 οὐδὲν σ' ἔχα δώσει τὸ φιλὶν Katal. 323; μὴ μ' ἔχες ἐρωτήσῃ ibid. 368 κι ὡς ἔχασι τ' ἀμάτια μου τὴν ἔγνοια νὰ θωροῦσι FALIEROS, Thrinós 261 app. crit.
 νὰ μῆχε πάρῃ ὁ θάνατος Love poems V 440 ἔχαν τάξιν ὅτι ... MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 12.9; τοὺς ἔχες φυλακισμένους ibid. 280.5–6 διότι ἔχεν ὁμορφον κορμὶν VOUSTR., Chron. M 41.18; καὶ ἔχεν τα εἰς τὸ χέριν του ibid. 105.17 ἔχα φίλον κηπουρόν Paroim. G 10 γιάντα ὅδε μ' ἔχες μετὰ σέ Apoll. Rim. A 1393; νὰ μ' ἔχε ἔξεπατήσῃ ibid. 1435 (same in ENV) εἰς ἀνθρώπον που ὀδεποτέ σ' ἔχε ἀγαπημένη Theseid IV.8,8 (1529) ὡς καθὼς τὴν ἔχασι (1544, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [2], 7.6) πὼς τὴν ἔχε φέρει Pist. voskos I 1.95 εἰς τὴν ἀγάπην ὅπου τὸ ἔχασιν (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 83–4.13) (= τοῦ ἔχασιν; for crasis see I, 2.9.5) τοῦ ραπρεζεντάντε ὅπου ἔχε κάμει ἐξεκούτζιο (1655, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 2, 188.19) ὅ,τι σύκα ἔχασι κάμει (1671, Naxos, SFYROERAS 1963a: 2, 494.32–3) τὰ μωρὰ παιδιὰ πὺν ἔχαν ἡλικίαν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 283 app. crit. (= ποὺ ἔν ἔχαν)
 ὅτι μ' ἔχεν γελᾶσει (1697, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 68, 242.3) transcr. (Korre)²⁴

Similarly, the verb εἶμαι has 3 sg. and 3 pl. forms beginning in /e/ in Machairas (see also 4.8.2). An unaugmented aorist of ἔρχομαι has been found in a document from the Peloponnese, and ἔδα for εἶδα in a text from Chios and a text of unknown provenance:

τοῦ μάστρε Πιὲρ Κανῆλ ὅπου ἔτον ἡ ἀφορμὴ τοῦ σκαντάλου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 182.8; οἱ Σαρακηνοὶ ἔτον χωσμένοι ibid. 190.28 πρωτασέδα πρωταμέδες / πρῶτα σ' ἔδα πρῶτα μ' ἔδες (17th c., Unknown, ŠANGIN 1936: 4, 161.8)
 πότ' ἔδες ἢ πότ' ἤκουσες VEST., Prol. Theot. 209 ὁ βεζίρης ἔρθε ἀτός του καὶ ἐπῆρε τὸν Μορέαν ὅλονε (1715, Stefani, LAMBROS 1910: 362, 213.2)

3.2 Compound Verbs

Verbs compounded with a nominal, adjectival, pronominal or adverbial first constituent and dvandva compounds (verb + verb) generally take the external syllabic /e/ augment when they start in a consonant; they rarely have no external augment. When the compounded verb starts in a vowel, past forms either take no augment at all, or the initial vowel may be replaced by the syllabic /e/ augment. The temporal augment with verbs starting in /a/ or /e/ is much rarer and mainly limits itself to verbs compounded with the residual adverb εὔ. Multiple augments are quite rare, but may occur when the verb that forms the second constituent of the compound has a syllabic augment.

²⁴ Mertzios misread the document and prints ἔχει γελᾶσει; see JANSSEN 2013 for a discussion of this and other “phantom” perfects.

3.2.1 Consonant-initial Verbs

When the compound verb starts in a consonant, the external syllabic /e/ augment is used, which is placed before the first constituent of the compound:

- ώσαν έμελαγχόλησα Ptoch. I 140 έκοντοαναμείναν Chron. Mor. H 3631 έχεροτόνησεν τον (1395, Pontos, BRYER 1976: 7, 133.3) νά με έψυχοπονούσου Liv. V 1147; ένουθέτησεν ibid. 2427; έμυριόμοσεν ibid. 2780 εκεί έκοντοστάθησαν Chron. Toc. 2318 Άρης έπερνοδιάβαινε Alosis 420; έσφικτοκλείδωνέν το ibid. 617 έχαμποπετούσαν Achil. N 828; ένεφροκοποϋνταν ibid. 1406 έχειροτονήθη παρά του Σάρδεων (15th c. [ms], Constantinople, SCHREINER 1975/79: 8.I, 80.12a.3) έκωλосύραν τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 122.10 τούς έγλυκασπαζόντησαν Theseid II.79,4 (1529) έκρυφογαμηθήκαν Epain. gyn. 186 έμπαινόβγαινεν μετ' έμās SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 18.53 (ed. έμπενόβγενεν) έφαγοπότισεν καλά Diig. Alex. Sem. B 56 and 992 έσυκοφάντησαν τον πενθερό μου (17th c., Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.2, 72.11–12) του έκαλοφάνη πολλά Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.9; του έκακοφάνη πολλά ibid. 31.11 σās έμοιρολογούσαμεν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 11.17 έδικαιολογούνταν (1645, Jassy, LEGRAND 1903: 5, 10.7); έδηλοποιούσете (ibid. 12.7) κ' έτουρκοσκλάβωσές με BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 548.24 έπουρκοτάξασιν (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 179.17–18) (< προικοτάσσω)
 έπροτεσταλόγησεν (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 7, f.43r.24–5)

When the head of the compound consists of a verb form that as a simple verb would have a stressed syllabic augment, double augment may occur, as in the first example below; though usually the internal augment is omitted and the stress shifts to the last syllable of the first constituent:

- επρωτοέβγαλε αυτήν την πλανωμένην καβαλιερίαν Don Kis. 333.10–11 έβαρύφας (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 405.350) (< βαρυτρώγω) έξενόμενα (1684, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 64, 272.27) (< ξενομένω)
 ό Τοϋρκος έκοντόφθασεν Thrinos Kypr. 56

Double augment is rare when the verb has a temporal augment: επρωτοηθέλησε να γένει οπλοφόρος Don Kis. 333.11.

Even when the verb is doubly compounded, the augment is normally placed at the beginning of the form: κ' έσυχνοπερνόβλεπά την Dim. poiim. 1.7; έσυχνοξηρόβηχε Don Kis. 232.10.

When the preceding word ends in a vowel the unstressed augment of the following verb may be deleted as a result of aphaeresis. This does not necessarily mean that the form is unaugmented, just that /e/, being a weak vowel (see I, 2.9.2), is displaced by the preceding vowel:

καὶ νὰ καλοπαθούμην Ptoch. III 166 app. crit. (P) καὶ λογισμοεμαχοῦμαν Liv. α 2887 ὀλόγυρα τριγύριζε Achil. N 1320 ἄς μὲ λιθοβολούσαν Achil. O 725 νὰ ποταμοφόριζεν Krasop. AO 29 ἡ κόρη χολομάνησεν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 941 καὶ πάντα συχνοκοίταζε Theseid IV.53,8 (1561)

With this type of verb, /i/ for /e/ in the augment has only been found in a document that generally displays mid-vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4 for details): ἱπροτοστολόγησι (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 6, f.43r.2; and 1691, ibid. 12, f.44r.7) (= ἑπροτεσταλόγησε).

3.2.2 Vowel-initial Verbs

When the compound verb starts in a vowel, the same rules apply as with simple verbs (see 3.1.4); in short: initial /a/ and /e/ may be replaced by the temporal /i/ augment; initial /a/, /i/ and /o/ may be replaced by the syllabic /e/ augment; and initial /a/, /e/, /i/, /o/ and u/ may remain unaugmented.²⁵ Syllabic /i/ augment has only been found with the verb ὁμολογῶ.

3.2.2.1 External Temporal /i/ Augment

Verbs starting in /a/ and /e/ may occasionally adopt the /i/ augment in early texts, though it is more common with verbs starting in εὐ-:

Initial /a/ > /i/

ὀκάτι ὡς ἡκροεκύσπαζε GLYKAS, Stichoi 51 ὁ φιλῶν με ἡγρύπνησε Dig. G VI.51 ἡγριολάλησά την Ptoch. I 140

Initial /e/ > /i/

ἡτύχησες ἄθρόον GLYKAS, Stichoi 379 ἡύτρεπιζεν Eisit. f.1r.2; ἡύτχησεν ibid. f.1v.18 ἡνίκα δὲ ἡύδόκησε Θεὸς Dig. G III.163; τῷ Θεῷ ἡύχαρίσται ibid. IV.685 ὅτι ἡ κοιλιά μου ἡύκαίρησεν ἀπὸ τὴν ἀφαγίαν Ptoch. I 258–9 πάραυτα ἡύτρέπισαν Dig. E 464; ὡς ἡύδόκησας ibid. 1820/1821 ἡύφράνθημεν ὀλίγον Liv. V 2471 πρὸς τὴν φωνὴν ἡύτρέπισεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1904 ἑσκίρτησεν, ἡύφράνθη Velth. 1328 ἡύχαρίσται αὐτῷ μεγάλως Vios Aisop. D 235.37 ἡύφράνθηκαν Diig. Alex. E 181.19 (Konstantinopulos) τότες τοὺς ἡύχαρίσθησεν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2491

²⁵ No compound verbs starting in /u/ have been found in the texts examined, but see e.g. the following 9th-c. example: ὅτι ὁ ὄνος αὐτοῦ οὐροκοπήθη Achmet, Oneirokritikon 233.34–5 (ed. Drex1).

3.2.2.2 External Syllabic /e/ Augment

The syllabic /e/ augment may replace the initial /a/, /i/ or /o/ of the verb, provided this does not render the verb form semantically opaque.²⁶ Examples have been found in texts from various areas:

Initial /a/ > /e/

ἐτσαλόφαγεν καὶ ἐτσαλόπιεν Assizes B 431.20 (< ἄτσαλο-) καὶ ἐκριβολόγησά τους Liv. V 2742 ἐκροβάσταξεν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1854 ἐκριβολόγησέν τας Velth. 618 ἐκροδειλίασεν Achil. O 126

Initial /i/ > /e/

ἀπὸ τότε ἐκονόμουνα Liv. E 3532
τὴν ρένταν ἐκονόμησαν Liv. V 2716 ὅπου μᾶς ἐκονόμησεν τὴν συμφορὰν ἐτούτην [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1543 ἐκεῖνο τὸ ἐκονόμησεν Florios 273 οἱ Φράγκοι ἐκονομήθησαν Chron. Mor. P 705 ἐκονόμησεν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2072 ἐσοπιάσασι P&N Diath. 1491 (< ἰσοπιάνω)

Initial /o/ > /e/

ἄτινα ἐμολόγησαν (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.23)
ἐλιγοθυμήσασιν Dig. E 194 app. crit.; ἐμολόγησες ibid. 385 ἐμολόγησε καὶ ἄλλο (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.24); καὶ ἐμολόγησαν (1487, Rhodes, ibid. 18, 96.7) τὰ ὅποια ἐμολόγησέν τα (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 46.27) δεν ἐμολόγησα VOUSTR., Chron. A 32.13 ἐμολόγησαν Diig. Alex. F 134.18 (Lolos) ἐμολόγησε (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 35, 75.2–3) μοῦ τὸ ἐμολόγησε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.1) ἐμολόγησε (1597, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 5, 77.37) ἐμένα ποτὲ δὲ μοῦ τὸ ἐμολόγησε Nov. I 156.21 ἐμολόγησες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.5

3.2.2.3 External Syllabic /i/ Augment

Lexically the syllabic /i/ augment is employed with the verb ὁμολογῶ. Examples have been found in the Escorial version of Livistros and in Imberios: ἡ κόρη οὐκ ἡμολόγησεν Liv. E 1346; ποσῶς οὐκ ἡμολόγησεν Imber. 587 and Imb. Rim. 656.

²⁶ For instance /e/ augment with the verbs ὁμολογῶ and οἰκονομῶ is not uncommon; the initial vowel is clearly not vital to the recognition of the verb, as they also appear in the present tense as μολογῶ and κονομῶ. On the other hand, /e/ augments are generally avoided with e.g. the modifier ὅλο-, which becomes difficult to recognize in ἐλο-; however, EMG would not be EMG if exceptions were not to be found: ἐλοπληρώθη καλῶς (1530, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 99, 119.7–8).

3.2.2.4 Internal Augment

In literary texts (usually versified, but occasionally in prose), there are several examples of compound verbs with internal augment. Internal augment is almost always combined with external augment; in the forms ἐρωτοεσχηματίσθην and ἐρωτοετρώθην the initial /e/ may be viewed as an augment. Often the internal augment and the final vowel of the first part of the compound need to be read as one syllable in order for the verse to scan (for metrical synizesis see I, 2.9.4.2).

ἐχαμοεγέλασεν Liv. V 1257; ἐσυχνοεστέναζεν ibid. 3274; ἐμυριοελυπᾶτον ibid. 3508 καὶ νὰ ἰχνοεποδοπάτησες Liv. α 280; ἐρωτοεσχηματίσθην ibid. 1486; ἐλογοεμαχοῦμεν ibid.
2887 app. crit. (P) καὶ ἔκοσμοεγύρευσά σε Liv. S 2965 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ἐρρουκανοετούρνευσεν Velth. 290 ἀνεβοεκατέβαινεν Diig. tetr. 1060 πόσους ἐπικροεπότησεν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 297 καὶ πάντα ἐσυχνοεκοίταζεν τὴν κόρην Theseid IV.53,8 ms (f.33r); ἐπολυεπλασίαζαν ibid.
VI.30,6 (Olsen) (cf. τὰ ποῖα ἐπολυπλάσιαζαν in the 1529 edition) ἀκόμη δεν ἐκαλοεβγήκε Don Kis. 3.27

Even forms with double internal or triple augment have been found in various versions of Livistros; in most of these examples the multiple augments are purely graphematic:

καὶ συχνοεπαρέγγερνεν Liv. V 1128; νὰ συχνοεπεριεπάτησες ibid. 1264; ἐμυριοενέπαυσέ τον ibid. 2330 (in which the three vowels <ιοε> must be read as one syllable) νὰ συχνοεπεριεπάτησες Liv. α 1495 app. crit. (P) καὶ κοσμοεπεριεπάτει Liv. S 2005 (Lambert-van der Kolf)

An internal /i/ augment in forms of εὐεργετῶ, not uncommon since Late Antiquity (see LSJ, s.v. εὐεργετῶ), has only been found in mixed- to higher-register texts: ἀλλ' ὄνπερ εὐηργέτησας πολλὰς εὐεργεσίας GLYKAS, Stichoï 382; ποῖος τὸν εὐηργέτησε MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 170.

The stressed internal augment may be deleted when the first constituent ends in a strong vowel (see I, 2.9.2 for details). The stress then shifts to the final vowel of the modifier: ὁποῦ ἐπρωτόρθε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 156.40.

3.2.2.5 Absence of the Augment

Compound verbs starting in /a/, /i/ and /o/ can quite often be found without the augment throughout the period covered by this Grammar. Dvandva compounds that start in a vowel (ἀνεβοκατεβαίνω, ἀνεβοκατεβάζω) are, as a rule, unaugmented:

Initial /a/ἀγαθοεργήθημεν (1182, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 212, 277.14–15) ἐκεῖ ἀνεβοκατέβαινε ἀντίπερα τοῦ Ἀφράτη Arm. 31 ὡσὰν <ν'> ἀκροφοβήθην Dig. E 1113 ἀγρυπνήσατε Pol. Tr. 492 app. crit. (AEV); ὁ ρῆξ ἀκριοστράφη ὀπίσω ibid. 3076 app. crit. (B) ἀσχημολόγησέν τους Chron. Toc. 1779 ἀγαθοποίησε Hist. Imp. IIb 1365 τοὺς ἀδικοθανάτωσαν MAXIMOS, Synax. Ag. Nik. 138.34 δαμάκι ἀκροστάθηκα Stathis II.83 καὶ τὴν ἀναίβοκατέβαζε IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 335.34 τὰ χεῖλη της ἀνεβοκατεβῆκα KORNAROS, Erot. I.1977

Initial /i/

οἰκονομήθη NIKON, Logos 1 104.19
 τὸ οἰκοδόμησα (1138?, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 14, 102.10) οἰκοδόμησα τὴν ἐκκλησίαν (1285, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 78, 44.16) οἰκονομήθη παρευτὺς Chron. Mor. H 251; οἱ Φράγκοι ὠκονομήθησαν ibid. 705 χαρίσματα οἰκονόμησεν Dig. E 1072 καὶ πῶς οἰκοδομήθη Pol. Tr. 12048 ὅπου μὲ οἰκονόμησεν τοῦ εὐνούχου τὴν φιλίαν Liv. V 1914 πάντες οἰκονομήθησαν Chron. Toc. 3867 οἰκονόμησαν φουσάτα Hist. Imp. I 575 ἀλλὰ ὁ θεὸς τὶ οἰκονόμησεν DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 20, σ8ν.15 (1561)

Initial /o/

πάλιν ὀπισθοπόδησα Ptoch. I 232 ὀνειροῦποσχέθης Liv. S 352 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ὀλοπροθυμήσεν το Liv. α 3350 app. crit. (P); καὶ ὀλοχωρικευόμην ibid. 403 app. crit. (P) ὀμολόγησαν ὅτι ἔλαβαν (1509, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: 2 [B'], 225.4) ὀλοπληρώθηκα (1547, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 32, 63.8) ὀμολόγησεν (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 4, 56.3) ὀλονύχτισα μ' ἕνα μου φίλο ὁμάδι CHORTATSI, Katz. II.354 ὠμοφωνήσανε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 35.11 ὀμολογήκαμε (1636, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 182.1) ἂν κανεῖς ὕστερα ὀμολόγα RODINOS, Vios Ign. 126.9

Initial /e/

Verbs beginning in /e/, too, are often found without the augment, but of course in this case the initial /e/ can easily be interpreted as an augment. Verbs compounded with the adverb εὔ were often unaugmented from the New Testament onwards (PSALTES 1913: 203, MAYSER 1923: 336, BLASS et al. 1961: 37), as when the diphthong <ευ> came to be pronounced as /ev/ or /ef/, the initial /e/ could easily be reanalysed as an augment:²⁷ οἵτινες εὐνούχισαν ἑαυτοὺς NIKON, Logos 3 196.12 τὸν δοῦκα εὐχαριστήσαν Chron. Mor. H 354 εὐκαιρέασιν τὴν χώραν (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 209.4.3–4) ἔσφαξες τὴν καρδία μου καὶ αἵματοπότισές την Katal. 414 ευχαριστούντον Theseid VI, Prol.12 (Olsen) κ' εὐκαίρεσεν τὴν σπούρδαν της BERGADIS, Apok. A 416 ποὺ δὲ μᾶς εὐεργέτησε ZINOS, Alex. Rim. Epil. 13 εὐφήμεσαν τον Diig. Alex. F 300.5 (Lolos) οὐδὲν σὲ εὐχαρίστησα Diig. Alex. E 217.3 (Lolos); εὐλόγησεν ὁ προφήτης ibid. 231.14–15 εὐχαριστήσαμε (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.5–6) τίς δὲν εὐφραίνεται; Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 50

²⁷ There is a tendency to omit the initial /e/ in non-past forms, e.g. βλαβῶντες SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 221 (= εὐλαβῶντες); βεργέτα BERGADIS, Apok. V 214 (= εὐεργέτα); ὡσάν γυναῖκες φτιάνεσθε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2756 (φτιάνω < εὐθειάζω).

οὐδὲ αἵματοφλογίσθης [VLASTOS], Dig. P 316.24

αὐτά που εὐηχούσαν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 1088; αὐτοὺς εὐσπλαχνιζόντων ibid. 3782

δὲν εὐλαβήθηκε (1669, Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 84, 217.55–6)

3.3 Prefixed Verbs

Verbs prefixed with a preposition can have internal augment, external augment, both or neither. There is great variation in the use of the augment in prefixed verbs, to such an extent that one gets the impression that anything goes. However, there are certain trends to be discerned: internal augment only is more common with verbs of which the prefix starts in a vowel (ἀνα-, ἀντι-, ἀπο-, ἐκ-, ἐπι-, ὑπο-) than with verbs with consonant-initial prefixes (δια-, κατα-, παρα-, περι-, προσ-, συν-). When the prefix starts in a consonant, external or double augment is much more common than internal only, which clearly belongs to a somewhat more formal register. When the prefix begins and ends in a consonant (προσ-, συν-) external augment only is more common than double augment. The rules that dictate the choice of augment (syllabic /e/, temporal /i/ or syllabic /i/) in prefixed verbs are identical to those for simple verbs (for details see 3.1).

Past-tense forms of verbs prefixed with the preposition ἐκ gave rise to a new prefix ξε-, regionally ξη- (see also the introduction to Chapter 3); thus e.g. ἐκπίπτω became ξεπέφτω through the aorist indicative ἐξέπεσα. It is not always possible to establish whether a form is derived from an inherited verb prefixed with ἐκ- or a new verb prefixed with ξε-. The same holds true for the prefix ξανα-, which gave rise to a new prefix ξανα- through omission of the initial /e/: it is hard to tell whether a past-tense form starting in ἐξανα- has external augment (ἐ-ξανα-) or is unaugmented.

In the case of vowel-initial prefixes, one may find a rather unexpected external “temporal” augment, e.g. ἡποφάσισα, ἡπιλάλησα, ἡνεμεάτισα, ἡνέφερα. This unhistorical temporal augment, which can already be found before the period covered by this Grammar,²⁸ appears mainly in early mixed-register texts, especially in the case of verbs prefixed with ἀνα-.

Sometimes verbs with a vowel-initial prefix are augmented with both internal and external syllabic /e/: e.g. ἐπεκρίθηκα (< ἀποκρίνομαι); ἐπέγραψα (< ὑπογράφω). This possibility renders the prefix opaque, and clearly leads to a certain degree of confusion, especially between ἀπο- and ὑπο-, and ἀνα- and ἐν-. We thus find e.g. ἀπογράφω for ὑπογράφω, ὑποχαιρετῶ for ἀποχαιρετῶ and ἀναφανίζομαι for ἐμφανίζομαι:

θέλουσι ἀπογράψει διὰ χειρός τως (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 52.56–7)

ἀπέγραψαν ἰδιοχείρως (1453, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1967: 1, 48.17–18)

²⁸ Similar early examples are: ἡνεγινώσκετο Moschos, Leimon (PG 87.3: 2880A); ἡνῆγαγέν φησιν Anast. Sinaites, Sermo II in constitutionem hominis 2.12 (ed. Uthemann) (late 7th c.); ἡπηνθράκιζε Photios, Lex. s.v. ἐπηνθράκιζε (ed. Theodoridis) (9th c.). For some verbs this external temporal augment already appears in the Koine, for instance with ἀμφιβάλλω, ἀμφισβητῶ (see the online TLG), or ἀνέχομαι, ἐνοχλῶ; see JANNARIS 1897: 192 for more examples. For ἡπήντησαν Dig. G IV.877 we should perhaps read ὑπήντησαν.

θέλω ἀπογράψει (1632, Venice, MERTZIOS 1936b: 15, 53.3)

θέλει ἀπογράψει ὑπὸ χειρός του (1663, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 1, 18.20)

ἀπογραφούμεστα (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 302.10)

πάντες ὑπεχαίρετισαν Achil. L 269 ms θέλεις ἀνεφανιστῇ (1689, Tinos, LAMBROS 1909b: 3, 245.18)

Even ἐπι- can take the place of ὑπο-: ὄνειροεπισχέθης Liv. α 1567 app. crit. (N). See also BORTONE 2010: 212–13.

3.3.1 Internal Augment

3.3.1.1 Consonant-initial Verbs

3.3.1.1.1 Internal Syllabic /e/ Augment

When the verb starts in a consonant, the internal syllabic augment is placed before the verb and after the preposition(s). The most commonly employed internal augment throughout the period covered by this Grammar is /e/, which may be stressed or unstressed. With the exception of περι- and προ-, vowel-final prefixes (ἀνα-, ἀντι-, ἀπο-, ἐπι-, παρ-, ὑπο-) lose their final vowel before the augment. As noted, internal augment only is more common with prefixes starting in a vowel than with those starting in a consonant, with which it is mainly found in mixed- and higher-register texts (e.g. Nikon, Glykas, Ermoniakos):

ἀπελάβαμεν NIKON, Logos 4 206.5; τὸν διάκονα συνεπάθησε id., Logos 31, 824.2

ὥσεί σκιὰ διέβηκες GLYKAS, Stichoi 199; ὕπαγε, παρεγνώρισες ibid. 541

ἀνέβηκα καὶ ἐκάτσα Ptoch. I 131; ἀπεχαίρετησαν εὐθύς ibid. 220 ἐξέβην Eisit. f.4r.1; διελογιζόμεν ibid. f.8r.1

κι ἀπαύτου ἀπεχαίρετησεν Chron. Mor. H 1567 ἀποξέβην Dig. E 52

ἐπεὶ συνεπασχίσετε Liv. E 898

καθυπέβαλον τὰ πάντα ERMON., Ilias 23.57

ἀν συνέβη τίποτας (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 61.13–14)

ἀπέλυκεν ἡ λειτουργία (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 530)

παρεκάθισε τὴν πόλιν (15th–16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.III, 252.53.2)

ἡ ζήλα ἐνέβην εἰς τὸν κύρην τοῦ Στύρου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 56.30 ἀπεκρίθηκα (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 43, 75.18–19); ἀπέθανε (1528, ibid. 127, 234.74)

ἐξετιμήσαν τα (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 27, 66.9)

σὰν ἐπεθύμου CHORTATIS, Erof. I.24

Μακάριος ἱερομόναχος ὑπέγραψα (1609, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 8, 4.19)

ἐνεφανιστήκασι (1656, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 2, 48.5)

ἀνταπεδώκασι NEOFYOTOS, Achouri 180

ἀπέβλεπεν εἰς ἀναμφίβολον τέλειον ἀφανισμόν (1693, Bucharest, LEGRAND 1903: 11, 30.12)

In the case of more than one prepositional prefix, the internal syllabic augment is sporadically placed between prefixes instead of before the verb: ἀπεκαταστήσαμεν (1246, Patmos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 63, 153.7; and 1568, Athos, PAPACHRYSSANTHOU 1986: App. 4, 242.18); ἐπεὶ προεσύντυχαν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 98.19–20. In the following example of a verb that is both compounded and prefixed, the internal augment is employed, placed between the prefix and the verb: τὰς ὑποσχέσεις σου τὰς με ὄνειροῦπεσκέθης Liv. α 1567 app. crit. (P).

3.3.1.1.2 Internal Syllabic /i/ Augment

The stressed and unstressed internal syllabic /i/ augment can be found in a broad geographical area with certain verbs, such as φέρ(ν)ω and prefixed forms of βαίνω and βάλω (cf. simple verbs), but is quite rare with other verbs:²⁹ τῇ καθ' ἡμᾶς προσήφερες ἐκκλησίᾳ (1012, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1985: 17A, 198.12)

προσήφερεν (1142, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 7, 75.44)

ἀναφορὰν ἀνήφερεν Liv. E 3928

ὀλίγον ἐπανήφερεν Liv. V 3358

ἀν ἐπανήφερεν μικρόν Liv. α 3577 ἐπανήφεραν ἐτούτους Ermon. Ilias 22.364 καὶ κατ' ὀλίγον–ὀλιγόν προσήφερέ με ἡ τύχη DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1212 απείν ακροσυνήφερεν Apoll. Rim. 351 ἀνήφεραν τὴν ὑπόθεσιν Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 321

καὶ ἀνήβαινεν ἡ προίκα του Dig. E 1077 ἐξήβαινα Ptoch. IV 147 app. crit. (C) ἀνήβηκα Liv. V 2126; ὀλίγον παρεξήβημεν ibid. 2800 ἐξήβαιναν Pol. Tr. 221 app. crit. (A); ἀνήβηκεν ibid. 624 app. crit. (A) ἀνήβην εἰς τὰ νέφη Poulol. 412

ἀνήβηκεν Chron. Mor. P 1489

ἐξῆβα χθές (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 144.1d–2d) καὶ ἄλλες ἀνηβαίνασιν Alosis 1003 ἐξήβαλεν γυναικες καὶ παιδιά Chron. Mor. H 1470 ἐξήβαλε Pol. Tr. 574 app. crit. (ABE) ἐξήβαλεν ὁ Ἀχιλλεύς Achil. O 284

τὰ ἅγια ἐξήβαλαν Moirol. Konst. 45 ἀνήβασάν τους εἰς τόπον ὑψηλόν Diig. Alex. E 241.12 (Lolos) ἐξήβαλε τὸ κουκκὶ τὴν φακὴν Vios Aisop. D 221.11 πῶς ἐγινέτον | κι ἀνηχωρήσετε ἀπὸ ἐμᾶς Chron. Mor. H 5175–6 ἐξήσπασαν Poulol. 321 app. crit. (A)

In texts from regions that display mid-vowel raising of /e/ to [i] the unstressed /i/ augment is likely to be phonological (see I, 2.5.4, and cf. simple verbs, 3.1.2.3): ἐξηπατώθηκαν πρόβατα καὶ γιλάδια (1755, Meteora, VEIS et al. 1998: 179, 205, f.276a.5) (cf. γιλάδια for γελάδια).

²⁹ Regions where the stressed /i/ augment with simple verbs is regular (see 3.1.2.2) show a clear preference for external /e/ augment when the verb is prefixed with a consonant-initial preposition or for no augment when the preposition is vowel-initial. The internal augment is mainly used with verbs that have a formulaic character, such as ὑπογράφω (as noted by BAKKER 1988/89: 321, fn. 91 regarding Varouchas, e.g.: ἐγὼ Ἰωάννης Ὀλόκαλος, νοτάριος ὑπὸ βασιλικῆς ἐξουσίας, παρακληθεὶς ὑπέγραψα (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 18, 60.11).

3.3.1.2 Vowel-initial Verbs

3.3.1.2.1 Internal Temporal /i/ Augment

When the verb starts in /a/ or /e/, the internal temporal augment /i/ may be employed as a rule for some verbs (ἐπαίρ(ν)ω (aor. act.), ὑπάγω (aor.), ὑπάρχω and aorists of verbs with monosyllabic stems, such as εἶδα, εἶπα, ἦλθα); with other verbs the temporal augment appears mainly in early and mixed- to higher-register texts:

ὥς ἀπῆγα εἰς τοὺς αὐθέντας μου (ca. 1310, Athos?, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 43.XXI, 254.109)
ἀφότου ἐγὼ ἀποεἶδα Chron. Mor. H 2413; ἐπῆραν τὸν κ' ὑπήγασιν ibid. 5871; ἀπῆλθεν ibid. 8590 προσῆλθε εἰς τὸν πατέρα του Dig. E 743; ὑπήγασιν ibid. 1346

ἀπῆλθεν ἡ μαστόρισσα Pol. Tr. 478 ἀπῆγαν εἰς τὰ Βασιλικά (15th c. [ms], Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.III, 252.50.9) ἐπῆρεν ἀποῦ τὰ<ς> χεῖρας (1491, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1988: 1, 233.7)

ὥς προσεῖδεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1140; παρῆλθεν τόπους ἱκανοὺς ibid. 1473

ραβδέες καλὲς ἐπῆραν Achil. O 565

ἐπῆραν τὸν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 32.25

ὥς ὑπῆγα στὸ σπῖτιν του Spanos D 165 καὶ ἐπῆρανέ τα (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 37.II, 302.20.7)

ἐπῆρεν κουρφά ἡ Παντοσυλία (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 1, 3.10)

ὁποῦ ὑπῆγα ἐκεῖ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 328.32

επῆρε το χρυσάφι ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 54.4; λοιπὸν ἀπῆλθασιν ibid. 110.3

ὑπήγαμεν (1548, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 2, 38.11)

ἐπῆραμεν (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 393.27)

ἐπῆρα τοὺς σκλάβους (1570, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 3.5) ὑπῆγεν εἰς τὴν Ρώμην Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 57 πόση χαρὰ τ' ἀντρογυνοῦν ἐπῆραμεν ἀντάμι Thysia Avr. 385 ὡς ἀνωθεν προεῖπα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 1683

παρήκουσεν, ὥς ἔοικε GLYKAS, Stichoi 566; σήμερον κατήγαγεν εἰς Ἄδην ibid. 567

τὰ τέκνα κατηλέησε Dig. G II.107 (< κατελεῶ); τὴν ἑαυτῆς κατησπάζετο νύμφην ibid. IV.853 πᾶν τὸ στράτευμα κατηκολούθει τοῦτον Diig. Alex. M 3078; Πῶρος γὰρ κατηνάγκασεν ibid. 4694 κατήντησαν τὰ ἀδελφάτα εἰς ἐμέ (1389, Thessaloniki, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 49, 266.6–7) κατήντησαν τὰ πράγματα Liv. V 2082

εἰς Ταρσὸν κατήντησα τὸ κάστρον Velth. 515 οὐδὲν παρήλλασσε Pol. Tr. 14329 παρηκολούθησεν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 76.21

ἐπήκουσέν του Vios Aisop. D 213.41 (< ἐπακούω)

Certain verbs, such as ἐπαίρ(ν)ω, ὑπάγω and prefixed forms of ἔρχομαι, almost always retain the internal augment in the aorist indicative. Examples in which the internal augment of these verbs is absent are rare:

τὸ πρῶτον μου τὸ ριζικὸν ὁ Θεὸς ἤπαιρε τό μου Spaneas Z 494 app. crit.

ῥπαγε καὶ ἐπολέμισεν (1624, Skopje?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 72A, 560.2.1); ἤπαρεν τὴν

Ἀνδριανούπολιν (ibid. 560.3.1–2)

Contrary to the simple verb, prefixed forms of ἔχω usually do not retain the internal augment (see 3.3.2.1.1). Examples in which the /i/ augment is retained are quite rare: ὅσων εἰσπεριείχετο Pol. Tr. 13095; ἅσπερ κατεῖχεν ἐξ ἀρχῆς DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2875.

3.3.1.2.2 Internal Syllabic /e/ Augment

Sporadically the initial vowel of the verb is replaced by the augment:³⁰ εἰς ἐκεῖνον τὸ ἐπέφηκα Velis. χ 383 (< ἐπ-αφήνω); ἀνεστορήθη (1593, Kastoria, DRAKOPOULOU 2005: 1, 13.1) (< ἀν-ιστορῶ).

3.3.1.2.3 Double Internal Augment

Double internal /e/ or /i/ augment may occur when the verb is prefixed with multiple prepositions, though it is not very common:

τὲς ἀράδες ἀπεδιέβηκε Pol. Tr. 940 app. crit. (X) ἐξηγηλλάγην [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2107; ἐξηγηλλάγην ibid. 2540 (both from ἐξαναλλάσσομαι) ὁ Πάρις ἐπηνύφερεν Byz. Il. 449 (< ἐπαναφέρω) καὶ ἀπεκατέστησαν (1573, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 9, 62.8); ἀπεκατέστησαν (ibid.
 22, 78.9)

3.3.2 External Augment

3.3.2.1 Consonant-initial Prefixes

3.3.2.1.1 External Syllabic /e/ Augment

When the prefix starts in a consonant the external augment is normally /e/: ἐπαρακλήθημεν (1095, S. Italy/Sicily?, GUILLOU 1963: 2, 50.23) κ' ἐπαρακάλεσέ τον Chron Mor. H 1570 ἐπαραβραδιάστημαν Dig. E 338; ἐπεριλάβασιν ibid. 480; ἐπροδράμαμεν ibid. 512 ἐσυμπονέσετέ με Rim. than. 91 ἐπροφήτευσεν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.17–18; ἐκατοικοῦσαν ibid. 335.22; ἐσυφωνήσαμε (1547, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: I, 70.4) ἀλλὰ δὲν ἐμετανοήσαμεν DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 13, μ6ν.34 (1561) ἐδιορθῶσαν (1573, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 9, 62.7–8) ἐπαρακαλέσασιν τονε (1574, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 15, 141.9) τὸν ἐκαθοδηγήσαμεν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 187 ἐσυγκοιμήθη (1606, Corfu, KARADOCHOS 1990: 35, 250.18) ἐξετελειώθηκε (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 82.130) (< ξετελειώνω) ἐπαραλαφρώθηκε MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 168 ἐσυμβιβάστησαν ἀναμεταξύ τως (1630, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1993: 1, 289.8) τους εκατούρει όλους IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 169 ἐσυγκρίναμε (1675, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 39, 65.16) ἔματαπάντρεψε (1683, Corfu, KARADOCHOS 1990: 56, 266.24); ἐσυναναστρεφότουε (ibid.

 275.37–8)
 ἐπατρατρέλλανέ με NEOFYOTOS, Achouri 77
 τὰ ἐξανακτίσανε (1696, Nauplion, DOKOS 1971/74: 20, 55.3)

³⁰ An early example of the initial vowel being superseded by the internal /e/ augment (in this case ἀπόλλυμι) can be found in a 7th-c. satirical song sung by the Demes in the Hippodrome of Constantinople in AD 609–10, quoted from John of Antioch (7th c.) in the Chronicle of Theophanes (early 9th): πάλιν τὸν νοῦν ἀπέλεκας Theophanes, Chronogr. 296.27 app. crit. (ed. De Boor) (all mss but one (M), which reads ἀπόλεκας) (for the song see also MAAS 1912; for the κ-aorist see 2.2.1.10).

When the verb form in its simple form would have had a stressed augment, and when this augment is omitted when the verb is prefixed, the verb's stress shifts to the prefix:

- ἐπρόσταξεν (1108–9, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 29, 136.48) ὃν ἐπερίλαβα (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 15.46) ἐπρότρεψα Jonas 216.93
 κ' ἐδιάβη τὴν ὁδὸν του Chron Mor. H 1567 τὴν ἐχρονία ἀπού ἐδιάβη (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 7, 7.7) ἐπαράδωσεν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 4, 42.4) ἐπερίλαβα (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.3) ἐπαράλαβα (1518, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 13, 57.17) ἐκατάφαγεν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 1.7 ἐπερίλαβεν (1533, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 3, 116.26); ἐπαράλαβεν (1535, ibid. 4, 120.18) αὐτὸς τὸν ἐπρόδωσεν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 433.26 μᾶς ἐπρόσφεραν (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 10, 63.11) ἐδιάλεξεν κάποιας μερίδας Vios Aisop. D 222.20 ἐξανάπα pro ἐξαναιῖπα GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. replicare; ἐμετάπα & μεταεῖπα ibid. s.v. riferire καὶ τὸν ἐκατάκοψαν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 61.27; ἐπαράλυε ibid. 93.2 ἐπρόσφευγαν ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. I §29.91
 μὲ ἐξανάκραξε (1682, Naxos, ΣΙΦΟΝΙΟΥ-KΑΡΑΠΑ et al. 1982/83: 611, 844.1)

Prefixed forms of ἔχω (κατέχω, περιέχω, προσέχω) usually take external augment only, forms with internal /i/ augment being quite rare (for examples see 3.3.1.2.1; for unaugmented forms of ἔχω as a simple verb see 3.1.4.4):

- νὰ ἐπρόσεχες Liv. V 1790
 ὅσον περιέχε ἐξ ἀρχῆς (16th c., Constantinople, PREGER 1912: 468.7) δὲν ἐκατέχασιν MOREZINOS, Klini 273.11 οὔτε ἀπὸ μάθημα ἐμέτεχεν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 61.17
 δὲν ἐκατέχαμεν πότες βραδιάζει Diig. Sant. 57.54

In texts from Chios, Rhodes, the Heptanese and especially Cyprus, we find past-tense forms that begin with ἐξη-. The morpheme ἐξη- originates from the internal temporal augment of verbs prefixed with ἐκ- (e.g. ἐξαλείφω, ἐξήλειψα) and was reanalysed as a prefix ξη-, which is also used with other word classes (see introduction to this Chapter), and then spread to consonant-initial verbs as well. The following forms, therefore, do not have internal /i/ augment, but are in fact prefixed with ξη- and have external syllabic /e/ augment:³¹

- ἐξηρίζωσεν (1433, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 29, f.35r.2) μὲ ἐξησκέπασε (1487, Chios, LEFORT 1981: 14, 79.6) ἐξηρίζωσεν πολλὰ δεντρά MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 60.19–20; ἐξηφορτώσαν ibid. 154.5; ἐξηψύχισεν ibid. 272.3; ἐξηπόρτισεν ibid. 386.23 καὶ ἐξήλειψέ τα (app. crit.) (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.II, 212.18.5) ἐξηλείπττην τὸ νησὶν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 60.29–30 ἐξηστρώναν Dig. A 2012

³¹ For the form ἐξησπάσθη in Diig. Alex. E 107.12 (Lolos) and 117.19–20 we should most probably read ἐκυσπάσθη (< ἐκυσπάζομαι); cf. ὁκάτι ὡς ἡκροεκσύσπαζε GLYKAS, Stichoi 51.

εξησκεπάσθη ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 126.4

ἐξισκεπάσθη ἡ γῆς ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 191.19, 191.28–9 and 191.31

ὅταν τὴν ἐξηγύμνωναν Thrinus Konst. (Zoras) 128

3.3.2.1.2 External Syllabic /i/ Augment

External syllabic /i/ augment with a prefixed verb occurs in the following examples from the Cyclades (cf. simple verbs in the same area, 3.1.2.2):³² τὸ ἡδιάταξεν (1664, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 3, 20.7); ἡπερίλαβεν τὰ ἄνωθεν ρεάλια (1670, Paros, ALIPRANDIS/SYMEONIDIS 1985: 129.13).

3.3.2.2 Vowel-initial Prefixes

3.3.2.2.1 External Syllabic /e/ Augment

The external syllabic /e/ augment may replace the initial vowel of the prefix in texts from various, mainly southern, areas:

ὥς ἐφηγεῖτον Log. parig. 51

ἐπόθανες Dig. E 121 app. crit.; ἐπάντεχεν ibid. 167; ἀμιράδας ἐπόταξεν ibid. 1613 app. crit.

ἐπαρνήθηκεν Liv. E 3137; ἐφηγήσατο τὸ ὄνειρον τῆς κόρης ibid. 4117

γένεια οὐκ ἐπόκτησεν Spanos D 113

ἐπάμπωσε SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 113 transcr. (Lendari) (< ἀπαμπώθω) ἐντιστάθη τὸν καστελάνον (1491, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1988: 1, 234.22)

ἐπάντεχεν ὁ καλὸς αὐθέντης MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 44.13

ἐποπληρώθηκα (1535, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 152, 157.4); ἐποπληρώθημαν (1538, ibid. 175, 176.6)

ἐπαντέχαμε (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.7)

ἐπόγραφα (1583, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 28, 169.10); ἐπόκοφεν (1597, ibid. 41, 188.6)

καὶ ἐφιέρωσε το (17th c.?, Amorgos?, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 2167, f.2.2) ἐποκοιμούσου Thysia Avr. 423

τὸ ἐπόκοφαν (1639, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1993: 3, 293.5) ἐπόθανε καὶ αὐτὸς RODINOS, Vios Ign. 129.3

δὲν ἐποκότουν ποτὲ νὰ γράψω (1643, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 4, 98.14–15) (< ἀποκοτῶ) ἐπογενήκετε (1650, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: (2), 29.2)

ἐποξεχάσα Rim. Sant. 165

ἐποφάσισαν (1667, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 10, 25.26)

³² In texts from regions that display mid-vowel raising of /e/ to [i], an unstressed /i/ augment would most probably be phonetic (see I, 2.5.4). No examples have, however, been found in the texts examined, as even texts that do display raising of /e/ to [i] elsewhere tend to retain the unstressed /e/ augment, at least in writing, as the following example from Papasynadinos demonstrates: ἐπικυκλώσεν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.56 (= ἐπερικύκλωσεν).

3.3.2.2 External Temporal/Syllabic /i/ Augment

As noted above, verbs with prefixes starting in /a/ or /e/ may adopt an unhistorical temporal /i/ augment in early mixed-register texts. However, in later texts, and especially in texts that employ the unstressed /i/ augment with simple verbs as well (see the examples from Mykonos; see also 3.1.2.2), this /i/ is more likely to be a syllabic augment. In the case of the prefix ἀπο-, a certain degree of confusion with ὑπο- may also be suspected (cf. e.g. ἀπογράφω for ὑπογράφω, see 3.3):

/a/ > /i/

εἶς ἄλλον ἠνενδράνισεν Liv. S 2684 (Lambert-van der Kolf) καὶ πάλιν ἡμφιβάλλετο [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2280 ὅτι ἡπόκτησες υἱόν Diig. Alex. F 106.4 (Lolos), Diig. Alex. E 107.3 (Lolos) and Diig. Alex. V 27.12 ἡποφάσισεν (1662, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 6, 56.38) ἔκρινε καὶ ἡποφάσισε (1663, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 1, 18.19) ἡποφάσισεν (1665, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 2, 13.28)

/e/ > /i/

In texts from regions that display mid-vowel raising of /e/ to [i] the unstressed /i/ augment is very likely to be phonological (see I, 2.5.4):³³ ἡπιλάλησεν ὁ Μουσηῆς (15th c., Mesimvria?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 29, 215.7.1); ἡπιλάλησαν οἱ Τοῦρκοι τὴν Πόλιν (ibid. 215.11.1–2) κλύδωνας τοὺς ἡπίπεσεν Chron. Toc. 29; ἡπίτυχεν ibid. 3238 ἡπιλάλησε Dig. T 1260

3.3.3 Double Augment

3.3.3.1 Consonant-initial Verb with Consonant-initial Prefix

3.3.3.1.1 Internal and External Syllabic /e/ Augment

When both the verb and the prefix are consonant-initial, internal and external syllabic /e/ augment can be found before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar in texts from north to south and from east to west:

ἐπεριεπολεύσαμεν (1016, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 3, 49.25–6) ἐπροσέφυγα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.22; ἐπαρεχωρήθημεν id., Logos 9 312.22 ἐπαρεκάλεσεν (1108–9, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 29, 136.48) ἐπροεκάθητον (1288, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 227.10); ἐπαρέδωκεν (ibid. 227.14)
ἐκατεμεριζόμεν Eisit. f.8r.2
ἐπροσεθήκαμεν (1375, Ioannina, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 146, 104.36) ἐπροέδωσα (1391, Corfu, TSELIKAS 1986b: 183.21) καὶ πάλιν ἐδιέγερνα SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 138 ἐκατέλαβαν (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 25, 199.1.1) ἐπαρεπονόμουν Anon. Naupl. 61

³³ Cf. the following non-past examples: τὸν ἡπιλάλη Chron. Toc. 470; νὰ ἡπιλαλοῦν ibid. 3689.

σὰν ἐπροέγραψές μας (1490, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 22, 109.13)
 ἐσυνέβαλαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §24.8 ἐκατεστρώθη ἡ παρούσα μου διάθεσις (1653, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 3, 144.19) ἐπροέγραψα (1655, Moldavia, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 10, 85.10); ἐδιέβαλε (ibid. 86.12) ἐσυνεφώνησε (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 5, 5.1) ἐπαρεκάλεσεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 496; ἐπερεχύθη ibid. 738 ἐκατέγδυσε Don Kis. 46.14; ἐσυνέβη ibid. 142.26

3.3.3.1.2 Internal Syllabic /i/ Augment and External Syllabic /e/ Augment

When both the verb and the prefix are consonant-initial, internal syllabic /i/ and external syllabic /e/ augment may be employed. The internal /i/ augment has a broad geographical distribution for certain verbs, such as φέρ(ν)ω and prefixed forms of βαίνω and βάλλω (cf. simple verbs 3.1.2.1), but it occurs only rarely with other verbs:³⁴ μ' ἐπροσήφερεν Chron. Mor. H 3973 ἐσυνήφερεν Liv. V 3131 ἐπροσήφερον Pol. Tr. 12051 app. crit. (BCV) ἐσυνήφερεν Achil. N 1753 ἐκατήφερεν Peri xen. 16 app. crit. (A) ὁ φθόνος μ' ἐκατήφερεν Velis. χ 142 and Velis. ρ 225 μόλις ἐσυνήφερεν Achil. N 1753 ἐσυνήφερα ἀπὸ τὴν λιγομάρα Love poems 575 μέ βίαν τὸ ἐσυνήφερεν Diig. Alex. E 121.16–17 (Lolos) σ' λιγάκιν ἐσυνήφερε CHORTATISIS, Erof. V.143 ἐκατήβησαν Pol. Tr. 911 app. crit. (A) ἦλθεν καὶ ἐκατήβηκεν PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 80 ἐκατήβημαν ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 208 app. crit. ἐκατήβαιναν ἀπὸ τον παράδεισον Diig. Alex. K 368.31 τὸ Πνεῦμα ὅπου ἐκατίβαινε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 1.10 ἐκατηβάσασι Pol. Tr. 1843 app. crit. (A) ἐκατήβασάν τον Chron. Toc. 630; οὕτως τὴν ἐκατήβασαν ibid. 2959 τὸ ἐριζικὸν μὲ ἐκατίβασεν Diig. Alex. E 297.25 (Lolos) ἐκατίβασε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 15.46 ἐπαρηχωροῦσαν Ptoch. IV 146 ἐπροήγραφα τῆς πανιερότη σου (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.9) ἐσυνήπαψαν Rim. Sant. 782 τὴν ἄνωθε σεντένζα ὅπου ἐπροήκαμαν (1710, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 100, 110.15–16)

When the preceding word ends in a vowel the unstressed augment of the following verb may be deleted through aphaeresis. This does not necessarily mean that the form has internal augment only, just that /e/, being a weak vowel (see I, 2.9.2), is displaced by the preceding vowel. When the preceding word ends in /e/, it is mostly a matter of editorial choice whether to regard the /e/ as belonging to the previous word or to the verb:

³⁴ In the areas where the stressed /i/ augment is generally employed with simple verbs (E. Crete and the Aegean, see 3.1.2.2), there is a clear tendency to use only external syllabic /e/ augment when the verb is prefixed with a prefix starting in a consonant (see 3.3.2.1), or no augment when the prefix starts in a vowel (see 3.3.4.1).

καθώς καὶ προεῖπα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 208.15 καὶ προσεκύνησέν σε Eisit. f.4r.1–2 καὶ κατεθάρρησέ με Liv. S 195 (Lambert-van der Kolf) τὸ παρηχώρησεν Peri xen. 119 τὸ κατήφεραν Bergadis, Apok. V 51 ὡς γοιὸν τὸ προεῖπαμεν Machairas, Chron. V 456.18 καὶ παρεκάλεσε (1572, Kefalonia, Vayonakis et al. 2008: 17, 71.13) τὰ ψεύματα παρήλθαν Ioakeim Kypr., Pali 346

3.3.3.2 Consonant-initial Verb with Vowel-initial Prefix

3.3.3.2.1 Internal Syllabic /e/ Augment and External Syllabic /e/ Augment

Several examples have been found of verbs with a vowel-initial prefix that are augmented with both internal and external syllabic /e/. This possibility renders the prefix opaque, and clearly leads to a certain degree of confusion, especially between ἀπο- and ὑπο-, and ἀνα- and ἐν- (see the introduction to 3.3):

αὐτοὶ ἐπεκρίθησαν (1244, S. Italy, Trinchera 1865: 294, 413.27) (< ἀποκρίνομαι) ἐπεγράφη καὶ παρ' ἡμῶν (1288, Kos, Nystazopoulou-Pelekidou 1980: 75, 228.33) (< ὑπογράφω) ἐντέλλαξεν (1397, Pontos, Ouspensky/Bénéchévitch 1927: 81, 48.4) (< ἀνταλλάσσω) ἐπεξέβηκα Dig. E 1441 (ἀποξεβαίνω < ἀποεκβαίνω) καὶ ὅταν ἐπεφάγασιν Achil. L 1072 (< ἀποτρῶγω) ἐπεχαιρέτισαν Achil. O 181 (< ἀποχαιρετίζω) ἐπελησμόνησες Katal. 388 (< ἀπολησμονῶ) ἐπέστειλεν Pent. Gen. 8.8 (< ἀποστέλλω) ἐνέλαβεν Krasop. V 109 (< ἀναλαμβάνω) ἐνεχώσασιν καὶ ἕνα λείψανον (17th c., Crete, Spanakis 1971: [1], 183.112) (< ἀναχώνω) Νεόφυτος ἱερομόναχος ἐπέγραψα (1609, Patmos, Papadooulos/Florendis 1990: 8, 4.20)
 Λάζαρος ἐνεστάθη Rim. Sant. 25 (< ἀνίσταμαι); ἐνεβῆκαν ibid. 754 (< ἀναβαίνω)

Sometimes double augment may occur in simple verbs, when they are thought to be prefixed: ἐνέγκασέ μας (1487, Rhodes, Lefort 1981: 17, 91.6) (< ἀναγκάζω); ἐγανέκτησες (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, Lehfeldt 1989: 144.3d) (< ἀγανακτῶ).

3.3.3.2.2 Internal Syllabic /e/ Augment and External Temporal /i/ Augment

As noted above, verbs prefixed with prepositions starting in /a/ or /e/, and especially ἀνά, may have an unhistorical temporal augment. This augment appears mainly in early mixed-register texts:

ἡνεθεμάτισαν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 44.4; ἡνεπευόμην id., Logos 4 206.13 app. crit. (S); ἡντεστάθην id., Logos 9 314.5–6 τινὲς δὲ τῶν χιρεκάκων ἡνέφεραν τὸν αὐθέντην μου (ca. 1270, Athos, Bompaire 1964: 9A, 80.31) ἦν ἠνέφερεν εἰς τὴν κραταῖαν ... βασιλείαν σου (1288, Kos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 227.5–6) (< ἀναφέρω) ἠνεσηκώθη Log. parig. L 602 (< ἀνασηκώνομαι) ἠνέβαζεν Samuel gloss. f.1v, lower margin; ἠντέβαλλον ibid. f.2v, l. 13 supralinear³⁵ ἠνέταζαν (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.6) (< ἀνατάζω) ἠνέφεραν (1358?, Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. II C, 231.1) ἠνεφέραςιν ERMON., Ilias 13.80; ἠνεπαύοντο ibid. 13.103

 ἠνέστρωσεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1989 (< ἀναστρώνω)

The following example: ἠπέλυκεν (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1411) is likely to be the result of mid-vowel raising (ἀπολύω, ἐπέλυκεν > ἠπέλυκεν, see I, 2.5.4), or confusion of the prefixes ἀπό and ὑπό (ὑπέλυκεν), which is not uncommon (cf. e.g. ἀπογράφω for ὑπογράφω see the Introduction to 3.3).

In the following examples the augment is syllabic rather than temporal, as in the period under review the temporal augment is no longer a functional process; texts from Mykonos display wide use of the syllabic /i/ augment with simple verbs as well (see above 3.1.2.2): ἠνεφανιστήκασι (1662, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 6, 55.4); ἠνεφανιστήκασιν (1663, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 1, 18.7); ἠνεφανιστήκασι (ibid. 2, 19.6) (< ἐμφανίζομαι).

Occasionally double augment may occur in a simple verb, when it is thought to be prefixed: καὶ ὁ πόθος σου μὲ ἠνέγκασεν Dig. E 362 (< ἀναγκάζω ≠ ἀνα-γκάζω).

3.3.3.3 Vowel-initial Verb with Consonant-initial Prefix

3.3.3.3.1 Internal Temporal /i/ and External Syllabic /e/ Augment

These augments occur routinely with some verbs (παρακούω, καταντῶ and prefixed aorist forms of ἐπαίρ(ν)ω and of verbs with monosyllabic perfective stems, such as εἶδα, εἵπα, ἦλθα); but with other verbs the combination occurs mainly in mixed- to higher-register texts:

ἐπροσεῖχα NIKON, Logos 19 576.2
 ἐπαρῆλθον ἐνιαυτοὶ τριακόντα (1244, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 294, 412.35) πολλὰ μὲ ἐκατεῖπες Diig. tetr. 741 ἀπείν ἐσυνεπῆρα SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 115 (< συνεπαίρ(ν)ω) ἐπροεῖπα (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 251.74) ἐπαρήκουσαν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 165.39; δὲν τὰ ἐπροεῖπαν μόνον προφήτες ibid. 386.9–10 ἐπροεῖπα (1548, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 41, 71.18) ἐσυνῆλθαμεν συμβιβαστικῶς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 99, 98.7) ἐπαρήκουσες τὴν ἐντολὴν DAM. STOD., This., Logos 24, A1r.1–2 (1561); ἐκατήντησαν ibid., Logos 7, η4v.23 ὅπου ἐπροεῖπαμεν PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 108.13 ἐπαρείδαμε τὰ ἔθνη PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §22.69

³⁵ Examples taken from a so far unpublished 14th-c. manuscript containing a Judaeo-Greek glossary of uncertain provenance (probably from Asia Minor). To be published in: KRIVORUCHKO (forthcoming).

τοὺς ἐπροπῆρε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 20.31; ἐματᾶειδαν ibid. 20.34 (marginal note) ἐπροείπαμεν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 102.25 καθὼς τὸ ἐπροεῖδα VEST., Prol. Theot. 317 ἐκατήρπαξε (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 306.7) ἐπροσήγαγον Pol. Tr. 12051 (reading of AX) ὅτι πολὺν βίον μοῦ ἐκατηνάλωσεν (1493, Venice, MALTEZOU 2004: 85.23–4) ἄρα ἐπροσηύχου; (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 146.3d) ὁμοίως ἐκατηξιώθη DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 4, γ8v.28 (1561) τοῦ ἐπαρήγγειλε νὰ ὑπάγη Chron. Ps.-Dorothe. (1572) 71; ἐκαθηρέθη ibid. 277 ἐσυνήχθησαν (1675, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 38, 252.14) εμετήρχετον MARGOUNIOS, Vioi 273.8

Prefixed forms of the verb ἔχω usually do not retain the (internal) /i/ augment of the simple verb. Only a few examples have been found of prefixed ἔχω with double augment: τὸ καλύβιον ὅπερ ἐπροεῖχεν ἀγοράσει (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 18, 54.8); τὸ ἐπροεῖχεν (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 9, 27.4–5).

3.3.3.3.2 Internal and External Syllabic /e/ Augment

This combination of augments is not very common and occurs mainly with the verb παραγγέλλω:

καὶ εἰς τόπον ἐκατέντησα Liv. E 905; ἐπαρέγγειλέ με ibid. 1375 ὅλους ἐπαρέγγειλα Liv. V 634; ἡ γραία ἐπαρέγγειλεν ibid. 2769 ἐπαρέγγειλεν Achil. L 176 and 1048 οὐκ ἐπαρέγγελλά σε Katal. 424 ὅσα σοῦ ἐπαρέγγειλα Diig. Alex. F 116.4 (Konstantinopulos); ἐπαρέγγειλεν ibid. 150.8

3.3.3.3.3 Internal Temporal /i/ and External Syllabic /i/ Augment

This combination of augments is very rare: οὐδὲν ἡπαρήκουσαν τὸν ὀρισμὸν του Porikol. I 117.

3.3.3.4 Vowel-initial Verb with Vowel-initial Prefix

3.3.3.4.1 Internal Temporal /i/ and External Syllabic /e/ Augment

This combination of augments may occur when the verb retains its inherited temporal /i/ augment and the initial vowel of the prefix (ὑπο-) is replaced with the syllabic /e/ augment. It occurs regularly and everywhere with the verb ὑπάγω, but only sporadically with other verbs:

ἐπήγα εἰς τὸ κοράσιον Dig. E 1578 ἐπήγασαν (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 209.4.2) οὐδὲν ἐπήγα μοναχὸς Chron. Mor. T 6928 ἐπήγεν ἔσσω του τσαμπερλάνου VOUSTR., Chron. A 8.8
ἐπήγεν εἰς τὰ Χανιά μὲ δαύτονε (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 252, 347.20) ὅς τὶ τόπον ἐπῆγες (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.16) ἐπήγασιν (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 26, 164.5) καὶ ἐπήγαμεν εἰς τὸ Ὑδωρ τῆς Ἐλέγξεως (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 336.43–4) ἐπῆγεν στοῦ Σκορδίλη τὸ σῶχωρο (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 853, 745.22–3) ἐπῆγεν εἰς τοὺς καφενέδες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §1.6 ἐπῆγεν τὸν Μάρτη καὶ τὸν Ἀπρίλη (1670, Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.1, 72.2) ἐπήγενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2872 (= ἐπῆγε, see I, 2.6.3.3) ἐπήγαμε εἰς τὴν Γκῶ (1701, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 14, 31.13–14) ἐπῆγαν εἰς τὴν Κίμουλον (1720, Folegandros, GAVALAS 1887: 513.12) ἐμὲ γὰρ ὡς ἐφήρπασαν ἐξαίφνης ὥσπερ λύκοι [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1790³⁶ ἐπήκουέ τους ο λαός σ' ἀπόφασιν που δίναν DEFAR., Sos. 72 (Holton) (< ὑπακούω)

3.3.3.4.2 Internal and External /i/ Augment

Internal and external /i/ augment appears to be lexical, as it has been found only with aorist active forms of ἐπαίρ(ν)ω. It occurs in texts from various areas, and not only areas where mid-vowel raising of /e/ to [i] (see I, 2.5.4) may be suspected (such as in the document from Sibiu and the Chronicle of Tocco). It is likely to be an analogical formation to ὑπῆγα, which, just like ἐπαίρ(ν)ω almost always retains its internal temporal augment, but which may also appear with internal /i/ and external syllabic /e/ augment (see 3.3.3.4.1) (ὑπῆγα > ἐπῆγα, ἐπῆρα > ἡπῆρα):

ηπήρεν το φουστάτο του Diig. Alex. K 315.25; τὴν Ρώμην ηπήραμεν ibid. 351.35 ὅταν ἡπήρεν ἀνὴρ (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.16) ὅλα τοὺς τὰ ἡπῆραν Chron. Toc. 76 καὶ αὐτὸς ἡπήρεν τ' ὄνομαν PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 364 ἡπήρεν Diig. Alex. F 90.21 (Lolos) ηπήρεν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 11.1
 τὸ τί ἡπήρε εἰς τὸ ὀσπίτι (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 256.17) μοῦ ἡπήρανε πλιὸ παρὰ χίλια πεντακόσια φλωρία (1573, Ancona, CATALDI PALAU 2000: 2, 388.16) μοῦ τὰ ἡπῆραν (17th c., Epirus, MERTZIOS 1936b: 13, 51.1) ἡπήρε (1662, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 27, 33.10); ἡπήραμε (1672, ibid. 48, 46.18) ἡπήρι ὁ Τουκίλης (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 13, f.44r.10) (= ἡπήρε or ἐπῆρε)

3.3.3.4.3 Internal and External Syllabic /e/ Augment

This combination of augments is very rare. One example has been found:³⁷ καὶ τίς μοῦ τὸ ἐπέρπαξε τὸ ὠραιὸν μου τὸ πουλάκιν Katal. 381.

³⁶ If it can be assumed that the verb is ἀφαρπάζω, and not the extremely rare and semantically awkward ἐφαρπάζω (see LSJ s.v.).

³⁷ Assuming that the intended verb is indeed ἀφαρπάζω, and not the very rare ἐφαρπάζω (see LSJ s.v.).

3.3.3.5 Double External Augment

Sporadically forms with multiple prefixes may be found with double external augment, whereby the second augment is placed not before the verb but between prefixes: ἐπροεκάτεχάν τινες (1431, Athens, BUCHON 1843: LXIX, 290.9); ἐπροησυμβιβάσθησαν (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 27, 61.10). In the following example of a prefixed compound verb the internal augment is placed between the prefix and the modifier: ἐσυνεκακοπάθαινε RODINOS, Vios Ign. 66.18.

3.3.4 Absence of the Augment

3.3.4.1 Vowel-initial Prefix

Absence of any form of augment with forms prefixed with a vowel-initial preposition occurs throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

- ἀφιέρωσαν (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 306.10); ἀφαιρέθη (1225, ibid. Coll. IX: 31, 449.15) ἀνάτειλες ὡς φέγγος GLYKAS, Stichoi 200 ἀπογλύτωσαν τὰ τοιοῦτα κς' βιβλία (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.9) ἀναγύριζά σας Dig. E 168; ἀνατράφην ibid. 724; ἀπολησμώνησες ibid. 848 ἀπολογήτην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.26; ἀποχαιρέτησάν τον ibid. 52.3 ἀμφίβαλλεν την υπανδρείαν Diig. Apoll. 39 καὶ ἀπεχεν ἀπὸ πάσα πράγμα Martyr. Vlas. 245.3–4 τὸ ἀνάνθρωπον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 334.29; ἀνάφεραν ibid. 350.16; ὑπόγραψαν ibid. 351.35 ἀποπουλήθη (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 22, 100.11); ἀναστῆσαν τηνε (ibid. 22, 100.17) ἀποφασίσασμε (1573, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 9, 62.7–8) ἀπόκοψαν (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 26, 164.15) ἀπιλογήθηκεν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 116 διατὶ ἀμφίβαλλες; KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 14.31 ὑποσχέθησαν (1592, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 30, 245.38); ἀνάκραξε (1685, ibid. 68, 275.40) ἐγὼ τοῦ ἀποκρίθην (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 56.15); ἀφιέρωσαν (ibid. 57.18) τὰ ὄρ' ἀντιδονοῦσαν Thrinios Kypr. 60

When the prefix starts in /e/ the loss of augment is apparent only, as the initial /e/ can easily be reanalysed as an augment. In fact, with certain verb forms, such as ἐπιλάλησεν, ἐγγαστρώθηκα, ἐγδέχοντα it is not certain whether they constitute past-tense forms of ἐπιλαλῶ, ἐγγαστρῶνω and ἐγδέχομαι, or of πιλαλῶ, γγαστρῶνω, and γδέχομαι:

- ἐγκαλέσαμεν (1128, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 13, 97.5) ἔκδωκεν πληρεστάτην ἀπόφασιν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 25.183) ἔντρεψα Dig. E 150; ἐπιλάλησεν ibid. 1275 καὶ ἐπίκατζε τὸ ἀκάνθιν Vulgärorakel I.219 ἐξεῦρε τέχνας φοβεράς Pol. Tr. 274 app. crit. (X) τὸ παρὸν λιγατογράμμα ἐφανίσθη καὶ εἰς ἡμᾶς (1415, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 123, 92.31) τὴν δόξαν μου ἐπιμελήθητε Defit. Par. 135 ἐκδέχετον Velis. χ 111

ἐκλεξεν (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 2, 81.14) σὲ ἐγγαστρώθηκα BAROZZI, Letter 358.7
 ἐγδέχονται νὰ ἀκούσωσι Leilasia Par. 160

The same may be said of verbs that start in /e/, in which the initial /e/ may easily be viewed as an internal augment:

ἀπέλπισάν με SFRANTZIS, Chron. 194.4 ἀνέγειρεν (1225, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 31, 450.17) ἀνεγέρθη (1593, Kastoria, DRAKOPOULOU 2005: 1, 13.1) ὅσα μοῦ προετοίμασε Rim. Sant. 44

3.3.4.2 Consonant-initial Prefix

When the preceding word ends in a vowel, the external syllabic augment of the following verb may be deleted by aphaeresis. This does not necessarily mean that the form is unaugmented, just that /e/, being a weak vowel (see I, 2.9.2), is displaced by the preceding vowel. If the preceding vowel is /e/, then it is often a matter of editorial choice whether to print e.g. καὶ περίμενεν, καὶ ᾽περίμενεν or κί/κ᾽ ἐπερίμενεν:

ἐνα τὸ ἄλλο οὐ συμφωνοῦσαν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 46.3 app. crit. (S) καὶ περίμενεν Log. parig. L 603; μὲ παραπίκρανες ibid. 617 μετὰ κλαυθμοῦ περίτρεχεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1468 καὶ καταφλόγισέν με DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 72 οὐ ᾽πιλογήτην Velis. χ 100 πολλὰ τοῦ σύντυχεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 91.2 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) εἰς τοῦτο προσδράμανε (1686, Tinos, LAMBROS 1909b: 1, 243.6)

Even more so than with simple verbs (see 3.1.3), unambiguous unaugmented forms of verbs with consonant-initial prefixes (at the beginning of the period or verse or preceded by a word ending in a consonant), are not very common:

παρεΐκαζες ἀνθόμοιον Liv. α 2541
 ὅσον περιέχε ἐξ ἀρχῆς (16th c., Constantinople, PREGER 1912: 468.7) παρῶν σωματικῶς συνφώνησε (1560, Corfu, KARYDIS 2004/06: 1, 48.2–3) πάλιν περιμαζώνετον Diig. Alex. Sem. B 348 ὁ ἀρχιερεὺς καὶ οἱ ἄνωθε ἄρχοντες συβάστημαν (1610, Mani, FLORISTÁN 2008: 1, 281.1) ἄς κατέχαμεν Rim. Sant. 533 τοὺς διαυθέντευσ EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.9

4 Conjugation

In the period covered by this Grammar, the middle voice, which had begun to be replaced by the passive in the Koine (HORROCKS 2010: 103), had long disappeared and only occurs in residual forms in texts belonging to mixed or higher stylistic registers (for residual middle forms see 4.9.1). Thus there are two voices: the active voice and the passive (sometimes called mediopassive). In LMedG and EMG three of the four moods remain: the indicative, the subjunctive and the imperative. There are three synthetic tenses: the present, the aorist and the imperfect, whereas the future, the perfect, the pluperfect and the future perfect are expressed periphrastically (see Chapter 5). Invariable verb forms include the infinitive and the gerund. The verb εἶμαι, which had moved over to a passive paradigm, is discussed in a separate section (4.8).

The thematic vowel /o/ in 1 pl. and 3 pl. is often replaced by /u/ in both barytone and oxytone A-stem verbs. This may be viewed in the light of the /u/-dynamic (BABINIOTIS 1972: 189–92) that is at play in parts of the verbal system. For presentational reasons, the thematic vowel is presented as part of the ending in the following descriptions.

4.1 The Present Indicative and Subjunctive

4.1.1 Barytone Verbs

By the beginning of the LMedG period, the endings of the present active subjunctive (-ω, -ης, -ῃ, -ωμε(ν), -ῃτε, -ωσι(ν)) had long fallen together with those of the present indicative (-ω, -εις, -ει, -ομε(ν), -ετε, -ουσι(ν)/-ουν) for reasons of phonetics and analogical levelling (a development that had begun in Late Antiquity, see HORROCKS 2010: 317; see JANNARIS 1897: 198–9 for examples from the New Testament onwards). Although the indicative and subjunctive clearly make use of the same set of endings, there is a tendency in modern editions to apply a historical spelling to the 2 sg., 3 sg. and 1 pl. subjunctive, even though this essentially contradicts the development of the language. Not all editors, however, choose to make this graphematic distinction.¹

The synoptic tables cover the present indicative and subjunctive endings of all barytone verbs, including vowel-stem verbs (e.g. ακούω, καμύω, μηνύω, σπάρω, τρώω). For forms of these verbs with vowel deletion see also 2.1.1.2. A separate table is given for residual endings of the subjunctive and endings that are traditionally spelled differently. As mentioned in the General Introduction to this Grammar, the iota subscript has been omitted in the examples. Other than that, the spelling of the modern editions of literary texts has been preserved. In examples normalized by us, 2 sg. and 3 sg. examples of the subjunctive are spelled with <ει>.

¹ In editions in monotonic the official spelling of SMG is applied (sometimes including an unhistorical spelling -οσι(ν) for the residual 3 pl. ending -ωσι(ν)), whereas in editions in polytonic three systems are in current use: (1) historical spelling of subjunctive endings with iota subscript in 2 sg. and 3 sg. and <ω> in 1 pl.; (2) the official spelling of the 1941 grammar of Triandafyllidis (historical spelling minus the iota subscript in 2 sg. and 3 sg.; (3) the official spelling of SMG, but with polytonic accentuation (sometimes without the grave).

4.1.1.1 Active Voice

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	1	γράφω	γράφου	γράφων
	2	γράφεις
	3	γράφει	γράφειν
Pl.	1	γράφουμε(ν)	γράφουμενε γράφουμε(ν)	γραφόμε(ν) γράφομαν
	2	γράφετε	γράφετεν(ε)	γράφιτε -τε
	3	γράφουσι(ν) γράφουν	γράφουσινε γράφου ! γράφουνε	γράφωσι(ν)/-οσι(ν) γράφον(ε)

For 2 pl. and 3 pl. of the present subjunctive the residual endings -ητε and -ωσι(ν) can sporadically be found. Other than that, all forms of the present subjunctive of barytone verbs are identical to those of the present indicative, although some forms are traditionally spelled differently, as shown in the following table.

		General	Restricted
Sg.	1
	2	γράφης/γράφης
	3	γράφη/γράφη	γράφην/γράφην
Pl.	1	γράφωμε(ν)
	2		γράφητε
	3		γράφωσι(ν)/γράφουσι(ν)

Singular

1st Person

Sg.	1	-ω ! -ων ! -ου

The ending for 1 sg. shows very little morphological variation, before, during or after the period under investigation:

λέγω σε τὴν αἰτίαν μου ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 312.10; εἰς ταῦτα οὐκ ἀντιτείνω id., Logos 31 812.34 καὶ ἐπέκεινα νομίζω Eisit. f.3r.4 πῶς σχολάζω καὶ ἐγώ (1337–8, Constantinople, HUNGER et al. 1995: 109, 92.58–9) οὐδὲν σᾶς φταίω Chron. Mor. H 2691; κι ὁμνύω σας ibid. 4754 πιστεύω, ἀπολησμώνησες τὰ χθεσινὰ σου λόγια Dig. E 848; τυλίγω το ibid. 1267 στέλνω καὶ χαβιάριν (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 86.25) θέλω νὰ μένω ἐδῶ (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 260) τὸ εἶτι μαθαίνω καταλεπτῶς (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.8) ὁμοιάζω τὸν πατῆρ μου Synax. gadar. 148 ἀγωνίζω πῶς εἶμαι οὐδετίποτες Fior 77.11 δὲν στέκω νὰ διαβάζω ΖΙΝΟΣ, Vatr. Prol. 5 δὲ θε νὰ σοῦ τὸ χῶνω CHORTATSI, Katz. III.342; πειράζω τη id., Panor. I.235 καὶ προμετάρω σου VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.24–5 (< Ven. promèter) θέλομεν ἰδεῖ, λογιάζω, μικρὰν βοήθειαν (1665, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 58, 172.12–13)
δείχνω πῶς δὲν νιώθω πόνο Don Kis. 47.10

Addition of final /n/ to 1 sg. is unusual: ἡ δόξα μου, ὅπου ἔχων ἀπὲ σένα Diig. Alex. F 280.12 (Lolos).

1 sg. forms in -ου are phonetic rather than morphological variants of -ω, the result of various processes whereby [o] becomes [u] (for details see I, 2.5.4 and 2.8.3):

δίδου καὶ στέργου (1101, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 69, 87.9) διὰ τοῦτο λέγου (1539, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 3, 17.5); ἀφήνου ὁδιὰ τὴν ψυχὴν μου
(1562, ibid. 9, 22.3)
λέγου σου πῶς εἶναι ἐδικοί σου (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 25.6) νὰ ἴχου νὰ τοῦ τὰ δίνου (1672, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 6, 323.4) γράφου καὶ ἐγὼ ἀντιμάρτυρας (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 54, 206.5) παρὰ νὰ δουλεύου καὶ πεινῶ (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 49.13); καὶ πάγου εἰς τοῦ Τουράτσου (ibid. 51.25) (very common in this collection of letters) ἀποδείχνου (1711, Skiathos, KARAVIDAS 2004: 1, 248.1)

2nd Person

Sg.	2	-εις/-ης/-ης

The ending for 2 sg. is /is/ before, during and after the period under investigation:

ἐκεῖ νὰ τὸ εὐρίσκης ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 310.21 ἐσὺ ἂν ἰσθήκης εἰς βουνὶν καὶ ἀπόμακρα ἐντρανίζης GLYKAS, Stichoi 119 λέγε με πῶς ἀκούεις Log. parag. L 49 τί ἔν' τὸ κλαίεις Chron. Mor. H 6053 ἄλλον τὸ χρῆζεις (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 22.15) νὰ τοὺς παιδεύεις (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.8) ὅταν διαγέρνης SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 157 ὁμοιάζεις σκοτεινὴν γωνίαν Spanos B 74 ἀπὸ ἐκεῖ μίλια γ' εὐρίσκεις τὸ ἀκρωτήριον (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 53.20) νὰ ξέρεις ... ὅτι τὰ ἔχεις χαμένα ἂ τὰ στείλεις (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.23) ποῖσε ὥσάν ὀρίζεις Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1214 γιὰ ἴντα μοῦ βαρίσκεις P&N Diath. 3080 ἐγὼ ἔπινα καὶ ἐσὺ μεθύεις; Vios Aisop. D 223.29 ὅποτα βρίσκεις πατσάτσο, νὰ μοῦ πέβεις γραφή (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.6–7) διώχνεις με, μάννα, διώχνεις με Dimotika Ivir. XI.1

 δὲν την ἔχεις διὰ τοιαύτην ὡς καθὼς την λέγεις Don Kis. 103.21

3rd Person

Sg.	3	-ει/-η/-η ἰ -ειν/-ην

The 3 sg. ending shows no morphological variation, before, during or after the period under investigation:

καὶ πιάζει τὸ αὐτὸ ρυάκιον (11th c., Thebes, SVORONOS 1959: 12.23) εἶ τις ἂν λέγη: ψεύδεται GLYKAS, Stichoi 133 κλείει σφικτὴν τὴν θύραν Ptoch. I 126 εἶτα λαμβάννει (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 53.69) καβάλα δὲν σὲ πρέππει Arm. 8 ὀρίζει, διαφεντεύει μας Pol. Tr. 181 νὰ χάνει ὁ Ἄνδρέας τὸ καράβιν (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.14) νὰ τὰ παῖρνει (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 50, 27.5) φέρνει διὰ τροφήν (1483, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 2, 41.4) καὶ βλέππει τὸ Achil. L 947 πρέππει νὰ ἡξεύρει νὰ διαβάζει καὶ νὰ γράφει (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.25–6) δώνει ἡγουν καὶ παραδώνει (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 25, 163.3) (for δώνω see 2.4 s.v. δίδω/δίνω) ἔτσι κοντινούδρει (1614, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 13, 49.14) (< Ven. continuàr) εὐθύς ἀνοίγει κάποσο ὡς ἕνα δάκτυλον PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §17.17 καὶ ὁ βασιλεὺς πασαγιάρει θυμωμένος KONDAR., Paidēs 763 tit. (< Ital. passeggiare)

However, it can be found with an added final /n/ in texts from various areas (see I, 3.7.2.1 for details):

μέλλειν δίδειν (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 7, 309.7) κάτω τὴν ἀποθέτειν Dig. E 937 app. crit. μετανοήσει ἔχειν Pol. Tr. 186 app. crit. (VX); μέλλειν, εἰκάζω, ἔσται ibid. 209 app. crit. (AEX) σκέψω το ἂν ἀρμόζειν Liv. E 207; τὸ ὅλον τῆς τὸ πρόσωπον ἀνάλογον ἰστέκειν ibid. 2434 οὐδὲ λογάριν ἔχειν Spaneas Z 241 app. crit.; δίκαιον οὐδὲν εὐρίσκειν ibid. 550 app. crit.
 ὅπου κηρύττειν πίστιν PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 14 app. crit.
 τὸ ἀρμελίνιν ἀρχισεν νὰ φεύγειν Anthos Ch. G 249.5
 οὐκ εἶπεν τί ἔν' τὸ πάσχειν Achil. N 663; καὶ πάλιν κατεβαίνειν ibid. 1403 δὲν θέλει νὰ τὸν βλέπειν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1077 app. crit.
 κ' ἐκεῖνος θέλειν βάλειν ρεμέδα VOUSTR., Chron. A 12.1; θέλειν χάσειν το ρηγάτον ibid. 34.5
 καὶ ὑπάειν πρὸς τὴν Ρώμην Diig. Alex. F 176.22 (Lolos) νὰ ἀρχιερατεύειν Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 229–30 ἔχειν καὶ πατητήριν μέσαν (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 270, 463.27) νὰν τοῦ λισεντζιάρειν (1687, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 277, 257.34) (< Ven. licenziàr) οὐδεὶς γινώσκειν τὴν ἡμέραν ... τοῦ τέλους τῆς ζωῆς του (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 137.3–4)

Plural*1st Person*

Pl.	1	-ομε(ν)/-ωμε(ν) ἢ '-ομενε ἢ -όμε(ν)

For 1 pl. -ομε(ν), with and without the final /n/,² is the standard ending in both literary and non-literary MedG texts, throughout and beyond the LmedG and EMG periods:

- ὑποστήκομεν (1053, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1972a: 22, 101.9) ἐκεῖ γάρ, ὡς ἀκούομεν GLYKAS, Stichoi 89 ἔχομεν καὶ μέρος τῆς ἐκκλησίας (1337–8, Constantinople, HUNGER et al. 1995: 109, 92.51–2) νὰ τήνε ντεφεντέρωμεν καὶ νὰ τὴν μαντινίρωμεν (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.18–19) νὰ τοὺς αἰχμαλωτίζωμεν Achil. N 701 ἐπαίρνομέν σε Velth. 198 νὰ σύρνωμεν φουσσᾶτον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 971 οὐδὲν τὸ ξεύρωμεν (1502, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 6, 29.14–15) κομπερμάρομεν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 208, 208.27–8) (< Ven. confermār) νίκη, νίκην ἔχομεν! Chron. Tourk. Soult. 33.17 ἀπστέλνομεν (1609, Cyprus, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 20, 266.7) καὶ νὰ ἀκούωμεν IER. AVVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 337.5–6 ν' ἀναβαινοκατεβαίνωμεν (1653–5, Venice, FONKIC 2000: 239, f.1v.2–3) δώνομέν του τα (1666, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 18, 89.6–7) τοὺς ἀφήνομεν (1697, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 12, 27.23) ἀσφαλίζομε (1008–9, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 13, 134.17); ἀποδίδομέ σοι ταύτην τὴν μοῆν (1101–2, ibid. 54, 280.9) καὶ ὀρίζομέ σε (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.1) καλῶς ἔχομε (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 21.8) δίδομε δὲ πρὸς αὐτὸν Spanos B 131 θέλομε συντυχαίνει FALIEROS, Ist. On. 70 καὶ τὴν φωνὴν ἀκούομε Alex. Rim. 1673; κι ὀλπίζομε καὶ ἄπρακτος ὀπίσω θὲς γυρίσει ibid.
 2478
 λέγομε (1524, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 1, 15.8) ἀποφασίζομε (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 131, 88.7) τελεύγομε (1583, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 28, 168.3) θέλομε εἶσται κρατημένοι (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 59.50) ξεκαθαρίζομε (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 53, 68.31); ἔχομε καμωμένη (ibid. 68.32) δὲν ἐβόλει νὰ διαβαίνομε (1665–76, Ioannina, VAKATSAS 1992: 3, 153.7) θέλομε πάγειν (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 761, 1033.10–11)

With addition of -(ν)ε the ending has been found in texts from Chios and Crete, but is likely to appear in other areas as well (see I, 2.6.3.3). The addition of -ε to endings in -ν is usually interpreted as a “protective” suffix (following JANNARIS 1897: 550), employed to preserve final /n/. However, there is a tendency to add -νε (or -νᾱ) not only to certain verb forms, but also to pronouns and adverbs that do not end in -ν, in areas such as the Heptanese, Crete, ² First attestations of the loss of final /n/, resulting in -ομε, can be found sporadically from the Koine onward (DIETERICH 1898: 249); see also I, 3.7.2.2. The ending is still present in several MG dialects (see NEWTON 1973: 191–2 for details).

the Peloponnese, Chios and other Aegean islands.³ Since 1 pl. verb forms are generally rare in non-theatrical works and in documents, it cannot be established whether these forms existed prior to the 17th c.: γράφομενε GERMANO, Grammar 50.1; τσ' ἄλλης φαμέγιας ἀπὸχομενε ᾽πά (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 81.76); νὰ σ' ἔχομενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 9 app. crit.; δίχως αὐτὴν δὲν πάμενε ibid. 391.

A shift of the stress to the penultimate has been found twice in Machairas's Chronicle. It cannot be excluded that these are simple writing mistakes (though cf. the aorist subjunctive, 4.2.1): προμουτιαζόμεν σας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 252.29; προμουτιαζόμεν σου ibid. 328.7.

Pl.	1	-ουμε(ν)

The ending -ουμε(ν), which in its form without final /n/ has prevailed as the most common MG ending, is usually interpreted as the result of back-vowel raising (of unstressed [o] to [u]) in the environment of a nasal, a widespread phonological phenomenon (for details see I, 2.8.3), most probably also influenced by other endings in the verbal paradigms containing /u/ (CHATZIDAKIS 1930: 95–6; ANDRIOTIS 1954 and especially NEWTON 1973: 195–9). The earliest examples of -ουμε have been found in five documents written in Rhodes, which date to the end of the 15th c.⁴ All five documents are written by the same scribe, and he uses the ending systematically; there is only one instance of -ομε in the letters: ἐλπίζομε (1486–7, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 84.23). The other documents in LEFORT 1981, written by different scribes, do not have forms in -ουμε. Other examples in documentary texts have been found in Crete, the Heptanese and perhaps the Cyclades.⁵ Early Modern grammarians such as Sofianos, Germano and Portius do not mention the ending -ουμε(ν) at all. The first grammar to propose it as the standard ending, and in fact the only ending, is Dimitrios Katartzis's Γραμματική τῆς ρωμαϊκῆς γλώσσας (1788) (DIMARAS ²1999: 229). In literature, forms in -ουμε(ν) do not seem to appear before the 16th c., and without exception alongside forms in -ομε:

θέλομε (1486–7, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.11–12; 15, 83.5 and 84.18; 17, 92.21; 18, 97.28); ἔχομε (ibid. 4, 50.9; 15, 84.18; 17, 92.21; 18, 97.26); ἀνιμένουμε (ibid. 9, 61.11); λέγομε το (ibid. 15, 84.12); ξέρομε (ibid. 15, 84.16); νὰ παίρνουμε (ibid. 17, 92.21)
 εἰς ἄλλον τόπον ὑπαγαίνουмен Diig. Alex. E 43.10–11 (Konstantinopoulos) (hapax)

³ For Chios, see the observations of Girolamo Germano: he notes the addition of -νε to verb forms and -να to adverbs and pronouns, e.g. ἐκεινά or even ἐκειανὰ for ἐκεῖ (GERMANO, Grammar 49–50). Cf. ὠιμένανα Bertoldin. 142.5; ἡ τέτοιανα δουλεία SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 167 transcr. N (Lendari).

⁴ A seemingly early example of -ουμε is to be found in a 14th-c. text from Cyprus: καὶ διαλύομε(ν) τὸν τοιοῦτον γάμον, καὶ ὀρίζωμεν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 37.142–3); this form, however, is in fact διαλυοῦμε (from διαλυῶ, not διαλύω). As the editor states in his introduction, he normalized the accentuation, which is largely absent in the manuscript (SIMON 1973: 9). For more examples of barytone verbs shifting toward the oxytone paradigm in Cypriot Greek, see 2.1.3.1.

⁵ Understandably perhaps, modern editors, with SMG in mind, are sometimes unaware of the fact that the ending -ουμε is quite rare in the EMG period. This can lead to misreadings such as the following: νὰ μὴν ἔχομε πλέον νὰ κάμωμε (1669, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 34, 58.10) (facs.) (rendered ἔχομε and κάμουμε in the ed.). Another example of -ουμε from Skyros: ἔχομε τὰ χωράφια μας ἀμοίραστα (1615, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 2, 303.15) could not be verified since no facsimiles are provided.

λαουντάρουμεν καὶ κομφερμάρομεν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 208, 208.27–8); καὶ δὲν ἔχουμεν νὰ κάμωμεν πλέα τίποτας (ibid. 217α, 216.3)
 ὅτι ἐμεῖς τρώγουμεν τὰ σῦκα Vios Aisop. I 248.8; σκάπτουμεν τα, ποτίζουμεν τα καὶ βοτανίζουμεν τα ibid. 258.2
 εἰς τὴ μερσὰ ἔχουμε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 40.19) καὶ ὕστερον ἔχουμε καιρόν Don Kis. 102.21

Pl.	1	-ομαν

This ending has been found in a text of northern provenance.⁶ Dionysius's History was written in Athos in the late 16th c. It cannot be excluded entirely that such forms are the result of simple writing mistakes: ποὺ ἔχομαν νὰ φύγομεν; DIONYS., Istor. 254.35–6.⁷

2nd Person

Pl.	2	-ΕΤΕ '-ΕΤΕΝ(Ε) -ΤΕ

For 2 pl. -ετε is the standard ending in both literary and non-literary texts throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods:

νὰ τὸ ἐξεύρετε Chron. Mor. H 2692
 μὴν τὸ ἔχετε Arm. 74
 βλέπετε Poulol. 81
 νὰ ἡξεύρετε (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.8) νὰ φροντίζετε τὴν παιδευσίν των (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.8) ἡξεύρετε ὅτι ἔναι φάντασμα Spanos D 97; ὅσοι τὸν ἀναγνώθετε ibid. 1810 τοῖνυν ὑπάγετε καλῶς [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 242 ἐσεῖς φταίετε πλέον Chron. Mor. P 2691 πράσσετε FALIEROS, Thrinos 132 νὰ γυρεύετε Pist. kekoim. 19 καὶ σεῖς, ὅπου τὰ ἀκούγετε TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 259
 μόνον ἐτοῦτο ἀναγνώθετε LANDOS, Geopon. 132.16
 μὴ φεύγετε, δειλοὶ καὶ ουτιδανοί! Don Kis. 45.24

Addition of final /n/ to 2 pl. forms has been found in texts from the Aegean (Naxos and Chios):

τὲς κλεψίης ποὺ ἔχετεν (1654, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 15, 370.18) καὶ μὴν τὸνε πικραίνετεν ἄνδρα τὸν ἀκριβὸς μου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 867; ἐσεῖς καλὰ το ἔξεύρετεν πῶς πατρίδα καὶ ἄλλα ibid. 869; ἂν ἦν' λοιπὸν καὶ θέλετεν, γρικήσετεν καὶ τοῦτον ibid.
 2985

⁶ The following example, which occurs in an excerpt from Don Kisotis in KECHAYOGLU 2001: τὴν φίλιαν οἱ ποὺ ἔχομαν εἰς τὸ ἀναμεταξὺ μας Don Kis. 523.34, has become ἔχομε in the full edition (Don Kis. 131.9), without mention in the app. crit.

⁷ The following example: τί θέλω τὸν βίον, ὅπου σήμερον τὸν ἔχομεν καὶ αὔριον τὸν χάνομαν; DAM. STOUD., This. 13.190–1 (Delidimos) in the modern edition of Stouditis's Thisavros (which is based on later editions with quite a few alterations to the text) is probably not an original reading. The 1561 edition reads χάννομεν (μ8r.36).

ξεύρετεν πῶς κ' ἔνας τυφλὸς κάθετ' ἐκεῖ κοντά μας GAV. PROS., Peri Tyflou 137; τοῦτον ποῦ βλέπετεν ἔδῳ ibid. 179

Forms in -τενε, with addition of -(ν)ε, have been found in texts from Chios but are very likely to have had a wider geographical spread (Heptanese, Crete, other islands in the Aegean, see I, 2.6.3.3). Since 2 pl. verb forms are generally rare in non-theatrical works and in documents, it cannot be established whether these forms existed prior to the 16th/17th c.:

γράφετενε GERMANO, Grammar 50.1; κάμετενε ibid. 55.24 μοῦ γράφετενε εἰς τὴν γραφὴν σας (1666, Rome, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 11, 115.1) (author from Chios) πῶς δὲν κλαίτενε KONDAK., Paides 999
 ποῦ πάτενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 339

The ending -ητε for -ετε is not necessarily an instance of the residual subjunctive ending (see below), but can also be the result of mid-vowel raising of unstressed /e/ to [i] (see I, 2.5.4). Especially if a text also displays the phenomenon in other words (e.g. Μακιδόνες), and if it normally uses -ετε for both the indicative and the subjunctive, as is in fact the case with Alexander K, -ητε is more likely to be a phonetic variant of -ετε (note that διώχνητε is an indicative); it would therefore perhaps be preferable to spell it with <ι> rather than <η>: διατί εσεῖς άνεμον διώχνητε; Diig. Alex. K 362.34; να το ηξεύρητε καλά, εσεῖς Μακιδόνες ibid. 369.20–1.

Sometimes syncopated forms occur (see also I, 2.7.2): θέλτε SKLAVOS, Symf. 147.

Pl.	2	-ητε

The residual subjunctive ending -ητε is quite rare in texts of the period under review, rarely appearing more than once in the same text. It is conspicuously absent even from texts with archaizing tendencies such as Digenis G and Kallimachos (cf. the aorist subjunctive 4.2.1, which is used routinely in a variety of mixed- and higher-register texts):

καὶ ἂν με πιστεῦητε ἐμὲν Pol. Tr. 8469 (hapax; reading of one ms (A)) ἵνα ἀπέχητε ἀπὸ τοῦς σπανοῦς Spanos D 135 θέλω νὰ μοῦ διδῆτε χαράτζιον Vios Aisop. K 190.1 (for AG διδῶτε) ἔαν με καταξιῶνητε Dig. T 94 νὰ ἔχητε τὴν προσήκουσαν ὠφέλειαν (1707, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 13, 311, f.1r.12–13)

3rd Person

Pl.	3	-ουσι(ν) † -ουσινε

The inherited ending -ουσι(ν) continues to be used throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar, in all corners of the Greek Sprachraum:

συγκλείουσι (1172, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 10, 81.10) οἱ μὲν λέγουσιν (1256, Palatia (Miletos), NYSTAZOPOULOU 1966: 1, 289.14–15) οἱ τοῖχοι καταπίπτουσιν Ptoch. I 78 τοιοῦτον οὐκ ἐξορθῶνουςι Ptoch. (Maiuri) 45 λέγουσιν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 20.6; φέρουσὶ με χαμουχᾶν ibid. 28.22 τῶν Χριστιανῶ καὶ Μουσουλμάνῳ γυρεύουσιν (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 83.10) ἐκεῖ ὅπου παγαίνουσιν (1490, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 22, 109.24) φέρνουσι γραμματικόν, νοτάρην Velth. 1022 (Cupane) νὰ τὰ ἔχουσι μαζὶ μὲ τὸ Γεώργη πάντοτες (1573, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17 [later copy], 71.10)

 κατὰ τὴν συνήθειαν ὅπου ἔχουσιν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.8; νὰ τότε φυλάουσι ibid. 51.25–6 νὰ βασιλεύουσιν (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 59.27) νὰ πηαίνουσι (1661, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 10, 106.130) ν' ἀλλάγουσιν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 55 νὰ διώχνουσιν (1693, Corfu, TSITSAS 1978/79: [2], 210.176) νὰ τρέχουσιν τ' ἀμμάτια των Thrinis Kypri. 34

The ending -ουσινε is attested in Cretan, Heptanesian and Cycladic texts of the late 16th and 17th centuries, but is likely to appear in texts from the Peloponnese as well (see I, 2.6.3.3 for details). It appears in literature as well as in non-literary documents. Sporadically it can be found in verse texts from other areas for metrical reasons (STAVRINOS, KONST. ΔΙΑΚ., Thrinis Kypri.). The addition of a second accent is common practice among modern editors, though unnecessary since the vernacular, contrary to the learned language, does permit the stress to fall on the syllable before the antepenultimate (as noted by GERMANO, Grammar 55; see also I, 4.2.3):

καὶ τρέχουσινε εἰς τὴν κάμεραν MOREZINOS, Klini 51.1–2 κάμνουσινε STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 580 ἀπ' ἔχουσινε να γενοῦ CHORTATZIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 94; ἔχουσινε id., Erof. Interm. IV.90B στέκουσινε δίχως | γιῶργεμα Pist. voskos IV 6.51–2; ἔχουσινε κι ἀγριώτατα περίσσια ibid. V 5.142 παρηγοριές πολλῶν λογιῶ τοῦ κάνουσινε χρεῖα Thysia Avr. 1024 δὲν ἔχουσινε (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 183.117–18); δὲ θέλουσινε (ibid. 183.120) νὰ τὰ κάνουσινε ἄλλοι (1642, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 8, 281.26) τρέχουσινε τὰ σάλια του FOSKOLOS, Fort., IV.73 κι ὁ εἶς τὸ χέρι τ' ἀλλουνοῦ πιάνουσινε καὶ κλαῖσι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 233.4
 κι ἀρχίζουσινε τὴ μαλιὰ KORNAROS., Erot. II.1054 καὶ πέμπουσινε τότες Leilasias Par. 169

The ending also occurs with syncopated forms of λέω, τρώω and πᾶω:

τρώσινε καὶ τὰ σπαθιά CHORTATZIS, Katz. II.50 λέσινε (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 182.105) πᾶσινε ἄνω κάτω Thrinis Kypri. 802 ὅσοι λέσινε ἀλλιῶς KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.301

The fact that in the following example the stress shifts to the antepenultimate confirms that this form is used to accommodate the metre. Addition of -(ν)ε is, after all, not a feature of Cypriot: γραφούσινε τοὺς ὀρισμούς KONST. ΔΙΑΚ., Ist. Makaritou Marko 179.

Pl.	3	-ουν -ου -ουνε -ον(ε)

The alternation between the inherited ending -ουσι(ν) and the innovative ending -ουν(ε) persists throughout the period under review and is certainly not restricted to verse texts; it is an inherent feature of the MedG and EMG language, and not an artificial metrical device (HINTERBERGER 2001, esp. 227–35; see also KARLA/BASEA-BEZANDAKOU 2008 for Cypriot and KARANTZOLA 2005a for Cretan). Both Sofianos and Germano give both alternatives: γράφουσι καὶ γράφουν SOFIANOS, Grammar 53.14–15; Quel che altri dicono, γράφουσι, li Scioti, & altri molti dicono, γράφουνε GERMANO, Grammar 87.10–11; and they can indeed often be found side by side:

ὁποῦ τὰ κοινώβια ἔχουσι πολλῶν λογίων ἀνθρώπους καὶ ὁποῦ τοῦτοι θέλουν πᾶσα δυὸ χρόνους νὰ ἀλλάσσουν τὸν ἡγούμενον (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174.14–16) γράφουσί μας γὰρ ὅλοι ἐντάμα καὶ λέγουν (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: [α'], 292.13) θέλουσι θεληματικῶς καὶ πρεζέντε δίδουν παραδίδουν καὶ πουλοῦσι (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 74.8)

The ending -ουν is the result of an analogy with the endings of the past tenses: due to the conflation of the aorist and the perfect in the Roman period, the ending -ασι had emerged as an alternative to the existing 3 pl. ending -αν, probably also influenced by the present ending -ουσι (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 38; HORROCKS 2010: 177). The ending -ουν makes its appearance in texts shortly before the LMedG period:⁸ early examples can be found, alongside the much more frequent forms in -ουσι(ν), in epigrams in the Leo Bible (ms of the first half of the 10th c.): σπεύδουν and προγράφουν (quoted in LAUXTERMANN 2003: 193).

φάσκουν (1093, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 56, 73.7); ἔχουν ἀκκουμανδευθῆν (ibid. 60, 78.11–12) ἵνα παρέχουν (1095?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 1, 1.5–6) οὐ παρεκβαίνουν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 310.28; θέλουν ibid. 310.28; φανερώνουν ibid. 312.19; γράφουν id., Logos 31 824.3; μνημονεύουν ibid. 824.9 χορταίνουν σε Spaneas V 28 ὡς λέγουν (1256, Palatia (Miletos), NYSTAZOPOULOU 1966: 1, 289.11–12) δουλεύουν Ptoch. I 89 τὰ κρέη σου οὐ τρώγουν Poulol. 48; εἰς γεῦμαν τους μὲ τρώουν ibid. 206 app. crit. (V) νὰ ἔχουν τὰ πράματα των (1453, Constantinople, DALLEGIO D'ALESSIO 1939: 117.21) διότι μὲ ἡγλέπουν ἐπτωχὸν καλογεράκι (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.6) (= ἡβλέπουν; for /χ/ for /ν/ see I, 3.8.5.2) θέλουν ἔχειν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.11; ὅπου σὲ κωλύουν ibid. 208.34 καὶ ἄλλες πᾶουν εἰς περιβόλια Epain. gyn. 175 app. crit.
 χωρὶς νὰ πλερώνουν τίποτα (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 5, 261.23) βλέπουν καὶ αλλοноὺς πεζοὺς STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 1077 (Pidonia) νὰ σὲ φέρνουν KONDAK., Paides 421
 κί ὅλο κακὴ νοικοκυρὰ τὴν κρᾶζουν KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.393

⁸ The appearance of the ending -ουν is often dated to the 5th century AD, based on a single inscription from Apameia with the future form ἐπιτηδεύσουν (inscr. 36, l. 7, published in RAMSAY 1883: 310); this, however, must be viewed as an isolated example, because there is no textual evidence for the spread of this ending until the 10th c. See MANOLESSOU 2003: 73–5 for a discussion.

Deletion of final /n/, resulting in -ου, is a common morphophonological phenomenon in southern regions and the Aegean, not restricted to verb endings. The oldest example occurs in a text from Asia Minor (for details see I, 3.7.2.2):

ἀπὲ τὰ χέρια σου πέφτου καὶ κυλοῦ SULT. WALAD, Poem V 6 νὰ τρέχου τὰ καλά του (1394, Crete, SANTSCHI 1976: 1597, 344.8) ἀνεβάζου με Liv. V 2165; θέτου με, κρατοῦν, καταφιλοῦ με ibid. 2175 ρίκτου σας καὶ βάνου σας DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2517; πιάνου την ibid. 1709 ἔχου νερόν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 66.22; σκοτώνου σε ibid. 548.20 ἀποῦ ἀπομένου διὰ τὶς ἔξοδες (1486, Rhodes/ Dodecanese, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.16) νὰ δίνου καὶ νὰ πλερώνου (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 54.28) νὰ τὸ μεράζου (1547, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: I, 70.13); νὰ δεσπόζου (1609, ibid. III, 71.17) ὡς καθὼς γράφου καὶ λέγου τα πιτάκια μου (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 397.27–8) νὰ τὸ κοπιάζου, νὰ το κυβερνοῦ (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 7, 127.8) νὰ μᾶς φυλάγου καὶ νὰ μᾶς μαντενίρου (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.22) νὰ βασιλεύου Prol. Epain. Kef. 53 κόβου κρίσες καὶ ἔξοδες (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 4, 32.6) λέγου σου (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 25.6) ἀπ' αὐτεῖνον ἡθικὲς ἀπόφασες μανθαίνου SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. a2v.17 νὰ κάβγου τὸ κερὶ (1659, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 24, 31.12); παραδίνου τοῦ παπα-Λέου
 (1667, ibid. 37, 30.19)
 διαλαβάνου καὶ λέγου (1686, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 33, 116.22)

An added -ε to the ending -ουν, resulting in -ουνε (see also I, 2.6.3.3), is first encountered in the 14th c., with four instances in Chron. Mor. H.⁹ It is probably due to an analogy from the 1st and 2nd persons plural (-με, -τε) and a tendency for parasyllabicity and columnar stress in the plural (i.e. γράφουμε – γράφετε – γράφουν > γράφουμε – γράφετε – γράφουνε), as well as to a tendency to “protect” the final /n/ (KOURMOULIS 1955/56: 441; BABINIOTIS 1972: 199–201; NEWTON 1973: 199–200; BROWNING ²1983: 81). The ending -ουνε appears in a variety of texts, both literary and non-literary, though mainly in texts from southern/south-western regions and the Aegean:

καὶ συμβουλευόουνε τον Chron. Mor. H 2501; ἐξαγοράζουने τον ibid. 4293; καὶ συντυχαίνουने τους ibid. 5433; καὶ κατακρένουने τους ibid. 5434 νὰ σᾶς βαρυφορτώνουने Diig. tetr. 739 app. crit. (C) εἰς τὴν διαμφορὰν ὅπου ἔχουने (1555, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 177, 227.4) νὰ στρέφουने τὰ πράγματα (1597, Syros, MILIARAKIS 1900: 699.19) αὐτῆνοι τήνε παίρνουने MONTSEL., Evgena 109 τὸ βουνὸ τὸ λέγουσι Αἴμο, λέγουने το καὶ Πανία Chron. Tourk. Soult. 49.12 γράψε μου τί κοστίζουने (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 5, 173.18) ὅπου θέλουने μὲ θάψει (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 1, 29.14); νὰ τὰ ματαμεράζουने (ibid. 29.24) τὸ νησὶν ὅπου κρίζουने Πρώτην RODINOS, Vios Ign. 62.6 νὰ τὸ μεράζουने (1656, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 6, 165.56) καὶ τώρα μᾶσε φοβερίζουने (1659, Hydra, KARATHANASIS 1972/73: 241.2) λέουने (1675, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: 61.34)

⁹ In the Copenhagen manuscript of the Chronicle of Morea all four instances of -ουνε are followed by a clitic pronoun. The Paris manuscript (16th c.) systematically replaces this ending with -ουσι.

ἔχουνε ἕνα καλὸ λιμῶνα (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 508.61; author from Mani) θέλουνε καὶ προσηλώνουνε καὶ ἀφιερώνουνε (1686?, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 360.17–18) ἐβγάνουνε (1691, Ikaria?/Chios?, TSELIKAS 2000: 81, 64.3–4)

Forms in -ον do not constitute morphological variants of those in -ουν but are the result of hypercorrection of back-vowel raising of /o/ to [u] (for details see I, 2.5.4): ἵνα ἔχον ἐξουσίαν (1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 532.8); νὰ τοὺς ἀφήνονε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 39.35 app. crit.; νὰ τοῦ ἔχον (1644–5, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 4, 47.3) (also note τοῦ for τό); παγαίνον καὶ ἔρχονται (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 66.35).

Pl.	3	-ωσι(ν)/-οσι(ν)

The residual subjunctive ending -ωσι(ν) can occasionally be found, not only with the subjunctive, but also with the indicative:

ἐὰν ξένοι τυγχάνωσιν Dig. G IV.804; (μὴ ...) δύνωσιν ἐν τῷ ἄλσει ibid. VI.461 καὶ κὰν ἀλήθειαν ἔχωσι Ptoch. I 119 ἐδάρτε ἄς ὑπαγαίνωσιν Pol. Tr. 2012 (reading of mss AX) διὰ νὰ σπέρνωσιν (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 56.34) νὰ φυλάττωσιν Dig. A 91 οἱ εἰρημένοι μου κουμεσάριοι ἔχωσι πληρεστάτην ἐξουσίαν (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 5, 11.43–4) (hortative subj.)
 ἐχθροὺς τοὺς ὅταν βλέποσι ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 29.10 οἱ δὲ εὐγενεῖς ἄς ἀπέχωσιν αὐτοῦ LANDOS, Geopon. 207.17–18 ἀπ' αὐτοὺς ὅπου ὁ σπήγωσιν κατὰ κάμπον ματσούκαν Ptoch. III 199 app. crit. (SAC) λέγωσιν Ptoch. IV 141 app. crit. (SA); τυγχάνωσιν ibid. 226 app. crit. (SA); βλέπωσιν ibid. 565 app. crit. (SA) οἱ γὰρ θεοὶ τὸ ἔχωσιν Pol. Tr. 606 app. crit. (ABE); δὲν τάσσωσι ibid. 1509 app. crit. (A) τὶ κάμνωσιν SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 15 transcr. M (Lendari) ὅσοι ἀκούγωσιν Kakop. 191 app. crit. κρένοσιν, συνιβάζωσιν καὶ ἀποφασίζωσιν (1594, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 1, 172.30) καὶ οὐδὲ μένα ἀφήνωσιν Dig. A 4507 app. crit.

4.1.1.2 Passive Voice

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	1	γράφομαι	γράφομαι γράφουμαι γράφουμι
	2	γράφεσαι	γράφεσι	γράφεσαιν
	3	γράφεται	γράφιται ἢ γράφιτι	γράφεται -έται -ται

		General	Restricted	Rare
Pl.	1	γραφόμεθα γραφόμεστε(ν) ! γραφόμεσθε(ν)	γραφόμεθεν γράφομεστέν ! γράφόμεσθε(ν) ! γράφομέστε(ν) γραφούμεστε(ν) γράφομέστι γραφόμεστα(ν) ! γράφόμεσθα(ν) γράφομέσταν ! γράφόμεσθαι γράφομέστα ! γράφομέσθα γράφομέστανε γραφόμεσθε(ν) γράφομάστε(ν)	γραφόμεθαι γραφούμεθα γραφούμεθαι γράφουμεθαι γραφούμεθεν γραφούμεσθε(ν) γραφούμεστα γράφουμεστα (γράφομένστα(ν)) γραφόμεσθε(ν) γράφομάσθε γράφομάστενε γραφούμεαστε γράφουμάσθε γραφομαστιν γραφουμαστινε γραφούμαστον
	2	γράφεστε ! γράφεσθε	γράφεσθεν ! γράφεστέν γραφοῦστε γραφούστενε	γράφεστιν γραφοῦσθεν γράφουστεν
	3	γράφονται γράφουνται	γράφονταιν γράφονταίνε γράφουνταιν	γράφοται γράφοταίνε γράφοντι γράφουται γράφουντιν

For 3 sg. of the present subjunctive the residual ending -ηται can sporadically be found, but the same cannot be said of 2 sg. -ησαι, which has not been found. Other than that, all forms of the present subjunctive of barytone verbs are identical to or homophonous with those of the present indicative. The only subjunctive endings that are traditionally spelled differently from those of the present indicative are 1 sg., 1 pl. and 3 pl. However, not all modern editors choose to make this graphematic distinction:

		General	Restricted
Sg.	1	γράφωμαι	-ωμαιν
	2
	3		γράφηται
Pl.	1	γραφώμεθα
	2
	3	γράφωνται

Singular*1st Person*

Sg.	1	-ομαι/-ωμαι ἢ -ομαιν/-ωμαιν

The inherited ending -ομαι, traditionally spelled -ωμαι in the subjunctive, is used throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods:

καὶ πολλάκις ... ἀναβάλλομαι ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 210.21 συγχαίρομαι Eisit. f.1v.19 παύομαι ἐδῶ νὰ λέγω Chron. Mor. H 7955 τρώγω το καὶ εὐφραίνομαι Diig. tetr. 875 ἔρκομαι ἀκ τ' ἀνάθεμα Anak. Konst. 9 ἄν εὕρω τσίπουρον εἰς γῆν, σκύπτω, μυρίζομαι το Krasop. AO 76 οὐκ ὀρέγομαι ἀκούγειν αὐτὸ (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 79.1d–2d) εὐρίσκομαι τάχα ἡγουμένη (16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.18) ξενίζομαι ἀπατός μου Theseid Prol. P 2 νὰ καίγωμαι καθημερινῶς TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 79 μπορῶ σοφώτατος νὰ κρᾶζωμαι CHORTATIS, Katz. III.493 νὰ μνημονεύγομαι (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 82.107) διδάσκομαι ROMANOS, Grammar 80.12 ὑπόσχομαι διὰ λόγου μου (1666, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 4, 196.253) ἤξευρε πως ἐγὼ ονομάζομαι Don Kis. 51.12–13

Addition of final /n/ can be found in literary and non-literary texts, mainly of south-western provenance, including S. Italy:

φαίνομαι ἐγὼ (1196, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 241, 325.2) τῶρα φονεύγομαι δι' ἐσέν Liv. E 1991
 νὰ ἀκούωμαι Pol. Tr. 2621 app. crit. (B); μαίνομαι ibid. 4676 app. crit. (V) βούλομαι τοῦ ἔχειν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 62, 180.30) ἔρχομαι Achil. O 483 and 519 φλέγομαι DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 409 app. crit.; ὀρέγομαι ibid. 719 app. crit. νὰ μάχομαι Theseid I.100,8 app. crit. (P) (Follieri) ἀπορῶ καὶ ἐξίσταμαι καὶ τὸν νοῦν καταπλήττομαι Spanos B 24 συγκλίνομαι Apoll. Rim. N 43; βούλομαι ibid. 1474 τρέφομαι Diig. Alex. F 42.7 (Konstantinopulos) τοῦ ἀποκρίνομαι καὶ εἰς τοῦτα (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.22) τὸ σπῖτι ὅπου κάθομαι ὡς καθὼς εὐρίσκεται (1634, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 2, 111.14–15) ἀποκρένομαι τῆς βασιλείας σου (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 57.24–5); καὶ χαίρομαι τὸν αὐθέντην τὸν χάτμαν (ibid. 57.26–7) (author from Athens) νὰ μνημονεύωμαι (1689, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 134, 326.3)

Sg.	1	-ομαι ἢ -ουμι

The rare variant ending -οουμι is the result of back-vowel raising (of unstressed /o/ to /u/, for details see I, 2.8.3). It has been found in version I of the Life of Aesop (17th c., written in Constantinople, by a scribe who is thought to be of south-eastern provenance or from Chios), in a document from Thessaloniki and in Don Kisotis (early 18th c. translation made in the Danubian Principalities):¹⁰ καὶ μοῦ λέγεις νὰ χαίρουμαι Vios Aisop. I 253.41; ἐγὼ ἐκεῖ δὲν ἔρχουμαι ibid. 268.4; χωρὶς κανένα πταίσιμο θανατώνουμαι ibid. 281.30 καὶ θαυμάζουμαι, διατὶ με γελᾷς Don Kis., 113.7; εντρέπουμαι καταπολλά ibid. 120.29; στοχάζουμαι πῶς ἤθελεν εἶσθαι καλύτερον ibid. 129.10–11

Forms in -ουμι occur in texts that display mid-vowel raising (unstressed /e/ > [i]), for which see I, 2.5.4: ἄς κάθουμι (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 49.13); εὐρίσκουμι (1697, ibid. 5, 61.4) (phenomenon very common in this collection of letters).

2nd Person

Sg.	2	-εσαι ἢ -εσαιν ἢ -εσι

The ending for 2 sg., first attested in the EMedG period (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 188), shows no morphological variation during or after the period under investigation:

ἔρχεσαι μετ' ἐμέναν Dig. G II.129; μὴ θλίβεσαι ibid. IV.778 μὴ παλληκαρεύεσαι Ptoch. I 197 ἐπιβουλεύεσαι με Dig. E 365 νὰ γέρνεσαι Poulol. 147 app. crit. (CPVL) ἀποδέχεσαι νὰ το ποιῶμεν (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 22.15) τί καθέζεσαι; (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 92) διὰ νὰ βόσκεσαι Spanos D 257 ἔσου στέκεσαι χωσμένη Cypr. Canz. 45.4 στένεσαι εἰς τὸ νησόπουλον (1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 70.22) μὴ πολλὰ υψώνεσαι καὶ παραφαρσεύεσαι Diig. Alex. K 373.5–6 νὰ ἥξερα πότε ἔρκεσαι (1573, Ancona, CATALDI PALAU 2000: 2, 388.4) νὰ χασμουροτανύζεσαι MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1646 δὲ ντρέπεσαι, μεθύστακα; Stathis III.545 καλλίτερα θέλεις εὐρίσκεσαι (1655, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 178.9–10) φαίνεσαι καλότατα Don Kis. 45.12

Addition of final /n/ is very rare indeed: μὴ γένεσαιν αἴτιος κακοῦ (1576, Macedonia, CHASIOTIS 1964/65: 3, 253.27).

2 sg. forms in -εσι (and possibly -ισι, -ισαι) are phonetic rather than morphological variants, showing evidence of mid-vowel raising, whereby unstressed /e/ becomes [i] (for details see I, 2.5.4): εὐρίσκεσι Don Kis. 104.21–2 app. crit.

3rd Person

Sg.	3	-εται ἢ -εταῖν ἢ -ιτι ἢ -ιται ἢ -ται

¹⁰ According to MINAS 1987a: 22, in the MG period -ουμαι occurs in Cyprus, Rhodes, Axos, Chios, Pontos, the Peloponnese and Puglia, while according to NEWTON 1972c: 266, again with reference to the MG situation, it can be found in Kefalonia, Zakynthos, Kyllini, Chalki, Monemvasia, western Crete, Cyprus, Symi and Aegina. The lack of examples in the sources examined indicates that this ending spread at a rather late stage in the development of the MG dialects (probably not before the 18th c.).

The ending -εται is the normal ending for 3 sg. before, throughout and after the period covered by this Grammar:

ὅταν δὲ ψάλλεται ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 58.15–16; ἵνα μὴ ... σκανδαλίζεται id., Logos 28 752.1–2
app. crit. (S) ὡς ὄρνεον πετάζεται GLYKAS, Stichoi 129; ὁ γέρον νέος οὐ γίνεται ibid. 222 κρέμεται κοντάριν τοῦ πατρός σου Arm. 10 καὶ καίεται ἡ καρδία του Achil. L 710 ἀφκράζεται Pol. Tr. 459 νὰ ἐξετάζεται καὶ νὰ ὀρτώνεται (1451, Constantinople?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 1, 198.19) ἐγδύνεται LIMEN., Than. Rod. 344 τὰ μάγουλα νὰ ξένεται [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1338 νὰ καθέζεται Spanos A 445 ὅπου νὰ βρίσκειται MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.9 ἡ θάλασσα αὐτὴ δὲν σείεται Diig. Alex. K 376.30–1 κράζεται (1541, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 11, 223.12) ἐπτά φορὲς νὰ καίεται KONDAR., Paidēs 458 να χρίεται με αλοιφές ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 3155 νὰ μεράζεται τὸ νερό (1694, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 47, 76.17)
ἄρχισε νὰ κηρύττεται εἰς ὅλον τὸν κόσμον (1701, Transylvania, LEGRAND 1903: 15, 41.2)

Addition of final /n/ can sporadically be found in Cycladic texts: φαίνεται ἵντα ἔχει βαλμένα (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 109.111).

3 sg. forms in -ιτι, -ιται (and possibly -ετι) are phonetic rather than morphological variants, showing evidence of mid-vowel raising, whereby unstressed /e/ becomes [i] (for details see I, 2.5.4):

καθὼς ἐνδέχεται (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.34) εὐρίσκεται (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.24) τὸ ἔνα ὅπου κάθεται (1628–9, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 1, 44.40) στέκιτι (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.4); μὴ κακουφαίνιτι (1697, ibid. 6, 63.19); χάνιται (1698, ibid. 7, 66.24)

For syncopated forms such as: φαίν'ται Diig. Alex. Sem. B 878, see I, 2.7.2.

Plural

1st Person

Pl.	1	-όμεθα -όμεθαν

The inherited ending -όμεθα continues to be used well into the period covered by this Grammar, though not in all types of texts. There are a few instances of -όμεθα in literary works from the early period (Dig. E and Dig. G, Liv., Achil. N, Kallim., Spanos), but it is rather more frequent in texts that belong to a higher register, such as monastic acts and the register of the Patriarchate. It can also be found in vernacular texts that tend to borrow certain features from a higher register, such as Sfrantzis, Digenis P and Ioakeim Kyprios. Although it is the only ending given by Sofianos (γραφόμεθα SOFIANOS, Grammar 57.4), -όμεθα is generally absent from Cretan and Heptanesian literature, with very few exceptions:

ἡμεῖς γὰρ εὐρίσκόμεθα ἀπὸ γενεᾶς μεγάλης Dig. E 136; σήμερον χωριζόμεθα ibid. 1167 and 1774

σύντομα σηκωνόμεθα Liv. α 3087 app. crit. (P) καὶ πάλιν τὸν ἀρχόμεθα μετὰ χαρᾶς μεγάλης Liv. S 2772 (Lambert-van der Kolf) αὔριον ἐκδεχόμεθα ἐδῶ πάντες ἐλθῆναι Achil. N 1470 ἀρχόμεθα διήγησιν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2; ἐρχόμεθα καὶ σήμερον ibid. 1365

παύομεθα τοῦ λέγειν Velth. 196 διοῦ ξμάθεν ἐρχόμεθα νὰ ὑπάγωμεν ἐκεῖσε Chron. Mor. P 5331 καλέ, ποῦ ἀπερχόμεθα; SFRANTZIS, Chron. 44.3

μάλιστα μεμφόμεθα ἐκείνους ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 38.11

ταῦτα τασσόμεθα δοῦναι σοι (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 12, 13.12) πειθόμεθα, ἀκούομε κείνο ποῦ μᾶς ὀρίσης Alex. Rim. 2550 βουλόμεθα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 8; οὐκ ἀπελπιζόμεθα ibid. 4508

ἀποφαινόμεθα (1671, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1982/83: 5, 96.10)

γδεχόμεθα σας Thrinios Kypr. 841

Addition of final /n/ is not very common, but does appear to have a rather wide geographical spread: several instances have been located in texts from S. Italy, Thrace, Crete and Cyprus, and in Liv. S, a ms that possibly has a Cretan background (AGAPITOS 2006: 73):

φαινόμεθαν ἡμεῖς (1121, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 89, 116–17.3–4)

ἔτι δεόμεθαν ὑπὲρ ἀφέσεως (14th c., Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 36, 240.1)

δεόμεθαν (1453, Gallipoli, DARROUZÈS 1963: 2, 80.1)

σύντομα σηκωνόμεθαν Liv. S 1798 (Lambert-van der Kolf) διὰ νὰ μνημονευόμεθαν (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 97.160)

στρεφόμεθαν ἀλλήλως ἀναπατημένοι (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 10α, 12.4)

δυνόμεθαν Pist. kekoim. 474; γνωρίζόμεθαν ibid. 691

Pl.	1	-ούμεθα(ν) ! 'ουμέθθαν

Forms in -ούμεθα(ν) and -ουμέθθαν occur in the Chronicle of Machairas. The change from [o] to [u] is the result of back-vowel raising in the environment of a nasal (see I, 2.8.3), and possibly of influence from the corresponding endings of oxytone E-stem verbs (MINAS 1987a: 25–6). In the Cypriot dialect certain verbs have both barytone and oxytone variants, such as for instance διῖδω – διδῶ, λῦω – λυῶ, which makes confusion between these paradigms plausible (see also 2.1.3.1). The double consonant -θθ- is the result of “spontaneous” gemination, the appearance of non-etymological double consonants typical of geminating dialects such as Cypriot (see I, 3.4.2.5):

καὶ ἐμεῖς ὅλο εὐρίσκούμεθα εἰς τοὺς ὀρισμούς σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 158.4; τὸ ἐγδεχούμεθαν ἀποῦ 'ξ αὐτῆς του ibid. 524.30; καὶ τῶρα εὐρίσκούμεθαν κομπωμένοι ibid.

210.25; χρηζούμεθαν ἄλογα ibid. 494.10; ἐμεῖς ἐγνοιαζούμεθαν νὰ τὸν βάλομεν εἰς νομὴν τοῦ ρηγάτου του id., Chron. R 345.9–11 (no notation of stress in the ms) θαυμάζουμέθθαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 360.32; νὰ καθοούμεθθαν ibid. 368.15

Other Cypriot texts such as Cypr. Canz., Fior and VOUSTR., Chron. either happen not to have any 1 pl. forms of the passive present, or they use different endings.¹¹

Pl.	1	-όμεθεν

This ending is considered to derive from -όμεθα; the final /a/ changed to /e/ to match the 2 pl. and 3 pl. endings in the paradigm, while final /n/ was added by analogy with 1 pl. active -μεν (MEYER 1889: 197 regarding the similar ending -μεσθεν); evidence for this ending without final /n/ is scarce.¹² The ending -όμεθεν occurs in texts from Constantinople, Athos, Epirus, the Peloponnese and Crete, from at least the 14th c. until the 16th c. – often, though not exclusively, with deponent verbs:

νά μή δυνώμεθεν Chron. Mor. H 6691; σὲ ὑποσχιόμεθεν ibid. 8966; κ' ἡμεῖς ἐρχόμεθεν ibid. 9136 φροντίζομεν καὶ ἀγωνιζόμεθεν (1384, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 118.5) ἵνα μή εἰσηκουώμεθεν (1397, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 6, 184.6); ἐκδιωκόμεθεν (ibid. 6, 184.6) καὶ ὡς δι' αὐτὸν τὸ θλιβόμεθεν Dig. E 409 μεγάλως εὐφραίνόμεθεν Liv. V 3860 ; σύντομα σηκωνόμεθεν ibid. 2737 οὐδὲν ἄρματωνόμεθεν Pol. Tr. 1574 app. crit. (A); ἐδῶ μηδὲν καθώμεθεν ibid. 2947; ἐπεὶν καὶ ἡμεῖς χανόμεθεν ibid. 5447 app. crit. (A) τὸ ποῦ ἔμεθεν καὶ βρισκόμεθεν Poulol. V 557 φοβούμεθα καὶ ἐντρεπόμεθέν σου Chron. Toc. 2989 ἀποχωριζόμεθεν Erotopaign. 341 ἡμεῖς εἰς τὴν βασιλείαν σου ἐρχόμεθεν Diig. Alex. E 217.13–14 (Lolos) τοὺς χρόνους πὸ βρισκόμεθεν SKLAVOS, Symf. 8

Pl.	1	-οόμεθεν

With a thematic vowel /u/ instead of /o/ this ending occurs in Irodis, a theatrical play of Cycladic provenance (Syros?, Naxos?), roughly datable between 1650 and 1750: βιαζοόμεθεν Irodis IV.296.

Pl.	1	-όμεσθε(ν) ἢ -όμεστε(ν) ἢ '-ομέσθεν ἢ '-ομέστε

The ending -όμεσθε(ν) is held to have been formed from -όμεθα, with a change from /a/ to /e/ by analogy with 2 pl. and 3 pl., which also end in /e/ (MEYER 1889: 197), although vowel assimilation may also have played a role (MINAS 1987a: 25). The added -σ- is usually explained as being analogical from 2 pl., while final /n/ was added by analogy with 1 pl. active -μεν (MEYER 1889: 197). Its variant -όμεστε(ν) is the result of manner dissimilation of fricatives after sibilants (see I, 3.8.1). These endings occur from the 14th/15th c. onward in texts from various regions, more often with than without final /n/:

¹¹ There is one instance of -όμεθα in Thrinis Kypr. 841 (γδεχόμεθά σας) and one of -όμεθαν in Pist. kekoim. 474 (δυνόμεθαν). 1 pl. forms of εἶμαι in the other texts, however, suggest that the endings -μεθα(ν) and -οιμέθαν are not in use: Voustronios has εἰμεσταν (e.g. 96.10–11, 154.17–18), Cypr. Canz. εἰμεσταν (102.15, 119.23), Thrinis Kypr. εἰμεσθεν (90) and subjunctives νά ἴμεσθαν (869) and νά ἴμεσθεν (870).

¹² There are a few examples with εἶμαι, for which see 4.8.1.

οὐδὲν προδιδόμεσθε Achil. N 436 θαυμάζομεστε πολλά (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 92.17) εἰς τὴν βασιλεία σου ἐρχόμεσθε Diig. Alex. F 216.5 (Lolos) εὕρισκόμεστε (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 286.5) τὸ ἀτσίδιν ἐμεῖς τὸ σεβόμεσθε ὡσὰν θεόν Vios Aesop. I 278.33 μᾶς βλέπεις πῶς πνιγόμεσθε MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2543 γλίτωσέ μας, χανόμεσθε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 8.25; δυνόμεσθε ibid. Mark. 10.39; πῶς καθόμεσθην μὲ τὸν τραγέλαφον Spanos D 877 ἐκδεχόμεσθην ὅλους ἐδῶ νὰ ἔλθουν Achil. L 1066; εὐχόμεσθὲν σας ibid. 1128 γουργά ἐλευθερωνόμεσθην Moirol. Konst. 25 καὶ πῶς δὲν δουλωνόμεσθην Theseid I.27,7 (Follieri) γιατί βρισκόμεσθην ἐδῶ Fyll. gadar. 64B ἀποχωριζόμεσθην ibid. 99¹³ νὰ βρισκόμεσθην ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 12.3 καὶ ἐρχόμεσθην εἰς τὸ θησαυροφυλάκιον Thavm. Ag. Nik. 265.6–7 καταδεχόμεσθην Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1099; νὰ περιπλεκόμεσθην ibid. 1169 ἀναγκάζομεσθην DAM. STOUD., Dial. 97.20; τὶ ἔχομεν καὶ ὕβριζόμεσθην id., This., Logos 30, H1r.25 (1561)
 θεληματικῶς δοῦλοι δὲν γινόμεσθην Vios Aesop. I 37.27 καὶ ἐρχόμεσθην εἰς τὸν ἄσπρον ὄχθον (1613, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 61, 184.22) δὲν δυνόμεσθην (1613, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 3, 310.15) ἐκεῖνα οὔ ποὺ χρειάζομεσθην KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 13.29 σήμερον φαίνόμεσθην ὡς ἀνθούντες, καὶ αὐρίον μαραινόμεσθην LANDOS, Kalok. 343.21–2 ἐγνοιάζομεσθην [VLASTOS], Dig. P II 320.14; ἐρχόμεσθην ibid. V 360.22
 ν' ἀποκρενόμεσθην (1667, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 53, 317.10)

The endings -μεσθε(ν)/-μεστε(ν) are frequently used with εἶμαι (see 4.8.1), but have not been found with other athematic verbs.

Forms with the stress on the fourth syllable from the end (ἀνακατάνομεσθην) or with dual stress, in which sometimes the first accent is omitted (e.g. παραδιδόμεσθην for παραδίδόμεσθην), have been found in texts of diverse geographical provenance:

ἀνακατάνομεσθην (1572, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 3, 84.53) πολλά μετὰ χαρὰς ὑπογράφομεσθην (1674, Paros, ZERLENDIS 1922: (3), p. 54.3–4) γάλλομέσθην FALIEROS, Thrinis 297 ms; ὅλοι ἀναπεύομέσθην ibid. 298 ms εὕρισκούμέσθην (16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.11); παραδιδόμεσθην
 (ibid. 4, 102.33)
 θαυμάζομέστε τὸ λοιπὸν Alex. Rim. 789 ἐρχομέστε Diig. Alex. K 345.24 νὰ ἀμαχευομέσθην KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 217.16; νὰ προσευχομέσθην ibid. 452.29 τὸ μαλλὶ τοὺς ἐνδύνομέσθην DAM. STOUD., Dial. 96.22; μὴν στολίζομέσθην id., This., Logos 2, β6r.30 (1561)
 κ' εὕρισκομέσθην ζωντανοὶ MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2634 νὰ παιδεύομέσθην καὶ νὰ πειράζωμέσθην ὅλοι μας PAPASYNAD., Chron. 66.26 (Kaftantzis) συγχαίρομέσθην [VLASTOS], Dig. P III 339.19; ἐντρέπομέσθην ibid. VII 381.10 εὕρισκομέσθην εἰς τὸσους λάκκους κακῶν (1672, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 96, 237.6)

¹³ But cf. μηδὲν θαρρῆς, κύρ γάδαρε, ὅτι εἴμεσθην ἐργάτες ibid. 56a.

Forms in -μεστι(ν) for -μεστε(ν) are phonetic rather than morphological variants; they are the result of raising of unstressed [e] to [i], for which see I, 2.5.4: θαυμάζομέστιν (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 55.24).

Pl.	1	-ούμεστε(ν) † -ούμεσθε(ν)

First attestations of -ούμεστε(ν) and its more formal variant with /sθ/ for /st/ have been found in 15th-c. texts from Rhodes. The early examples from the Rhodian documents point to an analogy with the corresponding active ending -οουμε, the first attestations of which appear in the writings of the same scribe (see above, 4.1.1.1). From the 16th/17th c. onwards the ending also appears in texts from other areas (Chios, Naxos, Cyprus, Santorini, Mani):

χαιρούμεστέ το κ' ἑμείς (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 91.8); δεχούμεστε ἀπουκρουσιάρην (ibid. 18, 97.11) νὰ καθούμεστέν MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 282.37 σεβούμεσθέν τὸν κάτην ὡς θεόν Vios Aisop. D 239.22 γραφούμεστέν [...] dicono ancora γραφόμεστέν GERMANO, Grammar 90.5–6 ὅπου βρισκούμεστε κάτω στήν γῆν VEST., Prol. Theot. 3 μαζεугоύμεστε Rim. Sant. 443; χωριζούμεστέν ibid. 501 χαννούμεσθέν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡΡ., Pali 1738 κ' ἑμείς μὲ σᾶς ἐρχούμεστέν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1125; βρισκούμεστέν κλεισμένοι ibid. 1418 ὀμπλιγαρίζοúμεστε (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 464, 688.13) ὑπογραφούμεσθε (1697, Mani, PETRIDIS 1870: 432.7)

Pl.	1	-όμεστα(ν) † '-όμεστα(ν) † '-όμεστανε † -όμεσθα(ν) † -όμεσθαν † '-όμεσθανε

The ending -όμεστα(ν) and its more formal, written variant -όμεσθα(ν) are not attested very frequently with barytone verbs, but they are rather more common with εἶμαι (from the 13th/14th c. onwards with the present and the imperfect, see 4.8.1, 4.8.2). There are sporadic attestations of -μεσθα with the present of barytone verbs in Roman and Late Antique papyri, considered to be the result of an analogical formation from -μεθα after 2 pl. -σθε (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 63; GIGNAC 1981: 358; MINAS 1987a: 24) rather than being related to the identical Homeric ending (see KAPSOMENOS 1960 for a full historical overview of the use of this ending). In the Late Antique and Byzantine periods it can be found in commentaries and lexica on epic and tragic AG texts and in hexametric poetry. In vernacular texts the ending does not appear with barytone forms before the 15th/16th c., in texts from southern, mainly south-western, areas.¹⁴ Given the fact that it is absent from 14th-c. works such as the Chronicle of Morea and the War of Troy,¹⁵ which originate from the area where the ending makes its first appearance, it is likely to be a new formation, unconnected to the identical Koine ending, and possibly the result of a simple conflation of inherited -μεθα and the innovative ending -μεσθεν/-μεστεν, which had appeared about a century earlier (see above):

¹⁴ Two 11th- and 12th-c. examples in documents from S. Italy, ἀλήθειαν λέγομεν (καί) οὐ ψευδόμεσταν (1042, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 3, 48.17) and ἵνα ζημιούμεστα (1128, S. Italy, MÉNAGER 1957: 2bis, 340.21), should perhaps be viewed as an archaism rather than a first appearance of this vernacular ending.

¹⁵ There are two instances of this ending with εἶμαι (εἶμεσταν) in Chron. Mor. H 6035 and 6036, but the normal form is εἶμεθεν. The same holds true for Pol. Tr. For εἶμαι see 4.8.1.

κι ἀντιμαχόμεσθ' αὖτο Alex. Rim. 2494 χρειάζόμεσταν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 30; κατασταινόμεσταν ibid. 55; φανταζόμεσταν ibid. 254 ἐρχόμεσταν εἰς τὴν βασιλείαν σου Chron. Ps.-Dorothe. 231.9 ἀναφαινόμεσταν (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 145.1) δὲν στεργόμεσταν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 58.22 ἀναφανίζόμεσταν (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.16) ἐρχόμεσταν P&N Diath. 272 Χριστιανοὶ λεγόμεσταν AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 335 ἐρχόμεσταν νὰ βαρέσομεν πάνω σας χωρὶς ἄλλο IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5360 ἔστοντας ὅπου νὰ εὕρισκόμεσταν εἰς ἐστράταν (1653, Ioannina, TCHENTSOVA 2002: 3, 361.16–17) ἐρχόμεσταν (1671, Cythera, PSARAS 1989: 150.2) δέόμεσταν (1679, Sovana, Tuscany, PAPADOPOULOS 1979: 1, 473.11) γραφόμεσταν SPANOS, Grammar 36.19

The ending is also found, with and without final /n/, with a dual stress (whereby the first accent, representing the weaker of the two stresses, is sometimes omitted, e.g. στεκομέσταν for στέκομέσταν), in texts from Crete and the Heptanese, and perhaps Cyprus:¹⁶ νὰ ἔρχωμέσταν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 232, 230.10) τὰ ἀνωθεν ὅπου τάσσομέσταν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 240, 234.45) νὰ κραζώμεσταν VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 180 καστιγαρομέσταν καθημερινόν (1574, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES 1996: 61.5) ὁδὶα νὰ δροσίζομέσταν MOREZINOS, Klini 72.5–6 γινομέσταν ἄγιοι μεγάλοι TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 88 μὴ στεκομέσταν CHORTATSI, Katz. V.471 and V.514 ἐρχόμεσταν Stathis III.12 σηκώνομέσταν P&N Diath. 652 σὰ χαίρομέσταν ὅλοι KORNAROS, Erot. V.1431 (A) θὰ στέκομέσταν Pist. voskos II 1.159; τί στέκομέσταν πλιόν ibid. V 2.128 ποὺ χαίρομέσταν ὅλοι Zinon V.109 εὕρισκομέσταν (1660, Crete, KARATHANANIS 1973: 5, 34.7)

With an added -(ν)ε, and again with dual stress, this ending appears in Cretan texts from the late 16th c. onwards (for addition of -(ν)ε see I, 2.6.3.3); again, the first accent may be omitted in writing:

λυτρώνομέστανε MOREZINOS, Klini 62.21; λέγομέστανε ibid. 133.14; ὁδὶα νὰ παιδεύομέστανε ibid. 237.24; νὰ τοῦ ὑποτάσσομέστανε id., Logos 470.17 ἐκεῖ ἀπὸ κάθομέστανε CHORTATSI, Panor. IV.352; μὴ στέκομέστανε ibid. V.365; μαζώνομέστανε οὐλοὶ id., Erof. I.556; μὴν πρὶκαίνομέστανε ibid. III.178; νὰ διακονίζομέστανε id., Katz. III.300 νὰ δέομέστανε Thysia Avr. 1133 κείνη ποὺ ὀρεγομέστανε KORNAROS, Erot. A 1261 (A) εὕρισκομέστανε (1649, Crete, PANOPOULOU 2003: 2, 148.30–1)

¹⁶ The example from Cyprus comes from a scribe who, though clearly well-established in Famagusta, probably had a Corfiot background, given his surname Korfiatis (see CONSTANTINIDES 1996: 61–2).

παντοτινὰ κολάζομέστανε Apok. Theot. 493.194–494.195 εύρισκομέστανε FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.256; άνεμπάλωνομέστανε ibid. V.35 εύρισκομέστανε AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 251 [εἰσέ] μεγάλον πόνον εύρισκομέστανε (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 36.2) εύρισκομέστανε τὴν σήμερο (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 5, 130.2) (author from Crete)

Pl.	1	-ούμεστα ἰ' -ουμέστα

The same ending with a thematic vowel [u] for [o] is quite rare: τοῦτα ἐγδεχούμεστα νὰ θωροῦμεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 248.14; καθούμεσθα (1533, Naxos, MILIARAKIS 1888: 58.22); κάθουμεστα (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 10, 22.18).

Pl.	1	ἰ' -ομένστα ἰ' -ομένσταν

This dubious-looking ending has been found quite a few times, not only with the present, but also with the imperfect of barytone verbs (4.3.1.2), in documents by the Cretan notary Maras. It looks like a conflation of the active and passive endings -μεν and -μεστα, but it is unlikely to be a “real” ending. The ligature Maras uses (a combination of the ligatures for μεν and supralinear στα(ν)) is probably a graphematic idiosyncrasy that, in fact, represents -μεστα(ν):

ὅταν δὲν συνιβάζομένστα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 6, 7.16); ὅτι ὀμπλεγαρίζομένστα ἐσένα (ibid. 232, 230.2–3); νὰ ἐρχωμένστα (ibid. 230.7); ὅπου νὰ μὴν δυσκολεύωμένστα (ibid. 230.9); νὰ τὰ τεστάρωμένστα (ibid. 259, 258.45); μὲ τοὺς μαγαντζάδες ὅπου εύρίσκομένσταν (ibid. 155, 156.13); ὀμπλεγάρομένσταν νὰ σοῦ δώσωμεν (ibid. 266, 264.12)

Pl.	1	-όμαστε(ν)/-ώμασθε(ν) ἰ' -όμασθε(ν) ἰ' -ομάστε(ν) ἰ' -ομάσθε ἰ' -ομάστενε

The ending -όμαστε(ν) and its more formal variant -όμασθε(ν), which in the form -όμαστε would eventually become the SMG ending, is found from the 16th c. onward, during the first century of its existence almost exclusively in texts of south-western provenance. According to MINAS 1987a: 25 following MEYER 1889: 197, it derives from -όμεστα with inversion of the vowels /a/ and /e/, but it is perhaps more likely to derive from -όμεσταν with a change of /e/ to /a/. As appears to be the case with other passive endings (e.g. imperf. 1 sg. -μουν, 2 sg. -σουν, and others, and cf. 1 sg. /ome/ and pron. /me/, 2 sg. /ese/ and pron. /se/) the postverbal clitic pronoun μας may have played an associative role (RUGE 1984). The spelling of the subjunctive with <ω> for <ο> is entirely graphematic.

καὶ τώρα νύρισκόμαστεν στὰ χέρια τὰ δικά σου Alex. Rim. 721; δυνόμασθεν ibid. 1460 μὴ γινόμαστεν (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 243, 147.18) ὑποσχόμαστε (1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 34.2) γινόμαστε (1611, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: IV, 72.18) εύρισκόμαστεν (1613, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 3, 310.21) ἐρχόμαστεν ὁμάδι MONTSEL., Evgena 1261 ποὺ ἐκαθόμαστε CHORTATSIS, Panor. IV.352 app. crit. (N); ὁπόκαθόμαστε ibid. IV.352 app. crit. (A) διὰ νὰ προσευχώμασθε IER. AVVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 383.16 και ὅλοι μας βρυχώμασταν ωσάν τα λεοντάρια IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 914; να δεόμασθεν ibid.

 4710tit.; βρισκόμασθεν ibid. 5393 καλὰ εὐρισκόμασθε (1655, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 178.3); σε ἴλγες ἡμέρες ἐρχόμασθε (ibid. 178.13)
 νὰ ἔχωμε νὰ ἀποκρενώμασθε (1695, Karytaina, GRITSOPOULOS 1960: I.A 34, 115.9–10) πού ὀρεγόμασθε KORNAROS, Erot. I.1261 app. crit. (X) ὡσὰ χαιρόμαστ' ὅλοι ibid. V.1431 app.
 crit. (X) καταγόμασθε (1708, Zakynthos, SATHAS 1865: 524.6) σὲ τί εὐρισκόμασθε (1715, Corfu, LIATA 1975: 10, 127.10) εὐρισκόμασθε συγχυσμένοι Chron. Theod. 20.1 (15th/16th-c. text; 19th-c. copy)

The ending can also be found with a dual stress, although sometimes the first accent is omitted in writing:

νὰ χαίρωμάσθε ZINOS, Vatr. 111; να κρύβωμάσθε ibid. 112 ἐμπλεγάρομασταν (1546–51, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 26, 64.22–3); δὲν μπατζορομάσταν (1548, Kefalonia, ibid. 25, 63.13); ὀμπλιγάρομασταν (1551, Kefalonia, ibid. 49, 91.10–11)
 στέκομασθε (1583, Athens?, MERTZIOS 1954: 1, 124.23) ὅλοι μας γίνομασθε Pist. Vosk. IV 5.108 πολλὰ θαυμάζομασθε VEST., Paid. Makkav. 653 σκληρωμένοι | ἡύρισκομασθε KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.107–8 γράφομασθε SPANOS, Grammar 36.19

Addition of -(ν)ε appears in a text from Corfu:¹⁷ θλιβομάστανε μὲ θλιμὸν μεγάλο Evr. Eleg. 3 166.8.

Pl.	1	-ούμασθε(ν) '-ουμάσταν

Sporadically the ending -μασθε/-μάσθε is found with a thematic vowel /u/ instead of /o/, as a result of back-vowel raising in the environment of a nasal (see I, 2.8.3): δεχούμασθε (1674, Paros, ZERLENDIS 1922: (3), 54.3) (read: δέχουμάσθε, as raising usually affects unstressed vowels); ἡμεῖς γνωρίζουμάσθε ἀπὸ μικρά μας χρόνια Don Kis. 131.8.

Pl.	1	-ο(υ)μαστιν(ε)

In several documents whose authors are of Peloponnesian origin (Koroni and Mani), forms in -μαστιν(ε) occur,¹⁸ which is -μασθε(ν)(ε) with the first /e/ changed to /i/. In diplomatic editions no examples have been found with notation of stress position(s). It is therefore unclear whether one should read e.g. ἡύρεσκούμαστινε or ἡύρέσκουμάστινε:¹⁹ ἡυρεσκουμαστινε (1584, Italy, PAPADOPOULOS 1978: 1, 318.16–17); στεργόμαστιν (1610, Mani, FLORISTÁN 2008: 2, 282.9) (accentuation tacitly corrected by the editor); ἐβρισκομαστινε (1679, Sovana, Tuscany, PAPADOPOULOS 1979: 1, 473.37).

¹⁷ See AVLONITI 2006: 28–9 for such forms in the modern dialect of Corfu.

¹⁸ For the ending -μαστι in MG dialects, see NEWTON 1972c: 268.

¹⁹ The same ending with the oxytone verb φοβούμαι has been found in the Ἰσμία Χατζη Γεωργάκη Δραγομάνου, an early 19th-c. text from Cyprus: κι ἐμεῖς δὲν τὸν φοβούμαστιν (v. 101).

Pl.	1	-ούμαστον

The ending -ούμαστον occurs in a document from Kimolos, dated slightly beyond the period covered by this Grammar. The ending -μαστον has also been found with the imperfect (see 4.3.1.2) and with εἶμαι (see the discussion there, 4.8.2): ὑποσχούμαστον (1724, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1973: 3, 308.20 facs.); νὰ μιντεναρίζουμαστον (ibid. 308.21 facs.) (< Fr. maintenir or Ital. mantenere) (ὑποσχοόμεστον and νὰ μὴν τεναραζούμεστον in the ed.).

2nd Person

Pl.	2	-εσθε(ν) † -εστε(ν) † -εστιν

The inherited 2 pl.²⁰ ending -εστε and its more formal, written variant -εσθε are used throughout and beyond the MedG period:

ἀκούετε τὰ καὶ οὐ θλίβετε GLYKAS, Stichoi 115 ἐδῶ ποῦ εὐρίσκεστε ἐνομοῦ Chron. Mor. H 2835; οὐδὲν ἐντρέπεστε ποσῶς ibid. 5394 νὰ μὴ δέχεστε τοὺς χαρατζάρους (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 302.70) μ' ἂν ἔν' κι ἔσεῖς συνθλίβετε FALIEROS, Thrinis 40 τίντα ἵννοιάζεσθε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 252.24; ἐννοιάζεσθε ibid. 488.34 εὐρίσκεστε VOUSTR., Chron. A 298.18 κρέμεστε Cypr. Canz. 112.7 δὲν ἐτρέπεστε νὰ κλαῖτε Epain. gyn. 115 θὲ νὰ βρίσκεστε εἰς τόσῃν ἁμαρτία VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 192 γράφεσθε SOFIANOS, Grammar 57.4–5 νὰ ὑποτάζεσθε (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 238.217); νὰ προσέχεσθε (ibid. 238.225) βλέπεστε ... ἔρχεστε GERMANO, Grammar 83.8–9 φτιάνεσθε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2756; μὴν κρύβεσθε ibid. 6896; δὲν ἐντρέπεσθε ibid. 7868

Addition of final /n/ to this ending is not very common, but can be found in various texts, especially, though not exclusively, from the Heptanese:

δουλῶνεσθεν εἰς Ἑρωταν Liv. V 497 οὐδὲν ἐντρέπεσθεν ποσῶς Chron. Mor. P 5392 ἀναπεύεσθεν Theseid I.1,2 (Follieri); βρίσκεσθεν ibid. I.4,1 ἐκείνο οἱ οὐδὲν ορέγεσθεν Kakop. 167 λοιπὸν δὲ μὴ μὲ μέμφεσθεν ἐμὲν Alex. Rim. 1484; λογιζεσθεν κ' εἴσθεν ἀντρεωμένες ibid. 2522 καὶ μὴδὲν θαυμάζεσθεν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 353.3 τὰ ζῶα οἱ οὐδὲν κάθεσθεν ἀπάνω Bertoldin. 100.20 ἀπέξω φαίνεσθεν εἰς τοὺς ἀνθρώπους δίκαιοι KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 23.28; ἡξεύρει ὅτι τὰ χρειάζεσθεν ἐτούτα ibid. 12.30

²⁰ The MG ending -όσαστε, formed by analogy with 1 pl. -όμαστε (PERNOT 1907/46: II 292, who claims the ending is of Peloponnesian/Chiot origin), is not attested in the texts examined, which is not surprising given the relatively late appearance of -όμαστε (see above). No examples of -όσαστε have been found before the 18th c. It occurs e.g. in the grammar of Kanellos Spanos (author from the Peloponnese, written 1749): γράφoσαστε SPANOS, Grammar 36.19–20; and in the Zakynthian Dimitrios Gouzelis's comedy O Chasis: νὰ τσακωνόσαστε IV.226, the final version of which dates from 1795 (ed. Synodinos, Athens 1997).

A form with /i/ for /e/ in the last syllable as a result of mid-vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4) was found in a document from the Crimea. Mid-vowel raising is a feature of Crimean Pontic, but not of other varieties of the pre-modern dialect (see HENRICH 1996b: 181–2 and HENRICH 1998a: 104): ἐὰν ἔρκεστιν (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 168.5).

Pl.	2	-οὔστε -οὔσθεν -οústene

This 2 pl. ending can be found in texts from Chios, with and without final /n/ or an added -(v)ε (for which see I, 3.7.2 and I, 2.6.3.3):

γραφοῦστε, vel γράφεστε GERMANO, Grammar 90.5

φαινοῦσθεν KONDAR., Paidēs 289

δὲν δυνοῦσθεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 3031

μὴν στεκούσtene KONDAR., Paidēs 251 πάντοτε βρισκούσtene PROSOPSAS, Peri Tyflou 438

ἔρισκούσtene PETRITSIS, Dig. O 862

A proparoxytone form in -οῦσθεν has been found in one of the Jesuit plays written in Chios in the 17th c.: νὰ τὰράζουσθεν VEST., Pathi 84.

3rd Person

Pl.	3	-ονται -ονταίν '-ονταίνε -ωνται -οται '-οταίνε

The inherited 3 pl. ending -ονται is the standard ending before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

γίνονται μέρη δύο (1060–1, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 4, 58.20)

ἐπιτρέπονται εἰς τοὺς χριστιανούς NIKON, Logos 4 214.3

καὶ τὰ θηρία κρύβονται Dig. G IV.203

ἐνδύονται Pol. Tr. 5736

παιδιά καὶ ἄν μαζώνονται BERGADIS, Apok. V 95 νὰ ἀναπεύονται ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 5.3

αἱ πρᾶξεις τῶν ἀνθρώπων ζυγιάζονται καὶ δοκιμάζονται Pist. kekoim. 768 νὰ ἔρχονται (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.22) δξω κατὰ πῶς εὐρίσκονται ἔδικά του (1573, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17 [later copy], 71–2.21)

ὑπόσχονται νὰ δώσουν (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 159, 100.4) εὐρίσκονται κεφάλαια ἀνθρώπινα (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 337.67–8) κόφονται τὰ ὅπλα του PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §29.18 διὰ νὰ μνημονεύονται οἱ κτήτορες (1647, Patras, TSELIKAS 1986a: 1, 668.12)

νὰ κρένονται εἰς τὸν κατὴ μας (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 25, f.51r.6) γράφονται (1699, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 13, 29.20)

Addition of final /n/ can be found from as early as the 11th c. in texts from various areas:

καὶ ἵνα διαλέγωνται (1027, Sparta, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 43, 301.25)

ἐκεῖνο τὸ ὀρέγονται Spaneas Z 331 βουλεύονται Liv. V 608

νὰ ὑπᾶν καὶ νὰ ἔρχονται (1453, Constantinople, DALLEGIO D'ALESSIO 1939: 118.29) ἐμπλεγάρωνται (1549, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 8, 45.9) (< Ven. obligàr); εὐρίσκονται (1555, ibid. 177, 228.20) νὰ ἔρχονται ἐδῶ (1615, Lefkada, PENDOGALOS 1977b: 2, 148.23) δύνονται VEST., Paid. Makkav. 1377

 ἰσιάζονται ἀμφότεροι (1687, Chios, KANVADAS 1976: B.f15, 9.2)

With addition of -(ν)ε and dual accent, the form appears in a document from Kefalonia and in the Oxford version of Digenis (Chios) (for addition of -(ν)ε see I, 2.6.3.3): ἡύρίσκονταινε εἰς τὰ χέρια τοῦ Sr Λασχαράκη (1653, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 215, 186.54) (ἡβρισκόντενε in the diplomatic text, but the notation of accents appears to be random); ἔρχονταινε καὶ κλαῖσι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2109.

The ending -οται(ν)(ε) is a phonetic rather than a morphological variant of -ονται, representing a graphematic realization of nasal deletion before stops. For details see I, 3.6.2.1:

εὐρίσκοται τινές ἀπὸ τοὺς μοναχοὺς Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 480–1 ὅπερ φαίνοται (17th c., Athos, KADAS 1988: 120, 352.9–10) ὀμπλιγάροταινε (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 31, 50.16); βρίσκοταινε (1638, ibid. 118, 114.16 and 114.18) (ομπλιγαρότενε and βρισκότενε in the ed., but accents appear to be largely editorial) νὰ γίνωται οἱ σεισμοὶ Diig. Sant. 55.53

Forms in -οντι(ν) are phonetic variants that bear witness to mid-vowel raising, whereby unstressed [e] becomes [i] (see I, 2.5.4). These forms appear in documents by authors from Athens and northern Greece: ἔρχοντι (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 58.3) (author from Athens); ἵνα μνημονεύοντι (1664, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 86, 210.15–16); γένοντι (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 52.16).

Pl.	3	-ουνται -ουνταίν -ουνταίνε '-ουνταίνε

The variant ending -ουνται comes from -ονται through back-vowel raising (of unstressed [o] to [u]) in the environment of a nasal (see I, 2.8.3); most probably there is also influence from 3 pl. act. -ουν (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 452), since forms with [u] for [o] are much more common for 3 pl. than for other persons in the paradigm. This ending can be found in a variety of texts throughout the LMedG and EMG periods. Some representative examples are:

ἄρχονται (1172, Palermo, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 10, 81.1) ἀρματώνονται Chron. Mor. 633; ἐκεῖ ποὺ εὐρέσκονται Chron. Mor. H 3690 καὶ δύο γυναῖκες στέκονται Liv. V 464 δαιμονίζονται (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 228.74); ὅπου ἔρχονται ἐξ αὐτοῦς (ibid. 244.586) ἐκδέρνονται οἱ κουτάλες σου Diig. tetr. 787 app. crit. (P) ἔρχονται πρὸς ἡμᾶς (1440, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1995: 126, 401.4) φαίνονται (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 50, 88.38) διὰ νὰ μὴν συγχύζονται (1572, Peloponnese, VEIS 1956: 451.2) γράφονται GERMANO, Grammar 90.5 νὰ στρέφονται (1629, Milos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 14, 10.28) ἐκείνοι οποῦ σπέρνονται KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark., 4.16 καὶ χώνονται οἱ ἀχινέοι εἰς τὴν ἄμμον LANDOS Geopon. 131.15 μετατρέπονται (1665, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 2, 13.27–8)

νὰ μνημονεύονται (1695, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 354.18)

ἐλαττόνουνται VATATSI, Pertiig. II 516

The addition of final /n/ to the ending -ουνται is not uncommon, and the phenomenon can be found in texts predating the period under investigation (see also I, 3.7.2.1):

ἵνα ἀνατρέφουνται (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 27.220) στένουνται οἱ φουδοῦλες Liv. V 1112; νὰ συχνοπεριπλέκουνται ibid. 3562 ὅπου ἔρχουνται (1446, Constantinople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 275.29)

ἄς ἔρχουνται ἐγλήγορα Achil. N 1450 ξεχωρίζουνται ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 993 ὀρδινιάζουνται PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1154; βόσκουνται ibid. 1312; νὰ ᾽πιχειρίζουνται ibid.

2908

νὰ παραστέκουνται (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 311.33)

ισιάζουνται (1684, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 409.1) ὅ,τι τῆς εὐρίσκουνται (1690, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 78, 63.4–5)

κείτουνται ἄδικα φονεμένα VEST., Paid. Makkav. 1312

Addition of -(ν)ε has been found in texts from Chios, one without and one with dual stress notation (for -(ν)ε see I, 2.6.3): ερκουντενε/ἔρκουνταίνε (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 25.5); ᾽βρίσκουνταίνε Dig. O 2543.

Forms in -ουται(ν) are phonetic variants of those in -ουνται, representing a graphematic realization of nasal deletion before stops (for details see I, 3.6.2.1):

νὰ παιδεύουται (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 302.51)

καταλύουται (1573, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 1, 75.2) ξεκαθαρίζουται (1598, Crete, VIOLIDAKIS 2006: 3, 268.17)

νὰ μνημονεύουται (17th c., Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 49, 316.4) ἐκεῖνα ποῦ εὐρίσκουνται (1668, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 39, 40.13)

νὰ πραγματεύγουνται (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 312.14)

ὀμπλιγάρουται (1691, Ikaria/Chios?, TSELIKAS 2000: 81, 64.2); νὰ καστιγάρουται (ibid.

64.15–16)

Forms in -ουντι(ν) are phonetic variants that bear witness to mid-vowel raising, whereby unstressed /e/ becomes [i]. An example has been found in a document from the Crimea (for details see I, 2.5.4; for the Crimean document see also HENRICH 1998a): οἱ δουλείγες δίχως ἔξοδον οὐκ ἐγίνουντιν (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.6–7).

4.1.2 Oxytone Verbs

The endings of the present indicative of oxytone verbs were originally identical to those of barytone verbs (-ω, -εις, -ει, -ομεν, -ετε, -ουσι), but contraction with the stem vowels, [a], [e] or [o], led to sound change, and the contracted morpheme began to be perceived as an oxytone ending. Before the LMedG period O-stem verbs had largely been remodelled into a barytone paradigm through the addition of an affix -νω (see also 1.1.1), though oxytone O-stem endings that happen to be identical to or homophonous with the corresponding E-stem endings are not uncommon.²¹ Residual O-stem forms can occasionally be found.²²

For reasons of presentation, here the morphemes that are the result of contraction of stem vowels and endings will be treated as part of the endings, but see also 2.1.2.

The inherited sets of endings for A- and E-stems are identical for 1 sg. (act. -ῶ, pass. -οὔμαι), 1 pl. (act. -οὔμε, pass. -οὔμεθα) and 3 pl. (act. -οὔσι, pass. -οὔνται), and in the period covered by this Grammar there is a clear tendency for E-stems to adopt A-stem endings for 2 sg., 3 sg. and 2 pl., although the reverse also occurs, and there is often variation even within the same text, e.g. ἐὰν μᾶς ζητῆς νὰ ποιήσωμεν τὸ δίκαιον κατὰ νόμον, | ἢ ἂν μᾶς ζητᾶς διὰ χάριταν καὶ διάκρισιν ἀφέντου Chron Mor. H 7477–8.

4.1.2.1 Active Voice

		General		Restricted		Rare
Sg.	1	γρικῶ	βαρῶ			γρικάω	βαρέω -οὔ
	2	γρικᾶς/γρικᾶς	βαρεῖς βαρᾶς/βαρᾶς	γρικά(γ)εις	βαρά(γ)εις	γρικεῖς
	3	γρικᾶ/γρικᾶ	βαρεῖ βαρᾶ/βαρᾶ	γρικεῖ γρικά(γ)ει			βαρεῖν βαρέ(ει)
Pl.	1	γρικοῦμε(ν)	βαροῦμε(ν)	γρικούμενε	βαρούμενε	γρικᾶμε	βαροῦμαν
	2	γρικᾶτε	βαρεῖτε	γρικῶμεν γρικᾶτεν γρικάτενε	βαρῶμεν βαρεῖτεν βαρείτενε
	3	γρικοῦσι(ν) γρικοῦν	βαροῦσι(ν) βαροῦν	γρικούσινε γρικῶσι(ν) γρικοῦ γρικοῦνε	βαρούσινε βαρῶσι(ν) βαροῦ βαροῦνε	γρικᾶν(ε) (γρικά(γ) οὐν)	βαρέουσι(ν) βαρέουν βαρά(γ)ουν

For 1 pl. and 3 pl. of the present subjunctive of original E-stem verbs, the residual endings -ῶμε(ν) and -ῶσι(ν), which are identical to the corresponding residual endings of the present indicative and subjunctive of A-stem verbs, can sporadically be found. Other than that, all forms of the present subjunctive of both A- and E-stem verbs are identical to or homophonous with those of the present indicative. The only subjunctive endings that are traditionally spelled differently from those of the present indicative are uncontracted 2 sg., and 3 sg. of both A- and E-stem verbs, as well as the contracted forms of 2 sg., 3 sg. and 2 pl. of E-stem verbs. However, not all modern editors choose to make this graphematic distinction. As mentioned in the General Introduction to this Grammar, the iota subscript has been omitted in the examples in this Grammar. Other than that, the spelling of the modern editions of literary texts has been preserved. In examples normalized by us, 2 sg. and 3 sg. examples of the subjunctive are spelled with <ει>.

²¹ E.g. ἀξιοῦμεν (1447, Constantinople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1952: 293.5) or μόνον σε θαύμα και αυτό να ομοιεί σαν κείνο IOAKEIM KYPRI., Pali 1059.

²² E.g. νὰ μὴ κοινορτοῦται Dig. G IV.238; θυμοῦται Chron. Toc. 3644; ἡ Τροία θανατοῦται Byz. Il. 379; ἀπνοεκροῦται [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1160; δηλοῦται (1512, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 34, 59.11).

		General	Restricted		Rare
Sg.	1
	2	βαρῆς/ βαρῆς	γρικήης/ γρικήης	βαράης/ βαράης	γρικῆῖ/γρικῆῖς
	3	βαρῆ/βαρῆ	γρικήη/γρικήη	βαρέη/βαρέη	γρικῆγῆ/γρικῆγῆ
Pl.	1
		βαρῆτε		βαρήτεν(ε)
	3

Distribution of Allomorphs

1st Person Singular

Sg.	1	-ῶ ἰ -οῦ

For 1 sg. -ῶ is the standard ending for all oxytone verbs before and throughout the LMedG and EMG periods. Some representative examples are:

A-stems

ἀγαπῶ NIKON, Logos 31 814.1; οὐκ ἀποτολμῶ ἐρευνᾶν ibid. 818.27 ἐγὼ τὸ θέλω κι ἀγαπῶ Chron. Mor. H 578 πηδῶ ἔξω τῆς τέντας Dig. E 1132 καὶ ἄς πεινῶ Paroim. H 54

οὔτε σπαθία δειλιῶ Achil. N 322; χαίρετῶ ibid. 454; ἐγὼ σκιρτῶ καὶ χαίρομαι ibid. 1294 νὰ βαστῶ SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 20; νὰ ἀγαπῶ ibid. 44

διατὶ σὲ ἀγαπῶ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 546.28–9 οκαὶ μαντάτα τοῦ βαστῶ Apoll. Rim. 804 μόνον πλανῶ τοὺς γέροντες CHORTATIS, Katz. Prol. 31; δὲν τ' ἀγαπῶ ibid. I.284 πλαντῶ καὶ σκῶ Stathis I.79 ὅτι νὰ μὴν τρομῶ Nov. II 162.58 (= τολμῶ) ἐγὼ κλωσσῶ τὰ χηνόπουλα Bertoldin. 128.13 μεγάλο πράγμα προορῶ VEST., Prol. Theot. 1

χαλνῶ Don Kis. 21.13–14

E-stems

παρακαλῶ ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 310.8; κατακολουθῶ ibid. 312.1–2; ξῶς οὐ ζῶ ibid. 314.27 οὐκ ἤμπορῶ Chron. Mor. H 243; τὸν Μπονιφάτσον, σὲ λαλῶ ibid. 1016 ἐγὼ πονῶ καὶ ἐγὼ ἀγρυπνῶ Ptoch. (Maiuri) 11 εὐχαριστῶ σε, Θεὲ καλέ, καὶ μυριοευχαριστῶ σε Arm. 47 ἐλεῶ τὰ κάλλη σου Dig. E 1543 ὀκνῶ νὰ σᾶς τὴν γράφω Chron. Toc. 858; μὰ τὴν ἀλήθειαν ἀπορῶ ibid. 3041 δὲν ἤμπορῶ Achil. L 97; διατὶ νάρρωστῶ καὶ νὰ πονῶ ibid. 586 καὶ ὑπερευχαριστῶ σας Achil. N 447; ἐξαπορῶ ibid. 799 παρακαλῶ σε Achil. O 350; τὴν θεγατέραν του ποθῶ ibid. 398; τοῦτο πληροφορῶ σέ το ibid. 485 ἀμ' ἤθελα νὰ περπατῶ SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 41; καὶ ἐγὼ θαρρῶ ibid. 197; νὰ τοὺς θωρῶ ibid. 291 κρατῶ σε διὰ φίλον μου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 568.18 ἤξιῶ (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 16, 227.15) ευχαριστῶ σε, ἀφέντη μου Diig. Apoll. 215; νὰ τραγουδῶ πανέμνοστα ibid. 606 ὁμολογῶ ἐγὼ (1609, Mani, SKOPETAS 1950: III, 71.3) ἀδυνατῶ νὰ λέγω PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1485 συγχωρνῶ Don Kis. 21.6

There is no satisfactory morphological or phonetic explanation for the following forms in -οῦ found in a collection of documents from Skyros (cf. barytone verbs, and see also I, 2.5.4.3): ἐγὼ ... μαρτυροῦ το ἄνωθεν (1635, Skyros, ANDONIADES 1990: 24, 46.13); δὲ ζητοῦ πλέον τίποτες (1659, ibid. 29, 52.11); Θεοδωρῆς Πετεκάλη μαρτυροῦ (1661, ibid. 31, 54.14).

Sg.	1	-άω -έω

Uncontracted forms of 1 sg. of A-stem verbs, certainly not uncommon in MG, are absent from LMedG texts, and rare in EMG texts:

γεννάω Cypr. Canz. 27.12 ν' ἀκουμπάω Vosk. 320 ἀγροικάω (1713, Nauplion, ΛΙΑΤΑ 1998a: [1], 263.27) ρωτάω καὶ γι' αὐτόν KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.381

Uncontracted forms for 1 sg. of E-stem verbs are generally only to be found in explanations on the conjugation of verbs in the works of grammarians and lexicographers, such as Choïroboskos, Eustathios of Thessaloniki and Ps.-Zonaras. The only example that has been found in the texts examined is the following, no doubt intended to have a comical effect, this verb being otherwise unattested: ἡρξάμην κρᾶζειν συνεχῶς τὸ «δέμνε κυριδάτον» | τὸ «σάμνε» καὶ τὸ «ντόμβρε» καὶ τὸ «στεριοπορτέω» Ptoch. I 251–2.

2nd Person Singular

Sg.	2	-ᾶς/-ᾷς

For 2 sg. of A-stem verbs this is the most commonly used ending before and throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, and it is also used regularly with E-stem verbs in texts from all regions (see also 2.1.2.2.2):

A-stems

πῶς οὐ πλαντᾷς GLYKAS, Stichoi 256 ἄν ἀγαπᾷς καὶ θέλεις Achil. L 898 ὅπου ἀγαπᾷς μὴ σύχναζε Paroim. H 13 μηδὲ δειλιᾷς FALIEROS, Ist. On. 315 αὐτὰ τὰ ἄρματα νὰ βαστᾷς Diig. Alex. V 40.10 πῶς ἀποκοτᾷς MOREZINOS, Klini 132.2
 μη μ' ἐρωτᾷς Apoll. Rim. A 1149; ὅσ' ἄν ὄγρικας ibid. 1895 γρικᾷς ἐγὼ τὶ ὀρίζω Alex. Rim. 1779; καὶ πλέο μὴ με ἐρωτᾷς ibid. 2450 καὶ σὺ γελᾷς μας φανερά Fyll. gadar. 60 μηδέ γλακάς CHORTATSI, Panor. III.279; καὶ νὰ σωπᾷς id., Katz. I.277; διψᾷς ibid. IV.24 μας περιγελάς LANDOS, Kalok. 342.1
 ἀγαπᾷς τὸ γύναιον; Vios Aisop. K 162.30; ἄρα μοῦ γελᾷς ἢ ἀναγελάς ibid. 164.15 ἐσὺ κλωσσᾷς τὰ χηνόπουλα; Bertoldin. 128.14; ἀγαπᾷς ibid. 168.29 νὰ καλημερνᾷς PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §8.27 νὰ πετᾷς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1657; καὶ προτιμᾷς τὴν ibid. 2262 βαστᾷς Zinon Prol. 141

E-stems

ἐμὲ οὐκ ἐλεᾷς Vios Philaret. 151 (9th c.; 11th-c. ms) προσδοκᾷς Ptoch. I 101 νὰ σκοπᾷς Chron. Mor. H 1654; νὰ εὐχαριστᾷς ibid. 4109 νὰ φλογотоμᾷς (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.7) νὰ κλουθᾷς τὴν κόρην Achil. L 208 μισᾷς καὶ τὴν εἰρήνην LIMEN., Than. Rod. 592 ὁμολογᾷς Diig. Alex. F 116.11 (Konstantinopulos); ἐλεημονᾷς ibid. 116.12 κατοικᾷς (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 114, 111.3) ὁ ἄρτος ἀπὸ τοῦ ἱεουργᾷς MOREZINOS, Klini 36.12 νὰ φκαριστᾷς CHORTATSI, Panor. I.179; βοηθᾷς μου id., Katz. I.334; με καταφρονᾷς ibid. V.317 προνοᾷς ΜΑΤΤΗΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2596 and 2629 κτυπᾷς Vios Aisop. K 150.15; ἐπαινᾷς ibid. 161.13; μὴν μοῦ κατηγορᾷς ibid. 162.15 μὴν στέκεσαι νὰ ραθυμᾷς Bertoldin. 147.12; ἐπιθυμᾷς ibid. 168.29 τί κυνηγᾷς ἀνέμους PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1635 νὰ τὸν νουθετᾷς (1695, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 1 [A'], 250.17)

Sg.	2	-άεις/-άης ἢ -άγεις

Uncontracted forms of 2 sg. are not very common; they can be found with A-stem and E-stem verbs from at least the 15th c. (ms date of Liv. E) onwards, but mainly in verse texts and more often than not rhyming with (ὅ)πάεις. However, one example has been found in an early 18th-c. non-literary text originating from Corfu.

A-stems

καὶ θέλεις καὶ ἀγαπάεις Liv. E 3272 διατὶ ἡξεύρω γροικάεις μου Theseid Prol. P 128 (same in E) ἄν ἀγαπάης τὸν Θεὸν DEFAR., Log. did. 125; ἀπερνάης ibid. 771 νὰ συγκεράης τὸ πικρὸν μετὰ τὸ γλυκὺ τὸ μέλι ΜΑΤΤΗΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 24; καλὰ τὰ κυβερνάεις ibid. 27; τοὺς τιμάεις ibid. 28; γελᾷς ibid. 1717 κι ὅλος χαμογελάεις MONTSEL., Evgena 463 ἀπετάεις Zinon Prol. 141

E-stems

εἰς τοῦτο τὸ ζητάεις Chron. Mor. P 8175 καὶ μὴ σκοπάης Theseid I.108,7 (Follieri) εἴ τι χρωστάεις πλέρωσε ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2148; ἂν χρεωστάης τίποτες ibid. 2149 ημᾶς πῶς βοηθάεις ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 4511; αὐτοῦ καὶ προσκυνάεις ibid. 9756 οὐδὲ νὰ πολεμάεις ΒΟΥΝΙΑΛΙΣ Μ., Diig. Pol. 405.6 ἄνθρωπε, πῶς ἀποκοτᾷς τὸν κόσμον καὶ ἀδικάεις; Alfav. II 1 συκοφαντάεις ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1718 χωράεις Zinon Prol. 142
καὶ νὰν τότε παρηγοράης (1715, Corfu, ΛΙΑΤΑ 1975: 10, 127.10)

For anaptyxis of /χ/ between the stem-vowel /a/ and the 2 sg. ending, as in πάλιν κεῖ καταπτάγεις VATATSI, Periig. I 276, see 2.1.2.2.2; see also I, 3.5.2.1.

Sg.	2	-εῖς/-ῆς/-ῆς

For 2 sg. of E-stem verbs, the inherited ending -εῖς is used, often alongside -ᾶς. It is only sporadically found with A-stem verbs (see also 2.1.2.1):

E-stems

ἀλλ' ὅτε θέλεις νὰ ὑπνεῖς Diig. tetr. 947 (ed. ὑπνοῖς) τί ἔναι τὸ πονεῖς Achil. L 116; ἐγῶμαι τὸν κενοδοξεῖς ibid. 699 ὅπου φιλεῖς μὴ δάνειζε Paroim. H 13 ἀπὸ μακρὰ ροδοβολεῖς Plani kosmou 2 Ἰωάννη μου, καλὰ λαλεῖς FALIEROS, Thrinis 63 θωρεῖς LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 451 οὐδὲν ἠμπορεῖς Diig. Alex. F 147.15 (Konstantinopulos) μηδὲν ξυλοσοφῆς πολλὰ Fyll. gadar. 49 ὅλους μᾶς τιμωρεῖς Vios Aisop. K 150.15–16 πῶς μὲ κρατεῖς CHORTATSI, Katz. I.277; δὲ μοῦ βολεῖ ibid. III.357 σὺ θαρρεῖς πῶς δὲν τὸ ἡξέρω (1696, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 13, 215.5–6)

A-stems

νὰ μᾶς ... κυβερνῆς Chron. Mor. H 7923 καὶ ἐσὺ μεθεῖς; Vios Aisop. I 262.10

3rd Person Singular

Sg.	3	-ᾶ/-ᾶ

For 3 sg. of A-stem verbs, this is the most commonly used ending before and throughout the LMedG and EMG periods. The ending is also used frequently with E-stem verbs, throughout the LMedG and EMG periods in texts from all regions:

A-stems

περνᾶ τὸ ποταμίτισιν (1085, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 43, 147.30) τὸ φροῦ καὶ φρᾶ μὴ σὲ πλανᾶ GLYKAS, Stichoi 362 μηνᾶ Pol. Tr. 1317 (μηνῶ < μηνύω; see also 2.1.3.1) πηδᾶ, καβαλλικεύει Achil. L 52; ἀποτολμᾶ ibid. 1005; χαμογελᾶ ibid. 1092 πολλὰ σὲ χαιρετᾶ (1501, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 5, 26.4) καὶ πότε τὸν νικᾶ ὁ ἄγκαλῶν Assizes A 90.6 καὶ μας χαλνᾶ Diig. Alex. K 346.30 καὶ γεννᾶ τὸν Σαψῶν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.17 ἀρχινᾶ (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 24.26) μὲ σπουδὴν τὰ ἀρχινᾶ ZYGOM., Stef. Ichn. 253.3 πάλι ματαρωτᾶ τον Nov. I 156.10 καὶ ἐρωτᾶ τον Vios Aisop. I 252.20; πλὴν ὅλα αὐτὰ τὰ περνᾶ ἢ γυναῖκα ibid. 257.15 νὰ τοὺς ῥωτᾶ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1409; προῦπαντᾶ ibid. 1971 πηδᾶ καὶ δὲν ρωτᾶ NEOFYTOS, Achouri 48 κι ὄλο διψᾶ KORNAROS, Erot. III.2 βιστουρᾶ Thrinios Kypr. 70

E-stems

κινᾶ ἐκ τὰ γονικά του Log. parig. L 37 πρώτα Θεὸν εὐχαριστᾶ Chron. Mor. H 293; παρηγορᾶ την ibid. 8025 νὰ μὲ πολεμᾶ SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 104 δὲν φελᾶ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 234.24; καὶ ἐκεῖνος πολομᾶ μου μοῦττες ibid. 562.10–11 νὰ κληρονομᾶ (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 10, 23.51) καὶ νὰ τοῦ ἀκολουθᾶ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.2; νὰ τοὺς ἀδικᾶ ibid. 31.12 ἀστενᾶ PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §7.48; δὲν συμφωνᾶ εἰς τὴν γνώμην σου ibid. III §33.1 νὰ συγκοινωνᾶ RODINOS, Vios Ign. 105.29 καλλιερᾶ (1649, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 15, 27.14) τὸν ἴπιθυμᾶ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1620; προσκυνᾶ ibid. 1971; παρηγορᾶ ibid. 2055 ζητᾶ τότες αὐτὸς νὰ δῇ KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 141 καὶ αὐτὸς συγχωρᾶ ὀλωνῶν (1685, Andros, POLEMIS 1995b: 5, 38.7) κατοικᾶ (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 69.24) μὲ παρακινᾶ (1696, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 2 [B'], 253.16)

Forms in -ᾶ of the verb (ἦ)μπορῶ, followed by a bare subjunctive, which can be found from at least the 15th/16th c. onwards in texts from southern regions, are the result of univerbation of the 3 sg. impersonal verb and the conjunction νά into a single lexeme (see also 1.1.4):

μπορᾶ νοιαστῆς Cypr. Canz. 137.3 γιὰ νὰ μὴ μπορᾶ τὸ κόψει οὐδένας (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 662, 576.15) δὲν ἦμπορᾶ μιλήσω MONTSEL., Evgena 901 νὰ μὴ πορᾶ τὸ πάρου (1660, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 15, 380.23) ἀκόμα δεν πορᾶ φανοῦν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 7123 μπορᾶ καταβαλοῦμεν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 471 μὰ εἶντα μπορᾶ σοῦ κάμω KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.107

For examples of this phenomenon with the verbs θέλω and μέλλω, see 5.1.4.5 and 5.1.2.

Sg.	3	-εῖ(ν)/ -ῖ/-ῃ

For 3 sg. of E-stem verbs, the inherited ending -ει is used before and throughout the LMedG and EMG periods. It can also sometimes be found with A-stem verbs in texts from various regions:

E-stems

- οἰκονομεῖ NIKON, Logos 31 814.16
 ἄς θαρρῇ Log. parig. L 721; πατεῖ ibid. 722 νὰ θωρῇ Poulol. 541 ἀκανεῖ, ἔχω καταπατητάδες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 58.2–3 (< ἱκανῶ) πολεμεῖ Diig. Alex. E 45.17 (Konstantinopulos) πουλεῖ (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 26, 105.4) νὰ μιλεῖ (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.29) νὰ φορεῖ MOREZINOS, Klini 41.9; νὰ μὴν τῆς βαρεῖ ibid. 51.28; νὰ ζεῖ ibid. 51.33 ἄρχισε νὰ πολυλογῇ Vios Aisop. K 179.12 παρακαλεῖ GERMANO, Grammar 51.23 ὁμολογεῖ (1646, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1970: 1, 251.14) θέλει καὶ λακταρεῖ τον PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1620; καταφιλεῖ του ibid. 2356 πουλεῖ NEOFYOTOS, Achouri 46 ο Θεός να τον πολυτεῖ Don Kis. 21.26; η τύχη μάς οδηγεῖ ibid. 44.29; ὅταν σε πονεῖ ibid. 47.16 νὰ μὴν λειτουργεῖ τινὰς ἀπὸ λόγου σας (1645 [19th-c. copy], Jassy, LEGRAND 1903: 5, 10.26)

A-stems

- τύπος εἰ καὶ πλανῇ με Diig. Alex. M 3499 νὰ κυβερνῇ τὸ πλοῖον Poulol. 540 app. crit. (E) καταδαπανεῖ Achil. N 5 ὀρμεῖ Byz. Il. 111
 γιὰ νὰ περνῇ ὁ καιρός σου Theseid Prol. E 97 app. crit.
 νὰ τὰ κυβερνεῖ (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 298, 212.16) ανεμικὴ μαδεῖ το CHORTATSIS, Panor. III.84
 καὶ μασεῖ καὶ βάνει LANDOS, Geopon. 130.28

Addition of final /n/ is very rare: ἄν οὐδὲν σᾶς βολῇν νὰ ἔλθετε Diig. Alex. F 166.3 (Konstantinopulos); θέλει καὶ ποιεῖν (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 13, 27.5).

Sg.	3	-άει/-άη/-άη ! -άγει/-άγη/-άγη

Unlike 1 sg. and 2 sg., for 3 sg. uncontracted A-stem forms are rather common in the LMedG and EMG period, and they are found not only with A-stem verbs but also with E-stem verbs, in literary texts as well as in non-literary documents from various areas, from at least the 15th c. onwards (mss of Pol. Tr.). As far as E-stem verbs are concerned, the majority of non-literary texts originate from western areas (Heptanese, Central Greece). In verse texts it is sometimes clear that the uncontracted written form should be read as falling diphthongs (see e.g. the examples from Liv. E and Love poems).

A-stems

- νὰ τοὺς κυβερνάη Pol. Tr. 2805 app. crit. (X); καὶ νὰ βαστάη τὰ ἄρματα ibid. 1555 app. crit. (BV) συναπαντάει μου ὁ Πόθος Liv. E 296; ἀναρωτάει ἡ Ροδάμνη ibid. 1264 μέσα ἡ καρδιά μου σ' ἀγαπάει Love poems V 303 άλλα του μελετάει Theseid VI.31.8 (Olsen) διὰ νὰ μὲ κυβερνάει (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 45, 55.19) ὅτι πῶς μᾶς γελάει (ca. 1560, Ancona, MARKOS 1977: Ια, 27.8) ὡσὰν ἀπερνάει (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.17) διὰ νὰ τὰ βαστάη Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1024 νὰ ἀγαπάει (1655, Moldavia, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 9, 78.15) πέφτει καὶ ξεψυχάει BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 206.2; γροικáει πάλι ibid. 240.4 νὰ κυβερνάει (1683, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 89, 321.7) ἀρχίνισε νὰ χαλάει (1687, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 35, 119.21) περνάει NEOFYTOS, Achouri 303 νὰ ἀρχινάει (1693, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969e: 66.4) ἀρχισε νὰ γελάει Don Kis. 55.36

E-stems

οἰκονομάει Pol. Tr. 8985 app. crit. (AX); νὰ τὴν παρηγοράη ibid. 9851 app. crit. (B) ποῦ κυνηγάει ὁ Πέτρος Chron. Toc. 885 δειπνάει Peri xen. 413 καὶ πάρραυτα ψοφάει Alex. Rim. 212 νὰ ἱεουργάη (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 42, 103.20) ὁμολογάει νὰ τῆς δώσῃ (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 29, 49.11) καὶ ὅλους κατουράει IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 151 ἂν μᾶς ὀδικάει (1654, Karpēnisi, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 7, 83.14) νὰ κληρονομáει το ἄλλο (1660, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 2, 115.17) προσενάει (1661, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 26, 114.63) νὰ τὸν ἀκλουθάη (1666, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 1, 145.26) τίς τὸν μετράει (1669, Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 84, 216.23) κινάει νὰ προβάλει BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 238.16 συμπταθάει (1672, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 13, 10.2; and 1695, ibid. 192, 115.3)

For anaptyxis of /y/ between the stem-vowel /a/ and the 3 sg. ending, as in ν' ἀπαντάγη Assizes B 455.3; ἀρχινάγει KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 346.1, see 2.1.2.2.2; see also I, 3.5.2.1.

Sg.	3	-έει † -έ

This rare uncontracted E-stem ending -έει and a shortened variant -έ occurs in legal texts from Cyprus with the verb ἐγκαλῶ (see also 3 pl. in -έουν). For similar forms of barytone vowel-stem verbs, on which these endings may have been modelled, see 2.1.1.2; see also 2.4 for shortened forms of ὀμνέω (< ὀμνύω) for 2 sg. (ὀμνές) and 3 sg. (ὀμνέ), which can be found in the same area (Cyprus, as well as Rhodes): ἐγκαλέει (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 21.126–7 and 65.45); ἀγκαλῆ Assizes B 305.27, 306.23 and 306.30 (< ἐγκαλῶ).

1st Person Plural

Pl.	1	-οὔμε(ν) † -ούμενε

For 1 pl. the original E-stem ending -οῦμε(ν), which had begun to replace the AG A-stem ending -ῶμεν in Hellenistic times (see 1.1.4), is the most commonly used ending for all oxytone verbs in both literary and non-literary LMedG and EMG texts from all areas:

E-stems

λαλοῦμεν Chron. Mor. H 3844; νὰ βοηθοῦμεν ibid. 8950 ποιοῦμεν (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.10); ὁμολογοῦμεν (ibid. 474.2) οὐδὲν σὲ θεωροῦμεν Dig. E 111; προσδοκοῦμεν ibid. 121 ὄρκον φρικτὸν ποιοῦμεν Liv. V 103; ἄς περιπατοῦμεν ibid. 2505 μισοῦμεν Florios 49 (Hesseling) χρεωστοῦμεν οἱ ἀπαξάπαντες (14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 148.6) ἐδῶ νὰ κατοικοῦμεν Achil. N 698 νὰ πλημελοῦμεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 182.17–18; οὐδ' ἐμεῖς φελοῦμεν ibid. 234.25 εἰς τὰ πονοῦμεν πόνησε BERGADIS, Apok. A 158; καὶ νὰ συμπεριπατοῦμεν ibid. 370 πλέον ου καρτεροῦμεν Diig. Apoll. 297 λιζάτον νὰ τελοῦμεν Diig. Alex. E 158.21–2 (Lolos); ὁμολογοῦμεν ibid. 227.12 περβατοῦμεν (1549, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 51, 93.7) νὰ κρατοῦμεν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 272, 268.16); νὰ πουλοῦμεν (ibid. 268.17) συγχωροῦμεν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 6.12; ἤμποροῦμεν ibid. 22.17 γιὰ νὰ περιπατοῦμεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1757; μὲ σὲ νὰ πολεμοῦμεν ibid. 2578 παρὰ ὅσον επιθυμοῦμεν ἡμεῖς Don Kis. 44.29

A-stems

νικοῦμεν τοὺς Pol. Tr. 2961 app. crit. (V); τολμοῦμεν ibid. 4945 app. crit. (AVX) καταρωτοῦμεν Dig. E 1220 ἐπίαμεν νὰ μὴν διψοῦμεν Liv. E 2682; συναπαντοῦμεν ibid. 3056 περνοῦμεν Liv. α 4043 and 4044 καὶ ἀγαποῦμεν τοὺς ἐχθροὺς Chron. Toc. 2601 βαστοῦμεν τὸ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 66.31; μνηοῦμεν σου ibid. 372.14 ὅτι νὰ ἐρωτοῦμεν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 351.9–10; ἐγροικοῦμεν ibid. 371.15 χόρευε κι ας πηδοῦμεν Katis 12 ἀν τοὺς ἀνθρώπους γελοῦμεν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 24.10 μεθοῦμεν Vios Aisop. K 179.18 τιμοῦμεν GERMANO, Grammar 91.15 νὰ κερνοῦμεν εἰς τὴν τράπεζον (1634, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 58, 156.12–13) νὰ τὴν ἀπερνοῦμεν Bertoldos 45.12–13 ἄλλο δὲν προτιμοῦμεν LANDOS, Kalok. 338.12
 τοὺς ἐκλεκτοὺς τιμοῦμεν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5201; καὶ αὐτὰνα τὰ χαλοῦμεν ibid. 6896

Attestations of the loss of final /n/ can be found sporadically from the Koine onward (DIETERICH 1898: 249), becoming more frequent in texts from all areas from at least the 14th c. onwards (see also I, 3.7.2.2):²³

²³ Note that ms V of Machairas's Chronicle always retains final /n/ with verb endings, except before a nasal, e.g. νὰ. Νὰ and the preceding verb are often written without word division, and writing two ν's would imply a geminate pronunciation (see I, 3.4), which appears not to have been the case: δὲν ἔμποροῦμεναπίσμεν τύποτες / δὲν ἤμποροῦμε νὰ ποίσουμεν τίποτες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 232.13–14 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari). Voustronios, on the other hand, omits final /n/ only before clitics starting in /s/, where the combination /n/ + /s/ would lead to a geminate pronunciation of /s/: πολομούμε σε VOUSTR., Chron. A 176.12–13 (cf. τασσομέν σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 258.36 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari)).

E-stems

ὅσοι γὰρ δυστυχοῦμε Chron. Mor. H 1824; νὰ ζοῦμε ibid. 3020 ὅτι νὰ φιλοῦμε Dig. E 883 πολομοῦμε σε νὰ ἡξεύρεις (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 16, 11.1) ἀργοῦμε Pol. Tr. 1573 app. crit. (V); πολεμοῦμε ibid. 5482 app. crit. (V) καὶ ἄν ζοῦμε Liv. α 827 πλέον οὐκ ὠφελοῦμε Velis. N² 331 ν' ἀργοῦμε FALIEROS, Ist. On. 274; κρατοῦμε ibid. 487; νὰ θε' ν' ἀγανακτοῦμε id., Rim. Par. 46 πάντες σὲ προσκυνοῦμε Alex. Rim. 787; καὶ ὅλοι ἀποροῦμε ibid. 1615; περικαρτεροῦμε ibid. 2031 χαιρετοῦμε Diig. Alex. K 376.7 πεθυμοῦμε (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 5, 261.16) πολεμοῦμε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 87.18; ἀκαρτεροῦμε ibid. 88.33 νὰ ζιοῦμε (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.14); νὰ παρακαλοῦμε (ibid. 59.50–1) ὅ,τι κι ἄν πεθυμοῦμε KORNAROS, Erot. III.709; δὲν πρέπτε νὰ γλακοῦμε ibid. IV.1414 χαιρετοῦμε (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.PS) μιλοῦμε FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.278; μελετοῦμε ibid. III.482

A-stems

εὔχολα τὸν περνοῦμε Liv. E 3902 ν' ἀγαποῦμε FALIEROS, Ist. On. 514; νὰ τιμοῦμε id., Erot. En. 129 νὰ περνοῦμε PIKAT., Rima thrin. 205 γρικοῦμε Alex. Rim. 788; τίποτες δὲν ψηφοῦμε ibid. 1785 βαστοῦμε Fyll. gadar. 131 νὰ περνοῦμε CHORTATSI, Erof. I.149; κοπιοῦμε ibid. IV.431; γρικοῦμε ibid. IV.432 γροικοῦμε KORNAROS, Erot. I.1635 μελετοῦμε FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.482; παραπερνοῦμε ibid. IV.400

With addition of -(ν)ε the ending has been found in texts from Crete and Chios, but may have had a wider geographical distribution (see I, 2.6.3.3): νὰ πολεμοῦμενε ὁμοῦ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2575; περνούμενε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 171.10; θωρούμενε ibid. 334.17; γελούμενε ibid. 334.21; ζοῦμενε ibid. 334.20; σὲ προσκυνούμενε ibid. 365.16; γροικούμενε id., Kat. ofel. 83.

Pl.	1	-ῶμεν

The residual A-stem ending -ῶμεν, which had started to disappear gradually from Hellenistic times onwards (see 1.1.4), is occasionally used in literary and non-literary texts, with both A- and E-stem verbs. With this ending, final /n/ is not usually omitted.

A-stems

τὰ χωράφια ἡμῶν τὰ ἔπερ χτῶμεν (1139, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 3, 295.8) τολμῶμεν Pol. Tr. 4945 app. crit. (B) συναπαντῶμεν Liv. α 3187 app. crit. (P); νὰ τρυφῶμεν ibid. 3363 πεινῶμεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1513; τρυγῶμεν ibid. 2110 ἄλλον οὐ ψηλαφῶμεν Velth. 1261 ἀμηχανῶμεν (1453, Gallipoli, DARROUZÈS 1963: 2, 83.19) καὶ βοῶμεν σοι Spanos A 323 καὶ δειλιῶμεν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4147; χρειὰ νὰ σιωπῶμεν ibid. 4671

E-stems

ποιῶμεν (1165, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 169, 222.10); ὁμολογῶμεν (ibid. 222.18) ἡμεῖς μὲν ζῶμεν (1256, Palatia (Miletos), NYSTAZOPOULOU 1966: 1, 288.1) ποιῶμεν γνωστὸν (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 265.25) τὸ πῶς νὰ τὸν κρατῶμεν Chron. Mor. H 811 ἄν ζῶμεν Liv. α 827 app. crit. (P) ὁμολογῶμεν (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 57.81) ὅταν, λέγω, τα θεωρῶμεν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 3.8 (spelled θεωρόμεν in the ed.)

Pl.	1	-ᾶμε

The ending -ᾶμε, the most common ending for A-stem verbs in MG, is absent from LMedG, and has been found only once in an EMG manuscript, namely ms N (16th c.) of Livistros: συναπαντᾶμε ἄνθρωπον Liv. α 3187 app. crit. (N).²⁴

Pl.	1	-οῦμαν

This is a rather dubious ending with one attestation. The ending is rather common with the imperfect of oxytone verbs, which may have been a source of confusion, but it cannot be excluded that this is simply a writing mistake: πλέον μηδὲν ἀργοῦμαν Pol. Tr. 2962 app. crit. (V).

2nd Person Plural

Pl.	2	-ᾶτε(ν) † (*-ᾶτενε)

For the 2nd person pl. of A-stem verbs, the inherited ending -ᾶτε is the standard ending in both literary and non-literary texts throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar; this ending is also used with E-stem verbs (for the identical 2 pl. pres. imp. ending see 4.5.1.2):

A-stems

ὅταν τρυγᾶτε τὸ δένδρον Log. parig. L 737 νὰ τὸ ἐγροικᾶτε Chron. Mor. H 2692 κἄν ψηλαφᾶτε Dig. E 69 πάντες νὰ τὸν τιμᾶτε Liv. V 639; καὶ ἐσεῖς ἀμεριμνᾶτε ibid. 2731 ὅσοι μὲ ἀγαπᾶτε Chron. Toc. 2054 βαστᾶτε Phys. 1086 πῶς τορμᾶτε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 486.33 (< τολμῶ) ψηφᾶτε FALIEROS, Ist. On. 458 νὰ τὸ γροικᾶτε ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 477 γελᾶτε ΣΟΦΙΑΝΟΣ, Grammar 63.13

²⁴ Although it cannot be excluded that one should read συναπαντᾶ με ἄνθρωπος (cf. συναπαντᾶ με ὁ Πόθος Liv. α 360 and συναπαντᾶ με ὁ βασιλεὺς ibid. 2501; in the context both forms, 3 sg. and 1 pl. are suitable), the fact that the other versions of Livistros also have 1 pl. forms (συναπαντοῦμεν Liv. E 3056, S 1896 and V 2837; συναπαντῶμεν P 2406) is at least an indication that the form of N is plural.

νὰ τὰ γροικᾶτε Pist. kekoim. 19–20; νὰ τὰ ἐρευνᾶτε ibid. 20 τιμᾶτε GERMANO, Grammar 91.15 μὰ γελᾶτε Bertoldin. 129.31 καὶ ὅποιον ἀγαπᾶτε δώσετέ το PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §27.15 τον κόσμον πῶς περνάτε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1644; ψηφάτε ibid. 2994 τί τὴν ῥωτᾶτε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1507

E-stems

νὰ μᾶς βοηθᾶτε Chron. Mor. H 2703 ποτέ μὴ ἀδημονᾶτε Liv. V 985 λιγωρᾶτε FALIEROS, Ist. On. 457; συντηρᾶτε id., Thrinis 144; τὸ πῶς τὸν ἀδικᾶτε ibid. 232 χειροτονᾶτε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 14.11; πολομᾶτε ibid. 382.2; πλημελᾶτε ibid. 450.32 μισᾶτε BERGADIS, Apok. V 160 τὸν προσκυνᾶτε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 349.17 νὰ τὰ ἐρευνᾶτε Pist. kekoim. 20 ἀγρυπνᾶτε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 14.38 ποτέ μὴν τὸ μισᾶτε TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 348 μὴν λειποψυχᾶτε Bertoldin. 110.1; τὸ εἶ,τι ἐπιθυμᾶτε ibid. 169.13 νὰ τὸ λειτουργᾶτε LANDOS, Geopon. 254.25 νὰ γλακᾶτε MONTSEL., Evgena 384 μηδὲ μετανοᾶτε (1685, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1924b: [2], 13.18) καταφρονᾶτε NEOFYOTOS, Achouri 319; μετρᾶτε ibid. 320

Addition of final /n/ was encountered in texts from Chios: νὰ ἴθετεν νὰ γελᾶτεν KONDAR., Paides 84; καὶ μὴν ἀργοπορᾶτεν ibid. 251; ἂν ἐπιθυμᾶτεν λοιπὸν νὰ γροικήσετεν PROSOPSAS, Eulogy (quoted in MANOUSAKAS/PUCHNER 2000: 29, fn. 14). Verb forms in -άτενε, with added -(ν)ε (for which see I, 2.6.3.3), have not been found in the texts examined, but they are likely to appear at least in texts from Chios (cf. 2 pl. pres. of E-stems and of barytone verbs, 4.1.2.1 and 4.1.1.1).

Pl.	2	-εἶτε(ν) ἰ -εἴτενε ἰ -ῆτε(ν) ἰ -ήτενε

For the 2 pl. of E-stem verbs, the inherited ending -εἶτε is used in both literary and non-literary texts throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods, often alongside forms in -ᾶτε (for the identical 2 pl. pres. imp. ending see 4.5.1.2). The ending has not been found with A-stem verbs:

ποιεῖτε οὕτως καὶ οὕτως NIKON, Logos 9 312.32 νὰ τοὺς ψυχοπνητε Log. parig. L 733 καὶ ἐσεῖς ἀμεριμνεῖτε Liv. α 3081 νὰ πολεμῆτε Achil. N 259 ζεῖτε FALIEROS, Thrinis 77 πορπατεῖτε BERGADIS, Apok. A 532 νὰ ὑψηλοφρονήτε Alex. Fyll. 45.14; προσκυνεῖτε ibid. 45.14 ἐλᾶτε, μὴν ἀργεῖτε Thysia Avr. 238 τον θεόν οποιῦ επιορκεῖτε NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 24.8 περπατεῖτε NEOFYOTOS, Achouri 370

Addition of final /n/ or of -(ν)ε to this ending occurs in texts from Chios (for details see I, 2.6.3.3 and I, 3.7.2.1): μὴν με θωρῆτεν KONDAR., Paides 1; νὰ τὸν καταπατῆτεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 3030; πορπατεῖτενε GERMANO, Grammar 50.2.

3rd Person Plural

Pl.	3	-οὔσι(ν) † -οὔσινε

The inherited E-stem ending -οὔσι, which had started to replace the AG A-stem ending -ῶσι in the Hellenistic period, continues to be used throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods, in texts from all areas:

E-stems

λαλοῦσι NIKON, Logos 9 310.29 ἐξαποροῦν καὶ φρίττουσιν καὶ λογισμομαχοῦσιν PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 83 καὶ κονταριᾶς κτυποῦσι Imb. Rim. 462; κινοῦσι ibid. 566 κηλαδοῦσι SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 186; ὠφελοῦσι ibid. 190 νὰ λαλοῦσι Deft. Par. 20 ζητοῦσί με SFRANTZIS, Chron. 56.5 δὲν ἀργοῦσι Alex. Rim. 202; καὶ τοῦ βαροῦσι ibid. 1346; πιλαλοῦσι ibid. 1649 πουλοῦσι (1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 74.8) περιπατοῦσι MOREZINOS, Klini 262.8–9 ζιούσι CHORTATZIS, Panor. I.185; νὰ με προσκυνοῦσι ibid. I.280 ν' ἀθιοῦσι Stathis III.511 (< ἀνθῶ) νὰ μιλοῦσι (1612, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 7, 361.15) μαρτυροῦσι ἀντὰμα καὶ οἱ τέσσερις (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 13, 316.5) εὐλογοῦσι Thysia Avr. 857 παρακαλοῦσι PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §14.8; τὸ ἐπιθυμοῦσι ibid. IV §18.2–3 κατοικοῦσι δύο γυναῖκες Vios Aisop. D 240.4

A-stems

ἀγαποῦσι SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 232 τιμοῦν τον καὶ ἀγαποῦσι τον Byz. Il. 641 καὶ χαίρετοῦσι σε (1502, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 6, 27.8–9) ὅλοι τους τὴν γρικοῦσι Alex. Rim. 642; νὰ τὸν ἀγαποῦσι ibid. 658 νὰ τὲς ἀγαποῦσι Epain. gyn. 122 τιμοῦσι MOREZINOS, Klini 262.8
 χαλνοῦσι MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1412 κοπιοῦσι CHORTATZIS, Panor. Prol. theas 68; τα φύλλα ὄντε μαδιούσι ibid. IV.46 μ' ἀναγαλλιοῦσι Stathis III.475 τιμοῦσι Thysia Avr. 858 καὶ δὲν τὸ ἀποχτοῦσι PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §18.3 ἀφέντη μὲ γροικοῦσι DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 58 ἀρποῦσι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2345 νὰ περνοῦσι μὲ τὰ πράγματά τωνε (1686, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1999: 6, 51.5) γρινιοῦσι KORNAOS, Erot. I.1934; δειλιοῦσι ibid. V.40

Addition of final /n/ occurs before and throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

E-stems

ποιοῦσιν NIKON, Logos 9 312.36 καὶ ποῖοι ἀτυχοῦσιν Log. parig. L 111; μεριμνοῦσιν ibid. 731 ἔως ὅπου ζιοῦσιν Assizes B 381.3 χρωστοῦσιν Achil. L 1065; καταφιλοῦσιν ibid. 1070; λιγοθυμοῦσιν ibid. 1284 καὶ πιλαλοῦσιν τὰ φαριά Imb. Rim. 456; θωροῦσιν τὴν οἱ καλογρὲς ibid. 641 νὰ ποιοῦσιν μαλακίαν Diig. Alex. E 29.16 (Konstantinopolos) σκοποῦσιν Epain. gyn. 121 παρανόμως λειτουργοῦσιν ZYGOM., Synopsis 174.E.7 νά μὴν χρεωστοῦσιν (1599, Zakynthos, PLOUMIDIS 1995/98: 87.18) τὴν ὀνομαστικὴν ... εἰς -αδες περατοῦσιν οἱ νῦν Ἕλληνες KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 108.28 (from the O-stem verb περατῶ) ζιοῦσιν (1687, Naxos, SIFONIU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 714, 968.30) νά ἀκλουθοῦσιν (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 302.6)

A-stems

προσκολλοῦσιν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 108.15 γλυκέα τὸν χαίρετοῦσιν Chron. Mor. H 228 νά γεννοῦσιν Anak. Konst. 84 χαλοῦσιν κάστρα Velis. χ 58 παίζου, χαρμογελοῦσιν Imb. Rim. 85 γεροῦσιν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 567 νά τὰ κοπιοῦσιν (1517 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 3, 51.17) ἀγαποῦσιν MOREZINOS, Klini 66.22; ἀποκοτοῦσιν ibid. 79.28 κερδοῦσιν Dig. Alex. Sem. S 310 δὲν χαλοῦσιν Vios Aisop. D 225.39
 πολλὰ χαίρετοῦσιν (1656, Amorgos, TSELIKAS 1988/92: 3, 49.27–8)

The ending -οῦσινε, with added -(ν)ε, is attested in texts of south-western provenance (Crete, Heptanese) and in Dig. O (Chios), from the 16th/17th c. onwards. In literature, and especially in verse texts, it appears to have a broader geographical distribution than in non-literary texts. Its appearance in texts such as Ioakeim Kyprios's Pali may be due to literary influence from Cretan/Heptanesian texts. For details see I, 2.6.3.3.

ξυπνοῦσινε MOREZINOS, Klini 51.1; κινούσινε ibid. 66.10 καὶ πόσοι πεθυμοῦσινε CHORTATIS, Katz. Prol. 19; σιγανοπορπατοῦσινε id., Panor. I.423 γελοῦσινε Thysia Avr. 1028 νά μὴν ἀποκοτοῦσινε FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.80; γρικούσινε τὴ βράση ibid. III.205 προσκαλοῦσινε TROILOS, Rodol. Dedic. 4; κερνούσινε ibid. I.636; πηδούσινε ibid. I.702 μιλούσινε τοῦ νοδάρου (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 183.121) τὰ ζητοῦσινε (1639, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 6, 273.19) προσκυνούσινε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3733 and 4288; παρακαλοῦσινε ibid. 4365 νά τὰ μολογούσινε (1663, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 6, 416.19) πηδούσινε BOUNIALIS M., Kat. ofel. 313; πετούσινε ibid. 317 κτυποῦσινε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1524 κατοικοῦσινε KORNAROS, Erot. I.683; ἀναγαλλιοῦσινε ibid. I.2189; κονταροκτυπούσινε ibid. II.2066

Pl.	3	-ῶσι(ν)

The residual A-stem ending -ῶσι(ν), which had started to disappear gradually from Hellenistic times onwards (see 1.1.4), is occasionally used in LMedG and EMG texts, with and without final /n/, with both A- and E-stem verbs:

A-stems

νικῶσι καὶ τὸν Ἄδην GLYKAS, Stichoi 88 συναντῶσιν Dig. G I.216; κατατολμῶσι ibid. II.219; δαπανῶσι ibid. VIII.279 τιμῶσιν Ptoch. I 89

ὀρώσιν καὶ τὰ σκύβαλα Ptoch. IV 566 τὸ πρᾶγμα δειλιῶσιν Pol. Tr. 11793; τὸν Ἀθηνῶρ τιμῶσιν ibid. 13096 καὶ ἀγαπῶσι με πολλὰ Diig. tetr. 755 app. crit. (C) ὀρμῶσι [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 192; ἔρωτῶσι ibid. 2141 γελῶσιν Spanos D 114; ἡ ἀπαντῶσιν ἢ χαιρετῶσιν αὐτόν ibid. 118–19 νὰ τοὺς ἀγαπῶσι NEOFYTOS, Achouri 30

E-stems

ποιῶσιν ταῦτα οἱ Τατάριοι ὡς λέγουν (1256, Palatia (Miletos), NYSTAZOPOULOU 1966: 1, 289.15) ἀπ' αὐτοὺς ὅπου κάμνουσιν τὰ κλαπωτὰ καὶ ζῶσιν Ptoch. III 90 οἱ πάντες ἐπαινῶσιν Liv. α 1082 app. crit. (P) ποσῶς νὰ μὴν μπορῶσιν ERMON., Ilias 21.86 ἔπεθυμῶσιν νὰ ἔρχωνται (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 55.5) εὐθύς ζητῶσι τὴν βουλὴν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 82 καὶ ὅσα με καρτερῶσι (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 42, 72.8) κατοικῶσιν (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 214, 152.6) νὰ μὴν καταφρονῶσι NEOFYTOS, Achouri 29

Pl.	3	-έουσι(ν)

This rare uncontracted E-stem ending occurs in the Itinerary of Vasileios Vatatsis (18th c.). The form may have been created for metrical reasons, although it may also have been modelled on similar forms of barytone vowel-stem verbs, for which see 2.1.1.2 (cf. also -έουν, below): μαντζήδες τοὺς καλέουσιν VATATSIS, Periig. II 80.

Pl.	3	-οῦν ἰ -οῦ ἰ -οῦνε

The ending -οῦν first appeared with barytone verbs as the result of an analogy with the endings of the past tenses (see 4.1.1). First attestations of the ending -οῦν with oxytone (E-stem) verbs appear in the writings of Nikon of the Black Mountain (late 11th/early 12th c., preserved in an early 12th-c. ms), in 12th-c. documents from S. Italy and in Spaneas V (ms ca. 1200). First examples of this ending with A-stem verbs can be found from the 14th c. onwards.

The alternation between the inherited ending -οῦσι(ν) and the innovative ending -οῦν(ε) persists throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, and is certainly not restricted to verse texts; it is an intrinsic feature of the language, and certainly not an artificial metrical device (HINTERBERGER 2001, esp. 227–35). Both Sofianos and Germano give both alternatives: γελοῦσι καὶ γελοῦν SOFIANOS, Grammar 63.13; τιμοῦνε, vel τιμοῦσι GERMANO, Grammar 91.15, though Germano mentions that Chiot displays a marked preference for -οῦν(ε) over -οῦσι (ibid. 87.10–11). Some representative examples are: καὶ οὐδὲ αὐτοὶ συμφωνοῦν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 316.14–15; φιλονεικοῦν id., Logos 31 818.14; ὁμολογοῦν ibid. 820.16 ἄρκοῦν σε καὶ χορταίνουν σε Spaneas V 28

E-stems

οί μὲν φιλοῦν τὰς χεῖρας του Dig. G I.204; φθονοῦν ibid. IV.122 περπατοῦν Log. parig. L 731 κ' ἐξεζητοῦν Chron. Mor. H 278; νὰ τοῦ βοηθοῦν ibid. 1283 κρατοῦν Arm. 37; οὐκ ἤμποροῦν περάσαι ibid. 39 νὰ περπατοῦν, νὰ διακονοῦν Chron. Toc. 3207 νὰ ὑποδεχθοῦν τοὺς ἄρχοντας LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 655 νὰ τὸν θωροῦν Achil. L 26; προσκυνοῦν τον. ibid. 68 πολλὰ πεθυμοῦν ὅλοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.14; νὰ ζιοῦν ibid. 168.12 ὅσοι τὸ περικυκλοῦν (1528, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 75, 101.7–8) καὶ λαλοῦν φωνὴν ἀνθρωπίνην Diig. Alex. E 25.11 (Konstantinopulos) βουρβουρακιάζουν καὶ πονοῦν CHORTATIS, Katz. I.28; καὶ προσκαλοῦν ibid. III.315 μιλοῦν Bertoldos 15.4; πῶς σὲ ζητοῦν ἐσέναν ibid. 23.18 πιλαλοῦν τὰ φαρία τους PETRITSIS, Dig. O 247; παρηγοροῦν ibid. 893

A-stems

ὅτι ἀγαποῦν Chron. Mor. H 3687; κ' ἐρωτοῦν τους ibid. 6369; νὰ μὲ γελοῦν ibid. 8447 πλέον ἀγαποῦν τὸν πόλεμον Pol. Tr. 1593; ἐρωτοῦν τον ibid. 11466 συναπαντοῦν τον Liv. α 4357 πηδοῦν, καρβαλικεύουν Arm. 79 τοὺς ἄνδρας πρέπει νὰ περνοῦν Dig. E 1531 οἱ λᾶς ν' ἀγαποῦν τοὺς γειτόνους τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.15–16 καὶ ἀγαποῦν τον Velis. χ 203; χαλοῦν ibid. 277; ἐρωτοῦν ibid. 523 καὶ οἱ γονεῖς τὸν ἐρωτοῦν Achil. L 894 τιμοῦν τον καὶ ἀγαποῦσι τον Byz. Il. 641 βαστοῦν ψωμί SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 166 νικοῦν τους κατὰ κράτος LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 602 σὲ χαλνοῦν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.68 ὥρωτοῦν τον γιὰ τὸν χαζανᾶν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 73 κ' οἱ πέντε τους τιμοῦν τον PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1196 κολνοῦν (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 304, f.1v.13)

The deletion of final /n/, resulting in -οῦ, is a common morphophonological phenomenon in southern regions and the Aegean, and not restricted to verb endings. Early examples occur in texts from Sicily and Asia Minor (for details see I, 3.7.2.2):

νὰ μοῦ βοηθοῦ ὁ Θεὸς καὶ τὸ ἅγιον εὐαγγέλιον (1137, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 8, 628.23)
 ἀπὲ τὰ χέρια σου πέφτου καὶ κυλοῦ SULT. WALAD, Poem V 6 πετοῦ με Liv. V 1796; καταφιλοῦ με ibid. 2175 παρηγοροῦ οἱ ἄρχοντες Byz. Il. 119 οἱ ἄνωθεν ἀφέντες ζητοῦ σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 280.15 πολλὰ σὲ χαίρετοῦ (1501, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 5, 26.5); καταφιλοῦ (1502, ibid. 6, 29.7) νὰ το κυβερνοῦ (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 7, 127.8) νὰ μ' ἀγαπού, νὰ με τιμοῦ καὶ νὰ με προσκυνούσι CHORTATIS, Panor. I.280 προσκינוῦ τὴν πανιερότη σου (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.2) κτυποῦ μου GERMANO, Grammar 87.19
 πουλοῦ καὶ παραδίδουν (1667, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 37, 30.19–20)

An added /e/ to the ending -οῦν, resulting in -οῦνε, is first encountered in the 14th/15th c. (see I, 2.6.3.3 for details):

ἀκμήν τὰ ἔντερα ἡμῶν ποιοῦνε καὶ τὰς κόρδας Diig. tetr. 535 app. crit. (C) βοηθοῦνε Theseid I.96,8 (Follieri) νικοῦνε μας Alex. Rim. 940; νὰ χρωστοῦνε ibid. 2466; παιδιὰ γεγνοῦνε ibid. 2490 ζοῦνε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 238, 335.9) νὰ πουλοῦνε (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 60.25) παρακαλοῦνε σε πολλὰ CHORTATIS, Erof. IV.587; καὶ σκιὰς δὲ μὲ θωροῦνε id., Katz. Prol. 3 νὰ τοῦ βοηθοῦνε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 35.1; δὲ μὲ ἀγαποῦνε ibid. 37.34 μαρτυροῦνε (1617, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 16, 320.27) κτυποῦνε μου GERMANO, Grammar 87.21 ζοῦνε οἱ θυγατέρες (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 182.93) νὰ ματαμετροῦνε (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 53, 68.30); νὰ τὰ κυβερνοῦνε (1644, ibid. 297, 233.22) νὰ μὲ τραβοῦνε (1659, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 29, 52.3) νὰ ἡμποροῦνε (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 312.6) καὶ μποροῦνε νὰ μπαρκαριστοῦνε (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 508.62–3) (author from Mani) ἀκτίνες ὀργῆς σπιθοβολοῦνε Irodis I.40

Pl.	3	-έουν

This rare uncontracted E-stem ending has been found in a legal text from Cyprus with the verb ἐγκαλῶ (cf. 3 sg. in -έει). For similar forms of barytone vowel-stem verbs, on which this ending may be modelled, see 2.1.1.2: ἀπὲ τοῦτο τὸ σοῦ ἐγκαλέουν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 21.121–2).

Pl.	3	-ᾶν(ε)

The ending -ᾶν, very common in MG, especially in its extended form -άνε, is absent from LMedG texts, and very rare in EMG ones. Very few examples have been found, in 17th- and 18th-c. texts:²⁵ φυλᾶν τὰς ἐντολάς σου DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 1074; πολεμᾶνε ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 48.3.

Pl.	3	-ά(γ)ουν

Uncontracted A-stem endings, with or without anaptyxis of /y/ (see I, 3.5.2.1), are quite common for 2 sg. and 3 sg. (see above), but very rare for 3 pl.: ἐμολογάγουν (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 205, 124.13); λιμοκτονοῦνται σαν σκυλιά και πέφτουν και ψοφάουν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 1956.

²⁵ The following example is problematic: καὶ τὰ λαμπρὰ τῆς φύσεως νικᾶν τὴν δυστυχίαν Byz. Il. 616; according to the app. crit. the ms has a singular form νικᾷ, which would make this an example of Attic syntax; there are more cases of so-called Attic syntax in this text (e.g. τὰ ξένα, τὰ παράδοξα τὰ γέγονεν εἰς Τροίαν ibid. 13).

4.1.2.2 Passive Voice

		General		Restricted		Rare
Sg.	1	γρικοῦμαι	βαροῦμαι	γρικοῦμι γρικῶμαι	βαροῦμι βαρ(ε)ιόμαι/ βαρ(ε)ιῶμαι βαρ(ε)ιοῦμαι	γρικ(ε)ιόμαι/ γρικ(ε)ιῶμαι γρικᾶμαι	βαροῦμαιν βαρ(ε)ιόμαιν βαρᾶμαι
	2	γρικᾶσαι	βαρᾶσαι βαρεῖσαι		βαρ(ε)ιέσαι	γρικεῖσαι γρικ(ε)ιέσαι	βαροῦσαι
	3	γρικᾶται	βαρᾶται βαρεῖται	γρικᾶταιν γρικ(ε)(ι)έτι	βαρᾶταιν βαρ(ε)ιέται βαρ(ε)(ι)έτι	γρικεῖται γρικ(ε)ιέται	βαρίεται βαρέται βαριᾶται
Pl.	1	γρικούμεστε(ν) ἰ γρικούμεσθε(ν)	βαρούμεθα βαρούμεστε(ν) ἰ βαρούμεσθε(ν)	γρικούμεθεν βαρούμεσταν	βαρούμεθεν βαρούμεσταν	γρικώμεθα γρικώμεσθε(ν) γρικόμασταν γρικόμασθε γρικ(ε)ιού- μασθε γρικιομάστανε	βαρούμεθαν βαρώμεθα βαρούμεθε βαρόμεστε βαρούμεσθα ἰ βαρούμεστα βαρούμεσταν βαρούμεστανε βαρ(ε)ιού- μεσθα βαρούμενστε βαρούμενστα βαρούμασταν ἰ βαρούμασθεν
	2	γρικᾶστε ἰ γρικᾶσθε	βαρᾶστε ἰ βαρᾶσθε	γρικᾶσταν ἰ γρικᾶσθεν	βαρᾶσταν ἰ βαρᾶσθεν		βαράστανε
			βαρεῖσθε ἰ βαρεῖσθε	γρικ(ε)ιέστε ἰ γρικ(ε)ιέσθε γρικούστε γρικούσταν γρικούστανε	βαρ(ε)ιέστε ἰ βαρ(ε)ιέσθε βαροῦστε βαροῦσταν βαρούστανε		βαρ(ε)ιέσταν

	3	γρικοῦνται	βαροῦνται	γρικοῦνται γρικῶνται/ γρικόνται γρικ(ε)ιώνται/ γρικ(ε)ιόνται γρικ(ε)ιοῦνται	βαροῦνται βαρῶνται/ βαρόνται βαρ(ε)ιόνται βαρ(ε)ιοῦνται(ν)	γρικίωνται γρικιένται	βαρούνταιε βαρόται βαρ(ε)ιόνταιιν βαριόται (βαριένται)

Present subjunctive: For 1 sg., 1 pl. and 3 pl. of original E-stem verbs, the residual endings -ῶμαι, -ώμεθα and -ῶνται, which are identical to the corresponding residual endings of the present indicative and subjunctive of A-stem verbs, can sporadically be found. Other than that, all forms of the present subjunctive of both A- and E-stem verbs are identical to or homophonous with those of the present indicative. The only endings that are traditionally spelled differently from those of the present indicative are 2 sg., 3 sg. and 2 pl. of E-stem verbs. However, not all modern editors choose to make this graphematic distinction.

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	1		βαρῶμαι
	2	βαρῆσαι
	3	βαρῆται
Pl.	1			βαρώμεθα
	2	βαρῆσθε		βαρῆσθε
	3			βαρῶνται

Distribution of Allomorphs

1st Person Singular

Sg.	1	-οὔμαι(ν) † -(ε)ιοὔμαι

The inherited pres. ind. ending -οὔμαι of E-stem verbs, which had started to replace AG -ῶμαι with A-stem verbs from Hellenistic times onwards (see the introduction to Chapter 2), is used with all oxytone verbs throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods:

E-stems

ὅπως πληροφοροῦμαι ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.24; ἀκριβολογοῦμαι id., Logos 9 312.7–8 χρέος οὐδὲν φοβοῦμαι GLYKAS, Stichoi 546 βαροῦμαι το Ptoch. III 214 ἀφηγοῦμαι Chron. Mor. H 7955 πλὴν τοῦτο ἐπιφωνοῦμαι Liv. V 1294 νά ζωαρκοῦμαι (1497, Corfu, KARYDIS 1999b: 1, 305.24) νά λυποῦμαι FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 7 ἀθθυμοῦμαι τὸν βισκούντην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 78.27 καὶ δὲν τὸ ἐπαινοῦμαι ZINOS, Vatr. 80 πολοῦμαι GERMANO, Grammar 76.8 πῶς λυποῦμαι δι' αὐτά (1655, Moldavia, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 9, 78.18) τώρα λογοῦμαι βασιλῖος BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 577.25 θυμοῦμαι ΝΕΟΦΥΤΟΣ, Achouri 74 φοβοῦμαί σε Thrinios Kypr. 321 ἀν δὲν κακοενθυμούμαι Don Kis. 177.34

A-stems

ἐπακροοῦμαι ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 316.6 app. crit. (S) ἐγὼ οὐκ ἀπατοῦμαι Dig. G VI.50 οὔτε καυχοῦμαι το Chron. Mor. H 5508 μασοῦμαι κὰν ὀλίγον Ptoch. IV app. crit. (PK) κοιμοῦμαι μετὰ σένα Achil. N 1257 ταῦτα σοῦ κατηροῦμαι Porikol. I 149 ἄς κοιμοῦμαι Paroim. H 54 νά βρουχοῦμαι Alosis 1000 γελοῦμαι SOFIANOS, Grammar 68.22 νά μὴ φουκροῦμαι Thysia Avr. 209; κι ὕπνο γλυκύ κοιμοῦμαι ibid. 485 γελοῦμαι GERMANO, Grammar 76.15; τιμοῦμαι ibid. 93.5 καταροῦμαι λοιπὸν τὴν πατρίδαν σας Vios Aisop. I 283.1 γρικοῦμαι τόσον ἀχαμνὸς Bertoldin. 151.24 στὸ μαγερεῖο πετοῦμαι FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.35 ἐνόσω ἐγὼ κοιμούμαι Don Kis. 540.31–2

Addition of final /n/ occurs occasionally: καὶ πάλιν ἐφηγοῦμαι τῶν τὴν ἐρωτοπλασίαν Liv. E 833; καὶ νά σᾶς τ' ἀφηγοῦμαι ibid. 2774; ἀπιλογοῦμαι DELLAP., Epit. Thrinios 1290 app. crit.; καὶ ᾽δὰ τ' ἀναστορούμαι Apoll. Rim. N 593; καὶ τώρα το ἔθυμούμαι ibid. 594.

Forms with semivowel /j/ added after the stem consonant have been found with E-stem verbs in texts of southern provenance from at least the 16th c. onwards (ms date of Chron. Mor. T and Falieros) (for a discussion of this semivowel, see 2.1.2.2.4):

καὶ ᾽γὼ πολλὰ βαριοῦμαι Chron. Mor. T 845 βαριοῦμαι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 383 μὴδὲ βαριοῦμαι ἂν εἶμαι κολασμένος Cypr. Canz. 65.2 νά τον ᾽πικαλιούμαι Rim Apoll. N 1027 βαριοῦμαι P&N Diath. 244 περίσσα τη βαριούμαι CHORTATIS, Panor. III.249; νά κρατιοῦμαι id., Erof. II.248 transcr. X (Legrand) κρατιοῦμαι FOSKOLOS, Fort. Interm. I 20; βαριοῦμαι τσι ibid. III.88 βαριοῦμαι KORNAROS, Erot. I.1174, II.908 and V.1000 βαριοῦμαι σε σὰν τὴν ζώην μου Irodis III.307–8 καὶ τυραννιοῦμαι ἀλύπητα KATSAITIS, Thyest. I.120 ἄν φιλειοῦμαι SPANOS, Grammar 41.1

Forms in -μι are phonetic rather than morphological variants of -μαι (for mid-vowel raising see I, 2.5.4): δὲν τ' ἄρνοῦμι (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17α, f.45v.20); δὲν κοιμοῦμι (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 49.16).

Sg.	1	-ῶμαι ἢ -(ε)ιόμαι(ν) ἢ -(ε)ιῶμαι(ν)

The residual A-stem ending -ῶμαι, which had been replaced by -οῦμαι long before the LMedG period, is used occasionally throughout the LMedG and EMG periods with both A- and E-stem verbs:

A-stems

προτιμῶμαι GLYKAS, Stichoí 551; ὀρῶμαι ibid. 557 ἐγὼ οὐ καυχῶμαι Chron. Mor. H 6185 καὶ οὐ καυχῶμαι Diig. tetr. 540 ὅσα ἂν ἔχω καὶ κτῶμαι (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 42, 72.8) ἀν δὲν ἀπατῶμαι RODINOS, Martyr. Neof. 323.20–1 ἐγὼ οὐδὲν πλανῶμαι Dig. A 2890
 ἐγὼ οὐκ ἀπατῶμαι Dig. T 1930 καταρῶμαι Vios Aisop. K 206.9

E-stems

τίθημι καὶ ποιῶμαι (1172, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 179, 234.11) κρατῶμαι KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 349.19 ἂν καλὰ θυμῶμαι (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 90, 94.6); ἀκόμη θυμῶμαι (1641, ibid. 229, 169.25)
 ἂν φιλῶμαι SPANOS, Grammar 41.1

In texts from the 14th c. onwards, the ending /'ome/ preceded by a semivowel /j/ can occasionally be found. The etymologizing spelling with <ω> in manuscripts and modern editions disguises the fact that this is in fact an innovative ending borrowed from the barytone paradigm (see 2.1.2.2.4 for a discussion):

κ' ἐγὼ πολλὰ βαρειόμαι Chron. Mor. H 845; βαρειῶμαι ibid. 1093, 5807, 7034 and 7803 βαριῶμαι Ptoch. III 214 app. crit. (K) στὸν κόσμον τυραγνιῶμαι Love poems V 481 ἀπὸ τί γενεὰ κρατιῶμαι Ptochol. A 237 εὐχαριστιῶμαι Bertoldin. 150.1
 γελιῶμαι Don Kis. 49.16

Addition of final /n/ is very rare: βαριόμιν νὰ τὰ γράφω Chron. Mor. P 8450 app. crit. (βαριόμεν in the ms, but clearly to be read with synizesis; see II, 1.5 for a discussion).

Sg.	1	-ᾶμαι

This ending, the most common SMG ending for the four deponent verbs θυμάμαι, κοιμάμαι, λυπάμαι, φοβάμαι, is absent from LMedG texts, and very rare in EMG ones. It has been found in the Chronicle of Galaxeidi (early 18th c., Central Greece): διηγᾶμαι EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 48.1; ἀφηγᾶμαι ibid. 59.16.

SMG -ιέμαι has not been found in the texts examined and is therefore likely to have come into being after the period covered by this Grammar, by analogy with 2 sg. -ιέσαι and 3 sg. -ιέται, for which see below.

2nd Person Singular

Sg.	2	-ᾶσαι

The inherited Koine A-stem ending -ᾶσαι is used throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods with both A- and E-stem verbs:

A-stems

νὰ τὸ καυχᾶσαι Dig. E 518; ἀμέριμνα κοιμᾶσαι ibid. 847 τιμᾶσαι Pol. Tr. 8609 κοιμᾶσαι, Λίβιστρε; Liv. α 1401 σκανθάρους μασᾶσαι Poulol. 118 app. crit. (CP) πολλὰ καυχᾶσαι Achil. N 967 αφικράσαι Apoll. Rim. V 491; ν' αγρικάσαι ibid. 499 γελᾶσαι SOFIANOS, Grammar 68.22 ἐγροικᾶσαι Alex. Rim. 1131 νὰ κρεμνᾶσαι Diig. Alex. F 142.14 (Konstantinopulos) ν' ἀφουκρᾶσαι KORNAROS, Erot. III.986 γελᾶσαι GERMANO, Grammar 76.15; τιμᾶσαι ibid. 93.5 Σίμων, κοιμᾶσαι; KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 14.37 θέλεις τιμᾶσαι Bertoldos 62.6; κυβερνᾶσαι ibid. 64.10 ξέρε το πὼς γελᾶσαι KON DAR., Paidēs 684 τί συχνοκαταρᾶσαι NEOFYTOS, Achouri 115

E-stems

ὥς λυπᾶσαι GLYKAS, Stichoi 395 πὼς διοικᾶσαι SULT. WALAD, Poem I 1 πείναν οὐδὲν φοβᾶσαι Ptoch. III 273.16 app. crit. (K) νὰ μνημονᾶσαι Spaneas Z 254 (ed. νὰ μνημονᾶ σε) οὐκ ἐνθυμᾶσαι Dig. E 236 μὴ φοβᾶσαι Pol. Tr. 560; λυπᾶσαι ibid. 779 app. crit. (EV) θέλεις νὰ βοηθᾶσαι Poulol. 67 (mss CPV) ἀρνᾶσαι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 134; μοιρολογᾶσαι το ibid. 591; παραπονᾶσαι id., Thrinós 191 ὅτι τοὺς ἐλεημονᾶσαι Diig. Alex. V 39.27 θυμᾶσ', ἀφέντρα καὶ κυρά Theseid Prol. E 23 φοβᾶσαι Cypr. Canz. 30.8; ξηγᾶσαι ibid. 75.9; θλιβᾶσαι ibid. 75.11 καὶ νὰ θυμᾶσαι (1526, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 114, 208.18) νὰ θυμᾶσαι Vios Aisop. K 194.28; νὰ σωφρονᾶσαι ibid. 194.30 καὶ ἐσὺ λυπᾶσαι KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 16.25 θεὲ λογᾶσαι VEST., Prol. Theot. 103; εὐφημᾶσαι id., Paid. Makkav. 1431; ὕμνολογᾶσαι ibid.

 1432
 νὰ μὴν ἀπατάσαι ἀπὸ τὰ ψευδολογήματα (1692, Bucharest, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 4, 50.12– 13)

Sg.	2	-εῖσαι/-ῆσαι

The inherited Late Antique E-stem ending -εῖσαι is used throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods with E-stem verbs, but very rarely with A-stem verbs:

E-stems

φοβεῖσαι GLYKAS, Stichoi 152; στενοχωρεῖσαι ibid. 154; περιστατεῖσαι ibid. 297 πείναν οὐδὲν φοβεῖσαι Ptoch. III 273.16 app. crit. (P) λυπεῖσαι Pol. Tr. 779 app. crit. (A) τιμωρεῖσαι Liv. α 466 app. crit. (P) ἀφηγεῖσαι Liv. V 3179; ἀρνεῖσαι τὸν τὸν Ἑρωταν ibid. 3711 οὐ φοβεῖσαι τὸν Θεόν (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 97.3d) καὶ προσκυνεῖσαι Velth. 144; ἀρνεῖσαι συγγενεῖς ibid. 148 τί παραιτεῖσαι [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1121 καὶ μὴν χολομανῆσαι FALIEROS, Log. did. 68 μὴν λυπεῖσαι KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 346.29; δὲν φοβεῖσαι τὸν Θεόν; ibid. 383.39 πάντοτε νὰ παινηῆσαι Fyll. gadar. 387B μὴν λυπεῖσαι τόσον MOREZINOS, Klini 4719–20 καὶ μὴ φοβῆσαι, φίλε πόντικα Vios Aisop. K 204.6–7 καὶ μὴν λυπεῖσαι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 281; ημᾶς νὰ ενθθυμεῖσαι ibid. 282 δὲν ευχαριστεῖσαι Don Kis. 106.31

A-stems

τιμεῖσαι Pol. Tr. 8609 app. crit. (A)

Sg.	2	-(ε)ιέσαι

This innovative ending, the most common SMG ending for oxytone A-stem verbs, exists from at least the 14th c. onwards (the date of ms H of Chron. Mor. is 1375). In the EMG period this ending is used almost exclusively with E-stem verbs (for details and discussion, see 2.1.2.2.4):

E-stems

νὰ βαρεῖσαι Chron. Mor. H 203, 482, 584, 1092 and 2524; καὶ τί τὰ ἀγωνιέσαι ibid. 2505 γαμιέσαι SACHLIKIS, Katalogi 15, 25 and 37 βαριέσαι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 315 and 547; ὅτι ὁ καιρὸς χαρίσει θεὸς κί ἐσένα ν' ἀναπιέσαι ibid. 316; κιᾶ δὲ βαριέσαι, κύρ Σαδόκ id., Thrinós 331 κάλλιος κρατιέσαι νά 'σαι; Apoll. Rim. A 492 ίτις νά βασανιέσαι Apoll. Rim. V 401; νά διακονιέσαι ibid. 402 κρατειέσαι SOFIANOS, Grammar 66.6 μὲν βαριέσαι νά σωπάνης Cypr. Canz. 98.30 ἀπὸ τί γενεὰ κρατιέσαι Ptochol. A 209 βαριέσαι τὰ κοπέλια Thysia Avr. 511 νά τσί βαριέσαι Pist. voskos I 3.176; κρατιέσαι κακομοίρης ibid. V 6.135 πουλειέσαι GERMANO, Grammar 76.8 and 93.23 νά κρατιέσαι Bertoldin. 118.30 ἐτζι συγχωριέσαι PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §3.20–1 καὶ δὲν ψηλοκρατιέσαι Dimotika Ivir. X.3

νά παραπονιέσαι Don Kis. 47.16

A-stems

ἐγγυέσαι GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. pieggiare γέλειέσαι SPANOS, Grammar 41.20

The ending -ιέσαι can become -έσαι through post-consonantal /j/ deletion (for details see I, 2.4.7.3): ἄν ἐσοῦ μόνος σου δὲ κρατέσαι κρυφός Fior Suppl. 277.1–2.

In the following example the absence of  or <ei> is likely to be graphematic, as /n/ is likely to have been palatalized before /e/ (see I, 3.8.2.3; for the same phenomenon in modern dialects, see KONDOSOPOULOS ³2001: 97): δὲν συγχωρνέσαι PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §3.20.

Sg.	2	-οῦσαι

This is a rare and perhaps dubious ending, found in two “conversation books”. The first example could be viewed as an analogy on the basis of AG O-stem inflection (TZITZILIS 1999: 90), but the same cannot be said for the second (E-stem) example, taken from a text that is actually a method for learning Arabic, the Greek consisting of literal word-for-word translations, or glosses, rather than “real” Greek:²⁶ τί ἀνανοῦσαι; (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 2374) (= ἀνανοεῖσαι < ἀνανοοῦμαι); μηδὲν ἀκριβοθωρετοῦσαι ἀφ' ἡμῶν (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 147.2d).

3rd Person Singular

Sg.	3	-ᾶται -ιᾶται -ᾷται

The inherited A-stem ending -ᾶται continues to be used throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods, with both A-stem and E-stem verbs:

²⁶ According to MINAS 1987a: 23, for barytone verbs, this ending can be found in the dialect of Farasa, Cappadocia.

A-stems

ὅτι τρυπᾶται ἡ πέτρα Liv. E 1646 καὶ πάντα δαπανᾶται Achil. L 710 νὰ γρικᾶται (1481, Rhodes?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 2, 206.41) οὐδὲν κοιμᾶται SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 380 φυρᾶται Cypr. Canz. 24.8; δὲν μοῦ ξηκολλᾶται ibid. 24.13 ἀναχασμᾶται Krasop. AO 3 νικᾶται Diig. Alex. F 92.4 (Lolos) καὶ νὰ γροικᾶται καὶ τῶν δυὸ μας (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 272, 268.15) πᾶσα ἕνας ἀγαπᾶται ἀπὸ τὰ ἔργα του MOREZINOS, Klini 49.35 νὰ γρικᾶται πρώτη, δεύτερη καὶ τρίτα στίμα (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 211, 216.9) γεννᾶται Bertoldin. 91.7
μετ' αὐτοὺς καυχᾶται PAPASYNAD., Chron. Proem §1.17 νὰ ἀγροικᾶται (1660, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 2, 115.14) δὲν χαλνᾶται NEOFYTOS, Achouri 310 καὶ ὅ,τι ἄλλο γροικᾶται ἀπὸ δικόν της (1697, Naxos, TOURTOGLOU 1998/2000: 1, 117.16)

E-stems

ἐξηγᾶται NIKON, Logos 4 212.1 and id., Logos 9 316.4 ἀπολογᾶται (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 19.85 and 23.155–6) νὰ τοὺς λυπᾶται Chron. Mor. H 1160; οἰκονομᾶται νὰ ἔλθῃ ibid. 3213 τὸ παιδὶν ἀνανογᾶται Arm. 68 (< ἀνανοῶ); νὰ τὸν ἐλεημονᾶται ibid. 172 διηγᾶται SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 200; νὰ μὴ λυπᾶται ibid. 310 ποττὲ μαντατοφόρος δὲν κατηγορᾶται MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 472.25–6 ὁποῦ λογᾶται ἡ γῆ ἐκείνη Ὅσφητίδα Diig. Alex. E 159.18–19 (Konstantinopulos) ζωοτροφᾶται (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 82, 272.19) εὐχαριστᾶται (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 194, 118.12) νὰ ἀπιλογᾶται (1597, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 41, 188.15) ἂν καλὰ καὶ νὰ μὴν κινᾶται Bertoldin. 105.29 ὁποῦ μᾶς διηγᾶται PAPASYNAD., Chron. Proem §1.17 νὰ σὲ θυμᾶται MONTSEL., Evgena 1295 θρηνᾶται PETRITSIS, Dig. O 891; παραπονᾶται ibid. 892 εὐχαριστᾶται (1693, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969e: 65.8)

Forms with /j/ inserted after the stem consonant are very rare, and are most likely the result of a conflation of inherited (A-stem) -ᾶται and innovative (E-stem) -ιέται (see below), rather than a “real” morphophonological variant. The fact that they have been found with two E-stem verbs illustrates the pressure that the E-stem paradigm was under from both the A-stem and the barytone paradigms (for a discussion, see 2.1.2): νὰ τὸ συχνοασχολιᾶται Liv. S 153 (Lambert-van der Kolf); μοιρολογιᾶται Achil. N 1851.

Addition of final /n/ can sporadically be found in Cycladic texts: νὰ τῆς θυμᾶταιν (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 37, 187.24).

Sg.	3	-εῖται /-ῖται

The inherited E-stem ending -εῖται continues to be used throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods with E-stem verbs, but is rather rare with A-stem verbs:

E-stems

ἐξηγεῖται ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31 814.29 ἀπολογεῖται (ca. 1300, Cyprus, ΣΙΜΟΝ 1973: 45.112 and 49.18) πωλεῖται τὸ τυρὶν Ptoch. IV 122 app. crit. (C); πουλεῖται τὸ τυρὶν ibid. 122 app. crit. (H) νὰ τὸ συχνοασχολῆται Liv. V 1130 παραπονεῖται Pol. Tr. 9334; νὰ τὰ ἀφηγῆται ibid. 12712 νὰ μὴ κρυβῆται Byz. Il. 328 (< κρυβοῦμαι) τινὰ νὰ μὴ φοβῆται Achil. N 274; κανεῖς νὰ μὴ ἀδικῆται ibid. 733 ὅλους ἐλεημονεῖται Om. Nekt. Vas. 122 δὲν ἐναντιεῖται ΣΟΦΙΑΝΟΣ, Paidag. 115.2 (< O-stem, see 4.2.1) λυπεῖται Diig. Alex. Sem. B 48 μιμεῖται Bertoldos 79.2
 εἶναι ἄξιος νὰ εὐφημῆται ΛΑΝΔΟΣ, Geopon. 127.6 ἐναντιεῖται τὸν πατέρα ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. I §11.16; πολλὰ καλὰ ὑστερεῖται ibid. II §9.19 κρατεῖται Zinon IV.253 διηγεῖται Don Kis. 96.1

A-stems

ἐγγυεῖται τὸν ὁ Πόθος Liv. α 473 κοιμεῖται ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 222 (rhymes with μιμεῖται)

Sg.	3	-(ε)ιέται -ιέται -έται -(ε)(ι) έτι

This innovative ending, the most common SMG ending for oxytone A-stem verbs, exists from at least the 14th c. onwards (the date of ms S of Ptoch. IV is 1364). For details and discussion, see 2.1.2.2.4. In the period covered by this Grammar the ending is much more common with E-stem verbs than with A-stem verbs, with which it does not start to appear until the 16th c. The first EMG grammar to give this ending for the A-stem paradigm is that of Kanellos Spanos (1749).

E-stems

πωλεῖται τὸ τυρὶν Ptoch. IV 122 πρέπει νὰ τὸ βαρεῖται Chron. Mor. H 5801; πουλεῖται τὸ κρασί ibid. 8290 νὰ κρατιέται Pol. Tr. 8992 διαλαλιέται Assizes B 481.15 καὶ ἔμορφα νὰ ὀρχιεῖται Achil. L 274 δὲν πρέπει νὰ βαριέται ΦΑΛΙΕΡΟΣ, Ist. On. 143 νὰ ἀποκρατιέται τὸ παιδί μου (1518, Crete, ΚΑΚΛΑΜΑΝΙΣ/ΛΑΜΒΑΚΙΣ 2003: 53, 101.30) κουνιέται Epain. gyn. 696 βαριέται τὸ σκοτίδι ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. I.1539 νὰ μὴν πατιέται ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 1591; νὰ καταφρονιέται ibid. 1592 εὐχαριστιέται (1637, Ithaca, ΖΑΡΑΝΔΙ 2002b: 85, 90.27) ἔτζι τὸν ἀπαρνιέται ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. III §29.33 νὰ τουραγνιέται ΜΟΝΤΣΕΛ., Evgena 953 (< τυραννῶ) νὰ καταπατιέται (1647, Patras, ΤΣΕΛΙΚΑΣ 1986a: 1, 668.2) καὶ νὰ παρακουνιέται ΒΟΥΝΙΑΛΙΣ Μ., Diig. Pol. 333.15

A-stems

τὸ πρᾶγμα ὅπου ἀγαπιέται Theseid IV.55,2 ms P γιὰ ν' ἀπαντιέται Alex. Rim. 1070; ἀρχίζει καὶ βρουχίεται ibid. 1984 and Diig. Alex. K 376.31 μαδιέται Epain. gyn. 697; πολλὰ πηδιέται ibid. 698 ἐγροικιέται KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 355.4 πετιέται ὁ Κουστουλιέρης CHORTATSI, Katz. V.475 νὰ ἀγαπιέται μὲ ὅλους τοὺς ἀνθρώπους (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.23) μιὰ φορὰ γελειέται ἡ γραῖα Paroim. (Warner) 53.27 τὸ χωράφι ἀγροικιέται προικιό της (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 22, 44.9) γεννιέται PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §12.19 and III §12.20 νὰ κυβερνιέται (1644, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 297, 234.31) νὰ ἀγροικιέται τοῦ ἄνωθεν Μοναστηρίου (1664, Kea, VISVIZIS 1949: 9, 66.8–67.1) νὰ ἀγρικιέται (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999a: 1, 277.19–20) θέλει νὰ χαλάσει ἡ Ἀθήνα καὶ ὅσο πάει χαλιέται (1677, Athens, LAMBROS 1910: 302, 198.3) νὰ γροικιέται ἴδιος καὶ καθολικὸς νοικοκύρης (1692, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 35, 61.6–7)

Forms with the accent on the antepenultimate are most probably graphematic, as they are usually meant to be read with synizesis, as paroxytone, which becomes obvious when the form appears at the end of the political verse (Theseid). Only rarely do the forms need to be read as proparoxytone (Pol. Tr., before the caesura). A few examples have also been found in prose texts (in ZYGOM., Stef. Ichn. and Bertoldos) (for a discussion of this spelling practice, see II, 1.5):

καὶ εἰς αὐτὸν κρατίεται Pol. Tr. 9067 κρατίεται Liv. V 1228 and 1447 τὸ πρᾶγμα π' ἀγαπιέται Theseid IV.55,2 (1529) τοῦτο πουλιέται ἓνα φλωρί ZYGOM., Stef. Ichn. 253.10 πουλιέται Bertoldos 3.24; καὶ δὲν φτερνιέται ibid. 78.11

The ending -ιέται can become -έται through deletion of /j/ or depalatalization (see I, 2.4.7.3–4): δὲν θωρέται Cypr. Canz. 56.7; νὰ θωρέται ὁ ἥλιος ibid. 110.38; κρατέται Fior 143.26; ὅποιος παραφηκρέται PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §7.46.

In the following examples, the omission of <ι> is probably graphematic, since /g/, /k/, and regionally /l/ and /n/, will have been palatalized before /e/ (see I, 2.4.7.3 for details):

παραπονέται Pol. Tr. 9334 app. crit. (C) νὰ διαλαλέται Assizes A 63.23 νὰ πουλέται MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 54.14 γελέται Diig. Alex. K 376.17 καὶ πουλέται στὸ παζάρι Ptochol. A 143 app. crit. (Z) (cf. κρατίεται ibid. 201) νὰ ἀγροικέται (1655, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 2, 188.26) δὲν ἀρνέται (1666, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B 4, f.158v.21) κι ὁ Τοῦρκος νὰ μουγκέται BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 281.8 (Xirouchakis) γροικέται (1699, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: XIX, 79.13) ἀγροικέται (1707, Dimitsana/Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 202, 333.5) νὰ γρικέται ἀνάμεσά μας (1731, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1972: 18, 287.13)

The following examples involving /p/ cannot be explained along the same lines; they are either lexical, or simple errors: ἀναπέται Pol. Tr. 8684 app. crit. (A); ἀναπέται FALIEROS, Thrinos 40 (cf. also ἀναπέσαι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 104); ἐπῆρε τον ὁ ὕπνος καὶ ἀναπέται Theseid V.26,6 ms P (κοιμάται in the ed. of 1529) (oxytone variant forms of ἀναπεύω, see 2.1.3.1).

With /i/ for /e/ in the last syllable, the form is a phonological variant (raising of /e/ to [i], see I, 2.5.4): <ό>μολογία νά μήν χαλνέτι (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 25, f.52r.4); ἔτσι πουλέτι (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.3); σὰν εἶνι καλὸ πρᾶμα πουλέτι (1697, ibid. 2, 52.22).

1st Person Plural

Pl.	1	-ούμεθα(ν)

The inherited E-stem ending -ούμεθα is quite rare in texts belonging to the vernacular register. It is rather more frequent in texts that aim at a higher register, such as monastic acts and the register of the Patriarchate, and there are a few instances in later mixed-register texts that tend to borrow certain features from a higher register, such as Sofianos's Tre tiranni, Damaskinos Stouditis's Thisavros, Digenis G and Ioakeim Kyprios, Pali. Nevertheless, since no alternative endings have been found before the 14th c., -ούμεθα will have been the ending for 1 pl. at the beginning of the LMedG period (cf. -όμεθα for barytone verbs, 4.1.1.2). However, no examples with A-stem verbs have been found (cf. the identical ending for the imperfect, 4.3.2.2).²⁷ αἰτούμεθα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 42.32; ἡγούμεθα ibid. 44.28

φοβούμεθα Chron. Toc. 2985 and 2989 παραδιδούμεθά σου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 440.36;²⁸ φοβούμεθα ibid. 526.29

φοβούμεθα SOFIANOS, Tre tiranni 63

εὐεργετούμεθα Pist. kekoim. 382

συνγνώμην ... αἰτούμεθα τοῖς πάσι ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 4211; ὅλα τα παραιτούμεθα ibid.

4762; ἀρχὴν ποιοούμεθα ibid. 4764; εὐλαβούμεθα ibid. 5204; καὶ νὰ ἐπικαλούμεθα ibid. 5479

Addition of final /n/ (see I, 3.7.2.1), resulting in -ούμεθαν, is rare too; only a few instances have been found in Machairas (Cyprus): πολλὰ τὸ λυπούμεθαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V. 330.13 and 372.9–10; παραδιδούμεθαν ibid. 380.27; ἐξηγούμεθαν ibid. 538.23.

Pl.	1	-ώμεθα

The residual A-stem ending -ώμεθα is absent from the vernacular register. It is rather more frequent in texts that belong to a higher register, such as monastic acts and the register of the Patriarchate (with both A-stems and E-stems), and there are a few instances in mixed-register texts that tend to borrow certain features from a higher register:

²⁷ Upon closer examination, this ending sometimes proves to be a “phantom”, as in: πολέμους οὐ φοβούμεθα Dig. E 193 (πολέμους ἐμεῖς οὐκ ἐφοβήθημαν app. crit.); θυμούμεθά τον Chron. Toc. 1348 (θυμούμεθε τον app. crit.).

²⁸ In Cypriot Greek certain verbs have both barytone and oxytone variants, such as for instance δίδω > διδῶ (see 2.1.3.1).

A-stems

ἐγγυώμεθα Dig. T 2298 (app. crit.)

E-stems

ποιώμεθα (1067, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 27, 206.4)

Pl.	1	-ούμεθε(ν)

The ending -ούμεθε(ν), rather more common with barytone verbs and especially with εἶμαι (see 4.1.1.2 and 4.8.1), is considered to derive from -ούμεθα; the final /a/ changed to /e/ to match the 2 pl. and 3 pl. endings in the paradigm, while final /n/ was added by analogy with 1 pl. active -μεν (MEYER 1889: 1 97 regarding the similar ending -μεσθεν): ἡ τόσα τοὺς φοβούμεθεν Pol. Tr. 4945; καὶ πλανούμεθεν ERMON., Ilias 13.245; γυναικῶν φύσιν ἔχομεν, φοβούμεθεν τὰ ξύλα [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 119. Evidence for this ending without final /n/ is scarce: θυμούμεθε τον Chron. Toc. 1348 app. crit.

Pl.	1	-ούμεσθε(ν) † -ούμεστε(ν) † -ώμεσθε(ν) † -όμεστε(ν)

The ending -ούμεσθε(ν) is held to have been formed from -ούμεθα, with a change from /a/ to /e/ by analogy with 2 pl. and 3 pl., which also end in /e/ (MEYER 1889: 197), although vowel assimilation may also have played a role (MINAS 1987a: 25). The added /s/ is usually explained as being analogical from 2 pl., while final /n/ was added by analogy with 1 pl. active -μεν (MEYER 1889: 197). Its variant -ούμεστε(ν) is the result of manner dissimilation of fricatives after sibilants (see I, 3.8.1). These endings are found with and without final /n/ with E-stem verbs from at least the 15th c. (though earlier with εἶμαι, see 4.8.1) in texts from various regions. They are less common for A-stem verbs:

E-stems

τὴν χαρὰν ἡγούμεσθέ την Liv. V 3861 φοβούμεστε (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 79.16)

μ' ἄν ἔναι νὰ φοβούμεστε FALIEROS, Ist. On. 529 φοβούμεσθε Theseid I.27,8 (Follieri) φοβούμεσθε ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 131.3

φοβούμεσθε τον ὄχλον KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 21.26 παρακαλούμεστε (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 307.1)

πολλὰ λυπούμεστέ σε VEST., Paid. Makkav. 654

ὡς καθὼς το φοβούμεσθε Don Kis. 124.7

ποτέ νὰ μὲν φοβούμεσθεν Achil. L 169

διηγούμεσθεν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 369.41

να φοβούμεσθεν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 33.5; να ευχαριστούμεσθεν ibid. 53.10 φοβούμεσθεν MOREZINOS, Klini 137.20 app. crit. (K); να μὴν ἀρνούμεσθεν ibid. 171.13 (ms Ξ) να διηγούμεσθεν [VLASTOS], Dig. P V 365.3

να διηγούμεσθεν PAPASYNAD., Chron. Proem. 7 διὰ νὰ βοηθούμεσθεν LANDOS, Geopon. 130.19; ἐπιμελούμεσθεν ibid. 254.22 συλλογούμεσθεν VEST., Pathi 135; ἀρνούμεσθεν id., Paid. Makkav. 1015 δὲν τὸ ἀρνούμεσταν PROSOPSAS, Peri Tyflou 737; νὰ διηγούμεσταν ibid. 881 νὰ ἐξομολογούμεσταν Diig. Sant. 61.28 μόνον αὐτὸ λυπούμεσταν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 9637

A-stems

γελοῦμεσθεν SOFIANOS, Grammar 68.22; νὰ γελοῦμεσθεν ibid. 70.17 ἀντάμα ἐκοιμούμεσθεν Dig. A 603 τιμούμεσταν GERMANO, Grammar 93.6
 ἐκοιμούμεσθεν [VLASTOS], Dig. P VI 369.35

This ending with /o/ for /u/ is quite rare and is possibly influenced by barytone verbs, since barytone verbs can also have both -όμεστε and -ούμεστε (see 4.1.1.2); generally there is much variation in the deployment of [o] or [u] as a thematic vowel. The “etymologizing” spelling with <ω> is entirely graphematic:

E-stems

θυμόμεστε (post 1524–ante 1640, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1993: 62, 526.f175b.iv.3)

A-stems

ἐὰν γελώμεσθεν SOFIANOS, Grammar 70.10 ὅταν κοιμώμεσταν DAM. SToud., This., Logos 5, ε1r.14 (1561) μηδὲν πλανώμεσθ', ἀδελφοί Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1404

Pl.	1	-ούμεστα(ν) † -ούμεστανε † -ούμεσθα(ν) † -ουμέστα(ν)

The ending -ούμεστα(ν) and its more formal variant -ούμεσθα(ν) are not attested very frequently with oxytone verbs. This ending occurs in texts of southern provenance (Cyprus, Crete, the Heptanese) from the 15th/16th c. onwards with E-stem verbs only (for a discussion see 4.1.1.2; for its use with εἶμαι see 4.8.1):

φοβούμεσταν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 434.14 χαλούμεσταν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 314.29–30 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) παραδιδούμεσταν MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 290.29 λυπούμεσταν MOREZINOS, Klini 137.20; νὰ μὴν ἀρνούμεσταν ibid. 171.13 app. crit. (K)

The loss of final /n/ with this ending does not appear to be very common: κρατούμεσθα SOFIANOS, Grammar 66.6; ὅλοι φοβούμεστά σε GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 208.

With /j/ inserted after the stem consonant it occurs in a 17th-c. text written in Santorini (for this phenomenon, see 2.1.2.2.4): νὰ κρατειούμεσθα RICHARD, Targa pisteos I 251.5.

Addition of -(ν)ε occurs in Morezinos (Crete) (see also I, 2.6.3.3): φοβούμεστανε MOREZINOS, Klini 137.20 (reading of ms Ξ).

Surprisingly, a single instance of the same ending with perhaps a shift of the stress to the penultimate is found in a 12th-c. document from S. Italy, with the O-stem verb ζημιῶ: ἵνα μὴ ζημιούμεσταν (1114, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 19, 223.19).²⁹ ²⁹ The editor prints ζημιούμεσταν; however, CARACAUSI, Lex.: ζημιούμεσταν; and MINAS ²2003: 119 ζημιούμεσταν and elsewhere ζημιούμεσταν ibid. 120.

Pl.	1	-ούμενστέ

With a single occurrence in version A of Anthos ton Chariton (16th c.; provenance unknown), this ending looks like a conflation of the active and passive endings -μεν and -μεστε, but is probably due to the use of a combination of ligatures (cf. the ending '-ομένστα, 4.1.1.2): ημείς ουδέν ενθυμούμενστέ να θρηνούμεν Anthos Ch. A 49.15.

Pl.	1	-ούμενστα

This ending, also found a number of times with the present and the imperfect of barytone verbs (see 4.1.1.2 and 4.3.1.2) in documents by the Cretan notary Maras, appears to be a conflation of the active and passive endings -μεν and -μεστα, but just like the previous ending it probably represents a graphematic idiosyncrasy and not an authentic ending (for a discussion see '-ομένστα in 4.1.1.2): νά σοῦ ἀπιλογούμενστα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 314, 313.16).

Pl.	1	-όμαστέ(ν) † -ούμαστέν † -όμασθε(ν) † -(ι)ούμασθε(ν) † -ιομάστενε

The ending -όμαστέ(ν) and its more formal variant -όμασθε(ν), which in the forms -ιόμαστέ (A-stems), -ούμαστέ (E-stems and deponent verbs) and -όμαστέ (deponent verbs) eventually became the SMG endings, is found from the 16th c. onwards. The ending is possibly the result of an analogy with the barytone paradigm, in which it is rather more common (see 4.1.1.2 for discussion).

A-stems

και να μη καυχόμασθε Vios Filaret. 239.6 βρυχόμαστέν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 914

E-stems

ἡμεῖς τοὺς ἀκούομεν καὶ φοβούμαστέν (17th c., Athos, MEYER 1894: XVI, 220.10) ενθυμούμασθέν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 4355 and 9630 φοβούμαστε ΚΑΤΣΑΙΤΙΣ, Ifig. II.341
[φιλού]μασθε ΣΠΑΝΟΣ, Grammar 40.15

The form with insertion of /j/ after the stem consonant has not been found before the late 17th c. (for this phenomenon, see 2.1.2.2.4): γροικιούμασθε (1697, Mani, PETRIDIS 1870: 431.5).

With addition of -(ν)ε and a shift of the stress to the antepenultimate it has been found in a 17th-c. document from Corfu (for -(ν)ε, see I, 2.6.3.3): νά μὴν ἀγρικιομάστενε (1693, Corfu, TSITSAS 1978/79: [2], 207.80).³⁰

³⁰ For such forms in the modern dialect of Corfu see AVLONITI 2006: 35–6.

2nd Person Plural

Pl.	2	-ᾶσθε(ν) † -ᾶστε(ν) † -ᾶστενε

The inherited 2 pl.³¹ ending -ᾶσθε of A-stems is used throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods for A-stem verbs as well as E-stem verbs. The phonetic variant -ᾶστε, the SMG ending for the deponent verbs in -άμαι (λυπάσθε, θυμάσθε, φοβάσθε, κοιμάσθε), is the result of manner dissimilation of fricatives after sibilants (see I, 3.8.1). For the identical present imperative plural, see 4.5.1.2. Since 2 pl. is rather rare in documents, the number of examples found in non-literary texts is limited:

A-stems

ἀλλήλως ν' ἀγαπᾶσθε Chron. Mor. H 3993 τὸ τί πλανᾶσθε Liv. α 534; τί κοιμᾶσθε ibid. 3079 (κοιμᾶσθε in P) καυχᾶσθε Diig. tetr. 360; κύπτεσθε καὶ ὁσμᾶσθε ibid. 736 μὴ καυχᾶσθε Spanos A 81 καὶ νὰ κοιμᾶσθ' ἀμέριμνα Alosis 885 μὴ κοιμᾶσθε GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 518 καὶ σεις με καταράσθε; AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 47.22 κι αμέτε νὰ καυκάσθε CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.401 τιμᾶσθε GERMANO, Grammar 93.6
 πολλὰ πλανᾶσθε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 12.27; ὅλοι μιᾶς λογῆς χαλάσθε ibid. Louk. 13.5; τί κοιμάσθε ibid. Louk. 22.46 νὰ μὴ μοῦ καταρᾶσθε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 228.28; καυχᾶσθε 557.24

E-stems

φοβᾶσθε Log. parig. L 740 πρέπει νὰ τὸ ἐνθυμᾶσθε Chron. Mor. H 9171 καὶ ᾶ λυπάσθε Liv. E 2901; μὴδὲν φοβᾶσθε ibid. 2992 νὰ μὲ ἐνθυμᾶσθε Diig. Alex. V 86.1 ἀπὸ τὸ ξηγᾶσθε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 322.2–3 ἐκ τὰ θυμᾶσθε BERGADIS, Apok. A 132 (θυμᾶσθε in V) νὰ μὴ τὸ ἀναθυμᾶσθε Alosis 1037 ἔτσι νὰ μὴ φοβάσθε Alex. Rim. 973; καὶ δὲν θυμάσθε ibid. 1793 πῶς δὲν ἀπηλογᾶσθε GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 69; νὰ τὸ θυμᾶσθε ibid. 517 μὴ λυπάσθε! Vios Filaret. 241.16 φοβᾶσθε (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 149.28) καὶ τί φοβᾶσθε τῶν Φραγκῶν; TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 98 εὐχαριστᾶσθε Bertoldin. 169.13–14 καὶ δὲν ἐνθυμᾶσθε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 8.18; μὴδὲ ἐνθυμᾶσθε ibid. Matth. 16.9
 μὴ λυπάσθε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 183; μὴδὲ παραπονᾶσθε ibid. 184; καὶ ὅσοι διηγᾶσθε ibid. 3063
 νὰ μοῦ θυμᾶσθε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 228.27; νὰ τυραννᾶσθε ibid. 431.25

³¹ The MG ending -όσασθε, formed by analogy with 1 pl. -όμασθε (PERNOT 1907/46: II 292, who claims that the ending is of Peloponnesian/Chiot origin), has not been found in the texts examined, which is not surprising given the relatively late appearance of -όμασθε (see above). Examples have not been found before the 18th c.: it occurs, for instance, in the Zakynthian Dimitrios Gouzelis's comedy O Chasis (φιλιόσασθε III.396), the final version of which dates from 1795 (ed. Z. Synodinos, Athens 1997).

Addition of final /n/ to this ending is occasionally found, especially in Heptanesian texts:

καὶ νὰ γενολογᾶσταν Poulol. 658 ἀλλήλως νὰ ἡγαπᾶσταν Chron. Mor. P 3993 ἀπὸ τὸν Ἀλέξανδρον μηδὲν φοβᾶσταν Diig. Alex. V 50.20–1; νὰ μὲ θυμᾶσταν ibid. 84.12 θυμάσταν ποὺ δειλιάζετε Alex. Rim. 1759 γονέοι καὶ λογάσταν Apoll. Rim. V 1284 μὴ φοβᾶσταν, ἀλλὰ χαίρετε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 331.42 γελᾶσταν SOFIANOS, Grammar 68.22 κ' ἐσεῖς ποὺ τὸ ξηγᾶσταν ZINOS, Penth. Than. Prol. 15 νὰ μὴ μοῦ καταρᾶσταν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 3064

Addition of -(ν)ε occurs in a Heptanesian text, but it is likely to appear in texts from Chios and possibly other areas as well (see I, 2.6.3.3): μὴ λυπᾶστανε MONTSEL., Evgena 632.

Pl.	2	-εἶσθε(ν) † -εἴστε(ν) † -ῆσθε(ν) † -ῆστε(ν)

The inherited 2 pl. ending -εἶσθε of E-stems is used throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods. The phonetic variant -εἴστε is the result of manner dissimilation of fricatives after sibilants (see I, 3.8.1) (for the identical present imperative plural, see 4.5.1.2). No examples have been found with A-stem verbs:

λαλῶ σας καὶ οὐ λυπεῖσθε GLYKAS, Stichoi 115 φοβεῖσθε Log. parig. O 756 τίποτε μὴ λυπῆσθε Pol. Tr. 1904; τίποτε μὴ λυπῆσθε ibid. 1904 app. crit. (A); θάνατον μὴ φοβῆσθε ibid. 3962 μηδὲν φοβῆσθε Liv. α 3119; νὰ μὲ ἀφηγῆσθε ibid. 3030 app. crit. (N) καὶ ἂν λυπῆσθε τίποτε Liv. S 1744 (Lambert-van der Kolf) τινὰν νὰ μὴ φοβῆσθε Alosis 885 μηδὲν φοβῆσθε τίποτε Alex. Rim. 1792 μὴ φοβεῖσθε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 332.14–15 καὶ τόσον μὴ λυπῆσθε Thrinis patr. 86 μὴν φοβεῖσθε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 16.6

Pl.	2	-(ε)ιέσθε(ν) † -(ε)ιέστε(ν)

This ending, which in its dissimilated form -ιέστε is now the most common for SMG A-stem verbs (e.g. αγαπιέστε, κρατιέστε), is found from at least the 15th c. onwards (the ms date of Assizes B is 1469). For a discussion on the appearance of /j/ after stem consonants in the passive imperfective stem see 2.1.2.2.4. (For the identical present imperative ending see 4.5.1.2.)

E-stems

ἂν τύχη νὰ βαρεῖσθε Chron. Mor. P 8536 κρατιέσθε SOFIANOS, Grammar 66.6 καὶ νὰ παραπονιέσθε Thrinis patr. 85 τὸ ἀρνιέσθε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 92.28 πουλιέσθε GERMANO, Grammar 93.24 μὴν κουνιέσθε μὲ τὸν λογισμόν σας KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 12.29

A-stems

ἐγγύεστε Assizes B 309.24 and Assizes A 59.27³² μὴν καταρίεστε PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §34.6

[γε]λείεσθε SPANOS, Grammar 41.21

Addition of final /n/ is rare: πρέπει νὰ ἀπιλογιέσθεν ἐσεῖς (1503, Constantinople, YANNOPOULOS 1974: 133.30).

Pl.	2	-οὔστε(ν) † -οὔσθε(ν) † -ούστενε

This innovative 2 pl. ending appears in 17th-c. texts from Chios (the ms of this Thrinos Konst., Ieros. Patr. 160, was copied by the Chiot Païsios Ligaridis), with A- and E-stem verbs. According to PERNOT (1907/46: I 472) it is the result of intervocalic /s/ deletion in an otherwise unattested ending *-ούσσετε (for the identical present imperative plural, see 4.5.1.2) but perhaps analogical influence from the 1st and 3rd persons plural may be suspected. For insertion of /j/ after stem consonants (κρατειοῦστε) see 2.1.2.2.4: καὶ σεῖς νερά τρεχάμενα, σταθῆτε μὴν κινουῖσθε Thrinos Konst. (P-K) 8 app. crit.; κρατειοῦστε GERMANO, Grammar 83.9; τιμοῦστε ibid. 93.6; θυμοῦσθεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1233; μὴν φοβοῦσθεν ibid. 1421. The ending also occurs with an added -(ν)ε (for which see I, 2.6.3.3): ἄν δὲν λυποῦσθενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 865.

3rd Person Plural

Pl.	3	-οῦνται(ν) † -ούνταινε † -(ε)ιοῦνται(ν)

The inherited ending -οῦνται is the most common ending for 3 pl. pass. throughout and beyond our period, with both E- and A-stem verbs:

E-stems

καὶ ἐξομολογοῦνται καὶ λυποῦνται NIKON, Logos 3 166.16

φοβοῦνται Ptoch. I 89

τοῦ Αὐγούστου τὰ πεντάλιτρα τὸν Μάιον ἀναζητοῦνται Paroim. H 19 ξηγοῦνται MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.14; νὰ χειροτονοῦνται ibid. 26.22

παραπονοῦνται Cypr. Canz. 17.8; ποθοῦνται ibid. 43.1

νὰ μοῦ θυμοῦνται (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 14, 24.32); διὰ νὰ ἀποκρατοῦνται (ibid. 15, 26.25)

νὰ λογοῦνται τὰ ἥμισα (1517 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 3, 51.15–16) φοβοῦνται καὶ δίδουν τὸν Σαψὼν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.34

καὶ τὸ Θεὸ φοβοῦνται CHORTATSIS Katz. III.325

διδοῦνται Pist. kekoim. 392

ρηγάδες τὸν φοβοῦνται (17th c., Unknown, ŠANGIN 1936: 4, 152.26–7) ὅταν μοιρολογοῦνται BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 154.20; λέγει τως μὴ λυποῦνται ibid. 193.15; νὰ πὰ νὰ διακονοῦνται ibid. 193.16

νὰ μὴ παραπονοῦνται Don Kis. 47.19–20

³² In the case of ἐγγυῶμαι the /i/ in ἐγγύεστε (for ἐγγυᾶστε) is in fact part of the stem, but the result is the same.

A-stems

κι ὅσοι γεννοῦνται Chron. Mor. H 2725 ἵνα μᾶς καταροῦνται Dig. E 538 καὶ νὰ καυχοῦνται οἱ ἄνομοι Anak. Konst. 56 βρυχοῦνται Imb. Rim. 209 νὰ κυβερνοῦνται Achil. N 150; χαιρετοῦνται ibid. 1520 καὶ ὅπ' ἄγαποῦνται FALIEROS, Ist. On. 657 βιγλοῦνται Cypr. Canz. 43.5 νὰ γρικοῦνται (1518, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 52, 97.134) στέκουν και ανερωτοῦνται Apoll. Rim. E 1450 σὲ σπήλαια κοιμοῦνται Alex. Rim. 1913 ἄγαποῦνται Diig. Alex. Sem. S 421; καταροῦνται ibid. 481 πλανοῦνται CHORTATIS, Katz. Prol. 7; ὅποιοι σας αφουκρούνται id., Panor. II.520 νὰ χαλοῦνται (1647, Patras, TSELIKAS 1986a: 1, 668.3) κοιμοῦνται IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1815
 νὰ κυβερνοῦνται (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 481.32)

With /j/ after the stem consonant, this ending is found from the 15th/16th c. onwards (see 2.1.2.2.4 for a discussion):

τὰ δὲ αὐγά πουλιοῦνται (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 43, 36.1) κρατιοῦνται Apoll. Rim. V 257 θέλω νὰ πουλιοῦνται (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 77, 145.19); νὰ ἀποκρατειοῦνται (1525, ibid. 100, 187.28) τόνε βαριοῦνται MOREZINOS, Klini 56.36 γεννιοῦνται CHORTATIS, Panor. V.37; δεν ξοφλιοῦνται ibid. V.38; κρατιοῦνται id., Erof. IV.733 δὲν δαπανιοῦνται εὐκολα Vios Aisop. D 213.34
 ἄγαπιοῦνται Diig. Alex. Sem. S 440 ξοφλιοῦνται Stathis Prol. 20 κι ὄχι νὰ σὲ βαριοῦνται Pist. voskos I 3.176 βαριοῦνται τσι κ' ἐκεῖνοι KORNAROS, Erot. III.179
 δὲν δαπανιοῦνται εὐκολα Vios Aisop. D 213.34
 γρικοῦνται (1661, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 27, 383.22)

The addition of final /n/ to the ending -(ι)οῦνται can sometimes be found. There are several instances in Liv. V and in ms C of Pol. Tr.; single instances have been found as early as the writings of Nikon of the Black Mountain (late 11th/early 12th c.), as well as in Dig. O (Chios) and in documents from Thrace, Macedonia and Chios:

ὅτι προσποιοῦνται ὡς δῆθεν ἀγαθοεργείας NIKON, Prol. 16.30–1 ὅτι σθεναχωροῦνται Liv. V 763; τὴν γραίαν ἀπιλογοῦνται ibid. 2680; ὅπου σῶς ἐνθυμοῦνται ibid. 3828 ἐνθυμοῦνται Pol. Tr. 8548 app. crit. (C) and 9651 app. crit. (C); φοβοῦνται ibid. 10517 app.
 crit. (C), 12787 app. crit. (C), 13070 app. crit. (C) and 13111 app. crit. (C); ἀφηγοῦνται ibid.
 12425 app. crit. (C) ἐνοχλιοῦνται (1453, Thrace?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 3, 86.17–18) καὶ παρακινιοῦνται οἱ ἄνθρωποι (1576, Macedonia, CHASIOITIS 1964/65: 3, 253.30) ὅπου ποτὲ δὲν ἐνθυμοῦνται τέτοιον θανατικόν (1621, Sicily, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 1, 90.10–11) (author from Chios) συναπαντοῦνται τὸ λοιπὸν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1367

Addition of $-(\nu)\epsilon$ to this ending has been found in the work of Katsaitis (Kefalonia), but is likely to have had a wider geographical spread (for addition of $-(\nu)\epsilon$ see I, 2.6.3.3): $\kappa\iota' \acute{\omicron}\lambda\omicron\iota$ $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ $\mu\acute{\epsilon}$ $\phi\omicron\beta\omicron\upsilon\acute{\omicron}\nu\tau\alpha\iota\upsilon\epsilon$ KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.26.

Pl.	3	-ώνται -όνται -(ι)όται -(ε)ιώνται -ίωνται

The residual A-stem ending $-\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$, which had been replaced by $-\acute{\omicron}\upsilon\acute{\nu}\tau\alpha\iota$ before the LMedG period (see the introduction to Chapter 2), is sometimes used, possibly helped by the fact that from about the 14th c. onwards oxytone E-stem verbs started to borrow the ending /onde/ from barytone verbs, with the insertion of /j/ after the stem consonant of the oxytone verb as an added feature (e.g. $\beta\alpha\rho\epsilon\iota\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$, below). See 2.1.2.2.4 for details and discussion.

A-stems

$\tau\iota\mu\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ εἰς τὰ τοιαῦτα NIKON, Logos 1 72.11–12; ὥς $\pi\lambda\alpha\nu\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ τινὲς id., Logos 31 826.13
 κ' ἐπίσης ὀδυνῶνται GLYKAS, Stichoi 136 $\kappa\alpha\iota$ $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ σοῦ καταρῶνται Dig. E 248 $\kappa\omicron\iota\mu\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ Pol. Tr. 1008 app. crit. (X); $\chi\alpha\lambda\nu\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ ibid. 8307 app. crit. (C)
 $\alpha\pi\omicron\chi\alpha\iota\rho\epsilon\tau\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ Apoll. Rim. V 881; $\alpha\nu\epsilon\rho\omega\tau\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ ibid. 1450
 $\kappa\alpha\iota$ $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ νικῶνται Alex. Fyll. 53.18
 $\gamma\epsilon\lambda\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ SOFIANOS, Grammar 68.22
 $\acute{\alpha}\varsigma$ $\kappa\omicron\iota\mu\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ τὸν πρῶτον ὕπνον ζερβὰ LANDOS, Geopon. 178.20
 $\kappa\omicron\iota\mu\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ Bertoldos 46.23
 $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ $\gamma\epsilon\nu\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ Bertoldin. 129.6
 $\sigma\alpha\nu$ $\kappa\omicron\iota\mu\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1043; $\nu\alpha$ μην καυχῶνται ibid. 1761
 $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ $\gamma\rho\omicron\iota\kappa\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ (1660, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 29, 176.23)

E-stems

$\theta\epsilon\omega\rho\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ (1432, Corfu, ASONITIS 1996/97: 3, 29.45)
 $\delta\omicron\kappa\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ ἀνδρειωμένοι Achil. N 585 $\tau\acute{\alpha}\chi\alpha$ λυπόνται τόσοι BERGADIS, Apok. V 104 app. crit.
 $\theta\upsilon\mu\acute{\omicron}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ ΡΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 125 app. crit.; $\mu\epsilon\tau\rho\acute{\omicron}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ ibid. 149 app. crit.
 $\acute{\alpha}\pi\alpha\rho\nu\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ Rim. kor. V 85
 $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\tau\omicron\iota\alpha\varsigma$ λογῆς τιμῶνται Alex. Fyll. 97.19
 $\mu\epsilon\gamma\alpha\lambda\alpha\upsilon\chi\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4089; $\mu\epsilon\gamma\acute{\alpha}\lambda\omega\varsigma$ βλασφημῶνται ibid. 4520; τὸν Θεόν $\phi\omicron\beta\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ ibid. 10080
 $\delta\iota\eta\gamma\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ (1660, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 29, 175.7)

With /j/ inserted after the stem consonant the ending /'onde/ is found from the 14th c. onwards. The “etymologizing” spelling with <ω> is, of course, entirely graphematic:

οἱ πάντες τὸ $\beta\alpha\rho\epsilon\iota\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ Chron. Mor. H 7559
 $\kappa\rho\alpha\tau\iota\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ Pol. Tr. 4374
 $\acute{\alpha}\gamma\omega\nu\acute{\iota}\omega\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ Chron. Toc. 412; $\acute{\alpha}\gamma\alpha\pi\iota\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ ibid. 1612
 $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ προσκαλιῶνται (1518, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 390.13)
 $\tau\omicron\nu$ ἔρωτα βαριῶνται Rim. kor. V 661
 $\pi\omicron\upsilon\lambda\iota\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ Syndipas 117.22, 118.28 and 118.29
 $\nu\alpha$ $\kappa\tau\upsilon\pi\iota\acute{\omega}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ Kaloandros 406.7 $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ ἀγκικιόνται τὰ ἡμισὰ τοῦ Ριγκιμέντου (1665, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 3, 189.19–20)
 $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ παραπονιῶνται ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 638 ἐγροικιῶνται (1682, Patras, TSELIKAS 1986a: 3, 672.14)

ἔτζι πουλιῶνται (1696, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 14, 216.8)

Addition of final /n/ appears to be quite rare: εἴτι χρέη χρωσιόνταιν (1555, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 172, 222.18).

Forms with an ostensible shift of the stress to the antepenultimate (cf. 3 sg. -ιέται) are rare: ἀρχίνησαν νὰ γεννιῶνται Bertoldin. 128.18 (see II, 1.5 for discussion).

Forms in -όται are phonetic rather than morphological variants of -όνται, representing a graphematic realization of nasal deletion before stops (for details see I, 3.6.2.1): ἐπιθυμόται (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.13); εὐχαριστιόται (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 1, 29.24).

Pl.	3	-ιένται

The ending -ιένται has been found in documents from the northern and central Peloponnese (Arcadia and Achaia), both dating after the period covered by this Grammar. Its spelling ἀγροικένται for ἀγροικιένται is graphematic, as /k/ before /e/ will have had a palatalized pronunciation (see I, 3.8.2.1; see also 2.1.2.2.4): νὰ ἀγροικιένται (1707, Dimitsana/Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 209, 334.4); νὰ ἀγροικένται (1724, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 43, 143.12); νὰ ἐγροικένται (1754, Sopoto, PAPADOPOULOS 1977: 5, 68.7).

4.2 The Aorist Subjunctive

By the beginning of the LMedG period, the endings of the present and aorist active subjunctives (-ω, -ης, -η, -ωμε(ν), -ητε, -ωσι(ν)) had long been replaced with those of the present indicative (-ω, -εις, -ει, -ομε(ν), -ετε, -ουσι(ν)/-ουν) due to sound change and analogical levelling (a development that had begun in Hellenistic times; see e.g. JANNARIS 1897: 198–9 for examples from the New Testament onwards). Even though the indicative and subjunctive clearly make use of the same set of endings, there is a tendency in modern editions to apply a historical spelling to the 2 sg., 3 sg. and 1 pl. subjunctive, which essentially contradicts the development of the language. Not all editors, however, choose to make this orthographic distinction.³³ To form the aorist active subjunctive, the ending is added to the active perfective stem of the verb: e.g. γράψ-ω, γρικήσ-ω, βαρέσ-ω. For 2 pl. and 3 pl. of the active aorist subjunctive the residual endings -ητε and -ωσι(ν) can sometimes be found.

The endings of the aorist passive subjunctive of AG (-ῶ, -ῆς, -ῆ, -ῶμεν, -ῆτε, -ῶσιν) had, again through sound change, become partially homophonous with the present active endings of oxytone E-stem verbs (-ῶ, -εῖς, -εῖ, -οὔμεν, -εῖτε, -οὔσιν). Through analogical levelling, the endings -οῦμε(ν) for 1 pl., -οῦσι(ν), and later -οῦν, for 3 pl. were also adopted in the aorist passive subjunctive paradigm (HORROCKS 2010: 317–18). Again it may be noted that applying a historical spelling to the 2 sg., 3 sg. and 2 pl. endings is, in fact, at odds with the development of the language. As mentioned in the General Introduction, the iota subscript has been omitted in the examples in this Grammar. Other than that, the spelling of the modern editions of literary texts has been preserved. In examples normalized by us, 2 sg. and 3 sg. examples of the subjunctive are spelled with <ει>.

³³ In editions in monotonic the official spelling of SMG is applied (sometimes including an unhistorical spelling -οσι(ν) for the residual 3 pl. ending -ωσι(ν)), whereas in editions in polytonic three systems are in current use: (1) historical spelling of subjunctive endings with iota subscript in 2 sg. and 3 sg. and <ω> in 1 pl.; (2) the official spelling of the 1941 grammar of Triandafyllidis (historical spelling minus the iota subscript in 2 sg. and 3 sg.); (3) the official spelling of SMG, but with polytonic accentuation (sometimes without the grave).

The oxytone endings are added to the passive perfective stem of the verb, e.g. γραφθ-ῶ, γρικηθ-ῶ, βαρεθ-ῶ. For 1 pl. and 3 pl. of the passive aorist subjunctive the residual endings -ῶμε(ν) and -ῶσι(ν) can sometimes be found. For the passive subjunctive of ἐγείρω, which developed barytone forms while retaining its passive stem (ἐγέρθω), see 2.4.

A group of verbs, including certain verbs with a thematic or root aorist (second aorist) as well as the verb γίνομαι, may adopt endings from both the barytone and oxytone paradigms (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 133–4), e.g. εἶπω and εἶπῶ, ἔμπω and ἔμπῶ, εὔρω and εὔρῶ, γένω and γενῶ. These verbs will be discussed separately at the end of this section.

For the use of the subjunctive in periphrastic verb constructions, see introduction to Chapter 5.

4.2.1 Active Voice

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	1	γράφω	γράφου	γράφων
	2	γράφεις/γράφης/γράφης
	3	γράψει/γράψει/γράψει	γράψειν/γράψειν/γράψειν γράψεινε
Pl.	1	γράφουμε(ν)/γράφωμε(ν)	(γράφομενε) γράφουμε(ν) γράφουμι
	2	γράψετε γράψετεν ὁ γράψετενε	γράψητε γράψτε
	3	γράφουσι(ν) γράφουν	γράφωσι(ν)/γράφουσι(ν) γράφουσινε γράφου ὁ γράφουσινε	γράφον

Distribution of Allomorphs*1st Person Singular*

Sg.	1	-ω -ων -ου

The ending for 1 sg. shows little morphological variation, before, during and after the period under investigation:

ὅπου κελεύεις ἔλθω Dig. G II.133 πῶς νὰ τὴν ἐξεπλέξω Eisit. 8r.16 εἰς τὸ νὰ δευτερώσω LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 212 ἃ γλιτώσω Cypr. Canz. 9.4
 διὰ νὰ ὑπάγω καὶ ἐγὼ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 339.8–9 ἄν τὰ κρατήξω (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 287.17) νὰ σὲ θαραπαύσω MOREZINOS, Klini 44.34 μήνα ἡμπορέσω νὰ τὸν ἐλευθερώσω (1620, Ioannina, DOIKAS 1982: [6], 144.10) νὰ σὲ ρωτήξω MONTSEL., Evgena 1052 ἄς πάγω πλὶο σιμότερα VEST., Prol. Theot. 284 ἄν ἀποθάνω ἐγὼ (1665, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 58, 173.37–8) νὰ ἀρχινήσω Don Kis. 45.14–15

Addition of final /n/ to 1 sg. is unusual. The forms, if they are not simple scribal errors, may represent a form of hypercorrection in varieties of the language that tend to drop final /n/ : ἵνα ὀρίσων γέροντες, καλοὺς ἀνθρώπους (1570, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 1999: 33, 398.10–11). When the following word begins with a voiceless stop (/k/, /p/, /t/), the final /n/ may indicate that those stops were pronounced as voiced ([g], [b], [d]); see I, 3.7.2.1 for details: ἵνα τοῦ ποιήσων τὴν μπαροῦσαν κοντραντιτζιὸν (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 743, 1013.3–4); δε θέλω ἀφήσων κανέναν νὰ σιμώσιν (ibid. 1013.13).

1 sg. forms in -ου are phonetic rather than morphological variants of -ω, the result of back-vowel raising, by which unstressed /o/ becomes [u] (for details see I, 2.5.4):

δὲν ἔχω τίποτες νὰ κάμου (1660, Skyros, ANDONIADES 1980/81: 4, 312.29–30) νὰ μεράσου (1694, Skyros, ANDONIADES 1990: 47, 76.12–13) δὲν ἔλειψα νὰ σὲ γράψου καὶ νὰ σὲ φανερώσου (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 4, 59.3–4); νὰ ῥτου καὶ ἀτός μου νὰ σὲ ἀπολάψου (1698, ibid. 9, 74.33) τὴν προίκα ποὺ θεὸς νὰ τοῦ δώσου (1717, Skiathos, KARAVIDAS 2004: 2, 249.7–8)

The two verbs that have alternative perfective barytone vowel stems, namely ὑπά(γ)ω (ὑπα-/πα-) and τρώ(γ)ω (φα-), have “uncontracted” forms for 1 sg.: e.g. εἰς τόπο θε νὰ πᾶω CHORTATISIS, Panor. I.15; οὐδέ ψωμί νὰ φᾶω ibid. I.16 (for forms with vowel deletion see 2.2.2.3).

2nd Person Singular

Sg.	2	-εἰς/-ης/-ης

The ending for 2 sg. shows no morphological variation, before, during and after the period under investigation:

νά τήν πέμψης ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 314.16 ἄν σὺ παράσχῃς μοι τροφήν, ἄν χορηγήσῃς πόσιν Ptoch. (Maiuri) 33 ἄν οὐδὲν τὸ στείλῃς (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 79.16) νὰ ποίσεις ἕνα διαλαλημὸ (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.2) νὰ ξηλώσεις τὲς δουλλιές μου ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. O 92.7 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) μὴ μοῦ ζητήξῃς Rim. kor. A 72 νὰ τοὺς κόψῃς (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.IV, 259.84.14–15) ἄν δὲν τὸ βάλῃς εἰς τὸ στόμα σου ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 124.20–1 ἄ τὰ στείλῃς (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.23) θέλω νὰ πάγῃς στὸ καλὸ CHORTATSIS, Katz. III.457 μὴ τὸ φάγῃς ὅλον LANDOS, Geopon. 151.26–7 μὴν μ' ἀφήκῃς (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 25.4) ὁποθεν ἐξετάσεις ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 4339 μὴδὲν παινέσῃς τὴν ἀρχὴν ὥστε νὰ δῇς τὸ τέλος KONDAR., Paidēs 945 νὰ μὴ ξεσπαθώσῃς Don Kis. 48.22

The verbs ὑπά(γ)ω and τρώ(γ)ω, which have alternative perfective barytone vowel stems ((ύ)πα-) and (φα-), can have “uncontracted” forms for 2 sg.: νὰ ὑπάῃς (1571, Unknown, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 8, 481.7); νὰ φάῃς (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 3, 169.13); for forms with vowel deletion see 2.2.2.3.

3rd Person Singular

Sg.	3	-ει/-η/-τη ἰ -ειν/-ην/-την ἰ -εινε

The ending for 3 sg. shows little morphological variation, before, during and after the period under investigation:

ἵνα μὲ ἐλεήσῃ ὁ θεὸς ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 315.31 νὰ κάτῃ Dig. E 678 νὰ μάσῃ τὰ ἐλαϊκὰ δένδρη (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 3, 150.10) νὰ ῥετᾶξῃ (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.15) δια νὰ πάγῃ εἰς τὸ κάτεργον VOUSTR., Chron. A 48.13–14 νὰ θελήσῃ ν' ἀρκοντύνη τινὰς ἀπὸ δικὸν ἄλλου Fior 99.26 εἰ δὲ καὶ δὲν σοῦ βολέσῃ (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.29) ὅτι νὰ ἀπεστείλῃ Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 1 ὅταν ἀπεθάνῃ (1572, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 1, 17.16) χωρὶς νὰ τήνῃ σείση τινὰς Chron. Tourk. Soult. 39.4–5 νὰ ξεστοματίσῃ ἔτοιον ψόμα (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 83.10) κ' ἐμένα ἄς ἀκολουθίξῃ ΣΟΥΜΜΑΚΗΣ, Past. Fid. A3v.13 νὰ πέσῃ νὰ πεθάνῃ PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 35 μὴν ἔλθῃ αἰφνιδίως καὶ ἀλπάσῃ με (1684, Zakynthos, ΖΟΪΣ 1956: [2], 348.15) (= ἀρπάσῃ, see I, 3.8.6.3) ν' ἀδυναμίσῃ τόσα ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. III.35

Addition of final /n/ occurs occasionally, in a variety of texts from various regions:

καὶ νὰ τὸν βασανίσῃν Log. parag. L 439 φοβᾶται νὰ τὴν πιᾶσῃν Pol. Tr. 3680 app. crit. (B); νὰ τὸν δημηγερεύσῃν ibid. 13128 app. crit. (C) νὰ μὴ χαλάσῃν Achil. N 1102 διὰ νὰ τὸν συνερίσῃν Achil. O 45; νὰ δοκιμάσῃν ibid. 76 καὶ νὰ ὀρθώσῃν τὴν δουλειὰν Chron. Toc. 2743; νὰ τοὺς τὴν δώσῃν ὁ Θεὸς ibid. 3035 νὰ ἀναγνώσῃν (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 79.15) διὰ νὰ φορτώσῃν σιτάρῃν (1503, Constantinople, YANNOPOULOS 1974: 132.4) νὰ μὴδὲν δυναμώσῃν πολλὰ Diig. Alex. F 150.22 (Lolos) μήπως κ' ἔλθῃν ὁ Χάρος (1573, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 1, 75.5–6) τὸν ἐπολέμα τὸν αὐτὸν Στεφανὴ νὰ τήνε γαμήσῃν (1579, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 7, 97.38) ἂν ἔχει νὰ σᾶς δώσῃν δέπτετον (1656, Amorgos, TSELIKAS 1988/1992: 3, 49.24) (= οὐδετίποτε) μήτε νὰ πουργοδοτήσῃν (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 180.18–19) (< προικοδοτῶ); νὰ σιμώσῃν (1688, ibid. 743, 1013.13)

Addition of -(v)ε has been found in a document from the Aegean, but is likely to occur elsewhere as well (see I, 2.6.3.3): ἂν κάμεινε τίποτι συγκατάβαση (17th c., Sifnos?, TSELIKAS 1986c: 4, 41.22).

Two verbs that have perfective barytone vowel stems, namely ὑπά(γ)ω ((ὑ)πα-) and τρώ(γ)ω (φα-), can have “uncontracted” forms for 3 sg.: e.g. νὰ πᾶη Assizes B 359.28; νὰ φᾶη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 143.21; for forms in which vowel deletion occurs see 2.2.2.3.

1st Person Plural

Pl.	1	-ομε(v)/-ωμε(v)

For 1 pl. -ομε(v)/-ωμε(v), with or without the final /n/,³⁴ is by far the most common ending before, during and beyond the period under review:

νὰ κάτσωμεν Ptoch. I 243 νὰ ἀργήσωμεν Pol. Tr. 206 νὰ παραλάβομεν (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.9) θέλοντας νὰ τότε εὐκαριστήσομεν (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 467.5) νὰ τοὺς πτιάσομεν (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.8) νὰ τὸ ἐξετάσωμεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 66.33 ἄς τὸν ἀγοράσωμεν Vios Aisop. I 253.28 ἄλλην καλύτερην βουλὴν νὰ πάρομε Theseid V.45.4 (1529) νὰ διορθώσομε (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.7) εἰς τὸ νὰ ... ἡκούσομεν (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 256.4) νὰ ἡμπορέσομε (1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 35.2)
 νὰ σὲ ἀπολαύσομεν (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 2, 48.5)

³⁴ First attestations of the loss of final /n/, resulting in -ομε, can be found sporadically from the Koine onward (DIETERICH 1898: 249); see also I, 3.7.2.2.

νά ζητήξομεν τὴν βοήθειαν τοῦ Θεοῦ MOREZINOS, Klini 20.28 νά τῶς δώσομεν (1607, Kalymnos, KOUTELAKIS 1981: 3, 31.5) νά τοῦ πέψομε Bertoldin. 147.3 νά τὴν σκοτώσωμε PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.208 ἄς ἀρχηνίσωμεν ἀπ' ἐδῶ RODINOS, Vios Ign. 58.28 νά εἶναι δικά τους ζήσωμεν πεθάνωμεν (1667, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1960: II.A 6, 123.3–4) μέ τὸ νά κληρονομήσομε (1685, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 8, 331.2–3) νά δώκωμε (1694, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 204, 123.12) νά τῶν τὰ δώσωμε καὶ νά τῶν τὰ μετρήσωμε (1697, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 12, 27.9) ἀς το ἀφήσομεν εἰς τον Θεόν Don Kis. 47.5; νά συναπαντήσομεν ibid. 48.20

The verbs ὑπά(γ)ω (perfective stem πα-) and τρώ(γ)ω (φα-), have “contracted” rather than “uncontracted” forms for 1 pl., for which see 2.2.2.3.

Addition of -(v)ε (see also I, 2.6.3.3), which occurs regionally with many verb forms, has not been found with the 1 pl. aorist subjunctive in the texts examined, though it is very likely to have existed, as it has been found with the present (see 4.1.1.1), as well as with verbs that have thematic perfective stems (for which see 4.2.3), with the passive voice (see 4.2.2) and in “contracted” forms of the verb ὑπά(γ)ω (see also 2.2.2.3), with which it appears in texts from the Heptanese, Crete and Chios:

κι ἄς πάμενε, συντροφισσες Zinon Prol. 168 ἄς πάμενε, μετὰ χαρᾶς MONTSEL., Evgena 273 πῶς πάμενε στὸν πόλεμον BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 213.6; ὅλοι νά πάμενε γυμνοὶ id., Kat. ofel. 161 ἔλα μαζὶ νά πάμενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 682

Pl.	1	-οῦμε(ν) ἢ -οῦμι

For a discussion of the ending -οῦμε(ν), which in its form without final /n/ has prevailed as the most common MG ending, see 4.1.1.1. As with the present, this ending is not very common with the aorist subjunctive and it appears quite late (15th/16th c.), usually alongside forms in -ομε(ν)/-ωμε(ν):

νά πέψομεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 271.45–6 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) (not in Dawkins; πέψομεν in V and R) νά περάσομεν ὁμοῦ Fyll. gadar. 81 ἄς κόψομε καὶ τὸ κεφάλιν του Diig. Alex. F 144.13 (Konstantinopulos) (hapax) εἰς τὸ νά ... ἡκούσομεν (1543, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 48, 249.3–4) (hapax)
 νά πλύνομεν τὰ ποδάρια τοῦ ξένου Vios Aisop. I 265.2 (hapax) νά κρᾶξομε τὸν μαστρο-Ματῖο (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 20, 76.11) θὲ ν' ἀφήκομε (1705, Symi, GEORGA-VOLONAKI 1974: 1, 204.16) ἀς δοκιμάσομε Don Kis. 112.5–6; τι νά κάμομε το κορμί του; ibid. 127.14–15 νά τοὺς δώσομε πρόσωπο καὶ νά τοὺς πολεμήσομε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 34.10

Forms in -ουμι show that mid-vowel raising has taken place (see I, 2.5.4 for details): τὶ νὰ φουνίσουμι; (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 55.34); νὰ κερδέσουμι (1698, ibid. 9, 73.12).

2nd Person Plural

Pl.	2	-ΕΤΕ ἰ -ΤΕ ἰ '-ΕΤΕΝ(Ε)

For 2 pl. -ετε is the standard ending in both literary and non-literary texts throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods. Some representative examples are:

εἶ τι κελεύετε καὶ ἐρωτήσετέ με ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 152.24–5 τὸ πρᾶγμα νὰ στερεώσετε Chron. Mor. H 198; νὰ σφάξετε τοὺς ἵππους τοὺς ibid. 4045 ποτὲ μὴδὲν ὀκνήσετε Dig. E 488; κ' ἔως νὰ καβαλικεύσετε ibid. 1714 νὰ ἀκούσετε τὸ δίκαιον Assizes B 324.19; νὰ σκοπίσετε ibid. 331.18 ὅτι νὰ προσκυνήσετε μὲ τὸ καλόν (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.14) νὰ προσέξετε ΕΡΜΟΝ., Ilias 2.6; νὰ θαυμάσετε πολλὰ γὰρ ibid. 2.7
 μὴ δειλιάσετε Diig. tetr. 1065 νὰ ποίσετε πᾶσα σας ὄφελος (1446, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 17, 99.12); ὅταν ἐσεῖς θελήσετε (ibid. 99.13) ὅτι νὰ ἀλησμονήσετε Chron. Toc. 1394; νὰ πέψετε ibid. 1444 ν' ἀκούσετε ὅσοι ἐπάθετε Katal. 598 νὰ γρωνίσετε τὸ πρᾶμαν ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 232.12–13; τὸ χειρότερον τὸ νὰ μπορήσετε
ibid. 282.2
 νὰ σπουδάξετε (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.45) μὴν τὰ ἀφήσετε (1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 250.62–3) νὰ τοῦ δώκετε (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 6, 262.9); νὰ ζητήξετε (ibid. 262.11) νὰ φύγετε ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΡ., Kaini Diath. Louk. 3.7; μὴν λογιάσετε ibid. 5.17; νὰ τὸν ζητήσετε ibid.
 6.8
 ἀνίσως καὶ κινήσετε Don Kis. 45.29

Syncopated forms in -τε have been found in two Heptanesian (Zakynthian) verse texts. Accommodation of the metre may have played a role, but interestingly syncopated forms also appear in the late 18th-c. Zakynthian prose comedy *O Chasis*³⁵ and in the 19th-c. linguistic satire *Vavylonia*³⁶ (cf. the imperative plural, 4.5.2.1, for which syncopated forms are more common; for syncope see also I, 2.7.2): αὐτεῖνον γιὰ νὰ πιάστε Alex. Rim. 805; θέλετε νὰ μὲ ντροπιάστε ibid. 806; νὰ τήνε θανατώστε MONTSEL., Evgena 411; νὰ τήν χῶστε ibid. 412.

