονίαν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 94.11 ἦτον ὁ τεῖχος του ὑψηλός, ὅλος μετὰ μουσείου Achil. N 765 ἦλθον ἐκ τοῦ σχολείου (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 84.1d) τὴν ἄμπελόν μου, ἥτις ἔστι μοι εἰς τόπον προικίου (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 93, 174.8) κ' εἶσαι τοῦ μακελείου Alex. Rim. 738 τὰ παιδία τοῦ σχολείου Diig. Alex. E 109.16 (Lolos) τοῦ πατριαρχείου (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 16.8) τοῦ μνημείου Vios Aisop. K 186.9 τοῦ χωρίου Bertoldin. 121.19 ὁ Διγενὴς μὲ τὸ ραβδί ἔδοσεν τοῦ θηρίου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2418

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-(ε)ιοῦ

Forms with a shift of the stress to the ultimate do not surface in writing before the 15th c.:

κ' εἰς τοῦ θηριοῦ τὸ στόμα Anak. Konst. 36 το διάβα του σκολείου της Apoll. Rim. A 1182 τὰ παιδία τοῦ σκολείου Diig. Alex. F 108.16 ἀκόντε τοῦ προικίου μου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 14, 15.12) τιμὴ τοῦ γερατειοῦ μου Dig. A 1028 ογία τη χρεία του προικίου CHORTATIS, Panor. V.244 καὶ μὲ τὴν ὥρα τοῦ σκολείου Thysia Avr. 494 τοῦ σπλετσερείου FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.214 (< Ven. speciaria)

Forms with the accent written on <ι>, e.g. γιατί 'τονε ἀπὸ 'δεκεῖ το διάβα του σκολείου της Apoll. Rim. E 1182, may in fact represent oxytone forms with synzesis (for details see 1.5).

Plural

Nominative, Accusative and Vocative

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ία/-εῖα

Paroxytone forms in /'ia/ can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar. However, only in verse texts and in higher-register prose texts and documents can there be a degree of certainty that the accent notation actually reflects the intended stress position (see the introduction to this section for a caveat regarding the actual stress position in such forms):

Nominative

ἄν ξνι γῆ, ... χωρία Assizes A 35.11–12 ἐκεῖ ἦλθαν τὰ θερία του τόπου Diig. Alex. K 377.7–8 για νὰ ἐβλέπουσι καὶ τὰ ἕτερα χωρία (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.20–1) κι ἐπάψα τὰ θερία P&N Diath. 144 εἶναι τὰ σχολεῖα τῶν ἐπιστημῶν Bertoldin. 106.30–1 τὰ ἀνωθεν χωρία εἶναι κοντὰ στοῦ γιολό (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 508.61) (author from Mani)

Accusative

διαβαίνοντα ομπρός, ἐπέσεν εἰς τινὰ χωρία Anthos Ch. A 225.2 καὶ κάθησαι συνέπαρτος εἰς τοῦτα τὰ χωρία SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 260 ἐδιάλεξεν ὁ ρήγας χωρία τὰ τοῦ ἀρέσαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 52.35–6 ταῦτα τὰ εἰρημένα προικία (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 3, 7.14); ἀπὸ τὰ ὅποια μου προικία (1511, ibid. 25, 43.11) (= προικία, see I, 2.8.4) τίς εἶδε τέτοια φοβερά σημεῖα ἕξ τὸν καιρὸν μας SKLAVOS, Symf. 139 ἔδωκε τὰ αγγεῖα ZYGOM., Stef. Ichn. 253.16 εἶδεν ἐτοῦτα τὰ στοιχεῖα Vios Aisop. D 231.33–4; ἐργαλεῖα τῆς κτιστικῆς ibid. 238.35

Vocative

θηρία καὶ πάντα τὰ ἐν τῇ γῇ, ἔλατε PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.136–7 θηρία τῆς ἐρήμου δὲ κλαύσατε μετὰ μένα DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 1196

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-(ε)ιά

Forms with a shift of the stress to the ultimate are more common than the old paroxytone forms, though they do not surface in writing before the 14th c.:

Nominative

ηῦρίσκονται κι ἄλλα θηριά καὶ εἶναι θυμωμένα Alex. Rim. 1543 δρώνουσιν αἶματα ... τοῦτα τὰ τειχιὰ CHORTATIS, Erof. II.125–6 ἕνα μὲ τ' ἄλλο τὰ θεριά P&N Diath. 84 ποιά ἂν αὐτάνα τὰ προικιά KONDAR., Paidēs 1082