³⁵ E.g. θ' ἀκούστε χαμπέρια Gouzelis, O Chasis I.28 (ed. Synodinos); χέρι νὰν τοῦ φιλήστε ibid. II.162; τὰ μαγαζιά νὰ κλείστε ibid. II.163 app. crit. (ΑΒΓΔ).

³⁶ E.g. νὰ βράστε κουκιά Vyzantios, Vavylonia IV, scene 6; νὰ πλακώστε τὶς ἀβδέλλες ibid. These words are uttered by the quack doctor, whose provenance is not mentioned; judging from his language with its many Italianisms he may well be a Heptanesian. In Vavylonia syncopated forms also appear in the dialogue of the Chiot inn-keeper: ἔ θὰ μὲ πλερώστεν ibid. III, scene 10; νὰ μὲ πλερώστενε ibid.

The two verbs that have alternative perfective vowel stems, ὑπά(γ)ω (πα-) and τρώ(γ)ω (φα-), have “contracted” rather than “uncontracted” forms for 2 pl., for which see 2.2.2.3.

Addition of final /n/ and of -(ν)ε (see I, 2.6.3.3 and I, 3.7.2.1) has been found in 17th-c. texts linked to certain Aegean islands (Chios, Syros):

σὰν φᾶτεν τὸν καρπὸν τοῦ VEST., Prol. Theot. 49; νὰ ζήσετεν αἰώνια ibid. 51 θὲ γροικήσετεν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 133 ὅπου κι ἂν πᾶτεν KONDAR., Paidēs 251 ἂν μὲ θελήσετεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 445; νὰ μάθετεν καὶ τ' ὄνομα ibid. 3072 νὰ λείψετεν καὶ νὰ ἀφήσετεν τέτοιο κρῖμα (1685, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1924b: [2], 12.8); νὰ κάμετεν τέλειαν καὶ σωστήν μετάνοιαν καὶ νὰ δώσετεν ἄλλο τόσο καλὸ ἐξόμπλι (ibid.
 13.29–30)
 νὰ μὲ ἀγκιουτάρετενε (1657, Ancona, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 8, 111.4) (< Ven. agiutàr); θέλει τὰ στείλετενε (ibid. 111.9); μὴν τὸ πέμψετενε (1666, Rome, ibid. 11, 115.2) (both authors from Chios)

Pl.	2	-ητε

The residual subjunctive ending -ητε is used in various, mainly literary, texts with the aorist subjunctive, though usually as isolated instances alongside forms in -ετε, which are more frequent (see above). In texts that display mid-vowel raising of unstressed /e/ to [i] elsewhere (e.g. Diig. Alex. K) it may be suspected that the unstressed /i/ in the ending is phonetic rather than morphological (cf. the present subjunctive, 4.1; for mid-vowel raising of /e/ to [i] see I, 2.5.4):

ζωὴν μὴ προτιμήσητε Dig. G I.76; εἰ τοῦτο οὐ ποιήσητε ibid. I.81 τυχαίνει διὰ νὰ δείξητε Pol. Tr. 4969 app. crit. (V) ν' ἀκούσητε πολλάκις Diig. tetr. 411 app. crit. (VCA) ν' ἀκούσητε τὸν λόγον Velth. 23 (Cupane) ὅταν ἀκούσητε τὰς φωνὰς Achil. L 178 καὶ μὴ νομίσητε Achil. N 1116 νὰ μᾶς δώσητε τὸ κάστρον SFRANTZIS, Chron. 44.13 νὰ μὲ βοηθήσητε Diig. Alex. E 203.7 (Konstantinopulos) νὰ ποιήσητε κάλλιον ἀνδραγαθίαν Diig. Alex. K 352.20 (hapax) νὰ ὑπομείνητε τοὺς βασιανισμοὺς Vios Aisop. K 190.3–4 ὅταν ἀκούσητε πολέμους KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 13.7 μὴν καταφρονέσητε τοῦτον τὸν θεόν Vios Aisop. D 243.14 νὰ μοῦ τὰ στείλητε (1687, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1918b: 6, 223.2)

3rd Person Plural

Pl.	3	-ουσι(ν) † -ουσινε

The inherited ending -ουσι(ν) is used throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar, in texts from all areas:

εἰ τολμήσουσι (1134, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 6, 518.8) καὶ τζαλαπατήσουσιν τοὺς Vulgärorakel VI.18 θέλουν ἄρματώσουσι Chron. Mor. H 368; εἰ τε κὶ οὐδὲν τὸ ποιήσουσιν ibid. 2639 συμπάθειον διὰ νὰ κάμουσι Pol. Tr. 11656 νὰ ἐβγάνουσι τὸ τετάρτι τῆς γῆς (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 3, 150.7) νὰ λείψουσιν παντελῶς (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.46) νὰ πέψουσι BERGADIS, Apok. V 70 μηδὲ χέρια νὰ τὰ πιάσουσιν DAM. STOUDE., This., Logos 9, 11r.21 (1561) νὰ μᾶς δείξουσιν (1578, Cyprus, TSELIKAS 1977: 1, 253.17) νὰ διώξουσιν τον Μιχαήλ STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 789 (Pidonia) νὰ ἀφήκουσι MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 330.2 νὰ μάσε κόφουσι (1659, Hydra, KARATHANASIS 1972/73: 241.2) νὰ τὸ ρεκουπεράρουσι (1661, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 10, 106.125–6) (< Ven. recuperàr) νὰ φορτώσουσι σιτάρι (1671, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 3, 578.8–10) ποὺ θέν τὴν ἀγκαλιάσουσι KONDAR., Paidēs 57 νὰ τὸ ἐπάρουσι EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 15.13

Third person plural forms of the alternative vowel stems of ὑπά(γ)ω (πα-) and τρώ(γ)ω (φα-) usually undergo vowel deletion.³⁷ See 2.2.2.3 for details.

The ending -ουσινε, -ουσι(ν) with addition of -(ν)ε (-άσινε in the case of πᾶω and φᾶω, for which see also 2.2.2.3) has been found in Cretan texts of the late 16th and 17th centuries, as well as in a document from Mykonos, but is likely to have been in use in other areas as well (Heptanese, Peloponnese, certain other Aegean islands). Added second accents are usually editorial and quite unnecessary, since the vernacular permits the stress to fall on the syllable before the antepenultimate (see I, 4.2.3 for details):

ν' ἀλλάξουσινε τὴ χαρὰ CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.145 νὰ πᾶσινε MOREZINOS, Klini 232.5 ἂν τὰ δώσουσινε (1607, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 3, 5.20) νὰ τὰ μολογήσουσινε (1662, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 2, 413.17) νὰ τὸ φᾶσινε (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 20.22) νὰ ρίζουσινε τ' ἄρμενα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 336.18; νὰ στείλουσινε καὶ λαό ibid. 469.12

Pl.	3	-ουν ἢ -ου ἢ -ουνε ἢ -ον

For a discussion of the ending -ουν see 4.1.1.1. This ending can be found with the aorist subjunctive in texts throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

ἔαν καλῶς ἐκπληρώσουν (1059, Tayk province?, LEMERLE 1977: 25.171) ἴνα οἱ μοναχοὶ ὑποδείξουν (1128, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 13, 98.11) νὰ εὐτιάσουν τὴν ἐκκλησίαν (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.49); καὶ ἄς ἐπάρουν τὰ βιβλία (ibid. 82.60) μήπως χαώσουν καὶ αὐτόν (1256, Palatia (Miletos), NYSTAZOPOULOU 1966: 1, 289.14) καὶ πρὶν ... δώσουν σε τὸ ὠγὸ Ptoch. IV 477 διὰ ν' ἀπαντήσουν Chron. Mor. H 4916 νὰ μὲ τὴν ἀφαρπάξουν Dig. E 1737 νὰ τὸν βουττήσουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 72.9; μηδὲν πέψουν καὶ κολακέψουν τοὺς λᾶς ibid. 470.12

³⁷ One uncontracted form in Voskopoula, νὰ φάουσι τ' ἄρνι μου Vosk. 328, is the result of editorial intervention (φάγωσι app. crit.).

νὰ ἡκούσουν τὴν ἄνωθεν διαφορὰν (1514, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 59, 65.8) ἄν ἀπεθάνουν τὰ παιδιά της (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.15) νὰ δώκουν (1549, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 51, 93.5) νὰ τὸν στήσουν μπροστὰ εἰς τὸν θεόν DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 4, 82v.14 (1561) ὅσα τὸ φάγουν, μεθύουσιν LANDOS, Geopon. 245.22 νὰ μείνουν μονάχοι ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 33.21–2 νὰ μὴν τὸ ἡμπαρκάρουν Leilasia Par. 434

Deletion of final /n/, resulting in -ου, is a common morphophonological phenomenon in southern regions, the Heptanese and the Aegean, not restricted to verb endings (for details, see I, 3.7.2.2):

νὰ μοῦ τὴν στρέψου Pol. Tr. 1512 app. crit. (B) νὰ τὸν φουρκίσου, οὐ νὰ τὸν κάψου Assizes B 446.16 νὰ κάμου δύο κλιζιόλες (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 148.39) νὰ ποίσου στάβλους ἐκκλησιῆς Anak. Konst. 63 ὡσάν ἐγροικήσου (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 61.6); νὰ τὸν φουρκίσου (1487, ibid. 17, 92.15) νὰ κηδεύσου τὸ πῆλινό μου σῶμα (1506, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: 1 [A], 223.11) νὰ ποιήσου Diig. Alex. F 192.5 (Lolos); θέλουν ἀρχιρίσου νὰ φεύγουν ibid. 246.11 νὰ γερέψου νὰ πάρου τὰ χωράφια (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 10, 133.9) νὰ πουλήσου τῷ Ραχιδιῷ τὸ πρᾶμα νὰ πάρου τὸ ἀμπέλι (1573 [copy of 1650], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17, 72.22–3) νὰ τὴν ἐταφιάσου (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 172, 141.28) (< ἐνταφιάζω) εἰς τὰ ὅσαν ἔχουν νὰ λάβου καὶ νὰ περιλάβου (1636, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1993: 2, 291.10) νὰν τὰ κάνου ὡς θέλου καὶ βούλονται (1644, Lefkada, RONDOYANNIS 2005: 2, 441.16) θέλουν ἀπογράψου ἑκατὸ τὸ ὄνομάν τως (1647, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 16, 88.17) νὰ τοῦ στιμάρου οἱ προεστοὶ (1667, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [7], 25.16) (< Ven. stimàr) νὰ ἐβγάλου (1667, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 19, 90.18)

Forms with an added -(ν)ε (see I, 2.6.3.3), resulting in -ουνε, are first encountered in the 14th c., with two instances in Chron. Mor. H. The ending -ουνε can be found in a variety of texts, both literary and non-literary, though especially frequently in texts from south-western regions and the Aegean:³⁸ καὶ φυλακέψουνέ τον Chron. Mor. H 4292; καὶ πιάσουνέ μας ibid. 8312 ἄς κρατήσουνε Liv. E 1616 εἶτε καὶ ζήσουνε (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 265.34) τί νὰ ποιήσουνε Diig. Alex. F 170.3 (Lolos) νὰ μὲ μνημονεύσουνε (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 237, 144.10) νὰ μὴ μὲ γελάσουν ... καὶ φέρουνε μας ψεύτικη γραφὴν (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.34)

 νὰ τὰ μαζώξουνε (1573, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 4, 14.36)

³⁸ Two examples in the Cypriot Assizes, διὰ νὰ ποίσουνε Assizes A 3.8 and νὰ τοὺς πλερώσουνε ἐπεσαῦτα ibid. 71.9, can be discarded as misreadings. In the first example the editor mistook the raised ligature for -ας in πάντας at the end of the line immediately below for an epsilon and the second example actually reads νὰ τοὺς πλερώσουν ἐπεσαῦτα.

ὅσοι ἡξεύρουνε νὰ γράψουνε (1587 [late 17th–early 18th c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 484.6) ὅτι νὰ στέρξουνε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.6; δὲν ἠθέλαν νὰ σμίξουνε ibid. 31.15 δὲν μποροῦνε νὰν τόνε καταλάβουνε (1612, Monemvasia region, BROUSKARI 1981: 315.33)

νὰ ντεσπενσάρουνε τὸ στάμπελε (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 198.136) (< Ven. despensàr)

νὰ τὸ ξετιμώσουνε (1638, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 105, 105.10)

γιά νὰ τὲς ἀγαπήσουνε MONTSEL., Evgena 177

μὴν σοῦ κάμουνε (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 25.8) νὰ μιλήσουνε (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.24)

νὰ μὲ ὑπερετήσουνε (1682, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 8, 184.8)

ποὺ νὰ σὲ κατακάψουνε EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 26.8–9; θὰ τὰ μεράσουνε ibid. 42.21

A spelling -ον for -ουν may occur in varieties of the language that are prone to vowel raising (cf. δεύτιρου for δεύτερο; see I, 2.5.4), and must be viewed as a form of hyper-correction: νὰ βάλον δεύτιρου κουμέρκι (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 9, 73.11).

In 3 pl. forms formed from the alternative perfective vowel stems of ὑπά(γ)ω (πα-) and τρώ(γ)ω (φα-) vowel deletion usually occurs (see 2.2.2.3 for details), although forms without it can sporadically be found:³⁹ νὰ πάουν ἔως τὸν ρήγα (1610, Mani, FLORISTÁN 2008: 2, 282.7) (< πάγουν).

Pl.	3	-ωσι(ν)/-οσι(ν)

The residual subjunctive ending -ωσι(ν) can be found in various texts, though usually as isolated instances alongside forms in -ουσι or -ουν, which are more frequent (see above). Only texts and documents that aim for a higher register use this ending with any systematicity. The (unhistorical) spelling -οσι(ν) for -ωσι(ν) is usually adopted in monotonic editions.

ἵνα ποιήσωσι (1117, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 3, 512.13)

πρὶν σὲ καταδεσμήσωσι GLYKAS, Stichoi 537

τὸ πότε νὰ μὲ κράξωσι νὰ φάγω προσεδόκουν Ptoch. I 263 ὅπως νὰ καταλάβωσιν Chron. Mor. H 7853 ὅς φθάσωσιν Liv. V 17

νὰ μηδὲν χολιάσωσι καὶ καταλύσωσί σε Pol. Tr. 557

(ἵνα ...) πουντελειάσωσιν κατὰ τὸ ἔθος τῶν πολεμούντων KANANOS, Diig. 59.143–4

νὰ τὸ φυλάξωσι τελείως (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 285.20)

(μήπως ...) καὶ τὰ ἐμὰ πρόσκαιρα ἀγαθὰ ἀδιόρθωτα μείνωσιν (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 16, 227.3–4) ὅταν τύχοσι καὶ τὸν εὔροσι, τότε ζητοῦσι νὰ φύγουν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 112.11 νὰ τὰ ρουφήσωσιν Pist. kekoim. 6 οἱ αμαθεῖς νὰ τα καταλάβωσι DIONYS., Istor. 252.5

ὅσο που νὰ φοφήσωσιν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 1892; ἔχουν καταντήσωσιν ibid. 8708

θὲ νὰ μοιράσωσιν (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 303.46)

ἐγδέχονται νὰ ἀκούσωσι Leilasia Par. 160

³⁹ Often such uncontracted forms are graphematic, as becomes clear from the following example from the Chronicle of Morea, in which νὰ ὑπάουν should be read as two syllables: εἶπαν κ' ἔσυμβουλευτήσαν νὰ ὑπάουν κι αὐτοὶ στὴν Πόλιν Chron. Mor. H 519.

4.2.2 Passive Voice

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	1	γραφῶ
	2	γραφεῖς/γραφῆς
	3	γραφεῖ/γραφῇ	γραφεῖν/γραφῆν
Pl.	1	γραφοῦμε(ν)	γραφῶμε(ν) γραφούμενε γραφοῦμι(ν)
	2	γραφεῖτε/γραφῆτε	γραφεῖτεν/-ῆτεν γραφεῖτενε
	3	γραφοῦσι(ν) γραφοῦν	γραφούσινε γραφοῦ γραφοῦνε	γραφῶσι(ν)

Distribution of Allomorphs

1st Person Singular

Sg.	1	-ῶ

For 1 sg. -ῶ is the only ending in both literary and non-literary texts throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods:

νὰ λουθῶ Ptoch. IV 154

οὐ μὴ μαχεσθῶ αὐτὰ ποτέ (app. crit.) (1346/7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 256.34)

ὥσάν ὀρίσει καὶ πληρωθῶ ἱερὲς (1357–60, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 237, 364.3) ἐὰν σοῦ ταχτῶ Assizes B 409.24

καὶ θέλω νὰ διατακτῶ Achil. L 233

νὰ κρυβηθῶ [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1255 νὰ καλογερευθῶ CHEILAS, Chron. 352.8–9 νὰ κοιμηθῶ ἐθυμήθην BERGADIS, Apok. A 3

νὰ κρυπτῶ Syndipas 110.24 ὅταν ευρεθῶ ἔξω ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 2.7

να σιχαθῶ Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 249

πιάσ' με, νὰ ζήσης, νὰ γερθῶ! CHORTATIS, Katz. III.513 νὰ ξεῖντριγαριστῶ (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 2, 361.7) (< ξε- + Ven. intrigàr) ἀφόντις τήνε στεφανωθῶ Bertoldos 60.26

νὰ μὴ θαπτῶ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 928

2nd Person Singular

Sg.	2	-εῖς/-ῆς

The 2 sg. ending /'is/ shows no variation other than in spelling throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods:

μὴ φοβηθῆς τὸ σύνολον GLYKAS, Stichoi 536 ἐκεῖνο δὲ τὸ ὑποσχεθῆς Spaneas P 184 οὐδὲ νὰ τοὺς τακτῆς (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 21.124) σὺ μὲν μεγάλως τιμηθῆς Ptoch. III 75 νὰ δοξασθῆς Dig. E 750; νὰ στερηθῆς τὴν νεότην σου ibid. 861 τοῦτην νὰ ἀλειφθῆς Pol. Tr. 540; μὴδὲν σκιασθῆς ibid. 559 νὰ συγχωρεθῆς Velth. 555 (Cupane); νὰ πνιγῆς ibid. 639 καὶ δὲ νὰ 'φεληθῆς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 642.31–2 γιὰ νὰ χαρεῖς δουμάκι KORONAIOS, Pittakin 122 καὶ γιὰ νὰ μὲν τὸ βαρεθῆς Theseid Prol. E 148 νὰ ἀποδεκτεῖς MOREZINOS, Klini 278.38 ἄν θυμηθῆς Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1210 νὰ τὲς δεχθεῖς Bertoldos 66.30 ἔχεις νὰ κολαστῆς βέβαια PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §9.36 θέλεις πλερωθῆς (1685, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 31, 113.22–3) θέλεις ἐπιμεληθῆς περὶ τοῦτου τοῦ ἔργου (1699, Sinai, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 8, 64.20)

3rd Person Singular

Sg.	3	-εῖ/-ῆ ! -εῖν/-ῆν

For 3 sg. the standard ending is stressed /i/:

ἄν οὐ πιασθῇ καὶ δαμασθῇ GLYKAS, Stichoi 128; κουκκίν–κουκκίν ἄν σωρευθῇ ibid. 183 νὰ κρυβηθῇ ἐγύρευσεν Poulol. 319 νὰ 'κανωθῇ Assizes A 160.6
 δὲ δύνεται νὰ βοηθηθῇ FALIEROS, Thrinis 190 καὶ εἶπεν του νὰ βλεπηθεῖ VOUSTR., Chron. A 46.11 νὰ ρεβεζιαστῇ Fior 94.10–11 (< Occit. revengear se) ἀφόντις στοίβαχτῇ ἡ πόλβερη (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.38); νὰ βραχῇ
 (ibid. 66.1)
 ὅ,τι τὼς φανῇ (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 217.26) διὰ νὰ μὴν καγεῖ ἡ γῆς KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 133.13 ἄν αὐξυνθῇ (1653–5, Venice, FONKIČ 2000: 240, f.1v.22) ἀπ' ὅ,τι σπαρθῇ (1660, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 29, 176.29) νὰ τελειωθῇ λόγος τῆς βασιλείας σου KONDAR., Paidēs 169 ἄν εὐρεθῇ NEOFYOTOS, Achouri 45 νὰ ἐλευτερωθῇ (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999a: 1, 277.7) νὰ εξαλειφθεῖ Don Kis. 45.1

Addition of final /n/ occurs occasionally in texts from various areas:

μέλλει νὰ δουλωθεῖν εἰς ἐμέν (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 272.9–10) καὶ ἄν ἐνι ὅτι τὸ μοναστήριν οὐδὲν τὴν δεκτεῖν Assizes A 124.2

ἡ κόρη νὰ ἄρμαστῇν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 8.36–7 νὰ βαλθεῖν ἡ καινούρια καμπάνα (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 436, 659.19)

1st Person Plural

Pl.	1	-οὔμε(ν) † -ούμενε † -οὔμι(ν)

The ending -οὔμε(ν) is the normal ending for 1 pl. throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

ἄς ἀγωνιστοῦμεν NIKON, Logos 9 316.19 μὴ ἀναπαγοῦμεν Dig. E 884; ἄς θαραπαυθοῦμεν Dig. E 1382 πρὶν πνιγοῦμεν δὸς τὸν ναῦλον Paroim. H 36 νὰ μὴν πνιγούμεν ὅλοι μας Apoll. Rim. A 920; α θες νὰ μὴν χαθοῦμε ibid. 923 νὰ χωριστοῦμεν Diig. Alex. E 184.17 (Konstantinopulos) νὰ θυμηθοῦμεν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 96 νὰ διαλεκτοῦμ' ἀντάμα ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Voen. 141 πρῶτον νὰ νιπτούμεν Martyr. Vlas. 247.4 εἰ δὲ καὶ ἄφνου ἀρπακτοῦμεν ἀτελείωτοι Pist. kekoim. 475 ὅτι νὰ κάμνωμεν καλὰ νὰ σωθοῦμεν (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 233.10–11) νὰ λογαριαστοῦμεν (1613, Naxos, CHASIOTIS 1966: 15, 206.7) νὰ βαλθοῦμεν (1645, Jassy, LEGRAND 1903: 5, 12.5) θέλει πειραχθοῦμεν (1654, Chios, ZERLENDIS 1917: 3, 245.3) ὥστε ποὺ συμμαζωχοῦμε (1685, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 8, 331.12) διὰ νὰ σὲ δεχθοῦμεν Alex. Fyll. 90.20 ἀν κυβερνηθοῦμεν καλὰ Don Kis. 177.2

Forms in -ούμενε have been found in texts from Crete and Chios but are likely to have had a wider geographical distribution (for addition of -(ν)ε see I, 2.6.3.3): ἔλα νὰ παντρευτούμενε FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.594; μὴδὲ χαθοῦμενε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 544.2; γιὰ νὰ μὴν στερευτούμενε τὴν ἀκριβὴ μας κόρη PETRITSIS, Dig. O 760.

Forms in which /i/ is substituted for /e/ bear witness to mid-vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4): νὰ μὴ ζημιωθοῦμι (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 9, 73.10).

Pl.	1	-ῶμε(ν)

The residual ending -ῶμε(ν) can be found occasionally, especially in early and mixed-register texts:

ἀλλὰ σφαγῶμεν ἅπαντες Dig. G I.261 (same in A 481 and T 46); ἵνα μὴ χωρισθῶμεν ibid. VIII.112 ὅταν τὰ τρία δώσωμεν καὶ πάντες συναχθῶμεν Ptoch. IV 166 μὴ σταθῶμεν ἀμφότεροι Dig. E 1778 μήπως ... ζημιωθῶμεν Pol. Tr. 840 app. crit. (BV) ἄς στραφῶμεν Velth. 155 μὴ τώρα φονευθῶμεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 570 εὐφρανθῶμεν πάντες Spanos D 1321 ἐξότου ἀναστῶμεν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2942 νὰ χωρισθῶμεν Diig. Alex. E 185.13 (Konstantinopulos) νὰ διαλεχθῶμεν μετὰ τοῦ Αἰσώπου Vios Aisop. K 173.27 ὅπως συνευφρανθῶμεν LANDOS, Geopon. Dedic. 128.21 ἐὰν παραδοθῶμεν Alex. Fyll. 45.5

2nd Person Plural

Pl.	2	-εἴτε/-ῆτε ἰ -εἴτεν/-ῆτεν ἰ (-εἴτενε/-ῆτενε)

For 2 pl. the standard ending is /'ite/:

καὶ νὰ τὸ θαυμαστῆτε Pol. Tr. 7138 μηδὲν πλανηθῆτε εἰς τῶν Φραγγῶν τὰ λόγια (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.15) πᾶτε νὰ γλυτωθῆτε Anak. Konst. 34 κι εἰσμιὸ ν' ἀγαπηθῆτε FALIEROS, Log. did. 298 ὅπου νὰ χαθῆτε Diig. Alex. F 184.19 (Konstantinopulos) μὴ λάχη ... καὶ κατασκοτωθῆτε CHORTATIS, Katz. III.438 νὰ ἐλεγχθεῖτε Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 127.26 νὰ ἐπιμεληθεῖτε (1693, Nauplion, TSELENDI 1978: 5, 241.11) νὰ ετοιμασθεῖτε ἀφ' αὐτοῦ σας Don Kis. 49.37–50.1

Addition of final /n/ has been found in a text from Chios; no forms in -εἴτενε have been found in the texts examined, but they are likely to have been in use, as the addition can be found with similar endings (cf. e.g. 4.2.3; see also I, 2.6.3.3): νὰ θαυμαχθῆτεν πᾶμπολλα VEST., Prol. Theot. 392.

3rd Person Plural

Pl.	3	-οῦσι(ν) ἰ -οῦσινε

The inherited ending -οῦσι(ν), with or without final /n/, is very common and occurs in texts from all areas:

ὁ,τι δ' ἂν βουληθοῦσιν (1234, Sicily, CARUSO 1976: 1, 323.16) νὰ χωριστοῦσι Assizes B 364.29 νὰ τοὺς ἀποδεχθοῦσιν Diig. tetr. 47 νὰ τὴν περιχαροῦσιν Pol. Tr. 280 app. crit. (AV); νὰ κοιμηθοῦσιν ibid. 432 app. crit. (ABV) πᾶ ν' ἀναπαγοῦσι Imb. Rim. 565 ὅταν πωληθοῦσιν (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 230, 163.9) νὰ ζαμηναριστοῦσι (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 180.50) (< Ven. esaminàr) νὰ χαλαστοῦσιν (1609, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 8, 3.9) ἀνίσως καὶ οἱ συμπεθέροι μας ἀνακατωθοῦσι (1612, Monemvasia region, BROUSKARI 1981: 316.75) ἄς ξεκαθαριστοῦσιν (1613, Naxos, CHASIoTIS 1966: 15, 206.14) νὰ μὴν χαλαστοῦσι (1654, Chios, ZERLENDIS 1917: 3, 244.20) νὰ δικαιολογηθοῦσι (1668, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 12, 27.14) νὰ στερκτοῦσι νὰ πᾶσι (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.17) ἄχ, καὶ ἄς εἴχασι πνιγοῦσι Paidi stavr. 4 νὰ σκιακτοῦσι Leilasias Par. 272

Addition of -(ν)ε has been found in texts from Crete, but will have had a wider geographical spread (see I, 2.6.3.3):

νὰ ἀποδεκτούσινε τὸν ἄρχοντα MOREZINOS, Klini 45.36–7 (μὴ πὰ νὰ λάχη ...) καὶ καταξηλωθούσινε CHORTATSI, Katz. V.143; κι ὅσες φορές στραφούσινε id., Panor. I.455; νὰ σκοτωθούσινε id., Erof. Interm. II.148 κι ὅσοι ἀπ' αὐτὸ χαθούσινε Stathis Prol. 19 ὅσοι κι ἄ γεννηθούσινε P&N Diath. 965 διὰ ὅσο πουληθούσινε (1607, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 3, 5.21–2) νὰ ψυγούσινε TROILOS, Rodol. V.562 ν' ἀναπαγούσινε FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.651 νὰ γιαιγερθούσινε (1663, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 6, 416.20–1) νὰ σταθούσινε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 153.10; νὰ μηδὲν κουραστούσινε ibid. 265.7; νὰ συμβουλευτούσινε ibid. 513.20; τὴ χώρα ν' ἀρνηθούσινε ibid. 546.4

Pl.	3	-οῦν -οῦ -οῦνε

The ending -οῦν, which with the active present of oxytone E-stem verbs first appears in written texts shortly before the beginning of the LMedG period (see 4.1.2.1) and which is now the SMG ending, is used with the passive subjunctive throughout the period covered by this Grammar:

ἀφοῦ δὲ ἐκ τὴν τράπεζαν ἐγερθεοῦν οἱ ἀδελφοί ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 100.31 νὰ δοθεοῦν (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.38); ἄν χρειαστοῦν καὶ ἄλλα (ibid. 81.40) νὰ γομωστοῦν Dig. E 637 νὰ σπαρτοῦν Assizes B 407.26 νὰ μαδευθεοῦν, νὰ συναχθεοῦν Diig. tetr. 94 νὰ δοθεοῦν ὑπέρπυρα δεκαέξι (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 146.3) ὁποθεν εὔρεθεοῦν (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 275.24) νὰ ξηλειφθεοῦν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 14.6; ν' ἀννοικτοῦν οἱ στράτες ibid. 200.8 νὰ μαδευτοῦν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 518; νὰ ᾽ποδεχθεοῦν ibid. 655 νὰ δοθεοῦν δουκάτα δύο (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.22) νὰ κλειστοῦν τὰ πηγάδια (1563, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 238, 233.35) γὰρ δὲν τς ἀφήνει νὰ χαθοῦν CHORTATSI, Katz. III.427 νὰ δαρθεοῦν ZYGOM., Synopsis 132.A.60 νὰ παραδοθεοῦν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.13 γὰρ νὰ μὴν ντροπιστοῦν KONDAR., Paidēs 98 καὶ δὲν εἶχαν σκλαβωθεοῦν Paidi stavr. 3 δὲν πρέπει νὰ καγούν Don Kis. 36.9; νὰ κτυπηθεοῦν ibid. 52.8

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in texts from Crete and the Aegean, and in the Cypriot chronicle of Voustronios (end of sentence; see 3.7.2.2 for details):

θέλου ἀνακατωθοῦ οὔλοι οἱ Χριστιανοὶ (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 61.7) ἀρχέψαν ν' ἀνακατωθοῦ VOUSTR., Chron. A 16.11 νὰ φανοῦ ἔμπροσθεν (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 86, 162.90) ἄν μπατρευτοῦ (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 423, 643.27)

Addition of -(ν)ε occurs in texts from south-western areas and the Aegean (see also I, 3.7.2.2):

μ' ἐσένα νὰ χαροῦνε Alex. Rim. 2734 νὰ ἐξετασθοῦνε (1607, Corfu, KARADOCHOS 1990: 37, 251.8) νὰ ἐλετξεριστοῦνε (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.10–11) (= ἐλετξεριστοῦνε < Ital. eleggiere) νὰ γκρεμιστοῦνε DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 412 νὰ ξεκαθαριστοῦνε (1674, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 3, 122.8–9) μποροῦνε νὰ μπαρκαριστοῦνε (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 508.63) (< Ital. imbarcarsi); θέλει ἀρριβαριστοῦνε ὀμπροστά (ibid. 508.63) (< Ital. arrivare) (author from Mani)

Pl.	3	-ῶσι(ν)

The residual 3 pl. subjunctive ending -ῶσι(ν) is sometimes used, but mainly in mixed-register texts:

ὅς περισυναχῶσιν Liv. V 17 νὰ τὴν περιχαρῶσιν Pol. Tr. 280; νὰ κοιμηθῶσιν ibid. 432 ὅς δοθῶσιν πρὸς ἐκείνους ERMON., Ilias 12.158 διὰ νὰ βοηθηθῶσι (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 285.4); νὰ μηδὲν μεταβληθῶσιν
 (ibid. 285.20–1)
 ἵνα χωριστῶσιν (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.11) διὰ νὰ μὴ μιανθῶσιν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 363.27 ἐὰν κυβερνηθῶσιν ὡς πρέπει SOFIANOS, Paidag. 98.12–13 νὰ δαρθῶσι ZYGOM., Synopsis 132.A.60 ἵνα καὶ οἱ χριστιανοὶ σωθῶσι Vios Ioann. Eleim. 266.43–4 παρὰ νὰ φανισθῶσιν ἐναντίοι ΜΑΚΟΛΑΣ, Ioust. 424.29

4.2.3 Verbs with Barytone and Oxytone Forms

As mentioned in the introduction to 4.2, a small number of verbs have both barytone and oxytone subjunctive forms for the active voice. This group of verbs includes certain verbs that originally had thematic aorists and prefixed forms of βαίνω, as well as the verb γίνομαι, which originally had aorist middle forms (γένωμαι), for which see also 2.4.

Verbs that had thematic aorists, among which ἦλθον (ἔρχομαι), ἤρυν (εὐρίσκω), εἶπον (λέγω), ἔμαθον (μανθάνω/μαθαίνω), εἶδον (ὁράω/βλέπω), ἔπιον (πίνω) and ἔφαγον (τρῶγω), originally had paroxytone subjunctive forms, which made use of the endings of the first aorist since Antiquity (e.g. ἔλθω, εὐρω, εἶπω, μάθω, ἰδω, πῖω, φάγω), and they continue to do so throughout the period under review. Some of these verbs developed oxytone variants (ἐλθῶ, εὐρῶ, εἶπῶ, μαθῶ, ἰδῶ, πιῶ) before the period under review.⁴⁰ The verbs βλέπω, ἔρχομαι, εὐρίσκω, λέγω and πίνω continue to have both variants throughout the period covered by this Grammar; cf. the infinitive of these verbs, which also has both paroxytone and oxytone variants (4.6.2.3), as well as the imperative, which, however, shows a marked preference for the oxytone forms (4.5.2.4). These oxytone subjunctive endings are identical to those of the present of oxytone E-stem verbs, and are also used for the passive subjunctive of the first aorist (see below).

⁴⁰ Oxytone forms can for instance be found in papyri, e.g. ἐλθῶ in PLips. 110.16–18 (probably 3rd/4th c.) and in PAmh. 144.13 (5th c.), both quoted in GIGNAC 1981: 289; and in other early texts, e.g. ἵνα μαθῆς Acta Alexandrinorum 18. col2.12 (2nd/3rd c.; ed. Musurillo); in John Chrysostom we find ἵνα μαθῆς ὑπομονήν Ad eos qui scandalizati sunt 8, 7.9 (4th/5th c.; ed. Malingrey); ἐὰν ἐπελθὼν ὁ θάνατος λαβῇ id., In Genesim PG 54, 629A; in Romanos the Melode (6th c.), ἔτι ἀπαξ ἂν εἶπῶ, μὴ ὀργισθῆς μοι Romanos, Hymns 19.11.3; ἵν' ἰδῶσι ibid. 27.13.7; ὡς γὰρ ... εὐρῇ τοὺς ἀπειθοῦντας ibid. 54.13.1 (ed. Grosdidier de Matons); and in Photios (9th c.) citing Iob Monachos, Oikonomiki Pragmateia (6th c.): «ἵνα δὲ ἰδῇτε ὅτι ἐξουσίαν ἔχει ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου» Photios, Bibliotheca cod. 222, 195b.10–11 (ed. Henry).

Similarly, the verb γίνομαι, which also has a monosyllabic perfective stem (γεν- or γιν-), displays both stress patterns, though this may also be attributed to the fact that in the period covered by this Grammar this verb has active and passive variants for most of its perfective forms (inf. γένει(ν) and γενεῖ(ν); aor. ind. ἔγινα and ἐγένην/ἐγίνην/ἐγένηκα/ἐγίνηκα); for more information on this verb's rich morphology see 2.4.

Prefixed forms of βαίνω, which originally had oxytone subjunctive forms, developed alternative barytone forms (e.g. καταβαίνω, καταβῶ and κατάβω).⁴¹ These barytone forms often have a pseudo-augment (see the introduction to Chapter 3) which bears the stress, e.g. ἀνέβω, ἐξέβω,⁴² κατέβω, which is more or less obligatory when the prefix is συν- or ὑπερ-: we thus find συνέβει, but not *σύμβει, ὑπερέβω, but not *ὑπέρβω. The oxytone forms, too, may occur with (unstressed) pseudo-augment (ἀνεβῶ, ἐξεβῶ, κατεβῶ), though not when the prefix is συν- or ὑπερ-: συμβεῖ, not *συνεβεῖ, ὑπερβῶ not *ὑπερεβῶ.

Barytone forms of which the stem starts in a vowel (e.g. ἔβγω, εἴπω, ἔλθω/ἔρθω, ἔμπω, εὔρω, ἴδω) may lose their initial vowel after a word ending in a vowel with which they form a phonological unit (typically a conjunction, relative or clitic pronoun). The stress of the verb form then transfers to the last syllable of the preceding word, e.g. καθέζου ἐσὺ καὶ τό 'δης Achil. O 659 (see also I, 2.9.2 and 4.2.2). Oxytone forms, too, may lose their initial vowel, e.g. νὰ μέ δοῦσιν Dig. E 1441; νὰ βγῆς ἀπὸ τὸν κόσμον Peri xen. 325; νὰ δῆτε [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2218; νὰ 'ρθῇ (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 2, 22.13). This leads to the development of monosyllabic singular and disyllabic plural forms in the EMG period, which can even appear after a word ending in a consonant, for all verbs but ἔρχομαι⁴³ (cf. the imperative and infinitive of these verbs 4.5.2.4, 4.6.2.3), e.g.:

εἴτιναν δὼ εἰς τὴν μάχην τοῦ πολέμου Achil. L 158; καὶ νὰ τὸν πῶ ἀκάρδιον ibid. 197 καὶ ἄς ποῦν τὸ δίκιον πασανὸς καὶ ἄς ποῦσι τὰ γρικήσου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 674 διὰ τινὰν μὲν πῆς κακόν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 466.1
γυρεῦει λόγια νὰ τοὺς πῆ Fyll. gadar. 44 να σας 'πώ Apoll. Rim. N 1070 ας βγούσι CHORTATIS, Panor. II.408 στο σπῖτι μέσα ἄς μποῦμε Stathis III.572 καὶ κύμινον ὅσον βρῆτε Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1116 ἄν πῆς MONTSEL., Evgena 397 ὡς δούμεν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4378 ὅσοι κι ἂ βγῆτε ζωντανοὶ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 316.17 νὰ μάς δοῦσιν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2677

⁴¹ Early examples include: δεῦρο, ἀδελφέ, κατάβωμεν ἐπὶ τὸν 'λορδάνην Moschos, Leimon Suppl. 370.3 (ed. Nissen 1938; 6th c.; 11th-c. ms); ὅτε κατάβῃ ὁ βασιλεὺς De Ceremoniis 477.19 (ed. Reiske; 10th c.; ms 10th c.).

⁴² When the prefix is ἐκ-, the pseudo-augment is often present: ἐξέβω not ἔκβω, though we do find ἔβγω and, of ἔμπαινω, ἔμπω.

⁴³ The consonant clusters /lθ/ and /rθ/ in ἐλθῶ/ἐρθῶ cannot appear word-initially in Greek.

Barytone and oxytone forms appear side by side throughout the LMedG and EMG periods and are equally frequent for all verbs but βλέπω (ῖδω/(ι)δῶ) and λέγω (εἴπω/(εἰ)πῶ), for which oxytone forms are clearly more common. Barytone and oxytone forms can often be found side by side, especially in verse texts, for which the different stress patterns are particularly convenient – ἄς κατεβοῦν οἱ ἐρχόμενοι, καὶ ἄς ἔμπουν οἱ χαμένοι Def. Par. 323 – but also in prose texts and in non-literary sources: εἶχε νὰ γένη VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 37.34 and ἴντα μέλλει νὰ γενῇ ibid. 38.15–16; ἐὰν ἐρθοῦν ἀπὸ τὴν σκλαβιά (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 16, 227.9–10) and εἰ δὲ καὶ οὐδὲν ἔρθουν (ibid. 227.11); ποῖος ἤθελεν νὰ ἔλθῃ νὰ εἰπῇ (1653–5, Venice, FONKIC 2000: 239, f.1r.17).

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	1	-ω -ῶ
	2	-εις/-ης -εῖς/-ῆς
	3	-ει/-η -εῖ/-ῆ	-ειν/-ην -εῖν/-ῆν
Pl.	1	-ομε(ν)/-ωμε(ν) -οῦμε(ν)	-ούμενε	-ῶμε(ν)/-όμε(ν) -ουμε(ν)
	2	-ετε -εῖτε/-ῆτε	-ητε -ετεν ἢ -ετενε -εῖτεν/-ῆτεν ἢ -εῖτενε/-ῆτενε
	3	-ουσι(ν) -οῦσι(ν) -ουν -οῦν	-ουσινε -οὔσινε -ου ἢ -ουνε -οῦ ἢ -οῦνε	-ωσι(ν)/-οσι(ν) -ῶσι(ν)

Singular

1st Person

Sg.	1	-ω

Barytone forms in -ω appear throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar in texts from all areas, though mostly in literary texts:

- καὶ ἄλλα, ὅσα εἶπω ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 152.28; εἶτε γραφὴν ἂν εὖρω id., Logos 9 312.5
 νὰ ἀπέλθω (1144?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 9, 313.5) καὶ εἶπω ὅτι μάθε το γραμματικά νὰ ζήση Ptoch. III 110 νὰ εἶπω σαρακηνικά RUMI, Poem I 2 μὴ ἴδω τοῦτον ἄφωνον Chron. Mor. H 1853; τὰ οὐκ ἔπρεπε νὰ εἶπω ibid. 5557 νὰ ῥθω Dig. E 381 μέλλει νὰ ἔλθω (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 101.10) ὀλίγα λόγια καὶ καλὰ θέλω δι' αὐτοὺς νὰ εἶπω Alosis 70 νὰ τοῦ εἶπω τὴν ἀλήθειαν SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 62 transcr. N (Lendari) ἐγὼ νὰ σέ εἶπω Achil. N 312; καὶ ἂν οὐκ ἴδω σε σύντομαν ibid. 1105 οὐκ ἴδω τὸν πατέρα μου [ANDR. PALAIOLOG., Kallim. 126 ὅταν ἔλθω νὰ τὸν πάρω PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §22.11; μήνα εὖρω καλὸ ξύλο ibid. IV §15.33 καὶ λέγει μου γιὰ νὰ ῥθω VEST., Prol. Theot. 348 διὰ νὰ εἶπω καὶ τὰ ἐπιλοιπα Diig. Sant. 59.74–5 τὴν πρώτῃν βαλανιδιὰν οἱ ποὺ νὰ εὖρω Don Kis. 46.36–47.1
- ἄς διάβω Vios Philaret. 236 app. crit. (G) (9th c.; 11th-c. ms) νὰ ἀνάβω εἰς τὸν ξενῶνα Ptoch. IV 442; ἄς διάβω ἀπὸ τὸν Φόρον ibid. 456 παρὰ νὰ διάβω ἀπ' ἐδῶ Chron. Mor. H 8397 νὰ μὴ ἔβγω Pol. Tr. 6881 νὰ ἔμπω εἰς τὸ κάστρον Liv. V 1235 μὴδὲ ἔμπω εἰς ἀγάπην Achil. L 642 εἰς Ἄδην συγκατέβω Velth. 63 νὰ ἐξέβω εἰς ἀναγύρευσιν Imber. 810 ἀλλ' ἔμπω πρὸς τὸν κηπουρὸν [ANDR. PALAIOLOG., Kallim. 1632 νὰ μὲν ἔβγω ἀππῶδε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 380.2–3 δὲν μὲ ἄφηναν νὰ σέβω DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 27, Γ6ν.36 (1561); ὡσὰν ἐξέβω ibid. Γ7ρ.11 καὶ νὰ ἔβγω δὲν ἐμπόρου CHORTATIS, Katz. II.167; κ' ἀνέβω ἀπάνω σπῖτι τῇ ibid. III.480; τ' ἄλλα, σὰν ἔμπω σπῖτι τοὺς ibid. V.446 ἄς σέβω καὶ ἐγὼ PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §7.50 ἐὰν κατέβω εἰς τὴν γῆν Alex. Fyll. 93.12
- ἐκκλησιαστικὸς διάκονος νὰ γένω Ptoch. III 219 νὰ γένω Liv. V 274 ἐγνώριμη νὰ γένω Pol. Tr. 334 app. crit. (BE) νὰ γένω βασιλέας Chron. Mor. P 956 ἐπειδὴ μέλλω νὰ γένω φαγὶ σου ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 79.3
 μὲ ἔδιδαν μαρτύριον νὰ γένω Τούρκισσα (1583, Athens?, MERTZIOS 1954: 1, 124.17) τι νὰ γίνω ο ἐπτωχὸς Vios Filaret. 239.36 νὰ γίνω βασιλέας Chron. Tourk. Soutl. 139.12–13 νὰ μὴν γένω κεφίλης PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §30.7 κ' ἐγ' ἀφορμὴ νὰ γίνω ΚΟΝΔΑΡ., Paides 126 ἀν γίνω ἐγὼ τὸ ὄργανον τοιοῦτου μεγάλου κακοῦ Don Kis. 102.17

Sg.	1	-ω

Oxytone forms in -ō are no less frequent than paroxytone forms throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods. As noted in the introduction to this section, for the stems ἰδ- (βλέπω) and εἶπ- (λέγω) oxytone forms are more common than barytone forms, especially in the EMG period:

- νὰ εἶπῶ Achil. N 2; νὰ ἰδῶ τοὺς ἀντρειωμένους ibid. 257 νὰ σᾶς εἶπῶ τὸ τί ᾽δα Om. Nekt. Vas. 1 νὰ εἶπῶ (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 9, 41.31) νὰ σᾶς τοὺς εἶπῶ Vios. Aisop. K 201.1 νὰ φάω, νὰ πιῶ μὲ τὸ Χάροντα Nov. II 162.35 νὰ σὲ ἰδῶ CHORTATIS, Katz. II.164 λαλήσετε νὰ τὸν ἰδῶ Diig. Alex. Sem. S 224 νὰ ἰδῶ ἀστενημένον PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §7.2; νὰ σὲ τὸ εἶπῶ ibid. III §22.1
 καθ' ὑπόθεσιν νὰ εἶπῶ (1665, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 58, 172.16) δὲν ἠμπορώ νὰ σε τα εἶπῶ Don Kis. 136.31 καὶ ἄφες ἐμὲ νὰ κατεβῶ PARASPOND., Machi Varnas 353 πριχοῦ ἐμπῶ στὸν τάφον LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 833 εἰς ἀγκάλες νὰ σεβῶ Achil. N 1052 δίχως σκάλες ν' ἀνεβῶ SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 21 transcr. P (Lendari) νὰ κατηβῶ ἐβιάσθην BERGADIS, Apok. V 53 ἀπὸ ἐκεῖ ὅπου ἐβγήκα νὰ ἐμπῶ Synax. gyn. 376 νὰ ἐξεβῶ Diig. Alex. F 148.18 (Lolos) δῶτε μου τόπο ν' ἀνεβῶ CHORTATIS, Katz. V.25; θα διαβῶ id., Panor. I.395 καὶ πὰ διαβῶ KONDAR., Paides 15 τὸ νὰ γενῶ τσαγγάρης Ptoch. III 145 νὰ γενῶ βασιλέας Chron. Mor. H 956 θέλω γενῶ ἐγνώριμη Pol. Tr. 334 app. crit. (A) περὶ νὰ γενῶ γυνὴ ἀλλουνοῦ ἀνδρός Diig. Alex. V 87.6
 γιὰ νὰ μὴν γενῶ συγκελέτι (1583, Athens?, MERTZIOS 1954: 1, 124.19) νὰ γενῶ Diig. Alex. Sem. S 107 κ' ἴντα νὰ γενῶ; Zinon II.97

Vowel-initial oxytone forms may lose their first unstressed vowel, initially when preceded by a vowel, but subsequently also after consonants (with the exception of ἴθῶ/ρῶ), resulting in monosyllabic forms (e.g. ἰδῶ > δῶ, εἶπῶ > πῶ, εὐρῶ > βρῶ, ἐβγῶ > βγῶ):

- ποῦ νὰ ἴθῶ Pol. Tr. 419 app. crit. (V) τὸ νὰ τὸ δῶ Om. Nekt. Vas. 46 νὰ δῶ κι ἐγὼ παρηγορία LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 833 μόνον νὰ δῶ τὴν κόρην [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2569 τί νὰ σοῦ πῶ, γογγυλοπίγουνε ὑγιέ BAROZZI, Letter 359.5
 ἂς δῶ ἴντα θέλει ὁ φαφλατάς Stathis I.182; ποιά ἔναι νὰ τὴν πῶ ibid. Interm. II 82 θεῖ νὰ τὸ βρῶ MONTSEL., Evgena 71 θὰ σᾶς-ε πῶ καὶ ἕνα κακό EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 48.1–2 νὰ βγῶ νὰ περπατήσω Om. Nekt. Vas. 5 δὲν θέλω νὰ μπῶ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 380.3 νὰ μπῶ στὸν φόβο τοῦτον MONTSEL., Evgena 424

2nd Person

Sg.	2	-εις/-ης

Barytone forms in /is/ appear throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar in texts from all areas:

- καὶ νὰ εὖρης τὴν ὠφέλειαν τοῦ ρητοῦ ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 312.4 πούλιν ἂν ἴδης, τρέμεις GLYKAS, Stichoi 148; καὶ πάλιν νὰ ἐπανέλθης ibid. 265 εἴτι κακὸν ἂν εἴπης Log. parig. L 361 (ed. εἴποις) νὰ μὴ ἴδης τὴν Συρίαν Chron. Mor. H 454; ἐὰν οὐ τὸ εἴπης σύντομα ibid. 6053 ἂν οὐδὲν ἔλθης τὸ γοργόν Dig. E 288; νὰ μὴ ἴδης ibid. 454 νὰ εὖρης τὸ γυρεύεις Liv. V 618; εἰς τὸ νὰ ἴδης ἄνθρωπον ibid. 1815; εἰς εἴτι εἴπης ibid. 2132 νὰ εἴπεις τὴν ἀλήθειαν Diig. Apoll. 69 ὥσαν ἔλθεις με τὸν Θεὸν (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.39) εἰς τὸ κρεβάτιν μόνον νὰ ἔλθης Diig. Alex. E 99.7–8 (Lolos); ὅπου εὖρης τὸν Ἀλέξανδρον ibid. 243.17 νὰ ἔλθεις μοναχὸς σου DAM. STOD., This., Logos 19, σ1v.19 (1561) νὰ σηκωθεῖς νὰ ἴθεις (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.13) ἂν ἔρθης CHORTATISIS, Katz. II.111 νὰ καταπίεις Bertoldos 13.28 μὴ εἴπης ἔτζι PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §7.8; θέλεις νὰ πῆς; ibid. II §7.31 κ' εἶπα κ' ἐγὼ στὰ γηρατειὰ θές ἔρθης νὰ μὲ πάρης Alfan. 11 8 εἰ δὲ ἔρθης εἰς ἀχαμνωσύνην (17th c., Athos, MEYER 1894: XVII, 223.34–5) νὰ ἔβγης κρυφῶς Dig. E 348 ὅταν ἔμπης, πρόσεχε Liv. V 259 νὰ ἔβγης Flor. L 1020 ἂν ἔμπης εἰς ὑποταγὴν FALIEROS, Log. did. 151; ἦρθες νὰ διάβης ibid. 307 κὶ ἐκεῖ σαν ἔμπης CHORTATISIS, Panor. Dedic. 15 ἀπὸ τὴν τάξιν σου νὰ μὴν ἔβγεις (app. crit.) (17th c., Athos, MEYER 1894: XVII, 224.4) νὰ ἔβγης ἔξω PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §7.59–60 γὰρ νὰ ἔβγη ἀπὸ τὴ χώρα τὸ δαιμόνιο EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 61.28 τί κάμνει χρεια νὰ ἔμπης ... εἰς τέτοια καλαπαλίκια; Don Kis. 41.21–3 νὰ γένης βασιλέας Alosis 113 θέλεις νὰ γένεις ἄνθρωπος τῆς Αὐλῆς; Bertoldos 10.1; νὰ γίνεις ... αἰτία μεγάλης ἀταξίας ibid. 20.34–5 νὰ γένης σακελλάριος PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §27.26 νὰ γένεις πατέρας εἰς αὐτὸν (1695, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 1 [A'], 251.21)

Sg.	2	-εῖς/-ῆς

For most verbs, oxytone forms in /'is/ are as frequent as paroxytone forms; however (εἰ)πεῖς and (ι)δεῖς are more common than their paroxytone counterparts (see above):

- πρὶν τὴν εὖρης, ἐχάσες τὴν, πρὶν τὴν ἰδῆς, ὑπάγει GLYKAS, Stichoi 206 νὰ τὴν ἰδῆς μετὰ Θεὸν Eisit. f.1v.13 νὰ μὲ τὸ εἰπῆς Chron. Mor. H 8216 νὰ μὴδεν πῆς Dig. E 662; νὰ ἰδῆς κύρκαν τὸν φιλεῖς ibid. 960; μὴδεν τὰ εἰπῆς ibid. 1240 νὰ ἰδῆς τὸ ἐπιχείρημα Liv. V 1053; ἂν μὲ εἰπῆς τὰ ἔπαθες ibid. 2393 ὅταν τὸν κριὸν ἰδῆς Pol. Tr. 555 θέλεις νὰ ἰδῆς τὴν ἀλήθειαν; DAM. SToud., This., Logos 5, ε1ν.30 (1561); τὸν ἀράπην, δὲν δύνεσαι νὰ τὸν εἰπῆς ἄσπρον ἢ μαῦρον ibid., Logos 9, 88ν.24–5 (1561) εἰ δὲ καὶ δὲν σοῦ βολέσει νὰ ἐρθεῖς (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.29) σηκώσου νὰ ἰδῆς Diig. Alex. Sem. B 846 νὰ ἰδῆς τὴν καλὴν μου [VLASTOS], Dig. P III 337.24 ἐντρέπουσιν νὰ τὸν ἰδῆς PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §14.41; ποτέ σου νὰ μὴν εἰπῆς ἐνάντια ibid.

 II §11.80
 καὶ νὰ ἰδῆς τ' ἀποταχὰ πόσος ἀσβέστης ἔρχεται Diath. Nikon Metan. 91–2 ἦλθες νὰ τες ἰδεῖς Don Kis. 47.4

μηδὲν ἐβγῆς εἰς αὐτοὺς Chron. Mor. H 1125 μὴ μὲ ἀπεβγῆς Liv. S 3090 (Lambert-van der Kolf) δὲν ἐντράπης νὰ ξεβγῆς Poulol. 172 app. crit. (A) νὰ ἐξεβῆς ἔξω Diig. Alex. F 140.10 (Konstantinopulos) ποτέ σου νὰ μηδὲν ἐβγῆς Thysia Avr. 1000 ἴνα ... γενεῖς μοι πρόξενος NIKON, Logos 30 794.15–16 app. crit. (S) νὰ γενῆς ρήγαινα Chron. Mor. H 6073 ἀγκαλὰ καὶ γενεῖς ὡσάν ασκοτύμπανος ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 26.9 θέλεις γενεῖς καὶ καλλιώτερος Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.6 γιὰ νὰ γενῆς ἴντα; VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.33 νὰ θὰ γενῆς πρᾶματευτὴς FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.16 ἦπρεπεν νὰ γενῆς σὰν ἐμάς Irodis II.344

Vowel-initial oxytone forms may lose their first unstressed vowel, initially when preceded by a vowel, resulting in monosyllabic forms (e.g. ἰδεῖς > δεῖς, εἰπεῖς > πεῖς, εὐρεῖς > βρεῖς, ἐβγεῖς > βγεῖς), which may then also appear after consonants (with the exception of ᾠθεῖς/ρθεῖς):

διὰ τινὰν μὲν πῆς κακόν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 466.1
 ἔξεύρεις νὰ μας ᾤπεις Apoll. Rim. 800 ἂν θέλεις τώρα νὰ τὴν βρῆς ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1369 δεῖς ἦθελες πῶς τ' ἄνοιγα CHORTATSI, Katz. I.197 μηδὲν παινέσης τὴν ἀρχὴν ὥστε νὰ δῆς τὸ τέλος KONDAR., Paides 945 ὅσαν ὀδῆς πρᾶγματευτάδες PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1471 θὲ νὰ ῥθῆς (1683, Glarentsa, KONOMOS 1969: 63.6) νὰμπῆς πολλὰ μετὰμελος Liv. S 615 (Lambert-van der Kolf) νὰ βγῆς εἰς ἀναγυρευμὸν Florios 1027 νὰ βγῆς ἀπὸ τὸν κόσμον Peri xen. 325

3rd Person

Sg.	3	-ει/-η ἰ -ειν/-ην

Barytone forms in /i/ appear throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar in texts from all areas:

νὰ ἀπέλθῃ Chron. Mor. H 1083 ὥστε νὰ εἴπῃ “ἔχετε ὑγείαν” Arm. 29

τὸ νὰ τὸν ἴδῃ ὁ ἀμειρόν Dig. E 594 ὅταν ἔλθῃ ὁ σταχὺτζης Vulgärorakel VI.11 καθάρια νὰ τὰ εἴπῃ Achil. L 490 ms (ed. νὰ τὸ εἴπῃ) νὰ ἴδῃ καὶ ὁ ἀφέντης μας Chron. Tòc. 1445 ὁπόταν εὐεργετήσῃ ὁ θεὸς καὶ ἔλθῃ (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 22.14) εἰ μὲν ... ἔλθῃ χρεῖα (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 55.23) νὰ ῥτρεῖ ομπρός του VOUSTR., Chron. A 22.6–7 διὰ νὰ μὴν ἔλθῃ κακὸς γείτονας (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.44) μέλλει νὰ πῇ τὸ ποτήρι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.214 θέλει νὰ τὸ ἔλθῃ μέσα (1667, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [7], 25.24) μὴν ἔλθῃ αἰφνιδίως (1684, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1956: [2], 348.15) νὰ τὸν καταπῇ Alex. Fyll. 93.11 τί τρόπον νὰ εὕρῃ Don Kis. 124.24; νὰ ἔλθῃ αὐτὸς ἐγλήγορα ibid. 125.30–1 νὰ διάβῃ ἐκ τὸ φουσσᾶτο Chron. Mor. H 3916 ὅταν ζυγῶνῃ πέρδικα καὶ ἔμπῃ Dig. E 967 νὰ ἔβγῃ Pol. Tr. 655 νὰ ἔμπτῃ (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 85, 189.3) ὥστε νὰ διάβῃ μέσα Achil. L 993 ἂν συνέβῃ τίποτας, τὸ φταῖσιμο θέλει εἴσσαι ἀπὸ τὴν μεγάλην σου αὐθεντίαν (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 61.8) γιὰ νὰ ἔβγῃ ἡ βρύση τῆς ζωῆς FALIEROS, Thrinos 376 οὐτὰ ἔβγῃ Theseid VI.33.5 (Olsen) ἂν μοῦ συνέβῃ τὸ κοινὸν τοῦ θανάτου ποτήριον (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 55.14) καὶ νὰ ὑπερέβῃ ὅλους τοὺς πρωτύτερους τοῦ βασιλεῖς VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.17–18 τὸν ἐπαρακάλεσαν νὰ ἔβγῃ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 8.34; ἄς κατέβῃ τώρα ibid. Mark. 15.32 ὅσο νᾶμπτῃ νᾶβγῃ ἡ νύφη, ἦβγαν τοῦ γαμπροῦ τὰ μάτια Paroim. (Warner) 92.6 πλοῖον νὰ διάβῃ ἀπεκεῖ IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5164 εἰς καμίνι | νὰ ἔμπτῃ KONDAR., Paidēs 29–30 καράβι νὰ ἔβγῃ ἀπὸ τὴν Βιτιτιά (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 55.9) (= Βενετία, see I, 2.5.4) νὰ γένῃ καλοπαίδευτον GLYKAS, Stichoi 275 νὰ γένῃ πρωτοστράτορας Dig. G II.69 τί νὰ γένῃ Pol. Tr. 8822 νὰ γένῃ μοῦρτος μοχθηρός Alosis 951 (ἂν ἔναι καὶ ...) γένῃ καλογραία (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 86, 159.19–20) βουλὴ νὰ γένῃ σύντομα ZINOS, Vutr. 186 πᾶσα ὅπου νὰ γένῃ νέος καρδηνάλες (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 19.1) εἶχεν πάγῃ εἰς τὸ Κιαπὲ νὰ γένῃ χατζῆς PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §18.11 νὰ γένῃ δένδρον μεγάλο LANDOS, Geopon. 151.27–8 νὰ γένῃ κανεὶς ἱερέας (1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 108.19–20) πριχοῦ νὰ γίνῃ ἡ αμαρτία Don Kis. 123.30

Addition of final /n/ may occasionally occur in texts from diverse areas (for more information see I, 3.7.2.1): ἂν εὕρῃν πράξιν καὶ ὁρμὴν Chron. Tòc. 1131; ἐὰν τύχῃ ὅτι ... ὁ ἄλλος οὐδὲν ἔλθῃν εἰς τὴν ἡμέραν τοῦ Assizes A 94.30–1; φοβῶντας τὸν θάνατον μήπως κ' ἔλθῃν ὁ Χάρος (1573, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 1, 75.5–6).

Sg.	3	-εἶ/-ῆ ! -εἶν/-ῆν

Oxytone forms in /'i/ are used throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods for all verbs belonging to this category, and especially (ι)δεῖ and (εἰ)πεῖ are more common than their paroxytone counterparts (see above):

- πάλιν νά ἐλθῇ γαλήνη GLYKAS, Stichoi 314 νά σέ ἰδῇ Eisit. f.3r.13 νά εἰσελθῇ Diig. sevast. Thom. 246 νά τήν ἰδῇ Assizes B 360.12 νά ἰδῇ ὁ εἶς τὸν ἄλλον Pol. Tr. 578 ὡς ἵνα ἐλθῇ (14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 147.4) νά τὸν ἰδῇ Chron. Toc. 869 ὁποῖος ἐλθῇ Diig. Alex. F 236.18 (Lolos) νά πιη οἱ τοῦ διαβαίνει Diig. Alex. K 377.6
 νά ἐλθεῖ εἰς τὴν χριστιανικὴν πίστην (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 287.5) νά ἰδῇ τὰ ἄλογα (1591, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1949: 162.15–16) δὲν θέλω νά μ' ἰδεῖ πιλιὸ SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. D4r.5 καὶ ἂ δὲν ἐρτῇ KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.437 νά ἰδεῖ αὐτὸν τὸν πόλεμον Don Kis. 52.15; νά τοῦ εἴπῃ τὴν πίκραν τοῦ ibid. 138.8
- καὶ διαβῇ ὁ ρεματισμὸς GLYKAS, Stichoi 283 εἰ μὴ τι ἕτερον συμβῇ Dig. G IV.660 νά ἐβγῇ (1355, Palatia (Milos), MANOUSAKAS 1962b: 1, 234.12) ἔαν συμβῇ ὑπόθεσις Chron. Mor. H 366 ὑπάει νά ἐβγῇ Pol. Tr. 961 ἔαν συμβεῖ κίνδυνος (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.14) ἵνα καλῶς ἐμβῇ SFRANTZIS, Chron. 62.1 εἰ γὰρ συμβῇ καὶ πόλεμος Velth. 103 νά μὴ ἐμπῇ Achil. N 314 καὶ ὡσὰν ἐμπῇ κανεῖς SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 283 δὲν ἠμπορεῖ νά ἀνεβεῖ NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 26.5 ὅποιος ἐβγεῖ (1555, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 177, 228.31) ἂν κατεβῇ CHORTATIS, Katz. III.462 σήμερον νά ἐβγῇ, αὔριον νά ἐβγῇ PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §29.24–5 πρὶ ἐμπῇ στὸ ἀρχοντικὸ τῶς (1646, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1958/59: 22, 163.15)
- ἢ τίποτε ἐκ τὰ ἐπώδυνα | γενῇ Eisit. f.5v.1–2 ἀφότου ὀρίζεις νά γενῇ Chron. Mor. H 6966 τὸ θέλημά σου νά γενῇ Pol. Tr. 4190 καὶ αὐτὸ τυχαίνει νά γενῇ FALIEROS, Ist. On. 601 τίντα μέλλει νά γινῇ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 252.16; διὰ νά μηδὲν γενῇ τίποτες ταραχῇ ibid. 268.2
 τοῦτο νά γενεῖ (1524, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 86, 162.93) εἰ δὲ πορευθῇ ὁ κράλης καὶ γινῇ ἄλλοτρόπως Ekth. Chron. 9.25 app. crit. (L) νά γενῇ καταπῶς αὐτὸς θέλει (1653–5, Venice, FONKID 2000: 239, f.1r.20) ὅ,τι μοῦ μέλλει θὰ γενεῖ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 499.7
 νά γενῇ φονιάς Irodis I.22

Vowel-initial oxytone forms may lose their first unstressed vowel, initially when preceded by a vowel, resulting in monosyllabic forms (e.g. ἰδεῖ > δεῖ, εἰπεῖ > πεῖ, εὔρεῖ > βρεῖ, ἐβγεῖ > βγεῖ), which may then also appear after consonants (with the exception of *λθεῖ/ρθεῖ):

- νά πῃ νά δῇ Byz. Il. 132; νάλθῃ καὶ ὁ Πάρις ibid. 288 διὰ νά μηδὲν *δῇ τὸ τέλος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 10.12; εἰ δὲ καὶ τινὰς πῇ ibid. 222.13 τό να δει ο φρε Γιλιάμ VOUSTR., Chron. A 58.17 σ' ό,τι του 'πεί Apoll. Rim. V 664 ξως οὗ να 'ρθῇ εἰς νόμου 'λικίας (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 2, 22.13) ἄς δῇ ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 38 να πάγη να δει καὶ να στιμάρη (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 344, 323.6) πριχοῦ να βγῇ ἡ ψυχὴ μου FALIEROS, Thrinis 53 πρι να βγῇ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 56.25 ξως να βγῇ ἡ ψυχὴ της (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 13, 316.8) κι ἀποῦ τὲς σάϊκες καμιά, ἂν βγεῖ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 394.28 να θε να βγεῖ TROILOS, Rodol. IV.462

Plural

1st Person

Pl.	1	-ομε(ν)/-ωμε(ν)

For 1 pl. the ending of the barytone paradigm /ome(n)/ is not uncommon for most verbs belonging to this category, though most examples come from literary sources:

ν' ἀπέλθωμεν διὰ κοῦρσο Chron. Mor. H 2704; κι ἂν εὐρωμεν τὸν βασιλέα ibid. 3650 να ἔλθωμεν 'ς τὸν οἶκον σου Dig. E 1003; ἂν οὐ τὸν εὐρωμεν ἐκεῖ ibid. 1394 τότε κ' ἐμεῖς να εἴπωμεν Liv. V 2541 καὶ ἴδωμεν Diig. tetr. 66; ἡμεῖς να εἴπωμεν δαμῖν ibid. 461 τώρα να εὐρωμεν τὴν ἄλλην (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 57, 46.4) ἄς ἐξέλθωμεν με τὰ φουσάτα μας Diig. Alex. V 22.4–5 πάλε ἄς ἔρτωμεν εἰς τὸν ρήγα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 230.14; ἀνισῶς καὶ εὐρωμεν ibid. 250.32 ας ἐλθομεν στον κύρη της Apoll. Rim. V 1441 (same in A; ἐλθομε E; ἐρθομεν N) ἂν θέλτε να 'βρομεν SKLAVOS, Symf. 147 μῆνα εὐρωμεν τίποτες DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 23, X8r.38 (1561) να 'ρθωμε κι' οἱ τρεῖς CHORTATIS, Katz. V.103 να 'ρθωμε και εμεῖς Chron. Tourk. Soult. 37.21 να ἔλθομεν ἐδῶ κάτω Bertoldin. 116.13 να εὐρωμε σπουδατικὰ αὐτὰ τὰ τρία παιδιὰ μας KONDAR., Paidēs 66 χωρὶς να εὐρωμεν ποτὲ ἀνάπαυσιν Alex. Fyll. 110.28 ὥστε ν' ἀνέβομεν κι ἐμεῖς FALIEROS, Thrinis 93 (facs.; ed. -ωμε) στὸν Ἄδην να κατέβομεν BERGADIS, Apok. A 352 and V 352 πλέον μην κατέβομεν NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 26.4 ἂν ἔμπωμεν 'ς τὰ χέρια τους Theseid I.78,6 (Follieri) με τὸν νοῦν ἄς ἀνέβομεν DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 11, k7r.7 (1561) ἄς ἔβγωμε ἀπὸ δῶ CHORTATIS, Katz. III.480 να 'βγωμεν ἀπὸ τὴν σκλαβιὰν VEST., Prol. Theot. 6 στὸν πόλεμο να ἔμπωμεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 214 καὶ δοῦλοι του να γένωμεν Achil. L 74 καὶ θέλωμεν να γένωμεν δοῦλοι τῆς αὐθεντιᾶς σου Chron. Toc. 2718 να γένωμεν ἀφέντες Alex. Rim. 1338 ἡμεῖς τώρα τί να γένωμεν; Alex. Fyll. 64.6

Pl.	1	-οῦμε(ν)

Forms in -οῦμε(ν), without the final /n/ now one of the two SMG endings, are rare in the EMG period (cf. the same ending for the present 4.1.1.1 and the subjunctive of the first aorist 4.2.1): νᾶρθομεν FALIEROS, Thrinós 315 (facs.; ed. -οῦμε); νᾶ ἔλθοῦμε (1537, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 25, 32.4); ἄν εὐροῦμε (ibid. 32.5); νᾶ κατέβοῦμε Pent. Gen. 11.7.

Pl.	1	-οῦμε(ν) † -οὔμενε

The 1 pl. ending of the oxytone paradigm -οῦμε(ν), without the final /n/ now one of the two SMG endings for all verbs but γίνομαι, is the most common for all verbs in this category throughout and beyond the period under review:

ἄς ἀποῖδοῦμε τὸν καιρὸν νᾶ ἰδοῦμε τὸν λαόν μας Chron. Mor. H 4993; νᾶ εἰποῦμεν ibid. 8277 νᾶ εὐροῦμεν τὸ ἀδέλφιν Dig. E 91; ἐπήγαμεν νᾶ ἰδοῦμεν ibid. 430 νᾶ τὸν εἰποῦμε Liv. α 417; ποῖαν ὁδὸν νᾶ εὐροῦμεν ibid. 2881; ἔλα νᾶ τὸν ἰδοῦμεν ibid. 2894 ἴνα ... ἰδοῦμεν τὸν τόπον (1494–6, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 37, 181.2) θαρῶ καθολικῆς χαρᾶς ποτήριον νᾶ πιοῦμεν Cypr. Canz. 133.12 νᾶ ἰδοῦμε (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.4) εἰς τὸ νᾶ ἰδοῦμεν (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 256.4) δὲν δυνάμεστέν νᾶ τὸν ἰδοῦμεν DAM. STOD., This., Logos 12, λ8v.22 (1561) νᾶ ἐρθοῦμεν αὐτοῦ (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.28) νᾶ ἰδοῦμε τέτοιαν καλοσύνην (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.7) πάλι ἔδεπᾶ ἄς ἐλθοῦμε CHORTATSI, Katz. III.204 ἔαν εἰποῦμεν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 11.31; νᾶ ἰδοῦμε καὶ νᾶ πιστεύσομεν ibid. 15.32 νᾶ ἰδοῦμεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 464 μᾶ ἄς ἐλθοῦμεν σ' ἐκεινοὺς Diig. Vefa 1398 νᾶ ἰδοῦμεν Don Kis. 41.1; νᾶ εἰποῦμεν ibid. 228.30–1 ἄν κατεβοῦμεν Dig. E 5 app. crit. νᾶ ἐμποῦμεν εἰς τὸ μέσον Liv. V 2122 καὶ τότε ἡμεῖς νᾶ ἐβγοῦμεν Achil. N 532 ἔξω διὰ νᾶ βγοῦμε Alex. Rim. 1675 μὴν κατεβοῦμε ἐκ τὸ βουνὶ Thysia Avr. 982 νᾶ ἐβγοῦμεν ἀπὸ τὸ χρέος PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §6.11 νᾶ εὐγοῦμεν καὶ ἡμεῖς ἀπὸ κάθε λογῆς ὑποψίαν (1645, Jassy, LEGRAND 1903: 5, 10.27) καὶ νᾶ γενοῦμεν δοῦλοι; Pol. Tr. 6657 πῶς καὶ γενοῦμεν ἐγκρατεῖς [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1033 καὶ Φράγχοι νᾶ γενοῦμε Chron. Mor. P 2094 σκλάβοι νᾶ μὴ γενοῦμε Alex. Rim. 1896 νᾶ γενοῦμεν ὅμοιοι ὅλοι μας DAM. STOD., This., Logos 31, H3r.7–8 (1561) ἄς γενοῦμεν πρᾶοι MAXIMOS, Synax. Ag. Nik. 144.290 πῶς μέλλομεν νᾶ γενοῦμεν [VLASTOS], Dig. P X 412.4 πρόθυμοι ἄς γενοῦμεν KONDAR., Paides 146

Vowel-initial forms may lose their first unstressed vowel, initially when preceded by a vowel, resulting in disyllabic forms (e.g. ἰδοῦμε(ν) > δοῦμε(ν), εἰποῦμε(ν) > ποῦμε(ν), εὔροῦμε(ν) > βροῦμε(ν), ἐβγοῦμε(ν) > βγοῦμε(ν)), which may then also appear after consonants (with the exception of ᾠθοῦμε(ν)/ρθοῦμε(ν)):

ἀρχεύομεν νὰ ποῦμεν Assizes B 284.29 ᾄς ποῦμε SKLAVOS, Symf. 163 ὄ,τι βροῦμε Alex. Rim. 1724 στράταν ἄλλη ας βρούμε CHORTATIS, Panor. V.139 νὰ τον ᾠρούμε Apoll. Rim. V 818 νὰ δοῦμε τὴν αὐτὴν ὑπόθεσιν (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 761, 1033.11) νὰ δοῦμεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 372; νὰ βροῦμεν ibid. 379; νὰ ποῦμεν ibid. 380 νὰ μποῦμεν εἰς τὴν θάλασσαν Pol. Tr. 11909 οὐδεποσῶς νὰ βγοῦμεν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 144 στὸ σπῆτι ὀμπρός ᾄς μποῦμε CHORTATIS, Katz. V.101

The ending -οῦμενε, with addition of -(ν)ε, is attested in Cretan and Chiot texts of the 17th c., but may have had a wider geographical spread (for -(ν)ε see also I, 2.6.3.3):

ἀνισωστὰς καὶ βγούμενε μὲ νίκη FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.130; μήπως καὶ βρούμενε ibid. II.98 νὰ δοῦμενε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 182.14 and 230.25 καὶ ὀλπίζω νὰ τὴν δοῦμενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 378; ᾄς διαβούμενε ibid. 1826

Pl.	1	-ῶμε(ν)/-όμε(ν)

Residual forms of root aorists (among which βάλνω and its compounds) are very rare in the LMedG and EMG periods. As the ending is clearly residual, in mixed-register texts it may extend to other verbs such as λέγω and ἔρχομαι, which in their perfective forms have morphological characteristics in common with βάλνω (forms according to the barytone and oxytone paradigms). Its appearance in Voustronios is surprising, as this is not an archaizing text.⁴⁴ There is no strong evidence that the form ἐρτώμεν/ἐρτόμεν is specifically Cypriot, though cf. the present indicative (4.1.1.1) for this stress pattern in Machairas:

ᾄς καταβῶμεν Dig. E 691 νὰ σὲ τὸ εἰπῶμεν Liv. S 1623 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ἡμεῖς νὰ εἰπῶμεν δαμῖν Diig. tetr. 461 app. crit. (P) νὰ ἐρτόμεν VOUSTR., Chron. A 214.15; ἀν ἐρτόμεν ὅλοι με τὰ κορμιά μας id., Chron. B 265.9
 ὄταν, Θεοῦ θελήματι, εἰς Ρωμανιὰν ἐλθῶμεν Dig. T 478

2nd Person

Pl.	2	-ετε ἰ -ετέν(ε)

Proparoxytone forms in -ετε can be found in texts throughout the centuries, but are clearly less common than paroxytone forms in -εῖτε/-ῆτε (see below), especially for βλέπω, λέγω and compounds of βαίνω. Most of the modest number of examples found are of ἔρχομαι and εὐρίσκω:

⁴⁴ Voustronios usually has barytone forms for this verb (ἐρτώ, ἐρτει), only showing some variation in 3 pl.: ἐρτουν and ἐρτούν. The only other 1 pl. form is ἐρτομεν. It cannot be excluded that the two instances of ἐρτόμεν are simple writing mistakes.

ἂν εὔρετε τὸ ἀδελφί σας Dig. E 64; μὴ εἰσέλθετε ibid. 1763 ἂν τὸν εὔρετε Pol. Tr. 9741 ἔως οὗτοῦ νὰ ἔλθετε (1446, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 17, 99.15) νὰ ἔλθετε (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.10) ἂν τοὺς εὔρετε ὅλους Achil. L 366 νὰ ἔλθετε στὴν Ρωμανίαν Chron. Mor. P 3761 νὰ σπουδάξετε νὰ ἔλθετε (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.45) ὅσες φάλιες καὶ ἂν εὔρετε (1574, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES 1996: 61.17) γιάντα νὰ ῥθετ' εδεπὰ CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 53 νὰ ἔλθετε μετ' αὐτόν [VLASTOS], Dig. P 387.19 νὰ μὴν ἔλθετε Alex. Fyll. 50.35 νὰ μὴν ἔβγετε ἀποκεῖ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 160.25 σὰν ἔμπετε στὴν κάμινον KONDAR., Paidēs 738

Addition of final /n/ has been found in the Oxford version of Digenis (Chios) (cf. the present 4.1.1.1 and the aorist indicative 4.4.1.1), and in the Andros/Athens version of the same text, which is considered to have been written in the same region (Andros?), although linguistic evidence for this is otherwise quite scarce: καὶ ὅπου ἂν τὴν εὔρετεν Dig. A 411 app. crit.; ἂν εἶν' καὶ σφάλμα εὔρετεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 3064.

A form with a shift of the stress to the penultimate (but without synizesis of /i/ and /e/) has been found once in the Chronicle of Morea, clearly to accommodate the metre (verse end): μὴ πιάση καὶ πιέτε | τοσὸν κρασὶν Chron. Mor. H 8302–3.

Pl.	2	-ητε

The residual ending -ητε can occasionally be found in literary texts, usually alongside other, more common endings (see above):

νὰ ἔλθητε στὴν Ρωμανίαν Chron. Mor. H 3761 εἰ δ' ἴσως ἀμετάτρεπτον ἴδητε τὴν βουλὴν τοῦ Velth. 117 καὶ τὸ πουργὸ νὰ ἔλθητε Byz. Il. 277 ὅλες ἐμπρός μου νὰ ῥθητε SACHLIKIS, Vouli pol. 235 (Papadimitriu); νὰ μάθητε τὴν τάξιν της, νὰ μάθετε τὸ ποιά εἶναι; id., Katalogi 40 (Papadimitriu) ἂν ἔβγητε ὡς πρέπει Theseid V.21,6 (1529) ἐὰν γένητε ἀπειθεῖς τοῦ ὀρισμοῦ μου Vios. Aisop. K 190.2

Pl.	2	-εῖτε/-ῆτε -εῖτεν/-ῆτεν εἰτενε/-ῆτενε

The ending /'ite/ of the oxytone paradigm, is the most common for all verbs in this category throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:⁴⁵ ⁴⁵ As noted in the introduction to this chapter the form ἰδητε, for example, can already be found in the EMedG period.

νὰ εἰπῆτε καὶ νὰ κρίνετε Chron. Mor. H 2360; ἔλατε ἐδῶ νὰ ἰδῆτε ibid. 6918 νὰ εὐρῆτε ἀδελφὴν σας Dig. E 169 μὴ ἐβγῆτε νὰ ἰδῆτε Liv. V 2714; ἀφὸν εὐρῆτε τὴν ὁδὸν ibid. 2757 σᾶς ἐμήνυσα νὰ ἐλθῆτε Pol. Tr. 4579; νὰ εἰπῆτε τί νὰ γένη ibid. 8822 καὶ μηδὲν εἰπῆτε Achil. L 734 ὅτι νὰ τὸν εὐρῆτε Chron. Toc. 1407 καὶ τὴν βουλὴν νὰ εἰπῆτε Velis. ρ 178; εἴτι ἰδῆτε εἰς ἐμὲν ibid. 263 ἀμέτε νὰ τὸν εὐρεῖτε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 332.1; ἔλατε νὰ μοῦ τὸ εἰπεῖτε ibid. 339.8–9 νὰ εὐρεῖτε τὴν μητέρα του DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 2, α8ν.32–3 (1561); νὰ ἐρθεῖτε πρὸς ἐμένα ibid., Logos 19, σ1ν.28 ὅς πλιότερα μὴν ἐρῆτε CHORTATSI, Katz. III.338; νερό γλυκύ μην πιεῖτε id., Panor. II.518 μηδὲν εἰπῆτε οὕτως Chron. Tourk. Soult. 59.7–8 τί τρόπον νὰ εὐρῆτε (17th c., Athos, MEYER 1894: XVI, 221.34) νὰ μοι εἰπῆτε τὴν πᾶσαν ἀλήθειαν (17th c., ŠANGIN 1936: 4, 136.18–19) ἔλατε νὰ ἰδῆτε ἕναν ἄσεβὴν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §1.7 νὰ ἰδεῖτε ἐτοῦτες μας τὲς δικαιολογημένες ζήτηξεις (1716–29, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 38, 96.13)

ἂν ... ἐμπῆτε εἰς τὴν βουλὴν μου Dig. E 1340 ἂν καταβῆτε Liv. α 593a μὴ ἐβγῆτε νὰ ἰδῆτε Liv. V 2714 οὐ θέλω νὰ ἐμπῆτε Pol. Tr. 9600 σὲ πόλεμον νὰ βγῆτε Alex. Rim. 1759 μὴ θέλετε νὰ μπῆτε CHORTATSI, Erof. V.600 εἰς ὅποιον σπῖτι ἐμπεῖτε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 10.5 ὁπόθεν διαβῆτε Alex. Fyll. 37.12 νὰ γενῆτε πολλῶν χρονῶν Achil. L 1130 νὰ γενεῖτε μαθηταί του DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 32, Θ8r.33–4 (1561)

Vowel-initial forms may lose their first unstressed vowel, initially when preceded by a vowel, resulting in disyllabic forms (e.g. ἰδεῖτε > δεῖτε, εἰπεῖτε > πεῖτε, εὐρεῖτε > βρεῖτε, ἐβγεῖτε > βγεῖτε), which may then also appear after consonants (with the exception of ἄθεῖτε/ρθεῖτε):

νὰ δῆτε θαῦμαν μέγα [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 2218 ἂν θέλετε νὰ βρῆτε FALIEROS, Thrinis 306 νὰ δῆτε κατορθώματα ZINOS, Alex. Rim. Epil. 24
 καὶ κύμινον ὅσον βρῆτε Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1116 δὲν πᾶτε νὰ τσι βρῆτε P&N Diath. 5173 κ' ἐξέταση νὰ δῆτε CHORTATSI, Erof. I.544 θεῖ δῆτε ὅλοι KONDAR., Paides 53

Addition of final /n/ and of -(v)ε (see also I, 2.6.3.3 and I, 3.7.2.1) has been found in texts from Chios: μὴν ᾤπῃτεν πῶς μ' ἐστείλασι KONDAR., Paides 5; τῶρι θεῖ δῆτεν ibid. 737; σὰν ἔμπετε στὴν κάμινον καὶ ἀχυλιὰ γενῆτεν ibid. 738; αὔριο θέλει δῆτενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1424.

3rd Person

Pl.	3	-ουσι(ν) † -ουσινε

The ending -ουσι(ν) of the barytone paradigm is used throughout the period covered by this Grammar, especially of ἔρχομαι and compounds of βαίνω, but much less frequently of the other verbs in this category, for which other endings are clearly preferred (see below):

ἐκείνες ὁποῦ ἔμπροσθέν του ἔλθουσι Assizes B 273.12 τὰ ἔθνη ὅλα νὰ ἔλθουσιν PLOUSIAD., Thrinós 173 (Vasileiou) νὰ ἔλθουσιν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 151 εἰ δὲ εἰς το κλινάρι σου, κόρη, καὶ εὐρουσί με Achil. O 488 ὅσους ἄλλους χριστιανούς εὐρουσι Martyr. Vlas. 245.14 ὅλα λοιπὸν ὅσα σὰς εἴπουσι νὰ φυλάγετε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 23.3
 ὁμπρὸς σ' ἐμέν' νὰ ἔλθουσι KONDAR., Paides 223; νὰ πέμψω νὰ ῥτουσι ἐδῶ ibid. 620 μηδὲν ἔβγουσιν ἔξω Chron. Mor. H 1117 νὰ ἐξέβουσιν ἀπέδω Pol. Tr. 7898 νὰ ἔβγουσιν Achil. N 1341 νὰ τσ' ἔβγουσι μεγάλο CHORTATSI., Katz. III.409 μέλλει νὰ συνέβουσιν VAROUCHAS, Logoi 467.30 εἰ δὲ ... καὶ πάλε ἔμπουσι (1642, Naxos, KATSOURO 1958/59: 19, 159.15) στὸ πόρτο μέσα νὰ ἔμπουσι Leilasia Par. 1 μηδὲν πάθουν κακὸν καὶ γίνουσιν τοῦ Διαβόλου Diig. Alex. Sem. S 686 χαντζήδες πῶς νὰ γένουσιν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 123

Addition of -(ν)ε appears to be quite rare (see also I, 2.6.3.3): γιὰ νὰ ῥθουσινε κι ἄλλοι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 457.7.

Pl.	3	-ουν ἢ -ου ἢ -ουνε

Barytone forms in -ουν can be found throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods (for a discussion of this ending see 4.1.1.1):

πρὶν ἔλθουν οἱ τῶν Τουρκῶν πειρασμοὶ NIKON, Logos 4 206.8
 νὰ σὲ ἴδουν ἅπαντες Eisit. f.3 r.19 νὰ φάγουν καὶ νὰ πίουν Dig. E 679 νὰ εἴπουν τὰς ἀποκρίσεις Pol. Tr. 2715 app. crit. (BV) ἄν οὐδὲν ἔρτουν Assizes B 337.14 τὰ κάτουρα ἤθελαν νὰ πίουν Diig. Alex. K 377.3–4 εἰ δὲ καὶ οὐδὲν ἔρθουν (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 16, 227.11) νὰ μὴν ἔλθουν DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 21, φ4v.31 (1561); δὲν εὗρισκαν νερὸν νὰ πίουν ibid., Logos 26, Γ3r.14 νὰ ἔλθουν PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §22.54 γλήγορα νὰ ῥτουν ἐδῶ KONDAR., Paides 648 καρτερῶ νὰ μοῦ ἔρθουν καὶ ἄλλα (1696, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 6, 213.3) νὰ μὴν εὐρουν πολλές καὶ διάφορες τύχες Don Kis. 46.25 ποτὲ νὰ μὴ ἔβγουν Chron. Mor. H 4422; νὰ σέβουν εἰς τὸν κόρπον ibid. 8788 νὰ ἔβγουν τὰ λεοντάρια Dig. E 663 νὰ ἔβγουν οἱ σύνταξες ὅλες Pol. Tr. 3243 διὰ νὰ ἔμπουν Assizes B 449.23 τὰ ἔντερα αὐτοῦ ἐξέβουν Spanos A 64 ὅσα ἔβγουν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 37, 168.11) νά ἔμπουν ἐκ τοὺς Ρωμαίους Chron. Mor. P 8349 ἔπρεπε νά κατέβουν FALIEROS, Thrinós 133 ἤθελαν νά ἔβγουν τὰ πουλία KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 334.26–7 νά σέβουν εἰς τὴν χώραν Varl. & Ioas. (Lavrás) 89.31 νά ἔμπουν εἰς καράβι PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §7.76 ἔμελλαν νά τὸν συνέβουν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 10.32 ὅσα συνέβουν ἀπαντα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 6868; ἔχουν νά κατέβουν ibid. 7154 ὅσα γένουν εἰς αὐτοὺς (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 226.25–6) νά γένουν Assizes B 378.23 νά γένουν δύο σαρατάῃμερα (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 146.5) ὅσοι λοιπὸν ἐπιθυμοῦσι νά γένουν πατέρες SOFIANOS, Paidag. 95.9 ὅσα γένουν (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 31, 70.3) νά γένουν καλὲς ροδακινίες LANDOS, Geopon. 151.23–4 νά γένουν χριστιανοὶ PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §22.54

Deletion of final /n/ has been found mainly in Cretan texts (for details see I, 3.7.2.2):

κι ἂν εὐρου εἰς συναπαντῇ τοῦ βασιλέως φουσσᾶτα Chron. Mor. P 3506 νά πέψου γῇ νά ῥθου (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 132, 146.11) κι ἂς ἔβγου μὲ πολλὰς τιμὰς Stathis Interim. II.130 νά διάβου μονιτάρου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 331.11

Addition of -(v)ε has been found in texts from south-western areas and certain Aegean islands (see also I, 2.6.3.3):

νά γένουνε τρία μερδικά (1585, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 23, 41.17) νά ἔρτουνε (1655, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 2, 188.10) νά ἔρθουνε νά μάσε κόψουσι (1659, Hydra, KARATHANASIS 1972/73: 241.2) ὅσα πράγματα ἀκουγα νά συνέβουνε MATESIS, Chron. 63.1–2

Pl.	3	-ωσι(v)/-οσι(v)

This residual ending of verbs that in AG had thematic aorists (βλέπω, λέγω, etc.) can occasionally be found in the period under review, usually alongside other endings. Given its residual status, it sometimes occurs with the other verbs that belong to this category as well (compounds of βαίνω and γίνομαι):

νά τὴν ἴδωσι Pol. Tr. 280; ἅμα ταῦτα γένωσιν ibid. 580 app. crit. (A); νά διάβωσιν ibid. 5958 app. crit. (C) ὅσοι ἀπὸ ξένης διάβωσιν Liv. S 2215 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ἂς ἔλθωσιν Liv. V 17
 καὶ νά ἴδωσιν τοὺς ἀρχοντας Diig. tetr. 46 νά σηκωθῶσι καὶ νά εἴπωσιν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 140.16 νά ἔλθωσιν Assizes A 214.12 εἴτι ἀν εὐροσι ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 37.4

Pl.	3	-οῦσι(v) ἢ -οῦσινε

The ending -οῦσι(ν) of the oxytone paradigm is not uncommon for most verbs in this category throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar, though for γίνομαι a modest number of examples has been found:

- ὅτι νὰ ἀπελθοῦσιν Chron. Mor. H 145; νὰ μὴ τὸ εἰποῦσιν ibid. 1129
 νὰ εἰποῦσιν τὰ ἐδικὰ των Liv. V 3848 νὰ ἰδοῦσιν τὸ σημάδι μου Achil. N 532 νὰ τὴν ἰδοῦσιν Pol. Tr. 280 app. crit. (V) ἀκαρτεροῦν τάχα νὰ σᾶς ἰδοῦσι LIMEN., Than Rod. 63 ἐκ τὸ νερὸ νὰ πιοῦσι Alex. Rim. 1582 νὰ πιοῦσι τὸ φαρμάκι CHORTATIS, Panor. I.444 app. crit. (N) οὐκ ἤρχονταν ποτὲ νὰ σὲ ἰδοῦσιν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 305 ἐτόλμησαν νὰ εἰποῦσι LANDOS, Geopon. 129.32 ὄντα τῇ θέλου ἰδοῦσι MONTESEL., Evgena 1265 ἔστοντας νὰ ἐλθοῦσιν εἰς τὸ σπῆτι KALLIOUR., Kaini Diath. Matth. 2.11; ὅταν ... σᾶς εἰποῦσι
ibid. 5.11
 γυρεύοντας νὰ ἰδοῦσι λογαριασμό (1663, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 1, 11.4) τὸ πόθεν νὰ σεβοῦσιν Chron. Mor. H 5641 νὰ ἐξεβοῦσιν ἀποκεῖ Chron. Toc. 1716 ἀφήκεν νὰ βγοῦσι VOUSTR., Chron. A 148.8 ὡσάν ἐμποῦσι εἰς τὸν καρπὸ (1603, Crete, VIOLIDAKIS 2006: 2, 265.16–17) ἔχουν νὰ κατεβούσι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 8934 νὰ πάσι νὰ ἐμποῦσι ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1833 ἄφοβα γιὰ νὰ μποῦσι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 162.5 συμπεθερεῖον νὰ ποιήσουσιν, τὸ ἔνα νὰ γενοῦσιν Chron. Mor. H 6357 κομμάτια νὰ γενοῦσι Spanos D 313 θὰ δῶ τί θὰ γενοῦσι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 165.16

Vowel-initial forms may lose their first unstressed vowel, initially when preceded by a vowel, resulting in disyllabic forms (e.g. ἰδοῦσι(ν) > δοῦσι(ν), εἰποῦσι(ν) > ποῦσι(ν), εὔροῦσι(ν) > βροῦσι(ν), ἐβγοῦσι(ν) > βγοῦσι(ν)), which may then also appear after consonants (with the exception of ἄθοῦσι(ν)/ρθοῦσι(ν)):

- νὰ μὲ δοῦσιν Dig. E 1441 νὰ πᾶσι καὶ νὰ δοῦσι Assizes B 361.12 ὡς σὲ ἄδοῦσιν Spanos A 88–9; νὰ ἄποῦσιν ibid. 121 νὰ ῥθοῦσιν οἱ θωριές σου FALIEROS, Thrinis 290 μὲ πεθυμιὰ νὰ ῥθοῦσι CHORTATIS, Katz. III.143 εἰς το φως νὰ ἄθοῦσιν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6057; οὐδέ νὰ δούσιν θέλουσιν ibid. 6826 καὶ παιδευμούς νὰ δοῦσι BOUNIALIS M., Kat. ofel. 408; νὰ ῥθοῦσι id., Diig. Pol. 162.8 μὴν τοὺς δοῦσι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 641 νὰ τῶς ποῦσι KORNAROS, Erot. V.1285 οἱ Ἐρωτες ας βγοῦσι CHORTATIS, Panor. II.408; ἀνάπαψη κάτω στη γην ας βρούσι ibid. II.478 κ' εἰς τὸ κακὸ θὰ μποῦσι KORNAROS, Erot. I.568

Addition of -(ν)ε has been found in Cretan texts, but is likely to have been employed in the wider south-western area (see also I, 2.6.3.3):

να πιούσινε φαρμάκι CHORTATSI, Panor. I.444; να δούσινε id., Erof. Dedic. 10; να τσι βρούσινε ibid., III.138; ἄς γενοῦσινε πουλιά id., Erof. Interim. I.61 δυὸ γάμοι θὰ γενοῦσινε Stathis III.357 να ἴβρούσινε να τήν μπουλήσου (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 180.52) σε πόλεμον να βγούσι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 8734 να δούσινε τοῖ Ἀγαρηνοὺς BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 149.22; να βρούσινε τορνέσα ibid.
 225.22; ἀπάνω ν' ἀνεβούσινε ibid. 292.3; να μπούσινε στὰ κάτεργα ibid. 299.15; σ' τσι Μεσαρές να βγούσινε ibid. 313.18; να φᾶσι καὶ να πιούσινε ibid. 465.4
 να δούσινε τὸν κύρη σου KORNAROS, Erot. I.1840; να πούσινε τὰ χεῖλη σου ibid. II.922

Pl.	3	-οῦν ἰ -οῦ ἰ -οῦνε

Oxytone -οῦν occurs throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

πολλά να ἔλθουν, πολλά να εἰποῦν KAMAT., Astron. 1996 (but read ἐλθοῦν) διὰ τὸ να εἰποῦν Ptoch. III 265 ὅσοι τὸ εἰποῦν Chron. Mor. H 1002 ἕως οὔ να ἔλθοῦν Pol. Tr. 3700 app. crit. (V); να εἰποῦν τὰς ἀποκρίσεις Pol. Tr. 2715 να με εἰποῦν τί να ποιήσω Liv. S 1682 (Lambert-van der Kolf) να πᾶν να δοῦν Assizes B 359.18; οὔ να φᾶν, οὔ να πιοῦν ibid. 381.3–4 να τὸν ηῦροῦν Chron. Toc. 307 ἄν τὸν ἰδοῦν Achil. N 1280 να σὲ ἰδοῦν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1523 τὰ κάτουρά τους γιὰ να πιοῦν Alex. Rim. 2048 διὰ να εἰποῦν τὰ μέλλοντα DAM. STOD., This., Logos 6, ζ2ν.34 (1561) να ἰδοῦν (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 2, 81.9–10) να ὑπᾶν να ἰδοῦν (1600, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 17, 14.9) ἄς εἰποῦν καὶ αὐτοὶ RODINOS, Vios Ign. 55.30–1 να μὴν με γδοῦν KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.348 (= δοῦν) διὰ να ἰδοῦν τὴν συμφορὰν τοῦ Ἀνσέλμου Don Kis. 139.22 καὶ ἄφον διαβοῦν οἱ ἰ' ἡμέρες (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 19.108–12) ὅταν ἐκβοῦν καὶ τρέχουσιν αἱ δύο αἱ καροῦχαι Ptoch. III 200 κι ἄς διαβοῦν Chron. Mor. H 6983 εἰς Ρωμανίαν να ἐβγοῦν Dig. E 197 app. crit. να λάβουν τὰ μέλλει να τοὺς κατεβοῦν Assizes B 378.24 διὰ να ξεβοῦν ἔς τὸν ἄμμο Theseid I.48,3 (Follieri) να μὲν ἐμποῦν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 395.16–17; πρὶ να βγοῦν οἱ Γενουβίσοι ibid. 544.30 ἄφες τα ὀπίσω να διαβοῦν Deft. Par. 366 να ἴβγοῦν να διαλαλήσουν ZINOS, Vatr. 185 να ἔσβοῦν εἰς τὸ παλάτιν Diig. Alex. F 94.6 (Lolos); μήνα ἐξεβοῦν ὄξω ibid. 170.11 μήτε ἡμποροῦσαν να σεβοῦν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.24–5 φίδια μαῦρα να γενοῦν Peri xen. 278 ἕως ὅπου να γενοῦν ζ' ἐτῶν Assizes A 124.12 καὶ να γενοῦν μυρσίνη Rim. kor. A 23 να γενοῦν μία ποσότης (1611, Ioannina, MERTZIOS 1936a: (1), 19.3) να γεννηθοῦν καὶ να γενοῦν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyfrou 129

Vowel-initial forms may lose their first unstressed vowel, initially when preceded by a vowel, resulting in disyllabic forms (e.g. ἰδοῦν > δοῦν, εἰποῦν > ποῦν, εὔροῦν > βροῦν, ἐβγοῦν > βγοῦν), which may then also appear after consonants (with the exception of ἴθοῦν/ρθοῦν):

Deletion of final /n/ has been found mainly in Cretan texts (for details see I, 3.7.2.2):

μουσουλουμάνοι νὰ γενοῦ Anak. Konst. 85 κι ἀφότου φᾶν καὶ πιοῦ καλὰ FALIEROS, Log. did. 222 και να γενοῦ κλαδιά φυλλαδωμένα CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 73; νὰ τὴν ἰδοῦ τ' ἄμμάτια μου id., Erof. 1.536
 γιὰ νὰ τὸ δοῦ τὰ μάτια μου Stathis III.87; νὰ βγοῦ τὰ μουχλιασμένα του ibid. III.371 νὰ γενοῦ κάποιες γραφές (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.10) νὰ βγοῦ νὰ μασέ κόψουνε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 164.22

Addition of -(ν)ε occurs in texts from south-western areas and the Aegean (see also I, 2.6.3.3):

τίποτες μὴ εἰποῦνε Alex. Rim. 1299; οὐδὲν μποροῦν νὰ δοῦνε ibid. 1674; νὰ βροῦνε ibid. 2010 μέλλει νὰ ἐλθοῦνε (1588 [17th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 464.24) ν' ἀνοίξουσιν τὰ χεῖλη σου νὰ ποῦνε Stathis II.23 νὰ γενοῦνε συντρόφοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 57.32 νὰ δοῦνε ἄν τοῖ ρεσπάρει ἐλίγο τίβοτσι (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 39.61) νὰ βροῦνε γρὲς MONTSEL., Evgena 179; νὰ τὸ ἰδοῦνε ibid. 1539 τὴν ἐδικὴν μου γύμνωσιν τὰ μάτια σου μὴ ἴδοῦνε VEST., Prol. Theot. 70 νὰ ἰδοῦνε (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.24); θάρθοῦνε καράβια (ibid. 306.14) ἄν δὲν ἐβγοῦνε (1685, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1980/81: 8, 331.16) νὰ ἰδοῦνε (1688, Andros, PASCHALIS 1948: 44.19)

Pl.	3	-ῶσι(ν)

This residual ending of verbs with root aorists (βαίνω in the examples below) can occasionally be found in the period covered by this Grammar, usually alongside other endings. Given its residual status, it sometimes occurs with other verbs that belong to this category as well:

νὰ διαβῶσιν Pol. Tr. 12093 app. crit. (B) and 12533 app. crit. (CV) ἴνα ἀναβῶσιν ἐπάνω KANANOS, Diig. 546–7 εἰς ἔγκρυμμαν ἐλθῶσιν ERMON., Ilias 8.131; ὥς τοὺς φύλακας ἰδῶσι ibid. 14.108e τοῦ νὰ γενῶσιν ERMON., Ilias 17.256 εἰ γενῶσιν ἱερεῖς οἱ ἀνεψιοί μου (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 42, 73.37) νὰ γενῶσι ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 159

4.3 The Imperfect

By the beginning of the LMedG period a common set of past-tense endings, combining elements from the aorist, the imperfect and the perfect, was already firmly in place for the active voice of barytone verbs: -α, -ες, -ε(ν), -αμε(ν), -ετε (/ατε, see 4.3.1.1), -αν/-ασι(ν) (see 1.1.4). Following the loss of distinction between the strong and the weak aorist paradigms in the Hellenistic period, by the EMG period /a/ had started to become a past-tense marker, spreading to the imperfect as well. It began with 3 pl., then spread to 1 pl. and 1 sg.; e.g. forms in -αν and -αμεν already occur in Hellenistic papyri. For obvious reasons, i.e. the need to keep 1 sg. and 3 sg. clearly distinct, in the imperfect (as in the aorist) 3 sg. retained -ε(ν). The spread of /a/ to 2 sg. and 2 pl. would have been expected, but 2 sg. has retained -εσ until the present day, and 2 pl. -ετε is the common ending throughout the period covered by this Grammar (see also JOSEPH 1980a). The breakthrough of -ατε for 2 pl., now SMG, did not come about until after the EMG period, probably necessitated by the loss of the unstressed augment, which was still used routinely throughout the period covered by this Grammar (see Chapter 3). Variation is fairly limited in the active paradigm of barytone verbs.

Historically the set of endings employed for the active imperfect of oxytone verbs is identical to those of barytone verbs: -ον, -εσ, -ε, -ομε, -ετε, -ον. Contractions with the stem vowel /a/ or /e/ had led to */a/-*forms and */i/-*forms for 2 sg., 3 sg. and 2 pl., and */o/-*forms and */u/-*forms for 1 sg., 1 pl. and 3 pl. Long before the LMedG period a generalization had occurred of /u/ instead of /o/ (the so-called /u/ dynamic, see BABINIOTIS 1972: 189–92), leading to identical endings for A- and E-stem verbs for 1 sg., 1 pl. and 3 pl.⁴⁶ Heavy mutual influence between A-stems and E-stems for the other persons began before the LMedG period, but in the period covered by this Grammar a clear tendency develops for E-stem verbs to adopt A-stem endings rather than the reverse. Various imperfect markers evolve from specific endings: /us/ from 3 pl.; /un/ from 1 sg. (singular only) and /aγ/ and /iγ/ from 2 sg./3 sg. forms with intervocalic /γ/ (see 2.1.2.2.3), after which the common set of “past tense” endings (-α, -εσ, -ε, -αμε, -ετε (/-ατε), -αν (/-ασι)) could once more be employed (for an overview of such markers in modern dialects see PANDELIDIS 2008; see also PANTELIDIS 2003).

For the barytone paradigm some of the old middle endings (-όμεην, -ου, -ετο, -όμεθα, -εσθε, -οντο) gradually fell into disuse in favour of innovative ones, the most common of which are 1 sg. -ομουν/-ουμουν, 2 sg. -εσουν/-ουσουν, 1 pl. -όμεστε/-όμεσθε and 3 pl. -ονταν/-ουνταν. The oxytone paradigms, which employed these same endings but showed contraction with their stem vowels (-ώμην/-ούμην, -ῶ/-οῦ, -ᾶτο/-εῖτο, -ώμεθα/-ούμεθα, -ᾶσθε/-εῖσθε, -ῶντο/-οῦντο), develop new endings too, the most common of which are 1 sg. -ούμουν, 2 sg. -ούσουν, and 3 pl. -οῦνταν. The passive paradigms of both barytone and oxytone verbs show great regional variation.

Various processes of analogical levelling are at play in barytone and oxytone verbs and active and passive endings, whereby active past-tense endings are added to the form to make it less opaque (cf. KOURMOULIS 1956), e.g. 1 sg. ἐβάρουν > ἐβάρουνα.

To form the imperfect, the past-tense endings are added to the imperfective verb stem (for which see 2.1). For “contracted” forms of barytone vowel-stem verbs see 2.1.1.2.

For the aspectual properties of the imperfect see IV, 4.4.2; for its use in conditional constructions, see IV, 1.2.2.2.

⁴⁶ See JANNARIS 1897: 216 for examples from the Old and New Testaments and GIGNAC 1981: 363–4 for examples from papyri as early as the 2nd–3rd c. AD.

4.3.1 Barytone Verbs

4.3.1.1 Active Voice

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	1	ἔγραφα	ἔγραφον	ἔγραφαν -ουνα
	2	ἔγραφες	ἔγραφεις
	3	ἔγραφε(ν)	ἔγράφεν ἔγραφενε ἔγραφι
Pl.	1	ἐγράφαμε(ν)	ἐγραφέμε(ν) ἐγράφαμενε ἐγράφαμι(ν) ἐγράφομεν	ἐγράφεμεν
	2	ἐγράφετε	ἐγράφετενε	ἐγράφατε
	3	ἔγραφαν ἐγράφασι(ν)	ἔγραφα ἔγράφα(ν) ἔγράφανε ἐγράφασινε ἔγραφον	ἔγράφενε ἐγράφανσι ἔγραφο ἔγραφονε ἔγραφουν ἐγράφοσιν ἐγράφασον

Forms of the active imperfect are proparoxytone in principle, though sometimes the stress may shift to the penultimate, whereas in other cases forms may carry the stress on the fourth syllable from the end when a suffix is added to the verb form. For the presence/absence of the unstressed augment, see Chapter 3.

Distribution of Allomorphs*1st Person Singular*

Sg.	1	-α -αν

The ending -α is by far the most common ending for 1 sg. throughout our period. Some representative examples are:

νὰ ἡνοιγα τὸ ἀρμάριν μου Ptoch. III 92; ὥς γὰρ ἐδιέβαινα προχθές ibid. 167 ἡῦρα κείνον τὸν ἐγύρευγα ἐγὼ SULT. WALAD, Poem I 19 ἀναγύριζά σας Dig. E 168 εἰς ἄραν ἤλεγά το Liv. V 1549; ἔτρεχα ὡς κύριος καὶ αὐθέντης ibid. 2249 ἐὰν σοῦ ἔγραφα λεπτομερῶς τὲς πράξεις Chron. Mor. 7031 εἶχα το, τύχη, κάλλιον, κάλλιον ἐκρινά το [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2373 οὐχ εὔρισκα Pol. Tr. 378; ἤθελα νὰ ὠμοίαζα ibid. 8900 τὸ τί ἤθελα εἰς τὸν γάμον Poulol. 156 οὐκ ἔλεγά σε Achil. N 1122; ἐὰν οὐ τὸν ἐθανάτωνα ibid. 1790 ἤβλεπα διὰ νὰ ἰδῶ τὰ γένια του τὰ πανάσχημα Spanos A 28 μαυλίστριες καὶ πολιτικές ἤθελα νὰ γυρεύω SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 49 ἀπόβλεπα (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 2, 48.3) ὅπου ἐδίδαχνα δύο χρόνους Diath. Nikon Metan. 3 ἔρραφα (1659, Zakynthos, ΒΑΥΑΚΑΚΟΣ 1954: 2, 29.15) τὸν ἐκατάκαια (1669, Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 84, 217.48)

Addition of final /n/ is very rare and may represent a form of hypercorrection, since Cretan tends to drop final /n/ where other varieties of the language do not (see I, 3.7.2.1.3 for details): τὴν εἶχαν στο Κουμούνι μου DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1311 app. crit.

Sg.	1	-ον

The residual ending -ον is not used very frequently, though it can be found in a variety of higher- and mixed-register texts, especially of the early period, usually alongside forms in -α (see above):

καὶ τὰς κεντούκλας νὰ ἔπαιρον Ptoch. III 197; εἶχον Ptoch. I 6, 72 and 73, and Ptoch. III 244 φοβεῖσθαι μὲν οὐκ ἤθελον GLYKAS, Stichoi 49; ἔπασχον, ἔτρεμον ibid. 54 δούλην σε ἔχειν ἤθελον, μᾶλλον εἶχες με δοῦλον Dig. G II.189 ἀμὴ ἐγὼ, εἰ ἤθελον, ἀπέφευγά σας Velth. 211 ἤθελον ἵνα τὸν ἐρωτήσω Liv. α 55 app. crit. (P); ἔβλεπον ibid. 2809 app. crit. (P) ἔθαλλον, ἐσπατάλουν Liv. V 2250 ἀπὸ τὸν ὄρθρον ἔφευγον καὶ ἔμπροσθέν μου λειτουργίαν εὔρον Paroim. I 75 ἐγὼ ἐὰν ἤθελον βασιλεῖον Alex. Fyll. 48.13–14 (hapax)

Sg.	1	-ουν(α)

Regionally (Heptanese) an innovative variant of the old form εἶχον can be found, namely εἶχουνα, with addition of the 1 sg. past-tense ending -α (cf. the same development in the imperfect of oxytone verbs (4.3.2.1) and the aorist indicative of λέγω (4.4.1.2)): ἐγὼ τὸν εἶχουνα, ἂν ἐκεῖνος δὲν εἶχεν φάγει Bertoldin. 96.20.

2nd Person Singular

Sg.	2	-ες ἢ -ις

There is no real variation in the 2 sg. ending before, during or after the period under investigation.⁴⁷ Some representative examples are:

ἐκέρδαινές τους παρευτύς Chron. Mor. H 4939 τὰ ὀρίζεις ἐγίνονται Dig. E 358 νὰ γύριζεις Spanos D 409 καὶ ὅ,τι ἄλλο ἤθελες πορέσει (1501, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 5, 27.35) ἄν εἶχες εὖρει κι ἄλλους ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Pittakin 36 ἦστεκες νὰ μισέψης (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.6) ἐκλεφτες ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 131.8 τὸ πουλίον, ὅπου μὴ ἔλεγες Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1063 ὁποῦ γυναῖκα στὸ στενὸ δὲν ἤβλεπες ἐτότες CHORTATIS, Katz. III.304 ἐσύ μ' ἐντρόπιαζες τόσους χρόνους Nov. I 156.14 ὅσα ἐπρομετρίζεις (1612, France, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 23, 270.6) (< Ven. promèter) ἔκοφτες τὸ κεφάλι τοῦ ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 1590 διατὶ ἀμφίβαλλες; KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 14.31 σκόνταυγες κ' ἔπεφτες PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 210 τὸ πρόσωπο ἐκοκκίνιζες KORNAROS, Erot. III.1156

Forms in /is/ instead of /es/ are phonetic rather than morphological variants, the result of mid-vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4): εἶχis ἐκατὸ σακιά κιρὶ (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 6, 61.34).

3rd Person Singular

Sg.	3	-ε(ν) ὀ -ενε ὀ -ι

The ending -ε, with or without an added final /n/, is the normal form before, during and after the period covered by this Grammar:

καὶ τὸν ἰὸν ἐξέχεε κατὰ τοῦ εὐεργέτου GLYKAS, Stichoi 386 ἀναστέναζεν Dig. E 486 ἤβλεπε Chron. Toc. 1659 εὕρισκεν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 34.6 ἔπεφτεν Achil. N 603
 καὶ ἔδιδέν μας λάχανα Paroim. H 10 ἄστραπτε κατ' ἀνατολάς Spanos D 116 ἴτις ὁκ' ἔδειχνε καθεὶς FALIEROS, Thrinos 8 ἔδειχνε ὅτι νὰ τὸ εἶχαν φέρει KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 334.37 ὕδωρ ψυχρὸν ἀνέβρυνεν Dig. T 1889 καὶ ἠπαρνε κάθε εἷς (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 53.9) τση ἴτασσε καλὰ νὰ τὴν πλερώση CHORTATIS, Katz. III.366 ἐκαταρῆμαζε τὰ μοναστήρια τῆς ἐρήμου (17th c., Palestine?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 24, 197.2.2) ὁπου καὶ ἄν ἐπάγαινε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.14 ἔκαie EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 18.21

⁴⁷ One instance of ἔλεγας found in a 1st-c. papyrus (BGU 595.9, AD 70–80, quoted in DEISSMANN 1901: 191, MOULTON 1901: 36, PSALTES 1913: 210 and GIGNAC 1981: 332) does not suffice to speak of a tendency. One further instance occurs in Bertoldinos, which is perhaps a simple typo: καὶ ποῦ ἔελας ἐσύ νὰ μᾶς φέρεις; Bertoldin. 109.20 (ποῦ θέλας in the edition).

A shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate can occur in 3 sg. forms in texts of Cypriot origin, possibly influenced by the corresponding forms of oxytone E-stem verbs, e.g. ἐκράτεν Assizes A 79.17. In the Cypriot dialect certain verbs, such as δίδω – διδῶ, λύω – λυῶ, have both barytone and oxytone variants, which makes a certain degree of confusion between these paradigms plausible. In the example from Koronaios the stress shift accommodates the metre, as Koronaios generally avoids a stress on the 11th syllable:

ἐκοῦζεν Assizes B 267.29

καθὼς τὸ ἐκράτεν καὶ ἐνομεῦγεν το ὁ πατήρ του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 308.1

δεν αφήνεν να τους πάρει VOUSTR., Chron. A 32.8; εδείχνε του ibid. 50.4; δεν εθέλεν ibid. 34.1, but also: ωσγοιόν ἐθέλεν ibid. 26.8

ὅλους ἐρίπτεν κάτω KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VII.342

ἔτξι ἐγράφεν τὸ χαρτίν Thrinios Kypr. 51

Forms with an added -(v)ε occur in texts from Crete, Chios, the Heptanese and certain islands in the Aegean. These forms must be seen in the light of a broader tendency to add -(v)ε (or -(v)α) to certain verb forms, pronouns and adverbs, which can be observed in the above areas (see I, 2.6.3 for details). The single example in Thrinios Kypr. serves to accommodate the verse, as Cypriot texts do not usually display this feature. Some characteristic examples are:

τὴν χαρὰ τὴν εἴχενε φερμένη FALIEROS, Ist. On. 19 τό 'θέλενε πεῖ P&N Diath. 443 and 574 ἔλεγενε GERMANO, Grammar 86.32 (but also: ἔγραφε ibid. 87.31) ὅλες τὲς λωλάδες ὅπου ἐκεῖνος εἴχενε κάμει Bertoldin. 131.31; νὰ τοῦ εἴχενε συνέβη ibid. 146.3

εἴχενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 22; ἔσειενε ibid. 283; ἐγύρευενε μὸδο ibid. 2250 app. crit.; καὶ σήμεαινένε εὐρυθμα ibid. 2435

δὲν εἴχενε ριζικὸ (1694, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 10, 24.8) τὰ 'τρώγενε (1696, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 47, 141.24) (τὰ τρώγενε in the ed.)

ἔλειπενε στὴ Μυτιλήνη (1700, Andros, POLEMIS 2001: 16, 121.4) δὲν εἴχενε προκοσῦμφωνο (1708, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 85, 95.20–1)

τὰ εἴχενε καμένα Thrinios Kypr. 535

Forms in /i/ instead of /e/ are phonetic rather than morphological variants, bearing witness to mid-vowel raising, for which see I, 2.5.4: εἰς ὅ,τι πείραξη ἦθελι τοῦ ἐλάχει (1671, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1918b: 3, 220.14); εἴχι κριθῇ (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 4, f.40r.6); τοῦ εἴχι ἀφήσει (ibid. A 4, f.40r.12); ὡσὰν ἦθελι ὁ θεὸς (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 49.6).

1st Person Plural

Pl.	1	-αμε(v) -αμενε ' -άμεν -αμι(v)

For 1 pl. -αμε(v), with and without final /n/, is the most commonly used form throughout the LMedG and EMG periods:

ἐκατεμπλέκαμεν Ptoch. III 273

εἴχαμε (1360, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 49, f.236r.6)

εἴχαμεν Dig. E 120; ὅτε εἴχαμε τὸν πόθον ibid. 1773 τὸ πῶς ἐπεριπλέκαμε καὶ μετὰ πόθου ποίου Liv. E 2214 αὐτὰ ὅταν τὰ πιττάκια τὰ ἐγράφαμεν ἀλλήλων Liv. V 3776 καὶ διδασμέν του γέννημαν Paroim. H 10 ὄνταν ἐμπαίναμε στὴν πόρταν FALIEROS, Ist. On. 277 νὰ καβαλικεύαμεν BERGADIS, Apok. A 248 σκάλαν ἐκατεβαίναμε, εἶχε στενὰ σκαλέρια ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 275 ἃ δὲν τὰ τρώγαμε Alex. Rim. 906; ἠθέλαμε ἔξω διὰ νὰ βγοῦμε ibid. 1675 ἐγράφαμεν SOFIANOS, Grammar 53.17–18 ἐπηγαίναμεν (1551, Venice, COUROUPOU/GÉHIN 2001: 3, 161.10) πῶς ἠθέλαμε παχύνει CHORTATIS, Katz. III.135 τὴ λαμπυράδα ἐβλέπαμε κι ὅχι τὸ πρόσωπό τως KORNAROS, Erot. I.622 ἀποῦ τ' ἀμνέγαμε στὴν ψὴ FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.410

An added -(ν)ε occurs in texts from Chios, Crete and possibly elsewhere (see I, 2.6.3.3): ἐλέγαμενε GERMANO, Grammar 86.32–3; ἄν εἴχαμενε πεῖ P&N Diath. 772.

Sometimes 1 pl. forms can be found in which the stress falls on the same syllable as in the forms of the singular and the 3rd person plural. In these cases there is usually a second stress on the penultimate, and sometimes the notation of the first stress is omitted. It has been found in texts of northern provenance (cf. 4.4; see also I, 4.2.3). The provenance of Dig. P is unknown, but there is no linguistic evidence to corroborate its supposed Chiot origin:⁴⁸

ἐκεῖ ὅπου ἔπαιζάμεν [VLASTOS], Dig. P VII 377.19 ἐμάζωνάμεν ἡμεῖς τὰ ἄσπρα PAPASYNAD., Chron. 84.9 (Kaftantzis) ἔδινάμεν (1697, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B I/13, f.190r.12); ὄλον ἐπλέρωνάμεν τὸ νοίκι (ibid. f.190v.29–30) ὡς ἤλπιζάμεν VATATIS, Periig. I 521; πῶλεγάμεν ibid. 779; κατέβαινάμεν id., Periig. II 903

Forms in /i/ instead of /e/ in the final syllable are phonetic variants. They are the result of mid-vowel raising (for which see I, 2.5.4): δὲν ἠύρισκάμι (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.7) (but perhaps read: ἠύρισκάμι, with the northern stress pattern (see above); the original letters lack notation of stress); ὡς καθὼς εἴχαμιν τὸν λόγου (1697, ibid. 6, 63.15–16).

Pl.	1	-εμεν

With /e/ for /a/ in the first syllable, this ending has been found in a 15th-c. Russian–Greek conversation book that is of northern provenance (Athos?) but probably written by a Russian with a very good knowledge of Greek. It is likely to be the result of assimilation (see I, 2.8.5; and cf. 4.4.1 and 4.4.2): ἐκάμνεμέν το τοῦτο (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1821).

Pl.	1	-ομεν

⁴⁸ The Chiot origin of Digenis P was hypothesized by the editor, D. Paschalis, but refuted by POLITIS 1973: 332 and KECHAGIOGLOU 1993: 122, fn. 12.

The residual ending -ομεν, identical to the standard present 1 pl. ending, is used sporadically in texts belonging to the early part of the period under review, and in later texts that generally display archaizing tendencies. Contrary to present tense forms, in the imperfect final /n/ is retained:

καὶ γὰρ ἡμεῖς ὑπῆρχομεν στρατηγοὶ εἰς τὰς ἄκρας Dig. G I.273 κ' ἐβλέπομεν τὸ κάστρον Liv. V 668 κόσμον ἀνεγυρεύομεν Liv. α 811 app. crit. (P) καὶ μετ' αὐτῆς ἐχαίρομεν ἐν τῷ παρόντι κόσμῳ Dig. T 69 καὶ εἰ ἐκεῖ ἐτυγχάνομεν δὲν εἶχεν γένει τοῦτο Dig. A 499; ταχέως ἐποχοῦμενοι ὠδεύομεν σπουδαίως ibid. 2589
 ἐδιάγομεν CANTEMIR, Krit. 447.14

2nd Person Plural

Pl.	2	-ΕΤΕ -ΕΤΕΝΕ

The inherited 2 pl. ending -ετε is used almost exclusively throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

εἶχετε Dig. G I.275
 ἐμένετε Pol. Tr. 1179 καθὼς τὴν εἶχετε πρὸ τῆς μάχης (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.44) νὰ εἶχετε εἴσταιν σκοτωμένοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 396.31 θυμάσταν ποὺ δειλιάζετε σὲ πόλεμον νὰ βγῆτε; Alex. Rim. 1759 εἶχετε δώσει (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2006: 345, 328.6) ἐχθὲς ὅπου ἐπίνετε Vios Aisop. K 180.13 ἐλέγετε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 92.28 ἐγράφετε GERMANO, Grammar 89.8 ἐτρέχετε καθημερούσιον VAROUCHAS, Logoi 469.30–1 εἶχετε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4360 ὅταν τὸν εἶχετε σφικτὰ στὸ ἐδικό σας χέρι DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 844 νὰ δίνετε ἐκεῖνον ὅπου ἐδίνετε (1684, Preveza, CHAVIARAS 1879: 1, 251.9) ἐκαταρπάζετε (1690, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 9, 23.13) ποὺ 'λείπετε Thrinis Kyp. 546 (ms) ἔγινεν ὡς ἐγράφετε (1715, Corfu, LIATA 1975: 13, 129.28–9)

An added -(ν)ε occurs in texts from Chios and possibly elsewhere (see I, 2.6.3.3): ἐλέγετενε GERMANO, Grammar 86.33. An added final /n/, resulting in -ετέν, is well attested in the same area for the aorist indicative and subjunctive (4.4.1.1, 4.2.1) and the present (see 4.1.1.1), but has not been found with the imperfect in the texts examined.⁴⁹

Pl.	2	-ΑΤΕ

⁴⁹ An instance in Rodolinos is the result of editorial intervention (to avoid hiatus): εἶχεν ἀφανίσει TROILOI, Rodol. V.45 (Aposkiti).

The SMG ending -ατε, which appears to have made a first appearance with the imperfect in the Koine (GIGNAC 1981: 332 and MANDILARAS 1973: 127 both give the same example: εἶχατε POxy. 1585.2, 2nd/3rd c.), is extremely rare in the period under review. There are two instances in Pol. Tr. ms A (15th c.), but no other examples have been found before the late 16th c. The first Modern Greek grammar to make mention of the ending -ατε for the imperfect is that of Mitrofanis Kritopoulos (1627). Sofianos (mid-16th c.),⁵⁰ Germano (1622), Thomas Parisinus (1708) and Kanellos Spanos (1749) only give forms in -ετε.

ἀν εἶχατε ὑπᾶ Pol. Tr. 2950 app. crit. (A); ἡθέλατε ἀκούσει ibid. 4320 app. crit. (A) ἡθέλατε κάμει (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 6, 262.113) νά ᾿χατέ μου πέψει (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 1, 359.2) (author from Nauplion) ἐδέρνατε KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 111.15 (author from Veroia)

3rd Person Plural

Pl.	3	-α(ν) ᾿ -ανε

The ending -αν is, alongside -ασι (see below), the most common ending for 3 pl. in the period covered by this Grammar:

οἱ σκώληκες ... ἂν μι ἔτρωγαν (11th c., S. Italy, NITTI DI VITO 1900: 46, 93.29–30) (μί = μέ, see I, 2.5.4) πόσῃν ἀκρίβειαν εἶχαν NIKON, Logos 6 278.3
 ὡς ἔβλεπαν οἱ ἕτεροι Chron. Mor. H 4030 ὑπέσκαφταν (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.20) ἔδερναν Achil. N 571; ἥστεκαν, διελογίζονταν ibid. 1223; ἤλεγαν ibid. 1517 ἐπροεκάτεχάν τινες (1431, Athens, BUCHON 1843: LXIX, 290.9) ἔδιδαν τὸν πατέρα μου (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 275.27) ἐγέμιζαν Ptoch. IV 300 app. crit. (C); κ' ἐμαγεῖρουάν τας ibid. 248.5 app. crit. (K) ἐπαρέσυρναν Dig. E 1050 τοὺς ἤφερναν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 78 καθὼς ἠπῆγαιναν τὰ κατζίβελα (1543, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 48, 249.11) τοῦτοι ὅλοι ἥστεκαν ἀντάμα SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 17.33 ἔγραφαν καὶ ἐγράφασιν SOFIANOS, Grammar 53.17–18 ἀλιάδες ἐσυραν δίκτυον ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 146.1
 μ' ἤθελαν κρᾶζει Vosk. 73 ἀμφίβαλλαν Don Kis. 143.28

A shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate occurs in prose and non-literary documents from southern areas such as Cyprus, Crete, the Heptanese, and certain islands in the Aegean. It is probably an attempt at homogenization of stress of the plural (-εύγαμε, -εύγετε, -εύγαν instead of -εὔγαμε, -εὔγετε, '-ευγαν; see I, 4.2.4.2 for details):

⁵⁰ The form ἐγράφατε that can be found in Papadopoulos's so-called reprint of Legrand's second edition of Sofianos (53.17), and, sadly, in numerous modern publications that refer to it, is one of the edition's several typos: both mss and Legrand's edition have ἐγράφετε.

“Ελληνες ἐφεντεῦγαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 30.4; οἱ Σαρακηνοὶ ἐσφάζαν τους ibid. 190.23–24, but also: καὶ ἐδόξευγάν τους ibid. 190.30 (ἐδοξευγάν τους) ἐγυρεύγαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 28.1–2 καὶ ἀπὸ ῥεῖ ἐμοιράζαν (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROU 1955: 4, 53.9) ἐθέλαν ρεπρεζεντάρει (1549, Chandax, DRAKAKIS 2004: 26, 31.19) ὁποῦ ῥπεθάναν Pist. kekoim. 77 ἐπληρῶναν γῆ δὲν ἐπληρῶναν (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 55, 118.7) δὲν ἠθέλαν νὰ σμίξουνε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.15 τοῦ αὐξάιναν τὴν ὑπόληψιν Bertoldos 70.27 ἐθέλαν νὰ ἔρτουν (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 507.25–6) (author from Mani)

It also occurs in poetry from various areas, mainly to accommodate the metre:

καὶ ὥς εἶδασιν παράνομα, τὰ ποῖα οὐδὲν ἐλπίζαν Dig. E 88; καὶ ὅσοι τὸν ἐγνωρίζασιν ἔστρωναν καὶ ἀποστρῶναν ibid. 926 ἦθέλαν οὐκ ἦθέλασιν, ἐξῆλθον τὴν ἐσπέραν Pol. Tr. 224; πολλὰ παιγνίδια εὐρήκασιν, ἐπαῖζαν καὶ ἔχαίροντα ibid. 1302 app. crit. (B) στραφῆν ἠθέλαν ἄπρακτοι μὲ ἐντροπὴν μεγάλην Velis. χ 215 ἐκεῖνος καὶ τὸ ἱππάριν του καὶ οὐδὲν τὸν ἐγνωρίζαν Achil. N 154 υἱέ, πρῶτον νὰ ἔβλεπες τὸ πῶς γὰρ τοὺς ἐφέρναν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 77 καὶ σεῖς, ὁποῦ τὰ ἀκούγετε, λογιάσετε τί ἐκάμναν TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 259 τοιαύτην ἐβαλαν βουλήν στο φανερόν ελέγαν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 8177 ἐνίβγαν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1381
 κι ἐβλέπαν τὴν ἀρμάδα του Thrinios Kypr. 64

Deletion of final /n/ appears in texts from insular areas such as Crete, Cyprus and the Heptanese and from certain Aegean islands (see I, 3.7.2.2.2 for discussion):

ἐδιάβαινα ἀδιάβατον καλάμιν Dig. E 513 app. crit. εστέκα πολλά χαίριασμένοι VOUSTR., Chron. A 92.15 τὸν εἶχα ἐβγάλεῖ οἱ σύντιχοι (1513, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: (a), 217.8) (= σύνδικοι) ἐγύρευγά τους καὶ ἔκαυγά τους (1570, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 3.3) ὁμολογοῦν ... πῶς εἶχα ἕνα κομμάτι χωράφι (1599, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 94, 126.2–3); ἔδωσά το οἱ ἄνωθεν (ibid. 126.5) κ' ἐδίδα πάνω τῶν Τουρκῶ καὶ πλιότερους σκοτώνου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 7267

In verse texts from these areas, final /n/ is often omitted at the verse end, sometimes to accommodate the rhyme:

τὰ ὀψάρια ... τὰ ἐψένα Alex. Rim. 1632 τα δεντρά εκαρπίζα CHORTATIS, Panor. I.318 παρηγοριά τσ' ἐδίδα KORNAROS, Erot. III.11 (rhymes with ὀλπίδα) ὅλοι τους ἐπρομάσσα MONTSEL., Evgena 21 (rhymes with τὰ ῥάσσα (1 sg.))

Regionally, addition of -(v)ε to this ending is not uncommon (see also I, 2.6.3.3). The ending -ανε is mostly southern and is especially frequent in Chron. Tourk. Soult. and BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol.:

οὐκ ἐζυγώνανέ τους Chron. Mor. H 1074; ἐπροβεδίζανέ του ibid. 4677 παιγνίδια παίζανε Imb. Rim. 48 στὸ στήθος εἶχανε αὐτεῖνοι τὸ κεφάλι Alex. Rim. 1656
 ἐγράφανε, vel ἐγράφασι GERMANO, Grammar 89.8

ἠθέλανε τὸ λέγει KORNAROS, Erot. I.973 καὶ τὸν ἐβλέπανε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.17; ἐγογγύζανε ibid. 31.36; ὅσοι ἠξέρανε καὶ ἐπλέανε ibid. 52.30; ἀντιστέκανε ibid. 60.10–11 πέφτανε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 145.23; ἐτρέχανε ibid. 148.24; ἐκοιτάζανε ibid. 167.19 κάνανε (1674, Milos, IMELLOS 1985/90: 329.7) ἐκαταβαίνανε (1731, Kefalonia, TSITSELIS 1904: App. 12, 913.4); ἐκυτάζανε (ibid. 913.16)

Pl.	3	-ΕΥΕ

This ending has been found in a document written in Sicily by a person originally from Sifnos. As no other examples have been found, it is perhaps simply a writing mistake for -ανε: ἔτσι μοῦ ἐτάσσενε οἱ ἐπίσκοποι (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 182.37).

Pl.	3	-ασι(ν) † -ασινε † -ανσι

The alternation between the endings -ασι and -αν persists throughout the MedG and EMG periods, and is certainly not restricted to verse texts; it is an inherent feature of the MedG language, and not an artificial metrical device (see HINTERBERGER 2001, esp. 227–35). Forms in -ασι(ν) can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar in texts from various regions:

ἐσυνάγασι Pol. Tr. 6547 ἐνεγνώθασι Anak. Konst. 76 ὕψωνασί με Om. Nekr. Vas. 52 κ' ἐλέγασι οἱ συντρόφοι μου SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 264 ὄθεν τὸν ἠβλέπασι Alex. Rim. 250; οὔτε τῇ γῇ ἐβλέπασι ibid. 875 σὸδίδασι CHORTATIS, Katz. I.214; νὰ λείπασι ibid. III.194 εἴχασι (1597, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 5, 78.42)
ἐγράφανε, vel ἐγράφασι GERMANO, Grammar 89.8
ἀφίναςι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.7; ἄλλους ἐκόφτασι καὶ ἄλλους ἐπιάνασι σκλάβους ibid. 33.8–9; ἐγλυτώνασι ibid. 52.30; ἐσύρνασι ibid. 90.4
ἦφτασι Fallidos 50

Forms with an added final /n/ occur in various texts throughout the period under review:

ὄς με ἐγεμίζασιν Ptoch. IV 300 ἦπτασιν Dig. E 1347 ἠλπίζασιν Velth. 203
ἀνάβγασιν Chron. Mor. H 3718
ἠθέλαν οὐκ ἠθέλασιν Pol. Tr. 224 ἐστέκασιν Achil. N 515 ἠφέρασιν Achil. O 16 ἐδεσπόζασιν ERMON., Il. 3.277 κι ἐβγαίνασιν ἀπὸ τὰ στόματά των FALIEROS, Thrinios 7 νὰ με τὸν ἐγεμίζασιν Krasop. AO 93 εἴχασιν (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 45, 87.16) ἠθέλασιν (1574, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 15, 141.23) ἔγραφαν καὶ ἔγράφασιν SOFIANOS, Grammar 53.17–18 τὸν ἐδιδάχνασιν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 43.29–30

δὲν τοῦ ἐρέσσασιν (1681, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 177, 351.8) (< ἀρέσω)

A syllable -(ν)ε added to the ending -ασι can be found in texts from Crete (sporadically in some, e.g. Erotokritos, rather more frequently in others, e.g. Bounialis), Santorini and Chios, and possibly in texts from other regions such as the Heptanese and other Cycladic islands (see I, 2.6.3.3 for details):

ἐκλαίγασινε ἀπαρηγόρητα MOREZINOS, Klini 51.25; ἐδοξάζασινε ibid. 90.37

νὰ κάνασινε κρῖμα Pist. voskos IV 5.59 εἴχασινε νὰ κάμουσιν (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 211, 200.5) ἐκλαίγασινε τὰ παιδιὰ Rim. Sant. 733 ἐπομένασινε σοσπέζοι (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 183.133–4) ἐκόφτασινε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 188.6; εἴχασινε ξαμώσει ibid. 149.27; τσι ρίχνασινε κάτου ibid. 210.8; ἐδίδασινε ibid. 435.16 νὰ θέλασινε σμίξουν Dig. O 1795 app. crit.

κ ἐλάμπασινε τὰ θρονιά KORNAROS, Erot. II.102; δὲν τὸ λογιάζασινε πλιὸ ibid. V.1386

The alternation between -αν and -ασι can sometimes lead to a hybrid formation -ανσι, which is likely to be the result of the use of ligatures (cf. 4.4.1.1): ἐρρίκτανσιν Theseid I.53,1 app. crit. (Follieri).

Pl.	3	-ον ῑ -ο ῑ -ονε

The residual ending -ον is not used very frequently, though it can be found in various, mainly mixed- and higher-register texts throughout the period, usually alongside forms in -αν and -ασι(ν):

νὰ μεῖ ἔδιδον Ptoch. III 183 (but ἔδιδαν in P; innovative for AG ἔδιδουσαν) ἄλλοι τὰς χεῖρας ἔφερον σιδήρῳ δεδεμένους GLYKAS, Stichoi 501 ἐνόσω εἰς μάχην ἔστεκον Liv. S 1216 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ἔλεγον δὲ τὰ γράμματα, ἔφασκον δὲ τοιάδε Velth. 383; ἐσύμφερον ibid. 852 οὐκ ἤθελον τὸ νὰ περιπατοῦσιν Achil. N 414; καὶ πρὸς ἀλλήλους ἔλεγον ibid. 1514 ὅπου τὸν ἠνάγκαζον SFRANTZIS, Chron. 36.1

ἐχαιρον ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 146.1

ἔσυρον καὶ ἔδερνον αὐτόν Vios Aisop. E 293.42 ἔλεγον πρὸς τὴν κόρην Dig. A 1252 αἱ γυναῖκες ἐξέβαινον Alex. Fyll. 31.25; τὰ παιδιὰ ἀνέβαινον ibid. 32.7; ἤθελον ibid. 32.9

ὅσοι ἔμπαινον καὶ ἔβγαινον Vios Aisop. D 228.15 ἔστεκον ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ KYP., Pali 750 (used with the innovative stem στεκ-); οἱ κύνες ἀπόξω ἔλειχον ibid. 4810

Predictably deletion of final /n/ is very rare with this residual ending: καὶ τίποτας ἀντίλογο δὲν εἶχο (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.17).

Addition of /e/ is very rare too, and it cannot be excluded that the following example is a simple writing mistake for εἴχανε: ποιοὶ ἄνθρωποι εἴχονε κάμει με αὐτὴ (1607, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 37, 251.9).

Pl.	3	-ουν

The rare 3 pl. ending in -ουν in the following examples is most probably the result of raising of [o] to [u], for which see I, 2.8.3:

[τὰ χωράφια] ὑπάρχουν τοῦ γέροντος ... (1183, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 24, 432.7 and 433.21)

οὐκ εἶχουν ποθὲν ἐνεμποδισμόν (1358?, Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. II C, 231.4) εἰς τὸν τόπον ὃν εἶχουν οἱ Τοῦρκοι (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 34.I, 274.24.6) ὅταν εἶχουν τὴν φιλονικίαν οἱ Ξεροποταμινοὶ (1481–96, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 61, 312, 19th-c. marginal note)

Pl.	3	-οσιν

This very rare hybrid ending is perhaps the result of an analogical formation: εἶχαν–εἶχασιν, εἶχον–εἶχοσιν: εἶχοσιν ἐλεημοσύνην (1358?, Macedonia?, LEMERLE 1988: App. II C, 231.4); καὶ οὐκ εἶχοσιν παρὰ τινος ἐμποδισμόν (ibid. 231.5). In the same text: εἶχαν (ibid. 231.3) and εἶχουν (ibid. 231.4, see above).

Pl.	3	-ασον

This is another rare, perhaps dubious, ending, which could be explained as a conflation of -ασιν and -ον, if it is not a simple writing mistake: εἶχασον (1681, Naxos, ΣΙΦΟΝΙΟΥ-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 142, 309.15).

4.3.1.2 Passive Voice

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	1	ἐγράφομουν ἐγράφουμου	ἐγράφομου ἐγράφου(ν) ἐγράφουμου ἐγράφουμουε ἐγραφούμου ἐγράφουμην	ἐγραφόμουνα ἐγραφόμη ἐγραφούμην ἐγράφουμην -άμη(ν) ἐγράφουμου ἐγράφουμου(ν) ἐγραφόνμου ἐγράφουμον

		General	Restricted	Rare
				ἔγραφέμεσταν ἔγραφοῦμεσταν ἔγραφομέστα(ν) ἔγράφομέστανε ἔγραφομέστανε ἔγράφομενστα(ν) ἔγράφομένστα(ν) ἔγραφέμενστα ἔγραφόμασθε ἔγραφόμαστε ἔγραφοῦμαστεν -ουμαστινε ἔγραφοῦμασταν ἔγραφοῦμασθάν ἔγραφοῦμασθάνε ἔγραφόμαστον
	2	ἔγράφεσθε ἔγράφεστε	ἔγραφοῦσθε ἔγραφοῦστε	ἔγράφουσθαν ἔγράφουσταν ἔγραφόστενε
	3	ἔγράφοντο ἔγράφονταν ἔγράφουνταν	ἔγράφοντα ἔγραφόνταν ἔγραφόντανε ἔγράφοντα ἔγράφουνταν ἔγραφούνταν ἔγραφούντανε ἔγραφόντησα(ν) ἔγραφόντεσαν	ἔγράφοντον ἔγραφόντο(ν) ἔγράφουντο(ν) ἔγράφουτο(ν) ἔγράφοντου(ν) ἔγραφόντα ἔγράφουταν ἔγραφόντησάνε ἔγραφόντασι ἔγραφούντασι ἔγραφόντουςαν ἔγραφόντουσταν ἔγράφενταν

As becomes clear from the above table, there is tremendous variation in the passive voice. There is a tendency to make 3 sg. identical or similar to 3 pl. by inserting -ν- into the ending: -οντο (Heptanese, Epirus); -ουντο (Crete, Peloponnese, Cyclades, Chios); -ονταν (Prousa, Constantinople, Moldavia, Serres, Heptanese, Chios); -ουνταν (Cyclades, Serres); -εντο (Crete, Peloponnese, Cyclades). This phenomenon occurs in northern as well as southern regions, mainly but not exclusively in southern/south-western, but notably not in south-eastern areas (Cyprus, Dodecanese).

In the innovative endings, there appears to be some associative influence of the postverbal weak personal pronoun (RUGE 1984) in the formation of endings of all persons except 2 pl.

Distribution of Allomorphs

1st Person Singular

Sg.	1	-όμη(ν) † -ούμην † -ουμην

The inherited ending -όμην can be found in various texts of the earlier period, as well as in certain later texts that have archaizing tendencies:

ἦνεπευόμην ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.13 app. crit. (S) ἐφανταζόμην GLYKAS, Stichoi 54; ἐδειλαινόμην ἄμετρα, πολλά συνεστελλόμην ibid. 55 ἦρχόμην Ptoch. III 47 app. crit. (C) κάγώ ἐτσιγαρίζομην Ptoch. IV 424 διελογίζομην Eisit. f.8r.1; ἐκατεμερίζομην ibid. f.8r.2 κατεκοπτόμην Liv. α 756 ἀμὴ ὀρεγόμην καὶ ἦθελα SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 68 κ' ἐστοχαζόμην τὸ δένδρον BERGADIS, Apok. V. 32 ἐγεννόμην Alosis 717
 ἐπροσευχόμην (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 146.4d)

Hybrid forms combining -όμην and -ουμουν (see below) are occasionally found in texts and mss of the 14th/15th c.: ἐκαθούμην Dig. G VI.181; ἐμοιραζούμην κατὰ νοῦν Liv. E 3512; ἐχαίρουμην DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 21; νὰ ἐγάλλουμου, νὰ ἐτέρπουμην ibid. 218.

Sg.	1	-ομου(ν) † -όμου(ν) † -όμουνα

Proparoxytone forms in -ομουν are common for 1 sg. from at least the 14th c.⁵¹ This new ending is derived from -όμην, the /u/ in the final syllable being the result of backing of /i/ to /u/ in the environment of nasals (see I, 2.8.4; cf. oxytone verbs for a comparable development (4.3.2.2)). The postverbal weak personal pronoun μου may have played an associative role (cf. 2 sg. -σου(ν) and, regionally, 3 sg. -του(ν) with both barytone and oxytone verbs (see below and 4.3.2.2), and with εἶμαι, 4.8.2). The initial shift of the stress to the antepenultimate is probably due to the fact that most forms in the paradigm were proparoxytone, 1 sg. (ἐλυσόμην) and 2 sg. (ἐλύου) being the exception. The ending -ομουν occurs in texts from various areas throughout the LMedG and EMG periods:

ἦρχομουν Ptoch. III 47 (< ἄρχομαι) ἐστέκομουν Byz. II. 714 ἐπροσεγγιζαίνομουν Chron. Mor. H 6104 ὀρέγομουν νὰ περπατῶ SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 52

⁵¹ With εἶμαι the ending appears in writing earlier, from the 11th/12th c. (see 4.8.2).

ἐχαίρομουν τὸν κόσμον Spanos A 277 βρίσκομουν Theseid Prol. E 69 ἐγίνομουν τυφλὸς Velis. p 939 καὶ ονομάζομουν οὐράνιος θεὸς Diig. Alex. K 355.31 ἐδύνομουν (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 174.49) ἐπροσεύχομουν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 351.16 ἐγὼ εβούλομουν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 11.6 ἐγράφομουν SOFIANOS, Grammar 49.9; ἐπείθομουν ibid. 50.22; ἐλευκαίνομουν ibid. 51.17 ἐτρέφομουν (1567, Corfu, VERRA et al. 2007: 349, 248.8) ὡς ἐκείτομουν ΠΑΡΑ-ΛΑΥΡ., Diigisis (Lavras) 258.10 ἐγίνομουν σκλάβος TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 148; ἐκαίγομουν ibid. 154 ἔρχομουν Bertoldos 13.20; ἐχρειάζομουν ibid. 82.22 ἀσηκώνομουν ἀπάνω Bertoldin. 148.24 ἐβούλομουν ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. I §31.83; ἤρχομουν ibid. I §31.145 (< ἔρχομαι) ἐχαίρομουν, Ἀλέξανδρε Alex. Fyll. 102.16

Shift of the stress to the penultimate, normal in SMG, occurs from at least the 15th c. onwards in texts from various areas:

ὀρδινιζόμουν Dig. E 1370 ὁδὸν ἤρχομουν Ptoch. III 273.28 app. crit. (K) ἐστιγαρίζομουν Ptoch. IV 424 app. crit. (C) ἐξενιζόμουν Liv. V 1992 εὐρισκόμουν Assizes B 343.31 ἐτρεμόμουν FALIEROS, Ist. On. 14 app. crit. (V) ὠργιζόμουν SOFIANOS, Paidag. 116.4 ἀντιστεκόμουν ἀνάντια Diig. Alex. F 308.3 (Lolos) ἐκαταδεχόμουν Diig. Alex. E 259.3 (Lolos); ἐπωνομαζόμουν ibid. 259.5–6 ἐδυνόμουν καὶ ἀπόβλεπα (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 2, 48.3)

Forms without final /n/ are found in texts of south-western origin, as well as in texts of unknown provenance (Liv. N):

οὐκ ἐδουλώνομου εἰς τὸ ἐξουσιαστικόν σου Liv. α 409 app. crit. (N) ἐσυχνοεχαίρομου Theseid Prol. P 4 σ' ἕνα περβόλι εὐρίσκομου, 'ς μιὰ τάβλα μαρμαρένια CHORTATSI, Katz. III.545–6 εἰς θάνατον ἐρχόμου Theseid Prol. E 47; καὶ πρώτα τοῦ βρισκόμου ibid. 52 ἐγινόμου ὅμοιος τὸν θεὸν Diig. Alex. F 268.6 (Lolos)

Sg.	1	-ομου(ν) † -ούμου † -ομουνε

Forms in -ομουν have been found in a variety of texts, though notably not usually in Heptanesian texts, from at least the 14th c. onwards (ms P of Ptoch. III dates to the 15th c., but see the residual middle aorist (4.9.2.1), with which this ending occurs in the 14th c.):

νὰργάζομουν Ptoch. III 197.1 app. crit. (P); τὴν στράταν ἤρχομουν ibid. 273.28 app. crit. (P) τὰ ρέγομουν ποθώντα FALIEROS, Ist. On. 12; ἐχώνομουν ibid. 754 ἐχαίρομουν τὸν κόσμον Spanos B 100 ἐθλίβομουν Flor. L 749

ἰστέκουμουν ἐννοιασμένος Liv. S 127 (Lambert-van der Kolf) λυτρώνουμουν Byz. Il. 262 έρκουμουν VOUSTR., Chron. A 80.9 and M 81.9 έδουλεύγουμουν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 100, 99.6) δέν έδύνουμουν DAM. STOD., This., Logos 18, ρ6ν.13; εϋφραίνουμουν ibid., Logos 24, ω8r.31 κάλλιον να εκάθουμουν εκεί AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 44.19 έθυμώνουμουν MOREZINOS, Klini 64.4; έναντιώνουμουν ibid. 64.4; εκολάζουμουν ibid. 65.27 έγράφουμουν GERMANO, Grammar 77.24 εκάθουμουν άμεριμνος NEOFYTOS, Achouri 131 έδύνουμουν [VLASTOS], Dig. P VI 370.4; έγνοιάζουμουν ibid. VII 380.13–14 βρέθουμουν (1679, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 16, 41.24) (< βρέθομαι < εϋρίσκω, see 2.4) ώς καθώς διήρχουμουν VATATISIS, Peritig. I 402

A shift of the stress to the penultimate can sporadically be found: ερκούμουν VOUSTR., Chron. B 81.8; εδυνούμουν [VLASTOS], Dig. P VII 393.8.

Forms without final /n/ are found in texts of south-western origin and possibly Rhodes (Alosis). The example from Thessaloniki is a form of haplography, as the verb is followed by a word starting in a nasal:

εκρύβγουμου ώσαν άστοχισμένος FALIEROS, Ist. On. 754 να έγάλλουμου DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 218 έσηκόνουμου συχνώς Alosis 712 τόν κόσμον εξενίζουμου, τ' άνη και τὰ καλά του BERGADIS, Apok. 18 άντιστέκουμου τόν βασιλέα Diig. Alex. E 309.2 (Lolos) εθαμάζουμου CHORTATISIS, Panor. V.301; επαιδεύγουμου id., Erof. I.267 ήρχουμου μαναχός μου (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.31) εκομπώνουμου κ' ήσφαλα KORNAROS, Erot. III.776

ήρχούμου στόν ναόν Pist. voskos V 7.21

Forms with added -(v)ε or -(v)α, not uncommon in colloquial MG, are absent from LMedG texts and very rare in EMG texts (though they are rather more common with 1 sg. forms of είμαι (see 4.8.2) and with oxytone verbs (4.3.2.2); see also I, 2.6.3.3):

σ' άμετρην εϋρίσκουμουνε κρίση CHORTATISIS, Erof. I.250 εκ πόλεμον έρχόμουνα ZINOS, Vatr. 323 εϋρισκόμουνα (1643, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1960: 3, 3.7) κι έγώ άν δέν έρχόμουνα Diig. Vefa 740

Sg.	1	-άμη(v)

This is a rare ending, and there is probably no connection with the residual middle imperfect ending -άμην of the athematic verbs δύναμαι and ἴστημι. It occurs in ms A of FALIEROS, Ist. On., with κείτομαι and τρέμω, both at the verse end, rhyming with each other (ms V has εκειτόμουν and ετρεμόμουν), and there is one instance in Machi Varnas C: εκειτάμη FALIEROS, Ist. On. 13; ετρεμάμη ibid. 14; εστεκάμην Machi Varnas C 439.⁵²

⁵² It cannot be a coincidence that these verbs can also form present passive participles in -άμενος: κειτάμενος, τρεμάμενος, στεκάμενος, as noted by VAN GEMERT 1973: 231–2 (see also 2.3.1.1).

Another example of an imperfect in -άμην appears in Liv. S and N: ἐτυλισσάμην in S, ἐνετυλισσάμην in N (= Liv. α 2607). This form is perhaps the result of confusion with the very similar-sounding residual middle aorist ἐτυλιξάμην.

Sg.	1	-ονμου ἰ -ουνμου(ν) ἰ -όνμου

These rare endings are found in a handful of texts of the 15th–17th centuries. An explanation could be: 3 sg. -ουντο > -οντου and then 1 sg. (and 2 sg.) by analogy. The postverbal weak personal pronoun seems to have played an associative role in this ending: note that the 1529 edition of Alex. Rim. and the Vatrachomyomachia (the first edited, the second written by Zinos) read ἔρχουν μου and ἐκοίτουν μου respectively. See also 2 sg. -ουνσου and 3 sg. -οντου(ν), below; and see oxytone verbs, 4.3.2.2:

τὰ ρέγονμου ποθώντας FALIEROS, Ist. On. 11 app. crit. (N) ἐμέφονμου Theseid I.104,5 (Follieri); ἐστέκονμου ibid. V.50,6 (1529) μέ ἐδικά μου ἐδουλεύονμου (15th c., Meteora, VEIS et al. 1998: 225, 246, f.163v.2) λοιπὸν στὰ ἔθνη ἔρχουνμου αὐτεῖνα τῆς Ἀσίας Alex. Rim. 647 ἐκοίτουνμου ZINOS, Vatr. 326 ἐμποδίζουνμου DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 27, 77r.14 (1561) ἐστέκουνμου [VLASTOS], Dig. P 337.19

Similar forms with a shift of stress are found in the Theseid, quoted in HOLTON ²2002: 213: ἐδυνόνμου, ἐγινόνμου, ἐδεόνμου, ἀναθρεφόνμου.

Sg.	1	-ουμον

In the period covered by this Grammar only one example has been found. It is likely to be the result of hypercorrection of /u/ to /o/ in -ουμουν (the document being from the north): μὰ ἐγὼ ἤρχουμον (1697, Dyrrachion, MERTZIOS 1947a: 54, 236.4).⁵³

2nd Person Singular

Sg.	2	-ου(ν)

Although not many examples have been found, the inherited middle ending -ου will have been the normal ending until about the 14th c., when it was superseded by -εσσουν (see below). It can therefore be found in texts of the early period (Ptoch., Dig. G, Eisit.), but also in later texts that generally display archaizing tendencies, such as Dig. A and T:

⁵³ This ending, with double /o/, is the only one given in Michail Boiatzis's Romanic, or Macedono-Vlachic Grammar, e.g. ἐκτενίζομον (BOIATZIS 1813: 103).

ἄπερ ἐβούλου πράξειν Dig. G II.248; ὁ ἐδίδου κατὰ καιρὸν τέλος τῷ ἱκονίῳ ibid. IV.1043 ἄς ἐκάθου σιγηρὸς Ptoch. I 104 ἐκαθέζου καὶ ἔβλεπες Ptoch. IV 80 τὴν ἤθελες καὶ ὀρέγου νὰ κερδήσης Eisit. f.1v.7–8 ἐγένου Poulol. 251
 τὸ τί ἐργάζου μετ' αὐτῆς ἐγὼ γὰρ οὐ γινώσκω Dig. T 2662 and Dig. A 3832

Addition of final /n/ is quite rare:

πότε νὰ ἐγίνουιν (... ἐξουσιαστῆς) Liv. V 1267 and Liv. S 283 (Lambert-van der Kolf); καὶ σὺ ... ἐγίνουιν Liv. V 1571
 ἐγένουιν Poulol. 251 app. crit. (E); ἐκαθέζουιν ibid. 289 app. crit. (E) ὅπου μὲ συνετάσσουιν Katal. 482

Sg.	2	-εσου(ν) † -έσου(ν) † -έσωνε

This ending is to be found from the 14th/15th c. onwards in a variety of literary texts, mainly from south-western areas (Crete, Peloponnese), and in texts of unknown provenance. It is held to have been formed from what HATZIDAKIS 1892: 61 proclaimed to be “the Medieval form”, the ending -εσο (JANNARIS 1897: 199; MINAS 1987a: 35). Chatzidakis conjectures the ending -εσο to be Medieval solely on the fact that forms such as ἐρκεσο and ἐγράφεσο occur in modern south-Italian dialects; however, no textual evidence has been found for the existence of an ending -εσο in the MedG and EMG periods. The ending -εσουν is perhaps more likely to be an entirely innovative ending, formed by analogy with the present: -ο(υ)μαι : -εσαι, -ο(υ)μουν : -εσουν. After the 16th c. the ending apparently falls into disuse. Vios Aisop. K, datable around 1600, is among the last texts to have it:

ἐβρέχεσουν Pol. Tr. 1249 app. crit. (A); ἐχρειάζεσουν ibid. 6486 (ms X); κάλλιον σου νὰ ἀναπαύεσουν ibid. 3425 (mss AX) ἀγάλλεσουν Chron. Toc. 3360 τὰ μὲ ὑπέσχεσουν Achil. N 1693 ἐνθυμίζεσουν Chron. Mor. P 8417 νὰ ντρέπεσουν Theseid I.106,1 (Follieri) παράδεισος ἐγίνεσουν Love poems V 215 ἐδύνεσουν Diig. Alex. F 62.22 (Konstantinopulos) ἐγίνεσουν καὶ ὀνομάζεσουν Diig. Alex. E 65.1–2 (Konstantinopulos) εὐρίσκεσουν SKLAVOS, Symf. 192 ἐστέκεσουν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 346 ἐσὺ ἐβούλεσουν Vios Aisop. K 163.2

Deletion of final /n/ is rare:

ὀνομάζεσου μοναχικά Synax. gyn. 429 τον ἴσκιον σου ἐντρέπεσου DEFAR., Sos. 221 (Holton)

Forms with a shift of the stress to the penultimate, with and without final /n/, occur in verse texts, probably for metrical convenience: πῶς οὐδὲν ἐντρεπέσου Liv. E 1773; εἴτι φυτὸν ώρεγέσουν ibid. 2451; όπου ἐκαθέσουν καὶ ἔραπτες Poulol. 289 (reading of mss CAZ); νὰ ὕδυνέσουν Theseid IV.67,2 (1529).

A form with /o/ for /u/ (see I, 2.8.3) and addition of -(v)ε (for which see I, 2.6.3.3) occurs in an unedited manuscript of Varlaam and Ioasaf (ms Lond. Harl. 5619; d. 1590):⁵⁴ ἐγκρεμνιζέσονε Varl. & Ioas. (Lond.) f.10r, l. 2.

Sg.	2	-ουσου(v) † -ουσούνε † -ούσουν

Proparoxytone -ουσούν, formed by analogy with 1 sg. -οιμουν (see above; see also 4.3.2.2 for a similar development in oxytone verbs), is the most common ending for 2 sg. from at least the 16th c. onwards (ms date of Chron. Mor. P):

νὰ ἀναπεύουσουν Chron. Mor. P 4112 δὲν ἐκαταχρειάζουσουν Pist. kekoim. 591 ἐμάχουσουν MOREZINOS, Klini 65.8 ἐγράφουσουν GERMANO, Grammar 77.26 διατὶ δὲν ἤρχουσουν DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 2, β3v.17 (1561) ἐντρέπουσουν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §14.41 δουλεύουσουν Bertoldos 48.26 ἀν ἀφήνουσουν Don Kis. 546.9

Deletion of final /n/ occurs in Cretan texts of the 16th and 17th c., in Germano's grammar, in a document from Naxos and in a text that is held to be of northern provenance (Spanos; provenance of the scribe unknown):

ἐγίνουσου Spanos A 40 εἰς τὰ κρισίματα ὅπου ἐκρίνουσου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 324, 321.23) στὸ κάθισμαν ἂπου κάθουσου (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 147.14) ἃς ἐδύνουσου CHORTATIS, Katz. I.72; ἐθρέφουσου id., Erof. V.481; καὶ πῶς τὸ κόβγουσου ibid. V.587
 ἐκεῖ που ἐκέιτουσου KORNAROS, Erot. V.95; ἐγίνουσου ibid. V.998 ἐγράφουσου GERMANO, Grammar 90.9 ἐμέλλουσου, κερά μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.328 ἐλογιάζουσου (1689?, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 868, 1161.24–5)

Addition of -(v)ε is to be found in 17th-c. texts from Crete, and possibly elsewhere (Chios, Heptanese and perhaps certain Cycladic islands, see I, 2.6.3.3): καὶ ρέγουσуне Stathis I.242; εὐρίσκουσуне FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.117.

A shift of the stress to the penultimate is rare: ὅπου καθούσουν καὶ ἔραπτες Poulol. 289 app. crit. (L).

Sg.	2	-οσου(v)

⁵⁴ The London manuscript can be consulted at <http://www.bl.uk/manuscripts/>. Ms. Athous Pandel. 538, edited by VASILEIOU (2003) has the unusual form ἐγκρεμίζεσθον Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 303, which is unlikely to be an archaic dual (as the subject is 2 sg.), and probably a writing mistake for ἐγκρεμίζουσιν.

Forms in -οοσουν also appear from the 16th c. onwards, mainly in Heptanesian texts (cf. 1 sg. -ομουν). It is the only ending given by Sofianos:

εχρειάζοοσουν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 54.10 ἐγράφοοσουν ΣΟΦΙΑΝΟΣ, Grammar 57.7

ἀλλάσσοοσουν Bertoldin. 99.10

ἐρχοοσουν Alex. Fyll. 18.31; ἐστοχάζοοσουν ibid. 61.6–7; ονομάζοοσουν ibid. 97.16–17

Deletion of final /n/ is very rare: δὲ μὲ στοχάζοοσου CHORTATSIS, Katz. I.217.

SMG -όοσουν has only been found in a 16th-c. work of Aitolos and then slightly after the period covered by this Grammar, in the Lament for the Peloponnese (1716) by the Kefalonian poet Katsaitis. It cannot be excluded that the shift of the stress in Aitolos occurred to accommodate the metre:⁵⁵ κ' εἰς ὅλους ἐφαινόοσυνε εὖμορφο παλληκάρι ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Voev. 127; ἀμέριμνη ἐκαθόσου ΚΑΤΣΑΙΤΙΣ, Klathmos II.925.

Sg.	2	-ουνσου

This unusual ending has been found in one 17th-c. text. If it is not a simple mistake, an explanation could be that it is formed on the analogy of 3 sg. -ουντο > -οντου; the post-verbal weak personal pronoun seems to play an associative role in this ending (see also 1 sg. -ονμου ἢ -ουνμου ἢ ὄνμου and 3 sg. -οντου(ν)): ὅταν ἦσουν νεότερος, ἐζώνουνσου καὶ ἐπεριπτάτεις ὅπου ἤθελες ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΡ., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 21.18.

Sg.	2	-οοσον

The grammar of Romanos Nikiforou is the only text to have this ending. If it is not a typo, the form could be explained as a case of hypercorrection of back-vowel raising, through which -ουσουν becomes -οοσον: ἐγράφοοσον ROMANOS, Grammar 20.17.

3rd Person Singular

Sg.	3	-ετο(ν) ἢ -ετονε ἢ -έτο(ν) ἢ -έτονε

The inherited ending -ετο(ν), especially with the final /n/, is widely used throughout the period under investigation, and it continues to be used when new variant endings emerge, in both literary and non-literary texts:

πρὸς τὰ Ἱεροσόλυμα ἤρχετον ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31 816.12

ἐπιάνετον Arm. 17

ἐγίνετον σεισμός μέγας (1326, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 41, 93.1–2)

⁵⁵ There are several instances of -όοσουν in the modern edition of Damaskinos Stouditis's Thisavros, but the modern edition is not based on 16th-c. editions, but on much later ones. The edition of 1561 has -ουσουν. The following example: πλέον νὰ μολυνόοσουν τὰς χεῖρας Hist. Imp. IIb 2127 is perhaps based on a misreading. The one ms that is available online reads μολύνομεν (not in the edition's app. crit.; ms Bern. gr. 114, olim 596, f.160r (ca. 1540); consulted at <http://www.e-codices.unifr.ch/>).

ἐκαθέζετον πάντοτε Liv. α 3373 όπου γίνεται LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 96 ό κόσμος ἐποντίζετον καί ή γυνή μου ἐστολίζετο Paroim. Η 37 σκάνταλον ἐγινίσκετον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 46.30 τόν βορθακά ἐμέμφετον ZINOS, Vatr. 161 ἐξεστιμερίζετον Vios Filaret. 238.22 ό Ἀδάμ ἀκούοντας ἐχαίρετον, καί ή Εὔα ἐφραίνετον DAM. STOD., This., Logos 7, η5r.33 (1561) περιμαζώνετον Diig. Alex. Sem. B 348 τοῦ ἐφαινέτον (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 211, 216.5) ἐστέκετον καί ἐξεσταίνουοντον KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 18.25 ἐσωρεύετον (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 83.13) εὐρίσκετον (1663, Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 39, 136.14–15) ἐκάθετον Thrinios Kypr. 3

Without final /n/ this ending is found mainly, though not exclusively, in Cretan texts, and in texts of unknown provenance:

εὐφραίνετο, ἡγάλλετο ή ψυχή της Achil. N 90 ἐκεῖνος ἐβούλετο νά τά ἐνδύσει (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.12–13) ἐκοντοστένετο BERGADIS, Apok. A 10 ἤστέκετο Diig. Alex. E 105.5 (Konstantinopulos) ἐδέρνετο MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 151 εὐρίσκετο LANDOS, Neos Parad. 346.13 ἐχαίρετο, ἐλαφρώνετο KORNAROS, Erot. III.12
 ό βασιλεύς ἐνοιάζετο Thrinios Kypr. 16 facs.; ή θάλασσα ταραττέτο ibid. 41 facs.

Addition of -(ν)ε, usually without a second accent, occurs in Cretan and Heptanesian texts, as well as in texts from certain Cycladic islands (see I, 2.6.3.3):

τοῦ φαίνετονε ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 774 app. crit. μέ ὅλους ἐμοιχεύετονε MOREZINOS, Klini 46.30; ἐδοξάζετονε id., Logos 468.29 εὐρίσκετόνε πλούσιος DEFAR., Sos. 39 (Holton) ἐδίδετόνε MARGOUNIOS, Vioi 273.8
 όπου λέγετονε Σεγρεδιανή (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 206, 195.7) μοῦ ἐφαινέτονε (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 53.184) τὸ σπῖτι της όπου ἐκάθετονε (1629, Milos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 14, 10.12) μοῦ φαίνετονε FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.461 κ' ἐγίνετονε σύγχυση BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 9228 τοῦ φαίνετόνε DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 473 ό πασῶς εὐρίσκετονε τότες Leilasia Par. 158

A shift of the stress to the penultimate has been found in texts from various areas, often to accommodate the metre:

ὄσπην καί ἄν ἐδυνέτον Arm. 46 ἐρχέτον μετὰ σχήματος Liv. E 2191; όκάτι ἐχαίρετον νά πάθη ὀρεγέτον ibid. 2647; καί εὐθύς ἐλιγωνέτον ibid. 3465 στήν τένταν ἐκαθέτον Chron. Mor. H 4757 πολλὰ ἐδιαλογιζέτον Pol. Tr. 317; τὸ πῦρ όπου ἐξηρχέτον ibid. 652; ὅσον καί ἄν ἐβρεχέτον ibid. 10189 ὥς ὅσον ἐδυνέτον Dig. E 486 πολλὰ εὐχέτον Achil. N 1615 ἐκρυβέτον Theseid I.57,5 (Follieri); εδειχυνέτον ibid. VI.38,7 (Olsen); ἐλαβωνέτον ibid.

VIII.20,3 (1529)
εὐλόγησε κι ἐγινέτον ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 426 όπου καθέτον Φίλιππος Alex. Rim. 192 καὶ πάλι ἀντρεύετον ΖΙΝΟΣ, Vatr. 141 ευρισκέτον ἀρρώστη VOUSTR., Chron. A 32.14; εκαθέτον εἰς την σκάλαν ibid. 38.11 ὅσα καὶ ἄν ἀντρειώνέτον Thrinus Konst. (Zoras) 10

Here, deletion of final /n/ is rare: ἐστεκέτο Pol. Tr. 9073 app. crit. (B).

Addition of -(v)ε, with or without a second accent (more often than not added by modern editors), occurs in Cretan and Heptanesian/Peloponnesian texts, as well as in texts from certain Cycladic islands (see also I, 2.6.3.3):

ἐσφαζέτονε Liv. E 3103
εχθρευέτονε Theseid II.13,3 (1529); ἐρχέτονε ibid. III.30,1; εκαθέτονε ibid. VI.56,1 (Olsen) ἐρχέτονε Imb. Rim. 835 ἐργαζέτονε Alex. Rim. 13 εμαχέτονε Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 275 ἐφαίνέτονε (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 148.50) φυλαγέτονε Pist. voskos II 1.318 app. crit. κ' ἐκαθέτονε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.25; ἐκαμωνέτονε ibid. 85.38; ἐπονηρευέτονε ibid.

135.27–8

Sg.	3	-ΕΤΟΥΝ ἰ' -ΕΤΟΥΝΑ

This rare ending occurs in the Heptanesian text Bertoldinos and the Peloponnesian Miracles of Nikon Metanoeite, in which it could be considered to be the result of a conflation of the mainstream ending -ετον and the Heptanesian/Peloponnesian variant -οτουν. In the document from Epirus and in Diig. Alex. K, a text with northern features, it could be explained as a case of mid-vowel raising of unstressed /o/ to [u].⁵⁶ ἐρχετουν ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ Σκεντέρ Πασᾶ (1585 [copy of 1653], Epirus, LAMBROS 1916b: 4, 135.1) εβούλετουν Diig. Alex. K 356.27 τοῦ ἐφαίνετουν Bertoldin. 92.16 ἐρπετουν καὶ ἐσύρνοτουν Thavm. Nikon Metan. III 4

The same ending with an added -α and dual stress occurs once in the 17th-c. Pistikos Voskos, which is considered to be of Cretan provenance: σοῦ φαίνετούνα Pist. voskos IV 6.10.

Sg.	3	-ΕΤΑΝ

⁵⁶ This ending, now characteristic of the Cypriot dialect, has not been found in Cypriot texts before the 19th c., in the Ἰσμία Χατζή Γεωργάκη Δραγομάνου (e.g. ἐβρίσκετουν, ἐμάχετουν, ἐρχετουν, ἐχώννετουν).

This is a very rare ending, found once in Maximos Kallioupolitis's translation of the New Testament, a 17th-c. text whose author was most probably from eastern Thrace:⁵⁷ ὁ λαὸς ὅπου ἐκάθεταν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 4.16.

Sg.	3	-εντο(ν) † -έντον † -εντονε

The ending -εντον is found from the 14th c. onwards. It is relatively frequent in Achil. N (16 instances), but much rarer in other texts. It appears in texts from various areas:

ἐστρέφεντον B Pol. Tr. 6309 app. crit. (B); οὐκ ἤρχεντον ibid. 9555 app. crit. (C); ἐγίνεντον ibid. 12221 app. crit. (C) ἐκείπεντον Achil. N 963; ἐκάθεντον ibid. 1132; ἐστέκεντον ibid. 1242; εὐφραίνεντον καὶ ἡγάλλεντον ibid. 1551 ἐθλίβεντον Achil. O 422 (hapax) ἐχαίρεντον Spanos A 367 (hapax) ἐκρέμεντον DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1448 ἐκόπτεντον BERGADIS, Apok. V 319 (app. crit.) (hapax) ἐρχεντον Pent. Gen. 38.9

Deletion of final /n/ is not unusual with this ending:

πώποτε οὐ γίνεντο Pol. Tr. 927 app. crit. (A) ἡττρέπεντο, εὐφραίνετο Achil. N. 90; ἀλλ' ὡς φυτὸν ἐκλίνεντο ibid. 1337; ἐκάθεντο ibid. 1850 ἐγδέχεντο κι ἐνίμενε P&N Diath. 2268 κι ο Κάτης ἐδιαλογίζεντο Katis 32; βουβός, τυφλός ἐκείπεντο ibid. 36 καὶ πασανεῖς ἐρέγεντο κι ἐμέ την ομορφιά μου CHORTATIS Panor. III.152 μὰ λέγει πὼς ἐσφάζεντο καλλιὰ Stathis I.58; κι εἶδα ἓνα ξύλο κι ἤρχεντο ibid. II.325 ἤρχεντο στὸ βυζί τση FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.149; τοῦ Φορτουνάτο ἐμέλλεντο ibid. V.200 ἐκτάσσαντο Leilasia Par. 355

A shift of the stress to the penultimate is very rare: ὁ νοῦς μετατραπέντον Achil. N 852.

Addition of -(ν)ε can be found in texts from Crete, and has also been found in a document from Naxos (see I, 2.6.3.3 for details):

καὶ λογίζεντονε τὸ ἔμισόν περιβόλαιον (1557 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 11, 63.7) δὲν ἐντρέπεντονε MOREZINOS, Klini 183.36 (ms Ξ) διατὶ βλάφτεντονε καὶ ἐζήτηξέν το (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 181.73) νὰ βρίσκεντονε in verità a bono patre natus FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.218

Sg.	3	-οντο(ν) † -όντον † -οτον † -ότον

The ending -οντο(ν), identical to the inherited 3 pl. ending (see below), though much less frequent in the singular, appears in several literary texts from around the 15th ⁵⁷ The ending is still characteristic of certain northern dialects (NEWTON 1972c: 271), and also occurs in the south-east Peloponnese according to PANDELIDIS 2010: 472.

c. onwards. It is found in texts from the Heptanese, Epirus, and in texts of unknown provenance:⁵⁸ κᾶπου ἔαν ἐκάθοντο ᾽ς τὴν Ἄρταν διὰ κυνήγι Chron. Toc. 1525 ἐβλέποντας ὁ Ἀχιλλεύς, ἐχαίροντον ἡ ψυχὴ τοῦ Achil. O 146 δὲν ἐδύνοντο πλέον νὰ κάμει τίποτες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 421.3

 τί ἐγίνοντον (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 2, 295.21) (author's family from Corfu) ἀλλὰ ἐστέκοντο ὥσ᾽ ἀγριόχοιρος Vios Aisop. K 155.17

A shift of the stress to the penultimate may occur in verse texts for metrical reasons (verse end; cf. 3 pl.): ο Κύριος Αδωνάϊ αὐτοῦς εὐσπλαχνιζόντον IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3782.

The ending -οτο(ν) is mainly Heptanesian. It is the result of vowel assimilation according to MINAS 1987a: 38, though it could also be viewed as a graphematic realization of nasal deletion in -οντο(ν) (see I, 3.6.2.1) or an analogy with -ομουν, -οσουν : -ετον > -οτον. The ending is used rather frequently in Kartanos, and less so in Noukios:

εὐρίσκοτον Pol. Tr. 1723 and 5001 app. crit. (X) (15th-c. ms, hapax) ἐγίνοντον Chron. Mor. P 43; ἐστρέφοτον στὸ σπίτι της ibid. 7453 εἶ τις ἔρχοτον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.34–6; ὑποτάσσοτον ibid. 341.6; ἐψένοτον ibid. 437.28 τί ἐγένοτον (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 2, 295.23) (author's family from Corfu) ἐκείτοτον κακῶς NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 15.1 κι ἔρχοτον ᾽κ τὴν Σκλαβουνία TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 57 ἐνεπιστεύοτον Bertoldin. 112.25 (hapax)

A shift of the stress to the penultimate can be found sporadically in texts from Kefalonia: εὐρίσκοτον (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 189, 115.7); ἐδυνότον DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 505.

Sg.	3	-οουντο(ν) -ουτον -ουτονε -οουντονε

Forms in -οουντο(ν) appear from at least the 16th c. in texts from southern areas (Crete, Peloponnese, certain Cycladic islands), but also in texts from Chios, in KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath., whose author is most probably from east Thrace, in Aitolos (author from Corinth, but lived in Constantinople most of his life), and in texts of unknown provenance:

νὰ ἐγίνουντον Krasop. AO 21 ἀπέκει οποιῦ κείτουντον ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 18.4; στοχάζουντον ibid. 91.17 ὁ νοῦς δὲν ἐλαφρώνουντον KORNAROS, Erot. I.1758; μιὰ πλεξοῦδα ἐκρέμουντον ibid. II.334; μιὰ βοσκοπούλα εὐρίσκουντον ibid. II.640; κ' ἐκάθουντον κ' ἐφαίνουντό του ἡ ζάλη ibid. III.1013; ἐδέρνουντον ἡ νένα της ibid. III.1613 ⁵⁸ A highly unusual ending -οτοαν has been found twice in texts from different regions. These forms are without parallel and should probably be regarded as simple writing/typesetting mistakes: ὁποῦ ἐκάθοτοαν (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.3); ἐκράζοτοαν Ἀουρέλια Bertoldos 13.4.

ἐκάθουντον ἐκεί KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 15.29; ἤρχουντον ibid. Mark. 5.1; ἡ Ἡρωδιάδα τὸν ἐχθρεύουντον ibid. Mark. 6.19; τὸ πλεμάτι τοὺς ἐσχίζουντον ibid. Louk.
 5.6; ἐπροσεύχουντον ibid. Louk. 5.16; ἐκαμώνουντον πῶς δὲν τὸν μέλει ibid. Ioann. 8.6; ὁ Πέτρος ἐστέκουντον ibid. Ioann. 18.16; ἐστέκετον καὶ ἐξεσταίνουντον ibid. Ioann. 18.25 καὶ κάθουντον VEST., Paid. Makkav. 989 καὶ ῥέγουντον τὰ ἔβρισκεν KONDAR., Paides 975 εφάινουντον Diig. Sant. 386.19; ἐκάθουντον ibid. 391.33 εὐρίσκουντον (1735, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 37, 65.6–7)

Forms without the final /n/ are found in Cretan texts of the 16th/17th c., and in Germano's grammar, written in Chios in the 17th c. (copied by Portius):

ἐγράφουντο GERMANO, Grammar 77.31, but also: ἐγράφετον ibid. 77.29 ἐγράφουντο vel ἐγράφετον PORTIUS, Grammar 35.24 νεκρώνουντο CHORTATIS, Katz. II.154 ἐψυγομαραίνουντο KORNAOS, Erot. III.17

Addition of -(v)ε, without a shift of the stress, occurs in texts from Crete and the Aegean (Chios, Mykonos, Naxos) (see also I, 2.6.3.3):

εὐρίσκουντόνε κάτοικος PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1589 ἐκρύβουντονε (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 53, 205.7); ἐκάθουντονε (1685, ibid. 521, 747.3–4); ἐγίνουντονε (1687, ibid. 674, 921.11); ἐστέκουντονε (1688, ibid. 824, 1107.22) (ἐκρυβούντονε, ἐκαθούντονε, ἐγινούντονε, ἐστεκούντονε in the edition; as the editors state in their introduction (p. 128), accents, more often than not absent in the ms, were added)
 ἐκράζουντονε KORNAOS, Erot. IV.1069 ἐκείτουντονε (1703, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 43, 56.8) (ed. ἐκοιτούντονε; diacritics often added by the editor)

Forms in -ουτο(v) are phonetic variants of -ουντο(v), representing a graphematic realization of nasal deletion before stops, whereby /nd/ becomes /d/ (cf. 3 pl.). For details see I, 3.6.2.1.

εὐρίσκουτον (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3.2) ἀσκητικὰ ὡς ἐπολιτεύουτον IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 334.16 εὐρίσκουτο ... ἀναπαμένον SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. A2r.4
 ὅπου εὐρίσκουτον ὁ ὑψηλότατος ἀφέντης (1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 7, 20.5)

A form with an added syllable -(v)ε occurs in a document from Naxos (see I, 2.6.3.3): ἐκείτουντονε (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 227, 402.5) (ἐκείτούτονε in the edition; accent notation, however, is largely editorial).

Sg.	3	-ουτο(v) -ότου(α) -ότουνε

These endings are found from the 17th c. onwards in texts from the Heptanese and the Peloponnese (cf. NEWTON 1972c: 271 and PANDELIDIS 2010: 472). Chron. Theod. is a family chronicle dating from the 15th–16th c., but it has come down to us in a 19th-c. copy. The endings are quite frequent in Bertoldos, Bertoldin., Kaloandros (passim, according to DANEZIS 1989: 77) and Katsaitis; there are two examples in Alex. Fyll., a text of uncertain provenance; there is also one example in ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali, a text with a varied, and not always necessarily Cypriot, morphology. The ending is also given by SPANOS, Grammar (18th c., Peloponnesian), with a shift of the stress to the penultimate, and is quite frequent in Thavm. Nikon Metan., but absent from earlier Peloponnesian works such as the Chronicle of Morea and the War of Troy (cf. the same ending with εἶμαι (ἦτουν), which was not found in Peloponnesian texts prior to the 16th c.): εὐφραίνονται Bertoldos 6.25; ἐστοχάζονται ibid. 70.4; ἐπαγγέλλονται ibid. 32.2–3; ἐσκεπάζονται ibid. 46.18; ἐμπιστεύονται ibid. 56.3 ἀσηκώνονται Bertoldin. 91.25; ἐκράζονται ibid. 94.23; ἐστέκονται ibid. 109.33; ἐλέγονται ibid. 134.21; δὲν ἐκόβοται ibid. 144.12; ἐφαίνονται ibid. 146.8 μοῦ ἐφαίνονται MONTSEL., Evgena 1427 ἐρρίπτονται εἰς τὰ νερά Thavm. Nikon Metan. II 5; ἐσύρνονται ibid. III 4; ὁ ὅποιος ἔρχονται ibid. III 14; ἠυρίσκονται ibid. IV 1; ἐκρέμονται ibid. V 23 εἰς τὴν Εὐάν ἐδιαλέγονται ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 1638 ἐδύνονται KASIMATIS, Varl. & Ioas. 501.17 ἠυρίσκονται KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.402; ἐγίνονται σ' αὐτοῦς ματοχυσία ibid. II.294

A shift of the stress to the penultimate occurs in verse and prose texts, as well as in non-literary texts:

ἐγιατρευόταν Bertoldos 76.8
 ἐρχόταν Alex. Fyll. 111.31 ἐχαίρόταν ibid. 111.31–2 εφαινόταν Kaloandros 406.1 ἀποκρενόταν (1685, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 68, 275.43) εὐρίσκόταν SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 34.7 ἐπιχειρίζόταν PYRRIS, Peri Panouklas 114.33 [ἐγραφε]όταν SPANOS, Grammar 36.22

Final /n/ can sometimes be dropped: εὐρίσκοτου ἐγγαστρωμένη (1691, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 95, 296.21–2); ἐδυνότου KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.321; ἐφημιζότου ibid. III.169; δὲν μὲ ἐστοχάζοτου id., Thyest. V.455.

Addition of -(v)α or -(v)ε to this ending can also be found, in texts of south-western provenance (see I, 2.6.3.3): ἐγραφότουνα Chron. Theod. 21.14 ὀνομαζότουνα SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 36.8; ἐμουρμουρίζοτουνα ibid. 37.16 τοὺς ἐδεχότουνα PYRRIS, Peri Panouklas 115.17 στὸν θρόνον ἐκαθότουνα KATSAITIS, Ifig. Prol. 51; κ' ἐρχότουνα id., Thyest. V.696 [ἐγραφε]ότουνα SPANOS, Grammar 36.22 πού καθότουνε MONTSEL., Evgena 190 ἐρχότουνε τ' ἀσκέρι KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.136; ἐγίνοτουνε ibid. I.688 [ἐγραφέτου]νε SPANOS, Grammar 36.22 ἐθυμονότουνε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 58.3

Sg.	3	-ΟΥΤΟΥΝ

The ending -ΟΥΤΟΥΝ, -ΟΤΟΥΝ with a thematic vowel /u/ for /o/, is quite rare: ἐκράζουτουν Φαγότης Bertoldos 28.3; ἐπροέρχουτουν Bertoldin. 139.14; ὁποῦ ἐβουρλουδίζουτουν ibid. 146.4–5.

Sg.	3	-ΟΝΤΑΝ '-ΟΝΤΑΝΕ -ΟΝΤΑΝ

This ending, with its typical “past-tense”-marker /a/, is much more common for 3 pl. than it is for 3 sg. It appears in texts from northern areas (cf. NEWTON 1972c: 271) from the 16th/17th c. onwards, as well as in texts from certain Heptanesian and Aegean islands. It is not usually found in Cretan texts (cf. -οῦνταν).⁵⁹ ἀν ἤρχονταν ἀπὸ τὸ χέρι του (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.8) τοὺς ἐφαίνονταν Chron. Ps.-Doroth. 233.14 ἀν ἤρχονταν ξένος PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.19 ἐκάθονταν εἰς τὸ παλάτι του Alex. Fyll. 6.2–3; καὶ ἐκεῖνο τὸν ἐχαίρονταν ibid. 13.17 (the ending is frequent in this text, both for 3 sg. and for 3 pl.) ἐσυλλογίζονταν ὁ βασιλεὺς Diig. Ag. Sof. f 593.1–2 ἐλέγονταν Γιάννης (1708, Zakynthos, SATHAS 1865: 524.11) δεῖν το καταδέχονταν (1708, Chios, KECHAYOGLU 2001: 442.14)

Addition of -(v)ε (see I, 2.6.3.3) has been found in a late 17th-c. text written in Constantinople or the Danubian Principalities. The forms have dual stress (ραγίζοντάνε, κάθοντάνε), but the first accent is omitted in writing: ραγίζοντάνε Diig. Vefa 686; καθοντάνε ibid. 948.

A shift of the stress to the penultimate is rare: καὶ καπνιζόνταν καὶ ἡ ἐκκλησία (1665–76, Ioannina, VAKATSAS 1992: 3, 153.2).

Sg.	3	-ΟΥΝΤΑ(ν)

The variant -ΟΥΝΤΑ(ν) is less common for the singular than it is for the plural. It has been found in texts of northern provenance and in a document from Mykonos (cf. NEWTON 1972c: 271):

ἐνα περιστέρι ἀπέτουντα στοὺς οὐρανοὺς ἀπάνου Ekatol. (Meteoron) 21 (< πέτομαι) κείτουνταν ὡσάν το νεκρωμένο ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 27.12 ἐκεῖ ὁποῦ ἐκοίταξεν γυναῖκα, ἐδαιμονίζονταν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.26; στολίζονταν, ξεστολίζονταν ibid. I §28.25; με ἤρχουνταν ὄριξη ibid. I §31.67 νὰ μὴν ἡφαίνονταν ἡ ἀνωθεν κοντετζιό (1662, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 6, 55.17) ἐλέγουνταν τοῦ παιδιοῦ τὸ σπῆτι (1714, Smyrna, SFYROERAS 1963b: 2, 177.7) (author from Mykonos)

⁵⁹ One instance in SACHLIKIS, Katalogi 87: ἐντρέπονταν is the result of a correction by the editor, Papadimitriou (from ἐντρέπονται, because in the context 3 sg. is more suitable).

ούτε τον φαίνονταν καμία δυσκολία Don Kis. 47.31; κατόπι τους ήρχονταν ένα κοτσί ibid. 49.7–8; εκάθονταν ... μία σινιόρα ibid. 49.9

Sg.	3	-όταν -ότανε

This ending, nowadays the SMG ending, appears in texts from western areas (Heptanese, Peloponnese, Central Greece), with and without an added -(ν)ε (for which see I, 2.6.3.3), but not before the 17th c.⁶⁰ (cf. oxytone verbs for an earlier example from the same area; see 4.8.2 for the ending -ταν with the verb εἶμαι):

ώνομαζόταν (1683, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 95, 322.3) εύρισκότανε (1641, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 233, 190.4) τὴν κασέλα του ὅπου ἐβρισκότανε στοῦ Κεφαλᾶ (1682, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 263, 241.20) ἐρχότανε MATESIS, Chron. 64.28 εύρισκότανε PYRRIS, Peri Panouklas 121.26 πάντα ὅλα ἐγενότανε μὲ τέλος καλὸ ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 37.20 ὅπου νὰ ἐστεκότανε ΕΦΘΥΜ., Chron. Gal. 46.15

Sg.	3	-οντου(ν)

This rare ending has been found in two texts so far: the 16th-c. ms B of Pol. Tr. and Bertoldos (17th c.). It is perhaps the result of an inversion of -ουντο, with some association with the postverbal clitic pronoun (see also 1 sg. -ονμου | -ουνμου | -όνμου and 2 sg. -ουνσου): ὁ Πάρις οὐδὲν ἔρχοντου Pol. Tr. 7957 app. crit. (B); ἀποκρένοντουν ἡ ἄλλη καὶ ἔλεγεν Bertoldos 24.29.

With addition of -(ν)α it appears in a 17th-c. document from Kefalonia (see also I, 2.6.3.3): ἔλαβε τὴ σοτανέλα ρεστάνιο ὅπου εἰς τὴν αὐτὴν ἐβρισκοντουνα (1682, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 263, 241.20) (no stress notation).

1st Person Plural

Pl.	1	-όμεθα(ν)

The residual ending -όμεθα is found sporadically, mainly in texts of the early period and in mixed-register texts. For barytone verbs it is the only ending mentioned by Sofianos, and one of three alternatives in Spanos's grammar:

ἐνόσῳ ἐβουλευόμεθα Liv. α 2887 ὅταν ἤρχόμεθα Liv. S 2941 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ⁶⁰ One anachronistic instance of proparoxytone -οταν: τὸ σημάδιν τους φαίνοταν Pol. Tr. 6099 is an editorial invention; the mss have forms in -ετο(ν).

ἐσφαζόμεθ' ἀλλήλοις Pol. Tr. 12696 app. crit. (X) ἡμεῖς συνεπιγόμεθα [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2027 ἐγραφόμεθα SOFIANOS, Grammar 57.6–8 ἐγραφόμεθα SPANOS, Grammar 36.23

Addition of final /n/ occurs only rarely:

οὐκ ἡδυνάμεθαν κρατεῖν το (1375, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 15, 117.6–7) (< residual δύναιμαι, which became δύνομαι, with change of thematic vowel, in MedG) οὐδὲ ἐχρειαζόμεθάν την Pol. Tr. 192; ἐσφαζόμεθαν ibid. 12696 app. crit. (A) ἐκαθόμεθαν Krasop. V 86

Pl.	1	-όμεθεν

This ending is much rarer for the imperfect than it is for the present (see 4.1.1.2). It is held to derive from -όμεθα; the final /a/ changed to /e/ to match the 2 pl. and 3 pl. endings in the paradigm, while final /n/ was added by analogy with 1 pl. active -μεν (MEYER 1889: 197): καὶ ἐνόσω ἐβουλευόμεθεν Liv. V 2519; τὸν δρόμον τὸν ἡρκόμεθεν ibid. 3617; οὐδὲ ἐχρειαζόμεθén την Pol. Tr. 192 app. crit. (AE); ἐσφαζόμεθεν ibid. 12696 app. crit. (C).

Pl.	1	-όμεσθεν ἰ -όμεστέν ἰ -ομέσθεν

The ending -όμεσθεν is much rarer for the imperfect than for the present (see 4.1.1.2 for discussion). Its variant -όμεστέν is the result of manner dissimilation of fricatives after sibilants (see I, 3.8.1). These endings appear from at least the 15th c. onwards (ms date of Liv. E) in texts from various regions:

ἐγενόμεσθεν Liv. E 3770; ὅταν ἐρχόμεσθε εἰς ἐσὲν ἡμασθεν κοπιασμένοι ibid. 4112; ἐχαιρόμεσθεν ibid. 4313 εὐκαιρα ἐκδεχόμεσθεν ἐκεῖνο οἱ τοῦ δὲν ἦτον ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 96.7 ὡς ἐδυνόμεσθεν IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 333.10 ἐχαιρόμεσθεν [VLASTOS], Dig. P II 323.28 οὕτως οὖν <ἐ>χαιρόμεσθεν Dig. A 2596 ἐδερνόμεστέν Vios Aisop. K 150.21 ὁπότεν ἐστεκόμεστέν Bertoldin. 107.1; νὰ εὐρίσκομέστέν ibid. 118.3

Forms with a dual stress can occasionally be found, and sometimes the first accent is omitted: ἐχρειαζομέσθεν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 448.6; εὐρίσκομέσθεν Vosk. 234 app. crit.; ἐκάθομέσθεν [VLASTOS], Dig. P VII 377.20.

Pl.	1	-ούμεστέν ἰ -ούμεσθεν

Forms in -ούμεστέν/-ούμεσθεν appear quite late and are also rather rare: ἐγραφούμεστέν GERMANO, Grammar 90.10; δὲν ἐχρειαζούμεστέν πλούτον Diig. Sant. 390.35; ὡσὰν ἐκαθούμεσθεν μαζί [VLASTOS], Dig. P X 407.32.

Pl.	1	-όμεσθα(ν) † -όμεσθαν † -όμεσταν † -όμεστα † -'όμεστανε

The ending -όμεσθα(ν) and its phonetic variant -όμεστα(ν), much more common with εἶμαι (see 4.8.2), has not been found with barytone verbs before the 17th c. It appears, sporadically, in texts from various areas (for a discussion, see 4.1.1.2):

τοῦ ἔδωκα κόπιαν ὅταν ἐρχόμεσθαν ἀπὸ τὴν Σαγιάδα (1611, Ioannina, MERTZIOS 1936a: (1), 19.11–12) καὶ ᾠθυμαζόμεσταν νὰ γρικοῦμεν ἔτοιον πράμα (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 36.31–2) προχθές ανταμωνόμεσταν CANTEMIR, Krit. 447.13–14 [ἐγγραφό]μεσθα SPANOS, Grammar 36.23

Forms with dual stress, in which the primary accent is sometimes omitted, were found in Cretan texts from the 16th c. onwards, and once in Dig. P (provenance unknown):

καὶ σύρνομέσθαν πάντοτε ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 100 ἐπροστάσσομέσθαν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 35.27 ἐκεῖ ὅπου ἔπαιζάμεν καὶ ἐχαίρομέσθαν [VLASTOS], Dig. P VII 377.19 ἐλειπομέστα (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 81.100) (ἐλυπομέστα in the ms) ἐκαθομέστα Stathis III.11

Addition of -(ν)ε to this ending can occasionally be found, again in Cretan texts. Kriaras has the form with a dual accent (from ms D), whereas the ms of Fortounatos is written in the Latin script, which means that the accents are editorial by definition: ἐκεῖ ἀποῦ κάθομέστανε CHORTATISIS, Panor. IV.352; εὐρισκομέστανε FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.256.

Pl.	1	-ούμεσταν

Forms in -ούμεσταν have been found in 17th-c. Cycladic texts (cf. NEWTON 1972c: 272): ἐπικραινούμεσταν Diig. Sant. 393.37; καθούμεσταν (1681?, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 129, 293.3).

Pl.	1	-ομενστα(ν) † -ομένστα(ν) † -όμενστα(ν)

This ending appears a number of times, especially with the present, in documents by the Cretan notary Maras. It looks like a conflation of the active and passive endings -μεν and -μεστα, but is more likely to represent a graphematic idiosyncrasy of the notary (for discussion see 4.1.1.2): ἐκρινόμενστα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 217, 216.4).

Pl.	1	-όμασθε † -όμαστε † -ούμαστέν

This ending is quite rare in the period covered by this Grammar. It has been found in Cretan texts, in Kanellos Spanos's grammar (18th c., Peloponnese), in an 18th-c. document from Chios and once in the Chronicle of the Theodosia Family, a Heptanesian text of the 15th–16th c., which has however come down to us in a 19th-c. copy (cf. NEWTON 1972c: 271–2). The ending is rather more frequent with the verb εἶμαι (for which see 4.8.2).

οὕτως τὴν ἐχαιρόμασθε Dig. E 144 ὅπου ἐγνωρίζομαστε κ' ἤμαστε φίλοι ἀλλότες CHORTATIS Katz. V.6
 ἐκεῖ ποὺ ἐκαθόμαστε CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.352 app. crit. (N) (ὀπδοκαθόμαστε in ms A) [ἐγραφό]μασθε SPANOS, Grammar 36.23 εὐρισκόμαστε συγχυσμένοι Chron. Theod. 20.1–2

With vowel [u] and final /n/ it was found in an early 18th-c. document from Chios: ἐκεῖ ὅπου ἐστεκούμασταν (1713, Chios, LAMBROS 1910: 350, 209.3–4).

Pl.	1	-ουμαστινε

This is a very rare ending, which has also been also found with the present (4.1.1.2). It appears in texts from Peloponnesian authors, and it is unclear where the stress may have been on these forms, because the examples lack notation of stress: εἰς τὴ στράτα ὅπου ἐρχουμαστινε ... ἀρρώστησεν ὁ πατέρας μας (1584, Italy, PAPADOPOULOS 1978: 1, 318.5–6).

Pl.	1	-όμασταν -ούμασταν -ούμασθαν -ούμασθάνε

Very few instances have been found of this ending, which with a thematic vowel /o/ is now the SMG ending: νὰ εὐρισκόμασταν (1610, Mani, FLORISTÁN 2008: 1, 281.9); ὅταν ἐρχούμασθαν νὰ κτυπήσωμεν Vios Aisop. I 269.32 (scribe of south-eastern provenance?); καθούμασταν (1692, Naxos, PANDELIA-GRITSOPOULOU 1995/97: 2, 212.13).

With addition of -(v)ε and dual stress it appears in the Itinerary of Vasileios Vatatsis (1720): καθὼς βουλούμασθάνε VATATIS, Periig. I 522 ms L.

Pl.	1	-όμαστον

This rare ending has been found only in the Pentateuch (16th c., Constantinople), but see 4.8.2 (εἶμαι) for more examples from the same region and period, and see 4.1.1.2 for a late example from Kimolos with the present tense. According to MINAS 1987a: 41–2 this ending is derived from -όμαστε with substitution of /o/ for /e/ in the last syllable by analogy with 3 pl. -οντο(v), but seeing that -όμαστε has a rather different distribution in the EMG period (south-western areas), this is not very likely.⁶¹ See 4.8.2 for discussion: ἐστρεφόμαστον Pent. Gen. 43.10.

⁶¹ In MG dialects the ending -μαστον is characteristic of south-eastern dialects (Kos, Rhodes), see NEWTON 1972c: 272 and PAPACHRISTODOULOU 1959: 71.

2nd Person Plural

Pl.	2	-εσθε ἰ -εστε

The inherited 2 pl. ending -εσθε and its variant -εστε are used throughout and beyond the MedG period. The form -εστε for -εσθε is the result of manner dissimilation, a widespread phonological phenomenon for which see I, 3.8.1:

καὶ ἐσεῖς ἄλλοῦ ἠύρισκεσθε Dig. E 1749 εὐρίσκεσθε Pol. Tr. 1179 app. crit. (A) ἐπορεύεσθε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 354.10–11 εἰς τὴν στράταν ὅπου ἦρχεσθε (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.14–15) εἰς τὴν υπηρεσίαν εὐρίσκεσθε τῷ καιρῷ ἐκείνῳ MALAXOS, Ist. patr. 221.31–2 ἐγραφοῦσθε, vel ἐγράφεσθε PORTIUS, Grammar 35.26 πορεύεσθε [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 60 ἐγράφεσθε SOFIANOS, Grammar 57.6–8 ἐγραφοῦσθε, vel ἐγράφεσθε GERMANO, Grammar 90.10

Pl.	2	-οὔσθε ἰ -οὔστε

This 2 pl. ending is recorded in the grammar by Germano, written in Chios in the 17th c. and in Portius's grammar, which basically copies Germano: ἐγραφοῦσθε, vel ἐγράφεσθε GERMANO, Grammar 90.10; ἐγραφοῦσθε, vel ἐγράφεσθε PORTIUS, Grammar 35.26.

Pl.	2	-ουσθαν ἰ -ουσταν

In the period under review, this ending has been found in the works of Maximos Kallioupolitis, who was probably from Thrace:⁶² τί ἐδιαλέγουσθαν εἰς τὴν στράταν ἀνάμεσά σας; KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 9.33; δὲν ἐδύνουσθαν νὰ τὸ φᾶτε id. 1 Kor. 3.2; ἐφέρνουσθαν πρὸς τὰ εἴδωλα ibid. 12.2; ἐλέγουσταν ἀκρόβυστοι id., Efes. 2.11.

Pl.	2	-όστένε

Only one example has so far been found of this rare ending, in a text from the Heptanese: ποῦ ἦστένε καὶ δὲν ἐρχόστένε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 57.1.

The SMG ending -όσασταν has not been found in the texts examined.

3rd Person Plural

Pl.	3	-οντο(ν) ἰ -όντο(ν)

The inherited ending -οντο is used in various texts, mainly literary, throughout the LMedG and EMG periods:

⁶² The ending is still characteristic of certain northern dialects (NEWTON 1972c: 271).

ἄλλοι παρεπικραίνοντο δεινοῖς κολαστηρίοις GLYKAS, Stichoi 494 καὶ παρακάτω ἐκείοντο τὰ φρύδια της τὰ δύο Liv. E 2417 ἐξόπισθ' ἐν της ἤρχοντο μόναι καὶ δύο κόραι Pol. Tr. 288 οἱ μὲν ἐτρικυμίζοντο [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1019 ὑπῆρχοντο υἱοὶ τοῦ βασιλέως Achil. N 491; κατησπάζοντο ibid. 1752 κ' ἤρχοντο ἀπὸ πέρα BERGADIS, Apok. V 468 οἱ κόρες ἐνεθρέφοντο Diig. Apoll. 438 ἐδικάζοντο πρὸς τὸν Ξάνθον λέγοντες Vios Aisop. D 231.10 οἱ δὲ Δελφοὶ ἐκλαῖον καὶ ὠδύροντο Vios Aisop. K 206.15 ἐκείοντο οἱ ἅγιοι μάρτυρες LANDOS, Kalok. 340.32 ὡσάν γεράκια πέτοντο IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 937; ἐπαρᾶξενίζοντο ibid. 1290 ἐπειτα ἐβάνοντο εἰς εὐμορφο ὀρδινία SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 35.15 ἐγράφοντο SPANOS, Grammar 36.23

Addition of final /n/ is rare: κι ἔρχοντον πρὸς ἐμέναν ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 10 (app. crit.); ἐπροσφέρνοντον ΜΑΧ. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 323.33; ἀπόξω βρίσκοντον ἀκόμα τα γαλιόνια IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2743. Another rare form shows nasal deletion before the stop: οἱ πιστοὶ ἐδιώκοτο Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 169.

A shift of the stress to the penultimate occurs twice in IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali, for metrical reasons (verse end; cf. 3 sg.): όνταν αυτοὶ ἐρχόντον IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3781; κατάρτια καὶ ἀξάρτια ἀφαντα ἐγινόντο ibid. 8277.

Pl.	3	-όντου(ν)

The ending -όντου(ν), with [u] for [o] in the last syllable and a shift of the stress to the penultimate, appears sporadically in rather late texts: τὰ χαρτιά όπου εὐρίσκοντουνε εἰς τὸ χέρι του (1682, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 263, 241.4) (with added -(ν)ε, for which see I, 2.6.3.3); ἐγράφοντο-φόντου-ότουσαν SPANOS, Grammar 36.23.

Pl.	3	-ουντο(ν) -ούντονε -ουτο(ν)

The variant -ουντο(ν), more common for 3 sg. (see above), is rare for 3 pl. It mainly appears in texts from south-eastern areas and the Aegean (cf. NEWTON 1972c: 271–2) and has not been found before the 17th c.: οἱ ψιττακοὶ ἐκρέμουντο ἐπὶ τοῖς κλώνοις τότε Dig. A 2855 (hapax; -οντο(ν) in all other cases) καὶ εθαυμάζουντο ἅπαντες Diig. Sant. 392.25 ἐγράφουντον PORTIUS, Grammar 35.26–7 εὐρίσκουντον (1690, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 9, 23.16) <πολλοὶ> ἀνθρώποι ἔρχουντον KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 747

With an added syllable -(ν)ε it occurs in a document from Naxos (see also I, 2.6.3.3): ἐσιαζούντονε (1673, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 10, 172.16). Since the stress usually does not shift when -(ν)ε is added to a verb form, it cannot be excluded that for the proparoxytone form of the normalized edition one should actually read ἐσιάζουντονε.

Forms in -ουτο(ν) are phonetic rather than morphological variants of -ουντο(ν), representing a graphematic realization of nasal deletion (cf. 3 sg.) (for details see I, 3.6.2.1): εύρίσκουτον ... καποία χωράφια (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3.2); ήρχουτον Don Kis. 501.14.

Pl.	3	-οντα(ν) † -οτα(ν) † -όντα(ν) † -όντανε

The ending -ονταν, now SMG, with its characteristic “past-tense”-marker /a/, appears from at least the 14th c. onwards in texts from various regions, both northern and southern, though not in Cypriot texts:

οὐκ ἰσιάζονταν Chron. Mor. H 929; κ' ἐσφάζονταν ἀλλήλως ibid. 4076 ἐκείτονταν Liv. α 493 ἀλλήλως ἐσκοτώνονταν Pol. Tr. 1864; ἐδιλιβρίζονταν εἰς θάνατον ibid. 3063 ἐγίνονταν οἱ φόνοι Dig. E 1175 ηύρίσκονταν Chron. Toc. 7; ἡδύνονταν ibid. 93 ὡσάν ἐπροτιμεύονταν BERGADIS, Apok. V 126; ἐκόπτονταν κ ἐβιάζονταν ibid. 149 ρηγάδων παιδία οὐκ ἤρχονταν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 305 οἱ Πέρσες ἐτσακίζονταν Alex. Rim. 866 δύο τινές ἐχθρεύονταν ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 26.1 καὶ τὸν ἐμέμφονταν Vios Aisop. K 173.22 τῶν ἀγίων ὅπου ἐδιώχονταν MAXIMOS, Synax. Ag. Nik. 145.323 μοῦ ἐχρειάζονταν Bertoldos 82.11 ἐβούλονταν οἱ πατέρες νὰ τὸν πουλήσουν (1657, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 75, 192.14–15) ἔρχονταν οἱ κλέπτες (1703, Thessaly, SOFIANOS 1984: A, 42.9) υποπτεύονταν νὰ μὴν το ἔκαμε ἀληθινά Don Kis. 132.26

Deletion of final /n/ occurs in texts from south-western areas such as the Peloponnese and the Heptanese and in texts of unknown provenance:

ἐλαβώνοντα καὶ ἔπεφταν Pol. Tr. 3452 app. crit. (B); ἐδιλιβρίζοντα εἰς θάνατον ibid. 6298 app. crit. (B) (< OFr. delivrer, see GODEFROY, Lex. s.v.) ἐσφάζοντα Achil. N 614 ἐγίνοντα Chron. Toc. 87 ἐκεῖ ἄνδρες οὐκ εύρίσκοντα Theseid Prol. E 166 κι ἄλλοι στὴν γῆν ἐκείνοντα KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.174 καὶ ὅλοι μοῦ δουλώνοντα, κι ἔκαμνα δικιοσύνη Alex. Rim. 650 ἐκάθοντα Diig. Alex. F 38.8 (Konstantinopulos); ἐκείνοντα ibid. 38.11 τα ὀρνεα εβούλοντα νὰ ποιήσουν βασιλέα ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 47.1
 ἀμὴ πάντα εστέκοντα πικραμένοι Vios Filaret. 241.25

The ending -οταν for the plural is a phonetic rather than a morphological variant, representing a graphematic realization of nasal deletion before stops, whereby /nd/ becomes /d/ (see I, 3.6.2.1): ὅπου ἐσύρνονταν καλύτεροι Chron. Toc. 1789 app. crit.

A shift of the stress to the penultimate occurs in verse and prose texts (in verse texts usually to accommodate the metre), from the 14th c. onwards; forms of this type have been found in texts from the Peloponnese and Epirus and in a text of uncertain provenance (Moirol. Konst.):⁶³ τὰ κάτεργα ὅτι ἐρχόνταν Pol. Tr. 2978; ὅπου ἐμπρὸς ἐδερνόνταν ibid. 3976; νεούτσικα ἐφαινόνταν ibid. 6298; πολλὰ ἐκακευόνταν ibid. 11057 ὄσῃν καὶ ἄν ἐδυνόνταν Moirol. Konst. 110 ὅσοι ἐύρισκόνταν Chron. Toc. 3122

Deletion of final /n/ may very occasionally occur:

ἐπαῖζαν καὶ ἐχαιρόντα Pol. Tr. 1302 app. crit. (B); ἐδερνόντα ibid. 3976 app. crit. (B) γι' ἀγάπη ἐσφαζόντα Theseid Prol. E 199 ἐθρεφόντα ΚΑΤΣΑΙΤΙΣ, Klathmos III.45; ὁπόρχοντα ibid. III.56

With addition of -(ν)ε the ending occurs in Heptanesian and Cretan texts (see I, 2.6.3.3 for details):

ἐγνωρίζοντανε Alex. Rim. 871 ἐμαχόντανε ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 2076 ἐρχόντανε ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 35.15; ὁρεγόντανε ibid. 35.18; ἐμβαλλόντανε ibid. 37.24; τοὺς ἐναντιονόντανε ibid. 38.37 δὲν συνερίζοντανε οἱ γινῶμες ΠΥΡΡΙΣ, Diig. panouklas 122.27

Pl.	3	-ουντα(ν) -ουταν -ούνταν -ουντανε -ούντανε

Forms in -ουνταν occur from about the 14th c. onwards, in various texts, from northern and southern areas, and in texts of unknown provenance:

ἐρχουνταν Dig. E 1439 οἱ Ἑρωτες ἐπέτουνταν Achil. N 1128; ἀρματωμένοι ἐστέκουνταν ibid. 1173 καὶ νὰ γένουνταν Krasop. L 4 καὶ γίνουνταν προσευχῆς LIMEN., Than. Rod. 308; χρειάζουνταν ibid. 323 ἐπροσεύχουνταν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 30.6; ἐννοιάζουνταν ibid. 58.6 ὅσοι καὶ ἄν ἐπιάνουνταν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1156 τὸ χωράφιον ποὺ ἐργάζουνταν τὰ βόδια ZYGOM., Synopsis 225.Λ.34 ἴνιὰ περισσότερες ἀπέτουνταν Ekatol. (Meteoron) 45 (< πέτομαι; ἴνιὰ = ἐννιά)) εὐρίσκουνταν (1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 5.13) καὶ τὰ κορμιά κείτουνταν STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 648 (Pidonia) ἐβαπτίζουνταν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 3.6; ἐὰν ἐγίνουνταν ibid. 11.21; οἱ δοῦλοι καὶ ὕπηρέται ἐστέκουνταν [...] καὶ ἐξεσταίνουνταν ibid. Ioann. 18.18 ἐκαίγουνταν KONDAR., Paidēs 783 ἐμαζώνουνταν DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 1085 δὲν ἐρχουνταν (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 58.1) δὲν μᾶς ἐκαταδέχουνταν (post 1669, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1938: 2, 296.6–7) ἡγρίσκουνταν (1680, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 8, 302, f.1v.4)

⁶³ The evidence for the supposed Cypriot provenance of the scribe (MICHAILIDIS 1972: 308–9) is not very strong and limited to a few lexical items.

A shift of the stress to the penultimate has only been found in the Cypriot chronicle of Voustronios, whose accentuation is not always consistent: εννοιαζούνταν VOUSTR. Chron. A 44.7; ευρισκούνταν ibid. 56.17.

Deletion of final /n/ occurs in texts from southern areas, such as Crete, the Heptanese, Santorini, Cyprus and possibly Rhodes (Alosis), and in texts of unknown provenance:

τὰ ὀριζες ἐγίνονται, τὰ ἥθελες ἐποίουν Dig. E 358; ἐκαταπέτουντα ibid. 925 ἐντέχνως ὅλα ἐκάθουντα ἐκεῖνα εἰς τὴν πλατάνην Achil. N 796 ἐγεύγουντα BERGADIS, Apok. A 292 οὐ δύνουντα νὰ πάρου Alosis 672 ἐπυρώνουντα οἱ λᾶς (1469, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 117, 56.6) οἱ λᾶς νὰ μὴδὲν ἐκριματίζουντα Fior 97.13 κάτης καὶ ποντικὸς ἐμάχουντα καὶ ὁ βλέπων ἐγέλα Paroim. H 28 βούλουντα σὰν ἄνδρες νὰ σταθοῦσι ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 910 τα ζα τῇ προσεγέρνουντα CHORTATIS, Panor. I.320; κί εἰς τὸ ὅστερο επαντρεύγουντα ibid. III.528 ἐλετζέροντα ... οἱ ... πρωτοπαπάδες τους (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.6) ἤρχουντα ἀπὸ τὴν Ἄμοργόν Diig. Sant. 58.85 σκοτώνουντα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 161.21

Forms in -ουτα(ν) are phonetic variants of -ουντα(ν), representing a graphematic realization of nasal deletion before stops, whereby /nd/ becomes /d/ (see I, 3.6.2.1): ἐκρίνουντα (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.4); ἐστέκουνταν ἄρματωμένοι (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 402, f.3r.22).

Addition of -(ν)ε may occur in Heptanesian and Cretan texts, in Chios and certain Cycladic islands (see I, 2.6.3.3 for details):

ἐκαθέζουντανε MOREZINOS, Klini 16.9; ἐρματώνουντανε ibid. 23.23–4; ἐσωφρονίζουντανε καὶ ἐσύρουντανε ὀπίσω ibid. 52.12–13; ἐκούγουντανε ibid. 79.13; εὐφραίνουντανε ibid. 183.34; ἐξορίζουντανε ibid. 229.4–5 εἰς τὸν τόπον ὅπου εὐρίσκουντανε (1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 846, 737.10–11) τὰ πλούτη καὶ βασιλεία ἐκράζουντανε κόποι KORNAROS, Erot. III.900 καὶ κείτουντανε ἄταφοι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 396; ἐδέρνουντανε ibid. 1732; ἤρχουντανε ibid. 1764; κ' ἐγίνουντανε χουγιατὰ ibid. 5712

This form also appears with the stress on the antepenultimate:

ἐγραφούντανε GERMANO, Grammar 90.10–11 καὶ ὅσούντανε (1629, Crete, LAMBROS 1910: 254, 187.4–5) (= ἐσειοούντανε) ποὺ τῆς ἐλειβγούντανε (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 179.21); ἐσυγχιζούντανε (1685, ibid. 536, 762.8) ἐκαθοούντανε (1688, Andros, PASCHALIS 1948: 43.2)

Pl.	3	-όντησα(ν) ! -όντησάνε

This ending is used quite frequently in texts certain or very likely to originate from the Peloponnese, such as the War of Troy, the Chronicle of Morea, Vendramos, the Chronicle of the Turkish Sultans and the Miracles of Nikon Metanoieite.⁶⁴ It also appears in texts that are, or are likely to be, Heptanesian in origin (Rimada of Alexander, Theseid, Bertoldos), in the Velisariada ascribed to Limenitis (Rhodes) and in texts of uncertain provenance (Imberios, Vios Aisop. K, Fyll. gadar,⁶⁵ *Varl. & Ioas., Moiol. Konst.*⁶⁶ and Anthos Ch. A). IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali is the only Cypriot text to use this ending. The origin of this ending is unclear: the most recent explanation (see PANDELIDIS 2005, who also gives an overview of previous scholarship) is that the ending is a blend of -όντασι(ν) and ἦσαν, but -όντασι(ν) (see below), is rare and appears much later than -όντησαν:

τοὺς Φράγκους ἐμαχόντησαν Chron. Mor. H 1079; ἐρχόντησαν ibid. 1392 ἐξόπισθε ἐρχόντησαν Pol. Tr. 1077 app. crit. (B); ἐδιαφεντευόντησαν ibid. 2450 app. crit. (BV); συγγενεῖς εὐρισκόντησαν ibid. 2823
 ποσῶς οὐκ ἐπαυόντησαν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 305; ἐγειρόντησαν ibid. 515 τρεῖς μῆνας ἐχαιρόντησαν Imber. 890 οὐκ ἐπαρεδιδόντησαν Moiol. Konst. 21 app. crit. ἐρχόντησαν Theseid I.54,8 (Follieri); ἐχρειαζόντησαν ibid. I.124,6; ἐγλυκασπαζόντησαν ibid. II.79,4 (1529); ἐπορευόντησαν ibid. VI Prol. 3 (Olsen); ἐδυνόντησαν ibid. VI.64,8; ἐβανόντησαν ibid. VI.11,6 δὲν ορεγόντησαν ἀπὸ τόσον πράγμα ολίγον Anthos Ch. A 176.18 ορεγόντησαν Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 37–8 λοιπὸν αὐτὰ ἐρχόντησαν Alex. Rim. 552 ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ εὐρισκόντησαν (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 22, 100.3) κι ὁ λύκος μὲ τὴν ἀλουποῦ ἐρχόντησαν καὶ λέγαν Fyll. gadar. 32 καθόντησαν VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 64 τὰ χεῖλη του ἐκρεμόντησαν ἔξω ὥσάν μελιτζάνες Vios Aisop. K 147.9 ὑποτασσόντησαν καὶ τοῦ ἐγινόντησαν ὑπόδουλοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.16; ὅταν ἐδικαζόντησαν ibid. 30.10 ἐφαινόντησαν Bertoldos 6.11 τὰ ὁποῖα θαύματα καθημερούσιον ἐγινόντησαν Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 11 οπου ἐτοιμαζόντησαν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2362; βρισκόντησαν ibid. 4041

Deletion of final /n/ is very rare: ἐὰν ὅλοι ἐχαιρόντησα Pol. Tr. 1962 app. crit. (A); ἐρχόντησα εἰς τὴν μέση (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 289, 407.7).

Addition of -(ν)ε occurs in the Chronicle of the Turkish Sultans. In the manuscript these forms bear the stress on the fourth syllable from the end (see I, 2.6.3.3); secondary accents were unnecessarily added in the modern edition: εὐρισκόντησανε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 54.11 ms; ἐρχόντησανε ibid. 72.34 ms; ἐχαιρόντησανε ibid. 85.23 ms; ὑποτασσόντησανε ibid. 85.35 ms.

Pl.	3	-όντεσαν

⁶⁴ Mazaris, the author of a satirical text in learned Greek entitled Διάλογος νεκρικός. Ἐπιδημία Μάζαρι ἐν Ἄδου (1414–15), mocks the Peloponnesians and their “barbarous” language, mentioning among other things the forms ἡρχόντησαν and καθεζόντησαν (see PANDELIDIS 2010: 469).

⁶⁵ There is no strong linguistic evidence to support the supposed Cretan character of Fyll. gadar: and in fact the presence of this and other endings (cf. imperf. ἑκαυχάσουν) could be seen as an argument against this supposition.

⁶⁶ The supposed Cypriot provenance of this text is linguistically ill-supported; see e.g. the 3 sg. ending -εντο.

This rare ending, clearly a variant of -όντησαν, is found sporadically in the 15th/16th c.: βρισκόντεσαν Theseid I.7,2 (Follieri) ἐρχόντεσαν Chron. Mor. P 3708 δεν εφαινόντεσαν τα αρχίδια αυτού Syndipas 116.12 εάν οι γυναίκες εβαλλόντεσαν εις τες μάθησες Anthos Ch. A 25.7; ειρωνευόντεσάν των ibid.

171.16

κ' ἐσυντριβγόντεσαν Pent. Gen. 25.22

Pl.	3	-όντουσαν

The MG ending -όντουσαν (cf. PANDELIDIS 2005; JOSEPH 2008; JOSEPH 2009a) has not been found before the 18th c. It occurs in a document from Corfu and in Spanos's grammar (1749; author from the Peloponnese), which gives the ending as -ότουσαν, indicating that nasal deletion has occurred in the cluster /nd/ (see I, 3.6.2.1 for details): ἐκεῖ τότες ἐβρισκόντουσαν μαζί μου (1716, Corfu, ΛΙΑΤΑ 1975: 30, 142.6–7); ἐγράφοντο-φόντουν-ότουσαν SPANOS, Grammar 36.23.

Pl.	3	-όντουσταν

A single example of this ending has been found in a 17th-c. document from Arcadia in the Peloponnese (cf. NEWTON 1972c: 272; PANDELIDIS 2005: 481; JOSEPH 2009a): ἐκοβγόντουσταν (1667, Dimitsana, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 53, 317.13).

Pl.	3	-ούντασι -όντασι

The rare 3 pl. ending -ούντασι is mentioned as an alternative ending in Germano's (Chios, 17th c.) and Portius's grammars. It is clearly formed from -ούνταν/-όνταν, with the active alternative ending -ασι substituted for -αν (PANDELIDIS 2005: 478): ἐγραφούντανε, vel ἐγραφούντασι GERMANO, Grammar 90.10–11; ἐγράφουντον, vel ἐγραφούντασι PORTIUS 35.26–7.⁶⁷

The variant -όντασι can be found in the early 18th-c. EFTHYM., Chron. Gal.: νὰ ἐστεκόντασι EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 22.9; ἐρχόντασι ibid. 23.4.

Pl.	3	-ενταν

An example of this rare ending is found in KARTANOS, P&N Diath. (16th c., Heptanese). It could perhaps be viewed as an attempt to fabricate a distinctive plural for -εντο(ν): ἐμαζώνενταν πολλοὶ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 331.27.

⁶⁷ The ms reads ἐγραφούντασι, but since Portius largely copies Germano, this is clearly a writing mistake.

4.3.2 Oxytone Verbs

4.3.2.1 Active Voice

		General		Restricted		Rare
Sg.	1	ἐγρίκουν	ἐβάρουν	ἐγρίκου ἐγρίκουνα ἐγρίκουνε ἐγρικοῦσα	ἐβάρου ἐβάρουνα ἐβάρουνε ἐβαροῦσα	ἐγρίκων ἐγρίκαγα	ἐβάραρα ἐβάρειγα
	2	ἐγρίκας	ἐβάρεις ἐβάρειες	ἐγρίκουνες ἐγρικοῦσες	ἐβάρουνες ἐβαροῦσες	ἐγρίκαγες ἐγρίκειες ἐγρίκες	ἐβάρειγες ἐβάρες
	3	ἐγρίκα(ν)	ἐβάρει(ν) ἐβάρειε(ν)	ἐγρίκανε ἐγρίκουνε ἐγρικοῦσε(ν)	ἐβάρουνε ἐβαροῦσε(ν)	ἐγρίκα(γ)ε	ἐβάρεινε ἐβάρειγε ἐβάρεινε ἐβάρην
Pl.	1	ἐγρικοῦμε(ν) ἐγρικοῦμαν	ἐβαροῦμε(ν) ἐβαροῦμαν	ἐγρικοῦμα ἐγρικοῦσαμε(ν)	ἐβαροῦμα ἐβαροῦσαμε(ν)	ἐγρικῶμε(ν) (-άγαμε(ν))	ἐβαρούμανε ἐβαρείγαμεν ἐβάραμε(ν)
	2	ἐγρικᾶτε	ἐβαρεῖτε	(-άτενε) ἐγρικοῦσετε	ἐβαρούσετε	(-άγετε)	ἐβαρεῖγετε
	3	ἐγρίκουν ἐγρικοῦσαν ἐγρικοῦσασι(ν)	ἐβάρουν ἐβαροῦσαν ἐβαρούσασι(ν)	ἐγρικοῦσα ἐγρικοῦσανε	ἐβαροῦσα ἐβαρούσανε	ἐγρίκων ἐγρίκαν ἐγρίκαγαν	ἐβαρούσανσι ἐβάρειγαν

Distribution of Allomorphs*1st Person Singular*

Sg.	1	-ου(ν) † -ουνα † -ουνε

For 1 sg. active, the inherited E-stem ending -ουν is the most commonly used ending for both A- and E-stem verbs throughout the LMedG and EMG periods in texts from most areas:⁶⁸

E-stems

νὰ ἐπώλουν Ptoch. III 176; σύντομον νὰ ξεπούλουν ibid. 180 ἐχρεώστων Pol. Tr. 2601 τὰ ἤθελες ἐποίουν Dig. E 358; ἐγὼ ἐκυνήγουν ibid. E 505

ἔζουν Liv. V 2250

⁶⁸ Note that modern Cypriot retains this ending for 1 sg.; see CHATZIOANNOU 1999: 53–5.

καὶ οὐδὲν ἡμπόρουν SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 20; ἐκράτουν ibid. 147 ἐσυχνοπορδοκόπουν Synax. gadar. 233 δὲν ἐθάρουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 86.5; πάντα σ' ἐμίσουν ibid. 574.17–18 ἐπερπάτουν BERGADIS, Apok. V 17 καὶ ἴπουν τὸ κεφάλι ZINOS, Vatr. 328 ἐμπόρουν (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 287.9) δὲν ἐθάρουν ἐγὼ (1654, Karpenisi, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 7, 82.2) ἐμίλουν GERMANO, Grammar 76.23 ἡμπόρουν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 15.5 marg. ἐπεριπάτουν καὶ ἐκατοῦρουν Vios Aisop. K 160.8 κ' ἐταύρουν τὰ μαλλιά μου MONTSEL., Evgena 896 and 1329

A-stems

ἡγάπουν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.14 and id., Logos 31 810.10 ἐτίμουν Dig. G II.188 ἐβάστουν τὸ σπαθὶν μου Dig. E 1115 ἐγροίκουν Liv. E 1670 ἐτρύφουν ... ἐσπατάλου Liv. V 2250 ὅτι ἐβάστουν πρόσταγμα Diig. tetr. 723 σὲ ἡγάπουν Achil. N 1571 ἐβάστουν SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 10; ἐξέρνουν id., Peri fylakis 196 transcr. P (Lendari) ἡγάπουν τὰ στρατιωτικά Om. Nekt. Vas. 33; τὸν Χάρον οὐκ ἐψήφουν τον ibid. 35 ἐγέλουν SOFIANOS, Grammar 52.19 ἥσπουν CHORTATIS, Katz. III.174; κὶ ἐβάστουν τα ibid. III.269 ἐγάπουν GERMANO, Grammar 76.22; ἐγροίκουν ibid. 76.28 ἐτοῦτα ἀγάπουν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34.38–9 ἐγὼ ἀπὸ μέσα τοὺς ἐρώτουν Vios Aisop. D 231.27 ἐγέλουν SPANOS, Grammar 41.13–14

Deletion of final /n/ occurs in texts and documents from Crete and certain Aegean islands (Skyros, Naxos and perhaps Chios)⁶⁹ and in Achil. O, which is of unknown provenance:

ἄν οὐ σ' ἐγάπου τὰ πολλὰ καὶ ἴόθου τὰ μεγάλα Achil. O 662 τίποτις δὲν ἐτρόμου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 10; δὲν ἀποκότου νὰ τὸ πῶ ibid. 11 ἐπεθύμου νὰ κτήσω MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 230.25–6 σὰν ἐπεθύμου CHORTATIS, Erof. I.24; ἐμπόρου id., Katz. II.167; εὐχαρίστου σου ibid. II.360 τοὺς τόπους ἐσυντήρου P&N Diath. 283 ὅπου δὲν ἐθώρου ὕπνο Fallidos 30 τὰ τορνέσα ἀπὸ ἐχρώστου (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 39.71) κ' ἐκαταχάλου ὅ,τι ἔβλεπα TROILOS, Rodol. II.376; εὐχαρίστου σου ibid. IV.15 σ' ἐγάπου ὡσὰν παιδὶ FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.14 ὦχου κὶ ἄς μὴν ἐπείνου! VEST., Paid. Makkav. 1544 ἐπειδὴ ἐχρεώστου ἐγὼ (1669, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 34, 58.2) πάντα τὸν ἐγροίκου Trag. Ag. Dim. I.61

⁶⁹ The example in Vestarchis could be due to influence from Cretan literature (MANOUSAKAS/PUCHNER 2000: 45), since no similar forms have been found in other texts from Chios. For the practice of omitting final /n/ in ms V of Machairas and in other Cypriot texts see I, 3.7.2.2.

The ending -ουν with an added “past tense” ending -α (cf. KOURMOULIS 1956),⁷⁰ has a strong presence with both A- and E-stem verbs in texts of south-western provenance (Crete, Heptanese, Peloponnese), occasionally occurring in texts from other regions as well (Constantinople, Aegean). It appears towards the end of the LMedG period and remains in use throughout and beyond the EMG period:

ἐκράτουνα Liv. E 1670; ἐκατευόδουνα ibid. 1693 (< κατευοδῶ, O-stem); ἐκονόμουνα ibid. 3532 ἐπεθύμουνα Theseid I.103,7 (Follieri); ἡμπόρουνα ibid. III.54,5 (1529) ποὺ κράτουνα FALIEROS, Erot. En. 122 ἄς ἐφίλουνα τῆς λυγερῆς τὰ χεῖλη Love poems V 176 ἐμίσουνα τοῦ κόσμου τὲς γυναῖκες TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 67; ἐκυβέρνηουνα ibid. 204 ὅταν ἐγὼ τραγοῦδουνα AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 129.13 ἄν ἐγρίκουνα ἐγὼ (1577, Wallachia, IORGA 1915: 126, 52.30) (ed. ἐγροικοῦνα) (the author was a hellenized Italian lady from Constantinople) νὰ τὸν ἐτίμουνα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 86.19 ἐπούλουνα (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 2, 361.10); ἀπεθύμουνα (ibid. 361.24) σὰν ἐπορπάτουνα PORTIUS, Grammar 65.42 ὥσὰ δὲν μπόρουνα νὰ τὸ δουλέψω σήμερο (1639, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 137, 123.11) δὲν ἡμπόρουνα MONTSEL., Evgena 165; τὴν ἀγάπουνα ibid. 934; νὰ ξεψύχουνα ibid. 1117 ἐχρώστουνα τοῦ καπετὰν Δουλφῆ κατὶ λάδι (1694, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 204, 124.17) ἐποίουνα SPANOS, Grammar 38.15; ἐκέρνουνα ibid. 38.22; ἐγέλουνα ibid. 41.14

Forms with added -(ν)ε have been found in texts from the Aegean (Chios and Naxos), the Heptanese and Crete, as well as in one ms of Pol. Tr. (for such forms see also I, 2.6.3.3):

ἐσκόπουνε νὰ ἔχω χαρὰν Pol. Tr. 9121 (ms X) τὸν ὄρθρον ἀκαρτέρουνε τὰ δένδρη γιὰ ν' ἀκούσω Alex. Rim. 2132 ἐκράτουνε FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.28 ἐγάπουνε GERMANO, Grammar 87.4 τὴν γνώμην ὅπου ἔκράτουνε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1822; ἐκυνήγουνε ibid. 2503 νὰ μπόρουνε νὰ λόγιασα Trag. Ag. Dim. III.322

Sg.	1	-ων

This residual A-stem ending, which had been replaced by -ουν long before the LMedG period, is used sporadically, with both A-stem and E-stem verbs, mainly in mixed-to-higher-register texts:

ἐπροεχρεώστων (1123, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 4, 60.12) ὡς ἀληθῶς ἐτίμων Dig. G III.161; λόγους μεθ' ὑποκρίσεως ἐρωτικούς ἐκίρων ibid. VI.164 ἐσκόπων Pol. Tr. 5933 app. crit. (V)

⁷⁰ Instead of substituting -α for -ουν, which would adapt the ending to a common “past tense” paradigm, but which would also make the form indistinguishable from the most common 3 sg. ending (see below). Only one form in -α has been found in the texts examined: καὶ ἐγὼ μὲ ἄλλον καράβι ἀκλουῖθα τοὺς (1487, Chios?, LEFORT 1981: 13, 77.22).

ἔζων σὺν τοῖς μαθήμασι Ptoch. (Maiuri) 25

ἔζων Liv. α 123 app. crit. (P) ἐβόων θρηνηδοῦσα Dig. T 1732; παρ' οὗ μαθεῖν ἐζήτων ibid. 2043

Sg.	1	-οῦσα

This ending, the most common ending in SMG, consists of the imperfect marker /us/ and the “past tense” ending -α. The infix /us/ is derived from the 3 pl. imperfect ending -οῦσαν (see below; for a discussion see 2.1.2.2.3). With 1 sg., forms in -οῦσα have not been found in writing before the 17th c., but it is used with both A- and E-stem verbs. This ending is absent from Cretan texts, in which -οῦσα is a 3 pl. ending (-οῦσαν with deletion of final /n/, see below).⁷¹ ἀγαποῦσα ROMANOS, Grammar 38.8; ἐκρατοῦσα ibid. 47.21; ἀργοῦσα 64.14

ἐκεῖ ὅπου ἐλειτουργοῦσα Diig. Sant. 55.78 ἐγὼ ἐκυνηγοῦσα Alex. Fyll. 109.4

ἐμποροῦσα ... νὰ τὰ μετακινήσω (1709, Chios, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 34, 134.27); ἐπουλοῦσα (ibid. 135.70)

ἐγὼ αγαποῦσα νὰ παραπονιέσαι Don Kis. 47.15–16; εθαρρούσα ibid. 563.24 ἐκερνοῦσα SPANOS, Grammar 38.23; ἐφιλοῦσα ibid. 39.21; ἐγελοῦσα ibid. 41.14

Sg.	1	-αγα

This ending, common for A-stem verbs in the southern varieties of MG including Athenian, is absent from the LMedG period and very rare in the EMG period. It consists of the imperfect marker /aɣ/ (originally the stem vowel /a/ with intervocalic /ɣ/ before the /e/ of the 3 sg. and 2 sg. endings; see below, and for a discussion see 2.1.2.2.3). With 1 sg. it starts to appear quite late, in texts of Peloponnesian and Heptanesian (Zakynthian) provenance of the 17th and 18th c.: πὺ τὰ χρώσταγα (17th c., Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 33, 185.7); ἐγέλαγα SPANOS, Grammar 41.14; ὅπου τὸ ἀποκοίμαγα ᾗ τὴν κούνια μὲ τραγοῦδια Xethapsimo 14.

Sg.	1	-ειγα

This ending appears as an alternative to several other endings in the 1749 grammar of the Peloponnesian Kanellos Spanos.⁷² It has also been found in a manuscript note dating to 1718. It is most probably an analogical formation modelled on 2 sg. and 3 sg. forms in -ειες and -ειε with intervocalic /ɣ/ (see 2.1.2.2.4 for a discussion): ἐφόρειγα (1718, Unknown, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 2323, f.158v); ἐφίλειγα SPANOS, Grammar 39.23.

⁷¹ According to HATZIDAKIS 1892: 124, the modern Cretan dialect of his time had /us/ only in the plural.

⁷² This ending is still found in modern Peloponnesian dialects (NEWTON 1972a: 54; PANTELIDIS 2003: 11).

2nd Person Singular

Sg.	2	-ας

The inherited 2 sg. A-stem ending -ας is used throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, with both A-stem and E-stem verbs:

A-stems

ἀγάπας μας, ἐτίμας μας Pol. Tr. 7150 ἀγάπας Dig. E 238
 καὶ νὰ ἐμέτρας τὸν καιρὸν Liv. V 1789 ἀνάσπας Poulol. 432
 τὴν ἤθελες καὶ ἡγάπας Achil. N 1802 ἄν ἐγρίκας FALIEROS, Ist. On. 564 στὲς χῶρες τὲς ἐπέρνας Apok. V 101 ὁποῦ μὲ ἡγάπας περισσὰ DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 278 τοῦτη εἶνε ἡ ἀγάπη ὅπου μὲ ἀγάπας! MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 402.33 ἐγέλας SOFIANOS, Grammar 63.15 ἐὰν ἀγάπας DAM. SToud., This., Logos 7, η3v.22 (1561) ἄν ἐπήδας CHORTATIS, Katz. II.70 τὸν πόνο δὲν ἐγροίκας KORNAROS, Erot. III.101 κ' ἐγροίκας ἀναστεναγμούς BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 204.14; τὴν Κύπρον ἐκυβέρνας ibid. 391.13 ἐβάστας Zinon Prol. 39; ἐψήφας ibid. Prol. 50 κι ἂν ἐμελέτας ἄλλα KORNAROS, Erot. IV. 385

E-stems

ἀχαρίστας τὴν Log. parig. L 476 κι ἄλλον νὰ ἐκατηγόρας Chron. Mor. H 5553 ἀλλὰ ἂν ἐσκόπας τὸν καιρὸν Liv. E 1933; ἡῦρα τὸ ἐπεθύμας ibid. 3726 ἡῦρηκες τὸ ἐπεθύμας Liv. α 844 νὰ ἐσκόπας τὰς ἡμέρας Liv. V 1789 ἐρίγας τὴν κορφὴν σου Poulol. 248 εὐλόγας SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 31 ἐπολέμας το Theseid Prol. P 97 ἐσύ ἀπ' ἀκλούθας CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.333 ἐπαρηγόρας (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 146.19) ἐσύ ὁποῦ ἐκτύπας ἦσου; Stathis I.171 ἐλειτούργας (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 405.340)

Sg.	2	-εις

The inherited 2 sg. E-stem ending -εις is used with E-stem verbs throughout the LMedG period and well into the EMG period. In the texts examined this ending has not been found with A-stem verbs:

ἄν οὐκ ἐθάρρεις κολυμβᾶν Ptoch. I 103 ὁπότεν ἐδυστύχεις Log. parig. L 476 οὐδὲν ἠμπόρεις Chron. Mor. H 4228; ἂν μ' ἐκράτεις ibid. 4268 Συρίαν οὐκ ἐθεώρεις Dig. E 141 τὸ ἐκράτεις Poulol. 150 νὰ ἐδόκεις ὅτι βλέπεις Liv. S 1284 (Lambert-van der Kolf); ἐθεώρεις ibid. 1288 νὰ ᾽σκόπεις τὰς ἡμέρας Liv. α 2081 μὴδὲ ὕγρασιάν νὰ ἐπάτεις Pol. Tr. 1249 app. crit. (A); ἐκράτεις ibid. 5625 app. crit. (X); ἐφίλεις ibid. 5625 app. crit. (C); ἐχρεώστεις ibid. 8627 app. crit. (X) τὸ ἐκράτεις ἄρραβώνα Poulol. 150; τὴν ζούπαν τὴν ἐφόρεις ibid. 179 καὶ τὸ λουτρόν ἐθώρεις [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 313; ὥσάν νὰ τὴν ἐκράτεις ibid. 1196 ἐζήτεις Spanos D 1307 ἐπαρεκάλεις Vios Aisop. K 203.10 ἐκεῖ ποὺ τὴν ἐθώρεις KORNAROS, Erot. I.364; πράμα ποὺ δὲν ἐθάρρεις ibid. II.1925 ἠμπόρεις KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 15.5; ἐπεριπτάτεις ibid. Ioann. 21.18

Sg.	2	-(ε)ΙΕΣ ἢ -ΕΙΓΕΣ

The E-stem ending -(ε)ιες appears towards the end of the LMedG period, and becomes quite common in the EMG period, though it is used very rarely with A-stem verbs. It is modelled on 3 sg. -ειε (see below and see 2.1.2.2.4 for discussion) and can be found in texts from at least the 15th c. onwards. From verse texts it becomes clear that this ending could be pronounced with synizesis, as /jes/, e.g. μ' ἐψυχοπόνειες at the verse end,⁷³ or without synizesis, e.g. ἠμπόρειες ν' ακούσεις:

E-stems

ὄνταν μ' ἐψυχοπόνειες Liv. E 3975 ἐλάλειες εἰς τὰ νέφη Liv. V 1567 τὸ δὲν ἐθάρρειες Achil. L 1053 οὐδὲν ἠμπόρειες Chron. Mor. P 4228 ἐχρώστειες DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2263 κι ἄς τὲς ἐπόνειες Alex. Rim. 1023 ἐκράτειες SOFIANOS, Grammar 60.20 κ' ἐγάμειες τὴ μάνα μου Nov. I 156.14 τὸ θάρρειες CHORTATIS, Erof. II.46; ἐμπόρειες ibid. III.301; ἐθώρειες ibid. III.303 ὁποὺ ἐθώρειες τ' ὄνειρο Stathis III.244 ἐμίλιες GERMANO, Grammar 76.26; ἐπούλειες ibid. 92.21 νὰ μπόρειες FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.54 ἠμπόρειες ν' ακούσεις IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1305 κ' ἐθώρειες BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 169.17; ἐμπόρειες 292.10 τέτοιας λογιῆς ἐθώρειες καταδίκη KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.323

A-stems

ἐμάσειες BAROZZI, Letter 358.9

The same ending with an added intervocalic /y/ (for which see I, 3.5.2.1) is mentioned as an alternative to several other E-stem endings in the 1749 grammar of the Peloponnesian ⁷³ Cf. also the spellings καὶ ᾽θώργιες and ἐμπόργιες in the Xirouchakis edition of Bounialis.

Kanellos Spanos, but has not been found in earlier texts (see also 2.1.2.2.4):⁷⁴ ἐφίλειγες SPANOS, Grammar 39.23.

Sg.	2	-ες

Forms in -ες may come about in two distinct ways: When the ending occurs after consonants that have palatal allophones before the front vowels /e/ and /i/, such as [x] and [ç], [ɣ] and [j], [k] and [c] (see I, 3.8.2), they represent a graphematic simplification of -ειες /jes/: ἐψυχομάχες Spanos B 155. However, when the ending occurs after consonants that do not have a palatal allophone, it is likely to be a direct substitution of the barytone ending -ες for -εις (MINAS ²2003: 114), and not, as one might expect, a matter of post-consonantal deletion of /j/ in -ειες, given the fact that these forms occur in areas that do not otherwise present post-consonantal /j/ deletion (see I, 2.4.7.3 for details) (cf. 3 sg. for corresponding forms, which are particularly common in Cypriot texts): ἤζες Deft. Par. 394; δὲν ἐλάλες Ἰτσου Fior 137.1; ἐθῶρες τοὺς ἀνθρώπους του KONST. ΔΙΑΚ., Ist. Makaritou Marko 681; ἐθῶρες Thrinis Kypr. 367.

Sg.	2	-ουνες

Formed by analogy with 1 sg. -ουνα, which consists of the inherited 1 sg. ending -ουν with an added “past tense” ending -α (see above; see also 2.1.2.2.3), this 2 sg. ending occurs with both A- and E-stem verbs in Bertoldos and Bertoldinos (17th c., Heptanese) and in the 18th-c. grammar of Kanellos Spanos, who was Peloponnesian: ἡμπόrouνες Bertoldos 21.3; δὲν ἐπερβάrouνες Bertoldin. 105.23; δὲν ἡμπόrouνες ibid. 148.32 and 151.19; νὰ τὸ ἐγρίκουνες ibid. 155.5; ἐποίrouνες SPANOS, Grammar 38.15; ἐφίλουνες ibid. 39.21.

Sg.	2	-αγες

This ending, common for A-stem verbs in the southern varieties of MG including Athenian, is absent from the LMedG period and very rare in the EMG period. It consists of the imperfect marker /aɣ/ (made up of the stem vowel /a/ with intervocalic /ɣ/ before the /e/ of 3 sg. and 2 sg.) and the “past tense” ending -ες. With 2 sg. /aɣ/ has been found in the 18th-c. grammar of Kanellos Spanos, who was of Peloponnesian provenance: ἐκέρναγες SPANOS, Grammar 38.23 (see also 2.1.2.2.3).

Sg.	2	-οῦσες

⁷⁴ This ending is also a feature of modern Peloponnesian dialects (NEWTON 1972a: 54; PANDELIDIS 2001: 556).

This 2 sg. ending, which is the most common ending for SMG, consists of the imperfect marker /us/ and the “past tense” ending -εσ (for /us/ see 2.1.2.2.3). With 2 sg., forms with /us/ have not been found before the 17th c. They appear in texts of northern provenance and in the grammar of Kanellos Spanos (Peloponnese):

ἀγαποῦσες ROMANOS, Grammar 38.8; ἐκρατοῦσες ibid. 47.21; [ἀρ]γοῦσες ibid. 64.14 ἐλειτουργοῦσες με τὸν καρδινάλην (1701, Transylvania, LEGRAND 1903: 14, 38.17) ἀν ἀρχινούσες Don Kis. 109.3; ἡμπορούσες ibid. 131.3 ἐφιλοῦσες SPANOS, Grammar 39.21

3rd Person Singular

Sg.	3	-α(ν) † -ανε

The inherited 3 sg. A-stem ending -α is used throughout the LMedG and EMG periods in texts from various areas, with both A-stem and E-stem verbs:

A-stems

ἐβάστα Chron. Mor. H 8131
 καὶ ἐβρόντα τὸ λιβάδιν Liv. α 849 ἐκυβέρνα (1432, Corfu, ASONITIS 1996/97: 3, 29.47) κάτης καὶ ποντικός ἐμάχουντα καὶ ὁ βλέπων ἐγέλα Paroim. H 28 εἶ τις τοὺς ἐρώτα τίποτες KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.23–4; καὶ ὁ Χριστὸς ἐγέλα ibid. 340.14 πάντα βάστα κι ἄρματα KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.86 αὐτὸς ἀγάπα την ησυχίαν Martyr. Vlas. 245.5–6 ἐγρίκα μίαν χαρὰν πολλὴν MOREZINOS, Klini 39.23 ἐκράτει ... ἓνα ραβδί καὶ ἀκούμπα Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 89.35–6 ἐκυβέρνα τὴν βασιλείαν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.33; ἀγάπα καὶ τοὺς ραγιάδες ibid. 28.6 ἐχάλνα τοὺς Γραικοὺς MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1313 καὶ τὸν ἐρώτα ἂν βλέπει τίποτες KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 8.25 ἐχαίρετον κ' ἐπήδα PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 174 ἐπέρνα ἀπὸ κεῖ (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 323, 524.32) ἐπέρνα μέρες σκοτεινὲς KORNAROS, Erot. III.22

E-stems

ἐμαρτύρα Chron. Mor. H 1889 ἐτήρα τον Pol. Tr. 426; καὶ ἐκυνήγα ibid. 6428 ἐπεθύμα Dig. E 1576
 ἐσυντήρα Velth. 393
 νὰ ἐθρήνα Achil. O 758 καὶ ὥρες με βίαν ἐκίνα BERGADIS, Apok. A 10 ευχαρίστα καὶ τον Θεόν Vios Filaret. 239.24 ἐχρεώστα (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.24) ἐζήτα ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 115.3
 τὸ χρέος ... ποὺ ἐχρεώστα (1600, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 96, 128.14–15) ὅπου ὁ ποτὲ τση κύρης ἑκατοῖκα (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 82, 99.5) ἐβοήθα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 54.37; τοὺς ἐπολέμα ibid. 100.7 ἑκατοῖκα (1609, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 8, 78.4) ἐμετενόα RODINOS, Vios Ign. 127.10

ἐσυγκατοίκα (1685, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 68, 275.37)

Addition of final /n/ is quite common, occurring in texts from various regions, both literary and non-literary, from at least the 15th c. onwards:

ἀνερώταν Dig. E 133

ἐβάσταν Assizes B 298.12; ἐζήταν ibid. 382.9; ἀγάπαν, οὐ ἐμίσαν ibid. 404.8

ἐσκόπαν Pol. Tr. 317 app. crit. (A); ἐχάλναν ibid. 13728 app. crit. (C) καὶ αὐτὸς ἐκυβέρνην τον (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 66.9) τοὺς ἤθελεν καὶ ἡγάπαν Achil. N 283; ὁ Ἀχιλλεὺς ἐνίκαν τοὺς ibid. 287 ἐβρόνταν ἡ δύσις, καὶ ἐτσιληπουόρδαν ἡ γαδάρα Spanos A 170 ἐκατοῖκαν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 975 αγάπαν πολλά τον αποστολέ VOUSTR., Chron. A 10.14–15; ἐγρίκαν λειτουργιάν ibid. A 50.2

ἐπέρναν Diig. Alex. F 254.4 (Lolos); τοὺς ἐγέλαν ibid. 18.18–19 (Konstantinopulos) ὅταν μᾶς ἐτράβαν ὁ τζαούσης ὁ αὐθεντικός (1550, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: XVI, 123.6–7) ἐχρώσταν (1573, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 1, 20.9)

τοὺς ἐρώταν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 2.4; ἐβλασφήμαν ibid. Louk. 23.39 ἀδίκαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.41; ἐπαρσκίναν ibid. I §29.32; ἐχάλναν ibid. III §14.26

καὶ ἴβάσταν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 110; εὐχαρίσταν τὸν θεὸν ibid. 1684; ἀφ' τὴν χαρὰν ἐπήδαν ibid. 2726

ἐβάσταν ἀσβολιές (1687, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 674, 921.19)

Addition of -(v)ε occurs in texts from Chios, the Heptanese and the Peloponnese, and in version A of the Rimada koris, which is of uncertain provenance. It also appears in Stavrinis, most likely for metrical reasons (for -(v)ε see also I, 2.6.3.3).

ἔσωνε καὶ κατάντανε τῆς μέρας ἡ ἀσπράδα Rim. kor. A 28 ἐβάστανε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 208.19 and 242.38

περνώντας ἔχαιρέτανε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 530; ἡγάπανε ibid. 1250; τοῦ ζήτηνε ibid. 1260; μὲ μιά ράβδο 'ποῦ ἴβάστανε ibid. 1318; ἐκυνήγανε ibid. 1326; ἐπήδανε ibid. 1337; ἐκατοῖκανε ibid. 1608; τὸν Διγενῆ ἐρώτανε ibid. 2044 ἐκατοῖκουε Thavm. Nikon Metan. I 2 ἄλλος τουφέκι βάστανε STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 918 (Pidonia)

Sg.	3	-ει(ν) ἰ -εινε

The inherited 3 sg. E-stem ending -ει is used throughout the LMedG and EMG periods in texts from various areas, though very rarely with A-stem verbs:

E-stems

ἐπικράτει (1223, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 29, 444.20) πεζὸς περιεπάτει Ptoch. III 58 ροῦχον ἐφόρει κόκκινον Log. parig. L 53 τὸν τόπον ὅπου ἐκράτει Chron. Mor. H 2558 ὥς ἐθεώρει Pol. Tr. 428 ἐλάλει καὶ ἡκουγὲν τον Synax. gyn. 113

αθύμει Syndipas 111.8

ο νεκρὸς ἐλάλει DIONYS., Istor. 253.2

και τον επαρακάλει ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 109.2 εκράτει εις το χέρι του ένα ραβδι Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 89.35–6 μὰ κείνο ἐλάλει ἡ γλώσσα CHORTATIS, Erof. I.331; κι ὥρες πολλές μ' ἐκράτει ibid. III.31 ἐμίλει (1622, Crete, MALTEZOU 1989: 358.16) ἐφόρει ροῦχον KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 3.4 στο σπίτι δὲν ἐχώρει VEST., Prol. Theot. 184 τοὺς πόνει ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 244

A-stems

εβάστει Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 161.2

Addition of final /n/ occurs in a variety of texts from at least the 13th c. onwards:

καθὼς ἐκράτειν αὐτὰς Γεώργιος ὁ Χορτάτσης (1299, Crete, MERTZIOS 1949: 267.73–4) ἠκολούθειν τον Liv. V 43 ἐχρώστειν Assizes B 418.15 and Assizes A 60.10 ἐφίλειν, κατεφίλειεν τον Achil. L 1109 transcr. (Lendari) (Hesseling: ἐφίλει) εἶχαμεν σκύλον καὶ ἐβοήθειεν τὸν λύκον Paroim. H 88 κάτου στὴ γῆν ἐθώρειν Achil. O 628 ἐπεριπάτειν, ἔτρεχεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1481 ἐθώρειν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 443 ἐκατεγκάλειν καὶ ἐκατέκλαιγεν (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 87.1d–2d) περιεπάτειν τρεῖς χρόνους Spanos B 32; ἐπαρεκάλειν ibid. 43 καὶ ἐλάλειν μετὰ ἐμέν Diig. Alex. K 347.15 ἐπερπάτειν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 13

Addition of $-(v)\epsilon$ (see I, 2.6.3.3) occurs in one of the 17th-c. theatrical plays from Chios, in this case even with an added final /n/ to avoid hiatus, as well as in a document written in Nauplion, possibly by an Athenian: καὶ τὴν ἐφόρειεν αὐτὴ PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 604; ἠμπόρεινε τινὰς νὰ τὸ ὀνομάσει τόπον εὐσπλαχνίας (1699, Nauplion/Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 178.3).

Sg.	3	$-(\epsilon)\iota\epsilon(v) \mid -\epsilon\iota\epsilon\nu\epsilon \mid -\epsilon\iota\gamma\epsilon$

Forms in $-\epsilon\iota\epsilon(v)$ (sometimes spelled $\langle\iota\epsilon(v)\rangle$) consist of the inherited E-stem ending $-\epsilon\iota$ with a “past tense” ending $-\epsilon(v)$, borrowed from the dominant barytone paradigm (for a discussion, see 2.1.2.2.4). The ending occurs with E-stem verbs from at least the 14th c. onwards, with and without final /n/ (for the identical imperative ending, see 4.5.1.2). The ending was probably pronounced both with and without synizesis, e.g. ἐβάρειε: /e'varie/ or /e'varje/ (see 2.1.2.2.4; for synizesis see also I, 2.9.4):

ἐπροεκράτειε (1432, Corfu, ASONITIS 1996/97: 3, 29.47) ἐβόλειε Chron. Toc. 857; καὶ ἐπούλειε τοὺς ibid. 3589 ἄν ἦτον καὶ νὰ μπόρειε Peri xen. 23 ἐξάργειε SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Ag. Frang. 2 τοὺς βασιλεῖς ἐλάλειε Byz. Il. 846 ἐκαρτέρειε (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 61, 51.2) ἐμπόρειε Theseid I.18,5 (Follieri) ἀποῦ ἐκράτειε (1560, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 24, 103.15) ὠμίλειε πολλακίς μετὰ τῶν καρδινάλιων Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 64–5 ἐχρώστειε (1597, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 5, 77.13) ἐπάτειέ τον εις την ράχι του Chron. Tourk. Soult. 41.20 ἐμπόρειε (1625, Crete, VLACHAKI 1986: 22, 447.31–2) ἔνας εἶχε μητριὰ κ' ἐκράτειε την Nov. I 156.1

 δὲν ἐβόλειε νὰ διαβαίνομε (1665–76, Ioannina, VAKATSAS 1992: 3, 153.7) και πως τους εκατούρειε ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 169; ποῦ νὰ προλάβει μπόρειε ibid. 1099 οὐκ ὤκνιεν εἰς τὰ δύσκολα Log. parig. L 43 ἀνέζειεν Assizes B 364.3

 μῆλον χρυσὸν ἐκράτειεν Liv. V 426 καὶ ὁ βασιλεὺς ἐφίλειεν τὴν ἐδικὴν του κόρην Achil. L 1120 ἐκράτειεν Chron. Toc. 180 ἐκράτειεν (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.18) ἐκράτειεν Poulol. 268 ἐκράτειεν Achil. N 82; ἐφόρειεν ibid. 1315; ἐφίλειεν, κατεφίλειεν τον ibid. 1511 ὅσον ἐψυχομάχειεν Spanos A 491 ὅπου ᾽διαλλάλειεν κι ἤλεγε FALIEROS, Thrinis 369 (ms) καὶ ἐκουβάλειεν τους ψουμὶν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 428.34 ἤμπόρειεν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 34; ἐκράτειεν ibid. 1136 ἐπαρακάλειέν τον Vios Aisop. I 248.31 ἐμπόρειεν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 166 φωτιά ἐκράτειεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 111

Addition of -(ν)ε occurs in texts from the Aegean (Chios, Mykonos, Naxos), but may have had a broader geographical spread (see I, 2.6.3.3):

ἐκράτειεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 264; δύο σερβούτζια φόρειεν ibid. 529; ἐπορπάτειεν ibid. 1164; τραγούδειεν ibid. 2437; ἐθάρρειεν ὁ ἄγνωστος ibid. 2555 ἐκράτειεν (1702, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 35, 49.13) δὲν ἐμπόρειεν (ibid. 39, 53.21–2)
 ἦκαμε ὅ,τι ἐμπόρειεν Trag. Ag. Dim. II.119

With intervocalic /y/ the ending is given in the 1749 grammar of the Peloponnesian Kanellos Spanos: ἐφίλειγε SPANOS, Grammar 39.23.

Sg.	3	-ε(ν)

There are two paths of evolution that lead to forms in -ε(ν): When the ending occurs after consonants that have palatal allophones before the front vowels /e/ and /i/, such as [ɣ] and [j], [k] and [c] and [x] and [ç] (see I, 3.2), they may represent a graphematic simplification of -ειε(ν) /je(n)/: ἐψυχαγώγεν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 109.24. However, when the ending occurs after consonants that do not have a palatal allophone, it is likely to be a direct substitution of the barytone ending -ε(ν) for -ει (MINAS ²2003: 114),⁷⁵ and not, as one might expect, a matter of post-consonantal deletion of /j/ in -ειε5, given the fact that these forms occur in areas that do not otherwise present post-consonantal /j/-deletion, such as Cyprus (see I, 2.4.7.3 for details). Forms in -ε(ν) have been found in texts from various areas (S. Italy, Heptanese, Cyclades, Macedonia), but with a particularly strong presence in Cypriot texts. The ending is restricted to E-stem verbs and is much more common with than without final /n/, which in Cypriot texts may be omitted at the end of the sentence or before a word starting in /n/:

⁷⁵ TZITZILIS (2004: 475) considers these forms to be cases of retention of the old Doric imperfect, including the pronunciation of <η> as /e/, but the same forms also occur in Cypriot and elsewhere, areas for which such a claim could not be made.

ἐκράτεν (1184, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 220, 289.1) ἐλάλεν Assizes B 330.6; ἐχρώσταν τού τα ibid. 335.25; ἐκράτεν ibid. 416.9; ἐμπόρεν ibid. 419.3
 ἔξεν Assizes A 112.30; ἔθεῶρεν ibid. 195.8; νά ἀγκάλεν ibid. 220.13 ἐλάλεν του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 12.11; ἐφόρεν δ' δακτυλίδια πρετζιόζα ibid. 84.22–3; ἐπόνεν τον ἡ καρδιά του ibid. 346.32; δὲν μὲ ἀκάνεν τὸ φυσικόν ibid. 196.38 (< 3rd-person verb ἀκανεῖ; φυσικόν = ψυχικόν, see I, 3.8.2.2) ἐκράτεν VOUSTR., Chron. A 46.3; εἴτι τους ἐλάλεν ibid. 302.1; ἐφόρεν ibid. 316.2–3 νά τὰ λάλεν Cypr. Canz. 23.12; ἐμπόρεν ibid. 86.2; γιατί θῶρεν ibid. 116.33 ἐκράτεν Fior 99.32; ἔξεν ibid. 129.36 σὰν νά τα ἔκράτεν Pist. kekoim. 410 καὶ περιπάτεν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §22.21 δὲν ἐβόλεν ibid. I §33.9 (but also: ἐπερπάτειεν ibid. I §16.10)
 ἀπάνω δὲν ἐχώρεν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3463 στοὺς τόπους ποὺ ἔπαρπάτεν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 250; κὶ ἐθῶρεν τοὺς παχιᾶδες ibid. 744
 οὐδὲν ἔμπόρε νά σταθῇ Assizes A 79.9–10 καὶ δὲν ἔμπόρε νά κοιμηθῇ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 64.1–2 δὲν ἔμπόρε νά τὸ ποίση Cypr. Canz. 76.4 καὶ φόρε καὶ λουρίκι KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua I.86; κὶ ὀληνυκτὶ ἔπερπάτε ibid. XII.39; δὲν πόρε νά ἔπομένει ibid. XV.11 ὁ ποιὸς ἐλάλε Fior 79.26 ἐπαρακάλε τους Diig. Ag. Sof. ω 518.5–6 app. crit. (Ω¹) ἐπόνε MONTSEL., Evgena 1330 app. crit.
 πᾶσα εἰς ὅπου ἔμπόρε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3464

Sg.	3	-ΟΥΝΕ

This ending is formed by analogy with the 1 sg. ending -ουνα, which consists of the inherited ending -ουν with an added “past tense” ending -α (see above; see also 2.1.2.2.3). The 3 sg. ending occurs with both A- and E-stem verbs in Heptanesian and Peloponnesian texts of the 17th and 18th c. and in a theatrical play from Naxos:

E-stems

ἐμίλουε Bertoldos 6.11; ἐπαρσκίνουε ibid. 39.28; ἐπερβάτουε ibid. 45.22; δὲν ἀποκότουε
ibid. 32.4
 νά ἔμπόρουε Bertoldin. 93.21–2; ἐκατοίκουε ibid. 94.20; ὁπόταν ἔζουε ibid. 116.27 ὁ ὁποῖος ἦλθεν καὶ ἐλειτούργουε Diath. Nikon Metan. 53 ἐκατοίκουε Thavm. Nikon Metan. I 2; ἐκαταπάτουε τὴν τέφραν ibid. II 6; ἄφρουε τὸ στόμα του ibid. II 9; αὐτὸς τὸν ἐπεθύμουε ibid. V 6–7; ἐπαρακάλουε ibid. V 16

νὰ μπόρουνε νὰ λόγιασα Trag. Ag. Dim. III.322 ἐπτοίουνε SPANOS, Grammar 38.15–16; ἐφίλουνε ibid. 39.21

A-stems

ἐρώτουνε τον Μπερτόλδον Bertoldos 23.24; ἐπεριγέλουνε ibid. 32.3; ἀπέρνουνε ibid. 54.14 ἐγρίκουνε Bertoldin. 164.24 ἐδίψουνε ἀκόμη καταπολλά Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 24 ἐκέρνουνε SPANOS, Grammar 38.24; ἐγέλουνε ibid. 41.14

Sg.	3	-οὔσε(ν)

This ending, the most common ending in SMG, consists of the imperfect marker /us/ and the 3 sg. “past tense” ending -ε. The morpheme /us/ is derived from the 3 pl. imperfect ending -οὔσαν (see below; see also 2.1.2.2.3). With 3 sg., the affix /us/ has not been found before the late 16th c.⁷⁶ The ending occurs with both E- and A-stem verbs in texts from various areas, though notably not in Cretan texts.⁷⁷

E-stems

τινάς δεν ἀποκοτούσεν νὰ περάσει ANDONIOS, Vios Sym. Styl. 243.12 εδούλευε και εζούσεν PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Lavras) 256.7 ἐκρατοῦσε ROMANOS, Grammar 47.21; [ἄρ]γοῦσε ibid. 64.14 ἐπουλοῦσεν το (1640, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 3, 10.11) ἐβλαστημοῦσεν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §35.14; πολλὰ τοὺς ὠνειδοῦσεν ibid. I §4.13 πονοῦσε ἡ καρδιά μου MONTSEL., Evgena 506 ἐπιθυμοῦσε Alex. Fyll. 9.32; τὴν ἐπαρηγοροῦσε ibid. 10.20; ὁμιλοῦσε ibid. 91.10 δὲ σ’ ἀκολουθοῦσε Zinon Prol. 51 κανένας δὲν ἀπεκοτούσε EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 22.9 ἐκρατοῦσεν (1709, Chios, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 34, 136.99) επεριπατούσε Don Kis. 136.15; δὲν ἠμποροῦσεν ibid. 310.3 ἐφιλοῦσε SPANOS, Grammar 39.21

A-stems

ἀγαποῦσε ROMANOS, Grammar 38.8 ἀπερνοῦσε Alex. Fyll. 103.22 και το εχαλνούσε Don Kis. 1.16; το αγαπούσε ibid. 114.30; εσιωπούσε ibid. 115.17 ἐκερνοῦσε SPANOS, Grammar 38.24

Sg.	3	-αε(ν) † -αγε(ν)

Uncontracted forms of A-stem verbs are not very common, but they do appear in texts that are geographically and chronologically remote; forms with intervocalic /y/, common for ⁷⁶ The forms ὠφελοῦσεν Pol. Tr. 13124 and ἐκρατοῦσεν Chron. Toc. 3664 are the result of editorial corrections (ὠφελοῦσαν and ἐκρατοῦσαν in app. crit.).

⁷⁷ According to HATZIDAKIS 1892: 124 the modern Cretan dialect of his time had /us/ only in the plural.

the southern varieties of MG, are equally rare and have not been found before the 17th c. (see also 2.1.2.2.3).

καὶ λέγει ὁποῦ μ' ἐφύλαε Liv. E 437 καθὼς ἀγάπαε ἡ καρδία του (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 58.8) καὶ τὴν ἐπολέμαε δύο μῆνες (1685, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970a: [5], 91.3) ἐμάσαε καὶ ἐτάιζε τὰ ἀφεντόπουλά της PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 118.2

ὅπου ποτὲ κατοίκαε VATATISIS, Periig. I 57

πῶς καὶ νὰ ἐξύπναγεν ΜΑΤΤΗΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 2381 ἐκράταγέ το (1670, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1971/73: 2, 164.10)

τὸ χρέος ὁποῦ χρεώσταγε ὁ πατέρας μου (1707, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 56, 89.6–7)

1st Person Plural

Pl.	1	-οὔμε(ν)

The inherited E-stem ending -οὔμε(ν) continues to be in use in the LMedG period with E-stem and A-stem verbs, but is soon superseded by new endings that begin to appear in the LMedG period. Given that 1 pl. imperfects occur only in specific contexts (1st-person (plural) narrative set in the past), they are often completely absent from texts, making it difficult to establish the geographical spread of the various endings:⁷⁸

E-stems

ἐλαλοῦμεν Dig. G I.225

τὴν ἐκρατοῦμεν ἄγαμον, εὐρέθη ἐγκαστρωμένη Paroim. D 119 συνεθρηνοῦμεν ἄπειρα Liv. E 3034

ἐνόσω ἐπερπατοῦμεν Liv. V 2468

λογισμοεμαχοῦμεν Liv. S 1600 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ἤμποροῦμεν Pol. Tr. 8003 app. crit. (C) πάλιν περιεσκοποῦμεν Liv. S 1588 (Lambert-van der Kolf) συνεπονοῦμεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2027 καὶ ἐπεθυμοῦμε νὰ βάλωμεν καὶ τὸν κοντοσταύλην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 400.16–17 ἐπεριπατοῦμεν PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Lavras) 259.3

A-stems

τὰ ἐψηλαφοῦμεν δίχρονον, ἰδοῦ, ἐπιτύχαμέν τα Liv. E 904 πόλεμον οὐδὲν ἐμελετοῦμεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 970 app. crit. (L); ἤμηχανοῦμεν ibid. 2407 ἐγελοῦμεν καὶ ἐγελοῦσαμεν SOFIANOS, Grammar 63.15

Pl.	1	-οὔμα(ν) † -ούμανε

This ending, in which the /e/ of -οὔμε(ν) is replaced by the past-tense marker /a/, appears in texts from about the 12th c. onwards (the earliest examples can be found in documents from S. Italy). It continues to be in use throughout the LMedG and EMG periods in texts from Constantinople to Crete:

⁷⁸ For instance where Cyprus is concerned, MACHAIRAS, Chron. has only one 1 pl. imperfect (ἐπεθυμοῦμε), VOUSTR., Chron., Pist. Kekoim. and Fior have none.

E-stems

ἐκρατοῦμαν (1121, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 89, 117.15) καὶ ἐχρεωστοῦμαν τον Paroim. A 8 νὰ ἐζητοῦμαν χάριν Chron. Mor. H 7489 ἐσυνθρηνοῦμαν ἄπειρα Liv. V 2818; ἐζοῦμαν ibid. 2989 ὡσάν τὰς ἐλαλοῦμαν Dig. E 73; ἐμεῖς γὰρ ἐκρατοῦμαν σε ibid. E 190 καὶ ἡμεῖς τὸ ἀπιστοῦμαν Byz. Il. 376 νὰ ἐτσιοῦμαν Spanos A 415 ἐζοῦμαν BERGADIS, Apok. V 126; νὰ περπατοῦμαν ibid. 247; ἐθωροῦμαν ibid. 351 οὐδὲν ἐσυμφωνοῦμαν (1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 71, 58.12) κ' ἐπερικαρτεροῦμαν Alex. Rim. 1620; τινὰν δὲν ἐθωροῦμαν ibid. 1698 ἐσυνομιλοῦμαν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 475 τοὺς ὁποίους ὡς ἐδὰ ἐκρατοῦμαν ἀμοίραστους (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2009: 442, 439.6) ἐμιλοῦμαν MOREZINOS, Klini 64.15 ἐμποροῦμαν (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 84.21) ἐλειτουργοῦμαν Rim. Sant. 255; ἀποροῦμαν ibid. 256

A-stems

ἐτρυφοῦμαν τὰ καλὰ Liv. V 2990 πόλεμον οὐδὲν ἐμελετοῦμαν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 970 νὰ βαστοῦμαν BERGADIS, Apok. V 248 ἐπερνοῦμαν ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 207 ἐγελοῦμαν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 476 ἄμποτε ... νὰ γελοῦμαν SOFIANOS, Grammar 62.3 ἐβαστοῦμαν τὰ (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.20–1) ἐψηφοῦμαν Diig. Sant. 58.45

Evidence for the deletion of final /n/ can be found from the 16th/17th c. onwards in texts from south-western areas (Crete, Heptanese):

δὲν ἐμποροῦμα τσῆ τιμῆς νὰ στέκομεν ὁμάδι CHORTATIS, Erof. I.162 γλήγορα πορπατοῦμα P&N Diath. 109; ἐζοῦμα ibid. 628 ἀκλουθοῦμα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 221.24; κ' ἐσυντηροῦμα ibid. 221.25; γιὰτὶ δὲν ἐμποροῦμα ibid. 425.23
τὰ δύο χωράφια ὅπου ἐκρατοῦμα ἦτανε ... (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 71.22)

Addition of -(ν)ε is not very common with this ending (see also I, 2.6.3.3): ἐκρατούμανε TROILOS, Rodol. V.298 .

Pl.	1	-οὔσαμε(ν)

This ending, the most common ending for SMG, consists of the imperfect marker /us/ and the 1 pl. past-tense ending -αμε(ν) (for a discussion see 2.1.2.2.3). With 1 pl., the affix /us/ can be found from at least the 15th c. from the Heptanese to the Crimea and from Cyprus to Constantinople, though notably not usually in Cretan texts. The ending appears with and without final /n/:

E-stems

- ἀδικούσαμεν Ptoch. III 273 app. cr. (P) ἐθαρρούσαμεν (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 168.4) ἐθαρρούσαμε (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 97.17) στὸν κόσμον νὰ πατούσαμεν BERGADIS, Apok. V 247 ποὺ τοὺς ἀκαρτερούσαμε Theseid 2.81,3 (1529) ἐπεθυμούσαμεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 301.38 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) σοῦ χρεωστούσαμε (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 237, 144.13) εἰς δὲν ἐπλεονεκτούσαμεν DIONYS., Istor. 255.7 ἐπουλούσαμεν GERMANO, Grammar 92.22 σᾶς ἐμοιρολογούσαμεν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 11.17; ἐχρεωστούσαμεν ibid. Louk. 17.10 σὲ ἐθαρρούσαμεν διὰ φρόνιμον ἄνθρωπον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.41 ἐζούσαμεν Diig. Sant. 57.41–2 ἐμιλούσαμεν ... φραντζόζικα καὶ ἰταλιάνικα (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 56.14) ἐπιθυμούσαμεν (1674, Paros, ZERLENDIS 1922: (3), p. 53.7) ἡμπορούσαμεν Don Kis. 61.18; ἐπιθυμούσαμεν ibid. 85.8

A-stems

- πολλὰ τὸν ἀγαπούσαμε ZINOS, Vatr. 210 ἐγελοῦμεν καὶ ἐγελούσαμεν SOFIANOS, Grammar 63.15 ὅτι κανε δὲν ἐπεινούσαμε Vios Filaret. 241.14 ἐπερνούσαμεν PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Lavras) 258.22 ἀγαπούσαμεν ROMANOS, Grammar 38.8 ὅλοι μας ἐπεινούσαμεν Rim. Sant. 248 καθὼς ἐπερνούσαμεν (1662, Cyclades, SYMEONIDIS 1989: 15, 132.13)

Forms with an added -(v)ε (see I, 2.6.3.3) have not been found, but they can be postulated, at least for Chios, based on Girolamo Germano, who states in his grammar that in Chios this suffix is added to the plural (and certain singular) forms of the passive imperfect of oxytone verbs (GERMANO, Grammar 87.2–7).

Pl.	1	-εῖγαμεν

This ending is recorded in the 1749 grammar of the Peloponnesian Kanellos Spanos. It is most probably an analogical formation modelled on 2 sg. and 3 sg. forms in -εῖες and -εῖε with intervocalic /ɣ/ (see 2.1.2.2.4 for a discussion): ἐφιλείγαμεν SPANOS, Grammar 39.23.

Pl.	1	-ῶμεν

The residual A-stem ending -ῶμεν, having been replaced by -οῦμεν long before the LMedG period (see 4.1.2) is used only sporadically: ἐψηλαφῶμεν Liv. α 984 app. crit. (P).

Pl.	1	-όμεν

The substitution of past-tense endings of the barytone paradigm for those of oxytone verbs is largely restricted to 2 sg. and 3 sg. (see above), though one example has been found of just such a formation for 1 pl. in the following document. The stress pattern of barytone verbs is also adopted: τοῦ τὸ ἐχρεώσταμεν (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 36, 39.67).

2nd Person Plural

Pl.	2	-ᾶτε ἰ -εῖτε

The inherited A-stem ending -ᾶτε and its E-stem counterpart -εῖτε will have been the normal endings until at least the 15th c., since no alternative formations have been found before that time. However, since 2 pl. forms, especially of the imperfect, are underrepresented in texts, not many examples have been found in texts other than grammars: ἐκρατεῖτε SOFIANOS, Grammar 60.20; ἐγελάτε ibid. 63.15–16; ἐτιμᾶτε GERMANO, Grammar 91.18; ἐπουλεῖτε ibid. 92.22; γιὰ μένα ἐπολεμάτε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 561.23.

Pl.	2	-ούσετε(ν)

This ending consists of the imperfect marker /us/ and the 2 pl. ending -ετε. For the morpheme /us/ see also 2.1.2.2.3. With 2 pl., forms with /us/ can be found for E- and A-stem verbs from at least the 16th c. (ms date of MACHAIRAS, Chron. V) in texts from various areas (Cyprus, Kefalonia, E. Thrace, Moldavia):

E-stems

νὰ θωρούσετε Cypr. Canz. 133.13; ἐμισούσετε ibid.
 δὲν τὸν ἐβοηθούσετε DAM. STOD., This., Logos 30, Z5v.12–13 (1561) ἐκρατούσετε ROMANOS, Grammar 47.22 ετυραννούσετε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 7197 καὶ σείς δὲν ἐβαρούσετε φωτιῆς καὶ μὲ μαχαίρι DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 843 καθὼς πρότερον μὲν ἐδηλοποιούσετε (1645 [19th-c. copy], Jassy, LEGRAND 1903: 5, 12.7)

A-stems

ποῦ ἔνε τὸ πρᾶμαν τὸ ἐβαστούσετε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 442.8 ἀγαπούσετε ROMANOS, Grammar 38.9 ἐὰν μὲ ἀγαπούσετε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 14.28 ἀγαπούσετε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 7193 and 7195

SMG -ούσατε has not been found in the texts examined.

Pl.	2	-εῖγετε

The only witness so far for this ending is the 1749 grammar of the Peloponnesian Kanellos Spanos (see 2.1.2.2.4 for a discussion): ἐφιλείγετε SPANOS, Grammar 39.23.

3rd Person Plural

Pl.	3	-ουν

The inherited E-stem ending -ουν is in use at the beginning of the LMedG period, alongside -οῦσαν, which had recently emerged (see below). It also occurs in later mixed-register texts (Ermoniakos, Dig. A), and notably in texts from Cyprus, which do not usually show archaizing tendencies in their morphology (Machairas, Voustronios).⁷⁹ It is not very often used with A-stem verbs:⁸⁰ ὡς καὶ ἡμαρτύρουν αὐτὰ οἱ καλοὶ ἄνθρωποι (1125?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 18, 417.7); ἐκατοίκουν (1130–40?, ibid. Coll. XI: 14, 534.19) καὶ ἐκράτουν εἰς τὰ χέρια των Dig. E 433; τὸ δνομάν του ἐξήγουν τὸ ibid. 1611 συνεκρότουν ERMON., Ilias 16.159; συνεκλόνουν ibid. 16.327 ἐὰν μὲ παραχώρουν Ptoch. IV 146 app. crit. (K) ἴντα ἐμπόρου νὰ ποίσουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 532.15–16⁸¹ ἐπήραν τα ... κ' ἐλάλουν VOUSTR., Chron. A 276.1–2 εζήτουν να την ἴπαρουν Diig. Apoll. 11; καὶ βασιλεῖς ρηγάδες τε ἐσέναν ἐπεθύμουν ibid. 26 μίαν φωνὴν ἀφήσασιν πρὸς ἀμυρᾶν ἐλάλουν Dig. A 379; τὸν νέον ἐπροσκύνουν ibid. 1530 τοῦ ἐκολούθουν MOREZINOS, Klini 85.9

E-stems

ἐπεθύμουν SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. A2r.10

A-stems

καὶ ἡγρίκουν VOUSTR., Chron. B 59.19 app. crit.

Pl.	3	-οῦσα(ν) -οῦσανε

The 3 pl. ending -οῦσαν came into being with E-stem verbs long before the LMedG period (see 2.1.2.2.3 for a discussion). It remains in use throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar, spreading to A-stem verbs from at least the 15th c.:

E-stems

ἐζητοῦσαν (1042, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 3, 48.29) ὅτι ἐκρατοῦσαν το ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 314.6; ἐπολεμοῦσαν id., Logos 31 812.12 ἔλαβαν γράμμαν καὶ ἐκρατοῦσαν αὐτό (1288, Cos, NYSTAZOPOΥΛΟΥ-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 227.16)
κ' εὐσέβειαν ἐποθοῦσαν Chron. Mor. H 117; ἀποθαρροῦσαν ibid. 9100

⁷⁹ Note that modern Cypriot still uses the identical 1 sg. ending; see CHATZIOANNOU 1999: 53–5.

⁸⁰ Two manuscripts of the War of Troy (BV) preserve an unparalleled form in -αν bearing the stress on the antepenultimate: καὶ ὀπώραν πανεξαίρετην ἐσύνθησαν ἐστῖεν Pol. Tr. 2853. The verb has to be συνηθῶ, an oxytone variant of συνηθίζω (paroxytone *συνήθω is unattested).

⁸¹ For the omission of final /n/ in Cypriot texts, see I, 3.7.2.2.

καὶ τὰ βουνιὰ ἀηδονοῦσαν Dig. E 38; τὰ ὄρη ἐκίλαδοῦσαν Dig. E 1150 καὶ ὅλα ἐθρηνοῦσαν Liv. V 3503 ἤκουγαν καὶ ἀπιστοῦσαν το Velis. χ 488 ὅλοι ἐκαλοφοροῦσαν BERGADIS, Apok. A 343 καὶ κυνηγοῦσαν Theseid VI.8,6 (Olsen); εὐεργετοῦσαν ibid. VI.9,3 καὶ δὲν ἤμποροῦσαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 56.22; ἀφορμολογοῦσαν ibid. 134.15 ἐκείνη ἐφθονοῦσαν τη Diig. Apoll. 442; ὅλοι ἡμαυροφοροῦσαν ibid. 640 καὶ κενὰ ἐλαλοῦσαν (1547, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 56, 177.37) δὲν τὰ ὁμολογοῦσαν ... καὶ ἀδικοῦσαν τοὺς ἐμήνηδες (1568–9, Constantinople, LEMERLE 1988: App. IV C, 237.56–7) δὲν ἐδιδοῦσαν τοὺς πτωχοὺς Pist. kekoim. 599–600 (διδῶ < δίδω) ὅλοι τὸν ἀναθεματοῦσαν τὸν βεζίρη PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §33.13; ἀπιστοῦσαν ibid. IV §17.10

A-stems

ἡγαποῦσαν τας Ptoch. IV 248.5 app. crit. (K) ὅσοι ἀγαποῦσαν τὸν Χριστὸν Chron. Mor. H 117 καὶ ἐχαμοπετοῦσαν Achil. N 828 καὶ ἐγελοῦσαν Hist. Imp. I 2360 ὅσοι μὲν ἐγοικοῦσαν τὴν γλῶσσαν τοὺς DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 10, κ2r.4–5 (1561) τὰ αἶματα ἀπηδοῦσαν Diig. Alex. F 175.5 (Lolos) μῆλα μεγάλα, τὰ ὅποια ἐδουροῦσαν ἔτσι χλωρὰ τριακοσίους χρόνους KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.36–7 (< δουρῶ < Ven. durar)⁸² ἐγελοῦσαν SOFIANOS, Grammar 63.16 ἐμετροῦσαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. Proem. §3.70 εμαδοῦσαν Don Kis. 606.3

Deletion of final /n/ may occur before nasals (/m/, /n/) (haplography, or avoidance of gemination in geminating dialects such as Cypriot, see I, 3.4); it is also quite common in verse texts at the verse end.

καὶ πλιὸν τὸν ἐφημοῦσα Imb. Rim. 707; αὐτεῖνον ἐτιμοῦσα ibid. 708 (τ' ἀμάτια τοῦτα) ... πόσα ἡκακοπαθοῦσα FALIEROS, Thrinos 366 καὶ οἱ ναῦτες ἐγελοῦσα BERGADIS, Apok. V 343 ἡπλημελοῦσα νὰ πάρουν τὴν Κύπρον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 134.14; ἐλαλοῦσα νὰ μὲν ἐμποῦν ibid. 395.16–17 ὅσοι τὴν εθωροῦσα Apoll. Rim. A 1191; ὅλοι τὴν ἐπαινοῦσα ibid. 1192 ὅλοι τὴν ἀγαποῦσα Apoll. Rim. E 1049; καὶ ὅλοι τὸν ἡπροσκυνοῦσα ibid. 1803 κ' ἔπιαν ὅπου διψοῦσα Alex. Rim. 893 οὐδὲν ἡμποροῦσα νὰ χωριστοῦν Diig. Alex. F 182.25 (Konstantinopulos) καὶ τοὺς κώλους τῶν ἐκροῦσα | καὶ τοὺς ἄνδρες τῶν γελοῦσα | καὶ παστάρδικα γεννοῦσα Epain. gyn. 705–7 (κρῶ < κρούω) καὶ χίλιοι μ' ἀκλουθοῦσα CHORTATIS, Katz. IV.5; γιὰτὶ ὅλοι τὸν παινοῦσα ibid. IV.99 μ' ἀγάπη μ' εθωροῦσα FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.349; καὶ ὅλοι ἐκρατοῦσα βέβαια ibid. II.34 καὶ νὰ πονοῦσα στὴν καρδιάν MONTSEL., Evgena 616 ἔρρικταν ἀπάνω πέτρες καὶ δὲν ἐβουλοῦσα Diig. Sant. 59.64–5

Addition of -(v)ε has mainly been found in texts from south-western areas, but is likely to occur in the Aegean as well (see also I, 2.6.3.3):

⁸² Cf. The French traveller Jacob Spon's Petit Dictionnaire: Il dure, crati (= κρατεῖ). Duraï (= δουράει) se dit és lieux qui ont plus de commerce avec les Italiens SPON, Voyage 306.

ὅτι τὸν ἐθωρούσανε Imb. Rim. 849 ἐκεῖ ποῦ πολεμούσανε Alex. Rim. 1877 ἐζούσανε Fyll. gadar. 143B στήν Πόλιν ζούσανε ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 196 ἐπεθυμούσανε MOREZINOS, Klini 47.3; ἐφθονούσανε ibid. 79.15 ἀκαρτερούσανε Chron. Tourk Soult. 27.15; πονούσανε ibid. 34.9; ἀγαπούσανε ibid. 43.16 ὁπόταν τὰ ζὰ ἐμιλούσανε Bertoldos 45.19 ἐμπορούσανε TROILOS, Rodol. III.185 καὶ ἐπεθυμούσανε (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III–V, 512.42.3–4) ἀπερνούσανε IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 331.12–13 κι ἐτρώγαν και μεθούσανε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2270; κι οι Τούρκοι εβοούσανε ibid. 2309; ψοφούσανε ibid. 2424; ευφημούσανε ibid. 2535 βαστούσανε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 157.19; κ' ἐβοηθούσανε ibid. 425.23 ἐζούσανε EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 30.11; ἐκινούσανε ibid. 42.25 ἐπερνούσανε PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 121.26 ἐκιλαδούσανε KORNAROS, Erot. II.1764; δὲν τὴν ἐσυντηρούσανε ibid. II.2212; ἐκνογελούσανε ibid. III.379; ἐγλακούσανε ibid. IV.1023

Pl.	3	-ούσασι(ν)

When the morpheme /us/ began to be viewed as a marker for the imperfect, in other words as part of the imperfect stem rather than as part of the ending (see 2.1.2.2.3), alternation could occur of the “past tense” endings -αν and -ασιν (cf. barytone verbs, 4.3.1.1). Examples of -ούσασι(ν) appear from the 14th c. onwards in texts from various areas, both poetry and prose, though very rarely in non-literary texts.⁸³

E-stems

κ' ἐκρατούσασιν Chron. Mor. H 2668; ἐπολεμούσασιν ibid. 3029; ἐβοηθούσασιν ibid. 3101 ἐθαρρούσασιν Pol. Tr. 1287; ἐπεθυμούσασιν ibid. 8528 τοὺς πόδας ἐκρατούσασιν Achil. N 828 ἐθαρρούσασιν Pol. Tr. 1287 καὶ ἐλεούσασιν τοὺς Chron. Toc. 3213 ἐκουλουθούσασιν DELLAP., Epit. Thrinis 443 ἐσυγκρατούσασιν Theseid VI.6,1 (Olsen); ἐτιμούσασιν ibid. VI.7,4 ἐλαλούσασιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 66.8; ἐκατοικούσασιν ibid. 560.6 ἐλαλούσασιν Fior 91.19; ἐπολομούσασιν ibid. 150.18 τα μαύρα εφορούσασιν Diig. Apoll. 623 ζούσασιν SKLAVOS, Symf. 270 τὰ ὄρη ἀντιδονούσασιν Dig. A 371; εὐχαριστούσασιν ibid. 3236 καὶ τὸν ὑπηρετούσασιν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 4.11 ἐκαλούσασιν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1017; ἐκαρτερούσασιν ibid. 2744 ἀνθούσασι BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 11 τὴν ἐκρατούσασιν ἀσφαλῶς MAKOLAS, Ioust. 424.13

A-stems

σκάλες ἐβαστούσασιν Chron. Toc. 291; ἐτιμούσασιν ibid. 1314 ἐρωτούσασιν NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 110.11

⁸³ The first instance of this ending in a non-literary text is the following: και κρατούσασί με Epist. Nax. 471.9; an undated letter by a hostage from Naxos to his wife, perhaps dating from the late 17th–early 18th c.

δεν εψηφούσασιν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡΡ., Pali 7406 τούς άπετούσασιν ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 296 όλίγον άγαπούσασι τά γράμματα οί Κρητικοί (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 37.39)

Deletion of final /n/ occurs from about the 14th c. too (Pol. Tr. has equal numbers of forms with and without final /n/):

πολλά τόν ήγαπούσασι Pol. Tr. 4495; έπεθυμούσασι ibid. 5965 δεν μου βοηθούσασι Syndipas 121.40–1 και 'κεί των ακλουθούσασι Apoll. Rim. E 785 έκτυπούσασι Alex. Rim. 844; όλόγυρα κερνούσασι ibid. 1158; τήν τροφήν που ζούσασι ibid. 1658 τόν άνδρα άπολούσασι Synax. gyn. 104 app. crit. (άπολώ < άπολύω) όλoi τήν ήγαπούσασι MOREZINOS, Klini 50.28; δέν τής ήγρικούσασι ibid. 52.14; έκολουθούσασι ibid. 183.38 κι έρωτούσασι P&N Diath. 1767 κ' οί δυό έσοπορπατούσασι KORNAROS, Erot. I.37; σ' μι ά βράσην έκεντούσασι ibid. IV.849 δέν τό άναμελούσασι PROSOPSAS, Peri Tyflou 947 σάν ξένοι προπατούσασι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 223.17; κ' οί Φράγκοι έκολούσασι ibid. 289.10 θρηνούσασι ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 955 επιθυμούσασι MAKOLAS, Ioust. 423.4–5; τους αδικούσασι ibid. 242.38 δέν έχωρούσασι EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 17.16; όλoi τον επεριγελούσασι ibid. 59.24

Forms with an added -(v)ε (e.g. ήγελούσασινε), attested for barytone verbs (see 4.3.1.1), have not been found in the texts examined.

The alternation between -αν and -ασι can sometimes lead to a hybrid formation -ανσι, which is probably due to the use of a combination of ligatures (cf. e.g. the ending '-ομένστα in 4.1.1.2) rather than a “real” ending: έκρατούσανσι Theseid I.30,5 app. crit. (Follieri).

Pl.	3	-αγαν

Forms in -αγαν, now common for the southern varieties of MG, are very rare and have not been found before the later 16th c. (for a discussion see 2.1.2.2.3): ήπέρναγαν (1572, Peloponnese, VEIS 1956: 451.33); που 'πέρναγαν ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 291.

Pl.	3	-ειγαν

Forms in -ειγαν are equally rare and have not been found before the 18th c. (see 2.1.2.2.3 for a discussion): εκράτειγαν (1709, Chios, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 30, 120.78); [έφίλ]ειγαν SPANOS, Grammar 39.23.

Pl.	3	-ων

The residual 3 pl. A-stem ending -ων is used very rarely, even less frequently than the identical residual 1 sg. ending (see above): οί κόλακες έβόων Ptoch. IV 343 app. crit. (H).

4.3.2.2 Passive Voice

	General		Restricted		Rare
Sg.	1	ἐγρικούμην ἐγρικούμουν	ἐγρικούμιον ἐγρικούμιου ἐγρικούμινα ἐγρικ(ε)ιούμιου(ν) ἐγρικ(ε)ιούμιου ἐγρικόμιον ἐγρικ(ε)ιόμιου(ν)	ἐβαρούμιον ἐβαρούμιου ἐβαρούμινα ἐβαρ(ε)ιούμιου(ν) ἐβαρ(ε)ιούμιου ἐβαρόμιον ἐβαρ(ε)ιόμιον	ἐγρικώμην/-όμην ἐγρίκουμιον ἐγρίκουμιου ἐγρικόμινα ἐγρικόμινα	ἐβαρώμην/-όμην ἐβάρουμιου(ν) (-όμινα) ἐβαρήγουν ἐβάρουμιου
	2	ἐγρικούσουν	ἐγρικάσου(ν) ἐγρικούσου (-ε)ιούσου(ν)) (-ε)ιούσου(ν) ἐγρίκουσούν ἐγρίκουσους	ἐβαράσου(ν) ἐβαρούσου ἐβαρούσους ἐβαρ(ε)ιούσου(ν) (-ε)ιούσου(ν) ἐβάρ(ε)ιουσούν	ἐγρικῶ ἐγρικάσους ἐγρικόσους/-ώσους	ἐβαροῦ(ν) (-άσους) ἐβαρ(ε)ιόσους ἐβαρείσους ἐβαρήγουν
	3	ἐγρικᾶτον ἐγρικ(ε)ιέτον ἐβαρᾶτον ἐβαρείτον ἐβαρ(ε)ιέτον	ἐγρικᾶτο ἐγρικᾶτον ἐβαρείτο ἐβαρείτον ἐγρικ(ε)ιέτον ἐγρικᾶντο(ν) ἐγρικᾶντον ἐγρικᾶντα	ἐβαρᾶτο ἐβαρ(ε)ιέτον ἐβαρᾶντο(ν) ἐβαρ(ε)ιᾶντο ἐβαρᾶντα ἐβαρᾶντα	ἐγρικᾶτου ἐγρικᾶτον ἐγρικῆτον (-ε)ιέτο ἐγρικᾶντον ἐγρικᾶνταν ἐγρικ(ε)ιᾶνταν ἐγρικᾶτον ἐγρικᾶν ἐγρικᾶντα ἐγρικᾶντα ἐγρικᾶντα (-οῦντα)	ἐβαράτου ἐβαρᾶτον ἐβαρ(ε)ιέτο ἐβαρήγτο ἐβαρᾶντα ἐβαρ(ε)ιᾶτον ἐβαρ(ε)ιᾶτον ἐβαρᾶτον ἐβαρᾶντα

	General		Restricted		Rare
Pl.	1	(-οῦμεθα) ἐβαρούμεθα	ἐγρικούμεσθε(ν)/ ἐγρικούμεστε(ν) ἐγρικούμεστα(ν)/ ἐγρικούμεσθα(ν) ἐγρικόμεστα(ν)	ἐβαρούμεσθε(ν)/ ἐβαρούμεστε(ν) ἐβαρούμεστα(ν)/ ἐβαρούμεσθα(ν)	(-οῦμεθαν) ἐγρικώμεθα ἐγρικούμεθεν ἐγρικώμεσθεν ἐγρικούμασθε(ν)/ ἐγρικούμασσε(ν) ἐγρικούμασταν	ἐβαρούμεθαν ἐβαρούμεθεν ἐβαρ(ε)ιόμεσθα ἐβαρούμασθε(ν)/ ἐβαρούμασσε(ν) ἐβαρηγόμασθε (-οῦμασταν)
	2	ἐγρικᾶσθε(ν)/ ἐγρικᾷσσε(ν)	(- (ε)ιέσθε)/ (- (ε)ιέσσε)	ἐβαρ(ε)ιέσθε/ ἐβαρ(ε)ιέσσε	ἐγρικοῦσθε/ ἐγρικοῦσσε	ἐβαρ(ε)ιοῦσθε/ ἐβαρ(ε)ιοῦσσε ἐβαρήγεσθε ἐβαρηγόσασθε ἐβαρούσασθε
	3	ἐγρικοῦνταν ἐβαροῦντο(ν) ἐβαροῦνταν	ἐγρικῶντο(ν)/ ἐγρικόντο(ν) ἐγρικοῦντα ἐγρικοῦντανε ἐγρικ(ε)ιούντα(ν) ἐγρικ(ε)ιούντανε ἐγρικῶντα(ν)/ ἐγρικόντα(ν) ἐγρικῶντανε/ ἐγρικῶντανε/ ἐγρικόντανε ἐγρικοῦντησαν ἐγρικόντησαν ἐγρικόντησαν ἐγρικοῦντασι(ν) ἐγρικῶντασι(ν)	ἐβαρῶντο(ν)/-όντο(ν) ἐβαροῦντα ἐβαροῦντανε ἐβαρ(ε)ιούντα(ν) ἐβαρ(ε)ιούντανε ἐβαρῶντα(ν)/ ἐβαρόντα(ν) ἐβαρῶντανε/ ἐβαρόντανε ἐβαροῦντησαν ἐβαρόντησαν ἐβαρ(ε)ιόντησαν ἐβαροῦντασι(ν) ἐβαρόντασι(ν)	ἐγρικῶντονε/ ἐγρικόντονε ἐγρικοῦτα ἐβαρ(ε)ιόντα(ν) ἐβαρ(ε)ιότανε ἐβαρ(ε)ιῶντο(ν) ἐβαρήγουνταν ἐβαρηγόντησαν

Distribution of Allomorphs*1st Person Singular*

Sg.	1	-ούμην

Even though a limited number of examples has been found, the inherited E-stem ending -ούμην, which had replaced its A-stem equivalent -ώμην long before the period covered by this Grammar (see the introduction to Chapter 2), will have been the normal ending at the beginning of the LMedG period for both E-stem and A-stem verbs, though it was soon supplanted by new endings that began to appear in the LMedG period.

E-stems

ἐφοβούμην GLYKAS, Stichoi 54 προσεκαλούμην Dig. G VI.79; ἡσυχολούμην ibid. VI.508
 καὶ νὰ καλοπαθούμην Ptoch. III 166 app. crit. (P) ἐλογομαχούμην Liv. E 2749; ἐμυριοετυραννούμην ibid. 3510; καὶ οὐδὲν τὸν ἐφοβούμην ibid. 383 εἰς φέγγος τὸ ἐλυπούμην Liv. V 1550 ἀφηγούμην του Liv. α 761 ἐκατετυραννούμην Liv. S 2320 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ἐθρηνούμην Alosis 713 νὰ ἐπαρηγορούμην Pol. Tr. 7847 app. crit. (V) ἡγούμην [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 2491 ἐλυπούμην πολλὰ PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Lavras) 259.41

A-stems

ἐκαυχούμην το Liv. E 1694 and Liv. V 1552 ἐκαυχούμην Achil. N 1102

Sg.	1	-ούμου(ν) † -ούμενε † -ούμευνα † -(ε)ιούμου(ν) † -(ε)ιούμουνε † -ουμουν † -ουμουνε

The ending -ούμουν starts to appear in texts from all areas from at least the 15th c. onwards (ms date of Assizes B), and continues to be in use throughout and beyond the EMG period. It is derived from -ούμην, the /u/ in the final syllable being the result of backing of /i/ to /u/ (see I, 2.8.4 for details; cf. barytone verbs for a similar development (4.3.1.2)). The post-verbal weak personal pronoun μου may have played an associative role; cf. 2 sg. -σου(ν) and, regionally, 3 sg. -του(ν) with both barytone and oxytone verbs and with εἶμαι (4.8.2):⁸⁴

E-stems

ἐφοβούμουν νὰ τὸν ἀνκρίσω Assizes B 418.24 καὶ νὰ τὸν ἐλυπούμουν Liv. E 1505 πάντα φοβούμουν Pol. Tr. 5933 app. crit. (X) ἀστρονομούμουν Liv. α 3089 app. crit. (N) ἐξηγούμουν Synax. gyn. 475 καὶ ἐκοιμούμουν (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 164.4d–165.1d) ἐφοβούμουν Theseid III.51.1 (1529)

⁸⁴ With εἶμαι the ending -μουν appears in writing from the 11th/12th c.; see 4.8.2.

ἐγὼ ἐφοβούμουν τὴν κακίαν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 430.24 ἐκρατούμουν SOFIANOS, Grammar 52.9 ἐφοβούμουν MOREZINOS, Klini 47.11 δηγούμουν Vosk. 347 app. crit.
 διατὶ σὲ ἐφοβούμουν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 19.21 ἐνθυμούμουν [VLASTOS], Dig. P VI 373.26; δὲν ἐφοβούμουν κανένα ibid. VII 379.11–12 ἐθυμούμουν (1709, Chios, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 34, 137.148) ἐφιλούμουν SPANOS, Grammar 40.16

A-stems

τὸν ἐκαυκούμουν πάντοτε Achil. L 721 ἀνέγνοιαστα ἐκοιμούμουν Peri xen. 214 κεῖ ποῦ νικούμουν πάντα Cypr. Canz. 9.3 ἐγελούμουν SOFIANOS, Grammar 53.3 ἐφουκρούμουν Vosk. 348 app. crit. ἐτιμούμουν GERMANO, Grammar 93.8; ἄς ἐκοιμούμουν ibid. 99.4
 ἐκοιμούμουν [VLASTOS], Dig. P VII 376.19

Evidence for the deletion of final /n/ can be found in texts from southern areas (especially Crete)⁸⁵ from at least the 16th c. onwards:

ἐφοβούμου νὰ τὸν ἀγκρίσω Assizes A 167.7 τὸν τρόπον ἐφοβούμου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 78 ἐνθυμούμου Alosis 571 ἐφοβούμου τὴν πονηρίαν σου Peri pon. 36 το πράμ' απού φοβούμου CHORTATSI, Panor. II.64; σ' ποιά λησμονιά ἐκοιμούμου id., Erof. Interm. II.106; ἐκρατούμου id., Erof. III.41
 ἐγροικούμου Vosk. 317 δὲν ἐκοιμούμου ἐγὼ Pist. voskos II 2.260 μὲ πλιὰ φόβο ἀρνούμου TROILOS, Rodol. I.225 κι ἐφήκα τὰ δηγούμου FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 119 καὶ κοπελιά ἐλογούμου KORNAROS, Erot. I.975; ἵντ' ἄ κα ἀφουκρούμου σου ibid. III.959

A shift of the stress to the antepenultimate, probably by analogy with barytone verbs, which also show variation in the placement of the stress (γράφω, ἐγράφομουν and ἐγραφόμουν, see 4.3.1.2), is mentioned by Germano when he describes features of the Chiot dialect. It has also been found, with deletion of final /n/, in a document written in Smyrna (though the subject of this debt settlement is from Mykonos): ἡγάπουμουν GERMANO, Grammar 77.24; ἐχρεώστουμου (1716, Smyrna, SFYROERAS 1963b: 3, 179.5).

Addition of -(v)ε (see I, 2.6.3.3) occurs in Cretan and Chiot texts and in one ms of the War of Troy:

ἐλυπούμουνε Pol. Tr. 9120 (ms X) τὸ φοβούμουνε BAROZZI, Letter 359.20 γιατί πολλὰ ἐφοβούμουνε CHORTATSI, Erof. IV.515 ἐφοβούμουνε πολλὰ KORNAROS, Erot. II.2315 ἐγάπουμουνε GERMANO, Grammar 87.4–5

⁸⁵ For the omission of final /n/ in Cypriot texts such as the Assizes, see I, 3.7.2.2.

Addition of $-(\nu)\alpha$ (see I, 2.6.3.3) occurs in texts of south-western provenance (Peloponnese, Crete, Heptanese) from at least the 15th c. onwards:

ἐπαρεπονούμουνα Anon. Naupl. 61 δὲν ἐφοβούμουνα CHORTATSI, Katz. IV.86 κεῖνο ποὺ φοβούμουνα MONTSEL., Evgena 905 ἐφιλούμουνα SPANOS, Grammar 40.16

Addition of the semivowel /j/ to the stem consonant has been found in Cretan texts of the 16th/17th c., and in Germano's grammar (see 2.1.2.2.4 for a discussion):

αν ἐξαναγεννιούμου CHORTATSI, Panor. IV.88; ἐκρατιούμου id., Erof. III.41 transcr. X (Legrand)
 κι ὦρες σοῦ τὰ βαριούμου KORNAPOS, Erot. I.1000 ἐπουλειούμουν GERMANO, Grammar 93.26 ἐκρατιούμουνε TROILOS, Rodol. I.225

Sg.	1	-όμου(ν) † -όμουνα † -(ε)ιόμου(ν)

The ending -όμουν, standard for SMG A-stem verbs, starts to appear from at least the 16th c. onwards, with both A- and E-stem verbs. It is probably modelled on the corresponding ending of barytone verbs (-ομουν, and from ca. the 15th c. -όμουν), which also show great fluctuation both in the choice for the thematic vowels /o/ and /u/ and in the position of the stress (see 4.3.1.2): ὦρες σκοπόμεουν Love poems V 314; πῶς ἐκοιμόμουν ἔτσι γλυκέα Vios Aisop. K 150.2; ἐκοιμόμουν εἰς το μετόχιον DOSITH. IEROS., Dodekavivlos 462.43.

Addition of the semivowel /j/ to the stem consonant occurs in the same period (see 2.1.2.2.4 for a discussion). The proparoxytone form ἐβαρείομουν in the 1626 edition of Trivolis is very likely to be metri gratia (before the caesura): later editions (1577, 1624, 1643, 1683) correct the form to ἐβαριόμουν, thus ruining the metre. The 18th- and 19th-c. editions mend the metre by adding the suffix -να (see immediately below):

ἀρνιόμουν Love poems V 225 ἄμποτε νᾶκρατειόμουν SOFIANOS, Grammar 67.15 ἐβαρειόμουν Poulol. 20 app. crit. (A) ὅλες τὲς ἐβαρείομουν TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 128

Addition of $-(\nu)\alpha$, common in colloquial MG, is very rare in EMG texts, and appears to be a Heptanesian feature (cf. barytone verbs, 4.3.1.2; see also I, 2.6.3.3). No examples have been found before the 17th c.: ἐγὼ δὲν ἐκοιμόμουνα Bertoldin. 148.24 and 149.16; ὅλες τὲς ἐβαριόμουνα TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 128 app. crit. (editions of 1774, 1795, 1806).

Final /n/ is not usually dropped, but may serve to accommodate the rhyme: ἐξαναγεννιόμου KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.814; ἐκοιόμου ibid. III.70.

Sg.	1	-ήγομουν

This rare ending, consisting of an imperfect marker /iγ/ and the above-mentioned ending -όμουν with a shift of the stress to the antepenultimate, is mentioned in Kanellos Spanos's grammar as an alternative for E-stem verbs, but has not been found elsewhere: ἐφιλήγομουν SPANOS, Grammar 40.17.

Sg.	1	-ώμην † -όμην

This residual A-stem ending is used very rarely in vernacular texts; a few instances have been found in Liv. E and S with both A- and E-stem verbs (spelled -όμην in the editions): ἐλογομαχώμην Liv. E 662; ἐκαυχόμην ibid. 1703 and Liv. S 596 (Lambert-van der Kolf).

In the following example the scribe of ms. Z of Poulologos attempts to correct the ending -(ε)ιόμουν to the higher-register residual ending -ώμην, forgetting, however, to remove the /j/ that comes with the innovative ending (see 2.1.2.2.4, Passive Voice): ποσῶς δὲν ἐβρεϊόμην Poulol. 20 app. crit. (Z).

Sg.	1	-ουνμου

This unusual ending occurs in SACHLIKIS, Afigisis, with the (O-stem) verb πληρῶ. It is marginally more common with barytone verbs, for which corresponding 2 sg. and 3 sg. endings have also been found (see 4.3.1.2 for a discussion): ἐπλήρουνομου SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 259 transcr. (Lendari).

2nd Person Singular

Sg.	2	-άσου(ν) † -άσουνε

This ending is unlikely to have evolved from the Koine/EMedG ending -ᾶσο, which is barely attested, much like its supposed barytone counterpart -εσο (for which see 4.3.1.2).⁸⁶ It is more likely to be an innovative formation modelled on 2 sg. pres. pass. -ᾶσαι, which takes place parallel to a similar development in barytone verbs (see 4.3.1.2): γράφεισαι : ἐγράφεσου(ν), κοιμᾶσαι : ἐκοιμάσου(ν). The ending has not been found before the 14th c., and apparently falls into disuse after the 16th c. It has been found in Peloponnesian and Heptanesian texts and in texts of uncertain provenance:

ἄν ἐθυμάσου τὰ ἔπαθες Chron. Mor. H 5552 ἐκοιμάσου Love poems V 383 ἄν ἐθυμάσουν τὰ ἔπαθες Chron. Mor. P 5552 ἐκαυχάσουν ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 39.10 and 80.10 γιατί ἔκαυχάσουν Fyll. gadar. 358c ἐκοιμάσου ΚΑΤΣΑΙΤΙΣ, Klathmos II.925

Addition of -(ν)ε (see also I, 2.6.3.3) is quite rare with this ending: ποτέ νὰ μὴ ἐκαυχάσουνε Chron. Mor. P 5553.

Sg.	2	-ούσου(ν) † -ούσουνε † -(ε)ιούσου(ν) † -(ε)ιούσουνε † -ουσούν † -ουσούνε

⁸⁶ The example given in the bibliography is ἡκροᾶσο, which is found in the Anonymous Antatticista (quoting Antiphanes) and should probably be read as a pluperfect or an imperative ἡκρόασο (KÜHNER/BLASS ³1892: 69).

The ending -ούσου(ν) is first attested in texts of the 15th c., but soon to supersede -άσου(ν) (see above), for both A- and E-stem verbs. It is likely to have been formed by analogy with 1 sg. -ούμου(ν), a development in which the postverbal weak personal pronoun may have played an associative role (cf. 1 sg. -μου(ν) and, regionally, 3 sg. -του(ν) with both barytone and oxytone verbs and with εἶμαι (4.8.2)).

κ' ἐσὺ καυχούσουν Katal. 96 ἀνισῶς καὶ νὰ φοβούσουν Fior 137.1 γιὰ νὰ καυκούσουν Cypr. Canz. 104.30 ἐνθυμούσουν τὶ σοῦ εἶπα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 380.20–1 ἐκαυχούσουν ἄμετρα [VLASTOS], Dig. P VII 393.14 τὰ μοῦ δηγούσουν FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.183

Deletion of final /n/ occurs in texts from Chios and south-western areas (especially Crete; the scribe of Liv. V had a Peloponnesian (originally Constantinopolitan) background (LENDARI 2007: 59)) in the same period:

νὰ μὲ ἐψυχονούσου Liv. V 1147 ἐφοβούσου CHORTATIS, Erof. V.588 ἐποκοιμούσου, τέκνο μου Thysia Avr. 423 στὸ στρῶμα πού ἐκοιμούσου KORNAROS, Erot. V.95 ἐτιμούσου GERMANO, Grammar 93.8 ἐφοβούσου TROILOS, Rodol. IV.415 τὰ λόγια ἀπού δηγούσου FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.161 ὅταν ἐπολεμούσου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 411.20

Addition of the semivowel /j/ to the stem consonant has not been found before the 17th c. (see 2.1.2.2.4 for a discussion): ἐπουλειούσου GERMANO, Grammar 93.26; κ' ἐσὺ πολλὰ ἐβαριούσουν το KORNAROS, Erot. I.996.

Addition of -(ν)ε (see I, 2.6.3.3) has been found in Cretan texts of the 16th and 17th c. and in Dig. O, whose author was from Chios: ἐστενοχωρούσουνε MOSCH. THEOL., Vios Ag. Nik. 207; ἐκαυχούσουνε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2889; Ρέθεμνος, πού κρατούσουνε ἄξιο καὶ τιμημένο BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 196.11.

Forms with a shift of the stress to the antepenultimate, possibly by analogy with barytone verbs (γράφω, ἐγράφουμου), with and without added -(ν)ε, are mentioned by Germano, not in his paradigms, but when he describes features of the Chiot dialect: ἡγάπουσουν GERMANO, Grammar 77.27; ἐπούλειουσιν ibid. 77.26; ἐγάπουσουνε ibid. 87.5.

Sg.	2	-όσου(ν)(ε) † -ώσουν † -(ε)ιόσου(ν)

The ending -όσουν, the SMG ending for the four deponent verbs in -άμαι, has so far only been found in Sofianos's grammar (with an etymologizing spelling <ω> for A-stem verbs), and in the early 18th-c. Lament for the Peloponnese by the Kefalonian Katsaitis. Paucity of material makes it impossible to establish whether it is a purely Heptanesian variant (cf. 3 sg. -ότον, below, also in Sofianos), or whether it had a more general spread. Examples have been found without final /n/ as well as with added -(ν)ε (for which see I, 2.6.3.3): ἐγελώσουν SOFIANOS, Grammar 69.2; ἄμποτε ... νὰ γελώσουν ibid. 70.3; τὰ φουσσᾶτα πὸκαυχόσου νὰ ᾿χης KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.421; δὲν ἐθυμόσουνε ibid. II.926; ἐκοιμόσου id., Ifig. II.275; τὸ καυχόσουνε ibid. IV.125.

With addition of the semivowel /j/ to the stem consonant, standard for SMG A-stem verbs, this ending – again – has only been found in Sofianos’s grammar and in Katsaitis:⁸⁷ ἐκρατειόσουν SOFIANOS, Grammar 66.9; ἄμποτε νὰ κρατειόσουν ibid. 67.16; ὀπόκαυχιόσου KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.435.

Sg.	2	-ῶ ἰ -οῦ ἰ -οῦν

The residual 2 sg. A-stem ending -ῶ and its E-stem counterpart -οῦ are sporadically used in mixed-register LMedG texts, such as Ptochoprodromos and Glykas: σὺ ἐκοιμῶ εἰς τὸ ψιαθὶν καὶ ἐγὼ εἰς τὸ κλινάριν Ptoch. I 71; οὐκ ἐκαυχῶ, ψυχὴ μου GLYKAS, Stichoi 302 (for ἐκαυχῶ).

Addition of final /n/ to these forms is very rare: νὰ μὴ ἔπινες, νὰ μὴ ἐκοιμοῦν τὰς νύκτας Katal. 474 app. crit..

Sg.	2	-είσουν ἰ -ήγесουν

The only witness to these two alternative endings is Kanellos Spanos’s grammar (Peloponnese), which is slightly outside the period covered by this Grammar: ἐφιλείσουν SPANOS, Grammar 40.16; εὐρίσκεται καὶ ... [ἐφιλῆ]γесουν ibid. 40.17.

3rd Person Singular

Sg.	3	-ᾶτο(ν) ἰ -άτονε ἰ -άτου

Without final /n/ the inherited A-stem ending -ᾶτο is very common in Cretan texts of the 16th and 17th c., with both A- and E-stem verbs, but much less so in texts from other areas, with the exception of mixed-register texts such as Dig. G and A, Kallimachos and Spanos:

A-stems

ἡνιᾶτο κατὰ πολὺ Dig. G IV.412; οὐ ξίφесιν ἐχρᾶτο ibid. VIII.29 εἰς τὸ ἀφρόδιτον καλὸν τοπίτισιν ἐκοιμᾶτο [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1993 ὁ ἀστενῶν οὐκ ἱᾶτο Spanos A 490 πῶς ἐβαστᾶτο μου ψυχὴ Alosis 709 κι αφικράτο Apoll. Rim. N 384 την ηῦρα κι εκοιμάτο CHORTATISIS, Panor. IV.244; τὰ λόγια ποὺ καυχᾶτο id., Erof. III.362; τὸ στόμα ἀποὺ μουγκᾶτο ibid. V.114 ὅσον ἐπεκοιμᾶτο Dig. A 203

⁸⁷ The MG colloquial ending -ίссουνα has not been found in the texts examined, but there is one instance in a Zakynthian comedy of the late 18th c., D. Gouzelis’s O Chasis: εὐχαριστιόссουνα III.509 (ed. Z. Synadinos, Athens 1997).

ὥσπερ νὰ ἐκοιμάτο LANDOS, Geopon. 178.17 μὰ ἴντα νὰ τοῦ δηγάτο FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.14 ἐβρουχάτο DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 395; ἐμουγκάτο ibid. 396 σὰ λέος κ' ἐβρουχάτο BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 163.4; καὶ δυνατὰ μουγκάτο ibid. 200.12; ἐγροικάτο ibid. 419.26 τοῦ φίλου του ἀφουκράτο KORNAPOS, Erot. I.247; παντοτινὰ ἐκοιμάτο ibid. II.1160; σὰ λιόντας ἐβρουχάτο ibid. II.1937; κι ὅλη ἐξαναγεννάτο ibid. III.22

E-stems

καὶ πάλιν ἐξηγάτο τους Liv. V 3849 καὶ ἐλυπάτο πολλὰ Syndipas 108.5 ὅλους τσ' αγίους ἀρνάτο Apoll. Rim. N 84; καὶ ἔδηγάτο ibid. 1716 πολλὰ τὸν ἐφοβᾶτο Alex. Rim. 1082 νὰ μην ἐτυραννάτο CHORTATSI, Panor. I.118; ἐλυπάτο id., Erof. IV.181; ἐθρηνάτο ibid. IV.182 ἐμίλειε κ' ἐδηγάτο Vosk. 370; κ' ἐθρηνάτο ibid. 401 τῶν ἀπονάτο Stathis III.30 ἐθρηνάτο MONTSEL., Evgena 1197; πολλὰ παραπονᾶτο ibid. 1198 ἐχειροτονᾶτο RODINOS, Vios Ign. 78.4 κι ὅλη ἐμοιρολογᾶτο BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 200.13; ἐθρηνάτο ibid. 260.24; κανεὶς δὲν τοὺς ντηράτο ibid. 292.20
 καὶ δὲν τοῦ ἀπιλογᾶτο KORNAPOS, Erot. I.248; πάντα τὸ θυμάτο ibid. II.1486; περισσὰ ἐτυραννάτο ibid. III.21; τὰ ἐδηγάτο ibid. III.1721; δὲν ἐλυπάτο ibid. IV.1939 ἐπαραπονᾶτο KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.342

With an added final /n/ the ending is very common with both A- and E-stem verbs, and forms in -ᾶτον are found in a variety of texts throughout the LMedG and EMG periods:

A-stems

μετ' αὐτον ἐκοιμάτον Chron. Mor. H 4199 ἐξωθεν ἀκροᾶτον Pol. Tr. 457; πότε ἀπετᾶτον ἄνω ibid. 6307 καὶ ἡ μέση ἐδαπανᾶτον Arm. 86 ἐκαυχᾶτον Achil. L 714 ἐκοιμάτον (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 2391) ὅταν ἐγεννᾶτον Spanos A 166 ὠσγοιὸν ἐκοιμάτον εἰς τὸν πύργον VOUSTR., Chron. A 28.6–9 ἄρχισε καὶ ἐχαλᾶτον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.39 καὶ ἀγαπάτον πολλὰ παρ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ πασιὰ MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 218.38 ἐκαταράτον NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 1.12–13 ἐβρουχᾶτον SKLAVOS, Symf. 129 ἐγελάτον SOFIANOS, Grammar 69.2 ἐκυβερνάτον (1545, Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 2, 99.9) ἐκοιμάτον GERMANO, Grammar 77.30; ἐτιμάτον ibid. 93.8
 ἐκαυχᾶτον εἰς τὲς δόξες τὲς κοσμικῆς VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 31.32

E-stems

κλαίοντα τὰ ἀφηγάτον Chron. Mor. H 3792; οὔτε ἐλειτουργᾶτον ibid. 5965 ἐπαραπονᾶτον Pol. Tr. 227 ἐρνᾶτον Assizes B 442.22 and Assizes A 53.3 (< ἄρνοῦμαι) ὁ νοὺς μου ἐτριοκοπᾶτον Liv. V 1471; νὰ ἐτρυπᾶτον ibid. 1506; ἐμυριοελυπᾶτον ibid. 3508 ἐφοβᾶτον Achil. L 127 and Achil. N 225 ἐλυπᾶτον Chron. Toc. 110; καὶ τίς νὰ τὸ ἐνθυμᾶτον ibid. 1158; κανεὶν δὲν ἐφοβᾶτον ibid. 2879 κλαίων ἐμοιρολογάτον Achil. O 418 μυριοκαταφρονᾶτον Velth. 38 (Cupane) καὶ τὰ ὄδηγᾶτον πασσαεὶ FALIEROS, Thrinos 6 ἐφοβᾶτον MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 58.5 ποτὲ δὲν τὸ θυμᾶτον Alex. Rim. 848 τὸν θάνατον τὸν ἐδικόν του ἐθυμᾶτον Diig. Alex. F 158.16–17 (Konstantinopulos) ἐδιηγᾶτον ρωμάνικα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 403.16 ἐφοβᾶτον Vios Filaret. 241.41 παραπονᾶτον ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 81

Addition of -(ν)ε (see I, 2.6.3.3) occurs in texts of south-western provenance from at least the 16th c. onwards:

ἀπιλογάτονε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 212.10 εκαυχάτονε Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 115 πάντοτε εκαυχάτονε AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 39.2
 εἰς δένδρον ἐκοιμάτονε Theseid Prol. E and P 198; μέσα του ἕγηάτονε ibid. IV.4,5 (1529) δὲν ἐθυμάτονε MOREZINOS, Klini 50.7; ἐκοιμάτονε ibid. 51.20; ἐκινάτονε ibid. 85.1; ἐμουγκάτονε ibid. 273.19 ἐθρηνάτονε P&N Diath. 1572 and Pist. voskos V 7.14 ἐφοβάτονε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 97.25 καὶ κεί ὄμοιρολογάτονε Apoll. Rim. N 915 ἐκινάτονε ἀπὸ τὸν θυμόν VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 37.12; ἐμιμάτονε τὸν Θεόν ibid. 138.14 ἐπλανάτονε ἐδῶ καὶ ἐκεῖ Thavm. Nikon Metan. II 7 δὲν ἐφοβάτονε ὅς κίντυνα νὰ σιμῶση FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 68 κ' ἐλυπάτονε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 180.11; δὲν ἐκοιμάτονε ibid. 493.4
 ἐφοβάτονε KORNAROS, Erot. I.2175; ἐφουκράτονε ibid. III.193; κουρφα ἐπαρηγοράτονε ibid. V.384

The hybrid formation -άτου can be found sporadically in Heptanesian texts, and it consists of the ending -του(ν) with preservation of the A-stem vowel (cf. -ότουν below); it has been found with both A- and E-stem verbs: μέσα του ἐβρουχάτου Alex. Rim. 1231; παραπονάτου ibid. 1232; διατὶ πολλὰ φοβάτου MONTSEL., Evgena 1309.

Sg.	3	-εῖτο(ν) ἰ -εῖτονε

Without final /n/ the inherited E-stem ending -εῖτο is less common than its A-stem counterpart -ᾶτο. In the texts examined it has only been found with E-stem verbs:

ὥς ξένος ἐφοβεῖτο Dig. G II.173; ἐμιμεῖτο ibid. VI.31 τάχα περιεφοβεῖτο Log. parag. O 61 (Politi) ἐφοβεῖτο τὸ πλῆθος τοῦ λαοῦ Hist. Imp. I 1012; οὐδὲν ἐθυμεῖτο τοὺς ὄρκους ibid. IIb 454
 τάχα περιεφοβεῖτο Log. parag. O 61 (Politi) καὶ κείνος ἐκρατεῖτο [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 661; καὶ παραιτεῖτο ibid. 1059 δὲν ευχαριστεῖτο ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 85.4 ἐκρατεῖτο KORNAROS, Erot. V.571 τέτοιαις λογῆς ἐθεοποιεῖτο Alex. Fyll. 81.15 ἐφοβεῖτο [VLASTOS], Dig. P VI 366.32 ἐφιλεῖτο SPANOS, Grammar 40.16

With final /n/ the ending appears in literary texts from various areas throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, though very rarely with A-stem verbs:

E-stem

ὡς ἐφηγεῖτον Log. parig. L 51 ἐκατεπατεῖτον (1422, Meteora, VEIS 1911/12: 15, 54.8) ἐφοβεῖτον Chron. Toc. 3015; ἐνθυμεῖτον ibid. 3162 κ' ἐλυπεῖτον Diig. Ven. 58 πολλά ἐπαραπονείτον Liv. V 548 καὶ σφόδρα ἐλυπεῖτον Byz. Il. 135 ἐθεοποιεῖτον Diig. Alex. V 80.11 πολλά ἐλυπεῖτον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 76.33 ὁ δάσκαλος ἐφοβεῖτον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 344.35; ἐφώναζεν καὶ ἐλυπεῖτον ibid. 431.11 ἐλυπεῖτον πολλά ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 10.3; δεν ευχαριστεῖτον ibid. 89.1 ἐκινεῖτον Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 395; ευλαβεῖτον ibid. 397 καὶ τὸν εὐλαβεῖτον KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 6.20; ἐκαλεῖτον Βηθσαῖδά ibid. Louk. 9.10 καὶ ἐλυπεῖτον Vios Aisop. K 201.32 ἐφοβεῖτον ἀπὸ δύο μέρη [VLASTOS], Dig. P VI 366.29–30; ἐκαλεῖτον Μουσούρ ibid. II 318.11 ἀνυμνεῖτον ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 4736

A-stem

καὶ ὡς λέων ἐβρυχεῖτον Chron. Toc. 3385

Addition of -(ν)ε (see I, 2.6.3.3) has been found in Morezinos (Crete) and in Spanos's grammar (Peloponnese): ὠφελεῖτονε MOREZINOS, Klini 56.24; ἐδιηγείτονε ibid. 61.1; ἐλυπεῖτονε ibid. 63.21; ἐξηγείτονε ibid. 68.19; ἐθρηνεῖτονε ibid. 192.26; ἐφιλείτονε SPANOS, Grammar 40.16.

Sg.	3	-(ε)ιέτο(ν) † -(ε)ιέτονε † -ήγετο

The innovative ending -(ε)ιέτον exists from at least the 14th c. onwards, mainly with E-stem verbs, and is the result of analogical levelling with barytone verbs (for a discussion, see 2.1.2.2.4):

ὅπου ἀγωνεῖτον Chron. Mor. H 3478; ἐκρατεῖτον ibid. 7491 ἐκρατιέτον Assizes B 366.5 ἐσαπιέτον CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 216 ἐπουλιέτον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 436.19 ἀπ' αὐτον ἐκρυβεῖτον Synax. gyn. 212 (< κρυβοῦμαι) να πουλιέτον Kakop. 181 καὶ αὐτὸς ἀρνιέτον Vios Aisop. I 280.29 ἐπουλιέτον GERMANO, Grammar 93.26 ἀγωνιέτον RODINOS, Vios Ign. 66.18; ἐπικαλιέτον ibid. 81.24

Deletion of final /n/ with this ending does not appear to be very common: κι ὄντα κρατιέτο πλὴλ χαριτωμένος CHORTATISIS, Erof. IV.751; ἐκρατιέτο ἀπὸ μεγάλην θέρμην KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 4.38. A form in -ήγετο (see 2.1.2.2.3) occurs in Spanos's grammar: [ἐφιλή]γετο SPANOS, Grammar 40.17.

Addition of $-(v)\epsilon$ has been found in Cretan texts, but is likely to have had a wider geographical spread (see I, 2.6.3.3): εκρατιέτονε Apoll. Rim. E 312 (same in NV; εκράτιετονε in A, but before the caesura, so clearly to be read as εκρατιέτονε) ἐμουγκάλειέτονε MOREZINOS, Klini 273.19 app. crit. (K) ἐμιλιέτονε TROILOS, Rodol. I.328 ἐπουλιέτονε (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 239, 226.7)

Sg.	3	-οὔντο(v) † -ούντονε

The ending $-οὔντο(v)$, identical to the inherited 3 pl. ending (see below), though much less frequent in the singular, can be found with both A- and E-stem verbs in various literary texts from around the 16th c. onwards. It has been found in northern and southern texts and in texts of unknown provenance, with and without final /n/: οἰκέϊον πένθος ἕκαστος τὴν συμφορὰν ἡγοῦντον Achil. N 1833 ἐκοιμοῦντο GERMANO, Grammar 77.31; ἐτιμοῦντο ibid. 93.8

ὁ Ἡρώδης ἐφοβοῦντον KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 6.20

ὁποῦ δὲν τὸ θυμοῦντο οὐδέτινας Diig. Sant. 59.77

ἡ δὲ κόρη ἐθυμοῦντο [VLASTOS], Dig. P VII 376.20

Forms with an added /j/ also occur (see 2.1.2.2.4 for a discussion): ἐπουλειοῦντο GERMANO, Grammar 93.26; ἐπατιοῦντο PORTIUS, Grammar 38.11.

Addition of $-(v)\epsilon$ was found in Cretan and Chiot texts, and in Aitolos, who is likely to have been Peloponnesian (see also I, 2.6.3.3): εκείνος ἐκοιμούντονε AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 34.15

δὲν ἐφοβούντονε KORNAROS, Erot. I.1778; κὶ ἀνέγνοιος ἐκοιμούντονε ibid. II.811; πούρι ἐπαρηγορούντονε ibid. II.1230 app. crit. (A) ἤρχισεν καὶ ἄκαυχούντονε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1497; ἡ κόρη ἐκοιμούντονε ibid. 1741; καὶ τοὺς ἐπροσκαλούντονε ibid. 2572; γιὰτ' ἐφοβούντονε πολλὰ ibid. 2756

Sg.	3	-ῶντο(v)

One instance has been found of the residual 3 pl. A-stem ending $-ῶντο(v)$ used for 3 sg. by analogy with the above ending $-οὔντο(v)$: ο Βενετσάνος ἐκοιμώντων ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 6843 tit.

Sg.	3	-οὔνταν † -ούντανε † -(ε)ιούνταν(ε) † -όντανε

This ending, with its typical past-tense marker /a/ is much more common for 3 pl. than it is for 3 sg. (see below). It appears in texts from the 16th c. onwards, mainly from northern areas, though there are also some examples from the Heptanese and Cyclades. It is not usually found in Cretan texts (cf. barytone -ονταν). Forms with /o/ for /u/ are indicative of the great fluctuation that existed between these two thematic vowels in both barytone and oxytone verbs.

τὸ μοναστήρι ὅπου ἔκαλοῦνταν Σωτήρας (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 233.36–7); ἔλυποῦνταν ὁ Ἰησοῦς (ibid. 236.129–30) τὸν ἑκαταροῦνταν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §11.14–15 ἐσυλλογοῦνταν ΝΕΟΦΥΤΟΣ, Achouri 347 τὸ τραγοῦδι δεν ἐδιηγούνταν Don Kis. 89.9; ἀν ἀγαποῦνταν κάθε εὐμορφία ibid. 91.7; ἐπροσποιοῦνταν ibid. 132.11

One example has been found of a form with addition of /j/ (for a discussion see 2.1.2.2.4): (ὁ δὸν Κισότης ...) ἐβαστιοῦνταν Don Kis. 48.16.

Addition of -(ν)ε (see also I, 2.6.3.3) occurs in a Heptanesian prose text and in a versified text of northern provenance (Constantinople or the Danubian Principalities): ἐγιατρεούντανε Enr. Eleg. 3 166.25; στή βρύση ποὺ κοιμούντανε Diig. Vefa 1100; ἐπαρρακινόντανε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 53.11–12.

Sg.	3	-ότον † -(ε)ιότον

The ending -οτον is mainly Heptanesian, but much more common with barytone verbs than it is with oxytone ones. It is probably the result of an analogy with -ομουν and -οσουν: -ετον > -οτον (vowel assimilation according to MINAS 1987a: 38). The ending has not been attested without the final /n/. With an added /j/ (for which see 2.1.2.2.4), the ending appears in Sofianos's grammar: ἐχαλότον ὀλίγον κατ' ὀλίγον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.39; ἐκρατειότον SOFIANOS, Grammar 66.9.

Sg.	3	-ότου(ν) † -ότουνε † -(ε)ιότουν

This Heptanesian ending is found from the 17th c. onwards. There are some examples in Bertoldos, Bertoldinos and Kaloandros, but the ending appears to be more common with barytone verbs, with which it appears from the 15th c. onwards (see 4.3.1.2), and with εἶμαι (ἦτουν) from the 16th c. onwards (see 4.8.2). With oxytone verbs it can be found with an added /j/ (for which see 2.1.2.2.4) and with an added -(ν)ε (see I, 2.6.3.3 for details). Final /n/ is only rarely dropped.

νὰ ἐγρικότουν Bertoldos 51.16; ἐκοιμότουν ibid. 64.24–5; ἐκρεμότουν ibid. 70.10 ὅπου ἐκοιμότουνε Bertoldin. 147.29 ἐφοβότου KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.322; ἐκαυχότου ibid. III.170 ἐπαρραπονιότουν Kaloandros 404.17

Forms in -ότουνε, attested with barytone verbs (see 4.3.1.2), have not been found with oxytone verbs in the texts examined.

Sg.	3	-οὔτο(ν) ἢ -οὔτονε

Another Heptanesian ending, which occurs in texts from the 16th c. onwards, is either the result of an inversion of the vowels in -ότου(ν) or a denasalized variant of -οὔντον (see I, 3.6.2.1).⁸⁸ Final /n/ can be dropped, and addition of -(ν)ε is also a possibility (see I, 2.6.3.3):

ἐδιηγούτον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 113.35 and 275.10; ἐδιοικοῦτον μοναχό του ibid. 408.3
ἐκοιμούτον Bertoldos 56.2

ἐτρόμαξε πολλά καὶ ἐφοβοῦτο KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.222 ἐδιηγούτονε Bertoldin. 115.34; ἐπαρακινούτονε ibid. 131.33–4

Sg.	3	-όταν ἢ -ότανε

This ending, which in its form -ιόταν(ε) was to become the SMG ending for oxytone A-stem verbs, and in its form -όταν(ε) for the deponent verbs in -άμαι, has been found in Heptanesian (Kefalonian and Zakynthian) texts of the 16th c. and later; cf. barytone verbs, for which this ending is somewhat more common, and has a slightly broader geographical spread, though no examples have been found before the 17th c. (see 4.3.1.2; see also 4.8.2 for the ending -ταν with the verb εἶμαι): ἐκοιμότανε (1579, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 7, 96.14 and 96.22); ἀγρικόταν (1708, Zakynthos, SATHAS 1865: 524.31).

Sg.	3	-ᾶταν

Single instances of this rare ending, consisting of -ᾶτον with the past-tense marker /a/ substituted for /o/, have been found in Kartanos (Heptanese) and in Diig. Alex.:⁸⁹ τοὺς ἐφοβᾶταν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 377.4; ἐχλιμάταν Diig. Alex. E 119.19 (<*χλιμοῦμαι?).

Sg.	3	-ᾶντον

This ending is very rare and is likely to be a conflation of -ᾶτον and -οὔντον: αθύμει καὶ ἐλυπάντον Syndipas 111.8.

⁸⁸ The form ἀγαπούτο in the following example: ἀγαπούτο vel ἀγαπᾶτον PORTIUS, Grammar 40.26 is very likely to be a writing or printing mistake for ἀγαποῦντο: cf. the corresponding E-stem forms in the same grammar: ἐπατιοῦντο vel ἐπατειέτον ibid. 38.11; cf. also Germano, whom Portius basically copies: ἐτιμοῦντο vel ἐτιμᾶτον GERMANO, Grammar 93.8.

⁸⁹ Though these forms could simply be the result of writing or printing mistakes (e.g. Kartanos has ἐφοβᾶτον elsewhere), there appear to be three instances of this ending with λυπάμαι and κοιμάμαι in Makrygiannis's Memoirs: ὁ Τοῦρκος κοιμάταν με τὴν γυναικα του 123.20; εἶχε τὸ κεφάλι του εἰς τὰ φτερά του καὶ κοιμάταν 373.5–6; καὶ λυπάταν τοὺς ὁμογενεῖς του 459.30.

1st Person Plural

Pl.	1	-ούμεθα(ν)

The inherited ending -ούμεθα will have been the ending for 1 pl. at the beginning of the LMedG period, since no alternative endings have been found before the 14th/15th c. (cf. the identical ending for the present, 4.1.2.2). Nonetheless there are not many examples, and no examples have been found with A-stem verbs: τίποτ' οὐκ ἐφοβούμεθα Pol. Tr. 9872 app. crit. (X); ἐκρατούμεθα SOFIANOS, Grammar 66.9; ἐφιλούμεθα SPANOS, Grammar 40.16.

Addition of final /n/ is rare: τίποτε οὐκ ἐφοβούμεθαν Pol. Tr. 9872 (= ms A); καὶ πάλε εἰς τὸ ἐξηγούμεθαν ἄς ἔλθωμεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 538.23.

Pl.	1	-ούμεθεν

This ending, rather more common with the present of barytone verbs and especially with εἶμαι until the 16th c. (see 4.1.1.2 and 4.8.1), derives from -ούμεθα; the final /a/ changed to /e/ to match the endings of the other persons in the paradigm (MEYER 1889: 196), especially 2 pl. (PERNOT 1907/46: II 292). With the imperfect of oxytone verbs it has only been found in 14th-c. texts, which have come down to us in 15th–16th-c. manuscripts: κ' πλανούμεθεν ERMON., Ilias 13.245; τίποτε οὐκ ἐφοβούμεθεν Pol. Tr. 9872 app. crit. (V).

Pl.	1	-ούμεσθε(ν) † -ούμεστε(ν) † -ώμεσθεν

The ending -μεσθε(ν) is much more common for the present than for the imperfect (see 4.1.2.2 and see 4.1.1.2 for a discussion). Its phonetic variant -μεστε(ν) is the result of manner dissimilation of fricatives after sibilants (see I, 3.8.1). Sofianos's form with /o/ for /u/ (spelled <ω>) is possibly an attempt to make the form look more like an A-stem form.⁹⁰ With the imperfect this ending, with or without final /n/, has not been found before the 16th c., though that could be due to the relative scarcity of passive imperfect forms.

ἀντάμα ἐκοιμούμεσθεν ἐν τῇ νυκτὶ τῇ τρίτῃ Dig. A 2603 ἐτιμούμεσθεν GERMANO, Grammar 93.9; ἐπουλειούμεστε ibid. 93.27 δὲν ἐκοιμούμεσθεν Vios Aisop. D 231.17
 ἐκοιμούμεσθεν [VLASTOS], Dig. P VI 369.34–5 ἐλυπούμεστε Diig. Sant. 58.47 ἐγελώμεσθεν SOFIANOS, Grammar 69.2

Pl.	1	-ούμεστα(ν) † -ούμεσθα(ν) † -όμεστα(ν) † -(ε) ιόμεσθα(ν)

The ending -μεστα(ν) and its more formal variant -μεσθα(ν), much more common with εἶμαι (see 4.8.2), has not been found with oxytone verbs before the 15th/16th c. For a ⁹⁰ In the same way that he spells his “optatives” with <οι>, e.g. ἄμποτε νὰ γελάσοις, νὰ γελάσοι SOFIANOS, Grammar 65.2.

discussion see 4.1.1.2. It appears, sporadically, in texts from different areas (Crete, Cyprus, Santorini, Heptanese):

ἐφοβούμεσταν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 552.41 and Chron. R 389.43

ἐδιηγούμεσταν MOREZINOS, Klini 64.17 ἄν τῶς ἐλυπόμεστα (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 81.100) ἐσυγχωρούμεσταν ἀλλήλοις Diig. Sant. 57.5–6

With addition of /j/ and /o/ for /u/ this ending has only been found in Sofianos's grammar, in the E-stem paradigm: ἄμποτε νὰ κρατειόμεσθα SOFIANOS, Grammar 67.16–17.

Pl.	1	-ούμασθε(ν) † -ούμαστε(ν)

This ending, which in its form -(ι)όμαστε was to become the standard ending for the 1 pl. passive imperfect of all oxytone verbs in Triandafyllidis's 1941 Grammar of Demotic Greek, appears in a 17th-c. document and in Kanellos Spanos's grammar (18th c.) (see 4.1.1.2 for a discussion): δὲν ἐκοιμούμασταν (1650, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: (2), p. 28.14); ἐφιλούμασθε SPANOS, Grammar 40.16.

Pl.	1	-ηγόμασθε

A form in -ηγόμασθε occurs in the grammar of Spanos (see 2.1.2.2.3): [ἐφιλη]γόμασθε SPANOS, Grammar 40.17.

Pl.	1	(-ούμασθα(ν)) † -ούμαστα(ν)

This ending, which in its dissimilated forms -ούμασταν and -(ι)όμασταν would eventually prevail as the most common SMG ending, has not been found before the 17th c.: ἐκοιμούμασταν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 28.13.

2nd Person Plural

Pl.	2	-ᾶσθε(ν) † -ᾶστε(ν) † -εῖσθε(ν) † -εῖστε(ν)

The inherited A-stem ending -ᾶσθε(ν)/-ᾶστε(ν) and its E-stem counterpart -εῖσθε/-εῖστε(ν) will have been the normal endings in the LMedG period, since no alternative formations have been found before the 16th c. However, since 2 pl. forms, especially of the imperfect, only appear in specific contexts and are therefore quite rare, very few examples have been found in texts other than grammars.

ἐγελᾶσθεν SOFIANOS, Grammar 69.2

ᾶρά γε ἐκοιμᾶστε Vios Aisop. K 185.1

ἐτιμᾶστε GERMANO, Grammar 93.9

ἐφιλεῖσθε SPANOS, Grammar 40.1; ἀγαπᾶσθε ibid. 40.28

Pl.	2	-(ε)ιέσθε † -(ε)ιέστε

This ending is the result of analogical levelling that manifested itself in more than one paradigm within oxytone verbs; for a discussion, see 2.1.2.2.4. The fact that this ending is given by Sofianos suggests that it was well established by the 16th c., but given the scarcity of 2 pl. endings in general, and especially of the imperfect, it is impossible to establish how long before the 16th c. this ending came into being. In the grammars, this ending is only given for E-stem verbs: ἐκρᾱτειέσθε SOFIANOS, Grammar 66.9–10; ἐπουλειέσθε GERMANO, Grammar 93.27; ἐπατιέσθε PORTIUS, Grammar 38.13.

Pl.	2	-οὔσθε ἰ -οὔσθε ἰ -(ε)ιοὔσθε ἰ -(ε)ιοὔσθε

This Chiot ending is recorded in Germano's grammar (17th c.) (and in that of Portius, who largely copies Germano). Unlike for the identical present ending (see 4.1.2.2), no examples have been found with addition of final /n/ or of -(v)ε (for which see I, 2.6.3.3); two of the examples have addition of /j/ after the stem consonant (for which see 2.1.2.2.4): ἐτιμοῦσθε GERMANO, Grammar 93.9; ἐπουλειούσθε ibid. 93.27; ἐπατιοῦσθε PORTIUS, Grammar 38.13.

Pl.	2	-οὔσασθε

These endings, which in its dissimilated form -(ι)όσασθε is the only ending given by Triandafyllidis in his 1941 grammar of demotic Greek, has only been found in the 1749 grammar of Kanellos Spanos, who was a Peloponnesian:⁹¹ ἐφιλούσασθε SPANOS, Grammar 39.22 (erroneously presented as an active form).

Pl.	2	-ήγεσθε ἰ -ηγόσασθε

These rare endings, consisting of an imperfect marker /iγ/ (see also 2.1.2.2.3) and the endings -εσθε and -οὔσασθε (with substitution of /o/ for /u/), are mentioned as alternative E-stem endings for the imperfect in the 18th-c. grammar of Kanellos Spanos: [ἐφιλή] γεσθε-γόσασθε SPANOS, Grammar 40.17–18.

3rd Person Plural

Pl.	3	-οὔντο(ν)

The inherited E-stem ending -οὔντο(ν), for which alternative endings start to appear from at least the 14th c. onwards (see below), can be found in texts from various areas throughout the period covered by this Grammar (for the identical 3 sg. ending see above):

ἐθεωροῦντο ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 3 170.10

ἐφοβοῦντο γὰρ τὸν Ἀχιλλέα πάντες Hist. Imp. I 1826–7

⁹¹ An imperative with the MG ending can be found in the late 18th-c. Zakynthian comedy O Chasis: ἐλα φιλιόσαστε γιάμá Gouzelis, O Chasis III.396 (ed. Synodinos).

κ' ευχαριστούντον ὅλοι Theseid VI, Prol. 12 (Olsen) ἐφοβοῦντον τὸν πρίντζην MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 550.32 ὁποῦ ἐκρατοῦντο KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 4.24 ἐκλαϊαν καὶ λυποῦντο IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3483; καὶ ἐχαιρετοῦντον ibid. 6431 tit.
 ὁποῦ δὲν τὸ θυμοῦντο οὐδέτινας Diig. Sant. 59.77 ἐφιλοῦντο SPANOS, Grammar 40.17

Pl.	3	-ῶντο(ν) -ώντονε/-όντονε -(ε)ιῶντο(ν)

The residual A-stem ending -ῶντο(ν) had been replaced by -οῦντο(ν) before the LMedG period (see the introduction to Chapter 2). Nevertheless an ending /'ondo/ is sometimes used, and not only in mixed-register texts. The fact that this ending can occasionally even be found with modern features such as addition of /j/ (e.g. ἐγλυκοφιλιῶντο), an added suffix -(ν)ε (ἐκοιμόντονε) or omission of the augment (καυχώντονε) points to a new formation based on -οῦντο(ν) in which the influence of the widespread interchangeability of /o/ and /u/ as thematic vowels is evident (cf. e.g. -(ι)οῦνταν and -(ι)όνταν below). The choice for “etymologizing” <ω> versus “modernizing” <ο> is simply a matter of spelling.

ὡς πρώην ἐκαυχῶντο Dig. G VI.231, Dig. T 2160 and Dig. A 3158 τὴν μέρα ἣν ἐγεννήθησαν πάντες ἐκατηρῶντο Pol. Tr. 7308 (mss AV); ἐκατηρῶντον ibid. 7308 app. crit. (B) τὰ ὄρη ἐσκιρτῶντο Velth. 1302; ἐκοιμῶντον ibid. 1054 ἐκοιμόντονε DIAGR., Diig. Pol. 213; κ' οἱ ἀσεβεῖς καυχῶντονε ibid. 1114 ἐκεῖ κοιμῶντο μέσα IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 724; ἐκουβανιώντον ibid. 1726; ἐγλυκοφιλιῶντο ibid. 3245; ἐφιλιῶντον ibid. 6431 tit.; ἐκαυχῶντο ὅτι νὰ πάρουν Ζάκυνθον ibid. 7269 tit.
 εὐχαριστῶντο νὰ κυριεύουν Ist. Enet. 418.19; ἐφοβῶντο νὰ βλάψουν τὸν Τούρκον ibid. 418.33

Pl.	3	-οῦντα(ν) -ούντανε -ούτα -(ε)ιοῦντα(ν)

The ending -οῦνταν is formed from the inherited ending -οῦντον, with substitution of the “past time” marker /a/ for /o/ in the last syllable. It appears from at least the 14th c. onwards in texts from all areas, with both E- and A-stem verbs:

E-stem

τίποτα οὐκ ἐφοβοῦνταν Pol. Tr. 2906; ἐπιμελοῦνταν ibid. 9051 ἐπαρηγοροῦνταν Liv. V 3702 μεγάλλως ἐλυποῦνταν Chron. Toc. 1195; ἐφοβοῦνταν ibid. 1284; ὁποῦ τοὺς ἐθυμοῦνταν ibid. 3211 ἐφιλοτιμοῦνταν Velis. χ 210; οὐκ ἐπληροφοροῦνταν ibid. 488 ἐνεφροκοποῦνταν Achil. N 1406 ὥσπερ νὰ ἐκινούνταν Velth. 347
 τ' ἄλλα | ὁποῦ 'δηγοῦνταν ὁγ' αὐτὸν FALIEROS, Thrinos 271–2 ἐφοβοῦνταν μὲν πέψη χαρτῖα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 58.5; ἀθυμοῦνταν id., Chron. O 24.18 ἄρχισαν καὶ ἐδιηγοῦνταν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 403.6
 τὸ μοναστήρι ὁποῦ ἐκαλοῦνταν Σωτήρας (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 233.36–7) ἐφοβοῦνταν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 599 ἐγλυκοφιλοῦνταν [VLASTOS], Dig. P III 340.13–14; ἐκαταπατοῦνταν ibid. VII 392.1

 ὅλοι ἐκεῖνοι ὅπου ἐναντιοῦνταν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 13.17 [< O] δὲν τὸν ἐφοβοῦνταν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §15.40 ὅσοι τοῦ ἐναντιοῦνταν Alex. Fyll. 41.23–4 [< O]; ἐκτυποῦνταν ibid. 103.25

A-stem

οἱ δύο ὅπου ἡγαποῦνταν Pol. Tr. 713 ἐκοιμοῦνταν Achil. O 603 ἀγαποῦνταν MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 70.21 ἀσκηώθησαν ἀπάνω συχυσμένοι, διότι ἐκοιμοῦνταν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 332.13 ἐτιμοῦνταν GERMANO, Grammar 93.9 ὅλον ἕνα τὸν ἐκαταροῦνταν PAPASYNAD. Chron. I §11.14–15 ἐκουφαγοικοῦνταν ὡσὰν σπηληῆς IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 333.31

Addition of /j/ (see 2.1.2.2.4 for a discussion) occurs in various EMG texts (see also the examples with addition of -(ν)ε, below):

ἐπουλειοῦνταν GERMANO, Grammar 93.27 τὸν ἐπικαλιοῦνταν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 121.14 ἐκαυχιοῦνταν PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §22.34 ὅσοι τοῦ ἐναντιοῦνταν Alex. Fyll. 41.23–4 [< O] ἐγελιοῦνταν Don Kis. 312.2–3

Deletion of final /n/ is not uncommon in texts from southern areas, including Cyprus:

ἐβρυχοῦντα Dig. E 33
 οὐκ ἐπληροφοροῦντα Velis. χ 488 app. crit. (V) τὴν μάχην ἐφοβοῦντα Achil. L 361 and Achil. N 361 ὅταν ἐγεννοῦντα Spanos B 1 ν' ἀγρικοῦντα Cypr. Canz. 23.2; ἐλυποῦντα ibid. 32.3 ἀνακαλλιοῦντα τον καὶ ἐλαλούσασιν Fior 91.19; ἀγαποῦντα ibid. 93.23 μὰ ἐλυποῦντα τονε ὅλοι MOREZINOS, Klini 273.36–7 ἐχαλοῦντα καὶ τὰ γρόσια Diig. Sant. 59.92–3 ὅπου καυχοῦντα οἱ Χριστιανοὶ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 572.1

Addition of -(ν)ε (see I, 2.6.3.3) was encountered in Cretan, Heptanesian and Chiot texts from the 16th c. onwards:

ἐκαυχοῦντανε ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 143 ἐθρηνοῦντανε MOREZINOS, Klini 58.6; ἐδειλοσκοποῦντανε ibid. 70.20; οἱ ἄλλες τὴν εὐλαβοῦντανε ibid. 220.7
 σ' ἐφοβοῦντανε CHORTATIS, Katz. III.476 ἐπικαλιοῦντανε P&N Diath. 1587; ἐλυποῦντανε ibid. 2354 ἐκεῖνοι ὅπ' ἀγαπιοῦντανε KORNAROS, Erot. I.1112 εὐκαριστιοῦντανε FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 61 εφοβοῦντανε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2833; ενικοῦντανε ibid. 10224 ὅπου ἐκουβαλιοῦντανε Τοῦρκοὶ ἀπὸ τὸ Μορέα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 492.21 γιὰτὶ ὅλ' ἐκοιμοῦντανε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1769 καὶ σ' ἐφοβοῦντανε οἱ ὄχθροὶ Zinon Prol. 55

Endings with <τ> for <ντ> are phonetic rather than morphological variants, representing a graphematic realization of nasal deletion before stops, whereby /nd/ becomes /d/. Examples have been found in Cycladic texts (for details see I, 3.6.2.1): οἱ κληρικοὶ οἱ ρομέοι ἐκυβερνοῦτα (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.3); ἐκοιμοῦτα (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 518, 744.7).

Pl.	3	-όνταν/-ώνταν -ώντανε/-όντανε -(ε)ιόντα(ν) -(ε)ιότανε

With /o/ for /u/ this ending has been found in texts from south-western regions (see also examples below with an added /j/ and deletion of final /n/) and occurs in various EMG texts, from north to south, but has not been found before the 15th c. (ms date of the War of Troy):

ἐπιμελῶνταν Pol. Tr. 9051 app. crit. (C) ἐγενῶνταν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 415.38 ἐκλαιγαν καὶ λυπόνταν BERGADIS, Apok. V 403 app. crit. ἐγελῶνταν SOFIANOS, Grammar 69.3

Addition of /j/ before the ending (see 2.1.2.2.4 for a discussion) may also occur:

ἄμποτε νᾶκρατειόνταν SOFIANOS, Grammar 67.16 ἀγκαλιόνταν (1554, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 157, 206.6–7) (< ἐγκαλῶ) συναπαντιόνταν DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 325; ἐκτυπιόνταν ibid. 326

Deletion of final /n/ is much less common here than with -οῦνταν: γλυκεῖα ἐκαταφιλῶντα Pol. Tr. 524 app. crit. (V); ἐπιμελῶντα ibid. 9051 app. crit. (B).

Addition of -(ν)ε has been found from at least the 17th c. onwards (the dating of Evr. Eleg. is insecure). The appearance of the ending in Ioakeim Kyprios does not necessarily mean the ending also occurs in Cypriot texts, as his language is morphologically mixed:

ἐγρικόντανε Evr. Eleg. 3 166.20 καυχῶντανε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 7403 κυλιόντανε DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 276 ἐκρατώντανε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 53.20 ἄλλοι τὸν ἐλυπόντανε, ἄλλοι τὸν ἐκαταριόντανε PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 116.19–20

Endings with <τ> for <ντ> are phonetic variants, which represent a graphematic realization of nasal deletion before stops, whereby /nd/ becomes /d/ (see I, 3.6.2.1). An example has been found in a text from Zakynthos: ἀφορμές ὅπου ἐδιαμετριότανε εἰς σὲ ἐναντίο τους SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 37.18–19.

Pl.	3	-ούντησαν

This ending occurs from the 14th c. onwards, especially in texts certain or very likely to originate from the Peloponnese and the Heptanese, but also in texts from other areas (cf. barytone verbs, 4.3.1.2): in a work by Limenitis (Rhodes) and in a poem by Bertos, transmitted in a part of a manuscript that is likely to have been copied in Rhodes. IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali is the only “Cypriot” text to use this ending, but Ioakeim’s text exhibits great morphological variety, not always necessarily Cypriot. For a discussion of this ending, see 4.3.1.2.

οὕτως γὰρ ἡγαπούνησαν Chron. Mor. H 3475; τὸ πῶς οἰκονομοῦνησαν ibid. 3548 ἐπαρηγοροῦνησαν Pol. Tr. 5333; ἡγαπούνησαν ibid. 12816 ἐκοιμούντησαν BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 151 ἐφοβούντησαν Theseid I.79,6 (Follieri) ἐφιλούνησαν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 88.20; ἐξεμολογούντησαν ibid. 88.25 ἂν ἐζητούντησαν MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 323.12

Pl.	3	-όντησαν ἢ -(ε)ιόντησαν

Forms with /o/ for /u/ appear in the 16th c. (ms date of Pol. Tr.). The “etymologizing” spelling with <ω> for A-stem verbs is, of course, entirely graphematic:

ολόγυμνοι ἐκοιμόνησαν Pol. Tr. 524 app. crit. (V) ἐκοιμόνησαν Theseid I.20,5 (Follieri) ἐφοβόνησαν LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 643 ἐκτυπόντησαν Diig. Alex. E 247.19 (Lolos) ἐκοιμώντησαν Bertoldin. 113.30; ἐθυμόνησαν ibid. 155.15 τούτοι σαν ἐκοιμόνησαν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2291; αὐτό που ἐφοβόνησαν ibid. 8637

Addition of /j/ between the stem consonant and the ending (see 2.1.2.2.4) occurs in several texts from at least the 15th c. (date of earliest mss of Pol. Tr.): ἐκρατιόντησαν Pol. Tr. 747 and 9259; ἄρνιόντησαν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 86.27; ἐκεῖ που ἐφιλιόντησαν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 829; ἐκεῖ που ἐβαριόντησαν ibid. 3616.

Pl.	3	-ήγουνταν ἢ -ηγόντησαν

These rare endings (see 2.1.2.2.3) occur in Spanos's grammar: ἐφιλήγουνταν καὶ ἐφιληγόντησαν SPANOS, Grammar 40.18

Pl.	3	-ούντασι(ν) ἢ -όντασι(ν)/-ώντασι(ν)

The rare 3 pl. endings -ούντασι(ν) and -όντασι(ν) are based on -ούνταν/-όνταν (see above), with the active alternative “past” ending -ασι substituted for -αν (cf. the active voice, 4.3.2.1). The spelling of /ondasin/ with <ω> for A-stem verbs (ἐκαυχώντασιν) is graphematic. It occurs in texts from the western mainland (Galaxeidi; and Glykys was probably from Koroni in the Peloponnese; ms B of the Tale of Alexander and Semiramis was possibly copied in Meteora, Thessaly)⁹² and in texts of unknown provenance (Dig. A; ms P of Ptochoprodromos). The earliest attestation dates to the middle of the 15th c. (ms P of Ptoch. IV):

⁹² See MOENNIG 2004: 10–11.

ἄς ἐπουλύντασιν Ptoch. IV 248.38 app. crit. (P) ἔστενοχωρούντασιν GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 299 ἐκαυχούντασιν Dig. A 4654 app. crit.

ἐκαταρώντασιν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 563 ἐφοβόντασι EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 61.19

The MG ending -όντουσαν (cf. PANDELIDIS 2005) has not been found in the texts examined (cf. barytone verbs, 4.3.1.2).

4.4 The Aorist Indicative

The sigmatic aorist indicative is arguably one of the most stable paradigms throughout the history of the Greek language, with relatively few modifications over the centuries and limited variation compared to other tenses. By the beginning of the LMedG period a common set of past-tense endings, combining elements from the aorist, the imperfect and the perfect, was already firmly in place for the active voice: -α, -ες, -ε(ν), -αμε(ν), -ετε (/ -ατε, see below), -αν/-ασι(ν) (HORROCKS ²2010: 318–19). To form the aorist indicative of barytone and oxytone verbs these endings are added to the perfective stem (for which see 2.2). Not only had verbs with the sigmatic aorist and liquid/nasal-stem verbs (the so-called first aorist) acquired this common set of past-tense endings, but from Hellenistic times onwards the thematic (or second) aorist of verbs such as βλέπω, ἔρχομαι, εὐρίσκω, λέγω, πίνω, φεύγω, which had originally formed with the endings of the imperfect (-ον, -ες, -ε, -ομεν, -ετε, -ον), began to adopt these endings more and more (GIGNAC 1981: 335–6; HORROCKS ²2010: 180–1; for extensive older bibliography on the subject see PSALTES 1913: 211).⁹³ Some verbs may form an alternative /k/ aorist (e.g. δίδω, ἀφίημι and others, see 2.2.1.10). These verbs, too, make use of the endings of the sigmatic aorist.

The passive voice is formed by adding the aorist passive endings to the passive perfective stem (for which see 2.2). The inherited set of passive endings, -ην, -ης, -η(ν), -ημεν, -ητε, -ησαν, remains in partial use throughout the period covered by this Grammar. Even when the more transparent, innovative set of endings -ηκα, -ηκες, -ηκε(ν), -ήκαμε, -ήκετε, -ηκαν/-ήκασι(ν) becomes acceptable for use in written texts, the old endings, or at least those for 2 sg., 3sg., 1 pl. and 3 pl., continue to be used.⁹⁴

The innovative set of passive endings with its characteristic <κ> starts to appear in writing from the 13th c. onwards, beginning with 1 sg. and then gradually spreading to other persons. They are likely to have been adopted in the passive paradigm by analogy with the aorist indicative (athematic aorist) of βαίνω, with which they shared their inherited endings: ἔβην > ἔβηκα : ἐγράφην > ἐγράφηκα (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 548–9). Forms with -ηκ- of βαίνω can already be found in the 8th/9th c. (see 2.2.1.10.1), and also occur in early texts that do not use the κ-forms for the passive, such as Glykas and *Digenis G.*⁹⁵ The spread of /k/ to the aorist passive indicative is likely to have been helped by the fact that the morpheme /k/ had become a marker for the aorist (mainly indicative) with other verbs as well (BABINIOTIS 1972: 217–19; see also 2.2.1.10). The use of the inherited forms does not limit itself to verse texts, in which the different stress patterns of ἐγράφην (e.g. verse end) and ἐγράφηκα (e.g. before the caesura) are convenient (e.g. πέντε φορὰς ἀνέβηκε καὶ πάλιν ἐκατέβη Velth. 1144), but also continues in prose texts and documents, where we find them even with italianate and new verbs such as ἀφιδάρω, ντελιβράρω, ὀμπλιγάρω and κουζουλαίνω. The fact that the cluster /st/ in the perfective passive stem of these verbs (see 2.2.1) is usually written in its dissimilated form <στ> and not the more formal <σθ> indicates that the use of the old endings is not a matter of archaism, e.g. οἱ ὁποῖες ἐστιμαρίστησαν οἱ τέσσερεις (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 174, 175.23); ἐμπλιγαρίστη ὁ κυρ-Ἀντώνης (1572, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 17, 71.16–17); ἐπουπλικαρίστη εἰς τὸ φόρος τῆς Σητείας (1601, Crete, ΣΙΑΚΟΤΟΣ 2006: 1, 190.11–12).

⁹³ E.g. of εὐρίσκω: εὐραμεν for εὔρομεν in the Septuagint and the New Testament, Hero (1st c. AD), Vettius Valens (2nd c.) and Basil of Caesarea (4th c.); εὔραν for εὔρον in the Septuagint, Oecumenius (3rd–4th c.), Kosmas Indikopleustes (6th c.); εὔρατε Vita Aesop. G (1st. c.?): John Chrysostom (4th–5th c.); ηὔρα in Nikon, Ptoch., Achil. N., etc.; ηὔραμεν in Ps.-Herodianus, Vita Aesop. G, Epiphanius (4th–5th c.), John Chrysostom etc.; ηὔραν in John Chrysostom, Antiochos Monachos (7th c.) etc.; ηὔρατε Melito Apologetes (2nd c.) (data from the online TLG).

⁹⁴ In his grammar Girolamo Germano, whose observations on the language are always accurate, clearly states that the Greeks “say [both forms]” only for 2 sg., 3 sg., 1 pl. and 3 pl.: “dicono ἐγράφηκες, & ἐγράφης ... ἐγράφηκεν, & ἐγράφην ... ἐγραφήκαμεν, & ἐγράφημεν ... ἐγραφήκαμεν, & ἐγράφησαν GERMANO, Grammar 80.15–19.

Athematic aorists will be discussed in the section on the passive voice (4.4.2), because they share their endings with the passive rather than the active paradigm (e.g. ἔβην, ἔβηκα), although ultimately here, too, use is made of the common past-tense endings -α, -ες, -ε, etc. The distinction between middle and passive aorist endings had begun to disappear in Hellenistic times and the endings of the middle aorist increasingly came to be replaced by those of the passive (BLASS et al. 1961: 42–3). For residual middle forms that are still used in texts of the LMedG and EMG periods, especially of certain verbs (such as ἀρχομαι, γίνομαι), see 4.9.1. For forms of the barytone verb τρώ(γ)ω in which deletion of the vowel of the ending occurs (e.g. ἔφας < ἔφαες) see 2.2.2.3.

4.4.1 Active Voice

4.4.1.1 Barytone and Oxytone Verbs

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	1	ἔγραψα	ἐγράψα	ἔγραψαν
	2	ἔγραψες	ἐγράψες	ἔγραψας

⁹⁵ The κ-forms can be found in all regions, with the exception of Pontic-speaking areas. In the scarce material from these areas no κ-forms have been found for the passive or for βαίνω (see also ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1958: 283–4). For the use of the κ-forms in the modern dialects, see NEWTON 1973: 226–7.

		General	Restricted	Rare
			ἔγραψις
	3	ἔγραψε(ν)	ἔγράψε(ν) ἔγραψενε ἔγραψι(ν)
Pl.	1	ἔγράψαμε(ν)	ἔγράψαμενε ἔγραψάμεν ἔγραψάμι ἔγράψαμαν	ἔγράψεμεν
	2	ἔγράψετε ἔγράπατε	ἔγράψετεν(ε) ἔγραψέτε ἔγράψιτε	ἔγράψεταν
	3	ἔγραψαν ἔγράψανε ἔγράψασι(ν)	ἔγράψα(ν) ἔγράψασινε	ἔγράψασαν

This synoptic table covers the aorist active indicative of all verbs, both those that have a sigmatic (e.g. γράφω > /graps/, γρικῶ > /grikis/) or liquid/nasal perfective stem (e.g. κρίνω > /krin/) (first aorist), and thematic (or second) aorists that have adopted the past-tense endings of the sigmatic paradigm (e.g. εἶπα, εἶδα, ἦλθα, ἔλαβα, ἔπεσα). It also covers aorists formed from alternative perfective stems in /k/ such as ἔδωκα, ἔθηκα, ἀφῆκα/ἄφηκα, ἐποίησα/ἔποικα, for which see also 2.2.1.10, as well as those of irregular verbs, given that the irregularity is usually in the formation of the perfective stem, not in the endings employed (see also 2.4).

Forms of the aorist active indicative are proparoxytone in principle, though sometimes the stress may shift to the penultimate, whereas in other cases forms may carry the stress on the fourth syllable from the end when a suffix is added to the verb form. Thematic aorists simply adopted the common set of past-tense endings whilst keeping their old stem, which means many of them have disyllabic forms (e.g. εἶδα, ἦλθα). Paroxytone forms can also be found of verbs with one-syllable stems and a prepositional prefix (e.g. ἐπῆρα < ἐπαίρω, ἀφῆκα < ἀφίημι), though these forms may develop a proparoxytone variant by analogy with the majority of verbs (e.g. ἄφηκα).

For the presence/absence of the augment, see the introduction to Chapter 3.

Distribution of Allomorphs

1st Person Singular

Sg.	1	-α ἢ -αν

The ending -α is the normal ending for the 1st person singular before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar, as the following examples from various areas show:

- τὸ οἰκοδόμησα (1138?, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 14, 102.10) καθὼς καὶ προεῖπα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 208.15; διὰ τοῦτο τὰ ἔβαλα id., Logos 9 310.29; ἤμαρτα id., Logos 11 340.18 (for ἡμαρτον) ἀκρόστιχον οὐκ ἔφαγα GLYKAS, Stichoi 546 ἐγόρασα (1260, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 18, 8.1) ἔλαβα μνήστρα (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 17.54–5) ἀπῆρα τὸ κλειδὶν Ptoch. I 216 κ' ἐπίασα τὸ βιβλίον Chron. Mor. H 7638 ὑπόγραψα (1458, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 3 [Γ'], 26.22) ἔνεγκα αὐτὸν καυχώμενος DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 597 app. crit. (< φέρω) ἐπαράκάλησα Fior 77.3 ἀκούω, ἤκουσα SOFIANOS, Grammar 48.2
 τὸ ἀμπέλι ... ποῦ ... ἐδεκρετάρισα εἰς τὸ ὄνομά της (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 56.11–12) ἐκράτηξα ἀπὸ 'κεῖνα ἀπὸ ἡταξα (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 50.89) ἐσπούδαξα PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §7.3
 δὲν τὲς ἡῦρα (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 10, 306, f.1r.12)

Addition of final /n/ has been found sporadically. The forms, if they are not simple scribal errors, may represent a form of hypercorrection, since at least Cretan tends to drop final /n/ where other varieties of the language do not (see I, 3.7.2 for details):

- ἀφιέρωσιν τὴν ἐγὼ ἠφιέρωσαν εἰς ... (1108, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 17, 218.86) ἐγὼ τὴν βασιλείαν ἔχασαν καὶ τὰ πλούτη DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 603 app. crit. ὡσὰν σοῦ τὸ 'γραψαν μὲ ἄλλα μου χαρτία (1501, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 5, 27.20–1); ἐγὼ ἐμίσεψαν ἀπὸ 'κεῖ (ibid. 27.27) ἐγὼ ὁ κοντόσταβλος Μεταξάδων ἔλαβαν ἕναν ὀρισμὸν (1570, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 1999: 33, 398.9)

A shift of the stress to the penultimate occurs mainly in verse texts, to accommodate the metre:

- τὸ πῶς τὸ ἐκαταλέξα Chron. Mor. H 7035 ὡσὰν ἐδῶσα τὸ ἱππάριν τῆς τὴν ὕστεραν ραβδέαν Dig. E 1588 app. crit. ξυλίες τοὺς ἐδῶκα Achil. O 598 ἐγρικῆσα τον ὀρισμὸν VOUSTR., Chron. A 54.19 (same in B 55.19 and M 55.19); δὲν του ανοίξα id., Chron. B 267.2 and M 267.1⁹⁶ ἴτσου νὰ μπόρουν εἰς χαρτὶν νὰ γράψα Cypr. Canz. 23.1 ἐτάξα του καὶ χάρη Alex. Rim. 2117 ἐκείνο το σ' ἐδῶκα Kakop. 104

⁹⁶ This stress pattern is more common in Voustronios's Chron. A and B than in M, which is more reliable for accentuation (KECHAYOGLOU 1997: 75*–6*, 87*–8* and 105*), but cf. 3 pl., where the phenomenon shows a higher degree of systematicity.

2nd Person Singular

Sg.	2	-ες ἰ -ις

By the beginning of the LMedG period -ες is the normal ending for 2 sg., as the following examples sufficiently illustrate:

καθώς μας ἔγραψες ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.6; ἐζήτησες id., Logos 9 310.6
 τὸ ὅπερ ἀγόρασες σὺ (1157–8, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 19, 158.15) ἡρέμισες, ἡκόμπησες GLYKAS, Stichoi 165; ἀνάτειλες ibid. 200 ἡ ἦκουσες το; (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 59.148)
 σὰν ἐπροέγραψές μας (1490, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 22, 109.13) ὅπου ἐπέστειλες (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 21.14) ἔγραψες νὰ ποίση ἀγάπην ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 212.3; δὲν ἔπεψες ibid. 280.14 καὶ σὺ τὴν στράταν ἔφηκες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 451 εἰς τὸ γάλα τῆς μάνας σου οποῦ ἐβύζασες Diig. Alex. K 365.33–4 ἀμὴ ἐσὺ μὲ ἀνάστησες ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 344.19 τὸ ἐζήτηξες CHORTATSI, Panor. I.194; καὶ μὴ ἴντα μὴ ἐπερίχυσες id., Katz. III.467 ποῦ ἔπιες τὸ νερόν Dimotika Ivir. VIII.4 ἐλευθέρωσες (1613, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 3, 310.13) τὸ ἐξεφόρτωσες LANDOS, Geopon. 145.18 καὶ εὐεργέτησές τους ΝΕΟΦΥΤΟΣ, Achouri 181

A shift of the stress to the penultimate has been found in the chronicles of Machairas and Voustronios.⁹⁷ In Machairas the proparoxytone forms are followed by a clitic pronoun:⁹⁸ καὶ σοῦ ἐδέρεις με ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 208.2;⁹⁹ ἐφυλακίσες με ibid. 446.2; καὶ ἡχαρίσεις τοὺς τὴν Τριμιθείαν ibid. 562.33; ἐγρικῆσες πῶς ἐμήνυσεν ὁ καπετάνος VOUSTR., Chron.
 A 96.1; ἐπέψες τὸν ἀδελφόν μου ibid. 136.12–13.

Forms with /i/ instead of /e/ are phonetic rather than morphological variants, bearing witness to mid-vowel raising, for which see I, 2.5.4: τὸ μοιράδι ἀπὸ ἔγραψις στὰ τιφτέργ<ι>α σου (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.45v.29–30); πλεότιρο χρέο ἱπῆρις (ibid. f.45v.31–2) (= ἐπῆρες).

Sg.	2	-ας

The residual ending -ας is not very common, occurring mainly in mixed-register texts:

πῶς δὲ παρ' ὥραν ἔδυνας καὶ ἔσβεσας τὸ φῶς μας Dig. G I.238 πῶς ἡπλωσας ἐπάνω μου Ptoch. I 145

⁹⁷ These forms appear only in ms A, which is not entirely reliable accentuation-wise (KECHAYOGLU 1997: 75*–6*).

⁹⁸ But forms with dual stress can also be found: ἐξαπόλυσές μας ibid. 454.4–5; ἐπεθύμησές με νὰ σ' ἔχω καὶ ἡμήνυσές μου ibid. 574.14–15.

⁹⁹ In Cypriot the perfective stem of δέρ(ν)ω is δερ-, not δειρ-. Cf. εἷς Φράνκος ... ἐνκαλὲ εἰς τὴν αὐλὴν ἁ' Συριάνον ὁποῦ τὸν ἔδερεν Assizes B 480.14–15.

τί πόλεμον ὑπόμεινας Pol. Tr. 3157 (reading of A) ἐπόμεινας (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.8) ἔμεινας ὄνειδος καὶ κατάρρα PETRITSIS, Dig. O 611

3rd Person Singular

Sg.	3	-ε(ν) ἰ -ενε ἰ -ι(ν)

The ending -ε(ν) is the only 3 sg. ending before, during and after the period covered by this Grammar, as a few examples will suffice to illustrate:¹⁰⁰ ἀγόρασεν (1042, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 3, 46.20) ἐλάλησέν με ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31 810.27; τὸν διάκονον συνεπάθησε ibid. 824.2 ἐζήτηξεν Jonas 217.109 ἐχάωσεν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 67.79) ἐξέδωκεν ἑαυτὸν (1360, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 236, 362.20–1) ἐπιλόγιασε Dig. E 201 ἠδειλίασεν Achil. N 1580

 παρεκάθισε τὴν πόλιν (15th–16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.III, 252.53.2) ἐπίασέν τον ζωντανὸν Diig. Alex. F 136.9 (Lolos) μᾶς ἐπρόσταξε (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.9) τὰ κράτηξε (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 214.30) ἐπόθανεν (1573, Famagusta, CONSTANTINIDES 1988: 172, f.145v.20–1) ἐπίασέ τον και λέγει τον KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 14.31
 μὰ σὰν ἐμίσεψε ἀπὸ κεῖ KORNAROS, Erot. III.13

Addition of -(ν)ε to the proparoxytone verb form, often without a shift of the stress or a second accent, resulting in forms that are stressed on the fourth syllable from the end, can be found in literary and non-literary texts from Chios and certain Cycladic and Heptanesian islands. It has also been found in verse texts from Cyprus, in which it is likely to be a versificatory device as Cypriot does not normally display the phenomenon (for more information see also I, 2.6.3.3):

εἶδενε GERMANO, Grammar 50.6
 ἦρθενε ἀπὸ τὴν Κασσάντρεια (1640, Andros, POLEMIS 1999b: 11, 35.2) ἐπαράδωσενέ τονε (1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 190, 161.11)¹⁰¹ ἡ θάλασσα ἔφυγενε (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), p. 28.7–8) καὶ Ἀμηρᾶς τῶν εἶπενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 479; σὰν εἶδενε ὁ Ἀμηρᾶς ibid. 795; (αἰχμαλωσίης ...) ἦκαμενε ἀμέτρητες ibid. 1162 app. crit.; δὲν ἠβαλένε ibid. 1708 μοῦ ἔκαμενε (1686, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 647, 889.3–4) τῶν τὸ ἠφικενε (1688, Andros, PASCHALIS 1948: 44.5); ἔδωκενε (ibid. 44.9); εἶδενε (ibid. 44.13) ἔχασενε ἀπὸ μένα (1694, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 10, 24.9) ἐβγάλενε τοὺς ὀρισμούς ἔξω KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 227; ὁποῦ ῥτενε ibid. 398 ¹⁰⁰Two instances of 3 sg. aorist indicative in -α in 17th-c. Chiot theatrical plays are rhyme-induced. It is highly unlikely that such forms ever actually existed for 3 sg.: ὁ Ἀσρῶν τὰ ῥέσα VEST., Prol. Theot. 212 (rhymes with μέσσα); σὰν ἠθελεν, τοὺς οὐρανοὺς ἐνοιγεν καὶ ἐσφάλα KONDAK., Paidēs 42 (rhymes with μεγάλη).

¹⁰¹In this example a second stress is added because of the following enclitic pronoun, with which the verb forms a phonological unit. Forms with the stress on the sixth syllable from the end are an impossibility in Greek. For details see I, 4.2.3.

ἐπρεζεντάρισενε (1701, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 27, 41.12); τὸ ἔδωσενε (1708, ibid. 85, 95.14) (ἐπρεζεντάρισενε and ἔδωσενε in the ed.)
νά, πού ῥθενε ἡ ὦρα μου Trag. Ag. Dim. V.224

A shift of the stress to the penultimate occurs in verse and prose texts and can even be found in non-literary texts. In Machairas's chronicle paroxytone forms occur only when the verb is followed by a clitic pronoun (but cf. 3 pl. where this is not necessarily the case).

πεῖσμαν ἀπλῶς ἐθέκεν Log. parig. L 30 οὐ παῦσεν ὁ ἡμέτερος γραμματικὸς (1387, Athens, BUCHON 1843: XL, 220.7–8) καὶ ἐπέσεν εἰς τὴν γῆν Assizes B 362.15; οὐδὲν τοὺς ἐμοιράσεν ibid. 420.27 καὶ ὁ φθόνος ἐτυφλῶσεν Velis. χ 536 ὀρίσεν ἡ αὐθεντία μου (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.39) ἐφυσήσεν τοὺς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 34.25; καὶ ἐκατηγορήσεν τοὺς ibid. 46.6; καὶ ζητήσεν του ibid. 382.20
ἐπέψεν εἰς το σπίτιν του VOUSTR. Chron. A 268.7–8 and B 269.7–8; ἐμηνύσεν η ρήγαινα id., Chron. B 283.16 and M 283.14; ο Θεός ἐσμίξεν μας id., Chron. A 284.16 and B 285.17¹⁰² καὶ αὐξήσεν τὴν τιμὴν του KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VII.358 ἔδωσέν του τὰ γράμματα KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 155

Forms with /i/ instead of /e/ are phonetic rather than morphological variants, bearing witness to mid-vowel raising, for which see I, 2.5.4:

ἀπότυχι ὁ Λοβοιωάννης (16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.4) ἔδωσιν γρόσια (1676, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 87, 211.4); ἐζήτησιν καὶ τὸ παρὸν (ibid. 211.4) μὶ ἔβαλιν (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.45v.15) (= μὲ ἔβαλεν); ἔμασι ζητεία (1692, ibid. 22, f.49r.7)

1st Person Plural

Pl.	1	-αμε(ν) -αμενε -άμε(ν) -άμι

The most common form for 1 pl. is the proparoxytone form in -αμε(ν). With the final /n/ it is found before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

ἐπαρελάβαμεν (1031, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 1, 24.15); ἀποστείλαμεν (1042, ibid. 3, 46.13) ἐξερευνήσαμεν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 40.9–10; ἀπελάβαμεν id., Logos 4 206.5 ἀπήγαμεν ὅπου μᾶς ἐχρεώσται καὶ ἐχρεωστοῦμαν τον Paroim. A 8 εἴπαμεν (1348?, Macedonia, LEFORT et al. 2006: 101, 229.4) τὸ πῶς ἐπολεμήσαμεν Chron. Mor. H 3657 ἐπροδράμαμεν Dig. E 512 διότι σὲ ἐπταίσαμεν Chron. Toc. 2986 εἴπαμεν (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.18) εἶδαμεν (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 57.69) τὰ ἐσπείραμεν (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 279, 261.7) ἔδωκαμεν ἡμεῖς (1555, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 177, 227.8) πῶς ἐποιήσαμεν τὲς ὁμολογίαις Vios Aisop. K 181.1 ἀπὸ ὅσα καὶ ἀν ἀποκτήσαμεν Alex. Fyll. 117.26

¹⁰² As noted under 2 sg., this stress pattern is much more frequent in versions A and B of Voustronios's chronicle.

ἡμεῖς ἐρισολβέραμεν νὰ σταθοῦμεν ἐδῶ (1715, Corfu, LIATA 1975: 20, 135.10–11) ἡλάβραμεν (1769, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1974: 5, 26.14)

Forms in -αμε, without final /n/, appear in written texts from the 13th/14th c. onwards, often alongside forms with final /n/:

ἐδιαχωρίσαμε (1206, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 160, 350.45) κ' ἐπήραμε τὸ νῆκος Chron. Mor. H 3657 ἐξεγλυτώσαμε τους Pol. Tr. 13672 app. crit. (A) καὶ ἐπικράναμε σε Chron. Toc. 2986 ἐκεῖνο ὅπου σὲ γράψαμε (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 91.5) κ' ἤλθαμε νὰ πνιγούμε Apoll. Rim. V 924 τότε τοὺς ἐκοιτάξαμε Alex. Rim. 1657; πάλι ἐκαταντήσαμε ibid. 1663 ἐδέσαμε τον καὶ ἡφέραμε τον ἐδῶ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 367.19 ἀρχιρίσαμε νὰ κάμωμεν τὲς ἀμαρτίες Diig. Alex. F 30.6 (Konstantinopolus) ἡμοιράσαμε τα (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 35, 76.5) ἐκεῖνο ὅπου ἐχρεωστούσαμεν νὰ κάμωμεν ἐκάμαμε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 17.10 ἐγυρίσαμε εἰς τὰ ὀπίσου PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §21.50 κὶ ἂ σᾶς ἀρέσαμε, χαρὰ δεῖξετε FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.414 ἐσυγκρίναμε καὶ ἀνακρίναμε (1675, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 39, 65.16)

Sometimes 1 pl. forms can be found in which the stress falls on the same syllable as in the forms of the singular and the 3rd person plural. In these cases there is usually a second stress on the penultimate, and sometimes the notation of the first stress is omitted (cf. 2 pl. ' -έτε). Examples have been found in verse and prose texts as well as in non-literary documents. The texts that can be localized are of northern provenance, or at least display northern features (Diig. Alex. K, Matthaïos of Myra and Diig. Alex. Sem. B (Meteora?)).¹⁰³ The provenance of Dig. P is unknown, but there is no linguistic evidence to corroborate its supposed Chiot origin.¹⁰⁴ καὶ ὄωρισάμεν τὴν ρηθείσαν μονήν (1059, Athos, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 7, 92.6) αφοῦ ἐπερασάμεν Diig. Alex. K 346.23; ἐφαλτσώσαμεν ibid. 346.23–4; ἐπαρόλαβάμεν ibid. 370.16 ἔγραψαμε το (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.17) ἐκάλεσάμεν ἄρχοντες πολλοὺς Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1224 ἐπροσκύνησάμε τὴν εἰκόνα (17th c., Meteora, VEIS 1984: 187, f.172v.1–2) ἤκουσάμεν [VLASTOS], Dig. P VII 377.20–1 μικρὸν ἐθρήνησάμεν MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2766 ἐπέρασάμεν πάλιν PAPASYNAD., Chron. 52.4 (Kaftantzis); ἐμοίρασάμεν μοναχοὶ μας ibid. 66.26–7 ἐπλέρωσάμεν (1696 [18th-c. copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B 25, f.186r.22); τοὺς ἐπαρακάλεσάμεν (1697 [18th-c. copy], ibid. I/13, f.190r.12) μέρες ἔκαμάμεν VATATSI, Periig. I 281; ὅσα θεώρησάμεν ibid. 495; ὅπου προέγραψάμεν ibid. 717; ἱστόρησάμεν ibid. 718

¹⁰³ This stress pattern can still be found in the modern dialects of Thrace, Thessaly, Macedonia and Pontos (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 88).

¹⁰⁴ The Chiot origin of Digenis P was hypothesized by the editor, D. Paschalis, but refuted by POLITIS 1973: 332 and KECHAGIOGLOU 1993: 122, fn. 12.

Forms in /i/ instead of /e/ are phonetic rather than morphological variants, bearing witness to mid-vowel raising, for which see I, 2.5.4: ἰκρίθησαν καὶ τοὺς ἐλογάργ<ι>ασάμι (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 3, f.39r.3–4); ἔκαμάνμι (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 12, 82.29) (with an “intrusive” /n/, for which see also I, 3.5.2.4).

Forms in -αμενε, with the stress on the fourth syllable from the end, are likely to have had a wider geographical spread than just Chios (for addition of -(ν)ε see I, 2.6.3.3): εἴπαμενε GERMANO, Grammar 86.35.

Pl.	1	-αμα(ν)

Sporadically -αμεν can be found with /a/ for /e/ in the final syllable, either as a result of assimilation, or as a reinforcement of “pastness”, resulting in -αμαν, an ending now characteristic of various northern dialects (Epirus, Macedonia, south-eastern Thrace, see PAPADOPOULOS 1926: 90; cf. the passive aorist, 4.4.2). It also occurs once in Machairas, but this may just be a writing mistake.

ἐδώσαμεν τὸ τίμιον Ἰωάννην (16th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 186, 123.2) ἦλθαμαν νὰ σᾶς δοκιμάσωμεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 398.8 ἐτραβήξαμαν χέρι (1698, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 78, 245.11); σὰν φταίξει ἕνας ὅλοι ἐφταίξαμαν (ibid. 90, 253.20) ἐφύγαμαν ... ἐπήγαμαν ... ἐθάψαμαν ... ἐκαθίσαμαν ... ἤρθαμαν (1719, Ioannina, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 2439, 441.1–7

Pl.	1	-εμεν

With /e/ for /a/ in the first syllable this ending has been found once in a document from the Peloponnese. The change is probably due to assimilation (see I, 2.8.5; cf. the imperfect and passive aorist, 4.3.1.2 and 4.4.2, with which this ending is equally rare): ἐγράψεμεν (1687, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 103, 323.6).

2nd Person Plural

Pl.	2	-ετε ἰ -ετευ(ε) ἰ -ιτε ἰ ' -έτε

The ending -ετε, borrowed from the imperfect and first attested with the aorist indicative in Hellenistic times, is by far the most common ending for 2 pl. throughout the LMedG and EMG periods:

ἐπίετε πικρασμούς της Log. parag. L 21 ὅσοι ἐλαλήσετε διὰ ἐμὲν Chron. Mor. H 956; κι ἀπλήθετε ibid. 1855; ἐπλουτύνετε ibid. 5107 ἐφθάσετε Dig. E 1733
 ἐσεῖς ἐβάλετε βουλὴν Diig. tetr. 691 καὶ ἐσυμπονέσετέ με Rim. than. 91 πὼς τοῦ ἐκρατήσετε τὸ μηνίον του (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 17, 11.2) ὁ,τι ἄρα ἐγράφετε (1489, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 19, 100.8) ἐχάσετε τὸ δάσκαλο τὸν πολυαγαπημένο FALIEROS, Thrinios 90 ἐγράφετε κεφάλαια ἄπρεπα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 48.19–20; ἐγροικήσετε ibid. 12.35–6 ἐμιλήσετε μαζί (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.12) όπου ἡκούσετε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 336.5 δὲν ἐσμίξετε ἀμάδι (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2009: 906, 708.11) ἐγροικήσετε CHORTATSI, Erof. II.443; καλέ, πῶς τὴν ἐχάσετε; id., Katz. IV.421 τραδιτόροι, όπου ἐτραδίρετε τὴν πατρίδα σας Chron. Tourk. Soult. 83.32–3; δὲν ἐπαρακαλέσετε τὸν βασιλέα σας ibid. 93.9 τοῦ οὐοίου ἐγράψετε (1675, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: 61.22); τὰ τοῦ ἐζητήξετε (ibid. 61.23) μ' ἐσπείρετε KORNAROS, Erot. IV.309; ἀπονη βουλὴν ἐδώκετε ibid. IV.319; ἐλησμονήσετε ibid.

 IV.450

Tellingly, almost all EMG grammars, from Sofianos to Spanos, only give forms in -ετε. Kritopoulos is the only one to give -ατε for all verbs, whereas Portius has -ετε only for barytone verbs:

ἐγράψετε SOFIANOS, Grammar 54.2; ἐκρατήσετε ibid. 61.2; ἐγελάσετε ibid. 63.21 εἶδετε GERMANO, Grammar 87.31; ἐγράψετε ibid. 89.8; ἐτιμήσετε ibid. 91.21; ἐγελάσετε ibid.
 91.25
 ἐγράψετε PORTIUS, Grammar 33.21; but: ἐπατήσατε ibid. 37.29; ἀγαπήσατε ibid. 40.8 ἐγράψετε ROMANOS, Grammar 23.6; ἡγαπήσετε ibid. 40.4 ἐγράψετε PARISINUS, Grammar 135.1; ἐβαστάσετε ibid. 145.1; ἐπατήσετε ibid. 151.1 [ἐγρὰ]ψετε SPANOS, Grammar 35.8; [ἐφιλή]σετε ibid. 39.24; [ἐγελ]άσετε ibid. 41.16

With addition of final /n/ this ending occurs in 17th-c. texts from certain Aegean islands (Chios, Syros):

εἶδετεν αὐτόν GERMANO, Grammar 87.32 αὐτὰ ποὺ ἐγροικήσετεν VEST., Paid. Makkav. 99; ἀφοῦ ἐφύγετεν ἐσεῖς id., Pathi 217 γὰρ τί τὸν ἐλυπήσετεν τόσον PETRITSIS, Dig. O 863; ὁποῦ μοῦ ἴδόμετεν ἐσεῖς ibid. 868; εἶδετεν ἴπῳς ... ἐνίκησέ μας ibid. 2661 καλῶς ἦλθετεν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 429 τὰ ὅσα ἐτάξετεν (1685, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1924b: [2], 12.8); ὥσάν σκύλοι ἐγυρίσετεν πάλι στὰ ἴδια σας ξερατιά (ibid. 13.1); ἐκαταφρονέσετεν τές ἐρμηνεῖς μας (ibid. 13.16); καὶ δὲν ἐψηφήσετεν (ibid. 13.17)

With addition of -(ν)ε it is likely to have had a wider geographical distribution than just Chios (see I, 2.6.3.3 for details): εἴπετενε GERMANO, Grammar 86.35.

Sometimes 2 pl. forms can be found in which the stress falls on the same syllable as in the forms of the singular and the 3rd person plural. There is always a second stress on the penultimate, and sometimes the first accent is omitted (cf. 1 pl. act. ' -ἄμεν, 1 pl. pass. ' -ηκάμεν and 2 pl. pass. ' -ηκέτε). Forms with this stress pattern have been found in two texts of northern provenance and in two manuscripts of the War of Troy:¹⁰⁵ ὅταν τὸ σύνταμα ἐποικέτε Pol. Tr. 2918 app. crit. (BV) πολλὰ υψηλά μου ἐστειλέτε Diig. Alex. K 347.3 ἐκαταφρονέσετέ τὸν νόμον τοῦ προφήτου Μωϋσέως DAM. SToud., This., Logos 13, μ8r.16 (1561)

 τί εἶδετε εἰς αὐτὸν τὸν ἱερέα καὶ τὸν ἀδίκησέτε καὶ τὸν ἐπίασέτε καὶ τὸν ἔδειρέτε PAPASYNAD., Chron. 98.18–19 (Kaftantzis)

¹⁰⁵ This stress pattern can still be found in the modern dialects of Thrace, Thessaly, Macedonia and the Pontos (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 88).

A form that looks like a hybrid formation with the residual subjunctive ending -ητε, but is in fact more likely to be a case of mid-vowel raising of [e] to [i] (ἐδειλιάσιτε < ἐδειλιάσετε) (see I, 2.5.4), occurs in Achil. O:¹⁰⁶ ἐδειλιάσητε Achil. O 216.

Pl.	2	-ατε

The inherited aorist ending -ατε is found before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar, but is clearly not as common as -ετε (see above). The reason for this may be that the ending -ατε is still widely used with the aorist imperative, making indicatives and imperatives indistinguishable but for the augment, which may be omitted in verbs with a prepositional prefix or initial vowel, or after words ending in a vowel (for the imperative see 4.5.2.1; for the augment see 3). Moreover, -ετε is the normal ending for the imperfect as well (see 4.3.1.1). Forms in -ατε are found in literary and non-literary texts, often alongside forms in -ετε:

ἐπιδείξατε (1131, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 111, 124.16); ἤλθατε (ibid. 146.8) κόρην ἤχμαλωτεύσατε Dig. G I.220; ἡμπλικεύσατε ibid. II.150 (< ἀπλικεύω) ἐκερδίσατε Pol. Tr. 825; τὴν ἀδελφὴν τοῦ ἐπήρατε ibid. 1370 ἐπεζεύσατε Dig. E 336; ἔκατεφθάσατε ibid. 405 ὁ,τι ἄρα ἐγράψετε καὶ ἐπαρεγγεῖλατε (1489, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 19, 100.8) τὸν γὰρ ἐνικήσατε προχτὲς Achil. O 397 διατὶ καλὰ ἐγροικήσατε Theseid I.27,3 (Follieri) νερόν οὐκ ἐποτίσατέ με DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2797 ἄχ τ' ἄδικον π' ἀκούσατε Cypr. Canz. 125.16 app. crit. ἐδείξατε GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 604 ἐχάσατε Alex. Rim. 1894; ἠκούσατε ibid. 2461 ὅλα ὅσα ἠκούσατε ὀπισθεν PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 113.32–3 οὕτως ἐποίησατε Vios Aisop. K 181.1–2 νὰ ἐλάβατε ἀπ' αὐτοῦνον (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 3, 302.9–10) τ(ήν) καλὴν ἀγάπην, ὅπου μοῦ ἐδείξατε (1692, Palermo region, PAPADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 181.9–10)

Pl.	2	-εταν

This unusual ending, with /a/ for /e/ in the last syllable, has been found in a document from Albania, and in the Chapbook of Alexander, which is of unknown provenance: ὅταν ἤλθεταν καὶ κόνεψετε (1697, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 39, 227.11); διατὶ ἐφονεύσεταν τὸν βασιλέα σας Alex. Fyll. 68.30. (See also P. Mackridge in Κονδυλοφόρος 15 (2017) 259–63).

3rd Person Plural

Pl.	3	-α(ν) ἢ -ανε

¹⁰⁶ Cf. περιπέσουσιν for περιπέσουσιν ibid. 228 app. crit. and κινοδοξήσης for κενοδοξήσης ibid. 347 app. crit.

The inherited 3 pl. ending -αν is used in texts from all areas before, during and after the period covered by this Grammar, alongside the equally frequent ending -ασι(ν) (see below):

ἐγκάλεσαν (1128, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 13, 98.30)
 ἄτινα ἐμολόγησαν (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.23) κ' ἐποίησαν ἀγάπην Chron. Mor. H 2719 ἐμίλησαν Dig. E 361 πράγματα ἔχασαν πολλὰ Chron. Toc. 35 ἐσυνεφώνησαν (1474, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 32, 166.1) καὶ ἐμολόγησαν (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 96.7) ὡς γῦπες τοὺς ἐσύνθλασαν Achil. N 553 εἶπαν εἰς αὐτόν του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 232.5 ὁμολόγησαν ὅτι ἔλαβαν (1509, Zakynthos, ΜΑΝΟΥΣΑΚΑΣ 1967: 2 [B'], 225.4) τὸν οὐρανὸν ἀρίθμησαν Alex. Rim. 2; ὁποῦ τὴν ἐθεμέλιωσαν ibid. 564 ὅταν ἐψόφησαν τοῦτοι KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 337.13 ἔγραψαν GERMANO, Grammar 89.12; ἐτίμησαν ibid. 91.21; ἐθέλησαν ibid. 94.20 καὶ δὲν μᾶς ἐχάλασαν (17th c., Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.2, 72.16–17) τὸν ἐρώτηξαν οἱ ἄνωθεν μάρτυρες (1680, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 25, 102.13)

A shift of the stress to the penultimate occurs in verse and prose texts and can even be found in non-literary texts:

πῶς ἐμακρολογῆσαν Diig. tetr. 552 στήν ὥραν ὅλοι ἐγκράξαν Achil. L 386 ἤμπορῆσαν Assizes A 128.15 ἐγαπήσαν τὸν Χριστὸν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2152 ἐκωλοσύραν τοὺς καὶ ἐκρεμμάσαν τοὺς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 134.3–4 ἐζητήσαν κρίσιν VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.9; ἐσκοτώσαν τον καὶ ἐκόψαν την κεφαλὴν του ibid., 112.6–7 ἐκατεκάψαν το τὸ ἀγαρηνὸν τὸ γένος Moirol. Konst. 113 καὶ χίλιους ἐλαβῶσαν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua X.145 ἐχαλάσαν του μίαν εἰκόνα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.17; καὶ ἐρωτήσαν την ibid. 351.7
 ἐξετιμήσαν τα (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 27, 66.9) τοὺς διωγμοὺς ποῦ ἐπροξενήσεν μου ὁ Φιλαδελφείας (1653–1655, Venice, FONKID 2000: 239, f.1r.7) ἐρωτήσαν τονε (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 277, 381.2); ἐπουλήσαν (ibid. 283, 387.16) ἐκανισκέψαν τονε MOREZINOS, Klini 25.3 ἐπουλήσαν τὰ γονικά τοὺς πράγματα (1672, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 5, 17.12–13) (but ἐπούλησαν ibid. 17.22) ἐπουλήσαν τα τοῦ γουμένου (1687, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 20, 53.9)

Deletion of final /n/ occurs in texts from southern/south-western areas, but mostly in forms that present a shift of the stress to the penultimate, in all likelihood in order to distinguish them from proparoxytone 1 sg. forms in -α (for details see I, 3.7.2.2.1):

ἐθέκα τὸν μάστρε Ἀντώνη τὸν γιατρό (1389, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 3, 89.2) μ' ἀναστεναγμούς, ὅπ' ὅλους ἐπικράνα FALIEROS, Thrinios 12 καὶ ἐτρέξα νὰ μποῦν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 90.14; ἐπαρακαλέσα νὰ βάλῃ κανέναν καβαλλάρην ibid. 430.7–8 τίποτες δὲν ἐμολογήσα πως ... VOUSTR., Chron. A 32.13 καὶ τ' ἄστρα του μετρήσα Alex. Rim. 2 μα ᾽δέν την εφελέσα Apoll. Rim. A 81; τα λόγια ᾽δέν τ' ἀρέσα ibid. 82 δέν τήν ἐμεταφέρα Imb. Rim. 498; καί μέσα τόν ἐθέσα ibid. 825 ἐπῆρα τους (1570, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 28, f.10v, note 3.5) κι' ἄν δέν τόν ἐφλακιάσα CHORTATIS, Katz. II.12; ὅλους μᾶς ἐμοιράσα ibid. IV.424 ἐπομείνα κοντέντοι (1573, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17 [later copy], 72.39) ἐτιμήσα το (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 35, 53.16) ἐζησαν κι ἐποθάνα IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3001 (hapax) καί τὸ κληρονομήσα BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 323.19; ἀποδεκεῖ ἐκινήσα ibid. 323.18 ὅσοι τῶς ἀπαντήσα Leilasia Par. 415

Addition of -(v)ε can be found in texts from south-western areas (Peloponnese, Crete, Heptanese) and certain Aegean islands (see also I, 2.6.3.3): ἐπολεμήσανε τον Chron. Mor. H 1674; ἐπροσκομίσανε τα ibid. 1840 καί ἐπῆρανέ τα (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 37.II, 302.20.7) ἐπουλήσανέ του (1546–51, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 26, 64.6) καθὼς τὸ ἐστιμάρανε (1590, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 33, 176.12) καί ὠμιλήσανε μαζί τους Chron. Tourk. Soult. 25.31–26.1; ὠμοφωνήσανε ibid. 35.11 ἐγράψανε GERMANO, Grammar 89.11; ἐτιμήσανε ibid. 91.21; ἐθελήσανε ibid. 94.20; ἐφάγανε

ibid. 96.3
 καί ἤλθανε οἱ κλέπτες καί μοῦ τὰ ἐπῆρανε ὅλα (1643, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1960: 3, 3.9–10) καί εἵπανέ μου Diath. Nikon Metan. 6; ἐσυνδράμανε ἀντάμα μου ibid. 99 ὅλοι ἐπεθέσανε (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), p. 28.6) καί τὸ καστέλι ἐπιάσανε ... κι ἀπείτις τὸ νικήσανε ... ἤρθανε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol.
 323.17–19
 εἰς τήν φέδε τοῦ ὁποίου τὰ ἐρεκομαντάρανε (1674, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 3, 122.6–7) σάν τόν εἶδανε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2861 ἡγοράσανε (1688, Andros, PASCHALIS 1948: 43.3) τὸ ἐκονσιδεράρανε ... καί τὸ ἐστιμάρανε (1693, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969e: 65.1–2)
 τὰ ἐξανακτίσανε (1696, Nauplion, DOKOS 1971/74: 20, 55.3)

Pl.	3	-ασι(v) † -ασινε

The endings -ασι and -αν (see above) alternate freely throughout the MedG and EMG periods, and this alternation is certainly not restricted to verse texts; it is an inherent feature of the language, and not an artificial metrical device (see HINTERBERGER 2001, esp. 227–35). Forms in -ασι(v) can be found throughout our period, with and without final /n/, in texts from all regions:

ἐποιήσασιν (1125, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 96, 125.1) ἀμφοτέροι ἐλύσασιν τὸν γάμον (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 232.206) τόσα τὸν ἀγαπήσασιν Chron. Mor. H 2101 καί ὅλας ἐγυρεύεσασιν Dig. E 84; καί οὐδέν ἐγνωρίσασι ποσῶς ibid. 85 καθὼς ἐχαλάσασιν καί τους Θεσσαλονικαίους (1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.16) ὁποῦ ἐκουβαλήσασι (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 46.28) εὐκαιρέσασιν τήν χώραν (15th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28, 209.4.3–4) καί εἵπασι Alex. Rim. 416; ἐτότες ὀρδινιάσασι ibid. 455 ἐκυνηγήσασιν Pist. kekoim. 83 ἐπαρκαλέσασιν τονε (1574, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 15, 141.9) ἐκτίσασσι καὶ ἐσκεπάσασσι (1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 139, 109.12) ἐγράψασσι GERMANO, Grammar 89.11; ἐτιμήσασσι ibid. 91.21; ἐθελήσασσι ibid. 94.20; ἐφάγασσι ibid. 96.3

 τὰ πετούμενα πουλιά ὅλα ἐψοφήσασσι (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), p. 28.6–7) ἐποθάνασιν οἱ δύο (1695, Paros, ZERLENDIS 1888: B', 249.8) ἐχαλάσασσι EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 15.5; ἐτραβήξασσι ἴσα στὸν Μορέα ibid. 15.5–6

Addition of -(ν)ε is likely to have had a wider spread than just Crete and Santorini (see I, 2.6.3.3 for details). A second accent is usually absent, resulting in forms that bear the stress on the fourth syllable from the end. The fact that no examples have been found of oxytone verbs should probably be regarded as a coincidence.

ἐπήγασινε MOREZINOS, Klini 66.20 app. crit. (K) ἐμνόξασινε σήμερο CHORTATIS, Panor. V.151 μᾶς εἴπασινε πάλι Rim. Sant. 416 ἐνεχώσασινε καὶ ἓνα λείψανο (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 183.112); ἐκοντραφάρασινε τὸ κομανταμέντο (ibid. 183.115–16) κι ἐπάσασινε οἱ ἔγνοιες μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.108 ἐβγάλασινε (1664, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 7, 416.8); ἐπήρασινε (1665, ibid. 9, 418.7) ὅπου ἦρθασινε τόσοι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 136.4; ἐβάνασινε σ' ὀρδινιά ibid. 151.7
 κ' ἐφέρασινε τοὺς γιατροὺς KORNAROS, Erot. II.1755; μὰ ἐσφάλασινε κι ἄλλες ibid. III.1595; κ' εἴπασινε τὰ χεῖλη του ibid. V.952

Pl.	3	-ασαν

This ending, a conflation of -ασιν and -αν, has been found, with barytone verbs only, in a handful of 14th–16th-c. documents that can be securely localized (Cyprus and Epirus), in the Paris version of the Chronicle of Morea and in Diig. Alex. K, a text that displays northern features:

ἐχαλάσασαν πολλὰ ὀσπίτια (14th c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 27, 206.3.6); ἐπήρασαν τὸ κάστρο (15th c., Cyprus, ibid. 28.I, 209.3.3); ἐπήγασαν (ibid. 209.4.2); ἐπιάσασαν (ibid. 209.7.6); ἐτζακίσασαν (ibid. 210.8.4); ἀρχεύσασαν (ibid. 210.8.16); ἦρτσασαν εἰς τὰ σπίτια τους (ibid. 210.8.17); ὅταν ἠπήρασαν οἱ Τοῦρκοι τὴν Καλλιπόλιν (16th c., Epirus, ibid. 71A 158.4.1) τὰ πλάγια ὅλα ἐγέμασαν ... τὰ φουσσᾶτα Chron. Mor. P 5051; ἦλθασαν ὡς ρογάτοροι ibid. 8944 ὅσο σας ἐπήρασαν θέλει το πληρώσει Αλέξανδρος Diig. Alex. K 347.17

Pl.	3	-ανσι

The alternation between -αν and -ασι can sporadically lead to a hybrid formation -ανσι, which is likely to be graphematic rather than an existing ending (cf. the imperfect (4.3.1.1) and εἶμαι (4.8.2)): ἐγοράσανσιν το (1682, Naxos, ΣΙΦΟΝΙΟΥ-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 336, 541.6). As becomes clear from the manuscript (Oxford Auct. 24), the following examples in the Oxford version of the Achilleid – ἐπεμείνανσι Achil. O 295; ἐστήσανσι ibid. 405; ἐπληρώσανσι ibid. 707 – are all the result of corrections by the scribe, who first wrote ἐπέμειναν, ἔστησαν, ἐπλήρωσαν and then intended to change the forms into ἐπεμείνασι, ἐστήσασι, ἐπληρώσασι (correcting the accentuation in the first two cases but not in ἐπλήρωσανσι) because he needed an extra syllable. The same appears to be the case in the following example from the Theseid in Par. gr. 2898: ἐκροῦσανσιν Theseid I.77,4 app. crit. (Follieri), where the scribe wrote ἐκροῦσαν (with circumflex), and then added -σιν without correcting the accentuation.

4.4.1.2 Residual Thematic Aorist

		Restricted	Rare	Innovative
Sg.	1	εἶπον		εἴπου(α)
				εἴπου
Pl.	1	εἴπομεν
	3	εἶπον	εἴποσαν	εἴπου

Of certain verbs, especially βλέπω, ἔρχομαι and λέγω, residual thematic (or second) aorist forms can still routinely be found for 1 sg., 1 pl. and 3 pl. in a variety of texts of the LMedG and EMG periods, mainly those that aim for a higher stylistic register and in more formal contexts, and usually alongside the more common forms. Some representative examples are:

1st Person Singular

ἀλλὰ μητρὸς ἀπέλαβον γραφὴν Dig. G II.127 ἐπροσῆλθον εἰς τὴν ἁγίαν μονὴν (1360, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 49, f.236r.1) εἶπον εἰς νοῦν τοιάδε Ptoch. I 157 καταβλαττάς ἂν ἔμαθον Ptoch. III 181 ἕνα αὐθέντην ἔσχον Ptoch. (Maiuri) 21 ὡς ἔμαθον ὑστέρου Liv. α 1596 καὶ εἶδα τὰς ἱστορίας ἅπασας ... | καὶ εἶδον πόθεν κείμεται Liv. V 1017–18 καὶ τὸ περδίκιν ἔλαβον Achil. N 1379 ἀπὸ τὸν ὄρθρον ἔφευγον καὶ ἔμπροσθέν μου λειτουργίαν εὔρον Paroim. I 75 ὡς ἔμαθον καὶ ἤκουσα DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 3101 ὡς λέγω, καὶ ἔλαβον (1520, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 58, 108.11) τὴν κόρην τότε ἔλαβον Dig. A 2714

In certain texts an innovative variant reminiscent of the old thematic form εἶπον can be found, namely εἴπου, probably on the analogy of the imperfect of oxytone verbs (ἐβάρουν; cf. PANDELIDIS 2011 regarding εἴπουνα, for which see also below). This form has only been found for the verb λέγω, in texts from the Heptanese, Cyprus (see also 3 pl.) and in texts of unknown provenance (Liv. N and Diig. tetr.) from the 15th c. onwards:

ἀκμήν οὐδόλως εἴπου τα οὐδὲ καυχίστηκά τα Diig. tetr. 472 app. crit. (VCA) καὶ ἄφοῦ τὸ ἐκατάλλαξα καὶ ἐδιάκρινα, τὸν εἶπουν Liv. α 2844 app. crit. (N) εἶπουν σοῦ το MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 208.30; ὡς γοιὸν σᾶς τὸ εἶπουν ibid. 668.12–13 (exclusive form) καὶ εἶπουν τοὺς VOUSTR., Chron. A 264.9, B 265.8 and M 265.7 (almost exclusive) διὰ τὲς ποιῆς εἶπουν ἄνωθεν Fior 80.19 (reading of I); διὰ ἐκεῖνον ὅπου εἶπουν ὧδε ἀπάνω

ibid. 83.19–20
 ὅτ' εἶπουν ἴτσου τὴν ζωὴν ν' ἀφήσω Cypr. Canz. 16.4; also in 76.11, 127.13 and 150.13 δὲν σοῦ τὸ εἶπουν ἐγὼ Bertoldos 12.12 δὲν σοῦ εἶπουν ἐγὼ Bertoldin. 117.24 τοῦ εἶπουν (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 57.32) (author from Athens) σοῦ ἔπουν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 623

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in two texts from Cyprus: δὲν το εἶπου κρυφά VOUSTR., Chron. B 273.2 app. crit.; διὰ τὲς ποιῆς εἶπου ἄνωθεν Fior 80.19 app. crit. (B); ὡς σοῦ εἶπου ibid. 90.24–5 app. crit. (I).

Addition of the past-tense ending -α (cf. KOURMOULIS 1956) has been found in 17th- and 18th-c. documents, from Athens and the Peloponnese respectively (cf. the imperfect of oxytone verbs, 4.3.2.1 and see PANDELIDIS 2011): τοῦ εἶπουνα (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 57.16) (author from Athens); τοῦ εἶπουνα πὼς κάλλιον δώσε μου το ἐμένανε (1712, Nauplion, LIATA 1998b: 232.12); τοῦ εἶπουνα ἀκόμη πὼς ... (ibid. 232.19).

1st Person Plural

ἐν ταύτῃ κατελάβομεν τῇ ὀρωμένη βρύσει Dig. G V.111 and Dig. T 1709 ἅφ' ὧν ἡμεῖς ἐπάθομεν, ἐμάθομεν ἀρκούντως GLYKAS, Stichoi 45 γυμνοὶ ἤλθομεν εἰς κόσμον Spaneas V 136 ἤλθομεν εἰς τὴν χώραν Liv. α 3426 app. crit. (P) καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς βρύσεως τὸ νερόν ἐπίομεν μὴ διψοῦμεν Liv. S 1534 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ὡς ἐφάγομεν, ἐκαθήμεθα SFRANTZIS, Chron. 44.20 τόπον πολὺν ἐδράμομεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2513 φουσάτον εἶδομεν πολὺν Achil. N 480 σιγουριτὰν ὅπου τοῦ ἐκάμομεν (1542, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1970: 3 [Γ'], 293.11–12) εἰς τὴν πηγὴν ἐπήλθομεν Dig. A 2715 ὡς ἄνωθεν εἶπομεν LANDOS, Geopon. 148.14–15

3rd Person Plural

ἀπόλαβον οἱ μοναχοὶ (1125, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 96, 125.3) οἱ ὀφθαλμοὶ μου εἶδον Dig. G VI.409 καὶ τότε ἔλαβον χαράν Pol. Tr. 13524 ἑκατὸν Παῦλοι ἀπέθανον Paroim. H 25 ὅτι τὸν φόβον ἔφυγον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 998 ἐξήλθον του γυρεύειν Diig. Apoll. 87 ἔλαβον ἀπὸ τοῦ ναοῦ τοῦ Ἀπόλλωνος μίαν χρυσὴν κούπαν Vios Aisop. E 293.25 ἔφερον τόνδε Μανουῆλον (1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 2, 4.6–7) οὐκ εἰσῆλθον διὰ νὰ μὴ μianθοῦν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 367.4–5 ἔλαθον καὶ ἐφαγαν καὶ τα ἱμάτια NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 104.6
 ὡς δὲ ἔπιον δύο καὶ τρεῖς φορές Vios Aisop. K 172.22 τὰς εὐεργεσίας ὅπου ἔλαβον ἀπὸ δαύτους Bertoldin. 169.2

ἔμαθον μερικὰ καὶ οἱ ἄνθρωποι LANDOS, Geopon. 130.24 θάνατον ἐξάφνα ἔλαβον IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6611

The Cypriot Tale of Apollonios has a form εἴπουν, which is rather more common for 1 sg. (see above for discussion): στέκουνται ἄνδρες βλέπουν τες, τούτον τον λόγον εἴπουν Diig. Apoll. 483.

The 3 pl. residual Koine ending -οσαν can occasionally be found in mixed-register texts, especially with the verb ἔρχομαι:

ἀμφοτέροι εἰσήλθοσαν Dig. G II.143 εἰσήλθοσαν Pol. Tr. 2348 συνήλθοσαν Velth. 233 (Cupane); καὶ εἶδοσαν ἀλλήλους ibid. 848 ἀνήλθοσαν εἰς τὸ φανόν Dig. T 2243 πάντες δὲ συνεξήλθοσαν Dig. A 346; τοὺς Ἀραβίτας εὗροσαν ibid. 762

4.4.2 Passive Voice

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	1	ἔγραφθηκα	ἔγραφθην	ἔγραφθηνα ἔγραφθῆκα ἔγραφθα
	2	ἔγραφθης ἔγραφθηκες	ἔγραφθῆκῃς	ἔγραφθῆκες ἔγραφθας
	3	ἔγραφθη(ν) ἔγραφθηκε(ν)	ἔγραφθηνε(ν) ἔγραφθηκι(ν) -ῆκε(ν)	ἔγραφθ' ἔγραφθεν ἔγραφθεκε(ν) † -εκι(ν) -ησε(ν) -ηε(ν)
Pl.	1	ἔγραφθημεν ἔγραφθημαν ἔγραφθήκαμε(ν)	ἔγραφθηκάμεν -ηκαμι	ἔγραφθημε ἔγραφθαμεν ἔγραφθημα ἔγραφθεμεν ἔγραφθηκάμαν
	2	ἔγραφθήκετε(ν)	ἔγραφθητε ἔγραφθηκέτε	(ἔγραφθήκατε)
	3	ἔγραφθησαν ἔγραφθηκαν ἔγραφθήκασι(ν) ἔγραφθήσανε	ἔγραφθησα ἔγραφθησανε ἔγραφθῆκα(ν) ἔγραφθήκανε ἔγραφθαν	ἔγραφθῆσαν ἔγραφθηκάνε ἔγραφθηκασιν

As mentioned in the introduction to this section, the passive voice makes use of two sets of endings, the inherited set -ην, -ης, -η(ν), -ημεν, -ητε, -ησαν and an innovative set -ηκα, -ηκες, -ηκε(ν), -ήκαμε, -ήκατε, -ηκαν/-ήκασι(ν), which appears in written sources from the 13th c. onwards.

The disappearance of the old endings is a gradual process: the first to fall into disuse is 1 sg. -ην, for it had become indistinguishable from 3 sg. -η, which often had an added final /n/. From the 13th c. onwards -ην begins to disappear from common written practice and is replaced by -ηκα. The next ending to fall into disuse is 2 pl. -ητε, which starts to be replaced by -ήκατε from the 15th c. onwards.¹⁰⁷ For 2 sg. -ηκες can be found with βαίνω from at least the 13th c. and in the passive paradigm in manuscripts of the 15th c., whereas 3 sg. -ηκε(ν) appears in texts earlier: with βαίνω, as noted in the introduction, in the 8th/9th c. and for the aorist passive indicative in the 14th c.; but it should be borne in mind that 2nd-person forms are generally much rarer in written texts than 3rd person forms. For 1 pl. and 3 pl. κ-forms begin to appear in manuscripts in the 15th c., with both βαίνω and the passive paradigm.

The above table covers the aorist passive indicative of all barytone and oxytone verbs, including deponent verbs such as γίνομαι (ἐγένην/ἐγίνην, ἐγένηκα/ἐγίνηκα, replacing the aorist middle ἐγενόμην), δέχομαι (ἐδέχθην, ἐδέχθηκα), φαίνομαι (ἐφάνην, ἐφάνηκα) and χαίρομαι (ἐχάρην, ἐχάρηκα), as well as the (active) aorist indicative of certain athematic verbs, namely βαίνω and its prefixed derivatives (ἔβην, ἔβηκα). For alternative aorist active indicative formations of ἐμπαίνω and ἐβγαίνω (ἤμπα and ἤβγα) see 2.4 s.v. βαίνω; for the same, as well as the widespread confusion between the imperfective and perfective stems of γίνομαι (γιν- and γεν- respectively), see 2.4 s.v. γίνομαι.

Distribution of Allomorphs

1st Person Singular

Sg.	1	-ην ἢ -ηνα

The inherited ending -ην is on its way out by the beginning of the LMedG period, due to the fact that it had become indistinguishable from the 3 sg ending -η(ν) (see below). By the 13th c. -ην will have been largely replaced by the innovative ending -ηκα (see below) in the spoken language, which by then begins to surface in written texts. In the EMG period -ην is mainly found in mixed- and higher-register texts. It is very seldom found without final /n/ (e.g. ἄν οὐκ ἐψήλωσα πουλὰ καὶ ἀνέβη εἰς τὰ νέφη Poulol. 412 app. crit. (P); ἐγέρθηκα κι ἐντύθη FALIEROS, Ist. On. 124) and, unlike 3 sg., usually not with dissimilated /st/ for /sθ/, /xt/ for /xθ/ or /ft/ for /fθ/ in the passive perfective stem, with a few notable exceptions:

¹⁰⁷ Note that Sofianos (16th c.), who is moderately conservative, only gives forms in -ητε: ἐγράφθητε SOFIANOS, Grammar 57.18; ἐκρατήθητε ibid. 66.19; ἐγελάσθητε ibid. 69.9, and actually gives κ-forms only for 1 sg. (ἐγράφθηκα, ἐκρατήθηκα, ἐγελάσθηκα) and once, by a slip of the pen, for 1 pl. (ἐκρατηθήκαμε), whereas Germano (17th c.) for 2 pl. only gives forms in -ήκατε.

εἶδα το καὶ ἐξενίστην το Liv. E 117; (τὴν καταδίκην ...) τὴν ἑκατεδικάστην Liv. V 399; γονεῖς τε καὶ τὴν πίστιν μου ὡς διὰ σέ ἡρνήστην Dig. T 361. Forms in -ην of βαίνω and its prefixed derivatives are very rare, because this group of verbs had started to adopt the -ηκα ending a few centuries earlier (see 2.2.1.10.1):

τὰς ἀγίας ἐδουλώθην γραφάς ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 208.15–16; ἐγχειρίσθην id., Logos 31 812.18 οὐδὲν ἐλογίσθην Dig. G V.230 ἔγραψα καὶ ὑπεγράφην (1262, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/ΒΕΝΕΧΕΒΙΤΣΧ 1927: 14, 7.18) ἐξ ὧν ἐπαγαγγέλθην Pol. Tr. 215; νὰ ἐστράφην ibid. 379 app. crit. (X) εἶδα το καὶ ὀρέχθην το Liv. V 2335
καὶ ἐγὼ οὐκ ἑκατεδέχθην το Dig. E 1253 καὶ εἰς ὕπνον ἐκορέσθην Liv. E 2683 ἐπεὶ ὀρίσθην ἐγὼ Γεώργιος Παλαιολόγος ὁ Καντακουζηνὸς (1431, Ragusa, LAMBROS 1930: 29.4) νὰ ῥηρήθην LIMEN., Than. Rod. 50; ἀπεκρίθην ibid. 509 λίθος ἐγένην, μάννα μου, ἀκίνητος ἐστάθην [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1179 καὶ ὠρέχθην τοῦ πεζεύσειν BERGADIS, Apok. A 20; νὰ κατεβῶ ἐβιάσθην ibid. 53 πολέμησα, τσακίσθην Diig. Alex. Sem. B 975 ο καιρὸς οποῦ ἐξυπνίσθην Vios Ioann. Eleim. 266.18 καὶ χάριν σοῦ ὁμολογῶ, διὰ σοῦ ἐβαπτίσθην Dig. T 656 καὶ ἐγὼ τοῦ ἀποκριθὲν (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 56.15) π' ὅλος ἐμεταστάθην VEST., Prol. Theot. 1; μεγάλως ἐξεπλάγην ibid. 249 καὶ μὰ τὸν λόγον τοῦ Θεοῦ, οὐδὲ ἵππου ἐπέβην Dig. G VI.186 ἐξέβην ἀπὸ λύπης μου Liv. E 10 λοιπὸν ἀνέβην στὸ δενδρὸν BERGADIS, Apok. A 37 (same in V) τὴν γῆν ἐφευγα καὶ ἐδιέβην εἰς τὴν θάλασσαν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 149.6

φαρὶν ἐκαβαλλίκευσα, ἐξέβην εἰς τὸν κάμπτον Dig. A 3069

Addition of the active 1 sg. past-tense ending -α occurs occasionally. Forms in -ηνα are supposedly characteristic of certain parts of Asia Minor, if we are to believe Pachomios Rousanos:

καὶ αἰχμάλωτος ἐδιάβηνα κόσμον πολὺν καὶ χώραν Liv. E 3992 εκολλήθηνα Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 384 app.crit. ὡς δὲ Ἀρτακήσιοι καὶ Κυζικηνοὶ ἐδάρθηνα λέγουσιν, οἱ δὲ Πόντιοι ἐδάρθην, ὅπερ κατὰ τὴν ἡμετέραν διάλεκτον ἐδάρθηκα λέγουσιν PACH. ROUS., Peri ofel. 36.4

Sg.	1	-ηκα ' -ῆκα

The innovative 1 sg. ending -ηκα first appears in writings of the 13th c. (possibly 12th c. in the case of βαίνω, but the manuscript of Ptoch. I is 14th-c.), and can subsequently be found in texts from most areas, from north to south and from east to west:

ἀνέβηκα καὶ ἐκάτσα Ptoch. I 131; εἰσέβηκα τὴν θύραν καβαλάρης ibid. 130 οὐδ' εἰς αὐλὰς ἐσέβηκα τοῦ δεῖνος Ptoch. (Maiuri) 17 ἐπεξέβηκα Dig. E 1441 ἐνέβηκα εἰς τὰ νέφη Poulol. 412 app. crit. (E) ἀνέβηκα εἰς τὸ ξύλον τὸ αἰνῆτικον (1416, Lesvos, SCHREINER 1975/79: 31.I, 223.4.2) ἐδιέβηκα Diig. Alex. F 70.1 (Konstantinopulos) ἐσέβηκα εἰς τὴν ἁγίαν πόλιν ἱεροσολήμ (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 335.2) ἐμετέβηκα (1654, Karpenisi, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 7, 83.1) ἐμνήστηκα Jonas 215.57; ἐτάχτηκα ibid. 215.60 πρὸς ὥραν ἐθυμώθηκα ANAGN., Stich. pol. 12 ἐχάθηκα γὰρ σέν SULT. WALAD, Poem III 4 ἦρτε με ἡ ἀγάπη σου, κἀνηκ παράταιρα RUMI, Poem III 4 ἐρμάσθηκα μὲ τὴν κόρην τοῦ κυρ-Θεοδώρου (14th c., Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1956: [4], 40.2) ὁδηγήθηκα (1350–1?, Athos?, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 130, 45.1) κι ὡς ἐπληροφορέθηκα Chron. Mor. H 1585; εὐτύς ἐθλίβηκα τοσοῦτως ibid. 6066 ἐξεινεύτηκα (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.7) ἐγεννήθηκα (15th c., Asia Minor, DARROUZÈS 1964a: [50], 38.1) ἐχάρηκα (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 100.1) ἀποκρίθηκα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 464; ἐτραΐτουρεύτηκα id., Velis. (Λ) 500 ἡγωνίστηκα (1514, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 48, 57.15) εἰνῆκα ολουνοῦ τοῦ κόσμου αφέντης Diig. Alex. K 361.12 δὲν ἐχρειάσθηκα πλέο τίβοτας (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.31) ἐγένηκα παπα-Στεφάν (16th–17th c.?, Macedonia?, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 2166, f.54.1) ἐγεννήθηκα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §2.1; ἐδόρθηκα ibid. I §20.2 ὅσον ἐδυνήθηκα, ἐφυλάχθηκα LANDOS, Geopon. 131.38 ὅλος ἐμεταστάθηκα VEST., Prol. Theot. 249

First person singular forms with a shift of the stress to the penultimate are quite common for prefixed forms of βαίνω (ἐμπαίνω, ἐμπήκα; ἐβγαίνω, ἐβγήκα), for which see 2.2.1.10.1. For passive forms it is very rare, and clearly metre-induced in the Chiot play (the accentuation in the Cypriot document is not entirely reliable): ἐπανδρευτήκα (1573, Famagusta, CONSTANTINIDES 1988: 172, f.146r.1); πολὺ ἐθαυμαχτήκα VEST., Prol. Theot. 400.

Sg.	1	-α

An as yet unpublished 14th-c. manuscript containing a Judaeo-Greek glossary of uncertain provenance (probably from Asia Minor; ms Evr. IIA 1980, National Library of Russia, St Petersburg, to be published in KRIVORUCHKO (forthcoming)) preserves forms in -α, which consist of the passive perfective stem and the active past ending -α (cf. 2 sg., 3 sg., 1 pl. and 3 pl in -ας, -εν, -αμεν and -αν respectively):¹⁰⁸ ἐτσακίστα Prophets gloss. f.32r, l. 1; ἐτυθρωπτάχτα ibid. l. 2 (the last form possibly from σκυθρωπιάζω, after various phonological alterations; see KRIVORUCHKO (forthcoming)).

¹⁰⁸The use of active endings for the aorist passive is a morphological feature typical of (modern) Pontic (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 29–30; OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 283–4), and also partly of Cappadocian (for 1 sg. and pl. and 3 sg. and pl. only: DAWKINS 1916: 144–6, 190–1), and it may well have been more widespread in the period covered by this Grammar. To this day Pontic does not make use of the innovative κ-forms, which makes the supposed Pontic origin of the Russian–Greek conversation book edited by VASMER 1922, as advocated by TZITZILIS 1999, perhaps unlikely, since it has quite a few instances of 1 sg. -ηκα.

2nd Person Singular

Sg.	2	-ης

The inherited ending -ης continues to be used throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, even after the appearance of the new ending -ηκες (see below), not only in verse texts, which benefit from the different stress patterns the two forms present (e.g. πάντης μὴ φαντάχθης Liv. V 1197, verse end, and καὶ τί 'τον τὸ φαντάκτηκες ibid. 1206, before the caesura), but also in prose and non-literary texts. The following observation by Girolamo Germano indicates that it remained in use in the spoken language as well: dicono ἐγράφηκες, & ἐγράφης GERMANO, Grammar 80.15–16. Some representative examples are:

ἀφότου ἐξέβης Chron. Mor. H 5543 ἐξέβης ἡ κυρ' ἄλωποι νὰ μᾶς φιλοσοφῆσης; Diig. tetr. 204 ἂν ἐπαρακατέβης DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 635 πότε ἐξέβης; (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 144.1d–2d) πῶς ἔκατέβης σύμψυχος BERGADIS, Apok. V 79 (same in A) ὁπότε ἐξέβης, μιὰρὲ Spanos D 346 πῶς ἐσέβης; Apoll. Rim. E 241 ἐδώθης πῶς διέβης; STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 669 (Pidonia) ἐδιάβης (1663, Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU–THEODORIDI 1992: 39, 136.4) ἀκόμη οὐκ ἐγεμίσθης GLYKAS, Stichoi 184; ἐχάθης, ἐκρυβήθης ibid. 199 ἐρνήθης Dig. E 253; ἐπαραβραδιάσθης ibid. 856 ἐπαραγγέλθης Pol. Tr. 629 καὶ ἐγίνης Poulol. 94; καὶ ἐγένης ibid. 292 ἐπαρνήθης SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 181; ἐγίνης ibid. 211 οὐδὲν ἔκατεγνωρίσθης (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 281–2) ὑποσχέθης (1496, Pesaro, MAVROEIDI–PLOUMIDI 1971: 3, 133.65) ἄρνήσθης Katal. 276 ἐσοὺ νοιάσθης Cypr. Canz. 119.1
βλέπε ὅτι λαθάσθης Fyll. gadar. 30d ἐστράφης (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 4, 260.6) ἐχθρεύθης ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Voev. 308 γὴ ἐκουζουλάθης, κρίνω CHORTATZIS, Panor. II.560 ἐσὺ ὁποὺ ἐγεννήθης Bertoldin. 116.21 πῶς ἀξιώθης καὶ ἤλθης νὰ τες ιδεῖς Don Kis. 47.4; ἀφοῦ ἐγεννήθης ibid. 177.31

Sg.	2	-ηκες ἰ -ῆκες ἰ -ηκῖς

The innovative ending -ηκες can be found from at least the 13th c. (ms date of Glykas) with βαίνω, and from at least the 15th c. (ms date of Liv. V and Pol. Tr.) with other verbs. It is often found alongside the inherited ending -ης.

καὶ ὥσεῖ σκια διέβηκες GLYKAS, Stichoi 199 ἐπαραξέβηκες Dig. E 267 ἐξέβηκες ἀπὸ τὸν ὀρισμὸν μου Pol. Tr. 9331 νὰ διάβηκες Liv. E 1402 μέσα στὸ σπῖτι σέβηκες Alex. Rim. 2352 ἀνέβηκες, υἱέ μου, κι ἐκαρφώθης Thrinós Kypr. 115 καὶ τί ἔτον τὸ ἐφαντάκτηκες Liv. V 1206; τὰ μὲ ὀργίστηκες πολλὰ ἔταν ibid. 1897 ἐκαταδέχθηκες Pol. Tr. 340; ποτὲ νὰ μὴ μὲ ἀρνήθηκες ibid. 389 ἐντροπιάστηκες Achil. L 1023

λέγει: κακὰ ἀπεσώθηκες Florios 1753 τὸ ἀπὸ ποῦ ἐγεννήθηκες Imber. 762 ἐφανίστηκες ERMÓN., Ilias 20.319 ἐνελέκτηκες SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 15 (< ἀναλέγω) ἐσυνετάγηκες Byz. Il. 100

σὺ γὰρ ἐκρυβήθηκες Spanos A 117; καὶ ὑβρίστηκες ibid. 397 κρίνω κι ἐγίνηκες ἐχθρὸς FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 72

Χριστέ μου, ποῦ πουλήθηκες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 639 ἐτζενιάστηκες Cypr. Canz. 150.8

ἐρνήθηκες MOREZINOS, Klini 75.31 πῶς ἐπλανέθηκες τέτοιᾳς λογῆς VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34.20–1 τὸ θαῦμα ὅπου ἐγίνηκε σὲ δαῦτον Thavm. Nikon Metan. V 39–40 ἀντιστάθηκες TROILOS, Rodol. I.362

ἐδάρθηκες, ὑβρίσθηκες NEOFYTOS, Achouri 246

Forms with /i/ in the final syllable bear witness to mid-vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4): ἐφοβήθηκῖς (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 65.30).

Second person singular forms with a shift of the stress to the penultimate are quite common for prefixed forms of βαίνω (ἐμπαίνω, ἐμπῆκες; ἐβγαίνω, ἐβγῆκες), for which see 2.2.1.10.1. For passive forms this is very rare, and clearly metre-related in the following example (verse end): καὶ δὲν ἐφοβηθῆκες Alex. Rim. 964.

Sg.	2	-ας

A form in -ας can be found in a 14th-c. Judaeo-Greek glossary that is probably from Asia Minor (to be published in KRIVORUCHKO (forthcoming)). The form consists of the passive perfective stem and the active past ending -ας (cf. 1 sg., 3 sg., 1 pl. and 3 pl in -α, -εν, -αμεν and -αν respectively): ἡγωνίστας Kings II gloss. f.9r, l. 7.

3rd Person Singular

Sg.	3	-η(ν) † -ηνε(ν)

The inherited ending -η(ν) continues to be used throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, alongside the innovative ending -ηκε(ν) (see below), not only in verse texts, which profit from the different stress patterns of the two forms (e.g. καὶ ὥς δι' αὐτὸν ἀπεσώθηκεν Dig. E 845 first hemistich, μεγάλως τὸ ἀποδέχθην ibid. 1120 second hemistich) (see HINTERBERGER 2001, esp. 227–35), but also in prose and non-literary texts, with and without final /n/:

ἐξέβην ναι καὶ ἠνώθην σε Eisit. f.4r.1

κάτω εἰς τὴν γῆν ἐσέβην Chron. Toc. 3382 ἄν συνέβη τίποτας (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 61.13–14) ἐσέβη ὡς λοντάρι KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XI.187 εσυνέβη Don Kis. 142.26 ἀπεδείχθη ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31 813.35 ἐπαρεδόθη τὸ μῆλον αὐτῆν (1260, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/ΒΕΝΕΧΕΒΙΤΣΧ 1927: 23, 10.5) ἐσυμβιβάστην οὕτως Chron. Mor. H 4328 ἐκεῖνον τὸ ἐπροσφέρτην νὰ ποιήσῃ Assizes B 461.19 ὅλη κατεζουλίστην Dig. E 1560 ἐκοιμήθη ὁ δοῦλος τοῦ θεοῦ (1409, Lesvos, SCHREINER 1975/79: 31.I, 224.5.1) ἐστέφθη ὁ ρέ Γκὴ ... ὁ ποῖος ἀρμάστην μὲ τὴν κυρὰν Σιμβύλλαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 18.22–3; ἀρχεύτην ἡ μάχη ibid. 206.28 ἐστιμαρίστην (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 175, 176.5) ἐνεφανίστη (1602, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 8, 162.4–5) ἕνας δὲν εὐρέθη νὰν σὲ θαραπάψη (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.26) ἔτζι ἐμαζώχθη ἡ χώρα καὶ ἐγένην μεγάλη PAPSYNAD., Chron. I §29.23 ο Μπραῖμης ἐζουρλάθη ἸΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 4218a ἐγράφτη (1661, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 42, 315.3) ὑπανδρεύτη (1668, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 12, 27.8–9) οὐδὲ ἐντράπη (1669, Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 84, 217.56) ἐπειδὴ ... νὰ ἐσυνουσιάστη ... μὲ λόγου της (1685, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 68, 275. 13–14) ἀποκρίθη ὁ δον Κισότης Don Kis. 46.11; ἐστάθη μία κορασίδα γλωσσού ibid. 150.21

Addition of the active past-tense ending -ε(ν) occurs in several texts from various areas:

ἐπήρθηγεν, ἐθράσυνεν Chron. Toc. 1795 ἐκεῖ ὅπου ἐσέβηγεν ὁ θάνατος PAPSYNAD., Chron. I §36.30 ὁ κράλης μὲ ἀποκρίθηγεν (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 58.5) (author from Athens) τὸ πῶς εὐρέθηγεν ἐκεῖ Dig. O 2312 ὁ τηκώθηγεν κι ὁ τταχρικῆς KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 563

Sg.	3	-ηκε(ν) † -ηκι(ν) † -εκε(ν) † -εκι(ν) † -ῆκε(ν)

The new ending -ηκε(ν) appeared with βαίνω before the start of the period covered by this Grammar (a first attestation was found in an 8th/9th-c. text, see 2.2.1.10.1), and from at least the 14th c. (ms date of Log. parig. L) with other verbs. It is often found, with or without final /n/, alongside the inherited ending -η(ν):

συνέβηκεν (1023, S. Italy, Guillou/Holtzmann 1961: 2, 27.3) ἐπέβηκεν τοῦ ἵππου Dig. G IV.759 διέβηκεν ὡς ἀστραπή GLYKAS, Stichoi 357 καὶ μέσα νὰ ἐκατάβηκεν Ptoch. IV 191 ἐσέβηκεν τοὺς δύο Log. parig. L 40 ἐσυγκατέβηκεν Chron. Mor. H 609 ἐκατέβηκεν κυρ-Δημήτριος ὁ Ράλης (14th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.I, 245.18CP.1–2) ὁ πρῶτος ὅπου ἐσέβηκεν Velis. χ 223 καὶ μίαν ἡμέραν ξέβηκεν Chron. Toc. 881 ἐπαρέβηκε τὴν ἐντολὴν DAM. STOUND., This., Logos 3, γ7r.17 (1561) καὶ ὡς ἀπεχαιρετίσθηκεν Log. parig. L 330 (Lambros) ἀφῶν ἦρτεν ἀπ' ἐκεῖ πικρώθηκεν SULT. WALAD, Poem I 12; κάτω στὴ γῇ ἐπιάστηκεν ibid. 15 εὐρέθηκεν Chron. Mor. H 160; κι ὡς ἐπληροφορέθηκεν ibid. 1469 ἠκούστηκεν (14th c., Asia Minor, DARROUZÈS 1964a: [33], 37.1) ὅς ἐδυνήθηκε Pol. Tr. 28; μεγάλως τὸ ἐχάρηκεν ibid. 75; οὗτος τὸν ἀπεκρίθηκεν ibid. 106 ἐκρύβηκεν Velis. χ 352 καὶ ἐφάνηκεν τῶν δύο κριτάδων (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 44.12–13) ἐπεριπλάκηκέν τον Achil. N 1159 οὕλη ἡ σπορά ἐχάθηκεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 1.23–4; πάλιν ἐστράφηκεν ibid. 148.15 κ' ἐκεῖνος ἐγλυκάθηκεν SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 203 transcr. P (Lendari) ἀμουρεύτηκεν μιᾶς καλογοριᾶς Fior 147.9 ἐγράπτηκε (17th c., Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 59, 317.1) ἐδιαμοιράσθηκεν Bertoldin. 107.24–5 ἐχύθηκε καταπάνου τους EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 17.28; ἐγίνηκε ἀμάχη φοβερή ibid. 22.1 ἐκάγηκε Leilasia Par. 556

Third person singular forms with a shift of the stress to the penultimate have only been found of prefixed forms of βαίνω (ἐμπαινῶ, ἐμπήκε; ἐβγαίνῶ, ἐβγήκε), influenced by the active κ-aorist of verbs such as ἀφήνω, δίδω, εὐρίσκω, θέτω, which also have both paroxytone and proparoxytone forms (e.g. ἀφήκα and ἄφηκα, εὐρήκα and εὔρηκα). For details see 2.2.1.10.1.

Forms with /i/ for /e/ in the last syllable are phonetic variants, which reflect raising of unstressed /e/ to [i] (see I, 2.5.4): ἀποδάρθηκε Chron. Toc. 254 app. crit. (V); δὲν ἐβγήκε πρᾶμα (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 4, 59.8); μὴ γράφεις πῶς χάθηκιν ὁ κόζουμος (1698, ibid. 8, 70.33–4) (κόζουμος = κόσμος, see I, 2.6.2). Forms with /e/ for /i/ in the first syllable of the ending may be viewed as a form of hypercorrection (see I, 2.5.4.3): ἀποκρίθηκεν ὁ Ζώτος (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.45v.13–14); ἐπιστόθηκε (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 66.31).

Sg.	3	-ε(ν)

A 14th-c. Judaeo-Greek glossary that is probably from Asia Minor (to be published in KRIVORUCHKO (forthcoming)), a document from Pontos (Trebizond area), one from the Crimea and one from Thessaly (provenance of the author unknown) all preserve forms in -ε(ν), which consist of the passive perfective stem and the active past ending -ε(ν) (cf. 1 sg., 2 sg., 1 pl. and 3 pl. forms in -α, -ας, -αμεν and -αν respectively):

ἐκτίσθε ἐκ βόθρου καὶ ἰσθορήθε (1306, Trebizond, PAPADOPOULOS-KERAMEFS 1886: 114.19) ἐκυλίστεν Kings II gloss. f.10v, l. 6–7 margin; μεταμελήθεν Jeremiah gloss. f.33v, l. 9; ἐμεταλλάχτεν Samuel gloss. f.4v, l. 6 supralinear; ἐπεβάλθεν ibid. f.4v, l. 15 supralinear ἐστάθεν (15th c., Pontos, ALEXAKIS/MAVROMATIS 2015: 5, 12.8); ἐπεδέβεν / ἐπεδᾶβεν (ibid. 12.10–11) (< ἀποδᾶβαίνω; see LAMPSIDES 1935: 18) ἐδῆβεν ἀπὲ τὸν τόπον (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.5) (< διαβαίνω) ἐγεννήθεν ἡ θεγατέρα μου (1508, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1986: 4, back.2) (ed. ἐγένηθεν)

Sg.	3	-ηε(ν)

This ending is rare and has only been found with the deponent verbs χαίρομαι and φαίνομαι. VAN GEMERT (1973: 325–6 and 1980: 174–5) suggests it is formed by analogy with the imperfect ending -ειε(ν), but it cannot be excluded that this is simply the addition of the active ending -ε(ν) to the passive form in -η, given that it only occurs with deponent verbs, which have passive morphology but active meaning: ἐχάρηεν ἡ ψυχὴ μου FALIEROS, Erot.

En. 101; δὲ μοῦ ᾿φάνηε νὰ κινήσω Dim. poiim. 4.10 (ed. φάνειε);¹⁰⁹ ἐχάρηε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 40.17, 138.8 and elsewhere.

Sg.	3	-ησε(ν)

These 3 sg. forms occur only with βαίνω. The “ending” consists of the old ending -η + aoristic formant {s} + active ending, and has probably been modelled on the inherited 3 pl. ending -ησαν: τί ἐστιν ἡ χρεια, ἥ ἐσυνέβησέ σοι; (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 179.1d); κι ἀπὸ τὸ σκάμμα τὸ πολὺ, ἐσῆκωνεν ἡ σκόνῃ | τόσο ψηλά, <κ> ἐσέβησε <σ>τὰ σπίτια καὶ κουκλώνει BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 279.13–14.

Sg.	3	-Ø

A rare form in which the unstressed vowel of the ending is deleted has been found in a document from Pontos (Trebizond area) (cf. ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1958: 318 for the modern dialect): ἀνεκαίνισθ' καὶ ἐγράφη παρ' ἐμοῦ (17th c., Pontos, VEIS 1939: 15, f.2.6).

1st Person Plural

Pl.	1	-ημεν -ημε -ημαν -ημα -εμεν

The inherited ending -ημεν is used throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, alongside new endings which begin to appear during the LMedG period (see below). They occur in verse texts, prose and non-literary texts from all areas, though they are rarely used in Cretan and Cypriot literature:

ἐκατέβημεν Dig. E 509 ἐσέβημεν Pol. Tr. 7937 μίλιν ἐπαρεξέβημεν Liv. V 3007 τὸ ποῦ ἐσέβημεν βαθεὰ Chron. Toc. 3916 ἡμέρα τρίτη ἐκατέβημεν (1610, Athos, KADAS 1988: 100, 336.26); ἀνέβημεν διὰ τῆς ἐρήμου (ibid. 336.28) ἐνέβημεν Diig. Sant. 57.13–14 ἐπαρεχωρήθημεν καὶ ἐδουλώθημεν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 312.22 πόρρωθεν ἐκαθέσθημεν ὑποκάτω εἰς δένδρον Dig. G VI 309 ὑπεγράφημεν (1260, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 25, 11.20) ἐξεδιαλέχθημεν Arm. 62 ηὐφράνθημεν ὀλίγον Liv. V 2471; ὀλίγον ἐκοιμήθημεν ibid. 3746 οὐκ ἐδυνήθημεν νὰ κάμωμε ἔργον τέτοιον Pol. Tr. 7941 ἐσμίχθημεν τὰ ᾿Αλβανα τοῦ τόπου Chron. Toc. 1826; καὶ πάλιν ἐβαρέθημεν ibid. 2717 ἀπεσώθημεν εἰς τὴν Αἶνον (1416, Lesvos, SCHREINER 1975/79: 31.I, 223.4.3–4) προνοήθημεν (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.12) γραφὴν ἐδέχθημεν Diig. Apoll. 102; καὶ ταῦτα ἐξηγήθημεν ibid. 866 καὶ ονομάσθημεν αὐθέντες Diig. Alex. K 352.1–2; υψώθημεν ἕως τον ουρανόν ibid. 367.3

¹⁰⁹The editor interprets the form as an imperfect (“it did not occur to me”), but an aorist reading (“it never once occurred to me [before Eros shot his arrow]”) is more likely, especially since the form is derived from the perfective stem of the verb.

ἐβεβαιώθημεν SOFIANOS, Tre tiranni 207 ἐσάσθημεν νὰ γενῇ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 12, 14.19); ἐσυμβιβάσθημεν
 (ibid. 19, 19.7)
 ἐκοπρομετερίσθημεν (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 65, 50.8–9) (< Ital. compromettersi) dicono ... ἐγραφήκαμεν, & ἐγράφημεν GERMANO, Grammar 80.15–18 ἐφοβήθημεν STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 164 (Pidonia) δὲν ἐδυσνήθημεν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 17.19 ἐπαρξενίσθημεν Diig. Sant. 55.69; ἐμαζεύθημεν πολλοὶ ibid. 56.5

Deletion of final /n/ is not very common, but occurs occasionally in texts from various areas:

πάντες γυμνοὶ ἐγεννήθημε Spaneas V 136 app. crit. με χάραν τὰ ἐδέχθημε Diig. Alex. F 220.22 (Lolos) τὸ ἐπιστώθημε ἀπὸ εὐλαβῶν χριστιανῶν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §1.22; ἐπληροφορήθημε ἀπὸ πιστὸν ἄνθρωπον ibid. I §31.71–2; καὶ ἰσάσθημε ibid. I §30.3 ἐσυβάσθημε νὰ τοῦ δώσω (1705, Symi, GEORGA-VOLONAKI 1974: 1, 204.2–3) (see I, 3.7.2.2.2)

With /a/ for /e/ in the last syllable, this ending appears in texts from southern areas such as S. Italy, the Heptanese, Crete, the Peloponnese, Cyprus, and in texts of unknown provenance (Liv. N, Diig. Alex. V) from at least the 13th c. onwards:

ἐδιάβημαν Chron. Mor. H 6742
 ἐκατέβημαν Dig. E 250 ὅτι ἀπεδὰ ἐξέβημαν Liv. E 4071 κλεισοῦρες ἐδιέβημαν Liv. α 2868 app. crit. (N) ἀφὸν ἐδιέβημαν Diig. Alex. V 65.9 καὶ ᾗ ἐβημαν ἀπέκει Theseid X.21,1 (1529) ἐσέβημαν Diig. Alex. F 30.9 (Konstantinopulos) τότε ἐξέβημαν Alex. Rim. 2047 ἐδιάβημαν (1546–51, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 26, 65.29) ἐκατέβημαν MOREZINOS, Klini 65.5 ἀπεξενώθημαν (1235–6, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 49, 252.18) ἀμφοτέροι συνηρέσθημαν (ca. 1290, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1977: 84, 61.11) (< συναρέσκω) διὰ τοὺς Ρωμαίους ἐτράπημαν Chron. Mor. H 5129 οὐκ ἐφοβήθημαν Dig. E 193 app. crit.; ἐπαραβραδιάσθημαν ibid. 338; ἀπότι ἀναπαύθημαν
 ibid. 1719
 ἐκδικήθημαν Pol. Tr. 787 app. crit. (V); ἐστράφημαν ibid. 8832 app. crit. (BC) ἦτζου ἐστάθημαν κουντέντε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 54.29–30; ἐκοιμήθημαν ibid. 652.34 ἐλευθερώθημαν Theseid X.21,1 (1529) τοὺς θεοὺς δεήθημαν Alex. Rim. 623; πάλι ἐφοβήθημαν ibid. 1676 ἐποπληρώθημαν (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 175, 176.6) ημεῖς τόσον ἐχάρημαν NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 146.8 διὰ ὅσα ἐλείπητημαν εἰς τὴν ζωὴν μας τούτην Pist. kekoim. 126 ἐθαυμάσθημαν (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 2, 49.8) καὶ εὐρέθημαν σὲ σύνοδον (1613, Mani, LASKARIS 1957: 2, 308.6); καὶ ἐχάρημαν (ibid. 308.11) ἐβρέθημαν Rim. Sant. 254 καὶ δικαίωθημαν (1679, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 16, 41.27–8); ἐκουτενταρίσθημαν (1692, ibid.
 26, 65.14–15)

Deletion of final /n/ is quite rare: έξολοθρεύθημα τελείως (1469, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 117, 56.9); έκουκλώθημα P&N Diath. 625; έστάθημα φιδελίσιοι (1671, Cythera, PSARAS 1989: 150.17).

Forms with /e/ for /i/ in the first syllable of the ending are very rare. The change is probably due to assimilation (see I, 2.8.5): έλυπηθέμεν (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1803) (for the same ending with the active imperfect, in the same text, see 4.3.1.1; with the active aorist in a document from the Peloponnese, see 4.4.1.1).

Pl.	1	-ήκαμε(ν) '-ηκάμεν -ηκαμι '-ηκάμαν

The innovative ending -ήκαμε(ν) has not been found before the 15th c. (ms date of Liv. V). It is absent from 14th-c. works such as the Chronicle of Morea and appears only once in one isolated 16th-c. ms of the War of Troy:

έσεβήκαμεν άπέσω Liv. V 263 κλεισούρας έδιεβήκαμεν Liv. S 1581 (Lambert-van der Kolf) έδιαβήκαμε Diig. Alex. F 222.1 (Lolos); έξεβήκαμεν γεροί ibid. 76.12 (Konstantinopulos) πάντα μέ νίκη έβγήκαμε CHORTATSI, Erof. Interm. IV.17 καί έκατεβήκαμε κάτου PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §21.44 έμεταβήκαμεν (1654, Karpenisi, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 7, 82.5) πάλιν έβουλευτήκαμεν Liv. V 603 έσυναχθήκαμεν τά τρία μοναστήρια (1481–96, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΕΣ 1984: 61, 313.1) ότι έφοβηθήκαμέν τους Pol. Tr. 7468 app. crit. (B) (hapax) όλες όρφανιστήκαμε FALIEROS, Thrinos 91 μετά χαράς έδεκτήκαμεν τό έλα σας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 350.3–4 έδεχθήκαμέ τα καλά Diig. Alex. V 41.27; ούδενού βασιλέως έγινήκαμεν δημιγέρτες ibid. 65.9–10 ίσιαστήκαμε (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 340.20) έξανασυνιβαστήκαμεν (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 52, 55.3) έγελαστήκαμεν εις τά λόγια Vios Aisop. I 277.18 άποξενωθήκαμε (1620, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 2, 169.13) ίσαστήκαμεν (1639, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 3, 114.45) καί σκεπαστήκαμεν κ' οί δυό VEST., Prol. Theot. 62 άνασκουμπώθήκαμεν καί οί τρείς PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §32.17 δέν άποκριθήκαμεν (1669, Central Greece, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 84, 216.19) έδεχθήκαμέν τους (1684, Patmos, HOFMANN 1928: 9b, 72.13)

The same ending with dual stress, on the fourth and the second syllable from the end, in which the first stress rests on the same syllable as in the singular, can be found in texts of northern provenance. The first accent is sometimes omitted:¹¹⁰ έστάθηκάμεν εις πόλεμον ... καί ύψώθηκάμεν Diig. Alex. K 367.1–2; καί έξεβηκάμεν γεροί ibid. 370.16 έδιηγήθηκάμεν MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2765 έτοι άνασκουμπώθηκάμεν καί οί τρείς PAPASYNAD., Chron. 84.8–9 (Kaftantzis) ¹¹⁰This stress pattern can still be found in the modern dialects of Thrace, Thessaly, Macedonia and the Pontos (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 88).

ἐλογαριάσθηκάμεν (1690, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 21, 14.6) ἐσυνάχθηκάμεν εἰς τὸ κονάκι (1697 [18th-c. copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B I/13, f.190r.7)
 ὅσα διηγῆθηκάμεν VATATSIS, Periig. I 495; τόσ' ἀφηγήθηκάμεν ibid. 495

With /a/ for /e/ in the last syllable, and with the same columnar stress pattern, the ending occurs in a document of, again, northern provenance (in which the first accent is omitted) (cf. the imperfect of barytone verbs, 4.3.1.1): ἐλογαριάσθηκάμαν (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 306, f.2r.19).

In a letter from Thessaloniki we find a form -ηκαμι, which may represent ἐζημιωθήκαμι or ἐζημιώθηκάμι (the original lacks stress notation) and in which the /e/ of the final syllable has become [i] through mid-vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4): ἐζημιωθηκαμι (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 8, 70.11–12).

Pl.	1	-αμεν

Forms with addition of the active 1 pl. past ending -αμεν to the passive perfective stem occur in the Pontic-speaking region of Trebizond and in Crimean Greek in two 15th-c. documents (cf. 1 sg. in -α, 2 sg. in -ας, 3 sg. in -εν and 3 pl. in -αν): ἐσυνεβιβάσταμεν (1435, Pontos, MAVROMATIS/ALEXAKIS 2009: 13, 166.2); τὸ ἔρτιμον τὸ δικό σας ἐχάραμεν το (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 168.3–4).

2nd Person Plural

Pl.	2	-ητε

The inherited ending -ητε is the only available ending during most of the LMedG period, and continues to be in use after the appearance of the new ending -ήκετε, though not very frequently after the 16th c.:

καὶ πότες ἐκατέβητε BERGADIS, Apok. A 280 (same in V) ἀφοῦ ἐπαρέβητε τὸν ὀρισμόν μου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 184.14 χαρῆτε εἰς τὰ ἐπικράνθητε Log. parig. L 668 ἐβάλθητε εἰς σκάνταλα Chron. Mor. H 3746; ἂν ἐμαχίστητε ibid. 3774 καὶ ἐγλήγορα οὐκ εὐρέθητε ὅλοι ἀρματωμένοι Dig. E 1712 ποτὲ οὐδὲν ἐνικήθητε Pol. Tr. 828; ἐβάλθητε ibid. 8694; ἀγάπην ἐβουλήθητε νὰ ποίσητε ibid. 8910 ὅτι ποτὲ δὲν ἐφοβήθητε Achil. L 310 καὶ ξένοι ὅσοι ἐχάθητε LIMEN., Than. Rod. 39 δὲν ἐκαταδέκτητε νὰ πῆτε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 348.29; πῶς ἐστράφητε; ibid. 650.23 ἀρνήθητε Theseid If. 25.8 (Follieri) ἐσκιάσθητε ἀπὸ τοὺς ἀνάνδρους ... Ἰνδιῶτες Diig. Alex. F 72.18–19 (Konstantinopulos) εσεῖς που δεν ἐδέκτητε ξένον με καλοσύνην DEFAR., Sos. 363 (Holton) ἐπαρτήθητε GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 70 τώρα ὅπου ἐπίετε καὶ εὐφράνθητε Vios Aisop. K 179.15 εὐρέθητε πλούσοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 83.37 ὅσοι ἱερεῖς ἐπληρώθητε LANDOS, Geopon. 254.24 πῶς ἀδελφοί ἐγίνητε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2562 ἐβουλήθητε νὰ με παραδώσετε Alex. Fyll. 82.22

Pl.	2	-ήκετε(ν) ᾽ ᾽-ηκέτε

This innovative ending has not been found before the 15th c., but from the 15th c. onwards it quickly becomes the most common ending for 2 pl.:

- ἐβγήκετε ἐκ τὸν ὄρκον Pol. Tr. 10157 (hapax) ὅσον ἐβγήκετε ἀπὸ τὴν Ἀμμόχουστον VOUSTR., Chron. A 216.14 ἐβγήκετε P&N Diath. 1163
 τί ἐβγήκετε νὰ ἰδεῖτε; KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 7.26
- ἐσυμβουλευτήκετε CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 226 app. crit. (M); βαλθήκετε ibid. 226 app. crit. (B) ἀναπαυτήκετε SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 87 ἀπαλησμονηθήκετε BERGADIS, Apok. V 140 ἐπλερωθήκετε MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 474.4; ποίσητε τὸ ἐννοιαστήκετε ibid. 582.32 ἐχαρήκετε Diig. Alex. F 22.20 (Konstantinopulos); ἐμαζωθήκετε ibid. 42.19 ἀναθραφήκετε μαζὶ CHORTATIS, Katz. V.466; ἐκαταδεχτήκετε ibid. V.523; ταχιά νὰ παντρευτήκετε id., Panor. IV.89 ἐγεννηθήκετε Vios Aisop. K 201.4 ἀφουκραστήκετε τὰ χαμηλοπωμένα Stathis III.571 ἐχάλασθήκετε ἐσεῖς κακῶς ἀπὸ τ' ἐμένα Dig. A 3219 ἐσταθήκετε ἡ ἴδια πανουρία Bertoldin. 140.6 ἐγραφθήκετε GERMANO, Grammar 90.14; ἐσταθήκετε ibid. 96.26 δὲν μὲ ἐπιμεληθήκετε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 25.43 ἐπεριπλεχθήκετε PAPASYNAD., Chron. Proem. §3.4; ἐβουλήθηκετε ibid. I §36.186 πῶς ἐπογενήκετε (1650, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: (2), p. 29.2) ἐσεῖς ἐγενήκετε (1672, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 96, 237.13)
 ἐμαζωχτήκετε KORNAROS, Erot. II.957

Sometimes 2 pl. forms can be found in which the stress falls on the same syllable as in the forms of the singular and the 3rd person plural. In these cases there is always a second stress on the penultimate (cf. 1 pl. act. '-άμεν, 2 pl. act. '-έτε and 1 pl. pass. '-ηκάμεν). Examples have been found in texts from the northern mainland:¹¹¹ δὲν ἐφοβήθηκέτε τὸν θεόν; δὲν ἐντράπηκέτε τοὺς ἀνθρώπους; DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 13, μ8r.15–16 (1561); ἐβουλήθηκέτε PAPASYNAD., Chron. 99.1 (Kaftantzis).

The SMG ending -ήκατε has not been found before the end of the period covered by this Grammar. One single instance in the Chapbook of Alexander (17th c.), τὴν σήμερον ἐφοβήθηκατε Alex. Fyll. 82.11–12, is in all probability a later modification (the modern edition is based on the Venetian edition of 1750). Several instances of -ήκατε in the modern edition of Damaskinos Stouditis's Thisavros (16th c.) are of much later date; the edition of 1561 and even that of 1751 only have forms in -ήκετε (the modern edition is based on a 19th-c. reworking¹¹²).

¹¹¹ This stress pattern still occurs in the modern dialects of Thrace, Thessaly, Macedonia and the Pontos (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: B 88).

¹¹² See for instance the baffling presence of the following sentence in Sermon 30.239–40: εἶναι ὀλίγη τέχνη τῶν ἀτμοκινήτων μηχανῶν, ἀτμοπλοίων, καὶ σιδηροδρόμων;

3rd Person Plural

Pl.	3	-ησα(ν) † -ῆσα(ν) † -ησανε † -ησανα † -ήσανε

The inherited ending -ησαν is used frequently throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, alongside the new κ-endings, which begin to appear in writing in the 15th c. (see below). The old ending is used in verse texts, prose and non-literary texts:

ἐκατέβησαν ἕως τὴν Πρέβεζα (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 63A, 483.7.2) ἀρματώθησαν καὶ ἐδιάβησαν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.14 καὶ ἔβγησαν Thrinos Kypr. 66 ms; οἱ Τοῦρκοι ἔμπησαν ibid. 769 ἔμπησαν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 643 ἡνύρέθησαν (1062, Sicily, ROGNONI 2004: 11, 117.2) οἰκονομήθησαν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31 812.10; ἐσυνάχθησαν καὶ ἐγράφησαν ibid. 814.11 τὰ μάρμαρα ἠφανίσθησαν Ptoch. I 76 ἐσυμπαθήστησαν Chron. Mor. H 2719; ὅσα καὶ γὰρ ἐγίνησαν ibid. 2817 ἐκάυσθησαν Dig. E 300; ἀπομαζώχθησαν ibid. 1317 εὐρέθησαν (1481–96, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1984: 61, 313.6) ἐπιάσθησαν καὶ ἐφούρκισαν τοὺς (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 96.6) πολλὰ ἀγγαλέστησαν ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 114.34; ἐθυμώθησαν ibid. 248.30–1 ἐκρύβησαν ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua I.100 τότες ἐνθυμήθησαν ΚΑΡΤΑΝΟΣ, P&N Diath. 332.35; δὲν ἐφοβήθησαν ibid. 340.19 ἐκρουσεύθησαν (1538, Crete, ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑΤΙΣ 1994a: 177, 177.4) ἀναπαύθησαν (1541, Thasos?, ΚΡΑΒΑΡΙ 1987: App. II, 340.12) ἐστημαρίστησαν διὰ δουκάτα ιη' (1549, Crete, ΜΑΡΜΑΡΕΛΙ/ΔΡΑΚΑΚΙΣ 2005: 117, 115.6); αὐτὰ ἐντελιβραρίστησαν (ibid. 209, 209.9) ἐκυβερνήθησαν (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 451.34) ἐξοδιάστησαν εἰς τὸ ἀρχονταρῖκι (1607–8, Serres region, ΟΔΟΡΙΚΟ 1998: 17, 78.2–3) dicono ... ἐγραφήκανε, & ἐγράφησαν GERMANO, Grammar 80.15–19 ἔκαμα καὶ σκοτώθησαν ΠΡΟΣΟΨΑΣ, Peri tyflou 44 τὰ σιτάρια ἐκάθησαν (1713, Chios, ΛΑΜΒΡΟΣ 1910: 351, 209.14) ονομάσθησαν Don Kis. 46.35

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in literary texts from Crete and Cyprus, and texts of uncertain provenance. In Cypriot verse texts it usually occurs at the verse end or before the caesura. When the verb form is followed by a word starting in /n/ (typically νά), the omission of final /n/ may be viewed as a form of haplography (see the examples from Machairas and Diig. Alex. F). In non-literary sources it has been found in texts from south-western areas and certain Aegean islands.

οἱ Τοῦρκοι ἔβησαν εἰς τὴν ἀγίαν Πόλιν Anak. Konst. 28 app. crit. (P) ἐδιάβησαν τ' αμαξία VOUSTR., Chron. A 82.11 καὶ εἰς αὐτὸν ἐνέβησαν Apoll. Rim. A 1569 καὶ ἔδιάβησαν τὴν ὥρα Apoll. Rim. N 884 ἐτελείωθησαν τὰ στηθεῖα (1079, Mani, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 47, 306.1) ἐστάθησαν νὰ διαφεντευτοῦν ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 312.23–4; ἐσυνπιάσθησαν νὰ ἴδωσιν ibid. 321.28–9 τοὺς ἀγαπήσασιν ποτὲ καὶ γράφθησαν Cypr. Canz. 97.44 καὶ ἔκει του ἐθυμήθησαν Apoll. Rim. A 430; τότες ἐξελυτρώθησαν ibid. 1566 ὀρθώθησα νὰ πολεμήσουν Diig. Alex. F 24.5 (Lolos) (hapax; haplography) τα σωθικά μου εσφάγησα CHORTATSI, Panor. II.170 app. crit. (N); ποιοι λογιμοί εγεννήθησα ibid. V.75 ἐτιμήθησα ὑπὸ ... (1603, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 5, 21.16) ἐγίνησα ξύδι (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.14) ἐπαραστάθησα ἀπὸ πάνων της (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 13, 316.8) δὲν ἀκούστησα ποτὲ στὸν κόσμον ἄλλες FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.32; ἀπούστησαν ἐγνωρίστησα ibid. III.616 ἐνεφανίστησα κατέμπροστε ἐμοῦ νοταρίου (1685, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 362.1–2) καὶ οὕτως εὐχαριστήθησα (1699, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 5, 166.4) τὰ ὅποια ἐμετρήθησα ἐμπροστέ μας (1699, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 13, 29.10)

Addition of -(ν)ε, without a shift of the stress to the antepenultimate, has been found in texts from the Peloponnese, but it is likely to have had a wider geographical spread (see I, 2.6.3 for details):

κ' ἐπροφωνεθησανέ τους Chron. Mor. H 3663 ms (= ἐπροφωνέθησανέ τους, first accent omitted) καὶ ἄλλοι ὅπου ἐνθυμούθησανε (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 447.20) ἐδιάβησανε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 54.17 ms; ἐμαζώκτησανε ibid. 61.25 ms; ἐσκοτώθησανε πεντακόσοι ibid. 68.26 ms; ἀνέβησανε ἀπὸ το γιοφύρι το ξύλινο ibid. 90.13–14 ms (the modern editor adds secondary accents on these forms)

A shift of stress to the penultimate is found several times in the Cypriot prose chronicles of Machairas (V) and Voustronios (versions A and B),¹¹³ but is quite unusual elsewhere:

ενεβήσαν ... καὶ εκατεβήσαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 16.14–15 οὐκ ἐφανῆσαν Pol. Tr. 4305 app. crit. (X) οὐδὲν ἐφανερωθῆσαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 32.6–7; δὲν τὴν ἐγευτῆσαν ibid. 72.24; ἐπροσδεκτῆσαν τον ibid. 114.29–30; ἐξεβῆσαν ἔξω ibid. 394.11 ελαβωθῆσα πολλοί VOUSTR., Chron. B 5.15; ἐρικουμαντιαστῆσαν ibid. A 38.15 (same in B); αθυμηθῆσαν ibid. 64.18 (same in B) καὶ ὅλ' εὐωχθηθῆσαν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2103; εὐχθηθῆσαν ibid. 2104

It must be noted that this appears to be the only 3 pl. past ending that does not develop an alternative in -ασι(ν): no forms in -ήσασι(ν)* have been found.

Pl.	3	-ηκαν '-ηκάνε -ήκα(ν) -ήκανε

As with the rest of the plural, the innovative κ-form does not appear in written texts before the 15th c., but throughout and beyond the EMG period it can be found regularly in texts from most areas:

ἐξέβηκαν Dig. E 1411
 ἐκατέβηκαν Achil. N 550 ἔμπηκαν Bertoldos 65.8

¹¹³ Versions A and B are less reliable than M where the accentuation is concerned (KECHAYOGLOU 1997: 75–6*, 87*–8* and 105), but the frequency of the phenomenon in Machairas indicates that these forms may be legitimate.

μοῦ ἔσουνέβηκαν (1665, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 58, 172.8) οἱ Χωραγῖτες ἔβγηκαν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 215 ἔσουδάρηκαν Pol. Tr. 3206 app. crit. (A); ἄρματώθηκαν ibid. 8484 app. crit. (AX); ἔχάθηκαν ibid. 10468 app. crit. (C) ἔστάθηκαν ἕναν χρόνον (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 67, f.IIv) ἐπαρᾶπονέθηκαν (1493–4, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 36, 179.2) τὸ νὰ βρέθηκαν εἰς τὸν πόλεμον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 434.6–7 αὐτοῖ τον ἀπεκρίθηκαν Diig. Alex. K 345.32; καὶ εμαζώθηκαν ibid. 347.29 ηύρέθηκαν (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 78, 269.3) ἐδιאלέκτηκαν (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 9, 18.18)

τὰ ὅσα ἐγίνηκαν (1576, Macedonia, CHASIoTIS 1964/65: 3, 252.12) ἔσυμαζώχτηκαν (1585, Mani, LAMBROS 1905: 397.5) ἐγίνηκαν (1601, Epirus, ALEXOULIS 1896/1900: 47a, 368.4) ἐτραβήχθηκαν κάτω Bertoldos 71.31 ἐχρεώθηκαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.17; ἐχτυπήθηκαν ibid. I §24.26; ἐκάθηκαν ibid. I §31.11 ἀναπαύθηκαν (post 1666, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 23, 313.11)

ἐδεκατίστηκαν (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 306, f.2r.24)

Deletion of final /n/ does not occur with this ending, probably because it would render it indistinguishable from the 1st person singular (but see below for deletion of final /n/ with the paroxytone variant of this ending, and above for -ησα). A single instance in ms A of Panoria is likely to be a writing mistake: τα σωθικά μου εσφάγηκα CHORTATIS, Panor. II.170 (a second instance: ἐδόθηκα ibid. 307, is editorial, from ἐδόθηκαν (A)).

With addition of -(ν)ε and dual stress, this ending has been found in a late 17th-c. text of northern provenance, written in Constantinople or the Danubian Principalities. The first stress of ἔσωθηκάνε is omitted in writing: ἔσωθηκάνε τὰ φλωριά Diig. Vefa 219.

The same ending with a shift of the stress to the penultimate can be found in texts from southern areas (Crete, Cyprus, Dodecanese, Chios) and in texts of unknown provenance, again from the 15th c. onwards (for this phenomenon across persons for prefixed forms of βαίνω, see also 2.2.1.10.1):

ἐμπήκαν Chron. Mor. H 4846

καὶ εἰς λογισμοὺς ἐμπήκαν Dig. E 75 σ' ἐμᾶς ἐκατεβήκαν Alex. Rim. 1643 σὰν ὄρνιθες ἐμπήκαν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 2504 καὶ ὅλοι ἔθαραπαήκαν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1571

δὲν ἔσαστήκαν Assizes A 46.26

οὐκ ἐφανήκαν Pol. Tr. 4305 app. crit. (V) σφικτὰ περιεμπλακῆκαν Achil. N 1322 ἐξηγηθήκαν εἰς τὴν χώραν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 220.32–3; ἀνακατωθήκαν ibid. 248.30 ἐχαθήκαν LIMEN., Velis. (A) 30

καὶ ἐξηγηθήκαν του Fior 130.27

καὶ κεῖνοι ἐσκιακτῆκαν ZINOS, Vatr. 419 ἐκρυφογαμηθήκαν Epain. gyn. 186

τοῦτα ποὺ ἐγενήκαν VEST., Prol. Theot. 267 μέσα ἔμπαρκαριστῆκαν BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 175.28 (Xirouchakis); καὶ εὔρεθήκαν κούντουρες ibid. 326.16 (Alexiou/Aposkiti omit final /n/) λαοὶ ἐμαζωκτῆκαν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1891 εύρεθῆκαν (1697, Chios, TSELIKAS 2000: 99, 77.12) ῥβεθῆκαν κάποιοι χριστιανοὶ KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 15

Deletion of final /n/ with the paroxytone variant of this ending has been found in literary texts from Crete, Cyprus and the Heptanese:

κρουσάροι ἀναφανῆκα Imb. Rim. 627 καὶ ἐννοιαστῆτε πόσοι ἴσκοτωθῆκα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 468.9

ὄρνεα εὐρεθῆκα Alex. Rim. 1633 κ' εἰς μιον εμαζωκτῆκα Apoll. Rim. A 681 οἱ δάφνες εφανῆκα CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 75; γὰ μένα κ' εκαγῆκα ibid. I.249; ... κὶ ὄλα ἀπὸ μὲ διαβῆκα, | χῶμα γενῆκα ἀψήφιστο κ' εἰς λησμονιὰν ἐμπῆκα id., Erof. Prol. 31–2; ζιμιὸ τὸ μοιραστῆκα ibid. V.198; χίλιοι νὰ πεταχτῆκα id., Katz. III.439 τὰ μάτια ἐθαμπωθῆκα Vosk. 27 κὶ ἐνεθραφῆκα ὁμάδι FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.616 σ' μιὰ κόρη κ' ἔναν ἄγουρο ποὺ μπερδευτῆκα ὁμάδι KORNAROS, Erot. I.9

Addition of -(ν)ε can be found in both literary and non-literary sources from south-western areas (Crete, the Heptanese), Chios and certain Cycladic islands:

ἐμπῆκανε εἰς τὸ καράβι κεῖνο Alex. Rim. 1671; τότε καβοῦροι βγήκανε ibid. 1680 ὥσαν ἐμπῆκανε οἱ Φραντζέζοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 33.12; ἐβγήκανε καὶ ἐδιάβησαν ibid. 127.32 ἐσυνεβήκανε λαβωματιές, φόνοι (1655, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 2, 188.6) ἐλεμενταριστῆκανε (1573, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 4, 15.61) ἐστιμαριστῆκανε (1579, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 21, μβ'.107) ἀποκριθῆκανε (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 130, 88.5) ἐσυνιβαστῆκανε (1620, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 363, 336.2)

ἐσταθῆκανε, vel ἐσταθῆκασι, vel ἐστάθησαν GERMANO, Grammar 96.26–7 ἐγεννηθῆκανε στὸ σπῆτι (1640, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2011: 8, 219.19–20) τὰ χοντρά ζῶα ὅλα ἐχαθῆκανε (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), 28.6) καὶ τώρα μ' ἀρνηθῆκανε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 176.24

καὶ τῇ ξαναφανῆκανε MONTSEL., Evgena 1246 εὐχαριστηθῆκανε (1682, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1976: 139, f.214r.14) τῆς ἐναντιωθῆκανε (1700, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 24, 329.11)

καθὼς ἀτοὶ τῶς ἐκουντενταριστῆκανε (1702, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 40, 54.22) ἐμαζωχτῆκανε Chron. Theod. 20.17 ἐθαυμαχθῆκανε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 41.15; ἐφυλακτῆκανε ibid. 50.24

Pl.	3	-ήκασι(ν)

Alternation of -αν and -ασι(ν) throughout the past-tense paradigms leads to a new ending -ήκασι(ν) from the 15th c. onwards, which remains in use throughout the EMG period in texts from both southern and northern areas, with and without final /n/:

εἰς τὸν ναὸν ἐμπῆκασιν Pol. Tr. 10004 ἐδιαβῆκασιν Cypr. Canz. 145.5

κ' ἐτρέξασιν κ' ἐμπῆκασιν Anak. Konst. 22 κ' ἐβγήκασιν ὅζω Apoll. Rim. A 234 τρεις μήνες ἐδιαβῆκασι CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.199 ἐβγήκασιν ἐπτὰ δαιμόνια KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 8.2

συνεβῆκασιν τῶν ασεβῶν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5906 εἰς τὸν κάμπον ἐβγήκασιν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2599 ἐμπήκασι στὴν Ἑλλάδα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 15.2–3 βαρὰ τῶν ἐφανήκασι CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1688 μαντάτα ἐπεσώθηκασι Achil. N 195; κι ἀφότου ἐρματωθήκασιν ibid. 504 ἐννοιαστήκασιν Fior 112.15; οἱ σενατούρηδες ἀπολογηθήκασιν ibid. 130.21–2 τα μέλη μου ἐκοπήκασι CHORTATSI, Panor. II.171 ἐφυτευτήκασι τὰ ἄνωθεν ἀμπέλια (1603, Crete, VIOLIDAKIS 2006: 2, 265.8–9) ἐσταθήκανε, vel ἐσταθήκασι, vel ἐστάθησαν GERMANO, Grammar 96.26–7 ἐφανήκασι βαρὰ τοῦτα τὰ λόγια VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 41.27; ἐκουζουλαθήκασι χερότερα ibid. 104.29

ἐνεφανιστήκασι (1656, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 2, 48.5)

εὐχαριστηθήκασι (1663, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 1, 11.13); ἐνεφανιστήκασι (1665, ibid. 2, 13.18)

ὅλα ποὺ γενήκασιν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 131 ἐπεριμαζωθήκασιν MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Valach. 103; ἐγεινέκασιν ibid. 2539 ἐξημερωθήκασι τρίγια κάτεργα (1667, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 19, 90.14) εὐρεθήκασι (1679, Venice, MANOUSAKAS/SKOULAS 1993: 218, 55.8) οἱ ὅποιοι ἐβαλθήκασιν σὲ ὄρκον (1695, Paros, ZERLENDIS 1888: B', 249.3) ἐσταθήκασι (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 302.4) ἐπρικαθήκασι πολλὰ KORNAOS, Erot. IV.1299 ἀφηγηθήκασι στοὺς συντρόφους EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.19; ὀργισθήκασι ibid. 16.23

εὐθύς ἐμαζωκθήκασιν Leilasia Par. 33

The only instance of this ending in Machairas has the accent on the fourth syllable from the end (ἐγίνηκαν > ἐγίνηκασιν). A document from Cyprus has stress notation on both the fourth and the third syllables from the end, making it impossible to establish where the accent was intended to go: ἀφὸν τοῦτα οὖλα ἐγίνηκασιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 95.24 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari); ἐδόθικασιν (1694, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 4, 91.11–12).

Third person plural forms with addition of -(v)ε have only been found of the verb ἐμπαίνω: ἐμπήκασινε Bounialis M., Diig. Pol. 322.6 and 516.5, and not with aorist passive forms. Here the verb ἐμπαίνω is influenced by the active κ-aorist of verbs such as ἀφῆνω and εὐρίσκω which do have forms with -(v)ε (e.g. ἀφήκασινε, εὐρήκασινε). See 4.4.1.1.

PL.	3	-αν

In the following examples from a 14th-c. Judaeo-Greek glossary that is probably from Asia Minor (to be published in KRIVORUCHKO (forthcoming)) and in a marginal note of unknown provenance,¹¹⁴ the active 3 pl. ending -αν is added to the passive perfective stem (cf. 1 sg. in -α, 2 sg. in -ας, 3 sg. in -εν and 1 pl. in -αμεν):¹¹⁵ ¹¹⁴The editors' hypothesis that the text displays Cypriot features (LAPPA-ZIZIKA/RIZOU-KOULOPOU 1991: 43) is unfounded. Cf. the form ἐντώκαννε in the same ms note (ibid. 43.2), which with [d] for [ð] is found not only in Cypriot, but also in Pontic (OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 100); the addition of -(v)ε to verb forms (ἐντώκανε, ἐτσακώσανε) is a feature of most Pontic varieties (OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 79–80) and of other varieties of the language, but it is decidedly not a Cypriot feature (see I, 2.6.3). Other notes in the same ms. point to a Pontic provenance for the ms as well: the proper name Καστελλίτας has the Pontic ending -ίτας (OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 381), and the 3 pl. possessive pronoun αὐτοῦ (τὰς ψυχὰς αὐτοῦ) looks like a slightly "normalized" version of Pontic αὐτουν/του (for which see OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 233).

¹¹⁵Another 14th-c. example (1300–1 or 1361–2) occurs in an otherwise not very vernacular inscription (no. V 176) in the Crimea: ἐκ[τ]ισ[θ]αν, for which see www.iospe.kcl.ac.uk/.

ἔσυγκινήθαν Prophets gloss. f.31r, l. 4; ἑκατεκόπαν and ἑσπαθοκόπαν Kings II gloss. f.9r l. 3–6 margin; ἀνεκόπαν Jeremiah gloss. f.33v, l. 2 supralinear; ἑπεστάθαν Samuel I gloss. f.4v, l. 9 supralinear; ἑμετρήθαν Samuel II gloss. f.1v, l. 9 right margin ὅταν αἰχμαλωτίσταν οἱ Ρωμαῖοι (1526, Unknown, LAPPA-ZIZIKA/RIZOU-KOULOPOU 1991: 21, 43.157v)

4.5 The Imperative

Depending on the genre, written texts may show a relative scarcity of imperative forms, which typically occur in direct speech. Imperatives are thus absent from most non-literary documents, with the exception of letters and manuals, and from many literary texts too, with the exception of theatrical works, paraenetic poetry and narrative texts that include dialogue or in which the narrator addresses his readers. Therefore limited evidence has sometimes been found for forms that are very likely to have had a wider distribution in the spoken language.

This section covers the imperative, active and passive, of all regular verbs, as well as of irregular verbs insofar as they make use of the regular imperative endings, as in the majority of verbs the irregularity is located in the formation of their stems rather than their endings.

The first part deals with the present imperative, which is formed by adding the imperative endings to the imperfective stem of the verb, e.g. active γράφ-ε, γράφ-ετε; passive γράφ-ου, γράφ-εστε. Compared to other verbal paradigms, the imperative shows modest regional variation. In the following description, prohibitions (μή + imperative) are listed among the examples only when the form is clearly an imperative and not a subjunctive: e.g. μή σύχναζε Paroim. H 13. However, when the imperative is indistinguishable from the subjunctive, as is often the case in the plural, e.g. μὴν ἀργεῖτε Thysia Avr. 238; μὴν φοβᾶσθε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 17.7, examples are considered to be subjunctives (for which see 4.1).

The second part covers the aorist imperative, which is formed by adding the imperative endings to the perfective verb stem, e.g. active γράψ-ε, γράψ-ετε; passive γράψ-ου.

For barytone verbs that have identical perfective and imperfective stems (e.g. κρίνω, σύρω) it is sometimes difficult to establish whether an imperative is a present or an aorist. They are considered to be aorists, unless the context leaves no doubt that they should be interpreted as present imperatives (for verbal aspect see IV, 4.4).

For imperatives with stem irregularities, such as of ἄγω, sg. ἄγωμε, pl. ἄγωμέστε, sg. ἄμε, pl. ἄμέτε, and of βλέπω, sg. βλέπεσαι/βλέπεσε, see 2.4. For other ways of expressing the imperative, also for persons other than the second, with νά, ἄς, μή + subjunctive see IV, 1.3.

4.5.1 The Present Imperative

4.5.1.1 Barytone Verbs

4.5.1.1.1 Active Voice

/e/-imperatives

The present active imperative is formed by adding the active endings of the imperative, -ε for the singular and -ετε for the plural, to the imperfective stem of the verb (for which see 2.1).

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	2	γράφε	γράφι	γράφεν
Pl.	2	γράφετε	γράφετεν γράφετενε	γράφιτε

Distribution of Allomorphs

Singular

Sg.	2	-ε(ν) ∓ -1

The normal ending for the 2 sg. present imperative is -ε before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar. In the imperative, the stress moves to the antepenultimate, unless the verb form consists of two syllables. When a proparoxytone imperative is followed by a clitic pronoun, a second stress usually appears on the ultimate syllable:

πρὸ πάντων ἔχε τοῦ θεοῦ τὸν φόβον Spaneas P 1; ἀπόφευγέ τα ibid. 94 στήκε, ψάλλε ἀπὸ ψυχῆς ... φώναζε μεγάλως Ptoch. IV 50 καὶ γύρευγέ το Log. parig. L 151; καὶ θέτε το εἰς τὰ χεῖλη σου ibid. 169 ἀντὶ τοῦ μισοῦ βάνε ε' (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 36, 32.4) γύρευγε (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 822); πάγαινε εἰς τὸν φόρον (ibid. 60.1193) ἤξερέ το ἡ αὐθεντία σου (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 91.6) μὴ θέλε μανθάνειν Vios Aisop. E 288.18 ἀπὸ σαλοῦ καὶ μεθυστοῦ τὴν ἀλήθειαν ἄκουε Paroim. H 7; ὅπου φιλεῖς μὴ δάνειζε καὶ ὅπου ἀγαπᾷς μὴ σύχναζε ibid. 13 χόρευε κι ας πηδούμεν Katis 12 ἄλλο γίνωσκε (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.19) ἄφηνε, δεν ντρέπεσαι TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 237 καὶ ἤξευρε μοναῦτα εἰς τὰ δεσάστρε σου νὰ κονμοφορτιαστῆς Fior Suppl. 269.8
 μ' ἀγάπην τὸ διόρθωνε VEST., Prol. Theot. 206 καὶ τρῶγε κάθε ταχὺ νηστικός τρία LANDOS, Geopon. 235.12; ἄρχιζε τὸ ἄλλο ibid. 254.33 γράφε το εἰς χαρτῖα καὶ φύλαγε αὐτὸ PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.18

Addition of final /n/ is not uncommon in the work of Kartanos, and appears to be a south-western feature when viewed in conjunction with the aorist imperative (see below):

καὶ εἰς αὐτεῖνον ἤλπιζεν, καὶ εἰς ἄλλον μὴ ἐλπίζης Spaneas Z 57 (for pseudo-augment see the introduction to Chapter 3) ἔχεν ὑγείαν, τοῦ λέγει Theseid ms Par. gr. 2898, f.27r; δι' αὐτὸ καμπόσο ἀνέμενεν ibid. f.38r κοίταζεν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 134.1; μὴ θαύμαζεν ibid. 150.15; καὶ ἤξευρεν νὰ μᾶς εἰπείς πῶς στέκουν τὰ ζῶα ibid. 240.29; μόνον ἔλεξεν τὴν ἀπιστίαν τους ibid. 387.30 (< ἐλέγχω)

In local varieties of the language that are affected by the phenomenon of mid-vowel raising (of unstressed /e/ to [i], see I, 2.5.4), forms in /i/ can be found, which surely were more common in the spoken language of these areas than they were in writing: περίμενι ἀκόμη (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1406); ὕπαγι εἰς τὴν ἐκκλησίαν (ibid. 67.1394–5).

Verbs starting in unstressed /e/ tend to lose this vowel in non-past forms (e.g. ἐξεύρω > ξεύρω; ἐπαίρνω > παίρνω), whereafter “new” paroxytone forms emerge for the imperative singular: γιατί ξεῦρε ἄν μᾶς δεῖ θέλει μᾶς σκίσει Cypr. Canz. 93.68, but also: ξεῦρε κι ἔνι πρώτα ἡ ὁμορφιά σου ibid. 91.23; μὰ παῖρνε διαλεμένους PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1983.

Barytone vowel-stem verbs, including verbs that obtain vowel stems through the loss of intervocalic /y/ such as ὑπάω < ὑπάγω and τρώω < τρώγω, can have both “uncontracted” forms (for examples see above) and forms in which one of the vowels is deleted, e.g. ἄκου τὸ τί μοῦ λέγει Dig. E 1581; καὶ τ’ ἄλλα ὅλα τρῶ’ τα CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 536. For discussion and further examples see 2.1.1.2.

Plural

Pl.	2	-ΕΤΕ(ν) ἰ -ΕΤΕΝΕ ἰ -ΙΤΕ

The standard ending for the 2 pl. present imperative is -ετε before, throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods (for the identical 2 pl. pres. ind. ending see 4.1.1.1):

τὴν ὀλότῃν μερίζετε μὲ τὰ βς’ (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 22.12.7) τρέχετε, κινδυνεύειν ὁ Αἴας! ERMION., Ilias 15.101cap φεύγετε, πᾶτε νὰ γλυτωθῇτε Anak. Konst. 34 τοῖνυν ὑπάγετε καλῶς [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 242 κλαίετε καὶ θρηνεῖτε, σπανοὶ Spanos D 1640 στέκετε, μηδὲν φεύγετε! Diig. Alex. F 294.22 (Lolos) ξεφαντώνετε Imb. Rim. 496 χαίρετε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 331.33; ἡκούγετέ τον ibid. 357.27; ἀκούετέ τον ibid. 389.19 σύρε πηγαίνετε Nov. II 161.6–7 λέγετε ... τρώγετε GERMANO, Grammar 83.3 ἀκούετε και καταλάβετε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 15.10; κρούετε, καὶ θέλει σας ἀνοιχθεῖ ibid. Louk. 11.9
μόνον ἐτοῦτο ἀναγνώθετε LANDOS, Geopon. 132.16

Addition of final /n/ is found in texts from Chios (cf. the identical present indicative, 4.1.1.1; see also the aorist imperative, 4.5.2.1): ἔχετεν ᾗειά KONDAR., Paidēs 15; δείκτετεν τὰ προστάγματα ibid. 252; (ἄν εἴν’ λοιπὸν καὶ θέλετεν κ’ ἐμένα τὴν πατρίδα | νὰ μάθετεν ...) ἀπὸ τὴν Χίον ξεύρετεν εἶναι τὰ γονικά μου PETRITSIS, Dig. O 3073.

Barytone vowel-stem verbs, including verbs that can lose the intervocalic /y/ such as ὑπάγω and τρώγω, can have both “uncontracted” forms (see examples above) and forms in which the weaker vowel /e/ of the ending is omitted after the stronger vowels /a/, /o/ and /u/ of the verb stems, e.g. ὑπᾶτε εἰς τοὺς γονιούς σας Achil. O 588; καὶ τρῶτε, ξεφαντώνετε Imb. Rim. 496; πῶς κράζει, ἀκούτε FALIEROS, Thrinos 187. For discussion and more examples see 2.1.1.2.

Addition of -(v)ε has been found in a text of uncertain provenance, but is likely to have been a feature of various local spoken varieties, among which, notably, Chiot¹¹⁶ (for such forms see I, 2.6.3.3): τὴν φωνὴν πᾶσα λαὸς ἀκούτενε (15th c., S. Italy, NIEHOFF-PANAGIOTIDIS/HOLLENDER 2010: P1, 103.1).

¹¹⁶GERMANO, Grammar 86–7 mentions that in Chios -ve is also added to the imperative, but unfortunately he does not give any examples.

In texts from areas that are affected by mid-vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4), one (or conceivably both) of the unstressed /e/'s in this ending may become /i/ (cf. 2 pl. pres. ind.): λοιπόν, λέγίτε τίποτα Diig. tetr. 568 app. crit. (C).

/a/-imperatives

In the EMG period a number of barytone verbs with monosyllabic stems developed alternative formations in -α (2 sg.) and -ᾶτε (2 pl.) for the present imperative (as in MG, which has τρέχα, φεύγα and regionally στέκα).¹¹⁷ The /a/ ending is also used for the aorist active imperative of prefixed derivatives of βαίνω and certain other verbs, and has even been found with certain aorist passive imperatives (see 4.5.2.3).

Note that verbs that allow for the /a/-ending belong to the same semantic field of verbs of motion – “go!”, “leave!”, “run!” “stay!” – and may therefore have been modelled on common aorist imperatives in -α such as that of ἐλάω (ἔλα), which after the demise of ἐλάω had attached itself as an imperative to ἔρχομαι, and of βαίνω (ἔμβα, κατάβα), all of which are Ancient (see LSJ s.v. ἐλαύνω and βαίνω) (see also THUMB (1912: 128 and 155), who notes that the aspectual value of these present imperatives is rather weak).

Sg.	2	-α

Singular

- φεύγα ἀπὸ τὴν μέσσην Diig. tetr. 815 (reading of oldest ms C (a. 1461)) τρέχα, Ἀλέξανδρε Diig. Alex. V 30.8 καὶ ἂν σὲ κυνηγήσει φεύγα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 420.22–3 τρέχα, τρέχα, μάνα μου Bertoldin. 145.34–146.1
φεύγα τῆς ὥρας εἰς τὸ βασιλέα (1651, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2000: 401, f.2r.64) στέκα Zinon V.281, 286, 290 τρέχα, ὑπάγε βιαστικά Don Kis. 128.14; στέκα λοιπόν με προσοχὴν ibid. 266.29 στέκα ἀτός σου ἔδω SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 56.35 (but pl. στέκετε ibid. 57.4)

Plural

Pl.	2	-ᾶτε

Plural forms in -ᾶτε seem to appear much later than their singular counterparts. No examples have been found before the early 18th c.: φευγάτε μακριά, φευγάτε! Don Kis. 632.8.

4.5.1.1.2 Passive Voice

The most common present passive endings are -ου for the singular and for the plural -εστε/-εσθε, though there is some regional variation. These endings are attached to the active imperfective stem (see 2.1) to form the imperfective passive imperative.

¹¹⁷ The form στέκα can be found e.g. in the modern dialect of Corfu (AVLONITI 2006: 40) and in certain northern dialects (PAPADOPOULOS 1926: 91).

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	2	γράφου	γράφουσιν γράφουσουν	γράφο -ουσαι -οσε
Pl.	2	γράφεστε γράφεσθε	γράφεστεν γραφοῦστε(ν)

Distribution of Allomorphs

Singular

Sg.	2	-ου -ο

The inherited ending -ου is the standard 2 sg. ending for the present passive imperative before, throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods. Examples have been found until well into the 18th c. (cf. oxytone verbs, below):

μή στέναζε, μή θλίβου GLYKAS, Stichoi 437 τότε ἔρχου εἰς τὸ ἐκ πλαγίου πρόσωπον (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.614) μή ζώνου χαμηλούτσικα καὶ μή συχνοκτενίζου Ptoch. IV 57 χαίρου τῆς ρώμης βασιλεῦ Eisit. f.1v.1
εὔχου μου Dig. E 559 τούτην ἀλείφου την Pol. Tr. 540 app. crit. (A); ἔρχου συχνά εἰς ἐμένα ibid. 3278 σηκώνου ταχύτερου (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 98); ἔρχου εἰς ἐμὰς συχνά (ibid. 283) κείτου ἔδευτοῦ, μεθύστακα CHORTATSI, Katz. III.539–40 δέχου νὰ μᾶς ἐβγάλεις ἀπὸ τὰ χέρια τοὺς ἀπίστους (17th c., Cyprus, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 22, 269.4) ἀναπεύου Chron. Tourk. Soult. 139.23 εἰς τὸν ὄρκον σου στέκου MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1463; φυλάγου, ὅσον δύνεσαι ibid. 1975 χαίρου, καυχοῦ καὶ λέγε το BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 411.24 κάλλιο διορθώνου τώρα Charon II 19 προσεύχου Don Kis. 45.14 γράφου SPANOS, Grammar 37.3

A form in -ο found in a Russian–Greek conversation book that is likely to have been written in Athos is not a morphological variant of those in -ου but possibly the result of hypercorrection of back-vowel raising of /o/ to /u/ (for details see I, 2.8.3) (if it is not a simple writing mistake): παντοτε ἔρχο (app. crit.) (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 172).

Sometimes passive imperative forms can be found of verbs that are not normally passivized, such as προσέχω in its meaning “to be careful, to beware”: προσέχου μην τους σείσεις AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 48; προσέχου (17th c., Athos, MEYER 1894: XVII, 224.4); τότε προσέχου απ’ αυτούς STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 1260 (Pidonia).

Sg.	2	-οσσουν -ουσουν

The only regional variation found is the ending -οσουν/-ουσουν, which occurs in texts by Heptanesian (Corfiot?) authors.¹¹⁸ The ending is identical to that of the 2 sg. passive imperfect (see 4.3.1.2), and possibly in some way modelled on it (see also the corresponding ending of oxytone verbs, 4.5.1.2.2, and cf. the imperative present active ending -ουνε in the same region, which constitutes a similar analogical formation, 4.5.1.2.1):

καὶ χάιροσουν μάλιστα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 380.20; κάθοσουν ἐδῶ ibid. 394.41; κάθου ... καὶ δέχουσун ibid. 461.27; ὁπόταν προσεύχεσαι, ἡβλέποσουν ibid. 461.31–2; προσεύχουσун ibid. 462.32 ἐνεστῶς. γράφοσουν SOFIANOS, Grammar 58.5–6 διὰ τοῦτο δουλεύουσун ἀπὸ τὴν Αὐλὴν μου σὲ κάθε σου χρεῖαν Bertoldos 48.26–7

Sg.	2	-ουσαι ἰ -οσε

The ending -ουσαι occurs in one manuscript of Chortatsis's Panoria. It appears to be a conflation of βλέπου (see above) and the striking imperative βλέπεσαι/βλέπεσε (PERNOT 1932: 986; KRIARAS 1932: 1109), which is the reading of the other manuscripts (for βλέπεσαι/βλέπεσε see 2.4): βλέπουσαι, στο Θεό μου CHORTATIS, Panor. II.251 (reading of N). However, the ending may have been in use with other verbs as well, as the following example appears to be a variant of it: ο Σολομών εἶπεν: εἰς ὅλα τα πράματα συμβουλεύοσε καὶ ὑστερον μὴ μετανοήσεις Anthos Ch. G 113.9–10.

Plural

Pl.	2	-εστε(ν) ἰ -εσθε(ν)

The normal 2 pl. endings for the present passive imperative of barytone verbs are -εστε and its more formal variant -εσθε (for manner dissimilation of /sθ/ to /st/ see I, 3.8.1; for the identical present indicative and imperfect endings see 4.1.1.2 and 4.3.1.2). However, there is a clear preference for periphrastic forms with νά or ἄς (see IV, 1.3) and therefore a limited number of examples has been found:

αὐξάνεστε, πληθύνεστε CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 48 καθέζεσθε (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 548–9); στήκεσθε (ibid. 2487) πορεύεστε, κινήσατε [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 60 κάθεστε, ἀναπεύεστε Alex. Rim. 809 καὶ στέκεστε καὶ μηδὲν φεύγετε Diig. Alex. K 364.31–2 γράφεσθε SOFIANOS, Grammar 58.5–6 (τὸ ρόδο ...) βιάζεστε νὰ πιάνετε CHORTATIS, Erof. Interm. II.86 ἔρχεστε GERMANO, Grammar 83.9
 αἰσχύνεσθε, παράνομοι VEST., Paid. Makkav. 1223

¹¹⁸ KONDOSOPOULOS (2001: 70) mentions similar forms (e.g. νιβόσουνε) in the modern dialect of Kefalonia, but used as aorist, not present, imperatives.

Addition of final /n/ is rare: την νιότη σας χαίρεστέν ὥστε ζεῖτε Kakop. 185.

A form with syncope (see I, 2.7.2) appears in Koronaios's poem on Merkourios Buas. It must be noted that at times Koronaios tends to stretch the language to accommodate the metre: καὶ βάλστε σ' ὀρδινίαν ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua VIII.147 (= βάλλεστε).

Pl.	2	-οὔστέ(ν)

The only regional variant found for 2 pl. is -οὔστέ(ν), which can be found in texts from Chios (cf. the identical present indicative and imperfect endings, 4.1.1.2, 4.1.2.2, 4.3.1.2 and 4.3.2.2): βλεποῦστε GERMANO, Grammar 83.8; φυλαγοῦστε ibid. 83.8; ἐρχοῦστε ibid. 83.9; καθοῦστέν VEST., Pathi 294 and PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1422.

4.5.1.2 Oxytone Verbs

4.5.1.2.1 Active Voice

The present active imperative of oxytone verbs is formed by adding the active endings of the imperative, -ε for the singular and -ετε for the plural, to the imperfective stem of the verb (for which see 2.1). In the case of oxytone A-stems the stem vowel /a/ and the /e/ of the ending contracted to /a:/ in AG, which evolved into /a/; in the case of oxytone E-stems, /e/ + /e/ became /e:/ > /i/ (traditionally spelled <ει>). From the very beginning of the period under review, A-stem endings are routinely used for E-stem verbs as well; the reverse, however, does not usually occur (see also 2.1.2.1). There is some regional variation in the endings of the imperative. All present imperatives of oxytone verbs are paroxytone, unless -(ν)ε has been added (for which see also I, 2.6.3).

		General		Restricted		Rare
Sg.	2	γρίκα	βάρει βάρ(ε)ιε βάρα	(γρίκουε)	βάρουε	βαρ'
Pl.	2	γρικᾶτε	βαρεῖτε βαρᾶτε	γρικᾶτεν	βαρεῖτεν βαρᾶτεν	βάρτε βαρ(ε)ιέτε

Distribution of Allomorphs

Singular

Sg.	2	-α

For 2 sg. of A-stem verbs, the inherited ending -α is the standard ending in both literary and non-literary texts throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar; this ending is also used with E-stem verbs.

A-stems

ψηλάφα και ἐκεῖ νὰ τὸ εὐρίσκης ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 310.21 ἐρώτα και νὰ μάθης GLYKAS, Stichoi 137; και ὡς ἡπορεῖς ἀπάντα ibid. 189 βάστα το Pol. Tr. 535 ἐσὺ τοὺς μέτρα, λυγερή Katal. 196 σῶπα, τί λές; FALIEROS, Ist. On. 115; ἀγάπα πᾶσαν ἄνθρωπον id., Log. did. 57 ἄκουε Εὖα και πλάντα Synax. gyn. 130 χαίρετα μού τον από την μεριάν μου VOUSTR., Chron. A 52.13–14 σκέθα μου τήν καρδιάν Cypr. Canz. 107.34 (< σκεθῶ) και βάστα εις το κεφάλι σου Diig. Alex. K 354.3 ἀγάπα τους (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 150.4) ἀρχίνα GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. cominciare καὶ χαίρετα μου τὸν μπατέρα (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 25.11) γρίκα μου νὰ σοῦ δηγηθῶ FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.103 λίγο κέρδα και μὴν φύρνα Paroim. (Warner) 69.19 (< φυρνῶ < φυρῶ) σῶπα, φίλε Σάντσο! Don Kis. 46.11

E-stems

ἐκεῖνο ηὐχαρίστα Spaneas Z 212 φίλα, περίπλεκέ το Liv. V 3775 βοήθα τὸν ξενούτζικον Flor. L 700 καὶ τοὺς πτωχοὺς ἐλέα Peri xen. 451 πᾶσα ἡμέρα ζήτα νὰ κάμης περισσότερα Vios Aisop. E 288.10 ἐνέργα ἢ με τὸ κορμὶ ἢ με τὴν ὀρδινιά σου FALIEROS, Log. did. 78 δήγα το νὰ τὸ βλέπη πρεπτάμενα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 502.13–14 (< ὀδηγῶ) σκόπα πρώτα Fior 112.25 περέχα τα LANDOS, Geopon. 144.11 (περιχῶ < περιχέω); λειτούργα πρώτον τὸ ἕνα ὄνομα
ibid. 254.32
 προσκύνά τες ἀγίες εἰκόνες PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §16.13 χέρι ποὺ δὲ μπορεῖς νὰ κόψης, φίλα το Paroim. (Warner) 122.25 και εὐχαρίστα τὸν θεὸν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1863 τὸ γονή σου ἐπαίνα KORNAROS, Erot. 2.2029

Sg.	2	-ει

The inherited 2 sg. E-stem ending -ει is used throughout the LMedG and EMG periods in texts from various areas, but only with E-stem verbs:

και τὸν πηλὸν κουβάλει Ptoch. III 211 app. crit. (CMK) ἐπάνω σου τὸ κράτει Pol. Tr. 535 θῶρει με, κύρκα Achil. L 1276 και τήρει και τὴν δόξαν Alfan. I 75 μή μας ἡλησμόνει μας (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 2721) πούρι ὁ σταλαγμός τοῦ πόθου βάρει βάρει | νὰ τρύπησε τὸ μάρμαρο FALIEROS, Ist. On. 25–6 σκούπει τὸν οἶκον (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 103.2d) κράτει τα ἐσὺ, Βίδο (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 287.15) πορπάτει εις τὴ στράτα σου CHORTATISIS, Katz. V.411 ἀκολουθεῖ με ΠΑΡΑ-ΛΑΥΡ., Diigisis (Meteoron) 108.24 περιπάτει, ὅτι ἐνίκησές με Vios Aisop. I 255.44 πάτει τὰ ἄσπρα σταφύλια ξέχωρα ἀπὸ τὰ μαῦρα LANDOS, Geopon. 145.33

Sg.	2	-Ø
Pl.	2	-ΤΕ

Deletion of the final /a/ or /i/ may occur lexically with the verb βαρῶ. It has been found in a Heptanesian (Zakynthian) text, Evgena.¹¹⁹ This apocopated form is the basis for a new plural form βάρτε, attested in the work of the 17th-c. Kefalonian poet Anthimos Diakrousis: βάρ' τὴν πόρτα MONTSEL., Evgena 1359; βάρτε καὶ κόψετε τοὺς ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 931.

Sg.	2	-(ε)ιε(ν) † -ε

Forms in -ειε (sometimes spelled <ιε>) consist of the inherited E-stem ending -ει with the 2 sg. imperative ending -ε, borrowed from the dominant barytone paradigm (for a discussion see 2.1.2.2.4). The ending is found with E-stem verbs from at least the 14th c. onwards, with and without final /n/ (for the identical imperfect ending, see 4.3.2.1). The ending could probably be pronounced both with and without synizesis, e.g. βάρειε: ['varie] or ['varje] (see e.g. the example from Ptoch. IV, in which κράτειε is trisyllabic ['kratie], whereas in Ptoch. III κουβάλειε, at the verse end, is pronounced [ku'vaɫe] (for synizesis see I, 2.9.4):

καὶ φόρειε τὸ προσώμιν σου καὶ τὸν πηλὸν κουβάλειε Ptoch. III 211 (readings of mss SA) κράτειε τὴν φωνήν σου Ptoch. IV 481 app. crit. (V) σιγὰ περπάτειε ταπεινά Flor. L 1125 καὶ ἄντλιε τοὺς πόδας ΣΤΑΦΙΔΑΣ, Iatrosf. 10.275 θῶρει με, κύρκα, θῶρειε με Achil. L 1276 μὰ τοῦτο κράτειε θαρρετά FALIEROS, Ist. On. 151 καὶ μίλειε τῆς καὶ λέγε τῆς Love poems V 396 πάντα παρακάλειε τὸν θεὸν Diig. Alex. E 251.15 (Lolos) θῶρειε τὸν μπούσουλά σου Fyll. gadar. 94q συμπάθιε ... συγχώρει GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. perdonare κράτειε καὶ ἐμεῖς σοῦ βοηθοῦμε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 93.13 καὶ φόρειε το Bertoldin. 116.32; ἀκαρτέριέ με ἐδῶ ibid. 125.18

With an added final /n/ it was found in version I of the Life of Aesop, the scribe of which is thought to be of southern (ΠΑΡΑΘΗΜΟΠΟΥΛΟΣ 1999: XI) or perhaps Chiot (EIDENEIER 2011: 417–18) provenance: κράτειεν τὴν γλώσσαν σου Vios Aisop. I 276.24.

Forms in -ε have undergone deletion of /j/ (see I, 2.4.7.3–4). Examples have been found in texts from Cyprus:

κράτε τα καὶ βλέπε τα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 446.34 θῶρε τίνος δίδεις Fior 101.28 λάλε πάντα παρκάτω παρὰ ὅπου πολομᾶς Fior Suppl. 272.14–15 θάρε μόνο στο δεῖν τῶν ἐμματιῶν τῆς Cypr. Canz. 98.31

Sg.	2	-ΟΥΝΕ

¹¹⁹It also occurs in a Zakynthian comedy of the late 18th c. (1795), D. Gouzelis's O Chasis (ed. Z. Synadinos, Athens 1997): βάρ' το, βαστάζο Gouzelis, O Chasis III.212. This form βάρτε is unrelated to the identical Cypriot form βάρτε (< βάλτε < βάλετε), for which see 4.5.2.4.

This E-stem ending is quite rare in written texts of the period under review and has not been found before the 17th c. It occurs in two texts that are very likely to be of Heptanesian provenance. It appears to be formed by analogy with the 3rd person singular of the imperfect, which has a regional alternative in -ουνε (see 4.3.2.1): impf. ἐμίλει – ἐμίλουνε : imp. μίλει – μίλουνε (cf. a similar form of analogy in the Heptanesian present passive imperative in -οσουν/-ουσουν, 4.5.1.1.2):¹²⁰ μίλουνε ὅσον καὶ ἂν θέλεις Bertoldos 60.7; ἀκολούθουνε πούρου ὀμπροσθά, Μισέρ Τζερφόλλιο ibid. 83.2–3; νὰ ζεῖς, ἀκολούθουνε Bertoldin. 139.3.

Plural

Pl.	2	-ᾶτε(ν)

The inherited 2 pl. A-stem ending -ᾶτε is in use before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar. It is used with A-stem as well as E-stem verbs:

A-stems

βαστᾶτε το 'ς τὴν Κρήτην Anak. Konst. 38 κατὰ καιρὸν πηδᾶτε τες SACHLIKIS, Vouli pol. 38; γελᾶτε τές ἀνέγλυτες ibid. 317; λαργᾶτε, θεὸν νὰ δράμω ibid. 30 (Γκιόστρα) αὐκρᾶτε τί τοῦ λέγει Flor. L 1543 ἄπεζᾶτε τοὺς μαντατοφόρους μου εἰς τὴν γῆν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 206.19; καὶ πολομᾶτε καλές βίγλες ibid. 382.2; γροικᾶτε πάντες τὸν διαλαλημὸν ibid. 404.3 καὶ ἄγαπᾶτε με καλὰ Alex. Rim. 472; καὶ χαιρετᾶτε καὶ ἐμὲν κ' ὑστέρου ἐρωτᾶτε ibid. 2292 ρωτᾶτε τες οποῦ ἐπαθαν Kakop. 82 περνᾶτε τὴν ζωὴ σας Imb. Rim. 496 γρικᾶτε μου CHORTATSI, Katz. II.125; γιὰ τὸ Θεό γλακᾶτε! ibid. III.46 ἀγαπᾶτε τοὺς ἐχθροὺς σας KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 5.44 τὰ πάθη μου ... βαστᾶτε MONTSEL., Evgena 626 βαστᾶτε αὐτὰ τὰ ἄρματα Alex. Fyll. 65.15

E-stems

τὴν ὕβριν ἐκδικᾶτε Pol. Tr. 1031 τὴν χώραν προξενᾶτε SACHLIKIS, Vouli pol. 319 βουθᾶτε νὰ τόνε δεκτῶ FALIEROS, Thrinos 349 βοθᾶτε τὸν Καλλιμαχὸν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1346 σκοπᾶτε τὰ τέλη τῶν πραγμάτων MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 10.13 γιὰ τὸ Θεό, βοηθᾶτε μου, γιὰ τὸ Θεό γλακᾶτε! CHORTATSI, Katz. III.46; παιδάκια μου, 'κλουθᾶτε ibid. V.473 ἀκολουθᾶτε μου Bertoldos 40.5 ζητᾶτε, καὶ θέλει σας δοθεῖ ... κτυπάτε, καὶ θέλει σας ανοιχθεῖ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 7.7 δένδρη μου, συγχωρᾶτε MONTSEL., Evgena 625 κι εἶπεν του: προσκυνᾶτε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1789; καν τώρα βοηθάτε μας ibid. 4357 χτυπᾶτε, μωρὲ παιδιά, τοὺς παλιμουρτάτηδες! EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 59.14–15

Addition of final /n/ occurs in texts from Chios:

γροικᾶτεν, σᾶς παρακαλῶ VEST., Paid. Makkav. 121

¹²⁰Note that the ending -ουνε is now a feature of the modern dialect of Corfu (AVLONITI 2006: 42–3).

ἀκλουθάτεν ὅλοι σήμερον KONDAR., Paides 102 app. crit.
καὶ γροικᾶτεν το PETRITSIS, Dig. O 724

Pl.	2	-εῖτε(ν)

The inherited 2 pl. E-stem ending -εῖτε is used throughout the LMedG and EMG periods in texts from various areas, but only with E-stem verbs:

κάστρον, θεωρεῖτε, ἔπαικα Chron. Mor. H 2710 μὴ δειλιάζετε, ἀνδρείως πολεμεῖτε Pol. Tr. 5304 βοηθεῖτε εἰς τὸν παγκόπελον Dig. E 922 σύντομα περιπατεῖτε! Liv. α 3086 app. crit. (N) μικρὸν ὑποχωρεῖτε [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1865 μισεῖτε τὸ ὄνομα τῶν σπανῶν Spanos D 920; κλαίετε καὶ θρηνεῖτε, σπανοὶ ibid. 1640 ἁμαρτωλοὶ θαρρεῖτε FALIEROS, Thrinis 181; σκιὰν μετὰ μὲ θρηνεῖτε ibid. 213 κλαύσετε καὶ θρηνεῖτε Moirol. Konst. 56 κ' εἶπεν τοὺς: καρτερεῖτε Apoll. Rim. 793 καρτερεῖτε ὅδα, Φραγκάκια TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 105; τὸν θεὸν εὐχαριστεῖτε ibid. 212 εὐλογεῖτε ἐκείνους ὅπου σᾶς καταρῶνται KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 5.44 κρατεῖτε τὰ ὁμορφα ἴμορφα FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.95 θωρεῖτε τοὺς σολντάδους μου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 193.25; καρτερεῖτε ibid. 409.1

Addition of final /n/ has been found in a text from Chios: βαρεῖτεν τοῦ ἀλύπητα VEST., Paid. Makkav. 641.

Pl.	2	*-(ε)ιέτε -έτε

Plural forms modelled on the singular -(ε)ιε are very rare. An example has been found in a text from Santorini. The stem consonant /l/ is depalatalized (see I, 2.4.7.3 for details): παρακαλέτε καὶ <ἐ>σεῖς Rim. Sant. 81.

4.5.1.2.2 Passive Voice

The present passive endings are -οῦ for the singular and for the plural -ᾶστε/-ᾶσθε (oxytone A-stem also used with E-stem) and -εῖστε/-εῖσθε (oxytone E-stem). These endings are attached to the imperfective stem (for which see 2.1) to form the imperfective passive imperative. There is some regional innovation in these endings.

		General		Restricted		Rare
Sg.	2	γρικοῦ	βαροῦ	γρικόσουν/ -ώσουν	βαρούσουν βαρ(ε)ιόσουν	βαριοῦ
Pl.	2	γρικᾶστε/ -ᾶσθε	βαρεῖστε/ -εῖσθε	γρικᾶσθεν γρικοῦσθε(ν)	βαρεῖσθεν βαροῦσθε(ν) βαρ(ε)ιοῦσθε(ν) βαριέσθε(ν)/-ιέσθε(ν)

Distribution of Allomorphs

Singular

Sg.	2	-οῦ -ιοῦ

By the beginning of the LMedG period the AG A-stem ending -ῶ (the result of contraction in AG of the stem vowel /a/, the thematic vowel /e/ and the ending /o/) had long become obsolete and had been replaced by the E-stem ending -οῦ (the result of contraction of /e/ + /e/ + /o/).¹²¹ The ending -οῦ is the normal ending for both A-stem and E-stem verbs throughout the period covered by this Grammar. In SMG forms in -οῦ are no longer in use, and periphrastic constructions with να + present passive subjunctive are used instead. The demise of the present passive imperative in -οῦ is most likely to be datable to the modern period (cf. barytone verbs, above).

μή θορυβοῦ καθ' ἑαυτόν GLYKAS, Stichoi 438 ἄτακτα, γέλοια καὶ σαλὰ βαροῦ κι ἀπόφευγέ τα Spaneas P 94 παρηγοροῦ ὅσον ἔχεις Log. parag. L 217 διὰ τοῦτο καὶ συντηροῦ (1316, Constantinople, HUNGER/KRESTEN 1981: 39, 292.16) τὸν Θεὸν ἐπικαλοῦ Spaneas Z 433 καὶ θυμοῦ τῆς ἀγάπης Achil. L 1263 κοιμοῦ, ἀδελφέ (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 105) ἀθθυμοῦ πῶς ἐτζένιασες ἐκείνην Cypr. Canz. 104.13 θυμοῦ το CHORTATISIS, Katz. II.377 κυβερνοῦ μὲ ψυχρὰ πράγματα LANDOS, Geopon. 174.24; κοιμοῦ μίαν ὥραν ibid. 177.25 χαίρου, καυχοῦ καὶ λέγε το BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 411.24 δέ τη καλά, φουκροῦ τη KORNAROS, Erot. II.43 φιλοῦ SPANOS, Grammar 40.25
 τρώγε, φίλε Σάντσιε: καὶ ζωοτροφοῦ Don Kis. 539.24

Forms with an added /j/ are rare (for a discussion of this phenomenon see 2.1.2.2.4): παρηγοριοῦ Thysia Avr. 165 app. crit. (M).

Sg.	2	-οὔσουν -όσουν -(ε)ιόσουν

The only regional variation found in the singular is the ending -οοσουν/-ουσουν, which appears in texts of Heptanesian (Corfiot?) authors. The ending is identical to that of 2 sg. of the passive imperfect (see 4.3.1.2), and perhaps in some way modelled on it (see also the corresponding ending of barytone verbs, above, and cf. the similarly formed present active ending -ουνε in the same region, 4.3.2.1 and 4.5.1.2.1). Sofianos used an “etymologizing” spelling <ω> for the A-stem verb γελῶ. His example of the E-stem verb κρατῶ has a /j/ inserted after the stem consonant, for which see 2.1.2.2.4: κρατειόσουν SOFIANOS, Grammar 67.9; γελώσουν ibid. 69.20; καὶ ἐνθυμούσουν τί σοῦ εἶπα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 380.20.

¹²¹ The ending -οῦ with A-stem verbs can be found from at least the 6th c., e.g. κοιμοῦ in Moschos and the correspondence of Barsanuphius and John of Gaza.

Plural

Pl.	2	-ᾱσ τε(ν) † -ᾱσθε(ν)

The normal 2 pl. endings for the present passive imperative of oxytone A-stem verbs are -ᾱσ τε and its more formal variant -ᾱσθε (for manner dissimilation of /sθ/ to /st/ see I, 3.8.1; for the identical present and imperfect endings see 4.1.1.2 and 4.3.2.2). However, there is a clear preference for periphrastic forms with νά or ᾶς (see IV, 1.3) and therefore not very many examples have been found. This ending is also used with E-stem verbs:

A-stems

ἀγαλλιᾷσθε καὶ κροτήσατε χεῖρας Spanos D 116 γελαῖσθε SOFIANOS, Grammar 69.20 τιμᾷσθε GERMANO, Grammar 93.6

E-stems

αὐτὰ οὖν ὅλα ἐνθυμᾷσθέ τα (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.22–288.1) μὲ πόθον τὸ δηγᾷσθεν ZINOS, Penth. Than. Prol. 16 ἐνθυμᾷσθεν καὶ τοῦ μοναχοῦ βασιλείου τοῦ Ἀκρίτου [VLASTOS], Dig. P VII 393.9–10

Pl.	2	-εῖσ τε(ν) † -εῖσθε(ν)

The inherited 2 pl. endings for the present passive imperative of oxytone E-stem verbs are -εῖσ τε and its more formal variant -εῖσθε (for manner dissimilation of /sθ/ to /st/ see I, 3.8.1; for the identical present and imperfect endings see 4.1.2.2 and 4.3.2.2). The meaning is more commonly expressed with periphrastic forms with νά or ᾶς (see IV, 1.3) and therefore few examples have been found. This ending is only used with E-stem verbs:

ποθοενθυμείσθε Liv. E 1132 πληροφορεῖσθε οἱ πάντες Achil. N 1742 θυμείσθε τὲς αἰχμαλωσιῆς Alosis 589 φιλείσθε SPANOS, Grammar 40.25

Pl.	2	-(ε)ιέσ τε(ν) † -(ε)ιέσθε(ν)

The innovative ending (ε)ιέσ τε(ν), in its more formal form with <θ> for <τ>, has not been found before the 16th c. (ms date of Diig. Alex. V), but the fact that Sofianos includes it in his grammar implies that it was already a well-established form. For the same ending with the present see 4.1.2.2; for a discussion of the appearance of /j/ after the stem consonant see 2.1.2.2.4. This ending has only been found with E-stem verbs: κρατιέσθεν δυνατὰ Diig. Alex. V 64.20; κρατειέσθε SOFIANOS, Grammar 67.9; [φιλ]ειέσθε SPANOS, Grammar 40.25.

Pl.	2	-οὔσ τε(ν) † -(ε)ιοὔσ τε(ν)

The only clearly regional variant found for 2 pl. is -οὔστε(ν), which occurs in texts from Chios with both A-stem and E-stem verbs (cf. barytone verbs, above (4.5.1.1.2), and the identical present indicative and imperfect endings (4.1.1.2, 4.1.2.2, 4.3.1.2 and 4.3.2.2):

τιμοῦστε GERMANO, Grammar 93.6; κρατειοῦστε ibid. 83.9; ἀγαπιοῦστε id., Vocab. s.v. amatevi ἀφικροῦστέν VEST., Pathi 293 κ' οἱ τρεῖς σάς το αὐκροῦστέν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2537 (= ἀφκροῦστέν < ἀφικροῦμαι).

4.5.2 The Aorist Imperative

4.5.2.1 Active Voice

The aorist active imperative is formed by adding the endings of the active imperative to the perfective active stem of the verb (for which see 2.2). This category comprises all oxytone verbs and barytone verbs with sigmatic, pseudosigmatic and thematic (second) aorist stems. A specific group of verbs with thematic aorist stems shows alternative stress patterns and other unique characteristics, for which see 4.5.2.3–4).

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	2	γράψε	γράψον γράψεν γράψι γράψ'
Pl.	2	γράψετε γράψατε	γράψτε γράψετεν γράψετενε

Distribution of Allomorphs

Singular

Sg.	2	-ε(ν) † -Ø † -ι

AG imperatives in -ον of barytone and oxytone verbs with sigmatic and liquid/nasal-stem aorists had begun to be replaced by forms in -ε from the first centuries of the first millennium onwards (JANNARIS 1897: 205; DIETERICH 1898: 248; GIGNAC 1981: 350–2), by analogy with the present and the thematic aorist imperatives, which all had /e/-endings (JANNARIS 1897: 205). For 2 sg. of the aorist active imperative -ε is the most common ending before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar, and can be found in texts from all areas and in all stylistic registers:

παράκυψε, βαγίτζα μου Dig. G IV.282 (spelled παράκυψαι, as if it were a (non-existent) middle aorist imperative); ἀπόστρωσε τὸν βοῦλχαν μου ibid. IV.376 ἄπαξ τὸν πόνον ἔπαρε καὶ ἀπομερίμνησέ το GLYKAS, Stichoi 212 σφίξε σφικτὰ τὰ ὀδόντια σου Ptoch. IV 481 app. crit. (H) γράψε ὅτι διδῶ του ἡμέρας ἄλλας δ' (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 15.47) πέψε το τοῦ κυροῦ μου (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.27) παρᾶμεινε εἰς τὸ μοναστήρι μας (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1855–6); μαγέρεψε νὰ φᾶμε

 (ibid. 2247)
 στεῖλε τον ἐδῶ (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.11–12)
 ἄπλωσε, πιάσε, ἀνάγνωσε Achil. N 929 κάτσε νὰ φᾶμεν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 84.27; πέψε μου ἀπὸ τοὺς λᾶς τῆς Κιρυνίας ibid. 448.9
 τὸ μουστᾶκιν του κλάσε το Spanos D 14 μόνον ἔλα καὶ βᾶπτισέ με KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 357.20–1 κάμε το (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 8, 87.1) στεῖλε ὑψηλὴ γραφὴν (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.25) τ' ὄνειρο ... ξεδήγησέ μου Stathis III.255 (active form of the deponent verb ξεδηγοῦμαι < ἐκδηγοῦμαι)
 Παναγία μου, ἀγιουτάρισέ μας (1731, Kefalonia, TSITSELIS 1904: App. 12, 913.18–19)

The verb γίνομαι, which usually retains its middle aorist imperative in -οῦ/-ου (see 4.9), can sometimes have imperatives in -ε, as in SMG (for confusion of the present and aorist stems (γιν- and γεν-) of this verb see 2.4). The earliest example occurs in a 14th-c. ms of Ptochoprodromos: γίνε προσχεριάρης Ptoch. III 210 app. crit. (M); μὴ γένε συ ἀνελεήμονος Diig. Alex. K 365.32; γίνε ὁδηγὸς τῇ στρατᾶς μου CHORTATSI, Erof. Dedic. 59.

Verbs starting in unstressed /e/ (e.g. ἐπαίρνω) tend to lose this vowel in non-past forms (ἐπαίρνω > παίρνω), whereafter “new” paroxytone forms emerge for the imperative singular. Paroxytone forms may also occur as a result of synizesis, through which the disyllabic verb stem becomes monosyllabic (e.g. πιάνω: πιάσε > πιάσεε):

ἄπλωσε, πιάσε, ἀνάγνωσε Achil. N 929
 πάρε τὰ ἄλογά μας, | ἔπαρε καὶ ἐκ τοὺς ἄρχοντες TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 185–6; καὶ πιάσε με ἐκ τὸ χέρι ibid. 225
 μὰ πάρε τὴν ζωὴν μου MONTSEL., Evgena 578

Addition of final /n/ appears in texts from south-western areas (cf. the present imperative, 4.5.1):

καὶ ἤκουσεν τοὺς λόγους μου Spaneas Z 431; διάβασεν τὴν χηρείαν σου ibid. 475 app. crit. ἔπαρεν ολίγο ψωμί NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 23.2–3 δράμεν ἐγλήγορα καὶ φέρε μου ... Diig. Alex. F 98.15 (Lolos); σύρεν καὶ ἐσύ, ψυχὴ ibid.
 136.16; πέρασεν τὸν Ἐφράτην ποταμὸν καὶ σύρε ibid. 242.19 γύρισεν, αὐθέντη, πρὸς ἐμὲ τὰ ἐλεήμονά σου μάτια Theseid ms Par. gr. 2898 f.32r; γρίκησεν τοὺς παρεκαλεσμούς μου ibid. f.39r; ὁδήγεψεν τὴν στρατᾶν μου ibid. f.39r ρώτηξέν τονε (1574, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 2007: 147.15)

Deletion of the final /e/ may occur, typically before clitic pronouns, though examples have been found of other environments (before the definite article, before νὰ, and even before a bare noun):¹²² ¹²²In the case of the imperatives of διδῶ and θέτω it is a matter of interpretation (and spelling) whether /'dos/ and /'thes/ are apocopated forms of δώσε and θέσε, or the irregular AG imperatives δός and θές, which do not necessarily constitute archaisms (see 2.4).

βοήθησ' με, κανάκι μου RUMI, Poem I 4 τὴν ἀδελφὴν μας ἄφησ' τὴν Dig. E 346; ἄφησ' με ibid. 953 (spelled ἄφης in the ed.)
 ἀπόλυσ' τον (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 199) ἔπαρ' με κόρη σύμβουλον Achil. L 653; στόχασ' τον ibid. 867 καὶ μῆνυσ' του νὰ ἔλθῃ ὧδε Assizes A 167.30 πιάσ' τὰ ροῦχα σου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 71; κι ἔπαρ' κι ἐσύ id., Thrinos 95; ἄφησ' νὰ δοῦμεν
ibid. 275
 καὶ λύτρωσ' με ἄφ' τὸ κακὸ LIMEN., Than. Rod. 637 ξάφρισ' το καλὰ (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.23); ἀδείασ' το ὄξω τὸ νερὸ (ibid. 60.30)
 ἔπαρ' παρηγορία Theseid X.34,7 (1529) ὀρδίνιασ' τὰ σπιτία σου Pist. kekoim. 330 βρίσ' τον (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 3, 302.20) ἔπαρ' τσι CHORTATIS, Katz. I.337; ἄφησ' τσι καυχησές σου ibid. III.457; πιάσ' με, νὰ ζήσης ibid. III.513
 γύρισ' τὴν γύρους ἐπτά (16th c., Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 87.21) ἄφης, ἄφησε GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. lasciare; πιάσε & πιάς ibid. s.v. pigliare φέρ' το, λέγω Bertoldin. 144.30 τὸ κιρὶ κράτησ' το (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 51.9) πιάσ' τὴ βουλή μου KORNAROS, Erot. II.43

Forms with /i/ for /e/ are phonetic rather than morphological variants and can be found in texts from areas that display mid-vowel raising (of unstressed /e/ to [i], see I, 2.5.4 for details): δῶσι μου καὶ τὰ ἱπίλοιπα (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.46r.3); ἔτσι κάμι, σὲ παρακαλῶ πουλλά (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 7, 68.32–3) (πουλλά = πολλά, see I, 2.8.3).

Sg.	2	-ον

The old imperatives in -ον had begun to be replaced by forms in -ε from the first centuries AD onwards (see above). Nevertheless forms in -ον can be found in a variety of texts throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, often alongside forms in -ε, e.g. σύγκρινον, σύγκρινέ μας Velth. 616 (Cupane). These forms can be called residual for all varieties but those of Asia Minor and S. Italy, which preserve imperatives in -ον to the present day (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 187); for Pontic see also OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 264. The learning method edited by Lehfeldt (see examples) has more features that are now characteristic of Pontic (see e.g. the aorist passive imperative; see also HENRICH 1996b): the imperative φάσον (“feed [me]!”) is derived from the Pontic verb φαγίζω/φαϊζω/φάζω; μάθισον (“teach!”) is from Pontic μαθίζω.

πώλησον ταύτην Dig. G I.106; γνώρισόν μοι ibid. IV.316; ἐπάκουσον εὐχῆς μου ibid. IV.371 ψυχὴ μου, μακροθύμησον GLYKAS, Stichoi 308 σφίξον καλὰ τὰ δόντια σου Ptoch. IV 481 κράτησον τὰ φουσαστά σου Chron. Mor. H 1117; ἄκουσον, φίλε ibid. 3407; σπουδάξον ibid. 4637 καρτέρησον, Ἀρμούρη μου Arm. 117 πλήρωσον ὡς μᾶς εἴπες Dig. E 60 ἤκουσον, υἱούττικε Spaneas Z 89 ἄκουσον νὰ τὸ μάθῃς Chron. Toc. 685; παῦσον τὸν θρῆγον τὸν πολὺν ibid. 3424 ὀρισον ἄλογα δῶδεκα Achil. L 85 ζήτησόν το (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 88.4d); πάχυνον τὸν σκύλον σου (ibid. 97.1d); φάσον μοι (ibid. 117.2d–3d); μάθισον τὸν υἱόν σου (ibid. 150.4d) ἔπαρον τοὺς ἀδελφούς σου Ptochol. α 142 ἄκουσον τὴν ἀλήθειαν Krasop. L 45 ἐλέησόν μας Diig. Alex. K 355.6 ἀλλὰ καρτέρησον μικρὸν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2793 προσκύνησον Alex. Fyll. 22.7; πίστευσόν με ibid. 95.12

Plural

Pl.	2	-ΕΤΕ -ΕΤΕΝ -ΕΤΕΝΕ -ΤΕ

The most common 2 pl. ending before, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar is -ετε, which can be found in texts from all areas and in all stylistic registers:

ζεματίσετε Ptoch. IV 594; θρέψετε ibid. 598 γυρεύσετε Dig. E 63
 ἀκούσετε Assizes B 278.1
 τὰ κάτεργα διορθώσετε Pol. Tr. 1608 θρηνήσετε LIMEN., Than. Rod. 36 ψυχοπονέσετέ μας Rim. than. 129; ἀπαντήξετέ μας ibid. 130 ἀγοράσετε (1493–4, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΕΣ 1968: 36, 179.3) γυρέψετε εἰς τὰς γραφὰς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 48.25; δήσετέ με ibid. 448.27–8 κλαύσετε καὶ θρηνεῖτε Moirol. Konst. 56 ἀκούσετε, γροικήσετε Theseid I.4,5 (Follieri) ἔροχινιάσετε ὀλλίγον καὶ μάθετε Pist. kekoim. 66 (< ἐξιχνιάζω) τὸν Θεὸν εὐκαριστήσετε Thysia Avr. 1036 ἀκαρτερέσετε, ἀκαρτερέσετε Bertoldin. 145.32–3 στείλετέ μου (1656, Amorgos, TSELIKAS 1988/1992: 3, 49.28) κρατήσετέ το (1666, Rome, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 11, 115.2)

Addition of final /n/ is not uncommon in texts from Chios:

καὶ ἀκούσετεν λιγάκι VEST., Paid. Makkav. 320; ξεκουφάνετέν τον ibid. 408; λογιάσετεν καλὰ ibid. 530; ἄπωνα τόνε γδάρετεν ibid. 1228 καὶ κάσσετεν, βρομήσετεν ὥστε νὰ ᾿δῶ τ’ αὐτί μου KONDAR., Paidēs 17 καὶ ἀμέστ’ ἀρπάξετέν την PETRITSIS, Dig. O 185; καὶ μένα φέρετέν την ibid. 186; τὸν Θεὸ δοξάσετεν ibid. 2677; γροικήσετεν καὶ τοῦτον ibid. 2985

Sometimes plural forms can be found in which the first stress falls on the same syllable as in the singular (cf. the imperfect and aorist indicative, 4.3.1 and 4.4), with a second stress on the penultimate. This stress pattern has been found in a document of northern provenance: ρώτησέτε τὸ Ζώτο (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17a, f.45v.10).

Syncopated forms have been found from the 15th/16th c. onwards, in texts from a variety of areas (for syncope see also I, 2.7.2):

πιᾶστε τὸν κλέφτην Assizes B 442.10
 βάλτε καλὰ ᾿ς τὸν νοῦν σας Theseid I.4,5 (Follieri) πιᾶστε με FALIEROS, Thrinos 267 πάρτε με μετὰ σας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 448.28 γιὰ πιᾶστε νὰ βγοδώσομεν γιὰ την αποθαμένη | κασέλα Apoll. Rim. A 921–2 στείλτε προβατοντύματα Alex. Rim. 1037; ἡ φέρτε τὴ γυναῖκα του ibid. 2253 ἐγροικῆστε, ἄνθρωποι Diig. Alex. F 204.6 (Konstantinopulos) σύρτε ἀπέ δω γλήγορα DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 13, μ8r.17 (1561) δώστε CHORTATIS, Panor. V.345; πιάστε τη, κορασίδες μου id., Erof. V.665 σύρτε καλύτερα εἰς ἐκείνους ὅπου τὸ πουλοῦσι KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 25.9

 καὶ πάρτε τὴν Εὐγένειά μου, σύρτε στὸ περιβόλι MONTSEL., Evgena 527; γλιτώστε με ibid. 565 ἐπάρτε τους ἀπὸ μπροστά IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2615 τὸ ὅ,τι σᾶς χρειάζεται ἀπὸ μένα πάρτε Diig. Vefa 1108 σύρτε εἰς τὸν αὐθέντην σας Alex. Fyll. 65.14

The verb πιάνω can have a syncopated form in which the /s/ of the perfective stem is omitted, resulting in 2 pl. πιάτε. This form has been found in Kallioupolis (Thrace) and in texts from Chios, where it usually has an added final /n/:

πιάτε τον KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 26.48 and Mark. 14.44 πιάτε τον ὅλοι VEST., Paid. Makkav. 385; πιάτεν τὸν τροχόν ibid. 1042; πιάτεν τὸν ἄλλον ibid. 1058; πιάτεν καὶ αὐτὸν ibid. 1176 πιάτεν το κ' ἐσεῖς KONDAR., Paides 340

Pl.	2	-ατε

The AG 2 pl. ending -ατε had started to be replaced by the ending -ετε of the present imperative in Hellenistic times (JANNARIS 1897: 205; DIETERICH 1898: 248). Nevertheless, residual forms in -ατε do appear in LMedG and EMG texts, usually alongside forms in -ετε:

πανταχοῦ ἐρευνήσατε Dig. G I.210; εἰ βούλεσθε, πεζεύσατε ibid. VI.200 ποιήσατε προστάγματα, κ' ἐγὼ νὰ τὰ βουλλώσω Chron. Mor. H 579; ἀκούσατε οἱ ἅπαντες ibid. 724 κροτήσατε χεῖρας Spanos D 116 χαλάσατε, ὄρη, ... βουνά, πλακώσατέ με DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 377 διορθώσατέ το ... καὶ περιθάλψετε τὸν (1448?, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 45, 321.6) ποιήσατε νὰ εἶναι πεπαιδευμένοι (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 289.14) κινήσατε [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 60 καὶ δικαιοῦσατέ με MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 232.3 (hapax) ἀκούσατε θαυμάσατε Θεοῦ μεγάλην δόξαν! Diig. Apoll. 403 ἐρωτήσατε αὐτὸν τὸν Καισαρείας Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 169–70 ἀκούσατε, Δελφοί: Vios Aisop. K 204.22 ἐξετάξετε ... καὶ ἐκεῖ μείνατε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 10.11; δείξατέ με τὸ νόμισμα ibid. 22.19 μικροί, μεγάλοι κλαύσατε, χύσετε σαν ποτάμι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 9943

4.5.2.2 Passive Voice

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	2	γράψου	γράφθητι -ηθι γράφθησε -σου	γράφουν γράφησεν -οῦ
Pl.	2	γραφθῆτε	γραφθῆτεν/γραφθεῖτε(ν)	γράφητε

Distribution of Allomorphs

Singular

Sg.	2	-ου

The ending -ου, employed by analogy with the present (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 101; see also 4.5.1.1.2), first appears with aorist middle forms, which consisted of the aorist active stem and the middle ending -αι; -ου, as an ending having a sufficiently passive “feel” to it, simply replaced -αι and was thus attached to the active stem. The earliest examples can be found in papyri of the first centuries AD, e.g. ἀπὸ τοῦ ζωδίου ἄρξου τοῦ κατὰ τὴν ἐποχὴν τῆς Σελήνης καὶ ἔκβαλε τὴν ποσότητα τῶν ζωδίων Anubion, Carm. astrol. III, 13.7 (ed. Obbink 2006) (1st c. AD); this passage was literally copied, including the form ἄρξου, by Hephaestion, Apotelesmatica 186.23 (ed. Pingree) (4th c. AD); and in the apocryphal Acta Thomae (3rd c.?: oldest ms 10th c.): κατὰ σεαυτὴν λόγισαι δι’ ὅλης τῆς νυκτὸς, δι’ ὅλης σκέψου τῆς νυκτὸς σήμερον Acta Thomae 228.2–4 (ed. Bonnet).¹²³ In contrast with the original middle forms in -αι (e.g. ἄρνησαι), the new forms in -ου are paroxytone (ἄρνήσου), in line with the present passive imperative forms from which the ending was borrowed. When the middle voice had completed its gradual collapse and fallen into disuse, remarkably the aorist imperative form in -ου held its ground.

σφογγίσου ἐκ τὸ πεπόνιν GLYKAS, Stichoi 267; ἀνακομπώσου, δέξου τον ibid. 331 τὸ τέκνον σου ἄρνήσου Dig. G II.168 ἄρρωστον ἐπισκέψου Spaneas Va 525 tipsu / τύψου (14th c., Yemen, GOLDEN 2000: 63.318) ἔπαρε κ’ εὐλόγησου τὴν Chron. Mor. H 2509; ἔμέναν παραδόσου ibid. 4064 λυτρώσου Liv. V 3615
εὐλόγησιν εὕξου με Paroim. F 49 ἐντύσου καὶ ποδέσου Peri xen. 36 ὄρισέν τὴν ὅτι: ἐκδύσου! Ptochol. P 229 δηγήσου τῆς τὰ πάθη μου Love poems V 336 (= διηγῆσου) αγάπη μου, στολίσου Kakop. 66 λούσου ἐκεῖ ἐπτά φορές DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 3, γ3v.22 (1561) στοχάσου PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.78; ἐξομολογήσου ibid. III §11.12; προσεύξου ibid. III §24.42 ἄρξου τῆς παρακλήσεως (1684–5 [ms], Cyprus, ŠANGIN 1936: 3, 118.3–4) ὅσο μπορείς βλεπήσου KORNAROS, Erot. I.1188 (for the stem βλεπητῆ- see 2.2.1.7) συλλογίσου καλὰ Don Kis. 113.26; στοχάσου ibid. 130.15

And not only did such ex-middle forms survive, the ending -ου also spread to the passive imperative of verbs that had not had an aorist middle in the first place, or for which the aorist middle had been very rare even in Antiquity (e.g. βοηθῶ, καταδικάζω, κοιμοῦμαι, πληροφορῶ, προδίδω, σηκώνω), as well as of new verbs (e.g. ἀντρειεύω, ζαλίζω, ¹²³ Later examples in non-vernacular texts include: ἄρξου ἀπὸ τοῦ νῦν παιδεύειν με Apophthegmata Patrum XV, §119.13 (ed. J.-C. Guy); ὑπάγε, μέμψου τοῖς πατράσι σου Ps. Gregentios, Dialexis III.236 (ed. Berger; 10th c.); λούσου ἐν ἀγερούσῃ λίμνῃ Byz. Phys. VIII.13 (ed. Sbordone; 11th c. original?); ἀπάρξου γράφε Ps. Psellos, Poem 58, 109 (ed. Westerink; 12th c., author unknown, 15th-c. mss); ἄρξου συντόμως id., Poem 67, 247).

καλογηρεύω). For all verbs with sigmatic perfective stems, these aorist passive imperatives are formed in exactly the same way as the old middle forms, by adding the ending -ου to the active perfective stem of the verb, e.g. σηκώνω: σηκώσ-ου > σηκώσου; πληροφορώ: πληροφορησ-ου > πληροφορήσου.

πληροφορέσου Dig. E 1793

ξενίσου Liv. E 153

μισταρεύσου με μετά ψωμίν καὶ μόνον [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1650 κρημνίσου, τρισάθλιε Spanos D 412 θέλεις γυναίκαν ἔπαρε, θέλεις καλογηρέψου LIMEN., Than. Rod. 406 στενέψου ἀπὸ τὸ ἔχει σου FALIEROS, Log. did. 286 δόξου ἕναν ὄφιν καὶ ἦρτεν τρεχάτον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 648.30 (< δοκῶ) προδῶσου Rim. kor. A 103

δὲν εἶπεν Λάζαρε, ἀναστήσου DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 5, ε8v.18 (1561) τίνος μιλῶ; σηκώσου! CHORTATIS, Katz. III.529; γης, σκίσου, ρούφηξέ με id., Panor. V.203 παντρέψου ἐσύ Stathis III.374

σηκώσου, μὴν κοιᾶσαι TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 247 ἐλεημονήσου με δέσποτα Diath. Nikon Metan. 88 ξεριζώσου καὶ φυτεύσου εἰς τὴν θάλασσαν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 17.6

ἀφκρίσου νὰ σὲ πῶ Thrinios Konst. (Zoras) 62 ξεζαλίσου KORNAROS, Erot. I.725; ἀντρεῖψου καὶ βουηθήσου ibid. I.1186

This is the development that can be traced in most areas, but a different development occurs in Cyprus, (parts of?) Asia Minor and the northern mainland, where the ending -ου is attached not to the active but to the passive stem, whether regular or irregular (see THUMB 1912: 158 for these forms in modern Cypriot). The lack of (passive) imperatives in non-literary texts such as the Cypriot law texts edited by Simon and Maruhn and the Assizes makes it impossible to establish when these forms first appear. Apart from the abundant evidence from Cyprus from the 15th/16th c. onwards, similar forms have been found in the 13th-c. poems of Sultan Walad (Konya, Cappadocia), in a quadrilingual book for learning Arabic that displays certain features common to modern Pontic in the Greek passages, among which this type of imperative (HENRICH 1990: 365),¹²⁴ as well as in a 17th-c. collection of folk songs copied in Athos, in Kallioupolitis's metaphrasis of the New Testament and in Alexander and Semiramis (Constantinopolitan scribe). The verb στρέφω (imp. pass. στράφου rather than στρέψου) seems to be the only verb with such an imperative to have had a more widespread geographical distribution:

ἔλα κάγου, λυγερέ, στὸν πόθον Του SULT. WALAD, Poem I 21

καὶ εὐχαρίστου τῆς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 218.6; ἐλεμονήθου με ibid. 254.4; ἐννοιάστου ibid. 480.33; διασώθου ibid. 496.19; ἀναγκάστου νὰ στραφῇς ibid. 552.23; βλεπήθου ibid.

554.19

κοιμήθου ἀμέριμνα VOUSTR., Chron. A 74.10–11; στάθου με καλήν καρδίαν ibid. 258.9

ἀθθυμήθου τῆς πτωχειᾶς Fior 102.38; ἐννοιάστου ibid. 102.40 ὑποδηματῶθου (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 101.4d); θερμάνθου ἐν πυρί (ibid. 104.1d); ἐπαναπαύτου κατήμενος (ibid. 139.4d)

¹²⁴For such forms in modern Pontic see OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 266; in modern Cypriot CHATZIOANNOU 1999: 61 ff. and SYMEONIDIS 2006: 225 ff.; in Cappadocian varieties DAWKINS 1916: 146 and 190.

ντύθου λεμοσύνην Cypr. Canz. 37.5; χρειάστου ibid. 37.6; στάθου ibid. 45.1; λυπήθου ibid.

77.13; πιντώθου ibid. 77.29 ἐννοιάστου καλὰ Fior 75.34 βλεπήθου με ὅλες τὲς βλέπησες Fior Suppl. 273.18; ἀπολογήθου ibid. 276.9

χάρου ἢ βασιλεία σου ἀπόψα Diig. Alex. Sem. S 786 ἄγριον πουλί, μερώθου μου Dimotika Ivir. X.1

βλεπήθου, Κύπρος, κι ἔρχεται Thrinios Kypr. 52; λυπήθου ibid. 138 καὶ ἀναστάθου ἀπὸ τούς νεκρούς KALLIOY., Eph. 5.14 στράφου, καλὲ νεώτερε Dig. E 991 στράφου καὶ μὴ αἰσχύνου Pol. Tr. 3528 app. crit. (B) στράφου εἰς τὸ παλάτι σου Hist. Imp. Iib 2480–1 στράφου, αὐθέντη εὐγενή Achil. O 472 στράφου εἰς τὸ σεντουκάκιν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2104 οἱ καβαλλάριδες ἐνέψαν του: στράφου! MACHAIRAS, Chron. 548.25

ἄμε καὶ στράφου Fior 101.13 στράφου σ' ἐκεῖνο το κλαδί CHORTATSI., Panor. III.91; στράφου σ' ἐμὲ λυπητερὰ id., Erof.

III.235

στράφου νὰ δεῖς τὸ Χουσαῖν BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 216.10 στράφου κ' ἐσύ KORNAOS, Erot. II.441

A shift of the stress to the ultimate is very rare and perhaps the result of confusion with the thematic aorist:¹²⁵ λοιπὸν στραφοῦ Pol. Tr. 1056 app. crit. (ABX); στραφοῦ καὶ μὴ αἰσχύνει ibid. 3528 app. crit. (V).

Sg.	2	-σου

The combination of the perfective active stem consonant /s/ and ending -ου eventually led to a reanalysis of the morpheme as a passive imperative ending -σου. This new ending could then be used for verbs with non-sigmatic aorist active stems (e.g. δέρνω and σύρ(ν)ω/σέρνω), and even for deponent verbs, which did not have an active perfective stem at all (e.g. ἀποκρίνομαι, κοιμοῦμαι, στέκομαι and the oxytone alternative passive perfective stem of κρύπτω, κρυβήθ-). In these cases the ending -σου is added to the passive perfective stem, whereby the passive marker <θ> of the stem is deleted before /s/, e.g. σύρ(ν)ω/σέρνω: συρθ-σου > σύρσου, στέκομαι: σταθ-σου > στάσου, ἀποκρίνομαι: ἀποκριθ-σου > ἀποκρίσου, κοιμοῦμαι: κοιμηθ-σου > κοιμήσου. As becomes clear from the examples below, the imperatives of deponent verbs (e.g. ἀποκρίσου, θυμήσου, στάσου and φοβήσου) have a wide geographical distribution, whereas σύρσου and δάρσου have only been found in texts from Crete:

στάσου κατὰ ἀνατολὰς Pol. Tr. 561 app. crit. (V); λοιπὸν καὶ ἀποκρίσου με ibid. 9931 κύρκα, φοβήσου τὸν Θεὸν Dig. E 1549

κρυβήσου μοναχός σου Liv. E 2087

κοιμήσου, τέκνον μου καλὸν Achil. L 224 στάσου, καράβι, νὰ χαρῆς Anak. Konst. 16 ἀάλησε κι ἀποκρίσου PIKAT., Rima thrin. 456

¹²⁵ The same form appears in a 10th-c. text transmitted in a 15th-c. ms: στραφοῦ, δίκαιε Ἰωάννη Hippiatr. 297.11 (eds. Oder/Hoppe, vol. II).

ἐνθυμήσου Diig. Alex. F 298.6 (Lolos); φοβήσου τὸν θεόν ibid. 186.23–4 (Konstantinopulos) λυπήσου μας DAM. SToud., This., Logos 30, Z4r.24–5 (1561) στάσου στην Καλλιπολι (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 48.25) στάσου στὸ Μεστόν Βιβάρι (1572, Peloponnese, VEIS 1956: 449.16) κι' ἀφιδάρεψου μού τα CHORTATSI, Katz. III.13; τσι' δούλεψες θυμήσου id., Erof. IV.354 δάκρυσε καὶ λυπήσου ΜΑΤΤΗΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2457 στάσου ἥσυχος Bertoldos 64.4 κρυβήσου PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §7.107; στάσου μὲ φόβον Θεοῦ ibid. III §23.7 θυμήσου καὶ ξμένα (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 24.11) στάσου παρέκει Don Kis. 45.14; αποκρίσου με εἰς αὐτό ibid. 130.22 σύρσου ἀπὸ δῶ CHORTATSI, Katz. I.243 σύρσου, καὶ μὲ τὴ ράχη πήγαινε ὀπίσω Stathis II.127 σύρσου παρέκει λίγον Pist. voskos III 6.404 ὀπίσω σύρσου FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.371 κλάψε καὶ δάρσου, Ρέθεμνος BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 195.13; Εὐρώπη, δάρσου σήμερο ibid.
 549.20 (probably modelled on γδέρνω, ἔγδαρσά) σύρσου ἀπὸ ῥεῖ KORNAROS, Erot. V.676

The only verb that deviates from this formation is ἐγείρω, which used to lack a separate perfective stem. From the moment it developed a new imperfective stem γερν- (see 2.4), forms with -γερν- tended to be interpreted as perfective, and thus what was originally the present imperative (ἐγείρου) came to be used for the aorist:

egiru / ἐγείρου (14th c., Yemen, GOLDEN 2000: 63.20) (translated as “rise, stand up!”) ἐγείρου, κοράσιον μου Dig. E 911 ἐγείρου ἀπὸ τὴν γῆν Liv. V 446 ἐγείρου διασυντόμως Flor. L 514 δέσποινά μου, ἐγείρου Achil. N 1234 (cf. ἐγέρνεται ibid. 1065) γείρ' ἀπ' ἀτοῦ, μεθύστακα! CHORTATSI, Katz. III.529 γείρου Thysia Avr. 1

Addition of final /n/ is very rare and probably does not represent a true “nasal”, but rather indicates that the following voiceless stop /t/ was pronounced as voiced /d/ (see I, 3.8.3.2 for details): λυπήσουν τὴν πτωχὴν τὴν ἀδελφὴν σου (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.57).

Sg.	2	-Ø

Shortened forms exist of certain verbs, such as σηκώνω and στέκομαι.¹²⁶ The form σήκω can be used intransitively as well as transitively (cf. the forms σήκου, below, and σήκα, 4.5.2.3).¹²⁷

¹²⁶ There appears to have been a Late Antique low-register form στᾶ for στῆθι (< ἵστημι), recorded in Photios, quoting Olympiodoros (5th c. AD): «στᾶ, στᾶ, οὐ λούει», and also to be found in Leontios of Naples: εἶπεν ὁ κύρις σου· ‘στά’ Leontios of Naples, Life of Symeon the Holy Fool 84.24 (7th c.). Choroiboskos mentions the same form when treating the much more common Koine form ἀνάστα (for ἀνάστηθι). Given the scarcity of older evidence, it cannot be established with certainty whether the LMedG form is a continuation of the Late Antique form, or an innovative shortened form of στάσου. The form στά also appears in varieties of modern Pontic (ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1958: 267) and Cappadocian (DAWKINS 1916: 146).

¹²⁷ Transitive use of σήκω can for instance also be found in the Zakynthian Dimitrios Gouzelis’s comedy O Chasis (σήκω τὸ κεφαλάκι σου I.131), the final version of which dates from 1795 (ed. Z. Synodinos, Athens 1997), as well as in colloquial MG.

ista / ιστά (14th c., Yemen, GOLDEN 2000: 76.13) (with prothetic /i/ because most Semitic languages do not permit word-initial consonant clusters)¹²⁸ στά, μή φοβᾶσαι Liv. E 646

στά, μή ὀλιγωρῆς Liv. V 3441 and Liv. S 561 (Lambert-van der Kolf) καὶ στά εἰς προσευχήν (15th c. [ms], Unknown, DELATTE 1927: Suppl., 585.12) στάθου, κυρά μου, στά νά σέ βιγλίσω Cypr. Canz. 45.1

στά ὀλίγον Fior 116.29

στά, κόρη μου Ptochol. P 238

σήκω ἀπὸ τὸν ὕπνο Liv. V 1167 σήκω, υἱέ μου Peri xen. 36 app. crit. (A) σήκω, σύρε στάσου DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 20, τ2v.13–14 (1561) σήκω, πατέρα Diig. Alex. F 136.11 (Lolos) σήκωσε vel σήκω ... τὴν τράπεζαν ROMANOS, Grammar 140.17–18 (transitive) σήκω GERMANO, Grammar 82.15

σήκω ἀπάνου KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 6.8; σήκω το κρεβάτι σου καὶ περιπάτει ibid.

Ioann. 5.12 (transitive)

σήκω, γλυκύτατό μου φῶς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1757

σήκω, παπαῖ Νεόφυτε NEOFYTOS, Achouri 259

In the case of σηκώνω, the new ending /o/ of the shortened form may be replaced with the regular imperative ending /u/:

κυρά μου σήκου στόχας' τον Achil. L 843; σήκου νά τὸν ἀποδεκτοῦμεν ibid. 1089 σήκου καὶ ζήτησόν το (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 88.4d) σήκου ἕναν κόρπον τὰ μνημόσυνα Pist. kekoim. 527–8 (transitive)

Sg.	2	-ητι ὁ -ηθι

The AG ending -ητι (< -ηθι with progressive dissimilation when the passive stem ends in -θ) gradually fell into disuse from the Koine onwards and came to be replaced by the endings -ου (see above) and -ησε (see below). Residual forms in -ητι can still be found in various texts, especially fossilized forms that belong to the religious/ecclesiastical tradition, such as μνήσθητι (< μιμνήσκω), ἰλάσθητι (< ἰλάσκομαι), πείσθητι (< πείθω), σπλαχνίσθητι (< σπλαγχνίζω), and πληροφορήθητι (< πληροφορῶ):

πείσθητι οὖν Dig. G IV.733; φάνηθι ἐκ τῶν ἔργων ibid. VI.196; ἦλιε, ζοφώθητι ... | σελήνη, μελανώθητι ibid. VIII.216–17

παύθητι τῆς ὀργῆς σου GLYKAS, Stichoï 235; ψυχὴ μου, παρακλήθητι ibid. 300 γοργὸν αὐτὸ ἐπιλήσθητι Spaneas Va 384 (“new” formation for ἐπιλάθου) καὶ πείσθητι γεροντικοῖς καὶ πατρικοῖς σου λόγοις Ptoch. III 72 αἰσχύνθητι, ἐντρέπηθι Diig. tetr. 264 app. crit. (CLA) τοῦτο πληροφορήθητι Pol. Tr. 373; ἐσὺ κοιμήθητι ibid. 473 ιδού καὶ μνήσθητι ἐμοῦ Diig. Apoll. 148 μνήσθητι [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 263

¹²⁸ Example taken from the Rasūlid Hexaglot, a 14th-c. Arabic–Persian–Turkic–Greek–Armenian–Mongol glossary in Arabic script.

καὶ κλίθητι πρὸς πόθον Achil. N 970 πληροφορήθητι ἀπ' ἐμοῦ Log. parig. O 166 (Politi); ἀδελφέ, ἀποκρίθητι ibid. 628 (interestingly, the earlier ms L reads: πληροφορήθηκε and ἀποκρίθηκε; see below)

κρημνίσθητι Spanos D 24

μνήσθητί μου, Κύριε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 383.42

ἀποκρίθητί μοι Vios Aisop. K 198.15 σπλαχνίσθητί τους ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 9986; ἰλάσθητι, Μακρόθυμε ibid. 9989

Sg.	2	-ησε(ν)

The AG ending -ηθι (see above) was reformed into a more familiar-looking -ησε by analogy with the active: sg. δέσε, pl. δέσετε : sg. δέθητι, pl. δέθητε > sg. δέθησε (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 81, fn. 1). The spelling with <αι> for <ε> in the last syllable in some manuscripts and modern editions, as if they were innovative aorist middle imperatives, is unjustified. It cannot be established with certainty when forms in -ησε first appeared, but they were clearly well established by the beginning of the LMedG period and can also be found in certain mixed- and higher-register texts, such as Kallimachos and the 14th-c. Metaphrasis of the Alexiad.¹²⁹ The oldest example found so far is κρυβήθηκε in Symeon the New Theologian, Poem 21, v. 418 app. crit. (D) (ed. Koder) (10th/11th c. original; the reading is taken from the oldest ms, Marc. gr. 494, which dates from the 13th c.). Forms in -ησε have been found in texts from northern areas and the mainland, the Peloponnese being the southernmost area where they appear to have been in use. They gradually fell into disuse in favour of forms in -ου (see above) during the 15th/16th c., everywhere but in certain northern areas: see the examples from Kallioupolitis (Thrace) and the grammar of Romanos Nikiforou (Thessaloniki), for which see also Liosis 2017: 562.¹³⁰ ψυχή, περισωρεύθῃσαι GLYKAS, Stichoí 189 μᾶλλον δὲ στερεώθῃσαι Spaneas Va 296; αὐτὸ πληροφορήθῃσαι ibid. 497 πληροφορήθηκε ἀπ' ἐμέν Log. parig. L 164; χάρησε ἀπὲ τῶρα ibid. 405 συγκλίθηκε Liv. E 197; πληροφορέθηκε ibid. 213; παρηγορήθησέ μας ibid. 2961 πληροφορήθησέ το Pol. Tr. 219 app. crit. (AEVX), 572 app. crit. (all mss), 1471, 12736 and 12863; καὶ στάθηκε ibid. 561 app. crit. (E) μίαν ἡμέραν στάθηκε Peri xen. 319 ἐγνωρίσθηκε μετ' ἐμᾶς (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 273); νίφθηκε (ibid. 1218); ἐνδύθηκε (ibid. 2453) κρύβησαι [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 492 στράφησε ὁμπρὸς δουμάκι Deft. Par. 366 αφηκρίστησέ μου AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 94.6

συλλογίσθηκε Diig. Alex. Sem. B 752

καὶ θάλασσα βρυχήσθηκε ὡς τὴν συμφορὰν τῆς Πόλης Thrinos Konst. (Zoras) 10 γράφησε ROMANOS, Grammar 27.15; ἀγαπήθηκε ibid. 42.16; ἀποκρύφθηκε vel ἀποκρύψου ibid. 89.24 προσευχήθηκε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 6.6; σιώπα' ἀποστομώθηκε ibid. Mark. 4.39

ρίχθηκε εἰς τὴν θάλασσαν ibid. 11.23

¹²⁹πραγματεύθῃσαι τὴν σωτηρίαν σας Metaphr. Alexiad 394.5–6.

¹³⁰Forms in -ησε survive in modern Macedonia, see e.g. Tsopanakis 1953: 291–2 for the dialect of Siatista.

Addition of final /n/ is very rare: δέθησεν Liv. E 199.

Plural

Pl.	2	-ητε

AG proparoxytone 2 pl. forms in -ητε are residual by the beginning of the period covered by this Grammar, as they had been replaced by paroxytone subjunctive forms (see below). They can occasionally be found, often alongside paroxytone forms:

στράφητε Dig. G VI.638; αἱ τῶν ἀστέρων ἄπασαι σβέσθητε φρυκτωρία ibid. VIII.218 ἄμαρτωλοί, πορεύθητε GLYKAS, Stichoi 486 δεῦτε σμίχθητε σήμερον Log. parig. L 14 ἀθροίσθητε καὶ περισυσταθῆτε Dig. A 2701 τοῦτον φοβήθητε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 12.5

Pl.	2	-ῆτε(ν)/-εῖτε(ν) -ῆτεν/-εῖτεν -ήτενε/-είτενε

The 2 pl. aorist passive imperative was morphologically identical to 2 pl. aorist passive subjunctive but for the stress, the former being proparoxytone and the latter paroxytone. Since the subjunctive was used in a hortative sense very close in meaning to the imperative (JANNARIS 1897: 206), paroxytone forms gradually replaced the original proparoxytone ones. A similar process of the imperative being replaced by the subjunctive can be seen in the imperative of the active thematic aorist, which not only adapts its stress pattern to the subjunctive, but changes ending as well (e.g. ἴδετε > ἰδῆτε), as well as in prohibitions: μή + present imperative was replaced by μή + present subjunctive in the first centuries AD (JANNARIS 1897: 565–6). Some modern editors prefer to spell the subjunctive/imperative ending /ite/ with <ει>, others with <η>; this difference is purely graphematic.

βλεπηθῆτε καλὰ Assizes B 309.24 βαλθῆτε εἰς τὸ στρέμμα σας Pol. Tr. 1440; τριγύρου του σταθεῖτε ibid. 9741 σμιγεῖτε μετ' ἐμένα Log. parig. O 14 (Politi) σύντομα σηκωθῆτε Liv. E 2958 ἀκροσταθεῖτε SACHLIKIS, Vouli pol. 96 καλὰ συντροφευτεῖτε Kakop. 186 δεκτεῖτε καὶ ἐμένα τὸν λόγον μου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 350.20 ὦ φίλοι, σταθεῖτε ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 52.9–10 γερθῆτε γλήγορα ἀπὸ δῶ Chortatsis, Erof. IV.428 μαζωκτεῖτε Thysia Avr. 195; ξυπνᾶτε, σηκωθεῖτε ibid. 237 ἀσηκωθῆτε τώρα Bertoldos 19.8
 στοχαστεῖτε τὰ πουλία KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 6.26; ἀναπαυθεῖτε ὀλίγον ibid. Mark. 6.31; φοβηθεῖτε ἐκείνον ibid. Louk. 12.5
 αὐτὰ να τα ἀφήσετε, συλλογισθεῖτε ἄλλον ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 1524; μεγάλως ταρακτεῖτε ibid. 5369 ἀφουκρασθῆτε τὸ λοιπὸ ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. I.17; καὶ φυλαχτῆτε ibid. I.514 στοχασθεῖτε καὶ τας πληγὰς του VAROUCHAS, Logoι 468.36

Addition of final /n/ is a Chiot feature: ἐμένα λυπηθῆτεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 865; ἐλεημονηθῆτεν ibid. 866; δένδρα, ξερριζωθῆτεν | ... καὶ κάμποι λυπηθῆτεν ibid. 3053–4.

Pl.	2	-τε

Shortened forms of 2 sg. may lead to new 2 pl. formations, as with the verb σηκώνω, which has a shortened 2 sg. form σήκω (see above); for comparable forms cf. 2 sg. ἄμε, 2 pl. ἄμετε, for which see 2.4.

ἔκ το στρώμα σας σηκώτε ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 227.12 (intrans.)

σηκώτε ἀπάνω Bertoldos 41.36 (intrans.)

σηκώτε καὶ μὴν φοβάσθε ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΡ., Kaini Diath. Matth. 17.7 (intrans.); σηκῶτε τὴν πέτραν ibid. Ioann. 11.38 (trans.)

σηκώσετε vel σηκῶτε τὴν τράπεζαν ROMANOS, Grammar 140.17–18 (trans.)

4.5.2.3 /a/ Imperatives

Sg.	2	-α
Pl.	2	-ᾶτε

Alternative /a/-endings are used for the aorist active imperative of prefixed derivatives of βαίνω and certain other verbs (πίνω, σύρ(ν)ω/σέρνω, σηκώνω), and have even been found with certain passive imperatives (of στρέφω and σηκώνω). Note that verbs that allow for the /a/-ending (with the exception of the regionally attested rare /a/-form of πίνω) belong to the same semantic field of verbs of motion: “go!”, “come!”, “run!” “stay!”, “turn around!”, and may therefore have been modelled on common aorist imperatives in -α such as that of ἐλάω (ἐλα) and prefixed forms of βαίνω (ἔμβα, κατάβα), all of which are Ancient (see LSJ s.v. ἐλαύνω and βαίνω). Another verb that belongs to the same semantic field of verbs of motion, namely ὑπάγω, developed a shortened form ὕπα (< ὕπαγε, which had replaced aor. ὑπάγαγε long before the period covered by this Grammar; see 2.4), in the EMedG period.¹³¹

4.5.2.3.1 Active Voice

Forms in -α are used for the aorist active imperative of compounds of the verb βαίνω (e.g. ἔκβα/ἔβγα, ἔμπα, σέβα, ἀνέβα, κατέβα), of ὑπάγω and of ἔρχομαι, whose alternative ἐλα is much more common than the “regular” forms in /e/ (see 4.5.2.4). The form ἐλα originally derived from ἐλαύνω/ελάω, but attached itself to the verb ἔρχομαι before the period covered by this Grammar.¹³² Rare examples of other verbs have been found in a 15th-c. tetralingual method for learning Arabic, which has certain features that can also be found ¹³¹ See e.g. ὕπα, μάθε τὴν κατάστασιν, ὁ Μαυρίκης οὐκ ἀπέθανεν in an early 7th-c. acclamation on Phokas (in Theofylaktos); ὕπα καλῶς, γεράκιν μου in an 11th-c. acclamation on Alexios Komnenos (in Anna Komnene) (see MAAS 1912: 35–6).

¹³² Interesting in this respect is the entry in Hesychius, which illustrates the shift in meaning (at least among the Spartans): ἐλα ... Λάκωνες. βάδιζε. λέγε Hesychius, Lex., E 1835 (5th/6th c.).

in modern Pontic¹³³ and in two magical texts of unknown provenance, of the verbs πίνω, σύρ(ν)ω/σέρνω and a shortened form of σηκώνω: σήκα. The form σήκα is likely to be passive in principle, but to have come to be used with transitive (active) meaning, just like other shortened forms of this verb (cf. σήκω and σήκου above):

Singular

- κατέβα κύρι σύ<ν>τεκνε (11th c., Mani, DRANDAKIS 1972/73: 2, 666.2–3) διάβα ὡς τὸ Πουλίτισιν Ptoch. IV 120 ἔβγα ἀπ' ἐδῶ, λυσσόγερε Dig. E 1519 ἔμπα εἰς πόλεμον Pol. Tr. 4038 ἔκβα ἀπὸ τὴν μέσην Diig. tetr. 353 app. crit. (VCA) γύρου ἀνέβα, κατέβα Ptochol. P 234 εἰς τὴν ἰστιὰν ἔμπα γοργό FALIEROS, Ist. On. 58 ἔβγα, ἄγωμε εἰς τὰ μέρη τῆς Τουρκίας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 158.33–4 ἔβγα ἰδές με Love poems V 384 ἀνάβα τῷ δώματι, κατάβα (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 102.3d) σέβα εἰς τὴν Ἱερουσαλήμ Diig. Alex. K 347.21–2 Λάζαρε, ἔβγα ἔξω DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 5, ε8v.19 (1561) διάβα Diig. Alex. Sem. B 276 ἀνήβα GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. ascendere; κατήβα vel κατέβα ibid. s.v. descendere ἔβγα καὶ σύρα (16th/17th c. [ms], Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 65.7; and ibid. 65.15–16) σέβα εἰς τὸ σπίτιν σου PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §7.106
- ἔλα ἀπόψε κοντά μου SULT. WALAD, Poem IV 1β ἔλα καλέ μου RUMI, Poem II 5; ἔμπα ἔσω, ἔλα ᾽δῶ ibid. 6 ἔλα ἐμπρός Pol. Tr. 511 ἔλα πρὸς ἐμέ [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 1831 ἔλα, ψυχὴ μου, στράφου DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 130 θέλεις ἄμε, θέλεις ἔλα Fior 102.35 ἔλα καὶ σέβα Diig. Alex. F 126.6 (Lolos) ἔλα καὶ ἐπαρέ με NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 18.3 ἔλα μοῦ τ' ἀγοράσης! CHORTATIS, Katz. III.92 ἔλα, γίνου Τοῦρκος PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §4.10 ἔλα νὰ πᾶμε στοῦ παπαῖ (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 518, 745.2)
- ὔπα, ἄς ἀνασάνωμεν Liv. V 2377
 ὔπα καλῶς Liv. α 3202 ὔπα, σηκώσου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 377
- φάγε, πία (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 101.4d); σήκα τοῦτο τὸ καλαμάριν (ibid. 190.1d) σήκα τὸν λαόν σου (app. crit.) (16th c., Unknown, VASSILIEV 1893: 334.5)

Plural

- ἀπάνω εἰς τὰ τειχεὰ τῆς πόρτας ἀνεβᾶτε Chron. Mor. H 8310 ἔβγατε εἰς τὰ φουσάτα μου Dig. E 63 ἔβγατε ἀπὸ τὸ ὅσπίτιν μου Spaneas Z 505 ἐκβάτε ἀπὸ τὴν μέσην μας Diig. tetr. 572 app. crit. (CA) καὶ ἀφότου γνωρισθῆτε, ᾽σεβάτε με τὴν κόρην Liv. α 3108 app. crit. (P) ¹³³ For Pontic elements in this text see HENRICH 1998a; for these forms in modern Pontic, e.g. πία and σκότα (<σκοτώνω>), see ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1958: 264–5.

διαβάτε οὖν καὶ σεῖς μ' αὐτόν KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua V.81 κατεβᾶτε Pent. Gen. 42.2 ἐβγάτε Diig. Alex. E 35.5 (Konstantinopulos) ἐβγάτε νὰ ἰδῆτε SKORD. MARAF. G., Evang. 426.8 κι ἀπέκει ἔξω ἐβγάτε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 165.13 σεβᾶτε εἰς τὴν ντέντα μου [VLASTOS], Dig. P II 324.19 ἐσεῖς ἀνεβᾶτε εἰς τὴν εορτὴν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 7.8

ἐλᾶτε μετ' ἐμένα Log. parig. L 14 ἐλᾶτε Pol. Tr. 3527
ἐλᾶτε ὡς παραστικάμενοι (1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 169.11) ἐλᾶτε νὰ μοῦ τὸ εἰπέτε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 339.8–9 ἐλᾶτε, μὴν ἀργεῖτε Thysia Avr. 238 ἐλᾶτε καὶ σεῖς ξύλα, πέτρες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.67 ὕπᾶτε εἰς τὴν τέντα μου Dig. E 169 ἀδελφία μου, ὕπᾶτε εἰς τοὺς γονιούς σας Achil. O 588 ὕπᾶτε καὶ σφαλίσετε DELLAP., Epit. Thrinis 497 ὕπᾶτε, θάψετε τὴν SACHLIKIS, Katalogi 97

Addition of final /n/ occurs in texts from Chios and the Heptanese: ἐξεβγάτεν Diig. Alex. F 34.8 (Konstantinopulos); ἐλᾶτεν νὰ γενῆτεν KONDAR., Paides 12; κατηβᾶτεν ἀφ' τᾶλογα PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2567; ἄ θέλετεν ἐλᾶτεν ibid. 2568.

A proparoxytone form has been found in a theatrical play from Chios: ἤβγατεν ὅλοι ὀξω KONDAR., Paides 8.

For the alternative plural form ἐλάστε/ἐλάστεν(ε) see 2.4.

4.5.2.3.2 Passive Voice

For the aorist passive the ending -α occurs in a shortened form of σηκώνω (cf. σήκω and σήκου above) in one ms of Florios. This ending -α has also been found with the verb στρέφομαι, attached to the aorist passive stem, in two mss of the War of Troy and in Trivolis: στράφα, μηδὲν αἰσχύνου Pol. Tr. 3528 app. crit. (AX); πάλε στράφα εἰς ἐμένα ibid. 7839 app. crit. (X); Φλώριε, σήκα, φίλησε τὰ κόκκινά μας χεῖλη Florios 839 app. crit. (V); καὶ παραμπρὸ στράφα δεξιὰ TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 221.

A plural in -ᾶτε has been found only of the verb στρέφω: στραφᾶτε ὀπίσω in Chron. Mor. H 5179; στραφᾶτε, εἰπέτε του ἀπὸ ἐμᾶς ibid. 5189; κατὰ Λατίνους στραφᾶτε ms Vat. gr. 977, f.52v, marginal note.¹³⁴

An extreme case of analogical formation can be observed where the deictic particle νὰ (“here is ...”, “look ...”) is concerned, of which a plural form νάτε (see THUMB 1912: 155; DAWKINS 1932: II 256) can be found in several texts.¹³⁵ It has even been found with final /n/, in a text from Chios:

¹³⁴ Ms Vat. gr. 977 is an 11th/12th-c. ms of Theophylaktos Simokattes's Historiae. A facsimile of f.52v is offered by NĀSTUREL 1956, pl. I. Năsturel read “στραφεῦτε”, but has been corrected by V. Laurent in a bibliographical note in BZ 50 (1957), 208 (“Sur la pl. I, en marge, lire: κατὰ Λατίνους στραφᾶτε et non κατὰ λατίνον στραφεῦτε (p. 183)”). According to NĀSTUREL 1956: 183, the marginal note dates to the 14th/15th c.

¹³⁵ Νάτε forms a striking parallel to the AG 2 pl. imperative δεῦτε, formed from the adverb δεῦρο. The exact reverse seems to have occurred with the adverb ἐδάρτε (< ἔδε ἄρτι) (“now”, “look!”), which developed a singular form ἐδάρε.

καὶ νάτε τοῦτα τὰ ἄλογα, καβαλικεύσετέ τα Liv. E 2974 ἀνὲν καὶ μὲν δὲν μοῦ πιστεύετε, νάτε τὸ χαρτὶν τοῦτον MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 232.11 νάτε τὴν θυγατέραν μου KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 224.39 νάτεν τους KONDAR., Paides 222 καὶ λέγει ντων: νάτε! ἐτούτη εἶναι ἡ σερμαγιά μας (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 26.12–13)

4.5.2.4 Verbs with Barytone and Oxytone Forms

As mentioned in the introduction to this chapter, verbs with thematic aorists (e.g. βάλλω, εὐρίσκω, λέγω, μανθάνω/μαθαίνω, ὁράω/βλέπω, πίνω, φεύγω) had 2 sg. in -ε and 2 pl. in -ετε since Antiquity, and they continue to do so throughout the period under review. Some of these verbs, and notably βλέπω, εὐρίσκω and λέγω, show variation in the position of the stress (e.g. ἴδε and ἰδέ), the emergence of monosyllabic forms through the loss of the first unstressed /i/ (e.g. εἰπέ > πέ), and innovation in the endings themselves, namely an added 2 sg. marker /s/ to oxytone forms (e.g. ἰδές), as well as the adoption of the indicative/subjunctive ending εἴτε/-ῆτε for the plural. By analogy with these verbs βαίνω, which in AG had had an athematic aorist (βῆθι, βῆτε) as well as alternative forms in -α (2 sg.) and -ατε (2 pl.) in prefixed forms (for which see 4.5.2.3), developed a 2 sg. imperative in /e/ towards the very end of the EMG period or perhaps shortly after. For these imperatives and an overview of bibliography see also KATSOUDA 2002.

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	2	-ε -έ	-ές
Pl.	2	-ετε -έτε -εἴτε/-ῆτε	-ετεν -έτενε -εἴτεν/-ῆτεν -εἴτενε/-ῆτενε	-ατε -έτεν

Distribution of Allomorphs

Singular

Sg.	2	-ε

The inherited ending -ε of thematic aorists remains in use throughout the LMedG and EMG periods. Since most verbs in this category have monosyllabic stems, the imperative forms are paroxytone, unless the verb is prefixed with a preposition, in which case the stress may shift to the antepenultimate. Most of these verbs also have oxytone forms (see below), which are usually more common than the paroxytone forms. An exception are the verbs λαμβάνω/λαβαίνω and μανθάνω/μαθαίνω, for which paroxytone forms (μάθε, λάβε) are far more common than oxytone ones. The verb φεύγω seems to avoid oxytone forms altogether. For ἔρχομαι the imperative ἔλα (see 4.5.2.3) is much more common than the thematic one (ἔλθε).

ἴδε ξμνοστον νέον Dig. G IV.282 ἀλλ' ἴδε τὴν ἀσύγκριτον τοῦ θεανθρώπου κρίσιν Ptoch. III 258 ἔλθε μετὰ μέ Chron. Mor. H 5426 ἐσὺ δὲ φύγε ἀπ' ἐδῶ Diig. tetr. 825
 καὶ τοιοῦτον εὔρε Liv. α 2019
 φάγε, πῖε Spanos A 262
 ἔπαρε τὸν ἄνθρωπον καὶ ἴδε τόπον ἔρημον Paroim. K 107 ὕπαγε πρὸς τὴν πόρτα καὶ ἴδε Vios Aisop. K 182.13 πῖε ἀπ' αὐτόνο MOREZINOS, Klini 19.26 ἴδε κεφάλια ὅπου κρέμονται Diig. Alex. Sem. B 138 πῖε GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. bevere; ξανάπαρε ibid. s.v. rihavere εὔρε μεγάλα ροδάκινα LANDOS, Geopon. 151.24 ἄγωμε στοῇ κερα-Μηλιᾶς, εὔρε τη FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.204 κ' ἔλα τὴν νύκτα, εὔρε μας PETRITSIS, Dig. O 647 γύρεψε κ' εὔρε γιατρικὸ KORNAROS, Erot. I.1274 ἐδάρτε, μάθε γράμματα καὶ θάρρει νὰ προκόψης GLYKAS, Stichoi 204 δέξου καὶ λάβε Dig. E 118 καὶ μάθε τὰ λυπούμαι Achil. L 603 καὶ τοιοῦτον εὔρε καὶ τὸν νοῦν, μάθε, τὸν ἰδικόν μου Liv. α 2019 λάβε, κύριε Assizes A 61.25
 μάθε τὸ τί μ' ἐποῖκε SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 79
 εἶμαι, μάθε, δαίμων DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2101

In verbs deriving from simple or prefixed forms of AG βάλλω deletion of the final /e/ may occur, typically before clitic pronouns:

ἐβγαρ' μου τὴν κούρασαν μου VOUSTR., *Chron. A 220.14*¹³⁶ βάρ' της βλεπατόρους Fior 149.12 βάρ' το εἰς τὸ λαμπρόν καὶ εὐθύς ἐβγαρ' το καὶ βάρ' ὅς τὸ κατώφλιον (16th/17th c. [ms], Cyprus, DELATTE 1927: [1], 82.17–18) ὦ θάνατε, ἔβγαλ' με, παρακαλῶ σε, ἀπὸ τόσα βάσανα Bertoldin. 142.14–15 ἔπειτα βάλ' τα καὶ τηγάνισέ τα με λάδι LANDOS, Geopon. 235.11 ἀπόβγαλ' τον νὰ πηαίνη KORNAROS, Erot. III.936 λάβε τα καὶ βάλ' τα ὅλα (1715, Nauplion, LIATA 1975: 7, 125.31)

A shift of the stress to the antepenultimate occurs when the disyllabic verb forms are prefixed with a preposition:

ἀλλὰ τάχιον ἄπελθε Dig. G VI.434 κατάμαθε τὰ κατὰ τοῦ υἱοῦ σου Flor. L 201 παράλαβε, ὦ δέσποτα, τὸ πρῶτον σου κοντάριν Achil. N 1588 καὶ ἔμβαλε τὴν κόρην σου εἰς τὰ παλάτια ταῦτα Dig. A 58 καὶ τὸ λαῶν κατάλαβε DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1388 πρῶτιδε ἡ βασιλεία σου (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.IV, 259.84.14)

¹³⁶The change of /l/ to /r/ in these apocopated forms of βάλλω (before clitic pronouns) is a feature of Cypriot, for which see I, 3.8.6.2.

πρόβαλε, κορασίδα μου CHORTATIS, Katz. I.13 κατάπιε πρώτον αὐτὲς τὲς πύρολες Bertoldin. 150.5 ξανάβαλε τὸν σπόγγον μέσα LANDOS, Geopon. 255.10

A shift of the stress from the antepenultimate to the penultimate may occur in the apocopated forms of proparoxytone imperatives: κὶ ἀποκεῖς ἐβγάλ' το ὄξω καὶ γιομίσ' το πόλβερη (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 64.32–3).

Sg.	2	-έ ἰ -ές

In the disyllabic forms a shift of the stress to the ultimate can for certain verbs already be found in AG. (VENDRYES (1938: 125) mentions the existence of oxytone forms εἰπέ, ἐλθέ, εὐρέ, ἰδέ and λαβέ. Byzantine grammarians and lexicographers usually prescribe the oxytone forms for at least ἔρχομαι, εὐρίσκω and λέγω. Isolated instances of βαλέ for βάλε can be found in EMedG texts such as Cyril of Alexandria and the Life of St Theodore of Sykeon.)¹³⁷ Oxytone forms of most of these verbs remain in use throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar, and are especially common with the verbs βλέπω and λέγω, and to a lesser extent εὐρίσκω, because the change in stress differentiates the imperatives (ἴδε, εἴπε, εὔρε) from the homophonous 3 sg. aorist indicative forms (εἶδε, εἴπε, εὔρε):

ἐλθὲ μετ' ἐμέναν Dig. G III.225; εὐρὲ τοὺς ἀπελάτας ibid. VI.434 τοῦτον εὐρὲ κάκεινον ἐρώτα GLYKAS, Eis tas aporias I 136.13 εἰπέ, ἀδελφέ Log. parig. L 613 ἐλθὲ εἰς τὴν βοήθειαν ἡμῶν τῶν δεομένων Dig. E 1841 ἐλθὲ εἰς τοῦ Πόθου τὸν δεσμόν Liv. α 258 app. crit. (P) ἰδὲ καὶ μάθε τὰς γραφάς Liv. E 1512 ἐλθὲ, ἀδελφέ Spanos A 221 εὐρὲ τὸ ποθοῦμενον ἐν τῇ ἀκροστιχίδι Spanos D 1808 σπούδαξε, ἰδέ τη, τὴν Γραφὴν Synax. gyn. 87 ἰδέ, ἀνεντράνισέ με Om. Nekt. Vas. 88 ἐλθέ, ἔπαρ' με, Χάροντα KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.189 ἐσύ ἰδέ τίποτε δια τὴν ζωὴν σου Diig. Alex. K 373.28 εἰπέ μου ὅλην τὴν ἀλήθειαν! Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 77.19 dico no πέ ὃ εἰπέ GERMANO, Grammar 82.34; δέ & εἰδέ id., Vocab. s.v. vedere; ξαναεἰδέ & ξαναδέ ibid. s.v. risguardare

Forms such as ἰδέ, εὐρέ and εἰπέ may lose their initial unstressed stem vowel and produce imperative forms δέ, βρέ and πέ from the early LMedG period onwards:

πέ με τί ἔπαθες, πέ με τί ἔχασες! RUMI, Poem II 2 καὶ πέ με τί νὰ φάγω Ptoch. IV 248.32 app. crit. (P); πὶε τὸν πυρετὸν ibid. 473 app. crit. (HPK) ἔπειτα πέ τον (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 38, 34.4–5) πέ μου τίποτε FALIEROS, Ist. On. 67 ὅδε τοὺς ἄρχοντες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 46.37; πέ το φανερά ibid. 478.35–6 πέ μου ἄλλος ἅ βρίσκεται ὡσὰν ἐμὲν ὁμοίως VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 16

¹³⁷ βαλὲ ἄγκιστρον Cyril of Alexandria, Dialogues 515.35 (ed. De Durant); καὶ βαλὲ τὸ εὐρεθὲν ἐν καινῷ πινακίῳ George of Sykeon, Life of St Theod. 104. 12–13 (ed. Festugière).

και βρε άλλη κορασίδα CHORTATIS, Panor. II.331; και πιε καμπόσο id., Erof. Interm. I.176 για 'πέ μας PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 205
 'διέ μας και όμολόγησε KONDA., Paidēs 872 (= δέ; see I, 3.8.2.3) δέ, χωρίς κανέναν κόπικα Trag. Ag. Dim. I.33 πέ τ' άνδρός σου Leilasia Par. 375

Addition of final /s/ to the oxytone variants as a general marker for 2 sg. occurs from at least the 14th c. in various areas, though notably not in texts from eastern areas such as Chios, Cyprus and certain Cycladic islands (e.g. Paros, Naxos).¹³⁸ The form μαθές in Katzourbos and ms A of Panoria has adverbial use ("indeed").

ιδές τó τί έδιαφόρησαν Chron. Mor. H 5124 αλλά ιδές και θαύμασε Liv. α 174; ιδές τó τί με έγίνετον ibid. 652 ιδές τήν άποτύφλωσιν τήν είχαν οί Άλβανίται! Chron. Toc. 1251 ιδές τó τίς με τρώγει Poulol. 263 είπές, είπές, άφέντη μου Katal. 14 ιδές με, γυναίκα, τίναν όμοιάζω; Spanos A 251–2 καλοϊδές την τήν γυναίκα Ptochol. α 535 σύρε είπές τού βασιλέα σας Diig. Alex. F 264.12 (Lolos); ιδές τής Έντίας τά φουσάτα ibid. 270.8 έπειτα είπές τήν εύχήν (1514, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1963b: 165.58) τρώσι μαθές κι' εκείνα CHORTATIS, Katz. II.49; μαθές έγώ θαμάζομαι ibid. V.301 app. crit. (A) είπές του Chron. Tourk. Soult. 38.2 για ιδές τί λογιής πέτρες KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 13.1 ιδές τί κάμουν οί ψευδομάρτυρες PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.41–2 ιδές πόσοι άνθρωποι είναι Alex. Fyll. 105.2
 ιδές εκεί, ω φίλε Σάντσο Don Kis. 44.30; αμή είπές με ibid. 198.29

These forms are the precursors to the monosyllabic SMG imperatives βρες, δες, πες (and πτιες), which make their first appearances in EMG:

πές μου τίποτις FALIEROS, Ist. On. 67 app. crit. (V) (16th-c. ms) για όλους πές και λέγε μου TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 315 ύπαγε, βρές τήν Σιωπήν ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1324 μά πές μου CHORTATIS, Katz. III.63; και δές νά μου βοηθήσης ibid. III.111 πές του τó πώς τήν έστειλα MONTSEL., Evgena 360

By analogy with this group of verbs, certain prefixed forms of the verb βαίνω (έμβαίνω, καταβαίνω and possibly εκβαίνω, but not αναβαίνω and εισβαίνω) may occasionally acquire the ending -ε (instead of -α, see 4.5.2.3); no oxytone examples have been found, but note that in SMG the imperatives of μπαίνω (< έμβαίνω) and βγαίνω (< εκβαίνω) have lost their initial vowel, resulting in monosyllabic (oxytone) forms with an added final /s/ (μπες and βγες): κατάβε, δέσποτα (15th c., Trebizond region, TSAKALOF 1910: [3], 212.3); ἔμπε μέσα εἰς τὸν κύκλον (16th/18th c. [ms], Unknown, DELATTE 1927: [1], 33.6).

¹³⁸ A paroxytone form in -εs found in Machairas, και ιδες έσου! MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 246.12 (same in O and R), is problematic, and its meaning in the context not quite clear. Since other imperatives of this type (always without the final /s/) are oxytone in Machairas, this is very likely to be either a writing mistake or an aorist indicative (είδες). One more example of a paroxytone imperative form in Machairas, with an added final /n/ is probably a mistake as well: είπεν τού κοντοσταύλη, αν θέλετε νά πᾶμεν άππῶδε, νά μάς πέψη... MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 476.13 app. crit. The editor corrects to είπέν on the grounds that Machairas normally has oxytone forms. A single paroxytone form ιδες in Chron. Mor. H 5534, ιδες τó ποϋ σέ ηφερεν ό φτόνος κ' ή άμαρτία σου, is likely to be either a writing mistake (ιδές) or an indicative (είδες) as well. The ms has an unfortunate stain that partly covers the first letter, but the text otherwise offers ιδε (805) and ιδές (5124).

The inherited AG 2 sg. imperative δός, which can be found alongside δῶσε, may lose its final /s/ by analogy with the thematic aorist imperative (for more information on διδω 2.4): δό με νερό (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 2438); δό μου τὴν Μακεδονίαν Diig. Alex. V 83.6; δό μου Diig. Alex. F 104.6 and 174.4 (Konstantinopulos).

The irregular aorist imperative form of τρώγω (φάγε) may lose its intervocalic /y/, after which the weaker vowel /e/ may be deleted (φά), in the later part of the period covered by this Grammar. For details and examples see 2.2.2.3.

Plural

Pl.	2	-ΕΤΕ ἢ -ΕΤΕΝ

Inherited proparoxytone 2 pl. forms in -ετε can be found in texts throughout the LMedG and EMG periods:

ἴδετε τὰ φουσάτα Dig. G I.210; καὶ μάθετε τὸ βέβαιον ibid. I.307 ἴδετε πῶς ἐχάσαμεν τὰ πεζικὰ Chron. Mor. H 9182 βγάλετε τὸν Ἀρμούρην Arm. 186 παραλάβετε ἀμόλυτον κοράσιον Dig. E 174 ἴδετε ... τί ἐγίνη Pol. Tr. 1082 λάβετε τὸ νίκος Alosis 810 εὔρετε καὶ ἀγοράσετε (1493–4, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 36, 179.3) λάβετε ἄρχοντες, τοῦτον τὸ γράφος Assizes A 103.28 εἴπετε τὴν βουλὴν σας [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 965 ἐκστήθου μάθετέ το Kakop. 12 μάθετε, ἄνθρωποι τῆς Αἰγύπτου Diig. Alex. F 232.17–18 (Lolos) ἴδετε μὲ πόσῃ πονηρίᾳ ἐπροσδιόβασεν Diig. Alex. E 287.14–15 (Lolos) μάθετε καὶ καταλάβετε DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 10, κ3v.31 (1561) ἐβγάλετέ τον γλήγορα ἀπομπρός μου Vios Aisop. D 218.25 ἀκούετε καὶ καταλάβετε KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 15.10; ἐλάτε καὶ ἴδετε ibid. Ioann. 1.39 ἴδετε, συντρόφοι μου Alex. Fyll. 16.25

Addition of final /n/ has been found in texts from Chios: βάλετεν κ' εἰς τὸ χέρι του VEST., Paid. Makkav. 411; βάλετεν τὴν καθέδραν μου, νὰ κάτσω νὰ μιλήσω KONDAR., Paides 87.

Syncopated forms of βάλλω and its compounds can occasionally be found:

βάλτε τον εἰς τὴν μέσσην Pol. Tr. 9612 (reading of mss AX) βάρτε τὰς πλώρας τῆς ἀπάνω τους MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 554.27–8 (for this form see also I, 3.8.6.2) βάρτε τὸ σκοπὸν Cypr. Canz. 2.7
 βάλτε καλὰ 'ς τὸν νοῦν σας Theseid I.4,5 (Follieri) τοὺς ὄνυχας ἐβγάλτε Dig. A 988 ἐβγάλτε τον καμπόσον ὅζω ἀπὸ τὸ σακκίον Bertoldos 66.5 βάλτε εἰς ὀρδινιάν MONTSEL., Evgena 1038 ἐβγάρτε με ἀπέδω IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3655

The imperative φάγετε of the verb τρώγω may lose its intervocalic /γ/ and produce a form φᾶτε, for which see 2.2.2.3.

Pl.	2	-έτε -έτεν -έτενε

For the verbs βλέπω and λέγω, and to a lesser degree εύρισκω, forms with a shift of the stress to the penultimate, in line with the singular (see above), are more common, because this differentiates the imperative from the homophonous 2 pl. aorist indicative forms (e.g. imp. ἴδετε, aor. ind. εἶδετε):

καὶ παίζουσιν τὸ λέγουσιν οἱ παῖδες «εἶπα εἰπέτε» Ptoch. IV 369; καὶ ἰδέτε θαῦμα μέγα ibid. 416 ἰδέτε τον Assizes A 92.16

ἰδέτε τὸν σπανὸν Spanos A 143 καὶ εἰπέτε τοῦ βασιλέα σας Diig. Alex. V 77.11 ἄμέτε καὶ εύρέτε τον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 339.8

κι ἰδέτε τι ἔχει πάθει AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 60.2

ἰδέτε ὀλλίγον Pist. kekoim. 71 ἰδέτε καὶ προσέχετε MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist Vlach. 425 εἰπέτε με Don Kis. 142.6; ἰδέτε με πόσην υπερηφάνειαν περιπατεῖ η σκρόφα ibid. 176.22–3

These verbs may lose their unstressed stem vowel, giving imperative forms δέτε, πέτε and βρέτε:

δέτε, ἀπαντήξετέ μας Rim. than. 130 ἴδέτε τὸν σταυρὸν τον κυρίου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 64.19–20; καὶ πέτε του ibid. 350.3

δέτε ποῦ ἔχει τὸν πόθον πεσωμένος Cypr. Canz. 25.1; πέτε | ἐσεῖς ibid. 40.5–6 πέτε με Epain. gyn. 111 ὅλοι με πέτε ἑκτὴμα Kakop. 14; καὶ βρέτε νέους σαν εσάς ibid. 186

πέτε μου Pist. kekoim. 182 πέτε τὰ καλορίζικα Stathis III. 505

δέτε ποῦ θέλει μὲ βάλει Fallidos 194 γὰρ πέτε μου PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 175 πέτε τους τὴν αἰτία DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 929

πέτε των νὰ πᾶνε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 56.26

Addition of final /n/ has been found in a text from Chios: ἰδέτεν τὴν ἀσέβειαν KONDAR., Paidēs 536; νὰ ῥτουν ἐδῶ τοὺς ἰπέτεν ibid. 648.

A form with addition of -(ν)ε has been found in a text from Chios, but is likely to have had a wider distribution (see I, 2.6.3 for details): τὰ δάκρυά μου δέτενε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 866.

Pl.	2	-εἶτε/-ῆτε -εἶτεν/-ῆτεν -εἶτενε/-ῆτενε

As with the aorist middle/passive imperative (for discussion see above), certain verbs with a thematic aorist formation, such as λέγω, βλέπω and εύρισκω/βρίσκω, started to adopt 2 pl. subjunctive forms instead of the imperative. The subjunctive, which originally had been proparoxytone (e.g. εἴπητε) had developed paroxytone forms in the EMedG period (for details see 4.2.3), and these are the ones that are adopted for the imperative. In modern editions the imperative is spelled with <ει> or <η>, just like the subjunctive:

λόγους καλοὺς εἰπῆτε Liv. V 374 διὰ τοῦτο ἰδῆτε το ὑμεῖς αὐτοῦ τοπικῶς (1448?, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 45, 321.6) ὅλα εἰπῆτε τῶν τα Achil. L 1071; ἰδῆτε καὶ θαυμάσετε ibid. 1314 γοργὸν τὴν πῆτε νάλθη Flor. L 961 θρηνησέτε καὶ πεῖτε τῆς ὀκάτι καταλόγι LIMEN., Than. Rod. 36 καὶ πάλιν ᾔδῃτε κάμωμα SACHLIKIS, Peri filon 118 εἰπεῖτε τοὺς καλεσμένους KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 22.4 πεῖτε τοῦ γέροντα (1656, Amorgos, TSELIKAS 1988/1992: 3, 49.24)

Addition of final /n/ when the form is followed by a clitic pronoun starting in a stop has been found in a document from Mykonos (see also I, 3.8.3.2): πῆτεν του (1670, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 4, 15.7).

In AG prefixed forms of the verb βαίνω had proparoxytone 2 pl. in -τε (e.g. διάβητε), alongside forms in -ᾶτε (for which see 4.5.2.3). Just like the thematic aorists (above) and the passive aorist (see 4.5.2.2 for discussion), these verbs, too, adopt the 2 pl. subjunctive ending -ῆτε/-εῖτε for the imperative:

ἐμπῆτε σήμερον Log. parig. L 6650 (Lambros); ἀνεβῆτε ibid. 736 καὶ ἐμπῆτε εἰς τὴν βουλὴν μου Dig. E 1340 ἐμβῆτε εἰς τὸν πόλεμον Alosis 891 καὶ διαβῆτε ἐκεῖθεν Achil. N 1216 συγκατεβῆτε, ἐπτὰ οὐρανοὶ DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 380 εβγείτε! Apoll. Rim. V 1476 ὅθ' ἦρθετε διαβῆτε CHORTATIS, Erof. IV.428 ἐμπεῖτε ἀπὸ τὴν στενὴν τὴν πόρταν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 7.13 στοὺς λάκκους κατεβῆτε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 165.10

Addition of final /n/ occurs in a text from Chios: ᾧ τὸ δάσος μέσα μπῆτεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 345.