Accusative

κ' ἐχάναν τὰ χωριά τους Chron. Mor. H 3308 θηριά τῆς φύσης (... ἐγέμισεν ἡ κτίσις) CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 21 εἰς τὰ τειχιὰ ἐπηδῆσαν Velis. ρ 366 στα γερατειά μου Apoll. Rim. A 1788 ὀρίζω γιὰ νὰ πάρουσι ἀπὸ τὰ κουρσιμιά μας Alex. Rim. 1433 (< κουρσιμαῖα); καὶ εἶδαμε κακὰ θηριά ibid. 1552
 (δίνωμεν ...) τὰ προικία των (1601, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 1, 79.10–11) στὰ γερατειά μας Thysia Avr. 188 τώρα στὰ γερατειά μου Zinon IV. 278

Vocative

ἐσεῖς, θηριά τοῦ Πλούτωνος Zinon I. 43

As in the singular, forms with the accent written on i may in fact represent oxytone forms with synizesis (see 1.5 for details), e.g.: ἦλθαν τοῦ Λάκκου τὰ χωρία Chron. Mor. H 1719; κρατοπουλεῖα, ψαρτοπουλεῖα ψουνίζουσι σ' τέτοιον μόνον LIMEN., Than. Rod. 561 transcr. (Lendari).

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-έα

A form τειχέα occurs ten times in the Chronicle of Morea (H), but all instances should be read with synizesis ([tix'ja]), which indicates the form is graphematic, a form of hypercorrection, probably by analogy with other paradigms (feminine nouns in -ία and -έα, which both develop alternative forms in -ιά (/ja/) and masculine nouns in -έας > -ιάς; cf. also the form χωραφαιοῦ in a document from Athos, 2.20.2.2): νὰ στέκη ἀπάνω εἰς τὰ τειχέα τῆς χώρας τῆς Πολέου Chron. Mor. H 855; εἰς τὰ τειχέα τὲς ἔστησαν ibid. 857.

Genitive

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-(ε)ίων

Paroxytone forms in -(ε)ίων can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar, though as is often the case with the genitive, not many examples have been found:

καὶ τῶν ὠμῶν θηρίων KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua IX.160 μετὰ μουσείων καὶ πλακῶν [VLASTOS], Dig. P VIII 399.18 τῶν διδασκαλείων Bertoldin. 106.31

Deletion of final /n/ is very rare. It has been found in a document from Cyprus that displays various scribal problems. Note that in Cypriot texts final /n/ is normally only deleted in specific environments (see I, 3.7.2.2.2): τῶν αὐτῶ χωρίω καὶ πρᾶστέλω (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.4).

Neut.

Pl.	Gen.	-(ε)ίων ἢ -(ε)ιῶ ἢ -(ε)ιῶνε

In the genitive plural, too, a shift of the stress to the final syllable may occur:

καὶ τῶν χωρίων (11th c., Sicily/S. Italy, SCHREINER 1975/79: 45, 336.38.2–3) καὶ οἱ χωριάτες τῶν χωρίων Chron. Mor. H 1648 τὰ κτηνὰ τῶν χωργίων του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 54.12–13

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from south-western areas and the Aegean:

διὰ ὄνομα προυκιῶ (1590, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 8, 309.12) (= προικίων, see I, 2.8.4) τῶ γερατειῶ μου CHORTATIS, Erof. II.376 and Stathis III.486 οἱ πύργοι πάλι τῶν τειχιῶ Zinon III.341

Addition of -(ν)ε has been found in a document from the Heptanese, but is likely to occur elsewhere as well (see I, 2.6.3.1): τῶν αὐτῶ χωριῶνε (1655, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 2, 188.9); ὅλονῶνε τῶ χωριῶνε (1666, ibid. 4, 198.299).

2.20.1.2 Paroxytone/Oxytone Nouns in -ίο(ν) > -ί(ν)

	General	Restricted	Rare
Singular
Nom.	παιδί(ν)	παιδίον	παιδίο
Gen.	παιδιοῦ	παιδίου -οῦ
Acc.	παιδί(ν)	παιδίον
Voc.	παιδί(ν)	παιδίον
Plural
Nom.	παιδιά	παιδιά -ά
Gen.	παιδιῶν	παιδίων παιδιῶ παιδιῶνε -ῶν ἢ -ῶ	παιδίουν
Acc.	παιδιά	παιδιά -ά
Voc.	παιδιά	παιδιά -ά