Addition of -(ν)ε has been found in a text from Chios, but is likely to have had a wider distribution (see I, 2.6.3): κὶ ἀμέτεν ᾧ, διαβήτενε KONAR., Paides 1112.

MG alternative forms in -εστε (βρέστε, δέστε, πέστε, πιέστε, μπέστε and βγέστε), probably modelled on the singular forms in -ές (see above), have not been found in the texts examined. Therefore their emergence should probably be dated to the period after 1700.

Pl.	2	-ατε

Sometimes innovative plural forms with the residual ending -ατε can be found, by analogy with verbs with a sigmatic perfective stem (see 4.5.2.1), and possibly with influence from λέγω, which had 2 pl. εἶπατε in AG (cf. PSALTES 1913: 211 for the EMedG period): ἀνοίξατε καὶ ἴδατε Diig. sebast. Thom. 399; ἀπέλθατε SFRANTZIS, Chron. 140.14; ἔλθατε ibid. 160.6; ἴδατε καὶ θαυμάσατε Achil. N 1741.

4.6 The Infinitive

In the LMedG and EMG periods, infinitives were in use of the present and the aorist, active and passive, in specific, and progressively fewer, syntactical environments (JOSEPH 1980b; JOSEPH 1983; MACKRIDGE 1997; JOSEPH 2000a; see also IV, 2.2 and 2.4), but routinely in periphrastic verb forms (see Chapter 5). Most other uses of infinitives had died out long before the period covered by this Grammar and can only be found residually in higher-register texts. From Hellenistic times onwards all aorist infinitives had gradually adopted the active infinitive ending /in/ of the present and the future, which as a result became the ending par excellence for the present and aorist active infinitive of all verbs, with the notable exception of oxytone A-stems, which in the present retained the ending -ᾶν.¹³⁹ Shortly before the LMedG period the passive infinitive in -ῆναι lost its final /e/, and thereby effectively adopted the by now universal infinitive ending /in/ as well (HESSELING 1892b: 27–8; JOSEPH 1983: 56).

When written without final /n/, infinitives in /i/ are sometimes spelled with <η> for <ει>, as if it were a 3 sg. aorist subjunctive, in accordance with the view of JANNARIS 1897: 558 and 575–6, who claimed that the infinitive had died out before the LMedG period. However, the fact that the infinitive is homophonous with the 3 sg. aorist subjunctive does not necessarily mean that it is, in fact, a subjunctive. It is simply an invariable form that remained in (limited) use. Surely, its homophony with the 3 sg. aorist subjunctive made the form sound familiar, and it is clear that there is influence from the subjunctive in the alternating (oxytone and paroxytone) stress patterns encountered in the aorist infinitive of thematic and athematic verbs (see 4.6.2.3). However, the idea that a fully inflected language such as Greek would have an insurmountable problem with invariable forms is contradicted by the emergence of the gerund (see 4.7), and in fact the theory that a fully inflected language would use a 3 sg. form for all persons singular and plural is perhaps unlikely.

The present infinitive has disappeared completely in SMG, whereas the use of the aorist infinitive (without final /n/) is limited to the perfect and pluperfect periphrases with ἔχω.¹⁴⁰ For the use of the infinitives πειῖν, φαγεῖν and φιλεῖν as inflected nouns (πίν, φαγίν and φιλίν), see II, 2.20.1.2.

4.6.1 The Present Infinitive

4.6.1.1 Active Voice

As the syntactic environments in which the infinitive was used diminished (see IV, 2.2 and 2.4), and especially when periphrastic constructions with finite verbs became more and more established for expressing futurity (see 5.1), the present infinitive gradually fell into disuse. However, since present active and passive infinitives can be found in the domain of loanwords (e.g. of verbs in -ᾶρω, -ίρω and -έρω in areas under Italian rule and -ιάζω in areas under Frankish rule; see also 2.2.4) and of innovative verb stems (see e.g. the present passive infinitives συνηβάζεσθαι, σπέρνεσται and δίδεσται, and passive infinitives in -(ε)ίσται), and since examples of present infinitives have been found until into the 18th c., its final demise is to be dated to the MG period.

¹³⁹ For various hybrid formations that appear only in S. Italian documents, see MINAS ²2003: 121.

¹⁴⁰ In peripheral dialects such as Pontic and S. Italian, the infinitive is preserved in more syntactical environments than in SMG; see MACKRIDGE 1997; HORROCKS ²2010: 389–91; for the Pontic variety of Of see also SITARIDOU 2014.

4.6.1.1.1 Barytone Verbs

-ει(ν) -εινε

Throughout its existence, the present infinitive of barytone verbs ends in -ει(ν):

οὐκ ἤπορῶ ... γράφειν σε Spaneas V 26 γαμβρόν <γάρ> ἔχειν θέλομεν Dig. G II.11 νὰ ἡρξάμην ρουκανίζειν Ptoch. IV 221 (ἔχει ... τὸ ἀμπέλιον) τόπον τοῦ ἀνιβαίνειν εἰς αὐτόν, καὶ κατιβαίνειν εἰς τὸ αἰγιαλὸν (1359, Albania, ΣΑΚΚΕΛΙΟΝ 1887a: 472.28–30) (ἀρχάσαν ...) λέγειν πρὸς τὸν πρίγκιπα Chron. Mor. H 5262 δὲν ἤμπορῶ τοῦ γράφειν Peri xen. 356 ὅσοι τὸ θέλουν σηκώνειν (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 271.8) πολλὸν καιρὸν θέλουσι μανθάνειν (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 339–40) καὶ νὰ ᾔχαν κάμνειν αἵματα Alosis 731 ἀκούειν τα θὲς ἔχει ἀπὸ ἄλλους (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 2, 18.4–5) (ἤθελεν) ἰχνεύειν καὶ γυρεύειν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 346; ἡρξατο τρώγειν ibid. 1894 θέλουν ἔχειν βοήθειαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.11; θέλει φυλάγειν id., Chron. O 88.31–2 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) τοῦ τρέχειν ἤρχισα BERGADIS, Apok. A 11; ἔξαπορῶ τοῦ γράφειν ibid. 14 θέλω σου δίδειν χαράτзин Vios Aisop. I 275.30
 χρῆ αἰέποτε δοξάζειν ... | τα ἔργα Του θαυμάζειν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 4679–80

Written evidence for the deletion of final /n/ has been found from at least the 11th c. onwards and occurs in texts from all areas:

μὴ ἔχων ... ἀγγεῖον βάλλει τὸν σῖτον Vios Philaret. 303–4 app. crit. (G) (9th c.; 11th-c. ms) νὰ ὑπᾶμεν ... τὰ οὐκ ἔχομεν γυρεύει Chron. Mor. H 837; βαριεῶμαι γράφει τα ibid. 7803 ἀποσπάζει θέλει Assizes B 340.11 ἐὰν εἶχε λείπει ὁ Ἑκτορας Pol. Tr. 3779 (reading of ms X); ὅπου τὸ θέλει κλαίει ibid. 4202 τὸ θέλουν ἡξεύρει (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 100.4–5) θέλει μένει ERMON., Ilias 9.240; θέλει παγαίνει ibid. 13.40 θέλει λαχαίνει (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 21, 161.15) ἔξαπορῶ τοῦ γράφει BERGADIS, Apok. V 14 ἐθέλαν γερανίσκει οἱ ἄνθρωποι Fior 84.11 ἐθέλαν ρεπρεζεντάρει (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 26, 31.19) (< Ven. rapresentàr) εἶχα στέκει Pist. voskos II 1.417 δὲν εἶχανε ἡξέρει ἀκόμη τὸ κακὸ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 59.26 θέλει πλερώνει καθημερινό (1622, Crete, ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑΤΙΣ 1986: 4, 67.27); καὶ ἃ δὲν ἤθελά ᾔχει (1625, ibid. 6, 79.29) θὲς τρώγει FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.131 δὲν θέλω το κάμνει αὐτὸ πλέον Don Kis. 19.3; θέλεις κλαίγει παντοτινά ibid. 104.31

Addition of -(ν)ε occurs only sporadically: ποῦ δὲν τὸν ἤθελ' ἔχεινε ποτέ του γνωρισμένον Theseid ms Par. gr. 2898 f.39v.

Vowel deletion in forms of barytone vowel stems may occasionally occur (see also 2.1.1.2): ἤθελαν κλαῖν Cypr. Canz. 55.5 (< κλαίω); οἱ βουλόμενοι πλεῖν ἐν τῇ θαλάσση (1523, Crete, ΚΑΚΛΑΜΑΝΙΣ/LAMBAKIS 2003: 80, 150.2–3) (< πλέω).

4.6.1.1.2 Oxytone Verbs

-ᾶ(ν) ἰ -ᾷει(ν)

The oxytone A-stem ending, stressed -ᾶν (from -ᾷειν, which is why the ending is sometimes spelled -ᾶν) is used for both A-stem and E-stem verbs (see also 2.1.2.1). A-stem verbs are the only verbs that show no tendency to adopt the “universal” infinitive ending /in/:¹⁴¹

A-stems

ἀγαπᾶν τὸ ὑπήκοον Dig. G IV.1033; νικᾶν καὶ μὴ ὑπερνικᾶν ibid. VI.642 ἄν οὐκ ἐθάρρεις κολυμβᾶν Ptoch. I 103; παραπτεῖν ἄρξάμενος ibid. 202 εἰς τὰ σὲ θέλω ἐρωτᾶν Liv. V 2874 καὶ ἐσὺ τολμᾷς περιγεῖλαι Poulol. 50 σκιρτᾶν χορεύειν ἔπρεπεν Flor. L 824 θέλουσιν βαστᾶν (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 84.11) (ἦθελεν ...) διερευνᾶν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 347; μισῶ ... ὄρᾶν τὸ πτώμα τούτου ibid. 634 σοῦ θέλει βαστᾶν (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.50) θέλω ἔχειν καὶ διακυβερνᾶν (1507, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 4, 8.9)

E-stems

διεκδικᾶν (1140, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 122, 163.27) εὐεργετᾶν (1143, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 6, 559.9); ὅστις εὐρεθῇ ἐμποδίζειν καὶ ὕοχλᾶν (1146, ibid. Coll. XIV: 5, 619.5–6) θέλω κυνηγᾶν Dig. E 744 οὐδὲν ἡμπορεῖ μαρτυρᾶν Assizes B 308.2
 ὦ Θεέ, νὰ τό ᾿χαν πολεμᾶν Alosis 730 θέλιν τὸ ζητᾶν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 208.33; ἵντα θέλομεν πολομᾶν ibid. 406.15 (ἐξουσία ...) ζητᾶν τοὺς λογαριασμοὺς (1530, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 144, 261.22–3) ὁπού ᾿θελεν λειτουργᾶν (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 173.18)

Deletion of final /n/ has not been found before the 14th c.:

τὸν θέλουσι γελᾶ Chron. Mor. H 8185 θὲς περνᾶ FALIEROS, Log. did. 317 πᾶντα θέλω σ' αγαπά CHORTATSIS, Panor. I.392 καὶ ἄν τὸν θέλης ἀγαπᾶ MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2015 ἡ ψυχὴ μου θέλει γρικᾶ μεγάλον κοντέντο (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 53.189) καὶ θέλουσι σ' ἀνεγελᾶ KORNAROS, Erot. III.783

Uncontracted forms of this infinitive appear in 16th-c. Heptanesian texts, among which Sofianos's grammar, and once in Ioakeim of Cyprus's Struggle (to accommodate the rhyme). They are probably formed by analogy with the 3 sg. present indicative and possibly perfective barytone vowel-stem infinitives such as πᾷει(ν) and φᾷει(ν),¹⁴² though the clear dominance of the infinitive ending -ει(ν) may also have played a role:

¹⁴¹ With the exception of one isolated instance of τολμεῖν in S. Italy (1121, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 88, 116.11–12).

¹⁴² Neither version of the Alexander tale uses the θέλω/θέλει + subjunctive construction, therefore there can be little doubt that these forms are infinitives.

ἤθελε πολεμάει Alex. Rim. 1454 θέλει ζητάειν Diig. Alex. F 148.15 (Lolos) εἶχα γελάει SOFIANOS, Grammar 52.24; θέλω γελάει ibid. 52.25 να του γυρεύσει ἤθελεν την Σούδα αγαπάει IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1562 (rhymes with πάει)

-εἶ(ν) -οῖν -εῖνε

The stressed ending -εῖν (<έειν) is common with oxytone E-stem verbs before and throughout the LMedG and EMG periods:

λαλεῖν σε ὁδὸν οὐκ ἔχω Spaneas V 36; ἄν ἡπορῆς εὐεργετεῖν ibid. 193 ἐλεεῖν πενομένους Dig. G IV.1033; φιλεῖν τοὺς ἐναντίους ibid. VI.642 καὶ τὶ φορεῖν οὐκ ἔχω Ptoch. III 231 θέλει ποιεῖν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 21, 160.13) τὰ θέλω κρατεῖν (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.5) ἀναζητεῖν γὰρ ἤθελεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 346 μετὰ τοῦ λογισμουμαχεῖν Byz. II. 38 θέλω παρακαλεῖν (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 171.18) πουλεῖν, χαρίζειν, προικίζειν, ποιεῖν (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 211, 216.18) ἄφησαν πάσα υπόθεσιν του πολεμεῖν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1843 tit.; (χρη αἰέποτε ...)
 ανυμνεῖν και προσκυνεῖν ibid. 4680; καιρόν αἰ που ἔταξεν ποιεῖν δικαιοσύνην ibid. 9276

This group includes residual infinitives of oxytone O-stems, which originally had ended in -οῦν (<όειν), but had started to develop infinitives in -οῖν, then pronounced [yn], as early as the first century AD (see HATZIDAKIS 1892: 193; JANNARIS 1897: 217; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 430; PSALTES 1913: 234–5, who also offers further bibliography).¹⁴³ From the moment the pronunciation of <οι> changed from [y] to [i] (from the 10th c. AD onwards; see I, 2.4.6.1), the forms of oxytone E- and O-stems became homophonous, which is why these infinitives are usually spelled with <ει> rather than <οι>:

τὴν ἀφορμὴν ἔχουσιν ἐξ αὐτῶν βεβαιοῖν τὴν ἀλήθειαν NIKON, Logos 4 208.17–18; (ἀγαπῶ ...)
 τὰς θείας γραφὰς φανεροῖν id., Logos 31 814.2 εἶδα αὐτὰ ἀπαράκτως δηλεῖν (1269, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 34, 459.21) εἰς εὐαγούς οἴκους ἀφιερεῖν (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 473.17) οὐδὲν ὀφείλουσιν ἐκπληρεῖν Chron. Mor. H 2006 τὰ μέλλουν ἀφιερεῖν (1437, Athens, BUCHON 1843: LXXI, 297.13–14)

This group also includes the verb ζῶ, which by the beginning of the LMedG period had long been adapted to the oxytone E-stem paradigm. The ending of the infinitive is homophonous with those of oxytone E-stem verbs, but traditionally spelled with <η> rather than <ει>:

τοὺς θέλοντας μετὰ πλείονας συ<ζῆν> NIKON, Logos 1 84.5–6 καὶ ἀπήλπισα τοῦ ζεῖν με Liv. α 229 app. crit. (P) καὶ τοῦ ζῆν ἀπεστέρησεν Pol. Tr. 13518 ἄν δὲν ἤθελεν ζῆν (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 219.53)

¹⁴³ Since in the period in which this ending developed the pronunciation of <οι> and <ει> was still very much distinct, O-stem verbs did not simply adopt the E-stem ending /in/ (maintaining a “scholastic” spelling with <οι>); the ending -οῖν was probably formed by analogy with oxytone E-stems, as follows: ποιῶ: 3 sg. pres. ind. ποιεῖ, pres. inf. ποιεῖν : δηλῶ 3 sg. pres. ind. δηλοῖ > pres. inf. δηλοῖν (BLASS et al. 1961: 46).

Deletion of final /n/ has not been found in writing before the 14th c.:

ὁ ρῆγας ἄρξετον λαλεῖ Chron. Mor. H 7118 θέλει ζῆ ERMION., Ilias 13.244 οὐδὲν ὀφείλουν ἐκπληρεῖ Chron. Mor. P 2006 καὶ ἤρξατο παρακαλεῖ Diig. Apoll. 561 ἤθελα ζεῖ Diig. Alex. F 48.20 (Konstantinopulos) εἶχα κρατεῖ SOFIANOS, Grammar 52.5; ὥσαν νὰ ἤθελεν ἀσθενεῖ κανεῖς id., Paidag. 102.8–9; θέλεις τὸ ποιεῖ συχνά ibid. 114.12–13 θέλει ἱερουργεῖ (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 60.39) κί' ἂν εἶναι κί' ἤθελε μπορεῖ CHORTATIS, Katz. I.41; θέλω παρακαλεῖ γιὰ σέ ibid. III.405; ἄν εἶχε ζῆ ὁ Πλάτωνας ibid. III.489 γιὰτί σέ θέλουσι κρατεῖ μέγαλον ἀφορμάρη KORNAOS, Erot. III.781 θέλει κρατεῖ του λόγου της διὰ διεστραμμένην γυναῖκα Don Kis. 107.10–11

Addition of -(ν)ε (see I, 2.6.3.3) is very rare with the infinitive: θέλουν βοηθεῖνε Theseid I.35,3 app. crit. (Follieri).

-οῦν

Residual infinitives in -οῦν of O-stem verbs can sporadically be found: θέλομεν τὸ ἐκπληροῦν (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 103.10).

4.6.1.2 Passive Voice

The present passive infinitive appears to be the first of the infinitives to fall into disuse for all verbs but εἶμαι (see 4.8.4). Since examples can still be found in written texts until well into the 17th c., it is difficult to put a date to its final obsolescence, though from EMG grammars, especially the descriptive grammar of Germano, we may conclude that by the early 17th c. present passive infinitives had disappeared: there are no present passive infinitives of any kind in the grammars of Germano, Portius, Kritopoulos and Spanos. In the mid-16th c. Sofianos does list them in his paradigms of barytone and oxytone verbs, as μέλλων δεύτερος (θέλω γράφεσθαι) and ἀόριστος δεύτερος (εἶχα γράφεσθαι), but he tellingly avoids them in his Paidagogos (see below for the only example, ὑβριζεσθαι),¹⁴⁴ preferring constructions with μέλλω νά + subjunctive instead: μέλλει νά ὠφελεῖται SOFIANOS, Paidag. 110.11; μέλλουσι νά ἐξετάζονται ibid. 113.24–5 (for details see 5.1.2). Romanos Nikiforou (early 17th c.), too, lists θέλω and εἶχα + present passive infinitive in his paradigms (as passive future and imperfect respectively), but he omits them in his list of irregular verbs, nor does he ever use them in his examples.

4.6.1.2.1 Barytone Verbs

-εσται(ν) ἰ -εσθαι(ν)

¹⁴⁴ As noted by HESSELING 1892b: 37.

Throughout its existence the present passive infinitive ends in -εσται, having a more formal variant -εσθαι:

- ἀπλοϊκῶς τοὺς θεῖους ὑποδέχεσθαι λόγους NIKON, Logos 4 208.5–6; πολλὰ ἡγάπουν συνδιαλέγεσθαι id., Logos 31 810.9–10 ὁ τὴν χώραν μέλλει διαδέχεσθαι (1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 16, 210.43) ἄφες τὰ πάντα φέρεσθαι GLYKAS, Stichoi 380 ἔχων αὐτὴν ἀναγινώσκεισθαι (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 83.95) εἰς τὸ κρούειν καὶ εἰς τὸ δέχεσθαι Dig. E 1259 ἥρξάμην κατακόπτεσθαι Liv. V 2351, Liv. S 1414 (Lambert-van der Kolf) and Liv. α 2694 τὸ θέλει θλίβεσθαι Pol. Tr. 3681; καὶ πάντα θέλει αὐξάνεσθαι ibid. 5307 ἤθελε τ' ἀποδέχεσθαι FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 284 (reading of A) θέλουν ἀλεγριάζεσθαι τὰς παλαιὰς ἱστορίας MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 3.20 (< Occit. alegrar) οἱ ὑπέρεταί μου ἤθελαν ἀγωνίζεσθαι KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 370.38 and KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 18.36 (translation of NT ἡγωνίζοντο) δὲν ἤθελες συνηβάζεσθαι (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 175, 174.33 and 297, 295.43–4) θέλουν ἔρχεσθαι (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 5, 261.15) ἐθέλα βρίσκεσθαι CHORTATISIS, Erof. Interm. III.17 (τὸ τρίτο ...) ἀπ' ὅ, τι ἤθελεν σπέρνεσθαι (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 10, 32.18) θέλει εὐφραίνεσθαι MOREZINOS, Klini 8.24–5; ὥσάν νὰ εἴχασιν τηγανίζεσθαι ibid. 235.16 μαγάρι ἃς εἶχε κείτεσθαι Thysia Avr. 303 τὰ ψωμνιά ὁποῦ θέλουσιν διδεσθαι (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 54.207)

Addition of final /n/ can be found occasionally throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, but may have been more widespread than the sources reveal (cf. the infinitive of εἶμαι, 4.8.4):

- ὧς βούλεται <ἐξέρ>χεσθαι καὶ ἀπέρχεσθαι NIKON, Logos 1 64.5; (χρὴ ...) ἐνδύεσθαι ibid. 110.5
 ἐκεῖ ὁποῦ θέλω κείτεσθαι (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.56) ἥρξατο εὐχεσθαίν του Dig. E 810 δὲν ἤθελεν κάθεσθαι ἡ Θεοτόκος KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 340.3–4 θέλει εὐφραίνεσθαι MOREZINOS, Klini 8.24–5 app. crit. (K) θέλει κάθεσθαι ἐκ δεξιῶν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 22.69

A shift of the stress to the penultimate as the result of synizesis appears once in Machairas, with the verb λύω (for this phenomenon affecting barytone vowel stems see also 2.1.1.2; for the broader phenomenon of synizesis see I, 2.9.4): ἠθέλαν καταλυέσθαι γλήγορα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 76.19. A shift of the stress to the penultimate also occurs in one ms of Ptochoprodromos, in which the position of the infinitive in the verse, at the verse end, is likely to have played a decisive role: ἥρξάμην μπουκωνέσθαι Ptoch. III 255 app. crit. (K).

4.6.1.2.2 Oxytone Verbs

-ᾶσται(v) † -ᾶσθαι(v)

The passive oxytone A-stem ending -ᾶσται and its more formal variant -ᾶσθαι have been found with both A- and E-stem verbs throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, with various verbs in mixed-register texts, but in other texts mainly with the common deponent verbs θυμοῦμαι, κοιμοῦμαι and λυποῦμαι:

A-stems

ἀλλὰ χαμαὶ πετᾶσθαι Dig. G I.170; ἐφαίνετο ἐν ὄνειρῳ θεᾶσθαι ibid. IV.385 καὶ τὸ μὴ κτᾶσθαι Ptoch. IV 408 πάντα καυχᾶσθαι θέλουν Arm. 69 (ἔπρεπεν) ἐρωτοαγαλλιᾶσθαι Flor. L 824 Ἄξιόν ἐστι τοῦ πλανᾶσθαι σε Spanos D 1258–9 εἶχα γελᾶσθαι SOFIANOS, Grammar 53.8; θέλω γελᾶσθαι ibid. 53.9
κοιμᾶσθαι θέλει ἀληθινὰ CHORTATIS, Katz. I.19; θέλει γροικᾶσθαι ... τ' ὀνομά σου id., Panor. III.621 (reading of ms D) τοσαῦτα πάντα ὕψωσεν, ὅπως καλῶς ὀρᾶσθαι Dig. T 2766 and A 3969 ἂν ἠθέλαμεν κοιμᾶσθαι Vios Aisop. I 269.37 εἶχα ἀγαπᾶσθαι ROMANOS, Grammar 38.21

E-stems

ἀφίνω ἐδῶ λέγειν καὶ ἀφηγᾶσθαι Chron. Mor. H 5922; νὰ θέλουν ἀφηγᾶσθαι ibid. 6448 καὶ τοὺς ἰχθύας ... προστάξας ζωογονᾶσθαι Dig. E 1811 app. crit. εἶχα φοβᾶσθαι Pol. Tr. 10067 app. crit. (V) δὲν ἠθελες φοβᾶσθαι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 590 ἐὰν οὐδὲν ἠθελε λυπᾶσθαι Diig. Alex. F 48.17 and E 49.6–17 καὶ πάντοτε θυμᾶσθαι τῆς ψυχῆς μου (1525, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 106, 197.19) σὰ θές θυμᾶσθαι TROILOS, Rodol. I.105

-εἴσται(ν) ἢ -εἴσθαι(ν)

The passive oxytone E-stem ending -εἴσται and its more formal variant -εἴσθαι occur, with E-stem verbs only, throughout the LMedG and EMG periods:

φοβεῖσθαι μὲν οὐκ ἠθελον GLYKAS, Stichoi 49 ἐρωτικὴν ἀφήγησιν τὴν θέλω ἀφηγεῖσθαι Liv. α 9 εἶχα φοβεῖσθαι Pol. Tr. 10067; τὸ θέλουν ἐξηγεῖσθαι ibid. 14010 θέλεις ἀπηλογεῖσθαι Flor. L 652 ms (ἀπηλογᾶσθαι in the ed.) μετὰ τοῦ λογισμουμαχεῖν καὶ τοῦ στενοχωρεῖσθαι Byz. Il. 38 εἶχα κρατεῖσθαι SOFIANOS, Grammar 52.14; θέλω κρατεῖσθαι ibid. 52.15 τοῦ Ξάνθου ἀρχομένου φοβεῖσθαι Vios Aisop. D 228.35 ἀρχισεν δηγεῖσθαι τὴν πτωχείαν αὐτοῦ Vios Filaret. 241.42–3

Addition of final /n/ can be found occasionally: γράφειν καὶ ἀσχολεῖσθαι NIKON, Logos 9 316.13; θέλω, Μυρτάνη δέσποινα, σήμερον ἀφηγεῖσθαι Liv. V 23; τὸ θέλουν διηγείσθαι Pol. Tr. 14010 app. crit. (C).

-(ε)ιέσται ἢ -(ε)ιέσθαι ἢ -εἰέσθαι

From the 16th c. onwards the ending -σται/-σθαι can also occasionally be found with the innovative stem of E-stem verbs that has /j/ inserted after the stem consonant (for details see 2.1.2.2.4):

θέλει πουλιέσθαι μὲ μετρητὰ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 200, 200.14) εἶχα κρατειέσθαι SOFIANOS, Grammar 67.2; θέλω κρατειέσθαι ibid. 67.5

ἤθελε κρατιέσθαι KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 5.4

εἶχα κρατεῖσθαι ROMANOS, Grammar 48.9

-οὔσται

Residual -οὔσται of O-stem verbs can sporadically be found in LMedG mixed-register texts: ὁμολογοῦμεν ζημιοῦσται εἰς τὸ αὐτὸν τίμημα (1123, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 4, 60.19); ζημιοῦσται διὰ ποινὴν εἰς τὸ δεμόσιον (1304, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 23, 174.39).

4.6.2 The Aorist Infinitive

4.6.2.1 Active Voice

-ει(ν) | -εινε

The sigmatic and liquid/nasal-stem aorist active infinitive, which originally ended in -αι (λῦσαι, κρίναι, ποιῆσαι, see below), had developed an innovative form in -ειν in the Koine through confusion with the future infinitive and by analogy with the present infinitive (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 190–2; DIETERICH 1898: 245; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 593–5). This aorist infinitive is widely in use throughout the LMedG and EMG periods. Some representative examples are:

οὐκ ἐτόλμησα ... θήσιν NIKON, Logos 4 214.23–4; ἔχεις ... νοήσιν πάντα id., Logos 9 310.5–6 χαλάσειν ἔχει ὁψέποτε GLYKAS, Stichoi 359 εἰ δὲ κομπῶσιν ἤθελες Ptoch. I 106

τίς τῆς καρδίας του τὴν χαρὰν | νὰ ἰσχύσῃ καταλέξειν Eisit. f.7v.3–4 καὶ τῷ ἀκούσιν τὸ ὄνομα Log. parig. L 93 κι ἂν δράμουν τὰ φουσσᾶτα μας, τὸν τόπον σας κουρσέψιν Chron. Mor. H 1622 γλυκὺν τὸ φαγεῖν, πικρὸν δὲ τὸ χέσειν Paroim. H 34 ἂν εἶχαν ποίσειν τὰ καρτζὰ ἀσημένα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 76.18 κ' ἐκεῖνος θέλειν βάλειν ρεμέδα VOUSTR., Chron. A 12.1

τὰ θέλει ἐξοικονομήσειν SFRANTZIS, Chron. 32.26 καὶ ὠρέχθην τοῦ πεζεύσειν BERGADIS, Apok. V 20 γνωρίσειν ἤθελες SOFIANOS, Paidag. 97.26 δὲν εἶχασι πρωτύτερα γνωρίσειν CHORTATZIS, Erof. II.174; διαλέξειν ἤθελα ibid. IV.475; μπορέσειν ἤθελε ibid. V.629

μὴ ὅ,τι μόδου θέλεις πορέσειν κάμειν (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 57.34)

This infinitive can be found without final /n/ from the very beginning and throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar:

καὶ ζωὴν αἰώνιον κληρονόμους ποιήσει Vios Philaret. 172–3 app. crit. (G) (9th c.; 11th-c. ms)

τὸ ποίσει Jonas 216.88

τὸ τί ποιήσει οὐκ εἶχασιν Chron. Mor. H 4084; τὰ οὐκ ἠμπορῶ σᾶς γράψαι ibid. 7802 δὲν ἠμπορεῖ τὰ κλείσει Peri xen. 26

τίνος λογισμὸς ... ἐξαριθμήσει | ... δυνηθῇ [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 280–1 καθὼς τοὺς εἶχεν ἀφήκει ο Νεκτεναβός Diig. Alex. K 349.23 θέλει ὑγιάνει KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 331.20; τοῦτος θέλει ζήσει ibid. 335.12 ἤθελε δώσει (1555, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 177, 228.28) ἐτότες τοῦ ἤθελα ρεσποντάρει (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.32) (< Ven. responder) θέλομε μιλῆσει πάλι ἀλλότες CHORTATISIS, Erof. I.512; νά ἔλες μοῦ γρικήσει id., Katz. II.319 δὲν εἶχαν τί κάμη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.13 δὲν εἶχαμεν ἴντα στιμάρει (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 779, 676.27) (< Ven. stimār) θέλω το σοτοσκριβέρει καὶ μέ τὸ χέρι μου (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 57.301) (< Ven. sotoscriver)

ἂν ἤθελα τὸ τελειώσει (1655, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 178.8)

θέλω σε κάμει να γνωρίσεις Don Kis. 19.11; θέλει με γδείρει ζωντανόν ibid. 20.22–3 (for γδάρει by analogy with δέρινω)

Addition of -(ν)ε (see I, 2.6.3.3) is not very common with infinitives, but some examples have been found in texts from south-western areas: εἶχεν ἔρωτῆσεινε Chron. Mor. P 5770; θέλει κερδίσεινε Theseid VI.22,8 (Olsen) (not uncommon in this text); θέλεις μου πιάσεινε σιγουριτὰ (1715, Nauplion, LIATA 1975: 6, 123.14).

The infinitive (ύ)πά(γ)ει(ν), originally the present infinitive of ὑπάγω (see also 2.4), serves as an aorist infinitive throughout the LMedG and EMG periods:

βούλομαι δὲ ὑπάγειν Dig. G II.128

καὶ θέλουσιν ὑπάγειν Ptoch. IV 581 ἀφότου ὀφείλω ὑπάει Chron. Mor. H 1873 ἵς τὴν στράταν τὴν ἐπέρασες καὶ τὴν ἠθέλεις πάγειν Liv. V 3417 θέλω ὑπάγει νά πάρω τὸ ἀμάχιν Assizes A 60.27 εἶχαν πάγειν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 272.20; οἱ ξένοι θέλουν πάγειν, καὶ οἱ τοπικοὶ θέλουν μείνειν ibid. 478.21–2 ἴσαν να ἔχε ὑπάγει Apoll. Rim. V 956 θέλεις ὑπάγει εἰς τὸν παράδεισον Diig. Alex. K 348.33 θέλεις ὑπάγει ἀπέσω Diig. Alex. E 125.20 (Konstantinopulos) κι' ἄς ἤθελα πάγει CHORTATISIS, Katz. IV.85 ἐμετανόησεν πῶς εἶχε ὑπάγει Bertoldos 68.32 θέλουν σε ὑπάγει εἰς τὸν βασιλέα μας Alex. Fyll. 75.29 “Contracted” forms of ὑπά(γ)ειν and φά(γ)ειν are probably formed by analogy with the present infinitive of oxytone A-stems (ἄγαπᾶν, ἄγαπᾶ, see above; see also 2.2.2.3). Final /n/ is sometimes deleted (for the substantivized use of φᾶ(ν) and other infinitives see II, 2.24.4).

ἂν θέλῃς πᾶν Dig. E 440

θέλει φᾶ τὴν πίτταν Vulgärorakel I.97

εἰς φᾶν καὶ πγεῖν Assizes B 414.27 οἶος ἤθελεν ὑπᾶ Pol. Tr. 6430 app. crit. (B) νά μέ εἶχασιν ὑπᾶ κανίσκιν εἰς τὸν Χάρον SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 35

πρὸς τὸ φάν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 495 καὶ ἐθέλαν πᾶν εἰς τὸ καλόν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 436.24

εἰς τὸ φᾶ BERGADIS, Apok. V 42

Although this AG aorist active infinitive ending is residual by the beginning of the LMedG period, it can occasionally be found; in mixed-register texts it has even been found with innovative verb stems: βλεπῆσαι in an early Cypriot law text and κρατῆσαι in Grigoropoulos, dependent on an optative. Some representative examples are:

ἀρμόζει ξενοδοχῆσαι αὐτόν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 142.24 τίς φράσαι ὅλως δυνηθῆ Dig. G II.33; εἰς τὸ καβαλικεύσαι ibid. VI.231 στενεύεται τοῦ στρέψαι τὴν προῖκα (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 73.173) ὕστερον οὐδὲν ἠθέλησεν πληρῶσαι τὸν γάμον (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 229.97); ὁμοῦντες οἱ κουράτορες τοῦ βλεπῆσαι καὶ διοικῆσαι τοῖς ὄρφανοῖς ibid. 229.107) θέλω δεῖξαι Ptoch. I 26 ὀφείλουν ἐγκρεμῖσαι Chron. Mor. H 890; τὸ δύνομαι ν' ἀποκριθῶ καὶ δύνομαι ποιῆσαι ibid. 4266 καὶ ὡς λύκοι ἐπεσέβησαν, σπαρᾶσαι καὶ ταρᾶσαι Flor. L 53 εἴτις δὲ βουλήθῃ κατελύσαι τὸ παρὸν γράμμαν, νὰ ἐνὶ ἀσυγχώρητος (14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 148.14–15) καὶ τὸν Ἀφράτην ποταμὸν οὐκ ἤμποροῦν περάσαι Arm. 39 πόσους δύνασαι, Βασίλη, ἀπαντῆσαι; Dig. E 686 οὐκ εἶχε ποῦ καθίσαι Paroim. F 78 μέλλει θρύψαι τὸ λιθάριν Ptochol. α 394 τίς δυνηθῇ καταλεπτὸν λεπτομερῶς ἐκφράσαι; Achil. O 145 μηδεὶς ἐξ αὐτῶν ἰσχύσαι κρατῆσαι (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 6, 12.16)

4.6.2.2 Passive Voice

-εῖ(ν) -ῖ(ν)

When the aorist passive infinitive -ῖναι (see below) becomes -ῖν (a form already found in early Christian papyri, see KAPSOMENAKIS 1938: 129), the ending in fact becomes indistinguishable from the dominant infinitive ending -εῖ(ν) (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 192; HESSELING 1892b: 27–8), which is why both spellings, with <ει> and with <η>, can be found:

βούλοντες τοῦτο στερχθεῖν (1100, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 15, 89.48–9) ἔχει ... κατακλιθῆν GLYKAS, Stichoi 359; τὰ βόλια γυρισθῆν ἔχουν ibid. 368 (read ἔχουν) ὅταν ἤθελες δοξασθῆν Dig. G II.81 and Dig. E 252; μετὰ δὲ τὸ συντελεσθῆν Dig. G IV.933 ὅπου σὲ θέλει ἀφηγηθῆν Liv. E 2116 ἐκδικηθῆν ἠθέλαμεν Pol. Tr. 11199 καὶ θέλομεν χαθῆν καὶ ἡμεῖς Velis. χ 46 θέλεις ἀναπαυτεῖν (1497?, Rome, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 4, 136.8) το πράγμα θέλει κρυβηθεῖν Diig. Apoll. 29 τί ἀποκριθῆν οὐκ εἶχα BERGADIS, Apok. V 76 νᾶχαν κουντεντιαστῆν οἱ Γενουβίσοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 434.36 (<Occit. countentar>; θέλομεν στραφεῖν ibid. 654.38 ὁ φλόαρος δὲν θέλει ἀγαπηθῆν ἀπάνω εἰς τὴν γῆν Fior Suppl. 275.23 ἂν ἴσως καὶ ἠθέλεν εὐρεθεῖν τινὰς (1517, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 48, 84.51); θέλω θαπτεῖν εἰς τὸν Μέγαν Ἰωάννην Θεολόγον (1523, ibid. 83, 155.8–9) ἦθελαν διαφεντευθῆν Diig. Alex. F 176.5 (Lolos); οὕτως θέλομε φανῆν ibid. 216.7

ἐγὼ θέλω λυπηθεῖν ποτὲ DAM. SToud., This., Logos 4, 85v.19 (1561) ἰσως και θέλουν εντραπειν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6838; ἐπειτα θέλουσιν γραφτεῖν ibid. 7384

Deletion of final /n/ can be found from the 14th c. (ms date of Jonas), though there is also an isolated example a few centuries earlier in S. Italy:

ὅστις ἂν ἔχει εὐρεθεῖ (1050, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 37, 46.39–40) τὸ συθριβεῖ Jonas 213.10 ὁποῦ σὲ θέλει ἀφηγηθεῖ Liv. E 492 νᾶχα πνιγῇ Byz. Il. 439 θέλει σὲ ἀπιλογηθεῖ DELLAP., Peri antapod. 157 ἂν ἤθελε ἡύρηθεῖ (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 32, 44.13) ἤθελα σηκωθεῖ (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.11) θέλω καμωθῇ ὅτι κοιμῶμαι ZYGOM., Stef. Ichn. 190.1 θέλομεν κολασθῇ (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 233.25) θέλω λωλαθεῖ ἐδῶ κάτω Bertoldin. 109.34 ἤθελε τοῦ κακοφανεῖ (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 59.26) ντόπο ἀποῦ θέλει πουμπλικαριστεῖ (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 199.203) (< Ven. publicàr) ἡ παρθένος θέλει ἐγκαστρωθεῖ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 1.23; θέλεις βαλθεῖ ibid. Matth. 5.25 (νὰ μὴν λάχη ...) καὶ δὲν θέλη λυπηθῇ τὴν ζωὴν σου [VLASTOS], Dig. P II 325.30 νὰ μὴν εἶχα γεννηθεῖ PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §3.24 ἤθελε μοῦ εὐρεθεῖ (1653, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 3, 144.16)

-ῆναι

This ending, clearly residual by the beginning of the LMedG period, can sometimes be found, mainly in mixed-register texts and more formal contexts:

ὅταν κοιμηθῆναι ὑπάγωσι NIKON, Logos 3 164.9
 θέλοντα τοῦ γευθῆναι Dig. G IV.381; εἰ ἐγερθῆναι ἔχει ibid. VI.507 τίς θέλει σωθῆναι Diig. sevast. Thom. 276 μέλλεις καταδικασθῆναι καὶ εὐθυνθῆναι (1316, Constantinople, HUNGER/KRESTEN 1981: 39, 292.15) κανένα οὐ μὴ ἐδυνήθηκε ποσῶς ἀντισταθῆναι Pol. Tr. 664; θέλουν διαφεντευθῆναι ibid. 2487 μήτε δειπνου φροντίσαντες μήτε τοῦ κοιμηθῆναι Velis. χ 304 μέλλει κριθῆναι Assizes A 25.26 ὑπᾶν τοῦ κοιμηθῆναι Byz. Il. 406 (θέλει ...) ὁ λίθος τεφρωθῆναι Ptochol. α 396 μετὰ τὸ βαπτισθῆναι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.21 ἐν ᾧ μέλλω θαφῆναι (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 2, 22.6) (ἂν ἴσως καὶ ... ἤθελεν) ὑπανδρευθῆναι (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 44, 76.18)
 ὅσα ἤθελεν γεννηθῆναι (1642, Patmos, MICHAILARIS 1998: 1, 193.6)

The verb ἔρχομαι had developed an aorist passive infinitive ἐλθῆναι in the EMedG period (e.g. in Romanos the Melode and Leontios of Naples, see MITSAKIS 1967: 68), which appears occasionally in later mixed- to higher-register texts, relatively frequently in documents from S. Italy (for more examples see MINAS ²2003: 121–2). Of other verbs that have thematic aorists, such as ἄγω, πανθάνω/παθαίνω and φεύγω, morphologically passive infinitives also occasionally occur.

εἰ δὲ καὶ εἰς ἀποτροπὴν ἐλθῆναι δοκιμάσω (1135, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1963: 5, 65.8) πάσας τὰς ὑποθέσεις ἐπαναγαγεῖναι ἐπὶ τὸ κρεῖττον (1145, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. I: 9, 26.3–4) εἰς τόπον ἀπελθῆναι Diig. sevast. Thom. 49 μέλλεις φυγεῖναι ERMON., Ilias 19.207 αὐριον ἐκδεχόμεθα ἐδῶ πάντες ἐλθῆναι Achil. N 1470 τὴν ἑαυτοῦ, ἡγνοηκώς, ὅπερ παθῆναι μέλῃ Dig. T 2397
 ὅπερ παθῆναι θέλει Dig. A 3564

4.6.2.3 Infinitives with Barytone and Oxytone Forms

-εἶ(ν) -εῖνε -ει(ν)

Thematic aorists historically had active oxytone infinitives in -εῖν (e.g. ἰδεῖν, λαβεῖν, πιεῖν, φαγεῖν) and continue to do so throughout the period under investigation, though certain oxytone forms, such as ἀποθανεῖν, λαβεῖν and πεσεῖν, clearly belong to a higher stylistic register:

εἰς τὸ ἐκ παντὸς ἐλθεῖν θέλει GLYKAS, Stichoï 299 (read: θελεῖ); ὑποπτεσεῖν ibid. 569 πρὸς τὸ μαθεῖν Dig. G I.114; τοῦ λαβεῖν σε γυναῖκα ibid. IV.317 μετὰ χαρμονῆς | πόσης εἰπεῖν οὐκ ἔχω Eisit. f.5r.7–8 τοῦ εἰπεῖν Jonas 213.1 app. crit. (O) ὅμως ἂν βούλεται ἀπελθεῖν Dig. E 410; καὶ εὐθύς τὸ ἰδεῖν ὁ Διγενῆς ibid. 934; φαγεῖν καὶ πιεῖν ἔχεις ibid. 1779 θέλεις τοῦ εὐρεῖν τὴν ὁλότην (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 13, 22.1–2); λαβεῖν θέλεις (ibid. 12, 22.8) γλυκὺν τὸ φαγεῖν, πικρὸν δὲ τὸ χέσσειν Paroim. H 34 καὶ ἀφκράσου τὰ σὲ θέλω εἰπεῖν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 884 ἤθελεν ἀποθανεῖν ἐκ τῆς ἀγάπης Anthos Ch. E 271.50 εἰπεῖν ἤθελα SOFIANOS, Paidag. 97.12 γέννησιν, ἢ μάλλον εἰπεῖν ἀναγέννησιν DAM. SToud., This., Logos 3, β7r.28 (1561)

Deletion of final /n/ has been found in writing from the 14th c. onwards:

τὸ ἰδεῖ τον Chron. Mor. H 257; νὰ σὲ ἔχω εἰπεῖ ibid. 532; ἀπὸ τὴν Πόλιν εἶχε ἐλθεῖ ibid. 4901 τοῦ εἰπεῖ Jonas 213.1 (reading of ms B) πάντες ὑπᾶν παραλαβεῖ Byz. Il. 405 app. crit. ἐγένετο ἀποθανεῖ τὴν εαυτῆς μητέρα Diig. Apoll. 6 ὅπου εἶχεν εἰπεῖ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 332.36 θέλεις ἰδεῖ MOREZINOS, Klini 235.10 μὰ τοῦτο θέλομεν εἰπεῖ CHORTATIS, Erof. I.108 ἢ φωτία θέλει ἐρθεῖ ὀπίσω Chron. Tourk. Soult. 62.3–4 καλὰ το θέλω εἰπεῖ VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 35.33

In the EMG period vowel-initial oxytone forms may lose their first unstressed vowel, resulting in monosyllabic forms (e.g. ἰδεῖ(ν) > δεῖ(ν), εἰπεῖ(ν) > πεῖ(ν), εὐρεῖ(ν) > βρεῖ(ν)):

κι ἐγὼ τὸ δεῖν ἐτρόμαξα BERGADIS, Apok. V 53 θέλομεν δεῖν VOUSTR., Chron. M 75.18 ὡς θέλετε δεῖ CHORTATSIS, Erof. Prol. 101; βρεῖ θέλει τρόπον ὁμορφο ibid. II.19; πεῖν ἤθελε ibid. II.215
 εἶχασι δεῖν ὁμπρός τως FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 34; ἀληθινὰ πεῖν ἤθελα ibid. II.59

Addition of -(ν)ε (see I, 2.6.3.3) is generally rare with infinitives: ὡς θέλεις ἰδεῖνε (1715, Nauplion, LIATA 1975: 6, 123.6); ὡς θέλεις τὸ ἰδεῖνε (ibid. 123.22).

These aorists develop paroxytone variants around the beginning of the LMedG period,¹⁴⁵ probably by analogy with the aorist subjunctive, which with most verbs also displayed both stress patterns (see 4.2.3).

τοῦ ἰδεῖν αὐτὰ (1142, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 6, 303.22) χαλάσειν ἔχει ... καὶ πέσειν GLYKAS, Stichoi 359 ὀφείλεις δὲ λάβειν (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 472.32) εἰ δὲ κομπώσιν ἤθελες καὶ λάβειν καὶ πλανήσιν Ptoch. I 106 τὸ ἴντα θέλεις πάθειν Liv. E 492 τὸ νὰ τὸ θέλεις μάθειν Liv. V 80 οὐκ ἔμπορουν τὴν εὐρεῖν Dig. E 124; οὐ μὴ σᾶς ἔχει λάθειν ibid. 1213 θέλει τὸ λάβειν Assizes B 289.26 ἔμελλον καταλάβειν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 999 τοῦ πέσειν Spanos D 1167 τὸ εἶχαν βάλειν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 436.33 δὲν εἶχεν τί συντύχειν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 863 Νὰ ᾗχεν ἐππέσειν κέραινος KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 171

Here, too, deletion of final /n/ does not appear in writing before the 14th c.: καθὼς τὸ θέλεις μάθει Chron. Mor. H 1197; τὸ ἔλθει ἡ πρωτοστρατόρισσα ibid. 7703 ἂν ἤθελεν ἔρθει (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.13) ἂν εἶχεν ἔλθει Assizes B 338.23 ἄμα τὸ πέσει εἰς τὴν γῆν Liv. V 143 κάμε νὰ θέλουν ἔλθει Pol. Tr. 5639 ὅτι τοῦ θέλουν ἔρθει Chron. Toc. 575 θέλεις ἔλθει κάτου Diig. Alex. F 154.11 (Lolos) ἤθελεν ἀποθάνει (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 5, 25.16–17) θέλομεν πέσει DAM. STOUD., Dial. 104.6 θέλει ἔρθει VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 144 ἐγὼ θέλω σου μάθει τὴν γραμματικὴν GERMANO, Grammar 104.8–9 θέλετε το πῖει KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 20.23 τί ἤθελα πάθει PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §6.23 ἂν ἤθελαν συνέλθει ὁμοῦ (1665, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 58, 172.16)

The verb γίνομαι, which originally had an aorist middle infinitive γενέσθαι, first developed an oxytone active infinitive in -εῖν (γενεῖν, sporadically γινεῖν) by analogy with thematic aorists, and then, along with the thematic aorists, a paroxytone infinitive in -ει(ν) (γένειν/γίνει, the second not found with final /n/) (cf. the aorist subjunctive, 4.2.4; for stem variation in this verb see 2.4):

¹⁴⁵ E.g. λάβειν in Niketas of Ankyra (11th c.; 13th-c. ms; see the online TLG). ἦν μέλλει γινεῖ (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 473.9–10) νά καταδέξεται γενεῖ Chron. Mor. H 236 θέλουν ὁδεῖ τῆντα θέλουν γενῆ Assizes A 90.29 καὶ θέλομεν γινεῖν ἔρημοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 158.7

 θέλει γενῆν ἀνήμερος δράκος Alosis 477; θέλει γινῆν ἀπέραντο ποτάμι ibid. 626 ἤθελα γενῆν καλλιότερος παρὰ σένα Fior 98.35 γενεῖ θέλει τώρα χρονῶν τριάντα Diig. Alex. K 345.33 θέλεις γενεῖν μέγας καὶ φοβερὸς Diig. Alex. F 164.9–10 (Lolos); εἶχεν γενεῖ ibid. 230.12 ὅσοι ἐθέλασιν γενεῖν ἱερεῖς (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 173.26–7) θέλετε γενεῖν θεοὶ DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 24, ω7r.34 (1561) (χίλια κομμάτια ...) νά ᾗ γενεῖ πάσα καρδιά CHORTATSIS, Erof. IV.202 θέλει ἀπογενεῖ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 105.22 ὥσαν ποτὲ νά μὴν εἶχεν γενεῖ (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 651, 568.6–7) ποὺ ἤθελε γενῆ ἱερέας (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 482.3)

The paroxytone variants γένει(ν) and γίνει have not been found before the 15th c. (ms dates of the War of Troy and Ermoniakos) and the 16th c. (Tale of Alexander) respectively:

ἄλλον δὲν θέλει γένει Pol. Tr. 1613 app. crit. (A) ἡ βουλή σου νά ᾗ γένει ERMON., Ilias 8.54; μέλλει γένειν ibid. 12.338 πόσας ἡμέρας ἤθελεν γένει (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 59, 48.5) σύναξις θέλει γένει Chron. Toc. 1350 θέλει γένει κρίσις (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 84.18–19) (= κρίσις) τὰ μέλλουν θέλουν γένῃ Byz. Il. 773 ἀπὸ βαμπάκι ὅπερ ἤθελεν γένει μέσα (1538, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 35, 36.6–7) ὑψηλότατος θέλεις γίνει Diig. Alex. E 113.17 (Lolos); ἤθελα γένει ibid. 205.19 θέλει γένει πάλιν ἀρτζι MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 220.16 ἐχθροὶ σου θέλουν γένει Diig. Alex. Sem. S 581 καὶ ἐκεῖνο ὅπου ἤθελε γένει Bertoldos 61.24–5 καὶ ἔτσι ἤθελεν γίνει τακτικὸς Bertoldin. 136.8 θέλω γένει καὶ ἄρχοντας MONTSEL., Evgena 430 θέλει γένει ἱατρὸς μόνον ὁ θάνατος (1665, Vraniana, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 58, 172.14–15)

-εἶ(ν) ὀ -ῆ(ν) ὀ -ει(ν) ὀ -η(ν)

The verb βαίνω and its prefixed forms originally had athematic infinitives in -ναι (βῆναι, ἀναβῆναι), and in the same manner as the aorist passive infinitives in -ῆναι (see 4.6.2.2) they had developed aorist active infinitives in /in/, which continue to be in use in our period, with deletion of final /n/ from the 15th c. onwards:

ἂν ἔχη εἰς ὄρος ἀναβῆν GLYKAS, Stichoï 358 κἂν εἴ τι θέλῃ με συμβῆν Eisit. f.5v.13 εἰ δὲ εἶχεν παραδιαβεῖν (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.18) εἰς πόσας ἡμέρας θέλει ἀνεβεῖ ὁ ὄφις (15th c., Unknown, SEARBY 2003: 4, 694.3) θέλουν σεβεῖ Diig. Alex. F 156.12 (Lolos) θέλει ἐμπεῖ Diig. Alex. E 157.9 (Lolos) ἤθελεν ἀνεβῆ SOFIANOS, Paidag. 102.18 δὲν ἤθελες κατεβεῖ NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 2.12 ἤθελεν ἐβγεῖ (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 37, 117.30); ἂν ἤθελαν μπεῖ (1565, ibid. 150, 239.5–6) δὲν εἶχε μπεῖ CHORTATSIS, Erof. II.311 εἶχε συνεβεῖ (1638, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2004: 107.8)

These aorists develop paroxytone variants, probably by analogy with the thematic aorist infinitive (see above, and cf. the aorist subjunctive, which also displays both stress patterns, 4.2.3):

κατέβην ἔχω Dig. E 288 μέλλεις ἀνέβην Pol. Tr. 62 (reading of ms X); ἀνέβη ibid. app. crit. (V); ἀνάβη ibid. app. crit. (A) ἀνέβειν ἡδυνήθηκεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1269 ὁ σκώληξ ἔβγει θέλει Ptochol. α 395 εὐθύς τ' ἀνέβην ὥρμησα BERGADIS, Apok. A 35 θέλεις ἔμπει νοικοκύρης Bertoldos 61.27 θέλουσιν ἀπόβγειν RODINOS, Vios Ign. 84.5 θέλει ἔβγει KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 2.6 ἦθελε ἔβγει (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 138.30–1) ἦθελεν παρῆβειν τὴν ὑπόσχεσίν του (1696, Proikonnisos, KAMBOURIS 1976: A. 8, 199.1) ἀκόμη δὲν εἶχε καλοέμπει εἰς τὸ δάσος Don Kis. 18.30–1

4.7 The Gerund

The gerund as a separate morphological and syntactic category (an invariable form in adverbial use) evolved from the active participle (see II, 3.7.1) during a lengthy and gradual process, starting from the adverbial use of the masculine nominative form (in -ων/-ῶν for the present and -ας for the aorist) with feminine referents as early as the 5th/4th c. BC (MANOLESSOU 2005: 243). With the loss of vowel length (HORROCKS ²2010: 163–5), the masculine nominative in -ων and the neuter nominative and accusative in -ον became indistinguishable. The next step in the development was the spread of the masculine accusative ending /onda/ to the neuter nominative and accusative in the 4th c. AD (HATZIDAKIS 1892:144; KAPSOMENAKIS 1938: 40; MANOLESSOU 2005: 246), the subsequent spread of this form to masculine nominatives and feminine forms in EMedG inscriptions (MANOLESSOU 2005: 250–1) and its eventual establishment as a fully-fledged gerund from about the 10th/11th c. onwards (see below).

From the 11th c. onwards an added final /s/ can be found, sporadically at first, but becoming more common after the 15th c. (forms in -ντας are the SMG form).¹⁴⁶ The most plausible explanation for this development is that of CHATZIDAKIS (1928: 637) and SCHWYZER/DEBRUNNER (1950: 410–11), namely that, since the gerund is used in apposition to the subject, final /s/ came to be added by analogy with masculine nominatives in /s/, first and foremost in -ας, but also in -ος and -ης, final /s/ having become a clear marker for the nominative of masculine nouns and adjectives.¹⁴⁷ Former third-declension nouns in -ων and ¹⁴⁶ The fact that certain MG dialects still present the form in -όντα without addition of final /s/ (among which S. Italy, Cyprus, Mani, and other areas of the Peloponnese and Euboea; see MIRAMBEL 1961: 70–1) is an indication of a relatively late breakthrough for the phenomenon.

¹⁴⁷ A different explanation, namely that final /s/ was added because of the gerund's adverbial function and thus by analogy with adverbs with an added -ς, such as ποτέ > ποτές, τότε > τότες (HORROCKS ²2010: 298; MANOLESSOU 2005: 251; GORTON 2013), seems less plausible given the fact that the adverbial ending -ας for -α does not occur across the board, but is limited to a relatively small group of lexical items (see II, 4.2.3 for details).

-ών had already undergone a parallel morphological development, e.g. nom. γέρων, acc. γέροντα > nom. γέροντας; nom. χειμών, acc. χειμώνα > nom. χειμώνας; see II, 2.2.

In the period covered by this Grammar present active participles were still in use in mixed- and higher-register texts (for their uses see IV, 3.4.4.2; for their morphology see II, 3.7.1), especially in adverbial use, with the subject as referent e.g. περιπατοῦντες ἔρχονται Achil. N 1323, and in absolute constructions, e.g. πετῶντες πολλοὶ εἰς τοὺς οὐρανοὺς, ἀνασταίνεται ἕνας βασιλέας VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 31.27–8, while their attributive use and use as verbal complements was rapidly diminishing (MANOLESSOU 2005: 252). Of course, when used adverbially, participles closely resemble the gerund. The fact that inflected endings are used is the only thing that differentiates them from the gerund, and clearly the difference between the following two examples is minimal: θερίζουν τὲς Κυριακὲς φλυαροῦντες LANDOS, Geopon. 145.16–17; νὰ μὴν γυρίσουν ὀπίσω, εὐρίσκοντας καμπόσες γούνες ἀπὸ τὲς νιφίτσες Bertoldin. 114.9–10.

In LMedG and EMG the gerund could be formed from the imperfective stem (present gerund), from the active perfective stem (aorist gerund; regional) and rarely even from the passive perfective stem (for the use of these gerunds see IV, 3.4.4.2). In present gerunds of barytone verbs the thematic vowel /o/ is unstressed (although stress shifts may occur regionally, see below). The thematic vowel /o/ of athematic aorist gerunds is stressed (although, again, stress shifts may occur regionally, see below). In those of oxytone A-stems the thematic vowel /o/ is stressed, as are the /o/ or /o/ of oxytone E-stems. For oxytone E-stem verbs /o/ is much more common than /o/, clearly making /onda/ the dominant ending for gerunds. Since the endings are the same for barytone and oxytone verbs, a single table is provided to cover both classes of verbs. For the gerund of εἶμαι, see 4.8.5. For “contracted” forms of barytone vowel stem verbs, e.g. ἀκοῦντα(ς), see also 2.1.1.2. For the use of gerunds in periphrastic constructions see 5.3.1.5 and 5.4.1.5. For the use of the gerund in general, see IV, 3.4.4.2 and 4.4.6.

	General	Restricted	Rare
Present	γράφοντα γράφοντας γρικῶντα/-όντα γρικῶντας/-όντας βαρῶντα βαρῶντας	γράφων γράφοντες γρικῶντες/-όντες -ας	γράφονταν γράφουντα γραφόντα γραφόντας γράφουντας γράφота(ς) γράφαντας
Aorist	ἀποθανόντα ἀποθανόντας	ἀποθανών ἀποθάνοντας γράφοντα	ἀποθανότα(ς) ἀποθάνονταν ἀποθάνοντες γράψας

	General	Restricted	Rare
		γράφοντας	γράφαντα(ς) ἐλθοντος ἢ ἐλθόντος σταθόντα σταθέντα

4.7.1 Present

-οντα ἢ -ονταν ἢ -οτα ἢ -ουντα ἢ -ώντα ἢ -ούντα ἢ -όντα

As noted in the introduction, gerunds in -ντα, derived from the present active participles in -ων/-ών (see II, 3.7.1), start to appear in texts from at least the 10th/11th c., by which time they must have been well-established, given that they also appear in mixed- and higher-register texts such as the writings of Nikon of the Black Mountain and *Digenis G.*¹⁴⁸ The form gradually falls into disuse after the 16th c., by which time forms in -ντας have become firmly established (see below).

Barytone Verbs

ἡμεῖς βλέποντά σοι τοιοῦτον εἶναι ἱκανόν (999, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 10, 9.12) (ὁ πρεσβύτερος ...) λέγοντα ... (1094, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 13, 129.16–17) καὶ ὅσαι μὲν εὐρηνται ... ἐορτὲς ἔχοντα ἀναγνώσματα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 214.27–8; ἐκεῖ οὐκ ἦμουν προσέχοντα ἄλλους καὶ ἄλλους id., Logos 19 566.36
 ... οὐ μετέσχε βρωμάτων, ἢ οὐ πόσεως τὸ σύνολον θέλοντα τοῦ γευθῆναι Dig. G IV.380–1 ἐκεῖνοι πάλι φεύγοντα Chron. Mor. H 1144 κλαίοντα καὶ ὀδυρόμενος Dig. E 393; συντυχαίνοντα ὁ θεῖος του καὶ ὁ πατήρ του ibid. 785 (ἐγκάριξεν ...) φωνάζοντα καὶ τρέχοντα Diig. tetr. 711 τὸν σταυρὸν βαστάζοντα ἦλθαν ... DELLAP., Epit. Thrinos 257 διδοντά του (1496, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 1, 47.11) (first accent omitted) βλέποντά τον ἢ κόρη Velth. 1004 (Cupane) πρεζεντιάζοντά τα, λαλεῖ του VOUSTR., Chron. A 88.19; καβαλλικεύγοντα ο ἀποστολὲς id., Chron. M 9.17
 βασιλεύοντα ὁ υἱὸς αὐτοῦ Μεχμέτης (16th c., northern Aegean?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 70.II, 544.9.1)
 ἀπὸ ἄλλον μέρος στέκοντα ἔβλεπεν ὁ Θησεὺς Theseid I.58,1 (Follieri) ἐπανηγύριζαν ψάλλοντα καὶ τὸν Θεὸν δοξάζοντα Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 290 ἀρχιερετεύοντα κυρ-Νικταρίου (1593, Kastoria, ΔΡΑΚΟΠΟΥΛΟΥ 2005: 1, 13.3)

Oxytone Verbs

(ὁ πρεσβύτερος ...) παρακαλοῦντα αὐτὸν (1094, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2004: 13, 129.16–17) ἦλθες παρκάλωντα με (1173, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 51, 88.21) ἀναβάλλομαι, ἐρευνῶντα ... ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 211.21 ἦλθαν παρακαλῶντα μας Chron. Mor. H 349; ὁ καστελλᾶνος ..., οὐ μὴ σκοπῶντα δόλον ibid.
 8237

¹⁴⁸The following example appears in what is probably a 9th-c. text: ὅταν ἐξέρχηται ἡ ψυχὴ ... βοᾷ λέγοντα Apocal. Mar. 124.43 app. crit. (ed. James 1893, repr. 1967), which, however, has been transmitted in a 11th/12th-c. ms.

(ἐγκάριξεν ...) τοιλοπορδοκοπῶντα Diig. tetr. 711 γρικῶντα ταῦτα ... ἐδέχθημεν (1483, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 2, 41.7) ἐστράφηκε γελῶντα Velth. 861 (Cupane) φιλῶντα τὰ ματάκια της FALIEROS, Ist. On. 469 γροικῶντα ἐκεῖνος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 12.18–19; ἐκλαῖαν ... λαλοῦντα ibid. 588.16 ἐγὼ θωρῶντα σε LIMEN., Than. Rod. 211 ἡ κρατῶντα αὐτὰ ἡ πωλῶντα (1513, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 38, 67.36) ὀμιλῶντα δὲ ὁ Πατριάρχης Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 163 ζῶντα μου, φρονῶντα μου (1635, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1982: 1, 13.2) μισῶντα καὶ ἀγαπῶντα (1668, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 39, 40.5)

Present active gerunds in -ντα of deponent verbs (verbs with passive morphology but active meaning, see IV, 4.2) can be found in texts from Cyprus and Crete, but they are much more common and widespread with final /s/ (see below).

Barytone Verbs

ἔρχοντα ὁ καιρὸς δὲν ἔχει νὰ πληρώσῃ Assizes A 44.13 στρέφοντα ἡ ρήγαινα VOUSTR., Chron. A 56.7
 ντρέποντα ἐκρυβήθησαν ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 490 ἔρκοντα τοῦ κυροῦ Μανουήλ τοῦ Βουτουμήτη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 36.21; καὶ στρέφοντά του ὁ κυβερνοῦρης ibid. 296.13 πέτοντα πότε ἐδῶ πότε ἐκεῖ Anthos Ch. A 189.6 ὕδελοντά τους Pist. kekoim. 674 θέλω ὁκαί, πανδρεῦοντα ἡ λεγομένη Μαρίνα, νὰ ᾽χει ἐπαρμένα (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 219.60)

Oxytone Verbs

ὁ νοῦς μου ... νὰ ᾽ν φοβῶντα FALIEROS, Ist. On. 11; φοβοῦντα ibid. app. crit. (V) φοβῶντα μὲν φύγη MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 542.17–18 κοιμοῦντα εἰς τὸ κρεβάτιν μου BERGADIS, Apok. V 425 καὶ κοιμῶντα τους ἐμπαίνει ἀπάνω στὸ καράβιν Fior 108.12 θυμῶντα τὴν ἀγάπη μου Imb. Rim. 941

Addition of final /n/ can occasionally be found (cf. the aorist gerund, 4.7.2):

εἶχε κρατῶνταν (1113, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 75, 97.17) ἀπεμπολῶνταν τὸ ἡμῶν μοιράδιον (1154–5, S. Italy, ROGNONI 2011: 5, 79.5) προστάσσοντάν με (1182, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 22, 424.7) καὶ γυρίζονταν εὐρίσκει ERMON., Ilias 19.363; βλέπονταν αὐτὸς αὐτίκα ibid. 22.326 παρακαλῶνταν τον (1682, Venice, MANOUSAKAS/SKOULAS 1993: 527α, 133.7)

Gerunds of barytone verbs with a shift of the stress to the penultimate have been found in one manuscript of the War of Troy and certain texts from Cyprus:

ταῦτα λεγόντα ἔφθασαν Pol. Tr. 8366 app. crit. (C) στρεφόντα τους οἱ μαντατοφόροι ἀπὸ τοῦ πάπα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 94.36 ἐρκόντα τῆς εἰς τὴν αὐλὴν VOUSTR., Chron. B 57.7; ἐρκόντα το μαντάτον id., Chron. M 73.17 νὰ ᾽χη πόνον ... διδόντα ... περίτου παρὰ ποῦ ἐμπόρεν Fior 102.30–1¹⁴⁹ ¹⁴⁹ In Cypriot the verb δίδω has an oxytone variant διδῶ, see 2.1.3.1.

Barytone vowel-stem verbs can have paroxytone gerunds through vowel deletion (see also 2.1.1.2) or synizesis: ξενίζομαι ἀκόντα τέτοιαν τάξη FALIEROS, Ist. On. 116 (< ἀκούω); ἀκόντα τὰ γενόμενα BERGADIS, Apok. A 151 (< ἀκούω); κλιόντα Cypr. Canz. 34.7 (< κλαίω).

Gerunds of barytone verbs can undergo raising of unstressed /o/ to /u/ in the thematic vowel (for details see I, 2.8.3). Examples have been found in texts from Cyprus, and in one manuscript of the War of Troy: ἀσκονδίζονται γυρίζουν Pol. Tr. 12044 app. crit. (C); κλέπτουντα πράγματα Assizes A 19.30 app. crit. (L); ἀγοράζονται οὐδὲ πουλοῦντα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 354.30–1 (hapax).

Forms in -τα instead of -ντα are phonetic rather than morphological variants, representing a graphematic realization of nasal deletion before stops, whereby /nd/ becomes /d/ (for details see I, 3.6.2.1): φυλάττοτα τὰ γεροθρόφια (1606, Chios, VISVIZIS 1948: 4, 82.10).

-οντας | -ουντας | -ώντας | -ούντας | -όντας

Addition of /s/ is securely attested in the 14th c.,¹⁵⁰ becoming more frequent from about the 15th c. onwards (e.g. ms H of Chronicle of the Morea (14th c.) has only three gerunds in -ντας against over a hundred in -ντα, whereas the Chronicle of Tocco (15th c.) has only one gerund in -ντα against about thirty in -ντας). The majority of Cypriot texts (ms V of the chronicle of Machairas, all versions of that of Voustronios, the John of Damascus paraphrase Pist. kekoim. and Fior di Virtù), only have forms in -ντα. In the 15th and 16th c., forms with and without final /s/ often appear side by side in the same text.

Barytone Verbs

ἐβλέποντας Chron. Mor. H 2917 and 3968 ἐπιδίδοντας τὴν εἰρημένην ἀποκοπὴν μέλλεις ἔσθαι ... (1431, Athens, BUCHON 1843: LXIX, 291.17) θέλοντας νὰ τόνε εὐκαριστήσωμεν (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 467.5) παραδίδοντας τὰ ρηθέντα δοκᾶτα κε' (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 57, 88.19–20)

ἀνέφερεν ταπεινὰ, λέγοντας πῶς ... (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 68.3) σατισφάροντας τὸ Μόρα (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 48.52) θέλοντας μιᾶς ποῦ φεύγει ν' ἀκολουθήσῃ Cypr. Canz. 13.2

ἔχοντας νόμιμον ἄνδρα (1506, Trebizond, PRINZING 2000: 2, 304.4)

ὁ Ἀδὰμ ἀκούοντας ἐχαίρετον DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 7, η5r.33 (1561)

¹⁵⁰ An 11th-c. example from S. Italy with a plural referent: οἱ πνευματικοὶ νόμοι, ἀκολουθώντας στάσιν ἀτάραχον (1034, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 29, 34.5–6) could be the result of a misreading or even printing mistake (for ἀκολουθώντας), given the unfortunate unreliability of the edition. A 12th-c. example from the same area is equally dubious: καὶ τοὺς δύο ἀδελφοὺς οὓς ἤμον δώσοντας τοῦ Δαυὶδ (1106–7, S. Italy, MÉNAGER 1957: 4, 326.40). The context does not justify a pluperfect reading for ἤμον δώσοντας ("I had given"), as it would be unlikely somebody could give to a monastery two slaves whom he had already given to somebody else. It is perhaps a very awkward participial construction, in which for ἤμον we should read ἡμῶν. A third example from the same area could also be a misreading, as Cusa's edition, too, is known to be unreliable: ἐὰν φανῇ ... τις ... παρεμποδίζοντας (1221, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 7, 380.5–7). The fact that the modern dialects of S. Italy do not present forms in -ντας at all (MIRABEL 1961: 71) is a valid reason to doubt the validity of these examples. However, see the 11th/12th-c. example from Nikon of the Black Mountain under oxytone verbs.

νὰ τὸ σπέρνουν πληρώνοντας τὸ γαίμουρο (1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 11, 134.7) φαμπρικάροντας εἰς αὐτὸ εὐμορφα ὁσπίτια VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.32–3 ἐφημερεύοντας ὁ κυρ-παπα-Κυραζῆς (1651, Kastoria, DRAKOPOULOU 2005: 19, 36.2) ὁ ... κυρ-Ἀκάκιος ... ἐξωδιάζοντάς το (1657, Macedonia, ODORICO 1998: 75, 192.20)

Oxytone Verbs¹⁵¹

ὁ παπᾶς Θεόδουλος δὲ ἐκεῖνος θαρρῶντας (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.7) κρατῶντας τὸ κλειδί ὁ εὐρισκόμενος βικάριος (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 33, 67.26) ἐγροικῶντας (1491, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1988: 1, 233.6) εἶχεν μέγαν φόβον εἰς τὴν καρδίαν της, λαλῶντας ὅτι ... MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 94.49–50 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) απερνούντας λοιπόν ολίγος καιρὸς Syndipas 113.21 (ἐπίστρεψαν ...) ὑμνοῦντας τὸν Θεόν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 332.29 φοβῶντας τὸν θάνατον (1573, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 1, 75.5) ζῶντας τοῦ παπα-κυρ-Σπύρου (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 42, 103.17) καὶ ἐκεῖνος βαστῶντας με ΡΑΡΑ-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 107.24–5 (ἐγκάρειξεν ...) τσιλοπορδοκοποῦντας Diig. tetr. 711 app. crit (L) θωρῶντας ἡ ἄνωθεν κερα-Ἐργίνα (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 38, 58.6–7) ἀρχινῶντας ἐκ τὸν κόμη TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 134 ζῶντας νὰ παρακαλῆς τοὺς φίλους σου Vios Aisop. I 276.34–5 ἡ ἐπιθυμία, ἐνεργῶντας εἰς τοῦ λόγου σας VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34.11 ἀκολουθᾷ σιωπῶντας, θαρρῶντας πῶς ... Vios Aisop. D 223.14 θαρρῶντας με τα ψεύματα (... νὰ κυριεύσει) IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5492

Active present gerunds in -ντας of deponent verbs can be found in texts from most areas from the 16th c. onwards:¹⁵²

Barytone Verbs

φαίνοντάς τους δίκαιαν ... ἡ αὐτὴ σούπλικα (1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 35.7–8) κάθοντάς μου (1574, Cyprus, CONSTANTINIDES 1996: 61.7–8) καὶ μὴ ἔρχοντάς τους (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 135, 89.2) προσεύχοντας MOREZINOS, Klini 53.18 τὸν ἀφέντη θὲς εὐρεῖ κάθοντας TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 267 δέχοντας GERMANO, Grammar 102.6 ὑπόσχοντας (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 42, 60.18–19) μὴν δέχοντας ἐμένα (1653–5, Venice, FONKIČ 2000: 240, f.1v.9) συλλογίζοντας (1665, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 2, 13.21) προφασίζοντας (1677, Proikonnisos, KAMBOURIS 1976: A. 6, 198.3) ἔρχοντας ὁ καιρὸς (1693, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969e: 65.22) μάχοντας EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 46.13
 ἔρχοντας ἐδῶ (1715, Smyrna, LIATA 1975: 21, 135.16)

¹⁵¹ One might argue that the following example represents confusion of participles (masc. for fem.) rather than a gerund: ἡῦρα τὰς θείας γραφᾶς μαρτυροῦντας ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 314.5–7; but Nikon does not usually confuse masculine and feminine participial forms in his writings. Though its use is not quite that of a gerund (referring to the object, not the subject), it is likely to be an invariable participial form.

¹⁵² An unusual form in -ονας/-ονα found in the documents of Miniatis is sometimes interpreted as a participle/gerund: καὶ βάζειν τὸν ἀφέντη τὸν Γερμανάκην διαλέγονα (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 208, 386.11–12); νὰ εἶναι διαλέγονας ὁ Μανώλης (ibid. 257, 449.22); νὰ εἶναι διαλέονας (1687, ibid. 656, 898.4). However, it is a noun rather than a participle/gerund; see ILNE s.v. διαλεγῶνας for full details.

Oxytone Verbs

- κοιμώντας Cypr. Canz. 12.3
 φοβώντας Theseid I.57,6 (Follieri) φοβώντας (1531, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 22, 69.4) ἀπιλογούντας (1540, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 8, 21.8) θυμώντας (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.29) ἐνθυμώντας (1583, Athens?, MERTZIOS 1954: 1, 124.17–8) φοβώντας (1585, Constantinople, PATRINELIS 1967/68: 28, 108.6) ἀρνώντας τὸ βάπτισμά σου MOREZINOS, Klini 73.16 λυπώντας τον ὅπου ἦτονε εἰς τὴν φυλακὴν (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 752, 652.5) κοιμώντας GERMANO, Grammar 101.29 διηγώντας RODINOS, Vios Ign. 64.27 μεγάλα καυκώντας λόγια προφέρνεις Irodis I.9 ἀρνώντας (1685, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1924b: [2], 12.8) θυμώντας σου KORNAPOS, Erot. V.997 συλλογώντας (1712, Nauplion, LIATA 1998b: 232.3)

Barytone vowel-stem verbs (see 2.1.1.2) can develop paroxytone gerunds through vowel deletion: ἀκῶντας Theseid I.5,2 (Follieri) (< ἀκούοντας).

Barytone gerunds with a shift of the stress to the penultimate have been found in texts from south-western areas (Crete, Heptanese):

- ἐμένα ἐβλεπόντας ζωντανὴ Diig. Alex. F 128.2–3 (Lolos); ἀρχόντας νὰ ποιήσου<ν> τὸν ὄρισμόν τοῦ αὐθεντός ibid. 172.15–16 (Konstantinopulos)¹⁵³ ὁπού την ῥίξαν στο γιαλόν, ἐρχόντας εἰς τὴ στράτα! Apoll. Rim. N 1164 ἐρχόντας εἰς τὸν καρπόν (1625, Crete, VLACHAKI 1986: 22, 448.42)

Barytone gerunds with raising of /o/ to /u/ in the thematic vowel (for details see I, 2.8.3) can occasionally be found, alongside forms with /o/, in texts from northern areas. It has also been found in Irodis, a text of Cycladic provenance (Syros? Naxos?) (cf. gerunds in -ουντα, above, which have also been found in certain Cypriot texts that generally do not, however, have forms in -ντας):¹⁵⁴ καὶ υπήγεν τρέχουντας Diig. Alex. K 361.35; κόφτουντας ibid. 353.1; τζακίζουντας ἐργαστήρια ἐδιαγούμιζαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §23.13 (hapax); ὀνοματίζουντας Irodis III.273; στρεβλώνουντας τὸ στόμα ibid. V.288.

-οτας ἰ -ώτας ἰ (-ούτας)

Forms in -τας instead of -ντας are phonetic rather than morphological variants, representing a graphematic realization of nasal deletion before stops, whereby /nd/ becomes /d/, as the examples in the Latin script illustrate (for details see I, 3.6.2.1):

- missodas CHORTATSIS, Erof. I.587 transcr. X (Legrand) (< μισῶ); thimodastos ibid. II.350 (< θυμοῦμαι); uanodas ibid. IV.479 (< βάνω) eghodas P&N Diath. 319 app. crit. (< ἔχω)

¹⁵³ One should perhaps read ἐρχόντας (< ἐρχομαι) rather than ἀρχόντας (< ἀρχομαι), cf. the reading of version E: ἐρχάμενοι Diig. Alex. E 173.14.

¹⁵⁴ The following participial form is comparable: τοὺς πράττουντα(ς) (1027, Sparta, FEISSEL/PHILIPPIDIS-BRAAT 1985: 43, 301.19) (inscription now lost).

erghodas (1653, Crete, PANOPOULOU 1991: 2, 429.15) (< ἔρχομαι) ὑπόσχοτας καὶ ὀπλιγάροτας (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 42, 60.18–19); φοβώτας (1640, ibid. 189, 159.8) βγάζοτας (1691, Sibiu, TSOURLKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 4, f.40r.5) μὴν ἔχοτας ἄλλο ... μένω ... ἀκαρτερώτας τὸ τίμιόν της γράμμα (1715, Corfu, LIATA 1975: 10, 127.10)

-οντες ἰ -ώντες ἰ (-ούντες) ἰ -οντις

In texts from certain Heptanesian islands gerunds in -ντες occur with singular (and plural) referents, as noted by the editors of the Kapianos archive (VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: I 28) (cf. εἶμαι, which has variants σtάντες and ἔσ(τ)οντες, see 4.8.5):¹⁵⁵ ἐφανίσθη ἐνώπιον ἡμῶν ἡ δεκαρχία τῶν τριάκοντα τριῶν παραπονώντες ὅτι ... (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 167.3) σιτμάροντες τὸ δαμάλι ... δύο καλοὶ ἄνθρωποι (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 25, 83.9); κάνοντες τὴν δεφέζα του ὁ ρηθεὶς κυρ-Ἀντώνης (ibid. 32, 91.6–7); (τὸ πακτώνει ...) σαλβίζοντες τὰ δέντρη (ibid. 35, 94.8); γυρεύοντες ὁ ἄνωθεν κυρ-Θωμάς νὰ πληρωθεῖ (ibid. 21, 77.11); ἡ ρηθείσα κυρ-Αλεξάνδρα, γυρεύοντες νὰ λάμβει τὸ ἀδελφομοίρι της (ibid. 21, 77.15–16); ὀμπλιγάροντες ὁ ἄνωθεν κυρ-Μαρτῆς ὅτι ... νὰ κάμει (1576, ibid. 48, 111.19–20) ἦλθεν ἡ ἄνοιξις, κάμνοντες πάντα σεισμόν IER. AVNATIOS, Diig. Seismou 337.12–13 (author from Kefalonia) νὰ στέκει πᾶσα εἷς ... δουλεύοντες καὶ κοιμώντες πᾶσα εἷς τὸ μερτικό του (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 4, 5.2); δουλεύοντες καὶ κοιμώντες ὁ κάθε εἷς τὴν πάρτη του (1673, ibid. 43.7); ἀρχινώντες ὁ καιρὸς (1675, ibid. 87, 50.2)

The following form in -οντις could be the result of a writing mistake, or it may reflect raising of unstressed /e/ to [i] (see I, 2.5.4): φέρνοντις λοιπὸν ἐδῶ ὅπου ἦλθε GAVRIILOP., Diig. panouklas 94.28.

The translator of Bertoldos uses forms in -ες only with plural referents (both masculine and feminine): ἀρχισε νὰ κοιτάζει μία τὴν ἄλλην λέγοντες Bertoldos 24.27–8; οἱ αὐθέντρες ... μὴν εὐρίσκοντες τὸ φόρεμα ibid. 65.9; οἱ ἱατροὶ μὴν ἐγνωρίζοντες τὴν κράσιν του, ἔκανάν του τὰ γιαιτρικά ibid. 76.3–4.

-ων

The present active participle in -ων/-ῶν (see II, 3.7.1) can sometimes be found in its “old” masculine singular form, irrespective of the gender or number of its referent, i.e. as a gerund:

ἡ δὲ γυνὴ ἀντέφη λέγων ... (1093, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 56, 73.8) ἐθήκη ξύλινος ..., ἔχων τὴν σταύρωσιν, ἔχων μέσον τίμιον ξύλον (1142, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 7, 75.44–6) (ἐθήκη = θήκη, see I, 2.6.1.3)

¹⁵⁵ For some of the examples given, it cannot be excluded that these are participles and that a plural subject is implied; note, however, the singular ἐφανίστη in the example from Corfu, and νὰ στέκη, μερτικό του and πάρτη του in the examples from Paxoi. The number of examples with singular referents from Kefalonia justifies regarding the example with a plural referent as a gerund as well.

θέλων καὶ μὴ βουλόμενοι Pol. Tr. 160; θρηνῶντα, κλαίων ἐφώναζαν ibid. 1853 ἐμβλέπων ὡς κατὰσκοπος Velth. 338 (Cupane); βασιτάζων εἰς τὰς χεῖράς της ibid. 661; ταῦτα εἰπὼν ἐξέβηκε ibid. 924 καὶ ἡ κόρη κλαίων ἔστεκεν, κλαίων ἐμοιρολογάτον Achil. O 418; ἡ κόρη δὲ χαμογελῶν κάτου στή γῆν ἐθώρειν ibid. 628 ἂν τρώγων θέλω νὰ διψῶ Krasop. AO 63 ξενίζομαι ἀκῶν τέτοιαν τάξῃ FALIEROS, Ist. On. 116 app. crit. (A) (< ἀκούω with vowel deletion) ἀρχισαν τα τέκνα αὐτοῦ κλαίουσιν ... λέγων συναλλήλως των Vios Filaret. 241.11–12

-ας

At the beginning of the LMedG period a present participle λέγας exists of the verb λέγω, which combines the present active stem λεγ- with the aorist active participle ending -ας (MINAS ²⁰⁰³: 123).¹⁵⁶ The number of occurrences, the broad geographical spread and the kinds of texts in which this participle occurs indicate that this form existed before the period covered by this Grammar. In almost all examples it is used adverbially with a masc. nom. sg. referent (and could thus also be viewed as a gerund), while the Chronicle of Morea clearly uses it as a gerund, with four examples with a plural referent and six with a singular.¹⁵⁷ In the 1066 example from Athos the form appears to be invariable (referring to the direct object τινὰ τῶν μοναχῶν). The form λέγας disappeared after the 14th c.

καὶ ἔαν ποτὲ καιρῷ ἀναφῇ λέγας ... ὁ Ζελιάνος (1033–4, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1982: 2, 35.41–2) οὐχ εὖρον οἱ ἀπεσταλμένοι ... τινὰ τῶν μοναχῶν λέγας ὅτι ... (1066, Athos, BOMPAIRE et al. 2001: 8, 101.31) (ἤλθεν πρὸς με ὁ καθηγούμενος ...) λέγας: ... (1123, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 92, 120.10) ἀπεκρίθη λέγας (1128, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 13, 97.10 facs.)¹⁵⁸ καὶ ὁ μὲν κυρὸς ἀμιρᾶς ἔφη μοι λέγας οὕτως (1136? 1151?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 19, 418.15) (τὸ στέμμα ... οὐδὲν τὸ ἐπαραδέχτη, ...) λέγας ... Chron. Mor. H 109; κὶ ὅλοι τὸν ἀνασκόψασιν, συνενποδισανέ τον, | λέγας, ὅτι ... ibid. 5085–6; οὐδὲν τὸ ἐστεργήθησαν νὰ τὸ ποιήσουν οὕτως, | λέγας ... ibid. 6686–7; λέγας καὶ λογιζόμενος ibid. 6005; (ἐδιάβηκεν
 ... εἰς τὴν Θῆβαν) λέγας νὰ ἰδῇ τὴν δοῦκισσαν ibid. 8021

A similar participial form of the verb θρύβω can, again, be found in Glykas, in his prison poem: οἶδεν ἐκεῖνος ὁ παθὼν, οἶδεν ὁ θρύβας μόνος GLYKAS, Stichoï 231. Cf. also the ¹⁵⁶ The use of the aorist ending with the present participle may have been more widespread in the EMedG period; see e.g. ὑπ[ο]γράφας (SB.I.4504, l. 28) (7th-c., accessible at: <http://papyri.info/ddbdp/sb;1;4504>). Another interesting parallel can be found in the form φέρας from φέρω: [τὸ μέλι ...] τοῖς μὲν γὰρ τὸ λείπον χαρίζεται, τοὺς δὲ εἰς ἀμετρίαν φέραν πολέμιον αὐτοῖς καθίσταται Severos Iatrosoph., De clysteribus 8.8 (ed. Dietz) (Late Antique text of uncertain date, 12th-c. ms); ὁ δὲ φιλόθεος καὶ φιλάρετος ἀληθῶς ἀνὴρ εὐθέως ἀναστὰς ἐπορεύθη καὶ φέρας καὶ τὸν ἕτερον βοῦν τὸν μεμονωμένον, ἔδωκε τὸν γεωργόν, Vios Philaret. 186–8 (9th-c. text, 11th-c. ms).

¹⁵⁷ There is one example in Glykas of an unambivalent declined participial form: παράγει τὸν Χριστὸν αὐτὸν οὕτω λέγοντα GLYKAS, Eis tas aporias II 294.15–16. However, as this is a one-off and the normal form in this text is λέγοντα, it cannot be excluded that this is a typographical error in the modern edition.

¹⁵⁸ The editors incorrectly print λέγ(ον)τας.

substantivized form τὸ ἔχας: πλατὺς ἐκ τὸ ἔχας του Pol. Tr. 2081 (τοῦ ἔχοντος in ms V); τὸ ἔχας του νὰ φυλαχθῇ ibid. 11445.

-αντας | -άντας

This ending, borrowed from the aorist gerund (see below), has been found in a document from Corfu, with a barytone and an oxytone verb: ἀπερνάντας ... ὑπαγαίναντας (1473, Corfu, PENDOGALOS 1974a: 3, 137.9–10).¹⁵⁹

4.7.2 Aorist

-όντα | -όντας | -οντα(ν) | -οντας | -ότα(ς)

Aorist gerunds formed from the thematic aorist active participle in -ών (e.g. ἰδών), have been found from at least the 14th c. onwards in texts from various regions.¹⁶⁰ ἰδόντα γὰρ οἱ ἄρχοντες (... οὐκ εἴχασιν τὸ ποιήσει ἀλλέως) Chron. Mor. H 3021

Πρωτεσίλαος ἰδόντα ERMON., Ilias 5.68 ἰδόντα τοὺς υἱοὺς του Pol. Tr. 1954 app. crit. (X) ἰδόντα ὁ δολερὸς κριτῆς DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1072 ελθόντα τοὺς εἰς τὴν Λευκουσίαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 238.8

ἀποθανόντα του (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 82, 154.14) ἀποθανόντα σου Pist. kekoim. 592

Addition of final /n/ has been found in Ermoniakos's Iliad (cf. the present gerund, above, 4.7.1): μάθονταν ἐκ θεραπαίνης (... τὴν θεράπαιναν προσέφη) ERMON., Ilias 23.280.

With an added final /s/ these aorist gerunds have been found from the 14th c. onwards, mainly in texts from south-western areas and the Aegean:

ἰδόντας γὰρ οἱ προεστοὶ Chron. Mor. H 3305

κ' ἐσεῖς δεντρά, ἔχ τὴν λύπην μαρσθῆτε | ἰδόντας τὴν ἐδικὴν τῆς κακοσύνης Cypr. Canz. 77.12 ἰδόντας οἱ μουσουλμάνοι ὅτι χάνονται (1503, Constantinople, YANNOPOULOS 1974: 132.12)

ἀποθανόντας τῶνε (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 6, 16.44) ἀποτυχόντας τῆς παρουσίας τῆς ζωῆς (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 82, 272.20)

ὁ Νεκτεναβὸν ἰδόντας τὴν Ὀλυμπιάδα Diig. Alex. F 100.5 (Lolos); ἐλθόντας ἡ γέννησις τοῦ παιδίου ibid. 102.23–4; ὁ Τάρειος εἰπόντας τὸν λόγον αὐτὸν ibid. 304.14; ἰδόντας τῆς

Ἰνδίας τὰ φουσάτα ἔφυγαν ibid. 292.19 ἰδόντας ἕνας τὸν ἄλλον ἔδραμαν Diig. Alex. V 81.28 λαβόντας αὐτὰ (1560, Ancona, MARKOS 1977: III, 29.7) ὁ σουλτὰν Μπαγιαζίτης, ἰδόντας τὴν θρησκεία τὴν νέα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 129.23 ¹⁵⁹The readings are not entirely secure, as the new edition of this document (KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996, doc. 27) has ἀπερνώντας and ὑπαγαίνοντας. However, the editors state in their introduction (p. 146) that “spelling mistakes have been corrected”, and they may have considered these forms in -αντας/-άντας to be just that.

¹⁶⁰One single instance can also be found in Kekaumenos's Strategikon, an 11th-c. text that is, however, transmitted in a sole 14th-c. manuscript: ὅς καὶ ἐλθόντα πρὸς τὸν ρηθέντα βασιλέα κύρ Ρωμανὸν ἐφιλοτιμήθη Kekaumenos, Strategikon 302.14 app. crit. (M) (ed. Litavrin).

καὶ ἀποθανόντας της ὅλο ἐδικό της (1573 [copy of 1650], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17, 71.9–10) ἀποτυχόντας του (1579, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 5, 23.16) ἀποθανόντας μου (1590, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 6, 30.17) ἀπεθανόντας της (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 55.25) ἀποθανόντας τως (1604, Santorini, STEFANIDOU 2004: 10, 166.53) κάλλια ἀποθανόντας νὰ ἀφήσης νὰ τὰ εὔρουν οἱ ἐχθροὶ σου Vios Aisop. I 276.34 (scribe probably of southern provenance) ἀπεθανόντας της (1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 9, 313.65) ἀποτυχόντας της (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 4, 5.5; and 1659, ibid. 9, 8.9) ζώντας μου κι ἀποθανόντας κατάρα θέλω ἀφήσει KORNAROS, Erot. III 108

Forms with a shift of the stress from the penultimate to the antepenultimate, modelled on the present gerund in -οντα(ς), have been found in the same area, again from the 14th c. onwards:

διατό ἦτον ἀποθάνοντα Chron. Mor. H 1274 οὐκ ἦτον ἀποθάνοντα Pol. Tr. 8409 ἀποθάνοντα τῶν παιδίων του (1511, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 25, 44.47) καὶ ἀποτύχοντάς μου (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIDI 1998: 45, 55.15) ἀποθάνοντάς μου (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 7, 35.26); ἀποθάνοντά της (1530, ibid. 17, 57.24) λάβοντας τὴν Ἁγίαν Κοινωνία (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 8, 86.8); ἀποθάνοντα τῆς αὐτῆς Γληγορίας (1565, ibid. 253, 349.15) ἀπετύχοντάς του (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008:42, 103.18) ὅτι, ᾠποθάνοντάς του, νὰ πάρη νὰ ὀρίζη τὴν Κόρινθο Chron. Tourk. Soult. 54.24–5 ἀφήνου, ἀποθάνοντάς τως (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 181.15)

Forms in -τας instead of -ντας are phonetic variants, representing a graphematic realization of nasal deletion before stops, whereby /nd/ becomes /d/ (for details see I, 3.6.2.1): ἰδóτας ἢ αὐθεντία σας (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 216.13).

The ending -οντα(ς) can also be found with barytone and oxytone verbs that have sigmatic or liquid/nasal perfective stems (see also -αντα(ς), below),¹⁶¹ especially in texts from the Peloponnese.¹⁶² It is often used not as a true gerund, but in periphrastic perfect and pluperfect constructions, for which see 5.4.1.5 and 5.3.3.1.

ἦτον καταρπάσοντα αὐτὸ ὁ αὐτὸς Θεόδωρος Καρβούνης (1156, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 28, 160.19); τὰ ἡμίσια ἅπερ ὕπηρχε προαγοράσοντα ἡ ἀγία ἐκκλησία ἐκ πολλῶν χρόνων (1165–6, ibid. 33, 181.11–12) ὅπου ἦσαν καταπιάσοντα Chron. Mor. H 187; ἀκούσοντά το οἱ ἄρχοντες ibid. 351; ἦτον ποιήσοντα ... ὁ κόντος τῆς Τσαμπάνιας ibid. 2421; τὰ ἦτον ἐπάροντα ἐκεῖνος ibid. 2613; ἦτον ἀφήκοντα εἰς Μορέαν ibid. 4689; ἦσαν ροβολέφοντα ibid. 6654 ¹⁶¹Note that aorist participles in -ων instead of -ας can already be found in much earlier inscriptions, e.g. τὸν προθύσοντα in IG VII–IX, Syll.³ 548 (Delphi, 3rd c. BC); τοὺς ἀναγράφοντας in IG V,2 265 (Peloponnese, 1st c. BC); τοὺς γράφοντας in SEG 6:444 (Konya, 4th c. AD).

¹⁶²Mazaris, the author of a satirical text in learned Greek entitled Διάλογος νεκρικός. Ἐπιδημία Μάζαρι ἐν Ἄδου (1414–15) makes fun of the Peloponnesians and their “barbarous” language, mentioning among other things πιάσοντα, σφίξοντα and δώσοντα. (Its first editor BOISSONADE (1831: 164) prints πιάσον τα, etc., against the manuscript evidence. This was rightly corrected by JANNARIS (1897: 207), but BARRY et al. (1975: 64.14) follow Boissonade rather than the mss/Jannaris.)

ἐκλέξοντα εὐγενικοὺς Pol. Tr. 7644 app. crit. (C) αὐτὸς τὸν εἶχε σφάζοντα, στο χώμαν αποκάτω Apoll. Rim. A 1604 and Apoll. Rim. E 1604

After the 16th c. the form only appears with final /s/, in texts from the Peloponnese, Crete, Cythera and certain Aegean islands, especially of the verb περνῶ:

αὐτὸς τὸν εἶχε σφάζοντας, στο χώμαν αποκάτω Apoll. Rim. N 1604 δῶσοντάς του ἐγὼ (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 194, 287.4) περάσσοντας οἱ δέκα χρόνοι (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 31, 50.9) περάσσοντας ὀλίγος καιρὸς Chron. Tourk. Soult. 34.11; ἀπεράσσοντας ὀλίγες ἡμέρες ibid. 41.10 γροικήσσοντας τὰ αὐτὰ μέρη (1624, Cythera, SEREMETIS 1962: 1, 131.15) περάσσοντας οἱ πέντε (1649, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1924a: [5], 20.1) περάσσοντας καμπόσες μέρες (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 31.17) περάσσοντας τὸ μεσημέρι Diig. Sant. 56.6–7 ἀστοχήσσοντας (1671, Cythera, PSARAS 1989: 150.11) περάσσοντας πέντε χρόνους (1683, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 95, 322.9–10) περάσσοντας ἓνα δύο μῆνες (1684, Patmos, HOFMANN 1928: 9a, 70.16) καὶ περάσσοντας οἱ 10 ἡμέραι (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 302.16)

περάσσοντας ἔξι χρόνοι (1720, Folegandros, GAVALAS 1887: 513.3)

In the Chronicle of Morea and the War of Troy innovative gerunds in -όντα(ς) can also be found of prefixed forms of βαίνω (instead of forming aorist gerunds from their old participles in -ας (e.g. διαβάς > διαβάντα(ς)*): διαβόντα γὰρ ἡμέρες δύο Chron. Mor. H 7398, 8181; διαβόντα γὰρ μικρὸς καιρὸς ibid. 8001; εἶδες τὸ τί ἐκέρδισες ἐβγῶντα ἀπὸ τὸν ὄρκον Pol. Tr. 9347; διαβόντα ὁ χειμῶνας Chron. Mor. P 3515; διαβόντας δὲ ἡμέρες δύο ibid. 7398.

The present ending -οντα is found sporadically with the passive perfective stem, once even in the innovative/experimental form ἀρχιστῶντα,¹⁶³ transmitted in all major manuscripts of the War of Troy: εἶχαν ἄλογα ἔρημα, τὰ ἦσαν ἀποσταθόντα Chron. Mor. H 9090;¹⁶⁴ σταθόντα κατὰ ἀνατολὰς ἀνάγνωσε ... Pol. Tr. 561 (reading of ms X); ἐπῆγαν εἰς τὸν πόλεμον, ὅπου ἦτον ἀρχιστῶντα ibid. 9204.

-ας ἰ -ών ἰ -ώ

Sometimes the old masculine nominative singular participle (sigmatic in -ας and thematic in -ών) can be found used as a gerund:

ἠκούσας ταῦτα οἱ ἀρχηγοί Chron. Mor. P 701 πάλι ἡ προφήτις Μαριάμ, τὸ τύμπανον κρατήσας DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1920 καὶ ἀκούσας σπουδαίως ἔδωσαν γνωστὸν τοῦ ἀφεντός (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.IV, 260.85.6–7) ἡμεῖς οἱ πιστοὶ δοῦλοι τῆς σῆς βασιλείας ἄνωθε γράψας (1611, Cyprus, CHASIOTIS 1972: 49, 82.37)

¹⁶³ For passive forms of the verb ἀρχίζω cf. e.g. επαίξαν καὶ γελάσασσι καὶ ὁ Ποντικός ερχίστη Katis 9; ἀρχίστηκεν ὁ πόλεμος BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 373.17.

¹⁶⁴ Because of the neut. pl. antecedent it could be argued that this form is a participle rather than a gerund, but given the other two examples from the same period and region and given the fact that ἦμουν + participle has not been found as a pluperfect periphrasis, ἀποσταθόντα is more likely to be a gerund. For the construction ἦμουν + aorist gerund see 5.3.3.1.

διαβών τὰς ἰ΄ ἡμέρας (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 49.165)¹⁶⁵ τότε ἰδὼν ὁ Βέλθανδρος Velth. 642 (Cupane); τοῦτο μαθὼν ἡ δέσποινα ibid. 880; ταῦτα εἰπὼν ἐξέβηκε καὶ πάγει στὴν κερὰν τῆς ibid. 924 ἐλθὼν δὲ ἡ γέννησις τοῦ παιδίου ἔκραξε τὸν Κτεναβὼ Diig. Alex. E 103 (Lolos) καὶ τοῦτο κατὰ νοῦν βαλὼν ἐγὼ Θεοδωρῆς Ρουτζέρης (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 80, 150.3) ἐν ἀστενεῖα δεινῇ περιπεσὼν κειτόμενη ἐν τῇ κλίνῃ μου (1553, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al.
 2001: 99, 145.4) ἐλθὼν ἡ Ἀληθινή ἡ Χαλικού (1678, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 64, 54.2)

-οντος | -όντος

This ending clearly is a remnant of the participle used in genitive absolute constructions. However, forms in -οντος also occur used as gerunds, mainly of the verb ἔρχομαι, and also in texts that do not otherwise make use of the genitive absolute, such as the Chronicle of Voustronios:¹⁶⁶ ταῦτα εἰπόντος ἀπέβη τοῦ ἡμιόνου ΚΑΝΑΝΟΣ, Diig. 247 ἐλθόντος γοῦν εἰς τὴν γέννησιν τοῦ παιδίου, ἔστειλεν ... Diig. Alex. V 26.21 ἐλθόντος τὸ μαντάτον ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 652.19; ἐλθόντος τοὺς εἰς τὴν Ἀμόχουστον id., Chron. O 172.18

 ἐλθοντός του εἰς τὴν χώραν VOUSTR., Chron. B 127.2–3; ἐλθόντος τῆς αὐλῆς, ἐξιππάστην το ἀλογον id., Chron. M 57.7; ἐλθόντος του εἰς τὴν Λευκωσίαν ibid. 73.5–6; ἐλθοντός του ἀπὸ τὴν Σίβουρην ibid. 99.4; ἐλθόντος του εἰς τὴν Κύπρον ibid. 243.5 ἐλθόντος ἡ ὥρα, ἐσηκώθη το φουσάτον Vios Filaret. 241.38 ὁ δὲ Ξάνθος ὁ φιλόσοφος ἐλθόντος ἐπὶ τὴν ἀγορὰν Vios Aisop. K 155.19

-οντες

In texts from certain south-western areas, present gerunds in -ντες can be found (see above). The following aorist gerund has most probably been modelled on those present gerunds, which are rather more common: ἀποτύχοντές μου (1503, Corfu, PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI et al. 1997: 3, 23.5).

-αντα | -αντας

Aorist gerunds in -αντα(ς), formed from the sigmatic aorist active participle in -ας (see II, 3.7.1), can occasionally be found:

καὶ ἐφημήσαντα τὸν βασιλέαν | εἶπον Poulol. 667–8 app. crit. (E)
 τὸν πώγωνα κρύψαντα | ὁ σπανὸς (...) εἰσῆλθε Spanos D 1565–6 ἐκλέξαντα εὐγενικοὺς Pol. Tr. 7644 app. crit. (V) ἀκούσαντα δὲ οἱ ἀρχιερεῖς τὴν ἀναφορὰν Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 253 κλίναντας μοναχὸς του τὴν ἀγίαν του κεφαλὴν AGAP., Mart. Ag. Deka 529

-έντα

¹⁶⁵ This form should perhaps be read as διαβόντας.

¹⁶⁶ Where genitives absolute are concerned, Machairas only has the occasional stock phrase such as θεοῦ θέλοντος/βοηθώντος.

Even aorist gerunds in -εντα, formed from the aorist passive participle in -είς (see II, 3.7.1), can sometimes be found: σταθέντα κατὰ ἀνατολὰς ἀνάγνωσε ... Pol. Tr. 561 (reading of ms B); Μενέλαος στραφέντα ΕΡΜΟΝ., Ilias 18.201; καὶ εὐφρανθέντα καὶ ἐγερθέντα ... εἶπον Poulol. 667–8 app. crit. (E).

4.8 The Verb εἶμι

The verb εἶμι had undergone major morphological developments in Hellenistic times, when it gradually started to move over from the μι-paradigm to a mediopassive paradigm. The remodelling of εἶμι started with the imperfect (AG ἦν, ἦσθα/ἦς, ἦ(ν), ἦμεν, ἦτε/ἦστε, ἦσαν/ἦν), which morphologically resembled the aorist passive endings. They were re-formed on the basis of the dominant imperfect inflection (not to mention the added complication of having identical forms for 1 sg., 3 sg. and 3 pl.). Hence from Hellenistic times onwards, the paradigm developed as follows: ἦμην (3rd c. BC), ἦσο, ἦτο (4th c. AD),¹⁶⁷ ἦμεθα (2nd/3rd c. AD), ἦτε, ἦσαν. By the beginning of the LMedG period, after further modifications, the following paradigm had emerged for the imperfect: ἦμουν, ἦσουν, ἦτον, ἦμεθα, ἦτε, ἦσαν. The present soon started to follow suit, retaining the root /i/ of εἶμι while adding mediopassive endings for all persons but 3 sg. and 3 pl., which preserved ἔνι, the (already AG) shortened form of ἔνεστι, which had come to be used instead of simple ἐστί. At the beginning of the LMedG period the present paradigm looked like this: εἶμαι, εἶσαι, ἔνι, εἶμεθα, ἐστέ/ἔστε, ἔνι. For the development of εἶμι in post-classical times, see HATZIDAKIS 1892:188; PERNOT 1896; JANNARIS 1897: 250; DIETERICH 1898: 223–8; PSALTES 1913: 239–40; GIGNAC 1981: 400–8; HORROCKS 2010: 154 and 303–4; and KAPSOMENOS 1953a, which describes the development of εἶμι in Ancient, Hellenistic and Modern Greek.

In the following the 3rd persons singular and plural will be treated together, after the 2nd person plural, on account of the great overlap in forms.

4.8.1 Present Indicative and Subjunctive

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	1	εἶμαι	εἶμί εἶμι	εἶμαιν
	2	εἶσαι	εἶ
	3	ἔνι ἔν ἔνε/ἔναι εἶν/ἦν εἶνε/εἶναι	ἔ ἔνεν/ἔναιν εἶ εἶνι(ν) ἔστι(ν) ! ἐστί(ν)	ἔνιν εἶνεν/εἶναιν ἰστί(ν)

¹⁶⁷ ἄρά ποτε ὦδε πόλις ἦτο; Oracula Tiburtina 200 (see the online TLG).

		General	Restricted	Rare
Pl.	1	εἴμεσθε(ν)/εἴμεσθε(ν) εἴμεστα(ν)/εἴμεσθα(ν)	εἴμεθα εἴμεθεν εἴμεσθενε εἴμιστι(ν) εἴμεστανε εἴμασθε(ν)(ε)/εἴμασθε(ν)	εἴμεθε εἴμαστανε
	2	εἴστε(ν)/εἴσθε(ν)	ἐστέ ἢ ἔστε εἴστι(ν) εἴσθενε	εἴσαστε ἦτε
	3	ἔνι ἐν ἐνε/ἐναι εἶν/ἦν εἶνε/εἶναι	ἐνεν/ἐναιν εἶ εἶνιε/εἶναι εἶνι(ν) εἰσί(ν)	εἶνεν/εἶναιν

In older editions the root /i/ of the present subjunctive is sometimes spelled with <ῥ> or <ῑ> instead of <εῖ> to distinguish it from the present indicative: ῥῑμαι, ῥῑσαι, ῥῑναι, ῥῑμεσθεν, ῥῑσθε, ῥῑναι. Because this distinction is purely graphematic, here the subjunctive is not treated separately. Residual forms of the subjunctive can sporadically be found in texts that aim for a higher register: ἐὰν ῥῑς στρατιώτης Dig. G VI.515; εἰ μέντοι ῥῑς ὁ Διγενῆς Dig. T 1177. Similarly, residual forms of the monolectic future can also sporadically be found, sometimes as futures and sometimes instead of the subjunctive. Again, these forms appear only in high- and mixed-register texts, e.g. ἔσομαι GLYKAS, Stichoi 508 (fut. 1 sg.); ἔσται IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 10194 (fut. 3 sg.); ἔσεσθαι GLYKAS, Stichoi 562, [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 53 and IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4669 (fut. inf.).

1st Person Singular

Sg.	1	εἴμαι ἢ εἴμαιν ἢ εἴμι

The oldest attestation so far of 1 sg. εἴμαι (spelled ῑμε) appears in an inscription of AD 314 (DIETERICH 1898: 227), and with the compound συμπτάρειμι in a papyrus as early as the 3rd c. AD (GIGNAC 1981: 400). The form is also treated as quite normal by Byzantine grammarians such as Choïroboskos.¹⁶⁸ In and beyond our period it is the normal form. Some illustrative examples are:

ἐγὼ ἐλεεινὸς εἴμαι NIKON, Logos 9 314.3 εἴμαι στέργων (1199, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 247, 336.23)

¹⁶⁸ [εἴμι] κατὰ τὸν παθητικὸν ἐνεστώτα ... γίνεται εἴμαι Choïroboskos, Prolegomena et scholia in Theodosii Alexandrini 351.19–20. Theognostos is rather amusing: καὶ τὸ ξω, ὃ δηλοῖ τὸ ὑπάρχω· ἐξ οὗ τὸ εἴμι, καὶ τὸ ξω τὸ πορεύομαι, ἐξ οὗ τὸ εἴμαι τὸ προπερισπώμενον Theognostos, De orthografia 881.19–20 (see the online TLG).

οὐκ εἶμαι ἐγὼ τὸν λέγεις GLYKAS, Stichoï 541 εἶμαι ἀπ<ε> τὴν ἀστενεία (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 78.3–4) πὼς εἶμαι τσασίτης (1487, Chios, LEFORT 1981: 14, 79.7) νὰ εἶμαι σκλάβο<ς> σου (1484, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 3, 45.18) εἶμαι διὰ ν' ἀποθάνω LIMEN., Than. Rod. 211 εἶμαι ἀδύνατος Byz. Il. 562 ὅτι εἶμαι πόρνη Poulol. 187 οὐκ εἶμαι αὐθεντὸς υἱός Diig. Alex. Sem. B 311 εἶμαι πεπάμενος Charon III 14 εἶμαι παλληκάρι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1316 με το να εἶμαι εύμορφη Don Kis. 91.25

Addition of final /n/ to this form can be found but is not very common: ἐγὼ εἶμαιν σκοτωμένος Diig. Alex. F 264.3 (Lolos); οὐδὲν εἶμαιν ἀνελεήμονος ibid. 276.5; ὡς νοικοκύρης ὅπου εἶμαιν τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1590, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 42, 63.2).

The paroxytone form εἶμι is a phonetic variant of εἶμαι, showing evidence of mid-vowel raising, whereby unstressed [e] becomes [i] (for details see I, 2.5.4): δὲν εἶμι ἔτοιμος νὰ κριθῶ (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 17, f.45v.6); τοῦ δικαπενταύγουστου εἶμι ὄξου (1696, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 1, 50.16–17) (= τὸ Δεκαπενταύγουστο; see I, 2.8.3).

Sg.	1	εἶμί

The residual form εἶμι can be found throughout the period covered by this grammar, especially in texts that display archaizing tendencies and in mixed-register texts. Some representative examples are:¹⁶⁹

οὐ γὰρ εἶμι τῶν ἀγενῶν Dig. G IV.679 καὶ γὰρ ἀγράμματός εἶμι Ptoch. IV 25 παράδειγμα εἶμι τῶν φαινομένων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1757 ὦ! εἶμι πολυόμματος Cypr. Canz. 27.9 μὴ με φάγεις ὅτι εἶμι πολλὰ μικρόν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 4.3 ἐγὼ εἶμι ὁ Δάρειος Diig. Alex. K 365.23 ἐγὼ εἶμι ὁ Θεὸς Ἀβραάμ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 22.32 ιδιώτης γὰρ εἶμι Ioakeim Kypr., Pali 10063

2nd Person Singular

Sg.	2	εἶσαι

The 2 sg. form εἶσαι can first be found in a papyrus dating from the 5th c. or later (GIGNAC 1981: 400) and is also attested in various Byzantine texts (HATZIDAKIS 1892:188;

¹⁶⁹ In texts from areas that display the feature of raising of unstressed [e] to [i] (for which see I, 2.5.4), such as Diig. Alex. K, it cannot be excluded that it is actually εἶμαι /'ime/, which becomes εἶμι ['imi], rather than an instance of morphological conservatism (see above). The example from Cypr. Canz. is a one-off in the collection, appearing in a poem that satirizes the figure of the pedant (SIAPKARAS-PITSILLIDÈS 1975: 128 fn.).

DIETERICH 1898: 228; PSALTES 1913: 239–40).¹⁷⁰ By the beginning of the LMedG period it was already the normal form, appearing even in works that aim for a higher stylistic register such as Dig. G. A few representative examples are:

πολλὰ εἶσαι βαρεμένη GLYKAS, Stichoi 304 τὸ ποῦ εἶσαι Dig. G IV.441 ᾄς εἶσαι σιγηρὸς Ptoch. I 66 ἔνοχος εἶσαι πειρασμῶν Spaneas P 23 εἶσαι βασιλέας Chron. Mor. H 664 ᾄς εἶσαι θαρρῦμενος (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 18, 97.22) νὰ εἶσαι ἀνιμούζης καὶ ἀπότορμος Fior 127.20 θέλεις εἶσαι (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.40) δὲν εἶσαι τόσα γρε CHORTATIS, Panor. III.297 πτόσων χρονῶν εἶσαι; (17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 401.29) εἶσαι ἀπ' ὅλους βαρεμένος (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.26) θάμνος ἐκ ρίζης ἀγαθῆς εἶσαι PETRITSIS, Dig. O Prol. 3 καὶ νὰ εἶσαι μάρτυρας Don Kis. 47.4

Sg.	2	εἶ

Residual εἶ is quite rare and can only be found in high- and mixed-register texts:

πόθεν εἶσαι καὶ τίς εἶ; Metaphr. Alexiad 306.5
 ὦ θαυμαστός εἶ, Κύριε Chron. Toc. 3037 οὐκ οἶδα πόθεν σύ εἶ Spanos D 602 ὦ βασιλεῦ, ὅμοιος εἶ τῷ ἡλίῳ Vios Aisop. E 289.5

1st Person Plural

Pl.	1	εἴμεθα

The 1 pl. ending -μεθα is attested in the Septuagint and New Testament with the imperfect, but not with the present. The earliest examples of this ending with the present can be found in Ephraem the Syrian, a 4th-c. author with, however, a problematic text tradition, and in Malalas (6th c., single 12th-c. ms).¹⁷¹ Although at the beginning of the LMedG period there does not appear to be an alternative form for 1 pl., εἴμεθα is not attested very frequently, and by the 14th/15th c. (slightly earlier in S. Italy) it appears to have been largely superseded by other endings:

¹⁷⁰ There are several instances in the Book of Ceremonies (10th c.), interestingly all from the mouths of the Demes and the people, as noted by PERNOT 1896: 171, e.g. καὶ λέγουσιν οἱ κράκται· «εἶσε ὁ δεῖνα, εἶσε ὁ δεῖνα, εἶσε ὁ δεῖνα.» Καὶ ὁ λαὸς ἐκ γ'· «εἶσε πατρίκιος, εἶσε.» De Ceremoniis II 58.16 (ed. Vogt).

¹⁷¹ In the edition these forms are spelled with <η>, as if they were imperfects, which they are clearly not: e.g. ὦδε ἐν τῷ βίῳ τούτῳ, ὅσον ἡμεθα ἡμεῖς, δυνάμεθα πάντοτε δυσωπῆσαι τὸν Θεόν Ephraem Syr., De Penitentia 366.14; πάντες φιλοδοξοῦμεν· ... πάντες ἡμεθα χαῦνοι id., Sermo in patres defunctos, 13.1. Another example that looks a lot like a present indicative can be found in Malalas (6th c.): καὶ αὐτοῦ καὶ τοῦ πατρὸς αὐτοῦ οἱ δύο ἡμεῖς φίλοι ἡμεθα· καὶ μὴ συμβῇ τίνα ἀποτυχίαν γενέσθαι, καὶ ὑπονοηθῶμεν ὡς προδόται Malalas, Chronogr. 404.6. The form ἡμεθα in Moschos, regarded as a present by DIETERICH (1898: 228), is actually an imperfect: εἰ ἡκουσά σου, καὶ ἐπείσθην σοι, ἥδη ἡμεθα ἀπαλλαγέντες, τελέσαντες τὴν ἀμαρτίαν (PG 87.3, 3096D).

ἵνα εἴμεθα ξένοι (1085, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 43, 148.47) εἰ μὲν ἀνάξιοι εἴμεθα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 140.21 ἵνα εἴμεθα κατηράμενοι (1134, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 33, 18.28) τρεῖςκαίδεκα γὰρ εἴμεθα ἡ πᾶσα φαμίλια Ptoch. II 25.1 app. crit. (H) τίνες εἴμεθα Liv. α 2910 app. crit. (P)

Pl.	1	εἴμεθε(ν)

The ending -μεθεν is considered to derive from -μεθα: the final /a/ changed to /e/ to match the 2 pl. and 3 pl. endings in the paradigm (MEYER 1889: 197), although vowel assimilation may also have played a role (MINAS 1987a: 25). Final /n/ was added by analogy with 1 pl. active -μεν (MEYER 1889: 197 regarding the similar ending -μεσθεν). It can be found in texts from northern and south-western areas, especially the Heptanese and the Peloponnese, from the 14th to the 16th c., after which it largely falls into disuse. The latest attestations occur in the theatrical play Irodis, which is of uncertain dating (1650–1750 or perhaps earlier, PUCHNER 1998: 17; cf. barytone verbs, 4.1.1.2):

ὑποσχόμεθα νὰ ἤμεθεν δοῦλοι (1348?, Macedonia, LEFORT et al. 2006: 101, 229.5) ὅπου εἴμεθεν στρατιῶτες Chron. Mor. H 2698; πρέπει νὰ εἴμεθεν ἐννομοῦ ibid. 2706 ms (the ed. corrects to εἴμεθε ἐννομοῦ for metrical reasons) εἴμεθεν πληρωμένοι (1395, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 5, 181.17) ἀλλ' εἴμεθεν (...) (1399, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 8, 92.6; and 1402, ibid. 9, 93.6) νὰ εἴμεθεν ἀμέριμνοι Pol. Tr. 857; ὅλοι εἴμεθεν χαϊμένοι ibid. 9885 νὰ εἴμεθεν ἀντάμα Dig. E 1304 νὰ εἴμεθεν ἐντάμα Liv. V 3311 ὁποῦ εἴμεθεν πιστοὶ σου Velis. χ 46 χαημένες εἴμεθεν ὅλες Theseid I.78,5 (Follieri) παρθένες κόρες εἴμεθεν Flor. L 835 νὰ εἴμεθεν (1457, Arcadia, MANOUSSACAS 1981: 319.14) ὅς τοῦτον τὸν κόσμον νὰ ἴμεθεν ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua VII.15 εἴμεθεν ΣΟΦΙΑΝΟΣ, Grammar 71.8
 εἴμεθεν ἀποκάτου Diig. Alex. F 222.6–7 (Lolos); εἴμεθεν τοῦ Σῆθ υἱοὶ ibid. 42.22 (Konstantinopulos) ἀλλὰ τί λέμεν καὶ ποῦ εἴμεθεν; Irodis I.85; ἔτοιμοι εἴμεθεν ibid. IV.167

Deletion of final /n/ is not very common: καὶ οὐδὲν βολεῖ νὰ εἴμεθε χώρια ἀπὸ τὴν Ἄρταν Chron. Toc. 2716; ὅλοι ἴμεθε χαημένοι ΚΟΡΟΝΑΙΟΣ, Andrag. Bua V.40; εἴμεθε ὥσάν τὸν λιθάριν τὸν ἀδαμαντίνον Diig. Alex. F 216.6 (Lolos).

Pl.	1	εἴμεσ τε(ν) ἢ εἴμεσθε(ν) ἢ εἴμεσ τε νε ἢ εἴμισ τι(ν)

The ending -μεσ τε(ν) is held to have been formed from -μεθα, with a change from /a/ to /e/ by analogy with 2 pl. and 3 pl., which also end in /e/ (MEYER 1889: 197), although vowel assimilation may also have played a role (MINAS 1987a: 25). The added /s/ is usually explained as being analogical from 2 pl. (MEYER 1889: 197), and the cluster /sθ/ will have automatically dissimilated to /st/ in everyday speech (see I, 3.8.1). Its variant -μεσθε(ν) reflects the written practice. Final /n/ was added by analogy with 1 pl. active -μεν (MEYER 1889: 197). These endings are found in the 13th c. in S. Italy and from at least the 15th c.

onward (ms date of Assizes B and Dig. E) in texts from most regions, though not usually in texts from Crete:

καὶ ἡμεῖς οἱ πρᾶτες τοῦ εἵμεσθεν ἔτοιμοι (1221, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 7, 380.9) ἐὰν εἵμεσθεν ἀποφγαλμένοι Assizes B 274.24–5 εἵμεσθεν γειτόνοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.17; εἵμεσθεν κρατούμενοι ibid. 44.34 ἡμεῖς ροῖνες εἵμεσθεν Chron. Mor. P 6036 εἵμεσθεν εὐχαριστημένοι (16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.22) εἵμεσθεν πρόσκομμα καὶ σκόνταμα τῶν ἀνθρώπων DAM. STOD., Dial. 96.38 εἵμεσθεν ὥσάν τὸ λιθάριν Diig. Alex. F 216.6 (Lolos); τοῦ Ἀδάμ εἵμεσθεν ἐγγόνια ibid. 42.20 νὰ εἵμεσθεν (1571, Mani, CHASIOIS 1970: 6.1, 242.41–2) εἵμεσθεν GERMANO, Grammar 96.20 ἄχρηστοι δουλευτάδες εἵμεσθεν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 17.10 νὰ ἡμεσθεν κρατημένοι (1642, Patmos, MICHAILARIS 1998: 1, 193.16) δὲν εἵμεσθεν ἐλεύθεροι (1654, Karpenisi, STEFANIS/PAPATRIANDAFYLLOU-THEODORIDI 1992: 7, 83.2) εἵμεσθεν καλὰ (1656, Amorgos, TSELIKAS 1988/1992: 3, 49.7) εἵμεσθεν (1666, Naxos, ZERLENDIS 1922: p. 131.19) εἵμεσθεν κρατημένοι (17th c., Syros, ZERLENDIS 1924b: [3], 14.15–16) ημεῖς δὲν εἵμεσθεν δαιμονισμένοι Don Kis. 50.7

The form without final /n/ is less common:

νὰ εἵμεσθε εἰς τὸν κόσμον Dig. E 95 ἐμεῖς εἵμεσθε ἀδελφοί σου (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 178) νὰ εἵμεστε Theseid I.27.2 (Follieri) εἵμεστε λυτρωμένοι Synax. gyn. 67 εἵμεστε εἰς τὴν αὐτὴν βουλὴν (1585, Constantinople, PATRINELIS 1967/68: 28, 108.14) νὰ εἵμεστε ἐμεῖς ἐδῶ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 17.4 πού 'μεστ' ἐνοὺς πατέρος VEST., Paid. Makkav. 1303 ὅτ' εἵμεστε δικοί σου MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2481

The following form is a phonetic rather than a morphological variant of εἵμεστε, in which unstressed /e/ has become [i] through mid-vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4 for details): νὰ μὴν εἵμιστιν χαμένοι (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 9, 74.1).

Addition of -(v)ε occurs in a document from the Mani and a theatrical play from Chios (both 17th c.), but is likely to appear in other areas as well (for details see I, 2.6.3): ἐμεῖς, ὁπού 'μεστένε νιοὶ VEST., Paidēs 1024; εἵμεστένε (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.17).

Pl.	1	εἵμεσθα(ν) † εἵμεστα(ν) † εἵμεστανε

The ending -μεστα(ν) and its written variant -μεσθα(ν) are attested with εἵμαι in the 13th c. in S. Italy and from the 14th c. onwards elsewhere (for the identical ending of the imperfect see 4.3.1.2; for a discussion see 4.1.1.2). It is likely to be the result of a conflation of inherited -μεθα and the innovative ending -μεστε(ν) (see above). It can be found throughout the EMG period in texts from various areas but is especially frequent in Cretan texts:

εἵμεσθα (1221, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 7, 380.11) εἵμεσθα θαρρετοί (1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 6, 310.15) ὀρεκτικοὶ εἴμεστα εἰς ὅ,τι ἤθελεν κάμειν (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 171.11–12) ὃδέν εἴμεστα στο μῶδο σου Apoll. Rim. N 1691 ὅτι ἤμεστα κοτέντες (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 19, 60.4) νὰ εἴμεστα πάντα μαζί BAROZZI, Letter 358.7 κατὰ πῶς εἴμεστα κρατημένοι CHORTATIS, Erof. I.557 ἐδῶ εἴμεστα Thysia Avr. 241 app. crit. (M) εἴμεστα ἐρθωμένοι TROILOS, Rodol. V.1 (ἤμεστα ed.)

 δὲν εἴμεστα κοπέλια FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.328 πῶς εἴμεστα πρόντοι ὅ,τι ὦρα μᾶσε κρόξη (1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 5, 34.3) εἴμεστα εἰς ἓνα κίνδυνο ἀνεπίστευτο (1671, Cythera, PSARAS 1989: 150.12) εἴμεστα πάντα ὁμάδι KORNAROS, Erot. 235.24 (Stevanoni) (= IV.551)

Addition of final /n/ makes a first appearance in writings of the 14th c. and can be found throughout the rest of the period, mostly in texts from southern areas:

ὅπου εἴμεσταν ροῖνες Chron. Mor. H 6035; εἴμεσταν ibid. 6036 and 6968 ms (usually εἴμεθεν) ὠρισμένοι εἴμεσταν ἀπὸ τὸν ρήγα τῆς Κύπρου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 206.21 εἴμεσταν καλὰ (1501, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 5, 26.6) εἴμεσταν καὶ ἡμεῖς μοναχῆς (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.48) εἴμεσταν τυφλοὶ DAM. STOUΔ., Dial. 103.38 εἴμεσθαι πάντοτε ἐτοιμότατοι (1574, Corfu, ASONITIS 1999/2000: 2, 14) εἴμεσταν πτωχοὶ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 86.27 and 92.28 καλὸν εἶναι νὰ εἴμεσταν ἐμεῖς ἐδῶ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 9.5 (hapax; normally εἴμεστε(ν)) ἀντύχει τώρα, ὅπου ἐμεῖς εἴμεσταν συγχισμένοι RODINOS, Mart. Ag. Mam. 216.22 ἀπού ἴμεσταν ὁμάδι (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 79.13) εἴμεσταν (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), p. 28.14) που ἴμεσθαι βαπτισμένοι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2929; δὲν εἴμεσταν ibid. 3633; καὶ Ρεθεμνιώτες εἴμεσταν BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 230.3 εἴμεσθαι βοηθοὶ σου KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 771 νὰ ἴμεσθαι γλυτωμένοι Thrinios Kypr. 389

Addition of -(ν)ε, without the need for a second accent, occurs in Morezinos, the Chronicle of the Turkish Sultans and a letter by Nikiforos, archbishop of Cyprus, who, however, was almost certainly not of Cypriot but rather of south-western origin (see II, 2.1.2, fn. 8). For -(ν)ε see I, 2.6.3: εἴμεστανε MOREZINOS, Klini 21.7–8, 123.28, 133.18, 187.29, 205.4 and 205.7; εἴμεστανε πτωχοὶ ἀνθρῶποι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 85.21 ms (ed.: εἴμεστανε πτωχοὶ ἀνθρῶποι); εἴμεστανε (1664, Cyprus, MERTZIOS 1958b: 254.5).

Pl.	1	εἴμαστε(ν) ἰ εἴμασθε(ν) ἰ εἴμαστενε ἰ εἴμαστανε

The form εἴμαστε(ν) and its more formal variant εἴμασθε(ν) (in the form εἴμαστε now the SMG form) first appears in texts from south-western areas only, from the 15th c. onwards (ms date of Liv. E). It has not been found in texts from other areas before the 17th c. (Ioakeim Kypr., Don Kis). According to MINAS 1987a: 25, following MEYER 1889: 197, it derives from -μεστα through inversion of the vowels /a/ and /e/. As appears to be the case with other mediopassive endings (e.g. imperf. 1 sg. -μουν, 2 sg. -σουν) the postverbal clitic pronoun μας may have played an associative role.

μάνα, τὸ τίνος εἵμασθεν ἡμεῖς Liv. E 2903 ἄν εἵμασθεν στρατιῶτες Chron. Mor. P 3845 ὅδεν εἵμασθεν στο μόδο σου Apoll. Rim. E 1691 νά ἴμασθεν Theseid I.122,6 (Follieri) εἵμασθεν χορτασμένοι Alex. Rim. 899; ἐμεῖς γυναῖκες εἵμασθεν ibid. 2507 καὶ εἵμαστε ῥαμένοι (1573, Ancona, CATALDI PALAU 2000: 2, 387.3) (author from Corfu) εἵμαστε ἀμέραγοι (1585 [later copy], Ithaca, KALLINIKOS 1980: 56.21–2) εἵμασθε Pist. voskos III 5.99 σιμά εἵμαστε, καὶ χτύπησε CHORTATSI, Katz. II.93 πού ἴμασθε κρατημένοι Pist. voskos IV 3.284 εἵμαστε<ν> σόλιτο (1610, Mani, FLORISTÁN 2008: 1, 281.15) ἄς εἵμασθεν καὶ ἡμεῖς MAXIMOS, Synax. Ag. Nik. 144.301–2 ὥστε νὰ εἵμαστε εὐχαριστημένοι (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 73, 81.8) εἵμασθεν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2542 and 2996; πού ἴμασθεν ibid. 10095 νὰ εἵμασθεν (1666, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 15, 128.7–8) εἵμαστε πληρωμένοι (1666, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 18, 89.10) νὰ εἵμασθεν στενεμένοι (1670, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1981: 4.16) εἵμασθεν (1673, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 17B, 129.5) καὶ ἡμεῖς ἐδικοί σου εἵμασθεν Alex. Fyll. 17.9–10 νὰ εἵμαστε ὀμπλιγάδοι (1708, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 7, 41.22) δὲν ἤξεύρω ποῦ εἵμασθεν σιγούροι (1715, Corfu, LIATA 1975: 16, 132.11) εἵμασθεν ἔτοιμοι KATSAITIS, Thyest. II.347; ὅπου ἴμαστε κ' οἱ δυὸ κατοικημένες id., Klathmos
 I.597
 εἵμασθε SPANOS, Grammar 42.6
 ποῖοι εἵμασθεν Don Kis. 514.12; δὲν εἵμασθε ζῶα ibid. 566.12

Addition of -(v)ε has been found in a letter by Nikiforos, archbishop of Cyprus, who, however, was certainly not of Cypriot but probably of south-western origin (see II, 2.1.2, fn. 8), as well as in an early 18th-c. document written in Athens, by an author who was perhaps from Nauplion (see also I, 2.6.3): εἵμαστανε (1664, Cyprus, MERTZIOS 1958b: 255.2) (ed. εἵμαστε, but see KYRRIS 1963: 279 for the correction of this and other misreadings); εἵμαστανε (1717, Athens, LIATA 1975: 32, 144.19 and 144.20).

The same letter by Nikiforos, archbishop of Cyprus, also preserves a form εἵμαστανε (reading confirmed by KYRRIS 1963: 279), which is either a very rare variant, or perhaps just a writing mistake for εἵμαστανε: εἵμαστανε ὅλοι εἰς τὸ ρένιο μας τῆς Κύπρος (1664, Cyprus, MERTZIOS 1958b: 255.10).

2nd Person Plural

Pl.	2	ἔστε ἢ ἐστέ

The inherited form ἔστε (ἐστέ in conservative orthography) remains in use throughout the post-classical period and into the 15th/16th c. Since the ending -στε could easily be interpreted as passive and thus fitted nicely into the reformed paradigm, there was no pressing need to replace it. No new alternative forms have been found before the 14th c., but it must be borne in mind that 2 pl. forms are generally quite rare in written texts:

ὁ δὲ βασιλεὺς ἠρώτα: “Πόθεν ἐστέ;” NIKON, Logos 31 816.18 πληροφορημένοι οὐκ ἐστε (1224, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 30, 447.6) τίνες ἔστέ καὶ πόθεν Dig. G I.263 μήποτε ἔστε ξένοι Pol. Tr. 11262 app. crit. (C) σύνδουλοι ἔστε τῶν προγόνων σας Vios Aisop. E 293.13 τὸ πῶς ἔστε εἰς τὴν ὑγείαν σας Diig. Alex. F 308.16–17 (εἴσταν in Diig. Alex. E)

Pl.	2	εἴσθε(ν) ἰ εἴσταν(ν) ἰ εἴσταν(ν) ἰ εἴστανε ¹⁷²

For 2 pl. εἴσταν(ν) and its written variant εἴσθε(ν) (cf. SMG εἴσταν) start to appear in written texts from the 14th c. onwards. It has not been possible to establish how long before the 14th c. this form came into being, since most of the early vernacular texts (Glykas, Spaneas V, Log. parig. L) happen not to have 2 pl. forms of εἶμαι. The present form εἴσταν(ν)/εἴσθε(ν) is most likely to be an adaptation of inherited ἔστε, thus being the last form of the present to adopt the root /i/ of the rest of the paradigm (cf. 3 sg. and 3 pl.).¹⁷³ ἵνα ἦσθε κρατημένοι (1346/7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 256.45) καὶ νὰ ἦσταν πάλε στὸν Μορέα Chron. Mor. H 4249; εἴσταν γυμνοὶ ibid. 5110 πολλὰ νὰ εἴσταν ἐσεῖς γεροὶ Pol. Tr. 4321 ὅπου εἴσταν μαθημένοι Dig. E 1303 τίνες καὶ πόθεν εἴσταν Liv. S 1742 (Lambert-van der Kolf) εἴσταν πιστοὶ εἰς ἔμμενα Achil. L 790 εἴσταν ρίζα τῶν Ρωμαιοῦν Chron. Toc. 1390 ὡς εἴσταν ἐσεῖς Pol. Tr. 824 app. crit. (V); ἀλλ' οὕτως εἴσθε φρόνιμοι ibid. 8716 (mss AB) μηδὲν ἦσταν ἀπότορμοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 294.1–2; ἐσεῖς εἴσταν φρενίμοι ibid. 330.14–15 ποιουνοῦ θεοῦ εἴσταν ἐσεῖς Diig. Alex. F 226.11–12 (Lolos); ἐσεῖς εἴσταν λύκοι ibid. 246.4 διὰ νὰ ἦσταν ἐσεῖς κακοὶ ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2677 δὲν εἴσταν CHORTATIS, Erof. I.111; σὰν εἴσταν μαθημένοι id., Erof. Interm. IV.21 διὰ τὸ σπαθῆν εἴσταν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §4.25 ἄς εἴσταν (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 77, 231.9) εἴσταν τὸ νησί του (17th c., Syros, ZERLENDIS 1924b: [3], 14.7)

Addition of final /n/ can be found in writing from at least the 15th c. onwards (ms date of Spaneas Z):

οὐκ εἴσταν χριστιανοὶ Spaneas Z 503 ἄς εἴσταν θαρρεμένοι Liv. V 3860; μὴνὰ εἴσταν ἄκ τὸν Λίβιστρον ἀποστερνάμενοί του ibid. 2691 ὡς εἴσταν ἐσεῖς Pol. Tr. 824 app. crit. (X); ὡς εἴσταν ἐσεῖς Pol. Tr. 824 app. crit. (AB);

¹⁷² A 13th-c. example of εἴσταν in poem III of Rumi (ed. Dedes, l. 5) is dubious, because it uses 2 pl. as a mark of politeness, a use that is otherwise unattested in the period under review (see IV, 5). The following two forms are hapax legomena. The example from Bertoldos is most likely to be a simple printing mistake: ὁποῦ ἐσεῖς εἴσταν Bertoldos 19.22 (εἴσταν for εἴσταν: εἴσταν(ν)(ε) being the normal form in this text). The form εἴσταν in Ioakeim Kyprios's Struggle: ὡσάν φίλοι που εἴσταν κάμετε καλοσύνην IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1509 is either a writing mistake (εἴσταν for εἴσταν/εἴσταν), or a case of confusion with the regionally attested 2 pl. imperfect ἦσταν(ε) found in texts of northern provenance (Ioakeim spent time in Romania and Belgrade), for which see 4.8.2.

¹⁷³ KAPSOMENOS (1953a: 322) considers it to be formed from Koine present subjunctive ἦτε with influence from the imperfect, which next to the identical form ἦτε also had an alternative form ἦστε. The problem with this theory is that the imperfect ἦστε never became a mainstream form and can only be found in a handful of Attic authors; also, there are actually very few examples of ἦτε used as a present indicative in post-classical times. The most common form for the present indicative throughout post-classical times is ἔστε/ἔστέ, also in middle- and lower-register Byzantine texts such as Chronicon Paschale, Leontios of Neapolis, Ps.-Methodios, the Miracles of St Artemios and Paul of Monemvasia (see the online TLG).

εἶσθεν καλὰ (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 21.2) εἰπέτε τί σᾶς ἔκαμα καὶ εἶσθεν λυπημένοι Alex. Rim. 1752 εἶσθεν ἐνοῦ πατρός παιδίᾳ Diig. Alex. F 206.1 (Lolos) and Diig. Alex. V 59.21 ποῦ ἀνδρειωμένοι εἶσθεν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2878; μὴν εἶσθεν φοβισμένοι ibid. 2880

Addition of -(ν)ε occurs in texts from south-western areas (Heptanese, Crete and possibly elsewhere)¹⁷⁴ and from Chios from the 16th c. onwards (for details see I, 2.6.3):

εὐλογημένοι ὅσ' εἶσtene γνώριμοι τοῦ πατρός μου SKLAVOS, Symf. 255 να εἶσtene DEFAR., Sos. 360 (Holton) σκύλες λυσσιασμένες ὅπου εἶσtene Bertoldos 18.28 ᾶς ἦσtene γραμμένοι PORTIUS, Grammar 36.19 εἶσtene τιμημένοι MONTSEL., Evgena 520; ὅσες κι ἄν εἶσtene μητριές ibid. 1536 γιατ' ἀνδρειωμένοι εἶσtene PETRITSIS, Dig. O 185; πῶς εἶσtene κλιαμένοι ibid. 340 παιδιὰν εἶσtene Prol. Epain. Kef. 45 καὶ νά 'σtene χαϊράμενοι KATSAITIS, Thyest. Epil.39 ποῦ εἶσtene SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 56.37

The following example is a phonetic rather than a morphological variant, bearing witness to mid-vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4 for details): εἶστιν γιροί (1698, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 8, 70.6–7).

Pl.	2	εἶσαστε

The MG colloquial form εἶσαστε has not been found before the early 18th c., in a document whose author was from Nauplion:¹⁷⁵ καὶ ευχαριστία νὰ ἔχει ὁ Κύριος ὅπου δὲν εἶσαστε κανένας πανδρεμένος (1715, Venice, LIATA 1975: 3, 122.21).

Pl.	2	ῆτε

The residual Koine form ῆτε (originally the present subjunctive) is found sporadically: νὰ ῆτε δοῦλοι του Liv. α 589 app. crit. (P); τίνες καὶ πόθεν ῆτε Dig. A 49.

3rd Person Singular and Plural

Sg.	3	ἔνι ἔν ἔ ἔνε(ν)/ἔναι(ν) ἔνιν
Pl.		ἔνι ἔν ἔνε(ν)/ἔναι(ν)

The inherited form ἔνι¹⁷⁶ for 3 sg. and 3 pl. is the only form of εἶμαι that resists transferring to the mediopassive paradigm. At the beginning of the LMedG period it was still the most ¹⁷⁴ Cf. Kosmas Aitolos's famous words (18th c., born in Aetolia): δὲν εἶσtene Ἕλληνες, δὲν εἶσtene ασεβεῖς, αἰρετικοί, ἄθεοι, ἀλλ' εἶσtene ευσεβεῖς ορθόδοξοι χριστιανοί (MENOUNOS 1979: 115–16).

¹⁷⁵ Also in the late 18th-c. Zakynthian comedy O Chasis: ᾶ, χρόνοι καὶ ποῦ 'σαστε Gouzelis, O Chasis III.473 (ed. Synodinos).
¹⁷⁶ It is a shortened form of ἔνεστι (“exists”), which can already be found in Homer. The oldest attestation of its meaning “is” appears in an inscription on a Corinthian vase of the 6th c. BC: καλὸ(ν) ἐνι τὸ ποτήριον (see KRETSCHMER 1922).

common form, even though alternative forms (ἐνε/ἔναι and εἶνε/εἶναι) had already begun to appear (see below). By the end of the 16th c. these new forms managed to supplant ἐνι in most areas, with the notable exception of Cyprus, where ἐνι can be found, alongside ἔναι and εἶναι, throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar (BEAUDOIN 1884: 79–80; SYMEONIDIS 2006: 219–20).¹⁷⁷

In the transitional phase alternative forms are often found side by side, e.g. τίς ἔναι καὶ πόθεν ἐνι ὁ ἄνθρωπος καὶ τί ἔναι τὸ στενάζει Liv. E 19 and ἀνίσως καὶ ἐνι πλούσιος SACHLIKIS, Peri fylakis 78 transcr. P (Lendari) vs. ἄς ἔναι φυλαμένη ibid. 107. Certain LMedG texts, among which Dig. G, Ptoch. (apart from ms H), Chron. Mor. H, Pol. Tr. (in which all cases of 3 pl. ἐνι turn out to be editorial), Diig. tetr., Liv. V and N, Poulol., Velth., use ἐνι only for the singular.

Singular

οὐ χρειά ἐνι ἡγουμένου NIKON, Logos 2 136.33 (φοβοῦμαι ...) μὴ οὐκ ἐνι εἰς ἀρεστόν σου Dig. G II.115 ὁποῦ ἐνι χορτασμένος GLYKAS, Stichoi 117 οἷος δ' ἂν καὶ ἐνι (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 15.36–7) (τὸ ἀμπέλιον ...) ἐνι δὲ φράγγον (1400, Patras, GERLAND 1903: 10, 194.4–5) τί ἐνι τὸ γυρεύουν Pol. Tr. 266 καὶ ἐνι ὁ τόπος βαρικός Chron. Toc. 3453; νὰ ἐνι ἐδικός του ibid. 3721 ὀρισμός μας ἐνι (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 143, 68.1) εὐμορφον ἐνι, ἐξαίρετον Velth. 523 (Cupane) ὁ λαὸς τῆς Ἀμοχούστου ἐνι χοντροὶ λᾶς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 388.30–1; ἐνι ἀλήθεια ὅτι ...
ibid. 576.8–9
ὅταν ἐνι τὸ κάμμα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 367 αὐτοῦ ἐνι σταυρὸς ἐμπηγμένος (1528, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 53, 172.21) ἐνι ἡγούμενος (1545, Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 2, 100.1) ἐνι τοῦ κόσμου χαλασμός Thrinis Konst. (Zoras) 130 ἐνι ἀλήθεια καὶ ἐπουλήσαμεν (1694–1704, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 3, 78.2–3)

Plural

τοῦτα παιγνίδια οὐκ ἐνι GLYKAS, Stichoi 519 τοῦτα μὲν τὰ συντυχαίνεις, ἐνι παλαιοῦ οὐρανοῦ ἀποκλάσματα Paroim. E 59 ὅτι ἐνι δαιμονιάροι Ptoch. II 93 app. crit. (H) ἐνι καὶ τέτοιοι Arm. 64 (reading of ms C) (τὰς γραφάς), μάθε διὰ τίναν ἐνι Liv. E 1512 ἄφες τα, οὐκ ἐνι πρόσφερα Liv. α 2376 app. crit. (P); καὶ τὰ λαλεῖ δι' ἐμὲν ἐνι ibid. 1951 (reading of SP) εἰ δ' ἴσως ἐνι δράκοντες [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 913 πολλὰ ἐνι τὰ ἐκακοπάθησεν Liv. S 385 (Lambert-van der Kolf); ὀνόματα ἐνι ἀρμένικα ibid. 1520 σὰν ἐνι μαθημένες SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 456 transcr. P (Lendari) οἱ Σπιταλλιῶτες ἐνι καλοὶ χριστιανοὶ MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 14.21–2 αὐτὲς ἐνι οἱ ὑπόληψες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 606 ἐνι ἀρμασμένοι Fior 147.40; ἀντὰν ἐνι συγγενάδες ibid. 148.1

¹⁷⁷ The same is likely to be true for other areas, among which Pontos, Cappadocia and Tsakonia, which still have ἐνι for 3 sg. in modern times (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 207; ANDRIOTIS, Lex. Arch. s.v. ἐνι), but unfortunately there is almost no LMedG and EMG textual evidence from these areas.

οἱ ἄνθρωποι καὶ τὰ κτηνὰ ἐνι μιᾷς κονδετσιοῦς Fior Suppl. 270.12–13 οὕτως ἐνι καὶ τὰ φουσάτα μου Diig. Alex. E 157.10 (Lolos); αὐτοὶ ἐνι πρόβατα ibid. 247.3–4

Before the LMedG period two further alternative forms had come into being, namely ἐν/ἐνε (ἐναι) and εἶν/εἶνε (εἶναι). The traditional explanation is that ἐνε/ἐναι is formed from ἐνι either with adoption of /e/ in the final syllable by analogy with 1 sg. εἶμαι and 2 sg. εἶσαι (KORAI 1828/35: I 95; CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 564; ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1936: 9), or with assimilation of /i/ to the /e/ of the first syllable (JANNARIS 1897: 250), and that later on this new form ἐνε/ἐναι adopted the root /i/ of the rest of the paradigm (1 sg. εἶμαι, 2 sg. εἶσαι, 1 pl. εἴμεθα, 2 pl. εἴσθε), resulting in εἶνε/εἶναι (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 564–5; JANNARIS 1897: 250; ANAGNOSTOPOULOS 1936).¹⁷⁸

This explanation is valid in principle but needs some minor modifications: in the 7th c. there are several examples of ἐν (not ἐνε/ἐναι), which point to ἐνι losing its final vowel before becoming ἐνε/ἐναι. Significantly, all early examples occur in direct speech, in the phrase “τί ἐν”, often followed by the relative pronoun τό.¹⁷⁹ The fact that the form is found in middle-register texts such as the ones in the following examples indicates that it must already have been an accepted form in civilized speech.

τί ἐν τὸ ἔχεις, κύριε Μόσχε; Moschos, Leimon 3064.23 (ed. Migne PG 87/3) (early 7th c.)

λέγει αὐτῷ ὁ δούξ· «Τί ἐν; λαμβάνεις τὸ ποσόν;» Leontios of Neapolis, Life of St John the Almsgiver 382.30; «Τί ἐν; ἀπέδωκέν σοι ὁ θεὸς ὅτι ἐπεύσω» ibid. 388.4–5; «τί ἐν ἄρτι; ποῦ ὑπάγομεν;» id., Life of Symeon the Holy Fool 71.14; καὶ εὐθέως λέγει μοι· τί ἐν, διάκων; ibid. 94.13 (eds. Festugière & Rydén 1974) (early 7th c.)

τί ἐν κύρι; πῶς ἤλθες ὧδε; Miracles of St. Artemios 68.10 (ed. Papadopoulos-Kerameus) (AD ca. 680)

This form continues to be in use for 3 sg. throughout the LMedG and EMG periods from Constantinople to the Heptanese and from Crete to Cyprus. For the plural ἐν is not used before the EMG period and it is much less frequent:

Singular

τί ἐν τὸ σὲ χρεωστοῦσιν Spaneas V 99

οὐκ ἐνι τοῦτο πλανταμός, οὐκ ἐν' μελαγχολία; GLYKAS, Stichoi 273 τί ἐν' τὸ κλαίεις Chron. Mor. H 6053 ἐκεῖνος ἐν δομέστιχος Ptoch. IV 65 app. crit. (P); καὶ τί ἐν τὸ συντυχαίνεις ibid. 465

ἂν ἐν' τὸ γιόμα του κακόν Arm. 106

¹⁷⁸ A second explanation for the appearance of εἶν/εἶνε/εἶναι, advocated by BESCHEWLEW 1935 and 1938 and KAPSOMENOS 1953a, is that it came about through influence of/confusion with the present subjunctive ῆ. This theory is not unproblematic when one considers that the present subjunctive had been in decline since Hellenistic times, and in fact cases of indicativus pro coniunctivo with the verb “to be” are quite common in post-classical times, even in higher-register texts. It seems rather unlikely that a morphological category that had been in a state of gradual decline for centuries would somehow manage to prevail over the indicative with one verb only. Influence from the imperfect on the present subjunctive and indicative seems equally problematic: the examples in KAPSOMENOS 1953a of imperfect for subjunctive are all conditional clauses, and the only conclusion to be drawn from them is that in the Koine the imperfect started to be used instead of the subjunctive in conditional clauses (and surely not only with εἰμί), but that does not mean that this would automatically lead to the morphological convergence of the two.

¹⁷⁹ Here, in fact, one can observe a precursor of the EMG interrogative pronoun (τ)ιντα (“what”), for which see II, 5.7.1.4.

αὐτὸς σκυλὶ Ρωμαῖος ἔν', μὴ σὲ κακοδοικήσῃ! Dig. E 29 τί ἔν τὸ τζαμπουνίζεις; Diig. tetr. 199; τί ψῆφος ἔν δικός σας; ibid. 410 ἄνθρωπος ἔν' καλόγνωμος Chron. Toc. 1360 ἀφέντης ἐδικός μας ἔν' καὶ υἱὸς ἐδικός σου Achil. L 72 τί ἔν τὸ λές; FALIEROS, Ist. On. 55; δέν ἔν' καιρός ibid. 68; δέν ἔν' δοσμένον ibid. 195 πολλὰ ἔν μετανομένη Alosis 263 δέν ἔν πληγωμένος Cypr. Canz. 3.5 ζερβή ἐν' χαριτωμένη Diig. Alex. K 376.19 κι ἂν ἔν σφαλμένο τίποτες ZINOS, Alex. Rim. Epil. 20; καὶ τοῦτο ἔν ἀληθινὸ id., Vatr. 80 κι εἶπεν πὼς ἔν δική του Thrinios Kypr. 4

Plural

πὼς ἔν τ' ἀδέλφια μου; MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 258.19–20 πὼς ἔν γλυκιά τὰ πάθη Cypr. Canz. 17.2; τ' ἄστρα δέν ἔν φταισμένα ibid. 90.36 θέλω νὰ ἔν τὰ πέντε Chron. Mor. P 7686

In several Cypriot and Rhodian texts syncopation occurs when ἔν is preceded by the negative δέν, through which the phrases δέν ἔν /'ðenen/ and δέν ἔν νὰ /'ðenena/ become δέν (= δέ 'ν) and δέ νὰ (= δέ 'ν νὰ) respectively (see DAWKINS 1932: II 37; LIOSIS 2012: 413; see also I, 4.2.2). The phenomenon also occurs in the Pentateuch, which was printed in Constantinople (though the provenance of the author/scribe is unknown):

καὶ δένα τοὺς ὁμολογοῦν (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.12) δέν καλὸ νὰ εἶνε ὁ ἄθρωπος ἀμοναχὸς του Pent. Gen. 2.18 d' ene edi qui mas / δ' ἔνε ἐδικοί μας (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 66, f.IV.2) καὶ δέν καιρὸς τῆς καύχησης LIMEN., Than. Rod. 187; καὶ δέν νὰ σὲ κοξήσουν ibid. 227 ἂν δέ 'ναι ἐγλήγορας (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 83.7) (spelled δ' αινε); τὰ καράβια μου ... δέ 'ναι εἰς τις μεριές ἐτοῦτες (ibid. 17, 92.18) ποτέ μου δέ νὰ σ' ἔλλαξα Katal. 505 δέ' 'νε μὸδος νὰ πάρῃ ὁ σῖρ Τιπάτ τὸ Κουρίκος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 562.17; καὶ δέ νὰ 'φεληθῇς ibid. 642.31–2 δέν νὰ τὸ νικήσῃ Fior 130.13 καὶ δ' ἔναι ἀγαπημένος Cypr. Canz. 53.7 (Legrand) (read δέ 'ναι)¹⁸⁰ δεναυρέθῃ / δένα βρεθῇ VOUSTR., Chron. A 290.9 app. crit. (same in M 291.7) (τὰ ἐλιούδια ...) δέν ρόμια, παροῦ ἀμάτισμά του (1527, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 21, 234.9–10)
 δέν ἔνι τινὰς ἴτσου κακότυχος ἄνθρωπος ὅπου δέν νὰ ἠθέλησεν νὰ εἶχεν καλὰ καμωμένον ἐκεῖνον τὸ ἔχει κακά Fior Suppl. 273.15–17

Sometimes in literary texts instances are found of the form ἔν without the final /n/. Omission of final /n/ may generally occur in texts from Crete, but also in texts from areas such as Cyprus, though in the latter case only in specific phonological environments (e.g. before /n/, as in the example below from Machairas, or before stops, as in the plural examples; see I, 3.7.2.2 for details). This form is used mainly for the singular, and only sporadically for the plural.

¹⁸⁰In the edition by Siapkarakas-Pitsillidès this is interpreted as δέν ἔ; a second example in the same collection, not edited by Legrand, is: δέν ἔ στήν τιμήσ σου Cypr. Canz. 104.69, which should also be read as δέ 'ναι; and possibly: ποὺ δέν <ἐ> δ' κνὸς γιὰ μένα ibid. 114.2.

Singular

καὶ ἄν ἔ', νὰ τὸν παιδεύγουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 362.16 καὶ ας ἔ' συμπαθημένη Apoll. Rim. N 922; ποῖος ἔ' νὰ μας γυρεύει Apoll. Rim. A 1213 and Apoll. Rim. N 1213
 πῶς ἔ' νεκρὴ νὰ δεῖτε Thysia Avr. 196; δὲν ἔ' καιρὸς νὰ καρτερῶ ibid. 277 app. crit. (M) καιρὸς δὲν ἔ' νὰ καρτεροῦμε FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.507 γνώση δὲν ἔ' KORNAROS, Erot. I.272 app. crit. 272 (X)

Plural

ἄν ἔ' πάροικοί μας (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.7); ἄν ἔ' πάροικοι ἄλλους (ibid. 3, 5.8) (= ἄλλους, gen.; see II, 1.2)

With an added /e/, either by analogy with 1 sg. εἶμαι and 2 sg. εἶσαι (see above), or simply to preserve final /n/ (see I, 2.6.3), ἐνε/ἔναι appears in texts from around the middle of the 11th c. onwards (in S. Italy), and throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods. The spelling with <αι> or <ε> shows great fluctuation in manuscripts, which goes to show that it is entirely graphematic. Certain texts from south-western areas, among which most Cretan texts, Heptanesian texts (including Sofianos's grammar) and the Chronicle of the Turkish Sultans, have ἔναι only for the singular, not for the plural. For the plural the form ἐνε/ἔναι is found from the early 14th c. onwards in texts from various areas, though only rarely in texts from Crete and the Heptanese.

Singular

τὰ χωράφια ὅπου ἔνε ὁ σταυρὸς (1106–7, S. Italy, MÉNAGER 1957: 3, 325.28) οὐκ ἔναι πόνος πούποτε GLYKAS, Stichoi 147 ὡς ἔναι ἐπάνω ἐγράφως (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 13.16–17); ἐὰν ἔναι χρῆσις (ibid. 21.117–18) δι' αἰτίαν τινὰ ἔναι (14th c., Cyprus, KODER et al. 2001: 245, 426.18–19) ὅτι ἔναι μέγας ποταμὸς Chron. Toc. 214; ὅς τὸν Ἅγιον Ἡλία ἔναι ibid. 564 νὰ ἔνε κρατημένος (1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.9) ὁ μπᾶηλος, ὅπου ἔναι εἰς τὴν Μπόλιν (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 275.28) νὰ ἔναι εἰς πᾶσαν αὐτοῦ ἀναζήτησιν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 25, 162.3); τὸ ἄλογον ἔναι κόκκινον (ibid. 33, 166.2–3) ἔνε μεγάλη χώρα (1487, Herzegovina?, LEFORT 1981: 16, 87.6); καὶ ἔνε φίλος μου μεγάλος (1487, Rhodes, ibid. 16, 87.11–12) κὶ ἔναι πρεπὸν FALIEROS, Ist. On. 342; κὶ ἄς ἔναι στὴν ὑπακοή id. Log. did. 37 ὁ ὄρκος ἔνε τοῦτος MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 44.30 ἔναι πολλὰ καλὸς ἄρχος (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 171.9) ὅπου ἔναι σκλάβος (1534, Nauplion, MANOUSAKAS 1984: 264.19) ἔναι SOFIANOS, Grammar 71.6; ὅσον ἔναι δυνατόν id., Paidag. 95.3 dicunt ἔνε omnes plebei ... litterati vero ἔνε ROMANOS, Grammar 57.2–3 τὸ σπῖτι μου, ὡς καθὼς ἔναι (1663, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: VII, 74.5)

Plural

ἐὰν ἔνε ζαριστάδες (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 23.173) ἔναι καὶ τέτοιοι Arm. 64 app. crit. (P) τί ἔναι, σκύλε, τὰ λαλεῖς Diig. tetr. 199 ἔνε γοῦν οἱ γέροντες (1474, Athos, OIKONOMIDÈS 1968: 32, 166.5) νὰ ἔνε ἐμπροπέτες Assizes A 28.9 ἔναι καλιγωμένα SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 176 καὶ ἄς ἔνε ὅτοιμοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 408.24 ἔναι καλὰ καμώματα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 202 ἔναι αἱ ἐσοδεῖς (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 172.28) ἐκεῖνα ἔνε ἀδελφομοῖρι μὲ τὰ παιδιὰ μου (1572, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 1, 17.13) οἱ Ἑβραῖοι ἔναι αὐτοὶ λέγουσιν ... Diig. Alex. Sem. S 506

Addition of final /n/ to ἐνε/ἔναι can be found in writing from at least the 15th c. onwards (ms dates of Flor. L and Ptoch. IV) in texts from northern and southern areas, and especially in texts from the Dodecanese:

Singular

νὰ ἔναιν διὰ τὴν τιμὴν σου Flor. L 105 (usually with final /n/) αὐτός ἔναιν καλόφωρος Ptoch. IV 83 app. crit. (P) βασιλεὺς εὐγενικός ἔναιν Achil. L 110; ἔναιν ζωντανοῦ ἀνθρώπου στόμα ibid. 528; πολλὰ ἔναιν ἀντρεωμένος ibid. 1161 νὰ ἔναιν φρόνιμη Katal. 366 νὰ ἔναιν εἰς ὅλα πρακτικός Velis. Λ 147; νὰ ἔναιν αὐθέντης στρατηγός ibid. 556 εἶτε καὶ ἔνεν μεγάλη δουλεία (1451, Constantinople, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 1, 198.19); εἰ μὲν ὁ σκλάβος ἔνεν Μουσουλμάνος (ibid. 198.22) νὰ ἔνεν ὁ τοῖχος πιθαμὲς δώδεκα (1453, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1967: 1, 48.13) καὶ τοῦτο ἔναιν ἀληθές Alosis 735 ἐτοῦτο ἔνεν τὸ χαρτὶν (1456, Unknown, TSIRPANLIS 1986: 1, 221.1) τὸ πράγμαν ἔνεν μὲ τοιοῦτην στράταν (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 65.3) ἔνεν σασμένον (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 56.29)

Plural

οἱ κουκούτζοι ἔνεν οἱ Φράγγοι Vulgärorakel I.148 τὰ ὅμοια νὰ ἔνεν καὶ νὰ ποιοῦσι (1451, Constantinople, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 1, 198.19) (τὰ πραγματευτάδικα ...) νὰ ἔναιν σιγοῦρα (1481, Rhodes?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 2, 205.39) νὰ ἔνεν κρατούμενοι (1493, Rhodes, TSOPANAKIS 1970: 55.23–4); νὰ ἔνεν καλὰ βλεπτημένοι (ibid. 55.25) διατὶ ἔναιν ἐντροπισσάμενες SACHLIKIS, Symvoules 457 transcr. P (Lendari) ποῦ ἔνεν οἱ σάρκες οἱ λευκές LIMEN., Than. Rod. 56 app. crit.; τὰ κρίματα ἄβυσσος ἔνεν ibid. 235 app. crit.

In texts from areas that display mid-vowel raising (see I, 2.5.4) ἐνεν/ἔναιν can become ἔνιν: ὡς καθὼς ἔνιν εἰς τὸ ἀβεντάριο γραμμένα (1551, Kastoria, DRAKOPOULOU 2005: 16, 33.4).

Sg.	3	εἶν/ῆν ἢ εἶ ἢ εἶνε/εἶναι ἢ εἶνεν/εἶναιν ἢ εἶνι(ν)
Pl.		εἶν/ῆν ἢ εἶ ἢ εἶνε/εἶναι ἢ εἶνεν/εἶναιν ἢ εἶνιε/εἶνιαι ἢ εἶνι(ν)

The first positive identifications of both εἶν and εἶνε/εἶναι are datable to the late 11th/early 12th c. in the writings of Nikon of the Black Mountain. The change of ἐν/ἐνε/ἔναι to εἶν/εἶνε/εἶναι is very likely to be the result of analogical levelling to the rest of the paradigm (εἶμαι, εἶσαι, εἶμεθα), though it cannot be excluded that other factors also played a role in the development: since ἐν and ἐνε are often enclitic and therefore unstressed, mid-vowel raising of /e/ to [i] may have occurred, resulting in /in/ (see I, 2.5.4 for details). It cannot be excluded either that the frequent combination of τί and ἐν (/ʰti en/ > /ʰtien/ > /ʰtin/) contributed to the development of εἶν. In some sources, notably in Nikon of the Black Mountain, the form is spelled as ἦν, for since it was a new formation that did not comply with Ancient Greek morphology, there was no rule for its spelling. The scribe therefore chose a spelling he was optically familiar with, namely that of the residual imperfect ἦν (cf. the spelling of the present indicative /'ine/ as εἶναι, below). The form εἶν can be found for the singular and the plural throughout and beyond the period covered by this grammar. The addition of an apostrophe in some modern editions is quite unnecessary, as εἶν is not an apocopated form of εἶναι/εἶνε.

Singular

οὐ γὰρ ἦν ἀνάγκη ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 312.23; καὶ οὐκ ἦν ... περὶ πίστεως δόγματος ibid. 314.7
 νὰ εἶν' καὶ ἡ κόρη θαυμαστή Dig. E 70 app. crit.
 νέφος πλῆθος ἦν φουσσάτου Vulgärorakel I.221 ταπεινοφροσύνη ... εἶν' νὰ σαλιβώνεις τῆς υψηλότης τὴν ὀρεξὴν Anthos. Ch. G 203.13–14 κυρίως ἦν κολλητικόν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 331 ἂν εἶν' καὶ παραδώσω Cypr. Canz. 9.7 θάνατος εἶν' σε σένα Diig. Alex. K 376.24–5; ας εἶν' χαιρετημένη ibid. 377.21–2 (τὸ χωράφι ...) νὰ εἶν τῆς ἐκκλησίας (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 74, 157.15); ὁμολογεῖ πὼς εἶν πληρωμένος (1565, ibid. 241, 337.2–3) μὰ τοῦτο δὲν εἶν' τίβοτα CHORTATIS, Katz. I.83; λογιζόντας πὼς εἶν' καλὸς ibid. I.171; δὲν εἶν' πρεπτό ibid. V.388 ἐμένα εἶν' τὸ γένος μου STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 615 πὼς εἶν' τοῦ κόσμου ἡ ὥρα TROILOS, Rodol. II.190 ὡς ἦν τάξι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 134;¹⁸¹ καὶ δὲν εἶν' πλεῖα δική σου ibid. 1861 ὁ ἀνθὸς τοῦ εἶν θανατερός KORNAROS, Erot. I.179 app. crit. (A) τοῦτο δὲν εἶν' συνήθι Trag. Ag. Dim. I.71

Plural

(περὶ δὲ τῶν ὁσπρίων ...), ὅταν ἦν ἐκζεστά, ἕνα γομάτον κρασοβόλιν εἰς κατὰ ἕνα ἀδελφόν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos I 82.11–12; οὐδέ οἶδα τὸ τί εἶν' τοῦτα id., Logos 31 818.27 πόθεν εἶν' τοῦτοι οἱ ἔμνοστοι Pol. Tr. 295 app. crit. (E); οὐκ εἶν' πραγματευτάδες ibid. 3106 (ms A); πολλὰ εἶν' δυναμωμένοι ibid. 2488 app. crit. (X) ὡς ἄστραν εἶν' στὸν οὐρανὸν Achil. L 293 (read ὅσα ἄστρα ἂν εἶν) ὅλα εἶν' χωσιασμένα Chron. Mor. P 1120 ὅλα εἶν' συμπαθημένα FALIEROS, Ist. On. 489 δὲν εἶν' τοῦτα μὲ φωτία TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 181 καὶ ἂν εἶν' περ(ι)βόλια καὶ δενδρά BERGADIS, Apok. V 89 εἶν' πνιμένα Fyll. gadar. 141 f καθὼς εἶν καὶ τὰ ὄρνεα Alex. Rim. 587; κὶ ἄς εἶν βαμμένα ibid. 2878 νὰ εἶν' καλῶς φυλαγμένα (1536, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 5, 22.6) ξεφάντωσες πολλὰ ἵνοστες εἶν' τούτες CHORTATIS, Panor. III.167 ὅτ' εἶν' ξενιτεμένοι MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2161; ποῦ εἶν' τὰ πανηγύρια ibid. 2407 ὅτ' εἶν' πολλὰ ἀνδρεῖς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1314; τί ἀπελάτες εἶν' αὐτοὶ ibid. 1410 πὼς εἶν' κακά, νὰ ποῦσι' KORNAROS, Erot. I.2006 καθὼς εἶν' μαθημένοι Thrinos Kypr. 610

¹⁸¹ This form is considered an imperfect by the editor, but it is more likely to be a present: Petritsis does not use the residual imperfect form elsewhere, whereas he does have quite a few instances of a present form εἶν.

Sometimes, mostly in literary texts from Crete and once in a theatrical play from Chios, instances are found of this form without the final /n/, in both the singular and the plural:

Singular

ἄξος δεν εἴ' για σένα CHORTATIS, Panor. II.301; δεν εἴ' μακρά ibid. III.275 (ms D); ας εἴ' δοσμένο ibid. IV.312 (ms D); κι ἄντρας ἄς εἴ' ὁ Πανάρετος id., Erof. V.362; κ' ἡ δόξα ἄς εἴ' δική σου id., Erof. Interm. IV.88 δέν εἴ' στη χώρα μοναχᾶς Stathis I.77; ἄς εἴ' ἐδικό ντου ibid. III.450 νά εἴ' καλὰ ἀφιερωμένο (1597?, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 77, 105.9) ἄς εἴ' συμπαθημένο FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.294 ἡ γλώσσα μ' εἴ' τρεμάμενη PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 99 ἀπτεῖς δεν εἴ' μετανωμός Thysia Avr. 647 (ms M) γνώση δεν εἴ' οὐδὲ δύναμη KORNAROS, Erot. I.272 (reading of A) ἃ δεν εἴ' λολὸς ΤΡΟΙΛΟΣ, Rodol. III.202; κτίσμαν ὠραιότερο δεν εἴ' στὴν οἰκουμένη ibid. IV.382 καὶ τοῦτο εἴ' συνήθεια BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 445.22

Plural

ἄν ἡ λιβάδια δροσερά BERGADIS, Apok. A 91 app. crit. δεν εἴ' μικρά CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.269; πῶς εἴ' φαρμακεμένες ibid. V.6 (ms D); εἴ' δοσμένα id., Erof. I.459

The form εἶναι/εἶνε (cf. SMG εἶναι) can be found throughout the LMedG and EMG periods. Being homophonous with the residual infinitive εἶναι, with which scribes were optically familiar, in most early sources the present indicative /'ine/ is consistently spelled as εἶναι (cf. the spelling of the present indicative εἶν as ἦν, above). The form εἶναι is found with the singular from the 11th/12th c. and with the plural from the 12th/13th c. onwards in texts from all areas. Certain texts from south-western areas, among which most of the works of Sachlikis, those of Falieros, Apok. V, Chron. Mor. H, most mss of Pol. Tr. and Sofianos's grammar, have εἶναι only for the plural.

Singular

εἴ' τι καλὸν εἶναι καὶ εὐάρεστον τῷ Θεῷ, τοῦτο γενέσθω ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 128.18–19; εἴ' τις φιλόνεικος εἶναι id., Logos 4, 232.19–20 καὶ ρίπτει εἰς τὰ λιθάρια ὅπου εἶναι ἡ ρούμβη (1108, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 17, 216.50) πλὴν καλὸς εἶναι πάντως Diig. G VI.486 ἔὰν λάβῃ τὴν γυναῖκα καὶ ἦνε μετ' αὐτῆς (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 47.163) τίποτε τ' ἄλλον οὐκ εἶναι Log. parig. L 183 τίς εἶναι εἰς τὴν χώραν Chron. Toc. 556; νά εἶναι σκεπασμένη ibid. 2454 ποταπὸς ἄνθρωπος ἐνδέχεται νά ἦναι Assizes A 24.10 εἶναι πολλὰ φρονίμη Diig. Alex. V 33.25 and Diig. Alex. F 127.24 (Lolos) καὶ εἶνε κοτέντος (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 58α, 56.2) νά 'ναι τὸ αὐτὸ μερδικό (1616, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 2, 221.83) δέν εἶναι ἄνδρας σου KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 4.18 τὸν πύργον ὡς καθὼς εἶναι (1641, Athos, PAPAIOGLOU 1989/90: 1, 404.2) εἶναι καὶ ἐπτωχὸ PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §21.32 εἶνε ἀχαμινὸς τόπος (1692, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 164, 98.2) εἶναι καλὰ πουλημένον (1694–1704, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 3, 78.7)

Plural

εἶναι τὸν ἀριθμὸν ριζία ἐβδομήκοντα(α) ἑπτὰ (1149, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 18, 121.17) ἄνδρες ἄρπαγες εἶναι Diig. G II.152 εἶναι καὶ δύο ἔσωκουρτζούβακα (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.36) ὅτι εἶναι μεθυσμένοι Ptoch. II 93 θέλω τὰ πέντε νὰ εἶναι Chron. Mor. H 7686; (τοὺς τόπους ...) ὅπου εἶναι ἀπὸ τὸν κόσμον ibid. 8683 ὁ ναὸς εἶναι χαλασμένος (1446, Jerusalem, TSIRPANLIS 1964: 19.10) πινακωτὲς ὅσες εἶναι (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 9, 154.7) ὅσα νὰ ἦναι Assizes A 40.20 ζευγάδες εἶναι καὶ βοσκοὶ SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 160; ἀμὴ ληστάδες εἶναι ibid. 238 νὰ ἦνε ἀναπαμένοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.27; εἶνε ψέματα ibid. 220.36 νὰ εἶν' ὁμοῦ οἱ δύο (1545, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 164, 107.16) διαθέσες εἶν' ἕξι SOFIANOS, Grammar 47.3; εἶναι ibid. 71.6; ὅσοι οὐδὲν εἶναι id. Paidag. 95.12 οἱ Πέρσηδες εἶναι γυναῖκες Diig. Alex. E 247.5 (Lolos) ἐκεῖνοι ὅπου εἶναι πτωχοὶ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 5.3; ὀλίγοι εἶναι ἐκεῖνοι ibid. 7.14 οἱ ὅποιοι εἶνε ψεύστικοι [VLASTOS], Dig. P IV 341.33

Addition of final /n/ to εἶνε/εἶναι can be found in writing from at least the 15th c. onwards (ms date of Pol. Tr.) in texts from southern areas:

Singular

εἵναι ἀποκλεισμένον Pol. Tr. 10516 app. crit. (C) νὰ εἵναι καλὰ (1483, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 2, 41.11) διὰ νὰ εἵναι σὲ φύλαξη (1666, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 4, 191.3)

Plural

εἵναι σκοτωμένοι Pol. Tr. 8522 app. crit. (C); τὲς ἀρχόντισσες ὅπου εἵναι εἰς τοὺς τοίχους ibid. app. crit. (C); νόστιμα οὐδὲν τῆς εἵναι ibid. 9565 app. crit. (C) ἀσκανδάλιστοι νὰ εἵναι διὰ μέσου Chron. Toc. 1032; ὅτι εἵναι ἄνθρωποι σκληροὶ ibid. 1179 εἵναι ὅτοιμοι (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 17, 91.9) ἐτούτες εἵναι οἱ μοῖρες (1506, Patmos, MALTEZOU 1970: 2, 363.44)

With palatalized stem consonant εἵνιε/εἵναι [ijne]¹⁸² is found mainly in southern/south-western areas, and especially in Cretan and Heptanesian texts from the 15th c. onwards, but only in the plural, even in texts that use εἶναι also for the singular such as the notarial documents of Maras (vol. 2 sampled). The reason for this insertion of /j/ is unclear, but it cannot be phonetic (as it occurs only in the plural): ἀρεσκοῦμένα μου καθὼς εἵνιε (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 85, 84.4), but: ἀρεσκοῦμένο μου, καθὼς εἶνε (ibid. 23, 23.4), and Fortounatos: οἱ λογισμοὶ του εἵναι FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.635, but: εἶναι ἀγάπη σπλαχνική ibid. V.285 (cf. KONDOSPOULOS ³2001: 70 for the modern Cretan dialect).

νὰ μᾶς εἵναι κρατημένοι (1445, Naxos, LAMBROS 1907: 468.25) νὰ εἶδες κλαδία τοὺς πόνους μου νὰ εἵναι εἰς τὸ λιβάδι Liv. α 4301 app. crit. (N) ὡσὰν εἵναι μαθημένοι SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 177; εἵναι ἀμάθητοι ibid. 287 νὰ εἵναι ὅλα ἴσα FALIEROS., Log. did. 277 ὁπού 'ναι γνωρισμένα Theseid X.29,5 (1529) καλὰ 'ναι βγοδωμένοι Alex. Rim. 494; ὁπού 'ναι σὰν ταυρία ibid. 2184 τὰ σύνορά του εἵνιε (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 9, 12.5)

¹⁸² This form is sometimes accented with an acute, because it seemingly consists of three syllables. It is, however, disyllabic, as the i> after v> just indicates that the consonant is palatalized.

ὁποῦ νά μὴν εἶνι συγγενοί μου (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 24, 24.9); τὰ ὁποῖα εἶνι βαλμένα ὅλα (ibid. 309, 309.70) ἐτοῦτα εἶνιαι λόγια (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 216.22); οἱ γεδικοί μας ὅλοι εἶνιαι καλά (1565, ibid. 283, 398.25) κακά 'νιαι BAROZZI, Letter 359.20 (cacagne in the Latin script of the letter) νά 'νιαι καὶ νά γρικοῦνται ἐδικά του (1616, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 2, 220.53–4) νά 'νιαι καλά τὰ παιδιὰ μου (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 38.33) εἶνιαι πολλά FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 17; κακά νά 'νιαι τὰ τέλη σου ibid. III.91; δὲν εἶνιαι παραμύθια ibid. IV.60; εἶνιαι κρατημένοι ibid. V.286

In various areas εἶναι (sg. and pl.) can become εἶνι through raising of unstressed /e/ to [i] (see I, 2.5.4 for details):

ὅτι κοντά τους εἶνιν Achil. L 372; δοκ' ὅτι νᾶνιν ἄνδρες ibid. 422; ποῦ εἶνιν τὰ δοξάρια σου ibid. 663; ἐὰν εἶνιν μυριάδες ibid. 866 διατ' εἶνι ἀπάνω εἰς τὸν καιρὸν τῆς ἐσοδίας (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.48) ὅσα νά εἶνι (1634, Peloponnese, LAMBROS 1908b: 339.15) ἡ φυλλάδα εἶνι τοῦ παπα-Νίκου (1690, Meteora, SOFIANOS 1986: 48, f.54v.1) ἔτοιμος εἶνι σὶ πᾶσα τί (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 6, f.43r.7); νά μὴ εἶνι θιληματαραῖοι (1691, ibid. A 25, f.51r.4–5) διὰ νά εἶνι ἥσυχος (1691, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 89, 215.16) σὰν εἶνι καλὸ πρᾶμα, πουλέτι (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 52.22) (= πουλέται, see I, 3.5.4)

Sg.	3	ἔστι(ν) ἢ ἐστί(ν)
Pl.		εἰσί(ν)

Residual 3 sg. ἔστι(ν)/ ἐστί(ν)¹⁸³ and 3 pl. εἰσί(ν) can be found routinely in a variety of texts throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, usually in more formal contexts:

Singular

εἰ ἔστιν χρεῖα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 142.25 τὸ καῦμα ἔστι πολὺ, ἔνι καὶ μεσημέριν Dig. G IV.202 οὐκ ἔστι πρᾶγμα ζωντανὸν Pol. Tr. 54 τοῦτο ἔστι τὸ μήνυμα λέοντος βασιλέως Diig. tetr. 67 ἔστιν ἄστενης Assizes B 339.19 κᾶν τάχα μοναχὸς ἔστιν Dig. E 1510 αὐτὸν ἐστί το ὄνομα τῆς γυναικὸς ἐκείνης Diig. Apoll. 423 ἐπειδὴ ἄδηλός ἐστιν ἡ ὥρα τοῦ πικροῦ θανάτου (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 11, 19.2)
 οὐκ ἔστιν ἄλλος βοηθός Peri xen. 506 ὅτι αὐτὸς ἔστιν ὁ υἱὸς μου Diig. Alex. V 23.31 ἐκεῖ ἔστιν καὶ ἡ θλίψη Diig. Alex. F 194.16 (Konstantinopulos) το βασιλεῖον μέγα ἐστίν Diig. Alex. K 358.30–1 τὸ ἐμπαντίκιον ... ἐστὶν δουκάτα ζ' (1557 [copy of 1647], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 11, 64.23)
 φεῦ, Αἴσωπε, τί ἐστί τοῦτο; Vios Aisop. D 220.39 αἰσχρόν ἐστὶν το λέγειν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡΡ., Pali 5821

¹⁸³ The accentuation is mostly a matter of choice and does not appear to adhere to AG rules (for which see SMYTH 1984: 187b). More often than not, the forms are enclitic (see I, 4.2.2).

Plural

ταῦτα γάρ, δέσποτα, εἰσὶν ὄπλα δικαιοσύνης Dig. G IV.1038 τὰ βιβλία τὰ ἔχω εἰσὶ ταῦτα (1417, Crete, LAMBROS 1895: 1, 585.3), but also: ὅπου εἶναι βέβρανα φύλλα (ibid. 587.2) οἷα καὶ ὅσα εἰσὶν (1472, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 4, 151.9) νὰ εἶπες ὅτι Χάριτες εἰσὶν Velth. 691 transcr. (Lendari) (missing in Kriaras) πολλὰ πανόμοια εἰσὶν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2995 ὅσα μοι εἰσὶν καὶ ὅσα με ἀνιμένουν (1507, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 4, 8.15) τῶν ποταμῶν τὰ ὀνόματα εἰσὶν οὕτως Diig. Alex. E 49.13 (Konstantinopulos) (hapax) τὰ ὁποῖα εἰσὶν τὸ πρέζιον παπουτζῶν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 85, 84.2–3)
 οἱ σπανοὶ γέλως εἰσὶν τῶν ἀνθρώπων Spanos D 924 τὰ γεράκια πῶβλεπες εἰσὶν ἄρπαγες ἄνδρες Dig. A 755 σκέπος καὶ φύλαξη εἰσὶ ἐν σώματι καὶ πνεύμα IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2146 τὰ ὁποῖα μάρμαρα νὰ εἰσὶν μικρὰ μεγάλα (1687, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005a: 1, 368.10–11)

Confusion of residual 3 sg. ἔστί(ν) and 3 pl. εἰσί(ν) may also occur:¹⁸⁴ εἰσὶν ἡ ἔξοδος τοῦ Πέτρου (1348, Macedonia, LEFORT et al. 2006: 99, 225.1) τὸ ὁποῖον εἰσὶ (1563, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 5, 83.2) ὅτι ἐν ἀγαθοῖς ἐστὶν παιδεῖες Τοῦ καὶ κρίσεις IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4709

In local varieties of the language that are affected by the phenomenon of mid-vowel raising (of unstressed /e/ to [i], see I, 2.5.4 for details), the unstressed /e/ of the verb stem may become /i/, even in this residual form: τὸ παρὸν ἀνθολόγιον ... ἴστιν ἐμοῦ (1685, Athos, KADAS 1988: 98, 334.5–6) (scribe from Andros).

4.8.2 Imperfect

		General	Restricted	Rare
Sg.	1	ἤμουν	ἤμου ἢ ἤμουνα ἢ ἤμουνε ἤμην	ἤμον ἤμη
	2	ἤσουν	ἤσου ἢ ἤσουνε	ἤσον ἤσουνα
	3	ἤτο(ν) ἤταν	ἤν ἤτονε ἤστον/εἶστον ἢ ἤστονε/ εἶστονε ἤτανε ἤτουν ἢ ἤτουνα ἢ ἤτουνε	ἤτονευ ἤτονα ἔστον ἤντον ἔστον ἤτου

¹⁸⁴ An early example can be found in the Life of Philaretos (9th-c. text, 11th-c. ms): ἔστιν τῆς θυγατρὸς μου τῆς πρεσβυτέρας θυγατέρες τρεῖς Vios Philaret. 442 app. crit. (G).

		General	Restricted	Rare
Pl.	1	ἤμεσθε(ν) ἰ ἤμεστε(ν) ἤμεσθα(ν) ἰ ἤμεστα(ν)	ἤμεθα ἤμεθε(ν) ἤμεστανε ἤμασθε(ν) ἰ ἤμαστε(ν) ἰ ἤμαστενε ἤμασταν ἰ ἤμασθαν ἤμαστον ἰ ἤμασθον ἰ ἤμαστουν	ἤμεθαν ἰ ἤμενθα ἤμεθον ἤμισταν imouname (ἤμουναμε?)
2		ἤσθε(ν) ἰ ἤστε(ν)	ἤστενε ἤσταν	ἤστον ἤσαστε ἤσαστον ἰ ἤσαστουν isounaste (ἤσουναστε?)
3		ἦσαν ἦταν ἦτον	ἦσα ἰ ἦσανε ἦσασι(ν) ἦτανε ἦτασι(ν) ἦτονε ἦστον/εἶστον ἰ ἦστονε/ εἶστονε	ἦσανι ἦν ἦσανσι(ν) ἦτα ἦτο ἦτον ἦτονες ἦστα(ν) ἦτουν

1st Person Singular

Sg.	1	ἤμουν ἰ ἤμου ἰ ἤμουνε ἰ ἤμουνα

The SMG form ἤμουν for 1 sg. can be found in texts from all regions from the very beginning of the LMedG period (the ms of Nikon dates from the early 12th c.), but it is unclear how long before that it came into existence, since the Koine form ἤμην continued to belong to good written practice (see e.g. the works of Glykas, where we find ἤμουν in his vernacular poem, whereas he uses ἤμην in his more learned works). This ending is derived from -μην, the /u/ in the final syllable being the result of backing of /i/ to /u/ in the environment of nasals (see I, 2.8.4), though, as appears to be the case with many verbal endings, the clitic pronoun μου may have played a role by association. Some early examples are:

ὅπου ἂν ἤμουν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 4 206.14; ὅταν καὶ ἤμουν αὐτόθι id., Logos 31 826.9 ἤμουν παιδὶν GLYKAS, Stichoi 1 εἰς κόσμον ἤμουν Log. parig. L 336 οὐδὲ ἦμουν ἐκεῖ (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 23.152) νὰ ἦμουν οἰκοδεσπότης Ptoch. III 160; ἐὰν/ἄν ἦμουν ibid. 165, 176 and 181 ἦμουν μέγας μάστορος Assizes B 343.28 ἦμουν καὶ ἐγὼ Liv. V 47 and Liv. α 45; γνώρισε, ἦμουν χωρικός Liv. V 442 and Liv. α 514; ἄθρωπος ἦμουν μέγας Liv. α 111 λίθος ἀμάδα ἦμουν Liv. E 3327 ἦμουν διὰ παραδιαβασμὸν Florios 772 οὐδὲν ἦμουν μαθημένος SACHLIKIS, Afigisis 278 transcr. (Lendari) εἰς ζάλην ἦμουν δυνατήν Pol. Tr. 2918 app. crit. (BV); ἦμουν ibid. 11284 (mss BC)

Written evidence of deletion of final /n/ can be found in texts of south-western provenance and the Aegean (Naxos) from at least the 16th c. onwards (ms date of Pol. Tr., Sachlikis and others):

νὰ μὴ ἴμου ἀγνώριστος Pol. Tr. 2692 app. crit. (R) ἀπόστεν ἴμου κοπελιά SACHLIKIS, Katalogi 53 transcr. (Lendari) πῶς ἴμου πάντοτε ἔτοιμος DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1232 θωρώντα με πῶς ἴμου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 283 καταπῶς ἴμου συνηθισμένος CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 84 χρόνοι ἴναι ὅπου ἴμου στὰ Νησὰ Stathis III. 377 ἴμου κι ἐγὼ παιδί σου Thysia Avr. 908 πῶς, καθῶς ἴμου πρόθυμος FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.66; γιατί ἴμου μανισμένος ibid. III.723 ἴμου παρῶν (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 6, 6.7; and 1660, ibid. 22, 15.9) ἴμου παρῶν (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 2001: 3, 176.16) ὡς νοικοκυρὰ ὅπου ἴμου καὶ ... (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 761, 1032.10–11) ἄθρωπος πλιὸ δὲν ἴμου KORNAROS, Erot. V.1420

Forms with an added -(v)ε or -(v)α (see also I, 2.6.3.3), not uncommon in colloquial MG, can be found from at least the 15th c. (ms date of Ptoch. III and Pol. Tr.). Forms with -(v)ε have been found in south-western texts (Crete, Heptanese, Peloponnese, Santorini), in texts of northern provenance (Ptoch., Thrinosis patr., Diig. Alex. K) and in texts from certain Aegean islands (Chios, Naxos) (cf. 2 sg.):

καταβλαττάς ἄν ἦμουνε Ptoch. III 181 app. crit. (P) ἐδικός σου νὰ ἦμουνε Pol. Tr. 5815 app. crit. (X); ἐντροπισμένος νὰ ἦμουνε ibid. 6886 app. crit. (X) φυλακισμένος ἦμουνε Rim. than. 91 ἄν ἦμουνε αἰτία Apoll. Rim. V 1700 πολεμιστής δεν ἦμουνε πατρώθεν AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 65.13 ἀπ' ὄντεν ἦμουνε χρονῶν δέκα (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 218.19) διότις ἦμουνε βέβαιος (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.32) ἐάνισως καὶ ἦμουνε νὰ ὑγιάνω MOREZINOS, Klini 55.31 ἔξυπν' ἦμουνε CHORTATIS, Katz. II.165; καὶ τίνος ἦμουνε παιδί id., Erof. I.139 δὲν ἦμουνε κάστρον ἐξακουσμένον Thrinosis patr. 59 ἦμουνε μάρτυρας (1620, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 1, 40.100) ἄν ἦμουνε Σίλβιος ἐγὼ SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. A4v.19 ἦμουνε φυλαμένη BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 571.7
 γιατί στὰ πάντα ἦμουνε πολλὰ χαριτωμένος PETRITSIS, Dig. O 432; ὅταν μικρὸ παιδί ἴμουνε ibid. 1480 ἦμουνε καὶ πρεζέντε (1670, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 31, 388.11–12)

Forms with -(ν)α appear mainly in texts of south-western provenance, with the exception of a single instance in Diig. Alex. K, which is thought to be of northern provenance, and in Dig. O (Chios):

ὅτι ἐδικός σου νά ἤμουνα Pol. Tr. 5815 (ms C); ἐντροπιασμένος νά ἤμουνα ibid. 6886 (mss CV) ἐγὼ ἀπ' τ' Ἀνάπλιν ἤμουνα Anon. Naupl. 5 ἤμουνα ἐγγαστρωμένη BERGADIS, Apok. V 426 ποῖος ἤμουνα καὶ ποῦ 'μαι Theseid Prol. P 139; νά 'μουνα ibid. I.102,2 (Follieri) τὴν νύκτα ὄλην ἤμουνα εἰς ἀγρυπνία μεγάλη ZINOS, Vatr. 327 διὰ τ' ἐσένα ἤμουνα πεθαμένος Diig. Alex. K 357.30 ἤμουνα κουτέντος (1573, Ancona, CATALDI PALAU 2000: 2, 388.18) δὲν ἤμουνα ἄξιος MOREZINOS, Klini 28.18 κί' ἤμουνα κοιμισμένη CHORTATSI, Katz. II.162; ὄντεν ἤμουνα μιτσή id., Panor. I.247 app. crit.
 (A)
 ἔτσι νά μὴν ἤμουνα, σὰν εἶμαι Bertoldos 54.32 ἀποθαμένος ἤμουνα (1655, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 178.8) Λήνκος ἄν ἤμουνα κ' ἐγὼ Soummakis, Past. Fid. A4v.20 ἤμουνα στολισμένη Bounialis M., Diig. Pol. 180.18 ἤμουνα πληγωμένος Petritsis, Dig. O 824 ἤμουνα ἄτεκνη (1682, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 8, 185.20)

Sg.	1	ἤμην ἢ ἤμη

The Koine form ἤμην, to be found regularly from the Septuagint onwards (GIGNAC 1981: 402), is sometimes used in the written sources of the LMedG and EMG periods. Most of them, with the exception of texts with clear archaizing tendencies (e.g. Dig. G, T and A, the Chronicle of Cheilas), also have the innovative form ἤμουν, which had emerged fairly recently (see above).

ἤμην δώσοντα (1192, Sicily, RE/ROGNONI 2008: 2, 144.10) ἤμην καθήμενος Dig. G II.139; καὶ ἐξ αὐτῶν ἐγνώρισαν τῶν ἔργων, ὅστις ἤμην ibid. VI.615 ἤμην ὑποληπτική Ptoch. I 68; ἐγὼ δ' ὡς ἤμην νηστικός ibid. 138 καὶ ἄν ἤμην πέτρα Log. parig. L 618 ἄνθρωπος ἤμην μέγας Liv. V 115; ἤμην φυλακισμένος ibid. 2442; ἐκ γένους ἤμην εὐγενής ibid. 3188 ἤμην Pol. Tr. 8655 app. crit. (AX), 9115 (mss AX) and 11284 app. crit. (A) εἰς τὸ ὀσπίτιν ὅπου ἤμην (1496, Pesaro, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 3, 132.35–6) λίθος ἀδάμας ἤμην Liv. S 2146 (Lambert-van der Kolf); καὶ ὡς ἤμην μυριόθλιβος ibid. 2386 ἤμην γὰρ καὶ ἐγὼ τότε μικρός CHEILAS, Chron. 351.19 ὅστις ἐξ ἔργων ἤμην Dig. T 2444 and Dig. A 3611

The strong tendency of the Cretan dialect to drop final /n/ (see I, 3.7.2.2), even from residual forms in passages cited from older texts (the New Testament in this case), becomes apparent from the following example: ξένος ἤμη, ἀλλὰ ἐσεῖς οὐ συνηγάγετέ με DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2798 app. crit.

Very few (and chronologically quite remote) examples of ἤμον have been found, which can be viewed either as writing mistakes, or as ἤμην in which the ending was replaced with the 1 sg. active ending of the imperfect of barytone verbs (-ον) (MINAS ²2003: 126). In the later examples ἤμον could also be viewed as a hypercorrect form for ἤμουν (see I,

2.8.3); in S. Italy, however, ἤμουν does not appear to be attested (see CARACAUSI, Lex. s.v. εἶμι).¹⁸⁵ ἐγὼ ἤμον ἐνδεδυμένην (1175, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 184, 241.16); ἤμον παρῶν (1659, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 6, 6.6; and 1672, ibid. 50, 30.4).

2nd Person Singular

Sg.	2	ἤσου ἢ ἤσουν ἢ ἤσουνε

The 2 sg. form ἤσουν (now SMG) has not been found in writing before the 13th c., though it is likely to have existed before. Most early works, such as GLYKAS, Stichoi, Log. parig. L and Spaneas V, happen not to have 2 sg. imperfect forms of εἶμαι (though most of them do have 1 sg. ἤμουν). Significantly, no alternative forms have been found in the texts examined: older forms such as ἤσθα and ἤς are not to be found there, not even in the higher-register ones such as Dig. G and Kallimachos; ἤσουν is also the only form given by all EMG grammars, from Sofianos to Spanos. Ἡσουν is held to have been formed from Koine ἤσο; an intermediate form ἤσου, quoted in DIETERICH 1898: 224 and KAPSOMENOS 1953a: 323, occurs in a letter by Ps. Neilos of Ankyra (PG 79, 545B), probably datable to the 6th c., though it must be borne in mind that Neilos of Ankyra has a notoriously problematic text tradition. The latter form has also been found in Nikon of the Black Mountain (11th/12th c.) and two 15th-c. texts. It is perhaps significant that all three texts are of northern provenance (see I, 2.5.4 for raising of /o/ to [u]).

ὅταν καὶ ἤσου ὤδε NIKON, Logos 23 682.15; ἐὰν ἤσου σιμά μου id., 26 718.22 ποῦ ἤσου; (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 1869); but also: ποῦ ἤσουν; (ibid. 438) οὐδὲν ἤσου ἀπογραμμένους (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 79.13)

Final /n/ is likely to have been added on the basis of ἤμην/ἤμουν. Some early examples are:

καθὼς ἤσουν (1237, Arta, BARIŠIĆ 1966: [1], 2.6) καὶ σὺ ἤσουν ματσουκάτος Ptoch. I 68 ἂν ἤσουν γὰρ εἰς τὸν Μορέαν ἐκεῖ ὅπου ἤσουν ἀφέντης Chron. Mor. H 4226 καὶ οὐκ ἤσουν ἐκ τὸ χῶμαν Liv. V 233; ὡς οὐκ ἤσουν φίλος του ibid. 336 καὶ ἤσουν σπορὰ ἐκ τὸ σίδερον Liv. α 248; τὸ πῶς οὐκ ἤσουν δοῦλος του ibid. 368 φίλος μου ἤσουν ἀκριβὸς Pol. Tr. 4273; ἐσὺ ἤσουν ἡ ἀγάπη μου, ἐσὺ ἤσουν ἡ ψυχὴ μου ibid.
 7206 εἶπέ με πόθεν ἤσουν Florios 767 ἐσὺ ἤσουν τὰ ὀμμάτια μου, ἐσὺ ἤσουν ἡ ψυχὴ μου Chron. Toc. 3390 στήν βίγλαν ἤσουν Katal. 28

From about the 16th c. onwards, renewed deletion of final /n/ occurs in texts from Crete and in Germano's grammar (Chios):

᾿σάν ἤσου, να σε στρέψει Apoll. Rim. A 468 (same in N and E) ἤσου βασιλιὸς παιδί CHORTATIS, Erof. I.141 app. crit. M (Xanthoudidis); σὰν ἤσου μαθημένη id., Katz. I.15
 ἐσὺ ὅπου ἐκτύπας ἤσου; Stathis I.171

¹⁸⁵ This form is also the only form given by BOIATZIS (1813: 71): ἐὰν ἤμον, who also offers a 2 sg. form ἤσον (ibid.; see below).

στήν ξενιτιὰ ὄντεν ἡσου KORNAROS, Erot. I.1836 ἡσου GERMANO, Grammar 96.22 λογιάζω πῶς δὲν ἡσου FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.15 ἄν ἡσου καὶ Χριστιανός BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 405.16

Addition of -(ν)ε (cf. regional MG ἡσούνε; see also I, 2.6.3.3) can be found mainly in texts from south-western areas from at least the 15th c. onwards (cf. 1 sg.):

ἄν ἡσούνε ξενούτσικη Poulol. 453 (Constantinople, copied in Rhodes?)
 ἡσούνε πουτάνα καὶ μεθύστρα Fyll. gadar. 509 οπού ᾽σούνε το φῶς μου Apoll. Rim. V 1464 and Apoll. Rim. A 1462 (same in N and E) γύρισε ἐκεῖ ἀπού ἡσούνε MOREZINOS, Klini 191.18 ποῦσούνε εὐμορφον παλληκάρι ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Voev. 261 μετ' αὐτῇ ᾽σούνε CHORTATSIS, Panor. I.305; ἡσούνε βοηθός μου ibid. II.535; κὶ ὡς ἡσούνε πᾶσα καιρό id., Erof. Interim. I.83 κὶ ἐσύ ᾽σούνε Thysia Avr. 378; ἡσούνε τ' ἀπακούμπιο μου ibid. 768 ἐσύ ὡς μανισμένος ὅπου ἡσούνε (1623, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 429, 403.17) ἄν ἡσούνε ζωντανός Bertoldin. 130.12; ἡσούνε ἐσύ ibid. 156.6
 σὰ νὰ ᾽σούνε παιδί μου FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.70; ἄξος ᾽σούνε, νὰ ζήσης ibid. I.103 ἡσούνε ἀφέντης BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 391.12 ἐσύ ᾽σούνε τὰ μάτια μου, ἐσύ ἡσούνε τὸ φῶς μου KORNAROS, Erot. III.105 πῶς ἡσούνε KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.657

Addition of -(ν)α, as in the colloquial MG form ἡσούνα, has not been found before the later 17th c.: imouna, iqouna, itané, imounamé, isounasté, itoné SPON, Voyage 318–19.¹⁸⁶

Sg.	2	ἡσον

The Koine form ἦσο has not been found in the texts examined, but there is an instance of a form ἡσον in the Lavra version of Varlaam and Ioasaph, which could, however, also be viewed as a hypercorrection of ἡσουν (see I, 2.8.3):¹⁸⁷ οπού ἡσον αὐθέτης Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras).

1st Person Plural

Pl.	1	ἡμεθα ἢ ἡμεθαν ἢ ἡμενθα

The ending -μεθα, attested with the imperfect from the Septuagint and the New Testament onwards, is quite rare in LMedG texts and absent from EMG ones. Since no alternative endings have been found before the 15th c., it must be assumed that it was in use at the beginning of the LMedG period, even though the evidence is scarce. It is also the form prescribed by the more conservative EMG grammars (Sofianos, Spanos), where less conservative grammars (Germano, Romanos) give innovative forms (see below).

¹⁸⁶The form also occurs in a late 18th-c. Zakynthian comedy: μὶ ῥ' στὰ φεστίνια ἡσούνα κὸν βιόλα ἀλὰ σόνα Gouzelis, O Chasis I.85 (ed. Synadinou) and ποῦ ᾽σούνα ibid. I.87.

¹⁸⁷This form also in ΒΟΙΑΤΖΙΣ (1813: 71): ἡσον, who also offers the above-mentioned 1 sg. form ἦμον (ibid.).

τῆς δικαιοσύνης ἤμεθα φίλοι Hist. Imp. I 782 ποτέ δὲν ἤμεθα τέτοιαις λογῆς ἀνθρώποι CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1889 app. crit. (M) ἤμεθα SOFIANOS, Grammar 71.10

ἤμεθα SPANOS, Grammar 42.7

Addition of final /n/, probably influenced by the innovative form ἤμεθεν (see below), can occasionally be found: ὅταν ἤμεθαν Poulol. 535 app. crit. (E); ὅλοι ἤμεθαν εἰς θάνατον Pol. Tr. 7267 app. crit. (X).

With an added nasal (for which see I, 3.5.2.4) the ending occurs in the so-called Greek Laws of Cyprus: ἤμενθα ἀμφοτέροι συνανοῦντες (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 31.61). This may perhaps be viewed as a “learned” spelling hiding the Cypriot ending -μεθθα (see 4.1.1.2; see also I, 3.4.2.5).

Pl.	1	ἤμεθεν ἢ ἤμεθον

The ending -μεθεν can be found in texts from northern and south-western areas, from at least the 15th c. (ms date of Liv. V) until the 16th c. (ms dates of Poulol.), after which it apparently falls into disuse (cf. 4.1.1.2 and 4.3.1.2; see also the present of εἶμαι, 4.8.1, with which the ending is attested more frequently):

ἤμεθεν γοῦν οἱ δύο μας Liv. V 3008 οὐκ ἤμεθεν ἀντάμα Pol. Tr. 4355 (mss AX); ὅλοι ἤμεθεν εἰς θάνατον ibid. 7267 app. crit. (C) εἰ μὲν ἤμεθεν οἱ πάντες ERMON., Ilias 15.220 app. crit. (PC) ἤμεθεν καὶ ἐξ ἀρχῆς δοῦλοι τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ σου Chron. Toc. 2714 (spelled εἶμεθεν in the ed.)

ἤμεθεν Poulol. 535 and 536

The following form appears in a letter found in the Vatopedi archives: ἐὰν οὐδὲν ἤμεθον τέτοιοι δουλωτικοί (1348?, Macedonia, LEFORT et al. 2006: 101, 229.8). It is either the result of a writing mistake (ἤμεθον for ἤμεθεν; there are a few more writing mistakes in this document), or it is a predecessor of ἤμεστον and ἤμαστον (see below). If the form is valid, it does illustrate the tendency in northern varieties of the language to replace the final syllable of 1 pl. and 2 pl. endings of the imperfect with /on/ (cf. 2 pl. ἤσαστον below; see also barytone verbs, 4.3.1.2).

Pl.	1	ἤμεστε(ν) ἢ ἤμεσθε(ν) ἢ ἤμεστον

The ending -μεστε(ν) and its written variant -μεσθε(ν), rarer for the imperfect than for the present (see 4.8.1), are found from the 15th c. onwards in texts from various regions, with and without final /n/:

εἰ μὲν ἤμεσθεν οἱ πάντες ERMON., Ilias 15.220 (reading of ms L) οἱ τέσσαροί μας ἤμεσθεν, ἄλλος κανεῖς δὲν ἦτον Anon. Naupl. 55 (spelled εἶμεσθεν in the ed.)

πολλοὺς χρόνους ἤμεστε εἰς αἰχμαλωσίαν Diig. Alex. F 222.5 (Lolos) (spelled εἶμεστε in the ed.)

τόσον καιρὸν ὅπου ἤμεστέν ἀντάμα DAM. SToud., This., Logos 19, σ5r.20 (1561) ἤμεστέν GERMANO, Grammar 96.23

ἤμεσθεν PORTIUS, Grammar 41.17 ἤμεσθε ROMANOS, Grammar 57.10

δὲν ἤμεστέν πλέα διὰ νὰ περάσωμεν (1658, Galats, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 20, 125.19–20)

With substitution of /o/ for /e/ in the last syllable, the form appears in the History of Wallachia by Matthaïos of Myra, who was from Epirus and lived in Wallachia. The morpheme /on/ in 1 pl. and 2 pl. endings appears to be a feature of northern local varieties (cf. ἤμεθον (above), ἤμαστον (below); see also barytone verbs, 4.3.1.2):¹⁸⁸ καλὸν ἦτον νὰ ἤμεστον ὅλοι ἀποθαμμένοι ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 2455.

Pl.	1	ἤμεστα(ν) ἢ ἤμεσθα(ν) ἢ ἤμεστανε ἢ ἤμισταν

The ending -μεστα(ν) and its more formal variant -μεσθα(ν) (see I, 3.8.1) are attested from the 15th/16th c. onwards, with and without final /n/, in texts from southern regions and in texts of unknown provenance (for a discussion see 4.1.1.2):

ἤμεσθα γοῦν ἀμφοτέρωι μέχρι μεσονυκτίου Velth. 899 (Cupane) ποτέ δὲν ἤμεσταν ἔτοιμας λογῆς ἀνθρώποι CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1889 app. crit. (B) καλλιὸν νὰ ἤμεσταν ἀποθαμένοι VOUSTR., Chron. A 142.13–14 ἤμεσταν πεθαμένοι Imb. Rim. 158; ἀτοί μας μετὰ τὰ χέρια μας ἤμεσταν σκοτωμένοι ibid. 160 ὄντεν ἤμεσταν (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 53, 56.12) ἀποδεκεῖ ἤμεστα ... μισεμένες CHORTATISIS, Panor. II.424; ἀπόσταν ἤμεστα παιδάκια id., Erof. I.116; μιὰς μάνας ἤμεστα παιδιά ibid. III.276 ᾿ς τοῦτο τὸ σπῆτι ἤμεστα τὴν ὥρα ὅπου ἔστειλέ με Stathis III.85 ἤμεσταν ντεσπεράδοι (1604–5, Cythera, MAVROEIDI 1978: 146.17) ἐκεῖ ὅπου ἤμεσταν σκλάβοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 142.25 δέκά ἤμεσταν κ' ἐκεῖνοι δυὸ KORNAROS, Erot. I.617 (reading of A) ὡσάν νὰ ἤμεσθαν Don Kis. 166.21

With addition of -(ν)ε this form occurs in Chortatsis, but it is likely to have had a wider distribution (cf. 1 pl. pres. 4.8.1, and see also I, 2.6.3): γιὰτ' ἤμεστανε δίχως σου περισσὰ πρικομένες CHORTATISIS, Erof. Interm. I.126.

The following form was found in a document from Cyprus: ἐμεῖς ἤμισταν (1605, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1959: 33, 37.6), a phonetic variant of ἤμεσταν, with non-regular raising of /e/ to [i] (see I, 2.5.4).

Pl.	1	ἤμαστε(ν) ἢ ἤμασθε(ν) ἢ ἤμαστενε

The form ἤμαστε(ν) and its written variant ἤμασθε(ν), in its form ἤμαστε one of the common SMG forms, appears in texts from south-western areas and in texts of unknown provenance from the 15th c. onwards (ms date of Liv. E). According to MINAS (1987a: 25), following MEYER 1889: 197, it derives from -μεστα through inversion of the vowels /a/ and /e/. As appears to be the case with quite a few other passive endings (e.g. 1 sg. -μουν, 2 pl. -σουν), the 1 pl. postverbal clitic pronoun μας may have played an associative role (cf. also ἦσαστε for ἦστε, below):

καὶ ἤμασθε κοπιασμένοι Liv. E 2679; ἤμασθεν κοπιασμένοι ibid. 4112 ἤμασθεν ὀλομόναχοι Liv. S 2083 (Lambert-van der Kolf) πόσην χαρὰν νὰ εἶχαμεν ἂν ἤμασταν οἱ δύο Florios 1673 app. crit. (V) εἰ μὲν ἐμείναμε ὥσπερ ἤμασταν (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 243, 147.17)

¹⁸⁸ The form ἤμεσθον is also the only form given by ΒΟΙΑΤΖΙΣ (1813: 71): ἐὰν ἤμεσθον wenn wir wären.

ποτέ δὲν ἤμασταν τοιοῦτοι CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1889 app. crit. (M) γιατί ἂ δὲν τὰ τρώγαμε ἤμαστ' ἀποθαμένοι Alex. Rim. 906 τοιούτης λογῆς ἤμασταν τότε IER. ANVATIOS, Diig. Seismou 333.9 κι' ἤμαστε γυρεμένες CHORTATIS, Katz. III.310; ἤμαστε στο κυνήγι id., Panor. II.129 ὄντας ἤμαστε ἀντίπερα στὴ Ντία Stathis I.260; ὄντας ἤμαστε καὶ στὸ Κελλί ibid. III.315 ὥσαν ἤμασθεν μαθημένοι Alex. Fyll. 73.30; ὥσπερ νὰ ἤμασθεν ἀθάνατοι ibid. 114.32–3 δέκα ἤμαστε κ' ἐκεῖνοι δυό KORNAROS, Erot. I.617 app. crit. (X) ἤμασταν ἀπ' ὅλους δοξασμένες KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.601

With an added -(ν)ε the form appears in a document from Nauplion (author originally from Athens), but it is likely to have had a wider geographical spread (cf. 1 pl. pres.; see also I, 2.6.3): ὄντας ἤμασταν εἰς τὰ ξένα χέρια (1712, Nauplion, ΛΙΑΤΑ 1998b: 232.19).

Pl.	1	ἤμαστον ἢ ἤμασθον ἢ ἤμαστουν

The form ἤμαστον and its more formal-looking variant ἤμασθον have been found in 16th- and 17th-c. texts from northern regions (Thrace, Macedonia) (cf. the same ending with barytone verbs, 4.3.1.2); there is also a single instance in a document from Kefalonia. According to MINAS (1987a: 41–2) this ending is derived from -μαστε with substitution of /o/ for /e/ by analogy with 3 pl. -οντο(ν), but that seems unlikely given the fact that the ending -μαστε had a rather different geographical distribution. Though the textual evidence is scarce, it is more likely to have been formed on the basis of the northern variant ἤμεστον (see above), with substitution of /a/ for /e/ by association with the 1 pl. weak personal pronoun μας. In the period covered by this Grammar the morpheme /on/ in 1 pl. and 2 pl. endings appears to be a feature of northern local varieties (cf. ἤμεθον and ἤμεστον (above) and ἤσαστον (below)).

καὶ ἤμασθον εἰς πολλοὺς χρόνους αἰχμάλωτοι Diig. Alex. K 346.27 δὲν ἤμαστον καταπατητάδες Pent. Gen. 42.31 (εἴμαστον in the ed.)¹⁸⁹ ἤμαστον πτωχοὶ ἀπὸ καλὰ ἔργα DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 2, α7ν.34 (1561); καὶ ἡμεῖς ὡς μικροὶ ὅπου ἤμαστον τότε ibid., Logos 19, σ5ε.32 νὰ ἤμαστον ὀμπλιγάδοι (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 116, 81.10) καλὸν ἦτον νὰ ἤμαστον ὅλοι ἀποθαμένοι PAPASYNAD., Chron. Proem. 79

The same form with /u/ for /o/ in the last syllable due to back-vowel raising (see I, 2.8.3 for details) can be found in the grammar of Kritopoulos (17th c., author from Veroia, Macedonia): ἤμαστουν KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 112.28.

Pl.	1	ἤμασταν ἢ ἤμασθαν

The form ἤμασταν (now one of the SMG forms) and its written variant ἤμασθαν appear, though not very frequently, from the 16th c. onwards in documents from Crete and in Liv.

¹⁸⁹ The form was perhaps intended to be a present indicative, given that the Septuagint has a present indicative here: οὐκ ἔσμεν κατάσκοποι; cf. however, δὲν ἦτον οἱ σκλάβοι σου καταπατητάδες Pent. Gen. 42.11, where the present indicative of the Septuagint, οὐκ εἰσὶν οἱ παῖδες σου κατάσκοποι, is also rendered as an imperfect. The Hebrew Torah, of which the Constantinopolitan Pentateuch is a translation, has a past tense in this passage (Julia Krivoruchko, personal communication).

S, which perhaps had a Cretan background (AGAPITOS 2006: 73). It was also found once in Kallioupolis's Kaini Diathiki. It is likely that north and south arrived at this form from two different directions: ἤμαστέν in the case of the southern texts and ἤμαστον in the case of Kallioupolis, who was of northern provenance, with substitution of the “past”-marker /a/ for /e/ and /o/ respectively:

καὶ ἤμασθαν κοπιασμένοι Liv. S 1531 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ἤμασταν κοτέντοι (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 6, 7.22 and 12, 14.23); ἤμασταν σατισφάδοι (ibid. 72, 70.7 and 218, 217.7); καὶ δὲν ἤμασταν ἐκεῖ (ibid. 218, 217.13) ἂν ἤμασταν ἐμεῖς KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 23.30

Pl.	1	imouname (ἤμουνάμε?/ἤμουνάμε?)

This form has been recorded, without stress notation and in Latin script, by the French traveller Jacob Spon during his travels to Greece and the Levant in 1675–6. Since his Greek is generally correct (not counting the odd mistake and “French” stress notation), there is no reason to assume that the form is not genuine (cf. the similar 2 pl. form isounaste (ἥσουναστε?/ἥσουνάστε?) below). Unfortunately it is impossible to establish in which part of the area he came across these forms: he travelled a large area covering the Heptanese and the Peloponnese, Leivadia, Athens, various islands in the Aegean, Constantinople and parts of Asia Minor, though we can be fairly certain he did not visit the northern mainland, Crete or Cyprus. If these forms are indeed valid, the most likely candidate would perhaps be Asia Minor, an area for which sources are scarce and for which there is little corroborating evidence from modern dialects. This 1 pl. form clearly consists of the singular form ἤμουνα, with an added (active!) 1 pl. ending -αμε. Spon gives the following forms for the imperfect: imouna, içouna, itané, imounamé, isounasté, itoné (SPON, Voyage 318–19).

2nd Person Plural

Pl.	2	ἦστέ ἢ ὦσθε ἢ ὦστέν ἢ ὦσθεν ἢ ὦστένε

The normal form for 2 pl. in post-classical times is ἦτε, which continues to be used in high-register works well into the EMG period. A new formation ἦστέ/ὦσθε, homophonous with its present counterpart εἶστέ/εἶσθε, is attested in writing from the 14th c. onwards, but due to lack of evidence, 2 pl. generally being rare in texts, it is impossible to establish when this form came into being.¹⁹⁰ καθὼς ἦστέ καὶ πρῶτα Chron. Mor. H 4249 καὶ μετ' ἐμὲν οὐκ ὦσθε Dig. E 1749 καὶ ἦστέ κρατούμενοι τοῦ ὄρκου του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 474.37 ὁποῦ ἦστέ εἰς τὸν κόσμον ὠραιότατοι Alex. Fyll. 72.15 ὦσθε SOFIANOS, Grammar 71.10, GERMANO, Grammar 96.23 and ROMANOS, Grammar 57.10 ἦστέ ἢ ὦσαστε SPANOS, Grammar 42.7

Addition of final /n/ is not very common, but is perhaps a Heptanesian feature: ὁποῦ ἦστέν τῷ καιρῷ ἐκείνῳ Diig. Alex. F 204.15 (Lolos) and Diig. Alex. V 59.12; ὁποῦ ἦστέν εἰς τὸν καιρὸν ἐκεῖνον Diig. Alex. E (Lolos) (spelled εἶσταν); ἄν ἔλειπε ὁ Ταγιαπιέρας, | ἦσταν ὅλοι τῆς κακῆώρας TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 267–8.

¹⁹⁰ It is unlikely to be connected to the AG variant form ὦστέ, which can only be found in a handful of Attic writers and never appears to have become mainstream.

Addition of -(ν)ε was found in Evgena and Soumakis's Rebelio (Heptanese), but is likely to have a broader geographical spread in the EMG period (see I, 2.6.3 for details): ἦστανε φιδέλοι καὶ οἱ дуὸ σας MONTSEL., Evgena 557 (Spadaro); ποῦ ἦστανε καὶ δὲν ἐρχόστανε SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 57.1 (spelled εἶστανε in both editions).

Pl.	2	ἦσταν

With substitution of the past-tense marker /a/ for /e/ in the last syllable this form has been found in texts of northern provenance, from the 16th c. onwards:¹⁹¹ ἄν καὶ πένητες καὶ πτωχοὶ ἦσταν DAM. STOUD., Dial. 94.2–3 ποῦ ὕσαν πατριαρχεῖα Thrinios patr. M 76 (scribe from Ioannina) ἄν ἦσταν παιδία τοῦ Ἀβραάμ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 8.39; ἄν ἦσταν τυφλοὶ ibid. 9.41; ἄν ἦσταν ἀπὸ τὸν κόσμον ibid. 15.19 τί ἦσταν ἐσεῖς καὶ τὸν ἐπιάσετε καὶ τὸν ἐκάμετε τόσα σιασέτια; Βοϊβοτάδες ἦσταν, μητροπολιτάδες ἦσταν, κατῆδες ἦσταν, σπαχῆδες ἦσταν, ζαπίτηδες ἦσταν, τί ἦσταν καὶ ἐκάμετε εἰς αὐτὸν τόσα κακά PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.203–5; ἀμὴ ἄν ἦσταν μεγάλοι ἄνθρωποι τί ἐκάμετε; ibid. I §36.232

Pl.	2	ἦστον

With /o/ for /e/ in the last syllable this form has been found in Thrinios Kyprou (16th- or 17th-c. text, early 18th-c. ms): ἦστον εἰς τὰ ξένα Thrinios Kypr. 546; ἦστον φυλαγμένοι ibid. 893.¹⁹²

Pl.	2	ἦσαστε ἦσαστον ἦσαστουν

The form ἦσαστε, now the regular SMG form, appears to have come into being quite late, as it was only found in the 1749 grammar of Kanellos Spanos (Peloponnese). It is likely to have been formed by analogy with 1 pl. ἤμαστε, whereby a certain influence by association of the weak personal pronouns μας and σας may be suspected: ἦστε ἢ ἦσαστε SPANOS, Grammar 42.7.

A form ἦσαστον was found in the 16th-c. Pentateuch (printed in Constantinople, author's provenance unknown). It is likely to have been formed on the basis of the northern variant for 1 pl., ἤμαστον (see above); association with the 1 pl. and 2 pl. weak personal pronouns μας and σας may, again, have played a role. The same form with [u] for [o] in the final syllable (the result of back-vowel raising, for which see I, 2.8.3) can be found in the grammar of Kritopoulos (17th c., author from Veroia, Macedonia): ἦσαστον Pent. Exod. 22.20 and 23.9; ἦσαστουν KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 112.28.

¹⁹¹ A variant ἦσθανε, with an added -ε, in the late 18th-c. Phanariot comedy Ἀλεξανδροβόδας ὁ ἀσυνειδητος by Georgios Soutsos: ἄν δὲν ἦσθανε διαβασμένος Soutsos, Alexandrovdas 40.2 (ed. Spathis).

¹⁹² The form can also be found in the early 19th-c. Romanic, or Macedono-Vlachic Grammar of Michail Boiatzis: ἔάν ἦσθον (BOIATZIS 1813: 71). One instance in Kallioupolis (1 Kor. 6.11) is likely to be a typographical error, as he normally uses ἦσταν.

The SMG form ἡσασταν has not been found in the texts examined.

Pl.	2	isounasté (ἡσουνάστε?/ἡσουνάστε?)

This form has been recorded, in the Latin alphabet, by the French traveller Jacob Spon during his travels to Greece and the Levant in 1675–6. It consists of the 2 sg. form ἡσounα, with an added 2 pl. passive ending -στε: imouna, icouna, itané, imounamé, isounasté, itoné SPON, Voyage 318–19. For discussion see 1 pl. imounamé, above.

3rd Person Singular and Plural

Sg.	3	ῆτον ἢ το ἢ τονε ἢ τονεν ἢ τονα ἔτον
Pl.		ῆτον ἢ τονε ἢ τονες ἔτον

At the beginning of the LMedG period, the inherited form ῆτο(ν) is the normal form for 3 sg.¹⁹³ Its geographical spread is wider with than without final /n/, appearing in texts from all regions throughout the LMedG and EMG periods. For the plural it can be found from the 15th c. onwards, in texts from both northern and southern areas. Many texts of the 15th c. and later use ῆτον/ῆτονε only for the singular but not for the plural, for which they employ ῆσαν/ῆσανε and/or ῆταν/ῆτανε; to name just a few: Dig. E, the Romances, most Alexanders (all but the Fyllada), Diig. Apoll. and all versions of Apoll. Rim., Kartanos, Noukios, Dig. O, the grammars of Sofianos, Germano and Romanos, and most Cretans (with the notable exception of Bounialis). Other texts use the form for both the singular and the plural (e.g. Machairas, Voustronios, most versions of the Life of Aesop, Alex. Fyll., Bertoldos and Bertoldinos, Ioakeim Kyprios, Bounialis, Don Kis.). Some representative examples are:

Singular

εἰς ποῖαν ῆτον εἰς τὰ τοιαῦτα ἀπροσπάθειαν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 118.16–17 ποῦ ῆτον εἰς τὸ κάθισμαν Ptoch. IV 48; καθὰ ῆτον φουσκωμένη ibid. 220 ῆτον πρώτη σύμβια Chron. Mor. H 8004 ῆτον ὁ καβελάρης Dig. E 43 (Jeffreys) ῆτον ἀμπέλι ριζωτὸν Liv. α 2627 ῆτον ἐν τούτοις, ἔχαιρεν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 860 ῆτον πολλὰ ἴμορφουλί FALIEROS, Erot. En. 14 ἦτον τόσον κρουδέλ VOUSTR., Chron. A 18.7 ῆτον SOFIANOS, Grammar 71.10; φρόνιμος ῆτον ὁ Εὐριπίδης id., Paidag. 95.15 ἦ πρώτη σου γυναῖκα ῆτον πουτάνα Alex. V 33.24 ῆτον γενάμενη (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 21, 33.10) ῆτον ταβέρνα (1601, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 31, 111.2) ποιόν ῆτον τὸ κοπέλι αὐτό; CHORTATIS, Katz. III.55; κ' ῆτον τὸ γέλιο του σκληρό id., Erof. V.61 ῆτον δὲ καὶ κατὰ πολλὰ ἄσχημος Vios Aisop. K 147.7
 καὶ ῆτον ἄνθρωπος καλὸς PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §1.19–20 ¹⁹³ First attestations of ῆτο(ν) can be found in an undated Roman inscription in Rome (πατρὶς δέ μοι ῆτον Ἀπαμέα (CIG 6267; see also DIETERICH 1898: 224–5), and in ἄρά ποτε ὦδε πόλις ῆτο; Oracula Tiburtina 200 (4th c. AD, see the online TLG).

κ' ἦτον ζημιὰ μεγάλη BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 154.10 όπου ἦτον εἰς τὸ ἀργαστήρι (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 580, 805.12) δεν ἦτον καιρός να φάγει Don Kis. 47.26

Plural

ἦτον κομάτια μικρά (15th. c., Cyprus, SCHREINER 1975/79: 28.I, 208.1.4) ἦτον ορισμένοι VOUSTR., Chron. A 60.17 οἱ καμουχάδες ἦτον ὁλόχρυσοι Diig. Alex. Sem. S 809 τὰ δένδρη ἦτον λουλούδια γιομάτα Vosk. 142 app. crit. ἦτον γαλιότσες 6 καὶ κάτεργα λιγνὰ 47 (17th c., Lefkada, TSILIMINGRA 1955: I.2, 72.2–3) ἦτον ἀκόμη ... χόρτα εὐμορφα MAKOLAS, Ioust. 427.8
 ὅσοι ἀνθρῶποι ἦτον ὅξω (1650, Santorini, ZERLENDIS 1922: (1), p. 28.5) καὶ τὰ ἐπιλοιπα ἦτον φ'λάδες (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 304, f.1v.5) (= φυλλάδες) οἱ ὁμορφιές τση ἦτον πολλές KORNAROS, Erot. I.62 app. crit. (A) (ἦταν in ms X; ἦσαν in ed.)
 σαράντα ανεμομύλους οπου ἦτον εἰς ἐκείνον τον κάμπον Don Kis. 44.27–8

Without final /n/ this form is far more common for the singular than it is for the plural. It has a strong representation in texts from Crete, but it can also be found in texts from other areas (Diig. Alex. K (northern?), Dig. O (Chios), VOUSTR., Chron. A and B (Cyprus)) and in texts of unknown provenance (Alex. Fyll., Diig. Alex. V), most of them texts that do not usually use ἦτον for the plural anyway (see above). In the Chronicle of Machairas ἦτο appears only before words starting in a nasal or a stop, for phonological reasons (see I, 3.7.2.2).¹⁹⁴

Singular

καὶ ἐκεῖνος ἦτο ἐγλήγορος Dig. E 767 ἦτο νὰ τοὺς νώσουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 238.28 καὶ ἦτο τοῦ σῖρ Χαρρήν τε Ζιπλέτ ibid. 242.2
 το παλάτι του ἦτο πολλὰ μέγα Diig. Alex. K 375.14 τόσον ἦτο ἔμορφος Diig. Alex. V 33.1–2 κ' ἦτο χαρά μεγάλη Apoll. Rim. N 1611 εἶδα χρονῶν ὀλίγων ἦτο, νέος Diig. Alex. F 150.18 (Lolos) ἂν ἦτο μπορετό CHORTATIS, Katz. I.305; νὰ ἦτο βολετό ibid. III.439 τοῦτος ὁ σκύλος ἦτο ἀπού κοιμᾶτον Pist. voskos II 2.260–1 ἦτο καὶ βασιλιός μου TROILLOS, Rodol. I.616 ὡς τώρα ἦτο σπασμένη FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.231; καὶ τ' ὄνομα τοῦ κοπελιοῦ πῶς ἦτο; ibid. IV.541 ὅποιος ἦτο γνωστικός PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2458 κι ὅλ' ἡ ἀρμάδα ἦτο κεῖ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 206.23 σὰν ἦτο κυνηγάρης KORNAROS, Erot. I.108; γιὰ μέναν ἦτο τοῦτο ibid. I.880 τὸ νερόν της ἦτο γλυκὺ Alex. Fyll. 70.23

Plural

τα ποῖα ὅσα ἐλαλούσαν ... ἦτο ψέματα VOUSTR., Chron. A 302.20 ¹⁹⁴In many modern editions (for instance Chron. Mor. H, Pol. Tr. and many instances in Bounialis) the presence of ἦτο is the result of editorial intervention, by which final /n/ is deleted, usually for metrical reasons).

With addition of -(v)ε, this form is much more common for the singular than it is for the plural. For the singular it can be found in literary texts and documents from south-western areas (Crete, Heptanese, Peloponnese, certain Cycladic islands) and from Chios, areas in which -(v)ε may be added to a variety of verb forms (see I, 2.6.3.3), but, again in the singular, the form ἦτονε also occurs in literary (mainly verse) texts from other areas (e.g. the Cypriot Cypr. Canz., Ioakeim Kyrios, Matthaïos of Myra (Epirus) and Diig. Alex. K., which is thought to be of northern provenance as well). In the plural it appears to have a more limited distribution.

Singular

- ἦτονε* γυναῖκα μου (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.11–12)
κ' ἦτονε τόπος καπερός CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 654 καλὰ κι ἂν ἦτονε γυναῖκα ἀπὸ φύσης Theseid I.10,1 (Follieri) ἦτονε πολλὰ χαριτωμένη Cypr. Canz. 150.24 κάποιοις μάντης ἦτονε ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 39.1 ἦτονε ἐκ τὴν μεγάλην Ἀλβανίτιαν (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 63A, 484.11.2) δεν ἦτονε βασιλική τάξει Diig. Alex. K. 345.14 (hapax) ἦτονε ψηλή (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 215.11) ἦτονε ζητημένος TRIVOLIS, Re Skotsias 28 δὲν ἦτονε ἡ γυναῖκα μου (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 25, 163.16) ἐκεῖνος ἦτονε σκιά ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ ΜΥΡ., Ist. Vlach. 2471; ἂν ἦτονε καλὴ πίστις ibid. 2673 κι' ἄς μὴν ἦτονε ντροπή μου CHORTATIS, Katz. III.477; χάρισμα ἦτονε ἀκριβό id., Erof. I.341 (τὸν τόπο ...) ποῦτονε τῆς συντροφιάς (1634, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 18, 321.8) ἡ ἀφορμὴ ἵν' τῶνε (1644, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1987: 24.7) ἀγάπη το' ἔρωτιάς ἦτονε FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.286 ἦτονε ἀπὸ γένος PETRITSIS, Dig. O 17; ἦτονε πληγωμένη ibid. 1616 ἦτονε Μεχεμέτης ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 5583 ὥσ' ἂν ἦτονε ἱστορομένο νουαριάλε (1683, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1940: 1, 179.3) ἦτονε εἰς τὸ σπῆτιν (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 824, 1108.17) ἦτονε ἀπάνω εἰς τὴ πρύμνη (1695, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 11, 26.23)

Plural

- καὶ ἦτονε πρᾶτσα δέκα ἡμισυ* (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.4) ἦτονε ὄνειροφαντασμάτου (... οἱ παραγγελιῆς) Thysia Avr. 699 οποῦ 'τονε ἀρχόντισσες ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 242; ἦτονε τὰ καράβια ibid. 7535 ἦτονε σαλπάδοι (1667, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 19, 90.14–15) ἦτονε ὁ γέρος Πέτρος Μανάλης καὶ Ἰωάννης Κοζανίτης (1599, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 94, 126.16) ἀμ' ἦτονε χωσμένοι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 153.13

Sporadically ἦτονε can be found with an added final /n/, as in the following 17th-c. copy of a 13th-c. document: ἦτονε διὰκτίσιμον (1296 [17th-c. copy], Crete, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 6: 102, 239.3); or with an added final /s/, as in the following 17th-c. example from Santorini: ἦτονες τὰ πράγματά της ἀπόδιαστα (1689, Santorini, DRAKAKIS 1971: 133.33).

Addition of -(v)α (see I, 2.6.3) can be found sporadically in the singular: ὡς καθὼς ἦτονα ὁ μακαρίτης ὁ κύρης μου (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 5, 365.9) (author from Monemvasia); γιατὶ τρόπος | δὲν ἦτονα Pist. voskos V 7.64.

In the Chronicle of Machairas a form ἔτον for ἦτον occurs twice (sg. and pl.): τοῦ μάστρε Πιέρ Κανὲλ ὅπου ἔτον ἡ ἀφορμὴ τοῦ σκαντάλου MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 182.8; οἱ Σαρακηνοὶ ἔτον χωσμένοι ibid. 190.28. In this form the root /i/ of the verb has been replaced with the augment /e/, probably by analogy with unaugmented imperfect forms of ἔχω, which appear in texts from Cyprus and elsewhere, 3.1.4.4.

Sg.	3	ἦστον ἢ ἔστον
Pl.		ἦστον/εἶστον ἢ ἔστονε/εἶστονε

This unusual form is – if at all – explained as a morphologically hybrid infinitive, as a conflation of the infinitive εἶσταιν (see 4.8.4) and the 3rd person imperfect ἦτον (SIAPKARAS-PITSILLIDÈS 1975: 360 s.v. εἶμαι; JOSEPH 1990: 118). But whereas this form is indeed likely to be a hybrid formation, and εἶσταιν and ἦτον are the obvious candidates, morphologically (an infinitive in -ον would be rather unique) as well as syntactically it does not appear to be an infinitive, but rather a 3rd person imperfect. In the majority of instances found the form appears in 3rd-person conditional constructions with εἶχε and ἦθελε, against only one instance of an unambiguous imperfect (3 sg. in Diig. Alex. F). In the examples from Imberios and the Cypriot Canzoniere, which have a singular subject, it cannot be established whether the construction is εἶχα/ἦθελα + pres. inf. or εἶχε/ἦθελε + imperfect,¹⁹⁵ but the three examples from Bounialis all have plural subjects; therefore ἦθελε cannot but be impersonal, leaving no other choice than to interpret the form ἦστον as finite (given the fact that impersonal auxiliaries cannot normally accompany the infinitive: see 5.1.2.3 and 5.1.4.3). Cf. also the following examples of the same constructions with more recognizable imperfect forms: ὥσά νά εἶχε ἦτονε σαρκικός (1641, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 239, 193.11); τ' ἀμμάτι' ἀπού' χεν ἦτονε ΤΡΟΙΛΟΣ, Rodol. II.193 (3 pl.); ὅαν νά ἔθεν ἦταν ταίρι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2938; εἶχε ἦμουν SPANOS, Grammar 42.12.

The form ἦστον occurs as singular in texts from Cyprus and the Heptanese, whereas with the plural it has only been found in Bounialis (Crete). With /e/ for /i/ in the first syllable it appears in ms R of Machairas and in Istoria Makaritou Markou (cf. the infinitive ἔσταιν for εἶσταιν, 4.8.4, the imperfect ἔτον for ἦτον in Machairas, above, and ἔχα for εἶχα in various texts, 3.1.4.4). There are two examples with addition of -(ν)ε (see also I, 2.6.3.3) in Bounialis, another strong indication that the form is indeed an imperfect, since addition of -(ν)ε to infinitives is rare in general and Bounialis, however fond he clearly is of -(ν)ε, never uses it with the infinitive.

Singular

- ποιὸς πολλὸς ἦθελεν εἶστον Cypr. Canz. 130.15 δὲν ἔθελεν εἶστον ... περίτου ὁμορφον πράμαν Fior 109.6–7 ἐξὸν νά ᾔχέ' στον πέτρινος Imb. Rim. 971 app. crit. ἦστον εἰς ἱατρός ἐνοῦ αὐθεντός Anthos Ch. A 177.14–15 ὁ σφαγμὸς ἦστον εἰς τὰ δύο φουσάτα Diig. Alex. F 250.5–252.1 (Lolos) νά ἦθελε ἦστον δικιολογημένη (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 20, 32.10)

¹⁹⁵ For impersonal use of εἶχε in periphrastic tenses see 5.2.2.4 and 5.3.1.7.

ώσγοίον νά εἶχεν ἔστον ἄρνιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 345.36 ἄν εἶχεν ἔστον ἄδικος KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 542

Plural

σά νά μήν ἤθελέ 'στονε ἐκεῖ ποτέ κτισμένα BOUNIALIS M., Diig.Pol. 330.5; σάν νά 'θελέ 'στον ἄλλοι ibid. 413.22; κι ἄν ἤθελέ 'στονε πολλοί ibid. 542.22

Pl.	3	ἦστα(ν)

With /a/ in the last syllable and deletion of final /n/ for metrical reasons, the form (pl.) has been found in Vasileios Vatatsis's Itinerary (18th c.), a text of northern provenance (author from Constantinople). This form is more common for 2 pl. (see above): πάντες ὅσοι στά 'κεῖσε / πάντες ὅσ' ἦστα 'κεῖσε VATATSI, Periig. II 426.

Pl.	3	ἦσαν ἢ ἦσα ἢ ἦσανε ἢ ἦσανι

The inherited 3 pl. form ἦσαν is used throughout the LMedG and EMG periods in a variety of texts:¹⁹⁶ ὑπὸ τὴν ἐξουσίαν ἦσαν τοῦ κατὰ καιρὸν ἡγουμένου ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 154.21–2 ἐὰν ἦσαν περισσὰ θρύμματα Ptoch. IV 391 τὸ κοινὸν ποῦ ἦσαν ἐκεῖ Chron. Mor. H 352 (for number agreement according to sense see IV, 1.1.1) ὁποῦ 'σαν στὸ σεντούκιν Byz. II. 320 ἦσαν κλέφτες MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 60.10 οὐκ ἦσαν ἐμένα ποτέ (1509, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 11, 19.11) οἱ ὅποιοι σύντιχοι ἦσαν (1513, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: (a), 217.11) ὅτι ἦσαν ἄγρια (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 341.35) εἰς τὸν τόπον ὅπου ἦσαν τὰ प्रायύματα (1548, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 2, 38.11)

 ἦταν καὶ ἦσαν GERMANO, Grammar 96.23 πολλοὶ λεπροὶ ἦσαν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 4.27 ἦσαν ὅλα γεμάτα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 635 ἦσαν τῆς μακαρίτισσας (1688, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 119, 325.3) οἱ ὅποιοι ἦσαν συντρόφοι (1691, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/Tsourka-PAPASTATHI 1974: 19, 13.7) οἱ ἄρχοντες ἦσαν ὀλίγοι SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 40.6

Deletion of final /n/ can sometimes be found in verse texts from Crete and the Heptanese, often to accommodate the metre or the rhyme:¹⁹⁷

ἦσα γυμνά τὰ χέρια του Liv. E 1046 καὶ μετὰ 'κείνον ἦσα Apoll. Rim. N 486 καὶ τρεῖς ἀκόμη ἦσα Alex. Rim. 2579 (rhymes with ἴσα)

¹⁹⁶ The following sole example of ἦσαν(ε) used for the singular is most likely to be a writing mistake or a case of confusion of singular and plural forms (given the fact that Ioakeim shows extraordinary morphological variety and uses just about every possible form of εἶμαι): ἐκεῖνος ποῦ 'σανε ποτέ φίλος καὶ ἀδελφός τους ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 4086.

¹⁹⁷ Often the form without final /n/ is actually the result of intervention of the modern editor, as in the following example: παρὰ νά ἦσαν ὀλιγώτεροι Chron. Mor. H 4724 ms, where the editor corrects to παρὰ νά ἦσα ὀλιγώτεροι to remedy the hypermetric first hemistich.

κι ωσά χρυσάφι ήσα ξαθά CHORTATIS, Panor. III.151 (reading of ms D) χίλιοι άν ήσα Stathis III.225 (rhymes with περίσσα) γιατί δέν ήσα πράτικοι FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.155

Addition of -(ν)ε occurs from at least the 15th c. onwards, in non-literary texts from south-western areas, though in verse texts, the extra syllable being convenient to accommodate the metre, it appears in other areas as well (for -(ν)ε see also I, 2.6.3):

δέν ήσανε εις μία όπινιόν (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 44.11) ήσανε περαταρές (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 37.II, 300.13.3) διότις ήσανε γυμνοί Alex. Rim. 1908 ήσανε σκορπιοί μεγάλοι Diig. Alex. K 377.8 (hapax) δέν ήσανε όλιγοί ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1568 έτσι φευγάτοι που 'σανε VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 327 τούς Τούρκους, όπου ήσανε μέσα (16th c., Constantinople, SCHREINER 1975/79: 63A, 484.10.2–3) (scribe from Nauplion) ήσανε μαζωμένοι (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 6, 262.29) ήσανε κρεμασμένες Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1147 διακονιάροι ήσανε (17th c., Crete, SPANAKIS 1971: [1], 179.12) και άλλοι τόσοι νάσανε STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voev. 614 πόσα σεπέττια ήσανε IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 7745 όλοι 'ρωμαίοι ήσανε MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 858 ήσανε άρμενα πεντακόσα DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 75 ανάδοχοι ήσανε ... (1691, Cythera, KALLIGEROS 2001: 9, 41.1) ήσαν, [ήσα]νε SPANOS, Grammar 42.7

The following form is a phonetic variant, ήσανε with non-regular mid-vowel raising (/e/ to [i]), for which see I, 2.5.4: ώσα συντρόφοι που ήσανι (1566, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 290, 408.4).

Pl.	3	ήσασι(ν) † ήσανσι(ν)

Interchangeability of -αν and -ασι(ν) in the active past-tense paradigms (see 4.3 and 4.4) leads to ήσαν developing an alternative ήσασι(ν), which is found from the 14th c. until the 16th/17th c. in texts from various areas:

ήσασιν εκεί Chron. Mor. H 8147; τὰ λόγια ήσασιν πολλά ibid. 8999 καθώς ήσασι πάντες (1395, Athos, ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΔΗΣ 1968: 8, 76.16) όσοι ήσασιν έσωθεν της Τρωάδος Pol. Tr. 2898; ήσασι μετ' ειρήνης ibid. 13418 ήσασιν κάλλιοι Chron. Toc. 1780 ήσασι (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 52.56) ήσασιν οί άπαντες Chron. Mor. P 390 έτζι βρεμένοι ήσασιν Theseid I.69,5 (Follieri) κι όρδινιασμένοι ήσασι Alex. Rim. 835 καθίζασιν εις τα θρονια που 'σασιν διαταμένα DEFAR., Sos. 61 (Holton) όλοι όπου ήσασιν τόν νέον έπροσκύνουν Dig. A 1530

The alternation between -αν and -ασι(ν) can sporadically lead to a hybrid formation -ανσι(ν), which is likely to be graphematic, i.e. a combination of ligatures, rather than an existing ending (cf. 4.3.1.1 and 4.4.2): ἤσανσι τῆς μητρὸς σας (1400 [16th-c. copy], Corfu, KARYDIS 1999a: 1, 165.14); ἤσανσιν (ibid. 165.16).

Sg.	3	ἤτουν ἤτου ἤτουνα ἤτουνε
Pl.		ἤτουν

The form ἤτουν, a phonological variant of ἤτον with substitution of /u/ for /o/ through back-vowel raising (see I, 2.8.3) can be found in the singular in texts from the Heptanese, the Peloponnese and Macedonia from at least the 16th c. onwards (ms date of Pol. Tr. B¹⁹⁸ and Chron. Mor. P). For the plural ἤτουν is used in texts of south-western provenance and in a late 17th-c. document from Cyprus:¹⁹⁹

Singular

ἤτουν καὶ ὁ Φιλεμένης Pol. Tr. 3037 app. crit. (B); ἐὰν οὐκ ἤτουν δυνατόν ibid. 6144 app. crit. (B) ὅπου ἤτουν δοῦκας Ἀθηνῶν Chron. Mor. P 7959 μ' ἂν ἤτουν τὸ ἐνάντιον Imb. Rim. 158 app. crit.

ἐὰν δὲν ἤτουν Krasop. L 32; καὶ νὰ 'τουν ἀργυρόκουπα ibid. 48 ἤτουν ἐγκοσμημένον Diig. Alex. E 205.1 (Lolos); ἤτουν τοῦ Ἑκτορος ibid. 203.23 (only instances) τι ἀνθρώπος να ἤτουν DEFAR., Sos. 160 (Holton) ἤτουν (1572, Peloponnese, VEIS 1956: 449.9 and 452.24) ἤτουν KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 112.27–8 (sg. only) καθὼς ἤτουν, ὅλον ὅσον καὶ ἂν εἶχα (1634, Laconia, Simopoulos 1966: 149.3) ἤτουν παρῶν (1673, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 72, 43.2; and 1687, ibid. 101, 59.5) ἤτουν ... ὁ παπᾶς Ρουματζᾶς (1686, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970a, [6], 91.2–3) ὡσάν κοπέλλα ὅπου ἤτουν (1688, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1954: (4), 138.27)

ἡ ἐκκλησία τοῦ Ἀγίου Μάρκου ἤτουν πρῶτα τζαμί (1696, Tripoli, DOKOS 1971/74: 11, 50.2) κάλλιο μού 'τουν KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.533

Plural

τὰ ἄρματα, ὅπου ἤτουν τοῦ Ἑκτορος Diig. Alex. E 203.23 (Lolos) καὶ τὰ ἐπίλοιπα, ὅ,τι καὶ ἂν ἤτουν τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1631, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 13, 175.6)

(τὰ ἄσπρα ...) ἤτουν τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1694, Cyprus, KYRRIS 1987: 4, 91.12)

Deletion of final /n/ is quite rare and was found, in the singular only, in texts of Heptanesian provenance and in Pistikos voskos, which is considered to be of Cretan provenance: να ιδούμε το ποίος ἤτου DEFAR., Sos. 157 (Holton) (rhymes with ἐντροπή του); ξεύρω, δὲν ἤτου ἀγάπη Pist. voskos II 1.288; ὅπου ἤτου λιγωμένη Thysia Avr. 290 transcr. M (Heptanesian scribe).

¹⁹⁸ Ms B of the War of Troy generally shows a preference for innovative forms, according to PAPATHOMOPOULOS/JEFFREYS (1996: xcviij).

¹⁹⁹ This form, now characteristic of the Cypriot dialect for both 3 sg. and 3 pl., must have entered the dialect quite late. It is absent from Thrinis Kypr. (16th- or 17th-c. text; early 18th-c. ms), but it can be found, apart from the above late 17th-c. document, in the early 19th-c. Ἄσμα Χατζη Γεωργάκη (plural only).

With an added $-(v)\epsilon$ or $-(v)\alpha$ (see I, 2.6.3) the form occurs, in the singular only, in Heptanesian texts from the 16th/17th c. onwards and in a text of uncertain provenance (Diig. Alex. Sem. B, ms written in Meteora):

ἦτουνα πρῶτα τοῦ ἱερομονάχου Κοντονῆ (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 56.12–13) ἦτουνα Thysia Avr. 43 and 44 transcr. M (Heptanesian scribe) νά 'τουνα CHORTATSI, Katz. II.392 app. crit. (Heptanesian scribe) ἦτουνα καπετάν γκενεράλες (1685, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1970a, [5], 91.2) ἦτουνα γέροντας (1668, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 355.7) ἦτουνα ἕνα κτήριον παλαιὸν Chron. Theod. 23.18 ἦτουνε δεδεμένος Diig. Alex. Sem. B 69 ἦτουνε πρεπόν Pist. voskos IV 5.37 μαγάρι νά ητουνε μόδος MONTSEL., Evgena 325 ἦτουνε συνεργία δίχως κακοσύνη (1708, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 56, 92.9)

Sg.	3	ἦταν ἢ ἦτα ἢ ἦτανε
Pl.		ἦταν ἢ ἦτα ἢ ἦτανε

The SMG 3 sg. and pl. form ἦταν, which is ἦτον with substitution of the past-tense marker /a/ for /o/ appears in writing from the 15th c. onwards (ms dates of Liv. V and Pol. Tr.) for the singular and the plural in texts from both northern and southern areas, though not usually in texts from Cyprus and the Dodecanese. A few texts use ἦταν only for the singular (e.g. LANDOS, Geopon.), while quite a few more use it only for the plural (e.g. Pol. Tr., Byz. Il., Alex. Rim., Diig. Alex. F, Dig. O, Bounialis, and the grammars of Germano, Kritopoulos and Romanos). In many texts it is used for both the singular and the plural (e.g. Liv. V, Katzourbos, Bertoldos, Papasynadinos, Kallioupolis, Ioakeim, Don Kis.).

Singular

νά εἶπες ἀλήθεια ἦταν Liv. V 211 τιμή, ἡ ὁποία ἦταν ... εἰς το ὀρκωμοτικὸν (1451, Constantinople, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 1, 198.23)

ἡ φορεσία τους ἦταν βελουδον Diig. Alex. E 181.9 (Lolos) ὅτι πρῶτα νερό δὲν ἦταν, ὅτι ἦτον χαϊμένον (1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 451.21) ποιός ἦταν CHORTATSI, Katz. III.76

ἦταν μεγαλότατος πόλεμος Bertoldos 45.32–3 ἂν ἦταν καλή PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §15.36 ἂναπταν καρβουνιάν, ὅτι ἦταν ψύχρα KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 18.18

ὅταν ἦταν κακοχρονία LANDOS, Geopon. 178.35–6 (hapax) ὡσὰν ἦταν ἡ Οὐγκρία ἄλλην φοράν (1658, Galats, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 20, 126.28)

ἐκεῖ ἦταν κι ἡ βαλετέ IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 649

ποία ἦταν ἡ ἀργ' ὦρα KONDA., Paidēs 89

ἦταν ὁ Πραὴ πασιάς (1683, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 89, 321.2); ἦταν μπατάλικην (ibid. 95, 322.4) ἦταν πρῶτα Τοῦρκα καὶ ἐβαπτίσθη (1696, Nauplion, DOKOS 1971/74: 20, 55.6) ἦταν πολλὰ συλλογισμένος Don Kis. 46.26

Plural

χάσδια ἦταν ὀλόχρυσα Pol. Tr. 237 app. crit. (A); καλὰ ἦταν γαρνισμένα ibid. 2281 (mss VX) φαρία ἦταν θαυμαστά Liv. V 672; ἦταν οἱ μῆνες ὅλοι ibid. 883 καὶ ὅπου ἦταν τὰ σύνορα πρὸ τῆς μάχης (1479, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 1, 301.20) τὰ ἄλογά τους ἦταν κουβερτιασμένα Diig. Alex. V 60.15–16 ὅλοι ἦταν εἰς τὸν ὄρκον Byz. II. 755 ἦταν ἐκεῖ σκαλιὰ ὀκτώ Alex. Rim. 2651 ἦταν χαϊμένοι (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 2, 49.10)

 ἦταν καὶ ἦσαν GERMANO, Grammar 96.23
 σάν πως ἦταν καὶ οἱ ἄνδρες των Bertoldos 35.9 οἱ Χριστιανοὶ εἰς μεγάλην στενοχωρίαν ἦταν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §1.20–1 ἄλλα μοναστήρια ὅπου ἦταν ἐκεῖ (1658, Galats, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 20, 126.2) καὶ αὐτεῖνοι ἦταν πρῶτιστοι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 45 κ' ἦταν σφαμμένα PETRITSIS, Dig. O 355 ἦταν ψυχές -440- (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 506.18) (author from the Mani) οἱ ἀπόκριες μου ἦταν ἀχαμνές (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 303, f.1r.8) οἱ ὁμορφιέ τση ἦταν πολλές KORNAROS, Erot. I.62 ms (X) (ἦτον in A; ἦσαν in ed.)
 ἦταν ομήλικοι Don Kis. 96.10

Deletion of final /n/ is rare and has been found once in ms A of Anthos ton Chariton (16th c., provenance unknown), as well as in Heptanesian documents of the 16th–17th c.:

αν ἦτα καλά, ηθέλαμεν τα πουλήσει Anthos Ch. A 159.19 ἦτα χρεία (1566, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 1, 289.12) (author's family from Corfu) ἦτα τὰ σόλδια ἐδικὰ του (1641, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 232, 189.30) ἦτα σύντεκνοι (1691, Cythera, PAPADAKI 2001: 131, 62.2)

Addition of -(v)ε, common in colloquial MG, occurs from the 16th c. onwards in texts from southern/south-western regions (Heptanese, Crete, Peloponnese, certain Cycladic islands) and from Chios (see also I, 2.6.3.3). Versifiers from other regions (e.g. the Tale of Vefas and Michri, which is of northern provenance) sometimes use these forms for metrical reasons.

Singular

(τὴν ξεφάντωσην ...) ὡς ἦτανε 'πιτήδεια Apoll. Rim. N 770 ὁ συμβιβασμός τους ἦτανε χρόνους ζ' (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 20, 32.12) σάν ἦτανε κι' ἄλλότες CHORTATIS, Katz. III.303 ὁμόνοια, ὅπου ἦτανε ἀνάμεσά μας (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.12) πῶς ἦτανε καὶ παίρνει Diig. Vefa 1104 ἦτανε ἀποκλεισμένη ἡ Πόλις Chron. Tourk. Soult. 80.25 (only forms in -ve) ἦτανε προুকὶ τῆς μάνας τῆς (1663, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 2, 19.4) ἦτανε φιλεμένος (1670, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 31, 388.16) ἦτανε πάσα ἀνθρώπος ἐξ αὐτοῦς μετὰ δακρύων IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 3078 ἡ βουλή τῆς δεν ἦτανε ποτὲ νὰ τὸν πάρη δι' ἄνδρα (1675, Corfu, KAPADOCHOS 1990: 39, 253.13–14) ἦτανε ἀπὸ τὸ ἔκπαλαι (1696, Nauplion, DOKOS 1971/74: 16, 52.2) ἦτανε KORNAROS, Erot. I.452 ms X (= f.21v l. 12); and I.462 app. crit. (X) ἦτανε ἕνας βασιλιάς Diig. Vefa 63 ποὺ ἦτανε χτισμένο παμπάλαια EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 15.10–11 ἐτούτη ἡ γυναῖκα ἦτανε μᾶϊσσα SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 44.26

Plural

κ' ἦτανε μέσα βέροι Alex. Rim. 495 ἦτανε γυναῖκες συναγμένες Theseid XI.7,8 (1529) ἦτανε δικά μου (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 217.3) καὶ δὲν ἦτανε σωστὰ (1574, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 15, 141.10) ὄντες ἦτανε στὸν κόσμον οἱ Ντονάδοι CHORTATIS, Katz. V.365 ἦτανε τοῦ Φωτοδότη Χριστοῦ (1612, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 7, 361.6) οἱ ἄρχοντες ἦτανε πλούσοι Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.1 (only forms in -νε, with two exceptions before a word starting in /e/) ξύλα ἀποῦ ἦτανε ἐδεκεῖ (1664, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 7, 416.10) (ἦτονε for sg.)

 πενήντα χιλιάδες ἦτανε ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΠΡ., Pali 7395 (τὰ δύο χωράφια ...) ἦτανε (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 71.22) ὅλ' ἀπελάτες ἦτανε PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2720 φόβος καὶ τρόμος ἦτανε τῶν λουμπαρδῶν οἱ μπάλες DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 255 ἦτανε (1698, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1968/69: 3, 335.6) ἐπειδήτις καὶ νὰ ἦτανε οἱ φοράδες ἐγγαστρωμένες (1708, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 7, 41.22)

Sg.	3	ἦν
Pl.	3	ἦν

The residual 3 sg. form ἦ(ν) can be found now and then, usually alongside other forms, throughout the LMedG and EMG periods in a variety of texts, mainly of higher or mixed register. It is also sporadically used for the plural:

Singular

ὅταν ... ἦν ἐκεῖ ὁ ἀββᾶς Ἰωάννης ὁ Κολοβὸς ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 150.5²⁰⁰ ἔρως γὰρ ἦν ὁ ὑπουργῶν καὶ συνεργῶν εἰς πάντα Dig. G III.87 παμμέγας ἦν ὁ Γολιάθ GLYKAS, Stichoi 360 καὶ πόθεν ἦν καὶ ποταπὸς Log. parig. L 92 κόντος ἦν τῆς Φιλάντρας Chron. Mor. H 132 (hapax) ὅλος ἦν θυμηδία Pol. Tr. 99 πατήρ ἦν τοῦ πατρός μας Dig. E 146 ἄγριος ἦν ὁ τόπος [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 200 ἦν δὲ καὶ νέος Achil. N 309 ἦν τις ἐλλήνων βασιλεὺς Theseid I.6,1 (Follieri) τ' ὀνομά του ἦν Κανταρκούσης Diig. Alex. K 361.4 ἕνα πτερόν, ὃ ἦν τῆς ποτὲ ἀδελφῆς μου (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 77, 145.14)
 θηρίον ἦν καὶ φύλαττε τὸν τόπον Dig. A 3265 ἦν γὰρ τὸ ὕδωρ κάτοπτρον Dig. T 1892

Plural

μαχαιροκοπημένες ἦν καὶ εἰς τὸ αἶμαν κυλισμένες Dig. E 81; ὅτι συζουλισμένες ἦν ibid. 87 πλέον βασιλεῖς δουκάδες τε ἦν τῶν δεκατεσσάρων Pol. Tr. 2028; Ἀἰλί, πῶς ἐπλανήθησαν καὶ πῶς ἦν λαθασμένοι ibid. 12063

Sg.	3	ἦντον

This form has a single occurrence in version A of Anthos ton Chariton (16th c.; provenance unknown). It appears to be a conflation of residual ἦν and innovative ἦτον (see above), though it could also be graphematic through the use of ligatures (cf. 4.4.1.1): οὐκ ἦντον πράγμα κανένα Anthos Ch. A 49.6.

²⁰⁰ Quite a few instances of ἦν in Nikon's writings are actually present indicative (εἶν); see 4.8.1.

Pl.	3	ἦτασι(ν)

Interchangeability of -αν and -ασι(ν) in the active past-tense paradigms (see 4.3 and 4.4) leads to ἦταν developing an alternative 3 pl. form ἦτασι(ν), which occurs from at least the 15th c. onwards (ms date of Liv. V) in texts from various areas, though it is never the “normal” form in any text:

τὰ σχήματα ἦτασιν καὶ οἱ λόγοι Liv. V 886 (hapax) ἄρμοζε νὰ ἦτασιν Pol. Tr. 1770 app. crit. (A); ὅσοι στήν τσάμπραν ἦτασιν ibid. 6411 app. crit.

(B)

λατίνικα τὰ ροῦχα τῆς ἦτασιν Liv. S 1072 (Lambert-van der Kolf) (hapax) ὅσοι με Πάριν ἦτασιν Byz. Il. 584; πλῆθος γυναικες ἦτασιν ibid. 838 (only examples) ὅπου ἴτασιν ἀντίδικοι Velis. χ 163; οὔτε Ἀσάνοι ἦτασιν ibid. 227, Velis. N² 244 and Velis. ρ 369 ἐξήντα χιλιάδες ἦτασιν Achil. N 572 (hapax) ποῦ ἦτασιν τριάντα κ' ἐξήντα χρόνους KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VI.22 ιστορισμένα ἦτασι Theseid VI.48,2 app. crit. (V) ονικά ... τὰ ἦτασιν γερόντια Anthos Ch. A 159.12; οἱ ποῦ ἦτασι μετ' αὐτόν ibid. 223.14 ἦτασιν καὶ εἰς τὸ διαλαλικόν (1524, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 1, 15.6) καὶ λυπημένοι ἦτασι AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 17.4; ἀντάμα πάντα ἦτασι ibid. 59.2

κομπάροι ἦτασιν (1606, Venice, MANOUSAKAS/SKOULAS 1993: 170, 43.5) ἦτασι τὰ ὀζὰ ἀκριβὰ (1612, Monemvasia region, BROUSKARI 1981: 314.14) ἦτασιν κρατημένες SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. a2r.3 (1658)

4.8.3 Imperative

The residual imperatives ἔσο (2 sg.), ἔστω (3 sg.), ἔστε (2 pl.) and ἔστωσαν (3 pl.) are only used in higher- and mixed-register texts.²⁰¹ The 3 sg. form ἔστω is the most frequently used of the four forms, though not always correctly, as the hypercorrect spelling with <θ> in the 1140 example from S. Italy, the addition of νὰ in the 1170 example from S. Italy and its use instead of the equally residual 3 sg. present indicative ἔστι in Dig. T 153 illustrate. The 2 sg. and 2 pl. forms ἔσο and ἔστε are very rare indeed:

2nd Person Singular and Plural

καὶ ἔσο νῦν τιμώμενος Dig. A 2409 and Dig. T 1543

ἔσο ἀπό του νυν υγιή! LANDOS, Amart. sot. 334.31–2 μαγάριοι ἔστε, σπανοί Spanos D 1625

δοῦλοι ἔστε εἰς τὸν Ἑρωταν Liv. E 529

3rd Person Singular and Plural

ἔσθω ξένος (1140, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 123, 164.25) νὰ ἔστω ἀφιερωμένον (1170, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 176, 231.16)

ἀλλ' ἔστω σοι τοῦτο γνωστὸν Dig. G IV.464 γνωστὸν ἔστω τῇ βασιλείᾳ σου (1489, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 20, 102.2) γνωστὸν ἔστω τῇ βασιλείᾳ σου Porikol. I 21

²⁰¹ The forms εἴτω and εἴτωσαν that replaced the AG 3 sg. and pl. forms in Hellenistic times (DIETERICH 1898: 227) have not been found at all in the texts examined, which is additional proof for the residual character of the AG forms.

νεμάλον σου έστω η λωλία Diig. Alex. K 353.5–6 τὸ ντεσταμέντον έστω ίσχυρόν (1526, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 112, 205.22)

Θεός έκδικος έστω Dig. A 783 and Dig. T 332

ήν ὁ νυμφίος έστω σοι παρόμοιος τοῦ κάλλους Dig. T 153 app. crit.

έστω αφορισμένος καί άσυχώρητος (1652–3, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 82, 204.12) έστω άφορεσμένος (1685, Athos, KADAS 1988: 98, 334.7) καί ταῦτ' άπέκει έστωσαν τὰ παρ' αὐτῶν πραχθέντα Thrinós Tam. 87

(τὰ λοιπά άπαντα ...) έστωσαν τή έμῃ μητρί Άρχοντοῦ (1497, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: App., 1, 310.20) τὰ δουκάτα έπτακόσα, έστωσαν προικιόν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 297, 294.12)

καί μή άπαρτι έστωσαν φροντίδες Dig. T 1538

έστωσαν άφορεσμένοι (1612, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 12, 66.10–11) έστωσαν τὸ αὐτὸ χωράφιον με τὰ συκάμινα άνέκσπαστα (1688, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 148, 327.7–8)

In the period covered by this Grammar various constructions were in use for the imperative, for which see IV, 1.3.

4.8.4 Infinitive

General	Restricted	Rare
εἶσται(ν)/εἴσ τε(ν)	εἶναι	εἶν εἴσθαι(ν)/εἴσθε(ν)	εἴσθι
	εἴσ σται(ν)	εἴσ ταινε
	ἔσται(ν)/ἔσθαι(ν)	ἔστιν

The innovative infinitive εἶσται(ν) and its more formal variant εἴσθαι(ν) appeared before the LMedG period, though lack of textual evidence makes it impossible to establish how long before the 11th/12th c. it came into being. The reason for its emergence must have been that the old infinitive εἶναι had become homophonous with the new form /'ine/ that had emerged for 3 sg. and 3 pl. present indicative and subjunctive (see above, 4.8.1), combined with the fact that the verb εἶμαι as a whole was in the last stages of the process of being remodelled on the basis of the mediopassive paradigm: the new infinitive was modelled on the mediopassive infinitive in -σθαι (γράφεσθαι, τιμᾶσθαι, πατεῖσθαι, for which see 4.6.1.2) (JANNARIS 1897: 250, who, however, seriously underestimates its frequency).

There is great fluctuation in the spelling of this form, both in the sources and in modern editions, ranging from εἴσ τε(ν)/εἴσθε(ν) and ἦσ τε(ν)/ἦσθε(ν) to εἶσται(ν)/εἴσθαι(ν) and ἦσται(ν)/ἦσθαι(ν). But even though the spelling in manuscripts is usually simply dismissed as being “erratic”, and little attention is paid to it, in this case it is certainly not without significance: the earliest examples of the infinitive are all spelled with <τ>, not <θ> and in fact forms with <θ> for <τ> have not been found before the 15th c.²⁰² So even though the ending of this infinitive was identical to the AG mediopassive infinitive ending, which every self-respecting scribe would write as -σθαι, in the case of εἶμαι they did not feel the need to do so. This is a strong indication that, in fact, all infinitives in -σθαι were actually pronounced as [ste], and it was only the “visual image” of the word obtained through reading and learning that imposed a historical, etymologizing spelling for inherited forms. In the case of the new formation /'isten/ there was no visual image to fall back on (and insufficient insight into the mechanism of analogical formation that brought about this new form), and therefore it could be, and was, written as it was pronounced. The fact that until the 14th c. all examples of the infinitive /'isten/ have the final /n/ points to this final /n/ being rather normal with the passive infinitive in general, more normal than the writing practice would have us believe (for final /n/ and the infinitive of barytone and oxytone verbs see 4.6.1.2).

(ἀρμόζει ...) εἰς ἀρμόζοντα τόπον εἶσταν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 38.3 ὁ παπᾶς ὅπου θέλει ἦσταν εἰς τὴν μονὴν (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.56) ἦθελαν εἶσταν ἀνήγειρον τὸ παιδίον (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 227.52) ἦθελαν ἦσταν τὸ διαλυτόν ἐρρωμένον (1375, Macedonia, LEMERLE 1988: 32, 125.45) γλῆγορα θέλω εἶσταν αὐτοῦ (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.10) θέλει εἶσταν ἡ δουλεία ... πολλὰ καλὴ (1453, Thrace/Black Sea?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 4, 87.9–10) εἶσταν ἦθελαν Theseid VI.63,1 (Olsen) εἶσταν θέλει τριάντα χρόνων Diig. Alex. V 64.4; θέλεις εἶσταν ἀπανωθέν ibid. 67.25 θέλω εἶσταν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.23 τὸ φῶς θέλει εἶσταν αἰώνιον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 388.38–9 ὅπου θέλου εἶσταν (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 7, 127.15) θέλει εἶσταν Diig. Alex. Sem. S 1021 ποίας μοίρας θέλει εἶσταν ἡ ζωὴ του Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 75.24 λολότερος εἶχα ὅσταν ἀπὸ κείνο CHORTATIS, Erof. IV.616 ἀλλοῦ δὲν θέλει εἶσταν PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §22.22

Without the final /n/ the form has not been found before the 14th c.:

ψέγος ἦθελαν εἶσταν Chron. Mor. H 171; ὀφείλουν εἶσταν πανταχοῦ ibid. 2009 ἄδικον ἦθελε εἶσταν Pol. Tr. 2525; ἐὰν εἶχα εἶσταν μετ' ἐσέν ibid. 4262 ἄν ἦθελαν εἶσταν καύχα μου (1420, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1962a: 1, 39.12) θέλετε ἦσταν φίλοι του (1431, Ragusa, LAMBROS 1930: 30.2) θέλουσιν ἦσταν ἄνετοι (1481, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 13, 319.17) θέλει εἶσταν (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 61.9 and 15, 83.8) θέλ' εἶσταν κρατούμενος Assizes A 175.25 οὐκ εἶσταν θέλει δυνατόν Theseid VI.69,3 (Olsen) ἦθελαν εἶσταν ζημιωμένα (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 110, 85.26) θέλομε εἶσταν κρατημένοι (1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 59.50) καὶ θέλεις εἶσταν χρήσιμος PAPASYNAD., Chron. 2 §9.31 θέλει εἶσταν χαρὰ ὅχι ὀλίγη (1676, Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 310.28) θές εἶσταν κρατημένος (1690, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 9, 23.25)

²⁰² What happened is in fact the opposite of what ROHLFS (1977: § 173) postulates based on material from S. Italy, regarding the infinitive ἔσταν (see below), namely that it presupposes a form ἔσθαι, which, according to him, derives from the AG future infinitive ἔσεσθαι (quoted in KARANASTASIS, Lex. s.v. εἶμαι).

κι ἄς ἤθελά 'σταιν ἡ φτωχή εἰς τὰ προσκέφαλά σου KORNAROS, Erot. V.1045 ἄν ἤθελεν εἶσται ἀνταμωμένοι SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 40.7–5 θέλει εἶσται καθὼς γράφομεν (1645 [19th-c. copy], Jassy, LEGRAND 1903: 5, 13.1)

With <θ> for <τ>, in line with the conventional spelling of the present passive infinitive, it occurs from at least the 15th c. onward (ms date of Pol. Tr.), with and without the final /n/:

θέλω εἶσθαι Pol. Tr. 9950 (the vast majority of forms with <θ> are readings of ms A only) θέλλω εἶσθεν (1453, Thrace/Black Sea?, DARROUZÈS 1963: 4, 88.21–2) θέλετε εἶσθαι ἀντροπιασμένοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 256.4–5 θέλει εἰσθε ἀπάνου σου ο θεός Diig. Alex. K 348.30 ὥσαν νὰ ἤθελεν εἶσθεν [VLASTOS], Dig. P VIII 400.30; ἄς ἤθελεν εἶσθαι ὁ Διγενῆς ibid. X 411.23 σάν νὰ θελ' εἶσθαι σήμερον KONDAR., Paides 63 (read σάν νὰ 'θελ' (= ἤθελε) εἶσθαι) θέλει εἶσθαι διὰ καλόν σου Vios Aisop. I 268.31 θέλω εἶσθαι κρατημένος ROMANOS, Grammar 49.19 ἤθελεν εἶσθαι ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ KYPPI., Pali Prol. 4 ἤθελεν εἶσθαι κανέννας ἀχρεῖος Don Kis. 48.24; θέλω εἶσθαι βρεγμένη ibid. 129.29; ἤθελαν εἶσθαι ἀρκετά ibid. 133.25

In geminating areas, <σ> may be doubled (see I, 3.4): ἄν συνέβει τίποτας, τὸ φταίσιμο θέλει εἶσσαι ἀποὺ τὴν μεγάλην σου αὐθεντίαν (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 61.8); ἄν ἤθελαν εἶσσαι (1487, ibid. 17, 92.19).

With /i/ for /e/ in the last syllable, another phonetic rather than a morphological variant (raising of unstressed [e] to [i], see I, 2.5.4), it has been found in the 18th-c. translation of Don Quixote (Danubian Principalities): θέλει εἰσθι ἀρκετὴ βάσανος Don Kis. 104.25 app. crit.

Addition of -(ν)ε to εἶσται can occasionally be found (for -(ν)ε across parts of speech see I, 2.6.3):

πρὸς τὸ βράδυ θέλει εἶσταινε φῶς KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 386.10 οὐαὶ κὶ ἄς εἶχα εἶσταινε ἐλεύθερος Theseid IV.7,3 (1529); χαῖμένος θέλει εἶσταινε ibid. X.14,2 θέλει εἶσταινε (1687, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 278, 258.9) ἡ Λευκουσιὰ θέλ' εἶσθαινε Al. Kypri. 925

With /e/ for /i/ in the root of the verb, the form was found in areas in contact with Romance languages, namely S. Italy, the Peloponnese, Trebizond, Cyprus, Crete, the Heptanese and Athens:

τοῦ ἔσται εἰς ποινὴν τῆς ἐξουσίας (1221, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VIII: 7, 380.8) ὀφείλει ἔσται (1388, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 127, 94.7 and 95.11) (Trebizond area)
 ὅπου διὰ βάρος του πολὺν μέλλει, εἰκάζω, ἔσται Pol. Tr. 209 μέλλεις ἔσθαι ἐν αὐτῷ ἀμετακίνητος (1431, Athens, BUCHON 1843: LXIX, 291.17–18) θέλει ἔσται διὰ μακάριση (1469, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 117, 56.15) ἤθελεν ἔσται κακοδικημένος Assizes A 34.5–6 (ἂν ἴσως καὶ ... ἤθελεν) μὴ ἔσται ἐν τιμῇ (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 44, 76.18); ἄτινα θέλω ἔσται τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ μου (1521, ibid. 61, 115.16–17) νὰ μὴ 'χαμ' ἔσται 'σάν αὐτοὺς γεννημένες Theseid I.30,6 (Follieri); νὰ εἶχαμ' ἔσται βγαλμένες ἀπὸ πέτρα ibid. VI.30,7 (Olsen) εἰ μὲν ἤθελ' ἔσται καλὸς καιρὸς (1539, Nauplion, ZERLENDIS 1923b: [1], 14.5) θέλει ἔσται πολὺ σου καλὸν Vios Aisop. D 212.17 (provenance unknown, but edited in Venice) θέλει ἔσταιν διὰ αὐξηση τῆς σῆς βασιλείας (1611, Cyprus, CHASIOTIS 1972: 49, 81–82.24) καὶ θέλει ἔσται ἡ ὕστερη Bertoldos 74.15

With /i/ for /e/ in the last syllable it is found sporadically in texts from Cyprus: ἄν δὲν εἶχεῖς ἔστιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 341.50; ἤθελαν ἔστιν φανερά τὰ πάθη μου Cypr. Canz. 140.4.

The form εἶστον/ῆστον in the following example: ποιὸς πελλὸς ἤθελεν εἶστον Cypr. Canz. 130.15 is regarded by the editor as an infinitive, morphologically a conflation of the infinitive εἶσταιν and the 3rd person imperfect ἦτον (SIAPKARAS-PITSILLIDÈS 1975: 360 s.v. εἶμαι). Instances of this form in other texts, however, suggest that this hybrid form is, in fact, an imperfect rather than an infinitive (see 4.8.2 for a discussion).

The residual infinitive εἶναι can be found in mixed- and higher-register texts throughout the period under examination, mostly articular in adverbial constructions (διὰ τὸ εἶναι) and archaic accusative + infinitive constructions, and sometimes as complement of control verbs (see IV, 4.4.7 for details):²⁰³ ὁμολογῶ τοῦ εἶναι με δοῦλος (1143–5, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 1, 56.3, 56.5, 56.9, 56.11, 56.13, 56.15, 56.17, 56.19 and 56.21) ἀκριβεία δὲ πολλὴ ἀρμόζει εἶναι ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 72.6; ὀφείλει εἶναι παρθένος id., Logos 3 192.3–4 κἀγὼ νομίσας φάντασμα τὸ ὁρώμενον εἶναι Dig. G V.37; διὰ τὸ μόνην εἶναι τε καὶ ξένην ἐν τοῖς ᾧδε ibid. VIII.194 οὐ βούλεται εἶναι μετ' ἐμοῦ (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 39.32) διὰ τὸ εἶναι ἀπάνω εἰς τὸν αἰγιαλὸν Chron. Mor. H 399 διὰ τὸ εἶναι ἐν αὐτῷ προτοῦ σιτάριον SFRANTZIS, Chron. 46.16 πλὴν ταύτην μου τὴν διαθήκην θέλω εἶναι βεβαίαν (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 9, 16.25) ἀλλὰ μηδεῖς, παρακαλῶ, ψευδῇ εἶναι νομίση Dig. T 847 διὰ τὸ εἶναι με ἀγράμματον VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 29.8

An apocopated form εἶν, also attested in some Koine inscriptions and a Roman papyrus (GIGNAC 1981: 407), occurs in documents from S. Italy:²⁰⁴ ὁμολογῶ τοῦ εἶν με δοῦλος (1143–5, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. II: 1, 56.1 and 56.7); μνησθεῖσα ὡς τοῦτο ἔργον εἶν σωτήριον (1280?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 36, 464.14–15).

4.8.5 Participle and Gerund

For the morphology of the residual present participle ὦν, οὔσα, ὄν see II, 3.7.1.

²⁰³ In the following examples εἶναι is more likely to be a present subjunctive: δὲν θέλουσιν εἶναι ὠνειδισμένοι ΜΑΤΘΑΙΟΣ MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1972; ἡ νίκη δὲν θέλει εἶναι βλαβερή Don Kis. 101.19 (cf. θέλω εἶμαι ibid. 514.3 θέλεις εἶσαι ibid. 570.29; θέλομεν εἰμεσθεν ερασμένοι ibid. 598.13). For more information see 5.1.4.2. For the use of εἶναι as a noun see KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. εἶναι.

²⁰⁴ Two instances of an otherwise unattested infinitive εἶν(αι) in Pol. Tr. 771 and 8703 are the result of editorial intervention.

General	Restricted	Rare
	ὄντας	ὄντα
	ἔστοντα ἔστοντας	ἔστοτας
	ἔστόντα ἔστόντας	εἰστόντα
	ἔσοντας	ἔσοντες
	στάντες	ἔστοντος ἔστόντος ἔστοτας στάντε

As with all verbs, the gerund of εἶμαι is derived from the present participle ὢν (for details on dating and morphology of the gerund, see 4.7). The gerund of εἶμαι is not used very frequently, and of ὄντα, the form that will have (morpho)logically preceded ὄντας, only two examples have been found, one in the Astronomy of Kamatiros (12th c., oldest ms 13th c.),²⁰⁵ and one in Axagiolis, both of them texts that can hardly be called vernacular: Σελήνη μὲ τὸν Ἄρη προσεπαναφερόμενοι ἢ καὶ πρὸς δύσιν ὄντα ΚΑΜΑΤ., Astron. 2905; τυχῶν τις παῖς Χριστιανῶν, Ὁτμανικῶν εὐνοῦχος, | ὄντα φρουρᾶς προτηρητῆς ΑΧΑΓΙΟΛΙΣ, Diig. Karolou 539–40.

Even ὄντας, now the SMG form, does not appear in texts before the 17th c. Of course, when a masculine singular subject is involved, it cannot easily be established whether ὄντας was intended as a gerund or a participle:

- ὄντας ἕνα ὀράκολον Bertoldos 76.11; ὄντας θυμωμένος ibid. 84.23 ὄντας cum sim, omnis generis, numeri, et personae PORTIUS, Grammar 41.32 (but see also ἔστοντας) ὄντας πρὸς τὸ τέλος τῆς ζωῆς του RODINOS, Vios Ign. 64.22 ὄντας κακοὶ ΚΑΛΛΙΟΥΡ., Kaini Diath. Matth. 12.34; ὄντας οἱ πόρτες σφραλισμένες ibid. Ioann. 20.19 ὄντας ἐδῶ ἐφημέριος ΒΟΥΒΟΥΛΙΣ, Limbon. Epil. 10 ὄντας ὅμοιος (1653–5, Venice, FONKIČ 2000: 240, f.1v.19) ἀμὴ ὄντας πόρνη τῶν πολλῶν (1685, Corfu, ΚΑΡΑΔΟΧΟΣ 1990: 68, 275.35–6) ο Νάρκισσος, ὄντας εἴκοσι ἐνός χρόνου ΜΑΚΟΛΑΣ, Ioust. 425.30 ὄντας ἀκόμη ἔξυπνη ΓΑΒΡΙΗΛΟΡ., Diig. panouklas 98.36 ὄντας τώρα γερόντισσα (1714, Smyrna, ΣΦΥΡΟΕΡΑΣ 1963b: 2, 177.16) ὄντας ἴδιον καὶ φυσικόν τῶν ποιητῶν Don Kis. 151.12; ὄντας μοναχοὶ ibid. 153.15; ὄντας πανδρεμένη ibid. 289.2
 μετοχ[ῆ] ὄντας, ἄκλιτον SPANOS, Grammar 42.7

The question is, of course, why a language would need a gerund of εἶμαι in the first place, for EMG, like most languages, had various other ways of expressing “being”, from a simple adjective/participle – τὰ μάτια του ἤνοιξε θυμωμένος Achil. L 430 – to more elaborate constructions such as prepositional and adverbial clauses: μετὰ τὸ νὰ εἶναι Ἀρχιερεὺς KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 11.51; ἐνῶ ἦτον πρώτη σύμβια τοῦ θαυμαστοῦ στρατιώτου Chron. Mor. H 8004. Nevertheless an innovative gerund ἔστοντα appears from the 15th c. onwards, while ἔστοντας, with an added final /s/ and by far the most common variant, is found from the 16th c. onwards. Morphologically, this new form consists of the morpheme /onda(s)/ that was used to form all gerunds (see 4.7), and a root /est/.

²⁰⁵ In this example ὄντα could be viewed as a gerund, unless the syntax is just sloppy, in which case it could also be a participle with an implied neut. pl. noun, e.g. ἄστρα, referring to Σελήνη and Ἄρης (but see 4.7.1 for two more gerunds of other verbs in the same text).

The form is likely to have Romance origins:²⁰⁶ it is most likely to be an adaptation of Occitan estant in the 1398 Cypriot example (see below), and elsewhere of Italian stando/stante che, rather than essendo che, with inversion of /a/ and /o/ to match the normal gerundial formation and prothesis of /e/ for easier pronunciation and recognizability of the verb. First of all, it is interesting to note that ἔστοντα(ς) first appears in texts from areas that were under French (Cyprus, Dodecanese) and Venetian or Genoese rule (Crete, Heptanese, Andros, Cyprus). Second, a variant that is morphologically even closer to the original Italian stante (στάντε(ς), see below) is attested in regions that were under Italian rule, albeit a century later than ἔστοντας. At the same time and in the same area a form ἔσοντας appears, which is most likely based on the Italian alternative essendo (see below). Contrary to ἔστοντας, ἔσοντας is absent from areas that were under French rule.

Another argument in favour of a Romance origin for both ἔστοντα(ς) and ἔσοντας is the fact that, though they are sometimes used as true gerunds, they are much more common, from the very beginning and throughout the EMG period, in temporal and causal adverbial constructions followed by καί, νά, καὶ νά, ὅτι, πῶς, ὅπου or ὅπου νά, just like their Occitan and Italian counterparts estand que, stando che and essendo che (see IV, 3.4 and 3.5 for details). These adverbial constructions are, in fact, functionally equivalent to the gerund; in the words of Germano: [the verb “to be”] “non ha participio. Quella voce ἔστοντας significa, essendo, & non si mette sola, ma con qualche aggiointo, ἔστοντας καί, essendo che &c.” (GERMANO, Grammar 97.19–21). In these constructions the meaning of “to be” is weakened considerably, as the following examples illustrate: ἔστοντας νά ᾿σαι ζωντανός FALIEROS, Thrinos 280; κί ἔστοντας γιόμα νά ᾿τονε CHORTATIS, Katz. III.72.

These forms spread to other areas from the 17th c., presumably through commercial contacts.

Some representative examples are:

ἔστοντα [...] κατὰ τὴν ἡμέραν ᾿ Φεβραρίου (1398, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1958: 30, 238.1–2)

(we should perhaps read ἐστόντα, see below) ἔστοντα χήρα (1436, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1960/61: 2, 147.26)

(ὁ Σολομῶν ...) ἔστοντα εἰς τὸ παλάτιν του DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1976 ἔστοντα να γεννούσιν αυγά πολλά NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 5.8

ἔστοντα θεόφοβος, ἐνδέχεται μετρίως AXAGIOLIS, Diig. Karolou 278

²⁰⁶ It is unlikely that ἔστοντας is derived from the 3 sg. imperative ἔστω in the phrase “ἔστω καί” (DIMITRAKOS, Lex. s.v. ἔστοντας), for more than one reason: firstly, ἔστω καί is a residual phrase that is very rarely (if ever) used in vernacular texts; secondly, ἔστω καί has a rather different meaning from ἔστοντας καί (the first concessive, the second temporal or causal); thirdly, if ἔστοντας were indeed derived from ἔστω, there is no explanation for the form ἔσοντας, which appears simultaneously to ἔστοντας.

- ἔστοντας βυθισμένοι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 4; ἔστοντά σου id., Rim. Par. 119 (deletion of final /s/ due to haplography)
- ἔστοντας εἰς τὴν Ναζαρετ ἐσυλλογίζοντο ἢ Θεοτόκος KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 348.28–9
- ἔστοντας γοῦν ἡμεῖς (1544, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 59, 256.9)
- ἔστοντας ὅτι το ἐδίωχναν ἄλλα ψάρια μεγαλύτερα NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 16.3
- ἔστοντας αὐτὸς ὁ ἄνω γεγραμμένος κυρ-Θωμᾶς (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 7, 127.19)
- ἔστοντας καὶ ... τινὰς γραμματισμένος νὰ μὴν εὑρίσκεται (1609, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 55, 55.8–9)
- ἔστοντας καὶ ... νὰ ἐκάμασιν οἱ αἶγες ... μερικὴ ζημία (1624, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 393.7)
- ἔστοντας νὰ κτυπηθῇ RODINOS, Vios Ign. 118.14 (ed. ἔστωντας)
- ἔστοντας νὰ ὑπάρχη PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §11.24; ἔστοντας νὰ εἶσαι πτωχὸς ibid. II §11.109
- ἔστοντας ὅπου νὰ εὑρισκόμεσθαι εἰς ἐστράταν (1653, Ioannina, TCHENTSOVA 2002: 3, 361.16–17)
- ἔστοντας νὰ στέκεται πάντα ἐνάντιος (1655, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: 1, f.157v.9)
- ἔστοντας (... νὰν τοῦ ἄφησε παραγγελίαν) (1669, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 183.4)
- ἔσθοντας καὶ ... (1700, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 4, 127.2) (with hypercorrect <σθ> for <στ>, see I, 3.8.1.4)
- ἔστοντας ἀρφανὲς (1710, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 32, 94.6); ἔστοντας τέσσερα ἀδελφία καὶ ἡ μάνα τως νὰ παντρεύτηκε (ibid. 94.10–11)²⁰⁷
- ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ προξενεῖ σκάνδαλον μέγα (1645 [19th-c. copy], Jassy, LEGRAND 1903: 5, 11.14–15)

Stressed on the penultimate, in line with the stress position in Occit. estant, ἔστόντα(ς) has been found in texts from Cyprus and the Dodecanese from the 15th c. onwards:

- ἔστόντα εἰς τὸ νησὶν τῆς Νισύρου, εἶδαμεν ... (1453, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1986b, repr. 1991: 2, 197.5 facs.)
- ἔστόντα του τζιβιτᾶνος (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 48, 26.3) (ἔστοντατου in the diplomatic transcription)
- στὸν θάνατον ἔστόντα | (θωρῶ ...) Cypr. Canz. 83.8
- ἔστόντα εἰς τὸ σπῖτιν του Fior 86.22; ἔστόντα ἀμουρούζης τῆς γυναίκας τοῦ Οὐρία ibid. 96.9–10
- ἔστόντα καὶ ἡ ἐκκλησία ... δὲν πλανᾶται Pist. Kekoim. 89–90
- ἔστόντας καὶ ὁ γ'οῦμενος τοῦ Κύκκου ... καὶ νὰ ἐγόρασεν (1646, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 5, 15.3–4); ἔσθόντας καὶ νὰ γ-εἶχαν οἱ Πολεμίτες κάποια χωράφια (1679, ibid. 16, 393) (with hypercorrect <σθ> for <στ>, for which see I, 3.8.1.4).

With /i/ for /e/ in the root it was found once in ms V of Machairas, perhaps formed by analogy with the other invariable form of εἶμαι, the infinitive εἶσταιν, which in Cypriot had a variant form ἔσταιν (see above, 4.8.4): εἰστόντα του εἰς τὴν Φρανκίαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 230.40 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) (spelled ἡστόντα in the Dawkins edition (282.22)).

The gerund ἔσοντα(ς) can be found in the same period as ἔστοντας. Morphologically, this form is very likely to be modelled on Italian essendo (rather than on stando/stante), with substitution of the gerundial morpheme /ondas/ for Italian /endo/. It is very seldom used as a true gerund (see the example from Koronaios below), but is far more common in ²⁰⁷ Note the paratactic construction in which ἔστοντας functions both as a gerund and as a conjunction.

the temporal or causal constructions with νά, καί, όπού, etc. that serve as periphrases for the gerund (for details see IV, 3.4 and 3.5).²⁰⁸

- έσοντα καλά το κορμίν χορταμένον Anthos Ch. G 231.2 έσοντας να συλλογισθεί ταύτα Syndipas 116.32 έσοντας έκει (1503, Constantinople, YANNOPOULOS 1974: 132.7) (letter of an Ottoman official to Andreas Gritti; provenance of scribe unknown) έσοντας νά 'σαι ελεύθερος Theseid III.78,5 (1529) έσοντας νά 'ν' στού στρώμαν SKLAVOS, Symf. 91 έσοντα ζηλεμένος KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.13; έσοντα σ' όρδινία ibid. X.51 έσοντας πώου εσυνάχθησαν MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 217.37–8 έσοντας πώς δέν ήθέλησαν (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 40, 100.5) έσοντας να περάσουν πολλοί χρόνοι (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 233.27) (provenance of scribe unknown) έστοντας vel έσσοντας PORTIUS, Grammar 41.33 έσοντας να είναι όλοι μίας πίστης Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.10–11 οί δέ νησιώται ούτω' έγώ έσοντας να σπουδάζω μαθένω KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 113.17–18 έσοντας όπού δέν ήταν ό Μεχεμέτ Γιαζατζής PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §14.32 έσοντας να μισέψει (1663, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 2, 19.4) έσοντας να μήν έχει ό Κουσαντήης φορτώματα (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 52.9–10); έσοντας να έκαμα μιά μινιά κιρι (ibid. 4, 60.1) έσοντας να έπρόγινωσσε ή μάνα KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.135

Forms in -οντας are phonetic rather than morphological variants of -οντας, representing a graphematic realization of nasal deletion before stops, whereby /nd/ becomes /d/ (cf. 4.7; for details see I, 3.6.2.1):

- έστοτας να του είμαι χρεωφελής (1501–3, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 7, 33.6) έσοτας και να έχη (1533, Naxos, MILIARAKIS 1888: 58.10) έσοτας πώς δέν ήμπορεί να μπει (1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 179, 153.5) έσοτας (1683, Naxos, TOURTOGLOU 2000: 2, 115.9) (εσώτας in the ed., but the accentuation in the document, where present, is arbitrary)

Sometimes a new, participial-looking but in fact gerundial, form derived from this innovative gerund can be found, but unlike a participle it does not have a full inflectional paradigm, limiting itself to a form in -ος, reminiscent of the masc. and neut. gen. sg. authors and scribes were familiar with from obsolete genitive absolute constructions (see also 4.7, and see IV, 4.4.6):

- οί κριτάδες ... έστοντός τους εις την αύλήν Assizes B 277.7; ό υίός ... ένι νόμου ήλικίας, τουτέστιν έστοντος ιε' χρόνων ibid. 281.15–16 έστόντος συτσακισμένος Assizes A 182.23, and in a genitive absolute construction: έστόντος αύτοϋ εις την γην ibid. 50.7

Forms in -ες occur in texts from the Heptanese (see 4.7 for other gerunds in -ντες):

- έσοντες πώς την ήθελε πάρει (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 5, 5.7–8); έσοντες πώς τό ήθελε έχει πουλημένο (ibid. 23, 80.15)

²⁰⁸ For a substantivized use of έσοντας in Theseid: τό έσοντάς του Theseid IV.49,6 (1529), see KRIARAS, Lex. vols 5 and 10 s.v. είμαι.

Another form that looks like a masc. pl. participle but is, in fact, a gerund is the form στάντες, clearly formed on the basis of Italian stante, with an added final /s/ (cf. similarly adapted Italian nouns and adjectives in -ε(ς), II, 2.6.2 and II, 3.5.1). It has not been found before the end of the 16th c., mostly in the adverbial construction with (καὶ) νά (see also IV, 3.5). The unadapted form without final /s/ can occasionally be found as well.

στάντες καὶ νά κήν (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 37, 29.35) στάντες καὶ ... νά μὴν ἔχω νά δώσω (1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 219, 206.15–6); στάντες καὶ ... νά μὴν ἔχουν τὸ σιτάρι (ibid. 236, 223.12); στάντες καὶ νά σαλπάρη τὸ θανατικό (1619, ibid. 329, 308.8)
 στάντες νά ἔχε γυναίκα ἐπαρμένη (1628, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 2, 333.16) στάντες καὶ νά ἐγρικῆσamen (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 83.4) στάντες τὸ παρὸν ἀκόρδιον (1641, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 7, 278.37) στάντες νά μὴν κατέχουνε (1674, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1939: 3, 122.25) στάντες τὸ ἄνωθεν συμβεβηκός, δὲν ἠθέλησεν ... PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 116.27–8 στάντε κ' ἠθέλεν ἔχει τὰ δεντρά (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 31, 50.10); στάντε ἢ ἄνωθεν κοτέντα (ibid. 33, 52.10) στάντε ἦτον εἰς τὴν προτετζιὸν τῶν μεγάλων PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 111.11–12

4.9 Residual Forms and Innovations

4.9.1 Residual Forms

By the beginning of the LMedG period certain morphological categories had disappeared from the spoken language as well as the lower registers of the written language. Among these are the middle voice, which had begun to be replaced by the passive in the Koine (HORROCKS ²2010: 103); the synthetic future, which from Roman times onwards was increasingly replaced by various analytic formations (HORROCKS ²2010: 130), such as ἵνα/νά + subjunctive, as well as auxiliary verb constructions, many of which remain in use in the period covered by this Grammar (see 5.1); the synthetic perfect and pluperfect, which, too, had been replaced by auxiliary verb constructions (see 5.3 and 5.4); and the optative, which had fallen into disuse in popular speech and had become interchangeable with the future indicative and the aorist subjunctive in written texts (HORROCKS 2014b), later to be replaced by analytic constructions such as ἄμποτε νά + subjunctive.

However, authors and scribes were familiar with these residual forms through their education, and therefore they can still be found in the period covered by this Grammar, though mostly in mixed- to higher-register texts (see also TOUFEXIS 2008).

4.9.1.1 The Middle Aorist Indicative

Middle aorists of various verbs appear in mixed- and higher-register sources such as Nikon of the Black Mountain, Glykas, Digenis G, and others:

ἐπιλεξάμην NIKON, Logos 4 206.31 ἡκριβωσάμην, ὃ φασιν, ἐξ ἀπαλῶν ὀνύχων GLYKAS, Stichoi 5; φόνον οὐκ εἰργασάμην ibid. 543 ὡς ἡδυνάμην Eisit. f.4v.12 τοὺς γονεῖς καὶ τὴν πίστιν μου διὰ σὲ ἡρνησάμην Dig. G II.190; φυλακῆς ἔρρυσάμην ibid. V.72 παρεστησάμην Ptoch. I 114; συνεγραψάμην ibid. 116; τὴν θύραν ἡραξάμην ibid. 182 ροδόσταμμαν ἐνίψατο Achil. N 1059 ὡς ἐδέξω τὰς πηκτάς Paroim. H 38 νῦν ἐψευσάμην ἐκ παντός [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1754; τὴν κόρην τῆς κολάσεως ἐκείνης ἔρρυσάμην ibid. 2537 συνεγραψάμεθα Achil. N 1881

 ὁ βασιλεὺς ἐσπάσατο τὴν ἑαυτοῦ θυγάτηρ Achil. O 624 (< ἀσπάζομαι)

Inventive poets may even form middle aorists from verbs that never had a middle voice: χاماὶ ἐπέσατο Chron. Mor. H 5882 (for ἔπεςε); ἀρρεμβωνίσατο Ekth. Chron. 21.19 app. crit. (D) (< ἀρραβωνίζομαι); καὶ ὅσες ἐμοιχεύσαντο μὲ ξένους ἄνδρες, λέγω BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 154.

In texts that belong to a somewhat lower stylistic register middle aorist forms are usually limited to a handful of verbs such as ἄρχομαι, δέχομαι, ἀφηγοῦμαι, διηγοῦμαι:

ἦρξαντο πάλιν κλαίειν Dig. E 66; ἀφῶν ἡρξάμην πολεμεῖν ibid. 154 and 1231 παρεδεξάμην τὴν βουλὴν Liv. α 787 ὡς τὴν ἐδιηγησάμην Liv. S 2464 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ἡρξάμεθα νὰ τρέχωμεν Liv. V 225; ὅλα τὰ ἐφηγησάμην ibid. 3343 καὶ ἦρξατο νὰ τραγωδεῖ Diig. Apoll. 226 μὲ χαρὰν μεγάλην τὰ ἐδεξάμην Diig. Alex. K 346.22

With the exception of certain notaries such as Grigoropoulos, Montesantos and Vlasopoulos, middle aorists are not very common in EMG non-literary texts and are generally absent from literary texts that show dialectal colouring (Crete, the Heptanese and Cyprus). The verb γίνομαι appears to be a special case, as middle-looking forms occur in a variety of texts that do not normally have middle aorists, such as for instance Machairas: ἐγένετον εἰς τὸν καιρὸν ἐκεῖνον ὅτι ... MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 62.36. Given the fact that the distinction between imperfective γιν- and perfective γεν- and their distinct verbal aspect is blurred (see 2.4 for details), these forms of γίνομαι are morphologically best viewed as imperfects.

4.9.1.2 The Middle Aorist Infinitive

Residual aorist middle infinitives in -ασθαι (sigmatic aorist) and -έσθαι (thematic aorist) can occasionally be found in mixed- and higher-register texts. Again, γίνομαι appears to be the exception, being rather more common (see also 2.4):

ὁμολογοῦμεν ... ἀποτάξασθαι (1123, Sicily, GUILLOU 1963: 4, 60.6) καὶ θέλω σὲ ἀφηγήσασθαι Liv. V 97 οὔτε βουλόμεθα ἀναδέξασθαι πλέον γουμάριν (1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: [α'], 292.18–19) θέλομεν διηγῆσασθαι τὸν ἔρωτα τὸν μέγαν Achil. N 752 μὴ ἔχουσα τί διαπράξασθαι Spanos A 271 ἡθέλησα καλέσασθαι πρὸς με τόνδε τὸν νοτάριον (1510, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 23, 39.4) διὰ τὸ γενέσται (1073, Constantinople?, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 50, 10.125) (for <στ> see I, 3.8.1) μέλλει γενέσται Assizes B 265.2–3 ἡ ταραχή, ἡ μέλλουσα γενέσθαι Diig. tetr. 892 καὶ ἐμᾶς ἀρμόζει ἀπὸ τοῦ νῦν πρὸς σὲ παραγενέσθαι Achil. N 1439 τὰ μέλλοντα γινέσθαι Chron. Toc. 1157 μέλλει γὰρ ταύτην ἀμνηρᾶς λαβέσθαι εἰς γυναῖκα Dig. A 53

4.9.1.3 The Middle Aorist Imperative

The sigmatic middle aorist imperative ended in -αι in the singular and -ασθε in the plural. Due to sound change, the singular had become homophonous to sigmatic aorist active forms in -ε. However, the middle aorist had been obsolete for too long for these forms to re-emerge as active aorists. Aorist middle imperatives are generally rare in the period covered by this Grammar, occurring mainly in higher- and mixed-register texts, with one lexical exception: the imperative of δέχομαι, δέξαι, is the only form that survives as an active form δέξε until the present day (see ILNE s.v. δέχομαι), and it is certainly not uncommon in the LMedG and EMG periods (though a corresponding plural form has not been found):

δέξαι τὸ σὸν γεράκιν Dig. G III.265 δέξαι με, κόρη, σύμβουλον Achil. N 970 κυρά μου, δέξαι με FALIEROS, Thrinos 121 δέξε μας GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 433 δέξαι αὐτὴν τὴν σπλαχνικὴν μου θυγατέρα Diig. Alex. E 303.5–6 (Lolos) δέξε τοῦτο, ἀδελφέ, το παραμικρόν Vios Filaret. 242.4 καὶ δέξε με τὸ γληγορώτερον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.133 θέασαι τὸ φίλτατόν σου τέκνον Dig. G VII.119 ρῦσαι με τῆς στερήσεως, ρῦσαι με τῆς πενίας Ptoch. III 284 ἴασαί με, Κύριε STAFIDAS, Iatrosoph. 9.258 ρῦσαι με ἄχ τὰ δεσμὰ Cypr. Canz. 131.13 πιστόν λαόν Σου ρύσαι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 9984

Plural forms are very rare: ἐκδέξασθε τὸν πόλεμον ὅπου σᾶς θέλουν δώσει Pol. Tr. 875.

The middle imperative of verbs with a thematic (second) aorist is very rare too, with the exception of γένου/γίνου (< γίνομαι),²⁰⁹ which is certainly not uncommon. This form is aspectually ambiguous and the distinction between forms of the imperfective stem (γιν-) and those of the perfective stem (γεν-) is blurred (see 2.4). Fluctuations in the position of the stress, paroxytone in -ου or oxytone in -οῦ, had existed since Antiquity (VENDRYES 1938: 126, 128):

ἀποβαλοῦ τοὺς λογισμοὺς GLYKAS, Stichoi 341 μεταβαλοῦ πρὸς τὸ κρεῖττον (1359–60, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 248, 450.55–6) τὴν θλίψιν ἀποβάλλου Florios 313 (pres. ἀποβάλλου in Flor. L 313) ἀντιλαβοῦ τὴν ἡγεμονίαν ΔΟΥΚΑΣ, Ist. 47.27–8 καὶ μὴ μοῦ ἐπιλάθου Dig. T 2650 γίνου προσχεριάρης Ptoch. III 210; γένου προσχεράρης ibid. app. crit. (G) καὶ γίνου φίλος τῆς φιλιᾶς Spaneas Z 154

²⁰⁹ Another exception is the form ἰδοῦ (“behold!” < ὁράω), which, however, had become lexicalized as an adverb in Antiquity, see LSJ s.v.

μεσίτρια γένου τὸ λοιπὸν SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 215 γενοῦ φίλανθρωπότερος [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 717 γίνου πλάσμαν ἄγροικον Deft. Par. 67 γένου ἀτός σου ἀποκρισάρης Diig. Alex. F 270.7 (Lolos) γίνου ἑτοιμος Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 159.6 γένομαι vel γίνομαι ... imperat. γένου GERMANO, Vocab. s.v. farsi
 ἔλα, γίνου Τοῦρκος PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §4.10
 καὶ γένου μερωμένον Dimotika Ivir. X.1

AG plural forms in -εσθε are seldom found, and the following text can barely be called vernacular: ἀκωλύτως γένεσθε ἐντός καὶ ταύτην αἰχμαλωτίσατε ΚΑΝΑΝΟΣ, Diig. 295.

4.9.1.4 The Future Indicative

As noted above, the synthetic future had disappeared from the spoken language long before the LMedG period. Residual future forms are not very common in the period covered by this Grammar: τί σοι προσοίσω, δέσποτα Ptoch. I 1; ἀλλ' ἔξεις παρ' ἡμῶν, καὶ τὸ ἅπαν πλήρωμα (1359, Albania, SAKKELION 1887a: 473.27–8).

Residual middle futures can be found occasionally, especially of certain verbs such as ἄρχομαι and διηγοῦμαι. The 1 sg. form in -ομαι, 1 pl. in -όμεθα and 3 pl. in -ονται are homophonous with their aorist middle subjunctive counterparts, which is why they are often spelled with <ω> for <ο>. More often than not these residual future forms are used instead of the present indicative, rather than as real futures, or in stock phrases such as “τίς διηγήσεται” and “πῶς διηγήσομαι”, for which modal interpretations are the most likely (“who could describe”, “how should I describe”):

ἄλλως γὰρ οὐ πεισθήσομαι Dig. G I.125 ἄρξομαι ἀπ' ἐδῶ Chron. Mor. H 441; θέλω τοῦ νὰ σκολάσω | ἐτοῦτο ὅπου ἀφηγήσομαι, ἄλλο νὰ καταπιάσω ibid. 441–2 (instead of present) καὶ ἐθαύμασέν τα ὡς ἄπειρα, ἄρξεται τὰ ἐδικὰ του Liv. V 2404 (instead of historical present) τὰ δ' ἄλλα πῶς διηγήσομαι Ptoch. IV 164 app. crit. (H) (modal) ἄρξομαι διηγήσομαι τὰ γέγονεν εἰς Τροίαν Byz. Il. 2 καὶ τίς διηγήσεται τὰ ὅσα κακὰ ἔκαμαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §1.11 (modal) ὁποῖος εἰσελεύσεται καὶ λέγει μου γιὰ νὰ ῥθω VEST., Prol. Theot. 348 (instead of present)

4.9.1.5 The Perfect and Pluperfect

Residual synthetic perfects have been found in the texts examined, but they are quite rare and usually used as aorists (cf. HINTERBERGER 2007): τὴν θυγατέρα δὲ αὐτῆς δέδωκαν τὸν σουλτὰν Μουσταφίαν Ekth. Chron. 3.4–5; καὶ ἄλλοις πολλοῖς τοῦτο συμβέβηκεν (1553, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 99, 145.7); λαβὼν το μοσχάριον, δέδωκεν αὐτοῦ Vios Filaret. 241.18; and they sometimes even appear in modal or conditional environments: ἴσως, πάτερ ἅγιε, κατὰ λήθην νὰ γέγονεν (1065, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 35, 205.18–19); καὶ νὰ ἔγνωκεν καὶ ὁ κύρης σου καὶ τὴν ἐμὴν τὴν δόξαν Dig. E 1046. Pluperfects are even rarer and they, too, are used as aorists: διὰ γὰρ τοῦτο ἐγεγόνει ὁ παρῶν ὄρκος (1346/7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 257.80).

Absence of reduplication, already attested in papyri (MAYSER 1923: 222) and inscriptions (DIETERICH 1898: 215), is normal for the only surviving form of the perfect, the passive perfect participle. As new “perfect” participles are formed from the aorist stem (see 2.3.2), reduplications appear residually mainly with inherited perfect participles: ἐνδεδυμένος βύσσινα Velis. p 38; τὸ ἄνω γεγραμμένο (1573 [later copy], Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 17, 72.39); ο τύραννος ο ἄθλιος, ο βεβορβορωμένος Diig. Apoll. 358. The same is true for the perfect augment: στέμμα ἦν ἐσκεπασμένον Vulgärorakel I.194; τὸ εἰρημένον στρουμέντον (1513, Corfu, KARABOULA/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1998: 26, 40.16); ἡγαπημένα μου παιδάκια Pist. kekoim. 11. For residual active participles see II, 3.7.1.

4.9.1.6 The Imperative of Root Aorists

In AG some verbs, such as βαίνω, γινώσκω and ἵσταμαι among others, made use of the imperative endings -θι (2 sg.) and -τε (2 pl.), which were directly attached to the root of the verb, e.g. βαίνω: βῆθι, βῆτε; γινώσκω: γνῶθι, γνῶτε; ἵσταμαι: στήθι, στήτε. Other verbs with root aorists, such as ἀφίημι, δίδωμι and τίθημι had irregular imperatives (2 sg. ἄφες, δός and θές, 2 pl. ἄφετε, δότε and θέτε). Already in AG, βαίνω had developed alternative imperative formations in -α (2 sg.) and -ατε (2 pl.), which were used in prefixed derivatives of this verb. These /a/ endings remain in use in the period covered by this Grammar (see 4.5.2.3). The irregular imperatives of ἀφίημι, δίδωμι and τίθημι (ἄφες, δός, θές) remained in frequent use alongside new sigmatic formations ἄφησε, δῶσε and θέσε. Γι(γ)νώσκω appears not to have obtained a new imperative, and the residual form γνῶθι is used only sporadically in the period covered by this Grammar, as are the residual forms of the other verbs in this category:

καὶ τὸν Θεὸν ἐπίγνωθι Dig. G III.223; ἀνάστηθι καὶ λάβε σου τὰ ὅπλα ibid. VI.267 καταπεσὼν ἀνάστηθι, πάλιν κατὰτρεχέ την Ptoch. I 169 γνῶθι καὶ σκόπησέ το Liv. α 1614 app. crit. (N) μυθοτεχνολογήματα τῆς Τύχης εἶναι, γνῶθι Log. parig. O 450 (Politi) (μάθε in ms L) ἀνάγνωθι τοῦ Παύλου | ἐπιστολὴν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 758–9 κατάβηθι, αὐθέντα μου Dig. A 2534 and Dig. T 1647; στήθι καὶ φῶς ἡλιακόν Dig. A 4769

4.9.1.7 3rd Person Imperatives

Third-person forms of the active, middle and passive imperatives had started to be replaced with subjunctive forms and with various other constructions such as (ἱ)να or ᾶς + subjunctive before the LMedG period (HATZIDAKIS 1892: 218; DIETERICH 1898: 206). Residual synthetic forms occur sometimes, more often in the singular than in the plural. They appear in certain legal texts and in mixed- and higher-register literature:

Present

τῶν ἱατρῶν καλείτω τις Dig. G VIII.54 γινωσκέτωσαν πάντες (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 47.132) ἡ ρηθεῖσα μου κουμεσαρὰ ἐχέτω πλήρη ἐξουσίαν (1508, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 7, 13.20–1) ὅπου δὲ βιάση κόρην καὶ φθείρη αὐτήν, ρινοκοπείσθω, νὰ κόψουν τὴν μύτην του ΖΥΓΟΜ., Synopsis 214.K.49

Sigmatic Aorist

ἐγγισάτω ἡ μύτη σου στὸν κῶλον μας Spanos D 1466 (τὰ λοιπὰ ...) μερισάσθωσαν ἐπίσης τὰ ἐμὰ τέκνα (1504, Crete, SATHAS 1877: 23, 691.3)

Thematic Aorist

γενέσθωσαν τὰ ἀρμόζοντα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 148.12–13 καὶ σὲ καταφαγέτω GLYKAS, Stichoi 343 (but read καὶ ᾽σὲ (strong personal pronoun) because if the pronoun were clitic it would have followed the verb: see IV, 8.2.1)

4.9.1.8 The Optative

Finally, the optative is predictably very rare in the texts examined, and it is usually used as an alternative for the aorist subjunctive: ὁσάκις ἀναπνεύσειε, λυπεῖται τοσαυτάκις GLYKAS, Stichoi 111; οὐκ εἶχεν ὅ,τι δράσειε LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 611; μηδὲν τολμήσειεν κανεῖς Diig. tetr. 702 app. crit. (P).

4.9.2 The Middle Voice

A full overview of residual forms is beyond the scope of this Grammar. Therefore, the following description focuses on innovations in residual forms that occur by analogy with other endings or even through sheer confusion. The innovation and hybridity in the paradigms is especially true of the verb γίνομαι, which also shows irregularities in its stem formation (see 2.4).

4.9.2.1 The Aorist Indicative

		Residual	Innovative
Sg.	1	-άμην -όμην	-αμουν -ουμου(ν) -όμου(ν)
	2	-ω -ου	-ουν -εσουν
	3	-ατο -ετο	-ατον -ετον -εντο(ν)
Pl.	1	-άμεθα -όμεθα	-άμεθεν -όμεσθεν
	2	-ασθε -εσθε
	3	-αντο -οντο	-ουντα

The endings of the middle aorist (with a thematic vowel /a/ for the sigmatic (first) aorist and /o/ and /e/ for the thematic (second) aorist) were identical to the endings of the imperfect. Therefore new imperfect passive endings (see 4.3.1.2) sometimes replace the middle aorist ones:

καθώς σὲ τὸ ἀφηγήσασθαι Chron. Mor. P 6249 νὰ γένουμι καὶ ναύκληρος Ptoch. III 197.18 app. crit. (P) ὁ Θεὸς ἔδωκε ... κ' ἐγίνουμι καλὰ (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 78.4–5) ἐγινόμου ὅμοιος τὸν θεὸν Diig. Alex. F 268.6 (Lolos) οὐ μὴ ἐκαυχήσεσθαι Chron. Mor. H 5553 καὶ ἄρξεντο χαρίσματα ... νὰ δίδῃ Chron. Toc. 143 ἔδε καὶ πῶς ἐγίνεντον καὶ πῶς ἐκαταστάθη Moirol. Konst. 8 καὶ τὴν ὁδὸν ἠρξάμεθαι Liv. V 2382 ἐγενόμεσθαι Liv. E 3770

ἐγένονται ἐξεστηκοὶ ὁλότελα Diig. Alex. F 124.15 (Konstantinopulos)

Hybrid first aorist formations with a thematic vowel /e/ instead of /a/, in all likelihood modelled on the imperfect ending -ετο(ν) (see 4.3.1.2) rather than on the middle second aorist (given its partiality to final /n/), can be found in various texts, and rather frequently in the Chronicle of Morea:

ποτὲ καιροῦ ἔχασμήσεται ὁκάτις κατὰ τύχην GLYKAS, Stichoi 261 ἀφηγήσεται Chron. Mor. H 262; τιμητικὰ ἀποδέξεται ibid. 338; ἄρξεται νὰ πορεύεται ibid. 2469; κὶ οὐδὲν τὸν ἐφροντίσεται ibid. 4182; καὶ εἶπεν κ' ἐδιακρίσεται ibid. 6273; διατὸ ἐλογίσεται εὐθέως ibid. 9112 ἤρξατο τὴν ἀφήγησιν Liv. α 27 app. crit. (N) ὅλα ἠφηγήσεται τα Liv. S 1027 (Lambert-van der Kolf) (ed. ἠφηγησέται τα, but at verse end) καὶ ἄρξεται νὰ τοὺς λαλῇ Chron. Toc. 3914

Further confusion of thematic vowels also occurs: ἐγὼ ἐγινάμην κύριος Liv. V 3187 (for ἐγενόμην); καὶ σύντροφοι ἐγινάμεθα εἰς μίαν ποθοκατούναν Liv. V 3470 (for ἐγενόμεθα).

Addition and deletion of final /n/, very common throughout the morphology of verbs, also appears with residual forms:

καὶ ἄφρονος ἐγενόμη FALIEROS, Ist. On. 182 (for -όμην) ὅτι καὶ σὺ ἐκ τὸν οὐρανὸν ἀπόκομμαν ἐγίνου Liv. V 1571 (for ἐγένου) πότε νὰ ἐγίνου εἰς ἐμὴν ἐρωτικὴν καρδίαν | ἐξουσιαστής Liv. S 283 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ἐγίνου ὑβριστὴς Spanos A 35–6 ἠῤῥατο καὶ ἐμὲν καὶ τὰ πουλίᾱ μου Poulol. 580 app. crit. (E) (for -ατο) καὶ κατειργάσατο αὐτὸν Thrinol. Tam. 92 καὶ αὐτὴ οὐκ ἀπεκρίνατο Anthos Ch. A 167.2

The obsolescence of the middle aorist is further illustrated by the fact that there is confusion between 3 sg. and 3 pl.:

(ὁ βοῦς δὲ καὶ ὁ βούβαλος ...) ἤρξατο προσφθέγγεσθαι Diig. tetr. 549 app. crit. (A); τότε ὁ βοῦς καὶ βούβαλος ἤρξατο ταῦτα λέγειν ibid. 569 app. crit. (PA) ἤρξατο πάλι νὰ κλαίου Dig. E 66 app. crit. ἤρξατο νὰ μὲ λέγου Liv. α 1475 app. crit. (N) καὶ ἦτον ὁ μαῦρος μεθυστής καὶ ἤρξαντο τοῦ παίζειν Achil. O 180

Furthermore, various hybrid formations occur, consisting of active stem with middle ending, or middle stem with active ending:

ἀρχισάμην Pol. Tr. 12741 app. crit. (X) (conflation of ἡρξάμην and ἀρχισα) ἡρξου, ψυχή, ἀναβαίνειν GLYKAS, Stichoi 192 (ending of the second aorist (2 sg. -ου) instead of that of the first aorist (-ω)) ἡρξου νὰ μοῦ λέγης Poulol. 386 app. crit. (E) ἡρξαμεν Liv. V 2551 (for ἡρξάμεθα, with active ending) ὄσα ἡ Κορίτζια ἔφθεγγεν Flor. L 1657 (for ἐφθέγγατο)

4.9.2.2 The Aorist Subjunctive

Some innovation also occurs in the aorist subjunctive, such as addition of final /n/ to 1 sg., a thematic vowel /u/ for /o/, or the use of innovative endings (-μεθεν) (cf. 4.1.1.2):

ἄς σᾶς ἀφηγήσωμαιν Dig. E 619 (middle future?)
 ἐδάρε νὰ σέ ἀφηγήσουμαι Liv. E 3551 μαχησώμεθεν ἀνδρείως ERMON., Ilias 15.229 γιὰ νὰ γενοῦμεθεν Irodis II.344

Even hybrid forms consisting of a passive stem and a middle ending have been found: νὰ ἀξιωθοῦμεθα Irodis II.361; νὰ κατακαυθούμενθεν ibid. 361–2 (with innovative ending).

4.9.2.3 The Aorist Infinitive

The middle infinitive sometimes presents phonological innovation: ἀμβρύνασθαι (1155, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VII: 3, 361.4) (= ἀμβλύνασθαι, see I, 3.8.6.2); and there may be confusion regarding the thematic vowel:

ἂν θέλῃς καταράσσεσθαι GLYKAS, Stichoi 246 (for καταράσασθαι) ὅταν δὲ θέλῃς κτήσεσθαι Spaneas V 81 app. crit.
 καὶ θέλω σέ ἀφηγήσεσθαι Liv. α 94 app. crit. (P) τὰ μέλλοντά μοι συμβήσεσθαι SFRANTZIS, Chron. 100.3–4 οἱ γονεῖς περιχαρῶς θέλουν δέξεσθαι τοῦτο ibid. 112.2

4.9.2.4 The Future

A certain degree of innovation can sometimes be found in residual future forms, such as /u/ for /o/ in 1 sg. and 3 pl. by analogy with the present indicative (see 4.1.1.2) or the addition of final /n/: ἐδάρε νὰ σέ ἀφηγήσουμαι Liv. E 3551; οἱ Ἄρετες ἐπλήρωσαν καὶ ἄρξουνται οἱ Μῆνες Liv. V 880 (but note that the morphological future represents an aorist subjunctive in the first example and a present indicative in the second).

4.9.3 The Perfect and Pluperfect

4.9.3.1 Reduplication

Reduplication is ornamental in the period covered by this Grammar. It is sometimes applied in participles of verbs that did not have a passive voice: ἵτους μεμαθημένη Poulol. 611; and has even been found with the present indicative of a loanword λελιπεράρεται (1673, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 15, 30.23) (< Ital. liberare); or it may appear instead of the perfect augment: νά ᾿ναι τετοιμασμένος (1490, Constantinople, LEFORT 1981: 22, 109.19) (for ἡτοιμασμένος). Sometimes the reduplication is replaced by an augment: κι ὡς ἔθνηκεν ἄνευ παιδι Chron. Mor. H 7431.

4.9.3.2 The Perfect

The alternation of -αν and -ασι(ν) in the past-tense paradigms is sometimes extended to the residual perfect indicative: ταῦτα γέγοναν οὕτως (1134, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 7, 520.19); τὴν θυγατέρα δὲ αὐτῆς δέδωκαν τὸν σουλτὰν Μουσταφίαν Ekth. Chron. 3.4–5; and with a shift of the stress that is not uncommon in the aorist indicative: ἀρίφνητοι τεθνήκαν ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 221.

A learning method for Arabic that stays as close to the Arabic as possible has a few rather innovative perfects: φάσον μοι, ἐγὼ γὰ[ρ] πεινῶν εἰμι, πεπείνακα (post 1461–ante 1512, Constantinople?, LEHFELDT 1989: 117.2d–3d) (AG πεπείνηκα); ἰδοῦ, ἐγὼ κεκάθικα (ibid. 139.4d).

The perfect infinitive is extremely rare. The notary Grigoropoulos uses one, but semantically incorrectly, as it means “to be” or “to stay”, not “to stand”; it is simply a dressed-up version of εἶσταιν: πλὴν ἡ συμβία μου εἰ θέλει ἑστάναι καὶ οἰκεῖν ἐν τούτοις (1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 42, 73.22–3).

4.9.3.3 The Pluperfect

As noted, residual pluperfects are very rare indeed. In the following examples the pluperfect appears with the ending and stress of the active aorist indicative: οὕτως ἐγέγονε ἡ παροῦσα μου διαθήκη (1588 [17th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 464.10–11); διὰ πίστεως ἀληθείας ἐγέγονε τὸ παρὸν (1671, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1970: 3, 259.6–7); διὰ τὸ ἀληθὲς ἐγέγονε τὸ παρὸν (1631, Kea, VISVIZIS 1949: 7, 65.4); whereas in the following form the ending of the passive aorist is employed: ἐγεγόνηκε Alfav. 3 33 and 35 (18th-c. ms).

5 Morphosyntax

By the beginning of the LMedG period the synthetic future, pluperfect, perfect and future perfect had fallen into disuse in the spoken language and had been replaced by various analytic constructions, consisting of an auxiliary verb or a particle with various complementations. Periphrastic constructions are also in use for the aorist indicative and the imperfect, which are discussed separately. The conditional mood, which in many ways is the past-tense counterpart of the future, is expressed with the past tense of the auxiliary. Finally, in the period covered by this Grammar, there are various periphrastic alternatives for the subjunctive mood.

5.1 The Future

The synthetic future had disappeared from the spoken language long before the LMedG period. Substitution of the present indicative for the future indicative had not been uncommon since Antiquity (for examples see BĂNESCU 1915: 66–71, where older bibliography can also be found), and continues to be a feature of the language throughout the LMedG and EMG periods, as the following examples illustrate (see also IV, 4.4.1): ἄν σὺ παράσχῃς μοι τροφήν, ἂν χορηγήσῃς πόσιν, | ἔχω καρδίας στηριγμόν, ἔχω ζωῆς ἐλπίδα Ptoch. (Maiuri) 33–4; καὶ αὐρὶ ἐρκεται εἰς τὴν Ἀγίαν Σοφίαν VOUSTR., Chron. A 54.13–14. Furthermore, various analytic formations developed to replace it, such as auxiliary verb constructions (with μέλλω, ἔχω, θέλω, ὀφείλω, βούλομαι) and ἵνα/νά + subjunctive, all of which, with the exception of βούλομαι and ὀφείλω, remain in use in the period covered by this Grammar.

Also, since in Late Antiquity the sigmatic active synthetic future had become homophonous with the perfective subjunctive as a result of sound change and analogical levelling (BĂNESCU 1915: 72; HORROCKS ²2010: 129 and 317), and since both the future indicative and the perfective subjunctive had inherent future, or prospective, reference (JANNARIS 1897: 560–1), confusion between the two, and especially substitution of the subjunctive for the future, is a phenomenon not uncommon from Hellenistic times onwards (for examples see e.g. JANNARIS 1897: 555; DIETERICH 1898: 244; REINHOLD 1898: 101–3; MOULTON 1906: 185; PSALTES 1913: 217; BĂNESCU 1915: 72–4; NICHOLAS 2008). Examples from the LMedG and EMG periods include, among others: καὶ πάντως βλέψεις λογισμόν Dig. G IV.77; πλύνω δὲ καὶ τοὺς πόδας σου ibid. IV.209; ποντικοῦ βουλᾶς κόψει κάτης Paroim. H 87. The use of non-sigmatic (thematic) subjunctives instead of futures illustrates this evident confusion: (πῖνε γρουτίσαν ...) καὶ διαβῇ ὁ ρεματισμός GLYKAS, Stichoi 265; ὥσάν νά μάθῃ, πάθῃ [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2080; ἀνοιξω τὸ στόμα μου καὶ βάλω τρία δαμάσκηνα Spanos A 57 (instead of fut. βαλῶ); as does the use of future forms instead of subjunctives, e.g. καὶ ἂν τὰ παραδέξῃσαι Spaneas V 71; νὰ μὲ ἀφηγήσεσθαι Liv. V 3149; θέλουν ὄψονται ὡς καθὼς ἔκαμαν PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §3.5. For residual synthetic forms in LMedG and EMG texts see 4.9.1.

The Ancient Greek synthetic future had one disadvantage, namely that it was not morphologically marked for verbal aspect. When the subjunctive started to be used instead of the future, this use at first limited itself to aorist subjunctives, while at the same time true subjunctives came to be marked as such with the addition of the particle ἵνα (HORROCKS ²2010: 129). It was not until the subjunctive in future use began to be “reinforced” with a particle as well (first ἄν, then ἵνα/νά, see JANNARIS 1897: 556–7) that a clear morphological distinction between the punctual and the durative was obtained for the future tense. JANNARIS (1897: 418 and 556–7) gives examples of ἵνα + subjunctive used as futures from as early as Kallinikos’s Life of St Hypatios and Palladios’s Lausiac History (both 5th c.), as well as Eusebius of Alexandria (5th/6th c.) and throughout the EMedG period. It must be said, however, that the vast majority of his early examples are perfective, whereas the use of the present subjunctive appears to be limited to verbs that are durative almost by nature, such as ἔχω.

However, from the very beginning of the LMedG period, futurative νά can be found with the aorist subjunctive for the simple future and – although much less frequently – the present subjunctive for the future continuous. Compare for instance the following two examples from Nikon of the Black Mountain (late 11th/early 12th c.): καὶ νά εὔρης τὴν ὠφέλειαν τοῦ ρητοῦ ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 312.4 and ψηλάφα καὶ ἐκεῖ νά τὸ εὕρισκῃς ibid. 310.21. In the first example νά εὔρης is a simple future “[look at my interpretation of Matthew] and you’ll understand the significance of his words” (once). The form νά εὕρισκῃς in the second example, on the other hand, denotes possible repetition: “[each chapter has a caption stating which part of the scriptures it was taken from,] so all you have to do is look at the caption, and then you’ll find the source [to verify what I have written]”, in other words, “whenever you want to verify something, just look at the captions”.

The νά construction remains in use as a future throughout the period covered by this Grammar, though mainly in literary texts and with decreasing frequency in the EMG period.¹ Because the particle νά also has modal connotations, a clear distinction between future and modal (e.g. deontic, potential or hortative) use cannot always be made; e.g. the following example could have a futurative as well as a deontic reading: καὶ τότε δεῦτε πρὸς ἐμὲ καὶ κάτι νά σᾶς εἴπω Spaneas P 208 (“come to me and I will tell you something” or “come to me because I have to tell you something”).

Periphrastic or auxiliary verb constructions that express futurity consist of the present indicative or subjunctive of an auxiliary verb (μέλλω, ἔχω, θέλω) complemented by an infinitive, a subjunctive or ἵνα/νά + subjunctive, or, alternatively, a particle (θέ, θέ νά, θέννα, θά, ἔννα) + subjunctive. All periphrastic constructions can also have modal connotations, and unless the subject is inanimate or the context leaves no doubt (as in the following example: θέλει νά φανῇ ἡ ἀγάπη του [VLASTOS], Dig. P VII 386.24 (“his love will show”), the distinction between future, volitive, potential or deontic meanings is not always clear (cf. HOLTON 1993 for such cases in Erotokritos).

¹ KAPSOMENOS (1953b: 343) mentions that the future νά + subjunctive survived in Asia Minor in modern times. Remnants of futurative νά can also be found in SMG, e.g. in the use of νά with the conjunctions ὥστε, ὥσπου, μέχρι πού in futurative contexts, and the optional use of νά with ἴσως, πριν and προτού (cf. HOLTON et al. ²2012: 291–2, 558–9 and 561–2).

The following example has three possible readings, futurative, volitive or deontic: τὸ προικίον ὅπου θέλομε νά δώσομε τῆς ἀδελφῆ σου (1553, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 177, 167.16–17) (“the dowry we will/wish to/must give to your sister”); this example could have a futurative as well as a potential reading: εἶναι καμιά διακοσασιά ὅξω με δύο λουμπάρδες | και ἔχουν να μας πολεμοῦν από τες δύο πάρτες IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2243–4 (“they will be fighting us from both sides” or “they will be able to fight us from both sides”); whereas the following examples could be futurative or deontic: γιατί κατέχω σήμερα πῶς ἔχω ν’ ἀποθάνω CHORTATSI, Erof. V.285 (“I know that today I am going to die” or “I know that today I must die”); ἄρξαν νά συμβουλευῶνται τὸ πῶς θέλουσιν πράξει Chron. Mor. H 829 (“they started to deliberate how they were going to act” or “how they should act”); and this example from Livistros can have both a futurative and a volitive reading: ἄς ἔλθῃ μετ’ ἐμὲν νά ἀκούσῃ ... | ἐρωτικὴν ἀφήγησιν τὴν θέλω ἀφηγεῖσθαι Liv. α 8–9 (“the love story I am going to tell” or “the love story I want to tell”). In the following example taken from a 16th-c. gunner’s manual, a deontic reading is the most plausible: καὶ θέλεις τὸ βάλης εἰς τὴν μπουκα τῆς καμάρας (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, Morgan 1954: 64.39) (“you should place [the wooden stopper] in the mouth of the powder-chamber”); in the following example θε νά could have both a futurative and a volitive reading: κ’ εἰς ὅλους ἀναφέρνουσι πῶς θε νά τοὺς ἐβγάλῃ | ὁ Θεός, στὴν γῆν τοῦ Ἐπαγγελιάς αὐτούνους διὰ νά βάλῃ, | ὥσάν καλὰ τὴν ἔταξε εἰς τοὺς ἡμᾶς πατέρας CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2207–9 (“God will lead them out [of Egypt]” or “God wishes to ...”).

However, even if a construction has modal force, it does not lose its future reference as such:² deontic and potential readings, denoting what must or might happen, are inherently futurative, and even in the case of volition, the desire may be situated in the present, but the possible fulfilment of it is typically placed in the future. The precise distinction between future and modal functions of a construction belongs to the domain of theoretical linguistics, but is less relevant to a descriptive grammar. Therefore examples of futures with possible modal connotations have not been excluded from the following description.

Given the great number of possible future formations, sometimes writers apparently have difficulty choosing, opting for a conflation of two or more constructions: ὅπου μέλλει νά θέλω ζήσει Pol. Tr. 342 app. crit. (V); τὰ ἀγάλματα τὰ μέλλουν θέλουν γένῃ Byz. Il. 773; νέφῃ θελὰ θέλου γερθῇ FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 112; ὅ,τι θὰ μὴ θῆς τάξει (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 11, f.44r.5) (= θὰ μὲ θῆς τάξει, with raising of /e/ to [i], see I, 2.5.4). Different constructions may also be coordinated: ὅπου θέλουνε μὲ θάψει καὶ κηδέψου (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 1, 29.14).

² In this context, the only modality that is not inherently futurative is the epistemic modality, which expresses a degree of confidence on behalf of the speaker regarding the veracity of the utterance: ἐσὺ θῆς ξεύρεις νά μοῦ πῆς VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 18; θέλει προέρχεται ἀπὸ το κτύπημα Don Kis. 47.8; παιδὶ θε νά ὦσαι ἵνους ὀχθροῦ μου CHORTATSI, Erof. IV.693.

For the use of some of these constructions as periphrastic subjunctives see 5.7. For the hypothetical future with past-tense auxiliaries that indicates that the exact realization is unknown (hypothetical future scenario) see 5.2. For the construction πά νά + subjunctive, which expresses futurity without, however, losing the idea of motion see 2.4 s.v. ὑπάγω.

5.1.1 νά + Subjunctive

As noted in the introduction to this section (5.1), ἵνα + subjunctive started to be used as a future long before the beginning of the LMedG period, mainly with the aorist subjunctive, to express a simple future. In the period covered by this Grammar futurate νά can be found with the aorist subjunctive for the simple future and – less frequently – the present subjunctive for the future continuous:

νά + Aorist Subjunctive

- καὶ νὰ τὰ εὕρης εἰς καιρὸν εἰς ὄφελόν σου μέγα Spaneas V 116 ἐρώτα καὶ νὰ μάθης GLYKAS, Stichoí 137; κουκκίν-κουκκίν ἂν σωρευθῇ, τὸ μόδιον νὰ γεμίσῃ
ibid. 183
 προσδοκᾷς τί νὰ σὲ παραβάλῃ Ptoch. I 101 νὰ τὴν ἰδῇς μετὰ θεὸν | εἰς ὀλιγὰς ἡμέρας Eisit. f.1v.13–14
 καὶ ἂν εὕρετε τὸ ἀδέλφι σας, εἰς μίαν νὰ σᾶς τὸ δώσω Dig. E 64; ἐγὼ νὰ σοῦ τὸ ποίσω ibid.
 1574
 καὶ ἐγὼ νὰ σᾶς συντύχῃ Liv. V 2544 τώρα νὰ ἰδῇς ... τὸ τί σὲ θέλω ποίσει Poulol. 39 εἰς πόσα πηδήματα νὰ φθάσῃ ὁ σκύλος τὸν λαγῶν (15th c., Unknown, SEARBY 2003: 11, 698.3) καὶ δὲν ἐψήφας τί νὰ πῇ διὰ σὲ τινὸς τὸ στόμα SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 28 ms καὶ ἔπιον, πίνω καὶ νὰ πιῶ ὀλωνῶν τὲς πικράδες LIMEN., Than. Rod. 196 πλοῦτον πολὺν ... νὰ κερδέσῃς Alfan. 14 48 λέγει τους: τὴν ἀπηλογιά γοργὸ νὰ σᾶς τὴν ποίσω Theseid I.109,8 (Follieri) μωρὴ, κάνεις ἐκεῖνο ποῦ σοῦ ἔπα ἢ νὰ σὲ σκοτώσω (1579, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 1975: 7, 97.34–5)
 καὶ μὴν εἴπησ ὅτι· νὰ πάγω εἰς καλὸ μοναστήρι διὰ νὰ σωθῶ PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §4.6
 στὴν κόλασιν θὰ καίονται καὶ παιδευμοὺς νὰ δοῦσι BOUNIALIS M., Kat. ofel. 408 τὴν ὄψιν σου νὰ χάσῃς MONTSEL., Evgena 722 app. crit. πὼς δραγουμᾶνος ἔγινεν καὶ γράφτουσαν νὰ κάμῃ KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 196

νά + Present Subjunctive

- νὰ εἰμὶ καὶ ἀφρόντιστος Dig. G IV.211 σύννους ὅς ἦσαι καὶ πραῦς, καὶ φρόνιμον νὰ σ' ἔχουν Spaneas P 98 καὶ ἐγὼ καὶ τὸ κοράσιον μου νὰ εἴμεθεν ἀντάμα Dig. E 1304 ἐκεῖ νὰ σὲ ἀναμένω Liv. V 2849 ἵς τὴν Τροιάν νὰ καρτεροῦμεν ERMON., Ilias 13.290 καὶ δοῦλοι σου νὰ εἴμεθεν ἡμεῖς καὶ τὰ παιδιά μας Achil. N 562 καὶ νὰ ἦσαι ἡγαπημένος ὑπὸ ἰδικούς καὶ ξένους STAFIDAS, Iatrosóf. 20.72–3 κάθεα χρόνο ... νὰ στέλλῃ ... μ' χιλιάδες δουκάτα (1483, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 2, 41.5–6) ἀλλήλους νά δικάζονται καὶ νά κρυφομιλοῦσι Deft. Par. 19 ἐγὼ νά σὲ φυλάγω καὶ νά σὲ τιμῶ Diig. Alex. F 140.26 (Konstantinopulos) λέγω σοι ὅτι νά σε αγαπῶ Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 83.23 (γινώσκοντες καλὸν καὶ πονηρίαν ...) νά 'στέν σ' ἀθανασία VEST., Prol. Theot. 51

Sporadically διὰ νά can be found instead of νά: καὶ ὡς πότε τοῦ Χάρου τὸ σπαθὶν τὸ αἷμα διὰ νά στάσση; LIMEN., Than. Rod. 89.

5.1.2 μέλλω

Future	General	Restricted	Rare
Simple	μέλλω νά γράψω μέλλει νά γράψω	μέλλω γράψει(ν) μέλλω γράφει(ν) μέλλεται νά γράψω	μέλλω τοῦ γράψειν μέλλω τοῦ γράφειν μέλλω γράψω μέλλω διὰ νά γράψω μέλλει γράψει(ν) μέλλει γράψω μελλά γράψω μέλλεται γράψει(ν) μέλλομαι νά γράψω μέλλομαι γράψαι
Continuous		μέλλω γράφει(ν) μέλλω νά γράφω μέλλει νά γράφω	μέλλεται νά γράφω μέλλομαι νά γράφω

The verb μέλλω had been in use in future-referring contexts since Antiquity, and can be found throughout the period covered by this Grammar. Μέλλω is generally used in texts alongside other future periphrases, and it usually expresses a very definite, inescapable type of futurity that borders on the deontic. This use of μέλλω is attested from the 1st c. AD (MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 48); it is, for instance, often used in the context of death.

In the LMedG and EMG periods μέλλω can be found with active and passive infinitives, with νά + subjunctive, and sporadically with a bare subjunctive. Impersonal μέλλει is, as a rule, constructed with νά + subjunctive. The passive μέλλομαι, with 3 sg. μέλλεται used impersonally, is a southern feature (found in texts from Crete, Cyprus and Zakynthos), whereas univertation of the verb and νά (in other words incorporation of μέλλει and νά into one word: μέλλει νά > μελλά) has been found in one Cypriot text only (cf. θελά (5.1.4.5), μπορά (4.1.2.1) and πά (2.4 s.v. ὑπάγω)). For 3 sg. of μέλλω/μέλλομαι νά + subjunctive it is impossible to establish whether the auxiliary verb has impersonal use or not, unless a text uses only the one or the other for all persons (such as e.g. Assizes, Machairas, Cypr.

Canz., Falieros and Chortatsis, where we find impersonal μέλλει/μέλλεται + νά only).³ In the following description, when a text has examples of personal μέλλω of other persons, 3 sg. examples are considered to be personal as well.

5.1.2.1 μέλλω + Infinitive

The verb μέλλω complemented by an infinitive is more common in non-literary texts, often of a legal nature, than it is in literature. It is used in documents from all areas, whereas in literature it appears mainly in mixed- and higher-register texts (Dig. G, Ermoniakos, Dellaportas, Sfrantzis, Dig. T), with single instances in more vernacular texts (Chron. Mor., Dig. E). It can hardly be a coincidence that two early texts in which a conscious effort is made to write in a form of language closer to the vernacular, Ptochoprodromos and Glykas, do not use μέλλω at all, whereas it appears routinely in Glykas's learned work. The construction obviously belonged to the written rather than the spoken registers of the language.

Whereas in post-classical times, after the demise of the future infinitive, the present infinitive was by far the most common complement of μέλλω in both literary texts and papyri, in the EMedG period the aorist infinitive had begun to gain ground rapidly. This is reflected in papyri of the period, though hardly so in other, more conservative, textual sources (MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 53–4 and 90–1). The rise of the aorist infinitive as a complement of μέλλω continues in the LMedG period, and by the 14th c., the aorist infinitive had clearly become the preferred form to express perfectivity. However, as in earlier stages of the language (MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 30, 57–8), the present infinitive after μέλλω, leaving aside the examples with inherently imperfective verbs such as εἶμαι and ἔχω, continues to be aspectually ambiguous, conveying mainly perfective meanings, e.g. the texts of Nikon of the Black Mountain (late 11th/early 12th c.) (not counting direct citations from other texts) have four instances of an aorist infinitive, against fifteen present infinitives, with no apparent aspectual differentiation.⁴ Absence of aspectual distinction is also evident in the examples from S. Italy, the second example from Athens, in Dig. G, Diig. sevast. Thom., Byz. II. and Alfav. 14. Even as late as the 17th c., Ioakeim Kyprios has two instances of μέλλω + infinitive, both with present infinitives that have no aspectual value. Only the Chronicle of Morea, which has only two instances of μέλλω + infinitive, uses the present infinitive in a clearly imperfective, durative sense (note the repetition of the meaning in line 4746 with imperfective θέλουν ἐπαινεῖ): μέλλει στήκει τὸ ἔπαινος τῆς σημερινῆς ἡμέρας, | ὅπου μᾶς θέλουν ἐπαινεῖ ὅσοι τὸ θέλουν ἀκούσει Chron. Mor. H 4745–6.

³ These texts use impersonal μέλλει for the future, though Assizes B and Machairas do very occasionally display personal use of ἔμελλα, in past contexts: ἔμελλες νά με πλερώσης Assizes B 413.11; ἔμελλαν νά τὸ φέρουν ibid. 427.31; ἔμελλαν ... νά πᾶσιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 274.36 (only examples).

⁴ Both can express the future simple and continuous. Note that when Nikon uses other means to express futurity, such as νά + subjunctive (see above), the choice of the present or the aorist subjunctive is clearly an aspectual one.

μέλλω + Aorist Infinitive

ὅταν χωρισθῇναι μέλλῃ ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 106.21; μέλλομεν γὰρ πάντες λόγον δώσειν id., Logos 33 862.16–17 ὅπου μὲ μέλλουν ἐνταφιᾶσαι (1197–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 42, 217.12) μέλλουν ὀρμαστῆναι (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 238.392)

ἦν μέλλει γινεῖ (1359, Albania, ΣΑΚΚΕΛΙΟΝ 1887a: 473.9–10) τὸ πῶς τὸ μέλλω ἀφηγηθῇ Chron. Mor. H 4683 καὶ πάντες μέλλομεν σταθῇν τὴν φοβερὰν ἡμέραν Dig. E 1755 (hapax) μέλλεις ἀνέβην Pol. Tr. 62; μέλλομεν ἀππλικεῦσαι ibid. 205 μέλλω χύσαι ΕΡΜΟΝ., Ilias 7.153; μέλλει γένειν ibid. 12.338; μέλλομεν ἔβγειν ibid. 16.55 τίνος μέλλει γενέσται ἐκεῖνος ὁ σκλάβος Assizes B 265.2–3; τι μέλλει γενέσται ibid. 488.11 (only with this verb) μέλλει κριθῆναι Assizes A 25.26 (hapax) μέλλει θρύψαι Ptochol. α 394 μέλλεις βασιλεῦσαι (16th c., Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.IV, 259.84.2) εἰς τὸν ναὸν ὅπερ μέλλω θαφῇ (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIDI 1996: 16, 227.7)

τὰ ὅσα ἐνταῦθα μέλλει διορθῶσαι (1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.13) τὰ ὅσα μέλλουν συμβεῖ ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. III §34.3 (hapax; usually constructed with νά)

μέλλω + Present Infinitive ὅταν μέλλουσιν οἱ ἀδελφοὶ ἐσθίειν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 100.21; μέλλω κατακρίνεσθαι id., Logos 3 164.5–6

μέλλει διαδέχεσθαι (1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 16, 210.43) ἰδοὺ γὰρ μέλλουσιν ἡμᾶς οἱ διώκοντες φθάνειν Dig. G IV.628 (hapax) μέλλω ἀποθνήσκειν Diig. sevast. Thom. 185 μέλλεις ἔσθαι ἐν αὐτῷ ἀμετακίνητος (1431, Athens, BUCHON 1843: LXIX, 291.17–18); τὰ μέλλουν ἀφιερεῖν (1437, ibid. LXXI, 297.13) καὶ κρίσιν μέλλουσι ζητεῖν Byz. Il. 227 αἰτία μέλλει εἶναι ΣΦΡΑΝΤΖΙΣ, Chron. 194.9

ἐνθυμήσου ... πῶς μέλλεις ἀποθνήσκειν Alfan. 14 40

τι μέλλει τοὺς τυγχάνει ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 4584; πού μέλλουν ἀναγνώθει ibid. 6060

Μέλλω with an articular infinitive in the genitive can occasionally be found in middle-register texts of the MedG period,⁵ but by the LMedG period this construction should without doubt be considered an even greater learnedism than μέλλω + infinitive. There are several attestations in higher-register texts of the 14th c.: μέλλομεν τοῦ ἀπελθεῖν (14th c., Cyprus, KODER et al. 2001: 245, 436.164); μέλλομεν καὶ ἡμεῖς τοῦ εἶναι εἰς τὸ μέσον (ibid. 436.166–7); μέλλει τοῦ ζητεῖν Diig. Alex. M 2440.

5.1.2.2 μέλλω νά + Subjunctive

Substitution of νά + subjunctive for the infinitival complement, a widespread phenomenon certainly not restricted to auxiliary verb constructions (for details see IV, Chapter 2), occurs with μέλλω in literary texts and in documents from the early 14th c. and throughout the period covered by this Grammar, from north to south and from east to west. Due to the definitive nature of μέλλω, expressing what will inevitably happen (“I will die/be buried/be judged”), perfective complementation (aorist subjunctive) is much more common than imperfective complementation (present subjunctive). However, contrary to the infinitival complementation (see above, 5.1.2.1), the examples with the present subjunctive clearly have imperfective readings.⁶

⁵ E.g. ὡς μέλλων τοῦ ἀναγῶναι Ps. Symeon, Chronographia 641.16 (10th c.; ed. Bekker); ὅτι μέλλεις τοῦ κρῖναι Symeon the New Theologian, Hymn 24, l. 111 (10th–11th c.; ed. Kambylis).

μέλλω νά + Aorist Subjunctive

- μέλλουν νά λάβουν (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 226.24) οἱ ποῖοι μέλλουν νά εὔρεθοῦν (1481, Rhodes?, TSIRPANLIS 1968: 2, 206.46) τὸ μέλλεις νά ποιήσης Log. parig. O 154 μέλλεις ν’ ἀποσώσεις FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 319 μέλλει νά πνιγῇ πρῶτον ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 25.5; ἐπειδὴ μέλλω νά γένω φαγί σου ibid. 79.3 αὐτός γὰρ μέλλει καὶ νεκροῦς καὶ ζωντανούς νά κρίνει Diig. Apoll. 663 μέλλει νά γενεῖ/γένει τὸ φοβούμενε BAROZZI, Letter 359.20 (letter in Latin script) μέλλω νά θαφτῶ (1582, Patras, ZOIS 1936/37: 17–18, λδ’.24) τί ἄδικον ἔκαμα καὶ μέλλω νά χαθῶ Vios Aisop. I 282.28–9 τὸ ποτήριον ὅπου ἐγὼ μέλλω νά πῶ KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 20.22; ὅταν μέλλουσιν ἐτοῦτα ὅλα νά τελειωθοῦν ibid. Mark. 13.4 μέλλουν τὰ ἄσπρα νά ἀλλάχθουν ΠΑΡΑΣΥΝΑΔ., Chron. I §32.15; μέλλουν ... νά ἀσεβήσουν ibid. IV §5.12
τοῦ ἱερέως πού μέλλει νά μὲ θάψῃ (1644, Lefkada, RONDOYANNIS 2005: 2, 441.19) νά ἴθω μέλλω PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1231; τί πλιὰ νά κάμης μέλλεις ibid. 1800 ὅπου μέλλουν ... νά ὑπάγουν (1683, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2008: 5, 56.5) μέλλει νά ἀποδώσω (1693, Corfu, TSITSAS 1978/79: [2], 205.8–9) ποῖός μέλλει νά βγῇ νικητής KORNAROS, Erot. II.1306

μέλλω νά + Present Subjunctive

- μέλλουσιν οἱ αὐθέντες μου νά κάμνουν γάμον ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 31.4
ποιά στράτα μέλλεις νά κρατῇς KORNAROS, Erot. III.1534

In verse texts διὰ νά is sometimes used instead of νά because it usefully provides an extra syllable:

- ὦς μέλλει διὰ νά ἀναλωθῇ Pol. Tr. 5562 app. crit. (A) τὸ μέλλει διὰ νά ἔχῃ Chron. Mor. P 5312 τὸν θάνατον πού μέλλεις διὰ νά πάρῃς MONTSEL., Evgena 539 μέλλει διὰ νά βγῇ Dig. O 49

Absolute use of μέλλω, with a strong sense of “destiny” or “fate” (cf. μέλλομαι, below) has been found in Cretan texts and in texts of unknown provenance (Liv. V and Imb. Rim.):⁷

⁶ In the example from Noukios, a dog says to a wolf that wants to eat him: “I’m skinny and poor now, but if you wait a bit, my masters will be celebrating their wedding, and there I’ll eat very well, so I’ll be a lot tastier to you.” A future simple (μέλλουσιν κάμειν) would automatically make the wedding party precede the dog’s eating well chronologically (“they’ll celebrate the wedding, and then I’ll eat”). In the second example, Erotokritos says to Aretousa: “you must seriously consider to which road you’ll stick (i.e. remain in love with him), or which way you’ll choose (“καὶ ποῖαν ὁδὸ νά πιάσης”), so that you’ll neither lose your life nor be married off to the prince of Byzantium.”

⁷ Absolute use of ἐμέλλα in past-tense contexts can also be found: ἀλλὶ καὶ τί τοὺς ἐμέλλεν ἐκείνους τοὺς ἀθλίους! Pol. Tr. 12038; τοῦτα γὰρ μὰς ἐμέλλα Apoll. Rim. V 964 (same in all versions).

καὶ εἴτι μέλλει ὅς γένῃ Liv. V 2814 τί μέλλει περὶ τούτου DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 534 ἡ Μοῖρα σου ἃ σόγραψε καὶ μέλλει FALIEROS, Erot. En. 59 ἔβαλεν καὶ στὸν λογισμὸν ὅτι γαμπρὸς τοῦ μέλλει Imb. Rim. 388 ἀνέναι καὶ μου μέλλει CHORTATIS, Panor. II.330; ἀπῆς ἐσύ μου μέλλεις ibid. V.356 νὰ μάθω τί 'ναι τὸ βαρὺ κακὸν ὅπου μᾶς μέλλει Thysia Avr. 152 καὶ δὲν τοῦ μέλλει, τάσσω σου, τοῦ γέρο τὸ κουλούρι FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.500
 ὅ,τι μοῦ μέλλει θὰ γενεῖ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 499.7
 ἡ τζόγια τίνος μέλλει KORNAROS, Erot. II.1710 τὸ πρᾶγμα ποὺ τοῦ μέλλει Leilasia Par. 432

5.1.2.3 μέλλει νά + Subjunctive

Impersonal μέλλει has been found from the 14th c. (Chronicle of Morea) and throughout the EMG period, in literary and non-literary texts. The impersonal use of μέλλει is very likely to be the result of the semantic development of the verb toward a particular kind of futurity with strong deontic connotations, thus gaining a semantic overlap with other verbs denoting obligation such as impersonal πρέπει and ἐνδέχεται (MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 127–30), although examples with a simple future meaning can also be found: κί εἰς τοῦτο ἵντα μέλλει | νὰ κάμωμε τὸ λοιπονίς; CHORTATIS, Katz. IV.210–11 (“so what are we going to do about it?”). Impersonal μέλλει is used for both the simple future (aorist subjunctive) and the future continuous (present subjunctive), but perfective complementation, denoting something that will (inevitably) happen at some point in the future, is the most common. Imperfective complementation denotes a state or situation that will occur in the future (e.g. μέλλει νὰ σωκέται, below), often occurring with inherently stative verbs such as εἶμαι and ἔχω, but it can also express repetition in the future: e.g. μέλλει νὰ μπαίνουν καὶ νέοι ἡγούμενοι, below. For the use of impersonal μέλλει in Cypriot see AERTS 1983.

μέλλει νά + Aorist Subjunctive μέλλει νὰ ξμπης Liv. E 490; καὶ πάλιν μέλλει μου λοιπὸν νὰ πάθω διὰ τὴν κόρην ibid. 2477 ὅταν τὴν νίκην ἤκουσαν ὅτι μέλλει νὰ ἔχουν Pol. Tr. 2386 μέλλει ν' ἀπιλογηθῶ (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 78.2); μέλλει νὰ γράψω (15th c., Thrace, ibid. 8, 101.10–11) καὶ μέλλει νὰ τοῦ δώσωμε (1469, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 115, 54.2) μέλλει νὰ εἰποῦμεν Assizes B 273.2; μέλλει νὰ ἔρτουν ibid. 466.28 γιατί σὲ μέλλει μετ' αὐτὸν νὰ ζήσης, ν' ἀποθάνῃς FALIEROS, Erot. En. 94 οὕτως μέλλει νὰ πάθουν Alosis 867 μέλλει νὰ τὴν κληρονομήσουν KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 394.4; μέλλει νὰ γεννηθεῖ ibid. 416.6–7 καὶ τώρα μέλλει τὴν ψυχὴν στὸν ἄδην νὰ τὴν πέμψω AITOLOS, Ais. Myth. 94.9

 τὸν θάνατον ὅπου μέλλει νὰ λάβω (1535, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 58, 100.22–3) μέλλει νὰ ἐλθοῦνε (1588 [17th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 464.24) μέλλει νὰ πολεμήσετε Chron. Tourk. Soult. 89.31; μέλλει νὰ τιμηθῇτε ibid. 89.33 τώρα σοῦ μέλλει | ... τὸ θάνατο νὰ πάρῃς PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2592–3 μέλλει νὰ πᾶνε (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 323, 523.4–5) τοῦτα ὅλα τα λυπητερά, οὔ ποὺ μέλλει νὰ συνέβουσιν VAROUCAS, Logoi 467.29–30 μέλλει νά + Present Subjunctive⁸

- τιμήν ὅπου τοῦ μέλλει νά ἔχη Chron. Mor. H 5312 ὅταν τήν νίκην ἤκουσαν ὅτι μέλλει νά ἔχουν Pol. Tr. 2386 μέλλει νά δουλεύῃ Assizes B 403.1–2 αὐτὸν ποὺ μέλλει ν' ἀγρυπνᾷ FALIEROS, Erot. En. 24 (ἡ καρδιά μου ...) μέλλει νά σωκείται Cypr. Canz. 56.8 (< ἐσωκαίομαι) ποια μέλλει νά ἔχει πλερωμὴ ἡ ἐδική μου ἀγάπη; CHORTATSI, Panor. IV.178 μέλλει νά μπαίνουν καὶ νέοι ἡγούμενοι (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174.15–16) τι μέλλει νά ᾽ναι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2456 ἂν εἶν' καὶ μέλλει μου σ' τοῦτα τὰ πάθη νά ᾽μαι KORNAROS, Erot. I.1015

Univerbation is very rare with this verb (cf. θελά (5.1.4.5), πά (2.4 s.v. ὑπάγω) and especially μπορά (4.1.2.1)): ὑμνω τὸ δὲν μελλά ᾽βρω Cypr. Canz. 146.5.

The combination of impersonal μέλλει with an infinitive is very rare and awkward, since this construction fails to show the number and person of the subject: μέλλει, Μυρτάνη δέσποινα, σήμερον ἀφηγεῖσται Liv. α 20 app. crit. (N); μέλλει στραφῇν, τοὺς εἶπα BERGADIS, Apok. A 459 app. crit. (AB).

Sporadically μέλλω/μέλλει can be found with a bare subjunctive, probably influenced by the θέλω periphrasis, for which this construction is rather common (see below, 5.1.4.2): τὰ μέλλουν γένουν Byz. Il. 322; πέντε βασιλεῖς Ἀγαρηνοὶ μέλλει βασιλεύσουν τὴν Κωνσταντινούπολιν (16th c. [ms], Peloponnese?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 50B, 365.15.16–17); μέλλει ποιήσουν στάσιν (16th c., Peloponnese?, ibid. 58I, 426.15).

5.1.2.4 μέλλεται νά + Subjunctive

In the period covered by this Grammar, passive impersonal μέλλεται can be found complemented with a νά clause. It is a southern feature, found in texts from Crete and one from Cyprus, and in ms V of the War of Troy. Much like the impersonal use of μέλλει, which in a way removes any responsibility for a future event from the subject, the use of the passive voice, too, stresses the inescapability of what is bound to happen and the powerlessness of the subject to influence its outcome.

μέλλεται νά + Aorist Subjunctive

- πῶς μέλλεται νά γένῃ FALIEROS, Ist. On. 324 λέει μου: αὐτὴν τὴν γέφυρα μέλλεται νά διαβοῦμε PIKAT., Rima thrin. 204 τὸ μέλλεται νά ποίσης Cypr. Canz. 92.66; μέλλεται νά γιάνης ibid. 98.28; ἂν μέλλεται ποτὲ νά ᾽χουσιν τέλος ibid. 110.7
 δια το μεγάλον το κακόν ᾽πού μέλλεται νά πάθουν Apoll. Rim. V 1688 τί μέλλεται νά κάμω CHORTATSI, Katz. I.108; ποιά μέλλεται νά πιάσομε στρατά id., Erof. II.441; μέλλεται νά χάσεις | τὴν βασιλείά σου ibid. IV.538–9 τί μέλλεται νά κάμω BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 384.19; μέλλεται νά τελειώσει ibid. 540.14 ἐκείνου ὅπου μέλλεται γυναίκα νά μέ πάρῃ KORNAROS, Erot. I.1458; τὸ κακὸ ποὺ μέλλεται νά σ' εὔρῃ ibid. I.1970

⁸ The 3 sg. examples from Falieros, Cypr. Canz. and Chortatsis are considered to be impersonal since these texts do not use personal μέλλω νά.

μέλλεται νά + Present Subjunctive μέλλεται νά ἔχη Pol. Tr. 2338 app. crit. (V) μέλλεται ... νά τὰ γνώθῃ FALIEROS, Ist. On. 50

5.1.2.5 μέλλομαι νά + Aorist Subjunctive

Personal μέλλομαι is less common than impersonal μέλλεται. Examples have been found in texts from Crete and Zakynthos and in ms V of the War of Troy:

μέλλονται νά γένουν Pol. Tr. post 5560 app. crit. (V) αὐτὰ τὰ πάθῃ μέλλονται νά σᾶς καταδικάσουν FALIEROS, Thrinos 233

᾽ς τούτον τον τρόπον μέλλομαι, Νίκανδρε, ν' απεθάνω; SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. N2.3 (1658)

5.1.2.6 μέλλομαι + Infinitive

Personal μέλλομαι with an infinitive, clearly a more “elevated”, written variant of μέλλομαι νά + subjunctive (also note the residual form of the aorist infinitive), has been found in an early document from Crete: μέλλεστε κερδίσαι (1414, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 13, 96.4).

Absolute use of μέλλομαι (cf. μέλλω, above) occurs in Cretan texts and in one ms of the War of Troy:⁹

ὥσάν δὲ καὶ τὰ πράγματα μέλλονται, οὕτως εἶναι Pol. Tr. 1168 (reading of ms X) τοῦ καθενός καὶ ᾧ μέλλεται FALIEROS, Erot. En. 62 καὶ τώρα τί σοῦ μέλλεται BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 502.14 ἴντα νά τοῦ μέλλεται KORNAROS, Erot. II.694; κ' ἴντα κακὰ σοῦ μέλλονται ibid. III.454; πολὺ κακὸ μοῦ μέλλεται ibid. IV.124

5.1.3 ἔχω

Future	General	Restricted	Rare
Simple	ἔχω νά γράψω	ἔχω γράψει(ν)	ἔχω γράψω ἔχει νά γράψω
Continuous		ἔχω νά γράφω	ἔχει νά γράφω

The construction ἔχω + infinitive, which in classical Greek had modal force denoting mainly possibility or ability (MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 33–8), can be found to express futurity from at least the 1st c. AD.¹⁰ Whereas at first it clearly belonged to the lower stylistic registers, during the EMedG period this construction started to be used more and more in middle-register texts (BĂNESCU 1915: 78–81; MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 94–9). In most of the period covered by this Grammar it continues to be one of the available constructions to express futurity, although the construction also continues to have modal connotations (deontic, potential). From at least the 13th c. onwards, ἔχω begins to take on νά + subjunctive complements, which, again, can have both futurative and deontic or potential meanings. Complementation with a bare subjunctive, common for the θέλω construction (see 5.1.4.2), is extremely rare with ἔχω, as is impersonal ἔχει, which is used with impersonal verbs only (e.g. χιονίζει). For the use of ἔχω constructions in the subjunctive see 5.7.1; for ἔχω + infinitive as a perfect see 5.4.1.6.

⁹ Absolute use of ἐμέλλομουν in past-tense contexts can be found in the same area: κὶ ὥσάν ἦτον τὸ ἐριζικὸν κ' ἐμέλλετον τὸ πρᾶγμα Chron. Mor. H 2482; τοῦ Φορτουνάτο ἐμέλλεντο FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.200; τοῦ Φορτουνάτο μου ἐμέλλουσου ibid. V.328–9; κὶ ὅλα δικά τση ἐμέλλουνταν KORNAROS, Erot. V.232; κὶ ἀπτεῖς ἐμέλλετον ἐσέ ibid. V.1395.

5.1.3.1 ἔχω + Infinitive

The ἔχω + infinitive construction can be found mainly in literary texts of the LMedG period (MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 145–7), and had by then already started its steady decline as a future in favour of the θέλω construction. The aorist infinitive is the only infinitival complement in the texts examined,¹¹ which is corroborating proof for the residual nature of this construction (cf. μέλλω), as by the beginning of the LMedG period there was already a means to distinguish between perfective and imperfective aspect in the future tense (cf. νά + subjunctive and θέλω). For the use of ἔχω + infinitive as a futurative subjunctive, see 5.7.1.1. For the use of this construction as a perfect, see 5.4.1.6.

ἔχεις ... εὐρεῖν καὶ νοῆσειν πάντα, ὅτι εὐκολον ἔχουν τὸ νόημα ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 310.10–11 ὡς ἡ γραφὴ δηλώσαι ἔχει (1134, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1930: 33, 14.14) καὶ κρίνειν ἔχει ὁ Θεός Dig. G II.197; ἔχει γενέσθαι ibid. IV.429; εἰ ἐγερθῆναι ἔχει ibid. VI.507 χαλάσειν ἔχει ὁψέποτε, κατακλιθῆν καὶ πέσειν GLYKAS, Stichoi 359

¹⁰ JANNARIS (1897: 553), whose earliest example is from Ignatius of Antioch (1st c. AD), deems it a scholastic construction, whereby he appears to underestimate its frequency in the period covered by this Grammar. GIGNAC (1981: 289) gives the following example from the early 2nd c.: οὐκ ἔχεις ἀκ[οῦ]σαι PMich. 476.12. For more examples see e.g. JANNARIS 1897: 553–4, DIETERICH 1898: 246 and PSALTES 1913: 216–17. See MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 62 for a refutation, on chronological grounds, of Jannaris's hypothesis that the construction is modelled on Latin habeo + infinitive.

¹¹ Present infinitives can occasionally be found in middle- and lower-register EMedG texts, mainly of the verb εἶμαι: Θεόδωρος ὦδε ἔχει εἶναι Miracles of St Artemios 43.15 (7th c., ed. Papadopoulos-Kerameus); ἢ ἄλλος ἔχει εἶναι εἰς τὸ παλάτιον, ἢ ἐγὼ Theophanes, Chronogr. 127.13 (9th c., ed. De Boor); ἀλλ' ἡμεῖς ἐτέροις ἔχομεν ἀκολουθεῖν De Ceremoniis II 427.13 (10th c., ed. Reiske); ὅπου ἂν ἔχη περιπατεῖν (10th/11th c.?, Tinos, Feissel 1980: 5, 485.3). Sporadically instances can also be found in high-register LMedG texts: εἰ ἔχει εὐρίσκειν τὸν τρίτον ἀνάλογον Pachymeres, Quadrivium I 72.14 (13th–14th c., eds. Stephanou/Tannery); οὐ μόνον ἐφ' οἷς ἔχει λέγειν: οὐκ εἰσακουσθήσεται (1264, Athos, Lefort et al. 1994: 60, 107.20–1); τί λοιπὸν ἔτερον ἔχω γράφειν πρὸς σέ (1286, Cyprus, Beihammer 2007: 89, 219.13). The following example from Panoria is not a future periphrasis, but a misinterpretation by the editor: να μάθει ἀνέναι και καλό γή και κακό του μέλλει, | να ᾿χει τήνε ρωτά κι αυτή ζιμιό του προφητεύγει CHORTATSIS, Panor. IV.154–5. One should read: ἀνέναι και καλό γή και κακό του μέλλει | να ᾿χει, τήνε ρωτά, κι αυτή ζιμιό του προφητεύγει (“[whoever wants to know] asks her if he will have good or bad [fortune], and she gives her prophecy immediately”), as in the new edition (Bancroft-Marcus).

μαθεῖν ἔχει πλατύτερον (1214, Cyprus, LAMBROS 1908b: I, 46.8) τί ἔχει παθεῖν ὁ λέγων Ptoch. IV 499 ποῖσέ το τὸ σ' ἔχω παραγγεῖλει Log. parig. L 165 παρακαθίσει τὸ ἔχει Chron. Mor. H 2898; τὸ κάλλιον ... ὅπου ἔχομεν ποιήσῃ ibid. 3647 καὶ ἂν οὐδὲν ἔλθῃς τὸ γοργόν, κατέβειν ἔχω εἰς Μάγγε Dig. E 288; κλίνειν ἔχω κεφαλὴν ibid. 290 τὰ καλὰ, ἅπερ ἔχω ποιήσῃν καὶ ἀναστήσῃν (1403, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 10, 93.4–5) ὅσῃν ἀκαρτερεῖ νὰ λάβει καὶ ἔχει λαβεῖν (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 18, 158.5–6) φονεύσει σ' ἔχει σύντομα, διατὶ πολλὰ ἐπήρθη Velis. ρ 91 εἰ ἴσως ταῦτα ἂν εἰπῇς, ἔχεις καλῶς ποιῆσαι Velth. 922 καὶ ἔχω σὲ ἰδεῖν Diig. Alex. F 108.12 (Lolos) ἄρα τι μέγα κακὸν ἔχομεν ἰδεῖν (post 1647, Crete?, SCHREINER 1975/79: 65.III–V, 508.33.7)

5.1.3.2 ἔχω νά + Subjunctive

The replacement of the infinitive with νά + subjunctive is a widespread phenomenon in various syntactic environments (see IV, 2). In his grammar Girolamo Germano notes that the future in Greek is formed just like in Italian: “ha da scrivere ἔχει νά γραφῇ ... ha da essere scritto ἔχει νά γραφθῇ” (102.13–15). And indeed this construction is especially common in areas with Italian influence. However, it also occurs in other areas and therefore the emergence of this construction should not be attributed to language contact alone. Like μέλλω (see above), ἔχω νά + subjunctive often expresses a very definite, inescapable kind of futurity (destiny-future in the terminology of MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 144), and due to this definitive nature of ἔχω, expressing what will inevitably happen (“I will die/be buried/be judged”), perfective complementation (aorist subjunctive) is much more common than imperfective complementation (present subjunctive), which has not been found before the 15th/16th c. However, the examples of present subjunctive clearly do have imperfective, durative, readings.

ἔχω νά + Aorist Subjunctive ἂν ἔχη εἰς τὰ ἐπιθάνατα νὰ τὸ εὔρη, μὴ σὲ μέλη GLYKAS, Stichoī 364 ἀνέφερε μας ὅσα ἔχει νὰ ποιήσῃ (1448?, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 45, 321.5) οὐδὲν ἔχου[ν] νὰ χαθοῦν Diig. Alex. F 172.6 (Konstantinopulos) καὶ αὐτὸς ἔχει νὰ πάρει τὸ μερτικόν του (1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.28) ἀπ' ἐχουσίνε νὰ γενοῦ CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 94 κάθα ἄνθρωπος νὰ εἶναι τσέρτος πῶς ἔχει νὰ ἀποθάνῃ (1607, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 448, 410.2) θωρώντας πῶς ἔχει νὰ καταγρεμιστῇ Vios Aisop. I 282.28 καὶ πῶς ἔχει νὰ πῇ VEST., Prol. Theot. 103 ἔχεις νὰ κολαστῇς βέβαια PAPASYNAD., Chron. II §9.36 εἴτι καὶ ἔχει νὰ γενεῖ Bertoldos 57.14–15; ἐκεῖνο ὅπου ἔχει νὰ ἔλθῃ αὔριον ibid. 63.25–6 νὰ πάγουν ἔχουν καὶ ἐκεῖ IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6625; μες στὴν Κωνσταντινόπολιν πῶς ἔχουν νὰ κατέβουν ibid. 7154 καὶ τὰ θηρία τ' ἄγρια ἔχουσι νὰ μὲ φᾶσι MONTSEL., Evgena 624; ἔχω ν' ἀναστενάξω ibid. 1515 μέ ἐρώτησε ἀνισῶς καὶ ἔχουν νά κάμουν ἀγάπην μέ τοὺς Πολωνέζους (1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 57.21) (author from Athens) ἔχει νά βαλθεῖ (1675, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1955: 519.4) βασίλισσα ἔχεις νά γενῆς, ρήγισσα ν' ἀποθάνης KORNAROS, Erot. III.289 ἔχω νά + Present Subjunctive καλὰ καὶ νά 'χω νά πονῶ γιὰ 'δῶ τὸ στερεμό σου FALIEROS, Thrinis 106; ὁπῶχει ν' ἀγαπᾶται id., Ist. On. 544 (“she who will be loved (had better watch out for the likes of you men)”) με τσι φωνές του σήμερο ἔχει νά με παιδεύγει CHORTATSI, Panor. II.76 λουλούδια ἔχουν ν' ἀθοῦσι MONTSEL., Evgena 1266 ἔχουν νά μας πολεμοῦν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 2244

5.1.3.3 ἔχει νά + Subjunctive

Impersonal ἔχει with νά + subjunctive is very rare (the example from Landos is considered to be impersonal since “κά(μ)νει χιόνι” is impersonal as well): ἔχει νά δαμάσουσιν οἱ πόνοι τὴν ψυχὴν του Diig. sebast. Thom. 248; ἔχει νά κάμη πολὺ χιόνι LANDOS, Geopon. 131.20; καὶ ὅλα τὰ σύνορα τοῦ μοναστηρίου, οὔθεν ἔχει νά εὐρίσκωνται (1672, Gortynia, YANNAROPOULOU 1972: 70, 319.3–4).

5.1.3.4 ἔχω + Subjunctive

Complementation of ἔχω with a bare subjunctive can very marginally be found; so marginally in fact that there is room to doubt its validity (pace MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 142–3). Isolated examples found in the LMedG and EMG periods are the following:¹² τὰ καλὰ ἄπερ ἔχεις ποιήσεις καὶ ἀναστήσειν (1382, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 2, 89.4) (θησαυρὸν ...) ἔχω γάρ σε δείξω ERMON., Ilias 24.155 app. crit. (C) ἀπέλθω ἔχω καὶ ἐγὼ Dig. E 1420 που ἔχουν καταντήσοσιν εἰς τὰ σκοτεινιάσμένα ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 8708

All of these examples may easily be regarded as simple mistakes: the Cretan example, which combines a subjunctive (ποιήσεις) with an infinitive (ἀναστήσειν), is a standard phrase that appears in several other documents in the same collection as ποιήσιν καὶ ἀναστήσειν; the example from Ermoniakos is the reading of one ms, where the others have an infinitive; Dig. E, of course, has come down to us in one ms only. In the example from Ioakeim Kyprios it is likely that he accidentally omitted νά after ἔχουν, cf. κάτω εἰς τὴν ἀπώλειαν ἔχουν νά κατεβούσι ibid. 8934; μες στὴν Κωνσταντινόπολιν πῶς ἔχουν νά κατέβουν ibid. 7154.

¹² The sole 4th-c. example of a counterfactual εἶχα + subj.: εἶχες γὰρ ἐπὶ πολλὰς ἡμέρας εὐφ[ρ]ανθῆς σὺν αὐτῷ ΡΟΧΥ, 1676r13, quoted in MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 71 and heralded as proof for the existence of a wider pattern of subjunctive complementation with ἔχω (ibid. 72, 147, 167), is in fact a scribal error corrected by the scribe himself into -θῆναι (LIOSIS 2011: 112). The second LMedG example of MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 147: πῶς νά τὸ ἔχω εἶπῶ Pol. Tr. 7763 ms B (εἰπεῖν) in the other mss) is a phantom, since from the critical apparatus it can be gathered that ms B actually reads πῶς νά τὸ εἶπῶ.

5.1.4 θέλω

	General	Restricted	Rare
Simple	θέλω γράψει(ν) θέλω γράψω θέλω νά γράψω θέ(ν) νά γράψω	θέ(ν) γράψω θέλει γράψω θά γράψω	θέλω τοῦ νά γράψω θέλει νά γράψω θελά γράψω
Continuous	θέλω γράφει(ν) θέλω γράφω θέλω νά γράφω	θέλει γράφω θέ(ν) νά γράφω	θέλει νά γράφω θέλω εἴσταιν γραφόμενος

Future-referring θέλω + infinitive can already occasionally be found in AG and the lower registers of Hellenistic Greek (see LSJ s.v. ἐθέλω, II and MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 40–1 and 83–4), but its breakthrough is probably to be dated to the EMedG period. DIETERICH (1898: 245–6) gives examples from inscriptions and papyri of the Roman period and later, though his first unambiguous examples date from the 6th/7th c. (δικασθῆναι θέλωμεν BGU 103.1). Another example, in a papyrus datable to the 4th–7th c., is the following: ἡ μητέρα σου ἀσθενεῖ· ἀποθανεῖν θέλει (P. Michael. 39; see www.papyri.info). According to PSALTES (1913: 216) the construction does not appear in the Byzantine chronicles, though it can be found in Moschos and Leontios of Neapolis (early 7th c.).¹³ BĂNESCU (1915) quotes various examples, most of which are not unambiguously futurative, as noted by Markopoulos, whose conclusion regarding the EMedG period is that θέλω will have remained in use in the lower linguistic registers, and may even have had a wider spread, although, due to a regrettable dearth of sources, there is very little textual evidence at hand to corroborate this supposition (MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 112–13).

However, from the very beginning of the LMedG period θέλω constructions are well represented in texts, and are soon to become the most popular way to express futurity. The construction can be found not only in vernacular texts, but also in mixed- and higher-register texts such as the works of Nikon of the Black Mountain (late 11th/early 12th c.), Dig. G and Kekaumenos,¹⁴ a strong indication that the construction was well established in the lower registers before the LMedG period, and had already started to spread to more formal writings by the beginning of the LMedG period (cf. MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 165–6). In the period covered by this Grammar, θέλω can be found with aorist and present infinitives, with νά + subjunctive and with bare subjunctives. Impersonal θέλει + subjunctive appears quite late and is regionally restricted, whereas impersonal θέλει νά + subjunctive seldom has a predominantly futurate reading, having strong modal (deontic) force instead. In the following description, 3 sg. forms are considered to be cases of personal rather than impersonal use of θέλει, unless there is good reason to regard them as impersonal (e.g. when a text uses impersonal θέλει only, or in the case of impersonal verbs such as χιονίζει).

¹³ E.g. διὰ τοιαύτην οὖν ἡδονὴν βλέπε πόσους κόπους θέλεις ἀπολέσαι, ἴδε διὰ ποίαν ἀμαρτίαν θέλετε ἑαυτοὺς ἀποστερῆσαι τῆς βασιλείας τῶν οὐρανῶν Moschos, Leimon 2865.46–9 (ed. Migne PG 87/3); τοῦ κυρίου εὐδοκοῦντος αὐριον θέλομεν ἐνδύσαι ὑμᾶς τὸ ἅγιον καὶ ἀγγελικὸν σχῆμα Leontios of Neapolis, Life of Symeon the Holy Fool 65.16–17 (eds. Festugière/Rydén 1974).

¹⁴ Καὶ τῶν ἀνθρώπων σου τὰς ρόγας θέλεις ἀδικῆσαι καὶ ἔσχατον ἐμέσεις ἃ οὐκ ἀπήτησας Kekaumenos, Strategikon xcvi (ed. Roueché).

5.1.4.1 θέλω + Infinitive

From the very beginning of the period covered by this Grammar, θέλω + infinitive is used, in literary and non-literary texts from north to south and from east to west, and it continues to be in use throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods. Contrary to μέλλω and ἔχω (see 5.1.2.1 and 5.1.3.1), the choice for the aorist or present infinitive is clearly an aspectual one, the aorist being used to describe simple actions and events, whereas the present denotes progressiveness/stativity (often with verbs such as εἶμαι and ἔχω), repetition or habit. For aspect in general, see IV, 4.4; for the spelling of the infinitive with <η> or <η>, as if it were a subjunctive, see 4.6.

θέλω + Aorist Infinitive

μέχρις ὅτου θέλει ἐπάρειν παναγίαν ὁ διακονῶν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos I 72.3–4 τολμήσειν θέλω, αὐγούστα μου Eisit. f.5v.11 πολὺ θέλουν κουστίζει Chron. Mor. H 601; θέλομεν φανῇ ἂν εἴμεθεν στρατιῶτες ibid. 3845 καὶ θέλετε μάθειν πᾶσαν τίποτες (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 101.9–10) κατὰ τοῦ θέλει ἰδεῖν ὁ λεγόμενος ἀποκρισιάρης (1483, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 2, 41.12) καὶ τὸ κουβετζούρι πέψει σου τὸ θέλω (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 21.15–17) εἴτε δε αποθάνεις, με τιμὴν βασιλικὴν σε θέλω θάψει Diig. Alex. K 366.7–8 θέλει το γνωρίσειν ὁ Θεός (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 171.17) ὁ φλύαρος δὲν θέλει ἀγαπηθῇ ἀπάνω εἰς τὴν γῆν Fior Suppl. 275.23 ἡ ἐγὼ θέλει τὸ ὑπάγω, ἡ θέλω τὸ στείλει (1657, Meteora, VEIS et al. 1998: 187, 211, f.200r.8–9) τὸ πῶς θέλεις ἔλθει (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.7) θέλουνε μὲ θάψει (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 1, 29.14) πλέον τέτοιον βασιλέα δὲν θέλομεν εὔρει εἰς τὴν ζωὴν μας PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §16.17 καθὼς ὁ λόγος θέλει τὸ φανερώσει Thavm. Nikon Metan. I 12–13 ὁποῖος ἡθέλει ἀκουστῇ πῶς ἔχει γυναῖκα εἰς τὸ κελὶ αὐτοῦ (1667, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 9, 24.15–16) θέλομε γράψει (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 25, f.51r.22) τῶρα θέλεις ἰδεῖ Don Kis. 49.30

θέλω + Present Infinitive

ὁ παπᾶς ὅπου θέλει εἴσταιν εἰς τὴν μονὴν (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.56); ἐκεῖ ὅπου θέλω κείεσταιν (ibid. 82.56) ὅλοι τὸν θέλουσι γελᾶ, μέμφεσται κι ὄνειδίζει Chron. Mor. H 8185 ἀποσπάζει θέλει ὅλον ἐκείνον ὅπου ἔνι ἀγκαλόμενος Assizes B 340.11–12 ὡς πότε θέλω κυνηγᾶν Dig. E 744; θέλω στέκειν νὰ ἐβλέπω ibid. 1437 μέγα ὄνειδος θέλω ἔχει Pol. Tr. 2399; καὶ πάντα θέλει αὐξάνεσθαι ibid. 5307 ἀπ' ἐσὲν τὸ θέλουν ἡξεύρει (15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 100.4–5); μὲ τὴν φρόνησίν σου θέλεις τὸ διορθῶναι (ibid. 100.7) συχνάκις θέλει φλέγεσθαι Flor. L 209 όσοι τὸ θέλουν σηκώνειν (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 271.8) νὰ παραδίδει ὅλα τὰ στάμενα ὅπου θέλει πιάνει (1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 10, 47.11) θέλουσιν βαστᾶν ἀντάμα τοὺς τὰ χαρτία (1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 15, 84.11–12) αὐτοῦ σοῦ θέλει βαστᾶν τὸ δακτυλίδιον (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.50) θέλουν εὐρίσκεισται (1550, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 68, 93.21) θέλουν ἔρχεσται (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 5, 261.15) θέλει λέγει (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.21) ὁ ἱερεὺς ποὺ θέλει ἱεουργεῖ (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 60.39) καὶ πάντα θέλω σ' ἀγαπᾶ CHORTATSI, Panor. I.392 διώχνεις με, μάνα, διώχνεις με, κι ἐγὼ πηγαίνει θέλω Dimotika Ivir. XI.1 θέλει παρακαλεῖ καὶ νὰ δέεται (1621, Sicily, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 1, 90.24–5) θέλει κάθεσταιν ἐκ δεξιῶν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 22.69 οἱ φιλομαθεῖς θέλουσι τὴν ἀγοράζει μετὰ χαρᾶς Erof. Prol. 11 (ed. 1676) θέλω εἶσται(ν) + Present Participle Passive

This construction is not very common. It usually expresses a state in the future: θέλει εἶσται κρατούμενος νὰ τοὺς δίνη τὴν χρειζομένην τροφή (Corsica, BLANKEN 1951: IX, 310.28) “he will be obliged (under obligation) to provide them with the necessary food”. An unusual example, active in meaning, is the following from Fior de Vertù: ἀποὺ εἶναι εὔκολος εἰς τὸ δεσδένιασμα, γλήγορα θέλει εἶσταιν τρεχάμενος εἰς τὰ κακὰ Fior 94.15 “he who gets angry easily will quickly be getting into trouble”.¹⁵

Shortened Forms of the Auxiliary

Before infinitives starting in a vowel, and especially before εἶσται(ν), the auxiliary may be reduced to θελ³.¹⁶ θελ' εἶσταιν καὶ πριδιάτος (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 7, 7.5) θέλ' εἶσταν κρατούμενος νὰ τὸ στρέψη Assizes A 175.25 καὶ τί θέλ' ἀπογένηι Diig. Apoll. 477 ἃ σὲ νικήσω τὸ λοιπόν, θέλ' ἀκουστῇ μεγάλως Alex. Rim. 749 (1 sg.)

 θέλ' εἶσθαι πάντα μετὰ σέ DEFAR., Log. did. 460 καὶ φορεσιές νὰ κάμουσι ὁμορφες θέλ' ὀρίσει CHORTATSI, Panor. Dedic. 41; πάντα ἀνοιχτὸ τὸ σπίτι μου θέλ' εἶσται γιὰ τ' ἐκεῖνο id., Katz. III.347 θέλ' εἶσθαι ὑπογεγραμμένον (1591, Kefalonia, CHRYSOCHOIDIS 1977: 1, 207.33) τὸ πουλίον ... θέλ' ἔλθει πάλιν Diig. Alex. Sem. B 1063 θέλ' εἶστ' ὁ χαλασμός μου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 459.26 ὁ θεὸς θέλ' εἶσταιν βοηθός μου Dig. O 705; ἡ καρδιά τοὺς θέλ' εὔρει ἰατρεία ibid. 802 ἡ Λευκουσιά θέλ' εἶσθαινε Al. Kypr. 925 (for -(ν)ε see I, 2.6.3.3) κι ἐγὼ θέλ' εἶσται δούλη σου Markada 185

Shortened forms of the auxiliary θέλω are also found with this construction from at least the 15th c. onwards: 2 sg. θές, 3 sg. θέ(ν), 1 pl. θέμε(ν), 2 pl. θέτε(ν) and 3 pl. θένε/θέσι. For these forms with volitive θέλω, which appear in written texts in the same period, see 2.4;

¹⁵ This is likely to be a literal translation from the Italian (sarà corrente).

¹⁶ The same can be observed for volitive θέλω, e.g. πρὸς τὸν ἱμπερίον λόγον θέλ' ἀρχινίσει Imb. Rim. 803; δὲ θέλ' ἄλλον ΝΕΟΦΥΤΟΣ, Achouri 50 for indeclinable θέ(ν) see below, 5.1.4.6; 3 sg. forms are considered to be personal unless a text has indeclinable θέ(ν) for other persons as well.

μάθει θές πῶς δοξεύω Pol. Tr. 4826 ἡ ξενιτεία μέ θε κερδαίσει Peri xen. 256 σέ θε πατάξει CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 206; διὰ μέ θές πᾶ στόν Ἄδην ibid. 1912 καί ποία ψυχὴ δέν θε θλιβῇ Rim. than. 61 ms (θὰ in the ed.)

θές κοπῇ πᾶσα σας δυσκολία FALIEROS, Ist. On. 733; εἰς τέτοια πάθη θές ἐμπῇ id., Log. did.

319

θές τὸν ἰδεῖ στόν ὕπνον σου Alex. Rim. 87; εἴπασι τί πάρει θε τὴν Τύρο ibid. 666 θες γλιτώσει ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 71.15 στόσον κακὸν ποῦ θε γενεῖ ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 793 θές χάσει τὸ βασιλεῖον VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 24 θές πρικαθεῖ MOREZINOS, Klini 235.10

θές ἰδεῖ τὸ πῶς δέν εἶν' τιμὴ σου CHORTATIS, Erof. II.65 δέν ξεύρουν πῶς θέν τζακισθῇ σὰν πήλινα τζυκκάλια MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1156 (3 pl. < θένε) εἰ θε τύχει (1669, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 1, 577.4) ὡς θέτε ἔδεῖ PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 71

καὶ ἐκεῖ ποῦ θές περιπατεῖ Florios 1134 ὀλίγα θές κοπιάζει FALIEROS, Log. did. 233; θές περνᾷ ibid. 317 ὅτ' ὅσα κάμω ν' ασπριστούν, ἐσύ τα θες μαυρίζεις ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 12.7

ποτέ δέν θές ἔχει τὸ λογιάζεις MOREZINOS, Klini 50.20

θές τρώγει FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.131

θές εἴσται κρατημένος (1690, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 9, 23.25)

5.1.4.2 θέλω + Subjunctive

The earliest isolated example of θέλω with a bare subjunctive appears in the Strategikon of Kekaumenos (11th c.),¹⁷ after which it does not resurface in texts until the 14th c. From then and throughout the period covered by this Grammar, it is found in both literary and non-literary texts from north to south and east to west. The most plausible explanation for the origin of the construction is still that of JOSEPH (1983: 188–9) and PAPPAS/JOSEPH (2001), who see a connection between the loss of final /n/ of the infinitive, which made the active and passive infinitives (in -ει(ν) and -η(ν) respectively) homophonous to the 3 ¹⁷ Εἰ δὲ καταγύρωθεν ὅλα θέλουν ἀποστατήσουν Kekaumenos, Strategikon clxviii (ed. Roueché). MARKOPOULOS (2009a: 166) infers that, since the construction appears in this middle-register text, it is bound to have been well-established. However, some caution is perhaps in order, since it may be a simple writing mistake (ἀποστατήσουν for ἀποστατήσιν), or a slip of the pen of the 14th-c. scribe who copied the sole manuscript to have come down to us. The correction suggested by the first editors Vassilievsky and Jernstedt and by Joseph (2009b: 206) that θέλουν ἀποστατήσουν is in fact a case of haplography for θέλουν νὰ ἀποστατήσουν is equally plausible. Kekaumenos has several instances of ἵνα used as a complementizer, e.g. οἱ δὲ ἀρχαῖοι εἶπον ἵνα μὴ ποιῇ ὁ στρατὸς ἡμέρας πολλὰς εἰς ἕνα τόπον and θέλεις ἵνα σε ἀχρειώσω; and there even are three other instances of νὰ (which, of course, could be innovations by the scribe of the manuscript, given the fact that ἵνα is much more common in this text): ἴσως νὰ εἴπῃς ὅτι ἄφρων ἐστὶ (futurative); σκοπεῖ δὲ νὰ μὴδὲ τοῦτό σε διαλανθάνῃ (complementizer); περὶ τὸ νὰ σε φοβοῦνται ὑπόχειροί σου (substantivized substitute for the infinitive).

sg. finite forms of the active present (in -ει) and the aorist active and passive subjunctives (in -η). The 3rd person singular being the most frequently used person, these forms thus allowed for reanalysis of the infinitive as a finite form, which enabled other persons for the θέλω construction to take on the corresponding finite forms as well:¹⁸

θέλω + Aorist Subjunctive

- θέλουν ἀρματώσουσι Chron. Mor. H 368 θέλου συμπαθιστοῦσι CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1086 ὅσοι θέλουν ἄφονται τὰς σάρκας τοῦ διαβόλου Phys. 530 θέλου ἀνακατωθῶ οὗλοι οἱ Χριστιανοὶ (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 61.7) θέλουν ἀρματώσουν τὸ κουμούνιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 350.31 ἀποθάνεις θέλεις Peri xen. 449 γενεὶ θέλει τῶρα χρονῶν τριάντα Diig. Alex. K 345.33; το τί θάνατον θέλεις ἀποθάνεις ibid. 365.29 οὐδὲ χωριστοῦν θέλουν εἰς ἐτοῦτον τὸν κόσμον Diig. Alex. Sem. S 423 θέλου ὑπογράψου (1641, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 229, 186.34) γιατί θέλω θανατωθῶ VEST., Prol. Theot. 33; θέλω κάμω καὶ τοῦτο id., Pathi 57 δὲ θέλουν δυνηθοῦν ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 420 θέλουν ορίσουσιν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 3964; πῶς θέλουν τον νικήσουν ibid. 8490 θέλω ἀφήσω (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 481.31) θέλουν κάμου (1671, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 20, 91.11); θέλουν πάρου (ibid. 91.18) θέλουσι πουληθοῦσι (1681, Constantinople, VELOUDIS 1987: 11, 309, f.1r.22) θέλω δώκω εἰδήσεις (1690, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 9, 23.24) θέλεις ἐπιμεληθῆς περὶ τούτου τοῦ ἔργου (1699, Sinai, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 8, 64.20)

θέλω + Present Subjunctive

- θέλεις εἶσαι πολλὰ πολλὰ ἀναπατημένος (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 173.40) θέλεις πειράζεσαι Diig. Alex. E 65.12 (Konstantinopulos); καὶ θέλεις κολάζεσαι ἐδῶ ibid. 133.9–10 καθώς θέλει πουλιέται (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 39, 44.6) ὅ,τι ἄλλο θέλει βρίσκεται CHORTATIS, Panor. I.390; καὶ πάντα θέλω σ' αγαπῶ ibid. I.392 app. crit. (A) ὅ,τι ροῦχα θέλει ἔχει στ' ἀρχοντικό τση (1607, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 448, 410.8–9) πάντα θέλεις συγχωρᾷς κι' ἐμένα MONTSEL., Evgena 366 καλλίτερα θέλεις εὐρίσκεσαι παρὰ ὅποῦ ποτέ (1655, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 178.9–10) θέλεις ἔχεις παρ' ἡμῶν τὸν ἔπαινον (1658, Galats, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 20, 126.36–7) θέλεις εἶσαι ὀρισμένος (1686, Tinos, LAMBROS 1909b: 1, 243.14) θέλω εἶμαι πάντα εἰς τοὺς ὀρισμού<ς> σου (1695, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 1 [A'], 250.15) δὲν θέλεις ἔχεις ἔγνοια δι' αὐτά (1698, Sinai, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 7, 61.56) εἰς τοιαῦτα μέρη δὲν θέλουν διαρρέουν κακοὶ χυμοὶ Don Kis. 463.15

¹⁸ Objections to this interpretation raised by MARKOPOULOS (2009a: 167) are ill-supported, since he interprets single examples that are centuries apart and crucially occur in different syntactic environments as proof of a wide pattern of finite complementation in all future periphrases, whereas the sources clearly show that only with θέλω does finite complementation occur regularly. This is not surprising given the residual character of the μέλλω and ἔχω + infinitive constructions, which generally leaves less room for innovation (for μέλλω and ἔχω see 5.1.2 and 5.1.3).

Shortened forms of the auxiliary θέλω are also found with this construction (for these forms with non-futurative, volitive meaning see 2.4):

πὼς τόνε θές πληρώσεις FALIEROS, Rim. Par. 249 (reading of ms N) ὄντε θές γράψεις χαρτὶ (1502, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 6, 29.12) θέ σέ κανακίζει DEFAR., Log. did. 459 θές δεις τὴν πεθυμιά σου CHORTATIS, Panor. I.400; πλιὰ κακὸ παρὰ καλὸ θές ἔχεις ἀπὸ μένα id., Katz. II.85; γιὰ γγίξε μου, καὶ θές ἰδεῖς, καημένε, πὼς σέ δέρνω ibid. III.534 μάθεις το θές καὶ δεῖς το θές Thysia Avr. 130 θές ἔρθης νὰ μὲ πάρης Alfan. 11 8 θές γροικᾶς KORNAROS, Erot. I.594; καὶ δὲ θές εὔρης διαφορὰν ibid. I.1527 θέν συγχυσθοῦσιν Trag. Ag. Dim. II.87; τῶρι θέτε δῆτε ibid. V.31

For persons other than 3 sg. the shortened form θέ(ν) + subjunctive is found mainly in texts from the Chios/Naxos area (Stavrinos, who was from Epirus, being the only striking exception) from the early 17th c. onwards. Final /n/ is added to θέ before stops (/k/, /p/, /t/) (for the use of this shortened form in a volitive sense see 2.4).

θέ(ν) + Aorist Subjunctive θέ γράψω GERMANO, Grammar 81.9–10; θέν πάρω ibid. 81.22; θέ γραφθῶ ibid. 82.3; θέ γράφουνε ibid. 83.17; θέν τὸ γράψω ibid. 85.32; θέ θελήσω ibid. 94.23 καὶ θε μας ονειδίσουν STAVRINOS, Diig. Mich. Voen. 164 (Pidonia) τὴν ὥρα ποὺ θέ φάγω VEST., Prol. Theot. 33; θέ διορθώσει ibid. 368; ποὺ θέ γεννήσει τὸν Θεόν ibid. 354 θέ γροικῆσεται PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 133 θέ δῆτε ὅλοι KONAR., Paidēs 53; ποὺ θέν τὴν ἀγκαλιάσουσι, κάμινον θέ βαλθοῦσι ibid. 57; θέν κάμω ibid. 181; θέν μάθωμεν ibid. 667; θέ φανοῦν τὰ λόγια σας ibid. 668; πάραυτα θέν χαθοῦσι ibid. 769 θέν ἀντιμέψω PETRITSIS, Dig. O 21; τὸ τί παιδί θέν ποίση ibid. 41; θέ γένη ibid. 53; καὶ ὅπου θέν μπορέσουν ibid. 324; τῶρα θέ ᾄδῃς ibid. 1943; δὲ θέν τὸ μετανοιώση ibid. 2248

 θέν συγχυσθοῦσιν Trag. Ag. Dim. II.87

θέ(ν) + Present Subjunctive

Σιών, μήτηρ μου θέ λογαῶσαι VEST., Prol. Theot. 103 πάντα εἰς τὸν λογισμό θέ σ' ἔχω PETRITSIS, Dig. O 946

5.1.4.3 θέλει + Subjunctive

Impersonal θέλει + subjunctive has a rather strong presence in texts from the Heptanese and Chios, and has also been found in texts from the Cyclades and Mani.¹⁹ Its first attestations date from the 16th/17th c. The presence of this construction in Panoria and Katzourbos (though tellingly not in Erofili) does not necessarily prove that it is Cretan as well, since mss A (which also contains Katzourbos), D and N are considered to have Heptanesian influences. Like most future periphrases impersonal θέλει + subjunctive can have modal connotations:

¹⁹ Beyond the period covered by this Grammar, the construction can still be found in the early correspondence of Adamandios Korais, vol. 1, e.g. in letter 11 (1783, writing to Smyrna): ἐκείνα τὰ ὁποῖα θέλει λάβω (27.10); in letter 25 (1787): θέλει εὔρης (79.33); in letter 27 (1788): εἰς τὸ ἐξῆς θέλει σὲ γράφω περισσότερα (94.5), but in 1791: θέλεις ὑποχρεώσῃν (letter 38, 146.2); and in the grammars of Katartzis and Venieris (see MANOLESSOU 2012 for details).

θέλει + Aorist Subjunctive

- (κανέναν άσκημο βοσκό ...) θέλει σου δώσου γι' άντρα σου CHORTATIS, Panor. III.245 με' άλλω θέλει σοῦ τὸ στείλω (1637, Chios, PAPADOPOULOS 1989: 3, 95.13); θέλει τὰ στείλετενε τ' άφέντη ... (1657, Ancona, ibid. 8, 111.9) (author from Chios; for addition of -(v)ε see I, 2.6.3) όπου θέλει υπογράφου (1638, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 102, 103.28) ἡ ἐγὼ θέλει τὸ ὑπάγω, ἡ θέλω τὸ στείλει (1657, Meteora, VEIS et al. 1998: 187, 211, f.200r.8–9) (author from Kefalonia) αμή εκεί στην μέλλουσάν *θέλει*ν στεφανωθούμεν ΙΟΑΚΕΙΜ ΚΥΡ., Pali 9514 καί πῶς ἀπὸ τὸ θάνατον ἐγὼ θέλει γλυτώσω; KONDA., Paidēs 328 θέλει σὲ ὀνειδίσω PETRITSIS, Dig. O 234; αὔριο θέλει δήτενε ibid. 1424 ἡ*θέλει* κάμου (1668, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 3, 14.10) θέλει ξεδιαλύνω MONTSEL., Evgena 85; θέλει τὸν ἰδοῦμε ibid. 227; θέλει στείλω ibid. 799 θέλει άτσετάρεις τὸ ὀλίγο (17th c., Sifnos?, TSELIKAS 1986c: 4, 42.28) θέλει άρριβαριστοῦνε ὀμπροστά (1681, Genoa, VAYAKAKOS 1988: 508.62–3) (author from Mani) θέλει πᾶμε νὰ κριθοῦμε (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 761, 1033.5) θέλει τὴν γνωρίσω Diig. Vefa 847 θέλει βεβαιώσουν (1707, Lefkada, GRAPSA 2006: 2, 35.17); θέλει ξεκάμομε (1708, ibid. 7, 41.9) θέλει τῶνε δώσω νοτίσια (1707, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 16, 34.22) κ' ἐμεῖς θέλει τὰ κάμομε KATSAITIS, Thyest. II.322; γλήγορα θέλει ἰδῆτε ibid. IV.269 θέλει + Present Subjunctive

- τότες δα θέλει κατέχουν οὔλοι CHORTATIS, Panor. III.377 (mss AD) ἔτσι θέλει εἴμεστέν φίλοι Bertoldos 21.33; ἐσύ θέλει εἶσαι ἕνας ἀπὸ τ' ἐκείνους ibid. 71.32 ἀπὸ τοὺς ὁποίους θέλει εἶσαι τιμημένος Bertoldin. 101.21 μὰ ξεῦρε ἀπ' ἐμᾶς πῶς θέλει ἔχεις κόπον PETRITSIS, Dig. O 898 ὅ,τι θέλει ἔζίζουν ἐκεῖνα (1682, Cyclades, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 231, 411.5–6) θέλει τῆς εἵμαι πάντα κρατημένη KATSAITIS, Klathmos III.125

Before verbs starting in a vowel the auxiliary may be reduced to θελ':

- κι' ἂν ξετελειώσης τὴ δουλειά, θελ' εἶναι γιὰ καλλιὰ σου CHORTATIS, Katz. III.18; μεγάλη καλορίζικη θελ' εἶσαι, Πουλισένα ibid. V.406 θελ' άγαπήσω GERMANO, Grammar 81.19–20 θελ' εἴμεσθέν πάντοτε ἑκεῖ σιμά τους KONDA., Paidēs 69 εἰς τὴν χώρα σου θελ' εἶσαι αὔριον βράδυ MONTSEL., Evgena 1048 θελ' εἶσαι ευχαριστημένος (17th c., Sifnos?, TSELIKAS 1986c: 4, 41.25–6)

The combination of impersonal θέλει with an infinitive is very rare, as well as awkward since this construction fails to show the number and person of the subject unless there is an explicit predicate, as in the following example (μπαλοτάδοι): οἱ ὁποῖοι θέλει εἶσται κάθε δύο χρόνους μπαλοτάδοι (1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 34.8) (deontic connotations: “who will/must be elected every two years”).

5.1.4.4 θέλω νά + Subjunctive

In the first centuries of the LMedG period there was a clear distinction between θέλω + infinitive for the future and θέλω νά + subjunctive for modal meanings, e.g. volitive:²⁰ καὶ τότε θέλω νά σέ ἰδῶ τὸ πῶς τὸν θέλεις σύρειν Ptoch. IV 509 (“and then I want to see how you’re going to drag him forth”); deontic: τὰ ρ’ δοκάτα τῆς ράτας τοῦ τὰ θέλει νά πλερώσει τὴν αὐτὴ ἐχρονία (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 50, 27.2) (“the 100 ducats in interest, which he must pay in the same year”), θες νά παρηγοῖσαι CHORTATSI, Erof. I.437 (“you must take courage”); or even potential: ὅσο κι ἂ θέλει νά ’ν’ πολὺ, πέ μου τὸ φταίσιμό σου CHORTATSI, Erof. I.113 (“however great your mistake may be, tell me what you did”). As a general interplay between modal and futurate θέλω constructions can be observed throughout the centuries (see also the introduction to 5.1 and cf. e.g. in the EMG period the use of shortened forms for both), and given the equally general tendency to substitute clausal complements for infinitival ones (see IV, 2), it was only to be expected that θέλω νά + subjunctive would come to be used for future reference as well. First examples of future-referring θέλω νά + subjunctive date to the 14th c. and the construction continues to be found in literary and non-literary texts, with a wide geographical distribution. And even though it is obviously not as popular a construction as θέλω + infinitive, it can be found throughout the remainder of the period covered by this Grammar:

θέλω νά + Aorist Subjunctive

- κι εἰς ὅσους χρόνους καὶ καιροὺς θέλω νά τὸ κρατήσω Chron. Mor. H 8737 ὅλον τὸν χρόνον τῆς ζωῆς ὅπου θέλω νά ζήσω Pol. Tr. 342 app. crit. (B) καρπὸν ὅπου θέλει νά παραλάβει ὁ λεγόμενος Μαράνος (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 48.41) διὰ τόσας ἡμερώνυχτας θέλει νά ἀνεβεῖ ὁ ὄφις εἰς τὸν πύργον (15th c., Unknown, SEARBY 2003: 4, 694.8) καὶ μετὰ ταῦτα θέλει νά μετανῶση Assizes B 250.25 ὁ Ἰωσήφ ἐγνώρισε ... ὅτι θέλει νά γεννήσει ἡ Θεοτόκος KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.10 καὶ γράφετε πῶς θέλει νά ἐρμῶσει ὁ τόπος (17th c., Athos, MEYER 1894: XVI, 221.7) ἐγὼ θέλω νά γράψω ἢ ἔχω νά γράψω KRITOPOULOS, Grammar 110.14–15 ἀφόντις ἀπεθάνω θέλω νά κάμω ἀνδραγαθίαν; [VLASTOS], Dig. P IV 343.29–30 θέλει νά ἔλθῃ τὸ γρόσι ἀπὸ ὀγδόντα PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §32.15–16; θέλει νά καὶ τὸ σπῖτιν ὅλον ibid. III §7.61 τὸ τί θέλει νά τὸρθῃ MONTSEL., Evgena 71 θέλει νά καταλυθῇ τὸ κρασί LANDOS, Geopon. 167.15–16 θέλει νά χαλάσει ἡ Ἀθήνα (1677, Athens, LAMBROS 1910: 302, 198.3) ξέχωρα θέλουν νά κριθοῦν Alfan. 15 27; δὲν μεριμνᾷς πῶς θέλεις ν’ ἀποθάνεις; ibid. 32 ἐχάρη κατὰ πολλὰ, ποὺ θέλει νά κάμῃ παιδί Alex. Fyll. 11.8–9 θέλω νά + Present Subjunctive

- ἡ γνωριμίδα τοὺς κριτάδες θέλει νά ἔνι τοιοῦτη Assizes A 52.21 τὸν Ἑβραῖον ... ὅπου θέλομεν νά πέμπομεν (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 19, 24.10–11) ὁ,τι μέλισσες θέλουν ... νά εὐρίσκονται εἰς τὸ ... μοναστήρι (1550, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 68, 93.23–4) κολαστήρια ὅπου θέλουν νά κολάζωνται οἱ ἁμαρτωλοὶ PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 110.32–3 ²⁰ Early examples of volitive θέλω + ἵνα can be found in the Hellenistic period (MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 73–6).

τὸ τέρμενο ἀποὺ θέλου νά στέκου ἀμάδι (1617, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1988: B, 160.29) καὶ τότε τί ἔπαινον θέλω νά ἔχω; [VLASTOS], Dig. P IV 343.30 μεγάλο μιστὸν θέλετε νά ἔχετε PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §16.7 καὶ τοῦτα σέ κιαμιὰ βολὰ θέλει νά τὰ θυμᾶται BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 411.13 ἡ παροῦσαν τως διαθήκην καὶ παραγγιλίες θέλου νά εἶναι ἰσχυρές (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 181.16–17) αὐτὸ θέλει νά εἶναι χειρότερον παρὰ ἐκεῖνο των ανεμομύλων Don Kis. 49.22

An example of this construction with an articular νά clause appears in version P of the Chronicle of Morea. This construction is in itself quite rare with θέλω, and if used, normally has volitive meaning:²¹ ὅσο κοῦρσον θέλουσιν τοῦ νά διαφορέσουν ... νά ἔναι ἐδικόν τους Chron. Mor. P 5674–5.

Shortened forms of the auxiliary θέλω are also found with this construction. In Cypriot texts 3 sg. is often spelled θέννα or θθὲ ννά, reflecting gemination (see I, 3.4). (For these forms with volitive θέλω see also 2.4; the construction is regionally used, as a periphrastic subjunctive, for which see 5.7.2.4; for impersonal θὲ νά see below, 5.1.4.6.)

ὡς λέων θὲ νά δράση KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua XIII.94 φουρτούνα θὲ νά ποίση Fyll. gadar. 100 ὡς ἐκεῖ ὁποὺ θὲ νά σκεπαστῇ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 68, 66.7) θὲ νά κάτση VENDRAMOS, Istor. gyn. 205; καράβι θὲ νά μῶρθη id., Istor. Filarg. 250 θὲς νά κάμεις ταραχή, σὰ σοῦ τὸ μολογήσω Thysia Avr. 133 θὲ νά τοῦ δώσει (1677, Chios, KANELLAKIS 1890: 452.2) τὸ ψαλτικὸ του, ποὺ θενὰ μὲ ψάλει (1678, Andros, POLEMIS 1977: 1, 29.9) ᾿που θθὲ ᾿ννά δῆ Thrinios Kypr. 1; θεννὰ τοὺς καταδράμη ibid. 826

5.1.4.5 θέλει νά + Subjunctive

Impersonal θέλει νά + aorist or present subjunctive is not attested very frequently and often has strong modal connotations (MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 179–82), usually deontic and sometimes potential. It can, however, also be found with a purely futurate meaning (Diig. Vefa), notably with impersonal verbs (see the examples from Morezinos and Landos):

θέλει νά + Aorist Subjunctive θέλει νά γενεῖ χειμῶνας δυνατός MOREZINOS, Klini 216.24 αλήθειαν ορίζετε, γαβρόν θέλει νά ᾿πάρω Diig. Apoll. 300 (deontic) μὰ πῶς θέλει νά τὸ ποῦμεν BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 236.10 (Xirouchakis) (potential) τὸ γουρούνη ἐγνωρίζει πότε θέλει νά χιονίση LANDOS, Geopon. 131.11–12 θέλει νά τὸν ἀποκεφαλίσουν Diig. Vefa 842

²¹ In the corresponding verse ms H has a clearly futurate θέλω + aor. inf. construction. H uses θέλω τοῦ νά + subj. sparingly, and only in volitional contexts, e.g. θέλω τοῦ νά σκολάσω Chron. Mor. H 441; ἂν θέλετε τοῦ νά γενῇ ibid. 425. Other examples of volitional use are: θέλω τοῦ νά σᾶς δεῖξω Pol. Tr. 11691 app. crit. (B); ἐσέναν εἶχε θέλημα ἄντρα τοῦ νά μὲ δώσει Liv. E 2237; μὴ θέλῃς τοῦ νά φαίνεσαι Flor. L 1127; θέλει τοῦ νά φύγη Achil. N 262.

θέλει νά + Present Subjunctive τὰ δώδεκα θέλει νά εἶναι εἰκοσιοκτώ (post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 99b, 80.5) (deontic)

οἱ κάτζες τοὺς θέλει νά ἔναι μακριές μπάλλες τέσσερεις (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 62.5) (deontic)

5.1.4.6 θελά + Subjunctive

With univerbation of the verb and νά, resulting in a form θελά (cf. μελλά (5.1.2), μπορά (4.1.2.1) and πά (2.4 s.v. ὑπάγω)), the construction has predominantly futurative reference. Only a few examples have been found, in texts of the 17th and 18th c.:²² γῆινά ἔναι τὰ κορμιά μας καὶ στήν γῆν θελά θαφτοῦν Charon II 5 νέφη θελά θέλου γερθῇ FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 112 (double construction, see the introduction to 5.1) ὁ χαλασμός θελά σταθῇ ἀκόμη τοῦ Χανδάκου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 275.14 θελά γενοῦν/γένουν τὰ δύο χωράφια ἕνα (1764, Zagori, SOULIS 1934: 53, 97.6)

5.1.4.7 θέ(ν) νά + Subjunctive

PAPPAS/JOSEPH (2001) and ROBERTS/ROUSSOU (2003: 68–9) argue that a futurative, impersonal θέλει νά + subjunctive was the direct ancestor of θέ νά, but the data presented above (5.1.4.5) indicate that this construction appears relatively late and is hardly common enough to have led to the widespread use of θέ νά. Given, as noted, the mutual influence between non-futurative and futurative θέλω constructions, and also given the fact that shortened forms of θέλω had been in use for some time in all uses of the construction, it is likely that θέ νά evolved, not from impersonal θέλει νά, but from personal θέλω νά, as noted by HORROCKS (²2010: 228–9 and 301–2, esp. fn. 11). It is often, though seldom systematically, spelled θέννα or θθῆ ννά in Cypriot texts, reflecting gemination (see I, 3.4). Θέ νά can be found from the 15th/16th c. onwards and throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar,²³ in texts from southern and insular areas (Cyprus, Crete, Heptanese, Peloponnese, certain Cycladic islands and Chios):

θέ(ν) νά + Aorist Subjunctive μέσα στὰ δάση θέ νά καταντήσω Cypr. Canz. 34.3 app. crit.

καὶ ὅλα θέ νά πᾶψου Alex. Rim. 385

ἂν τοῦς πιάσω, | ὅλους θέ νά τοὺς κρεμάσω TRIVOLIS, Tagiap. 81–2 πρίκες καὶ καημοὶ θέ νά τονέ πλακώσου CHORTATIS, Erof. Prol. 125 διατὶ θέ νά μοιράσωμεν τσι λεγόμενες ἀγελάδες (1609, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 59, 58.9) στό λίμπρο μου θέ νά τὸ βρῶ MONTSEL., Evgena 71 βλέπε, τῆς λέγει, μάτια μου, τί θενά κάμω τώρη PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1920

το φλάμπουρον κει μέσα θε να βάλουν IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 7155; θεν να διωχθούσιν ibid. 7362

²² The construction also in Vilaras's Ρομεικη γλῶσσα (1814), p. η': θελα τεριασομε, θελα φκιασομε, θελα στησομε.

²³ E.g. in Kolokotronis's Memoirs: τὰ ἄρματα τῆς Πελοποννήσου τί θενά γένουν; τί θενά γένουν οἱ κόποι τους; 58.8–9 (ed. E. Alexiou), and well into the 20th c., in the work of certain MG authors, such as Gryparis and Varnalis.

ὅπου θὲ νὰ φορτώσουσι (1670, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 2, 577.18–19) ἐκεῖ θεννὰ κριθοῦσιν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 434 θὲ νὰ ῥθῆς μὲ τὸ καράβι (1683, Gortynia, KONOMOS 1969a: 63.6) θὲ νὰ φήκουμε (1705, Symi, GEORGA-VOLONAKI 1974: 1, 204.16) τί θενὰ κάμης, διὰ ὄνομα Θεοῦ (1708, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 23, 98.50) θὲ νὰ γένου ΚΑΤΣΑΙΤΙΣ, Ifig. II.260

θὲ(ν) νὰ + Present Subjunctive θὲ νὰ τὰ ξηγᾶται Cypr. Canz. 23.11 app. crit. θὲ νὰ ῥχης θεραπεία Alex. Rim. 115 θὲ νὰ τὰ δίδω (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 180, 170.8) θὲ νὰ ψήνεται σ' αἰῶνα τοῦ αἰῶνος ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 1411 τοῦ γάμου τῇ χαρὰ θὲ νὰ ῥχῃ Stathis I.55 θὲ νὰ τρώει τὸ ἄνωθεν μοναστήρι τὸ ἥμισυ (1593, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 55, 77.12) παντοτινὰ τὼς φαίνεται οἱ ἄθλιοι θὲ νὰ ζοῦσι P&N Diath. 60 κι ὁ ἥλιος, ἄγουρέ μου, θὲ νὰ πησίνη Vosk. 118 ἐτότες θὲ νὰ εἶναι κομμένο (1626, Crete, MALTEZOU 1995: [1], 199.191–2) θενὰ ψηφίζεται (1672, Milos, CHATZIDAKIS I. 1927: A, 300.14) θὲ νὰ δίνει (1677, Chios, KANELAKIS 1890: 452.7–8) μὰ πάντα θὲ νὰ λέτε BOUNIALIS M., Kat. ofel. 383 αὐτὸς θὲ νὰ πηγαίνει εἰς τὰ πράματάν της (1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 743, 1013.10) τοῦτην τὴν γῆν ὅπου πατεῖς θὲ νὰ τὴν ῥχης στρῶμα Alfan. II 18

5.1.5 θά

	Restricted
Simple	θά γράψω
Continuous	θά γράφω

The future particle θά, now the SMG formation for the future, makes its first appearances in texts from Crete towards the end of the 16th c.,²⁴ and begins to spread to other areas ²⁴ As many editors do not seem to be aware of the relatively late appearance of θά, there are quite a few examples in earlier texts that, upon closer scrutiny, prove to be phantoms. They are either the result of editorial intervention (e.g. three instances of θά in the late-13th-c. War of Troy 1816, 8796 and 8972 and one instance in Lambros's edition of the Oxford version of Logos Parigoritikos 291), or simple mistakes, as in the 15th-c. Hymn on Death: καὶ ποῖα ψυχὴ δὲν θά θλιβῇ Rim. Than. 61, where the ms clearly and unmistakably reads θὲ θλιβῇ (Marc. gr. IX 17 (coll. 1247), f.94r; ms dated 14/05/1493); or: τὶ θά πῃ SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 28, in the same ms (f.74r), which clearly reads τὶ νὰ πῇ; in the Logoi Didaktikoi of Defaranas: τὸ τί θά φᾶσι DEFAR., Log. did. 312, whereas the Venetian edition of 1543 clearly reads: τὸ τί νὰ φᾶσι. There is ostensibly a very early example from Yemen in the Rasūlid Hexaglot, an Arabic–Persian–Turkic–Greek–Armenian–Mongol glossary composed by or at the behest of Al Malik al Afdal, king of Yemen (1363–77), written in Arabic script: ṭado pise (14th c., Yemen, GOLDEN 2000: 82.3); however, from an earlier publication by the editor on the Greek text of the Hexaglot (GOLDEN 1985: 93, s.v. θά (θαννὰ)), it becomes clear that in the Arabic transcription of this phrase the scribe did not use any diacritical marks on the Arabic characters. Here the editor transcribes this phrase as “ṭad bysy ... θά τὸ ποιήσε or θά νὰ ποιήσε”. The first character, depending on the number and position of the diacritical dots, can represent /b/, /t/, /θ/ or /n/ in word-initial and medial positions (personal communication Caroline Janssen, Ghent University). A reading νὰ τὸ ποιήση is therefore much more likely.

soon after; in the 17th c. it reaches the Heptanese and the northern mainland, and by the late 17th c. it can already be found in areas as remote as Transylvania. It is likely to be the result of univerbation of θὲ and νὰ (see above) (see PAPPAS/JOSEPH 2001 for discussion and bibliography), similar to forms such as μπορά (4.1.2.1), θελά (5.1.4.5), μελλά (5.1.2) and πά (5.1.7). For non-futurative use of this particle (e.g. volitive, as in: ὁ Κάης τότες ἐζήλεψε, τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ θὰ μοιάσῃ P&N Diath. 1270; or epistemic: δεκάξι χρόνοι σήμερο θὰ προπατοῦ, ἃ δὲ σφάνω FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.570), see 2.4 s.v. (ἐ)θέλω. The distinction between futurative and volitive use is not always easy to make. For instance, the following example can have either a futurative or a volitive interpretation: ᾽ς τόσον κακὸν ποῦ θὲ γενεῖ ἄλλην βουλὴν θὰ πιάσω ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 793. θὰ is used with an aorist subjunctive for the simple future and with a present subjunctive for the future continuous, to express progressiveness, habit or repetition.

θὰ + Aorist Subjunctive

- ἀποῦ θὰ κτίσῃς τὸν Μέγαν Ἀντώνιον (1590, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 6, 30.8) σήμερο θα σε στερευτώ CHORTATIS, Panor. I.15; καὶ κορασὲς ἀνήμπορες θάνατο θὰ τοῦ δώσου id., Erof. Prol. 126; θα τὴ ρωτήξω id., Katz. III.330 καὶ θὰ ὑπογράψῃ καὶ ἀτὸς του (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 82, 111.23–4) (hapax) θὰ τὰ ἰδοῦμε Pist. voskos II 1.169; τί θὰ κάμου στὰ παιδιὰ μας ibid. I 4.215; θὰ μοῦ δώσουν
ibid. IV 5.49
 τὰ τορνέσα ὅπου θὰ τοῦ δώσει (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 273, 265.12); θὰ βάλου (1611, ibid. 703, 607.10) τ' ἀρνὶ ὅπου θὰ σφάξομε Thysia Avr. 264 app. crit. (M); θὰ τὰ δοῦμε ibid. 570 app. crit. (M); εἰς ὅ,τι θὰ μιλήσετε ibid. 592 app. crit. (M) ξεύρεις τί θὰ γεννήσῃ ἡ αὐριανὴ ἡμέρα PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §30.22; τί θὰ πάθουν ibid. IV §1.25; τί καλὸν θὰ κάμεις ibid. IV §5.19 (only these three instances) δὲ θὰ σ' ἀναθιβάνω TROILOS, Rodol. I.351; θὰ δῶ ibid. I.644 θὰ σὲ πᾶρω P&N Diath. 14; εἶδε πῶς θὰ γεννήσῃ ibid. 2069 ὦ πῶς θὰ μὲ πειράξεις SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. E8r.30 ἐτότε θάρθοῦνε καράβια (1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 306.14) θὰ πᾶγῃ δουλευτῆς MONTSEL., Evgena 127; σκουλήκια θὰ σᾶς φᾶσι ibid. 721 φουντελομάνικα ἀπὸ τὸ στιάδι ποῦ θὰ φάνουν (1687, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1972: 16, 285.26) ἀπόκρισιν θὰ δώκῃς Alfav. II 32 θὰ τὴν περάσῃς Diig. Vefa 6 θὰ σοῦ γένῃ ἕνα φοβερότατο κρίμα EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 26.4; θὰ τὰ μεράσουνε ibid. 42.21; θὰ σᾶς-ε πῶ καὶ ἕνα κακό ibid., 48.1–2 τὰ κάτω ποῦ θὰ ποῦμε VATATIS, Periig. I 560

θὰ + Present Subjunctive

- θὰ* πιάνῃ CHORTATIS, Erof. I.103; θὰ κρᾶζουσι ibid. I.191; δὲ θὰ μιλεῖ ibid. I.354 θὰ βράζῃ μέσα Stathis II.248 θὰ κείτουνται P&N Diath. 1209 παντοτινὰ θὰ κλαίγῃς Thysia Avr. 656 app. crit. (M) θὰ στέκομέσθα Pist. voskos II 1.159 θὰ λέσι TROILOS, Rodol. II.16 σὲ φύλαξῃ θὰ σὲ κρατῶ BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 145.12; καὶ μέρα νύκτα θὰ μιλεῖ ἡ γλώσσα μου ibid. 510.12; ὅλοι θὰ τὰ θωροῦσι id., Kat. ofel. 149; θα στέκουσι δεμένοι ibid. 392; στήν κόλασιν θὰ καίονται ibid. 408 καὶ θὰ τὰ παίρνῃ (1690, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 2, f.38v.25) θάμασμα θά τὸ κρατῶ μεγάλο KORNAROS, Erot. I.1370; τρεῖς εἶχε ποῦ θά πολεμοῦν ibid. II.1271 ὅποιος τοὺς ἐγέλᾳσει, θά εἶναι συχωρεμένος ἀπὸ τὸν Θεό EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 43.4–5

An added final /n/ to θά before voiceless stops is graphematic, indicating that the stop of the following enclitic word (typically a 3rd-person pronoun) was pronounced as /d/ rather than /t/. Examples have been found in Evgena, whose author was from Zakynthos, and in Pistikos Voskos, which is held to be of Cretan provenance:²⁵ θὰν τόνε δοκιμάσω Pist. voskos I 3.214; θὰν τὴν ἀναπάψη MONTSEL., Evgena 119.

5.1.6 εἶμαι

	General	Restricted	Rare
Simple		εἶμαι νὰ γράψω εἶναι/εἶν/ἐν νὰ γράψω	εἶμαι τοῦ νὰ γράψω εἶμαι διὰ/γιά νὰ γράψω

5.1.6.1 εἶμαι νά + Aorist Subjunctive

The combination εἶμαι νά + aorist subjunctive can have future reference, usually translatable as “I am (going) to” or “I am about to”.²⁶ The construction can also have modal connotations (deontic, potential), without, however, ceasing to have future reference (for this construction see also LIOSIS 2012):

εἶναι νὰ γινεῖ μέγαν σκάνταλον VOUSTR., Chron. A 276.5; εἶναι νὰ τραβενιάσει εἰς τὴν χώραν πολλὴν κακόν ibid. 276.11–12 ὅτεν εἶσαι νὰ ἐβγάλης τούτους τοὺς πόντους (16th c., DELATTE 1946: 495.19–20) ἀδυναμίζεις καὶ εἶσαι νὰ ἀρρωστήσεις MOREZINOS, Klini 44.32–3 νὰ ἐρωτήσουν ἔαν εἶναι νὰ σηκωθεῖ DAM. STOD., This., Logos 18, π7ν.8–9 (1561) ἃ μᾶς νικήση, δὲν εἶναι νὰ ἀφήση ψυχὴ (1618, Mani, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 24, 271.10) ἐγὼ εἶμαι νὰ κάμω τὸ ὅσον κάνει χρεῖα Bertoldos 66.14 εἶναι νὰ πιῇ φαρμάκι KORNAROS, Erot. II.1436

μὲ τὴν παρὸν μου εἶμαι νὰ ἀποκριθῶ τὴν αὐθεντία σου (1695, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 4 [Δ'], 256.7)

Variations on this construction have been found in Ermoniakos, who has an articular νά clause, whereas others substitute διὰ/γιά νά for νά:

²⁵ Cf. the addition of final /n/ to the conjunction νά in texts from Zakynthos, other southern areas, and certain Cycladic islands (Naxos, Andros); see I, 3.7.2.1.3 and I, 3.8.3.1 for details.

²⁶ Note that the same construction, both personal and impersonal, with a present subjunctive does not have future reference: ἔνι νὰ βιγλίζη τὴν ζωὴν καὶ τὸ κουστοῦμιν τοῦ καθενός Assizes A 274.4–5 (generic; deontic) (“[a good judge] should consider the life and customs of each [defendant]”; ζητάτε πράμᾱν ἀποῦ δὲν εἶναι νὰ ἔχετε VOUSTR. Chron. A 202.5–6 (potential: δὲν ἠμπορεῖτε in B and M); σίγησ', ἀνὲν καὶ ὀρίζης BERGADIS, Apok. A 284 (present reference) (“be quiet, if you please”); οὐδὲν σοῦ ἔναι νὰ κρίνης τὸν ἄνδρα σου Diig. Alex. F 191.14 (Konstantinopolos) (“it is not your place to be judging your husband”).

(ὁ δὲ Σίσυφος καὶ Νέστωρ ...) εἶναι γοῦν τοῦ νάπεθάνουν ERMON., Ilias 17.245 διὰ νὰ μάθουσιν ἄν ἐνι διὰ ν' ἀποθάνη SACHLIKIS, Peri filon 130 app. crit. (P) (Wagner) κι ἄν εἶσαι γιὰ νὰ σύρεις (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 64.37) ἀν δὲν το κάμω ... εἶμαι γιὰ νὰ παγώσω ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 125.12 εἶναι διὰ νὰ ἱερωθεῖ (1698, Sinai, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 7, 60.38)

5.1.6.2 εἶναι/εἶν/ἐν νά + Subjunctive

Impersonal εἶναι/εἶν/ἐν νά + subjunctive can be found mainly in two contexts:²⁷ (1) in conditional clauses with future reference introduced by ἄν (in which νά is often replaced by καί)²⁸ and (2) in negative environments. Complementation with the aorist subjunctive is more common than with the present.

εἶναι/εἶν/ἐν νά + Aorist Subjunctive ἀνὲν καὶ ἔλθῃ (ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 13.11) ἀνὲν καὶ ἀνοίξεις τινός, θέλῃν σε εβγάλῃν διὰ παράβουλον VOUSTR., Chron. M 265.7 εἰς τὰ ἔπραξες ἀνταμοιβὴ δὲν ἔναι νὰ σοῦ λείψῃ SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Ag. Frang. 38 τοὺς ποίους δὲν εἶναι νὰ τοὺς ἀνοματίσω VOUSTR., Chron. A 50.14 κι ἄν ἔν καὶ χίλιες φόρες ξηψυχῇσω Cypr. Canz. 69.13 ἄν ἔνε καὶ πορέσῃς (1502, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 6, 29.18) ἀνὲν καὶ σὺ περάσῃς | αὐτὸν τὸν Ἄλυ ποταμόν VENDRAMOS, Istor. Filarg. 31–2 γιὰτὶ φοβοῦμαι βέβαια, ἄν εἶν' καὶ μὲ νικήσου BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 499.9 ἄν εἶν' καὶ κάμῃς το αὐτὸ KONAR., Paidēs 131 ἄν εἶναι νὰ φανερωθῇ KORAROS, Erot. I.1991

εἶναι/εἶν/ἐν νά + Present Subjunctive δὲν ἔν' νὰ κράζω τὸ λοιπὸν τες Μοῦζες τῶν Ἑλλήνων, | μὰ στὴν Τριάδα τὴν ἁγίαν τὴν κεφαλὴν μου κλίνω DEFAR., Log. did. 3 ποῖος ἐ' νὰ μας γυρεύει Apoll. Rim. A 1213 and N 1213 (ἐν' νὰ in V and E) μηδένας εἶναι νὰ ἀμφιβάλλῃ MAX. PELOPON., Kata Ioud. 317.31–2

It is likely that the future particle ἐννα/εννά, which exists among others in modern Cypriot,²⁹ derives from this use of ἔν, as noted by SYMEONIDIS (2006: 218, 240), who rightly points out that the traditional etymology, from θε(λ) νά (MENARDOS 1969: 15; followed by AERTS 1983, YANGOULLIS 2002 s.v. εννά, PAPPAS/JOSEPH 2001 and others), leaves unexplained why the word-initial fricative /θ/ would be deleted.³⁰ See also LIOSIS 2012: 414. Three ²⁷ But cf. future in the past: ἦτο νὰ σκοτωθοῦν πολλοί MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 96.33, see 5.2.4.1.

²⁸ After ἄν ἔν became lexicalized, it started behaving like a “proper” conjunction, even appearing without καὶ or νά, followed by a bare subjunctive, at least in Cypriot and Cretan texts, e.g. ἄν ἔνι τὰ σκοινία τοῦ σαμάτου κοποῦν Assizes B 325.15–16; ἀνὲν βρεθοῦν πεντήκοντα δικοί σου δουλευτάδες CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1068; ἀνὲν κουσεντιάσωμέν του MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 596.7; ἀνὲν ποτέ θελήσουσιν τούτοι νὰ σ' ἀδικήσου Diig. Apoll. 467; ἀνὲν τακάρου οἱ Τοῦρκοι πλιὸ ἐτούτῃ μας τὴ χώρα FOSKOLOS, Fort. III.20; ἀνὲν πεθυμᾷς κι ἐσὺ ibid. III.773; ποὺ χίλιοι χρόνοι ἀνὲ διαβοῦ καὶ χίλιοι ἀνὲν περάσου KORAROS, Erot. I.1106.

²⁹ BĂNESCU (1915: 85–6) mentions e' nna in parts of S. Italy, implying it derives from ἐχει νὰ, as does KAP-SOMENOS (1953b: 344).

³⁰ In LMedG/EMG, fricative deletion typically occurs intervocalically (see I, 3.6.1.1), not word-initially, which makes an etymology from θέλω problematic, unless we were to hypothesize that the fricative deletion occurred intervocalically in the form ἐθέλω rather than θέλω, through no fewer than three unattested intermediary stages: ἐθέλω νά > *ἐθέλ' νά > *ἐθέννα > *ἐέννα > ἔννα. Furthermore, fricative deletion in Cypriot/Dodecanesian normally involves the voiced fricatives /v ð ɣ/ and not the voiceless fricatives /f θ x/; see I, 3.6.1.1 for details.

instances have been found in a 17th-c. Cypriot text: γιάτ' ἔν νά παρπατοῦσιν KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 194, 406 and 698 (spelled γιάτὲν ναπαρπατοῦσιν 194 and 698; γιάτὲν νναπαρπατοῦσιν 406).

In several Cypriot and Rhodian texts the negated construction occurs with syncopation, through which the phrases δέν ἐν /'ðenen/ and δέν ἐν νά /'ðene na/ become δέν (= δὲ 'ν') and δὲ νά (= δὲ 'ν' νά) respectively (see DAWKINS 1932: II 37; LIOSIS 2012: 413; see also 4.8.1 for examples not involving the future periphrasis):³¹

καὶ δένα τοὺς ὁμολογοῦν (1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.7)

καὶ δέν νά σὲ κοξήσουν LIMEN., Than. Rod. 227 καὶ δὲ νά 'φελήθῃς MACHAIRAS, Chron. V. 642.31–2 δέν νά τὸ νικήσῃ Fior 130.13

δεναυρέθῃ / δένα βρεθῇ VOUSTR., Chron. A 290.9 app. crit. (same in M 291.7)

5.1.7 πᾶ

In texts from insular areas a shortened form πᾶ + (νά) + subjunctive occurs that in a way expresses futurity, although the idea of motion is never absent. Invariable πᾶ + subjunctive, in which the conjunction νά has been omitted, or incorporated into πᾶ (cf. θελά (5.1.4.5) μπορά (4.1.2.1) and μελλά (5.1.2.3)), occurs occasionally.

πᾶ νά + Subjunctive

καὶ τὸ νερόν ποῦ πᾶ νά πιῶ Peri xen. 243 μαντάτο πᾶ νά δώσω KONDAR., Paides 16

πᾶ + subjunctive

πᾶ κτυπήσω | τὴν πόρτα Zinon Prol. 153–4 καὶ πᾶ διαβῶ VEST., Paid. Makkav. 1601 ᾶς πᾶ διαβοῦμεν PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 331

5.2 The Conditional

This section includes constructions that are morphologically the past-tense counterparts to the future periphrases (see 5.1). These constructions make use of the imperfect of the same auxiliary verbs as the future, namely μέλλω, ἔχω, (ἐ)θέλω and εἶμαι. They have a wide variety of complementations (infinitive, subjunctive, νά + subjunctive, participles; for details see below) as well as a wide range of uses.

Periphrases with ἔμελλον had been in use to express so-called “future in the past” since AG and throughout subsequent periods (MARKOPOULOS 2009a). In the period covered by this Grammar ἔμελλον/ἔμελλα constructions mainly express future in the past, an event/action that is posterior to the moment of reference, which is located in the past, e.g.: ἀνταν ἔμελλεν νά αποθάνει, ἐκράξεν τὴν κόρην τῆς VOUSTR., Chron. A 34.2–3 (“when she was about to die, she called for her daughter”). As in previous periods, the construction can occasionally have conditional readings, e.g. counterfactual deontic, as in the following example: ἀντὶ τιμῆς ἧς ἔμελλεν ἐκεῖνος καὶ ὁ λαὸς τοῦ | ποιῆσαι τάχα πρὸς ἡμᾶς, μᾶς ἔποιικεν αἰσχύνην Pol. Tr. 183–4 (“instead of the respect he, and his people, ought to have paid us, he brought us shame”).

³¹ Note that futurate νά cannot be negated with δέν; cf. the following example with a conditional: ποτέ μου δὲ νά σ' ἔλλαξα Katal. 505, where we should clearly read ποτέ μου οὐδὲ with synizesis (ποτέ μουδὲ in the ms, which can be consulted at www.bl.uk/manuscripts/Viewer.aspx?ref=add_ms_8241_f192r).

The εἶχον + infinitive construction, which in AG expressed obligation-in-the-past, began to be used in conditional contexts expressing ability/possibility-in-the-past (counterfactual) in the Hellenistic and Roman periods (MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 70–2). The past future meaning that is predominant with the ἔμελλον construction is the exception rather than the rule with the εἶχον periphrasis (see MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 101–4, who has found very few, isolated examples).³² In fact, in the LMedG period the periphrasis develops in a diametrically opposite direction, namely to anteriority in the past, for which see 5.3.

In the period covered by this Grammar conditional εἶχα + infinitive constructions are used in both protasis (subordinate clause) and apodosis (main clause) of neutral and counterfactual conditional sentences with present and past reference, e.g. καὶ θυμωθεὶς ὁ Ἀχιλλεὺς λέγει πρὸς τὴν ὥραιαν: | σιώπα, λέγω, ὁμμάτια μου, καὶ ἔμην μὴ φοβερίζης· | ἂν οὐ σέ ᾔγάπουσαν τὰ πολλὰ, τῶρα σκοτώσει σέ ᾗα Achil. N 1569–71 (“and, angry, Achilles said to the fair maiden: | Be silent, my love, and don’t give me grief; | if I didn’t love you as much as I do, I would kill you now”); ἔαν εἶχε λείψει ἡ δύναμις ... | γοργὸν ἐπαρτάμβανε τὸν θάνατον ἐκεῖνος Pol. Tr. 665–7 (“if it had not been for the power [of Medea’s good advice], [Jason] would soon have died”). It is used only rarely with future reference: ἔκαμεν ὄρκον εἰς τὸν Θεόν, ὅτι ἂν εἶχεν τὸν πιάσει, νὰ κάμει πάραυτα νὰ τὸν φουρκίσουν Bertoldos 65.16–17 (“he swore to God that, if he were to catch him, he would immediately have him hanged”).

The construction is also used in counterfactual main clauses without conditional clause, in unrealized wishes/commands: νᾶχε σχιστῆν καὶ διχαστῆν ἡ γῆς Byz. Il. 261 (“would that the earth had split and opened”); ἄς εἶχες θυμηθῇ κι ἐμέ FALIEROS, Thrinos 138 (“if only you had thought of me”); ἄς εἶχε πάει στ’ ἀνάθεμα FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.151 (“she would have been better off dead”); in polite requests: ἄρχισεν νὰ τὴν παρακαλεῖ, ὅτι νὰ τοῦ εἶχε κάμει τὴν χάριν νὰ τοῦ ἀνοίξει Bertoldin. 94.30–2 (“he started to plead with her that she would be so good as to open the door for him”); and in rhetorical questions: ἂν ἔλειπε ἡ πανιερότη σου, ἴτα (= ἴντα) εἶχα ἐγὼ γίνεαι στὸ κόσμος; (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.15–16) (“if it weren’t for you, my lord, what would have become of me?”).

Its use in other types of subordinate clauses is rare. The following example contains two uses in temporal clauses (as well as one in the main clause with νὰ, expressing a command): ἔστοντας νὰ γρικήσει πῶς ἐκεῖνη ἐπρόσταξεν τοὺς σκυλοφύλακας τῆς, ὅτι πάραυτα ὅπου ἐκεῖνος εἶχεν ἔμπει εἰς τὴν Αὐλήν, αὐτοὶ νὰ εἶχαν ἀφήσει τὰ σκυλιά νὰ ὑπᾶν καταπάνω του, διὰ νὰ τὸν εἶχαν ξεσκίσει ἄσπλαγχνα Bertoldos 54.10–13 (“because [Bertoldos] knew that [the queen] had told her dogkeepers to set their dogs upon him, viciously to maul him to death as soon as he would enter the Court”).

³² To the two examples listed by Markopoulos, we may add two more: ἐπιφωσκοῦσης δὲ τῆς ἡμέρας τῆς ὀγδόης, ἡμέρα κυριακή, ὅτε εἶχεν ἀπολούσασθαι Life of St Pelagia the Penitent 41.263 (5th c.; ed. Flusin); τῇ νυκτὶ ἐν ᾗ εἶχεν ἐξελθεῖν, φαίνεται αὐτῇ ὁ ἅγιος τοῦ θεοῦ μάρτυς Γεώργιος George Sykeotes, Life of St Theodore Sykeotes 5.11 (7th c.; ed. Festugière).

The construction ἤθελον + infinitive originally expressed volition only, and continues to bear that meaning throughout the MedG period. Due to a lack of sources, it is difficult to ascertain at what point during the MedG period this construction acquired future-in-the-past and conditional uses alongside the volitional one. The first unambiguously non-volitional ἤθελον + infinitive treated in MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 210 is a counterfactual use (against 19 volitional ones) in Kekaumenos, Strategikon 292.23–4 (ed. Litavrin): ... λαμβάνοντες ἐξ αὐτῶν νομίσματα οὐχ ὅσα ἤθελον δοῦναι εἰς τὴν ἐπιπρεΐαν τοῦ στόλου, ἀλλ' ἐν διπλῇ ποσότητι (“[the greedy naval commanders] take from them not as many nomismata as one would pay in requisitions for the navy, but double the amount”), an 11th-c. text that has been transmitted in a sole 14th-c. ms. However, there are a few ambiguous EMedG examples, which may not prove that ἤθελον obtained these meanings as early as that, but which at least illustrate how the semantic shift from volition-in-the-past to future in the past and (counterfactual) condition could occur.

An early ambiguous example has been found in the 5th-c. theologian Ammonius of Alexandria, in his scholia on the Gospel of John, transmitted in a late 7th-c. Catena: ἐν τῷ ἱερῷ οὖν ἐδίδασκεν ὡς διδάσκαλος, ὅπερ πολὺ αὐτοὺς ἔδρακνεν, καὶ οὐδεὶς ἐπίασεν αὐτόν, ὅτι οὐπω ἦν καιρὸς καθ' ὃν ἤθελεν παθεῖν Ammonius, On John fragment 275 (ed. Reuss), in which the pluperfect of John 8, 20 (οὐπω ἐληλύθει ἡ ὥρα αὐτοῦ, “His time had not yet come”) is rendered with ἤθελεν παθεῖν. To the modern eye, a future in the past interpretation seems the most plausible (“... because the time for him to suffer had not yet come”); however, a more complete version of the passage (ed. Cramer, 275.25) makes clear that Ammonius intended the construction to be volitional: τὸ δὲ “οὐπω ἐληλύθει ἡ ὥρα αὐτοῦ,” τοῦτό ἐστιν, ὅτι οὐδέπω καιρὸς ἦν ἐπιτήδειος, καθ' ὃν ἤθελε σταυρωθῆναι, ὥστε καὶ τότε οὐ τῆς αὐτῶν δυνάμεως ἔργον ἦν, ἀλλὰ τῆς οἰκονομίας τῆς ἑαυτοῦ· αὐτοὶ μὲν γὰρ καὶ πάσαι ἐβούλοντο αὐτόν ἀποκτεῖναι, οὐκ ἴσχυον δὲ, αὐτοῦ μὴ βουλομένου, in which Christ not being crucified at that moment in time is clarified with αὐτοῦ μὴ βουλομένου (“for it was not his will”). The following example from Olympiodorus's Commentary on Plato's Gorgias (6th-c. text; 9th-c. ms) seems to favour a counterfactual interpretation, even though a volitive reading cannot be excluded entirely: ὥσπερ οὖν ὁ Διογένης ἐωρακὼς ἀτακτοῦν μειράκιον τὸν παιδαγωγὸν ἔτυπεν (εἰ γὰρ ἤθελεν ἐκεῖνος φροντίζειν, οὐκ ἠτάκτει), οὕτως καὶ ἐπὶ τούτων Olympiod., In Platonis Gorgiam 43.2 (ed. Westerink) (“just as Diogenes struck the teacher when he saw the pupil being undisciplined (for if [the teacher] had paid due attention, [the pupil] would not have been undisciplined), the same applies here”, is perhaps more likely than a volitive interpretation: “... for if [the teacher] had wanted to pay due attention ...”, since what is in question here is not so much the teacher's willingness to do his duty, but whether or not he did his duty).

As noted, these isolated ambiguous examples do not allow for firm conclusions. What is clear, however, is that from the 13th/14th c. onwards ἤθελα + infinitive is used increasingly to express future in the past and counterfactuality, e.g. ὅταν ἤθελες δοξασθῇ παρ' ὅλην τὴν Συρίαν, | τὰ πάντα προσαπώλεσας Dig. G II.81–2 (“and when you were about to be honoured by all Syria, you destroyed everything”); εἰ δὲ εἶχεν παραδιαβῆ ἡ α', οὐδέναν ἤθελεν εὐρεθῆ (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.18) (“for if the first [day] had passed [without anyone taking action], not one [book] would have been saved”).

Constructions with ἤθελα are also routinely used in neutral and counterfactual conditional sentences with present and past reference, in both the protasis and the apodosis, e.g. μ' ἂν ἤμουνε Σίλβιος ἐγὼ, σ' ἂν σοῦπα ἤθελα κάμη SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. A4v.19 (1658) (“but if I were [you,] Silvio, I would do what I just said I would do”); φακῆν μοῦ εἶπες καὶ φακῆν ἔψησα. Ἄν ἤθελες μου εἰπεῖν φακές, ἤθελα βάλειν πολλές VIOS AISOP. I 260.1–2 (“you said ‘lentil’, so I cooked a lentil. Had you told me ‘lentils’, I would have cooked many”). The constructions are also used in non-conditional counterfactual main clauses: πολλοὶ ἀπ’ αὐτοῦς ἤθελαν πινηγῇ Pol. Tr. 3099 app. crit. (BV) (“many of them would have died”); in polite requests: γράφω τοῦ σιὸρ Φοσκάρδη ... πὼς τὰ ὅσα μετὰξίς ἔχει στὰ χέρια του ... νὰ ἤθελε τὰ φορτώσει σὲ πρῶτο μπαστιμένο (1715, Venice, LIATA 1975: 3, 122.6–8) (“I’ll write to Mr Foscardi ... that all the silk he has in stock ... he would do well to ship it out on the first freight ship”); and in less polite requests: καλὰ ἤθελες κάμης νὰ σωπαίνεις (1689?, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 868, 1160.3) (“you’d better keep your mouth shut”); in rhetorical questions: ποῖος οὐδὲν ἤθελε καταγελάσει καὶ νὰ καταπτύσει πολλοὺς πατέρας SOFIANOS, Paidag. 101.29–30 (“who wouldn’t ridicule and spit on many a father?”); as well as in constructions expressing unrealized wishes, e.g.: ὅς μὲ ἤθελες τελειώσει FALIEROS, Thrinios 138 (“if only you had ended my misery”).

In addition, conditional constructions can be used as future-referring conditionals.³³ It is quite common with ἤθελα, but can regionally also be found with εἶχα and sporadically with ἔμελλα. It is clearly a feature of LMedG/EMG “legalese”: it features in future-referring clauses to set up mere hypotheses (“in the event that ...”) rather than situations envisaged as actually occurring, thus covering all conceivable times and situations, e.g.:

ξεκαθαρίζοντας καί, ἀνίσως καὶ κιανένα καιρὸ ἤθελεν φανεῖ τοῦ λεγομένου Μιχάλη νὰ μισέψη ἀπὸ τὸ αὐτὸ μετόχι διχῶς νὰ ἔχη ἀφορμὴ ἀπὸ τὸν ἄνωθεν ἄρχο, νὰ χάνη ὅλα ἐκεῖνα τὰ ἀγομμένα ὅπου ἤθελεν ἔχει καμωμένα, γὴ πούρι ἀνίσως καὶ ἤθελεν εὐρεθεῖ ἢ γιὰφορμὴ ἀπὸ τὸν ἄνωθεν ἄρχο, νὰ μπορῇ νὰ τὰ πλερώνεται ὁ ἄνωθεν γονικάρης ὅλα του τὰ ἀγομμένα ὅπου ἤθελεν κάμει (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 4, 27.8–11) (“stipulating that, if at any time Michalis were to decide to leave the metochi through no fault of the above-mentioned nobleman, he shall lose all [rights to] the improvements he may have made; or, if the above-mentioned nobleman is responsible, the above-mentioned farmer shall be reimbursed for all the improvements he may make”) (also note ἤθελεν ἔχει καμωμένα, the same construction for the future perfect, for which see 5.5.2) νὰ μπορεῖ ὁ ἄρχος τση, ἂν ἤθελε ζεῖ, νὰ οὐζουφρουτουάρεϊ τσι αὐτοὺς τόπους (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 51.102) ἰνκάζο ἤθελε ἀποθάνει ὁ ἄνωθές μου κουνιάδος (1660, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 2, 116.26–7) (“in the event that my afore-mentioned brother-in-law were to die ...”) ἂν ἤθελε ἔρτει εἰς τὴ μεριά τοῦ Δραγαμέστου ... νὰ ἔχει πάντα τέρμενο ἕως τε νὰ εὕρει καιρὸ νὰ τόνε φέρει εἰς τὴν Κεφαλονιά (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999a: 1, 277.14) (“if he were to come to Dragamesto ... he should always be given a certain period of time in order to return [the slave] to Kefalonia”)

A similar use of εἶχα is illustrated by the following examples, which, incidentally, all appear in Heptanesian texts (for a similar use of the construction as a futurative subjunctive see 5.7.1.3). No examples have been found before the 17th c.:

³³ According to MARKOPOULOS (2009a: 214), this use is possibly influenced by Venetian, which also has the construction.

ἀνίσως καὶ εἶχε ἀναπαγεῖ ἡ γυναῖκα μου καὶ μείνουν τὰ παιδία μου ἀνύπα<ν>τρα (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 41.33) (“in case my wife dies and my children remain unmarried”) ἂν εἶχα χάσει τὴ γυνὴ μου καὶ νὰ πῶ νὰ μπαντρευθῶ καὶ κάμω παιδί, νὰ μεράζουμε πᾶσα ἕνας τὸ μερτικό του (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 73, 82.17); (“If I lost my wife and were to re-marry, and have [another] child, they should share [the inheritance]”) καὶ ἂ δὲν εἶχε τὴν ἀτενδέρει καὶ τελειώσει, νὰ μὴν εἶναι σοτοπόστος ὁ Signor Λούζης νὰ τοῦ πλερώνει τὴν δούλεψη (1646, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1970: 1, 251.22–5) (“and if he does not honour and fulfil this [agreement], Sir Louzis shall not be obliged to reimburse him for his work”)

In the prose version of Digenis ἔμελλε (unusually with ὅτι ... νὰ instead of νά) is used to convey a similar meaning; Digenis’s maternal grandmother orders her five sons to go and retrieve their sister, who has been abducted by the emir: ἔὰν ἔμελλε ὅτι καὶ οἱ πέντε νὰ ἀποθάνετε, καὶ τότε ἂς τὴν ἐπάρουν [VLASTOS], Dig. P 318.31–2 (“In the (unlikely) event all five of you were to die, well, then let them have her”).

Similarly, in indefinite relative clauses with future reference ἤθελα and εἶχα constructions are sometimes used to stress the hypothetical character of the condition (whoever = if any one person; whenever = if at any time):

εἴ τις ἤθελεν εὐρεθεῖν νὰ τοὺς διασεῖσει, νὰ ἔχει τὴν κατάραν τοῦ Θεοῦ (1571, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 7, 127.16–17) ἀκόμη καὶ ἀπὸ ζωντανὰ τὰ ὅσα ποὺ νὰ ἤθελαν μοῦ εὐρεθοῦν καὶ αὐτὰ ἐδικάν του τοῦ υἱοῦ μου (1634, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 2, 111.16) καὶ ὅποιος ἀπὸ ἀπροσεξίας του ἤθελεν κόψει κανένα φύλλον, νὰ ἔχει τὰς ἀράς τῶν ἐν Νικαίᾳ πατέρων (1678, Laconia, POLITIS/POLITI 1991: 1917. 1, 41.5) (“also, whoever cuts a leaf [from the book] by accident, shall have the curse of the Nicaean Fathers”) ὅποιος εἶχεν φανεῖ ἐναντίον εἰς τὴν παροῦσαν μου διάταξιν, νὰ ἔχει τὴν κατάραν τοῦ Χριστοῦ (1634, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 2, 111.26) εἴτι τάβλες εἶχαν χρειαστεῖ ... νὰ τὰ δίδει ὁ Sr Φαράντος (1646, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1970: 1, 251.12–13) ὅποιος εἶχε εἰπεῖ νὰ τὴνε χαλάσει ἢ μὲ ἔργο ἢ μὲ λόγο ἢ μὲ ἄλλη κακὴ πράξη, νὰ εἶναι ὀμπλιγάδος ὁ βιολατόρος εἰς τὴν πλερωμὴ (1655, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 2, 188.16–17) (τὸ παιδί μου ...) νὰ τὸ θρέψει καὶ νὰ τὸ πανδρεύσει σὲ ὅ,τι καλύτερα εἶχε τῆς φανιστεῖ (1677, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1981: 3, 289.36–7); καὶ αὐτὸς εἴτι εἶχε κρίνει, νὰ τὸ κρατοῦμεν βέβαιον καὶ ἀπαρασάλευτον (1670, ibid. 4, 290.17–18) ἔχει νὰν τὰ ἐπιστρέφει ... τόσον τοῦ αὐτοῦ, ὥσάν καὶ ὅποιος ἄλλος εἶχε πρεζεντάρει τὸ παρόν (1693, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 3, 163.10)

In indefinite relative clauses referring to the past, ἤθελα-constructions may denote habituality, in which ἤθελα stresses the potentiality (comparable to the use of θα + imperfect in SMG, for which see HESSE 2003: 65), e.g. πλέον δὲν ἐσηκώνετον ὅστις ἤθελε πέσει ΔΙΑΚΡ., Diig. Pol. 352 (“whoever would fall [on the battle ground] would never get up again”).

In case of verb serialization, the infinitive is often replaced with a νὰ-clause with the second and any subsequent verbs: ἂν ἦτονε δυνατόν, ὅλοι <οἱ> Κυδωνιάται ... ἠθέλασι γράφει, νὰ προσκυνήσουν καὶ νὰ παρακαλέσουν τὴν ἀρχιεροσύνην σου νὰ σβήσεις καὶ νὰ παύσεις ἐτοῦτον τὸ σκάνδαλον (1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 7, 176.30–3). From the 16th c. onwards the ἤθελα-construction is also used as a pluperfect, for which see 5.3.2.

Different constructions with the same use often appear side by side, as the following examples illustrate: ποιὸς ἄνθρωπος μοῦ τό 'θελε παινέσει | καὶ ποιὸς θεὸς μοῦ τό 'χε συγχωρέσει; Vosk. 65–6 (“which man would praise me for it, and which god would forgive me for it?”); ἂν ἦθελα σταθῇ ἔδεκεῖ γῇ ἂν εἶχα ἀκροσταλάρει ... FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.73 (“If I had stayed there or if I had just waited a while ...”). For a discussion of conditionals in general see also IV, 3.3. In the following table and description, no distinction is made between the active and the passive voice, unless the construction is different: ἦθελα ἔχει(ν) γραμμένο (act.), ἦθελα εἶσται(ν) γραμμένος (pass.). For the use of some of these constructions as periphrastic subjunctives, see 5.7. Conditionals of the SMG type θα εἶχα γράψει have not been found in the texts examined (for the relatively late appearance of θα see 5.1.5). For conditional constructions throughout the history of the Greek language see HORROCKS 1995; for conditional constructions in MG dialects see TSOLAKIDIS 2009, 2010 and 2011.

5.2.1 ἔμελλον/ἔμελλα

	General	Restricted	Rare
	ἔμελλα νὰ γράψω ἔμελλε/ἦμελλε νὰ γράψω	ἔμελλον γράψαι ἔμέλλετο(ν) νὰ γράψω	ἔμελλον γράφειν ἔμελλα νὰ γράφω ἔμελλε νὰ γράφω ἔμελλε γράψω ἔμελλε νὰ ἔγραψα/ ἔγραφα

5.2.1.1 ἔμελλον + Infinitive

The construction ἔμελλον + infinitive is used as the past counterpart to the simple future, and just like its future equivalent it is clearly residual by the beginning of the LMedG period. The preference for residual endings (e.g. ἔμελλον rather than ἔμελλαν) and often for equally residual forms in the infinitival complementation (aorist middle infinitives, and aorist active infinitives in -αι), as well as the fact that the construction occurs only in mixed- and higher-register texts, confirms this. The complementation is usually perfective, although sometimes present infinitives are used instead. The selection of the present infinitive after ἔμελλον is more often an aspectual one than in the case of μέλλω + present infinitive for the future tense (see 5.1.2), as a durative or iterative interpretation is the most likely for the example below.

ἔμελλον + Aorist Infinitive ἔμελλον ... πλησιάσαι Dig. G IV.841

ἀντὶ τιμῆς ἧς ἔμελλεν ἐκεῖνος καὶ ὁ λαὸς του | ποιῆσαι τάχα πρὸς ἡμᾶς, μᾶς ἔποικεν αἰσχύνῃ
Pol. Tr. 183–4; ἐξ ὅ,τι τοὺς ἔμελλεν ἔλθει κέρδος ibid. 6620 τούτους ἔμελλεν γάρ κτεῖναι ERMON., Ilias 3.171; ὅρα ὅταν ἔμελλον σφάζαι τὴν Πολυξένην ibid. 23.159 tit.

καὶ ἔμελλε τοῦτο γενέσθαι ΚΑΝΑΝΟΣ, Diig. 535 ἔμελλον προσμεῖναι εἰς τὴν Τραπεζοῦντα ΣΦΡΑΝΤΖΙΣ, Chron. 108.12 καὶ ὅταν γενέσθαι βασιλεὺς ἔμελλες τῆς Συρίας Dig. A 662 ὅτι καὶ τὰς πατρίδας τῶν ἔμελλον καταλάβειν [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 999

ἔμελλον + Present Infinitive ἐπειδὴ ἐν τῷ ἐσθίειν τὴν ἀγάπην ἔμελλεν κλαίειν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 150.9 (durative deontic/counterfactual: “for he should have been weeping while eating the Agape Meal”)

5.2.1.2 ἔμελλα νά + Subjunctive

Substitution of νά + subjunctive for the infinitival complement (ἵνα among those authors who aim for a higher register), a widespread phenomenon certainly not restricted to auxiliary verb constructions (for details see IV, 2), occurs with ἔμελλα, as with μέλλω (see 5.1.2.2), from at least the 15th c. and throughout the remainder of the period covered by this Grammar. Due to the nature of the construction, expressing what was about to happen or should have happened, perfective complementation (aorist subjunctive) is much more common than imperfective complementation (present subjunctive), which is limited to inherently stative verbs such as “to be”.³⁴ In the case of 3 sg. complementation it is not always possible to tell whether the construction is personal or impersonal (see ἔμελλε below). In the following description, 3 sg. examples are considered to be personal, unless the text offers examples of unambiguous impersonal use as well.

ἔμελλα νά + Aorist Subjunctive ἔμελλες νά μέ πλερώσης Assizes B 413.11; ἔμελλαν νά τὸ φέρουν εἰς ἔνκλημαν ibid. 427.31 ἔμελλεν τὸ κάστρο νά ἐπάρη Chron. Toc. 2529 τὰ ἔμελλε νά πάθη Byz. Il. 161 ἔμελλαν καὶ τᾶλλα κάτεργα νά πᾶσιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 274.36 ἀντὶ τιμῆς ἧς ἔμελλε νά δώση πλεοτέρας LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 465 ἔμελλον νά τὴν σηκώσουν δύο ἄνθρωποι Vios Aisop. E 213.13 ἡ δὲ πόλις ὡς ἔμελλεν νά ἐπαρθεῖ (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 34.I, 271.20.4) ὡς δὲ ἔμελλεν ἵνα γένηται σεισμός Hist. Imp. IIb 265 ὅταν ἐμέλλαμεν νά ὑπᾶμεν DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 20, τ7v.21 (1561) ἐμέλλαν νά φύγουν ANDONIOS, Vios Sym. Styl. 243–4.14, 1 εἰς τὸν διωρισμένον τόπον ὅπου ἔμελλε νά γένῃ ἡ Ἐκκλησία Diath. Nikon Metan. 43 ἐκεῖνα ὅπου ἔμελλαν νά τὸν συνέβουν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 10.32 το πρῶτον κακόν οὗοῦ ἔμελλον νά πάθουν οἱ Τοῦρκοι IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 6379 tit.

³⁴ The following line: ἔμελλον νά ἐξολοθρεύουσιν καὶ νά ἀφανίζουσι παντελῶς Hist. Imp. I 2815–16 has been misread by the editor, who offers no alternative readings in her critical apparatus. One of the mss (C), which can be consulted online at <http://www.e-codices.unifr.ch/de/bbb/0596/> clearly reads ἐξολοθρευθῶσιν and ἀφανισθῶσιν (f. 46r). The same holds true for the reading διότι ἤμελεν ὅτι νά καταλυθῇ τότε ἡ Τριὰς on f.33v of ms C, which is rendered διότι ἔμελλεν ὅτι νά καταλύθῃ τότε ἡ Τριὰς in the edition (Hist. Imp. I 2046–7), and the nonsensical ὡς γὰρ ἔμελλον νά σφάζουν εἰς τὸν τόπον ibid. 2380, for which ms C offers ἔμελλεν νά στραφοῦν (f. 39r), whereas the edition’s app. crit. offers only a variant reading ἐπιστρέψαι in mss A and V. This text deserves a new edition.

ὅθεν ἔμελλεν νά ἀπεράσῃ ὁ βεζίρης (1666 post, Gortynia, YANNAROPOYLOU 1972: 51, 316.6)
 πῶς οὗτοι ἔμελλαν νά πληρώσουν ὅλες τες ἐξοδες Ist. Enet. 418.39–40 ἔμελλα νά + Present Subjunctive ἔμελλε νά εἶναι το θέατρον του πολέμου Ist. Enet. 418.39

5.2.1.3 ἔμελλε(ν)/ἦμελλε(ν) νά + Subjunctive

Impersonal ἔμελλε (regionally ἦμελλε, see 3.1.2.2) is found from the 14th c. and throughout the EMG period, in literary and non-literary texts. The deontic quality that is so characteristic of impersonal μέλλει (see 5.1.2.3) is usually present in ἔμελλε, though it appears to be less pronounced with the future in the past than with the simple future (see the examples from Assizes and especially those from Kitros, Gortynia and Ps.-Dorotheos). Impersonal ἔμελλε νά is used mainly for the simple future in the past and is thus complemented by an aorist subjunctive. Imperfective complementation is very rare; in fact only one example has been found, in a 16th-c. Saint's Life: ἐβλεπεν εἰς ονείρατα ἐκεῖνα ὅπου ἔμελλε νά γίνονται Vios Iosif 270.2–3 (“he saw in dreams all the things that were going to happen”), in which the present γίνονται is triggered by the verb of perception βλέπω: in his dreams he saw things happening just as they were going to be happening.

τὸν καιρὸν ὅπου ἔμελλε νά ἔλθουν Chron. Mor. H 885; ἂν ἔμελλε στὸν τόπον νά ἀποθάνω ibid. 4134 ἔμελλεν νά σφάξουν τὸν πατέραν του Assizes B 438.24 ἂν ἦμελλε νά τὸ στείλῃς (1453, Kitros, DARROUZÈS 1963: 1, 79.14–15) τὰ πράγματα ... τὰ ἔμελλε νά ἐνι τῶν τέκνων τοὺς Assizes A 188.5–6 ἂν ἔμελλεν τὰ κράτα μου νά τὰ μελοκοπήσουν DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2022 (< κριάτα < κρέατα) κ' ἔμελλεν νά δῶ τὸ φῶς μου Cypr. Canz. 127.18 ὥς τῷμελλε νά πάθῃ Theseid V.94,5 (1529) ἔμελλεν νά ἔλθῃ KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.20; ἔμελλεν νά ζήσεις ibid. 410.33–4 τί σοῦ ἔμελλε νά πάρῃς CHORTATIS, Katz. IV.292

τῆς συνόδου ὅπου ἔμελλεν νά κάμουν Chron. Ps.-Doroth. 230.20; ὅταν δε ἔμελλεν ὁ πρίντσιπος νά σηκωθεῖ ibid. 231.7–8 ἦμελλεν νά τοῦ σύρῃ PETRITSIS, Dig. O 289

ἦμελλε νά σκοτωθῇς KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1927

Sporadically ἔμελλε(ν) can be found with a bare subjunctive (cf. 5.1.2.3): τὴν πράξιν γὰρ καὶ τὴν στρατείαν ὅπου ἔμελλεν ποιήσουν Chron. Mor. 3702 (hapax).

5.2.1.4 ἔμελλε(ν) νά + Aorist Indicative/Imperfect

In counterfactual environments ἔμελλε(ν) νά can sometimes be found with past-tense complementation, either imperfect or aorist indicative: νά μοῦ ἐβάρει ἔμελλε Pol. Tr. 9098 (μοῦ ed.; τοὺς or τὸν in the mss); ἂν ἔμελλε ὅλη μου ἡ ψυχὴ νά ἐγίνῃ αἵματωμένη | ὅς τὸν Ἄδῃ νά ἐκατέβηκεν ὅλη κατεκομμένη Theseid I.59,7–8 (Follieri); ἰσχεδὸν ἂν ἔμελλε νά μὴ ἔβγαινα ἔδωθεν, | οὐδὲν ἤθελα βλάψιμον διὰ νά ᾗχει τὸ κορμί του ibid. V.8,5–6 (1529); τὸ τί ἔμελλε νά ᾗγινετον ibid. V.11,4.

5.2.1.5 ἔμελλετο(ν) νά + Subjunctive

In the period covered by this Grammar, passive impersonal ἔμελλετο(ν) can be found complemented with a νά clause. It appears to be a south-western feature, found in texts from Crete and in certain mss of the War of Troy (cf. μέλλεται 5.1.2.4): οὕτως γὰρ τὸν ἔμελλετον νά ἐξέλθῃ τοῦ βίου Pol. Tr. 14041 (reading of mss AX); ἐμέλλετο νά σμίξετε CHORTATIS, Panor. V.335; καὶ νά τῇ χάσει ἐμέλλετο BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 528.6.

5.2.2 εἶχα

	General	Restricted	Rare
	εἶχα γράψει(ν) εἶχα γράφει(ν)	εἶχα εἴσται(ν) γραμμένος (pass.) εἶχα νά γράψω εἶχα γράψω εἶχε γράψω εἶχε ἔγραφα	εἶχα ἔχει γραμμένο(ν) εἶχα εἴσται(ν) -μένος (act.) εἶχα γράφω εἶχε ἔγραφα

5.2.2.1 εἶχα + Infinitive

As mentioned in the introduction to 5.2, εἶχον + infinitive started to be used in conditional contexts expressing ability/possibility-in-the-past (counterfactual) in the Hellenistic and Roman periods, and it continues to be used in this way until well into the EMG period, occurring in both the protasis and the apodosis. The complementation of εἶχα is usually perfective (aorist infinitive), though imperfective complementation (present infinitive) can sporadically be found as early as Late Antiquity to express counterfactuality with present reference.³⁵ In the period covered by this Grammar, the present infinitive is used in three environments: (1) with stative verbs for which no perfective forms are available, such as εἶμαι, ἔχω and ξεύρω (for both present and past reference); (2) to express durativity in the present: καὶ ἂν οὐδὲν ἦτον ἢ θάλασσα, ἀκόμη πάντα εἶχε ὑπαγαίνειν Dig. E 260 app. crit. (“had it not been for the sea, he would still be on his way”); (3) with specific verbs such as λείπω and ζῶ (past and present reference). In these cases the choice for perfective or imperfective complementation is a semantic one, as the following examples illustrate: ἔαν εἶχε ζῆ ἔως ἔδᾶ, ἤμεθεν νικημένοι Pol. Tr. 5310 (“if he were still alive today ...”), cf. ἂν εἶχε ζήσει, λέγω σας, μόνον καὶ μίαν ἡμέραν ibid. 5335 (“if he had lived only one day longer”); καὶ νὰ ᾗχες ζῆν, καὶ μὴ ᾗχες ἀποθάνειν Alosis 821. Imperfective forms of the verb ζῶ express the durative meaning of “being alive”, whereas perfective forms mean “to survive”, “to stay alive”. Similarly, imperfective forms of the verb λείπω mean “to be absent”: καὶ ἂν εἶχεν λείπειν τὸ δενδρόν, ἐπνίγετον ὁ Ἀκρίτης Dig. E 1538 (“had the tree not been there, Akritis would have drowned”), whereas perfective forms mean “not to occur”: ἤθελα νὰ ᾗτον μμπορετόν τούτο νὰ σου ᾗχε λείψει Apoll. Rim. V 1451 (“I wish you could have been spared that [bad news]”). For the development of this construction into a pluperfect see 5.3; for the regional use of this construction as a futurate subjunctive see 5.7.1.3.

³⁵ Often with the inherently imperfective verb “to be”, for instance in the Apophthegmata Patrum (PG 65, col. 176) (example quoted in JANNARIS 1897: 554): εἰ ἦς ἐν τῇ χώρᾳ σου, καὶ ἐπίσκοπος πολλάκις καὶ κεφαλὴ πολλῶν εἶχες εἶναι· νῦν δὲ ὡς ξένος κατέλθῃ ὧδε (“if you were in your country, you would for instance be a bishop, a leader of many people, but now you are staying here, as a foreigner”); similar later examples include: κρίνω, διὰ τοῦ ι, κρίνω γὰρ ὁ μέλλων· εἰ δὲ διὰ διφθόγγου γράφεται, κρενῶ ἂν εἶχεν εἶναι ὡς κείρω κερῶ Etym. Gud., s.v. κρίνω (11th c.) (“κρίνω is spelled with ι, as the future is κρίνω; had it been spelled with a diphthong [the future would have been] κρενῶ, if it had been like κείρω, κερῶ”); though examples with verbs that do have perfective morphology can also be found: καὶ πάντως εἰ περιώρισέ σε τις ἐν μιᾷ πόλει, ἀγωνιᾶν εἶχες καὶ ἀδημονεῖν τοῦτο παθὼν Kekaumenos, Strategikon 296.13–14 (ed. Litavrin) (“and surely, if somebody had confined you to a city, you would be in agony and in anguish over what had happened to you”).

εἶχα + Aorist Infinitive

- οὐκ ἂν εἰς οἶκον μᾶς ποτε εἶχετε πορευθῆναι Dig. G 1.275 εἰ δὲ εἶχεν παραδιαβῆν (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.18) ἂν εἶχε ἐπάρει ὁ πρίγκιπας τότε τὸν Μέγαν Κύρην Chron. Mor. H 4876 νὰ τὴν εἶχαμεν ἀπεβγάλειν Dig. E 1020 app. crit.; καὶ πῶς τοὺς εἶχες τρέψειν ibid. 1223 ἂν εἶχεν δώσειν τίποτες Assizes B 369.12 καὶ ἔαν οὐκ εἶχε συντριβῆ Pol. Tr. 990; ἔαν τὸ εἶχε καὶ τιμήσει ibid. 1127 νομίζω νὰ εἶχες διαρραγῆν Liv. V 1147 ἂν γοῦν εἶχεν εὐεργετήσῃ ὁ Θεὸς (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 22.8) ὥσᾱν νὰ μὴν εἶχαμεν φάγειν DAM. STOUT., This., Logos 3β6r.34 (1561) ἀνέμενα νὰ ᾗχάτε μου πέψει τὸ ἐδικό μου (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 1, 359.2) κάλλιον ἦτον νὰ μὴν εἶχα γεννηθεῖ PAPASYNAD., Chron. IV §3.23 Λήνκος ἂν ἤμουνα κ’ ἐγώ, καμ’ εἶχα σᾶν κ’ ἐσένα SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. A4v.20 (1658) ἀνίσως καὶ εἶχε γεννηθῇ κανένas φόνος ... ὅπου ὁ Θεὸς νὰ μὴ τὸ δώση (1666, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 4, 192.55–7) ὦ Ξερξῆ, ἂν εἶχες φθάσῃ BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 147 ἂν ἡ Ἀρετούσα εἶχε βαλθῇ ἐσένα ν’ ἀγαπήσῃ KORNAROS, Erot. I. 181; ἄς εἶχα κάμει ὄξω τοῦ νοῦ ibid. III.969

εἶχα + Present Infinitive

- ἔαν εἶχε λείπει ὁ Ἐκτορας Pol. Tr. 3779; ἔαν εἶχα εἴσται μετ’ ἐσέν ibid. 4262 ἂν εἶχεν εἴσταν ἔνοχος Assizes B 445.27 ἂν τὸ ᾗχα ξεύρει, δῖγνωμε, ὅτι φιλεῖς καὶ ἀρνᾶσαι Katal. 487; τὸ φῶς μου ἂν εἶχες τὸ ζητᾶν ibid. 537 ἂν εἶχεν θέλειν, ἔπαιρνέν την MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 106.17 αν εἶχεν το ξεύρειν VOUSTR., Chron. A 32.7; αν εἶχαν λείπειν οἱ ἄνθρωποι ibid. 241.14–15 ἀνίσως καὶ ὁ Θεὸς νὰ ᾗχεν θέλειν νὰ ᾗτον χωσμένα Fior 105.36 ἂν τᾶχα ἡξεύρει Peri xen. 256 app. crit. (A) ἂ σοῦ ᾗχα θέλει κάκητα Rim. kor. A 49 ἂν εἶχαν ἔχει κάτεργα Velis. ρ 327 ἄν εἶχες λείπεσθ' ἀπ' ἐκεῖ KORONAIOS, Pittakin 34 ὥσάν νά τό 'χε βλέπει Theseid III.73,4 (1529); ἄν εἶχες ξεύρει ἔτσι αὐτὴ ἤθελε καταντήσει ibid.

 IV.13,7–8
 ὥσάν ποτὲ νά μὴν εἶχεν ἔχει MOREZINOS, Klini 56.6; ὥσάν νά εἶχασιν τηγανίζεσται ibid.
 235.16
 ἀπὸ εἴτι φροῦτο εἶχε πέμπει ὁ πανάγαθος Θεός (1649, Kefalonia, PENDOGALOS 2008: 1, 51.19–20) ὅποτε τῷ καιρῷ εἶχε ἔχει ἀπὸ κανεῖνε καμμία πείραξη (1695, Zakynthos, MAVROS 1984: 359.6–7)
 ποιά νά 'χε στέκει δυνατὴ KORNAOS, Erot. I.884; κι ἄν εἶχε λείπει ἡ πεσματιά ibid. II.1739

εἶχα + Perfect Infinitive

The construction εἶχα + passive perfect infinitive (εἶσται + perfect passive participle, see 5.4.3) expresses a counterfactual action/event with emphasis on the resulting state. For the active voice examples have only been found in Romanos's grammar.³⁶ εἶχα ἔχει γραμμένα ... εἶχες ἔχει γραμμένα, etc. ROMANOS, Grammar 22.8–9

Active

Passive

καλλίον καὶ 'μείνετε νηστικοί, παρὰ νά εἴχετε εἶσται σκοτωμένοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 396.31 ("it is better that you were hungry than that you had been dead") ὥσάν νά μὴ 'χαμ' ἔσται σάν αὐτοὺς γεννημένες Theseid I.30,6 (Follieri) ("as if we had not been born (i.e. 'human'), just like them"); ὥσάν νά εἶχαμ' ἔσται βγαλμένες ἀπὸ πέτρες ibid. I.30,7 ("as if we had been made of stone") εἶχα εἶσθαι γραμμένος ... εἶχες εἶσθαι γραμμένος, etc. ROMANOS, Grammar 22.13

However, εἶχα + passive perfect infinitive can be found for the active with certain intransitive verbs, such as verbs of motion (cf. the pluperfect (5.3.1.2) and the perfect (5.4.1.2)): εἶχα εἶσθαι παγεμένος ROMANOS, Grammar 62.21.

5.2.2.2 εἶχα νά + Subjunctive

The construction εἶχα νά + subjunctive, expressing future in the past, has been found in a handful of texts of southern provenance. No examples of a present subjunctive have been found.

ἐθάρρου | πὼς εἶχασιν οἱ ἔγνοιες μου νά πάψου CHORTATIS, Erof. IV.160–1 ἀνήμενε τὸ στεφάνι, ὅπου εἶχε νά λάβει ἀπὸ τὸν Θεόν RODINOS, Mart. Ag. Mam. 218.37 τὸ μέλλον ὅπου εἶχε νά γένη VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 37.33–4 ἐκεῖνος ὅπου εἶχεν νά γένει γαμπρός Bertoldos 66.11 διὰ τοὺς Τούρκους που 'χασιν με τοὺς Φρατζέζους λόγον | πῶς νά βαρέσουν εἶχασιν οἱ δύο τὸν Βενετσάνον IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2724–5 δὲν κατέχοντας τί εἶχε νά μᾶς ἀπανέβει Diig. Sant. 55.52

³⁶ As there is no context, it is uncertain whether the form γραμμένα is an invariable participle or whether a neut. pl. object is implied. Romanos calls this form a "second pluperfect", but it is very likely to be a conditional, as this construction has not been found for the pluperfect (see 5.3).

5.2.2.3 εἶχα + Subjunctive

The auxiliary εἶχα complemented by a bare subjunctive has been found in EMG texts of south-western provenance (cf. 5.3.1.6). The aorist subjunctive expresses a simple action or event, whereas the present subjunctive is used for repeated/habitual actions/events (εἶχα ξερνῶ, εἶχες ἀφουκρᾶσαι) and with stative verbs (typically εἶμαι). The construction occurs in both the protasis and the apodosis:

εἶχα + Aorist Subjunctive ἐάν εἶχασιν οἱ Ἕλληνες σταθοῦσιν Pol. Tr. 9452 app. crit. (V) καί μ' ἵντα ἄπονη καρδιά εἶχα σας λησμονήσω MONTSEL., Evgena 1273 μ' ἄν εἶχα μᾶς τὰ γράψουσιν Rim. Sant. 163 ἄν ἐμαζώνουνταν, λίμνην εἶχαν γιομίσου DIKR., Diig. Pol. 1085 εἶχα θρέψω Pist. voskos III 5.39 app. crit.; λιγώτερα καὶ σὺ νὰ ἔχες κατέχεις ibid. V 5.294 ἄν τὰ παιδιὰ μου εἶχαν ξαποτζίπωθοῦν τὸν πατέρα τους (1705, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 7, 167.22–3); ἄν εἶχαν γεροκομίσουνε ... τὸν πατέρα τους (ibid. 167.29–30) ἄν εἶχανε ἐγνωρίσουν (1708, Peloponnese, PAPADOPOULOS 1976: 6, 124.25–6) παρακαλῶντας σε πολλὰ ... | νὰ μοῦ ἔχες γένεις βοηθὸς KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.599–600; δὲν ἀνίμεναν τό ἔχε τοὺς λάχη id., Klathmos II.550; εἶχες μου βαρεθῆς ibid. III.15 εἶχαν κάνουν τὰ ἄνωθεν κλεψιμία PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 111.21–2 καὶ δὲν εἶχαν σκλαβωθοῦν Paidi stavr. 3; ἄχ, καὶ ἄς εἶχασιν πνιγοῦσι ibid. 4

εἶχα + Present Subjunctive

κί' ἄς εἶχα ἔχω γνώση! CHORTATIS, Katz. IV.88 καὶ τσι βουλές μου τσι καλές ἄς εἶχες ἀφουκρᾶσαι KORNAROS, Erot. III.1090 ἄν τὰ παιδιὰ μου ... δὲν εἶχαν τὸν εὐχαριστοῦν (1705, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 7, 167.22–3); ἄν εἶχαν ... εὐχαριστοῦνε τὸν πατέρα τους (ibid. 167.29–30)
κάλλιο μοῦ 'τοῦν νὰ 'μαι βυθισμένη | εἰς τ' ἄγναφα τῆς γῆς, μέσα θαμμένη | νὰ 'χα ξερνῶ φωτιά, μέγα καμίνι KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.533–5 (“it would have been better for me to be buried deep inside the earth, spitting fire like a large furnace”); σὰ νὰ 'χα τοῦ 'μαι φυσική του μάννα KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.854

5.2.2.4 εἶχε(ν) + Subjunctive

Impersonal εἶχε(ν) with a bare subjunctive has been found in the Kefalonian Katsaitis's Lament for the Peloponnese,³⁷ which was written a few years after the period covered by this Grammar (1716) (cf. 5.3.1.7): μ' ἀνίσως τὴν ἐξιά μου ἤθελά 'χα, | ἤθελες τὸ γνωρίσεις τό 'χε κάμω KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.102–3 (ἐξιά = ἐξουσία) (“if I had my strength, you would learn what I would do”); ὥσαν ὅλον τὸν κόσμον νὰ 'χε πάρουν ibid. I.724; ἀνίσως κί' ὁκ τὸ εἶδωλο δὲν εἶχε φωτιστοῦμε id., Ifig. II.148.

5.2.2.5 εἶχα/εἶχε(ν) with Past Tense Complementation

In counterfactual environments εἶχα/εἶχε can sometimes be found with past-tense complementation (usually the imperfect); in the first two examples from Velthandros ³⁷ The same construction also appears in the late 18th-c. Zakynthian comedy O Chasis: νὰ εἶχ' ἔρθεις στὰ κουρινιάσματα Gouzelis, O Chasis I.77 (ed. Synadinou); εἶχε τὸν πάω δέρνοντας ibid. II.69.

accommodation of the metre may have played its role (ἐγεννήθην and εὔρεθην for γεννηθεῖν and εὔρεσεῖν at the verse end), but that does not necessarily render the construction invalid:

νὰ μὴ εἶχα ἐγεννήθην Velth. 427; ἄψυχος νὰ εἶχα εὔρεθην ibid. 428 τὰ ζώδια τὰ λαξευτὰ οὐ μὴ ᾿χα τὰ ἐσκόπουν Velth. 434

τ' ἀμμάτι' ἀπού' χεν ἦτονε καλύτερ' ὀγιά μένα | πολὺ καιρὸ πρωτύτερα νὰ ᾿χα ᾿σαι τυφλωμένα TROILOS, Rodol. II.193–4 ὥσά νὰ εἶχε ἦτονε σαρκικός ἀπὸ τῇ σάρκα μας (1641, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 239, 193.11)

ἄν εἶχεν ἦτονε παρὼν BOUBOULIS, Limbon. Epil. 65 εἶχε ἦμουν SPANOS, Grammar 42.12

5.2.3 ἦθελα

General	Restricted	Rare
ἦθελα γράψει(ν) ἦθελα γράφει(ν)	ἦθελα ἔχει(ν) γραμμένο (act.) ἦθελα εἴσται(ν) γραμμένος (pass.) ἦθελα γράψω ἦθελα νὰ γράψω ἦθελα νὰ γράφω ἦθελα ἔγραφα ἦθε(ν) γράψω ἦθεν εἴσται(ν)/ἦμουν	ἦθελα γράφω ἦθελα ἔγραψα

5.2.3.1 ἦθελα + Infinitive

As mentioned in the introduction to this section (5.2), it is not entirely clear when ἦθελα + infinitive constructions acquired non-volitional meanings, but they are well-established by the 13th/14th c., since they are even used in not-very-vernacular texts such as the Grottaferrata version of Digenis and the Tale of Sevastokrator Thomas. Perfective complementation (aorist infinitive) denotes a simple action or event, whereas the present infinitive is used to denote durativity or repetition: it presents the action/situation expressed by the verb as ongoing or repetitive. Imperfective complementation is not restricted to verbs that lack a perfective stem or are inherently durative such as e.g. εἶμαι, ἐξεύρω and ἔχω. As noted, ἦθελα + infinitive occurs in both the protasis and the apodosis.

ἦθελα + Aorist Infinitive

ὅταν ἦθελες δοξασθῇν παρ' ὅλην τὴν Συρίαν Dig. G II.81

(ἐάν ...) ὕστερον οὐδὲν ἠθέλησεν πληρῶσαι τὸν γάμον (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 229.97)

οὐδένα [sc. βιβλίον] ἦθελεν εὔρεθῇ (post 1356?, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.18)

πολλὰ ἠθέλαν βαρεθῇ Chron. Mor. H 2818 εἴ τινος ἀπὸ ἐμᾶς τοὺς ἐκτετόρους ἦθελε ἔλθει θάνατος (1414, Corfu, MALTEZOU 1991a: (1), 316.12) εἰς ὅποιαν σταυροφόρον πλώρην σας ἦ παντιέραν ἤθελε τύχει (1415, Skyros, LEMERLE et al. 1979: App. XVII, 216.13) ἐάν τὸ εἶδες, ἤθελες εἰπεῖν καὶ ἔναιν ζωντανοῦ ἀνθρώπου στόμα Achil. L 528 εἰς ὅ,τι ἤθελεν κάμειν (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 171.12) δεν ἤθελες κατεβεῖ, εἰάν πρῶτον δεν ἤθελες ξετάσει πῶς να ανέβεις ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 2.12 εἴ τις ἤθελε ἀντιτείνει (1547, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: I, 70.16–17)

ὅ,τι πρόβατον μεγάλον ἤθελεν χαθῆν (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 9, 87.16) ἂν ἦσουν σιμὰ πούπετα ... ἤθελα σηκωθῇ νὰ ἔλθω (1565, Prousa, PATRINELIS 1988/89: 1, 47.10–11) ὅπου νὰ μὴν ἤθελα γεννηθῇ (1612, Monemvasia region, BROUSKARI 1981: 315.53)

ἂν τὲς ἤθελα ἐφθάσει ἐδῶ ὅλες τὲς ἔκαιγα (1615, Lefkada, PENDOGALOS 1977b: 2, 148.21) ἤθελεν σηκωθῆν (1635, Nisyros, TSIRPANLIS 1982: 1, 13.7) κάλλιον ἦτον νὰ μὴν ἠθέλετε γεννηθῇ PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §36.197; καὶ τότες νὰ ἐκοίταζες τί ἤθελα κάμει ibid. II §7.5

ὅποιος ἀπὸ τοὺς ἐδικούς μου ἤθελε προτιμήσει νὰ γενῇ ἱερέας (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 482.3–4) ἤθελεν τοῦ λάχει (1671, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 1395, 821.32)

καὶ περάσοντας οἱ 10 ἡμέραι καὶ δὲν ἤθελε γυρέψει τὰ δικαιώματά του, νὰ τὰ χάνει (1695, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 1, 302.16) πολλὰ ἤθελε μανίσει KORNAROS, Erot. I.1865; κὶ ἄς ἤθελα σ' ἀφήσει ibid. III.969

ἤθελα + Present Infinitive ὅτι ἤθελεν εἶσθεν ἀνήξευρον τὸ παιδίον ποίου ἀνδρὸς ἔνε (ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 227.52) ἠθέλαμεν ἔχει καὶ ὀλιγότερον κόπον εἰς τὰς γραφὰς καὶ ἠθέλαμεν γράφειν καὶ πλατύτερα (1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 22.9) ἤθελεν ξεύρει ποιά ἐν' αὐτῇ SKLENTZAS, Ymn. Mar. Magd. 36 καὶ ὅπου διαβαίνεις καὶ πατεῖς ἤθελα σπέρνει μόσχον Katal. 6 ἤθελεν ἔχει ὁ εἰς διάφορος Assizes A 46.27–8 ἠθέλαν καταλυέσθαι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 76.19

ἂ σοῦ 'θελά 'χει κάκητα Rim. kor. V 49

ἤθελα βλέπει κείνη Theseid III.75,6 (1529) νὰ τὰ τρώγῃ ὁ ἱερεὺς ὅπου ἔλεν λειτουργᾶν τὸ μοναστήριν (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 173.18) ἂν πολλάκις καὶ δὲν ἠθέλαν ἔχει ἀρνιά (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 16, 94.16) ἂν ἠθέλαμεν κοιμᾶσται, νὰ ρουχαλίζωμεν, ἠθέλαμεν εἰπεῖν ὅτι ὄνειρον ἐθωρούσαμεν Vios Aisop. I 269.37–8 ἂν ἤθελε πολεμᾷ καὶ ὁ Λουνυάδης ὡσὰν ἐπολεμούσανε οἱ Λέχοι, ἐσκοτώνασι τὸν σουλτὰν Μουράττη Chron. Tourk. Soult. 73.12–13 ἂν ἤθελεν ἡξεύρει ὁ αὐθέντης τοῦ σπιτίου εἰς ποίαν βίγλαν τῆς νυκτὸς ἔρχεται ὁ κλέπτης, ἤθελεν ἀγρυπνᾷ καὶ δὲν ἤθελεν ἀφήσει τὸ σπῆτι του νὰ τὸ τρυπήσουν KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 24.43 ὅποιος δὲν ἤθελε μὲ λογιᾶζει (1656, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1983: 6, 164.40–1) τὸ εἶτι ἤθελε μαζώνει νὰ τὸ περιφυλάττει εἰς τὰς χεῖρας του (1660, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969j: 1, 140.10) κανένα δεν ἤθελε πρέπει εἰς τὴν Ἰωάνναν Γκουτιέρζ Don Kis. 44.12

ἤθελα + Perfect Infinitive

The construction ἤθελα + perfect infinitive (ἔχει(ν) + perfect passive participle for the active and εἶσται + perfect passive participle for the passive, as well as for the active of certain intransitive verbs such as μισεύω; see 5.4) expresses a counterfactual action/event with a strong emphasis on the resulting state:³⁸

Active

ἂν εἶχε δείξει ἐκεῖνος ἀπὸ τότε τὸ πρᾶγμα εἰς τὸν κύρ Μπλάζιον, ἐκεῖνος τὸ ἤθελεν ἔχει ἱατρεμένον· ἀλλ' ἔμεινεν ἀνιάτρευτον CHEILAS, Chron. 354.1–2 τὰ ἀγομμένα ὅπου ἤθελεν ἔχει καμωμένα (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 4, 27.10) ἀνίσως καὶ δὲν ἤθελεν τὸ ἔχει φυτεμένον τὸν Μάρτη (1625, Crete, VLACHAKI 1986: 22, 446.21) καὶ ἂ δὲν ἤθελα ἔχει καὶ τὰ σπίτια μου ταμένα τοῦ λιγόχρονου μου γιοῦ (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 79.29) ἤθελα ἔχει γραμμένα ... ἤθελες ἔχει γραμμένα, etc. ROMANOS, Grammar 28.24–5

Passive

ὀρίζει γοῦν ὅτι, εἴπερ ἦν καταδοχή ... γενέσθαι τὴν τοιαύτην πράξιν, πάντες ἤθελον εἶσθαι ὑπογεγραμμένοι (1375, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 32, 125.43–4); καὶ ἀπὸ τότε ἤθελεν εἶσθαι τὸ διαλυτέον ἔρρωμένον (ibid. 125.45) πιασμένος γὰρ ἤθελεν ἢ σκοτωμένος εἶσθαι, | ἂν ἔλειπεν ὁ Μενεστεύς Pol. Tr. 4082 (ὅπου ...) νὰ ἤθελα εἶσθαι πεθαμένος (1612, Monemvasia region, BROUSKARI 1981: 315.53) ὡσάν ποτὲ νὰ μὴν ἐθέλασι εἶσθαι καμωμένα (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 48.16) ἤθελα εἶσθαι γραμμένος ... ἤθελες εἶσθαι γραμμένος, etc. ROMANOS, Grammar 28.24–5

5.2.3.2 ἤθελα + Subjunctive

The construction ἤθελα + bare subjunctive appears from the 14th c. onward in texts from various areas (Heptanese, Crete, Peloponnese, Epirus, Macedonia, certain Aegean islands). It usually has perfective complementation, but examples of present subjunctive have also been found, with durative and habitual readings:

ἤθελα + Aorist Subjunctive ἂν ἤθελες βάλεις λίτρες δέκα σαλίτριο (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.22) ἂ δὲν ἐθέλασι τῆς δοθοῦν τὰ λεγόμενα ὑπέρπυρα (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 219.61)

 εἰδεμὴ καὶ ἐθέλασιν ἀποθάνουν (1529, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 5, 25.18) τσι κορασές δεις ἤθελες CHORTATSIS, Panor. I.444 app. crit. (N) φόρσα νὰ ἔθελα ντεσπεραριστῶ (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 79.14–15) (< Ven. desperar) τὰ ὅσα ποὺ νὰ ἤθελαν μοῦ εὔρεθοῦν (1634, Paros, ALIPRANDIS 1974/75: 2, 111.16) νὰ ἤθελα ξεψυχήσω MONTSEL., Evgena 914 εἰσὲ ὅ,τι λάδι ἐθέλασιν κάμου (1671, Naxos, SFYROERAS 1963a: 2, 494.26) μὲ ὅ,τι μόδον ἤθελαν μπορέσου (1671, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1918b: 3, 220.8–9) ὡς καθώς ἐθέλασι μιλήσου (1673, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 15, 30.12) τάχατες πόσοι ποντικοὶ νὰ θέλασινε σμίξουν PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1795 app. crit.

³⁸ Due to the late appearance and rarity of the perfect periphrasis ἔχω + infinitive (see 5.4.1.6), no examples of ἤθελα ἔχει(ν) + infinitive have been found. The following example from Bertoldinos: ἂν καλὰ καὶ δὲν ἤθελεν εἶσθαι τόσοι πανούργος καὶ πονηρὸς ὡς ὁ ἄνωθεν Μπερτόλδος ἤθελεν ἔχει κάνει τὸ ὀλιγότερον καμπόσον ἀπὸ ἐκείνην τὴν γνώσιν καὶ ἀπλότητα Bertoldin. 92.24–5 is nonsensical, unless we read ἤθελεν ἔχει κανι (< κανε = κἄν), τὸ ὀλιγότερον, καμπόσον ἀπὸ ἐκείνην τὴν γνώσιν καὶ ἀπλότητα ('he would at least, at the very least, have some of [Bertoldos's] wisdom and craftiness'), which is the reading of Kechayoglou, who edits the same passage in his Anthology (KECHAYOGLOU 2001: 372).

τὰ ζᾷ ὅπου ἔθελαν τῆς εὐρεθοῦ (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 463, 687.5) τὰ ὅσα ἤθελαν πουληθοῦν (1697, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 30, 24.62) ἤθελες τὸ γνωρίσεις KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.103; λογιάζω δὲν ἤθελες γροικήσεις ibid. I.698; ἂν ἤθελαν ἐμποῦν ibid. II.293 καὶ ὅποτε καιρὸ ἤθελα τοὺς δώκω τ' ἄ<σ>πρα τους (1716, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 38, 140.7–8)

ἤθελα + Present Subjunctive ἀπὸ ἐκείνους ὅπου ἤθελαν ἐξουσιάζουν εἰς τὸν θρόνον τῆς ἀγιωτάτης μητροπόλεως μας (1371, Corfu, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 3, 68.14) νὰ ἤθελεν ἀγοράζει ὁ ἄνωθεν ἱερεὺς ... τόσο κριθάρι (1537, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 31, 35.10) ἂν πολλάκις δὲν ἤθελαν τὸ δουλεύουν καλὰ (1573, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 2, 20.10) τοῦ ἤθελες ἔχεις χάρη CHORTATIS, Katz. I.194 ὅ,τι ἤθελε φαίνεται νὰ μοῦ χρωστοῦσιν (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 51.114) ὁπότε δὲν ἤθελα εἶμαι καλὰ γεροκομημένος (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 1, 29.37) ἐκείνη ὅπου ἤθελεν τὸ ἐπιμελιέται (1692, Siatista, PANDAZOPOULOS/TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 1974: 23, 17.49) ἀπὸ τὴν πρώτη ὅ,τί ἤγα ἄς τό ἤθελες θυμᾶσαι KORNAROS, Erot. III.1089

5.2.3.3 ἤθελε(ν) + Subjunctive

The same construction as the previous one, but with impersonal ἤθελε(ν), can be found occasionally from the 16th c. onwards in texts from various areas (Heptanese, Aegean, Kastoria).³⁹ It usually has perfective complementation. Imperfective complementation has been found with the stative verb ἔχω.

ὅσα ἤθελεν συμφωνήσουν (1551, Kastoria, DRAKOPOULOU 2005: 16, 33.10) τὴν ὥραν παρευθὺς ὅπου ἤθελε τὸ φᾶμεν VEST., Prol. Theot. 45 ἤθελε σβηστοῦν ἢ καν ἤθελε ελαφρώσουν Kaloandros 405.9–10; ἤθελε χαρῶ ibid. 405.39 μὲ ὅ,τι μὸδον ἤθελαν μπορέσου (1671, Mykonos, ZERLENDIS 1918b: 3, 220.8–9) καὶ ἂν ἤθελε κανέναν καιρὸ τ' ἀφήκουν (1692, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 170, 102.6); κεραμίδια ὅσα ἤθελε χρειαστοῦν (1713, ibid. 322, 211.3) (άνισως ...) καὶ οἱ κληρονόμοι ἤθελεν ἀπεθάνουν (1696, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 47, 140.9 facts.) (misread as ἠθέλει in the ed.)
 π' ἂν ἤθελ' ἔχω ἄνδρα κακὸ KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.746

³⁹ The construction also occurs in the late 18th-c. Zakynthian comedy O Chasis: πιλάλα τὸν κυνήγησα, μ' ἂν ἤθελε τὸν πιάσω, | μὰ τὸ ψωμί, τὸν κερατὰ, βρὲ νὰν τὸν τεταρτιάσω Gouzelis, O Chasis II.21–2 (ed. Synodinos); ἂν ἤθελ' ἔχεις ἄρματα, σ' ἔδερνε ὁ κλεφτάτσος; ibid. II.95; ἂν ἤθελ' ἔχετε ντροπή ibid. III.313.; in the early correspondence of Korais, vol. 1, e.g. letter 1 of 1774 (writing to Chios): ἤθελε μὲ παρακαλέσωσι πολλοί (3.14), ἤθελε ... ἐκλέξω (3.14–15); in letter 11 of 1783 (writing to Smyrna): ἤθελε τὰ καταστήσω κοινὰ (27.11); but e.g. in letter 260 of 1802 (writing to his friend Alexandros Vasileiou): ἤθελα σὲ προβάλει (51.30–1); it also occurs in the memoirs of Kolokotronis (1836) (see PANDELIDIS 2004: 8).

5.2.3.4 ἤθελα νά + Subjunctive

Just like its non-past counterpart θέλω (see 5.1.4.4 for discussion), ἤθελα νά + subjunctive is usually used to express volition. However, similarly to θέλω νά + subjunctive, though not as frequently, ἤθελα νά + aorist subjunctive is occasionally used to express future in the past. The examples with a present subjunctive (ἤθελε νά 'ναι, ἤθελες νά 'ῃς) are counterfactual conditionals with present reference.

ἐσώθη τὸ καράβι εἰς τὸν τόπον ὅπου ἤθελεν νά ὑπάγει (15th c., Unknown, SEARBY 2003: 8, 696.2–3) ἐξηλώθη ἡ ἀρμάδα τοὺς ἀφέντες ἀποὺ 'θέλαν νά 'ρτουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 162.15 (Pieris/Nikolaou-Konnari) (ἔμελλε νά κατεβεῖ in V) μα ἤθελε νά 'ναι πλειότερη φωτιά στα σωθικά μου CHORTATIS, Panor. I.184 κι ἄς ἤθελα σὲ τρόπο ν' ἀποθάνω Pist. voskos I 2.78 διότι ἤθελεν νά πέσει ὅλο τὸ σπίτι PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §19.16; τί καρδίαν ἤθελες νά ἔχης τώρα καὶ τί στενοχωρίαν ibid. IV §11.21

5.2.3.5 ἤθελα (νά) with Past Tense Complementation

In counterfactual contexts both ἤθελα and ἤθελα νά can sometimes be found with past-tense complementation, usually imperfect, sporadically aorist indicative, especially, though not exclusively, in Heptanesian texts:

δὲν ἔθελεν εἶστον εἰς τὸν κόσμον περίτου ὁμορφον πράμαν Fior 109.7 (for the form εἶστον/ἦστον see 4.8.2) ὅποιος ἤθελεν παρακούσει καὶ ἤθελεν ἔπαιρνε τίποτε κρυφά (1578, Trikala, SOFIANOS 1992: 6, 236.119–20) νὰ τοῦ δώση μία γελάδα ὅπου νά ἤθελε ἦστον δικιολογημένη (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 20, 32.10) ἤθελ' ἤμουν GERMANO, Grammar 101.11 καὶ ρήγας νά 'θελ' ἦτονε DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 49; νά ἤθελέ 'τονε κακὰ ibid. 1249 ἤθελε ἦτον πολλὰ χρήσιμον (1698, Sinai, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 7, 60.25) ἐτοῦτο ἤθελ' ἦτανε ἄδικα καμωμένο KATSAITIS, Ifig. IV.171; μ' ἀνίσως τὴν ἐξιά μου ἤθελά 'χα id., Klathmos I.102 (ἐξιά = ἐξουσία); σὰν νά 'θελ' ἦτον γνήσιο παιδί μου ibid. I.856 ἂν ἤθελα λεπτῶς νά σὲ τὰ ἔγραψα ὅλα | ... πολλὰ ἤθελαν βαρεθῇ ἐκεῖνοι ὅπου τὸ ἀκοῦσιν
Chron. Mor. H 2816–18
 ἀνίσως καὶ ἐγὼ νά εἶχα τὸ ἔναν μου πόδιν εἰς τὸ μνημα, ἔθελα νά 'μαθα Fior 110.14

5.2.3.6 ἤθε(ν) with Various Complementations

A shortened form ἤθε(ν) for ἤθελα/ἤθελε is not uncommon in texts from southern areas (Heptanese, Peloponnese, Crete, Cyprus) and from certain islands in the Aegean (Chios, Naxos) (see also 2.4 s.v. (ἐ)θέλω);⁴⁰ it is usually complemented by a subjunctive, and ⁴⁰ A single example in Assizes: ἤθεν χάσει ἐκεῖνον τὸ νά ἔδωκεν μὲ δίκαιον Assizes A 69.11 should be read as ἤθεν χάσει.

sporadically by the imperfect or infinitive of εἶμαι (3 sg. only). In the case of 3 sg. the subjunctive is usually indistinguishable from the infinitive, even when final /n/ is present (for addition of final /n/ to 3 sg. pres. ind. see 4.1; see also I, 3.7.2.1.3); the spelling of the ending with <ει> or <η> is a choice by the modern editor. Given the fact that for all other persons the subjunctive is normally used, it would perhaps be preferable to consider 3 sg. forms to be subjunctives as well.

- όπου και αν ἦθεν ἔβρεθεί Apoll. Rim. A 934; να το ἔθεν κατέχει ibid. 949 ἄν πολλάκις ἦθε ἔρθει (app. crit.) (1541, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 8, 221.8–9) ἦθεν πειρακτῇ ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 287; ἦθεν δώσειν ὄφελος ibid. 1197 δὲν ἦτον μπορεζάμενο ἐκεῖνο νά ἔθεν πάρης; Alfav. 11 48 ἄν ἦθε ἔχει λουμπάρδες Chron. Tourk. Soult. 129.32 app. crit.
 ἦθε γράψω GERMANO, Grammar 99.18; ἄς ἦθε σωπάσω ibid. 99.29; νά ἦθε γράψεις ibid. 101.7
 ἄς ἔθεν τοῦ πῆς, ἀφέντη μου, τύφλες καὶ σφάκιολά του KONDAR., Paides 973 ἄν ἦθε φάγω τὸ φαγί PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 105; ἄν ἦθε πιῶ καὶ τὸ πιστόν ibid. 106 ὅστις ἦθε γροικῆση PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1399; ἄν ἦθεν πᾶ ibid. 1630; νά ἔθεν εἶν ἄλλοι τόσοι ibid. 2667 σὲ ὅ,τιν βιάντζον ἦθεν τὸν ἐφωτίσειν ἀφέντης ὁ Θεός καὶ σὲ ὅ,τι διάφορον ἦθεν κάμει (1680, Naxos, RODOLAKIS 1994: 8, 582.10–11) (βιάντζον < Ital. viaggio) καὶ εἶτι ἄλλη ἦθε χρειαστῇ πάσης λογῆς ξυλή (1713, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 322, 211.3) ὡς ἦθε δουλεύουν οἱ δεκαρχίτες (1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.13) σὰ νά ἔθεν εἴσται λίθος Imb. Rim. 458 ὁποῖος ἦθε εἴσταιν (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 60, 124.12) ἴσαν νά ἔθεν ἦταν ἵταίρι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2938

One example has been found of a shortened 2 sg. form ἦθες: εἶτι μᾶς ἦθες εἰπεῖν CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 144 (reading of ms M: εἶ τι μᾶς εἰ θές).

5.2.4 ἦτον/ἦμουν

Restricted	Rare
ἦμουν/ἦτον (διὰ) νά γράψω ἦμουν/ἦτον (διὰ) νά γράφω	ἦτον νά ἔγραψα ἦτον νά ἔγραφα ἦτον νά εἶχα γράψει

5.2.4.1 ἦμουν/ἦτον νά + Subjunctive

Impersonal ἦτον νά + subjunctive can be used to express future in the past and counterfactuality with both present and past reference. The construction can also have modal (deontic, potential) connotations (cf. its future counterpart with εἶμαι, and impersonal εἶναι, 5.1.6). Perfective complementation is the most common, though sometimes the construction can be found with a present subjunctive, with stative verbs (λείπει in Damaskinos Stouditis) or to express durativity (βράζει in the second example from Falieros).

δέν ἦτον νά γλιτώση FALIEROS, Ist. On. 82; κι ἡ τόση λάβρα ποῦ μέ καί ἄν ἦτον νά σέ βράζει ibid. 565 ἄν ἦτον νά γράψω τές γιάσες του ὡς τοῦ νᾶζουν δέν ἔφταννα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 32.33–4; θωρῶντα ὁ ρήγας, ὅτι ἦτο νά σκοτωθοῦν πολλοί ibid. 96.33–4 αν δεν είχαν νώσει οι βαχλιώτες, ἦτον νά σκοτώσουν τον αποστολέν VOUSTR., Chron. A 28.8–9; ἦτον νά γινεῖ μέγαν σκάνταλον ibid. 242.3

ἐκ τὴν πολλή του τὴν πρικήα ἦτονε νά πλαντάξη Alex. Rim. 882 ἄν ἦτον νά λείπει τὸ Πνεῦμα εἰς τὴν ἀρχὴν ... ἤθελε φανεῖν ὁ Θεὸς ὅτι δέν ἤξευρε πρῶτα τὸ καλὸν του DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 10, k2r.36–7 (1561); καὶ πλέον κανεῖς δέν ἦτον νά μέ ἐμποδίζει ὡσάν τὴν πρώτην φοράν ibid., Logos 27, Γ7r.13–14 ἐτοῦτο ἦτον ... νά γένη SOUMAKIS, Rebelio 39.31

καὶ τότε ἦτον νά ἰδῆς τὸ πῶς ἐπεριπάτειν τὸ πρόβατον μέ τὸν λύκον PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §16.12

επρονούσεν ἀκόμη ὅταν ὁ χρόνος ἦτον νά γένει με ευθηνίαν ἢ με πείνα Don Kis. 72.25–6; ὅτι ἦτον νά τον θάψουν ἐδῶ ibid. 88.15–16

Sporadically (ὁ)διὰ νά is substituted for νά: ἐπήγασίν τονε εἰς τὸ νοσοκομεῖον, ὅχι νά ἔχουσιν ἐλπίδα νά ἰαθεῖ, διότις οὐδετινὰς δέν τοῦ ἔδιδεν ζώήν, οὐδὲ ἦτονε ὁδιὰ νά ζήσει MOREZINOS, Klini 273.8–10.

With a personal form of εἶμαι one example has been found (assuming that in the 3 sg. examples above ἦτον is, in fact, impersonal): δέν ἤμεσταν διὰ νά προκόψομεν σὲ τούτην τὴν αὐλήν Bertoldin. 108.35.

5.2.4.2 ἦτον νά with Past Tense Complementation

In counterfactual contexts the construction ἦτον νά can also be found with past-tense complementation: μ' ἄν ἦτον νά μὴ 'χά 'σται | ἡ φλόγα τῆς ἀγάπης σου FALIEROS, Ist. On. 589–90; ἄν ἦτονε νά 'πήγαινε στὸν Ἄδην ἄλλος γι' ἄλλον ΠΙΚΑΤ., Rima thrin. 307; δίχως αὐτὴν δέν πάμενε, ξεῦρε, στὴν Ῥωμανία, | ἄν ἦτο νά σφαγήκαμεν ὅλοι μας μέ μανία PETRITSIS, Dig. O 391–2.

5.2.5 ἦρτα + Various Complementations

Restricted
ἦρτα νά γράψω ἦρτα γράψει(ν)

The construction ἦρτα followed by either νά + subjunctive or an infinitive has been found in two Cypriot texts (cf. 5.7.4 for the use of ἔρχομαι in a futurative context). The construction is likely to have been influenced by Italian; see GIACALONE RAMAT/SANSÒ 2014: 24–34 for the use of venire as an auxiliary (though complemented by a participle or adjective) expressing a “change of state” in Old Italian vernaculars: παραῦτα ἐγίνην ζάλη καὶ ἦρτα νὰ πνιγοῦσιν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 62.13 (ἦρτα = ἦρταν); ὅ,τι γιωργήσου τὰ ἄνωθεν χωράφια, ὅ,τ' ἦρτεν γενεῖ (1674, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 10, 25.9–10).

5.3 The Pluperfect

The AG monolectic pluperfect originally expressed an action/event completed in the past, with special focus on the result of this action within the past time frame (KÜHNER/GERTH ³1904: 150). In post-classical Greek the pluperfect had started to be used to express simple temporal anteriority in the past (BLASS et al. 1961: 177–8; MOSER 2009: 216–17). In Late Antiquity it had disappeared from the spoken language altogether and had come to be replaced with periphrastic, or auxiliary verb constructions. The most widespread of these constructions consisted of the imperfect of εἰμί and a perfect or an aorist active participle for the active voice and the imperfect of εἰμί + a perfect passive participle for the passive voice (AERTS 1965: 36–51; 76–90), although for simple anteriority in the past the aorist and the imperfect were the most commonly used tenses.

In written texts, however, the monolectic pluperfect continued to be in use for many centuries after its demise. As it was by then a “dead” category, it was not necessarily used in the AG way, and an increased use of residual monolectic pluperfects instead of aorists and imperfects may be observed in high-register Byzantine literature (though not in low-register texts), providing writers with variant forms useful to accommodate metre and rhythm, or to make the style more elevated (HINTERBERGER 2007). Due to its complicated morphology, the monolectic pluperfect is hardly ever found residually in LMedG and EMG mixed-register and higher-register texts (see also 4.9.3.3).

In the period covered by this Grammar, the aorist and the imperfect are still widely used to express anteriority in the past, even after periphrastic constructions have manifested themselves in this function. Sometimes the anteriority is made explicit through the use of adverbs such as πρῶτύτερα or πρὶο μπρός.

In the following example the countess dies (aor. ἀπέθανε) in v. 8001, but her having first been married to the ruler of Karytaina in line 8004 is expressed by an imperfect (ἦτον) and her giving birth to a son by her second husband in line 8006 is rendered by an aorist (ἔποικεν).

διαβόντα γὰρ μικρὸς καιρὸς ἀπέθανε ἡ κουντέσσα, τοῦ κόντου ντὲ Μπριένε ἡ γυνὴ ὅπου ἦτον αὐταδέλφη τοῦ δοῦκα γὰρ τῶν Ἀθηνῶν, μισὶρ Γυλιάμου ἐκείνου, ἐνῶ ἦτον πρώτη σύμβια τοῦ θαυμαστοῦ στρατιώτου, τοῦ ἀφέντη τῆς Καρύταινας, ὡσὰν σὲ τὸ ἀφηγήθην.
Ἐκεῖνη γὰρ ἡ ἀρχόντισσα ἔποικεν μὲ τὸν κόντον υἱόν, ἐξαίρετον παιδί, τὸ ὠνόμασαν Γατιέρην

Chron. Mor. H 8001–7

(... after a little while the countess died, count De Brienne's wife who was the sister of Mr Guillaume, the duke of Athens, while she had first been the wife of that marvellous soldier, the ruler of Karytaina, as I have told you. Now this noble lady had had a son with the count, and they had named him Gautier.)

In the next example the tower collapsed, just as the old woman had predicted (aor. εἶπεν καὶ ἐπροφήτευσεν):

καὶ ἔπεσε ὅλος κατὰ κράτος καὶ ἔγινεν ἔτσι ὡς καθὼς εἶπεν καὶ ἐπροφήτευσεν ἐκείνη ἡ γράϊα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 334.9–10

In the next example the second εἶδα clearly precedes the first chronologically; similarly, the woman must have given birth to the child (ἔκαμε) before she could be holding him:

ἐκεῖ εἶδα καὶ μία γυναῖκα πόρνην, τὴν ὁποία εἶδα μίαν φορὰν εἰς τὸ παζάρι ὅπου τὴν ἐπόμπευαν καὶ τὴν εἶχαν καὶ ἐκάθετον ἀπάνω εἰς ἓνα γαῖδαρον καὶ ἐκράτειεν καὶ ἓνα παιδίον ὅπου ἔκαμε παστάρδικον ΠΑΡΑ-ΛΑΥΡ., Diigisis (Meteoron) 109.14–18

(“there I saw a prostitute whom I had seen once before when they paraded her on a donkey while she held the bastard child she had had”)

In this example, ἔπιασαν is clearly anterior to ἡύραμεν:

καὶ ἡύραμεν τοὺς ἄλλους σκλάβους συντοπίτες μας, Μανιάτες, ὅπου τοὺς ἔπιασαν πρὶο μπρὸς ἀπόξω ἀπὲ τὴν Κόρσικα (1681, Genoa, ΒΑΥΑΚΑΚΟΣ 1988: 506.16–17)

(“and we found the other slaves, Maniots just like us, whom they had captured earlier before the coast of Corsica”)

In the following examples an aorist + adverbial (ποτέ του, ἄλλη φορά) is used in an environment that in SMG would automatically trigger a pluperfect (εἶχε φάει, εἶχε ξαναπάει):

ὁ δὲ ξένος ἐπειδὴ ποτέ του δὲν ἔφαγε πίτες, ἐμάζωνεν αὐτὰς καὶ ἔτρωγέ τις ὥσαν ψωμίν Vios Aisop. D 227.4–5

(“since the stranger had never eaten pies before, he tucked in and ate them as if they were bread”)

(κράζου ...) ὁ γὰρ γενεραλίσμο Φραντζέσκο Μορεζίνη | ποὺ στάθηκε κι ἄλλη φορά καὶ ξεῦραν τον ἐκεῖνοι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 469.21–2

(“as generalissimo [the Venetians] called for Francesco Morosini, who had been there before, and [therefore] they knew him”)

In the LMedG period certain periphrastic, or auxiliary verb constructions start to be used as pluperfects. The construction εἶχα + infinitive had existed in Greek since Ancient times and had gone through a development from potential in AG to counterfactual conditional some time in the EMedG period, a use the construction continues to have throughout and beyond the LMedG and EMG periods (for details see 5.2). Chatzidakis’s theory that the pluperfect εἶχα + infinitive developed from this conditional use is now generally accepted (CHATZIDAKIS 1905/07: A 598–609; so too AERTS 1965; MOSER 1988; HORROCKS 1995: 169–70; HORROCKS ²2010: 300–1). Contexts such as the following show how the semantic shift from conditional to temporal anteriority, via hypothetical anteriority, could quite easily occur: ἐθρήνησεν ὥσπερ νὰ εἶχεν χάσει | τὸ ρηγᾶτον Chron. Mor. H 8179–80 (“he lamented as if he had lost the kingdom”). As a pluperfect the construction appears in writing from the 14th c. onwards, and given the broad geographical spread of the first examples, it is likely already to have been well established in the spoken language.⁴¹ It is noteworthy that in certain texts the construction is used only for the conditional and not as a pluperfect, e.g. in Dellaportas, Falieros and in Chortatsis's Panoria (though, oddly, not in Katzourbos and Erofilii) and in Thrinou Kyprou. Kornaros, on the other hand, uses the construction as a kind of pluperfect in specific environments only. Also note that in certain texts the same construction is used to express the aorist or imperfect indicative (see 5.6 for details).

The second auxiliary verb construction to be used to express anteriority in the past is εἶχα + perfect passive participle. This construction is used mainly with transitive verbs, usually with an overt direct object, with which the declined participle displays full gender, number and case agreement. Before the LMedG period this construction represented a stative past, describing a state in the past rather than an action/event in the past that is anterior to another action/event in the past (AERTS 1965: 161–7; MOSER 1988: 239–46) and was therefore equivalent to an imperfect. In the LMedG and EMG periods this stative use continues to exist, especially in constructions in which εἶχω can easily be interpreted as “to have/keep in a certain state”, e.g. σκλάβον οὐ σκλάβαν ὅπου εἶχεν τὸν πόδαν θλασμένον Assizes B 432.10 (“a male or female slave who had a broken leg” rather than “who had broken their leg”); ἐβάστα καὶ χαρτόπουλον, εἶχεν γραμμένα ταῦτα Liv. V 395 (“he held a letter that read as follows”, rather than “he held a letter, in which he had written the following”).

The same holds true for the passive equivalent of this construction with the auxiliary εἶμαι and a perfect passive participle that agrees with the subject. This construction, too, often expresses a stative past of “to be”, with the participle functioning as an adjective: οὐχ' ὅτι τὸ πρῶτον ἐσφαλμένον ἦν ΝΙΚΟΝ, Prol. 26.23–4 (“not that the first was wrong”, rather than “had been mistaken”); εἶδεν ἡ ταπεινότης ἡμῶν ... πῶς ἐξ ἀρχῆθεν ... νὰ ἦτο ἐλευθερωμένο τὸ ... κελί (1371, Corfu, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 5: 3, 68.4–5) (“we established that from the very beginning the monastery had been exempt from taxes”, rather than “had been relieved of taxes”); ἐφειδὴν ἦτον κρατημένος νὰ συμβουλέψῃ Assizes B 279.6 (“because it was his duty to advise”, not “because he had been obliged to advise”); καὶ μέχρι δέκα ἡμερῶν ἦταν συναθροισμένοι | ὁμόδειπνοι Achil. N 719–20 (“for ten days they were gathered around the same table”). It can even be found with verbs that do not have passive morphology apart from a verbal adjective in -μένος (see 2.3.2): ὡς ἦσαν μαθημένοι Chron. Mor. H 1151 (“as was their custom”, rather than “as they had been taught”); ἦτον μεθυσμένος PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2143 (“he was drunk”); ἀπάνω στὰ τουφέκια τως ἦτον ἀκουμπισμένοι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 454.18 (“they were leaning on their muskets”).

⁴¹ However, the earliest example quoted in MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 158: ἀπὸ τὸν εὐγενὴν ἄνθρωπον ... εἶχεν δοθῆν γῆς τοῦ αὐτοῦ Οἰκονόμου (MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 6: CII, 239.1–2) cannot provide conclusive proof for a 13th-c. dating. The document is a Greek translation of a 1296 (not 1295) Latin original (= MM VI, App. I, 1, 387–8) (for the date see MALTEZOU 1970: 351). It is unknown when the Greek translation was made, and although it cannot be excluded that it is contemporary to the Latin original, it has only come down to us in a 17th-c. ms.

In the LMedG period εἶχα + perfect passive participle starts to be used to denote anteriority in the past, and it is not difficult to understand how this shift in meaning could occur, when one considers the following Late Antique and MedG examples. In these examples the construction is not a periphrasis and the participle is used in apposition; the subject of the verb is not necessarily the agent of the action expressed by the participle.

συκὴν εἶχέν τις πεφυτευμένην ἐν τῷ ἀγρῷ αὐτοῦ Luke 13:6 (“somebody had a fig tree planted on his land”) ἐπεὶ γὰρ εἶχες οὐδὲν ἡμελημένον Pisides, Exp. Pers. II.206 (7th c., ed. Pertusi) (“because you left nothing undone”)

καὶ τοὺς κυβιστητῆρας, ἀνδρας γεννάδας, | οὓς εὖ κυβιστᾶν εἶχεν ἐξησκημένους, | λαβεῖν σιδηρᾶς ἐν χερσὶν λέγει σφύρας Prodromos, Rhod. & Dos. VI.8–10 (12th c.; 13th-c. ms) (“and his divers, the brave men whom [Helios] had [at his disposal], well trained to dive with agility, he ordered to grab iron hammers”) εἶχε δὲ δρόμωνας παρασκευασμένους εἰς τὴν θάλασσαν ὁ στρατηγὸς (...) καὶ [ὁ τόπαρχος] εἶχεν ἀνδρας γενναίους παρασκευασμένους ἐν τῷ κρυπτῷ Kekaumenos, Strategikon 172.9–13 (11th c., 14th-c. ms) (“the general had light vessels ready at sea ... and [the toparch] had brave men waiting in ambush”)

In these examples εἶχον + participle denotes a state in the past, but it is easy to see how the stative use could in due course come to be interpreted as more dynamic: “somebody had a fig tree planted on his land” > “somebody had planted a fig tree on his land”; “because you left nothing undone” > “because you had overlooked nothing”; “he had divers, trained to dive with agility” > “he had trained them to dive with agility”; “he had vessels ready” > “he had prepared vessels”.

Early examples of the construction that clearly express an action/event that is anterior to another action/event in the past, rather than purely a state in the past, have been found in documents from S. Italy, but it is noteworthy that this use is absent from all other early texts: no examples have been found for instance in the writings of Nikon of the Black Mountain, nor in Glykas, the three oldest versions of Spaneas (V, P and Va), the Ptochoprodromic poems, the collection of proverbs in KRUMBACHER 1893, Logos parigoritikos L, nor in any of the versions of Livistros. If and when the construction occurs in these works, it is always stative, equivalent to an imperfect. In fact, with the exception of the examples from S. Italy (cf. the perfect, 5.4.1.1), no examples have been found before the 15th c., and all early examples are from areas that by then had been under Western rule for quite some time (Crete, Heptanese, Rhodes, Cyprus), making it likely that contact with Romance languages may have attributed to the appearance of the construction as a pluperfect towards the end of the LMedG period (HORROCKS 2010: 297–301). This supposition is reinforced by the fact that LMedG and EMG, just like Italian/Venetian (see FERGUSON 2007: 143), use the auxiliary εἶμαι to form active pluperfects of certain intransitive verbs, such as verbs of motion: ἀλλοῦ ἦτον διαβασμένος Chron. Mor. H 2147 (“he had gone elsewhere”). In the EMG period the construction can also be found with past participles in -δος (Venetian loanwords): ἤτονε σαλπάρδοι (1667, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 19, 90.14–15) (“they had set sail”).

However, it must be stressed that, in contrast to the εἶχα + infinitive construction, even when εἶχα + perfect passive participle is used to express anteriority in the past, it seldom expresses just that and almost always displays a clear focus on the state resulting from the anterior action/event, not only in the earliest example found, τὴν παράδοσιν ἣν περ εἶχεν παραδομένην (1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 16, 209.33) (“the delivery he had delivered”, in other words, that was now in the possession of the buyer), but throughout and beyond the period covered by this Grammar (for its use in MG see MOSER 1988 and MOSER 2009): τὸ πλῆθος ὅλον τῶν ὀρνέων εἶχεν το καλεσμένον Poulol. 3 (“he had invited the whole throng of birds”, in other words, they were now gathered there); ἐπειδὴ εἶχε ἀποκλεισμένη τὴν Κωνσταντινούπολι, ἀπέθανε πολὺς λαὸς ἀπὸ τὴν πείνα Chron. Tourk. Soult. 35.34–5 (“because [Bayezid] had blockaded Constantinople, many people died from famine”, in other words, he kept the City under siege); τὶς χῶρες τοῦ Μορέως ὁποῦ τὶς εἶχε παρμένες ὁ Τοῦρκος ibid. 102.1 (“the parts of Morea that the Turks had taken”, i.e. that were in Turkish hands); τὸ χωράφι ὅπερ εἶχε ἀγορασμένο (1661, Gortynia, YANNAPOPOULOU 1972: 42, 315.2) (“the piece of land he had bought”, i.e. that was now in his possession). The following example from Kartanos, in which the two constructions alternate, beautifully illustrates the difference between simple anterior actions (εἶχεν ὑπάγει, εἶχαν θεμωνιάσει) and states resulting from past actions (εἶχαν θερισμένα, εἶχαν σκορπισμένα): ὁμπρὸς παρὰ τοῦτο εἶχεν ὑπάγει εἰς τοὺς Παλαιστίνους νὰ πολεμήσει, καὶ ἐκεῖ ἠύρισκε καὶ εἶχαν θερισμένα τὰ σιτάρια τοὺς καὶ εἶχαν τὰ σκορπισμένα ἀκόμη εἰς τὰ χωράφια, διότι ἀκόμη δὲν τὰ εἶχαν θεμωνιάσει KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.24–6 (“before that he had gone to fight the Palestinians, and there he found that they had finished reaping their wheat, but still had it lying scattered around the fields, because they had not yet stacked it”).

The construction ἤθελα + infinitive, which, just like its counterpart with εἶχα, was widely used to form conditionals (see 5.2.3.1), also begins to be used for the pluperfect, as first noted by KRIARAS (1936: 51–7); see also VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 27 and MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 222. It is used as a pluperfect from the 16th c. onwards and is geographically confined to southern areas. For its use as an aorist or imperfect indicative see 5.6.

Various regionally differentiated complementations can be found for εἶχα, ἤμου and ἤθελα such as the subjunctive, the gerund, verbal adjectives and nouns (see below). For constructions with the gerund, see also GIANNARIS 2011.

Different constructions can often be found side by side in the same text, e.g. ὁ ἥλιος εἶχε μου τὸ φανερῶσει | ὁποῦ τὸ φῶς του ἤθελε θαμπῶσει KATSAITIS, Klathmos II.179–80. In the following overview no distinction will be made between the active and the passive voices, unless they make use of different constructions. For the morphology of infinitives see 4.6, for gerunds see 4.7 and for participles see II, 3.2.1.

	General	Restricted	Rare
Active	εἶχα γράψει(ν) εἶχα γραμμένο(ν)	εἶχα γραμμένα εἶχα -δο(ν) εἶχα γραπτό(ν) εἶχα + noun εἶχα γράφοντα(ς) ἤμουν/ὑπῆρχα γράφοντα(ς) ἤθελα γράψει(ν) ἤμουν -μένος	εἶχα γράψω εἶχα γράφω εἶχε γράψω εἶχα γραπτά εἶχα γράφοντα(ς) ἤθελα γράφει(ν) ἤθελα ἔχει(ν) γραμμένο(ν) ἤθελα ἔχει(ν) γραμμένα ἤμουν -μενος ἤθελε γράψω ἤθεν γράψω ἤτον νὰ γράψω
Passive	εἶχα γραφθῇ(ν)/ γραφθεῖ(ν) ἤμουν γραμμένος	ἤμουν -δος ἤμουν γραπτός	ἤθελε ἤμουν γραμμένος

5.3.1 εἶχα

5.3.1.1 εἶχα + Infinitive

εἶχα + Aorist Infinitive

The construction with εἶχα + an active or a passive infinitive expresses anteriority in the past, usually without special emphasis on the result of the action/event (as is the case with εἶχα + perfect passive participle; see below), though there are examples in which there is focus on the result, e.g. καὶ τὴν ὥραν ἐκείνην ὅπου ὁ Χριστὸς ἐγεννήθη ἔβρεξεν εἰς ὅλον τὸν κόσμον, ὅπου πούπετες δὲν εἶχεν μείνει ὅπου νὰ μὴν ἔβρεξε KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.23–4, in which εἶχεν μείνει means “there was not” rather than “there had not remained”. The first examples found are from texts dating to the 14th c. In subsequent centuries, the construction appears in a variety of texts from all areas, with the exception of peripheral areas such as S. Italy and Pontos. Some representative examples are:⁴² ⁴² For LMedG S. Italian see CARACAUSI, Lex. s.v. ἔχω. In these areas the construction is unknown even in modern times. For the pluperfect in modern S. Italian see AERTS 1965: 115–20; for Pontic see OIKONOMIDIS 1958: 285–6. The same is likely to hold true for Cappadocia and surrounding areas, for which MedG and EMG evidence is extremely scarce, but which in modern times do not have the construction either (DAWKINS 1916: 60–1, 147 and 191). Also note that the Rasûlid Hexaglot (Yemen, 14th c.), the informant for which was probably from Asia Minor, does not have the construction.

ὅτι εἶχεν ἀποστειλεῖν αὐτὸν ὁ ἡγιασμένος Σουλτάν ὁ Μεληκ Νάσαρ (1349, Egypt, SCHOPEN/ NIEBUHR 1832: IV.14, 97.8–9)⁴³ καθὼς τοὺς εἶχε ὁμόσει Chron. Mor. H 81; τὸ σκαμνὶ τῆς βασιλείας ὅπου τὸ εἶχεν χάσει ibid. 623; οὕτως τὸ εἶχασιν συμβουλευτεῖ ibid. 6640 καὶ εἶχέν τον κόψει κακὰ καὶ ἐτελεύτησεν Assizes B 267.11–12 εἶχεν δώσει καὶ ἡ σύμβιος αὐτοῦ Εὐδοκία τέλος (1406, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1951: 37, f.149v.4) εἶχεν ἐγκρεμισθῇ ἀπὸ ἕνα παραθύρι Chron. Toc. 308 ἀκόμη εἶχα γράφειν εἰς στήν μεγάλην σου αὐθεντίαν (1486, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 4, 50.15); εἶχεν στείλει φρέρην (1487, Chios?, ibid. 13, 77.15–16) τί τὸ λοιπὸν ἐγίνετο, σὰν εἶχασιν ἀλλάξειν | τὲς φορεσιές τὲς στολισίες μὲ ἔρωτίας τάξιν· | ὥσάν τὸν ἥλιον λάμπασι ... LIMEN., Than. Rod. 156–8 εἶχα διορθώσει καὶ ἀφήσει πάντα μου τὰ ἀγαθὰ (1497, Corfu, KARYDIS 1999b: 1, 305.13) δὲ μοῦ εἶχε δώσει τότες ἄλλο ..., ἀμὴ εἶχε μου εἰπεῖν ... (1501–3, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 7, 33.7) ὁ αὐθέντης εἶχεν σώσει εἰς τὴν Μοθώνην εἰς τὲς δέκα τοῦ Ἰουλίου, καὶ ἐπολέμησέ την τριάντα ἡμέρας (16th c., Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 36.II, 295.30.8–9) εἶχεν ἀποθάνει εἰς τὲς ἰβ' τοῦ νῦν μηνὸς Αὐγούστου (1513, Zakynthos, MANOUSAKAS 1967: (a), 222.10) τὸ ὅποιον περιβόλι τὸ εἶχεν πάρειν (1527, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 4, 52.6) τὰ τορνέσα τοῦ τὰ ἔδωσα ἐγώ, ὅπου μοῦ τὰ ἔχε φέρει ὁ ἄνωθεν Μιχάλης (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 214.26) καθὼς τὸ εἶχαν κάμει (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 26, 165.15) τὴν πρῶτην συμφωνίαν ... ὅπου εἶχανε κάμει (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 68, 56.5) εἶχεν ἐγλυτώσει κάποιον Τοῦρκο PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §1.2; ἔτζι τὸν εἶχεν παραγγεῖλει ibid. I §30.10 τὸ χρέος | ποῦ εἶχεν ἀναλάβει (1671, Mykonos, PETROPOULOS 1960: 1395, 821.19–20) εἶχι κριθῇ (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 4, f.40r.6); τοῦ εἶχι ἀφήσει (ibid. A: 4, f.40r.12) (= εἶχε, see I, 2.5.4) τὰ μετρητὰ ποῦ εἶχε ἀφήσει ... ὁ πατέρας μου (1696, Ioannina, MICHAILARIS 1976: 2 [B'], 253.21–2)

In Erotokritos the use of εἶχα + aorist infinitive is especially interesting (cf. ἤθελα + aorist infinitive for the same use). Apart from their regular use as conditionals (see 5.2.2.1), Kornaros also employs them as a kind of pluperfect, but only in specific environments (in other environments he generally uses εἶχα + perfect passive participle for the pluperfect, see 5.3.1.2): temporal clauses introduced by ὡς, σὰν and τό and relative clauses introduced by ὅπου or ὅπου (“wherever” or “whoever”) that express anteriority in relation to an imperfective, habitual/repetitive main clause.⁴⁴ τὸ ἔχα ξυπνήσει, ἐφώνιαζα KORNAROS, Erot. I.995; εἶς ποῦ ἔτρεμεν ὡς σ' εἶχε δεῖ ibid. I.1601; ὡς εἶχε βάλειν εἰς τὸν νοῦ κι ὡς ἤθελε λογιᾶσει | ποῖα στράτα μέλλει νὰ κρατεῖ ... χολικισμένη ἐπόμενε ibid. I.2091–5; ὡς εἶχε ρίξει κοπανιά, πάντα του τὸ σκουτάρι | με το σπαθί

⁴³ Sonja Schönaauer, who is preparing a new edition of Kantakouzinou's Historiae, kindly confirmed that this is the reading of the oldest (14th-c.) manuscripts.

⁴⁴ When the main clause does not express habituality/repetition in the past, Kornaros uses the aorist indicative in the temporal clause: Γλυκάρετος ἐκράζετο κι ὡς ἦρθε ὅπου ὅσα οἱ ἄλλοι, | μὲ σπλάχνος ἐχαίρετσε KORNAROS, Erot. II.291–2; σὰν τσῆ τ' ἀπομιλήσασιν, ἡ κόρη ἀναδακρύνει ibid. V.337; τό ἔκουσεν ὁ Ρωτόκριτος τ' ἀναθιβάνει ἡ μάνα, τὰ λόγια τσῆ σὲ λογισμοὺς μεγάλους τὸν ἐβάνα ibid. I.1857–8; μὰ κάτεχε κι ὅπου ἄλλα ποτὲ δὲ μ' ἐνίκησα ibid. II.1424.

ἐσυντροφίαζε ibid. II.1099–100; μὰ σάν τὸν εἶχε στερευτῇ, περίσσα ἐτυραννᾶτο ibid. III.21; τὸ ἔχει γροικῆσει ἄλλου νὰ πῇ λόγο γιὰ πόθου ὁδύνη, | τὸ πρόσωπο ἐκοκκίνιζες ibid. III.1155–6; καὶ τὸ ἔχει δεῖ κ' ἐβράδιαζε καὶ πῶς ὁ ἥλιος κλίνει, | ἐμίσειυε σπουδαχτικά κι αὐτὸς τὴν ὥρα κείνη ibid. IV.943–4; μὰ πάλι ὡς εἶχε θυμηθῇ ποῦ γέρνεται, ποῦ μένει | γιὰ λόγου του μιά του κερά ἀκριβαναθρεμμένη, | ἐγροίκα μέσα στὴν καρδιά μαχαίρι ibid. V.57–9

ὅπου εἶχε δεῖ ὁμορφο δεντρό, μὲ τ' ἄνθη στολισμένο: | “εἶν' τσ' Ἀρετούσας τὸ κορμί, τ' ὁμορφοκαμωμένο”· | ὅπου ἔχει δεῖ τὰ λούλουδα τὰ κοκκινοβαμμένα, | ἤλεγε ... KORNAROS, Erot. I.125–9; κι ὅπου ἔχει πεί νὰ τ' ἀρνηθῶ, ἦτον ἀντίδικός μου ibid. I.978; κι ὅπου ἔχει δεῖ λινόφυλα ἐκεῖ ἦβανε τὸ ἀπύρι ibid. IV.744; μὰ ὅπου ἔχει σώσει, θάνατον ἦδιδε τῶν ἀνθρώπων ibid. IV.1116

A single example that resembles this use of εἶχα + infinitive occurs in the following text from Cyprus: ντάν νὰ ἔχεν βάλειν ἄνθρωπον κάτω νὰ ἔχεν παιδεύγει, | τοὺς δελοιτοὺς τὸ αἰμάν τους ἀρχίνιζεν νὰ φεύγη KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 265–6 (“whenever he would tie a man down to torture him, all the others would become very scared”).

εἶχα + Present Infinitive

The construction with εἶχα + present infinitive expresses durativity in the remote past, a situation in the past that is anterior to some other situation/action/event (cf. εἶχα + subjunctive below). The construction is not restricted to verbs that lack perfective morphology, such as ἔχω and ἐξεύρω:

ἄν τῶχα ξεύρειν, ψυχούλα μου, ... | ὁ Ἔρωσ νὰ μὲ φόνεψεν Achil. L 1305–6 ἡῦρεν κρυμμένα χρήματα πολλὰ, ὅπου εἶχαν ἔχη οἱ πρῶν βασιλεῖς Diig. Alex. F 238.15–16 (Lolos)
 δὲν εἶχανε ἡξέρει ἀκόμη τὸ κακὸ Chron. Tourk. Soult. 59.26
 μὲ πέρνε εἰς τὸν τόπο ἀπού ἔχει πηαίνει | συχνὰ ἡ νεράϊδα τούτη Pist. voskos II 1.141–2 (read μ' ἐπαῖρνε)
 μ' ἄλλότες εἶχε πράσσει | εἰς τὰ ταξίδια, καὶ ἔρχοντας μιά φούστα ν' ἀγοράση, | μέσα στὴ φούστα μ' εὔρηκε κι ἐμένα FOSKOLOS, Fort. II.201–2 (“once upon a time he had been a travelling merchant, and when he came to buy a boat, he found me in it”)

5.3.1.2 εἶχα/ἦμουν + Participle

εἶχα/ἦμουν + Perfect Passive Participle

As mentioned in the introduction to 5.3, with the exception of the ones from S. Italy no examples of εἶχα/ἦμουν + perfect passive participle have been found before the 15th c., and all early examples are from areas that had been under Western rule for some time (Crete, Heptanese, Rhodes, Cyprus), making it likely that contact with Romance languages encouraged the appearance of the construction towards the end of the LMedG period. Even in later centuries, the construction appears mainly in texts from southern areas, and only rarely in texts from the northern mainland; the few northern examples all have a particularly strong emphasis on the resulting state (εἶχε δεμένα, εἶχα βαλμένο).

The following list of examples does not include examples that are purely stative and therefore do not express anteriority in the past, such as τοὺς δὲ ὀφθαλμοὺς ὁ Ἰασοὺς πάντα κλεισμένους εἶχε Pol. Tr. 654 (“Jason still kept his eyes closed”) (see the introduction to 5.3).

Active

- τὴν παράδοσιν ἣν περ εἶχεν παραδομένην (1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 16, 209.33) πρὶν τῆς θανῆς αὐτοῦ εἶχεν αὐτὰ ἀφιερωμένα εἰς τὴν προρρηθεῖσαν μονὴν (1113, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 75, 97.19–21) τὰ σκρίτια ὅπου εἶχε πλερωμένα (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 46.22–3) τὰ εἶχεν δομένα εἰς ἐνέχυρον (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 81, 188.4) διὰ πολλὰ πράγματα τὰ εἶχαν ἀγορασμένα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 150.19–20 εἰς τὰ ἔχε καμωμένα LIMEN., Than. Rod. 415 τὲς χῶρες μας ποὺ εἶχαμε χαϊμένες | ὅλες μᾶς τὲς ἐστρέψασι Theseid X.21,3–4 (1529) τὴν φυτεῖαν ὅπου εἶχαμε ἀναστημένη (1550, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 27, 66.2–3) αὐτὸς ἐμένα ἐμπροτύτερα εἶχε με βασιλέα καμωμένον καὶ ἐσὺ μὲ ἀτίμως Diig. Alex. V 74.1
 καταπῶς τοῦ τὸν εἶχε ταμένο εἰς τὸ προυκοχάρτι (1573, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 4, 13.8) καὶ τοῦ τὰ εἶχεν δοσμένα (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 68, 56.6) τὴν εἶχε ἀρρεβωνιασμένη μὲ ἔναν ἀφέντη χριστιανόν Chron. Tourk. Soult. 32.2; τὸν ὅποιον τοῖχον τὸν εἶχανε κτισμένο οἱ Μοραῖτες ibid. 51.19 τὰ χωράφια ... τὰ εἶχε ὁ πεθερός μας παρμένα καὶ τὰ ὠρίζαμε ἐμεῖς (1631, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1972: 13, 175.4) καὶ εἶχαν δεμένα τὰ χερίά του, καὶ αὐτός: “μὴν μὲ δένετε· ἐγὼ μοναχὸς σεβαίνω εἰς τὴν φλόγα” PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §1.12–13 αἰζίκια τα εἶχαν γεμισμένα IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 2740 εἶχέν της ὁ Καῖρης ἑκατὸ ρεάλια δοσμένα (ante 1662, Sifnos, TSELIKAS 1986c: 2, 31.9) καὶ εἴτι ροῦχα εἶχε φερμένα ἐδικὰ της (1669, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 184.16) τὰ παλληκάρια | ποῦ μαθημένα τὰ ἔχενε νὰ σύρνουν τὰ κοντάρια PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1603–4 τὸ μισὸν μαγαζίν ὅπου τῆς εἶχεν ὁ ἄνδρας της γραμμένον καὶ χαρασμένον (1677, Proikonnisos, KAMBOURIS 1976: A. 6, 198.8–9) τὰ ὅσαν τῆς εἶχαν πουργοταμένα (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 610, 841.19)

With an invariable participle form in -α the construction has been found in texts from Crete, the Aegean and the southern mainland. It is used with intransitive verbs (μιλῶ) and when the direct object of the phrase is a complement clause, in texts from southern areas (Crete, southern mainland): κ' εἶχαμε μιλημένα γιὰ τὸ γάμο Vosk. 400; εἶχα γραμμένα τῆς πανιερότης<ς> σου πῶς ... (1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.20); καθὼς ... εἶχασι ἀποφασισμένα νὰ κάμουσι EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 33.19–21.

Examples of the construction with a nominal direct object have been found in Cretan texts and in texts from the Aegean (Andros) (cf. the perfect, 5.4.1.1). The single example from the Lament of Cyprus is probably rhyme-induced, as the construction has not been found in other Cypriot texts.

- διότις χαρτὶ δὲν τοὺς εἶχαν καμωμένα (1581, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 11, 25.19) δὲν εἶχε μαθημένα τὸν κόπον νὰ δουλεύει MOREZINOS, Klini 172.5
 τὸ σπαθὶ δὲν εἶχ' ἀκονισμένα CHORTATSI, Katz. II.86; μὰ τὸν Πανάρετο θωρῶ, σὰν τοῦ ἔχα μνημμένα id., Erof. II.372 γιὰτὶ δὲν εἶχεν καμωμένα σιγουριτὰν (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 140, 153.13–14) τὸ ὅποιον χωράφι εἶχε πουλημένα (1612, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 178, 170.7) εἶχα γραμμένα GERMANO, Grammar 98.14
 ἔβγηκα ἔπο τὴν συντυχιάν, ὅπου ἔχα ἀρχισμένα Thrinus Kypr. 498

An indeclinable participle in -o is very rare (but cf. the perfect, 5.4.1.1, for which a few more examples have been found): μία καρίνα όπου εἶχαν ἀγορασμένο (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 53, 67.6).

In texts from the Heptanese, and possibly the wider south-western area, the εἶχα + participle construction can be found with the intransitive verb γίνομαι as a transitive construction with an overt direct object, semantically equivalent to εἶχα καμωμένο(ν) (cf. the perfect and the future perfect, 5.4.1.1 and 5.5.1): ὁ αὐτὸς Κράμπτος εἶχε γεναμένη μία γραφή (1606 [late 17th-/early 18th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 521.11–12).

Passive

The passive counterpart of the εἶχα + participle construction is formed with the imperfect of εἶμαι + perfect passive participle. It is mainly used with transitive verbs, and the participle is in full gender, number and case agreement with the subject. As noted in the introduction to 5.3, this construction often represents a state in the past, equivalent to an imperfect, and purely stative examples (e.g. ἦτον φορεμένος φορέματα χρυσὰ PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 107.16–17 (“he was wearing gold-embroidered garments”, rather than “he had dressed himself in gold-embroidered garments”)) have not been included in the following list of examples. The construction usually does have a strong emphasis on the state resulting from the action/event that is anterior to it:

- ἦν καὶ πρότερον ἀπὸ τοῦ χρόνου ἀφανισμένον (1363, Athos, KRAVARI 1991: 6, 84.9) τὸ κάστρον ἦν ἔρημον, ἦτον χαλασμένο Chron. Mor. H 1691; ἀπέκει ἐσηκώθησαν ὅπου ἦσαν μαζωμένοι ibid. 968 ἄρα ἔβλεπεν ὁ ἄγγελος, ὥς ἦτον τεταγμένος Anak. Konst. 112 τὴν Ἄρταν καὶ τὰ Ἰωάννινα, ὅπου ἦσαν χωρισμένα Chron. Tōc. 3026 εἶπαν τοῦ ἀποστολέ ἐκεῖνον τὸ ἦτον ὀρισμένοι ἀπὸ τὴν ρήγανιν VOUSTR., Chron. A 60.16–17
 αὐτὰ τὰ δύο κτίσματα τοῦ Θεοῦ ἦτον καμωμένα DAM. STOUD., This., Logos 2, β5r.32 (1561) πιδέξια καὶ πιτήδεια ἦσαν βαλμένα Vosk. 165 app. crit. ὅπου ἦτον πρωτύτερα τυφλωμένος καὶ ὑστέρου ἦλθε τὸ φῶς τοῦ Chron. Tourk. Soult.
 29.27–8; (το τεῖχιο ...) καλὰ καὶ ἦτον μεταφτειασμένο ibid. 91.7–8 ἦτον τὸ ταμπόρι τοὺς ὑπέρκαλα ὀρδινιασμένο PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §13.4–5 ἦτον ἀναθρεμμένος ἐπὰ (1636, Crete, TSELIKAS 1985: 11, 83.7) ἕναν λέοντα εἶδεν καὶ ἦτον σφασμένος PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1435 καὶ ἦταν τὰ μαλλιά τοῦ τρογύρω μπαρμπερεμένα Reb. Enr. 103.9; ἦτον θανατωμένο καὶ ὄχι πνιμένο ibid. 104.9–10 ἦτον γεννημένη εἰς ἐκεῖνον τὸν τόπον Don Kis. 3.7

Passive with Active Meaning

The construction ἦμουν + participle is also used for the active voice of intransitive verbs, not only of deponent verbs (ἐρχομαι) but also of active verbs that otherwise lack passive morphology (διαβάζω, μισέω, παγαίνω). The participle in -μένος or -δος (Venetian loanwords) is in full case, number and gender agreement with the subject of the verb. In all examples found, the verbs are verbs of motion, but cf. the perfect, 5.4.1.2, for which examples of another intransitive verb (πταίω) have been found. This use appears to be restricted to south-western areas (Peloponnese, Crete, Santorini, Heptanese):

ἄλλοῦ ἦτον διαβασμένος Chron. Mor. H 2147 οἱ προφήται δὲν ἦτον ἀπερασμένοι ὅλοι DAM. SToud., This., Logos 2, β5v.23 ἦτονε στήν Ῥώμην παγωμένος ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 578; ὁποῦτον ἐλθωμένος ibid. 1888 γιατὶ δὲν ἦτο ἐτότες ἐκ τὸν Ἄδην | στὸν κόσμον ἢ Περηφάνεση ἐρχωμένη CHORTATSIS, Erof.
II.482–3⁴⁵
καὶ ἦτονε προτύτερας παγωμένος (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 392, 364.10) τὸ καράβι ἀκόμα δὲν ἦτονε μισεμένο (1612, Monemvasia region, BROUSKARI 1981: 314.21) ἦτονε μισεμένος (1628, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 2, 332.8–9) ἦτονε σαλπάδοι (1667, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 19, 90.14–15) (< Ven. salpado, departed) ἀπείτις ἦτονε μισεμένος (1670, Crete, TSELIKAS 1986c: 3, 36.10) ἦτον σχεδὸν ἀπερασμένοι χρόνοι εἴκοσι GAVRILOP., Diig. panouklas 94.33 ἦμουν παγεμένος, ἦσουν παγεμένος ROMANOS, Grammar 62.20

In texts of south-western provenance ἦμουν + passive participle is also used with the intransitive deponent verb γίνομαι; cf. the perfect (5.4.1.2) and future perfect (5.5.1). Given the general confusion regarding the morphology of γίνομαι, the aorist middle participle γενόμενος and its innovative variant γενάμενος surely have the same meaning as the innovative perfect passive participles γεναμένος, γινάμενος, γενομένος, γινωμένος, etc. (for AG γεγώνως) (see also 2.4):

μετὰ χαρᾶς τὸ ἤθελα νὰ ἦτον γεναμένον Pol. Tr. 3708 app. crit. (A) τὴ διαλαλιά ἀκούσαμεν ὅπου ἦτον γεναμένη Alex. Rim. 1464 ἀκόμη τὸ Πάσχα δὲν ἦτον γινάμενον KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 363.28; οἱ ψυχῆς ἦσαν γινόμενες ὀμπρὸς παρὰ τὰ κορμιά τῶν ἀνθρώπων ibid. 411.13–14 εἰς τὴν ἀπόφασιν ὅπου ἦτον γενάμενη (1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 21, 33.10) ὡσὰν νὰ ἦτανε γεναμένο εἰσὲ ἄττι δημοσίου νοταρίου (1737, Zakynthos, BOUBOULIDIS 1957: 8, 125.2–3)

A semantic shift from passive to active may be observed in this construction with the active verb κερδένω/κερδαίνω/κερδίζω (cf. 5.5.1 for a similar example of νικῶ):⁴⁶ κ' ἐκεῖ ποὺ στέκαν ἀφοβα κ' ἦτονε κερδεμένοι, | γυρίζοντας ἀποδεκεῖ ἦτονε σκλαβωμένοι BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 426.2–3.

This construction has also been found with a present passive participle of deponent verbs. In these examples the choice for the present participle does not appear to be aspectual (cf. the perfect, 5.4.1.1): ὡς καθὼς ἦτον ἔκπαλαι ὑποσχόμενος (1590, Corfu, KARYDIS 2004/06: 3, 49.10–11); ἀνκαλὰ καὶ τὸ φῶς ἦτονε ἐρχόμενον εἰς τὸν κόσμον MOREZINOS, Klini 11.30–1.

εἶχα/ἦμουν + Past Participle in -δος

The same construction, with εἶχα for the active and ἦμουν for the passive voice, can also be found in Venetian-ruled areas (Heptanese, Cyclades, Crete) with past participles in ⁴⁵ The form ἐρχωμένη in this example from Erofili looks like a present participle, but the stress indicates that it is a perfect. Of course, the difference between pres. ἐρχόμενος and perf. ἐρθωμένος is only one letter. There appears to be some confusion between the perfective and imperfective stems of εἶρχομαι, cf. the noun ὁ ἐρθωμός in TROILOS, Rodol. II.178 and V.21 and ὁ ἐλθομός in Hierotheos Anvatios's Χριστιανικὴ Διδασκαλία 104 (references from KRIARAS, Lex. s.v. ερχομός).

⁴⁶ Cf. the same active meaning of κερδεμένος in other constructions: ἤρτεν ἡ ἀρμάδα τοὺς βενετικούς εἰς τὴν Ἀμμόχουστον, κάτεργα ξ'. Καὶ ἤρταν κερδεμένα VOUSTR., Chron. A 162.4–5; ἐβγήκε κερδεμένος Thysia Avr. 1074. The construction still has this meaning in SMG.

-δος borrowed from Venetian.⁴⁷ These participles show full adaptation to Greek adjectival morphology, with some variation in the fem. sg. (see also II, 3.2.1). Examples have only been found in non-literary texts:

Active

μηδὲ εἶχεν το κανενὸς ὀμπλιγάδο (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 7, 18.24) (< obligàr) (τὸ ὁποῖον ἀμπέλι ...) τοῦ τό 'χεν ἄσενιάδο καὶ δοσμένο (1603, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 182, 194.9); ἔστοντας καὶ ... νὰ εἶχεν μαλτζιπάδο ... τὸν υἱόν του (1610, ibid. 653, 569.2) (< mancipàr) ἔφυγεν ἡ ἀρμάδα τοῦ Τούρκου, τὴν ὁποίαν εἶχεν σεντιάδη ἡ ἀρμάδα τῶν χριστιανῶν (1667, Crete, DIMITRAKOPOULOS 1995: 542.5–6) (< sedìar) τὸ ὁποῖο εἶχαμε ἀκβιστάδο ἀπὸ τὴν ποτὲ κερα-Γιαννοῦ (1685, Cythera, ANDRITSAKI-FOTIADI 1982: 71.30) (< acquistàr) τὰ εἶχεν ἱμπαρκάδα (1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 7, 20.35) (< imbarcàr) ἀπ' ὅ,τι εἶχε παγάδο (1699, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 5, 165.29) (< pagàr)

Passive

τὰ ὁποῖα ἦσανε, ὡς λέσι, ὑποτεκάδα τῇ αὐτῇς κερα-Φρατζισκίνας (1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 825, 721.4) (< ipotecàr)

5.3.1.3 εἶχα/ἦμουν + Verbal Adjective

Constructions with a verbal adjective in -τός, with εἶχα for the active and ἦμουν for the passive voice, have mainly been found in documents from S. Italy and Venetian-ruled areas, mostly of the verb ἀγοράζω:

Active

τόπον ... τὸν ἅπερ εἶχε ἀγοραστὸν ἐκ τὸν 'Οσβέρνον (1142?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 9, 523.3–4) εἶχε το δὲ ἀγοραστὸν ἀπὸ τὸν Ἱπικέρνην Chron. Toc. 1041 τὸ χωράφιον ὅπερ εἶχε ἀγοραστὸν ὁ πατήρ του (1599, Kefalonia, ALEXOPOULOU et al. 2009: 15, 12.2) τ' ἀμπέλι ... ὅπου εἶχα ἀλλακτὸ ἀπὸ τοὺς παρπάδες τοὺς Σταματέλο καὶ Θωμά (1638, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 100, 102.23) κατὰ τὴ γραφὴν τῆς ποτὲ του πεθερᾶς ὅπου'χεν τὸ πρᾶμα ἀγοραστὸ (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 86, 241.11); καθὼς τὸ εἶχαν καὶ αὐτοῖν ἀγοραστὸν (ibid. 88, 243.12) λογιάζω νὰ εἶχες ἀκουστήν ... τὴν περίφημον ἐκείνην γυναῖκα SKOUFOS, Grammat. 78, 273.3
 τὸν εἶχε στιχητὸν με ρόγαν διὰ ἀσλάνια 40 (1698 [later copy], Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: B 11, f.171r.23) (< στιχῶ, “to hire”)

Passive

τὸ ὁποῖο πατητήρι ἦτονε ἀγοραστὸ τοῦ ἄνωθεν ποτὲ μισερ Τζώρτζη ἀποὺ τὸ ποτὲ κυρ-Μανολὰ (1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 12, 33.6–7)

With an invariable adjectival form in -α, it has been found, for the active voice only, in south-western areas such as Crete, the Peloponnese and Santorini. In the Cretan text it is used with a nominal direct object; in the other two texts with a complement clause as direct object (cf. εἶχα + indeclinable perfect passive participle above):

⁴⁷ For Venetian participles in -ado/-adho see FERGUSON 2007: 96.

τὸ ψυχικὸν ὅπου ... εἶχεν ἀφητὰ, ὑπέρπυρα 4' (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 146, 159.6–7); τὸ ψυχικὸν ὅπου τοῦ εἶχεν ἀφητὰ ἡ γυναῖκα του (1611, ibid. 696, 602.6) ἀπὸ παλιόθεν εἶχαμε ἀκουστὰ πῶς ἦταν τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1644, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 4, 122.10–11) ὅσοι εἶχαν γροικιστὰ πῶς καὶ ἄλλοτε ἦψε φωτῖα Diig. Sant. 55.71

5.3.1.4 εἶχα + Noun

Sometimes εἶχα can be found with a noun expressing the action of the related verb. The auxiliary retains some of its possessive meaning, and therefore the construction is only used with certain nouns, e.g. εἶχα ἀγορά (“I had bought, I had in my possession”), but not *εἶχα πούλησιν (“I had sold”) (cf. the perfect 5.4.1.4).⁴⁸

καθὼς εἶχα το ἀγορὰν (1264, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 33, 15.9) ὅπερ εἶχε κάκεινος ἀγορὰν ἀπὸ τῆς Μοσχοπουλίνης (1415, Limnos, LEMERLE et al. 1979: 164, 167.11) καὶ πυρσοὺς γὰρ ἀνυψώνουν | τὰ πρὸς ἔνδειξιν Ἑλλήνων, | ὅπερ εἶχαν συμφωνίαν ERMON., Ilias 22.209–11
 καταπῶς τὴν εἶχασι ἀγορασιὰ (1544, Syros, ZERLENDIS 1923a: [2], 7.10) ἔδωκεν ὁ βασιλεὺς τοῦ Αἰσώπου τὸ χαράτζιον ὅπου εἶχαν συμφωνίαν Vios Aisop. D 240.35 σοῦ εἶχα ὀρδινίαν ὅτι νὰ μὴν κάμεις καμμίαν ἱεροπραξίαν (1637, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969e: 61.14) ἔνα χωράφι ὅπου εἶχεν ἀγορά ἀπὸ τὸ Στουπᾶ (1676, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 1, 123.42) τὴν ὁποία τὴν εἶχασιν ἀγορά ἀπὸ τὸν μποτὲ μισὲρ Ἰάκωβον Διασίντην (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 179.22–3) ἐγὼ τοῦ εἶχα παραγγελία ... <νὰ> τοῦ τὰ ἀφήσει (1694, Lvov?, PAPASTRATOU 1981: 5, 57.15–16)

5.3.1.5 εἶχα + Present Gerund

The construction εἶχα + present gerund is used only for the active voice and does not appear to have a passive counterpart (cf. the perfect, 5.4.1.5). With a present gerund it has been found in S. Italy and in Cretan texts, and with an aorist gerund it appears in version T of the Chronicle of Morea and in three of the four rhymed versions of Apollonios. Insofar as the limited number of examples allows for conclusions, there does not always appear to be an aspectual difference between imperfective and perfective complementation: see e.g. the variant readings of Apollonios. However, in the example from S. Italy the construction denotes a situation in the past that is viewed as completed – “the land that used to belong to my father” (who is now dead) – whereas in the example from Falieros the present gerund denotes a situation that is ongoing in the past, when it is interrupted by the action expressed by the historical present βλέπω “I saw”: “and she had not entirely finished speaking when I saw a glow”.

⁴⁸ These examples resemble pluperfects and they are different from examples with other nouns such as the following: τὸ ὅποιο εἶχαμε καὶ γραφή, γεναμένη ὑπὸ χειρὸς ... (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 16, 40.26), in which τὸ εἶχαμε γραφή means “we had it in writing”, “on a piece of paper” (but afterwards the document was lost).

τὰ χωράφια τὰ εἶχε κρατῶνταν ὁ πατ<έ>ρας μου (1113, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 75, 97.17) καὶ οὐκ εἶχε λέγοντα σωστὸν καὶ βλέπω μιὰ λαμπάδα FALIEROS, Ist. On. 395 αὐτὸς <τον> εἶχε σφάζοντα, στο χῶμαν ἀπὸ κάτου Apoll. Rim. V 1604 τὰ γονικά ὁποῦ ἔχα τοῦ υἱοῦ μου στὶς Μάλλες δίδοντα (1524, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 31.70)
ὁποῖον ἀμπέλιν σου εἶχεν δίδοντα (1546, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 1, 41.10); τὰ ὑπέρπυρα ... ὅπου ἐμεῖς τὰ ἔχαμεν αὐτουνοῦ δίδοντα (1547, ibid. 35, 66.8–9) τὸ εἶχασι χαλάσσοντα ὁμπρὸς οἱ Βενετικοί Chron. Mor. T 1692⁴⁹ αὐτὸς τον εἶχε σφάζοντα, στο χῶμαν ἀποκάτω Apoll. Rim. A and E 1604 (σφάζοντας in N)

There is one example of ἦμουν + present gerund, which, however, does not have a passive but an active meaning, involving the verb of motion πηγαίνω (cf. ἦμουν + participle, above): καὶ τὰ νερά ἦτον πγαίνοντα καὶ λείψοντα ὡς τὸ μῆνα τὸν δέκατο Pent. Gen. 8.5.

5.3.1.6 εἶχα + Subjunctive

Εἶχα complemented by a bare subjunctive has been found in south-western texts of the EMG period (cf. the conditional, 5.2.2.3). The aorist subjunctive expresses a simple action or event, whereas the present subjunctive is used for repeated/habitual/progressive actions/events that are expressly situated in the remote past (cf. pres. inf. above):

ἐκεῖ ὁποῦ ἔχαν πᾶσι ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 125.4
ποῦ ἔχαμεν πρωτοποῦμεν Rim. Sant. 669; μᾶς εἶχασιν εἰποῦσι ibid. 694 ὁλὰ ἔχασι δοθοῦν σὲ κακὲς πράξεις ΚΑΤΣΑΙΤΙΣ, Klathmos I.651; δὲν εἶχανε τὸ στοχαστοῦνε ibid. I.757; λίγους σολδάδους εἶχασιν ἀφήσουν ibid. II.17; δὲν εἶχαν πάγου ibid. II.84; εἶχες το μετανιώσεις id., Ifig. II.282 γιατ' εἶχασι θαρροῦσι Rim. Sant. 755 το μεγάλο θάμασμα ποῦ ἔχες ἔχεις | τότες Pist. voskos I 1.213
λέγω γὰ μερικοὺς ὁποῦ ἔχαν πέβουν | π' ἄλλο δὲν ἔκαμναν παρὰ νὰ κλέβουν ΚΑΤΣΑΙΤΙΣ, Klathmos I.715; ἔνανε ποῦ ἔχε κλέπτει νὰ τοὺς δίνη ibid. I.735; σάν γνήσια μητέρα εἶχες πράσσεις ibid. III.89

5.3.1.7 εἶχε(ν) + Subjunctive

Impersonal εἶχε(ν) + subjunctive has not been found before the 18th c. (cf. the conditional, 5.2.2.4). It is listed in Kanellos Spanos's grammar (1749) as equivalent to εἶχα γράψει:⁵⁰ εἶχε γράψω, -ψης, -ψη· εἶχε γράψωμεν, -ψετε, -ψουν SPANOS, Grammar 35.4; εἶχε φιληθῶ ibid. 40.21.

⁴⁹ The Copenhagen ms of the Chronicle has εἴσασιν χαλάσασι, a construction that has not been attested elsewhere (though cf. past-tense complementation in the active conditional, 5.2.2.5).

⁵⁰ The construction also occurs as a pluperfect in the early correspondence of Korais, vol. 1, to recipients in Chios/Smyrna: εἶχε στείλωσιν (1782, letter 8, 21.20); δὲν εἶχεν ἰδῶ ποτέ μου (1791, letter 54, 193.30) (but εἶχα δώσειν e.g. in letter 773 of 1818 (80.4)).

5.3.2 ἤθελα

5.3.2.1 ἤθελα + Infinitive

From the early 16th c. onwards the conditional construction ἤθελα + infinitive (for which see 5.2.3.1) can be found used as a pluperfect in texts from southern areas (Peloponnese, Heptanese, Crete, Cyprus). It is complemented by an aorist infinitive expressing a simple action or event (for this construction complemented by a present or aorist infinitive, but used as an imperfect or aorist indicative respectively, see 5.6):

ἤθελα + Aorist Infinitive

κάτι γυναῖκες ὅπου ἐκλαῖαν ἄλλην γυναῖκαν ὅπου ἤθελεν πεθάνειν Fior 84.41–3 λέγοντες πῶς τὸ ἤθελαν χάσει πρῶν καὶρὸν τῆς συχύσεως (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 5, 58.5–6); διὰ τὸ δαμάλι τὸ δικό του ὅπου τοῦ ἤθελε λαβώσει ὁ ρηθεις κυρ-Νικολός (ibid. 25, 83.7–8) σκάπτοντας κάπου γεωργὸς ἤθελεν εὐρεῖ πλούτον ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 82.1
 θάνατον εἶχα πλὴν καλλιὰ νὰ δώσω τοῦ κορμιοῦ μου | παρὰ ἀπὸ κείνο νὰ ᾿χα βγεῖ ποῦ μ’ ἤθελεν ὀρίσει CHORTATSIS, Erof. I 248–9 τὴν ἀγορὰν ὅπου ἤθελαν κάμειν ἀπὸ τὸν αὐτὸν Μουσταφὰν παχὶὰ Ἀμοχούστου (1640, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 4, 13.15) (the Pasha is deceased at the time of writing) ἐκεῖνος ποῦ τὸ ἔννιὰ ἔριξε, στὴ γῆ ἤθελε ξαπλώσει TROILOS, Rodol. III.504; μηδ’ ἄνθρωπος τὸν ἤθελε γνωρίσει ibid. III.512 τοῦτος πλὶν πρωτύτερα ἤθελεν ἔμπει μέσα FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.31; κι ἤκουσα πῶς ἕνας τ’ ἄλλου ἐθέλασιν ἀμόσει ibid. IV.347 εἰς τοὺς 1470 ο Μωάμετ Δεύτερος ... ἀφόντις ἐγκρέμισε τὴν δευτέραν φορὰν τα τεῖχη τῆς Κορίνθου, ὅπου οἱ Βενετσιάνοι ἤθελαν ξανακτίσει Ist. Enet. 417.8–10 ἕνα θεριὸν ὃ Ἡρακλῆς ἤθελε θανατώσει | κι ἄφηκε μνῆμην εἰς τὴ γῆ γιὰτ’ ἤθελε γλυτώσει BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 498.3–4 ἐτούτους ὅλους ἤθελε τοὺς βγάλει KATSAITIS, Klathmos I.161; ὃ γκενεράλες ποῦ ἔλε το μάθει
 | ἐτρόμαξε ibid. II.135–6; τέτοιαις λογῆς ἤθελε πολεμήσει ibid. I.319

In Erotokritos the use of ἤθελα + aorist infinitive is especially interesting (for the same use cf. εἶχα + aorist infinitive, 5.3.1.1). Apart from their regular use as conditionals (see 5.2.3.1), Kornaros also employs them as a kind of pluperfect, but only in specific environments (in other environments he generally uses εἶχα + perfect passive participle for the pluperfect, see 5.3.1.2): temporal clauses introduced by ὥς, σάν and τό and relative clauses introduced by ὅπου or ὅπου (“wherever”, “whoever”) that express anteriority in relation to an imperfective, habitual/repetitive main clause.⁵¹

ὥς ἤθελε λογιᾶσει | ποῖα στράτα μέλλει νὰ κρατεῖ ... χολικιασμένη ἐπόμενε KORNAROS, Erot.
 I.2091–5; τὸ ἔλες κλάψει καὶ νὰ δῶ τὸ δάκρυο νὰ προβάλλη, | μ’ εὗρισκε γιὰ τὸ κλάμμα σου παρατροπὴ μεγάλη ibid. III.99–100; τὸ ἔλε δεῖ τὸ βασιλιὸ μέ λογισμό νὰ κάτση | τὴ

⁵¹ When the main clause does not express habituality/repetition in the past, Kornaros uses the aorist or imperfect indicative in the temporal clause: καὶ ὥς ἐμπερδεύτη στὴ φιλιάν, ἐψύγη κ’ ἐμαράθη KORNAROS, Erot. I.1318; τὰ μάτια του ὅπου ἐστρέφουνταν ... | δὲν εἶδαν ὁμορφύτερην ἀπὸ τὴν Ἀρετούσα ibid. I.1756; τὸ ᾿κουσεν ἔντ’ ἀπόφαση τοῦ Πεζοστράτου ἐδόθη, | μεγάλο πράμαν ἦτονε τὸ πῶς δὲν ἐλιγώθη ibid. III.1047–8; μὰ σάν τὸν εἶδε ὃ Ἀριστος τὴ χέρα πῶς σηκώνει, | τὸ κοφτερό του τὸ σπαθὶ ἀμπώθει ὅσον ἐμπόρει ibid. IV.1704–5.

θυγατέρα τση ἤψεγε καὶ τὰ καμώματά τση ibid. IV.745–6; μὲ τὰ χορτάρια ἐκάτεχε, σὰν τὰ ἔλελε μαλάξει, | νὰ κάμη τ' ἄσπρο μελανό, τὴν πρόσοψη ν' ἀλλάξει ibid. IV.893–4; κάθε ταχὶὰ ἐσηκώνετο κι ὡς ἤθελε γροικῆσει | ν' ἀντιλαλήση ἡ σάλπιγγα, βούκινο νὰ κτυπήση, | ἐκαβαλίκευγε ὡς αἰτὸς ibid. IV.931–3 ὅπου ἔλελε βρεθῆ κιανεῖς, γιὰ τὸ Σκλαβοῦνο ἐγροῖκα ibid. II.2170

ἤθελα + Perfect Infinitive

The construction ἤθελα ἔχει(ν) + perfect passive participle has been found in legal texts from the Aegean (Skyros), the Heptanese (Kefalonia) and Crete and in the oldest version of Varlaam and Ioasaf (provenance unknown). The perfect infinitive is used to stress the fact that the action was completed in the remote past.

ἤθελα ἔχειν ἄλλη διαθήκη καμουμένην πρώτῃ ἀπὸ τούτῃ (1562, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 9, 23.22) τὸ ὅποιον ἄνωθεν χωράφι ἤθελεν τὸ ἔχει πουλημένον ὁ πατέρας τοῦ ἄνωθεν κυρ-Δήμου (1573, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 1, 20.5) ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ ἤθελεν ἔχει πουλημένα, ὡς λέγει, σὲ χρόνους περασμένους μὲ τὴν κερα-Τζανέτα Βλαστοπούλα, τὴ μάνα του, δύο κομμάτια χωράφι (1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 211, 215.2–3) ἔστοντα οἱ ποὺ ἤθελε τὸν ἔχει δακωμένον ἓνα θηρίον Varl. & Ioas. (Pantel.) 503

With an invariable participle form in -α it appears in documents from Crete: ἔστοντας καὶ εἰς καιρὸν περαζόμενο νὰ ἤθελεν ἔχει καμωμένα ὁ ἄνωθεν καλόγερος προυκοχάρτι διὰ ὄνομαν τῆς ἐγγόνης του (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 18, 38.3–4); ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ ἔθελεν ἔχει εἰσε καιρὸν περαζόμενον καμωμένα μίαν κομεσιὸν γενεράλε (ibid. 38, 58.3–4).

5.3.2.2 ἤθελα + Subjunctive

With a bare subjunctive, ἤθελα appears in the work of Katsaitis (17th/18th c.), who was from Kefalonia. For the conditional this construction has a much broader geographical spread (see 5.2.3.2): ἀμέτρητοι ἤθελαν ἀπεράσου ΚΑΤΣΑΙΤΙΣ, Klathmos II.331; ὅπου οἱ Χριστιανοὶ ἤθελαν φύγου ibid. II.334; στὸ σπλάχνος τὸ πολὺ ποὺ ἔλελε κάμεις ibid. III.85.

The construction with the shortened form ἤθε(ν), not uncommon for the conditional (see 5.2.3.6), can sporadically be found as a pluperfect: καὶ ἓνας μῶρος, ὅπως κεῖ πρώτῃ ἤθεν κονέφει | ὡς εἶδενε τὸν Διγενῆ ... PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1914–15.

5.3.2.3 ἤθελε ἤμουν + Perfect Passive Participle ἤθελε ἤμουν with a perfect passive participle has a somewhat broader geographical spread for the conditional (see 5.2.3.5). Used as a pluperfect, it has only been found in Katsaitis's Lament for the Peloponnese: οἱ Τοῦρκοι ἤθελ' ἤτανε μπασμένοι | πρωτύτερα στὸ κάστρο ἀνεβασμένοι ΚΑΤΣΑΙΤΙΣ, Klathmos II.373.

5.3.3 ἤμην/ἤμουν

5.3.3.1 ἤμην/ἤμουν + Aorist Gerund

The Koine construction ἤμην + declined aorist participle that is in agreement with the subject has been found in documents from S. Italy, and should be viewed as an archaism given the fact that the aorist active participle was clearly residual by the beginning of the period covered by this Grammar. No passive examples have been found.

ἦν προαφιέρωσασα ἡ αὐτὴ μοναχὴ Δομνέλλα (984, S. Italy, TRINCERA 1865: 9, 8.5–6) ὅπερ ἦσαν ἀρπάξαντες οἱ προῦ ἐμοῦ αὐθέντες (1182, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 22, 424.6)

An innovative variant with an aorist gerund in -οντα(ς) (see 4.7) has been found in S. Italy, where ὑπῆρχα is sometimes substituted for ἤμουν, from the 12th c. onwards. From the 14th c. onwards it also occurs in texts from the Peloponnese and Cythera. Active gerunds are more common than passive ones (ἀποσταθόντα, ἀρχιστῶντα, for which see also 4.7.2).⁵² ὅπερ ἦτον καταρπάσσοντα αὐτὸ ὁ αὐτὸς Θεόδωρος Καρβούνης (1156, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 28, 160.19); τὰ ἡμίσια ἅπερ ὕπηρχε προαγοράσσοντα ἡ ἀγία ἐκκλησία ἐκ πολλῶν χρόνων (1165–6, ibid. 33, 181.11–12); προὔπηρχε ἡγοράσσοντα (ibid. 33, 181.19) ἤμην δώσσοντα (1192, Sicily, RE/ROGNONI 2008: 2, 144.10) ἦσαν ἐπάροντα τὸν σταυρὸν Chron. Mor. H 391; ἦτον ποιήσοντα ibid. 2421; τὸν ἦτον ἀποστείλοντα κυρ-Θεόδωρος ὁ Δοῦκας ibid. 3827; ἦτον ἀφήκοντα εἰς Μορέαν ... τὸν μισίρ Ντζᾶ ντὲ Καταβᾶ ibid. 4689–90; ἦσαν ροβολέφοντα ibid. 6653; [ἡ δούκισσα] ἦτο ἐγνέας χηρέφοντα ibid. 8022; καὶ ἦτον ἀποθάνοντα ἡ πρώτη του γυναῖκα ibid. 8073; εἶχαν ἄλογα ἔρημα, τὰ ἦσαν ἀποσταθόντα ibid. 9090⁵³ εἰς τὸν πόλεμον, ὅπου ἦτον ἀρχιστῶντα Pol. Tr. 9204; αὐτὸς μοῦ ἦτον μηνύσοντα ibid. 9875; ὁ Ἀχιλλεὺς ἦτον πέσοντα ibid. 10052; κάλλιον του νὰ ἦτον φύγοντα ibid. 14244 ἦτον κομίσοντα τὸν εὐγενέστατον Ἀρτάλην (1404, S. Italy, GIUNTA 1968: 130.3) ἦτονε δώσσοντα (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIU/DRAKAKIS 2010: 102, 78.32–3); ἦσανε ἀναθρέφοντα (1588, ibid. 297, 249.12)

5.3.3.2 ἦτον νά + Subjunctive

The construction ἦτον νά + subjunctive is rather more common for the conditional, expressing future in the past (see 5.2.4.1). As a pluperfect it appears in the same passage in two versions of the Life of Aesop: ἀκόμη δὲν ἦτον νὰ τὸ πίουσι, καὶ εὐθύς ἔβγαλαν τὸ νερὸν μὲ τὰ σύκα μαζί Vios Aisop. D 210.14; ἔβγαλαν τὸ νερὸν ἐπίσω ἀντάμα μὲ τῶν σύκων τὰ σπυρία, ὅτι ἀκόμη δὲν ἦτον νὰ τὰ χωνεύσουν Vios Aisop. I 248.29.

⁵² The following form in the Chronicle of Tocco is likely to be a writing mistake for -ας, which is the normal ending for the gerund in this text: αὐτὸς ἦτον μηνύσοντος Chron. Toc. 2189. A single instance of ἦτον + present gerund with a progressive meaning (“the water was flowing”) occurs in Pentateuch: τὰ νερά ἦτον πγαίνοντα Pent. Gen. 8.5. This is a Hebraism according to JOSEPH (2000b: 147).

⁵³ It is noteworthy that the 16th-c. Parisian ms of the Chronicle changes all these forms into aorists. For the differences between the two mss see AERTS 1998.

5.4 The Perfect

The monolectic perfect of AG had started gradually to disappear from Hellenistic times onward, and in Late Antiquity the whole category of “perfect” had fallen into disuse, and its uses had been taken over by the aorist indicative (CHANTRAINE 1927) (for the residual monolectic perfect see also 4.9.3.2). It is noteworthy that most EMG grammars do not have a category of “perfect” at all (MANOLESSOU 2012). The same holds true even for most grammars of the 18th and 19th c. (e.g. Katartzis, Christopoulos, Darvaris, David, Possart). In the period covered by this Grammar the aorist indicative is often still used instead, sometimes with a temporal adverbial (ἄλλη φορά, ποτέ μου), e.g. in expressions corresponding to the standard MG usage of έχω ξανα(κάνει)⁵⁴ we find aorist constructions such as καὶ νὰ ἰδῇς εὐμορφίαν ὅπου δὲν τὴν εἶδες ποτέ σου Vios Aisop. I 256.6–7 (“and you will see a beauty you have never seen before”); διότι τὸ ἔργον ἐτοῦτο δὲν ἐγίνετο ἄλλη φορά, διὰ τὸ ὅποσον θέλει τοὺς φανῇ δύσκολο ΣΟΥΜΑΚΙΣ, Rebelio 37.2–3 (“because this has not been done before, and therefore it will seem difficult to them”). In LMedG periphrastic constructions emerge consisting of an auxiliary (ἔχω for the active and εἶμαι for the passive voice) and a participle (usually perfect passive, occasionally present passive).

The perfect active construction ἔχω + passive perfect participle in -μένος or past participle in -δός (Venetian loanwords) is used mainly with transitive verbs, usually with an overt direct object, with which the declined participle displays full gender, number and case agreement. In SMG ἔχω + passive perfect participle is not a “true” perfect but represents a stative passive present, as it describes a state in the present rather than an action/event in the past with a result in the present.⁵⁵ The participle functions, in fact, as an adjective, as an object predicate (MOSER 1988: 182–3). The sentence ἔχω τὸ σκύλο δεμένο does not mean “I have tied down the dog”, but rather “I have the dog tied down”; it can be paraphrased as κρατῶ τὸ σκύλο δεμένο. Similar examples can be found in EMG; for instance the following example from Papasynadinos does not mean “he is standing there and has drawn his sword”, but rather “he is standing there with his sword drawn”: στέκεται ... καὶ ἔχει ξεγυμνωμένο τὸ σπαθὶ PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §7.41–2; in the following example from the rhymed version of the Tale of Alexander, the construction is clearly passive as well: ἐκάλεσ' ἕναν ἐξ αὐτούς, ... | κ' εἶπε του τὴν ἀθιβολή, νὰ τὸ ᾗχη ξηγημένο Alex. Rim. 165–6 (“[Philip] called for one of his [sorcerers] ... and told him the story [of his dream], so that he would have it explained”). Note that when an adjunct of time is present, the construction is not a perfect, as the adjunct of time is the object of ἔχω and the participle is clarificatory (cf. TABACHOVITZ 1926: 52; AERTS 1965: 164–5; MOSER 1988: 107; pace TONNET 2003: 174 and MOSER 2009: 219), e.g. σῦρε εἰς τὴν Ἐλισάβετ τὴν συγγενάδα σου, νὰ τὴν ἰδῇς ὅπου καὶ αὐτὴ ἔχει τώρα ἕξι μῆνες ἐγγαστρωμένη DAM. STOD., This., Logos 1, α1r.15–17 (1561) (“go to your cousin Elizabeth, to see that she, too, is now six months pregnant”, literally: “that she, too, has now six months [that she is] pregnant”).

⁵⁴ This use of (ἐ)ξανα- is absent from LMedG and EMG texts, in which the prefix (and the adverb) only mean “again”, “once more”, but not “(n)ever before”.

⁵⁵ Its use is also restricted to certain classes of verbs; see MOSER 1988: 131–45 for details.

The passive counterpart of the construction, εἶμαι + perfect passive participle, often also represents a stative present passive, sometimes even with substitution of ὑπάρχω for εἶμαι: σὺν τῶν σπιτιῶν ὁποῦ ὑπάρχουσι συμμένα σὺν τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ (1141, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XII: 5, 557.9–10) (“including the houses that are adjacent to the church”). Again, in this use the participle functions as an adjective and it can often be found in co-ordination with other adjectives, e.g.: κἂν καὶ ἀπόδημος καὶ χωρισμένος ἡμῖν Spaneas V 34 (“even though I am far away and separated [from you]”); ἐναι ἐντιμη καὶ ὁμορφῇ καὶ ἀπὸ καλοῦς γονεῖς γεννημένη Diig. Alex. K 367.14–15 (“she is honourable and beautiful, and of good lineage”). Also, it can be used with verbs that do not normally have passive morphology, apart from a verbal adjective in -μένος (for details see 2.3.2): εἶναι μεθυσμένοι Chron. Mor. H 8305 (“they are drunk”); εἴμεσταν τρομασμένοι PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1417 (“we are scared”); ὁποῦ ἐνὶ χορτασμένος | ποτὲ οὐ πιστεύει νηστικόν GLYKAS, Stichoi 117–18 (“he who has a full stomach never believes a hungry man”). Other stative present examples are:

- ἵνα ᾗσθε κρατημένοι (1346–7, Beylik of Aydin, ZACHARIADOU 1962: 256.45) (“so that you are obliged”) ἐὰν γίνεται οὕτως, ὅτι εἰς ἀνθρωπος ἐνὶ ταμένος εἰς τὴν αὐλήν, καὶ οὐδὲν ἡμπορεῖ νὰ ἔλθῃ Assizes B 339.12–14 (“if a man has obligations at court, and can therefore not come [to appear before the judge]”) ὁποῖος τὴν μυρίζεται καὶ νὰ μὴν εἶναι συναχωμένος ἀπὸ κακοπιστίας λογισμόν MOREZINOS, Klini 8.23–4 (“whoever smells [the bouquet] without having their nose blocked by faithless thoughts”) εἶσαι ἀπ’ ὅλους βαρεμένος, τοὺς ἐδικούς (1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.26) (“all your relatives are a burden to you”) εἶναι πολλὰ τρανὸ μοναστήρι, ἀμὴ εἶναι χρεωμένο PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §21.33 (“it is a very strong monastery, but it has debts”) θέλει νὰ ᾖναι κομμένο καὶ ἀνουλάδο (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 14, 35.15) (“he wishes for [his previous will] to be null and void”)

However, in LMedG and EMG the ἔχω/εἶμαι + participle periphrases can be used as perfects, e.g. “[the land ...] which I have bought”, in other words “the land which I have bought and which is now in my possession” in the following example: (τὸ χωράφιον ...) τὸ ἅπερ καὶ ἔχω ἀγορασμένον (1005, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 13, 13.13–14); or: καὶ τὶς ἔχει καὶ τόσα ἄσπρα φαγουμένα (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 58.6–7) (for τὶς see II, 5.3.2.6.2 (“and he has cheated them out of so much money too”); and ἐὰν ... μὲ τὸν ὀρισμόν του ἐνὶ εἰς τὸ σκολεῖον σταλμένος νὰ μάθῃ καμμία σοφίαν Assizes B 412.5–6 (“if ... by his [father’s] order he has been sent to school to acquire some wisdom”). The 11th-c. example of ἔχω + participle appears in a document from S. Italy, but it is noteworthy that the construction is absent from all other early texts: no examples have been found for instance in the published writings of Nikon of the Black Mountain, nor in Glykas, the three oldest versions of Spaneas (V, P and Va), the Ptochoprodromic poems, the collection of proverbs in KRUMBACHER 1893, the Logos parigoritikos, nor in any of the versions of Livistros. There are a few examples in Assizes B, but it must be borne in mind that this text has come down to us in a late 15th-c. ms. By contrast, the early 14th-c. legal texts from Cyprus edited by SIMON (1973) and MARUHN (1981) offer no examples. In fact, with the exception of the isolated example from S. Italy (cf. the pluperfect, 5.3.1.2), no examples have been found before the 15th c. (ms date of Assizes B and the War of Troy), and all early examples are from areas that had been under Western rule for quite some time, making contact with Romance languages a likely reason for the emergence of the construction as a perfect in LMedG (HORROCKS 2010: 297–301). This supposition is reinforced by the fact that LMedG and EMG, just like the Romance languages, use the auxiliary εἶμαι to form active perfects of certain intransitive verbs, among which verbs of motion, e.g. εἶναι μισεμένος ἀπὸ τῆς Ρώμης (1570, Venice, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 9, 482.3) (“he has left Rome”).⁵⁶ In the EMG period constructions with a verbal adjective or a gerund can be found regionally.

The SMG perfect ἔχω + infinitive appears in written texts towards the very end of the EMG period. This construction had been in use as a future periphrasis until well into the LMedG period, though in the later LMedG period it was clearly residual and can be found mainly in literary texts (see 5.1.3.1). Evidently, the construction had to have been entirely obsolete as a future before it could be reintroduced as a perfect. It begins to be used as a perfect by analogy with the pluperfect εἶχα + infinitive, which first appears in texts in the 14th c. (see 5.3.1.1). The perfect ἔχω + infinitive has not been found before the end of the 17th c., and even then it is very rare indeed. For details on the emergence of the construction and a discussion of a fair number of phantom appearances from as early as the 11th c. and throughout the period under review see JANSSEN 2013.

5.4.1 Indicative and Subjunctive

	General	Restricted	Rare
Active	ἔχω γραμμένο(ν)	ἔχω γραμμένα ἔχω -δο(ν) ἔχω γραφόμενο(ν) ἔχω γραπτό(ν) ἔχω + noun ἔχω γράφοντα(ς) εἶμαι -μένος	*ἔχω γραμμένος ἔχω γράφοντα(ς) ἔχω γράψει(ν)
Passive	εἶμαι γραμμένος	εἶμαι γραπτός εἶμαι -δος	εἶμαι γραφόμενος

⁵⁶ As noted by Romanos Nikiforou, who clearly interprets the construction as a loan: aliqui Graeco-Latini imitantes illud: sono andato, je suis allé, dicunt εἶμαι παγεμένος, εἶσαι παγεμένος ROMANOS, Grammar 62.19–20. Romanos does not, however, condemn its use (“quae sunt optima omnia et utere indifferenter et secure”, ibid. 62.23–4).

5.4.1.1 ἔχω/εἶμαι + Passive Participle

Active

ἔχω + Perfect Passive Participle

As noted in the introduction to this section, ἔχω + perfect passive participle is used for the active voice mainly with transitive verbs and usually with an overt direct object, with which the declined participle displays full gender, number and case agreement. With the exception of the isolated 11th-c. example from S. Italy, no examples have been found before the 15th c. (ms date of Assizes B and the War of Troy), and all early examples are from areas that had been under Western rule for quite some time (Crete, Heptanese, Cyprus, Rhodes). Some representative examples are:⁵⁷

- (τὸ χωράφιον ...) τὸ ἄπερ καὶ ἔχω ἀγορασμένον (1005, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 13, 13.13–14) πάντα ὅσα νὰ ἔχη καμωμένα Assizes B 420.30; ἐκεῖνος ὅπου ἔχει τὸ πρᾶγμα χαμένον ibid. 426.22 τόσους ἔχει χαμένους Pol. Tr. 3079 τὴν ἐξουσίαν ὅπου τῶς ἔχουσι οἱ μερίδες δοσμένη (15th c., Crete, KODER 1964: 51.48) ὅσα ἔχομεν γραμμένα καὶ ὁμωσμένα (1446, Adrianople, BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 276.33–4) κρασιά ὅσα ἔχουν συναγμένα (1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 37, 167.4) θωρῶ τὸν θάνατον καὶ ἔχει σας κερδεμένους LIMEN., Than. Rod. 61; εἰς τὰ ᾗχει ἐξοδιασμένα ibid. 439 μηδὲ ὁ Θεὸς τὸν ἔχει τοῦτον μετρημένον Pist. kekoim. 51.470–1 ἐκεῖνον ὅπου ἔχουν κτισμένον (1535, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 4, 120.13); ἔχουν ἀγορασμένον (1586, ibid. 30, 171.5) τὴν ἔχει παραδομένην (1538, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 10, 23.44) ὅσες γράφες ἔχω καμωμένες (1550, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2002a: 237, 144.15) τὴν ἔχει εἰς τὸ προικίον τῆς ζιγανέμνη (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 37, 117.22) ἔχομε κουρσεμένον τὸν μισὸν Μωρέαν (1571, Mani, CHASIOITIS 1970: 6.1, 241.18) ἔχει πολλὰ ξοδιασμένα (1597, Santorini, TSELIKAS 1985: 5, 77.17) τὸ λάσο ὅπου ἔχω ἀφησμένο (1599, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1957: 60.20) τὸ ὁποῖον τὸ ἔχω ἐδῶ ὀπισθεν κοπιारισμένον (1622, Karpathos?, ZERLENDIS 1918d: B, 300.8) ὁ πατριάρχης ἔχει ἀπὸ τὸν κόσμον παρμένα ἐνεήντα πέντε φορτία PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.199–200; διότι χαμένο δὲν τὸ ἔχεις ibid. II §7.21 τὸ χωράφι ὅπου ἔχω ἀγορασμένο ἀπὸ τὸν Ἀντρία Δαλιέτο (1658, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 2, 4.6) καὶ ἔχω ἄσπρα ἐξοδιασμένα (1672, Ikaria, TSELIKAS 2000: 48, 46.5–7) τὰ στρίτα, ὅπου τοῦ ἔχω δοσμένα (1673, Sikinos, ZERLENDIS 1913a: 139.19) τὶς ἔχει καὶ τόσα ἄσπρα φαγουμένα (1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 3, 58.6–7) (βαλάνια) τα ὁποῖα τα ἔχω διαλεγμένα ἓνα πρὸς ἓνα Don Kis. 498.31–2

With an invariable participle in -α this construction occurs from the 16th/17th c. onwards. It is usually used with intransitive verbs (διψῶ, μιλῶ, πταίω) and when the direct object of the phrase is a complement clause or a prepositional phrase, in texts from various, mostly southern, areas:

⁵⁷ The example from Adrianople (modern-day Edirne) is taken from a peace treaty between the Venetians and Mehmed II. The peace treaty was drawn up at the court of Mehmed II in Adrianople. The provenance of the Greek who drew up the treaty is unknown; he may have been a member of the Venetian diplomatic mission (BABINGER/DÖLGER 1956: 268) or of the Sultan's Greek Chancellery (BABINGER 1953: 45–6).

ἐγὼ πῶς εἶσαι δυνατὸς καλὰ ἔχω γνωρισμένα CHORTATSI, Katz. II.60; (τίνος ἤμουνε παιδί ...) ἔχω ὡς ἐδὰ ἔπωμένα id., Erof. I.140 ἔχεις μου δοσμένα κρασί μουστολογάδο (1618, Crete, VLACHAKI 1979: 4, 286.6–7) ἔχω γνωρισμένα | εἰς ἵντα τόπο κείτουνται P&N Diath. 265–6 δὲν ἔχουσι ποῖος εἶμαι γνωρισμένα Stathis Prol. 12 πῶς σὲ ἔχω γραμμένα πᾶσα ἐνοῦ πολιτεία PAPASYNAD., Chron. III §1.3 (hapax) στὸν κόσμον νὰ μὴ ζιῶ ἔχω ἀποφασισμένα TROILOS, Rodol. IV.205 καὶ κατεχέ το τὸ λοιπὸν τί ἔχω ἀποφασισμένα SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. A4v.21 (1658) ἀποφασισμένα ἔχω νὰ πουλήσω καὶ ρούχα μου καὶ βιβλία (1692, Palermo region, PARADOPOULOS 1994: 2, 182.32–3) (author from Sifnos) καθὼς μετ' αὐτῇ ἔχομε μιλημένα KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.719; ἂν ἔχω σου πταισμένα id., Ifig. IV.70

Examples of the construction with a nominal direct object have been found in Cretan texts and in texts from certain other islands (Kefalonia, Chios, Naxos) (cf. the pluperfect):

μᾶς ἔχει δοσμένα καὶ πουλημένα ... ἀμπέλιν (1547, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 35, 65.3) ἀκομή ἔχω του δοσμένα ἓνα σάκο (1569, Crete, KOLYVA-KARALEKA 1977: 6, 257.7) ἔχει κλειδωμένα | τὴν πόρτα CHORTATSI, Katz. II.105–6; τοὺς ἔχεις γρικημένα id., Erof. II.316 νὰ ἔχη ὀρισμένα τὸν ἄνωθεν μισερ-Τζουάνε (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 79, 96.5) κακό, Πετρίτη, οὐδέν | δὲν ἔχεις, φαίνεται μου, παθημένα Pist. voskos II 3.1–2 κορμί πλιά τέλειο δὲν ἔχω γνωρισμένα TROILOS, Rodol. III.408 ραβδιές μοῦ ἔχει δανεισμένα PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2548 στὸν τράφον ποῦ ἔχει τῶρι φραμένα (1683, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 323, 525.2–3) μὰ μὲ γυνή του νόμιμον δὲν μ' ἔχει γεννημένα KATSAITIS, Thyest. V.452

With an invariable participle in -ο(ν) it occurs marginally, not only in rhyme position (Katsaitis), but also in non-literary texts from Cyprus and Corfu (cf. the pluperfect 5.3.1.2): νὰ στρέψει τὰ μελίσσια ... μὲ πάντα ὅσα ἔχουν μέσα καμωμένον Assizes A 198.18–19; ἔχω δομένο ... δύο κομμάτι<α> ἀμπέλι (1542, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 16, 228.21) (here the singular may have been triggered by ἀμπέλι); σὰν μῶχεις μιλημένο KATSAITIS, Ifig. II.228.

Agreement of the participle with the subject of the verb is highly unusual and it is doubtful whether this sole example represents a valid construction: τὰ πολλὰ ψυχικά ὅπου ἔχει ἡ αὐθεντία σου καμωμένος (1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 2, 171.16–17).

In texts from south-western regions, and especially the Heptanese, the ἔχω + participle construction can be found with the intransitive verb γίνομαι as a transitive construction with an overt direct object (cf. the pluperfect and future perfect, 5.3.1.2, 5.5.1), semantically equivalent to ἔχω καμωμένο(ν). For the varied morphology of γίνομαι see 2.4.

ποῦ νὰ μπορῶ νὰ θυμηθῶ ὅσα ἔχεις γεναμένα KORONAIOS, Pittakin 51 τὸ ὁμοίως ἔχει γεναμένα (sc. ὁ Θεός) καὶ ὅλα τὰ ἄλλα ποιήματα KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 107.34 διὰ τὲς καρέλες ὅπου ἔχουν γιναμένες εἰς τὸ ὀφίτζιο τῆς Καντζελαρίας (1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 33, 92.4–5) διαθήκην ..., μὲ τὴν ὁποίαν κόφτει καὶ ἀφανίζει κάθε ἄλλην καὶ ἄλλες ποῦ ἔχει παρέμπροσθεν ταύτης γινομένες (1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.7–9) οἱ γραφεῖς ὅπερ ἔχω γεναμένες (1588 [17th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 464.10–11) ἀπὸ κάθε καρέλα ὅπου ἔχουνε γεναμένη (1655, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001b: 2, 188.12) φωλιά ἔχει γεναμένην SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. P2v.18 (1658) διαθήκη ἡ κωντικέλλο πού ἔλε βρεθῇ νᾶχω γεναμένο (1694, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1950: 8, 164.30)

ἔχω + Present Passive Participle

The same construction but with a present passive participle has been found in a handful of texts. The choice for the present participle appears to be aspectual: in the first example the present participle may be triggered by ἔως ἐδῶ γραφεῖς ιη' – in other words “18 letters including the one that I am sending now”, and in the second example ἔχω παραλαμβανομένους may translate as “12 marcello are now in my possession on your behalf” rather than “I have received 12 marcello”. In the example from Epirus, the situation has not been resolved, and therefore the author of the letter feels she has been, and still is, unfairly treated. In the example from Corfu, the community is bound by their promise to do something which lies in the future.

νὰ ἡξεύρης ὅτι ἔχω σου πεμπάμενες γραφεῖς ἀπὸ τὸν Αὐγουστον ἔως ἐδῶ γραφεῖς ιη' (1497, Crete, MAVROEIDI-PLOUMIDI 1971: 6, 143.33–4) μοῦ ἔδωσε μαρτζέλους πέντε διὰ ὄνομά σου τὸ ποῖον ἔχω παραλαμβανομένους μαρτζέλους ιβ' (1501–3, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 7, 33.9) ἐγνώρισαν οἱ ἄρχοντες ... τὲς ψευτιές του καὶ πὼς μ' ἔχει ἀδικούμενη (17th c., Epirus, MERTZIOS 1936b: 13, 50.19) μὲ τὸ νὰ εἶναι ὑποσχόμενη ἡ κοινότητα (1687, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005a: 1, 367.3–4)

Passive

εἶμαι + Perfect Passive Participle

The passive counterpart of the ἔχω + participle construction is formed with the present εἶμαι + perfect passive participle. It is mainly used with transitive verbs, and the participle is in full gender, number and case agreement with the subject. As noted in the introduction (5.4), this construction often represents a state in the past rather than an anterior action/event in the past, and purely stative examples have not been included in the following list of examples. The construction usually does have a particularly strong emphasis on the state resulting from the action/event that is anterior to it.

καθὼς ἄνωθέν ἐστιν λαλημένον Assizes B 382.22; περὶ ἐκείνης τῆς γυναίκας ὅπου ἐνι φονεμένη ibid. 465.22 εἰς γινῶσιν καὶ ἀπὸ φρόνεσιν εἴσθε διαλεγμένοι Pol. Tr. 2500 σφαλισμένο ἔναι (15th c., Athos?, VASMER 1922: 2320) εἶμαι ἰκανωμένος καὶ πληρωμένος (1480, Constantinople, LAMBROS 1908c: 1, 480.6) θωρώντα νὰ ἔναι κι ἀπὸ σὲ ἵτις ἀπορριμμένη FALIEROS, Thrinos 164 ὠρισμένοι εἵμεσταν ἀπὸ τὸν ρήγα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 206.20–5 τοὺς κριτάδες ἔναι δομένο νὰ σκοτώνουν Diig. Alex. F 172.4–5 (Konstantinopulos) ἐγρικήσαμε ὅτι εἶναι κακὰ πουλημένα (1548, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2001: 2, 38.12–13) τὰ ὅλα ὡς καθὼς ἔνιν εἰς τὸ ἀβεντάριο γραμμένα (1551, Kastoria, DRAKOPOULOU 2005: 16, 33.4) νὰ καταλάβετε ... τὸν αὐτὸν κόντον μὲ ἵντα μόδον εἶναι καμωμένος (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 132, 216.11); ὁμολογεῖ πὼς εἶν πληρωμένος (1565, ibid. 241, 337.2–3) εἶναι ἡδὲ τρεῖς φορές στιμαρισμένα (1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 344, 323.10) εἶναι ἀποστελμένο ἀπὸ τὸν υἱὸ τοῦ (1644, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 296, 233.6) σοῦ εἶναι συγχωρημένες οἱ ἀμαρτίες σου KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 9.2; ὁ λίθος εἶναι κυλισμένος ibid. Mark. 16.4 νὰ μαρτυροῦνε ... πὼς εἶναι πουλημένο (1678, Gortynia, GRITSOPOULOS 1950: 25, 133.9–10) εἶσαι γελασμένος, Σάντισε Don Kis. 153.27

In texts of Heptanesian provenance, εἶμαι + passive participle is also used with the intransitive deponent verb γίνομαι (cf. active ἔχω + participle; see also the pluperfect (5.3.1.2) and future perfect (5.5.1)). Given the general confusion regarding the morphology of γίνομαι, the innovative aorist middle participle γενόμενος surely has the same meaning as the innovative perfect passive participles γεναμένος and γιναμένος (for AG γεγωνώς) (see also 2.4):

στὸ νησί τάφος ἔν γεναμένος Alex. Rim. 2003 τὰ κόκκαλα γυρίζουν εἰς ἐκείνην τὴν ὕλην ὅπου εἶναι γιναμένα KARTANOS, P&N Diath.
 106.12–13; ὁ ἄνθρωπος ἔναι γενόμενος μὲ τὴν ψυχὴν ibid. 122.4 ὅλοι ἀπὸ κρεᾶς καὶ κόκκαλο εἴμεσθε γεναμένοι DEFAR., Log. did. 423 ἔναι γεναμένη εἰς τοὺς χιλίους 1630 (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 39, 56.9) ὅτι καλόγερος γεναμένος δὲν ἔναι (1606 [late 17th–early 18th-c. copy], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1980: 519.24); ἡ ὁποία γραφὴ ἔναι γεναμένη (ibid. 521.13)

εἶμαι + Present Passive Participle

The construction εἶμαι + present passive participle, even rarer than its active counterpart with ἔχω (see above), has only been found in Machairas's Chronicle, versions O and R: καὶ φαίνεται μας πὼς δὲν εἶναι πεμπάμενος ἀπὸ τοῦ τὸν ἀφέντην μας τὸν ρήγαν MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 290.18 (same in O); εἴμεσταν πεμπάμενοι εἰς τὴν βοήθειαν τῆς Κύπρου ibid. 443.24–5. It should perhaps be interpreted as a present: “we are on a mission from the King to save Cyprus”, rather than as a true perfect: “we have been sent by the King to save Cyprus”.