Singular*Nominative, Accusative and VocativeNeut.*

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ίο(ν)

The old ending -ιον, even though it had lost its /o/ (see below) before the period covered by this Grammar, is still occasionally used in mixed-register texts:

Nominative

τὸ δὲ παιδίον ὁ Ἀχιλλεύς Achil. N 212 δὲν θέλουν σοῦ λείπει σολδία μήτε ψωμίον Bertoldin. 132.4
 τὸ παιδίον ... θέλει εἶναι ἀρσενικὸν Alex. Fyll. 9.21–2

Accusative

οἱ μὲν ζατρίκιν ἔπαιζαν, ἄλλοι δὲ τὸ ταβλίον Pol. Tr. 259 ἔβαλε σχοινίον περὶ τον τράχηλον αὐτοῦ Anthos Ch. E 265.31; σφάξας παιδίον μικρόν ibid. 269.27 νὰ τοῦ δώσουν κρασίον νὰ πῆ Vios Aisop. D 226.36; νὰ δουλώσω τόσον μεγάλον νησίον ibid. 235.16–17 (ἡῦραν ...) τὸ καυκίον τοῦ Ἀπόλλωνος Vios Aisop. K 201.23 ἐκεῖνο ὅπου εὐγαίνει ἀπὸ τὸ βουτσίον, σὰν τελειώνει τὸ κρασίον Bertoldos 33.26–7 ἀπὸ τὸ ἕνα μερίον Bertoldin. 145.25 (< μηρίον) ἐπῆρεν ἕνα πουλίον Alex. Fyll. 10.7; ἐπῆρεν ἕνα σκαμνίον ibid. 15.26–7

Vocative

ἄνθρωπος εἶσαι, ὦ παιδίον Vios Aisop. E 287.21 ὦ καίμενον ψωμίον, ποῖος σὲ τρώγει; Bertoldin. 144.17–18

As can be expected, deletion of final /n/ is rare here: ἔτεκεν τὸ παιδίον Byz. Il. 85, which might be a simple writing mistake for παιδίον; να βάλω εἰς χαρτίο ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 5730 (rhymes awkwardly with δικτύο, for δίκτυο).

Neut.

Sg.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ί(ν)

This ending is the result of deletion of /o/ in the old -ίον ending (see above), a development that pre-dates the LMedG period by many centuries (see the introduction to this section, 2.20). After the deletion of /o/, the ending may lose its final /n/:

Nominative

τὸ φακὶν καὶ τὸ ριβίνθιν, ὅταν εἶν ἐκζεστά ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 82.11–12; ἐγὼ δὲ τὸ ἀνάξιον παιδὶν σου id., Logos 9 312.9
ἤμουν παιδὶν, ἐγήρασα GLYKAS, Stichoí 1; κουκκὶν-κουκκὶν ἄν σωρευθῇ ibid. 183 νὰ νομευτῇ τὸ ψουμὶν ἐκεῖνον Assizes A 115.8 (= ψωμὶν, see I, 2.8.3) τὸ νησὶν ἔμεινεν χωρὶς τινὰν χρόνους ΛΣ' MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.4 (= νησὶν, see I, 3.4.2.5) νὰ τὰ ἔχει καὶ αὐτὰ τὸ παιδὶν μου (1515, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 71, 107.10) νὰ δοθεῖ ... τόσον κρασὶν (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 218.35) ἐμὲν τὸ φαγὶν μου ἔνι ἀπὸ τὸ ξύλον ἐτοῦτο Diig. Alex. E 43.3–4 (Konstantinopulos) (< inf. φαγεῖν) νὰ ἄλθῃ στὴν Κύπρον τὸ Τουρκὶν Thrinós Kypr. 29 ἡῤῥισκε καὶ τὸ ἴνιν (1713, Chios, LAMBROS 1910: 351, 209.3) (< ὕνιον < ἡ ὕνις; cf. the same form in ὅσον ἐξέπεσε τὸ νὶν Paroim. H 17 app. crit.)
καὶ μὴ δοκῇτε τίποτε ὅτι παιδὶ ὑπάρχω Achil. O 221 ὁ κύρης βλέπει τὸ παιδὶν καὶ τὸ παιδὶ τὸν κύρη Alosis 206 ὥσπερ τὸ ἴδιόν του κορμί (1540, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 76, 57.4) ἐβγήκεν ἕνα πουλὶ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 334.43 ἐμένα τὸ φαῖ μου ἔναι ... Diig. Alex. F 42.3 (Konstantinopulos); τὸ πετζὶ τὸ ἐδικό μας ἔναι δυνατὸν ibid. 58.11–12 τὸ πί μου ἔνι ἀπὸ τὴν βρύσην τούτην Diig. Alex. E 43.4 (Konstantinopulos) (< inf. πιεῖν, see III, 4.6.2.3) τὸ ψωμί SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.4
ἄς ἔχη τὸ χαρτί σου Pist. kekoim. 495–6 εἴτι παιδὶ ἤθελε βάλει σκάνταλο (1583, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 15, 29.4) τὸ χειρότερο σκαλί τῆς σκάλας τρίζει Paroim. (Warner) 107.11 καὶ τὸ φορτὶ ἐχάθηκε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 501.11 (< Ven. fortin) εἶναι το φαγὶ τοὺς παρωικά Alex. Fyll. 47.7–8

Accusative

καὶ κουσκούνιν γ' δηνάρια καὶ ἄρνιν (1108–9, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 29, 135.32) νὰ τελειώσεις τὸ χαρτὶν τῆς πάκτωσης (1330, Crete, ΛΑΙΟΥ 1982: 2, 123.1–2) ἔδωκα καὶ ἐγὼ αὐτὸν τὸ λωρίν (1435, Pontos, MAVROMATIS/ALEXAKIS 2009: 13, 166.6) (ἐποίησα ...) τὸ κептίν (15th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 170, 117.4) (= κηπίν < κηπίον, see I, 2.5.2) ἔδωκεν ... χαρκὶν ἔναν (1346, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 32, f.79r.1) (= χαλκὶν, see I, 3.8.6.2) ἔσὺ ἔταξές μου τὸ φιλὶν Katal. 20 (< inf. φιλεῖν) νὰ τὸν δέσου εἰς τὸ πιλιρὶν (1491, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1991: 1, 234.21) (< OFr. pilorin, see GODEFROY, Lex. s.v.)

 παιδὶν νὰ μὴν ποιήσῃ Achil. N 44 ἐδιέβη εἰς τὸ κελὶν τῆς Anthos Ch. A 233.13 εἰς τὸ βουνὶν Synax. gadar. 201 διότι εἶχεν ὁμορφον κορμὶν VOUSTR., Chron. A 40.19 ἐκ τὸ θρονὶν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 88; φιλεῖ τὸ τσαγκὶν του ibid. 223 κ' εἶχα στὴν ζῶσιν μου σπαθὶν BERGADIS, Apok. A 7 ἐπίασα ἀπὸ τὸ κερὶν BERGADIS, Apok. V 39 ἀπού νὰ δῇ τὸ λασμαρὶν Cypr. Canz. 115.1 (= ροσμαρὶν, see I, 2.8.5 and 3.8.6.3) εἰς φαρὶν μέγα Theseid VI.33,1 (Olsen) ἔδωκεν κονταρέα τὸ ἄλογόν μου εἰς τὸ μερὶν [VLASTOS], Dig. P VII 388.29 (< μηρ(ο)ν) ὃς τὸ σκαμνὶν του Thrinis Kypr. 3 εἰς τὸ σπαθὶ τοὺς ἔβαλαν Chron. Mor. H 619 κόπτε τὸ ἐν ψηφί (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 31, 30.4) (< ψηφίον) κ' ἐχόρτασέν την τὸ φιλί Katal. 318 (< inf. φιλεῖν) κρατῶντας τὸ κλειδί ὁ εὐρισκόμενος βικάριος (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 33, 67.26) εἰς τὴν χώραν τὸ Πυργί (1506, Trebizond, PRINZING 2000: 2, 304.3) καὶ τὸ σφυρὶ γιὰ παίγνιο Alex. Rim. 685 (σφυρὶ = σφαίρα, see HOLTON 22002: 213) εἰς τὸ ἄσκι (1541, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 222, 213.24) τὸ ψωμί SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.4

 εἰς ἓνα σπυρὶ πιπέρι Diig. Alex. V 42.9–10 στοῦ φιλαδέλφου τὸ βουνί Dimotika Ivir. II.2 εἰς τὸ φαγὶ ἐγκράτειαν LANDOS, Geopon. 179.11 (< inf. φαγεῖν) νὰ μὴν εἶσαι πολὺς εἰς τὸ κρασί PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §9.12 εἰσὲ ὅλο τὸ νησί (1647, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 16, 88.53) ποτές βρακὶ δὲ βάνει Paroim. (Warner) 45.12; νύφη, ἄναψε κερί ibid. 92.1
 εἰς τὸ μαγαζί του (1692, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 25, 19.23) δὲν τρώγουν τὸ ψωμί χαράμι Don Kis. 173.26–7; νὰ κοπανίζει νερόν εἰς τὸ γουδί ibid.
 179.30–1