ἔχω/εἶμαι + Past Participle in -δος

The same construction, with ἔχω for the active and εἶμαι for the passive voice, can also be found in Venetian-ruled areas (Crete, Heptanese, Aegean) with past participles in -δος and past participles of irregular verbs (e.g. ἄστρέτος), borrowed from Venetian.⁵⁸ These participles show full adaptation to Greek adjectival morphology, with some variation in the feminine singular (see II, 3.2.2 for details). All the examples found come from non-literary sources:

Active

ὅταν φανῇ καὶ δὲν τὴν ἔχω σατισφάδα καὶ σαλντάδα τὴν λεγομένην Κάμεραν (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 78, 76.38–9) (< Ven. satisfâr, saltâr) τὴν ἔχει πληρωμένη καὶ σατζιφάδα (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 37, 117.14) (< Ven. satisfâr/satzîâr); ἔχει μας ἱγκανάδους τυρὶ λίτρες 44 (1565, ibid. 283, 392.38–393.1) (< Ven. inganâr)

⁵⁸ For the morphology of Venetian past participles in -ado/-adho see FERGUSON 2007: 96.

τση ἐκκλησίας ... όπου ἡ ἀφεντιά του ἔχει φαμβρικάδη (1619, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 2, 260.6–7) (< Ven. fabricàr) ἔχει ᾠποτεκάδα ἢ ποτε Γλέντα τὰ καλάν της (1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 2, 144.17) (< Ven. ipotecàr); τὴν ἔχου σατισφάδα (ibid. 31, 179.18) τὰ κόπανά τους νὰ ᾔχουν ἀπαρκιάδα Leilasia Par. 362 (< Ven. parechiàr) ὁμολογῶ πῶς ἤμαί πληρωμένη ἀπὸ κείνον καὶ σατισφάδα εἰς τὸ λεγόμενον ὅλον χρέος (1523, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 71, 132.33–4); τὸ ὅποϊον ἔναι στιμάδον, ὡσὰν λέγω, ἑβδομήντα πέντε δουκάτα (1529, ibid. 137, 247.19–20) (< Ven. stimàr) ἡ πρώτη κουμεισὶν ... νὰ εἶναι ἀνουλάδη (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 18, 61.37) (< Ven. anulàr) εἶνιε ἱγκανάδη (1537, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 173, 173.12); τὸ ὅποϊον ἔνε διαλαλημένον καὶ κομπλίδο (1538, ibid. 184, 184.12) (< Ven. complir) νὰ σῶναι ρεφουδάδα ἡ λεγόμενη μισή βουδέα (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 261, 205.21) (< Ven. refudàr) εἶμαι πληρωμένος καὶ σατισφάδος ... ἀπὸ σένα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 295a, 292.1) ἡ ὁποία ἔνε στιμάδη ὑπέρπυρα λε' (1551, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 91, 111.7–8) εἵμαστε ἱγκανάδοι (1565, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 283, 387.23) καὶ ἔναι τὸ χαρτὶ σταμπάδο (1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 12, 25.31) (author from Nauplion) (< Ven. stampàr) ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ εἶναι ἀστρέτοι ἀπού τὴν ἐκλαμπροτάτην Ἀφεντιά νὰ πλερώσου ... (1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 26, 45.3–4) (< irregular participle astretto)

Passive

5.4.1.2 εἶμαι + Perfect Passive Participle with Active Meaning

The construction εἶμαι + participle is also used for the active voice of intransitive verbs, not only of deponent verbs (ἔρχομαι) but also of active verbs that otherwise lack passive morphology (διαβάζω (in the sense of διαβαίνω, “leave”), μισσεύω, παγαίνω). The participle in -μένος or -δος (Venetian loanwords) is in full case, number and gender agreement with the subject of the verb. The verbs involved are often verbs of motion (cf. the pluperfect, 5.3.1.2):⁵⁹ στὸ Νίκλι γὰρ τοῦ εἶπασιν ὅτι ἔνι διαβασμένος Chron. Mor. H 2298 εἶναι μισεμένος ἀπού τὴ Ρώμη (1570, Venice, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 9, 482.3) καὶ τότες εἰς τὸ σπῆτι σας νὰ σας γυρίσω πάλι | με δίχως κούραση κιαιμιά, σαν εἴστ' ἐδῶ ἐρχωμένοι CHORTATISIS, Panor. Prol. theas 80–1;⁶⁰ ἀπού ὅστε σ' τοῦτο σήμερον τὸν τόπον ἐρθωμένοι id., Erof. Interm. II.32 ποῦ ὅστε τῶρα διαβασμένοι Fallidos 158 δὲν ἔμπορεῖ ὁ ἄ<ν>τρας της νὰ <μ>πεῖ εἰς τὴ γραφὴ διατὶ εἶναι φθαισμένος ἀπὸ τὴ δικαιοσύνη (1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 39, 57.20)

 δὲ θέλει ξεύρει ὁ βασιλιὸς πῶς εἵμεστα ἐρθωμένοι TROILOS, Rodol. V.1 (ἡμεστα ed.) εἴστε ἐδεπὰ ἐρθωμένοι FOSKOLOS, Fort. Prol. 134 εἶναι μισεμένος (1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 257, 448.16)

⁵⁹ This construction, now obsolete, is still found in TRIANDAFYLLIDIS 1941: 311: εἶμαι πηγμένος.

⁶⁰ The form ἐρχωμένοι in this example from Panoria looks like a present participle, but the stress indicates that it is a perfect. Of course, the difference between pres. ἐρχομένοι and perf. ἐρθωμένοι is but one letter.

ἐπταίσαμεν καὶ εἵμεσθεν πταισμένοι Thrinós Kypr. 89 εἶμαι παγεμένος, εἶσαι παγεμένος ROMANOS, Grammar 62.20

5.4.1.3 ἔχω + Verbal Adjective

Constructions with a verbal adjective in -τός have been found in south-western areas and in the Aegean, mostly of the verb ἀγοράζω. No passive examples (with εἶμαι) have been found (but cf. the pluperfect, 5.3.1.3, for which, however, the passive is also very rare):

ἔχω + Verbal Adjective in -τός

- τὸ ὅπερ ἔχει ἀγοραστὸν ἢ μονή (1264, Kefalonia?, TZANNETATOS 1965: 1, 43.195) τὸν ὁποῖον μύλον ἔχουεν ἀγοραστὸν (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1994a: 176, 176.4–5) ἔχει δὲ καὶ ἕτερον αὐτὸς ὁ Μανόλης ἀγοραστὸν (1541, Thasos?, KRAVARI 1987: App. II, 341.35) τὰ ὁποῖα λέγει πῶς ἔχει ἀφῆτὰ εἰς τὴν Χίον (1551, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 78, 97.40) ἓνα κομμάτι χωράφι, ὅνπερ ἔχει ἀγοραστὸ (1564, Cythera, DRAKAKIS 1999: 30, 109.3) τὸ ἀμπέλι ὅπου ἔχουν ἀγοραστὸ (1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 41, 61.4) ὅπερ ἔχω ἀγοραστὸ (1636, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 3, 216.10) ἀμπέλιν ... ὅπου τὸ ἔχω ἀγοραστὸν ἀπὸ ... (1636, Patmos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 18, 13.14–15) τὸ χωράφι ὅπου ἔχουσιν στὸν Ἅγιο Κωνσταντῖνο ἀγοραστὸ (1676, Sifnos, SYMEONIDIS 1992b: 1, 123.23) ἔλες τρεῖς, ἐκεῖνες ὅπου ἔχω ἀγοραστές ἀπὸ τῆς Θεοφίλης (1726, Mani, SKOPETEAS 1950: XXIV, 82.17–18); εἴτι καὶ ἂν ἔχω ἀγοραστά (ibid. 82.20)

With an invariable form in -α it has been found of verbs meaning “to hear”, in two late texts from geographically diverse areas (note that ἔχω ακουστά is still used in SMG): ἔχω γροικητὰ -καὶ κάτεχε το- | τὸ πλοῦτος ἐκείνου τοῦ Μιχελέττο Leilasia Par. 105–6; το ἔχω ακουστά αὐτὸ το βιβλίον Don Kis. 572.31.

5.4.1.4 ἔχω + Noun

In the construction ἔχω + noun, the noun expresses the action of the corresponding verb. The auxiliary retains some of its possessive meaning and therefore the construction is only used with certain nouns, e.g. ἔχω ἀγορασιά (“I have bought, I have in my possession”), but not *ἔχω πουλησιά (“I have sold”) (cf. the pluperfect, 5.3.1.4):

- τὸ ὁσπίτιον τὸ ἔχης ἀγορὰν ἐσοῦ ὁ ἀγοραστής (1134, S. Italy, GUILLOU 2009: 43, 192.12) (κομμάτιν ...) τὸ ἔχω ἀγορασίαν ἀπὸ τὸν Ποντᾶν (1269, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 52, 29.27) ἔχω δὲ καὶ ἀγορὰν τὸ τρίτον τοῦ μύλου τοῦ Καλημέρη (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.32) ὁποῖον τὸ ἔχει ἀγορά (1447, Corfu, EFSTRATIADIS 1925: 50.3–4) ἀκουὴν τὰ θές ἔχει ἀπὸ ἄλλους (1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 2, 18.4–5) (modal, epistemic) μα ὅστερα μεταγνώματα ἔχω ακοὴν καὶ ᾠδὴν Apoll. Rim. N 1439 (ακουὴν in E) τὸ κλεῖσμα πῶς ἔχουν ἀγορασίαν ἀπὸ τὸ Νικολό (1570, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 1, 9.13–14); τὸ ὁποῖο περιβόλι τὸ ἔχει ἀγορὰ ἀπὸ τὸ Θεοδωρὴ Σάλαχα (1598, ibid. 84, 114.6–7) ὡς καθὼς σᾶς ἔχομεν παραγγελία (1571, Mani, CHASIOU 1970: 5, 239.13–14) μέ τήν κατοικία όπου ἔχω ἀγορασιά (1590, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 8, 310.38–9) ἔχω ακουγή ἀπό τους γονεῖς ημῶν Vios Filaret. 241.19–20 ἔχομεν παραγγελίαν τὸν κυρ-Στεφανήν (1653, Constantinople, TCHENTSOVA 2004b: 340.14–15) ὁ Ζαννῆς δὲν τῶχει ἀγορά ἀπὸ τοῦ κυροῦ της (1657, Mykonos, VISVIZIS 1957: 4, 51.8–11) (τὸ σπῖτιν ...) όπου ἔχουν ἀγορά ὁ ρηθεῖς μισέρ Μικὲς (1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 428, 650.5) ἐκεῖνο όπου ἔχω ἀλλαξία ἀπὸ τὸ μισέρ Πέτρο (1636 [copy of 1695], Zakynthos, MAVROS 1983: 452.16)

5.4.1.5 ἔχω + Gerund

The construction ἔχω + gerund is used only for the active voice and does not have a passive counterpart. With a present gerund it has been found in Cretan texts (mainly of the verb δίδω, but cf. the pluperfect, 5.3.1.5), and with an aorist gerund it appears in one document, again from Crete. Insofar as the limited number of examples allows for conclusions, there does not appear to be an aspectual difference between imperfective and perfective complementation. For the morphology of gerunds see 4.7.

ἔχω + Present Gerund

τὰ δύο δουκάτα όπου ἔχω δίδοντας (1530, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1978: 9, 41.25) ὁ,τι τῶχεις δίδοντα (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 287, 225.12); ὁ,τι δινέρια τῶχει δίδοντα (ibid. 434α, 343.6) (for crasis /u/+e/ see I, 2.9.5) ἔχω σου δίδοντα ... ὑπέρπυρα εἴκοσι πέν<τ>ε (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 52, 55.7) ἔχω λαμβάνοντα ὑπὸ σοῦ ... (1552, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 148, 146.3–4) ἀπὸ τὸ ἐνοίκιν τως όπου μῶχει δίδοντα (1566, Crete, PANAYOTAKIS 1986: 2, 119.9–10)

ἔχω + Aorist Gerund

τὲς παραγγελίες όπου σοῦ ἔχει εἰπόντα (1502, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 6, 29.13)

Or, in a more “elevated” form, with a participle instead of a gerund: ἐπειδὴ ἔχω λαβὼν παρὰ τῆς εἰρημένης Καλῆς τῆς γυναικός μου εἰς πράγματα καὶ στολισμὸν γυναικεῖον ... (1504, Crete, SATHAS 1877: 23, 690.26–7).

5.4.1.6 ἔχω + Infinitive

Tracing the emergence of the SMG perfect ἔχω + infinitive has led to interesting findings (published in JANSSEN 2013), the most important of which is that CHATZIDAKIS 1901b was correct in supposing that it certainly did not appear before the 17th c. Only a very modest handful of late 17th-c. and 18th-c. examples have been found, all of northern provenance.⁶¹ For an indication of the rarity of ἔχω + infinitive even in the 18th and 19th c., see again JANSSEN 2013. Equally telling is the fact that the periphrasis is absent from most ⁶¹ It is noteworthy that northern texts of the first half of the 17th c., such as Papasynadinos and Kallioupolitis, do not have the construction. Nor does the grammarian from Thessaloniki, Romanos Nikiforou (early 17th c.), neither in his paradigms, nor when he mentions italianized Greeks who literally translate sono stato a Roma as ἐστάθηκα εἰς τὴν Ῥώμην, whereas non-italianized Greeks will say ἐπῆγα (both aor. ind.) (ROMANOS, Grammar 58).

MG dialects (see RALLI et al. 2007). For the use of this construction as a future see 5.1.3.1; as a subjunctive, 5.7.1.1.

ἔχω + Aorist Infinitive

The construction ἔχω + aorist infinitive, as noted, has not been found before the very end of the period under review, and it is very rare. The fact that only two examples have been found in a text as extensive as the translation of Don Quixote illustrates just how rare it is. All examples appear in texts from the northern mainland, and no passive examples have been found. Its use is that of the SMG construction: it presents an action/event anterior to the present with a clear focus, not on the action/event itself, but on the result of this action/event in the present:

ὁποῖος χρεωστᾷ ἕνας περὶ τοῦ ἄλλου μὴ ὁμολογία καὶ δὲν ἔχει πλερώσει κατὰ τὴν ὁμολογία του, νὰ εἶνι θεληματάρης μὴ τὴν κρίση νὰ τὸν φυλακῶνει (1691, Sibiu, TSOURKA-PAPASTATHI 2011: A 25, f.51v.2–4) (“if someone owes another by bond and has not paid according to the bond (in other words ‘is in default’), [the other party] has the right to send him to prison through the courts”) καὶ ἄλλα ὅσπρᾳ ἔχει δώσει διὰ κίρι (1697, Dyrrachion, MERTZIOS 1947a: 74, 243.15)⁶² (“he has also paid for candle wax”, in other words “the order has been placed”) εκείνοι οὗοῦ δικαίως ἔχουν ἀποκτήσει μεγάλην φήμην Don Kis. 164.13–14 (“they who have rightly obtained great fame”, in other words “are very famous”)

The only example in which the construction is used somewhat differently is the following, where it appears in a main clause with a temporal clause that makes explicit the moment in time when the action expressed by the perfect occurred. This use has not been encountered in other texts and is an impossibility in SMG. As the text is a translation from Italian, the translator is likely to have been influenced by the text he was translating (“tu m’hai già detto” in Franciosini’s translation):

αὐτό δὲν μπορεῖ νὰ εἶναι ..., ὅτι ἐσύ με ἔχεις εἰπεῖ πῶς τὴν εἶδες οὗοῦ ἐκοσκίνιζεν σιτάρι, ὅταν με ἔφερες τὴν ἀπόκρισιν τοῦ γράμματος οὗοῦ τῆς ἐστεῖλα με λόγου σου Don Kis. 203.20–3 (“this cannot be true ..., as you have told me that you saw her sifting wheat when you brought me the answer to the letter I sent to her through you”)

5.4.2 Imperative

The perfect imperative is formed with the present imperative of the auxiliary + perfect passive participle (ἔχε γραμμένον) for active 2 sg. and 2 pl., and with a particle (ἄς or νά) + perfect subjunctive for active 3 sg. and 3 pl. as well as all persons of the passive voice, as the verb εἶμαι does not have a synthetic imperative (see 4.8.3). It is, understandably, rather rare. Semantically it does not differ significantly from the present imperative. Examples:

Active

κ’ ἔχετε τὰ φουσάτα σας καλὰ εὐοδωμένα Alex. Rim. 779 ἔχε γραμμένον, ἄς ἔχει γραμμένον· ἔχετε γραμμένον, ἄς ἔχουν καὶ ἄς ἔχουσι γραμμένον SOFIANOS, Grammar 55.2–3

⁶² For reliability issues in Mertzios’s publications and several “phantom” perfects, see JANSSEN 2013. This reading has been verified by Katerina Korre, to whom we are indebted. The document is now filed as Documenti Greci, busta 2, no. 118.

ἔχε γραμμένα ... ἔχετε γραμμένα ROMANOS, Grammar 27.3–4 ἔχε το καλά πελεκημένον με κοπτερὸν μαχαίριον LANDOS, Geopon. 147.22; τότε ἔχε μαζωμένες τὲς ἐλίες τὴν ὥρα ἐκείνην ibid. 212.22; τότε ἔχε βρασμένες τὲς μαραθίες ibid. 212.27–8 παρακαλῶ σε, ἔχε με παρητημένον KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Louk. 14.18

Passive

ἄς ἐναι ἡτοιμασμένα Eisit. f.1v.16

νὰ 'ναι περιβάδος ἀπ' αὐτά, ἦγουν ἀποβαλμένος (1525, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 102, 191–2.16–17)

κι ἄς εἴστ' ὀρδινιασμένοι, | νὰ ἴθετε εἰς τὸν πόλεμον Alex. Rim. 461–2 ἄς εἶναι χαρισμένα τον θεόν τον Σαβᾶωθ Diig. Alex. K 348.21 (ἄς ἐνε δώρημα in other versions) νὰ σῶναι ρεφουδάδα ἡ λεγόμενη μισή βουδέα (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 261, 205.21) ἐτούτη ἡ χάρις ἄς σοῦ εἶναι γιναμένη Bertoldos 74.23

γὰ τοῦτο ἀπὸ λόγου μας ἄς εἶσαι χωρισμένος PETRITSIS, Dig. O 1512

5.4.3 Infinitive

The perfect infinitive is formed with the infinitive of the auxiliary (ἔχει(ν) for the active and εἴσται(ν)/εἴσθαι(ν) for the passive) + passive participle (sporadically gerund). This infinitive is used in epistemic utterances preceded by a form of θέλω, in conditionals with auxiliaries εἶχα and ἦθελα (5.2.2 and 5.2.3), in the pluperfect with auxiliary ἦθελα (see 5.3.2.1) and in the future perfect with θέλω and ἦθελα (see 5.3.2):

Active

μὰ μετ' αὐτά τὰ ψόματα θὲς ἔχει κομπωμένη | τὴν Ἑρωφίλην ἀκομή, τὴν τρισκαταραμένη CHORTATIS, Erof. IV.690–1

ἀνίσως καὶ δὲ | σέ 'θελα ἔχει ὀλοπληρωμένον καὶ σατζιφάδον (1547, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 24, 58.12–13)

ὅ,τι σοῦ ἐθέλαμεν ἔχει δίδοντα (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 227, 226.24) πρὶν περὶ νὰ γράψω τῆς ἀφεντίας σου, θέλεις τὰ ἔχει ὅλα διορθωμένα (ca. 1560, Venice, MARKOS 1977: IIα, 28.14–15) ὅσα γράμματα θέλει ἔχει μαθημένα (1567, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 14, λ'.9) θέλει ἔχει γρικημένο CHORTATIS, Erof. III.46 transcr. X (Legrand); θὲς ἔχει κομπωμένη ibid. IV.691 θὲς ἔχει γρικημένα Thysia Avr. 121 θέλω ἔχει γραμμένον GERMANO, Grammar 101.18–19

Passive

νὰ εἴχετε εἴσταιν σκοτωμένοι MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 396.31 θελ' εἴσταιν ἀφορισμένη VOUSTR., Chron. A 34.5

θέλομεν εἴσται κακὰ ἀναπαμένοι (16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.24–5)

5.4.4 Gerund

For the active voice the perfect gerund is formed with the present gerund of ἔχω (ἔχοντα(ς)) + participle (in -μένος or -δος). Very few examples have been found for the passive voice, because the participle ἔσ(τ)οντα(ς) (of εἶμαι) is usually used in phrasal conjunctions (ἔστοντας νά, καί, etc.) rather than as a gerund,⁶³ whereas ὄντα(ς) appears relatively late and is generally quite rare (see 4.8.5). The few passive examples found in fact represent (stative) presents rather than perfects:

Active

- ἔχοντά με ζαμινάδον οἱ αὐθέντες (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 134, 110.11–12) ἔχοντας δοσμένα τοῦ ἀνοθεν κυρ-Ἀντρέα τὰ σπίτια ὁ κύρης του (1603, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 193, 202.3) ἔχοντας τὰ πρῶτα μου παιδιὰ προιτζιμένα καὶ ξοφλησμένα (1664, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1995: 8, 221.5) (< προικισμένα) ἔχοντας ἡ Καλὴ ἀντρα στεφανωμένο τὸ Γιαννάκη (1680, Skyros, ANDONIADIS 1990: 41, 68.2) ἔχοντας δοσμένα τοῦ Γιώργη Νιστάγρα ... γίδια (1698, Peloponnese, GRITSOPOULOS 1968/69: 3, 335.2–3)

Passive

- ἔστοντας βυθισμένοι FALIEROS, Ist. On. 4 ἔσοντα ζηλεμένος KORONAIOS, Andrag. Bua VIII.13 ὄντας οἱ πόρτες σφαλισμένες KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Ioann. 20.19 ὄντας βυθισμένος Don Kis. 158.11

5.5 The Future Perfect

The future perfect expresses that something will happen or is expected to happen before a specific time in the future; it is, in other words, the past in the future.

Although all ways in which a future can be formed could conceivably be used to form the future perfect as well, this is not the case. As the future perfect is a much rarer tense than the future, variation in formation is more limited, and, for instance, very few examples have been found with νά and μέλλω νά. The most common way of expressing past in the future is the perfect infinitive (ἔχει(ν) + perfect passive participle; regionally ἔχει(ν) + gerund or ἔχει(ν) + loanword in -δος) preceded by θέλω, which marks it for future (for the perfect infinitive see 5.4.3). Very few examples have been found in literary texts, which, as far as versified texts is concerned, can be explained by the sheer length of the construction, which requires a minimum of six syllables (θέλ' ἔχω γραμμένο) and is therefore hard to fit into the hemistichs of the political verse (see below for one such example from the War of Troy). In legal documents the imperfect rather than the present of θέλω may be used, making the utterance more hypothetical (cf. the conditional, 5.2).

For the passive voice one would expect θέλω εἶσται + perfect passive participle to be the most common construction, but in fact very few examples have been found. The same construction with ἤθελα for θέλω appears to be more common, but the written sources may be deceptive here. The vast majority of examples come from legal documents, in which the use of ἤθελα stresses the hypotheticality of the utterance (cf. the conditional, 5.2). The passive construction with εἶμαι is also used with deponent verbs (γίνομαι) and with intransitive verbs (παγαίνω), in which case the meaning is active.

⁶³ For a similar use of ἔχοντα(ς) see IV, 3.4.1.1.

It must be stressed that θέλω/ῆθελα + perfect infinitive, or, with omission of the future marker, εἶμαι + participle, often expresses the (imperfective) future of εἶμαι, rather than a true future perfect. The participle then functions as an adjective: δὲν θέλουν εἶσταιν χαμένα ΜΑΧΑΙΡΑΣ, Chron. V 254.7–8 (“[my words] will not be in vain”); αὐτὸν οὐδὲν τὸν θέλομεν διὰ ἡγούμενον, ὅτι ἔχει γυναῖκα καὶ παιδιά καὶ γαμβροὺς, καὶ ἐμεῖς θέλομεν εἶσται κακὰ ἀναπαμένοι ἐξ αὐτοῦ (16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.24–5) (“we do not want him for an abbot, because he has a wife and children and sons-in-law, and we will be seeing nothing but trouble from him”); θέλω καὶ τὸ παρόν μου κονιτζίλο, τὸ ὅποιον θέλει εἶσται στοτοσκριβερισμένο μὲ τὸ ἴδιό μου χέρι, νὰ ᾗ ἀμετάστετα ἐξεκουτζιὸν (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 4, 68.86–7) (“and I want this codicil, which will be undersigned by my own hand (i.e. bear my signature), to be executed to the letter”). This use of the construction can also be found with the active voice: ημεῖς θέλομεν τὸν ἔχει συγχωρεμένον Don Kis. 33.33 (“we will not hold it against him”, literally: “we will have him in [a state of] forgiveness”).

In subordinate clauses introduced by νά, ὅταν, ἄν, etc. the perfect subjunctive (see 5.4.1) may be used, without an explicit future marker:

ὁδεκαλὰ τὸν ἔχω ξετελειωμένον, νὰ μὲ ἔχεις καὶ ἀποπληρωμένον (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 312, 311.8–10)

(ὑπόσχεται ...) νὰ ἔχη ἐξωφλισμένα ἔως τὲς 14 τοῦ λεγομένου μηνὸς (1661, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 27, 383.9–10)

νὰ τὸν ἔχη μαθημένον εἰς χρόνους πέντε ἐρχάμενους ἀπὸ τοῦ νῦν (1666, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 1, 144.9–10)

νὰ τὰ ἔχουν κονσενιάδα ὡς ἄνωθεν εἰς διορία χρόνον ἕναν (1687, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005a: 1, 368.9–10)

The future marker may also be omitted with the second verb when two verbs are paratactically coordinated. The second verb is then a perfect indicative: ἂν ἴσως καὶ τὸν καιρὸν ἐκεῖνον τῆς τελευτῆς μου ῆθελον εἶσται προτύτερα μισεμένος ἀπὸ τὸ στίτι μου καὶ εἶναι ἰσιασμένα τὰ ἀπερασμένα (1691, Venice, MERTZIOS 1936e: [1], 116.26–7). The perfect indicative may also be used instead of the future perfect in main clauses, to give them more rhetorical force. Note that in the second of the following examples the construction is used with active meaning, with the transitive verb νικῶ:⁶⁴ καὶ ὡς τὸ Μάη τὰ ἔχει τελειωμένα τὰ τριακόσια κάτεργα (1572, Warsaw, PATRINELIS 2000: [1], 13.35–6) (“and by May [the Turks] will have finished building those 300 galleys”); φωνάζουν “δῶστε πόλεμον, κι εἴμεσθιν νικημένοι” Thrinios Kypr. 796 (“we shall be victorious!”; literally: “we will be won”).

Future perfects of the SMG type θα ἔχω φάει have not been found in the texts examined, which is unsurprising given the relatively late appearance of the particle θά and the very late appearance of ἔχω + infinitive as a perfect (for details on θά see 5.1.5, for the perfect infinitive see 5.4.1.6).

⁶⁴ For the same use of νικημένος see γὰρ νάβγῃ ἐκ τὸν πόλεμον ἐκεῖνον νικημένος ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 176, as noted by Xanthoudidis in his review of the edition in Χριστιανικὴ Κρήτη 1 (1912), 289–311, at 296. A similar development can be observed with the semantically related verb κερδαίνω/κερδένω (for which see 5.3.1.2).

	General	Restricted	Rare
Active	θέλω ἔχει(ν) γραμμένο(ν) ἤθελα ἔχει(ν) γραμμένο(ν)	ἤθελα ἔχει(ν) -δο(ν) ἤθελα ἔχει γράφοντα(ς) ἤθελα εἴσται -μένος	ἤθε ἔχει(ν) ραμμένο(ν) ἤθελα εἶχε γραμμένο(ν) θέλω εἴσται -μένος μέλλω/μέλλει νά ἔχω γραμμένο(ν)
Passive	ἤθελα εἴσται γραμμένος	θέλω εἴσται γραμμένος

5.5.1 θέλω + Perfect Infinitive

The first future perfect of this type has been found in the War of Troy, and the first example after that dates to the middle of the 16th c. As mentioned in the introduction to this section, the future perfect appears almost exclusively in non-literary texts. This is not surprising where verse texts are concerned, as it requires a minimum of six syllables (θέλ' ἔχω γραμμένο), not counting clitic pronouns, which are often present, which makes it difficult to fit into the hemistichs of the political verse; hence the unusual violation of the caesura in the example from the War of Troy:

Active

- τί νά σέ λέγω τὰ πολλά; ἀπάρτι ἔαν πιστεύης (app. crit.) | ὅτι γοργὸν τοὺς θέλουσιν ἔχει ὄλους πιασμένους Pol. Tr. 6945–6
- καὶ ἃ δὲν σέ θέλω ἔχει πληρωμένον ἕως τοὺς λεγομένους χρόνους γ' ... (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 317, 316.11–12)
- ὅτι πρὶν περὶ νά γράψω τῆς ἀφεντίας σου θέλεις τὰ ἔχει ὅλα διορθωμένα (ca. 1560, Venice, MARKOS 1977: IIα, 28.14–15)
- ὅσα γράμματα θέλει ἔχει μαθημένα περισσότερα ἀπὸ τὰ ἄσπρα ὅπου θέλει ἔχει παρμένα (1567, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1936/37: 14, λ'.9–10)
- νά χάνη τὴν δουλειυσή του ὅπου θέλει ἔχει δουλεμένη (1571, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al.
2008: 1, 53.10–11)
- μὲ τὸν κομέσο ὅπου θέλεις ἔχει κατωμένο ὁδὶά λόγου μου (1616, Crete, ANGELOMATI-TSOUNGARAKI 1996: 4, 364.4)
- τότες θέλω ἔχει γραμμένον GERMANO, Grammar 101.18–19
- πάσα λογῆς ὅπου θέλουσιν ἔχει μανιντζαρισμένη (1622, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 3, 51.116–17) (< Ital. maneggiare)
- θέλω ἔχει γραμμένα, J'auray escrit, θέλεις ἔχει γραμμένα, etc. ROMANOS, Grammar 23.23
- νά εἶναι κρατημένος ... νά γιαγιέρνη ὅ,τι θέλει ἔχει ἐπαρμένα ἀπὸ τὴν κάτωθεν πληρωμὴν (1645, Crete, DETORAKIS 1980: 8, 51.14–16)
- δούλεψες ὅπου θέλει ἔχει κατωμένα (1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999b: 18.1)

In a text from the Heptanese the θέλω + perfect infinitive construction has been found with the intransitive verb γίνομαι as a transitive construction with an overt direct object (cf. the pluperfect, 5.3.1.2 and the perfect, 5.4.1.2): νά ἰδεῖ τὰ ἄλογα ποὺ θέλει ἔχει γεναμένα ὁ κυρ-Γιῶργος (1591, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1949: 162.15–16).

Passive

The passive counterpart to the above construction does not appear to be very common: θέλω εἶσθαι γραμμένος ROMANOS, Grammar 24.2; ὡς καθὼς παρακάτω θέλουν εἶσθαι γραμμένα (1672, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1938: 1, 294.4–5).

For the pluperfect and the perfect (see 5.3.1.2, 5.4.1.2), the passive construction ἤμουν/εἶμαι + perfect passive participle may be used with active meaning for intransitive verbs, not only deponent verbs (e.g. ἔρχομαι) but also active verbs that otherwise lack passive morphology (e.g. παγαίνω). A few comparable examples with the construction θέλω + perfect passive infinitive have been found for the future perfect:

ἀνίσως καὶ ἐγὼ δὲ θέλω ὅσται παγομένη (1644, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1979: 3, 229.71); πάλι καὶ θέλω ὅσται παγομένη (ibid. 229.72–3); ἀνίσως καὶ ἐγὼ θέλω ὅσται παγομένη (ibid. 230.75) καλυτερίσματα ὅπου θέλουσι εἶσται γινομένα (1665, Crete, VOURDOUMBAKIS 1915: 19, 389.19–20)

After subordinating conjunctions (νὰ, ἄν and others), the future marker may be omitted:

Active

αὐτὰ νὰ παραλάβουσιν ὅσοι ἔβγουν ἀπὸ σένα, | ὅσοι στήν θεοσέβειαν νὰ ἔχουσι δουλεμένα CHOUNMNOS, Kosmog. 741–2 καὶ θέλω ὅκαὶ πανδρεύοντα ἢ λεγομένη Μαρίνα νὰ ἔχη ἐπαρμένα τὰ λεγόμενα ὑπέρπυρα ἀπὸ τὰ καλὰ μου, τὸ πολὺ ἕως χρόνον ἕνα (1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 219.60–1)
νὰ σοῦ τὰ ἔχω ἀποδοσμένα καὶ ἀποπληρωμένα ἕως ὅλον τὸν Ἰουλλιον τὸν πρῶτον ἐρχόμενον (1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 29, 35.13–14) (νὰ ὅσαι κρατημένους ...) εἰς τὸ κομπλιμέντο τῶν λεγομένων χρονῶν δ'ον, νὰ τὸν ἔχης μαθημένον τὴν τέχνην σου καὶ τότε νὰ τόνε ἀποβγάνης (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 15, 16.7–8); (ὁ μύλος ...) ὅτι νὰ ἀλέθῃ καλὰ, ἀρεσκούμενά σου, καὶ νὰ τὸν ἔχω ἀποξετελειωμένον, ἀρεσκούμενά σου, ἕως ὅλον τὸν Αὐγουστον, τὸν πρῶτον ἐρχόμενον (ibid. 312, 311.6–7); νὰ μοῦ τὰ διδῇς ἄλα τζορνάδα, κάμνοντα καὶ παίρνοντα, ἦγουν ὀδεκαλὰ τὸν ἔχω ξετελειωμένον, νὰ μὲ ἔχεις καὶ ἀποπληρωμένον (ibid. 312, 311.8–10) (ξεκαθαρίζοντας ...) νὰ ἔχουσι καμωμένες τσι κατοικίες τῶνε ... ἀλλέως ἢ γραφὴ ἐτούτῃ νὰ εἶνε κομμένη (1622, Crete, MALTEZOU 1989: 359.34–7) ἂν ἀποθάνω γλήγορα καὶ δὲν τῶς ἔχω ἀποδοσμένα ἐκεῖνα ποῦ τῶς ἔφηκεν ὁ μακαργιασμένος ἀφέντης ... (1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 80.49–50) ὁ σταυρὸς νὰ τὸν ἔχη καμωμένο ἕως τὰ Χριστούγεννα (1631, Crete, KAZANAKI 1974: 4, 267.17–18)
(ὑπόσχεται ...) νὰ ἔχη ἐξωφλισμένα ἕως τὲς 14 τοῦ λεγομένου μηνὸς (1661, Naxos, GRITSOPOULOS 1994: 27, 383.9–10) νὰ τὸν ἔχη μαθημένον εἰς χρόνους πέντε ἐρχάμενους ἀπὸ τοῦ νῦν (1666, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 1, 144.9–10) νὰ τὰ ἔχουν κονσενιάδα ὡς ἄνωθεν εἰς διορία χρόνον ἕναν (1687, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005a: 1, 368.9–10)

Passive

εἶτι κάμουν νὰ ἔναι κακὰ καμωμένον (1507, Sinai, VIOLIDAKIS 2006: 1, 264.11) νὰ εἶναι κακὰ πουλημένα καὶ κακὰ ἀγορασμένα (1668, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1971/73: 482.27)

Sometimes a perfect indicative is used in the main clause instead of a future perfect, without any future marker. In the second example below, the construction is used with active meaning (“we shall be victorious!” (literally “we will have won”)), with the transitive verb νικῶ. In both examples, the perfect indicative appears in a main clause that is causally coordinated with the preceding clause through καί: (ὁ μέγας Τοῦρκος ἔχει τριζόρο πολὺ ...) καὶ ὥς τὸ Μάη τὰ ἔχει τελειωμένα τὰ τριακόσια κάτεργα (1572, Warsaw, PATRINELIS 2000: [1], 13.35–6); φωνάζουν “δῶστε πόλεμον, κι εἴμεσθεν νικημένοι” Thrinis Kypri 796.

5.5.2 ἤθελα + Perfect Infinitive

The construction ἤθελα + perfect infinitive is a feature of LMedG/EMG “legalese”: it is used to set up mere hypotheses (“in the event that X will have happened before Y will happen ...”) rather than situations envisaged as actually occurring, thus covering all imaginable times and situations. It is therefore used mainly in conditional clauses and in indefinite relative clauses. The perfect infinitive consists of the infinitive of ἔχω (active voice) or εἶμαι (passive voice) + perfect passive participle (declined, or invariable in -α), past participle in -δος (Venetian loanwords) or gerund (for details see 5.4.3). For the use of the same construction as a conditional see 5.2.3.1.

Active

- νὰ μπορῇ νὰ ἔξουσιν ὅστις ἤθελεν ἔλθιν οἰκονόμος νὰ χαλᾷ ὅ,τι ἤθελεν ἔχειν καμωμένα ὁ πρῶτος οἰκονόμος (1507, Sinai, VIOLIDAKIS 2006: 1, 264.13)
- νὰ μαι κρατημένος νὰ τῆς δίδω ὅ,τι ροῦχα καὶ ὅ,τι ἐνδυμασὲς τῆς ἤθελα ἔχει καμωμένα (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 211, 166.10–12)
- εἰς ἄλλέως καὶ δὲν σὲ θέλαμεν ἔχει ὀλοπληρωμένον εἰς τὸ τέρμενον (1546, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 14, 50.11–12); ἀνίσως καὶ δὲ σὲ ἔθελα ἔχει ὀλοπληρωμένον καὶ σατζιφάδον (1547, ibid. 24, 58.12–13)
- νὰ τοῦ ἐπιστρέφῃ τὰ ἄνωθεν στάμενα καὶ νὰ χάνῃ καὶ εἴτι ἤθελε ἔχει δουλεμένο (1576, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 48, 110.13–14)
- νὰ χάνει ὅλα ἐκεῖνα τὰ ἀγομένα ὅπου ἤθελεν ἔχει καμωμένα (1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 4, 27.9–10); ἂ δὲν τὸν ἤθελεν ἔχει πλεωμένο ... νὰ σπέρνου πάλι τὰ λεγόμενα χωράφια ἄλλους πέντε χρόνους ... ὥστε νὰ τὸν ἀποπλερώσῃ (1603, ibid. 187, 198.11–12) (“if [by the end of the five-year period] he has not repaid him ... they shall sow the above-mentioned fields again for another five years ... until he pays him off”)
- ὅσον καιρὸν ἤθελε ἔχει δουλεμένο (1667, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2004/06: 3, 147.32) (“the period she will have worked”)
- ἂ δὲν σταθεῖ νὰ φινίρει τὸν καιρὸν τοῦ ἰντιέρο, νὰ χάνει τὸν κόπον τοῦ διὰ τὸν καιρὸν ποὺ ἤθελε ἔχει δουλεμένο (1685, Zakynthos, VAYAKAKOS 1954/55: 34, 64.6–8) (“if he does not stay for the whole time to finish [the job], he shall lose his efforts for the time he will have worked”)
- ἂ μοῦ τὰ ἔθελς ἔχειν ὅλα δίδοντα, νὰ σοῦ γιαγέρνω τὰ λεγόμενα δουκάτα ἐπτὰ (app. crit.) (1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 282, 221.37–8) (“once you will have given it all back, I shall return the seven ducats to you”)
- καὶ νὰ μᾶς γιαγέρνης ὅ,τι σοῦ ἐθέλαμεν ἔχει δίδοντα εἰς αὐτὰ (1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 227, 226.24–5)

Passive

- ἀνίσως καὶ τὰ ἄνωθεν πράγματα ἤθελαν εἶσται ζημιωμένα ἀπὸ ἀφορμὴ τοῦ ἄνωθεν Ἰωάννου (1586, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 110, 85.26)

In the following example the passive construction is used with active meaning with the verb μισεύω, a verb of motion, which otherwise lacks passive morphology (cf. the construction with θέλω, above): ἄν ἴσως καὶ τὸν καιρὸν ἐκεῖνον τῆς τελευτῆς μου ἤθελεν εἶσται προτύτερα μισεμένος ἀπὸ τὸ σπῖτι μου (1691, Venice, MERTZIOS 1936e: [1], 116.26–7).

Sporadically the construction can be found with a shortened form of the auxiliary, ἤθε(ν) (cf. 5.2.3.6): σώνοντας ὁ χρόνος καὶ ἤθε ἔχει μαθημένο τὸν Ἀνδρέα (1564, Zakynthos, ΚΟΝΟΜΟΣ 1969g: 132.10).

5.5.3 ἤθελα/ἤθελε + Pluperfect

The construction ἤθελα/ἤθελε + pluperfect has been found once. The pluperfect, if it is not a simple writing mistake (εἶχε for ἔχει), is probably used to reinforce the hypotheticality of the utterance. As the example happens to be 3 sg., it cannot be established whether the auxiliary is impersonal or personal: νὰ ἡμπορεῖ νὰν τοῦ πάρη ὀπίσω εἴ τι σόλδι τοῦ ἤθελε εἶχε δομένο (1646, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1970: 1, 251.26).

5.5.4 μέλλω/μέλλει νά + Perfect Subjunctive

The use of μέλλω (cf. the future, 5.1.2) is very rare. As the single example found is 3 sg., it cannot be established whether μέλλει is personal or impersonal: ὀμπλιγάρεται νὰν τὸν μάθει ἔως στὸ σουπλιμέντο τοῦ ἄνωθεν καιροῦ καὶ ἐτότες ὁποῦ μέλλει νὰν τὸν ἔχει ὁ ἄνωθεν μαθημένον, νὰν τοῦ δίδει ... (1670, Zakynthos, ΒΑΥΑΚΑΚΟΣ 1954: 10, 41.4–6).

5.6 The Aorist and the Imperfect

In the period covered by this Grammar, periphrastic constructions consisting of ἤθελα or εἶχα + infinitive are widely used to form conditionals (see 5.2) and pluperfects (see 5.3). However, as noted by KRIARAS (1936: 53–5), sometimes εἶχα and ἤθελα + infinitive are equivalent to an aorist indicative or an imperfect.⁶⁵

5.6.1 εἶχα/ἤθελα + Aorist Infinitive

The construction εἶχα/ἤθελα + aorist infinitive may denote an action/event, usually in the more remote past, that is, however, presented as anterior to the present. It is thus equivalent to an aorist indicative. This use is quite common in verse texts, but it has also been found in non-literary sources from various areas:

[τὸν ἱμπέριο] τὸν εἶχα δεῖ καὶ μῶτυχεν ἀπλὰ διεγραμμένον, | βούλομαι νὰ τὸν βάλω ᾧ εἰς τὸ ριμαρισμένον Imb. Rim. 9–10 τώρα τσι πάγω ᾗ τς Ἀρκολιάς, σὰ μοῦ ᾔχεν ὀρδινιάσει CHORTATIS, Katz. II.131; εἶντα μιλούσι τα πουλιά ξεύρει, σαν εἶχ' ἀκούσει | ὄντε γυρίζου ἀπεταχτά καὶ γλυκοκιλαδοῦσι

⁶⁵ However, Kriaras is incorrect in assuming that in Cretan texts εἶχα + infinitive is never used as a pluperfect (see 5.3.1.1).

id., Panor. I.267–8; ποιοί ἐπερμαζῶξα τὰ βουνιά κ' ἐμεσοξετελειῶσα | τὸν πύργο ἐκείνο τῆς Βαβέλ, γῆ ποιοί ἔχασινε κάμει | τοῦτες σας τσί πυράμιδες id., Erof. Prol. 53
 ὡς ἂν θωρῶ τῇ λίγῃ | δροσιά, ἀπού ἔχει πιάσει | φιλῶντας τη, Μυρτῆνο, ... πολλὰ ἀκριβὴ τὴν εἶχες ἀγοράσει Pist. voskos II 1.371; γυναικὰ δὲ θέλ' εἶσθαι, | ὅπου ἔχει τότε κάμει | πόθον καὶ αὐτὸς νὰ γνῶση ibid. III 5.192–4; δὲν εἶναι τοῦτος | ὅπου ἔχει σοῦ χαρίσει τὸ κοπέλι; ibid. V 5.239
 μ' ἀπόψε πλιά παρὰ φορὰν ἄλλη εἶχε με σηκώσει | τὸ πρικαμένον ὄνειρο TROILOS, Rodol. I.535 (εὐχαριστιὲς σὰς δίδομε ...) γιὰ τὴν καλὴν ἀκρόαση, ὅπου ἔχετε μᾶς δώσει FOSKOLOS, Fort. V.411
 πάλιν ἐκεῖ λιμοκτονοῦν | που δὲν ἔχουν νὰ φάσιν | καὶ τὰ χουζούρια που ἔχασιν, ὅλα τα εἶχαν χάσει IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 5010
 τὰ ράζα ὅπου μοῦ εἶχες γράφει, λογιάζω μὲ πρώτη ὀκαζιὸν νὰ τὰ ἔχω (1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 305, f.2r.2–3) στοχαζόμενος πὼς ἔχω τὸ βάρος τῆς ἁμαρτίας ὅπου ἔχω ἀπάνου μου, ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ εἶχα φτεῖρει τὴν παρθενίαν τῆς Ἑλένης (1692, Kefalonia, EVANGELATOS 1995: 2, 161.9–10) νὰ τοῦ δώκετε μιὰ γραφὴ, ἦγουν ρεσπόστα εἰς ἄλλην γραφὴ ἀπού μᾶς ἤθελε στεῖλῃ ὁ ἐγλαμπρότατος αὐθέντης (1571, Mani, DOKOS 1972: 6, 262.9–10) γράφω τὸ μούλκι ὅπου μοῦ ἤθελαν δώσει τὰ ἀδελφία μου (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 66, 91.5); διὰ τὸ ἄνωθεν κλείσμα, ὅπου ἤθελαν ἀφήσει ὁ μακαρίτης ὁ γερο-Τούντας ... ὅτι νὰ εἶναι τὸ ἕμισόν τοῦ μοναστηρίου (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 68, 94.6–7) μὲ <τὸ> νὰ ἤθελε φανερωθῇ ... ὁ ἀπεσταλμένος σας (1684, Preveza, CHAVIARAS 1879: 1, 251.4–6) μα τοῦτο με παρηγορά, γιατί ἤθελα γροικῆσει | το πὼς σ' ετοῦτα τα λαγκά ... | βρίσκεται γεῖς παλιός βοσκός CHORTATIS, Panor. I.263–5; δὲ μπορῶ ... νὰ πέσω ν' ἀποκοιμηθῶ ... γιατί ἐκ τοῖ κορασίδες μου μιὰ μοῦ ἤθελε μηνύσει | πὼς ἄρρωστει id., Erof. Interm. II.64–8 ἐδῶ ἔναι, Αὔγουστε, οἱ στρατηγοὶ ὅπου ἤθελα σοῦ φέρει Zinon 42
 τὸ χέρι ὅπου μ' ἤθελε δοξέψει, | μόνον τὴν ὥραν τούτη ἂς μὲ γιатρέψη Pist. vosk. V 7.45–6; ἐκεῖνος ὅπου ὅω σ' ἤθελε βάλει ibid. V 7.79

With εἶχα it may also be used to express a simple action/event that follows another action/event that is situated in the past:

ὁποῖος ἔκαμεν τὴν σύνοδον ... καὶ εἶχεν ἀποθάνει (15th c., Cyprus, BRAYER et al. 1951: 71, f.Iv.4–5) στον πόλεμον διάβηκε διὰ νὰ πολεμήσει' | κάποιος τότε τ' ἄλογον ἐκεῖ ἔχει τὸ κτυπήσει ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 57.9–10 (= ἐκτύπησε); χελῶνα παρεκάλεσε τὸν αἰτὸν νὰ μάθει | νὰ πέτεται στα σύννεφα, κι ἰδέτε τι ἔχει πάθει ibid. 60.1–2 (= ἔπαθε); ο ψύλλος ἐδιάβηκεν, ἀλλοῦ ἔχεν ἀπηδήσει ibid. 61.5 (= ἐπήδησεν); καὶ με τὴν μύτην το ἔσυρε καὶ εἶχε τὸ εβγάλει ibid. 143.10
 κι οὐδ' εἰς παλάτι ἐφάνηκε ... μὰ ἐγὼ ὕστερα εἶχα μάθει | τὸν τρόπο ἀπού ἐμίσεψε TROILOS, Rodol. III.514–15 (= ἔμαθα)
 καὶ τοῦ ὄωκεν εἰς τὴν καρδιά κ' εἶχε τὸνε σκοτώσει BOUNIALIS M., Diig Pol. 168.16; καὶ ὁ οὐρανὸς ἐμαύρισε θολά, καὶ δάκρυα χύνει, | κι ἄστραψε μὲ πολὺ θυμὸ κ' εἶχε πολλὰ βροντήσει ibid. 206.14–15

In indefinite relative clauses introduced by ὅταν, εἴτις etc. the construction with ἤθελα may also denote a habitual/repetitive action or event situated in the past, and is thus equivalent to imperfect:

καὶ ὅταν ἤθελαν συμβῆ νὰ ἔχη ὁ Δεσπότης χρεῖαν, | φουσσᾶτα ἐκ τὸν πρίγκιπα κι ἀνθρώπους τῶν ἀρμάτων, | ὅσα ἔχρηζεν καὶ ἤθελαν εἶχεν τα εἰς θέλημά του Chron. Mor. H 3135–7 εἴ τις ἤθελέ τες διαλύσειν, ἔπαιρνε χαράτζιν ἀπ' ἐκεῖνον ὅπου ἔγραφε τὰ λόγια Vios Aisop. D 236.10–11

και αυθεινες οι αρματωσιες εχχαν περισσια χαρη, | διατι 'σανε του γεροντος κ' ησαν προβαρισμενες | και, απουθεν ηθελαν βρεθει, ησανε τιμημενες Apoll. Rim. A 702–4; η
Τάρσια στα γράμματα εξέβηκε την φύση, | σ' ό,τι τής ήθελες ειπεί, ήξευρε να μιλήσει ibid.
1143–4

καί ὅταν ἤθελε βαρέσει ὁ ἄνεμος, ἐσειέτον ὁ πλάτανος Chron. 1570 632.1–2

5.6.2 εἶχα/ἤθελα + Present Infinitive

Εἶχα + present infinitive can be equivalent to an imperfect, expressing a state in the past (for its use as a pluperfect see 5.3.1.1). This use has been found in texts from the Heptanese, the Peloponnese and Crete:

καί εἶχεν ὀρίζει τὸ Δοράχι ὁ αὐθέντης ὁ Ρουμπέρτος KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 420.17–18 (= ὀρίζει; Robertos is still the ruler of Dyrrachion)

ένα αγριογούρουνο επήγε ν' ακονίζει | τα δόντια του εις δενδρόν, είχε τα καλλωπίζει | μί αλεπού πρώτση την αφορμή να μάθει ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 53.1–3 (= ἐκαλλώπιζει); ἤκουσε κι ἐκλαιγε παιδί και γραία που ἔχε κράζει: “ὦ λύκε ἔπαρ' το παιδί, γιατί πολλά φωνάζει” ibid. 137.3–4 (= ἔκραζε); μόνον την γραίαν ἤκουσε πάλε οπου ἔχε λέγει ibid. 137.10 (= ἔλεγε) ἔναν ἀδελφὸν ἀποῦ ἤθελεν ἔχει ὁ ἄρχων ἐκεῖνος MOREZINOS, Klini 50.11–12

κι' ὅπου ἔχεν ἀγαπᾶ κιαμιά, χρειά ἔτον σὲ ρουφιάνες | μέρα και νύχτα νὰ γλακᾶ CHORTATIS, Katz. III.306 (= ἀγαποῦσε)

μ' ἔπαιρνε εις τὸν τόπο ἀποῦ ἔχε πηαίνει | συχνά ἡ νεραίδα τούτη Pist. voskos II 1.141–2 (= ἐπηγαίνει) ἐκεῖ ἐστεκόντησαν οἱ Ρωμαῖοι ... και δὲν εἶχανε ἡξέρει ἀκόμη τὸ κακὸ και τὸν τζακισμό Chron. Tourk. Soult. 59.26 (= ἡξεραν); τότε εὐρέθη ἕνας ἀρνιγάδος, ὅπου ἦτονε πρώτα χριστιανός, ὅπου ἦτονε Ταλιάνος, και εἶχε ξέρει ἀπὸ τὸν ποταμὸν τὸν λέγουσι Πό, ὅπου ἀπερνοῦσι τὰ πλεούμενα, και ἐδιάβη και εἶπε του Σουλτάν Μεχμεμέτη ὅτι ... ibid. 81.2–5 (= ἡξερε) ὅταν ἤθελε ἔχει ὁ στρατιώτης ζήτησιν διὰ γυναίκα, ὑπήγαινεν εις τὸν ἐταιριάρχην Alex. Fyll. 41.6–7

When ἤθελα is complemented by a present infinitive, the construction is always equivalent to an imperfect, not a pluperfect, as it represents a state or something that is ongoing in the past. It has been found in texts from the Aegean, Crete and the Heptanese, as well as in a text written in Preveza on behalf of Francesco Morosini (provenance of its author, Alesandro Lokadelinis, unknown):

προικίον ὅπου ἤθελεν τὸ ἔχει ἀπὸ τὸν πατέρα της (1598, Andros, POLEMIS 1999a: 81, 109.6)
κ' ἡ Ἐρωφίλη, ἀποῦ ἔθελεν ἔχει τσι χρόνους μου ἴσα, | σὰ νὰ ἔθελ' ὅσται ἀδέρφι τση μ' ἀγάπησε περίσσα CHORTATIS, Erof. I.153–4 μὲ τὸ νὰ ἐθέλετε ὀμπλιγάρεσθαι νὰ δίνετε ἐκεῖνον ὅπου ἐδίνετε τὸν καιρὸν τῆς ἀπερασμένης ἀμάχης (1684, Preveza, CHAVIARAS 1879: 1, 251.8–9) εἰμητὰ ὄντες ἤθελε τῶσε δουλεύει τοῦ ὀδῶνασιν ψωμί και ἡτρωγεν (1685, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARARA et al. 1982/83: 604, 834.3)

(ἕνας Γιάκομος Πετρόπουλος ...) ἤθελε ἔχει πολὺν ἔρωτα διὰ μίαν κορασίδα PYRRIS, Diig. panouklas 110.6

μὰ ἡ κουβέντα ἤθελε τὸ φέρνει KATSAITIS, Klathmos III.279

5.6.3 εἶχα/ἦμουν + Perfect Passive Participle

The construction εἶχα/ἦμουν + perfect passive participle is widely used for the pluperfect (see 5.3.1.2), but sometimes it can be equivalent to a simple past, expressing anteriority in relation to the present rather than to a point in time in the past.

Active

ἐχάσετε τὸ δάσκαλο τὸν πολυαγαπημένο | κι ἐγώ, ἡ πτωχή, τὸν Κύριο μου, τὸν εἶχα γεννημένο FALIEROS, Thrinós 90 (the implied ἔχασα refers to the present) τὴν εἶχα χαμένην ἀφόντου τὴν ἔδειξα (1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 126, 86.31); ὁκ τὰ ὅποια ἐμολογᾶγον πὼς εἶχαν λαβωμένα δοκᾶτα ἐξι (ibid. 205, 124.13) τὰ σπῆτια ὅπου ... ἔχει τὴν σήμερον ..., τὰ ὅποια λέσι ... πὼς τὰ εἶχαν πουλημένα οἱ ἄνδρες τῶν ἄνωθεν χηράδω (1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 84, 101.6–8); ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ ᾔεν κάποια χωράφια καὶ ἄλλα πράματα πουλημένα τσῆ κερα-Ἐργίνας ... ἴτσι τὴν σήμερον ... λέγει ... (1605, ibid. 344, 323.2–4)

Passive

Where the passive construction is concerned, if it is not a pluperfect (see 5.3.1.2), it usually represents a stative past, with the participle functioning as an adjective (ἦτον σφαλισμένη, ἦσαν κατοικισμένοι). Rarely it may represent an aorist, expressing an action/event (ἦτονε προβαλμένη) that follows another action/event in the past (ἔνοιξε): τὴν πόρταν ἔνοιξεν, ὅπου ᾔτον σφαλισμένη, | φλόγα πολλή ἀπὸ φωτιᾶς ἦτονε προβαλμένη CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 1105–6; ἦσαν κατοικισμένοι ΑΙΤΟΛΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 19.1.

5.6.4 εἶχα + Aorist Subjunctive

The construction εἶχα + aorist subjunctive is usually used for the pluperfect (see 5.3.1.6 for details on geographical spread), but sometimes it can be equivalent to a simple past, expressing anteriority in relation to the present rather than to a point in time in the past: τὰ μάτια θυμῶντας τὰ ἐκεῖνα ποὺ εἶχαν δοῦσι | τὰ χεῖλη μου τοῦ ταπεινοῦ φρίττουσι καὶ ἀποροῦσι Rim. Sant. 119–20; δὸς μου κ' ἐσὺ τὸν πόθον σου πρῶτα σὰν μοῦχες τάξεις SOUMMAKIS, Past. Fid. E8r.29.

5.6.5 εἶχα + Present Subjunctive

Εἶχα + present subjunctive can sometimes be equivalent to an imperfect, expressing a state in the past: καὶ ᾔδραμασι μὲ τὴν χαράν, γιὰτ' εἶχασι θαρροῦσι | οἱ πέτρες βάρκες νὰ ᾔτονε, καὶ πῆγασι νὰ δοῦσι Rim. Sant. 755–6.

5.6.6 ἦμην + Present Participle

The obsolete construction ἦμην + present participle is sometimes used in mixed- and higher-register texts to express an imperfect: καὶ πάλιν ἦν ἀγανακτῶν καὶ πάλιν ἦν φροντίζων [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 411; ἀλλ' ὁμως ἦν εὐχαριστῶν καὶ τὸν Θεὸν ἐν τούτῳ Dig. A 4275.

5.7 The Subjunctive

In LMedG and EMG the subjunctive can be expressed periphrastically. The most common and well-known periphrasis is $\xi\chi\omega$ + infinitive, which is also used to express the future indicative (see 5.1.3.1). Its use as a subjunctive predates the period covered by this Grammar (see MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 150–5 for discussion and bibliography). In the majority of cases the construction appears in clauses introduced by $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ (in various functions, see MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 150), though several examples have been found where the clause is introduced by a different conjunction ($\alpha\tilde{\nu}$, $\alpha\phi\acute{o}\nu\tau\iota\varsigma$), a particle ($\alpha\tilde{\varsigma}$) or a negative ($\text{o}\tilde{\upsilon}$ $\mu\eta$).

Multiple examples have been found in texts from south-western areas, but the examples from S. Italy and Glykas, as well as the single, and surprisingly late, example from Naxos, indicate that the construction had a wider geographical distribution.

Other complementations, though rarer, are also possible for $\xi\chi\omega$. Several examples have been found of the perfect subjunctive (for which see 5.4.1), $\xi\chi\omega$ + perfect passive participle, used instead of the aorist subjunctive. There is also a “legalese” variant found in documents and texts from the Heptanese, which makes use of the conditional $\epsilon\tilde{\iota}\chi\alpha$ + infinitive (for which see 5.2.2.1).⁶⁶ Given the modal character of $\xi\chi\omega$, the construction may sometimes have deontic, potential or other modal connotations, without, however, ceasing to be futurate: $\delta\acute{o}\varsigma$ $\mu\epsilon$ $\alpha\lambda\omicron\gamma\alpha$ $\kappa\alpha\iota$ $\sigma\upsilon\nu\tau\rho\omicron\phi\iota\alpha\nu$ $\tau\omicron\upsilon$ $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ $\xi\chi\omega$ $\acute{\upsilon}\pi\alpha\gamma\alpha\iota\nu\epsilon\iota$ Chron. Mor. H 2414 (intentional “so that I can be on my way”); $\kappa\alpha\iota$ $\alpha\tilde{\nu}$ $\xi\chi\omega$ $\epsilon\delta\tilde{\omega}$ $\theta\alpha\nu\alpha\tau\omega\theta\eta\nu$ Liv. V 2603, Liv. α 2960 and Liv. S 1673 (Lambert-van der Kolf) (deontic “if I must die here”); $\mu\eta$ $\sigma\upsilon\kappa\omicron\phi\acute{\alpha}\nu\tau\eta\nu$ $\pi\tau\omicron\eta\theta\eta\varsigma$, ... | $\alpha\tilde{\nu}$ $\xi\chi\eta$ $\tau\acute{o}$ $\kappa\omicron\nu\tau\acute{\alpha}\rho\iota\nu$ $\tau\omicron\upsilon$ $\phi\theta\acute{\alpha}\sigma\epsilon\iota\nu$ $\epsilon\iota\varsigma$ $\tau\acute{o}$ $\Delta\upsilon\rho\rho\acute{\alpha}\chi\iota\nu$ GLYKAS, Stichoi 347–8 (potential “if his spear might reach Dyrrachion”).

The other auxiliary verbs that are used to form the future indicative may also be used to form a subjunctive (BĂNESCU 1915: 90; MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 169–70), most notably $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\omega$, including its shortened forms $\theta\acute{\epsilon}$ and $\theta\acute{\alpha}$, and, very rarely, $\mu\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\lambda\omega$. Contrary to the $\xi\chi\omega$ + infinitive construction, which may express a plain subjunctive and is also used in past contexts, $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\omega$ and $\mu\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\lambda\omega$ only occur in futural and final contexts. Finally, a “legalese” variant has been found in a Heptanesian document (Corfu), which makes use of the conditional $\eta\theta\epsilon\lambda\alpha$ + infinitive (for which see 5.2.3.1).

5.7.1 $\xi\chi\omega$

Subjunctive	General	Restricted	Rare
Aorist	$\xi\chi\omega$ $\gamma\rho\acute{\alpha}\psi\epsilon\iota(\nu)$	$\epsilon\tilde{\iota}\chi\alpha$ $\gamma\rho\acute{\alpha}\psi\epsilon\iota(\nu)$	$\xi\chi\omega$ $\gamma\rho\alpha\mu\acute{\mu}\epsilon\nu\omicron(\nu)$
Present	$\xi\chi\omega$ $\gamma\rho\acute{\alpha}\phi\epsilon\iota(\nu)$

⁶⁶ The following one-off example in Ioakeim Kyprios’s Struggle, $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\omicron\mu\epsilon\nu$ $\acute{\epsilon}\chi\epsilon\iota\nu$ $\nu\alpha$ $\epsilon\iota\pi\epsilon\iota\nu$ $\kappa\alpha\iota$ $\delta\iota\acute{\alpha}$ $\tau\omicron\upsilon\varsigma$ $\sigma\upsilon\mu\beta\omicron\upsilon\lambda\omicron\upsilon\varsigma$ IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 1867, which combines the infinitive of $\xi\chi\omega$ (after the control verb $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\omega$) with $\nu\alpha$ + infinitive, appears to be a curiosity rather than a “real” construction.

5.7.1.1 ἔχω + Infinitive

As noted in the introduction to this section, ἔχω + infinitive appears before the period covered by this Grammar,⁶⁷ and examples have been found well into the 17th c. The auxiliary ἔχω is usually followed by an aorist infinitive, expressing a simple action/event. Examples of the present infinitive occur in the Chronicle of Morea and the War of Troy, and they are normally used to express a state or an ongoing or repeated action/event. The present infinitive is not restricted to verbs that do not have a perfective stem. When the imperfective and perfective stems of a verb are homophonous, an ostensible present infinitive may in fact represent an aorist infinitive: τῆς γῆς γὰρ καὶ τῆς θάλασσης, βούλεται νὰ ἔχη βάλλει | φύλαξιν Chron. Mor. H 2899–900, for which read: βάλει.

ἔχω + Aorist Infinitive

ὅστις ἂν ἔχει εὐρεθῇ μετατρέπων καὶ διασείων (... ἔστω ἀναθεματισμένος) (1050, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 37, 46.39–40)

μὴ συκοφάντην πτοηθῆς, ἂν ἔχη δρακοντιάσειν GLYKAS, Stichoi 347

στὴν Βενετίαν ἀπήλθασι διὰ νὰ ἔχουσιν περάσει Chron. Mor. H 404; καὶ πῶς νὰ ἔχη γενεῖ, νὰ τοὺς ἀποφληθοῦμε; ibid. 610; ἐδῶ ποῦ εὐρίσκεστε ἐνομοῦ, ἃς ἔχωμεν συντύχει ibid. 2837; καὶ θέλω νὰ σᾶς ἔχω εἰπεῖ καὶ νὰ σᾶς ἀφηγήσω ibid. 3140.

ὥσπου ὁ βασιλεὺς | ὑπάγη νὰ ἔχη κοιμηθῇ Pol. Tr. 410–11; καὶ θάρρος ἔχω εἰς τοὺς θεοὺς πρὶν παροῦ νὰ ἀποθάνω | νὰ ἐπάρω τὴν ἐκδίκησιν, πολλοὶ νὰ τὸ ἔχουν κλαύσει ibid. 1184–5; τοὺς θέλω κάμει, μάθε το, διὰ νὰ με ἔχουν γνωρίσει ibid. 2624; ὥσπου νὰ ἔχουσι βραχῇ ibid. 6832; ἐμπρὸς παρὰ νὰ ἔχη διαβῇ τὸ κάθισμα ἐτοῦτο ibid. 8989

δὲν με θέλεις καταπέσει | ἡ βουλή σου νὰ ἔχη γένῃ ERMON., Ilias 8.53–4 (hapax) οὐ μὴ τοὺς ἔχῃς λείψει Chron. Mor. P 239 μὴ νὰ ἔχη φύγει θάνατον παντοτινὸν καὶ κρίσιν Defl. Par. 272 καὶ ποτὲ διὰ κανέναν καιρὸν κανεὶς ἀπὸ τοῖς ἐδικοῖς τῆς νὰ μὴν ἔχει τρομήξει νὰ κοντραδίδει στὸ λεγόμενον ψυχικὸν (1576, Naxos, VISVIZIS 1951: 79, 98.15–16) (τρομήξει = τολμήσει, see 2.2.1.9.2) τὸ ρέστος νὰ τοῦ τὰ δίδει ἀφόντις ἔχει φινίρει τὸν καιρὸν τοῦ (1685, Zakynthos, ΒΑΥΑΚΑΚΟΣ 1954: 34, 64.3)⁶⁸

ἔχω + Present Infinitive

κι οὐκ ἔχουν ἄλλον φυσικὸν νὰ τοὺς ἔχη ἀφεντεύει Chron. Mor. H 836; τὸ πῶς νὰ ποιήσουσιν ὁμοῦ καὶ πῶς νὰ ἔχουν διάζει ibid. 3818; ὁ πρίγκιπας ἀφκράζεται τοῦ βασιλέως τὰ λόγια | κ' ἐσκόπα πῶς ν' ἀποκριθῇ ὅπως νὰ μὴ ἔχη σφάλλει ibid. 4252–3; ὀλίγοι ἀνθρωποι ἤμποροῦν νὰ τὸ ἔχουσι φυλάττει | ἀφῶν ἔχει σωτάρχισιν κ' ἔνι ἀφιρωμένον ibid. 8273–4 πολλὴν νὰ τὸ ἔχουν κλαίει Pol. Tr. 1185 app. crit. (B) (but read: πολὺν); διὰ τοῦτο ἔνι χρήσιμον βουλὴν νὰ ἔχωμεν ἔχει ibid. 7869

⁶⁷ See MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 151–2 for an example in a 6th/7th-c. papyrus.

⁶⁸ There are several reasons why this example from Zakynthos should be interpreted as a subjunctive (“after he finishes”) rather than a perfect (“after he has finished”) or a future perfect (“after he will have finished”). Firstly, in a futurative context the conjunction ἀφόντις always takes the subjunctive. Secondly, in the period covered by this Grammar the construction ἔχω + infinitive is very rare for the perfect, with only a handful of examples, all from northern regions and none from the Heptanese (see 5.4.1.6). Thirdly, and predictably because of the tense’s general rarity, no examples have been found of this construction with the future perfect (see 5.5).

5.7.1.2 ἔχω + Perfect Passive Participle

The perfect subjunctive ἔχω + perfect participle is sometimes used where one would expect an aorist subjunctive.⁶⁹ It occurs in futural contexts and is not restricted to versified texts. The use of this construction perhaps stresses the urgency or desirability of the action in question:

μά θέλω κανενὸς πτωχοῦ νὰ τό `χω δανεισμένον Fyll. gadar. 276b τὸ δίκαιον ὀρίζει ὅτι ἐκεῖνος ἐντέχεται νὰ ἔχη καμωμένη τὴν αἵτησιν Assizes B 357.22–3 καὶ ὅσκοπα πῶς τὸ πρᾶγμα αὐτὸ νὰ τοῦ ἔλθῃ καμωμένο | στὴν δουλοσύνην τοῦ Θεσέου νὰ τὸν ἔχουν βαλμένον Theseid IV 48,8 ms P (f. 32v) [ed. 1529: καὶ σκόπα γὰρ τὰ πράγματα μὲ τὴν πιδεξοσύνη | πῶς γιὰ νὰ ἔμπει στοῦ Θεσίου τὸ σπῖτι σ' δουλοσύνη]

An example of a passive variant of the construction, consisting of εἶμαι + participle, has also been found: γρικώντας κείνα Δάρειος, εἶπε διὰ νὰ γένῃ, | ἐπιστολὴ ἐγλήγορα γιὰ νὰ ᾽ναι γεναμένη Alex. Rim. 798 (“listening to all that, Darius said that it should be done, [and] that a letter should quickly be written”).

5.7.1.3 εἶχα + Infinitive

Εἶχα + infinitive is a “legalese” construction, which may replace the (futurative) aorist subjunctive in commands introduced by νὰ and in complement clauses. Examples have been found in Heptanesian (Kefalonian) documents and in Bertoldos (for its use as a future-referring conditional see 5.2.2.1):

ἐπρόσταξε τὸ λοιπὸν ὁ Βασιλεὺς, ὅτι πάραυτα νὰ εἶχαν ὑπάγει διὰ τὸν νοδάρων ... διὰ νὰ τοῦ τὸ διαβάσει κατὰ παρρησίαν τοῦ Bertoldos 80.33–4; ἄρχισεν νὰ κάμει ἰνστάτζια νὰ ἰδοῦν ποῦ νὰ εὕρισκεται τὸ παιδὶν τοῦ ὁ Μπερτολδίνος καὶ ἡ Μαρκόλφα μάνα του, καὶ νὰ εἶχαν τοὺς φέρει εἰς τὴν χώραν ibid. 85.10–13 (ἐσουνφώνησε ... νὰ φτιάσει ... τὰ διάστυλα ... με ξύλα ὀλολάρζινα ...), τὴν ὁποῖαν ξυλὴν νὰ τὴν εἶχε βάλει ἀπὸ λόγου τοῦ ὁ αὐτὸς μάστορας (1646, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1970:
 1, 250.4–5) σὲ ὅ,τι θέλει λάβει, νὰ μὴν εἶχε εἰπεῖ κανεὶς ... (1677, Kefalonia, MOSCHOPOULOS 1981: 3, 288.26–7); ὅποτες μοῦ ἔλθῃ θάνατος, νὰ εἶχε στείλῃ ὁ ἄνδρας μου ... (ibid. 288.33)

5.7.2 θέλω

Subjunctive	General	Restricted	Rare
Aorist	θέλω γράψει(ν)	θέλω νὰ γράψω θὲ νὰ γράψω	ἤθελα γράψει(ν) θὰ γράψω
Present	θέλω γράφει(ν)

⁶⁹ Cf. the normal use of the perfect subjunctive: ἀνίσως καὶ ἄν ἔχω ἄλλες διαθηκὲς γενάμενες, κόβω καὶ λιώνω (1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 11, 36.44–5) (“if I have made other wills, I declare [them] null and void”); καὶ ἄλλοι πάλιν διὰ νὰ εἶναι παρακαλεσμένοι ἀπὸ φίλους τοὺς SOFIANOS, Paidag. 102.7–8 (“and others [entrust their children to bad teachers], because they have been asked [to do so] by friends”).

5.7.2.1 θέλω + Infinitive

The earliest example found so far of θέλω + infinitive used instead of the subjunctive dates to the 13th c.⁷⁰ No examples have been found after the 16th c. The most common complementation for θέλω is the aorist infinitive. The present infinitive typically occurs with verbs that lack perfective morphology (ἔχω) and after aspectual verbs (ἄρχασαν, ἄρξασιν):

θέλω + Aorist Infinitive

ἀφίνω νὰ ἔχει ὁ Δημήτριος τὴν δοίκησὴν τοῦ ἀπὸ τὸ μοναστήριν, ὥσὸτε νὰ θέλει ἐξελεθεῖν νὰ ὑπάγῃ εἰς τὸν αὐθέντην μου τὸν βασιλέαν (ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.58–9) νὰ ποιήσῃ νὰ ἔχουν πλευτικά, νὰ θέλουσιν περάσει | στὸν ἅγιον τάφον τοῦ Χριστοῦ Chron. Mor. H 331–2; τοὺς τόπους ὅπου ἐπρονοιάστησαν νὰ τοὺς ἔχουν κερδίσει, | κ' ἐκείνους ὅπου οὐκ εἶχασιν νὰ θέλουν κουγκεστήσει ibid. 2020–1; νὰ τοὺς καλέσῃς, μὲ ἄρματα νὰ ἔλθουν νὰ μᾶς βοηθήσουν, | τὰ κάστη ὅπου μᾶς μάχονται νὰ θέλωμεν τὰ πάρει ibid. 2637–8 κὺρ Ἥλιε, τί νὰ ποιήσωμεν τὸ ἀδελφί μας νὰ εὐροῦμεν, | καὶ πῶς νὰ τὴν γνωρίσωμεν, νὰ τὴν θέλωμεν θάψει; Dig. E 91–2 καὶ οὐδὲν τοὺς ἄφηκε καὶ αὐτοὺς νὰ θέλουν πολεμήσει Pol. Tr. 3298; ὅψιδας ἃς ζητήσωμεν, κάμε νὰ θέλουν ἔλθῃ ibid. 5639; ἀπεδὰ μὲ φαίνεται νὰ θέλωμεν κερδίσει | καλὰ τοὺς ἀντιδίκους μας ibid. 8045; τέτοιον γομάριν βούλεται νὰ θέλῃ περιλάβει ibid. 12568
τὸ νὰ τὸ θέλεις μάθειν | εἰς ἑκατὸν νὰ διαρραγῆς, νομίζω, ἐκ τὴν λύπην Liv. V 80–1 πολλὰ ἐπιβουλεύτηκα νὰ τῆς τὴ θέλω πάρει Synax. gadar. 166 ο δε Ζεὺς ... εἶπεν ὅτι τότε θέλουν ἐλευθερωθοῦσιν ἀπὸ τὴν κακοπάθειαν [sc. οἱ γαϊδάροι], ὅταν κατουρώντας νὰ θέλουσιν κάμει ποταμόν ΝΟΥΚΙΟΣ, Ais. Myth. 92.4–6

θέλω + Present Infinitive

οἱ Φράγκοι ὥκονομηθήσαν νὰ θέλουν ὑπαγαίνει | ἐκεῖσε εἰς τὸ ταξεῖδιν τοὺς Chron. Mor. H 705–6 (“they prepared to be on their way”); καὶ τοὺς Λουμπάρδους ἄρχασαν νὰ τοὺς θέλουν τοξεύει ibid. 1067; ὅπου ἦσαν εἰς τὸν πρίγκιπα διαβόντα εἰς τὸν Μορέαν | καὶ ἄρξασιν νὰ λέγουσιν, νὰ θέλουν ἀφηγᾶσται ibid. 6447–8 διὰ τοῦτο ἔναι χρησίμιον βουλὴν νὰ θέλωμ' ἔχει Pol. Tr. 7869 app. crit. (X)

5.7.2.2 θέλω νά + Subjunctive

Substitution of θέλω νά + subjunctive for θέλω + infinitive is not very common. In fact, the following examples can best be viewed as use of the future indicative instead of the subjunctive: τὰ θαλάσσια ἐγνωρίζουσιν ὅταν θέλῃ νὰ ἀλλάξῃ ὁ καιρὸς LANDOS, Geopon. 131.14–15; ὅταν θέλῃς νὰ τὸ ζυμώσῃς, ἀπομένει τὸ ἄλλας ibid. 140.30–1.

5.7.2.3 ἤθελα + Infinitive

A “legalese” construction, ἤθελα + infinitive may replace the (futurative) aorist subjunctive. An example has been found in a Heptanesian (Corfiot) document (for its use as a future-referring conditional in indefinite relative clauses see 5.2.3.1): ὑπόσχεται ... ὅτι ... νὰ μὴδὲν ἤθελε γυρεύσει τὴν κληρονομίᾳ (1541, Corfu, RODOLAKIS/PAPARRIGA-ARTEMIADI 1996: 11, 223.13–14).

⁷⁰ Although a volitive reading (“until he wishes to leave”) cannot be excluded entirely, a 14th-c. copyist who adapted the document to a higher linguistic register substituted an aorist subjunctive (ἐξέλθῃ, “until he leaves”) for the construction. For discussion of this example see also MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 169–70.

5.7.2.4 θὲ νά + Subjunctive

The construction θὲ νά + subjunctive, which is very common with volitive meaning (see 2.4 s.v. (ἐ)θέλω) and to express the future (see 5.1.4.6), can sometimes be found as a periphrasis for the subjunctive in texts from Cyprus and Crete, though it cannot be excluded that the examples involving ἄν are rather instances of the use of the future indicative in place of the subjunctive:

- ἄν θενὰ μποῦν ἀπὸ τὴν τρύπα MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 498.18 ἄν θενὰ πᾶς εἰς τὴν Ἀμμόχουστον MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 286.37 μα ᾗ δὲν τὼς οργίζομαι σ' ὅ,τι κι α θε νά ποῦσι CHORTATISIS, Panor. V.14 μα ᾗ δὲν τοὺς ὀργίζομαι, ὅ,τι κι ἄ θε νά ποῦσι Stathis Prol.10 ἄν ἔνε καὶ ... ἤθελεν θελήσει ... νὰ θε νὰ σπεύρουν τὰ λεγόμενα χωράφια (1602, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 132, 146.11–12) κι ὅπου κι ἄ θε νὰ ξοριστῇ, πέμπει νὰ τὸν ξεδράμη KORNAOS, Erot. III.1171; ὅ,τι κι ἄ θε νὰ πᾶθωμε ibid. IV.122

5.7.2.5 θά

The construction θά + subjunctive is first encountered in Cretan texts of the late 16th c. as a future periphrasis (see 5.1.5). In the same area it may also be used to reinforce the subjunctive (see MARKOPOULOS 2006: 240–2 for the modern dialect):

θά + Aorist Subjunctive

- θυμοῦμαι τὴνε μιὰ φορά νὰ θά διαβῇ στον Ἄδη CHORTATISIS, Katz. II.353; μ' ἄλλοι παρὰ παιδι σου | τόση μεγάλη βασιλεία νὰ θά κληρονομήσου | κρίμα πολὺ μοῦ φαίνεται id., Erof. V.623–5
 ὅντε θά τὸ σκεπᾶση (1606, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 396, 369.9) (ἀποκοτῶ ...) τοῦτῃ τὴν κωμωδιά μου | εἰς τ' ὄνομά σου τὸ ψηλὸ νὰ θά καθιερώσω FOSKOLOS, Fort. Dedic. 36–7; λογιᾶζω ἡ ἀφεντιά σου | νὰ θά γενῆςπραματευτῆς ibid. III.15–16
 κι ἄν ἔναι καὶ λογιάσω κιὰς νὰ θά τὴν ἀποβγάλω TROILOS, Rodol. I.377

θά + Present Subjunctive

- πάραυτας βάνεις σ' ὀρδινιὰ τοῦ Πριάπου τῇ ντοτρίνα | νὰ θά μοῦ δείχνεις FOSKOLOS, Fort. I.414–15; ἀρχίζει | ἀγάλια ᾗ γάλια ... νὰ θά μοῦ ξανεμίζει ibid. V.59–60

5.7.3 μέλλω + Infinitive

In the period covered by this Grammar μέλλω + infinitive is very rarely used instead of the aorist subjunctive. See MARKOPOULOS 2009a: 123–4 for a discussion of this example in a document from S. Italy: ⁷¹ ἵνα μέλλει ποιῆσαι ... ἀγορὰν (1270, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 323, 476.25–6).

⁷¹ The use of μέλλω after ἵνα predates the LMedG period, with several examples from about the 4th c. onwards (see the online TLG). In most examples μέλλω appears to have been added to reinforce the “destiny-future” meaning (cf. MARKOPOULOS 2009a) of the subordinate clause (e.g. σπούδασον ἅπερ συνέθου ποιῆσαι τοῦ μὴ κατοποιῆσαι αὐτὴν, ἵνα μὴ μέλλῃς τὴν ἀνταπόδοσιν ἀπολαμβάνειν in the Life of St Theodore Sykeotes). However, examples in which ἵνα + μέλλω + inf. is simply futurative also occur, e.g. ἵνα μὴ μέλλῃς λέγειν in John Chrysostom (4th c.).

5.7.4 πᾶ (νά) + Subjunctive

Another construction consists of a shortened form πᾶ (for which see also 2.4. s.v. ὑπάγω) followed by νά + subjunctive. Although it clearly expresses futurity, the idea of motion is always present:

- νά πᾶ νά παινεθοῦμεν Achil. L 152 ms (ed. πᾶν) ἔνι κρατημένοι νά πᾶ νά δοῦν Assizes A 108.30 νά πᾶ νά ἀπλικέψουν MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 94.18–19 νά πᾶ νά κοιμηθοῦμε Fyll. gadar. 15e ὀγιά νά πᾶ νά φᾶσι Apoll. Rim. V 774 νά πᾶ νά βροῦμε Vosk. 121 νά πᾶ νά τήν ἀγκαλιαστῶ MONTSEL., Evgena 604 νά πᾶ νά βασανίζεστε BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 431.25 νά πᾶ νά ἀφιερωθοῦν (1673, Sikinos, ZERLENDIS 1913a: 139.33)

Invariable πᾶ + bare subjunctive, in which the conjunction νά has been omitted or incorporated into πᾶ (cf. θελά (5.1.4.5), μπορά (4.1.2.1) and μελλά (5.1.2.3)) occurs occasionally: θέλω να πα μισέψω CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.115; πῶς θές νά πᾶ τοὺς βροῦμεν Pist. voskos V 2.231; νά πᾶ τὸ ξανακαμπανίσου (1609, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 626, 547.15).

5.7.5 θέλω ἔρθει νά + Subjunctive

The rare construction θέλω ἔρθει νά + subjunctive occurs in a text from the Heptanese. The use of ἔρχομαι is probably due to Italian influence (see GIACALONE RAMAT/SANSÒ 2014: 24–34 for the use of venire as an auxiliary in Old Italian vernaculars, though in Italian it is complemented by a participle or adjective); cf. the conditional, 5.2.5, where the aorist indicative of ἔρχομαι has been found in texts from Cyprus: ἂν ἡ πόλβερη θέλει ἔρθει νά βραχεῖ (15th/16th c.?, Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.1).

Part IV

Syntax

Introduction

The eight syntax chapters were written on the basis of material taken from the grammar database set up by Notis Toufexis. The arduous work of selecting and compiling the examples was done chiefly by Marjolijne Janssen, with the assistance of Tina Lendari, Io Manollessou and Notis Toufexis. Further data were added when necessary for the sake of completeness.

The purpose of these chapters is to characterize the syntax of Medieval and Early Modern Greek by means of the rules that define its various constructions; no systematic effort has therefore been made to compare Medieval Greek with its ancient predecessor or its modern successor, though diachronic observations are sometimes offered where these seemed helpful. The rules in each chapter are numbered sequentially for ease of reference and presented in bold. Where necessary, further detail is supplied immediately below a rule, followed by a set of illustrative instantiations, stripped of irrelevant and superfluous detail. For example, since verse, syntactically speaking, differs from prose primarily in having a higher proportion of “marked” constituent orders, I have cited verse in a continuous format, without marking line-ends. I have also omitted any parts of examples, whether in verse or prose, that are not germane to the point under discussion (the deletions are indicated ...). In each set of examples, the material is organized chronologically, with the earliest material coming first. In the case of documentary texts, their place of origin is specified if known, together with their date. Literary texts, by contrast, are assigned to a century (sometimes tentatively), and where two different centuries are given, the first is that of the manuscript(s), the second that of composition. As far as possible, examples were chosen to illustrate not only the operation of rules but also the geographical spread and chronological range of the relevant structures. In some cases there are additional Notes below the citations, dealing, for example, with difficult, unusual, irregular or distributionally restricted phenomena.

I should add here that the spellings in the examples cited are those of the original editions, except that traditional subjunctive endings have been standardized by the addition of iota subscript in the relevant forms if this was omitted. But having blocks of examples exhibiting several different systems of accentuation simultaneously seemed not only an unnecessary distraction from syntactic matters but also aesthetically unattractive. A regularized polytonic form of accentuation has therefore been employed throughout, regardless of the preferred practice of individual editors. I offer no apologies.

Particular thanks are due to Marjolijne Janssen, who read through the complete text, updated several references in the light of recent publications, checked and normalised the orthography, and most importantly, corrected a number of errors of interpretation. I am very grateful for her contribution. I should also like to record here my gratitude to Peter Mackridge, who, with characteristic generosity, offered to comment in detail on an earlier draft of these chapters. His careful reading of a complex text saved me from more than a few errors of form and interpretation, and raised a number of important issues that had simply passed me by. The final version has been greatly improved by the incorporation of his corrections and observations, and by the rewriting of several parts of the text in the light of his expert advice.

GCH

1 Main Clauses

1.1 Subject and Predicate

Complete sentences consist of at least one main clause and may contain any number of subordinate clauses (see Chapters 2–3 and 5.3.3). Two or more clauses may be conjoined or stand in apposition (see Chapter 7).

All clauses combine the meaning of a subject with that of a predicate, even when there is no “overt” subject present and its “content” has to be supplied indirectly, e.g. by reference to the verbal morphology (in finite clauses, see Rule (1) NOTE (i) immediately below), or through rules of control (in some non-finite clauses, see 3.4, Rules (36) and (37), and 3.8). This chapter deals with main clauses.

1.1.1 Subjects

(1) The subject of a finite verb is in the nominative case; the verb agrees with its subject in person and number.

1 sg.	ἐγώ τὸ θέλω κι ἀγαπῶ	14th c., Chron. Mor. H 578
2 sg.	ἐσύ κλωσσῶς τὰ χηνόπουλα	17th c., Bertoldin. 128.14
3 sg.	καὶ ὁ φθόνος ἐτυφλῶσεν	15th c./14th c., Velis. χ 536
1 pl.	ἡμεῖς μὲν ζῶμεν	1256, Palatia (Miletos), NYSTAZOPOULOU 1966: 1, 288.1
2 pl.	ἐχάλασθήκετε ἐσεῖς κακῶς	16th c./?12th c., Dig. A 3219
3 pl.	ὥς καὶ μαρτύρουν αὐτὰ οἱ καλοὶ ἄνθρωποι	?1125, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 18, 417.7

NOTES

- (i) Subjects are routinely omitted when their “content” is pronominal (i.e. = “I”, “you”, “he/she/it”, etc.) and non-emphatic/non-contrastive, since the relevant person/number information is directly inferable from the agreement morphology on the verb (though additional contextual information may be required to identify the referent):

1 sg.	λέγω σε τὴν αἰτίαν μου	12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 312.10
3 sg.	παρεκάθισε τὴν πόλιν	15th–16th c., ?Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.III, 252.53.2

- (ii) Conjoined subjects of different persons trigger agreement as follows:

1 sg./pl. + 2 sg./pl. > 1 pl.
 1 sg./pl. + 3 sg./pl. > 1 pl.
 2 sg./pl. + 3 sg./pl. > 2 pl.
 3 sg./pl. + 3 sg./pl. > 3 pl.

- (iii) Exceptions to the regular agreement rules include:

Agreement “by sense”, e.g. where a formally singular subject denoting a collective entity takes a plural verb:

καὶ τόσον πολὺν ἀρίφνητον ἔφθασαν εἰς τὸν Ἀλέξανδρον τὸ φουσάτον
 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 20.12–13 (Konstantinopulos)

Agreement with only the closest of a set of subjects:

καὶ ποσῶς οὐκ ᾠφελήσῃ καὶ τὸ σκῆπτρον καὶ τὸ στέμμα τοῦ θεοῦ σου
 14th c./15th c., ERMON., Ilias 7.112–14

Archaizing “Attic syntax”, i.e. singular verb with neuter plural subject (mainly in earlier poetry with other learned elements):

ὥς γὰρ τὰ ξύλα τοῦ πυρὸς τὴν φλόγαν ἐπαυξάνει ?12th–13th c., Spaneas P 131

- (iv) For the agreement of nominal and adjectival predicative complements, see immediately below.

1.1.2 Nominal and Adjectival Predicative Complements

- (2) In clauses containing a copular verb (“be”, “become”, “remain”, “be made/called/appointed” etc.), a nominal/adjectival complement attributing a property to the subject agrees with the subject in case; complement nouns (with inherent gender) also agree in number, while complement adjectives agree in both gender and number; predicate nouns normally lack an article (see 5.3.2, Rule (76) NOTE (i)).

Nom. Masc. Sg. Subject + Nom. Masc. Sg. Adjectival Complement ὁ γέρων νέος οὐ γίνεται 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 222

Nom. Fem. Sg. Subject + Nom. Fem. Sg. Adjectival Complement σαράντα ἡμέρες λείπεται ἄψαλτη ἡ ἐκκλησιά τους 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 768

Nom. Fem. Sg. Subject + Nom. Sg. Nominal Complement (Inherently Feminine)

ἐμείνεν χήρα ἡ κυρὰ ἡ Τσαρλόττα 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. B 32.18

Nom. Masc. Sg. Subject (omitted) + Nom. Sg. Nominal Complements (Inherently Neuter)

καὶ βασιλέως παιδίν ἡμουν, μεγάλου ἀνθρώπου ἐκγόνι 16th c./15th c., Om. Nekl. Vas. 51

- (3) If a transitive verb takes a nominal/adjectival complement attributing a property to its object (normally without the mediation of a copula), the predicate noun or adjective agrees with the object in case, and in number and gender as in Rule (1).

Acc. Masc. Sg. Object + Acc. Sg. Nominal Complement (inherently masculine) πολλὰ τὸν ἔχω εὐκαιρητὴν ἐκεῖνον τὸν γονέα 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 208

Acc. Neut. Sg. Object + Acc. Neut. Sg. Adjectival Complement δεῖξον λοξὸν τὸ βλέμμα 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 170

1.2 Statements

1.2.1 Statements about the Present and the Past

- (4) The indicative mood is used to make a factual statement about the present or the past (for the uses of the different tenses of the indicative, see 4.4); a factual statement is negated with οὐ(κ)/(οὐ)δέν.

Present

λέγω σε τὴν αἰτίαν μου 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 312.10 συναπαντάει μου ὁ Πόθος 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. E 296

Imperfect

ὡς καὶ μαρτύρουν αὐτὰ οἱ καλοὶ ἄνθρωποι
?1125, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 18, 417.7

καὶ δίδαμέν του γέννημαν 16th c./?, Paroim. H 10

Aorist

οὐδὲν ἐπέρασεν ποσῶς καιρὸς μικρὸς κι ὀλίγος 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7944 παρεκάθισε τὴν πόλιν 15th–16th c., ?Peloponnese, SCHREINER 1975/79: 33.III, 252.53.2

NOTE

- (i) The present indicative may be prefixed with νά in vivid narrative. The earliest example in the database is from ca. 13th/14th c. In origin this construction is perhaps a combination of the “historic” present (4.4, Rule 46 and NOTES), employed to bring a story to life “before the reader’s eyes”, with the deictic/presentative particle νά (cf. French voici/voilà), though homophony with the mood marker νά (see 4.3) soon led to “subjunctive” spellings of the verb endings and presumably the conviction that the forms involved were indeed subjunctive:

καὶ τὸ ραβδὶν ἐπαίξαμεν καὶ κονταροκτυποῦμεν· καὶ τὰ φαρία νά πηδοῦν, νά παίζουν τὸ κοντάριν, νά μοιάζῃ πόλεμος σωστὸς καὶ φόνος πρὸς ἀλλήλων 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. V 676–8

1.2.2 Statements about the Future: Possible and Hypothetical Events

Though speakers may be confident about the future occurrence of particular events, the future objectively is an unknown domain and statements about it cannot be strictly factual. “Future events”, i.e. those whose occurrence speakers feel able to predict with confidence, therefore form a continuum with modally qualified “possible events”, i.e. those whose actual or eventual occurrence speakers are in varying degrees unsure about. Forms denoting futurity and different types of modality (epistemic, deontic, etc.) may have a general/atemporal reading alongside the future one: compare, for example, will and may in X will/may happen (tomorrow/in general). In present and past time future and modal forms can both be used to speculate about situations whose factual status the speaker is ignorant of, cf. X may/will be happening (now); X may/will have happened (yesterday). In all cases, “future” will carries greater conviction than modals such as may.

Though any main clause may be tied to a condition, some modal forms effectively presuppose one, whether explicitly stated or contextually implied, e.g. would in [if X happened] Y would happen; [if X were happening] Y would happen/be happening; [if X had happened] Y would have happened. Such “remote” conditions (protases) set up situations for abstract/theoretical consideration, i.e. they are, strictly speaking, atemporal, with no commitment to their occurrence in the past, present or future. But they are often used to speculate about the past, present or future when knowledge is lacking or, in past and present time, to consider counterfactual scenarios when the truth is known. The main clause (apodosis) with its “conditional” verb form denotes the “hypothetical” consequence of the potential or impossible fulfilment of the remote condition. In the absence of an inherent temporal reference point, the event of the main clause is typically taken to be “in the future” relative to that of the condition, which is in turn taken to be “in the past” relative to its consequence. “Past-tense” verb forms are therefore typically used in protases and “future-in-the-past” forms in apodoses. Futures/modals marked as “past”, like would and might, distinguish different degrees of conviction about the likelihood of the consequence, given the prior fulfilment of the remote condition, cf. [if X happened] Y would/might happen.

LMedG/EMG does not distinguish systematically between what “will occur” and what “may/can/shall occur” or between what “would occur” and what “might/could/should occur”. Nor does it systematically distinguish what “would etc. occur” (now/in future) from “what would etc. have occurred” (in the past). It does, however, distinguish the language user’s subjective view of actions as “bounded” (perfective) or “unbounded” (imperfective), and this aspectual distinction partly characterizes the forms used to refer to future and possible/hypothetical events (for verbal aspect, see 4.4). The details of usage are discussed and exemplified below.

1.2.2.1 Verb Forms Denoting Future/Possible Events

- (5) Reference to future/possible events can be made with periphrases consisting of the present tense of the future/modal auxiliaries μέλλω/ἔχω/(ἐ)θέλω + present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective) infinitive; the negative is οὐ(κ)/ (οὐ)δέν, placed before the auxiliary.

Since each auxiliary has its own preferences and restrictions, the three options will be presented separately.

Μέλλω + Infinitive

All examples in the database refer to the future, broadly continuing the ancient use “be going to”:

Present Infinitive

μέλλουσιν ἡμᾶς οἱ διώκοντες φθάνειν 13th-14th c./12th c., Dig. G IV.628 μέλλομεν ἔχειν τὸ ἥμισυ 1232, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 286, 396.6

Aorist Infinitive

πάντες μέλλομεν σταθῆν τὴν φοβερὰν ἡμέραν 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 1755 μέλλομεν εἰσελθεῖν 1232, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 176, 231.30–1

NOTES

- (i) μέλλω + inf. occurs mainly in non-literary, legal and official texts. The present infinitive is favoured in the earlier medieval period and the aorist infinitive in the later medieval period with a consequential blurring of the perfective/imperfective opposition throughout.
- (ii) μέλλω + inf. typically carries a strong deontic nuance of “what shall (certainly) be/ what has to be”.

Ἔχω + Infinitive

The classical meaning is dynamic (“be able”), but the construction also acquired epistemic/potential, deontic and future uses in Late Antiquity and the early Middle Ages.

In the later medieval period, as the corresponding “conditional” εἶχα + infinitive takes on the role of a pluperfect (see 3.3, Rule (34); 4.4), ἔχω in future/modal function is sometimes strengthened through the prefixation of the modal marker ἵνα/νά (with negative μή(ν) placed after the particle). This restricted option is characteristic of lower-register texts and represents the renewal of a form that was increasingly felt to be anomalous with the functional shift of εἶχα + infinitive. It proved to be a temporary expedient, however, and the ἔχω-periphrasis henceforth gives ground steadily to the (ἐ)θέλω-periphrasis (see immediately below).

All examples in the database refer to the future and/or have a generic reading:

Present Infinitive

Ἰλλος ἔχει εἶναι εἰς τὸ παλάτιον 9th c., Theophanes, Chronogr. 127.13 (ed. De Boor) ἀλλ’ ἡμεῖς ἑτέροις ἔχομεν ἀκολουθεῖν 10th c., De ceremoniis II 427.13 (ed. Reiske)

Aorist Infinitive

ἔχεις ... εὐρεῖν καὶ νοήσιν πάντα, ὅτι εὐκολον ἔχουν τὸ νόημα 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 310.10–11 ἐξαλαφρώσειν ἔχεις τοὺς πόρους 16th c./15th c., LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 557

νὰ ἔχω + Infinitive

ἐπεὶ ἔνι γὰρ κί ὁ τόπος σου γυμνὸς ἐκ τὰ φουσσᾶτα, νὰ τὸν ἐπάρουν εὐκολὰ καὶ νὰ τὸν ἔχης χάσει

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4236–7

NOTES

- (i) Use of ἔχω + infinitive as a future had a “low” origin, and though it gained acceptance over time, it is used mainly in literary rather than official texts.
- (ii) Use of ἔχω with both aorist and present infinitives (the latter only rarely) belongs to the early medieval period. Subsequently the aorist infinitive alone is attested, with neutralization of the aspectual contrast.

(‘E)θέλω + Infinitive

The principal ancient meaning was “want” and this option was retained. But future, epistemic/potential and deontic uses are all well established by the later medieval period, when the (ἐ)θέλω-periphrasis begins to take over from ἔχω (see above). With animate subjects it is often difficult or impossible to decide whether the intended force is “want to X” or “will X”.

The majority of examples in the database refer to the future and/or have a generic reading, but a handful of later examples occur with clear reference to the present in inferential/epistemic use:

Future/Generic

Present Infinitive

ἔως τότε γὰρ θέλεις εἶναι εὐγενής

14th c./11th c., Kekaumenos, Strategikon V 298 ccxviii (ed. Roueché) ὅλοι τὸν θέλουσι γελᾶ, μέμφεσται κί ὀνειδίζει

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8185

Aorist Infinitive

τολμήσειν θέλω

?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.5v.11

θέλει ἰδεῖν ὁ λεγόμενος ἀποκρισιάρης

1498, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 2, 41.12

Present (Inferential/Epistemic)

Present Infinitive

κοιμᾶσται θέλει ἀληθινά, γιὰ κεῖνο δὲν προβαίνει

17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. I.19

NOTES

- (i) The θέλω-periphrasis is the only one with a fully developed aspectual contrast in the infinitive, reflecting its normalization within the verbal paradigm as the dominant future form in LMedG. Its partial grammaticalization is associated with the appearance of shortened forms of the auxiliary (θές, θέ(ν), θέμε(ν), θέτε, θέν(ε)) from around the 15th c.

- (ii) This is the only infinitival periphrasis used to denote speculations/inferences about the present, a further reflection of its development as the “regular” future tense of later MedG and EMG.

(6) From ca. 12th–13th c. onwards the infinitival complement may be replaced by a periphrasis consisting of the modal marker ἵνα/νά + present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective) subjunctive; the negative is οὐ(κ)/(οὐ)δέν, placed before the auxiliary.

Future/Generic

Aorist Subjunctive

- τὰ ὅρη ... τὰ μέλλεις νά περάσης 16th c./15th c., DELLAP. Erot. Apokr. 3147 θέλει νά φανῇ ἡ ἀγάπη του 16th c., Dig. P VII.386.24 ἔχει νά τοῦ ἔλθῃ αὐτὸς ὁ θάνατος 1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 14, 35.5–6

Present Subjunctive

- ἡ γνωριμίδα τοὺς κριτάδες θέλει νά ἔνῃ τοιοῦτη 16th c./13th c., Assizes A 52.21

Present (Inferential/Epistemic)

Present Subjunctive

- καὶ αὐτὸς κατὰ θέλει νά ξεύρῃ ποὺ συντυχαίνει ἔτσι 1653–5, Venice, FONKIČ 2000: 240, f.1v.8–9 ἐγὼ γελιῶμαι ... ἡ αὐτὴ θέλει νά εἶναι ἡ μεγαλύτερη τύχη 18th c., Don Kis. 49.16–17 τὸ κοτσὶ θέλει νά εἶναι κανενοῦ στρατοκόπου 18th c., Don Kis. 49.24

NOTES

- (i) This substitution does not affect νά ἔχω + (aorist) infinitive.
(ii) The present subjunctive is very rare with μέλλω νά and ἔχω νά, as expected on the basis of their infinitival counterparts (cf. above). Both these periphrases often have strong deontic overtones.
(iii) Impersonal μέλλει νά (sometimes μέλλεται νά in Crete and Cyprus) and θέλει νά are also found from 14th c., in imitation of the impersonal modal verbs πρέπει, ἐνδέχεται, μπορεῖ (see 4.3). Both these periphrases may again have strong deontic nuances. Impersonal ἔχει νά is very rare.
(iv) Personal θέλω νά in the early part of the later medieval period is normally volitive/modal and so partly distinguished from the mainly “future” θέλω + infinitive. But from ca. 14th c. onwards θέλω νά is also used as a future, albeit less frequently than its infinitival counterpart. In the very late medieval and early modern periods, this periphrasis also acquires inferential/epistemic use with present time reference.
(v) From the 14th c. future/modal θέλω may even be complemented by the modally strengthened infinitival periphrasis νά ἔχω + (aorist) infinitive:
καὶ θέλω νά σᾶς ἔχω εἰπεῖ καὶ νά σᾶς ἀφηγήσω 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 3140

- (vi) θέλω + “bare” subjunctive appears beside θέλω νά + subjunctive from ca. 14th c., both variants sometimes using the shortened forms of the auxiliary:

θέλου<ν> ἀνακατωθοῦ<ν> οὔλοι οἱ Χριστιανοί 1496, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 9, 61.7

- (vii) From θές νά, θέ(ν) νά etc. an invariant θέ νά eventually evolved in the 15th and 16th c., apparently first in southern areas. The modern θά, first attested in late-16th-c. Crete, represents a further reduction of θέ νά:

θέ νά + subj: καὶ ὅλα θέ νά πάψου 16th c., Alex. Rim. 385 θά + subj: σήμερο θά σὲ στερευτῶ 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Panor. I.15

(7) Reference to future/possible events can also be made with the modal particle ἵνα/νά + present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective) subjunctive; the negative is μή(ν)/μηδέν, placed after ἵνα/νά.

This construction goes back to the Roman imperial period, when it originally had deontic/optative force, but it soon evolved into a general marker of the subjunctive mood with a wide variety of modal functions, including the expression of futurity. It is often difficult to distinguish future use from potential/epistemic (“may/can”) or deontic (“should”) uses.

Present Subjunctive

ἐκεῖ νὰ σὲ ἀναμένω 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G IV.211 κάθα χρόνο ... νὰ στέλλη ... μ’ χιλιάδες δουκάτα 1483, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 2, 41.5–6

Aorist Subjunctive

ἔρῳτα καὶ νὰ μάθης 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 137

ἄμα τὸ φορέση, εἰς γῆν νὰ πέση ἐκ τὸ ἄλογον 15th–16th c./13th–14th c., Liv. α 2992–3 ἀπὸ τοῦ νῦν καὶ ἔμπροσθεν Φράγκος νὰ μὴ μᾶς βιάσῃ ν’ ἀλλάξωμεν τὴν πίστιν μας 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2093–4

NOTES

- (i) Νὰ (μή(ν)) + subjunctive may also be read as a command or a wish if the context permits (see Rules (13), (14) and (20)).
- (ii) Use of this construction as a future declines during the later medieval period as the θέλω-periphrasis and its later reflexes become more dominant in this function.
- (iii) In strong denials οὐ μή(ν) + subjunctive may be used; νά is normally absent, but if used, follows the negation:

1 sg. ποτέ σας ἀπ’ ἐμοῦ ρόγαν οὐ μὴ σᾶς δώσω 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5116

2 sg. ἀπάνω εἰς τὴν ψυχίτσα μου δόλον οὐ μὴ νὰ ἔχης 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4065

3 sg. ἂν δὲ ζητήσης ... γυναῖκαν νὰ μὲ πάρης, οὐ μὴ θελήσῃ ὁ πατέρας σου 15th c./14th–15th c., Achil. L 649

- (8) At the very end of the period covered by this Grammar speculative/inferential reference to the past (= “will have done X (I suppose)”) may be made using θέλει, probably impersonally in all cases, + aorist indicative.

πλήν ... εἰς Κορυφούς θέλει ἀλλάχθησαν

1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 304, f.1v.13–14

θέλει ἐμετέβαλεν αὐτοὺς τοὺς γίγαντας εἰς εἶδος ἀνεμομύλων

18th c., Don Kis. 46.15–16

1.2.2.2 Verb Forms Denoting Hypothetical/Conditional Events

As we have seen, hypothetical conditions and their consequences can be used to speculate “theoretically” about the past, present and future, or “counterfactually” about the past and present. Languages differ, however, in the extent to which real-world time reference is marked in the “conditional” verb forms employed. LMedG/EMG makes no clear temporal distinctions in such cases (the “past tense” of the protasis and the “future-in-the-past” of the apodosis being mutually relative tenses, see above), and relies instead on choice of aspect and context.

Verb forms built to the present/imperfective or aorist/perfective stems are used to reflect the speaker’s decision to present an eventuality as unbounded (e.g. continuous/progressive/habitual) or bounded (i.e. a single complete whole). Reference to the present moment, which “progresses” with time, is normally made with an imperfective form on its “progressive” reading, and reference to “general” states of affairs with an imperfective form on its “habitual” reading, cf. X is happening (now) with X happens (usually). By contrast, though past and future eventualities may readily be viewed both imperfectively and perfectly, the perfective view is the default case. Thus a LMedG/EMG conditional expression containing an imperfective verb form is typically taken to refer to the present or to a general state of affairs, and one containing a perfective form to the past or the future, with the context discriminating between the two temporal readings. But it is important to remember that this is not necessarily so and that past and future events may also be viewed imperfectively (as continuous/progressive or habitual), just as actions in the present may be viewed perfectly. Equally, some conditional periphrases, like their future counterparts, do not display a full aspectual contrast, and in these cases the reader is required to fall back on context alone.

The following examples of the conditional periphrasis with εἴχα, which is used almost exclusively with aorist/perfective infinitives, should help to clarify. The same construction may be understood in context to refer to the past, present or future:

Past

ἔάν ... οὐδὲν ἦλθεν ..., οὐδὲν εἶχεν ἐξαναστρέψει 16th c./13th c., Assizes A 91.26–7

“if he had not come (then), he would not have returned (later)”

Present

ἄν οὐ σέ ᾔαπουν τὰ πολλά, τώρα σκοτώσει σέ ᾔα

15th–16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. N 1571

“if I didn’t love you so much, I would kill you now”

Future

ἂν ἤξερες πῶς ἄφτουσι τὰ φύλλα τῆς καρδιᾶς μου ... κρίνω πῶς μ’ εἶχες κλαίγει ...

CHORTATISIS, Katz. I.2-3

“if you were to know..., I think that you would weep for me”

- (9) Reference to hypothetical events can be made with a conditional periphrasis consisting of the imperfect tense of the future/modal auxiliaries ἔμελλα/εἶχα/ἦθελα + present (imperfective) infinitive or aorist (perfective) infinitive; the negative is οὐ(κ)/(οὐ)δέν, placed before the auxiliary.

Ἔμελλον/ἔμελλα + Infinitive

Present Infinitive

ἐν τῷ ἐσθίειν τὴν Ἀγάπην ἔμελλεν κλαίειν 12th c./11th c., ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 2 150.9

μέλλει διαδέχεσθαι 1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 16, 210.43

Aorist Infinitive

τούτους ἔμελλεν γὰρ κτεῖναι 15th c./14th c., ΕΡΜΟΝ., Ilias 3.171 ἔμελλον προσμεῖναι εἰς τὴν Τραπεζοῦντα 16th c./15th c., SFRANTZIS, Chron. 108.12

NOTES

- (i) This is very much a residual construction in later medieval Greek, used mainly with aorist (perfective) infinitives and typically with a strong deontic nuance (“should/should have”).
- (ii) From ca. 14th–15th c. the infinitive may be replaced by νά + present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective) subjunctive, the former largely restricted to inherently stative verbs that lack aorist stems.
- (iii) Impersonal ἔμελλε νά (ἐμέλλετον νά in the south-west) is a common option, and is occasionally complemented by a past-tense indicative (imperfect or aorist) in place of a subjunctive.

Εἶχον/εἶχα + Infinitive

Present Infinitive

ἀγωνιᾶν εἶχες καὶ ἀδημονεῖν 14th c./11th c., Kekaumenos, Strategikon 296, 13–14 (ed. Litavrin) παρηγοριὰ δὲν εἶχε ἔσται τούτῃ στὰ βάσανά μου 17th c./16th c., CHORTATISIS, Panor. I.183

Aorist Infinitive

οὐκ ἂν εἰς οἶκον μάς ποτε εἶχετε πορευθῆναι 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G I.275 τὴν βασιλείαν τῶν Ρωμαίων κληρονομῆσειν εἶχεν 15th c./14th c., Velis. χ 371–2

NOTES

- (i) Present (imperfective) infinitives are increasingly rare with εἶχον/εἶχα in the later medieval period, and the verbs attested tend to be inherently stative, i.e. without aorist (perfective) stems.
- (ii) The majority of examples of εἶχον/εἶχα + inf. in the later medieval period occur in the protases of hypothetical/counterfactual conditional sentences, where the shift to pluperfect use originated (see 3.3 and 4.4), and most of the examples in main clauses follow an overt conditional of this type, i.e. as apodoses.
- (iii) Εἶχον/εἶχα νά + subjunctive (aorist) is a rare variant, occurring in texts from southern areas.
- (iv) Εἶχον/εἶχα + “bare” subjunctive (present or aorist) occurs in late medieval/early modern texts from south-western regions; impersonal εἶχε is also attested in a handful of early modern texts from this area.
- (v) Εἶχον/εἶχα + a past-tense indicative (imperfect, more rarely aorist) is also found on occasion.
- (vi) Εἶχον/εἶχα + infinitive may be strengthened through prefixation of the modality marker νά (negative μή(ν) after the particle).

Ἦθελον/ἦθελα + Infinitive

Present Infinitive

ἡθέλαμεν ἔχει καὶ ὀλιγότερον κόπον εἰς τὰς γραφάς

1456, Patras, MALTEZOU 1983: 2, 22.9

ἦθελα βλέπει κείνηνε

15th–16th c./15th c., Theseid III.75,6 (1529)

Aorist Infinitive

οὐδέναν (βιβλίον) ἦθελεν εὐρεθῆ ?post 1356, Berat/Albania, ALEXOULIS 1892: 1, 276.18

στραφῆν ἦθέλαν ἄπρακτοι

15th c./14th c., Velis. χ 215

NOTES

- (i) The imperfective/perfective aspectual contrast is well established in this periphrasis, with the present (imperfective) infinitive used much more widely than with μέλλω/ἔχω, even with non-stative verbs.
- (ii) Ἦθελον/ἦθελα νά + present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective) subjunctive mainly has a volitive meaning, but is sometimes also used as a conditional, particularly in texts after 15th c.
- (iii) From ca. 14th c. ἦθελον/ἦθελα may be complemented by bare subjunctives, present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective). Impersonal ἦθελε(ν) also occurs from 15th c. Occasionally this combination is prefixed with the modality marker νά:

καὶ ἃ μοῦ ἦθελε λείπει καὶ τούτη, φόρσα νά ἦθελα ντεσπεραριστῶ

1625, Crete (Chandax), MAVROMATIS 1986, 6, 79.14–15

- (iv) The modally strengthened combination $\nu\alpha\ \xi\chi\omega$ + (aorist) infinitive may also be used to complement $\eta\theta\epsilon\lambda\omicron\nu/\eta\theta\epsilon\lambda\alpha$:

$\eta\theta\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\ \nu\alpha\ \xi\chi\eta\ \alpha\pi\omicron\chi\omega\rho\eta\sigma\epsilon\iota$

15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 5785

- (v) $\eta\theta\epsilon\lambda\omicron\nu/\eta\theta\epsilon\lambda\alpha$ ($\pm \nu\alpha$) may also be complemented by past-tense indicatives (imperfect, less commonly aorist), especially in texts from the Heptanese.
- (vi) A reduced/invariable form $\eta\theta\epsilon(\nu)$, usually with a bare subjunctive complement, is attested in mainly later texts from southern areas.

(10) Reference to hypothetical events can also be made with the modal particle $\iota\nu\alpha/\nu\alpha$ + imperfect (past imperfective) indicative or aorist (past perfective) indicative; the negative is $\mu\eta(\nu)/\mu\eta\delta\acute{\epsilon}\nu$ placed after the particle.

$\nu\alpha$ + Imperfect

$\alpha\tilde{\nu}\ \dots\ \kappa'\ \acute{\epsilon}\nu\acute{\iota}\kappa\eta\sigma\acute{\epsilon}\ \mu\epsilon\ \epsilon\iota\varsigma\ \pi\acute{o}\lambda\epsilon\mu\omicron\nu,\ \pi\alpha\rho\eta\gamma\omicron\rho\acute{\iota}\alpha\nu$

$\nu\alpha\ \tau\acute{o}\ \epsilon\acute{\iota}\chi\alpha$

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5005–7

$\sigma\tau\eta\nu\ \mu\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\eta\nu\ \tau\omicron\upsilon\ \nu\alpha\ \xi\beta\alpha\nu\epsilon\varsigma\ \acute{\omega}\rho\alpha\acute{\iota}\omicron\nu\ \delta\alpha\kappa\tau\upsilon\lambda\iota\delta\acute{\iota}\tau\sigma\iota\nu$

16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. O 63

$\kappa\iota\ \acute{\alpha}\varsigma\ \eta\mu\omicron\nu\ \rho\omicron\gamma\epsilon\mu\acute{\epsilon}\nu\omicron\varsigma,\ \nu\alpha\ \acute{\tau}\rho\omega\gamma\alpha\ \kappa\alpha\acute{\iota}$

$\nu\alpha\ \chi\acute{o}\rho\tau\alpha\iota\nu\alpha$

17th c./16th c., CHORTATSIS, Katz. III.108–9

$\nu\alpha$ + Aorist

$\kappa\alpha\acute{\iota}\ \acute{o}\ \beta\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\pi\omega\nu\ \nu\alpha\ \epsilon\acute{\iota}\delta\epsilon\nu\ \acute{\epsilon}\nu\omega\sigma\iota\nu\ \acute{\alpha}\sigma\tau\acute{\epsilon}\rho\omega\nu$

$\delta\acute{\upsilon}\omicron\ \mu\epsilon\gamma\acute{\alpha}\lambda\omega\nu$

?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.4r.3

$\alpha\tilde{\nu}\ \dots\ \acute{o}\ \pi\rho\acute{\iota}\gamma\kappa\iota\pi\tau\alpha\varsigma\ \dots\ \nu\alpha\ \epsilon\acute{\iota}\chi\epsilon\ \dots\ \kappa\omicron\upsilon\rho\sigma\acute{\epsilon}\psi\epsilon\iota\ \dots,\ \acute{o}$

$\mu\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\alpha\varsigma\ \acute{o}\ \Delta\epsilon\mu\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\tau\iota\kappa\omicron\varsigma\ \acute{\alpha}\rho\gamma\acute{\alpha}\ \nu\alpha\ \acute{\epsilon}\phi\omicron\upsilon\sigma\sigma\alpha\tau\acute{\epsilon}\psi\epsilon\nu$

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4876–80

$\acute{\epsilon}\tilde{\alpha}\nu\ \epsilon\acute{\iota}\chi\alpha\mu\epsilon\nu\ \tau\eta\nu\ \delta\acute{\upsilon}\nu\alpha\mu\iota\nu,\ \nu\alpha\ \acute{\epsilon}\pi\omicron\iota\eta\sigma\alpha\mu\epsilon\nu\ \tau\acute{o}\ \acute{o}\mu\acute{\alpha}\tau\zeta\iota\omicron\nu!$

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7910

$\nu\alpha\ \acute{\tau}\pi\epsilon\varsigma\ \omicron\upsilon\kappa\ \acute{\epsilon}\phi\acute{\alpha}\nu\eta\sigma\alpha\nu\ \pi\omicron\tau\acute{\epsilon}\ \sigma\tau\acute{o}\nu\ \kappa\acute{o}\sigma\mu\omicron\nu$

15th c., Rim. than. 52 ms

(11) The bare imperfect indicative is also used as a conditional, usually, though not invariably, when a co-occurring conditional clause indicates the required (hypothetical) reading; the negative is $\omicron\upsilon(\kappa)/(\omicron\upsilon)\delta\acute{\epsilon}\nu$.

$\acute{\epsilon}\tilde{\alpha}\nu\ \mu\acute{\alpha}\varsigma\ \pi\alpha\rho\alpha\tau\rho\acute{\epsilon}\psi\omicron\nu\nu,\ \acute{\epsilon}\chi\acute{\alpha}\nu\alpha\mu\epsilon\nu\ \tau\acute{o}\nu\ \pi\acute{o}\lambda\epsilon\mu\omicron\nu$

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5368–9

$\acute{o}\lambda\acute{\iota}\gamma\omicron\upsilon\varsigma\ \kappa\alpha\lambda\lambda\iota\acute{\omega}\tau\epsilon\rho\omicron\upsilon\varsigma\ \eta\acute{\upsilon}\rho\iota\sigma\kappa\epsilon\varsigma\ \tau\omicron\upsilon\ \aleph\epsilon\sigma\tau\acute{o}\rho\omicron\upsilon$

15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1451

$\alpha\tilde{\nu}\ \epsilon\acute{\iota}\chi\epsilon\ \zeta\eta\ \acute{o}\ \acute{\epsilon}\kappa\tau\omicron\rho\alpha\varsigma\ \dots,\ \omicron\upsilon\kappa\ \acute{\epsilon}\phi\omicron\beta\omicron\upsilon\mu\epsilon\theta\alpha\nu\ \nu\alpha$

$\chi\acute{\alpha}\sigma\omega\mu\epsilon\nu\ \acute{\alpha}\pi'\ \alpha\acute{\upsilon}\tau\omicron\upsilon\varsigma$

15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 9871–2

$\alpha\tilde{\nu}\ \epsilon\acute{\iota}\chi\epsilon\nu\ \tau\acute{o}\ \xi\epsilon\acute{\upsilon}\rho\epsilon\iota\nu\ \acute{o}\ \acute{\alpha}\pi\omicron\sigma\tau\omicron\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma\ \dots,\ \delta\acute{\epsilon}\nu$

$\acute{\alpha}\phi\eta\grave{\nu}\epsilon\nu\ \nu\alpha\ \tau\omicron\upsilon\varsigma\ \pi\acute{\alpha}\rho\epsilon\iota$

16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 32.7–8

NOTES

- (i) Less commonly, the aorist indicative is also used as a conditional. Since the action described in the main clause cannot precede that of the conditional clause in real time, the aorist here can only be interpreted as denoting a hypothetical/counterfactual consequence of the fulfilment of the condition:

ἂν μόνον ἀνενδράνισες, τὸ πρόσωπον ἂν εἶδες, ἐσείσθης ὅλην σου ψυχὴν, ὅλην σου τὴν καρδίαν

16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 817–18

μ' ἂν εἶχεν εἶσται κι ἄσκημος, τότες, τὴν ὥρα κείνη σὰν ἦβαλε τὸν πόθο της, πολλα ὁμορφος ἐγίνη

18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. II.549–50

- (ii) Conditional use of the imperfect arises from confusion of past habituality with conditionality, as also reflected in the two uses of English would, cf. if ever X happened (at any times in the past/at any times in the non-past), Y would happen. This is based on a failure to distinguish between real and relative time reference in conditional sentences and on the temporal non-specificity of both repeated/habitual and “pure” hypothetical eventualities (i.e. when not tied speculatively/counterfactually to real-world situations). Contrast the following example with those cited above:

κι ἂν ἦθε φάγω τὸ φαγί, εἰς πίκρα ἦφερνέ με κι ἂν ἦθε πιῶ καὶ τὸ πιστόν, εἰς ζάλη γύριζε με

17th c., PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 103–4

Here the “conditional” in the protasis has a habitual sense and the imperfect in the apodosis denotes a series of events at indefinite intervals in the past. In LMedG/EMG the “habitual” imperfect was extended to conditional use just as “conditionals” were sometimes extended to habitual use.

- (iii) The conditional imperfect is used wherever other conditional forms occur, and as a consequence, though its form is necessarily invariant, it may carry both imperfective and perfective readings.

1.3 Commands and Prohibitions

(12) Commands in the second person, singular and plural, may be expressed by the imperative, present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective).

2 sg. Present Imperative πρὸ πάντων ἔχε τοῦ θεοῦ τὸν φόβον

13th–14th c./12th c., Spaneas P 1

2 pl. Present Imperative

τοῖνυν ὑπάγετε καλῶς

16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 242

2 sg. Aorist Imperative ἄπαξ τὸν πόνον ἔπαρε καὶ ἀπομερίμνησέ το

13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 212

2 pl. Aorist Imperative

δεκτεῖτε καὶ ἐμένα

16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 350.20

NOTE

- (i) The aspectual contrast in imperatives is between ordering repeated or continuing activity (or the inception of such activity = “start doing X”) and ordering specific, complete actions. There may, however, be morphological gaps in the paradigms of particular verbs that restrict the options in specific cases.

(13) Commands may also be expressed by the modal particle νά + present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective) subjunctive; 2nd-person forms are broadly equivalent to imperatives, but 3rd-person forms are also widely used, often in legal contexts such as wills etc.

2 sg. Present Subjunctive νά τὸ ἐξεύρης ὅτι ἡμεῖς μέλλομεν τοῦ ἀπελθεῖν

14th c., Cyprus, KODER et al. 2001: 245, 436.164–5

2 pl. Present Subjunctive νά ἡξεύρετε ... ὅτι ἐγὼ τοῦ Ἰδοῦ τὰ καταχθόνια ἀφόρισα

16th c., Diig. Alex. F 12.2–3 (Konstantinopulos)

2 sg. Aorist Subjunctive τὴν ἐπιστολὴν ... νά τὴν πέμψῃς τὸν ἀββᾶν Γεράσιμον

12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 314.15–16

2 pl. Aorist Subjunctive

νά σπουδάξετε νά ἔλθετε

1508, Ios, PATRAMANI 1989/90: 3, 174.45

3 sg. Present Subjunctive καὶ ἡ ἐκκλησία νά δίδῃ τὴν λύσιν

ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 33.80–1

3 pl. Present Subjunctive

ὅλα νά τὰ ἔχουν χωρὶς τινὸς λόγου

1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.25–6

3 sg. Aorist Subjunctive

οἷος δὲ φανῇ εἰς ἀναζήτησιν ... νά δώσῃ καὶ πρόστιμαν

13th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 20, 9.6–7

3 pl. Aorist Subjunctive

νά μὲ λαζαρώσουν ὥσπερ τοὺς ὅλους καλογέρους

ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.52

NOTES

- (i) The sense of νά + subjunctive in deontic use is similar to that of the English future/conditional in related function, cf. you, s/he, they shall/should do X. But it may be hard to distinguish commands from wishes in specific cases (cf. 1.5), and in 3 sg./pl. the deontic meaning is also very close to that of ἄς + subjunctive (see Rule (15) NOTE (ii) below).

- (ii) 2 pl. imperatives and 2 pl. subjunctives may be indistinguishable if traditional “subjunctive” spellings are not employed in a given text; there is therefore some indeterminacy about the relevant examples.
- (iii) Periphrastic forms used to refer to the future (see 1.2.2, Rules (5) and (6)) may also be used deontically, as expected. In this case 1 sg./pl. forms of the relevant auxiliaries are used alongside those of 2nd/3rd person, though it is often difficult to distinguish expressions of obligation or necessity from assertions of future intent, cf. I must/will do X:

περάσειν ἔχω ... τὸ ποτάμι 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 1532 καὶ τοῦτο θέλει νὰ γένῃ 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 285.5–6 σήμερο ... ἔχω ν' ἀποθάνω 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Erof. V.285

- (14) Corresponding prohibitions are sometimes expressed with μή(ν)/μηδέν and the present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective) imperative, though the aorist is exceedingly rare; prohibitions are regularly expressed by μή(ν)/μηδέν + present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective) subjunctive, sometimes prefixed with νά.

Imperative

Present Imperative

καὶ μὴ λογίζου παρ' ἡμῶν λυπηρὸν ὑποστῆναι 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G IV.699 τότε μὴ ζητεῖ φυσικῆς ἀκολουθίας τάξιν 16th c./15th c., DELLAP. Erot. apokr. 2986 μὴ θέλε μανθάνειν ἢ ἀκούειν 15th–16th c., Vios Aisop. E 288.18 ὅπου φιλεῖς μὴ δάνειζε, καὶ ὅπου ἀγαπᾷς μὴ σύχναζε 16th c./15th c., Paroim. H 13

Aorist Imperative

μὴ ... κρίνατε κρίσιν 16th c./15th c., DELLAP. Erot. apokr. 1120 μὴ γένε σὺ ἀνελεήμονος 16th c., Diig. Alex. K 365.32

NOTE

- (i) Μή + aorist imperative was ungrammatical in AG and the number of possible examples in the Grammar database is very small. We may reasonably doubt whether this was ever a “normal” option in LMedG/EMG.

Bare Subjunctive

Present Subjunctive

κανεῖς μὴ σὲ κομπῶνῃ 15th c./12th c., Ptoch. (Maiuri) 45 παγαίνετε ἀπὸ τὸν τόπον μου, ἐδῶ μηδὲν ἀργῆτε 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1418 app. crit. (A)

Aorist Subjunctive

καὶ μὴ τολμήσης νὰ τὸ εἰπῇς ἀνθρώπου γεννημένου 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8217 μηδὲν πέψης ἄτυχους καὶ χάσης πολλά 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 22.35–6

Νὰ μὴ(ν) + Subjunctive

Present Subjunctive

καὶ νὰ μὴ φοβᾶται καὶ αὐτός 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.8

Aorist Subjunctive

ποσῶς νὰ μὴ ἀλαζονευτῇς 15th–16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. N 937

NOTE

- (i) In 3 sg./pl. forms the meaning is very close to that of ἄς μὴ(ν) + subjunctive (see Rule (15) NOTE (ii)).

- (15) Speaker-inclusive “exhortation” in 1 pl. and speaker-exclusive “encouragement” in 3rd person (normally with overtones of permission/acquiescence) are expressed with the particle ἄς (< aorist imperative of ἀφήνω “let”) + present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective) subjunctive; the negative is μὴ(ν), placed after the particle.

1 pl.

βουλὴ ἄς ἔχωμε ἀμφοτέρω 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2838 ἐνταῦτα στρέμμα ἄς ποιήσωμεν ἀπέσω εἰς τὴν Πόλιν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 838 ἄς ποῦμεν ἄλλον τίβοτας νὰ πάρω σὰν ἄερα 16th c./15th c., FALIEROS, Log. did. 257

3 sg./pl.

καὶ ὁ χρήζων το ἄς τὸ ἐπάρη καὶ ὁ μὴ χρήζων το ἄς τὸ ἀφήση 12th c./11th c., ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 312.14–15

οἷος δὲ φανῇ εἰς ἀναζήτησιν ..., ἄς ἔχη τὸ ἀνάθεμα 13th c., Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 20, 9.6–7

πάντες ἄς ἔλθωσιν, ἄς φθάσωσιν, ἄς περισυναχθῶσιν 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. V 17

NOTES

- (i) The present (imperfective) subjunctive is comparatively rare in this construction, and occurs mostly with verbs that lack an aorist (perfective) stem.
- (ii) In 3 sg./pl. forms the meaning of ἄς + subjunctive tends to merge with that of νὰ + subjunctive, cf. [if X happens], let him do Y/he should do Y, and consider the following example where the two types are conjoined:

ἄς ἔχη τὸ ἀνάθεμα καὶ νὰ δώση καὶ πρόστιμα

Pontos, 13th c., OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 20, 9.6–7

1.4 Questions and Exclamations

1.4.1 Questions

(16) Constituent questions (introduced by an expression containing an interrogative pronoun/adverb) regularly use forms of the indicative, including “future” and “conditional” periphrases, with negative οὐ(κ)/(οὐ)δέν.

For questions containing verb forms marked with νά, see Rule (18).

The phrase containing the interrogative element normally functions as a single constituent and stands initially in its clause; the verb is often attracted, coming immediately after it (only weak object pronouns may intervene). Occasionally, however, the interrogative pronoun/adverb stands alone in initial position, leaving the remainder of the interrogative constituent in place.

Present

τί θλίβεσαι τοσούτως; 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4903 τίντα δίκαιον ἔχει ὁ ρήγας μετά σας ...; 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 258.35–6

Past (Aorist)

πῶς ἡ καρδιά σου ἐβάσταξεν, ὑπόμεινε ἡ ψυχή σου ...; 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 12227 πῶς μᾶς ἐπαρατήθητε ...; 16th c., GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 70

Future/Modal

ποια μέλλει νά ᾔχη πλερωμή ἡ ἐδική μου ἀγάπη; 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Panor. IV.178

πῶς ἔχω νά τὸ χώσω; 17th c., KONDAR., Paidēs 322

NOTES

- (i) Since all the future-referring periphrases also have modal readings (see Rule (5)), there is uncertainty about the interpretation of many examples.
- (ii) Constituent questions may also contain various forms of conditional periphrasis, as expected (see Rule (9)), with related uncertainties of interpretation:

ἂν ἔλειπε ἡ πανιερότης σου, ἴτα εἶχα ἐγὼ γίνει;
1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.15–16

- (iii) Rhetorical questions have the same form as genuine requests for information:

ἀφότου ἔφυγεν δίχα νά πολεμήση ..., πῶς ἠμποροῦμε ἡμεῖς ... νά βλάψωμεν τὸν τόπον;
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 9177–81

(17) Yes/no questions also employ indicatives, including future/modal and conditional periphrases; negation with οὐ(κ)/(οὐ)δέν forms a question that expects a positive answer; μή(ν)/μήνα (“perhaps”, “by any chance”) may be prefixed to a yes/no question for politeness.

For questions containing verb forms marked with νά, see Rule (18).

Positive

ἤκουσές το; ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973, 59.148 ἔχουν μισόν; post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 44, 38.4–5

Negative

οὐ ξεύρεις εἰς ἐριζικὸν κοίτεται ἡ στρατεία; 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4904 οὐδὲν ἐντρέπεστε ποσῶς νὰ παίζωμε ὥς κοπέλια; 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5394

+ μήν(α)

μήνα ᾗεις τίποτες βιβλίο νέο νὰ μοῦ πουλήσης; 16th c., ZINOS, Vatr. Prol. 1 μήν εἶδες, ἄγιε τοῦ Θεοῦ, καμία ... γυναῖκα ... νὰ περάση; 17th c., MONTSEL., Evgena 1187–8

NOTE

- (i) It is a moot point whether the verb forms used after μήν(α) should be regarded as simple indicatives (as with SMG μήπως in this role), or as modal (as perhaps reflected in the variant μήνα if this is indeed < μή + νὰ rather than a remodelling based on the use of semantically related elements such as τάχα).

(18) Questions of both kinds about the future also use νὰ + present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective) subjunctive, with negative μή(ν) placed after the particle; the same construction is used for deliberative/speculative questions and the usual uncertainties of interpretation arise (“who will X?”, “who is to X?”, “who can/may X?” etc.).

The phrase containing the interrogative pronoun/adverb normally functions as a single constituent and stands initially in its clause; the verb is often attracted, coming immediately after it (only νὰ, μή(ν) and weak object pronouns may intervene).

ποῖον μαντάτον νὰ ὑπάγωμεν τὴν ταπεινὴν μας μάνα; 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 93

ποῦ νὰ κρυβοῦν τὰ κάλλη σου ... καὶ πότε ... νὰ σὲ δῶ, πότε νὰ σὲ συντύχω, πότε ... νὰ φιλήσω τὰ ἔρωτικά σου κάλλη; 15th c., Achil. L 1307–9 ἴντα βουλή νὰ κάμωμε, τί στράτα νὰ κρατοῦμε ...; 16th c., Fyll. gadar. 10a ἂν πάθης ἐσὺ τίποτες, τίς νὰ μὲ παρηγορήσῃ;

16th c., Diig. Alex. F 26.15 (Konstantinopulos) νὰ εἶναι οἱ ἄνθρωποι ἐτοῦτοι θεοί; 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 40.4–6 (Konstantinopulos) τοῦτοι ... τάχα νὰ εἶναι ἄνθρωποι; 16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 111.36–7

NOTE

- (i) Various forms of conditional may also be used in deliberative/speculative questions about the past, present or future, again with the usual uncertainties of interpretation:

τὰ σκεύη τὰ πανάγια καὶ ποῦ νὰ καταντήσαν; 15th c., Anak. Konst. 1–11 ποῖον νὰ εἶχε πάσῃ καὶ ὁ ἀγᾶς; ποῖον νὰ ἤθελε φονέψῃ; 17th c., BOUBOULIS, Limbon. 423

1.4.2 Exclamations

(19) Interrogative pronouns/adverbs may be used with adjectives and adverbs to form exclamations; the verb is indicative if one is present.

τί φοβερός ὁ τόπος ἐτοῦτος! 16th c., Pent. Gen. 28.17 ἴντα κανίσκιν ἄσκημο μ' ἔχεις κανισκεμένη! 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Erof. V.398 πόσον καλά ὅπου ἔκαμεν ὁ πατέρας σου! 17th c., Bertoldin. 129.1–2

NOTE

(i) Other forms of exclamation include the following:

νά + subjunctive:

νά λέουν ὁκάποιος φτωχὸς ... ἐνίκησεν τοῦ βασιλέως τὸν ἀδελφὸν ... !
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5008–9

“to have people say that some pauper defeated the king’s brother!”

καλά “well” (used ironically) followed by a clause introduced by the “factive” complementizer πού (see 2.1, Rule (24)):

καλά πού τίς γνωρίζω! 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Katz. I.93

1.5 Wishes

(20) Wishes for the future use νά + present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective) subjunctive; the negative is μή(ν) placed after the particle. Since this construction also has a wide range of future/modal readings (see Rules (7), (13), (14)), ἄμποτε(ς) or μακάρι(ον) may be prefixed for clarity.

1 sg. νά μηδέ τῆς μητέρας μου εὐχὴν κληρονομήσω 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 907

2 sg. βίον εἰρηνικὸν νά ζήσης, νά περάσης 17th c., PETRITSIS, Dig. O Prol. 5

3 sg. καὶ ὅστις εὐρέθη ἐμποδίζειν ... νά ἔχη τὸ ἀνάθεμα παρὰ πατρός υἱοῦ καὶ ἀγίου πνεύματος 1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 5, 619.4–6 κακὸν νά μή σᾶς ἔλθῃ 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1440

ἡ γευχὴ τοῦ πανιερότη σου νά μ' ἀξιῶσῃ νά ἔρθω
1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 5, 173.21–2

3 pl. Κύριε Θεέ, ... θηρία νά μὲ διαμοιραστοῦν 15th c./12th c., Dig E 902–4

+ ἄμποτε

2 sg. ἄμποτε ... νά πάρῃς καλορριζικίαν, ἄμποτε καὶ τοῦ στέμματος νά γένῃς κληρονόμος, νά μηδέ πάρῃς θάνατον 15th c./14th–15th c., Achil. L 238–43

3 sg. ἄμποτε νά παρακληθῇ 15th c./12th c., Dig E 1353

- all pl. ἄμποτε νά γράψω, νά γράψοις, νά γράψοι· ἄμποτε νά γράψωμεν, νά γράψαιτε, νά γράψουν 16th c., SOFIANOS, Grammar 55.16–17
- + μακάρι
- 2 sg. μαγάρι νά ῥῃς στράτα 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. IV.214
- 3 sg. μακάρι μὴ λουρδίζεται μετὰ [δισ]σὰ ματίτσια 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 241
- μακάρι μὴ νοήση 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 420
- μαγάρι ἐδὰ νά συβαστή, μαγάρι νά τὸ θέλῃ, μαγάρι ἐσένα ... γυναῖκα νά σοῦ μέλλῃ 18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAOS, Erot. V.227–8

NOTES

- (i) The negative μή(ν) may sometimes be used without a preceding νά, as in the examples with μακάρι above and often also in 1 sg./pl. wishes, where the “strong” negative οὐ μή(ν) can be employed; since οὐ μή(ν) is also used in strong denials (cf. Rule (7) NOTE (iii)), the reader must be alert to the requirements of the context:

- καὶ οὐ μὴ μεμφθῶ τέως εἰς τοῦτο παρὰ τῆς ἀγιωσύνης σου 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 312.4–5
- καὶ οὐ μὴ χαρῶ τὴν περισσὴν ἀγάπην ἐδική σου 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 908
- μαντᾶτον οὐ μὴ μάθωμεν, ὅταν σᾶς θέλουν σφάζει 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1441
- φύγε ἀπὸ τὰ ὀμμάτια μου καὶ μὴν σέ ἰδῶ πλέον 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 37.21–3

- (ii) The aorist (perfective) subjunctive is far more common in wishes than the present (imperfective) subjunctive, which occurs regularly only with verbs that lack an aorist stem or at least make little use of their aorist stem.
- (iii) Given the semantic overlaps (cf. Rule (15) NOTE (ii)), ἄς sometimes appears in place of νά, though it is often impossible to discriminate between a wish and an expression of permission/encouragement:

- ἄς γένεταί κατάρθεσις με τοῦ Θεοῦ τὸν φόβον 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7921

(21) Less hopeful wishes for the future and counterfactual wishes for the present and past use νά + the imperfect/aorist indicative (see Rule (10)) or νά + one of the infinitival conditional periphrases (see Rule (9)). The negative is μή(ν), and the particle νά may be omitted when the negative is present; once again, ἄμποτε(ς) or μακάρι(ον) may be prefixed.

νά + Past Indicative

- imperf. 1 sg. νά ῥεῦρα πιδὸν τὴν σωτηριάν 16th c./15th–16th c., Cypr. Canz. 100.31
- imperf. 2 sg. σ' τοῦτους τοὺς γάμους νά ῥου, νά θώρειες τὰ παλάτια σου, νά βλεπες τὰ παιδιὰ σου 17th c., TROILOS, Rodol. IV.83–4

- imperf. 3 sg. νὰ ἦσουν πούπετες 17th c., MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1531
- imperf. 3 pl. νὰ γιανγέρνασι οἱ χρόν' οἱ περασμένοι
17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Panor. I.255
- aor. 1 sg. σήμερον νὰ ἀπόθανα 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 159
- aor. 3 sg. ὁ Θεὸς μὴ τὸ ἔποικεν! 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5368 καὶ ὁ Κύριος νὰ ἀφῆκε ζωὴ του χρόνους πολλούς 1383, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 89, 98.1–4 νὰ μοῦ ἐποίησεν ὁ Θεὸς ἐτουτηνὰν τὴν χάριν 15th c., Peri xen. 237

νὰ + Conditional Periphrasis

- 2 sg. νὰ ᾗς μ' ἀφήσειν πάντα κοιμισμένοι 16th c./15th–16th c., Cypr. Canz. 12.11 νὰ ἤθελες ἐβλέπη τόσα κακὰ ποῦ κάμνουσιν ... τότε νὰ ἤθελες ἰδεῖ, νὰ ἤθελες πιστεύσῃ, τοὺς ἄτυχους ἤθελες ξολοθρεύσῃ 17th c., MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1531–4
- 3 sg. νὰ ᾗεν ἀστράψει ὁ οὐρανός, νὰ ᾗε καγῆν ἡ ὥρα ὅταν ἐμένα ἐγέννησεν ἡ ταπεινὴ μου μάνα 15th c., Peri xen. 186–7 νὰ ᾗεν βρεθῆν κακὸν θεργιόν, ἐκεῖνον νὰ ᾗεν φάγειν 17th–18th c./17th c., KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 70

+ ἄμποτε

- 1 pl. ἄμποτε νὰ ἀξιώθην καὶ ἡμεῖς νὰ ἐπηγαίναμεν ἐκεῖ ... καὶ νὰ ζώσαμεν ἐκείνην τὴν μακαρίαν ζωὴν ... καὶ νὰ ἐβλέπαμεν ἐκεῖνο τὸ φῶς
16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 106.31–8

+ μακάρι(ον)

- 2 sg. μακάριον τε τὸ χάλασες, νὰ τό ᾗς ἀφανίσει 16th c./15th c., Defi. Par. 271 μαγὰρι καὶ πρωτύτερας νὰ ᾗθελς μοῦ γρικῆσει 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. II.319

NOTES

- (i) These wishes all take the form of conditional protases where the εἴχα + infinitive periphrasis found a natural home (see 3.3), thus making it the preferred option when an infinitival periphrasis is employed.
- (ii) Once again, ᾗς may sometimes be substituted for νὰ:
ᾗς εἴχα μάτια σκοτεινά ... καὶ ᾗς εἴχα σιδερὴ καρδιά 17th c./16th–17th c., Thysia Avr. 209–10

2 Complement Clauses

Subordinate clauses may function either as complements (elements whose presence is required by the main verb) or as adjuncts (modifying adverbial or adjectival elements whose presence is optional, see Chapter 3), and may be marked as such in various ways (e.g. through the use of a particular conjunction, mood or verb form). This chapter deals with clauses that complement various verb classes.

2.1 Verbs of “Reporting” and “Declaring”

(22) After verbs that report a speech, emotional response or perception, declare a belief or attest to knowledge (e.g. “say”, “announce”, “rejoice”, “hear”, “see”, “think”, “believe”, “learn”, “know” etc.) the regular form of sentential complementation in LMedG/EMG is a finite clause introduced by the complementizers ὅτι or πώς (in early or more learned texts sometimes also ὥς).

Such clauses normally contain either a past- or present-tense form of the indicative, or a future-referring or conditional verb form.

The tense of the “original” direct speech may always be retained, but the time reference of the verb in a complement clause may optionally be aligned to that of a past-tense main verb (consecutio temporum or “sequence of tenses”).

The tense of the verb in the complement clause is given before each set of examples below.

Non-past Main Verb

Future

θαρροῦμεν ὥς ἵνα ἐλθῇ ὁ αὐτὸς κύρ Μιχαήλ

14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 147.4

Present

ἤξεύρετε ὅτι οἱ φρερήδες ... εὐρίσκονται ἔσσω τοῦ ἀφέντη!

16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.10–11

ἤξευρε πὼς ἐγὼ ὀνομάζομαι ὁ δὸν Κισότης τῆς Μαντσίας

18th c., Don Kis. 51.12–13

Aorist

γίνωσκε ... ὅτι οὐκ ἐγένετο ποτὲ δοῦλος πολλῶν κυρίων

15th c./12th c., Ptoch. (Maiuri) 14–15

ὁμολογᾷ ... πὼς ἐπῆρε καὶ ἐπαράλαβε ... ὑπέρπυρα ὀκτώ

1623, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1998: 6, 312.1–2

Tense of Original Retained after Past-Tense Main Verb

Future

εἶπαν ... ὅτι νὰ πᾶσιν ... εἰς τὴν αὐλήν τῆς ρήγαινας καὶ νὰ σκοτώσουν τὸν κοντοστάβλην 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 56.15–17 ἐθιόρκισέν τον ὅτι νὰ μὲν θελήσει ποττέ νὰ ποίσει τίτοιον κακόν 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 34.6–7

ἐθαρροῦσεν ὁ ἀρχιμανδρίτης πὼς ... νὰ μᾶς φοβερίσει 1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 34, 137.127–9

Present

ἐχαίρετο ὅτι εἶν' ἔμορφος, μετὰ τῆς ποθητῆς του 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 596 ἐγροίκησε ὅτι ἔχει τὴ χάριν αὐτῇ 16th c., Nov. II 161.12

Aorist

καὶ εἶπαν του πὼς ὁ Θούμας ἐπέψεν τοὺς ἀνθρώπους
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.17

Conditional

ἐμάθαμεν πὼς τὸ ... καράβι νὰ ἐπνίηκεν καὶ εἶχαμεν φορτώσει εἰς αὐτὸ μαλλιά ..., καὶ ὕστερα ἀκούσαμε πὼς νὰ ἔβγαλαν τὰ πράγματα ὅλα 1696, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 17, 217.6–9

ὁ δεῦτερος συγγραφεὺς δὲν ἐπίστευσε πὼς νὰ μὴν ἐπερίγραψαν ... τοιαύτην περίεργον ἱστορίαν 18th c., Don Kis. 53.12–14

Tense of Original Backshifted after Past-Tense Main Verb (consecutio temporum)

Aorist > Pluperfect

ἠύρασιν ὅτι εἶχαν πλεόν κερδίσει 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 650

Present > Imperfect

ἔδειχεν ὅτι αὖξαινε ὁ σπόρος του τὴν νύκταν
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 334.41–2

ἐγράψασί μου ... πὼς ἐθαρροῦσεν ὁ ἀρχιμανδρίτης 1709, Chios, PAPAISTRATOU 1981: 34, 137.127–9

NOTES

- (i) As expected, the meaning of verb forms marked with νὰ in a ὅτι/πὼς clause is often indeterminate between simple future “will/would” and modal “may/might”, “can/could”, “shall/should” (see 1.2.2).
- (ii) With frequently occurring verbs, and particularly with λέ(γ)ω, the complementizer may be omitted:

νὰ λέουν ὁκάποιος φτωχὸς ... ἐνίκησεν τοῦ βασιλέως τὸν ἀδελφὸν ...
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5008–9

φαίνεται τον στὸ σπίτιν του εὐρίσκεται ἀπέσω 15th c., Peri xen. 34 καὶ εἶπεν, κερδαίνει τὴν ἀραβῶνα 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 86.2–3 καὶ αὐταὶ λέγουν θὲ νὰ ὑποκλιθοῦν εἰς τὸ κοινόβιον

1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.56–7

- (iii) Occasionally in negated future complements the expected νὰ is absent (cf. Chapter 1, Rules (14) and (20) plus NOTES for similar omissions in negative prohibitions and wishes):

μηνοῦμε σας ὅτι ... μηδὲν σουφριάσετε κανένα μας ὀφισιάλην

1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 7, 7.1–2

(23) It is common in later LMedG and EMG (ca. 15th c. onwards) for an ὅτι/πὼς complement to be replaced by an indicative clause conjoined with καί.

This may represent an extension of the semantically natural use of conjoined clauses with control verbs in order to emphasize the actual occurrence of an otherwise merely potential consequence of the action of the main verb (for which see Rule (26)).

But there is no inherent consequentiality in ὅτι/πὼς complements and this type is perhaps better understood as involving omission of the complementizer (cf. Rule (22) NOTE (ii)) with partial grammaticalization of intensifying καί “actually”: cf. μηδὲ θαρρῆς πὼς ... κι’ ἤμουν κοιμισμένη, “don’t think I was actually asleep”, CHORTATIS, Katz. II.161–2.

ἀθθυμοῦμαι τὸν βισκούντην, τὸν πράχτορα καὶ τὰ δελοιπὰ ῥίγκια καὶ δὲν τ’ ἀλλάξαν ποττέ

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 78.27–8 δὲ θέλειν τὸ προβιάσειν ποττέ τινὰς καὶ ἐγυρέψα νὰ ποίσω τιτοῖον πρᾶμα

16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 60.19

δὲν λέγω καὶ κλινίσκει σας ἡ πείνα τῶν θεϊκῶν λογί(ων) 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 11–12

ἦρε καὶ ἦτονε γεννημένος ὁ Κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς Χριστός

16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.23

NOTES

- (i) In the vast majority of cases the subject of the subordinate clause is referentially distinct from that of the main clause.
- (ii) In later texts this construction is particularly frequent with “factive” verbs of perception or discovery (see Rules (24) and (28)):

ψηλαφώντας την ἠβλέπει καὶ ἔναι παρθένος ὥσπερ ἦτον

16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.35–6

τὸ (παιδί) ἤυρανε καὶ ἐπροφήτευσεν πολλὰ μέλλοντα πράγματα

16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.17–18

τὴν εἶδα ὀψὲς κι’ ἐθώρειε σε

17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Katz. II.93

ἐὰν δῇ καὶ ἐξετάση καὶ εἶναι ἔτζι ἡ ἀλήθεια

1661, Naxos, KEFALLINIADIS 1974/78: 4, 423.12

- (24) Verbs of knowledge, perception and emotional response (e.g. “know”, “learn”, “see”, “hear”, “be ashamed”, “rejoice”, “regret” etc.) are “factive” verbs that presuppose the speaker’s/writer’s belief in the truth of their complements. In EMG factivity may be marked by the use of the complementizer (ὅ)που.

With perception verbs factivity is dependent on direct as opposed to indirect perception, contrast X heard Y happening with X heard that Y was happening.

θυμάσταν ποὺ δειλιάζετε σὲ πόλεμον νὰ βγῆτε; 16th c., Alex. Rim. 1759 ἤξεύρετε ὅπου τὸ ἔχει ὁ κόσμος καὶ οἱ ἐδικοί του συνήθεια 16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 105.24

καὶ συπάθησέ μου το ποὺ σοῦ τὸ γραφῶ 1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 5, 173. 21

εἶδα την ποὺ καθότουνε καὶ τὴν Εὐγένα ἐκράτει 17th c., MONTSEL., Evgena 190 τὸ ἔχω μεγάλο παράπονο ὅπου οἱ ἄλλοι πραγματευτάδες ἔλαβαν γραφὴν ἀπὸ τοὺς Κοθωναίους 1696, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 19, 218.3–4 ἤξεύρετε καλὰ ὅπου ἐγυρίσαμεν ὅλην τὴν οἰκουμένην 18th c./17th c., Alex. Fyll. 114.29

NOTE

- (i) Verbs of perception and emotional response are also used as control verbs, see Rule (28).

2.2 Control Predicates

(25) Verbs meaning “want”, “try”, “dare”, “ask”, “allow”, “expect”, “order”, “make” etc. require complements denoting prospective/potential activities. In LMedG the complement may take the form of a bare infinitive, either present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective). Negation is of the main verb.

The subject of the infinitive is obligatorily “missing” and its content is “controlled” by the subject or, if the verb is transitive, the object of the main verb; i.e. the reference, grammatical case, person, number and gender of the main-clause subject/object are automatically adopted by the missing subject and some of these features may be visible if there is an agreeing subject complement.

πολλὰ πολλὰ ἀγαπῶ διὰ πράξεως λαλεῖν τὸν τοῦ Θεοῦ λόγον
12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 31 814.1–2

τίς τῆς καρδιάς του τὴν χαρὰν νὰ ἰσχύσῃ καταλέξειν;
?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.7v.3–4 πῶς τὸν παρακαλοῦσιν ... νὰ καταδέξεται γενεῖ εἰς αὐτοὺς καπετᾶνος 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 233–6 εἴτις δὲ βουληθῇ κατελῦσαι τὸ παρὸν γράμμαν, νὰ ἔνι ἀσυγχώρητος 14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 148.14–15

τὸ ὠραιόκαρπον ... δένδρον τὸ ὑψηλότατον ὅπου σᾶς εἶπε φεύγειν 15th c., CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 69–70

NOTES

- (i) The overwhelming majority of infinitival examples in the database involve subject control.
- (ii) By the later medieval period the set of verbs of this class taking an infinitival complement is greatly reduced, essentially to verbs expressing “wish” or “desire”:

εἴτις δὲ βουληθῇ κατελῦσαι τὸ παρὸν γράμμα, νὰ ἐνὶ ἀσυγχώρητος 14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 148.14–15

οὔτε βουλόμεθα ἀναδέξασθαι πλέον γουμάριν 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: [α'], 292.18–19

καὶ ἂν τὸν θέλῃς ἀγαπᾶ, φρόντιζε τὴν ψυχὴ σου
17th c., MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2015

- (iii) Occasionally, the infinitival complement is nominalized with the genitive of the definite article (τοῦ). This may represent an extension of the ancient use of the genitive articular infinitive to express purpose, itself an extension of the original adnominal use after nouns expressing “wish”, “desire” etc.:

παρακαλῶ τὴν κόρτην ... τοῦ κατελθῆναι ἐπάνω εἰς τὸν τόπον καὶ μαθεῖν τὴν ἀλήθειαν
1224, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 30, 447.5–7 οἷος γοῦν βουλεθῇ τοῦ ἀνατρέψαι αὐτούς

?1358, ?Macedonia, LEMERLE 1988: App. II C, 231.11

εἰ θέλετε τοῦ ζῆν, φύγετε, μὴν σταθῆτε 16th c./14th c., Synax. gadar. 41

ἡῦρα δεντρὸν ἐξαίρετον καὶ ὠρέχθην τοῦ πεζεύσειν 16th c./15th c., BERGADIS, Apok. V 20

(26) More usually, LMedG/EMG employs finite clauses containing νὰ + present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective) subjunctive (negative μή(ν)) to complement “control” verbs, and this has become the norm in the later medieval period.

Since such clauses lack an overt complementizer, the particle–verb combination typically follows the governing verb directly in order to mark its connection.

The meaning of some main verbs may allow for non-coreferential subjects in the finite subordinate clause: contrast X persuaded Y that Z should do something with X persuaded Y that s/he (= Y) should do something.

When the subject is coreferential it is omitted but agrees with its controller in person, number and gender, as shown by verbal agreement and (if present) subject complements.

ἐπρόσταξα καὶ προστάσσω πρὸς σὲ ... ἵνα μὴ ἔχῃς ἐξουσίαν εἰς τὴν τοιαύτην μονήν
1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 16

οὐκ ἤθελαν ν' ἀφήσουσιν τοὺς Φράγκους νὰ ἀπεράσουν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 409

εἰς τρία ἀλλάγια τοὺς ἔποικεν νὰ εἶναι χωρισμένοι
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5679 ἦλθε καιρὸς ... νὰ παρακαλέσουσιν ... τὴν κυρίαν, νὰ δεηθῇ πρὸς κύριον τοῦ νὰ μᾶς δώσῃ νίκος 16th c./15th c., Alosis 288–95

ἀλλὰ δὲν τὸν εἶπε ποτὲ ὁ λογισμὸς του νὰ γένῃ κακὸς ἄνθρωπος 16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 105.2–3 τὸ χάρισμα ὁπὸ ᾗ γὰρ δὲ θέλω νὰ τὸ κρύψω, ζῶντα μου θέλω κανενὸς νὰ τοῦ τ' ἀποκαλύψω

16th c., Fyll. gadar. 276B

καὶ τοὺς ἐβαλε νὰ κόψουνε ἀτοί τους τὰ παιδιά τους 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 25.8

οἱ ἱερεῖς δὲν ξεύρουσι τὰ βρέφη νὰ βαπτίσουν

17th c., MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2201

λέγοντάς μου ἵνα τοῦ ποιήσω_ν τὴν μπαροῦσαν κοντραντιζιόν

1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 743, 1013.1–2

NOTES

- (i) If the meaning of the main verb permits, the νά-clause may also contain a past indicative:

ἄν ἤθελα λεπτῶς νὰ σὲ τὰ ἔγραψα ὅλα ... πολλὰ ἠθέλαν βαρεθῇ ἐκεῖνοι ὅπου τὸ ἀκοῦσιν

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2816–18

“if I were to have written it all in detail for you, my listeners would be very bored”

- (ii) The lack of an overt complementizer in νά-clauses may be “remedied” in a number of ways, often (though not exclusively) when there is a gap between the main verb and its complement:

(a) with ὅτι/πῶς (as with verbs of “reporting” etc., see Rule (22))

(b) with διὰ/γιά (otherwise used with νά in final clauses, see 3.1)

(c) with τοῦ (as used with infinitives, see Rule (25) NOTE (iii))

With ὅτι/πῶς

αὐτὸς ὁ σκύλος ... δὲν ἤθελεν πῶς νὰ τὸν προσκυνήσει

16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 339.9–10

ἐπαρακάλεσεν ... τὸν πατριάρχην ... ὅτι νὰ κάμουν δέησιν πρὸς τὸν Θεόν

16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 415.7–9

δίδει ἀουτοριτάν ... ὅτι νὰ ἡμπορῇ νὰ τήνε ντεφεντέρη

1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 30, 49.4–7

With διὰ/γιά

ἤθελα διὰ νὰ τὸν ἐρωτήσω τίς ἔναι καὶ πόθεν ἔνι ὁ ἄνθρωπος

15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. E 18–19

εἶπε διὰ ν’ ἀρχίσουν οἱ σάλπιγγες γιά νὰ λαλοῦν

16th c., Alex. Rim. 845–6 τάσσει ... νὰ κάμη τὸ Γιάννη Τουρκογιάννη ... γιά νὰ σπείρου ὁμάδι ... τὰ χωράφια

1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 729, 632.10–11

With τοῦ

οὐδὲν ἀφῆναν γὰρ ἔσᾱς ... τοῦ νὰ κρατῇτε ἐδῶ προνοῖες

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2695–6

ὄρεξιν εἶχε πάμπολλην τοῦ νὰ περιπατήσει

15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 81

- (27) A νά-complement is often replaced by a clause with an indicative verb apparently conjoined with καί.

This may once again involve omission of the complementizer and partial grammaticalization of intensifying καί (cf. Rule (23)). But here the consequential relationship between the action of the main verb and that of the complement allows naturally for conjunction, especially when there is emphasis on the actual occurrence of an otherwise merely projected/anticipated consequence: contrast X commanded and Y (actually) carried out the order with X commanded Y to carry out the order.

ὁ Θεὸς ἐπρόσταξεν καὶ ἦλθε τοῦ ροῦ Κάρλου ἡ ἀφεντία

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 6279–80

ὠρισεν καὶ ἦλθασιν οἱ πρῶτοι τῆς βουλῆς του

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7828

εἰπέτε τί σᾶς ἔκαμα καὶ εἴσταν λυπημένοι

16th c., Alex. Rim. 1752

ἔβαλα τὸν ἄνωθεν παπὰ καὶ ἔγραψεν μὲ τὴν ἴδιαν του χέρα

1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 779, 677–8.61

NOTES

- (i) As with instances of καὶ replacing ὅτι/πῶς (see Rule (23)), the vast majority of examples have non-coreferential subjects in the main and subordinate clauses (i.e. the substitution normally involves examples that would otherwise exhibit object control).
- (ii) Very occasionally the indicative follows asyndetically:

τοὺς Βενετικούς ἄφησαν τὴν θάλασσαν φυλάττου

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 640

ὠρισε ἠφέρασιν τὸ ἅγιον εὐαγγέλιον

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7929

(28) Factive verbs (cf. rule (24)) meaning “see”, “hear”, “sense”, “find” etc. may also function as control verbs taking a νά-complement.

The subjunctive is normally present (imperfective), marking the ongoing nature of the activity perceived. But an aorist (perfective) subjunctive may be used when the sense requires it: contrast X heard Y do Z (potentially perfective) with X heard Y doing Z.

Present Subjunctive

κι ἂν εὕρωμεν τὸν βασιλέα εἰς κάμπον ν' ἀναμένῃ, ... τὸν θέλομεν πολεμήσει

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 3650–1

καὶ τώρα βλέπουν σε γυμνή νὰ εἶσαι τροπιασμένη

16th c., DEFAR., Sos. 222 (Holton)

Aorist Subjunctive

εἶχεν μέγαν διλίτιν νὰ τοῦ γροικήσῃ νὰ τραγουδήσῃ

16th c./15th–16th c., Fior 109.4–5

εἶδαμε στὴ χώρα μας Πέρσοι νὰ μποῦσι τόσοι

17th c., TROILOS, Rodol. V.156

NOTES

- (i) As with other control verbs (cf. Rule (27)), the νά-complement may be replaced with an indicative clause conjoined with καί:

νεκρὸν εἶδα κ' ἐκέιτετο

16th c./15th c., Om. Nekl. Vas. 23

εἶδαν τὸν Δημήτριον ζωντανὸν καὶ ἐκάθετον

16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 106.14–15

τὴν εἶδα ὁψὲς κι' ἐθώρειε σε

17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Katz. II.94

τὸν εἶδε καὶ ἐπέρνα, τὸν ἐπαρακάλεσε νὰ μὴν τὸν ἀπαντονάρῃ

17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 39.34–5

- (ii) In LMedG factive verbs of emotional response such as “be ashamed” may also take νά-complements (though none of the examples in the database involve coreferential subjects):

οὐκ αἰσχύνεσαι ... νὰ γαμῇ τὸ μουνὶν σου παπᾶς; 14th c./12th c., TZETZES, Epil. Theogon. 21

οὐδὲν ἐντρέπεστε ποσῶς νὰ παίζωμε ὡς κοπέλια;
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5394

(29) Modal verbs (expressing “ability/possibility” or “necessity”) and verbs of aspectual specification (“start/continue/stop” [doing X]) are complemented either by bare infinitives or, beginning in the 14th c., by νά-clauses.

These verbs all modify the activities denoted by their complements rather than denoting distinct actions in their own right.

Modal verbs may be personal or impersonal, aspectual verbs are personal; in personal use all these verbs involve subject control.

Νά is normally followed by a subjunctive, but modals may also take νά + a past-tense indicative when the situation described is hypothetical/counterfactual.

Aspectual verbs take an imperfective verb form in their complement because the modified activity is necessarily viewed imperfectively, i.e. is never bounded by both a beginning and an end to form a complete whole (as required for an aorist/perfective to be used).

Modal Verbs

Ability/Possibility + Infinitive

καὶ ψηλαφῶντες ἀκριβῶς οὐκ ἔμποροῦν τὴν εὕρειν 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 124 τὸ κάλλιον καὶ διαφορικόν, ὅπου ἔχομεν ποιήσει, ἐνὶ γὰρ νὰ ἀπέλθωμεν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 3647–8

ἄλλα πλεῖστα πράγματα τὰ οὐκ ἔμπορῶ σὰς γράφει 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7802 εἰ ἔμπορέση, δυνήθη συμπεθερίαν ποιήσει ... νὰ ἐπάρη ὁ υἱὸς γὰρ τοῦ ρηγὸς τὴν θυγατέρα ἐκείνου 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 6285–7 κανεῖς οὐδὲν ἐμπόρειεν ἀναδεῖξαι τὴν εὐμορφίαν τοῦ παραδείσου 15th c., Hist. Imp. I 82–3

Necessity + Infinitive

οὐ γὰρ εἶν ἀνάγκη ... περὶ πίστεως δογματίζειν 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 312.23 ἀλλὰ πρότερον ὀφείλομεν τρέχειν ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 244.609

ὁ λίζιος ἄνθρωπος χρεωστεῖ ποιῆσαι τοῦτο 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7571

NOTE

- (i) Infinitival complements may sometimes be nominalized with the genitive of the definite article, as with other control verbs (see Rule (25) NOTE (iii)):

δὲν ἔμπορῶ τοῦ γράφειν 15th c., Peri xen. 356

πῶς καὶ πότε ἠφάνισεν ἐξαπορῶ τοῦ γράφει 16th c./15th c., BERGADIS, Apok. V 14

Ability/Possibility + νά-clause

- οὐκ εἶχεν γὰρ νά μάχεται μεῖ ἄνθρωπον τοῦ κόσμου 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 3144 ἀλλὰ ποσῶς οὐκ ἔμπορεῖ ἵνα τοὺς περικόψη 15th c., Chron. Toc. 660 ἐμήνυσεν ... πῶς νά μπορήσῃ ν' ἀφεντεύσῃ τὸν λαόν 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.21–2 τοὺς ποίους δὲν εἶναι νά τοὺς ἀνοματίσω 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 50.13–14 νά τὸν διώξου μπορετὸ δὲν εἶναι τῶν ἀθρώπων 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Erof. I.198 τώρα μπορᾶ (< μπορεῖ νά) καυχούμαι 17th c., BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 577.25

Necessity + νά-clause

- ἔπρεπε σὲ τὸ πρόβατον νά μὴ μᾶς λοιδορήσῃς 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 458 ἔπρεπέ τον νά ῥόρεσε μαντὶ καὶ καμηλαύχι 16th c., Kakop. 127

Verbs of Aspectual Specification

+ Infinitive

- ἄρχασεν οὕτως λέγει του 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 233 ἀφίνω ἐδῶ λέγειν καὶ ἀφηγᾶσθαι διὰ τὸν Γουλιάμον πρίγκιπα 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5922–3 ὁ ρῆγας ἄρξετον λαλεῖ τῆς ρήγαινας 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7118

NOTE

- (i) The infinitive may occasionally be nominalized with the definite article, either accusative τὸ or genitive τοῦ (cf. Modal verbs NOTE (i) above):

- καὶ ἤρξαντο τοῦ παίζειν 16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. O 180 πουργὸν τὸ τρέχειν ἤρχισα 16th c./15th c., BERGADIS, Apok. V 11 πουργὸν τοῦ τρέχειν ἤρχισα 16th c./15th c., BERGADIS, Apok. A 11 λοιπὸν τὸ τρέχειν ἔπαυσα ... καὶ τὸ σπουδάζειν 16th c./15th c., BERGADIS, Apok. A 15

+ νά-clause

- ὁ ρῆγας ἄρξετον λαλεῖ τῆς ρήγαινας νά λέγῃ, τοῦ νά ἐπαινῇ τὸν πρίγκιπα 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7118–19 παύομαι ἐδῶ νά λέγω 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7955 ἀρχίζοντας νά βουλᾷ 17th c., KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 14.30

NOTES

- (i) As with other control verbs (see Rule (26) NOTE (i)) the absence of a complementizer in the νά-clause is sometimes “remedied” (often after a gap), in this case with διά/γιά or τοῦ:

- ἐξηγήθην ... πῶς ἄρχισεν τὰ ἐπάσχισεν τοῦ νά με ἀφηγᾶται 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. E 3778–80

εἶπε διὰ ν' ἀρχίσουν οἱ σάλπιγγες γιά νὰ λαλοῦν, διὰ νὰ πολεμήσουν 16th c., Alex. Rim. 845–6

- (ii) As with other control verbs (see Rule (27)), a νά-clause after verbs meaning “begin” is often replaced by an indicative clause conjoined with καί:

ἀρχίσαν καὶ ἐρχόντησαν κ' ἐπροσκυνοῦσαν ὅλοι 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1640 ἀρχάζουν οἱ ἅπαντες ... καὶ κάμνουσιν τὰ ὁμάτζια στὸν πρίγκιπαν

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7889–90

τούτη ἡ εἰκόνα ἄρχισε καὶ ἐχαλᾶτον 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.39–40 ἄρχισε καὶ ἔβγανε φωνές 16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 106.26

ἀρχίσαμεν καὶ ἐπεριπατούσαμεν ὡς πρὸς τὰς Ἀνατολάς
16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 108.24–5

- (iii) Occasionally the indicative verb form follows asyndetically, and in this case an aorist (perfective) may be used if the process of inception is treated as a separate event, e.g. “X began and (then) did Y”:

ἐκ τὴν χολὴν του τὴν πολλὴν ἄρχισε ἐχαμογέλα 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1401 ἄρχισεν ἐξέβαινεν ἔξω ἐκ τὰ νησία 15th c., Chron. Toc. 155 ἄρχισαν ἐτζακίσασιν τὰ σπίτια, τὰ σεντούκια 15th c., Chron. Toc. 658

2.3 Verbs of “Fearing” and “Precaution”

- (30) Future-referring complements to verbs of “fearing” etc. are introduced by the “modal” negatives μή(ν)/μηδέν or μήπως καί + present (imperfective) or aorist (perfective) subjunctive; the negative is οὐ(κ)/(οὐ)δέν.

φοβεῖ σε μή ἔλθῃ μήνυμα 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 150

ἀλλὰ φοβοῦμαι ... μή οὐκ ἔνι εἰς ἀρεστόν σου 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G II.115

εἶχεν μέγαν φόβον μή πιάσῃ καὶ τυφλώσῃ τον, εἰς φυλακὴν τὸν βάλῃ
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4891–2

ὁ νοῦς μου σ' ἐγνοία μπαινέι μήν εἶν' κιανεῖς στὸ σπίτι της 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSIS, Katz. II.94–5 στέκει ... μ' ἐγνοία πολλὰ μεγάλη μή λάχῃ νὰ τσι βρούσινε 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSIS, Erof. III.137–8 φοβούμενη μήπως καὶ καλέσῃ τηνε ὁ Θ(ε)ός 1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.5–6 ἔχοντας ρεσπέτο ... μήπως καὶ δώσου του ... πειράξῃ

1603, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 193, 202.4–203.5
ἐσκιάκτῃ μήπως καὶ ἔλθῃ ὁ Σακοῦκος ὁ Περσιάνος καὶ τότε βάλῃ ὁμπρός

17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 39.26

φοβοῦμαι μήν δὲν θέλῃ αὐτός 17th c., MONTSEL., Evgena 443

φυλάγου τήνε λία μήπως καὶ πέσῃ σ' ἔρωτα καὶ σὰς ἀποξέχασῃ 17th c., PETRITSIS, Dig. O 48

NOTES

- (i) The same construction is used with verbs of “hindrance”:

ἐμπόδιζε, Χριστέ μου, μὴ παίξῃ κοντογύρισμα καὶ ἐπάρῃ τὸ ραβδὶν μου καὶ δώσῃ καὶ ποιήσῃ με στραβὸν παρὰ διαβόλου 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 175–8

- (ii) Very rarely the negative particle μή(ν) is preceded by νά:

φοβοῦμαι νὰ μὴν πάθῃ τίβοτις 1584, Italy, PAPADOPOULOS 1978: 1, 318.10

- (iii) Fears relating to the past involve the use of past-tense indicatives:

φοβοῦμαι νὰ μὴν τόχασα, temo haverlo perso 17th c., GERMANO, Grammar 85.25–6

2.4 Verbs Taking Indirect Questions

- (31) Indirect questions are introduced by an expression containing/consisting of an appropriate interrogative pronoun or adverb (constituent questions) or by the conditional conjunctions εἰ/ἐάν/ἄν (yes/no questions); variant forms of the latter include ἀνέν καί (< ἄν ἔναι καί) and ἀνίσως καί (< ἄν ἴσως καί).

Εἰ is typical of earlier or more formal texts, as is the restriction of ἐάν/ἄν to future-referring clauses containing a subjunctive verb; the generalized use of ἐάν/ἄν is typical of later and more vernacular texts.

The verb is indicative, future/modal or conditional, normally retaining the tense of the “original” direct question after a past-tense main verb (i.e. there is no sequence of tense requirement, cf. Rule (22) for indirect statements).

Subjunctives are used without νά in embedded future-referring yes/no questions (cf. 3.3 on conditional clauses).

The examples below are grouped according to the tense of the embedded question (that of the corresponding direct question in each case).

Constituent Questions

Future/Modal

βουλὴν ἐζήτησεν ... τοῦ νὰ τὸν συμβουλέψουν περὶ ... τοῦ Μορέως πῶς νὰ τὸν κυβερνήσῃ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7829–30 οὐδὲν ἡξέρω τὸ σιτάρι ποῦ να καταβαίνει ἀπὸ τὸ Λεοντάρι 1431, Ragusa, LAMBROS 1930: 29.21–2 τί νὰ εἰπῶ καὶ τί νὰ ἀφήσω δὲν κατέχω 17th c., Diig. Sant. 56.63–4

Present

ἤθελα διὰ νὰ τὸν ἐρωτήσω τίς ἔναι καὶ πόθεν ἔνι ὁ ἄνθρωπος καὶ τί ἔναι τὸ στενάξει 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. E 18–19 εἴντα μιλοῦσι τὰ πουλιὰ ξεύρει 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Panor. I.267

Aorist

ἐξεθύμανεν εἰς τοὺς στρατιώτας πῶς τες ᾔφησαν καὶ ἔκαμαν τοιοῦτον μέγα πρᾶγμα 16th c., Martyr. Vlas. 247.12–13

κατέχεις ... πόσα κακὰ ἐποίησα

17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 40.30

Yes/No Questions

Future/Modal

τὸν κάμπον νὰ τηρήσω, ἂν ἔναι καὶ εὕρω πούπετε τόπον ν' ἀποκουμπήσω

16th c./15th c., Om. Nekl. Vas. 13–14

Present

ἐπροέγραψα τῆς πανιερότη σου ... ἂν ἔναι νὰ μᾶς ἐγβάλῃς ἕνα ματάτο

1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 5, 173.23–4

μὲ ἐρώτησε ἀνισῶς καὶ ἔχουν νὰ κάμουν ἀγάπην μὲ τοὺς Πολονέζους

1654, Stockholm, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 57.20–1

Aorist

λεπτομερῶς τοὺς ἐρωτᾷ ... ἂν ἡύραν τὴν ὀρεξίν τους 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 385–6

NOTES

- (i) It is common in more vernacular texts for constituent indirect questions to be nominalized with τό:

ὡς εἶδεν τοῦτον ὁ ἀμπράς, ἄκο τὸ τί ντα λέγει

15th c./12th c., Dig. E 517

καὶ τότε δίδουν τὴν βουλὴν τὸ ποῦ νὰ πᾶν νὰ κλέψουν

15th c., Diig. Ven. 81 ἔπεσεν εἰς λογισμὸν μέγα, τὸ πῶς νὰ ποιήσῃ νὰ μηδὲν ἐντροπιαστῇ

16th c., Diig. Alex. K 361.27–8

- (ii) Οὐκ/(οὐ)δὲν ἔχω (“I am at a loss”) is commonly used to introduce “deliberative” indirect questions containing an infinitive (well attested in this function to the end of the period of this Grammar) or, in later texts, a future/modal verb form marked with νά:

Infinitive

καὶ τὶ φορεῖν οὐκ ἔχω

12th c., Ptoch. III 231

τὸ τί ποιήσῃ οὐκ εἴχασιν

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4084

δὲν ἔχει πῶς κάμει ἀλλέως παρὰ νὰ πάρῃ τὴν πρελατσιόν

1603, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 187, 198.4

καὶ δὲν εἴχαμεν ἵντα στιμάρεῖ

1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 779, 676.27

καὶ δὲν εἶχε τί κάμει

17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 26.28

νά + Subjunctive

ποῦ νὰ τῶν δώσῃ δὲν εἶχε πλία

16th c./15th c., BERGADIS, Apok. A 420

δὲν ἔχουν τὸ ποῦ γράμματα νὰ μαθαίνουν

17th c., MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 2197

3 Adverbial Clauses

Many subordinate clauses function as adjuncts, i.e. as optional adverbial or adjectival constituents of sentences (see 5.3.3 for the latter). This chapter deals specifically with the different types of adverbial clause.

3.1 Final (Purpose) Clauses

(32) Purpose is normally expressed by means of a subjunctive verb form (imperfective or perfective) marked with the particle ἵνα/νά placed at the beginning of the final clause; the negative is μή(ν)/μηδέν, which may itself stand clause-initially without νά.

In LMedG the clause as a whole may be nominalized with τοῦ.

From ca. 15th c. onwards the particle may be reinforced with διὰ/γιά “for”, or, somewhat earlier but less commonly, ὅπως “so (that)”.

Νά is often omitted in negative final clauses, as noted, especially when there is a clear additional nuance of fear or precaution (cf. 2.3).

+ ἵνα/νά (omissible in negatives) + Subjunctive παραβίβαξέ τον ... μήνα ... λυτρωθοῦμεν τον γοργόν, νά μή μᾶς παραβλέπη 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 525–8

βλέπε εἰς τὸ ἐν μή πάθης δέκα 13th c. /?, Paroim. A 120

κράτησον τὰ φουσσᾶτα σου μηδὲν ἔβγουσιν ἔξω
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1117

ἔγραψεν ..., νά ἰδοῦσιν τὰ προστάγματα
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7852–4 κ' ἤθελεν ποιήσει ... ἔπαινόν του μέγαν, ... μή προῦ ἀπορήσῃ παντελῶς, καὶ χάσουν τον οἱ Φράγκοι

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8531–5

ἐξέβη ... ἀπὲ τὴν Λευκωσίαν νά πάγῃ στήν Γένουβα 1390, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 11, 89.2–3

τὰ κάτεργα ἔκαυσα ἵνα μὴν ἔναι ἐπιστροφή 16th c./14th c., Velis. ρ 297

ἔδωκαμεν ... τὸ ἀμπέλιον, ἵνα ἔχῃ αὐτὸ καὶ δεσπόζῃ 14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 147.2–3

σὲ τὴν ἔδωκαμεν νά χαίρεσαι μὲ ταύτην 16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. O 22

+ τοῦ νά

καὶ δένει με εἰς τὴν σέλαν μου σφικτὰ τοῦ νά μή πέσω 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. E 3306

- μέ πονηρίαν ἀπόστέλνεν τούς καταπατητᾶδες τοῦ νὰ μαθαίνειν ... τὲς τῶν Φραγκῶν γὰρ πρᾶξες 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1049–50
- + διὰ/γὰ νά
καὶ ἐλάλεν τούς το ..., γὰ ν' ἀφήσουν τὸν ρήγα εἰς τὴν ἀφεντίαν του
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 50.20–3
- ἐπέφεν τούς ἀνθρώπους, διὰ νὰ πᾶν εἰς τὸ σπῆτιν του
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.17–18
- εἶπεν γὰρ ἑκεῖνο τὸ κάμνει ..., γὰ νὰ μὴ μπορᾶ τὸ κόψη οὐδένας
1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 662, 576.14–15
- ὁ Θεὸς ἠθέλησε νὰ φανερώσῃ ... τὴν ἀλήθειαν, ὁδὶὰ νὰ μὴν ἔχουσιν οἱ ἀσεβεῖς καμμίαν πρόφασιν 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.26
- + ὅπως νά
τούς ἔγραψεν ... ὅπως νὰ καταλάβωσιν ἐκεῖσε εἰς τὴν Κλαρέντσα
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7852–3
- ἔθεσαν αὐτὸν εἰς τὴν ἀναγεγραμμένη μονή ... ὅπως νὰ ἱεουργάῃ καὶ ψάλλῃ τὴν αὐτὴν μονή εἰς ὕμνον 1558, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 2, 649.9–14

NOTES

- (i) The genitive of the definite article was used in AG with an infinitive to express purpose, and though LMedG/EMG normally substitutes νά + subjunctive for the infinitive, as above, there are some examples of the infinitival construction from LMedG texts:
- ἐκεῖσε ἡμπλικεύσασσι τοῦ μὴ φανερωθῆναι 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G II.102 συνέδραμον ἐκεῖ ὅλοι τοῦ βοηθῆσαι 16th c./14th c., Velis. ρ 316
- (ii) In LMedG texts a purpose clause may also be realized by means of διὰ “for” (also πρὸς “towards” and εἰς “(in)to”) + a νά-clause nominalized with the accusative of the definite article (see also 3.8):
- τὸ κατοῦδιν ... στήσας εἰς τὸ τραπέζιν, διὰ τὸ νὰ εἰποῦν ὅτι ἐποίησεν ἐκεῖνο τὴν ζημίαν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 264–5
- (iii) Relative clauses may be given a final sense (“[someone] to do X/who can do X”) through the use of future/modal forms (cf. 5.5):
- εἴχασιν δὲ καὶ μετ’ αὐτῶν, ὅπου νὰ τούς τὰ λέγῃ, τὴν μαῖμοῦ 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 36–7
- (iv) Given the inherent sequencing of the events denoted by main and final clauses, something of the effect of a final clause may be achieved through coordination with καί; this is particularly common when the purpose is fulfilled and with verbs of “coming” and “going” (cf. s/he went and did X):
- τὸ πρᾶγμα σου ἀσφάλιζε καὶ τὸν γείτονά σου κλέπτῃν μὴν τὸν κάμης 16th c./?, Paroim. H 55

ὡσάν ἦλθαν καὶ τὸν ἐπροσκύνησαν, λέγει 16th c., Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 75.18–21

ἦϋρε καιρὸ ὁ σουλτάν Μπαγιαζίτης καὶ τοὺς ἐζήτησε τὸ κάστρο 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.10–13

ἐπήγασι καὶ ἐχτίασσι σπιτία στὰ τριγύρω νησόπουλα
18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 19.7–8

- (v) In 16th- and 17th-c. Cretan literary texts πά often represents a reduction of πά + νά, where the first element is an invariant grammaticalized form of πάω “go”, cf. θά < θέ(λω) + νά, μπορά < μπορ(ῶ) + νά, etc. It is sometimes difficult to decide between a literal meaning and a more evolved future/modal function for πά, but the ultimate origins of πά νά as a kind of final clause (“go to do X”, “go and do X”) are clear:

ἀποὺ τὰ χεῖλη του θέλω νά πα γροικήσω ἂν ἔχει πόνον 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Panor. I.45–6 ὁμπλεγάρεται ... νά πα τὸ ξανακαμπανίσου στοῦ ἄνωθεν

1609, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 626, 547.15

θές νά πα φέρω ἓνα σκοινί, σφιχτὰ νά τόνε δέσης; 17th c., FOSKOLOS, Fort. IV.289 κι ἂς κάμουν ὅ,τι λέγουσι, μὴν (μ)πα καὶ γελαστοῦσι 17th–18th c./17th c., Alfav. 11 42 app. crit.

- (vi) The conjunction μήνα (also used adverbially = “perhaps”/“by any chance” in direct questions, see 1.4.1, Rule (17)) may be used in place of simple μή(ν), particularly when the sense required is not negative purpose but the more positive “(just) in case”, “in the hope that”:

ὄρμησα ... τὸ νά γενῶ τσαγγάρης, μήνα χορτάσω τὸ ψωμίν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 145–6 τάχατε κλεῖ τὰ μάτια του, μήνα τὸν ἐλθη ὕπνος 15th c., Peri xen. 25 πολλὰ αὐτοὶ ἐπάσχισαν, μήνα τὸν ἐξεβγάλουν 16th c., Fyll. gadar. 15 g ἐκοίταζα πολλὰ μήνα ἰδῶ καὶ ἄλλους ὅπου ἐγνώριζα

16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 109.26–7

- (vii) The element (μ)πάς (perhaps a reduction of μήν + an invariant form of πάω “go” with adverbial -ς (rather than the unmotivated 2 sg. πᾶς)) is used similarly in Cyprus in combination with καί; a following νά is optional. The sense “(just) in case” allows for considerable overlap with complements of verbs of “fearing” and “precaution” (see 2.3, Rule (30)):

μὲ φόβον στέκω ... φοβῶντα πάντα πάς καὶ βαρεθῆς με· τὰ πάθη βιάζουν πάς καὶ λυπηθῆς με 16th c./15th–16th c., Cypr. Canz. 91.11–13

ὁ ρήγας ... ἐδιαλογίζετον πάς καὶ ἡ ρήγαινα κομπωθῇ καὶ πᾶσιν καὶ πάρουν τὴν Κερυνίαν
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 408.1

τοῦ ᾗ γραφεν γραφάδες ..., πάς καὶ νά κάμη νά σαστῇ τοῦ χαζανᾶ ἡ λίτη 17th–18th c./17th c., KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 84–6

3.2 Consecutive (Result) Clauses

- (33) When the result described in a consecutive clause is presented as an event in real time, it is introduced by ὅτι “that” + indicative or, from ca. 15th c., by “factive” (ὅ)που + indicative (both with negative οὐ(κ)/οὐδέν); when the result is presented as potential or logical rather than actual, consecutive clauses contain a future/modal verb form marked by νά + subjunctive (imperfective or perfective, with negative μή(ν)), later preceded optionally by ὅτι or (ὅ)που.

A clause specifying the result of an action or state of affairs described in a main clause is always in principle optional, but if the main clause contains an element modified by a specifier meaning “so”/“such”, some result is at least strongly anticipated if not actually compulsory, cf. ... so X [that Y].

With ὅτι + Indicative ἐγίνετο ὁ φόβος τοιούτως πολὺς, ὅτι οἱ χριστιανοὶ ... ἐξοδῶκαν ἀπὲ τοὺς οἴκους των 1326, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 41, 93.10–12

τόσα τὸν ἀγαπήσασιν ... ὅτι βουλὴν ἀπῆρασιν οἱ φρονιμώτεροί τους
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2101–3 τόσον ἔγινε ἀπὸ τὴν μυθολογίαν ἔνδοξος ὅτι ὑπερέβη πάντας τοὺς σοφοὺς καὶ διδασκάλους

16th c., Vios Aisop. K 147.4–5 τί εἶναι ἐτούτῃ ἡ σοφία ὅπου τοῦ ἐδώθη, ὅτι καὶ τέτοιαις λογῆς δυνάμεις γίνονται διὰ τῶν χειρῶν του;

17th c., KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 6.2

With (ὅ)που + Indicative ἔμαθαν τὸν ὀρισμὸν ἐκείνον, τόσον σκληρὸν κι ὠμότατον ποὺ ποτὲ οὐκ ἐφάνη 15th–16th c./15th c., Theseid II.14.4–5 (1529) τὴν ὥραν ἐκείνην ... ἔβρεξεν εἰς ὅλον τὸν κόσμον ὅπου πούπτετες δὲν εἶχε μείνει ὅπου νά μὴν βρέξει

16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.23–5

εἶδα δυὸ κομμάτια κριάς ..., τόσα παχιά, τόσα καλά, τόσα πολλὰ μεγάλα, π ὅλος ἐξαναστάθηκα
17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. III.85–7 ἕνας θρῆνος γίνεται εἰς τοῦτο τὸ μοναστήρι ὅπου ὅποιος τὰς ἰδεῖ κλαίει τὴν λύπην τῶνε

1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.30–1

ἔπεμψε παντόθες νὰ τὸν γυρεύγῃ ὅπου ἤμπορεῖ νὰ εἰπῇ τινὰς πὼς δὲν ἄφηκε πέτρα ἀγύρευτην
17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.14–16

ἐγίνηκε ταραχὴ μεγάλη καὶ πόλεμος φοβερός, ποὺ ἐγέμωσε ὁ κάμπος ἀπὸ κουφάρια
18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 33.24–6

With νά + Subjunctive

οὐδὲν εὐρίσκω εἰς ἑμὲν ... τοσοῦτην ἀδιάκρισιν, νά μὴ τὸ ἐγνωρίζω ὅτι εἰς τὸ κουμοῦ τῆς Βενετίας ἐξέβησαν ἀνθρώποι γνώσεως μεγάλης
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 948–51

ἀλλὰ τινὰς οὐκ ἔφτασεν ποτὲ του εἰς τόσην δόξαν, τὸ στέμμα τὸ βασιλικὸν νά τοῦ τὸ ἔχουν φορέσει
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 952–3 θέλεις ἐβγῆν εἰς ὄρεινόν λιβάδιν τέτοιον μέγα νὰ ἐγγίζη ἀπάνω εἰς οὐρανόν ... ἢ κορυφή του 14th c., Log. parig. L 133–4 λέγε μου ... πῶς ἐπλανέθηκες τέτοιας λογῆς νὰ προτιμᾷς ... ἐκεῖνα ὅπου δὲν θεωρεῖς ἀπὸ ἐκεῖνα ὅπου θεωροῦμεν φανερά 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34.20–1

With ὅτι νά + Subjunctive ἀποκεῖς ἐβγάλ' το ἀπὸ τῆ φωτιά καὶ βάνεις τὸ κακκάβι ... τόσο ὅτι τὸ νερό νὰ μὴν ἡμπορῇ νὰ πάη ὀξω ?15th–16th c., Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.24–5

With (ὁ)πού νά + Subjunctive καὶ ἓνα σκαρπέλλο τόσο μακρὺ ὅπου ν' ἀβαντζάρη ὀξω ἀπὸ τὴν μποῦκα τοῦ κομματιοῦ ?15th–16th c., Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.2–3 παρακαλῶ τὴν ἀφεντία σου νὰ κατιβάσῃς τὰ πρέτζια διὰ νὰ πουλοῦμε (τὰ βιβλία)

..., πού νὰ μὴ μᾶς ἀπομνίσκουν καὶ γένουνται μπατάλικά 1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 10, 308, f.2r.28–32

NOTES

- (i) In earlier texts and in less formal styles the consecutive clause may appear without future/modal νά or any overt conjunction:

οὐκ ἦτον τόσοσ ὁ λαὸς τὰ πλευτικά γερμίσουν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 407 καὶ τόσα ἐβιάστησαν πολλὰ ἐσυμβιβάσανε τους 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 3312 τόσα ἔπλευσαν, τόσα ἔποικαν, φθάνουν τὴν Σαλαμῖναν 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1385

- (ii) In more learned styles the ancient conjunction ὥστε may be used with past indicatives in place of ὅτι/(ὁ)πού, and occasionally even with the ancient accusative + infinitive construction (but ὥστε νά + subjunctive is usually temporal, see 3.4); in later texts ὥστε appears also in combination with (ὁ)πού:

καὶ ὁ ἄνεμος τοιοῦτος μέγας ὥστε ἔριπτεν τὰ ἀνώγια ἀπάνω κάτω 1326, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 41, 93.6–7 σπαράττουσι τὰ μέλη του, κλονεῖται τὴν καρδίαν ὥστε νομίζειν καὶ τὴν γράν ἀποθανεῖν ἐκεῖνον 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1161–2 ἦτον παχὺς εἰς τὸ κορμί του ... ὥστε ἀπὸ τοῦ πάχους δὲν ἐφαινόντεσαν τὰ ἄρχιδια αὐτοῦ 16th c./15th c., Syndipas 116.10–14 ἔπεσεν τόσον θανατικόν ὥστε ὅπου ἐμεῖς δὲν ἡμποροῦμεν νὰ θάπτομεν τοὺς νεκρούς 17th c., Diath. Nikon Metan. 6–7

- (iii) There is some formal overlap/confusion between consecutive and final clauses in that both look forward to events that follow the action of the main clause:

καὶ τόσα τοὺς ποτίσετε τοῦ νὰ ἔχουσιν μεθύσει 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8301

- (iv) From ca. 15th c. onwards coordination with καὶ is a common alternative to subordination given the inherent consequentiality of the two events:

ἐκεῖνος ἦτον τόσον κρουδέλ καὶ ἔρισεν καὶ ἐσκοτώσαν τον
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 18.7

καὶ ἄκου τὸ τί μοῦ ἐσύντυχεν κ' ἐθλίβην ἢ ψυχὴ μου 16th c./15th c., Om. Nokr. Vas. 28 οἱ Ἰσραηλίται ἠβλέπουν τόσο πολὺ φουσατό καὶ φοβοῦνται καὶ δίδουν τὸν Σαψὼν δεμένον τῶν ἐχθρῶν 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.33–4 ἔπαρε ἀγριάγουρα ... καὶ τὰ σφίγγεις καὶ πηδᾷ ἔξω τὸ ζουμί καὶ ὁ σπóρος τους 17th c., LANDOS, Geopon. 237.4–6

3.3 Conditional Clauses

(34) Conditional clauses (protases) are introduced by (ἐ)άν “if”, ἀνέναι “if it is the case that”, ἀνίσως “if by chance”, ἂν πολλάκις “if ever/by chance”, with negative οὐ(κ)/οὐδέν; εἰ “if” is also used in older texts as well as in more formal styles. “Unless” is rendered by means of πλὴν ἂν, ἔξω ἂν or ἀλλέως καί (no conjunction); “even if” by καὶ ἂν/ἄς, or ἀνέναι καί/ἀνίσως καί, πλὴν (κ)ἂν (but see also concessive clauses, 3.6).

When a conditional conjunction is present, νά is hardly ever used to mark future/modal or conditional verb forms; but the conditional conjunction may be omitted and the relevant forms must then be marked with νά (negative μή(ν)).

In LMedG/EMG both tense and aspect are important in determining the time reference of a conditional sentence as well as its reading as specific or generic (see below for details). Any meaningful pairing of forms/tenses is possible in the protasis and apodosis (main clause), but the event described in the protasis can never follow that of the apodosis.

With time εἶχον/εἶχα + aorist infinitive is confined increasingly to protases, where it starts to evolve into a pluperfect, first through reinterpretation as a form marking the logical priority of the events described in hypothetical/counterfactual protases and then, through a natural extension, as marking temporal priority vis-à-vis other past events, thus allowing its use in other subordinate clauses and also in main clauses. The development proceeds at different speeds in different areas, depending in part on whether the pluperfect formed with εἶχον/εἶχα + perfect passive participle is in use. In the 14th-c. Chronicle of Morea, for example, the εἶχα-periphrasis appears only in counterfactual protases in past time and is already used as a true pluperfect. By contrast, in 16th/17th-c. Crete, where participial pluperfects are the norm, it is still used only in subordinate clauses for which a meaning “would (have)” is possible, whether in a hypothetical or (secondary) habitual sense.

The examples below are organized according to the time-reference of the protasis/conditional clause, as determined by its overall context (but since conditional forms may be used to refer to past, present or future, there is often indeterminacy).

3.3.1 Future/Generic Time Reference

Subjunctives (possible events) or past indicatives/conditionals (hypothetical events) may appear in the protasis (see 1.2.2 for further details of the forms involved).

There is a fairly strong correlation between perfective forms in apodoses and specific readings of the whole, imperfective forms in apodoses and generic readings of the whole (though perfective νά-futures are often generic and imperfects used as conditionals are aspectually neutral, cf. Chapter 1, Rule (11) and NOTES).

3.3.1.1 Subjunctive in Protasis

Future/Specific

- ἂν μὲ λάχῃ θάνατος, νὰ μὲ λαζαρώσουν ὥσπερ τοὺς ὅλους καλογέρους
ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.52–82.53
- εἰ μὲν εὐροῦν ὅτι ζητεῖ ... τὸ κάστρον τῆς Καρύταινας ..., νὰ τοῦ <τῆν> δώσῃ τὴν νομὴν καὶ νὰ τὸν ρεβεστίσῃ
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8143–5
- ἂν στραφῇ εἰς τὴν Φραγκίαν, ἂν οὐδὲν ποιήσῃ ἔργον νὰ μείνῃ εἰς τὴν Ρωμανίαν ..., ὅλοι τὸν θέλουσι γελᾶ, μέμφεσται κι ὄνειδίζει
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8183–5
- βαρὺν μὲ ἤθελε φανῇ, ἂν εὐρω ὅτι ἀργεῖτε
15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1419
- ἂν ἐγὼ ἀποθάνω, εὖρει θέλει ἡ βασιλεία σου ἄλλον ἀντὶ τοῦ Φιλόνην· εἰ δὲ ἀποθάνῃς ἐσύ, ἐγὼ ἄλλον βασιλέα Ἀλέξανδρον οὐδὲν θέλω εὐρεῖν
16th c., Diig. Alex. F 26.16–18 (Konstantinopulos)
- ἂν ἴσως καὶ εἰπῶ πῶς εἶσαι ἀμάθητος τοῦ καλοῦ, καλὰ τὸ θέλω εἰπεῖ
17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 35.31–2

Generic

- ἂν εὐρουν εἰς κατώφορον ψυχὴν ἀναγκασμένην, ἐκεῖ περισυνάγονται καὶ πολεμοῦν τὴν πνίξιν
13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 187–8
- ὁ Θεὸς ἐλευθερώσῃ σε, καὶ ὅς εἶσαι ψωμοζήτητος
13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 216
- πλὴν κἂν αὐτὸς ἐλθῇ μονῇ, πλὴν κἂν αὐτὸς νυστάζῃ, ἐγὼ πονῶ καὶ ἐγὼ ἀγρυπνῶ καὶ ἐγὼ νὰ σ' ἐνθυμίσω 15th c./12th c., Ptoch. (Maiuri) 10–11
- στὴν ἐκκλησίᾳ τοὺς ἐὰν συμβῇ Φράγκος νὰ λειτουργήσῃ, σαράντα ἡμέρες λείπεται ἀψαλτῇ ἡ ἐκκλησίᾳ τους
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 767–8
- ἐχτρὸν τὸν ἔχω τοῦ Χριστοῦ, νὰ μὴ μὲ σφάξῃ εὐθέως
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4756
- καὶ πολλάκις ἂν τοὺς τὸ εἴπωσι, νὰ μὴδὲν κάθωνται
1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.21, 1

3.3.1.2 Past Indicative/Conditional in Protasis

Future/Specific

- καὶ ἂν ἤθελα θανατωθῇ, τὴν κόρην δὲν ἀφήνω 15th–16th c./13th–14th c., Liv. α 2960 app. crit. (N)
- ἂν ἤθελα λεπτῶς νὰ σὲ τὰ ἔγραψα ὅλα ..., ... πολλὰ ἤθελαν βαρεθῇ ἐκεῖνοι ὅπου τὸ ἀκοῦσιν
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2816–18
- ἤθελεν ποιήσῃ ψυχικὸν καὶ ἔπαινόν του μέγαν, νὰ ὑπάντρεψῃ τὴν ντάμα Ζαμπέα μὲ ἕναν καβαλλάρην
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8531–2

εἰς τέτοιον λογισμόν ἂν ἦμουν ὅλη μέρα ἦθελα σκάσει στέκοντα σὰ σύκον ἢ πεπόνι 16th c./15th c., FALIEROS, Log. did. 258–9

Generic

πολλάκις δὲ ὁ πρίγκιπας νὰ ἦτον εἰς ἄλλον τόπον καὶ νὰ ἦθελεν νὰ ἔβαλλεν ὀκάποιο ἄλλον ..., οὐδὲν χρεωστοῦν οἱ ἄνθρωποι ... νὰ ποιήσουν ἄλλου γὰρ τινὸς ὀμάτζιον 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7896–900 ἀμπολλάκις καὶ δὲν ἦθελαν τὸ δουλεύουν καλὰ ..., νὰ ἤμπορῃ νὰ τοὺς ἐβγάνη ἀπὸ τὸ ἄνωθεν δίχως λόγου καὶ κρίσεως 1573, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 2, 21.10–11 ἂν ἴσως κ' ... δὲν ἦθελεν ἔχει χρεῖα ἐκεῖνος ... καὶ ἦθελεν θέλει νὰ τηνέ (ἀγελέα) πακτώσει, νὰ μὴ μπορᾷ τηνέ δώσει ἄλλο νοῦ

1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 57, 77.9–11

ἂν ἐφρονέψασι κι αὐτοὶ ν' ἀλλάξουσιν δαμάκι, τὸ κορασὲς δεῖν ἦθελες νὰ πιούσιν φαρμάκι 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Panor. I.443–4

3.3.2 Present Time Reference

Present indicatives (potentially real events) or imperfect indicatives/conditionals (hypothetical/counterfactual events) may appear in protases, where there is a strong correlation between present time reference and imperfective aspect.

3.3.2.1 Present Indicative in Protasis ἐὰν ὁ πατὴρ ὑπάρχει δαιμονιάριος, ὁ πάππος δύναται συναινεῖν τῷ γάμῳ, διότις ὁ υἱὸς οὐκ ἐστὶν ἐρρωμένος τὸν νοῦν ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 239.414 ἂν ἔχεις ἀπλαζίριν, ἂς πᾶν οἱ ἄνθρωποι νὰ μας ποίσουν τόπον, διὰ νὰ σοῦ συντύχω!

16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 8.12–13

ἂ θές νὰ γιάνω, ἀφέντη μου, ἐλα μοῦ τ' ἀγοράσης!
17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. III. 92

ἂν ἐν' καὶ λέγω φέματα, ὅλοι μὲ πέτε 'κτῆμα' 16th c., Kakop. 14 μίσσεψε, Ἀλέξη, πρὶ σέ δῃ, ἀνέναι κι ἀγαπᾷς με

17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Panor. I.241

3.3.2.2 Imperfect/Conditional in Protasis ἂν οὐ σέ γάπουν τὰ πολλά, τώρα σκοτώσει σέ 'χα 15th–16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. N 1571

ἂν ἦτον καὶ νὰ μπόρειε τὸν ὕπνον νὰ κοιμᾶτον ἀλησμονήσειν ἦθελεν ὀλίγον ἐκ τὴν λύπην 15th c., Peri xen. 23

ἂν τό ἔξευρα ἀληθινά, ἐπηγαίνα καὶ ἐσκοτώννα τὸν μισερ Ἀντρίαν
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 42.17–18

- σαράντ' ἁγίους καὶ ἂν ἔκραζες με πόθο νὰ γυρεύης, τὲς λειτουργιῆς σου χάνεις τες, μὰ μένα δὲν μοῦ φεύγεις 16th c., Alfav. 10 71–2
- ἂν ἠθέλαμεν κοιμᾶσται ... ἠθέλαμεν εἰπεῖν ὅτι ὄνειρον ἐθεωρούσαμεν 17th c., Vios Aisop. I 269, 37–8
- ἂν εἶχα ἑκατὸ γλῶσσες καὶ νᾶχα ἑκατὸ στόματα ... τὰ χεῖλη δὲν μποροῦσι παρὰ τοῦ ν' ἀποφρίξουνε 17th–18th c./17th c., Prol. Epain. Kef. 65–8
- ἂν ἐμποροῦσαν θάνατο ἐθέλασι μοῦ δώσει 17th–18th c./17th c., Stathis Prol. 4

3.3.3 Past Time Reference

Past indicatives (denoting both potentially real and hypothetical/counterfactual events) and conditionals (hypothetical/counterfactual events) may be used in protases.

Protases containing past indicatives referring to the past are fairly uncommon, and tend to have progressive or generic readings marked by imperfective aspect; but the aorist may also be used in generics if there is contextual support such as a co-occurring adverb like ποτέ “ever”.

3.3.3.1 Past Indicative in Protasis

Real (Progressive/Generic)

- αὐτὴ καὶ ἂν ἐμαραίνετον, ἔλαμπεν ὡς ὁ ἥλιος 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 183
- ποτὲ ἂν ἐσυνεπλάκη ἄνθρωπος ἀπὸ τοῦ γένους μου ... εἰς τέτοιον ... ἀνάμνησιν ἀγάπης, πολλὰ τὸν ἐκατεπίκραινα, χίλια τὸν ἐμεμφόμην 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. α 125–8
- οἷος καὶ ἂν εὐρίσκετον, μαντατοφόρος νὰ ἦτον, τινὰς οὐδὲν τὸν ἐκαμνεν ἐμπόδιον καθόλου 16th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1395–6 (ms B)
- ἀπὸ τοῦτα τὰ μῆλα τινὰς δὲν ἠμπόρειε νὰ πάρει ἀπ' αὐτά ἂν δὲν ἦτονε παρθένος καὶ καθαρὸς 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.38–9

Counterfactual

- ἂν οὐκ ἐθάρρεις κολυμβᾶν, κολυμβητὴς μὴ ἐγένου, ἀλλ' ἄς ἐκάθου σιγηρὸς ..., καὶ ἄς ἐκνηθες τὴν λέπτραν σου, καὶ ἄς ἤφηνες ἐμέναν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 103–5
- καταβλαττὰς ἂν ἐμαθον καὶ σηκωτὴς ἂν ἦμουν, ὡς σηκωτὴς νὰ ἐδοῦλευα τὴν ᾄπασαν ἡμέραν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 181–2
- ἂν οὐδὲν ἦτον ἡ θάλασσα, ἀκόμη εἶχε ὑπαγαίνειν 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 260
- τοὺς πόνους ἂν ἐσύναξαν ὅλους τοῦ κόσμου τούτου ... καὶ εἰς ἄλλον μέρος νὰ ἔβαναν πόνους τῆς ξενιτείας, πλεόν τῶν ἄλλων ἐβάρυναν πόνοι τῆς ξενιτείας 15th c., Alf. Xen. B 99–102
- Μαρ. ἐγὼ τὸν εἶχονα ἂν ἐκεῖνος δὲν εἶχεν φάγει. Ἑρμ. ... καὶ πῶς τὸν ἦθελες ἔχει ἂν δὲν ἔτρωγεν ἐκεῖνος; 17th c., Bertoldin. 96.19–22

3.3.3.2 Conditional in Protasis

- εἰ δὲ κομπώσῃν ἤθελες ..., ἃς ἔλαβες ὁμοίαν σου, καπήλου θυγατέραν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 106–7
- ἐκεῖνοι ἂν σε εἶχαν εὐρεῖ, Συρίαν οὐκ ἐθεώρεις
15th c./12th c., Dig. E 141
- ἂν εἶχε ἐπάρει ὁ πρίγκιπας τότε τὸν Μέγαν Κύρην καὶ τὰ φουσσᾶτα τῶν νησίων
... καὶ νὰ εἶχε ὑπάγει σπουδαχτικά ὁλόρθα εἰς τὸ Νίκλι ... ὁ Μέγας ὁ Δεμέστικός ἀργὰ νὰ ἐφουσσατέψεν
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4876–80
- ἂν εἶχαν ποίσειν τὰ καρτζὰ ἀσημένα, ἤθελα εἴσταιν τόσα φτενά ὅτι ἤθελαν καταλυέσθαι γλήγορα
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 76.18–19
- ἂν εἶχαν ἔχει κάτεργα, ... ἀπὸ τοῦ φόβου ἐφεύγασιν ..., ἠθέλασιν προτιμηθῇ σύντομα νὰ μισεύσουν 16th c./15th c., Velis. p 325–8
- Μαρ. Ἐγὼ τὸν εἶχονα ἂν ἐκεῖνος δὲν εἶχεν φάγει. Ἐρμ. ... καὶ πῶς τὸν ἤθελες ἔχει ἂν δὲν ἔτρωγεν ἐκεῖνος;
17th c., Bertoldin. 96.19–22
- ἀνίσως καὶ ὁ ἀγάς του δὲν τὸν ἤθελε κράξει, δὲν ἤθελαν ἡμπορέσει οἱ ἀκτῖνες τοῦ ἡλίου νὰ τὸν ξυπνήσουν
18th c., Don Kis. 48.8–10

NOTES

- (i) In texts composed wholly or partly in higher registers certain ancient options may be used:

ἂν as an apodotic particle with counterfactual past indicatives (and conditional periphrases):

εἰ γὰρ ἐκεῖ ἐτύχομεν, οὐκ ἂν τοῦτο συνέβη, οὐκ ἂν εἰς οἶκον μὰς ποτε εἴχετε πορευθῆναι
13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G I.274–5 negative μή rather than οὐ(κ) in protases:

ἂν οὖν μή φθάσῃ με τὸ σὸν φιλεύσπλαγχνον, αὐτάναξ, καὶ δώροις καὶ χαρίσμασι τὴν ἀπληστον ἐμπλήσης, τρέμω, πτοοῦμαι, δέδοικα μή φονευθῶ πρὸ ὥρας, καὶ χάσης σου τὸν Πρόδρομον
14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 271–4

(Note the accumulation of “high” features in this address to the emperor, e.g. datives, genitive after a preposition, obsolete vocabulary.)

- (ii) When the main clause expresses hope/anticipation ἀνέν(αι) καὶ can be used in a postposed subordinate clause, “in hope”/“in case”:

ἐμπρὸς-ὀπίσω γύρισα, ... ἂν ἔν καὶ εὕρω πούπετε τόπον ν’ ἀποκουμπήσω 16th c./15th c., Om. Nokr. Vas. 13–14

Μήπως is used similarly when the main clause expresses precaution/prevention, “lest/in case”:

μήδεν δώσης πληξίν τοῦ πληξημένου μήπως ππέεσῃ εἰς δισπιριά 16th c./15th–16th c., Fior 99.24–5

μὰ πές μου πῶς ἐπέρασε τὸ πράμα, μήπως κί’ ἔχει δίκιο 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Katz. III.63–4

δέομαι ... νὰ ἔχω συγχώρησιν ... μήπως εὔρη με ὁ θάνατος 1622, ?Karpachos, ZERLENDIS 1918d: B, 300.17–20

3.4 Temporal Clauses

(35) Temporal clauses add information about eventualities that take place before, at the same time as, or after the event described in the main clause, and contain past/present indicative or future/modal verb forms as required by the sense.

Clauses denoting past-time situations preceding a past-time main clause (i.e. with conjunctions meaning “when”, “after”, “since”, “as soon as”) normally contain aorist (past perfective) indicatives whether the situation described is a single event or a series of habitual/repeated events; towards the end of the period of this Grammar, however, an imperfect (past imperfective) indicative may be substituted in the latter function. Those denoting non-past (present/future/generic) situations preceding a non-past main clause typically contain perfective (aorist) subjunctives to represent both single and repeated events, though present indicatives may sometimes appear when the meaning is habitual/progressive. Typical LMedG/EMG conjunctions of this type are:

“(at the point in time) when”

ὡσάν, σάν, ὡς; ὅτε, ὅταν, ὁπότα(ν); ὅντε, ὄντα(ν), ἄνταν “after”, “since (the time when)”

ἀφοῦ, ἀφότου; ἀφόν, ἀφó(ν)τις; ἀπώς, ἀπότις, ἀπόντας; ἀπείς, ἀπείτις “as soon as”

μόλις, ἄμα, ὅσον, εὐθύς ὅπου, τόμου (< τὸ ὁμοῦ) νά, μοναῦτα καί

Clauses denoting past-time situations overlapping with a past-time main clause (i.e. with conjunctions meaning “while”, “as long as”) normally contain imperfect indicatives. Those denoting non-past situations overlapping with a non-past main clause contain present indicatives or imperfective/present subjunctives: since certain conjunctions do not allow/require subjunctives to be marked with νά (see below) it is often difficult or impossible to distinguish the two. Typical LMedG/EMG conjunctions of this type are:

“(during the time) when”

ὡσάν/σάν, ὡς, ὥς που, ὥς ποτε, ὡς ὅτι, ὡς ὅτε, ὡς ὁπότα(ν), ὥστε; ὄντε, ὄντα(ν), ἄνταν “while”, “as long as”

ἐνῶ, ἐνόσῳ; ἔστα(ν), ἔστοντας; ἔως (οὔ, ὁπού/πού, ὅτου, νά)

“as long as”

ὅσον

Situations following those described in past or non-past main clauses are necessarily prospective/theoretical relative to those main-clause events. Clauses describing these are normally introduced by conjunctions meaning “before”/“until” and contain subjunctives (mostly perfective/aorist); but since in past-time contexts the relevant actions eventually take place, a past-tense indicative is sometimes substituted in until-clauses, though not in before-clauses. Typical LMedG/EMG conjunctions of this type are:

“until”

ὥς (πού/όπου, ὅτι, ὅτε), ὥστε (πού/όπου); ἕσταν(ε); ἕως (οὔ, ὅπου/πού, ὅτου, νά); ὅσον

“before”

πρίν, πρὸ μή(ν), προτοῦ, ὀμπρὸς παρά, πρίχου

The until-group of conjunctions normally require subjunctive forms to be marked with νά, the before-group allow νά optionally; by contrast, the when- and after/since-groups regularly appear with “bare” subjunctives. Membership of the while/as long as-group is largely drawn from the when- and until-groups and individual conjunctions behave accordingly, with those belonging to both sets allowing both options.

3.4.1 Past-time Temporal Clauses Denoting Preceding/Overlapping Events

3.4.1.1 Preceding the Event Described in the Main Clause

“When/after/as soon as” + Aorist Indicative

- ἐγὼ ἐξ ἀρχῆς πολλὰ ἠντεστάθην, ὅταν τὸ ἤκουσα 12th c./11th c., ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 314.5–6
- καὶ ἄμα τὸν εἶδα, εἶπα τον, οὐδὲ ἐχαιρέτησά τον 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. E 579
- ἀφότου ἐκατόρθωσεν ὅσα σᾶς ἀφηγοῦμαι ... τὸ πνεῦμα του ἐπαρέδωκεν κι ἀπῆραν το οἱ ἀγγέλοι 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7801–4
- ὅσον ἀποσωρεύτησαν μικροὶ τε καὶ μεγάλοι, ἀνοῖξαν τὰ προστάγματα καὶ ἀναγνώσανέ τα 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7856–7
- ὄντα τὴν ἐγόρασεν ὁ αὐτὸς ρὲ Οὕνγκε τὴν Κύπρον ... ἦτον εἰς μεγάλην ἔννοιαν 16th c./15th c., ΜΑΧΑΪΡΑΣ, Chron. V 20.4–9
- ἀφὸν ἐφάγαν καὶ ἐπαρδιαβάσαν, ἐκατέβησαν κάτω εἰς τὴν αὐλήν
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 44.9
- σὺν ἐμίσεψε ἀπὸ κεῖ ..., κιαμιᾶς λογῆς ἀνάπαψη δὲν ἠῦρισκεν ἡ κόρη 18th c./16th–17th c., ΚΟΡΝΑΡΟΣ, Erot. III.13–14
- ὥσάν ἀπέρασεν ἡ πρώτη ἡλικία τοῦ παιδός, τὸν πέμπει νὰ κατοικᾷ ἐκεῖ
17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.33–5

Very occasionally the aorist indicative is used to indicate repeated events, though the imperfect indicative (overtly marking the incompleteness of the series) is the more regular choice in this function in the period covered by this Grammar:

Aorist

ὃν ἔναιιν καὶ ῥαθύμησεν, ἔπεφτεν εἰς τὰ ἄνθη 15th c./14th–15th c., Achil. L 525

Though the conjunction here is formally conditional, the sense is clearly “whenever”.

Imperfect

χαρὰν μεγάλην εἶχαςι διὰ νὰ ἔχουν πολεμήσει, ἐπεὶ, ὅταν δὲν τοὺς ἄφηνε νὰ ὑπᾶν νὰ πολεμήσουν, μεγάλην θλίψιν εἶχασιν, ἦσαν ὥσάν χαμένοι

16th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 9200–2

- καὶ ὅταν τὸ (χρυσὸν δέντρον) ἔκρουεν ὁ ἄνεμος, ἔμμορφα ἐτραγούδειεν 15th c./14th–15th c., Achil. L 536
- ὅταν ἐλειτοῦργαν, ἐσυνλειτοῦργάν του οὐράνιος ἄγγελος 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 366
- ὁπότεν ἐμίλουνε, ἐφανόντησαν σὰν τόσα τσουκάλια ὅπου νὰ ἔβραζαν 17th c., Bertoldos 6.11
- δὲν ἄφηνεν κανέναν νὰ εἶναι πόρνος ... διότι, τόμου νὰ ἀκούουνταν ποθὲς φιλὸς λόγος, αὐτὸς πάραυτα νὰ τὸν κράξῃ, νὰ τὸν μαλώσῃ 17th c., PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §29.40–2

NOTES

- (i) The pluperfect is occasionally used in later texts to emphasize anteriority:
καὶ ὅταν ὁ Θεὸς εἶχεν κάμει τὸν κόσμον εἶχαν πέσει (τὰ δαιμόνια) ἀπὸ τοὺς οὐρανοὺς εἰς τὴν γῆν 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.28–30
- (ii) Since what follows may be caused by what precedes, conjunctions meaning “after/since (the time when)” may sometimes acquire the causal meaning of “since” (see also 3.5, NOTE (iv)):
ὀλίγοι ἄνθρωποι ἤμποροῦν νὰ τὸ ἔχουσι φυλάττει (τὸ κάστρον), ἀφῶν ἔχει σωτάρχισιν κ’ ἐνὶ ἀφιρωμένον 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8273–4 οὐλον τὸν κόσμον θρέφει τὸν τὸ θάρος κ’ ἐγὼ φότης ἐβίγλισα ἅ τὸν Πόθον ... ἔχασά το 16th c./15th–16th c., Cypr. Canz. 109.19–22
- (iii) The relative adverb (ἐκεῖ) ὅπου, lit. “(in the place) where”, is sometimes also used with a temporal/causal meaning “when/since”; this may carry a further nuance of contrast with what has preceded:
ἀφῶν ὁ πρίγκιπας ἄρχισε γὰρ τὴν μάχην ὅπου ὑπωμόσαμεν οἱ δύο ἀγάπην νὰ κρατοῦμεν, ἐκεῖνος ἔχει τὴν ἀμαρτίαν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4568–70 ἐκεῖ ὅπου ἐκατέβαλα καὶ κατεσόφισά τον τὸν χοῖρον τὸν κακότηχον ..., ἐσένα τί σὲ ἤθελα νὰ εἶσαι εἰς ἐντροπὴν μου 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 464–6
- (iv) Conversely, ἔστοντα(ς) καὶ and (in Cyprus) ἐστόντα καὶ οὐ ἔχοντα(ς) καὶ, lit. “it being the case”/“since”, may also have temporal uses (see also 3.5):
ἔχοντα καὶ ἡ Ἀγία Ἐλένη ἠὔρειν τὸν τίμιον σταυρόν, ἔβαλέν τον εἰς ἕναν νεκρόν 17th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 67.23–5 ἐστόντα τάπισα καὶ ἐβγάλαν τον ἔξω ἀπὸ τὸν πύργον, ὁ βασιλιάς ἐποῖκεν νὰ τὸν μάθουσιν τὴν ἁγίαν πίστιν τοῦ Θεοῦ 16th c./15th–16th c., Fior 150.14–16
- (v) With ἔστοντα(ς) use of the aorist subjunctive to refer to the past as well as the non-past is normal, though not obligatory (see Note (iv)):
οἱ ὅποιοι ἄρχοντες ἔδωσάν με πέντε πῆχες, ἐγὼ δὲ ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ ἔλθω ἀπὸ τὴν καθολικὴν ..., ἤυρηκα πῆχες εἴκοσι πέντε 17th c., Diath. Nikon Metan. 41–4 “Εστοντας as a conjunction with past indicatives is probably therefore a secondary development, the original structure being a tenseless absolute construction marked only for aspect, “given X’s performance of Y”.

3.4.1.2 Overlapping with the Event Described in the Main Clause

“When/while/as long as” + Imperfect Indicative

- αὐτός, ὄνταν ἐμάνθανεν, ὑπόδησιν οὐκ εἶχεν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 60 app. crit. (P) ἐνὸς εἰς μάχην ἔστεκον καὶ ἐμέριζαν τὴν νίκην, ἀφῆκαν τὸ νὰ μάχωνται καὶ εἰς ἕνα λόγον ἦλθαν 16th c./13th–14th c., Liv. S 1216–17 (Lambert-van der Kolf) ἰσάστη μὲ τὴν περιγίπισσαν ..., ἐνῶ ἐκράτει τὸν τόπον τοῦ ἀπ’ αὐτὴν κ’ ἦτον κυρά του, κι ἀπῆρε τὴν θυγάτηρ της 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7980–2 εἶχεν εἰς ἀβοερίαν αὐτοῦ τὸν Γγίον ντὲ λὰ Ρότζε ἔως οὔ ἔζη ἡ μητέρα του
 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8043–4 ὡς ἔστεκα κ’ ἐθώρουν τον, γυρίζει καὶ ὀμιλεῖ μου 16th c./15th c., Om. Nokr. Vas. 27 καὶ βασιλέως παιδὶν ἤμουν, ... καὶ ὅσον ἀνετρέφουμουν, ὑψώνασι με χρόνοι 16th c./15th c., Om. Nokr. Vas. 51–2 ἐγὼ ὥσάν ἐκείτομουν εἰς τὸ κρεβάτι ἀσθενημένος ἄνοιξα τὰ μάτια μου καὶ ἔξαφνα εἶδα ἕναν ἄνθρωπον 16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 107.14–15 οὐδὲ ἔλειπεν αὐτὸ τὸ φῶς ἔως ὅτου ἔμενεν ἐκεῖ ἡ Θεοτόκος
 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 328.28–9
 ἡ Μαρκόλφα τὸν εἶδεν σάν ἐγύριζεν ἀπὸ τὴν χώραν 17th c., Bertoldin. 141.32–142.1

NOTES

- (i) (ἐκεῖ) ὅπου, lit. “(in the place) where”, is also used with an “overlapping” temporal meaning, sometimes with a nuance of contrast, “whereas”:

καὶ ἐκεῖ ὅπου ἐδέοντο τοῦ Θεοῦ νὰ δώσει βροχὴν, τοὺς ἔπεμψε χαλάζιν μέγαν καὶ φοβερὸν 17th c., Chron. 1619 1149–50

3.4.2 Non-past Temporal Clauses Denoting Preceding/Overlapping Events

3.4.2.1 Preceding the Event Described in the Main Clause

“When/after/as soon as” + Aorist Subjunctive (single event or repeated events)

- ὅταν ὁ κόραξ πούποτε καθίσῃ καὶ φωνάξῃ, ἐκεῖ σημαίνει θάνατον καὶ χωρισμὸν ἀθρόον 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 20–1 τὸ δένδρον τὸ νεόφυτον ..., ἀφοῦ ψυγῇ παρὰ καιρόν, ἀφοῦ φυλλορροήσῃ, ... ἄλλο ποτὲ οὐ βλαστήσει 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 223–5 πλὴν ἂν οὔ κάτω κατεβῇς ἐκ τ’ ὀρεινὸν ἐκεῖνο, ... θέλεις ἀκούειν ἀπὸ μακρέα τῆς Κακοδυστυχίας ἀνθρωποαναστενάγματα 14th c./13th c., Log. parig. L 145–8 μοναῦτα καὶ τὸν αὐτὸ μας ὀρισμὸ περιλάβης, νὰ ποίσης ... διαλαλημὸ καὶ ὀρισμὸ ἀπὲ τῇ μερίᾳ μας 1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 3, 5.1–2 ὅταν δώσῃ τὸν κακὸν τοῦ θάνατον ὁ Ἡρώδης, τότες νὰ σκοτώσῃ ὅλους τοὺς πρώτους 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 337.7–9 κάθα ὄντὲν ἔρθῃ καράβι, ἔρχεται καὶ κάθεται καὶ κλαίει

1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 3, 169.4–5

ὅποτε ἔρτῃς μὲ τὲς δύναμες ἐκεῖνες ... εἴμεστέν πρόθυμοι 1618, Mani, MIKLOSICH/MÜLLER 1860/90, vol. 3: 24, 270.9

“When/after/as soon as” + Present Indicative (habitual/repeated events) μόλις τοὺς δίδομεν ψωμίν, ... εὐθύς μὲ πάσαν προθυμίαν εὐρίσκονται δηνέρια 15th–16th c./15th c., BERTOS, Eis evd. aion. 63–8 ἀπὸ τοῦτα τὰ δέντρα ἡμποροῦμεν νὰ εὐρίσκωμεν τὰ σύνορα, ὅποτε τὰ χαλάει τὸ ποτάμι 1572, Achaia, VEIS 1956: 450.18

παρακαλῶ τῇ πανιερότῃ σου νὰ μοῦ θυμᾶσαι ..., ὅποτα βρίσκεις πατσάτσο, νὰ μοῦ πέβῃς γραφή 1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.6–7

NOTES

- (i) In more colloquial styles, clauses of this type occasionally lack an overt conjunction (in the manner of conditional clauses more generally, see 3.3). The subject is always omitted (i.e. understood as coreferential with that of the main verb) and the effect is rather like that of an infinitive marked for aspect but not for tense (see Rule (36)):

πρόσεξε ..., νὰ σέβῃς εἰς τὸ κάστρον, πῶς στήκει 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8214–15 “take note, on entering the castle, of how it is laid out”

3.4.2.2 Overlapping with the Event Described in the Main Clause

“When/while/as long as” + Present Indicative/Subjunctive καὶ ἂν θέλουν τρώγειν οἱ δεκατρεῖς τοὺς δώδεκα μοδίους, ... τί τοὺς οὐ θάπτω ὥσὸτε ζῶ καὶ φεύγω ἀπὸ τὴν Πόλιν ... ; 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. II 26.9–26.11 app. crit. (H) ὥς ποτε ζῆς, βεβαιώθησε καὶ γνώριζε ἀπ’ ἐμέναν, τῆς Τύχης τὸ κακόγνωμον οὐ θέλεις ἀποφύγειν 14th c./13th c., Log. parig. L 100–1 βουλὴν ἀπῆρα ... ποτὲ νὰ μὴ τὴν στρέψω ὥσὸτι στέκῃ ἡ ψυχὴ ἐπάνω εἰς τὸ κορμί μου 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1410–13 μὲ δάκρυα πάντα νὰ σὲ κλαίω, ἔστα νὰ ζῶ εἰς τὸν κόσμον 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 4274 app. crit. (X) λοιπὸν κι ἐσεῖς τὴν νιότη σας χαίρεστεν ὥστε ζεῖτε 16th c., Kakop. 185 τὸ ἕτερον ἡμῖσον νὰ πάρῃ ἡ λεγομένη κερά Θεόκλητη, νὰ τὸ ἔχῃ ἕως ὅπου νὰ ζῇ

1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.23–4

- ὅμως εἶναι δύσκολον νὰ ἀποθάνῃ τινὰς χωρὶς νὰ ἔβγῃ ἡ ψυχὴ του, καὶ ὥστε νὰ εἶναι ἡ ψυχὴ του μέσα του δὲν εἶναι ἀποθαμένος 17th c./16th c., MOREZINOS, Klini 165.15–17
- ὁ ποῖος ἀφέντης παπᾶς νὰ μπορῇ νὰ ἔχῃ τὰ μνημόσυνα καὶ τὰ συνηθικὰ ἑορτὰς ..., ἔως νὰ μπορῇ νὰ ἱεουργᾷ στὸ ἄνωθεν μοναστήρι
1601, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 107, 122.11–13
- εἶναι πολλὰ ἀναπαμένον τὸ μοναστήρι ἀπὸ λόγου του, καὶ ὅσον ζεῖ δὲν θέλουν ... ἄλλον 1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.41–3
- τὰ ἐξῆς νὰ στέκεται ἡ αὐτὴ ἀλλαξιά ὥστε ὁ ἥλιος φέγγει 1640, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 200, 168.20
- ὅντε ξημερώνει, ἅμε ὀμπροστὰς τοῦ βασιλέως 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 42.5–6
- τὸ πρᾶμα του νὰ εἶναι εἰς τὸ χέριν της νὰ τὸ κρατῇ ... ὥσποτε ζεῖν 1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 181.12–14
- ὡς ὅποτα ζῶ νὰ γρικόται ἀνάμεσά μας καὶ τῶν ἐδυνῶν ὡς ὅποτα ζῶ καὶ ἀποθάνοντάς μου νὰ ἔναι πάλι ἐδική του 1731, Kimolos, RAMFOS 1972: 18, 287.13

3.4.3 Past/Non-past Temporal Clauses Denoting Following Events

3.4.3.1 Containing Subjunctives

“Until” + Aorist Subjunctive (single event)

- οἱ Τοῦρκοι οὐδὲν ἀνάμειναν ἔως οὔ νὰ κατουνέψουν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5260
- βούλεται νὰ ἔχῃ βάλλει φύλαξιν ... ἔως οὔ νὰ τὸ ἔχῃ ἐπάρει
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2899–900
- ᾧμοσαν νὰ μὴ κοιμηθοῦν ἐστάνε ἐξημερώσῃ 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 439 app. crit. (A)
- ὡς ἤκουσε ταύτας τὰς ἀποκρίσεις, ἄργον πολλὰ τοῦ ἐφαίνετον, ἔως ὅτου νὰ ὑποστρέψῃ ὀπίσω εἰς τὸ καράβιν του, νὰ ὑπάγῃ τὴν ὁδὸν του 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1444–6
- ἐκεῖ τὴν ἔδοξεν τὸ νὰ κρυβῇ τὴν γραῖαν ἔστ’ ἂν νὰ ποίῃ τὸ κακὸν
16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1249–50
- κι οὐκ ἤθελον ν’ ἀφήσουσιν τοὺς Φράγκους νὰ περάσουν, ὅσον νὰ ἐκπληρώσουσιν τὲς συμφωνίης ἐκεῖνες 16th c./14th c., Chron. Mor. P 409–10
- ἐστάθην δυνατός, ὡσώσπου νὰ διαβῇ τὸ πρᾶμαν
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 10.4–5
- πολλοὺς ἀνθρώπους ἐσκότωσαν ἀπὸ τὸ φουσάτον, ὥσθε νὰ φθάσῃ ὁ πόλεμος τοῦ Ἀλεξάνδρου 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 14.22–3 (Konstantinopulos)
- ἀποὺ τὸ ρέστος, ὥστε νὰ σώσου στὰ ὑπέρπυρα ρπα’, νὰ δώσουν ἐκείνων ὅπου τὴν θέλου καλογερέψῃ καὶ μνημονευεῖ καὶ θαφεῖ
1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 92, 108.17–18
- ὀπλεγάρεται ὁ λεγόμενος κυρ-Ἀντώνης νὰ τοῦ δίδῃ κρασί ... ἔως νὰ τοῦ δώσῃ τὰ ὑπέρπυρα ρν’ 1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 256, 251.5–6 ἔτζι πάντα ἐδῶ ἐζήσαμεν εἰς εἰρήνην, ὥστε ποὺ ὁ ἐχθρὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου νὰ σπεῖρη το ζιζάνιο 1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.8–9 ἀποσφώνιαξέ την (σκίλλαν) καλὰ εἰς τὸ ξύδι, ἔως νὰ μὴν ἔχη πλέον τινὰ ὑγρότητα 17th c., LANDOS, Geopon. 187.25–6

εἶμαι δοῦλός σου, ὥς ὅπου νὰ ποθάνω
17th–18th c./17th c., KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 161

“Until” + Present Subjunctive (usually of future/modal auxiliaries, rarely progressive) ἀφίνω νὰ ἔχη ὁ Δημήτριος τὴν διοίκησιν του ἀπὸ τὸ μοναστήριον ὥσὸτε νὰ θέλῃ ἐξελεθῇ νὰ ὑπάγῃ εἰς τὸν αὐθέντην μου τὸν βασιλέαν

ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.58–9

νὰ τὸ περιφυλάττῃ ... ἔως ὅπου νὰ ἔρχωνται πατέρες ἀπὸ τὴν ἄνωθεν μονὴν 1660, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969j: 1, 140.10–12

“let him continue to keep it until priests are coming from the above monastery”

“Before” + Aorist Subjunctive (single event; more rarely repeated/generic) πρὶν τὴν εὐρύῃς (τὴν τύχην), ἐχάσες την, πρὶν τὴν ἰδῆς, ὑπάγει

13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 206

ἂν ἔπτιασας, εἰπέ το, πρὶν σὲ καταδεσμήσωσι καὶ χάσῃς τὰ νερά σου
13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 536–7

πρὶν τὸ πιάσω χάνεται καὶ φεύγει ἐκ τὸ σκουτέλλιν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 242

ἦρταν ... εἰς τὴν Λευκουσίαν ἀπεζά, πρὶν νὰ ξημερώσῃ
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 16.9–10

καὶ ξεφορτώσου τὰ κακὰ, πρίχου νὰ σὲ φονεύσου 16th c./15th c., Om. Nokr. Vas. 118 ὀμπρὸς παρὰ νὰ γεννηθῇ ὁ Χριστὸς ἐφάνησαν ἀπάνω εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν τρεῖς ἥλιοι καὶ τρία φεγγάρια 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 334.12–13 μίσεψε ... πρὶ σὲ δῆ 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Panor. I.241 προτοῦ σώσῃ ἐκεῖ, τὸν εἶχε φθονήσῃ ἡ γυναῖκα του καὶ ὁ υἱὸς του καὶ τὸν ἐσκοτώσανε 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.29–31 πρὶν νὰ σώσῃ εἰς τὸν πόλεμον, ἤρε τζακισμένον τὸν Μπαγιαζίτη 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 39.32–3

NOTES

(i) In Cyprus until-conjunctions are sometimes used to mean “before”:

ἐξωδίασεν πεντακόχιε χιλιάδες ὀνομίσματα ὥς που νὰ τοὺς (γιοὺς) φέρῃ
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 76.13–14

“he had spent 500,000 bezants before he recovered his sons” ὥς που νὰ φάγῃ ὁ Δημήτρης, ἔγραψεν ἡ ρήγαινα χαρτίν

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 412.5–6

“before Dimitris finished eating, the queen wrote a letter”

- (ii) πρὸ μή(ν) (νᾶ) is sometimes used when there is a nuance of “precaution” or “prevention”:

ἦρταν ὁ<μ>πρός, πρὸ μὴν ἔρτη τὸ καράβι μὴ τὰ ροῦχα τους

1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 2, 52.28–9

3.4.3.2 Containing Past Indicatives (in Past Time Only)

“Until”

ἦντεστάθην ..., ἕως οὗ ἐπόνεσα καὶ ἡῦρα τὰς θείας γραφὰς μαρτυροῦντας

12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 314.5–7

ἀτός του ἐστάθηκεν ἐκεῖ ... ἕως οὗ καὶ ἐπληρώθηκεν τὸ κάστρον

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7999–8000

ἀφέντεψεν, ἀφ’ ὃν ἐστέφθην ὥς που καὶ ἐπέθανεν, λθ’ χρόνους

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 58, 60.36, 1–2

ἔτρεχα ὥστε κ’ ἐτσάκισε τὸ σταύρωμαν ἡ μέρα

16th c./15th c., BERGADIS, Apok. A 12

οὐδὲν ἐλεῖψαν ἀποκεῖ, ὥστε ποῦ τελειώθη

16th c., Alex. Rim. 596

ἀνέμειναν ἕως ὅπου ἔφθασεν ὁ καιρὸς καὶ ἐγέννησεν ἡ βασίλισσα

16th c., Varl. & Ioas. (Lavras) 75.26–7 ἐγὼ δὲν τὸ ἐπίστευα ὥστε ὅπου ἐπῆγα εἰς τὸν τίμιον σταυρόν

17th c., Diath. Nikon Metan. 61–2

3.4.4 Other Types of Temporal Clause

3.4.4.1 Nominalized Verb Forms

- (36) A nominalized perfective/aorist infinitive or a nominalized finite clause containing an aorist subjunctive marked with νᾶ may be used to mean “on [X] doing Y”, i.e. as broadly equivalent to a temporal clause introduced by a conjunction meaning “when”, “after”, “as soon as” but marked only for aspect (with perfective aspect naturally interpreted as denoting a preceding event).

The tenselessness of subjunctives in this construction follows directly from the inherent tenselessness of the infinitives for which they are substituted; both denote actions outside the temporal framework of this world and acquire a time reference secondarily, through their relation to the time of the event denoted by the main verb.

The subject position of an infinitive in this construction may be controlled by the subject of the main verb if the two elements are coreferential. Alternatively, the infinitive may have an overt nominative subject of its own, which may or may not be coreferential with the subject of the main verb. If the infinitival subject is coreferential with the main-clause subject, the latter is omitted (i.e. understood as having the content of the appropriate pronoun); if it is not coreferential, an overt subject is obligatory unless the verb is impersonal.

When a single nominative subject is placed between an infinitive and a main verb it is often impossible to decide which of the two verbs it properly belongs to.

τό + Infinitive

- εὐθύς τὸ ἰδεῖν ὁ Διγενής, τὴν κόρην συντυχαίνει 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 934
- τὸ ἀκούσειν τὸ ὄνομα ὁ Χρόνος ἐκ τὸν ξένον, ὥσπερ ἐκράτει τὸ χαρτίν, γοργὸν τὸ ἀποτυλίσσει 14th c./13th–14th c., Log. parig. L 93–4
- τὸ λάβει τὰ πιπτάκια, ... ἀνοῖξαν τὰ προστάγματα καὶ ἀναγνώσανέ τα 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7855–7
- τὸ ἀκούσει ὁ Ροῦσος ντὲ Σουλῆ ..., εὐθέως ἐσυγκατέβηκεν κ' ἰσιάστησαν εἰς τοῦτο 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7927–8
- τὸ ἰδεῖ τον ὁ μισὶρ Ντζεφρές, γλυκέα τὸν ἀποδέχτη 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8231
- τὸ ἔλθει ἡ πρωτοστρατόρισσα, ὁ πρίγκιπας τῆς λέγει 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7703
- καὶ τὸ ἰδεῖν ὁ βούβαλος ἐσέβη εἰς τὴν μέσην 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 1028
- ἐγὼ τὸ δεῖν ἐτρόμαξα 16th c./15th c., BERGADIS, Apok. V 53

τό + νά-clause

- τὸ νὰ τὸν ἴδῃ ὁ ἀμιράς, πιάνει, καταφιλεῖ τον 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 594
- τὸ ν' ἀργήσῃ λεῖ (ὁ πάγος) ..., καὶ χολλιάζονται τυφλοὶ καὶ θεραπεύονται 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 34.7–8
- τὸ νὰ δεῖ ὁ φρεῖ Γιλιάμ πὼς ἐλείπεν ὁ Περρῆς ..., ἐννοιάστην πὼς ἐπῆγεν νὰ ποίση νώση 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 58.17–18
- τὸ νὰ ξημερώσῃ, ἦρτεν ὁ Φανῆς ... εἰς τὸ σπῖτιν τοῦ Τζωρτή 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 60.4–5
- τὸ νὰ τὸ δῶ (τὸ λάφιν), τὸ δόξευα κ' εἶχα το σκοτωμένον 16th c./15th c., Om. Nekt. Vas. 46
- ἔγραψε ὁ Ὀκτάβιος τοῦ Ἡρώδου ὅτι, παρευθὺς τὸ νὰ ἰδῇ τὸν ὀρισμὸν του, νὰ ἔλθῃ εἰς τὴν Ρώμην 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 341.27–9

NOTE

- (i) A few examples in later texts have aorist indicatives with or without νά. These appear to involve adaptations of the above in line with the form/sense of corresponding temporal clauses:

- τὸ{ν} νὰ τὸ ἐγέννησεν (τὸ παιδί), ἐστάθηκε ὀρθὸ εἰς τὰ ποδάρια του 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.6–7
- τὸ ἤκουσε ὁ Ταμερλάνος, τοῦ ἑκακοφάνη πολλά ... νὰ παίρνη τὴν ἀφεντία τους 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.10–12

3.4.4.2 Gerunds

- (37) A gerund (or an inflected participle) may perform the role of a temporal clause in describing situations that precede or overlap with the event described in the main clause; in the absence of a conjunction the exact temporal force has to be determined pragmatically from the context.

Inflected participles apart from the perfect passive are all but obsolete in vernacular LMedG and often poorly controlled (at least by ancient standards). Their use indicates a higher register and/or an official context (especially legal), and in their role as stylistically marked variants of gerunds they mainly follow the syntax of the latter in not allowing their subjects, overt or covert, to be coreferential with non-subjects in main clauses. But whereas gerunds are always active in form and meaning, participles may be either active or mediopassive. Mediopassive participles are particularly useful in the absence of a corresponding gerundial option, though many common deponent verbs (those with mediopassive morphology but active meanings) do form active gerunds: ἔρχοντας, φαίνοντας etc.

Accordingly, gerunds/participles function prototypically as active “subject-orientated adjuncts”, i.e. with a missing subject understood to be coreferential with the subject of the main verb, or as “absolute constructions”, i.e. with an overt subject of their own that is referentially distinct from that of the main verb. In practice, however, the two subjects are often coreferential, and in this respect gerundial/participial constructions follow the model of temporal clauses, cf. the non-coreferential subjects of after X did this, Y did that with the (optionally) coreferential subjects of after X did this, s/he (= X) did that, or after s/he (= X) did this, X did that.

When the subject of a gerund is coreferential with that of the main verb, therefore, the subject position is either empty and controlled by the main-verb subject (i.e. the two are automatically understood to corefer), or it is filled with a nominative subject to form an “improper” absolute construction, with the main-verb subject omitted and its pronominal content supplied by agreement morphology on the verb. Ideally, participles in this construction agree with the main-clause subject in number, gender and case (nominative) and their subject position is controlled, though various deviations from this norm are attested.

When the subject of a gerund is not coreferential with the main-verb subject, the position is filled unless the verb is impersonal; the subject may be nominative (making a true nominative absolute), or, in deference to ancient practice, genitive (making a genitive absolute), but genitive clitic pronouns are standard in the absence of nominative clitics (τοῦς has a very restricted distribution). Ideally, inflected participles agree with their own subjects in number, gender and case (nominative or genitive), though again there are deviations. The subject of a genitive absolute, like that of a nominative absolute, may in practice be coreferential with that of the main clause.

The negative is either οὐ(κ)/(οὐ)δέν or μή(ν) according to whether the writer is following the functional parallel with temporal clauses (where οὐ(κ)/(οὐ)δέν is used with past/present indicatives) or the participial tradition (where μή(ν) had been the standard negator since Late Antiquity); the former is the normal option.

Perfective gerunds/participles are normally understood to denote an event taking place before that of the main clause, imperfective forms as denoting eventualities (at least partly) contemporaneous with the main-clause event, but perfective forms are in decline in the later period covered by this Grammar and imperfective forms are often used in an aspectually neutral way.

Nominative Subject ($\pm$ control by/coreferentiality with main-clause subject)

- διαβόντα γὰρ μικρὸς καιρὸς, ἀπέθανε ἡ κουντέσσα 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8001
- ἀκούσοντά το οἱ ἄρχοντες, ... μεγάλως τὸ ἀνεχάρησαν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 351–4
- ὁ καστελλᾶνος παρευτὺς, οὐ μὴ σκοπῶντα δόλον, ... ὑποσχέθη του νὰ τὸν δεχτῇ
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8237–8
- ἐκεῖνος δὲ δεξάμενος τῆς κόρης τὸ πιτάκιν, ἀνέθαλλεν ἡ ψυχίτσα του, ἐχάρηκεν μεγάλως 15th–16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. N 1110–11
- ἐμόσαν του ὁ σὶρ Φίλιππε τε Ἰμπελὴν ... καὶ ὁ μισερ Τζουὰν Ταπιέρ, καθὼς ἐποῖκαν οἱ δελιοποὶ ἀφέντες, θέλοντα καὶ μὴ θέλοντα
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 56.26–8
- πηγαίνοντα ἔμπροσθεν τοῦ πάπα, πολλὰ ἐκατηγόρησαν τοὺς Κυπριῶτες
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 296.9–10
- γροικῶντα ὁ κυβερνούρης τὸ κακὸν θέλημαν τοῦ πάπα, ἐξανάστρεψεν ἄλλους μαντατοφόρους 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 296.13–15
- σιμώνοντας ἡ ὥρα νὰ γεννηθῇ ὁ Χριστός, ἦλθεν ἀπὸ τοὺς οὐρανοὺς μέγα φῶς
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.7–9
- ὁ γάιδaros, ιδῶντας τοῦτο, ἐκατηγόρησεν τότε τὸ ἄλογο πολλὰ 16th c., NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 53.6–7
- ἐτοῦτα λέγοντας ἡ Παρθένος Μαρία τῆς ἡγουμένης, φαίνεται πὼς τήνε παίρνει καὶ πάγει τήνε εἰς ἕναν τόπον σκοτεινὸν 17th c./16th c., MOREZINOS, Klini 235.12–13
- ἐλθόντος ἡ ὥρα, ἐσηκώθη τὸ φουσᾶτον νὰ πηγαίῃ 17th c./16th c., Vios Filaret. 241.38–9
- νὰ ἐμπορῆς ἀπὸ ὅδ᾽ νὰ σοτοσκοριβέρης τοῦτο τὸ χαρτί ἀπὸ τὸν ... αὐθέντη δοῦκα, φυλαζόμενα ἄλλα ὅπου σοῦ χρεωστῶ 1549, Crete, MARMARELI/DRAKAKIS 2005: 141, 141.7–8
- καὶ τὸ ἄλλον ἡμισὸ [νὰ παίρνου]ν οἱ κοπιαστάδες, ἀβοηθῶντας ἡ προειρημένη κυράτζα Σταμάτα στὴν φύτευσιν 1573, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 2, 21.8–9
- πᾶσα γνωστικός ἄνθρωπος, δὲ κατέχοντας πότες ἔχει νὰ τοῦ ἔλθῃ αὐτὸς ὁ θάνατος, πρέπει καὶ τυχαίνει νὰ ὀρδινιαστῇ 1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 14, 35.5–6
- ιδόντας αὐτὰ, οἱ γιανιτζάρου του ἐφύγανε καὶ ἐδιάβησαν μὲ τὸν ἀδελφὸ του
17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 44.28–9
- περνῶντας λοιπόν ... καλὰ τὰ πράγματα, καὶ ... πετῶντες πολλοὶ εἰς τοὺς οὐρανοὺς, ἀνασταίνεται ἕνας βασιλέας εἰς αὐτὴν τὴν χώραν
17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 31.26–9
- τὸ δὲ ... γένος τῶν Χριστιανῶν ἐπρόκοπτε ..., δὲν λογιάζοντες ... τὴν γνώμην τοῦ βασιλέως, μὴδὲ φοβούμενοι τοὺς φοβερισμοὺς του
17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 32.3–5

Genitive Subject ($\pm$ coreferentiality with main-clause subject)

- ὡς ἐνι θεοῦ θέλημα, ὥς γίνεται, ὅτι ..., συνεργοῦντος μου τοῦ Κυρίου, αὐτὰ εἶν τὸ ἔργον μου 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 314.27–9

- τοῦτο δὲ κάμου ἀκούσαντος, ἀπόστειλα γραφὴν εἰς τὸν ἡγούμενον
?1125, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 18, 417.4
- τοῦ γάμου λυομένου, ἃς τρέφονται τὰ παιδιά ἀπὸ τὰ ἀγαθὰ τὰ πατρικά
ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 232.195
- οἱ συγγενεῖς του ἐγένοντο, καὶ μὴ θελὼν τοῦ δούκα 15th c., Chron. Toc. 1025 app. crit.
θανατικοῦ γενομένου ... καὶ φAMILIKΩΣ εὕρισκομένων εἰς κάστρον ἐν τῶν ἐκεῖσε κεφαλατεύοντες ..., ἀπέθανε ... τὸ παιδὶν καὶ ... ὁ πατὴρ αὐτοῦ καὶ ... ἡ μήτηρ αὐτοῦ 16th c./15th c., SFRANTZIS, Chron. 12.1–8
- τὸ χάρισμα ὁπῶχω ἔγω δὲ θέλω νὰ τὸ κρύψω, ζῶντα μου θέλω κανενὸς νὰ τοῦ τ' ἀποκαλύψω 16th c., Fyll. gadar. 276–6B
- καθεζομένης τῆς Ἀφεντίας, ὑπῆγε καὶ ἐπροσκύνησεν αὐτὴν καὶ τὸ γράμμα τοῦ μαίλου τοῦ Γαλατᾶ ἔδειξεν 16th c., Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 15–17
- καὶ τὴν ἔτερην ἀποληφθὲν ἀπὸ τὴν αὐτὴν νὰ τήνε μοιράζουσιν ἐφ' ἡμισίας ὁ υἱὸς του ...
μὲ τὸν ἄγκονά του ..., ἀποτυχόντας (σ)του τοῦ προειρημένου κυρ Ἀλίσαντρου 1579, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 5, 23.14–16
- μὴ ἔρχοντάς τους στὸ ἄνωθεν τέρμενον, νὰ ἡμποροῦν οἱ κριτάδες ν' ἀποφασίσουν διὰ γνώμη τους 1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 135, 89.2–3
- ἀποθανόντας τοῦ καλογέρου, ν' ἀπομένη τὸ λεγόμενο ἀμπέλι στὰ παιδιά τοῦ ἄνωθεν Λιγνοῦ 1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 92, 108.10–11
- ὁποῖος ἀγαπᾷ ἐμένα ζῶντ(ας) μου, ἔνα τους παρακαλῶ, ν' ἀγαποῦσι τὴν μάνα μου καὶ τὰ παιδιά μου δέκα 1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 110.144–5
- κάθοντά σου εἰς τὴν τράπεζαν, γελᾷς ἢ συντυχαίνεις;
17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 406.389

NOTES

- (i) According to context, a gerundial clause may take on causal or circumstantial nuances, as expected.
- (ii) In colloquial texts a missing subject may sometimes not be linked directly to the main-clause subject and a commonsense interpretation is required; e.g. in the following the subject of the gerund is coreferential with the subject of a subordinate clause:

παγαίνοντας εἰς τὸ σπῑτί του, ... ἀπὸ τὸ σακοῦλι, ὅπου ἔβαλε τὸ κεφάλι, ἔτρεχεν αἶμα!
16th c., DIONYS., Istor. 253.23–4

3.5 Causal Clauses

- (38) Causal clauses are introduced by conjunctions meaning “because” or “since” and contain past/present indicative or future/modal verb forms according to the sense required.

In real (past/present) time the action or situation described in a causal clause must precede or overlap with the eventuality that it provides a cause or reason for.

But a causal clause may also represent a motivating belief held at the time of speaking about what will/would happen in the future as a consequence of the main-clause event (see NOTE (ii) below for EMG examples).

Typical LMedG/EMG causal conjunctions are:

“because”: ὅτι, διότι, διατό, διοῦ; διατί/(ὁ)γιατί

“since”: ἐπεὶ/ἐπειδή(τις), ἔσ(τ)οντας (νά, ὁπού/πού), στάντες (νά, καὶ νά).

The conjunctions ὅτι and διότι “because” are used throughout the period of this Grammar; the second, in origin, is a clarification of the former involving prefixation of δι(ά) “because of”.

As often happens cross-linguistically, διατί “why” (retained alongside its later development γιατί) also came to mean “because”.

Ἔσ(τ)οντας and στάντες (in use alongside the traditional ἐπεὶ/ἐπειδή “since”) are in origin gerunds of the verb “be”, first used in tenseless absolute constructions containing νά-subjunctives marked only for aspect, “[X’s performance of Y] being the case”. Subsequently they came to be used with tensed indicative forms, in the case of ἔστοντας often in combination with ὁπού (and occasionally with retention of νά), “it being the case that [X happens/happened]”. From this, it was a simple step to reinterpretation as a conjunction meaning “since”, “given that”.

“Because”

ὡς τὸ ἦκουσα ὁ δοῦλος σου χαρᾶς πολλῆς ἐπλήσθην, ὅτι ἡ κοιλία μου ἠνέκαίρησεν ἀπὸ τὴν ἀφαγίαν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 258–9 χθὲς ἐν αὐτῷ ἐσφάξαμεν ἡδονικὰ κοράσια, διότι οὐδὲν ἠθέλασιν ὥσάν τὰς ἐλαλοῦμαν 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 72–3 καὶ ἐπλάκωσεν τὸν λαὸν ... ὅτι ἐξήχυσεν ὁ ποταμὸς καὶ ἔπνιξεν χιλιάδας ν’ καὶ β’ 1326, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 41, 93.7–9

οὐκ ἠμπορῶ σᾶς γράψαι, διατὶ βαρειῶμαι γράφει τα διὰ τὴν πολυγραφίαν
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7802–3 ὅλοι τὸν θέλουσι γεῶ, ... διότι ἐστράφη ἄνεργος, τὴν ἐξοδὸν τοῦ ἐχάσε 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8185–6

οἱ βοσκοὶ ... ἀσηκώθησαν ἀπάνω, συχυσμένοι διότι ἐκοιμοῦνταν
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 332.12–14

ἡ ... Μακαρία Κουκάκαινα ... εὐρίσκεται ἀχαμνά, διατὶ ἔναι γερόντισσα 1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.2–4

ὁ πατέρας τοῦ δὲν τὸν ἐδέχτη, διατὶ ἐφοβάτονε ἀπὸ τὸν σουλτάν Μουράτη 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 25.26–7 παρακαλῶ τὴν πανιερότη σου νά μοῦ τσι στείλῃς τσι τάβλες, ὀγιατὶ μοῦ κάνουσι μεγάλη χρεία 1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.24–5 νά μοῦ στείλῃς δύο ὠρολόγια ... ὅτι μὲ χρειάζονται γιὰ τὰ παιδιά μου 1697, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 37, 226.11–13

“Since”

- ἐπεὶ ... τοῦ τόπου τὰ συνήθεια ὀρίζουν ὅτι ὁ πρίγκιπας, ... σωματικῶς νὰ ἀπέρχεται ἐντὸς τοῦ πριγκιπάτου 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7880–3
- ἔκαμε καὶ ἔκαμάν του ἄλλην εἰς τύπωσιν ..., ἐπειδὴ αὐτὸς ἔναι μεγαλύτερος βασιλεὺς παρὰ ὅλους 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.17–21
- ἔστειλεν ἔξοδες καὶ κάτεργα ὁ πάπας ..., ἔσοντας ὅπου πολλές φορές τὸ ἐβουλήθησαν (να γένει ἡ ἔνωσις τῶν ἐκκλησιῶν) 17th c./16th c., Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1631) 229.40–2
- τοῦ ἑκακοφάνη πολλά, ἔσοντας νὰ εἶναι ὅλοι μίας πίστεως 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.11–12
- στάντες καὶ ... νὰ μὴν ἔχω νὰ δώσω 1614, Crete, ILIAKIS 2008: 219, 206.15–6
- στάντες νὰ ᾔχε γυναῖκα ἐπαρμένη 1628, Crete, VARZELIOTI 2000: 2, 333.16
- νὰ μὴν ἔχη ἐξουσίαν ... κανένας ... νὰ τοὺς ἐνοχλήσῃ, ἔστοντας ὅπου ἔγινε μὲ κοινήν γνώμην καὶ βουλὴν πάντων τῶν καθηγουμένων 1661, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 71, 200.13–15
- θέλω τὸν ἐγκαλέσειν εἰς τὴν ὥραν τῆς κρίσεως, ἐπειδὴ καὶ ἀφιέρωσά το διὰ ψυχικὴν μου σωτηρίαν 1683, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 18, 45.8–10
- κανένας δὲν ἀπεκοτοῦσε νὰ φανερωθῇ, ἔστοντας ἐκεῖνοι οἱ φοβεροὶ πειράτες νὰ ἔστεκόντασι μὲ τὸ σπαθὶ στὸ χέρι 18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 22.9–11
- ἐπειδὴ τῆς καὶ δὲν ἡξεύρει νὰ γράφῃ 1706, Zakynthos, ZOIS 1941: 1, 110.31

NOTES

- (i) With verbs of emotion ὅτι, διότι, γιατί etc. come close to introducing complements, cf. I am angry because/that ... :

τὸν αὐθεντόπουλόν μου συγχαίρομαι ὅτι ἡτύχχησεν καὶ ἐκέρδησεν βρεφόθεν
?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.1v.18–20

τὰ ροῦχα ... μέρτσα τὰ ἔλαβα καὶ κρῖμα εἰς τὸν κόπον ... γιατὶ ἐβγήκε πολλά ἀχαμνὸ 1696, Ochrid, MERTZIOS 1947a: 9, 214.10–12

- (ii) A natural extension is the substitution of factive ὅπου “in so far as” in later texts when the cause/reason is regarded as true (though many of the clauses in question can also be treated as relatives, see 5.3.3):

νὰ ἐβγοῦμεν ἀπὸ τοῦ μεγάλου καὶ ἀνόλπιδου χρέους, ὅπου δὲν ἔχομεν ... ἄλλοῦ ἐλπίδα 1583, ?Athens, MERTZIOS 1954: 1, 124.28–9 θωρῶντας τον καὶ λυπῶντας τον ὅπου ἦτονε εἰς τὴ φυλακὴ

1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 752, 652–653.4–6

καὶ ἴτα νὰ τὸν ἐδεκτῶ ἐγὼ νὰ τοῦ κάμω ἡ γι-ἀνήπορη, ὅπου ... ἴτα εἶχα ἐγὼ γίνει στὸ κόσμo; 1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.15–16

- (iii) Since there is a temporal relation between causes/reasons and main-clause events, and since καὶ is regularly used to link clauses denoting events that follow one another in time, καί is often used to conjoin clauses that stand in a causal relationship in place of formal subordination, especially in more colloquial styles. Some degree of grammaticalization appears to be involved given the adaptation of καί to ὁκαί to resemble a “true” conjunction:

τὰ ποκάμισα ..., μὴν ἔχῃς καμίαν ἔγνοια, ὁκαί ... θέλω σου τὰ πέψει

1498, Crete, Manoussacas 1976: 3, 21.15–16

μηδὲν πέψης ἄτυχους (μαντατοφόρους) καί χάσης πολλὰ

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 22.35–6

ἀπὸ πτωχὸν μὴ δανεισθῆς καί κλαίει καί ἀκολουθᾷ σε!

16th c./?, Paroim. H 44

ἄς πάμενε, συντρόφισσε, κ' ἐπέρασε ἡ ὥρα

17th–18th c./17th c., Zinon Prol. 168

- (iv) Conjunctions normally introducing other types of adverbial clause are occasionally used causally, e.g. ἀφῶν/ἀφόν etc., lit. “after”, or ἄμα etc., lit. “as soon as” (cf. 3.4.1), καθώς etc., lit. “as” (cf. 3.7):

ὀλίγοι ἄνθρωποι ἡμποροῦν νὰ τὸ (κάστρο) ἔχουσι φυλάττει, ἀφῶν ἔχει σωτάρχισιν κ' ἐνι ἀφρωμένον

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8273–4

ἔθελέν τους ἀξαμινιάσειν ἐκεῖνος μὲ τὸν βισκούνην, καθὼς ἦσαν κλησιαστικοί

16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 32.7–8

ἄμα σὲ ἀπάντησα ἐδῶ, κάνει χρεῖα νὰ σὲ πάρω

16th c., Nov. II 162.26–7

- (v) Very occasionally in later texts a νὰ-clause (± διὰ) is used to express a cause/reason without a preceding conjunction; the subject is always omitted, being coreferential with the main-clause subject, and the verb is marked for aspect but not for tense (cf. 3.4.2, NOTE (i) for similar temporal clauses):

ἐπῆγες καὶ κόντρα τῆς φύσεώς σου, νὰ μὴν λυπηθῇς τὰ παιδιὰ σου, καὶ τὸν πλοῦτον ... νὰ λογιᾶσης γιὰ μουδὲ τίποτες, καὶ ἐπρόκρινες νὰ εἶσαι

17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.29–32

“you went against your nature, not pitying your children and caring nothing for wealth, you ...”

ἕνας παράσιτος ὅπου ... ἐκράζουτον Φαγότος, διὰ νὰ εἶναι ἄνθρωπος χοντρός

..., εἶπεν τοῦ Βασιλέως

17th c., Bertoldos 28.2–5

“a parasite, who, being a fat man, was called ‘Glutton’, spoke to the king”

3.6 Concessive Clauses

- (39) Concessive clauses are introduced by (ἄν) καλὰ καί, ἀνέναι καί (when following a main clause), μὲ ὅλο ποῦ, “(al)though”; simple ἄν καί is not attested in the corpus before the 17th/18th c. They may also be introduced by καί ἄν, καί ἄς “even if”/“even though”. See also on conditionals in 3.3.

Conjunctions meaning “although” take present/past indicatives, those meaning “even if/even though” naturally take the same range of tenses as the corresponding conditional conjunction.

- ὁ Θεὸς ἐλευθερώσῃ σε καὶ ἄς εἴσαι ψωμοζήτητος 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 216 αὐτὸς ὁ Εὐλάλιος καὶ ἂν ἔλθῃ ... τοιοῦτον οὐκ ἐξορθώνουσι ... πατέρα τῶν γραμματικῶν 15th c./12th c., Ptoch. (Maiuri) 43–7 τὸν κόσμον καὶ ἂν ἐγύρευες, κάλλιον οὐκ εἶχες εὔρειν 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 984 τὸ ἔγραψα ... διὰ νὰ μὴν ἀπελπίζεται τινὰς κἂν ἀμαρτωλὸς πολλὰ καὶ ἂν ἔναι
 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 415.22–3 σαράντ' ἁγίους καὶ ἂν ἔκραζες μὲ πόθο νὰ γυρεύης, τὲς λειτουργιές σου χάνεις τες, μὰ μένα δὲν μοῦ φεύγεις 16th c., Alfav. 10 71–2 χτύπησε, καλὰ καὶ γρινιασμένη τὴν εἶδα ὀψὲς ..., μὴν εἶν' κινεῖς στὸ σπίτι της 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. II.93–5 κι ἂν εἶναι κι ὥς τὴ σήμερον δὲν εἶναι παντρεμένη, μ' ὅλο ποὺ τόσοι βασιλιοὶ τὴν ἔχου ζητημένη, δὲν ἔν' παρὰ γιὰτὶ πονεῖ ... ἡ καρδιά μου 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Erof. I.533–5 γιὰ ποῖα ἔφορμή μακρὰ νὰ θὰ γυρεύης θεριά ..., ἂν ἐν κ' ἐσὺ ἔχῃς ἓνα θεριὸ ἄγριο πλιά σιμά σου 17th c., Pist. voskos I 1.79–83 ὁ ὅποιος, ἂν καλὰ καὶ εἶμαι ἀμαρτωλός, μὲ ὅλον ἐτοῦτο ἐπρογνώριζα ἕως ὅπου μέλλει νὰ φθάσῃ ἡ Ἐκκλησία 17th c., Diath. Nikon Metan. 57–9 καὶ μοιράσασιν ... τὴν ἄνωθεν φυτέαν ..., καλὰ καὶ ἀπὸ τὴν ὥραν ὅπου ἀπόθανεν ὁ ποτὲ ἀφέντης Ξερίτης ἐτύχαινε νὰ τὴ μοιράσου
 1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 299, 285.4–5 ἀγκαλὰ καὶ εἶναι πτωχεῖα εἰς τοῦτο τὸ νησί, μολαταῦτα ... τοὺς ἐβοηθήσαμεν 1684, Patmos, HOFMANN 1928: 9a, 70.13–15 ἐγὼ βασιλικὴν τιμὴν σοῦ ἔκαμα, ἂν καὶ ἦσουν καὶ ἐχθρός μου 18th c./17th c., Alex. Fyll. 67.24–5 δὲν εἶναι ἴδιον τῶν ... καβαλιέρων τὸ νὰ δείχνουν τὲς πληγές τους, ἂν καὶ νὰ ἦτον τόσες μεγάλες ὅπου νὰ ἐβγαίνουν τὰ ἄντερα τους 18th c., Don Kis. 47.11–13

NOTES

- (i) Relative clauses introduced by ὅπου (see 5.3.3) may sometimes take on a concessive/temporal force (“though”/“when”) and express a reaction to/contrast with what has preceded (“whereas”):

εἴμαστεν χορτασμένοι ... ποὺ ἴμαστεν πεινασμένοι. ... τί νὰ γένῃ, ποὺ φάγαμε τὰ ἄλογα, ὅπου ἴμαστεν χρειασμένοι; 16th c., Alex. Rim. 899–902 ἀμὴ δεῖξε μου τὸ πῶς ἐσεῖς γίνεσθε, ὅπου γυναῖκες οὐδὲν ἔχετε 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 44.11–12 (Konstantinopulos) ἀπ' αὐτὴν (περηφανία) ἐξέπεσε Σατᾶν ὁ ἑωσφόρος καὶ ἡ γίνη σκοτεινόμορφος, ὅπου ἔτον λαμπροφόρος 17th c., MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1603–4 ἐκεῖνος ἤθελεν εἶσταν ζωντανός, ὅπου τώρα εἶναι ἀπεθαμένος 17th c., Bertoldin. 96.26–7

3.7 Comparative Clauses

(40) Clauses comparing the manner in which a main-clause event took place with some other eventuality (e.g. A happened [as X hoped (it would)]/[in the (same) way that B happened]) are introduced by ὡς/(ὡ)σάν/ὥσπερ; (ὡς) καθὼς/καθὰ/καταπῶς; οἷον/ὅγοιον/γοιόν/ὡς γοῖον/ὡς γοιόν. These conjunctions are used with indicatives when the event compared is real, “(just) as”, and with νά + conditional forms when it is hypothetical/counterfactual, “as if”.

There are no examples in the database of (ὡς) καθὼς, καθὰ, καταπῶς used with conditional verb forms, and these appear to have been used exclusively for accurate/factual comparisons.

“Ὅγοιον, γοιόν, ὡς γοῖον are characteristically Cypriot forms.

Indicatives (present, imperfect, aorist, pluperfect)

- οὐ γὰρ εἶν ἀνάγκη ... περὶ πίστεως δογματίζειν ..., καθὼς καὶ προεῖπα 12th c./11th c., ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 150.23–4
- ἄς μείνη ὁ τόπος ἔρημος, ἄς γένῃ ὡς ἦτον πρῶτον 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 283
- καθεὶς κοιμᾶται ὡς ἔστρωσεν, ὡς ἔσπειρεν θερίζει 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 365
- ἐκίνησαν τὰ σάλια μου ... νὰ τὴν ἐπέπεσα καθὰ ἦτον φουσκωμένη 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 219–20
- κι ὥμοσε ὁ μπάϊλος πρότερον καὶ τότε οἱ λίζιοι ἀνθρώποι, νὰ εἶναι δοῦλοι καὶ πιστοὶ
... ὡς ἐν τὸ συνήθειον 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7930–2
- ἦτον πρώτη σύμβια ... τοῦ ἀφέντη τῆς Καρύταινας, ὡσάν σὲ τὸ ἀφηγήθην
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8004–5
- ἔχομέν σε ἀδελφὸν καὶ συλλειτουργὸν καὶ ἤδη, καθὼς ὄρῃς, καὶ γράφομέν σοι τὰ περὶ τούτου 1376, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 255, 486.16–17
- αὐτὸς ἔδωκεν τὸ κενὸν χρέος, ὥσπερ χρεωστοῦμεν οἱ ἀπαξάπαντες 14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 147–8.5–6
- ὥρισεν νὰ τὰ καταλύσω, καὶ νὰ τὰ χαλάσω ἐκ θεμελίων, ὥσπερ ἐποίησα καὶ τὴν Θεσσαλονίκη 1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.16
- μηδὲν μετανώσης ὡς γοιόν ἐποῖκες καὶ τὲς ἄλλε(ς) φορές
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 206.24–5
- μωρὸν παιδὶν τὸ φτιάζουν, γοιόν τὸν θωρεῖς ἐδὰ ζωγγραφισμένον 16th c./15th–16th c., Cypr. Canz. 18.15–16
- ἐγένεν ἔτσι ὡς καθὼς εἶπεν καὶ ἐπροφήτευσεν ἐκείνη ἡ γραία
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 334.9–10
- ἔλα νὰ πᾶμε εἰς τὸ σπῖτι μου, νὰ σταθῇς νὰ ῥδινιάσω τὰ παιδιὰ μου, τὸ σπῖτι μου, καταπῶς ἔναι ἡ τάξη 16th c., Nov. II 162.29–31
- σὲ παρακαλοῦμε νὰ εἴμεστέν Φράγκοι λίμπεροι, ὡς καθὼς γράφομε ἀπὸ πάνω 1571, Mani, CHASIoTIS 1970: 6.1, 242.41–2
- εἶντα μιλοῦσι τὰ πουλιά ξεύρει, σάν εἴχ' ἀκούσει
17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Panor. I.267

- οἱ Οὐγγαροὶ, ἂν ἠθέλανε ἐμπῆ ᾗ τὸν πόλεμον ὥσάν ἐμπήκανε οἱ Φραντζέζοι, ἐκερδέζανε τὸν πόλεμο 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 33.11–12
- τί ἄλλον καλὸν θὲ νὰ ἐκδέχονται ἀπ’ ἐκεῖνους, μόνον νὰ παίρνουσιν, ἂν ἔχουν τίβοτις, καθὼς τὸ κάνουν τὰ κοινόβια 1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.50–1
- εἰς τὸ τέλος τῆς θέλει εὐρεῖ πολλὰ ἀγαθὰ, καθὼς τὰ εὐρήκασι καὶ οἱ πρωτύτεροι
17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.9–10
- εἶδα τὸ ἄστρον σάν μοῦ ἐλέγασιν οἱ χωριάτες, καὶ ἐπληροφόρηθηκα
17th c., Diath. Nikon Metan. 62–3
- τσὶ γάμους σου ἔρχεται νὰ τιμήσῃ ὁ βασιλιὸς τῆς Πέρσις, σάν εἶχα σου μιλήσει 17th c., TROILIS, Rodol. III.215–16
- ἐδώσαμεν καὶ τοῦ Κουτλουμουσίου μοναστηρίου τὸν Ἅγιον Νικόλαον Σιμάτου ..., ὡς καθὼς διαλαμβάνει τὸ παλαιὸν γράμμα τοῦ Πρωτάτου 1661, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 71, 200.8–11
- τὸ ἄλλον ἡμισὸν ἐχάρισέν το ... καὶ νὰ γινε ὅλον τοῦ μοναστηριοῦ βακούφιν ὄχοιον τὸ εἶχεν καὶ πρῶτα 1665, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 7, 19.8–11

Conditional Forms

- ὁ ρῆγας ὠρισεν ... ὅσοι ... χρεωστοῦν ὁμάτζια, τοῦ Ρούσου νὰ τὰ ποιήσουσιν ... ὥσπερ νὰ ἦτο ὀλοστινὸς ὁ ρῆγας ἀπατός του 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7858–62
- ἐκλαπεν καὶ ἐθρήνησεν ὥσπερ νὰ εἶχεν χάσει τὸ ρηγᾶτον <τὸ> τῆς Φραγκίας
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8179–80
- ἐπαρέδωκέν του καὶ τὸ κάτεργον, ὡσγοῖον νὰ ᾔχεν εἴσταιν δικόν του
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 12.17–18
- ἐγδύνουνται ... ἀπού τὰ σπίτιαν καὶ ἀπὸ ὅλα τως τὰ δικαιώματα σάν νὰ μὴν τὰ θέλασιν ἔχει ποτέ 1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 74.13–14
- τοῦ ὁποίου διδὲι ἀουτοριτάν, ὥσάν νὰ ἦτον τὸ ἐδικόν τῆς κορμίν, ὅτι νὰ ἡμπορῇ νὰ τῆνε ντεφεντέρη 1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 30, 49.4
- κάθα λογῆς ψυχικὸν γῆ χάρη ὁπού νὰ ἔκαμεν ... γιὰ τὸ ἄνωθεν ἀμπέλι νὰ εἶναι κομμένα καὶ ἀνουλάδα ὥσάν ποτέ νὰ μὴν εἶχεν γενεῖ 1610, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 651, 568.6–7

NOTE

- (i) There is overlap between manner and temporal conjunctions reflected, for example, in the dual use of (ὡ)σάν, “as”/“when”, cf. on temporal clauses in 3.4.

(41) Clauses comparing less favoured alternatives to prospective/hypothetical situations presented in a main clause (e.g. X will/would do A [rather than (do) B]) are introduced by παρὰ νά + subjunctive (prospective) or conditional (hypothetical/counterfactual). Clauses comparing unrealized alternatives to real-time events (e.g. X did A [rather than (doing) B]), or activities carried out to a greater/lesser degree than such events (e.g. X did A [more/less than (s/he did) B]), are introduced by παρὰ πού + indicative.

Prospective

σήμερον ἄς ἀποθάνωμεν παρὰ νὰ ἐντραποῦμεν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5396 καλλίον τὸ ἔχω νὰ ἀποθάνω, παρὰ νὰ μοῦ σηκώσῃ ἐκεῖνον ἀποῦ μοῦ ἔδωκεν

16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 24.7–8

κί ἴντα μπορῶ, νὰ ζήσης, παρὴ στὸ λάκκο σήμερο ... νὰ πὰ σὲ θάψω ...; 17th c./16th c., CHORTATZIS, Katz. III.112–14

Hypothetical/Counterfactual

“Would Have”

ἤθελεν κάλλιον νὰ εἶχεν χάσει μίαν ἀπὸ τὲς χῶρες του ..., παρὰ νὰ εἶχασιν ποσῶς τὸν Κουραδὴ σκοτώσει 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7085–7

“Would”

πρῶτα ν’ ἀποθάναν καὶ νὰ τοὺς ἀκληρήσαν, παρὰ νὰ τοὺς ἐβγάλασιν ἐκ τὰ συνήθεια ποῦ ἔχουν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7904–5

Real Time

αὐτὸς πλέον ἐβλάβετονε παρὰ ἀποῦ ὠφελείτονε 17th c./16th c., MOREZINOS, Klini 56.23–4

NOTES

- (i) In texts from the end of the period covered by this Grammar παρὰ (ποῦ) νὰ + subjunctive is also used with comparative temporal adverbs (= “sooner/later than”), after ἄλλος (= “(anyone/anything) other than”), and with negated verbs of ability (= “cannot (be otherwise) than”/“cannot but”):

ἐδιάβη καὶ ἔβαλε τοὺς χριστιανούς ᾗ τὴν μέση πρωτύτερα παρὰ νὰ σῶσῃ ὁ Σιγισμόντος 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 33.20–1 γιατὶ ἔχουν τόσες παρρησιᾶς π’ ἂν εἶχα ἑκατὸ γλῶσσες ... τὰ χεῖλη δὲν μποροῦσι παρὰ ποῦ ν’ ἀποφρίξουνε καὶ νὰ μὴ δυναστοῦσι 17th–18th c./17th c., Prol. Epain. Kef. 65–8 δὲν θέλω ἄλλο ἀπὸ λόγου σου παρὰ νὰ γυρίσῃς εἰς τὸ Τομπόζο, νὰ ὑπάγῃς ἐκ μέρους μου εἰς ἐκείνην τὴν σινιόρα 18th c., Don Kis. 51.16–18

- (ii) Adverbs/conjunctions with closely related meanings (e.g. “except”, “but for”) are used in the same way:

πῶς νὰ τὸν ἀποδέξεται, πῶς νὰ τὸν χαιρετήσῃ, εἰμὴ νὰ λέγῃ ὅτι ἄπιστος καὶ νὰ τὸν θανατώσῃ; 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4898–9 ἡ παροῦσα μου ταπεινὴ δὲν εἶναι διὰ ἄλλην αἰτίαν πάρεξ νὰ τῆς ἀναγγείλω, ὅτι 1658, Cyprus, TSIRPANLIS 1973: 106, 160.5–6

- (iii) Occasionally περί/περοῦ appears in place of παρὰ, especially in texts composed in a more vernacular style:

κάλλιον τὸ ἔχω, θάνατον σήμερον ν’ ἀποθάνω περί νὰ εἰποῦσιν ἄλλαχοῦ νὰ μὲ κατηγορήσουν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1134–5 κάλλιον τοῦ νά ἀποθάνῃ περὶ νά μείνῃ ἀνεργος τοῦ νά μὴ διαφορήσῃ

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8187–8 ἔκρινα ὅτι νά καγοῦν τὰ κάτεργα καὶ ξύλα περοῦ λαὸς ὁ τῶν Γραικῶν ἐνωθῇ μὲ τούς Φράγκους 16th c./15th c., LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 265–6 κάλλιον ἔναι τοῦ ἀνθρώπου νά κείτεται ἀπὸ μεγάλην ἀνάγκην περὶ νά ἔχῃ τὰ βάρη τοῦ ἀνθρώπου 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 28.19–21 (Konstantinopulos)

3.8 Other Adverbial Clauses

(42) An articular (nominalized) infinitive may be governed by a preposition and function in the manner of an English gerund: after/because of/by ... [(X) doing Y]. In more popular styles νά + subjunctive may be substituted for the infinitive when the meaning is one of purpose or intent.

Only in more elevated writing can the article be inflected in a case other than the accusative or the infinitive have an overt (accusative) subject of its own; normally, an empty subject position is controlled by the subject of the main verb.

In general, these constructions are characteristic of texts from the earlier medieval period, and survive later chiefly as formulaic phrases.

τό + Infinitive

ἦρξεν ὁ Λιεζάρης εἰς τὸ λέγειν 1142, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 6, 303.25 μετὰ τὸ δοῦναι τὴν ἀπόφασιν, καρτερεῖ ὁ κριτὴς ἡμέρας ἰ'
ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 73.170–1 τὸ πολὺ τῆς ἡδονῆς ἐλαττωμένον εἶχε ἐκ τοῦ μὴ φαίνεσθαι τίνα παρὰ τοῦ κήπου τότε 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 287–8

ὁ μέγας Κωνσταντῖνος μετὰ τὸ βαπτιστῆναι εἶπεν 17th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. R 65.41–2

NOTE

(i) Nominalized infinitives governed by a preposition are also used to complement adjectives, e.g. “nice to look at”, “hard to please” etc.:

ὁ τυφλὸς ἐκεῖνος ἐγένηκεν ἐξάκουστος καὶ εἰς τὸ βλέπειν φίνος 17th c., PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 143–4

τό + νά-clause

τὸ κατοῦδιν μας στήσας εἰς τὸ τραπέζιν, διὰ τὸ νά εἰποῦν ὅτι ἐποίησεν ἐκεῖνο τὴν ζημίαν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 264–5 ἀφίνω καὶ ἐπτά ἱερεῖς ἀπὸ δύο ὑπερπύρων σιτάριν εἰς τὸ νά μὲ ποιήσουν ἀπὸ μ' λειτουργιῶν ὁ καθένας ἕκαστος ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.55

(43) Prepositions/adverbs used as conjunctions meaning “without” take a finite clause containing a subjunctive (rarely a conditional) verb-form marked with νά.

- πάσα στρατιώτης εὐγενής πρέπει νὰ τοὺς λυπᾶται διατὸ ἀπέθαναν ἄδικα, δίχως νὰ πολεμήσουν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1160–1
- ἡμεῖς ... οὐδὲν ἔχομεν τὴν ἐξουσίαν ἄνευ νὰ ἦσαν κι ἄλλοι 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7911–12
- ἀφότου ἔφυγεν δίχα νὰ πολεμήση ... πῶς ἤμποροῦμε ἡμεῖς πεζοὶ νὰ βλάψωμεν τὸν τόπον; 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 9177–81
- πολλοὺς ἀνθρώπους ἔσφαξε δίχως νὰ ἔχουν πταῖσμα 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1454
- καὶ θέλεις εἴσταιν ἀπότορμος ... νὰ τοὺς ὀρίζης νὰ πηγαίνουν εἰς τὲς χρῆσε(ς) σου χωρὶς νὰ ἔχης ἔννοιαν ἵντα νὰ τοὺς πλερώσης 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.30–3
- νὰ δώση τὴν πρόβα πασανοῦ κομματίου τῆς ἀλτελαρίας ὅπου ἡ μπάλλα του νὰ ἵναι ἀπὸ βολίμι καθάριο χωρὶς νὰ ἔχη σίδερο ?15th–16th c., Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.33–4
- ἔπεσε ἡ τέντα του ... χωρὶς ἄνεμον καὶ χωρὶς νὰ τήνε σεῖση τινάς 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 39.3

4 Verbs and Verb Phrases

Verb Phrases (VPs) function as the predicates of clauses (see 1.1). The “core” of every VP is a verb form, the head of the phrase, together with its complements, if any. The traditional subcategorization into intransitive verbs (taking no object complement), transitive verbs (taking a direct object complement) and ditransitive verbs (taking both a direct object and an indirect object or other additional complement) deals only with nominal and certain prepositional phrase complements; other subclasses of verb may also take, e.g., sentential complements; cf. Chapter 2.

Verbs govern their complements in a variety of ways. Item-specific requirements (e.g. the choice of preposition in rely on) are a matter for the lexicon, but some overall principles can be established. General government requirements include the assignment of specified cases to nominal phrases carrying particular grammatical functions (see 5.1), and of particular conjunctions or verb forms to different types of complement clause (see Chapter 2). Prepositional phrase complements of various types may also be required to have particular prepositions (6.1). The various “markers” of complement status are essentially grammatical in nature, though there may be additional semantic factors in specific cases.

A VP may also contain a range of more “peripheral” adverbial adjuncts, including adverbs/adverb phrases (6.2), nominal and prepositional phrases used adverbially (5.1 and 6.1), and adverbial clauses (Chapter 3). These are unmarked by the verb, and the combination of lexical, morphological and syntactic properties in any given adjunct typically carries semantic rather than grammatical information.

This chapter deals specifically with the grammatical categories and functions of verbs themselves, i.e. independently of their co-occurring complements and adjuncts, whose properties are discussed elsewhere, as noted above.

Verb forms are either finite, i.e. inflected for values of person (1st, 2nd or 3rd) and number (singular or plural), or non-finite, i.e. not so inflected; in LMedG/EMG the non-finite forms comprise gerunds/participles and infinitives. Agreement of finite verbs with their subjects in person and number is an overt marker of the predication relation (1.1). This relation also holds in non-finite clauses, but the lack of person/number agreement in non-finite verb forms is typically associated with the absence of overt subjects leading to grammatical and referential “control” of the empty subject position by the subject of the main clause; gerunds and participles used “absolutely” do, however, have overt subjects of their own. See 2.2; 3.4, Rules (36) and (37), and 3.8.

The full set of finite verb forms, including periphrases with finite auxiliaries, is organized into paradigms, each of which is defined by specific values for some or all of the following categories: time reference (past, present, future), aspect (perfective, imperfective), mood (indicative, subjunctive, imperative), and voice (active, [middle: residual as a distinct category for the perfective stem in some verbs], mediopassive). Time reference is a property only of indicatives and of non-indicative forms that may be used, inter alia, to refer to the future; only active transitive and ditransitive verbs allow grammatical alternation of voice; non-finite infinitives, gerunds and participles are marked only for aspect and voice (though gerunds are always active in form and meaning, and participles [residual apart from the perfect passive] agree with their controlling nominals in number, gender and case, but not in person).

Each member of each paradigm then carries a particular person/number combination (1 sg., 2 sg., 3 sg.; 1 pl., 2 pl., 3 pl.) so that every finite form can be given an unambiguous identifying label, e.g. “2 pl. past perfective indicative mediopassive of V” (in traditional terms “2 pl. aorist indicative passive of V”). Neither the more detailed definitions nor the traditional names necessarily indicate the full range of functions that the forms in a given paradigm may fulfil. Details are given below.

Among the grammatical categories of verbs, aspect alone is marked by stem-variation, sometimes by suppletion. Other morphological variation marking different combinations of grammatical values in verb forms is located in the inflectional endings added to the aspect stems. The prefixed augment, partly co-marking reference to the past in indicatives alongside specific sets of endings, is an exception. For full details see the relevant chapters of Part III, Verb Morphology.

For the sake of convenience and familiarity, the traditional term “tense” will continue to be used below to identify particular paradigms (e.g. the “present indicative” etc.), but it should be remembered that the “tenses” so defined are merely the names of sets of forms sharing the same values for the verbal categories of time reference, aspect, voice and mood.

4.1 Person and Number

(44) All finite verb forms are marked for one of the permissible combinations of person and number. These (pro)nominal categories appear on verb forms as markers of agreement with a subject, which is regularly omitted if it is itself pronominal in content and unemphatic (cf. 1.1).

1 sg. νύμφην ... πέμπω σε τήν περιπόθητόν μου

?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.8v.15–16

2 sg. καὶ τὸ μεγαλογράμματον ἱμάτιν ... ἢ χάρισον ἢ πώλησον ἢ δὸς ὅπου κελεύεις

14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 60–1

3 sg. τὸ πνεῦμα του ἐπαρέδωκεν

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7804

1 pl. οὕτως σὲ τήν ἐδώκαμεν

16th c./?14th–15th c., Achil. O 22

2 pl. τὸν κύρην του ἐσκοτώσατε

15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1368

3 pl. λέγουσι, δέσποτά μου, καὶ ἱκετικῶς ἀναφέρουσι πρὸς τὴν πανιερότητά σου ὅτι γραφὴν τῆς πανιερότητός σου εἶδασιν 1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174.6–8

4.2 Voice

Voice is a morphological category of all LMedG/EMG verb forms. Many verbs have either active or mediopassive forms, but those that have both sets are utilized in the realization of the active/passive alternation: only sentences containing active transitive verbs, prototypically with agentive subjects, have passive counterparts containing mediopassive forms. Thus neither sentences with active intransitive verbs nor those with transitive deponent verbs (i.e. having mediopassive inflection but active meanings) allow regular passivization, either because the key grammatical function (object) is absent, as in the second example below, or because the relevant morphology (mediopassive) is already deployed, as in the first:

ἐκεῖνο ποῦ ἦσαν τὰ δένδρα οὐδὲ μᾶς τὸ ξηγήθη

16th c., Alex. Rim. 2116

τρέχουσιν εἰς τὴν κάμεραν

17th c./16th c., MOREZINOS, Klini 51.1–2

Passivization involves a reorganization of sentence structure whereby the noun phrase that was the direct object of the active verb, prototypically denoting the patient of the action, stands as the subject of the corresponding mediopassive verb. This in turn entails suppression of the active subject, though an agentive noun phrase may still be included optionally in a passive sentence within a prepositional phrase headed by ἀπό “by” (+ accusative). Active/passive sentence pairs are broadly synonymous in that the same situation is described in both, but different participants are foregrounded according to whether the agent or patient of the relevant scenario is represented by the subject noun phrase.

The functional range of LMedG/EMG mediopassive forms is broader than that of be-passives in English, and reflects some of the characteristics of the middle voice of AG. In the case of “washing”, for example, an individual X may (a) wash someone/something (active, X = the agent), (b) get (himself/herself) washed (middle, X = both the agent and the patient/experiencer), or (c) get/be washed by someone (passive, X = the patient). Many verbs in LMedG/EMG have mediopassive paradigms with middle-type meanings alongside, and sometimes instead of, passive ones. In suitably supporting contexts plural mediopassive forms may also be given a reciprocal interpretation in which two or more participants are understood to be both the agents and the patients/experiencers of the action in question.

(45) Active transitive verbs normally have a corresponding mediopassive paradigm. Use of the mediopassive forms involves demotion of the active subject (which is either suppressed or included as an agentive adjunct marked by ἀπό) and promotion of the active direct object to subject status.

With a few verbs, especially δίνω/δίδω “give” and synonyms, the indirect object may also be promoted to subject position (see example below).

The interpretation of the mediopassive subject, as fulfilling the single role of patient (passive reading) or the dual roles of agent + patient/experiencer (middle reading), is partly lexically determined and partly a matter of contextual determination. In the case of middle readings no agentive adjunct may be added.

Passive Reading

- ἀπῆλθεν με εἰς τὸ στρατόπεδον καὶ ἐκρατήθη μῆνας τέσσαρας 993, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 10, 124.13–14
- ὑπὸ πατρὸς ἐθλίβετον, μυριοκαταφρονᾶτον 16th c./14th c., Velth. 38
- ἐν τῇ ἐσχάτῃ ἀναπνοῇ ... αἱ πράξεις τῶν ἀν(θρώπων)ων ζυγιάζονται καὶ δοκιμάζονται 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 567–8
- ὅσα κανισκεύγουνται ... εἰς τὸν Θεόν, δὲν στρέφει ... τὴν ἀντίδοσιν τόσον εἰς ἐκείνους ὅπου κανισκεύγουν ὡς γιόν ἐκείνους ὅπου διδούνται 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 390–2
- τοῦ ἡδωκεν ὁ Θεὸς μίαν λέπραν ..., ἀποῦ ἦτονε νὰ σαπηθῇ ὅλη του ἡ σάρκα
17th c./16th c., MOREZINOS, Klini 56.20–2
- ἐπληροφορήθημε ἀπὸ πιστὸν Χριστιανόν 17th c., PAPASYNAD., Chron. I §31.71–2
- ἐρχομένη καμία ὑψηλοτάτην δικαιοσύνη, θέλομε κριθεῖν 1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 743, 1013.14–15

Middle Reading

- σύντομα σηκωνόμεθαν 16th c./13th–14th c., Liv. α 3087
- καὶ μετὰ ταῦτα ἰσιάστηκεν μετὸν σεβαστοκράτωρ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7971
- ἐγέρθηκα κι ἐντύθη 16th c./15th c., FALIEROS, Ist. On. 124
- ἐπῆγεν ὁ Τζωρτζῆς καὶ εὔρέθη μετὸν σιρ Τουμάς
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 30.7–8
- ἡ ἀφεντία τῆς κυρᾶς ... γρικᾶται μετὴν κυρὰν τὴν ρήγαιναν
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 30.14–15
- ἐσυναπαντήθησαν μετὸν σουλτάν Μπαγιαζίτη καὶ ἐνίκησε ὁ Μπαγιαζίτης
17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.1–2

4.3 Mood

The morphologically encoded moods of LMedG/EMG are the indicative, the subjunctive (only partly distinct from the indicative even in writing, and regularly marked with νά/ᾶς) and the imperative. Together these comprise the full set of finite verb forms. Complete paradigms of finite forms typically involve combinations of monolectic items with periphrastic ones, e.g. monolectic imperfect and aorist indicatives are used to refer to the past, but past-referring pluperfects are periphrastic, as are forms used to refer to the future (see 1.2 and for details on periphrastic forms III, 5).

Form and function do not correspond in a transparent fashion. The indicative is normally used to make statements about the real world, the subjunctive to express modal notions of futurity/possibility or necessity/obligation, and the imperative to give orders to a second person (the subjunctive fulfilling the corresponding roles for other persons). But autonomous modal verbs such as deontic πρέπει “it is necessary” or epistemic μπορεῖ/ἐνδέχεται “is possible/likely” have indicative forms despite being used to make modal statements. Similarly, infinitival periphrases with present indicative auxiliaries express futurity/modality alongside vá-subjunctives, and infinitival periphrases with imperfect indicative auxiliaries describe hypothetical/counterfactual situations alongside bare imperfect indicatives or past-tense indicatives marked with modal vá. Furthermore, though the subjunctive carries an independent future/modal value when this contrasts with present- or past-time reference (e.g. in main, conditional or temporal clauses) or follows directly from the relevant function (e.g. in final clauses), in those subordinate clauses where it has replaced an infinitive (e.g. in grammaticalized future/modal auxiliaries (1.2.2), as a complement to other control verbs (2.2), or in temporal/causal adjuncts (3.4, Rule (36)), it expresses the lexical meaning of the relevant verb in a temporally and modally neutral way, with the relevant properties deriving instead from the lexical meaning of governing verbs (if any), which typically denote future aspirations and possibilities.

The issues are discussed in detail in Chapter 1, where the morphological and periphrastic forms associated with mood/modality are related to the making of statements (1.2), the issuing of commands and prohibitions (1.3), the asking of questions/issuing of exclamations (1.4), and the making of wishes (1.5).

4.4 Time Reference and Aspect

In LMedG/EMG time reference is a grammaticalized property of indicative verb forms (i.e. these are necessarily marked for it) when they are used in sentences that make statements or ask questions about the real world.

Locating events in time presupposes a temporal reference point, and in the default case this is taken to be the time of speaking/writing (“the present”): eventualities denoted by sentences may be located before this point (“in the past”), at this point (“in the present”), or after this point (“in the future”), as indicated by the choice of verbal morphology/verbal periphrasis. Though reference to the future is in principle treated on a par with reference to the past and present, the future cannot be a strictly factual domain and there is significant overlap in LMedG/EMG between forms that refer to the future and those that express various modal notions (see 1.2.2).

Sometimes an event may be marked as “past” relative to another event that itself took place in the past or future with respect to the time of speaking/writing: pluperfects and future perfects perform this role in many languages, though these are rather marginal tenses in LMedG/EMG (see below). A secondary form of temporal relativity is involved in finite subordinate clauses dependent on main clauses containing verbs with past-time reference, cf. he said that she would do X with the corresponding direct statement she will do X. Such “sequence of tense” phenomena are also relatively marginal in LMedG/EMG, where the tenses of the original statement, question etc. are usually preferred (see 2.1, Rule (22)).

Verbal aspect is also grammaticalized in LMedG/EMG, and in this case all verb forms are built either to a perfective or to an imperfective stem. In some periphrastic formations and non-finite forms, however, there is a clear tendency for one option to become dominant over time, with some consequential blurring of the usual aspectual contrast (see 1.2.2; 3.4, Rules (36) and (37)). There may also be some early indications of the loss of aspectual contrast in subjunctives in the Pontic region (see 4.4.5).

Unlike time reference, which is in principle an objective matter, choice of aspect reflects the speaker/writer's subjective "view" of a given eventuality without reference to its "actual" duration, whether in real/future time or in a possible/hypothetical world distinct from this one. Thus the same eventuality may be presented "perfectively" as a single complete whole with a beginning and an end (e.g. the phone rang, will ring, may ring, would have rung) or imperfectively as lacking one or both end-points, i.e. as continuing, progressing, habitual/repeated (e.g. the phone was ringing, will be ringing, may be ringing, would have been ringing, used to ring).

The choice of aspect is in principle free, though there are limitations deriving from the interaction of aspect with time reference (see below), and there are certain conventionalized preferences. In clauses of indefinite frequency (whenever/each time X happened ...), for example, the actions involved might be presented imperfectively (the sequence of recurring events is seen as open-ended) or perfectively (each individual action is seen as complete, leaving the open-endedness to be encoded in a co-occurring adverbial and/or a main-clause imperfective verb form). In LMedG/EMG there is a preference in these cases for perfective forms, while in MG imperfective forms have become the norm. In the following example the indefinitely repeated character of the action of the subordinate clause ("whenever I saw one") is made clear by the use of the imperfect in the main clause:

καὶ λάφιν δὲν μ' ἐγλύτωνεν, ... τὸ νὰ τὸ δῶ, τὸ δόξευα Om. Nehr. Vas. 46–7

The indicative "tenses" marked for both time reference and aspect are presented first. Forms unmarked for time reference (gerunds/participles and infinitives) or that carry inherent time reference (imperatives, future/modals and in part subjunctives and conditionals) are then considered in terms of their aspectual properties.

4.4.1 Present Indicative (Present Imperfective Indicative)

(46) Since the present moment is naturally conceived as progressing with the passage of time, the present indicative of lexically non-stative verbs in LMedG/EMG is built to the imperfective stem and used to describe activities that are viewed as ongoing/progressive at the present moment as it advances. Correspondingly, the present indicative of lexically stative verbs describes what is viewed as a state of the subject that continues to hold true as the present moment progresses; present states have a naturally characterizing quality for the period of their duration.

Progressive

ψεύδεται, φλυαρεῖ, μὴ τὸν πιστεύης! 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 133 τὶ θλίβεσαι τοσοῦτως; οὐ ξεύρεις εἰς ἐριζικὸν κοίτεται ἡ στρατεία; κὶ ὅποιος ἐξεύρει μηχανίαν καὶ πράττει μὲ πονηρίαν τοὺς ἀντρειωμένους καταλυεῖ κ' ἐπαίρνει τὴν ἀντρίαν τους 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4903–6 εἶναι ἀνάγκη πρὸ πάντων νὰ φροντίζετε τὴν παιδείυσίν των καὶ τὰ ἥθη των, ... ἂν θέλετε νὰ ἔχουν τιμὴν ἐδῶ 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.7–9

Stative

- οὐδὲ αὐτοὶ συμφωνοῦν 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 316.14–15 σὲ ἀγαπῶ 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 546.28–9 ἡ εὐγενεία σου εἶναι κατὰ τὸ παρὸν ὥσπερ διοικητῆς τῶν παιδῶν μετὰ τοῦ Κριτοπούλου 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.6

NOTES

- (i) In informal styles, and usually where the context makes things clear (e.g. where there is a future-referring conditional clause), the present indicative may also be used to refer to the future:

καὶ ἂν ἔχω ἐδῶ θανατωθῇν, τὴν κόρην οὐκ ἀφῆνω 15th–16th c./13th–14th c., Liv. α 2960 δὲ γιαίνεις ποτὲ ἀπὸ αὐτήνῃ τὴν πληγή, καημένε, μὰ ποθαίνεις, ἄνεν κι' αὐτὰ τὰ φαγητὰ δὲ φάγῃς νὰ χορτάσῃς 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSIS, Katz. III.89–91

- (ii) In the absence of a present perfective paradigm, formally imperfective present indicatives are used to comment on events taking place sequentially before the speaker's/hearer's eyes (e.g. the emperor arrives, takes his seat and nods to his officials). In LMedG/EMG this type of “historic” present is chiefly apparent in narrative texts, where it converts an account of past events into just such an eyewitness commentary:

ὥς ἔστεκα κ' ἐθώρουν τον, γυρίζει καὶ ὀμιλεῖ μου 16th c./15th c., Om. Nekt. Vas. 27 παρευθὺς ἀπαντονάρισεν ὅλες τὲς πρόσκαιρες δόξες ... καὶ πορεύεται κρυφίως εἰς τὴν ἔρημον 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.6–8

- (iii) Performative verbs (utterance of which in the 1st person present indicative constitutes a performance of the relevant action) are similarly perfective in force but necessarily imperfective in form:

ὅλα τὰ παραιτούμεθα 17th c., IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali 4762

- (iv) In some of the earliest texts there are occasional examples of periphrases formed from the verb “to be” + the present mediopassive participle:

εὐκολον ἔχουν τὸ νόημα διὰ τῆς χάριτος τοῦ θεοῦ· οὐκ εἶν γὰρ οὔτε ἀπ' ἐμῆς γνώσεως λαλούμενα 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 310.11–12

- (47) The present tense of the verb “to be” + the perfect mediopassive participle is widely used in LMedG/EMG to express a present state of the subject. In this construction the participle is in effect a predicative adjective and as such agrees with the subject in the usual way (1.1.2).

πολλὰ εἶσαι βαρεμένη 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 304 εἵμεθεν θλιμμένοι 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8419 εἶνε μισισμένος ἀποῦ ᾗς αὐτῆς μας! 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 252.30 ἐγὼ εἵμαιν σκοτωμένος 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 264.3 (Lolos) ἐκεῖ ποῦ εἶναι ἐνταφιασμένες καὶ οἱ δύο τῆς θυγατέρες

1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 436, 659.11–12

τὸ ὄνομά του εἶναι τιμημένο εἰς ἓνα βασιλικὸ χρυσόβουλλον

18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 18.6–7

NOTES

- (i) Correspondingly, the imperfect of “be” may be used to describe a past state of the subject:

ἦμουν στολισμένη

17th c., BOUNIALIS M., Diig. Pol. 180.18

- (ii) Less commonly, the present or past state of a direct object may be encoded using ἔχω/εἶχα + perfect passive participle, which agrees with the object:

τὸν γρόθον του εἰς τὸ μάγουλον εἶχεν ἀκουμπισμένον

15th c./12th c., Dig. E 418

Such examples tend to have a rather literal meaning in the earlier part of the period of this Grammar, but in certain areas they subsequently acquire the function of a true perfect/pluperfect, almost certainly in part under the influence of Romance after 1204:

στὴ βλέψη της ἐτουνῆς τὴν εἶχας δοσμένη

18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. I.433

Following the grammaticalization of the construction, the participle is sometimes inflected invariably as a neuter plural (see 4.4.4).

(48) The present indicative is used to describe activities/states viewed as habitual or characteristic of the subject at any present moment in the progression of time (making these activities/states, in effect, timeless).

The relevant activity might be viewed perfectly (the action is seen as a single complete event on each occasion) or imperfectly (there is no bound on the number of such events), but in the absence of a present perfective paradigm the imperfective present is necessarily used.

ὅταν ὁ κόραξ ποῦποτε καθίσῃ καὶ φωνάξῃ, ἐκεῖ σημαίνει θάνατον καὶ χωρισμὸν ἄθροον

13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 20–1 ὁποῦ ἔχει ἀμέριμνον ψυχὴν, ὁποῦ εἶνι χορτασμένος ποτὲ οὐ πιστεῖν νηστικόν, ποτὲ οὐ ψυχοπονᾶται

13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 117–18

ὁ Χάρων δὲν ἐντρέπεται οὐδ' ἄρχον οὐδὲ ρήγα

16th c./15th c., Om. Nokr. Vas. 81

4.4.2 Imperfect Indicative (Past Imperfective Indicative)

- (49) The imperfect indicative is used to describe actions that are viewed as ongoing/progressive in the past (non-stative verbs), states that are viewed as persisting over time in the past (stative verbs), or actions that are viewed as habitual/characterizing in the past; past states naturally characterize the subject for the period of their duration.

Progressive

ᾤστραπτε κατ' ἀνατολάς, ὅταν ἐγεννήθη 16th c./14th–15th c., Spanos D 116–17 ἐβγαίνασιν (λόγια) ἀπὸ τὰ στόματά των 16th c./15th c., FALIEROS, Thrinos 7

Stative

ἀγαποῦσαν τὸν Χριστὸν κι εὐσέβειαν ἐποθοῦσαν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 117 πάντα σ' ἐμίσουν 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 574.17–18

Habitual

εἰς τὸ νησὶν εὐρίσκετον ... ναὸς ἀρχαῖος ..., ἔνθα οἱ Ἕλληνες ἤρχοντο, θυσίας ἀποτελοῦσαν 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1723–5 ἐγὼ ἀγαποῦσα νὰ παραπονιέσαι 18th c., Don Kis. 47.16

NOTES

- (i) There are examples from Crete of the imperfect used to describe an action that did not produce the hoped-for results:

μὲ ἄλλη μου ἔγραφα τῆς πανιερότη σου νὰ μοῦ ἀγοράσῃ πενήντα τάβλες
1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.2–3

ἐπροήγραφα τῆς πανιερότη σου, μὰ λογιᾶζω νὰ μὴν τσις ἔλαβες
1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 2, 168.9–10

(= “tried to write”, incomplete in that the message was not received/acted on)

- (ii) Use of the imperfect indicative in conditional sentences is dealt with in 1.2.2, Rule (11) and NOTES; 3.3.
- (iii) In 16th/17th-c. Crete and Cyprus, where the pluperfect was more regularly formed with εἶχα + perfect passive participle (see 4.4.4), there is a corresponding use of what are otherwise past-tense conditional periphrases to express habitual actions (“whenever s/he did X ...”) rather than relative temporal anteriority (“when s/he had done X ...”), as shown by the restriction of such indicative use to cases where the main verb is a habitual imperfective:

ὥς εἶχε βάλειν εἰς τὸ νοῦ κι ὥς ἤθελε λογιᾶσαι ποιά στράτα μέλλει νὰ κρατῇ ..., χολικιασμένη ἐπόμενε 18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. I.2091–5 ντὰν νὰ ᾔχεν βάλειν ἄνθρωπον κάτω νὰ ᾔχεν παιδεύγει, τοὺς δελοιποὺς τὸ αἶμάν τοὺς ἀρχίνιζεν νὰ φεύγῃ

17th–18th c./17th c., KONST. DIAK., Ist. Makaritou Marko 265–6

4.4.3 Aorist Indicative (Past Perfective Indicative)

- (50) The aorist indicative denotes eventualities in past time that are viewed as single complete wholes (i.e. with a beginning and an end, and the middle largely elided).

Much of the interpretation depends on the lexical character of individual verbs. Thus activities and states viewed perfectly are naturally interpreted as having ended (e.g. X ran (a mile), X ruled (till he died)), processes with inherent culminations as having attained them (e.g. X melted, X grew up), achievements as punctual events (X arrived (at 9.15)), etc. But the perfective forms of stative verbs may also be used to denote what are viewed as momentary events initiating the relevant state (e.g. ἀγάπησε = “X fell in love”, ἐβασίλευσε = “X became emperor”).

ἀφότου ἀπεκατέστησεν μισὶρ Ντζεφρὲς ἐκεῖνος τὰ πάντα ὅλα πράγματα ..., τόσα τὸν ἀγαπήσασιν ... ὅτι βουλὴν ἀπήρασιν ..., τὸ πῶς νὰ τοῦ ἔμεινε ἡ ἀφεντία τοῦ τόπου τοῦ Μορέως 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2098–104 ὁ πάπας δὲν τὸ θέλησεν, ἀμμὲ μηνῦσεν του 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 26.12–13 τοῦτοι οἱ ἀθρῶποι ... ἐκουρσεῦγαν καὶ ἐσκοτῶνναν, καὶ ἐποῖκαν μεγάλα κακὰ εἰς τὸ νησίον 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 60.10–12 ἀφέντεψεν, ἀφ’ ὃν ἐστέφθη ὥς που καὶ ἐπέθανεν, λθ’ χρόνους καὶ δ’ μῆνες καὶ κδ’ ἡμέρες, καὶ ἐπέθανεν ἡμέρα πέπτη τὴν ὕστερη μαρτίου, ατκδ’ Χριστοῦ εἰς τὸν Στρόβιλον 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 58, 60.36, 1–3 ἐσὺ μ’ ἐντρόπιαζες τόσους χρόνους, κ’ ἐγάμεις τὴ μάνα μου καὶ ποτέ μου δὲ σοῦ εἶπα τίποτας· κ’ ἐσύ, γιὰ μία βολὰ πού ἐγάμησα τὴ γυναῖκα σου, κάνεις ἔτσι; 16th c., Nov. I 156.14–16

ὁ μπάρμπας τοῦ παιδίου ὠνείδισε τὸν γέρον κ’ εἶπε του “... ὅ,τι ἄρχισε, ἐμένα ποτὲ δὲ μοῦ τὸ ἐμολόγησε”, κ’ ἔτσι ἀγκαλιάσθη κ’ ἐφίλησε τὸ παιδί του, κ’ ἔμειναν ἀγαπημένοι 16th c., Nov. I 156.19–22 ἐδέχθη τὸν λόγον ... καὶ ... ἔστειλεν ἔξοδες καὶ κάτεργα ὁ πάπας, διατὶ εἶχεν πολλὴν ἐπιθυμίαν νὰ γένῃ ἡ ἔνωσις τῶν ἐκκλησιῶν, ἔσοντας ὅπου πολλές φορές τὸ ἐβουλήθησαν ..., καὶ δὲν ἐδυνήθησαν νὰ τὸ κατορθώσουν 17th c./16th c., Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1631) 229.39–43 μας ἀποδέχθηκε καὶ ἀγκαλιάσεν ὁ πριντζιπὸς μας, καὶ ἔτσι πάντα ἐδῶ ἐζήσαμεν εἰς εἰρήνη, ὥστε πού ὁ ἐχθρὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου νὰ σπείρῃ το ζιζάνιο 1614, Tinos, HOFMANN 1936: 1, 58.6–9

NOTES

- (i) Use of the aorist indicative in conditional sentences is dealt with in 1.2.2, Rule (11) NOTE (i); 3.3.
- (ii) In the absence of a properly developed perfect indicative for much of the period covered by this Grammar (see below), the aorist may be used in contexts where a perfect meaning seems appropriate:

τὸν ἥλιον εἶδα νὰ σταθῇ χίλιες φορές γροικώντας τὰ πάθη μου 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Panor. I.71–2 ἐγὼ δὲν εἶδα νὰ σταθῇ τὸν ἥλιο νὰ μ’ ἀκούσῃ, μὰ εἶδα χαράκια καὶ δεντρὰ πολλὰ ν’ ἀνασπαστοῦσι, νὰ φεύγου γιὰ νὰ μὴ γροικοῦ τ’ ἀναστενάματά μου 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Panor. I.73–5

- (iii) The aorist is also widely used where a pluperfect might have been employed, the notion of anteriority being inherent in the typically sequential nature of complete events; thus the event described in a subordinate clause is naturally taken to precede that described in a main clause if the latter also contains an aorist (“when X, then Y”):

ἀφότου ἐκατόρθωσεν ὅσα σᾶς ἀφηγοῦμαι ... τὸ πνεῦμα του ἐπαρέδωκεν κι ἀπῆραν το οἱ ἀγγέλοι 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7801–4 ἀφὸν ἐφάγαν καὶ ἐπαρδιαβάσαν, ἐκατέβησαν κάτω εἰς τὴν αὐλὴν

16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 44.9

ἐστόντα τάπισα καὶ ἐβγάλαν τον ἔξω ἀπὸ τὸν πύργον, ὁ βασιλιάς ἐποῖκεν νὰ τὸν μάθουσιν τὴν ἀγίαν πίστιν τοῦ Θεοῦ 16th c./15th–16th c., Fior 150.14–16

4.4.4 Perfect, Pluperfect and Future Perfect Indicatives

The ancient monolectic perfect had fallen together functionally with the aorist long before the medieval period, and aorists (sometimes derived from earlier perfects, e.g. βρῆκα/ἤρρηκα) could always be used thereafter to imply the “present relevance” of a past event whenever the context supported or demanded such a reading. The monolectic pluperfect was not much used even in AG and it too withered away before the period of this Grammar, leaving the aorist as the default means of denoting events anterior to past events (see 4.4.3, Rule (50) NOTE (iii)). Since the future perfect barely existed in AG (most verbs do not have an attested paradigm), the only productive survivor of the ancient perfect system was the perfect passive participle, which could be used predicatively with different tenses of εἶμαι to express a state of the subject, or more rarely with different tenses of ἔχω as an object complement to express a state of the direct object (see Rule (47) and NOTES).

Other than in S. Italy (where Latin/Romance influence was always present), periphrastic forms with the authentic pluperfect force of temporal anteriority begin to appear only in the later medieval period, and it is hard not to see this development as driven in part by the advent of widespread bilingualism following the influx of Romance speakers into the Greek-speaking world after the capture of Constantinople by the Fourth Crusade in 1204.

One form of Romance-style pluperfect, attested from ca. 15th c. onwards and quickly associated with a corresponding perfect, was based on the ἔχω/εἶχα + perfect passive participle construction, the latter element sometimes retaining agreement with the direct object, but also inflected as an invariable neuter plural in the wake of the reinterpretation and grammaticalization of the forms, e.g. I have/had a tree (that is/was) planted in the garden > I have/had planted a tree in the garden, etc. Though in principle available only with transitive verbs, it was quickly extended to “unergative” intransitives (i.e. those denoting simple activities), using newly invented participles such as ἀποφασισμένος; in this case the neuter plural ending is standard, but this is also partially generalized to transitive verbs on Crete and some southern Aegean islands. A passive is formed using εἶμαι + perfect passive participle, and this combination is also used as a perfect/pluperfect active with deponent verbs and “unaccusative” intransitives (i.e. those denoting transitions to a result location, such as “come/go”), once again with innovative formations such as ἐλθωμένος etc. The resulting creation of a “be/have” auxiliary split is highly characteristic of Romance, and throughout the period of this Grammar the participial construction remains most characteristic of southern regions that were long under Western rule (e.g. Heptanese, Crete, Rhodes Cyprus), with only limited spread to the mainland, and not to northern areas.

ἔβλεπεν ὁ ἄγγελος, ὡς ᾔτον τεταγμένος 15th c., Anak.Konst. 112 τὸ ἔμισόν ἔχομεν βαλμένον εἰς τὴν πακτωσίαν 1506, Patmos, MALTEZOU 1970: 2, 367.172 μας ἔχει δοσμένα καὶ πουλημένα ... ἀμπέλιν 1547, Crete, ILIAKIS/CHRONAKI 2002: 25, 65.3

εἶναι μισημένος ἀπὸ τὴ Ρώμη 1570, Venice, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 9, 482.3

εἶχαμε μιλημένα γιὰ τὸ γάμο 17th c./16th–17th c., Vosk. 400

The other main type of pluperfect starts to appear a little earlier and derives from the probably Romance-inspired reinterpretation of conditional periphrases in the protases of hypothetical/counterfactual conditionals as denoting anteriority vis-à-vis the apodosis (see 3.3 for details); e.g. a conditional with the literal meaning “if I would find the money, I would spend it” (the LMedG/EMG construction was originally atemporal) > “if I would have found the money ...” > “if I had found the money ...”, with the notion of anteriority then extended to real-time subordinate clauses (e.g. “when I had found the money ...”) and then to main clauses (e.g. “I had found the money (by the time the bill arrived)”). This type of pluperfect quickly becomes widespread and is ordinarily based on the εἶχα-periphrasis with perfective infinitive, though in southern areas there are also examples of the ἤθελα-periphrasis used as a pluperfect. The construction acquires a corresponding perfect very late, at the end of the 17th c.

εἶχαν τὸν κόψει κακὰ καὶ ἐτελεύτησεν 15th c./13th c., Assizes B 267.11–12 ἔβαλαν τὸν βασιλέαν ἐκεῖνον εἰς τὸ σκαμνὶ ... ὅπου τὸ εἶχεν χάσει 14th. c., Chron. Mor. H 622–3

NOTES

- (i) In southern areas from around the 16th c. onwards, the conditional infinitival periphrasis with ἤθελα is also sometimes used as a pluperfect:

λέγοντες πὺς τὸ ἤθελαν χάσει πρώην 1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008. 5, 58.5–6

- (ii) In Crete there is evidence (specifically from Kornaros) that conditional periphrases could also be used as habituais in generic subordinate clauses (cf. the dual use of English would); note the habitual imperfect in the corresponding main clause:

τὸ ἔχα ξυπνήσει, ἐφώνιζα 18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. I.995

It is unclear whether such examples should be translated “whenever/wherever/whoever someone would/used to X” or “... had X”.

- (iii) Particularly, if not exclusively, in regions where both types of pluperfect co-existed, the participial construction retains a more stative character, in line with its origins.

A further type of pluperfect is more sporadically attested, formed from the past tense of “to be” and the perfective gerund. This formation is characteristic of S. Italy, the Peloponnese and adjacent islands such as Cythera, and may represent a local modernization of the corresponding ancient construction that used the aorist participle (which agreed with the subject in number, gender and case). It never gained ground geographically and declines with the general decline of the perfective gerund (3.4, Rule (37)).

ἐνθα ἦσαν οἱ ἅπαντες οἱ πελεργῆνοι ἐκεῖνοι, ὅπου ἦσαν ἐπάροντα τὸν σταυρόν
14th c., Chron. Mor. H. 390–1

Even more restricted in its distribution is a variant using εἶχα + perfective or imperfective gerund, apparently without any clear aspectual contrast.

The future perfect is almost exclusively a non-literary tense and is often used in legal contexts for precision, once again most probably under the influence of corresponding Romance practice in which grammatical marking of the sequencing of events in both past and future time is routine. The majority of attested forms are futures of the ἔχω + perfect passive participle periphrasis, formed chiefly with (ἐ)θέλω (e.g. θέλω ἔχει(ν) X V-μένο/-μένη etc.); conditional ἦθελα in the same construction is a very clear marker of the legalese register.

νὰ ῥμαι κρατημένος νὰ τῆς δίδω ὅ,τι ροῦχα ... τῆς ἦθελα ἔχει καμωμένα 1538, Crete, MAVROMATIS 2006: 211, 166.10–12

νὰ χάνη τὴν δούλευσή του ὅπου θέλει ἔχει δουλεμένη 1571, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 1, 53. 10–11

The various auxiliaries used in these LMedG/EMG periphrases either lack perfective stems altogether (εἶμαι, ἔχω) or do not make use of them in this role (e.g. the aorist of (ἐ)θέλω is never used as an auxiliary). Any aspectual contrast must therefore derive from the element with which they combine, viz. the perfect passive participle, infinitive or gerund. But of these only infinitives and gerunds can in principle be marked for aspect, and even here the usual perfective/imperfective contrast applies only in part (see 1.2.2 for the conditional periphrases; 3.4, Rules (36) and (37) for infinitives and gerunds, on which cf. also immediately below). Since the various members of the perfect system, unlike all other indicatives, do not engage fully, or in some cases at all, with the otherwise universal perfective/imperfective opposition, it is unsurprising that they occupy a rather marginal position in the overall verbal paradigm of LMedG/EMG and play a similarly marginal role syntactically. The participial perfects, pluperfects and future perfects at least retain a distinctive role with their continuing (if partial) stative function, but the pluperfects formed with infinitives and gerunds are almost exclusively perfective in form and function principally as temporally more pedantic variants of the aorist (indicative or future/subjunctive according to whether time reference is to the past or the future).

For further examples and more detailed discussion of the formations discussed above see III, 5.

4.4.5 Future/Conditionals, Subjunctives and Imperatives

Aspect in infinitival conditional periphrases is discussed above in connection with the reinterpretation of certain forms as pluperfects; aspect in both future and conditional periphrases in their original functions is dealt with fully in 1.2.2. The role of aspect in imperatives is discussed in 1.3, and in subjunctives in their various functions in 1.2.2, 1.3, 1.5, 2.2, and 2.3; and Chapter 3 passim. In all cases apart from the infinitival future and conditional periphrases and pluperfects deriving from the latter, the perfective/imperfective opposition is fully operational, with relevant forms built to both stems.

Future time reference is an inherent property of imperatives, and in part of future/modal and conditional forms – but not when these are being used in a purely modal way to denote possible/hypothetical situations outside the temporal structure of the “real world”, or in lieu of infinitives to denote actions conceived without reference to time. Thus conditionals are normally modal but are also used, albeit rarely, as “real” futures-in-the-past, i.e. to denote events in the future relative to a past-time reference point:

ἔβλεπεν εἰς ὀνειράτα ὅπου ἔμελλε νὰ γίνονται 16th c., Vios Iosif. 270.2–3 ἐθάρρου πῶς εἶχασιν οἱ ἔγνοιες μου νὰ πάψου 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Erof. IV 160–1

Similarly, subjunctives complementing control predicates (2.2) are not themselves future-referring, but they are also used to refer to the “real” future in main clauses (1.2.2, Rule (7)) and some subordinate clauses (3.4), as well as to give commands (1.3, Rule (13)).

NOTES

- (i) There are some possible examples in documents from the Pontic region of the generalized (and so aspectually neutral) use of imperfective subjunctives; this usage later became the norm in that area, though perfective forms are still very much in use in the period of this Grammar:

ἐὰν ἔρκεστιν, ἔλᾱτε μὲ τοῦ Κορέλλι τὸν ἀποκριχιάρη, καὶ κανεῖς μὴ σᾶς γνώση, καὶ ἐλᾱτε νὰ σᾶς συντύχω ἀπὸ στομάτου μου 1481, Crimea, GRASSO 1880: 119, 168–9.5–7

4.4.6 Gerunds and Participles

(51) Gerunds are active in form (even from deponent verbs) and are built to either the imperfective or perfective stem; the former usually marks eventualities overlapping with the action described by the main verb, the latter eventualities preceding it, in accordance with their aspectual properties (i.e. in the default case an eventuality viewed as ongoing is taken to be contemporaneous with the main-clause event, one viewed as complete as preceding it).

Perfective forms are in decline in LMedG/EMG and the forms attested increasingly come from a small number of verbs with strong aorist stems whose ending -οντας coincides with the productive imperfective ending; weak aorist -σοντας is hard to find beyond the clichéd περάσοντας with temporal subject. Imperfective forms are then used with perfective as well as imperfective force.

For other aspects of gerundial syntax see 3.4.4.2, Rule (37).

Imperfective Force (imperfective forms) ὁ καστελλᾱνος παρευτύς, οὐ μὴ σκοπῶντα δόλον, εἶπεν καὶ ὑποσχέθη του νὰ τὸν δεχτῇ εἰς τὸ κάστρον 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8237–8 σιμώνοντας ἡ ὥρα νὰ γεννηθῇ ὁ Χριστός, ἦλθεν ἀπὸ τοὺς οὐρανοὺς μέγα φῶς

16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.7–8

φαίνοντάς τους δίκαιαν καὶ τιμημένη ... ἡ αὐτὴ σούπλικα 1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 35.7–9

πᾶσα γνωστικός ἄνθρωπος, δὲ κατέχοντας πότες ἔχει νὰ τοῦ ἔλθῃ αὐτὸς ὁ θάνατος, πρέπει καὶ τυχαίνει νὰ ὀρδινιαστῇ
1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 14, 35.5–6

ἔρχοντάς μου εἰς τὸ Χτῆμαν ἦρτεν ὁ Χακη-Αὐγουστής 1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3.10

κάθοντά σου εἰς τὴν τράπεζαν, γελᾷς ἢ συντυχαίνεις;
17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 406.389

Perfective Force (both perfective and imperfective forms)

διαβόντα γὰρ μικρὸς καιρὸς ἀπέθανε ἡ κουντέσσα
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8001

διαβαίνοντα ὀλλίγες ἡμέρες, ἐσηκωθήσαν ἀπὲ τὸ σπιτάλλιν φρέρηδες
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.3–4 γρικῶντα ἡ μάνα του, ὀρδινίασεν τὸ φᾶν του εἰς τὴν ἀρχιεπισκοπὴν

16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 46.15–16

τὴν ἕτερον ... νὰ τήνε μοιράζουν ... ὁ υἱὸς του ... μὲ τὸν ἄγκονά του ..., ἀποτυχόντας (σ)του τοῦ προειρημένου κυρ Ἀλίσαντρου 1579, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 5, 23.14–16

ἀποθανόντας τοῦ καλογέρου, ν' ἀπομένῃ τὸ λεγόμενο ἀμπέλι στὰ παιδιὰ τοῦ ἄνωθεν Λιγνοῦ
1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 92, 108.10–11

περάσοντας ὀλίγος καιρὸς, ἐμάζωξε τὰ φουσσᾶτα του
17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 34.11

ιδόντας ὁ Μπαγιαζίτης ὅτι νικᾶται ὑπὸ τοῦ ἐκθροῦ του ..., ἐσκιακτὴ μήπως καὶ ἔλθῃ ὁ Σακοῦκος ὁ Περσιάνος
17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 39.23–5 ἐκεῖνος ... δὲν ἤμπορεῖ νὰ μάθῃ τὴν φύσιν ἐκείνων ὅπου δὲν εἶναι· καὶ δὲν μαθαίνοντάς τα, δὲν ἤμπορεῖ νὰ τὰ ἰδῇ καλά

17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34. 32–5

(52) Perfect passive participles are used in periphrases with εἶμαι/ἔχω throughout the medieval period with stative force: no perfective/imperfective contrast can be expressed.

In the period from ca. 15th c. onwards this construction is increasingly grammaticalized in southern areas as a true perfect/pluperfect, albeit with the stative function partly retained (see above on perfect, pluperfect and future perfect indicatives for relevant examples).

(53) All other inflected participles, active and mediopassive, are marked systematically for the perfective/imperfective opposition; but these forms are residual in LMedG/EMG and employed primarily as “higher” stylistic variants of the gerund or in clichéd phrases.

Participles may have overt subjects or empty subject positions referentially controlled by the subject of the main verb. Overt subjects may be either nominative (the norm) or genitive (in deference to the ancient genitive absolute construction), but with no requirement that the subject–participle combination should be a true absolute construction with its subject referentially independent of all noun phrases in the main clause.

Clitic pronouns in subject function are standardly inflected in the genitive in the absence of weak nominative pronouns that could be used in this position.

In all but the most classicizing styles, the syntax of participles reflects that of gerunds in that participial subjects must be either referentially autonomous or subject-orientated (i.e. if it is to be coreferential with a main-clause constituent, this can only be the subject).

See 3.4.4.2, Rule (37) for examples.

4.4.7 Infinitives

(54) Active and mediopassive infinitives are marked for aspect, but in several infinitival constructions one aspect stem is favoured over the other (sometimes exclusively so) with a corresponding loss in the formal expression of aspectual contrast.

In LMedG/EMG infinitives are used regularly only in:

- grammaticalized future/conditional and pluperfect periphrases (1.2.2, and cf. above on pluperfects)
- the VPs of subordinate clauses as a variant form of complement to control, modal and aspectual verbs (2.2)
- one form of indirect question (2.4, Rule (31) NOTE (ii))
- as nominalized sentence adjuncts with a temporal/causal function similar to that of gerunds (3.4, Rule (36); 3.8)

Loss of aspectual contrast applies in particular to:

- the grammaticalized periphrases (see 1.2.2 for futures/conditionals; infinitives in pluperfects are almost always perfective, cf. above)
- the complements to aspectual verbs (imperfective only)
- the nominalized adverbials corresponding to temporal/causal clauses (perfective only)

In all these surviving infinitival constructions the subject position is referentially controlled by the main-verb subject.

Other than in styles admitting high levels of learned/classicizing influence, infinitival constructions that allowed overt (accusative) subjects in AG are no longer employed.

Infinitives may no longer be negated in their own right and only the governing verb can have a negative particle.

Complement to Control Verbs

εἴ τις δὲ βουλευθῇ κατελῦσαι τὸ παρὸν γράμμαν, νὰ ἐνὶ ἀσυγχώρητος

14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 148.14–15

Complement to Modal/Aspectual Verbs ἐκίνησαν τὰ σάλια μου, Χριστέ, νὰ τὴν ἐπιάσα, ... νὰ ἤρξαμην ρουκανίζειν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 219–21

λέγει καὶ διερμηνεύει τὸ πῶς ὁ λίζιος ἄνθρωπος χρεωστεῖ ποιῆσαι τοῦτο
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7570–1

In Indirect Questions

τὸ τί ποιήσῃ οὐκ εἶχασιν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4084

Adverbial (temporal/causal)

τὸ ἰδεῖ τον ὁ μισὶρ Ντζεφρές, γλυκέα τὸν ἀποδέχτη 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8231

For further examples see the various sections noted above.

5 Nouns and Noun Phrases

A Noun Phrase (NP) in LMedG/EMG consists of a “head” noun or pronoun in construction with any complements it may require (see 5.2) and/or any optional adjuncts (see 5.1.4, Rule (69), and 5.3). NPs are the constituents of sentences used to refer to extralinguistic entities, and therefore nouns/pronouns are normally the heads of NPs even when they appear alone without complementation or modification.

Nominal expressions are characterized by values for the categories of person (1, 2, 3), number (singular, plural), gender (masculine, feminine, neuter) and case (nominative, vocative, accusative, genitive; and residually, dative). Head nouns/pronouns share the values assigned to these categories with the NPs containing them, and any adjuncts that are capable of bearing the appropriate morphological marking (articles, demonstratives, quantifiers, adjectives) agree with the heads they modify in number, gender and case; there is no formal marking of agreement in person. Complements, however, do not agree and are assigned specific grammatical markers by their heads as detailed in 5.2.

Person is a deictic category, i.e. one involving reference to extralinguistic entities. Its values are determined from the viewpoint of the speaker/writer as the 1st person, making the audience/reader the 2nd person(s) and any other participants in the discourse the 3rd person(s). Pronouns may be 1st, 2nd or 3rd person, but nouns are 3rd person unless the NPs containing them appear in apposition to 1st- or 2nd-person pronouns, and vocatives are inherently linked to 2nd-person pronouns, whether overt or covert; honorific circumlocutions such as ἡ εὐγενεία σου/σας etc. are also often treated as 2nd person.

NPs referring to countable objects are headed by count nouns, and their number is determined by whether the objects in question are “one” (singular) or “more than one” (plural); singular is the default number for NPs headed by non-count nouns, e.g. a mass noun like ἄμμος or an abstract noun like δικαιοσύνη. There is no compelling evidence for the use of the 2nd person plural to address individuals as a mark of politeness, for which circumlocutions of the type “your excellency” are regularly used instead (see above): note that the use of a plural possessive pronoun with a singular head noun in such cases typically involves more than one addressee, as ὅλοι ἀντάμα in the example below makes clear:

ἡ εὐγενεία σας ὅλοι ἀντάμα θέλετε ἀποκαταστήσει τίς νά ἀπομείνη

1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.22–3

The occasional anaphoric use of 3 sg. pronouns in connection with these circumlocutions is partly a matter of the flexibility of the grammar of anaphora, but may also reflect contemporary Romance practice:

ἡ παροῦσα μου ταπεινὴ δὲν εἶναι διὰ ἄλλην αἰτίαν παρέξ νά τῆς ἀναγγεῖλω

(= τῆς μακαριότητάς σου)

1658, Cyprus, TSIRPANLIS 1973: 106, 160.5–7

Monarchs vel sim. may employ the 1st person plural of themselves:

ἐμεῖς ... ρήγας τῶν Ἱεροσολύμων ... λαλοῦμεν ὅσοσοι μᾶς γροικοῦσιν τῆς αὐτῆς γραφῆς 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 54.23–5

First- and second-person pronouns have no inherent/grammatical gender. Those denoting humans are standardly treated as masculine or feminine according to the biological sex of the individual(s) involved; 1st- and 2nd-person pronouns may also be treated as neuter when the relevant individuals would be denoted in the 3rd person by a neuter NP, e.g. 1st-person ἐμεῖς when used by anthropomorphic ζῶα in an allegory etc. Unlike 1st- and 2nd-person pronouns, 3rd-person pronouns have distinct masculine, feminine and neuter forms. The gender of those with deictic function is also closely associated with biological sex, i.e. masculine or feminine for humans, neuter for everything else. By contrast, the gender of anaphoric 3rd-person pronouns normally follows that of their antecedents, e.g. neuter plural αὐτά/τά referring back to neuter plural τὰ κορίτσια etc. In the event of gender conflict (e.g. in coordinated expressions), masculine is the default choice for pronouns referring back to mixed-gender NPs denoting humans, provided that at least one is male:

νέους καὶ νῆς ἀνύπανδρους, γιατί νὰ τοὺς ἐπάρης; 16th c., GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 89

Neuter is selected for those referring to mixed-gender NPs denoting non-humans/inanimates:

ὁ θυμὸς καὶ ἡ ἐπιθυμία, διατί αὐτάνα ἐγενήκασιν ἀπὸ τὸν δημιουργὸν ... σύντροφοι τῆς ἀνθρωπίνης φύσεως 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34.6–7

By contrast, grammatical gender is an inherent property of nouns. There are partial correlations between particular genders and particular declensional classes/subclasses, and nouns denoting male or female human beings are often assigned masculine or feminine gender accordingly (see Part II for details), but the grammatical gender of common nouns is for the most part semantically arbitrary.

The case of a NP is determined by the grammatical and/or semantic function it carries within a sentence (see 5.1 for details).

5.1 Uses of the Cases

5.1.1 Nominative

(55) The nominative is the case of the subjects of finite verb forms (whether overt or omitted), and of the nominal/adjectival complements of copular verbs, which agree with their associated subjects in (number and) case: see also 1.1.

ὀδύνες τὴν καρδίαν μου κατέτρωναν μερίμων ?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.8r.3–4 ἐστράφησαν εἰς τὴν Φραγκίαν τίνες πλεῖστοι κλερᾶδες 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 514 σκοτεινιάζει με τὸ σπίτιν τοῦ γειτόνου 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 593

With Subject Complements

αὐτὲς ἔνι οἱ ὑπόληψες τῶν πρωτινῶν ἀνθρώπων 16th c./15th c., LIMEN., Than. Rod. 606 ἀποῦ ἀγαπᾷ τὴν ψεματινὴν δόξαν, [_{3 sg.} ∅] ἐνι φουμιστῆς τοὺς παιγνιδοφουμιστάδες 16th c./15th–16th c., Fior 131.14–15

ἄν [_{2 sg.} ∅] εἴσαι Χρυσταλλένῃ, μηδὲν εἶναι ἢ καρδιά σου διαμαντένῃ 16th c./15th–16th c., Cypr. Canz. 92.12–13

- (56) The nominative is the case of the omitted subjects of infinitives and gerunds/participles that are controlled by the subject of the main verb (as confirmed by nominative subject complements); see also 2.2, Rules (25) and (29), 3.4, Rules (36) and (37), Chapter 4, Rules (51)–(54).

Infinitive

πῶς ... νὰ [_{3 sg.} ∅] καταδέξεται [_{3 sg.} ∅] γενεῖ εἰς αὐτοὺς καπετᾶνος;
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 233–6 ἐκεῖνοι ἐκατέλαβαν, [_{3 pl.} ∅] τὸ λάβει τὰ πιττάκια

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7855

Gerund

ὁ καστελλᾶνος παρευτύς, [_{3 sg.} ∅] οὐ μὴ σκοπῶντα δόλον, ... ὑποσχέθη του νὰ τὸν δεχτῇ
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8237–8

- (57) The nominative is the default case of the overt subjects of nominalized infinitives with adverbial function and of gerunds/participles in absolute constructions.

But weak pronominal subjects are genitive in the absence of nominative clitics, and there is some wider use of genitive subjects in higher registers; see also 3.4, Rules (36) and (37); Chapter 4, Rules (51)–(54).

Infinitive

τὸ ἀκούσει ὁ Ροῦσος ντὲ Σουλῇ ..., εὐθέως ἐσυγκατέβηκεν κ' ἰσιάστησαν εἰς τοῦτο 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7927–8

Gerund

καὶ γροικῶντα κάτινες καβαλλάριδες πιστοὶ τοῦ ρηγός, εἶπαν τὸ πρᾶγμα τοῦ ρηγός
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 42.33–4

Genitive Subjects

καθεζομένης τῆς Ἀφεντίας, ὑπῆγε καὶ ἐπροσκύνησεν αὐτὴν καὶ τὸ γράμμα τοῦ μπάϊλου τοῦ Γαλατᾶ ἔδειξεν 16th c., Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 15–17

ἔρχοντάς μου εἰς τὸ Χτῆμαν ἦρτεν ὁ Χακη-Αὐγουστής
1619, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 1, 3.10

NOTE

- (i) The nominative is also not infrequently used as a default case for loosely connected topics that are linked referentially rather than syntactically (i.e. by case agreement) to elements in the following clause:

οἱ Φράγκοι γὰρ ἐκ τὴν στερεὰν ἦτον ὁ πόλεμός τους
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 546

ἡ παρθένος Μαρία τε Λουζουνία ..., ἐρμάσαν την
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 58.32–3

5.1.2 Vocative

(58) The vocative is the case of NPs used to address people or things.

Vocative NPs may be used alone to attract the addressee's attention or more usually may appear as adjuncts to sentences whose content the speaker/writer wishes to draw to the addressee's attention.

- ψυχὴ μου κακοτύχερε, μίαν ἐχάρης ὥραν καὶ λύπη διεδέξατο ἄπαυστος τὴν χαρὰν σου 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 196–7
- κερά, κερά μαγκίπισσα, τὸ πῶς ἀκούεις οὐκ οἶδα 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 172
- πρίγκιπα, ἐσὺ θεωρεῖς κ' ἐβλέπεις τὸ ἀτός σου 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4222
- ὦ βραχιόνιοι σιδηροὶ καὶ στήθη μαρμαρέϊνα, καὶ ποία γῆ σᾶς ἔκρυψεν καὶ ἔκατεκάλυψέ σας; 15th c., Chron. Toc. 3392–3
- γὰρ μίλειε, γαίδαρε, ὁμορφα γῆ ἔρχομαι νὰ σοῦ βγάλω τὰ γένια σου! 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. III.461–2

NOTE

- (i) The nominative is sometimes used in place of the vocative, usually with the definite article and/or in apposition to a preceding vocative, implying an equative meaning ("you/X, (who are) the Y"):

- τί ναι ἐκεῖνα, ὁ θεῖός μου ...; 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 759
- ἐξέβης, ἡ κυρὸ ἄλωποῦ, νὰ μᾶς φιλοσοφήσης; 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 204
- ᾶ, πῶς λαλεῖς, ἡ μάννα μου; 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1077
- λέγει τὴν ὁ Ἀγγελος τὸ «Χαῖρε, ἡ Μαρία» 15th c., Diig. Ven. 29
- Κύριε, Κύριε, ὁ Θεός μου, ἐσύ με ἐπροεῖπες ὅτι μετ' ἐμένα εἶσαι 16th c., DAM. STOUDE., This., Logos 17, ο7ν.24 (1561)
- ὦ ψυχὴ μου, σινιόρα Δουλιτσινέα, τὸ ἄνθος τῆς εὐμορφίας, βοήθησε αὐτὸν τὸν καβαλιέρην σου 18th c., Don Kis. 52.21–2

5.1.3 Accusative

5.1.3.1 Complements of Verbs

*Accusative of the Direct Object(59) In the default case, transitive verbs mark their direct object NPs (and in relevant cases nominal/adjectival direct object complements) in the accusative case.

- καὶ καθαιροῦσιν τὸν παπαῖν! 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 271
- παρακουῶ τοὺς λόγους του καὶ οὐ ποιω τὸ θέλημάν του 13th–14th c./12th c., Spaneas P 280
- ἐγὼ ὕμᾶς ἐνθυμοῦμαι ..., πλέον δὲ πάντων σέ, τὸν ἐμὸν ποθητὸν καὶ ἀγαπητὸν μου υἱόν 14th c., Cyprus, KODER et al. 2001: 245, 426.35–6

- ἀνάπαυεν τὰ ἄλογα 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1749 θέλομεν διηγῆσασθαι τὸν ἔρωτα τὸν μέγαν 15th–16th c./?14th–15th c., Achil. N 752 ἐσὺ μὲν ἐντρόπιαζες ... κ' ἐγάμεις τῇ μάνα μου καὶ ... δὲ σοῦ εἶπα τίποτος, κ' ἐσύ, γιὰ μία βολὰ ποὺ ἐγάμησα τῇ γυναίκα σου, κάνεις ἔτσι; 16th c., Nov. I 156.14–16 τὴν Ῥώμην ἠπήραμεν καὶ τὲς θαλάσσες, τὰ νησία ὅλα 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 244.9 (Lolos) παρακαλεῖ καὶ τὴν δικαιοσύνην νὰ τὲς συμπαθήσῃ 1672, Paxoi, PETROPOULOS 1958: 13, 10.3

With Direct Object Complements

- καὶ τὴν ἑτέραν ἀδελφὴν τῆς κόρης νὰ τοῦ δώσω, νὰ τοῦ τὴν δώσω σύζυγον, σύγαμβρον νὰ τὸν ἔχω 16th c./13th–14th c., Liv. α 4543–4 app. crit. (N) οὐκ ἐποίησαν αὐτὸν μέγαν μάστορην 17th c./16th c., Ekth. Chron. 71.25

NOTES

- (i) A double accusative construction is characteristic of verbs meaning “teach (someone something)”, “inform (someone [of] something)”. This option is also attested with verbs meaning “dress X (in)”, “exchange X (for)”, “spend X (on)”, “fill X (with)”, “free X (from)”; in these cases, however, the second accusative may be replaced, especially in EMG texts, by an indirect object (formally distinguishable only when the genitive is used, see Rules (60) and (66)) or a prepositional phrase, according to the individual preferences of the verb in question.

- πολλὰ τὸν ἔχω εὐκαιρητὴν ... ὅπου διδάξῃ γράμματα ποτέ του τὸ παιδίν του
 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 208–9 παρήγγειλεν ὁ βασιλεὺς ... μόνη ἐκείνη ... νὰ σὲ ἀλλάξῃ ῥωμαϊκόν, δεσποινικόν ἱμάτιν ?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.3r.11–16 τί ἀντίσηκον καλὸν νὰ σὲ τὸ ἀντιμέψω; 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. E 3760
 ἐπληροφόρεσέ τον τὸν θάνατον τοῦ πρίγκιπος καὶ τὴν κατάστασιν του
 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7825–6 δένδρη μεγάλα κ' ἐρπετὰ κι ἄλλα θηριὰ τῆς φύσης, ... ἐγέμισεν ἡ κτίσις 15th c., CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 21–2 γέροντα Σαρακηνὸν γράμματα μὴ μανθάνῃς 16th c./?, Paroim. H 51 ἂν ἦτον ἀργυρόκουπα ὁ οὐρανὸς ..., νὰ μὲ τὸν ἐγεμίζασιν ἄσπρο κρασίν ἀκράτον 16th c./15th c., Krasop. AO 93 κόκκινα δὲν σὲ ντύννω, βιβλιόν μου 16th c./15th–16th c., Cypr. Canz. 2.17 ὁ Ἀλέξανδρος ... ἐντυσεν τοὺς Πέρσας ὅλους φορεσίαν ὡσὰν οἱ Μακεδόνες ἐβαστοῦσαν, καὶ τοὺς Μακεδόνας ὅλους ἐφόρεσεν Περσικὴν φορεσίαν 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 308.18–20 (Lolos) τὰ ἄσπρα ποὺ εἶναι ἐδῶ, θαρρῶ ... νὰ τὰ ψωνίσω κερί 1696, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 14, 216.8–9

With Intransitive and Passive Verbs (principal object of transitive verb > subject)

- καὶ λυτρωθοῦμεν τον γοργόν, νὰ μὴ μᾶς παραβλέπη 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 528 τότε νὰ ἐλευθερωθῆς τὴν λύπην καὶ τοὺς πόνους 15th c., Peri xen. 324 ὁ ρήγας ἐγέμωσεν χολὴν καὶ λαλεῖ τους 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 232.10

With (Passive) Adjectives with Related Meanings

- ἦτον ὁ κόσμος σκοτεινὸς καὶ τὰ νερὰ γεμάτος 15th c., CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 11 μαξιλάρια δύο γιομάτα πτερό καινούργια 1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 14, 13.8–9

With Indirect Object (Genitive NP or PP) Substituted for Second Accusative

- οἱ ἀρχιερεῖς τοῦ ἐφόρεσαν τὸ μανδύον τὸ πατριαρχικόν 16th c., Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 181 γέμισε τοῦτο τὸ φλασκὶ κρασί, altri dicono ἀπὸ κρασί 17th c., GERMANO, Grammar 104.9–10 νὰ τοῦ κάμη μόδο νὰ ἐλευθερωθῇ ἀπὸ τῇ σκλαβία 1668, Kefalonia, BALLAS 1999a: 1, 277.7

- (ii) Ἐχω combines with a number of bare accusative nouns with meanings in the range “need/desire/power” to form a kind of periphrastic verb that in turn may take (inter alia) a direct object NP in the accusative (± an object complement):

- ἐσέναν εἶχε-θέλημα ἄντρα τοῦ νὰ μὲ δώσῃ 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. E 2237
 εἴτι θέλεις κάμε με, ἔχεις- με -ἐξουσίαν 15th c./14th–15th c., Achil. L 752 transcr. (Panayotopoulou/Lendari) διὰ τοῦτο ἔχομεν-χρεία πολλούς ὅπου νὰ μᾶς αἰδάρουσι 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.1–2

Accusative of the Indirect Object

(60) In northern areas, including Constantinople and much of Asia Minor, the indirect object (marked dative in AG) may be expressed by an accusative NP.

Alternatively a prepositional phrase headed by εἰς/σέ or πρὸς + accusative may be used. Such PPs appear in this function in all locations, especially in later periods, and are most usually substituted for NPs headed by other than 1st/2nd-person pronouns.

Accusative indirect objects, especially pronominal ones, also appear sporadically in southern areas as an alternative to the usual genitive of the indirect object (for which see 5.1.4).

Northern Areas + Texts of Uncertain Provenance

- κατονείδιζε καὶ εἶπε τον ὅσα θέλεις 13th–14th c./?12th c., Spaneas P 127
 ποῖον μαντάτον νὰ ὑπάγωμεν τὴν ταπεινὴν μας μάνα; 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 93 ἐπώλησα ἐσὲν παπὰ Θεόδωρον τὸν ἐξάδελφόν μου τὸ ὁσπίτιν εἰς Διανίαχαν 1260, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 17, 8.1–2 ἔδωκα ἐσὲν παπὰ Θεόδωρον τὸν γαμβρόν μου τόπον τὸ Λεγνάκιν ἀντὶ τοῦ ἀλόγου καὶ τῶν κρικίων 1260, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/BÉNÉCHÉVITCH 1927: 19, 8.1–2

- χρεωστῆί με καὶ ὁ Παῦλος χοινικ(όν) κριθάρ(ιν) 1269, Pontos, OUSPENSKY/ΒΕΝΕΧΕΝΙΤΣΧ 1927: 52, 29.32
- καὶ τὴν πρόσταξιν ἐκείνου ἀμφοτέρως διηγοῦνται τὸν Ἀλέξανδρον ὡς εἶπεν 15th c./14th c., ERMON., Ilias 1.258–60
- ἐκεῖνον δώσω τὴν ἀρχὴν τῆς αὐτοκρατορίας
16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 66
- καὶ δός με ἀπὸ τὰ φουσσάτα σου ἐκείνους τοὺς θέλω 15th c./14th–15th c., Achil. L 87
- ὁ Ἀχιλλεύς ... γραφὴν γράφει, ἀντίγραμμά στέλνει αὐτοὺς ὀπίσω 16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. O 209–10
- ἄφηκα τὸν παπὰ Τζουάννην κεχρί κιλά δώδεκα 15th c., Meteora, VEIS et al. 1998: 225, 246, f.163v.10
- εἷς ἄρχων ἔστειλε τὸν δοῦλον του, νὰ τὸν ἀγοράσῃ πουλιά γενεές τρεῖς post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 53, 44.1–2
- τοῦτος ὁ Ἡρώδης ἦτον ἀλλόφυλος ... καὶ ὑποτάσσοτον τὴν βασιλείαν τῆς Ρώμης
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 341.5–7

Southern Areas

- εἶχεν γὰρ ὁ κύρ Θεόδωρος, ἐκεῖνος ποῦ σέ λέγω, υἱοὺς τρεῖς καὶ ἐξαίρετους
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 3537–8
- πρόσεξε ... τὰ ἔμπατα, τὸ πόσοι τὰ φυλάγουν, νὰ μέ τὸ εἰπῆς ..., νὰ μέ τὸ διερμηνέψης, [καὶ μὴ τολήσης νὰ τὸ εἰπῆς ἀνθρώπου γεννημένου]
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8214–17
- τρεῖς ἡμέρας ἐποίκασι, λόγον οὐδὲν τὸν λέγουν
15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1357
- [ἐφανίσθη μου κ' ἔτρεχα εἰς λιβάδιν ὠραιωμένον ...] ... κ' ἐφάνη με ὁκ' ἔδιωχνα με θράσος ἐλαφίνα
16th c./15th c., BERGADIS, Apok. A 5–9
- λέγει με
16th c./15th c., [FALIEROS], Erot. En. 42
- ὁ Χάρος εὗρηκέ με καὶ σφονδυλίαν μέ ἔδωσεν καὶ εἰς μίαν ἐσκότωσέ με 16th c./15th c., ?Crete, Om. Nekt. Vas. 59–60
- [ὅπου ... τοῦ πτωχοῦ δανείζει] ... ἐκεῖνον τὸν χαρίζει τὴν ἄμετρον γλυκύτητα 16th c./15th c., ?Crete, Om. Nekt. Vas. 111–13
- ὁ ἐνδιάθετος νόμος, ὃν ἔδωκεν ὁ Θεὸς τὸν Ἀδάμ: ὃ ἐστὶν μισεῖς, ἐτέρω μὴ ποιήσης
17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 407.409

Prepositional Phrases (attested in all areas)

- τὸ κορμί μου δίδω το σήμερα εἰς ἐσένα
15th c./14th–15th c., Achil. L 727
- πρὸς ἀλλήλους ἔλεγον οἱ συγγενεῖς τῆς κόρης 16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. O 618
- καὶ ἱκετικῶς ἀναφέρουσι πρὸς τὴν πανιερότητά σου ὅτι γραφὴν τῆς πανιερότητός σου εἶδασιν
1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174.6–7
- ἀπὸ κεῖ ἔστειλε 'ς τὸν Ἰωάννη βασιλέα Παλαιολόγο ὅτι ...
17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 25.11

NOTES

- (i) Verbs, including impersonal verbs, that in AG governed or allowed the inclusion of a dative NP denoting an affected/interested party (e.g. as experiencer, beneficiary, victim etc.) may similarly assign the accusative in LMedG/EMG; such accusatives are once again in competition with the genitive, largely on a north/south basis (cf. above).

Accusative for AG Dative

- ἂν οὐ πιασθῇ καὶ δαμασθῇ ..., ὥς ὄρνειον πετάζεται, δοκοῦν τον ὅλα ὁμάλιν
13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 128–9
- κᾶν καὶ κίνδυνος ..., κᾶν θάνατος ἐπώδυνος μὲ πρόκειται ἀπὸ τούτου, ... τολμήσειν θέλω ... τὰ τῆς τιμῆς σου πάντα ... κατὰ λεφτόν νὰ γράψω
?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.5v.5–14
- ἐγὼ εἶμαι, λέγει, ἀδελφέ· μὴ με τὸ ἀπιστήσης 14th c., Log. parig. L 108
- φαίνεται τον στὸ σπῖτιν του εὐρίσκεται ἀπέσω 15th c., Peri xen. 34
- ἔπρεπέ τον νὰ ᾠόρεσε μαντὶ καὶ καμηλαύχι 16th c., Kakop. 127
- διὰ ποία ᾠορμὴ μὲ τὰ κρατᾶς αὐτοῦ (καὶ δὲν θέλεις νὰ μοῦ στείλῃς τὸ πράγμα μου;) 1696, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 13, 215.3–4
- ἐμισέψασι ... χάνοντας καὶ κάμποσα φλωρία, ποὺ τοὺς ἐφάγασι οἱ Λιδορικιώτες
18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 42.8–13

Genitive for AG Dative

- κ' ἐκεῖνοι οὐδὲν τοῦ ἐποίκασιν τίποτε πονηρίαν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5266
- ὅταν σὲ φθάσῃ αὐθέντης σου, ἀνάσκελα μοῦ πέφτεις καὶ τάχα μὲ τοὺς πόδας σου θέλεις νὰ βοηθᾶσαι 15th c./14th c., Poulol. 66–7
- τί μοῦ σεῖς τὸ μουστάκιν σου ἀπάνω τε καὶ κάτω; 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 128
- καὶ ἔρχονται τοῦ πρώτου φλουριά ἰα' αθ/γα, [ὁ δεῦτερος τὸν ἔρχονται φλουριά ιγ' εα/θγ, τὸν τρίτον ἔρχονται φλουριά ἰδ' βς/γα]
post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 61, 48.9–10
- χαίρετα μου τὴν μητέρα μου 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 410.20
- κάλλιον ἔναι τοῦ ἀνθρώπου νὰ κείτεται ἀπὸ μεγάλην ἀνάγκην, περὶ νὰ ἔχη τὰ βάρη τοῦ ἀνθρώπου 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 28.18–21 (Konstantinopulos)
- αὐτεῖνοι τοῦ συγχύζουσι τὸν λαόν 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 39.19

- (ii) Verbs that in AG took genitive complements (e.g. ἀκούω, for the source of a sound), or dative complements other than indirect objects etc. (e.g. ἀκολουθῶ, βοηθῶ), may also assign the accusative in LMedG/EMG. The accusative again competes with the genitive (both original and as a dative substitute), in part on the north/south basis already explained. But verbs whose meaning supported reinterpretation as “ordinary” transitives eventually come to take the accusative everywhere (e.g. βοηθῶ); in southern regions, however, those verbs that had substituted the genitive for an original dative were assimilated to the transitive paradigm more slowly and the process continues into the modern era. Correspondingly, prepositions are increasingly used in all areas to support NPs that were clearly felt to be insufficiently object-like (e.g. ἀκούω κάτι ἀπὸ κάποιου(ν)).

Accusative for AG Dative (ἀκολουθῶ, βοηθῶ, compounds with συν- etc.)

- τὰ δὲ τυπικὰ τῶν μεγάλων μοναστηρίων ... εἰς τὰ τοιαῦτα οὐ συμφωνοῦν τοὺς θείους κανόνας οὔτε ἄλλην θείαν γραφήν 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 4 214.14–16
- τοὺς Φράγκους ἐμαχόντησαν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1079
- βουλὴν ἐζήτησεν αὐτῶν τοῦ νὰ τὸν συμβουλευέσων περὶ τοῦ τόπου τοῦ Μορέως πῶς νὰ τὸν κυβερνήσῃ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7829–30
- βοήθα τὸν ξενούτζικον 15th c./14th c., Flor. L 77
- μὲ ἐβοηθήσατε κ' ἡπῆρα τὸ γονικὸ μου 16th c./14th c., Chron. Mor. P 70
- τώρα νὰ ἰδῶ ποῖος ἀπὸ σᾶς μὲ θέλει ἀκολουθήσει 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1037
- εἴχαμεν σκύλον καὶ ἐβοήθειν λύκον 16th c./?, Paroim. H 88

Genitive for AG Dative (southern areas, into the modern era)

- δὲν μοῦ ἐβοηθούσασι 16th c./15th c., Syndipas 121.40–1
- ἀκλούθησέν του 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 566.32
- βοηθᾶς μου 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. I.334

Accusative for AG Genitive (with NPs typically denoting a part, source or objective)

- τὸν πόλεμον ἀρχάσαν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1413
- νὰ σὲ εἰπῶ καὶ ἄλλον, τὸ ἦκουσα τοὺς γέροντας καὶ τοὺς προπάτοράς μου 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 689–90 app. crit. (CA)
- πολλὰ ἐπεθύμαν βασιλείαν, πολλὰ ἐπεθύμα δόξαν 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 2206
- τοῦτο παρακαλῶ καὶ δέομαι τὴν παναγιότητά σου, νὰ ἔχω συγχώρησιν 1622, ?Karpathos, ZERLENDIS 1918d: B, 300.17–18

AG Genitive Occasionally Retained (higher styles, traditional phraseology)

- ἐκεῖ ὁποῦ ἐδέοντον τοῦ Θεοῦ νὰ δώσῃ βροχήν, τοὺς ἔπεμψε χαλάζιν μεγάλον καὶ φοβερὸν 17th c., Chron. 1619 1149–50
- καθὼς μοῦ ἀκούσατε 17th c., VAROUCHAS, Logoi 466.42–467.1

Prepositional Phrases for Bare Cases

- ἀπὸ σαλοῦ καὶ μεθυστοῦ τὴν ἀλήθειαν ἄκουε 16th c./?, Paroim. H 7
- ὅσοι ἦσαν μαχεζόμενοι μετὰ τοῦ βασιλέως 16th c./15th c., LIMEN., Velis. (Λ) 642 app. crit.
- οὔτε ἀπὸ μάθημα ἐμέτεχεν 17th c., RODINOS, Vios Ign. 61.17
- ὡσὰν λαϊκὸς νὰ συγκοινωνᾷ μὲ τοὺς κοσμικοὺς 17th c., RODINOS, Vios Ign. 105.29
- ἐσυνωμίλησα καὶ μετὰ τοῦ ἐνδοξοτάτου πατρός 1707, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 13, 310, f.1r.4

5.1.3.2 Accusative Adjuncts

Accusative of Space/Extent (including measures)

- (61) The accusative is used adverbially to mark NPs denoting the space in/ throughout which something takes place, the size of a person or object, or a distance traversed; such accusatives may specify both verbs and adjectives.

- μαθόν καὶ ποῦ ἀργαβιάζεσαι, τὰ ῥῶ δὲν ἔχεις τόπον 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 246 app. crit. (P)
- ἦτον (γυναῖκα), α ὀργυῖες ὑψηλή καὶ διακόσιες ὀργυῖες χοντρή
16th c., Diig. Alex. F 36.9 (Konstantinopulos)
- ἦσανε (δένδρα) ὑψηλὰ πῆχες ἑκατόν 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.19
- εἰς τὸ πατριαρχεῖον ... εἶναι γράμματα γλυπτὰ τὸ γύρωθεν τῆς ἐκκλησίας 1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.1–2

Extended/Metaphorical Uses (including fixed expressions)

- ἄλλον τόσον εἶνε μισισμένος ἀποῦ ᾽ξ αὐτῆς μας!
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 252.30
- καὶ τὴν ἄλλην μερέαν ὅτι ... τοῦ εἶχε εἰπεῖ ὁ πασᾶς βιζίρης ὅτι νὰ μὴν πάγῃ νὰ πολεμήσῃ μὲ τὸν Ταμερλάνο 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 39.6–8
- ὁμως, σὲ παρακαλῶ, ἀνασηκώσου κομμάτι 18th c., Don Kis. 47.6–7

NOTE

- (i) Locative NPs in the accusative case define extended areas rather than specific points in space (for which prepositional phrases headed by εἰς/σέ + accusative are normally used).

Accusative of Time

- (62) The accusative is similarly used to mark NPs denoting a period of time at/within/throughout which something takes place; the meaning may be distributive (“in/during each period X”) when the context is generic, as often in legal documents.

- ἀπῆρες ὕπνον ὀλιγόν, ἐκάμυσες ῥρίτσαν 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 166
- ψυχὴ μου κακοτύχερε, μίαν ἐχάρης ὥραν 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 196
- ἐκράτησεν ὁ γάμος τοὺς τρεῖς μῆνας ἀκεραίους 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 1083
- μετὰ τὸ δοῦναι τὴν ἀπόφασιν, καρτερεῖ ὁ κριτὴς ἡμέρας ἰ΄
ca. 1300, Cyprus, SIMON 1973: 73.170
- τὸ μεσόνυκτο ἐγένετον ἀστραπαὶ καὶ βροντὴ καὶ ροπὴ
1326, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 41, 93.5–6
- τὴν νύχτα ἐκείνη παρευτὺς ἔσωσεν τὸ μαντάτο στὸν Καμπανέσην
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1539–40
- εἰς τὴν Κλαρέντσαν ἔσωσεν τὸ ἔβγα τοῦ μαῖου 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7848
- τὴν αὐτὴν ἡμέραν, ἡμέρα Σαββάτω, ἐπέθανε ἡ μακαρισμένη ἀρχόντισσα τοῦ σιρ Τζορ Ταρτούζ 1391, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 2, 88.1–2

- ὄργην νὰ ἔλθῃ ἀπάνω του ὅπου ποτὲ ἀγάπην θελήσῃ μὲ τὸν Πρίαμον νὰ ἔχῃ μίαν ἡμέραν 16th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1468–9
- τοῦ Αὐγούστου τὰ πεντάλιτρα τὸν Μάιον ἀναζητοῦνται 16th c./?, Paroim. H 19
- ἐβλέπαν τον ἀμπέξω μέρα νύκταν 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 56, 58.38, 4
- ἐκείνην τὴν εὐλογημένην νύκταν ὅπου ἐγεννήθη ὁ Κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς Χριστός ..., ἐφανίσθησαν σημεῖα πολλὰ καὶ διάφορα 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 332.31–3
- τὴν σήμερον ἡμέραν εἰς τὸ πατριαρχεῖον ... εἶναι γράμματα γλυπτὰ τὸ γύρωθεν τῆς ἐκκλησίας 1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.1–2
- ἤκουσαν τὰ δικαιώματα τοῦ ἐνὸς μέρους καὶ τοῦ ἄλλου ... μία καὶ δύο καὶ πολλάκις βολές 1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 46, 43.2–4
- ἐπολέμησέ την (Σουμάκια) καμπόσες ἡμέρες 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 31.3

Idiomatic Expression

- ἐτελεύτησεν καὶ αὐτὴν, σήμερον δέκα ἡμέρες
 1684, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 436, 659.15
- (“today ten days” = “ten days ago”, cf. MG εδῶ καὶ δέκα μέρες)

Distributive (= “per”)

- τὰ δὲ λοιπὰ ἑκατὸν δουκάτα τὸν μῆνα, ἤγουν χίλια καὶ διακόσια τὸν χρόνον, νὰ ἐξοδιάζωνται εἰς τινὰς ἄρχοντας καὶ καλὰ πρόσωπα 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 285.6–8
- νᾶχουν ὀμπλιγον τὰ παιδιὰ μου ... νὰ βάνουν νὰ μᾶς λέσι κάθε παιδί τὸν χρόνον λειτουργείαις πενήντα 1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 110.157

NOTE

- (i) Temporal accusatives define the period of time for which or within which something occurs; a specific point in time at which something occurs (i.e. a temporal location conceived as punctual – it may in fact be a particular day or month etc.) is marked either with the dative (a traditional AG use, see 5.1.5) or a prepositional phrase headed by εἰς/σέ + accusative.

Accusative of Respect/Accusative of Specification

- (63) NPs that are used to delimit or further specify the denotation of nouns, verbs (normally intransitive or passive) and adjectives are often inflected in the accusative.

Such NPs identify a restricted domain of applicability for verbs and adjectives (e.g. “suffer in (respect of) the heart”, “bold in (respect of) appearance”), and normally specify the denotation of nouns by defining contents (e.g. “a cup of water”), specifying varieties (e.g. “an olive-tree root”) or identifying what is quantified (e.g. “an acre of wheat”). In older texts and in legal documents such NPs are also used with proper names and trades/crafts (e.g. “Alexander by name”, “a potter by trade”).

With Nouns

- ἀφίνω καὶ ἐπτά ἱερεῖς ἀπὸ δύο ὑπερπύρων σιτάριν
ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 82.55
- θέλω νὰ ἀφηγήσωμαι περὶ τὸν Μέγαν Κύρην, μισὶρ Γυλιάμο τὸ ὄνομα, τὸ ἐπὶ κλην ντὲ λὰ Ρότζε 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7958–9
- [ἐὰν αἱ τῆς σκιᾶς πῆχες θ' με δίδουν ξύλου ὕψος πήχας ζ',] αἱ ζέ' πῆχαι σκιὰ πόσον ὕψος πύργου μᾶς θέλουν δώσει;
post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 17, 22.3–4
- ἄφηκα τὸν παπα Τζουάνην κεχρὶ κιλὰ δώδεκα 15th c., Meteora, VEIS et al. 1998: 225, 246, f.163v.10
- ἀπὸ τὸ πλοῦτος τὸ πολὺ ... οὐδὲν ἐπῆρα μετ' ἐμέν ..., εἰμὶ ἔξι πῆχεις σάβανον κ' ἐσαβανώσασί με 16th c./15th c., Om. Nekt. Vas. 65–7
- δός με κοῦπα νεράκι, διὰ τὴν ψυχὴν τοῦ ἄρχου σου, με τὸ ἴδιο σου τὸ χεράκι 16th c./15th c., Synax. gyn. 393–4
- ἔτι μάρτυρας παρακαλεμένος μαῖστρο Ἀνδρέας Δρούσουλας, βουτηκλάρης τὴν τέχνην 1515, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 43, 75.24–5
- μια ρίζαν ἐλαία καὶ συκὲς τρεῖς καὶ δύο ρίζες ἀπιδές
1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 9, 31.5–6
- si servono anco dell' Accusativo in vece del Genitivo in questi modi di parlare: ἔναν ποτήρι νερόν, un bicchier d'acqua, ἔναν κομμάτι κρέας, un pezzo di carne, δύο λαγήνια κρασί, due brocche di vino, & simili 17th c., GERMANO, Grammar 53.25–9
- ἐπροσήλωσεν εἰς τὴν καθ' ἡμᾶς μονὴν εἴκοσι στρέμματα ἀμπέλι 1634, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 58, 156.10
- ἂν ὁ μητροπολίτης ... σοῦ γυρεύση νὰ δώσης παραπάνω ἀπὸ ταῖς δέκα ὀκτᾶδες τὸ χαβιάρι, ... τίποτε παραπάνω νὰ μὴ δώσης 1706, Constantinople, LEGRAND 1903: 21, 59, 60.31–2, 1–2

With Verbs

- ταύτας τὰς τρεῖς κολάσεις ἐνταῦθα τὰς κολάζομαι 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 226–7
- Ἀγαμέμνων τηνικαῦτα τὴν καρδίαν ἐπικράνθη 15th c./14th c., ERMON., Ilias 7.102–3
- νὰ ἀποσκεπάζωνται τὸ κεφάλι τους 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.18
- ῥπόνουν τὸ κεφάλι 16th c., ZINOS, Vatr. 328

With Adjectives

- ἰανουάριος ἦτον ἀπ' αὐτόν, νὰ στήκεται καὶ ἐκεῖνος ἄνθρωπος ὅλος κυνηγός, ὅλος θαρσὺς τὸ σχῆμα 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. α 1179–80
- τὴν ἑπαρσιν ἀβάσταγος, ἀγέρωχος τὸ σχῆμα 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 27
- τ' ἄλλα πάντα θαυμαστούς, [γενναίους εἰς ἀνδρείαν]
16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 30
- ὁποῦ ῥμαι δίχα σάρκωσιν, τὰ κόκκαλα γλυμένος 16th c./15th c., Om. Nekt. Vas. 30

NOTE

- (i) Use of the accusative of respect with verbs and adjectives is a residual feature of older/more literary texts and is widely replaced by prepositional phrases in later/more vernacular material.

Accusative of Exclamation

(64) NPs used in exclamations directed towards an individual are regularly inflected in the accusative (with or without an introductory particle) throughout the period of this Grammar.

- ποῦ νά εὔρης ἄλλον Πρόδρομον τοιοῦτον, τὴν κεφαλὴν σου;
15th c./12th c., Ptoch. (Maiuri) 39
- τὸν Θεόν, καλὲ νεώτερε, ποῦ μένουν οἱ ἀπελάτες;
15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 640
- ὦχω μας τοὺς ἔλενοὺς
15th c., ?Crete, KAKOULIDI 1958/59: 120
- ὀγαί τον κείνον ποὺ εὔρεθῃ νά 'ναι μ' αὐτὴν τὴν γνώμη 16th c., GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 311
- ὦ τὸν ἀσεβῆ!
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 415.33

NOTE

- (i) The accusative in greetings may be related, but the conventionalized ellipsis of a verb meaning “wish” provides an equally plausible explanation:

- κύρ γάδαρέ μου, γεία σου, χίλια καλῶς ἐβρήκαμε ἐδῶ τὴν ἀφεντιά σου 16th c., Fyll. gadar. 11–12

“Cognate Object” Constructions

(65) Verbs may occasionally take accusative NP adjuncts with head nouns that are formally cognate.

These are not true objects (there are no corresponding passive sentences), and the fact that the NPs in question almost always contain adjectives shows that they largely replicate the role of manner adverbials (hate a great hate = hate greatly etc.).

- ἐτζάκκισεν καὶ ἀντροπίασεν τὸν ὄρκον τοῦ ἀπὸ τὴν μεγάλην μισητείαν ἀποῦ μᾶς μισᾶ
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 252.28–9
- ἐκτύπησε ἕναν ἐκτύπον παράξενο καὶ ἡ πέτρα ἔδωσε εἰς τὸν τοῖχο καὶ ἔκαμε μίαν τρούπα μεγάλην
?15th–16th c., Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 60.15–16
- ἄρχισαν νά κλαίουσαν καὶ νά φωνάζουν φωνὲς μεγάλες 16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 105.23

NOTES

- (i) Verbs may also take adverbial NP adjuncts headed by non-cognate nouns with closely related meanings; besides those containing the usual adjective there are also reduplicated expressions indicating intensification (e.g. κλότزون τὸν κλότزون in the first example below = “[with] kick after kick” etc.):

ὁ βούβαλος ... κλότζον τὸν κλότζον ἐκρουεν τὸν πάρδον μὲ τοὺς πόδας 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 1028–9

ἔλεγεν φωνὴν ἀγγελικὴν καθαρὰν, ὅτι ἐγεννήθηκεν ἀπὸ μίαν παρθένον ὁ Υἱὸς τοῦ Θεοῦ
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.1–2

- (ii) Ordinary transitive verbs may take direct objects that happen to be formally cognate, but these are obviously not “cognate object constructions” in any interesting sense:

τότε πάλιν ὁ ἀμिरὰς τοῦτον τὸν λόγον λέγει 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 18 ἔδερναν τὸν Χριστόν, καὶ παθαίνοντας τὰ πάθη ἐχαλότον ὀλίγον κατ’ ὀλίγον
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.41–2

ἦντα κανίσκιν ἄσκημο μ’ ἔχεις κανισκεμένη! 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Erof. V.398

- (iii) As a means of intensification, intransitive verbs with the core meaning “have some experience” exhibit marginal transitive uses involving NPs headed by cognate nouns or nouns of closely related meaning:

τάρταρον τὸν τουρτουρισμόν, τὸν τουρτουρίζω τώρα 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 230 κάλλιον τὸ ἔχω, θάνατον σήμερον ν’ ἀποθάνω περὶ νὰ εἰποῦσιν ἀλλαχοῦ νὰ μὲ κατηγορήσουν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1134–5 ἄν ἦτον καὶ νὰ μπόρει τὸν ὕπνον νὰ κοιμᾶτον, ἀλησμονήσειν ἤθελεν ὀλίγον ἐκ τὴν λύπην 15th c., Peri xen. 23–4

5.1.4 Genitive

5.1.4.1 Complements of Verbs

Genitive of Indirect Object and Related Complements

- (66) In southern areas, including S. Italy and Sicily, the indirect objects of ditransitive verbs and the complements of many other verbs that were marked dative in AG may be expressed by means of a genitive NP.

Alternatively a prepositional phrase headed by εἰς/σέ or πρός + accusative may be used. Such PPs appear in this function in all locations, especially in later periods, and are most usually substituted for NPs headed by other than 1st/2nd-person pronouns.

πέπρακα αὐτὸ τοῦ κυροῦ Κωνσταντίνου διὰ νόμισμα ξν 1076–7, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1963: 1, 46.8

νὰ μὲ τὸ διερμηνέψης (πῶς στήκει τὸ κάστρον), καὶ μὴ τολμήσης νὰ τὸ εἰπῇς ἀνθρώπου γεννημένου 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8216–17 ἐμήνυσεν τοῦ καστελλάνου νὰ ἔλθῃ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8228 δὲν μοῦ φάνη κ’ ἔζησα στὰ πλούτη μιὰν ἡμέραν 16th c./15th c., Om. Nokr. Vas. 73 γυρεύουν ὅτι νὰ τοὺς δώσουν τὸν Σαμφών, ... καὶ οἱ Ἰσραηλίται ... φοβοῦνται καὶ δίδουν τὸν Σαψών δεμένον τῶν ἐχθρῶν 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.32–4

- ποτέ μου δὲ σοῦ εἶπα τίποτας 16th c., Nov. I 156.15 ἀφίει καὶ ἐμοῦ τοῦ νοταρίου διὰ τὸν κόπον μου ὑπέρπυρα εἰκοσιπέντε
 1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 165.42
 ἀφήνει τῆς Καντιῶς ὅ,τι μερτικό τοῦ ἐγγίζει στοὺ χωράφι τῆς Κουκουβάγιας 1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 9, 311.22
 τὰ ὅσα ἔχω δοσμένα τῶν ἐπιτρόπων 1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 109.115 τὴ γραφὴ ... ἐλάβαμε ..., τὴν ὁποία ἐδιαβάσαμε τὴνε, ὡς ἔπρεπε, τοῦ δεσπότη καὶ ὀλονοῦ τοῦ λαοῦ 1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.5

With Prepositional Phrases (attested in all areas)

- ἀνταπεκρίνατο πρὸς με ὁ ὑποψήφιος [λέγων μοι ὅτι ...]
 ?1144, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 9, 313.4–5 πρὸς ἐκεῖνον ἀποκρίθη 16th c./14th c., Ptochol. α 722 π(εζάν)τ(ια) τ' δομένα στοὺς κάτ(ωθε) τόπο<υ>ς 1468, Nicosia, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 48, 26.3
 ἐδώκασιν τὸν λεγόμενον Ἀντώνη εἰς τὰς χεῖρας τοῦ εὐγενοῦς φρα Γιλιάμου 1491, Rhodes, TSIRPANLIS 1988: 1, 234.26 ἀενάως στέλνων ὁ ἀδελφὸς αὐτοῦ πρὸς αὐτοὺς δωρεάς 17th c./16th c., Ekth. Chron. 40.24–5 ἐσεῖς ... ἀπονη βουλὴν ἐδώκετε σ' ἐμένα 18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. IV.319

NOTE

- (i) For further examples of the genitive in southern areas, specifically to mark NPs denoting an interested party (e.g. experiencer, beneficiary, victim etc., all marked dative in AG) or the complements of verbs such as ἀκολουθῶ, βοηθῶ etc. (+ dative in AG), see Rule (60) NOTES (i) and (ii).

Genitive Governed by Adjectives

(67) A small number of adjectives take genitive complements in early/more literary texts; only ἄξιος retains this construction with any regularity in later periods, where it remains a learned feature.

- πάντας ἄξιους ἔκρινεν τοῦ στέφους καὶ τοῦ κράτους
 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 38 κοινὴν βουλὴν ἃς εἴπωμεν, ἃν ἔναι θελητόν σου πῶς καὶ γενοῦμεν ἐγκρατεῖς τοῦ κάστρου καὶ τῆς κόρης 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1032–3 ἂν οἱ προσευχῆς ... ἐνεργοῦσιν εἰς τὴν ζωὴν ταύτην, καὶ πόσον μᾶλλον μετὰ θάνατον, εἰς ἐκείνους ὅπου εἶναι ἄξιοι τῶν ἱερῶν εὐχῶν ...; 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 100 ὁπόταν ἐθέλασιν γυρέψειν νὰ πουλήσουν τίποτι, νὰ εἶναι ἐκπτωτοὶ τῆς ἐκκλησίας καὶ τῶν πραγμάτων αὐτῆς 1615, Santorini, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 9, 5.47–8

5.1.4.2 Genitive Adjuncts

(68) Genitive NPs may be used to mark the reason for/cause of an eventuality, or to specify a time/place within which something occurred.

Genitive of Reason/Cause

- ἤλθε μου λακταρισμός νὰ πέσω ν' ἀποθάνω καὶ ν' ἀποθάνω ὁ ἐλεεινὸς αἰφνίδιου θανάτου 15th c., Peri xen. 331
- ὀλιγοψύχησεν πολλὰ κι ἔπεσεν τοῦ θανάτου 15th c., Peri xen. 401
- μὰ κλαίγει καὶ τοῦ τυχῆς του πολλὰ παραπονᾶται 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Panor. III.508
- ἀκόμη τόγγονοῦ μου τοῦ Τζάν Φραντζέσκο τοῦ Κορνάρου ... παραπονοῦμαι 1625, Crete, MAVROMATIS 1986: 6, 79.23
- μὰ ψυχὴ, ἀπὸ εὐρίσκεται τοῦ πόθου ἀρρωστημένη, σφαίνει τοὶ πλιότερες φορὲς καὶ μένει κομπωμένη 17th c., TROILOS, Rodol. IV.163–4

NOTE

- (i) The genitive of reason/cause may be used absolutely in a number of archaic/conventionalized exclamations that originate for the most part in liturgical texts and represent a reaction to a situation or occurrence:

- ἐνέβην ἐς τὸ ξύλον καὶ ἀρμενίσαν – ὦ τοῦ θαύματος! – παραῦτα ἐγίνην ζάλη καὶ ἦρτα νὰ πνιγοῦσιν 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 62.11–13
- παγαίνοντας εἰς τὸ σπῖτι του, – ὦ τοῦ θαύματος! – ἀπὸ τὸ σακούλι, ὅπου ἔβαλε τὸ κεφάλι, ἔτρεχεν αἷμα! 16th c., DIONYS., Istor. 253.23–4
- ὦ τῆς μακροθυμίας σου, δέσποτα πολυέλεε Θεέ!
 18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 25.12–13

Genitive of Place/Time

The genitive is used residually, mainly in fixed expressions, to denote an area within/via which, or a period of time during/within which, something takes place.

Place

- ἂν θέλω ... νὰ στείλω (τὰ φουσσᾶτα) μὲ τὰ κάτεργα νὰ ὑπάγουν τῆς θαλάσσης κι ἀπαύτου ... νὰ ὑπάγουν τῆς στερέας, ... νὰ τὸν (= τὸν τόπον σου) ἐπάρουν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4233–7

Time

- εἰς ἐκκλησίαν ἐτήρησα πολλοῦ καιροῦ κτισμένη 16th c./15th c., Om. Nokr. Vas. 17
- τῆς ὥρας ἐκατέβη κάτω ἀπὸ τὸ θεῖον κελίον αὐτοῦ καὶ ὄρισε καὶ ἄνοιξαν τῇν ἐκκλησίαν 16th c., MALAXOS M., Ist. patr. 218.32–3
- ἐκεῖ ἐπροσεύχετον ἡμέρας καὶ νυκτός 16th c., Martyr. Vlas. 245.7

NOTE

- (i) There are a few related phrases of the same type involving an extended use of the genitive to denote the medium of communication:

Σαρακηνὸς ἐλάλησεν τὸν ἀμिरὰν τῆς γλώσσης 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 21

(69) The genitive is widely used to mark NPs functioning as adnominal modifiers, i.e. that variously delimit the denotation of the head nouns they are in construction with.

It is often difficult to say what the precise meaning of a given genitive is, and any classificatory system of adnominal genitive adjuncts will necessarily be in some degree arbitrary; here they are grouped under three general headings, possession, specification and description.

Genitive of Possession/Belonging τίς ... τὴν χαρὰν νὰ ἰσχύσῃ καταλέξειν, τίς τοῦ λαοῦ τὴν χαρμονὴν ..., τῶν τῆς συγκλήτου πολιτῶν ?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.7v.3–10 κλίνει τῶν δύων τὰς κεφαλὰς, γαβροῦ καὶ θυγατρὸς του 15th c./?14th–15th c., Achil. N 1528 συνάχθητε ὁμοῦ ὧδε σήμερον, νὰ μαθήσωμεν τὰ γένια τοῦ σπανοῦ 16th c./?14th–15th c., Spanos D 1149–50 ἀπ' αὐτὰ ἐχάλασεν τοῦ πρίγκιπος ἡ ἀρμάτα 15th c., Chron. Toc. 1896 στάς δεκαπέντε τοῦ μηνός, λέγω τοῦ Σεπτεμβρίου 16th c., ZINOS, Alex. Rim. Epil. 57 ὁμως ἀνέβη καὶ ἔκαμεν εἰς τὰ γόνατα τοῦ Διὸς τὰ αὐγά 16th c., Vios Aisop. K 205.5

NOTE

- (i) The possessive genitive may also be used predicatively, sometimes with additional nuances:

μὴ βλέπῃς τὸ ἀπάκιν μας, οὐκ ἔνι τοῦ λάρυγγός σου 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 248 “it’s not your throat’s” = “for your throat”

Genitive of Specification (defining the particular case/kind, with various nuances) μονοκύθρου μ' ἔδωκε καθ' ὕπνους μυρωδία 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 235 εἰ μὲν συμβῇ ὁ ἀφέντης του ... καὶ νὰ τὸν ἔχη εἰς φυλακὴν, εἰς τιμωρίαν σιδῆρων, νὰ τὸν ζητήσῃ ὁ ἀφέντης του καὶ νὰ τὸν ἀνακράξῃ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7572–4 ἀμμεὶ ὁ σὶρ Τουμαῖς δὲν τὸν ἐλείψεν ἡ πικρία τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ του 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 28.15

“the bitterness of (arising from) his brother’s death” τότες δὲν εἶναι καιρὸς τῆς βοηθείας οὐδὲ ποσῶς, ἀλλὰ πᾶσα παρακάλεσι ἄπρακτη καὶ ἀνωφέλετη 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 159–60

“a time of (to seek) relief/assistance” εἰς τὸ ἐκλαμπρότατον Κολέγιον Χανδάκου Κρήτης 1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 30, 49.12–13

“the College of Chandax of (in) Crete” ἐδά ’ν’ καιρὸς τῇ προσευκῇ, δάκρυα δριμιά τυχαίνου, νὰ συμπαθήσῃ ὁ Κύριος πάσα κριματισμένου 17th c./16th–17th c., Thysia Avr. 579–80 ἐρχίνισαν εἰς τὴν Αἴγυπτον νὰ κτίζουσι μοναστήρια καὶ νὰ πρεμαζώνονται τὰ πλήθη τῶν μοναχῶν 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 31.20–1 ὀργισθήκασιν περίσσα καὶ ἀφρίζασιν ἀπὸ λύσσα ἐκδίκησης 18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.23–4 “fury of (for/arising from) revenge”

Genitive of Description (including measures) ἕτερον χωράφιν εἰς τὴν Παληρέαν μοδίῳν ἡ ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.27 ἐννόμους δὲ γάμους πληροῦσιν οἱ Ρωμαῖοι, ὅταν εἶναι ὁ ἄνθρωπος χρόνων ἰδ’ καὶ ἄνωθεν, ... καὶ ἡ γυναῖκα νὰ ἔναι χρόνων ἰβ’ καὶ ἄνωθεν ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 238.400–2 εἰς τὸ κουμοῦ τῆς Βενετίας ἐξέβησαν ἄνθρωποι γνώσεως μεγάλης καὶ στρατειῶς

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 950–1 ἐβγήκε κακῆς προαιρέσεως ἄνθρωπος καὶ ἐβουλεύθη κακὰ πρὸς ἐκεῖνον ὅπου τὸν ἀνάντηρεν 16th c., DIONYS., Istor. 252.11–13

εὐρίσκονται ἄνδρες τοῦ σπαθίου τριανταπέντε χιλιάδες 1609, Cyprus, CHASIoTIS 1972: 35, 59.10

5.1.5 Dative

(70) In vernacular LMedG/EMG the dative case is no longer employed creatively and survives chiefly in lexicalized clichés and other fossilized expressions such as dating formulae.

In early texts, however, the dative is not uncommon in short verbal phrases comprising imperatives and personal pronouns; subsequently, dative pronouns (often with other verb forms) are a mark of influence from more learned registers and/or of traditional practice in certain “higher” domains.

Its occasional appearance as a variant of other cases or forms of expression involving more complex NPs is typically inspired by traditional usage in a specific domain or by the actual words of an ancient (often religious) source.

Dative Pronouns

[Φέρε με καὶ βλάχικον τυρὶν σταμεναρέαν], καὶ δός μοι νὰ προγεύσωμαι καὶ πάλιν νὰ πετσώνω 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 119–20

Δότε μοι πετσὶν διὰ τὰ ὑποδήματά μου 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 144

“τί ἐνι τοῦτο τὸ μέρος τῆς ἐκκλησίας ὅπερ λέγεις;” εἶπε μοι ὅτι “ὁ μητροπολίτης Φιλίππων” 1337/8, Constantinople, HUNGER et al. 1995: 109, 92.57–8 ἐμένα ... φαίνεται μοι ὡς ἀναγκαιότατον ... πρῶτον ὁ ἱατρός 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 286.4–5

ἔλεγα «βοηθεῖτε μοι!» κ’ ἐκεῖνοι ἀφήκασί με 16th c./15th c., Om. Nokr. Vas. 63

Fossilized Phrases/Dating Formulae

- ἐν τούτῳ παύομαι ἐδῶ νὰ λέγω κι ἀφηγοῦμαι περὶ τοῦ ρῆγα Κάρουλου
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7955–6
- ἐχαρίσαμε τοῦ Γεωργίου ... τὸ κοπέλι ..., ὀνόματι Φίλιππο Θεόδωση Βεντούρη 1468, Nicosia, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 72, 36.1–4
- τῇ ἱε' αὐγούστου ,ασπς' τὴν ἡμέραν τῆς Θεοτόκου ἐστέφθην ὁ ρε' Χαρήν εἰς τὴν χώραν τῆς Τύρου ρήγας 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 42.3–5
- (τὰ δαιμόνια) εἶχαν πέσει ἀπὸ τοὺς οὐρανοὺς εἰς τὴν γῆν, τότες ὅπου ἠθέλησαν νὰ γένουν ὁμοιοι τῷ Θεῷ τῷ ὑψίστῳ 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.27–30
- ἐν τῷ ᾧα τοῦ ἔστειλε λόγον 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.3
- διὰ τοῦτο γράφω ἰδίᾳ χειρὶ καὶ ποιῶ παραίτησιν τοῦ θρόνου τῆς ἀρχιεπισκοπῆς Καρπάθου 1622, ?Karpathos, ZERLENDIS 1918d: B, 300.14–15
- ἀποφασίσαμεν ἅπαντες κοινῇ γνώμῃ καὶ βουλῇ ὅτι νὰ πωλήσωμεν τὰ κελλία τῆς μεγάλης Μέσης 1661, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 71, 200.5
- περὶ ταῖς καλαῖς σας ὑγείαις πολλὰ τὸ ἐχάρηκα καὶ παρακαλῶ τὸν Θεὸν νὰ τὴν εὕρῃ ἢ παροῦσα ἐν ὑγείαις καὶ πάσῃ χαρᾷ 1696, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 16, 216.5–6
- Ἱστορία Γαλαξειδίου ... Διὰ χερὸς Εὐθυμίου Ἱερομονάχου ἔτος ... ἀφγ' μηνὶ Μαρτίου
18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 13.1–10

Some Other Uses

- ἄλλο μῆνυμαν ἐκ τοὺς ἀποσωστάς σου τῷ βασιλεῖ κατέλαβεν γέμον χαρὰν μεγάλην
?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.1r.3–8
- “ambassadors to the emperor”
- ὁ ... πάπας ... ἔταξε νὰ δίδῃ κάθε μῆνα τὰ αὐθεντόπουλα δουκάτα τριακόσια, ὥσπερ ἔδιδε καὶ τῷ ἀγίῳ τῷ δεσπότη καὶ πατρὶ αὐτῶν 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 284.9–11
- (traditional high style in reference to the emperor, as above)
- ἀπέθανε καὶ ἡ δέσποινα κυρὰ Ἀννα ... λοιμῶδει νόσῳ 15th c., SFRANTZIS, Chron. 12.22–3
- (instrumental dative as in AG)
- ἐσγάψαν τὴν γῆν καὶ ἐμπῆκαν μέσα, καὶ ἐπροσεύχονταν τῷ Θεῷ
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 30.5–6
- (+ dative in AG, though normally used absolutely in New Testament)
- λέγουσιν ... πὼς ἐν τῇ ἐσχάτῃ ἀναπνοῇ σὰν ἕναν ζύγιν αἱ πρᾶξεις τῶν ἀν(θρώπ)ων ζυγιάζονται καὶ δοκιμάζονται 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 567–8

5.2 Complements of Nouns

Complementation of nouns is frequent, although not mandatory as it is with verbs or prepositions: participants fulfilling key semantic roles are not always represented by concrete linguistic expressions (e.g. her marriage (to John), her claim (that X)).

5.2.1 Subjective and Objective Genitives

The genitive subjects of NPs headed by nouns denoting actions (usually deverbal nouns) are not, strictly speaking, complements of the relevant head nouns any more than the subjects of sentences containing the related verbs are complements of those verbs. On the other hand, nouns denoting actions, or the agents of actions, may take true genitive NP complements, with a role corresponding to that of the direct object of the related transitive verb. Despite this grammatical difference it is convenient to treat subjective and objective genitives together in that they have the same syntactic distribution, appearing after the head noun unless preposed for emphasis or contrast (though preposing is often employed metri gratia in verse texts without obvious emphasis). In practice, therefore, co-occurrence of subjective and objective genitives is rare, and occurs only in early/more literary texts:

τοῦ Καλλιμάχου ζήτησις πάλιν πρὸς Χρυσορρόην τῆς πατρικῆς γεννήσεως, τῆς χώρας καὶ τοῦ πάθους 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 600–1

The need for a double genitive construction is avoided by replacing one with a prepositional phrase (normally headed by ἀπό for subjective genitives, εἰς/πρός/μέ etc. for objective genitives; see Rule (72) NOTE (i) for examples of the latter).

(71) A NP in construction with a noun denoting an action may fulfil a role analogous to that of a subject in a sentence; such NPs are inflected in the genitive.

It is difficult to draw a line between subjective and possessive genitives (for which see 5.1.4.2); genitives are treated here as subjective when the head noun denotes something clearly more active than a simple property or quality of the NP in question.

κατὰ τὸ πεῖν τοὺς πραγματευτάδες καὶ τοῦ ναυκλέρου καὶ τοὺς ναύτας 15th c./13th c., Cyprus, Assizes B 296.16–17

ἡ δὲ ἡ ρήγαινα ἐκάτζειν εἰς τὸν ἡλιακὸν εἰς τὸ διάβαν τοὺς βαβαλλάριδες καὶ ὅλου τοῦ λαοῦ 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 50.12–13 εἶδαμεν τὲς ἀναζητήσεις τοῦ ἐνὸς μέρους καὶ τὲς ἀποκρίσεις τοῦ ἑτέρου μέρους πολλὰς καὶ πλείστας φορές 1575, Kefalonia, VAYONAKIS et al. 2008: 10, 63.4

ἀπὸ τῶν ἀγκάλης καὶ κυβέρνησης ἐνοῦ πριντζίπου τόσο γλυκότατου 1671, Cythera, PSARAS 1989: 150.16

(72) A NP in construction with a noun denoting an action, or the agent of an action, may fulfil a role analogous to that of the object of a transitive verb; such NPs are inflected in the genitive.

With Action Nouns

ὁ τρέχων εἰς τὸν κόσμον, οὐκ ἔχει φόβον πενθερᾶς 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 126–7 τῶν ὀδυνῶν μου κουφισμόν, ἐπαύξησιν ζωῆς μου καὶ τῆς πνοῆς μου σύστασιν πῶς νὰ τὴν ἐξεπλέξω; ?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.8r.7–10 καὶ εἰς πόθον τῆς ἀγάπης σου ἔφερεν τὴν ψυχὴν μου 15th c./?14th–15th c., Achil. L 723

ἐτρέχασιν ὅλοι ἀπὸ τὸν φόβον τοῦ βασιλέως, ... ὁδὶὰ νὰ κάμη θυσίαν τῶν ψευδωνύμων θεῶν 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.5–7

With Agent Nouns

ἤκουσαν τὰ δικαιώματα ... τοῦ κύρ Μιχέλη Γκελάρδου καὶ κυράτζα Θουμαγῆς ὡς κυβερνήτρα τῶν παιδιῶν της 1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 46, 43.2–4 ἔπεμψε τὸ παράκλητον Πνεῦμα εἰς τοὺς ἀγίους του μαθητὰς καὶ θεωροὺς τῶν μυστηρίων του 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 31.1–2

NOTE

- (i) With certain head nouns, particularly when these are not formally action nouns (i.e. ending in -σις, -ισμός etc.), and also with some adjectives, a prepositional phrase may be used instead of a genitive, sometimes with a slight difference of meaning (cf. love of X and love for X). Each such lexical item selects a characteristic preposition or set of prepositions:

ἀγάπην εἶχεν ἄπειρον εἰς αὐτὴν ὁ πατήρ της· καὶ ἀπὲ τὴν ἀγάπην τὴν πολλὴν ἦν πρὸς ἐκείνην εἶχεν 15th–16th c./?14th–15th c., Achil. N 759–60 ἀπ' ἐκεῖ πάλε ἄρχεψεν ἡ ἔχθρα μὲ τοὺς ἀδελφούς τοῦ ἀντρός της

 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 312.2–3 ἦτονε μαθηματικὴ εἰς τὰ γράμματα πολλὰ καὶ εἰς τὴν φιλοσοφίαν ἔμπειρη 1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.7

5.2.2 Partitive Genitives

(73) Nouns and pronouns denoting a part/subset of a larger whole may take a genitive NP complement denoting the relevant whole.

Other than in very early and archaizing texts, NPs whose heads take a definite partitive complement are themselves normally definite, perhaps reflecting a growing avoidance of combinations of NPs that disagree in definiteness.

αὐτὸς ὁ Εὐλάλιος καὶ ἂν ἔλθῃ καὶ ὁ Χήναρος ἐκεῖνος ... οἱ πρῶτοι τῶν ζωγράφων, τοιοῦτον οὐκ ἐξορθώνουσι 15th c./12th c., Ptoch. (Maiuri) 43–5 αἰσχύνομαι τοὺς στρατηγούς καὶ τοῦ στρατοῦ τὸ πλῆθος

 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 120

τὸ πολὺ τῆς ἡδονῆς ἐλαττωμένον εἶχε 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 288 ἐπέθανεν τὸ ἥμισον τοῦ νησιῶ 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 60.26–7

NOTES

- (i) Exceptions to the definiteness requirement are rare and early:

τινὲς δὲ τῶν χιρεκάκων ἠνέφεραν τὸν αὐθέντην μου
ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.31

- (ii) A prepositional phrase headed by ἀπό/ἐκ is normally used instead of a genitive when the head is a bare numeral or an indefinite pronoun/quantifier. This allows an indefinite NP to stand in construction with a definite NP without violation of the definiteness constraint:

μίαν ἀπὸ τὰς πρόκριτας εἰς ἣν ἐθάρρει πλέον, παρήγγειλεν ὁ βασιλεὺς τοὺς ὅλους νὰ προλάβῃ ?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.3r.9–12 τὸ πῶς ἡγάπα κ' ἤθελεν κάλλιον νὰ εἶχεν χάσει μίαν ἀπὸ τὰς χῶρες τοῦ ἐκ τὰς καλλιώτερές τοῦ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7085–6 ἔκραξε δύο ἀπὸ τοὺς Ρωμαίους καὶ γράφει τοὺς πιττάκια

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8319

καὶ εἶς ἐκ τοὺς φιλόσοφους τοὺς βασιλεῖς ἐλάλειε 16th c./14th c., Byz. Il. 846 πολλοὶ ἀπὸ τοὺς καβαλλάριδες ἀχόρταγοι καὶ πτωχοὶ ἐβάλαν τὰ χέρια τοὺς 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 82.27–8

δὲ τοῦ ἀβοήθησε τινὰς ἀπὸ τὰ παιδιὰ μου 1642, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 246, 197.31

κάτι γοῦν ἀπὸ ἐκείνους τοὺς πειράτες, ... ἐπήγασιν τρέχοντας γοργὸν
18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.16–19

- (iii) The prepositional phrase construction is also used when expressions of this kind have uniquely identified referents (= “the one of the pair/set of X with some distinguishing property”):

ἔκραξε δύο ἀπὸ τοὺς Ρωμαίους καὶ γράφει τοὺς πιττάκια· ὁ ἕνας ἀπὸ αὐτοὺς τὸ ἔγραψεν ὅπου ἔξευρεν νὰ γράφῃ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8319–20 βρεῖ θέλει τρόπον ὁμορφὸ νὰ δῇ νὰ τσῆ μιλήσῃ, τὸν ἕνα ἀπὸ τοὺς τσι δύο τῶνε νὰ πάρῃ, ὅποιον ὀρίσῃ 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Erof. II.19–20

5.2.3 Clausal Complements

- (74) Many nouns take clausal complements, especially those formally and/or semantically related to verbs with clausal complements (see Chapter 2). The type of complement in any given case is largely determined by the meaning class of the noun in question.

With (τοῦ/διὰ) νά

Clausal complements of nouns with meanings related to those of control verbs (“power”, “decision”, “command”, “hope”, “promise”, “intention” etc.) normally take complements containing subjunctive verb forms marked with νά. With some nouns, especially in the “hope”/“promise” domain, there is overlap between νά-clauses and clauses introduced by ὅτι/πῶς (see below).

- ἀπόκρισιν τοῦ ἔδωκεν πρόθυμα νά τὸ ποιήσῃ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5677
- ἐγὼ σὲ παραδίδω τὴν ἀφεντίαν ὅπου κρατῶ νά στήκῃς διὰ τὴν κούρτην, νά κρένης γὰρ καὶ νά κρατῇς τὸ δίκαιον μὲ τὸν νόμον 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7539–41
- ἔχει ἐλπίδα εἰς τὸν Θεὸν πολλὰ νά τὸ ἀγαπήσῃ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8699
- μετὰ τοῦτο νά ᾗ ὄμπλεγο νά τόνε πάρῃ, σὰν ἀποθάνῃ, νά τόνε κηβέψῃ στὸ ἄνωθεν μοναστήρι καὶ νά τόνε μνημονεύῃ 1610, Crete (Rethymno region), BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 662, 576.11–12

NOTES

- (i) The negative in νά-clauses is μή(ν), though νά may then be omitted (in verse texts often metri gratia):

βουλὴν ἠπῆρεν μετ' αὐτοῦ τὸ ἐπίλοιπον μή χάσῃ 15th c., Chron. Toc. 1024 δίδοντας ὄρδενε νά μὴν πγιάινῃ τινὰς ἐκεῖ 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.34

- (ii) Νά-clauses complementing verbs may contain the genitive article τοῦ (see 2.2, Rule (26) NOTE (ii)), but this occurs with nouns in only a few examples from the Chronicle of Morea where there is a pause or significant gap between the noun and its dependent clause:

ἰσιάστησαν μὲ τὸ Κουμοῦ εἰς τέτοιες συμφωνίες τοῦ νά τοῦ δώσῃ τὸ Κουμοῦ ... τέσσαρα κάτεργα καλὰ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2779–82 ἐποίησε γὰρ ὁ πρίγκιπας τὸ ὁμάτζιον πρὸς τὸν ρῆγα τοῦ νά κρατῇ τὸν τόπον του ἀπὸ τὸν ρῆγα Κάρλον 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 6477–8

- (iii) Rarely, and chiefly in later texts from Crete and Cyprus, νά-complements may also be preceded by διὰ, which again tends to be used when there is a gap between a noun and its dependent clause, but this is by no means a requirement:

ἐγδέχeton μαντάτον ἀπὸ τὴν Κύπρον, διὰ νά ῥτῃ, νά τοῦ δώσουν τὴν ἀρχιεπισκοπὴν 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 14.7–8 τὰ στεκάμενα ὅπου ἀγόρασε τοῦ μοναστηρίου ἦτονε ἀφορμή διὰ νά μὴν ἔλθῃ κακὸς γείτονας εἰς τὸ μοναστήρι 1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.43–4

Indirect Questions

Nouns with an appropriate meaning may take an indirect question as a complement (see also 2.4). Interrogative phrases in clause-initial position regularly attract the verb (cf. 1.4, Rules (16), (17), (18)), with overt subjects then following.

Indirect questions complementing nouns are less liable to nominalization with τὸ than those with verbs (2.4, Rule (31) NOTE (i)), though the option is common with stereotyped periphrases meaning “consider”/“decide” in which a semantically “light” verb (= “give”, “take”, “make”) is combined with βουλήν as its object.

καὶ τότε δίδουν τὴν βουλήν τὸ ποῦ νά πᾶν νά κλέψουν 15th c., Diig. Ven. 81 χωρὶς νά ἔχῃς ἐννοίαν ἵντα νά τοὺς πλερώσῃς
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.32–3 ἐποίησαν βουλὴν τί νὰ ποιήσουν εἰς ἐτουτουνοὺς τοὺς κακοποιοὺς ἀνθρώπους 16th c., Diig. Alex. E 171.3–4 (Lolos) ἐποίησεν βουλὴν τὸ τί νὰ ποιήσουνε εἰς ἐτουτουνοὺς τοὺς κακοποιοὺς ἀνθρώπους 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 170.3–4 (Lolos)

ἔπεσεν εἰς λογισμὸν μέγα, τὸ πῶς νὰ ποιήσῃ νὰ μὴδὲν ἐντροπιαστῇ 16th c., Diig. Alex. K 361.27–8 μὲ μεγάλῃ ἔννοια βρίσκομαι πῶς<ς> περνᾷ ἡ πανιερότῃ σου 1612, Crete (Chania region), CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.9–10

λέγοντας πρὸς τὸν βασιλέαν τὴν ἀφορμὴν, διατί δὲν τὸν ἐχάλασεν 17th c., Vios Aisop. I 275.37–8

With μῆ(ν)/μήπως καί

In parallel with semantically related verbs (see 2.3), nouns meaning “fear”/“anxiety” etc. may take a complement clause introduced by μῆ(ν)/μήπως καί (with negative οὐ(κ)/(οὐ) δέν). As fear is typically for what may happen in the future, the verb forms attested are overwhelmingly subjunctive, though the particle νά is not normally employed in this inherently modal domain.

The usual integrity of the μῆ(ν) + verb combination is retained even though the negative here has acquired pseudo-complementizer status; μῆ(ν) and the verb are therefore adjacent (apart from clitic pronouns), and overt subjects follow.

εἶχεν μέγαν φόβον μὴ πιάσῃ καὶ τυφλώσῃ τον, εἰς φυλακὴν τὸν βάλῃ καὶ λάβῃ ἄδικον θάνατον καὶ χάσῃ τὸ κορμί του 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4891–3 ὁ νοῦς μου σ’ ἔγνοια μπαίνει, μὴν εἶν’ κιανεῖς στὸ σπίτι της καὶ βρίσκεται κρυμμένος 16th c., CHORTATIS, Katz. II.94–5 ἔχοντας ρεσπέτο ..., μήπως καὶ δώσου του κιανένα καιρὸ καμίας λογῆς πείραξη

1603, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 193, 202–203.4–5

With (ὁ)πού

A noun that is factive (see 2.1, Rule (24)) may take a complement introduced by (ὁ)πού + indicative. The construction seems to be of relatively recent origin (16th c. onwards): in earlier texts, as well as sometimes also after the 16th c., we find simply ὅτι/πῶς (see immediately below for more examples).

Factive with ὅτι/πῶς εὐρέθη τὸ ἀληθές, ὅτι ἡ ἐλαία ἔνι τῆς μονῆς τοῦ παπᾶ κύρ Διονυσίου 1395, Athos, OIKONOMIDÈS 1968: 8, 76.20

μὰ ἔχει μεγάλῃ παραπόνεση πῶς δὲ τῇ στέλνει ἡ πανιερότῃ σου δυὸ λόγια
1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 3, 169.3–4

Factive with (ὁ)πού

τοῦτο ἤτονε μέγα θαῦμα ... ὅπου ἡ κιβωτὸς ... ἐξεβλάστωσεν καὶ ἔκαμε κλωνάρια καὶ φύλλα καὶ ἄνθη καὶ καρπὸν εὐμορφότατον
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.27–36

όπου υπήγεν ό Kaisareias εις τόν Πάπαν, είδησιν δέν ηξευρε

16th c., Chron. Ps.-Dorothe. (1572) 179–80 οί Σαρακηνοί ... είχανε μεγάλην χαρά, όπου ηρθε προφήτης εις τόν τόπον τους

17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 128.13–14

τό χω μεγάλο παράπονο όπου οί άλλοι πραγματευτάδες έλαβαν γραφήν από τούς Κοθωναίους στις 15 Νοεμβρίου

1696, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 19, 218.2–5

With ότι/(τό) πώς

Nouns semantically related to verbs of declaration, belief etc. routinely take complements introduced by ότι/(τό) πώς with an indicative (negative ού(κ)/ούδέ(ν)) or νά + subjunctive (negative μή(ν)); the two items are more or less functionally equivalent, though ότι is more formal/traditional in character and πώς allows for nominalization.

In the “hope/promise” domain ότι/πώς-clauses containing verb forms marked with νά alternate with bare νά-clauses (on which see above).

In earlier/more learned texts subjects may come immediately after ότι and stand directly before the verb; the normal order in a πώς-clause is complementizer–verb–subject, and ότι-clauses increasingly follow this pattern in more vernacular texts.

ότι

εύρέθη τό αληθές, ότι ή έλαία ένι τής μονής του παπα κύρ Διονυσίου

1395, Athos, OIKONOMIDÈS 1968: 8, 76.20

μανδάτον γάρ τόν ηφερα ... ότι την γην εφθάσαμεν

15th–16th c./14th c., Poulol. 577–8 εθιόρκισέν τον ότι να μέν θελήση ποττέ να ποίση τίτοιον κακόν, ότι δυό πρωτανισία να σμικτούν

16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 34.6–8

είχεν ελπίδα ότι θέλει του κάμει να ιδή και αυτός κανένα θαῦμα

16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 374.32–3

από κεϊ εβγήκε ό λόγος ότι απόθανε ό σουλτάν Μουράτης και εκάθησε βασιλεύς ό υιός αυτού ό Μπαγιαζίτης

17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.7–9

από τότε εκάμασι νόμον οί Τουρκοί ότι ... να πιάνουσι οί καπικηδες τά δύο του χέρια

17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.34–5

(τό) πώς

εφέρον του μαντάτον πώς είνε εις την Καλοψίδαν

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 632.33–4

επηγεν τό μαντάτον εις τόν ρήγαν πώς ηρτεν ό αποστολές εις την Κύπρον

16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 18.17–18

δέ μπορώ, ... παρά ... τά πάθη ν' απομένω μ' ελπίδα πώς κιαμιά φορά ν' αλλάξη ό λογισμός σου, να μου χαρίση ανάπαψη ό πόθος ό δικός σου

17th c./16th c., CHORTATISIS, Panor. II.363–6

καλώς τό πιάσε ή χέρα μου τό μαρμαρένιο χέρι, κείνο που έλπίδα μου ᾽δωκε τό πώς σέ κάνω ταίρι

18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAPOS, Erot. III.1491–2 ἦλθεν μαντᾶτο τὸ πὼς ἐχειροτονήθη ἄλλος ἀρχιερεὺς καὶ ἔρχεται· καὶ τότες ἐβγάλλει ἓνα γράμμα ..., τὸ πὼς με κάθηρες, καὶ νὰ μὴ συνάξω καμμίας λογῆς εἰσόδημα ἀπὸ τὴν ἐπαρχίαν 1622, ?Karpathos, ZERLENDIS 1918d: B, 300.6–10 εἶδον διδω τῆς βασιλείας σου, πὼς εἰς τὰς δέκα τοῦ Ὀκτωμβρίου μηνὸς ἦλθαμεν Στοκόλμ 1654, Stockholm (author from Athens), TCHENTSOVA 2004: 4, 56.11 πὼς εἴσθεν ὅλοι σας κουφοὶ μαντᾶτο πὰ νὰ δώσω 17th c., KONDAR., Paides 16

NOTE

- (i) “Οτι is also used to introduce direct speech, particularly in stylistically less ambitious texts/documents:

ἐφέραν τὸν πατέρα του μηνύματα βαρέα ὅτι: “Τινὲς ἀλλογενεῖς τὲς χώρες σου κουρσεύουν ...” 15th c./14th–15th c., Achil. L 101–2 ἐποίησαν βουλήν ὅτι τὸν Ἀλέξανδρον νὰ μὴ τὸν ἔχωμεν εἰς τὸ κάστρον μας 16th c., Diig. Alex. E 163.5–6 (Lolos) ἐν τῷ ἅμα τοῦ ἔστειλε λόγον ὅτι: “Ὁ πατέρας σου σὲ θέλει νὰ σοῦ ὀμιλήσῃ”
 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.3–4

With καί

A formally coordinated καί-clause may be substituted for a wide range of sentential complements to verbs (see Chapter 2) but is comparatively rare with nouns.

τοῦτον ἦτον ἡ ἀφορμή, καὶ ὀργή τοῦ θεοῦ ἐππεσεν ἀπάνω τους
 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 16.12–16 εὑρέθην ἐκεῖ ὁ ἀμειρᾶς ὀνόματι Μεχλὶν Πέχνα, ὅπου ἦτον ἀφορμή καὶ ἀρχεύτην ἡ μάχη 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 206.27–8 ἂν ἐπεθάναν ὅλοι οἱ Γενουβίσοι, καὶ θέλει ἔρτειν καιρὸς καὶ ὁ δαρμένος θέλει δέρειν!
 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 208.1–4 τὰ μαῦρα ἐσύ ’σουν ἀφορμή κι’ ἔριξα, σὰ θυμᾶσαι 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Katz. II.359
 ἐκείνη τοῦ ’διδε ἀφορμή κ’ ἤμπαινε σ’ ἔτοια κρίση 18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. I.1150

5.3 Adjuncts of Nouns

5.3.1 Genitive Adjuncts

See Rule (69) above.

5.3.2 Articles and Other Determiners

5.3.2.1 Definite NPs and the Definite Article

(75) The use of a definite NP in LMedG/EMG presupposes that its referent can be uniquely identified within the relevant universe of discourse.

Definiteness may be semantic (NPs with inherently unique referents independently of context) or pragmatic (NPs whose unique identification depends crucially on the specific context). The definite article is used in LMedG/EMG to mark both semantic and pragmatic definiteness, though its appearance is by no means universal in that definiteness is a given in the former case and may be so strongly invited in the latter as to seem redundant (see below for details).

The article is the initial element of a definite NP (apart from any items preposed for emphasis/contrast), though in a series of conjoined definite NPs, or definite NPs in apposition, it is not uncommon for the first alone to be overtly determined:

ὁ σελαῖς καὶ σαμαρᾶς χρώνται καὶ οὗτοι ταῦτα καὶ ὅπου δ' ἂν καὶ χρειαστοῦν, εὐρίσκουν με εἰς δέμαν 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 626–7 ὁ Νικόλας καὶ μαστρ²-Αντρέας καὶ Γεώργης, ἀδελφοὶ Μαρκόπουλοι, ἦρθαν στὴ παροῦσαν σύβαση καὶ οἱ τρεῖς θεληματικοί

1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 841, 733.2–3

Semantic Definiteness

The article appears frequently in NPs containing a modifier that confers uniqueness (e.g. “the biggest X”, “the one/the other X”, “the first etc. X” of a known set), in generic/abstract NPs (e.g. “the truth” as a concept/ideal, “the dog” as a species, “the rich” as a class), in NPs headed by unique reference nouns (e.g. “the sun”, “the capital of Italy”) and with proper names used referentially; but optionality persists, especially in earlier texts, poetry and those prose genres (mainly legal and religious) shaped by more traditional conventions.

Already by the 9th c., however, articles are used with some regularity to mark semantic definiteness in ordinary vernacular discourse, and by the end of our period the article is well on its way to becoming a conventionalized marker of such inherent definiteness (much as in MG).

ἐκ νεότητός μου ἐπόθησα τὴν ἐλεημοσύνην 11th c./9th c., Vios Philaret. 676–7 λαβὼν μόνον τοῦτον σὺ ἀπότηρεχε, μὴ ἐξαργῇ τὸ ἕτερόν σου βοῖδιν 11th c./9th c., Vios Philaret. 124–5

ὁ διάβολος ... ἐζήλωσεν αὐτὸν ὥς ποτε τὸν Ἰώβ ... Οὐδὲν γὰρ θαυμαστὸν ἔφησεν ... ποιήσῃν τὸν ἄνδρα ... παρέχων τοῖς πένησιν 11th c./9th c., Vios Philaret. 34–9 τῆς δὲ χήρας αἱ θυγατέρες, ἡ μὲν πρώτη ἡ Μαρία, ἡ δὲ δευτέρα Μυρανθία, ἡ δὲ τρίτη Εὐανθία 11th c./9th c., Vios Philaret. 477–8 ὡς χριστιανοὶ φοβούμενοι τὸν Θεόν καὶ τὴν ἀλήθειαν, νὰ εἰπήτε καὶ νὰ κρίνετε ἔσω στὸ δίκαιο ἀπάνω 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2359–60

ὁ δ' Ἀχιλλίος ἀκούσας, ... φέρνει στράτευμα Βουλγάρων 15th c./14th c., ERMON., Ilias 3.236–8

ἀπέθανε καὶ ἡ δέσποινα κυρὰ Ἄννα ἡ ἀπὸ τῆς Ῥωσσίας λοιμώδει νόσω 15th c., SFRANTZIS, Chron. 12.22–3

τοῦ ἡλίου εἶπεν νὰ σταθῇ κ' ἐστάθηκεν στὴν ὥραν 17th c., KONDAK., Paidēs 37

The article does, however, remain optional, as noted:

- οὐκ εἶν ... περὶ πίστεως δόγματος 12th c./11th c., ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 314.7–8
- πόθος γὰρ πόθου στερηθεὶς ὑπομονήν οὐκ ἔχει 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOIOL.], Kallim. 16
- ἀφόντι ἐσώσθη τὸ σπῖτι, ἔκαμαν λογαριασμόν, εἰς ὅσες ἡμέρες ἔκαμεν δουλειὰν καὶ εἰς ὅσες δὲν ἔκαμεν· καὶ δὲν χρεωστεῖ ξίνας τὸν ἄλλον post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 73, 56.3–5
- βασιλεύει ἥλιος, τὰ δένδρη γὰρ λαλοῦσι, καὶ ἡ φωνή τους ἰνδική, δὲν ξεύρω τί μιλοῦσι 16th c., Alex. Rim. 2113–14
- ἐτότες εἶδα φανερά νὰ ρίξη μὲ μεγάλη σπουδὴ στὸ στήθος μου Ἑρωτας χίλιες σαῖτες πάλι 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Panor. I.329–30
- ὁ Ἰωάννης ἐβάπτισε μὲ νερόν· ἀμὴ ἐσεῖς θέλετε βαπτισθεῖ μὲ Πνεῦμα Ἄγιον εἰς ὀλίγες ἡμέρες 17th c., KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath., Praxeis 1.5

Pragmatic Definiteness

The article is regularly used to mark pragmatic definiteness, e.g. when a NP is used anaphorically (e.g. She met a man on the train. The man ...), when a NP is definite through a familiar association (e.g. She has a new car. The clutch ...) or when a NP has a restrictive modifier, typically an adjective, appositive NP, genitive or relative clause, suggesting unique identifiability in context (e.g. The book on the shelf ...).

- ἦν τις ἄνθρωπος ... τοῦνομα Φιλάρετος, καὶ ὁ ἄνθρωπος ἦν εὐγενής 11th c./9th c., Vios Philaret. 5–6
- σπόγγισον τὴν τράπεζαν τὴν ἀρχαίαν τὴν ἐλεφάντινον 11th c./9th c., Vios Philaret. 408–9
- διέρχεται τοὺς ἐσφραγισμένους τρεῖς μεγάλους δρυῖς ..., ὡσαύτως καὶ τὴν μεγάλην κουτουλὴν καρέαν, καὶ ἔρχεται εἰς τὴν τριστελέγχον καρέαν καὶ τὸν ἰστάμενον πλησίον αὐτῆς δρυῖν 1090–4, Athos, LEFORT et al. 1990: 45, 164.50–1
- ἔβαλαν οὖν διαλαλητὴν λαγὸν τὸν μεγαλάπτην, ... ἵνα συνάξῃ πάντας καὶ νὰ ἴδωσιν τοὺς ἄρχοντας τοὺς ἀποκρισιάρχους 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 44–6
- ἐν μηνὶ αὐγούστῳ ἀπέθανε καὶ ἡ δέσποινα κυρὰ Ἄννα ἡ ἀπὸ τῆς Ῥωσσίας λοιμώδει νόσῳ, καὶ ἐτάφη ἐν τῇ τοῦ Λιβὸς μονῇ 15th c., SFRANTZIS, Chron. 12.22–3
- τότε ἐξέβαλεν Φλαβιανὸν ... ὁ ἐπικατάρτος βασιλεὺς καὶ ἀντ' αὐτοῦ ἐχειροτόνησε Σεβῆρον ... Τὸν δὲ Φλαβιανὸν ἐξόρισεν εἰς Πέτρας 15th c., Hist. Imp. IIb 641–3
- ἤϋρεν πτωχὸν γέρον εἰς τὰ ὄρη ... καὶ ἀποκαλύφθην τοῦ μοναχοῦ ἡ Θεοτόκος 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 36. 22–8
- ὁ ἄνωθεν κυρ-Γαλιάτσος δίδει τὴν ἀγγελίαν του τὴν ἄνωθεν τῇ μαύρῃ τοῦ ἄνωθεν κυρ-Γεωργηλά, νὰ σπεύρῃ ὀφέτος 1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 57, 77.6–7
- τοὺς ἐζήτησε τὸ κάστρο τὴν Φιλαδελφεῖαν 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.12
- λῦσον ταύτην τὴν γραφὴν, διὰ τὴν ἀγάπην τοῦ Θεοῦ 1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 175.59–60 τὸ πρῶτον ψάρι ὅπου ἔβγη, πιάσ' το 17th c., KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Matth. 17.27 μοῦ ἔφεραν μαλλὶ φαγγότα 65 ... στείλει μου τὸν λογαριασμό 1696, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 8, 214.3–5

But the anaphoric article may be omitted, especially in more informal genres, as in the following extract from a contract in which “(the) sellers and (the) buyer” have already been introduced by name:

τὸν ἐπέψασι πουλητάδες καὶ ἀγοραστής
 1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 9, 31.10–11

The article marking definiteness by association is also optional, particularly when a series of nouns is linked in this way to an earlier NP:

τοὺς οὐρανοὺς τοὺς θαυμαστοὺς ὥρισεν κ' ἐγενήκαν, ἄστρον, φεγγάριν κ' ἥλιος τότες εὐθύς ἐβγήκαν 15th c., CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 19–20 κάλλιο νὰ ἦμαι ὑπόδουλος τοῦ βασιλέως, παρὰ ν' ἀρνηθῶ τὴν πίστιν τοῦ θεοῦ μου· καὶ πιστεύω πατέρα, υἱὸν καὶ ἅγιον πνεῦμα
 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.16–18

And since, in the absence of indications to the contrary, restrictive modifiers strongly promote definite readings of the NPs containing them, the relevant article is frequently omitted as redundant. The optionality persists through our period and is particularly noteworthy for NPs inside prepositional phrases.

ἦν τις ἄνθρωπος ἐν χώρᾳ τῶν Παφλαγόνων 11th c./9th c., Vios Philaret. 5 ἀλλὰ περὶ πράξεως ἔνι καὶ ἐγκράτειαν τὴν ἐπαινομένην παρὰ πᾶσαν θεῖαν γραφὴν 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 314.8–9 ἔτεκαν παῖδα θαυμαστόν, τὸν Διγενὴν Ἀκρίτην, φωστήραν τὸν αὐγερινόν, ἥλιον τὸν φωσφόρον 15th c./12th c., Dig. E ἐτάφη εἰς τὸ πάνσεπτον ναὸν τῆς ὑπεραγίας Θεοτόκου τοῦ Γερακιώτου ἐδῶ εἰς πόρταν τὴν βασιλικήν 1387, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 96, 99.3–5 ἴντσι παρακαλῶ τὴ πανιερότη σου νὰ μοῦ θυμᾶσαι, γι' ἀγάπη τ' ἀφέντη τοῦ Χριστοῦ 1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.5–6 θέλω τὰ φορτώσει μὲ πρῶτο καράβι ποὺ νὰ ἔρθῃ στὸ Δυρράχιο 1696, Albania, MERTZIOS 1947a: 8, 214.4–5

NOTES

- (i) The most neutral position for an attributive adjective within a definite NP is between the article and the noun (ὁ σοφὸς X), though the option of placing the adjective after the noun with a repeated article is very common (ὁ X ὁ σοφός). The second type, involving “double definiteness” or “determiner spreading”, may be used specifically to indicate that the adjective denotes an already familiar property of the relevant entity, thus serving as the main identifier of the referent of the NP:

τοῦτο ψευδὲς ἐνόμιζον, ὅλως οὐκ ἐδεχόμεν, τὸ λέγουσιν οἱ χωρικοὶ καὶ ὁ λόγος ὁ δημῶδης 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 19–20 τὸ μεγαλογράμματον ἱμάτων τὸ κνηκᾶτον ἢ χάρισον ἢ πώλησον ἢ δὸς ὅπου κελεύεις 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 60–1 ὁ βασιλιάς ἐποῖκεν νὰ τὸν μάθουσιν τὴν ἀγίαν πίστιν τοῦ Θεοῦ τὴν καθολικὴν 16th c./15th–16th c., Fior 150.15–16

- (ii) Non-agreeing adverbial modifiers may also occupy the two adjectival slots within definite NPs, though the position between article and noun is typical of formulaic expressions in formal/legal discourse (“the above mentioned Mr X” etc.):

ὁ ἄνωθεν κυρ-Γαλιάτσος δίδει τὴν ἀγγέλιαν τοῦ τὴν ἄνωθεν τῇ μαύρῃ τοῦ ἄνωθεν κυρ-Γεωργηλά, νὰ σπεῖρῃ ὀφέτος
 1599, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 57, 77.6–7 τὸ χωράφι τὸ μέσα ὅπου ἔχουνε φυτεμένο σταφίδα 1636, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 15, 39.6

- (iii) The neutral position for genitives within a definite NP is postnominal:

ἄς ἔχῃ τὸ χαρτί σου (καὶ) τ' ὄνομαν τοῦ δικαστοῦ 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 493–4 τὰ μετρητὰ τοῦ πεθεροῦ μου μὲ πρῶτο καράβι ὅπου θέλει ἔρθει νὰ μᾶς τὰ στείλῃς 1697, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 64, 240.4–5

Determiner spreading with genitives, however, is relatively rare, occurring mostly in early/archaizing texts and in verse:

ὁ δ' Ἀχιλλίος ἀκούσας, ὁ υἱὸς ὁ τοῦ Πηλέως, φέρνει στράτευμα Βουλγάρων 15th c./14th c., ERMON., Ilias 3.236–8 τοῦ χρυσοῦ τὸ καθαρὸν τὸ στίλβον τὸ τοῦ κάλλους
 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 179

- (iv) Phrasal modifiers that normally occupy postnominal positions may be fronted before the definite article for emphasis or contrast. Preposed adjectival/adverbial expressions necessarily show determiner spreading, preposed genitives do so comparatively rarely (cf. (i)–(iii) above).

Determiner spreading in preposed/focalized constituents (so called “reverse determiner spreading”) is an innovation of LMedG/EMG, indicating a shift in the status of definite postnominal modifiers from clarificatory/appositional adjuncts that automatically followed the head in AG to restrictive modifiers amenable to the rules of focalization in LMedG/EMG:

ἦλθασιν καὶ ἠῦρασιν τὸ ἐρμηνευθὲν τὸ ρυάκιν 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 78 ὁ Μέγας ὁ Δεμέστικος ἐπίστεπεν τοῦ Φράγκου 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4971 εἰς τὴν κλίνην Παλαμῆδους τηνικαῦτα γοῦν τὸν θέτει τὸ τοῦ δόλου τὸ χαρτίον 15th c./14th c., Epirus, ERMON., Ilias 6.216–18 τὸν τοῦ λουτροῦ τὸν ποταμὸν ὁλόχρυσον ἂν εἴποις
 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 799 ἐδώκαμεν πρὸς τὸν τιμιότατον κύρ Μιχάλην τὸν Καθολικὸν τὸ ἐν τῇ τοποθεσίᾳ τοῦ Σαράβαρη τὸ ἀμπέλιον 14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 147.2–3 ἔχομεν μέγαν κίνδυνον ἀπὸ τὰ κορσάρικα τὰ καράβια

1696, Dyrtrachion, MERTZIOS 1947a: 7, 214.14–15

βουλὴν ἐποίκασι οἱ ἄπιστοι ... νὰ ἀπεράσουσι στὸν Μορέα, κουρσεύοντας καὶ τοῦ κόρφου τὲς μεριές

18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 15.12–16

5.3.2.2 Indefinite NPs and Indefinite Determiners

(76) The use of an indefinite NP indicates that the intended referent(s) cannot be identified uniquely in the relevant domain of discourse due to lack of relevant knowledge and/or the necessary contextual information.

Indefiniteness is marked in a variety of ways in LMedG/EMG, as explained below.

Zero Article

Unquantified mass and abstract nouns with existential (i.e. non-generic) meanings standardly appear without an article or other determiner.

τρόμος λοιπὸν κατέλαβε καὶ φόβος τὴν ψυχὴν μου 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 52 εἶσαι μπάιλος σήμερον καὶ ἔχεις ἐξουσίαν 16th c./14th c., Chron. Mor. P 7917 μὲ μεγάλῃ ἔννοια βρίσκομαι πῶς περνᾷ ἡ πανιερότῃ σου

1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.9–10

φαητὸ νὰ φάγῃ δὲ ζητᾷ μηδὲ πιετὸ γυρεύγει 18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. IV.736

But indefinite NPs in general, both singular and plural, may lack overt determination throughout the period of this Grammar:

εἶχε δὲ καὶ σύμβιον τοῦνομα Θεοσεβοῦν 11th c./9th c., Vios Philaret. 16 ἦρχετο πρὸς αὐτὸν προσαιτής 11th c./9th c., Vios Philaret. 21 ὀρίζει φέρετε ἱατροὺς, τὸν δεῖνα καὶ τὸν δεῖνα 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 564 app. crit. (H) ἀρχάγγελος τοὺς ἔδωξε ὡγιά νὰ καταντήσουν ὀλόγδυμοι, ξυπόλυτοι ἔξω τῆς παραδείσου 15th c., CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 119–20 νεκροῦ φωνὴν ἐγροίκησα καὶ ὁ νοῦς μου ὅλος ἐχάθην 16th c./15th c., Om. Nekt. Vas. 22 ἔπεψεν δούκαν ὀνόματι Ἰσάκιον 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 8.38–9

ἦν πτωχὸν γέρον εἰς τὰ ὄρη Μαραθάσας ὀνόματι Ἰσαΐας
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 36.22–3

κάτης καὶ ποντικὸς ἐμάχοντα 16th c./?, Paroim. H 28

ὅποτα ἔρθῃ πασάτσο καὶ δὲ μοῦ βαστοῦσι γραφὴ, μὲ μεγάλῃ ἔννοια βρίσκομαι πῶς περνᾷ ἡ πανιερότῃ σου 1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.9–10 ἀπὸ τότε ἐκάμασι νόμον οἱ Τοῦρκοι 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.34

Ἱστορία Γαλαξειδίου ἐβγαλμένη ἀπὸ παλαιὰ χερόγραφα, μεμβράνια, σιζιλία καὶ χρυσόβουλλα αὐθεντικά 18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 13.1–3

NOTE

- (i) Articles are also regularly absent from predicative NPs, since these do not refer but rather attribute a property to their subjects:

καταβλαττάς ἂν ἔμαθον καὶ σηκωτῆς ἂν ἦμουν, ὡς σηκωτῆς νὰ ἐδούλευα τὴν ἅπασαν ἡμέραν	14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 181–2 ἦτον δοῦκας Ἀθηνῶν, καλὸς ἀφέντης ἦτον	14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7960
ἦτον παρθένος καὶ μετὰ τὴν γέννησιν πάλιν παρθένος ἔμεινεν	16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.6–7 ὅθεν ἐγὼ γεννήθηκα ἄνθρωπος χωρὶς μάτια	17th c., PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou 103

Τις/τινάς

Singular and plural forms of τις/τινάς are used as indefinite pronouns and determiners throughout the period of this Grammar in both positive (= “some(one)”) and negative/affective (= “any(one)”) environments; in fact, affective environments often allow both forms (with subtle differences of meaning) and include interrogative, modal, habitual, conditional, future-referring and imperative sentences, i.e. those involving semantic functions that do not ensure truth.

Singular forms used as determiners are often all but indistinguishable from indefinite articles (= “an X”), plurals from indefinite quantifiers (= “some/any [number of] X”). As a determiner τις/τινάς normally precedes the head noun, but may also follow.

The use of τις/τινάς in the plural and in positive environments is in decline in the later medieval period, especially in more clearly vernacular texts (see below).

Positive

τινὸς δὲ γεωργοῦ πτωχοῦ ἀροτριῶντος καὶ αὐτοῦ τὴν ἰδίαν χώραν	11th c./9th c., Vios Philaret. 81–2
ἵνα ... λάβω τινὰν παραμυθίαν τῆς λύπης	11th c./9th c., Vios Philaret. 100–1
τινὲς ἄλλογενεῖς τὲς χώρες του κρουσεύουν	16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. O 120
διὰτὶ τινὲς εὐρίσκονται νὰ λέγουν ἄλλα καὶ ἄλλα	15th c., LIMEN., Than. Rod. 256 εἶχαν τινὰν δουλευτὴν	16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 30.7
ἐγύρευγεν τινὰν ἐμπιστὸν ἄνθρωπον νὰ τοῦ τὸ δώση νὰ τῆς τὸ πάρῃ	16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 408. 3–5
ρίκτει σπίτια ἀρχοντικά ... καὶ ἄλλων πτωχῶν τινάδων	16th c., SKLAVOS, Symf. 21–2
τινὲς ἰδιώτες ἔλεγον δένδρον τοῦ ἡλίου τὸ ἕνα καὶ τὸ ἄλλο τὸ ἔλεγον δένδρον τοῦ φεγγαρίου	16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.21–2
ἦτονε τινάς ἀφέντης καὶ ἐβασίλευεν ἐκεῖ	17th c./16th c., MOREZINOS, Klini 42.1–2

Negative/Affective

ὁ κύρ Λούκας νὰ τὸ παραδώσῃ πρὸς τὸν Ἀνδρέαν χωρὶς λόγου τινὸς ἢ προφάσεως	1446, Chios, MANOUSAKAS 1960: 271.13–14

- ἂν ἔναι τινὰς ὅπου δὲν σὲ ἀκούει ἢ νὰ ποιῇ ἀταξίας 15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 100.5
- ἂν ἔν' καὶ ἰδῆς πτωχὸν τινὰν καὶ στάμενα νὰ μὴ ἔχη 16th c./15th c., DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 2353
- ἔναι δύσκολον τινὰς νὰ τὸ πιστεύσῃ
16th c./15th c., DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 1685
- διὰ τοῦτον δὲν ἔχω τινὰν ἀγκαρδιακὸν εἰς τὰ πράματά μου παρὰ ἐσέναν
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR. Chron., A 48.5
- ἔφη πρὸς αὐτήν «Ἐχeis μάρτυράς τινας;» 15th–16th c., Porikol. I 41–2
- εἰ εἶναι τινὰς ράπτῃς καὶ παίρνει ραπτικά ἀπὸ καλογέρου 1532, Macedonia, DELIALIS 1969: 251.70
- ἂν ὑπάγῃ τινὰς ἀποκρισάρης νὰ φιλήσῃ χέρι, νὰ πιάνουσι οἱ καπικῆδες τὰ δύο του χέρια καὶ ἀπὸ κεῖ νὰ τὸ φιλήσῃ
17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.34–5
- ὁ ἀδελφός σου ὁ Μουσουλμάνος κάμει πράματα, ὅπου δὲν πρέπει νὰ τὰ κάνῃ τινὰς βασιλέας
17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 45.7–8
- δύνεται τινὰς ἄνθρωπος νὰ πῇ ὅλην τὴν θάλασσαν;
17th c., Vios Aisop. I 267.23
- In many vernacular texts from ca. 12th c. onwards τινὰς appears exclusively as a singular form in negative/affective environments with the meaning “any(one)”. In the specific case of negated sentences, AG τις = “any(one)” is required to fall within the scope of sentence negation, i.e. to the right of the negative marker (to the left τις = “some(one) [... not ...]”); by contrast, LMedG/EMG τινὰς in the relevant texts always means “any” whether it precedes or follows the negative marker (i.e. the equivalent of anyone did not ...* is grammatical with the meaning “no one did ...”).
- Pronominal use of τινὰς is more common than use as an indefinite determiner.
- τινὰς before a Negative Marker
- κακὸς ἐχθρὸς ἢ φυλακὴ ... μεσίτην οὐ προσδέχεται, φίλον τινὰ οὐκ ἔχει
13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 239–40
- ποτὲ τινὰς οὐκ ἤκουσεν οὐδὲ εἶδε τοιοῦτον πράγμα 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 369
- ἄλλον τινὰν φοβερισμόν ποσῶς οὐδὲν σᾶς λέγει
15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1373
- κάλλος τινὰν οὐκ ὠφελεῖ, οὐ πλοῦτος, οὐδὲ ἀνδρεία 15th–16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. N 1916
- ἐσὺ τινὰν ποσῶς οὐδὲν φοβᾶσαι 15th c., LIMEN. Than. Rod. 206
- τινὰς ἄνθρωπος δὲν τὴν οἶδεν
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 401.9
- τινὰς δὲν τὴν ἐγνώρισε
18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. II.1500
- ἄνθρωπον τινὰν δὲν ἐβλέπανε
17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 111.22–3
- ὅλα τὰ ξυνὰ εἶναι ψυχρὰ καὶ δυσκοίλια, παύουσι τὴν δίψαν, ἀμὴ θροφὴν τινὰ δὲν δίδουσι
17th c., LANDOS, Geopon. 214.12

Εἷς/ένας

The numeral εἷς/ένας “one” is increasingly used as an indefinite article to replace the corresponding singular forms of τις/τινὰς, mainly in positive environments; in negative environments, however, it may not precede the negative marker and the strengthened form κανείς/κανένας is used in this role (see below).

Postnominal positioning is an option only in the oldest texts; otherwise this element almost always precedes the head noun (as expected of numerals).

ὁμως οὐκ ἐν γωνίᾳ μιᾶ εἴτε εἰς μικράν τινα πόλιν καὶ οὐδαμινῇ γενομένη 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 4, 226.3–5

ἀπάνω εἰς τὴν κορυφὴν τοῦ πύργου ἦτον μία γάτα καὶ κάτω εἰς τὸ θεμέλιον ἕνας ποντικός post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 89, 76.1

εὐρέθη ἐδῶ ... ὥσάν ἕναν πουλὶν εἰς τὸν κάμπον 1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 11, 68.2–3

τὸ ψῆλος τοῦ νεροῦ ἔχει σημάδι ἕναν καρφὶν εἰς τὸν Ἅγιον Γεώργιον τῶν Ὀρνιθίων 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 60.24

ἀρχεύγει ἕναν ἔργον 15th–16th c., Fior 73.5

ἦτον ἕνας ὀνόματι Μιχαήλ Δούκας Γλαβᾶς 1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.3–4

σ' ἕνα περβόλι εὐρίσκομου, ᾗ μιὰ τάβλα μαρμαρένια μὲ φαγητὰ πολλῶ λογίων πιτήδεια ὀρδινιασμένα 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. III.545–6 ἔτσι κι ἐκεῖνη χεῖς καιρὸς θέλει τήνε μερώση 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Panor. I.139 ἐτότες ἐφάνηκε ἕνας καβαλάρης 18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 19.1–2

(Ὁ)κάτις/(ὁ)κάποιος

The positive indefinite pronouns/determiners (ὁ)κάτις/(ὁ)κάποιος “some(one)” are widely used in vernacular texts throughout the period of this Grammar to replace the corresponding uses of τις, both singular and plural; in the singular the meaning may often be very close to that of an indefinite article, as expected.

The two forms are functionally equivalent, and almost always precede the head noun when used as indefinite determiners.

The neuter form (ὁ)κάτι is sometimes used as an indeclinable positive indefinite specifier with nouns of any gender or number.

Despite the convention of printing the prefix ό- with a rough breathing, this may have originated as the negative οὐ- (also attested, again printed with a rough breathing) with a shift of meaning in the period before ca. AD 1000 from “not any (random) X” to “some (particular) X”. Prefixless forms become the norm towards the end of the period of this Grammar.

(ὁ)κάτις

ἐὰν γίνεται ... ὅτι ὁκάτινες ἄνθρωποι, οὐ ὁκάτινες γυναῖκες παίρνει οὐ κλέπτει τὰς ὀρνιθὰς μου 15th c./13th c., Assizes B 450.23 ἔλεγε γὰρ ὁ βασιλεὺς ὅτι ὁκάτις ῥήγας ἦλθεν 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 2765 app. crit. (A) ὁκάτις βασιλεὺς ... πολλὰ πράγματα ἔποικεν 16th c./14th c., Chron. Mor. P 882 ὁκάτι ψιθυρίσματα λαλεῖ καθ' ἑαυτοῦ της

16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1164

- ἂν ἔναι κάτις εὐγενικός καὶ ἔχει τὸ κάλλος ἔμορφον 15th c./14th–15th c., Achil. L 192 οὕτως τάχα ἔκαμαν όκάτι ψευδογάπη 15th c., Chron. Toc. 1979 όκάτι φράγκος ἄνθρωπος ... ἦλθεν ἀπὸ τὴν Πούλια 15th c., Chron. Toc. 3548–53 πείτε της όκάτι καταλόγι 15th c., LIMEN., Than. Rod. 36 ἦρθε όκάτις ἀδελφός 15th c., ?Athos, VASMER 1922: 180 όκάτιν μέγαν εὐγενῇ ... τὸν ἔσφαξεν Ἰάκωβος 16th c./15th c., DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 560–2 ἂν ἔχω όκάτι ύπομονήν τώρα εἰς τὴν θλίψιν τούτην 16th c./15th c., DELLAP., Erot. apokr. 662 καὶ γροικῶντα κάτινες καβαλλάριδες πιστοὶ τοῦ ρηγός 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 42.33–4 όκάτι λόγος μοῦ ἐσέβη εἰς τὰ ὦτα 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 210.19 (Lolos) ἔσπειρε στὸ χωράφι τῆς διάνοιας κατινῶν παρανόμων κάποιαν πρόφασιν 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 55 ἐπούλησε τὸ Σάλονα ... εἰς κάτι Φραγγοπαπάδες 18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 40.17–19 (ὁ)κάποιος όκάποιας κᾶν γειτόνισσας ροῦχον νὰ ἐπαρελύθην 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 162 όκάποιος βασιλέας ... πολλὰ πράγματα ἔποικε 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 882 ούκάποια τραγούδια ἐτραγουδοῦσαν 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 38.9 (Konstantinopulos) ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ ᾔχεν κάποια χωράφια καὶ ἄλλα πράματα πουλημένα 1605, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 344, 323.2
 ἔστοντας καὶ νὰ ἤθελεν ἔχει τὴν διαφορὰν μὲ τὴν ἀδελφὴν τως εἰς κάποια πράγματα 1616, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1968 : 2, 28.10 τὴν ὁποίαν διήγησιν μοῦ εἶπασιν κάποιοι ἄνδρες εὐλαβεῖς ἀπὸ τὴν μέσαν χώραν τῆς Αἰθιοπίας 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.17–8

Κανείς/κανένας

The negative/affective indefinite pronoun/determiner κανείς/κανένας “any(one)” is widely used in vernacular texts to replace the corresponding uses of τις/τινάς, but in the singular only; its meaning may often be very close to that of an indefinite article.

The neuter form τίποτε(ς) may, however, be used in later texts as an indeclinable negative/affective indefinite modifier with nouns of any gender or number.

These elements almost always precede their head nouns when used as indefinite determiners (a role in which κανένας is more usual, though κανείς is also attested).

Κανείς/κανένας may again precede or follow the negative marker in negative sentences with the same (negative/affective) meaning in both positions.

κανείς/κανένας

- ... εἰς μαρτυρίαν κανενοῦ πραγμάτου 15th c./?13th c., Assizes B 334.25
 εἰ δὲ καὶ ἔλθῃ ἀπὸ τὸν τόπον του κανείς ἄνθρωπος 1355, Palatia (Militos), MANOUSAKAS 1962b: 1, 234.12

- φόβον κανέναν ἀπὸ σὲν νὰ μὴ ἔχω νὰ μὲ ἀφήσης 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 414 app. crit. (ABEX)
- πούποτε οὐκ ἠκούσθηκεν οἱ Τοῦρκοι νὰ βοηθήσουν κανεῖν ἀφέντην χριστιανόν, εἰ μὴ νὰ τὸν κομπώνουν
15th c., Chron. Toc. 498–9
- δὲν ἐγίνην ἀφορμὴ κανενοῦ κακοῦ 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 376
- κιαμιᾶς λογιῆς ἀνάπαψη δὲν ἠῦρισκεν ἡ κόρη 18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. III.14
- εἰσὲ κανέναν γκαιρόν ᾄ(ν) χαθοῦσιν ἀπὸ καμμιᾶς λογιῆς ἀφορμῆν, τινὰς δὲ σοῦ ἀπηλογᾶται
1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 761, 1033.1
- ... χωρὶς νὰ ἀπαντέξῃ καμίαν ἄλλην ἀπόκρισην 18th c., Don Kis. 50.13
- τίποτε(ς)
- ἐάν τις τῶν αὐτόθι ... λέγει τίποτες
12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 151.1–2
- οὐδὲν εἶχεν τίποτες ἔνδειξι
15th c./13th c., Assizes B 361.19
- τίποτες πόλεμος οὐδὲν ἔνα 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 30.23–4 (Konstantinopoulos)
- παρὰ γὰρ νὰ ἴβρω τίβετσι τρόπο νὰ σοῦ βοηθήσω 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Erof. I.114
- ἔχεις τίποτες εὐλογίαν ...;
17th c., Cyprus, CHRISTODOULOU 1983: A, 401.27
- ἀπομένουσι τὰ τίποτές τῆς ἀδιόρθωτα 1629, Milos, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 14, 10.7
- ἔχω τίβετις πράγμα τῆς Μαρί(ας) 1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 110.140
- ἂν ἰχρεωστοῦσαν τίποτις ροῦχα μιᾶς τῆς ἄλλης 1664, Mykonos, TOURTOGLOU 1980/81: 3, 20.14–15
- ἐγὼ θέλω ἔχει τὴν ἔγνοιαν νὰ σὲ στέλνω τίποτε φαγητόν 18th c., Don Kis. 144.22

NOTE

- (i) There are a few, relatively early, examples where κανεῖς/κανένας is used to mean simply “one” (or sometimes “a(n)”), apparently independently of whether the context is positive or negative/affective; this is perhaps a residual reflection of a still earlier state of affairs in which κανεῖς/κανένας was no more than a strengthened form of εἷς/ἕνας (replacing τις/τινάς) in a period before its use came to be polarized through opposition with the positive (ὁ)κάτις/(ὁ)κάποιος:

- ὅς τὸν δοκιμάσωμεν κανεῖς ἀπὸ τοὺς τρεῖς μας 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 1217 app. crit.
ἀπέτις ἀπεξέβηκαν κανέναν μίλι, δύο 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 1411 ἐὰν ἔνι ὅτι ἔνι εἷς ὀρφανός ἢ ὀρφανή, ἢ κανέναν παιδί 16th c./13th c., Assizes A 29.26 ὅς τοὺς ἀφήσουμε ὀλιγόν, κανέναν μῆναν πλέον 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 611

Οὐδεῖς/οὐδένας

In preverbal positions the AG pronoun/determiner οὐδεῖς is an inherently negative quantifier (“no(one)”) used without a following negative marker; in postverbal positions, however, it is normally used as a strong negative/affective indefinite after a negative marker, i.e. as an emphatic alternative to negative/affective τις (= “not ... ANY(one)”).

Οὐδείς/οὐδένας persists into LMedG/EMG alongside κανείς/κανένας, with its role still determined by its position and the presence/absence of a negative marker. Its use is normally associated with rather higher registers, and it may be misused in more vernacular texts because of the influence of κανείς/κανένας, which requires a negative marker whatever its position in a negative sentence. Μηδείς/μηδένας is sometimes used in place of οὐδείς/οὐδένας, particularly when the verb is in the subjunctive.

Non-traditional Usage

- οὐδείς οὐκ* ἔνι ἀπ’ ἑμᾶς εἰς ὅλον τὸ φουσσᾶτον 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 7967 οὐδενενοῦ βασιλέως οὐδὲν ἐφαλτσώσαμεν 16th c., Diig. Alex. K 346.24–5

Standard Usage

- οὐδείς ἄνθρωπος* ἔμεινεν μέσα τοῦ κάστρου 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. E 2340 μηδένas τὸ λοιπὸν ἀπὸ σᾶς ... ἀφοραθῇ τοῦτον 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 389
 ... δὲν ἔχω μηδεμιὰ γαζέτα στήν ἐξιά μου 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Katz. II.194 οὐδένα πρᾶμα ἔκαμα 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Katz. II.357 μηδείς οὖν τῶν σοφῶν καταφρονήσῃ τῆς ἀμαθείας μου 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 29.6
 μὰ μηδένas ἄλλος καρaboκῦρης μοῦ τὸ πιστεύγῃ πῶς 1648, Corfu (author from Crete), Manousakas 1965: 268.9

NOTES

- (i) The normal position of an attributive adjective in an indefinite NP is before the head noun, but the adjective may also follow (without specifiers) if the meaning is essentially predicative and not crucial to distinguishing one class of possible referents from another; in such cases the meaning is typically focal (i.e. “an X [that is] ADJ”):
πλάσματα πάλιν μυθικά καὶ λόγους γραῖδιων ἠκριβώσαμεν 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoí 4–5 τὴν αὐτὴν ἡμέραν, ἐγένετο σεισμός μέγας εἰς ὅλην τὴν Λευκωσίαν 1479, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 6, 89.1–2
- (ii) The normal position for genitives within an indefinite NP is postnominal, but these may be preposed for contrast or emphasis in the usual way:
ἔσυρνε μαζί του 4000 καβελλάρους, ... πληρωμένους δύνων χρονῶν πληρωμή
 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.29–30

5.3.2.3 Demonstratives

- (77) LMedG/EMG demonstratives are used both as pronouns (as heads of NPs) and as determiners (in NPs with independent head nouns) and have both deictic and anaphoric functions; as determiners they appear in definite NPs, standing either before the definite article or after the head noun.

The demonstratives of LMedG/EMG fall into two groups according to the (notional) distance from the speaker of the objects/individuals they are used to identify, namely proximal (“this”) and distal (“that”); there is no clear evidence of a further division within the proximal group between 1st- and 2nd-person orientation. While both types are also used anaphorically (“the one just mentioned”), only the former is additionally employed cataphorically (“the following”):

“this”

αὐτός, αὐτος, εὐτός, (ἐ)δαῦτος αὐτεῖνος, αὐτοῦνος, αὐτόνος οὗτος, (ἐ)τοῦτος, (ἐ)δετοῦτος ὅδε (mostly archaic/official, and often cataphoric in legal texts; mainly neuter)

*ἐτοῦνος (only oxytone genitive forms found)

“that” ἐκεῖνος, (ἐ)δεκεῖνος (rare)

(ἐ)κειός

The postnominal position for demonstratives is less emphatic than the pre-article position and is often, though not always, associated with anaphoric function; NP-initial demonstratives, however, are as likely to be anaphoric as deictic (with the latter probably carrying heavier stress).

NP-Initial

ἀπ’ ἐκείνην τὴν ἡμέραν ποιεῖ αὐτὴν ἐλευθέρην καὶ οὐκ ἔχει ἐξουσίαν εἰς αὐτήν
ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 234.274–5

ἀνὴρ τίς ... ἀνήγειρέ τε ἐκ βάθρ(ων) αὐτ(όν) τ(όν) ναὸν ἐξ οἰκεί(ων) κόπ(ων) κ(αὶ) ἀναλωμ(ά)τ(ων) 1365, Serres, LEFORT 1973: 27, 162.9

ἀπ’ αὐτὴν τὴν ἐνθύμησιν καὶ ἐκ τὴν πολλὴν πικρίαν ἔπεσεν εἰς ἀσθένειαν, ἀπόθανεν εὐθέως 15th c., Chron. Toc. 3172–3 εἶχεν δὲ καὶ ὁ πρῶτος τούτην τὴν συνήθει(αν) 1501, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: 6, 103.23 εἰς τὴν Καφοράχη ἐκείνους τοὺς τόπους ὅπου οἱ καλογέροι τοῦ μοναστ(η)ρ(ίου) ἐπίασαν 1572, Andros, POLEMIS 1995a: 8, 129.9

πῶς εὐρέθης εἰς τοῦτο τὸ ταπεινὸν σπίτιν ἐτουνῆς τῆς γυναικός 17th c./16th c., MOREZINOS, Klini 67.33

Postnominal

οἱ νηστεῖαις ταύταις (nom. pl.) ... ἐπιτρέπονται εἰς τοὺς χριστιανούς 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 4 214.1–3

το δένδρον ἐκεῖνον 1146, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XIV: 5, 618.30 ἐντὸς τοῦ τέρμενου ἐκεινοῦ ποῦ ἔστησε ὁ Καμπανέσης 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2118 ἀφότου ἐσὺ ἀποδέχεσαι νὰ εἶσαι ἀβοκάτος διὰ τὴν ὑπόθεσιν αὐτὴν τῆς ντάμα Μαργαρίτας 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7528–9 τάς ἀμοιβάς τῶν πράξεων καὶ τῶν κόπων ἐκείνων νῦν λαμβάνετε

16th c., GLYKYS, Penth. Than. 606

ἐδούλευσα τοὺς ἀδυνάτους καὶ τὰ κελία ἐτούτα χρόνους κέ'

16th c., Corfu, KARYDIS/TZIVARA 1994/96: 4, 102.19

NOTES

- (i) Certain other determiners also have secondary anaphoric functions, most importantly τοιοῦτος/(τ)έτοιος “such”. These are often used in indefinite NPs (“such [an] X”) where they stand before the head, initially in a sequence of adjectival modifiers and normally without an indefinite article in singular NPs (though one is sometimes introduced in later texts):

τοιοῦτον κρίσιμον μέλλει νὰ κριθῇ

15th c./?13th c., Assizes B 376.11

τέτοιον σκοπὸν ἐχείρισεν νὰ παίζῃ τὸ καλὰμιν

14th c./13th–14th c., Log. parig. L 216

οὐδὲ εἶδεν το οὐδὲ ἤκουσεν τέτιον πρᾶγμα νὰ γένει

15th c., Anon. Naupl. 52

οὐ θέλομεν τέτοιες μυθολογίες

16th c., Fyll. gadar. 259

ἐπιθυμῶντας νὰ διορθώσω τέτιον ἀπρεπὲς πρᾶγμα

1693, Corfu, TSITSAS 1978/79: [2], 209.158

ὦ τί μεγάλο κρίμα, ἕνας τοιοῦτος βασιλεὺς νὰ ἔμπῃ μὲς στὸ μνημα 18th c./17th c., Diig. Vefa 125 ἐγὼ κάμνει χρεῖα νὰ βάλω ὅλην μου τὴν δύναμην διὰ νὰ ἀποβάλω μίαν τοιαύτην ὑβρην

18th c., Don Kis. 49.20–1

Given the functional overlap with anaphoric demonstratives, however, these items also appear in definite NPs, though they retain their adjectival position, standing between the article and noun; the definite construction is particularly common in earlier texts and with τοιοῦτος:

ἐπέδειξαν ἡμῖν γεγραμμένον ὅτι τὸ τοιοῦτον μυλοστάσιον ἀγόρακε αὐτὸ

1123, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. X: 1, 471.13

ὥς δὲ τὸ τίτιον μήνυμαν ἦλθεν εἰς τὸν κρατοῦντα

?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.7v.1

εἰς τὴν τοιαύτην ὑπόθεσιν ἔχομεν καὶ μέρος τῆς ἐκκλησίας

1337/8, Constantinople, HUNGER et al. 1995: 109, 92.51–2

ἐπεῖν τοῦ ἐφάνηκεν καλὸν εἰς τὸν ἐτέτιον τρόπον

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 3589

θέλοντας γὰρ καὶ αὐτὴ ἡ προειρημ(έ)ν(η) κυρὰ Ζαμπέτ(α) ποιῆσαι ἀνταμοιβὴν τῶν τ[οι]οῦτ(ων) χαρίτων

1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 12, 48.10 τές τοιοῦτες γνώμες καὶ τὰ ἦθη ὅπου εἶναι ἐπίβουλα καὶ ὄχι ἀπλὰ πρέπει νὰ τὰ φεύγομεν

?17th c./16th–17th c., Theophr. Char. 120.6

- (ii) Relative pronouns such as ὁ (ὁ)ποιος, ὅστις/ὅτις, ὅσπερ are similarly used as anaphoric pronouns/determiners linking clauses/sentences:

νομίσματα ἑκατὸν τριακονταδύο, ἅπερ νομίσματα ... παρὰ διαφόρων προσώπων ἐδανεισάμην

1024, Athos, LEMERLE et al. 1970: 25, 175.14

- τὲς συμφωνίης ὅπου εἶδαμεν ἐνταῦτα· στὲς ὅποιες ἐνι ἡ βοῦλλα του καὶ ἐμᾶς ὁλῶν μετ' αὐτου 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2380–1
- ἀνεκτρανίζω καὶ θωρῶ θρονὶν τὸ πλουμισμένον, τὸ ποῖον θρονὶν καθέζεται ντοῦζες τῆς Βενετίας 15th c., Diig. Ven. 41–2
- τὴν ἀδελφὴν τῆς γυναίκας του εἶχεν τὴν ἑνας παχιάς· οἱ ποῖες ἦτον Κατακουζηνές
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 132.18
- ἀφίημι τῷ εἰρημένῳ μοναστηρίῳ καὶ μελίττας σώματα <κε> ..., αἵτινες μελίττες εἰσὶν εἰς τὰς χεῖρας τοῦ κύρ Κωνστάντιου μοναχοῦ 1512, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 34, 59.13–14
- Βιβλίον τοῦ ἁγίου καὶ δικαίου Λαζάρου· ὁ ὁποῖος Λάζαρος ἔκαμε τέσσαρες ἡμέρες εἰς τὸν Ἄδην 1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 19.1
- γὰρ τὸ ὁποῖο στᾶρι τὸ ἄνωθεν ὀπλεγάρουνται οἱ ἄνωθεν ἀξαδέλφοι καὶ ἀπομένου ἐγγυητάδες ἑνας τοῦ ἄλλου τῶνε
1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 64, 84.14–15
- ἐδιάβη καταπάνω τοῦ Καραλούκη καὶ ἐπῆρε του τὴν ἀφεντία τῆς Σουμάκας· ὁ ὁποῖος Καραλούκης εἶχε φουσᾶτο 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.36–31.1

5.3.3 Relative Clauses

(78) A relative clause may be used as a restrictive modifier of any NP in order to help identify a particular referent (when the head is singular) or particular subset of referents (when the head is plural).

A restrictive relative clause delimits the potential referent(s) of a NP, cf. the woman that fell (as opposed to all those who did not), the students who worked hard (as opposed to all those who did not), etc.

In LMedG/EMG a restrictive relative clause may be introduced by the relative pronoun ὅς (more formal/literary) or by the definite article (more vernacular), both of which provide an anaphoric link to the antecedent NP. More frequently, the clause is structurally linked to its antecedent by the complementizer ὅπου/ὁπού/πού (often ἀπού in Crete and Cyprus), an element that doubtless came to be interpreted as fulfilling a similar anaphoric role.

The pronouns (ὁ) (ὁ)ποῖος, ὅστις/ὅτις and ὅσπερ are employed comparatively rarely in restrictive relatives, mostly in archaizing/literary and official/legal registers. Neuter ὅ,τι, however, is a strong survivor in vernacular LMedG/EMG in its original sense of “whatever” (see below on headless relatives), while neuter ὅπερ and ἅπερ, reanalysed as indeclinable complementizers on the model of ὅπου/ὁπού/πού, appear frequently with antecedents of any number and gender (sometimes in combination with the definite article in formal/legal texts, especially in early documents from S. Italy; this usually agrees in case with the antecedent, see immediately below).

It is comparatively rare for any of these items to carry grammatical functions within a restrictive relative clause other than subject and direct object; as object of a preposition, or when cases other than the nominative and accusative are required, (ὁ) (ὁ)ποῖος is used most often.

The article and the various relative pronouns are fully declinable, agreeing with their head nouns in number and gender, and in principle taking the case associated with their grammatical function within the relative clause (mostly nominative/subject and accusative/direct object). But a relative clause introduced by the definite article is an appositional constituent (i.e. of the form the thing + the (thing) someone did) in which the article replicates the case of the antecedent regardless of its grammatical function within the relative clause; to eliminate any potential difficulties, this construction is normally limited to situations in which both antecedent and article would be assigned the same case within their own clauses, making the case agreement required by their appositional relationship unproblematical. The relative pronouns ὅς and ὅσπερ, however, also regularly agree with (“are attracted to”) their antecedents in case, if the case requirements of the main clause and the relative clause differ; by contrast, (ὁ) (ὁ)ποῖος shows almost no evidence of attraction and ὅστις/ὅτις very little. Case-agreeing relative pronouns are italicized in the excerpts below.

ὅς (mainly early and literary; case attraction to antecedent when there is conflict) ἐξόρισαν τοὺς βελλάνους ἀπὸ τοῦ Φωκαιροῦ οὓς ἐκατοίκουν εἰς τὴν χώραν

?1130–40, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 534.18

ἡλευθέρωνεν ἅπαντας οὓς εἶχεν αἰχμαλώτους 13th–14th c./?12th c., Dig. G II.5

οὐκέτι τούτων ἔνεκεν δάκνεται τὴν καρδίαν, πάντων ἐπιλαθόμενος ὧν εἶχεν ἐν τῷ βίῳ 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 107–8 σκότος δὲ πάλιν ἀφεγγές τὸν σκοτασμόν μου κρίνω ὃν ἔχω τότε, βασιλεῦ, ὅταν ψωμὶν οὐκ ἔχω 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 234 ἀφήκαμεν τὸν ἄνθρωπον ὃν ἠϋράμεν ἐκεῖσε 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. V 2842 πῶς παραβλέπτει τὸν κριτὴν, τὴν φοβερὰν ἡμέραν ἣν μέλλει γὰρ παρίστασθαι τρόμῳ πολλῷ καὶ φόβῳ 15th–16th c./15th c., Alfav. 14 69 ἔστειλά σοι καὶ τὴν γραφὴν ἣν μοι ἐπαρέδωκεν ὁ τῆς Γένουβας φίλος μου 1487, Chios, LEFORT 1981: 12, 71.2–3

τὰ πράγματα ἃ μοι ἐπῆρεν κουρφὰ ἡ Παντοσυλία 1506, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 1, 3.10

εἰπὲ ἡμῖν παραβολὰς ὅς οὔτε ἠκούσαμεν οὔτε ἠξεύρομεν 17th c., Vios Aisop. D 240.17

Definite Article (vernacular; almost always direct object) τὴν ἐπιστολὴν τὴν σὲ ἔπεμψα μὲ τὸν Θεόδωρον 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 314.15 εἰ μὲν τὸν θέλεις κακοποιῆσαι διὰ τὰ σφάλματα αὐτοῦ καὶ τὴν παρακοὴν τὴν ποιεῖ πρὸς τὴν ἁγίαν σου βασιλείαν ?1130–40, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 535.9–11

οὐκ ἐγνωρίζεις, δέσποτα, τὸν Πρόδρομον τὸν ἔχεις 15th c./12th c., Ptoch. (Maiuri) 42 ἐχαρίσαμε τοῦ Γεωργίου ... τὸ κοπέλι τὸ ἔχει εἰς τὴν δούλεψή του ἀπὸ τὸ <ν> χωρίο μας τῆς Θεμούρφου 1468, Nicosia, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 72, 36.1–3 ἐπρομουτίασεν τοῦ μεγάλου μαστόρου νὰ κρατήσῃ κρυφὰ πᾶσα πρᾶμαν τὸ νὰ τοῦ ποίσουσιν 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 12.5–7 τὸν Δημήτηρην ... τὸν δουλευφτήν μας ποίσετε τὸ καλλίττερον τὸ νὰ μπορήσητε ..., καὶ πᾶσα χρῆσιν τὴν ἔχει με(ν) τοῦ τὸ κρατήσης

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 412.11–14

τὸ κελίον ... με τὴν περιοχὴν του ἤγουν με τὰς ἐλαίας καὶ με τὸ νερόν τὸ ἤφερεν ἐκεῖνος ὁ Δανιήλ ὁ Βούλγαρης 1501, Athos, PAVLIKIANOV 2006: VII, 105.2–3 ἀπὸ ἐκεῖ μίλια γ' εὐρίσκεῖς τὸ ἀκρωτήριν τὸ λέγουν Ἄρπην

1534, Unknown, TSELIKAS/KOROMILA 2003: A, 53.20

ὅπου/όπου/πού (standard vernacular option) ἄν με ἔποισαν τεχνίτην, ἀπ' αὐτοὺς ὅπου κάμνουσιν τὰ κλαπωτὰ καὶ ζῶσιν, νὰ ἔμαθα τέχνην κλαπωτὴν καὶ νὰ ἔξουν ἀπ' ἐκείνην 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 89–91 θωρεῖς αὐτόν τὸν ἄγουρον πού στέκει εἰς τὸ λιθάριν 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 1507 εἶπε τον διὰ τίποτε λογάριν ὅπου νὰ χρῆζη, μετ' αὐτὸ φουσσᾶτα νὰ ρογέψη

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4563–4 παρακαλῶ κι ὀρίζω σε ... τὸν τόπον ὅπου ἐκέρδισα ἐδῶ εἰς τὸν Μορέαν νὰ παραλάβης καὶ κρατῆς, διὰ ἐμὲν νὰ τὸν φυλάττης 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1874–6 τὰ δὲ λοιπὰ ἑκατὸν δουκάτα τὸν μῆνα ... νὰ ἐξοδιάζωνται εἰς τινας ἄρχοντας καὶ καλὰ πρόσωπα ὅπου νὰ εἶναι κοντά των 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 285.6–9 τ' ἀμπέλιν πού ἐγόρασα (1528, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 113, 224.40)

ἦλθαν καὶ οἱ βοσκοὶ ὅπου ἔβοσκαν τὰ πρόβατα ἐκεῖ τὸ γύρο καὶ λέγουν ὅτι ἡμεῖς εἶδαμεν πλήθος ἀγγέλων ὅπου εὐχαριστοῦσαν τὸν Θεὸν

16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 331.28–31

ἔγραφα τῆς πανιερότη σου ... τὰ βάσανα ὅπου ἦρθε καὶ ἔκαμέν τση ὁ καλὸς καλόγερος 1610, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 3, 169.6–7 αὐτὸ σὲ τὸ εἶπα ... ἀπὸ τὴν πρώτην βαλανιδιὰν ὅπου νὰ εὕρω, νὰ κόψω καὶ ἐγὼ ἓνα μεγάλο κλαδί 18th c., Don Kis. 46.36–47.1–2 άπου (in texts from Crete/Cyprus) ἔλα εἰς αὐτόν μου, κ' ἐγὼ νὰ σοῦ δώσω θησαυρόν άπου νὰ μὲν σὲ λείψη

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 62.33–4 με καιρόν φτάνει εἰς τὴν χώραν ἐκείνη άπου ἦτονε ὁ ἄρχων άπου τὴν ηὔρεν εἰς τὴν ἐρημίαν ... καί, ὁδία τὸ κρίμα άπου ἦκαμεν, τοῦ ἠδωκεν ὁ Θεὸς μίαν λέπτραν

17th c./16th c., MOREZINOS, Klini 56.18–21

μὰ ψυχὴ άπου εὐρίσκεται τοῦ πόθου ἀρρωστημένη, σφαίνει τσι πλιότερες φορὲς

καὶ μένει κομπωμένη 17th c., TROILOS, Rodol. IV.163–4

(δ) (δ)ποῖος (restrictive use limited, mainly formal/legal; no case attraction) ὁμοίως καὶ τὴν ποσότην ἣ ποία ὑπάρχει ἐν τῷ ἡμετέρῳ κράτει

1257, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 33, 457.17

ἐκεῖνος ἦ ἐκείνη τοῦ ποιοῦ ἐνι ἐγγυητῆς 16th c./?13th c., Assizes A 70.10 ἔξω ἀπὸ τὰ ἰδ' μιζούρια τὸ κριθάριν τὰ ποῖα τοῦ θέλει ὁ Μαυρομάτης 1327, Crete, LAIOU 1982: 1, 123.6

τὰ πράγμ(ατα) ὁποῖ(α) θέλομεν π(α)ραλάβει

1398, Corfu, ASONITIS 1993: 1 [A'], 19.14

ἐβάσταινε σκουτάρι στὸ ὅποιον τὰ βασίλεια τοῦ Νερέου ἐφαινότον

15th–16th c./15th c., Theseid VI.48,2 (Olsen)

τὴν ὑποταγὴν παιδικὴν εἰς τὴν ποίαν ἕως τώρα ἔμην ὑποτάσσεσθε

1446, Crete, MANOUSAKAS 1964: 17, 98.4

φλωρία χρυσᾷ ὅποια ἔδωσα

1473, Corfu, KONIDARIS/RODOLAKIS 1996: 57, 177.8–9

περὶ τινὰ κάστρον καὶ τόπους τὰ ὅποια ἐπῆρε ὁ σκλάβος μου

1480, Constantinople, BOMBACI 1954: 9, 313.8

περὶ τὸν σκλάβον σου ... τὸν ποῖον ἤκουσεν ἡ αυθεντία σου

1487, Rhodes, LEFORT 1981: 10, 65.3

εἵπασιν Μαστόρου πρᾶμαν τὸ ποῖον δὲν τοῦ ἄρρεσεν

16th c., ACHELIS, Malt. Pol. 2133

ὑπέρπυρα ἐξήντα τὰ ὅπγιά εἶναι ρέστος

1623, Crete, XANTHOUDIDIS 1912: 47, 126.6

NOTE

- (i) In some cases where the article is absent the ancient meaning “such as” may be intended:

διαφυλασσόντων τὰς πατρικὰς ἡμῶν ... παραδόσεις ὁποίας παρελάβομεν παρὰ τε τῶν οἰκουμενικῶν ἐπτὰ ἀγίων συνόδων

13th c., Constantinople, DARROUZÈS/LAURENT 1976: 1, 191.4–5, 13 C ὅστις/ὅτις (rare in restrictive use, mainly formal/legal; little case attraction) ἐνάντιον τοῦ σιγιλίου τῆς ἐλευθέρας χρυσοβούλλης οὗτινος ἐποιήσεν αὐτοῖς ὁ μακαριώτατος κόμης Ῥογέριος

1171, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 21, 422.14

πᾶς ὅστις ἐτύγχανεν εἰς τὴν χάραν ἐκείνην

13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G IV.836

τὰς παρούσας γραφὰς αἵτινες ἀνάγονται εἰς τὴν ἀντίληψίν σου

1487, Chios, LEFORT 1981: 12, 71.3–4

περὶ τῶν βελανιδίων ἅτινα ὑπῆρχον ἀγορασμένα με σολδία τοῦ εἰρημένου

Σβηροῦ

1606, Nauplion, BROUSKARI 1982: 1, 174.16

ὅσπερ (formal/legal and literary; case attraction to antecedent when there is conflict) τῶν δυσχερῶν ἀπάλλαξον σοφῶν μηχανημάτων ὥνπερ κατεῖπον ἄνωθεν

14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 661–2

εἰς τὸ τῆς Καλαμαρίας θέμα περὶ τὴν τοποθεσίαν ἥπερ οὕτω πως τοῦ

Διαβολοκάμπου ἐπονομάζεται

1324, Thessaloniki, LEFORT et al. 1994: 80, 284.3

διὰ νὰ ἀπανταῖν τούς πολλοὺς κόλπους οὗσπερ ἐκροῦαν

15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 10306

τὸν τόπον ὃνπερ εἶχασιν συνήθως τὸ νὰ βλέπουν

16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1239 ἐπανέστρεψα εἰς τὴν Πάτραν ... ἀπὸ τοῦ ὑπερβάλλοντος τῆς θαλάσσης κακοῦ οὗπερ καθ' ὁδὸν ἡμᾶς συνήνησεν

16th c./15th c., SFRANTZIS, Chron. 146.15 περὶ τὴν ὑπόθ(ε)σιν τ(οῦ) ὀσπιτ(ίου) οὐπερ ἔχει διαφορ(άν) με τ(όν) κυρ Δημήτρ(ιον) 1479, Corfu, KARYDIS 2001: 11, 47.7

τῆς ἀγάπης ἥσπερ διὰ τὴν τῶν εὐσεβῶν εὐφροσύνην καὶ παραμυθίαν ... ἐπόνθησα 17th c., IOAKEIM KYPR., Pali Prol. 53

ὄπερ/ἄπερ without Article (vernacular, gender-indifferent) προστάσσω ... ἵνα μὴ ἔχῃς ἐξουσίαν εἰς τὴν τοιαύτην μονὴν ..., μηδὲ εἰς τὰ μετόχια αὐτῆς ἄπερ διεκρατήσα 1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 16, 210.38–40 ἡμέτερον ἐρημοάμπελον ἄπερ ἔχομεν 1201, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 253, 344.15 τί ἐνι τοῦτο τὸ μέρος τῆς ἐκκλησίας ὄπερ λέγεις; 1337/8, Constantinople, HUNGER et al. 1995: 109, 92.57–8 εὐχαριστᾷ τον διὰ τὴν τιμὴν καὶ ἔπαινος ἄπερ τοῦ ἐμαρτύρα

 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1888–9 ἐνταῦτα ἡῦρασιν ἐκεῖ ἐγγράφως τὸ κεφάλαιον, ὄπερ γράφει λεπτομερῶς, ... τὸ πῶς ὁ λίζιος ἄνθρωπος χρεωστεῖ ποιῆσαι τοῦτο 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7569–71 οὐδὲ τὴν τολμηρὴν καρδίαν, τὴν τόλμην ὄπερ εἶχεν 15th–16th c./15th c., Theseid VI.31,5 (Olsen) τὰ σεντούκια, ὄπερ με ἀπέστειλες 16th c., Diig. Alex. E 155.21 (Lolos) εἶδα τὰς γραφὰς ἄπερ ἔστειλες τοῦ κύρ Μανόλη Μυτιληναίου 1567, Venice, PATRINELIS 1992: 5, 305.3

ὄπερ/ἄπερ with Article (rare, mainly early S. Italian; legal/formal) τὴν ἀλλαγὴν τὴν ἄπερ ἔχω με τὸν καθ(η)γούμε(ενον) κῦ(ρ) Κλήμ(εντα) 1060–1, S. Italy, GUILLOU 1967: 4, 58.18

ἄπασαν τὴν ἐμὴν ὑπόστ(ασιν) τὴν ἄπερ κτῶμ(αι) εἰς χωρίον Κουρτζάνου 1155, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 25, 148.5
 τὴν φυτί(αν) τὴν ἄπερ ἔχω εἰς ἐνφύτευσιν ἐκ τὸν Νικηφόρον Τητάν(η) 1197–8, S. Italy, MERCATI et al. 1980: 42, 217.13 ἐπούλησα τὸ χωράφι τὸ ὄπερ εἶχα 1552, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 179.3
τὴν διαφορὰν τὴν ὄπερ ἔχουν 1569, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 1999: 28, 394.5

NOTES

- (i) In relative clauses containing a verb form marked with νά (often equivalent to English infinitival relatives of the type someone to do something), it is common for the relative marker to be omitted; νά always then stands initially:

ἀφότου ὀρέγεται (ὁ πρίγκιπας) νά ποιήσουσιν ἀγάπην νά ἐνι στερέα κι ἀδόλιευτος 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8695–6 δὲν εἶναι τώρα κανέννας νά κατοικῇ οὔτε εἰς τὴν Βασιλείαν τῶν Οὐρανῶν οὔτε εἰς τὴν Κόλασιν 16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 111.2–3 γιατί ... δὲ βρίσκεται θεριό μηδεκιανένα νά μηδὲν κλάψη ἀπὸ καρδιᾶς περίσσια λυπημένα 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Panor. I.63–4 ἀκομή τὰ χωράφια τῇ Μονολέας νὰ πᾶσι ὡς τὸ Μόλο, μουζούρια ι'

1612, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 779, 677.37

- (ii) When the antecedent NP contains an overt universal quantifier (= “all”, “every” etc.), ὅσος “as much/many as” may be substituted as the relative pronoun; ὅσος naturally imparts a quantified meaning to the antecedent even in the absence of a universal quantifier (“the X as much as ...” = “all (of) the X that ...”):

πάντα ὅσα ἔδωκεν ὁ ἀγοραστής νὰ τὰ χάση 15th c./13th c., Assizes B 292.2

νὰ τοὺς ἔχης πληρώσει τὴν ρόγαν καὶ φιλοτιμίαν ὅσην χρεωστεῖ νὰ ἔχουν
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5165–6

οἱ ἄρχοντες ὅσοι ἔχουσιν τιμάρια 1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.24 ἀλίμονον, Ροδίτες μου, καλὰ παλικάράκια, καὶ ξένοι ὅσοι ἐχάθητε, Ρωμαῖοι καὶ Φραγκάκια 16th c./15th c., LIMEN., Than. Rod. 38–9 ἔδωσε πρὸς αὐτὸν ὄλον τὸν τόπ(ον) τὸν ἄδειον ὅσος ἠβρίσκει(αι) ἔσωθεν τῶν ἀμπελ(ίων) 1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 48, 39.4

- (iii) The relative ὅποιος “whoever”, normally used in headless relatives (see Rule (80)), is sometimes used in the same way as ὅσος:

χαρά ᾗ τσι ὅποιοι δάκρυα χύσου γιὰ τὴ Μαρία
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 3966

- (iv) Relative elements such as ὅσος “(as much) as” and οἷος “(of such a kind) as” are used with demonstrative partners to make “correlative” comparisons of the type “so much ... as ...”, “of such a kind ... as ...”; in the former case, the elements are often reversed (“as much as/to the extent that X ..., this much/to that extent Y”):

τόσος/ὅσος

ὅσον εἶναι πλείονες καὶ ἐλαφρότεροι, ... τόσον θέλει εἶσθαι κάλλιον 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.1–3

ὅσον ἔναι ψηλότερος, τόσον τὸν τάσσει ὀλίγα 16th c./15th c., Om. Nekt. Vas. 82

τέτοιος/οἷος

χαρὰν ποτέ, ἀγάπην ἢ φιλίαν, μὲ ἄνθρωπον οὐ μὴ ἀποκτήσω <ἐγὼ> τέτοιαν οἷαν μετ' ἐσένα 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 4266 οὕτως τὸν εὐρήκασι τίτοιον οἷον ἠθέλαν 15th c., Chron. Toc. 2697

- (79) A relative clause may be used as a non-restrictive (appositive) modifier to add relevant information that is not specifically intended to help the hearer/reader identify the referent.

Such relative clauses are normally demarcated by a pause (reflected in writing by the use of a comma) and contain one of the relative markers also used in restrictive relative clauses (see Rule (78)); they may be used to modify NPs or complete sentences, in which case we may understand a vague antecedent, as in the students, who (by the way) had worked hard, left early; she passed first time, (something) which gave her family great pleasure.

The most common relative markers/pronouns in non-restrictive relative clauses are ὅπου/πού (regular) and (ὁ) (ὁ)ποῖος (more formal/literary), though all options are in principle available, including the absence of any overt relativizing element in clauses containing verb forms marked with νά; (ὁ) (ὁ)ποῖος is the regular choice as object of a preposition, or when cases other than nominative and accusative are required.

Non-restrictive relative clauses introduced by ὅπου/πού and other indeclinable elements may include a resumptive object clitic pronoun in the relativized position, referring back to the antecedent and agreeing with it in number and gender (of the form the man, that I saw him, ...); this is regular when the relative clause modifies a sentence. This option also occurs, albeit more rarely, with (ὁ) (ὁ)ποῖος, mainly in later texts.

Modifying a NP

- πουλῶντα τὸ ἡμέτερον ἀμπέλιον, τὸ ὄντα καὶ διακείμενον εἰς χωρίον Καλαβρόν, τὸ ᾧπερ ἔχομεν ἐκ τὸν ἐμὸν πεθερόν 1179, S. Italy, TRINCHERA 1865: 193, 254.7–10 ὡς εἶδασιν παράνομα, τὰ ποῖα οὐδὲν ἐλπίζαν, εἰς θλίψιν ἐσεβήκασιν καὶ κάθονται καὶ κλαίουں 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 88–9 ἐγὼ εἶμαι ὁ Χρόνος, ἀδελφέ, τὸν ὑποτάσσει ἡ Τύχη 14th c./13th–14th c., Log. parig. L 106 συναπαντῶ πραγματευτὴν ... ἄλογα νὰ ἔχη περισσὰ καὶ ἀνθρώπους μετ' ἐκείνον καὶ γραίαν γυναῖκα, ... νὰ κάθεται εἰς καμήλιν 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. V 2314–16 στὸν χρόνο ἐκείνον καὶ καιρόν, ὅπου σὲ ἀφηγήθην ἐδῶ ... ὅταν ὁ δοῦκας Ἀθηνῶν ... εὔρεν ὅτι ὁ πρίγκιπας ἐκείνος ὁ Γυλιάμος ἐπιάστη ... καὶ ἦτον εἰς τὴν Πόλιν, ᾧπερ τὸν ἐκράτει ὁ βασιλέας εἰς φυλακὴν του 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7964–9 ἔποικαν ἀμφότεροι τὸ ἀντρώγονον ἐκείνο υἱόν, ... ὅστις γὰρ μετὰ τὴν θανὴν ἐκείνου τοῦ πατρός του ἔζησεν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7974–7 ἀπεράσαμεν εἰς τὴν Πελοπόννησον, ὅπου ὁ Τοῦρκος ἀκόμα δὲν τὴν εἶχε 19th c./15th–16th c., Chron. Theod. 20.4–5 ἐπαρακάλεσέ μας νὰ κάμωμεν τὴν παροῦσαν αὐτῆς διαθήκην καὶ τελευταίαν παραγγελίαν, μὲ τὴν ὁποῖαν κόφτει καὶ ἀφανίζει κάθε ἄλλην καὶ ἄλλες ποὺ ἔχει παρέμπροσθεν ταύτης γινωμένες 1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.9
 εἰς ἐκείνον τὸν καιρόν ἦσαν δυο δένδρα, ὅπου τὰ λέγουν ἐμπρίονοι εἰς ἐκείνην τὴν γλώσσαν 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.19–20 ἐγὼ, π' ἀκόμη τίβοτας δὲν εἶχα φαγωμένα, ἀγάλι ἀγάλι ἐσάλευγα μὲ χεῖλη πρικαμένα 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. III.67–8 ἐδιάβη καταπάνω τοῦ Ἀλεξάντρου ἀφεντὸς τῆς Ἀρμενίας, χριστιανόν, τὸν ὁποῖον τὸν ἐλέγασιν καὶ Σκεντέρη 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.22–4 ἐξῆλθε διὰ νὰ κυνηγήσῃ μὲ τοὺς συνηθισμένους του καβαλάρους, ἀπὸ τοὺς ὁποῖους ἦτον ἕνας καὶ ἐτοῦτος ὁ ἀγαθὸς ἄνδρας 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 39.29–31

τὴ γραφή τῆς ἐκλαμπρότητός σου ἐλάβαμε ..., τὴν ὁποία ἐδιαβάσαμε τὴνε, ὥς ἔπρεπε, τοῦ δεσπότη καὶ ὁλονοῦ τοῦ λαοῦ 1665, Mani, BLANKEN 1951: VIII, 305.5

Modifying a Sentence

ἡ νύκτα ἐκαλοφόρεσεν, τὸ δὲν ἐποῖκεν [ἡ] ἄλλη 16th c./15th c., BERGADIS, Apok. A 342 ἐξαίφνης ἐδιάβη, ὁποῦ δὲν τὸ ὠλπίζανε 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 25.2

οἱ σαῖττες καὶ τὰ τόξα τοῦ θανάτου εἶν' πολλὰ καὶ καιρὸν δὲν διορίζουν, ποῦ τὸ ξεύρομεν καλὰ 17th c., Charon II 13–14

- (80) “Headless” relative clauses, i.e. those lacking an overt antecedent, normally have a generic/universal meaning (“whoever/whatever” or “any/every X that”); they are introduced by ὅπου/ὅπου/ποῦ or by relative pronouns/specifiers with an inherently generic/universal sense, namely ὅσος (cf. Rule (78) NOTE (ii)) and ὅποιος/ὅ,τι.

By contrast, forms of the definite article are regularly used with a specific meaning in headless relatives = “the (specific) X that”.

In the absence of an antecedent NP the relative marker combines the functions of both antecedent (in the main clause) and relativizer (in the relative clause), leading potentially to conflicting case assignments for inflected forms; when this occurs, the case requirements of the relative clause typically predominate (examples are italicized below, though nominative/accusative clashes involving neuters are, of course, “invisible”).

Some relative elements used in headless relatives can also be used as specifiers, as in [whichever book he read] was soon forgotten. NPs with relative specifiers similarly fulfil two grammatical functions, and the requirements of the relative clause again predominate in the event of case conflict.

Article (definite/specific) τοῦτο ψευδὲς ἐνόμιζον ..., τὸ λέγουσιν οἱ χωρικοὶ καὶ ὁ λόγος ὁ δημῶδης

13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 18–19

λέγω τὰ οὐκ ἐνδέχονται καὶ τά με οὐδὲν ἀρμόζουν; 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 294 οὐ θέλουσιν ὑπόδησιν τοὺς ἔχω μετ' ἐμέναν; 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. II 32

τὴν ἥθελες καὶ ὠρέγου νὰ κερδήσης, ... νὰ τὴν ἰδῇς μετὰ θε(ο)ν εἰς ὀλιγὰς ἡμέρας
?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.1v.7–14

τὴν ἐκρατοῦμεν ἄγαμον εὐρέθη ἐγγαστρωμένη 13th–14th c./?, Paroim. D 119 περὶ νὰ ὑπᾶμε εἰς τὴν Συρίαν, τὰ οὐκ ἔχομεν γυρεύει, ἐνταῦτα στρέμμα ἄς ποιήσωμεν ἀπέσω εἰς τὴν Πόλιν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 837–8 τί ἔναι, σκύλε, τὰ λαλεῖς, τί ἔν τὸ τζαμπουνίζεις; 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 199 app. crit. (CLA) γυνή τις γραῦς ὑπόσχεται νὰ δώσῃ ... καὶ κουφισμὸν εἰς τὸ πονεῖς καὶ λύσιν εἰς τὸ πάσχεις 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1108–9 τὸν ἀγαπᾷς εὐρέθηκεν, ἀνέστη τὸν ἐξεύρεις

16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1686

τὸν κόσμον νὰ λυτρώνουμουν παρὰ τὰ βλέπω τώρα 16th c./14th c., Byz. Il. 262

- ἄμποτε τὸ μᾶς ἔταξαν νὰ τὸ φυλάξωσι τελείως 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 285.20 τὰ ῥίζεις προσκυνῶ καὶ θέλω νὰ τὰ ποίσω 16th c./15th c., FALIEROS, Thrinios 119 ἀπὸ τὸ μου λαλεῖτε, πὼς ἐπήγα εἰς τὴν αὐλήν τῆς ἀφεντίας τῆς 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 60, 62.18 τὸ ζητᾷ γιὰ γιαντρικόν, ἐκεῖνο τόνε βλάφτει 18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAOS, Erot. III.6
- ὅπου/όπου
- όπου θέλει νὰ ἐλθῇ ἄς ἔλθῃ μετὰ μέναν 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 554 ἡῦρασιν ὅτι εἶχαν πλέον κερδίσει παρὰ όπου εἶχαν στὰ κάτεργα 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 650–1 μὰ νὰ ἵναι ἀσυγχώρετος όπου θὲ σὲ πατάξει 15th c., CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 206 όπου ἔχει πολὺν πιπέρι βάνει καὶ ᾽ς τὰ λάχανα 16th c./?, Paroim. H 32 καλότυχος ποῦ μεριμνᾷ πάντα τὸν θάνατόν του 17th c., MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1345 όπου θυμᾶται θάνατον, ἐκεῖνος κυριεύει 17th c., MATTHAIOS MYR., Ist. Vlach. 1349
- ὅσος (used as both pronoun and specifier)
- ἀπὸ ὅσοι ἐναπέμειναν ἀπ' αὐτοῦς, ... ἀεννάως τοὺς ἔπαιρνε μετ' αὐτόν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7209–11 ὀρκῶ σε κατὰ τοῦ Χριστοῦ ..., ἐσὲν κι ὅσοι κατέζονται μετὰ σὲ ἐδῶ εἰς τὴν κούρτην 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7543–4 ὥσπερ ἔναι ἡ συνήθεια νὰ πιάσει τὴν λεχώναν καὶ νὰ κάμει ὅσα εἶναι τῆς φύσεως τῶν γυναικῶν 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.34–5 τὸν ποιητὴν πάσης κτίσεως καὶ ἐλευθερωτὴν τῶν ψυχῶν πάντων τῶν ὀρθοδόξων χριστιανῶν καὶ ὅσοι πιστεύσουν εἰς αὐτόν 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 331.14–15 γι' αὐτὸς λολοῖ ἵναι ὅσοι θαρροῦ ... νὰ κάμουν τὴ χέρα μου νὰ μὴ μπορᾷ τελειώσει 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Erof. Prol. 34 ὅσοι Ρωμιότουρκοι ἐγροίκησαν τὸν ἀβγαμό μου παρευθὺς ἔτρεξαν σιμά μου 1660, Crete, KARATHANASIS 1973: 2, 27.13 ὅσα παιδιὰ ἵναι διαλεκτὰ εἰς μιὰ μεριά ᾽ς τὰ βάνη 17th c., KONDAR., Paides 171
- ὅποιος/ὅ,τι (used as both pronoun and specifier)
- ἀπὸ τοὺς μῆνας δώδεκα νὰ ἐπαίρνη ὅποιους θέλει 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2004 ὅ,τι ἡῦραν πράγματα ἐκεῖ ἐδιαγούμισάν τα 15th c., Chron. Toc. 1306 ὅποια ἀπ' ἐσᾶς βάλη ἀρχὴν νὰ μὲ δεῖρῃ ἔναι ἡ μεγαλύτερη πολιτικὴ καὶ πούτάνα τοῦ κόσμου 15th–16th c./15th c., VIOS AISOP. E 292.34 ὅποιαν βλέπη νὰ δειλιᾷ δίδει παρηγορία 15th–16th c./15th c., Theseid I.90,8 (Follieri) ὅποιοιν σου δείξω σκότωσε 16th c./15th c., PIKAT., Rima thrin. 383 ὅποιος αὐτὰ ὀρέγεται δουλῶνεται καθόλου 16th c./15th c., FALIEROS, Log. did. 111 ὅποια εὐρεθῇ, νὰ τὴν ξορίζουν ἔξω τῆς χώρας! 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 178.6

εἰς ὥραν ὑπανδρείας αὐτῆς ὅ,τι τῶς φανῇ νὰ τῆς δώσουν διὰ προικίον νὰ τῆς δίδουν ἀπ' αὐτὰ, καὶ ὅ,τι τῶν φανῇ νὰ πουλήσουν νὰ τὰ κάνουν στάμενα

1527, Crete, KAKLAMANIS/LAMBAKIS 2003: 120, 217.26

κάμε ὅ,τι θές

17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. III.267

ἀκόμη ἀφήνει τῆς Καντιῶς ὅ,τι μερτικὸ τοῦ ἐγγίξει στὸ χωράφι τῆς Κουκουβάγιας

1613, Syros, DRAKAKIS 1967: 9, 311.22

εἰς ὅποιον τόπον ἐσεῖς θέλετε ὑπάγει, εὐρίσκει σας 17th c., Diath. Nikon Metan. 11–12 ὅποιος ἀγαπᾷ ἐμένα ζῶντ(ας) μου, ἔνα τους παρακαλῶ ν' ἀγαποῦσι τὴν μάνα μου καὶ τὰ παιδιὰ μου δέκα

1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 110.144–5

νὰ εἶναι διαλέγονας ὁ Μανώλης νὰ παίρνη ὅποια πάρτην θέλει

1682, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 257, 449.23

6 Prepositions and Prepositional Phrases

6.1 Simple Prepositional Phrases

(81) LMedG/EMG prepositions normally govern an accusative NP to form a Prepositional Phrase (PP); clitic (personal) pronouns are sometimes permitted in the earliest texts (e.g. ἀνταπεκρίνατο πρὸς με ὁ ὑποψήφιος (?1144, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 9, 313.4)), but full forms are normally preferred thereafter (e.g. οὐδὲν εὕρισκω εἰς ἐμὲν Chron. Mor. H 948).

The array of prepositions that appear routinely in LMedG/EMG (ἀπὸ, διὰ/γιά, εἰς/σέ, μέ, παρὰ = “(rather/other) than”, πρὸς) is significantly smaller than that of AG. But other prepositions are found in older texts and archaizing, legal or official registers, as well as in many formulaic phrases, many of which have ecclesiastical origins (e.g. ἐν ὀνόματι τοῦ Θεοῦ, etc.); in these cases prepositions that in AG governed the genitive or dative often continue to do so, though substitution of the accusative is also possible.

6.1.1 Frequently Occurring Prepositions + Accusative

ἀπό

For the use of ἀπό in partitive constructions (e.g. ἕνας ἀπὸ ἐκείνους ... ἀνέβηκε 18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 18.19–22), see 5.2.2, Rule (73) NOTE (ii). Other principal uses are: “from”(spatial/metaphorical), “via/through”, “than”, “by/with” (agent/instrument), “after”.

ἀν μισεύσειν βούλεσαι ἀπὸ τὴν Ρωμανίαν	15th c./12th c., Dig. E 344 τὸ πέραμα νὰ ποιήσουσιν ἀπὸ τὴν Βενετίαν	14th c., Chron. Mor. H. 310 σκάνταλον μέγα ἐγένετον ἀπὸ τοὺς Βενετικούς	14th c., Chron. Mor. H. 408 ὡσὰν ἐπιάστη πρότερον ἀπὸ τοὺς Βενετικούς	14th c., Chron. Mor. H. 865 περιεπάτει, ἐχαίρετον ἀπὸ ὅλον τὸ πριγκιπᾶτο	14th c., Chron. Mor. H. 3041 σκοπᾶτε τὰ τέλη τῶν πραγμάτων, καὶ ἀπὸ τὸ τέλος τὴν ἀρχὴν	16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 10.13–14
γιατὶ καλλιὰ δὲν εἶν' ὁ γεῖς τίβοτσι ἀποὺ τὸν ἄλλο	17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Erof. II.22
ἀπ' εὐτυχίης πληθαίνει (ὁ τόπος)	17th–18th c./17th c., Prol. Epain. Kef. 71 ἐκεῖνοι οἱ πανάπιστοι ... ὀργισθήκασιν περίσσα καὶ ἀφρίζασιν ἀπὸ λύσσα ἐκδίκησης	18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.22–4

διά/γιά

“for/on behalf of”, “for (the purpose of)/as” ὑπαγαίνασιν ἐκεῖ κ' ἑκατοικοῦσαν, οἱ μὲν διά τὸ προσκύνημα καὶ ἄλλοι διά τὴν δόξαν

14th c., Chron. Mor. H. 120–1

ὅπου ἐσταυρώθη ὁ Χριστὸς διά τὸ ἀνθρώπινον τὸ γένος 14th c., Chron. Mor. H. 305 ἔπαρ' ἐκ τὰ φαρία μας νὰ ἔχης γιά τιμὴ σου 16th c., Imb. Rim. 237 πολλοὺς ἐπίασεν ζωντανούς καὶ ἤθελε νὰν τοὺς ἐξηβάλῃ εἰς τὸν κόσμον διά θαῦμα 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 24.6–7 (Konstantinopulos) κατέχεις ... τὸ πῶς σ' ἐκράτου πάντα μου ὡς γιά δασκάλισσά μου 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. II.355–6 ἐκλελεμένος ... διά ἀσιστέντες 1687, Corfu, KARLAFTI-MOURATIDI 2005a: 1, 368.2

δὲν ἐκράτηξε (πουρκί) καὶ διά τὰ ἄλλα τῆς παιδείας τὰ δύο ... * ... τὴν ἐπῆρε διά γυναῖκα του 1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 743, 1013.7–11

εἰς/σέ

“at/to, on/onto, in/into” (spatial/metaphorical), “for (the purpose of)”, “because of”

ἐζήτησαν ὁ λαὸς χωράφια εἰς τὸ σπέρνειν καὶ ζῆν
?1130–40, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 533.12

δέδωκέν μοι ἐν οἴκημα εἰς θεώρετρον ἐν τῇ πόλει Μεσσήνη 1171, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VII: 4, 363.9

μόνον προθύμως ἔξελθε εἰς τοῦ ἀμιρᾶ τὴν τόλμην 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 7 ὥραν πολλὴν ἐποίησιν καὶ εἰς λογισμοὺς ἐμπήκαν 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 75 ἀπὲ τοῦ νῦν οὐ πρέπει μας νὰ εἴμεσθην εἰς τὸν κόσμον 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 95 στὸν χρόνον ἐκεῖνον καὶ καιρόν, ὅπου σὲ ἀφηγήθην ἐδῶ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7964

καὶ τ' ἄλλα πάντα θαυμαστοὺς, γενναίους εἰς ἀνδρείαν 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOI.], Kallim. 30 ἦπῃρην τοὺς, ἐπέβηκεν ᾗ τὸ κάτεργον ἀτὴ τῆς· ἐδιέβηκε εἰς τὴν Φράγκιαν τοῦ ρήγαν Ἰταλίας

15th c., Chron. Toc. 19–20

ἄρχισεν ἐξέβαινεν ἔξω ἐκ τὰ νησία, ἀμέριμνα καὶ ἀφοβα, ὥσπερ εἰς τὰ νησία 15th c., Chron. Toc. 155–6 ἔθεσαν αὐτὸν εἰς τὴν ἀναγεγραμμένη μονὴ εἰς ὕμνον καὶ δόξα τοῦ παντοδυνάμου Θεοῦ 1558, Corfu, KONDOYANNIS/KARYDIS 1994: 2, 649.11

ὁ δὲ ἀγαθὸς ἄνδρας ἐκεῖνος ... ἐκατενύγηκεν εἰς τὴν ψυχὴν 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 41.3–4

μέ

“with”, “by (means of)”

ὁ ἐκατήλλαξα μέ τὸ σύντεκνόν μου τὸν Μιχαήλ
ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.24

ὅταν ἐσυμβιβάσθηκα μὲ τὸν ἐχτρὸν τοῦ Θεοῦ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5722 μὲ τὸν μακαρίτην τὸν αὐθέντην τὸν πατέρα τους ἐσυντύχαμεν περὶ τούτου 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.11–12

καὶ λαλοῦν πῶς ὁ κούνη τε Ρουχᾶς ἔνε εἰς μεγάλην ἀγάπην μὲ τὴν κυράν μας τὴν ρήγαινα 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 220.34–6 ἔστοντας νὰ ἐπάρουσι τὸ Σάλονα μὲ προδοσίᾳ ἐνὸς Σαλονίτου, ... ἐπεράσασι ... ξεπλερώνοντας ... τὸ γαῖμα τῶν συντρόφων, ποὺ μὲ πόλεμο καλὸ χύθηκε στὸ Γαλαξειδί 18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 16.24–17.6

ἓνας ἀπὸ ἐκείνους ... ἀνέβηκε μὲ μία σκάλα νὰ τὸ (καντῆλι) ἐξεκρεμάσῃ 18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 18.19–23

παρά

“beyond” (metaphorical), “(more) than” (with a comparative adjective/adverb), “other/rather than”, “instead of”, “but for/except for” (= “only” in combination with a preceding negative, cf. “nothing but (for) X” = “only X”): περὶ is sometimes substituted μὴ φοβηθῆς τὸν θάνατον παρὰ μητρὸς κατάραν 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 2 Φιλοπαππού, γνωρίζεις με παρὰ τοὺς ἄλλους πλέον 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 1385 λεπτομερῶς τοὺς ἔδειξεν τὴν στράταν τῆς Πολέου, τὸ πῶς ἐνι διαφορικὴ πλέον παρὰ (sc. ἐκείνην) τῆς Συρίας 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 505–6 ὅστις ἦτον μακρύτερα παρὰ γὰρ τὸν Δεσπότην 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 3623

ἄλλα πλεῖστα καὶ πλειότερα παρὰ ἐκεῖνα ὅπου του ἔδωκεν
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4626

ὅσα παρὰ τὴν δύναμιν 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1560 πλέον περὶ ἄλλες Ἀμαζόνες αὐτὲς εἶχαν τὴν χάριν 15th–16th c./15th c., Theseid I.57,8 (Follieri) τὰ ἄλογα δὲν εἶχα νὰ φᾶν παρὰ τὰ κιτρομηλόφυλλα

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 110.10–11

δὲν θέλετε τῶς πάρει παρὰ 5 τὰ ἑκατό 1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 110.143

NOTES

- (i) The meaning “but rather”, though not a feature of SMG, did occur in earlier demotic and is a natural development from “rather than”, cf. “don’t do X rather than Y” > “don’t do X but rather (do) Y”, where the preposition has been reanalysed as a conjunction. Μὴ φοβηθῆς τὸν θάνατον παρὰ μητρὸς κατάραν (Dig. E 2, cited above) might therefore be read this way, though unambiguous examples of such reanalysis are hard to find.
- (ii) We may also note the potential for reanalysis of παρὰ in negative contexts as the modifier of a numeral or quantifier, cf. MG δεν ἦρθε παρὰ ἓνας X, where the use of the nominative excludes a prepositional analysis. Again, δὲν θέλετε τῶς πάρει παρὰ 5 τὰ ἑκατό (1662, Sifnos, MERTZIOS 1958a: 1, 110.143, cited above) might be understood this way, but clearly does not have to be.

πρός

“to(wards)” (spatial/metaphorical), “in accordance with”, “against” (spatial), “about (number)”, “X (number/amount) each” (distributive)

- ἀνταπεκρίνατο πρός με ὁ ὑποψήφιος ?1144, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. V: 9, 313.4
- ῶμον πρός ῶμον ἔθηκαν καὶ πρός ἀλλήλους λέγουν 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 780
- ἐκείνη ἐκατεπήδησεν καὶ πρός ἐμένα ἦλθεν 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 1186
- οἱ δύο κοντᾶδες τοῦ ἔδωκαν πρός ἕνα καβαλλάρην 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 220
- ὁμπρός ὀπίσω ἐξέβαιναν πρός εἴκοσι καὶ τριάντα 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1063
- τὰ ἔθνη γὰρ τὰ ἀβάφτιστα, ὅρκον ἂν σὲ ποιήσουν πρός τὰ συνήθεια ὅπου ἔχουσιν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1249–50
- ἦρτεν πρός τὴν ἀνατολήν, καὶ ἦρτεν εἰς τὴν Κύπρον, καὶ ἐπέξευσεν πρός τὴν Λεμεσὸν καὶ ἦρτεν τὸ νησὶν ἔρημον 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.9–11
- εἰς τὸ πλε(υ)ρὸν τοῦ βημάτου πρός τὸν νότον ἔχει λάκκον 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 38.17–18

6.1.2 Prepositions of More Limited Frequency

Included here are a number of inherited prepositions, which may take the same case as in AG, or alternatively take a different case (given in brackets), either as a result of hypercorrection or in accordance with vernacular practice.

ἀντί + gen./acc.)

“instead of”

- ἀρκοῦν ἐμοὶ τὰ κάλλη της ἀντὶ πολλῶν προικίων 13th–14th c./?12th c., Dig. G IV.747
- ἀντὶ πατρὸς καὶ ἀντὶ μητρὸς καὶ ἀντὶ ἀδελφούς καὶ φίλους ἔχω ἐσένα σήμερον ἐδῶ εἰς τὴν ξενιτείαν μου 14th–15th c./13th c., Liv. E 61–2
- τὰς ψυχὰς ἀφήσωμεν ἀντὶ λιθομαργάρων 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 225
- ὁ δὲ τεχνίτης τὸν χρυσὸν εἰς δένδρον μεταπλάττει, ἀντὶ καρπῶν δὲ τεχνικῶς ἐνέθηκεν τοὺς λίθους 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 317–18
- βασιλεὺς ἐστέφθηκα ἀντὶ δὲ τοῦ πατρός μου 16th c./15th c., Om. Nekt. Vas. 53 ἀπό + gen.

“from” (often non-spatial), “by (means of)”, “as a result of/after”, “X (number/amount) each” (distributive)

- κατὰ ἕνα τῶν ἀδελφῶν ἀπὸ δύο ἱματίων ἔχειν χρή 12th c./11th c., ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 1 104.28–9
- ἀπὸ μανίας μου ρίπτω το ἀνταμοῦ μὲ τὸ σκουτέλλιν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 244
- τότε νὰ ἰδῇς πόλεμον καλῶν παλληκαρίων καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς μάχης τῆς πολλῆς κροῦσιν διασυντόμας 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 35–6
- ἡμεῖς γὰρ εὐρίσκόμεθα ἀπὸ γενεᾶς μεγάλης 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 136

- ἀπὸ καρδίας ἐστέναξεν, ἐκ βάθους τῆς ψυχῆς του 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 635 εἰς τὸν μαρκέσην ἦλθασιν, γλυκέα τὸν χαιρετοῦσιν ... ἀπὸ τῶν λοιπῶν ὁλῶν τῶν πελεγρίνων 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 228–30 ἡ Πόλις ἐπιάστη ἀπὸ σπαθίου, ὥσάν σε τὸ ἀφηγοῦμαι 14th c., Chron. Mor. H. 550 νὰ στείλω ἐκεῖ φουσσᾶτα ... νὰ ὑπάγουν τῆς θαλάσσης κι ἀπαύτου πάλε ἀπὸ τῆς γῆς νὰ ὑπάγουν τῆς στερέας 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4233–5 διά + acc./gen.)

“because of”

- διὰ τοῦ ἐλέους του ὅρισεν τὸν Κεραμέαν ὅ,τι ἔχει διὰ πρακτικοῦ
 ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.32 ἐλόγισεν, ὡς φρόνιμος, ὅτι ἀμαρτία ἤθελε εἶσται, διὰ ἐνὸς ἀνθρώπου θάνατον νὰ μείνῃ τὸ πασσάτζο 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 169–70 ἐγνωρίζω ὅτι διὰ ἐμοῦ τὴν ἀφορμὴν τὸ πολεμοῦν ἐκείνοι 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 283–4 διὰ τὰ ἄγια λείψανα τὰ εὐρίσκονται εἰς τὴν Κύπρον 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 24.6–7 διὰ τοῦτο γράφω ..., διὰ τὸν ἀπειθὴ λαόν, ὅπου δὲν βοηθᾷ τὸν ἀρχιερέα αὐτοῦ 1622, ?Karpathos, ZERLENDIS 1918d: B, 300.14–17
διὰ τὸ αὐτὸν πρᾶμα ὅπου εἶχεν τὴν ἐπῆρε διὰ γυναῖκαν του 1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 743, 1013.7–11

διά + gen./acc.)

“through(out)”, “by means of”

- διὰ πολλῆς ταχύτητος ἦλθον εἰς Ρωμανίαν. ... οἱ καὶ τούτῳ ἐδήλωσαν διὰ γραμματοφόρου 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G II.100–3 τὸ δένδρον ... ποτὲ οὐ καρπεύγει διὰ τὴν γῆν 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. E 145–7 διὰ θαλάσσης καὶ ξηρᾶς νὰ ὑπᾶσιν νὰ κουρσεύσουν 15th c., Chron. Toc. 1.61 εὐρέθην δι’ ἀποκαλύψεως θεοῦ 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 34.1

ἐκ + gen./acc.)

“from/out of”, “as a result of”; ἐκ μέρους = “on behalf of”

- ὦ παναθλία, τί ἔπαθες ἐκ τῆς παραδικίας! 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 115 ἀπῆρεν δύο καβαλλάριους ὅπου εἶχε ἐκ τῆς βουλῆς του· ἐκ τὴν Τσαμπάνια ἐξέβηκεν κ’ εἰς τὴν Φιλάντριαν ἦλθεν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 172–3 εἰς τὸν μαρκέσην ἦλθασιν, γλυκέα τὸν χαιρετοῦσιν ἐκ μέρους τῶν εὐγενικῶν ἐκείνων τῶν κοντάδων 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 228–9 μετὰ ταῦτα τοῦ ἐλάλησεν, ἐκ στόματος τοῦ εἶπεν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 329 ἐκ τὸν πολύν του τὸν δαρμόν 15th c., Peri xen. 31 ὁ ἄνθρωπος ... πιάνει τὸν (ξύλινον θεόν) ἐκ τοὺς πόδας καὶ ρίπτει τὸν εἰς τὴν γῆν· καὶ ὅταν ἐσυντρίφθῃ, ἐκ τὸ κεφάλιν ἔρευσε χρυσάφι 16th c., NOUKIOS, Ais. Myth. 109.5

ἐν + dat./acc.)

“in”; ἐν τούτῳ = “then/next” πρόφθασον ἐν ἀνάγκαις νῦν, πρόφθασον ἐν τῇ θλίψει 15th c./?12th c., Dig E 1840 ἐν τούτῳ, ὡς ἠθέλησε Θεὸς νὰ γένῃ τὸ πασσάτζο 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 157 ὡς γὰρ ἐνστάζει χάριτας ἔρω ἐν ἄλλοις πᾶσιν, οὕτως ἐν μόνῳ χωρισμῷ γέμει πολλὰς πικρίας 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 18–19 ἐν δὲ τοὺς χρόνους καὶ καιροὺς ἐκείνους ὅπου ἀκούεις οἱ Ἀλβανῖται ἀφέντευον τὸν τόπον Δεσποτάτου 15th c., Chron. Toc. 44–5 ἐβουλεύτηκα ἐν ὀνόματι τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ θεοῦ τοῦ ἐν τριάδι προσκυνουμένου, νὰ ἐξηγηθῶ περὶ τῆς ἀκριβοῦς χώρας Κύπρου. Ὡς χρόνοι εἶνε γ’ ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ, ... ἦτζου εἶνε καὶ οἱ ἡμέραι τῆς ζωῆς μας 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.1–5 ἐγράφη ἐν τῇ πόλει Λευκωσία ἰγ’ δικεβρίου ,ατξῆ’ Χριστοῦ

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 222.5–6

ἐπί + acc. (sometimes for traditional genitive, e.g. ἐπὶ τοῦτον for ἐπὶ τούτου)

“to(wards)”, “for (the purpose of)”, “for (the duration of)” ἀλλήλους ἐσυνέκοπτον ἐπὶ πολλὰς τὰς ὥρας 13th–14th c./?12th c., Dig. G I. 179 κάκειθεν μὲν ὑπέστρεφον πάντες ἐπὶ τὸν οἶκον 13th–14th c./?12th c., Dig. G III. 32 θροηθέντες ἀνέδραμον πάντες ἐπὶ τὸ ὄρος 13th–14th c./?12th c., Dig. G III. 94 ἀλλ’ ἐπὶ τὸ προκείμενον ὁ λόγος ἀνακτέον 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 23

οἱ Γενουβίσοι ἐποῖκαν ἕναν χαρτὶν νοταρικόν: “... ἔμπροσθεν ἐμοῦ ... καὶ μαρτύρων
..., ἐπὶ τοῦτον κληθέντων καὶ παρακληθέντων ...”
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 504.29–33

ἐπί + gen.

“(up)on”, “during (the time of)”; ἐπὶ ὀνόματος = “in the name of”

ἀλλ’ ὡς ἐκατεστάθησαν ἐπὶ τῶν ἡμερῶν μας 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 215 ἐλιγοθύμησε ... καὶ πεσοῦσα ἐπὶ γῆς παρέδωκεν τὸ πνεῦμα 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 1864–5 ἐπὶ τῆς αὐρίου γὰρ τὸ πρωῒ, ... ἐδῶκαν τὰ σαλπύγια τους

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1479–80

καθήμενος ἐπὶ λαμπροῦ βασιλικοῦ τοῦ θρόνου
16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 695

εὐρέθη στρώμα κείμενον ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς στρωμένον
16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 798 ἡ ποία ἀγία ... ἐποῖκεν καὶ ἔκτισαν πολλὰς ἐκκλησίας εἰς τὴν Ἱερουσαλὴμ ἐπὶ ὀνόματος τοῦ θεοῦ τοῦ ζῶντος 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 4.23–6 ἐπί + dat.

“on (top of)/over” (non-spatial), “in (the case of)”, “for (the purpose of)”

ἐπὶ προδήλοις πράγμασιν οὐ χρεία τῶν μαρτύρων 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 44 τοῦ κόρακος ἐπάνω μου τῆς στέγης ἐπὶ κακῶ καθίσαντος καὶ κρᾶζειν ἀρξαμένου

13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 46–7

ἐπὶ θανάτῳ θάνατον δέχεται καθ’ ἐκάστην 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 113 ἡ μήτηρ εὐφραίνεται ἀληθῶς ἐπὶ τέκνοις 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G II.35 κατὰ + acc.

“according to”, “through(out)/during”: κατὰ τύχη(ν) = “by chance” ὁ τέλει γὰρ χρησάμενος τοῦ βίου κατὰ φύσιν 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 102 ᾧς εἶδες κἂν ἐνύπνιον γλυκὺν κατὰ τὸν ὕπνον! 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 168 ὁ υἱός μου νὰ ἔλθῃ μετ’ ἐσᾶς κατὰ τὲς συμφωνίας μας 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 700 ποῦ κατὰ τύχῃ ἀπέρχετον βάρκα ἀπὸ τὴν Πούλιαν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2240 με τὸ θέλημαν ὅλους τοὺς περίτου αὐθέντες ... ὅπου εὐρίσκουνταν κατὰ τὴν ἡμέραν

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 42.11–13

μία λοιμικὴ ἀσθένεια ... ἔποικε ἐξολόθρεμα καὶ κατὰ τὰ μέρη Σαλόνου
18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 20.1–4

κατὰ + gen.(/acc.)

“in front of” (spatial), “against” (metaphorical); κατὰ πρόσωπα = “in the face of”

θεωρεῖς ἐκείνους τοὺς ἀγρίους ὀρμῶντας οὕτω κατὰ σοῦ
13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 173–4

τὸν ἰὸν ἐξέχεε κατὰ τοῦ εὐεργέτου 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 386 ἀνάθεμά με, βασιλεῦ, ὅταν στραφῶ καὶ ἰδῶ τον, τὸ πῶς ἀνακομβώνεται κατὰ τῆς μαγειρείας 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 131–2

ἡ πόλις τῆς Τσάρας ... ροβολεμένη εὐρίσκετον κατὰ τῆς Βενετίας
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 416–17

ὅποτε θελήσου νὰ ρεβελιάσουν κατὰ μέναν 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.10

ἂν σηκώσῃ τὸ χέριν του κατὰ πρόσωπα τοῦ ψουμάτου
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 24.28–9

εἰς τὸ ὁποῖον περισσότερον ἐθυμώθηκεν ὁ βασιλεὺς καὶ ὠργίζετο κατὰ τῶν μοναχῶν
17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 39.21–2

μετά + acc.

“after”

μετὰ δὲ τὴν συνάφειαν συνέλαβεν ἡ κόρη, καὶ ἔτεκε τὸν Διγενῆ Βασίλειον Ἀκρίτην 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G II.47–8

μετὰ ταῦτα τοῦ ἐλάλησεν, ἐκ στόματος τοῦ εἶπεν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 329 μετὰ τὴν παραδρομὴν καὶ τοῦ τοσούτου τόπου εἰς κάστρον κατηντήσασιν μέγα

16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 173–4

μετὰ τὸν θάνατον τοῦ ρε Οὔγκε ἐρμάστην μετὰ τὸν Ρεῖμου τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ πρίντζη 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 40.15–16

μετά + gen./acc.)

“with”

λεπτῶς τὸν ἀφηγήσαντο τὴν πρᾶξιν καὶ τὸν βίον, κι ὅσα ἐκατεστήσασιν μετὰ τοὺς Βενετικούς 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 376–7 μετὰ βουλῆς καὶ ὀρισμοῦ κύρ Σάκη τοῦ Βατάτση ἐστέψασιν διὰ βασιλέαν Ἀλέξιον τὸν υἱὸν του 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 587–8 πρὸς τὸν τρίτον τὴν ἀρχὴν τῆς αὐτοκρατορίας μεταγαγεῖν ἐπείγετο μετὰ πολλοῦ τοῦ πόθου 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 36–7 οἱ Βενετικοί ... μετὰ πονηρίαν, μετὰ φρόνεσιν, μετὰ μεγάλης τέχνης, γιοφύρια ἐποίκασιν ἄνω εἰς τὰ καράβια 16th c./14th c., Chron. Mor. P 540–2 μέχρι + gen./acc.)

“as far as/until”

ἀπὸ γὰρ τὴν ἀνατολὴν μέχρι τοῦ ἡλίου τὴν δύσιν 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 1610 ἀνέταξεν ἐπὶ πολὺ τὴν κρεμαμένην κόρην, μέχρι ποδῶν ἐκ κορυφῆς ὡς ἄκρων τῶν δακτύλων 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 508–9 κοιμάται μέχρι δειλινοῦ βασιλικῶς ἡ κόρη 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2120

φαίνονται μέχρι τὴν σήμερον τὸ τειχόκαστρον καὶ οἱ θεμελοὶ τοὺς πύργους 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 98.15–16

παρά + acc./gen.)

“against/beside”, “contrary to”; παρὰ καιρόν = “out of time, at the wrong time” παρὰ καιρόν ὑποπτεσεῖν θανάτῳ κατεκρίθη 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 569 νὰ μετὰ ὀνειδίξης ἄσκημα, ἀδίκως, παρὰ λόγου 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4175 παρὰ τὴν ρίζαν τοῦ δένδρου ἐκείνου κατημένη

16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1815

ὄφεις μεγάλοι, φοβεροὶ καὶ θῆρες παρὰ φύσιν
16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 190 νεκρὸς νὰ γένηται εὐθύς παρὰ τῆς ὥρας 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 2554 παρά + gen.

“from/by” (an animate source) τοιαῦτα πέπονθα δεινά, κρατάρχα στεφηφόρε, παρὰ μαχίμου γυναικὸς καὶ τρισαλιτηρίας 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 268–9 φωνὴ παρὰ τοῦ δράκοντος εἰς τὸν Ἀκρίτην ἦλθεν 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 1090 παρὰ σαλῶν καὶ ἄτακτων ἀνθρώπων ἐδιδάχθη 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 1565 τὸ τί ... νομεύεται παρὰ τοῦ Καμπανέση 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1909–10 περί + gen./acc.)

“about/concerning” (non-spatial); περί πολλοῦ = “greatly”

- ἡμᾶς δὲ κατηγίζουσιν περί φιλαργυρίας 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 407 ὅς σᾶς ἀφηγήσωμαι περί τὰς ἀμωρίας του 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 619 περί ἀπελάτων ἤκουσε εὐγενικῶν καὶ ἀνδρείων 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 624 οἱ Φράγκοι γὰρ ὡς ἔμαθαν περί τοῦ βασιλέως 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 560 ἐβουλεύτηκα ... νὰ ἐξηγηθῶ περί τῆς ἀκριβῆς χώρας Κύπρου
 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 2.1–3 ὅς ποῦμεν καὶ περί τῶν κουμουνίου τῶν Γενουβίσων καὶ Βενετίκων
 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 198.31–2 ἀγάπα δὲ περί πολλοῦ νέους χαριτωμένους 16th c., Imb. Rim. 17 πρό + gen.

“before” (spatial [early])/temporal/metaphorical); πρό καιροῦ = “before one’s time”, πρό πάντων = “above all”

- τοῦτο πρό πάντων ἄπιστον εἶχον καὶ φλυαρίαν 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoï 17 ὦ πάτερ, πάτερ βασιλεῦ, παῖδας ἀνάνδρους ἔχεις, ἂν πρό πολέμου τρέπωνται καὶ φεύγουσι πρό μάχης 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 112–13 καλὸν μὲν οὖν, ὦ βασιλεῦ, τοῦτο πρό πάντων ἄλλων τὸ μὴ πεσεῖν εἰς μέριμναν ἐρωτικὴν τὸν νοῦ σου 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1029–30 ἔναν ἐυροῦσα πρό πυλῶν ἀπὸ τῶν παιδοπούλων, στήκει καὶ λέγει πρὸς αὐτόν
 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1070–1 πῶς ἐμαράνθη πρό καιροῦ ἀπὸ κλαθμοῦ καὶ πόνου
 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1591 τὰ κοντάρια στένουσιν πρό μάχης νὰ κινήσουν 16th c., Imb. Rim. 460 σύν + dat./gen.)

“(together) with”

- αὐτὸς τῆς ὁδοῦ ἤπτετο ἅμα σύν τοῖς ἀγούροις 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G II.300 ἐξηλθον ἔξωθεν καγὼ θρηνῶν σύν τοῖς ἑτέροις 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 218 τὸ κοράσιο ἐγέλασεν, μεγάλως τὸ ἀποδέχθην καὶ σύν ἐκείνης τῆς χαρᾶς πάλιν γελαῖ ἡ κόρη 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 1120–1 οἱ καβαλλάραι σύν αὐτῷ εὐτύς ἐγονατίσαν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5887 ἐδόκει γὰρ σύν τῷ λευκῷ καὶ ρόδου χάριν ἔχειν
 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 816

ὑπὲρ + acc./gen.)

“above/beyond/past” (spatial [early])/metaphorical), “more than”

- κἂν ὑπὲρ κέδρους ὑψωθῇ καὶ κορυφὰς ὀρέων 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoï 374 ἔχει ... καὶ τόλμην ὑπὲρ ἅπασαν καὶ γνώμην θηριώδη 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 1333–5 ἀνθρωπος ἦτο εὐγενικός, φρόνιμος ὑπὲρ μέτρου 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 161

- ὅπου ἀπιστήσαν εἰς ἔμὲν ὑπὲρ φορῶν γὰρ δύο 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5660 διατὶ ἦτον εὐγενικός κ' εἰς πλοῦτος ὑπὲρ φύσιν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 6298 τὴν ἡδονὴν ὑπὲρ τὸν λόγον ἔχων 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 286 τὰς χάριτας ὑπὲρ αὐτὴν τὴν τῶν Χαρίτων φύσιν 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 810 κρατούμενοι ὁ εἷς ὑπὲρ τοῦ ἄλλου εἰς πίστιν 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 260.10–11

ὑπὲρ + gen.

“for (the purpose of)”, “on behalf of”, “because of”

- θανοῦσα ὄψεσθε μητέρα ὑπὲρ τέκνου 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G I.79 τοὺς μαρτυρήσαντες στερρῶς ὑπὲρ Χριστοῦ τοῦ λόγου 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 288 κλίνειν ἔχω κεφαλὴν ὑπὲρ εὐχῆς μου πρώτης 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 290 αὐτὰς ψυχὰς προδῶσωμεν, τὰ σώματά μας ὅλα ὑπὲρ ἀγάπης ἀδελφοῦ 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOL.], Kallim. 1355–6 ὑπὸ + acc.

“under/beneath” (rare/early)

- δεῦρο ὑπὸ σκιὰν ἀπέλθωμεν τοῦ δένδρου 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G VI.775 μὴ γὰρ ἀπώση με ... ὑπὸ τὴν σὴν προστρέχοντα μετὰ δακρῶν σκέπη 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 9–10 ὑπὸ + gen.

“by” (agent/instrument); ὑπὸ χειρὸς (formulaic)

- ὧν δὲ τὰ μέλη ἅπαντα ... γνωρισθῆναι ὑπὸ τίνος μὴ δυνάμενα ὅλως 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G I.229–30 πῶς κατεκόπτης μελιδὸν ὑπὸ χειρὸς βαρβάρων; 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G I.239 ὡς ὑπὸ βέλους τὰς ψυχὰς ἐτρώθησαν τῷ κάλλει 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G VI.127 ἐστέφθη εἰς τὸν Ἅγιον Νικόλαον ὑπὸ χειρὸς τοῦ φρε Πιέρ Τουμάς 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 92.31–2 ἰδόντας ὁ Μπαγιαζίτης ὅτι νικᾶται ὑπὸ τοῦ ἐκθροῦ του 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 39.23–4 χάριν + gen.

“for (the sake of)”; follows NP in AG

- χάριν αὐτοῦ μὴ θλίβεσαι 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 313 εἰ προσεγγίσει πῶποτε τολμήσει τῷ πυλῶνι χάριν μικρᾶς ἀνακωχῆς καὶ κουφισμοῦ τῶν πόνων 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 452–3 τίνα ζητεῖτε, ἄγουροι, τίνος χάριν θρηνεῖτε; 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G I.218 τούτου χάριν τὸν πόλεμον οὐδαμῶς ἐπησχύνθη 13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G VI.752 τὸ ἕτερον (ἔχω ἀγοράν) ἀπὸ τοῦ Παρασκευᾶ καὶ τοῦ Παγκάλου καὶ Πετρῶνα χάριν ψυχικῆς σωτηρίας ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.26

ἄς δώσουν καὶ τὸν Ἰωάννην ὑπέρπυρον ἂν χάριν κουρτζουβακίου

ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.52

ὄθεν καὶ χάριν τούτου γράφοντες ἀναφέρομεν τῷ σῶ μεγίστῳ κράτει 16th c./14th c., [ANDR. PALAIOLOG.], Kallim. 2274–5 χωρίς + gen./acc.)

“without”

γονεῖς ἀτέκνους καθιστᾷ, τέκνα χωρίς γονέων

13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 35

χωρίς θαλάσσης πνίγεσαι, χωρίς πυρός ἐξάπτεις

13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 145

εἰ δὲ κἀκεῖνος τρέψει με, χωρίς λόγου παντοίου, νὰ λήψετε τὴν ἀδελφὴν μηδὲν ζημιωθέντες

13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G I.122–3

οὐκ ἔκρινα τοῦ ἀπελθεῖν πρὸς αὐτοὺς χωρίς ὅπλων

13th–14th c./12th c., Dig. G VI.521

αὐτοὶ τὸν ἀπεκρίθησαν λόγια χωρίς ἔργων

15th c., Chron. Toc. 1625

ὠμόσαν μερτικὸν θεληματικῶς, καὶ μερτικὸν χωρίς τὸ θέλημάν τους

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 44.29–30

ἔμεινε χωρίς βλάβην ὡς γοιὸν ἦτον

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 68.16

θέλω ... τίποτας νὰ μὴν ποίσης χωρίς τοῦ θελημάτου μου

16th c., Imb. Rim. 167–8

6.2 Phrases with a Governing Adverb

(82) Local, temporal and comitative PPs headed by ἀπό/ἐκ, εἰς/ἐπὶ and μέ may be governed by semantically appropriate adverbs; these combinations in part replace the simple prepositions that were falling out of use (see above). The adverbial element usually precedes the PP, though sometimes follows it.

Such adverbs may also govern a genitive NP directly; clitic (personal) pronouns are regular in this construction, and clitics also appear with certain other adverbs (for examples see below).

6.2.1 Adverb Governing a PP (Headed by ἀπό/ἐκ, εἰς/ἐπὶ, μέ)

With ἀπό and ἐκ

(i) = “above”/“below” (with separation)

ὁ Ἰδρος τοὺς ἐξεβαίνειν ἀπάνω ἀπ’ τὰ λουρίκια

15th c./12th c., Dig. E 41

ἡ λεγόμενη χώρα τῆς Ἰνδίας εὐρίσκεται κάτω ἀπὸ τὴν Αἴγυπτον

17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 30.21–2

(ii) = “outside”/“out of”

ἄρχισεν ἐξεβαίνειν ἔξω ἐκ τὰ νησία, ἀμέριμνα καὶ ἄφοβα, ὥσπερ εἰς τὰ νησία

15th c., Chron. Toc. 155–6

τοῦ ὁποίου δίδει ἀουτοριτάν ... ὅτι νὰ ἤμπορῃ νὰ τήνε ντεφεντέρη ... καὶ ᾧξω ἀπὸ τὴν κούρτην εἰς πᾶσα κρίσιν καὶ ὀφίκιον τῆς αὐτῆς χώρας

1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 30, 49.4–7

- (iii) = “apart from” (non-spatial), “without” ἔσὺ ῥθες κ' ἐπολέμησες χωρὶς ἐκ τὴν βουλή μου 16th c., Imb. Rim. 153 ἐμολόγησεν εἰς τὸν ὄρκον τοῦ πῶς δὲν ἐγίνηκε ἄλλην προσκάμωσιν παρὲς ἀπὸ τὰ δύο μουσκάρια 1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 20, 32.6–7 τσί ὅποῖες ἀτσετάραν καὶ οἱ τρεῖς ἀδελφοί, ὄξω ἀποὺ τὸ Στράτη 1613, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 841, 733.16–17

- (iv) = “after”

ὕστερα ἀπὸ τοῦτα, ἐκαμώθη ὁ σουλτὰν Μεχεμέτης τάχα πῶς θέλει νὰ κάμη ἀγάπην μὲ τὸν βασιλέα 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 83.9–10 ὕστερα ἀπὸ κάμποσα, μία λοιμικὴ ἀσθένεια ... ἔποικε ἐξολόθρεμα καὶ κατὰ τὰ μέρη Σαλόνου 18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 20.1–4

With εἰς/σέ and ἐπὶ

- (i) = “(up)on, above, over”/“below” στραφεῖς οὖν πάλιν ἔπεσον ἐπάνω ἐπὶ τὴν κλίνην 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 204 ὀρκῶ σε κατὰ τοῦ Χριστοῦ κ' εἰς τὴν ψυχὴν σου ἀπάνω 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7543 βουλὴν ἀπῆρα ... ποτὲ νὰ μὴ τὴν στρέψω ὥσὸτι στέκη ἡ ψυχὴ ἐπάνω εἰς τὸ κορμί μου 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1412–13 οἱ Βενετῖκοι ... γιοφύρια ἐποίκασιν ἄνω εἰς τὰ καράβια 16th c./14th c., Chron. Mor. P 540–2 ἦλθαν καταπάνου εἰς τὸ φουστάτον τοῦ Ἀλεξάνδρου 16th c., Diig. Alex. F 14.21–2 (Konstantinopulos) στρώσετε τάβλα ἀπουκάτου εἰς τὴν ἀπιδέα, νὰ φάω, νὰ πιῶ μὲ τὸ Χάροντα 16th c., Nov. II 162.35–6 φάγα το (ψωμί) οἱ γι-ἄθρωποι ἀποπάνω στὸν τάφο τῆς 1642, Crete, PAPADOPOULOS/FLORENDIS 1990: 21, 15.8

νὰ πᾶς νὰ τὸν ἀγκαλιαστεῖς εἰς τὸ δεντρὸ ἀποκάτω 18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. IV.1546

ὁ Σάντσος ἐκαλοκάθισεν ἀπάνω εἰς τὸ γομάρι του 18th c., Don Kis. 47.27–8

- (ii) = “between”/“during” ἀρκεῖ καὶ σώζει νὰ γενῇ εἰρήνη καὶ φιλία ἀνάμεσα γὰρ εἰς τοὺς δύο ἀφέντες τῆς Ρωμανίας 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 2582–3 μέσον εἰς τὰ καμώματα ... ἔτυχε καὶ συνέβηκεν ἀπέθαν<εν ὁ Σπά>τας 15th c., Chron. Toc. 174–5 ἀνάμεσα εἰς τοῦτα ἐσυνέβηκε καὶ ἐτοῦτο 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 39.20–1

- (iii) = “inside”

ἔσὺ ἂν ... καὶ βλέπης ἄλλον κείμενον ἀπέσω εἰς τὸ καμίνιν 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 119–20

- τούς ἐκατέσφαξαν ἀπ' ἔσω εἰς τὰ κρεββάτια 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1542
- τὸν ἐκράτει ὁ βασιλέας εἰς φυλακὴν τοῦ ἀπέσω 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7969
- πηγαίνοντα εἰς τὴν ἀρχιεπισκοπὴν, ἐβγάλαν τὰ πράγματα τὰ ἐπῆραν ..., μέσα στοῦ παλάτιν τῆς ἀρχιεπισκοπῆς 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 20.5–7
- ἡ πανιερότη σου δὲ μοῦ ἔκαμες δύο λόγια ἐκεῖ μέσα στὴ γραφὴ 1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.24–5
- (iv) = “in front of”/“behind”, “before” (temporal)
- στὸν χρόνον ἐκείνον καὶ καιρόν, ὅπου σὲ ἀφηγήθην ἐδῶ ὀπίσω εἰς τὸ βιβλίον τοῦτο ποῦ ἀναγινώσκεις 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7964–5
- βλέποντας ἓνα καντήλι ..., ποῦ ἔκαie ἐμπρὸς στὴν εἰκόνα τοῦ Χριστοῦ 18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 18.20–2
- ἐπεριπατοῦσε καὶ ἔτρωγεν κατόπι εἰς τὸν ἀγάν του 18th c., Don Kis. 47.29
- (v) = “near/beside/around”
- τὰ τριπουτσέτα ἐσύρνασιν γύρωθεν εἰς τοὺς πύργους 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1481
- ἔχοντα καὶ ἦτον κοντὰ τὸ Ἱεροσόλυμαν εἰς τὴν Κύπρον, ἦλθαν πολλοὶ μὲ τὲς γυναῖκες τοὺς καὶ μὴ τὰ παιδιά τοὺς 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 24.7–9
- ἔκαμνε χρεῖαν ὅτι ἐγὼ νὰ σταθῶ σιμᾶ εἰς τὸ κτῖσμα 17th c., Diath. Nikon Metan. 57
- (vi) = “as far as”
- ἐρχόντησαν μέχρι εἰς τὴν γῆν ὡσὰν νὰ ἦσαν βάρκες 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 539
- μέχρι στὴν Ἀνδριανόπολιν ἐσῶσαν κ' ἐκουρσέψαν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 647
- ἐρήμωσαν πολλὰ μέχρι καὶ εἰς τὲς πόρτες 15th c., Chron. Toc. 368
- With μέ = “together with”
- ἀπὸ μανίας μου ρίπτω τὸ ἀνταμοῦ μὲ τὸ σκουτέλλιν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 244
- στέκοντας καὶ ὁ Ἰωσήφ εἰς τὴν Βηθλεέμ ὁμοῦ μὲ τὴν ἁγίαν Θεοτόκον Μαρίαν 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 337.29–30
- εἰς τὴν διάταξίν σου ἀντάμα μὲ τοὺς κληρονόμους σου ... ἃς ἔχη τὸ χαρτί σου (καὶ) τ' ὄνομαν τοῦ δικαστοῦ 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 494–6
- ὁμάδι μὲ τὴν συμβίαν του καὶ μὲ τὴν θυγάτηρ των 1594, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 152, 276.4–5
- τάσσει ὁ αὐτὸς ἀφέντης Τζώρτζης νὰ κάμη τὸ Γιάννη-Τουρκογιάννη ... νὰ σπείρου ὁμάδι μὲ τὸν αὐτὸν κυρ-Νικολὸ τὰ χωράφια 1611, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 729, 632.10–11
- διὰτὶ ἂν εἶναι ἐκεῖνοι ἁμάδι μὲ τοῦ λόγου σου, ἐγὼ δὲν σοῦ ἀποκρίνομαι 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34, 1–2

6.2.2 Adverb + Genitive NP ἕτερον χωράφιν εἰς τὴν Παληρέαν μοδίῳν ἡ', πλησίον τοῦ Πετεάκκα καὶ τοῦ Τορνάρη

ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.27

νὰ ποιήσῃ κι ἄλλον (κάστρον) γύρωθεν ἐκείνων τῶν βουνίων 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 3000 ἀνάμεσα γὰρ τῶν Φραγκῶν καὶ τοῦ ἐδικοῦ του ἀλλάγι ὑπάγαινε

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5063–4 ἐπεὶ ... τοῦ τόπου τὰ συνήθεια ὀρίζουν ὅτι ὁ πρίγκιπας ... σωματικῶς νὰ ἀπέρχεται ἐντὸς τοῦ πριγκιπάτου

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7880–3

ὁ τάφος της εἶνε κάτω τῆς γῆς
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 34.2
μόνον μὲν τορμήσης νὰ τὸν πάρῃς ἔξω τῆς Κύπρου
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 68.24–5

νὰ ἐμποῦσιν μέσον τοῦ ρηγὸς καὶ ἐκείνου νὰ τοὺς ποίσουν ἀγάπην
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 198.2–3

τὰ ποῖα εἶναι καταπρόσωπα τοῦ λουτροῦ, τοῦ κόκκινου
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 6.13

ἐνέβην ὀμπρὸς τοῦ ρηγὸς
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 40.15–16

τὸ ἅγιο ἔργο ... ἔδωκε ἀφορμὴ ἐμᾶς ... νὰ φανερωθοῦμε ἔμπροσθεν τῆς ἐκλαμπρότη(ς) σας
1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 33.3–5

ὥς δὲ ἐφθάσαμεν ἔμπροσθεν τῶν θυρῶν
16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 108.13 εἰς πᾶσαν αὐτῆς ὑπόθεσιν καὶ διαφορὰν ἔμπροσθεν τῆς ἐκλαμπροτάτης ἡμῶν Αὐθεντίας
1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 30, 49.4–5 ἐμάζωξε ὅλα του τὰ φουσσᾶτα καὶ ἐδιάβη καταπάνω τοῦ Μάρκου κράλη, ἀφεντὸς τῆς Βουλγαρίας

17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 29.11–12

ἐπῆγες καὶ κόντρα τῆς φύσεώς σου νὰ μὴν λυπηθῇς τὰ παιδία σου
17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.29–30

ὄντε ξημερώνει, ἄμε ὀμπροστὰς τοῦ βασιλέως
17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 42.5–6

+ Genitive Clitic

πῶς ἦπλωσας ἐπάνω μου;
14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 145

ὀργὴν νὰ ἔχῃ ἀπάνου του ὅπου ποτὲ ἀγάπη θελήσῃ μὲ τὸν Πρίαμον νὰ ἔχῃ μίαν ἡμέραν
16th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1467–9 app. crit. (V) ἐξάγκωνα τοὺς φέρετε δεμένους ἔμπροσθὲ μου 15th c./14th–15th c., Achil. L 367

παρακαλῶ σε νὰ ποίσωμεν δῆμμαν μεσὸν μας
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.17–18

εἰς τὸ ἔμπα του εἰς τὸ καστέλλιν, ἐσφαλίσαν τὲς πόρτες καταπρόσωπά του
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 36.20–38.1

τὰ πρόβατά του δὲ θέλει χόρτα σήμερο νὰ φᾶν ἀπὸ σιμά του 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Panor. I.33–4

ὅλα τὰ τερπνὰ τοῦ κόσμου ἦσαν ὀμπρὸς του ὡσὰν ἕνας βρῶμος
17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 47.15–16

ὕστερα ἦρθαν καταπάνου τους βασιλικά στρατεύματα
18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 22.13–14

Non-Spatial Adverbs + Genitive Clitic τὸν ἔχω εὐκαιρητὴν ἐκεῖνον τὸν γονέα ὅπου διδάξῃ γράμματα ποτέ του τὸ παιδί του

13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 208–9

ποτέ μου δὲν ἐζήλωσα κακὸν διὰ νὰ λαλήσω εἰς πάθη στέκω πάντα μου κι εἰς κόλαση μεγάλη 16th c./15th c., Om. Nekt. Vas. 39
17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Panor. I. 216

ἐπειδὴ καὶ ἡ συνβίαν του καὶ νὰ ἐπῆγεν νὰ ἐπουρκόταζε κρυφά του τῆς θυγατέρας της
1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 743, 1013.4–5

7 Coordination and Apposition

7.1 Coordination

7.1.1 Sentences and Clauses

(83) The linking together of (at least potentially) independent sentences within a narrative by means of initial καί is common in vernacular texts.

Treatment of such cases as a succession of autonomous sentences rather than a series of conjoined main clauses within a single sentence is essentially arbitrary, partly reflecting the manuscript tradition and partly the inclinations of editors.

The core meaning is simply additive (“and then/next”), though the context may invite more specific readings involving causation, consequence, etc.

Καί καθά πωρνον ἐπήγαιεν εἰς τὴν Ἀγίαν Σοφίαν. Καί ἐγρίκαν λειτουργίαν. Καί τότε ἐκαβαλλίκευγεν. Καί ἐπήγαιεν εἰς τὴν ρήγαιναν. Καί ἡ ρήγαινα ἐδείχνε του πολλὴν ἀγάπην.
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 50.2–5

Ἦτον ἐνὸς βασιλέως υἱός. Καί ἐν μιᾷ τῶν ἡμερῶν ἠθέλησε νὰ ὑπάγῃ εἰς τὸν λουτρὸν νὰ λούσῃ τὸ κορμί του. Ἦτον παχὺς εἰς τὸ κορμί του, ὁμοῦ καὶ χοντρός, ὥστε ἀπὸ τοῦ πάχους δὲν ἐφαινόντεσαν τὰ ἀρχίδια αὐτοῦ. Καί ὁ λουτριάρης, ἔστοντας νὰ ἰδῇ ἔτοῦτο, ὅτι κακὸν ἦτον τοῦτο τὸ πάθος, ἔκλαιεν αὐτόν.
16th c./15th c., Syndipas 116.10–14

Καί ἐμαζώκτησαν πολλοὶ καὶ ἀρματώθησαν καὶ ἐδιάβησαν καὶ ἐστάθησαν κοντὰ στὸν ποταμὸν λεγόμενον Σάβα. Καί ἀκατερούσανε τὸν σουλτὰν Μουράτη, ὅπου ἐρχέτονε μὲ πολὺ φουσσᾶτο καὶ ἔσυρνε κοντὰ του καὶ τοὺς δύο του υἱούς.
17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.14–17

(84) Two or more main clauses may be conjoined with (καί ...) καί “(both ...) and ...”, as may two or more subordinate clauses of the same type/with the same function; these are normally governed by the same conjunction if one is present.

Since subject pronouns are regularly omitted in LMedG/EMG unless contrastive/emphatic, it is often impossible to determine whether we are dealing with coordination of complete clauses with missing subjects, e.g. [_S [_S (she) came] and [_S (she) saw] and [_S (she) conquered]], or coordination of VPs that share a subject, e.g. [_S (she) [_{VP} [_{VP} came] and [_{VP} saw] and [_{VP} conquered]]]. Ambiguous examples are therefore divided somewhat arbitrarily between the two possibilities (i.e. treated as clausal coordination immediately below, and as VP coordination in 7.1.3).

In cases other than those involving conjoined clauses/VPs the default position adopted here is that we are dealing with coordinated sub-clausal constituents of the relevant type (e.g. AdjPs [[tall] and [slim]] in she was tall and slim etc.; see 7.1.3 for LMedG/EMG examples), even though competing analyses involving conjoined VPs with verb ellipsis [[was tall] and [(was) slim]] or conjoined clauses with omission of subject and verb [[she was tall] and [(she was) slim]] are often possible.

Ντζανέτα τὴν ὠνόμασαν, κι [ὅσον ἐκαταστάθη κ' ἦλθεν τοῦ νόμου ἡλικίας κ' ἐγίνετο γυναικᾶ], ἄντραν τῆς ἐδώκασιν μισὶρ Νικόλαον ἐκείνον. 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8032–4 ἔπιεν ὁ πτωχὸς τὸν οἶνον καὶ ἐλησμόνησεν τὰ χρέη του. 16th c./?, Paroim. H 50

Ἦτον παχὺς εἰς τὸ κορμί του, ὁμοῦ καὶ χοντρός (sc. ἦτον), ὥστε ἀπὸ τοῦ πάχους δὲν ἐφαινόnteσαν τὰ ἀρχίδια αὐτοῦ. 16th c./15th c., Syndipas 116.11–13

ἐπὶ τῆς βασιλείας Ἰωάννου Κομνηνοῦ ... ἦτον ἓνας ὀνόματι Μιχαὴλ Δούκας Γλαβᾶς, καὶ ἐτίμησέ τον ὁ βασιλεὺς πρωτοστράτορα καὶ ἔδωκέν τον τὸ φοσσάτον ὅλον τὸ ῥωμαϊκὸν καὶ ἐμπιστεύθη του καὶ ἀπέστειλεν αὐτὸν κατὰ Περσῶν ἡγουν τῶν Κιζιλμπάσιδων. 1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 15.3–5 ὁ ὁποῖος Λάζαρος ἔκαμε τέσσαρες ἡμέρες εἰς τὸν Ἄδην, καὶ ... ἐξηγήθη εἰς τέσσαρα βιβλία· καὶ ἰδόντας αὐτὰ οἱ ἀπόστολοι καὶ οἱ πατέρες, ἔκρυψαν τὰ τρία καὶ δὲν ἠύρισκονται· τὸ δὲ πρῶτον βιβλίον τοῦτο ἔναι εἰς τὴν Ρώμην· καὶ ἤκουσα ἐκ τὸν Σάντα Κροῦζε τὸν γαρδηνάλε, ὅτι πᾶσα ὁποῦ νὰ γένῃ νέος καρδηνάλες, τοῦ τὸ δίδουνε, καὶ τὸ διαβάζει μία φορά, καὶ ἄλλον ἄνθρωπον δὲν τὸ δείχνουν. 1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 11, 19.1

ἐκόπηκε τὸ μιανότατο χέρι του καὶ ἔπεσε νεκρὸ ... καὶ μεγάλος σεισμὸς ἐγενέθηκε. Ἐτότες ἐφάνηκε ἓνας καβαλάρης ... καὶ ἄρχισε νὰ σφάζῃ τοὺς πειράτες καὶ τοὺς ἐπῆρε κυνηγῶντας ὅξω ἀπὸ τὸ Γαλαξειδί ..., καὶ ἐκεῖ ἔγινε ἄφαντος ἀπὸ τὴν γῆ. Ἐτότες οἱ Γαλαξειδιῶτες κατατρεγμένοι ἐπήγασιν καὶ ἐχτίσασιν σπίτια στὰ τριγύρω νησόπουλα. 18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 18.24–19.8

Οἱ ἱατροὶ ἐτράβηξαν τὰ σαλιβάρια των μουλαρίων, καὶ ἐστάθηκαν καὶ ἔμειναν ἔκφοβοι, [ἓνα μὲν βλέποντας τὸ ἦθος τοῦ δὸν Κισότη καὶ ἄλλο ἀκούοντας τὰ λόγια ὁποῦ τοὺς ἔλεγε], καὶ τὸν ἀποκρίθηκαν. 18th c., Don Kis. 50.3–6

(85) The enclitic (“second-position”) connective δέ “and/but” is also used to link both independent sentences in a discourse and clauses with parallel function in a single sentence.

Between independent sentences the choice between additive and contrastive meaning is context-dependent; between clauses in a single sentence the meaning is more often contrastive.

Δέ is particularly frequent in the combination εἰ δὲ (μὴ) “and/but if (not)” (the negative version is also used as a lexicalized phrase = “otherwise”).

Δέ may also be combined with the definite article in pronominal sense, e.g. ὁ δέ “and/but he” etc., which may in turn be clarified by an appositive NP, e.g. ὁ δὲ [ὁ X] etc.; in rather more literary texts, ὁ δέ etc. is sometimes paired contrastively with a preceding ὁ μὲν etc. “the one ... ((while) the other ...)”.

ὑπᾶτε, παραλάβετε, ἀμόλυντον κοράσιον· ἐγὼ δὲ διὰ τὰ κάλλη της καὶ τὴν πολλὴν εὐγένειαν ἀρνοῦμαι καὶ τὴν πίστι μου καὶ τὴν πολλὴν μου δόξαν

15th c./12th c., Dig. E 174–6

ὁ ἀδελφός μου ... ἐπῆγεν, τὸν Ἑρμόναν ἀνέδραμεν καὶ τὸν Ζυγὸν ἐπίασεν, τὴν δὲ Ἀρμενίαν ἐξήλειπεν, πολὺν κακὸν ἐποίησεν 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 261–3 εἰ δὲ ἀγαπᾷς τὴν περισσά, τέκνον, ὥσάν μοῦ λέγουν, ἔπαρε καὶ αὐτὴν μετὰ ἐσέναν 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 282–3 εἰ δὲ περάσῃ ὁ καιρός ... κι οὐδὲν ἀπέλθῃ ἐδῶ κανεῖς τὴν ἀφεντίαν νὰ ἐπάρῃ, θέλω γὰρ ... νὰ μείνῃς κύριος ἀπ' ἐμοῦ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1883–6 ὅτι ἐκ τοὺς μῆνας δώδεκα ... νὰ ἐκπληρώνη ὁ κατὰ εἷς τοὺς τέσσαρους γὰρ μῆνας εἰς γαρνιζοῦν καθολικὴν ... * τοὺς δὲ τοὺς ἄλλους τέσσαρους νὰ ἀπέρχεται εἰς φουσᾶτο, ... τὸ δὲ τὸ τρίτον τοῦ χρόνου ... ὀφείλει ὁ προνοιάτορας νὰ ἐνὶ ὅπου θέλει. 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 1995–2001 καὶ ἐμείναν δ' σταυροί. Τὸν δὲ σταυρὸν τοῦ Χριστοῦ ἀφῆκεν τὸν εἰς τὰ ἅγια τῶν ἀγίων μὲ πολλὺν χρυσίον καὶ μαργαριτάριν, καὶ πέτρες. 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 6.7–9

Ἡ δὲ ἡ ρήγαινα ἐκάτζειν εἰς τὸν ἡλιακὸν εἰς τὸ διάβαν τοὺς καβαλλάριδες 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 50.12–13

ὁ κύριος οἶδεν ὅτι τῶρα τὰ ἐγροίκησα τοῦτα τὰ λογία, ὁ δὲ ὁ σουλτάνος μὲ πολλὴν χαρὰν καὶ πολλὴν ἀγάπην ἐστερέωσεν καὶ ἐβεβαίωσεν τὴν αὐτὴν ἀγάπην. 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 294.9–12

Ἀνισῶς καὶ δὲν ἡξεύρη τίποτε, ἃς πάγῃ ἀκαταζήτητος, εἰ δὲ καὶ ξεύρη, νὰ τοῦ δώσουν θάνατον. 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 300.4–6 ἀπὸ τὸν φόβον ἐπιάννασιν τὰ μαρμαρένα πιλερία ..., οἱ δὲ κεῖνοι ... καὶ κόββαν τὰ χέργια τους, καὶ ἐπέφταν καὶ σκοτώνουνταν. 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 314.4–8 καὶ τοὺς μὲν ἐφουρκίσαν, τοὺς δὲ ἐκόψαν τὲς μοῦττες τους 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 674.14 ἐστείλανε τὸν τζαούση μαντατοφόρο εἰς τὸν Μπαγιαζίτη, ὅτι νὰ δώσῃ τὰ κάστρη ..., εἶτε δὲ καὶ δὲν τὰ ἐπιστρέψῃ, τὸν ἔχει διὰ ἐκθρόν 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 38.7–9

NOTES

- (i) There are many examples of elliptical clausal conjunction involving ὡσαύτως/ὥσπερ/καθὼς καὶ “(just) as also ...”, where the connection is properly comparative/equative rather than simply additive, though the meaning slips easily into “and also” in many cases:

οὐκ ἔμπορῶ ἀπόκρισιν νὰ ποιήσω ἄνευ βουλῆς καὶ θέλημα ... τοῦ ρῆγα, ... ὡσαύτως (οὐκ ἔμπορῶ ἀπόκρισιν νὰ ποιήσω ἄνευ βουλῆς καὶ θέλημα) καὶ τῆς ρηγαινας 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 242–6

[τὸ δίκαιον τῆς ἀρχόντισσας μαντάμα Μαργαρίτας νὰ τὸ κρατήσετε καλὰ] [ὥσπερ (νὰ κρατήσετε καλὰ) καὶ τὸ τῆς κούρτης] 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7545–6

ἐτοῦτα μὲν εἶπεν ὁ ἀστρολόγος, καθὼς πρωτύτερας (εἶπεν) καὶ ὁ Βαλαάμ 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 38.26

- (ii) Coordination between two clauses (with or without ellipsis) may also be achieved through the use of ὅχι μόνο(ν) ... ἀλλά/ἀμή/μᾶλλον δὲ καὶ ... “not only ... but also ...”:

ἐπλάκωσεν τὸν λαὸν ὅλον καὶ οὐχὶ μόνον (ἐπλάκωσεν τὸν λαὸν ὅλον) ὑπὸ ἀνέμου, ἀμή καὶ (ἐπλάκωσεν τὸν λαὸν ὅλον) ὑπὸ νεροῦ, ὅτι ἐξήχυσεν ὁ ποταμὸς καὶ ἔπνιξεν χιλιάδας ν’ καὶ β’ 1326, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 41, 93.7–9 καὶ ἔναι ἐντροπὴ μεγάλη· καὶ ὅχι μόνον ἐντροπὴν, μᾶλλον δὲ καὶ ζημία
 15th c., Chron. Toc. 2773–4

- (iii) Absence of formal coordination (“asyndeton”) is a standard option between all but the last pair of a series of three or more coordinated clauses, though it is not uncommon, especially in verse, for coordination to be left unmarked throughout:

ἦμουν παιδὶν, ἐγήρασα, πολὺν διήλθον κόσμον, σοφῶν ἀρχαίων ἤκουσα, πολλὰς ἀνέγων βίβλους, πάντων ἐν πείρᾳ γέγονα, πᾶσαν ὁδὸν ἐξεῦρον, πλάσματα πάλιν μυθικὰ καὶ λόγους γραϊδίων ἠκριβώσαμεν
 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 1–5 πίνει τα καὶ ἐρεύγεται, κερνοῦν τον ἄλλον ἕνα, καὶ παρευθὺς ὑπόδημαν ἐγείρει καὶ πετσώνει 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 123–4 θέλω νὰ ἀφηγήσωμαι περὶ τὸν Μέγαν Κύρην, ... ὅπου ἦτον δοῦκας Ἀθηνῶν, καλὸς ἀφέντης ἦτον 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7958–60 ἂν στραφῇ εἰς τὴν Φραγκίαν, ἂν οὐδὲν ποιήσῃ ἔργον νὰ μείνῃ εἰς τὴν Ρωμανίαν νὰ εὕρῃ οἰκονομίαν του, ὅλοι τὸν θέλουσι γελαῖ, μέμφεσται κι ὄνειδίζει
 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8183–5 εἰς τὸ καράβι σύντομα ἐσέβηκεν, ὑπάγει ... τόσα ἔπλευσαν, τόσα ἔποικαν, φθάνουν τὴν Σαλαμῖναν 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1383–5 ἔλα μέσα, ἰδές με 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 331.5

- (iv) When, after a negative proposition, a conjoined clause is also negated, οὐδέ/μηδέ “and not” are regularly used, though disjunctive οὔτε/μήτε “nor” are sometimes used instead, especially in more popular registers (the two meanings are barely distinct in negative environments); there is also some evidence in later texts of uncertainty regarding the choice of οὐδέ/οὔτε vs. μηδέ/μήτε:

μὴ οὖν ἀποχωρίσης τους, μηδ’ ἀποπέμψης μᾶλλον 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 12 οὐκ εἶδα εἰς τὸ δακτύλιν μου κρικέλλιν δακτυλίδιν, οὐδὲ βραχιόλιν μὲ ἔφερες ποτὲ νὰ τὸ φορέσω 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 51–2 ἐκείνοι οὐδὲν τοῦ ἐποίκασιν τίποτε πονηρίαν, οὔτε ἀνυπολήπτῃσαν τὸν βασιλέαν κἀνόλω 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5266–7 θάνατον οὐκ ἐψήφησα ποτὲ εἰς τὴν ζωὴν μου, οὐδ’ ἔλεγα [νὰ χωριστῇ ψυχὴ ἐκ τὸ κορμίν μου] 16th c./15th c., Om. Nekt. Vas. 57–8 οἱ μάμμες ἔστεκαν ἔξω ἀπὸ τὸ σπήλαιον καὶ δὲν ἤβλεπαν, μήτε ἤμποροῦσαν νὰ σεβοῦν μέσα εἰς τὸ σπήλαιον ἀπὸ τὴν πολλὴν λάμψιν
 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.24–6

τὰ πάθη της δε γνώθουσι, οὐδε τὰ κουρφά τση ἐνιῶσα καὶ λέν πῶς τό 'χει φυσικὸ ν' ἄδυναμίσῃ τόσα 18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. III.35–6 τῆς κόρης δέν της ἄγγιξεν, οὐδε ἐπείραξεν την 17th c., PETRITSIS, Dig. O 2373

- (v) For the “subordinating” use of the conjunction καί, see Chapter 2, Rules (23), (27) and (29) (under Verbs of Aspectual Specification, NOTE (ii)).

7.1.2 Contrastive and Disjunctive Clausal Coordination

(86) To emphasize a clearly contrastive/adversative connection between sentences or clauses (= “but”, “however”) ἀλλά, ἀμ(μ)ή/ἀμ(μ)έ/μιά, ὅμως and πλήν are used; ὅμως only links independent sentences, but the remaining conjunctions are also used to connect clauses within a sentence.

ἀμμή δεσμὰ καὶ βάσανα καὶ φυλακὰς καὶ πύργους, Βαράγγους ἀ[λαλά]ζοντας καὶ ὁ φόβος ἐξυπνᾷ σε 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 169–70

Ὅμως ἐγὼ ἀπὸ τοῦ Θεοῦ τὴν χάριν καὶ τὴν δόξαν οὐδὲν εὐρίσκω εἰς ἐμέν ... τοσοῦτην ἀδιάκρισιν, νὰ μὴ τὸ ἐγνωρίζω ὅτι 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 947–9 μὴ ἀκριβευτῇ, ὀκνήσῃ το, μὴ ὅλως τὸ ἀμελέσῃ, ἀλλὰ ἅς βιαστῇ μὲ προθυμίαν τὸν τόπον νὰ κερδίσῃ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4566–7

Ἀλλὰ ἀφότου ἄλλαξεν τοῦ πρίγκιπος ἡ ἀφεντία, καὶ ἤλθαμεν στὴν ἀφεντίαν τοῦ ἀφέντη μας τοῦ ρῆγα, ἐὰν εἴχαμεν τὴν δύναμιν νὰ ἐποίησαμεν τὸ ὁμάτῳ! 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7908–10

Ὅμως ἅς λείπουν τὰ πολλά, ἐὰν ἔν' τὸ θέλημά σου 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7916 τίποτε δὲν σας θέλουν ὠφελῆσαι (τῶν Φραγγῶν τὰ λόγια), πλήν θέλουν σας χαλάσει, καθὼς ἐχαλάσασιν καὶ τοὺς θεσσαλονικαίους 1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.15–16

Ὅμως τοῦτο θέλομεν τὸ σκεφθῇ ἀντάμα, καὶ θέλομεν ποιήσῃ τὸ κάλλιον 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.5–6

δὲν σᾶς τὸ ἔγραψα ὅτι πῶς νὰ πορνεύετε, ἀμὴ διὰ νὰ μὴν ἀπελπίζεται τινὰς κἂν ἀμαρτωλὸς πολλὰ καὶ ἂν ἔναι, ἀλλὰ νὰ σπουδάξῃ νὰ κἀνὴ ἐλεημοσύνην 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 415.21–4

Ὅμως δὲν διδοῦμεν ἀφορμὴν τινος καὶ σκούζαν νὰ μὲν δίδῃ ψυχικά, ἐλεημοσύνην, ἀποὺ ζῶντά του, ἀμμὲ νὰ τὰ φυλάγῃ ἀποθανόντα του 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 499–501 δὲν ἦτον φῶς καθαρὸν, ἀμὴ ἦτον ὥσάν ἀντάρρα

16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 107.30–1

Μὰ εἶν' τὸ πρεπτό ... νὰ σᾶσε φανερώσω ποιοὺς εἶμαι 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Panor. Prol. Apoll. 9–10 δὲν εἶδα νὰ σταθῇ τὸν ἥλιο νὰ μ' ἀκούσῃ, μὰ εἶδα χαράκια καὶ δεντρὰ πολλὰ ν' ἀνασπαστοῦσι, νὰ φεύγῃ 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Panor. I.73–5

Ἀμ' ὅσῃν ὦραν ἤβλεπεν ἐκεῖνο ποὺ τὴν κρίνει, οἱ λογισμοὶ κ' οἱ πόνοι τῆς τσῆ κἀναν καλοσύνη, μὰ σὰν τὸν εἶχε στερευτῇ, περίσσα ἐτυραννᾶτο κι ὅλη ἐξαναμαλάσσετο κι ὅλη ἐξαναγεννᾶτο 18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. III.19–22

Πλὴν φαίνεται τῶνε πὼς εἶναι μίαν σκλαβίαν νὰ εἶναι εἰς τὴν ὑποταγὴν τοῦ κοινοβίου
1615, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 6, 174.12–13

(87) Disjunctive clausal coordination is expressed positively by (εἴτε ...) εἴτε ... / (ἢ ...) ἢ ... “(either ...) or ...” (also οὐ in Cyprus, γή/δ in Crete, ὄβερ in the Cyclades etc.), and negatively by οὐτε ... οὐτε ... / μήτε ... μήτε ... “neither ... nor ...”; οὐδέ/μηδέ “and not” may be substituted when the sense is clearly additive (cf. NOTE (iv) above), though this also occurs occasionally when the meaning is disjunctive.

For the single use of οὐτε/μήτε, see again NOTE (iv) above.

In later texts there is evidence of uncertainty regarding the choice between οὐ and μή in these elements.

When forms of θέλω are contrasted in formulaic expressions of the type “(whether I/you) like it or not”, the conjunction is normally omitted (θέλεις ... θέλεις ... can be used to mean simply “whether ... or ...”):

θέλω οὐ θέλω γίνομαι καὶ τὸ μωροῦ σαμάριν 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 558 ἐννόμους δὲ γάμους πληροῦσιν οἱ Ρωμαῖοι, ὅταν εἶναι ὁ ἄνθρωπος χρόνων ἰδ’ καὶ ἄνωθεν, ὁμοίως καὶ ἡ γυναῖκα νὰ εἶναι χρόνων ἰβ’ καὶ ἄνωθεν, θέλεις αὐτεξούσιοι θέλεις ὑπεξούσιοι ca. 1300, Cyprus, MARUHN 1981: 238.400–2

Positive

ἦντεστάθην, ὅταν τὸ ἤκουσα εἴτε ἐθεώρουν τινὰς, ὅτι ἐκρατοῦσαν το 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 314.5–6 τὸ μεγαλογράμματον ἱμάτιν τὸ κνηκάτον ἢ χάρισον ἢ πώλησον ἢ δὸς ὅπου κελεύεις 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 60–1 ἐκεῖνον τὸ πράγμαν εἶχάν το πάρειν, οὐ εἶχάν το σύρειν εἰς τὴν γῆν τοὺς Σαρακηνοὺς 15th c./13th c., Assizes B 424.9
ἄσ’ τα αὐτὰ τὰ φαγητὰ καὶ δεῖς νὰ μοῦ βοηθήσης, γῆ ἀποθαμένος βρίσκομαι 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. III.111–12
νὰ ἔρθει εἰς τέρμενο μέρες τρεῖς ἐρχόμενες νὰ τὰ ἐμολογήσει, ὃ νὰ τὰ φέρουσι στὸν τόπο τῶς 1664, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 7, 417.16–17 ἀνίσως καὶ λάβῃ τὰ ἄνωθεν γρόσα καλά, ὄβερ καὶ τὰ ἄνωθεν γρόσα δὲν λάβῃ 1686, Mykonos, KATSOUROS 1948: 8, 21.6–7

NOTE

- (i) In examples where the first clause contains an imperative and the second an indicative verb, such as the Katzourbos example above (ἄσ’ τα αὐτὰ τὰ φαγητὰ καὶ δεῖς νὰ μοῦ βοηθήσης, γῆ ἀποθαμένος βρίσκομαι), the disjunctive element implies “if you don’t (do as I ask)”, and may often be translated “or else”.

Negative

ὀμνέω ... ὅτι νὰ μὴν δὲν ἔχετε κανέναν φόβον ... μήτε ἐκκλησίας νὰ χαλάσωμεν, μήτε μασγίδι νὰ ποιήσωμεν 1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.17–22

νὰ μὴ μπορῇ νὰ τῶνε πάρη περισσότερο ἀποὺ τὰ κζ' μουζούρια τὸ στάρι ὁ ἄνωθεν ἀφέντης Νικολός, οὐδὲ κείνος (νὰ [μὴ] μπορῇ νὰ τῶνε πάρη περισσότερο) οὐδὲ τὰ παιδιά του (νὰ [μὴ] μποροῦν νὰ τῶνε πάρουν περισσότερο)

1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 5, 28.10–12

εἰ μὲν ... καὶ ἀποθάνην τὸ παιδί ... καὶ μείνῃν ἄκληρη, νὰ μὴν ἡμπορεῖ ἀπὸ τὴν πουργὴν ... μήτε νὰ πουλήσῃν, μήτε νὰ χαρίσῃν, μήτε νὰ πουργοδοτήσῃν, μήτε διὰ τὴν ψυχὴν της νὰ κάμῃ [παρὰ μόνον δύο πρόθεσες νὰ δώνῃ διὰ τὴν ψυχὴν της]

1680, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 31, 180.14–21

ἐπειδὴ καὶ ἡ εὐμορφία εἰς μίαν τιμημένην γυναῖκα εἶναι ὥσάν τὴν μακρινὴν φωτίαν ἢ ὥσάν ἓνα κοπτερόν σπαθί, ὅπου μήτε αὐτὸ κόπτει μήτε ἐκείνη καίει ὅποιον δὲν πλησιάσει αὐτά

18th c., Don Kis. 91.25–8

τόσον ἐκαταπίεσθη πὼς ἐκείνοι ἦτον γίγαντες, ὅπου οὐτε ἄκουε τὲς φωνὲς τοῦ ὀπλοφόρου του, μήτε τοὺς ἐγνώριζε, ἀγκαλὰ καὶ νὰ εἶχε πλησιάσει

18th c., Don Kis. 45.20–2

7.1.3 Other Constituents

(88) Sub-clausal constituents of all kinds may be coordinated in similar ways, provided that the elements involved are of the same syntactic category.

With predicative expressions (e.g. after the verb “to be”), however, it is not necessary for the coordinated elements to be categorically identical; the functional equivalence is sufficient.

As noted above, it may be difficult to decide in particular cases whether we are dealing with true constituent coordination or coordination of clauses with ellipsis in the second conjunct.

Additive ((καὶ ...) καὶ ... “(both ...) and ...”)

NP Coordination

οὐκ ἡμπορῶ ἀπόκρισιν νὰ ποιήσω ἄνευ [βουλῆς] καὶ [θέλημα τοῦ ἀφέντου μου τοῦ ρῆγα], ὅπου ἔχω [ἀφέντην] καὶ [γαβρόν]

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 243–5

ὀρκῶ ... [ἔσεν] κι [ὅσοι καθεύδονται μετὰ σὲ ἐδῶ εἰς τὴν κούρτην], τὸ δίκαιον τῆς ἀρχόντισσας ... νὰ τὸ κρατήσετε καλὰ

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7543–6

ἐγεννήθηκεν ἀπὸ μίαν παρθένον ὁ Υἱὸς τοῦ Θεοῦ, ὁποῖος ἔναι αὐθέντης [τοῦ οὐρανοῦ] καὶ [τῆς γῆς] καὶ [τῆς θαλάσσου] καὶ [πάσης κτίσεως]

16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.1–3

VP Coordination

[κούρση ἡπήρασιν πολλά], [ἐπίασαν καὶ ἀνθρώπους], κ' [ἔστράφησαν ἐσώθησαν εἰς τὴν Ἀγίαν Μαύραν]

15th c., Chron. Toc. 166–7

[πέψε φέρε ἀπὸ τοὺς φίλους σου καὶ ἀπὲ τὴν πίστιν σου καλοὺς καβαλλάρους ψουμάτους] καὶ [ποῖσε ἀβιτζιάλιδες]

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.24–5

AdjP Coordination

- ὡς ἦτον [μέγας] κ' [εὐγενής] κ' εἶχε πολὺ λογάριν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8072 τῇ δευτέρᾳ τῇ ιδ' μαρτίου ατοδ' Χριστοῦ ... οἱ [ἐντιμώτατοι] καὶ [φρονιμώτατοι] ἀνθρώποι ... ἦλθαν ἔμπροσθεν τοῦ ρηγός
 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 504.40–506.4

PP Coordination

- ὀρκῶ σε [κατὰ τοῦ Χριστοῦ] κ' [εἰς τὴν ψυχὴν σου ἀπάνω] ... τὸ δίκαιον τῆς ἀρχόντισσας ... νὰ τὸ κρατήσετε καλὰ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7543–6 μοίρασε τὸ ρηγάτον σου [εἰς αὐτόν σου] καὶ [εἰς αὐτόν τους]
 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.26

Coordination of Predicative Expressions

- ὦμοσε ὁ μπάιλος ... καὶ τότε οἱ λίζιοι ἀνθρώποι, νὰ εἶναι [δοῦλοι] καὶ [πιστοὶ ...]
 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7930–1

NOTES

- (i) The AG combination ... τε καὶ ... “both ... and ...” is confined almost entirely to the poetic formula/cliché μικροὶ τε καὶ μεγάλοι “young and old”:

βουλὴν ἀπῆραν ἐνομοῦ μικροὶ τε καὶ μεγάλοι 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 906

- (ii) The content of an expression may be rendered more precise by appending a “both-and” specification, cf. “the human beings, both men and women”; this is common in legal texts, where the relevant meaning is often expressed in the form ἔτσι/τόσον (καὶ) ..., ὥσάν καὶ ... “just as ..., so also ...”:

καὶ ἀνὶ φυτέψη καὶ ἄλλα νὰ κάνου καρπὸ, [ἔτσι ἀπὸ τὰ παλιά] [ὥσάν καὶ τὰ νιά], νὰ παίρνη <ὁ> ἀφεντότοπος τὰ μισὰ καὶ ὁ κοπιαστής τὰ ἄλλα μισὰ, [ἔτσι καὶ ἀπὸ τὸ ἀμπέλι] [ὥσάν καὶ ἀπὸ τὸ χωράφι]

1596, Naxos, KARABOULA/RODOLAKIS 2012/13: 154, 279.10–13 ξεκαθαρίζοντας ἀκομὴ ἂν ἔναι καὶ κιανένα καιρὸ δὲν τοῦ θέλασι δώσει τὸ στάρι, νὰ μπορῇ, ἃ δὲν εὖρη ἄλλο τίβοτας νὰ πλερωθῇ, νὰ πιάνη τὰ ὀζά τῶνε, [ἔτσι χοντρά] [ὥσάν καὶ λιανά] 1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 5, 28.14–16 ὁποῖος ἤθελεν ἀλληλοήσει ἀποῦ τσι δύο, τόσον ὁ ἔνας ὥσάν καὶ τὸν ἄλλο, νὰ μπορῇ νὰ δίδη τοῦ ἄλλοῦ ὑπέρπυρα ρ'

1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 8, 30.11–12

If a negative meaning is required, οὔτε/μήτε ... οὔτε/μήτε ... “neither ... nor ...” are used, with some fluctuation between initial οὐ- and μή- (see under Disjunctive constituent coordination (negative) below):

ἦτον μέλας, ἦγουν μελαψός, μήτε [τόσον μαῦρος] μήτε [τόσον ἄσπρος] 16th c., Vios Aisop. K 147.10

τώρα δὲν εὐρίσκομαι νὰ ἔχω τίβοτις, μήτε σολδία, μήτε ροῦχα 1643, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1960: 3, 3.10

- (iii) When the sense is clearly negative-additive (“and not”) οὐδέ/μηδέ are normally used, though there are overlaps with οὔτε/μήτε “nor” (cf. NOTE (iv) above and Disjunctive constituent coordination (negative) below):

ἤξευρε, ἀθλία, ὅτι ὁ υἱός μας δὲν ἀπέθανεν οὐδὲ ἀφανίσθη οὐδὲ ἐσάπη εἰς τὸν τάφον
16th c., PAPA-LAVR., Diigisis (Meteoron) 106.31–2

- (iv) Constituent coordination, like clausal coordination, may be asyndetic:

[ἔδραμεν] [ἐκούρσευσεν χωρία καὶ κατοῦνες διὰ θαλάσσου καὶ ξηρᾶς] ... κ' [ἔστράφησαν] [ἔσώθησαν εἰς τὴν Ἀγίαν Μαύραν] 15th c., Chron. Toc. 163–7 [πέψε] [φέρε] ἀπὸ τοὺς φίλους σου καὶ ἀπὲ τὴν πίστιν σου καλοὺς καβαλλάρους ψουμάτους 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 22.24–5 νὰ εἶναι ὁ ἄνωθεν κυρ-Τζανῆς ... νοικοκύρης εἰς τὰ ἄνωθεν πράματα, [πουλεῖν], [χαρίζειν], [προικίζειν], [ποιεῖν ὡς βούλεται]

1604, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 211, 216.18

Adversative

This is expressed by ἀλλά/ἀμ(μ)ή/μά etc.:

ἀρνεῖσαι τὸν Χριστὸν μὰ ὅχι τὴν μητέρα του 17th c./16th c., MOREZINOS, Klini 165.14 ἐκηρύττασιν ὅχι μὲ φόβον τινὰ τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ Χριστοῦ ἀμὴ μὲ μέγαλον θάρρος καὶ παρρησίαν 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 32.10–11

Disjunctive

Positive

Positive disjunctive constituent coordination is expressed by (εἴτε ...) εἴτε ... /(ἢ ...) ἢ ...
“(either ...) or ... ” (also οὐ in Cyprus, γή/δ in Crete etc.):

ἐμὲν ποτὲ οὐκ ἐπήντησε στρατηγὸς ἢ τοπάρχης 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 149 περὶ τοῦ δούλου οὐ τῆς δούλης ὅπου φέρνει τὸν αὐθέντην του εἰς ἀγκάλεμαν, τίνα ἐμπαίνει νὰ δώσει 16th c./13th c., Cyprus, Assizes A 5.1–2 τίς νὰ πιστέψῃ εἰς Ρωμαῖον εἰς λόγον εἴτε εἰς ὄρκον; 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 758 μηνοῦμε σας ὅτι ... μηδὲν σουφριάσετε κανένα μας ὀφισιάλην ... νὰ τρεμεντιαστῇ εἰς καμία ἀγορὰ σιταρίου, οὐ κριθαρίου, οὐ κρασίου οὐ καμίας ἄλλης ρέντας 1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 7, 7.1–4

κι' ἂ δῆς τὴν Πουλισένα γῆ τὴν Ἀννούσα, πές τους το νὰ σοῦ τὸ ποῦν ἐσένα 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Katz. III.147–8 νὰ μὴν ἔχῃ ἐξουσίαν ποτὲ καιροῖς κανέναν, ἢ ἀπὸ τὴν μεγάλην Μέσην ἢ ἀπὸ μοναστήρι, νὰ τοὺς ἐνοχλήσῃ 1661, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 71, 200.13–14 ἐγὼν δὲ θέλω ἀφήσω κανέναν νὰ σιμώσῃν εἰς ἐλῶνι της ἢ σὲ πατητήρι της 1688, Naxos, SIFONIOU-KARAPA et al. 1982/83: 743, 1013.12–13

Negative

In negative contexts οὔτε/μήτε ... οὔτε/μήτε ... “neither ... nor ...” are used, with fluctuation between initial οὔ- and μή-; the final οὔτε/μήτε of a series may be supported by ἀλλά (i.e. with disjunctive rather than strictly adversative meaning), or be replaced by οὐδέ/μηδέ in the emphatic sense of “not/nor even”:

- ὅτι ὅποιον κάστρο καὶ χώρα προσκυνήσῃ μὲ τὸ καλόν, νὰ μηδὲν ἔχῃ [κανέναν φόβον], οὔτε [κακόν], οὔτε [κουρσεμόν], ἀλλ' οὔτε [κανέναν χαλασμόν] 1430, Ioannina, RIG 1998: [1], 62.10–12
- ὀμνέω σας ... ὅτι νὰ μὴν δὲν ἔχετε [κανέναν φόβον], μήτε [αἰχμαλωτισμόν], μήτε [πιασμόν παιδίων] 1430, Ioannina, RIG 1998: [1], 62.17–21
- δὲν εἶχε μήτε στρουμέντο μηδὲ στιμαριστάδες 1657, Mykonos, Visvizi 1957: 4, 51.11

7.2 Apposition

7.2.1 Appositive Clauses

(89) An appositive clause may be used to expand/clarify the content of a NP headed by an abstract noun with a non-specific but potentially propositional denotation, cf. “the news/the theory/the fact [that ...]”.

Unlike relative clauses, appositives are not descriptive of their antecedents but stand in an equative relationship with them, i.e. the content of the clause is the news/the theory/the fact etc.; their presence is justified to the extent that they add contextually relevant detail to a largely uninformative expression.

A common variant is the use of a cataphoric pronominal in place of the abstract noun, cf. “I will tell you this (sc. news etc.), that ...”

A range of clause types is attested, largely reflecting the semantics of the antecedent (e.g. factive vs. non-factive, statement vs. question etc.), and καὶ is sometimes substituted as the linking element. It is often impossible to distinguish what are in principle optional appositives (pragmatically helpful in particular contexts) from complement clauses (semantically presupposed by the antecedent even if not overtly represented). In the examples below, the “namely”-relation characteristic of appositives is reflected in the use of a comma after the head noun, though this is really no more than editorial interpretation (cf. 2.2 and 5.2.3 for further discussion, and see 5.2.3 for parallel examples treated as complements).

- τὸν δὲ πατριάρχην ἔγραψεν αὐστηρὰς γραφὰς, ἀναδιδάσκων τὸ δίκαιον, ὅτι [οὐκ ἔστιν ὁ ἀποστολικὸς θρόνος Ἀντιοχείας ὑπὸ τοῦ Κωνσταντινουπόλεως] 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 31 822.33–5
- τί τοῦτο, ὅτι [ἐπαινῶ τοὺς χειροτεχναρίους] 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 188
- ὁ λουτριάρχης, ἔστοντας νὰ ἰδεῖ ἐτοῦτο, ὅτι [κακὸν ἦτον τοῦτο τὸ πάθος], ἔκλαιεν αὐτόν 16th c./15th c., Syndipas 116.13–14
- τοῦτον ἦτον ἡ ἀφορμή, καὶ [ὀργή τοῦ θεοῦ ἔππεσεν ἀπάνω τους] 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 16.12–13

- ἐθαύμασεν ὁ Δάρειος σ' Ἀλέξανδρου τὴν γνῶσιν, ποῦ [τὸν ἐβάσταξε καρδίᾳ σ' ἀποκοτιὰ τὴν τόσην] 16th c., Alex. Rim. 1191–2
- τοῦτο ἦτονε μέγα θαῦμα περισσότερον παρὰ ὅλα, ὅπου [ἡ κιβωτὸς ... ἦτονε τότες εἰς τὴν γέννησιν τοῦ Χριστοῦ παλαιὰ καὶ χαλασμένη] 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 333.27–28, 31–2
- ἔκαμεν ὄρκον, ὅτι [ἡ παραίτησις στανικῶς αὐτοῦ ἐγένετο] καὶ ὅτι [... εἶδῃσιν δὲν ἦξευρε] 16th c., Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 178–80
- τί νὰ λέγω τὰ πολλὰ ὅπου δὲν κάμνουν χρεῖα, ποῦ [ἡ γῆς ἐπορφυρώθηκεν ἐκ τὰ πολλὰ κορμιά;] 17th c., DIAKR., Diig. Pol. 283–4

7.2.2 Appositive NPs

(90) One NP (the appositive) may be juxtaposed to a preceding NP (the antecedent) to form a construction in which the second modifies the first; the two NPs agree in case and have the same referent.

Non-restrictive Apposition

If the appositive element has a non-restrictive function, it functions much like a non-restrictive relative clause (see 5.3.3, Rule (79)), and may be understood according to context as ascribing an ancillary property to the antecedent (i.e. as descriptive: “NP, [who is also/incidentally] a/the X”), or as clarifying the identity of the referent (i.e. as expegetic: “NP, [namely/specifically] a/the X”); in many cases either reading is possible. The antecedent and the appositive may, independently of one another, be either definite or indefinite:

- ἔτεκαν παῖδα θαυμαστόν, τὸν Διγενὴν Ἀκρίτην 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 219
- θαρρῶν ὅτι ἄλλον δεῦτερον πατέρα νὰ γνωρίσῃ, τὸν μέγαν αὐτοκράτορα καὶ πενθερὸν ἐσέναν ?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.8v.17–20
- ἐπεὶ ἐπαρεκάλεσα τὸν παναγιώτατον ἡμῶν δεσπότην, τὸν οἰκουμενικὸν πατριάρχην 1357/60, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 237, 364–365.1–3
- εἷς ἄρχων ἔστειλε τὸν δοῦλον του, νὰ τὸν ἀγοράσῃ πουλιὰ γενεὲς τρεῖς, περιστέρια, τρυγόνια καὶ σπουργῖτες post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 53, 44.1–2
- ἐγὼ σοῦ ἔφερα δύο μάμμες, τὴν Σαλώμην καὶ τὴν Γελώμην, καὶ στέκουν ἔξω
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.27–8
- ὅσοι ... ἐπιθυμοῦσι νὰ γένουν πατέρες ἐνδόξων ... παιδίων, συμβουλεύσει τους ἦθελα νὰ μὴ συμμίσουν μὲ ὅποῖαν τύχη γυναῖκα, πόρνην λέγω, πολιτικὴν ἢ παλλακὴν 16th c., SOFIANOS, Paidag. 95.9–11
- ἐπειδὴ ἡ οσιότατη μοναχὴ κερα Μακαρία Κουκάκαινα, ἡ ἡγουμένη καὶ οἰκοκυρὰ τοῦ μοναστηρίου τοῦ μεγάλου Γεωργίου τοῦ Κερατιδιώτου, εὑρίσκεται ἀχαμνά
1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.2–4
- ἀμὴ εἶχεν ἕναν τίποτες ὅπου τοῦ ἔκοπτε τὴν χαρὰν καὶ εὐφροσύνην, τὸ κακὸν τῆς ἀπαιδίας 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 31.35–8 ρίχνοντας ἀπὸ τὸν οὐρανὸ φωτιᾶς καὶ ἀστροπελέκια, ποὺ νὰ σὲ κατακάψουνε μαζί μὲ τὴν παλλακὴ, τὴν μιὰρότατη τοῦ Σατανᾶ φιλενάδα

18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 26.7–10

Restrictive Apposition

A restrictive appositive NP is similar in function to a restrictive relative clause (see 5.3.3, Rule (78)). But when a definite antecedent is modified in this way, the appositive too must be definite (cf. *my brother a/the doctor), i.e. its specific purpose is to identify the intended member of the already definite set of individuals potentially denoted by the antecedent (e.g. “my brother who is the doctor, not the one who is the lawyer” etc.). Accordingly, the definite article is normally used in both parts of this construction in LMedG/EMG, though it is sometimes omitted with proper names (see 5.3.2 for further discussion).

By contrast, indefinite restrictive apposition requires a predicative reading of the appositive, of the type “[an X] [(who is (a)) Y]”; NPs in predicative function standardly appear without an indefinite article (see 5.3.2, Rule (76) NOTE (i)).

Definite

ἔχω καὶ αὐτὸ ἀγορὰν ἀπὸ τὸν Θεόδωρον τὸν Καλημέρην καὶ τὴν νύφην αὐτοῦ τὴν Μαρίαν

ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.27–8

καὶ νὰ ἴδωσιν τοὺς ἄρχοντας τοὺς ἀποκρισιάρχους

15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 46

ἐχαρίσαμε τοῦ Γεωργίου τοῦ τσαμπερλάνο<υ> τοῦ δουλευτῆ μας τὸ κοπέλι

1468, Nicosia, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULLOS 1983: 72, 36.1

καὶ φαμικῶς εὐρισκομένων εἰς κάστρον ἓν τῶν ἐκεῖσε κεφαλατεύοντες ὁ γαμβρός μου Γρηγόριος ὁ Παλαιολόγος ὁ Μαμωνᾶς ... ἔτι δὲ καὶ ἡ ἀδελφή μου καὶ γυνὴ αὐτοῦ καὶ παιδὶν ἓν αὐτῶν θῆλυ

15th c., SFRANTZIS, Chron. 12.2–4

χρωστάει μου ἡ κυρὰ Ἀγγέλω ἡ κονιάδα μου ἡ Κοτομανόλαινα δουκάτα ἐφθά (= ἐφτά)

1637, Ithaca, ZAPANDI 2002b: 91, 96.44–5

Indefinite

Ἰανουάριος ἦτον ἀπ’ αὐτὸν νὰ στήκεται καὶ ἐκεῖνος, ἄνθρωπος ὅλος κυνηγός, ὅλος θαρσύς τὸ σχῆμα

14th–15th c./13th c., Liv. α 1179–80

εἶχαμεν φίλον κηπουρὸν καὶ δίδαμέν του γέννημαν καὶ ἔδιδέν μας λάχανα

16th c./?, Paroim. H 10

καὶ ἂν μὲ ᾔῃ ὅτι νὰ μιλήσω, γραῖαν γυναῖκα νὰ ἀγαπήσω, λέγει

16th c., Epain. gyn. 469–71

NOTES

- (i) A special form of restrictive apposition occurs when the antecedent identifies a conventional measure, or a container serving as a measure, and the appositive specifies the material or substance that is “measured” or “contained”. In LMedG/EMG this construction has largely supplanted the common AG use of a partitive genitive, though there are a handful of early examples in the corpus, e.g. σίτου μόδια ἕξ Vios Philaret. 287 (11th c./9th c.):

Definite

- ἔδωκέ του τὴν ἐπιστολὴν καὶ τὰ σεντούκια καὶ τὰ σακκία τὸν σιναπόσπορον 16th c./15th c., Diig. Alex. V 41.10–11
- εἶδε τὰ ἄλλα δυὸ βαρέλια τοὺς ψαρογαύρους ἔδωκες ἀπὸ καιρὸν ἐμπίστως ἐνὸς Σφακιώτη 1549, Crete, DRAKAKIS 2004: 255, 253.10–11
- νὰ μὴ μπορῇ νὰ τῶνε πάρη περισσότερο ἀπὸ τὰ κζ' μουζούρια τὸ στάρι ὁ ἄνωθεν ἀφέντης Νικολός 1597, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 5, 28.10–11
- ἤγουν νὰ τοὺς ἀνακατοχυρίσουν ἐκεῖνα τὰ βαρέλια τὰ σῦκα 17th c., Bertoldin. 114.30–1

Indefinite

- ἄν γένῃ κτύπος πούποτε, μόδιν ἀγγέλους βλέπεις
13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 149
- ὁποῦ ἐπούλησε τοὺς ἄνωθε Τρουγιανάδες ἓνα κομμάτι χωράφι 1582, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 159, 100.4–5
- ἔσοντας νὰ ἔκαμα μία μινιὰ κερὶ 1697, Thessaloniki, KATSANIS 2012: 4, 60.1

- (ii) Multi-part proper names also constitute a special case in that, though they too are regularly treated as combinations of antecedent and appositive (with the referential range of the first name restricted by what follows), they can also be analysed as forming a single NP. When definiteness is overtly marked, the former option normally requires a separate article in each element of the name:

- ἔχω καὶ αὐτὸ ἀγορὰν ἀπὸ τὸν Θεόδωρον τὸν Καλημέρην καὶ τὴν νύφην αὐτοῦ τὴν Μαρίαν ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 80.27–8
- ἐρμάσαν τὴν μὲ τὸν ἀφέντην τὸν Μανουήλ τὸν Κατακουζηνόν, τὸν δεσπότην τοῦ Μορέως 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 58.33–4 while the latter option requires only a single article to determine the name as a whole:

- ἔτεκαν παῖδα θαυμαστόν, τὸν Διγενὴν Ἀκρίτην 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 219
- ἀπὸ κεῖ ἔστειλε ᾗ τὸν Ἰωάννη βασιλέα Παλαιολόγο ὅτι ...
17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 25.11

- (iii) Titles too may be treated either as referring expressions in their own right with the following name(s)/description(s) in apposition, or simply as part of the following name(s).

The appositive structure is more usual, and is regularly employed when the second element is further modified; the article is occasionally omitted from the antecedent/title:

- ὦρα δ' τῆς νυκτὸς ἐκοιμήθη ὁ αυθέντης ὁ κύρ ὁ κούντης ὁ σιρ Τούμας τὲ Μόρφ
1388, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 101, 99.1–3
- ἔξέβη ἀμυράλλ(ης) ὁ σιρ Πιερ ντὲ Καφρὰ ἀπὲ τὴν Λευκωσίαν νὰ πάγῃ στὴν Γένουβα διὰ τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ ἀφέντη μας τοῦ ρηγὸς τοῦ ρὲ Τζάκ
1390, Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 11, 89.1–3
- μὲ τὸν μακαρίτην τὸν αὐθέντην τὸν πατέρα τοὺς ἐσυντύχαμεν περὶ τούτου 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.11–12

The second option often involves titles with a colloquial quality, though this does not preclude their use in official documents; the article is sometimes omitted (as with names in general):

μισὶρ Ντζεφρές, ὡς φρόνιμος, παρηγορᾷ τὸν κόντον 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 177 ὁ μισὶρ Ντζεφρές, ὡς φρόνιμος ὅπου ἦτον, ἄρχισε νὰ τὸν παρηγορᾷ

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 188–9

ἐν μηνὶ αὐγούστῳ ἀπέθανε καὶ ἡ δέσποινα κυρὰ Ἄννα 15th c., SFRANTZIS, Chron. 12.22

ἐρωτήσαμεν παπὰ κύρ Γαβρὴλ 1528, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 53, 173.47

ὁ κύρ Χατζῆς πεθερός μου σοῦ ἄφησε χρόνια εἰς τὴν Καβάγια 1696, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 6, 213.10–11

8 Constituent Order

8.1 General Principles

As a matter of grammatical rule, it is assumed here that sentences in LMedG/EMG comprise a subject NP and a predicate VP in that order. But the actual order of constituents in a given sentence is to a large extent determined by the way in which a writer organizes and presents the information contained within it in order to articulate the structure of the larger discourse. In practice, therefore, once the fundamental syntactico-semantic requirements are met (i.e. through the presence of a subject, expressed or understood, and a predicate, optionally in combination with one or more adjuncts), the linear sequencing of constituents is largely controlled by considerations of “topic” and “focus”.

These concepts have been defined in a variety of ways, making reference to prosodic, pragmatic, semantic and/or syntactic factors. Constituents in LMedG/EMG clauses could almost certainly be marked as topical or focal simply by the choice of appropriate prosodic properties. But these factors are no longer accessible to us, though plausible inferences might be made from MG, e.g. that foci were assigned a high level of stress. Topics and foci are therefore identified here by virtue of their syntactic prominence, i.e. relocation to positions specifically associated with discourse functions (see below). Functionally, topics establish or re-establish a “theme” (something familiar from the preceding discourse, mutual knowledge or general cultural awareness), which is then commented on by the remainder of the following sentence. Foci, by contrast, identify the most salient, i.e. emphatic or contrastive, piece of information within a particular sentence. When both elements are present, the focus identifies the most salient information within the comment on the topic, thus making a topicalized element structurally more peripheral than a focalized one, cf. [_{TOP} in Medieval Greek], [_{FOC} it's the syntax] people find hardest.

Positions at the left periphery of LMedG/EMG phrases and clauses are structurally prominent and may attract phrasal topics and foci; in clauses there is also a topic position beyond the clause boundary (see Rule (91)). The informationally most neutral order of constituents in LMedG/EMG sentences with overt subjects is perhaps V(erb) S(ubject) O(bject(s)), where the fronting of the verb over the subject indicates that the sentence introduces a proposition in which none of its phrasal constituents is given any special prominence (= “something happened”: though V may be understood focally if appropriately stressed):

(ἐν τούτῳ) ἐπαράλαβεν ὁ Ροῦσος τὸ μπάιλᾶτο

14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7933

But it is often more natural to identify specific elements as providing some form of linkage to, or contrast with, the previous discourse: [VO]S order, for example, is the result of either topicalizing or focalizing the Verb Phrase by preposing it to the beginning of the sentence, making the subject correspondingly either salient (“[_{TOP} the one who VO] was S”) or thematic (“[_{FOC} it was VO] that S did”) according to the demands of the context. In the following, for example, the preposed VP is topical, and the subject correspondingly salient:

ὁ βασιλέας τὸν ἔστελνεν ... τὸν τόπον ὅλον τοῦ Μορέως νὰ τὸν ἔχη κερδίσει, κι ἂν μάθη ὅτι ἐκέρδισαν τὸν πόλεμον οἱ Φράγκοι ... πῶς νὰ τὸν ἀποδέξεται ... ;
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4894–8

Since, however, the grammatically determined order of constituents is Subject + Predicate, with subjects standing preverbally prior to any informationally-driven reordering, it may be unclear in specific cases whether actual “preposing” of the subject has taken place when it is interpreted as topical or focal in context.

Whenever a phrase of any type (represented as XP below) is focalized, the verb is standardly “attracted” to it and the subject (if not itself the focalized item) appears postverbally, giving XP-V-S (cf. “never have~I seen ...”). There is also attraction of the verb to preposed interrogative and relative adverbs or pronouns (cf. “what have~you done?”, cf. 1.4.1 and 5.3.3) and, in subordinate clauses, to many conjunctions and complementizers (subject to various conditions and limitations, see below and cf. Chapters 2 and 3). Attraction of the verb is not required, however, in the case of topics.

8.1.1 Topicalization

(91) Topicality in MedG/EMG may be marked by “left-dislocation”, i.e. by placing a topic in a position beyond the left periphery of a clause and marking its lack of structural integration with a pause, usually represented graphically by a comma; when the topic is nominal, a referentially resumptive pronoun is normal in the following clause.

Left-dislocated topics are typically used to establish or re-establish an entity as the current discourse theme and to initiate discussion of it. They may be thought of in terms of the schema [XP_i], [_S ... (*pro*_i) ...], where pro is an element anaphoric to the left-dislocated XP, expressing the “aboutness” link between the two elements. In the case of non-NP topics pro is usually null, but with NP topics it usually takes the form of a “resumptive” pronoun, e.g. (as for) Medieval Greek, I really like (it). With the passage of time, clitic pronouns become increasingly standard in this construction, and are inflected according to their grammatical function in the clause (usually direct or indirect object); but demonstratives are also used, and in the absence of suitable nominative clitics, topicalized subjects are often “resumed” in this way.

Left-dislocated NPs typically reflect the properties of pro in (person), number, gender and case, though they are also sometimes inflected in the nominative instead (nominativus pendens), perhaps in recognition of their “external”, subject-like status with respect to the following comment. Verbs are not attracted grammatically to left-dislocated topics, and adjacency of the verb in these structures is pragmatically motivated.

τὰ ὄντα φανερά καὶ μὴ ἔχοντα ἐν αὐτοῖς ἀπὸ τινὸς οἰανδήποτε ἀντιλογίαν, ἐκεῖνα καὶ λέγω καὶ γράφω ἀφόβως μετὰ πληροφορίας 12th c./11th c., ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 314.18–19

- ἡ πίστις ἡ ἀληθινή, οἱ Χριστιανοὶ τὴν ἔχουν 15th c./12th c., Dig. E 553 μίαν ἀπὸ τὰς πρόκριτας εἰς ἣν ἐθάρρει πλέον, παρήγγειλεν [pro] ὁ βασιλεὺς τοὺς ὄλους νὰ προλάβει ?12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.3r.9–11 ἡ παρθένος Μαρία τε Λουζουνία κόρη τοῦ κυροῦ τοῦ Στύρου, ἐρμάσαν τὴν μὲ τὸν ἀφέντην τὸν Μανουήλ 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 58.32–3 ὅ,τι ἄρχισε, ἐμένα ποτὲ δὲ μοῦ τὸ ἐμολόγησε! 16th c., Nov. I 156.21 ἕνας δὲ ἀπὸ τοὺς πρώτους τοῦ βασιλέως, ... ἐτοῦτος ... παρευθὺς ἀπαντονάρισεν ὅλες τὲς πρόσκαιρες δόξεις 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 33.2–7 σ' ἵντα στάτο εὐρίσκεται, κιανεῖς δὲν τὸ γνωρίζει 18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. III.34

(92) “Simple topics” are attached to the left periphery of a clause or VP and are relatively brief expressions (usually single phrases) that allow no pause before the following comment; clitic pronouns are obligatory with accusative or genitive NP topics (resulting in “clitic doubling”), which distinguishes the construction clearly from focalization (see Rule (93)).

Such non-dislocated topics are typically used to establish or re-establish an already “active” participant as the central theme of the discourse (they are therefore normally definite and may contrast with what precedes), and then to continue or resume discussion of it. Unlike left-dislocated topics, they are structurally integrated phrases at the left periphery of S or VP; for the latter, consider the following example, where the subject ὁ θεός precedes the topic:

- ὁ θεὸς [_{TOP} τὴν καρδίαν σου] [_{VP} νὰ τὴν πλατύνῃ], καὶ [_{TOP} τὴν χώραν σου] [_{VP} εἰς τὸ ἐν ἑκατὸν νὰ τὴν ποιήσῃ], καὶ [_{TOP} τὸ σπαθὶν σου] [_{VP} εἰς τοὺς ἐχθροὺς σου φοβερόν νὰ τὸ ποιήσῃ]. 1349, Egypt, SCHOPEN/NIEBUHR 1832: IV.14, 98.22–4

Agreement of the topic with the clitic in case (as well as number and gender) is normal, though not quite a requirement, as “hanging nominatives” are occasionally attested in more colloquial texts (unless these are better treated as cases of left-dislocation). Attraction of the verb to a topic at the clause periphery is not grammatically required and adjacency in such cases is again a purely pragmatic matter.