Vocative

δὶ' αὐτὸ, παιδὶν μου, πρόσεχε Spaneas P 58 τοῦ κοντοστάβλη γιαισιμίν Katal. 451 (Panayotopoulou) κρασὶν μου δοκιμώτατον Krasop. AO 80 παιδὶν μου Ἀλέξανδρε Diig. Alex. E 151.8 (Konstantinopulos) ἔδε <τὰ> ἐθάρρουν ἀπ' ἑσέν, παιδί μου, νὰ κερδήσω Spaneas V 24 παιδί μου Ἀλέξανδρε Diig. Alex. E 150.8 (Konstantinopulos) ὦ ψωμί SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.4
 κρασί, σὲ πίνω γιὰ καλὸ Paroim. (Warner) 76.21
 ἄγγριον πουλί, μερώθου μου ... | ὦ χρυσόν, ὦ χρυσόν πουλί Dimotika Ivir. X.1–2

Genitive

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ίου

The old paroxytone genitive can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar, though only in mixed- and higher-register texts can there be some degree of certainty that the accent placement reflects the intended stress position (see the introduction (2.20) for discussion):

περὶ φαγίου καὶ πίου ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 214.7 (< inf. φαγεῖν and πιεῖν) σπαθίου τὴν ὑποδοχὴν Dig. G I.158 ἀπὸ ἐνὸς φαρίου Dig. E 1759 τοῦ παιδίου 4.202–3; τοῦ φαίου ibid. 15.415 χωρὶς ἄλλην τίποτις ὀρεξὴν του κορμίου Anthos Ch. G 21.10–11 ἔβλεπεν δὲ τὴν θαυμαστὴν ἀνδρείαν τοῦ παιδίου Achil. N 224 τοῦ φαγίου (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 165.1d) μῆτε φαγίου καὶ ποτοῦ LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 120 ὀλονοῦ τοῦ παιδίου (1528, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 113, 224.26) τὸ ψωμί, τοῦ ψωμίου SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.4 σοφίαν του σκυλίου DIONYS., Istor. 254.23 ὁ μπάρμπας τοῦ παιδίου Nov. I 156.19 ἀπὸ σπαθίου καὶ κονταρίου ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 15.4
 ἡ δύναμις του σπαθίου μου Don Kis. 46.18

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-ιοῦ

Synizesis and a shift of the stress to the ultimate is common:

καὶ τοῦ ψωμιοῦ τὴν μάνναν Ptoch. III 82 ᾽ς τὴν πόρταν τοῦ κελιοῦ τῆς Liv. V 1162 τοῦ νησιοῦ Imber. 552; τοῦ ψαριοῦ ibid. 612 ἀγούρους θαυμαστούς, σπαθιοῦ δοκιμασμένους Achil. O 268 τοῦ ψουμιοῦ τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 398.19 γιὰ τοῦ παιδιοῦ τὴ γέννα Alex. Rim. 88 τοῦ βουνιοῦ (1515 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 1, 50.15) ὅταν ἦλθεν ἡ ὥρα τοῦ φαγιοῦ Vios Aisop. I 251.34 (< inf. φαγεῖν) τοῦ σκυλιοῦ P&N Diath. 378 ᾽ς τόπον ἀρνιοῦ Thysia Avr. 11; ὄφου κορμιοῦ τρομάρα ibid. 172 εἰς τὴν Πόλη καὶ γάλα πουλιοῦ εὐρίσκεις Paroim. (Warner) 102.2; σκαμνιοῦ ποδάρη ibid. 107.14 τὸν τόπο τοῦ φορτιοῦ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 500.24 (< Ven. fortin) τοῦ βρακιοῦ Diig. Vefa 202

In verse texts it becomes clear that forms that are accented on i often represent oxytone forms (see 1.5 for discussion), as in the following example: φαρίου του τὰ λαγκέματα Achil. N 1210.

Neut.