- ὁ βασιλέας τὸν ἔστειλεν ... [τὸν τόπον ὅλον τοῦ Μορέως] νὰ τὸν ἔξη κερδίσει 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4894–5 εἰ μὲν συμβῇ [ὁ ἀφέντης του] ὁ ἐχτρός του νὰ τὸν πιάσῃ ... νὰ τὸν ζητήσῃ ὁ ἀφέντης του καὶ νὰ τὸν ἀνακράξῃ 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7572–4 [τὰ ἀλλάγια ταῦτα] ποῖσε τὰ 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 6906 Ὅδυσσεὺς ὁ θαυμαστός μετὰ τοὺς Ἀχαῖτας [τοὺς Τρῶας] ἐτροπεῦσαν τοὺς, ἐδιώξαν τοὺς, ὑπάγουν 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 3911–12 ὁ σὶρ Σιμούν τε Μουντολίφ ὁ καβαλλάρης [τὸν κύρην τῆς Τύρου] ἐσφάξεν τὸν εἰς τὴν ἀναπὰν 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 58.25–7 ὁ πόθος τῆς φιλαργυρίας ἀναγκάζει τοὺς νὰ γυρεύουν καθημερινόν τὲς ἀφορμὲς [τὸν πλοῦτόν τους] πῶς νὰ τὸν αὐξάνουσιν 16th c., Pist. kekoim. 7–9

NOTES

- (i) Maintenance, or sometimes reduction, of the thematic salience of an entity may also be effected by “clitic doubling”, again without a pause between the NP object and the clitic–verb combination, but in this case the object (always definite) remains in place to the right of V within VP:

ἐδέσποζές το [τὸ βεργίν], καὶ μόνη σου να τό 'χης 16th c./13th–14th c., Velth. 585 κι οὐδὲν μᾶς ἄφηκες [ἐμᾶς] νὰ ἔχωμεν πολεμήσει 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 5121 ἐπῆραν καταπάνω τους, τροπεύουν τους [τοὺς Τρῶας] 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 3723 καὶ ἂν μὲ πιστεύητε [ἐμὲν], ἃς ἔνι Ἀγαμέμνων 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 8469

- (ii) “Right dislocation” is closely related in function, with the difference that the intended referent of a potentially autonomous clitic pronoun is clarified by an appositional NP located beyond the right periphery of the clause, rather as an afterthought (cf. 7.2.2); such right-dislocated items were separated from what precedes by a slight pause, though this is not normally marked graphically; note in particular that the caesura typically precedes them in verse texts, and that parenthetical material (e.g. interjections) sometimes intervenes:

ἀφῆνω, παρατρέχων τα / [τὰ τότε λαληθέντα] 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. E 3870 ἀπόκρισιν τοὺς ἔδωκεν / [ἀμφοτέρων τῶν δύο] 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 3402 καὶ κονταρέαν τὸν ἔδωκεν, / αἰλί, [τὸν Μαργαρίτην] 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 6862 καὶ ὁ Ἀχιλλεὺς τὴν ἔλεγεν / [τὴν ἡλιογεννημένην] 15th–16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. N 1356

8.1.2 Focalization

- (93) Focalization may be effected by preposing a phrasal constituent to the left-peripheral position within a clause or phrase; clitic doubling is not allowed (see Rule (92)) and the verb is routinely attracted to the focal element.

Unlike simple topics, foci are contained within, rather than attached to, the associated phrase or clause; this guarantees that they will always stand within the scope of a topic if both items are present. Since they emphasize, contrast or correct (“XP is who/what/where/when [_S ...]”), it may be assumed that the key element of a focalized phrase was assigned a higher level of stress than that of non-focalized elements.

In verse texts the frequency of focal preposing is very high, especially that of dependent genitives within NPs, and we must assume that in this specialized literary context the more “marked” construction was often understood as a more or less free variant of the basic one. Consider the following, very typical example:

[[τοῦ κόσμου γὰρ] τὴν ἡδονὴν] ἠθέλαν κι ἀγαποῦσαν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 3171

In the context of a list of the Franks who built castles as a symbol of their new power, no necessary emphasis or contrast seems to be attached either to the head of the preposed object NP (τὴν ἡδονήν) or to the preposed genitive NP within it (τοῦ κόσμου); the sentence seems simply to give a reason why they built their castles: “(for) they wanted and adored the pleasure(s) of the world” (though perhaps they wanted their pleasures now rather than to take their chances in the afterlife). “Focalization” will continue to be used to describe the relevant syntactic phenomenon, but it should be borne in mind that in some contexts there may be no special informational salience.

Focalization in Clauses

- μή τολμήσῃ ... μαρτυρήσειν ... ὅτι [εἰς τὸν κόσμον] ἐμολύνθην 12th c./11th c., ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31 812.31–2
- [τὸν δὲ πατριάρχην] ἔγραψεν αὐστηρὰς γραφάς 12th c./11th c., ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 31 822.33–4
- [τὸ ἀνωειρημένον προυκίον] δίδει ὁ ἀνωειρημένος κύρ Ἰωάννη Κουβαρὰς τῆς ἐγκόνης του 1496, Crete, ΜΑΥΡΟΜΑΤΙΣ 1994a: 1, 48.23–4
- [μὲ ξύλα καὶ μὲ λιθάρια] ἐσκότωναν τὸ φουσάτον τοῦ Ἀλεξάνδρου
16th c., Diig. Alex. F 20.14 (Konstantinopulos)
- ἦτον ... ἄσχημος τόσον, ὅτι [καμίαν καλοσύνην ἢ ἰσότητα] δὲν εἶχεν τὸ κορμὶν του 16th c., Vios Aisop. K 147.7–8
- νὰ πάρῃ ὁ κύρ Μανόλης τὸ ἥμισον ..., καὶ [τὸ ἕτερον ἥμισον] νὰ πάρῃ ἡ λεγομένη κερά Θεόκλητη
1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.23–4

Focalization in Phrases

- ἡμεῖς [_{VP} [οἰκεῖαις χερσὶν ἡμῶν] ἐδώκαμεν αὐτοῦ τὰ ἄχραντα εὐαγγέλια αὐτοῦ] 1102, S. Italy, ROBINSON 1929: 16, 208–9.20–1
- τὸν ἐκράτει ὁ βασιλέας [_{ADVP} [εἰς φυλακὴν του] ἀπέσω] 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7969
- ἀκομή καὶ [_{NP} [τῶν ντεμπιτόρων] τὰ δινέρια] 1523, Crete, ΚΑΚΛΑΜΑΝΙΣ/LAMBAKIS 2003: Inv. 3, 287.48
- ἦτον ... [_{ADJP} [ἄσχημος] τόσον], ὅτι 16th c., Vios Aisop. K 147.7

8.2 Clitic Pronouns and the Verbal Complex

In general, clitics immediately follow the head that governs them:

- AdvP: πῶς ἠπλωσας ἐπάνω μου; 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 145
- NP: νὰ το, παιδί μου, ἀγόρασε χορδόκοιλα δουκάτον 15th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 117 app. crit. (P)
- AdjP: ὅμως νὰ δικολογηθῶ μὲ ὁμοίόν μου ζῶον 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 824

Verbs, however, show a more complex pattern of clitic distribution that requires reference to the notion of the “verbal complex” (VC), in which mood and negative markers, if present in a sentence, cliticize to the verbs they modify and form a structured unit that cannot normally be interrupted by other elements:

Mood Marker [ἵνα/νᾶ, ᾄς]	> Negative [μή(ν)]	> V _{subjunctive/past indicative}
	Negative [μή(ν)]	> V _{imperative}
	Negative [οὐ(κ), (οὐ)δέν]	> V _{indicative/gerund}

(The future marker $\theta\acute{\epsilon}$ + $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ > $\theta\acute{\alpha}$ is a late addition to LMedG/EMG (Chapter 1, Rule (6) NOTE (vii)), and is omitted.)

Indicatives, whether as lexical verbs or as auxiliaries, may take a ἵνα/νᾶ-complement (cf. $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\omega$ ἵνα/νᾶ = “I want to X” or “I will/shall X”: $\theta\acute{\epsilon}$ $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ > $\theta\acute{\alpha}$ represents the formal reduction of such a structure); only one of the two verbs can then be negated, and in periphrases this can only be the auxiliary. Items other than V are present only when their contribution is required for semantic or syntactic reasons, and even the otherwise obligatory mood marker ἵνα/νᾶ is not required with μή(ν) in prohibitions containing subjunctives (1.3, Rule (14)) or with conjunctions like (ἐ)άν/ὅταν in generic/future-referring clauses containing subjunctive verbs (3.3.1 and 3.4.3). V is therefore often the initial, and indeed only, element in the VC of a given sentence.

As noted above, a preposed focal (FOC), interrogative (Q) or relative (REL) constituent regularly “attracts” the verb along with any associated items of the VC (leaving overt subjects in post-verbal position):

FOC/Q/REL +	[MM > μή(ν) > V] ... NP _{subj}
	[οὐ(κ)/(οὐ)δέν > V] ... NP _{subj}

“Modal” conjunctions, i.e. those like (ἐ)άν/ὅταν that do not require the co-presence of ἵνα/νᾶ with subjunctive verb forms, also attract V in most cases. This began in generic/future-referring clauses containing subjunctive verbs, but more general attraction of V developed early with these conjunctions, even in past- or present-time contexts with non-modal verb forms. Later, non-modal conjunctions and complementizers such as ὅτι, πῶς etc. started to follow the pattern, albeit more sporadically, with “traditional” ὅτι showing significantly more resistance than “innovative” πῶς.

Clitic pronouns intersect with the VC and constitute the one major exception to the rule that its components cannot be separated one from another.

(94) An object clitic stands immediately adjacent to the verb that governs it:

- (i) if V is initial in VC and nothing precedes (i.e. within VP or S as appropriate), the clitic follows V;
- (ii) if V is initial in VC but other constituents precede (i.e. within VP or S as appropriate), the clitic precedes V;
- (iii) if V is non-initial in VC, the clitic precedes V.

The basic rule for most of the period covered by this Grammar is that clitics cannot stand before a verb in VP-initial or clause-initial position but may appear before a verb when something else precedes them, whether other elements of the VC or, when the VC comprises V alone, co-constituents of the relevant containing category.

This requirement is further shaped by the general principle that clitics standardly appear in “second position” in a containing phrase or clause, a principle (“Wackernagel’s Law”) that had continued into MedG from Antiquity. Since clitics must be adjacent to the verb, and since clitics normally stand in second position in a VP or clause, it follows that a VC containing only V will typically be either the first item in VP or S, with a following clitic, or the third item in VP or S, with a preceding clitic.

The position of a clitic vis-à-vis a verb that stands alone in its VC is therefore determined by what counts as a “preceding”, i.e. effectively phrase- or clause-initial, constituent for the purposes of clitic placement:

- The set of left-peripheral constituents that routinely attract the verb, namely focal elements, question words/phrases, relative pronouns/complementizers and “modal” complementizers, are regularly counted as initial items for the purposes of clitic placement:

$$[_{S/VP} X(P) \text{ cl}+V \dots]$$

- Non-modal conjunctions and complementizers may be treated either as the initial elements of clauses (with attraction of V) or as elements that introduce clauses but are not themselves part of them (without attraction of V). The result is variation in the placement of the clitic with respect to V, though the clitic itself remains second in the clause in both cases; in general, traditional complementizers and conjunctions (C), e.g. ὅτι vs. πῶς, εἰ vs. (ἐ)άν etc., resist inclusion in the clause much more strongly:

C included: $[_S C [\text{cl}+V] \dots]$

C excluded: $C [_S [V+\text{cl}] \dots]$

- Subjects are regularly adjacent to the VC (the initial item in VP) but do not themselves attract the verb; in the absence of items that can attract it, V therefore remains in place as the head of VP or is fronted over the subject (see 8.1). In combination with a subject, a VC containing only V can satisfy the requirements of clitic placement in two ways: either V stands initially in VP and the clitic follows in second (phrasal) position, or the subject is counted as the first clausal constituent and the clitic precedes V in second (clausal) position:

Second position in VP: $[_S \text{NP}_{\text{SUBJ}} [_{VP} V+\text{cl}] \dots]$

Second position in clause: $[_S \text{NP}_{\text{SUBJ}} [_{VP} \text{cl}+V] \dots]$

- Standardly, simple topics are attached to the left periphery of S or VP and do not attract V. They do not therefore count as the initial elements of these categories, and clitics follow an initial V. From around the 16th c., however, simple topics also come to be treated as initial items, with the clitic then following before V; this development is again associated with attraction, which guarantees that the topic and its clitic double will be adjacent:

Topic attached: [NP_{TOP} [S_{VP} V+cl ...]]

Topic included: [S_{VP} NP_{TOP} cl+V ...]

- The least integrated elements of a sentence (such as left-dislocated topics and non-focal adverbial adjuncts, including adverbial clauses) do not normally attract V or count as initial elements for the purposes of clitic placement. The clause proper therefore begins with whatever comes after such items, and if this is V, the clitic then follows:

XP_{TOP}/ADVP/S_{ADV}, [S V+cl ...]

But “linking” adverbials (ADVP_L), i.e. those with demonstrative/anaphoric force or that denote a place, time, reason etc. that connects the sentence to the preceding discourse, begin to count as clause-initial and attract the verb quite early, with the clitic then preceding V; adverbial clauses (S_{ADV}) and left-dislocated topics (XP_{TOP}) start to be drawn into this pattern from around the 16th c.:

[S XP_{TOP}/S_{ADV}/ADVP_L, cl+ V ...]

Wherever a choice is available, the frequency of the preverbal option increases over time, albeit with some delay in southern and more peripheral regions; in Cyprus, however, the earlier medieval patterns of clitic placement are largely preserved even in the modern dialect. But both clitic positions remain in play in LMedG and the freedom is particularly valuable in verse texts, where it provides different metrical possibilities.

In SMG (and most modern dialects) pre-V position has been generalized with indicatives, even though this results in clause-initial/phrase-initial clitics. Such extension of the pre-verbal option must have begun in the early 16th c. with the progressive shift in the status of various elements that literally “began” sentences but had not previously counted as “initial” for the purposes of clitic placement. As these came to be included among the set of legitimate initial items, clitics then followed in “second position” before the verb. Consider, for example, sentences with left-dislocated, or perhaps simple, topics (the distinction may be hard to make when a topicalized phrase contains modifiers):

τὰ ὁσπήτιά της τὰ πατρικά (,) τὰ ἔκαμε μοναστήριον γυναικεῖον

1565–75, Constantinople, FOERSTER 1877: 7, 16.1–2

τὸ πέρα νεόκαστρο τοῦ Ναυπάκτου (,) τὸ ἐπολέμησε καὶ ἐπῆρέ το ἀπὸ σπαθίου

16th c., Constantinople, SCHREINER 1975/79: 63A, 484.10.1–3

Given the grammatical optionality of the material to their left, these clitics could now reasonably be seen as “initial” in their clauses, with initial pre-V position then quickly generalized to clauses without left-peripheral constituents. Early examples include:

τοὺς δίνουν τὸν μόλον εἰς τὸ τέλος τοῦ ρεπάρου κατὰ τὰ παλαιὰ μακελλεῖα

1561, Zakynthos, KONOMOS 1969a: 1, 35.10–11

σὲ παρακαλοῦμε νὰ εἴμεσταν Φράγκοι λίμπεροι

1571, Mani, CHASIOITIS 1970: 6.1, 242.41–2

8.2.1 V Initial in VC

No Preceding Constituents: V+cl

- ἔγραψές με, περὶ τὰς ἑορτὰς ἵνα σε γράψω τὴν εἴδησιν
12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 4 212.29
- ὡς ὄρνεον πετάζεται, δοκοῦν τον ὅλα ὁμάλιν
13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 129
- βλέπουν σε τὰ ψυχάρια μου καὶ ἔχουν σε ὡς αὐθέντην
14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 88
- νὰ σὲ δώσουν ἐκ τῆς γιστέρνας τὸ νερόν, χρήζω το διὰ ἰατρείαν μου
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8211–12
- ὀρίζει γὰρ καὶ εἶπε τον
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4563
- ἐπῆρεν το ὁ ἔβδομος ἄνθρωπος post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 38, 34.4
- καὶ ψηλαφώντας την ἠβλέπει
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.35
- πρόβαλε, δῶσ' τωνε τὸ φῶς, σὰν ἥσου μαθημένη
17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Katz. I.15

Focal, Interrogative or Relative Elements Preceding: (cl+V)

Focal

- τὸν αὐτὸν λόγον μοι εἶπαν καὶ οἱ ἕτεροι ἄρχοντες 1136?/1151?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. IX: 19, 419.5
- πολλά τὸν ἔχω εὐκαιρητὴν ἐκεῖνον τὸν γονέα ὅπου
13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 208–9
- ὀρκον σε δίδω εἰς τὴν ὑπεραγίαν δέσποιναν Θεοτόκον, ὅτι 1360, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 236, 362.18–20
- λεπτομερῶς τοῦ ἐμήνυσεν
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7825
- τοῦ Βαλδουῆ τὸ ἔποικαν τοῦ βασιλέως τῆς Πόλης 16th c./14th c., Chron. Mor. P 1098
- τὴν χάριν σου μ' ἀπόστειλε ἐτούτην τὴν ἡμέρα
15th c., CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2
- λέγοντες ... καὶ ὅτι τὴν Κωνσταντινούπολιν τοῦ ἐπαρέδωκε 16th c., Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 107–9

Interrogative

- κύρι, πῶς τὸ λέγεις;
14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 44
- ποῖον ἱμάτιον μὲ ἔρραψας; ποῖον δίμιτον μὲ ἐποῖκες;
14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 46
- πῶς νὰ εὕρω μ' ἐρμήνευσε τῆς Δυστυχίας τὸ κάστρο 14th c./13th–14th c., Log. parig. L 123
- ἐκάτizza καὶ ἐξηγήτην του ... πῶς τὴν ἐχαιρέτησα καὶ πῶς μὲ ἀπηλογήθη 15th c./13th–14th c., Liv. E 3778–9
- καὶ ἄκου τοῦ τί μοῦ ἐσύντυχεν
16th c./15th c., Om. Nekt. Vas. 28
- ἀπὸ ποῦ τοῦ ἦλθαν ἐτοῦτα ἐτουτουνοῦ;
17th c., KALLIOUP., Kaini Diath. Mark. 6.2
- ποῖος τὸ κύτταξε τὸ σιδηρόσυρμα; 1696, Ochrid, MERTZIOS 1947a: 9, 214.11

Relative

- τὸ ράσον τὸ σὲ δίδουσιν καὶ ἐκεῖνο ψυχικόν ἐνι 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 472.1 app. crit. (H)
- σὲ παρακαλοῦν ... μὴ τὸ δεχτῆς εἰς βάρος σου ἐτοῦτο ὅπου σὲ λέγουν
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7902–3
- τὸ ὠραιόκαρπον ὁ Θεὸς ὅπου σᾶς λέγει, δένδρον τὸ ὑψηλότατον ὅπου σᾶς εἶπε φεύγειν, φάγε καὶ δὸς καὶ τοῦ Ἀδάμ 15th c., CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 69–71
- εἰς τὸ αὐτὸ ... ἐσέβη ὁ Ματθίας ὅπου τοῦ ἔπεσεν ὁ κληρὸς 16th c., SANKTAM., Praxeis apost. 15.8–9
- ἀφήνει ... τὸ ἄερε τοῦ Κωσταντῆ τοῦ σπιτιοῦ, τοῦ ὁποίου τοῦ τὸ εἶχεν δώσει ἡ αὐτὴ προικίῳ 1587, Cythera, CHAROU-KORONAIΟΥ/DRAKAKIS 2010: 145, 115.9–11
- ἐβουλεύθη κακὰ πρὸς ἐκεῖνον ὅπου τὸν ἀνάθρεψεν 16th c., DIONYS., Istor. 252.13

NOTES

- (i) Imperatives normally follow the general rule, cf. δῶσ' τῶνε (CHORTATSI, Katz. I.15) with τὴν χάριν σου μ' ἀπόστειλε (CHOUMNOS, Kosmog. 2) above, but those with a preceding constituent occasionally retain the order V + cl:
- μεγαλοψύχως δέξαι με* 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. II 19.6 app. crit. (H)
- (ii) There are no examples in the database of gerunds with preverbal clitics as these always stand initially in their respective phrases/clauses.

“Modal” Conjunctions Preceding (both modal and non-modal verbs): cl+V

- ἐξ ἀρχῆς πολλὰ ἠντεστάθην, ὅταν τὸ ἤκουσα 12th c./11th c., ΝΙΚΟΝ, Logos 9 314.5–6
- καὶ ἂν μ' εὐρύης χρώμενον κακῶς εἰς ταῦτα τὰ μὲ δίδεις, τότε καὶ κατονείδιζε 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. II 67–8
- ἂν μὲ ἔποισαν τεχνίτην, ... νὰ ἔμαθα τέχνην κλαπωτῆν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. III 89–91
- καὶ πρὶν τὸ πιάσω χάνεται καὶ φεύγει ἐκ τὸ σκουτέλλιν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 242
- καὶ ἀπέκει, ὅταν τοὺς εἶπην ἐκεῖνος, νὰ σηκωθῶσιν 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.17–18
- ὅταν σὲ ταχθοῦν σιτάριν, τὸ σακί σου καὶ τρέχε 16th c./?, Paroim. H 53 app. crit.
- ἂν τὸν πάρῃ, θέλ' εἴσταιν ἀφορισμένη 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 34.3–4

NOTE

- (i) The presence of καὶ with “modal” (and indeed other) conjunctions normally blocks attraction:
- φοβούμενη μήπως καὶ καλέσῃ τὴν ὁ Θ(εός) 1596, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 1, 164.5–6
- ἀνίσως καὶ βάλουν τὰ περισσότερα τορνέσα ἀπὸ 'κεῖνα ..., ὀμπλεγάρεται ...
νὰ τὰ δίδῃ τῶν ἄνωθεν πουλητάδω
1600, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 82, 99.10–11

“Non-modal” Conjunctions/Complementizers Preceding: V+cl and cl+V

V+cl

- ἔξω λέγεις ὅτι ἔχεις με παιδίν 1360, Constantinople, KODER et al. 2001: 236, 362.14–15
- κ' εἶπεν ὅτι ὠφελεῖ με 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8213
- ἀλλ' ὅτε εὕρουν σε μικρὸν πταίσιμον εἰς τὸ σπίτι καὶ κλέψης τίποτα νὰ φῶς 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 220–1 app. crit. (C)
- ἐτοῦτο τὸ παρὸν ψαλτήριον ἐνι τοῦ κύρ παπαῖ Ἰωάννου ... ὅτι ἐγόρασά το ἀπὸ τὴν Λευκωσίαν 15th c., Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 91, n. 1.1–2
- ὁ νοῦς μου οὐδὲν ἐναι μετ' ἐμέναν, ὅχι διὰ ζημίαν ἀμὴ διὰ τὰ παιδία, ὅτι ἀγαπῶ τα 15th c., Thrace, DARROUZÈS 1963: 8, 102.20
- νὰ γλυώσω τὸν ἄθρωπο ὃς ἔπλασα ... ὅτι ἐμετάνοιωσα ὅτι ἔκαμά τους 16th c., Pent. Gen. 6.7
- φέρει μού το σπουδαχτικὰ στὸ σπίτι μας, γιατί ἀντιμεύγω σοῦ το 17th c./16th c., CHORTATISIS, Katz. III.149–50

NOTE

- (i) The absence of πώς from this set of examples is probably not accidental, and indicative of the extent to which such “innovative” non-modal conjunctions had been assimilated to the distribution of modal ones.

cl+V

- ὅτε καὶ με ἔλαβεν εἰς νόμιμον γυνὴν εἰς τὴν χώραν Ραγούσας 1171, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VII: 4, 362.9–363.1
- κι ὁ ρῆγας, ὡς τὸ ἤκουσεν, μεγάλως τὸ ἐλυπήθη 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7827
- νὰ σὲ δώσουν ἐκ τῆς γιστέρας τὸ νερόν, ... διατὶ με τὸ ὠρίσε ὁ ἱατρὸς κ' εἶπεν ὅτι ὠφελεῖ με 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8211–13
- νὰ ἡξεύρετε ὅτι μᾶς ἔστειλεν ὁ μέγας αὐθέντης 1430, Ioannina, RIGO 1998: [1], 62.8–9
- ὥσπερ τὸ λέγει ὁ ἅγιος Ἀμβρόσιος ὁ Μεδιολάνων εἰς τὸ χρονικὸ του
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.39–40
- καὶ ἐξεθύμανεν εἰς τοὺς στρατιώτας, πὼς τὲς ἄφησαν καὶ ἔκαμαν τοιοῦτον μέγα πρᾶγμα 16th c., Martyr. Vlas. 247.12–13
- καὶ λὲν πὼς τό 'χει φυσικὸ ν' ἀδυναμίση τόσα 18th c./16th–17th c., KORNAROS, Erot. III.36

Subjects Preceding: V+cl and cl+V

V+cl

- καὶ ὁ φόβος ἔξυπνᾷ σε 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 170
- ὡς ἐκατεστάθησαν ἐπὶ τῶν ἡμερῶν μας, ὁ Θεὸς ἐλευθέρωση σε
13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 215–16
- διατὶ ὁ νόμος λέγει το καὶ ἡ φύσις ἀπαιτεῖ το 13th–14th c./12th c., Spaneas P 165

- ἐγὼ θεωρῶ ὀφθαλμοφανῶς, ὁ ρῆγας ἀγαπᾷ σας, κ' ἔχει σας εἰς προσορώτησιν κ' εἰς τὴν βουλήν του πρώτους 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8517–18
- ὁ βασιλεὺς ὁ Πρίamos μνηᾷ σε μετ' ἐμένα 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1366
- ὁ σουλτάνος ἀπολογήθην του καὶ μήνυσεν του με τοὺς δυό του μαντατοφόρους
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.26–7
- μοναῦτα ὁ πατέρας της ἔπηρén την εἰς τὸ σπítιν του με μεγάλην λύπην 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 6.8–9

cl+V

- ἐγὼ φοφῶ ἀπὸ τοῦ λιμοῦ καὶ ἐκεῖνοι μέ σπαστρεύουν 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 393
- ἀτός του ὁ μισίρ Ντζεφρὲς τοῦ ἔδωκεν τὰ πιττάκια 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 328
- καὶ ἡ βουλή του τοῦ εἶπασιν τοῦ νὰ ἔχη ἀποστείλει ἄνθρωπον φρονιμώτατον
14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7831–2
- τὸ θράσος τὸ ἐνίκησεν, πηδᾷ, καβαλικεύει 16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. O 79
- καὶ ἡ Θεοτόκος τῆς λέγει 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 331.5
- τινὲς εἶπαν ὅτι ὁ Πατριάρχης τοῦ ἐπαρήγγειλε νὰ ὑπάγῃ διὰ βοήθεια 16th c., Chron. Ps.-Doroth. (1572) 70
- ἐξέβα ξέω, ὅτι ὁ βασιλεὺς σε καλεῖ! 16th c., Martyr. Vlas. 245.16
- ἀμμή οἱ Ρωμαῖοι τὸ λέγουσι ἀλλέως 17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 27.22

Simple Topics Preceding: V+cl and (later) cl+V

V+cl (standard)

- ψυχὴ μου, μακροθύμησον, τὸν κόσμον ἔμαθές τον 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 308
- τοὺς Τρῶας ἐτροπεῦσαν τους, ἐδιῶξαν τους, ὑπάγουν 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 3912
- αὐτὰ οὖν ὅλα ἐνθυμᾶσθέ τα νὰ τοὺς νουθετήσετε καὶ νὰ τοὺς παιδεύσετε καλὰ 1465, Rome, LAMBROS 1930: 287.22–288.1
- τὸν Θούμαν ἔφερén τον μετὰ της ἡ κυρὰ ἡ ρήγαινα, ἡ Ελένα
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 4.18–19
- καὶ τοὺς ἄλλους καβαλλάρηδες ἐφάνην τους νὰ τοῦ μηνύσει ὁ ρῆγας, νὰ ῥτη ὀμπρός του 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 22.6–7
- τὸ ὅποῖον ἐτοῦτο ἀκούοντάς το ἐγώ, ὁ εὐχέτης τῆς μεγάλης σου βασιλείας, οὐ δ' ὅλως τὸ ἐπίστευσα 1655, Moldavia, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 9, 77.13–14
- ἀκόμη καὶ τὸ ἄλλον ἤμισον ἐχάρισέν το ὁ Διενής 1665, Cyprus, PERDIKIS 1998: 7, 19.11
- λοιπὸν τὸ γράμμα πέμπω το 17th c., PROSOPSAS, Peri tyflou Dedic. 13

cl+V (later, from ca. 16th c.)

- καὶ ὅλους τοὺς ἐχθροὺς τοὺς ἐνίκα 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 278.18–19
- καὶ τὸ ἄλλο τὸ ἔλεξαν δένδρον τοῦ φεγγαρίου 16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 335.21–2
- καὶ τοῦτο το κάμνει ὁ Θεὸς πολλές φορές 16th c., DIONYS., Istor. 254.16

- τοῦτα τὰ εἶπεν εἰς ὅλους 17th c./16th c., MOREZINOS, Klini 55.14 αὐτὴ τὴν βρύση τὴν ἔφκιασε με ἐδικές του ἐξόδεψες ὁ Ἰζάρ μπέτης
 18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 46.26–47.1

Adverbials/Adverbial Clauses Preceding: V+cl and (in part later) cl+V

V+cl: Adverbials

- ὁκάτι τώρα βλέπω σε, πολλὰ εἶσαι βαρεμένη 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 304 εἰ δὲ πολλάκις δόξει τὴν καὶ φθάσει ὁ καρκατσάς της 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 35 ἀλήθεια, δίδεις με πολλὰ 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. II 24 ἀπὸ μακρὰ στριγγίζω τον 14th c./13th–14th c., Log. parig. L 71 ἐκ μέρους γὰρ τοῦ ἀφέντου του ἐπαρακάλεσέ τον νὰ ὀρίση, νὰ τὸν δώσουσι νερόν ἐκ τὴν γιστέρναν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8220–1 ὀλίγον φέρνει με ὁ θυμὸς νὰ βάλω νὰ σὲ σύρουν ἐκ τῶν ἀλόγων τὰς οὐράς, ὅλους νὰ σᾶς κρεμάσουν 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1465–6 κ' ἐκεῖ εἶχαν τον πολλὰ ἀκριβόν 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 14.17 τὸ λοιπόν, λέγε μου με δίχως φόβον πῶς ἐπλανέθηκες τέτοιαις λογιῇς
 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34.20–1 ἀκόμη ἔδωσέν της καὶ ἄσπρα πεντακόσια 1669, Athens, KAMBOUROGLOU 1889: 184.10

V+cl: Adverbial Clauses

- ὁ προρρηθεὶς ὁ Πιτζούλος, ὅτε καὶ με ἔλαβεν εἰς νόμιμον γυνὴν εἰς τὴν χώραν Ραγούσας, δέδωκέν μοι ἐν οἴκημα 1171, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. VII: 4, 362.8–363.1
 καθεὶς ὡς ἐμαγείρευσεν, εὕρισκει το ἔμπροσθέν του 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 366 θωρῶντα τον ὁ ἀποστολὲς, ἐποῖκεν του πολλὰς τιμὰς 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 14.17–18 οὐλον τὸν κόσμον θρέφει τον τὸ θάρος κ' ἐγὼ φότις ἐβίγλισα ἄχ τὸν Πόθον ... ἔχασά το κι ἁξάψα γοιὸν καμίνιν 16th c./15th–16th c., Cypr. Canz. 109.19–22 ἂν ἡμου καὶ στὴν καδένα, ἤσπουν τη νὰ φύγω 17th c./16th c., CHORTATIS, Katz. III.173–4 cl+V: Adverbials (mainly with a linking function)

- τότε με λογάριασε καλῶς ..., καὶ ἂν μ' εὕρης χρώμενον κακῶς εἰς ταῦτα τὰ με δίδεις, τότε με καταδίκασε, [τότε κατάγνωσέ με] 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. II 66–8 app. crit. (H) ὁ μισὶρ Ντζὰς ὁ Τζαρδεροῦς, κοντόσταυλος ὁ μέγας (οὕτως τὸν ὠνομάζασιν σὸ πριγκιπᾶτο ὅλο ...) 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7820–1 διὰ τοῦτο σε παρακαλοῦν οἱ λίζιοι τοῦ Μορέως 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7902 καὶ ὥσπερ τὰς γυναῖκας των οὕτως με ἀγαποῦσιν 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 767 εἶτα τὸν εἶπε καὶ ἄς τὰ πολλαπλασιάσῃ με ἕτερα ε', εἴθ' οὕτως πέ τον post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 38, 34.4–6 λάκκον βαθύν ἑσκάψασιν, ὡς κάμνουν τοῦ κλημάτου κ' ἐκεῖ μέσα μ' ἐβάλασιν, εἰς τόπον τοῦ χωμάτου 16th c./15th c., Om. Nokr. Vas. 69–70 ὁμοίως τοῦ ἀφίνει καὶ τὸ σπίτι του ... ἀκόμη τοῦ ἀφίνει τοῦ αὐτοῦ Νικολάου χωράφια πινακίων δώδεκα 1583, Zakynthos, ZERLENDIS 1918d: A, 298.19–299.2

ἔλα νὰ πᾶμε εἰς τὸ σπίτι μου, νὰ σταθῇς νὰ ῥδινιάσω τὰ παιδιὰ μου, τὸ σπίτι μου ..., κι ἀπ' ἐκεῖ μέ ἔπαρε 16th c., Nov. II 162.29–31 cl+V: Adverbial Clauses (mostly late, from ca. 16th c.)

καὶ λάφιν δὲν μ' ἐγλύτωνεν ..., τὸ νὰ τὸ δῶ, τὸ δόξευα κ' εἶχα το σκοτωμένον 16th c./15th c., Om. Nokr. Vas. 45–6 ἂν ἤθελες βάλης λίτρες δέκα σαλμίτριο, τοῦ βάνεις δύο κουταλιές στάχτη

?15th–16th c., Heptanese, MORGAN 1954: 66.22

ὡς ἔφθασαν εἰς τὸ σπήλαιον, τοῦ εἶπασιν 16th c., Martyr. Vlas. 245.15

ἡ ἐπιθυμία, ἐνεργῶντας εἰς τοῦ λόγου σας, σᾶς ἐσηκῶνει ἡδονήν
17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 34.11–12

ἔστοντας λοιπὸν νὰ εὐρίσκεται ὁ βασιλεὺς εἰς αὐτείνην τὴν δεινὴν πλάνην καὶ ἀπάτην, τοῦ γεννᾶται ἓνα παιδί 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 37.31–2 τὸν καιρὸ ποὺ ὑπανδρεύθηκε τὴν μακαρίαν καὶ ἀγιοτάτη ὁσίαν Θεοδώραν, τοῦ ἐφανερώθηκε ὁ Σατανὰς καὶ τὸν ἔβαλε εἰς πείραξη

18th c., EFTHYM., Chron. Gal. 25.6–9

Left-Dislocated Topics Preceding: V+cl and (later) cl+V

V+cl (standard)

τὴν ἐπιστολὴ τὴν σέ ἔπεμψα μὲ τὸν Θεόδωρον νὰ τὴν πέμψεις τὸν ἀββᾶν Γεράσιμον, ἀνάγνωσέ την 12th c./11th c., NIKON, Logos 9 314.15–16 τὴν μίαν κασέλαν τὴν μικρὴν ἀφίω την τὸν ἱατρὸν τὸν κύρ Μανουήλ

ca. 1270, Athos, BOMPAIRE 1964: 9A, 81.37

τοὺς κόντους καὶ καβαλλαρίους, ἀπεχαιρέτησέν τους 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 8610 καὶ ἐκεῖνα τὰ ποιεῖς ἐσὺ λέγεις τα πρὸς ἑμένα; 15th c./14th c., Diig. tetr. 164

τὸν νοῦν μου τὸν ἀδούλωτον, ἐκατεδούλωσές τον 15th c./?14th–15th c., Achil. L 743 transcr. (Panayotopoulou/Lendari) ἀπὲ τὸ μοῦ μηνᾶς ὅτι εἶσαι γεῖτος μου καὶ νὰ ἔχωμεν ἀγάπην κατὰ τὸν ὀρισμὸν τοῦ θεοῦ καὶ νὰ ἔχωμεν δῆμμαν μεσὸν μας, τῆτιάζω το

16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 20.27–9

τὴ δοξεμένη μου καρδιά σκίζου καὶ σφάζου μού τη 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSIS, Erof. II.118

cl+V (later, from ca. 16th c.)

τὰ ὁποῖα ἄνωθεν δουκάτα εἴκοσι, τὰ ἔλαβεν χεροδοτὰ σῶα 1581, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 25, 35.14–15

- ταῦτα πάντα ὅσα μὲ ἄφηκεν ὁ πατέρας μου ὁ Σεραφεῖμ, τὰ ἐπερίλαβα ἐγὼ ἡ Ζαφείρω 1606, Serres region, ODORICO 1998: 26, 102.17–18
- ἐκεῖνοι δὲ οἱ προλεγόμενοι ἄνδρες ..., ἐκείνην τὴν κακωσύνην ὅπου εἴχασιν μέσα τως, τὴν φανερώνουσι 17th c., VENETZAS, Varl. & Ioas. 40.12
- τὰ ροῦχα καὶ τὲς κασέλες μέρτσα, τὰ ἔλαβα καὶ κρῖμα εἰς τὸν κόπον 1696, Ochrid, MERTZIOS 1947a: 9, 214.10

8.2.2 V Non-Initial in VC: cl+V

Mood Marker Preceding

- καὶ κἂν ἄς τὸν ἐκέρδησες καὶ κἂν ἄς τὸν ἐχάρης, ἄς εἶδες κἂν ἐνύπνιον γλυκὺν κατὰ τὸν ὕπνον! 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 167–8
- ποῦ ἦτον εἰς τὸν ἐσπερινόν, ἄς τὸν ἐκβάλουν ἔξω 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 49
- καὶ γὰρ ἐζήτησεν τὸ ἥμισυ τῆς χώρας καὶ νὰ τοῦ τὸ ἐδώκασιν 1288, Cos, NYSTAZOPOULOU-PELEKIDOU 1980: 75, 228.22–3
- τὶ νὰ σὲ λέγω τὰ πολλὰ πολλὰκις νὰ βαρεῖσαι; 16th c./14th c., Chron. Mor. P 1092
- ἄς βάλη ἄλλα τόσα καὶ ἕτερα εἴ καὶ ἄς τὰ σουμμάρη. εἶτα τὸν εἶπε καὶ ἄς τὰ πολλαπλασιάσῃ μὲ ἕτερα εἴ, εἴθ' οὕτως πέ τον
post 1427, Unknown, HUNGER/VOGEL 1963: 38, 34.5–6
- τὸν δίδομεν ἄδειαν, τὸ πεζούλιον ὅπερ εὐρίσκεται ἐκεῖ ὅπου τρέχει, ἡγουν ὅπου ἐβγαίνει τὸ νερόν, νὰ τὸ ὀρίζη καὶ νὰ φκιάνη καὶ τὸ νερό ἐὰν χαλάσῃ τίποτε 1582, Athos, LEMERLE 1988: 58, 179.5–6
- καὶ τὰ μετρητὰ τοῦ πεθεροῦ μου, μὲ πρῶτο καράβι ὅπου θέλει ἔρθει νὰ μᾶς τὰ στείλῃς 1697, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 64, 240.4–5

Negative Preceding

- ψεύδεται, φλυαρεῖ, μὴ τὸν πιστεύῃς! 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 133
- μεγαλοψύχως δέξαι με καὶ μὴ μὲ ἀγανακτήσῃς 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. II 19.6 app. crit. (H)
- τὸ δὲ ὁμάτζιο καὶ λιζίαν, τὸ ὀρίζει νὰ ἔχουν ποιήσῃ τοῦ μπάϊλου ἐκείνοῦ ντὲ Σουλῆ, ποτὲ οὐδὲ τὸ κάμνουν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7874–5
- διὰ τοῦτο σὲ παρακαλοῦν οἱ λίζιοι τοῦ Μορέως μὴ τὸ δεχτῇς εἰς βάρος σου ἐτοῦτο ὅπου σὲ λέγουν 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 7902–3
- αὐτοὶ οὐδὲν τὸ ἠθέλησαν, ἥλλαξαν το δὲ καὶ ἀπῆραν τὸ ἀμπέλιον τοῦ γιालοῦ 14th–15th c., Athos, LEFORT et al. 1995: 95, 148.8
- ἂν οὐ σὲ γάπουν τὰ πολλὰ, τώρα σκοτώσει σὲ ἔχα
15th–16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. N 1571
- μὴ σοῦ φαίνεται παράξενο ἂν ἐσκοτίσθηκα ἀπὸ τὴν πολλὴν λάμψιν
16th c., KARTANOS, P&N Diath. 329.30–1
- καὶ ὅσες γραφεῖς τοῦ ἔπεμψε ἡ γυναῖκα του, δὲν τὲς τοῦ ἔδωκεν 1571, Unknown, CATALDI PALAU 2003: 8, 481.11–12

καὶ ἃ δὲν τὸ πιστεύῃ ὁ ἄνωθεν μισερ-Τζώρτζης, ὀμπλεγάρεται ὁ ἄνωθεν μισερ-Μαθιὸς νὰ πὰ τὸ ξανακαμπανίσου στοῦ ἄνωθεν Καρβουνάρη
1609, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 626, 547.15

NOTES

- (i) The traditional negative marker οὐ(κ) and its verb are often treated as a single unit within the verbal complex, thus forcing the clitic either to precede the negative or to follow the verb according to the immediate contextual requirements. This occurs mostly in early texts:

τόπον ἐκ τόπου μεριμνᾷς καὶ τόπος οὐ χωρεῖ σε 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 156 γοργὸν ἂν σὲ οὐκ ἐκβάλλουσιν, ἐκεῖ νὰ ἐξεψυχήσης 13th c./12th c., GLYKAS, Stichoi 229 τί τοὺς οὐ θάπτω ὥσότε ζῶ καὶ φεύγω ἀπὸ τὴν Πόλιν ... ; 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. II 26.11 app. crit. (H)

- (ii) The presence of a connective in second position between a negative and its verb may override the expected clitic placement:

μὴ οὖν ἀποχωρίσης τοὺς μηδ' ἀποπέμψης μᾶλλον 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. I 12

- (iii) The emphatic negative μηδέ regularly stands immediately before the word that it emphasizes and may prevent clitic attraction if this is the verb:

καὶ μηδὲ ἐπιχειρῶ το 12th c. or 13th–14th c., Eisit. f.8v.4

We may contrast examples where the presence of a focus other than V allows for the regular distribution:

τὸ δὲ θεὸς ἐσύ, νὰ μηδὲ ἄλλοι τὸ ποίσης 16th c./15th c., FALIEROS, Log. did. 24

- (iv) A negative marker may combine with an intensifying adverbial to form a single element (= “not at all” etc.):

τὸ ὅποῖον ἐτοῦτο ἀκούοντάς το ἐγώ, ὁ εὐχέτης τῆς μεγάλης σου βασιλείας, οὐ δ' ὅλως τὸ ἐπίστευσα 1655, Moldavia, TCHENTSOVA 2004: 9, 77.13–14

Mood Marker and Negative Preceding

καὶ λυτρωθοῦμεν τον γοργόν, νὰ μὴ μᾶς παραβλέπη 14th c./12th c., Ptoch. IV 528 τοῦτο τὸ βιβλίον ἐνι τοῦ παπᾶ Μιχαήλ τοῦ Πρακανᾶ καὶ εἴ τις νὰ τὸ πάρη νὰ διαβάσῃ καὶ νὰ μηδὲν τὸ στρέψη, νὰ ἔχη τὰς ἀρὰς τῶν τη' θεοφόρων πατέρων 14th c., Cyprus, DARROUZÈS 1953: 99, 99.1–3 ἐγδύνονται ... ἀπὸν τὰ σπίτιαν καὶ ἀπὸ ὅλα τως τὰ δικαιώματα σὰν νὰ μὴν τὰ θέλασιν ἔχει ποτέ 1592, Naxos, KATSOUROS 1955: 19, 74.13–14

παρακαλῶ τὴ πανιερότη σου νὰ μὴ τὸ πάρης σὲ βάρη νὰ μοῦ πέψης μιὰ φλέτσα ...
καὶ κακοφαίνεται μου καὶ γράφεις μου νὰ μὴ τόνε δεκτῶ
1612, Crete, CHAIRETI 1969: 4, 171.10–14

8.3 Clitic Pronouns and Periphrastic Verb Forms

Perfects and pluperfects formed with $\xi\chi\omega$ + passive participle (typically a southern feature, cf. 4.4.4), treat the pronoun as the object of the auxiliary. This is expected, since the origin of the construction is an expression in which the participle serves as an object predicate: “I have it + written” etc. The placement of the clitic vis-à-vis $\xi\chi\omega$ then follows Rule (94) (i.e. in conformity with the various constraints on what can count as an initial constituent for the purposes of clitic placement):

- $\theta\omega\rho\tilde{\omega}$ τὸν θάνατον καὶ $\xi\chi\epsilon\iota$ σας κερδεμένους 16th c./15th c., LIMEN., Than. Rod. 61 $\mu\iota$ ὄλο ποὺ τόσοι βασιλιοὶ τὴν $\xi\chi\omicron\upsilon$ ζητημένην 17th c./16th c., CHORTATSI, Erof. I.534 βοήθεια ἀπὸ ἄρματα, ὅπου οἱ Τούρκοι τοὺς $\xi\chi\omicron\upsilon\omicron\upsilon$ ν στερεμένα 1609, Cyprus, CHASIOIOTIS 1972: 35, 59.7

For examples of pluperfects formed with $\epsilon\tilde{\iota}\chi\alpha$ + infinitive (which are ultimately derived from conditionals), see below.

From the semantic point of view, futures and conditionals formed with $\xi\chi\omega/\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\omega$ + infinitive or subjunctive should treat clitic pronouns as complements of the infinitive/subjunctive, cf. “I will + take it”, “he will + come to you”, etc. This is clearly the case when the subjunctive is marked by $\nu\acute{\alpha}$, since there are obviously two distinct VCs in play and the clitic always belongs to the second (as its second element):

- $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\epsilon\iota\varsigma$ [$\nu\acute{\alpha}$ τοὺς ἐκλέξης] 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 4633 ἂν δύναιμαι, $\xi\chi\omega$ [$\nu\acute{\alpha}$ σὲ δουλεύσω] ?1448, Constantinople, VRANOUSI 1980: 45, 321.5 $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\epsilon\iota$ [$\nu\acute{\alpha}$ μοῦ δώσει] ὁ ἀδερφός μου
 1531, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 20, 66.13–14
 $\xi\chi\epsilon\iota$ [$\nu\acute{\alpha}$ τοῦ $\xi\lambda\theta\eta$] αὐτὸς ὁ θάνατος
 1598, Crete, BAKKER/VAN GEMERT 1987: 14, 35.5–6

The same analysis in fact applies to the relatively rare examples of bare subjunctives without $\nu\acute{\alpha}$:

- $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\nu$ ἤθελαν τὸ δουλεύουν 1573, Kefalonia, ZAPANDI 2001a: 2, 21.10

This situation persists throughout the period of this Grammar and eventually results, via phonological reduction of the auxiliary, in the sequence ($\theta\acute{\epsilon}$ $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ >) $\theta\acute{\alpha}$ + clitic + V familiar from MG (where the residual status of $\theta\alpha$ as the head of a VC is indicated by the fact that it is still negated by $\delta\epsilon\nu$, independently of what follows).

Things are different, however, with infinitives (in what follows, futures/conditionals and pluperfects are treated together as formally parallel periphrastic structures). When the auxiliary is initial, the pronoun stands before the infinitive, making it the second element both in the periphrasis taken as a whole and in the containing clause:

- Aux + cl + Infinitive: $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\omega$ σου $\tau\alpha$ πέψει 1498, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 3, 21.16

When the auxiliary is non-initial in its VC, or has been attracted to a clause-initial constituent, the clitic is normally preposed before the auxiliary to remain the second item in the periphrasis/clause:

- X [cl + Aux + Infinitive]: $\nu\acute{\alpha}$ τὴν $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\omega\mu\epsilon\omicron\upsilon$ ν $\theta\acute{\alpha}\psi\epsilon\iota$; 15th c./?12th c., Dig. E 92

This state of affairs suggests an early reanalysis of the sequence Aux + cl + Inf, whereby the clitic was taken to be the grammatical complement of the preceding auxiliary rather than of the following infinitive. In other words, infinitival periphrases came to be regarded as unitary verb forms, with the auxiliary as part of a single VC and the infinitive as its head.

This latter development, however, was generalized rather slowly in the south, most obviously in Crete:

τοῖ γάμους σου ἔρχεται νὰ τιμήσῃ ὁ βασιλιὸς τῆς Πέρσις, σὰν εἶχα σου μιλήσει 17th c., TROILOS, Rodol. III.215–16

It was strongly resisted in Cyprus, where the auxiliary and infinitive are consistently treated as the heads of two distinct VCs, giving the sequence [X + Aux + cl + Infinitive] in all cases:

νὰ εἶχα [σε γεννήσειν] 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 644.5–6 ἂν εἶχεν [τοῦ πάρειν] τὸ καράβιν, ἔθελεν πεθάνειν ἀπὲ τὴν πληξίν τοῦ 16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. O 86.3–4

ἂν εἶχα [τὸ ξεύρειν], οὐδὲ ἐγὼ ἔμπαινα 16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 38.3

ἂν εἶχεν [τὸ ποίσειν], ἐγινίσκετον μέγα σκάνταλον
16th c./15th c., VOUSTR., Chron. A 52.6–7

Auxiliary Initial: Aux+cl+V

καὶ ἂν τὸν πάρῃς, θέλω σοῦ δώσειν κακὸν θάνατον
16th c./15th c., MACHAIRAS, Chron. V 68.26

θέλωμε σοῦ δώσει θέλημα 1663, Crete, LYDAKI 2000: 5, 415.13

μοῦ ἔγραφε πὼς θέλεις μοῦ στείλῃ τὸ ρέστο τῆς παραγγελίας 1696, Kastoria, MERTZIOS 1947a: 6, 213.8–9

ἤθελε τὸν ρίξῃ κάτω μὲ καμίαν λαβωματιάν 18th c., Don Kis. 50.17

NOTES

- (i) Failure of attraction of the clitic to the innovative/popular complementizer in cases like πὼς θέλεις μοῦ στείλῃ (MERTZIOS 1947a: 6, 213.8–9, cited above) is difficult to explain in view of what was said above about this class of elements (and cf. the expected pattern attested in the examples immediately below). Perhaps these cases simply reflect the continuing influence of the functionally equivalent ὅτι, which tends to retain the “main-clause” distribution of clitics in subordinate clauses, as noted. We may compare the same situation in corresponding examples with pluperfects:

ὡς εἶδανε οἱ Οὐγγαροὶ τοὺς Φραντζέζους τὸ πὼς εἶχανέ τοῦσε κόψει ὅλους
17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 33.1–2

Auxiliary Non-Initial: X cl+Aux+V

εἰ μὲν τὸν θέλεις κακοποιῆσαι διὰ τὰ σφάλματα αὐτοῦ 1130–40?, Sicily, CUSA 1868/82: Coll. XI: 14, 535.9–10

τὸ στέμμα τὸ βασιλικὸν νὰ τοῦ τὸ ἔχουν φορέσει 14th c., Chron. Mor. H 953 ὅταν σᾶς θέλουν σφάζει 15th c./14th c., Pol. Tr. 1441 ἐκεῖνοι παρακάθονται ἵνα τὸ θέλουν πάρει 16th c./14th–15th c., Achil. O

ὄντε τῇ θεῇ ζητήξει

16th c./15th c., FALIEROS, Ist. On. 160 σὰν ἔλθοῦν οἱ ποντικοὶ ..., τοὺς θέλομε ἀντισταθῇ

16th c., ZINOS, Vatr. 261–2

Pluperfects formed with εἶχα + infinitive naturally follow the same general patterns of clitic distribution, though the fact that the majority of examples occur in subordinate clauses with overt conjunctions strongly favours pre-auxiliary position overall. Generally, therefore, the clitic precedes the auxiliary in the presence of a conjunction (or indeed a negative marker or other legitimate “initial” element):

ἔβαλαν τὸν βασιλέαν ἐκεῖνον εἰς τὸ σκαμνὶ ... ὅπου τὸ εἶχεν χάσει

14th. c., Chron. Mor. H 622–3

καθὼς τοὺς εἶχε ὁμόσει

16th c./14th. c., Chron. Mor. P 81

δὲ μοῦ εἶχες δώσει τότες ἄλλο ..., ἀμὴ εἶχε μου εἰπεῖν

1501–3, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 7, 33.7

καθὼς τοὺς εἶχεν ἀφήκει ὁ Νεκτεναβός

16th c., Diig. Alex. K 349.33

προτοῦ σώσει ἐκεῖ, τὸν εἶχε φθονήσει ἡ γυναῖκα του καὶ ὁ υἱός του καὶ τὸν ἐσκοτώσανε

17th c., Chron. Tourk. Soult. 30.29–31

τὲς δύο στάμνες ποῦ σοῦ εἶχα στείλει

1681, Ioannina, VELOUDIS 1987: 9, 306, f2r.21

But if the conjunction is a traditional one, the clitic may sometimes follow:

ἐπειδὴ εἶχον του μηνύσει νὰ ἔλθει νὰ ἱμοιράσουν 1502, Corfu, PANDAZI 2007: 39, 33.2–3

And post-auxiliary position is regular in the second of two conjoined clauses when the periphrasis is the initial element:

δὲ μοῦ εἶχες δώσει τότες ἄλλο ..., ἀμὴ εἶχε μου εἰπεῖν

1501–3, Crete, MANOUSSACAS 1976: 7, 33.7

By contrast, the original (i.e. biclausal) treatment of the construction is retained in Cyprus, with clitics appearing in post-auxiliary position across the board:

εἶχαν τὸν κόψει κακὰ καὶ ἐτελεύτησεν

15th c./?13th c., Assizes B 267.11–12

εἶχαμὲν το δώσει

1468, Cyprus, RICHARD/PAPADOPOULOS 1983: 46, 25.2

Index of Linguistic Terms and Concepts

- accusative. See case and grammatical functions, adjuncts
- addition. See consonant addition and vowel addition
- adjective phrases. See grammatical functions, adjuncts
- adjectives, 241, 688–808
 indeclinable, 757, 758, 763, 792, 793–4, 807–8, 820, 824 irregular, 794–806
 two-termination, 718–21 verbal, in periphrastic forms, 1269, 1272, 1818, 1825–6, 1833, 1839
- adjuncts. See grammatical functions
- adverbs, 241, 830–44
 comparative forms, 841–4 from adjectives, 832–6, 839–40, 841 from nouns, 840
 from numerals, 837
 from participles, 833
 from prepositional phrases, 838–9, 840
 in comparative clauses, 1924 of degree/quantity, 836–7 of time/speed, 837–8
See also grammatical functions, adjuncts
- affrication. See consonant changes
- agreement
 case, 1816, 1823, 1831, 1834, 1836, 1838, 1864, 1915, 1928, 1944, 1945, 2018 gender, 1816, 1823, 1831, 1834, 1836, 1838, 1864, 1915, 1928, 1944 in control predicates, 1888–9 in relative clauses, 1984–7 case attraction, 1103, 1123, 1129, 1130, 1133, 1984, 1986 number, 1816, 1823, 1831, 1834, 1836, 1838, 1863–4, 1915, 1927, 1928–9, 1944, 1945 ad sensum, 1864
 Attic syntax, 1864
 of predicative complements, 1864–5 of topic and clitic, 2024 person, 1863–4, 1927, 1928–9 conjoined subjects, 1864
- analogical levelling, 38, 39, 69, 73, 84, 135, 146, 148, 223, 229, 241, 253–4, 256, 266, 287, 874, 953, 973, 993, 1043, 1267–8, 1276, 1277, 1293, 1302–7, 1355, 1399, 1434, 1497, 1498, 1532, 1602, 1608, 1723
- anaptyxis. See vowel addition and consonant addition
- aorist. See tense
- aphaeresis. See vowel deletion
- apocope. See vowel deletion
- apodosis. See conditional
- apposition, 2017–18
 appositive clauses, 2017–18
 appositive noun phrases, 1947, 2018, 2025 non-restrictive, 2018
 restrictive, 2019
- Arabic. See loanwords and writing system, foreign scripts
- articles, 241, 846–61
 definite, 846–61, 1969–74
 determiner spreading, 1972–3 omission of, 94–5, 847, 1971, 1972 in conjoined noun phrases, 1970 in prepositional phrases, 1972 reverse determiner spreading, 1973–4 used as relative pronoun, 1097–105, 1983, 1984–5 with pronouns, 895, 910, 912, 924, 951, 971, 993, 998, 1002, 1008, 1009, 1042, 1106, 1135, 1150, 1161, 1164, 1980, 1982 with proper names and titles, 2020 with superlatives, 814, 816 indefinite, 861, 1041–50, 1976–7 zero, 1974–5
- aspect. See verbal aspect
- aspiration, 131, 138
- assimilation. See consonant changes and vowel changes
- asyndeton. See coordination
- augment, 37, 44, 48, 49, 1269, 1394–433 absence of, 1406–7, 1410–13, 1417–19, 1432–3 in compound verbs, 1394, 1413–17 double, 1414
 external, 1414–16
 internal, 1417
 triple, 1417
 in prefixed verbs, 1394–5, 1419–32
 double, 1423, 1426–32

- augment (cont.)
 external, 1419, 1423–6
 internal, 1420–3
 pseudo-augment, 38–40, 67, 536, 1395–6, 1514 replacing initial vowel, 1269, 1394, 1407, 1408–10, 1413, 1416, 1423, 1425, 1430–1
 syllabic, 1394, 1397–406
 /e/, 1397–8
 /i/, 1398–406
 general distribution, 1398–402 restricted distribution, 1403–6, 1410, 1425 temporal, 1394, 1407–8
 with loanwords, 1397
 with simple verbs, 1397–413 auxiliary verb constructions. See periphrastic tenses and moods
- backing. See vowel changes
- case, 241, 1944, 1945–63
 accusative, 1947–57
 direct object, 1947–9
 double, 1948–9
 indirect object, 1949–50
 periphrastic ἔχω + acc., 1949 replaced by prep. phrase, 1949, 1950 with intrans./pass. verbs/adj., 1949 dative, 254, 297, 319, 329, 490, 532, 537, 857, 1183, 1961–2
 innovative forms, 242–3 replaced by acc., 1951–2 replaced by gen., 1951, 1952 residual uses, 241–3, 876, 1961–2 genitive, 1957–9
 absolute, 1708, 1757, 1915, 1916–17, 1941, 1946 governed by adj., 1958–9 indirect object, 1957–8
 replaced by acc., 1952
 replaced by prep. phrase, 1952, 1957, 1958, 1964 nominative, 1945
 ‘hanging’, 1946, 2023, 2024
 absolute, 1915–16, 1941
 replaces vocative, 415, 480, 626, 667, 1947 syncretism, 243–8
 of acc. and gen. pl., 243–6 of acc. and nom. sg., 247–8 of nom. and acc. pl., 247
 vocative, 1947
 See also agreement and grammatical functions, adjuncts
 case attraction. See agreement, in relative clauses clauses, 1863–926
- adverbial, 1896–926
 causal, 1920
 coordinated with καί, 1919–20
 overlap with temporal clauses, 1920 resembling complement clauses, 1919
 comparative, 1925
 counterfactual, 1923, 1924
 factual, 1922–3, 1924
 overlap with temporal clauses, 1923
 prospective, 1923–4
 concessive, 1921
 conditional, 1901–5
 future time reference, 1901–3 past time reference, 1904–5
 present time reference, 1903–4 See also conditional consecutive/result, 1899–901 coordinated with καί, 1900–1 omission of conjunction, 1900 overlap with final clauses, 1900 final/purpose, 1896–8
 coordinated with καί, 1897–8
 infinitival, 1897
 nominalized, 1896, 1897
 omission of conjunction, 1896 overlap with consecutive clauses, 1900 governed by a preposition, 1925–6
 temporal, 1917
 following, 1906–7, 1911–13 overlapping, 1906, 1909, 1910–11 preceding, 1906, 1907–10
 omission of conjunction, 1910 overlap with causal clauses, 1920 overlap with comparative clauses, 1923 with gerund/participle, 1917 with nominalized verb forms, 1913–14 complement clauses, 1884–94
 control predicates, 1887–9
 coordinated with καί, 1886, 1889–90, 1893
 indirect questions, 1894–5 deliberative, 1895
 nominalized, 1895
 omission of complementizer, 1885–6, 1890, 1893 with aspectual verbs, 1891, 1892–3 with factive verbs, 1887, 1890–1 with modal verbs, 1891–2 with verbs of fearing/precaution, 1893–4 with verbs of reporting/declaring, 1884–6 main, 1863–83
 commands and prohibitions, 1875–9
 exclamations, 1881
 questions, 1879–80
 constituent, 1879
 rhetorical, 1796, 1798, 1879 speculative, 1880

- yes/no, 1879–80, 1894, 1895
- statements, 1865–75
 - factual, 1865
 - hypothetical, 1865–75
- wishes, 1881–3
 - counterfactual, 1882–3
 - for the future, 1881–2
- relative, 1983–92
 - headless, 1096–7, 1098, 1104–5, 1154, 1161, 1990–2
 - non-restrictive, 1097, 1103, 1104, 1122–3, 1988–90
 - modifying a sentence, 1990
 - omission of relat. marker, 1987–8
 - restrictive, 1104, 1136, 1983–8
 - with concessive/temporal sense, 1921
 - with final sense, 1897
- clitic doubling
 - in relative clauses, 1097, 1105, 1123, 1145, 1989
 - with topics, 2023–5
- clitic pronouns. See pronouns and determiners,
 - personal, weak; clitic doubling and constituent order
- coalescence. See phonemes, vowels, regional differentiation
- commands. See clauses, main
- comparison, 814–29
 - analytic/periphrastic, 815, 818–19
 - comparative, 715, 815, 817–19, 820
 - correlative, 1988
 - double, 819–20
 - irregular formations, 820–6, 828–9
 - superlative
 - absolute, 689, 815, 826–9
 - relative, 715, 815, 818, 819, 820
 - synthetic/monolectic, 815, 816–18
- See also* adverbs and clauses, adverbial
- complementizers. See clauses, complement clauses
- complements. See grammatical functions
- compounds, 216, 255, 261, 288, 304, 349, 352, 356, 358, 435, 450, 460, 463, 514, 516, 518, 590, 592, 688, 697, 705, 718, 772, 778, 780, 782, 783, 785, 993, 1060, 1067
- adverb + verb, 832
- dvandva
 - nouns, 306, 310
 - numerals, 1252, 1253
 - verbs, 1413, 1417
- stress position, 235–7
- conditional, 1271, 1932
 - apodosis, 1796, 1798, 1803, 1806, 1866, 1871, 1875, 1901
 - denoting habituality, 1799, 1938
 - develops into pluperfect, 1796, 1815–16, 1901, 1938
 - future-in-the-past, 1271, 1795, 1797, 1802, 1805, 1811, 1812, 1866, 1871
 - in comparative clauses, 1923
 - in indefinite relative clauses, 1798–9, 1847
 - in requests, 1796, 1798
 - in rhetorical questions, 1796, 1798
 - in unrealised wishes, 1796, 1798, 1882, 1883
 - lack of aspectual contrast, 1871
 - lack of temporal distinction, 1866, 1871
 - modal
 - deontic, 1796, 1802, 1812, 1872
 - hypothetical, 1865–75
 - counterfactual, 1271, 1796, 1797, 1798, 1802, 1803, 1805, 1806–7, 1809, 1811, 1812, 1813, 1815, 1871–5, 1903–5, 1923, 1924
 - neutral, 1796, 1798, 1865–70, 1901, 1902–3
 - potential, 1812
 - protasis, 1796, 1798, 1803, 1806, 1871, 1875, 1901
 - with past-tense complementation, 1802, 1806–7, 1811, 1813
- See also* periphrastic tenses and moods and clauses, adverbial
- conjugation, 1269–71
- conjunction. See coordination
- consonant addition, 142–50
 - anaptyxis/epenthesis, 116, 143–50
 - of /ɣ/, 79, 143–9, 1043, 1051, 1055, 1275, 1277, 1291, 1300, 1301–2, 1303, 1319, 1386, 1388, 1389, 1410, 1532, 1583
 - of /t/, 150
 - of nasal, 79, 117, 149–50, 1267, 1274, 1277, 1281–2, 1284–6, 1299–300, 1356, 1357, 1381, 1384
- final /n/, 48, 117, 165–74, 175, 183, 265, 274, 275, 289, 292, 327, 429, 489, 503, 512, 519, 578, 588, 597, 633, 645, 648–50, 652, 654, 679–80, 683, 686, 751, 762, 775, 834, 863, 864, 868, 953, 1009, 1025, 1028, 1042, 1046, 1049, 1065, 1161, 1171, 1224, 1248, 1369, 1370, 1436, 1437, 1440, 1447, 1448, 1449, 1450, 1457, 1460, 1467, 1472, 1473, 1480, 1482, 1485, 1488, 1493, 1494, 1495, 1497, 1499, 1501, 1504, 1509, 1511, 1520, 1525, 1526, 1534, 1535, 1538, 1541–2, 1550, 1561, 1565, 1580, 1599, 1600–1, 1606, 1608, 1616, 1622, 1648, 1649, 1653, 1655, 1656, 1657, 1661, 1663, 1664, 1668, 1671, 1674, 1679, 1680, 1681, 1687, 1688, 1699, 1705, 1711, 1715, 1717, 1723, 1726, 1734, 1737, 1741, 1764, 1765, 1812
- morphological, 166–70
- phonetic, 170–4

consonant addition (cont.)

final /s/, 120, 163–4, 547, 577, 590, 650, 679–80, 830–1, 834–6, 842, 1014, 1034, 1088, 1678, 1696–7, 1700–2, 1705–6, 1707, 1741, 1755, 1758 intrusive /s/, 1355–6, 1386

prothesis, 117, 120, 142–3

consonant changes, 185–221

/xt/ > /kt/ and /ft/ > /pt/, 192, 1318–19, 1322–4, 1329, 1338, 1385

affrication, 122–3, 194–8, 249, 942

antimetathesis, 217–18

assimilation, 112, 116, 117, 218, 1134

of /n/, leading to gemination, 131, 134–5, 138, 139–41, 159, 174

of fricatives before nasals, 116, 139, 156, 212 cluster simplification, 115, 120, 126–30, 188

deaffrication, 123–4, 142

depalatalization, 17–22, 116, 120, 259, 634, 705, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 714, 745, 751, 757, 789, 791, 826, 1256, 1257, 1487, 1657

devoicing, 115, 116, 203, 207

dissimilation, 116, 117, 118, 218–21, 667

dissimilatory consonant deletion, 114, 161–2, 219

dissimilatory syllable deletion, 220–1 fricative interchange, 116, 212–14 voiced, 153, 213–14

voiceless, 115, 212–13

fricativization, 114, 115 due to language contact, 210 due to palatalization, 209–10 due to voicing assimilation, 210–11 sporadic, 208–9, 1034

liquid interchange, 118, 214–16 delateralization, 215–16, 1286, 1336–7 liquid dissimilation, 216 manner dissimilation, 113, 115, 124, 125,

185–93, 1247, 1248, 1260, 1261, 1268, 1312, 1313, 1314, 1315–17, 1322, 1324, 1327, 1330, 1338, 1339, 1340, 1341, 1389, 1451, 1489, 1492, 1493, 1561, 1564, 1606, 1652, 1659 metathesis, 79, 118, 216–17, 737, 745, 747, 1336–7, 1372, 1375

occlusion, 115, 211–12

palatalization, 103, 112, 117, 118, 119, 121, 193– 202, 249, 436, 737, 1003, 1302–7, 1375, 1484, 1487, 1658, 1726–7 dental, 198–202, 679, 682 strong velar, 194–8

velar, 15, 121, 193–4, 1307, 1491, 1497 voicing, 113, 115, 173–4, 202–6, 333, 475, 879, 904, 905, 909, 1070, 1793

intervocalic, 205–6

post-nasal, 116–17, 203–5, 851, 903

See also phonemes and hypercorrection consonant clusters. See phonotactics consonant deletion, 150–63

final /n/, 117, 125, 174–85, 269–70, 281, 282, 294–5, 313, 323, 329, 338, 350, 370, 371, 396, 417, 418, 445, 457, 482, 483, 492, 500, 516, 528, 542, 598, 607, 620, 628, 629, 630, 633, 641,
642, 655, 672, 699, 700, 704, 711, 726, 784, 851, 856, 860, 921, 922, 923, 1049, 1061, 1213, 1272, 1444, 1476, 1506, 1512, 1528, 1531, 1540, 1542, 1550, 1551, 1554, 1555, 1556, 1566, 1567, 1568, 1569, 1572, 1574,
1585, 1589, 1591, 1595, 1598, 1602, 1610, 1611, 1624, 1628, 1638, 1639, 1642, 1644, 1645, 1683, 1684, 1686, 1692, 1693, 1694, 1695, 1708, 1713, 1730, 1732, 1743, 1743, 1745, 1747, 1764

final /s/, 120, 125, 161–3, 255, 271, 273–4, 284, 296, 307, 318, 319, 323, 325, 362, 377, 390–1, 405, 410, 420, 425, 457, 471, 476, 487, 539, 548, 561, 578, 667, 668, 680, 683

fricatives, 116, 150–6

/ð/ before synizesis, 154–5 before nasals, 155–6

intervocalic, 151–4, 312, 315, 427, 431, 574, 863, 1034, 1291, 1354–5

nasals, 117, 156–61

before fricatives, 125, 159–61 before stops, 125, 156–9, 1459, 1460, 1497, 1557, 1566, 1568, 1611, 1700, 1702, 1706, 1757

word-initial, 120, 143

consonantization, 7, 16–17, 22, 24, 99, 101–2, 103, 112, 115, 116, 126, 130, 187, 192, 199, 212. See also synizesis

constituent order, 2022–40

focalization, 1973–4, 1980, 2022–3, 2025–6

in clauses, 2026

in phrases, 2026

neutral, 2022

position of clitic pronouns, 2026

with gerunds, 2031

with imperatives, 2031

with periphrastic verb forms, 2038

with simple verb forms, 2026–38

topicalization, 2022–5

left-dislocation, 2023–4, 2029 right-dislocation, 2025

simple, 2024

- verb attraction
 - to adverbial, 2029
 - to focal constituent, 2023, 2025, 2027, 2028
 - to interrogative constituent, 1879, 1880, 1966, 2023, 2027, 2028
 - to modal conjunction, 2023, 2027, 2028
 - to non-modal conjunction, 2023, 2028
 - to relative constituent, 2023, 2027, 2028
- word order
 - in definite noun phrases, 1972–4, 1980, 1981–2
 - in indefinite noun phrases, 1976–9, 1980
- constituents
 - direct object, 1927, 1929, 1934, 1937, 1947–8, 1949, 1957
 - subject of passive verb, 1929
 - indirect object, 1927, 1948, 1949–50
 - genitive, 1949, 1957–8
 - prep. phrase, 1949, 1950, 1957, 1958
 - subject of passive verb, 1929
 - object predicate, 1864–5, 2038
 - predicate, 1927, 2022, 2023
 - subject, 1863–4, 1929, 1934, 1937, 1945–6, 2023
 - coreferential, 1915, 1916–17, 1942
 - omission of, 1863, 1888–9, 1910, 1913, 1915, 1920, 1927, 1946
 - non-coreferential, 1888, 1890, 1913, 1915, 1916–17
 - subject predicate, 1863, 1864
- control predicates. See clauses, complement clauses
- coordination, 2008–17
 - additive, 2008–12, 2014–16
 - replacing subordination, 1886, 1889–90, 1893, 1897–8, 1900–1, 1919–20, 1969
 - adversative/contrastive, 2012–13, 2016
 - asyndeton, 2011, 2016
 - comparative/equative, 2010
 - disjunctive, 2011, 2013–14, 2016–17
 - of clauses and sentences, 2008–12
 - with ellipsis, 2010–11
 - of sub-clausal constituents, 2014–17
- coreferentiality. See constituents, subject
- crasis, 10, 79, 98, 110–11, 863, 951, 1096, 1289, 1412
- Cyrillic. See writing system, foreign scripts
- dative. See case
- definiteness, 1964, 1965, 2020
 - pragmatic, 1970, 1971
 - semantic, 1970–1
- degemination, xxx, 125, 132, 133, 140, 159, 174, 175, 206
- deletion. See consonant deletion and vowel deletion
- deletion of /j/. See phonemes, semivowel /j/
- depalatalization. See consonant changes
- deponent verbs. See verbs
- determiners. See pronouns and determiners
- devoicing. See consonant changes
- dialects. See regional variation
- diglossia, xvii, 125. See also register
- diminutives, 255, 357, 459, 464, 493, 592, 609, 610, 778, 779, 785–6, 794
- diphthongization, 14, 23, 79, 84, 100, 1368
- diphthongs. See phonemes
- direct object. See constituents
- direct speech, 1884
 - introduced by ὅτι, 1969
- dissimilation. See consonant changes and vowel changes
- double consonants. See gemination
- enclisis. See stress
- epenthesis. See consonant addition
- exclamations. See clauses, main
- factivity, 1881, 1886–7, 1890–1, 1899, 1919, 1967–8
- final /n/ and /s/. See consonant addition and consonant deletion
- focalization. See constituent order
- French, xx, xxvi, 8–9, 181, 199, 245, 585. See also Occitan and loanwords
- fricative interchange, fricativization. See consonant changes
- future, future perfect. See tense
- gemination, 113–19, 124, 130–42, 181
 - after assimilation of /n/, 131, 134–5, 138–41, 159, 174
 - etymological, 132–3
 - in loanwords, 133–4, 140
 - spontaneous, 135–42, 223, 802, 817, 821, 897, 1188, 1286, 1294, 1374, 1450, 1752, 1789, 1790
- gender, 241, 1944. See also agreement
 - biological, 1945
 - change of, 256, 298–9, 305, 400, 453, 463–4, 532, 584, 589, 593, 661–4, 685
 - grammatical, 1945
 - in coordinated expressions, 1945
- genitive. See case and grammatical functions, adjuncts
- gerund, 1269, 1271, 1434, 1682, 1696–709, 1927, 1928, 1932, 1939, 1940–1, 1946, 2031
 - aorist, 1311, 1347, 1697, 1705–9, 1915, 1940, 1941
 - equivalent to temporal clause, 1917
 - from passive stem, 1697, 1707
 - in periphrastic verbal forms, 1271, 1272, 1818, 1826–7, 1830, 1833, 1840, 1843, 1939
 - of εἶμαι, 1753–8

- gerund (cont.)
 as causal/temporal conjunction, 1755, 1756, 1918
 present, 1275, 1697, 1705, 1915, 1940–1 aspectually neutral, 1915 of deponent verbs, 1699, 1701–2, 1915, 1940 with gen. subject, 1916–17 with nom. subject, 1916 glide absorption, formation. See synizesis grammatical functions
 adjuncts
 accusative, 1953–7
 cognate object, 1956–7
 in intensifying reduplicated expression, 1956 of exclamation, 1956
 of interest, 1951
 of respect/specification, 1954–6 of space/extent/measure, 1953 of time, 1953–4
 distributive, 1954
 adverbial clauses. See clauses adverbial nominal phrases, 1927, 1953–7, 1959–61 adverbs and adverb phrases, 1927, 2003–7 clausal, 1884, 1896–926
 genitive, 1959–61
 medium of communication, 1960 of description/measure, 1961
 of interest, 1951
 of place/time, 1959
 of possession/belonging, 1960 used predicatively, 1960 of reason/cause, 1959 used absolutely, 1959
 of specification, 1960–1 prepositions and prepositional phrases, 1927, 1993–2003 adverb + gen., 2006–7
 agentive, 1929
 governing a nominalized inf., 1925
 indirect object, 1949, 1950, 1957, 1958 with a governing adverb, 2003–5 See also case
 complements adjectival/nominal, 1864–5, 1945
 clausal, 1884–94
 infinitival, 1887–8, 1891, 1892, 1895, 1942
 nominalized, 1888, 1891, 1892, 1925 replaced by vā + subj., 1888–9, 1892 of nouns, 1963–9
 clausal, 1965–9
 nominalized, 1966
 partitive gen., 1964–5
 replaced by prep. phrase, 1965 subjective and objective gen., 1963–4 replaced by prep. phrase, 1964
 prepositions and prepositional phrases
 governing a nominalized inf., 1925
See also clauses, complement clauses graphemes, xii, xiv, xix, xx, xxi, xviii, clxvii, clxix half-central vowels /æ/ and /œ/. See vowel changes, regional differentiation, coalescence Hebrew. See writing system, foreign scripts height dissimilation, 99, 106, 107, 108, 199, 408, 413, 462, 517, 686, 756. See also synizesis hiatus and hiatus resolution, xxi, 79–94, 848, 851, 950, 951, 1580 high vowel deletion. See vowel deletion hypercorrection, 75, 79, 114, 203, 225, 375, 452, 463, 620, 637, 638, 720, 922, 953, 969, 973, 979, 980, 1025, 1046, 1088, 1101, 1107, 1123, 1134–5, 1136, 1156, 1201, 1240, 1324, 1329, 1996 in double consonants, 132 of back vowel raising, 31, 32, 378, 1731, 1733 of fricative deletion, 153, 154, 156, 207, 213–14 of fricativization, 209 of height dissimilation, 108 of high vowel deletion, 43 of intervocalic [y] deletion, 144, 146 of liquid interchange, 214, 215, 216 of manner dissimilation, 185, 190, 192–3, 1276, 1318, 1322, 1329, 1749 of mid vowel raising, 27, 31, 32, 69, 1636 of nasal deletion, 149, 166, 171, 175, 184, 205, 850, 1130, 1499, 1534, 1616 of occlusion, 211
 of palatalization of /l/, 20 of raising vocalism, 33, 35, 669, 848, 1445, 1507, 1549, 1552, 1651 of strong velar palatalization, 196 of synizesis, 100, 107, 144, 436, 444, 515 imparisyllabic plural, 246, 254, 255, 256, 301–4, 306, 322, 324, 349, 350, 355, 356, 360, 365, 381, 383, 384, 388, 401, 423, 427, 430, 450, 453, 456, 458, 467, 469, 471, 481, 483, 493, 533, 539, 544, 551, 569, 579, 585, 645, 762, 1030 imperative. See mood imperfect. See tense indeclinable forms. See adjectives; nouns; participles and pronouns indefiniteness, 1974–80 indicative. See mood

- indirect object. See constituents
- infinitive, 1269, 1271, 1347, 1434, 1681–96, 1795, 1927, 1928, 1932, 1939, 1942–3, 1946
- aorist, 1373, 1689–96, 1866–8, 1871, 1872, 1887
contracted forms, 1690
verbs with barytone and oxytone forms, 1513, 1693–6
- dominance of /i(n)/ ending, 1682
- nominalized, 1888, 1891, 1892
governed by a preposition, 1925 complementing adjectives, 1925 in final clauses, 1897
temporal, 1913–14, 1943
with control verbs, 1943
- of εἶμαι, 1750–3
- present, 1275, 1305, 1682–9, 1866, 1867, 1868, 1872, 1873, 1887, 1892
demise of, 1682, 1686, 1868, 1873 of residual O-stems, 1685, 1686, 1689 replaced by vá + subj., 1773, 1779, 1869, 1872, 1888–9, 1891, 1892, 1925
- substantivized, 609–10, 687
with aspectual/modal verbs, 1943 with clitic pronouns, 2038
with control verbs, 1887–8, 1895, 1942
See also periphrastic tenses and moods
- irrational nasal, spirant. See consonant addition
- Italian, xxvi, 8–9, 119, 123, 149, 194, 199, 205, 211, 275, 287, 307, 325, 377, 438, 440, 441, 462, 579, 580, 582, 583, 585, 605, 729, 785, 1139, 1377, 1682, 1755, 1756, 1758, 1779, 1813, 1817, 1841, 1857. See also Venetian and loanwords
- Kretschmer's Law. See vowel deletion, syncope
- labialization. See vowel changes
- language contact, 8–9, 31, 39, 119, 124, 181, 205, 210, 211, 791–4, 972, 1106, 1139, 1755–6, 1779, 1813, 1817–18, 1821, 1832–3, 1857, 1937–8. See also
loanwords
- Latin. See loanwords and writing system, foreign scripts
- law of limitation. See stress
- left-dislocation. See constituent order, topicalization
- legalese. See register
- liquid interchange. See consonant changes
- loanwords, xxxi, 23, 37, 42, 71, 114, 119, 120, 125, 133–4, 154, 159, 185, 201, 215, 243, 255, 279, 282, 304, 355, 356, 357, 452, 459, 481, 482, 484, 493, 534, 536, 592, 610, 611, 633, 678, 778, 779, 782, 783
- Arabic/Persian, 121, 356
- Latin, 64, 114, 121, 303, 435, 579, 610, 611, 727, 791, 1360
- morphological adaptation of, 261, 356, 358–9, 536, 575, 579, 582, 583, 585, 779, 792–3, 1356–61
- Occitan/Old French, 8, 114, 121, 124, 133–4, 207, 356, 427, 435, 460, 461, 569, 570, 585, 663, 685–6, 791–4, 1359–60, 1397, 1755–6, 1784
- Romanian, 1360
- shortened forms of, 591
- Slavonic, 121, 303
- Turkish, 114, 122, 124, 134, 207, 302, 303, 305, 358, 402, 427, 434, 458, 585, 611, 685–6, 1360, 1397
- Venetian/Italian, 8, 114, 121, 124, 133, 207, 208, 254, 303, 356, 402, 427, 435, 458, 459, 461, 569, 570, 575, 579, 585, 661, 685–6, 705, 731, 791–4, 1272,
1356–9, 1360, 1366, 1397, 1766, 1818, 1823, 1824–5, 1831, 1837–8, 1843, 1847
- lowering. See vowel changes
- manner dissimilation. See consonant changes
- merger of /y/ and /i/. See phonemes, vowels
- metathesis. See consonant changes
- modal verbs. See verbs
- modality, 1768–9, 1866, 1879, 1930–1 deontic, 1380, 1771, 1775, 1778, 1779, 1782, 1787, 1788, 1789, 1793, 1796, 1802, 1812, 1867, 1868, 1869, 1870, 1872, 1876, 1877, 1891, 1892, 1930 epistemic/inferential, 1842, 1867, 1868, 1869, 1870, 1871, 1930
hypothetical/future, 1866–9, 1872, 1894, 1930 modal marker iva/vá, 1867, 1869–70, 1873–4, 1876, 1895, 1896, 1931, 1967
potential, 1769, 1778, 1788, 1789, 1793, 1812, 1867, 1868, 1870, 1891, 1892, 1930
- monastic archives, xxv
- mood, 1269, 1434, 1927, 1928, 1930–1 convergence of pres. indic. and subj., 1270, 1434, 1497–8
- imperative, 1269, 1270, 1292, 1347, 1355, 1369–70, 1375, 1378, 1382, 1434, 1647–81, 1875–6, 1878, 1927, 1930, 1932, 1940, 1961, 1975, 2013
- aorist, 1311, 1660–81
/a/ forms, 1672–5
shortened forms, 1668–9, 1672
substantivized, 645, 686–7
verbs with barytone and oxytone forms, 1514, 1675–81

- mood (cont.)
 with columnar stress, 1663
 periphrastic, 1876–7
 present, 1275, 1647–60
 /a/ forms, 1650
 residual, 1762–3
 of εἶμαι, 1749–50
 indicative, 1269, 1434, 1865, 1879, 1881, 1884, 1886, 1889, 1890, 1893, 1894, 1899, 1927, 1930, 1931, 2013, 2027, 2029
 aorist, 1270, 1311, 1613–47
 athematic (2nd), 1614 influence on passive, 1613–14
 in causal clauses, 1917
 in comparative clauses, 1922–3, 1924
 in complement clauses, 1894
 in concessive clauses, 1920
 in conditionals, 1872, 1873, 1874–5, 1882–3, 1889, 1891, 1901, 1902–3, 1904 in epistemic utterances, 1871
 in main clauses, 1865
 in temporal clauses, 1906, 1907, 1913
 nominalized, 1914
 Pontic, 1270, 1632, 1634, 1636, 1640, 1647 residual thematic (2nd), 1270, 1627–9 with /k/ stem, 1268, 1341–7 with columnar stress, 1270, 1620–1, 1622, 1639–40, 1641
 imperfect, 1275, 1531–613
 in causal clauses, 1917
 in comparative clauses, 1922–3, 1924
 in concessive clauses, 1920
 in conditionals, 1799, 1872, 1873, 1874, 1882–3, 1891, 1901–3, 1904, 1925
 in main clauses, 1865
 in temporal clauses, 1906, 1908, 1909
 of εἶμαι, 1728–49
 with columnar stress, 1270, 1537
 in clausal complements, 1967–9
 present, 1275, 1434–97
 in causal clauses, 1917
 in comparative clauses, 1922–3
 in concessive clauses, 1920
 in conditionals, 1903
 in main clauses, 1865
 in temporal clauses, 1906, 1910
 of εἶμαι, 1709–28
 periphrastic, 1933
 replaces fut., 1767, 1933
 optative, 1691, 1758, 1763 subjunctive, 1269, 1271, 1272, 1434, 1795, 1927, 1930, 1932
 aorist, 1311, 1497–531, 1908, 1909–10, 1911–13
 replaces fut., 1767–8
 verbs with barytone and oxytone forms, 1513–31
 replaces imp., 1671, 1680–1 futural, 1869, 1870
 in causal clauses, 1918
 in clausal complements, 1965–7 in clauses introduced by a prep., 1925–6
 nominalized, 1925
 in comparative clauses, 1923, 1924–5
 in complement clauses, 1890–1, 1892, 1893–4
 in conditionals, 1872, 1873, 1874, 1901, 1902
 in consecutive clauses, 1899–900
 in final clauses, 1896–7
 in main clauses, 1876, 7–1879, 1880, 1881–2, 1894 in temporal clauses, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909–13
 nominalized, 1913, 1914 loss of aspectual contrast in Pontic, 1932, 1940
 modal, 1930–1
 present, 1275, 1434–97, 1865, 1906, 1910–11, 1912
 of εἶμαι, 1709–28
 replaces inf., 1773, 1779, 1869, 1870, 1872, 1888–9, 1925
 See also tense and periphrastic tenses and moods
- negation
 in clausal complements of nouns, 1966, 1967, 1968
 in complement clauses
 with control predicates, 1887, 1888
 with verbs of fearing/precaution, 1893 in conditional clauses, 1874, 1901, 1905 in conjoined clauses, 2011–14, 2015–16, 2017
 in consecutive clauses, 1899
 in final clauses, 1896
 in prohibitions, 1877–8 in questions, 1879 after νά, 1880
 in statements
 factual, 1865
 hypothetical, 1866, 1869, 1870, 1872
 after νά, 1867, 1870
 in VPs with clitic pronouns, 2026, 2037–8 in wishes, 1881, 1882
 with gerunds, 1915
 with indefinite pronouns, 1976, 1978, 1980 with infinitives, 1942
 with periphrastic verb forms, 1873
 nominative. See case noun phrases, 1944–5
 definite, 1969–74
 indefinite, 1974–80
 See also grammatical functions, adjuncts
 nouns, 241, 253–687
 complementation of, 1963–9

- factive nouns, 1967–8 nouns of declaration/belief, 1968–9 nouns of fear, 1967
 with indirect questions, 1966–7 See also grammatical functions, complements
- feminine, 458–590
 indeclinable, 479, 489, 490, 576, 589, 590
 irregular, 589
 in periphrastic verbal forms, 1272, 1818, 1826, 1839–40
- indeclinable
 neuter, 684, 685–6
 masculine, 300–457
 indeclinable, 318, 325, 332, 403, 411, 413, 420, 437, 452, 454
 irregular, 452–4
 plural of proper names, etc., 454–7 masculine and feminine, 255–98, 590–2 neuter, 592–687
 indeclinable, 678, 684–6
 irregular, 678–84
 substantivized verbal forms, 609–10, 686–7
- number, 241, 1928, 1944–5
 majestic plural, 1945
See also agreement
- numerals, 241, 1231–63
 cardinal, 1231–57
 collective, 1262
 multiplicative, 1263
 ordinal, 1257–62
 in fractions, 1262
 relative, 1263
- objects. See constituents
- Occitan, 1755. See also French and loanwords
- occlusion. See consonant changes
- optative. See mood
- orthography. See writing system
- palatalization. See consonant changes
- paragoge. See vowel addition, word-final
- parisyllabic plural, 255, 256, 300, 301, 303, 304, 313, 316, 322, 328, 329, 331, 337, 340, 355, 356, 357, 367, 368, 369, 372, 374, 375, 376, 381, 383, 387, 395, 397, 399, 452, 458, 459, 464, 472, 473, 474, 585
- participles, 808–14, 1268–9, 1795, 1917, 1928, 1932, 1941–2, 1946 in restricted use, 809–11
 indeclinable, 689, 809, 813
 past, borrowed from Venetian, 1272, 1818, 1824–5, 1831, 1837–8, 1843, 1847 perfect passive, 1269, 1273, 1366–8, 1831–2, 1937
 declension, 809
 derived from aorist stem, 1273, 1311, 1366–7 derived from present stem, 1368 from loanwords, 1366
 in periphrastic verbal forms, 1271, 1272, 1805, 1808, 1816–8, 1821–4, 1829, 1831, 1834–7, 1838–9, 1841–2, 1843, 1846, 1847, 1851, 1852, 1854, 1901, 1934, 1937–8, 1939, 1941
 with active meaning, 1366–7 with added thematic vowel, 1368 with intrusive /s/, 1367–8 present passive, 1268, 1275, 1361–5
 declension, 809
 derived from perfective stem/other parts of speech, 1364
 in periphrastic verbal forms, 1272, 1836, 1837
 thematic vowels, 1362–5
 with active meaning, 1268, 1361–2 used as gerunds, 1268, 1361, 1697, 1703–5, 1708, 1915, 1941
- particles
 apodotic čv, 1905
 modal čs, 1876, 1878, 1882, 1883, 1930 narrative vá, 1865
- passivization, 1361, 1929–30
- perfect. See tense
- periodization, xix
- periphrastic tenses and moods, 1269, 1271–2, 1767–857 aorist indicative, 1848–51 $\epsilon\dot{\iota}\chi\alpha$ + aor. subj., 1851 $\epsilon\dot{\iota}\chi\alpha/\eta\theta\epsilon\lambda\alpha$ + aor. inf., 1848–9 $\epsilon\dot{\iota}\chi\alpha/\eta\mu\omicron\upsilon\nu$ + perf. pass. part., 1851
- conditional, 1795–814, 1871–5
 $\epsilon\dot{\iota}\chi\alpha$ + inf., 1803–5, 1871–3 $\epsilon\dot{\iota}\chi\alpha$ + subj., 1806, 1873 $\epsilon\dot{\iota}\chi\alpha$ vá + subj., 1805, 1873 $\epsilon\dot{\iota}\chi\alpha/\epsilon\dot{\iota}\chi\epsilon(v)$ + aor./imperf. indic., 1806–7, 1873 $\epsilon\dot{\iota}\chi\epsilon(v)$ + subj., 1806, 1873
 $\xi\mu\epsilon\lambda\lambda\alpha$ vá + subj., 1801–2, 1872
 $\xi\mu\epsilon\lambda\lambda\epsilon(v)$ + subj., 1802 $\xi\mu\epsilon\lambda\lambda\epsilon(v)$ vá + aor./imperf. indic., 1802–3 $\xi\mu\epsilon\lambda\lambda\epsilon(v)$ vá + subj., 1802, 1872 $\epsilon\mu\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\lambda\epsilon\tau\omicron(v)$ vá + subj., 1803, 1872
 $\xi\mu\epsilon\lambda\lambda\omicron\nu$ + inf., 1800–1, 1872 $\eta\theta\epsilon(v)$ + subj./imperf./inf., 1811–12, 1874 $\eta\theta\epsilon\lambda\alpha$ (vá) + aor./imperf. indic., 1811, 1874 $\eta\theta\epsilon\lambda\alpha$ + inf., 1807–9, 1873 $\eta\theta\epsilon\lambda\alpha$ + subj., 1809–10, 1873 $\eta\theta\epsilon\lambda\alpha$ vá + subj., 1811, 1873 $\eta\theta\epsilon\lambda\epsilon(v)$ + subj., 1810 $\eta\rho\tau\alpha$ + inf./vá + subj., 1813–14 $\eta\tau\omicron\nu$ vá + aor./imperf./pluperf. indic., 1813 $\eta\tau\omicron\nu/\eta\mu\omicron\upsilon\nu$ (διδά) vá + subj., 1812–13

periphrastic tenses and moods (cont.)

future, 1767–95, 1866–70

aspectual contrast, 1868

conflation of constructions, 1769 εἶμαι διὰ/γὰ νά + subj., 1793

εἶμαι νά + subj., 1793

εἶμαι τοῦ νά + subj., 1793 εἶναι/εἶν' ἐν νά + subj., 1794–5 negated, with syncope, 1795

ἔχει νά + subj., 1780, 1869

ἔχω + inf., 1778–9, 1867–8

ἔχω + subj., 1780

ἔχω νά + subj., 1779–80

θά + subj., 1791–3, 1870

θέ(ν) + subj., 1786

θέ(ν) νά + subj., 1790–1, 1870

θέλ' + subj., 1787

θέλα + subj., 1790

θέλει + inf., 1787

θέλει + subj., 1786–7

θέλει νά + subj., 1789–90

θέλω + inf., 1782–3, 1868

θέλω + subj., 1784–5, 1870

θέλω νά + subj., 1788–9, 1869

θέλω τοῦ νά + subj., 1789 θές, θέ(ν), etc. + inf., 1783–4 θές, θέ(ν), etc. + subj., 1786 θές, θέ(ν), etc. νά + subj., 1789

μελλά + subj., 1776

μέλλει + inf., 1776

μέλλει νά + subj., 1775–6, 1869 μέλλεται νά + subj., 1776–7, 1869 μέλλομαι + inf., 1777

μέλλομαι νά + subj., 1777

μέλλω + inf., 1772–3, 1867

μέλλω νά + subj., 1773–5

μέλλω τοῦ + inf., 1773

μέλλω/μέλλει + subj., 1776

νά + subj., 1770–1, 1870

πά (νά) + subj., 1795

future perfect, 1843–8, 1939

ἦθε(ν) + perf. inf., 1848 ἦθελα + perf. inf., 1847–8, 1939 ἦθελα/ἦθελε + pluperf., 1848 θέλω + perf. inf., 1845–7, 1939 μέλλω/μέλλει νά + perf. subj., 1848

imperfect, 1848–51

εἶχα + pres. subj., 1851

εἶχα/ἦθελα + pres. inf., 1850 ἦθελα + aor. inf., 1849–50

ἦμην + pres. part., 1851 ἦμουν + perf. pass. part., 1851

perfect, 1831–43

gerund, 1842–3

imperative, 1841–2

indicative and subjunctive, 1833–41

εἶμαι + perf. pass. part. (act.), 1838–9, 1847, 1937 εἶμαι + pres. pass. part., 1837

ἔχω + inf., 1840–1, 1938

ἔχω + pres. pass. part., 1836

ἔχω/εἶμαι + perf. pass. part., 1833–7, 1937–8

infinitive, 1842

pluperfect, 1814–30

εἶχα + inf., 1819–21, 1938

εἶχα + noun, 1826

εἶχα + subj., 1827

εἶχα/ἦμουν + perf. pass. part., 1821–5, 1937–8 εἶχα/ἦμουν + pres. gerund, 1826–7 εἶχα/ἦμουν + verbal adj., 1825–6 εἶχε(ν) + subj., 1827

ἦθε(ν) + subj., 1829

ἦθελα + inf., 1828–9, 1938

ἦθελα + subj., 1829

ἦθελε ἦμουν + perf. pass. part., 1829 ἦμην/ἦμουν + aor. gerund, 1830, 1938 ἦμουν + perf. pass. part. (act.), 1823–4, 1937

ἦτον νά + subj., 1830

subjunctive, 1852–7

εἶχα + inf., 1854

ἔχω + inf., 1853, 1869, 1874

ἔχω/εἶμαι + perf. pass. part., 1854

ἦθελα + inf., 1855

θά + subj., 1856

θε νά + subj., 1856

θέλω + inf., 1855

θέλω ἔρθει νά + subj., 1857

θέλω νά + subj., 1855

μέλλω + inf., 1856

πά (νά) + subj., 1857

*See also tense and mood*Persian. See loanwordsperson, 1944–5. See also agreement phonemes,

consonants, 112–24 affricates, 120–4

fricatives, 115–16

liquids, 118

nasals, 116–18

sibilants, 118–20

stops, 113–15

See also consonant addition, consonantdeletion and consonant changes diphthongs, 6, 22–4

semivowel /j/, 15–22, 1270. See also consonant changes, anaptyxis

- deletion of
 - analogical, 21
 - post-consonantal, 17–22, 1290, 1484, 1655
 - after /t/, 20–2
- in E-stem verbs, 1302–7, 1490, 1493, 1494, 1495, 1496, 1604, 1607, 1608, 1610, 1611, 1688
- intrusive, 201, 1304, 1726–7
- spelling of, 16–17
- vowels, 9–15
 - merger of /y/ and /i/, 11–13
 - regional differentiation, 24–37, 109
 - coalescence
 - of /'ea/ to /'e/, 109
 - of /ɛa/, /i̯a/ to /æ/ and /ɛo/, /i̯o/ to /œ/, 28–9
 - raising vocalism. See vowel changes, raising
 - so-called Doric /a/, 24–6
 - so-called Ionic /e/, 26–8
 - regression of /y/ to /u/, 14–15
 - See also* vowel addition, vowel deletion and vowel changes
- phonotactics, 124–30
 - consonant clusters, 125–30. See also vowel addition, anaptyxis and consonant changes
 - position of consonants, 124–5
- pluperfect. See tense
- politeness, 895, 1796, 1798, 1944
- political verse, xxi, 104, 700, 926, 1303, 1307, 1487, 1843, 1845
- position of consonants. See phonotactics
- predicate. See constituents
- prefixes
 - confusion of, 1392, 1419–20, 1426, 1428, 1429
- prepositions and prepositional phrases. See grammatical functions, adjuncts
- present. See tense
- proclisis. See stress
- prohibitions. See clauses, main
- pronouns and determiners, 241, 845, 861–1230
 - contrastive, 1164–79
 - demonstrative, 915–97, 1980–2
 - anaphoric, 924, 953, 1980, 1981, 1982
 - cataphoric, 1981
 - deictic, 915, 924, 953, 954, 1980, 1981
 - qualitative, 969–88, 1982
 - quantitative, 988–97
 - spatio-temporal, 915–69, 1981–2, 2023
 - extended forms, 241, 867, 916, 917, 918, 921, 923, 930–40, 941, 943, 953, 954, 980, 1005, 1064, 1168, 1170, 1171, 1172, 1174, 1175
 - indefinite, 1023–50, 1975–80
 - demonstrative, 1024
 - negative/affective, 1023–4, 1975–6, 1978–80
 - positive, 1023–4
 - non-specific, 1024
 - specific, 1023, 1975, 1977–8
 - uninflected, 1039, 1057, 1071, 1074
- intensive, 895, 900, 997–1004, 1182
- interrogative, 1004–23, 1879, 1880, 1881, 1894–5
 - qualitative/quantitative, 1016–23
 - simple, 1004–16, 1879, 1880, 1966–7
 - uninflected, 1012, 1013–16
- personal, 861–902
 - anaphoric, 1944, 1945
 - deictic, 1945
 - periphrastic, 862, 895, 900–2, 1000, 1182
 - strong, 862–76, 1993, 2008
 - weak, 876–95, 1879, 1880, 1915, 1967, 1993, 2003, 2006–7
 - in subject function, 1942, 1946
 - See also* clitic doubling; constituent order and resumptive pronoun
- possessive, 902–14
 - emphatic, 910–14
 - residual, 914
 - weak, 903–10, 1944
- quantifiers, 1187–230
 - distributive, 1166, 1214–30
 - uninflected, 241, 1206–8, 1214, 1218, 1227, 1228–30
- universal, 1188–214
 - used as relative, 1988
- reciprocal, 1166, 1176, 1181, 1183–6
- reflexive, 895, 897, 900, 1001, 1179–83
- relative, 1091–164, 1983–92
 - definite, 1091, 1092–139
 - anaphoric, 1982–3
 - omitted before vá, 1987–8
 - indefinite, 1091, 1139–64
 - quantitative, 1146–50
 - used as specifier, 1990–2
 - uninflected, 241, 1092–7, 1103, 1123, 1124, 1134–5, 1136, 1154, 1164
- protasis. See conditional
- prothesis. See addition of consonants and addition of vowels
- Provençal. See Occitan
- questions. See clauses, main and clauses, complement clauses
- raising. See vowel changes
- reduplication, 1273, 1344, 1366, 1762, 1765

regional variation, xxviii, xxix

Aegean, 8, 29, 33–4, 109, 130, 185, 192, 196, 247, 259, 269, 276, 289, 307, 313, 350, 405, 421, 460, 509, 512, 520, 522, 523, 528, 541, 543, 544, 570, 575, 617, 620, 641, 677, 743, 789, 816, 846, 850, 853, 863, 882, 884, 893, 1045, 1151, 1337, 1372, 1376, 1377, 1380, 1382, 1384, 1385, 1399, 1403, 1404, 1408, 1410, 1439, 1440, 1444, 1476, 1501, 1504–06, 1512, 1528, 1531, 1536, 1539, 1540, 1557, 1559, 1565, 1572, 1573, 1589, 1622, 1625, 1642, 1705, 1707, 1730, 1790, 1809, 1810, 1811, 1822, 1829, 1837, 1839, 1850, 1937

Asia Minor, 12, 28, 29, 36, 39, 114, 121, 147, 155, 159, 171, 176, 181, 192, 196, 198, 207, 219, 231–2, 743, 788, 896, 914, 1139, 1298, 1347, 1403, 1444, 1476, 1545, 1631, 1632, 1634, 1636, 1646, 1662, 1666–7, 1737, 1949

Athens, 14, 17, 18, 106, 194, 195, 196, 219, 941, 954, 988, 1403, 1580, 1628, 1736, 1752

Chios, 46, 51, 52, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 68, 119, 123, 124, 147, 152, 153, 192, 195, 196, 198, 201, 229–30, 371, 410, 413, 457, 462, 542, 651, 677, 739, 853, 858, 888, 918, 925, 933, 942, 954, 1001, 1014–16, 1045, 1046, 1151, 1155, 1170, 1209, 1278, 1282, 1302, 1335, 1337, 1347, 1365, 1370, 1372, 1379, 1383, 1392, 1404, 1413, 1424, 1438, 1439, 1441, 1448, 1458, 1460, 1470, 1472, 1475, 1493, 1494, 1504, 1510, 1511, 1524, 1526, 1536, 1537, 1538, 1542, 1545, 1551, 1556, 1562, 1563, 1564, 1568, 1572, 1573, 1579, 1580, 1581, 1586, 1595, 1596, 1598, 1603, 1608, 1610, 1618, 1621, 1644, 1645, 1649, 1653, 1655, 1656, 1657, 1660, 1663, 1664, 1671, 1674, 1679, 1680, 1681, 1714, 1718, 1725, 1732, 1741, 1747, 1786–7, 1835

Crete, 17, 20–2, 26, 39, 43, 46, 49, 50, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 58, 59, 65, 68, 94–5, 106, 109, 111, 122, 145, 146, 147, 151, 152, 154, 158, 161–3, 167, 171, 173–4, 175, 177, 178, 179, 180, 183–4, 194, 196, 199, 200, 201, 204, 209–10, 229–31, 252, 259, 266, 267, 269, 275, 281, 289, 294, 313, 323, 329, 338, 370, 371, 402, 404, 405,

406, 408, 411, 412, 413, 414, 417, 418, 421, 425, 435, 443, 445, 446, 448, 457, 460, 482, 483, 492, 500, 509, 512, 516, 520, 521, 522, 524, 525, 528, 539, 542, 548, 570, 575, 580, 581, 582, 584, 598, 604, 607, 612, 617, 624, 628, 629, 631, 641, 642, 651, 655, 665, 671, 672, 682, 699, 700, 704, 705, 711, 717, 726, 728, 731, 732, 734, 736, 739, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 747, 749, 750, 751, 753, 755, 756, 758, 759, 783, 784, 799, 800, 806, 807, 816, 818, 823, 824, 831, 839, 840, 842, 848, 849, 851, 864, 879, 881, 884, 885, 887, 888, 892, 893, 894, 903, 904, 905, 908, 909, 916, 918, 921, 922, 923, 930, 942, 952, 953, 954, 955, 970, 980, 981, 989, 1003, 1014–16, 1023, 1030, 1031, 1035, 1043, 1045, 1046, 1051, 1055, 1058, 1060, 1061, 1063, 1064, 1065, 1069, 1082, 1095, 1101, 1107, 1111, 1116, 1155, 1165, 1169, 1182, 1183, 1185, 1190, 1196, 1203, 1209, 1212, 1218, 1222, 1226, 1228, 1239, 1241, 1247, 1256, 1259, 1260, 1272, 1277, 1279, 1286, 1290, 1294, 1309, 1319, 1322–4, 1325, 1326, 1329, 1331, 1336, 1337, 1338, 1347, 1350, 1357, 1365, 1367, 1371, 1372, 1374, 1377, 1380, 1385, 1388, 1389, 1392–3, 1403, 1438, 1439, 1442, 1451, 1454, 1470, 1505, 1510, 1512, 1512, 1524, 1528, 1529, 1531, 1534, 1536, 1537, 1542, 1545, 1551, 1553, 1553, 1554, 1555, 1557, 1562, 1567, 1568, 1572, 1573, 1586, 1595, 1596, 1598, 1599, 1602, 1603, 1610, 1616, 1642, 1644, 1645, 1667, 1699, 1714, 1721, 1725, 1731, 1732, 1736, 1740, 1742, 1743, 1745, 1771, 1774, 1777, 1791, 1822, 1826, 1829, 1835, 1840, 1850, 1856, 1869, 1898, 1935, 1937, 1938, 1966, 1983, 1985, 2013, 2016, 2039. See also south-west

Cyclades, 17, 18, 20, 39, 46, 49, 50, 51, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 65, 68, 84, 111, 119, 122, 123, 124, 144, 145, 147, 151, 152, 167, 171, 173–4, 175, 177, 178, 179, 180, 183, 184, 196, 204, 229–31, 243, 247, 265, 266, 271, 276, 281, 282, 284, 289, 294, 297, 319, 333, 339, 352, 362, 364, 366, 369, 371, 375, 396, 467, 469, 475,

- 482, 500, 508, 519, 522, 570, 607, 612, 624, 627, 628, 629, 631, 652, 654, 655, 670, 704, 737, 739, 741, 742, 744, 745, 751, 759, 782, 784, 848, 849, 851, 853, 859, 863, 879, 887, 889, 891, 903, 904, 905, 907, 908, 909, 916, 925, 930, 933, 941, 942, 952, 954, 1014–16, 1035, 1045, 1060, 1061, 1151, 1170, 1174, 1190, 1208, 1238, 1239, 1241, 1247, 1322–4, 1329, 1335, 1338, 1347, 1379, 1381, 1382, 1392, 1403,
1410, 1425, 1442, 1449, 1451, 1485, 1505, 1542, 1545, 1551, 1553, 1555, 1562, 1568, 1573, 1581, 1582, 1603, 1611, 1618, 1645, 1702, 1741, 1747, 1755, 1786–7, 1822, 1825, 1835, 1852, 2013
- Cyprus, 19–20, 66, 74, 76, 78, 105, 120, 121, 137, 144, 145, 151, 153, 180, 181–2, 192, 194, 195, 196, 198, 199, 201, 209–10, 220, 227, 231–2, 243–6, 258, 259, 270, 276, 283, 295, 312, 323, 324, 330, 338, 350, 372, 382, 387, 397, 400, 418, 421, 427, 431, 435, 443, 446, 448, 450–2, 467, 469, 482, 484, 521, 528, 532, 533, 541, 545, 558, 569, 570, 574, 575, 604, 608, 612, 620, 631, 644, 656, 699, 700, 717, 728, 730, 731, 734, 739, 741, 743, 762, 801, 802, 804, 812, 816, 817, 818, 821, 839, 841, 851, 867, 889, 896, 897, 900, 901, 916, 925, 930, 933, 942, 951, 969, 979, 980, 989, 993, 1009, 1014–16, 1043, 1058, 1060, 1067, 1091, 1107,
1111, 1146, 1151, 1155, 1165, 1181, 1188, 1190, 1191, 1193, 1209, 1218, 1239, 1260, 1271, 1277, 1279, 1286, 1294, 1296–7, 1299, 1309, 1318, 1322–4, 1329, 1331, 1333, 1338,
1363, 1365, 1372, 1374, 1376, 1377, 1381, 1382, 1389, 1392, 1396, 1413, 1424, 1450–1, 1468, 1477, 1512, 1536, 1568, 1577, 1582, 1589, 1618, 1626, 1638, 1642, 1643, 1645, 1655, 1666–7, 1699, 1700, 1721, 1734, 1742, 1745, 1752, 1753, 1756, 1771, 1789, 1790, 1794, 1813, 1835, 1856, 1869, 1898, 1908, 1912, 1922, 1935, 1937, 1966, 1983, 1985, 2013, 2016, 2029, 2039, 2040. See also
south-east
- Dodecanese, 36, 39, 52, 123, 124, 131, 275, 281, 417, 739, 741, 747, 802, 824, 853, 863, 888, 908, 1035, 1403, 1439, 1453, 1568–9, 1611–12, 1723, 1937.
See also south-east
- Heptanese, 46, 47, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 58, 59, 65, 111, 124, 144, 146, 151, 152, 184–5, 192, 199, 205, 229–31, 259, 266, 267, 269, 270, 278, 281, 295, 307, 314, 319, 323, 331, 338, 350, 372, 405, 417, 418, 421, 482, 488,
492, 521, 522, 524, 528, 536, 569, 575, 580, 581, 582, 584, 598, 607, 620, 641, 642, 656, 665, 671, 693, 695, 700, 704, 705, 731, 732, 734, 739, 742, 743, 744, 745, 747, 755, 756, 759, 765, 797, 799, 805, 849, 854, 859, 864, 865, 867, 881, 889, 893, 894, 909, 918, 921, 923, 925, 926, 928, 929, 941, 952, 954, 1014– 16, 1029, 1035, 1046, 1048, 1050, 1058, 1060, 1061, 1064, 1111, 1134, 1151, 1155, 1165, 1169, 1172, 1185, 1188, 1190, 1194, 1201, 1203, 1208, 1209, 1211, 1212, 1213, 1239, 1241, 1279, 1290, 1298, 1299, 1300, 1319, 1322–4, 1329, 1338, 1347, 1365, 1372, 1377, 1382, 1385, 1389, 1392, 1396, 1403, 1404, 1405, 1424, 1438, 1439, 1442, 1454, 1467, 1493, 1503, 1505, 1536, 1545, 1552, 1553, 1554, 1556, 1557–9, 1560, 1566, 1567, 1568–9, 1570, 1573, 1574, 1577, 1579, 1582, 1596, 1597, 1598, 1601, 1603, 1604, 1605, 1610, 1611–12, 1618, 1645, 1648, 1652, 1655, 1656,
1658, 1684, 1737, 1742, 1743, 1745, 1745, 1747, 1771, 1777, 1786–7, 1792, 1798, 1806, 1811, 1829, 1835, 1837, 1850, 1852, 1854, 1855, 1857,
1874, 1937. See also south-west
- northern mainland, 7–8, 9, 10, 17, 18, 20, 29, 31–3, 43, 69, 111, 147, 151, 152, 185, 192, 201, 202, 230–1, 246, 295, 314, 387, 431, 460, 575, 644, 669, 719, 734, 739, 742, 743, 747, 798, 847, 850, 853, 867, 868, 871, 872, 888, 908, 910, 911, 933, 954, 1029, 1034, 1172, 1222, 1239, 1247, 1251, 1255, 1260, 1277, 1284, 1293, 1296–7, 1299–300, 1337, 1379, 1380, 1391–2, 1396, 1404, 1451,
1545, 1554, 1559, 1578, 1582, 1603, 1604, 1612, 1621, 1626, 1666–7, 1670, 1702, 1713, 1734, 1735, 1737, 1739, 1743, 1745, 1792, 1852, 1949, 1951

regional variation (cont.)

Peloponnese, 14, 46, 49, 50, 51, 55, 56, 58, 74, 111, 121, 146, 147, 153, 161–3, 175, 177, 192, 195, 196, 281, 294, 295, 371, 460, 555, 569, 570, 575, 628, 629, 656, 695, 705, 742, 851, 853, 864, 865, 885, 887, 889, 891, 909, 928, 954, 1061, 1107, 1111, 1116, 1151, 1172, 1188, 1290, 1298, 1299, 1302, 1347, 1365, 1382, 1387, 1403, 1413, 1439, 1442, 1451, 1456, 1505, 1545, 1554, 1557–9, 1560, 1563, 1566, 1567, 1568–9, 1570, 1574, 1574, 1576, 1578, 1579, 1581, 1582, 1597, 1599, 1602, 1603, 1608, 1611–12, 1621, 1628, 1643, 1670, 1706, 1714, 1738, 1745, 1786–7,
 1830, 1850. See also south-west

Pontos/Black Sea area, 7, 10, 25, 26, 28–9, 35–6, 82, 94–5, 106, 107, 114, 151, 152, 162, 174, 182, 195, 201, 207, 208, 231–2, 243, 246, 247–8, 264, 283, 290, 295, 318, 456, 645, 741, 818, 848, 852, 883, 907, 925, 933, 1103, 1286, 1458, 1460, 1636, 1637, 1640, 1662, 1666–7, 1673, 1752, 1932, 1940

S. Italy/Sicily, 15, 25–6, 29, 31, 34–5, 104, 106, 107, 119, 123, 130, 137–42, 147, 149, 151, 152, 156, 162, 163, 176, 180, 196, 205, 210, 211–12, 254, 309, 405, 411, 417, 422, 423, 434, 457, 462, 477, 575, 584, 644, 719, 730, 736, 739, 747, 759, 764, 771, 784, 850, 857, 867, 870, 872, 910, 913, 914, 942, 987, 1029, 1034, 1058, 1093, 1098, 1106, 1107, 1111, 1134, 1135, 1136, 1138–9, 1156, 1193, 1201, 1202, 1203, 1206, 1247, 1260, 1282, 1476, 1490, 1582, 1638, 1662, 1692, 1713, 1714, 1722, 1752, 1817–18, 1821, 1825, 1826, 1830, 1832–3, 1834, 1852, 1856, 1937, 1938, 1957, 1983, 1987

south-east, 39, 84, 114, 130–42, 147, 151, 152, 153, 156, 157, 159, 174, 181, 192, 196, 203, 207, 213, 227, 303, 457, 648, 663, 677, 690, 737, 803, 816, 909, 999, 1095, 1107, 1111, 1188, 1196, 1316, 1372, 1379, 1380, 1385, 1389, 1399, 1424, 1447, 1468, 1490, 1563, 1565, 1568, 1644, 1721, 1746, 1755, 1756, 1776–7, 1790, 1795, 1817–18, 1821, 1828–9, 1832–3, 1834, 1937–8, 1951, 1957

south-west, 17, 18, 20, 24, 26, 36, 47, 48, 51, 52, 57, 106, 151, 183, 184, 190, 254, 267, 271, 276, 282, 283, 284, 289, 296, 319, 323, 350, 360, 362, 457, 460, 477, 478, 488, 508, 526, 533, 541, 542, 544, 569, 620, 627, 629,
 650, 677, 681, 699, 734, 747, 785, 849, 851, 853, 859, 860, 882, 888, 889, 891, 907, 933, 942, 954, 1181, 1188, 1251, 1280, 1284, 1302, 1311, 1319, 1335, 1371, 1376, 1379, 1380,
 1399, 1410, 1444, 1447, 1453, 1455, 1474, 1490, 1506, 1512, 1528, 1529, 1531, 1545, 1547, 1550, 1554, 1558, 1562, 1563, 1573, 1585, 1589, 1596, 1598, 1601, 1611, 1624, 1625, 1638, 1642, 1645, 1661, 1690, 1702, 1705, 1707, 1708, 1713, 1715, 1716, 1718, 1722, 1725, 1726–7, 1730, 1731, 1733, 1734, 1735, 1741, 1744, 1745, 1747, 1752, 1755, 1776–7, 1790, 1803, 1806, 1817–18, 1821, 1823, 1824, 1825, 1827, 1828–9, 1832–3, 1834, 1835, 1839, 1852, 1872, 1873, 1937–8, 1951, 1957

Tsakonia, 26, 196

western mainland, 29, 32, 43, 185, 196, 230–1, 460, 508, 642, 742, 744, 1209, 1296–7, 1347, 1348, 1382, 1405, 1451, 1467, 1545, 1554, 1556, 1560, 1567, 1612, 1626

register

higher-register features, xxi, 82, 83, 89, 102, 109, 118, 124, 160, 164, 177, 185, 232, 241–3, 256, 257, 318, 321, 323, 325, 329, 332, 336, 339, 341, 363, 374, 378, 379, 396, 398, 407, 411, 420, 476, 481, 484, 485, 493, 501, 502, 515, 518, 527, 541, 544, 550, 551, 557, 559, 561, 562, 565, 633, 673, 689, 694, 705, 706, 712, 713, 718, 721, 723, 724, 737, 760, 800, 805, 806, 832, 842, 857, 871, 953, 969, 972, 988, 997, 1009, 1042, 1049, 1051, 1054, 1123, 1130, 1151, 1155, 1165, 1175, 1176, 1183, 1199, 1203, 1214, 1226, 1246, 1253, 1262, 1278, 1369, 1388, 1417, 1419, 1420, 1422, 1429, 1449, 1488, 1542, 1597, 1630, 1682, 1692, 1697, 1753, 1754, 1758, 1759, 1762, 1772, 1773, 1851, 1900, 1905, 1915, 1925, 1941, 1946, 1952, 1961–2, 1980, 1983, 1986–7 legalese, 1798, 1847, 1852, 1854, 1855, 1939 mixture of registers, xvii, xx, 243

- vernacular, xvii, xviii, xix, xxii, xxiv, xxv, xxxi, xxxiv, 95, 125, 150, 176, 196, 212, 222, 241, 570, 578, 579, 830, 845, 857, 1034, 1042, 1108, 1109, 1122, 1214, 1261, 1295, 1442, 1453, 1505, 1729, 1772, 1894, 1895, 1915, 1924, 1956, 1968, 1970, 1975, 1976, 1977, 1978, 1980, 1983, 1984, 1985, 1987, 1996, 2008
- relative attraction. See pronouns and determiners
- relativization, 1092–4, 1103–4, 1105, 1122
- resumptive pronoun, 1129, 1161. See also clitic doubling
- rhetorical questions. See clauses, main, questions
- Romanian. See loanwords
- semivowel /j/. See phonemes
- Slavonic, 459. See also loanwords
- sonority scale. See vowel hierarchy
- spelling. See writing system
- statements. See clauses, main
- stress, 222–37
- columnar, 223–4, 228, 229, 230–1, 233, 234, 235, 688, 692, 1270, 1343, 1444, 1537, 1620–1, 1622, 1639–40, 1641, 1663
- enclisis, 224, 225–8, 903, 1013, 1723
- in derivation and composition, 235–7, 304
- law of limitation, 47, 224–5
- exceptions to, 228–32, 651, 1452–3, 1533, 1569, 1615, 1618–19, 1621
- second stress, 224, 226, 227, 228, 229, 231, 235, 639, 1303, 1452, 1454, 1456, 1460, 1554, 1559, 1561, 1562, 1617, 1620, 1622, 1639, 1641, 1644, 1648, 1663
- proclisis, 224, 225–7, 590–2, 1092
- shift of, 99, 199, 222, 223, 225, 232–7, 249–52, 255, 257, 274, 288, 293, 295, 298, 303, 314, 329, 333, 343, 348, 349, 351, 358, 359–60, 369, 381, 388, 395, 396, 398, 410, 439, 444, 446, 458, 459, 460, 478, 481, 492, 496, 497, 500, 501, 505, 508, 509, 513, 515, 516, 523, 527, 529, 542, 550, 567, 594, 601, 604, 606, 608, 609, 615, 618, 619, 620, 624, 629, 632, 633, 637, 638, 641, 642, 644, 651, 653, 655, 659, 660, 662, 675, 676, 677, 679, 711, 713, 717, 728, 758, 760, 775, 919, 925, 930, 942, 954, 1088, 1111, 1121, 1140, 1141, 1151, 1170, 1172, 1175, 1178, 1188, 1194, 1203, 1205, 1213, 1216, 1222, 1228, 1244, 1305, 1309, 1343, 1363, 1377, 1397, 1406, 1414, 1424, 1439, 1442, 1490, 1491, 1497, 1525, 1533, 1536, 1539, 1546, 1548, 1550, 1551, 1553, 1555, 1558, 1559, 1565, 1566, 1568, 1595, 1596, 1598, 1616, 1617, 1619, 1624, 1632, 1634, 1636, 1644, 1667, 1676, 1677, 1680, 1687, 1697, 1699, 1702, 1706, 1766
- absence of, 224, 288, 294, 296, 350, 370, 439, 445, 447, 482, 497, 500, 501, 505, 515, 550, 558, 568, 601, 606, 632, 633, 642, 652, 659, 672, 675, 676, 714, 717, 1176, 1557, 1618, 1643
- subject. See constituents
- subjunctive. See mood
- substantivization
- of adjectives, 533, 542, 592, 757, 762, 778, 807, 838
- of numerals, 1258, 1260, 1261, 1262
- of phrases, 262, 593
- of pronouns, 910, 913, 1039, 1204
- of verbal forms, 454, 589, 609–10, 645, 686–7, 1705
- suffixation, 45, 52
- surnames, 255, 306, 357, 369, 402, 406, 422, 424, 570
- plural formation, 454–7
- Pontic
- feminine, 287, 290
- masculine, 247–8, 377, 400, 456
- syncope. See vowel deletion
- syncretism. See case
- synizesis, 6, 7, 9, 11, 15, 16, 20, 21, 79, 82, 84, 98–110, 112, 115, 116, 144, 154, 198, 199, 201, 209, 232, 256, 258, 259, 401, 402, 405, 408, 410, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 418, 421, 435, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 459, 460, 462, 508, 509, 511, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 529, 532, 536, 555, 566, 574, 612, 613, 615, 616, 618, 619, 620, 624, 626, 627, 629, 631, 638, 639, 640, 643, 644, 662, 686, 688, 705, 711, 712, 713, 728, 730, 731, 734, 736, 745, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 788, 815, 816, 822, 823, 824, 835, 855, 1004, 1047, 1063, 1107, 1112, 1116, 1151, 1165, 1181, 1224, 1225, 1226, 1238, 1240, 1248, 1249, 1251, 1256, 1289–90, 1293, 1303, 1305, 1377, 1399, 1467, 1482, 1487, 1576, 1580, 1655, 1661, 1687, 1700
- and accent notation, 249–52
- and spelling, 16–17, 102, 199–200, 438, 639
- and stress, 223

synizesis (cont.)

- glide absorption, 7, 99, 101
- glide formation, 99, 100, 682, 705, 710
- metrical, 100–1, 518, 520, 531, 1239
- regional, 106–10
- See also* consonantization tense, 1269

- aorist, 1269, 1272, 1935–7
 - expressing anteriority in the past, 1814–15, 1936–7
 - used as perfect, 1831
- future, 1271, 1866–70
 - aspectual contrast, 1772, 1774, 1775, 1778, 1779, 1782, 1866
 - lack of, 1772, 1868
 - modal, 1768–9, 1771, 1775, 1778, 1779, 1782, 1787, 1788, 1789, 1793, 1867, 1869, 1870, 1877
- future perfect, 1272, 1937, 1939
 - omission of fut. marker, 1844, 1846
 - replaced by perfect, 1846
 - stative, 1939
- imperfect, 1269, 1272, 1934–5
 - expressing a past state of the subject/object, 1934
 - expressing anteriority in the past, 1814–15
 - habitual, 1934, 1935
 - progressive, 1934
 - stative, 1934, 1935
- perfect, 1272, 1934, 1937
 - influence from Romance, 1832–3, 1937–8
 - re-emergence in LMedG, 1832
 - replacing future perfect, 1846
 - residual, 1761–2
 - stative, 1831–2, 1939, 1941
- pluperfect, 1271, 1934, 1937–9
 - anteriority in the past, 1815–17, 1819, 1908, 1937, 1938
 - aspectual contrast, 1939
 - lack of, 1939
 - develops from conditional, 1815–16, 1901, 1938
 - habitual, 1820–1, 1828, 1935
 - influence from Romance, 1817–18, 1937–8
 - residual, 1761–2
 - stative, 1816, 1817, 1818, 1851, 1938, 1939, 1941
- present, 1269, 1932–4
 - expressing a present state of the subject/object, 1933–4
 - habitual, 1934
 - historic, 1933
 - progressive, 1932–3
 - stative, 1932, 1933
 - with future reference, 1933 sequence of, 1884, 1885, 1894, 1931

See also mood and periphrastic tenses and moods thematic vowels. See verbs time reference, 1927, 1928, 1931

future, 1901–3, 1939–40

generic, 1901, 3–1903

past, 1904–5, 1907–9, 1934–9

present, 1903–4, 1932–4

topicalization. See constituent order tsitakismos. See consonant changes, affrication

Turkish, 39, 355, 398, 424, 585, 1360. See also loanwords

/u/ dynamic. See verbs

univerbation, 43, 65, 227, 838, 845, 1013, 1034, 1040, 1057, 1058, 1067, 1069, 1070, 1076, 1082, 1087, 1090, 1091, 1161, 1208, 1216, 1217, 1218, 1226, 1227, 1228, 1270, 1466, 1771, 1790, 1792, 1795, 1898

Venetian, 124, 209, 212, 605, 1358, 1817. See also Italian and loanwords vernacular. See register verb attraction. See constituent order verb phrases, 1927–43

verbal aspect, 1927, 1928, 1931, 1932

imperfective, 1768, 1855, 1868, 1871, 1875, 1877, 1891, 1901, 1906, 1912, 1932–5, 1942 habitual/repeated, 1907, 1908, 1910, 1932, 1934, 1935

progressive, 1890, 1909, 1910–11, 1932–3, 1934

stative, 1933, 4–1934

in clauses of indefinite frequency, 1932 in gerunds, 1915, 1940–1

in imperatives, 1876, 1878

in infinitives, 1942–3

in participles, 1915, 1941

in periphrastic forms, 1866–70, 1871–5, 1937–9

in subjunctives, 1876–9 loss of aspectual contrast, 1286, 1375, 1759, 1867, 1868, 1915, 1931, 1939, 1940, 1942 perfective, 1768, 1868, 1871, 1875, 1901, 1906, 1908, 1935–7 initiating a state, 1936 repeated events, 1907, 1912–13 single event, 1890, 1909–10, 1911–12, 1913–14, 1932, 1935–6

verbs

/u/-dynamic, 1307, 1434

aspectual, 1855, 1891, 1892–3, 1942, 1943

auxiliary

- impersonal use, 1742, 1771, 1772, 1775–77, 1778, 1780, 1782, 1786–7, 1789–90, 1794–5, 1802, 1803, 1806, 1810, 1812, 1813, 1827, 1869, 1871, 1872, 1873
- with past-tense complementation, 1802–3, 1806–7, 1811, 1813, 1872, 1873, 1874
- εἶμαι, 1793–5, 1812–13, 1823–4, 1825, 1827, 1830, 1836–7, 1838–9, 1851
- ἔχω, 1271, 1777–80, 1795, 1803–7, 1819–27, 1831–43, 1848–51, 1852–4
- θέλω, 1271, 1781–91, 1795, 1807–12, 1828–9, 1843, 1848–52, 1854–6
 - shortened forms, 1783–4, 1786, 1787, 1789, 1790–1, 1811–12, 1829, 1856
- μέλλω, 1271, 1771–7, 1795, 1800–3, 1848, 1856
 - absolute use, 1774–5, 1777
 - See also* periphrastic tenses and moods
- common set of past-tense endings, 1270, 1273, 1531, 1532, 1613, 1615
- conjugation, 1434–766
- control, 1753, 1886, 1887, 1890, 1891, 1892, 1893, 1895, 1931, 1942, 1965
- deponent, 1268, 1273, 1310, 1330, 1331, 1334, 1356, 1361, 1362, 1381, 1384, 1386, 1392, 1451, 1482, 1491, 1492, 1598, 1605, 1630, 1636, 1667, 1699, 1701–2, 1760, 1823, 1824, 1837, 1838, 1843, 1846, 1929, 1937
 - active forms of, 1381, 1915
- ditransitive, 1927, 1928, 1957
- factive, 1887, 1890–1
- impersonal, 1466, 1869, 1891, 1913, 1915, 1951
- intransitive, 1927, 1929, 1937, 1949, 1954
 - transitive use, 1957
 - in periphrastic forms, 1823, 1824, 1835–6, 1837, 1845
- modal, 1869, 1891–2, 1899, 1930, 1943
- of hindrance, 1894
- of motion, 1650, 1672–5, 1805, 1817, 1823–4, 1827, 1833, 1838, 1848
- performative, 1933
- personal, 1869, 1891
- stative, 1775, 1801, 1804, 1806, 1813, 1872, 1873, 1932, 1933, 1934, 1935
- stem formation, 1273–393
 - imperfective, 1267–8, 1275–311
 - addition of /y/, 1284
 - affixation, 1267, 1294–8, 1301–2
 - barytone verbs, 1275–98
 - consonant stems, 1275–87
 - transfer to vowel stems, 1281, 1291–4
 - influence on oxytone, 1269, 1302–7
 - transfer to oxytone, 1308–9
 - vowel stems, 1287–94
 - transfer to consonant stems, 1290–1
 - transfer to oxytone verbs, 1290
 - vowel deletion in, 1287–90, 1291–3
- oxytone verbs, 1298–307
 - A-stems, influence on E-stems, 1269, 1298–9, 1303, 1305
 - E-stems, influence from barytone, 1269, 1302–7
 - transfer to barytone, 1309–11
- peculiarities in single verbs, 1368–93
- perfective, 1268, 1311–56
 - non-sigmatic, 1348–55
 - pseudo-sigmatic, 1348–53
 - thematic, 1353–4
 - vowel stems, 1354–5, 1504
- sigmatic
 - alternative stem in /k/, 1341–8
 - alternative stem in /ks/, 1326–7, 1328–9, 1335–8
 - barytone verbs, 1311–32
 - verbs with alternative passive stems, 1317–18, 1319–20, 1386
 - with change of stem vowel in passive, 1332
 - with vocalic extension /i/, 1331–2
 - oxytone verbs, 1332–41
- syncopated forms, 1369–70, 1379–80, 1384, 1441, 1449, 1503, 1653, 1663–4, 1679
- thematic vowels, 1268, 1361, 1378, 1384, 1434, 1451, 1455, 1456, 1490, 1559, 1563, 1596, 1604, 1609, 1697, 1700, 1702, 1763, 1764, 1765
- transitive, 1864, 1887, 1927, 1928, 1929, 1937, 1947, 1951, 1957, 1963
- voice, 1928, 1929–30
 - active, 1269, 1434, 1915, 1927, 1928, 1929, 1940, 1942
 - middle, 1434, 1927, 1929
 - residual middle forms, 1758–61, 1763–6
 - passive, 1269, 1434, 1915, 1928, 1929–30, 1942, 1949, 1954
 - with active meaning, 1805, 1817, 1823–4, 1827, 1833, 1838–9, 1843, 1846, 1847, 1848, 1929, 1937
- voicing. See consonant changes
- vowel addition, 37–60
 - anaptyxis, 42–4
 - prothesis, 9, 10, 11, 37–42, 953, 980, 989, 993
 - word-final, 9, 44–60, 125, 915, 918, 919, 921, 929, 942, 954–5, 973, 980, 1005, 1010, 1034, 1061, 1169, 1172, 1272, 1438, 1441, 1442, 1454, 1456, 1458, 1459, 1460, 1470, 1472, 1490, 1491,

- vowel addition (cont.) 1493, 1494, 1496, 1501, 1502, 1505, 1506, 1510, 1512, 1524, 1527, 1528, 1529, 1531, 1536, 1537, 1538, 1540, 1548, 1551, 1551, 1553, 1555, 1557, 1558, 1559, 1560, 1562, 1563, 1565, 1567, 1568, 1569, 1573, 1579, 1580, 1581, 1586, 1589, 1591, 1595, 1596, 1597, 1598, 1599, 1601, 1602, 1603, 1604, 1605, 1609, 1610, 1611, 1618, 1621, 1622, 1625, 1626, 1643, 1644, 1645, 1646, 1649, 1680, 1681, 1683, 1686, 1690, 1694, 1714, 1715, 1716, 1718, 1730, 1731, 1733, 1735, 1736, 1738, 1741, 1743, 1744, 1746, 1747, 1752, 1787
- vowel changes, 66–81
 assimilation, 9, 10, 11, 78–9, 223, 897, 954, 993, 1451, 1489, 1537, 1556, 1604, 1621, 1639, 1713, 1720
 at word boundaries, 95–8 backing of [j] to [ɣ], 20
 of /i/ to /u/, 11, 76–8, 223, 1055, 1546, 1594, 1729 of /y/ to /u/. See phonemes, vowels change to /e/ due to liquids/nasals, 9, 10, 11, 66–71, 223
 dissimilation, 9, 10, 79
 labialization, 9, 71–3, 223 lowering of /i/ to /e/, 11, 68–71, 154 raising of /e/ to /i/, 8–9, 1727, 1735, 1744 of /o/ to /u/, 8–9, 10, 73–5, 223, 276, 278, 290, 350, 372, 1307, 1439, 1447, 1450, 1456, 1459, 1543, 1700, 1702, 1745 raising vocalism, 9, 10, 29–37, 222, 273, 337, 369, 374, 567, 578, 651, 846, 847, 863, 883, 884, 1009, 1172, 1239,
 1252, 1375, 1392, 1396, 1404, 1415, 1421, 1426, 1429, 1436, 1441, 1448, 1449, 1453, 1458, 1459, 1460, 1488, 1499, 1501, 1504, 1510, 1535, 1536,
 1537, 1554, 1617, 1619, 1621, 1623, 1634, 1636, 1640, 1648, 1662, 1711, 1714, 1718, 1723, 1727, 1728, 1736, 1738, 1744, 1752, 1769
- vowel deletion, 9, 10, 11, 60–6, 81–95 aphaeresis, 9, 10, 11, 61–3, 222, 758, 839, 863, 876, 911, 950–1, 1040, 1183, 1187, 1252, 1254, 1255, 1406, 1414, 1428, 1433 apocope, 65–6
 high vowel deletion, 10, 11, 31, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37 lexical, 10, 19, 83–8, 154, 256, 436, 443, 444, 460, 463, 514, 517, 594, 728, 734, 736, 737, 742, 753, 754, 755, 1250, 1251, 1287–8, 1354, 1417
 post-lexical, 88–94, 847, 865, 1013, 1208, 1514 syncope, 63–5, 222, 890, 951, 969, 1034, 1252, 1369–70, 1379–80, 1384, 1441, 1449,
 1503, 1653, 1663–4, 1679
 Kretschmer's Law, 64–5
See also phonemes, vowels and hypercorrection
- vowel hierarchy, 23, 40, 42, 63, 78, 81–4, 88, 89, 95, 98, 223, 950, 951, 1013, 1071, 1095, 1208, 1250, 1251, 1287–8, 1354, 1394, 1407
- wishes. See clauses, main
- word order. See constituent order
- writing system
 conservativeness of, xx, xxxi 3, 99, 106, 114, 132, 165, 188, 212, 256, 402, 410, 413, 414,
 418, 444, 447, 509, 517, 520, 682, 745, 755, 1112
 foreign scripts, xxvi–vii Arabic, xxvi–vii, 35, 118, 194, 195, 198, 639
 Cyrillic, xxvi, 12, 118, 194, 317, 639 Hebrew, xxvi–vii
 Latin, xxvi, 10, 12, 24, 62, 105, 111, 148, 149, 158, 173, 192, 194, 196, 198, 200, 229, 639, 881, 905, 1058, 1343, 1702

Index of Greek Words and Phrases

ἄ, 1124, 1128
ἀβοερία, 461
ἀβροχία, 460
ἄβυσσος, ἡ/τό, 663
ἀγαθοποίη, 704
ἀγαπειούμαι, 1304
ἀγαπῶ, ἡ, 590, 1097
ἀγαπῶ, ὁ, 545
ἀγγαρεία, ἡ, 460
Ἄγγελος/-ής, ὁ, 300, 359
ἀγγελάδα, ἡ, 459
ἀγκαλιά, ἡ, 461
ἀγκούτσακας, ὁ, 304
ἀγκώνας, ὁ/-α, ἡ, 354
ἀγοράσκει, 1298
ἀγοραστής/-ές, ὁ, 362
ἀγόρι(ν), τό, 611
Ἄγουστος. See Αὔγουστος ἄγρητα, ἡ, 459
ἀγροικ(ι)ένται, 1307, 1497
-ἄγω/-αξ-, 1370
ἄγω, 1369–70
ἄγωμε/ἄμε, ἄγωμέτε/ἄμετε/ἄμέτε, 1369–70
Ἀδάμης, ὁ, 369
ἀδιαντροπία, ἡ, 460
ἀδούλης, 779
ἀετός/ἄτός, 84
ἄζάπης, 357, 779, 782
ἄζάπης, ὁ, 357
ἄζάπισσα, 782
Ἀθήνα, ἡ, 459
Ἀθηνοῦ/-οῦς, τῆς, 479
Ἀθηνῶν, τῶν/-οῦ, τῆς, 478
ἄθθος, 134
ἀθιβάλλω/-βάνω, 1286
αἱ, 846, 855, 856
Αἰγύπτιος, ὁ, 435, 449
αἶμας τό, 164, 650
αἵματοχυσία, ἡ, 460
αἶξ/αἶγα, ἡ, 459
αἵτινες, 1156, 1160
ἀκαμάτης, 779
ἀκαμάτρια, 782
ἀκολουθῶ, ἀκολουθεῖ-, 1336 ἀκούγω, 1268, 1284, 1291

ἄκουε/ἄκο/ἄκω, 110, 1289 ἄκουε/ἄκου, 1289
ἀκούοντα/ἀκόντα, 1700
ἀκούοντας/ἀκόντας/ἀκῶντας, 1702 ἀκοῦς, 1287
ἀκούω/ἀκούγω, 146, 1291 ἄκρα/-η, ἡ, 532, 536
ἄκρα/-ια, ἡ, 462
ἀκριβής/-ός, 689, 761
ἀκρίς/-ίδα, ἡ, 459
Ἀκρίτης/-ας, ὁ, 400
ἄκρο(ν)/-ος, τό, 608, 663 ἄκρος, τό/ἡ, 262
ἀκτίς/-ίνα, ἡ, 458, 459 Ἀλαμάνος/-ης, ὁ, 359
ἄλας, τό, 678–9
Ἄλασσόνας. See Ἐλασσών(α) ἄλάτσι, 122
ἄλαφρά. See ἐλαφρά ἄλγος, τό/ό, 257
ἄλγῶν/-ός, 813
Ἀλέξανδρος/-ής, ὁ, 359
ἀλήθεια, ἡ/-ειο(ν), τό, 612 ἀλήθεια/-ειος, ἡ, 536
ἄλλά, 2016, 2017
ἄλλάγι/ἄλλαί, 23
ἄλλάγιον/-ι(ν), τό, 610 ἄλλασσω/ἄλλάζω/ἄλλάγω, 1278 ἄλλεας/-ιᾶς λο(γ)ῆς, 1165 ἄλλέως καί, 1901
ἄλληλες, 1184
ἄλληλοι της, 1184
ἄλληλοις, 1184, 1185
ἄλληλους, 1184
ἄλλήλων, 1183, 1184
ἄλλήλως (μας, etc.), 830, 900, 1183, 1185–6 ἄλληνης, 1048, 1167, 1170 ἄλληνοῦ, 1167, 1168, 1169 ἄλλης/-ῆς, 1167, 1170
ἄλλοι (acc.), 1174
ἄλλο(ν) (adv.), 836
ἄλλονα, 1167, 1169
ἄλλόνας, -αν, 1169
ἄλλονε, 46, 1167, 1169
ἄλλονῆς, 1167, 1170
ἄλλος, 1167–76, 1924

- ἄλλος ... ἄλλος, 1166 ἄλλοτε(ς), 830
 ἄλλου/-οῦ (masc.), 1167
 ἄλλου/-οῦ (neut.), 1167 ἄλλο(υ)νοῦ (masc.), 1167, 1168–9 ἄλλο(υ)νοῦ (neut.), 1167, 1171–2 ἄλλο(υ)νοῦς, 1167, 1172, 1174 ἄλλων/ἄλλων (masc.), 1167 ἄλλων/ἄλλων (neut.), 1167 ἄλλωνῶ(ν)/ἄλλονῶ(ν)/ἄλλουνῶν (fem.), 1167, 1174, 1175 ἄλλωνῶ(ν)/ἄλλονῶ(ν)/ἄλλουνῶν (neut.), 1167, 1175, 1176 ἄλλωνῶ(ν)(ε)/ἄλλο(υ)νῶ(ν)(ε) (masc.), 1167, 1172, 1173 ἄλουπού, ἡ, 570–1
 ἄλουπού/-ῆ, ἡ, 537
 ἄλοφάς. See λουφές
 ἄλφα, τό/ῆ, 463
 ἄλωπηξ/-εκα, ἡ, 459
 ἄμα, 1906, 1907, 1920
 ἄμαζών/-όνα, ἡ, 459
 ἄμε, ἄμετε/ἄμέτε. See ἄγωμε ἄμε, τό, 686, 687
 ἄμέστε(ν), 1370
 ἄμ(μ)έ, 2012
 ἄμ(μ)ή, 2012, 2016
 ἄμπά, ἡ, 458
 ἄμπελέ, ἡ, 460
 ἄμπέλι, τό/-η, ἡ, 644
 ἄμπέλιον/ι(ν), τό, 610
 ἄμπελώνας, ό, 304
 ἄμποτε(ς), 1881, 1882, 1883 ἄμφιβάλλω/-βάνω, 1286 ἄμοφρέας, ό/ἀφορέα, ἡ, 422 ἄμφότεροι, 1187, 1188, 1213–14
 ἄν. See ἐάν
 ἄν/ᾶ, 180, 181
 ἄν/ἄνε, 59, 60
 ἄν καί, 1920, 1921
 ἄν καλὰ καί, 1920, 1921
 ἄν πολλάκις, 1901, 1903 ἄνάβα(ν), τό, 686
 ἀναβρύω/-ζω, 1290
 ἀναβῶ/ἀνεβῶ/ἀνέβω, 1514 ἀνακατωσιά, ἡ, 461
 ἀνάλαιμα, τό, 645
 ἀνάμεσα (εἰς), 2004, 2006
 ἀνάμεσά μας, etc., 1186 ἀνάμεσό(ν) μας, etc., 1186 ἀναμεταξύ μας, etc., 1186 ἀναπαημένος, 23, 1368
 ἀναπαύω/-πεύω, 1371
 Ἀνάπλι(ν). See Ναύπλιο(ν) ἀνάστα, τό, 686, 687
 ἀνατέλλω/-τέλλω, 1285
 ἄνδρας. See ἀνήρ
 Ἀνδρέας, ό, 301, 402, 420
 Ἀνδρέας/-ίας, ό, 408
 Ἀνδρέως, τοῦ, 409
 ἀνέβα, 1672, 1673
 ἀνεβῶ/ἀνέβω. See ἀναβῶ ἀνελεήμων/-ονας/-ονος, 772 ἀνέν καί, 1894, 1895, 1903, 1905 ἀνέναι (καί), 1901, 1903, 1905, 1907, 1920 ἄνευ/ἄνευε/ἄνευα, 59, 60 ἀνεψιά, ἡ, 461
 ἀνεψιός/-ίος, 223
 ἀνήρ/ἄνδρας, ό, 303
 ἄνθος, τό/ό, 677
 ἄνθος/-ι(ν), τό, 612, 677
 Ἀνθοῦσα/Ἀνττοῦσα/Ἀθτοῦσα/Ἀττοῦσα, 138 ἄνθρωπος, ό, 285
 ἀνθρωπότης/-ότητα, ἡ, 458
 ἀνίσως (καί), 1894, 1895, 1901, 1903, 1905 Ἀννεζού, ἡ, 570
 ἄνταν, 1906
 ἀντί, 1996
 ἀντίλλαξη, ἡ, 535
 ἀντρική/-ιά, 691
 ἀντῶ/-αίνω/-ένω, ἀντεσ-, 1340 Ἀντώνιος, ό, 435
 ἄνωρίς, 839
 ἄξυτόν/-οῦ/-ῆς/-ήν μου, etc., 902, 1180 ἄξινη/ἄξινος, ἡ, 262
 ἄξιος/ἄξιος, 18, 705
 ἄξιση, ἡ, 535
 ἄξότατος, 826
 ἄπαν, 1205
 ἄπαντα, 1205, 1206
 ἄπαντας, 1206
 ἄπαντες, 1206
 ἀπαντέχω/-αίνω, 1295
 ἀπαντῶ, ἀπαντηξ-, 1335–6 ἀπαντῶ/-αίνω, 1310
 ἀπαντῶ/-ήχνω, 1371
 ἀπάντων, 1206
 ἀπαρθινότατος, 826
 ἄπας, 1187, 1199, 1200, 1205 ἄπασα(ν) (fem.), 1205–6 ἄπασα(ν) (indecl.), 1206, 1208 ἄπασας, 1206
 ἄπασης, 1206
 ἀπατός μου, etc., 50, 901, 998, 1000–2, 1003, 1180 ἀπείς, 1906 ἀπείτις, 1906
 ἀπέλεκας, 1344
 ἀπέλυσα/ἀπέλυκα, 1346
 ἄπερ for όπού, 1135, 1983, 1987
 ἄπερ for όπου, 1989

- ἄπερ, 1130, 1133, 1982, 1987, 1989 ἀπιδέα/-έ, 21, 506
 ἀπιδέα/-ιά, ἡ, 459, 506–7 ἀπλαζίρι(ν), τό, 611
 ἀπλοῦς/-ής/-ύς, 723
 ἀπλοῦς/-ός, 721, 723, 1263
 ἀπό τ'/ἀπότ', 865, 928
 ἀπό, 1929, 1963, 1965, 1993, 1996–7, 2003–4. See also ὀπό ἀποδοῦβαίνω, ἐπεδοῦβεν, 28 ἀποδελιοπος/δελιοπός, 1165 ἀποθνήσκω/(ἀ)πεθνήσκω, 1297 ἀποθνήσκω/ἀποθαίνω, 1348 ἀποκλείεται/-εῖται, 1305 ἀποκρέα/-ιά/ἀπόκρια, ἡ, 462 ἀπομακρέας/-(ι)ᾶς, 834–5 ἀπομοναρέα/-έ, 21, 728
 ἀπομονάριος/-άρης, 728–37 ἀπόντας, 1906
 ἀπονωρίς, 839
 ἀποσπερί(ς), 838, 839
 ἀποστάτης/-ας, ὁ, 400
 ἀποστολές, ὁ, 427
 ἀπότις, 1906
 ἀπού, 73, 75. See also ὀπου ἀποφαίνω/ἀποφήνω, 1371
 ἀποφάνησι, ἡ, 535
 ἀπόφασι/ἀπόφα, ἡ, 569
 ἀππιδία/ἀμπιδία, 206
 ἀππλικεύω/ἀμπλικεύω, 206 ἀπρεπαρισμένος, 1366
 ἀπτω/ᾶφτω, 1275, 1384
 ἀπώς, 1906
 ἀράπης, ὁ, 357
 ἀράσσω/ἀράζω, 1278
 ἀράσσω/ράσσω, 1279
 ἀργά(ς), 831, 834
 ἄρηγτα, ἡ, 459
 ἄρμα/ἄρματον, τό, 656
 Ἄρμένιος/-ης, ὁ, 449
 ἀρμπιτράριος, 731
 Ἄρνιθα/Ἀρνίττα, 138
 ἀρπάζω/ἀρπάσσω, 1280–1 ἀρπάζω/ἀρπῶ, ἀρπαξ-/ἀρπασ-, 1339 ἄρπαξ/ἄρπαγος, 260, 354, 689 ἄρραβώνας, ὁ/-α, ἡ, 353, 463 ἄρρωστημένος, 1367
 ἀρχάζω/ἀρχέζω/ἀρχινέζω, 1372–3 ἀρχαίων/ἀρχιῶν, 705, 711 ἀρχεύω, 1372
 ἀρχιμανδρίτης/-ας, ὁ, 400 ἀρχινίζω, 1372
 ἀρχινῶ, 1372
 ἀρχιρίζω/ἀρχερίζω, 1372 ἀρχιστῶντα, 1707
 ἄρχομαι, 1373
 ἄρχομαι/ἄρχω/ἀρχῶ/ἀρχίζω, 1371–2 ἄρχων/-ος, ὁ, 260, 275 ἄρωματικό(ν), τό, 592
 ἄς, 1652, 1659, 1762, 1841, 1876, 1878, 1882, 1883, 1930, 2027
 ἄς, 1124, 1127–8
 ἀσβέστη, ἡ/-ης, ὁ, 360, 569 Ἀσελής, ὁ, 356
 ἀσημένιος, 737
 Ἀσημῶ, ἡ, 576
 ἀσθένεια/-ειος, ἡ, 531, 536 ἀσθενής, 761
 ἄσπερ, 1130, 1132
 ἀσπρύτερος, 817
 ἀστήρ/ἀστέρας, ὁ, 304, 331 ἄστινας, 1156, 1160
 ἀστράπτω/ἀστράφτω, 1275 ἄστρο(ν)/-ος, τό, 608, 663 ἀσχημοποδαρούσα, 782
 ἄτινα, 1156, 1160
 ἄτο, 883
 ἄτός μου, etc., 900, 901, 998–1000, 1002, 1003 ἄτός, 925. See also ἀेतός ἄτός/αὐτός, 999
 ἄτων, 907
 Αὐγουστος/Α(ὐ)γουστής, ὁ, 359 αὐθέντης/-ας, ὁ, 400
 αὐθέντης/-ος/ἀφέντος, ὁ, 400 αὐθέντης/ἀφέντης, ὁ, 356, 364 Αὐλίτας, ὁ, 400
 αὐξάνω/-ύνω/-αίνω, 1294 αὐτεῖνος, 845, 916, 917, 930–40, 1981 αὐτοκράτωρ/-ορας, ὁ, 304 αὐτόν/-ήν/-ῆς μου, etc., 900–1, 998 αὐτόνος, 845, 916, 917, 930–40, 1981 αὐτός, 845, 874, 915, 916–25, 930, 998, 1981 αὐτος, 925–8, 1981
 αὐτοῦνος, 916, 917, 930–40, 1981 αὐτόχθων/-ονας/-ονος, 772 ἀφέντης/ἀφές, ὁ, 362
 Ἄφηνους, 213
 ἀφήνω, ἀφήκα/ἀφηκα, 1341, 1342, 1615, 1636 ἀφήνω, ἀφήκω, 1348
 ἀφήνω, ἀφησα, 1312
 ἀφῆς, 1124
 ἀφη(σ)μένος, 1367
 ἀφίω/ἀφίνω/ἀφήνω, 1290, 1395 ἀφόν. See ἀφών
 ἀφόν(ν)τι(ς), 1156, 1906
 ἀφορᾶ/ἀφορνᾶ, 1299
 ἀφορέα. See ἀμφορέας ἀφότης, 1156, 1906, 1907
 ἀφοῦ, 1124, 1906, 1909

- Ἄφροδίτης, ἡ, 547
 Ἄφροδίτης, ὁ, 569
 ἄφρων/-ονα/-ονος, 772
 ἄφτι, 24
 ἄφῶν/ἄφόν, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1920
 ἄχ. See ἐκ
 Ἀχιλλεύς/-έας, ὁ, 403
 ἀψύς/-ός, 745

 βαβά, ἡ, 458
 Βαβουλέας, ὁ, 403
 βάζω. See βάλλω βαθεῖς, 746
 βαθέος, 746
 βάθος, τό, 661
 βαθύς, 745, 746
 βάιον, 23
 βαλετέ, ἡ, 585
 βάλλω, βαλ-, 1353
 βάλλω, βάρτε, 215
 βάλλω/βάζω, 1286, 1373–4, 1400 βάλλω/βάλνω, 1374
 βάλλω/βάνω, 1286, 1400
 βάλτος, ὁ/-ο(ν), τό, 592 βάνδον/-ος, τό, 663
 βάπτω/βάφω, 1276
 βαρ', βάρτε. See βάλλω and βαρῶ βαρέα/-ά, 21, 745
 βαρέα/-έ, 745
 βάρει/βάρειε, 1303
 βαρεῖα/-έα/-ιά, 745
 βαρεῖται/βαρειέται, 1270, 1304 βαριές/βαρές, 21
 βαριοί/βαροί, 21
 βαριούς/βαρούς, 21, 745 βάρος, τό, 661
 βάρος, τό/ό, 677
 βάρος/-ι(ν), τό, 677
 βαροῦμαι/βαρειόμαι, 1270 βαρύς, 745
 βαρῶ, 1461
 βαρῶ, βάρ', βάρτε, 1655 βαρῶ/βαρησ-/βαρεσ-, 1340, 1341 βάσανος, ἡ/-ο(ν), τό, 298, 592 βασίλειο(ν), τό, 610, 630
 Βασίλειος, ὁ, 435
 Βασίλειος/-ης, ὁ, 357
 βασιλέος, ὁ, 421
 βασιλεύς/-έας/-ές/-ίας/-ιάς, ὁ, 403–4 βασιλῆς, ὁ, 356, 422
 βασιλῖος, ὁ, 259, 421
 βασίλισσα, ἡ, 459
 βασιλός, ὁ, 259
 βαστάζω/βαστάρω, 1311
 βαστάζω/βαστῶ, 1274

 βασταμενώτερος, 817
 βαστῶ/-άνω/-αίνω, 1374–5 Βατέας, ὁ, 403
 βγαίνω. See ἐκβαίνω
 βγῶ. See ἐβγῶ βδομήντα. See ἐβδομήκοντα βέβαια/-η, 705
 βεζίρης, ὁ, 357, 388–9
 βελτίων, 772
 βενεζού, ἡ, 569
 Βενιαμῆς, ὁ, 359
 βερτού, ἡ, 569
 βερτούδα, ἡ, 459
 βήτα, τό/ή, 463
 βιάση, ἡ, 535
 βιβλίο(ν)/-ιό(ν), τό, 609 βίος, ὁ/τό, 298, 662
 βίος/βίός, τό, 663
 βισκούντης, ὁ, 357
 βίτσιο(ν), τό, 610
 βιτσορές, ὁ, 427
 βλέπτω/βλάβω, 1276
 βλέπτω/βλάφτω, 1275
 βλέπεσαι/βλέπεσε/βλέπουσai, 1375, 1652 βλεπτημένος, 1366
 βλέπτηση, ἡ, 535
 βλέπω, βλεπτησ-, 1331–2, 1375 βλέπω, ἰδ-, 1353
 βλέπω/ἐβλέπω, 38
 βοηθῶ, βοηθησ-, 1336
 βοηθῶ/βοηθῶ, 1336
 βολά, ἡ, 458
 βόρβορα, τά, 592
 βορέας, ὁ, 402, 420
 βορέως, τοῦ, 409
 Βουλγάροι/Βουρκάροι, 192 βούλομαι, βουληθ-, 1331–2 βουνό(ν)/-ός, τό, 608
 βουτῶ, βουτησ-/βουτηξ-, 1338
 βραδύ/βράδυ, τό, 838
 βράδυ(ν)/-ι(ν), τό, 610 βραχίονας, ὁ/βραχιόνα, ἡ, 354, 463 βράχος, ὁ/τό, 298, 661
 βραχύς, 746
 βρέθομαι/βρεθίσκομαι. See εὐρέθομαι βρεῖ(ν). See εὐρεῖ(ν) βρέ(ς). See εὐρέ
 βρέσκω. See εὐρέσκω βρέτε. See εὐρέτε
 βρέφος/-ι(ν), τό, 677
 βρέχομαι, βραχ-, 1332
 βρίσκω. See εὐρίσκω βροντῶ/βροντηξ-, 1337
 βρυχῶμαι/βρυχιζῶ/βρύχω, 1310
 βρῶ. See εὐρῶ

- βυζάνω, βυζασ-, 1326
 βυζιον/-ί(ν), τό, 609
 βυθός, ό/βύθος, τό, 661, 662 βύθος/-ός, τό, 662
- γαῖδάρα, ή, 459
 γαῖδαρος, 23
 γάλα(ν)/-ας, τό, 678, 679–80 γαλιότα, ή/-ας, ό, 305
 γαμέας, ό, 403
 γαρμπής, ό, 356 γάρος, τό, 662
 γαστήρ/-έρα, ή, 459
 γάτος/-ης, ό, 300
 γέγοναν, 1766
 γεῖς. See εἶς
 γείτων/γείτος, ό, 260
 γελασμένος, 1366
 γέλως, ό/-ος, τό, 664
 γενεῖ(ν)/γινεῖ(ν)/γένει(ν)/γίνει, 1694–5 γενεράλης, ό, 357
 γενίσκομαι. See γινίσκομαι γέννα, ή/τά, 532
 γένομαι. See γίνομαι
 γένω/γενῶ, 1498
 γένω/γίνω/γενῶ, 1514
 γερανής, 788
 γερανίσκω, 1297
 Γεράπετρος. See Ἰεράπετρα γέρας. See γῆρας
 γέρατα/γέρα, τά, 681
 γέρνω. See ἐγείρω γερο-, 590, 591
 γέρων/-οντας, ό, 304, 680 γέρων/-ος, ό, 260
 Γεωργής/Γιωργής, ό, 360
 γή. See ή
 γή. See ἡ γῆρας/γέρας, τό, 678, 680–1 γῆς, ή, 590
 γῆς/ἰγῆς, 41
 γιά. See διά
 γιά/γά, 20
 γία-/δια-, 154–5
 γιά νά. See διὰ νά γιά τ'/γιατ'. See διὰ τ' Γιαννού, ή, 570
 γιάντα, 1014
 γιάση, ή, 536
 γιατί. See διατί
 γίγας, ό, 303
 γίγας/-αντας, ό, 303
 γίγας/-αντος, ό, 260
 γινίσκομαι/γενίσκομαι, 1376 γίνομαι/γένομαι, 1376
- γιόφυρα/-ος, ή, 531
 γκιουλγκιουλής, 788
 γλακῶ, 26
 γλακῶ, γλακτηξ-, 1337
 γλήγορι(ς), 838
 γλυκός/-ός, 689, 745, 746 γλυτώνω, ἐγλύτωκα, 1268, 1344
 γνώπη, ή, 535
 γνώθω/γνώνω, 1278
 γογγύζω, γογγυσ-/γογγυκ-, 1348
 γοί. See οἱ
 γοιόν. See ὄγοιον and ὡς γοῖον γονής, ό, 356, 386, 422 γονικάριος, ό, 435
 γόνυ/-α/-ατο(ν), τό, 678, 681–2 γράδες, οἱ. See γριάδες γραία/γρέ, ή, 509
 γραία/γριά/γρά, ή, 460, 508 γράμμα(ν), τό, 646 γραφεύς/-έας, ό, 403
 γράφος, τό, 661
 γράφω, 1435
 γράψιμο(ν), τό, 645, 657 γρια-, 590
 γρ(ι)άδες, οἱ, 514
 γρ(ο)ικῶ, 1461
 γρ(ο)ικῶ, γρ(ο)ικησ-/γρ(ο)ικηξ-, 1337 γυναικός/-οῦ, τῆς, 478
 γυνή/γυναίκα, ή, 458, 459 γύψ/γύπας, ό, 303
 ὕγώ. See ἐγώ
- Δαβίδης, ό, 369
 δαίμων/-οντας, ό, 304
 δάκρυον/-υ(ν), τό, 610
 δαμασκής, 788
 δαμί(ν)/-άκι(ν), 807, 808 δανεισιός, ό, 451
 δάσος, τό/ό, 677
 δάσος/-ι(ν), τό, 677
 δασύς, 745
 δασώδης, 761
 δαῦτος. See ἐδαῦτος δέ, 876, 2009–10
 δέδωκαν, 1766
 δεικνύω/δείχνω/δείκτω, 1281–2 δεῖλος, τό, 661
 δεῖ(ν). See ἰδεῖ(ν) δεῖν, τό, 610
 δεῖνα/όδεῖνα, 989, 1024, 1070, 1076, 1087–90 δεῖνας/όδεῖνας/όδεινας/δεῖνος, 1088–90 δεῖπνο(ν)/-ος, τό, 608, 663 δείχνω. See δεικνύω δέκα, 1231, 1249

- δεκαδύο, 1249
 δεκαεννέα/δεκαννέα/-ιά, 1251–2 δεκαεννιά/δικαγινιά, 1252 δεκαέξ/δέκαεξ/δεκαέξι/-ε/δεκάξι, 1250–1 δεκαεπτά/-εφτά/δεκαφτά, 1251 δεκαοκτώ/-οχτώ/δεκοκτώ/-οχτώ, 1251 δεκαπέντε, 1250
 δεκατέσσαροι/-τέσσεροι, 1250 δέκατος, 1231, 1258, 1261 δεκατρείς, -τρία, 1250 δελιοπός. See ἀποδέλιοπος δέν ἐν/δέν, 227–8, 1721
 δέν. See οὐδέν
 δενδριώνας, ό, 304
 δένδρο(ν)/-ό(ν), τό, 594 δενδροτύζικον, τό, 592
 δένω. See δέω
 δέομαι, δεῖθ-, 1331–2
 δέομαι/δεγοῦμαι, 1291
 δέρω/δέρνω, 1351
 δέ(ς). See ἰδέ(ς)
 δεσδένιον, τό, 610
 δεσμός, ό, -ά, τά, 298, 592 δέσποινα, ή, 459
 δεσποίνη/δεσπύνη, 12
 δεσπότης/δέσποτας, ό, 400
 δέτε. See ἰδέτε δευτέρα/δεύτερη, 715, 1258–9 δευτερεύων/-εὔος/-έος, 813 δεύτερο(ν)/-α (adv.), 837 δεύτερος, 1258
 δέω/δένω, 1290
 διά/γιά, 154, 1889, 1993, 1994
 διά/γιά λόγου, 897
 διά/γιά νά, 1889, 1892, 1896, 1897, 1920, 1966 διά τ'/διάτ'/γιά τ'/γιατ', 865, 928 διά τὸ νά, 1897
 διάβα(ν), τό, 686
 διάβατα, τά, 687
 διάβολος/διάολος, 154
 διαβόντα(ς), 1707
 διάγω/διάζω, 1370
 διασυντόμου/-ως, 840
 διατί/(ὁ)γιατί, 1918, 1919
 διατό, 1918
 διάφορο(ν)/-ος, τό, 608, 664 διαφύλαξον/διαφοίλαξον, 12 διγεί(ν). See ἰδεῖ(ν) δι(γ)ῶ. See ἰδῶ διδάσκω/διδάχνω, 1281, 1282
 δίεται/-έται, 1377
 δίδω, δώκω, 1347–8
 δίδω, ἔδωκα, 1341–2
 δίδω, ἔδωσα, 1311
 δίδω/διδῶ, 1309, 1377
 δίδω/δίνω, 1376–7
 δίδω/δούδω, 1377
 δίδω/δώνω, 1377
 διέ. See ἰδέ
 δικός μου, etc. See ἰδικός μου δίκτυον/-υ(ν), τό, 610
 διμάκι(ν), 808
 δίνω. See δίδω
 διό, 1124
 διοικητής/δι(οι)κητάς, ό, 400 διότι, 1918, 1919
 διοῦ, 1124, 1918
 διπλοῦς/-ός, 721
 δισδέκατος, 1261
 διώκω/διώχνω/διώκτω, 1281–2 διώχνω/δι(ι)ώχω, 1283–4 δοκόφρων/-ονας/-ονος, 772 δόλος, ό/τό, 662
 δό(ς). See δῶσε
 δός, τό, 686
 δοσία, ή, 569
 δόσια/δόσα, τά, 569
 δόσιμο(ν), τό, 657
 δόσις/ἔδοσις, ή, 536
 δο(σ)μένος, 1367, 1378
 δόστε/δότε. See δῶστε δούδω. See δίδω
 δουμάκι(ν), 808 δούξ/δούκας, ό, 303, 324–31 δουξοί, οἱ, 329
 δράκων/-ος, ό, 260
 δράππα, 134
 δράσσω/δράχνω/δράκτω, 1283 δράχνω/δράχω, 1283–4 δριμνιώτερος, 817
 δριμύς, 745
 δροσιά, ή/-ιό, τό, 612
 δρόσος ή/ό/τό, 663
 δρυένιος, 737
 δρυς, ή, 589
 δρυς/ἰδρυς, ό, 41, 453
 δύναμαι/-ομαι, 1378
 δύναμαι/-ομαι, δυνθ-, 1331–2 δύναμις/-η, ή, 534, 535, 560 δύνω. See δῶω
 δύο/δυό, 1238–40
 δύο/δύον, 1238
 δύο/δύου, 1238, 1239
 δύο/δύων/δύων, 1238–9
 δυό/ιδυό, 41, 1238, 1239
 δυοῦς/δυονοῦς, 1238, 1240 δυσβατῶδης, 763 δυσκολώδης, 763
 δυστυχής/δύστυχος, 762
 δύνω/δύνω, 1290

δυνῶν/δυνονῶ(ν)(ε)/ἐδυνονῶ(ν), 1238, 1239

δῶ. See ἰδῶ

δῶδεκα, 1249–50

δῶνω. See διδῶ

δῶρο(ν)/-ος, τό, 608, 664

δῶσε/δῶσ' /δός/δός, 1378, 1679

δῶστε/δόστε/δῶτε/δότε, 1378

έ. See ή

ἐάν/ἄν, 1894, 1895, 1901, 1902, 1903, 1904, 1905, 2027, 2028 ἐαυτός. See τὸν ἐαυτό(ν) μου ἐβάρει/ἐβάρει, 1303, 1304

ἐβγα. See ἐκβα

ἐβγάζω. See ἐκβάλλω ἐβγαίνω, ἦβγα. See ἐκβαίνω ἐβγαλση, ή. 535

ἐβγα(ν), τό, 686

ἐβγῶ/βγῶ, 1517

ἐβγῶ/ἐξέβω/ἐβγω, 1514

ἐβγῶντα, 1707

ἐβδομάς/-άδα, ή, 458, 459

ἐβδομήκοντα/ἐβδομήντα/βδομήντα, 1254

ἐβδομος, 1260

ἐβην/ἐβηκα, 1613, 1614, 1630

ἐβρηκα/ἐβρῆκα. See εὔρηκα

ἐβῶ. See ἐγῶ

ἐγγόνη/-α, ή, 463

ἐγγονή/-ιά, ή, 569

ἐγγονος/-ας, ό, 299, 304

ἐγγράφου (adv.), 840

ἐγέγονε/ἐγεγόνηκε, 1666

ἐγείρω/(ἐ)γέρνω, 1284

ἐγενόμην/ἐγενήθην/ἐγένην, 1375

ἐγκλησία. See ἐκκλησία ἐγλεντζέ, ή, 586

ἐγλεντζές, ό/ή, 586

ἐγλήγορα(ς), 834

ἐγνέας. See ἐκ νέας

ἐγνοια. See ἐννοια

ἐγῶ/γῶ/ἐῶ/ἐβῶ, 862–3

ἐγῶ/ἰγῶ, 863

ἐγών, 863

ἐδα. See εἶδα

ἐδάρει/ἐδάρτε, 1674

ἐδαῦτος/δαῦτος, 845, 928–9, 1981

ἐδε, 928, 952, 969, 1090

ἐδεκεῖνος, 952, 1981

ἐδεποῖος/-ποιός, 1024, 1090–1 ἐδετίς, 1090

ἐδετοῦτος, 969, 1981

ἐδικός μου, etc. See ἰδικός μου ἐδικότητα, ή, 459, 503

ἐδοσις. See δόσις ἐδυνῶ(ν). See δυνῶν

ἐθέλω/θέλω, 1398

ἐθέλω/θέλω, (ἐ)θελησ-, 1331

ἐθηκα/ἐθεκα. See θέτω εἰ, 1894, 1901, 2028

εἶ, 1709, 1712

εἰ δέ (μή), 2009

εἶδα/εἶδα, 1413

εἶδα/εἶδια, 1375

εἰκοσάδα, ή, 1262

εἴκοσι/κοσι-/κοσ-, 1252

εἴκοστοῦ/εἰχουστοῦ, 210

εἰκῶν/-όνα, ή, 458, 459

εἶμαι, 1709, 1710–11

εἶμαι/εἶμαιν, 1709, 1710, 1711

εἶμαι/εἶμι, 1709, 1710, 1711

εἶμαστανε, 1710, 1715, 1716

εἶμαστε(ν)(ε)/εἶμασθε(ν), 1710, 1715–16

εἶμεθα, 1710, 1712–13

εἶμεθε(ν), 1710, 1713

εἶμεστα(ν)(ε)/εἶμεσθα(ν), 1710, 1714–15

εἶμεστε(ν)(ε)/εἶμεσθε(ν), 1710, 1713–14 εἶμεστε(ν)/εἶμιστι(ν), 1710, 1714

εἰμή, 1924

εἰμί, 1709, 1711

εἰμί/εἶμαι, 1709

εἶν (num./pron.), 1046, 1047, 1233, 1234 εἶν/ῆν/εἶ, 1709, 1710, 1723–5 εἶναι/εἶν (inf.), 1750, 1753 εἶνε(ν)/εἶναι(ν), 1709, 1710, 1723, 1725–6 εἶνιε/εἶνιαι, 200, 1710, 1723, 1726–7 εἶνι(ν), 1709, 1710, 1723, 1727

εἶντα. See τίντα

εἰπεῖ(ν)/εἴπει(ν)/πεῖ(ν), 1693–4 εἰπέ(ς)/πέ(ς), 1677–8

εἰπέτε/πέτε, 1680

εἴπουν(α), 1627–8

εἴπω/εἴπῶ/πῶ, 1498, 1513, 1514

εἴπωμένος, 1366, 1388

εἶς/εἰσέ/σέ/σ', 45, 61

εἶς/ένας/(ἐ)νεῖς/γεῖς (num.), 1232 εἶς/ένας/(ἐ)νεῖς/γεῖς (pron./art.), 971, 1024, 1041–5, 1214, 1976–7 εἶς/ένας ... τὸν ἄλλο(ν)/τοῦ ἄλλου, 1183 εἶς/σέ, 1949, 1953, 1954, 1957, 1963, 1993, 1994, 2003, 2004 εἶς τ', 865, 928

εἶς τὸ νά, 1897

εἶσαι, 1709, 1711–12

εἶσαστε, 1710, 1718

εἶσθι, 1750, 1752

εἰσί(ν), 1710, 1727, 1728

εἶστα(ν)/εἶσθαι(ν), 1750–2 εἶστα(ν)/εἶσθαι(ν)/εἶσθε(ν)/εἶσθε(ν)/ῆστα(ν)/ ῆσθαι(ν)/ῆσθε(ν)/ῆσθε(ν), 1750 εἶστα(ν)/εἶσστα(ν), 1750, 1752

- εἴσται(ν)/εἴσταινε, 1752 εἴστε(ν)/εἴσθε(ν)/εἴστενε, 1710, 1717–18 εἴστε(ν)/εἴστι(ν), 1710, 1717, 1718 εἴστον, εἴστονε. See ἦστον, ἦστονε εἰστόντα. See ἐστόντα εἴτε, 2013, 2016
 εἴτι, 1162, 1163–4
 εἴτινα(ν), 1162, 1163
 εἴτινος, 1162–3
 εἴτινων, 1162, 1164
 εἴτις, 1092, 1161–2
 εἴτις (καί) ἄν/νά, 1164 εἴχα/ἔχα, 1412–13
 εἴχουνα, 1534
 εἴχουστοῦ. See εἰκοστοῦ ἐκ, 1965, 1997, 2003–4 ἐκ/ἄχ/όχ, 96
 ἐκ/ἔχ, 124–5
 ἐκ μέρους, 1997
 ἐκ νέας/ἐγνέας, 210
 ἐκάθησα/ἐκάτσα/ἔκατσα, 1385 ἐκάθισα/ἐκάτσα/ἔκατσα, 1384–5 ἐκάλει/ἐκάλειε, 1269
 ἔκαστος, 1187, 1214–16
 ἐκατό(ν)/κατό, 1255
 ἔκβα/ἔβγα, 1673
 ἐκβαίνω/(ἐ)βγαίνω, 1344, 1373 ἐκβάλλω/(ἐ)βγάζω, 1373–4 ἐκεῖ ὅπου, 1908, 1909
 ἐκεῖν/ἐκεῖν, 951–2
 ἐκεῖνος, 845, 875, 941–51, 1981
 ἐκειός, 845, 952, 1981
 ἐκκλησία/ἐκκλησία, 206
 ἐκπίπτω/ξεπέφτω, 1396, 1419 ἔκτος, 1260
 ἔλα, 1672, 1673
 ἔλα, ἐλάστε(ν)/ἐλάστενε, 1382 ἔλα, τό, 686
 ἐλαία/ἐλιά, ἡ, 459
 ἐλαιώνας, ὁ, 304
 ἐλάσσω, 814
 Ἐλασσών(α), ἡ/Ἀλασσόνας, ὁ, 305 ἐλαφρά/ἄλαφρά, 95
 ἐλαφρός/-ῆς, 690
 ἐλεήμων/-ονας/-ονος, 772–8 ἐλεύθερος, 715
 ἐλέφας/-αντας, ὁ, 303
 ἐλέφας/-αντος, ὁ, 260
 ἐλέφας/λέφας, ὁ, 303
 ἔλη, τά/ῆ, 678
 ἐλθῆναι, 1692, 1693
 ἔλθιμο(ν)/ἔρτιμο(ν), τό, 657 ἐλθόντας/ἔρθοντας, 1381 ἔλθος, τό, 661
 ἔλθω/ἐλθῶ, 1513
 Ἐλλάς/-άδα, ἡ, 459
 ἐλόγου μου, etc., 897
 ἐλπής/-ίδα, ἡ, 458, 459
 ἐλύθη/ἐλύθηκα, 1344
 ἐμᾶς. See ἡμῶν ἐμᾶς/ἔμας. See ἡμᾶς
 ἐμᾶς/ἱμᾶς, 872
 ἐμαυτή(ν). See τὴν ἐμαυτή(ν) μου ἐμαυτό(ν). See τὸν ἐμαυτό(ν) μου ἐμβαίνω/(ἐ)μπαίνω, 1373 ἐμέ(ν)(α)(ν)(ε) (gen.), 862 ἐμέ(ν)(α)(ν)(ε)(ν)/μέ(ν)(α)(ν)(ε)(ν) (acc.), 48, 862 ἐμεῖς. See ἡμεῖς
 ἐμεῖς/ἱμεῖς, 871
 ἐμέν(α)/ἐμένε, 862, 866 ἐμέν(α)/ἐμενός, 865
 ἐμέτερος. See ἡμέτερος ἐμιλία. See ὁμιλία ἐμισός. See ἡμισυς Ἐμμανουήλ/Μανόλης, ὁ, 359 ἐμός, 914
 ἐμοῦ/ἔμου, 862, 863–4 ἔμπα, 1672, 1673
 ἐμπαίνω, ἡμπα, 1373, 1400 ἔμπα(ν), τό, 687
 ἔμπατα, τά, 687
 ἔμπε, 1679
 ἐμπορεμένος/μπορεμένος, 1367 ἐμπορώ/ἡμπορώ, -πορησ-/πορεσ-, 1340 ἔμπροσθεν/ἔμπροστες, 164 ἔμπω/ἐμπῶ/μπῶ, 1498
 ἐν, 1998
 ἐν/ἐ, 1709, 1718, 1721–2 ἐν/ἐνα(ν) (pron./art. neut.), 1043, 1049–50 ἐν(α)(ν) (num. neut.), 1232, 1235–7 ἐν(α)(ν)(ε) (num. masc.), 1232, 1233–4 ἐνα(ν)(ε) (pron./art. masc.), 1043 ἐνα(ν). See ἐνε(ν) ἐναλλήλως, 1186
 ἐνας. See εἷς
 ἐνας ... τὸν ἄλλο(ν). See ὁ εἷς ἐνατος, 1231, 1258, 1261 ἐνδεκά/ἐντεκα, 1249
 ἐνεῖς. See εἷς
 ἐνε(ν)/ἐναι(ν), 1709, 1710, 1718, 1720, 1722–3 ἐνεν/ἐνιν, 1709, 1723
 ἐνενήκοντα/ἐνενήντα, 1255 ἐνι/ἐν, 1709, 1710, 1718–21 ἐνιαυτός. See τὸν ἐνιαυτόν μου ἐννέα/-ία/-ιά, 1231, 1248–9 ἐννέατος, 1261
 ἐννοια/ἐγνοια, 143
 ἐνός/(ἐ)νοῦ(ς)/δνοῦς (num. masc.), 1232–3 ἐνός/(ἐ)νοῦ(ς)/δνοῦς (num. neut.), 1237–8 ἐνός/(ἐ)νοῦ(ς)/δνοῦς (pron./art. masc.), 1043, 1045–6 ἐνός/(ἐ)νοῦ(ς)/δνοῦς (pron./art. neut.), 1043, 1050

- ἐνόςω, 1906, 1909
 ἐντεκα. See ἔνδεκα ἐνῶ, 1124, 1906, 1909
 ἐνῶ for ὀπού, 1124
 ἐξ/ἐξέ/ξέ, 59
 ἐξ/ἐξ/ἔξε, 98, 1246–7
 ἐξανα-/ξανα-, 1419
 ἐξαπέλυσσά/ἐξαπέλυσκα, 1346
 ἔξατος, 1231, 1258, 1260 ἐξαυτόν μου, etc., 902, 998 ἐξέβα(ν), τό, 686
 ἐξεβῶ/ἐξέβω. See ἐβῶ
 ἐξερῶ/ξερνῶ, 1299
 ἐξεστηκώς/-ός, 813
 ἐξευρίσκω/(ἐ)ξεύρω, 1395 ἐξεύρω/(ἐ)ξέρω, 1381
 ἐξήκοντα/ἐξήντα, 1254
 ἔξοδος, ἡ/-ο(ν), τό, 592 ἐξυστέρου, 841
 ἔζω ἄν, 1901
 ἔζω/ῶζω, 95, 96
 ἔπαινος, ὁ/τό, 662
 ἐπαίρω/(ἐ)παίρνω, 1274, 1284, 1400, 1648, 1661 ἐπεδᾶβεν. See ἀποδᾶβαίνω ἐπεί, 1918, 1919
 ἐπειδή(τις), 1918, 1919
 ἐπεσαῦτος/ἐποσαῦτος, 994 ἔπεσε/ἔπεκε, 1268, 1344, 1347 ἐπί, 1998–9, 2003, 2004 ἐπία/ῆπια, 1399–400
 ἐποῖκα/ἔποικα, 1345–6
 ἐπτά/ἔφτά, 1247–8
 ἔπτατος/ἔφτατος, 1231, 1258, 1260 ἔργατα, τά, 593
 ἔργο(ν)/-ος, τό, 608, 663 ἔργο(ν)/ῥργο(ν), τό, 604 ἐρημάζω/ρημάσσω, 1280, 1281
 ἔρθα. See ἦρθα ἐρθόμενος/ἐρθωμένος, 1367 ἔρθοντας. See ἐλθόντας ἔρις/-ιδα, ἡ, 458
 ἔρου, τοῦ, 260
 ἔρτιμο(ν). See ἔλθιμο(ν) ἔρχομαι, ἐλθ-/ἐρθ-, 1353 ἔρχομαι/ἔρκομαι, 186, 191, 1381 ἔρχομαι/ἔρχω, 1381
 ἔρχοντα(ς), 1381, 1915
 ἔρω/ἔρωτας, ὁ, 304
 ἔρωτῶ/ρωτῶ, (ἐ)ρωτηξ-, 1335 ἔρωτῶ/ρωτῶ, (ἐ)ρωτησ-, 1353 ἐσᾶς (gen.), 872, 873
 ἐσᾶς/σᾶς/ἔσας (acc.), 872, 873–4 ἐσέ(ν)(α)(ν)(ε) (gen.), 866, 868 ἐσέ(ν)(α)(ν)(ε)/σε(ν)(α)(ν)(ε) (acc.), 48, 866, 868–9 ἐσεῖς, 872, 873
 ἐσενού. See ἐσοῦ ἔσμιξις, ἡ, 536
 ἔσο, 1749
 ἐσοδεῖα, ἡ, 460
 ἔσουντας, 1754, 1755, 1756–7 ἔσουντες, 1754, 1757
 ἐσοῦ/ἐσενού, 866, 868. See also σοῦ ἔστα(ν)/ἐστάνε, 1906, 1907, 1910, 1911 ἔσται(ν)/ἔσθαι(ν), 1750, 1752–3 ἔσταιν/ἔστιν, 1750
 ἔστε (imperat.), 1749
 ἐστέ/ἔστε, 1710, 1716–17 ἔστι(ν)/ἔστι(ν), 1709, 1727, 1728 ἔστιν. See ἔσταιν ἐστίν/ιστίν, 1728
 ἔστον, 1728, 1742, 1743
 ἐστόντα καί, 1908
 ἐστόντα/εἰστόντα, 1754, 1756 ἐστόντα(ς), 1754, 1756
 ἔστοντα(ς), 1754, 1755–6 ἔστοντα(ς) (καί), 1755, 1906, 1908, 1909 ἔσ(τ)οντας νά/(ὁ)πού, 1755, 1918, 1919 ἔστοντος/ἔστόντος, 1754, 1757 ἔσ(τ)οτας, 1757
 ἔστω, 1749–1750, 1755
 ἔστωσαν, 1749, 1750
 ἐσύ. See σύ
 ἐσύ/(ἐ)σοῦ, 76, 866, 867
 ἐσύ/ἰσύ, 866, 867
 ἔτερος, 1176–9
 ἐτεσαῦτος/ἔτοσαῦτος, 993 ἐτέτοιος. See τίτοιος ἔτοιας λογῆς, 971
 ἔτοιος. See τίτοιος
 ἔτον. See ἦτον
 ἐτός του, 999
 ἐτοσαῦτος. See ἐτεσαῦτος ἐτόσος. See τόσος ἐτότε(ς). See τότε(ς) ἐτουνῆς, -οῦ, -ῶν. See τουν-ἐτουῖνος*, 916, 1981
 ἐτουτ-. See τουτἔτσι (καί) ... ὡσάν καί, 2015 ἔτσι. See ἴτις
 εὐαγγέλιο(ν), τό, 610
 εὐγενάδες/-ίδες/-ῆδες, οἱ, 762 εὐγενής, 763 εὐγνώμων/-ονας/-ονος, 772
 εὐδαίμων/-ονας/-ονος, 772 Εὐδοκού, ἡ, 570
 εὐθειάζω/φτιάνω, 1418
 εὐθύς ὀπού, 1906
 εὐκαίρῶ/-αίνω/-ένω, εὐκαιρεσ-, 1340 εὐμορφύτερος, 817
 εὐπρεπής/εὐπρεπος, 689

εὔρε/βρέ(ς), 1677
 εὔρεθομαι/ἡνέρεθομαι/βρέθομαι/-ισκομαι, 1382 εὔρέσκω/ἡνέρεσκω/βρέσκω, 1382 εὔρέτε/βρέτε, 1680
 εὔρηκα/ἐβρηκα/ἡνρηκα/εὔρηκα/ἐβρηκα/ἡνρηκα, 1342–3
 εὔρισκω/βρίσκω, 1382, 1412
 εὔρον/ἡῦρον, 1343
 εὔρω/εὔρωδ/βρωδ, 1343, 1345, 1498, 1513 Εὐστράτιος/Στράτης, ὁ, 357 εὐτεῖνος, 941
 εὐτόνος, 941
 εὐτός, 916, 941, 1981
 εὐτοῦνος, 941
 εὐτυχής/εὐτυχος, 689
 εὐτυχῶς, 832
 εὐχομαι, εὐχθ-, 1331–2
 ἔφαε/ἔφα, 1354
 ἔφερα, 1351
 ἐφτά. See ἑπτά
 ἑφτατος. See ἑπτατος
 ἐχ. See ἐκ
 ἔχα. See εἶχα
 ἔχας, τό, 1705
 ἐχάωσα/ἐχάσα/ἔχασα, 234
 ἔχθηρητα, ἡ, 459
 ἔχοντα(ς) καί, 1908
 ἐώ. See ἐγώ
 ἔως νά, 1911
 ἔως (ὁ)πού, 1906, 1907, 1910, 1912, 1913 ἔως ὅτου, 1156, 1906, 1907, 1909, 1911 ἔως οὐ, 1124, 1906, 1907, 1909, 1911, 1913

ζᾱ. See ζῶ
 ζαλαχανάς, ὁ, 305
 ζαριστής, ὁ, 356
 ζαφορά, ἡ, 458
 ζερβός/ζαρβός, 690–1
 ζέστα/-η, ἡ, 532
 ζευγιά, ἡ, 461
 Ζεύς, ὁ, 403
 ζῆλος, ὁ/τό, 298, 662
 ζῆ(ν)/ζεῖ(ν), 1685, 1686 ζήτουλας, ὁ, 304
 ζητῶ, ζητηξ-, 1336
 ζιπούνι(ν), τό, 611
 ζυγαρέα/-ιά, ἡ, 459
 ζυγώνω, ζυγωξ-, 1326, 1327 ζῶ/ζό, τό, ζᾱ, τά, 594

ἡ, 846, 848
 ἡ, 1123, 1124, 1125
 ἡ. See οἱ
 ἡ/γῆ, 145, 848
 ἡ/γῆ, 145, 2013, 2016

ἡ/ἐ, 848
 ἡβγα. See ἐβγαίνω
 ἡβγατεν, 1674
 ἡθε(ν), 1811–12, 1874, 1875 ἡθες, 1812
 ἡθος, τό, 661
 ἡθος/-ι(ν), τό, 677
 ἡμᾶς/ἐμᾶς/ἔμας, 870, 871–2 ἡμασταν/ἡμασθαν, 1729, 1736–7 ἡμαστε(ν)(ε)/ἡμασθε(ν), 1729, 1735–6 ἡμαστον/ἡμασθον/ἡμαστον, 1729, 1736 ἡμεθα(ν), 1729, 1733–4 ἡμεθεν/ἡμεθον, 1729, 1734 ἡμεῖς/ἐμεῖς/μείς, 869, 870–1 ἡμενθα, 1734
 ἡμέρας/-ός, τῆς, 478
 ἡμερός/-οῦ, τῆς, 478
 ἡμεροῦ/-οῦς, τῆς, 478, 479 ἡμεστα(ν)(ε)/ἡμεσθα(ν), 1729, 1734 ἡμεστε(ν)/ἡμεσθε(ν), 1729, 1735 ἡμεστον, 1734, 1735
 ἡμέτερος, 914
 ἡμέτερος/ἐμέτερος, 914
 ἡμη(ν), 1728, 1731
 ἡμισταν, 1729, 1735
 ἡμισυς/-ος/-ός/(ἐ)μισός, 757–60 ἡμον, 1728, 1731–2
 ημουναμε, 1729, 1737
 ἡμου(ν)(ε)/ἡμουνα, 1728, 1729–31
 ἡμπα. See ἐμπαίνω ἡμπορά. See μπορά ἡμπορῶ. See ἐμπορῶ
 ἡμῶν/ἐμᾶς, 871
 ἡν, 1724, 1728, 1729, 1748. See also εἶν ἡν, 1124, 1126
 ἡνία ἡ/τά, 612
 ἡνπερ, 1130, 1131
 ἡντα. See τίνα
 ἡντινα. See ἥτινα
 ἡντον, 1728, 1748
 ἡπερ, 1130, 1131
 ἡπια. See ἐπια
 ἡρθα/ἔρθα, 1413
 ἡς, 1124, 1125–6
 ἡσα(ν)/ἡσανε, 1729, 1739, 1743–4 ἡσανι, 1729, 1743, 1744 ἡσασι(ν)/ἡσανσι(ν), 1729, 1744–5 ἡσαστε, 1729, 1735, 1738–9 ἡσαστον/-ουν, 1729, 1739 ἡσον, 1728, 1733
 ἡσουνα, 1733
 ἡσου(ν)(ε), 1728, 1732–3 ησουναστε, 1729, 1737, 1739 ἡσπερ, 1130, 1131
 ἡσται(ν)/ἡσθαι(ν). See εἴσται(ν)

- ἦσαν (2 pl.), 1729, 1738 ἦστα(ν) (3 pl.), 1729, 1743 ἦστέ(ν)/ἦσθε(ν)/ἦστένε, 1729, 1737–8. See also εἴσται(ν) ἦστον (2 pl.), 1729, 1738
 ἦστον/εἴστον (3 sg./pl.), 1728, 1729, 1742 ἦστονε/εἴστονε (3 pl.), 1729, 1742, 1743 ἦσυχος, 718
 ἦτα(ν)/ἦτανε, 1729, 1739, 1746–8 ἦτασι(ν), 1729, 1749
 ἦτε, 1710, 1718
 ἦτινα/ἦντινα, 1156, 1158 ἦτινος, 1156, 1158
 ἦτις, 1155, 1156, 1158
 ἦτον/ἔτον, 1413, 1728, 1729, 1739, 1742 ἦτο(ν)/ἦτονε(ν), 1728, 1729, 1739–41 ἦτονα (3 sg.), 1728, 1739, 1741 ἦτονες (3 pl.), 1729, 1739, 1741 ἦτου(ν)(ε)/ἦτουνα, 1728, 1729, 1745–6 ἦρ-/. See εὐρἦρα, 1343, 1613
 ἦρον. See εὐρον
 ἦχος/ἦχός, ὁ, 262
- θά (fut.), 40, 203, 1791–3, 1870, 1898, 2027, 2038 θά (volit.), 1380
 θά/θάν, 1793
 θάλασσα, ἡ, 459
 θάπτω/θάβ(γ)ω, 1277
 θάπτω/θάπτω, 1275
 θαραπαήμενος, 1368
 θάρρος, τό/ό, 677
 θε νά/θενά, 40, 1790–1, 1870 θειοῦδες, οἱ, 457
 θελά, 1790
 θέλει εἴσταιν τρεχάμενος, 1783 θέλει/θελ', 1787
 θέλεις ... θέλεις, 2013 θέλω, θές, θέ(ν), etc., 1783–4. See also ἐθέλω θεμέλιο(ν), τό/-ιός, ὁ, 607 θέννα. See θθὲ ννά Θεόδωρος/-ής, ὁ, 300, 359 θεραπεύω, θαραπαυσ-/θαραπαψ-, 1382 θέτω, ἔθηκα/ἔθεκα, 1341, 1342, 1383 θέτω, ἔθησα, 1383
 θέτω/θήττω, 1383
 Θήβα, ἡ, 459
 Θηβῶν, τῶν/-οῦ τῆς, 478
 θήλυς, 760–1
 θηρίο(ν)/-ιό(ν)/θηριό(ν), τό, 609 θθὲ ννά/θέννα, 1789, 1790 Θιάκι(ν). See Ἰθάκη
 θλίβω/θλιβῶ, 1309
 θρασύς, 745
 θρήνος, ὁ/-ιον, τό, 299, 613
- θρήνος, ὁ/τό, 298, 662 θρίξ/τρίχα, ἡ, 458
 θρύβας, 1704
 θυγάτηρ/θυγατέρα, ἡ, 458, 459 θῶρη, τά, 661
- Ἰανουάριος, ὁ, 435
 Ἰάσων/Ἰασοῦς, ὁ, 422
 ἰγῆς. See γῆς
 ἰγώ. See ἐγώ
 ἰδέ/διέ, 1375
 ἰδεῖ(ν)/δι(γ)εῖ(ν), 1375 ἰδεῖ(ν)/ἴδει(ν)/δεῖ(ν), 1693–4 ἰδέ(ς)/δέ(ς), 1677–8
 ἰδέτε/δέτε, 1680
 Ἰδη/Ἰδα, 26
 ἰδικός/(ἐ)δικός μου, etc., 903, 910–12 ἴδιος μου, etc., 903, 912–13 ἴδιος. See ὁ ἴδιος ἰδρῦς. See δρῦς
 ἴδρως ὁ/-ος, τό, 664
 ἰδρώτας, ὁ/-η, ἡ, 537
 ἰδύο. See δυό
 ἰδῶ/δι(γ)ῶ, 217, 1375
 ἴδω/ἰδῶ/δῶ, 1513, 1514
 Ἰεράπετρα, τά/Γεράπετρος, ἡ, 258, 608 ἱερός, ὁ, 356, 422
 Ἰεροσόλυμα, τά/τό, 608, 645
 Ἰησοῦς, ὁ, 422
 Ἰθάκη, ἡ/Θιάκι(ν), τό, 569, 613 ἱνα/νά, 1867, 1869, 1870, 1874, 1888–9, 1896, 2027.
 See also νά
 ἰνκάντος, τό, 661
 ἴντα. See τίντα
 ἴντα/ἴντας, 1014
 ἰντράδα, ἡ, 459
 Ἰσαάκιος, ὁ, 435
 ἰστί. See ἐστί
 ἰσύ. See ἐσύ
 ἰσχύς, ἡ, 589
 ἰσχύνω/ἰσχύνω, 1290
 ἴτις/ἔτσι, 123
 ἰχθύς, ὁ, 453–4
- καβαλλάριος, ὁ, 435, 437 καβαλλάριος/-ης, ὁ, 357 καβαλλικευμένος, 1367
 κάβουρος/-ας, ὁ, 299, 305
 καδής. See κατής Κάερο/-ος, τό, 664
 καημένος, 23, 1368
 καθά, 1922
 καθαίρ(ν)ω/καθαιρῶ, 1299, 1309, 1384 καθακαμιά. See καθεμία καθακιανείς, 1218

- καθαμία/-μιά. See καθεμία κάθαναν/καθάναν, 1219, 1223 καθανείς. See καθεῖς καθανός. See καθενός κάθανους/-οῦς, 1222, 1223
 καθαρινίσκω, 1297
 κάθε(ν)/κάθα(ν), 1187, 1188, 1214, 1224, 1226, 1228–30 κάθε/κάθα εἰς/ἐνα. See καθεῖς κάθε/κάθα τις, 1228
 κάθε/κάθι, 1227
 καθεῖ(ν), 1219, 1223, 1224 καθεῖς, 1043, 1187, 1188, 1214, 1228 καθεῖς/-ενεῖς/-ανεῖς/-ένας/-ές/όκαθεῖς/κάθε εἰς/κάθα εἰς/κάτα εἰς/κάτε εἰς/κάθε ἕνας/κάθα ἕνας, 845, 1219–21 καθεῖς/όκαθεῖς, 1070
 καθέκαστος, 1214, 1216–17 καθεμία(ν)/-μιά(ν), 1219, 1226 καθεμία/-μιά/καθαμία/-μια, 1219, 1224–5 καθεμίας/-μιας/-μιανης/καθαμιάς/καθημιάς/όκαθεμιάς, 1219, 1225 καθέν(ν)/-ένα(ν)/κάθε ἕνα/κάθα ἕν(α) (neut.), 1219, 1226–7 καθέν(ν)/καθέν/κάθε ἕνα(ν)/κάθα ἕνα(ν) (masc.), 1219, 1223–4 καθενός/-ένος/-ενοῦ/-ένα/όκαθενός/καθανός/κάθε ἕνός (masc.), 1219, 1221–3 καθενός/-ενοῦ/-ανός/καθέν/κάθα ἕνός (neut.), 1219, 1227–8 καθενός/καθινός, 1222
 καθές. See καθεῖς/-ενεῖς, etc.
 καθημία. See καθεμία
 κατήν, 1226
 καθίζω, κατσ-, 1384
 κάθομαι, κατσ-, 1384
 καθώς καί, 2010
 καθώς, 1920, 1922, 1923. See also ὡς καθώς καί, 1886, 1889–90, 1893, 1897–8, 1900–1, 1919–20, 1969, 2008–9, 2014–15, 2017, 2031 καί/όκαί, 1920
 καί ἄν, 1901, 1920, 1921 καί ἄς, 1901, 1920, 1921 καιρός, ὁ, 262–3
 καίω, καυσ-/καψ-, 1312–13 καίω/καίγω, 146, 1291
 καίω/καύγω/κάβγω, 1385
 καίω/καύτω/κάφτω/κάπτω, 1384–5 κακή/-ιά, 691
 κάκητα, ἡ, 459
 κάκιστος, 828
 κακό(ν), τό, 592
 κακογνώμων/-ονας/-ονος, 772 κακοδαίμων/-ονας/-ονος, 772 κακομοίρης, 778
 κακοῦργος, 705
 καλὰ καί. See ἄν καλὰ καί καλαμίωνας, ὁ, 304
 κάλει/κάλειε, 1269
 καλεῖτε/χαλεῖτε, 210
 καλεσμένος, 1366
 κάλλη, τὰ/ἡ, 678
 κάλλιστος, 828
 καλλίων/-ιος/-ιός/κάλλιος, 773, 823 καλλιώτερος/-ότερος, 824–5 καλογραῖα/-γριά/καλόγρια, ἡ, 463 καλοθελής/καλόθελος, 689 καλοθέτω/-θέκω, 1383
 καλός, 693
 καλότατα, 843
 καλότατος, 826
 καλύτερος, 817, 825
 καλῶς, 832
 κάμαρα/-η, ἡ, 532, 536
 καμαροφρυδοῦσα, 782
 Καμαρχενός, 26
 καμία/-μιά/κιαμιά, 1058, 1063 καμία(ν)/-μιά(ν)/κιαμιά(ν), 1058, 1064–5 καμianoῦ, 1005, 1045, 1058, 1060, 1061 καμίας/-μιας/-μιανης/κιαμιάς, 1058, 1064 καμινάδαν/καμινάν, 153 Καμπανέσης, ὁ, 359
 καμποσίους, 1083
 καμπόσο(ν) (adv.), 836
 καμπόσος/κάμπσοσος/όκάμποσος, 1024, 1082–7 καμπουρίσσα, 782
 κανεῖ(ν)(ε), 1058, 1061, 1062–3 κανεῖς, 845, 1024, 1043, 1978–9, 1980 κανεῖς/-ένας/-ενεῖς/κιανεῖς/-ένας, 1023, 1058–60 κανέν(α)(ν)/κιανένα (neut.), 1058, 1065–6 κανένα(ν)(ε)(ν) (masc.), 1058, 1062
 κανενεῖ, 1058, 1062, 1063 κανενῆς, 1058, 1064
 κανενός/-ενοῦ (neut.), 1058, 1066–7 κανενός/-ενοῦ(ς)/κιανενός (masc.), 1058, 1060–1 κανόνας, ὁ/-α, ἡ, 353, 463 κανοῦ (masc.), 1058, 1060, 1061 κανοῦ (neut.), 1058, 1067 κάντις. See ὁκάτις κάπα, ἡ, 459
 κάποιος. See ὁκάποιος κάπονας, ὁ, 304
 καρδία/-ιά, ἡ, 223, 460, 518–19 κάρλακας, ὁ, 304
 κάρος, τό, 661
 καρτερῶ, καρτερεσ-, 1340 καρτσής, 788
 καρτσιά/καρτζά, τὰ, 789
 καρτσίν, τό, 627
 καρυδέα/-ιά, ἡ, 459

- κασέλα, ἡ, 459
 κάστρο(ν)/-ος, τό, 608, 664 κατά, 1999
 κάτα, ἡ, 459
 κατάβε, 1679
 καταβῶ/κατεβῶ/κατάβω/κατέβω, 1514 καταλύουν/καταλοῦν, 1287 κατανύσσω/κατανύγω, 1279 καταπατητής, ὁ, 356
 καταπῶς, 1922
 καταρχινῶ/καταχερνῶ, 1372 καταρῶμαι, καταραθ-/ασθ-/αστ-/ισθ-/ιστ-, 1386 Καταστρόμονον, τό, 593
 κάτε/κάτα εἷς. See καθεῖς κατέβα, 1672, 1673
 κατεβῶ/κατέβω. See καταβῶ κάτεργον/κάτερκον, 192
 κατής/καδής, ὁ, 356, 384
 κάτι(ς). See ὀκάτι(ς) κάτινα(ν), -ες, -ος. See ὀκάτινκατινῶν, 1072, 1075
 ἑκατό. See ἑκατό(ν) καττία/κατσία, 122
 καφενές, ὁ, 427
 καφές, ὁ, 427
 κέρας/-ατο(ν), τό, 678–9 κεράτια/κεράτσια, 122
 κερατιοῦ, τοῦ, 679
 κερδένω/-αίνω, κερδεσ-/αισ-, 1325 κερδένω/κερδέζω, 1387 κερέλλα, 134
 κεφαλάδες, οἱ, 305
 κεφαλή/κεφάλη, ἡ, 536
 κηροπούλης, ὁ, 356
 κηρύσσω/κηρύττω, 1279
 κιαμιά. See καμία κιαμπόση, 1083, 1084
 κιανείς/-ένας. See κανεῖς κιλό(ν), τό, 592
 κίνδυνος, ὁ/-ο(ν), τό, 298, 592 κιννάβαρι(ν), τό, 611, 643 κιουρά, κιούρης, 15
 κιρμιζής, 788
 κιρμιζής/κιρμιζής/χιρμιζής/χρεμεζής, 788 κίτες, 794
 κλαημένος/κλαῖμένος, 23, 1368 κλαίει/κλαῖ, 1287
 κλαίοντα/κλιόντα, 1700
 κλαῖω, κλαυσ-/κλαψ-, 1312–13 κλαίω/κλαίγω, 146, 1291 κλάω/κλάνω, 1290
 κλείω/κλείζω, 1290
 κλείω/κλείνω, 1290
 κλέπτω/κλέβ(γ)ω, 1276, 1277 κλέπτω/κλέβω, κλαπ-/κλεφτ-, 1332 κλέπτω/κλέφτω, 1275
 κληρός, ὁ/τό, 662
 κλίμαξ/-ακα, ἡ, 458
 κλόρου, τοῦ, 685
 κλύδωνας, ὁ/-α, ἡ, 354
 κλώθω, 1278
 κόβ(γ)ω. See κόπτω κοιμητήριον/-ι(ν), 610
 κολύμβου (adv.), 840
 κομεσιό(ν), ἡ, 570
 κομεσιός, ἡ, 581
 κομεσιού, ἡ, 570
 κόμης/κόμιτας, ὁ, 304
 κομητίσση, ἡ, 532, 537
 κομματσούλι, 122
 κομμῶνος, 705
 κονδισ(ι)ό(ν), ἡ, 570, 580 κονδισιού, ἡ, 570
 κόνσουλος/-ας, ὁ, 300, 305 κονταρέα/-ιά, ἡ, 460, 463 κοντέντος, 705
 κόντες, ὁ, 427
 κόντες/-ης/-ος, ὁ, 357, 434 κοντοσταβλίκιν/-σταυλίκιν, τό, 611 κοντοστάβλος/-ης/-σταῦλος/-ης, ὁ, 360 κονύτερος, 817
 κοπέλα, ἡ, 459
 κοπελιά, ἡ, 461
 κόπρος, ἡ/τό, 663
 κόπτω/κόβ(γ)ω, 1276, 1277
 κόπτω/κόφτω, 1275
 κόραξ/κόρακας, ὁ, 304, 339 κόρη, ἡ, 546
 κόρτε/κούρτη, ἡ, 536
 κορτίνα, ἡ, 459
 Κόρυκος, ὁ/Κούρκος, τό, 662
 κοσι-. See εἴκοσι κόστος, τό, 661
 κόττα, 134
 κουβαλῶ/κουβανῶ, 1300
 κουζουλότατος, 826
 Κούρκος. See Κόρυκος
 κοῦρσο(ν)/-ος, τό, 663
 κουρτέσης, 779
 Κουτλουμούσης, ὁ, 360
 κουτσοχέρης, 778
 κοψαρέ, 728, 732
 κόψις/κόψη, ἡ, 535
 κρατειοῦμαι, 1304
 κρατισμένος, 1366
 κρατῶ, κρατηξ-, 1335
 κρέας, τό, 650, 678, 682–3 κρέας/κρ(ι)άς, τό, 682
 κρέας/κρέα, τό, 683
 κρέας/κρές, τό, 21, 682

- κρέατος/κρεάτου, τοῦ, 682
 Κρέοντες, ὁ, 427
 Κρήτης, ἡ, 164, 547
 κρητικὴ/-ιά, 691
 κριατιοῦ, τοῦ, 682
 κρῖμας, τό, 650
 κρίνω/κρένω, 1295
 κρίνω/κρινίσκω, 1296
 κρίσιμο(ν), τό, 657
 κρότος, ὁ/τό, 662
 κρουδὲλ, 793
 κρούουσιν/κροῦσιν, 1287
 κρούω/κρούγω, 146, 1291 κρύβω, κρυβηθ-, 1387
 κρύβω/κρύφω, 1387
 κρύον/κρίον, 13
 κρύπτω/κρύβγω, 1277
 κρύπτω/κρύβω, 1276, 1387
 κτῆνο(ν)/-ό(ν), τό, 594 κτῆνος/-ο(ν), τό, 594, 676 κτίστης, ὁ, 356, 360–1 κυβερνήτης, ὁ, 356
 κυλίεται/-ιέται, 1305
 κύνας, ὁ/-α, ἡ, 463
 κυρ-, 591
 κυρα-/κερα-
 κυρατσα-
 κυρία/κυρά, ἡ, 462
 Κυριακή/Κυρακή, 29
 Κυριάκος/-ης, ὁ, 359
 κυριελέσα, τά, 593
 κύριος/-ης, ὁ, 357
 κύριος/-ός, ὁ, 261–2 κυρο-, 591
 κυροῦδες, οἱ, 457
 κύω, 1331
 κώδων/κουδούνι, 73
 κωλύω/κωλύγω, 1291
 Κωνσταντῖνος/Κωνσταντῆς, ὁ, 300, 359
 Κώνστας/-ῆς, ὁ, 355, 359
 Κῶς/Κώ, ἡ, 575–6
- λαβαίνω, λαβ-, 1353
 λαγκός, ὁ, -ά, τά, 298
 Λάζαρος/-ης, ὁ, 359
 λαθαίνω, λαθ-, 1353
 λαίλαψ, ἡ/λαίλαπας, ὁ, 305 λαλιά, ἡ, 461
 λαμπάνω, λαμπασ-, 1326
 λαμπρός, 715
 λανθασμένος, 1366
 Λάρνακα, ἡ/-ας, ὁ, 305, 504 λάρναξ/-ακα, ἡ, 459
 λās, ὁ, 454
 λαχαίνω, λαχ-, 1353
- λαχανῆς, 788
 λεβάντε, το/-ες, ὁ, 685 λεβάντες, ὁ, 427, 432
 λεβάντες/-ης, ὁ, 435
 λέγας, 1704
 λέγει/λέει, 23
 λεγμένος, 1388
 λέγω/λέω, 1268
 λέγω, εἶπ-/λεξ-, 1387–8 λέ(γ)ω, λές, λέ, etc., 1291–3 λείπω, λειψ-, 1353
 λεμονῆς, 788
 λέφας. See ἐλέφας
 λέων/-ος, ὁ, 260
 ληνός/λανός, 25, 26
 λιβεράριος, 731
 λιγάκι(ν), λίγο(ν), λίγος. See ὀλιγλιγότατος, 826
 λίζιος, ὁ, 435
 λίθος, ὁ/τό, 662
 λιμήν/λιμένας, ὁ, 304
 λιμ(ν)ιώνας, ὁ, 304
 λόγος, ὁ, -ια, τά, 299
 λόγος, ὁ, 271
 λόγου/τοῦ λόγου μου, etc., 895–900, 998, 1180 λόγω μου, etc., 896–7 λούγω. See λοῦω
 λούεται/λοῦται, 1287
 Λουκάς/-ῆς, ὁ, 359
 λουμπάρδα, ἡ, 459, 481
 λούμπινας, ὁ, 304
 λούνω. See λοῦω
 λοῦται. See λούεται λουτρό(ν), τό, 594
 λουτρό(ν), τό/-ός, ὁ, 608 λουφές/(ᾶ)λοφάς, ὁ, 305, 434 λούω/λούγω, 146, 1291
 λούω/λούνω, 1286, 1290
 λύω/λύνω, 1267, 1286, 1290
 λύω/λυῶ, 1268, 1304, 1450
- μά, 2012, 2016
 μαβῆς, 788
 μαγαντζένος, ὁ, 434
 μαγάρι. See μακάρι(ον) μαγατζές, ὁ, 402, 427
 μάγειρος/-ας, ὁ, 299, 304
 μαγίστωρ/μαῖστωρ, 23
 Μαγώγηδες, οἱ, 359
 μαζώνω, μαζώξ-, 1268, 1326
 μαζώνω/μαζώνω, 1326
 Μάτης/Μᾶς, ὁ, 305, 400
 μαθαίνω, μαθ-, 1353
 μαθημένος/μαθισμένος, 1367 μαθητῆς, ὁ, 356, 360–1

- μάθω/μαθῶ, 1513
 μαϊμού, ἡ, 569
 Μάιος/Μάης, ὁ, 357
 μαϊστρο-/μαστρο-, 591
 μακάρι(ον)/μαγάρι, 1881, 1882, 1883 Μακεδών/-όνας, ὁ, 498 μακελλεῖο(ν)/-ειό(ν), τό, 609 μακράς/-ᾶς, 834
 μακρέα/-(ι)ά, 834
 μάκρος, τό/ὁ, 257, 677
 μακρός/-ύς, 690, 745
 μαλάσσω, 1279
 Μαλλέας, ὁ, 403
 μαμελές, ὁ, 428
 μάνα, ἡ, -άδες, οἱ, 459, 481, 483, 484 μάνητα, ἡ, 459
 Μανόλης. See Ἑμμανουήλ μάντις/-ης, ὁ, -ιδες/-ηδες, οἱ, 358
 Μαξιμού, ἡ, 570, 575
 Μαξιμώ, ἡ, 575
 μάρκον, τό, 592
 μαρμαρένιος/-ένος/-ένος, 737, 738
 Μαρού, ἡ, 570
 Μάρω, ἡ, 576
 μάς/μας/μᾶσε/μασέ (pers.), 48–9, 884 μας (poss.), 906
 Ματθαῖος/-ίας, ὁ, 305
 μάτι(ν). See ὀμμάτιον μαυρέας, ὁ, 403
 μαυρομάτης, 778, 779
 μαυρύτερος, 817
 Μαφρές, ὁ, 427
 μέ (prep.), 1963, 1993, 1994–5, 2003, 2005 μέ/με (pron.), 862, 877 μέ ὅλο πού, 1920, 1921
 μέ(ν)(α)(ν)(ε). See ἔμέ(ν)(α)(ν)(ε)(ν) μεγαλεῖο(ν), τό, 609
 μεγαλιότερος/-ιώτερος, 821
 μεγαλύττερος, 821
 μεγαλότατος, 826
 μεγαλότερος/-ώτερος, 820–1 μεγαλύτερος, 817, 821
 μεγάλως, 832
 μέγας/μεγάλος, 794–801
 μεγιστάνας, τάς/-ες, τές, 300 μεγιστάνος/-ας, ὁ, 260
 μέγιστος, 828
 μεῖζων, 688, 772, 776, 814, 820 μεινέσκω/μεινίσκω. See μένω μεῖς. See ἡμεῖς μείων, 814
 μελανομύτρια, 782
 μέλας/μελανός, 689
 μέλι(ν), τό, 610, 678, 683
 μέλισσα, ἡ, 459, 494–5 μελιτζανής, 788
 μελλά, 1771
 μέλλον/-ος, τό, 664
 μέλος/-ι(ν), τό, 677
 μέν, 876
 μενεβιστής, 788
 μένω/μεινέσκω/μνέσκω, 1298 μένω/μεινίσκω/μνίσκω, 1296 μερέα/-ά, ἡ, 21, 105, 460 μερέα/-ᾶ, 28
 μερέα/-έ, ἡ, 105, 460
 μερέα/-ιά, ἡ, 105, 460
 μερικοί, 1187
 μερικόν (adv.), 836
 μέρος, τό/ὁ, 677
 μέρος/-ο(ν), τό, 665
 μεσάζων/-ος, 261
 μεσίτης/-ας, ὁ, 400
 μέσο(ν)/-ος, τό, 608, 664 μέσον (εις), 2004, 2006 μετά, 1999–2000
 μεταξύ μας, etc., 1186
 μεταστρέφω/-στρεύ(γ)ω, 1277 μετέχω/-αίνω, 1295
 μέτρο(ν)/-ος, τό, 164, 608, 664 μέτωπο(ν), τό/-ος, ὁ, 257, 608 μέχρι (εις), 2000, 2005
 μή, 1877
 μή(ν), 1867, 1870, 1873, 1874, 1877, 1878, 1880, 1881, 1882, 1888, 1893, 1894, 1896, 1899, 1901, 1905, 1915, 1966, 1967, 1968, 2027 μή(ν)/μήνα, 1879, 1880, 1898 μηδέ, 2011, 2013, 2016, 2017, 2037 μηδείς, 1024, 1980
 μηδείς/-ένος/-εγείς/μουδένος/-εγείς, 1055–6 μηδεκαμιά/-κιαμιά, 1069 μηδεκαμιά(ν)/-κιαμιά(ν)/μουδεκαμιά, 1069 μηδεκανεῖς/-κιανεῖς, 1024, 1069 μηδεκανένα(ν)/-κιανένα(ν), 1069, 1070 μηδεκιαμῖς, 1069
 μηδεμία/-μιά/μουδεμία, 1055, 1056–7 μηδεμία(ν)/-μιά(ν), 1055, 1056 μηδεμίας/-μιᾶς, 1055
 μηδέν, 1055, 1870, 1874, 1877, 1893, 1896 μηδέν(α)(ν) (neut.), 1055, 1057 μηδέν(α)(ν)(ε)/μουδένα (masc.), 1055, 1056 μηδενός, 1055, 1056
 μηδετινός, 1070
 μηδετιπότενιος, 737
 μηδετίποτε(ς)/-τίβοτας, 1057 μήκων/μάκων, 26
 μηλέα/-έ, 21
 μηλέα/-ιά, ἡ, 459
 μήν/μέν, 153–4
 μήν/μήνας, ὁ, 303

- μήνας/μήνας, ό, 331
 μήνιγξ, ή/μήλιγγας, ό, 305, 532 μηνύω/μηνώ, 1308
 μήπως (καί), 1893, 1905, 1967 μήτε, 2011, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017 μήτηρ/μητέρα, ή, 458, 459 μητρί, ή, 490, 532, 537 μητροπολίτης, ό, 356
 μητρυιά, ή, 461
 μία/μιά (num.), 1232, 1234 μία/μιά (pron./art.), 1043, 1047 μία(ν)/μιά(ν) (num.), 1232, 1235 μία(ν)/μιά(ν) (pron./art.), 1043, 1048–9 μιά/μινιά, 199, 1047
 μισνοῦ, 1005, 1043, 1045, 1050, 1232, 1237, 1238 μίας/μιάς/μιανής (num.), 1232, 1234–5 μίας/μιάς/μιανής (pron./art.), 1043, 1047–8 Μικέλες, ό, 427
 μικρά/-ή, 715
 μικράκι(ν), 807–8
 μικρόθεν/-θες, 164
 μικρό(ν) (adv.), 807, 836 μικρός, 715
 μικρούλης, 785, 786
 μισθός, ό/μιστό(ν), τό, 592 μισός. See ήμισυς
 μίσσος, ό/τό, 662
 Μιχαήλ/Μιχάλης, ό, 359
 μνέσκω/μνίσκω. See μένω μνημείο(ν), τό, 609
 μινιά. See μιά
 μόδιον/-ι(ν), τό, 610
 μοιρολογητής, ό, 356
 μόλις, 1906, 1910
 μόλος, ό/τό, 662
 μοναστήριον/-ι(ν), τό, 610 μοναῦτα καί, 1906, 1910 μοναχά(ς)/μονάχα(ς), 831, 834 μοναχός μου, etc., 998, 1003–4 μόνιος μου, etc., 1003–4 μόνιος, 200
 μόνο(ν)/μόνε, 98, 831
 μόνο(ν)/μόνι, 831
 μόνος μου, etc., 998, 1003–4 Μορέας/-ιάς, ό, 411
 Μορέως, τοῦ, 409
 μου (poss.), 903–4
 μοῦ/μου (pers.), 877
 μουδ-. See μηδ-
 μουζούρι(ν), τό, 611
 Μουλίτας, ό, 400
 μούλκι(ν), τό, 611
 Μουράτης, ό, 359
 μουσείο(ν), τό, 609
 μουστάκι(ν), 11, 76
 μούττη, 138
 μπάιλος, 23
 μπαίνω. See ἐμβαίνω Μπαντουής, ό, 356
 μπάρμπας, ό, 306
 μπαρούνης, ό, 357
 μπαρούνος, ό, 400
 μπαρούς, ό, 422
 μπάς/πάς καί (νά), 1898 μπαχτζές/-ιάς, ό, 305, 434 μπέης, 23
 μπερδένω, μπερδεσ-, 1325–6 Μπερνάρδος/-ής, ό, 359
 μπήγω/μπήχνω, 1281
 μπλιό. See πλιό μπορ-. See ἐμπορ-μπορά/ήμπορά/πορά, 1466, 1898
 μπῶ. See ἔμπα
 μυαλός, ό/-ό(ν), τό, 592 μύγα, ή, 459
 μύζω/μύσσω, 1280, 1281
 μωρέ, 695
 νά, 1865, 1870, 1872, 1873, 1874, 1876, 1877, 1878, 1880, 1881, 1882–3, 1885, 1888–9, 1890, 1891, 1892, 1894, 1895, 1899–900, 1901, 1902, 1907, 1913, 1914, 1920, 1922, 1923, 1925–6, 1930, 1931, 1965–6, 1968, 1987–8, 2038. See also ἵνα νά, νάτε, 1674–5
 νατουράλ(ε), 793
 Ναύπλιο(ν)/Ανάπλι(ν), τό, 610 νεῖς. See εἷς
 νέος/νιός, 223, 705
 νεότητα, ή, 459, 502
 Νέστορας/-ης, ό, 355, 359
 νεῦρο(ν)/-ρό(ν), τό, 594 νεφρά, τά, 592
 νησόπουλο(ν), τό, 592 νησίν, 137
 Νικόλαος/-ας, ό, 305
 Νικόλαος/-ής, ό, 359
 Νικολός, ό, 265
 νιώθω/νιώνω, 1278
 νομοκάνονον, τό, 593
 νοῦ(ς). See ἐνός
 νοῦς, ό, 423
 νοῦς/νός, ό, 423
 νταβάνι(ν), τό, 611
 Ντακορφοῦς, ό, 422
 ντεζούτελε, 793
 Ντζεφρές, ό, 427
 ντης. See της
 ντου, ντοῦ. See του, τοῦ ντωνε. See των
 ντως. See τως

- νυκτί, ἡ, 532, 537
 νυκτός/-οῦ, τῆς, 478
 νυκτοῦ/νυχτοῦς, τῆς, 478 νύξ/νύκτα, ἡ, 459
 νώσις/νώση, ἡ, 535
- ξανα-. See ἐξαναξαυτόν/ξαύτου/ξαυτῆς μου, etc., 902 ξε-, 1396. See also ἐξ ξενική/-ιά, 691
 ξεπέφτω/ξεπέφνω, 1277, 1390. See also ἐκπίπτω ξερνῶ. See ἐξερνῶ ξεφάντωση, ἡ, 535
 ξεψυχῶ, ξεψυχῆξ-, 1337
 ξη-, 1396–7, 1424
 ξύδι(ν), τό, 611
 ξύλον/ξύλον, 13
- ὄ, 2013, 2016
 ὄ, 846–7
 ὄ, 1123, 1124, 1126
 ὄ/οῦ, 846, 847
 ὄ for ὅπου, 1124
 ὄ δέ, 876, 2009, 2010
 ὄ εἷς/ἕνας ... τὸν ἄλλο(ν)/τοῦ ἄλλου, 1166 ὄ ἴδιος, 998, 1002–3
 ὄ καθ-/όκαθ-. See καθὄ λόγου/όλόγου μου, etc., 897 ὄ μαυτός μου, 1183
 ὄ μέν, 876, 2009, 2010
 ὄβερ, 2013
 ὀγδοήκοντα/ὀγδοήντα/ὀγδόντα, 1254 ὀγδοήντα/οὐγουδουήντα, 1255 ὀγδοος, 1258, 1261
 ὀγιατί. See διατί ὀγοιον/γοιόν, 1922, 1923. See also ὡς γοῖον ὀγοιον for ὅπου, 1154
 ὀγοιος. See οἶος
 ὀδε, 915, 1981
 ὀδεῖνα. See δεῖνα ὀδεῖνας/ὀδεινας. See δεῖνας ὀδεινός, 1088
 ὀδός, ἡ, 262–3
 Ὀδυσσεύς/-έας, ὁ, 403
 οἰ, 846, 851, 855–6
 οἶ, 1124, 1127
 οἶ/γοί, 851
 οἶ/ῆ, xxx
 οἰκτίρμων/-ονας/-ονος, 772 οἶον, 1922
 οἶος, 970, 1988
 οἶος/ὀγοιος, 845, 989, 1087, 1091, 1140, 1150 οἰοσδήποτε, 1091, 1155
 οἶπερ, 1130, 1132
 οἶτινες, 1156, 1159–60
- ὀκά, ἡ, 458, 469–70
 ὀκαθ-. See καθ-ὀκαί. See καί
 ὀκάποιος/(ὀ)κάποιος/οὐκάποιος, 845, 1023, 1024, 1070, 1076–82, 1977, 1978 ὀκάποσος. See καμπόσος ὀκάτι(ν)/(ὀ)κάτι(ν)/οὐκάτι, 1023, 1024, 1072, 1074–5 ὀκάτινα(ν)/(ὀ)κάτινα(ν), 1072, 1073 ὀκάτινες/(ὀ)κάτινες/οὐκάτινες, 1072, 1075 ὀκάτινος/(ὀ)κάτινος/οὐκάτινος (masc.), 1072, 1073 ὀκάτινος/(ὀ)κάτινος/οὐκάτινος (neut.), 1072, 1075 ὀκάτις/(ὀ)κάτις/οὐκάτις, 1024, 1070–5, 1977–8 ὀκάτις/κάντις, 1073
 ὀκτακόστα, τὰ, 1262
 ὀκτατος/ὀχτατος, 1231, 1258, 1261 ὀκτώ/ὀχτώ/ὀκτών, 1248
 ὀλημερ(ι)νῶς, 839
 ὀληνῆς, 1189, 1191, 1192 ὀλιγάκι(ν)/λιγάκι(ν), 807 ὀλίγο(ν)/λίγο(ν) (adv.), 807, 836 ὀλίγος/λίγος/ὀλιγός, 1187 ὀλλίγος, 135, 139
 ὀλομερί(ς)/ὀλημερί(ς)/ὀλημερνίς, 839 ὀλονα, 1189, 1191
 ὀλονε/οὔλονε, 1189, 1191 ὀλονῆς, 1189, 1191
 ὀλονυκτί(ς)/ὀληνυκτί(ς), 839 ὀλονῶ(ν). See ὀλωνῶ(ν) ὀλος/οὔλ(λ)ος, 1187, 1188–99 ὀλοτελῖς, 840
 ὀλο(υ)νοῦ (masc.), 1189, 1190 ὀλο(υ)νοῦ (neut.), 1189, 1192, 1193 ὀλουνοῦς, 1189, 1193, 1196 ὀλωνῶ(ν)/ὀλονῶ(ν) (fem.), 1189, 1196, 1197 ὀλωνῶ(ν)/ὀλο(υ)νῶ(ν) (masc.), 1189, 1193, 1194–5 ὀλωνῶ(ν)/ὀλονῶ(ν)/ὀλουνῶν (neut.), 1189, 1197, 1198 ὀμιλία/ἐμιλία, ἡ, 96
 ὀμμάτιον/(ὀμ)μάτι(ν), 610 ὀμνές, ὀμνέ, 1389
 ὀμνύει/ὀμνεῖ, 1287
 ὀμνύω/ὀμνέ(γ)ω/ὀμνό(γ)ω, 1388–9 ὀμνύω/ὀμνύγω, 1291
 ὀμορφότατος, 826
 ὀμόφρων/-ονας/-ονος, 772 ὀμπλεγάδος, 705
 ὀμπρός παρά, 1907, 1912 ὀμως, 2012
 ὀνέστος, 705
 ὀνομα(ν), τό, 646
 ὀνοῦς. See ἐνός
 ὀ(ν)περ, 1130–2
 ὀ(ν)περ for ὅπου, 1134, 1983, 1987 ὀντα(ν), 1906, 1907, 1909

- ὄντα(ς), 1754
 ὄντε, 1906
 ὄντέν, 1910
 ὄντως, 832, 833
 ὀξιά/ὀξά, 745
 ὀξύς, 745, 788
 ὀξω. See ξίω
 ὀπερ, 1987
 ὀπεσαῦτος, 994
 ὀπινιό(ν), ἡ, 570
 ὀπινιού, ἡ, 570
 ὀπλο(ν), τό, 598
 ὀπό/ἀπό/πό, 1096
 ὀποιός/ὁ ποιός/ὁ ποιός/ὁ ὀποιός/ὁ ὀποιός/ὁ ὀποιος, 1091, 1105–23, 1982, 1983, 1989 ὀποιός/ὀποιος, 1070, 1091, 1111, 1139–46, 1988, 1990, 1991–2
 ὀποιοσδήποτε, 1091, 1155
 ὀποιο(υ)νοῦ, 1141, 1142 ὀπόσος, 1004, 1016. See also πόσος ὀποτα, 1910
 ὀπότα(ν), 1906, 1908. See also ὡς ὀποτα(ν) ὀποτε, 1910
 ὀπου (adv.), 1092, 1908, 1909 ὀπου/ὀπού/πού/ἀπού (relat.), 1092–7, 1983, 1985, 1989, 1990, 1991
 ὀπού/πού (conj.), 1881, 1886–7, 1899, 1919, 1967–8
 ὀπού/πού νά, 1900
 ὀπώρα, ἡ/ὀπωρα, τά, 593 ὀπως νά, 1896, 1897
 ὀρδενάριος, 731
 ὀρδινιαστής, ὁ, 356
 ὀρνις/-ιθα, ἡ, 459
 ὀρος/-ι(ν), τό, 612
 ὄς, 1123, 1124–5, 1983, 1984 ὄσον, 1906, 1907, 1909, 1911, 1988 ὄσος, 1092, 1146, 1988, 1990, 1991 ὄσος (καί) ἄν, 1150
 ὄσόσα, 1146
 ὄσόσοι, 1146
 ὄσπερ, 1982, 1983, 1984, 1986–7 ὄσπερ for ὀποιος, 1133–4 ὀσπίτιον/-ι(ν)/σπίτι(ν), τό, 610 ὄσσος, 137
 ὄσταρία, ἡ/-ιο/σταρί, τό, 612 ὄστις/ὄτις, 1092, 1140, 1155, 1156–7, 1982, 1983, 1984, 1986
 ὄταν, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909, 1910, 2027 ὄτε, 1906. See also ὡς ὄτε ὀτεσαῦτος/ὀτοσαῦτος, 993
 ὄτι, 1884–6, 1889, 1890, 1899, 1918, 1919, 1967, 1968, 1969, 2027, 2028
 ὄ.τι, 1155, 1156, 1159, 1983, 1990, 1991–2 ὄτι νά, 1900
 ὀτινος, 1155, 1156, 1157
 ὀτόσος/ὀτοσος. See τόσος ὀτωποῖος, 1024, 1091
 οὔ, 2013, 2016
 οὔ. See ὁ
 οὔ, 1124, 1125, 1127
 οὔ μή(ν), 1870, 1882
 οὔγουδουήντα. See ὀγδοήντα οὔδέ, 2011, 2012, 2013, 2016 οὔδεις, 1024, 1043, 1051, 1979–80 οὔδεις/-ένας/-εγείς, 1051–2 οὔδεκαμία/-καμιά/-κιαμιά, 1067, 1068 οὔδεκαμία(ν)/-καμιά(ν), 1067, 1068 οὔδεκανεῖς, 1024, 1067
 οὔδεκανεῖς/-κανένας/-κιανεῖς/-κανενεῖς, 1067, 1068 οὔδεκανένα(ν)/-κιανένα/-κανεῖν (masc.), 1067, 1068 οὔδεκανένα(ν)/-κιανένα/-κανεῖν (neut.), 1067, 1068–9 οὔδεκανένος/-κανοῦ, 1067, 1068 οὔδεμία/-μιά, 1051, 1053 οὔδεμία(ν)/-μιά(ν), 1051, 1053–4 οὔδεμίας/-μιάς, 1051, 1053 οὔδέν/δέν, 1051, 1055, 1865, 1866, 1869, 1872, 1874, 1879, 1893, 1901, 1915, 1967, 1968, 2027 οὔδένα(ν) (masc.), 1051, 1053 οὔδέν(α)(ν) (neut.), 1051, 1054 οὔδενός/-ενοῦ/-ενενοῦ, 1051, 1052 οὔδετίβοτας/-ις/-τίβοτσι, 1041 οὔδετινά(ν)/οὔδέτινα(ν), 1040 οὔδετινάς/οὔδέτινας, 1024, 1040 οὔδέτινος, 1040
 οὔδετίποτε(ς)/-ας(ς)/-ις, 1023, 1024, 1040–1 οὔδετιποτένιος/-ένος, 737 οὔζουφρουτάριος, 731
 οὐ(κ), 1865, 1866, 1869, 1872, 1874, 1879, 1893, 1899, 1901, 1915, 1967, 1968, 2037 οὐκ/(οὔ)δέν ἔχω, 1895 οὐκάποιος. See ὀκάποιος οὐκάτ-. See ὀκάτ-οὐκί. See οὐχί
 οὐλονῶν, 1193, 1195
 οὔλος/οὔλος. See ὄλος οὐλουνῶνε, 1189, 1193, 1195 οὔπερ, 1130, 1132
 οὔς, 1124, 1127
 οὔσπερ, 1130, 1132
 οὔτε, 2011, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017 οὔτινος, 1156, 1157, 1159 οὔτος, 875, 915, 952–69 οὔτος/(ἐ)τοὔτος, 1981
 οὐχ, 125
 οὐχι/οὐκί, 208
 ὀφίδες, οἱ, 358
 ὀφίς/ὀφχιος, ὁ, 436
 ὀφφίκιον/-ι(ν), τό, 610
 ὀχ. See ἐκ

ὄχι μόνο(ν) ... ἀλλά/ἀμή/μᾶλλον δὲ καί, 2011 ὄχτατος. See ὄκτατος ὄχτώ. See ὀκτώ
 ὀψέ(ς), 830

πᾶ/πά, 1392
 πά (νά), 1795, 1857, 1898 πά(γ)ώ, πᾶς, πᾶ, etc., 1291–3, 1354. See also ὑπάγω παγαίνω. See ὑπάγω παγομένος/παγωμένος, 1367 πάγος, ὁ/τό, 661
 παένα. See πάσα ξνα παένας. See πάσα εἰς παθαίνω, παθ-, 1353
 παθομένος/παθωμένος, 1367 πάθος, τό/ό, 677
 παιδίον/-ί(ν), τό, 613, 621 παῖδιος, ὁ, 257–8, 260, 644 παῖδιος/-ίος, ὁ, 250
 πάνιν, 1392
 παίρνω. See ἐπαίρω πάκτο(ν)/-ος/πάχτος, τό, 608, 664 παλαιός/παλαιός, 223
 παλαφρέ, τό/-άς, ὁ, 685, 686 πάλι(ν)/πάλε, 98, 831
 παλιόσπιτο(ν), τό, 592
 παλιουρίλας, ὁ, 304
 παλουκιά, ἡ, 461
 παμμεγέθης/-μέγεθος, 689, 762 πᾶν (indecl.), 1200
 πᾶ(ν). See ὑπᾶ(ν)
 πᾶν/πάντα, 1200, 1202
 πανευγενής/-εὐγενος, 689 πανευτυχής/-εὐτυχος, 689 πανιερότητα, ἡ, 459
 πάντα, 1200, 1204–5
 πάντας/-ες, 1200, 1203–4. See also πάσας πάντες, 1200, 1203
 παντοῖος, 1187, 1188, 1213 παντοίων/-ῶ, 1213
 παντός, 1200–1, 1202
 πάντοτε(ς), 830
 πάντων/-ῶν (masc.), 1200, 1203 πάντων/-ῶν (neut.), 1200 πάνω. See ὑπάγω
 παξιμάδι(ν), τό, 611
 παπα-, 591
 παπαδία, ἡ, 460
 παπάς/-ᾶς, ὁ, 306
 παπποῦς/-οῦς, ὁ, 422–4, 457 παρά, 1993, 2000. See also ὀμπρός παρὰ παρὰ (ποῦ) νά, 1924
 παρὰ/περί/περοῦ, 1924–5, 1995
 παραγγέλλω/παραγγέλλω, 1285

παραγγέλλω/παραγγέλλω, 1286 παρακαλῶ, παρακαλῆσ-, 1333–4 παραμύθι(ν), τό, 611 Παραστρόμονον, τό, 593
 παράφρων/-ονας/-ονος, 772 πάρεξ νά, 1924
 παρήν, 813
 παρθένος, 705
 παρόν (indecl.), 813
 παροῦ, 813, 1124
 πάρτε, ἡ, 587
 πάρτε/-η, ἡ, 588
 πᾶς καί. See μπᾶς καί πᾶς, 1187, 1188, 1199, 1200, 1205, 1206, 1214 πᾶσα, 1200, 1201
 πάσα εἰς/ένας/πασαεἰς/-ένας, 1187 πάσα εἰς/ένας/πασαεἰς/-ένας/-γείς/-νεῖς/πασένας/πασάνας/παένας, 1208, 1209–10 πάσα ξνα(ν)(ε)/πασαένα(ν)/πασένα/πασάνα(ν)/ πᾶσαναν (masc.), 1208, 1211 πάσα ξνα/έν/πασαένα/πασένα/παένα (neut.), 1212 πάσα ἐνός/πασαενός/πάσα ἐνοῦ/πασαενοῦ/πασανοῦ (masc.), 1208, 1210 πάσα ἐνός/πασανοῦ (neut.), 1212 πάσα κ(ι)ανεῖς/πασακ(ι)ανεῖς, 1212 πάσα μία(ν)/πασαμιά(ν), 1211 πάσα μία/πασαμιά, 1211
 πάσα μιᾶς/πασαμιάς, 1211 πασαεἰς, 1043, 1188, 1208 πᾶσαι, 1200, 1204
 πάσα(ν) (indecl.), 1187, 1188, 1200, 1206–7 πᾶσα(ν)/πάσην, 1200, 1201 πασανῶν, 1210
 πάσας/πάντας, 1204
 πασατίβοτις, 1057
 πασέου, 1200, 1202
 πάσην. See πᾶσα(ν)
 πάσης/πάσας, 1202
 πάσου/πασοῦ, 1200, 1201
 πασῶν (fem.), 1200, 1204 πασῶν (masc.), 1200, 1203 πασῶν (neut.), 1200, 1205 πατάσσω, 1279
 πατεράδες, οἱ, 337, 423
 πατερ(η)μά, τά, 593
 πατερμός, ὁ, 262
 πατέρος, τοῦ, 334
 πατήρ/πατέρας, ὁ, 304
 Πάτρα, ἡ, 459
 Πατροῦ/-οῦς, τῆς, 479
 Πατρῶν, τῶν/-οῦ, τῆς, 478
 πάττος, τό, 661
 παύω/παύτω, 1384, 1389
 πάχτος/-ι(ν), τό, 677
 παχύς, 745

- πάω. See ὑπά(γ)ω and πά(γ)ω πέβ(γ)ω. See πέμπω πείθω, πείσ-, 1353
 πεί(ν). See εἰπεῖ(ν) πεινασμένος, 1367
 πέλαγος/-ο(ν), τό, 673, 676 Πελοποννήσιος, ό, 435, 449 πέμπτος/πέπτος/πέφτος, 1259–60 πέμπω/πέβ(γ)ω, 1277
 πέντατος, 1231, 1258, 1259
 πέντε, 1246
 πέντε/-ι, 1246
 πεντήκοντα/πεντήντα/πενήντα, 1253–4 πέπερι/πεπέρι, τό, 611
 πέπτος. See πέμπτος πέπτω. See πίπτω
 πέρας, τό, 678–9
 περασμένος, 1273, 1366
 πέριδιξ/-ικα, ή, 459
 περί, 2001. See also παρά περιβόλαιον/-ιον/-ι(ν), τό, 610 περίτου, 816, 818
 περοῦ. See παρά περπύρατα, τά, 593
 πέ(ς). See εἰπέ
 πεσαῦτος. See ἐπесаῦτος πεσμένος, 1367, 1368
 πεσομένος, 1368
 πετάζω/πετώ, πεταξ-/πετασ-, 1339 πεταλούδα, ή, 485
 πέτε. See εἰπέτε
 Πέτρος/-ής, ό, 300
 Πετρού, ή, 570
 πέφτος. See πέμπτος πέφτω. See πίπτω
 πηγαίνω. See ὑπαγαίνω πηδῶ, πηδηξ-, 1337
 πηλός, ό, -ά, τά, 298
 πῆχυς, ό/-α, ή, 463
 πῆχυς, ό/-η, ή, 536
 πῆχυς/-ας, ό, 306, 454
 πιά. See πιό(ν)
 πία, 1673
 πιάνω, πιασ-/πιακ-, 1348 πιεῖν/πί(ν), τό, 609
 πιθάρια/πιθάρκα, 105
 πικρός/-ύς/πικρύς, 690, 715, 745 πίνω, πι-, 1353
 πιό(ν)/πίον/πιά, 815–16 πιότερο(ν), 816, 818
 πίπτω/πέπτω/πέφτω, 1390
 πίπτω/πέφτω, πεσ-, 1353 πίστις/πίσι, 219
 πίτ(τ)α, ή, 459
 πίω/πιώ, 1513
 πιωμένος, 1367
 πλάζω/πλάθω. See πλάττω πλανεμένος, 1366
 πλαντάζω/πλαντώ, πλανταξ-, 1268, 1339 πλανῶ, πλανεσ-, 1340
 πλάσκω. See πλάττω πλάτανος, ό/-η, ή, 537
 πλάτη, ή/-ης, ό, 360
 πλάτος, τό/ό, 257, 677
 πλάττω/πλάθω/πλάσκω/πλάζω, 1389–90 πλάττω/πλάσσω/πλάθω, 1278 πλατύς, 745
 πλε(ι)ότερος, 822–3 πλέα/πλιά/πιά, 815, 816, 818 πλεῖστος, 828
 πλείων/πλέων, 772, 821
 πλέο/πλιά/πλιό, 822
 πλέο(ν) (adv.), 836, 837
 πλέος/πλείος/πλιός, 822 πλέτερος, 823
 πλεύσιμο(ν), τό, 657
 πλέω, πλευσ-/πλεψ-, 1312
 πλέω/πλέγω, 1291
 πλεώτερο(ν)/πλιότερο(ν), 816, 818 πληγμένος, 1368
 πλην, 2012, 2013
 πλην (κ)άν, 1901, 1902
 πληξημένος, 1368
 πλήρης/-ις, 839–40
 πλήρης/πλήρος, 764
 πλήσιος/πλήσος, 705
 πλήσσω/πλήττω, 1279
 πλιάτερα, 818
 πλιάτερος, 823
 πλιό/μπλιό, 816
 πλιό/πουλιό, 822
 πλιότερα, 816, 818
 πλούσιος/πλοῦσος, 705
 πλοῦτος, ό/τό, 662
 πλοῦτος/-ι(ν), τό, 677
 πνέω, πνευσ-, 1312
 πνέω/πνέγω, 1291
 πνίγομαι, πνιγῶ, 1324
 πνοή/πνογή, 143
 πογέριν, τό, 611
 ποδόπος, 1021
 ποδέα/-ιά, ή, 460
 Ποθοῦ, ή, 570
 ποιόνε/ποιόνα, 1005
 ποιονῶν, 1005
 ποῖος/ποιός, 1004–9. See also ό ποῖος ποιουνού/ποιανού, 1005
 ποιῶ, ποισ-, 1390
 πολγάρης, ό, 357
 πολλά, 834

- πολλάκις, 1903
 πολλότατα, 843
 πολλότατος, 828–9
 πολλύς, 139
 πολύ (adv.), 836, 837
 πολύς/πολλύς/-ός, 801–6 πονῶ, πονησ-/πονεσ-, 1340 πορά. See μπορά πορπατηξιά, ἡ, 461
 πορπατῶ, πορπατηξ-, 1337 Πορτογαλίζης, ὁ, 300
 πορφυροῦς/-ός, 721
 πόσος, 1004, 1016–20
 ποταπόις/ποτάποιοις, 845, 1004, 1023 ποταπός/ποτάπος/πόταπος, 1004, 1020–3 πότε(ς), 830
 ποττέ, 135, 138
 πού. See ὅπου
 πουλητέ, ἡ, 585
 πουλητής, ὁ/ἡ, 400
 πουλητής/-ές, ὁ, 362
 πουλιό. See πλιό
 πράγμα/πράγμα, 156
 πράττω/πράσσω, 1279
 πρε-. See φρα-πρεζέντ(ε), 793
 πρεζέντες/-ος, 792
 πρέντσιπες, ὁ, 432
 πρέπο(ν)/-ος, τό, 664
 πρεπός, τό, 663
 πριγκιπα-, 591
 πρίγκιψ/πρίγκιπας, ὁ, 435
 πρίγκιψ/πρίγκιπας, ὁ, 260
 πρίν, 1907, 1912
 πρίντζης, ὁ, 357
 πρίντζιπες/-ας/-ος, ὁ, 435 πριόρες/-ης/-ος, ὁ, 434 πρίχου, 1907, 1912
 πρό μή(ν), 1907, 1913
 πρό, 2001
 προβαρισμένος, 1366
 προβάτα, ἡ, 459
 πρόβατο(ν), τό, 598
 προεστώς/-ός, 261, 813
 προίξ/προίκα, ἡ, 459
 προπαπποῦς/-πάππους/πρόπαππους, ὁ, 422 πρὸς τὸ νά, 1897
 πρὸς, 1949, 1957, 1963, 1993, 1996 πρόστιμο(ν)/-μαν, τό, 608, 645 προτοῦ, 1907, 1912
 πρῶρα/πλώρη, ἡ, 214, 536
 πρῶτα(ς), 831
 πρῶτις, 840
 πρῶτο(ν)/-α (adv.), 837 πρωτοπαπᾶς/πρωτόπαπας, ὁ, 304 πρῶτος, 1258
 πρωτύτερος, 817
 πταισμένος, 1367
 παίω/παίγω, 146
 παίω/φταίγω, 1291
 παίω/φταίζω, 1290
 πτέρυξ/-υγα, ἡ, 459
 πυροστία, ἡ, 460
 πῶ. See εἴπω
 πῶς, 1884–6, 1889, 1890, 1967, 1968–9, 2027, 2028.
See also τὸ πῶς
 ράβδος, ἡ, 271
 ραζού, ἡ, 569
 ράπτω/ράβ(γ)ω, 1277
 ράπτω/ράφτω, 1275
 ράσσω. See ἀράσσω
 Ραψομάτης, ὁ, 779
 Ρέθυμνο(ν)/Ρέθεμνος, τό, 664 ρένιο, τό, 610
 ρέστος, τό, 661
 ρέω, ρευσ-, 1312
 ρέω/ρέγω, 1291
 ρημάσσω. See ἐρημάζω
 ρήξ/ρήγας, ὁ, 324–31
 ρηξοί, οἱ, 329
 ρῖγος, τό/ὁ, 677
 ρίζη, ἡ, 532, 537
 ρίπτω/ρίκτω/ρίχνω/ρίχτω, 1282–3 ριχνήμενος, 1368
 Ρόδο, ἡ/-ος, τῆς, 164
 ροζής, 788
 ρουθούνι, 73
 ρουφῶ, ρουφηξ-, 1336
 ρύω/ρύγω, 1291
 ρωμαῖος/ρωμιός, 256, 705
 ρωμείκη/ρωμέκια, 692
 σά(ν), 1906, 1907, 1909, 1922, 1923. See also ὡσάν σαγιττ-/σαῖττ-, 23
 σάκκος, 138
 Σαλαμοῦς. See Σολομών
 σάλιο(ν), τό, 610
 Σάμιος, ὁ, 449
 Σαμψών/Σα(μ)ψός, ὁ, 261, 265
 Σανιτάδες, οἱ, 306
 σαπούνι, 73
 σαράκοντα/σαράντα. See τεσσαράκοντα σαρακοστός. See τεσσαρακοστός σαρκεσής, 788
 σας (poss.), 906–7
 σᾶς/σας/σᾶσε (pers.), 48–9, 885–6. See also ἐσᾶς
 σέ. See εἰς
 σέ(ν)(α)(ν)(ε). See ἐσέ(ν)(α)(ν)(ε) σε(ν)τεφκιάρης, 788
 σέ/σε(ν), 877, 878

σέβα, 1672, 1673
 σέβας, τό, 684–5
 σείω/σειῶ, 1304
 Σελίμης, ό, 359
 Σεραφείμης, ό, 370
 σεργέντης/σιργέντης, ό, 356 σέρνω. See σύρ(ν)ω σήκα, 1668, 1673
 σήκου, 1668, 1669, 1673 σήκω, 1668, 1669, 1673
 σιγρισμένος, 1366
 σιγουριτά, ή, 458
 σιγών/-ός, 813
 Σιμελίτας, ό, 400
 Σιμοῦς, ό, 422
 σιωπῶ/-αίνω, 1311
 σκάω/σκάνω, 1290
 σκάω/σκῶ, 1287
 σκέπος, τό, 661
 σκέτος, 705
 Σκιάθος, ή/τό, 300, 663
 Σκόπελος, ή/Σκούπελο, τό, 300 σκότος, ό/τό, 661
 σκουδερισμένος, 1366
 σκουπόραβδον, τό, 592
 σκρίτο(ν), τό, 592
 σκρόφα, ή, 459
 σκύπτω/σκύβ(γ)ω, 1277
 σκύπτω/σκύφτω, 1275
 Σκυφοδιάβας, ό, 310
 σκῶ. See σκάω
 σμίγομαι, σμιγῶ, 1324
 σολή. See στολή Σολομών/Σαλαμοῦς, ό, 422
 σός, 914
 σοτοσκριτός, 705
 σου (poss.), 903, 904
 σοῦ/έσου/ξσου (pers.), 866, 867–8 σοῦ/σου (pers.), 877, 878 σουμπάσηδες/-άδες, οί, 358 σούμπασης, ό, 388–9
 σουπία, ή, 460
 σπάει/σπᾶ, 1287
 Σπάνιας, ό, 305
 σπάω/σπάζω, 1290
 σπάω/σπῶ, 1287
 σπέζα, ή, 459
 σπέζα, ή/τά, 593
 σπείρω/σπέρνω, 1284, 1351
 σπεύδω, 1278
 σπηλαία/-ιά, ή, 460
 σπίτι(ν). See δσπίτιον σπλά(γ)χνο(ν)/-ος, τό, 608, 664 σπλαχνική/-ιά, 691
 σπῶ. See σπάω

στά, 1668–9
 στάζω/στάσσω, 1280
 σταματῶ, σταματηξ-, 1336 στάντε(ς), 1754, 1755, 1758 στάντες (καί) νά, 1758, 1918, 1919 στάτο(ν), τό, 592
 στεῖρος, 705
 στέκομαι, σταθ-, 1332
 στέκω/-ομαι, 1273
 στέλλω/στέλνω, 1267
 στελμένος, 1368
 στέλνω/στέρνω, 1286
 στέργος, τό, 661
 Στέφανος/-ής, ό, 300
 στή/σή, 219
 στήθος/-ι(ν), τό, 677
 στήκω/-ομαι, 1273
 στιμαριστής, ό, 356
 στολή/σολή, 219
 στουπί, 11
 στράτα, ή, 459
 στράτη, ή, 532
 Στράτης. See Εὐστράτιος στρατιώτης, ό, 376
 στράφα, στραφάτε, 1674
 στραφοῦ, 1667
 στρέφομαι, στραφ-, 1332 στρέφω/στρέφτω, 1277
 στριγγή(ν)/-έα(ν)/-ιά(ν), 691 στριμώνω, στριμωσ-/στριμωξ-, 1327 σύ/έσύ, 866, 867
 συγγενάδες, οί, 358, 423, 762 συγγενήδες, οί, 762
 σύγνεφο. See σύννεφο συγχωρῶ/συγχωρνώ, 1299
 σύκα/σοῦκα, 14
 συμβουλεύοσε, 1651
 συμπάθεια, ή/-(ε)ιο(ν), τό, 532, 612 συμπάθεια/-ειος, ή, 262, 531 σύν, 2001
 συνάγω/συνάζω, 1370
 συναλλήλως, 1186
 συνδε(σ)μένος, 1367
 συνήθεια, ή/-(ε)ιο(ν)/-ι(ν), τό, 532, 612, 631 συνήθης, 761
 σύνηθος, τό, 664
 συνθέτω/-θένω, 1383
 συνίβαση, ή, 535
 σύννεφο/σύγνεφο, 143
 σύννοδος, ή, 285
 σύννορο(ν)/-ος, τό, 663 σύρ(ν)ω/σέρνω, 1284, 1351
 σφαγμένος/σφασμένος, 1368 σφάλλω/σφάνω, 1286
 σφάνω/σφαίνω, 1294

- σχολεῖο(ν)/σκολεῖο(ν), τό, 609 σώφρων/-ονας/-ονος, 772

 τά (art.), 846, 860
 τά/τα (pron.), 887, 894–5 ταδεποῖός, 1024, 1091
 ταῖς. See τές ταμεῖο(ν), τό, 609
 ταπεινούλης, 785
 ταρασσώ/ταράζω, 1278
 τās (art.), 297, 567, 702, 713, 846, 857 τās/τας (pron.), 886, 892–3 ταῦτος, 928
 τάχατε(ς), 830
 ταχύ, τό, 838
 ταχύς, 745 ταχ(υ)τέρου, 841
 τε καί, 2015
 τεθνεώς/-ώτης, 810
 τεθνεώς/-ῶτος, 261, 810
 τεθυήκαν, 1766
 τεθυηκώς/-ός, 261, 810
 τέλειος, 706
 τέν. See τήν
 τέρας, τό, 678–9
 τές (art.), 846, 857–8
 τές/ταῖς (art.), 857, 893 τές/τες/τέσε (pron.), 886, 893 τέσσαρα/-ερα, 1242, 1245–6 τεσσαράκοντα/σαράκοντα/σαράντα, 1253 τεσσαρακοστός/σαρακοστός, 1261 τέσσαρας, 1244, 1245
 τέσσαροι/-(ε)ῖς/-ες/τέσσερ(ε)ῖς/-ες, 1242–6 τεσσάρων/-ου(νε), 1246
 τέταρτος, 1258, 1259
 τετοιανῆς, 980, 983
 τέτοιας λογῆς, 971
 τέτοιος. See τίτοιος τετρακοσαριά, ἡ, 1262
 τετρακόσατα, τά, 1262
 τεῦτος, 987–8
 Τζάνες, ὁ, 427
 Τζανιχίτες, 26
 τζαντουνης, 788
 Τζέμης, ὁ, 359
 τζενιαστής, ὁ, 356
 τζεσιονάριος, ὁ, 435
 τζῆ/τζη. See τῆς τζῖ/τζι. See τσι/τσι τζιμνία, ἡ, 460
 τή(ν) (art.), 846, 849–50 τή(ν)/τη(ν)/τήνε/τηνέ/(ν)τηνε (pron.), 49–50, 881, 882–3 τηλικαύτη, 997
 τηλικούτος, 997

 τήν ἑμαυτή(ν) μου, etc., 1182 τήν ἦν, 1128–9
 τήν ὅπερ/ἅπερ. See τὸν/τήν/τὸ ὅπερ/ἅπερ τήν/τέν, 848
 την/τηνα, 881, 882
 τηρῶ, τηρηξ-, 1337
 της/ντης/τοη/τζη (poss. pron.), 904, 905–6 τῆς/της/τοῆ/τοη/τῆς/τῆς/τοῆς (pers. pron.), 881–2 τῆς/τοῆ(ς) (art.), 65, 123, 846, 848–9 τίβετας, 1039 τίβετι, 1039
 τίβετις, 1035, 1038
 τίβετσι, 1034, 1035, 1039 τίβοτα(ς), 1034, 1035, 1037–8 τίβοτα/τίοτα, 1034
 τίβοτε(ς), 1034, 1035, 1037 τίβοτις, 1035, 1038
 τίβοτσι, 1034, 1038
 τίγρις/-ης, ὁ, τίγριδες/-ηδες, οἱ, 358 τιμωρισμένος, 1366
 τινάδες, 1026, 1031, 1033
 τινάδων, 1032
 τίνανε, 1010, 1011
 τινάς. See τις
 τίνας. See τίς
 τινῆς, 1025
 τίνους, 1010
 τινούς, 1010, 1025
 τίντα/ῖντα/εῖντα/ῆντα, 845, 1013–16, 1720, 1881, 1894, 1895 τίοτα. See τίβοτα τίπετις, 1037
 τίποτα(ς), 1034, 1035, 1036–7
 τίποτε(ς), 830, 1034, 1035–6 τίποτι(ς), 1034, 1035, 1036 τίς (art. fem.), 846, 857, 858–9 τίς (art. masc.), 846, 853, 854 τίς (pers. pron. sg.), 878–9 τίς, τί, 1009–13
 τίς/τίνας, 1009, 1010
 τις/τινάς, 1025–34, 1975–6 τίς/τις (pers. pron. fem.), 886, 893–4 τίς/τις/τίσε (pers. pron. masc.), 886, 891–2 τιτοῖος, 980
 τίτοιος/(ἐ)τέτοιος/ἔτοιος, 969–70, 971–2, 979, 1988 τιτοιουνοῦ, 980
 τό/το/τού/του (pron.), 883–4 τό/τ' (art.), 846, 850
 τό/τού (art.), 846, 850 τὸ (νά), 1913–14, 1925
 τὸ ὅ, 1128–9
 τὸ ὅπερ/ἅπερ. See τὸν/τήν/τὸ ὅπερ/ἅπερ τὸ πῶς, 1968–9. See also πῶς τοιαύτη/τοιοῦτη, 973, 974
 τοῖος, 970, 980

- τοιόσδε, 988
 τοιούτης λογῆς, 971
 τοιοῦτος, 969, 971–9
 τοῖς/τίς, 853
 τολμῶ/τορμῶ, 1337
 τόμου νά, 1906, 1908
 τό(ν) (art.), 846, 847
 τὸ(ν) ἔμαυτό(ν) μου, etc., 1181–3 το(ν)/τονα (pron.), 879, 880 τό(ν)/τού(ν) (art.), 846, 847, 848 τὸν ἑαυτό(ν) μου, etc., 900, 1179, 1180–1 τὸν ἔμαυτό(ν) μου, etc., 1179 τὸν ἐνιαυτόν μου, etc., 1180, 1181 τὸν ὄν, 1128–9 τό(ν)(ε)/το(ν)(ε)/τονέ (pron.), 49–50, 879, 880–1 τόν(ε), τήν(ε), τό (relat. pron.), 51, 1091, 1097–105, 1983, 1984–5, 1990–1 τὸν/τήν/τὸ ὄπερ/ἄπερ, 1136–8, 1987 τόξο(ν), τό/-ος, ὁ, 257 τορμῶ/τρομῶ, 1337. See also τολμῶ τόσο(ν), 1988
 τόσον ... ὥσάν καί, 2015 τος, 875, 879
 τοσαύτη/τοσοῦτη, 994
 τόσο(ν) (adv.), 836
 τόσος/ἐτόσος/ὀτόσος/ὄτοσος, 989–93 τοσοῦτος, 993–7
 τόσος, 137
 τότε(ς)/ἐτότε(ς), 830
 τοῦ. See τό
 τοῦ (art. masc.), 846, 847 τοῦ (art. neut.), 846, 850–1 τοῦ λόγου μου. See λόγου
 τοῦ νά, 1889, 1896
 του/ντου (poss. pron. masc.), 904–5 του/ντου (poss. pron. neut.), 904, 906 τού/του. See τό/το τοῦ/του/ντοῦ/ντου (pers. pron. masc.), 879–80 τοῦ/του/ντοῦ/ντου (pers. pron. neut.), 883 τού(ν). See τό(ν) τοῦ(ν) (art. fem.), 846, 856, 857 τοῦ(ν) (art. masc.), 846, 851, 852 τοῦ(ν) (art. neut.), 846, 860, 861 τουνε (poss. pron.), 50, 907, 909 τοῦν(ε)/τουνε (pers. pron. pl.), 886, 887, 889 τουνης/ἐτουνης, 954, 955, 960 τουνοῦ/ἐτουνοῦ (masc.), 954, 955, 957–8 τουνοῦ/ἐτουνοῦ (neut.), 955, 963 τουνῶ(ν)/ἐτουνῶ(ν) (masc.), 954, 955, 964, 965 τουνῶ(ν)/ἐτουνῶ(ν) (neut.), 955, 968 Τουρκί(ν), τό, 613
 τούς (art.), 846, 852, 854 τους (poss. pron.), 907, 909–10 τούς/τους/τούσε/τουσε (pers. pron. acc.), 886, 890–1 τούς/τους/τούσε/τουσε (pers. pron. gen.), 50–1, 886, 887, 889–90 τούτηνα/ἐτουτηνά(ν), 955, 961, 962 τουτηνέ/ἐτουτηνέ, 955, 962 τούτηνε/ἐτούτηνε, 961, 962 τουτηνήν/ἐτουτηνήν, 962 τουτηνῆς/-ο(ν)νης/ἐτουτηνῆς/-ο(ν)νης, 931, 953, 955, 960 τοῦτον τον/τοῦν τόν, 969 τουτονέ/-ά/ἐτουτονέ, 955, 962, 963 τοῦτος/ἐτούτος, 875, 915, 952–69 τουτο(ν)νοῦ/ἐτουτο(ν)νοῦ (masc.), 953, 954, 955, 957 τουτο(ν)νοῦ/ἐτουτο(ν)νοῦ (neut.), 955, 963 τουτουνοῦς/(ἐ)τουτο(ν)νοῦς, 955, 965, 966 τουτουνώ(ν)(ε)/ἐτουτο(ν)νώ(ν)(ε) (fem.), 955, 966 τουτουνώ(ν)(ε)/ἐτουτο(ν)νώ(ν)(ε) (masc.), 954, 955, 964, 965 τουτουνώ(ν)(ε)/ἐτουτο(ν)νώ(ν)(ε) (neut.), 955, 968 τραβῶ, τραβῆσ-/τραβῆξ-, 1338
 τράντα, 22. See also τριάκοντα τρανύτερος, 817
 τράπεζα, ἡ/-ος, ἡ/ό, 531 τραπέζη, ἡ, 532
 τράχηλος/-ας, ὁ, 299
 τραχύς, 745
 τρεῖς, 1240–2
 τρέλ(λ)ης, ὁ, 360
 τρέπομαι, -τραπ-, 1332
 τρέφομαι, τραφ-/θρεφτ-, 1332 τρέχω, τρεξ-, 1353
 τρία, 1240, 1242
 τρια-/τρα-, 22, 1253
 τριάκοντα/τρ(ι)άκοντα, 1252–3 τρίους, 1242
 τριπλοῦς/-ός, 1263
 τρίτη/τρίτα, 1259
 τρίτος, 1258, 1259
 τρίχα. See θρίξ
 τριῶν/τρίων/τριῶ(νε)/τριωνῶ(ν), 1240 τρομάζω/τρομάσσω, 1267, 1280 τρομῶ, τρομησ-/τρομηξ-, 1337 τρούλλα/-η, ἡ, 536
 τρώ(γ)ω, τρῶς, τρῶ, etc., 1291–3 τρώ(γ)ω, φα(γ)-, 1353, 1391 τσακίζω, 123
 τσακκίζω, 138
 τσάμπρα, ἡ, 459
 τσῆ(ς). See τῆς
 τση/τζη. See της
 τσί/τσο' (art. fem.), 65, 123, 846, 857, 859–60 τσί/τσο' (art. masc.), 846, 852, 853, 854–5 τσί/τσι/τσο' (pers. pron. fem.), 886, 894 τσί/τσι/τσο' (pers. pron. masc.), 886, 892 τσιγαρίζω, 123

- τσικνέας, 123
 τσίς, 886, 894
 τσίχλα, 123
 τσού, 123, 846, 852, 854 τυλίσσω/τυλίγω, 1278
 τυπικούτζικον, τό, 592
 τυχαίνω, τυχ-, 1353
 τύχης, ή, 164, 547
 τῶ(ν) (art. fem.), 846, 856–7 τῶ(ν) (art. masc.), 846, 851–2 τῶ(ν) (art. neut.), 846, 860–1 των(ε)/ντωνε (poss. pron.), 50–1, 907–8 τῶν(ε)/των(ε) (pers. pron.), 50–1, 886, 887–8 τῶς/ντῶς (poss. pron.), 908–9 τῶς/τῶς (acc.), 892
 τῶς/τῶς (pers. pron. masc.), 886 τῶς/τῶς/τῶσε (pers. pron.), 50–1, 886, 887, 888–9 ὕλης, ή, 547

 ὕμεις, 872, 873
 ὑμέτερος, 914
 ὕπα, 1354, 1672, 1673
 ὕπα, τό, 686
 ὑπαγαίνω/παγαίνω/(ὕ)πηγαίνω, 1391 ὑπάγω, παγησ-, 1392
 ὑπά(γ)ω/πάω/πάνω, 1293–4, 1391 ὑπάει, ὑπάουν, 23
 ὑπᾶ(ν)/πᾶ(ν), 1690
 ὑπέρ, 2001–2
 ὑπέρπυρο(ν), τό, 593. See also περπύρατα ὑπό, 2002
 ὑποθεσ(ι)άριος, ό, 435
 ὑποστατικό(ν), τό, 592
 ὑπόσχομαι, 1392
 ὕστερου, 841
 ὑψηλόφων/-ονας/-ονος, 772

 φά(γ)ω, φᾶς, φᾶ, etc., 1354
 φάβα, τό, 678, 683–4
 φαγεῖν/-ί(ν), τό, 609
 φαγωμένος, 1366
 φαίνοντας, 1915
 φαμελία, ή, 461
 φᾶ(ν), 1690
 φᾶν, τό, 687
 φαρδύς, 745
 φέη/φότη, τά, 685
 φερντζές, ό, 427
 φερνημένος, 1368
 φέρω/φέρνω, 1267, 1274
 φθάνω/φτάνω/φτάζω, φταξ-, 1392 φθόνος, ό/φτόνος, τό, 662 φιλεῖν/-ί(ν), τό, 609
 Φίλιππος/-ας, ό, 300, 305
 Φίλιππος/-ής, ό, 359

 φίλντισι, τό, 611
 φιλοικτίρμων/-ονας/-ονος, 772 φίνος, 705
 φιστικής, 788
 φλόξ/φλόγα, ή, 458
 φοβερός, 715
 φόβος, ό, φόβια, τά, 613 φότη. See φέη
 φονεύς/-έας, ό, 403
 φορά, ή, 464
 φορε(σ)μένος, 1367
 φορεσία/-ιά, ή, 460
 φόρος, τό, 661
 φορώ/-αίνω, 1295, 1310
 φουδούλης, 779
 φουμιστής, ό, 356
 φοῦμος, τό, 661
 φοῦντο(ν), τό, 592
 φοῦντο(ν)/-ος, τό, 661
 φρα-/φρε-/πρε-, 591
 φράκκης, ό/-η, ή, 400
 Φράντσας, ό, 305
 φρενήρης, 761
 φρενιμότατος, 826
 φρίττω, 1278
 φρόνιμος, 718
 φταίγω, φταίζω. See πταίω φταίετε/φταίτε, 1287 φτιάζω/φτιάχνω, 1274, 1282. See also εὐθειάζω φτόνος. See φθόνος φυγεῖο(ν)/-ίο(ν), τό, 610 φυλάγω/φυλάω, 1291
 φυλάσσω/φυλάγω, 1278
 φυλάσσω/φυλῶ, φυλαξ-, 1339 φύσις/-η, ή, 534, 552
 φυσῶ, φυσηξ-, 1336
 φωνασμένος, 1368
 φῶς, τό, 678, 684
 φωτίου/-ιοῦ, τοῦ, 684

 χαβιαροπούλης, ό, 356
 χα(η)μένος, 23, 1368
 χαιρετῶ, χαιρετηξ-, 1337 χαίτη, ή/-ης, ό, 360, 569 χαλεῖτε. See καλεῖτε χαλκεύς/-έας, ό, 403
 χαλῶ/χαλνῶ, 1392
 χάριν, 2002–3
 χάρις/-ιτα, ή, 459
 χάρτης/-ος, ό, 400
 Χασάνης, ό, 370
 χα(σ)μένος, 1367
 χατζη-, 591
 χάψι(ν), τό, 611
 χείλη, τά/ή, 678

- χείλος/-ι(ν), τό, 677
 χειμών/-ός, ό, 260
 χειμών/χειμώνας, ό, 304
 χειρί, ή, 537
 χείρων, 772
 χέω/χύνω, 1290
 χήρα, ή, -άδες, οί, 459 χιόνι/χόνι, 28
 χλιμιντρῶ, χλιμιντρης-, 1335 χούς, ό, 423
 χρέη/χρέ, τά, 663
 χρέος/-ι(ν), τό, 612, 677
 χρέος/-ο(ν), τό, 676
 χρέος/χριός, τό, 663
 χριμίζης/χρεμεζής. See κριμίζής χρίω/χρίζω, 1290
 χρόνος, ό, -ια, τά, 299 χρουσός, 11
 χρυσομαλλούσα, 782
 χρυσοταρία/-θαρία, 210
 χρυσοῦς/-ός, 722
 χύνω. See χέω
 χῶμας, τό, 650
 χώρα, ή, 474
 χωράφι, τό/-η, ή, 644
 χωράφιον/-ι(ν), τό, 610, 633 χωρίον/-ιό(ν), τό, 613
 χωρίς, 2003
 χωρῶ, χωρησ-/χωρεσ-, 1334, 1340 ψευδής/-ός, 689, 768
 ψήλος, τό, 661
 ψήνω/ψένω, 1295
 ψήφος, ή/ό/τό, 663
 ψούνος. See ψώνι(ν)
 ψυχή, ή, 537
 ψυχή/ψή, 154
 ψωμόπουλο(ν), τό, 592
 ψώνι(ν)/ψοῦνος, τό, 664 ᾧν, 1124, 1127, 1128
 ᾧνπερ, 1130, 1132, 1133 ὤς, 1884, 1906, 1909, 1922 ὤς γοῖον/γοιόν, 1151, 1922, 1923. See also ὄγοιον ὤς καθῶς, 1922
 ὤς ὅποτα(ν)/όπότα(ν), 1906, 1911 ὤς ὅπου, 1907, 1912
 ὤς ὅτε/ώσότε, 1906, 1907, 1910, 1912 ὤς ὅτι/ώσότι, 1906, 1907, 1910 ὥς ποτε/ᾧσποτε, 1906, 1910, 1911 ᾧς που/ᾧσπου, 1906, 1907, 1912, 1913 ὠσάν, 1906, 1907, 1909, 1922, 1923. See also σά(ν) ὠσαύτως καί, 2010
 ᾧσπερ, 1922, 1923
 ᾧσπερ καί, 2010
 ᾧστε, 1900, 1906, 1907, 1910, 1911, 1913 ᾧστε (ό)πού/ᾧπου, 1900, 1907, 1912, 1913 ὠφελῶ, ὠφελησ-/ὠφελес-, 1340

Index of Innovative Greek Endings and Suffixes

This index includes all endings and inflectional suffixes that are not inherited from earlier stages of the language. In order not to overburden this index, for phonetic and phonological variants the reader is referred to the relevant sections in Part I: raising vocalism (e.g. -ιτι for -ετε 2.5.4); back vowel raising (e.g. -ους for -ος or hypercorrection thereof, e.g. -ον for -ουν 2.8.3); deletion of final /s/ through dissimilation (e.g. -ου for -ους, -έ for -ές 3.7.1.1); nasal deletion before stops (e.g. -οται for -ονται 3.6.2.1); addition and deletion of final /n/ (e.g. -ων for -ω or -ου for -ουν 3.7.2.1 and 3.7.2.2); addition of word-final vowel (e.g. -ωνε for -ων, -ούσινε for -ούσι(ν), -όμουνε for -όμουν 2.6.3); syncope (e.g. -τε for -ετε 2.7.2); gemination (e.g. -μεθθαν for -μεθα 3.4.2.5); different stress patterns (e.g. -άμεν in ἔπαιζάμεν for ἐπαίζαμεν 4.2.3); synizesis (e.g. -ιούς for -ίους, -ιά for -έα/-ία 2.9.4). Also not included are endings that are the result of a combination of ligatures, e.g. -ομένστα(ν), which in fact represents -ομέστα(ν).

For nouns only nom. sg. is included, unless other cases or the plural cannot be inferred (e.g. -αδες).¹ For adjectives only the nom. sg. ending of masc. is listed, unless e.g. the feminine or neuter counterpart cannot be inferred on the basis of SMG (e.g. fem. -αρέα). For verbs only 1 sg. is listed (e.g. -οὔσα, but not -οὔσε, -οὔσε, etc.), unless there are notable variant forms for other persons (e.g. 3 pl. -ασαν). For forms of the copula εἶμαι, for pronouns, articles and numerals and for endings that appear with single lexical items (e.g. λέγας), the reader is referred to the Index of Greek Words and Phrases.

-α	-άδες
adjectives	nouns
fem. nom./acc./voc. sg., [πρεζέντα] 792	fem. nom./acc./voc. pl., [ἀγοράδες] 464, nouns	[ὀκάδες] 470, [χηράδες] 474, [γρ(ι) masc. gen. sg., [μῆνα] 316, [ρήγα] 324	άδες] 507, [ἀδελφάδες] 537, [νυφάδες]
verbs	546
1 sg. aor. ind. pass., [ἐγράφθα] 1629	masc. nom./acc./voc. pl., [παπάδες] 306,
2 sg. pres. imp. act., [φεῦγα] 1650	[ἀντράδες] 317, [ρηγάδες] 324,
-ά	[μαθητάδες] 361, [proper names] 455,
adjectives	[συγγενάδες] 762
neut. nom./acc./voc. pl., [ύγιά] 763	-άειν
nouns	verbs
fem. nom. sg., [ὀκά] 469, [μερά] 506	pres. inf. act. [γρικόειν] 1684
-αγα	-άει/-άης, -άει/-άη
verbs	verbs. See -ά(γ)εις, -ά(γ)ει
1 sg. imperf. act., [ἐγρίκαγα] 1571	-αῖοι/-έοι
-ά(γ)εις/-ά(γ)ης, -ά(γ)ει/-ά(γ)η	adjectives
verbs	masc. nom./voc. pl., [ἀπομοναῖοι] 729
2 and 3 sg. pres. ind./subj. act., [γρικά(γ)εις]	nouns
1461	masc. nom./voc. pl., [proper names]
-ά(γ)ουν	455
verbs	-ᾶμαι
3 pl. pres. ind./subj. act., [βαρά(γ)ουν]	verbs
1461	1 sg. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γρικόμαι] 1478

¹ For masc. Pontic nouns with nom. sg. in -ον/-όν (e.g. ὁ Σοῦτον, ὁ Κυριακόν), see II, 1.4. For Cypriot gen. pl. nominal endings that are morphologically identical to the accusative (e.g. τὰ ράσα τοὺς καλογέρους), see II, 1.2. For Cycladic acc. pl. -οι/-οί endings (e.g. τὶς γερόντοι, τὶς προεστοί), which are identical to the nominative, see II, 1.3.

- αμαν
verbs
1 pl. aor. ind. act., [ἐγράψαμαν] 1615
- ᾶμε
verbs
1 pl. pres. ind./subj. act., [γρικᾶμε] 1461
- άμεθεν
verbs
1 pl. aor. ind. middle, [ἡρξάμεθεν] 1763
- αμεν
verbs
1 pl. imperf. act., [ἐβάραμεν] 1571
- άμην
verbs
1 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐτρεμάμην] 1543
- αμουν
verbs
1 sg. aor. ind. middle, [ἀφηγήσαμουν] 1763
- ᾶν(ε)
verbs
3 pl. pres. ind./subj. act., [γρικᾶν(ε)] 1461
- άντα
gerund, participles. See -ντα
- άντοι
nouns
masc. nom./voc. pl., [proper names] 456
- ᾶντον
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρᾶντον] 1592
- ασαν
verbs
3 pl. aor. ind. act., [ἐγράψασαν] 1615
- ασι
verbs
3 pl. aor. ind. act., [ἐγράψασι] 1615
- ασον
verbs
3 pl. imperf. act., [ἐγράφασον] 1533
- άσουν
verbs
2 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγρικάσουν] 1592
- ατα
nouns
neut. nom./acc./voc. pl., [ἔργατα, προσώπατα] 598
- ᾶταν
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐφοβᾶταν] 1592
- ατε
verbs
2 pl. aor. imp. act. [ἴδατε] 1675
2 pl. imperf. act., [ἐγράφατε] 1533
- άτοι
nouns
masc. nom./voc. pl., [proper names] 457
- άω
verbs
1 sg. pres. ind./subj. act., [γρικᾶω] 1461
- ε
nouns
fem. nom./acc./voc. sg., [πάρτε] 587
- έ
nouns
fem. nom./gen./acc./voc. sg., [μερέ] 506, [βαλετέ] 585
- έα
adjectives
fem. nom./acc./voc. sg., [ἀπομοναρέα] 728
- έας
nouns
masc. nom. sg., [βασιλέας] 403
- έδες
nouns
fem. nom./acc./voc. pl., [βαλετέδες] 585 masc. nom./acc./voc. pl., [μαμελέδες] 428
- ειγα
verbs
1 sg. imperf. act., [ἐβάρειγα] 1571
- ειε
verbs
2 sg. pres. imp. act., [βάρειε] 1653
3 sg. imperf. act., [ἐβάρειε] 1571
- ειες
verbs
2 sg. imperf. act., [ἐβάρειες] 1571
- (ε)ιέσαι
verbs
2 sg. pres. ind./subj. pass., [βαρ(ε)ιέσαι] 1478
- (ε)ιέσται/-(ε)ιέσθαι
verbs
pres. inf. pass., [βαρ(ε)ιέσται] 1688
- (ε)ιέστε/-(ε)ιέσθε
verbs
2 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιέστε] 1593
2 pl. pres. imp. pass., [βαρ(ε)ιέστε] 1657
2 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [βαρ(ε)ιέστε] 1478
- (ε)ιέτε
verbs
2 pl. pres. imp. act., [βαρ(ε)ιέτε] 1653
- (ε)ιέτον
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιέτον] 1592
- (ε)ιόμαι/-(ε)ιώμαι
verbs
1 sg. pres. ind./subj. pass., [βαρ(ε)ιόμαι] 1478
- (ε)ιόμεθα
verbs
1 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιόμεθα] 1593

- (ε)ιόμουν
 verbs
 1 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιόμουν] 1592
 -(ε)ιόνται
 verbs
 3 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [βαρ(ε)ιόνται] 1479
 -(ε)ιόνταν
 verbs
 3 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιόνταν] 1593
 -(ε)ιόντησαν
 verbs
 3 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιόντησαν] 1593
 -(ε)ιόσουν
 verbs
 2 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιόσουν] 1592
 2 sg. pres. imp. pass., [βαρ(ε)ιόσουν] 1657
 -(ε)ιότον
 verbs
 3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιότον] 1592
 -(ε)ιότουν
 verbs
 3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιότουν] 1592
 -(ε)ιοῦμαι
 verbs
 1 sg. pres. ind./subj. pass., [βαρ(ε)ιοῦμαι] 1478
 -(ε)ιούμασθε
 verbs
 1 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γρικ(ε)ιούμασθε] 1478
 -(ε)ιούμεσθα
 verbs
 1 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [βαρ(ε)ιούμεσθα] 1478
 -(ε)ιούμουν
 verbs
 1 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιούμουν] 1592
 -(ε)ιούνται
 verbs
 3 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [βαρ(ε)ιούνται] 1479
 -(ε)ιούνταν
 verbs
 3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγρικ(ε)ιούνταν] 1592
 3 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιούνταν] 1593
 -(ε)ιούντο
 verbs
 3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιούντο] 1592
 -(ε)ιουσουν
 verbs
 2 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβάρ(ε)ιουσουν] 1592
 -(ε)ιούσουν
 verbs
 2 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιούσουν] 1592
 -(ε)ιοῦσθε/- (ε)ιοῦσθε
 verbs
 2 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιοῦσθε] 1593
 2 pl. pres. imp. pass., [βαρ(ε)ιοῦσθε] 1657
 -είσουν
 verbs
 2 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρείσουν] 1592
 -(ε)ιδώντο
 verbs
 3 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρ(ε)ιδώντο] 1593
 -ΕΜΕΝ
 verbs
 1 pl. aor. ind. act., [ἐγράψαμεν] 1615
 1 pl. aor. ind. pass., [ἐγράφημεν] 1629
 1 pl. imperf. act., [ἐγράφεμεν] 1533
 -ΕΝ
 verbs
 3 sg. imperf. act., [ἐβάρην] 1571
 -ένιος
 adjectives
 masc. nom. sg., [μαρμαρένιος] 738
 -ένος
 adjectives
 masc. nom. sg., [μαρμαρένος] 738
 -έντα
 gerund, participles. See -ντα
 -έντας
 gerund, participles. See -ντας
 -ΕΝΤΑΝ
 verbs
 3 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφενταν] 1546
 -ΕΝΤΟΝ
 verbs
 3 sg. aor. ind. middle, [ἄρξεντον] 1763
 3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφεντον] 1544
 -έου
 nouns
 fem. gen. sg., [πολέου] 552
 -ΕΣ
 adjectives
 masc. nom. sg., [πρεζέντες] 792
 nouns
 fem. nom./acc./voc. pl., [φύσες] 552, [δύναμες] 560, [πάρτες] 587 masc. nom. sg., [Πολίτες] 376, [λεβάντες, πρέντσιπες] 432
 verbs
 2 sg. imperf. act., [ἐβάρης] 1571
 -ές
 nouns
 masc. nom. sg., [πουλητές] 360, [βασίλεις] 403, [μαμελές] 428
 verbs
 2 sg. aor. imp. act., [ιδές] 1675

-εσουν/-έσουν

verbs

2 sg. aor. ind. middle, [ἐκαυχήσεσουν] 1763

2 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφεσουν] 1544

-εταν

verbs

3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφεταν] 1544

2 pl. aor. ind. act., [ἐγράφεταν] 1615

-ετουν

verbs

3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφετουν] 1544

-η

adjectives

neut. gen. sg., [μαυρομάτη] 779

-ή

fem. nom./acc./voc. sg., [εὐγενή] 763

-ῆ

adjectives

masc. gen. sg., [εὐγενῆ] 763

-ήγεσθε

verbs

2 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρήγεσθε] 1593

-ήγεσουν

verbs

2 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρήγεσουν] 1592

-ήγετο

verbs

3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρήγετο] 1529

-ηγόμασθε

verbs

1 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρηγόμασθε] 1593

-ήγομουν

verbs

1 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρήγομουν] 1592

-ηγόντησαν

verbs

3 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρηγόντησαν] 1593

-ηγόσασθε

verbs

2 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρηγόσασθε] 1593

-ήγουνταν

verbs

3 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρήγουνταν] 1593

-ηδες

adjectives

masc. nom./acc./voc. pl., [ἀπομονάρηδες] 729, [μαυρομάτηδες] 779

nouns

masc. nom./acc./voc. pl., [τραδιτόρηδες] 272, [πάπηδες] 306, [δούκηδες] 324, [ἀγέρηδες] 331, [κουρτέσηδες] 376, [βεζίρηδες] 389, [proper names] 456

-ῆδες

nouns

fem. nom./acc./voc. pl., [ἀδελφῆδες] 537, [εὐγενῆδες] 762

masc. nom./acc./voc. pl., [κατῆδες] 384, [Γλυκῆδες] 753

-ηεν

verbs

3 sg. aor. ind. pass., [ἐχάρηεν] 1629

-ηκα

verbs

1 sg. aor. ind. pass., [ἐγράφθηκα] 1629

-ηκάμαν

verbs

1 pl. aor. ind. pass., [ἐγράφθηκάμαν] 1629

-ήκασι

verbs

3 pl. aor. ind. pass., [ἐγραφήκασι] 1629

-ήκετε

verbs

2 pl. aor. ind. pass., [ἐγραφήκετε] 1629

-ημαν

verbs

1 pl. aor. ind. pass., [ἐγράφθημαν] 1629

-ηνα

verbs

1 sg. aor. ind. pass., [ἐγράφθηνα], 1629

-ης

adjectives

masc. nom. sg., [ἀπομονάρης] 728, [μαυρομάτης] 779, [μικρούλης] 786

nouns

fem. nom./voc. sg., [Κρήτης, τύχης] masc. nom. sg., [μάστορης] 340, [βεζίρης] 388

-ής

adjectives

masc. nom. sg., [κιρμιζής] 788

nouns

masc. nom. sg., [κατής] 384

-ησε

verbs

2 sg. aor. imp. pass., [γράφησε] 1664

-ητα

nouns

neut. nom./acc./voc. pl., [δάσητα] 665

-ιά

adjectives

fem. nom./acc./voc. sg., [κακιά] 691, [κιρμιζιά] 788

-ιάδες

nouns

fem. nom./acc./voc. pl., [ἀνηψιάδες] 519 masc. nom./acc./voc. pl., [βασιλιάδες] 404

- ιάς
nouns
masc. nom. sg., [βασιλιάς] 403
- ιάς
nouns
masc. nom. sg., [βασιλιάς] 403
- ιᾶται
verbs
3 sg. pres. ind./subj. pass., [βαριᾶται] 1478
- ιε-
verbs. See -(ε)ιε-
- ιένται
verbs
3 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γρικιένται] 1479
- ικον
adjectives
neut. nom./acc./voc. sg., [ἀπομονάρικον] 728, [μαυρομάτικον] 779
- ίματα
nouns
neut. nom./acc./voc. pl., [γραψίματα] 657
- ίματος
nouns
neut. gen. sg., [γραψίματος] 657
- ιμάτου
nouns
neut. gen. sg., [γραψιμάτου] 657
- ιμον
nouns
neut. nom./acc./voc. sg., [γράψιμον] 657
- ιν
adjectives
neut. nom./acc./voc. sg., [ἀπομονάριν] 728, [μαυρομάτιν] 779, [μικρούλιν] 786
- ίν
adjectives
neut. nom./acc./voc. sg., [κιρμιζίν] 788
- ιο-
verbs. See -(ε)ιο-
- ιόδες
nouns
masc. nom./gen./acc. pl., [δανεισιτιόδες] 451
- ιόν
nouns
fem. nom./acc./voc. sg., [κονδιτισιόν] 580
- ιόνες
nouns
fem. nom./acc./voc. pl., [κονδιτισιόνες] 580
- ιός
nouns
fem. nom. sg., [κονδιτισιός] 580
fem. gen. sg., [κονδιτισιός] 580 masc. nom. sg., [δανεισιτιός] 451
- ιότες
nouns
masc. nom./gen./acc. pl., [δανεισιτιότες] 451
- ιου-
verbs. See -(ε)ιου-
- ιούς
nouns
masc. gen. pl., [δανεισιτιούς]
- ι(ς)/-ί(ς)
adverbs, [γλήγορι(ς), ὀλημερί(ς)] 838
- ισσα
adjectives
fem. nom./acc./voc. sg., [μαυρομάτισσα] 779
- ιω-
verbs. See -(ε)ιω-
- ιώς/-ιός
nouns
masc. gen. sg., [βασιλιώς] 403
- μαν
nouns
neut. nom./acc./voc. sg., [γράμμαν, ὄνομαν] 646
- μας
nouns
neut. nom./acc./voc. sg., [αἶμας] 646
- ματιοῦ
nouns
neut. gen. sg., [στρωματιοῦ] 646
- ματίων
nouns
neut. gen. pl., [φορτωματίων] 646
- μάτου
nouns
neut. gen. sg., [γραμμάτου, ὀνομάτου] 646
- ντα
participles
neut. nom./acc. sg., [ἔχοντα, ὄντα, ρηθέντα] 811
- verbs
aor. gerund, [ἀποθανόντα] 1697, [γράψοντα/- αντα, σταθόντα/-έντα] 1697 pres. gerund, [γράφο(υ)ντα, γρικῶντα, βαρούντα] 1697
- ντας
verbs
aor. gerund, [ἀποθανόντας] 1697, [γράψοντα/-αντα] 1698
pres. Gerund, [γράφο(υ)ντας/-αντας, γρικῶντας, βαρούντας] 1697
- participles
masc. nom. sg., [γράφοντας, παρόντας, εἰρηθέντας] 811
- ντες
verbs
aor. gerund, [ἀποθάνοντες] 1697 pres. gerund, [γράφοντες, γρικῶντες] 1697

- ντος
verbs
aor. gerund, [ἐλθόντος] 1698
- ο
nouns
fem./masc. nom./gen./voc. sg., [Πόδο, Δῆμο] 272, [σύννοδο, ἱερώνυμο] 285
- ό
nouns
fem./masc. nom. sg., [Δαμασκό, γαμπρό] 262 masc. gen. sg., [προγονό] 262 masc. voc. sg., [Κλιτοβό] 262
- οι
adjectives
masc. nom. pl., [μαυρομάτοι] 779
nouns
masc. nom./voc. pl., [κοράκοι] 340; [Βαρούχοι] 457
- ομαν
verbs
1 pl. pres. ind./subj. act., [γράφομαν] 1435
- όμαστε/-όμασθε
verbs
1 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γραφόμαστε] 1446, [γρικόμαστε] 1478
1 pl. imperf. pass., [εγραφόμαστε] 1545
- όμαστον
verbs
1 pl. imperf. pass., [εγραφόμαστον] 1544
- όμεθεν
verbs
1 pl. imperf. pass., [εγραφόμεθεν] 1544
1 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γραφόμεθεν] 1446
- όμεστα/-όμεσθα
verbs
1 pl. imperf. pass., [εγραφόμεστα] 1545, [εγρικόμεστα] 1593
1 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γραφόμεστα] 1446
- όμεστε/-όμεσθε
verbs
1 pl. aor. ind. middle, [εγενόμεσθεν] 1763
1 pl. imperf. pass., [εγραφόμεστε] 1544
1 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γραφόμεστε] 1446
- ομουν
verbs
1 sg. imperf. pass., [εγράφομουν] 1543
- όμουν
verbs
1 sg. aor. ind. middle, [εγινόμουν] 1763
1 sg. imperf. pass., [εγραφόμουν] 1543, [εγρικόμουν] 1592
- ονας
adjectives
masc. nom. sg., [ἐλεήμονας] 773
- ονμου/-όνμου
verbs
1 sg. imperf. pass., [εγράφομμου] 1543
- ονος
adjectives
masc. nom. sg., [ἐλεήμονος] 773
nouns
masc. gen. sg., [Σούτονος] 272
- οντα/-όντα
gerund, participles. See -ντα
- ονταν/-όνταν
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [εγράφονταν] 1544, [εγραφόνταν] 1544
3 pl. imperf. pass., [εγράφονταν] 1546, [εγραφόνταν] 1546
- όνταν/-ώνταν
verbs
3 pl. imperf. pass., [εγρικόνταν], 1593
- οντας/-όντας
gerund, participles. See -ντας
- όντασι
verbs
3 pl. imperf. pass., [εγραφόντασι] 1546
- όντασι/-ώντασι
verbs
3 pl. imperf. pass., [εγρικόντασι] 1593
- οντες/-όντες
gerund. See -ντες
- όντεσαν
verbs
3 pl. imperf. pass., [εγραφόντεσαν] 1546
- όντησαν
verbs
3 pl. imperf. pass., [εγραφόντησαν] 1546, [εγρικόνησαν] 1593
- οντο
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [εγράφοντο] 1544
- οντος/-όντος
gerund. See -ντος
- οντου
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [εγράφοντου] 1544
3 pl. imperf. pass., [εγράφοντου] 1546
- όντουςαν
verbs
3 pl. imperf. pass., [εγραφόντουςαν] 1546
- όντουςαν
verbs
3 pl. imperf. pass., [εγραφόντουςαν] 1546
- ος
adjectives
fem. gen. sg., [βεργόλικος] 693

- nouns
fem./masc. gen. sg., [Ρόδος, Ματθαῖος], 272, [Κόρινθος, Πίνδαρος] 285
fem. gen. sg., [γέφυρος] 494
- ός
adjectives
masc. nom. sg., [γλυκός] 745
- nouns
fem. gen. sg., [κοπελός] 474 fem./masc. gen. sg., [ὁδός, Νικολός] 262 masc. gen. sg., [ἄμιρός] 306
- οσιν
verbs
3 pl. imperf. act., [ἐγράφοσιν] 1533
See also -ωσιν
- οσουν
verbs
2 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφοσουν] 1544
2 sg. pres. imp. pass., [γράφοσουν] 1651
- όσουν/ώσουν
verbs
2 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγρικόσουν] 1592
2 sg. pres. imp. pass., [γρικόσουν] 1657
- όστενε
verbs
2 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐγραφόστενε] 1545
- όταν
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγραφόταν] 1545, [ἐγρικόταν] 1592
- οτον/-ότον
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφοτον] 1544, [ἐγραφότον] 1544, [ἐγρικότον] 1592
- οτουν/-ότουν
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφοτουν] 1544, [ἐγραφότουν] 1544, [ἐγρικότουν] 1592
- ου
adjectives
masc. gen. sg., [ἀπομονάρου] 728 adverbs, [ύστερου] 840
nouns
fem. gen. sg., [θαλάσσου] 494 masc. gen. sg., [κοράκου] 340
verbs
2 sg. aor. imp. pass., [γράψου] 1664
- ού
nouns
fem. nom./acc./voc. pl., [ἄλουπού] 570
- οῦ
nouns
fem. gen. sg., [γυναικοῦ] 474 masc. gen. sg., [μηνοῦ] 316
- οῦδες
nouns
fem. nom./acc./voc. pl., [ἄλουπούδες] 571 masc. nom./acc./voc. pl., [παππούδες] 424, [κυροῦδες] 457
- οῦμαν
verbs
1 pl. imperf. act., [ἐβαροῦμαν] 1571
- οῦμασταν/-οῦμασθαν
verbs
1 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐγραφοῦμασταν] 1545, [ἐγρικούμασταν] 1593
- οῦμαστε/-οῦμασθε
verbs
1 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐγραφοῦμαστε] 1545, [ἐβαροῦμαστε] 1593
1 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γραφοῦμαστε] 1446, [βαροῦμαστε] 1478
- οῦμαστον
verbs
1 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γραφοῦμαστον] 1446
- οῦμε
verbs
1 pl. aor. subj. act., [γράψουμε] 1498, [ἔλθουμε] 1515
1 pl. pres. ind./subj. act., [γράφουμε] 1435
- οῦμεθεν
verbs
1 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρούμεθεν] 1593
1 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γραφοῦμεθεν] 1446, [βαρούμεθεν] 1478
- οῦμεστα/-οῦμεσθα
verbs
1 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐγραφοῦμεστα] 1545, [ἐβαρούμεστα] 1593
1 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γραφοῦμεστα] 1446, [βαρούμεστα] 1478/ 8
- οῦμεστε/-οῦμεσθε
verbs
1 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐγραφοῦμεστε] 1544, [ἐβαρούμεστε] 1593
1 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γραφοῦμεστε] 1446, [βαρούμεστε] 1478
- ουμην/-οῦμην
verbs
1 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφουμην] 1543
- ουμουν
verbs
1 sg. aor. ind. middle, [ἐγένουμουν] 1763
1 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφουμουν] 1543, [ἐβάρουμουν] 1592

- ούμουν
verbs
1 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγραφοῦμουν] 1543, [ἐβαροῦμουν] 1592
- ουν
verbs
3 pl. aor. subj. act., [γράψουν] 1498, [ἔλθουν]
1515
3 pl. pres. ind./subj. act., [γράφουν] 1435
- οῦν
verbs
3 pl. aor. subj. pass., [γραφοῦν] 1508
3 pl. pres. ind./subj. act., [βαροῦν] 1461
- ουνα
verbs
1 sg. imperf. act., [ἐβάρουνα] 1571
- ουνε
verbs
2 sg. pres. imp. act., [βάρουνε] 1653
- ουνμου
verbs
1 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφουνμου] 1543, [ἐβάρουνμου] 1592
- ουνσου
verbs
2 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφουνσου] 1544
- ουντα/-ούντα
gerund. See -ντα
- ουνται
verbs
3 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γράφονται] 1446
- ουνταν
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφουνταν] 1544
3 pl. aor. ind. middle, [ἐγένουνταν] 1763
3 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφουνταν] 1546
- οῦνταν
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαροῦνταν] 1592
3 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαροῦνταν] 1593
- ουντας/-ούντας
gerund. See -ντας
- ούντασι
verbs
3 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐγραφοῦντασι] 1546, [ἐβαροῦντασι] 1593
- ούντησαν
verbs
3 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρούντησαν] 1593
- ουντο
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφουντο] 1544
3 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφουντο] 1546
- οῦντο
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαροῦντο] 1592
- ους
nouns
fem. gen. sg., [Πάφους] 272, [Μύκονους] 285 masc. nom. sg., [πάππους] 423
- οῦς
nouns
fem./masc. gen. sg., [ὁδοῦς, Νεκτεναβοῦς] 262
fem. gen. sg., [νυχτοῦς] 474 masc. gen. sg., [μηνοῦς] 316 masc. nom. sg., [παπποῦς] 423
- οῦσα
verbs
1 sg. imperf. act., [ἐβαροῦσα] 1571
- οὔσασθε
verbs
2 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐβαρούσασθε] 1593
- οὔσασι
verbs
3 pl. imperf. act., [ἐβαρούσασι] 1571
- οὔσετε
verbs
2 pl. imperf. act., [ἐβαρούσετε] 1571
- οὔσθε
verbs. See -οὔστε
- ουσουν
verbs
2 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφουσουν] 1544, [ἐγρίκουσουν] 1592
2 sg. pres. imp. pass., [γράφουσουν] 1651
- οὔσουν
verbs
2 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγραφοῦσουν] 1544, [ἐβαροῦσουν] 1592
2. sg. pres. imp. pass., [βαρούσουν] 1657
- οὔσαν/-οὔσαν
verbs
2 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφουσαν] 1545
- οὔστε/-οὔσθε
verbs
2 pl. imperf. pass., [ἐγραφοῦστε] 1545, [ἐγρικοῦστε] 1593
2 pl. pres. imp. pass., [γραφοῦστε] 1651, [βαροῦστε] 1657
2 pl. pres. ind./subj. pass., [γραφοῦστε] 1446, [βαροῦστε] 1478
- οὔτον
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐβαροῦτον] 1592
- ουτου
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγράφουτου] 1544

- σου
verbs
2 sg. aor. imp. pass., [στάσου] 1664
- ύ
adjectives
masc./neut. gen. sg., [βαθύ] 746
- ύς
adjectives
masc. nom. sg., [πικρύς] 745
- ω
nouns
fem. nom./acc./voc. sg., [Μάρω] 576
- ῶ
verbs
1 sg. aor. subj. act., [ἐλθῶ] 1515
- ώντα
gerund. See -ντα
- όνταν
verbs. See -όνταν
- ώντας
gerund. See -ντας
- όντασι
verbs. See -όντασι
- όντες
gerund. See -ντες
- ώντον
verbs
3 sg. imperf. pass., [ἐγρικῶντον] 1592
- ωσιν/-οσιν
verbs
3 pl. pres. ind. act., [γράφωσιν] 1435
- ώσουν
verbs. See -όσουν
- ∅
nouns
masc. gen./acc. sg., [Ἀγάπ'] 388
- verbs
3 sg. aor. ind. pass., [ἐγράφθ'] 1629