Sg.	Gen.	-οῦ

Forms in -οῦ develop after synizesis through deletion of /j/ when preceded by a sibilant or affricate. Examples have been found in texts from Crete and Santorini, but see I, 2.4.7.3 for details on chronology and geographical spread of the phenomenon across paradigms and parts of speech: τοῦ νησοῦ ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 124; σὰν τοῦ βουτσοῦ τὸν πίρο Stathis II.12; εἰς τὸν πόρον τοῦ βουτσοῦ LANDOS, Geopon. 244.22; ὁδὶα συμφέρον τοῦ νησοῦ μας (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.11).

Plural

Nominative, Accusative and Vocative

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ία

Paroxytone forms in -ία can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar. However, only in verse texts and in higher-register prose texts and documents can there be some confidence that the accent notation actually reflects the intended stress position (see the introduction to this section, 2.20, for a caveat regarding the actual stress position in such forms):

Nominative

ἐτελειώθησα τὰ στηθία (1079, Mani, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 47, 307, no. 47.1) θρονία δύο, σελλία δύο (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.16) καὶ νησία καὶ τόποι (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 271.7) (ἤφεραν ...) δέκα χιλιάδες φλουρία (1481, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 11, 316.13) καὶ τὰ φαγία ἔτοιμα Velth. 1337 (< inf. φαγεῖν) καὶ εἶναι τὰ χαρτία κόλλες μεταξωτές (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.35–6) εἰ δὲ καὶ τὰ αὐτὰ παιδία τὰ δύο ἀποθάνουν (1600, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969b: 37.2) ἐκεῖνα τ' ἀσεβέστατα καὶ μιὰρὰ Τουρκία IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4579 σμίγοντας τὰ δύο παιδία Reb. Enr. 103.27–8

Accusative

(νὰ ἔχουν ...) τὰ μαγαζία των (1453, Constantinople, DALLEGIO D'ALESSIO 1939: 117.22) πόσον ἀπομένει ἀπὸ τὰ ,ας' φλωρία (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.21–2) νὰ λάβουν β' κουκία εἰς τὸ μάρκον Assizes A 245.4 (δίδει ...) κομπία ἀργυρὰ ν' (1500, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1 [A'], 236.15) ἀφῆνω ὕσθατους κληρονόμους τὰ δύο μου παιδία (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 2, 22.18) φλασκία κολοκυθένα (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 95.79) καὶ ἐσκέπασα τὰ κελλία ὅπου κατοικοῦμε (1539, Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.10) νὰ κρατίζη ... κορμία κ' (1548, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 47, 76.13–14) μὲ πέντε ψωμία καὶ δύο ψάρια ἐχόρτασε πέντε χιλιάδες λαόν DAM. SToud., This., Logos 20 κ1v.1 (1561) καὶ νὰ ἔχω ὅλα θηλυκὰ παιδία (1588, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 222, 186.48) (νὰ παίρνουσιν ...) τὰ φαγία (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III–V, 510.38.10) (< inf. φαγεῖν) ὁπότεν τὰράξω τὰ σχοινία Alex. Fyll. 103.19 μὲ τὰ σπαθία τους EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 53.1

Vocative

ὦ ψωμία SOFIANOS, Grammar 41.5
 ὦ τραδιτόροι, λέγει τους, γραν πέκοι καὶ σκυλία IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2559 νὰ οπού σας ἐγνώρισα, σκυλία ἀπιστα! Don Kis. 50.12

Sometimes the articular nominative is used as a vocative (see IV, 5.1.2): «οὐκ ἔναι, τὰ παιδιά μου, δόλος, μηδὲ φοβήσθε» Liv. V 2781.

Neut.

Pl.	Nom., Acc. & Voc.	-ιά

Oxytone forms in -ιά are the result of synizesis (see I, 2.9.4). Examples have not been found before the 15th c., but they are common enough to assume that they will have existed in the spoken language before surfacing in written texts. Synizesis is most visible in verse texts, and evidenced by the variant in -ά, below, the result of deletion of /j/, which presupposes synizesis:

Nominative

ἑσείς καὶ τὰ παιδιά σας Chron. Mor. H 4246 τὰ παιδιά του ἐγεννήθησαν Assizes A 126.20 καὶ ἀνὲ μυρίζου τὰ βουινὰ BERGADIS, Apok. A 90 ὡς λέγουν τὰ χαρτιά μου Alex. Rim. 74; ἦσαν καὶ ἀφεντῶν παιδιὰ ἐννέα ibid. 335 τὰ κορμινὰ μας (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 9, 10.15) ὅλα τὰ πουλιὰ ... νὰ τότε δοῦσι CHORTATIS, Katz. I.134; πῶς τρέμουσι τ' ἀτζιά σου ibid. I.282
